'SUPERSTAR' IS SUPER — Both Schoolcraft College and Northville First Presbyterian Church performances of "Jesus Christ Superstar" during the Easter season evoked responses that were reported as "overwhelming" from capacity audiences. The April 16 production at Schoolcraft by the National Rock Opera Company was a sell-out days beforehand and many more tickets could have been sold than the 2,100 limit set by the firemarshal. Between 450 and 500 persons saw performances at Northville Presbyterian Church at the Easter sunrise service and again last Sunday night. Given by Senior High Young People of the church, the rock opera drew crowds that filled both the sanctuary and the balcony.

FIRE DESTROYED the Linwood, Michigan home of the Clarence Patterson family, former residents of Northville, on Thursday. The burned out family is temporarily living with neighbors. The Pattersons and their four children lived on Yerkes Street until 1½ years ago. Mrs. Patterson is the former Donna Frisbie, whose father operates Frisbie Refrigeration in Novi. Mr. Patterson's parents, also former Northville residents, are now living in Plymouth.

REVISED preliminary route plans for the Griswold Street extension have received unanimous council approval and are now in the hands of City Engineer Harold Penn for detailing specifications for the new street's intersection with Beal. By the time final plans are presented to the council for approval, the preliminary plans for widening of Beal to Northville Road are expected to be completed, predicts City Manager Frank Ollendorff.

THE ANNUAL PARADE, co-sponsored by the Northville American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts, will highlight Memorial Day activities again this year. The Legion, which this year serves as the parade supervisor (it alternates each year), was given a parade permit this week upon request of Robert Seiting.

A CIVIL SUIT charging false arrest has been filed against the City of Northville, Sergeant David LaFond and Auxiliary Robert Antonich by Norman L. Koester of Grosse Pointe Woods. Koester, who is seeking damages in the amount of $15,000, charges he was "falsely arrested and illegally jailed for six hours" on June 11, 1970. He was arrested for drunkenness at Northville Downs and found "not guilty" in 35th District Court.

NEGOTIATING TEAMS for the City of Northville and the Northville Police Officers' Association (NPOA) were to meet yesterday (Wednesday) to discuss the length of the contract they are negotiating. Reportedly a preliminary salary proposal has been made by the NPOA.

OUR LADY OF VICTORY school was one of the few Catholic schools in the area not affected by John Cardinal Dearden's elimination and curtailment of parochial schools in the Detroit Metropolitan area. In Plymouth, Our Lady of Good Counsel school will "partially close," according to the Cardinal's report.

Development Could Cover Entire Block

Redevelopment of the entire block bounded by Main, Center, Cady and Wing streets (excepting the bowling alley) is under consideration this week as city officials begin negotiating with Richard McManus.

And there's an outside chance it could become a reality.

On the strength of a recommendation by the city planning commission, the Southfield developer has agreed to take a hard look at total block development versus his original plan for development of a retail business-professional office complex covering the west half of the block. Estimated cost of the half-block complex is put at between $3 and $4 million.

(See Speaking for The Record, Page 10-A).

McManus was reported as being "very receptive" to the idea prior to a meeting this week with the council's real estate committee members, Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilman Charles Lapham.

The committee and McManus are to consider the total block development along with parking requirements and acquisition costs and the purchase price for the property on which McManus now holds an option.

That option was extended for 60 days by the council Monday night.

According to councilmen and Planning Chairman Thomas Wheaton, revision of McManus' plan to encompass all of the land except the bowling alley would lend itself to a development keyed more to the center of the downtown business area at Center and Main.

Biggest obstacle to this enlarged plan is seen as the cost of acquisition of the hotel-bar building on Main Street. Owners of the building reportedly are willing to negotiate, but no formal commitment to negotiate has been made.

Acquisition of this and other property, not now owned by the city in the block, together with provision for purchase of property outside the block for parking could make it economically unfeasible for the developer, officials point out. Nevertheless, he is willing to negotiate, they add.

Even if the enlarged plan does not materialize, the knotty question of acquisition of land for parking remains. Still to be decided is how much land the developer furnishes for parking and how much, if any, by the city.

It was in wrestling with the problem of determining the amount of parking necessary to accommodate McManus' original (and still proposed) development that planners recommended total block development be "considered."

Although Chairman Wheaton favored including the bowling alley property as well because it is non-conforming, other members decided against it as economically prohibitive.

Concerning parking, the planners see McManus' original complex as requiring between 500 and 550 spaces. They recommend that these be provided by converting all property west of the existing parking lot-alley to Wing (between Main and Dunlap), and by a double-deck parking structure on the south side of Cady, from Wing to Main streets.

Approximately two-thirds of the required spaces, under this plan, would be provided by the parking deck and the remainder on the north side of Main.

In recommending parking on the north side of Main, planners suggest relocation of the Pure (Union Oil) service station, corner of Main and Wing, outside of the central business district. Besides the station property it would mean acquisition of the Rathburn building on Main Street, the Heritage House, and the Methodist church parsonage. The city already has purchased Dr. Dale Kiser's building and is about to complete purchase of the Rathburn building.

On the south side of Cady, the city now owns only one lot. In addition, all other homes along Cady and perhaps two on Wing and two on Main Street would have to be purchased and moved to make room for the parking deck.

Furthermore, planners emphasize that sufficient property would have to be acquired to permit erection of a green belt between the parking deck and homes south of it.

Should McManus' plan be enlarged to encompass the entire block, part of the parking could be provided within the block itself. Nevertheless, it still would necessitate a parking deck and parking on the north side of Main. The number of parking spaces for total block development, however, was not made because of the uncertainty that the total block development idea would be seriously considered.

One of the suggestions for parking within the block, if total development is considered, is for lower-level parking beneath a building at the Main-Center corner where bowling alley patrons now park.

In discussing the commission's recommendations with the council, Wheaton informed councilmen that a good deal of opposition to the design in

On Maybury Purchase

State to Ask Detroit Delay

Officials of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are expected soon to formally request Detroit to extend its May 3 deadline for negotiating a sale of the Maybury property to the state, The Record learned this week.

Extension will be asked because

Extension Of Parkway Still Alive

Extension of the Middle Rouge Parkway (Cass Benton) from its present terminus at Fairbrook-Seven Mile in Northville west, past the proposed Maybury state park, to the vicinity of Ridge Road remains part of Wayne County's long range plans.

Acquisition of land and its development, however, are still indefinite, and Max Hilton, landscape architect for the county, declined even to guess when the extension might become a reality.

"We've inspected the area," he said, "looking at parcels we might have to obtain—but nothing more."

According to Hilton, the long range plan calls for the parkway to parallel the south side of Seven Mile to about "one half mile" east of the Wayne County boundary (Napier Road). From that point it would swing south to the Canton Center Road area to tie into the Lower Rouge Parkway for which property is being acquired now.

The extended parkway through Northville would become part of what the county has labeled as the Western Parkway.

Although the county's master plan calls for the extended parkway to cross through the Fish Hatchery property, Hilton said the route at that point is likely to be changed so as not to interfere with the city-township hatchery park.

New Water Lines On Tap in Township

A major step in the expansion of water service in Northville township will be taken this summer with the installation of several miles of lines throughout the southeastern portion of the township.

Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg announced that bids for the project, estimated at some $925,000, will be accepted in May.

Township Engineer William Mosher expects the installation to be completed in September.

Uniquely, it will be possible for the township to install the new lines without immediately levying assessments against property owners along the route of the water line.

Assessments will be levied, Stromberg explains, but only when the property owners choose to use the service. Normally, utility service installations are financed through assessments against abutting property owners even though they may not use the service for many years.

But Northville township expects to meet its immediate obligations to pay off a bond issue to finance the project through sale of water to Northville State Hospital.

When property owners desire to tap into the new water lines, an assessment of $6 per foot (property frontage) not to exceed $660 will be levied in addition to existing tap-in fees. Property owners must also pay the cost of extending lines from their homes to the service line, the supervisor noted.

After bids are awarded for the project, the township will sell bonds backed by the faith and credit of Wayne county.

The new lines will create two loops in the existing system thereby improving township service. Specifically, the new line will begin on Eight Mile road on the western boundary of Meadowbrook country club where it will extend from the existing Detroit water main southward to Marilyn and Seven Mile road. It will then run west on Seven Mile road past Northville State Hospital and then south across Hospital property to Six Mile at Bradner roads where it will hook into an existing line.

The new line will continue west on Six Mile to Sheldon creating a second "loop" by connecting to the Detroit main service line which now runs through Northville south from Eight Mile along Sheldon road to Plymouth.

Depending upon costs, Supervisor Stromberg said some additional service lines will be extended along the Mile roads. Service lines are planned along Eight Mile road east to Meadowbrook country club; west on Seven Mile road to Northville road and then south to King's Mill where another loop will be formed by connecting to existing service at the townhouse development; and possibly extensions east on Six and Seven Mile roads towards the township boundary at Haggerty road.

Earth Week Salute

Council Curbs Phosphate Sale

Earth Week received a local boost Monday as the Northville City Council adopted a new ordinance prohibiting the sale of detergents with excessive phosphorous content after October 1, 1971.

It is phosphate that causes the green scum that increasingly borders lakes and streams.

Council's ecological action follows closely on the heels of an earlier ban that prohibits the sale of throwaway bottles effective January 1, 1972.

The phosphate ordinance is almost identical to the one adopted by the Detroit Common Council earlier and recommended for adoption by suburban communities. It affects both those detergents used by housewives and those used commercially.

Initially, the ordinance proposed that the effective date of the ban be July 1, but councilmen decided Monday that in view of the short time remaining for stores to empty their shelves the delayed date would be more appropriate.

The ordinance adoption was backed by the Northville Citizens for Environmental Action, represented at Monday's hearing. No one was present to oppose the ordinance.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff, who emphasized that the ordinance does not ban all detergents containing phosphates but only those that are deemed excessive. The complicated formula defining what is excessive is based on the data compiled by Detroit's attorneys.

Earlier, Detroit's assistant corporation counsel, Jerrold V. Marsh, told The Record that the ordinance will virtually eliminate many brands now on the market.

Among the "chief gremlins", he said, are: Blue Sail, Salvo, Dash, Tide XK, Concentrate All, Coldwater All (powder), and Breeze. Among those detergents it would permit are Cold Water All (liquid), Duz, Ivory Flakes and Snow, Lux, White Sail, and Jet Power.

FOLLOW THE LEADER — It may look like a fun spring game of follow the leader but it's really the lead Mallard's sly way of diverting attention from a nearby nesting mother. While much of the nation's industry is under the gun of ecology buffs, particularly during this Earth

Week salute, the Ford plant here continues to grind out valves inside while dozens of wild ducks continue to make their homes — many on a year-round basis — and reproduce on the factory property outside. The industry-wildlife marriage has been a trademark here for years.

Reefs Mark 50th Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. JAN REEF

As Mr. and Mrs. Jan Reef celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Wednesday at a dinner at Meadowbrook Country Club for 125 guests, it was exactly 50 years after their marriage April 14, 1921, in Hengelo, in the Netherlands.

Mrs. Reef, the former Nellie Pardoan, had met her husband at a dance. In August, 1921, a few months after their marriage, they moved to the United States—with $40 in their pockets.

They settled first in Amesbury, Massachusetts, later coming to the Midwest to live first in Flint and Detroit before moving to Northville in 1955. He founded Reef Manufacturing Company.

The Reefs' only child, Mrs. Marjory Cinader, co-hosted the anniversary dinner party with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Langtry. She arranged the group gift for her parents, which paid tribute to their special interest in young people and in work with the blind.

Mrs. Cinader had selected a German shepherd dog which was trained at the Leader Dog School in Rochester, Michigan, and then given to a 19-year-old college student. The recipient then received a month's training with her dog at the school and now is able to resume her studies with this help.

Other interests and happenings in the Reefs' 50 years of marriage were depicted in a montage created by Mrs. Langtry. It was centered with a picture of the Reefs in Dutch costume.

While the Meadowbrook dinner celebration originally was planned as a surprise for the Reefs, it became impossible to keep it completely so as packages began arriving.

Coming directly from the Reefs' hometown in Holland were silver sugar spoons which were given as favors to each woman guest.

The Reefs have two granddaughters, Mrs. Ronald (Jannel) Cavill of Taylor and Linda Cinader, who lives with her mother at 41695 West Eight Mile Road. They also have one great-grandson, Robert Cavill, six months old.

Anniversary party guests also included Mr. Reef's sister-in-law, Mrs. Bertha Reef-Molenveld, his sister and her husband, the Fritz Visser, all of the Netherlands, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Geert Reef, from Florida.

LINDA ELAINE MCBRIDE

Engaged

Former Northville residents Mr. and Mrs. Wayne D. McBride of Gladwin announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Elaine, to Amir E. Zara of Royal Oak. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Zara of Detroit.

The bride-elect is a 1968 graduate of Plymouth High while her fiancé is a 1964 graduate of Iowa State University. Both are employed at the Plymouth State Home and Training School in Northville Township.

The couple will be married May 28.

BIRTHS

Announcement of the birth of their third child — and first son — is made by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald F. Salow, 22844 Balcombe Drive, Novi. The baby, named Paul Ronald, was born April 14 at St. Mary Hospital and weighed six pounds, four ounces.

He joins two sisters, Carol, 16, and Claire, 14, at home. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Salow of Pontiac and Mrs. R. G. Rowe of Milford.

Mr. and Mrs. Dann Lipke, former Novi residents now living in Farmington, announce the birth of their first child, Marc John, April 19 at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital. His birth weight was seven pounds, twelve ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Morey Lipke of Walled Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Jon Rutherford of Livonia.

Double-Bill Slated For Film Festival

Two films, "The Hangman" and "The Stringbean," will be presented in the fifth program of the Presbyterian Film Festival at 8 p.m. Friday, April 23, in the Northville First Presbyterian Church fellowship hall.

This is the next-to-last presentation by the Christian Education Committee and the Couples Club for adults and young people of the church and the community.

"The Hangman," which is in color and animated, is a 12-minute presentation. Its scene is a small town at the heart of America where the hangman plants his hangman's tree.

He claims his victims one at a time, and each time the survivors are so pleased at having been left that they fail to act on the growing list of social injustices.

The narration is Maurice Odgen's poem which gives the film its title. It has been reviewed as "a superb presentation that will leave one shuddering and quiet for at least a few minutes after fadeout."

"The Stringbean" has been termed a "lovely dab of visual poetry" as a stringbean stalk grows out of a tiny seed — "just as human beings can persistently penetrate the cells of solitude into which circumstances have forced them."

The 17-minute film is designed to "bend your eyes and ears with gentle persuasion toward the discerning line between real living and mere existence."

Coffee and discussion follow each evening's presentations. To help defray costs, a free-will donation is taken.

Final program will be given May 16 with the award-winning film, "Nobody Waved Goodbye," to be shown.

WITH SPRING a reality, dates for annual and "special" events such as the Meadowbrook fashion show and church teas are sprouting on the calendar. There's even to be an old-fashioned concert-in-the-park.

First upcoming event is the 75th anniversary tea being given by the Women's Guild of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in the church parish hall from 1 to 3 p.m. next Thursday, April 29.

While the church will celebrate its diamond anniversary officially in October, the tea is one of the special events scheduled throughout the year. The Guild's Mission and Visiting circles are in charge of arrangements.

All women of the community are invited but are asked to make reservations with Mrs. Neil Nichols, 349-2315, or Mrs. Warner Krause, 349-3288, so that the committee may plan. The Guild hopes that all interested women of the area will attend to help mark the special milestone of the church.

"SPRING FLING" is the title chosen for the first tea to be given in the new building of Northville United Methodist Church on Eight Mile Road from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 1. Invitations have been mailed to all women of the church.

Mrs. Miles Kennedy is tea chairman. Women attending will be taken on a tour of the new building for which very pleasing "desert tones" have been used to complement the use of wood throughout.

Until the sanctuary is built, services are being conducted in the new fellowship hall. Sunday school rooms, particularly those for young children, have been placed so that they overlook the wooded areas behind the building. Tea visitors also will see the new offices for the staff.

A mother-daughter banquet is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. May 7 at the church by the Women's Society for Christian Service. Mrs. Del Heath, chairman, asks that reservations be made with the church, 349-1144. A "fun" program is to follow the dinner.

MEADOWBROOK Country Club's annual spring fashion show Wednesday, May 5, will feature fashions from Tow Bari women's specialty shop at Cherry Hill and Outer Drive in Dearborn. Jackie Crampton will commentate while professional models show fashions and accessories.

Mrs. Reuben Jensen, show chairman, says that the day will begin with cocktails at 11 a.m. with lunch at noon and the show following at 1:30 p.m.

Tow Bari owner Peggy Hoffman and Jackie Crampton proved very popular with Northville's Town Hall audience last November. Mrs. Hoffman, then a new bride, epitomized the smart, understated fashions she seeks in the New York market.

for her shop as she appeared in a braid-trimmed, salt-and-pepper tweed midi.

Next month Chairman Jo Jensen plans to be wearing one of the shop's new-season looks as she introduces the program. She also will be hostess at a table of friends.

Door prizes are planned.

A CONCERT-in-the-park with everyone in the community invited is planned by the Northville High School band as its spring presentation. It is to be at 8 p.m. Friday, May 7, in the city hall park, weather permitting. Otherwise, it will be held in Northville High School auditorium.

Refreshments will be served by band members, and donations will be accepted.

Newcomers to Northville, especially, should mark this on their calendar as spreading a blanket on the grass and sitting through an outdoor concert is one of the pleasures of living in a small town.

NEWCOMERS CLUB drew for partners to play six games of "Scotch Doubles" and "No-Tap" last Saturday night at its bowling party at Northville Lanes.

(In Scotch Doubles each partner in a team throws one ball during a turn. In No-Tap, nine pins count as a strike.)

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crawford were chairman for the "fun" evening attended by 24 couples. An after-party was held at the Nine Mile Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burnham with a buffet prepared by Mrs. Burnham with the help of her committee of Mr. and Mrs. John Kaim and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Shelton.

Trophies and money prizes went to the first-place team, Mrs. William Beurkens and Mark Lysinger whose total was 980 for the series. In second place with a 971 and high game total of 208 were Mrs. Martin Rinehart, club president, and Milt Rich. Third place award went to Mrs. Fred Millard and John Kaim for a 967 series. In fourth with 963 were Mrs. James LaPlante and Rob Holloway. There even was a money prize for those in last place, Mrs. Mark Lysinger and Brad Brask.

Upcoming club plans include a steak fry May 22, a dinner-dance June 19 and a family picnic in July.

Such publications as "American Heritage," "National Geographic" and "Horizons" will be available.

Rare books, signed and limited editions and collector items dating from the late 1700's will be displayed on special tables and sold to the person submitting the highest written bid.

According to Mrs. John Lodge, sale chairman, this year's sale will offer an unusually large selection of religious, legal, and technical books, cookbooks, quality fiction and a number of Civil War histories and memoirs dating in the 1800's. Two World War I vintage sets of Harvard Classics—a 50-volume and a 20-volume edition—will be sold.

Children's books, always among the most popular at previous sales, will be in ample supply Mrs. Lodge adds, and will include such favorites as Tom Swift, Nancy Drew and Landmark series.

Proceeds from the sale will be donated by the Plymouth branch to the National AAUW Fellowship Fund to finance graduate and post-graduate study for both American and foreign women.

The group also sponsors two full-tuition scholarships for local women at Schoolcraft Community College and one scholarship at the University of Michigan's Center for Continuing Education for a mature woman in an undergraduate program.

May Blood Bank Offers New Plans

The Red Cross blood bank will be in Northville at the First Presbyterian Church on May 7. Donation hours will be from noon until 8 p.m.

Appointment times can be arranged by calling Mrs. C. C. Winter, Northville's Blood Bank Chairman, at 349-2361.

New this year are two plans offered by the Red Cross, Mrs. Winter said.

A "family plan," covering all members of one family, and the "one in five plan," covering groups, have been initiated for blood donors.

Through the family plan, if any member of a family contributes one or more pints of blood each year, coverage will be provided for the donor, donor's spouse, children under 18 and children over 18 who are unable to donate for physical reasons.

Also covered are parents and parents-in-law, grandparents and grandparents-in-law and brothers and sisters of an unmarried donor living in the same household.

Family coverage extends 12 months from the date of the last donation by a member of the family concerned, Red Cross officials explain.

The one in five plan covers groups in which 20 percent of the membership contributes blood each year.

Coverage in the one in five plan includes all group members, their spouses, children under 18, children over 18 who are unable to donate, parents and parents-in-law, grandparents and grandparents-in-law and brothers and sisters of single members.

Also covered in cases of industry are retirees and their wives. A person who leaves the group or place of employment retains eligibility for one year if he is a donor, officials said. A non-donor loses eligibility immediately.

Further information on the two blood bank plans may be obtained by contacting the Northwest Regional Office of the Red Cross, 31228 Five Mile Road, Livonia, 422-2787.

Township Slaps Annexation

Novi council decision to petition the Michigan Boundary Commission to annex much of Novi Township to the city has stirred the ire of township officials.

The petition, if decided favorably by the commission, would wipe out several sections of the township leaving only some 40 to 50 acres of Brookland Farms subdivision in the township.

Under a state statute enacted earlier this year, the commission is empowered to "straighten out" municipal boundaries. It provides, however, that only those areas having fewer than 100 residents may be annexed without an election—which accounts for council's request excluding Brookland Farms where some 110 registered township voters reside.

Had the city included the subdivision in its request annexation would require a vote of both city and township electors.

Township Attorney Emery Jacques, who contends exclusion of the subdivision is an obvious attempt to circumvent an election that probably would defeat annexation, says the statute itself may be unconstitutional and subject to court test.

No immediate action by the township is contemplated, said Jacques, pending some word from the commission on the request.

City councilmen made their decision to request annexation during a continuation meeting last week Tuesday called to settle business remaining from the late night session the previous day. The seven township areas included in the request are scattered throughout the city near the boundaries of Walled Lake, Wixom and Farmington. They encompass some 800 to 1000 acres of land on which 10 registered voters reside.

Chief objection to such annexation, from the point of view of township citizens, is that taxes would zoom upward, according to Township Supervisor Leo Kalota.

Currently, the township levies approximately one mill for operation and another for fire protection, Kalota noted. City property owners, on the other hand, are paying taxes on 6.5 mills.

As seen from the city's point of view, advantages of annexation include centralization of city services, namely fire and police protection for the township, and the elimination of potential zoning irregularities that could upset Novi's master plan.

Township officials disagree.

"Our planning board is considering zoning which is compatible with the city's," said Kalota. "We have negotiated for and paid for fire protection for the city, which we receive at a rate of $200 per call, and we are served admirably by the Michigan State Police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. We had occasion to call a state police car last week and they were at the scene within five minutes...we're satisfied."

Voters Defeat 5-Mill Increase

For Grand River Sewer

Council Weighs Plan

A special assessment district, prepared by Councilman Edwin Presnell for the proposed Grand River-Nowi Road sewer system, was presented to fellow Novi Councilmen Monday night.

The plan calls for division of benefit into direct and indirect units with special charges levied on every foot of property fronting the sewer.

The new system as planned will be composed of 8-inch, 12-inch and 15-inch pipe. It will run from a point just south of the I-96 freeway on Novi Road, south to the area of the Flint Street intersection. An arm will travel east on 11 Mile, southeast down Grand River, and northeast up Grand River. In addition there will be arms to serve the areas north and south of Grand River and west of Novi Road.

Presnell's formula calls for $980 to be paid for every direct unit of benefit, $400 for every indirect unit and $10 for each front foot along the sewer.

Presnell defined direct benefit as a tap currently in use or under construction. Indirect benefit, he said, could be considered as anything in the stage of future planning.

"This means," said Presnell, "that a person with 300 feet of frontage would be charged $10 per foot plus $980 per direct benefit and $400 for each indirect benefit his property represents."

Presnell added that there would need to be a re-evaluation of tap usage ordinances in order to effectively determine the ratio of benefit.

Estimated project cost is $727,700. Presnell said that he computed approximately 400 direct and 400 indirect benefits in the district.

The matter is to be studied and ruled on before a public hearing is set.

In earlier business Monday night, councilmen passed to City Attorney Howard Bond, as a study question, the proposal submitted by the Novi Jaycees to form a citizens environmental group "to lead and supervise the general clean-up of Novi."

Presenting the proposal to council was Jaycee Philip Cozadd, who asked that the group be formed to identify the hazards and trash in each area of the city to request cooperation of the landowner involved "to either repair, restore, or remove said hazards," and to recommend litigation if "said violator is not willing to voluntarily perform the necessary corrections."

Cozadd pushed for stricter enforcement of the city's anti-litter ordinance and closer attention to obvious dangers such as lockable refrigerators left open in vacant yards and abandoned wells left uncovered.

Mayor Joseph Crupi, responding to the Jaycees slide presentation that showed several dilapidated structures within the city limits, said he concurred with the need of such a group but that there were legal problems to consider.

Councilman Donald Young noted that one major cause of the litter problem in Novi is that many residents don't have the sufficient pride to pick up their own front yard.

The matter was turned over to Bond for study and recommendation.

In other business councilmen: assigned collection of a debt, allegedly owed the city by the ABC Photo company for sewer taps, to acting City Manager George Athas.

According to a letter written by former city manager Dallas Zonkers, the company owes some $52,000 for 74 3/4 taps.

Homeowners Elect Officers

New officers and a new board of directors were elected last week Tuesday by the Meadowbrook Glens Homeowners Association as the group held its annual membership meeting.

Jerry Fortenberry takes over as president, Gary Roberts as vice-president, Jo Ann Lippert as secretary, and Gwen Cherio as treasurer.

Sitting on the new board of directors are Philip Cozadd, Todd Price, Paul Skrade and Bill Ziegler.

The association's officers will serve one year terms while the board serves for two years.

Some 35-40 people attended the meeting held in Orchard Hills Elementary School.

Representatives of the company claim a verbal agreement with the city for certain consideration. "They say," Crupi explained, "that they only owe us for six taps as per agreement with former manager Harold Ackley."

Ackley has stated he was in the hospital at the time of the transaction and has no recollection of it.

Council also heard announcement by Presnell that Novi has been tentatively assigned an equalization factor of one.

Recommendations from Fire Chief Fred Lloynes to accept a bid from Fire Trucks Inc. for fire equipment as per specifications at $23,639 and for 10 radios from the Peter F. Payette company at a total cost of $1,820, were approved.

CLYDE LA LONDE

Drugs Linked To Slain Man

Intensive investigation by Novi Detectives has led them to believe that Clyde LaLonde, found dead two weeks ago in a rural section of northern Novi, was heavily involved in narcotics and may have sold drugs.

LaLonde was found shot-gunned in the back April 5 on Meadowbrook south of 13 Mile Road.

Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner told this newspaper last week that his department had learned of two separate trips LaLonde made to Jamaica, and one to two week vacations he took on that island.

Prior to the time he was found, Faulkner said, the former teacher had been without a job since September, 1970.

LaLonde owned a car, police report, and rented a house in Union Lake, at 1329 Clear Water, with 21-year-old Joseph Simons and his wife.

"He has $250 in phone bills," said Faulkner, "made during the last month-and-a-half all over the state, the country and Canada."

"He was continually taking three and four day trips when nobody would see him," Faulkner continued.

Prior to February 15, according to Faulkner, LaLonde made his first trip to Jamaica "to buy land."

His second trip was on March 6 when "a person calling himself C. LaLonde left Metropolitan Airport," with a young girl, Faulkner said.

The last time he was seen, according to information police will release was on the night of March 5 when Simons and his wife saw him at the Union Lake address.

Both Simons and his wife told police that when they awoke on March 6, LaLonde had gone, leaving his car with them.

"The oddest thing about this case," said Detective Sergeant Gordon Nelson, "is that we haven't received one phone call on the case from anybody. No tips, no cranks, nothing."

When LaLonde was found, he was clad in short sleeve shirt, slacks, socks and tie. Police found no jacket, or identification.

He had been lying there for several days, Police said.

GRADUATION-Milford Police Chief Ron Avril awarded graduation certificates to 23 of 48 original police academy students in the Novi City Hall Saturday. Sponsored by the Interlakes

Police Chief Association, classes have run since November training officers from 10 surrounding cities in various aspects of police work.

Renewal OK'd But Trustees See Crisis

With more than half of its requested millage turned down by voters Monday, the Novi Board of Education is slated to convene in study session tonight to weigh alternative solutions to the district's financial plight.

Those alternatives could include major cutbacks in school service services or going back to voters with still another millage request perhaps at the annual school election in June. Neither is "viewed" with any great enthusiasm.

In that Monday election, voters approved the request for renewal of 4.5 mills for operation but turned down the request for 5 additional mills, which school officials contended was necessary to offset state and federal aid cuts, rising costs, and to operate two new schools scheduled for partial opening next fall.

The margin of passage for the 4.5 mills was better than two to one, 535-209. Electors turned down the millage hike by a slim 61-vote margin, 399-338.

Only 744 of the school district's 2,050 registered voters cast ballots in the special elections. Some of these did not vote on the millage hike. Three ballots were spoiled, of the 13 cast by absentee voters.

In the wake of the millage hike defeat, Trustee Laverne DeWaard said he personally sees little hope for the opening of the new Novi Middle School and the Village Oaks Elementary School. He emphasized he was not speaking for other board members.

Trustee Ray Warren, who with Board President Bruce Simmons initially had voted against placement of the 5-mill proposition on the ballot but who later campaigned for it, expressed regret over the millage failure.

"As you know I was one of those who avored asking for a lesser increase," he said, "but I later became convinced the full 5 mills were a necessity and I campaigned strongly for the increase even though some now blame me for its defeat."

DeWaard voiced concern over possible cutbacks in services that are likely if no additional millage is voted before the next school year begins.

But he was most disturbed by the nature of Monday's vote. "Those who we needed to hear from," DeWaard said, "didn't tell us anything. Those who didn't vote are the ones we should have heard from."

"The people of Novi have never turned out in any great numbers in the past, but out of 2,050 voters 737 doesn't say much for the people's interest in their school system or their school children."

DeWaard said he would have preferred having far more electors "tell us no" on the millage hike than not voting at all. "At least," he said, "we'd have a more accurate gauge of the public's sentiment."

Donations Solicited

The Novi Jaycee Auxiliary will conduct a community wide campaign to obtain pledges locally for a donor program operated by the Kidney Foundation of Michigan, a United Fund agency.

Mrs. Thomas Marcus of 40976 Hollydale will head up the program which will include a booth to be set up at next Saturday's Orchard Hills Elementary School fair.

Mrs. Marcus will have literature and donor cards available at the fair.

Suicide Victim Found in Novi

A former Detroit man, Robert Edward Carsell, was found dead in his car Friday afternoon in Novi, an apparent victim of suicide.

Novi police were called by two neighborhood boys who originally spotted the car in a lover's lane off Garfield Road north of Eight Mile. Police found a hose run from the vehicle's exhaust to the side window. All car windows were tightly shut with any air leaks plugged from the inside.

Thirteen-year-old Danny Guido told police he and his friend had spotted the car Thursday approximately 4 p.m. but had not investigated due to the area's reputation as a lovers' lane.

Danny said he thought he heard the car motor running at that time.

The youth said he went back to the area Friday morning, went up to the car and saw Carsell's body on the front seat. His mother summoned police.

Officers Gerald Burnham and William Brown arrived at the scene and tried to revive the man.

An empty bottle, the type used for prescription pills, marked "doriden" was found on Carsell's police said.

Police stated Carsell had been under the care of Pontiac psychiatrist Dr. Maurice Wilks who said Carsell had "suicidal tendencies and was often depressed." He had attempted suicide last year and was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital on May 29, 1970.

Surviving are three children, Larry, 21, serving with the Army in Vietnam; Stephen, 19, presently with the Navy at Great Lakes Illinois; and Debby, 17, who lives with her mother in Farmington.

Wixom Newsbeat

by NANCY DINGELDEY

Spring may be a lovely time of year -- we seem to come out of "hibernation" to scurry into our yards and madly attack flower beds, lawns and shrubs. In general, a massive clean-up job. What to do with all those raked up leaves, pieces of shrub and odds and ends -- we naturally burn them. But, burning causes problems -- a slight wind, an unattended ground fire and our small mound of rubbish turns into a grass fire.

To recount with some of the rules connected with burning, I called Chief Bob Potter of the fire department. One word of caution -- BEWARE! There are regulations -- and some pretty stiff fines for the violators. Permission or permit, if you wish, is granted for ground fires from City Hall only. A simple call to June Buck, the city clerk, can grant you this permission. If a ground fire is started without permission the violator is subject to a ticket. Fines range from $5 to $100, 90 days in jail OR BOTH. Burning is to be done in a 55-gallon barrel with screened top or in a fine mesh basket also with screening.

The major cause of grass fires is, of course, careless burning. I've had the opportunity to watch the fire department in action and battling a grass fire is no easy job. Last week alone there were nine fires -- two of them were set. One fire last week found four fire departments responding to the call. It occurred near Micro poise.

Fortunately, George Spencer saw the fire spreading, got his tractor and disc harrow and cut a fire break across the length of Micro Poise property -- some 30 acres. This and the quick thinking of Chief Potter and the Wixom department stopped what could have been a bad blaze.

Chief Potter says he's going to be mighty happy when the department gets its new piece of equipment which is expected in the next several weeks. In the meantime, remember to call City Hall for your fire permits and avoid being issued a violation. The fire calls are up over last year at this time so please, do be careful!

Plans are in progress for our annual Michigan Week celebration which will be held this year during the week of May 15 through 22. Bill Walters, general chairman of the week-long events has already started preparing items for the scheduled daily programs. For example, the Government Day banquet will be held at the VFW and is open to the entire public. Tickets will go on sale on April 26 at City Hall for $3.50 each.

Mrs. Nancy Liddle is chairman of Senior Citizens Day (or Heritage Day). Mrs. Judy Kimmel is in charge of Education Day. Hospitality Day will be planned by Bill Abrams, and the Youth Day parade is being planned by Ron Parvu with afternoon activities headed by Mary Downard.

Parade entry forms are available at the post office, city hall, Flowers by John and the General Store. There are a number of categories and prizes will be awarded. It's not too early to start thinking about an entry so pick up a form and start to work.

And, of course, the kick-off to any Michigan Week festivities is always the annual Goodfellow Dance. Tickets are now on sale from Goodfellow (you'll know them by the smile on their face and outstretched ticket) at $4 each. The dance will be held at the UAW from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. on Saturday, May 15 with refreshments available. Please do remember all the fine things this group does throughout the year and help support them.

Tom Sutherland and Tim Tillman report the rattlesnakes are out and so is the poison ivy. All this was discovered during a four-day camping trip on Putnum Lake near Leonard during spring vacation. The two boys spent their time fishing, hiking and camping out by themselves. They say they're getting in shape to fulfill their "great dream" and that is to hike the Appalachian Trail. You've got to admit that's pretty great. They hauled all their gear into their camp site and instead of using mom's great frying pan they tried their luck on something a little more rustic. They found a good flat stone and proceeded to fry bacon, eggs and even toast on it. That's called pure-roughing-it. Tim brought home a present -- a nice case of poison ivy. I guess it's never too early for anything.

Back at home, mom and sister Nancy took over the paper route -- what a deal! Back at home after "tripping" over the countryside are Lillian and Howard Coe. They spent Easter with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Franklin in Silver Springs, Maryland. And, of course, it was the perfect time of year for cherry blossoms. In Kendallwood, another suburb of Washington, the streets were lined with cherry trees all in the height of bloom which Lillian said was even more spectacular than the famous trees in Washington. They toured the capital, Arlington Cemetery and Kennedy's grave and the Great Falls of the Potomac. All were very beautiful. On the return trip they stopped at the Natural Bridge in Virginia. Snow was still visible and things weren't quite as pretty as they would have been if the area wasn't experiencing a late spring. Onward to Gatlinburg, Tennessee and a few days there looking around at all the arts and crafts shops this small town is famous for. Lillian said there were more motels crammed into a small area than she ever thought possible. The town is able to accommodate 15,000 people at one time -- and that's a lot!

Olga Tuck was the raffle ticket "puller" this week outside the General Store. (And I didn't win AGAIN). $50 first prize went to Jim Beeny, with the second prize of $35 to B. Settle of Milford, and $15 third prize to a lucky employee at Korex, Barry Marion of Westland. The raffle has been such a success that it has been announced it will be run for an additional five weeks. And I say again...one of these days.

For Year-Round School

Workshop Plans Told

In an effort to air year-round school problems and potential and clear up questions on Phase III of the study, Northville School District has set up citizen workshops.

The workshops include a slide presentation tracing the history of the study which began in 1967 and outlines the steps needed to successfully complete the state-sponsored project.

Showings scheduled include today, Thursday, at Main Street School, 1:30 p.m.; Tuesday, April 27, Cooke Junior High, 8 p.m.; and Thursday, April 29, Moraine, 8 p.m.

All meetings are open to the public and are designed to be workshop sessions. School officials will narrate the slides and discuss Phase III of the study, "Is year-round school acceptable." A question-answer-discussion period will follow the slides.

Clubs slated to view the presentation include the Northville Rotary Club on May 4 and the Chamber of Commerce on May 13.

Superintendent Raymond Spear commented "We urge all citizens to take advantage of this opportunity to up-date their information about the extended school year concept.

"It is extremely important that misconceptions and misinformation about year-round school be cleared up before the trial scheduling begins," he said.

For information on workshops or to have questions answered, contact Spear at 349-3400.

Parents of all children who will be enrolled in school in 1973 through 1976 will be asked to help the district theoretically schedule Northville students on a four-quarter, staggered basis for a four-year period. Parents will be provided a form on which to indicate their preference for attendance-vacation periods for each child in the family. Scheduling is expected to begin later this month or in early May.

The vacation scheduling heads the lists of concerns, both in the community and the district, Spear said. "Feasibility studies of year-round school operation have discovered just how deeply ingrained the traditional summer vacation and living patterns of the American people are.

• OBITUARIES •

MRS. BELLE M. WALTER

Funeral services for Mrs. Belle M. Walter, 84, a former Novi postmistress, were held Tuesday from Harbin Funeral Home with the Reverend Arnold Cook, pastor of Novi Baptist Church officiating.

Mrs. Walter, who had moved to Florida several years ago, died April 16 at Ormond Beach Osteopathic Hospital after an illness of three months. Death was attributed to a heart condition. She had been making her home at 43 Ocean Shore Drive in Ormond Beach.

Interment was in Novi Cemetery beside her husband, Claude, who died many years ago.

Mrs. Walter was born September 14, 1886, in Michigan to John and Ida Mae (Ames) McCowan. She also was preceded in death by a son, two daughters, two brothers and two sisters. She came to Novi in 1900 and served as Novi postmistress when the post office was located in the red brick building on Grand River next door to the present one. Her husband had built the building and they also operated a grocery store in it.

Mrs. Walter was a member of Novi Rebekah Lodge.

CORNELIUS MEYERINK

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Cornelius Meyerink of 17885 Ridge Road who died Monday, April 19, at home after a long illness. He was 83.

Born December 27, 1887, in Holland, Mr. Meyerink married his wife, Eva, in 1950. He was employed at Maybury Sanatorium for 35 years before he retired.

Surviving are his wife, one niece and one nephew.

Services were held at the Ebert Funeral Home where the Reverend R. Lee Sizemore of Christ Temple in Salem officiated.

Burial was in Grand Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

MRS. ALEDA ATKINSON

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Grand Rapids for Mrs. Aleda Atkinson, 63, of Plymouth who died April 17 at Annapolis Hospital, Wayne. The Reverend Harold T. DeJong officiated. Interment was in Chapel Hill Memorial Gardens in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Atkinson, who was a laboratory technician, was born March 25, 1908, in Grand Rapids.

She leaves three sisters, Mrs. Frank MacDonald of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Ferd Arnold of California, and Mrs. Wesley Pechemur of Hudsonville; and a brother, Ray DeYoung of DeWitt, Michigan.

Kindergarten Registration Set in Novi

County-wide kindergarten registration for all pre-schoolers in Oakland County will be held May 3 through 7.

All pre-school children who will be five-years-old on or before December 1, 1971, should register at their local elementary school during the first week in May.

In Novi, registration forms for kindergarten age children living in the Novi Community School District may be obtained at Orchard Hills or Novi Elementary school offices.

To complete registration, a health form, proof of date of birth (birth certificate) and registration form are required. For further information parents may contact Orchard Hills (349-2110) or Novi Elementary (349-2945).

Novi parents with kindergartners scheduled for fall enrollment were encouraged this week by the Oakland County Health Department to have children immunized early.

Public Health Nurse Lorraine Andersen advised area residents that the Novi school system, in addition to state law, requires a general physical examination prior to school enrollment.

The series of immunizations required by law take several months to complete, according to Mrs. Andersen and are available from local physicians or free at the South Oakland County Health Department, 27725 Greenfield, Southfield.

"State law also requires a vision test," said Mrs. Andersen, "this may be done by an ophthalmologist, an optometrist or family physician."

"Many families may find it most convenient to obtain these forms and have them completed in time for kindergarten registration on May 3, 1971," Mrs. Andersen continued. "It is often inconvenient to complete these requirements during the summer months for an early September school opening date."

Glass Pick Up Is Saturday

Citizens for Environmental Action (CEA) will sponsor a glass and can collection on Saturday as part of the group's Earth Week activities.

Glass and cans should be brought to the parking lot next to the Board of Education office on Main Street between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday.

A canoe trip on the Rouge River is planned for tomorrow, Friday. One more canoe is needed for the trip and those interested in helping are asked to call Don Oswell at 349-4456.

The next meeting of CEA will be held Thursday, April 29, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Lawrence (Jane) Gaitskill, 690 Thayer Boulevard. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. John Graham, 11261 Karen, Livonia, was present to speak in behalf of Mr. Nagy, stated he had been coming to this bar for 10 or 12 years and feels the atmosphere is a good one. Councilman Folino asked regarding Mr. Nagy's probationary period. City Mgr. stated that Council had been informed of any occurrences at the establishment, the Chief of Police has neither recommended or disapproved Mr. Nagy's request, granting of license is a privilege not a right.

Moved by Folino, support by Nichols, to approve the transfer of classification of 1970 Tavern license to Class C license to be held in conjunction with existing SDM license located at 157 E. Main St.

U.C.
(2) Mrs. Audrey Roof, 254 Wing Ct. stated she hoped Council would review their ban on "No Parking on Wing Ct." Their family has 3 cars, necessitating a parking permit whereas neighbors all are 1 car families. She hoped she would be allowed the permit.

Mayor Allen asked if she had property across Wing Ct. and Mrs. Roof replied they were unable to park there during the winter Councilman Folino stated that twice in the last 2 months he had been on Wing Ct. and did not believe a fire truck could have gone by parked car.

Mrs. G. Sullivan, Wing Ct., mentioned that race track season makes parking difficult for residents if there are more than 2 cars in a family. She also stated that one car of Roof's had been on a jack for 3 weeks.

READY YOUR SERVE — Six new tennis courts will be blacktopped late this week and are expected to be ready by May 1. The courts, which were leveled off earlier this week, are on the site of the former bus compound behind Northville High. When completed, they will be open to the public without charge. Construction of the courts is part of the school district's 1970-71 building program. The bus compound has been relocated east of Cooke Junior High.

Northville Township Minutes

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP BOARD SPECIAL MEETING

MINUTES OF APRIL 6, 1971

Meeting convened at 8:04 p.m. by Supervisor Stromberg.

Present: Stromberg, Hammond, Straub, Baldwin, Mitchell, Schaeffer.

Absent: Klein.

Also present: Planning Commissioners: Bathey, Boor and Thomson, the Press, Wm P. Smith Jr., Architect Ralls, J. Schrot.

Hammond moved that the corrected treasurer's report for March 3, 1971 be accepted, seconded by Schaeffer Ayes All.

Straub moved that the attorney's retainer agreement for the fiscal year 1971-72 be approved as presented in Ashton's letter of March 31, 1971, seconded by Baldwin Ayes All.

Township Hall Fire Hall Committee Report, Smith Smith introduced Mr. Falls, architect, who presented drawings and plans for two different designs of buildings which could be used for a combination township hall, fire hall and police station. The drawings which were originally presented would have cost in the neighborhood of $490,000. The new drawings particularly the third one, accomplished several things, including a savings of about $100,000. The building is more functional, evolving around a core which is the township hall, yet the space requirements were met, allowing for some amount of expansion in the building as drawn. Additional space becomes readily available, by putting another segment onto the building, without in any way destroying its utility or esthetics. The interior would consist mainly of flexible partitions. There would be one set of toilet and operational facilities centrally located to service all segments. Entrances are so placed that they are convenient for the public, and yet give ready and private access to special areas such as building department, police, firemen, etc. There is a large meeting room with a smaller one adjacent for separate meetings. These can be easily combined into one much larger room if occasion demands.

The proposed property site is beautiful and would lend itself to this facility and be an asset to the community. If it were done in colonial styling, it would run ten to fifteen percent higher. Plans will be available at the township hall for any who wish to see and study them.

Mr. Ralls answered many questions from board members and others present. He then explained that very little money was left of the original amount that had been allocated by the board for architects' fees. He estimated, on request by Hammond, that an additional nineteen hundred dollars would be necessary in order to have the plans finalized in workable form for approval. He also explained several methods of proceeding when it came time to award the contract for the actual building. One plan that is becoming increasingly popular because of its economy and merit is called project management wherein you negotiate for services of a broker builder.

Baldwin moved that Scheme B as presented by the firm of Ralls Hamill Becker Associates, Inc. on April 6, 1971 be accepted as the general plan for the new township hall fire hall police department complex, supported by Mitchell Ayes All. The next steps are to determine if we really have ownership of a piece of property on which to place this building, the exterior of the building must be planned, and hopefully a public hearing could soon be held so that the public will be informed about the need for and costs of this new facility. The architect was asked to send a contract for the necessary additional planning to the supervisor, which in turn will be presented to the board at the next meeting.

Detroit Edison Company — Street Light for New Expressway on our Southern Boundary. Stromberg explained that the Detroit Edison Company has asked our permission to put in an overhead street light on the Plymouth Township Northville Township border. The ongoing cost of this light would be $120 monthly. Mitchell moved that the supervisor look into the possibility of the county taking care of this road lighting expense, supported by Baldwin Ayes All.

Office, February 10, 1971. This letter explained the various agencies from whom federal funding MIGHT be obtained when a municipality wishes to erect a new building. Mainly, right now, money is available only for water and sewer projects. Schaeffer moved to accept and file, supported by Straub Ayes All.

Letter from Northville Jaycees, March 11, 1971, re Community Survey. Baldwin moved that the board endorse the survey that is being made in the area during April and March by the Jaycees and ask for a report on the results of same when completed, seconded by Straub Ayes All.

Letter from Inter County Highway Commission, March 8, 1971. This communication also contained a resolution and a map of proposed inter county highways. Baldwin moved that this letter and plan be referred to our attorney for his opinion and a copy be sent to our engineer and planner, seconded by Schaeffer Ayes All.

Letter from Draughels & Ashton, March 31, 1971 re Tax exempt Property. Baldwin moved that the supervisor request permission of the State Tax Commission to place the Maybury Sanatorium property and the property now being offered for sale at the Detroit House of Correction back on the tax rolls. Also any extra property not now being used by Wayne County, such as vacant buildings at the Wayne County Child Development Center. Seconded by Mitchell Ayes All. The last mentioned properties were added as an amendment to the first motion by Mitchell, seconded by Schaeffer Ayes All.

State Police Mitchell brought up the matter of applying to the State Police for a telephoning system to the township. Discussion.

Clement Road. Stromberg stated that the County Road Commissioner had recently discussed Main Street north of Clement Road with him. It needs considerable work done on it — widening, drains, perhaps paving. Could we do it by assessment?

Library and Recreation Commission study meetings are to be set up jointly with the township board in the next few weeks. Notices will be sent out. Meeting adjourned at 9:57 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Eleanor W. Hammond Clerk

and thought there was a State law about this. City Attorney stated that the law is very clear relative to this and the car could be towed away as an abandoned car.

Mayor Allen stated that it was the consensus of opinion that the original Resolution should not be changed. City Mgr. is to talk with Mrs. Roof as to possible solution for her problem.

MINUTES & BOARDS & COMMISSIONS

Minutes of the March 3rd Board of Appeals and Planning Commission Meeting of March 16th were placed on file.

NORTHVILLE LIBRARY COMMISSION—ADVISORY REPORT.

City Mgr. reviewed the request of a year ago from the City and Township of Northville to the Wayne County Library Board for a report on the needs of the present library and possible future planning. City Mgr. recommended that the Northville Twp. Bd. Northville City Council and Library Advisory Bd. meet in the next few weeks, Councilman Folino suggested a meeting at the conclusion of one of the Work Sessions. City Mgr. thought a date in May would be alright.

LEXINGTON COMMONS SOUTH & OTHER STREET LIGHTING.

Street lighting should be approved before plans are approved. In the case of Lexington Commons, the developers prevailed to postpone the street lighting approval until a substantial number of lots had been sold. The charge would be $230.00 per month versus $170.00. Previous plans submitted were approved by Planning Commission and Council. It was agreed that plan cost $170.00 and providing 17 light (approx. 24' high) would be used. City Mgr. to work with Thompson Brown on financial arrangements.

Mr. Donald Peter, Lexington Blvd., asked whether lights would be more attractive in the subdivision. Councilman Folino asked Mr. Peters what he thought of approved lighting plan and Mr. Peters replied that he thought the 240 lights would provide plenty of light.

(Councilman Lapham entered meeting at 9:20 p.m.) Mr. Peters wanted to be assured these lights would be no cost to property owners.

SET PUBLIC HEARING DATE FOR RE-ZONING LOT 49 (143 E. Cady).

Moved by Nichols, support by Folino, to set Public Hearing to re zone Lot 49, Assessor's Plat No. 1 from R-3 to CBO and C-B P for Monday, April 19, 1971, at 8:00 p.m. at the Northville City Hall.

HOUSING INSPECTION PROGRAM PROPOSAL.

Mayor Allen stated he was concerned on possible legal counsel on the Housing Inspection program. City Mgr. stated that one point omitted in his proposal was the State Legislature requires that housing must be inspected once a year. The City does not have a Housing Inspector even though the ordinance has been in the books for 2 or 3 years.

FISH HATCHERY—TWP.

City Mgr. reviewed the proposed agreement.

Council to look at the deed for Fish Hatchery and restrictions thereon, then meet with Township 1971-72 BUDGET RECOMMENDATION.

City Mgr. stated that Council had received the 1971 72 Budget Recommendation.

NORTHVILLE POLICE DEPT. REPORT.

The Northville Police Dept. Report for March, 1971, was placed on file.

MISCELLANEOUS.

City Mgr. reported that the City of Northville had paid more than their percent share. City received a refund of $158.24, the Library Advisory Board has requested that the amount be left in the Library Fund.

No objection by Council.

City Mgr. asked permission to have James Cutler appraise property on Hutton St. — 3 parcels separately. Mayor Allen and Councilman Lapham were assigned to study this matter.

The parking lease with the Methodist Church has expired sometime ago, also the parking lot on corner of N. Center and W. Dunlap St. He suggested that the City lease this for $1.00, with cancellation at any time.

City Mgr. reported that the property being sold to Wm. Ahern has a fence that should be moved about 7 feet. It would cost about $400 each for City and Mr. Ahern to fence this property.

City Clerk asked if Council was interested in meeting in Lansing for dinner the evening of May 17, 1971 (Mayor's Exchange Day) — all agreed.

Councilman Nichols raised the possibility of a week long festival that would promote Northville as an Antique Center of southern Michigan — possibly enlist the aid of the merchants. City Mgr. said he had several thoughts about a parade or celebration regarding the next Harvest Meet.

Teachers Ask Cabinet Post For Education

The Northville Education Association has joined with the Michigan Education Association and the National Education Association in a write-in campaign.

The campaign urges President Richard Nixon to "give immediate attention to the development of a Department of Education with separate, individual cabinet level status," according to Art Frederick, executive director of the MEA regional office.

"The Northville, Plymouth and VanBuren Education Associations have participated vigorously in this campaign because we believe as citizens and teachers we can no longer allow the needs of our children and the nation to be relegated to the inferior second class position now reflected in the catch-all of Health, Education and Welfare," Frederick commented.

He said the complexity of education today demands the full attention of a secretary and staff who devote all of their efforts to education policies and programs.

"We feel a cabinet level Department of Education would give education its rightful position among national priorities," Frederick commented, "would focus attention of the public on education's needs and improve existing federal programs and policies."

He said the group also believes the department could assimilate data and make it available to Congress so education budget needs could be judged. "Responsibility for success or failure of federally funded programs would be fixed to one office or individual," Frederick noted.

The education associations have invited citizens to join them in their campaign to establish a Department of Education by writing to the President and Congressmen.

Plymouth Grange 389 will serve a smorgasbord dinner at the Grange Hall, located on Union Street in Plymouth from 5 to 7 p.m. on May 8. Persons wishing to make reservations are asked to call Ruth Hines at 453-1132.

You will receive this schedule for your family in the mail during the week of June 7, 1971.

When you receive your schedule, you will be asked to return a post card indicating your acceptance or rejection of this mock schedule as well as advising us as to whether the district should implement a Year-Round School program. Further, all families who reject unfavorably will be asked to meet with a school representative during the week of June 14, in order that we may establish the reasons for unacceptability and thus be in a position to answer the question: Is Year-Round School acceptable, in whole, in part or not at all in Northville?

Those families who will have no children in school during this four year period will also be given an opportunity to express their opinion regarding the Year-Round School concept.

YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL WILL NOT BE IMPLEMENTED IN NORTHVILLE BASED ON MOCK SCHEDULING. YOUR BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL NEED MUCH MORE TO MAKE THEIR DECISION. Your cooperation in this State sponsored research study is appreciated.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The year's at the spring,
And day's at the morn;

Morning's at seven;
The hill-side's dew-pearled;

The lark's on the wing;
The snail's on the thorn;

God's in his heaven

(Robert Browning)

Unpredictable as Spring may be, there's nothing in this world and life that can match the season for beauty, freshness and promise.

It's like Mother Nature is taking a bath and washing away the woes of winter. Miraculously, Spring's annual performances never become boring, no matter how many you've seen.

Perhaps it's that each winter seems longer and each Spring thereby more welcome.

Anyway, it's Spring! Time to bathe-away winter's worries, take a fresh look, an inventory and reappraisal; a time for renewed determination to do better, to be better.

The criticism of the architectural design of the proposed Northville Square project must certainly be recognized as well-intentioned and constructive.

The action would seem to come out of order, however.

First, it would be more comforting to know that the $3 million-plus project has been secured.

Secondly, the complete absence of recognition of accomplishment strips the criticism of some of its effectiveness — like one who has just been given a new car and complains about the color.

Many citizens have volunteered countless hours over a period of years as members of the non-profit Northville Area Economic Development Committee working towards the day when such a development within the central business district might become a reality.

Their efforts have been supported and expanded by the planning commission and city council.

This work deserves more than a slap at the design.

And finally, anyone familiar with past performances of the planning commission knows only too well the pressures that will be exerted to encourage Early American architecture. There are many examples of this effort in public as well as private buildings throughout the community.

Legally, the planning commission cannot force a business to adopt a specific architectural design so long as the structure complies with building codes.

But the planning commission jealously reserves the right of design approval, and it's a poorly-kept secret that Early American designs find smoother sailing through the various hearings than contemporary plans.

In fairness, however, whether it be out of order or sans a sugar coating, the criticism is welcome evidence that citizens do care about their community and are concerned enough to speak up.

Unquestionably, planners and councilmembers will accord this interest the attention it deserves.

Citing frequent date conflicts in important community meetings, Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg has suggested the establishment of a "clearing house" for organizations to use in scheduling of major functions.

Area oldtimers will remember that this was one of the main activities of the now defunct Coordinating Council. Each organization within the community appointed one member to the Coordinating Council, which met periodically to consider community problems, sponsor certain activities and establish and publish a community calendar.

To some degree The Record's community calendar, published weekly, serves this purpose. Women's Editor Jean Day notes that some organizations have called to find out if a proposed date for a special meeting conflicts with any other meeting.

She also volunteered to become "keeper of the calendar" if at the outset of each new year (in the fall) representatives of all community groups (city council, school board, township board, PTA's, Civitan, Rotary, Garden Club, Chamber of Commerce, church groups, etc.) would cooperate in reporting their major meeting dates.

Conflicts could be detected and alternate dates selected where considered necessary.

Interested organizations contact Jean Day at 349-1700 and start the ball rolling. Good idea, Gunnar.

Speaking for Myself Should Welfare Money be Earned?

YES . . .

Yes — without question, excepting the mentally and physically disabled and mothers of pre-schoolers. "You shall earn your bread by the sweat of your brow" is not a curse, but God's therapeutic prescription for mental and physical health.

Idle hands and minds build evil work-shops while they should be creating national wealth.

Welfare recipients could be used to turn swamps into beautiful lakes. The sale of the lake lots and the increase in taxes would bring returns forever.

The debris along our streams and roads are a sad commentary on our welfare culture. Are we to be buried in our own wastes, while supporting the healthy idle?

Two local judges have found that amateur probation workers are more successful than over-loaded professionals.

There's jobs a plenty.

The fields are white with harvest; however, our leadership is of the color that permits this to be the most liberal welfare county in the most liberal welfare state.

To continue the welcome, rather than reform to the welfare migration will continue an even greater and greater confiscation.

More important than the materialistic, we must afford feelings of personal worth — namely that this world or someone in it is a little better off because of my existence.

Lew Coy
Oakland County
Commissioner

NO . . .

The answer as it reflects OCCEO's policy and philosophy is "no."

The term welfare is misleading because the greatest number of people receiving payments under the heading welfare in this entire country and particularly Oakland County are those persons receiving categorical assistance and aid to dependent children.

In the case of the first three categories, it is quite likely the persons are unable or ineligible to earn any kind of income. In the case of ADC, the present philosophy is that mothers of children should stay in the home and be a good mother and raise the children correctly and as a result delinquency and dependence will diminish.

It is not possible for an ADC mother to work and earn part of an income. She earns it all or loses it all.

OCCEO believes that people should work when a job is open and call for a skill they have or training is available to acquire this skill to hold a job. We believe that the majority want to work and will work when it makes sense and does not point them on the road to starvation or deprivation.

Only a small group in this country and this county receive direct relief which is emergency short term assistance. Welfare is a right, not a handout, and those who must and do live on it are only experiencing one of this country's given rights and privileges.

'Charges False'—Ford

To the Editor:

It has been brought to our attention that an article (letter to editor) has appeared in your newspaper in which Jill E. Hall of the Wixom Area Support Your Local Police Committee makes a number of unsupported charges concerning the Ford Foundation and the recently established Police Foundation.

Her accusation of the Ford Foundation "having a history of financing Black Powerites, Communist, and revolutionary students" is utterly false and we deeply resent it. The Ford Foundation is dedicated to the strengthening of American society constructively and under law. This and many other private foundations have been pointed to as among the finest expression of the American tradition. It is ironic that the most frequent attacks on the Foundation come from organizations such as Miss Hall's and from the extreme Left.

It is also gratuitous, if not malicious, for her to predict that the effect of the new Police Foundation, established with the support of the Ford Foundation, will be "to confuse, demoralize and destroy" police forces. On the contrary, the Police Foundation has on its board of directors a number of eminent police authorities, including Michael N. Canlis, president of the National Sheriffs' Association and Sheriff of San Joaquin County, California; Hubert Locke of Wayne State University, former deputy police commissioner of Detroit; David McCandless, director of the Southern Police Institute; Lawrence Pierce, former deputy commissioner of New York City Police Department; Stanley Schrotel, former police commissioner of Cincinnati, Ohio; and Quinn Tamm, executive director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Further, we have had many expressions of approval from police forces all around the country for our action in having helped establish this new agency.

The Foundation's purpose in establishing the Police Foundation was to help the police perform their difficult and dangerous tasks more effectively. The need for better law enforcement, for advanced training of police officers, and for improved police management is widely recognized throughout the law enforcement community. A commission of distinguished citizens appointed by President Johnson to report on the deteriorating crime conditions, particularly in our cities, made more than 200 recommendations calling for the improvement of police operations and practices. The Police Foundation will help to bring about some of these improvements, and it will do so with the guidance of leading civilians and officials who sit on its board, including Ivan Allen, Jr., former mayor of Atlanta, as well as the police authorities noted above.

Miss Hall's charges against the Southern Regional Council, CORE, the National Student Association, and the Southwest Council of La Raza are equally irresponsible. For example, the Southern Regional Council has strived since it was formed in 1944 to improve racial relations in the South. It consists of 100 distinguished black and white Southerners, including such leading citizens as Dr. Robert J. Harris, dean of arts and sciences, University of Virginia; Dr. Vivian W. Henderson, president of Clark College, Atlanta; J. Rupert Picott, executive secretary of the Virginia Teachers Association; The Right Rev. Msgr. Alexander O. Sigur, Lafayette, Louisiana; John Siegenthaler, editor of the Nashville Tennessean; John H. Wheeler, president, Mechanics and Farmers Bank, Durham; The Rev. Hubert Beckwith of the Congregational Christian Church of Fairfax County, Virginia; Neil O. Davis, editor-publisher, The Auburn (Ala.) Bulletin; former Congressman Brooks Hays of Arkansas; Frank Smith, director, Tennessee Valley Authority; Hodding Carter, III, editor, Delta Democrat-Times, Greenville, Mississippi; John A. Griffin, executive director, Southern Education Foundation; and Paul E. Green, author and playwright.

The Foundation has made one grant, which has since terminated, to the Congress of Racial Equality for programs to better the living conditions of the Negro community, in Cleveland, Ohio, through economic community development, and other projects. In the view of leading black and white citizens, the project stimulated self-help efforts in the black community and helped to revitalize civic life in the city.

Law Aims Five Shots Too High

by JACK W. HOFFMAN

Once before I had volunteered to become the guinea pig in an experiment. That time they had exploded an atomic bomb over my head in the Nevada desert to prove, among other things, that the invisible but deadly rays of a nuclear blast will impair one's ability to reproduce.

It was an exciting experiment but I don't recommend it for birth control. The mother of my six children has since threatened to sue the federal government for breach of promise.

Anyway, Judge Dunbar Davis, magistrate of the district court serving Northville and Plymouth, rang up last week to ask if I would as a guinea pig in an experimental program he had cooked up for the senior citizens club of Plymouth.

"We're going to test the accuracy of the 'Breathalyzer,'" explained Judge Davis. For the uninitiated, the Breathalyzer is the instrument police use in determining the alcoholic content of the suspected drunk driver.

"Get here about 11:30 a.m. and you and a couple of other volunteers will drink for an hour or so before the program begins," he said.

Not wishing to delay the program I arrived a half hour early.

The "volunteer" from The Plymouth Mail failed to show, probably preferring a solo performance elsewhere. But a quick call for a substitute produced Michael Stillwagon, an attorney slated to represent a client later in the day before Judge Davis. Plymouth Attorney Robert Delaney, another of the guinea pigs, arrived about the same time as this writer.

The administrators of the test were Sergeant Louis Westfall and Corporal Phil Young of the Northville Police Department, who brought along the Northville Breathalyzer. Also on hand were Northville Police Chief Samuel Elkins, State Police Corporal James Echols, and, of course, our host the judge.

So there in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel, while guests wondered if a raid was in progress, they plugged in the machine and had the three of us blowing bubbles just to make sure none had gotten an early start. From there we moved to the proving grounds while the administrators and Corporal Echols were sequestered in another room so they would not know how much we had to drink.

And with Judge Davis and Chief Elkins keeping accurate score, Stillwagon nursed a single shot, Delaney had four, and I five martinis.

Properly saturated, we staggered next to the auditorium where the guests waited. They clamped my mouth to the

Hurrah for McCann

To the Editor:
The enclosed letter from Wayne County Commissioner John J. McCann shows there is at least one commissioner (there may be more) who are responsive to the police needs of the people in the area.

Hurrah for Commissioner McCann.
Sincerely,
Harold B. Putnam

Dear Mr. Putnam:
Thank you for your letter of April 5, 1971, regarding the possible lease of two buildings at the Wayne County Child Development Center to the Michigan State Police.

Please be advised that the matter is under serious consideration by the appropriate sub-committee. It is hoped that we can make a favorable recommendation so that these buildings can be used, if not for the instant purpose, at least for some useful one.

It is my personal feeling that the proposed use by the State Police would be in the best interest of the children, the County and the community.

Be assured that I will make every effort to bring this matter to a satisfactory and early conclusion.

Very truly yours,
John J. McCann

Raps School's Decision

To the Editor:
We would like the Citizens of Northville to know of the decision made by The School Board, Administration, etc., regarding the reward offered any one leading to the conviction of the party or parties doing the damage to the Cooke Jr. High.

Here's Bouquet For Teenagers

To the Editor:

I had the honor to accompany twelve Northville teenagers to the Steppenwolf Rock Concert, April 16th at Olympia. I would like to have it known how proud I was not only with the group I was with but with the entire group gathered. Olympia was packed with young people. There was not one bit of trouble. No running around, no loud talk, not one thing to cause any complaint. It seems to me that the only youth gathering that get any attention are the ones that are down grading to teenagers. It is very pleasing to see the other side of to-day's youth. I sincerely want to compliment and thank not only the Northville group I went with but the whole group at Olympia for a beautiful evening.

Another Mom,
Annette Hilligas
P.S. I also thought the music was "right on".

The Police called our home asking if they could speak to our Jr. High child as they heard through other students he had knowledge of the guilty student. It is true he didn't go to the police but when they came to our home they admitted this was the first real lead they had. They were given enough information to lead to the guilty students.

The school board's reasons for not giving the reward is the informing student did not come to them or the police, still he gave all the information they needed to lead to the arrest.

So parents, don't teach your child in this system to be a good citizen and have him go through the ordeal our child did. It has left a bad impression and done more damage than good in his feelings for his school and leaders.

Association, it should be understood that the Foundation does not provide it support for its total activities, nor does the Foundation participate in the organization's convention resolutions, any more than we can be responsible for resolutions passed by the hundreds of organizations to which we give specific-purpose grants from time to time — ranging from the American Council of Learned Societies to the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. The grant the Foundation made to NSA in 1968 was to help it set up an office to collect and exchange information on activities of college students in the field of educational reform. We recognized, along with many academic leaders, that unrest on the nation's campuses had educational roots as well as social and political origins. We have many grants to assist colleges and university administrations and the American Council on Education and other professional organizations in an effort to analyze problems in higher education and bring about carefully considered, constructive academic change. It was logical and worthwhile, we felt, that students also be assisted when they wanted to participate in this process, and the leadership of NSA gave strong evidence of that desire. We are satisfied that NSA's efforts in gathering and disseminating the facts about various educational reform efforts has contributed to the reduction of tensions in higher education.

Finally, Miss Hall is mistaken in asserting that the Foundation as given $650,000 to what she calls "the Castroite Mexican-American Youth Organization." The Foundation has given grants to the Southwest Council of La Raza, a nonprofit organization of respected members of the Mexican-American community. The Foundation's grants to the Southwest Council total approximately $1.9 million. In 1969 the Foundation rejected a small subgrant of these funds to the Mexican-American Youth Organization on grounds that it had engaged in political activity. The Southwest Council is working to help one of the nation's most depressed minorities — Mexican-American — confront their housing, educational and other problems. In a relatively brief period, the council has given leadership in such areas as bilingual education, youth rehabilitation, low-income housing development, and community improvement.

These organizations have worked in fields that are, admittedly, considered controversial by some people, but the terms of our grants require that the programs we support be conducted responsibly and lawfully, and we take great pains to see that the conditions are fulfilled. Not all programs we support achieve their objectives, but we are assured that the overwhelming majority are conducted fairly and responsibly. We believe, further, that is in the interests of American society as a whole that serious social problems are addressed instead of left to fester, and that private organizations have an important role to play along with the government. Public policy supports this view by encouraging private effort through such means as the tax exempt status accorded the organizations mentioned above and countless others like them.

In a time of social division in American society, irresponsible namecalling can only serve further to set one group against another. It does seem to us that the times call for sober analysis and a willingness to concede that people can honestly hold differing view on the issues and priorities facing American society without weakening the fabric of our way of life.

You will understand, therefore, why we take such strong exception to unwarranted charges such as Miss Hall's. The Ford Foundation does not claim infallibility, but we have made strenuous efforts to act constructively and I think our record will hold up under responsible scrutiny.

We hope that these views can be brought to the attention of your readers.

Sincerely yours,
Richard Magat

machine first and quickly pronounced me polluted (.12-percent) but not quite enough, under Michigan law, to be legally labeled a drunk driver (.15-percent and above). On the basis of the machine's reading, Sergeant Westfall guessed I "probably had six shots." (The experts in these matters tell me that five martinis are about the equivalent of six shots.)

Stillwagon got off scott free, the machine barely registering any alcoholic content in his blood. They guessed he had one drink.

Delaney, the sly devil, may have been looking for a way to "beat the rap." At any rate when he started blowing, the police insisted he was placing his tongue over the intake valve. It's the kind of thing drunks do in an attempt to fool the machine. "But I am blowing," he repeated. "No you're not," the police charged.

According to Sergeant Westfall, it is easy to determine if a person is trying to thwart justice. A light pops up whenever a person blows into the machine and the test administrator, who must be licensed by the state, can hear the air passing into the instrument. In my case, for example, the machine lit up like a pinball machine.

Delaney finally blew just enough to make the light come on but not sufficiently to register accurately how much he had to drink. In a case like his, explained police, the Breathalyzer test, which is administered only to suspected drunks who volunteer to take it to prove their innocence, would be invalid and the drunk recorded as having declined it. Delaney probably would have gone to jail for drunk driving anyway, while I, having had more to drink than he, might have faced a lesser charge.

The state average of persons taking the test is .20, or the equivalent of seven shots or seven beers. In Canada and some other states it takes less than Michigan's .15 to be labeled a drunk driver. I'm convinced they are more realistic than Michigan. At .12 I was a basket case and in no condition to drive, my car.

The good police and judge were quite accommodating, returning me to Northville in their paddy wagon—perhaps the first drunk driver in history to be treated so kindly. I was feeling no pain and offered to repeat the performance at the earliest opportunity.

Now if they'll just pay my Plymouth parking ticket I will be much obliged.

Five Attend Convention

Five area residents, including three from Northville, are in Washington, D.C., to attend the 76th Annual Convention of the National Society Children of the American Revolution. The convention opens tomorrow, Friday, at the Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Attending are Mrs. George F. Merwin and daughters Mimi and Jacki from Northville and Mrs. Robert Willoughby and son Larry from Plymouth.

Delegates representing the 50 states and the District of Columbia are participating in the three-day convention. Activities planned during the convention include a coffee hour at the National Society Museum, tours of Capital Hill, a reception on Saturday hosted by the Iowa State Society in honor of the National President, Lance Ehmecke, and the annual pilgrimage on Sunday to Arlington National Cemetery and Mount Vernon.

Installation of newly elected officers will be held Sunday.

Following a luncheon Sunday, a memorial service will be held at the Old Presbyterian Meeting House in Alexandria, Virginia. A wreath will also be placed at the tomb of the unknown soldier of the American Revolution in the churchyard.

GOOD TIMES — Northville's American Legion Junior Auxiliary were the guest-hosts Thursday night as they brought the party with them to the Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon Road. More than 30 residents of the center joined the Northville girls as they followed sponsor Pat Hartley through an evening of games, music and gift easter baskets.

Madrigal Concert Set

The spring concert of the Madrigal Club of Detroit to be given at 3 p.m. this Sunday, April 25, in the Ford Central Office building, Michigan and Southfield roads in Dearborn, will be the last concert for which Mrs. Kent Mathes of Northville will be serving as president.

Her two-year term as head of the well-known singing group actually will conclude at the club's dinner-meeting and election-installation of officers May 3 at the Farmington Community Building, a gracious brick home on Farmington road which formerly was a private estate.

Mrs. Mathes will be succeeded by Mrs. Edward Hart of Detroit.

Sunday's concert also will mark August Maekelberghe's 25th year as conductor of the group. Program highlights will include four love songs by Brahms, "Rosemary" by Thompson and "The Beggar's Opera" by Pepusch and Gay.

Mrs. Mathes, 349-7334, and Mrs. Clifford Kirkland of Novi, who is concert chairman, have tickets.

WSU Cites Two Doctors

Dr. Orlo J. Robinson, Jr., 501 West Dunlap, and Dr. Marcus B. Sheffer, of 45999 Pickford, will be honored by the alumni of the Wayne State University School of Medicine on May 12 in Detroit.

The alumni will present 25 and 50-year anniversary certificates to the Classes of 1921 and 1946 at the banquet ceremonies which conclude Wayne State's annual medical alumni Clinic Day.

This year's program at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel concentrates on the theme: "Prescription for Survival—a Conference on Environmental Health and Pollution." The speakers include prominent figures in the field of ecology, and health care, and features the Hon. James H. Brickley, lieutenant governor of Michigan, as luncheon speaker.

Nine of the 19 living members of the Class of 1921 will attend the ceremonies to receive their golden anniversary citations, and, in addition to the regular program, the 50-member Class of 1946 will hold a private reunion on May 15.

Both Northville doctors are members of the Class of 1946.

Pastor to Speak At Drug Panel

Father John Wyskiel, associate pastor at Our Lady of Victory Church, will be participating in the panel to discuss drug abuse and ways to combat it at an early age sponsored by Amerman PTA at 8 p.m. May 14 in the school's new gymnasium. The program is open to the community.

Father Wyskiel has been active in the "Speak-Up" program against drugs in Novi.

The panel discussion is being planned by the PTA to help parents of elementary-age children develop healthy attitudes at an early age, according to Mrs. David Longridge, program chairman.

Detroit Councilman Mel Ravitz, a proponent of the Maybury state park proposal, sees the extension of the parkway drive as a natural adjunct to the park at Maybury. Extension of the parkway, however, is a matter for the county—not the City of Detroit—to work out, he said this week.

participants who will speak for 10 minutes each are Dr. Joseph Jender, Plymouth pediatrician; Al Laux, Northville druggist; Herman Moehlman, attorney; Samuel Elkins, Northville Police Chief; and Jack Wickens, Northville High School counselor who participated in the DARTE program in Wayne Intermediate School district. Moderator will be the Reverend Timothy Johnson, associate pastor of Northville First Presbyterian Church.

McManus' initial sketches of the complex has been fielded by the commission.

Once again officials emphasized that the contemporary design shown in the sketches were not meant as anything final. According to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, McManus himself has not decided on the design of his preference. They probably will undergo many changes before final architectural drawings are presented.

Lapham said he had spoken to McManus earlier in the day and the developer indicated he, too, was aware of public opposition to the contemporary design and was having his architect come up with another idea sketch.

Four Game Win Streak on Line Today

No-Hitter Tops Mustang Start

Northville's varsity nine carries a four-game victory streak that includes a no-hitter into this afternoon's game against visiting West Bloomfield.

Undeclared in the infant Wayne-Oakland League race, the Mustangs square off with the Lakers at 3:30.

Following a split Thursday in a pre-season double-header with Plymouth, Northville opened league season Saturday by posting two shutouts, including a no-hitter by Bernie Bach, over Brighton, and then came back with a 6-2 upset win over Waterford Kettering Monday.

The fine early start pleased Coach Chuck Shonta, but he voiced concern

Tuesday following his squad's triumph over Kettering. "We left 16 men on base," he said, "and with the way they were pitching that's inexcusable."

In his first performance on the mound since notching the no-hitter over Brighton, Bach gave up five hits, struck out five, and walked five. A Kettering trio of David Settler, Rick Tatu and Joe Dryer gave up four hits, walked 15 and fanned four.

Kurt Suckow, Bart Taylor, John Crane, Rick LaRue, and Dale Griffith accounted for Northville's runs, with Suckow scoring twice.

Earlier, the Mustangs split with Plymouth, taking a 2-1 win on the strength of Scott Evans' two-hit pitching performance, and losing a 3-2 game in which Northville's Jeff Moon was tagged with three hits.

But the best efforts came Saturday when Bach picked up his no-hitter—a 5-0 victory, followed by Evans' 8-0 shutout.

Bach got off to a good start before a sprinkling of Northville fans as second baseman Scot Stuart socked a double deep to center on the first pitch off Bulldog right-hander Paul Schmidt. His effort went for naught, however, when he was wiped out at third later in the inning.

The Mustangs' golden hour came in the third inning when wild pitches put Taylor and Suckow on base. Stuart followed with a sacrifice that scored Taylor, LaRue singled and stole second, and Steve Utley loaded the bases by working a walk off Schmidt.

Suckow then scored on a wild pitch for Northville's second score, and a line-drive single off the bat of John Crane pushed Utley and LaRue across.

Crane stole second and came in on a center field single by Griffith. The inning ended, along with the Mustang scoring, when Taylor popped an infield fly to Bulldog third baseman Denny Horal.

Bach walked two men and fanned 11 in his first game of the season. Northville's battery, meanwhile, turned in one double and seven singles.

In the second game Evans fired a mean right-handed fast ball that fanned 10 men, gave up just one single hit, and walked none.

That lone Brighton hit was a single by lead-off man Horal who was left stranded.

The Mustangs started off with a bang, pushing across five runs in the first inning. They kept the rally going in the second with another run, and in the fifth with two more.

Stuart, LaRue, Utley, Bach and Rick Asher did the honors in that first inning, crossing the plate on four singles, a walk, wild pitch, and a sacrifice fly.

WILD PITCH—Dexter hurler Greg Ianni got on base with a walk in the seventh inning Monday against Wildcat John Pantalone. Wild pitches sent him to second and third where Gary Colton (above) tried to stop him but to no avail. Ianni raced home later on a third out sacrifice to clinch Dexter's 4-3 victory.

Dexter Edges Novi Nine, 4-3

It was a nice day for baseball Monday, but it could have been nicer for Novi coach Fred Gerhardt.

His Wildcats handed visiting Dexter a 4-3 victory in the diamond opener at Cass Benton park.

A spattering of Novi fans watched the varsity nine trail through the third inning 3-0.

In the fourth, Catcher Tom VanWagner walked and then sprinted around on singles by centerfielder Steve Bosak and third baseman Gary Colton to make it 3-1.

Dexter added another run in the seventh as hurler John Pantalone walked pitcher Greg Ianni and then let two wild pitches slip sending him to second and third.

The big Dexter right-hander came in on a sacrifice to deep center field by Jim Aseltine.

In their half of the inning, the Wildcats came within one shot of extra inning play as they carded two runs on one hit.

Second baseman Gene Reske walked, stole second and then sprinted to third on a ground out by Joe LaFleche.

Eric Hansor was safe at first on an error and Reske galloped home. Hansor stole second, went to third on an error and came home on a blooming single by VanWagner.

In all the Wildcats collected six hits—two apiece by VanWagner (three times at bat) Bosak (four times up), and Colton (three times up).

Pantalone went the distance allowing six hits and five walks. He fanned five.

He's Letterman

Charles G. Keegan of Northville is one of 24 athletes at Central Michigan University who will receive varsity track letters for their efforts during the 1970-71 indoor track season. Head Coach Don Sazima announced this past week.

Ianni led the Dexter attack with a fast ball and a curve that got away from him often enough to allow six walks.

That same combination, however, retired 10 Wildcats at the plate.

Dexter started off big in the first inning with two runs on two walks, an error and a single.

The Wildcats have a full schedule this week—Saline on Tuesday (there), Milan today (at Cass Benton), Livonia Churchill tomorrow (Haggerty Field), and a doubleheader Saturday with Hartland (there). They visit Brighton next Tuesday.

Poem Cites Week

With the second observance of Earth Week in progress (April 18-24), the following poem written by Amerman third grader Steve Bourne expresses a youngster's view of pollution in the world around him.

POLLUTION
Pollution is an awkward thing
Especially to a human being
Many animals struggle too
Most of them struggle for food
Most of it was made by man.
Someone should stop this dreadful band
Some parts have 1 worse than others
Boys, girls, sisters, brothers
Many people try to stop it
But the plan just hasn't worked yet
Pollution travels very far.
And much of it was made by car
People try to invent something
Things that buzz, clang, creak and some ring
Pollution is a dirty thing
And someone should stop this awful thing

LaRue scored again in the second as he walked, stole second, and came around on a booming triple off the bat of Bach, who was left stranded when Crane struck out to retire the side.

With two out in the fifth, Griffith and Taylor each parlayed singles and wild pitches into Northville's final two runs. Altogether the Mustangs unleashed nine hits.

Against Plymouth the Mustangs came up with only seven hits for the two games.

Kenny Lach carded the two Mustang runs in the nightcap, scoring in the third on errors and smashing a bases empty homer in the fifth. Bach picked up a double but was left stranded in the second inning.

Hurler Evans came up with the only extra base hit in the second game. With two outs in the bottom of the sixth, he smashed a double.

While Evans was giving up two hits, striking out six and walking six, Northville put together three hits to post the victory.

In the first game, the Rocks nipped Moon for three hits—a double and two singles—and six walks. Five Plymouth players struck out.

NO SWEAT—Pitcher-outfielder-high power hitter Bernie Bach slugged the only triple in the Northville-Brighton double-header Saturday. Bulldog Dennis Horal waits to catch the throw that came far too late to catch Bach as he jogged into third.

Leaps 23 Feet in Ohio

John Places Second

John Stuyvenberg, Northville's and Michigan's premier long jumper, added yet another triumph to his long list of successes by leaping 23 feet to a second-place finish in the long jump at the prestigious Mansfield Relays in Mansfield, Ohio, last Saturday.

This year's edition of the Mansfield Relays, perhaps the most important of all high school track meets, attracted more than 3,000 athletes from Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Canada.

"John got off a real gutsy jump," said Northville track coach Ralph Redmond of his star long jumper's outstanding performance.

"He'd been hitting in the 21 foot range all day long. In fact, he had six straight jumps in the 21 foot range. He jumped 21'2", 21'4", 21'8", 21'10 1/2", 21'11", and went into the final competition in fourth place. His first jump in the finals was another 21 footer and then, on his next to last jump, he hit the big one—23 feet."

"I was really happy," said Stuyvenberg. "That's the biggest thing for me so far this year. I guess you could say that I got it together all on one jump. I guess that I really wanted it."

The jump of 23 feet ties Stuyvenberg's own school record and is identical to the mark that he established as the long jump record at the Spartan Relays in East Lansing in 1970.

"My personal goal for the year is 23'9", Stuyvenberg said. "The State Class B record is 23'1 1/2" and the State record in all classes is 23'6" and I'd like to try to break both of those."

Stuyvenberg's second place was good for eight points under the Mansfield Relays scoring system. Last year the Northville star took fourth place and four points at Mansfield. This year's eight points are the most that Northville has ever taken.

Of the 14 Northville athletes who participated in the Relays, Stuyvenberg was the only one able to take any points. Redmond, however, cited the performance of senior hurdler Dave Mitchell. Competing in the 180 yard low hurdles, Mitchell won his first heat in 20.5 seconds to move into the semi-finals where he was eliminated by finishing third. Mitchell's time for the event was 20.2 seconds, his best ever and only .2 of a second off the school record.

Finally, for the information of anyone who was wondering how close Stuyvenberg came to the number one spot, first place in the long jump went to a 6'4" fellow from Dayton Roosevelt in Ohio, who did a reasonably good imitation of the new 747 air liner with a leap of 24'4"

Krause Fires 38 As Northville Wins

It was a young and inexperienced sextet of golfers that Northville coach Al Jones sent to the first tee at Meadowbrook Country Club Monday afternoon.

Of the six, four were entering their first competitive match. Two were freshmen, two were sophomores, one was a junior, and one a senior.

And yet when the Northville linksters had sunk their last putt and the last divot had been replaced in the plush Meadowbrook turf, the Mustangs had emerged with a decisive 19 stroke victory over rival Waterford Kettering.

Leading the field over nine holes used in high school matches was junior Mark Krause, one of those participating in his first match, who fired a 38.

Two strokes behind Krause were sophomore John Hlohenic and freshman Brian Mills. Senior Andy Walters carded a 44 and freshman Bob Simmons had a 47. Under the rules of the match, each team started six golfers and then chose the five lowest scores to be tabulated for the meet's outcome. John Marshall, Northville's sixth man, was a stroke behind Simmons at 48.

All in all, the Northville total came to 209 strokes. Kettering was led by Larry Preston, whose 38 was identical to Krause's best for Northville, but after Preston the scores fell off to a 46, 47, 48, and 49 for a total of 228 strokes.

Although he was very pleased with his team's performance, Jones was convinced that they can do much better. Bob Simmons was a good example. "He ran into some bad luck," said Jones. "His putter just wasn't working for him. He three-putted the first green and then four putted the second green. Later on he drove out of bounds and had to take a two shot penalty for that. That's a difference of five strokes that he ought to make up easily in the future."

"I was really pleased with the way they played today," Jones said. "If these guys can keep it up we're going to win a lot of matches this year and have a good shot at the regionals. This team has a lot of good potential."

By the time the regionals roll around on May 14th and the Wayne-Oakland League championships are held on May 27th, inexperience will no longer be a problem for the Northville team. This week they started on a three match a week schedule that lasts into the end of May.

Election Tops Hockey Meeting

Election of a new board of directors will be the chief item on the agenda of next Thursday's annual meeting of the Northville Hockey Association to be held at 8 p.m. in Northville's First Presbyterian Church.

Films of some of last season's games will also highlight the meeting.

Northville Grads Fight for Major Leagues

The grand American pastime of major league baseball is once again in full swing.

But while the Tigers, Orioles, Cardinals, and all the rest are bidding for pennants, a very different type of competition is taking place among the

DENNIS PRIMEAU

FRED HOLDSWORTH

Netters Win, Then Collapse

It was a so-so week for tennis coach Bob Simpson as his Mustangs won three of five matches from Clarkston Friday but then turned around and dumped five straight to Clarenceville Monday.

John Jerome lit up the singles courts Friday with the only victories in that competition. He won two sets 6-2 and 6-4.

The backbreaker for Clarkston came in the doubles matches as both Curt Saurer and Gary Allen, and Bob Norton and Bob Beurkins brought down victories.

Saurer and Allen in the first slot went 6-1 and 6-2 while Norton and Beurkins won 6-1 and 6-0.

It must have been a bad weekend for the Mustangs, however, because what they had Friday was gone Monday.

Bill Pink, Bill Puckett and John Jerome played singles and Saurer-Allen and Norton-Beurkins worked the doubles courts.

Try Outs Announced

Junior ball players will be battling for positions and teams soon — if they have not already begun — as area coaches and managers launch spring tryouts.

In Northville, Recreation Director Robert Prom announced the formation of class F night league ball for boys between the ages of 12 and 14.

"You have to be 12 before September 1, 1971," said Prom, "and can't have reached your 14 birthday by that date."

Try-outs will be Saturday at Ford Field at 9:30 a.m.

In Novi, Little League President Fred Buck advises that the major leagues (ages 10-12) will be trying out at Novi Elementary this week: yesterday and today at 6 p.m.

Babe Ruth hopefuls will meet at Novi High School this Saturday and next (April 24 and May 1).

Major league teams will be drafted today, minors on Saturday and Babe Ruth on May 1, Buck said.

In Wixom major and minor leagues are already practicing: the minors weekday afternoons at 5:30 behind Wixom Elementary, and the majors at 5 p.m. behind the City Hall.

four to five teams that comprise each major league club's farm system, or minor league teams.

There pennants and championships are only coincidental. The real competition is between players of the same position and in the same organization. All have the common goal of making the major league team.

Three outstanding recent graduates of Northville High School are currently involved in the highly competitive world of minor league baseball. The three, Dennis Primeau, Fred Holdsworth, and Steve Evans, are all involved in the thick of the fight to move up the minor league ladder to an eventual position in the major leagues.

Dennis Primeau, a 5'9", 165 pound second baseman and 1968 graduate, has the distinction of having been drafted by three different professional franchises.

Detroit, not wanting to lose an outstanding prospect in their own backyard, drafted Primeau shortly after his June graduation. The Tigers were unable to get their newly acquired infield prospect to sign a contract, however, and with the passage of time Detroit's draft rights expired and Dennis' name returned to the free agent category.

The San Francisco Giants were the next team to draft and attempt to sign Primeau, but their efforts were no more successful than Detroit's had been. Finally, after having been selected in the second round by the Oakland A's last May, Primeau inked his contract.

What kept the pro scouts coming back for more and more was the exhibition that Dennis put on at Port Huron Junior College.

In his final year of competition at PHJC, he hit a lousy 426 to set a new school record. It was his strong hitting that contributed heavily to Port Huron's participation in the National Junior College Baseball Tournament in Grand Junction, Colorado.

Primeau so distinguished himself in that tournament that he was named to the All-tournament team.

The A's assigned Primeau to their Class A team in Burlington, Iowa. Reporting in mid-season, Dennis clipped the ball at a highly creditable .279 rate.

As the A's minor league prospects break camp this week, Dennis will return to his starting position at Burlington. Before the season is over, however, he hopes to be reassigned to Oakland's AA League team in Birmingham, Alabama.

Would you believe a starting rotation of Lolich, Coleman, Niekro, Chance, and Holdsworth?

Although the thought has probably never crossed the mind of Billy Martin, if Fred Holdsworth continues his current impressive trek through the minors, such a starting fivesome might not be such an improbable thought in the not too distant future.

Holdsworth graduated from Northville in 1970 after having led the Mustangs to the Southeastern Michigan championship with his strong right arm.

Drafted by the Tigers in the 20th round and assigned to their Bristol, Virginia, team, Holdsworth promptly began performing like the best 20th round draft choice the Tigers had ever made.

In only his first year of pro ball, Fred led the entire Class A Appalachian League with a sparkling ERA of 1.33, posted a 5-1 won-lost record, and was named to the League All-star team.

When the Tigers reported to Lakeland in February, Holdsworth picked up right where he had left off and soon found himself working out with Detroit's "B" team, a squad comprised of second line major leaguers, such as Cesar Guitierrez and Gates Brown.

In the 12 inning of grapefruit league competition against the "B" team of the Boston Red Sox, Holdsworth handled his mound chores flawlessly as he held the opposition scoreless.

Fred will start the 1971 season with the Tiger's A League Lakeland team, and was designated their starting pitcher in the season's opener. Fortune smiled not on this son of Northville on opening day, however, as he absorbed a 1-0 loss on the basis of an unearned run in spite of striking out 8 men in the seven innings he pitched.

While the careers of Primeau and Holdsworth are just beginning, one Northville graduate seems to be on the verge of a major league berth. He is Steve Evans, a 6'4" right hander, who is the property of the St. Louis Cardinals.

After an outstanding prep career at Northville, Evans was drafted by the Houston Astros as he graduated in 1966. The Astros were unable to sign him, however, and when he became eligible again two years later, the Cardinals on the good advice of scout Bob Kucher made him their number one selection.

In addition to being a Cardinal scout, Kucher had also been Steve's high school coach, a fact which made for pleasant negotiations between the Cardinals and the Evans' and led to Steve's signature on a Cardinal contract.

A packed suitcase more than anything else seemed to symbolize Steve's first year in professional baseball, at first Sarasota, Florida, then Lewiston, Idaho, and finally Modesto, California had the opportunity to observe the talents of the tall right hander.

It was with Lewiston that Evans spent most of his time, however, as he posted an ERA of 1.89 while working a total of 38 innings.

In 1969 Evans was assigned to St. Petersburg, Florida, where he proved to be a mound stalwart, toiling 110 innings and posting an ERA of 2.95. A statistic that proved of interest to the Cardinal brain trust was Steve's 79 strike outs as opposed to only 34 bases on balls.

Little Rock, Arkansas, was Steve's 1970 assignment, where he quickly established himself once again as a pitcher of note, and by season's end he was awarded the Memorial Sportsman Award by his teammates, Little Rock's version of the MVP Award.

The future looks bright for Evans. The average age of the Cardinal pitching staff is between 29 and 30, and the club is looking for a big strong right handed pitcher, a description that seems to have been written with Steve in mind.

Kucher estimates that his protege is probably about one good season away from the majors. "Steve," he says, "has an excellent fast ball and a real good curve, but to make it in the majors you almost have to have a third pitch. Major league batters can really lay into a fast ball if they know it's coming. That's why every effective pitcher has some kind of a third pitch to keep the hitters from waiting for the fast one."

"The Cardinals are very high on Steve," Kucher continues, "and they feel he has a definite big league future. For the time being Steve has been assigned to the Cardinals' Little Rock team in the AA league, but the St. Louis front office will be watching Big Steve's performance carefully. He is definitely big league material."

Burlington, Iowa... Lakeland, Florida... and Little Rock, Arkansas. They are names that do not come immediately to mind when the topic of major league baseball is discussed, and yet they are an integral part of the major league system.

It will in all likelihood be a long summer of hard work for Primeau, Holdsworth, and Evans, but even if they advanced no farther than their present assignment, all three have already distinguished themselves.

NEW RECORD BUILDING
— Offices for Sutherland and Robson, Attorney Ogilvie and The Record will be located at entrance 'A,' Fashion Cellar at 'B,' and Northville Realty at 'C.' Record editorial and advertising offices are on the second floor.

Realty, Attorney, CPA, Beauty Parlor

Tenants Named for Record Building

Final leases were signed this week to complete occupancy of the Northville Record Office Building, located at Main and Center streets.

The building, which formerly housed the newspaper's printing and office facilities, is now being remodelled for office and commercial use. The Record's printing and bookkeeping operations have been moved to 560 South Main street.

Occupying the main floor will be offices for Northville Realty, Philip Ogilvie, attorney; Sutherland & Robson, certified public accountants, and The Northville Record.

A new business to Northville, Fashion Cellar, Inc., will move into the basement area formerly occupied by the newspaper's commercial printing department.

The firm of Sutherland & Robson has been doing business in The Record building since March. This week new offices were completed for both Sutherland & Robson and The Record at the new Main street entrance at the rear of the building.

Work is now underway to install a new Center street entrance to offices that will be occupied by Northville Realty.

Entrance to Attorney Ogilvie's offices will be on Main street along with Sutherland & Robson's and The Record's offices.

Fashion Cellar, Inc., a beauty parlor, will have its own entrance to the lower level on Main street near Center street.

Renovation of The Record building is being performed by James Lapham, general contractor. Although extensive exterior work will remain, Lapham stated that interior remodeling, heating and air conditioning installations, will be completed for Northville Realty and Ogilvie by May 1. Fashion Cellar's area will be completed June 1 and exterior building changes and painting should be accomplished by late June, he added.

Northville Realty, now located at 160 East Main street, is owned by Stanley J. Johnston. It is Northville's oldest real estate firm and was purchased by Johnston from George Clark three years ago.

Johnston is well known and active in many community affairs. Now serving his fifth year as a member of the board of education, he is a former board president.

A native of Morenci, Johnston was graduated in 1950 from Eastern Michigan University and came to Northville as physical education teacher and basketball coach in 1952 after two years in the Lake Orion school system.

He taught here until 1959 when he joined the Prudential Insurance Company. In 1965 he entered the real estate business and three years later acquired the Northville Realty agency. Johnston and his wife, Fran, have four children: David, 19, Paul, 17, Patti, 14, and Mary, 10, and reside at 20489 Lexington Boulevard.

The need for more space prompted the move, Johnston explains, noting that the new offices will provide nearly three times the floor area.

Associated with Johnston as sales representatives at Northville Realty are Kay Keegan, Ann Lang, Rose Marie Moulds, Patricia Herter and Jack Slotnick. Joining the staff on June 1 will be Myrtle Ferguson.

Attorney Ogilvie, who now has offices on the second floor at 162 East Main, is likewise well known in the Northville community.

A Detroit native, Ogilvie was graduated from Detroit College of Law in 1949, the same year he came to Northville to become associated with Attorney Clifton D. Hill.

In 1955 the partnership was terminated and Ogilvie opened his own offices. He served as village attorney from 1953-56 and became city attorney upon incorporation of the village.

From 1967 to 1969 he was municipal judge, but returned as city attorney after municipal judgeships were vacated for district courts.

Ogilvie has been involved in a variety of community and church activities and was awarded the coveted Silver Beaver for his work in area scouting.

Additional office space at the new location will make it possible to seek an associate for his law firm, Ogilvie stated.

Mary Ellen Patterson Hollis serves as Ogilvie's legal secretary and has been associated with the firm for 15 years.

Ogilvie and his wife, Ethel, live at 525 Linden court, and have two children, Janet, 20, and Gary, 16.

Appropriately named "Fashion Cellar", the new beauty parlor owned by Joseph Agosta and Nick Layow will occupy the basement area of The Record Office Building.

Agosta is now owner of Agosta Hair Fashions, West Seven Mile near Evergreen. Layow has worked with Agosta for eight years and the two will become partners in Fashion Cellar.

Agosta, 42, has been in business for himself for 11 years. Formerly he was associated with Nino Salon of Troy. He has had 18 years experience in hair fashions and is a member of Intercoiffure International, an organization of professional hair stylists.

Agosta met his wife Gina when the two were employed at Nino's. They have four boys, ages 11, 8, 5 and 4.

Layow, 29, has been a Northville resident for two years. He and his wife, Dawn, live at 18722 Jamestown Circle with their three boys, 7, 3 and 1.

A native of Livonia, Layow attended Virginia Farrell Beauty School and has had 12 years experience in hair fashioning.

Agosta and Layow are now busy planning the new shop's decor. They plan to have five stylists and a manicurist. Dawn Layow will be the shop receptionist.

"Good haircutting and conditioning are the basis for all good grooming", Agosta and Layow stated. They indicated that several of their customers from the Northville area have urged them to locate a shop here and that they have been seeking a site for some time.

OK Rezoning For City Lot

Rezoning of a Cady Street lot, setting of a public hearing date for another zoning change request, and the purchase of two new police cars were given council approval Monday night.

Following the opening of bids from four companies and the study of those bids by City Manager Frank Ollendorff and Police Chief Samuel Elkins, the council awarded a contract for two 1971 Dodge Polaris cars to G. E. Miller Sales and Service of Northville.

Miller submitted the low net bid of $2,150 per car.

Other bidders and their net bids were: Colony Chrysler-Plymouth of Plymouth, $2,202.22; John Mach Ford of Northville, $2,262; and Dameron Motor Sales of Farmington, $2,154.52.

The bids included trade-in.

Council rezoning action concerned the Cady Street lot, housing what is known as the Green Apartments. It changes the back portion of the lot, adjoining the alley, from R-3 to a CBD district classification, and the front portion where the apartments sit to parking.

Owned by the city, the property is being sold to D&B Floor Covering, which will re-locate from its present site on Dunlap Street. A two-level building at the alley, adjacent to the Spinning Wheel building is planned.

The apartment building on the Cady Street lot is to remain for the time being and later be removed for parking.

Meanwhile, the building now housing D&B, purchased by the city, will be razed for municipal parking. The auto bump garage in the same building is relocating to property on part of what once was the city dump off Gerald Avenue.

City requested rezoning of that portion of the city dump, from M-1 (manufacturing) to C-3 (manufacturing and limited commercial) to accommodate the relocated business. Public hearing on that request has been set for May 3.

In other business Monday, the council discussed installation of street lights in the newest part of Northville Heights subdivision and, after reviewing a recommendation of the Detroit Edison Company, decided to bring the matter up again at a public meeting on May 3 so that residents of the area can voice their opinions.

As in the case of its recent action approving street lighting for Lexington Commons South subdivision, the council contends the Edison recommendation calls for more lights than is economically and aesthetically sound.

PARTNERS IN FASHION — Joseph Agosta (l.) and Nick Layow will open the new Fashion Cellar in The Record Office Building in June.

CONTEMPLATING MOVE — Attorney Philip Ogilvie (seated) and Stanley Johnston, Northville Realty owner, now occupy offices in the same building and will do so again when they move May 1 to The Record Office Building, Main and Center streets.

Annexation Draws Fire

As of this past Tuesday afternoon the township had received no notice of intent by the boundary commission, Kalota said.

The eight township areas (seven up for annexation) have been surrounded by the city since the summer of 1969 when residents decided to remain in the township, despite incorporation of all other village and township property, and to carry on their own form of government.

It is estimated that less than 5-percent of Novi is in the township, much of it unconnected.

THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wed.-Thurs., April 21-22, 1971

Reprinted from the AFT Non-Coloring Book on Performance Contracting

A Local Observation

'It Opens New Doors'

by DONALD W. BURNS

Superintendent, South Lyon Public Schools

There can be little doubt that performance contracting is going to play a role in bringing about instructional accountability in the American education system. The most significant question is: Will it improve the system or merely add to the confusion that currently exists? This trend, whereby commercial agencies guarantee specified educational results, may or may not be a passing fad — but it opens new doors for the teaching profession.

The conscientious teacher can benefit from this growing demand for accountability. All of us need to know whether it is possible to attain better results in the teaching of reading, math and any other tools of learning through new techniques, the employment of different personnel, and new kinds of learning devices and materials

Undoubtedly, every move or method used by these performance contractors will be scrutinized microscopically by those who fear this trend. Consequently, the teaching profession can observe, adopt and improve upon any commendable aspects of these performance contracts. Without cost to themselves, teachers will have a real opportunity to close the credibility gap between the militant teacher on the one side, and disappointed parents and exasperated taxpayers on the other.

Over the years there have been many proposals to improve teaching. Most seek improvement and change through indirect means. Such proposals advocate teaching learning improvements through a restructuring of content or changes in schedule arrangements, class size, and physical plant facilities. The Michigan Education Association for the past 17 years, according

Educators Punch Holes in Contract Learning

If performance contracting is everything it's cracked up to be why are many school administrators and teachers opposed to it and many others less than enthusiastic?

If thousands of schools systems across the nation are so excited by this new concept that they've adopted or are about to adopt some form of performance contracting, why are many thousands of others skeptical?

Some proponents would answer these kinds of questions by charging selfishness, by explaining that such administrators and teachers are fearful of being held accountable for their failures and, worse, fearful of losing their jobs or professional standing.

But just as it is unfair to criticize performance contracting out of hand, as do many professional educators, so too it is unfair to criticize teachers and administrators who pose legitimate arguments against the concept.

The Office of Economic Opportunity has invested $5.6 million for 18 experimental contract learning programs, including one at Grand Rapids. Yet, one of its chief executives, John Wilson, believes too little is known about the effectiveness of the concept to indicate any kind of optimism. "I am appalled," he declares, "when I read that schools already are spending millions of dollars for this entirely unknown quantity."

Even Charles L. Blaschke, "father" of performance contracting who proposed it on paper in 1964 and who in 1968 pioneered the first program at Texarkana, Arkansas, concedes that there are many legal questions to be resolved before the concept can be fully palatable.

Teachers directly involved in the contractual programs at Grand Rapids expressed enthusiasm and support for it when questioned by this newspaper. Why, then, are others there critical?

Take just one of their arguments: Outside corporations guaranteeing performance are not taking the "big risk" they would have the public believe.

This argument, it appears, has some justification.

If the observer studies the contracts between the board of education and the three firms involved in the Grand Rapids program he finds several "escape" clauses that do, in fact, minimize the risks of the companies in guaranteeing to raise the grade level in reading and mathematics of each student involved in the programs.

Here are two examples: In the contract with Combined Motivation Education Program, Part II-B, Page 2, the company retains the right, within 30 days after the program begins, to refuse to accept up to 10-percent of the students assigned to the program "on the basis of emotional or mental reasons unrelated to the standardized test results..."

Page 3 of the contract, with the Westinghouse Learning Corporation, paragraph 3, provides that within the first 20 hours of the program the company can remove "any" student that it determines cannot benefit from the program. The contract states that Westinghouse "expects" that not more than 5-percent of the students will fall in this category but the contract does not hold Westinghouse to this 5-percent.

Teachers argue that if they had the same right to exclude such untrainables from the classroom the resulting performance of their students would appear better, too.

Furthermore, teachers argue that if

Editor's Note — Following is the third in a series of articles prepared and written by this newspaper about the highly controversial concept of performance contracting in which local school boards contract with outside companies — or with local teacher associations — to either raise the academic skills of students or forfeit payment. This last article deals with a few of the arguments against the concept.

they were permitted to use their own teaching methods and could employ their own teaching tools as can the companies, without restrictive board or administrative policy, (i.e. "The company shall use its own methods and procedures of instruction in the conduct of its Combined Motivation Education Program"), they, too, could do a better job.

Blaschke concurs: "If teachers are to be held responsible for student performance, they must be delegated the decision-making authority to choose the learning approach they feel is best for each of their students. This flexibility is the 'price' which private contractors demand in exchange for accountability, and must therefore be offered to teachers."

Northville Superintendent Raymond Spear, who views contract learning as unnecessary, concedes that teachers and administrators must be accountable to the public — but he argues that the school staff can perform just as effectively as an outside company if staff members are given the same materials to work with. He flatly predicts that if teachers allow contract teaching "the education profession is in trouble."

Grand Rapids teachers not directly involved with the contractual program object to the emphasis the program places on non-certified para-professionals. They see it as an unfair labor practice.

Administrators, on the other hand, emphasize that these aides make the teachers' jobs easier and more effective, and that they are not intended as "replacements" nor as means of cutting teacher costs.

Nevertheless, one administrator privately admitted to this newspaper that aides are employed at only a fraction of the cost of a teacher, that they receive less than the state wage minimum, and he voiced a fear that the aides may soon organize, demand salaries of teachers, and thus drive up the cost of performance contracting.

Just as some Grand Rapids teachers question the "risk" of the companies, some teachers argue that private companies are purposely cutting their prices to get their foot in the door of the classroom.

Two Indiana University faculty fellows, who made a study of the controversial performance contracting program in Gary, Indiana (the only program in the nation where an entire school's curriculum is managed by a private corporation), concluded that while the private firm appears to be barely making a profit, it may be motivated by the national publicity it receives in Gary and the resulting increased sales.

"If one considers the large profit margin that business usually requires in a high-risk enterprise... he begins to wonder what it would really cost to contract with a corporation that had to make its profit on site," they note. "It seems that Gary has gotten a bargain rate; one may look askance at the publicity that says this project can be endlessly duplicated at the Gary price. It might better be thought of as a 'loss leader' aimed at the educational market."

Charles Smith, president of the teachers' union in Gary, contends the performance contract is dehumanizing. "Performance contracting makes teachers into technicians," he charges. "Teachers are programmed, because they don't follow their own plans and make decisions. State approved textbooks aren't even used."

When this newspaper asked Walter L. Thomas, Ed D., director of educational programs for Combined Motivation Education Systems headquartered in Rosemont, Illinois, to reply to criticisms of his firm's Grand Rapids' program, this "dehumanizing" argument was one of the points he refuted.

Rather than dehumanizing, he argued, "we humanize the classroom through effective use of technology and free the teacher's time so she can spend it with individual students, and students in small groups. A humanized classroom is one in which students set their own goals, pursue them at their own pace, and are free to move about. We advocate this type of classroom."

Performance contracting, he said, does not displace the teacher "... in fact, we use them. Learning machines teach the basic skills so that the teacher can work with children on an individualized basis."

Replying to the argument that corporations aren't especially interested in teaching but use performance contracting to market their lines of materials and programs, Dr. Thomas said, "We don't publish or manufacture any of the products and materials we use. Our corporation was formed by professionals. We're not owned by any manufacturer or publisher."

That CMES does not publish, manufacture or market its own products is not true of all performance contracting companies. Westinghouse, for example, told this newspaper it is using reading and math materials in Grand Rapids put out by Westinghouse. Other companies, including Behavioral Research Laboratories (the firm contracted in Gary), are doing the same.

Gary has a standing offer to the teachers' union that it will contract with the teachers, just as it has with BRL, if they will agree to the same "money back" terms. The union replies that since it is not in the business of publishing and selling materials it cannot afford to compete on the same terms as BRL.

Still another argument of contractual performance opponents — and perhaps it is the most important — is that many school districts are hastily entering the performance contracting field to snare federal and state assistance without any thought of implementing the program or its learning techniques after the aid runs out or after a company withdraws its services.

Too often in the past, opponents argue, federal funds have been spent to "try out" something new. Millions have been spent for programs that have long since been scrapped. Is this the fate of performance contracting? they ask.

In Grand Rapids, for example, performance contracting would fold overnight if outside aid were cut off, administrators admit. The school's contracts make little or no provision for the program's continuation.

"One may assume that a school is on safest legal ground," says Blaschke, "when it specifies in the original contract the procedures for taking over the operation of a successfully demonstrated instructional program. This process has come to be called the turnkey phase — when the contractor turns the keys over to the school so that the school can run the program thereafter."

"This step also has important educational consequences, for the turnkey phase is what will distinguish the performance contracting movement, hopefully, from past educational panaceas."

Top Roses

HYBRID TEAS — Large, classically formed, elegantly petalled and colored blooms characterize this class, which is considered the aristocrat of the flower world. Richly fragrant blooms are usually carried individually on a long, sturdy stem. Excellent for cutting and exhibition.

FLORIBUNDAS — An ever-popular class of rose that is superb for landscaping. Relatively low growing. Easy to grow, floribundas bear a generally smaller bloom with flowers produced in profusion in bouquet-like clusters over the plant, giving a mass color effect.

GRANDIFLORAS — This new class, first introduced by All-America Rose Selections in 1954, has steadily grown in popularity. It combines all of the fine attributes of the hybrid tea and floribunda into a taller growing plant that produces small clusters of medium to large size flowers on long stems together with some stems bearing individual blooms, all very suitable for cutting.

CLIMBING ROSES — In general there are two types of climbers recognized — ramblers and the large flowered climbers. Ramblers are characterized by supple canes and small flowers, two inches or less, borne in dense clusters. Large flowered climbers typically have larger, stiffer canes, flowers more than two inches in diameter, usually borne in loose, open clusters.

Expert Suggests Pest Control Plan

Chemical treatment of seeds and soil starts a home gardener's pest control program properly, points out a Michigan State University entomologist. Don Cress recommends the following chemical seed treatment procedures: Radish, onion and turnip maggots: Apply 3 level tablespoons of 5 percent chlordane dust over the seed of a 25-foot row before the furrow is closed or one-third teaspoon of 50 percent diazinon in 1 pint of water to 20 feet of row. If possible, buy insecticide-fungicide treated seed.

Cabbage maggot: Before planting, dip the roots of cabbage, broccoli or cauliflower in a mixture of 1/2 teaspoon of 50 percent wettable diazinon powder in 1 gallon of water or of 2 level tablespoons of 40 percent wettable chlordane powder to 1 gallon of water. Cutworms: To protect cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and brussels sprout, apply 5 percent methoxychlor plus 5 percent malathion dust to the soil the same day these plants are set in the garden. Sprays of these same materials may be used also.

White grubs and wireworms: For control where land was in sod within the last three years, apply 5 ounces of 40 percent wettable chlordane powder (or 5 1/2 teaspoons of a chlordane emulsion containing 6 pounds of active chemical per gallon) or 3 ounces of 50 percent wettable diazinon powder, or 10 ounces of 14 percent granular diazinon to 1,000 square feet of soil surface. Work into the soil immediately after plowing or spading. Do not use chlordane where carrots are planted.

Nematodes: If damage is severe, consider relocating garden or fumigating the soil. Wilt diseases: Planting resistant varieties is the most satisfactory control practice. Fumigating the soil under a clear plastic cover with highly volatile chemicals such as Vorlex or Vapam rids the soil of all diseases, insects and nematodes.

Scab disease: High soil fertility, adequate soil moisture and acid soil conditions (pH 5.0 or less) reduce scab damage.

Vegetables are also damaged by insect and disease-causing organisms during the growing season. Chemicals applied properly and at the right time minimize insect and disease losses.

Spray vegetables each week with a fungicide and/or a bactericide, plus one or more insecticides, suggests Cress. Start applications when the plants emerge and continue through the growing season as pest presence and damage may warrant.

Some chemicals have limitations on their use close to harvest. Therefore, read package labels before using any chemical and follow directions carefully, warns the entomologist.

Fungicide and insecticide dust combinations may be used instead of sprays, notes Cress. Buy dusts ready-mixed, he suggests. Fungicides and insecticides for spraying may be bought separately or ready-mixed.

More detailed garden pest control information is provided in Michigan State University Extension Bulletin 529. You can get this bulletin from your county Cooperative Extension Service office or free single copies on request from: MSU Bulletin Office, P.O. Box 231, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

Treating Your Sick Sycamores

Your sick sycamore trees this spring may have anthracnose.

According to Dr. Axel Andersen, Michigan State University plant disease expert, the disease is caused by a fungus overwintering in small cankers formed on diseased parts of the tree.

Weather conditions control the development of the disease in the spring while the leaves are coming out. Cool temperatures (below 55 degrees) and spring rains favor rapid spread of the fungus.

Symptoms of the disease include a browning of the leaf edges that spreads to the entire leaf. Small twigs and branches may be killed back to a length of about 8 to 10 inches. These leaves and twigs fall to the ground and the tree remains bare until a new crop of leaves is formed in the summer.

Trees heavily infected with anthracnose may die over a period of years or be seriously weakened and thus become susceptible to other diseases or problems.

Anthracnose can be partially controlled by gathering and burning all infected leaves and twigs. This destroys the fungus spores that would produce the infection next year.

If a tree has suffered from repeated attacks of the disease, spring and fall applications of fertilizer will help increase its vigor and resistance.

Valuable sycamore trees threatened by anthracnose can be saved by chemical treatments if the disease hasn't progressed too far.

MSU scientists recommend solutions containing fixed copper. Apply these sprays before the buds open in the spring, as the buds are opening, and once again 10 days later.

Recommended fixed coppers include: Copper-count-N: at the rate of 1/2 gallon of commercial solution per 100 gallons of water.

Copper oxide: at the rate of 2 lb. per 100 gallons of water.

Copper hydroxide: at the rate of 2-3 lb. per 100 gallons of water.

Tri basic copper: at the rate of 3-4 lb. per 100 gallons of water.

For better results an adjuvant (spreading agent that works similar to water softeners) can be added to the spray solution. Two such materials are New Film-17 and Biofilm, both used at a rate of 4 ounces per 100 gallons of spray.

A spray material called Zineb can also be effective in controlling anthracnose. Use two teaspoons of this powder for each gallon of water. The spray schedule should be the same as that used for fixed copper sprays.

Preserving Cut Flowers

From the first spring daffodil to the last fall chrysanthemum, most homemakers like fresh flowers in the house. Yet many are disappointed with the short time some of them last after cutting.

William Carlson, horticulturist at Michigan State University, suggests the following basic steps in caring for cut flowers, whether you've grown them yourself or bought them from a florist.

First, he suggests that you cut flowers early in the morning or late in the evening. At that time, flowers contain more water than they do in the heat of midday. They'll stay more crisp.

Use a sharp knife or shears to cut the flowers. A dull scissors or knife may crush the stem together. That limits the amount of water the flowers can get.

Take a bucket of warm water — about 110 degrees — with you as you go to the garden, and put the flowers in as you cut them. Let them stay in the water two hours before you arrange them. If you can't arrange them after the two hour wait, cover them — container and all — with a plastic bag and put them in the refrigerator. There's no need to change the warm water.

When you do start arranging the flowers, pick a clean container or vase, and wash it before putting in the flowers. Bacteria left from the last flowers can grow in the vase, and can clog the water tubes in the fresh flowers causing them to wilt before they should.

Add a commercial flower preservative to the water if possible, Carlson recommends. You can buy these preservatives from most florists. Often a florist will include a packet when you buy cut flowers.

After you've arranged the flowers, avoid setting them near a draft, radiator, direct sun or electric light. Under these conditions, the flowers transpire or "breathe" faster than they can absorb water.

If you really want the arrangement to last, Carlson suggests you put it in a cool place at night. The cooler the temperature, the less the flowers transpire and the longer they last.

Temperature Helps

Flowers and vegetables have different temperature likes and dislikes. For instance, such vegetables as lettuce, spinach and such flowers as sweet pea and larkspur grow best when the weather is cool to cold. That's the reason why seeds of these are sown just as soon as the soil can be worked in early spring.

In commenting on flowers from florists, he suggests that you cut at least 1/2 to 1 inch from the stem, then place the flowers in warm water, just as he suggested for flowers from your own garden. From then on, their care is the same as for the homegrown variety.

Sodding Advice

Sodding can give you a weed-free "instant" lawn that can be established any time from early spring through mid fall.

Michigan State University turf researchers offer some important guidelines for establishing this turf.

First, sod rooting is most rapid if your sod is 1/4 to 1/2 inches thick. In other words, sod should have only that much soil clinging to the grass when you lay it.

And underlying soil should be moist when sod is transplanted onto the site. This helps roots establish themselves quickly and firmly.

The soil planting bed for sodding should be prepared just as it is for seeding.

Transplanting sod on a subsoil should be avoided, because the sod won't root as readily as it would on topsoil.

The sodded area should be watered to a soil depth of six inches immediately after transplanting. Then, the grass should be given a midday watering every day for two weeks.

Herbs: Flavor Of Your Garden

Where you've a spot in the sun and where the soil is well drained but otherwise nothing to brag about, that's the place to grow herbs.

Herbs are pretty and practical, too.

If grown in rich soil, herbs make ample leaf growth, but the plant parts are not as fragrant or as flavorful. So beautify the poor soil areas with plants that thrive in them.

Herbs have been grown for centuries, usually in beds or groups by themselves to facilitate harvesting. Often herbs were planted in geometric patterns. A variation of that idea often used today is to scatter seeds or set plants between the spokes of a wagon wheel laid on the ground.

Herbs are for flavor and fragrance — and, also, for growing and enjoying in your garden.

Thatch Illness Attacks Lawns

--If your lawn is sick, thatch may be the cause of the illness.

Thatch is a tightly woven layer of living and dead grass stems, leaves and roots which develops between the green vegetation and the soil surface, says Dr. James Beard, Michigan State University turfgrass specialist.

According to Beard, "When thatch becomes more than one-half inch thick lawn health often deteriorates." He says the following undesirable conditions can result when a heavy thatch accumulation is present:

1 The soil environment is tipped in favor of lawn disease organisms such as leaf spot, stripe smut, powdery mildew and Fusarium blight.

2 Grass crowns are elevated above the soil to the point where drought resistance is reduced

3 A tight mat of thatch greatly slows the movement of air and water into the soil. Water movement is almost stopped when the thatch is dry.

"To determine the amount of thatch present, cut a pie-shaped wedge in the lawn 2 inches deep," says Beard. "Then remove the wedge and examine it in cross section. Examinations from the lawn surface aren't effective," he says.

Causes of thatch formation are not well known. Beard notes, however, that acid soil conditions, grass clippings, high nitrogen applications, vigorously growing varieties, heavy watering and heavy (clay) soils may contribute to thatch buildup.

Where thatch is already a problem, Beard recommends removing the thatch layer with a vertical renovation machine. These machines are available at many rental agencies and have knives or tines mounted vertically on a reel removing the thatch with a cutting or pulling action.

Beard says that under heavy thatch conditions it may be necessary to run the machine over the lawn several times

Lawn, Garden Over-Care Brings Pollution Warning

Homeowners can join the environmental cause just by properly caring for their lawns

That's the advice from spokesmen for Northville Citizens for Environmental Action, who caution against "over-care" of lawns that not only can harm grass but add to the nation's pollution problems

Take pesticides, for example. "They kill more than the few harmful varieties of micro- and macro-organisms in and on top of the soil. Besides attacking the nematode--a tiny worm that burrows in the soil and sucks nutrients from plant roots, insecticides kill beneficial organisms as well," the Environmental Action group points out

"Herbicides kill soil algae and bacteria, and fungicides kill beneficial soil fungi. The result is a sterile soil ecosystem. The ecosystem has not only lost its ability to decompose organic matter and recycle essential nutrients but it has lost its natural defenses against insect and fungus attack. Ironically, nematodes do not do well in humus-rich soil. In rich organic soil, fungi build up, and capture and destroy nematodes."

Unfortunately, once a soil is sterile it must be treated repeatedly with chemicals in ever-increasing doses to prevent insect or disease outbreak. And then, because the lawn cannot recycle its nutrients, inorganic fertilizers must be applied every year in order that the soil continue to produce living things

It's important, therefore, not to over-treat a lawn and create the sterile soil, Environmental Action spokesmen emphasize

"Too much inorganic fertilizers creates still another set of environmental problems, they continue

Organic fertilizers, such as manures, sawdust, vegetable garbage, grass clippings and leaves, are insoluble. They are released slowly into the soil, and can be held on the surfaces of organic matter where water cannot leach them away but where roots can easily remove them for plant use. Inorganic fertilizers, on the other hand, are immediately soluble. Soluble food elements rarely occur in nature, so various acids and other processing chemicals must be added to insoluble minerals in order to produce soluble fertilizers. These chemical additions are often toxic substances

Inorganic fertilizers, they point out, must be applied several times a year in large quantities. Run-off from suburban lawns carrying these chemicals adds greatly to the pollution of ponds and lakes. And the non-porous condition of soil increases the water run-off after a rain. A natural organic lawn, on the other hand, not only has water holding capacity but it is more resistant to drought and erosion.

Still another habit of the overzealous suburban lawn and garden growers, they add, is the tendency to plant one type of grass. Any monoculture crop, whether it be an all merion blue grass lawn, a wheat field, a street lined with maples or elms, or a garden full of roses is susceptible to total destruction by an insect or fungus outbreak, they explain.

Among the organic commercial fertilizers, available at garden and supply centers, that are recommended by the Environmental Action group are: Longhorn brand--cattle manure, Driconure, Ropéon--soil inoculant, Milorganite, fertilife--composted

4-H FIELD CROPS SCIENCE PROGRAM CHALLENGES URBAN AND RURAL KIDS

Can a youngster living in an inter-city highrise find true happiness growing crops in a windowbox?

The Cooperative Extension Service thinks so--especially if he has the opportunity to carry out some interesting, fun-to-do experiments with seeds, plants and soils.

The program also continues to be popular with farm youths who grow profitable acreages of crops. They too can appreciate the science approach as they experiment with insect, disease and weed control, fertilizers and new management concepts.

There are over 105,000 4-H'ers enrolled in the field crops science program, many from metropolitan areas. Now they have available to them a new series of educational materials providing a wide variety of exciting projects dealing with growing plants and soils.

The 4-H field crops science program is sponsored by Amchem Products, Inc., for the fifth consecutive year. The company provides incentives and recognition as well as financial support for the new materials developed by representatives of the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee.

Currently in use are educational materials on plant reproduction, soils and plant characteristics. An introductory unit briefly covers the broad areas of plant and soil science.

Examples of experiments 4-H members can conduct include learning about the life cycle of beans and making a seed collection, germinating seeds and numerous methods of plant reproduction

Members discover what makes up the physical condition of soils and collect and label rocks and soils. There are numerous other experiments for the young people to conduct and interesting learning experiences to enjoy

Still to be released are educational materials on growing and using plants, field crops production and research

Incentives and recognition offered through Amchem Products sponsorship include four gold-plated medals of honor for outstanding members in each county. The state award is an expense-paid trip to the 50th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28-Dec. 2. From these winners the Cooperative Extension Service will select recipients of six national educational scholarships of $700 each

For more information about the 4-H field crops science program and how to participate as a member or local 4-H leader, contact the county extension office

Now... 3 Wilt Stoppers Better Boy

For years, breeders have looked for a tomato variety that was not only an F₁ Hybrid, but also resistant to the three main causes of blight (wilt) in tomato plants: verticillium, fusarium, and nematodes (VFN).

Verticillium Wilt (V)

Verticillium wilt is caused by the verticillium fungus which attacks the plant's roots and stops the nutritional flow. No nutrients to the blossoms, no blossom set, no tomatoes.

Fusarium Wilt (F)

Fusarium wilt is caused by the fusarium fungus which produces a poisonous substance in the plant's roots and thereby kills the plant. No plant, no tomatoes.

Nematodes (N)

Nematodes are little worms which attach themselves to the plant's roots and actually strangle the plant from food. No food, no plant, no tomatoes.

Better Boy Resists VFN

Better Boy resists that evil fungus and those pesky little worms. Better Boy will give you more fruit, tastier fruit, over a longer period of time, because it's triple disease-resistant.

Babson Report

Meatier Stocks Lead

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — In a stock-market rebound such as we have experienced since late May 1970, investor interest tends to gravitate toward the more popular speculative and growth issues.

However, depressed stocks in colorless and routinely cyclical lines often participate in a general market recovery to a significant and rewarding extent, even while by far the greatest attention may be focused upon the more widely followed glamor issues. This is precisely what has happened with meat packing stocks as a group. Throughout the long uptrend in stock prices of the past ten and a half months, this category has been in the forefront of the market advance, with many issues now at or near cyclical highs.

FROM EARLY 1967 cattle prices trended upward, the advance culminating in an upsurge in the first half of 1969. The rise in hog prices did not take hold until near the close of 1968, but it persisted until early in 1970. Due to the strength in cattle and hog prices, herds of both farm animals were enlarged.

Subsequently, when livestock prices turned down cyclically, marketings of cattle and hogs were stepped up. This combination of low cattle and hog prices and a high volume of marketings benefited the profit margins of the meat packing companies.

The favorable climate was even more pronounced last summer, with the corn-blight infestation sending prices of feed grains upward and prompting livestock raisers to boost marketings to such a degree that cattle and hog prices were further depressed. Some firmness in livestock quotes developed earlier this year, but the climate still favors meat packing.

OVER THE past twenty years, per-capita consumption of meat products has risen spectacularly. This is primarily a reflection of the climb in per-capita income and in income per family. However, the entire increase has occurred in beef and poultry, as indicated by the following tabulation of statistics:

Consumption of Meats (pounds per capita)

Year	Beef	Pork	Poultry	Veal	Lamb Mutton
1950	63.4	62.9	24.7	8.0	4.0
1955	82.0	66.8	26.3	9.4	4.6
1960	85.0	64.9	34.1	6.1	4.8
1965	99.3	58.5	40.8	5.2	3.7
1970	113.4	65.7	50.3	3.3	3.4

The consumption pattern for the longer term can, however, change temporarily in any given year. This happened in 1970 when pork and poultry prices enjoyed a relatively attractive position, and tenuous business and employment conditions, plus rising living costs, forced consumers to economize even on foods.

Over the months just ahead, prospects for the meat packing industry remain favorable.

IMPROVING economic conditions should bolster the underlying growth trend of beef consumption, while pork and chicken use should post increases over last year. From the operations standpoint, the meat packers can look forward to adequate supplies for most of the remainder of 1971. Depending on the 1971 crop outcome for feed grains (and corn in particular), livestock supplies could become less advantageous for the industry this summer.

It is characteristic of cyclical stocks — in terms of group action — to embark upon new uptrends or downtrends before similar currents are apparent within the framework of industrial conditions. Hence, the Research Department of Babson's Reports is currently recommending purchase of two stocks for representation in the highly volatile meat packing field.

Out of the Horse's

Swamp Fever can now be diagnosed quickly, reliably and inexpensively. Thanks to Dr. Leroy Coggins, considerable time and money can be saved if a horse suffers from this equine infectious anemia.

Dr. Coggins, a veterinarian and Ph.D., is associate professor of virology and director of Equine Infectious Anemia Research at Cornell University's veterinary college.

Unlike the old, $100, 90-day Swamp Fever test (a horse had to have blood from a suspected victim injected into a test animal and wait 90 days for confirmation), Dr. Coggins' method costs $10 and the waiting period is only 24 to 48 hours for conclusive results.

Swamp fever is an infectious virus disease which affects ponies, mules and donkeys in addition to horses. It is found in practically every country and state in which large numbers of these animals are assembled. Clinical symptoms vary depending on the stage of infection, but high fever, low blood count, loss of weight, dropsical swelling of abdomen and legs and progressive weakness are general characteristics. Some horses die suddenly while others may linger, and show outward signs of improvement, over periods of months and even years. These latter are commonly carriers of the disease.

Transfer of blood from an infected or carrier animal is the normal method of spread of the disease. An infected hypodermic needle or biting insects can transmit Swamp Fever. Active cases are most prevalent in late summer when insects are most numerous and near swampy areas (hence, the common name for the disease).

Horsemen fear equine infectious anemia because there is no treatment or cure and no vaccination has been found to protect other animals once it occurs. Infected animals must be isolated or destroyed for these reasons and because they are often carriers. The impracticality of detection was also a major factor in this seemingly hopeless situation prior to the development of the Coggins test.

The diagnostic test is the first ray of hope in the battle to curb and eliminate this dread disease. The lowered cost and, especially, the ability to more quickly and positively determine the presence of the disease, produce the strong likelihood that control programs and possible cures can be developed.

A typical program of breeding farms today includes:

- 1 Test all horses on the farm for the disease
- 2 Destroy infected horses or isolate them on another farm.
- 3 Require incoming horses to be free of the disease.

Ridin' High 4-H Club is planning a horse show Sunday, May 2 at the Navajo Riding Club Arena on M-59. Events for the Union Lake group's show will get underway at 9 a.m.

Western classes, horsemanship, pleasure leadline, bareback and fun classes will be included in the day's activities with riders restricted to age 18 and under.

Sponsorship of a class costs $15 (one-half class may be sponsored for $7.50) and all sponsors names will be listed on the programs. These names will also be announced via loud-speaker during the show.

Information regarding the show and sponsorships is available from the following members:

Pat Richardson (363-6641), Pat Bretz (387-5966), Lynn Boyd (363-6664), Rita Wissusik (227-5612) or Karen Templin (685-3917).

The annual Justin Morgan Horse Association style show will be held Saturday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the Salem Township Hall. Various types of proper show ring riding apparel will be modeled by members. Used riding clothes and tack will also be on sale.

Visitors are welcome. There is no charge.

Easter Celebration Continues Year-Long

Frederick A. Prezioso
Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany

Easter is a time for celebrating the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. And, of course, that celebrating does not end with Easter Sunday, but continues throughout the Easter season and the entire calendar year. For Christians, each Sunday service is a gathering to re-celebrate the Easter event.

Now, it is so obvious a truth that I don't often raise the thought to the conscious level: For a celebration to be meaningful, I need something to celebrate.... something that has particular significance to me in a given moment of my life. For example, a birthday is a time for celebration, and I am joyful and enthusiastic to the degree that I have a vested interest in the person being honored. Either it is MY birthday, or the birthday of someone I love, or the birthday of a national of world leader whom I admire or give allegiance.

Easter is a time for celebration. The church points to Easter and the event of our Lord's resurrection from the dead as a sign of new life and new possibilities. And it is the midst of this Easter season that I need to keep asking myself, "What's new in my life that I can celebrate?" "What signs of new life, new possibilities are there for me?" For in the answer to that kind of question lies the deeper significance of Easter and the Easter season. Because it is only as I am able to point to the new possibilities in MY life.... only as I can point to concrete signs of new life in the present time as they relate to me, that the resurrection of Jesus can have any lasting, personal effect.

Easter sermons, sunrise services, special choral and instrumental music all help me to recall and honor a past event. And that is good! But my life is being lived out today. My struggles, uncertainties, anxieties and my successes happen within the context of living today. Therefore, I need to be able to celebrate the present that I have on my hands. I need to relate the Easter event to my life.... putting a finger on the signs of new life that are a part of my experience.

This man Jesus had the audacity to claim: "I am the resurrection and the life...." And I believe he was not only speaking of the resurrection victory on the other side of the grave. He was also saying that new and exciting possibilities are open to me on THIS side of the grave.

And so, as a Christian, the Sunday morning Easter celebration has got to relate to my life. As such, it will be symbolic of the way I choose to live every hour of every day: Celebrating the life I have on my hands, and focusing on its possibilities; laying claim on the future in the midst of God's promise to make all things new.... including me and the world I live in.

After the bleakness of winter comes Spring. Fulfilling a promise of long ago, the seasons follow one another in divinely planned succession.

All around us we see evidence of evil, but the Church gives positive assurance that God is ever present. As Spring heralds new life, so does the Church.

Consider the daffodil—its freshness and beauty speak of hope. Consider the Church—its steadfast faith strengthens mankind. God creates daffodils, but intelligent cultivation makes them even more beautiful. Likewise, He depends on us to spread the influence of the Church and to make a better world.

Accept this tremendous challenge and become a part of God's Church today.

Democratic 'Cabinet' Keeps Eye on Governor

LANSING — Michigan Democrats have formed a sort of "shadow cabinet" to keep an eye on the way Republican Gov. William G. Milliken conducts the business of his office.

The group is headed, naturally, by former State Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley, the man Milliken defeated last fall.

It includes Secretary of State Richard H. Austin and Attorney General Frank J. Kelley along with 30 other prominent Democrats.

Party Chairman James McNeely said one of the group's jobs will be "to develop responsible alternatives to policies and programs of the Milliken administration when, in the committee's considered judgment, the policies and programs are not in the best interests of the state and its people."

IT CAN be expected to promulgate alternate programs to Milliken's whenever the Democrats feel they see flaws in the Governor's proposals.

"Government is a continuing process which neither begins nor ends with elections," Levin said when the committee was formed. "Our two-party system is effective because it offers a choice, not just among candidates, but a choice of programs and policies. We are determined that the people of Michigan will continue to have that option in the daily conduct of state government."

"There is no shortage of issues. We hope to provide basic ideas, imagination and innovation in resolving some of these issues."

STATE DEMOCRATIC leadership actually jumped the gun on its own committee by coming out in March in favor of increasing the state income tax Oct. 1 rather than next Jan. 1 as Milliken proposed.

Burns: 'It Opens New Doors'

to Dr. Arthur H. Rice, has argued in seeking more state aid for schools that better salaries and lighter teaching loads will bring better teaching results. Should we educators be surprised now if more and more people are asking for convincing evidence that this assumption is really true? Through the years, the assumption persists that because teachers teach, students learn. But, unless the teaching-learning process makes specific provisions (a) to identify and prescribe what it is that is to be learned and then undertakes (b) to measure and determine these learnings, the explanations which justify successes or failures in school will continue to be ambiguous, contradictory, and undeterminable.

Isn't it time that we teachers minimize our vested interests and take an unselfish look at ideas that other people are talking about — ways that they think might bring more value for the school tax dollars? The professional minded teacher earnestly seeks to improve the skills, methods, and material with which he seeks to guide and assist the learning experience of the child.

Why not let skilled individuals in other areas demonstrate what they know or think they know about teaching and the learning processes? If teachers are afraid to do so, it could mean that they are professionally insecure. In my opinion, good teachers stand to benefit from accountability plans.

In closing, I question whether technology of testing is up to the demands put upon it by performance contracting. I don't think we know enough about the processes involved in teaching and learning to measure everything to the fine degree that people want us to measure them in order to do performance contracting. The public must not blindly conclude that gains in achievement scores necessarily reflect changes in behavior, either in the testing situation itself, or outside of it, in the classroom, or in life. Still, performance contracting poses the right questions. We must acknowledge the public's interest in performance contracting and study its value with an open mind. Instructional accountability is not only a legitimate concern for public support, but it is also indispensable to professional growth in education. Performance contracting may be one way to increase the competence and performance of teachers.
