

Celebrate The Fourth In Northville

PARADE PARTICIPANT—Queenie, an 18-year-old Indian Elephant, will be one of the attractions in Saturday's Fourth of July parade. She's over eight feet tall and weighs five tons, according to her owners, consuming four bales of hay plus grain and fruit daily. Queenie performs everyday during the summer at King Animaland in Richmond and spends winters touring with the Shrine Circus.

City Bans Sprinkling Temperatures Soar, Taps Trickle

Faced with a water shortage, a water ban was clamped on Northville Monday while residents baked in 100-degree temperatures, with little relief in sight weatherwise.

A ban on sprinkling remained in effect Wednesday, with city residents asked to water lawn only between the hours of 8 p.m. and midnight. When the ban is lifted, residents will be informed via city police loudspeakers.

With temperatures for the week nudging the 100-degree mark, air conditioners chugged away, some freezers stopped freezing, barefooted shoppers dodged tar lines in the streets and even umbrellas were used as sunshades.

The troubles began Thursday, according to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, when residents on Randolph street reported they were without water about 6 p.m.

"There was no water main break," Ollendorff emphasized, "we just were not getting water from Detroit."

He explained that the water goes into the reservoir beneath the water tower and when filled, water is pumped up into the tower. The tower serves the northern part of the city while the reservoir serves the southern part. Both the tower and reservoir each hold 500,000 gallons.

And Thursday night the reservoir ran almost dry. Southern areas of the city, including Northville Downs opening its summer meet, were without water.

Ollendorff said that by 10 p.m. the reservoir was full but "it had run so low that rust from the bottom got into the lines. The water was safe to use, though."

DPW crews continued to check the reservoir round the clock and at 8 a.m. Monday both it and the tower were down to 10 per cent capacity.

"For two hours we tried to call Detroit to get more water but couldn't," Ollendorff said, "and finally had to clamp a ban on all but essential use."

"Most businesses were alerted by phone and police loudspeakers covered every street in town," he said. "We had extremely good cooperation from the residents and no one had a sprinkler on. Choo-Choo car wash closed all but two bays and Northville Laundry closed early."

At 5 p.m. Monday, with a steady flow of water coming from Detroit, normal water use was allowed, but,

STATE POLICE have been told to look elsewhere for post quarters and a crime laboratory. The reply came from Wayne County's Health, Education and Welfare committee which met last Thursday to consider a request by the Michigan State Police to lease two vacant buildings on the Sheldon road Chilo Development Center grounds. The committee, chaired by Livonia Commissioner John J. McCann, urged the Center to continue to pursue efforts to obtain federal funds to use the buildings for youth activities. McCann had favored the state police proposal. Although no vote count was taken, the majority of the 12 members present at the meeting were opposed. The committee action means the request will not go to the full board of commissioners for consideration.

A RECORD BUDGET of $6,131,327 for operating expenses during the 1971-72 fiscal year at Schoolcraft College was approved by the board of trustees at its June 23 public hearing. The budget is up $603,273 over last year. Biggest expense in the new budget is instruction costs, $3,844,602. Plant operations rank next at $942,800. Major source of income is state appropriation, estimated at $2,411,348. Local taxes bring in $1,653,177, while tuition and fees an estimated $1,571,111.

DAMAGE DEPOSIT refund checks will be mailed to families in the Northville Public Schools in mid-July, according to Earl Busard, business director. Busard said the district is currently making an evaluation of the losses and damage to books which occurred during the past year. Because of the state supreme court's "free textbook" ruling handed down last year, this was the first year students were not required to buy textbooks.

MOCK YEAR-ROUND schedule responses still not returned number about 500 and the school began contacting those families by phone this week, according to Superintendent Raymond Spear. About 70 per cent of the schedules have been returned with 50 per cent of the families with children in school opposed to the concept. Community-wide, the district's survey shows 28 per cent in favor, 40 per cent opposed and the rest with no opinion.

"If you think last year's parade was great wait till you see what we've got this year." That's the word from William Broaddus, Jaycee general chairman of this year's Fourth of July festivities that will take place here on Saturday—July 3.

"Our club's never been any more excited about a project than it is over this year's festivities...and every member is determined to make it the most successful in history. The Jaycees are proud to be a part of Northville and of this great country and the parade gives us an opportunity to wear our pride on rolled up sleeves."

Sponsored annually by the Jaycees, the parade will kick off at 10 a.m. under the helm of honorary parade marshal Errol Mann, star kicker for the Detroit Lions professional football team. The day's events will climax with a gigantic fireworks display at 9 p.m.

Stretching out a mile or more, the parade will include at least 57 participants ranging from a lumbering elephant to several snappy, internationally famous bands. In size and color, it is likely to be second only to Detroit's parade, beams Broaddus.

See Parade Details on Page 12-A

Carrying the theme, "Youth in Action," the parade will start at Northville Downs at the Beal Street entrance, travel east to South Main Street, and then turn north and then west on Main Street through the downtown area, past the judges' reviewing stand in front of the city hall, to Rogers Street. It will turn south on Rogers to Cady, travel east on Cady to Wing Street, south on Wing Street to Fairbrook Street, and finally east on Fairbrook back to the Downs.

Judges, who will pick the outstanding parade entries in more than a half-dozen categories, will be Mrs. Louise Cutler of Cutler Realty here and an active member of the Farmington Players, Inc.; the Reverend Timothy Johnson, First Presbyterian assistant pastor, board of education member, and 1970 recipient of the Jaycee's Outstanding Young Man Award; and Al Laux, owner of Northville Drug Company, immediate past president of Northville Rotary Club, and a former Jaycee parade marshal.

A few of the local participants will include the city and township police departments and the Northville Fire Department, Northville Junior Miss Wendy Wheaton, Scouts, color guards furnished by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts, Northville Junior Hockey Association, St. Paul's Lutheran Church Walther League, and Manufacturers National Bank.

Among some of the outside participants will be the Farmington Elks Motorcycle Drill Team, the VFW Fourth Growing Northville Township is facing several delicate questions calling for decisions that could set the pattern for the future of the total Northville community (city and township).

Township board is not responsible alone for the urgency. The proposed "Northville Square" shopping development threatens to force the township to vacate its offices on South Wing street.

Thus the township board of trustees must consider these problems:

- where to re-locate township hall offices;
- which course to follow in providing additional police protection;

—how to provide additional fire protection for the rapidly developing eastern section of the township;

—whether to build a new township hall, and if so, what facilities to include in such a structure.

Obviously, there are several alternatives open to the board. They range from the extremes of unification with the city of Northville to forming a charter township or incorporating the township into a separate city to gain necessary taxing authority to provide the needed services.

And within the confines of the remaining, probably most likely alternatives, there are still more extremes. Such as expanding the existing township police force or contracting with the city to form a community police force along the lines of the community fire department; or leasing temporary office facilities versus building a structure designed for township government needs

Presently, the township board is studying several different proposals for police and fire protection.

It is also well along in the design stages of a program to construct a building for office, fire and police services.

In recent weeks the board has requested and reviewed proposals for police protection from the Wayne County Sheriff and city of Northville police department.

Last October it accepted a "master plan" for township police protection for the next five years as proposed by Township Police Chief Ron Nisun.

Decision-time is drawing near for the board

IS THIS BEST PLAN?—After looking at three alternative designs for the proposed Northville Square shopping plaza Tuesday night city planning commissioners are still not convinced that the original design (above) is not the best. See the three alternative architectural drawings on page 5-A.

Most Irregular Boundaries

School Districts Draw Own Lines

Of all the various artificial boundaries that separate people, none are more irregular than those that make up school districts.

These irregular lines ignore municipal and county boundaries, split neighborhoods, divide allegiances according to some citizens and public officials, thwart harmonious interaction of governmental agencies.

Take the boundary between the districts of Novi and Northville for example. The dividing line is so irregular that Northville school buses turn around in the Novi High School drive-way — deep inside the City of Novi.

Among other peculiarities are these:

Northville's school district extends north of 10 Mile Road, at Taft, while Novi's school district, extends south to Eight Mile Road west of Novi Road. The same situation exists on Northville's southern boundary where a portion of the district extends south of Five Mile Road into Plymouth Township, while a portion of Plymouth school district extends north of Five Mile Road into Northville Township.

Northville school district is located in three counties (Wayne, Washtenaw and Oakland), in two cities (Northville and Novi), and in five townships (Northville, Plymouth, Salem, Lyon, and Novi). Part of the City of Novi is located in the Walled Lake and South Lyon school districts. And a small portion of Wixom is located in South Lyon's school district while most of it is in the Walled Lake School District.

Why? Why are the school district boundaries so irregular?

Contrary to the belief of some, the boundaries were not established at one stroke of the pen. They evolved over a period of years as small, rural fractional districts annexed to larger districts or consolidated. The history of these annexations — most occurring within the past 20 years — is filled with sweat & tears as the era of the one-room schoolhouse came to an end.

Oldtimers recall with a good deal of pride and not with a little emotion some of those rural school districts that now make up the school districts of Northville and Novi.

Northville, as it exists today, includes Thayer, Baseline, Waterford, Dekay, Hineman, and part of Durfee. Novi includes part of Durfee, East Novi, Putnam, and Novi No. 8.

Few of the schoolhouses that served these districts still exist.

Russell Stillman, retired superintendent of the Northville school system, recalls that "in every instance the people in those districts making up Northville, asked to become a part of Northville."

Prime motivation appears, upon a review of the history, to have been the fact that the rural areas were oriented to the then village of Northville. Youngsters attending the rural elementary schools eventually moved on the Northville High School.

Economics was another important motivation. Operation of the small schools proved costly as did the tuition required for attendance at Northville high school. Furthermore, with enrollment of Northville high school growing rapidly the possibility that Northville might not continue to accept tuition students worried rural districts.

Prior to 1950, the Northville school district encompassed little more than the village (Northville) had not yet incorporated as a city). Its name then was Northville-Novifractional No. 2 District.

In 1952 — the same year incidentally that Amerman was observing his 25th year as superintendent — three rural school districts were annexed to Northville. They were: Waterford, located in the southeastern

MRS. DONALD JONES

— about — Women and the family

Virginia Ellen Stoelt Weds Livonia Man

In an evening candle light ceremony at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Livonia, Virginia Ellen Stoelt became the bride of John Clement O'Hare. The Reverend William Whitedge performed the double ring ceremony June 11 before an altar banked with white shag mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Graham of 18840 Jamestown Circle, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John H. O'Hare of Livonia.

For her wedding the bride wore a traditional wedding dress fashioned from tier upon tier of Chantilly lace. The gown featured a fitted bodice and long sleeves embroidered with clusters of white seed pearls and sequins. She wore a finger tip veil of white illusion net.

The bride was attended by a flower girl, Sandy Stephens, a junior bridesmaid, Sheryl Grandgood, a maid of honor, Maureen Sutton and two bridesmaids, Michele O'Hare and Mrs. Janet Amick. They wore empire gowns of yellow chiffon over crepe trimmed with yellow lace and satin belts and buttons. Each carried a floral bouquet of yellow rose buds and white daisies.

Gerald Griffith served the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Gary Stekar, Norman Cook and Dennis Griffith.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of Nile green chiffon over crepe, with white lace trim and white shoes. The bridegroom's mother wore a floor length gown of leaf green chiffon over crepe with shoes to match.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Odd Fellows Hall on Inkster Road. A catered dinner was served along with a four tiered wedding cake and music for dancing was provided by a three piece band.

Among the out of town guests to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Bacon of North Miami Beach, Florida, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Lydia Geandstaff of Sturgis, grandmother of the bridegroom. In all 175 friends and relatives attended.

Following the cake cutting, the newlyweds left for a brief honeymoon. They will make their new home in Plymouth township.

Tickets on Sale For Town Hall

Tickets for next year's Town Hall lecture series are available now, reports Mrs. Francis Korte, TH publicity chairman.

Leading off the 1971-72 program on October 14 will be Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, who will explain why "Life is Worth Living." Other speakers next season will include author-comedian Irene Kampen, Singing Star Patrice Munsel and Dr. Clayton Lafferty of Northville.

Lectures again will be held at 11 a. m. in Northville High School auditorium, with tickets still $10 for the series. Ticket orders should be mailed to Northville Town Hall, Box 93, Northville, Michigan.

Michigan.

Since its inception 10 years ago, the series has presented programs dealing with education, culture, heritage and fashion. It is sponsored by Our Ladies League of Our Lady of Victory Church.

Each year half of the proceeds from the lecture series are awarded to local charities submitting requests for a specific need. Grants are determined by a board of awards and advisory group composed of representatives from Northville, Livonia, Farmington and Plymouth.

Earlier this spring TH president for 1970-71, Mrs. Nelson Hyatt, presented Our Lady's League with a check for $1,750.00, their share of this year's profits.

Big Fourth at MCC

Red, white and blue decorations repeated in matching floral centerpieces will emphasize the patriotic theme of July Fourth activities at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Kicking off the big weekend for members is a golf tournament for men and women, slated to begin Sunday morning. Children's games such as pony rides, penny dives and a watermelon eating contest will begin later that afternoon. In the evening a family buffet supper will be served preceding the "super-spectacular" fireworks show, manager Tom Unverzagt reports.

A holiday buffet will be served Monday at Meadowbrook. Fireworks will be shown that night in the event of rain Sunday.

Coming up later this month is the annual Hawaiian Luau for which fresh orchid leis are flown in from Hawaii. The luau is set for July 17.

Johnston-Jones Vows Repeated

Rainbow floral arrangements of turquoise, aqua and avocado green provided church decorations for the wedding in which Donald Jones claimed Kay Johnston as his bride. They were married by the Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure in a double ring ceremony last Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Johnston of 9650 Tower Road in Northville. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Jones of South Lyon.

Music for the ceremony was provided by organist Mrs. William G. Williams. The solo "Whither Thou Goest" was sung by Mrs. George Jerome.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an old fashioned wedding dress of white silk organza over taffeta. The gown featured a pin tucked bodice and pin tucked bishop sleeves trimmed in hair pin lace.

Tiny covered buttons extended down the back of the bodice and the full length of the train. A matching headpiece secured a fingertip veil. She carried a cascade of snow drifted daisy mums centered with a yellow-orange sweet-heart rose and yellow forget-me-nots.

The rainbow theme of the church bouquets was repeated in the outfits of the bridal attendants. Janice Linman of Ypsilanti served as maid of honor wearing a pink silk lace over pink taffeta. She carried a small fireside basket of ice green gladiolus and shades of pink flowers with a matching flower headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Sandra Love of Clare, Kathy Hardesty of Ann Arbor and Margie Taulbee of South Lyon, sister of the bridegroom. They were dressed like the maid of honor in shades of aqua, blue and avocado green. They too carried fireside baskets of ice green gladiolus and matching flowers, and wore flowers in their hair.

Lori Sprinkles, the bridegroom's niece, served as flower girl in a yellow outfit which resembled the other attendants. The ring bearer was Kirk Johnston, brother of the bride.

Serving as best man was Tom Spencer of South Lyon. Ushers were Ken Johnston, brother of the bride, Dave Willott of Hamilton, Canada, and Bill Brummer of South Lyon.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnston wore gold chiffon with matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore pink linen with white accessories. Both wore corsages of sweet-heart roses.

A reception for 200 guests was held at Botsford Inn in Farmington following the ceremony. Friends and relatives attended from Petersburg, Virginia, Hamilton and Toronto, Canada, and Michigan.

For a wedding trip to Montreal, Canada, the bride changed into a white dress with light blue accessories. Both she and the bridegroom are 1968 graduates of South Lyon high school and have just completed their junior year at Eastern Michigan University. Presently the bride is employed at Bendix Aero-space in Ann Arbor and the bridegroom works for S. R. Johnston Co. Builders in Farmington.

There new home will be in Ypsilanti.

In announcing the winners, Mothers' Club points out that all profits from the nine months' play again will be used for school projects next season and urges women to sign up for fall play. Each player pays a dollar a month and plays every other team in a league during the season.

Those who played in this past tournament and others who would be interested in playing in September are asked to call Mrs. Couse, 349-3069, marathon chairman, or Mrs. Day, 349-0701, co-chairman. They suggest to newcomers to the community that this is a good way to get acquainted.

Leagues will be set up and schedules mailed to participants by late summer.

Leavenworth Hails The Leavenworths

Having their picture on the front page of the Leavenworth Echo climaxed a two-day visit in Leavenworth, Washington, for Mr. and Mrs. J. Bine Leavenworth of 588 Randolph. The Leavenworth's discovered the small resort town on a map, decided to drive through en route to visit their son Jay, who is now serving with the U.S. Navy in Oak Harbor, Washington.

Nestled deep among snow-capped mountains, Mrs. Leavenworth described the tiny Bavarian type village as a year round resort area which offers skiing, golf, swimming and outdoor camping. In 1967, Look magazine named Leavenworth as the All-American City. While visiting there, the Leavenworth's enjoyed the distinction of being the first people of that name ever to visit the city.

The sojourn there was but a small part of the month's vacation which began for Mr. and Mrs. Leavenworth on May 21. Traveling by camper they visited such places as Yellowstone National Park, Puget Sound, the Cascade mountains and Glacier National Park. Their travels included stops at various museums and frontier towns along the way.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Beauchamp, Jr., of 12891 Heritage Drive in Plymouth announce the birth of their first child, a daughter named Michelle Marie. She was born on June 23 in University Hospital in Ann Arbor weighing six pounds, two and a half ounces.

The child's mother is the former Rita Baggett of Northville. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Beauchamp Sr. of Plymouth, formerly of South Lyon, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Baggett of Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson of 39500 Warren in Plymouth announce the birth of their first child, a son named Jason Tau. The child was born in St. Mary hospital on June 28 weighing seven pounds and 15 ounces.

Mrs. Wilson is the former Linda Tesch of Northville. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Tesch of Northville and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wilson of Belleville.

Local Youths Tour With WSU Glee Club

Three Northville residents will be singing with Wayne State University's Men's Glee Club when it defends its first place title at Llangollen, Wales, on July 10.

Touring with the group are Cristie and Gary Becker, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Becker of 543 Dubaur, and Robert Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Shafer of 18101 Sheldon. Christie will sing with the Chamber Singers.

In July, 1968 the WSU Men's Glee Club, directed by Dr. Harry Langford, captured first place in the men's choir competition at the International Musical Eisteddfod in Llangollen by scoring the highest point total in the history of the competition.

This year Dr. Langford and the Glee Club are traveling with the Chamber Singers, a 19-voice, mixed group, who will also compete in the Eisteddfod in the mixed choir competition on July 9.

The Wayne group will travel in England, Austria, Germany and Switzerland. Highlights of the 48-member group's singing tour will include performances at St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church at Trafalgar Square, London, concerts at Trinity College Chapel, Cambridge, the Nottingham Festival in Nottingham, England and a concert and reception in Germany for the students in WSU's Junior Year in Munich Program.

They will also perform in a concert in Salzburg, Austria sponsored by the Deutsch-Amerikanisches Institute in the Neupfarrkirche and at the Ossiach Festival "Carinthian Summer" in Ossiach, Austria.

This is the Glee Club's fourth European tour. They were selected in 1957 for a concert tour of American Military bases in England and Germany under the sponsorship of the U.S. Department of Defense. The concert season of 1964-65, marking the Glee Club's Twentieth Anniversary, was climaxed by a concert tour of Europe as good will ambassadors of the University and the City of Detroit. Aim of the Glee Club when touring is not only to represent the University but the United States as well.

Dr. Langford is recognized as one of the outstanding choral conductors on the American campus scene today. He initiated a 9-voice Men's Ensemble at the University in 1945 and has developed the group musically and numerically to its position as one of the best glee clubs of the world. This is Dr. Langford's 25th year as director of the singing group and also marks the 25th Anniversary of the Eisteddfod.

Dr. Langford joined Wayne State University's faculty in the fall of 1945. He has taught voice and piano in addition to directing the choral groups. He holds B.S. and M.A. degrees from WSU and received his Ph.D. in music education from Michigan State University.

He is a frequent adjudicator at choral festivals and is in demand as a guest clinician and conductor throughout the Midwest. Dr. Langford has been associated with the University of Wisconsin and Michigan State University in their Summer Youth Music programs in the capacity of Choral Director. He is also an organist and served as Minister of Music in one of Detroit's larger churches for 20 years.

STATE CHAMPIONS—Running, which they do extremely well, are Muriel Bedford (left) and Darla Grunewald.

Girls Display Track Talent

Northville's Mustangs are not the only star athletes in the high school. The girls too have shared in building Northville's athletic prestige.

Most recent example was the telegraphic track meet earlier this month when two girls copped state championships in different events. Darla Grunewald, 15, placed first in the 75-yard dash and standing broad jump, and Muriel Bedford, 14, placed first in the 220-yard dash.

About 30 area high schools participated in the meet, which was held in a series of after school competitions this spring. Miss Karen Turner, high school athletic instructor, coached the girls and sent in the winning figures to state officials.

"Sports and running in particular have challenged me since I was a student in grade school," Darla noted upon receiving her award. "When I found out I could do pretty well in them, my interest increased."

Obviously in running and in other events too Darla has done well. Besides winning the 75-yard dash in 9.1 seconds, she placed second in state competition for the 50-yard dash with a time of 6.5 seconds. She took state championship in the standing broad jump with a jump measuring seven feet, nine and a half inches.

Muriel too placed well in several events. She completed the 220 in 29 seconds and placed second in the 880-yard dash with a time of two minutes, 30 and seven tenths seconds. She also placed third in state shot put competition, throwing the eight pound sphere a distance of 29 feet and eight inches.

Both attribute their interest in sports to family influence of their fathers and older brothers. "My older brother Paul has encouraged me quite a bit," Muriel observed. "He runs alot himself and is a member of the track team at Eastern Michigan University."

Darla too credited family influences as part of her inspiration. "My brothers are very sports-minded and I think I picked it up from them."

Although this is the first time Muriel has received an award, Darla has been competing successfully since she was in fifth grade in Gaylord Elementary School. In local competition there she received three gold medals for running, then moved to Livonia where she broke the city record for the 50 yard dash in junior high school.

While living in Livonia Darla became a member of the A.A.U. (Amateur Athletic Union) which trains young athletes for the Olympics.

Strangely enough neither Darla or Muriel follows any set training regime to keep in shape. "Sometimes I practice running a little on my own," Muriel reports. "But only training I've ever had was during track season at school."

"Recently I haven't done much running at all," Darla admitted too. "Right now I am more interested in trying to make the high school swim team."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Grunewald of 18817 Jamestown Circle, and Muriel's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bedford of 19450 Beck Road. Through their encouragement, apparently, the girls have stepped forward to join the Mustangs in bringing athletic laurels to Northville High School.

At Camp Linden

Foreign Flavor Added to Staff

Local Girl Scouts attending Camp Linden, resident camp of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, will make some international friends. Two of the staff members are exchange camp counselors, one from Switzerland and one from Japan.

Miss Elsbet Schmid is from Grainichen, Switzerland where she is an elementary school teacher. SUNSHINE TREATMENT—Taking advantage of last week's warm, sunny weather the Northville Jayettes initiated a new program in their work at Northville State Hospital—taking patients out on excursions. First venture was a trip to Whistle Stop miniature golf, followed by a picnic in the park. An added boost to the pilot project came when Whistle Stop managers offered to donate use of the course to the patients. Pictured here with Jayette co-chairmen they are (left to right) Mrs. Patrick Dustin, Steven Utley, Mrs. John Swienckowski, and Buddy Spencer.

Singles Busy

Northville's Singles Club hummed with activity last week as members geared themselves for the upcoming summer social season.

"About 24 people attended the first two organizational meetings," reports Mrs. L. E. Turner, co-founder of the group. She added that the election of officers would be postponed for a while until members are better acquainted.

Kicking off the roster of activities will be an outdoor barbecue Friday night at the home of Mrs. Marge MacGillivray in Novi. Dancing and conversation will round out the evening.

An afternoon at the beach is the next activity on tap, slated for some Saturday in the middle of July. Barbecue dinner and singing around a bon fire will climax that excursion.

"Everyone seems to be for it, all we need is to get the ball rolling," said Mrs. Turner, reviewing club progress. Membership is open to single people over 30, who are welcome to attend regular meetings on Friday, 8:30 p.m. in the Scout building. A $1 donation is collected each week.

Sewer Bond Sale OK'd by Council

Novi will sell some $700,000 worth of general obligation bonds to meet anticipated construction costs in the proposed Novi Road-Grand River sewer lateral system. The move came Monday night as councilmen first amended, and then adopted unanimously, a resolution drawn up by City Attorney Howard Bond, authorizing the sale which will pledge the "faith and credit of the city," for the amount. Councilmen expect to pay off the debt from anticipated sewer tap charges which range in excess of $1,500 per tap. On top of the initial figure is a six percent interest fee, amounting to some $90 annually, which will be paid once for each year a user delays in tapping into the facility until principle and interest on the bonds are paid off. If a merchant should wait two years for instance, according to city officials, he would owe $180 in interest payments. Mayor Joseph Crupi seemed concerned that Novi citizens had not been adequately informed of the city's position on the bond sale and invited citizens to Tuesday's council meeting so that the matter might be explained to them. "I know we put the cart before the horse," Crupi said, "but we're on a time schedule and couldn't help it. I think, nevertheless, that the citizens deserve our reasoning and discussion." According to resolution, the bonds will be paid off in 15 years. According to City Manager George Athas, there are some 400 users in the area which will have to tap in immediately. Athas said these people alone "should yield" $600,000 in two years. In further business Monday night, councilmen continued a public hearing begun last week Wednesday. It was the third of four designed to rid the city of its agricultural zoning.

Acting unanimously, councilmen rezoned more than 61 acres in the area of Nine Mile and Meadowbrook Road to suburban residential. The move, according to Athas, stems from a court order that agricultural zoning (AG) "no longer serves Novi effectively." "In order to be effective," Athas said, "AG zoning must exist in an area that is at least 50 percent farms. That description just doesn't fit Novi." Council action came in the face of heated protest from area citizens who were petitioning for a zoning classification that would allow larger land parcels, the difference being 1/2 of an acre per minimum size parcel. Main objection was that rezoning measures being considered by councilmen didn't fit the zoning of the surrounding land, that one acre parcels, instead of the 1/2 acre parcels recommended by planners, would better house the families living on the land, and would better facilitate the raising of livestock. Councilman Raymond

Evans agreed in part with the points, but said also that the more dense Novi's zoning, the smaller the land parcels, the better chance the city had for future sewer capacity from Detroit. In still other action the council put off consideration of various changes in contract covenants for Village Oaks subdivision brought forward by Kaufman and Broad Vice-President Edward B. Stulberg. It was mentioned by Councilman Dents Bery that some Village Oaks citizens might not know about the changes. construction if almost on schedule, progress on Village Oaks elementary school is being held up. Board members were told that Kaufman and Broad, developers of Village Oaks subdivision, were behind on

School Tax Rate Still Undecided

Novi school board trustees delayed setting the operational millage rate Monday night but approved a levy of 9.4392 mills for debt retirement. The debt millage figure could be reduced by nearly two mills, though, if the district's application for borrowing approximately $135,000 through the school bond loan program is approved, trustees said.

Trustees unanimously approved the levy for debt retirement but the request to make application for a loan passed by a 5-2 vote, trustees Jacob Durling and Robert Wilkins casting the dissenting votes. The application approved Monday by trustees, would allow the district to borrow money to cover 90 percent of the funds over seven mills, Superintendent Thomas Dale explained. He noted it could reduce the millage levy by almost two mills. Durling and Wilkins voted against the measure, saying the loan only delayed payment and added interest. Board president Bruce Simmons noted that the loan "would help future boards build schools (since the debt levy would be lower) and the taxpayers need some relief now." A decision on setting the operational millage, for which voters approved an additional five mills in June, will be made in August. In other business Monday, trustees learned that while the middle school

Council Seeks Legal Opinion

An advisory question which, if adopted, would allow for the collection of Novi school taxes in two installments, was placed under study by Novi councilmen Monday night to City Attorney Howard Bond for review and report. The measure calls for the collection of one-half the school district's millage in December with county taxes, and one-half in July with city taxes. According to Mayor Joseph Crupi, there is no ruling requiring a resident to pay his school tax in July. A 42 majority vote, (489 yes and 437) recommended the measure in last month's school-board election. There were questions on the part of councilmen Monday night, however, whether or not the collection measure might invalidate Novi's July tax roll. School board reasoning in the matter, according to a preamble written by assistant Superintendent Richard Hendrickson, is that such a schedule would save the school board the additional expense of borrowing against expected revenues. Hendrickson indicated that in the last few years, the interest cost has topped $9,000.

Police Ratify New Two-Year Pact

A tentative agreement has been reached in contract talks by the City of Novi and the Novi Police Officers Association (NPOA) negotiating teams. The announcement came Tuesday morning in a joint statement by City Manager George Athas and NPOA President Ralph Fluhart. The agreement was ratified by NPOA members Fluhart said, in a special meeting called Sunday morning, but Novi councilmen have yet to approve the document. According to Athas, the matter will come before councilmen at their regular meeting Tuesday night. The agreement was announced just three days before the July 1 deadline imposed by the expiration of the current contract. That contract will carry over however until the new one, retroactive to July 1, is ratified.

"I think both parties were very well satisfied with the way negotiations went this year," said NPOA vice-president Jack Grubb. "I can speak for myself and say that I was. Nobody got angry and we reached an equitable contract." Negotiations required the assistance of a state appointed mediator, requested two weeks ago by the city, but both sides said Tuesday that "problems were not impassable." "We just felt," said Athas, "that perhaps the time had come for an outside view." Main points of the agreement to come before council Tuesday night are itemized below:

SALARY

	Current	1971-72	1972-73
Starting	$ 8,400	$ 8,800	$ 9,200
At 6 months	8,800	9,100	9,500
At 1 year	9,200	9,800	10,388
At 2 years	9,850	10,800	11,556
At 3 years	10,800	12,100	13,189
Corporal	10,800	12,600	13,689
Detective	10,900	12,900	13,989

Four posts within Novi's 15-man department are not represented by the NPOA and will have their salaries set by council action. They are the chief, two sergeants and a lieutenant.

UNIFORM ALLOWANCE

The new contract, if ratified by the council, will allow a full complement of uniforms and equipment at the expense of the city to all officers whose duties require them.

In addition, a $275 clothing allowance will be provided annually to all plain-clothesmen along with a $120 annual cleaning allowance to the entire department.

VACATIONS

An officer with one year seniority will receive 10 paid holidays up until five years of employment. He will receive 15 days up until 10 years, and 20 days afterwards.

To this schedule, one day will be added during 1971-72 and one day during 1972-73.

INJURY COMPENSATION

If an officer is injured in the line of duty, he will receive 95 percent of his pay while he is out of work if such period is less than two years.

Funds will come, according to Athas, from workmen's compensation policies and the city. Currently officers receive 75 percent of pay during periods of recuperation.

SICK TIME

An officer can accumulate 12 sick days per year. Starting with this contract, these 12 days are accumulative so that 60 may be gathered within five years.

PATROL

Two patrolmen will be assigned to any complaint unit during hours of darkness except in cases of emergency during which two patrolmen are not available.

Jaycees Plan For Gala Days

Plans for Novi's annual Gala Days celebration are

Tax Bills On Time

Promptness and efficiency isn't always rewarding.

Take the case of taxpayers in the city of Novi, for example.

While Wixom and Northville city property owners are still waiting for their summer tax notices, Novi citizens are receiving them right on time!

In Wixom the delay's caused by rejection of the assessment roll, and nobody seems to know when the tax bills will be mailed.

In Northville, Wayne county is behind in preparing its tax notices, so the city is holding up the Oakland county portion of the city, too, so that all residents will receive their notices about the same time.

But in Novi, the city's officials are right on the ball and the notices will be received this week.

City taxes are payable July 1 through August 31 without penalty.

In Novi some 4,000 notices began going out Monday and all were scheduled to be mailed by Wednesday.

underway, according to an announcement this week by Jaycee co-chairmen Todd Price and Jerry Surles.

Slated for August 20-22, the weekend spectacular will feature a stunt flying exhibition several different rides and a watermelon eating contest.

A sno-mobil, mini trail bike and portable television will be first, second and third prizes in a raffle drawing to be held during the celebration.

Scheduled this year for 10 Mile and Meadowbrook, instead of at the Novi Elementary school where the event has been held in past years, Gala Days will have tent space for booths and games "to suit everyone's taste," according to Marlene Marcier, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Marcier noted that this is the Jaycees first solo performance as sponsor of the event. In past years, the Novi Chamber of Commerce has served as the co-sponsoring organization.

Anyone interested in renting tent space, according to Surles, can do so by calling him at 349-0298.

"Of course," Surles said, "Raffle tickets may be bought from any Jaycee."

FUTURE STAR? The Olympics may be a few years off but 11-month-old Jimmi is getting in some early training under the tutelage of his mother, Mrs. Rolly Adams of 41280 Lewellyn in Novi. "Our whole family swims," mom explains, "and with the pool in the backyard I want Jimmi to get used to the water."

ACCEPT AWARD—Nine-year-old John Somers is presented the Air Medal posthumously awarded to his father, Major Richard K. Somers from Northville, as the major's widow, Virginia, and their daughter, Katey, look on. The Air Force fighter pilot, who was killed in Southeast Asia in February, also was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Purple Heart. Pinning the medal at Fairchild Air Force Base in Washington is Colonel Clyde P. Evely, 92nd Strategic Aerospace Wing vice commander.

Posthumous Awards Honor Major Somers

Major Richard K. Somers from Northville who died defending allied ground troops in Southeast Asia in February, has been posthumously awarded three combat decorations.

The Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC), the Air Medal and the Purple Heart were recently presented to his widow, Virginia, and their family at Fairchild Air Force Base, Washington.

The late U.S. Air Force F-4 Phantom pilot was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard I. Somers, 18900 Valencia.

Major Somers earned the DFC for his extraordinary achievement during the February 25th mission which resulted in his death.

The major flew his fighter-bomber to aid allied servicemen pinned down by a large hostile force near Quang Tri. Despite the intense enemy fire, he persisted and delivered his munitions with such accuracy that he broke the attack.

Major Somers was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds he suffered during the fatal mission.

The Air Medal was for his outstanding airmanship and precision weapons delivery that enabled him to accomplish numerous important tactical air missions during the month he was in the theater.

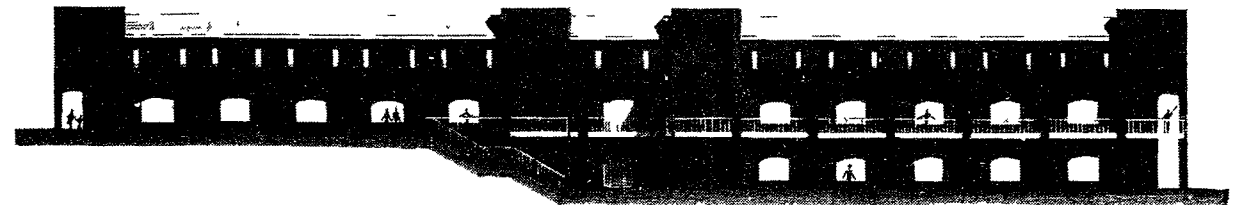

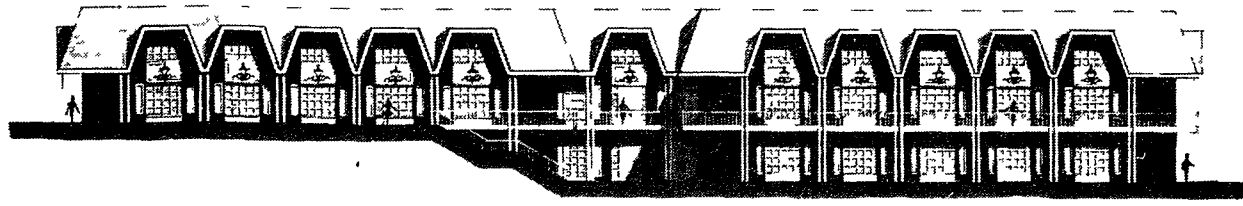

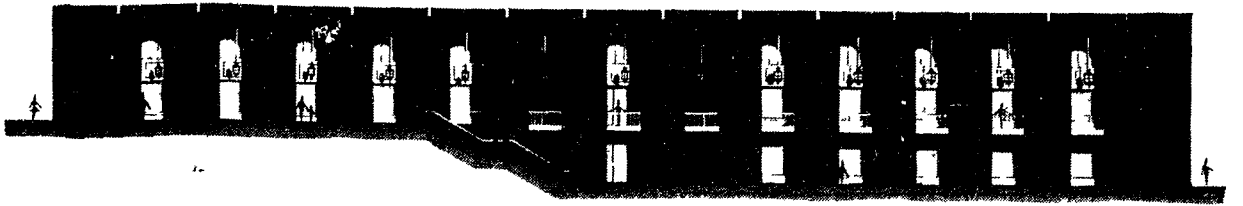

Major Somers also served as a squadron operations officer for the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing while at Da Nang AB, Vietnam.

Prior to Southeast Asia duty, the major was assigned at Homestead Air Force Base, Florida. He was commissioned through the aviation cadet program and had 17 years military service at the time of his death.

The 36-year-old officer was graduated from Northville High School in 1953 and, after entering the Air Force, earned a bachelor of general education degree, majoring in mathematics, at the University of Nebraska in Omaha.

His survivors include five children: Victoria, Katey, Linda, Mary and John. His widow is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ehrig of Richland, Washington.

In addition to his parents, he also is survived by two brothers, Charles of Muskegon and Norman of Northville.

CITY PLANNERS were not impressed by these three alternative designs presented Tuesday night for the proposed Northville Square. They've scheduled a meeting July 7 to decide which of the concepts they like best. It'll either be one of these three (above), or the original design shown on Record Page One.

Finns Mark 'Juhannes'

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Let's pretend...the forecast for tomorrow calls for cloudy skies, 3 inches of snow and a high of 10 degrees above zero.

I must not have a very good imagination or maybe it's the fact that my outside thermometer registered 104 degrees in the shade. I had nowhere to escape—every corner of the house was sweltering...I even tried writing this column outside under a tree. The flies, mosquitoes and ants drove me back indoors. Our electric bill will be out of this world with all the fans running and little relief coming from them. I keep telling myself I will never again complain about the cold but I know very well when it reaches the dead of winter I'll turn right around and complain again.

Found out I had a little catching up to do relevant to news. Better late than never but welcome to two little fellows joining the ranks of Wixomites—born to Eileen and Brad Hinton of Hopkins Drive, a son Michael Bradley on June 10. And Paul Joseph, son of Dolores and Clarence Watson of Wixom Road born on June 21.

Nancy Pilo, daughter of the Eino Pilo's spent a week with her folks, shortly after Eino returned home from the hospital Nancy now lives in San Francisco. Speaking of Eino, he's recuperating very well, looks great and feels fine

Jennie Hughes had a showing of her oil paintings a few weeks ago at Zoner's Greenhouse on Grand River. There are many talented folks in our town and it would be great if we could gather them all together for a showing. If you know of anyone who paints does craft work—anything in the arts, please get their names to me and we'll see what can be done about setting up an outdoor art fair.

Martha Tuorin and Rhea Sorvari gave a bridal shower Sunday afternoon for Natalie Oshansky who will become the bride of Erik Mettala this Saturday. But, it was a shower with a little different twist—the husbands were also invited—the frozen daiquiri's took the edge off the heat. The men enjoyed the idea and it certainly was a pleasant change. A great idea for those who like to be different.

Saturday night was the annual Midsummers or "Juhannes" celebration at the Finn Camp. A large crowd was on hand to witness one of the biggest bonfires I have ever seen, dance to a band that was constantly being urged to play more polka's, sample Pasties and Pula which is a Finnish coffee bread and to finally refresh with cooling beverages.

"Juhannes" is a traditional festival with its roots in the Scandinavian countries—to celebrate St. John's day, the coming of summer, the longest day of the year and the harvest—all meaning the same thing or the same idea. It's a very gay time and spirits are high.

During the program, a group of young people from the Finnish Cultural Center demonstrated a new Finnish folk dance. The girls were dressed in native costumes.

My mother dropped in on an unexpected visit so she got to join in on the fun. We had forgotten to explain to our baby sitter just what was going on and it was rather frightening for her to hear fire sirens and see the orange glow just above the tree tops. She had visions of the whole area going up in flames. Saw Pat and George Spencer—Pat said the fire department had received four fire calls in quick succession right after the torch was set at eleven.

Judy and Mike Leahy took a week off and had an enjoyable trip through the Smokey Mountains. They stopped off on their way in Louisville, Kentucky, and visited "Spendthrift Farms". This is where some of the most famous race horses are now at stud and also saw the Man O' War Monument. The main part of their time was spent in Gatlinburg, Tennessee. Judy said it was a very relaxed atmosphere filled with active people. The countryside was really beautiful. They did a lot of swimming and 10 month old Kelly must have thought that was the greatest thing of all. Judy enrolled Kelly in swimming lessons at three months old and the little tyke takes to the water like a fish.

More information on the Parks and Recreation activities planned for the younger set. For those interested in the golf lessons—the meeting place is the Hickory Hill Golf Course Club House. For fifth and sixth graders, the lessons will be from 9 to 10 a.m.

Seventh and eighth graders the time is 10 to 11 a.m. for grades nine through 12, 11 a.m. until noon. All golf lessons will be conducted on Tuesday and Thursday. Some golf clubs have been donated but it is recommended that the children bring a golf club if possible.

For those interested in tennis—the meeting days are Monday and Wednesday at the City Hall tennis courts. The hours and age groups listed above for the golf lessons also apply for tennis but do please note the difference in days. Children are required to bring a tennis racket.

Sincerest sympathies to the Gibson family of Beck Road on the passing of Mr. John Gibson.

Bon Voyage to those lucky gals from Western's French Club on their way to France. We'll be waiting to hear from you!

Irregular Lines

portion of Northville Township (the school building, now gone, until a few years ago was used as the township hall); DeKay, located in the Maybury Sanatorium area; and Hinman, in the vicinity of Northville State Hospital.

In the spring of 1953, Thayer, located in the Napier-Six Mile area, was annexed, and in the fall of the same year, Baseline (west Eight Mile) joined the Northville school district.

These annexations were, relatively speaking, given little public notice, and as each occurred Northville school district grew and its boundaries changed irregularly to encompass the new additions on the south, east and west.

What happened on the north, however, drew a great deal of public attention because of the controversies that developed.

In 1954 and 1955, studies suggested consolidation of Northville school district and the fractional districts then located in Novi.

As citizens and officials debated this issue, Chapman school district (area of Novi now including Connemara subdivision) decided to annex to Northville.

The Chapman schoolhouse, located at Nine Mile and Taft, then housed 30 students in grades one through six.

The annexation was approved by the state in July 1955.

Meanwhile, movement towards the consolidation of Novi, Northville and even Salem picked up steam.

Following an intensive citizens study in 1954, the Northville school board had scuttled consolidation recommendations primarily, recalls Amerman, because Northville officials felt the Northville district was large enough and that Novi was "big enough to handle its own district."

However, the movement persisted, with residents of both Northville and Novi taking active support and opposition.

Then in May of 1955, Northville school board members met with a representative of the state department of public education and it appeared that gradual integration of Northville, Novi and Salem into one large district was on its way. The Northville board adopted a resolution "in favor of annexing any of the following districts: Salem Union, East Novi, Durfee, Chapman, Novi No. 8, and Putnam, if requested to do so."

(Salem Union, now part of South Lyon, included the center of Salem Township; East Novi included that area where Willowbrook subdivision is located, Durfee was situated on both sides of Eight Mile road east of Northville, Novi No. 8 included the north central part of Novi where Novi elementary is located, and Putnam was the area near 11 Mile Road. The latter included the site of today's Novi High School).

Officials of Novi No. 8 district, which really constitutes the center of today's Novi school district, were pleased by the Northville board's action but they tempered their support by demanding that a new high school be located in a spot between the two communities.

The Oakland County superintendent of schools, William Emerson, supported the consolidation but he urged Novi fractional districts not to annex on an individual basis but rather to "stick together" and join as one.

Chapman had already requested annexation.

In July, 1955 the school boards of Novi No. 8, East Novi, and Putnam voted to be annexed to Northville. Durfee voted against it. In August, with the approval of the state already in hand, Chapman voters approved annexation and this district was added to Northville.

Despite its stated willingness to annex any district desiring it, annexation of the other Novi districts. That, plus the fact Novi "had pride in itself" and "didn't want to be swallowed up by us", ended the consolidation with Northville movement, according to Amerman.

Under state-county pressure either to consolidate or be forced into another district, Novi's rural districts then began plans for their own consolidation.

In March of 1956, the state approved a proposal for a fourth class school district of Novi to include Novi No. 8, Putnam, East Novi and Durfee.

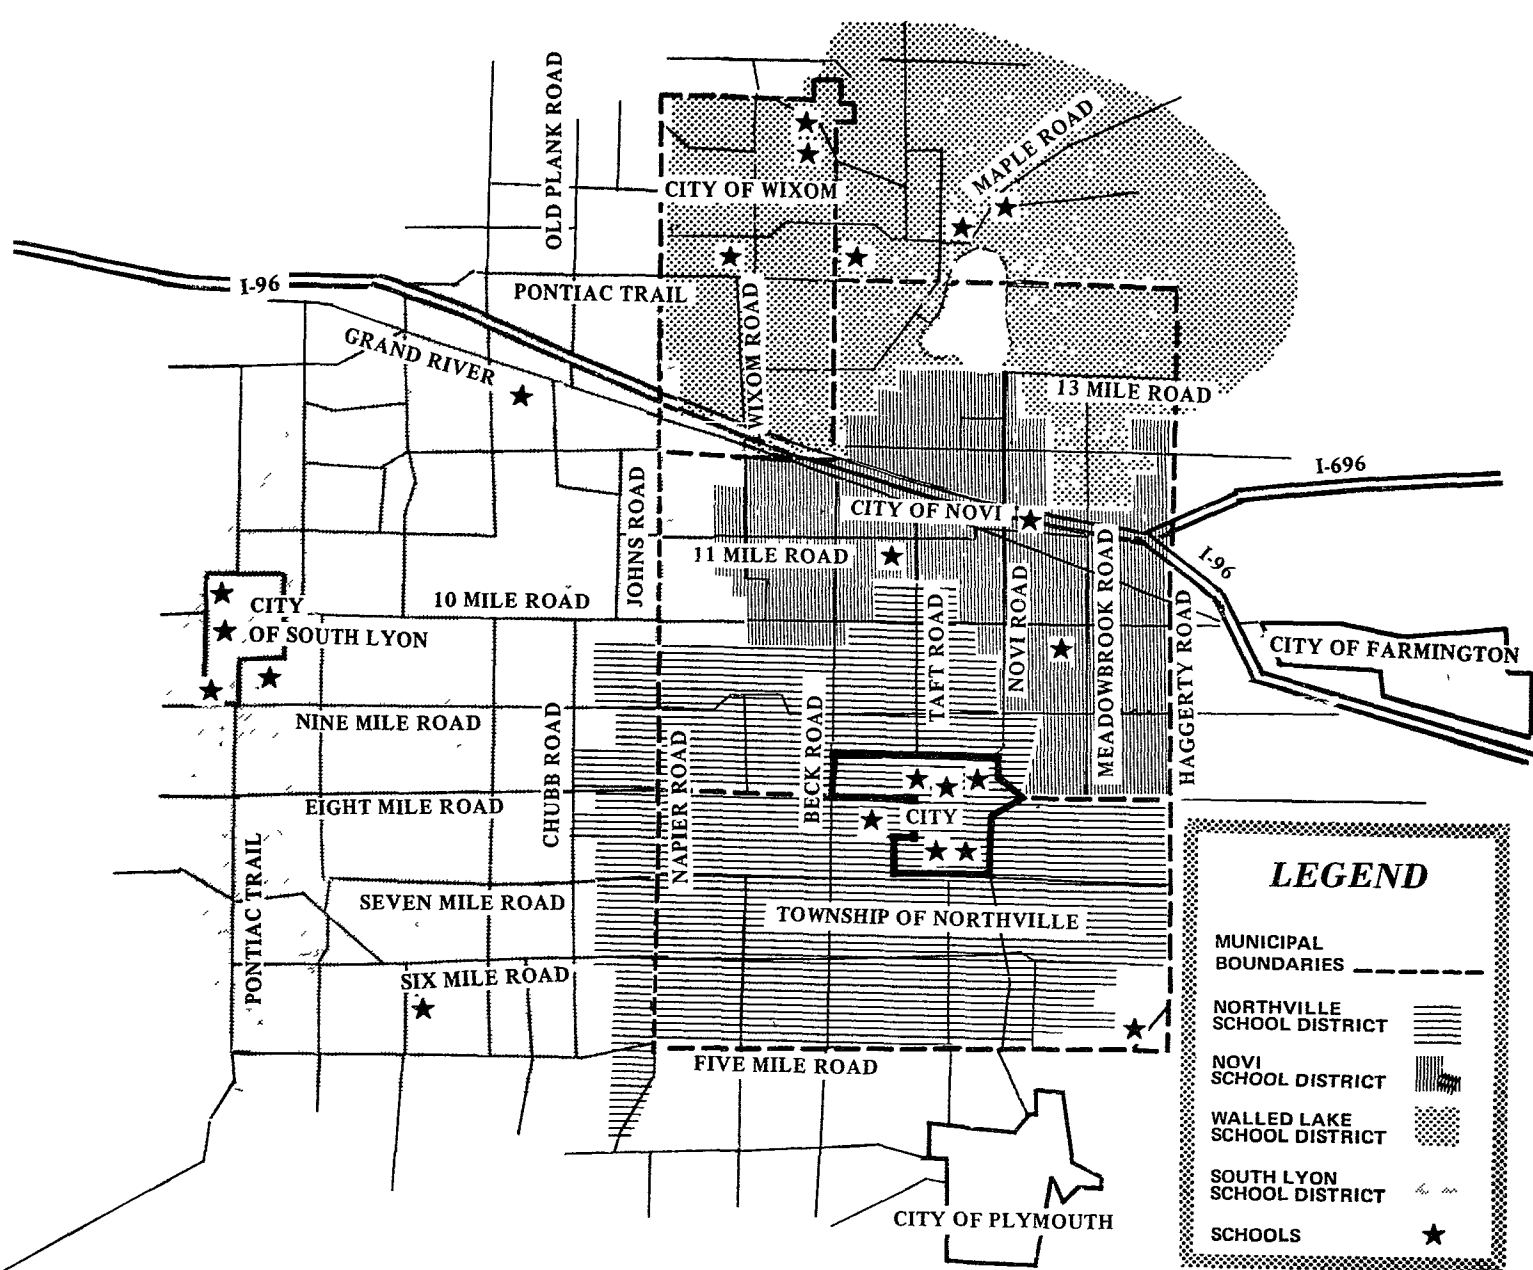

Only Durfee offered resistance. Some of its residents still favored annexing to Northville. Thus, in May, 1956 voters of Durfee decided to split its district, with that portion lying south of Eight Mile Road to go to Northville.

While other problems crept into the Novi effort, voters nevertheless in October, 1956 approved consolidation by a 6-1 margin and the new school system of Novi became a reality.

Thus, the irregular boundary separating the districts of Novi and Northville was established. Similarly, boundaries involving other school districts evolved.

School officials today admit that "a nice even boundary" would be ideal but almost impossible. Why? The next article in this series will explore the answers to that question.

City Bans Sprinkling

according to the city manager, by 7 p.m. no water was flowing into the reservoir. At 8:30 p.m. both the tower and reservoir were one quarter full and we were able to hold our own through the night. Both were completely full by Tuesday morning."

Ollendorff said that by not sprinkling during the day, he believes the city will get enough water. He noted it was the first time that anyone can remember the city was placed under a water ban.

"The Detroit Water Board would not give us assurance that the situation would improve," the city manager noted, "and we asked that a temporary sprinkling ban be put on other areas to ease our water ban but we did not get a satisfactory answer."

With the area of the township along Clement Road south of West Main Street without water late last week, Ollendorff said that Friday fire hoses were run from Lexington Commons, the end of the tower line, to Clement Road, the end of the reservoir line, completing the loop and providing water.

With the area now served by both systems, Ollendorff said pressure in the lines is near 18 pounds, compared with the usual nine pounds. "Most of the residents usually use pumps, but Friday and Saturday, many were able to get water without pumps."

"The city council is considering permanent looping of the system," he noted, "and even with firehoses, we've proved it would help."

He's Elected ONU Trustee

John Canterbury of Northville and John Marsh, Jr., of Delphos, Ohio, have been elected to five-year terms on the board of trustees of Ohio Northern University representing the 11,000-member alumni association. The 42-member board is the governing body of the university which sets institution policy.

Canterbury, a 1938 liberal arts graduate, is material procurement and distribution manager of the automotive assembly division of the Ford Motor Co. He was elected to a one-year term to fill the unexpired term of the late W. McNeil Kennedy. Marsh, a 1934 law graduate, is a partner in the Marsh, Minzing and Metzner law offices.

Trustees meet three times annually. They are elected by the church, alumni association or at-large. The university has 2,100 students enrolled in colleges of liberal arts, engineering, pharmacy and law. It is observing its centennial anniversary this year.

Walter R. Kellogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kellogg of 1238 Bellcony in Wixom, was one of a group of high school students who attended a one-day orientation program last week for those planning to enroll at Eastern Michigan University in the fall.

During his visit, the Wixom student received individual and group counseling and registered for the fall

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The Fourth of July week end is 78 hours long beginning at 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Monday.

During that time it is estimated that holiday travelers in Michigan will drive up to 710 million miles.

Travel is expected to be seven to 10 per cent above last year's pace, which means that nearly 30 motorists will be killed during the 78-hour period.

Last year 27 were killed on Michigan highways over the July Fourth week end.

Traffic accidents over the 78-hour Memorial Day week end just past claimed 17 lives.

Drinking drivers and excessive speed are the biggest causes of highway deaths, traffic experts point out.

"If the motorist just avoids alcohol this holiday, deaths could be cut 50 per cent", the automobile Club of Michigan reports.

If you're planning a trip this week end, try to avoid the peak hours, which the Auto Club list as: Friday, 7 to 10 p.m. south of Bay City, 9 p.m. to midnight; Saturday, 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. in metropolitan area toward resort centers; Monday to 7 p.m. north, and 3 p.m. to 11 p.m., southern Michigan.

Remember, Saturday the Northville Jaycees are staging their annual Fourth of July parade, chicken barbecue and fireworks.

So you can stay home, avoid the crowded highways and have fun, too.

Northville, Plymouth, Farmington and Livonia telephone exchanges (which includes Novi as well as Northville) will be the first in the state to use the new electronic system enabling callers to dial long distance person-to-person, collect, credit card or bill-to-third-number.

The new system will be introduced here Sunday, July 11.

Actually, there's a computer at the long-distance switching center in Plymouth that handles the routine. And it includes coin-operated phones, too.

All the caller does is dial "O", then the area code (if needed) and the telephone number in the distant city. The "O" is a signal to the operator that special handling is required. While the call is going through, the operator cuts in and provides whatever service is needed: acceptance of a collect call, correct charges, getting the proper person on the line, etc.

Remember when you could pick up the telephone without dialing and a pleasant-voiced operator would handle all the details for you?

Slowly, I think Michigan Bell is working its way back to the system.

What are we going to do with the younger generation?

Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg thinks we ought to award them medals.

Especially Paul Johnston and Paul Condon, both members of Northville high school class of '71.

They stopped their car one night recently to give the Northville supervisor a hand changing a tire at Ten Mile and Novi roads.

Gunnar couldn't get the bolts loosened; the boys did the entire job and wouldn't accept any money for their deed.

GERALD R. FORD

Yes

Congressman Ford supports the concept of a government guaranteed loan to Lockheed Corporation.

He doesn't support a direct government loan to Lockheed, however. He supports a federal government guarantee of a commercial bank loan.

A government guarantee would mean the federal government would underwrite the bank loan. If Lockheed goes in default on the loan, the federal government would be stuck.

But that is infinitely better than what would happen if the federal government fails to do something. By all indications, Lockheed would go bankrupt and 37,000 men would be out of work.

It would be a devastating blow to the economy, a devastating blow to the aerospace economy.

The congress may also be interested in a broader answer, like the one proposed by Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, which is currently being sounded out before the House Banking and Currency Committee.

Burns has proposed a $2 billion program for federal government guarantees of loans to ailing businesses, not just to Lockheed.

No

I do not favor the proposal that is being put forward with respect to authorizing the government to grant $250 million in bank loans to Lockheed Aircraft Corporation. The money Congress is being asked to put up belongs to the federal taxpayers.

Last year some 10,000 small businesses failed and none of them were given special treatment by our government. Why, then, should we single out this particular firm?

Furthermore, there is absolutely no assurance that with such help we can obviate future rough weather at Lockheed.

I believe we must seek constructive alternatives. For example, private financing with government guarantees instead of direct government loans would, it seems to me, be a better choice. But private capital apparently is not forthcoming.

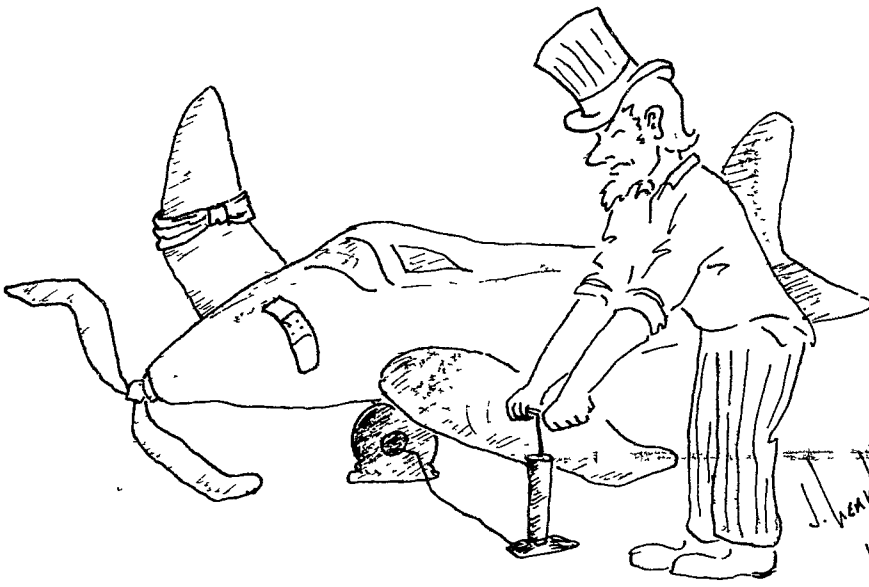

There are, however, other alternatives such as a possible merger with another major manufacturer, or the establishment of a new organization set up by congress similar to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which operated in the 30's and 40's and saw this country through periods of preparedness, war, reconversion and economic expansion.

Either of these, in my view, would be far more preferable than the present legislative response.

Worth the Price?

by JACK W. HOFFMAN

NOTE: The writer is camping with his sons. Following is one of his previous columns published in October, 1969.

The instant I saw her crouching in the corner — a Bromo in one hand and a stick in the other — I knew school was out.

And when she snarled...well, I knew positively summer had arrived.

Pretending ignorance I tossed her one of my sweetest smiles and asked as delicately as possible, "What's the stick for?"

"For kid or beast — whichever comes within striking distance first," she answered through clenched teeth. "I've had it, I tell you, I've had it. It's the turtles."

It happens like this every summer. But this time the situation was worse. The woman who wanted a dozen children but who settled for six — and a dog, five puppies, two rats, a school of fish, a mason jar of bees, and three orphaned snakes — was done in by two tiny turtles purchased at the dimestore a year ago for Mother's Day.

(Our kids learned long ago that one of the easiest ways to get an animal into the house is to offer it as a gift to mom).

When we discussed the matter the night before she was driven to the wall she had agreed to put her foot down — carefully, of course, because of the puppy trademarks here and there — and to begin eliminating the menagerie. First to go was to be the turtles.

"I took them out to the nicest pond I could find," she explained. "It was a little sad but they seemed happy when they swam away. Then I went home. I should have swam away, too, because when I got home there they were."

"What was there?"

Well, I went down into the laundry room to put the clothes in the washer and guess what—seven little snapping turtles swimming around in there. And two fat toads sitting on the agitator.

"Terrible," I said, "simply disgusting. What did you do?"

"What could I do? I screamed, naturally."

"Naturally," I said.

"So when I screamed one of the toads jumped and knocked over the soap and it went all over the floor and the puppies ran through it and tracked it around and I swatted one with the broom and it started crying and I started crying...and then comes Joey all smiles."

"Don't cry," he tells me, "I got some new turtles for you. They're in the laundry room." And now I didn't know whether to cry some more or kiss him or spank him."

"What did you do?"

"I gave him a peanut butter and jelly and sent him packing. And then guess what?"

I can't wait. Tell me, quick. This is better than Abbott and Costello at their best."

"Well, in comes Jim. And guess what — he's carrying this big Box Turtle. Got 'em out of the sewer, he tells me 'cause he knows I'm sad about having to give up the store-bought ones."

"Isn't it grand to be loved," I said.

"Maybe for you," she said draining her Bromo, "but just for once I wish someone would give me a little hate once in a while. Love's got me nothing but kids and animals. You can have it! I'm saving all mine for teachers...oh, those lovely, lovely teachers..."

To the Editor:
In last Thursday's paper you had an article (Cooke Assembly Honors Students) in which you listed the students having a high grade average. In the 4th paragraph you mentioned a student, who had received straight A's throughout Jr. High, by the name Paul Dyke. Well her name is Paula Dyke and I feel that you could have taken a bit more time to get her name right. It could have been an honest mistake yet she deserves to be congratulated with her correct name. I hope she has not been too hurt by this humiliation.

Mail Returned

To the Editor:
First let us thank you for the time and effort you and your staff have spent on the first two articles regarding the peculiar postal boundaries affecting Novi, Northville and Walled Lake. In our original letter of May 12, 1971 we did not expect such a prompt and thorough response. Obviously this situation is inconveniencing many other people in these communities even more than it effects us. We do have one criticism to offer however. It would appear that there is a serious misunderstanding between Mr. Elmer Balko and your reporter. Mr. Balko allegedly told your newspaper that "This policy (of returning commercial mail) does not, however, include first class mail which continues to be forwarded, he stresses". This statement was totally false as recently as seven weeks ago. On April 29, in my capacity as co-player agent for the Novi Little League, I mailed 26 first class letters to various managers and coaches all of whom are residents of the City of Novi. As luck would have it four of these gentlemen have Northville postal addresses. The Novi Post Office returned these four first class letters stamped "address unknown". Although the incident occurred before the date of our original letter I was not aware of it since several weeks were required to secure official approval of our May 12th letter.

We fully agree with Mayor Crupi, Mr. Peter Alcalá, and Superintendent Spear and the other citizens who are unhappy with these foolish boundaries. We are sending a copy of this letter to Postmaster Elwood Grubb (Wixom), Elmer Balko (Novi), and John Steimel (Northville) and suggest that they establish a committee within the next 30 days to resolve a solution to this problem.

If they are unable or unwilling to undertake such action we will contact Congressman Jack McDonald and request his assistance.

NHS Band To Miss 4th

Absent from the line up of Saturday's parade will be the Northville High School marching band.

According to band director Robert Williams it "would be next to impossible to assemble a band to march in the Fourth of July parade." He cited band members will be on vacation and others will be working. "Much of our important instrumentation will be missing."

He also pointed out that the "uniforms were not designed for 90 degree temperatures. If we had summer uniforms it might be different."

Paul Johnston, president of the band, noted that if a summer band program was in operation "I'm certain we could have gotten something together for the parade."

This is the first year since the late 1920's, according to Williams, that a summer band program is not being conducted.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said the program was taken out of the general fund budget because "we felt it was not fair or reasonable to charge for summer school classes but offer band free."

A summer band program was offered on a tuition basis but only two or three musicians signed up for the class.

"The students in the band want to do a good job when they perform," Williams said, "and we know we wouldn't have enough students on hand for the parade to make a good showing."

Gets Degree

Don A. Gorman, 41520 Tamara Drive, Novi, received an Ed. D. degree in instructional technology at Wayne State University's commencement exercises Tuesday, June 22 at 8:30 p.m. in Cobo Hall.

He was one of 41 persons awarded an educational doctorate by the WSU College of Education. Dr. Gorman was among 4,596 students receiving degrees, making the June, 1971 class the largest spring commencement in Wayne's history.

A native Detroit, he graduated from Redford High School and earned B.S. and M. Ed. degrees at Wayne State.

Rotary Aids Center Youths

Three months of good behavior and $250 contributed by Northville's Rotary Club resulted in 40 elementary school children from Wayne County Child Development Center having a free day at Ohio's Cedar Point last week Wednesday.

The Rotary contribution got the kids through the gate, while 150 pieces of fried chicken and a bus, both kicked in by Detroit area businesses, kept them fed and transported them 150 miles to the mammoth amusement park along Lake Erie.

"These kids are mostly from the inner-city, and the more densely packed sections of Detroit," said Ray Telman, WCCDC elementary instructor and one of 10 teachers who chaperoned the trip.

"They just thoroughly enjoyed themselves," he continued. A lot of them had never seen anything like Cedar Point before and they just went wild. They went from one ride to another, all day long.

The lucky 40, all aged between eight and twelve, had earned at least 370 points on a scale of 500 measuring behavior and school performance in the center's behavior modification program.

"The kids have been working, since March," said Telman.

Wins Promotion Parents Meet

Thomas H. Alberts of Baintree Circle in Northville has been advanced to second vice president by the Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. He is in the bank's personnel department at the head office in downtown Detroit.

THOMAS ALBERTS

Since completing college he has been with Manufacturers Bank. He has steadily advanced through the positions of teller instructor, employment interviewer in the personnel department and later, employment manager. His new title is second vice president and personnel officer.

Alberts is active in the Midwest College Placement Association and the Detroit Personnel Management Association. He is married to the former Katharine Orr. They have two children and are relative newcomers to the Northville area.

Youths Elected

Three area youths have been elected to offices at the American Legion Wolverine Boys' State held in East Lansing.

They are Chuck Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Cook of 118 South Ely Drive, who was elected state representative, John Fialon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fialon of 331 Sherrie Lane, who was elected to the office of city councilman; and Jim Wilenius, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wilenius of Novi, elected city assessor.

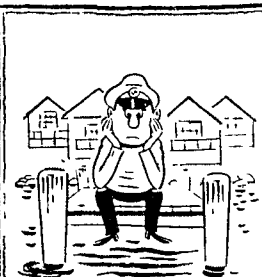

Fialon was also a member of the softball team which won the "National League" pennant, placing second overall.

Readers Invited

Northville student readers are invited to join the Charlie Brown Reading Club now beginning at Northville Public Library.

To participate, children read books during the summer months and their names and the books they read will be recorded. Certificates will be awarded at the end of the summer to those who earn honors in the club.

All readers are welcome to join, according to Mrs. Robert Thornbladh, librarian.

Fewer Teaching Posts Open Here

There will be fewer new faces among the teaching staff in Northville schools this year than last when school opens in the fall.

"We're interviewing more people for fewer positions this year," said Robert Benson, director of personnel for Northville schools.

"It's an enviable position we're in. We have adequate files and an abundance of people for every opening in the district," he noted.

To date, eight teachers have been hired for the 1971-72 school year. At the same time last year, 15 teachers had been hired.

"We're not in a rush to do any hiring," Benson explained, "because there are so many qualified candidates. We interview an average of six or seven candidates for each position."

Currently Benson said he is interviewing teachers for eight openings in the district, primarily at the secondary level. For one position at the high school, applications have come from all over the United States.

Benson said he attempts to interview all the candidates for one position within one week. "It's not fair to those applicants who are not offered contracts to have them waiting for an answer."

"The abundance of teachers today has allowed us to be selective," he continued, "and it makes you feel real good when you find a candidate who stands head and shoulders above all the rest."

Often Benson said he finds two or three candidates who are equally qualified for a position. "Then we look at things such as the make up of the school—is it mostly male or female? Are most of the teachers graduates of Michigan colleges?"

"We try to mix the experience of the teachers and provide a wide range of backgrounds if possible, which will work to benefit the students in the district," he explained.

Minor fields of the applicants are also taken into account. "If we only need a teacher for two or three hours of teaching in their major field, we see if we can use them to also teach in their minor," the personnel director said. "There are a lot of variables."

Benson said a total of 27 new teachers were hired for the opening of school last September. "I know we will be hiring fewer than that this year."

Last year the district employed 153-one third teachers (full-time equated) during the year and Benson anticipates 164 teachers will be employed this year, "though the figure may be cut back before September, depending on the enrollment."

Of the eight positions still open, two are new positions and the remainder are replacements. "Even though the deadline for teachers to submit resignations is not past (60 days prior to the opening of school), there haven't been as many resignations this year," Benson noted. "With the supply of teachers as it is, teachers aren't moving around as much as in previous years."

Northville Post Office Marks New Service

The inauguration of the new United States Postal Service on July 1, will be celebrated in Washington, D. C., and in every post office across the country. Northville Postmaster John Steimel has announced that all members of the community are invited to visit their local post office today (Thursday) and enjoy the hospitality of the men and women who comprise the new U.S. Postal Service.

Dedication ceremonies in Washington will be hosted by Postmaster General Blount. Honored guests at the dedication will include members of Congress, former Postmasters General, the Board of Governors of the new Postal Service and their wives, as well as Assistant Postmasters General, headquarters personnel and other dignitaries.

Visitors to the post office will be given a souvenir envelope imprinted with the old and new insignia of the Postal Service. This envelope will also be made available in limited numbers as a first day cancellation—for just the cost of an 8 cent stamp—by stamping and cancelling half of the souvenir envelopes in advance. This will be the first time First Day Covers have been available in all U.S. Post Offices.

A photographic display of modern Postal Service jobs and functions will help visitors learn more about the men and women of the Postal Service and how each mail user can help them to serve the Community better.

Postmaster Steimel also just announced that coffee will be served in the lobby of the post office.

HAWAIIAN WELCOME—Louis M. Hopping of Northville, past international president of Civitan and the man instrumental in starting the Northville-Kings Mill Civitan Club last year, is welcomed to Hawaii for the 51st Civitan International convention by Hawaiian District Civitan Governor Al Pelayo. Hopping, who attended the convention with his wife, installed the new officers of Civitan International at a closing banquet Thursday night. The outgoing international president, George Sheffield of Jackson, Mississippi, presented Hopping with a "grass shirt" before handing over his gavel to the new president, Orville P. Brink of Front Lauderdale, Florida. During the convention that was held June 20-24, the new Northville club was cited for its two recent service projects—sponsoring of four high school students to a seminar at Albion College in August and sponsoring the recent hole-in-one contest as a fund raising project.

Swimming's Popular

Record-breaking attendance during this week's heat wave has been reported by Northville's Swim Club officials. The high figures have led them to expect a large turnout for annual Fourth of July activities.

Highlight of Sunday's celebration will be the traditional potluck family picnic at 5 p.m. Games for children and other activities are slated earlier in the day with coffee and soft drinks available at cost.

Ecco Wins

Ecco Tool picked up two victories last week: one from previously undefeated Firm Built Construction, 10-7, on Wednesday and the other from Spartan Concrete Mix, 17-16, on Tuesday.

The victories put the Ecco nine in a 5-7 tie for second place with Spartan which lost an earlier contest to cellar-dweller, Pink Builders, 27-13. Firm Built, despite its loss to Ecco Tool, held on to its 11-1 grip on first place as it bombed Pink Builders, 31-3.

The Swim Club is steadily progressing toward being a true recreational complex reports Mrs. Mary Kelly, a spokesman for the club. The sandbox play area is near completion and pavement for basketball and shuffleboard courts has been poured down near Northville High School's new tennis courts.

There are still a limited amount of memberships left at the going rate through the club, according to Mrs. Kelly. Payment plans on an annual basis can be arranged. For

Calling All Golfers

Let's go, you golfers. Get your entries into Northville's Recreation Department Golf Tournament.

It's absolutely your last chance to enter. The deadline's been extended until next Wednesday (July 7) at 5 p.m.

And remember, the tourney's open to men and women, 19 years of age or older.

Recreation Director Bob Prom has a host of prizes lined up and tee-off times reserved from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m. at Salem Hills for the men's tourney on Friday, July 16, and on the following Friday for the women.

All golfers, regardless of skill, have a chance to win a prize. There will be prizes for low gross scores, figured without any handicap, and for the best net scores, which will be determined by the Callaway system.

In addition there will be special added attractions on the course, such as a closest-to-the-pin contest, longest drive and fewest strokes on two or three selected holes.

To date entries have been slow. Prom's hoping that they'll pick-up so there will be a large field of competitors and more fun for all.

In the July 15 edition of The Record pairings and tee-off times for all golfers will be published.

Make sure your name appears—sign up before 5 p.m. next Wednesday.

Net Tourney Planned

Adult tennis buffs who meet weekly for tennis in Cass Benton park have organized a doubles tournament for the coming weekend. Everyone over 21 who likes tennis is invited to come and join in the play.

Registration and play will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, July 3, in the Northville Athletic Area of Cass Benton Park.

This is a doubles tournament only with men's women's and mixed doubles, Mrs. Axtel explained.

Everyone is welcome. For further information call 349-5528 or 349-5959.

Reef Mack Nine Win, Lose, Draw

Northville's Reef Manufacturing notched two victories in last week's Connie Mack competition, tied a third contest, and took its first defeat to wind up 3-1-1 in the Livonia league as of Saturday.

The local nine tallied its wins at the expense of Farmington, 9-4, last week Tuesday, and Churchill, 6-5, in the second of two games played Saturday.

The first Saturday game, against Garden City, was less fortunate for the local squad as Reef failed to score, winding up at the short end of a 3-0 shut-out.

An earlier Thursday game with West Bloomfield, had been called due to darkness and chalked up by both squads as a tie.

"We'll play it out later," said Connie Mack coach Jim LaRue, "if it'll make a difference in how we place".

Saturday's game with Churchill looked dim until late in the game as Reef started the bottom of the last inning behind 5-2.

Jeff Moon led off with a double and galloped home on a single from Rick LaRue.

Then, with LaRue and John Crane on base, Steve Utley honored to win the game, 6-5.

It was Utley, who with a single in the sixth, scored Rick Asher and Hurler Scott Evans for Reef's first two tallies.

Evans gave up seven hits during the game, walked no one and fanned three men.

Reef had an easier time last week Tuesday with the Farmington nine as John Crane carded a timely pair of doubles, each good for two RBIs.

Utley also came through with a timely single to score two runs in the second.

Moon gained the pitching win.

Saturday's contest with Garden City was another story however, as the local nine carded one hit in every inning, including a double in the second by Rick LaRue, and singles in the fourth and sixth by Utley, but failed to score.

Reef threatened once in the fifth as Taylor, on with a single, went to second when Rod Crane drew a walk.

That effort died, however, as Taylor was caught trying to steal third.

Thursday's tie with West Bloomfield saw a double by Tom Singer and a home run blast in the fourth inning by John Crane as Reef collected three runs on six hits.

OUT—The throw to third was in time Thursday for Steve Utley to dispose of a potential West Bloomfield threat, but overall Reef's effort wasn't good enough to avoid a tie in Connie Mack play as umpires called the game because of darkness at 3-3.

B-V Gains Tie

B-V Construction beat Carl's X-Way Shell, 10-5, Friday, and Wroten Brothers, 12-4, last week Tuesday, to gain a first-place tie with Rexall Rangers in Novi's little league majors.

The Rangers, league leaders for four straight weeks, helped the Constructor cause themselves by dropping a 6-2 contest to the Novi Party Store, Thursday.

Both squads sported 10-3 records last week and were three games ahead of Shell and the Novi Police who were battling for third place, each with 7-6 tallies.

In that Constructor-Shell game, John Bosco and Kevin Ary were the big Constructor guns: Bosco with a double and Ary with a pair of singles.

Ary shared pitching chores with Steve Kerr. Between them the pair walked seven, gave away five hits and fired 12 strikeouts.

In the Wroten game Ary blasted a two-run homer and a double as other Constructor doubles came from John Bosco, (3), Wes Sensoli, (2) Jeff Lavery, (2), and Kerr, (2).

Bosco worked the mound in that contest fanning a dozen and allowing seven walks.

The Constructor's first place tie was assured by the Novi Party Store Thursday as it handed the Rangers their third defeat of the season, 6-2.

Paul LaVoie fired 10 strikeouts from the Party Store mound while the Rangers nipped him for five hits and a walk.

Brad McQuiston and Jeff MacDermid led the Party Store attack, each with a pair of singles.

Other action developed a three-way tie for fifth place between the Party Store, Wroten Brothers and General Filters, each with a 6-7 record.

Through last Friday the play went like this:

FRIDAY, JUNE 25
Novi Police upset Wroten Brothers, 6-5, as hurler Lee Briggs fanned 11 while giving up five hits and six walks.

Tom Vaughn powered the Police attack with a triple.

THURSDAY, JUNE 24
General Filters won a narrow victory over winless Michigan Tractor, 7-6, as Steve St. John nipped Tractor hurler Randy Selep for a double.

Mike Luttmann worked the mound for the Filters, fanning eight men and allowing six hits and six walks.

Dave Smith hit a pair of Tractor doubles in that game.

TUESDAY, JUNE 22
Carl's X-Way Shell defeated Novi Police, 6-4, as Shell batsmen collected only four singles against a seven-hit attack by the police.

Marty Tornow pitched for Shell as Lee Briggs and Kurt Roderick nipped him for doubles.

MONDAY, JUNE 21
The Rexall Rangers defeated Michigan Tractor, 7-6, as Craig Pelchat and Dave Beall collected doubles.

Other Ranger power came off the bats of Richard Ling and Jeff Bunder who carded singles, Ling two and Bunker three.

Ling shared pitching duties with Rick Faulkner as the pair fanned nine men and gave up five walks and four hits.

General Filters upset Novi Party Store, 4-3, with the help of Steve St. John, who hit a double, and hurler Keith LaFleche, who carded a pair of singles.

LaFleche fanned seven men while giving up five walks and four hits to the Party Store.

New Records Set In Downs Opening

Downs Executive Manager John Carlo promised a fast track and predicted a good turn-out as Northville Downs opened its 35-night summer meet last Thursday.

He proved to be right on both counts as records were set in betting, attendance and running.

"Breadman George" turned in the running feat. The pacer tied the track record for the mile with a time of two-minutes and 4-5ths seconds. He joined

"Vickie's Jet" (1960) and "Blaze Pick" (1970) in the record circle.

Betting records were set both Thursday and Saturday evenings.

Thursday it was the largest opening-night mutuel handle, $354,956.

On Saturday fans broke the all-time betting mark at Northville Downs with a mutuel handle of $544,316. The previous high was $535,559 set last year.

Friday night betting was brisk, too, with $427,574 for a three-night average of $442,282.

Opening night attendance was 4,867. This climbed to 5,799 Friday night.

Then Saturday night the largest crowd in recent years flocked to the local track — 8,038.

The enthusiastic opening helped ease the inconvenience of having water problems opening night. Mysteriously, the supply was cut to a trickle. A page one story reveals more water problems throughout the city.

Big Field Enters JC Track Meet

Northville's first "Junior Champ" track meet, sponsored Saturday by local Jaycees, saw boys and girls from Northville, Novi, South Lyon and New Hudson compete in five-age classes for 107 first, second and third place medals.

"We had 127 people register," said Jaycee coordinator Tom Barber, "which was tremendous considering this was our first attempt at sponsoring a track meet." Barber mentioned that he hoped the meet would become an annual event in Northville.

Reef Adray Splits Pair

Northville's Reef Manufacturing split two games last week as they picked up a 2-1 victory from Plymouth, Wednesday, but were blanked 1-0 by Redford, Friday, in Adray competition.

Against Plymouth, the local nine entered the seventh inning one run down, but managed to push Rich Adams across on a single by Dan Boehm sending the game into extra innings.

Dale Griffith connected for a triple in the bottom of the eighth and galloped home with the winning tally on Rick Boehm's fly to right field.

In all, Reef collected five hits and two walks off Plymouth hurler Danny Van Gasse.

Bernie Bach took the win, his first in two starts, as he fanned three men and gave up five hits and five walks.

It was a different story Friday against Redford, however, as the local squad failed to score though they threatened twice.

In the third Griffith drew a walk, Hurler John Morrison pushed him to second and was safe himself on an error and Rick Boehm walked to load the bases with one out. But the threat fizzled.

Things were quiet until the fifth when Dave Coe led off with Reef's lone hit, a double. Coe went to third on an error, but his effort died there as a third-out grounder ended the inning.

The loss was charged to Morrison, his second in four trips to the mound, as he gave up one run, six hits and two walks, fanning five men.

In Walled Lake

West division all-stars collected 11 runs in the first two innings to whip the Eastern division, 14-10, in All-Star Walled Lake industrial softball action Saturday.

Lumber Leads Slo-Pitch Loop

Northville Lumber ran a flawless record to nine victories last week Wednesday as shortstop Steve Juday ripped a pair of doubles and a home run to power an 18-4 victory over St. Clair Advertising in Northville's Men's Slo-Pitch league.

Left fielder Don Thompson followed Juday in the third inning with a home run blast of his own to ice the Lumber win.

Other action Wednesday saw Northville Drug-Casterline shut-out Exotic Rubber and Plastics, 3-0.

In Thursday's only contest Northville Downs defeated Novi Inn, 6-2.

"The Jaycees' float, built in the shape of a gazebo, will carry the Sullivan Hall Band, a group of blind retarded boys from Plymouth State Home and Training School.
Altogether, more than 10 floats will participate.
Children are invited to ride decorated bicycles in the parade—but, insists Broadbuss, they must remain in that part of the parade section assigned to them. Ribbons will be awarded best entries in bike decorations at the Downs following the parade.

Trophies are to be awarded to the top two or three entries in the following classifications: Bands, musical groups, marching units, floats, restored automobiles, equestrian entries, and special awards.
Following the parade, the Jaycees, together with the Jaycettes, will hold their traditional chicken barbecue in the park at the rear of the city hall. Cost for a meal of chicken, baked beans, cole slaw, potato chips, rolls, soft drinks and coffee will be $1.75 for adults and $1.25 for children under 12.
The barbecue will continue until 5 p.m. "or until the food is gone," says the chairman of this event, Mike Janchick.
Concurrently with the barbecue, the Jaycees, under the chairmanship of Art Bakewell, will sponsor an antique and arts & crafts sale by professionals and amateurs in the parking lot between the city hall and the board of education building. Finally, the "biggest and best" fireworks display will take place at the high school athletic field beginning at 9 p.m. Viewers are asked to park their cars at the high school or Amerman Elementary School.

According to fireworks chairman, Lyn Bourne, in case of rain the fireworks display will be rescheduled for the following day, Sunday, at the same place and same time.
Immediately following the fireworks display, the drawing for the Jaycee-sponsored trip for two to the Bahamas will be held. Tickets for this drawing, says Chairman Paul Vandenberg, may be obtained from Jaycees throughout the day.
Proceeds from the drawing help offset the cost of the parade and fireworks, explains Broadbuss.
"We think the day will be an enjoyable one, and we hope as many as possible join us in marking this national birthday," says Broadbuss. "But above all, whatever you do make it a safe holiday weekend."

ERROL MANN

Errol Mann, honorary grand marshal of the parade here Saturday, has the second-best field goal percentage (.690) in the National Football Conference. Having scored 101 points off his toe, he needs only 12 more field goals to set a Lion record—a mark now held by Jim Martin with 56. Mann has 45.

More than 100 "pee wee" footballs, donated by the Jaycees, will be thrown by Mann to children along the parade route.

Township at Crossroads

If it decides to build a new township hall on nine acres it may acquire from the Thompson-Brown company, should the facility contain space for a police department? Or should it contract for this service.
The site currently under consideration by the board is located on the north side of Six Mile road, east of Bradner and just opposite the entrance to Northville Commons, Winchester road.

Architectural plans under review call for offices, a fire station and police facilities. Its cost is estimated at $370,000, about half of which could be paid from township funds saved and earmarked for such use.

Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg is hopeful that federal funds might be available for the remaining portion. But he notes that any such plan would need voter support to gain an additional two mills for operating expenses. The township currently is limited to a one-mill levy.

Another problem connected with the establishment of a fire station on Six Mile road is the cost of manpower. Presently, the township contracts with the city which maintains basically a volunteer department.

But in the residential confines of the Six Mile-Bradner road area there are few, if any, men working nearby to answer a fire whistle. Thus the township must consider a complement of firemen, possibly in conjunction with its police force if it chooses to establish a separate law enforcement agency.

Again, the board must consider the cost of such a program and take it to the public for support.

Last week the board heard a presentation from Northville City Manager Frank Ollendorff and Police Chief Sam Elkins.

Their proposal would establish a Northville community police force of 21 men plus Chief Elkins. Township Chief Nisun and Patrolman Robert Budd would become a part of the community department, but Ollendorff and Elkins emphasized that patrols would not be divided into "city and township". Instead, the community would be considered as one with patrols divided east and west of Sheldon road, for example, Ollendorff stated.

The city plan would add eight men to the existing force and provide an officer-dispatcher at the desk 24-hours and four patrolmen on duty on the roads.

The plan envisions using four patrol cars, utilizing the two each now owned by the city and township. Chief Elkins stated that 21 men are needed to provide a professional force. He said that emphasis would be the same as now exists in the city—crime and accident prevention and patrol.

Manager Ollendorff estimated that the cost of the additional service would be $137,000. He said the city's present police budget (excluding track service) is $212,000 annually.

When township board members questioned the additional cost and noted that the per-man cost seemed to increase as the department expanded, the city manager said that his costs were "high estimates" and he emphasized that "exact cost of the service is a political decision that must be made between the city council and township board if and when they get down to the nitty-gritty of serious negotiations".

The manager admitted that the city would benefit from the expanded department. He also noted that the proposal called for adding more expensive personnel, such as officer-dispatchers.

Later in the week the township met with County Sheriff Lucas, Undersheriff Loren Pittman, Franz Heideman, director of executive service for the sheriff's department, and Gene Metkowski of the Wayne county board of auditors.

These officials admitted that the future of the county road patrol rest with the county board of commissioners when it establishes its final annual budget in October.

Sheriff Lucas noted that it is possible that road patrol service will be discontinued due to budget slashes. It was evident that additions will not be made to the road patrol.

Township officials emphasized that the community is already paying taxes for county services and receiving less than most townships because of the vast areas of tax-exempt state, county and Detroit-owned lands.

But Sheriff Lucas pointed out that he is guided by the budget. He said that if Northville township wants added sheriff patrol protection it will have to pay for it.

He noted that the township could go to court (as has been threatened by Northville and other townships) to take action against the county for the service it believes it is entitled to.

"We will give whatever service we can afford to give...what I desire to give and can give (due to budget restrictions) are not the same," Lucas concluded.

Although the county officials declined to discuss specific costs with the township, it was noted that in Romulus a recently-signed contract calls for two cars, 24-hours per day at a cost of $380,000.

County officials would not promise what service might be provided in the future if no contract is signed. That depends upon our budget, they noted.

The county said it would include existing township officers in its force. And the officials suggested that before discussing specific costs, determination should be made on the type of service desired.

Finally, the township also has the plan proposed by Chief Nisun which calls for the steady increase of the existing force.

In his report Nisun predicted a cost of $205,179 annually for a 11-man department plus chief by 1975.

His proposal calls for increasing the department from two men this year to six in 1972, eight in 1973, 10 in 1974 and 12 by 1975.

Capital expenditures for building construction was not included in the township report, although office supplies, furniture, etc., were included.

Board members must decide which plan is the best...or at least, which plan can gain voter support.

And their decision may very well set the course for the future of the community of Northville.

Is there to be a courtship and marriage? Or will there be two communities, and separate departments for all community services?

Would You Believe...?

By BILL SLIGER

Unless you're in the business, or at least an avid golf fan, you've probably never heard of Mike Austin.

His name won't go down in the annals of golf with the Hagens, Joneses, Hogans, Nicklauses, Nelsons, Palmers or Sarazens.

But he's had his glory moments; and maybe if you were to pick out a professional in his trade who incorporates all the things you associate with the name "golfing professional", you might come up with Mike Austin.

The ingredients are there: skill, strength, knowledge, color and flamboyancy, looks and a line for storytelling.

When you talk to Mike Austin, you're not quite sure whether or not he's pulling your leg. But when he looks you straight in the eye and says he's strong enough to whip six men, you decide to believe.

And when he shows you how far he can hit a golf ball, you begin to give credence to his other claims.

Golf Professional Mike Austin is from Hollywood, California. Don't ask me why he decided to come to Chemung Hills Country Club near Howell this year to become head professional, pro shop caretaker, teacher and baby-sitter to a host of youngsters.

I'll take his word for it that the smog got too thick and that it doesn't bother him to be in Michigan while his actress wife, Tanya Somova, is back in Hollywood working on a new picture.

Furthermore, I'll honor Mike's request not to reveal his age or birthplace. I felt his biceps, and I believe the story about whipping six men.

As a matter of fact, I believe everything Mike Austin told me, though some readers might find his exploits difficult to imagine.

His straight-arrow approach, clipped Scottish-like accent, steel-blue eyes and rapid-fire answers to questions about his profession and the techniques of golf make Mike Austin too good not to be true.

Would you believe, for example, that Mike once won $10,000 on a bet that he could score five or better on a par four hole?

Doesn't sound very difficult. But the trick to the contest was that Mike had to use a Coke bottle for a golf club.

He played the 307-yard hole in four, getting on the green with two "Coke" shots and then using the bottom end of the bottle as a putter for his final two shots.

Or would you believe that he can "throw" a driver at a golf ball and hit it 200-yards without his hands being on the club at impact?

Or that he can hit a three-iron 180 yards one handed?

Or how about this story. It happened back in Hollywood many years ago when Mike was a teaching professional at a local club.

He was summoned by a shabbily-dressed man in tennis shoes who said he wanted to take golf lessons. He explained that he had been playing regularly with three other golfers for large sums of money. And that although they switched partners each time they played, mysteriously the partner assigned to Mike's tennis-shoe-clad pupil always seemed to have an off day.

Test Your Golfing Skill On These Sporty Holes

There's more to golf than just slugging the ball and putting. The real fun and feeling of accomplishment comes from a well-executed shot, like the use of a four-wood for position rather than a driver off the tee.

It's true there are holes on every golf course that are just straight-away with no trouble on the right or left where a big drive, wedge and putt are the answer.

But then there are the thinking man's holes, the doglegs, the tree-lined and the trap-guarded holes where position, not distance, is the key to a par, or perhaps a birdie.

We've selected five challenging holes on area public courses where the golf enthusiast can test his skill. They call for a combination of power, finesse and putting touch to conquer.

Chances are most avid golfers have already played all of these holes. If so, we invite you to re-examine the challenge and perhaps improve your next score by planning ahead. If not, take a look at the drawings and descriptions and put them on your schedule for play this summer.

SALEM HILLS

Third Hole—Par Three

Depending upon placement of the tee markers, this hole ranges from 180 to 215 yards. It's tree-lined on both sides with woods at the rear of the green.

Both the tee and green are elevated, but the rise to the green is sharp making it necessary to "fly" the ball to the green.

A large tree guards the right entrance to the green and a small stream at the base of the hill in front of the green catches short shots.

Salem Pro Bob Szilagyi notes that, depending upon the wind, a golfer can use any club from a three-iron to a driver to reach this large-green par three.

The tee shot is always the key to scoring on a par three hole, but it's particularly important on Salem's number three hole where the shot must be high, long and well directed. Trouble awaits the errant shot.

DAMA GOLF CLUB

Fifteenth Hole—Par Five

This 465-yard hole calls for both execution and distance. It can be reached in two, but it calls for a big tee shot and an excellent second.

A dogleg to the right, the fairway has woods along the right side with a large tree at the corner of the dogleg.

The good drive will stay just left of the corner opening up the next shot to a large green cut into the woods. Though threatening, it's a scenic setting—"our prettiest hole", says Bob Matheson, club manager.

The large green is nestled in the woods. Good execution of the hole would call for a big drive, a second shot that's either on or well-placed in front to permit a chip close to the pin for a possible birdie.

BOB O' LINK

Seventeenth Hole—Par Five

Another dogleg and another beauty. It's 475 yards with a sharp dogleg right—more than 90 degrees.

There's very little trouble on the left, just a tree or two. But the right is guarded by heavy woods and it calls for a booming tee shot to get into position for a shot back to the green.

A perfect tee shot would leave a 200-yard shot to the green. And the second shot is a real challenge.

Trees guard the right side of the fairway for the approach to the green. And the "hooker...must worry about a small pond to the left of the green.

The green is framed by a couple of large trees about 30 yards apart calling for a straight approach if the big hitters try to get on in two.

A good hole plan would call for a big tee shot, a "position" second shot in front of the green and then a chip to the pin.

Bob O' Link Professional Midge Cova has also toughened up the 18th hole on this south course (there's another 18-holes on the north side of Grand River at Bob O' Link) by extending it to a 450-yard par 4

GODWIN GLEN

Thirteenth Hole—Par Four

Better plan ahead on this challenging 415-yarder. Placement of the tee shot is important so that a middle-iron can be threaded to the green.

A creek along the right side of the fairway doesn't come into play until the second shot, unless you really slice a tee shot.

But water guards the left-front approach to the green. A sharp slope to the left makes any hook-shot approach to this green a certainty to end up in the pond.

A long approach shot or one hit to the right of the green also spells trouble. The bank of the elevated green slopes sharply to the right and any shot that's over the green is almost certain to find its way into the right-side creek.

Godwin Professional Bob Szilagyi notes that after you're on the green the sloping surface calls for a studied putt.

HICKORY HILL

Seventh Hole—Par Three

Pull a wood out of the bag for this shot. It's a 235-yarder over a long valley. The shot must fly to the green because the entrance is uphill.

A relatively small two-level green is protected by two large traps on the right and left—about 20 yard apart.

Both of the traps, particularly the front left trap, are the old-fashioned deep-type where you can only see the golfer's head and the sand fly when he blasts out.

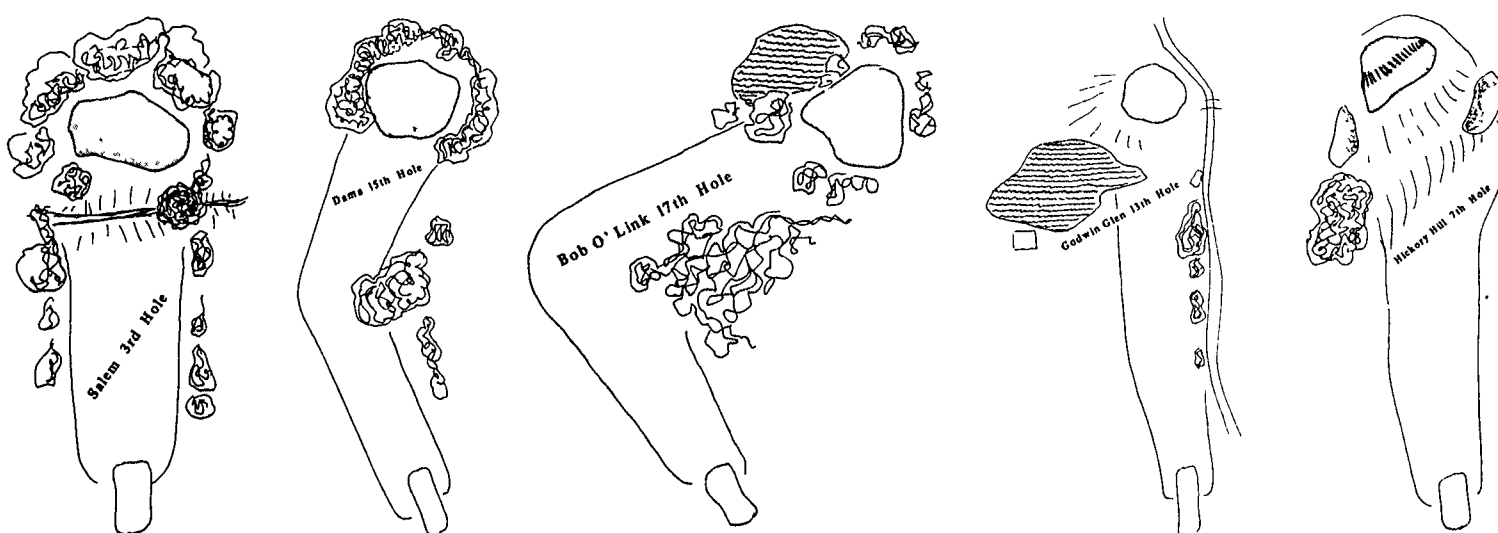

Pin placement also makes a difference on this hole. It can be in front on the lower level, or in back on the upper level. So even with a well-hit tee shot the golfer can find himself with putting problems if he's above or below the hole.

George Catto, one of the state's fine amateur golfers, manages Hickory Hill and calls the nine-hole layout one of the sportiest in Michigan.

Catto just returned from the state amateur match-play tourney in Charlevoix where he qualified and won his first match, one-up in 20 holes, before bowing in the second round, 3 and 2.

BOB O' LINK'S 17th Green: Beautifully inviting, but trouble lurks.

Babson Report

Outlook Bright for Finance Firms

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., July 1, 1971. Over the past few years the finance industry has been in a profits squeeze due to rising interest rates. Since mid-1970, however, margins have improved as interest rates have declined, particularly short-term rates.

Finance companies make wide use of debt, ideally maintaining a four-to-one debt-to-equity ratio. The debt is broken down about equally between long-term and short-term paper. Considering the fact that interest expense represents approximately 35 percent of finance company costs, it is easy to see why the sharp reduction in interest rates will bolster near-term earnings.

SHORT-TERM rates seemingly have bottomed out and may trend slightly for the balance of the year. Since we are not projecting very much of an increase in these short-term rates, however, they should continue to exert a beneficial effect on this year's earnings compared with those of a year ago. Long-term rates, which are also down from the record highs of a year earlier, will have only a marginal impact on results for 1971.

The economic turnaround that began late last year should have a favorable impact on demand for consumer loans. Actually, there are indications that the consumer is regaining confidence in the economy and plans to buy more major items. There may be a slight lag in the rise in consumer-loan demand because of the higher-than-normal savings rate of the past year.

FOR A WHILE the consumer may be hesitant about going further into debt and may draw temporarily on his savings, but this is likely to be only a short-term situation.

Small loan companies have been unable to pass along their higher costs to customers because the charges, along with the size of the loan, are regulated by state agencies. In recent years, however, these limits have been adjusted upward to reflect changing monetary conditions. For example, in 1970 Indiana, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Utah, and Wisconsin upped rates and/or loan-size ceilings.

THERE ARE MANY factors that enhance prospects for the finance industry in the coming decade. Significant is the increased respectability achieved by most firms through sound and appealing advertising slanted toward the younger age group. And the young marrieds who are the primary customers of the finance industry constitute the fastest-growing segment of the country's population.

Internal changes that tend to improve the outlook revolve around the computer and diversification. A computer network between offices eliminates much of the clerical work at the various branches. One central file can easily maintain the personal data and credit ratings of individual clients. Since the majority of loans are made to repeat customers, this permits a greater volume of loans and a general reduction in the number of personnel required.

THE PROFITS squeeze of recent years has actually had some helpful implications. The cost situation has often made management close down marginal and unprofitable offices, and consolidate where one office could the work of two. Of course, the industry will continue to open new offices in promising areas not currently served.

Negative factors clouding the outlook for the 1970s include probable higher long-term interest rates and what the younger generation calls its "new life style" where there is little concern for acquiring possessions. If the latter idea spreads, it could mean fewer big-item purchases and reduced consumer debt. In our opinion, however, the average American will not adopt the "new life style" to any great extent. Thus, the long-term outlook for finance firms remains good.

Bob Hope At Fair

Famed entertainer Bob Hope will headline the final weekend (September 11-12) of the 1971 Michigan State Fair free entertainment shows, according to E. J. "Jeff" Keirns, manager of the Fair.

"We expect Hope to help us put our attendance at the Fair well over the million mark this year," said Keirns, pointing out that the Fair runs a full 17 days in 1971, from August 27 to September 12.

SEMCOG Backs Future Park Plan

A regional plan to double by 1990 land for recreational purposes in Southeast Michigan was approved Saturday by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) General Assembly.

It calls for adding 95,000 acres to the existing 91,000 acres of major recreation or conservation lands in the seven Southeast Michigan counties.

In addition, the plan foresees need to preserve for post-1990 development another 143,000 acres.

Thus, the long-range plan calls for 329,000 acres of land to be in use for recreation or preserved for recreation-related open space in Southeast Michigan by 1990. Another 1,445,000 acres would be non-urbanized.

The plan evolved during weeks of liaison between SEMCOG's Planning Division and the directors of planning for the seven SEM counties, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Office of Planning Services, the City of Detroit's Planning and Parks and Recreation Departments, the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA), and other concerned agencies.

Donald D. Lamb, chief of SEMCOG's Office of Land Use Planning coordinated the activity. Impetus for detailing the plan came from a U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) requirement that only those metropolitan areas where an accepted regionwide recreation and open space development plan exists would receive further HUD funding for parks development.

Further, HUD announced recently a step-up in funding for parks through a "Legacy of Parks" program also requiring the regional plan as a condition for funding of community parks.

A similar pressure on the region came from the state level. Under provisions of the $100 million recreation bond issue approved by voters in 1968, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will release funds for facilities only after review and comment by SEMCOG.

To establish criteria for the plan, SEMCOG planners, in concert with representatives from county and local agencies, agreed on a regionwide standard calling for 35 acres of recreation land per 1,000 persons by the year 1990. Of this, 15 acres would be provided in regional facilities administered by state or federal agencies or the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority. The standard further calls for 20 acres per 1,000 of local and county facilities except in those communities with local criteria of less than 10 acres (such as Detroit, with 51 acres per 1,000).

Included also are a series of scenic drives in other parts of the region to give motorists more opportunity for leisure driving. A 1966 survey by TALUS (Transportation and Land Use Study) showed driving for pleasure was the most popular recreational activity of SEM residents.

The open space areas of regional significance cited in the SEMPLAN (Rec) for acquisition or expansion in the 1970's are:

Livingston County: Brighton Recreation Area; Macomb County: Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, North Branch of the Clinton River, Wetzel-Coon Creek area, St. Clair Scenic Drive along Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River.

Monroe County: Sterling State Park.

Oakland County: Northwest Oakland County major metropolitan park (Waterford Township), Pontiac Lake Recreation, Proud Lake Recreation Area, Bald Mountain Recreation Area, Highland Recreation Area, Holly Recreation Area; Seven Lakes (Holly Twp.).

St. Clair County: St. Clair Scenic Drive; Washtenaw County: Mill Creek Metropolitan Park; Wayne County: Pointe

Council Revises Funding Method

The General Assembly of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) approved a revised fund-raising procedure and a 1971-72 budget.

An outgrowth of months of conciliation, the new method proposes that six counties presently members of SEMCOG guarantee $367,000 in local funding for SEMCOG.

These funds, plus $130,000 in grants from private sources and other income, would provide the base for a total annual budget of $1.7 million.

Under the approved formula, each of the county governments will be asked to pay dues equal to 0.016 percent of its total assessed valuation. The sums thus raised would be Macomb, $47,164; Monroe, $6,925; Oakland, $81,576; St. Clair, $11,469; Washtenaw, $20,986; Wayne, $199,346.

The formula further provides that dues paid by local units of government or school districts within counties would be rebated to the counties.

Each county board of commissioners must now vote to approve the anticipated appropriation.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of local units of government and presently has 106 members, including the six counties.

The 1971-72 budget would continue existing programs to maximize cooperation in regional planning, public safety, housing, health, education, and in the processing and interchange of information such as census data.

In addition, the program calls for coordinating of environmental protection projects at the regional level.

Executive Director E. Robert Turner said that adoption of the new funding formula and budget is a hopeful signal, but warned that SEMCOG faces weeks, perhaps months, of difficulty because of a continuing cash shortage problem.

Staff has been reduced by 24 percent over a six-month period as part of an economy effort, Turner said.

Record Fourth?

Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks may well hit record-breaking attendance for the Fourth of July week-end if the weather is warm, sunny and with fairly high temperatures.

Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson had 65,100 visitors during the 1970 holiday week-end, with 28,500 on Saturday, July 4th. In 1969 the week-end total was 56,300, with 19,200 on Saturday, July 4th; and a record high of 113,400 for a 4-day holiday week-end in 1968, with 45,700 on Thursday, July 4th.

U.S. Senatorial Ring Full of Hats

LANSING — Michigan voters may have a substantial selection of candidates to choose from when they go to the polls to pick a U.S. Senator in November, 1972.

There will, of course, be incumbent Republican Robert Griffin, who will be seeking a second term in the Upper Chamber. And there will also be a Democratic candidate chosen in the primary after what many observers feel will be a bitter struggle involving Attorney General Frank J. Kelley and former Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh. There will probably be a candidate put up by the American Independent Party—the group formed in 1968 to get George Wallace's name on the presidential ballot.

In addition, you can expect a candidate or two from such splinter groups as the Socialist Workers Party or the Prohibition Party.

BUT THE REAL spice for the voters and the real threat to the two major party candidates will come from a group of disillusioned conservative Republicans and a group of disillusioned liberal Democrats.

Conservative forces, headed by former State Senator Robert Huber, are now forming a Conservative Party in Michigan much the same as the one New York Sen. James Buckley used to mount his victorious campaign.

Huber says he hasn't made up his mind whether he himself will run or whether the party will put forth another candidate. But he promises the party will have a candidate. And if it is he, it could prove a serious problem for Griffin, who needs all the conservative support he can get.

HUBER and his followers feel the Republican Party has gone too liberal in its attempts to win elections in Michigan and has forgotten its conservative members.

"I would hope the Republicans would understand that without conservative support they are deadlier than last year's fish," he says. "It's about time we remind them that conservatives carry some weight yet in this state."

Huber has proven he can pull votes, as he drew 262,938 in his primary bid against Lenore Romney in 1970, only 14,000 fewer than she drew in winning the primary.

WHILE HUBER'S move would normally be cause for rejoicing among Democrats, they can't enjoy the situation. They have their own dissident faction to worry about.

It's led by former party State Chairman Zolton Ferency and calls itself the Human Rights Party.

Ferency says his party will have its own U.S. Senate candidate as well, unless it likes the candidate put forth by one of the other parties. And he says the only potential candidate who has much support among the Human Rights Party membership is Cavanagh.

"If the other parties do the things and nominate the candidates we can support, then it's our intention to support them," he says. "We're interested in results rather than any selfish interest in political activity."

WHEN HE LOOKS at the potential candidates, he says, "None of them is very exciting."

He says if Kelley wins the Democratic nomination, "Then in all likelihood the Human Rights Party would feel constrained to nominate somebody in opposition."

"We're no longer interested in the argument of picking between the lesser of two evils," he says. "It is a question of the greater good. The idea of working for the greater good is what's attractive about it."

THUS, BOTH major parties face potentially disastrous revolts from within their own ranks; from men who have run statewide contests before and who have shown they have sizeable followings.

Huber and Ferency are considered about as far apart on the political spectrum as two men can be, yet as mavericks they may have more in common than they do in opposition to each other.

Ferency put the desire of both men and their followers very succinctly when he said:

"We're trying to find ways of external political pressure within the system to get the other parties to move our way. Our bargaining point will be if the various parties nominate candidates that are supportable from the human rights interest, then we'll work for them. If they don't, we won't."

It should be an interesting election.

By ROLLY PETERSON

The "Speaking for Myself" column that appears weekly in Sliger newspapers was originated some two years ago with a two-fold purpose in mind — to provide informative comment on current issues and to elicit opinion from people of different stripes in various segments of the community.

For this writer the experience has been enlightening and more than once, frustrating. Why the frustration? The reluctance of people to take a stand on the issues.

This week's issue, "A government Loan for Lockheed?" provides a normal experience for us and illustrates how frustrating the situation can be.

A loan for Lockheed, one would think is a controversial issue, with good arguments on both sides, so no problem would be encountered in getting U.S. Congressmen to take either the 'yes' or 'no' side.

No problem with the 'no'. Marv Esch, the affable U.S. congressman from the second district, volunteered to take that position. No hemming and hawing. An emphatic answer handled efficiently by his Ann Arbor and Washington staffs.

Then the run-around began, or perhaps that's a little too caustic. Then the search for a person to take the 'yes' position began.

U.S. Congressman Jack McDonald was approached. After several calls to his office in Farmington, no declarative answer. Five days later another call was made to his Farmington office, with an aide saying the congressman had not taken a position. He was still weighing the issue. OK.

Call Senator John Tower from Texas, a man known to support a loan for Lockheed. "Sorry," said his Washington aide, Martin Casey, "I would hate to commit the senator to a 200-word statement, although he supports the loan in concept."

"He doesn't have to get to specifics of a certain proposal," our reporter said. "He can make it a general statement, supporting the concept."

"Sorry," Casey replied. "I'm afraid the senator couldn't do that. When he issues a release I'll be glad to send you one."

"Thank you." Click.

Maybe the people, in this case anyway, do have legitimate reasons for not taking a stand. You be the judge.

But, with the exception of Marv Esch's quick response, and he usually is quick to respond, the Lockheed experience is not unusual.

Some weeks we've called as many as 20 people, on more innocuous subjects. But they're reluctant to sound off in print. Why? You tell me.

Meanwhile, the search goes on. (Turn to Section A of this newspaper to see if we've been successful.)

Young men who will be seniors in high school next fall and who may be interested in a naval career starting with a free college education at the U.S. Naval Academy, may apply now for admission.

Applications for nominations for the class of 1976 which will enter the Academy next June should be sent to Michigan's two United States Senators, Philip A. Hart and Robert P. Griffin and your United States Congressional District Representatives as soon as possible.

Standards for admission are based on a good scholastic record, participation in extra-curricular activities and leadership potential.

Further information on the Naval Academy program can be obtained from the U. S. Naval Academy Information Officer, Lcdr. Robert E. Lekovich, 33914 Macomb Street, Farmington, Michigan 48024, or Lcdr Robert L. Sloan, 1049 Hillcrest, Brighton, Michigan 48116.

The Hope and Joy of Faith

Donald D. McLellan
First United Methodist Church
437-1227

Hendrik van Loon, in writing the biography of Rembrandt van Rijn, sketches, with a deep human sensitivity, the funeral of Rembrandt's young wife and cuttingly observes, why could not the hope and joy of faith be present at such a moment as this.

If we look with dismay at the dour faith of these early 17th century Christians, we should be honest enough to admit that even yet, faith has to struggle to escape the strait-jackets with which we confine it.

This fact came home to me vividly, a few days ago, as I was having my motorcycle filled, while pastoral calling. A young teen-ager came up to me and said something to the effect, "Gee, I didn't think a priest would ride a motorcycle." After absolving my Roman brethren of any complicity, it occurred to me what a distorted picture of Christian faith is present in the minds of so many. People see Christians as the people "Who don't.", and in this context the pastor is simply the stereotype writ large.

Yet, what really is a Christian? Who are these people who have waged their lives that in Jesus of Nazareth we see "the Christ?" They are free men—free to live and free to die—freed to grow in any and every dimension which fulfills their God-given humanity.

Free men! Yes, because they have discovered that God, who is at the heart of the universe, has accepted them in love just as they are. As Martin Luther described it, "Who loved me...delivered ...himself...even for me." Men who have discovered they need no longer justify their existence but are free to grow in love toward God and toward their neighbor.

A mystery? Yes, for who can fathom the depths of creation? Yet mystery which has been glimpsed; for there was one who once said, "I have come that men may have life, and may have it in all its fullness," and the mystery makes good on its promise to all who venture to walk by its light.

It's easy to become enamored of the "woods and templed hills" . . . to fall in love with the "rocks and rills" . . . to hear freedom ringing "from every mountain-side."

But look at the boy in our picture. See him not only silhouetted against a valley in the Great Smokies . . . see him in a Kansas cornfield . . . on a Brooklyn street.

The day has long passed when America could believe that her mountains and prairies were fitting evidence of her greatness.

Even the pride of the historic Pilgrims has little impact on this atomic age.

MEN — they make a nation great! And this boy is one of them . . . young . . . eager . . . ready for destiny.

He's one of the free—yes! But one of the NOBLE free?

That depends — on the truths we teach him . . . on the Faith we share with him . . . on the part that God, the Author of Liberty, is to have in his life.

In loving memory of our son, Harold (Harry) Turner who drowned July 3, 1970. I say a prayer every day and God must have heard I felt the answer in my heart, although he spoke no word. I ask that he would be near you, but it was for your loving care I prayed for most of all. Miss you Mom, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Turner Brothers and Sisters

Meet Mike Austin, Golf Pro

The pupil decided he was being hustled...all three of the other players in the foursome were winners. He wanted to get even with one big game and then quit.

Mike agreed to help. Although the pupil looked like he couldn't afford the instructions, Mike says that he was never paid more money than he received for those three lessons.

Several weeks later Mike received a call from his pupil. "Meet me at the airport", he asked. Mike did and was driven by his pupil, now well-dressed and in a chauffeured limousine, to the most exclusive men's apparel shop in Hollywood.

"Pick out any outfit you'd like", instructed his ex-pupil.

Then he told Mike that he appreciated his help, that he had "taken" the hustlers for all he had lost and more, and that he was quitting golf.

And he introduced himself to Mike as Howard Hughes.

Back in the forties and fifties Mike played a number of tournaments on the professional tour. But he says that prize-money in those days was not as enticing as the money that could be won gambling.

"I never hustled...that implies cheating", explains Mike. "My bets were always based on skill...either playing head-to-head four-way Nassau or making trick shots".

But Mike did well in several tournaments, too.

He won the driving contest at the 1946 George S. May World Championship tourney held at Tam O' Shanter in Chicago. And Mike will tell you that he can drive a golf ball today as far as any man, pro or amateur.

In one of the first Bing Crosby tournaments he scored a fabulous 29-37-66 playing in snow and rain over the Monterey Peninsula course. He lost the Montebello Open in 1954 in a play-off with Jerry Barber and Gene Littler.

And in the finals of the California PGA tourney in 1960 he shot what must be the best 18-holes ever recorded from tee to green.

It was a match-play affair, so an official score was not recorded for the round because Mike won several of the holes when long putts were conceded.

But Mike hit all three of the par-five holes in two, was on four of the par-four holes in regulation figures.

He was seven-under par from tee to green! Unfortunately, it was a 36-hole finals and although he was five-up at the end of the first 18-holes, Mike lost to Bud Holsher on the last 18.

In that same tournament Mike eliminated Paul Runyan, Lloyd Mangrum and Mac Hunter on his way to the finals.

Mike has known and played with most of the greats of golf. He'll tell you that Dutch Harrison is the nicest fellow you'll meet on a golf course "because of his feeling for fellow pros".

He picks Bobby Jones and Jack Nicklaus as the greatest golfers of all time. "Jones would beat anybody playing with today's equipment and on modern golf courses", Mike states.

Next in his list of all-time greats he picks Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Gary Player and Sam Snead. "Player's the best for size", he adds.

Mike calls Arnold Palmer the "guttiest player" he's ever seen because "despite an obvious flaw in his game, he's a big winner."

Mike explains that the over-flexed position of Palmer's left wrist at impact often causes a smothered shot, or a hook.

His single best tip for game improvement is to observe and emulate good golfers. He cites Bobby Nichols, Nicklaus, Bruce Crampton, Tony Jacklin and Gene Littler as the classic swingers.

He says that, like Palmer, Doug Sanders and Billy Casper are good golfers despite bad swings. "There's a lot better and easier way to hit the ball than the way Casper does it," Mike points out. "But he has exceptional control of his hands. It takes a hell of a lot of talent to hit a ball the way Casper does."

Mike Austin has his own ideas about teaching golf. First of all, Mike calls himself a "kinesologist", a student of muscular action. He demonstrates the action of the body joints involved in the golf swing by wearing a "skeleton" suit...black leotards with an outline of the bones and joints drawn in white on the leotards.

And he is the inventor and manufacturer of "The Flammer", a gadget used to develop and correct golf swing. "You must know the body and use the joints as they are designed to be used to teach the golf swing properly", Mike declares.

When he instructs a pupil, he teaches proper balance and use of the 12 levers — the two wrists, two elbows, two shoulders, two hips, two knees and two ankles.

It applies to all sports, Mike declares. And to prove it, he has taught baseball, tennis and boxing as well as golf at his Mike Austin School in Hollywood.

He has lectured the world over; has made four films for the Japanese government (using his skeleton suit), and still conducts exhibitions. Before I left, Mike took me outside his small pro shop at Chemung and hit a few drives, a one-handed three iron and a left-handed three-iron seven-iron shots off a dirt-road surface, alternately hitting quail-high punch shots and wedge-high shots that feathered down where he said they would.

Right now I'm lining up a match with a couple golfing buddies who have hustled me a few times.

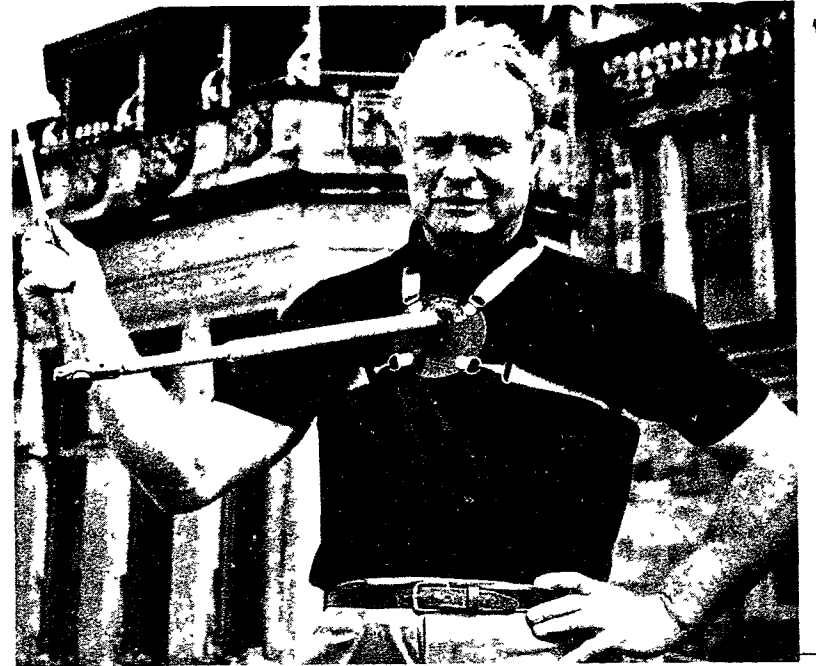

I'm going to introduce them to my new partner, who will be wearing a leotard skeleton suit and tennis shoes.

The only club he'll have in his bag will be a Coke bottle.

I figure it's my turn to get even.

Mike and his "Flammer", which he demonstrated at the famous St. Andrews Royal and Ancient Golf Club when he participated in the Open Golf Championship.

Mouth

COOLING OFF THE HORSE

If the rider is smart, he will have walked the horse long enough after being worked—so that he does not have to cool the horse once he has dismounted. There are instances, however, when the horse may be too nervous to cool off with a rider on him.

In any case, the horse must be cooled off before he is groomed and returned to his stall. There are several reasons for this: first of all, a horse could get very stiff and cramped if allowed to stand and cool; it could get quite a chill; or it could become foundered, a condition where the blood more or less settles in the feet, causing an expansion of sensitive tissues.

Because the walls of the hooves are hard, they will not expand and the horse will be in great pain from the resultant pressures. This condition could cause a chronic, if not permanent, disability.

The horse should be at least breathing normally when he is brought into the barn to be untacked. If he is sweaty, the rider will untack him quickly and rub him thoroughly with a towel. A cooler or similar absorbent-type blanket is put on the horse. The horse is then walked, with intermittent sips of water, until he is cool between his front legs. The cooler is removed and the horse is thoroughly groomed.

If the weather is warm, the horse may be sponged with warm water to which a little vinegar or veterinary absorbine has been added. The excess water is removed with a sweat scraper, a cooler is put on the horse, and the horse is walked until dry. If the weather is quite warm, the cooler may be removed after a few minutes and the horse may be walked until the excess moisture has evaporated. The horse may then graze as long as he is not in a chilling breeze.

A horse that is warm because of humidity rather than internal heat may be sponged off or even hosed with cold water and allowed to graze until dry. In any case, the rider must use his own judgment. His concern is not allowing the horse to become chilled, not allowing him to drink too much cold water at once, and not feeding him grain when he is over-heated.

Parks Busy

Large crowds during the week covering most of the Memorial Day period jumped this season's state park turnouts in Michigan to a record-setting level of more than 3,376,000 day users and 45,300 camper families, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

The totals run through May 30. Use figures for Memorial Day itself are included in the next weekly attendance and camping report which is still being tabulated through the DNR's Parks Division in Lansing.

During the week of May 24-30, Michigan's 76 administered state parks and recreation areas drew 798,000 daily visitors and nearly 15,300 camping groups. Compared with the same period last year, their attendance showed a 74,000 gain and camping use was up by about 2,750 groups.
