Voters Back Township Proposals

Klein, Schaeffer Cop Trustee Posts

With 77-percent turnout in Northville Township, electors approved all three local propositions by comfortable margins and swept Leonard Klein and Charles Schaeffer into trustee posts to highlight Tuesday's election here.

In the city 67-percent of the 2,748 registered voters turned out at the polls despite the periodic drizzle. An even 2,100 voted in the township, and 1,865 in the city.

It was a "great turnout!" officials agreed — up substantially over a poor primary vote but off the whopping pace of the 1968 Presidential election.

The predominately Republican Northville area gave Governor William Milliken a big edge over Democrat Sander Levin (1,220 to 592 in the city, and 1,448 to 595 in the township), but it favored Democrats for Secretary of State and Attorney General.

In the city Richard Austin pulled down 879 votes to Emil Lockwood's 869 for Secretary of State, but in the township voters favored Lockwood 1,072 to 918. Attorney General Frank Kelley was victorious in both the city and township over William Farr (951 to 780 in the city and 1,005 to 964 in the township).

In area races local voters helped elect Carl Pursell of Plymouth to the Michigan Senate in the 14th District; Harvey Moelke (26th District) and Lew Coy (27th District) to the Wayne and Oakland county boards of commissioners, respectively; and Marvin Stempien (35th District) and Clifford Smart (60th District) to the Michigan House of Representatives.

Incumbent Republican Congressman Jack McDonald (19th District) and Marvin Esch (2nd District) also were aided by local margins in gaining re-election.

Northville's Robert Geake was given a big margin locally in his unsuccessful bid for the State Board of Education.

All of these area candidates except Stempien are Republicans.

As for the three state propositions voters here gave a resounding "Yes" to stop-parochial constitutional amendment, smothered the 18-year-old vote, and axed the low-cost housing measure.

Ex-Principal Gets College Dean's Post

Fred Stefanski of Northville, former Northville High School principal and most recently director of community services at Schoolcraft Community College, has been appointed dean of academic instruction at the college.

His appointment, confirmed by the College Board of Trustees, became effective this week.

Stefanski fills the post vacated during the summer when Robert Stenger left to become president of Kirkland Community College in Roscommon.

The former Northville principal becomes one of two deans at Schoolcraft. The other is Jon Adams, who heads the technical-vocational instruction program. Deans have broad responsibilities, ranging from interviewing and scheduling faculty to evaluating college programs and suggesting changes.

Both Stefanski and Adams report directly to Dr. Robert Keene, vice-president for instruction.

Stefanski joined the college in 1966, serving first as director of the evening college before taking over the community services post in July, 1969.

He first came to Northville in 1953 as a science and math teacher. In 1954 he became assistant high school principal and then in 1961 he became the principal.

Stefanski earned his BA and MA degrees at Eastern Michigan University and is working towards an education specialist degree at the University of Michigan.

The new dean is a member and past president of Phi Delta Kappa, Eastern Michigan University chapter, and he was its representative to the bi-annual convention and holds its "service key". He is a charter member of the National Council on Community Services, and a member of the Michigan Association of Community College Instructional Administrators, which he served as a charter member of its executive board and as chairman during 1968-69.

As a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves, Stefanski commands a unit based in Ann Arbor.

He is a member of the Michigan Law Enforcement Educators

FRED STEFANSKI

Association and of the Wayne County Association of Chiefs of Police. He also is a member of the Northville Rotary Club.

Stefanski and his wife, Alayne, live at 840 Carpenter Street. Their daughter, Karen, is a junior at Albion College.

New Law Bans Unsightly Autos

If you're parking or storing an inoperable or partially dismantled car on your property you could be in for some trouble.

In a move to abolish these kinds of "unsightly vehicles," the city council Monday night unanimously adopted a new ordinance outlawing them. And that goes for cars and trucks on residential property as well as commercial property.

Specifically, the ordinance requires the removal of these kinds of vehicles after 10 days. It excludes vehicles parked or stored inside enclosed buildings.

Declaring such vehicles a public nuisance, the violator may be cited after the 10-day grace period in each instance and is subject to a fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment for up to 90 days.

Police Buck Threat To Road Patrol

Wayne County Association of Police Chiefs met in emergency session Wednesday, October 28, and unanimously passed a resolution opposing any reduction of sheriff's patrol capabilities in Wayne County.

The meeting was called to discuss threatened cutbacks in Wayne County road patrol services now provided to townships, including Northville Township.

Among the more than 50 chiefs attending the emergency session were

Construction Starts Soon

Parking Deck Pact Gets Approval Here

Construction of a two-level parking deck on the north side of Cady Street (east of Center) is expected to begin within two weeks following approval this past Monday of revised plans and selection of the contractor by the Northville Building Authority.

The contract, unanimously recommended for approval by the city council, was awarded to the low over-all bidder, W. E. Schulz Company of Northville at a total cost of $185,420.

In awarding the contract, the three-member Authority decided against 12 separate contracts with subcontractors, whose combined total cost was estimated at $184,866.

Because asphalt plants will soon close, the Schulz company agreed to substitute concrete flooring for the bottom level in place of asphalt at the same price.

Architect for the project is Fred Brauning and Associates.

Financing of this and one other project will be spread over 10 years, costing the city about $50,000 per year. Half of this annual cost is expected to be recouped through special assessment of downtown property owners. Bids for bonds, approved earlier by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, will be received in two weeks.

Final decision on the special assessment role is slated to take place at a hearing Monday night.

City officials have agreed that upon completion of the parking deck within four months, all city parking lots — including the deck — in the city will be opened for free parking. Meters will be removed in city parking lots, with only street meters remaining.

The revised parking deck plans, made to reduce the cost of the project, eliminates one of two entrances on each of the two levels.

Motorists will enter and leave the lower level on Cady Street, while motorists using the upper (uncovered) deck will enter from the alley or parking lot adjacent to the Northville

Drug Store.

A single covered stairway from the top to the bottom level will be located at the east corner of the deck, adjacent to the Spinning Wheel building. Original plans called for two stairways.

Only automobiles will be permitted to use this new parking structure. The rear portion of the bottom level will be continuously lighted, while the front portion will be automatically lighted during darkness as will the upper level.

A concrete wall and railing will be located along the outside edges of the upper decks, which like the bottom floor will be of concrete.

While the Building Authority is the legal financing, supervising and operating agency, its decisions are regulated by the city council and the city must finance it. Members are Russell Amerman, chairman, Robert Freydt, and Jack Hoffman.

The parking deck is part of a parking improvement program, for which $400,000 in bonds have been approved for sale. The other proposed improvement includes a parking lot on Dunlap Street, just east of Center.

CITY AND TOWNSHIP police reported a quiet Halloween, with no vandalism complaints received by either department. City police said it was the "quietest three days in a long time," while township police noted it was "an exceptionally good Halloween and we received good cooperation from the kids." City police received one report of straight pins in candy bars. A woman reported her children, who had been trick or treating in the city, were given two candy bars which contained pins. One similar incident was reported to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

SENIOR CLASS MEMBERS voted Monday night to go to the Bahamas for their senior class trip in May. The action was taken at a parent-student meeting and the move gained the favor of those parents in attendance. Spokesmen report the class has $900 in its treasury and the trip will cost students approximately $165 each. Commenting on the trip, Superintendent Raymond Spear said the "school district has absolutely no connection with the senior trip. It is planned by the parents and students." Also discussed Monday were plans for holding the prom at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Spear said he expects to meet with students during the next week to discuss ground rules, costs and hours before granting permission for the prom, planned for May.

PURCHASE of the Ray VanValkenburg property, 400 East Main Street, at the appraised price of $26,600 was unanimously approved by the city council Monday night, leaving two properties still to be acquired for the extension of Griswold Street south from Main.

NORTHVILLE'S annual American Legion Veteran's Day pancake breakfast will be held from 6:30 until 10:30 a.m. on Veterans' Day — Wednesday, November 11 — at the American Legion Hall. As he has been for several years, Postmaster John Steimel is chairman for the "all you can eat" breakfast. It will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children for the pancakes-and-sausages. Everyone is welcome.

PUBLIC HEARING on a proposed ordinance amendment that would permit snowmobile races at Northville Downs will be held Monday night at 8 p.m. Also slated for hearing Monday is the special assessment roll for the city's parking projects, including the parking deck.

Health Team To Give Report

The health team from Northville First Presbyterian Church which last summer participated in a national mobile health fair program in Appalachia will make its report to the church and interested public at 7:30 p.m. this Sunday in the church fellowship hall.

Headed by the Reverend Timothy Johnson, assistant minister of the Northville church, and his wife, Ann, the team included Dr. Charles Wheatley and Mrs. Wheatley, who served as nurse, and Miss Carol Clark, dental hygienist. Accompanying the professional staff were ten high school youths from the church and the community.

The Northville team was one of six such groups participating in the mobile health fair program. The fair moved to different locations in Appalachia with a new team providing the services each week, coordinated by a summer staff of three under the United Presbyterian Church Board of Missions.

Northville's team of volunteers provided medical examinations and health education for more than 500 people in Southwest Virginia.

The public is invited to hear the team's report. A social hour will follow.

OPERA in Detroit may be facing its most critical year, Mrs. Ernest J. Shave, Northville member of the Detroit Grand Opera Committee, learned at the luncheon she attended with 45 other volunteer workers at the Grosse Pointe home of Mrs. Roy D. Chapin, Jr.

Mrs. Charles T. Fisher III, general chairman for the 1971 spring season of the Metropolitan opera company in Detroit, pointed out that it is a myth that the opera is a sell-out and that tickets for most performances always are available. Mrs. Shave can be contacted for information.

Expansion of the Overture to Opera season also was announced. Northville is participating in the six-month season by bringing "Amahl and the Night Visitors" to Northville High School auditorium for a 3:30 p.m. performance December 13. Tickets will be sold at the opera committee's Tivoli Fair booth November 14 and are available from members.

NORTHVILLE BRANCH of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will hear a program, "Birds in our Garden" at a guest day meeting at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Charles Walker, 21101 Cambridge Drive.

CHRISTMASBERRY Mart, to be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, December 12, at the Plymouth Grange Hall on Union Street, Plymouth, is the joint project of five area garden club branches.

The Plymouth branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association is hostess, assisted by Northville, Rosedale Gardens, Lakepointe and Green Acres branches.

Each branch is to supply its booth with its own specialty items, and the Northville members already are planning to sell door swags that were popular at its own sale here last year. Their booth also will have Christmas breads and potpourri, according to Mrs. William Switzer, branch president.

Members have tickets for the event now. They represent a 50 cent donation to scholarship funds of the participating branches.

For the second year the Northville Jaycettes are bringing the well-known marionette show to the community. Tickets at 50 cents will be sold at all elementary schools today and will be available at the door.

The original story of an astronaut who files past the moon to test-fire a new experimental atomic rocket engine is designed to tie-in with upper elementary science class studies.

The story gains excitement for its young audience as the space ship encounters trouble upon firing of the rocket, which does not shut off automatically as scheduled.

"The ship is increasing speed so fast that Smith cannot move a muscle. He is pinned tightly into his seat and cannot turn off the rocket — soon the space ship is moving faster than the speed of light. The ship passes all the solar system worlds and still keeps going — toward nothingness."

Johnson, who has been president of the Puppeteers of America, performs the entire show by himself. He is well known in the Detroit area, having performed on the television Milky's Party Time program for six years.

Additional information about the show and tickets may be obtained from Mrs. John Buckland, 349-0773, or Mrs. Hilton, 349-0583, of the Northville Jaycettes.

Jaycettes Plan POW Assist

Northville Jaycettes will be asking for the cooperation of the community this Saturday in a post card campaign to Hanoi asking for the humane treatment of American prisoners of war.

The Jaycettes will have tables at the entrance to Kroger's, the D & C Store and Convenient Food Mart so that passers-by can sign their names to pre-printed cards. They include an appeal to Minister Xuan Thuy to treat prisoners humanely, publish a list of all prisoners, provide information about those known to be dead, release the sick and seriously wounded, allow a free flow of mail.

The cards will be boxed and sent to a national committee for POW's headed by H. Ross Perot, the Texas billionaire who has sent plane loads of supplies to Hanoi last Christmas but who was not allowed to deliver them.

The Northville Jaycettes also plan to promote the post card campaign through the schools and churches of the area in the near future. Individuals wishing the printed cards may contact Mrs. Harriet Senior, 455-1125.

The project for the "Forgotten Americans" will be presented to the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary to become a statewide project at the fall board meeting in Traverse City November 13 and 14.

Craftmen Stock Fair Booths

Squatty mushrooms, ceramic owls and pottery bowls are baking this week in the huge kiln of Roy A. Pedersen in preparation for the Northville Historical Society's Tivoli Fair November 14 at Northville Presbyterian Church.

Last Saturday morning the Northville High School art teacher was at his studio early to put final touches on some of the no-two-alike ceramic owl lights that have become a trademark.

His studio near Wilcox Lake in Plymouth is a huge room in the picturesque carriage house behind a landmark Greek revival house. Saturday its shelves were laden with ready-to-bake pieces.

The little mushroom decorations are the work of Pedersen's son, Bruce, 15, in preparation for the fair.

All bake together in Pedersen's kiln, located outside the studio in the former tower of the Daisy Air Rifle Company, which was brought to the property by Harold E. Guenther, Plymouth manufacturer and council member and former mayor. Guenther, who lives in the white Greek revival house, has been interested in preserving such landmarks.

The tower, being fireproof, is an ideal kiln, Pedersen points out. He built the brick kiln inside himself. It has adjustable shelves which comes out when one large piece is to be fired.

At the fair he will be among more than two dozen artisans from other parts of the state as well as local areas who will have booths. In addition to Pedersen and his son Bruce, who also are to demonstrate, there will be pottery of Mrs. Donald (Rose Marie) Van Ingen of Northville and of Mrs. Robert Hefty of Birmingham. Mrs. Hefty also is to bring antique pieces.

When Co-chairmen Mrs. William Crump and Mrs. Jack Scantlin chose the Tivoli Fair theme for the Northville Historical Society benefit months ago, they envisioned a market of arts and crafts similar to those in the quaint shops of Copenhagen. To achieve this, they sought out artists and craftsmen wherever they went this past summer.

Local groups also were encouraged to participate. One of the first to sign up for a booth of handmades and candy was the Northville Opera Association. Its chairmen are Mrs. B. A. Zayti and Mrs. Donald Ware. Mizpah chapter, King's Daughters, will have a baked goods booth and the Friends of the Northville Library will have a used book shop.

One of the historical society's own members, Mrs. E. M. Starkweather, has made and donated an afghan for which tickets will be sold.

The society hopes visitors to the fair will "think Christmas" as they wander among the jewelry, embroidery, weaving and other crafts booths. At many there will be demonstrations during the fair hours from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Booths and artisan include:

Rugs-and-weaving—Bill and Greta Chigston of Kalamazoo (with wall hangings); Elizabeth Black of Rochester (designer kits for pillows and rugs); Mrs. Gerald Canter, demonstration by rug-hooking teacher.

Fused glass ornaments—Gerry Arnold of Grand Ledge.

Jewelry—Marie Bonamici of Northville with leatherwork-bead demonstration.

TIVOLI FAIR ORIGINALS — Ready-to-bake pottery work by Northville-Plymouth Artist Roy Pedersen is inspected by Mrs. Jack Scantlin, Northville Historical Society's Tivoli Fair co-chairman, and Mrs. Elmer Schubert at his carriage-house studio. The items will be among hundreds to be sold at the fair from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. November 14 at Northville Presbyterian Church.

Pressed flower pictures—Mrs. Darrel Mould of Birmingham.

Japanese Block Prints—Melody Mould, Michigan State University student majoring in art.

Christmas decorations—Mrs. Bruno Vogt of Waterford, Mrs. Lauren England, Mrs. Herbert Abbott, who also is doing tole work, and the historical society's own booth of imported Danish ornaments and country store items, including penny wooden dolls, candleholders that are reproductions of old-fashioned ones for the tree, and reproductions of old-type toys.

Fine embroidery, crewel and knitting—Susan Balkwill of Northville, Carolyn Kleinsmith of Plymouth, who also will have handmade dolls and maxi-scarves for teens.

Metal sculpture—Maurice Sotille of St. Clair Shores.

Terrariums—Betty Sylvain. Macrame—Grace Kabel of Plymouth with beaded bibs and a demonstration of this teen-age craze.

Basketry and oriental (origami) paper folding—Threse Ohno of Plymouth.

Wood paintings and antique ship pictures—Mrs. Gordon Smith.

Apple head dolls—Pat Scott and Dee Schulte of Plymouth.

Prints and framing—Donald Ware. Doll clothes for eight-inch Barbie types—Mrs. Walter Kowalczyk of Rochester.

Quick sketches and oil portraits—Vincent Beniteau of Detroit.

Dried flower arrangements for the holidays and Shaker greeting cards from the Philadelphia Museum of Arts—Mrs. Crump.

A demonstration of folkcrafts is to be given by Marion Sober of Plymouth while Ellice Kulick is to give a spinning demonstration.

During the day Tivoli-style hotdogs with toasted onion and relishes will be sold. The 50-cent admittance donation will assist the historical society in its project of saving the old library building.

William A. Bake, Jr., is a young man from Northville with both his feet and his eyes on the ground. Just 32, Bill Bake is an instructor of educational media at the University of Georgia and also is an active conservationist. He has translated a keen appreciation for the beauties of nature into a second career as free lance writer-photographer.

His striking color photographs and nature stories have appeared in several national publications. This month the prestigious Natural History magazine, the journal of The American Museum of Natural History, has a major article by the young author.

Entitled, "Georgia Granite," it tells of the geologic antiquity and botanical uniqueness that distinguish the beautiful coastal rocks of the southern piedmont. Accompanying the article are four pages of full-color photographs taken by Bake.

Color photographs also accompany an article, "Exploring Idaho's Craters of the Moon," in the July-August issue of Outdoor World.

Bill Bake's parents, the senior William Bakes, now live at 841 West Main Street. They moved to Northville from Plymouth when their older son was in the eighth grade, first living in the yellow Victorian house opposite Main Street school.

After graduation from Northville High School in 1956, Bake went on to graduate from Albion College. Three years at the University of Michigan followed with Bill switching from law to education. He later received his masters degree in American history from Emory University in Georgia where he currently is working on his doctorate in education.

Bake and his wife, a native of Georgia, have a son, William V, born August 27, and a daughter, Lorena, 5. They live in the community of Watkinsville, near Athens, Georgia.

It was near his Watkinsville at Thistle Hill that Bake took the detail color picture of evening ferns that formed the cover of the March-April issue of Outdoor World.

Near Atlanta, Georgia, he photographed Confederate daisies on the granite slopes of Stone Mountain for the Natural History article. Other photographs by Bake for the article show water cascades over granite beds in the high shoals of the Appalachee River, as well as close-ups of mosses and lichen.

A member of the Georgia Conservancy, Bake expresses his appreciation of nature as well in words as with dramatic color pictures.

About the Georgia granite he writes, "East of the Blue Ridge, where the land smooths into the southern piedmont and drops toward the fall line, ancient rocks shove upward. The skeletal land mass seemingly defies its inevitable disappearance beneath the Atlantic with one last shrug."

In "Exploring Idaho's Craters of the Moon," Bake encourages visitors to Yellowstone or the Grand Teton National Parks to take the 200-mile trip on to Idaho's Craters of the Moon National Monument. Its wilderness lava flows, he writes, "give you the sensation of visiting the astronautical future."

Bill Bake doesn't lack appreciation for his native Michigan, reports his mother, noting that he and his family very much enjoyed a trip home in early September.

It appears certain that he's going to write about and appreciate nature around him anywhere — and right now he's in Georgia where he serves as newsletter editor of the Georgia group of the Sierra Club, writes about rolling hills and woodlands and also of the Lutheran wilderness village of Holden (for a brochure of Chelan-area Georgia facilities.)

Mailing Early Beats Rate Hike

This year Northville-Novis residents have two reasons to mail early for Christmas — in addition to avoiding last-minute rush, fourth class parcels mailed before November 14 will be sent for the present rate.

New zone rates, approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission July 16, 1970, go into effect November 14 on fourth class mail (parcels and catalogs), Northville Postmaster John Steimel points out. The rate, he said, will be approximately 15 per cent higher. Thus, a parcel that costs $1.60 to mail now will cost $1.90 beginning November 14.

Steimel lists the following deadlines for mailing Christmas parcels from the Northville-Novis areas:

- Armed Forces Overseas Mail — surface packages, November 6; cards, November 12; SAM (space available) airmail packages, November 20; PAL (parcel air lift), November 27; and remaining airmail parcels and cards, December 11.

- Domestic holiday mail (excluding Alaska and Hawaii) — distant states, parcels, December 1, cards, December 10; local and near-by areas, parcels, December 11, cards, December 15.

- Alaska and Hawaii — parcels, November 30; cards, December 4.

- International mail — Canada and Mexico, surface parcels, December 4, air mail, December 16, cards, December 9; South and Central America and Europe, surface parcels, November 13, air mail, December 14, cards, November 18; Africa and Near East, surface parcels, November 2, air mail, December 10, cards, November 6; Far East, surface parcels, October 16, air mail, December 10, and cards, October 21.

200 Girls Need Women's Help

With a list of almost 200 Northville girls waiting for places in Brownie and Junior-level Girl Scout troops, the always-present problem of finding leaders has become critical, according to Mrs. H. Clark, referral director for the Huron Valley Council.

She has formed a community relations committee of one mother from each of the existing Girl Scout troops to contact schools, PTA's, churches, women's and civic organizations about the problem.

She hopes these interested mothers will "sell Scouting to Northville."

Greatest need, she points out, is for troop service directors, leaders, and assistants. Program consultants and people willing to share special interests, hobbies, skills or knowledge with Girl Scouts also are needed for the local scouting program.

Mrs. Clark this week issued a plea to all mothers who might have time to assist as she stressed that Main Street and Amerman elementaries and Our Lady of Victory school have no Brownie troops at all this fall.

Members of Mrs. Clark's committee and their telephone numbers are Mrs. Robert Darrow, 349-3479; Mrs. Larry Meyer, 349-3496; Mrs. L. W. Cullen, 349-6430; Mrs. J. S. Dick, 349-0413; Mrs. J. W. Drawe, 349-5623; Mrs. Richard Herbel, 349-7482; Mrs. R. A. Harrison, 349-5442; Mrs. W. H. Mills, 349-5527; Mrs. Ken Kress, 349-3531; Mrs. Bruce Griggs, Jr., 349-9977, and Mrs. R. F. Jennings, 349-1485. Mrs. Clark may be reached at 349-4892.

Mothers interested in knowing what the Girl Scout program involves may contact the committee, which has information from the Huron Council. Mrs. Clark also suggests that mothers who cannot become leaders can help troops in various other ways, including offering to provide transportation or telephoning and helping with special projects.

OK's Caroling

Thanksgiving is just around the corner but Christmas can't be far behind since the Northville City Council Monday night granted permission for two downtown Christmas season activities Monday night.

The First Baptist Church of Northville was granted permission to present caroling in the downtown area as well as passing out religious literature to shoppers late in December. Also, the Salvation Army was granted permission to set up its familiar contributions kettle together with a bellringer as well as sell magazines.

PROUD NOVI MOM HUGS HER EARLY ARRIVED BABY SON

Racings for The Birds

Stork Beats Car And Frantic Driver

Their new baby's birth certificate reads Southfield but Mr. and Mrs. George S. Podolski of 23901 West LeBost aren't so sure. The 7-pound, 14-ounce bundle of joy arrived three weeks early Friday, in the family car, as the frantic father sped towards the hospital — any hospital.

About all dad can say now is, "Whew!" and mon (Connie), who arrived home Monday with her new baby boy — their fifth child — echoes his exclamation, adding "you wouldn't believe it."

Shortly after midnight Friday when Mrs. Podolski told her disbelieving husband the baby, named Kevin Anthony, was on the way, the couple began their flight towards Mt. Carmel Hospital. But at Novi and Grand River, their car nearly out of gas, the couple stopped at a service station.

"He couldn't wait for an attendant," laughs Mrs. Podolski now. "He jumped out and started pumping the gas himself."

Their car gassed, they sped off again. But by the time they reached Nine Mile Road on I-696, the expectant mother knew it would be impossible to reach Mt. Carmel in time. "Pull off the expressway," she cried, "and find the nearest hospital."

Before they reached Providence Hospital parking lot, "somewhere along the way" the baby arrived unassisted in the front seat of the car as the father groaned, gripped the steering wheel until his knuckles were white, and wished he were driving a jet.

"The nurse came out into the parking lot and slapped the baby's behind, wrapped him up and took us inside. That was it."

Kevin Anthony was the first earlybird in the Podolski's family that includes Dawn Marie 5, Deborah 4, Stephen 3, and Cheryl Lynn 2. The beaming mother hopes no one tries beating that record.

And the father? Well, the next time you visit a maternity waiting room and see all those nail-biters, consider him. He didn't have room enough to pace the floor.

Coy, Smart, Pursell Win Easily

Wixom's Republican Lew Coy won a second term on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners Tuesday, easily outdistancing his opponent locally and throughout the 27th District.

Both Wixom and Novi plus the Oakland County portion of the City of Northville gave Coy winning margins as they did Clifford Smart of Walled Lake, who won re-election to the Michigan House of Representatives.

Wixom's park proposal, which called for a 1/2 mill tax levy over the next three years, went down to a 333 to 285 defeat. The millage issue, which would have raised some $75,000, was earmarked for park development and land acquisition.

Excellent turnouts for an off-year election were recorded in all local communities, with 84-percent casting ballots in Novi Township, 73-percent in the City of Novi, and 73 percent in Wixom.

A total of 686 voted in Wixom, 69 in Novi Township, and 2,451 in the City of Novi.

(See Page 9-A for complete election returns. The 70 absentee ballots in Novi are all recorded under the category for Novi's Precinct 4. Twenty-one absentee ballots were cast in Wixom, none in Novi Township).

Coy easily outpolled his opponent, William Roberts of Walled Lake, 5,555 to 3,945 district-wide, while the veteran legislator Smart piled up a 16,007 to 11,788 district-wide vote margin over Joseph St. Aubin of Milford.

Locally, Coy won in his home town 341 to 271, in Novi Township 45 to 13, in the City of Novi 1,224 to 869, and in the City of Northville 509 to 239. Smart won 356 to 264 in Wixom, 49 to 12 in Novi Township, 1,253 to 872 in the City of Novi, and 540 to 219 in the City of Northville.

Oakland County voters reflected the local decision on the controversial county millage proposal by voicing a resounding no.

Congressman Jack McDonald was re-elected with a vote boost locally and Carl Pursell picked up margins here in winning a State Senate seat.

Council Changes Mind, Rejects Insurance Bids

After failure of six votes on various measures and amendments concerning which of four insurance bids to accept, the city council moved Monday night to readvertise for new bids.

Reasoning for the rejection was insufficient time claimed by two of the bidders as a factor preventing a more equitable bid.

Les Bowden of the Carrington Bowden agency complained last week that the 12 days the council had given to prepare bids had not been sufficient time.

Bowden said his firm had submitted a bid but that it had inflated premiums in areas it had not personally inspected. He estimated that, given time for this inspection, "we could probably reduce our bid by 25-percent." He asked last week for a 45-day grace period.

The council decided last week, because of the 10-day period during which bids must be published and a fear of being forced into a quick decision on an insurance contract if notification were to be republished, to accept all four bids submitted and award a contract this week.

City Manager Dallas Zonkers was ordered at the time to prepare a summary chart comparing the different areas of coverage and their premiums.

This week, however, councilmen objected to specific items in the summary, in particular a $200 difference in bond premiums listed on two of the policies.

After an hour and thirty minutes of discussion, decision was finally reached and the bids rejected.

New bidders will have until 5 p.m. on November 23 to submit their quotations.

Prior to the discussion concerning insurance bids, the council decided to inspect Gabriel Glantz's property at the old Walled Lake Amusement Park site on Novi Road at East Lake Drive.

Councilmen will be acting in their capacity as Board of Health for the City of Novi.

Reasoning behind the inspection, council discussion indicated, is to determine whether or not the buildings on Glantz's property constitute a "menace to public safety," as has been charged.

If Glantz's property is found to menace public safety, he can be ordered to appear before the council and show cause as to why they should not be either repaired or demolished at his expense.

In other action Monday night, the council:

—Passed an ordinance establishing a Department of Parks and Recreation. The department is to be made up of seven members: one chosen from the council by the councilmen, and six selected from the community at large.

—Passed a parental responsibility ordinance defining parental neglect and providing punishment for it.

A parent shall not, according to the ordinance, fail to exercise restraint which prevents a minor (under 17) under his care from committing any crime or criminal act; he shall not encourage such criminal acts, and shall not fail to observe Probate Court rulings.

Maximum punishment is set at a $500 fine and 90 days in jail.

—Directed Howard Bond, city attorney, to go into Circuit Court and ask for a ruling concerning rezoning and whether or not it can be done by referendum.

The question rises from a petition, signed by the required 15 percent of the registered qualified electorate,

But Changes Made

9-Mile Paving Affirmed

A decision made in a public hearing earlier this fall was affirmed last week as the city council held a second public hearing on the same issue.

The issue is the paving of Nine Mile Road, and it involves some 2,954 feet of surfacing which include 662 feet abutting two residences, a railroad crossing, a bridge and a cemetery.

During the first public hearing, called August 26 to determine the necessity of the improvement, a change in the original resolution had been made, switching the asphalt paving originally called for, to concrete. The price, however, remained unchanged in the resolution, making another hearing necessary.

According to City Manager Dallas Zonkers the change from asphalt to concrete without changing the prices, made the whole contract "null and void."

Residents in the area, Tony Sinacola and Frank Bosak, were to be assessed at a rate of $26.50 per front foot except where that front foot abutted a residence or part of a residence or a 20-foot side yard to the residence, in which case the figure was set at $16.

At the time, Sinacola and Bosak both complained that they were being forced out of their homes by the city. They maintained that the assessment was too high (Sinacola estimate) his share at $23,000) to afford without selling their lands.

The city, meanwhile, was looking towards a multi-million dollar industrial park planned for the area which, according to owners Theodore Doman of Livonia and Irving Rich of Southfield, would involve 47 acres in the area.

The development, according to forecasts made by Doman and Rich at the time would net the city 387,000 in tax revenue and employ 1,018 people.

The result of Thursday night's hearing was to change the special assessment role and in particular the allowance made to Sinacola and Bosak.

They will pay $27.80 per front foot except in the case of property used for a residence which will go for $13.90 or one-half a unit of benefit. Sinacola has 462 feet which fall under the allowance, Bosak, 200.

Merle Jenkins, attorney and member of the Novi Planning Commission, appeared for Sinacola before the council.

"This puts Mr. Sinacola in the requesting rezoning of certain M-3 areas in the neighborhood of Novi and Meadowbrook roads along Nine Mile, to M-1. The change is from general manufacturing (M-3), to light manufacturing (M-1).

According to Bond the question is a legal one: "can you rezone by referendum?"

The area has been a center of attention lately (see adjoining story) because of the proposed paving of Nine Mile Road and the industrial development which has, as a result of the improvement, been promised for the area.

—Listened to numerous complaints from residents of Meadowbrook Lakes subdivision and recommended citizens consult with the building department and the city engineers.

Budget, Policy For Busing OK'd

A 1970-71 budget calling for expenditures of $1,467,915 was approved unanimously by the Novi Board of Education at its regular meeting last week.

The budget is tied to $1,471,433 in revenues and it must carry the load of two new schools expected to open in Novi before 1972.

A middle school currently under construction south of the High School and a new grade school both will fall within the confines of this new budget.

Some features of the new budget include $573,078 for elementary education, $32,495 for special education, $539,785 for grades 7-12, $69,769 for administration and $131,480 for operation and maintenance.

Later in the meeting Roy Williams, principal of Novi Elementary School, addressed a crowd gathered before the board on the issue of busing children.

"I find you extremely concerned about how your child gets to school," Williams charged, "but virtually unconcerned about what we have to work with and what we present."

"I'm ashamed of each and every one of you if you don't come to school board meetings in November — December — and next January. If you don't come those nights, your coming tonight is a farce."

Williams' remarks were directed against members of the public who have in the past expressed disagreement with the board's busing program.

Superintendent Thomas H. Dale noted that five to six percent of the annual budget was devoted to transportation (the figure for the 71-72 budget is $81,298,) and proposed a nine point policy as part of his report on the matter.

Dale's recommendations accepted by the board calls for all children north of the I-96 freeway to be bused as well as all children living a mile or further from their school. Dale also recommended busing for children at Novi Elementary who live west of the Grand River bridge as well as those students of Orchard Hills Elementary who live in Willowbrook Subdivision three, or north of 10 mile, or east of Meadowbrook road.

Other provisions provide busing for all kindergarten and first graders from Willowbrook subdivision two and for students from Novi Elementary and Orchard Hills Elementary who live in Meadowbrook Glens until a sidewalk is constructed to Quince Drive or until January 4, 1971, whichever comes first.

Planners OK Plat for Sub

An 11-lot subdivision, to form part of Kaufman and Broad's Village Oaks project between Nine and Ten mile, had its preliminary plat approved by the Novi Planning Commission last week Wednesday.

The development, Heatherlea, had been approved by all necessary boards and commissions including the city engineers, the city planners, Consumers Power, the Edison Company and Michigan Bell Telephone.

The plat was passed on to the council for formal approval.

Novi Policemen Weigh Contract

With decisions of the compulsory arbitration board in, settlement awaits contract signing by the city and the Novi Police Association.

Agreement to the police department pact, however, is clouded by issues primarily concerning additional manpower and equipment. Police are displeased with the board's failure to provide for more men and equipment.

City officials, on the other hand, hesitate to take on the costly additions because of uncertain millage revenues.

(See police association advertisement on Page 7-A).

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF NOVI

On Wednesday, October 28, the Robert Vaughns, missionaries to Africa, had charge of the evening service. Robert and Vera Vaughn were the first missionaries that the First Baptist of Novi took on to assist in support of the mission field. This was about 13 years ago when services were held in the old church on Novi Road. The ladies mission circle was formed then, and in honor of Mrs. Vaughn was named the Vera Vaughn Circle. Mrs. Vaughn gave a word of greeting and told about their children: Barbie graduated last year from Bible College in Grand Rapids and plans to marry immediately after Thanksgiving; Bonnie is attending Bible College for one year then goes into nurses training; Jerry attends elementary school in Grand Rapids, where the family resides while home on furlough. They plan to go back to Chad in July. Mr. Vaughn gave a short message from Genesis 24, then showed pictures of their work in Chad. Following the service there was a fellowship gathering in Flint Hall.

The pastor conducted funeral services for Dan Elich, husband of Judy Dye Elich, on Saturday at Casterline Funeral Home. Judy is the daughter of Rex and Bonnie Dye, missionaries in Canada.

Citizens of Novi:

Your City is Not Adequately Protected!

The Novi Police Officers Association has for the past six months been in labor negotiations, mediation and arbitration with the City of Novi asking that, among other items, the City provide adequate protection for the citizens of the City of Novi.

The police officers of the City of Novi recognize better than anyone the protection they can offer the citizens. The Novi Police Officers Association sincerely feels there must be more police officers and equipment if the job expected of them by the citizens is to be performed.

The N.P.O.A. does not ask for additional manpower for the protection of the officers themselves (how does it protect a policeman to have more officers?); but it does believe that the citizens of Novi would be provided more effective police protection with more men on its police force.

We, the N.P.O.A., would ask that the citizens of our City make themselves heard at the city council meetings, neighborhood gatherings and lodge meetings. Let us work towards the common goal of ADEQUATE POLICE PROTECTION.

The N.P.O.A. feels the city council has done an outstanding job for the time it has been in office. But, the N.P.O.A. also feels that the city council has let the citizens of Novi down in not providing adequate protection for the husbands, wives, children and property in our community.

The arbitration meetings between the City and the N.P.O.A. were held on September 1 and 9 at Wayne State University in Detroit in the offices of Dr. Mark L. Kahn. Dr. Kahn, a professor of economics at WSU and an arbitrator appointed by the State of Michigan, has studied the local police situation in depth.

We ask the Citizens of Novi to read the following comments set forth by Dr. Kahn:

13. Additional Manpower

The Chairman is convinced that a nine-man police force cannot provide the City of Novi with adequate around-the-clock protection, and it is also clear that the Department needs additional vehicles. It would also appear desirable to take steps to create a Traffic Bureau, especially if federal funds are available to subsidize this kind of development.

There is a critical need to increase the size of the Novi police force, which (given the population and area of Novi) is badly undermanned relative to other police departments in the area. Moreover, the lack of adequate manpower creates additional hazards for the present force, especially when only one man is available to deal with a dangerous situation. It appears to be commonplace that the man or men on duty must choose among multiple calls for police service.

Nevertheless, it is the Chairman's judgment — apart from the legal question of whether the Arbitration Panel possesses authority to require the City to hire additional patrolmen or to purchase additional vehicles — that the substance of these three Association proposals should not be mandated upon the City at this time. It does appear that the City's financial resources during 1970-71 will permit — over and above the additional costs for present personnel contained in the Award — an expansion in the size of the force and the acquisition of additional vehicles. National survey data show (in 1969) a suburban police-population ratio averaging about 1.7 police officers per 1,000 population. Novi's ratio is less than 1.0 per 1,000 population. We would urge the City to increase the Police Department's manpower by five or six patrolmen as soon as possible, along with the acquisition of equipment to insure the efficient use of the larger force.

14. Creation of A Traffic Bureau

15. Purchase of Additional Cars

Novi has one of the lowest — if not the lowest — operating millage rates in the region: 6.5 mills. Its City Charter permits the voters to increase this millage rate by 3.5 mills to a total of ten mills (for three-year periods). If the City cannot achieve the necessary improvements in its Police Department on a 6.5 mills basis, it has an obligation to confront its citizens with the imperative need for additional millage.

If the City should fail to take needed steps in the direction of expanding and better equipping its Police Department during 1970-71, the improvement in salaries and benefits prescribed in the Award will continue to be offset by the undesirable and hazardous working conditions associated with present deficiencies in manning and equipment. Such undesirable aspects of employment in the Novi police force would be a relevant criterion in the determination of the extent of salary improvement that will be appropriate for 1971-72.

Chairman, Arbitration Panel

DATED: October 27, 1970

Proceedings of Northville Township Board

MINUTES OF OCTOBER 13, 1970
The meeting was called to order by acting Supervisor Eleanor W. Hammond in the absence of Supervisor Stromberg.

Present: Hammond, Mitchell, Smith, Straub.

Absent: Lawrence, Baldwin, Stromberg. Also present: Chief Nisun, Consultants Ashton and Mosher, City Manager Ollendorff, the Press, and about thirty township visitors.

Mitchell moved that the minutes of September 8 and the two meetings on September 15, 1970 be approved as submitted, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All.

Straub moved that the deputy treasurer's report for September be accepted as presented, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

The clerk's quarterly budget report, monthly receipts, financial report, and bills payable for September were reviewed. Smith suggested that the county be requested to grade the township roads more often. A break down on the Kocian account was requested for the next meeting. Smith then moved that these reports be accepted and that all current bills be paid, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

Mitchell moved that the planning commission minutes for September 29, 1970 be accepted and filed, supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

Straub moved that the minutes of the September 21, 1970 had not been received, Straub moved to table action on them until the next meeting, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

Since the appeal board minutes for September 21, 1970 had not been received, Straub moved to table action on them until the next meeting, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

1. Department of Natural Resources. Fish Hatchery, September 21, 1970. This letter had to do with flood plain and fill at the Fish Hatchery Recreation Area. Ollendorff assured the meeting that the matter had been taken care of. Smith moved to accept and file the letter, supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

2. Township Hall-Fire Hall Report.

Straub moved to delay this report until the arrival of the architect, Mr. Ralls, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

3. Hammond explained that the matter of signatures on township checks had arisen because of our treasurer's illness. Straub moved that in addition to the treasurer's signature on any township check, either the clerk or the supervisor's signature be required as co-signer. This is to take effect after November 20, 1970. Motion seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

4. Sick Leave Policy Committee Report. Straub moved that in Baldwin's absence, his report be tabled until the next meeting, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

5. Police Standards, Hiring. Ashton referred to a list of minimum requirements for the hiring of police officers, copy of which had been mailed to board members, and said it could be passed in the form of a resolution but that Chief Nisun had suggested some revisions. Nisun made the following suggestions:

1. Delete the maximum age, making it at the discretion of the chief.

2. Residency requirement, two years.

3. In the ability test, broad jump to be an even six feet.

4. Add a written test to be given by an independent source using an examination similar to the California Achievement Test.

5. Probationary period to be six months.

Smith moved that the minimum standard requirements for hiring police officers be accepted as presented by Ashton, with the addition of the above five requirements requested by Chief Nisun, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

6. Report of Projection of Police Needs and Costs. Each board member had received a copy of this report by the Northville Township Police Department, as had been requested at last month's meeting. Nisun explained the report and answered numerous questions. He noted that there is sufficient money in the budget to cover the costs of his salary, an additional man for the balance of the fiscal year, plus a piece of needed police equipment (to be requested later in the meeting). Mitchell moved to accept his "Master Plan for the Township of Northville through the Year of 1975" as presented, supported by Smith. Ayes: All.

Mr. Ralls of the architectural firm of Ralls, Hamill & Becker presented charts and brochures, detailing plans for the proposed Northville Township hall and the new fire station and police office, with space for water and sewer equipment and storage. He felt that this complex should be placed on a minimum site of five acres, preferably ten. Thought should be given to what a township civic site might some day need to be, say in ten or twenty years. There might be a need to include a library, police department, community building, recreation area, etc. which could require up to thirty acres. The buildings suggested are contemporary and the township hall building is made up of modular units, which gives flexibility. The fire hall is to have three bays plus other necessary rooms such as apparatus rooms, storage, boiler, watch and duty rooms, locker and police department offices and storage, toilet facilities, kitchen and ready room. A parking lot would be centered between the two buildings. The township hall would contain a large clerical pool area, offices for the three officials, a building department, water and sewer department, meeting hall, storage rooms, toilet facilities, boiler room and small lounge. Mr. Ralls' report was accepted and the architect's sketches will be on display in the township office.

7. Hiring of Police Patrolman, tabled from September 8. The clerk stated that Stromberg had left the message that if he were present he would support the hiring of one patrolman. Smith moved to instruct Chief Nisun to hire one police patrolman, effective October 15, 1970, pay to be based on the pay scale in the letter of Chief Nisun to the board on September 3, 1970. Motion supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

8. Brook-Vilcan Meeting. Since this meeting has not yet taken place, Straub moved that the report be tabled, supported by Smith. Ayes: All.

OLD BUSINESS NO. 6.

In answer to a question from Mitchell, Ashton stated that he could not instruct us on policy matters, but that if this master plan was accepted it means we are using it as a guideline and that we are not interested in any other type of police protection - we will be going this way, with no alternative course of action. Smith noted that guidelines can always be updated or changed and Ashton agreed but said he felt that some of the members did not understand that by accepting this master plan they were adopting it as township policy and that they had intended only to accept and file the report for study. Straub moved to reconsider No. 6 under Old Business. Hammond said that she thought she had merely been accepting the report and wished to change her vote on the motion if it meant we were adopting it tonight, therefore she seconded Straub's motion to reconsider the previous motion. Ayes: Hammond, Straub. Nays: Mitchell, Smith, Tie vote.

NEW BUSINESS.

1. Our Lady of Providence - Proposed Water Supply Agreement. Straub moved that the supervisor and clerk be authorized to execute and sign the documents, as presented by the attorney. Supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

2. Proposed Ordinance for Police Reserves. Smith moved that the police reserves ordinance, to be known as No. 35, be adopted, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

3. Proposed Ordinance for Drive-in Regulations. Mitchell moved that this ordinance, to be known as No. 36, be adopted as presented, supported by Smith. Ayes: All. (Both ordinances to be published within ten days.)

4. Recommendation from Planning Commission, Wil-O-Mac. Smith moved that the board adopt the recommendation of the planning commission on September 29, 1970 regarding rezoning at Wil-O-Mac, supported by Mitchell, as follows:

Zoning now R-4 to be rezoned B-2, the southerly 575.0 feet of the easterly 1007.7 feet of Section 13, Northville Township. Ayes: All.

5. $15,000 C. of D., Water & Sewer Department. Straub moved that the deputy treasurer be authorized to purchase one $15,000 C. of D. for the water and sewer account since there is no immediate need for the cash, supported by Smith. Ayes: All.

6. MTA Meeting. Straub reported that three township personnel had attended the recent district MTA meeting and that it had been a day profitably spent.

APPOINTMENTS.

1. Board of Canvassers. Mitchell moved that the supervisor's appointment of David McDougall to the Board of Canvassers for a two year term be approved, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

2. Appeal Board. Smith moved that Straub be re-appointed by Supervisor Stromberg to serve a three year term on the Board of Appeals, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

3. Building and Electrical Inspectors. Mitchell moved that Supervisor Stromberg's action in hiring the following two men be given board approval, seconded by Smith. Mr. Carl Lundquist as Building and Safety Official. Mr. Troy Milligan as Electrical Inspector. Mr. Lundquist is to work full time. Mr. Milligan will work three mornings a week as did our former electric inspector. Ayes: All.

4. Planning Commission. Two Members. The supervisor has asked both Sewell and Bogart to serve for another three year term, and both have consented. Straub moved that they be reappointed, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All.

5. Water & Sewer Commission. Straub moved to reappoint Stromberg to the Water & Sewer Commission for a three year term, supported by Smith. Ayes: All.

6. Planning Commission, to fill Vacancy. Leonard Klein has resigned from the planning Commission. Stromberg had proposed that Mr. Axtell be appointed to replace Klein. Mitchell moved that the matter be tabled until the supervisor could be present but withdrew the motion after considerable discussion. Smith moved that the supervisor be requested to submit a nominee from a different area of the township, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: Smith, Mitchell, Hammond. Nays: Straub Motion carried.

7. Recreation Committee. Smith moved that H. O. Evans be reappointed to the Recreation Committee for a two year term, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

8. Fire Protection District Committee. This is the committee that is to work with the entire district (Plymouth Township and City, Northville Township and City, and Canton Township) in a study of fire protection needs and costs. Stromberg had asked that Smith and Mitchell be appointed. Straub moved that these men be chosen, supported by Hammond. Ayes: All.

OTHER BUSINESS

1. Radio and Base, Police. Nisun presented a chart that had been prepared by his department, showing the present police cars, supervisor's car and building department car, and the necessary radio tie-ups. He stated that we could buy a used base radio that is presently under consideration, or get a new one. The used one costs approximately $200 while the new one would be $1000. The used item is about twenty years old, but seems to be in good working order. As all present seemed to feel that the used one was over priced and might prove very unsatisfactory, Smith moved to take bids on a new base radio and mobile radio system, to be presented at the next meeting for evaluation. Motion supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

2. Faulty Building, King's Mill. Smith reported that it had been called to his attention that two buildings at King's Mill were faulty and that they were settling dangerously. He felt the township should take some action. Two King's Mill residents were in the meeting and expressed their concern in the matter also. The attorney felt that pressure could be put on the builder to repair the damage and to take care of the residents properly while the repairs were going on. If necessary, after an inspection, the building inspector could file a complaint with the state licensing bureau in Lansing. Straub moved that the building inspector should take the necessary steps to get action in this matter, even to filing a complaint, and as quickly as possible, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All.

Meeting adjourned at 11:50 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Eleanor W. Hammond, Clerk

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Monday night the city council will test the reaction of commercial property owners within 500 feet of the proposed new offstreet parking facilities on Dunlap and Cady streets.

A public hearing will be held to consider the specific assessments to be levied against each property within the designated benefit area.

While there has been some scattered opposition to the program as submitted by the city's Parking Authority, most merchants in previous meetings before the council have hailed the plan as equitable and necessary to the future welfare of the business district.

The proposed assessments, which may be paid over a 10-year period, are based upon a formula that considers floor space and distance from each of the two parking sites. About one-half the cost of the offstreet parking program will be paid by the assessment with the balance coming from the city's general fund.

The specific formula for assessing property owners is fair and equitable; the plan to divide the total cost between commercial property owner and the city's general funds is also reasonable.

Everyone will benefit from an improved business district. The merchant will enjoy increased business over a prolonged period; the property owner will thereby receive more rent and own a more valuable piece of property; the city will benefit from increased property taxes and sales tax returns; and the average citizen paying taxes to the city will have gained a return on his investment through an improved tax base.

Hopefully, a contingent of merchants will attend Monday night's meeting and encourage the council to proceed promptly.

The matter of leaf-burning in Northville township (see pictures on this page) may seem trivial (to some) but it is a situation that should not be permitted to linger.

It is a source of irritation to some residents who have every reason to ask why the county law to ban open burning is not enforced.

Whispered consent in a select area is like confining sewage disposal to one side of a stream.

In addition it is totally unjust and gives rise to the very basis of the questions being posed by the youth of our nation.

Is there a double standard?

Wayne county says open burning is illegal. The director of air pollution encourages local officials to enforce the ban. A special permit for burning has not been granted by the county to this, or any other township.

If burning is permitted in any section of our community, it should be permitted throughout the area, including the city.

It is difficult to understand how a local order would (or could) be issued to both county and township law enforcement officers to ignore leaf-burning violations, especially in the face of complaints.

To Burn or Bag...Confusion in Township

Whether some Northville township residents should be permitted to burn leaves while others bag and haul them away haunted Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg this week. The situation was particularly embarrassing to the supervisor because the burning was taking place in his own neighborhood. According to Morton Sterling, Wayne County Air Pollution Control Director, open burning of all waste materials, including leaves, is prohibited in Wayne county. According to Supervisor Stromberg, the county (after two meetings) granted Northville township special permission to burn leaves in areas where lots are large and heavily wooded. "I'm not encouraging it," said the supervisor, who said he had told some of his neighbors it was permissible. "But I'm not doing it myself", he added. County Director Sterling says no permission for leaf-burning has been issued. He explained that his department was not large enough to patrol for violations but he indicated that violations would be issued if complaints were registered. Sterling said the county encouraged local governmental units to enforce the no-burning ban. He said the hydrocarbons and ash from burning leaves were particularly irritating to persons suffering respiratory diseases. Sunday in Stromberg's Whipple Estates neighborhood the almost-forgotten aroma of burning leaves filled the air as residents enjoyed a balmy fall day by raking and burning. Meanwhile, a block or two away, residents of Bloomcrest subdivision raked and bagged (see pictures above). One Bloomcrest father and his two sons filled a dozen or more bags. He told them it was "illegal" to burn. They pointed to the smoke in the neighboring sky. Another resident of the West Main street area was irritated by the apparent "double-standard" but didn't want to get into an argument with neighbors. Supervisor Stromberg is hoping for snow. The burning ban is enforced in the city of Northville where DPW crews haul away leaves swept into the street or bagged. The latter is preferred.

Seniors Put Drain On Parents' Purse

To the Editor:

I'm a mother of a senior girl and I don't know what this class is thinking of, but it sure must think their parents have all the money in the world wrapped up in them. There are some parents who have all the love for their children but just don't have money for a trip like this class is planning.

They are planning a senior trip to the Bahamas and say they can do it for $150 to $175. How? Does this include just the plane fare to and from or just one way? Does this also include the price of pass ports, shots, meals and hotel rooms? What about spending money?

I hear this was all the idea of the two big football players and the "in crowd". This is all fine and dandy but what about the others in the class who have working fathers who do all they can and don't get anyplace because everything is so high. Just what is the part of the senior class to do: sit home in their most important year of their school life? After all this is a senior class doing and it should include all of the seniors not just a small portion of the class.

They don't work or plan as a class; it is one-sided and if you don't go along with the "in-crowd" then your just out of everything that counts in this last year.

Yes, I know things have changed in the almost 20 years since I graduated

What's More Important: Busing or New Equipment?

To the Editor:

I attended the Novi School Board meeting last week and came away with mixed emotions. It involved a bus survey stating limits on busing. Parents seemed to be more concerned with the fact that they may have to transport their own children than with the fact and figures stating that we are spending over 23 thousand dollars a year busing ineligible children.

My children are not transported and this has been a standing situation in Willowbrook, Sub. II, for as long as the school has been available. Forty-eight children are either driven or walk to school regardless of the elements or the traffic hazards but the parents accept this fact.

I wholeheartedly agree with Mr. Williams, principal of Novi School who said that we are very concerned about the transportation but very seldom attend a meeting concerning any change in the school schedule, lack of equipment, etc. Will we have the same concern when the issues of new equipment and staff for the two new school arises or will we feel that it is up to the board to come up with the solution?

If my tax dollars are to be spent on transportation for the rest of the children in the Novi school district and not on equipment, then I also want my children transported to school.

"It's pretty easy to tell if a tree is dead or diseased and his trees are dead," insists the tree service specialist from my hometown of Mt. Morris. "Maybe we made a mistake...that can happen you know...but I ain't never conned anybody and I ain't about to."

Ed Welch of Northville wonders...and so does the Metropolitan Better Business Bureau.

Someone from Al's Tree Service out of a Mt. Morris house trailer stopped at Ed's place the other day to say that two of his elm trees are diseased and that his company would remove them for $140. "Trouble is," says Ed, "those trees are healthy. How many other folks did they tell their trees were diseased when they really aren't?"

Says Al's Tree Service: "We went to about six places in Northville. Places where trees need trimming or are dead or diseased. We done good work there and in South Lyon. Even took out trees for the City of Brighton."

Says the Better Business Bureau: "I'd say your people better be careful. We haven't received any complaints about them but they are not registered to do business in Wayne County." Ditto Oakland and Livingston counties.

Says a local nursery operator: "Strange they'd come all the way to this area to do business. Most good firms have all they can do to take care of trees in their own area."

Says Al's Tree Service: "Business is bad in the Flint area...strike and all. Besides I know that area. Used to have a girlfriend in South Lyon."

"No," says Al's Tree Service, "we ain't got any permit in them towns but we're insured...$300,000 for injury and $125,000 for property. Costs us $97 a year and you ain't gonna spend that kinda money if you're just conning people."

Says City of Brighton spokesman: "Yes, they took out two trees. Did a good job, too. If they were soliciting in our town, though, they were doing it illegally because they haven't obtained a permit."

"If Welch's trees are dead why do they still have a few leaves on them?"

"We didn't see any leaves," answers Al's Tree Service. "Can't we make a mistake? I've been doing this for eight years. All over. My partner does the estimating. I'll ask him and call you back with some of the people we talked to."

Says the Better Business Bureau: Tree trimming is a good racket this time of year. That's why people should be careful. Do business with reputable firms. Tell them to call us if they have any questions. (Telephone: 962-7566).

"Any other good rackets in the upcoming season?"

"Well, let's see: there's the COD job."

"What's that?"

"Guy comes to your door with a COD package. Says it's for your neighbor but he's not home. Would you mind paying for it and then give the package to him when he returns? Good neighbors that we are we say 'yes'. Trouble is the package probably contains old newspapers and the neighbor isn't even a subscriber."

"Then there's the Italian sweater import. Guy sees you in a shopping center parking lot and tells you he has these imported sweaters that would make beautiful Christmas gifts."

"Aren't people suspicious?"

"Sure. But if the guy says the sweaters are 'hot' (stolen) there's enough larceny in all of us that we might just buy them to get a good deal. But what are you buying? Probably a cheap highly inflammable material."

"Any others?"

"Well, how about lightning rods. Wooden sticks painted aluminum."

Al's Tree Service, while never calling back, did leave this parting advice:

"If you got any tree trouble let us know. We do good work. Cheap."

No thanks...but, gosh, if anybody meets up with that Italian sweater guy send him over. Lightning rods I don't need.

Speaking for Myself Wigs for Men?

YES...

Now I ask you who looks better—old baldy next door or the charming creature above?

Gentlemen, you, too, can have this dashing man-about-town look in just a flick of the hand...and a wad of money.

Like Joe Namath you'll soon be making passes and beating off the women. By day you can be the same old conservative cut (even bald) and please your straight-laced boss. But by night you can really let your hair down and kick up your heels.

There's nothing worse, says my clothier, than the guy who wears the latest styles, pinstripes, wide ties, etc., but whose head looks like a cue ball. It's like driving a Cadillac in dungarees, he says.

Don't let anybody tell you long hair's only for those who skip through the tulips. Some of history's greatest he-men wore long locks. Why, even the great Indian warrior, Cochise, was once heard to quip, "A new head of hair now and then is good for the soul."

I look at it this way: if it's good enough for your wife it's good enough for you. Besides you'll be surprised, as was I, at her reaction if you wear one home early some night: "Come on in, honey, the old man won't be home for another hour or so."

JACK HOFFMAN
Northville Record

NO...

Fashions for men have always struck me as ridiculous, but then I've been as fashion conscious as an aardvark in Rumania. The time to buy clothes is when the old suit is thread bare, or the ketchup spot on my tie can't be dislodged by a nuclear blast.

Now some clothiers and fashion designers are suggesting that men wear wigs. They've got to be kidding, I said to myself. It turns out they aren't, for chances are you'll find wigs on the shelf of our favorite men's store — and they aren't for women.

You might ask why I, a man with more skin than hair on his head, am so adamant about men's wigs. I'm over 30 and out of it perhaps, but there are reasons.

The trend is toward more effeminacy for men. Notice the spray net being marketed — to keep those unruly curls in place? Wigs fit nicely into this pattern. So do beads and frilly things.

The pitch for men's wigs is that you can always look your best at a moment's notice. Just slip into a wig. In that appeal is the supposition that your hair is:

- (1) long and unruly, that you're a dandy. If you submit to that appeal you probably are and good luck.
- (2) that your hair is dirty and unkempt. If it is, then I suggest you try a little soap and water once a month.

Seniors Put Drain On Parents' Purse

from school — not this one I'm happy to say. We also had smaller classes but we also had an "in-crowd" so to speak. We all had our say in our class meetings and we all voted on where we wanted to go on our senior trip. The class as a whole worked for our trip by doing different jobs like selling candy during noon hour. We had paper and junk drives and we also had a stand at the games where we sold drinks and eats. Our parents had to pay very little for our trip as we worked all four years of high school just for our trip.

Our prom was also for the whole class (we had a junior-senior prom where the prom was given for the seniors by the juniors as their gift to the seniors. Then when the seniors left they would give something to the whole school to use. This was their way of saying thank you and good bye). It was held in the school gym and not at some big country club or a big boat club where only the ones that are going steady can go. Why can't they have the prom in the school gym? Where everyone could go with a date or without. This is just a bit of common sense as this would be cheaper and maybe a lot more fun.

Since the class is apparently divided then have two of each: two trips and two proms. This way everyone in the class can have some nice memories of their senior year.

Sure if you've got the money fine, spend it. Maybe if the big spender could forget about money and expensive things he could find some fun in the simple things and have as much or maybe even more fun than at some big club by doing what the working man does. We do have fun only we don't have to put on airs to prove it. Our neighbors know how we live and we know how our neighbors live, so we are not trying to impress anyone by being something we aren't.

I'm really awfully disgusted with this town and the way the school has gotten out of hand over the past few years. They want to be better than the next guy and they are putting on an awfully lot of airs. And you know something funny? Everybody has bills and problems. So why is one better than another? We're all in the same boat. It's not what a person does that counts; it's what's inside.

Thank you

Railsplitters Trip Up Wildcats

On Logjam of Fumbles, Mistakes

Five fumbles and four intercepted passes spelled bad news for the Novi Wildcats Friday night as Ypsilanti Lincoln grabbed an easy 26-0 victory.

The loss was the sixth straight for Novi in the Southeastern Conference, with only one more opportunity remaining to scratch itself a league victory. (Novi won its opening game with non-league Hartland).

Arch-rival South Lyon comes to town tomorrow to close out the season in what may well be one of the most exciting area contests this year. Like Novi, South Lyon hasn't set the league on fire (2-5, including a 6-0 win over Ypsi) even though both squads have occasionally played some good ball.

Last week's Novi game wasn't one of those occasions.

The Railsplitters' premiere tally came early in the first quarter set up by one of those costly fumbles and following a sustained drive in which Ypsilanti completed one pass and moved, with the help of star back Bruce Acuff, 33-yards on the ground. Dave Sherwood made the final effort from 15-yards out.

As if they'd simply been caught off guard Novi pushed the Railsplitters back to their own 20. But a second last fumble cut the attack short.

Novi got no further on its offensive drives during the remainder of the half.

In the final minutes of the second quarter Lincoln uncorked two long passes to Meith Stetler and sent him on an eight-yard romp to the goal.

The Wildcats received the kickoff on their own 27, managed one play, and gave up the ball on a third fumble. In addition, the Railsplitters knocked Novi for a ten-yard loss on the fumble to take over at the Novi 15.

Then on its next play, with 21 seconds left in the half, Lincoln punched its way through the Novi defense for a third touchdown.

The final half saw the Wildcats wade through what seemed like an endless number of fumbles, interceptions and incomplete passes. Their defense contained the Railsplitters, however, until the closing minutes of the game.

Ypsilanti inherited the ball on its own 29 and moved it to within one yard of a first down, where Novi promptly gave it up on still another fumble. With the help of a 15-yard personal foul against Novi, Lincoln marched to the 17 where it gave up the ball on downs.

Novi passed on its first play from scrimmage to a waiting Lincoln interceptor and the Railsplitters downed the ball on Novi's 23.

Eleven yards on the ground and twelve in the air saw Ypsilanti behind Novi's goal for a fourth time.

Local Jayvee Elevens Drop Away Games

Local Jayvees traveled to foreign turf last week to do gridiron battle but came home losers in both cases as Clarkston bombed Northville 48-6 and Ypsilanti Lincoln shut-out Novi 6-0.

Northville Assistant Coach Gary Emerson said his Mustangs were simply outsize: "They were the biggest and best team we've played so far. They were just bigger kids and they shut our offense out."

"We run about 150 pounds and they were averaging about 185 pounds with nearly a foot difference in height," the coach observed.

Northville came on strong in the first quarter, nevertheless, intercepting a pass and running back with it to the three; laying a short TD bullet on End Mike Costillio; and sending Todd Eis over with the two-point conversion. It all went for naught, however, as the Wolves piled up 16 points in the first half and 32 in the second to easily outdistance the local eleven.

With the loss Northville was saddled with a 1-5 record going into its final two games with Brighton and Waterford-Kettering this week and next.

Novi fought a "defensive struggle" with Lincoln Thursday that according to Coach Trudeau added up to "our best performance."

"They were the first team to hold us without a touchdown," said Trudeau, "and the finest defensive team I've seen all season."

The game was truly a defensive performance as neither team lodged a score until the final three minutes. Then a partially blocked punt surrendered the ball to Ypsi on Novi's 25 yard line and the junior Railsplitters were able to drive in for the TD.

"We could never do anything," said Trudeau, "because we could never get field position. Gary Staub, Pat Macaluso, Dave Brown and Dave Ward on defense were determining factors in Lincoln's offensive failures."

LIKE SMOKE — Ghosts of better days floated through Novi offensive strategies Friday night with as much grace as the visiting Lincoln Railsplitters seemed to run between Wildcat legs. Lincoln rolled to an easy 26 point shutout over the Wildcats who were unable to defend themselves. Novi Coach John Osborne and Quarterback Steve Lukkari talk over the situation just before the half.

with
COACH JOHN OSBORNE

"We gave up the ball on nine different occasions: five fumbles, and four pass interceptions," said Novi mentor John Osborne of his Wildcats and their ill-fated struggle last week against Ypsilanti Lincoln, "and that's just no way to play football."

"They were a good ball team. There's no doubt about that — but we made four glaring defensive errors besides the nine times we gave up the ball, and you just don't make that many mistakes and come out ahead."

Osborne pointed to improper pass coverage (Lincoln went eight for 11 while the Wildcats managed two out of 17) and "messed up defensive assignments."

Novi stands 1-7 in its premier performance in the Southeastern Conference. The lone seasonal victory was with non-league Hartland in the Wildcat opener.

Novi closes its season against South Lyon tomorrow in what Osborne bills as a "big game."

"There's a lot of rivalry between our two schools and any clash with the Lions means a lot to the teams involved. We know each other pretty well and it looks to be a good game."

South Lyon will carry a 2-5 seasonal record against Novi boasting victories against its non-league opponent and Ypsilanti Lincoln.

South Lyon Man Wins Contest

Gordon Bunn of South Lyon won first place in the weekly football contest this past week, picking 14 of 16 winners.

One of those games he missed — as did all other contestants — was the 14-14 tie between Minnesota and Iowa.

Three other contestants also missed two games but they failed to guess as closely to the Viking 30-17 victory over the Lions. Bunn was just six points off the score, having picked Minnesota to win over Detroit 27-20.

Winning second place and $5 was John Forrer, 46995 West Main Street, and taking third place and $3 was Terry Cole, 356 Fairbrook.

Cindy McRannolds missed just two games but she failed to win a prize because her guessed score was 26 points off.

Twenty-three other contestants missed three games.

Games that caused contestants the most difficulty (the Iowa-Minnesota tie wasn't really a problem since everyone missed it) included Kansas State's 17-13 win over Missouri and Illinois' 23-21 triumph over Purdue.

Bounce Winless Bulldogs, 12-6

Something was bound to give and it did Friday night.

Northville and Brighton, two winless teams in the Wayne-Oakland Conference, squared off at Sloan Memorial Field in Brighton.

And the Mustangs pushed across touchdowns in the second and third periods to wipe out a 6-0 deficit and tack up a 12-6 victory.

The victory pushed hapless Brighton into the W-O cellar with a 0-6 mark, while Northville inched up to seventh place with a 1-5 record.

Brad Cole got the first Northville touchdown in the second period as he dashed six yards off left tackle. The winning TD came in the third period as Quarterback Bill Andrews fired a screen pass to Scott Stuart who raced into the end zone to complete a 52-yard play.

But it was junior running back Russell Mills who gave Northville its first semblance of a sustained attack this year. Mills gained 180 yards in 26 carries for a fine seven yard average.

Altogether, Northville amassed 206 yards on the ground and added 79 in the air for an evening's total of 285 yards.

The best Brighton effort was turned in by Ron Wilson who picked up 47 yards in 12 carries.

The Mustangs had the honor of the first mistake of the night. After receiving the opening kickoff Brighton had stalled on their own 36. A punt by Ritter was dropped by the Mustang receiver and Jim Mitchell recovered for the Bulldogs on Northville's 42 yard line.

Four plays later, Brighton moved to the Mustang's seven yard line on a 13 yard run by Wilson. Then, in a third and goal situation, Horal's pitch back to Halfback Bill Colley was wide of the mark and Brad Cole plopped on the loose ball to give the Mustangs possession on their own 10 yard line.

Brighton held Northville and downed their punt on the Bulldog 25. An 11-yard screen to Ritter helped move the ball into Mustang territory. On third down and nine, Ritter jumped high for a Horal aerial and sprinted about 30 yards to complete a 45-yard pass play for the touchdown.

The extra point was missed and Brighton led, 6-0 — the first time the Bulldogs have led this season.

Starting the second period, Northville mounted their best drive of the night. Mills again led the way with 27 yards gained in the 60-yard drive. Brad Cole capped the 10-play march with a six yard run off the left side of the Bulldog line.

A run for the extra point was stopped short and the game was tied, 6-6.

Northville threatened before the half ended when they drove to Brighton's four yard line. In a fourth and one situation, however, Mustang Quarterback Andrews gave it off to Scott Stuart who was stopped for no gain.

The Mustangs' winning touchdown came mid-way in the third quarter. Getting the ball on its own 45 after a Bulldog punt, Northville found themselves in a second and four situation. Expecting a pass, the Bulldogs blitzed. But Andrews coolly shot a screen pass to Stuart who streaked down to the three yard line.

On the next play, Andrews took it over. The extra-point attempt was stopped short, leaving it 12-6. Neither team could mount a drive in the final quarter.

COACH AL KLUKACH

"Well we were just ready, that's all," said Coach Al Klukach on Friday night's effort that netted the Mustangs their first victory of the season.

"We did basically what we've always done but this time we did it better...that's all."

Klukach's squad had been looking for Friday's contest with Brighton for a long time. All season to be exact.

They suffered through scores like 50-0, 47-0 and 48-6 but hopped on the bandwagon two weeks ago in holding Clarkson scoreless through most of the game only to lose in the final seconds by two TDs.

But Brighton was the long awaited streak-breaker as the Mustangs rallied and came up glowing 12-6.

"A fumble in the first half cost us the ball," said Klukach and they scored on that drive. They threatened a few times after that, but the defense held them pretty tight.

"Our first TD was quick pitch to Brad Cole who scooted over four yards to score. Our second was set up on a fifty-yard screen play to Scot Stuart who ran it down to the one yard line. Bill Andrews carried it over on a quarterback sneak."

The Waterford Kettering game in which Northville closes its season tomorrow night, promises to be something different, according to Klukach.

Tomorrow's game with Kettering is billed as Parents Night and following the game parents of local players will be entertained in the high school cafeteria.

"They're bigger and heavier than we are and that will force us into the air," said the coach, "while they stay on the ground."

Klukach's defensemen came through for him last week. Hopes tomorrow ride on whether or not they can keep it up.

Harriers Second in Regional

Northville ran its way into second place in regional competition at Cass Benton Park Saturday and qualified its entire team — eight runners — for the state finals to be held in Ypsilanti Saturday.

Northville's ace harrier Rick Bell streaked to a second in individual showing with a 13:15 behind first place Riverview.

The downriver squad took the meet with 56 points over Northville's 68 point second and Monroe Catholic Central's 120 point third.

Out of 147 runners participating from 21 schools, Northville accounted for three places in the top ten: Rick Bell in second, Guy Dixon in seventh and David Wright in 10th.

Due to prescheduled scholastic aptitude tests, required for college entrance, Wright and another Mustang qualifier, Curt Sauer, will be unable to attend the state meet. "This will definitely be a handicap," said Coach

Ben Lauber, "but it'll affect all schools in the state. We'll also have Bill McIntire, who although he didn't run Saturday, qualified as a team member."

The Mustangs placed in the following order:

Rick Bell	13:15	2nd
Guy Dixon	13:44	7th
David Wright	13:51	10th
David Johnson	14:14	20th
Wayne Enders	14:22	29th
Curt Sauer	14:31	35th
Dave Newitt	15:41	97th

Colts Win Two, Drop One

The Northville Colts wrapped up their season Sunday with two shut-out victories and a defeat against the Plymouth Lions.

Gridders Face Clarenceville

Northville's 'mini-gridders' close out their season against Livonia Clarenceville tomorrow.

Seventh grade and eighth grade teams from Cooke Junior High School will meet visiting Clarenceville in the finale of a 3-1-1 season for the seventh graders and a 2-2-1 record for the eighth graders.

Head coach Mike Janchick is proud of his squad's showing so far. "We've got a lot of talent and a lot of desire," the coach said, "a lot of potential, too. People like Mike McDonald and Eric Lampella, both seventh graders, and Doug Crisan, an eighth grader, have a good future in ball."

Colt Freshmen and Junior Varsity romped to 18-0 and 12-0 victories, finishing 7-0-1 and 3-1-4 for the season, respectively. The Varsity, however, came out on the bottom of a 38-22 final score Sunday to card a 4-1-3 seasonal record.

The Freshmen scored in the first and third stanza, with two line plunges and a 48-yard run around left end to post their 18-0 victory.

The Junior Varsity opened the second quarter of their contest in a goal-to-go situation on the Lion six-yard line. A short dive and an incomplete conversion attempt gave them a 6-0 halftime lead.

A fumble mid-way through the third stanza gave the Colts the ball on their own 35-yard line and set the stage for a 42-yard TD run that iced the victory at 12-0.

Colt varsity scored three times but not often enough to handle the hard charging Lions who, by the end of the half, had piled up 24 points on a 35 and a 46-yard run with a 50-yard pass play for their third TD in the second quarter.

Plymouth led the second half with a 35-yard run around right end and a 55-yard charge up the middle.

The three Colt tallies came from line plunges — none of the three more than five yards — in the second, third and fourth periods.

A smorgasbord supper November 7 will be staged at Northville High School for all players, cheerleaders and their parents.

Tickets are $2.75 per person and may be obtained from Bill Bates (349-1151) or Earl Egbert (349-0383).

Secretaries At Dearborn

Five secretaries from Northville will be among those attending the Wayne County educational secretaries meeting when they meet today, Thursday, in Dearborn Heights for their 16th annual meeting.

Attending will be Mrs. Dortha Connelly, secretary at Cooke Junior High Annex; Mrs. Leona Harrison, Amerman Elementary; Mrs. Betty Willing, present historian of the group, Main Street Elementary; Mrs. Evelyn Zeuner, Moraine Elementary; and Mrs. Carol Young, secretary to the business manager.

The theme for the program is "Setting Sights for the Seventies." Installation of officers for 1970-71 will conclude the annual meeting.

Highlighting the program will be three concurrent workshops. Included are "The Miracle of Self-Discovery" led by Karen McCallum of Personal Achievement Institute, "Exciting Beauty Secrets" conducted by Judy March of John Robert Powers School and "Reading Dynamics" led by a representative of the Evelyn Woods Reading Institute.

The Wayne County Association of Educational Secretaries has been in existence since 1954 and presently has a membership of more than 500, representing a majority of the school districts. The purpose of the group is "to enhance the profession of school secretaries and office employees," a spokesman said.

Northville...

City police investigated three injury accidents on October 29.

The first occurred at 7:55 a.m. at the intersection of Eight Mile and Taft Road when a car driven by John E. Coleman, 209 Hill Street, collided with one driven by Helen C. Rogers, Las Vegas, Nevada, police reports stated.

Coleman, who was southbound on Taft, pulled in to the path of Mrs. Rogers who was westbound on Eight Mile, police said. Both drivers complained of minor injuries but refused medical attention.

Coleman was ticketed for failure to yield right of way.

Four persons received minor injuries in an accident at Walnut and Center streets at 2:36 p.m. when a car driven by Marc Jenesel, 931 Carrington, collided with one driven by Marguerite E. Schmida, Detroit, police said.

According to reports, Jenesel was eastbound on Walnut, failed to yield the right of way and pulled in to the path of the Schmida car which was southbound on Center Street.

Jenesel and a passenger in his car, Richard S. Liebold, received minor injuries. Two passengers in the Schmida car, Cynthia Trombly, Plymouth, and Katherine Harchenhorn, Westland, also were injured. All refused medical attention.

Jenesel was ticketed for failure to yield right of way.

A three-car accident at 5:55 p.m. at North Center Street and the entrance to the high school, resulted in injuries to one driver.

Ruth Ann Dombrowsky, Birmingham, was injured when the car she was driving was hit from behind in a chain reaction collision. A passenger in her car, Helen Moore, Union Lake, also received minor injuries. Both refused medical attention.

According to police reports, the Dombrowsky car was stopped in the southbound lane of Center Street to make a right turn into the high school when a car driven by Theresa Booth, Milford, also southbound on Center Street, came over the hill and hit a stopped car driven by Douglas J. Parnin, Garden City, which in turn hit the Dombrowsky vehicle.

Miss Booth was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured clear distance, reports indicated.

Two persons reported unknown persons broke into the trunks of their cars while they were parked at Northville Downs.

A Livonia man, Harold Graham, told police a set of golf clubs valued at $400 were stolen from his car between 6 p.m. and 10:15 p.m. on October 25.

Dale W. Woolworth, Flint, reported clothing, a spare tire and wheel valued in excess of $200 were stolen between 7 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. on October 28.

Two bicycles were stolen from Cooke Junior High between 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. October 29, police reports said. Theodore Slabey, 1088 Horton Street, told police his three-speed black racer was stolen, while Cary Collins, 535 Reed, reported his gold bicycle was taken.

Vandals threw a pumpkin against an aluminum door at 320 Orchard shortly before 8:30 p.m. October 29.

According to police, the bottom panel of the door was knocked out by the impact.

A car radio antenna was broken off a vehicle parked at 442 Randolph Street, police said. According to reports, the vandalism occurred between 9:30 p.m. October 29 and 7:50 a.m. October 30.

Two men were injured Friday afternoon while they were attempting to repair a gas leak in a tank at Mergraf Oil Company, 175 Railroad Street, police reported.

Roger DeGroot, Stockbridge, and "Wink" McWhorter, 350 Cady Street, were taken to St. Mary Hospital after they passed out.

According to police reports, a witness, Dave Killinger, Wayne, said both men were wearing gas masks while attempting to repair the tank about 3 p.m. DeGroot started to break a fitting, walked away and took his mask off when he saw McWhorter has passed out.

DeGroot summoned Killinger, Killinger stated, to hold McWhorter and then DeGroot also passed out. Killinger said he held both men to keep them from falling off a walkway into a concrete pit.

Police reported they confiscated a gas mask and canister and will analyze them to find out if they were being used correctly.

According to reports, police has been summoned to Mergraf at 3:17 p.m. on a complaint of odors emitting from the company. Officials stated they were aware of the problem and were in the process of correcting it.

Three persons reported their cars were broken into between Thursday and Friday.

Cliff Hill, 127 East Main Street, told police a tire, wheel and bowling equipment valued in excess of $120 was stolen from the trunk of his car. According to reports, unknown persons broke in to the vehicle between 7 p.m. Thursday and 1 a.m. Friday while the car was parked on the northeast corner of Cady and Center Streets.

Officers investigating at the scene found 66 feet of tire tracks in the lawn.

Dr. Kish Wahi, 20900 Taft Road, reported to police the red metal flag was twisted off his mail box Thursday. He also reported stones have been thrown at the box in the past, denting it.

100 More Pay Deposit

About 100 more students have paid the damage deposit during the last two weeks, according to Superintendent Raymond Spear, "but deposits are coming in slowly."

Spear said of the 3,231 students enrolled in Northville public schools at the D-Day count, 2,659 have paid the deposit and 592 have not.

"Most of the new deposits coming in are at the elementary level," he noted. "Many parents' paid during parent-teacher conferences."

Cooke Junior High has the least unpaid deposits while the high school has the bulk of the unpaid deposits, he said.

Spear reemphasized the deposit "is legal and covers potential damage to books and other non-consumable materials a student uses during the year. The deposit is refundable," Spear explained, "and will be given to the student upon graduation or at the end of the school year if requested."

feel the road patrol should be increased."

Wayne County Board of Commissioners, faced with what has been called "the tightest budget in recent history," recently rejected requests by Sheriff William Lucas for nearly doubling the present budget for his patrol and investigation divisions. His request included $470,000 for continuation and expansion of the "Metro Squad" which concentrates on drug traffic.

According to commissioners, continuation of the Metro Squad is "essential" and Lucas was requested to develop a reorganization plan which emphasizes the Metro Squad concept.

The board stated the plan should a) recognize "the established policy of Wayne County for a gradual phasing out of road patrol services provided local units of government" — a policy adopted by the County Board on October 25, 1963; and b) include "capacity for continuing activities presently being performed by the existing personnel referred to as the Metro Squad."

Townships presently received a majority of the patrol services include Northville, Plymouth, Brownstown, Canton, Huron, Sumpter, Van Buren and Romulus which recently was incorporated.

The budget adopted Thursday by a 21-4 vote of the commissioners, includes $2,065,010 for the Sheriff's division, an increase of $39,029 over the present budget but a net cut of six patrolmen. Commissioner Carl Pursell of Plymouth voted with the majority.

The auditors, who recommended the budget, based their reasoning on the fact that "Romulus Township incorporated as a city during the year and therefore under long-standing policy, routine road patrol service would be discontinued." Nine patrolmen had been working in Romulus which also has its own police force, auditors noted.

Commissioners emphasized that no deadline has been set for the phasing out of the road patrol, and townships would still be eligible for service but would be required to pay for it. Currently townships receive the service free, and all county taxpayers are supporting the service, though city residents (for example Northville) receive no service from the Sheriff other than back-up and then only when requested by the local department.

Lucas is expected to appear before the Commissioners' Law Enforcement and Public Safety Committee on Monday to argue for his original budget request which included an increase in manpower from 127 to 212 and $1.5 million more than the present budget of $1,995,396.

A directive to Lucas noted that "most unincorporated areas pay very little for police services even though they have a relatively greater ability to pay than many of the incorporated areas that must pay for both their own police force and for the services in unincorporated areas."

Township Voters Approve Proposals

Commissioners, won over his opponent, Paul Kadish, 55,137 to 38,192. Pursell won in both Wayne and Oakland County portions of his district with his biggest margin occurring in Oakland County where he won 30,491 to 20,555. In Wayne County he won 24,646 to 17,637.

Republican challenger Bob Swanson gave Stempien a real battle but lost his bid for the legislature, 17,811 to 15,227.

Most local interest focused on the three township propositions, particularly the proposal backing rezoning of the Levitt development, and on the three-way race for two township board trustee posts.

All three of the township's precincts supported the three proposals — the Levitt rezoning, agreement to sell the township's interest in the township hall, and abolishment of the annual meeting. In Precinct 3, however, abolishment of the annual meeting won by a scant four votes — 216-212.

The Levitt proposal, which supports the township board's action in rezoning a portion of the Levitt property to permit erection of townhouse units, in place of the detached single-family homes, was backed 1,090 to 813; sale of the township hall was approved 1,240 to 641; and abolishment of the annual meeting was supported 999 to 861.

Former Planning Commission Chairman Klein polled the greatest number of votes for the trustee posts but only by eight votes over the other Republican winner, Schaeffer, 1,268 to 1,260. Joseph Fiorilli, Democrat, pulled in a surprisingly 756 votes in what normally is a strong Republican area.

Klein picked up the biggest share of his winning votes in his own Precinct 1 (west part of the township) but he lost in Schaeffer's Precinct 2 (including Kings Mill) and in Precinct 3 (near the southern boundary).

Township assistant clerk Mrs. Margaret Tegge picked up two write-in votes for supervisor; long-time Treasurer Alex Lawrence, whose post was won in the primary by Joseph Straub, received two write-ins for treasurer; and Trustee Richard Mitchell received two votes for constable — a non-existent post.

with the road each of the properties would be increased in value some 20 percent.

"That property will reach a minimum of $8,000 an acre," said Presnell.

A public hearing must be called to review the new assessment role when it is prepared.

Enrollment Up at College Despite Delay

Despite a four-week delay in getting started this fall, Schoolcraft College enrollment went up three percent, according to information released by Norman E. Dunn, registrar.

The college has registered a record 5,296 students, keeping intact a history of student growth each year since it opened in 1964. Fall semester students that first year totaled 2,018. They increased to 2,504 in 1965, 3,188 in 1966, 3,906 in 1967, 4,660 in 1968 and 5,149 a year ago.

Dunn describes this fall's student body as "typical" in comparison to earlier years. Resident students outnumber non-residents two-to-one. There are 2,144 resident male students and 1,404 resident females. Overall, males outnumber females 3,339 to 1,957.

Students Create Retail Displays

Window displays in five downtown retail stores will be created and constructed by Northville High School retailing students Thursday afternoon.

Bill Frazer, student teacher from Eastern Michigan University, has planned the educational project in connection with Wayne Saunders, his faculty critic at the high school.

The displays, according to Frazer, will be set up by the students, all of whom are seniors, and will remain up approximately one week.

Stores involved are Main Street shops, Lapham's, Freydl's, Young in Heart, Poppe's Gallery and The Little People Shoppe.

Frazer is a senior at Eastern and is considering distributive education for a teaching career.

Brother Steps In For Rotary Lecture

Undoubtedly it eventually will become a funny story for his future lectures but right now it's no laughing matter for Don Cooper or the Northville Rotary Club.

Cooper, one of the nation's most popular film lecturers, suffered a serious leg injury this past month and underwent surgery. The accident upset his schedule, forcing him to cancel his December 2 appearance in Northville. The humorist is not expected to resume his lecture series until January.

"We're sorry to hear about Don's injury and equally sad that he won't be able to appear here in December," said Rotarian Robert Webber. "But we're delighted to announce that Don's brother, Dennis, will substitute."

Dennis Cooper, like his brother Don, sprinkles his lectures with humor that delights audiences everywhere. It was Dennis who made a lecture appearance in Northville last year.

Dennis' appearance, sponsored by the Rotary Club, as the first of a two-part Travel and Adventure Series, will feature the film "Eastern Canadian Holiday" on Wednesday, December 2 in the Northville High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

The second lecture, featuring Robert Brouwer and his film, "Our Pacific Shorelands, is planned for April.

A native of Spokane, Washington, Dennis Cooper is the son of the late Senator George R. Cooper, who owned lumber camps in western Montana. Because Dennis loved the woods and the beauty of the wildlife, his father almost had to drag him off to college to study engineering.

However, the call of the "great outdoors" was stronger than a career of engineering and once more Dennis returned to the wilds he loved. Together with his brother Don he decided to become a travelogue photographer. Ranging from the Arctic to the tropics, his films have been received with enthusiasm by thousands.

Eastern Canada, a land magnificent with raw beauty uncontaminated by man, is an ideal country for a holiday — thus the name of Dennis' film. The film visits the Atlantic Coast with its fishing villages, Gaspe Peninsula, and the St. Lawrence River and Seaway.

Tickets for the lecture are available from any Rotary member or at Northville Drug, Northville Insurance Agency, Harold Bloom Insurance Agency, Northville Camera Shop, or Manufacturers Bank.

TROY LEWIS of South Lyon...

... "together more now but less to spend."

THE BILL HUDSONS of Green Oak...

...still working but enjoying "overtime" less.

With a tight lid clamped over UAW-General Motors negotiations and prospects for a settlement apparently gaining ground, a check with striking families this past week revealed little evidence that the strike's economic pinch is unbearable.

Most families, however, are hoping for a settlement soon.

Perhaps because this area is considered "Ford country" having but one GM facility (GM Proving Grounds in neighboring Milford), there are relatively few striking families, and some of those on strike locally view it as a "mixed blessing."

Bill Hudson of Green Oak, an experimental test driver at General Motors, said, "I don't know many guys who are hurting because of the strike. There's a lot of work around here."

An experimental test driver at the GM Proving Grounds, Hudson has been unaffected by the strike, working 40 hours for GM and holding down a part-time job at the Mt. Brighton Ski Lodge.

Of the seven families contacted in the Northville- Novi area all reported that to date the situation is not critical. And the Novi Office of Economic Opportunity reported only one request pertaining to food stamps.

Unlike "GM towns", apparently only those local area businesses that depend a great deal on outside trade have been adversely affected by the squeeze.

In South Lyon, where Mrs. Troy Lewis says she is studying 40 different ways to fix hamburger, neither she nor her husband seemed overly concerned about the loss of the regular paycheck. Troy receives about $40 a week in strike benefits from the union and has continued with a part-time job at a South Lyon service station.

Union benefits are set at $30 per week for single workers, $35 per week for couples, and $40 per week with families.

A union spokesman explained that strikers may work part-time elsewhere but may not earn more than $50 per week during the strike.

"In addition to strike benefits we advise them (strikers) what other benefits they may apply for," the spokesman said. He had reference to food stamps.

Oakland County, which has been swamped with food stamp applications, said it had been forced to set up a separate food stamp issuing office in Pontiac to handle the GM strikers. To qualify, strikers must be certified by their unions.

As of Friday, 9,074 certified applications were in the Pontiac office. Pontiac is a GM town.

In addition to "doing the dishes and scrubbing", H. Thomas Needham of Novi said he has been able to paint his house during the strike. His older family is more fortunate than some of the younger strikers, he explained, because it has "a little bit more to fall back on." His youngest child is 15.

Needham, who works at Cadillac Motors, now hopes the strike will be over soon, however.

For the Stanley Butterworth family in Northville the strike, if it had to be, came at the right moment. Mrs. Butterworth had an operation in her native England and is just home recuperating. Her husband has been home to care for her, but now that she's regaining her strength he's ready to go back to the Chevrolet Spring and Bumper plant in Livonia.

Because he's also a farmer, Glenn R. Angell of Northville has found plenty of repair work around the house to do. Mrs. Angell explained that even though crop work is done her husband has been busy converting his mother's furnace to gas. Since their youngest child is 19 and is the only one still at the second time he has been off work because of a strike. He was on salary until 1963.

"The men have been aware, I think, since the last contract was signed that this strike might happen," said Lewis. "But I guess it wasn't until about the last six months that I really felt we had better save for it."

He estimated that about 50-percent of the GM workers had put things could get pretty rough if the strike continues on through Christmas. They stopped making their regular Christmas Club payments when the strike began.

For the Green Oak resident (Hudson) the strike looks like it "could last a long time." He believes the strike is lasting longer than some anticipated because "so many workers are not having a hard time of it."

Referring to his own employment at the Proving Grounds during the strike, he said the company wanted eight drivers from his local to work on essential projects. The union went along with the idea, "but they can't get many guys to go in."

One reason for the reluctance to work, he explained, "is that if a guy works 40 hours during the strike that time is credited to him as overtime. So when the guys get back after the strike's over they won't get overtime for a couple of months or more."

Hudson said that most of his paycheck came from overtime before the strike and that he had begun to count on the extra money. "I don't even know if the union can do it," he said bitterly. "It doesn't sound legal to me."

While Hudson favors the unions "30-and-out" demand (retirement after 30 years service), he's not happy with the strike.

"I hope," said the 27-year-old man, "the company shows the union

"I don't know many guys who are hurting because of the strike."

"50-percent of the GM workers had put something aside before the strike."

Her husband has "found a better job than he had (at GM)."

home, the strike has not been a problem yet, she said.

And the strike hasn't bothered James McHugh, Jr. and his brother, Robert, much either, laughed their father, a Ford employee, "since they're living at home."

Although the strike is unsettled (as of early this week), Donald Tiffin of Northville has returned to work at the GM Diesel plant. But his wife reported that the men there "are working without a contract and at a $26 reduction in pay."

"They're supposed to get it back at the end of the strike," she added in expressing her displeasure with the terms of the return to work.

For at least one other Northville family the end of the strike will produce another kind of problem. The wife of this striker reported her husband has "found a better job than he had" and will have to make the choice at the end of the strike of whether to go back to maintain his seniority or to keep his new job. "We consider ourselves lucky that it hasn't affected us," she said.

Still another striker of Novi, who asked that his name not be used, is managing to get by because of a new job he's taken temporarily.

For the South Lyon employee of the Chevrolet Spring and Bumper plant (Lewis), the current strike represents something aside before the strike vote came.

While they had been saving "just in case," Mrs. Lewis isn't happy that the strike is eating into their savings. The family had planned to use the money for "a nice trip to Mexico" in their trailer next summer. They had taken only a two weeks vacation this year instead of the usual four so they could bank the extra money.

"It really didn't change things much for us," explained Mrs. Lewis. "I'm used to having Troy home in the daytime anyway. I've been so busy with Girl Scouts and Christmas booster boxes for servicemen these last few weeks that we haven't had time to see too much of each other."

One of the effects of the reduced income, Mrs. Lewis said, has been to shave about $15 weekly grocery bill. "I used to spend around $65 a week for groceries and now I try to keep it under $40. We stick to staples and we don't have much meat." She and her husband have three school-age children.

"We're not eligible for food stamps," Lewis said. "Oakland County seems to be more strict on that than Wayne according to what some of the other men tell me."

"Another thing: the TV goes to pieces and you don't have it repaired now."

Both of the Lewises agreed that

NOTICE

SALE OF SCHOOL SITES HARTLAND CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL DISTRICT

Sealed proposals for the purchase of the following described properties of Hartland Consolidated School District in the County of Livingston, Michigan, will be received by the Board of Education at the Office of the Superintendent at 8:00 p.m., EST, on the 23rd day of November, 1970, at which time and place the bids will be publicly opened and read.

SALE NO. 1

60 ACRES
The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter and the West half of the Northeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section 15, Town 3 North, Range 6 East, Michigan, being in the Township of Hartland, County of Livingston, Michigan.

Attention is called to a warranty deed, recorded Volume 476, page 496, dated October 31, 1966, Livingston County records, for the school district interest in this property.

2 ACRES
A part of the East half of the Northwest quarter of Section 16 in Town 3 North, Range 6 East, Michigan, described as follows: Beginning in the center line of Old Highway U.S. 23, at a point 1868 feet North of the South one-eighth corner of the Northwest quarter of said Section 16; thence North in center line of highway 330 feet; thence East 264 feet; thence South 330 feet; thence West 264 feet to beginning, containing two acres more or less.

Attention is called to a warranty deed recorded Volume 256, page 208, Livingston County records for the school district interest in this property.

TERMS OF BID

1. The bids shall be contained in an envelope addressed to the Board of Education, entitled "Bid for Sale No. 1" or "Bid for Sale No. 2". If a bidder wishes to bid for both parcels he shall use two envelopes, and identify each by the number.
2. The Board of Education adopted its resolution on October 12, 1970, at its regular meeting, that these two parcels are no longer needed for school district purposes, and shall be advertised for sale.
3. A cashier's check, or money order for ten percent (10%) of the bid must accompany each bid as a good faith deposit. Good faith deposits of unsuccessful bidders will be returned by receipt or registered mail. The good faith deposit will be forfeited to the school district as liquidated damages, if, upon being awarded the bid to the successful bidder, such bidder shall not, within ten (10) days thereof, complete the payment in cash, and take his public corporation quit claim deed for the property.
4. Each sale shall be for cash only.
5. Each bidder shall be required to make his own inspection of the premises as they now exist. The Board makes no representations or warranties whatsoever concerning the premises. Likewise, the buyer must determine for himself the school district interest in the property, because the school district can, and will, give a public corporation quit claim deed only for its conveyance. Each title must be examined, ascertained and evaluated by the buyer at his own risk.
6. The school district reserves the right to reject any and all bids if it is deemed in the best interest of the school district to do so; and to waive any irregularities of a bid.

Is Our Thirst For Happiness The Key?

Rev. Carl F. Welsch
St. Paul's Lutheran, Hamburg

"Blessed are those who hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be satisfied." Matthew 5:6

Apparently we are in a time of genuine revolution. The revolution exhibits violence in the streets and violence disguised as goodies dropped in children's Halloween bags. The revolution is earmarked by a growing spirit of unhappiness and dissatisfaction.

A noted cell scientist, Philip Siekewitz of Rockefeller University wrote last week in Science, "...this non-advent of the Golden Age of Technology..." To hear a scientist speak of waning faith in the acceptability of engineered solutions to human problems is no small revolution in its own right. There arises our recognition that every time we generate a miracle solution to a long-standing problem, we also generate two new problems to stand in line.

About a century ago in the pages of Scientific American, writers urged the faithful to bow down to the electric generator as the most promising fulfillment of the inventor's dreams ever devised.

Since that time, we have paraded a whole consumer's index to which we have bowed down. And still there walks in the land a great spirit of unhappiness and dissatisfaction.

We are people of such leisure and such power; and such a lot of time we spend hungering and thirsting after whatever people dreamed of a century ago; and twenty centuries ago.

We hunger and thirst after some permanent satisfaction — we know not what it is. We certainly taste enough things. Television promised, in its infancy, to educate the young and pacify the elderly; but it has only succeeded in changing our culture without offering the satisfaction promised. We still hunger and thirst after something — we know not what it is.

We are so mobile, so sheltered, so fed, and so fat. So surrounded with the trappings of self-indulgence. But we are not a happy people.

"Blessed are those who hunger and thirst after the righteousness, for they shall be satisfied." Those words don't help much, true! We are not much helped by the Beatitudes (Latin: beatus = blessed) of Jesus because they represent such a radical departure from common sense.

You probably know more about the Beatitudes from jokes than from the pages of Scripture. "Blessed are the meek, for they get what they ask for. Blessed are the merciful, they're easy to take advantage of. Blessed are the poor; God made so many of them." And so on.

It's hard for us to draw a bead on the high aims of the Beatitudes because the platform from which we sight is so sinking and unsteady. The light streaming from the Beatitudes comes to us like light through a long tunnel which can only be seen when you're perfectly aligned with it. Surely you've had a clear idea — for five minutes or an hour's time — knowing exactly what it means, "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called sons of God", or "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth". Then the circumstances changed, the vision slipped away, and you are left groping for a glimpse down the tunnel again.

The emphasis Jesus offers us here lies on the pronoun they; "...they shall be satisfied", implying clearly that those who hunger and thirst after anything less than righteousness have no chance of permanent satisfaction; no clear notion of permanent happiness.

We hunger and thirst after many things, but we've not often sought righteousness (except self-righteousness), and we probably don't have the foggiest idea what might be righteous.

We forget that righteousness belongs to God and comes from God. The Son of God blessed us in His meekness; by His mercy; through His peacemaking; through the willing poverty of His spirit; and by His hungering and thirsting after a developing sense of God's righteousness among mankind.

We hunger and thirst after something — we know not what it is. We shamelessly boast of our willingness to oppress and defend for the sake of whatever it is. But we are not a happy people.

Will people ever be perfectly happy? Better to ask, "Will people ever hunger and thirst after righteousness?"

The world never looked so empty — gray and overcast, and no one to talk to. Depressed, I stepped to the window sightlessly taking in the familiar view.

Off to the left, unremembered, was the church steeple. It thrust up out of the green trees like a white exclamation point in my mind.

Suddenly, I wanted to laugh out loud. How foolish of me to think of myself as alone! We are never alone; God has promised us that.

I thanked Him for the steeple, the visible reminder of His love, and for the whole Church which draws men together against the emptiness of the world.

State Sets Pace in Hiring 'Minority' People

LANSING — State government, which is looked to by many as a pacesetter in many areas, has been making significant strides in recent years in hiring members of minority groups.

A study released by the Michigan Civil Service Department shows that while 8.6 per cent of the total state work force was non-white in 1964, that total has increased to 12 per cent — a figure reflecting the general population of the state.

In fact, the report said, "It appears at the present time that non-white representation in the state service is slightly higher—by 1 per cent—than that prevailing in the general state population."

The report noted the non-white work forces of major state departments ranged from highs of 54.4 per cent in civil rights offices and 26.6 per cent in labor to lows of 0.9 per cent in the State Police and 0.4 per cent in natural resources.

THE REPORT found most non-whites in such jobs as attendant nurse, typist-clerk, institution worker, general clerk, public welfare worker and janitor-watchman.

It also said the white civil service employee averages more than $1,000 a year in salary above the average non-white worker.

The average for white employees is $7,767 per year while the average for non-whites is $6,718.

On the whole, however, the report said an examination of the record "indicates some rather substantial improvement in the direction of upward mobility. Non-whites are represented in greater numbers in the beginning professional and middle managerial classes."

THE BREAKDOWN shows more than 88 per cent of Michigan's non-white state employees work in six counties—Calhoun, Ingham, Kalamazoo, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne—which have high non-white populations.

Ten state agencies accounted for 77.4 per cent of all non-white employees with the Department of Social Services employing the most—1,061. The Michigan Employment Security Commission was second highest with 991 and the Plymouth State Home was third with 531 non-white employees.

Other major agencies listed with low non-white employees were the State House of Correction with none, and the Department of Natural Resources, with 4 per cent of its total staff non-white.

DESPITE the fact he is from Michigan—the car supplier of the nation—Sen. Philip A. Hart plunged full speed ahead recently when he held hearings on rising auto insurance rates and began receiving testimony that auto manufacturers bear much of the blame for rising insurance rates. Most car owners must applaud.

Testimony before Hart's Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee showed the cost of repairing cars involved in low-speed accidents is skyrocketing because the cars just can't take it.

Among the main causes of the high damages is the fragility of auto bumpers, according to the testimony.

FOR EXAMPLE, four medium-priced 1969 standard cars, when driven into a concrete barrier covered with plywood, received average damage of $200 at only five miles per hour.

When the speed was increased to 10 miles per hour, a rate less than many collisions which occur between humans without injury on a football field, the average cost rose to $652 per car.

When backed into the barrier, the damages in a 5 mile per hour collision averages $214.

just who is running the company. The union does some good things but they're trying to run the company."

With auto workers in non-striking UAW plants being asked to double their dues to add to the strike fund, Lewis contended it is justified since GM was picked as the strike target. "It seems right for them to help us as we have helped them in the past," he said.

Settlement at GM, observed Lewis, doesn't necessarily mean settlement at the other auto companies. Nor, he added, does it mean that the other companies will settle for the same thing GM agrees to.

For 1970 models, the same tests showed an average $215 damage at five miles per hour forward, $514 at 10 miles per hour and $218 when backed into the barrier at five miles per hour.

ONE RESULT of these high repair costs, as mentioned previously, is higher insurance rates.

Farm Equipment Hit Hard

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. Hard hit during the period of peak interest rates has been the agricultural equipment industry. Large modern farms and livestock pastures and feeding facilities use high-cost equipment generally financed on a three- to five-year basis. Hence, as interest rates climbed toward their highest levels in a hundred years, exaggerated borrowing costs and credit stringency forced a cutback in farm equipment purchases.

IN LATE 1969 the U.S. Commerce Department forecast a modest upturn in the agricultural equipment field for 1970. It looks now as though output and shipments of farm implements will fall short of the government's prediction for this year. Instead, 1970 will likely be the fourth consecutive year with monthly output rates sagging below levels of the preceding year and the third with a reduction in dollar volume of shipments.

This downturn in production of farm equipment represents a normal cyclical decline for the industry. The last upbeat ended at a 1966 peak after an unprecedented prosperity starting in 1962.

AFTER THIS BOOM a normal adjustment period began, made worse than usual by several adverse forces. First there was the need to absorb the production bulge of 1962-1966. There was, too, the rise in borrowing costs plus the stringent credit, cutting demand for farm implements and starting a downturn in farm land prices.

Farmers' confidence was also dampened by the slip in general business and the distressed state of the stock market. Bad weather during planting months in some of the past four years further hurt agricultural equipment demand. This year has been the most trying of the period, with slow retail sales, production cutbacks reflecting this lagging market, and labor troubles in the final calendar quarter.

The adverse factors which have hit the agricultural equipment business are basically temporary, and are common to many industries. Now that monetary authorities are infusing credit into the banking system and money rates have eased somewhat, sentiment in farm regions should improve and demand for equipment rise—especially when business rebounds after the GM dispute is resolved.

Fortunately, inventories of farm implements in dealers' hands are not burdensome in most cases. Hence, even a modest boost in farmers' buying should be quickly transmitted into higher production rates for equipment obviously feeling the squeeze between disgruntled stockholders noting lower profits and disgruntled policyholders noting higher rates, are beginning a campaign to get the manufacturers to stiffen the bumpers on their cars and make the cars more injury resistant.

Allstate Insurance Co. is offering a flat 20 per cent reduction on any car built which can withstand a five mile per hour collision.

And State Farm, the country's largest insurer, has been circulating copies of full testimony before Hart's committee around the nation in hopes of raising some public support for more crash-proof cars.

By ROLLY PETERSON

If you're like me, you've always wondered, when watching a Walt Disney animal production, how in the world they ever got those 'live' pictures of animals in their natural habitat and how those marvelous animal-human sequences were photographed.

Lions, cougars, bears and beavers, at one time or another, have frolicked with humans, normally kids, in Disney productions. Usually a young animal is left destitute by some misfortune and a young boy or his father rescue the animal and nurture it to good health, with the camera recording the progress.

"Snow Bear," a new Disney movie premiering on TV in two hour-long segments over NBC is one such film. The first segment was shown last Sunday, the second and last will appear next Sunday.

The story is about a polar bear befriended by a young Eskimo boy in Alaska. The Disney script follows the growth the bear cub and how the boy and his furry friend survive various situations.

How did Disney get the extraordinary shots? An article by Cecil Smith from Hollywood explains the process and in so doing, throws cold water of reality over the romantic animal stories that carry the Disney name.

The bear cub and other polar bears appearing in the role of the Snow Bear, for instance, were raised by Erick Klant, owner of the famous training school and zoo in Holland. It was he who furnished the lions and lion cubs for the movie, "Born Free."

The trained polar bears were shipped to Alaska for the movie. They are paraded on the live set as they're needed, and except for occasional, unpredictable acts of the animals, which add dimension to the story, the completely fictional script is followed.

As Smith points out, Disney has been criticized by naturalists for this fictionalized approach, with the animals being glorified as heroes. The main objection is that the fictionalized accounts are unrealistic and misrepresent the basic traits of the animals involved.

Nevertheless, it might be argued, the fictionalized stories do draw attention to wild animals and their plights. Getting the attention of a large segment of Americans and eliciting a sympathetic response is a big step in the direction of wilderness preservation.

Attendance Up In State Parks

If the number of new, privately owned campgrounds and the increased attendance at both private and state park campgrounds is any indication of growth, this state's camping business has at least doubled in the past five years, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Attendance at state parks this year to date has been up 12.6 percent over last year's mark and most of the mushrooming privately operated parks in Michigan have had a 33-percent increase in site use over last summer.

"The private park came to the rescue of the Michigan camper this summer," states Jerry E. Fisher, Auto Club touring manager.

Send your comments, questions, and horse show news to "Horse's Mouth," care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi 48178. This column is open to news of all breeds of horses and ponies.

Waterloo Recreation area (near Jackson) was the setting for some enjoyable trail riding on Oct. 24-25.

Local people participating in this were: Mrs. George Neely, the James McLeod family, and the Focst family, all of Brighton, the Ken Bellenir family, Northville, and the Robert Davidson's of Novi. All together there were about 20 riders, some of whom camped out for three days, while others joined them for the two rides on Sunday.

More trail riding news comes from the Michigan Trail Riders' Association which held their annual fall ride October 3-11. This ride begins near Tawas City and the riders average about six to seven hours in the saddle per day, camping out at night in the various camp sites in the area. Local residents participating in this ride were: Miss Carol Morgan, South Lyon, riding her Morgan gelding, "Star's Ben Erin"; Mrs. Lois Godfrey, Northville, with her Morgan mare, "Batton's Bit-of-Fashion", and Mrs. Beverly Gruenheid, Northville, with "Jeff", a Standardbred gelding. All riders said they had good weather and the colors on the trees were beautiful.

Highland Recreation Area on M-59 also offers some excellent trail riding facilities, with areas for overnight camping and a corral for the horses. Many other areas have facilities for campfires and weiner roasts. If you desire to stay overnight, you must call for reservations.

On Sunday, October 25th, a group of 22 Justin Morgan Horse Club members enjoyed a long afternoon ride at Highland, followed by a weiner roast. Some local participants were: Mr. & Mrs. David Batton, South Lyon; Mr. & Mrs. Jim Mernans, Mr. & Mrs. Floyd Voss and Mr. & Mrs. Jim Darling, all of Howell; Christine & Mrs. Freeman, Highland; Mrs. Mary Dudley, Karen & Judy Kline, all of Brighton.

We encourage you horse people to take advantage of these prepared trails, they are in state parks, tax supported and above all, they are safe and away from today's busy highways.

Horse people, individually, are very much in "the know," so why don't you share your plans of various "horsey" events with us? Send in your club or breed activities, clinics, etc. so that we all could participate or at least observe.

The local 4-H groups do like to visit breeding farms for their judging teams; let us know about your farms!

Briarwick Farms, 589 Hartland Road, Brighton, will hold an open house Sunday, November 8 from 1 to 6 p.m. The public is invited, admission is free.

Mrs. Chuck Grand of Brighton will narrate dressage exhibition. James Boswell of the Pinto Association will be present with this year's Pinto queen and will give a demonstration.

Western horse training and speed and action training will be demonstrated by Rick and Linda Forbush of Hartland, and Mrs. David Schwall of Ottisville will narrate a jumping exhibition. These are just a few of the events planned for Sunday's program which opens with the Livingston County Sheriff's posse presenting the Colors.
