It was all over but the clean up after this oak tree toppled over onto the Ervin M. Pattison home at 1052 Grace Court Sunday morning. The tree, 20 inches in diameter, smashed through the ceiling in one of the bedrooms, but luckily no one was in the room at the time. An estimated $7,500 damage was done to the home. Apparently the tree had rotted with age.

School Study Moves Ahead

With the approval of a year-round study grant renewal of $20,000, Northville Public School District is ready to begin Phase III of the study — measuring acceptability of the concept to Northville residents.

Northville's grant, one of six ranging from $8,800 to $20,000, was approved by the State Board of Education on November 10.

Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear said Phase III will begin "in early December and I hope it will be done by early Spring."

"I want to be in a position to make a recommendation to the board of education, to implement all or part of the concept, by June 1," he noted. Spear said he has two reasons for setting the June 1 deadline. "I do not want year-round school to become a political issue (during the June school board elections) and the decision should be made by the seven board members who have spent at least a year involved in the study."

He said several organizations in town will be asked to help with the continuation of the study and he hopes to reactivate the Citizens Year-Round Study Committee.

Among the steps to be taken in Phase III are to:

- continue of the public relations program, improving public knowledge regarding the quadrimester concept as it relates to Northville;

- establish criteria for determination of selection of quarters to be assigned to families or groups of families;

- develop a scheduling instrument to be given to every family in Northville with children that will be in school in August, 1972;

- select and train a team of persons to assist in the distribution and return of family schedules;

- establish a series of community workshops to further explain the quadrimester concept, criteria for scheduling and impact their choice could have on year-round school;

- program, compute and evaluate by families, family schedules as requested;

- based on criteria, readjust individual family schedules necessary to bring total student attendance per quarter within necessary 75 percent of total population;

- notify every family of schedule for children for 1972-1975;

- evaluate and compute individual family schedules determined to be unacceptable by families;

- interview each family finding schedule totally unacceptable to determine necessary adjustments required to make schedule meet with approval;

- evaluate possible redesign of calendar in order to determine possible modification of quadrimester concept to bring about acceptance of concept;

- disseminate results of scheduling to public;
- recommend to board of education conversion in part or total or discontinuation of study;
- disseminate results of Phase III as a supplement to report of findings during Phase I and Phase II.

The steps will be taken in order, Spear said, with the recommendation going to the board by June 1, 1971, to implement all or part of the concept.

Burger Chef Gets A Green Light

Acting following a public hearing Tuesday, the Northville Planning Commission recommended without dissent the rezoning of three lots on North Center Street to permit development of a Burger Chef restaurant.

The recommendation goes now to the city council, which probably at its meeting on December 7 will set a date for another public hearing on the rezoning petition of Burger Chef Systems, Inc., headquartered in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Specifically, the petition requests rezoning from R-2 (Residential two-family) to C-2 (Commercial).

The property is located directly south of the proposed Chatham supermarket on the west side of Center, north of Rayson.

At Tuesday's hearing the lone objection to the new zoning centered around the question of parking. While it was noted that Burger Chef plans to provide for 35 to 40 more parking spaces (representing, according to the city manager, a 4 to 1 ratio, which is more than required by city standards), a citizen living on Rayson Street and a representative of Chatham questioned whether this amount would be sufficient to discourage street parking or parking in the adjacent Chatham lot.

David Cutler, 119 Rayson, voiced fear that customers would park on Rayson.

Al Weisburg, vice-president in charge of construction for Chatham, pointed out that four other Chatham supermarkets are adjacent to Burger Chef or similar restaurants and in each of these cases even though the restaurants provide more parking than proposed here it is insufficient to prevent parking on Chatham property.

"We have nothing against these types of restaurants as long as they have adequate parking," he said.

Sewers, Roads Up for Study

Discussion of proposed city charter changes and suggested public improvements during 1971 will highlight a special study session of the Northville council next Monday.

Council members are expected to review suggested improvement projects and, perhaps, establish a priority list of these improvements.

High on this list, very likely, will be the installation of a new or larger storm sewer system in the Center-Wing street area, extension of Wing Street to the Seven Mile cutoff, and paving of the unpaved portions of Grace and Horton streets.

Among other projects likely to come up for discussion will be installation of sanitary sewer and water lines to the Gerald Avenue area, widening of business district streets and intersections, additional sidewalk installation and repair, replacement of the Rural Hill Cemetery bridge, and additional street lighting.

Installation of water and sewer into the Gerald Avenue area, estimated at a cost of $15,000 to $20,000, is seen as a prerequisite to development of industry in that area. Such a trunkline, according to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, would serve some seven or eight parcels of property but could easily be extended to serve additional property.

Financing of this project, however, could pose special problems since most of the acreage in the area lies within Northville Township.

Ollendorff has been directed to begin a feasibility study of this property.

Concerning proposed charter changes, the council Monday will review the recommendations of the council-appointed charter committee with an eye towards determining which of the committee's recommendations should be placed on the ballot in the city election next spring.

A decision on this matter must be

Downtown Parking Assessments OK'd

An assessment roll totalling $180,000, earmarked for offstreet downtown parking projects, was confirmed by the Northville City Council (4-0) Monday night with minor changes.

City officials were apprehensive that one or more property owners in the business district might protest the assessment in court. While they contend the procedure for assessing is equitable, they admit that legal action could complicate and delay the project.

But if those who strongly oppose the assessments contemplate taking their objections to court, they did not tip their hand Monday night.

In related action, the Northville Building Authority opened two bids on the sale of $400,000 in bonds to finance the parking projects, including the parking deck on Cady Street, and awarded the contract to the low bidder — Kenower, MacArthur & Company of Detroit at an average interest rate of 5.87 or a total cost of $148,911.31.

The second bidder on the $400,000 in revenue bonds with a lifetime of 10 years was Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, which submitted an average bid of 5.88.

The bonds are to be retired at a rate of about $50,000 per year, with property owners in the four-block downtown area paying about one-half this cost through their special assessments.

Prior to confirming the roll, the council heard protests of a representative of the Fraternal Order of Eagles 2504 who argued that while the Eagles are not "totally against the assessment" they nevertheless contest the assessment against the Eagles property as "too much for what we have."

Similar protests were made last week at the assessment hearing.

Following an explanation by Mayor A. M. Allen that the assessment is based on the size of the building and its location, Councilman Kenneth Rathert emphasized that while the council is sympathetic to pleas of Northville lodges (Masons and Eagles) special consideration would represent discrimination against other downtown property owners.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff said he had rechecked the assessment and could "see no room for change from the original formula."

Assessments of three property owners were increased, while assessments of three others were reduced before the roll was confirmed. These included: Northville Lanes up $3,600, Leo Mainville, up $436.20; and George Miller, up $428. And State Farm, down $18; Brader's, down $73; and Winners Circle, down $659.

NEWS BRIEFS

NORTHVILLE BOARD of Education has cancelled its Monday, November 23 meeting. Next meeting of the board is scheduled for Monday, December 14, at 8 p.m. in the board of education offices. On the agenda will be the $20,000 grant renewal recently awarded to Northville Public Schools for studying the acceptability of year-round school in the district.

PROPOSED harness racing dates for 1971 have little chance of surviving, predicted Northville Downs Executive Manager Monday, a day before State Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley went into a closed meeting with representatives of the Governor's office. Formal announcement of the new dates must be made by December 15. If Shirley's recommendation stands, however, Northville would receive three fat racing meets: February 6 to March 27 and June 18 to August 3 for the Downs, and October 25 to December 14 for the Jackson-at-Northville meet.

NATIONAL BOOK WEEK is being marked at the Northville Library this week by visits from nursery school and elementary classes. In use for the first time is the new cassette recorder with stories for youngsters. It has been given in memory of Mrs. Ina Whipple by her three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Thornbladh, librarian, announced.

PUBLIC HEARING on a planning commission recommendation that four lots at the corner of Center and Rayson streets be rezoned to a professional office classification has been set for December 7. Prior to recommending the professional office classification by its own motion, the planners turned down a petition by Robert Cole to rezone two of the lots to a commercial classification.

Alex Lawrence Steps Down

Long Tenure Ends Friday

Fifteen years as a member of the Northville township board of trustees ends officially tomorrow for Alex M. Lawrence.

At its November 10 meeting the board recognized Lawrence's long service and adopted a resolution paying him tribute. Still recovering from surgery, Lawrence has not attended a board meeting since July.

He was defeated for re-election as treasurer by Trustee Joseph Straub in the August primary. Straub, along with newcomer trustees, Leonard Klein and Charles Schaeffer, and incumbents Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg and Clerk Eleanor Hammond, officially take office November 20.

Lawrence has been a resident of Northville since 1926. Now 72, he had a long career in industry before devoting his time to local government.

Canadian born, Lawrence was graduated from the University of Toronto with a degree as mechanical engineer. He was treasurer of Industrial Sheet Metal Works, later known as Peters & Dalton, a firm specializing in oven spray booths and dust collecting processes for industry.

In December 1955 he was appointed to the township board as trustee. In November 1962 he was named to succeed the late Roy Terrill as treasurer. He was re-elected three times.

A staunch advocate of township government, Lawrence was also especially interested in the community fire department. He was the chief promoter of acquiring the township's 1,000 gallon pumper and tanker still used by the department.

He is a past president of the Treasurers' Association of Wayne County and a charter member of the township water and sewer commission.

A resident of 16775 Meade Road, Lawrence is a widower. The Jennette Lawrence Scout and Recreation Building on Cady street was named in honor of his wife who was active in area scouting activities.

The Lawrences had two children, James A. of San Diego, California, and Mrs. William (Nancy) Gaab of Garden City.

Girls Compete Saturday For 'Junior Miss' Crown

Eight high school senior girls will be competing for the Northville Junior Miss title at 8 p.m. this Saturday at Northville High School auditorium in a pageant of "Youth in Action."

Sponsoring Jaycees will carry out this year's action theme with a slide presentation of more than 400 photographs of contestants engaged in various community activities.

The Northville winner of the title now held by Deniece Bidwell, 9650 Chubb Road, will join local winners from 21 other area communities in the Metropolitan Regional Junior Miss Pageant to be held December 12 at Northville High School. It also is sponsored by the Northville Jaycee chapter.

A winner and two runners-up will be named by the judges. The judging panel of five area residents includes Charles Castillo, speech instructor at Schoolcraft Community College; Robert Jameson, regional service manager for Honeywell, Incorporated; Alan Thompson, District 30 Jaycee vice-president and Garden City automotive component salesman; Mrs. Nancy Dittmar, Garden City high school instructor; and Mrs. Jean Day, Northville Record women's editor.

They are to evaluate the girls on scholastic achievement, poise, judging interviews, appearance and performing arts.

Musical background will be furnished by the Northville High School Jazz Band under the direction of Robert Williams. Master of Ceremonies for the pageant will be Doug Loomis.

The local pageant is open to the public. Tickets will be sold at the door or are available from any Northville Jaycees. Prices are $1.50 for adults, $1 for students and 50 cents for children under 12. Dave Van Hine, Jaycee co-chairman for the event, emphasizes that the Jaycees welcome everyone interested in attending.

Mischakoff Stars in Concert

A performance by Mischa Mischakoff on the violin will highlight the second free concert in this the 25th season of the Plymouth Symphony.

Mischakoff will be featured in the Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in G Minor by Bruch at the November 22 concert that begins at 4 p.m. in Plymouth Central High School.

Also included on the program: Jubilation Overture by Ward, Pavane for a Dead Princess by Ravel, and Symphony, "Mathi Der Maler" by Hindemith.

Wayne Dunlap is the conductor.

The amazing Mischakoff retired as concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in 1967 after a 50-year international concert career beginning with his graduation at age 16 from the St. Petersburg Conservatory.

Following his escape from Russia in 1921, he emigrated to the United States where he soon became concertmaster of the New York Symphony under the late Walter Damrosch. His brilliant career has included the first chair of the Philadelphia Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski, a period with Frederick Stock in Chicago and 15 years with the NBC Symphony as Toscanini's "third hand."

Dunlap, director of music and chairman of the humanities department of Schoolcraft Community College, has conducted the Plymouth Symphony since 1951. A graduate of Eastman School of Music, he was a student of the celebrated French conductor Pierre Monteaux — a Fulbright scholar in Vienna — and director of the Orchestra and Opera Workshop at the University of Michigan for seven years.

The orchestra is celebrating its silver anniversary year with 95 members — including University of Michigan and Wayne State faculty members — as well as members from the Detroit Symphony, Toledo Symphony and the Schoolcraft College Court Orchestra.

Nursery service is available for children ages 2 through 6 years, during concerts.

PIANO RECITAL —

The Student Activities Board of Schoolcraft College will present Richard Syracuse, concert pianist in recital, on Saturday at 8 p.m. Works by Beethoven, Schumann, Debussy, Chopin and Liszt are on the program to be held in the Liberal Arts Theater. Admission is $1.50. Winner of numerous scholarships and awards, Syracuse has concertized extensively in Italy, Greece, Denmark, Holland, and England as well as appearing on United States radio, television and stage.

In Our Town College Aids Overture

By JEAN DAY

WHEN "AMAH! and the Night Visitors" is presented by the Detroit Overture to Opera Association Sunday afternoon, December 13, in Northville High School auditorium, the 11 local women who voted to bring it here (and personally guaranteed expenses that will total $1,500) can be assured that the venture will be a success.

The committee has received a generous assist from the budget of the Schoolcraft Community College Humanities Series.

In making the donation of $600 from this budget, which comes largely from Schoolcraft College student fees, Wayne Dunlap, college director of fine arts, wrote Mrs. Ernest J. Shave, Northville committee chairman:

"I hope this works out well for both of us. It is an experiment on our part in enriching the cultural life of the Schoolcraft College District and providing meaningful experiences for students of the college."

The committee will send the college 50 tickets so that students can attend.

Northville Mothers' Club also voted to help the project by purchasing 35 tickets for high school students. Individual club members have offered to help in selling tickets.

The appealing story of the crippled shepherd boy and his Christmas visitors will be told at the 3:30 p.m. performance December 13 by a professional Overture cast under the direction of Dr. David DiChiera.

As Mrs. Shave points out, "The sale of tickets never pays for any program of this nature, so assistance is more than welcome."

Because the program is the type that can enrich the holiday season for all members of the family, the committee voted to price the tickets at $3 for adults and $2 for students — and to raise money to pay remaining costs. It started to by taking a booth at the Northville Historical Society's Tivoli Fair last Saturday — and now has the big support from Schoolcraft.

Tickets are available from any committee member. Committee chairmen are Mrs. Shave and Mrs. Donald Ware, who first formed the committee to bring an Overture production to Northville about three years ago.

On the committee are Mrs. Edward Zywiec, Mrs. B. A. Zayti, Mrs. Charles E. Wheatley, Mrs. Stanton Schaefer, Mrs. John W. Mowat, Mrs. Edward C. Kelly, Jr., Mrs. George Jerome and Mrs. Sterling Eaton. All are Northville residents except Mrs. Eaton, who is interesting Plymouth residents in the project.

WHEN DANISH Consul in Detroit-Sculptor Marshall Fredericks stayed an hour and a half to tour booths and visit with the committee of Tivoli Fair, Northville Historical Society members who worked hard on this "first" project felt it all was most worth while.

The renowned sculptor encouraged exhibiting artists and complimented the Danish pastry served. He also requested pictures to be sent to consulates in Chicago and New York.

"The continuous stream of people" attending insured a profit to the historical society of at least $700, according to Mrs. Jack Scantlin, co-chairman with Mrs. William Crump.

Thursday, November 19, 1970

FORMER RESIDENTS of Northville have been dropping in for fall visits. Transfers have taken others to new locations.

The George R. Wilkie family, one of the most recent to leave, now is settled in Lake Ann, Michigan, after a business transfer to Traverse City area.

Mrs. Wilkie writes that they would like to express their gratitude "to the many warm and friendly people we met in Northville during our 10 years. Our lives were enriched by many who served the community — it is a lovely area that will be fondly remembered by the Wilkie family."

She adds that they are delighted to be transferred to "a place we had always hoped would be in our retirement plans, never dreaming it would be so soon." When she wrote, their son, Dennis, was on furlough before going to Vietnam.

Mrs. Robert Palenchar dropped in on Northville friends earlier this month on a quick visit to the area with her husband. The couple now lives in Glen Ellyn, Illinois, but daughter Tricia (Mrs. Rick Atchinson) and her husband, live in Plymouth. Son Jim is a student at Notre Dame — this was the Palenchar's destination after Northville.

Also in town for a quick visit were the Donald Hannabargers. They have been transferred back to the United States from Sao Paulo, Brazil, and now are living in Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Other former Northville residents moving east are the Hugh McKays, who have just left Miami, Florida, for Mountainside, New Jersey.

Fashionwise, It's Hectic

Knees Play Hide and Seek Game

Model after model paraded across the stage of Northville High School auditorium at the town hall fashion show last Thursday, leaving no doubt that this is "the year to do your own thing" in gauchos, high boots, pants and deeply-slashed midi skirts.

Commentator Jackie Crampton, who has her own Detroit television show, admitted, as the first of about 60 fashions was shown, that "fashion has been hectic."

While a few skirts swirled just above the knee, most were just covering the knee while others (usually with a slit that could be unbuttoned or unzipped) went to mid length. It was obvious in the fashion world that the mini and the maxi were dead.

Miss Crampton wore a rust gauchos hat, matching laced-front rust boots and a black culotte suit. Peggy Potzger Hoffman (she became Mrs. Hoffman a couple of weeks ago), owner of the Tow Bari shop in Dearborn whose fashions were shown, wore a salt-and-pepper tweed with white jersey yoke in midi style.

The prophetic show-opener was a snappy pantsuit in "chutney-hued" leather. Priced at $160, it was the first of many leather or leather-trimmed fashions. Pantsuits also were a large portion of the show and were viewed as the "answer" for women who are resisting the longer skirts.

Audience-wise the pantsuit was important as more town hall-goers arrived in pantsuits than in the new midi skirt.

The three-piece fashion appeared often, as in a beige ensemble of sweater and pants with a multicolor sleeveless jacket. Another "pant" look featured was the one-piece jumpsuit. One black jumpsuit modeled was trimmed with silver nailheads; it was $90. This was pointed out as a good look for the shorter woman.

Jackets reached from the newest short length (Kimberly knits did a Damson plum-toned wool with a brief Eisenhower jacket) to the longer tunic lengths.

Miss Crampton pointed out that the important thing was to wear a coat that extended beyond the edge of the jacket. Jackie Crampton, whose English accent is familiar to those who watch her daytime television show, said that she personally likes the fur-trimmed, hooded-and-flaring coat.

In one instance fun fur was combined with real, although both appeared often. A fake-fur suit of broadtail was trimmed with real fox for an opulent look at $270.

(To rescue a too-short coat Miss Crampton confided that she is having a piece of fox fur made to zip on the bottoms of her present coats.)

For those who do not like the boots — shown in shiny black and white or in a long, clinging velvet-look — the commentator suggested matching shoes and hose to a color in the ensemble. The importance of hosiery and jewelry was stressed.

Long chains in gold or silver were worn, several at a time, by the models. Tow Bari owner, Mrs. Hoffman, wore her silvery chains tucked under her dress belt. "Be greedy, wear many," advised Jackie Crampton.

"Fashion this year is just a little more ladylike," Miss Crampton told the audience. This appeared most true in fashions for holiday-season wearing. Swiss-type embroidered braid decorated several dresses that will be arriving from New York the end of the year.

The braid formed a little-girl apron-look on a pink midi dress. The hem of a lemon-yellow fashion dipped into handkerchief points, edged with flower braid.

Most feminine was a polka-dot print dress lavished with ruffles and priced at $42. A green peau de soie dress with plunging neckline was described as the "movie star look."

Cocktail and evening clothes drew applause in tissue-weight brocade, often in gold and silver. Several in this fabric were long culottes, as was the show finale, a brown silk jersey long culotte on Grecian lines.

As town hall members voiced their concerns about closets filled with miniskirts at the luncheon following, Miss Crampton and Mrs. Hoffman advised:

"Don't throw anything away, save your minis for next summer."

"If you wear a mini now, put on matching boots and hose."

"Yes, pantsuits are appropriate for luncheon."

"Wear a little higher heel shoe with the midi skirt."

"Wear pantyhose and a short girdle with those slit-skirt midis (most are lined so you don't need a slip.)"

"Above all, wear what you think is right — and don't apologize," concluded the ladies whose business is fashion.

COMMENTATOR — Jackie Crampton adopts the gauchos, boot look.

Two Earn 'Olivers' In NHS Performance

"Oliver" awards for overall professionalism were given to Lauri Dagher and Reese Lenheiser for "The Man Who Came to Dinner." The awards were presented Saturday night at the close of the third performance of the play.

Miss Dagher won the award for her portrayal of Miss Preen and Lenheiser for playing Sheridan Whiteside.

The two were selected for the awards by director Robert Chapel, based on performance, leadership abilities, attitude and enthusiasm.

Chapel commented the "play proved to be better than I had anticipated and there was not one weak person in the play. All the students were believable in adult roles and it was a pleasure to work with the kids involved in the play."

The play was presented to an audience of more than 1,575 during its three performances.

Names of the "Oliver" winners will be engraved on a trophy which remains in the school and Miss Dagher and Lenheiser also received individual trophies, Chapel said.

Award winners in previous years included Robert Shafer and Chris Becker for "Oliver," Jim McNeice and Michele Rhody for "The Crucible," and McNeice and Debi Guido for "Anything Goes."

1984 — Jennifer Lyke as Julia, and Gary Gillett as Winston Smith portray two workers trying to grasp love out of a world filled with hate as the Novi dramatic class preforms the futuristic classic by George Orwell tomorrow night and Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Police Seek Youth In Stabbing Case

Police are seeking a boy described as being white, 15 years old, 5'6", 140 pounds with dark brown hair, who, according to reports, stabbed David Edward Fegan of Brighton Friday inflicting a "large jagged wound" in his neck.

Fegan, aged 30, and a friend David Parker of Plymouth, were seated in Fegan's car in the parking lot of the Novi Inn Friday evening when a youth approached them to repeatedly ask the time, according to Parker, and then finally asked if he could wait in Fegan's car because of the cold.

The three sat in the car conversing until Parker had to leave at 8 p.m. As Parker was leaving he saw Fegan and the young man exit the parking lot heading east on Grand River, according to reports.

During the conversation, the young man told the two that he was 17, that he lived near 12 Mile and Haggerty, that his parents were divorced and that he had an uncle who played guitar with a band performing in local bars and who owned a tool and die shop.

Fegan later told police that the young man stabbed him when they returned to the parking lot at 10:05 and then stole his car.

Police searched the parking lot but found no evidence, later however, a possible weapon was found in some nearby bushes.

Detective Gordon Nelson found the car on Eight Mile near Griswold Avenue as he was enroute to St. Mary Hospital where Fegan had been taken.

Corporal Dale Gross and his tracking dog Banner were called to the scene but no trace of the suspect could be found.

The suspect is said to have been wearing a long dark brown corduroy coat with black trousers and no hat.

By unanimous action last week Wednesday Novi councilmen authorized Police Chief Lee BeGole to hire three additional police officers.

The action came in a continuation of last Monday's joint council-planning commission meeting that ran into the early hours of Tuesday morning.

BeGole said last week that he has a dozen officers ready to submit to the final selection board.

Applicants must go through a series of tests, and interviews, including a four-hour examination, before they are eligible for consideration by the final board.

BeGole said that he expected to hire the men early in December.

Councilmen recognized the need for more men than they could provide and, according to Mayor Joseph Crupi, "hoped the citizens of Novi realize the need and support a charter amendment for at least 10 mills to finance, not only police, but fire, lighting, rubbish pick-up and other badly needed services within the city."

"We've gone as far as we can with this thing," said Crupi later, "if the citizens want a bigger police department, they'll have to pass a charter limitation of 10 mills. Either that or we'll have to cut other valuable services."

Crupi noted that the cities of Pontiac, Hamtramck and Detroit were put into the position of cutting funds from other departments in order to afford the decision forced on them by police arbitration.

Although councilmen admitted that more millage was needed, argument flared as to the proper method of initiating millage legislation.

Councilman Donald Young recommended an initiatory petition.

"Let's get people to come in with a petition," he said. "If we do it as a council, it'll be just another government trying to get their hands in the people's pockets."

New Year's Eve Plans Announced

Councilmen Denis Berry and Edwin Presnell disagreed.

"I think we should do it ourselves, and then get out and work for it," said Presnell in reference to putting a measure on a special election ballot. "If you're elected by the people you should show the leadership and responsibility that you were elected for. If you don't you shouldn't be in office."

Said Berry: "The people elected us. If they don't trust us to decide what they need then they should get us out of here."

Presnell noted that a special election measure could not be put on the ballot until January and that it would cost between $900 and $1,500 dollars.

Council will meet with citizen associations and other interested community groups in an effort to determine how much and what kind of tax measure the public will accept.

In other business Wednesday night the council:

— Moved to accept the resignation of Harold Ackley as electrical inspector and city assessor effective October 31, and employed him as a regular city employee under Manager Dallas Zonkers until December 31.

— Directed Berry to make up a list of potential representatives to serve on the new city department of parks and recreation.

Berry was directed to vary his suggestions so that all areas of the city would have equal representation. The board, as provided by ordinance, is to be composed of seven members — two councilmen and five private citizens.

In Vietnam Action

Novi Youth Killed

Parents of Craig Thomas Reska, 20, of Novi, have received word he was killed in action in Vietnam on November 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reska, 41080 Ten Mile Road, were notified by telegram delivered by warrant officer of their son's death while he was on a convoy. The body has been shipped home, and funeral arrangements will be announced by Casterline Funeral Home on arrival.

Craig attended Northville High School until his senior year and then transferred to the new Novi High School, graduating in 1969. He was born June 23, 1950, in Dearborn. The family has lived in Novi for eight years.

Craig was a member of Our Lady of Victory Church.

In addition to his parents, he leaves two sisters, Barbara Ann and Kim Mary, and his grandmother, Mrs. Laura Walsh of Detroit.

CRAIG RESKA

Bonding Attorney Lists Assessment Procedures

Joel Piell, representative of City Bonding Attorneys Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, told the city council Monday night, in regard to the Nine Mile improvement, that although special assessment was "a murky area, there is enough case law to support the position that a person who maintains a residence on a piece of property ought to be assessed as residential only."

"Legally," said Piell, "you may assess property owners who maintain a residence on their property only as much as if the road you were building was to be used exclusively for residential traffic."

Piell noted that it made no difference if such a residence existed on industriously zoned land. He went on to say, however, that he was not fully informed on the situation and would prepare a letter stating specifically a stand his company would take concerning the special assessment and its details.

Piell said he had only a first impression of the situation, but noted that in his opinion the city could assess the cost of the crumbling bridge on Nine Mile to industrial property owners in the area because of the nature of traffic the bridge would be expected to carry given industrial development.

Piell also informed the council that the C & O railroad crossing was entirely their responsibility, that it was not within the realm of the railroad to maintain streets or finance street improvements.

Piell defined a residential road as a two-lane asphalt highway. The improvement planned for Nine Mile consists of concrete surfacing.

Later in the evening the council detailed Councilmen Edwin Presnell and Louie Campbell to pinpoint buildings on the old Walled Lake Amusement Park property to be mentioned in a show cause hearing as to why they should not be either improved or torn down.

The action followed communication to City Attorney Howard Bond, from Gabriel Glantz, owner of the property, asking for a specific list of the requirements he would have to fulfill before the city would grant him a dance hall license.

The question of Glantz's dance hall license has been a hot issue lately due to what councilmen describe as "the deplorable state of those buildings," also because of a certain reluctance on the part of the citizenry to have a dance hall in Novi.

Fears have been expressed, both by council and citizens, that such a facility would be a detriment to Novi's youth.

Last week, the council, acting as a board of health, inspected the park property and found "several of the buildings in need of renovation."

Mayor Joseph Crupi said the council would like to see such buildings removed.

In other business Monday night, the council:

— Approved the preliminary plat of Kaufman and Broad's Heatherlea subdivision with the exception of the utility easements.

Councilmen objected to such easements as they were entirely within the lot lines of the parcels involved.

— Directed City Manager Dallas Zonkers to get permission from the city engineers and Homestead Corporation, Meadowbrook Lakes developer, to obtain funds held in escrow so that the city might undertake repair of roads, sewers, sidewalks and drainage culverts in that subdivision.

Action, according to Zonkers, has been "going round and round on this for some time, and we're all just sick of it. There's $40,000 held in escrow for this purpose and if the developer won't move, then the city will."

— Further directed Zonkers to request the city engineers to write a letter to the developer in Meadowbrook Glens stating specific reasons why roads in that subdivision are not acceptable.

The action came on the heels of a letter from the Meadowbrook Glens Homeowners Association concerning the lack of proper traffic signs on the unapproved roads.

Crupi asked Zonkers to check into the possibilities of putting up traffic signs, at least temporarily despite the fact that the city has yet to accept the roads.

— Took note of a letter from the United States Department of Commerce which said that 13 persons had been added to Novi's preliminary census count.

Councilman Presnell stated that he knew of at least one subdivision that was 70 short in its head count.

Bond said that there was a time limitation in correcting census figures although he didn't know what it was.

Crupi said that any petitions signed by citizens who had not been counted would be sent in "and if they're not taken into consideration, then we're just too late."

Citizens should be concerned if they weren't counted since the final tally affects tax benefits remitted to the city, it has been noted.

Novi Auxiliary Pulls Strings

Pinocchio, Rumpelstiltskin, Hansel and Gretel and Little Red Riding Hood are booked in a Friday afternoon performance November 27 as the Novi Jaycee Auxiliary gives its annual fund raising puppet show.

Curtain goes up on the first of four shows in the Novi United Methodist Church at 1 p.m. A different story will be presented every 15 minutes until 2.

The performance, given this year in honor of Thanksgiving, is the third staged by the Auxiliary and will consist of puppets and stage materials constructed entirely by members.

All children in the Novi-Northville area are invited, and treats are to be given during the performance.

Admission will be 35 cents to be used in community service projects.

The Auxiliary asks that very young children be accompanied by an older child or an adult.

CADY ST. PARKING DECK: Russ Amerman, Bob Freydl and Jack Hoffman, members of the Building Authority, were present, as were Fred Brauning, Architect, and John Northrop, contractor.

City Manager summarized bids received and gave a detailed report on the various changes in the parking deck plans necessitated by cost factors.

Council has choice of accepting a single bid from construction firm or accepting bids from individual sub-contractors.

The matter of changes came up for discussion and at this time the matter was tabled until balance of agenda had been taken care of.

At this time, the parking deck project was taken up and plans were gone over thoroughly.

The changes circled in red on the plans involve deleting one stairway on the first level and one on the second level; widening the entrance to the lower level, deleting restraining barrier and placing bumpers in place of asphalt and concrete curbing.

The City Manager recommended approval of the revised plans, recommending acceptance of the single contractor's bid, inasmuch as individual bids could be difficult to supervise.

The lease agreement was previously approved; bonds are approved and bids for bonds scheduled for two weeks from tonight, Nov. 16, 1970.

Mr. Amerman stated Building Authority would like a firm recommendation of the City before a decision is made.

Moved by Rathert, supported by Nichols, that we recommend to the Building Authority that they accept these revised plans for the Cady Street Parking Deck.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR NOV. 9, 1970: Motion by Rathert, supported by Folino, to set a special meeting on Nov. 9, 1970, for the consideration of adopting amendments to the Mechanically Propelled Vehicular Racing Ordinance and also the Public Hearing on the Special Assessment Ordinance for the parking facilities, Roll No. 32.

Passed unanimously.

MISCELLANEOUS: Letter from Gunner Stromberg, Supervisor, Northville Twp., to the effect that a joint Fire District Committee is being formed which will hopefully include Plymouth, Northville, Plymouth Township and Canton Twp., along with Northville Twp.

City Manager stated he sees no need for City of Northville to make any such changes but that there would be no harm in attending the study committee. We could take part in any study but not be critical of our excellent fire department.

City Manager and Mr. Nichols appointed to serve on this committee.

Mayor Allen stated the drive at Palace Restaurant on E. Main St., should be looked at and City Manager will report on this at next meeting.

City Attorney stated - that Pure Oil Company have asked for a re-hearing in the Court of Appeals. If they are denied a re-hearing they can take it to Supreme Court.

Mayor Allen stated he signed the papers for the purchase of the VanValkenburg property this afternoon in the amount of $26,600.

Moved by Folino, supported by Lapham, to approve the purchase of the VanValkenburg property located at 400 E. Main St., Northville, for the appraised price of $26,600.00; to disburse the necessary funds and to authorize the appropriate officials to execute all documents necessary in connection with this purchase.

Passed unanimously.

RE: GRISWOLD STREET RIGHT-OF-WAY: Moved by Nichols, supported by Folino to put this on the agenda for the special meeting of Nov. 9, 1970.

Lapham stated that odor from Mergraf Oil is bad again and City Manager stated operations had been halted some time ago because of the same condition.

Nichols feels that major projects should be gotten at the first of the year to avoid complications.

RECREATION BUDGET: Recreation Director Bob Prom and Richard Lyon were present in support of this matter.

This refers to the skiing program at Alpine Valley, near Highland, off M59, and Mr. Lyon stated he has 100 names of those interested in this sport this year and the program proved to be a good thing last year. Recreation budget pays for use of busses and charge of drivers. Estimated cost of the project which was taken from the recreation department budget was put at from $450 to $500. Mr. Lyon stated this activity could be financed by the school system but that cost to the taxpayer would be greater if handled by the school system than by recreation department inasmuch as it would mean paying a fully employed supervisor.

Council decided it would underwrite a share of the cost of this project provided the township supports it also.

Motion by Lapham, supported by Folino, to endorse this program provided the Township will share in the cost in accordance with the Recreation Department budget formula.

Passed unanimously.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 10:55 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Milda Boyer
Acting Clerk

MECHANICALLY PROPELLED MOTOR VEHICULAR RACING ORDINANCE: City Mgr. explained the original ordinance on Mechanically Propelled Motor Vehicles. A national organization has asked permission to put on a meet at Northville Downs. Two points have been raised relative to the proposed amendment:

1. Would Allow Sunday racing (not being allowed presently) from December 1 through end of February.

2. Length of time that racing would be allowed on any one day - this amendment would allow racing from 12:00 noon until 11:00 p.m.

Notice of the proposed amendment, as published in the Northville Record, was read.

Mr. Wm. Gaab, 105 Fairbrook, spoke against the amendment regarding the excessive noise that would be caused; said he was speaking for his neighbors, Mrs. Bush, Miss Young and Mr. and Mrs. Bongiovanni, all of S. Center St., also protested Sunday morning racing. He stated he would go along with a 3-day meet on a special permit, and was informed by the attorney that it was not possible for Council to issue a special permit for the hours required. Mr. Gaab then asked for a 30-day postponement of the Public Hearing until he could obtain legal counsel.

Mr. Frank Pauli, 508 Gardner St., spoke against the amendment - excessive noise and TV interference that would be caused. Mr. A. Glaser, 495 River St., - air pollution caused by these sno-mobiles should be considered; he was against this racing. Mr. Gerald Stone, as manager of the proposed meet at Northville Downs, stated the people coming into the area for this meet would be primarily a nature-loving group and that this amendment would only mean one Sunday of racing during the total year if they have three permits for the three-day meet.

After considerable discussion, during which time Mr. John Carlo, Northville Downs, and Mr. D. Rice, National Snowmobile Ass'n. spoke regarding the type of people that would be driving, conditions under which they drive; the hours:

Friday, 6:30 - 11 p.m.
Saturday, 12 noon - 4:30 p.m. & 6 - 11 p.m.
Sunday, 1 - 6 p.m.

It was moved by Folino, supported by Lapham, to adopt the proposed amendment on Mechanically Propelled Motor Vehicular Racing, as read, publish same and to become effective 10 days later. U.C.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT ROLL NO. 32 - PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT PUBLIC HEARING: City Mgr. announced that this was the Second Public Hearing but actually is about the 8th meeting. The Special Assessment Roll was filed with the City Clerk after Council's examination; and as required by ordinance - all owners of record were notified as to their assessments. City Mgr. read the changes that had been made in 6 properties of the total roll and said that in all cases each was lower than amounts of which they had been notified. He also stated the purpose of the Public Hearing was for any persons to be heard relative to the assessment.

Mr. Stelberger, attorney for Mrs. Katherine Stockwell (owner of the property on E. Main St. where the Theatre is) said she had become owner of this property in 1966. He stated he had filed with Council and the City Attorney, for Mrs. Stockwell, a protest and objection to the assessment on the grounds she never received a notice of the May or June Public Hearing and that it is of no benefit to her property. Mr. Ed Hoehler, mgr. of the Northville Theatre, spoke regarding the financial status of the Theatre and its future.

Mr. Jim Spagnuolo, E. Main St., Mr. Joe Spagnuolo, E. Main St., Mr. Clyde Dethloff, representing the F.O.E. on S. Center St., Mr. Jensen and Mr. V. Huppton, co-owners of the Winners' Circle, on W. Main St., Mr. Wedemaier, representing the Masonic Temple Ass'n., Mr. Thomas Quin, 135 N. Center St., Mr. George Miller, 127 Hutton St., Mr. Del Black, 153 E. Main St., Mr. Fred McLean, owner of Spinning Wheel and Mr. C.A. Smith of 141-145 E. Main St., all spoke regarding various phases of the assessment. Questions included: Non-profit organizations being included in assessment; questions as to measurements of various buildings; question of decision of properties included in Special Assessment District; hardship created by Special Assessment; question as to free parking on the improvement and possible future restricted parking.

City Mgr. reviewed the inception and planning for this parking improvement; it began with Planning Commission and Council and was finalized by Municipal Parking Authority. The Northville Building Authority established permission to borrow funds and legally established Special Assessment District.

City Attorney recommended that the Public Hearing be adjourned for one or two weeks, allowing Council to have a Work Session concerning this matter. City Mgr. recommended action on Special Assessment Roll as soon as possible.

Moved by Rathert, supported by Lapham, to adjourn the Public Hearing for Confirmation of Roll No 32 - Parking Improvement until Monday, November 16, 1970, 8 p.m. at the Northville City Hall, with a Work Session before the Public Hearing.

Yeas: Allen, Lapham, Nichols, and Rathert

Nays: Folino

Motion prevailed.

GRISWOLD ST. R/W ACQUISITION: City Mgr. explained matter of proposals from City to Mr. Ronald Allen for his property on Beal St. At present, City's second offer has not been accepted. He then explained that City's offer (based on reappraisal) for Mrs. Jennie Watson's property on E. Cady St. has not been accepted. City Mgr. has been dealing with Mrs. Watson through Mrs. Steve Folino, her brother. His terms have been well in excess of the City's second offer. City Mgr. then read the Resolution of Condemnation authorizing the City of Northville to acquire property for Griswold St. Extension - namely, Lot 60, Lot 83, including E. 50 ft. of Lot 79 of Assessor's Northville Plat No. 1, Sec. 3, T1S, R8E. Moved by Nichols, support by Rathert, to adopt Resolution of Condemnation for extension of Griswold St. for above lots. Councilman Nichols withdrew his Motion.

Moved by Nichols, support by Lapham, to allow Councilman Folino to abstain from voting on Resolution of Condemnation for Extension of Griswold St. and also the motion to retain City Attorney and attorney from Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone for said Condemnation, because of possible conflict of interest as one of the properties involved is owned by a relative. U.C.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A recent headline in this newspaper was responsible for the program at the last Presbyterian Men's Club dinner.

"50 Per Cent Try Pot at High School," the headline declared. The statement was attributed to Northville Police Chief Sam Elkins.

"Can it be?," wondered Frank Kastner. He was still asking the same question when he introduced Chief Elkins to the Men's Club members last week.

Actually, the chief evaded a direct reply. He admits he does not have specific data, but he adds that the number of high school youngsters who have tried marihuana may well be greater than 50 per cent.

The Northville police chief believes that less than 10 per cent use marihuana on a regular basis and points out that "our drug problem is nil compared to many areas."

He had Detective Sgt. Wilbert Reid of the Inkster department with him to support that statement.

Nevertheless, there is a problem here and in almost any community you want to name throughout this nation. You wonder if it's just a scare tactic when Chief Elkins soberly declares that he has been exposed to evidence that would indicate there is a plot to demoralize this nation through drug addiction.

And you start mentally looking for an isolated haven deep in the woods (by a lake) where you can get away from it all. Especially, when the law enforcement officials are joined by the judicial in declaring that "we are losing the battle against crime," at least in the big cities.

District Judge Dunbar Davis and City Attorney Philip Ogilvie were called upon for comments during the question and answer period of Chief Elkins' program.

And it can be reported (accurately) that the chief does not see eye-to-eye with the judge and the city attorney on one of the major causes of our growing crime problem.

As any taxpayer could have guessed, all agree that the real problem is the lack of money for prevention, enforcement, rehabilitation, investigation and education in the total field of human behavior.

But while the judge and the attorney point to circumstances, over-crowded dockets, under-staffed prosecutor offices, probation department shortages, and lack of facilities for institutionalizing, the police chief talks in terms of frustrations.

Instead of the frequently-heard appeal to liberalize the laws, particularly in the area of drug use, Chief Elkins asks why enforcement of the law has not been tried.

He challenges the statement that imprisonment always hardens; and he contends that by the time an offender has been punished as the law directs, he has committed so many crimes and released without punishment that he has already become a hardened criminal.

As a case in point, the chief read from a record of one Inkster man with some 50 arrests including such dandies as rape (four times), selling drugs (twice in three months), breaking and entering, assault.

At last report he had jumped bail, but his record boasted a series of reduced charges coupled with probation.

Speaking strictly from the police officer's point of view, the chief made it clear that it becomes a little exasperating to constantly be asked to "cop a plea" (go for a reduced charge).

"Why should we make our laws more lenient when they keep playing games with them anyway?," asks Elkins. "You always know some smart lawyer is going to get the charge reduced. So if we lessen the penalty, they'll only ask us to 'cop a plea' again."

The chief's theory: why not try strict law enforcement? Maybe that will reduce the incidence.

Sounds too simple, chief.

Anyway, we've got problems in River City, Northville, Birmingham, Plymouth, Detroit, Novi, Wixom, Brighton, South Lyon, Fenton and Fowlerville.

It's easy to buy a sack of pot in Northville or Novi. Pill-popping is even easier. We're a society of drug-takers in one form or another.

Maybe there is a world-wide plot to drug us into a state of drowsy complacency.

A concerned Men's Club audience wondered if something can't be done, short of 'police state' measures, to turn the tide.

How can the drug supply be cut off? Should drugs be legalized so that addicts won't turn to crime to feed their habit? Can't law officials work with parents to ward off addiction at the first signs of experimentation?

Chief Elkins said his department has tried the latter with unhappy results. Parents warned that their youngsters that are using drugs, have refused to believe and have threatened lawsuits.

What can be done?

More money, more volunteers to work in probation departments, less leniency.

In short, a citizenry concerned enough to give time and money.

Mary Beth Rollings

YES...

Yes, with all the concern now surrounding air and water pollution, sewage and litter disposal, we must be aware that these problems are primarily the results of too many people for our environment. Voluntary population control is the only answer.

Ideally, families today should be limited to two children (replacing ourselves). But it is not that simple. There are three aspects of the problem we should consider. First, we must support programs that discourage those families which just keep having children without thought of how they will support them, let alone what it does to our environment, from having more than two children. After two children, a program could be set up that makes it unprofitable, rather than profitable, to have any more children. This refers to public aid to these families.

Second, we must help to show those who think they should have as many children as they are able to afford that no amount of money will buy clean air and water for those children.

Third, we must remove the stigma placed on those in our society who don't want any children, or not criticize families with an "only child". Social pressure should not obligate young married couples to have children.

No matter how many children one has now, it is time to put aside whatever personal need is met by having more. Consider the children we already have. Ask yourself what this earth will be like in ten or twenty years. What we do now will determine the future of our children and mean the lives of their children.

NO...

Limit the size of my family? Sure! Everyone does. "But the real issue is just where do you draw the line. If 5 children is a large family, I am a living, breathing — sometimes confused — exponent of larger families.

It's not that I planned it that way, mind you, but now that my 5 boys are a reality, I love it. Population explosion or not, sooner or later my educated friends will figure a way for this old globe to take care of us all and in the meantime my boys make my house a home. All in all, I say, the more the merrier.

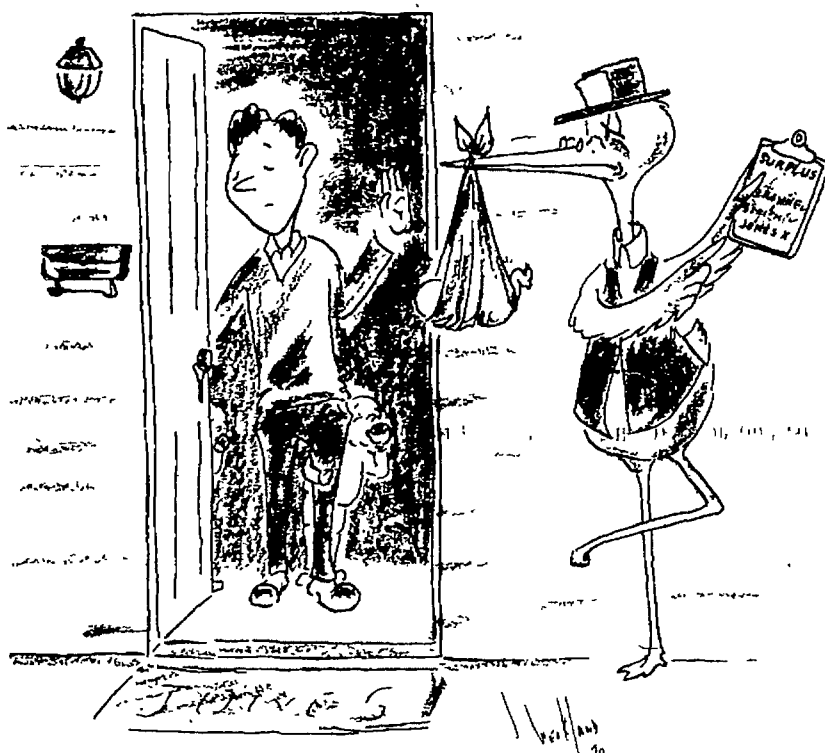

The human qualities which must develop for large families to live in harmony are the same attributes which will eventually make this world a better place — such qualities as quickly adjusting to any situation, learning self-reliance, resourcefulness, dependability and cooperation, backed with lost of understanding and love.

The comfortable way, of course, is not the large family way. There are few easy days with little children and often the harried mother in the large family finds no peace until all the little darlings are tucked in for the night. But as life in a large family is not tranquil much of the time, there are nevertheless more than an abundance of rewards.

I, for one, cast my lot with large families as the sure way to happiness and fulfillment. Limit my family — never! I just could not decide which ones to send back.

Novi Sophomores Refute Charges

To the Editor:

This letter is in reply to the "Concerned Mother & Father" who stated a few incorrect comments about the Sophomore Class of Novi. Your views were opinions apparently provoked by your child, a member of the class. I wish to make things clear by giving you some true facts.

I shall begin with your first accusation. It was about the Novi Gala Days being just for the so-called "in" crowd. The project was attempted and completed by the four officers. The reason for no one else being informed was because it occurred during the summer months. It would have been impossible to inform 127 sophomores. Almost anyone who wanted to work at the booth could.

Sheriff Lauds City Policemen

To the Editor:

I wish to make it publicly known that the Administration and members of this Department have the highest regard for Police Chief Sam Elkins and the officers of the Northville Police Department. Chief Elkins is an efficient and conscientious law enforcement administrator. We enjoy working with him.

Very truly yours,

William Lucas
Sheriff of Wayne County

EDITOR'S NOTE: The above letter refers to a statement made by a citizen at a township meeting and quoted in last week's edition.

You stated that at the float meetings for Homecoming, just the "in" crowd was called. No one was called. Everyone of our float meetings, except one, were announced over the P.A. in the morning. In those announcements were found the dates, times, and locations of our meetings. There is an explanation for the one exception. It was because the person could only have 12 people over to make flowers. Can you blame her mother? Would you invite 127 sophomores into your home?

Next you mentioned the so-called "in" crowd seated together at football games. This has absolutely nothing to do with our class. At these games most people sit with their friends, whether they are in a particular class, or in an older or younger age group.

If your child would like to earn money for his senior trip, why doesn't he help by speaking openly? Maybe he hasn't been paying attention, but our goal now is to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom. How can this be accomplished when less than fifty out of one hundred and twenty-seven have even payed their class dues? The dues are two dollars for the whole year, voted on by the entire class. Our class meetings are open to everyone and everyone has the right to vote. If you are referring to these forty-seven paid students as the so-called "in" crowd, I am sure that the number is larger than you thought. Perhaps your child was one of the eighty who didn't pay! Does this make him a member of your "out" crowd because he's losing interest?

Just for the record, the Sophomore Class is accomplishing some good. We have doubled the sum in our treasury just in three months out of nine. We have also had five major activities up to the present, more than ever before.

We were also taught that all people were created equal. Then why do YOU judge us by the size of our father's house or wallet???

Respectfully,
Denise DeBrule
Sophomore Class President

To the Editor:

In regards to the article on page 9-A in Thursday's paper named, "Hooray for Mom!" she is cutting the sophomore class down on certain things. I wish to get something straight about her attitude toward us.

All of the float meetings were announced in school the morning before the meeting that night. The announcements read as follows, "the sophomore class is having a float meeting at a certain persons house, at 6:00 to 8:30. The meeting is open to all class members. Everyone please come — we need help on the float!" Besides this it was also spread around by the class officers. So as you can see everyone was invited. Nobody was told not to come. In fact the so called "in crowd" were the only ones who seemed to show up to help build the sophomore float.

Now about the stand for the Novi Gala Days. This was also an open project for the sophomore class. Again the only ones who showed up were the same ones.

She goes on to say that at the football games the "in group is also present. Anyone can come to the games and watch but the fun of it is to cheer! We sit in a group to yell and to have a good time. No one is not allowed to join us in our group. We sit there and yell our hearts out for our team, while the others just sit there and don't yell.

As far as I can see myself there is no great discrimination between certain people in the sophomore class. There are some kids who are always quiet and never try to join the others. These are the same people who never help in any class activities.

I think that the statement by these people is unfair to the sophomore class. These people should find the true facts first then commence to find fault on us. I did not mention any names because this is my own letter and they should not be mentioned. But I am sure the other ones of the class feel the same way as myself. During the announcements the name of the persons house was mentioned but I feel they not be necessarily mentioned. Sincerely yours,
Don Warneke

To the Editor:

In answer to the letter from the concerned Mother and Father who wrote about the so called sophomore "in" crowd at Novi High School. First there is no "in" crowd and second everybody is told that if they wish they may come and participate at any class function if they have paid their class dues of $2. It is also mentioned in your letter that only the "in" crowd is invited to the float meetings which is a false statement. The first thing in the morning announcements are read at school over the P.A. which informs everyone where the float meeting will

My culinary talent first surfaced early in life when, in an effort to emulate the cookouts popular among the gentlemen who frequented the nearby railroad yard, I roasted a toad and fed it to a neighbor kid who up and complained of stomach warts to his mother.

She being of thin disposition and exceptional voice, I was able to detect the violent reaction from high in the elm that overlooked our house. "You're around here someplace you little tramp," she screeched while dragging the green bellyacher along behind her. "If you've ruined my poor boy's stomach your folks are going to get sued and sued good."

Not knowing the meaning of the word but nevertheless impressed by it, I sought the advice of my railroad friends who consulted their medical journals. Later, I fed the kid some warmed-over tar that my friends insisted was excellent for salving stomach cramps.

It was a culinary mistake.

"Look what that nasty kid of yours has done to my boy," she screamed through our doorway. Whereupon she forced up her boy's dirty lips and exposed a hideous black grin. "Show her your tongue," she commanded, and the black dagger shot out into my mother's face.

We moved away from that neighborhood shortly thereafter.

For a spell my abilities as a cook fell dormant. Not until in self-defense and in an effort to stop the theft of my lunch sack did I try my hand at foodstuffs again. I concocted a sandwich of mustard and sugar and carefully placed it inside the lunch sack atop my regular sandwiches of bloodwurst. But to my chagrin the move only increased the crime rate, convincing me that my talent was real.

From time to time since I have tried my hand at a variety of self-made recipes, concentrating in the area of exotic wild game, including among others, grasshopper soup, boiled opossum, and braised chipmunk.

All of which brings me to the nut of these paragraphs. With so many of our neighbors tramping through our Michigan woods this week, I thought it might be well to pass along one of my favorite recipes — Dr. Eugene Garbee's Brunswick Stew. Over on Fox Island they call it the Kitchen Sink, substituting venison — or whatever — for the meat.

It's an all-day dish (taking about that long to prepare). But by adding ingredients as the days pass, the cook can serve it for a week or more and, naturally, the best is last.

"I met Brunswick Stew first in the 'low' country in North Carolina and learned to make it in Georgia," says Dr. Garbee, former president of Upper Iowa College, in his cookbook, Dr. Garbee's Wild Game Dinners, published by the Gutenberg Press.

The meat in Brunswick Stew can be wild game, chicken, guinea, duck, or even veal.

- 8 to 10 servings
- 2 rabbits or 3 squirrels
- 1/2 lb. fatback (salt pork) diced
- 1 cup fresh corn cut off the cob or one-half can of whole kernel corn for each rabbit or squirrel
- 1/2 cup diced potatoes for each rabbit or squirrel
- 1 can lima beans for each rabbit or squirrel
- 1/2 cup chopped onions for each rabbit or squirrel
- 2 medium to large fresh tomatoes or 1/2 can of tomatoes (no juice) for each rabbit or squirrel
- 1 T. salt
- 1/2 t. pepper per carcass
- Cayenne pepper to taste (I prefer one chili per carcass)
- Pinch of thyme to taste
- Bouillon

Cut the carcasses into pieces. Fry the fatback in a Dutch oven or heavy iron pot, not too brown. Add the meat, salt and pepper, and enough bouillon to cover. Cook slowly for about an hour. Add all vegetables except the tomatoes and cook for about 30 minutes or more or until the potatoes are done. Bouillon should be added to cover after the vegetables are added. Cook the fresh tomatoes about 15 minutes, canned about five minutes. Serve with a shake of paprika.

Missionary Meeting Scheduled in Salem

Salem Bible Church, 9481 W. Six Mile Road has invited two missionary friends to speak at their annual Missionary Conference November 18-22 at 7:30 p.m. Members of the community are also welcome to enjoy the words and pictures that will be shared.

Saturday, however, is reserved for the teen's and missionary's breakfast-panel discussion; no evening meeting will be held. Booths set up in the gymnasium will display glimpses into the work of Salem's missionaries in this world.

Having spent 11 years in the Republic of Free China (Taiwan, Formosa), the Reverend Morris Beck of The Evangelical Alliance Mission will bring this beautiful island and its people to Salem in his slide projector during the first half of the evenings. The Becks spent seven months with the Salem Bible Church in a missionary internship program prior to their move among the world's largest race. Home again in 1965 they visited the church's Missionary Conference with their two daughters. In their latest five year-term, the Reverend Beck has been the Field

Chairman, responsible for coordinating, counseling, and guiding his fellow TEAM missionaries in Taiwan.

Pleads for More Novi Police Aid

To the Editor:

Asleep or just waiting? Waiting for what? Tomorrow when there might be an explosive need. Today there is an explosive need for community help and action.

— Listen to the rumbling of our youth;

— Listen to the moans of the police department;

— Listen to the sighs of dismay of the school officials.

How long can all the citizens of Novi sleep in peace waiting for the tomorrow that will strike with alarm with the truth of the need. The truth could show its ugliness in many forms, your neighbors business could be shattered with explosives, another youth could take that fatal last "trip", you could be the target for another sick mind's bullet; or your own child could be the one to find that hidden danger lurking in the overgrown fields.

We have never been a community lacking in concern for each other's needs. In fact, I praise the feeling of respect and concern among our citizens, some who are third generation Novi citizens. About 40 percent of the citizens of Novi have lived here over 10 years, and a small percentage make up our new citizens.

It disturbs one greatly that the very handful of men whom we depend on so heavily for our safety and well-being must beg, yes, beg humbly for help. They have asked us quietly, not marching with signs that carry the power of the unions, but quietly showing us the facts of our community. Are your families with them?

Like my young and growing family, it is a constant drain on the resources and the pocketbooks to meet all the needs even to the matter of seeing that each foot is firmly shod so their growing feet are well supported. Novi is like that young and growing family; our feet must be firmly shod that our growing years ahead are well supported with the necessary community protection and service.

We have been shown a need, a necessary and vital need, that we citizens must meet if our community is to survive and grow in a healthy and wholesome direction. Are we all asleep or just waiting?

Society Says 'Thanks'

To the Editor:

May we, as representatives of the Northville Historical Society, take this opportunity to write an Open Letter to Our Town?

Your support, so generous in space and photographs, so cheerfully given by The Record;

The response of all of Northville in coming to our "Tivoli — A Fair to Remember" on Saturday, November 14th; so pointedly proved the efforts of our organization, being implemented by the city council support, are not in vain.

The community wants the quaint

Victorian flavor of our town preserved. They want our library building preserved.

Most of all they all want to be a part of it themselves.

As an organization we are young but like anything young we are growing like a weed.

We welcome your continued support by purse and person. The dream of having our library building museum will be a reality only with everyone wanting it badly enough.

To the Editor:

It seems a pity that three members of the Township Board voted against the Northville Recreation Department's request to help subsidize the skiing project — the amount asked was a picaune $163.60.

be and at what time, and that all the sophomores are invited to show up and help.

In answer to the part of your letter that reads quote "At football games you do not sit with your class unless you are in this 'In' crowd". If your child does not sit with the other sophomores it is probably of his or her own choosing, because to our knowledge no-one has ever been told that they could not sit with the group.

We believe that your child is one of the ones who does not care about doing anything for the sophomore class or else he or she would be out there working and trying to make our class better.

Yes, we were taught that all people are created equal. So please tell your child to put a little effort forth and help like others are doing.

Northville Jayvees Lose Finale, 64-6

Northville's junior Mustangs wound up a one win — one tie season last week Tuesday on a negative note as visiting Waterford Kettering demolished them 64-6.

A 10-yard blooper from Bill McDonald to Rod Crane notched the six pointer that saved Northville from a shut-out after the local eleven had marched some 50 yards in eight plays during the final quarter.

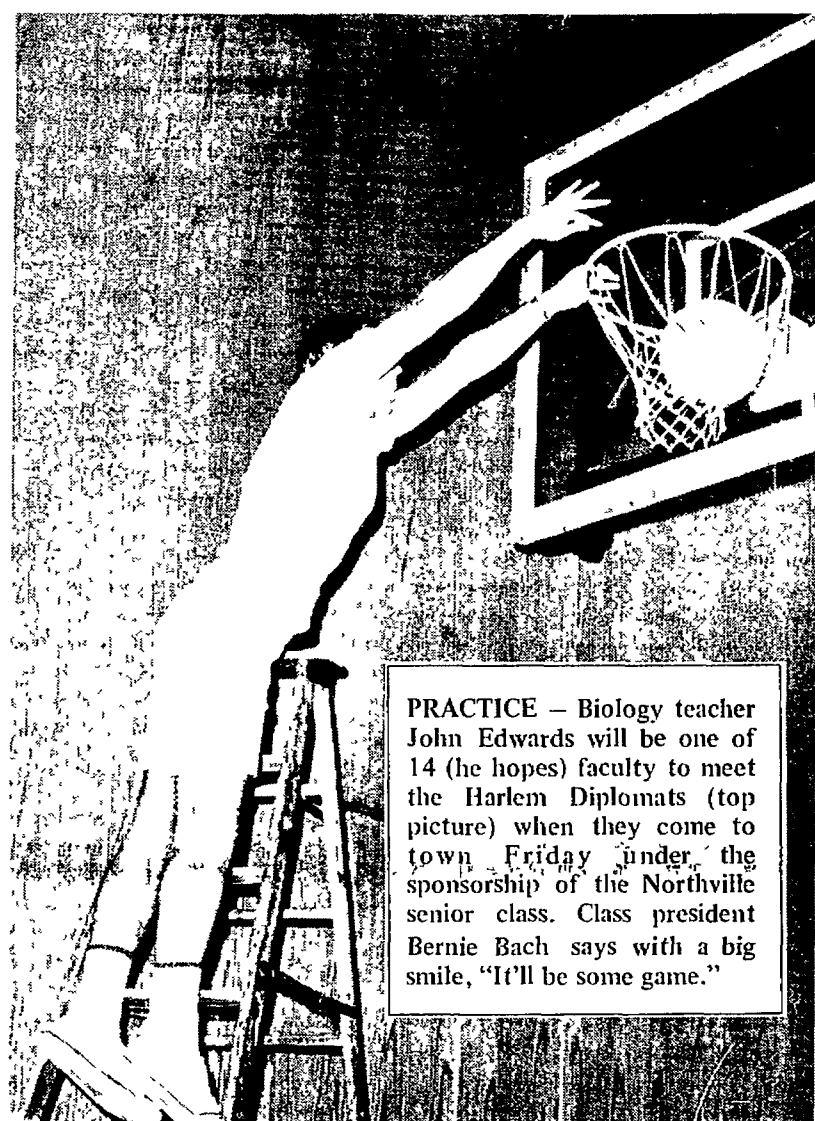

Brightest spot on the Jayvee clander was the Clarenceville game in which the Mustangs came back from a opening defeat against Walled Lake Western, to ride the crest of 40-12 offensive wave.

McDonald went seven for nine complete passes that day but, whatever the Mustangs started, it was not to continue.

Saline might have been considered a close game (28-22), but Harrison (14-0), Andover (28-0) and Clarkston (48-6) were disasters.

Then against Brighton the clouds lifted slightly and Northville took an early lead. Brighton matched it, however, and the game ended in a tie, 8-8.

Says Simpson about the Waterford game: "They just blocked and tackled better than we did. There's nothing you can say about a game like that."

PRACTICE — Biology teacher John Edwards will be one of 14 (he hopes) faculty to meet the Harlem Diplomats (top picture) when they come to town Friday under the sponsorship of the Northville senior class. Class president Bernie Bach says with a big smile, "It'll be some game."

Ruth Cole Wins Football Contest

Although she missed three games, Ruth Cole of 356 Fairbrook was all alone in claiming first place in the football contest this past week that drew nearly 150 entries.

Second and third place winners—C.W. Johnston of 209 South Center and Jeff Bunker of 41007 Bunker, respectively—came up with four wrong guesses as did several other non-winners. Most contestants missed seven or more games.

Johnston took second by missing the Detroit-Minnesota pro score by just six points. Jeff missed by 12 points.

Near winners included Brad Cole, Craig Love, E. W. Brown, Theresa Bishop, A. E. Jones, Joyce Regentik, Tom Eis, and Wendy Mayer.

(As in past ties all contestants were marked wrong in the 22-22 split game between Oregon and Army).

Most difficult games to pick for contestants proved to be Minnesota's 23-13 win over Michigan State, Washington's 61-20 win over UCLA, Iowa State's 31-19 win over Missouri, and Georgia's 31-17 win over Auburn.

Most contestants, incidentally, refused to let their emotions get the better hand and correctly picked the Vikings to win over the Lions. About half of the entries picked Chicago to defeat Green Bay.

Racing Nears 'Stretch'

Mutuel, Attendance Records Seen

With 10 nights remaining in its current fall meeting, the Jackson-Northville sulky presentation is a virtual cinch to finish with a high increase in mutuel handle and attendance over 1969 when the November 30 finale rolls around at Northville Downs.

Through Saturday's program, Jackson-Northville's session shows an increase of 31-percent in mutuel handle and 36-percent in attendance over the corresponding period a year ago.

With 27 racing nights written into the records, the total mutuel handle is $7,193,516 for a nightly average of $266,426. The turnstiles count shows 90,448 for a nightly average of 3,350.

Element weather obviously hurt Saturday's attendance when only 3,920 patrons were on hand to wager $278,114. Snow flurries fell from mid-afternoon on but the quality of racing was not impaired by the slow track.

Ralph Palmer's Royal Kim continued to drop hints that she might be the best of all pacers on the grounds when the five-year old Greentree Adios mare won the $4,000 Southfield Invitational Pace by one and three-quarter lengths over Anthony Alfie's Prince Knox.

Royal Kim was the second winning drive of the night for Richard Buxton, covering the mile in 2:07 3/5 on a slow track. It was the third victory in five starts for the Cable, O-based sidwheeler at Northville Downs this year. Royal Kim, perhaps now the favorite for next Saturday's third leg of the Jackson-Northville fall racing series, withstood the pressure of Prince Knox, piloted by Charles Norris, Jr., and finished strongly to increase her seasonal earnings to $27,068. The black mare paid $7.20, $4.20 and $2.80. C. M. Saunders' General Knox was third, one and three quarter lengths behind Prince Knox.

Buxton tallied in the fourth race with Donald Knight's Game Time, winning by a head over Knox Counsel, who had the same margin in advance of Russet Chip. The five-year old gelding's eighth win of the year was a mild upset in 2:08, fashioning mutuels of $31.60, $10 and $5.20.

A crowd of 4,232 wagered $319,394 on Friday's 10-race program which was conducted over a fast track. Lewis L. Isreal's OK's Doc fashioned his seventh victory of the year, beating Super Matic by two lengths in the featured Worlds Heavyweight Championship Invitational Trot in the eighth race.

This event was named in honor of Joe Frazier and Bob Foster who met for the world's heavyweight title Wednesday at Cobo Hall. Neither fighter was at the track for obvious reasons but their respective managers Yancey Durham and Lou Viscusi — were on hand to make a trophy presentation to the winner along with Lou Handler, president of the 21st Century Boxing Club, and Publicitor Murray Goodman.

OK's Doc, driven by Richard Brannan, handled the mile in 2:07 1/5 to gain his second Northville triumph and returned $13.20, $7.80 and $4.60.

However, the best mile of the night belonged to Wallace Harrison's Smokey Lee as the six-year-old gelding won the sixth race in 2:05 4/5 with George Davis driving. Winning for the third time this year, Smokey Lee hit the wire four lengths in advance of Song Crest to return $10.40, $5.60, and $4.00.

Jerry Oosting's Mighty Dew continued in consistent form here winning Thursday's The Madison Pace by one and one-quarter lengths over Count Tona with Bill Champion driving.

The victory was the sixth of the year for the four-year old bay gelding by Adios Cleo and it was a come from behind effort as Champion brought his charge from third place in the stretch to erase the pace-setting Adios Indian and then sweep past Count Tona who had dueled heads apart with the latter in the final quarter.

Mighty Dew was clocked in 2:06 and paid $4.40, $3 and $2.20. A turnout of 2,749 wagered $225,358 on the 10-race program.

Sudans Comet, racing for the Sudan Stables of Pontiac, Michigan was in excellent form here Wednesday, winning the Farmington Pace by two and three-quarter lengths over Timmy Dares, pacing the mile in 2:05 4/5.

Driven by Clarence Ayotte, the eight-year old son of Warpath took command after three-quarters of a mile and quickly established a daylight margin. Sudans Comet, picking up his second win of the year, paid $7, $4.60 and $3.20.

C. M. Saunders' Wilma Knox became the winningest horse on the grounds when the four-year old mare made it five straight local triumphs last Tuesday, winning The Warrendale Pace in 2:10 1/5 over a track rated as good.

With veteran Don Hall at the reins, the daughter of Knox Hanover was never seriously threatened as she made every pole a winning one, finishing three and one-half lengths in front of Upland Goose. Wilma Knox, who started her current string on October 15, returned $4.20, $3.40 and $2.40. The 10-race mutuel handle was $240,866 with a crowd of 3,310 on hand.

Vapo Pick, racing for Donald R. and Mrs. Rozella Cahill of Ottawa, Ontario, survived a three-horse blanket finish to win by a neck over Janidawn and Top Knox in the featured Ferndale Pace on Monday night.

The three-year old colt by Dudley Hanover registered his 13th win of the year to go with 13 seconds and six thirds with William Deters at the reins. Vapo Pick now has two wins and one second in three local outings and was clocked in 2:09 1/5 on a sloppy track to pay $7.40, $4.40 and $3.20. A gathering of 2,263 wagered $202,020 on the 10-race program.

Gals in Driver's Seat Tonight

Eight of the country's outstanding women drivers will be out to prove harness racing isn't the exclusive domain of their male counterparts tonight (Thursday) at Northville Downs.

The Coquette Pace heads up an outstanding 10-race card, going as the eighth race over one mile and since the gals are licensed for pari-mutuel action by the United States Trotting Association, it will not be an exhibition.

The purse is $2,000 for the lady "reinsmen" and it's take your pick for the wagering public at the mutuel windows. The talented array of drivers are headed up by Mrs. June Weller, a 48 year old grandmother from Republic, Ohio.

This race is somewhat unique in that it will be mother against daughter and everybody for herself. Mrs. Weller's 20-year old daughter, Mrs. Jane Bogner, will drive William Deters' Bob Carlith from the number six post position while mama guides Clarence Bennett's Contender from the number two slot.

Offering the balance of contention are Elaine Neary, an import from Maywood Park, taking Invader Wick from the pole position; Carol Gosman, coming in from Batavia Downs, will rein Wayne Galvin's Como Hanover from the three hole; Janet Irvine, crossing over from Windsor Raceway, will handle Walter Briney's Bustout; Pat Kelly will be up behind Glen Harmer's Thads Scotch in the number five post; Rita Harrington will pilot Vernon Bontrager's Well Away from the number seven post and Barbara Newell will take the reins of Warren Cutler's Unco Kid from the number eight post.

Mrs. Weller has a wealth of experience in the sulky, having won her first race at the Albion, N.Y. fair in 1939. Her grandfather, Allie Dillman, was a prominent driver who retired at the age of 73 and passed the reins on to June. Last summer she won the Michigan Pacing Derby at Northville Downs.

She drove Red Dominion to a 1:59 4/5 mile in 1957 for a record among women drivers and came back in 1961 with the same horse, winning in 2:01 1/5.

June seems to have a natural flair inherited from her mother. The 5'3" sandy-haired young lady obtained her pari-mutuel license in the fall of 1969 at Batavia, N.Y. and has since driven at Cleveland's Northfield Park, Vernon Downs, Batavia and Northfield. Mrs. Bogner, who has a 15 month old daughter, started driving on the Ohio fair circuit when she was 16. June's biggest thrill to date was winning with Liberty Jibbit at Batavia for a $29.00 mutuel and again at Northfield for a $37.00 return.

Miss Herrington has the most seasoned horse in the field in the 12-year old Well Away whose lifetime earnings exceed $173,000. Prior to coming to Michigan, Well Away had two good wins at Edmonton, Alberta last month.

Prior to her marriage several years ago, Mrs. Gosman is remembered among area fans as Carol Hukill, having driven at Jackson Harness Raceway as well as the Detroit tracks.

Janet Irvine is following in the footsteps of her father, Don, always popular among Michigan sulky devotees and a good man with trotters.

New Coaches Debut With Cage Season

With the start of a new season, fresh coaching comes to the Northville-Novi basketball court this winter.

In Novi, a five-year jayvee and junior high mentor, Milan Obrenovich, takes over in his first varsity slot, and Robert Weinburger comes up to coach junior varsity.

A native of South Lyon, Obrenovich played all sports in high school and capped an all-conference trophy in basketball.

He attended DePaul University in Greencastle, Indiana for two years and then finished a BS in education at Nebraska State Teachers College in Peru, Nebraska. He currently is taking graduate classes at the University of Michigan in administration.

A resident of Northville, Obrenovich has been at Novi for five years. In that time he has coached junior high and jayvee teams in baseball and basketball and has performed as an assistant varsity football coach.

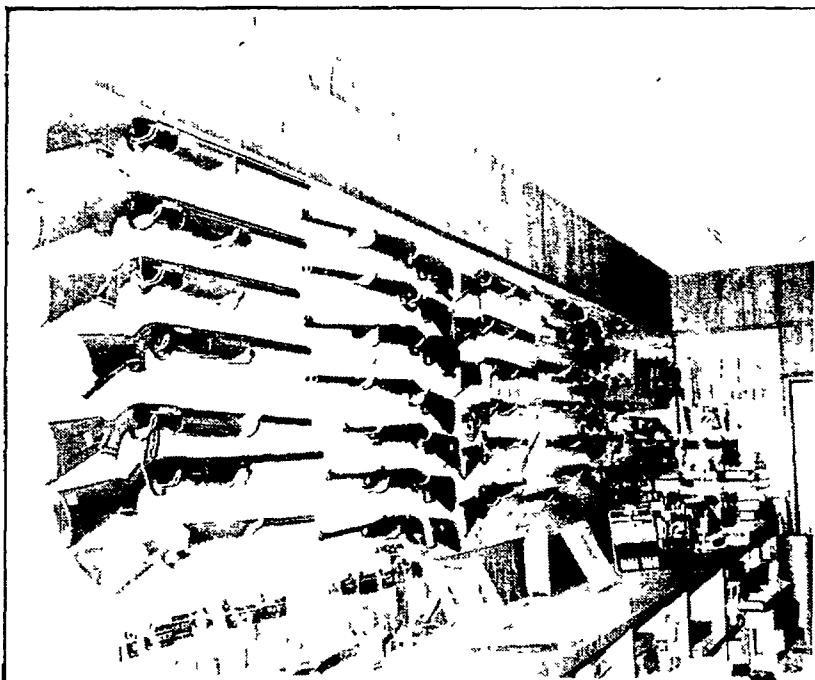

Another South Lyon native, Weinburger, attended Alma College where he earned a BA in history.

He spent three years teaching and coaching jayvee at South Lyon and then moved to Rosenberg, Texas for the same type of job.

Coming to Novi in 1968 this is his premiere appearance coaching Wildcat jayvee basketball.

Over on the Mustang courts, Omar Harrison comes up from the jayvee ranks to his first Mustang varsity position and Bob Simpson, a first year teacher from Northern Michigan University fits into the jayvee mentorship.

Hailing from Vanceburg Kentucky, Harrison completed a science major at the University of Kentucky. He taught four years in Kentucky, coaching junior high, and then moved to Florida where he stayed for a year before

The nation's bishops have asked for $50 million to be given for self-help projects, with one-quarter of the money remaining in the diocese in which it is collected. The rest will go into a national fund to finance creative ways of coping with poverty problems, the Reverend John J. Wittstock, pastor, announced.

On November 12, the First Baptist Church of Novi held its annual harvest supper. Organist was Bernice Stewart and Miss Jo Kitzman was soloist. Speaker for the evening was the Reverend Richard S. Burgess and the Reverend Arnold B. Cook, pastor, offered the prayer and welcomed members to the dinner.

The traditional fruit collection at the First Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday, November 22. Children in the Sunday School classes will bring fruit to the church. The fruit will be distributed to area institutions on Thanksgiving Day, the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, pastor, said.

Burger Chef

Burger Chef plans to build a sit-down, family-type restaurant accommodating an estimated 102 patrons. Burger Chef restaurants elsewhere typically feature cafeteria style service, with inside accommodations for eating. Spokesmen emphasize that the restaurants are not drive-ins.

In other action Tuesday, planners set for public hearing (January 5) the petition of the Thompson-Brown company to rezone the northwest corner of Eight Mile and Taft roads to permit erection of a Marathon service station.

The petition asks a change from restricted R-2 zoning to C-1.

The commission voted to put the request up for public hearing following a recommendation of its planning consultant and its own review subcommittee. The commission's action, it was emphasized, does not mean that it supports or opposes the rezoning.

In making his recommendation, the planning consultant suggested that Marathon consider development of a facility with the building nearer the street intersection with the service area in the rear to provide maximum buffer from adjacent properties.

Father, Son Assume Station Operation

A father-son partnership - Hank and Larry Dolan - have assumed operation of the Marathon service station at Novi and 10-Mile Roads.

Together the pair have a half-century of service station experience, moving to their new location after various tenures with six different suppliers.

The senior Dolan, a resident of Northville and possessor of 40 of 50 years combined experience, says he'll handle most of the customer service, while his son will be responsible for all automotive repair work, an area in which he has extensive training and the latest equipment.

Hank Dolan recently completed training at Marathon's Dealer Development Center in Detroit where he brushed up on all phases of business management.

An area resident of 29 years, Dolan and wife Rose have eight children-four married and four, ranging in ages from 6 to 16, still at home. Larry and wife Brenda are newlyweds.

Another matter to come up soon will be possible condemnation action, regarding the four lots owned by Ivan Verdan in the Maplewood area, to provide a neighborhood park. The city manager told councilmen

Monday that the appraised value offer of $20,000 for purchase of the lots has been rejected by the owner.

Trash collection boxes maintained by the city at the Salem landfill will be discontinued in December. Councilmen have decided not to continue this practice since the city's garbage pickup program provides for once-a-month pickup of trash in the city.

The formula for that special monthly trash pickup, incidentally, is: First Friday of month for those areas where garbage pickup is made on the first day of the week; second Friday where garbage pickup is made on the second day of the week; third Friday where garbage pickup is made on the third day of the week; and fourth Friday where garbage pickup is made on the fourth day of the week.

City Manager Ollendorff suggested Monday that new zoning, street, and lot maps of the city be prepared. Council agreed, and Ollendorff is to obtain prices for such preparation. Cost has been estimated at from $1,500 to $2,000.

Reinstatement of the ski program, requested by the Recreation Director Robert Prom, has been temporarily shelved by the council following township action last week not to underwrite a portion of this cost. The city earlier had agreed to underwrite its share of the program — provided the township agreed to do the same.

Coming up soon will be council decision on whether the increased water rate should be maintained, reduced or eliminated. In increasing the rates last winter, the council provided that it must review the action by January. If the council fails to reaffirm the increased rates by that time they automatically revert to the original figures.

Council increased the rates partly in an attempt to reduce a $60,000 deficit which, according to Ollendorff, has been reduced now to from $35,000 to $40,000.

Ollendorff estimated that if the current rates are maintained the debt will be eliminated within 12 to 18 months, depending upon the rate of new construction in the city.

State Seizes Store Here

Convenient Food Mart, 1051 Novi Road, was closed early last week with the seizure of assets by the Michigan Sales Tax Department for failure to pay state sales tax.

According to a spokesman for the tax department office in Pontiac, sale of unencumbered assets has been tentatively slated for November 20 "but I think that will be changed because we won't be ready in time."

The amount of unpaid taxes was not disclosed.

Convenient Food Mart Detroit headquarters telephone numbers have been disconnected, and Richard Hasset, president of Convenient, could not be reached for comment.

'Free' School Costs $80,000

Supplies Not Curtailed

In a report to the board of education November 9, Raymond Spear, superintendent of schools, told trustees the Supreme Court decision regarding free school supplies and materials has initially cost the district $80,900.

Broken down by categories, Spear said refunds of credits at the junior high and high school book stores amounted to $11,000; purchases of textbooks by the district, $25,000; purchase of supplies for elementary and secondary students, $15,700; music books for band, $1,000;

Loss of towel fees, $7,500; loss of shop, lab and other fees, $2,500; loss of book rental, $16,500; and loss of kindergarten fees, $1,700.

Spear noted that even though the "Supreme Court ruling allows certain fees (bathing suits, extra-curricular, etc.) to be levied, this year Northville will assess no fees.

"The citizens of the community would be pleased," Spear said, if they knew what Northville was providing in the way of supplies compared with what neighboring districts provide.

Our deposit may be higher," he continued, "but we provide much more than what others are giving. One school district in a neighboring community does not even provide pencils or paper."

Spear noted that Northville provides all materials for home economics and shop class projects while some districts only provide materials for one project.

"So far we have spent $80,900, and by the end of the school year I am sure it will go higher," he said.

At the beginning of the school year, all students in grades four through 12 were given a three-ring binder, one ream of lined filler paper; eight pencils and two ball point pens. These supplies, Spear noted, will only be given at the beginning of the school year.

Elementary students are also provided with paper, pencils, glue, pens, crayons, erasers, compass, protractors, rulers and art supplies needed for general classroom activities.

Weekly readers, scholastic materials, workbooks, textbooks and supplementary books are provided on a classroom unit basis, Spear said, except in "those classes substituting paperbacks for textbooks."

In specialized subjects, in home economics classes at both the junior and senior high levels, all students will get one basic pattern and low-cost material for each project. Spear said students are allowed to substitute patterns and material at their own cost. All necessary foods are also provided.

Students in the sixth grade and junior high shop classes are supplied with pine for all projects, and if students wish, may substitute different materials at his own cost, the superintendent said.

The basic classroom necessities are provided for all art projects and again, students may substitute their own materials if they wish. The school district also supplies one sketch pad for each student while paints, brushes, water colors, pencils and clay are furnished in each classroom.

Each drafting classroom is supplied with all necessary materials, Spear explained, and the "district owns enough band instruments to outfit a minimal band. Music instruction books are also supplied."

Typing classes are provided with folders, shorthand notebook, regular and reusable typing paper and erasers are supplied in each classroom.

In the social studies department, colored pencils, file cards and outline maps are supplied. Math students are given rulers, folders, protractors, compasses and graph paper, Spear said.

The damage deposit policy adopted by the board on August 24 "is a damage deposit and not a book deposit," Spear re-emphasized. "The deposit is to safeguard all materials, equipment and books used by the individual student in shop, electronics, band, drafting, swimming and so forth."

Notice of Restrictions in the Sale of Natural Gas by Consumers Power Company

The Michigan Public Service Commission, because of a shortage in natural gas supply and to protect service to existing customers, has authorized Consumers Power Company to impose certain restrictions on the sale of natural gas to existing and prospective customers, and has directed the Company to publish the essential portions of the Commission's order. These are:

1. All commitments and applications for future residential service, including apartments and mobile homes, existing on the date of the Commission's order (November 9, 1970) are voided.

2. No new commercial or industrial customers shall be added to the Consumers Power Company system. However, commitments already made to existing commercial and industrial customers will continue to be honored. The base period to measure commercial and industrial loads shall be the 12 months ended June 30, 1970 or the amount of the commitment if a new customer.

3. No new residential customers or additional residential space heating loads, including apartments and mobile homes, shall be added to the Company's system, except as follows:

A. Persons who had installed gas space heating equipment, or were in the process of installing gas space heating equipment on October 1, 1970, shall be given first priority on remaining gas supplies, provided that such persons otherwise qualify for gas service in accordance with the Company's standard rules and regulations. The right to obtain gas service in accordance with this provision shall lapse unless Consumers Power Company is notified in writing of a desire for gas service prior to December 15, 1970.

B. All other persons desiring residential gas service, including service to existing residential units, and new construction, must make application in writing to the Company for such service.

C. Applications for existing residential units may be made at any time. Applications for new residential construction shall be made after the footings and foundation walls are completed at the location desiring gas service or, in the case of mobile homes, after the concrete slab is poured.

D. Consumers Power Company, as soon as practicable, will verify by field inspection that the residential units are in existence or that the required construction is completed, and upon such verification will issue a dated commitment. Thereafter, the Company is directed to make a second field inspection in not less than 80 nor more than 100 days. If construction has not proceeded to completion of the framing and roofing of the structure the Company will advise the applicant that he has 30 days in which to carry construction to that stage of completion, or the permit will be irrevocably canceled. In any case, gas service must commence within 12 months of the original date of issuance, or the commitment will be voided. Dated commitments are applicable only to the locations specified, and may not be transferred to any other site.

E. Owners of buildings now receiving gas service in a building which is torn down because of public improvements, may transfer such gas service for the same uses to another location owned by such person, provided the transfer is completed within 12 months after discontinuance of service at the original location.

4. The procedures set forth in paragraph 3 hereof shall be followed by the Company until such time as its total confirmed estimated connected annual requirements are approximately 370 billion cubic feet.

In Inter-County Planning

Oakland Leads The Way

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first in a series of articles highway plans of state and county planners as they effect the communities covered by The Northville Record-Novi News, The South Lyon Herald, and The Brighton Argus.

Oakland County's road department has taken a leading role in a new Inter-County Highway commission project that is attracting nation-wide attention.

It involves the coordination of state, county and local highway plans that is setting a pattern for planning elsewhere in Michigan and the United States.

Specifically, it is an "effectuation plan", explained Franklin Meyers, executive director of the inter-county commission, that upon completion will mean commitment to highway plans to all government levels.

"To provide the kind of inter-governmental success that good road planning requires," a planning spokesman said, "it's important that each governmental level takes into consideration the plans of another. After all, the motorist who travels from one municipality to another, or from one county to another, doesn't want to run into a barricade when he crosses over a paper boundary. If each of us

Narrow highways and S-curves that scare the dickens if not the life out of motorists might have been avoided years ago if officials had been better tea-leaf readers than politicians.

That's why today more and more emphasis is placed on planning highways and their routes well in advance of urbanization.

Typical are the planners of the Oakland County Road Commission who in the past five years have grown from a "one-man operation" to a crew goes our separate ways in planning roads we do the citizens a disservice."

In Oakland County, planners have produced a "master plan" incorporating county, inter-county, and state highway plans with those plans and road suggestions made at the local level, and then reproduced individualized brochures for each of those communities who formally adopt the overall "master plan."

Thus far, 13 communities — including Novi, Wixom, and Lyon and Commerce townships — have formally adopted the Oakland plan.

The counties of Macomb and Monroe are doing something similar.

Wayne County, as its part of the project, has developed a booklet of plans within Wayne and turned copies of them over to local municipalities for placement on file.

The project has been limited to a county-wide map in Washtenaw and St. Clair, and the newest member of the inter-county commission, Livingston County, has just begun the collection and compilation of planning data.

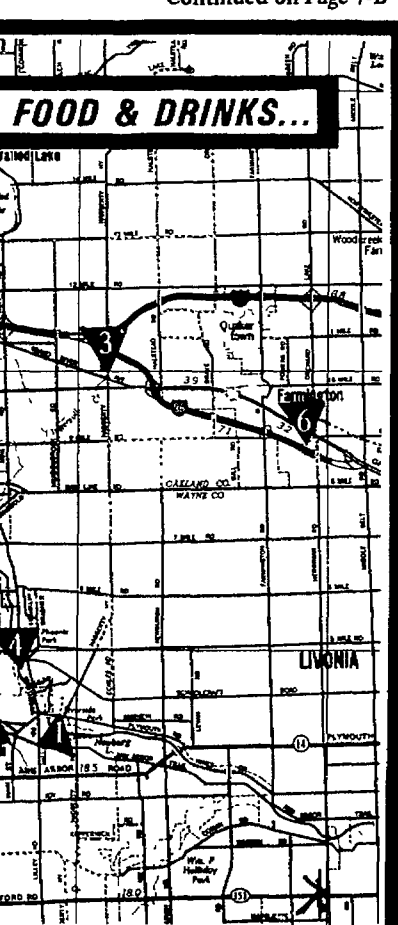

Ideally, each of the municipalities should eventually adopt master plans but realistically, formal commitment by all local governments isn't likely to occur," said Bruce W. Royer, community planner for the Oakland County Road Commission.

In some counties a letter of concurrence by the local municipality will take the place of a formal resolution of adoption as requested in Oakland, said Meyers.

Formal adoption or concurrence means that in joint consultation the various units of government have reached accord, that the plans of the state and county or inter-county commission do not conflict with those at the local level and vice-versa.

When an Oakland County community adopts the coordinated Master Right-of-Way Plan, the road of young professionals who are attempting to undo past mistakes while planning future arteries in the rapidly disappearing rural areas of the county.

It is unfortunate but nevertheless a fact of life that the best planning can be done in those rural areas where urgency appears least important, explains Bruce W. Royer, community planner for the commission. Where the encroachments of urbanization have not yet been felt, the average person looks at highway planning as a needless expenditure of time and money "and yet that's the area where we can do the most good for the least amount of money."

"For example, development of new highways in the southeastern part of our county," he continues, "is virtually impossible because of the necessity of uprooting families and businesses and because of the huge sums of money this kind of development requires."

"You know the problem the state had in pushing through its plan for I-96."

"In these highly developed areas even corrective planning becomes, in many instances, financially prohibitive."

Oakland County planners, as in some other counties, divide their work into two categories: corrective planning, which involves improvement of "bad intersections and roads," and preventive planning, involving blueprinting for major new county highway routes.

These two categories of planning are in addition to the "year-to-year repair or improvement projects" carried out by the road commission.

Unlike the state Highway commission, Oakland planners avoid placing "time tables" on their highway proposals, explains Royer, who emphasizes that highway plans can only become a reality upon need and when sufficient financing is available.

Similarly, planners attempt to distinguish between highway plans and highway routes. For example, Oakland's preventive planning currently includes four major new arteries, called the Six Mile System, that suggests highway rights-of-way — not the highways themselves. That comes later.

The Six Mile System calls for three major east-west routes extending across the entire county and one major north-south route, also extending across the county. The first of the east-west routes is located along the northern boundary, the second parallels the first six miles to the south, and the third, called the mid-county parkway, is located near the middle of the county. The north-south route extends from Wayne-Washtenaw counties on the south to Genesee County on the north, along the Napier Road line.

Oakland planners see these four county routes as 204-foot wide divided super-highways (freeways generally are 250 or more feet wide but typically they are 300 to 350 and more feet wide) with semi-limited or controlled access. They will provide six or more lanes of traffic at ground level, with a 72-foot grassy median. In most cases they will follow along existing roads.

These proposed county highway routes, says Royer, will not end at the county borders but quite likely will extend through adjacent counties. The north-south route along the Napier Road line, for example, very likely will extend south of Eight Mile Road along the Wayne-Washtenaw boundary to intersect with M-14 (Plymouth Road). Similarly, one of the northern east-west super-highways very likely will extend west to US-23 in Livingston County, probably along a line one-half mile south of Livingston's northern boundary.

"Planning of this nature obviously requires inter-county coordination and that is one of the chief purposes of the Inter-County Highway Commission of Southeastern Michigan, which with the recent addition of Livingston County now encompasses seven counties — Livingston, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, Wayne, Monroe and Washtenaw."

Generally speaking, planners envision most inter-county mile roads as 120-foot rights of ways, which according to Royer can easily accommodate five lanes. Most roads in Lyon Township, county roads in Wixom, including Pontiac Trail, and all county roads in Novi (the latter includes Novi, 12 Mile, Grand River, Haggerty, 10 Mile, and Eight Mile) fit this classification.

No long-range corrective plans for this area are on the drawing boards, according to Royer. However, he points out that the county is seriously studying the re-location of Novi road around the east side of Walled Lake. "It appears at this time that Novi Road north of the 12½ mile line might better swing eastward and northward to

Which Cross?

Rev. Arnold B. Cook
First Baptist Church of Novi

The great apostle Paul, writing to the Galatians, concluded that epistle with his life's resolve: "But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ..." (Gal. 6:14)

Here is the distinguishing mark of a man of God: he glories in the cross. He preaches the cross and the Christ of the cross. He understands that life (eternal life) can be had only through the cross experience of Jesus Christ. Knowing this, he would be derelict in duty if he did not major on this theme. In his Corinthian letter, Paul said of the cross, "...it is the power of God."

We have come a long way since Paul's day, but man's need of the cross and the power of God has not diminished. But modern man has cast aside the cross of Christ for a cross of his own making — a perversion if you please, and there are multitudes who glory in this design. It is called the "peace symbol", and thought to be of recent origin, but it is not new. Rudolph Koch in his "The Book of Signs" traces the origin of symbols used from earliest times to the Middle Ages and declares the "chicken track" (my quote) peace symbol now used by the hippie cult, to be the crow's foot or witch's foot used during the middle ages by rebels against the monolithic church. The emblem was first used as a so-called "peace symbol" by marchers led by Lord Bertrand Russell in the late 1940's. It was developed by superimposing the semaphore (arm and flag) code signs for N (both arms out like an inverted "V") and D (one straight up, the other down) standing for nuclear disarmament." Star-News, Pasadena, California.

The tragedy today is that so many hippie priests and hippie preachers have hoisted the perverted cross of the rebels and have forsaken the powerful cross of the redeemer. Tragic too, is that the perverted cross has found such wide usage by little children, by clothing manufacturers, by trinket makers, and is sold by merchants who little realize (some not caring) that the broken cross, "The symbol of the Communist Peace is a very well known symbol. It was called the Witch's foot in the middle ages, and was a common symbol of the devil, with the cross reversed and broken." (Michael Wurmbrand, formerly of Roumania)

One cannot help but wonder if the prophetic words of God are now being fulfilled, "I also will laugh at your calamity; I will mock when your fear cometh" (Prov. 1:26)

Is yours the Powerful Cross of the Saviour, or the perverted cross of the rebel?

Through every generation — people have looked for peace and security. Hundreds of volumes have been written on the subject and thinkers and writers have devoted their lives to the search

But of all these books, the Bible is most concerned with peace and security. "Fear not, for I am with you, be not dismayed for I am your God"

No man-made philosophy can banish the worries and troubles of today's complex life. But in the gospel we find assurance of His care

God loves us. When we go to Him in humility, He cleanses us of sin. Our minds are put at ease. Peace fills our souls

Go then to the Book for modern man. Through study, prayer and worship we will find that peace which has been granted to millions — in every country — in every age. Discover anew the life for modern man.

Dent Made in Doctor Shortage, But Nurses Decline

LANSING — While a significant dent is being made in the shortage of doctors in Michigan, the number of registered nurses in the state is diminishing.

A study just released by the Michigan Health Council shows in the past two years the number of doctors registered to practice in the state has risen by 380 and the number of dentists rose 359.

But during the same period, the number of registered nurses in the state actually dropped by 196. The problem is made worse by the fact only 62 per cent of the registered nurses licensed in Michigan actually are engaged in nursing at this time.

"THERE IS A SHORTAGE of several hundred thousand registered nurses nationwide, and Michigan is severely short," says John A. Doherty, executive vice president of the Council.

"We have only 277 employed registered nurses per 100,000 population," he said. This compares to ratios such as 408 per 100,000 in New York, 395 per 100,000 in Pennsylvania and ratios much higher than Michigan's in other large states such as California, Illinois and Ohio, he said.

Doherty said many Michigan hospitals, including the University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor, have had to close large sections and wings because of the lack of registered nurses. He said the shortage is particularly severe on night shifts and weekends.

THE COUNCIL estimates there is a current shortage totalling 50,000 in all health personnel in Michigan and has set a goal of rectifying that situation by 1975.

Among the goals it has set are the following:

- achievement of a ratio of one medical doctor for each 800 residents rather than the current ratio of one doctor for each 1,002 residents.

- reaching a ratio of one registered nurse to each 150 residents, rather than the current ratio of one nurse to 213 persons and a ratio of one licensed practical nurse to every 300 persons rather than the current one practical nurse for each 453 persons.

- establishment of one dentist for each 1,500 persons rather than the current ratio of one dentist for each 1,893 persons.

MICHIGAN launched an ambitious program which it hopes will be the forerunner of the establishment of a decent housing unit for every resident of the state.

The project, taking place in Detroit, will result in the rehabilitation of 1,000 housing units in the inner city. And while the total cost will be $15 million, the project will be paid off by persons who move into the renovated units and by federal grants and won't cost one cent of state revenues.

The $15 million is being raised through the sale of bonds and notes which will be paid off through rents and federal monies.

"SIGNIFICANTLY, the development is conducted by and for minority groups," says William G. Rosenberg, executive director of the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

"About 95 per cent of the people in the area are black and the work is being done by local contractors hiring local people," he explained. "The program is initiated and carried out at the community level, emphasizing involvement by residents and the community."

The buildings being rehabilitated are structurally sound, but otherwise in serious disrepair, some to the point they are not occupied.

Each building will be outfitted with new mechanical and electrical systems. The kitchens will be furnished with new sinks, refrigerators, stoves and disposals, and each apartment will have a communications system and burglar alarm.

THE REHABILITATED apartments are mostly 40 to 50 years old.

"Some of these buildings once were really elegant," Rosenberg said. We want to give them a new 40-year life."

The entire project is designed for low to moderate income occupants — those making from $3,000 to $10,000 per year, depending upon the size of their families. Rents will range from $98 to $152 per month, including all utilities except telephones, for one to three bedrooms, but that could be reduced to as low as $50 by subsidies.

Housing officials estimate Detroit alone has 40,000 apartment units in need of rehabilitation.

"We're really just scratching the surface," explained one.

Babson Report

Here's A Post-Election Summary

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — Now that there has been time to digest the election results and reflect on what they mean, the Research Department of Babson's Reports presents this post-election summary.

First, neither Republicans nor Democrats can claim outstanding success. Despite an all-out, well-financed campaign, the GOP failed to gain control of the Senate. On the other hand, the Democrats could not corral as many House seats as normally go to the opposition party in a non-Presidential election. Thus, Mr. Nixon received no clear consensus and is still on the defensive.

Even though total voter turnout was sizable, true enthusiasm did not mark this election, nationwide. Primary reason was reluctance of candidates — for the most part — to debate issues. In many cases, the aspirants "talked down" to voters, and there were few instances of constructive dialogue between candidates.

Mr. Nixon campaigned valiantly to stave off defeat for his party, but he was only partially successful. His drive for approval of his policies and programs was also only partially productive. He did, however, draw a large vote for an off year.

WITH BOTH the Senate and House still firmly controlled by the Democrats, the President must battle a strong headwind in the last two years of his present tenure. His ability to exert powerful leadership will be challenged at every turn in his remaining stewardship, during which he must make the bulk of his record on which to run again.

If he is to secure approval of any appreciable part of his program, he must improve his liaison with Congress, and he will have to do more compromising to achieve this. Although Presidential support was a factor in the defeat of three anti-Nixon Senators, the victory was counterbalanced by the win of about 75 percent of the gubernatorial races by the Democrats in thirty-five states.

IMMEDIATE post-election commentaries cited the GOP gains in the Senate. Though the improvement was small, it did result in an overall group more nearly reflecting the Nixon philosophy. But the road will be rough because the Senate is not likely to relinquish its drive to get a greater say in foreign policy. How Mr. Nixon meets this challenge will have an effect on the reception of his proposals in the Senate. Also, it will be a prime factor in re-election chances.

The faint swing to the right in the Senate suggests that law and order did not prove to be an overriding issue, and it appeared to be less so in gubernatorial elections. This could be an ominous sign of more irresponsibility and violence before the tide turns.

Further, even inflation and unemployment apparently did not influence election results overwhelmingly, at least not in Congressional contests. Reaction to "pocketbook" concerns did show up in the lopsided Democrat successes in governorship bouts. Economic considerations, however, may gain more attention this coming year.

IT IS QUITE LIKELY that the Democrats will clamor for changes in the Administration's economic and fiscal policies, commencing with the remaining Congressional sessions this year, as well as in 1971. Because of the strong tide of inflation fears, the staff of Babson's Reports foresees increasing pressure for wage and price controls.

Despite this mounting pressure, the odds are not in favor of such legal curbs, at least not in the immediate future. The President has repeatedly indicated opposition to this approach. Nevertheless, the Administration may be "forced to reassess its position on this matter if inflationary forces gain speed again, and the shape of any basic change in posture could be manifested by mid-1971.

By ROLLY PETERSON

Most of us harbour prejudices that fortunately will never find ultimate expression, for a number of reasons, principle of which is the restraining onus that a society of men places on such irrational feelings.

But what would happen if our prejudices, hitherto confined to closed conversation at home and in the bar room — bad enough for the suffering they can bring — are given complete vent?

This is the spectre that the movie, "Joe", deals with and the result is the ultimate in man's inhumanity to man, a blood bath in which he turns upon his children with little, or no, feeling of remorse.

As a piece of social commentary, then, "Joe" is a success, despite that fact that it deals with extremes. But dramatically, "Joe" fails to convincingly make the extreme believable through emotional involvement.

The social issue in "Joe" is pertinent because it deals with the attitude of "square" society toward the hippy-drug culture that is spreading no one knows how much.

Specifically, the situation is this. A young girl whose father is an advertising executive falls in love with a young pusher. When she takes too many pills, she ends up in the hospital and her father winds up killing her pusher boyfriend in a fit of rage.

Quite by accident, Joe, played brilliantly by Peter Boyle, learns what the father-executive has done. Joe calls him to set up an appointment. Blackmail? No, despite the fact that Joe is just a working stiff and his wealthy friend earns $60,000 per year.

The reason Joe is interested in Mr. Compton (Dennis Patrick) is because he envies Compton. Compton has done what Joe only boasted he would like to do — he has rid society of rat.

The message is clear in the movie, that the curtain that separates man from animal is sheer indeed. Given the proper set of circumstances, the wraps are off and man is capable of the most heinous acts. And the circumstances today, with society polarized to an alarming degree, are conducive to irrational acts.

While the message in "Joe" is evident, the movie fails to make it a palpable experience felt by the viewer.

But then, perhaps I'm unwilling or reluctant to admit that man is capable today of committing such acts.

Send your questions, comments, and horse show news to "Horse's Mouth", care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi 48178. This column is open to news of all breeds of horses and ponies.

Centaur Dressage Schooling Show, December 5 and 6. Sponsored by the Centaur Dressage Show Committee. The show will be held at Centaur Farms (Drake Road north of 15 Mile) Walled Lake. The starting time for both days will be 8:30 a.m. The judge is Otto Heuckroth of Darien, Connecticut. Entries close Wednesday, December 2. A limited number of post entries may be accepted - schedule permitting. Make inquiries to: Mrs. Dawn Herndon (313) 626-9840.

Dear Sally Saddle,
I plan on getting a horse next summer and would like to know a few things.
First of all, how often should a horse's teeth be checked? What is the best kind of horse for a beginner? And also could you please explain briefly what a horse's diet consists of.

Thank you very much for answering.
P.S. I hope you'll always have your column, it has been a big help to me.

Thanks,
S.M., Novi

Glad you like the column and I'll try to answer your questions.

A) A horse's teeth should be checked at least once a year, more often if any tooth problem is known.

B) A horse's diet should consist of fresh water, clean hay, oats or prepared horse feed.

C) What kind of a horse is best for the beginner? By beginner we will assume that you have taken some riding lessons, and have mastered the basic elements of riding, before you start thinking about buying a horse of your own.

Next you should think about what this horse will be used for. If for pleasure riding, the horse should be just that, a pleasure to ride and own.

If this horse will be shown in the show ring, then of course you will want an animal that fills these requirements. The amount of money you have to spend will also determine the kind of horse you will pick.

Taking all these things into consideration, there are no set rules for the kind of horse a beginner should get. My own personal advice would be to learn to ride and then go to a reliable horseman (this could be the person from whom you've been taking lessons) and ask his advice on purchasing an animal.

Results from the Stump Jumpers 4-H group at the Junior Livestock Show at the Michigan State Fair Grounds November 6-8:

Donna Wilson, South Lyon: second place ribbon in American Saddlebred pleasure (18-under); fourth place ribbon in American Saddlebred showmanship (18-under); Candy Fuson, Plymouth: second place ribbon in Quarterhorse western horsemanship (13-under); sixth place ribbon in Quarterhorse English pleasure (13-under).

Showing an Appaloosa, Cindy Fuson, Plymouth: third in horsemanship (14-18); third showmanship (14-18); fourth English pleasure (14-18) and fifth halter geldings.

Kent Wassenaar, Plymouth: fourth Appaloosa showmanship 13-under; fifth Appaloosa pleasure (13-under) and sixth Appaloosa horsemanship.

Randy Wassenaar, Plymouth: sixth in Appaloosa halter gelding (two-year olds and over).
