Facelifting To Start At Record

Extensive interior and exterior remodeling of The Northville Record building, Main and Center streets, is scheduled to get underway this month or early February.

Drawings, prepared by Architect John J. Graham, were submitted to the city's planning commission Tuesday night for exterior design approval.

The new look attempts to project an authentic early American appearance. The three-story building will provide new entrances on both Main and Center streets with the present corner entrance being closed.

NEWS BRIEFS

FORMER NORTHVILLE city Patrolman William Wortmann was one of two Detroit police officers shot to death Thursday. Wortmann, 28 and the father of two children, lived in Garden City and had been hired on the Northville force in 1966. Representing the local department at funeral services held Monday in Inkster were Chief Samuel Elkins and Sergeant Louis Westfall.

A DOG vaccination-licensing clinic may be held sometime this spring if City Clerk Martha Milne and Township Clerk Eleanor Hammond are successful in securing at least one veterinarian and an assistant. Officials, noting an increasing number of stray and unlicensed animals in the community, are anxious to resume the clinic program, normally conducted in the fire hall, that was abandoned a couple of years ago because of the lack of vets.

MARCHING MOTHERS — more than 100 strong — will visit Northville-area homes during March of Dimes Week, which begins today and concludes next Thursday. Mrs. Omar Harrison and Mrs. Albert Tilley, co-chairmen of the march sponsored by the Northville Jaycees, point out that neighborhood marchers will appear on doorsteps at any time during the week-long campaign, rather than on one evening.

IT'S EXAM TIME for Northville High School students with exams scheduled for next Monday through Wednesday. Report cards will go out February 1. All students in the district will have a two-day vacation between semesters next Thursday and Friday.

PACKAGES for servicemen are being prepared by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012 as part of the post's continuing effort to bring cheer to the men and women serving their country. "Because we might miss someone, we'd like anyone who has a name and address of a local area serviceman serving in Vietnam to send or telephone the information to us immediately," urged Mrs. Ray Paquin, whose telephone number is 474-8139.

JOHN J. McCANN of Livonia, Wayne County commissioner serving Northville (26th District), has been appointed chairman of the health, education and welfare committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. He also has been named to serve on the following committees: Ways and means, legislative, judiciary, human relations, juvenile affairs, and planning and capital improvement. McCann, a Democrat, was elected in November to fill the post previously held by Senator Carl Pursell of Plymouth.

FEBRUARY 5 is the deadline for registering to vote in Northville Public Schools' March 6 millage election. Voters may register at the township or city hall in the area in which they live. Property owners and non-property owners are eligible to vote with all votes counting the same, Earl Busard, business manager, said. The millage rate will be set February 8 with administrators hinting they will ask for more than the 17 mills up for renewal.

$70,000 Budget Cut Ordered for Schools

Budget cuts and freezes amounting to approximately $70,000 were ordered last week by Northville School Superintendent Raymond Spear.

The reduction represents an approximate 2.5 per cent cut in the district's operational budget of $2.9 million.

Earlier Spear clamped a temporary freeze and partial curtailment on expenditures of non-contractual services and supplies.

"I assure the citizens of the district and the school board we will have a balanced budget at the end of the school year," Spear said. "That was my objective in making the cuts and ordering the freezes."

About 12 employees will be directly affected by the cutback and freeze, he explained.

Spear said the $70,000 reduction in the budget "is substantial enough to cover any loss of state aid resulting from action taken by the governor or legislature" in the wake of an order to curtail state expenditures by $108 million to offset state financial deficits.

The superintendent said he does not feel the budget will have to be cut again later in the year since "I do not anticipate the state will take more than the $15 million cut in the education budget ordered by the governor, and though the grandfather clause will be hit hard, it will not be eliminated this year."

The grandfather clause assures districts of receiving at least the same state aid per pupil as they did last year. In Northville the clause has meant $85,000 in aid.

Hardest hit locally in the budget cuts were funds in the teacher salary category not needed to pay personnel now under contract. The cut amounted to $15,000.

Spear noted that replacement teachers will be hired if vacancies occur but "no new teachers will be added at mid-year, as had been budgeted."

Other cuts, which are effective February 1, include

- reduction in cafeteria program at the junior and senior high schools providing a minimal lunch program of soup, sandwiches, hamburgers and so forth. As of February 1, the "complete" lunches will no longer be served.

- all equipment replacement, an approximate $3,000 cut;
- all purchase of athletic supplies and equipment, a cut of about $4,500;
- all capital outlay, a $4,000 budget cut;

- cancelling 1971 community census;

- funds earmarked for research;
- printing the January issue of "Opening School Doors," a cut of $400;

- further memberships for the district in organizations;
- building supplies necessary for maintenance;

- reduce interest expectations on loans due to loss of state money;
- funds for operation of extra-curricular activities outside of salaries;

- allow supplies in the district to deplete;
- transfer funds from Title I program to the general fund to meet salaries of personnel in the program;

- appropriate portion of the building and site funds to cover actual involvement of district personnel in supervision and direction of the building program;

- reduce all library aides at the elementary level by one hour per day.

Three employees are affected and their work days will be reduced from six to five hours per day;

- reduce high school library aide by one hour per day and the Cook Annex library aide to a three-hour working day; and

Downs Inks Contract As Racing Nears

The "Big Q," a popular betting feature elsewhere but an untried package at Northville Downs, will be tested here February 3 when harness racing resumes, Executive Manager John Carlo revealed Monday.

Carlo made the announcement after inking a seven-year contract with the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association, thus ending the possibility that a strike might scratch the 44-night meet as it did a few years ago.

"Everything's rosy," boomed Orin Grettenberger of Lansing, who heads up the MHHA. "We're very happy about it (the new contract). It's exceptionally good and we respect John (Carlo) for it," he told the Record.

Johnson Wins Jaycee Award

The Reverend Timothy Johnson, assistant pastor of Northville First Presbyterian Church and member of the Northville Board of Education, was named Northville Jaycees' Young Man of the Year Award recipient at an awards banquet Wednesday night at Sherwood Inn.

Mr. Johnson, who is 29, in accepting the Outstanding Young Man of the Year Award for 1971, explained his philosophy that "our work (of ministers) is service and it can't be confined to the church."

The award was presented during Jaycee Week in Northville, which was proclaimed by Northville Mayor A. M. Allen to coincide with National Jaycee Week celebrating the organization's 51st year.

Mr. Johnson served as adult advisor to the Cavern Teen-Age Club in 1969, is a first-term member of the Northville Board of Education, and has assisted in probation work in the community. He also serves the Presbyterian Synod of Michigan as well as his own church.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasure, church pastor, listed special projects of the church under Mr. Johnson's direction since he came to the church in May, 1967, adding, "It has meant a great deal to me personally to have an assistant who has given such a great deal of help and who officiates at services and weddings as well as directing youth projects."

Both the assistant pastor and his wife, Ann, were graduates of the class of 1964 at Alma College. Mr. Johnson was a Magna Cum Laude graduate,

City Lists '71 Projects

Horton Paving Seen

Paving of Horton Street and improvement of the Cady Street storm sewer appear to be high on the list of projected 1971 public improvement programs as Northville city councilmen get set to begin their budget studies.

Reviewing Monday a number of projects suggested at a study session last week, councilmen voiced agreement that these two projects rate "top priority."

Temporarily scratched from the list was the paving of Carpenter Street, which officials believe can be delayed another year.

Following a discussion of the Horton project, the council adopted an initiatory resolution calling for preliminary engineering of the street from Baseline to Hill Street. If the project becomes a reality its cost is to be shared between property owners (75-percent assessment) and the city (25-percent).

The city's estimated cost, prior to street engineering, was put at $9,000.

Among other lesser street projects which appear likely to be included in the 1971-72 fiscal budget: resurfacing of Linden, High, West (Main to Dunlap), Roger (Dunlap to Dubuar), and the Fairbrook-First intersection.

A priority label also has been given the intersection of Center to Dunlap streets, where officials hope to widen approaches on Dunlap to relieve a bottleneck resulting when motorists attempt to turn. Center Street is under the jurisdiction of Wayne County. Preliminary engineering for this project as well as the Cady Street storm sewer were authorized.

Resurfacing also is being considered for Hutton, Horton (south of Baseline), Rouge, Novi Street (Baseline to Eight Mile), and in Northville Heights No. 1.

A somewhat related project to the paving of Horton is one calling for a storm sewer on Baseline near Novi Street. This project, according to officials, could delay work on Horton so that the new paving at Baseline need not be ripped up when the sewer is installed.

Still to be decided is on what side of Baseline — north or south — the new sewer will be located. If it is on the south side it would not affect the paving of Horton.

Still other projects likely to be started, continued or completed in 1971 are park land acquisition and development, Griswold Street extension, Wing Street extension, parking deck completion, improvement of water service to the West Main (township) area, and rebuilding of Rural Hill Cemetery bridge.

Concerning the water service project, Councilmen Kenneth Rathert and Wallace Nichols were named to a council committee to study the

State Contest Saturday

Junior Misses Go to Finals

The two area Junior Misses for 1971, Wendy Wheaton of Northville and Connie Sutherland of Wixom, who is Walled Lake Area Junior Miss, will be competing in the 13th annual Junior Miss Pageant, sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees this Friday and Saturday at Pontiac Northern High School.

If the 13th competition proves lucky for either talented young high school senior, she will win sizeable prizes as more than $5,000 in scholarships and awards are presented during the pageant. The winner will be crowned by Carleen Mylnarek, 1970 Michigan Junior Miss.

The pageant at 8 p.m. Saturday at which the new Junior Miss for Michigan is announced is open to the public with tickets available at the door. They are $2.75.

Wendy, whose talent is a piano solo, and Connie, who plays a silver flute, will be among 24 state finalists who will be staying in "foster homes" in the Pontiac area today, Friday and Saturday for interviews and the pageant.

The finalists were chosen from 45 local pageant winners in two state regional pageants, one of which was held in Northville in December.

A team of six Michigan judges will examine the scholastic achievements of each contestant, conduct personal in-depth interviews and observe team performance and coordination in a youth fitness routine. The team also evaluates each girl's ability in her talent skit, and her appearance in evening dress.

Among the state winner's awards are a $1,000 Coca-Cola Bottlers of Michigan Scholarship, a $500 savings bond from Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corporation, and an all-expense paid trip to the national finals in May in Mobile, Alabama, where more than $46,000 in scholarships and awards are presented.

The national Junior Miss receives $1700 in scholastic awards.

OLV Show Looks to Spring

BY JEAN DAY

"TOMORROW'S Fashions Today" is the title of the live-model show scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, February 2, at Our Lady of Victory Church social hall by Our Lady's League.

Excitement mounted this week among committee members and league officers as plans for the benefit expanded. Michael Todd, proprietor of the Village Boutique on Liberty Street in Plymouth, is flying in spring and cruise fashions from California, New York and Toronto. Pat Hahn's "House of Glamour" has promised to create "in" hairstyles for the new fashions, and Willoughby Shoes will supply appropriate footwear.

Northville's Fran Kontos, who has the Clothes Tree Shop of children's fashions for sizes 4 to 14 in Plymouth, will present the show-opener—a showing of fashions with her own young models.

Boutique Owner Todd is to commentate the showing of pantsuits, jumpsuits and other "young thing" wear. The "very today" young shop owner has promised to include fashions (such as Leslie Fay's) for the matron.

Mrs. William Quigley, Jr., league president, stresses that mothers especially are invited to bring teen-age daughters to the show, which should hold much interest for them. For this reason, she points out, ticket prices have been kept low. They are $1.50 for women, and 75 cents for students.

Mrs. Kurt Sauer, 201 South Ely, is ticket chairman. She invites all women in the community to attend. Call her at 349-0669 for additional information.

The project is under the direction of St. Eva's Guild with Mrs. Ralph Arbour serving as co-chairman. Her guild is "planning" colorful floral decorations and will be serving dessert and coffee afterward.

Mrs. John Stuart is program chairman in charge of show arrangements. Mrs. Francis Korte, guild coordinator, also is assisting. Door prizes at the show, they mention, will be gift certificates for personal items. It is expected to be a sell-out.

QUESTERS Antiques Society now has an active fourth chapter in the area as Tollgate VI Chapter in Novi held its first official meeting last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Bernard Spafford in Meadowbrook Subdivision.

Mrs. Kenneth Pickl, president, welcomed 12 members and Guest Speaker Mrs. Dale Starr, who brought examples from her bottle collection to illustrate her talk on old bottles.

Mrs. Starr, a member of Silver Springs Questers, not only told members how to gauge the age of old bottles but, in so doing, showed how a Quester paper is researched and presented. (Quester members are all required to give papers on antiques, usually something which they collect or are interested in, for a club meeting.)

Linda Starr originally presented her paper to her own chapter, but she had additional copies of her chart of ways to tell bottle age from mold seams run off for the new chapter members.

The very best way to know a bottle is old (for many are being reproduced), the speaker declared candidly, is to dig your own bottles.

Bonnie McKinney Weds D.M. Hummel

Newly wed Mr. and Mrs. Donald Michael Hummel are making their home in Brookdale Club Apartments, Farmington, following their marriage November 14 at Northville First United Methodist Church. The bride is the former Bonnie Lee McKinney, daughter of Mrs. J. Gordon McKinney, 218 Lake Street.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward L. Hummel, former area residents now making their home in Mesa, Arizona.

The Reverend Guenther Branstner officiated at the altar decorated with blue and white mums and gladioli and blue candelabra. The bride's grandfather, Karol Klapow of Oshawa, Ontario, gave her away in the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a slim white, brocade coat, floor-length, over a matching gown. Her headpiece was a scalloped lace mantilla that framed her face and extended to elbow-length.

Elizabeth Kerr was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Gwendolyn Kerr of East Lansing and Georgianna Lange of Detroit, both Michigan State University roommates of the bride last year. All wore floor-length, empire gowns of blue chiffon-over-taffeta with green and white trim and matching shoes and velvet bow headpieces.

Daniel Meadows of Milford was best man. Ward Hummel, the bridegroom's brother, John Canterbury and James Spagnola ushered.

Both mothers of the couple were attired in blue crepe dresses.

At the reception following in fellowship hall 100 guests greeted the couple, including out-of-town guests from Canadian cities; Mesa, Arizona; Reading, Pennsylvania; Whiting, Indiana; and Michigan areas. The out-of-town guests were entertained at a small reception later at the bride's home.

For a wedding trip to Canada, the bride wore a gold-trimmed navy velvet pantsuit. A graduate of Northville High School, she attended Michigan State University. Her husband is a graduate of St. John's Military Academy,

Tell Us Who Have A Valentine?

Valentine's Day is the time to give verbal bouquets to those we love and admire. It's the day to say "thank you" for good deeds cheerfully done, for loving kindnesses, for the unexpected "little things" that make living worth while. It's a time for sentiment.

Everyone knows someone who "cares enough" to make extra efforts for others. This newspaper wants to help everyone honor these special people this Valentine's Day. It's offering a chance to say thank you to these Special Valentines. We're asking for nominations for a Special Valentine of 1971. It can be a busy mother who's doing an extra kindness for a friend or relative (maybe checking to see an old person is well, or getting a lunch for him). It can be a daughter who hurries home from school to make dinner every day for a working mother, a teacher who gives extra help — even Dad's eligible.

Send us your nomination with a few lines telling why that person's "A Valentine." We'll honor them in print — and pick the one that seems most worthy for a Valentine present — a dinner out for two.

Entries should be submitted by February 1 and will be printed February 10-11.

Connecticut, Mrs. Starr told the new Questers, she found an old dump and dug up 45 bottles — gaining blisters, some rare brown and green bottles, and a new interest.

Most bottles made before 1880 have a green tone, and those produced between 1880 and 1914 of clear glass will take on an amethyst hue, she said, showing examples. Bitters bottles are most sought after and even Avon bottles have become collector items, the speaker added.

Since farmers disposed of those brown bitters bottles as well as choice cobalt blue containers and other trash on their own property, Linda Starr urges area residents living near old houses (or their sites) to "start digging."

A good "find" may be worth more than $100 and books on old bottles have been published to help in identification. The speaker warned, however, that she finds it impossible to part with her hand-dug treasures.

Quigley, Jr., Our Lady's League president. The show also will feature fashions for the 4-to-14 age group from Fran Kontos' Clothes Tree in Plymouth.

Jaycee Wives Plan Dinner

Novi Jaycee Auxiliary will be hostess for a progressive dinner at 6:30 p.m. this Saturday to mark Jaycee Appreciation Week. All Novi Jaycees and their wives are invited to this "first" for the club.

Mrs. Ron Mitchell and Mrs. Phil Cozzad, co-chairmen, have planned five courses at the homes of Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Jim Cherfoli, Mrs. Ernie Kramer, Mrs. Jerry Mercier and Mrs. Ron Cowden. As a finale, the auxiliary will present the Jaycees with a surprise gift in appreciation of the Jaycees' work during the past year.

General membership meeting of the auxiliary will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Todd Price. For further information, members are asked to call 476-9380.

Frenchman Picked As Consultant

Schoolcraft College is one of four midwestern schools sharing the services of a foreign studies consultant from France during the 1970-71 academic year.

The consultant is Nicolas Manceau of Neuilly, France. According to Dr. Robert Keene, vice president for instruction, he will be on the Schoolcraft campus during February and March.

Sponsored by the Institute of International Studies of the U.S. Office of Education, Manceau will serve as a consultant in three major areas: developing study units and resource materials, evaluating library language resources, and conducting language workshops for Schoolcraft and high school language teachers.

At Schoolcraft Manceau also will work closely with Mr. John Lesko, faculty advisor to the student club of the Institute for International Education.

In France, Manceau is a secondary school English teacher at Lycee Colbert in Cholet. In 1964 he taught French to adults in Algeria. He has traveled widely including previous visits to the United States, Mexico, Great Britain, Greece, and Spain.

Prior to her marriage, Manceau's mother was an American, having been born in Newark, New Jersey. He is married and his wife, Daniele, has accompanied him during his current stay in the United States.

Vincennes University, Indiana, is the coordinating institution for Manceau's year in the States. In addition to Schoolcraft and Vincennes, he will consult at Black Hawk College, Illinois, and Davenport College, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Career Peek Set Tonight

Students and their parents will have an opportunity (Thursday) tonight to hear from men and women actively employed in careers who opportunities are available for them in the 70's.

Entitled "World of Work," the occupational career night begins at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Northville High.

"Everyone is invited to attend," Wayne Saunders, chairman of the event, said, "and a special invitation is extended to eighth, ninth and tenth graders and their parents."

The keynote address will be given by Dr. William Pierce, deputy superintendent of public instruction for the State Department of Education. He will speak on the "Changing World of Work."

Following his address, three sessions will be held to permit students to inquire about career areas.

In these sessions speakers will discuss opportunities available in specific fields, special training needed, advantages and disadvantages of the occupation, salary expectations and where the career training can eventually lead, Saunders noted.

Council to Discuss Business Fee Here

A business licensing ordinance and the fees that would be required from any business-commercial or industrial will come up for discussion by Novi councilman Monday.

Decision to postpone discussion one week came in a flurry of argument between council members early this week.

The proposed ordinance would require a registration fee for any business that: "has for its use the production and/or supplying of commodities."

Mayor Joseph Crupi termed the ordinance, as put before council Monday night, "inconclusive and incomplete."

"We promised the business community they would be heard when the council first talked about this," said councilman Louie Campbell, "and I, for one, am not ready to act on this ordinance until we do."

Councilman Donald Young agreed: "We promised that notice would be given to the general public." Young indicated that he felt the council's obligation would not be fulfilled until this was done.

Councilman Denis Berry wanted to know who Young would serve notice on. "Anyone who is a businessman," said Berry, "won't want to be charged a fee, you know that."

The matter was postponed until next Monday at 9 p.m. and all interested area businessmen were invited to attend.

In other business Monday, the council unanimously nominated the Oakland County Health Department to act as health officer for the city, and it directed City Attorney Howard Bond to prepare a resolution to the effect.

Edward O'Rourke of the Oakland County Department of Health was on hand, as per council request, to answer any question councilmen might have.

O'Rourke pointed out that, according to law, the county health department was the only "bona-fide" department in Oakland County, and he noted that it "would like the city to appoint it as the city health officer...primarily to enforce local codes."

O'Rourke explained that out of 63 units of local government in the county "less than half" use the county facility, and that one concern of county officials was uniformity.

He said that given a difference in codes, if acting for the city, the county would necessarily execute the stricter one.

In still other business Monday, councilmen — —Approved unanimously an ordinance prepared by Bond changing the date of municipal elections. The ordinance, in accordance with a new state law, effectively extends current terms being served by city officials.

The ordinance, contrary to what was previously reported, provides that newly elected officials take office on "the Monday next following the date of the regular city election...now to be held in November of the odd numbered years." It had been reported by this newspaper that officials would take office on the January 1 following an election, thus adding two months to the already inflated term.

—Set February 8 as a public hearing to consider the assessment role prepared by City Assessor Dallas Zonkers in the matter of the paving of Nine Mile Road.

A "special adjournment" was called by Councilman Berry, and the council excused itself for four minutes.

When it reconvened, Councilmen Presnell, Campbell and Evans voted against calling the public hearing. When asked for an explanation Presnell and Evans declined to give one.

—Directed City Manager Dallas Zonkers to prepare resolutions determining the necessity of sewer installation in the area of Meadowbrook and Eight Mile known as Meadowbrook Manor.

—Accepted a bid from Robert L. Lussenden in the amount of $1,197.40 for the plumbing in the new DPW garage.

—Passed to Chief of Police Lee BeGole for recommendation a proposed ordinance which would provide for the automatic re-issuing of liquor licenses unless complaints were lodged either with him or the State Liquor Control Commission.

—Appointed by unanimous action the area firm of Cooper and Shiftman to the post of city prosecutor.

Oakland College Tax Stirs Legal Hassle

The question of whether or not constitutionally set-tax limitations can be exceeded at the county level remains unanswered this week as at least one citizen group threatens suit in Oakland County.

Under fire is .35-mill levied by the Oakland County Community College District to meet payments on its bonded indebtedness. It exceeds the 15-mill county millage limitation, critics have charged.

The millage, spread in April of 1970 by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, may draw a law suit from at least one citizen group, namely the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association, which tentatively has engaged the services of Waterford attorney, Bernard Paige. But the OCHTA is not sure that it can scrape together the funds necessary for a legal fight that could cost $2,000 to $5,000.

Glenn Swindler, president of the association, told this newspaper early this week that his group was discussing the matter in an effort to arrive at some conclusion. Efforts thus far to compel the Attorney General's office to initiate legal action has failed.

An essential part of any law suit, according to Maxine B. Virtue, an assistant to the Attorney General, "is a local taxpayer who pays the tax under protest to act as plaintiff."

"If people pay without protest," said Mrs. Virtue, "the legal question may be moot."

Whether or not there is a legal question to contest is itself under debate.

The state constitution says, according to Mrs. Virtue, that no county may exceed a 15-mill tax limitation, "but elsewhere in the same article (article 9 section 6), it states that 'the 15-mill limitation does not apply to taxes levied for debt service on bonds.'"

As to the .35-mill levy, which would exceed the 15-mill limitation on county allocated millage, Mrs. Virtue quoted an opinion dated February 5, 1969 to the effect that "the constitution does not create additional taxing power, but merely provides that in a contract made with landholders, any debt incurred must be paid."

"In short," she said, "a county cannot plan in advance to go into debt. It must live within the 15-mill limitation. Otherwise any limitation law would be useless."

Walter Nikkel, vice president for business of Oakland Community College, scoffs at the charge of illegality.

"We operate under a law which says that whenever a district has a debt outstanding it shall levy whatever is necessary to pay the principle interest for that year," said Nikkel.

"All bond applications go through the State Municipal Finance Commission. They wouldn't approve anything illegal, and we haven't received word of rejection," Nikkel concluded.

According to a spokesman for the Municipal Finance Commission, bond applications from the school dated February 21, 1969 were set aside this week with no action pending receipt of information from the county. "The community school district," he said, "has a certain levy and it can't go over it. In this case, apparently, Oakland Community College has."

"The board of trustees of the community college district," contended Mrs. Virtue, "has the right to determine a budget by statute. The budget is then submitted to the board of commissioners. It is their responsibility to spread the levy. Ordinarily, it is not their legal function to question methods by which the budget is determined."

Mrs. Virtue later expressed hope that the "community college district would give us more information in respect to what looks like an illegal over-levy, or else modify its handling of the funds."

Leaders Net Subdivision Compromise

Two ditches in Meadowbrook Lakes will be repaired before June, according to Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi.

Crupi made the announcement in describing a meeting he had attended with Homestead Corporation representatives, Thompson Brown representatives and the city engineers.

Homestead is the developer in the ditch-troubled Meadowbrook Lakes subdivision, Thompson Brown the sales agent.

The agreement reached, according to Crupi, is that Thompson-Brown will lower two

Novi Promotes Pair

Recent promotions boosted former Novi Detective Sergeant Richard Faulkner to the post of detective lieutenant and former Novi Detective Corporal Gordon Nelson to the post of detective staff sergeant.

Faulkner and Nelson are both veterans of the Novi Police force having served nine and five years, respectively.

A resident of the Novi area since 1946 when he moved here with his parents, Faulkner was born in St. Paul, Minnesota. The 34-year-old lieutenant is married with three children — two boys and a girl.

Before joining the department in 1961 he was a student at the Radio Electronics Technical School in Detroit and an employee of the Novi Post Office. He is currently taking classes at Schoolcraft College, working towards an associate degree in police administration.

Nelson, married and a father of five, was assistant advertising manager of the George A. Clark Corporation in Minneapolis before he became a policeman.

Born and raised in Detroit, Nelson lived on the northwest side until his parents moved to nearby Southfield where he lived until he was married.

At one time he was a student at the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit, studying commercial advertising.

Both Nelson and Faulkner have attended classes in the law enforcement field at Michigan State University, Wayne State University and Oakland Community College.

GORDON NELSON

RICHARD FAULKNER

ON THEIR WAY — Wixom's Dennis and Sherri Vangieson, third place holders in the Midwestern Figure Skating competition held early this month in Rockton, Illinois, will travel to Buffalo Monday to compete in the national competition. He's 20 and she's 18. They've been together as a team for four years, not long by professional standards, but when you add up five to six hours practice a day, every day, that's four years packed full of skating.

Opinion Solicited From Novi Teens

"A first step" is being taken in a campaign that hopefully will serve to educate the Novi community, both child and adult, as to the existence of a drug problem within it.

So says the Reverend Leslie Harding of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church. Father Harding is chairman of the Drug Abuse Committee, an arm of Novi Youth Assistance Citizens Drug Committee.

Having gained the approval of Principal Gerald Hartman, Father Harding's group expects to circulate questionnaires among high school students this week. The questionnaires will ask what educational programs students would like to see, whether they would like or use a "rap line" designated to talk over drug problems anonymously, and what question, if any, do they have about drugs.

The questionnaires will be handed back through the school office and area volunteers, sponsored by Fr. Harding's group, will meet with small groups of students in an effort to answer the questions.

"This is only a first step," said Father Harding. "Eventually we hope to have a complete program of education involving those in elementary through senior grades. But it has to start somewhere and we realize that education is the answer, at least part of it."

"Not just education of the young either, but education of their parents, too. Parents who don't believe a drug problem is possible in their community."

Other groups cooperating with the Novi Youth Assistance group are the School Drug Education Committee, the Cooperative Action Committee and the Novi Police Department.

Police Corporal Robert Starnes talked about programs available through the police department here.

"The police force will travel anywhere at anytime," Starnes said, "to talk to anybody about drugs and drug abuse. They will conduct an anonymous analysis to tell anyone who delivers any chemical to the Novi Police station what it is, free of charge, and with no names involved."

Starnes, who has been working with narcotics offenders for a year and a half, devotes "at least half of a 40 hour work week" plus an average of 20 hours on his own in dealing with the drug problem in Novi.

What to do if you have a problem?

Starnes recommends problem cases to the police. "We're here to help," he said, "but there are too many things to fight."

Another suggestion is to call NARCO at 1-965-5580. The number connects the caller to a switchboard from which one can be referred for competent medical assistance.

Dearborn Suspect Arrested

Eighteen-year-old Loyal C. Weber of Dearborn, a former Novi High School student, has been arrested by Novi Police in connection with a breaking-in at the school October 25 when $4,000 in damages occurred.

Weber gave an address of 6817 Middle Point in Dearborn as his residence. The home is occupied, according to police, by his mother. His father lives in Novi.

The arrest was made Wednesday by police at the Dearborn home of a friend. Officers found Weber in the company of a 15-year-old girl, who police said was a run-away from Farmington Township. The arrest marked the second time she had been picked up by Novi detectives.

A search of the house, with the owners permission, netted approximately half of the material taken, (see picture on page 7-A) in the October 25 break-in.

Among the items recovered was a sousa-phone and a flute, a "Wildcat" tote bag, and some 80 combination locks.

Weber was arraigned before Judge Martin Boyle Thursday and released on $2,500 personal bond.

There have been two robberies at the high school, the October 25 incident for which Weber is charged, and an incident occurring on December 17.

Weber had dropped out of Novi high school in September, according to police.

He is a graduate of Bowling Green State University at Bowling Green, Ohio.

Mayor Sets USO Day

A proclamation designating Thursday, February 4 as the observance of USO Day in Northville, was signed this week by Mayor A. M. Allen.

The proclamation commends the USO, founded 30 years ago in 1941 to provide a "home away from home" for American servicemen and women, for its "unselfish service" and its "inspiring programs" that have sustained the "morale of generations of young Americans in uniforms."

CADET MICHAEL L. BOGART — Now in his first year at Howe Military School in Howe, Indiana, Mike is the son of Robert and the late Mrs. Bogart, 46638 West Main street. going on to receive his theological degree from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. His wife taught school during this period. The couple has a young son, Jeffrey.

In 1968 the young minister instituted the first of three summer work camps to the Tennessee-Virginia area. Young people of the church went with him to Morgantown, West Virginia, in 1968; to Sunset Gap, Tennessee, in 1969; and to a health fair in Haysi, Virginia, in 1970. He also sponsored a sacrificial lenten "live-in" for young people at the church in 1970.

The Outstanding Young Man award of the Jaycees is given to the best candidate, nominated by the public, who has served his community in one or more ways that go beyond or are different and apart from his normal vocation, according to Dennis Dildy, Jaycee director of public improvement. The award goes only to one who is of Jaycee age, between 21 and 35, and who has demonstrated the Jaycee creed, "Service to humanity is the best work of life."

In holding the award banquet during National Jaycee Week the local Jaycees are joining with nearly one million other young men in the United States who are "dedicated to service to their community and the development of leadership through civic involvement."

The Jaycees hope to acquaint the community with its local chapter activities. They point out that "the Northville chapter is the Number One chapter in the state, gaining recognition widely for its activities." The chapter has 52 members.

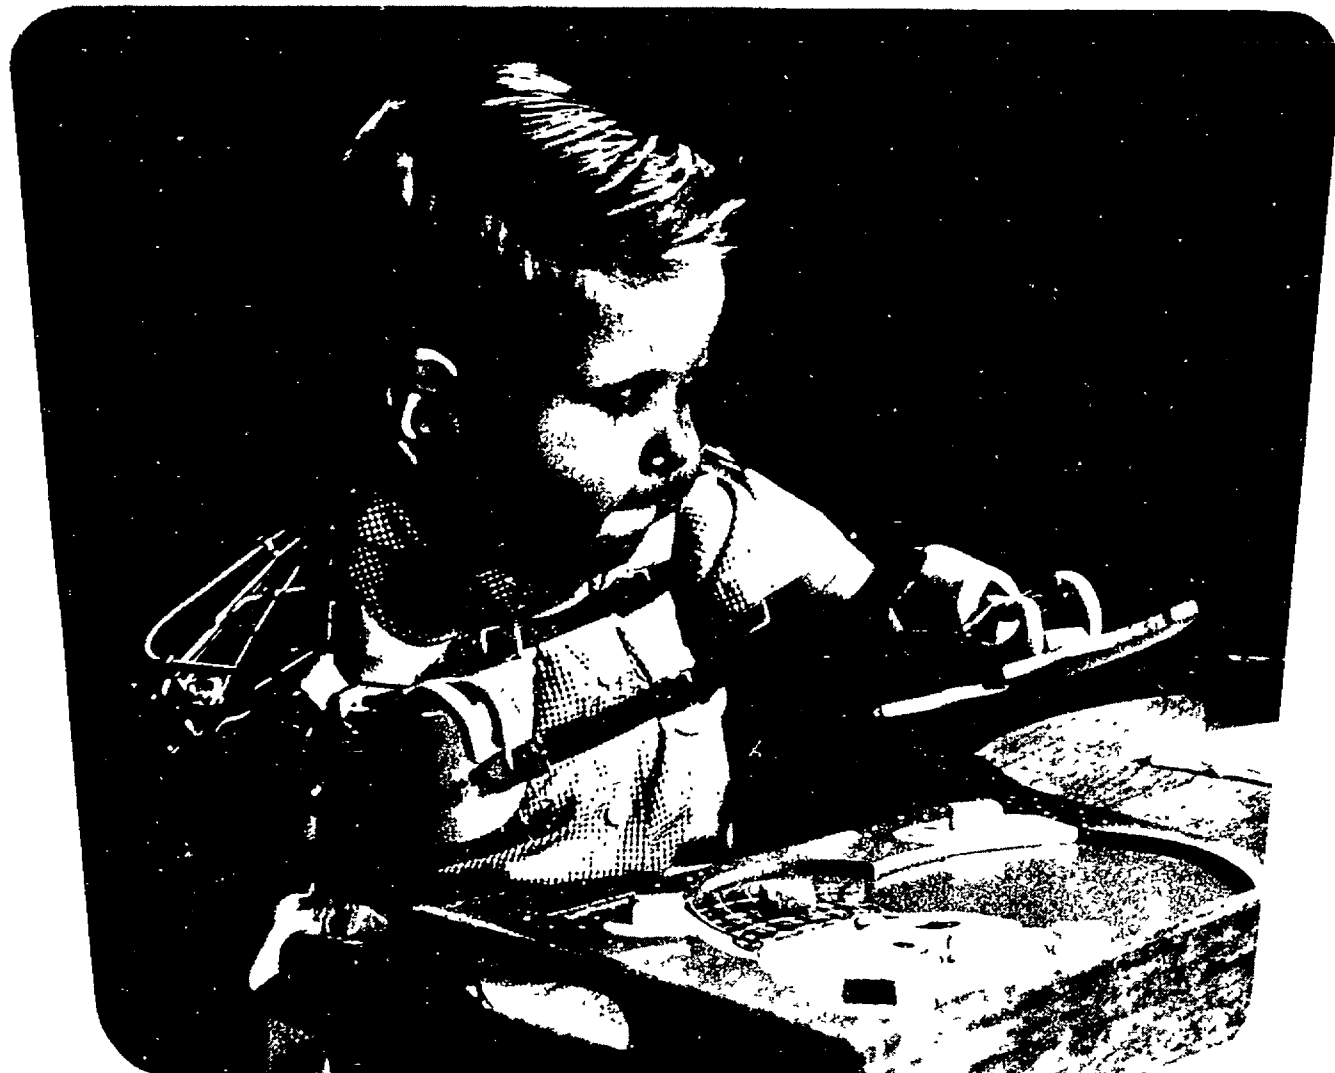

Members point out that "the chapter is invaluable in reducing the costs of recreation facilities and other youth activities, such as giving assistance in developing Ford Field into baseball diamonds and area skating rinks placed throughout the area."

During the past year the chapter also has been involved with clean-up campaigns, such as the Middle Rouge Parkway clean-up last fall. It annually conducts the Junior Miss Pageant locally. Local Jaycees have been active in the Punt-Kick-Pass sports development program of the Ford Motor Company.

At Easter, the Jaycees sponsor the Easter Egg Hunt for small children of the community. They also sponsor the Fourth of July Parade and help with the fireworks display.

Mardi Gras Ball Plans Told

by Nancy Dingeldey

This is going to take some thought and with a month's notice, it is hoped that the time will be put to some deep thinking—the subject is costumes. The Wixom Centennial Committee has announced a Mardi Gras Ball to be held in Wixom on February 20 and the all important thing to remember is costumes. To be a typical Mardi Gras ball, the wilder the dress, the better — King Rex and his Queen will be chosen to reign over the evening on the basis of their costuming. So you can see why it is so important to start thinking now. The dress can be anything desired (within certain limits, you know) and it does not have to be based on the Centennial Sounds like a great evening and could certainly show the talents of the citizens— and probably a couple of good laughs along the way. So do mark the date and put the thinking caps on — who knows, you could be the King or Queen.

"National Baby Week" was celebrated in appropo fashion last Friday night. A baby shower for Carol Santi was held at the Finn Camp club room. The little tyke is expected momentarily and will come home to some beautiful things. "He" certainly is a lucky baby. Carol is the eldest daughter of Martha and George Tuorin and it will be their first grandchild.

V. and Gunnar Mettala hosted a sit down dinner for eight couples at their home last Saturday night to celebrate their silver anniversary. Their daughter Vivi and husband John Germain of Erie, Pennsylvania drove in on Saturday to help them celebrate. Golden and white mums graced the tables as centerpieces. After some urging, Gunnar showed the colored slides of the trip they and the Ray Lahti's took through Europe last summer. Gunnar is quite a photographer and along with the running commentary of the two couples, everyone wanted to pack up and go. Fascinating, spectacular and exciting — a really great evening.

Skip Abrahms, who just recently graduated from Oakland University, has a rather fascinating experience awaiting him in Kalkaska. He has taken a job with the school district there and will be teaching in a one room school containing grades kindergarten through eighth. His attention will be centered on grades two through eight. Now that should be an experience! Dorothy and Bill have been busy moving all his gear up there and I'll have to check in on them from time to time to hear the tales they collect.

Wixomites on the move Rhea and Enno Sorvari have just returned from two sun/tun weeks in Mexico City and Acapulco. One look at those smiling tanned faces and you couldn't help but tell they went farther than Detroit. Rhea should be a travel commentator — I was left with a perfect mental picture of all they did plus an awful case of "wander-bug!" First week was spent in Mexico City taking in all there was to see — Alameda Park, and the whole of Mexico for that matter was dressed for Christmas — "miles of balloons and Christmas lights and vendors" was the way Rhea put it — "just like a child's dream."

And an even more interesting thing to them was that a mural of this park painted by Diego Rivera is hanging in the Detroit Museum of Art. He is the same artist who painted the murals in all the City buildings of Mexico City. They also visited the Museum of Anthropology which is reported to be the finest in the world — two whole days were spent looking and Rhea said it was "absolutely spectacular."

Rhea works for the Girl Scouts here in Michigan so one of her little side trips was to Cuernavaca and a visit to a Girl Scout Cabana. This is one of three world centers for Girl Scouting and was something she couldn't miss seeing. The Aztec pyramids, the Floating Gardens and Taxco plus a bull fight and the Folk Ballet completed their week in Mexico City and then on to a "golden week" in Acapulco.

And we have a couple of other winners — this time is winter sports. The Bill Mills', their daughters and guest Linda Zaccardelli drove to Remus, Michigan and the "Canadian Lakes Resort" for their winter sports carnival. They have just recently purchased property there which entitles them to, among other things, access to seven lakes, skiing, tobogganing, bob sledding and many miles of snow mobile trails. Aileen entered the "powder puff" snow mobile race and surprised everyone, including herself by coming in first, and received a beautiful trophy for her win. Tried her hand at skiing too but all she "won" there were some mighty sore muscles.

Walt Tuck, son Dave and Fred Waara spent the weekend in Lewiston and "Sheridan Valley" doing their favorite thing — skiing. Big thrill there was having Dave enter the slalom event for 14 year olds where he captured third place.

Congratulations to the winners of the week!

Speedy recovery wishes to Darlene Lahti who had to be re-hospitalized for surgery shortly after she gave birth to their new little son. She is at St. Joseph's in Pontiac. Our thoughts are with you Darlene and we hope to see you home very shortly.

Our sympathies are extended to Rochelle and Danny Fair on the sudden death of his mother.

ABOUT HALF — Loot recovered from Dearborn represents less than half of nearly $4,000 worth of supplies and materials taken from Novi High School in October. See story, Novi, Page 1.

Police Blotter

Robbers Beat Attendants

In Northville . . .

An attendant at Boron Gas Station, 710 West Eight Mile Road, was knocked unconscious Sunday evening in what police believe may have been an attempted robbery.

According to police reports, Richard Megges of Livonia went to empty trash behind the station and was hit on the head and knocked unconscious. Megges regained consciousness shortly after 9 p.m. and called police. He was taken to St. Mary hospital where several stitches were required to close a head laceration he received.

No money was taken, police said.

Unknown persons slashed the vinyl top of a car while it was parked in the vicinity of 168 East Main Street.

According to police, Stanley J. Simler of West Seven Mile Road, reported the incident January 14. Simler said the damage must have occurred January 11 between 8 p.m. and 8-15 p.m. while the car was parked on Main Street.

Police reports said an 18-inch slash was found in the roof of the car.

Green Ridge Tree Service reported the loss of a saw valued at $200 on January 14.

Police reports said the saw fell off of a truck on Hutton Street and when the driver went back to pick it up it was gone.

The Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department auxiliary pistol team posted a score of 853 on Saturday, beating the Northville city police auxiliary team which finished with a score of 827.

High individual score was captured by Northville Auxiliary Lieutenant Ralph Owings who shot 254.

Two members of the Northville city police department are among the graduates of a two week course in advanced traffic safety held in Pontiac. Chief Samuel Elkins and Sergeant Louis Westfall completed the course sponsored by Northwestern University.

In Township . . .

About $250 was taken in an unnamed robbery at Pride Car Wash, 39780 West Five Mile Road.

According to Police reports, Kenneth Babcock of Southfield, an attendant at the business, told police he was counting cash about 4-30 p.m. January 13, when a white male about 20-years-old entered the station and asked for change.

Babcock said when he went to give the man change he announced it was a hold up. Babcock said the man hit him in the face and fled with about $250 in cash, township police reports stated.

Two youths told police they were shot at by the driver of a dark blue or black car shortly before 6-30 p.m. Saturday while they were standing in front of 51370 Six Mile Road.

According to township police, the youths, ages 12 and nine, saw a car stop on Six Mile at Napier, heard a shot fired and saw the family dog run toward them.

The youths heard another shot and several pellets struck the ground in front of them, police said.

The boys were not injured, reports stated, but the dog suffered facial cuts and received pellets in his hind quarter. The driver of the car is still being sought, police said.

Junior Troop 1027 has planned its Court of Awards for January 19th. The girls made invitations for their mothers while their leaders were busy signing badges.

Members of Troop 1027 hope all their mothers will be able to attend the Court of Awards. The girls will be given their badges they have earned this year at that time.

Brownie Troop 404 elected new officers last week. Janet Snowden will be the new president; April Derrick, vice-president; secretary, Lari Wixom; and treasurer, Denise Burnham.

Announcement was made that $1.00 dues for the new year are now being collected.

The girls are planning a tea for their mothers at which time their world association will be given out. They have two new projects to be completed by the tea which will include sewing and painting.

Many of the Novi Girl Scouts have been busy with winter activities. The Cadette Troop spent last Saturday tobogganing at Cass Benton Park, feeling fortunate that only minor injuries were sustained due to the icy conditions of the hillsides.

Brownie Troop 161 took the ice in stride enjoying an afternoon of skating at the home rink of leader Mrs. Ruth MacKay. They are working on skits to present to their mothers at a later date.

Brownie Troop 711 also enjoyed a skating party at the home of leader Mrs. Pat Grey this past January 12th. They are making the most of winter by having participated in a nature hike, January 5th, observing winter bird nests, frost and the changes of apples still hanging on some trees in the orchard behind the school. They found them to have a close resemblance to chestnuts. At the meeting held this week the girls learned how to tie square knots. Continuing their nature studies they also learned how to use their senses for sight, sound, and smell in observing new things. There are now 13 girls in this new troop. Cindy Michels was recently invested as a Brownie and Marie Russell will receive her pin within another two weeks.

Junior Troop 913 continues work on its Indian Lore Badge. Several girls recently received their "My Community Badge" after working together for it. Badges were received at the last meeting by Carolyn Hilliard (3), Tami Fitzpatrick (3), Barbara Folsom (2), Terry Brooks (2), and one each to Laura Birou, Carol and Kathy Burnet, Kathy Brzezniak, Patty Detless, Lori Fear, Cheri Mason, Nancy Sale, Terry Stone, Jeanne Withers and Sharon Fletcher.

These girls are looking forward to a Father-Daughter Bowling party to be held early in February. The leaders meeting will be held Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. at the Novi United Methodist Church on Ten Mile Road. All leaders and assistants are urged to be present.

Winners' trophies were presented by Cubmaster Richard Barbara.

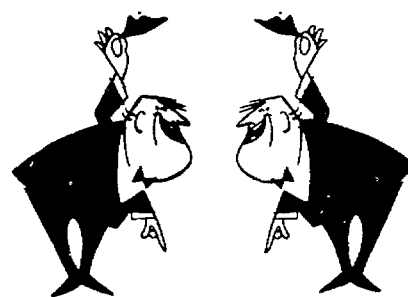

Cubmaster Barbara was assisted by Clifford Kirkland, Kenneth Beers, Donald Rose, Jack Derrick, Ed DeBrule, Gerald Anthony, and Richard Jensen in the running of the races.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Recently I received a clipping from The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich's column which appears in The Detroit News sent by J. S. Waterloo, a former city of Northville building inspector.

In answer to a question concerning citizen opposition to the construction of gas stations in their neighborhood Bishop Emrich stated that "wiser zoning laws should protect our residential areas."

He added that "it isn't just gas stations; it's doughnut shops, fried chicken establishments, hamburger houses and the curse of billboards as well." And he concluded that "strict zoning that really cares about beauty is the only answer. Fight for life's quality."

In his note Waterloo wondered if Northville shouldn't be more concerned about gas stations, hamburger houses and supermarkets.

There's no inclination here to argue with Bishop Emrich, or my friend Stan Waterloo, for that matter.

But in my opinion the answer is not quite as simple as "caring about beauty" and "fighting for life's quality."

Noble as they are, these are not the only factors to be considered in making decisions involving the use of property. And whose definition of beauty and quality do we accept?

To a landowner the most beautiful sight on his piece of property might be a 10-story apartment building filled with prompt-paying tenants. To a neighbor it might be a pond nestled among bird-filled trees.

To a young couple or pensioners anxious to find modern living quarters at reasonable rental an apartment complex is an answer to a dream; but during the broad middle years of life when income is at its peak and youngsters are growing, a single-family home with a large lot surrounded by more of the same is "life's quality."

I haven't forgotten that the Bishop and Waterloo were referring to "gas stations and hamburger houses." But to some degree the same rules apply.

It's a highly complex problem involving the rights of private ownership, especially as they apply to an owner's right to use his property as he sees fit. Conversely, there's the public welfare to protect... the rights of other individuals whose lives are affected by what their neighbors do.

And, really, that's what zoning is all about.

Actually, it's a relatively new vehicle introduced at the local government level to protect property values, aesthetics, personal and public welfare, and property owners.

Zoning, in my estimation, is the most valuable single tool that government has to offer people for their own protection and welfare.

Yet it is the most badgered, unappreciated, misunderstood, misused, challenged, coveted, praised and cursed authority that local government has at its disposal.

The courts are filled with zoning issues, and it is not uncanny to find contradictions to rulings in lower, appellate and higher courts.

And zoning is illusive; what has been zoned can be rezoned.

And zoning whets our greed; property values rise and fall depending upon their suitability for use as landfills, industries, commercial enterprises, multiple dwellings, gas stations, mobile home developments, single family dwellings.

When it is a gas station, landfill (disposal area) or asphalt plant that seeks to locate near our own residential neighborhood, we object vigorously and seek the protection of zoning.

When it is near another neighborhood, we are less concerned; we might even see tax advantages for the total community.

When we are the petitioner with handsome profit in hand if proper zoning can be obtained, we recite all the advantages from tax benefits to need of the service, and finally we declare that the property has no other use and to prevent its sale through failure to rezone would be discriminatory and punitive.

Admittedly, I have played the role of the devil's advocate. And to some degree I have evaded a direct answer to Stan Waterloo.

But there are two sides to every coin and both should be recognized.

Insofar as gas stations, hamburger houses and supermarkets in Northville are concerned, I believe extreme caution must be exercised by the planning commission.

Just recently a request for rezoning at Taft and Eight Mile road for a service station was denied by planners.

An effort to expand another station facility was denied and withstood a challenge in court.

It becomes very difficult to draw lines in zoning. A business district, for example, that expands into a residential area is considered by some to be a spreading cancer, by others to be progress.

Planning commissions (and zoning boards) cannot discriminate against one business or another. They cannot say "we have enough gas stations or hamburger houses."

Where proper zoning already exists, free enterprise must be allowed to function. And when petitions for rezoning are denied, the reasons must be stronger than "we have enough of this business or that."

But rigid zoning lines can be defined and enforced to provide a balanced community. Frequently, time and growth dictate the need for changes to maintain balance.

Planning commissions trying to set forth these lines years in advance meet

Is ...

I'll have to admit at first I didn't like the idea.

Dressing up like a woman? It's unmanly... it's demoralizing... and it's a little tough to take when one of the other officers gives you a pat and a wink.

But as the Chief explained when he briefed us for special duty, you have to employ all the resources at your command to combat crime.

I never would have believed it, but the gimmick works! And after awhile you begin to take pride in your conquests. I don't want to brag, but most of the fellows on our squad say I'm the "prettiest girl" on the beat.

And you ought to see the faces of the muggers when they try to yank away my purse! One jerk and I flip them right on their rears.

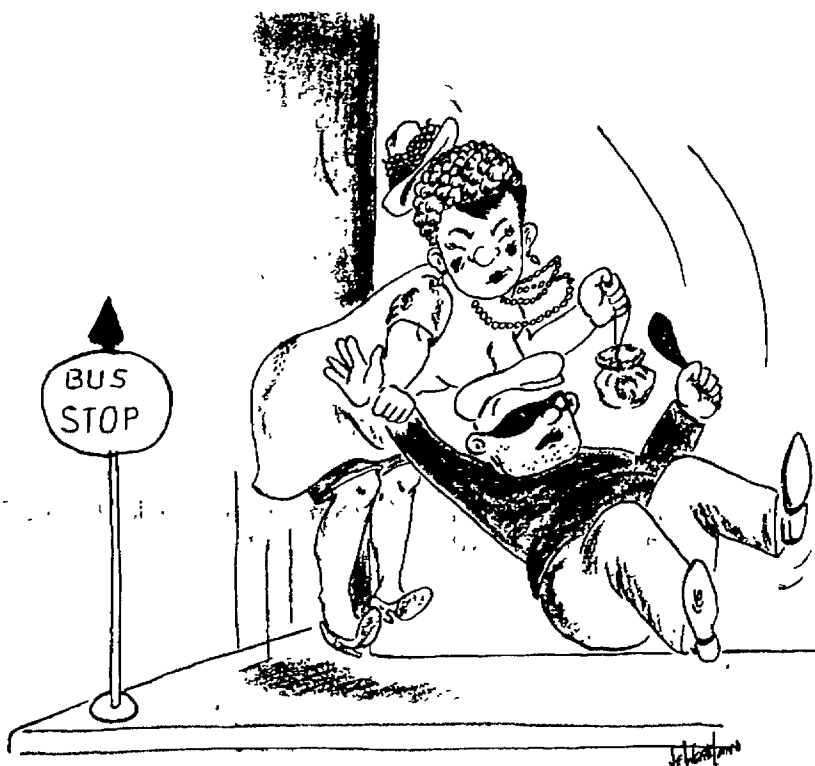

Besides cutting down of the number of muggings, which of course is the motive of the maneuver, there's a fringe benefit that I hadn't counted on.

Those panty stockings are really warm and comfortable! I bought a half-dozen pair. If you wash them nightly, be careful not to stretch or snag, they'll last for months.

Head Over Heels

A 40-year-plus career with Ford Motor Company is over for Harley Wolfrom of Northville but he's still closer to the plant than most employees.

Harley and his wife live in one of the homes on East Main street just kitty-corner from the Ford Valve Plant where his career started and ended. Last month he retired but not before Ford Valve and friends feted him at a party at the Thunderbird. His retirement also was featured in a Ford magazine.

"That's kind of funny," he laughs referring to the story. "They wrote about me not long after I started and again when I retired."

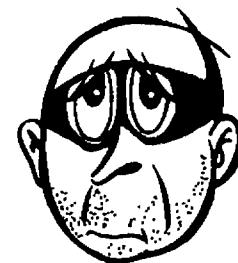

The initial story was pegged on Harley's garden-farm he lived on at the time out on Six Mile Road. The late Henry Ford's motto was "One Foot in The Soil and One Foot in Industry" and the Northville man was seen as the prime example of this mixture of agriculture and industry.

Harley was only nine years old when Mr. Ford moved the valve-making operation to Northville in 1920. "I remember it caused a lot of talk around town," recalls the 1929 Northville High School graduate.

The Northville plant was one of Henry Ford's "village industries" that dotted the banks of the Rouge River. Among others, one was located at Waterford (south of Six Mile on Northville Road) and at Phoenix

Speaking for Myself Is It, or Ain't It Fair?

Many police departments are now dressing officers in women's clothing and setting them up as decoys to catch muggers (purse snatchers). This week we asked an officer and a mugger, "is it fair?"

Ain't ...

Ain't it bad enuf that us muggers gotta put up with those broads with hatpins and whistles and who knows what all?

Now they gotta go and dress up cops like gals so's we don't know if she's a him or her. It ain't fair. There oughta be a law or somethin' to say you can't cheat on us. Or leastways they oughta make cops wear stripes on their stockings so's we have a halfway chance to spot 'em.

Most of us guys hafta work at night without extra pay and none of those fringe benefits most workin' guys get. And in the dark it's awful tough already to tell a guy from a gal what with all the long hair the guys are wearin' nowadays. Think how tough it's got now for us poor guys.

I talked to some of my friends over at Jackson and they think the same way as me. We're gonna hafta organize...you know, sort of a union, to make sure we get rights same as everybody else. If the cops don't come across we'll go on strike, that's what we'll do. And if we strike those cops won't have us to chase around and they ain't gonna have any work either.

And that ain't all. Some of our women are thinkin' about picketing the cops' headquarters 'cause they don't like the cuts in our paychecks. Worse'n that they're madder'n hornets 'cause some of those frilly cops are wearin' better lookin' outfits than the ones they got.

Readers Speak

Peace Symbol Attack Unjust

To the Editor:

First, on behalf of the Church of the Holy Cross may we thank you for the news coverage in the Novi Highlights during the past year.

Secondly, the real purpose of writing this letter to you is to express my own personal dissatisfaction with a letter which was published by the paper on Thursday, December 10, 1970. I realize a lot of time has passed since this letter was published and my letter to you, but that is my fault. The published letter I refer to was to the editor concerning the peace symbol. It disturbs me greatly when someone writes such a personal letter full of apparent truths and yet does not have the intestinal fortitude to sign their name to it.

I am well aware that there are various groups in the nation who voice strong and vociferous opinions against communism and supposedly communistic tactics. The author of this letter so deems the peace symbol to be such a communistic sign.

All I would like to comment on here is that a great many of our young people have accepted this symbol as a sign of peace and not something of communistic origin. In making this comment to you I would ask you to think back 2,000 years and consider what the sign of the cross meant in its day. It was a sign of death, degradation, dehumanization and tragedy. Yet I would point out that one man transformed it into a sign of hope and peace for all mankind.

The freedom to think and write and say what we like is truly a precious gift, but I feel it is one which must be handled with great responsibility and, therefore, the publishing of this unsigned letter leaves much to be desired.

Sincerely Yours
The Reverend L. F. Harding
Vicar
Church of the Holy Cross

Mayor Raps County Letter

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter, with a copy to this newspaper, was sent to Senator Robert Griffin, Senator Philip A. Hart, Congressman Jack H. McDonald, Senator Carl Pursell, Representative Clifford H. Smart, and Commissioner Lew Coy.

To the Editor:

We are in receipt of December, 1970 issue of the newsletter "News and Views" published monthly by the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity. This publication consists of forty-two pages of questionable value and must be quite costly to write, print and distribute each month. In addition, the very name of the organization would indicate that funding is being obtained from federal, state and county tax sources.

On behalf of the taxpayers of the City of Novi, as well as the rest of the nation, the majority of the Novi City Council wish to protest this flagrant waste of our tax dollars. This example, along with many newspaper and television stories telling of ineffective and wasteful expansions of government commissions, bureaus and offices, would indicate that the bureau and commission are today's substitute for the old Public Works Administration in creating jobs and employment at the expense of the taxpayer.

Financing the growing need for school buildings, highway construction, sewer and water facility improvement and expansion and many other community projects falls on the shoulders of the local citizen through taxation of one sort or another. It is most frustrating to see ones state and federal tax dollars squandered on make-work projects and at the same time be unable to undertake necessary local projects due to lack of local funds.

We most urgently request that the state and federally financed administrative payrolls be reduced substantially so that funds may be shared directly with the local municipalities in funding projects necessary to the health and welfare of the citizens of this nation.

Respectfully,
Joseph Crupi, Mayor
City of Novi

Edison to Tell New City Plan

The Urban Detroit Area Research Project as it affects Northville will be presented at the February 8 meeting of the Northville Economic Development Committee beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Making the presentation will be E. Burdell Clark, Jr., administrative director of the project commissioned by Detroit Edison.

Following the slide presentation there will be a question and answer period, Earl Busard, business manager for Northville Schools and chairman for the meeting, said.

Among the findings in the study is a proposed new city in the center of the school district, Busard said.

Citizens from Novi, Northville and South Lyon are invited to attend as well as the councils, boards and planning groups in the area. "We hope the people will see what's ahead and then plan for the future together," Busard commented.

The Urban Detroit Area (UDA) plan for action — envisioning Detroit as a twin city forming the heart of a Great Lakes megalopolis of the 21st Century — proposes patterns for orderly development alleviating the area's existing and growing environmental crisis.

Specific plans include plans for a new twin urban center near Port Huron and 10 "satellite" cities (five of them new) surrounding Detroit.

The UDA plan also deals with land use, community organization, transportation, recreation and greenbelt complexes.

The UDA plan sees a viable City of Detroit as the most essential part of the plan and suggests some key patterns for development of the city.

Among the most critical of the problems sighted in the UDA plan, spokesmen said, are air and water pollution, wasteful and uncontrolled use of land, overcrowding and decay of urban centers, eroding of social values and unrest among the young.

The purpose of the study commissioned five years ago by Detroit Edison is to help people, governments and private and public institutions of the UDA solve the urban crisis and contribute to the successful development of the area, Burdell said.

The presentation is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

At Schoolcraft College

Accreditation Set for Spring

A six-member team from the North Central Association (NCA) will visit Schoolcraft College sometime between February 1 and June 1 to re-examine the college's accreditation.

Schoolcraft was fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in March, 1968, for a three year period on a scale of one to ten years.

With the accreditation expiration date nearing, the re-examination is necessary, Dr. Eric Bradner, president of Schoolcraft, noted.

NCA accreditation permits students to easily transfer credits from one accredited institution to another and also enables an institution to receive federal funds for courses and building programs, Dr. Bradner said.

Members of the NCA team who will visit Schoolcraft include Dr. Cliff Erickson, chancellor of the College of San Mateo in California, who is chairman of the team; Dr. Rupert N. Evans, professor of vocational and technical education for the Bureau of Educational Research at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois; and Harold L. Bittling, vice-president of administration at College of DuPage, Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

Also on the team are Mrs. Betty Duval, assistant dean for instructional resources at Florissant Valley Community College, St. Louis, Missouri; Mrs. Phyllis Drennan, coordinator of associate degree nursing program at Kirkwood Community College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and Victor E. Reef, chairman of the physical science division of Forest Park Community College, St. Louis, Missouri.

In preparation for its review re-examination, Schoolcraft has published a self-study "Institutional Profile." The profile is a comprehensive overview and analysis of the total operation and current status of the institution and is required by the examining team.

The college was notified of its re-examination in January, 1970, and during the two months following notification organized the study.

In April, Gordon Snyder, a biology instructor at Schoolcraft for six years, was elected by a vote of faculty and administration to direct the self-study.

Dr. William N. Atkinson, president emeritus of Jackson Community College, has served as consultant for the study.

The study, which was prepared between May and December, 1970, was edited by Lawrence Ordowski, director of the liberal arts division of the college.

Following the re-examination by the team, NCA will hear the report and determine the status of Schoolcraft's accreditation in July.

Results of the re-examination are either continuing accreditation from one to ten years, closed probation with conditions of accreditation not made public, open probation with conditions made public or denial of accreditation.

Dr. Bradner said he feels "Schoolcraft will be fully accredited or receive closed probation at the very least."

He explained that "Michigan has a peculiar relationship between the faculty and administration with teaching contracts, something other states do not have. None of the examining team is from Michigan, which is a stipulation of the NCA."

Dr. Bradner hinted the faculty strike last fall may play a part in the NCA findings.

Cost of the examination is $3,600, all of which is paid by the institution involved.

with strong citizen opposition, however. So time passes and piecemeal change takes place and eventually a community takes the form that planners had predicted.

Personally, I have great confidence in the performance of citizen-manned planning commissions. In the main I believe their efforts have served to benefit the community.

I would hope that power of zoning remains at the local level, but it is being challenged and if evidence of discrimination rears its head throughout the nation you can expect the power to be usurped by the federal government.

In the meantime, planning commissions are composed of local appointees who meet regularly and in open session. They are available to consider your criticism and explain their actions.

problem driveway culverts along Ennshire Drive if the city will asphalt the driveway strips they dig up, and Homestead Corporation will dig out the ditches involved and see and mulch the land, providing the homeowners water the seed until it grows.

Councilmen estimated cost to the city at $100. DPW Chief Ed Kriewall said, however, that the price couldn't be estimated until it is determined how much asphalt will be used.

Pursell Gets Senate Post

Senator Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) has been accorded a signal honor by his appointment as a "freshman senator" to the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee.

Announcement of his appointment was made by Senate Leader Robert VanderLaan as the 76th Legislature convened Wednesday in colorful ceremonies during which the new senator from the 14th Senatorial district was given the oath of office by Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson.

"I sincerely appreciate the opportunity and honor of serving on this important senate committee," said Pursell.

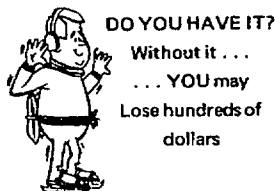

"We are faced with many difficult decisions in the immediate future and I feel it is extremely fortunate and important that the 14th Senatorial district voters will have a voice on this key committee."

Senator VanderLaan, in announcing Pursell's appointment, said:

"We are delighted that a man of Senator Pursell's broad civic and legislative background has agreed to serve on the Appropriations Committee."

Novi Cagers Drop Ninth Game

Milan Obrenovich, coach of the Novi cagers, is not a happy man.

His Wildcats were ripped apart Friday night in a whirlpool of action stirred up by visiting Ypsilanti Lincoln, 84-65.

It was Novi's sixth league loss (it's ninth loss over-all) and it slammed the door of the Southeastern Conference cellar right in the Wildcats face.

South Lyon, boasted a 1-5 record, one notch up from Novi, will host the winless cagers tomorrow.

And Obrenovich's real problems start Saturday.

That's when the second half of the season begins and the Wildcats have to face all those victorious opponents again.

Dexter, last game 68-56; Chelsea last game 65-53; Saline last game 79-72; etc.

The closest the Wildcats came within a lead was a two-point deficit in the opening two minutes of the game. The biggest obstacle was a 23-point margin the local cagers faced at the tail end of the third quarter.

Christmas came late for Novi wrestling coach Rick Trudeau this year — but it came.

Milan ventured onto Wildcat mats Thursday and presented the winless local squad its first victory, 31-19.

Falls were engineered by Tom Ford (112), Pat Ford (126) Duane Miller (138), Kevin Schingek (155), and Terry Auten in the heavy weight slot.

Gary Staub (185) and Billy Livingston (98) worked decisions 7-5 and 11-9 to round out Wildcat scoring. Milan worked two falls on Novi in the 107 and 132-pound classes.

Novi squad rubbed shoulders with Milan a second time at the South Lyon Invitational on Sunday.

Out of eight schools, Novi finished with a 40-point seventh place, two points ahead of Milan which wound up in the cellar with 38 points.

West Bloomfield took tournament honors with 100 points followed by Brighton (90), Willow Run (67), Dundee (64), South Lyon (55), and Clarencville (49).

Terry Auten took second place in the heavyweight division losing out in a 5-0 decision to Steve McCain of Willow Run.

Other placers were Tom Ford (112) in third, and Pat Ford (126), and Gary Staub (185), in fourth.

Schoolcraft Wins Again

Schoolcraft matmen snatched their sixth dual meet victory in eight tries Saturday as they defeated Lorin County Community College 23-18 at Elyna, Ohio.

Len Thompson (167) and Randy Marburger (177) notched the only falls in Schoolcraft's scoring effort.

Marburger, a graduate of Northville High School, leads the team in pins with five to his credit.

The Wells twins, Bernie at 126, and Bernard at 118, as well as Wayne Wendorf (150) remained undefeated in winning decisions.

Upcoming action will see Schoolcraft host the freshman squad from the University of Michigan, along with Highland Lakes Community College from Genesee on Tuesday.

quarters, finishing the final stanza four points ahead but still far short to turn a win.

Quarter scores in that game were 24-18, 41-30 and 65-62.

Obrenovich got good results out of Tom Boyer and John Pantalone Friday night, with Boyer taking a high 19 points and Pantalone tailing close with 15. But it wasn't good enough to match the support that visiting Railsplitters gave their ace, 20-point-man Ken Wright.

"They just don't play together," complained the coach, "Some of them play well, and there's some that can but won't, but when they do play they just don't play together."

Novi did a little better than 66 percent, attempting 34 free throws and converting 22, while netting 2 fieldgoals.

Lincoln outdid Novi on the court, sinking 32 baskets and matched the local quartet from the foul line, netting 20 out of 31 free throws.

South Lyon has had its troubles, too, and Friday's match shapes up as a struggle to stay out of last place.

On paper the Wildcats have the edge with consistent scorer Tom Boyer who has averaged 14.7 points per game over Glenn Wiseman who averages 13.8 points a game. But on the other hand, South Lyon has one victory to its credit. Saline 69-64. Saline handed Novi its fourth defeat 79-72.

LIKE A BLANKET — It seemed like an easy thing for Lincoln Friday night as they visited Novi and went home with a 19 point victory. The Railsplitter defense stopped Novi cold and kept shooters away from the basket long enough and often enough to keep the Wildcats away from victory. Tom Boyer was one that managed to get past his man but not often enough to do the Wildcats much good.

Pucksters Earn 5-Game Split

It was another split this weekend as area hockey association teams brought home two wins, two losses and a tie for five games.

By team, the results looked like this

FRATERNAL ORDER OF EAGLES SQUIRTS

The local squad traveled to Leamington, Ontario Sunday to lead Dearborn Heights going into the second period but wound up one-down at the end of three, 2-1.

Paul Barrow fired an unassisted goal at seven minutes of the first period to take the lead and card Northville's only scoring effort.

Goals by Dan Cunningham and Robert Shollace in the second and third period spelled defeat for the local squad, however, as it was unable to come back from the one-point deficit.

Heights Saturday, and failed to break a third period tie with Trenton Sunday, 2-2.

Goals in the Trenton game came in the first stanza from Frank Knoth in an unassisted effort at 13:47, and Greg Philips in the final 26 of the third period.

THUNDERBIRD INN MIDGETS

Northville met Jackson at Jackson Saturday and took a 4-3 victory with scoring drives in the second and third periods.

With three goals in the second stanza, from Mike Pattwell, Dan Morin and Art Autio, Northville went into the third period out front 3-2. The local squad's Chris Thomas added another point at 13:43 and then held Jackson to one goal for the remainder of the game.

THOMSON SAND & GRAVEL PEEWEES

Northville met Inkster at Detroit's Winter Wonderland and came out of the meet with a 6-2 victory.

A stellar performance was turned in by left wing Dave Cartwright who hurt Inkster with two goals in the second and third periods.

Kevin Steimach kicked off the attack with a goal in the first eight minutes. The next three minutes of play saw two Northville scores: one off the stick of Bob Michael and the first by Cartwright.

The second period was all Inkster as it notched its first goal to set the score at 3-1.

Northville cemented its victory in the third stanza as Chuck Smith scored in the opening two minutes and Cartwright carded his second goal two minutes later. Tom Bradley wound up Northville scoring with a final goal after 13 minutes.

Ice skating here received a boost this week as Recreation Director Robert Prom revealed that lights will be turned on at Ford Field Friday and Saturday evenings until 9 p.m.

Prom also reminded area residents interested in taking a hunter safety class to contact him immediately at 349-2287.

Boosters Plan 'Vegas Night'

The Northville Boosters Club board of directors announced this week it has picked Friday, April 16, as the date for the club's Las Vegas Night.

The party will be held at the VFW Hall, 438 South Main Street, spokesmen said.

The board also announced the All-Sports banquet will be held Wednesday, May 19, at Northville High School.

Hot Kettering Five Here Friday

Still looking for its first conference win since the Christmas holidays, Northville's varsity cagers will have their hands full tomorrow night when they host the Waterford Kettering five that last week blistered the hoops in edging Clarenceville, 104-98.

All eyes will be on Jerry Bell, the Kettering ace who paced his squad with 42 points.

Those 42 points represented three more than Northville's entire team could muster Friday in its 51-39 defeat at West Bloomfield.

The first-place Lakers had little difficulty in stretching its undefeated record even though the Mustangs exploded for 21 points in the final quarter. Northville's blitz, occurring as West Bloomfield's coach pushed his reserves into action, was tied to an effective press in the final minutes.

Neither team was spectacular offensively despite the Lakers' commanding margin throughout much of the game.

Two players on each squad hit double figures. Jeff Helland led Bloomfield's attack with 18 points, while Bernie Bach, who still appeared to be favoring his leg that was broken last year, paced the Mustangs with 15. Steve Utley was second high for Northville with 12 points, and Don Johnston was the runnerup for the Lakers with 10.

"Our shooting was cold," observed Northville Coach Omar Harrison. "If we'd have hit some decent baskets it would have been a more decent game."

"Defensively, we had them covered pretty well," the coach continued. "Bach and Utley had 11 rebounds apiece and (Todd) Hannert had 10."

Harrison remains confident that Northville can sweeten its performance heading into the second-half of its season — provided, of course, "our shooting gets better."

Both squads started slow, ending the first quarter with the Lakers out-front, 9-6. By intermission Bloomfield had a 13-point lead, 27-14 and at the three-quarter mark the Lakers had boosted their margin to 16 points, 34-18.

Northville, which fired a cold 38-percent from the floor, had the edge at the free-throw line, converting 11 of its 17 attempts for a 64-percent effort. West Bloomfield converted nine of 16 attempts for 56-percent.

JUMP BALL — West Bloomfield's Don Johnston (42), second-high scorer for the Lakers, gets a finger-tip edge on the ball in this flip with Todd Hannert of Northville.

Mustangs Travel; In Two Tourneys

Two invitational meets highlighted mat action in Northville last week as the Mustangs traveled to Schoolcraft for Tuesday-Wednesday action, and to Fenton on Saturday.

Brad Conklin fended off four opponents in the preliminaries and semi-finals at Schoolcraft only to suffer "a slight head injury" in his final match that resulted in a loss by default to North Farmington's Craig Gow in the 167-pound weight class.

Conklin recovered rapidly from a blow which, according to Schoolcraft doctors, "knocked the wind out of him

Northville Swimmers Tally Win

Mustang swimmers took first and second places in seven of 11 events and turned in winning times in both relays to down Ypsilanti Lincoln in its own pool last week, 80-25.

The victory marked the fourth in as many tries for tank Coach Ben Lauber's Mustangs.

Co-captains Mike Ivey and David Wright carded double victories along with Ralph Luckett and Tom Thompson.

Wright and Luckett were both members of the first place 200-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle teams while Ivey was anchor man in the 400-yard event and capped first in the 50-yard freestyle. Thompson captured first place in the 100-yard butterfly and the 100-yard backstroke.

Other firsts were turned in for Northville by Bill Witek in the 200-yard individual medley, Jay Ivey in the 100-yard breaststroke and Bill Maguire, Joe Boland and Jeff Pitak in the 100, 200 and 400-yard freestyle events.

Northville is slated for action again tonight at Livonia Churchill.

and gave him a small amount of dizziness."

Northville's second entry in the semi-finals, 126-pounder David Griffin, also fell to North Farmington in his fourth match after besting all preliminary contenders.

Saturday the Mustangs traveled into what coach Jack Townsley called "a tough tournament", to place seventh with 18 points.

"There were no fellows there, Bill Bissell and Juan Gonzales from Hazlett near Lansing and Madison Heights, who were placers in the world wide School Boy Tournament", said Townsley. "We were lucky to do as well as we did"

Fenton took first place honors with 118 points over Madison Heights and Flint Bentley. Milford finished an eighth place second to Northville with 10 points.

Placers in that tournament were David Griffin (126) Kevin Hartshorne (105) and John Coleman (185) all in third.

Novi Jayvees Nip Ypsi

Ignoring the previous week's narrow upset by Dundee, Novi Jayvee cagers bounced back Friday and dumped visiting Ypsilanti Lincoln, 68-66.

Northville Jayvees, on the other hand, continued its losing streak as the junior Mustangs suffered a crushing 60-34 defeat.

Wildcat Jim VanWagner led Friday's charge with a 20-point barrage that, despite Ralsplitter Ralph Walton's 23-point performance, set the stage for the triumph.

VanWagner got plenty of help from Steve Lukkari (18) and Gene Spencer (15).

The Wildcats were behind throughout the first half, down after the first period 11-9 and by the intermission 34-25.

They pulled it out in the third quarter, outscoring Lincoln by five points, 18-13, and finishing the final stanza six points ahead, 25-19, to post the final two point victory.

Quarter scores in that game were 11-9, 34-25 and 47-43.

Northville, while shining briefly in the second quarter, finished a 26 points behind the rampaging Lakers.

The Mustangs started slow, sinking only three field goals to the Lakers' six to finish the first period 17-9.

In the second stanza, however, baskets by Rod Crane and Mike Brown and aid from Brad McAllister gave Northville a more hopeful half time score: 28-25.

The second half was a downhill trip. West Bloomfield outpaced the visitors by 11 in the third quarter, and by 12 in the final stanza. The Mustangs failed to score in that closing period.

Quarter scores were 9-17, 25-28 and 34-48.

High-point man in that contest for Northville was Crane who netted 11 points. Brown followed up with nine.

While all bookkeeping, commercial printing, newspaper production and press operation have been moved to The Record's new facility at 560 South Main, editorial and advertising offices remain on the second floor of the old building. A small Record business office will be included as part of the general renovation of the main floor interior.

Entrance to the new Record office and two other professional offices will be through entrance "A" on Main street. Entrance "B" goes directly to the lower level where another business will be located. Still another office will be located on Center street at entrance "C".

Until remodeling is complete, probably in April or May, Record offices will remain in their same location at Main and Center streets — except for bookkeeping and commercial printing offices which have already been relocated at the 560 South Main street building.

The third floor area of The Record Office Building will remain vacant.

administrative salaries cut to actual level of contract. Approximately $2,000 had been allotted as leeway in the budget.

All cuts in the budget are to remain in effect until the end of the school year, Spear said.

In addition, 11 areas of the budget have been frozen "until such time as the district is aware of the actual dollar impact on the school district resulting from the state budget cuts," he said.

Areas frozen as of January 8 include

- teacher attendance at conferences and visitations which result in cost to the district;

- psychological services paid by the district;

- overtime and substitutes for clerical services, representing about $3,900;

- expenditures of $2,000 for curriculum development;

- spectator buses for athletic events and field trips, approximately $3,000;

- elimination of all overtime for custodial and maintenance personnel;

- cancellation of pre-payment for property and employee insurances;

- freeze all funds necessary to comply with textbook ruling; about $1,000 allotted for purchases;

- elimination of four custodial positions, representing $11,000. Three vacancies exist at present and

Horsemen will receive 45-percent again next year, and then an additional percent for each of the succeeding three years, explained Grettenberger.

Next month's opener, first for the Downs in winter (not counting Jackson Raceway's Northville meet), is expected to generate some new excitement with the Big Q — a beefed up version of the regular quinella — that produces the big payoffs.

In addition, the Downs will offer pari-mutuel patrons the Exacta — a 10th race betting feature used here last winter during the Jackson meet, and it will continue the Daily Double.

(The Big Q means patrons try to pick first and second place winners in two different races. Their picks need not be in the order they finish but merely first and second.)

Northville's shift to almost year-round racing — it covers nearly 11 months — has been made possible by the completely winterized plant which includes an ultra-modern clubhouse.

In addition to the Downs' winter meet that will close March 25, Northville also will have a 34-night summer meeting (June 24 through August 3), following the 76 nights at Hazel Park (March 26 through June 23). Wolverine then races for 76 nights (August 4 through October 30), followed by the Jackson — at — Northville meeting November 1 through December 18.

Spear said the cuts and freezes "will not have a negative impact on the district. The impact on children in the district will be minimal.

"Any of the items under the freeze," Spear noted, "that are germane to the educational program of the district will be reinstated on a priority basis immediately upon knowledge of the amount of money that can be placed back in our budget, in the event the district's cutback was more severe than the state's cutback."

He said the district should know the state cutbacks for certain by mid-February or early March.

"The personnel has been very understanding, cooperative and very supportive in the general attitude in bringing about a balanced budget," the superintendent noted. "I am pleased and proud of reactions received from personnel in the district."

The Northville plant, entirely glass-enclosed with heating and air-conditioning facilities, can now accommodate 11,000 people — as it did two weeks ago for the international snowmobile classic.

Harry Peterson will continue as racing secretary for both 1971 meetings.

Post time for the winter meeting will be 8 p.m. but Carlo expects to change to 8:30 for summer racing.

Planners OK Record Design

In brief session Tuesday night the city of Northville planning commission considered three matters of business, acting on one and submitting two to study committees.

Architectural design for exterior improvements at The Northville Record offices, Main and Center streets, was approved.

Turned over to the site plan committee for study and recommendations were preliminary site plans for two new developments in the city. They are a proposed complex of professional offices at Taft and Eight Mile roads submitted by George W. Lloyd, owner of the property; and a proposed Burger Chef restaurant, which will be erected on a site now occupied by three houses immediately south of the new Chatham Market development on the west side of North Center street.

City Ambulance Grows Cobwebs in First Year

Northville's city ambulance, purchased a year ago when the community's lone private ambulance service went out of business, is growing cobwebs.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff reported Monday that the 1964 vehicle has been used in an emergency only twice since it was purchased.

It's use, he said, has been limited because private ambulance services outside the community have been responding to calls. He suggested the council consider sale of the city's vehicle.

However, councilmen are reluctant to agree to such a sale until it has some assurance from the private firms that service will continue indefinitely—and satisfactorily.

While reports that responses by the private firms have been satisfactory overall, Councilman Paul Folino said Monday that on two occasions response to an emergency ambulance call required waits of 18 and 24 minutes.

Folino and Mayor A. M. Allen, who sees the city-owned vehicle as "good insurance," drew a council nod in suggesting that a detailed study of private performance be made before council considers sale of the ambulance.

Stanley Johnston, member of the Northville school board, was reappointed by the council to the city recreation commission. Appointment of a chairman for the 1971 Michigan Week program was tabled. In other appointive action, Councilman Folino was named to the fire district study committee to replace Councilman Wallace Nichols who asked to be relieved of the post.

Officials agreed to ask the planning commission, on behalf of the city, for rezoning from residential to a business classification of city-owned property on Cady Street, east of the Spinning Wheel building.

The city is negotiating sale of part of the property to D & D Floor Covering to accommodate a relocation from its present site, 106 East Dunlap. The city plans to remove the present building, along with the adjacent Dunlap Street apartment house, for development of parking space.

Also, sale of one-half acre of city-owned land at the old city dump on Gerald Avenue to the owners of the bump shop, also located in the D & D building, is about to be consummated. Sale price of the half-acre is $4,000 with water and sewer to the site, located between the Dickey residence and the gate to the inactive dump.

Initiatory condemnation action was reapproved by a 4-0 council vote (Folino, brother of one of the owners, was granted permission to abstain) on property owned by Ronald Allen and Mrs. Jennie Watson. The property is in the right-of-way of the planned extension of Griswold from Main to Beal Street.

A public hearing before the council on two zoning amendments, recommended for approval earlier by the planning commission, was set for February 15.

The amendments outline procedures and fees for appealing action of the planning commission to the council and establishes a fee for petitioners who fail to gain a hearing before the planners.

Newly elected Wayne County Commissioner John J. McCann of Livonia, who represents Northville, attended Monday's meeting and extended his services to the city.

The valve plant in those days was still located in the old Dubuar building in the same general area — one of the early landmarks. The new plant was built in 1936 along with the historic water wheel that has become one of Northville's showpieces.

Harley, who began work as an inspector and retired as a quality control supervisor, says the paddle wheel was never intended to power the plant but rather to serve as a power source for a 30-horsepower electric generator used for "trouble lights."

It also was a special "pet" of Mr. Ford, who always made a point of looking it over whenever he visited the plant. "He would come dashing in — he always seemed to be in a hurry — say a few words and then head for the engine room. Engines were always his favorite," recalls Harley, who occasionally spoke with the automotive pioneer.

There are a lot of memories packed into those 40 years, concedes Harley, but he still thinks retirement's the greatest. "I'd recommend it for anyone," he adds. Besides, whenever the nostalgia bug bites him all he need do is look out the front window.

By ROLLY PETERSON

"If it happens on the university campus, you'll read it in The Michigan Daily." That could very well be the slogan of the University of Michigan daily newspaper.

Staffed by students with a penchant for news, the Daily has reporters, editors and columnists who are living proof that there are two distinct ways to learn journalism — by getting out and doing the job on The Daily, or by majoring in journalism at the university.

Not that it's impossible to do both. But historically, at the U of M, those majoring in journalism remain aloof from The Daily, looking at it with a considerable amount of disdain. After all, it is not staffed with professionals.

Over the years, however, The Daily has covered university happenings with a certain zealotry, without which good reporting is virtually impossible, regardless of how much schooling a reporter has had.

Zealotry has its drawbacks, too. Without the perspective that comes with experience, gained either in the classroom or on the job, the reporter may find himself caught up in his own emotionalism. He may be carried to extremes.

But by and large The Daily does the job, covering demonstrations, lectures, concerts, movies, plays, sports — in short, the university community on a daily basis.

Perhaps the pride of The Daily is its strong editorial position, usually liberal and biting. When blacks staged a walkout last year, the Daily took a stand and pounded its editorial position home with editorial after editorial.

While the larger, "establishment" dailies have just recently picked up the impact of the stalemate between the university and university workers who are members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, The Daily has been on top of the story on a continuing basis, keeping the university community informed.

Why would a person long out of college, namely me, subscribe to a university newspaper? Because The Daily does what it has set out to do, it tells you what's going on on campus, but more importantly, why it's happening.

You may not agree with everything that's said. But there's no question, The Daily is doing its job.

When it comes to gas wars most area service station owners and managers are Doves—not Hawks.

A survey of area dealers, both independents and franchise operators, indicates generally that they probably dislike fluctuating gas prices more than the puzzled motorist who plunks down 33.9 cents a gallon on one side of town and 39.9 cents a gallon on the other.

Fluctuating gas prices that may change significantly overnight are not of the operators' doing, most insisted but rather they result from "arbitrary" pricing by distributors and "cut-throat" competition among dealers.

Private enterprise not withstanding, more and more dealers appear ready to accept some kind of federal regulatory measure to combat gas wars.

"Regulations have got to come soon," declared a corner dealer in Novi. "The little guy doesn't have a chance. We've changed (gasoline prices) four or five times during the week now for five weeks."

Owner of his own station that sells a major gasoline brand, which on Friday carried a pricetag of 39.9 cents for regular and 43.9 cents for premium, he said his nine-year-old business has suffered most in the past two years because of gas wars. "Station managers are better off," he added, "because they don't have anything invested. In order to stay sound in business the owner has to have a full margin of profit. But the big companies won't let you do that."

Stations selling the same brand as he differ in prices, he explained, "because of a difference in 'dealers aid' benefits paid to the local dealer by the distributor." He priced 'dealers aid' as a discount in price of gas offered by the distributor.

Said another Novi operator: "Oil companies force up the prices, competition forces them down. We've changed an average of once a week, up or down, since June of 1969. Changes come both ways but usually from the gas companies. Nobody knows from one day to the next what you're going to pay for gas....it should stabilize someplace... I don't care where. This is ridiculous." His gasoline, another major brand, was selling for 34.9 and 38.9 on Friday.

Typical of the "overnight" changes occurred in Wixom Friday where a major gasoline brand fell three cents from 38.9 to 35.9 for regular and from 42.9 to 39.9 for premium. "The company told us to change," a station spokesman said.

A spokesman for a Northville station selling gasoline for 34.9 and 38.9 said prices there have been changing almost daily. "If other businessmen did that they wouldn't stay in business long," he said, "because they have to run their businesses and make a profit."

Apparently, it is running anywhere from six cents to a penny per gallon. "I

'Nobody knows from one day to the next what you're going to pay for gas...'

buy gas for 30.4, sell it for 34.9 and out of that I have to pay one-cent for sales tax, two cents for rent, and then there's phone, light, salaries, and insurance. A small businessman doesn't have a chance," said another Northville dealer.

A good chunk of a dollar's worth of gas also is paid out in state and federal taxes. The state and the federal government take 12-cents from each gallon of gas.

Because of the fluctuating prices, many customers don't "fill'er up" anymore, a service station owner explained. "They take a dollar's worth—just enough to get them to another station where they can get a better deal."

In New Hudson prices have been jumping up and down with equal irregularity. "It's happening everywhere," a station owner explained. We change prices about every two weeks—sometimes more often." In the past year his station prices have ranged from a low of 26.9 for regular to 38.9 the current price.

A dealer of a major gasoline brand in South Lyon said prices change from "one day to the next. The longest we've had one price has been two or three weeks." Last weekend regular gasoline at his station was selling at 35.9. It has ranged from a low of 27.9 to a high of 39.9 in the past year.

Another South Lyon dealer whose gasoline is going for a new 12 month high of 39.9 blamed the fluctuating prices on a "price zoning" policy of distributors.

Zone pricing is a weapon used by oil companies in gas wars. It means dealers in relatively stable areas are forced to pay higher tank-wagon prices for gas to subsidize dealers in more competitive areas. Thus, a dealer whose business may be the only station on a corner or in a neighborhood is forced to boost prices "to help" someone push the same brand at a lower price at a three-station corner across town or in another community.

Gas wars in Detroit mean only one thing in the outlying area—a loss of revenue, agreed two Brighton station owners.

Although Brighton is rarely involved in cutting prices, they noted that their gasoline sales drop significantly when there is a Detroit area price war.

For example, last fall when prices were eight to 10 cents lower per gallon in the Metropolitan Detroit area, one of the Brighton owners estimates that he sold 6,000 gallons less than he would have under normal conditions.

"Of course," he said, "that was exceptional. Prices were real low as close to us as Whitmore Lake."

Oil companies determine prices, the Brighton men contended. "They give you a wholesale price and suggest a retail price to you. They can't tell you what price to set it at but they suggest one.

"Basically, I go by the suggested price because that is what most of my competitors do."

Prices in Brighton have changed very little over the past year. "The only east side of town; we never get our prices down here (on Jackson Road)," he said.

Because the Ann Arbor dealer contacted owns a high volume station lower prices on the other side of town can mean a drop of 200 gallons every day. And, like the Brighton dealers, he loses on service work when people don't buy as much gas.

While some retailers place part of the blame on "cut-throat" independent dealers, spokesmen for the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association noted that some of these "independents" get their gasoline from the major oil companies, sometimes from the same tank-wagon, that sell to the franchise dealers. The gas is the same but sold at a lesser cost under a different name, they contended.

"That's how companies turn such huge profits even at price levels that are causing dealers to go broke...with below-cost or hardship margins putting capable dealers out of business and making it impossible, or nearly impossible, to hire capable service

HUMBLE THANKS — Representatives of the 23 area boys and girls who attended Boys State and Girls State last fall gathered at an appreciation dinner given in their honor Thursday night by the Northville Post 147 of the American Legion to thank parents, sponsors, friends — any and all who had a part in their going. David Wright from Northville delivers a speech of appreciation on behalf of the boys. Northville's Gretchen Johnson, Sue Forrer and Mari Egbert performed similar duties for the girls.

While all bookkeeping, commercial printing, newspaper production and press operation have been moved to The Record's new facility at 560 South Main, editorial and advertising offices remain on the second floor of the old building. A small Record business office will be included as part of the general renovation of the main floor interior.

Entrance to the new Record office and two other professional offices will be through entrance "A" on Main street. Entrance "B" goes directly to the lower level where another business will be located. Still another office will be located on Center street at entrance "C".

Until remodeling is complete, probably in April or May, Record offices will remain in their same location at Main and Center streets — except for bookkeeping and commercial printing offices which have already been relocated at the 560 South Main street building.

The third floor area of The Record Office Building will remain vacant.

General contractor for the renovation is James Lapham.

Budget Sliced

Administrative salaries cut to actual level of contract. Approximately $2,000 had been allotted as leeway in the budget.

All cuts in the budget are to remain in effect until the end of the school year, Spear said.

In addition, 11 areas of the budget have been frozen "until such time as the district is aware of the actual dollar impact on the school district resulting from the state budget cuts," he said.

Areas frozen as of January 8 include

- teacher attendance at conferences and visitations which result in cost to the district;

- psychological services paid by the district;

- overtime and substitutes for clerical services, representing about $3,900;

- expenditures of $2,000 for curriculum development;

- spectator buses for athletic events and field trips, approximately $3,000;

- elimination of all overtime for custodial and maintenance personnel;

- cancellation of pre-payment for property and employee insurances;

- freeze all funds necessary to comply with textbook ruling, about $1,000 allotted for purchases;

- elimination of four custodial positions, representing $11,000. Three vacancies exist at present and meet last year. (Carlo had hoped to cut the percentage for the winter meet because of additional overhead costs resulting from winter racing).

Horsemen will receive 45-percent again next year, and then an additional percent for each of the succeeding three years, explained Grettenberger.

Next month's opener, first for the Downs in winter (not counting Jackson Raceway's Northville meet), is expected to generate some new excitement with the Big Q — a beefed up version of the regular quinnella — that produces the big payoffs.

In addition, the Downs will offer pari-mutuel patrons the Exacta — a 10th race betting feature used here last winter during the Jackson meet, and it will continue the Daily Double.

(The Big Q means patrons try to pick first and second place winners in two different races. Their picks need not be in the order they finish but merely first and second).

Northville's shift to almost year-round racing — it covers nearly 11 months — has been made possible by the completely winterized plant which includes an ultra-modern clubhouse.

In addition to the Downs' winter meet that will close March 25, Northville also will have a 34-night summer meeting (June 24 through August 3), following the 76 nights at Hazel Park (March 26 through June 23). Wolverine then races for 76 nights (August 4 through October 30), followed by the Jackson — at — Northville meeting November 1 through December 18.

Carlo, who would have preferred that winter racing be continuous without a long break as in Windsor, is administrators note hours may be voluntarily changed to represent reduction of one person;

- reduction of clerical services at the high school affecting two people, and

- reduction of junior high bookstore/library aide position to half-time.

Spear said the cuts and freezes "will not have a negative impact on the district. The impact on children in the district will be minimal."

"Any of the items under the freeze," Spear noted, "that are germane to the educational program of the district will be reinstated on a priority basis immediately upon knowledge of the amount of money that can be placed back in our budget, in the event the district's cutback was more severe than the state's cutback."

He said the district should know the state cutbacks for certain by mid-February or early March.

"The personnel has been very understanding, cooperative and very supportive in the general attitude in bringing about a balanced budget," the superintendent noted. "I am pleased and proud of reactions received from personnel in the district."

nevertheless anticipating a banner year. The winter opener is the earliest start ever for the state's trotters and pacers. And it marks the beginning of the 28th year for Northville — Michigan's pioneer pari-mutuel harness track.

The Northville plant, entirely glass-enclosed with heating and air-conditioning facilities, can now accommodate 11,000 people — as it did two weeks ago for the international snowmobile classic.

Harry Peterson will continue as racing secretary for both 1971 meetings.

Applications are coming in for the 750 stalls under the supervision of Fred Poole who has succeeded the retired Francis (Pat) Paterson as paddock judge.

Lou Carlo will be mutuel manager in the only other contemplated change in the Downs' official family since its record-breaking 1970 meeting last summer when both mutuel handle and attendance were up about eight-percent. New all-time betting and attendance marks were set clear across the board.

Post time for the winter meeting will be 8 p.m. but Carlo expects to change to 8:30 for summer racing.

Planners OK Record Design

In brief session Tuesday night the city of Northville planning commission considered three matters of business, acting on one and submitting two to study committees.

Architectural design for exterior improvements at The Northville Record offices, Main and Center streets, was approved.

Turned over to the site plan committee for study and recommendations were preliminary site plans for two new developments in the city. They are a proposed complex of professional offices at Taft and Eight Mile roads submitted by George W. Lloyd, owner of the property; and a proposed Burger Chef restaurant, which will be erected on a site now occupied by three houses immediately south of the new Chatham Market development on the west side of North Center street.

Changes come both ways but usually from the gas companies. Nobody knows from one day to the next what you're going to pay for gas... it should stabilize someplace... I don't care where. This is ridiculous." His gasoline, another major brand, was selling for 34.9 and 38.9 on Friday.

Typical of the "overnight" changes occurred in Wixom Friday where a major gasoline brand fell three cents from 38.9 to 35.9 for regular and from 42.9 to 39.9 for premium. "The company told us to change," a station spokesman said.

A spokesman for a Northville station selling gasoline for 34.9 and 38.9 said prices there have been changing almost daily. "If other businessmen did that they wouldn't stay in business long," he said, "because they have to run their businesses and make a profit."

Apparently, it is running anywhere from six cents to a penny per gallon. "I

'Nobody knows from one day to the next what you're going to pay for gas...'

buy gas for 30.4, sell it for 34.9 and out of that I have to pay one-cent for sales tax, two cents for rent, and then there's phone, light, salaries, and insurance. A small businessman doesn't have a chance," said another Northville dealer.

A good chunk of a dollar's worth of gas also is paid out in state and federal taxes. The state and the federal government take 12-cents from each gallon of gas.

Because of the fluctuating prices, many customers don't "fill'er up" anymore, a service station owner explained. "They take a dollar's worth—just enough to get them to another station where they can get a better deal."

In New Hudson prices have been jumping up and down with equal irregularity. "It's happening everywhere," a station owner explained. We change prices about every two weeks—sometimes more often." In the past year his station prices have ranged from a low of 26.9 for regular to 38.9 the current price.

A dealer of a major gasoline brand in South Lyon said prices change from "one day to the next. The longest we've had one price has been two or three weeks." Last weekend regular gasoline at his station was selling at 35.9. It has ranged from a low of 27.9 to a high of 39.9 in the past year.

Another South Lyon dealer whose gasoline is going for a new 12 month high of 39.9 blamed the fluctuating prices on a "price zoning" policy of distributors.

Zone pricing is a weapon used by oil companies in gas wars. It means dealers in relatively stable areas are forced to pay higher tank-wagon prices for gas to subsidize dealers in more competitive areas. Thus, a dealer whose business may be the only station on a corner or in a neighborhood is forced to boost prices "to help" someone push the same brand at a lower price at a three-station corner across town or in another community.

Gas wars in Detroit mean only one thing in the outlying area—a loss of revenue, agreed two Brighton station owners.

Although Brighton is rarely involved in cutting prices, they noted that their gasoline sales drop significantly when there is a Detroit area price war.

For example, last fall when prices were eight to 10 cents lower per gallon in the Metropolitan Detroit area, one of the Brighton owners estimates that he sold 6,000 gallons less than he would have under normal conditions.

"Of course," he said, "that was exceptional. Prices were real low as close to us as Whitmore Lake."

Oil companies determine prices, the Brighton men contended. "They give you a wholesale price and suggest a retail price to you. They can't tell you what price to set it at but they suggest one.

"Basically, I go by the suggested price because that is what most of my competitors do."

Prices in Brighton have changed very little over the past year. "The only east side of town; we never get our prices down here (on Jackson Road)," he said.

Because the Ann Arbor dealer contacted owns a high volume station lower prices on the other side of town can mean a drop of 200 gallons every day. And, like the Brighton dealers, he loses on service work when people don't buy as much gas.

While some retailers place part of the blame on "cut-throat" independent dealers, spokesmen for the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association noted that some of these "independents" get their gasoline from the major oil companies, sometimes from the same tank-wagon, that sell to the franchise dealers. The gas is the same but sold at a lesser cost under a different name, they contended.

"That's how companies turn such huge profits even at price levels that are causing dealers to go broke...with below-cost or hardship margins putting capable dealers out of business and making it impossible, or nearly impossible, to hire capable service

FIX-IT TIP

Wet glasses will leave white rings on furniture. To remove them, try a mixture of olive oil and white vinegar in equal parts. Rub with the grain.

Cream wax will clean up most spots left by cosmetics, ink, wax and milk. Give the spot a vigorous rubbing in the direction of the grain.

P. John Thomas - Missionary

Rev. P. John Thomas, founder and president of Sharon Bible College of the state of Kerala, India is visiting in the U.S.A. and will be in the Detroit area for several months.

At present he is staying in our home and can be contacted by calling 349-0056.

Reverend Thomas took his Master's degree from Wheaton College in Illinois in 1952 and has been working in his native India since.

Rev. Thomas' father was an Hindu who was converted to Christianity through a missionary who taught him John 3:16 in his native language.

His son, Rev. P. John Thomas, has seen personally the great difference it makes when natives of India are converted to Christ.

That is one of the main reasons he returned to India in 1952 and established the Sharon Bible School, from which has developed the fastest growing native mission in South India. At present he has the oversight of over 200 native churches and Mission Stations in Kerala state.

Rev. Thomas has spoken for many churches and business groups throughout the U.S.A. He is well informed as to the political and social condition that exists at the present time in India and in his native state Kerala.

Any minister or group leader who desires to contact him for a speaking engagement in this area can do so by calling him at 349-0056.

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares." Heb. 13:2

Rev. Thomas was dedicated to Christ by Sunder Singh when he was only two years of age.

We urge all who read these lines to pray for India and for the work God has given to Rev. Thomas to do there.

TO TURN AGAIN

In winter the pond freezes over, and the old mill wheel is idle. But although the landscape appears dormant, there is hidden life beneath the surface. One day it will be spring again, with water rushing over the mill wheel and corn being ground into meal.

If you have been living in a winter of your own, why not take a lesson from the old mill? The winters of our life are bleak—they are hard to weather. But forever and ever there is the chance to start again. Spring will come and your church will sustain you through doubt and disappointment and give you promise of another chance—another life.

Michigan Mirror

Vices Produce $10 Million Per Month in Taxes

LANSING — IF EVERY MICHIGAN smoker took the advice of the American Cancer Society and quit, one of the results would be an even worse Babson Report fiscal crisis for state government than already exists. The same goes for the result if prohibition ever came back.

The taxes the state currently levies on those personal vices of smoking and drinking now yield an average of about $10 million per month apiece—or around $120 million per year apiece.

The Legislature is currently, along with Gov. William G. Milliken, looking for a place to raise more revenues and one place which always gets a look is the taxes levied on tobacco and alcoholic beverages. If a state sponsored lottery were set up, even more dollars would come from another vice.

Michigan's cigarette tax jumped from 7 to 11 cents only last April, kicking the state's monthly revenue from $6 million to $10 million from this source.

AMONG THOSE CURRENTLY pushing for an even higher cigarette tax is the Michigan Health Council, which says a 14 cent per pack tax would be a good idea.

But the council isn't just interested in getting more money for the state. It figures the higher the tax, the fewer the smokers.

It points out that the number of cigarettes sold in the state has dropped 2½ per cent since the latest hike in the tax—or about one million packs per month.

And the council would like to see at least part of the additional revenues brought in by any further increase designated for a health education program in every Michigan school district.

UNDER THE COUNCIL'S PLAN, $1 or $2 million of the extra money would be used to finance an instructor in health education for each intermediate school district in the state.

"This person would be responsible for seeing that the latest and most important information on the dangers of smoking tobacco and marijuana is given to students from kindergarten through 12 grade," explained John A. Doherty, coordinator on smoking and health for the group. He said the coordinator also would deal with programs on drug abuse as well as general health.

"Lack of money has been a major reason given by school districts for not hiring and training personnel to teach comprehensive health education adequately and properly in their schools," he said.

THE STATE EDUCATION Department has confirmed what everybody already was sure of—education keeps getting more expensive.

The department released statistics showing the state's school district spent a total of $2.09 billion to educate public school students in the state last year. This was a jump of $200 million from the previous year. Total pupil enrollment edged up only 41,000 to a total of 2,164,000 during that time and the number of teachers grew from 87,500 to 89,000.

THE FIGURES GIVE another example of an area in which the financial squeeze is getting tighter.

While total expenditures ran over the $2 billion mark, total revenues only got as high as $1.9 billion.

When he released the figures, Superintendent of Public Instruction John Porter cautioned against "drawing too many conclusions."

But it seems safe to at least conclude our schools are going to run out of money before long if they haven't already done so unless something is changed. And that would indicate we'll be hearing a lot more about the subject of education reform in the coming months in the Legislature.

Truck Industry May Bounce Back On Piggy-Backs

THE NATION'S truck manufacturers wrote off calendar 1970 as a poor year for them. In 1969 the industry established its all-time high output record, with nearly 2 million trucks built.

However, in 1970 many adverse factors exacted a toll upon the industry: Sales lagged early in the year, the labor difficulties of the teamsters curtailed inflow of materials and shipments of assembled units, economic conditions were uninspiring, commercial borrowing costs remained high until late in the year, and finally there was the UAW strike against General Motors. Hence, truck production for 1970 ran close to 1.5 million units, the lowest calendar total since 1963.

THE RESEARCH Staff of Babson's Reports forecasts that companies involved in truck manufacturing and related fields (trailer and container manufacturing) will experience a return to more profitable operations this year. This reflects several favorable factors, including newer equipment to handle fishy-back, piggy-back, and container aspects of the intermodal transportation system; further additions to the massive interstate highway program; and liberalization by some states of weight and length maximums governing truckers.

From a fundamental SEMCOG

Launches Drive

A stepped-up effort to encourage membership of communities and school districts to join the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) is underway.

Although the 104 member units of government, including school districts, presently in SEMCOG represent slightly more than 70-percent of the 4.7 million population of South Michigan, more than 240 units are not members, SEMCOG Chairman Mel Ravitz has revealed.

SEMCOG membership includes five of six counties, 47 of 109 cities and villages, 22 of 105 townships, and 30 of 126 school districts (including community college districts).

Among the local area units of government to which SEMCOG is aiming its membership drive are:

City of Novi, Township of Novi, Novi Community School District, Walled Lake Consolidated School District, Lyon Township, South Lyon Community Schools, Salem Township, Whitmore Lake Public School District, and the Northville Public Schools.

SEMCOG is a voluntary organization of local units of government organized in January of 1968 as an outgrowth of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission which had functioned in Southeast Michigan since 1947.

standpoint, another favorable factor for domestic heavy-duty truck manufacturers is that they are not plagued by stiff foreign competition.

AMONG THE leading truck equipment manufacturers are General Motors (GMC and Detroit Diesel), Ford, Chrysler, Signal Companies (Mack Trucks), White Motor, Cummins Engine, Fruehauf, and International Harvester. The Detroit Big Three (GM, Ford, Chrysler) have the lion's share of the smaller light-duty truck market. Pick-ups or light-duty trucks account for over half of total domestic truck output.

In the heavy-duty segment of the market, however, the independents have historically made their mark, presently holding a shade more than half of the domestic market. Also it should be noted that approximately 80 percent of heavy-duty trucks are powered by diesel. Sales in the heavy-duty segment were off in 1970, but—aided by tax relief—recent marked increases in trucks for the recreational market (campers, etc.) lead us to believe that more of the smaller-truck sales are going in this direction.

A PARALLEL can be drawn between heavy-duty truck sales and Gross National Product. Increased demand for shipments of goods and services results in improved truck sales. Hence, we look for greater demand for these trucks in 1971.

Also, the labor difficulties of the teamsters and the soft economy deferred many 1970 heavy-duty truck sales; hence we anticipate a generally better climate in 1971 for both light and heavy-duty segments of the market. The long-term growth outlook is favorable for the heavies, owing to larger pay loads and more liberal length regulations.

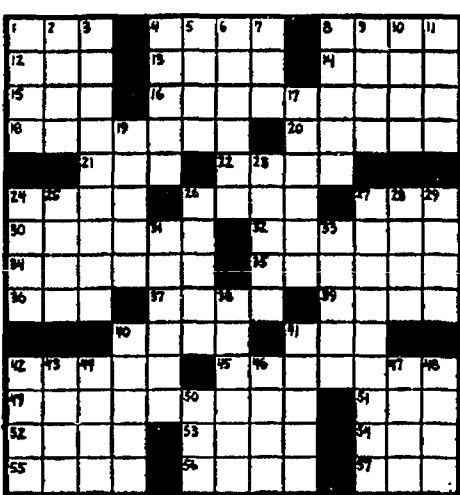

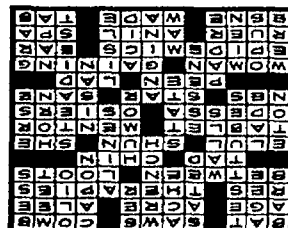

Trucks, like autos, contribute to the pollution problem in proportion to their numbers. The same effort expended to reduce pollution by cars will be directed also to the truck manufacturers since they both fall under federal government and state supervision.

WE FEEL that turbines will be used in large trucks and buses beginning in the present decade. Additionally, what is now an international concept of containerization should produce more growth in the companies which manufacture this type of equipment. Because of the larger pay loads of operating units, we also anticipate that better braking qualities will be "built in" by the manufacturers, possibly with the addition of computer-operated skid controls.

Here's the Answer

Social Security Tip

Benefits Available for Self-Employed

"If you are self-employed, age 62 or over and still engaged in your trade or business you may be qualified to receive all or some social security monthly retirement checks," according to Samuel Test, manager of the Social Security office

"The number of social security checks payable in a year," said Test, "depends upon the individual's net earnings for the year. For example, if your net earnings for 1970 amounted to $1680.00 or less you could get social security checks beginning with the month you were 62. Even if you made more than that amount you might get some checks so we suggest you contact the Social Security Office to see if any payments are due you."

"Those who have a seasonal business may receive checks for the months in which their business is inactive," said Test. "To cite another example, an individual might operate his business only during the months beginning with April through September and have net earnings of $5000.00. Despite his earnings of over $1680 he would be eligible to receive checks for January through March and October through December. This is because monthly checks are payable for those months in which the self-employed person renders no services in his business, regardless of the net earnings for the year."

"Don't miss out on social security payments," warned Test. "If you are 62 or over and still in business, pick up the phone, call your Social Security Office to ask if you should sign an application. This one phone call just might mean social security checks to you and your family."

The Social Security phone number is 537-9310 and the office is located at 17500 Lahser Road., Detroit, Mi. 48219.

station employees and provide the quality of service motorists need and deserve," charged the RGDA.

Effective legislation is needed, according to the RGDA. A growing number of local area dealers agree but few of them are anxious to publicly challenge the oil companies.

Why the reluctance to fight?

A retailers' magazine put it this way:

"In the old days the 'protection' racket was simple...either you cough up, got beaten up, or were simply bombed out."

"Nowadays, it's a much more sophisticated business for the service station operator; he keeps his mouth shut or gets out."

"Dealer associations, congressmen, Federal Trade Administration teams, trade papers, etc. have all invited, urged and begged dealers to write and tell their problems."

"Nobody has done it yet, or hardly anybody. And the reason isn't hard to figure out, it's simple...they're scared...and understandably so. If a guy beefs, he thinks he's not going to get sympathetic treatment when the time comes for his lease renewal, or when his pumps or bay doors need fixing..."

"Taffy Tail", high point Morgan horse of 1970, also is probably the 1971 first equine mother of the year in the South Lyon area. Taffy Tail's first foal, a stallion, arrived January 8. The Ed Eareharts of Poplar Farms, Chubb Road, are the proud owners of the mare and her foal

The annual awards Banquet for the Michigan Horse association will be held Saturday, January 30, at the Civic Center, Lansing. The general meeting is at 1:00 p.m. with dinner at 3:00 p.m. Price is $5.00 per person. For reservations contact Mrs. Sam McKinley - 806 Coolidge Road, Lansing - no later than January 23rd.

With the 1971 show season just ahead of us I think it would be helpful to many of readers if we talked a little about the judges and what they like or dislike.

Judges don't like exhibitors who lose their tempers at their horses.

This applies to adults as well as to juniors. This happens when a horse who has been behaving very well suddenly shies away from the rail or won't stand in line. The rider, holding the horse in tightly with one hand, cuts him hard half a dozen times with a whip. He may think, as the horse kicks and prances in pain, that he looks like an expert administering deserved punishment. But his flushed face and furious expression tell the judge and everyone else that he or she is simply a spoiled child who lost their temper and shouldn't be awarded any ribbons at all for equitation or anything else.

Why? There are several reasons. First if a person cannot control himself he obviously cannot control his horse. Second, one or two firm but not rough strokes of the whip are quite enough to serve as punishment. Three, the rider doesn't really know that the horse deserves to be punished.

Suppose he shied because of a small child standing too close to the rail, and was afraid the child might run out under his feet. Also it's very possible the rider may make a mistake at some time. In that case, the rider certainly doesn't expect the horse to take his temper out on him.

The annual meeting of the Mid-West Dressage Association will be held Sunday, January 24, at 7 p.m. at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club. Reservations must be made in advance. To make your reservations, contact the Hunt Club, Bloomfield Hills, or the Dressage Association secretary.

At the recent Brierywick Farm's Horse Show, Donna Wilson of South Lyon, riding "Sea-bo-naw", was awarded the youth activities high point trophy.

She took the following places in the listed youth activities: first in fitting and showing (13 and under); first, English Pleasure, second, western pleasure; third, mares at halter; third, stock seat equitation and sixth in the open stock seat equitation class.
