

PROUD MOM AND THE 1971 FIRST BABY CHAMPION

Nine Pounder First Baby in 1971

She isn't the earliest arrival in the 15-year-history of this newspaper's annual First Baby Contest by any means, but 9-pound, 13-ounce Sarah Alice Carter is certainly one of the biggest little bundles.

The baby girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Carter of 44420 Six Mile Road in Northville Township, was born at 6:15 a.m. January 4 at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. The attending physician was Dr. Roy Hazen.

She was the only entry by the contest deadline of 5 p.m. Monday.

Sarah Alice is the Carters' second child. The other is 19-month-old Wendy Lynn.

Mrs. Carter, the former Peggy Gibson, is a native of Northville, while her husband is a native of Novi.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson, formerly of Northville and now of Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carter of Novi are the paternal grandparents.

Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, former Northville councilwoman, is the baby's great grandmother. Mr. and Mrs. Lon

Carter of Baxter, Kentucky also are great-grandparents.

The 1971 champ assumes the title held in 1970 by Paul Martinsen Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stewart of Northville. Paul was born at 8:13 a.m. on January 1, 1970.

Three years ago, Robin Crabtree, whose parents then lived in Novi, became one of the contest's earliest arrivals by bowing in at 12:50 a.m. on January 1. A year later, in 1969, Robin's cousin, Brian Keith Miller, became the first baby at 1:20 p.m. on January 1.

The 1971 first baby means girls are again in the lead in the contest that began in 1957 — eight to seven.

Sarah Alice and her proud parents will receive a host of prizes from Northville, Novi and Plymouth merchants who co-sponsor the contest with The Record. Those prizes include:

Little People Shoppe, gift certificate; Lila's flowers; Brader's, a blanket; Noder's Jewelers, silver cup;

Snowmobile Race Opens Tomorrow

If you don't hear a buzzing noise this week end in Northville, better have your tympanic membranes checked.

A snowmobile invasion the likes of which no Michigan metropolitan area city has ever experienced is anticipated as final plans for the $50,300 International Motor-State Snowmobile Classic at Northville Downs are being completed by Promoter Gerald Stone and race manager, David Biery.

The Classic, which begins with qualifying races Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening and climaxes with the rich-purse finals on Sunday afternoon, promises to attract the best snowmobile drivers in the nation.

None of the drivers are rank amateurs. All must show proof of winning points in a recognized snowmobile association sanctioned race and most will be members of the Michigan International Snowmobile Association, which sanctions and directs the competition.

At least two snowmobile manufacturers will have their factory teams entered, and several professional racing drivers will enter specially-equipped machines representing specific manufacturers.

(See special snowmobile section included in this edition.)

As the deadline for entries neared this week some 450 competitors had signed up. The total could reach 600. Some will enter several machines in classes, which are determined by the cubic centimeter displacement of the engine.

There's competition for the ladies, too, with Powder Puff (PP) races Friday, Saturday and in the finals.

The prize money is reportedly the most ever offered in a snowmobile race. Some $6,200 in prize money will be awarded to the first three place winners in qualifying heats, while finalists win $1,000 for first place, $750 for second $500 for third, down to $75 for sixth through 12th place.

Promoter Stone has worked all week preparing the track for the snowmobilers. There's plenty of snow, but just in case it should melt, there's a snow-making machine standing by.

Just before the finals start Sunday at 1 p.m. there will be an official ribbon-cutting ceremony with Mayor A. M. Allen, City Manager Frank

Council Accepts New City Election Date

Northville's semi-annual city election, traditionally held in the spring, will be held in November beginning this year.

City councilmen decided Monday night not to take action to retain the spring election, thus consenting to follow the "odd-year election bill" signed into law by Governor William Milliken Thursday afternoon.

The new law provides that city elections in Michigan shall be held every two years in November of each odd-numbered year. The law does not change any school, village or judicial elections.

Councilmen, as in the case of other cities in Michigan, have 30 days following enactment of the law to vote exclusion of Northville from the act. Those cities not so voting within the one-month period automatically will be required to hold their municipal elections in November.

While the 30-day period has not elapsed, Northville councilmen decided Monday to "go along" with the new law and permit city elections to be held in November hereafter.

Had the council wished to retain the spring election it would have had to vote to do so. Those cities deciding against the November election at this time may in the future go to the odd-year November election by adoption of an ordinance. However, once a city makes the switch it cannot later revert to the non-November election.

Northville councilmen accepted the reasoning behind the law that it should reduce the cost of irregular elections in the state. Furthermore, locally it will mean that newly-elected councilmen will have a greater length of time to acquaint themselves with city finances before they begin work on the annual budget.

Under the past election procedure, newly elected councilmen became involved in preparing the budget immediately upon taking office — after preliminary budget studies by incumbents were well underway.

While the law is an attempt to make Michigan elections more uniform, thus reducing cost state-wide, the bill lost some of its impact when lawmakers chose not to include school and townships in it as originally proposed.

However, proponents of the new law see it as "the first step" towards eventually including schools and townships.

Presently, the township holds its elections every two years in November of even-numbered years — the same time that state and national elections are held. School district regular elections are held annually in June.

Should townships eventually be included in the "odd-year" law, it would free state and national elections of local issues and thus eliminate the so-called "wallpaper ballot," proponents argue.

Northville councilmen see the switching of the city election from spring to November as resulting in greater voter turnouts since the odd-year election ballot will include, in addition to local candidates and issues, those special state propositions likely to come up in odd years. They note,

Planners Reject Gas Station Zoning

A rezoning petition by Thompson-Brown Company to permit erection of a Marathon service station at the northwest corner of Taft and Eight Mile roads was cut down by both the planners and the people Tuesday night.

Following a hearing in which everyone in the audience except the petitioners opposed the zoning change from R-2A to C-1, the commission voted 8-1 to recommend denial of the request.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by the commission chairman, C. Tom Wheaton.

Earlier Tuesday, by unanimous action, the commission approved zoning amendments establishing procedures for appealing commission decisions to the city council and for application-fees to the commission. Following the Thompson-Brown recommendation, the commission also unanimously approved a request of the First Baptist Church to utilize a house on high street, owned by the church, for church school purposes.

Major objections of citizens to the Thompson-Brown request, most of which came from residents of the company's Lexington Commons nearby development, were:

The service station development is premature in view of still undecided procedure — by the intergovernmental drain commission — of containing drainage water originating from both Thompson-Brown's planned apartment development to the rear of the proposed station site and from Novi property to the north.

The service station would adversely affect value of nearby residential homes.

Development of the station would aggravate an already dangerous traffic situation at the intersection.

The existing new Boron service station at the northeast corner is sufficient for the neighborhood.

Also objecting to the rezoning was a representative of the First Methodist Church of Northville, which has begun erection of a new church on the opposite side of Eight Mile Road from the proposed Marathon station.

Major objection of planners came from Delbert Black and Francis Gazlay, who took the position that Thompson-Brown's departure from its

City Attempts New Way to Get Maybury Land

A back-door effort by Northville to purchase part of the Maybury property presently is being considered by Detroit.

Specifically, Detroit is considering a request that would allow Northville to contact potential bidders for the property so that it might persuade these bidders to make Northville's offer to purchase part of their proposals.

Detroit ruled earlier that only bids for the entire one-and-a-half square mile Maybury site will be considered, thus ruling out Northville's offer to buy some 200 acres of it for a park.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff asked Detroit's surplus property officials for the names of developers and financiers to which Detroit sent sales brochures. Hopefully, if Detroit grants permission, Northville will send a letter to these potential bidders, the City Manager said.

Initially, Detroit denied this Northville request but subsequently said it would consider it after reading a copy of the letter Northville proposed to send to the potential bidders.

"Our problem is that somewhere realtors or developers are probably trying to put together a package of several investors to bid on the entire parcel but they know nothing of Northville's interest in the land. If we can get to them they may make our purchase part of their proposals."

Seal bids for the sale or option to purchase are to be opened at 10 a.m. on March 1 by the Detroit controller.

Two Face Extortion Charges

Police Seek Maybury Guards

Warrants were issued last week for the arrest of two Maybury Sanatorium guards on charges of extortion.

The men, who are employed by Banks and Fritz Security of Detroit, worked as armed guards at Maybury for Detroit. They are John Gambee, 44, of Livonia, and his son, David Gambee of Farmington.

Neither had been apprehended as of Tuesday morning.

The charges against the two men stem from a bizarre incident on October 18, 1970, in which two youths from Dearborn, Thomas C. Mealbach and David Buttigie were arrested on charges of trespassing at Maybury while no charges were brought against two others after they allegedly each paid

John and David Gambee $5.

Mealbach and Buttigie were found "not guilty" of the trespassing charge by Judge Dunbar Davis in 35th District Court on December 17, 1970, and the case was dismissed.

According to testimony given in court under oath, Mealbach, Buttigie and two other youths from Dearborn were at Maybury on the night in question. At approximately 10 p.m. they said they saw a truck coming down a road and the four ran into the bushes.

Two guards, identified as John and David Gambee, got out of the truck, let a dog out, put a spot light on the boys and ordered them to come out of the bushes on the "count of three or he would start shooting."

The dog found Mealbach and Buttigie but the other two youths said they escaped on foot. The two, Michael Prather and John Lopez, testified they heard shots as they ran.

The guards apprehended Mealbach and Buttigie for trespassing and took them to one of the buildings on the property they use as a station.

Mealbach and Buttigie testified the guards said they would not turn them over to Wayne County Sheriff deputies if the youths each paid them $5.

Buttigie said one of the guards had taken Mealbach to find Lopez and Prather so they could get money. The guard then spotted the sheriff's deputies coming to pick up the two boys, according to the court transcript.

NEWS BRIEFS

CITY PURCHASE of additional land for park and parking purposes is nearing a reality, officials report. Purchase agreements are expected soon on five lots in the Maplewood area, Northville's northeast section, to be used for a neighborhood park. Similarly, purchase of property now housing D&D Floor Covering and Northville Collision on Dunlap, east of Center, is drawing closer. This property, together with the land on which the adjacent house now stands, is slated for parking. Negotiations for the relocation of D&D to a new site adjacent to the Spinning Wheel building and Northville Collision to a new site near the DPW garages off Gerald Avenue are underway.

CONFIRMATION of the appointment of Essie Nirider to the board of review was made Monday by the city council. He replaces Hiram Pacific. Earlier, the council reappointed Wilson Funk and J. Burton DeRosa to the same board.

SITE PREPARATION began Tuesday on North Center Street, signalling the start of the new Chatham Supermarket, which Chatham officials hope will be completed for opening later this year.

CITY COUNCILMEN are slated to meet in a work session Monday night to begin preparation of the 1971 public improvement program.

WITH HOPES that this weekend's snowmobile classic becomes an annual event for Northville, the city council Monday voted to underwrite $1,000 of the estimated $1,500 cost of policing during the three-day affair. Licensing and the city's share (5-percent of the gross profits over $2,000) from the event is expected to produce considerably more than the $1,000 for the police outlay.

BAHAMA-BOUND SENIORS and their parents are to meet at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday in the Northville High School cafeteria to further plans for the senior trip.

NEGOTIATING TEAM for the Northville city police officers association was named last week. Included are Patrolmen Dave DeLauder and Bob Kramer and Dispatcher Alice Ritchie. Negotiations are tentatively set to begin in the spring, spokesmen said, with the present contract expiring June 30.

STATE SENATOR-ELECT Carl D. Pursell, Plymouth Republican, will take his oath of office tonight (Thursday) in a special ceremony in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. In another unusual move he will be joined by State Representative James Tierney, Garden City Democrat who was elected to his third term from the 35th district that includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township. Pursell, whose senate district includes Northville, Novi and Wixom, was elected in November. He succeeds George Kuhn, who was defeated by Pursell in the primary election. A former member of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, Pursell and Tierney will take their oaths administered by two Plymouth Circuit Court judges — George Bowles and Thomas Foley, both of whom are neighbors of Pursell.

Holiday Engagements Announced Here

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Romanow, 45241 Grand River, Novi, announce the engagement and upcoming wedding of their daughter, Rebecca Ann, to Charles E. Woodruff, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. C. Eugene Woodruff, 20145 Beck Road, Northville.

Their wedding is set for February 27 at Northville Presbyterian Church.

Both the bride-elect and her fiancé are Northville High School graduates, she in 1964 and he in 1962. She now is working in Lansing and attending Michigan State University where he is a pre-law student.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norton of Union Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl Ann, to Donald Findlay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Findlay of Union Lake.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Walled Lake Central High School. Her fiancé attends Michigan State University.

A September wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Willacker, Jr., 27650 Taft Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Roberta Rae, to Henry C. Lehtola, son of Mrs. Laila Lehtola, West Bloomfield, and Henry W. Lehtola, Garden City.

The bride-elect is a 1966 graduate of Northville High School and is employed at Western Electric. Her fiancé is a 1961 graduate of West Bloomfield High School and is a four-year Navy veteran. He presently is employed with the Southfield Police Department.

An August wedding is planned.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Donna Lynn Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Brown, 45015 Galway Drive, to Gerald Leslie Beebe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Beebe, 40646 Rock Hill Lane, Novi, by her parents.

The bride-elect is a 1970 graduate of Northville High School and is a freshman at Harper Hospital School of Nursing in Detroit. Her fiancé, a 1967 Northville High School graduate, attended Ferris State College for two years and plans to attend Eastern Michigan University in February. He is a member of Kappa Kappa Psi music fraternity and presently is employed at Diamond Automation International.

Former Northville residents Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Schwendemann of Algonac announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Kay, to Jeffrey Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Barker of Greenville, Michigan.

The bride-elect attends Alma College where she is affiliated with Kappa Iota Sorority. Her fiancé received his B.A. degree in business administration from Alma where he was a member of Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity. He now is associated with Arthur Andersen and Company.

A July, 1971, wedding is planned.

BY JEAN DAY

A SLIDE and music presentation will give Northville Mothers' Club members and guests a view of the new humanities program in operation at Northville High School at the club's next meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the high school auditorium.

The presentation covers the first 10 weeks the program has been in effect and shows how it is operating with 47 students in 10th, 11th and 12th grades participating in music, literature, art and political thought.

Miss Patricia Dorrian, head of the high school English department, and a group of students will present the program. Also attending will be the three other participating teachers, Mrs. Barbara Morrison, Miss Karen Lowe and Mrs. Mary Bray.

Miss Florence Panattoni, curriculum coordinator, will be present to help show the club members how the club donation of $500 towards supplies for the program is being used. She points out that these supplies, primarily books and art pictures, will be placed in the library to be used later by many groups.

The meeting is a guest night, Mrs. George Murany, program chairman, announced. Refreshments will be served afterwards by Mrs. Edward Kelly and her committee, Mrs. J. Ronald Horwath, Mrs. Leroy Ording and Mrs. D. Keith Wright.

Sue and Keith Wright flew to Spain the day after Christmas for a week's holiday in Malaga, on the Spanish Riviera. As part of a tour of alumni from Eastern, Northern and Wayne Universities, they were first occupants of a new resort hotel.

Because Spain, and all of Europe, had unusually cold weather with snow on Spanish mountain tops for the first time in 20 years, their trip to Grenada was canceled. However, they did see a bullfight on New Year's Day.

Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Ishac flew to New York City to spend New Year's Eve in Times Square following dinner at their hotel. They also saw plays, including Danny Kaye's new "Two-by-Two," which Nancy Ishac gives "rave notice".

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fountain and their three youngsters spent the holiday "skiing every day" as they visited their families in the Eastern Township of Quebec.

For Mrs. Fountain the skiing vacation meant resumption of the sport she had abandoned years ago. Enthusiastic again, she with neighbors, Mrs. Richard Cooper and Mrs. Leonard Klein, has joined the Blizzard Club and is taking lessons.

AS WEIGHT-Watcher clerk for a group meeting every Tuesday morning in Plymouth, Mary Esther Fountain notes that the organization is a fast-growing one with 14 new members this week bringing the Plymouth membership to 52. A new Weight-Watcher class is scheduled now for Northville.

First meeting is to be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, January 14, in the lower assembly hall of Northville First Presbyterian Church. It is planned for evenings so that men can participate.

Interested men, women and teens may register at 7 p.m. before the class.

Lecturer for the class, Mrs. Ruth Krammer, of Nine Mile Road, Farmington, has just finished a workshop program with Weight-Watchers of Eastern Michigan and should be an inspiration for anyone wishing to shed pounds and inches. She began Weight-Watchers a year ago and, before the holidays, had reported a weight loss of 51 pounds.

She points out that Weight-Watchers program is an encouraging one as "you go down fast in inches." The new group is the only evening Weight-Watcher class in the area as the Willowbrook class closed late last year.

OUR LADY'S League of Our Lady of Victory Church held its first meeting of 1971 Tuesday evening with Dr. Jeff Life telling members what can be done by individuals in the fight against pollution. Dr. Life, a long-time friend of League President Rosemary Quigley and her husband, William, had just received his Ph.D. degree in fish toxicology from the University of Michigan School of Public Health.

The Board of the Lady's League is continuing its tradition of hosting the annual Father and Son Breakfast to be held after 8 a.m. Mass at the church February 21.

COOPERATIVE Nursery parents have scheduled a "first" for tonight. Both fathers and mothers are meeting at 6:30 p.m. for a potluck dinner and program at the Scout-Recreation Building - where their children play and learn daytimes.

Miss Autheta Burke, Hawthorne director of social services, will be guest speaker. Thirty-five couples had signed to attend.

GRADUATED - Miss Jan Marzonie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Marzonie, 47005 Dunsany Road, has graduated as an United Air Lines stewardess and is flying out of Chicago's O'Hare Airport. She is a graduate of Ladywood High School and attended Schoolcraft Community College. Prior to serving aloft she was a bank teller with Metro National Bank, Farmington.

Presbyterian Church Slates Film Festival

A film festival offering films of interest to adults and young people is scheduled at Northville First Presbyterian Church with the first to be shown at 8 p.m. Tuesday, January 12.

Under sponsorship of the Christian Education Committee and the Couples Club of the church, 11 films will be shown in six evening presentations to which the community is invited.

The films were chosen, according to Assistant Pastor Timothy Johnson, as they are provocative for a discussion to follow with coffee after each. All showings will be in the church fellowship hall at 8 p.m. To help defray costs, a free-will donation will be accepted.

Three films will be shown in the first presentation next Tuesday. They include a six-minute animated feature in color, "Blinkity Blink," described as "a creative work done with lines, color and sound. It's sort of a cinematic Rorschach . . . it kind of keeps your eyes on their toes!"

Second feature, in color, is "Why Man Creates," a humorous series of explorations, episodes and comments on creativity. One of the seven parts was shown on the Smothers Brothers television show. The parts, Reverend Johnson explains, are done in the nature of television commercials with the use of animation, trick photography, pantomime, close-ups, documentary film techniques and art work. This film, the minister stresses, "gives strength to man's self image at a time when he so desperately needs it."

Final first offering is "Cosmic Zoom." This film, Reverend Johnson notes, was the climax of a "very impressive program" at the national meeting of United Presbyterian Women this past summer.

"In the flash of an eye the camera zooms from a small boy in a boat to a larger scene — his town, country, hemisphere, world, space, galaxies, and space beyond space. Then it zooms back, closer and closer to the child. . ."

Other dates and films are February 1, "Parable" and "It's About This Carpenter"; February 25, "A Chairy Tale" and "The Hat"; March 25, "The Gospel According to St. Matthew"; April 13, "The Hangman" and "The Stringbean"; and May 16, "Nobody Waved Goodbye".

Women Serve Ex-Marine to Lecture on Healing At St. Paul's

For the first time in its 75-year history, six women are members of the boards of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. In installation ceremonies January 3, the first Sunday in 1971, Pastor Charles Boerger inducted the six into office.

At the two morning services, women inducted include three elected to the Board of Christian Education: Mrs. Glenn Deibert, Mrs. Charles Kehrer and Mrs. James Vlassis. Elected to the Board of Evangelism were Miss Marilyn Bernhardt, Mrs. Egon Rodenbeck and Mrs. Lee Van Atta.

Others inducted into office included: Board of Elders, A; Ben Kline and Floyd Taylor; Board of Christian Education, Norwood Balko and Robert Goxem; Board of Trustees, Roy Herald, Warner Krause and Sam Stephens; Board of Stewardship, Lawrence Thurman; Board of Evangelism, Warren Zabell.

A special month-long celebration is being planned for October, 1971, to mark the 75th anniversary of the church. Guest speakers are to include Dr. Oswald Hoffman, who is heard regularly on the International Lutheran Hour.

What is the significance of spiritual healing in today's world?

James Spencer, C.S., of Detroit, will discuss this question in a public lecture to be given in first Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth, on Sunday at 4 p.m.

Healing by spiritual means alone, the lecture will bring out, "extends beyond just physical health, to morality, fulfillment in home life, and useful, meaningful careers. It extends to our daily routine contacts with others, how we think about them and act towards them."

Mr. Spencer, a former Marine, is on tour as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship. During the Korean War, he served as a lieutenant. He has also served as a Chaplain in the U.S. Army and as a Christian Science Minister for the Armed Forces. He has been active in the public practice of Christian Science since 1953, and became a lecturer in 1967.

A number of instances of physical healing through wholly spiritual means will be related in his lecture, which is entitled "The Healing Method of Christian Science."

Kristen Ellen Wistert Wed on Campus

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS EDWARD NEESER

Kristen Ellen Wistert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin L. Wistert, 10250 West Seven Mile Road, became the bride of Thomas Edward Neeser of Spokane, Washington, in a holiday-season ceremony in the Gold Room of the Martha Cook Building on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor.

The Reverend Timothy Johnson, assistant pastor of Northville First Presbyterian Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 10:30 a.m., December 31. The bridegroom is the son of the Louis James Neesers of Spokane. The couple exchanged vows before the fireplace, which was banked with snowdrift chrysanthemums and candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the blonde bride wore a white wool mudi, fashioned with an empire waist and long sleeves. Brown velvet boots matched the velvet trim of the dress. Her nosegay of snowdrift chrysanthemums and stephanotis was tied with brown velvet streamers.

Beverly Wistert was her sister's honor maid in a silk dress with eggshell white skirt and brown bodice. She carried an arrangement of white baby carnations and yellow tea roses.

Francis M. Wistert, the bride's uncle, was best man Timothy Hushen, a cousin of the bride, ushered.

The bride's mother wore a green silk dress for the wedding and reception following at the Ann Arbor Town Club. Among the 30 attending the luncheon reception were out-of-town guests from Grosse Pointe, Toledo and Detroit. Music was by Ziggy Bella and his Continental Gypsies — a five-man string ensemble.

The new Mrs. Neeser, who was a 1969 graduate of Northville High School and now is a sophomore at the University of Michigan, changed to a red wool pantsuit for her wedding trip. The bridegroom is attending Spokane Community College.

The newlyweds flew to the west coast and will make their home in Spokane.

Alpha Nu Plans Initiation Dinner

Alpha Nu Chapter of Delta Kappa Society will meet at 6 p.m., Monday, January 11, at Hillside Inn. Following dinner will be initiation of new members.

As its world fellowship program, the society will have pictures of "Peoples of the Far East" shown and described by Katherine Giltner who recently traveled around the world.

Reservations should be telephoned to Miss Florence Keith, 349-1066.

Northville Senior Citizens will hold their annual meeting and election of officers at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, January 12, in the Scout-Recreation building.

MRS. JOHN THOMAS KAIN

Vows Read Christmas Week

Christmas Week was chosen by Sheila Ann Fuertges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fuertges, 1012 Grace Court, for her marriage to John Thomas Kain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kain of Lansing. The nuptial mass was read at 7:30 p.m., December 22, at St. Gerard Church, Lansing. Lansing is the bride's former home.

Officiating at the double ring service was the bride's uncle, the Reverend Theodore Fuertges of Peru, Illinois. A nativity scene, Christmas trees and poinsettia plants decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin with a long-sleeved bodice of white lace adorned with seed pearls. The lace was repeated in skirt insets. Matching lace also trimmed her full-train veil. She carried a cascade of white baby roses.

Denise Fuertges was her sister's maid of honor in a pale pink chiffon bodice with long, full sleeves and cranberry red velvet skirt. A matching velvet Juliet cap held her veil. She carried a matching velvet muff.

Bridesmaids were Sylvia Nasal of Lansing, a college friend, Suzanne Fogerty, a cousin of the bride's from Peoria, Illinois, and Judy Bommarito of St. Clair Shores. The bride's sister, Kathleen, was junior bridesmaid. Their ensembles were fashioned like the maid of honor's but were of mint green chiffon and forest green velvet.

Robert Kain was best man for his brother. Ushers were another brother, Michael, Tim Heyboer of Grand Haven, Edward Felczak of Westland, and Theodore Fuertges, brother of the bride. Mrs. Vincent Redmond played a prelude of Christmas carols before the wedding march. James Mahon was soloist.

For the ceremony and reception following for 200 at Majella Hall, the bride's mother wore a light blue Grecian mudi trimmed with gold braid. The bridegroom's mother chose a raspberry crepe ensemble. Both had orchid corsages. A centerpiece of holly and silver roses decorated the pink satin-covered buffet table. Music for dancing was by the Dom Verderse orchestra.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Fogerty of Princeville, Illinois. Others attended from Illinois, Indiana and Iowa.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner for 32 at the Lansing Elks Club. The bride had been feted at a kitchen shower earlier given in Northville by Mrs. William Miron.

She changed to a light blue dress and navy coat for her wedding trip to Miami Beach. She is a senior at Western Michigan University majoring in education. Her husband is a senior at University of Michigan where he is majoring in chemical engineering. They plan to make their home in Ann Arbor.

1971 March of Dimes To Combat Birth Defects

"Moving forward from the successful fight against polio to its fight against birth defects, the 1971 March of Dimes will this year again support one of the most potent medical programs ever launched against birth defects by a volunteer national health organization."

John Steimel made this statement as he accepted appointment to direct the March of Dimes Campaign in Northville which is now getting underway and will run through the month of January, highlighted by the Mothers March, January 21-28.

The appointment was announced jointly by Gordie Howe, campaign chairman and Richard T. Kelly, chairman of the metropolitan chapter (Wayne-Macomb counties) of The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Steimel pointed out that the March of Dimes — while continuing its 33 year successful fight against polio is now almost entirely in a fight against birth defects. He stressed the need for funds to support research and professional and public education, which offers real hope of discovering preventatives and cures to eliminate birth defects. This is the same program that developed the Salk and Sabin vaccines — exclusively with March of Dimes funds.

"We are faced with a big job, but you can be sure that we will do it again if you give generously to the March of Dimes," said Steimel.

SALUTE TO ACKLEY — A year-end open house honoring Harold Ackley, who ended his 13-year-career of service to the township, village and city with the passing of 1970, was held in City Hall Thursday. Since October of 1957, Ackley has served at a variety of posts, including heating, building and electrical inspector, Village Coordinator, and Village Manager. With his daughter, Billie Jo Elkins (far left) his wife, Ethel, and other daughter, Linda (far right) he shows off the cake given him by fellow employees.

Board to Select Taylor Successor

The Novi Board of Education is expected to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of 12 year member G. Russell Taylor in a special meeting tonight, (Thursday.)

The matter was postponed in a special meeting Monday pending a discussion requested by board members with the four nominees to the post.

In related action, Monday night, the board resolved to "express gratitude for unselfish dedication, deemed the maximum which any community resident can contribute," on the part of Taylor and that such contribution be considered "in excess of the call of duty and that G. Russell Taylor be thricefold commended as an outstanding public servant in the city of Novi."

Taylor had served on the board through consecutive terms since July 14, 1958, filling the office of Secretary of the Board for six and one half years, and serving as Trustee for six years.

The resolution, calling for public commendation of Taylor, called him "a champion and true guardian of each of Novi youth's educational right."

Nominees for the empty chair are Lyle Fettig, Novi osteopath, Zoe Ann Price, of Meadowbrook Glens, and Rose Howard and Jake Durling both of Echo Valley.

In other business Monday night, the board:

— Accepted the resignation of Sondra Vedock, a ninth and tenth grade English teacher, who left due to pregnancy.

— Selected a brick type to be used as siding in the new elementary school development.

Cost of the material was pegged at $74.88 per thousand.

— Approved mechanical plans from middle school development architects, Lane Rieye and Weiland, for the home economics, science and industrial arts sections of the building.

City to Buy Bill Recorder

By unanimous action Monday night Novi councilmen authorized the purchase of what Public Works Superintendent, Edward Kriewall described as "the most advanced billing unit available on the market today."

The unit, a tape recording device, will plug into a unit attached to the water system in any home, according to Kriewall, and pick up, on tape, the account number, plus a water reading to the nearest 1,000 gallons.

"The tape is then fed into a computer which records the amounts, itemizes the bill, punches a card and returns it ready for mailing," said Kriewall.

The new equipment, priced at $1,500 from Neptune Corporation of

New York, will allow one man to read 200-300 meters on one tape cartridge and, at the time of billing, will eliminate the work now done by two people, he said. "This recorder," he added, "eliminates human error and speeds up the process tremendously."

Units from which the recorder receives its information have been installed in between 250 and 300 Novi homes during the past year, according to Kriewall. The units are installed in new homes during building, and older homes will be converted. Cost to the homeowner for the unit, said Kriewall, is approximately $25.

In other council business Monday night legislators:

— Resolved to take out bids on

GRADUATES — Through with classes, Max Roder, John April and Gary Appleton (from left) graduated from the cadet category last week and became probationary officers. They will serve a six month term of probation before becoming full fledged Novi policemen, but in the meantime they will have full authority and will work a regular eight-hour shift. Time was taken out Wednesday night, however, for a graduation dinner honoring the trio.

Novi police netted approximately $330 worth of marihuana and hashish and made five arrests last week resulting from citizen tips.

Three of the five arrested, Joe Dinser, 23736 Forest Park, David Lutz, 23856 Forest Park, and Rolf Ames of Ann Arbor, had been described by various informants as "persons from whom drugs could be bought," police said.

Police received a call Wednesday from Lutz' father, Darrell, complaining that there were boys in his basement "that shouldn't be there."

Answering the call, Patrolmen Jerry Pratt and Frank Barabaras found Dinser, 17 along with Richard Barnes, 18, and George Gravelle, 17, both of Novi, seated in Lutz's living room, with Lutz, waiting for them.

David, 17, was not at home at the time.

Lutz told police he had heard "a lot of racket" coming from his basement and authorized Pratt to make a search.

According to police the Lutz home had been under surveillance as a place frequented by "marihuana users" for over a year.

While Pratt searched the basement, the younger Lutz returned home and was identified by Dinser, Barnes and Gravelle as the one who had authorized use of the home.

In his search of the basement, Pratt found 14 plastic bags "full of marihuana, all rolled up and ready to sell," hidden behind a washing machine and dryer.

The amount taken was estimated by police to be worth $150 in street sales.

A search of Lutz turned up 12 capsules of barbiturate in a package in his coat pocket. Subsequent searches of the Lutz home as well as the cars of Barnes and Gravelle netted "narcotic paraphernalia" including hypodermic equipment of the type used to inject heroin into the bloodstream, according to police.

Barnes, 41025 Mooringside, Gravelle, 40009 Washington, and Dinser were arraigned Thursday before Judge Gerald McNally of the 52nd District Court in Clarkston and were lodged in Oakland County jail on $1,700 bond.

Lutz's arraignment was postponed until Saturday due to care necessary for an overdose of narcotics, according to police. Facing two counts of possession — that of marihuana and barbiturate acid — he was remanded to Oakland County jail under a $3,400 bond.

A second tip supplied by a citizen led police to suspect that Rolf Ames regularly made trips into Novi allegedly to sell drugs and that "he had quantities of marihuana and hashish on his person at all times."

Corporal Robert Starnes and Patrolman Gary Appleton, in a marked car, staked out Saturday the general neighborhood in which Ames reportedly operated: Mooringside Drive in Willowbrook subdivision.

Ames' car was sighted and followed closely by the officers while Detective Jack Grubb kept contact in an unmarked car.

According to Grubb, Ames drove to the Seven-Eleven store on Meadowbrook and 10 Mile and went inside in an effort to elude the patrol car.

Starnes and Appleton waited outside the store. When Ames came out and saw them, according to Grubb, he went behind the building and attempted to hide a quantity of what tested to be hashish in an old tire. He was observed by Grubb who had followed him from inside the store, and was arrested on the spot.

A search of Ames' person netted 30 grams of hashish, worth approximately $180, according to police estimates.

Ames was arraigned Monday on charges of possession of narcotics. He was released on a $1,000 personal bond and ordered to appear for trial next week Friday.

According to Grubb the arrests resulted entirely from tips supplied by citizens and that "our job would be impossible without them."

Wixom Planners Balk on Requests

Wixom planners tabled two requests — one for rezoning and the other for a site plan approval at their monthly meeting Monday.

A representative of Grosse Pointe resident George DeClerk appeared before planners with a request to rezone what remains single family in a parcel adjacent to the railroad track along Beck Road to light industrial.

A portion of DeClerk's land had been rezoned to light industrial in the late 1960's, according to planning Secretary Leslie Kent.

Planners required a road to be provided in order to keep parcels behind DeClerk's property from becoming landlocked, and they objected to what was termed an "incomplete presentation."

A second request was for approval of a site plan from Edward Rose & Sons for its proposed multiple housing development south of Pontiac Trail.

The plan takes in only approximately one-third of the development's total acreage, according to Kent, and it provides for a 2½ story building.

Wixom ordinances provide for only two-story structures, Kent noted.

County Phone Is Toll Free

A new phone number has been installed through which all offices, and services in the Oakland County Courthouse can be reached toll-free by citizens of Novi, Northville and Farmington.

The number, 349-7850, went into service Tuesday afternoon, according to county officials.

The request was tabled by planners until a decision on the issue could be made by the board of appeals which is slated to consider the matter at its regular meeting next Monday.

Appeal board members appeared before planners this week, seeking information on the question. During the discussion, it was noted, that, should the board grant the 2½ story variance, "it would virtually rewrite Wixom ordinances" and provide a precedent for similar issues in the future. Some expressed doubt that the board had such authority.

Also attending Monday's meeting were four councilmen and the mayor.

Antique Store Opens in Novi

A new business, occupying the building formerly housing Frank's Grocery on the north side of Grand River, west of Novi Road, will open Friday.

Called the Four Sails, the new business will be opened daily under the ownership and management of Mrs. Ollie Smith of Northville.

Four Sails will feature a wide selection of antiques and old-fashion Pinconning cheese in wheel form and buttermilk. This combination, explained Mrs. Smith, will give the business a "country store" atmosphere.

Appropriately, the building itself is an antique, Mrs. Smith said. Estimated to be more than 100 years old, it once was a wool depot on Novi's historic plank road (Grand River).

The business takes its name from the hobby and avid interest in old ships by Mrs. Smith's husband, Gordon.

Police Blotter

In Northville . . .

A 48-year-old Detroit man has been charged with felonious assault with a gun after he allegedly fired and shot at a patron at Winners Circle Bar, 113 West Main Street.

According to city police reports, officers arrested Patrick J. Kennedy on Sunday shortly after 9 p.m. after they received a report a man was in the bar with a gun.

Police reports stated Kennedy allegedly took a .38-caliber revolver from the bar and, after issuing a threat, allegedly fired a shot where seconds earlier a patron had been standing, witnesses told police.

Officers investigating at the scene found a bullet imbedded four feet from the floor in a wall under a stairwell.

According to witnesses, a waitress at the bar took the gun from Kennedy, who offered no resistance, and called police.

Police officers impounded the .38-caliber revolver and it was taken to the state police crime lab to be tested for fingerprints.

Kennedy was taken to Wayne County Jail where he has been held awaiting arraignment today, Thursday, on the charge before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis.

Two patrons at Northville Lanes reported to police their purses were stolen from Northville Lanes, 132 South Center Street, on Saturday evening.

According to police reports, the purses were recovered Sunday at Plymouth High School by Plymouth Police. Missing from one purse was $25 and a pair of glasses. A pair of glasses was also reported taken from the other purse, police said.

Robert E. Blomberg, 113 West Main Street, told police his car was stolen sometime between 9 p.m. Sunday and 8 p.m. Monday while it was parked in a lot near Main and Center streets.

The car, a 1961 dark blue Ford, has 1970 Michigan license plates MCJ-491.

Patrolman Ron Kellerman has been named captain of the Northville city police department's pistol team. Kellerman will captain the team Sunday when it meets Plymouth in a match.

Included on the team are range instructor Corporal Ed Filkins, Patrolmen Bob Kramer, Hugh Jordan and Cadet Jim Marks.

On January 16 the department auxiliaries will meet the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department auxiliary pistol team in a match held at the Northville range.

Plywood and paneling valued in excess of $70 was reported stolen from 375 Lake Street. According to police reports, the plywood and paneling was discovered missing from the garage on December 29.

Joseph A. and Cherie N. Nagy, owners of Joe's Little Bar, 157 East Main Street, were fined $200 and given a 14 day suspension, suspension waived, on a charge of gambling on the premises between October 30 and December 17, 1969.

The action came December 14, 1970, at a hearing held before the

As an added attraction, Stone is slated to race the popular TV weatherman, Sonny Eliot, five times around the track before the serious competition gets underway. Eliot claims he's never driven a snowmobile, so most observers are predicting that snowmobile-enthusiast Stone will lap the jolly weatherman.

Admission to each of the four race events is $3.00. Reserved seat accommodations are available.

Michigan Liquor Control Commission in Lincoln Park.

In Township . . .

Township police investigated the theft of a water pump and hose from the Levitt community building on Seven Mile Road.

According to township reports, the theft was reported December 30. Missing is a one and one-half inch water pump along with 20 feet of one and one-half inch hose.

FIRE CALLS

December 31 — 12:50 p.m., 316 North Center Street, trash fire.

January 2 — 9 a.m., 215 West Main Street, car fire.

In Novi . . .

Kent Arbour of 145 Northaven reported the theft of a step ladder he had been using to wash the top of his van at the Aqua Duck Car Wash, 42800 Grand River, last week Tuesday.

A Detroit man, Charles M. Jordon, was charged Saturday with allowing an unlicensed driver to drive an automobile, being drunk and disorderly, and possessing a deadly weapon.

Jordon became foul and abusive, according to police reports, when a car in which he and his 14-year-old son were riding was stopped Saturday afternoon on Meadowbrook Road.

Officer Jerry Burnham had stopped the car, noticing that the younger Jordon was driving, and at that time observed what he considered to be a drunken condition of the father.

The two were driven to the Novi Police Station where the senior Jordon was booked and the younger Jordon held for his mother. Confiscated from Jordon's car was a pint of whiskey, and a loaded 16-gauge shotgun with a box of shells.

A total loss of $7,641 in damage done and materials stolen was sustained by the Roger J. Au Construction Company in two separate cases of breaking and entering reported Friday.

The exact time the crimes occurred is unknown according to police. Among the missing items was a construction laser beam, valued at $7,000. Other items stolen included a 1 1/2 ton hoist, a chain saw and chain, battery charger, acetylene tank, oxygen pump and carburetor.

Two structures were broken into, one a construction office at Northaven and West Road and the other a tool shed on West Road south of South Lake Drive.

A field office of the Garrison Construction Company was broken into December 23 and a $600 generator was stolen.

A hasp had been cut on the southwest side door, according to police. Time of entry is unknown.

Robert Louis Unstine of Mt. Clemens pled guilty to driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor recently before Judge Martin Boyle of the 52 District Court.

Unstine's license was revoked and he was fined $25.

A Farmington man 46-year old Arthur Tomson, paid $50 fine to the 52 District Court recently after pleading guilty to charges of uttering foul and abusive language.

Charges, according to police, grew out of incidents occurring at Dave's Hamburgers, at Grand River and Novi Road, in which Tomson had argued with waitresses.

Terry Sieting, 301 East Liberty, will stand trial January 12 before Judge Martin Boyle on charges of issuing a bad check.

Sieting, according to police, allegedly issued a check to the Novi Auto Parts July 29, 1970 knowing that there were not sufficient funds to cover it.

The check, drawn on the State Savings Bank of South Lyon, was for $56.20.

Idea Parade Begins Saturday

Show Features Local Homes

Two homes in Northville and one each in Novi and Wixom are among the 29 homes and apartments, built and decorated for the 1971 Parade of Idea Homes scheduled to open Saturday, January 9. All of the homes, which bear the image and imprint of Michigan's most experienced home builders, will remain open under auspices of the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit daily and Sundays through February 28.

The exposition coincides with the 1971 Home, Furniture and Flower Show at Cobo Hall — February 18 through February 28.

Local area homes include:
Northville Commons, 53185

Baintree Circle, Northville Township, Kopy Densmore Builders, $53,900.

Lexington Commons South, 20614 Lexington Boulevard, Northville, Rottman Construction Company, $48,500. (Both of these two Northville homes are located in Thompson-Brown developments).

Meadowbrook Homes, 24200 Hampton Hill, Novi, Holtzman & Silverman, $34,950.

Highgate "On The Green", 1976 Roxbury Run, Wixom, Douglas Homes, Inc., $34,790.

Other homes are located in Rochester, Troy, Orion Township, Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Farmington, Birmingham, Lathrup Village, Livonia, Westland Dearborn Heights, Trenton, Riverview, and Ann Arbor.

Mandell L. Berman, who took over as BAMD president January 1, predicts that a half-million persons will inspect the Idea Homes during the seven-week open house period.

Basic prices of the homes range from $15,000 to $70,950 without furnishings.

Advance sale tickets to the Cobo

Hall show, which will feature a $20,000 grand prize, are now available in a number of Detroit stores and will be available in all of the Idea Homes.

Ticket buyers will receive two entry blanks on each ticket, permitting two estimates on the number of nails in a plastic model house to be unveiled in the lobby of the First Federal Building in downtown Detroit, January 26.

The person having the best estimate will receive $20,000 in cash or that amount as a down payment on one of the Idea Homes. The judging of entries will take place a day or so following the end of the show.

Berman stressed that this year's Idea Homes are the most elaborate and contain many more ideas for home buyers and home owners that has been the case in any of the previous years since the start of the Idea Home presentations more than three decades ago.

Stress has been put on family affairs in all the homes—complete living with indoor-outdoor recreation, new materials, new applications of traditional materials, and a wide range of design features.

Election Changed

for example, that another 18-year-old vote proposal may be placed on the November ballot this year.

The November election means that the terms of two Northville councilmen and the mayor, which were to expire in April, will be extended to the following November. Besides Mayor A. M. Allen, the change affects this year the terms of Councilmen Wallace Nichols and Charles Lapham.

Actually, however, similar bonus terms for other council members also are provided by the law in the years that their current terms expire.

Under the law, officials elected in the November election will take office the following January 1.

Circulation of nominating petitions previously occurring in March will hereafter take place in September, according to City Clerk Mrs. Martha Milne.

Besides the election of mayor and two councilmen, this year's November election also is to include a number of proposed charter changes. Ironically, one of the recommendations of the charter review committee was to change the election date to eliminate the budget study problem mentioned earlier in this story.

Adults Invited Back to School

You're an adult.
You've been out of school for quite some time but have been thinking of going back.

You'd like to take some classes. Perhaps just to be taking classes, or to begin studying for a career. Whatever. Where to go? What to take? Who to see? You have so many questions and, quite frankly, fears.

Schoolcraft College may be able to help.

Schoolcraft offers a class called "Pre-College Counseling for Men and Women." It meets two hours on Tuesday evenings for eight weeks. It is for adults who wish to explore the possibilities of going back to school? of taking classes at the college.

The only requirement is that you have an interest in the class and wish to benefit from the experience and guidance of trained counselors. There is no credit, there are no grades. Your total cost is $10.

If you are interested, call Mrs. Lois Collins at the college for registration information. Her number is 591-6400, extension 264. The first 30 who register will be sure of a place in the class, so call early. The class begins February 23.

Stroh Names George Kresin To New Post

George L. Kresin of Northville has been named director of industrial relations of The Stroh Brewery Company, Detroit, a new position. The announcement was made by John P. Leahan, vice president-administration.

Before his promotion, Kresin was director of labor relations at Stroh since 1968 following an association with the Ex-Cello Corporation, Detroit, as assistant corporate labor relations manager. Prior to joining Ex-Cello in 1965 as director of labor relations, Kresin had been with Stroh for three years as assistant personnel manager. Preceding that, he was in labor relations with the Ford Motor Company.

In his new position, Kresin will have overall supervision of the Stroh personnel, safety and medical function, in addition to labor and industrial relations.

Kresin holds a masters degree from Wayne State University and is currently a Lieutenant Commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve. He is secretary of the Industrial Relations Association of Detroit and a member of the Special Agents Association.

He is married and the father of two children: Scott, 14, and Leslie, 11.

Alumni Name Davis Prexy

Robert C. Davis, 215 Hill Street, has been elected president of the Detroit Area Club of the Illinois Institute of Technology Alumni Association for 1970-71.

He was elected at a recent dinner meeting of the private, co-educational university located in Chicago.

Davis, industrial fire and safety administrator, Chevrolet Motor Division, General Motors Corporation, received his B.S. degree in fire protection engineering from IIT in 1954.

He is president of the Michigan chapter of the Society of Fire Protection Engineers; a member of the advisory committee, State of Michigan Department of Labor Occupational Safety Standards; and 1971 program chairman of the National Fire Protection Association Industrial Fire Protection Section.

Goodfellows Cheer Holidays

by Nancy Dingeldey

Is that a big sigh of relief now that the holidays are tucked away for another year? For many, this coming week will bring a little relaxing time — Christmas decorations packed away and the house back in order after all the furniture moving to get the Christmas tree placed in the favorite spot. The kids are back in school and mothers can get back to their routines. It's always great to have parties, go to them and have a full social calendar around the holidays but that first evening of "doing nothing" is a time to relax and enjoy.

New Year's Eve brought the year to a close and several parties around town welcomed in 1971. The VFW had their annual gathering with quite a large crowd of happy people as did the Finn Camp and their traditional party. Dinner and dancing was another way a group of Wixomites spent their evening and, of course, the house parties. From many sources though, the evening was spent with just a few friends and ended early. It seemed strange, because that was the way a national newspaper said the trend would be. But each in our own way welcomed in the New Year, some gaily, some with reservations and some with sadness. Wouldn't it be great if we could start the New Year with all bills marked "Paid". Such optimism!

Had the opportunity of attending a Goodfellow meeting last week and it was a very enlightening experience. We all know the Goodfellows as the group which sponsors the Goodfellow Dance each May as the kickoff to Michigan Week and as the group of men who wave newspapers on street corners or who come knocking at our door in early November with noticeable canister in hand. And we know, too, that they pass out "baskets" each Christmas to needy folks around town. But, what I'm sure a lot of us don't know is the time, effort and energy that many "unnamed" people around Wixom put into their special job. This is the thing I found so "enlightening".

For example, three women devote hours of their time collecting and screening names of individuals or families that have been referred to them by the school, neighbors or friends. After the initial screening, lists are made for each family as far as need and then the ladies do the shopping. They don't make up baskets as we think of them — in actuality they are boxes, as many as three. These may contain both hams and turkeys, potatoes, butter, eggs, canned goods, staples, candy for the kids, a few toys, articles of clothing, shoes and boots — a truly amazing list. The articles are then boxed and a Christmas card attached to each one.

On December 23, the DPW crew picks up the boxes and does the delivering. This year the Goodfellows purchased 13 "baskets" and the Ford Motor Company offered "as many as we needed." In total, 18 deliveries were made.

This, in part, is the job of the Goodfellows and perhaps this is a small way in which to say thank you to those good "ladies" — Lottie Chambers, Hilda Furman and Lillian Byrd and the long list of good fellows who are always there to help.

So, when that Goodfellow is selling tickets for their annual dance or knocking at your door, with newspaper in hand, buy the ticket, contribute for the paper and know that every penny is being spent to help someone a little less fortunate than yourself — who knows, maybe some day you may need their help!

At the same meeting, officers for the coming year were elected. They are: President — John Miner; First Vice President — Bob Dingeldey; Secretary — Gunnar Mettala; and, Treasurer — Betty Taylor.

January 23 is the date the Wixom Boosters of the "Support Your Local Police" have set as pick-up day for rummage items. Start collecting all those "white elephants" that are stampeding through your house and set them aside. Just about any item is welcome — the committee just asks that all clothing be clean and if possible, bagged or boxed for easier handling. Call 624-4280 or 624-0325 for pick-up or further information. Drug violations, up from one to 2; liquor law violations, up from one to 5; weapon violations up from none to 2; traffic operator's license violations, up from 45 to 72; miscellaneous traffic violations, up from 42 to 239;

Family or neighbor problems, up from 31 to 47; sick or injured persons, up from 46 to 78; lost property, up from 30 to 36; suicide attempts, up from 3 to 10; suspicious persons and suspicious vehicles, up from 97 to 105 and from 24 to 30, respectively; warrants served by other departments, up from 34 to 39;

Significant among the decreases for the 11-month period:

Missing persons, down from 30 to 16; open doors and open windows, down from 109 to 93 and from 34 to 15, respectively; accosting, down from 8 to 4; vandalism over $100, down from 38 to 32; vandalism of $100 or more, down from 117 to 114; disorderly conduct, down from 82 to 50; drunk and disorderly, down from 84 to 72;

Minors complaints, down from 139 to 20; narcotics violations, down from 6 to 3; concealed weapons, down from 3 to 1; drunk driving, down from 42 to 39; improper license plates, down from 15 to 9; and reckless driving complaints, down from 17 to 11.

The number of automobile accidents during the 11-month period were down from 216 to 210. Pedestrian accidents were up from 2 to 4; motorcycle accidents were down from 8 to 3; property damage accidents were down from 216 to 208; offstreet accidents, up from 69 to 71; injury accidents up from 48 to 58; and number of persons injured up from 64 to 156.

Moving traffic violations decreased from 1,314 to 1,233; parking violations were down from 2,082 to 1,319; and drunk driving was down from 42 to 37.

City fire calls were down from 76 to 74; township fire calls decreased from 85 to 60, fire call assists, fell off from 70 to 16.

The number of escapees from neighboring institutions was down from 35 to 8, while the number of recovered escapees was up from 18 to 20.

Overall, the number of calls from the city handled by the department was up from 4,070 to 4,315, while the calls originating in the township increased from 231 to 340.

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

Mrs. H.D. Henderson

Mrs. Cameron Cogsdill is back home again after two weeks of vacation spent with relatives and friends in Florida during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boyd spent New Year's Eve and New Year's Day with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dalder, in Royal Oak. The men folk went skating at Palmer Park.

Dinner guests of Mrs. H. D. Henderson on New Year's Day were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rix of Plymouth, and her grandson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rand J. O'Leary and Randy, Jr., Kelly and Shawn of Five Mile Road.

Mr. Jack Anglin is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Anglin at Gaffett, Indiana. The Elmer Anglins have just celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary.

Patrick and Harold Callan, and three of their friends from Maranatha Baptist Bible College, Watertown, Wisconsin, who have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Callan during the holidays, returned to college on Sunday.

After the two weeks vacation during the holidays, Denise Ward, daughter of the Doyce Wards, went back to Eastern Michigan University where she is a freshman this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Warren of Mundelein, Illinois, visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Warren, for a few days during the Christmas season.

At Christmas time the Jay Warrens and Russell Buttons were the dinner guests of their nephew, Bob Button and family at Davison.

Miss Eugenie Choquet and her brother, Leon Dochot, held Open House on New Year's Day for their friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Callan were the dinner guests of the former's brother and the latter's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Murry Callan in Plymouth on New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. John French spent New Year's Day with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Green.

Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Nicken on McMahon Street were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Race, Mrs. Harold Henderson, Mrs. Dolly Alegrani, Mrs. Hildred Hunt and Mr. Byrle Hines.

Three young people, who are members of the Novi Baptist Church, after being home for the holidays, returned to college this week. They are Linda and Loretta Cook returning to Columbia, South Carolina, and Ruth Munro to Reo Ronda, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Dicon Taffalian and daughters Denise and Lucine spent four days of last week at their place at Gaylord, where the girls spent quite a bit of their time skiing.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Blackburn and family were the New Year's Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson and family in Rochester. All of the young people enjoyed the day tobogganing.

Mrs. George Dudin was co-hostess at a pre-nuptial shower for Sharon Olson last Tuesday evening at Bloomfield Hills. Mrs. Dudin and her son, George Jr., also attended the wedding in Royal Oak Saturday evening.

Betty and Harold Sigsbee watched the old year out and the new year in with Mary and Dick Kortes in Willowbrook.

Sixteen friends and relatives came to the home of the Harold Sigsbees and surprised Mr. Sigsbee with a birthday party this past Sunday evening.

A family get-together was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Slentz Christmas Eve. The children present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Slentz and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Trotter and Billy.

Christmas day the Ted Slentzs spent the day with Mrs. Slentz's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis at Dearborn Heights. Last Sunday the Slentzs visited Mrs. Slentz's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Riley in Royal Oak. New Year's Eve Mr. and Mrs. Slentz went out for an evening's entertainment with their niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ashcraft in Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Smith celebrated the Christmas season with their daughter and family, the Lewis Perrys in Williamston. They were with them both Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dudin welcomed in the new year as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith in Royal Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tymensky and two other couples from St. Clair Shores and Livonia left last Wednesday for two weeks of vacation in Hawaii. They attended the Rose Parade and football game in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. January 2nd they flew to Hawaii. The Tymenskys are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary which occurred December 27th.

Mrs. Eleanor White and Mr. Clark Race were married in the Congregational Church in Highland on Saturday at 5:30 in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Race (brother and sister-in-law) were their only attendants. After the service they all had dinner at The Headliner Restaurant on Pontiac Trail.

BLUE STAR MOTHERS

Novi Chapter 47, Blue Star Mothers are meeting today (Thursday), at the home of Mrs. Hildred Hunt on Eleven Mile Road.

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH OF NOVI

Memorial services were held in the church on Sunday, January 3, 1971 for four members who died during the past year and 11 members who passed away during the past several years.

Chancel Choir rehearsal every Wednesday at 8 p.m. Anyone desiring to sing in the choir is asked to be on hand at rehearsal time. "You are needed," remind officials.

Sunday, January 10th at 7:45 a.m. will be the United Methodist Men's breakfast meeting. All men, young and old, are welcome.

At 10 a.m. the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. This will be Mr. Hartoog's last service in the Novi pulpit. He would like to celebrate Holy Communion with you as a last worship experience together. Be sure to urge everyone connected with the church to be present.

At 5 p.m. next Sunday a potluck fellowship supper to bid the Reverend and Mrs. Hartoog God-speed. All are welcome.

The offering envelopes for 1971 are available. Anyone who has not yet obtained his envelopes is asked to check with Mr. Shank at the close of the service.

On Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. Novi Senior Citizens meet at the church for refreshments and an afternoon of games, January 13th.

On Wednesday at 8 p.m. the church trustees met at the church.

The altar flowers on Sunday were a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trickey given in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Blass, parents of Mrs. Trickey. Greeting the guests was Mr. Richard Bingham, and the acolytes were Russell Buton, Jr. and Robert Brown.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF NOVI

The Lord's Supper observance was held after the morning service last Sunday.

The pastor's sermon for Sunday evening service was taken from Acts 14:1-7. Visitors in the evening service were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Davis (nephew of Frank Davis) from Farmington.

After the Wednesday evening prayer service, a deacon's meeting was held to plan and discuss matters of business for the coming year.

Two new members were received into fellowship by baptism at the New Year's Eve Watch service. First Baptist of Novi is pleased to welcome into its membership Polly Ridenour and Eric Karschnick.

Word has been received from the Claude Beachys informing the church that their visas have arrived, and they will be leaving January 16 as missionaries to Haiti.

The annual business meeting is scheduled for January 27 rather than January 20 as previously announced. Those with reports to make out are reminded to keep this date in mind.

Those on the sick list are Mary Thomas, confined to her bed; Myrtle Parker, mother of Mrs. Cobb and Mrs. Jensen, is a patient at Northville Convalescent Home; James Ledford, operative patient at St. Mary Hospital; and June Williams, sister of Louise Whyte, who is recovering from surgery in North Carolina. Remember these in prayer.

A letter and thank you was received from Richard Pierce, who is serving in Vietnam, for the Christmas package he received from the church.

The Vera Vaughn meeting will be held on Tuesday, January 12 at 7:30 p.m. There will be election of officers for the new year. All women of the church are encouraged to attend.

Three young people of the Novi Baptist Church have a Retreat planned for January 29 and 30. Anyone planning to go is asked to contact Joe or Louise Wyte.

HOLY CROSS EPISCOPAL CHURCH MISSION

January 3rd Holy Eucharist was celebrated with Glen Kundrick as Crucifer, and Randy Huber as acolyte. Organist Callie Ann Clark was welcome back after a holiday vacation.

Prayers were said for Frank Cousins who is ill.

On Tuesday, January 5th the E.C.W. met in St. Thomas Hall at Holy Cross for their regular monthly meeting. All women of the parish are reminded that they are all invited to attend these meetings each month.

January 6th the Feast of Epiphany was celebrated with Holy Eucharist at 10:45 at Holy Cross.

Sunday, January 10th the Reverend Victor J. Lovett, assistant minister at St. James, Detroit, will have charge of the 11:15 a.m. Service at Holy Cross. The Reverend Leslie Harding will be at St. Stephens Church in Hamburg for the annual meeting.

Sunday, January 10th at 6 p.m. the annual vestry meeting will be held at Holy Cross with a planned potluck dinner. Co-chairmen for this event are Mrs. George Athas and Mrs. Ruth Ann Zimmer.

Please sign up in the Narthex of the church for the dish you plan to bring to the dinner. It is also necessary for members of the church to sign up to take charge of the coffee hour, stating the Sunday you wish to serve, on the bulletin board.

Anyone wishing to place flowers on the altar is asked to contact Mrs. Tank at 349-0878.

Organization Receives Grant

A local literary organization "WIND: Mid-West," has been designated as the recipient of a $4,500 matching grant from the Coordinating Council of Literary Magazines (CCLM) in New York, according to CCLM director Caroline Rand Herrod.

The grant, which is one of the largest in CCLM history, was awarded to "WIND: Mid-West" on the basis of a project feasibility study chaired by WIND director Ron F. Bodnar of West Seven Mile Road.

"The grant, which has a cumulative value of $9,000, will make Northville the home city of a seven state distribution system for Mid-West literary publications," Bodnar said.

WIND is seeking the additional financing necessary for the project from the art councils of each of the seven states involved Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The Michigan Council for the Arts (MCA) will discuss "WIND: Mid-West" and support of the project at its January meeting which will be held in Ann Arbor at the home of Chairman Donald Hall. Hall, a contemporary American poet, is professor of English at the University of Michigan.

Bodnar, former editor of the Clare Sentinel in Clare, is also editor of "Overflow" magazine, a quarterly publication of literature and art with an international circulation.

"WIND: Mid-West" is currently arranging offices in Northville, Bodnar commented.

JOHN A. HANNA

Funeral services were held Saturday for John A. Hanna, 75, of Plymouth, who died December 29 at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after a year's illness.

Mr. Hanna, who was born in Northville June 5, 1895, to Harry and Della Hanna, lived in the community for 45 years until 1940. He at one time worked for the Village of Northville Department of Public Works.

The Reverend Cedric Whitcomb of Northville First Baptist Church officiated at the service at Casterline Funeral Home. Interment was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Hanna leaves a son, Clifford, of Plymouth; a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Kelley of Clearwater, Florida; a sister, Mrs. Julie Matheson of Northville; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

MRS. ALBERT E. JONES, JR.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Northville First Presbyterian Church for Mrs. Edith Earnley Jones, 78, mother of Albert E. Jones III of Northville and wife of Albert E. Jones, Jr., of Holland, Michigan.

Mrs. Jones died December 23 at Zeeland, Michigan, after an illness of six months. The Reverend George Jerome is to officiate at the memorial service. Interment is in Woodmere Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Jones was born in Detroit in 1892. She was married January 25, 1922.

In addition to her husband and son in Northville, she leaves two other sons, Philip E. of Grand Rapids and Bill D. of Chardon, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Gaulka of Beverly Hills, California, and Mrs. Edwin S. Hanna of LaJolla, California; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by two sisters.

Two Receive WMU Degrees

Two Western Michigan University students from Northville were among the 1,360 graduates to receive diplomas at the fall commencement ceremony at WSU recently.

They are: Patricia Diane Moase of 436 Randolph Street, who received a bachelor of science degree and a secondary certificate, and James R. Weidner of 18603 Jamestown Circle, who received a bachelor of Science Degree.

In the ceremony at Read Field House on the campus, six students also received doctoral degrees and 61 seniors were recognized as honors graduates.

Local Student Takes Part In Experiment

Twenty Michigan Tech University students, including one from Northville, took an active part in nuclear reactor laboratory work December 21-23 at Argonne National Laboratory near Chicago.

The annual trip is conducted by the MTU Department of Physics and financial assistance from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and Argonne. The students performed four experiments related to nuclear power. In three of them each had several opportunities to operate the reactor under supervision.

Participating from Northville was Richard L. Davis II, a junior majoring in mechanical engineering, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Davis of 40440 Cambridge Drive.

The group's fourth experiment was at the fuel technology center, where they made a reactor fuel element out of uranium and aluminum. After rolling the element into a flat plate they cut it into sections for microscopic examination of construction quality.

This experiment also enabled students to visit the plutonium fuel facility and the "hot cells," which are rooms for experimenting with extremely radioactive material. Operators viewed their work through windows while standing behind thick concrete walls. All operations were done with remote mechanical fingers. The visiting Michigan Tech students matched skills with the Argonne operators in such exercises as putting a lid on a bottle.

The director of the field trip was Donald A. Daavetila, assistance professor of nuclear engineering.

Witness Set Assembly Plans

Jehovah's Witnesses from 16 congregations in Southeastern Michigan are beginning to make plans to attend a semi-annual circuit assembly in Milan, Michigan, on January 15-17.

The assembly will be held at the Milan High School beginning at 6:45 Friday evening and continuing through Sunday when the keynote speech of the event will be given at 3 in the afternoon.

Mr. A. Laguna, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses for this section of Michigan, will be discussing the thought-provoking subject, "Who Will conquer the World in the 1970's?"

Following the assembly theme, "The Word of God Is Alive" taken from Hebrews 4:12, many preparations are being made by participating delegates. With the world conditions causing many people to believe God is dead and that his word the Bible is obsolete, the many factual points to be brought out during the assembly, should prove very faith-strengthening to all in attendance.

Mr. John J. Badalutz, presiding minister of the Plymouth Congregation, North Unit, said that an estimated 160 delegates from Northville and Plymouth are expected to attend this Christian reunion.

J. A. CASWELL

Caswell Picked For V-P Post

J. A. (Army) Caswell has been named vice president, general sales manager for the Gulf+Western Automotive and Appliance Manufacturing (GWAAM) Division, it was announced by Leo W. Ladehoff, president. He was formerly sales manager. His office is located at 17500 Northland Park Court, Southfield, Michigan.

Before joining GWAAM in 1964, Caswell was associated with the Hardy Division of Sheller-Globe. Prior to that he was with Grand Rapids Brass, now Crampton Manufacturing, one of the GWAAM Companies.

A native of Rockford, Michigan, he attended Grand Rapids Junior College and the University of Michigan. He is a Korean War Veteran and was also in the Merchant Marine. A resident of Northville, he is married and has four children.

A major manufacturer of auto bumpers, plastic and zinc decorative components, and lamps, the GWAAM Division is one of the three operating groups of the Grand Rapids based G+W Industrial Products Company. The other operating groups are the E. W. Bliss Company and the Taylor-Bonney Division.

Daichendt Elected To Board of Directors

The election of John G. Daichendt, Controller, to the board of directors has been announced by Robert H. Carey, president of Thompson-Brown Company, developer-builder-real estate firm headquartered in Farmington.

A member of the company since 1967 Daichendt previously was employed by Price, Waterhouse and Co. in both its Windsor and Detroit offices.

A native of Windsor, Ontario, Canada, Daichendt is a member of the National Association of Accountants, the Certified Public Accountants Association of Ontario, Canada, the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, and the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario. He also is an Associate Member of the Detroit Real Estate Board.

He earned his Bachelor of Commerce Honors degree in Business Administration at Assumption University.

Thompson-Brown Company founded in 1924 has grown from a firm initially interested in land development to its presently recognized stature as a national leader in its field of development-building-real estate. It provides land development, construction, marketing and management services for investors and owners of real estate.

Thompson-Brown currently has five residential single-family subdivisions, and apartment townhouses, and condominium projects in various stages of development in Farmington, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Clinton, Rochester, Northville, Romulus and Monroe. It has its own Used Residential Sales Division with offices in Farmington, Plymouth and Dearborn Heights.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Community planning is frequently a short-changed commodity. Few question its importance, but still fewer accept its role in a practical sense.

Planners are considered to be dreamers; planning and study committee reports once completed are almost ignored (accepted and filed, is the popular term).

But such is not always the case. Sometimes dreams do come true; sometimes plans are practical and do give birth to action.

More than a decade ago planners in Northville decided that open space areas were destined for extinction if something were not done by the local government to provide for land preservation.

So the provision of park, recreation and just plain nature areas became an important part of the Master Plan, which was far better known for its controversial ingredients, such as a "mall" and the "CBD".

About this time zoning regulations were also modernized to provide for the introduction of open space areas within the developments of major subdivisions.

And later, perhaps a year ago, a citizens' study committee reiterated the need for parks and open space areas and even pin-pointed specific site locations.

After the planning comes the initiation of the ideas. Usually this is where the failure occurs. Money is needed, public opinion becomes an important factor, and concurrence at the governing body level must be achieved.

In Northville it would appear that all the parts of the planning puzzle have fallen into place insofar as providing open space areas for the future is concerned.

This week the city completed negotiations to acquire a heavily-wooded site in the Maplewood-Hill street area that will remain just as it is, rolling terrain covered with trees.

In its pursuit of open space the city has also acquired two acres northwest of the corner of Main and Rogers streets; it is negotiating a lease for a park area near the Michigan Bell sub station on North Center street; it holds a lease on the Ford Field property and is attempting to expand its interest in this area; it is reserving two acres of open space area at Allen drive near Novi road; it has joined with the township in the development of the Seven Mile road fish hatchery property for recreation and nature study purposes; it owns Joe Denton park at Seven Mile and Thayer; it has preserved its own "city hall park"; it owns the Scout-Recreation building on Cady street with its open area at the rear; and it is seeking to acquire another site near Carpenter and Baseline for park purposes.

In addition the city is seriously and doggedly pursuing the acquisition of some 200 acres of Maybury property for recreation and the preservation of one of the community's most beautiful nature areas.

Taxpayers frequently, and often justifiably, criticize their elected officials for what they have or have not done. And this column is not hesitant to join in the criticism.

Here, however, we have a case where we cannot say, "the city should have" ...it has.

And in the future when development reaches its maximum residents of the city of Northville will still have breathing room within the confines of their own community.

There may be changes. A development that could hold outstanding opportunities for the entire area might seek to acquire some portion of city-owned land. But if this should happen, Northville will find itself in a wonderful bargaining position.

It has committed itself to a program of open space preservation and it would not part with this possession for less than an equal trade.

Congratulations to the planners, the study committee members and the council.

They have proved that planning can be practical and that dreams do come true.

Speaking for Myself

Who is Your Man of The Year?

Wow! Who said compiling a list of the 10 most popular nominees for the Man of The Year title would be easy?

Originally, we hoped to list in order your 10 most popular choices. But staffers in Northville, Novi-Wixom, South Lyon, and Brighton had to telephone or visit on-the-street a total of 111 people to achieve just 40 responses (10 from each of the four areas). Most people had "no idea" who should be nominated, or they simply did not care to reply, or they felt no one deserved the title.

While the number of women replying was greater than for men, the latter generally responded quicker. Women, on the other hand, had to "think awhile" to come up with a choice.

Of the 40 responses, only three nominees could be declared winners. Three others tied for the fourth spot. Altogether 25 different nominations were made.

The top three and the representative reasons for their nominations are:

1. President Richard Nixon (7 votes), "because he has performed so well, lived up to his promises, and has overcome many obstacles."

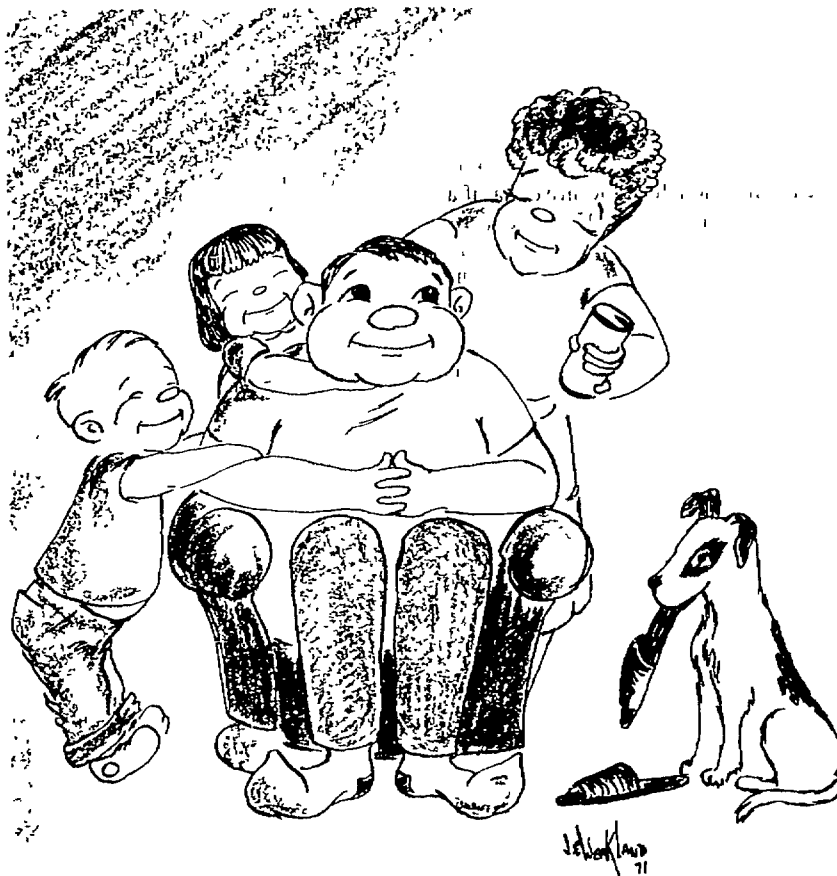

2. Vice-President Spiro Agnew (5 votes), "because of his rhetoric, his unhesitancy in speaking his mind, and because you know where he stands."

3. Apollo 13 Astronauts (3 votes), "because of their bravery, safe return, and their success even though the flight was aborted."

The three who tied for fourth place with two votes each were:

Governor William Milliken, "because he has done a good job;" Detroit Lions Coach Joe Schmidt, "because of his role in changing the image and the standing of the Detroit Lions;" and Ralph Nader, "because he contributed so much for the public's welfare."

Maybury Action Defies Common Sense

by Jack W. Hoffman

Detroit officials have donned their blinders again and, just as they insisted on the recent "give-away" of equipment and materials at Maybury Sanatorium, they now are equally adamant that the one-and-a-third square miles of land must be sold in one chunk.

It matters not, apparently, that another mistake is in the making.

Readers of this newspaper will recall it wasn't too long ago that Detroit's surplus property officials ignored common sense and offered for sale at private auction enough equipment to handsomely furnish a good size hospital.

A local physician, who volunteers his time at one of Detroit's medical clinics having next to no equipment, was understandably angry. Hospital equipment and furniture went for nickles and dimes. Valuable X-ray equipment that any Detroit clinic could use was gobbled up for a fraction of its worth.

For their short-sighted efforts, officials netted Detroit's uninvented residents something like $13,000.

Today the once internationally acclaimed institution, located in Northville Township, is stripped naked.

And the same people who engineered the recent fiasco are now ignoring pleas from all quarters that all or at least part of the property be used for recreational purposes and they are inviting bids from developers for the entire one-and-a-third square mile Maybury site. Even in defending their action they acknowledge that "it would be nice" to use the land as a park. But, they argue, Detroit must sell the property for $3 million or more to offset some of its debts.

That Detroit has the right and reason for selling the land is acknowledged.

However, we question the simple-minded logic that completely ignores the long-standing offer of the City of Northville to PURCHASE at market value 200 acres or more of the land for a park.

For nearly two years now, two Detroit administrations have known of Northville's interest in utilizing part of the land for a park. For more than a year Detroit has known of Northville's offer to purchase the property at a figure of some $3,000 per acre. And for more than a year its officials — council members and surplus property officials — steadfastly assured this newspaper that Northville's offer was being seriously considered.

Then, suddenly, the institution's equipment and materials were sold at private auction to which neither the citizens of Detroit nor the municipalities of Northville were invited. Equally sudden and without justifiable reason Northville's standing offer to purchase was tossed aside and the property was put on the block in one chunk.

Only those offers to purchase the entire site will be considered.

Surplus property officials argue that a single purchaser will net Detroit more money just as

The remaining 19 nominees, each of whom received one vote, ranged from Golda Meir, prime minister of Israel ("because she is doing an outstanding job"), to "my husband" ("because he has put up with me for 12 years").

Others included:

Canada's Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, "because he put his foot down on something that he thought was bad"; the poor taxpayer, "because he is caught in the middle of high taxes and inflation"; England's Prime Minister Edward Heath, "because he seems to be taking one of the more daring steps";

Lloyd Bucher, commander of the ill-fated spy ship, "because he held the morale of his men together under adverse conditions"; Denny McLain, "because he is an example to our youth as to what can happen if you abuse your opportunities"; the American serviceman, "because he is the real man of the year";

Walter Cronkite, "because he gives the news objectively"; Harry Reasoner, "because he has a nice personality and I enjoy listening to his news presentations"; New York Mayor John Lindsay, "because I like the things he's doing for the middle class"; the surgeon general's office, "for taking cigarette ads off television";

Santa Claus, "because he did a beautiful job this year"; George Wallace, "because he's a man who knows what's right with America"; Chief Justice Warren Burger, "because he has changed the philosophy of the Supreme Court and stabilized its thinking"; and Gordie Howe, "because he is still able to play hockey".

Finally, three local area citizens were nominated: Wixom's Ron Parvu, "because of all the work he put in and the excellent job he did on the centennial"; Novi's Paul Bosco, "because he donated land for playgrounds and ballfields"; and South Lyon's Ray Braun, "because he's a nice businessman."

State Hospital Says Thanks to Friends

To the Record:

As the Christmas Season comes to a close, we at Northville State Hospital wish to express our appreciation to community friends, both old and new, who generously assisted us so each of our forgotten and indigent in-patients, those on Family Care, and those in County Referral Placement homes were remembered. The contributions of others into our Patient Benefit — Christmas Fund were equally important, for that Fund is a real bulwark for treatment and care needs not covered by our basic budget.

The responses to our many calls to employee and church groups, anxious to be of assistance, certainly will be remembered. We were encouraged by the genuine willingness of others to share and to be concerned, which to us is the true meaning and heart of Christmas.

Sincerely,
Louis J. Schultdt, CVC

Meanwhile, Northville City Manager Frank Ollendorff requested but was refused a hearing before the common council. Council consideration of the matter was to be made in an informal meeting to which outsiders were not invited, he was told. But by the time the council met formally the decision had already been made to sell the property in one chunk, and officials said sale of a portion of the land to Northville for a park was impossible.

So there you have it. While

...Northville's two congressmen have jointly requested the Northville fish hatchery property, soon to be declared surplus property, offered to the city and township for use as a recreation site.

...A 16-year-old, Plymouth boy is dead and two of his companions seriously injured in a hospital this week. They were victims of an auto crash that ended a wild race through Northville with a police car in pursuit in the early morning hours Saturday. The chase ended on Eight Mile road on the east side of the old Novi Road overpass, the boys' car careening out of control, raking the guard rail as it descended the grade and then flipping and rolling for 330 feet, hurting the boys out.

TEN YEARS AGO...

...At the request of the Northville Police department, Oakland County put up a warning sign at the Novi road approach to the curve near Eight Mile Road cutoff where recently two automobiles rolled over and into the ditch. The speed limit was reduced from 40 to 25 miles per hour.

...Invitations to area doctors of osteopathy to bring their patients to Community General hospital were issued this week at the order of the hospital's board of directors. The decision came as the Northville hospital struggled to keep its doors open until a definite program to determine the future of the facility can be outlined.

...A six-month study conducted at the request of the school board recommended that the district cut administrative costs and pay teachers higher salaries.

...Construction of the new First Methodist Church steeple is well underway and is expected to be completed within three months.

...A safe containing more than $1,000 and several bottles of narcotics was stolen from the Novi Drug store, less than two months after thieves made off with close to $900 at the same store. The latest theft touched off a state-wide investigation by State police and Novi police.

Letter Home Relates Experiences

Martin Studies in Yugoslavia

Frank Martin is certain to remember always where he spent his 21st birthday on December 8 - in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, where he's attending the University of Zagreb on a government-sponsored program through the University of Portland, Oregon.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Martin, 20173 Whipple, admits that "it's a bit lonely out here," and that Thanksgiving was "bad" and that Christmas was "going to be worse."

In his recent letter home, however, Frank points out that there are bright spots as the American consulate "has invited us over for dinner . . . but it would be nice to get mad at my nephews and nieces as usual."

Actually, Frank, who is a graduate of Cranbrook, was delighted to be chosen to participate in the four-year-old program and was one of 19 selected from 50 applicants, his mother notes. This is the largest group to be sent on the government program to date.

Martin became aware of the program while a student at Reed College in Portland. As a language major, Frank's year in Yugoslavia will be his junior college year for which he should receive full credit. He is studying German and Russian as well as Croatian.

In a long letter to bring his family up to date on his experiences, Frank makes observations on the country and its people. Speaking of his studies, he writes:

"Students, unlike in the United States, are a privileged class. They realize that in their social-economic position, education is their most important investment. People like students. People try to help students. Students can get discounts in all sorts of cultural life, in public transport, in food, to name just a few of the different areas. The state offers low-interest loans to anyone who wants them with the added incentive that if a student maintains a '95 percent' or better average, he doesn't have to pay back a cent, and 90-95 percent (average) only about 50 percent.

"There is universal conscription, but everyone is allowed until the age of 28 to finish all of their schooling. Think about that for a minute.

"Whatever you call the government of Yugoslavia, at least they have more sense than to destroy people's educations by yanking them out of grad school and sending them off to the Army. (A hitch in the Yugoslav army also lasts two years. Since there are bases near most of the large cities, soldiers have the option to serve near home and sometimes even can go home on weekends.)

"The university system is good. Their schools are similar to what I believe U.S. schools used to be like when you graduated, Dad. That is that you knew a subject after four years. Within the last 20 years we've developed this idea that everyone should go to college. As a result, the standards have gone down. The school itself is probably reminiscent of schools a generation ago in the U.S. in its customs. Faculty members are highly respected, and addressed by their titles. The students are expected to rise when they enter the room.

FRANK MARTIN

"The one place where the faculty is vastly different from its American counterparts is in sports. Here athletics are a thing apart and have nothing to do with school."

Martin goes into detail about the Yugoslav sports.

"Since I brought up sports I might mention they make up an important part of the average Yugoslav's life. On the soccer fields they play out all of the regional hostilities they feel. Zagreb's team is known as Dinamo. They are surprisingly like the Tigers in the way they play against non-Serbian home teams. Against Serbs they play dirty, and against foreigners they play superbly. I saw them play the Germans in a European cup match. WWII all over again - but the Yugoslavs came out on top this time. (In passing I might mention that Yugoslavia is a strong contender for the next World Cup, so the quality of the ball played here is high.

About the people, Martin writes: "Yugoslavs tend to be tall, and in general large people. I know many girls who are 5' 9" or taller. I am just about average height for the boys. The young people tend to be slim, fit and good looking . . . Yugoslavs are darker than Americans, but, the Croatians are not as dark as the average American-Italian. The predominant hair color is brown, about as dark as Mom, or maybe slightly darker, and with a strong bit of red. Blond hair is not uncommon, although it is usually accompanied by brown eyes. Light hair is very favorable so many women dye their hair, but I would guess that a minimum of five percent of the Croatians have blond hair. Many of these people are of Slovenian background. The Slovenes are very fair. Blue eyes are rare, but far from non-existent.

Croatians have a very distinct appearance. Their faces tend to be square when seen from in front.

Historically, Croats are South-Slavs (as are all of Yugoslavia's Slavic people) who came from the north and east. They were already a distinct group ethnically and linguistically when written records began. At the time of the creation of the kingdom of Croatia there were four dialects of what we call "serbo-Croatian."

He points out that the invasion of the Turks in the 1400's and subsequent movements and fighting produced waves of migration that today make "dialect maps look like modern art."

He writes: "Pockets of dialects are scattered everywhere. A town of 500 people speaks exactly like people 300 miles away, but differently from people outside of town. People on an island speak just like an isolated inland village, but differently from people on shore.

"(Note however that diversity rather than uniformity is the rule in languages. Yugoslavia's problem is not unusual. This is difficult for English-speaking people to understand because we speak one of the most uniform languages on earth. Thank you lucky stars!)

"This is a point of departure for my next point. If a pocket of 500 people speaking one language has lived for hundreds of years amid another one, why isn't it absorbed? That is probably the greatest problem facing Yugoslavia. Mechanically, Serbian and Croatians are dialects of the same language. But for 50 years they have been part of the same political unit without converging at all.

"There is a fundamental difference that separates them. It can be traced to the cultures which are highly different.

"Yugoslavs are free to do just about as they please. They've always been great travellers. In the olden days, it was the national dream to work on a sailing ship and to sail around the world visiting exotic places. To a great extent this still holds true today. It is not difficult to get a passport. The greatest problem is money. You can only take a small sum in dinars out of the country, and it is difficult to change them into foreign currency within the country. If you can find a loophole in the problem, you're free to go.

"You are free even encouraged to start a private business. Again, the biggest problem is obtaining capital. Businesses employing up to 10 people are allowed. There are, however, strict rules on profit-sharing and management to avoid possible exploitation of employees."

His Yugoslav address is Gospodin Buneta, Za Frank Martin, Vinicka Ulica 12, Zagreb Hrvatska, Yugoslavia.

Schoolcraft Repeats Pre-College Counseling

The results are in: Schoolcraft's first class in pre-college counseling for men and women turned out to be a big success. And, it will be offered again during the winter semester starting in February.

The Major gains reported by those taking the class under counselors Robert Burnside and William Heise has been increased self-confidence and better understanding of their strengths and goals. Many report they will now enroll in classes at the college, some indicating they've chosen specific career goals.

Enthusiasm for the class which met two hours weekly for eight weeks ran high. "I'm a walking public relations person for the class," Mrs. Richard Smith of Garden City said during a recent evaluation session. "I know so many people who could use this course. I tell all about it and carry my course materials everywhere."

According to Burnside, the course gives adults an opportunity to explore returning to school after being out for any number of years. The atmosphere is informal, positive, and supportive, designed solely to help class members get the kinds of information and direction they need before deciding to return to school.

"It helps put an end to fears anyone might have after being out of school a long time," Burnside said.

Many are helped simply by talking things over with other members of the class. "I think the course description should say something about developing self-confidence through group discussion," commented Mrs. Gene Chapoton of Livonia.

Mrs. Chapoton said the discussions provide a feeling of "being at home," a feeling one might not gain as readily without the course.

Looking back over her eight weeks in the course Mrs. James Woodcock of Garden City observed, "I thought the class would be nothing but test taking and homework - we've had little of either."

Nearly all who completed an evaluation form covering the class felt it had helped them understand themselves better and others. The class helped them realize they do have control over their lives and plans. It also helped increase their awareness that many share similar problems.

Another class strength was described by Mrs. Charles Worthington of Livonia who said, "the class was allowed to progress at its own rate. You felt comfortable being here."

A number of general and specific educational goals have been set by those completing the pre-college course. One said she would take a class during the winter semester and decide later about which career area to pursue.

Another plans to enroll in either an English or psychology class to see how it goes, then later turn to special education at the elementary level. Still another will take political science during the winter semester, and possibly start on a nursing program next September.

Counselors Burnside and Heise are looking forward to their new class which gets underway February 23. No credit or grades are given, and a $10 registration is charged. Enrollment information is available from Mrs. Lois Collins, 591-6400, extension 264. Interested persons should call early as the class will be limited to the first 30 who enroll.

earlier agreement with the city for the residential development of its property northwest of the corner represents a breach of faith.

Too much work in previous years, by both city officials and Thompson-Brown, went into preparing the planned unit development, they and others argued. To kill that planning now, said Gazlay, would be unconscionable.

The commission's planning consultant, Ronald Nino, reported that his firm's study of the area indicated that a service station, on the basis of present and future population, is warranted; that in view of the adjacent land uses the commercial service development would not jeopardize property values; and that since both Eight Mile and Taft are slated to become major thoroughfares the merit of a station at the corner is logical.

Nino added that while the subject of appearance and site location of the station building was not an issue before the commission at this time, the commission does have some control over this matter. A service station properly situated, buffered, and attractively built, can be profitable, practical, and esthetically pleasing, he said.

In behalf of his firm's request, Joseph Wasie, read a number of requirements Thompson-Brown is making of Marathon in its sales agreement. These, he argued, offered protection from any possible obnoxious storage, sales, odors, noise, etc.

Thompson-Brown, he emphasized, is just as concerned as anyone that the station does not jeopardize its housing development.

Concerning the drainage question, Wasie pointed out that the drain commission itself has not yet decided how it will control water flow but that its engineering representatives have assured Thompson-Brown that the company's responsibility concerns only that water originating on Thompson-Brown property. Location of the station at the corner, he argued, may mean relocation of a holding pond originally suggested on the Thompson-Brown property but this would not lessen the effectiveness of water control.

He said Thompson-Brown did not originally suggest a commercial development at the corner because at the time the city was concerned about the development first of the central business district. Since then, however, rezoning for office buildings across the street (east side of Taft) and erection of the Boron station changed the character of the area.

Northville Hockey Teams Split Four over Weekend

IN VAIN — The Dearborn Steel Tankers skated hard against Northville's F.O.E. Squirts Saturday but for naught as the rampaging Eagles blanked Dearborn 3-0. The home team held off several attacks like the one above to notch the victory.

Northville Hockey Association teams split last weekend as the Squirts and Midgets posted victories in the 8-10 and 14-16 year-old divisions, and the Pee-Wees and Bantams were tagged with losses in the 11-12 and 12-14 year-old leagues.

The Squirts, sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, shut-out Dearborn's Steel Tankers 3-0 Saturday at Jackson Arena in Jackson, while their seniors, the Thunderbird Inn Midgets, defeated Sunnyside Inn, also from Dearborn, 3-1.

The Pee Wees of Thomson Sand and Gravel lost Saturday to Garden City, 5-4 Sunday the John Mach Ford Bantams traveled to Trenton where they dropped their fifth match in a winless season, 4-0.

In the Squirt game, the F.O.E. led through three periods posting goals in the first and second off the sticks of Tod Mack, Roddy Michael and Greg Thompson. Paul Barrow and Gary Yoder provided assists to the scoring drive. The victory set the Squirt record at 3-4.

Midget Kurt Hoppe turned a second period deficit into a 1-1 tie with an assist from Mike Mallory in the Midget game. Mark Andres gave the Midgets a lead in that same period with assists from Mallory and Dave Bingham. Hoppe iced the victory in the third period with assists from Rick Buttery and Chris Thomas. With the win, the Midgets now have a 4-7-1 record.

In the Pee-Wee game the local squad fell behind in the second period, 3-2, but came on strong in the final period holding Garden City to five goals while they steamed ahead with two, missing a final tie by one point, 5-4. Their record is 3-6-1.

Goals in that game were netted by Kevin Stelmach, Bob Michael, Dave Beall and Kirk Mack.

Other hockey action is on tap Saturday as the Pee Wees meet Jackson and the Midgets go against West Dearborn on Jackson ice.

WHERE'S IT AT — F.O.E. Squirt Gary Yoder knows the puck is down there maybe he can even see it over Dearborn defenseman Jim Stepioff's head — but getting at it is another problem. Yoder worked with Paul Barrow in Saturday's match to provide an assist to Tod Mack's first period goal which set the Squirts on the road to a 3-0 shutout over the Steel Tankers at Jackson Sports Arena.

Win College's First Tourney

Schoolcraft Cagers Shine

Schoolcraft College cagers waded through two nights of action to emerge with first place in its own holiday tournament last week.

First edition of this annual event, the Schoolcraft College Christmas Basketball Tournament, hosted teams from Northwestern Michigan College, Traverse City, Lansing Community College, and Washtenaw Community College.

Schoolcraft laid the groundwork for its championship by trouncing Northwestern 105-64 in the opener. John Jetchick, a 6' guard in his freshman year, from Livonia Stevenson, led the attack with 18 points, while teammates Rod Shafer and Jeff Taylor followed with 15 each.

Schoolcraft played a full court, man to man press from the opening gun, and led throughout the game.

Schoolcraft iced its title the following night (Tuesday) as Jetchick again led the hosting club (this time with 21 points), which defeated Washtenaw Community, 96-64.

Tom Rancoli, Schoolcraft's head basketball coach, switched his tactic Tuesday night to a zone press and received strong support from Shafer and Desmond Denham who pumped in 19 and 16 points, respectively.

Shafer and Jetchick were the two Schoolcraft players chosen as all-tournament guards Gino Baldino, from Lansing, also made guard, while Mike Mezzano, from Northwestern, and Robert Cummings from Washtenaw, were chosen all-tournament centers.

Schoolcraft, which was slated for league action against Highland Park Community College Tuesday, travels to Washtenaw Community tomorrow for a league game and then hosts Cleveland's Cuyahoga Community College in non-league action Saturday.

College Notches 4th Mat Victory

Schoolcraft Community College notched its fourth victory in as many matches December 18 as wrestlers defeated hosting Southwestern Community College, 30-7, in a contest marked by decisions.

The squad's only fall was engineered by Randy Marburg in the 167-pound class.

Other pre-Christmas action put Schoolcraft in Ypsilanti in the Michigan Collegiate Tournament.

Eastern Michigan University, hosts for the event, took first place honors with a team score of 93. In second place was University of Michigan, 83; followed by Central Michigan, 58; the Michigan Wrestling Club, 25; and Muskegon Community College, 22.

Schoolcraft finished sixth with 19, above Western Michigan and Wayne State Universities.

Third place honors were taken in that meet by Tim Ottewill at 190 pounds and Bernie Wells at 126 pounds.

The local squad travels to Delta College in Bay City January 8 for its next regularly scheduled meet.

Mustangs Host Double Header

Mustang fans will be given a two-for-one treat tonight (Thursday) as Northville hosts Bloomfield Andover on the mat and Dearborn Riverside in the pool, Athletic Director Robert Kucher has announced.

"Spectators will be admitted to both events for one fee," said Kucher. The swimmers take to the water at 7, while the wrestling contest begins at 6:30.

Admission will be the regular charge: 50 cents for students and $1 for adults

Dan Dixon Places Tenth at Owosso

Dan Dixon 60650 Nine Mile Road finished 10th in a recent 25 lap consolation snowmobile race at the Owosso Speedway.

Competition was held on a one-half mile banked stock car oval track at the speedway.

TOTAL LOSS—This Salem Township barn, owned by the vacationing E. W. Porath and located at 6500 Five Mile (between Pontiac Trail and Tower roads) was termed a total loss by Salem firemen following this blaze last week Wednesday. Eight steers housed in the 50 x 30 barn were evacuated safely by neighbor Curtis Hamilton after he discovered the blaze at 4:15 p.m. Farm manager and volunteer fireman Oscar Hirth said he thought the conflagration was triggered by a short in the barn's water heater at about 3:30 p.m. Salem and Whitmore Lake firemen battled the fire until 11:30. A total summer's work — 2,000 bales of straw and 5,000 bales of hay — was destroyed. No estimate of financial loss was available at press time.

Two Face Extortion Charges

Mealbach and the guard went back to the station and when the sheriff's deputies arrived, Mealbach and Buttigie were turned over to the deputies, taken to the sheriff's department and booked on charges of trespassing.

Lopez and Prather said they went back onto the property about 30 minutes after they had escaped, in order to find Mealbach and Buttigie. They testified they were afraid Mealbach and Buttigie might have been injured by the shots they had heard earlier.

The two said they were caught by the guards while they were driving around the property and were taken to the guards' station where John and David Gambee said they would let them go if they each paid $5, the youths testified. The youths said they paid the guards $5 and were released.

Both also testified Prather was given a slip of paper with the phone number of Maybury Sanatorium on it and both were told they could "come back anytime, but call ahead of time."

The slip of paper with the phone number on it was admitted into court as evidence.

Prather and Lopez said they then left the Maybury property and went to the sheriff's department to bail out Mealbach and Buttigie but the two had already left. Lopez and Prather said they then went home.

According to a spokesman for the court, the Wayne County Sheriff's Department investigated the case and sought the warrants for extortion against the two guards. Warrant recommendations were approved by the prosecutor on Wednesday, December 30, court officials said.

No date has been set for arraignment.

Drug Clinic Scheduled

The West County Office, Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity, in conjunction with the South Lyon and Novi mothers' group will sponsor a demonstration of different varieties of narcotics Tuesday, January 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the Sayre Elementary School gym, 23000 Valerie Street, South Lyon.

Cpl. Robert Starnes, Novi Narcotics officer, will display and explain a drug kit. There will be a question and answer period as well as a panel discussion by community resource people on what is being done to combat drugs in Oakland County. The purpose of the program is to inform parents and make them aware of various drugs that are available to their children.

The public is invited to attend the meeting. For further information, contact Community Aid LaVern Frances or Supervisor Billie Battle at 349-6200.

Birth

From East Greenwich, Rhode Island, comes news of the birth of a daughter to Dr. and Mrs. John DaSilva on December 11. Mrs. DaSilva is the former Judy Nauman. Named Nicole Lee, the baby weighed eight pounds, seven ounces at birth and is the couple's first child.

Maternal grandmother, Mrs. Philip Nauman, 21831 Connemara, flew east to spend the Christmas holiday with the DaSilvas.

Schoolcraft Instructor Helps Veterans Continue Education

In many ways, servicemen returning from Vietnam have become the unknown and forgotten soldiers of their day. But there's a college instructor in Livonia who thinks they deserve better — and he's doing something about it.

Raymond L. Naslund teaches accounting at Schoolcraft College. He also serves as faculty advisor to the Michigan Association of Collegiate Veterans (MACV), with chapters on the Schoolcraft campus and 25 other colleges and universities across the state.

According to Naslund, the primary concern of MACV is to get a veteran into school following his return from service.

One of its originators when MACV was formed last May, Naslund says its potential membership is 23,000. That's the number of veterans currently taking classes on Michigan campuses.

"We are concerned about these men," he said, "and the nearly 200,000 Vietnam veterans residing within the state." He cites Veteran's Administration estimates that 3,000 men a month are returning to civilian life in Michigan.

"We need to give special help to the 34,000 who didn't complete high school before answering their country's call," Naslund continued, "and the 100,000 or so who are from economically depressed homes deserve special consideration."

The help Naslund and MACV propose for these veterans would be in the form of a State G.I. Education Bill. The bill would provide greatly expanded educational opportunity for returning servicemen by paying their tuition and book costs at any state-supported college of their choice.

Naslund has been throughout the state enlisting support for the plan. He met with and earned the endorsement of the Allied Commanders Council in Lansing early in December. Not only did he win their support, the 14 state service organization commanders at the meeting adopted the education bill as their priority legislative item for 1971.

Naslund said Governor William Milliken will be asked to provide funds for the bill in his budget requests for fiscal 1971-72. Its cost is estimated at $23 million the first year.

Naslund points out that both World War II and Korean veterans have received lump sum bonuses from the state, but nothing has been done for those serving during the present conflict in Vietnam.

There is a national G.I. Bill which compensates veterans up to $175 monthly if they are full-time students. "But this is far short of what it actually costs," according to Naslund. "For example, a year at the University of Michigan costs a minimum of $2,800. This means the returning veteran must come up with $1,000 on his own."

Officers and directors of MACV represent eight institutions of higher education. Its president is Jack Wacker of Wayne State University. Ramon Robinson, Highland Park Community College, is vice president; Dennis Bogue, Western Michigan University is secretary, and Thom Miller, Ferris State University, treasurer.

The Board of Directors includes the officers, and representatives from Schoolcraft, Michigan State University, Genesee Community College and Ferris.

Since helping to organize MACV, Naslund has logged thousands of travel miles at his own expense in behalf of the association.

He was an Army ski trooper four years during WW II in the European Theater. Now married and in his forties, he has a daughter in her sophomore year at Western Michigan University. The family resides on Golfview Drive in Livonia.

Naslund holds a bachelor degree from Ferris and a master's from Central Michigan University. He is in his fifth year on the Schoolcraft faculty. Before that he worked in private industry as an accountant.

Besides his career commitment to education and his special interest in promoting better opportunity for veterans, Naslund sees a very real gain for the country through efforts like his.

"Studies have shown that WW II vets who went to school under the G.I. Bill have increased their earning power 38 times," he said. "This means they are supporting their families better, paying more taxes, and enjoying economic independence in their own behalf."

"Can we do less than provide equal opportunity for our men returning from Vietnam? I think not," Naslund concluded.

Northville Man Stars In TV Commercials

Last Fall when MacManus, John & Adams advertising agency, Bloomfield Hills, began filming Bank of the Commonwealth's new "Bank One" television ad campaign, the decision was made to use bank executives rather than professional actors in the 60 and 30-second commercials.

Rehearsals, bright lights, and speaking parts were new to the people whose forte is checks and currency, but today, with three commercials completed, Jack Goodford, the director, says the bankers respond to the camera like seasoned actors and actresses. As a contingency, during the shooting of a recent commercial, two professional actors were on the set all day long, but were never needed.

Among bank officials appearing in the commercials is Louis E. Yeager, assistant cashier in the bank's Master Charge Department. Yeager, a Northville resident, lives at 18103 Pinebrook Drive.

The first TV commercial, made in October, included 81 of the bank's personnel. The theme, "Bank One," emphasizes that Bank of the Commonwealth is "not the biggest, just the first."

Subsequent commercials have explained why the Commonwealth considers itself "Bank One." The second commercial featured the bank's Maxi-Golden Passbook, "the best savings plan in Detroit." The third commercial has the bank people discussing the Commonwealth's "Instant Cash Machine," a 24-hour, seven-day-a-week currency dispensing device which the bank was first to introduce in the midwest.

Club to Hear Discussion On Smut Laws

For the first meeting of 1971, to be held Thursday, January 14, in Fellowship Hall First Presbyterian Church of Northville, the Men's Club will feature members of the Detroit Police Department reporting on pornography.

The report will relate information about laws covering pornography. It will include the strengths and weaknesses of the laws.

Also, the report will delve into the progress that is being made by the police in the field; it will list many of the frustrations which are faced, spokesman said. Ways and means with which the average citizen may assist the police and governmental authorities in combating this social cancer also will be reported.

The meeting will begin with dinner at 6:45 p.m. All men in the greater Northville area are welcome to attend. It is urged that those planning on attending phone their reservations in by Wednesday, January 13, at 349-0911.

Retired Railroader's Simple Idea Could Save Your Life Some Day

George Nicholson of Niles (Michigan) may be "just a retired railroader," but he's a persistent senior citizen who for years has been promoting an idea that could save your life.

It's one of those simple kind of ideas that makes a guy ask himself, "Why didn't I think of that?"

But trying to get people to listen and seriously consider the idea has been no simple matter.

Seventy-two-year old Nicholson has been trying to cut through governmental red tape for nearly a decade. He's hounded governors of all 50 states, buttonholed federal officials, and tried to enlist the help of influential people everywhere.

And now, ironically, as the idea appears to be on the threshold of reality increasing numbers of people are laying claim to it or minimizing it by saying, "it's nothing new; it's been around for years."

"Who cares," says Nicholson, "as long as they use it and it makes our highways safer."

His idea?

Why, just make running taillights of cars green and their stop lights red. That's all.

Nicholson's idea was a natural result of his work on the railroad where the green light tells the engineer that all is okay ahead while the red light means trouble.

But on the highway, where rear-end collisions take a heavy toll of life and limb, all cars offer after dark is a blaze of red lights that tell drivers only that there are cars ahead, he observed shortly after his retirement in 1961.

Taillights of our cars today "mean no more than they did 50 years ago, and are worthless when it comes to a means of communicable signal transference," he wrote to former Governor George Romney years ago. "They mean no more than they always have — merely a car ahead and that is it."

His letter to Romney continued. "The suggestion I submit is this: In place of all our present taillights of red, replace them with green. Leave the brake light and turning signals red as they are now. Now, the only light you would normally see following a string of cars at night would be an array of green taillights."

When the red brake light comes on, his letter continued, the green light goes out and the change signals danger to the driver behind.

"Today, a red light means simply a vehicle ahead and until one gets to it, you don't know whether it is going or coming or standing still..."

"I further suggest that all farm tractors be required to have a flashing lamp of a designated color for farmers use only. This would identify to a motorist that a farm vehicle is ahead and moving slowly, the color of the light conveying this message."

Nicholson also proposed that it be made unlawful to pass an automobile with red taillights showing.

Governor Romney, like nearly 25 of the other 50 governors to whom Nicholson has written, acknowledged receipt of his suggestion. Others either referred him to another department at the federal or state level or simply said it was a meritorious idea and it would be considered.

Most of them liked the idea. Two or three saw problems in it. Governor William Milliken, for example, suggested it might be impractical because of passage of cars across international boundaries. Maine Governor Kenneth M. Curtis said that while the idea "has basic merits", the "recommended change would simply complicate (behavior) response and create additional dangers."

Pennsylvania Governor Raymond P. Shafer's staff, on the other hand, was impressed and had Nicholson's idea included in that state's recommendations to the Federal Highway Administration in Washington, D.C. Others took similar action.

Nicholson had little success with the national news media. A spokesman for The Reader's Digest, for example, replied: "Thank you for your recent letter to Mr. Lewis. You may have a sound case — I suspect you have — but you're convincing the wrong people. Convince the manufacturers and the Department of Transportation and you can get some action. Convince us and you get words."

Actually, until recently that's what Nicholson figured he was getting from everyone — just words.

About a year ago, however, he learned that someone within the Federal Department of Transportation, which had been the target of some of his letters, had suggested the idea of green running lights and that the Highway Administrator was considering amendment of the federal code to incorporate the idea.

Far from being disturbed that an idea he had long promoted was suddenly finding origination elsewhere, Nicholson was elated. "All I care about is safety not who gets credit. Maybe others did have the idea long before I. That's fine."

So early last year he put together a thick brochure containing the bulk of his correspondence from state and federal officials and fired it off to John Volpe, secretary of transportation, to further boost the idea.

Since then he has learned that the green running lights idea is gaining credence.

The Indiana State Highway Commission, for example, has completed a study noting that the color green has about "seven times the visibility of red."

The University of Michigan's Highway Safety Research Institute not long ago completed a study of auto lights and recommended that the running lights be green, turn signals amber and only the "stop" or braking lights be red.

Hamill Manufacturing Company, Inc. of Detroit is working on just such a system.

Secretary Volpe has reported that research studies costing more than one million dollars indicate that major changes in present vehicle lighting and signaling systems, both front and rear, would contribute to a reduction in traffic accidents and resulting deaths and injuries.

These studies by the National Highway Safety Bureau indicate, he said, that improvements in rear lighting and signaling systems might be achieved by color coding and separations of various signaling functions to provide clear and unambiguous signals.

Now that the idea is under official consideration at the federal level, does Nicholson figure his case is closed?

"Oh, no," he chuckles. "It's not finished until they actually make the change. I'll probably go right on writing letters to be sure no one pigeon-holes it someplace and then drops it altogether."

He's more optimistic now but he knows that change doesn't come easy. After all, it's been nearly 10 years since his first letter noted, "It is a small item to put this into effect compared to shooting for the Moon or Mars. Let's shoot at saving lives on the highways..."

Are Red Taillights Effective?

...They're not very effective, says a former railroader who contends that taillights should be green and only stop lights red. Today when rear-end collisions take a heavy toll, all cars offer after dark is a blaze of red lights, says this senior citizen who has an idea that could save your life. (The picture of the wrecked car above was taken from this newspaper's files of past accidents).

1-Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends, neighbors for the beautiful flowers, memorial and the many acts of kindness shown us during the passing of our loved one. Like a ship that's left its moorings and sails bravely out to sea. So someone dear has sailed away in calm serenity. But there's a promise of a greater joy than earth could have in store. For God has planned a richer life beyond the unseen shore.

Our Love to all

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends, neighbors and relatives for the many kind remembrances extended to us during the hospitalization and loss of our loved one. Our appreciation to Dr. Padelford and Dick Phillips for their help and to Rev. Riedesel for his words of comfort.

Vacation the year 'round!

THE LEISURE HOME

Here is the perfect setting for relaxing living. These leisure homes invite relaxation. It's like a year 'round vacation. American Timber uses durable, solid white Cedar to make these homes virtually maintenance-free. We'll erect them in the mountains, in the woods, along your favorite lake or stream, out in the countryside or on the beach. Enjoy the fun life. Discover the art of elegant living. And it can be yours NOW.

This newspaper will arrange for you to receive full information. Write Box 402 in care of The Northville Record, Northville, Michigan 48167, or phone 349-1700 and ask for details to be mailed to you.

State Sales Tax Remains The Best Revenue Producer

LANSING — The state income tax receives the lion's share of attention in consideration of the state's tax structure over the past few years, but the sales tax remains Michigan's best revenue producer.

The four percent charge on all retail sales in the state brought in $738 million in fiscal 1970. In second place was the income tax, which produced $607 million.

This puts Michigan among the majority of states, 34 in all, which rely on sales tax to pull in more revenue than any other.

In 14 states the income tax is the best revenue producer. Two states, New Hampshire and Louisiana, don't receive the most revenue from either of the two taxes. In New Hampshire the motor fuels tax is number one, and in Louisiana a severance tax imposed on all oil and gas drilling is the best winner generator.

THOUGH IT RANKS seventh in size among the states, Michigan was fifth in tax collections for fiscal 1970.

New York was the leader with $6.1 billion in revenues, and California was second with $5.5 billion. Illinois and Pennsylvania were the other two states ahead of Michigan, which pulled in $2.3 billion altogether.

Eleven other states, including neighboring states Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin, were over the $1 billion mark.

Total state revenue collections for all 50 states was $47.9 billion, a 14.9 percent leap from the previous year. Michigan was one of only five states which kept the tax revenue increase below five percent during the fiscal year. Illinois had the biggest income, 48.8 percent, as the result of its adoption of an income tax for the first time.

DAMP WEATHER which prevailed over Michigan this fall had at least one beneficial effect in the fight to protect the environment: it cut down on forest fires.

As a result, according to the Department of Natural Resources, forest fire losses in the state dropped by 110 acres in 1970 to 6,433 acres. A total of 1,386 fires were reported.

Robert J. Compeau, chief of the Department's forest fire division, gives much of the credit for the low toll to "exceptionally wet weather" in the fall which held forest fire damage to only 35 acres from the first week of September through the end of December.

AS IS TRUE in most years, this year's forest fires hit the state hardest during the spring, destroying nearly 5,100 acres by the first week in May, he said. From mid-April through early May, forest fire damage ran about 1,000 acres a week, with most of that toll triggered by careless spring debris burning.

At the end of the forest fire season, losses stood at 994 acres in the upper peninsula, as against 392 acres in 1969.

Losses in the northern lower peninsula totaled 2,951 acres in 756 fires last year compared to 1,491 acres in 450 fires one year earlier. Southern Michigan shows a marked improvement with 218 fires in 1970 compared to 321 fires in 1969.

STATE PUBLIC HEALTH officials are worried about a rapidly increasing number of venereal disease cases in the state.

The latest chart put together by them shows cases of syphilis and gonorrhea tripled from 1959 to 1969, rising from fewer than 6,000 to more than 19,000.

The 1969 figure includes 606 cases of syphilis and 18,534 of gonorrhea.

Dr. Donald Coohon, chief of the Communicable Disease Control Division of the department, said 63 percent of the cases involve young persons under the age of 25.

Coohon said he sees hope that the rate will drop, however, under a new state law which allows persons under 21 to be treated for VD without having their parents notified. Previously, parents had to be notified when their children were treated for a venereal disease and many children didn't get treated because they feared their parents finding out.

Video Player to Emerge in 1971

WHAT COULD prove to be the most important development in entertainment since the advent of color television will begin to emerge in 1971. Several manufacturers — both here and abroad — will introduce video player/recorder units utilizing cassettes or cartridges. Professional, pre-recorded films will be available... initially, in most cases, to educational, institutional, and industrial users as training, instructional, and selling aids.

These devices will allow information to be played through any standard television receiver. Because of the relatively high cost, however, full-blown introduction to the public will not follow until 1972 or 1973. At least a dozen companies, in addition to the three major contenders (CBS, RCA, and Sony) have built models or prototypes.

THREE PRINCIPAL systems have been developed which employ different materials in the playback device.

These are: (1) magnetic tape encapsulated in a cassette; (2) electronically recorded film in a cartridge; and (3) transparent vinyl tape on which images have been laser-beamed. Currently, many of the companies involved with video players are working with the major television manufacturers, on a licensing basis, to produce and market either the recorder, the player, the camera, or the cartridges and cassettes. Besides CBS, RCA and Sony, such well-known companies as Ampex and Avco, and the lesser-known North American Philips, are readying systems for entry in 1971 and 1972.

Since the mid-1960's video-tape camera-player equipment has been available, but at a price out of reach of the public. It took until 1970 before the price dropped by half — to the $750-$900 range. Even so, a mass market is not in prospect this year, especially in view of the cost of the cassettes — around $25 to $30 each. Manufacturers are optimistic, however, that both the player and the cassettes will be more popularly priced within the next few years. Because there are so many types of systems, no standard cassette/cartridge prevails; but the producers are working toward agreement on interchangeable or compatible cassettes for use with any system.

WHILE CONSERVATIVE forecasts place the market for video recorders/players at $1 billion by 1980, more optimistic projections indicate a potential of around $3 billion if cassettes and cartridges are included. Applications abound for this new communications medium. Among possibilities are tapes for the homeowner, the boatowner, the gardener, the sportsman. Educational possibilities include sewing and cooking lessons, manufacturers' instructions for the use and maintenance of large and complicated appliances, as well as more formal home study courses by educational institutions.

A LOOSE LEAF
By ROLLY PETERSON

"For if anything is clear about press-government relationships throughout our history, it is this: in theory, America's leaders have wanted a free and independent press as a check upon government; in practice, they wanted no such thing."

With these words, William L. Rivers, author of the widely acclaimed book, "The Opinionmakers," launches into his newest treatise on the press and its relationship to government, "The Adversaries."

Largely entertaining and educational and sometimes wearisomely scholastic, "The Adversaries" scholastic, "The Adversaries" launches into his newest treatise on the press and its relationship to government, "The Adversaries."

Rivers traces this relationship from the beginnings of constitutional democracy in this country to the Nixon administration, that is, from the government controlled press of Washington's and Jefferson's day to the so-called free position today of American newspapers.

And Rivers' contention that there has been a clear distinction between theory and practice among government officials, from the nation's capital to the smallest hamlet, is borne out with sound logic and numerous examples.

Although the founding fathers of this country made "freedom of press" a constitutional guarantee, the fact is that the constitutional convention of 1787 that led to this "right" was held in secrecy, out of earshot of potential critics.

Not until the late 1900's, Rivers relates, did the newspapers shed their direct ties with government and begin to operate as independent organisms, fulfilling the role of government watchdog for the betterment of this country.

Of necessity, he says and backs up with enlightening examples, the press must maintain an adversarial relationship with government and other major institutions of our society. Only in this manner can a newsman retain anything like an objective stance and not fall into the mollifying trap of cynicism.

As Rivers points out, the adversarial relationship requires a delicate balance, for ironically the very people reporters must be in a position to criticize are often the sources reporters must cultivate for information. A delicate balance of tact and antagonism is the only way of hurdling this obstacle.

The Decision Is Yours

Reverend W. Herbert Glenn
United Methodist Church of Brighton

Last Saturday, I covered our roses with straw and then cut the big bough off our spruce Christmas Tree and made a covering to hold the straw in place. My hope, of course, is to protect the roses from the hardest part of winter.

I noticed that some of the ends of the roses are dirty, dry and rotten. They never will blossom or bring forth leaves again. They are already dead. And so, next spring I will have to severely cut back these branches to the clean, green and living wood.

The writer of the Gospel of John was familiar with this process, also. In English the words of John are, "Every branch of mine that bears no fruit, he takes away, and every branch that does bear fruit he prunes, that it may bear more fruit. You are already made clean by the word which I have spoken to you" John 15:2,3. The word prunes in the original language meant cleanses.

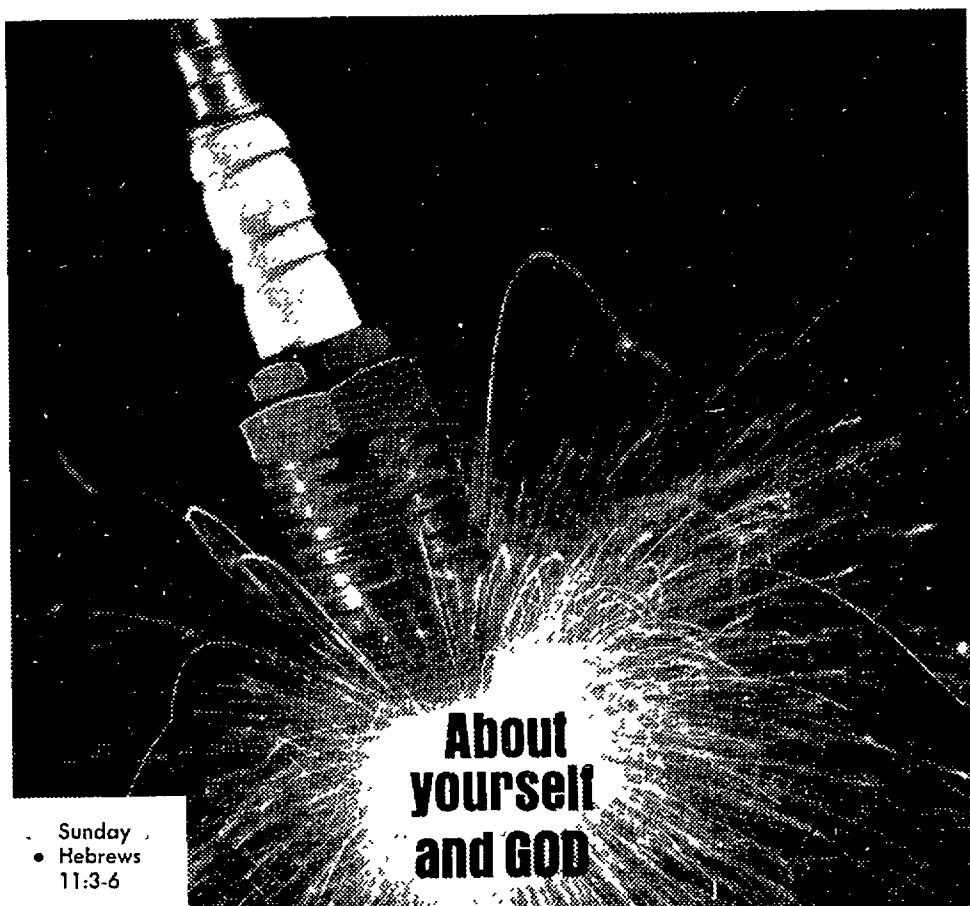

Here in this story Jesus assures us that as of this moment you are clean. You are acceptable to him and you are redeemed.

At this moment, since you are clean already, and pruned back to your living, true self, you may make the decision--you are forced to decide--how you will enter the future. There is no reason for guilt at this moment. Your future can be as good and as beautiful as you want it to be.

The decision is yours as it was for the woman at the well, the woman taken in adultery, the tax-gatherer, and the rich young ruler. In effect he said to them, I do not condemn your past but invite you to a beautiful future in unity with the Father's love.

A New Year, a new week and a new moment are before you.

About yourself
and God

Do you believe in the tremendous capabilities of man? Christians do . . .

Do you, on the other hand, believe that man is quite helpless to overcome many of the forces that threaten his progress? Christians do . . .

How can the same religion support such contradictory views?

Well, we take for granted that a tank-load of gasoline will propel an automobile many miles. But there are cold mornings when we can't even get the engine started. What is missing?

A spark! A continuing series of sparks!

Never over-simplify the functioning of the human soul. Like the internal-combustion engine it can be powerless when denied the fire that unlocks its energy.

To be himself — to be all that God intended him to be — a man needs God.

Bring your hopes and frustrations to church next Sunday.

Out of the Horse's

Mouth

MISERY IS:

...your horse messing in his stall immediately after you've laid a whole new bed of straw.

...when your horse goes to the muddiest spot in his pasture and rolls — just after you spent half an hour brushing him.

...going out one morning and discovering your best show mare's mane chewed off by her yearling filly in the next stall.

...you discover the hay man delivered five tons of hay into your barn — half of which smells moldy.

...when your horse dumps his full water bucket in his stall.

...when your horse tips over a wheelbarrow full of manure.

HAPPINESS IS:

...your horse running at liberty in his pasture.

...discovering a newborn foal when you go to feed in the morning.

...your horse bedded hook deep in clean bright straw in a cozy barn.

...your horse's neigh of happiness when you go to feed in the morning.

...a winter's supply of hay stored in the loft — all paid for.

...the smell of hay, leather, and horses.

The National Mustang Association, Newcastle, Utah, has purchased a 68,000 acre ranch near Caliente, Nevada as a permanent wild horse preserve.

The cost of the ranch was $100,000 and will be named the National Mustang Association's Conquistador Ranch in memorial to the Spanish explorers who first brought the horses to the Americas.

Presently, four preserves have been set aside by the federal government to protect some of the horses, but only a few hundred horses are so protected.

They do need contributions for this ranch and ten dollars is a minimum, a $100 contribution entitles the donor to a lifetime membership — will be like buying a stake in this ranch. They will be able to come to the ranch, camp, ride and see the horses.

Individuals that contribute $5,000 or more will have their names given to any of the creeks, canyons or mountain peaks on the ranch. This ranch will be the permanent headquarters ranch of the National Mustang Association and also a historical and museum center of the mustang horse in the west. They hope to open it to the public sometime in the near future.

Fun Starts

At Kent Park

KENSINGTON METROPOLITAN PARK near Milford, one of Michigan's most popular winter playgrounds, reports that there is 5 to 6 inches of ice on Kent Lake within the 4,300-acre park.

For the first time this season, the ice skating rinks in front of the Boat Rental Building are open for skating. This week skating hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and food service is provided at the heated Boat Rental Building. When schools reopen, week-day hours are 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. and week-end hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Snow cover is reported "fair" on the hills for sledding and at the park's five developed toboggan runs.

Park hours are daylight to 11 p.m. daily. For additional information persons should phone 685-1561 (Milford).

LOWER HURON METROPOLITAN PARK near Belleville. Sledding on very moderate hills and ice skating is permitted on the natural ponds, located in a ravine near the center of the park. Music, light and wood for rinksides are provided. Heated restrooms are nearby. Park hours are daylight to 11 p.m. For ice conditions, phone the park office — 697-9181 (Belleville).

General Program Information

Snowmobiles are raced in classes determined by the cubic centimeter displacement of the engine. See list below of class sizes. A stock snowmobile consists of an original sled and engine as purchased from the manufacturer with the following exceptions: removal of windshield, different carburetor, ice runners on skis, and studs on track may be added. Modified snowmobiles are unrestricted except engine and chassis must be matched as a complete manufactured unit and power must be driven through conventional clutch and convertor pulley system. No limits on fuel or fuel systems.

Section 1

Definitions:

1. Snowmobile

A vehicle designed to be propelled by an internal combustion reciprocating engine, Wankel design approved, driving a rubber or similar material track not less than 12 inches in width or with less than 24 inches of surface contact with the ground.

2. Stock Snowmobile

A stock snowmobile must be the same snowmobile sold at dealership and available in numbers of 200 or more by December 15th for use as a pleasure machine. They must also meet all state requirements.

3. Engine

Engine is a manufactured crankshaft, crankcase and cylinders designed to operate as an internal combustion engine. There must be at least 100 engines built by December 1, 1970.

4. Chassis

Chassis is defined as the portion of the snowmobile that serves as the frame for the track and suspension system and also a support for the engine.

5. Race committee

Race committee is M.I.S.A. racing authority. All appeals must be made in writing to the race committee within 30 days of rulings.

6. Clutch

Clutch is that portion of the transmission line attached to the engine driving the belt or chain.

7. Converter

Converter is the slave portion of the transmission which receives power from the clutch.

8. Expansion Chamber

Expansion chamber is an irregular chamber which controls the back pressure of engine exhaust. (MISA race committee final authority)

9. Track

That portion of a snowmobile made of rubber or similar material that transmits power directly to the ground.

10. Suspension System

That portion of the snowmobile attached to the chassis supporting the track.

Section 2

DRIVERS

1. Only MISA racing members in good standing will be allowed to compete in MISA sanctioned events.

2. Entrants must know and abide by MISA rules.

3. Driver must attend drivers meeting.

4. Drivers must wear approved full coverage helmet and clothing with above ankle boots, goggles, face shield or safety glasses.

5. Driver must be 14 years of age on or before the day of the race. Drivers under 21 must have parent or guardian consent. Drivers from 14 to 16 may drive A and B stock classes only.

6. Driver must present MISA racing membership card to enter a race.

7. The drivers rules apply to women drivers with no women being allowed to compete in men's events.

8. A driver must be in contact with his snowmobile when it crosses the finish line to constitute a finish.

9. A driver will be allowed to compete in 2 classes each day for the winter race season and 3 classes during the summer race season.

10. Driver must drive same snowmobile which he has entered.

11. Driver must have both feet on the machine at starting line. Drivers helper must step back 10 feet from the machine before race can be started, if he does not, that machine will be disqualified.

12. Driver must register machine before using practice or warm up track, full racing equipment must be worn when using warm up area. Practice or warm up area closes 10 minutes before drivers meeting.

13. All machines must be stationed in pit area in their own class area.

14. Once race has started the only machines running, will be on the race track. There will be no testing, warm-up or playing around allowed.

15. Drivers will draw for position on track. Machines will be at least 3 feet apart at starting line.

16. Once a machine is at the starting line and the starter gives the signal to start up your engine, if your machine will not start, you will have 3 minutes to get it going, before race is started. If you once had the machine started at the starting line and it stops, you will have 1 minute to restart it. Once machine is at the starting line and checked off, that is the race it will run. If machine stops once count down has begun, raise both hands above head and you will have 1 minute to get started.

17. Flagman will motion for machine to be started, will let warm up, then motion for machine to be set down and helpers to get back from machine. Flagman will start from one side of the track and work across to the other side, pointing at each driver and receiving a nod that he is ready. If all machines are ready, flagman will raise flag for a start of the race, from 1 to 10 seconds after pointing at last driver. If lights are used, flagman will point to light and light will take over. If a machine jumps out before the flag is raised or before green light is flashed, that machine will be pulled back by helper 1 full machine length behind the other machines and count down will start again.

If the same machine jumps twice, he will be disqualified.

IMPORTANT

If machines jump out and starter raises flag or light goes green, the race has started and these machines will be disqualified. THERE WILL BE NO RESTART because of machine jumping or the drivers not reading the flagman or lights.

Flagman or light man will be sole judge of who is disqualified.

18. After finals in each class all machines with place cards will go immediately to holding area, failure to do so can mean disqualification.

Drivers violating any of the rules may be suspended by MISA, to a maximum of 3 years.

Section 3

General Rules.

1. No alcoholic beverages allowed in pits during race or 1 hour prior to or 1 hour after the race.

2. There will be no blocking, crowding, bumping or unsportsmanlike conduct.

3. No entries or refunds of entries after drivers meeting has started.

4. Drivers meeting is to start at 11:30 a.m. and races to begin at 12 Noon.

5. Driver entry fees to be no more than $25 per day in an A class race or $10 per day in a B class race except for special events so designated by the race committee.

World Speed Record

Our racing record speaks for itself. Our performance and reliability records continue to speak volumes about value.

Whether you want to race, or just be racy, Polaris TX stands out as the tough machine that goes like it looks. TX's dominated 11 major races last year, and re-wrote the record book on performance. It's stressed for maneuverability, revved-up for blinding acceleration...and equally at home on track or trail.

So speak up! A Polaris TX can be yours at the sign of the winners flag.

Winter Racing Rules

6. A snowmobile may enter only one class per event. Snowmobile must enter in its proper CC class.

7. There must be four snowmobiles registered in each class at the close of registration. If not the drivers of that class may elect to obtain a refund or jump up one class with the points applied to the class competed in only. Stock machine moves up 1 stock class, modified machine moves up 1 modified class.

8. If there should be an accident involving 2 or more machines before the number 2 turn on the first lap, there will be a restart of the race.

9. There can and will be spot mandatory tear-down at some races. All drivers must have tools necessary to perform a tear-down.

10. Protests must be made in writing on a standard MISA formal protest form in triplicate to the race official with a $20 fee for the stock class and a $30 fee for the modified class, within 30 minutes of the completion of the event. Race official will announce decision to the parties involved, or may at his discretion refer this to the Executive Race Director for final decision.

11. If protest is valid, the fee will be returned to person making the protest.

If protest is invalid fee will be given to accused driver. The only persons allowed at tear-down will be the race official, and/or an appointed protest committee and the owner of the machine and/or driver of machine.

12. All races or events may be canceled or postponed at the discretion of the MISA race official after a phone conversation with the Executive Race Director. Cancellation may be due to lack of competition; inclement weather; unsafe course conditions, etc.

13. Flag

Green Start and track is clear
Yellow Caution; no passing; hold position
Red Stop immediately
Blue/Yellow Yield
Black Disqualification report to race official
Checkered Finish

Section 4

SAFETY EQUIPMENT REQUIRED

1. Must have mud flap of heavy rubber or similar material hanging not more than 3 inches from the ground without rider.

2. No moving parts may extend outside of the sides of the cowl.

3. All moving parts must have protective guards.

4. MISA requires that all drivers have a chemical fire extinguisher of at least 3 pounds in their pit.

5. Engine clutch must be covered with no less than 12 gauge metal on stock and modified machines for drivers protection.

6. Exhaust system must be on or below a horizontal plane, not to extend more than 3 inches outside of cowls, and pass safety inspection.

7. Machine can run skis only and must have hoods on that meet safety requirements.

8. If driver or machine should lose any safety equipment while race is on, race official may "Black Flag" and disqualify.

STOCK CLASS

1. Many snowmobiles are being manufactured for the specific purpose of racing. These snowmobiles will be excluded by the race committee from participation in stock events. A 15 day notice will be given from date of decision by MISA race committee. Decisions are final after 15 days.

2. Stock snowmobiles must have original engine, track, skis, chassis cowl, suspension, clutch and converter supplied by manufacturer for that model, or proof of factory warranty changes on file with the Executive Race Director. No factory options allowed.

3. Factory mufflers are mandatory; straight pipes, expansion chambers and megaphones are not allowed.

4. Absolutely no port alterations.

5. Maximum overbore .020 for wear and repair.

6. Fuel must be pump gasoline and oil only.

7. The following alterations may be preformed; removal of windshield; air breather and backrest; one carburetor of any size per cylinder; ice runners 3/4" from bottom of ski center mounted; track studs not more than 3/8" below deepest point of track; brake improvement; skis may be raised or lowered but must remain as same width; and lights must be removed or taped.

8. A manufacturer must build and deliver 200 units by Dec. 15th to qualify as a stock snowmobile. Manufacturers must furnish specifications as required.

9. Parts cannot be removed from or other parts added to unless specified in writing in these rules.

MODIFIED CLASS

1. A modified machine cannot use another snowmobile manufacturers original parts unless these parts are released to the public for resale by the manufacturer or his distributors as a replacement part for snowmobiles and meet all safety requirements. All may be altered. Any size engine may be placed on any size chassis as long as the manufacturer uses that make and model engine.

The exhaust system must only meet safety standards. All types of fuels will be allowed. Engine CC must be within class registered with no allowance for wear.

2. Modified snowmobile must use skis.

3. Ice runners 3/4" from bottom of ski center mounted. Track studs not more than 3/8" below deepest point of track.

4. Factory options allowed.

5. A modified machine may use fuel injection.

SNOWMOBILING IS FAMILY FUN!

Meet the Sponsor

26-year-old Gerald M. Stone is making his debut as a promoter of snowmobile races. Owner and operator of Stone's Gamble Store in Northville, Jerry took over the sponsorship of the biggest snowmobile race event ever staged when plans to hold it at DRC fell through. Despite the time shortage, the first Northville Downs Snowmobile Race looks like a winner.

Sno-Jet, Michigan's Summer Race Champion. Sno-Jet won top honors in the toughest torture test a snowmobile can be put through, The Summer Drag.

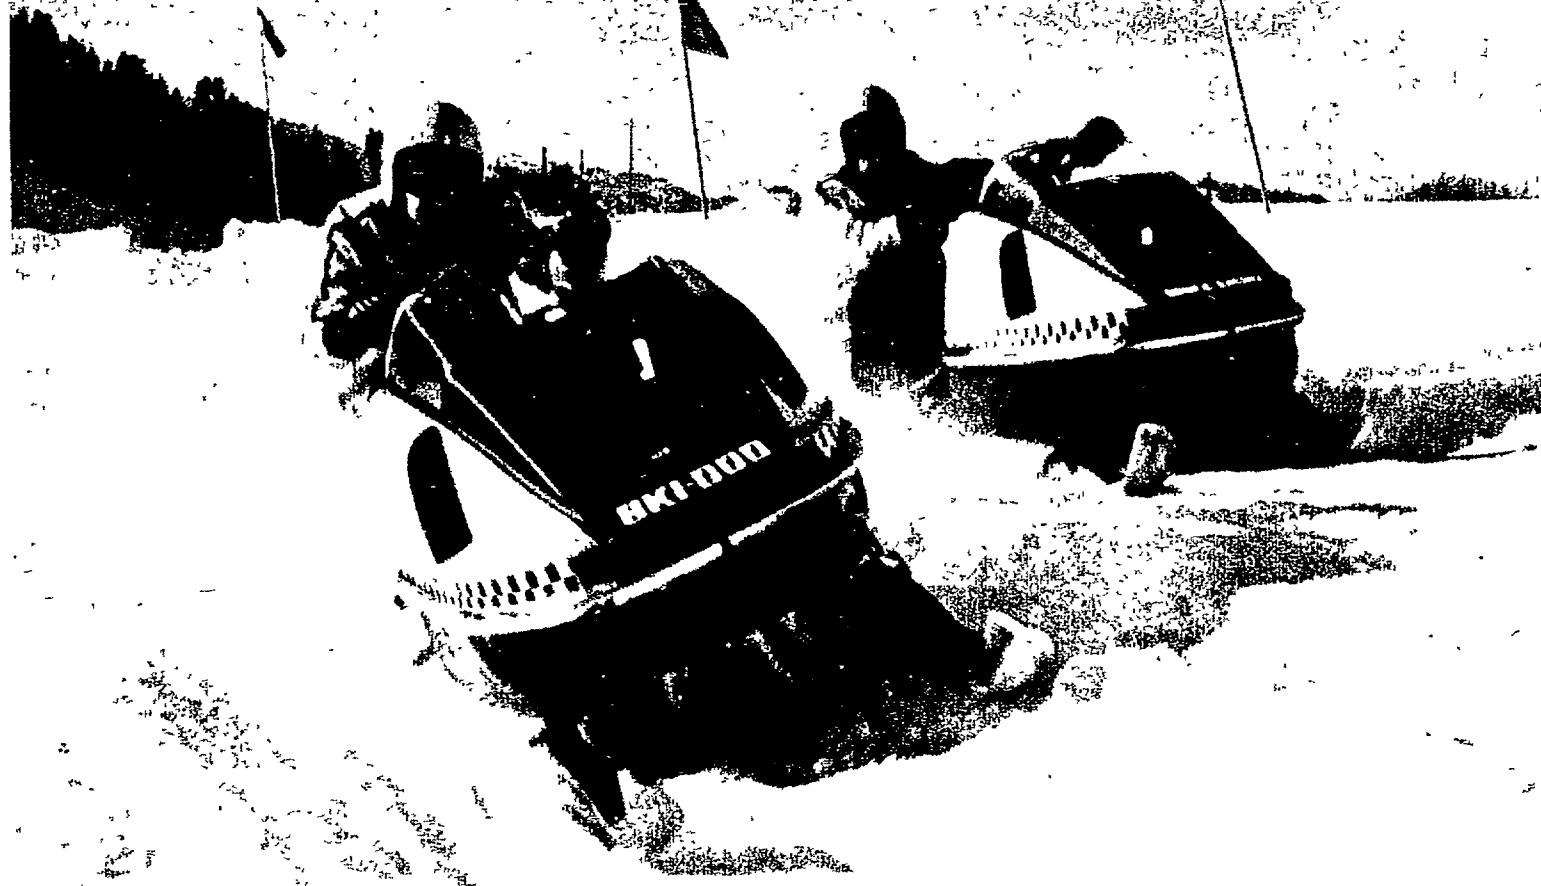

You Might Get There Fast, But You'll Get There!

When we say we have the best engine, chassis, drive train combination in the business, we can see your eyebrows lifting now. But if you stopped by a Snow-Jet dealer and put that combination under your body for 10 or 15 minutes you'd understand what we're saying. We took a five port engine that is world known for reliability and matched an exhaust system that acts like a super-charger. Then we put a competition clutch and converter and precisely balanced the combination Stage 1) Now we built a chassis from heavy gauge steel and improved it yearly for the last five years, Stage 2) Last we designed and built a nylon and steel track that we're so happy with, we signed our name to it, Stage 3) Now we carefully matched all these components and have created a finely balanced, high performance snowmobile that will take abuse beyond your imagination, let alone your ability. We did our part in building the sled, now it's your turn. Lay it on us snowmobilers!

Meet our International Research Team...

AT SKI-DOO RACING IS RESEARCH

Win or lose, racing is an essential part of our research program. It's on the track that we really put our machines — and our ideas — to the test. Against the competition and under the toughest possible conditions. And we learn a lot. You see the results each year in greater dependability, better performance, more advanced engineering and in finer styling: a better Ski-Doo snowmobile. But even though we tally more wins than anyone else, it's building a better machine that really counts. That's part of what has helped make Ski-Doo the largest selling snowmobile in the world. At Ski-Doo, racing is more than winning. With the result that you're the winner, all ways.

Coleman-Skiroule: It's built to stay on top.

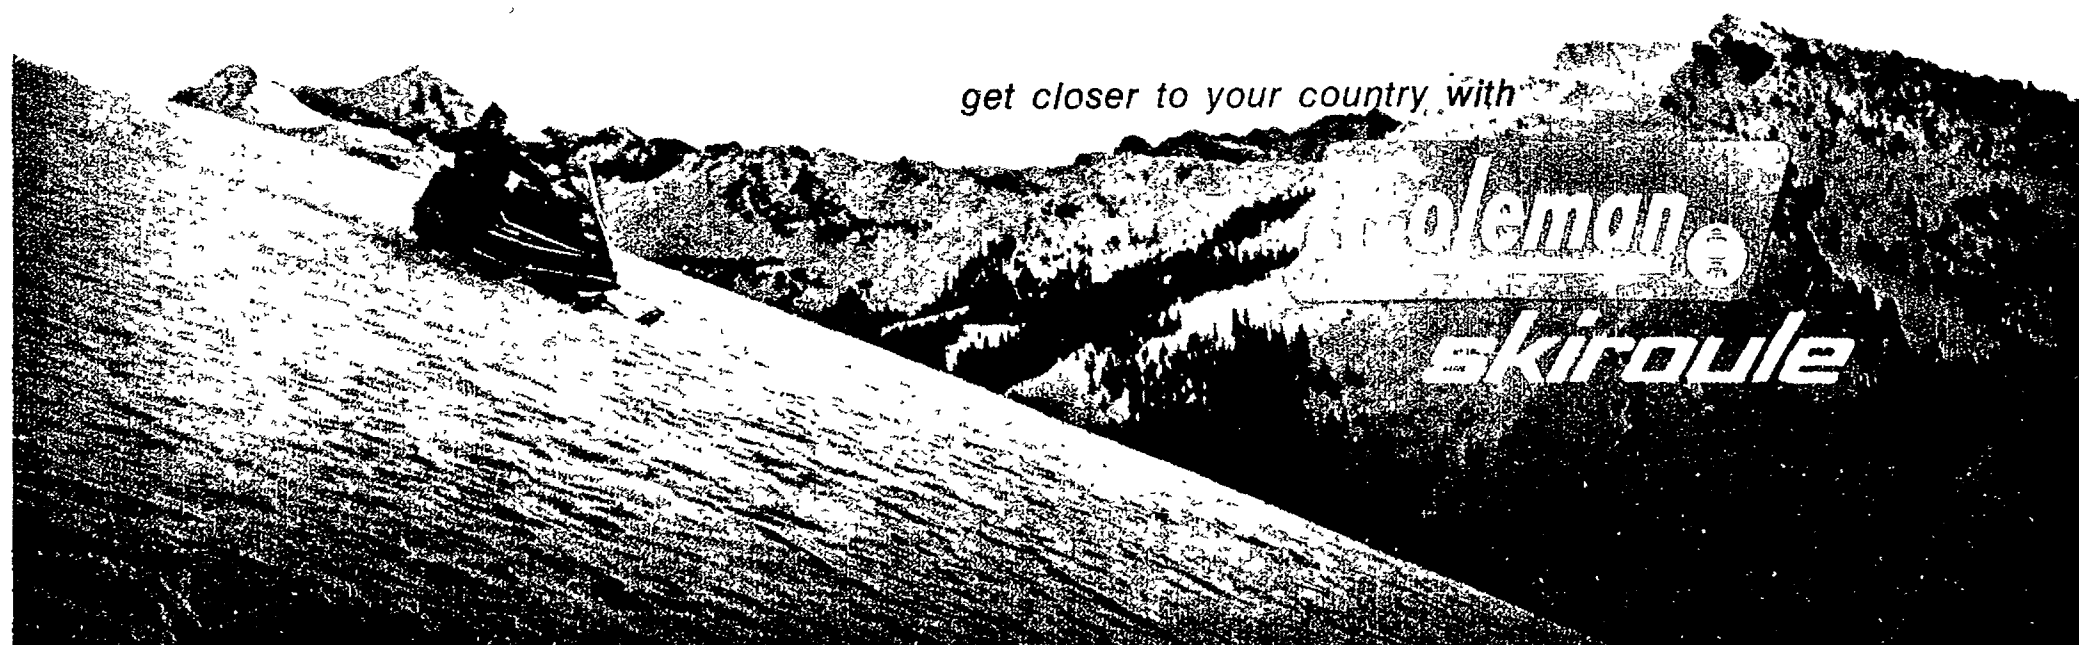

Ask an experienced snowmobile bug what to look for, and he'll tell you it's a machine that stays on top of the snow. And if that sounds a little silly, wait'll you take your first nose dive into a big, fluffy drift.

About the best way to be sure of what you're getting into is to take a few test drives. Then climb aboard the Coleman-Skiroule...and head for the powdery stuff.

Many machines will bury up as soon as you accelerate. But Skiroule's track design lays down a smooth path that gives you plenty of traction without plowing in. And just the right balance of weight distribution and track contact keeps you in control... whether you're carving a corner or cutting loose on the straightaway... whether the snow is powdery or hard-packed.

It's just that kind of performance that's helped our green machine make quite a name for itself on the Canadian slopes. Now, add the greatest name in the great outdoors as part of the bargain, and you know you've got something you can depend on. Coleman-Skiroule... the snowmobile that goes as great as it looks.

Snowmobile Racers Must Keep in Shape

"The physical condition of a professional snowmobile racing driver is every bit as important as the fine tuning of his machine," says Bombardier Ski-Doo factory racing team manager Jean-Yves Blouin.

Michigan's famed motorcycle champion, Bart Markel of Flint, will make his homestate debut in another popular sport January 8-10 — snowmobile racing. The 35-year-old three time motorcycle world champion will be racing as a part of the Bombardier Ski-Doo factory racing team.

This is the explanation for the curious who may wonder why Ski-Doo factory racing drivers spend almost as much time running around their test-track as driving it. Not only do they run on it, they do push ups and a variety of exercises which become more rugged as the training camp goes on.

What follows is a typical day's schedule in the driver's training camp:

7:30 a.m. Breakfast

8:30 a.m. Driver meeting.

9:00 a.m. Workout on track followed by callisthenics.

10:00 a.m. Test machines, oval track, cross-country, drag.

12:00 noon Lunch

1:30 p.m. Callisthenics

2:00 p.m. Test machines, oval track, cross country, drag.

4:00 p.m. Meeting, discussion of the day, improvement suggestions.

On top of this schedule the drivers take part in a weekly cross-country workout, simulated races and pit procedures with mechanics and, in the event of rain, their physical training is taken indoors for strenuous workouts on skates.

When one of the drivers was asked for his comments on the program just after he completed 40 push-ups, his first few words were unprintable, but he went on to say, "... but I know the conditioning will help us win races."

Ski-Doo Introduces '70-71 Racing Team

Bombardier, Ltd., manufacturer of Ski-Doo snowmobiles, has introduced what "we consider to be the best machine racers in the world" as its factory racing team for 1970-71.

Also introduced at the company's competition center 70 miles southeast of Montreal were the Ski-Doo Blizzard racing machines for this winter, management personnel of the factory racing team, and detailed competition plans.

Members of the internationally-composed team include last year World's Champion snowmobile racer, Yvon Duhamel, La Salle, Quebec; well-known motorcycle racing champion Bart Markel, Flint, Mich.; last year's Swedish snowmobile racing champion, Bertil Siklund, Umea, Sweden; the Swedish champion from two years ago, Dan Oberg, Arjeplog, Sweden; and stock car champion Lucien Lamoureux, Iberville, Quebec.

Duane Eck, Driggs, Idaho, former Idaho State champion and Western Snowmobile Association champ, will be running under Bombardier colors at some of the major events on the winter circuit.

Team management includes Conrad Bernier, team director; Jean-Yves Blouin, team manager; and Marcel Lafrance, technical coordinator. Additional personnel includes six mechanics, two substitute drivers, two drivers for the team's equipment van, and two pilots for the group's DC-3 aircraft.

The Bombardier Ski-Doo factory team will compete across North America from Quebec City Winter Carnival to Lake Tahoe, Nevada. Other appearances are set for Ironwood, Mich.; Syracuse, N.Y.; Northville, Mich.; Rhinelander, Wis.; Eagle River, Wis.; and West Yellowstone, Mont., and other top-rated events in Canada and the U.S. The team will enter its first competition at the Ironwood (Mich.) Snowmobile Olympus on December 11-13.

In addition to the Ski-Doo factory racing team, Bombardier's distributors will be entering 16 to 18 racing teams on the circuit in North America; a racing circuit which will have more than a half-million dollars in total prize money.

Bombardier will be attempting to better last winter's success which was highlighted by Duhamel's win at the famed Eagle River (Wis.) World's Championship. Other major wins included Modified V of the Hodag Sprints of Rhinelander, Wis.; Alaska's Midnight Sun 600-mile race; the 25-mile Schaeffer Circle of Champions at Syracuse, N.Y.; Modified V at the Malone (N.Y.) Invitational; the Massachusetts State Championship; Modified V at the Quebec City Winter Carnival; Modified V at St. Henri de Levis, Quebec; and modified and stock wins at the World Series of Snowmobile Racing at Rhinelander, Wis.

"The basic purpose of our involvement in racing is to develop a better snowmobile for our future consumers," said Bernier. "Plans for this year have been formulated to give us the opportunity to quickly communicate technical information gained through racing to our distributors and dealers."

Bernier also said that snowmobile racing has developed into an exciting, thrilling sport enjoyed by fans throughout the North American snowbelt. "The fact that our racing team will be providing fun and excitement to hundreds of thousands of people is another reason for our involvement."

"While we at the factory learn much and pass on the benefits to customers, we're also having a great time ourselves every weekend."

Over 200,000 Snowmobiles Predicted in State

If the Michigan automobile strikes and the slow economy do not curb the trend, some 205,000 snowmobiles will be in use in Michigan by this coming spring.

At present, there are more than 130,000 snowmobiles registered in the state and major distributors expect another 75,000 new machines to be sold by spring.

Jerry Fisher, touring manager for the Automobile Club of Michigan, said that while snowmobile dealers are enthusiastic about this mushrooming business, "safety and shortage of areas where these machines can be used will be problems."

Last winter 19 persons lost their lives in Michigan snowmobile accidents. Thirteen died in collisions on state roads, five persons drowned when machines broke through the ice and one died when a snowmobiler hit a wire strung across the gate to a ball field.

Reckless use of snowmobiles by some users has also irritated many private property owners and sportsmen. Some hunters claim snowmobiles are used illegally during deer season and when lakes are frozen the machines are over-running once-remote fishing spots.

"Despite complaints," says Fisher, "snowmobiles are here to stay and the economic impact across the state has been notable."

Many organized snowmobile groups are urging the Michigan Legislature to spend more tax money on maintaining and creating trails. "If Michigan spends its snowmobile-generated tax funds to create more places for snowmobiles, operators will be more apt to stay off private property and public roads," said one spokesman.

Snowmobilers are expected to spend about $98 million on equipment ranging from special clothing to new machines. The average snowmobiling couple is also expected to spend $75 per weekend, during the usual 15-week snowmobile season.

The average cost of a snowmobile is $900, although some may cost as little as $600. The more luxurious models, with sliding canopy, room for two on a front seat, variable-speed transmission, heater and even a cigarette lighter, can cost up to $2,500.

Above the cost of machines, the average snowmobile enthusiast will spend a minimum of $100 for clothing, to combat low temperatures and an even lower "chill factor" brought on by high speeds.

In the matter of clothing, boots will usually cost around $20; one-piece suit $75; mitts, $10; helmet, $17 to $25 (for high-speed machines); or a hood or cap with ear flaps, under $10. Other items include: goggles, $4; face mask $4; thermal underwear, $12; socks, $3; and sweater, $25. Children's clothing is between a third to half as much, depending on quality.

The Auto Club advises all snowmobilers to keep these simple safety rules in mind before starting on any trip:

Avoid illegal use of roadways where most snowmobile deaths occur.

Know trails and stay on them.

Carry area maps and a compass.

Learn the regulations in the Snowmobile Law.

Stay off ice on lakes and streams unless conditions are ideal.

Avoid alcohol.

Never travel alone. You may not be able to walk back out to a road if the snow is deep.

Carry safety gear such as snowshoes, flaregun, first aid kit, axe, extra fuel, new spark plugs, tools for minor repairs and emergency rations.

How to tell a Bolens Sprint Snowmobile

... "PERFORMANCE BUYERS" PLEASE REVIEW

To us, snowmobiling means fun. And fun means performance. Dependability and ability to move out on the snow . . . as you please. Let's put you in the driver's seat for a moment.

The model shown here is the Sprint 440 . . . the leader of the pack. Its styling sets the pace for the rest of the Bolens Sprint line. Feel the comfortable deep foam padded seat with a custom-car pleated and rolled weatherproof vinyl covering.

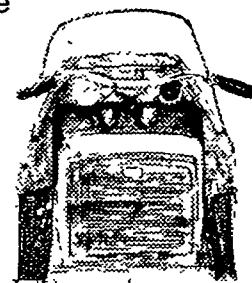

Grasp the handle grips with fingertip controls. "Rev-up" with the right. Brake with the left. Progressive floating caliper disc brakes provide smoother, surer stops with less pressure, skidding or jarring. Automotive-type steering lets you turn with ease, and the windshield cuts snow spray . . . so you'll see where you're going.

Engines? All Bolens multi cylinder power plants designed exclusively for snowmobiling. Let it suffice that we have one for you from 292cc to the growling 440.

Tracks? All Sprints feature one-piece, 6 ply reinforced molded rubber and polyester . . . the most durable track made. Three track sizes to choose from (15, 15½ and 18 inch widths) for ground contact that counts! Suspension? We use bogey wheels. The most popular system.

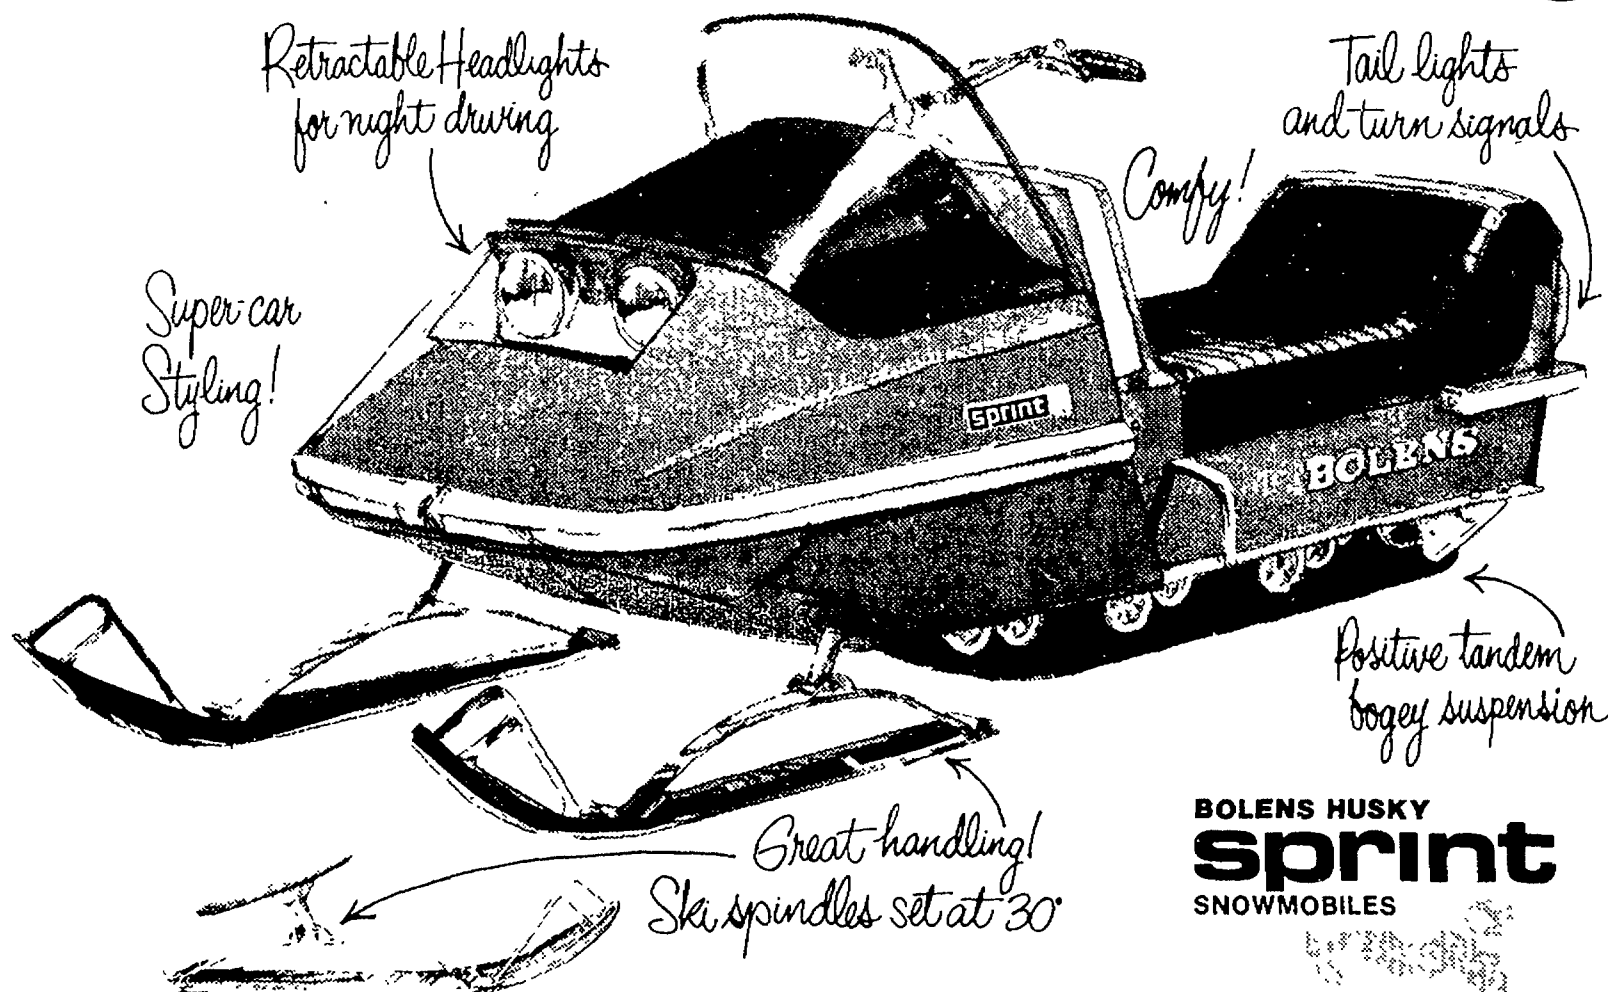

The look? It's sporty and bright . . . Racing Red. Built to stay that way with heavy-duty frames and bumper guards. Nothing takes punishment like steel and that's what our frame is made of.

Lightweight and reinforced in critical areas. Cowl is high impact fibreglass with chrome trim on some models. Of course there are options and convenience features too. Come in and find the Sprint for you.
