

BEFORE AND AFTER, AND IN-BETWEEN 100 MISSING POUNDS

FAT!

Going, Going, Going, Going, Going, Gone!

Ron Hammond has two things going for him: he's got the self-confidence of a "skinny" and the jovial disposition of a "fatty."

And if you don't think that combination's something special you've never met this handsome 24-year-old Northville bachelor who dresses and looks like a million bucks.

But let's get something straight: he's not eligible. His girlfriend has first claim. That's because she "stuck by me" through thick and thin—literally.

Since January Ron has lost 101 pounds. He's down from a breath-gasping 302 pounds to a svelte 201 pounds—the lowest he has weighed since age 11. If he reaches his "goal" he will weigh — at 184 pounds—less than he did at age 7.

His waist has shrunk from a bulging 48-inches to a 35, his chest from 54 to 44, and his neck from 18½ to 16½.

For the first time his shoes fit comfortably, but his watch band and rings had to go. They got to big.

How did he do it? He joined the Northville chapter of Weight Watchers and that single step—more than any other that he has taken in his entire life—has wrought changes that Ron never dreamed were possible.

"I can bend over and tie my shoestrings. I can wear stylish clothes. I can fit comfortably in a coach seat aboard a plane. I can hear whispers and not get the feeling that someone's talking about me. And best of all, I've got some self-confidence."

Naturally, Ron thinks Weight Watchers is the greatest thing this side of the bathroom scales.

He still has his "fat" jovial disposition but now also the self-confidence of the "skinny person," he boasts with an ear-to-ear smile.

A factory worker, he's returning to college this fall fully confident he can make it. A younger, 100-pound heavier man dropped out of Kansas University after a year-and-a-half of frustrations sandwiched in blubber.

Old friends, especially girls, don't recognize him anymore.

Some male friends aren't pleased with the new Ron. "I guess they feel I'm some sort of a challenge to them now."

What's Weight Watchers all about?

Ron boils it down by describing it as weekly meetings in the basement of the Presbyterian Church at $2.50 a crack, fun, educational lessons on foods, special diet, no alcohol, encouragement and incentive. . . a mutual admiration society.

Mostly it's dieting.

Yet, beams Ron, "I'm eating more. . . and enjoying it more."

"Would you believe it, when I'm finished with my diet supper I'm stuffed? It's true."

When Ron plunked down his first $2.50 plus $3.50 initiation, Weight Watchers gave him his goal—184 pounds.

Never in his wildest imaginations did he dream that he could come anywhere near that goal. Not anymore.

Then they gave him this diet—Ron calls it a chemically balanced diet that requires strict adherence. "Try to shave extra pounds off by

Teacher Talks Go To 'Fact Finding'

With contract talks at an impasse, negotiating teams for the Northville school district and Northville Education Association (NEA) have called for state level fact finding.

The move came early Friday evening after more than six hours in meetings with the state mediator. It was the second session of mediation and both sides reported "no progress."

Issues remaining to be settled include:

- salary schedule and number of steps;
- duration of the contract;
- class size;
- school calendar.

Al Jones, chief negotiator for the NEA said the sides are "actually only $5,000 apart. We accepted almost everything they came up with but there are a couple of things we thought we had to have and we came back with what we thought was an acceptable offer."

Jones said the district came up with a salary schedule which "was not too bad, but we want it shortened from 11 to 10 steps. It would cost them something less than $5,000 and would have given only one person a big raise."

Jones said he believes fact finding will be a "complete waste of time and money at the state level. He's (Superintendent Raymond Spear) using the service when he doesn't have to. We've gone down the line with what they've offered."

"What the whole thing amounts to," Jones commented, "is he (Spear) wants the teachers presently employed to buy the new teachers" coming in to the district on the lower salary steps.

The last official salary position offered by the district (and the one which will be submitted to the fact finder) includes BA degree, $8,400 start to $13,400 in 11 years; MA degree, $9,150 start to $16,000 in 11 years.

The NEA has asked for BA degree, $8,800 start to $14,000 in 10 years; MA degree, $9,600 start to $16,800 in 10 years.

Presently, Northville teachers with a BA degree earn $8,000 start to $12,800 in 11 years, MA degree, $8,750 start to $15,150 in 11 years. Spokesmen for both sides indicated other salary schedules had been proposed informally during mediation, but the above proposals would be the ones submitted to the fact finder.

Robert Benson, chief negotiator for the district, said during mediation the district offered "a salary schedule above the median settlements in the area. However, according to the mediator, the NEA wanted $50 added to the top of the MA scale and only 10 steps.

"More than 20-percent of our teachers will be on the 10th and 11th MA and MA plus 30 credit hour steps of the schedule," Benson said, "and $50 over what we offered is more than the district can afford."

"I sincerely hope what the NEA team is doing is in the best interests and has the backing of the membership," Benson commented.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said the "shame of it all is that both parties have been much more open than in the past, but we can't seem to reach agreement on the basic principals. We were awfully close once, but then the NEA pulled their position," he charged.

Both Jones and Benson agreed that once salaries and

Dr. Martin Resigns

How to Fill College Seat?

With the nomination deadline well past and special election machinery already in motion, a member of the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees resigned last week opening another vacancy.

Submitting his resignation, effective immediately, was Dr. George E. Martin, one of only three board members whose terms of office are not due to expire.

Martin's resignation, accepted with regret by the board, was due primarily for reasons of health.

According to Trustee B. William Secord of Northville, the resignation "came as a complete and absolute surprise. I didn't learn about it until Tuesday—after he had sent copies of his resignation to Mrs. Moehle (Chairman Mrs. Jane Moehle) and Dr. Grote (College President C.

Nelson Grote), and to the paper."

Although the board did not take any action or discuss a replacement, Grote asked the attorney for legal ramifications of filling the post. The attorney's findings and the board's action on the matter are expected to be on the agenda at the next meeting on August 25.

Pending a report from the attorney, said Secord, it is entirely possible that the post may be filled by one of the two-year candidates whose names will appear on the September ballot. (Eighteen candidates are running for office, nine for two two-year terms and nine for three six-year terms.)

"I personally would prefer that the seat be filled by a two-year candidate rather than by board appointment," said Secord.

He conceded that the board "will be accused" of manipulating the resignation so that it took place after the nomination deadline but he emphasized that Martin's action was taken without any discussion with the board or administration.

It is unfortunate that Martin found it necessary to resign, said Secord, and unfortunate that the resignation came when it did. "He was an exceptionally fine member and really will be missed."

Should it be determined that a September 13 election candidate for the board cannot fill the post, the trustees presumably will have one of three other choices: to appoint someone to fill out the vacancy until the next regular election; to call for another special election to elect by popular vote a replacement; or to leave the post unfilled until the next regular election.

Martin's term is not due to expire until 1973. He was one of three members—Robert Geake of Northville and John LaRue of Livonia are the two other members—who were to remain on the board because they had been elected at-large.

Earlier this year, the Circuit Court ordered the

NEWS BRIEFS

A FEDERAL GRANT to improve statistical crime reporting and communications systems of the City of Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and Redford Township police departments has been approved, according to Livonia Police Chief Robert Turner. The grant will enable the four departments to jointly hire a systems analyst who will study the departments' reporting systems and make recommendations for improvement. The grant provides $15,000 from the federal government and calls for the cities to contribute a total of $10,000 if all participate. The study will probably take one year.

NORTHVILLE HIGH students who receive post cards regarding their fall class schedules must see a counselor on Monday, August 23, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., Principal Fred Holdsworth reports. All schedule changes must be made before classes begin September 9. Counselors will also be at the school from August 30 to September 3. New students should enroll at the high school on August 23.

STUDENTS at Schoolcraft College will be eligible to vote in the trustee election if they have registered to vote, reminds David Heinzman, Schoolcraft director of public relations. Deadline for registration is tomorrow, August 13.

TOWNSHIP AND CITY officials will meet behind closed doors Monday, August 23, to discuss contracting with the city for police protection and establishing a community police force. The meeting is not open to the public, township officials said. A public meeting is set for September 21 when the final decision will be made by the township for police protection. Options include contracting with the city, Wayne County Sheriff or building up the township police department.

FINAL REPORT from the Township Compensation Study Commission was presented to township officials Tuesday night. The commission was appointed in June to study salaries for elected township officials and make recommendations. A summary of the report will be carried in next week's Record.

Township Refuses To Endorse Study

Township officials Tuesday night declined to give their endorsement to an intensive study by the Michigan Highway Department of the effects of the I-275 expressway currently being constructed along the eastern edge of the township.

The study of a three-mile wide corridor stretching from Monroe County to Farmington Township will be financed by the federal government, state and adjacent communities of 30,000 population or more.

Trustee Bernard Baldwin voiced his objection to the request noting that "construction is going on now. The freeway is a fact."

"I feel it's almost an affront to the community for the state to now say join with us and study," Baldwin said.

Last week, city councilmen gave tacit approval to the study.

According to a spokesman for Parkins, Rogers and Associates, his firm would serve as a liaison between study personnel and the local board.

Township trustees said the township already has its own

Garden Lecturer Advises

Start Dried Flowers Now

Dried flower arrangements which are so popular as autumn home decorations should be started now, and this week is the perfect time to begin gathering cattails, mullen and other plants for fall centerpieces, according to Mrs. Artur Cox, lecturer for the Women's Farm and Garden Association.

"Later on the plants will be too ripe, overflowing with seeds once they have been dried," she explained.

Mrs. Cox spoke Tuesday to about 10 club members who have been meeting throughout the summer to study flower arranging. Tuesday they met at the home of Mrs. James VanBuren 18355 Edenderry.

It's very easy to dry and preserve flowers, Mrs. Cox said. Fresh blossoms and leaves can be preserved by mashing them so they will absorb the moisture and soaking them in a mixture that is one cup glycerin and two cups boiling water.

"Leave the stems soaking from three days to a week," she advised.

To dry flowers simply tie them together and hang them up, she said. "They can be hung anywhere, including the cool dark corners of your garage. Or you can dry them in big garbage can-type containers."

Dried artichokes make particularly charming blossoms in autumn flower bouquets, Mrs. Cox observed. "Insert a wire or the stem of an artificial flower inside the artichoke stem. Then push the petals apart gently with the back of a nail file and hang them up to dry."

Sometimes dried artichokes are sprayed with hair spray to liven them up," she suggested. Often too stark branches are sprayed dull black for a sharpened contrast. The gnarled, twisted twigs from a snowball — or Harry Lauder bush make appealing decorations.

In making an attractive arrangement Mrs. Cox repeatedly stressed the importance of choosing the proper base. "In judging at shows the container counts one third of the total project," she said.

"Use an unusual container, not something that is gaudy or expensive. Something you have in your own home like a wooden bowl, a piece of slate or bark. Be original! Originality is something everyone has. It can be developed through this type of thing."

A trough of bark filled with dried flowers and fruit makes a becoming fall cornucopia, she suggested. Unusual wine bottles can also be used for a simple dried decoration.

"I avoid using white containers except with white flowers. White containers look very heavy and detract from the flowers themselves. I would suggest using green or brown containers with dried arrangements."

When using bottles for a vase Mrs. Cox advised following the Japanese dictum for very simple design. Plants are arrayed on three levels to represent earth, sky and heaven. Flowers should follow the line of a branch and the lowest flowers should look up toward heaven.

"In making an arrangement bear in mind the rhythm, line and depth," she cautioned. "Rhythm is achieved through repetition and depth by using leaves or a large flower at the base. A good measure for height is that the highest point should equal the length plus the width plus the depth of the container."

Plan Reunion

Northville High School class of 1966 has slated its fifth anniversary gathering at Cass Benton Hill for August 28.

Persons wishing additional information are asked to call Dawn (McAllister) Buda at 455-9025, Dale (Bowen) Darnell at 349-7863, Beverly (Spiker) Riddell at 453-2882 or Kathy (George) Witt and 455-4912.

SUMMER BOUQUETS — Floral arrangements with vertical or triangular lines were created last week by members of the Farm and Garden Association. Shown inspecting the results are Mrs. James VanBuren and Mrs. Gene Cushing.

GETTING READY — Novi Little League Moms are getting an early start on preparations for October's Little League Banquet. This week they were telephoning each leaguer with a personal invitation and in weeks to come they will be busy selling tickets to the gala event. Above Mrs. Frank Korte, Mrs. Edward Olah, Mrs. Patricia Cluckey and Mrs. Albert Sensoli from left, take time for a little bit of fun by sprucing up the little league mascot and symbol.

Announce Engagements

The bride-elect is a 1971 graduate of Stevenson High School. Her fiancé is employed by Le Myers Co.

The wedding is planned for February 11, 1972.

Free Pap Tests Offered Women

All women in this area are invited to have a free Pap test at Wayne County General Hospital beginning Monday, August 23 through Thursday, August 26.

The Pap test is a simple, painless, and reliable test for cervical cancer. This type of cancer is the third most deadly form of cancer in women. It is very curable if it is detected early enough. The Pap test is the key.

Appointments for the test can be made by calling the Michigan Cancer Foundation office in Western Wayne County at 565-0020. Call any week day from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The test requires only a few minutes to do. Any follow-up necessary will be done through the woman's personal physician or the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The chairman of this Pap testing program is Dr. Tatjana Stevens of Wayne. She is a practicing obstetrician and gynecologist and the mother of two children. Dr. Stevens says, "I believe in the Pap test. Every woman should get one yearly from age 16 on up. If any abnormality is found, it will be cured."

Dr. Stevens was appointed chairman of the Pap testing program in western Wayne County by Dr. Charles L. Schneider of Dearborn, president of the Western Wayne County Unit of the Michigan Cancer Foundation. Dr. Schneider is associated with the University of Michigan School of Medicine and the Wayne County General Hospital.

The testing program is sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation, the only cancer control agency within the United Foundation.

Factory Becomes Country Home

By PRUDENCE HARTT

It doesn't exactly look like a house. Perhaps that's because it wasn't one, originally.

But what was first a barn, then a factory has become a unique and comfortable home for the William Dyke family. It is one of five which will be included in the Presbyterian Home Tour on September 23.

"Our house is one of two original barns which used to service the farmhouse now owned by Dr. and the late Mrs. R.G. Wetterstrom," Mrs. Dyke explains. "In earlier times customers from the city stopped here to buy poultry. In those days the orchards were owned by Henry Schnute, who later became the local music instructor."

More recently the barn was converted into a modern lighters factory in which small furnace heating units were made, she said. "When we moved here in 1963, the rooms had been partitioned off by the previous owner."

In keeping with the early American-type setting the Dykes have furnished their home in a colonial vein. Yet surprisingly neither Mr. nor Mrs. Dyke became very interested in antiques until after they moved to Northville.

"It was the privacy in a country atmosphere which first attracted us, Mrs. Dyke says. "We chose it because of the land and because it's fun."

Since moving however the Dykes have become actively interested in the restoration of old furnishings. Dyke himself had done nearly all of the remodeling and his wife has done the decorating. "Our house has become our main hobby," Mrs. Dyke smiles.

As a hobby, the house has undoubtedly been a rewarding creative outlet. In a charming antique setting, the Dykes have created a home that is comfortable and fun.

The first hint of the unusual is gleaned from an external view of the house. A long building, painted red, it features a staggered roof line and a second story balcony in white.

Passing through the front door one enters the main entrance hall on the first floor. A stairway to the right leads up to the living room, but the children's rooms and recreation area are on the first floor. "When we've finished remodeling they will be able to do most of their entertaining down here," Mrs. Dyke explains.

There are three bedrooms on the first floor, one for each of the Dyke children. Paula, 14, has done her room in flowered wall paper with federal blue carpeting. The room is furnished with a matching high-boy chest and dresser set of birds-eye maple which belonged to Mrs. Dyke's grandmother. "It was her wedding furniture," Mrs. Dyke says.

The room next door belonging to Karen, 17, is also done in tones of greyish federal blue. Furnishings here include a combination chest and desk of civil war period design and an oaken antique commode with a hex sign carved on the front. Warm tones of red and green are used to decorate the third bedroom, which belongs to Brian Dyke, a student at Schoolcraft college. These colors are repeated through the rest of the house, with touches of gold, black and white.

From Brian's room, follow a hall to the recreation area. Adjoining rooms separated by louvered saloon doors offer a place for dancing and ping pong and an area for lounging. Goldenrod colored paneling on the walls contrast nicely with carpeting in a deeper shade of green.

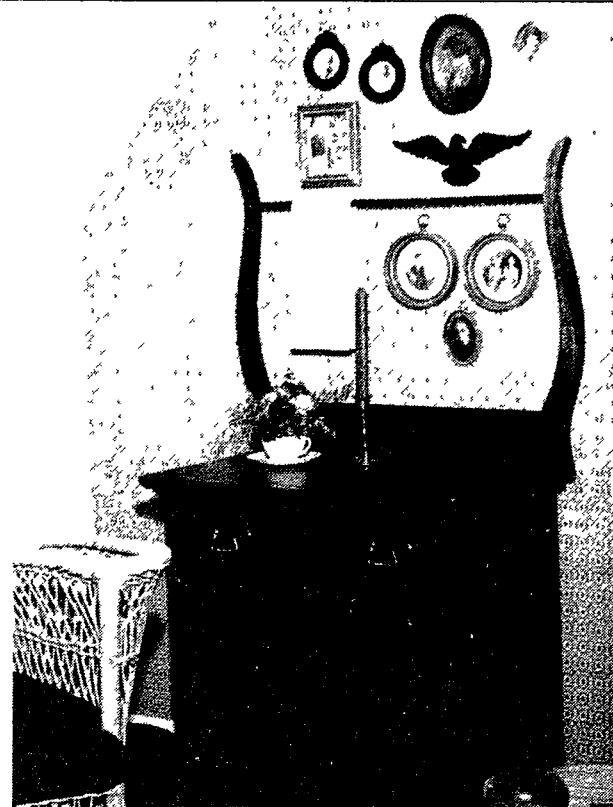

More of the same green carpeting covers the stairs leading up to the second floor of the house. There enter the living room and behold one of the most amazing features—the view. The large windows and a sliding glass door reveal miles of hilly countryside, dotted with an occasional farm house.

"Often our neighbors put their horses to run in the pastures," Mrs. Dyke remarks. "We love to sit and watch them." On the other side of the glass doors a balcony borders three sides of the house, providing more opportunities to enjoy the view.

The living room itself is lined in original barn siding and features a beamed ceiling. Dyke has restriped the pine wood floor and added a built-in wooden bookcase.

Sitting in one corner is a Victorian love seat of oak, which Mrs. Dyke discovered.

For Treatment Plant

Wixom OK's Funds

The City of Wixom will participate—to the tune of $280,000—in the enlargement of Oakland County's wastewater treatment plants.

The measure, approved Tuesday by the city council, was presented as a resolution described by City Attorney Gene Schnelz as "a standard agreement."

"You're just obligating yourselves for the money," Schnelz told councilmen, "and if you don't pay it the county will obtain it from state or federal aid, or whatever assistance is given you in the future."

Oakland County Drain Superintendent Robert Alexander explained that before plans for the enlargement could be submitted to state and federal ecological boards, or other agencies, approval of the Wixom council must be obtained.

Schnelz pointed out, and Alexander agreed, that any additional funds would also require council approval.

Later in the meeting, councilmen tabled a request from George Taylor for a lot split in the area of Loon Drive and Wren pending review by the zoning board of appeals.

The split, if granted by council would create a non-conforming use in that the parcels which would be formed would fall below the minimum prescribed for a parcel of land in Wixom ordinances, Schnelz said.

"We have a 10,400 square-foot minimum," Schnelz told Taylor, who was in the audience Tuesday night, "and your parcels only contain approximately 8,000 square feet. This council does not have the right to grant a non-conforming use."

Schnelz recommended that Taylor take his request before the board of appeals and request a variance, after which, the council need only approve it.

Taylor said he had been before the appeal board at their regular meeting Monday night and had been told to go to the city council.

Schnelz insisted that the appeal board was the proper channel and the matter was tabled pending their review.

At the same time Mayor Gilbert Willis directed the attorney to submit a legal opinion concerning the matter to the board.

In other business Tuesday night—

—Council members heard Willis assure the public that tax bills were coming "in the next few days," and that citizens would be given a 60-day grace period to pay without penalty.

Willis said the city would be "assessing 4.70 mills for sewer debt retirement and 5.76 mills for general operating levy on a factor of 1.56."

—Set public hearing dates for August 24 in matters concerned with rezoning to multiple in the area of High Gate on the Green and a change in the residential zoning ordinances which would allow a greater variety of buildings therein.

—Drafted a sister ordinance to one submitted by Hazel Park objecting to a primary held in September instead of August and sent it to the governor and state representatives.

Millage Due For Third Try

Walled Lake School District voters will take to the polling booths again Tuesday to reconsider the passage of an additional two mill package.

Polls will open at 7 a.m., close at 8 p.m.

The proposal, which has been defeated in the past two school elections, is still deemed necessary by the school board. Passage of the proposed two mills would bring an additional $412,000 into the budget for the coming school year.

"All of us have looked at all the angles," remarked Rolland Langerman, assistant superintendent of schools. "Even considering county funds to cover the new Vocational Education Center and the monies gained from the increased tax assessments felt in many areas covered by the school district, the money is still needed to carry on a sound educational program."

Areas in limbo because of the needed funds include field trips, transportation for special education children, custodial equipment, the purchase of library books and playground supervisors. Also, the employment of additional teachers to cover increased enrollment, some athletic programs, summer school, adult education and community school programs and the drug education program.

As a service to residents of the school district, "Info Phone" has been set up to handle any calls for those desiring to secure accurate information about the election or who want to confirm the authenticity of any rumors. "Info Phone"—624-6611.

The phone will be manned through the week of August 9 through 13 during the hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. On Monday, August 16, the hours will be from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. On Election Day, residents may call between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m.

'Flame' Opens; Fifth in Chain

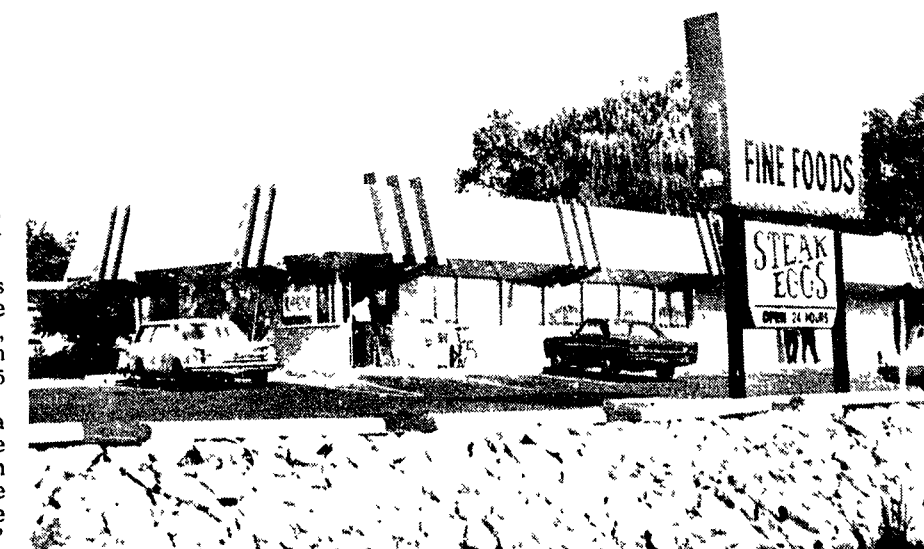

The fifth in a widening chain of southeastern Michigan restaurants, Flame Foods Incorporated, opened recently at 38170 Grand River, one-half mile east of Haggerty Road in Farmington Township.

Co-managed by brothers Dennis and Robert Eliassen Jr. the new Flame will seat 73 people. It represents a $250,000 investment.

The Eliassens are part of Robert J. Eliassen and Sons, owners of the Flame chain which has restaurants in Dearborn, Troy and Waterford.

"Flame Find Foods has been in existence only three years," explained Robert Jr., "but my family has been in the restaurant business for 35 years."

"We felt that this area needed a restaurant. There will be a development boom in this general vicinity and we look forward to serving the Northville- Novi community." The new facility will serve everything from a complete

New Council Table, Carpeting Approved

New carpeting and a new council table will decorate Novi's council chambers as the result of a split vote taken Monday night by city councilmen.

A bid was accepted from MacCauley Office Supply of Detroit for a $976 council table, capable of seating 11 people. Later, upon the recommendation of City Manager George Athas, councilmen decided to spend $747 for carpeting to put in the council chambers, hall, stairway and landing on the ground floor.

Objection to the table came from Councilman Raymond

Evans who said that when the matter had been originally discussed, the price had been in the neighborhood of $500.

"Now you're talking a whole different ballpark," Evans said. "I'd like to know what the total cost of all the improvements we plan to make adds up to before I vote."

This matter passed with Evans casting the lone negative vote.

(Councilman William O'Brien away on vacation).

When afterwards, discussion centered around purchasing new chairs, raising the floor on which the council table sits and the matter of the carpet, Evans' dissent was joined by that of Councilman Donald Young. "We need a new table in here," Young said, "but when you're talking about raising the floor and spending $2,000 for chairs I think we'd better slow down."

Councilmen voted 4-2 to lay the carpet, and they directed Athas to gather more information concerning new chairs.

Raising of the floor was abandoned.

In other business Monday night—

—Councilmen honored Olin Green for six years service as a Novi planner.

Mayor Joseph Crupi handed Green a plaque commending him for "six years of hard work."

—Accepted a bid from Glen Stewart Building Company for $2,850 in the remodeling of the DPW annex into office space.

—Postponed, until they could get a report from City Attorney Howard Bond and the Novi Detective and Narcotic Bureau, a petition from Novi Youth Assistance for office space, secretarial help and a third share of financial responsibilities.

—Put out bids for the surfacing of Buckingham Court.

—Adopted the basic housing code of the Building Officials and Code Administration (BOCA).

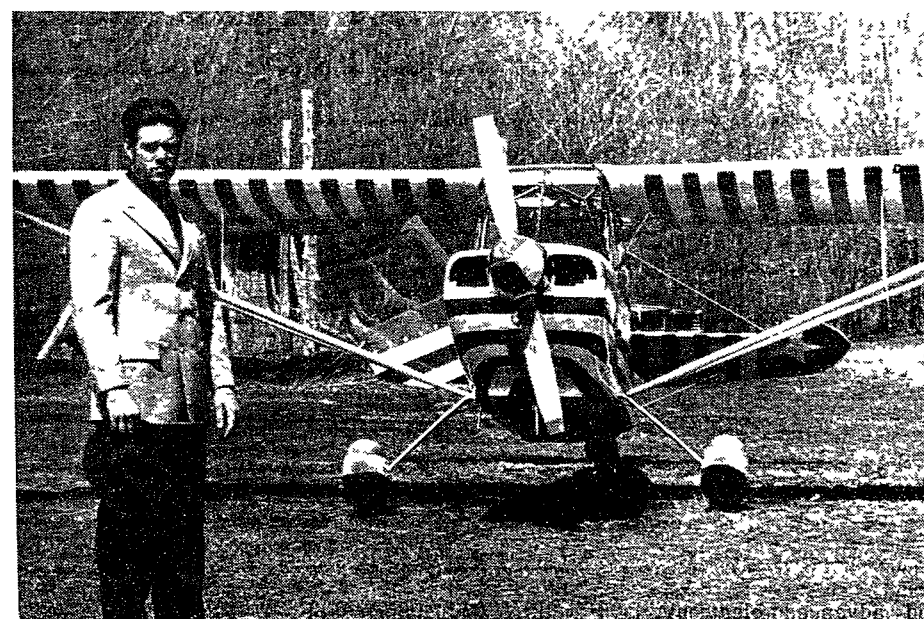

—Approved for consideration as a police officer, 23-year-old Philip Presnell.

There was some concern on the part of Mayor Crupi, that the junior Presnell would be open to charges of nepotism due to his father's chair on the city council.

Chief-of-Police Lee BeGole was on hand to testify to Presnell's experience, ability, and record of service to the city, saying also that he had fulfilled nearly all the requirements set down for new police officers.

A new man will be added to the department in December.

Board Spurs Contractor

Will Schools Be Ready?

With the first full day of school officially scheduled for September 8, school officials are pressing the contractor to complete part of the new middle school prior to first-day classes.

A special progress meeting was scheduled yesterday morning with the contractor, and school board members were prepared to threaten stop-payment.

Although the contract contains no written penalties for late completion, board members noted that the new school was contracted for completion by the opening of classes. Stop-payment, urged by Secretary Ray Warren, was seen as one good "lever" to step up completion work.

Pending outcome of Wednesday's special progress meeting, administrators were expected to reach a decision this week whether or not to tentatively begin seventh and eighth graders in the new Village Oaks Elementary School, to divide these two grades between an unfinished middle school and the high school, or to start both seventh and eighth grades in the middle school even though it will not be entirely completed.

Although Assistant Superintendent T. Richard Hendrickson favored temporary use of Village Oaks by seventh and eighth graders, this alternative was seen as least desirable by board members.

They see it as a disruption of regular elementary classes in the new school, and they noted the additional expense involved in having middle school equipment delivered to Village Oaks and later transferred back to the middle school when that building is completed.

Similarly, temporary splitting of the two grades between the middle school and the high school is seen as undesirable by some, but not all, officials.

Best alternative, officials concluded, would be the housing of both seventh and eighth graders in the middle school — provided sufficient classrooms are completed and provided utilization of these classrooms will not slow down completion of remaining construction. Hendrickson predicted that any of the temporary alternatives would be short-lived. He estimated the temporary situation would last a maximum of six weeks and a minimum of four weeks.

The assistant superintendent (Superintendent Thomas Dale was on vacation) also reported to board members Monday that completion of the new Novi sewer extension may be ready for use when school opens. However, he noted that the lead-in line to the middle school apparently has developed a leak that, unless corrected soon, could delay school use of the sewer.

Concerning the progress of Village Oaks school, Hendrickson said "good progress" is being made. "Kaufman and Broad should have water available by the 16th of August. Tile, slate, paint and cupboards as finish items are now in progress. Some items such as water checks and porcelainizing of hot water tanks are being moved up," his report noted.

He saw no reason why this school should not be completed and ready for occupancy by September 8.

Concerning a proposal made several months ago by Trustee Robert Wilkins that five murals inside Village Oaks be prepared by Novi students, rather than by a professional, board members Monday looked at some work by elementary grade youngsters and then turned the matter over to the art teachers who are directed to come up with a recommendation for each of the five murals. The board action takes the matter out of the hands of the architect and leaves the preparation of murals to the school.

In related business, the board formally adopted the 1971-72 school calendar giving a standing date of September 8 and a June 9 closing date. The complete calendar will be published in next week's Back-to-School edition of this newspaper.

According to Hendrickson, the calendar is not necessarily a negotiable item.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Weigh Bugging Device

To bug or not to bug—that's the question Novi school board members are pondering this week following a report by Trustee Robert Wilkins on an electronic listening device that could significantly cut down cost of vandalism and burglaries in school buildings.

Following Wilkins' report, the matter was referred to committee for study and recommendation.

Specifically, the system is being considered for installation at the new Village Oaks Elementary School with perhaps later installation in all other school buildings.

Cost of the system at Village Oaks has been pegged at $700, with costs at other schools to be considerably less since the central monitoring system for Village

Oaks could be used for the other buildings as well.

Wilkins reported that similar systems in other metropolitan school systems, including nearby Livonia, have resulted in big drops in cost of vandalism and burglaries in school buildings.

Basically, the system is super-sensitive listening device that will pick up even the sound of a thief sneaking about in a building in his stocking feet.

According to Wilkins, Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole has indicated a willingness to have his department monitor the device for a "nominal" monthly fee.

The $3,700 estimated cost represents school ownership of the system. Leasing arrangements are available at lesser costs but, according to Wilkins, after a period of about 4½ years a break-even point would be reached as school ownership costs diminish while leasing costs continue to climb.

The system, he explained during a demonstration, picks up sound both inside and outside of buildings.

Ideally, the system could be set up in new buildings under construction, thus reducing the cost to the school of vandalism and thefts that have plagued Novi during construction of its new elementary and middle schools.

In police time alone it would be a tremendous savings, he pointed out, since the police department has spent several hundred hours investigating the new school vandalism and theft cases.

In Service

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Michael A. Walter of 19856 Meadowbrook, was advanced to his present rate while serving aboard the San Diego based fleet tug USS Cocopa at Adak, Alaska.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class David H. Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Chambers of 6820 Farley Rd., Pickney, recently returned to Norfolk, Va. aboard the destroyer USS New after a six month deployment to the Mediterranean and Black Seas.

Daniel M. Shobotham, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Shobotham, 1345 Leon St., Walled Lake, recently was promoted to army specialist four. He is serving as a crewman with battery A, 6th Battalion of the 3D armored division's 40th Artillery near Hanau, Germany.

Army Private John R. Bowen, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bowen, 340 S. Rogers, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Kentucky.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Steven B. Kaake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn R. Kaake, 46234 Ponner Court West, recently completed recruit training at the U.S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Illinois, and is currently home spending 14 days leave visiting with his family and friends.

Seaman Kaake, a 1970 graduate of Northville High School, who also attended Schoolcraft College in Livonia, enlisted in the Navy's Advanced Electronics Program, which will give him a designated field as well as an advanced rating prior to enlistment.

Upon completion of his leave, Seaman Kaake will report to the Data Systems Technician School at Mare Island, California for basic, and advanced electronic training, all of which will encompass approximately two years.

Army Private John R. Couch, 19 whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Couch, and wife, Gail, live at 25150 Taft Road, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Kentucky.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Currant Bush Blooms Again

Following every drought there comes a breath of spring.

As proof, ask Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Schuler, 48565 West Seven Mile.

An ancient currant bush, growing in their back yard, has just sprouted a new crop of tender green leaves - for the second time this summer. Since moving to Northville in 1949, Mrs. Schuler says, they have never seen it happen before.

"Earlier this summer we picked six quarts of currants for jelly. Then the leaves fell due to the dry weather. We were completely surprised when it budded again last week," she noted.

Going, Going

cutting out something you're diet tells you to eat and you might end up gaining weight instead."

Anyway, they gave him this diet and he took it home where his girlfriend (whose mother is the Weight Watcher who encouraged him to join) began and has continued to cook her boyfriend's meals.

She's a peach of a girl, says Ron, in every way except shape. She's got a figure "that would knock your eye out."

Anybody who "could see something nice in me before when I was fat" deserves a lot of credit. There's some irony in this though. As a 300-pounder Ron was too embarrassed to ask a girl for a date. Now that he's trim and unembarrassed he doesn't ask because he already has his steady.

So he started on this diet. Determined.

He went back to the next meeting, stepped on the scales right there in plain view of the other 29 fatties, and they announced he'd lost about four pounds.

Everyone clapped and cheered. "Sounds funny but a guy (or woman) likes to be cheered. It boosts your morale and makes you want to continue."

Some clubs, says Ron, also announce weight gains and accompany it with boos. Not in Northville. They only threaten such announcements.

Ron's been averaging about three pounds of lost fat a week. Since January he never gained once. His most weight loss in a single week was seven pounds.

Losing weight like that does something to a guy's wardrobe. But as fast as Weight Watchers slim out of pants or dress they're told to get rid of them. "They don't want you to keep that fat wardrobe hanging in the closet. It's too much of a temptation... a crutch in case you fail."

Of course, says Ron, they let him keep one set of clothes so he could show them off on special occasions. (Last Wednesday night was one of those occasions. Weight Watchers tossed a party for him, made him a member of the coveted 100-Pound Club, and he proudly showed off his before and after clothes).

One of the keys to the Weight Watchers diet is the carefully weighing of food to be eaten. "If the diet says only three ounces that's all you get."

Weighing foods has its good and bad points, says Ron.

It's good because you get to weigh the food after it's cooked and after all bone and fat has been removed. "So when you get steak it's pure steak."

It's good because when Ron goes home to Mom's dinner she gives him the first lean cuts while everybody else waits.

It's bad because it takes awhile before "you're over the embarrassment of carrying scales to a friend's home where you've been invited out for dinner. And they give you a funny look when you bring your own diet pop."

Naturally, there are a few occasions when such actions are strictly taboo. "That's when you have to guess food weights, pick and choose. It's dangerous business so you don't make a habit of it."

The Weight Watchers diet calls for five fish meals a week and that, says Ron, spoils it for some people.

Nevertheless, there are so many varieties of food—fish and non-fish—and so many ways to prepare it that eating becomes fun and enjoyable, he asserts.

The Weight Watcher quickly learns, through the weekly lectures, about the various "legal" foods and the "illegal" ones. He trades recipes, enters recipe contests, and hears about all the new products.

At the store even the bachelor learns to pick and choose with the polish of a professional. Labels become essential; contents, not attractive packaging, are his requirements.

Ron probably knows more about food today than the ordinary chef. He may even know as much about cooking it as the housewife.

All this new knowledge was picked up at the lectures. It's very important and that is why, says Ron, the guy who joins Weight Watchers and goes to that first meeting just to get the diet recipes is fooling himself.

Generally speaking, male members average greater weight losses than female members, says Ron, who can't give a good reason for it. "I think it's because men are more active but women probably would not agree."

Ron's not the only success in the club. No sir. One woman member recently lost her skirt walking down a Plymouth street, he says. She just couldn't keep changing her wardrobe fast enough to keep up with her changing shape.

Weight Watchers doesn't subscribe to exercising rituals. "They don't tell you not to exercise and they don't tell you to exercise."

"I've found, because I exercise, that losing weight is harder because while you may be losing fat you may be gaining muscle. I've got a friend who joined the club after me who is losing weight faster and not exercising. But I like to exercise (he lifts weights); it makes me feel better."

Ron laughs when reporter says, "Yes, but I've tried diets and they don't help."

"Don't you think I've tried 'em, too?" he asks. "I don't think there was anything I hadn't tried before Weight Watchers. Everything from the water diet to the gram carbohydrate diet, from pills to the doctor's starvation diet."

Weight Watchers permits eating... lots of eating but of the right kinds of food, he says.

But more important the club "puts you in the right psychological frame of mind for losing fat."

Nobody really likes to be fat, he says.

While fat people may not appear to be self-conscious they nevertheless are bothered by fat, he contends. "What happens is that their personality becomes a forced one. They're either jovial and outgoing or quiet and bitter."

"Take me for instance."

"Maybe others didn't see it but being fat really bothered me emotionally. I accepted the role of being the 'big joke' around school as a way of gaining a little popularity. People laugh at you and you laugh with them... but inside you're depressed."

"After awhile you just lost all hope of ever gaining respect... and you get in a rut and get fatter and fatter."

Ron says his success is so personally thrilling that he has the urge of running up to every fat person and telling him he can be just as happy... and thin.

"Think about it," he adds, surveying the reporter. "Maybe you'd like to come to a meeting with me tonight."

ON THE LEVEL—The gym floor at Cooke Junior High got a lift this week when emergency repairs were made to raise the sinking floor so the gym can be used when school opens. Similar measures were taken in the boys' locker room where the floor also has settled and walls cracked. Presently the school district is involved in a law suit against the architect, contractors and bonding company charging fill under the floor was not properly compacted. The floor has been sinking for the past two years.

DARTE Group Aids Youths Find Jobs

The lack of summer jobs for Northville youths is being aided by the Job Placement Center, sponsored by the Community-School Action Committee for DARTE and the Northville Board of Education.

Although the applicants for jobs outnumbered employers, two Northville students who operated the placement center, Michele Rody and

Said Sarah, "In true Northville style, jobs for youths came in the form of painting, reshingling, digging pools, Sarah Barron, succeeded in placing 60 applicants."

"We contacted the PTA's, service organizations and local businesses," Michele commented, "informing them of the need to give Northville youths a chance to be actively employed this summer."

stock boys, lawn jobs, marketing, baby sitting, household chores, pet care, tutoring, secretarial services and many more."

The job center will be operating through Friday, August 13. Area residents who have a job a young person can do are asked to call 349-3400 between 12 noon and 3 p.m. Thursday and ask for the Job Placement Center.

At the DARTE committee meeting in July, members reported drug abuse curriculum guides for grades kindergarten through 12 were being prepared and all would be completed in August.

The committee also voted to initiate steps to affiliate with the Plymouth Council for Community Concerns and report on progress at the next DARTE meeting.

in a Marshall antique shop. She has refinished it, upholstered in red and green striped velvet. Also of interest is a rounded wooden rocking chair painted in black, which Mrs. Dyke says has been in her family for several generations.

In the dining room the red and green color scheme is achieved through green and white checked wall paper and a red brick tiled floor. A rectangular pine wood table with matching chairs serves 12 when necessary. Like several other pieces, it was crafted especially for the Dykes by a family friend. Pine wood shelves on the dining room walls were also created by him.

More pine wood forms handmade cupboards in the adjoining kitchen, which also features a brick-tiled floor. Antique salad plates, which Mrs. Dyke has begun collecting, border the kitchen walls.

From the kitchen tour guests will pass the bathroom (complete with antique wash stand) and enter the master bedroom. Here warm shades of red and gold augment the colonial theme. A pair of antique commodes with carved flower designs repeat the historical feeling.

Several family mementos give personal value to the antique bedroom furnishings. Old photographs of family ancestors cover one wall. Mrs. Dyke's Shirley Temple doll sits nestled in the corner of a wicker rocking chair "which has been in the family for years." And a little cedar chest, given to her as a child by her father, sits atop a commode.

This room, like all the others, exudes colonial charm in the midst of a comfortable setting. The feeling of harmony and fun reflects the life style of an active family with a taste for the unusual. Now others will view their "hobby" during the annual homes tour.

He'll Study Computers

Ward L. Hummel of 112 East Main Street, has been admitted to the computer sciences education program of the Honeywell Institute of Information Sciences. He will receive intensive training in the fundamentals of computer programming and systems analysis at the Institute's Southfield campus.

The course is comprised of 480 hours of case studies, lectures and laboratory work with computers in five months of classes with instructors who have considerable experience in the computer field as well as in education.

Hummel is employed as a spotter at Freydl Men's Wear. He was graduated from Northville High School in 1964.

After completing the Honeywell course, he plans to pursue a career in computer programming.

Fair's A Success

Northville's second annual fair was pronounced a success by the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce.

The three-day event last Friday, Saturday and Sunday attracted approximately 35,000 men, women and children who enjoyed games of chance, rides, skydiving, a wild west rodeo and the daredevil "Hell Drivers".

Only one of the 23 local charitable organizations operating game booths lost money. For some reason that Chamber officials couldn't explain, the teenage Cavern organization came out $95 in the hole. But the Chamber will pick up half this loss, Chairman Gerald Stone announced.

Profits for the other operators ran as high as $443.72, which was the total collected by the American Legion. The average profit per operator was $200.

Although it must still figure out its expenses for the operation of the event, the Chamber should realize a profit of at least $3,000. All receipts were carefully itemized by N. C. Schrader, Jr., who worked with Stone in planning and staging the community event.

"We've still got clean-up people, advertising, tent rental and other expenses to pay", Schrader noted. But he said that profits on the rodeo, Hell Drivers and rides were excellent compared to last year.

Both Stone and Schrader met Monday night with representatives of local organizations sponsoring booths and completed financial settlements.

"We're grateful for the cooperation of all groups and especially Northville Downs for contributing the use of its facility," Stone noted.

He also expressed appreciation for the work performed by Chamber members Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Long, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Long, Fred McLain, John Carlo, Margaret Zayti, Dave Biery and Art Jahn.

But according to Schrader, the man who deserved most credit for staging, promoting and arranging the fair is Jerry Stone.

"He did just about everything, including making sure that every booth was set up properly so that organizations had nothing to do but operate them," Schrader noted. He lamented the fact that despite these efforts there were still complaints.

"But maybe we can do better next year. We're learning," Schrader added.

Link U-M With Crater On Moon

At times, the athletic feats of The University of Michigan's Wolverines have been called "out of this world." Now a crater on the moon has been named after them to prove it.

During one of their moon walks, Apollo 15 astronauts Col. David R. Scott and Lt. Col. James B. Irwin encountered a 200-foot deep crater. Unable to find the crater on their moon map, they dubbed it "Wolverine," after the athletic teams of their alma mater.

All three Apollo 15 astronauts attended the U-M. Command module pilot Maj. Alfred Worden earned master's degrees in astronautical-aeronautical engineering and instrumentation engineering in 1963 from the U-M department of aerospace engineering. Irwin, a 1957 graduate of the same department, received master's degrees in astronautical engineering and instrumentation engineering. Scott spent his freshman year (1949-50) at the U-M before attending the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Naming the new crater "Wolverine" isn't the only thing the astronauts have done to give the flight of Apollo 15 a Michigan flavor. Accompanying them aboard the command ship "Endeavor" are three mementos of the U-M: the charter of the first extraterrestrial alumni club, a miniature of the University flag and a miniature of the seal of the U-M department of aerospace engineering.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A story in the current issue of Nation's Business paints a very bleak picture. It's entitled:

"Taxes: Still Headed in the Same Direction".

Don't read it. You'll want to run away and hide.

The article ends on this bright note:

"It wasn't until 1956, 180 years after the founding of the nation, that total federal, state and local tax revenues reached $100 billion. But in only 11 more years, they passed $200 billion.

"Estimates are that the $300 billion level will be reached this year."

I'm always amazed by the fact that nearly every elected official who discussed government expenditures emphasizes the absolute necessity for reducing spending.

Yet astronomical government budgets continue to win approval, many times without supportive revenue programs.

Officials at every level...township, city, school, state and federal...deplore the ever-increasing tax levies. And I think they do so with deep conviction and sincerity.

Republican House Leader Clifford Smart told me in Lansing just days before approving the state income tax hike that he was totally opposed to the excessive annual increases in the state budget.

But he supported the package.

Ask Northville Mayor A.M. Allen what he thinks about local property taxes.

Or I wonder what Wixom's Mayor Gilbert Willis has to say about this year's equalization factor that jumped from 1.21 to 1.56, a whopping 35 percent increase even without a millage hike?

And how many times has Northville Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg argued that property valuations are too high in the township?

What's wrong?

If the people elected to manage government can't control spending, who can?

Nobody, my friends. It's the system, not the people. The treadmill has only one gear — full forward. There's no "stop" or "reverse" levers. There never will be.

So what's the answer?

Obviously, we must change the system. And the answer to how this can be done came to me in a flash this morning.

Seeking lighter reading following the Nation's Business article I munched my breakfast over the Free Press.

The old "Back Page" columnist, Judd Arnett, was lamenting the fact that sports are the opiate of the masses.

How true. A smart quarterback with a strong arm is worth three surgeons with steady hands. How many thousands watch the Lions battle the Packers on TV? And, as Judd pointed out, undoubtedly thousands of grown men witnessed the Sunday "slo-pitch" spectacular brought to viewers by the golden voices of Van Patrick and J.P. McCarthy.

It's obvious. The tax people have their values reversed.

Who wants to give more money for teacher salary hikes, or 22 kids to the classroom? How big a line do you think you would attract to pay for social security benefits or medicare?

But what if the government took over all the nation's amusements?

Big league baseball, football, horse racing, the professional golf tour. And the production of booze, television soap operas, variety shows and sports' spectaculars.

You want to watch Arnie Palmer hit a two iron 250 yards within five feet of the pin, you pay a tax for it. And if you want to enjoy a cold beer while you're relaxing in front of the tube, you pay the government.

Now who wants to be deprived of his fun and relaxation?

Let's face it. We're quite willing to pay the price necessary to support a $100,000-a-year salary for a 25-game winner. But clean water, remedial reading, cancer research, paved streets, police protection and fat salaries for school administrators and teachers?

So why not a Fun Tax?

At least we'll go broke with smiles on our faces.

'Sorry, Mr. Ford, I Did My Best'

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"When our officers saw the man's toes sticking out of the end of his shoes...well, that was the clincher."

Switching a wad of his favorite tobacco to his other cheek, Detective Gordon Nelson gave me one of his artificial grins and continued:

"I mean, just how many guys do you know who are going to go driving around in a big new car like that wearing air-conditioned clods?"

"At 2 in the morning?"

"Draining gas pump hoses?"

Not many, to be sure, I agreed, overwhelmed by the evidence but more impressed by what certainly must be the most bizarre sneak preview of a 1972 model car.

Those devils in public relations don't miss a trick, I thought, recalling a time not so long ago when I played a role in giving birth to a spanking new model truck inside the posh Academy stables in Bloomfield Hills.

But this, assured the Novi detective, was no gimmick dreamed up by PR.

No sir. This was for real. And that "ginger moon dust metallic" beauty sittin' there in the headquarters parking lot was a 1972 four-door Lincoln Continental and it was confiscated police property.

Imagine! A '72 Continental bound for the Chicago dealer show unveiling on August 20 and it was sittin' out there in plain view of my camera.

Oh, some heads are gonna roll.

In all due respect, Mr. Ford, I did my darndest to give it the old PR look. But the pretty mini-skirted police dispatcher wouldn't cooperate when I asked her to strike a seductive pose on the hood. And, golly, there weren't any leopards around to press into service.

DETECTIVE NELSON SHOTS RUN AWAY 'MOONDUST'

But let's get back to Detective Nelson and his Case of the Mysterious Moondust Heist.

Police spotted Moondust coasting in moonlight through an otherwise darkened gas station at Novi and 10 Mile roads. Its windows were stickered full of chalk marks and papers and its single occupant wasn't dressed in the standard white coveralls of a Ford test driver.

"Naturally, our guys were suspicious," said Nelson.

Naturally.

He was a veteran driver for the E&L Transport Company, he insisted, and he was transporting the car from Dearborn to Wixom.

Since Continentals are manufactured in Wixom, it was a strange direction for the new car, thought policemen, who found it even stranger that a professional driver shouldn't have a driver's license.

And when he crawled out of the richly upholstered interior, police found it incredulous that he should be wearing shoes with toes sticking out the front.

That's when Nelson took the case.

Naturally, the detective figured it would be pretty easy to retrace the route of this super-secret car destined for the Chicago show.

Not so.

The Wixom plant didn't know it was missing, nor did the C&O Railroad yard where it had been routed, nor did the nextdoor E&L yard which had accepted it from C&O.

And nobody — excepting a few jails around the country — knew Richard A. Fisher, the driver who was running low on gas (he didn't say what mileage he was getting) and who hoped to drain a few drops

MARI EGBERT

YES...

After many long hours of debate and discussion in our federal and state legislatures, it was finally agreed upon that the 18-year-old of today is felt to be fully capable of assuming adulthood responsibilities. Those responsibilities which formerly belonged to those over 21.

But run for a public office. Yes, this is one of those new freedoms granted the 18-year-old.

I believe there are many very intelligent and responsible young people. An 18-year-old who is willing to accept the challenge of running for a public office should be encouraged to do so. If he feels he is capable, then he must prove to the public he deserves that particular office.

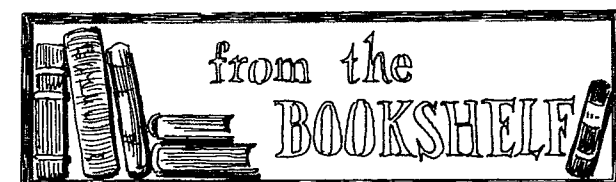

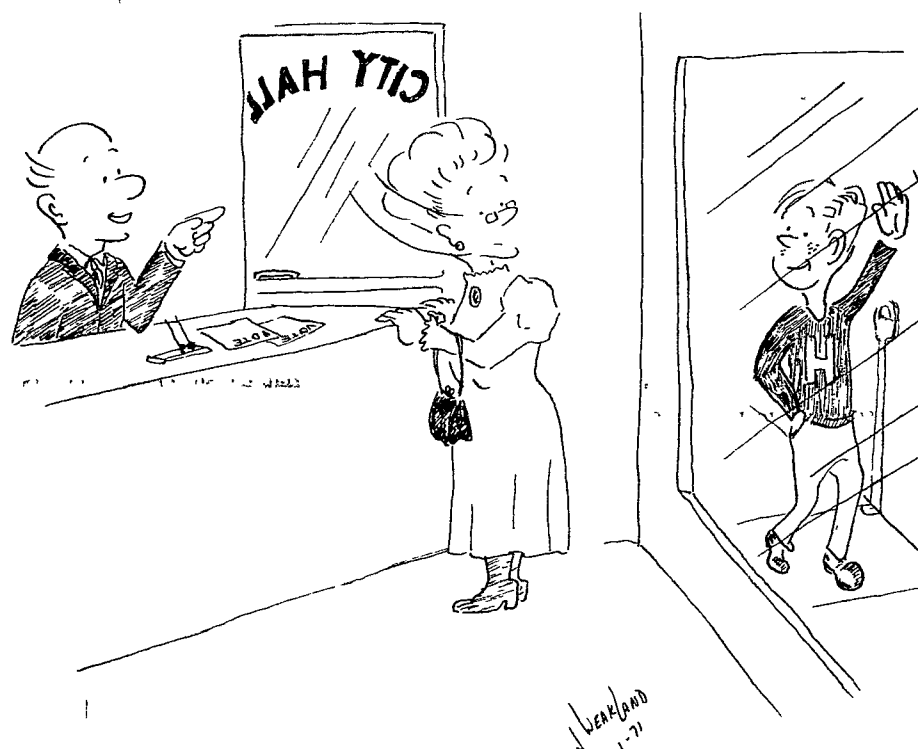

Why not look at the 18-year-old as a public minded citizen, an adult willing to serve his community, a young person working within the system to do it?

Let us judge him as an individual, a person. Let us judge his ideas, plans and goals. And if he lives up to our expectations of a leader, then why not?

Police Blotter

Thefts Plague Area

In Northville...

A city police car was damaged Sunday night when a rock, hurled by a group of youths, was attempting to disperse, narrowly missed a police officer and struck the car door.

Police reported the incident took place at the rear of the Northville Downs parking lot. The youths, who police said were from Northville and Plymouth, were disbanded by police at several locations throughout the city during the night.

Officers reported the same groups had been in Plymouth Saturday night causing trouble.

Four bicycles were stolen over the weekend. Missing are a boy's blue bike with black tape on the handle bars and a 20-inch dark blue Sting Ray with a white seat and high rise handle bars.

Also stolen were a 26-inch gold 10-speed Western Flyer with a brown leather seat and a boy's 24-inch blue bike.

A 15-year-old Northville youth told police he was attacked and beaten by three white males around 10 p.m. on August 3.

The youth said the three jumped him from behind on Allen Drive near Canterbury. They fled in a late model dark green Ford station wagon. The 15-year-old suffered cuts and bruises from the attack, police reported.

A black and white television set valued at $135 was taken from 374 South Wing Street on August 4 between 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Investigating officers said they could find no signs of forced entry.

Noder's Jewelry reported an awning, valued at $165 when new, was slashed with a knife between July 31 and August 2.

Christopher Keyes, 21, formerly of Northville (brother of the late Jack Keyes) was one of 93 persons arrested early Saturday in a drug raid conducted by Livonia police.

Keyes, who rented the house on Middle Belt Road where the raid was staged, has been charged with maintaining a disorderly house.

He was transferred to Wayne County Jail after being arraigned on a warrant held by police for felonious assault. Police said the charge did not stem from the raid Saturday.

Keyes is being held in lieu of $8,000 bond. Police said no court dates have been set yet.

COURTNEWS

A 19-year-old Detroit girl, Michelle M. Steffen, was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court Thursday after she waived examination in 35th District Court on charges of uttering and publishing.

The charges stemmed from July 29 when she cashed a forged check at Northville Downs. She was arrested by city police.

Miss Steffen, who is free on $5,000 bond will appear for arraignment in circuit court on August 23.

In district court on August 3, two men were each fined $79 and placed on one year probation after they pled guilty to added counts of driving while ability impaired.

They are Kenneth C. Scheible of Warren and Burney Crick of Taylor. Original charges of driving under the influence of alcohol were dismissed against both men.

Scheible was arrested by city police July 14 and Crick on May 9.

Fire persons, arrested by city police between June 28 and July 23 on charges of drunkenness, were sentenced Tuesday in district court.

Those who pled guilty to the charges were Charlotte E. Pack, Ronald K. Rupard, both of Detroit, who were each fined $54; Clarence E. Robinson of Lincoln Park, fined $39 and placed on six months probation; and Michael Byrnes of Livonia, fined $29.

A Detroit man, Donald C. Reed, was found guilty of drunkenness and placed on two days voluntary work detail and ordered to pay $24 supervisory costs.

Following a pre-sentence investigation, John B. Lytle of Livonia was placed on four days voluntary work detail and ordered to pay $48 supervisory costs.

He was arrested May 26 by township police on charges of simple larceny.

A Plymouth woman, Diane L. Deidrick, was fined $39 after she pled guilty to failing to yield to oncoming traffic. Mrs. Deidrick was ticketed by city police July 20 following an injury accident on Eight Mile near Taft.

On July 27, Jose A. M. Rodriguez, no permanent address, was fined $39 after he pled guilty to charges of drunkenness. He was arrested by city police July 17.

Missing are two western saddles, three bridles, two saddle pads and two holsters, according to township police reports.

The theft was discovered Saturday.

Township police investigated an attempted break-in at 18347 Jamestown Circle last Thursday.

According to reports, a hole had been cut in the screen door but no entrance was gained. The break-in was attempted during daylight hours, police said.

In Novi...

Several area burglaries may have been the work of two local teenagers, Novi Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner has revealed.

Arraigned on charges of B&E before Judge Martin Boyle of the 52nd District Court this past week were David Lutz, 17, of 23856 Forest Park in Echo Valley, and Bruce Simmons, Jr., 17, of 46280 West 10 Mile.

Lutz was remanded to Oakland County Jail in lieu of a $2,500 cash bond and Simmons was released on a $2,500 personal bond.

Both are due to appear Monday for preliminary examination on the charges.

A third youth, Joseph Dinsler, 17, of 23736 Forest Park pled guilty before Boyle Tuesday to possession of stolen property, and was scheduled for sentencing September 17.

Lutz and Simmons were arrested last week for the burglary of Timberland Lumber, 42780 Ten Mile Road, on July 30. Police believe the pair were using stolen property to trade or purchase of marijuana and/or other narcotics. Some of the stolen merchandise, including a small handgun has been recovered.

Meanwhile, police in three other municipalities — Northville, City of Farmington, and Farmington Township — are questioning the trio about burglaries in those communities. At least one store owner has identified some of the recovered merchandise.

Faulkner said the youths may have become even more deeply involved in the thefts had it not been for one of the parents who alerted police about a drug use suspicion.

To by-pass a burglary alarm system, the thieves gained entrance through a Timberland garage window, crawled up through 30-feet high rafters to the roof, ripped a hole through the ceiling dropped to the office floor.

An attempt to steal a half-ton safe went awry after the burglars had wheeled it into a loading area. While trying to hoist it up along a skid into a truck, using another truck as a lever, the safe toppled to the ground.

They then entered the store portion of the business place, police said, and took an estimated $500 worth of merchandise.

William M. Thomas, 50, of Wayland was found dead early Sunday morning in his car parked at Herb's Standard, Grand River and Novi Road.

Police suspect death by natural causes but are awaiting the results of an autopsy.

Found sleeping in his car early Friday morning on Beck Road south of Grand River, Thomas could not produce a license or registration was taken to the Novi Police station while his car, was towed to Herb's.

Having no means of transportation, Thomas was allowed to call relatives in Wayland, 12 miles south of Grand Rapids, who reportedly arranged to pick him up.

He left the station, according to reports, approximately 1 a.m. Friday, to spend the night in his car.

He was found Sunday morning at 9:30 in a sleeping position in the rear seat.

Police reports indicate medicine found in a suitcase Thomas was carrying would have been taken by a man with heart trouble.

In a late report, $795 worth of saddles and riding equipment were reported stolen by Doctor M. C. Worster of the Haverhill Riding Stable, 40965 14 Mile.

The theft took place approximately July 28, according to police, but for a time it thought that the stolen articles might be on loan.

Among the missing items is a saddle worth approximately $495 according to police.

The tack room where the equipment was stored is locked during the evening, according to reports.

Les Haworth, 1807 East Lake Drive, was missing a three horsepower motor from his boat docked in front of his home early last week.

Haworth told police that the $104 motor was taken between 9 p.m. Sunday and 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Four tires with rims were stolen from Watkins Garage, 57564 Pontiac Trail, sometime between Thursday and Friday, police report.

The value of the tires is undetermined at this time, according to police.

A screen door was broken at the residence of Hubert Styrk, 1426 Wren, between 6:20 a.m. and 4:20 p.m. Friday, police report, and some change, along with a small amount of whiskey stolen.

A Detroit man, James Ray Steele, reported Tuesday the theft of a $70 spare tire and rim from the trunk of his car as it was parked in the Ford Motor Company lot.

Reports indicate that Steele's trunk had been pried open and the tire stolen.

A Florida woman, Bonnetta Lukacher of Fort Lauderdale, reported the theft of four hubcaps from her Buick while it was parked in the driveway at 1015 North Wixom Road overnight.

Loss was estimated at $70 according to police reports.

Rap Line To Begin In Novi

A community rap line designed to aid young people in a crisis situation is being established for Novi area teenagers. The telephone service was formed through the auspices of the local drug abuse committee.

After extensive research members of a parent-teen panel held two meetings last week to set up guidelines and screening for the yet unnamed service.

The service is designed for young people and is conceived as a crisis intervention resource where an understanding, sympathetic yet objective listener would be as immediately available as the nearest phone.

The listener, officials explain, does not play the role of a professionally trained authority but of an interested person who has human regard for the world of people and respect for them as individuals.

The program has been initiated in attempt to meet several goals. First the committee hopes to offer immediate assistance to individuals in crisis situations between 8 p.m. and 2 p.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

They aim for increased understanding of problems faced by young people and to explore the need for additional community resources, based on problems of the young.

Friendly listeners will begin training by September, officials report. The service is slated to become operative by November 1.

There will be a future community meeting for all persons interested in participating in this program. Please watch for the time and date in this newspaper and in ads throughout Novi.

For information concerning the service training or volunteering please feel free to drop in at the drug abuse booth at Gala Days, August 20-22.

Hanson is a graduate of Greenhills High School, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Chief Samuel Elkins said the new officers may be assigned to the traffic division or men who presently on the force may be transferred to the division.

Sergeant David LaFond, under the supervision of Chief Elkins, is handling the hiring of the new officers.

Presently, the 17 men still eligible for the positions are being fingerprinted with the prints sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation to be checked.

Chief Elkins explained that arrest and driving records of all candidates will also be obtained.

"If a man has an arrest record or a bad driving record, he must be eliminated from consideration," he said.

Following the investigation of the candidates' backgrounds, those men remaining will appear before an oral board of review.

Sergeant LaFond said the department hopes to have the new patrolmen hired in early September and enrolled in a six-week intensive course in law enforcement. The new officers will begin working on the city force in late October.

It was just a homeless, super-secret Continental with a six-way power seat, tilt steering wheel, automatic speed control and dark brown vinyl top that somehow had disappeared enroute to its Chicago unveiling.

Because Moondust's key chain included the keys to a recently stolen truck from a dealership across the street from the state police headquarters at Redford, Nelson has this strong suspicion that maybe Fisher is part of an inter-state car

Naturally.

But there's a hitch. Fisher made one phone call before taking up room and board in the Oakland County Cooler. It was an unexplained call to an FBI agent in Toledo.

Oh, the heads are gonna roll.

Meanwhile, the Chicago dealer show may be in for a disappointment.

Novi policemen have fallen in love with Moondust and they'd like nothing better than to have it join the department's motor pool.

Oh, the heads are gonna roll.

Bubble Gum for the Winners

By NANCY DINGELDEY

There was a praying mantis, a soft-shelled turtle, a guppy and a baby catfish. A small snake, assortment of dogs and a couple of cats, a bunch of kids and an afternoon for a pet show—all under the direction of Parks & Recreation summer recreation program.

The dogs were nervous, the cats up trees, the praying mantis I never did see and the snake dove for cover in his cage. Ribbons, suckers and bubble gum went to the winners. Kim Flanagan won the most unusual category with her soft-shelled turtle, the most colorful small animal went to Amy Hinton's guppy, and David Menzel's snake was rated greatest of all the small animals.

I was rather happy when they got to the dogs. snakes give me the shivers. In all the commotion, Todd Green's dog "Shiela", a German Shepherd gained the ribbon for best trained. I'm wondering if she ever did give him that kiss. The cutest dog prize went to "Tom" who was shown by Dorrie (or was it Laurie?) Evans. A darling white poodle—fresh from a no-tears shampoo.

Our big old Boxer "Shana" shown by Michael, was voted the best groomed—I think it was the cats strolling around that kept her on her toes.

A darling, fluffy grey kitten, "Muffy", shown by Julie Pierce won the cutest cat event and "T.C.", looking just like a sleek black panther, and shown by Pam Baron won the best looking edition of the contest. Slated for this, the last week of the summer recreation program, is a masquerade party with prizes being given for the "grooviest" costumes.

The golf lessons offered to the older youngsters brought out a pretty good crowd but tennis didn't catch on as well as anticipated.

All in all, the program was a step in the right direction. Most kids seemed to enjoy going and the interest seems to be there. From my side of the fence, I think it was great and would urge most heartily that it be contemplated again next year.

"Boy, you don't know much about boats do YOU?"—guess not! I have been told there isn't any way to get a hole in a bilge I was told to try "hull" Okay, Ralph Armstrong—Go get a hole in your hull. Not that it makes any difference to me—a hole anywhere down there would cause havoc!

Dorothy Thompson, librarian at Wixom School, is scrounging around for an old vacuum cleaner. Anyone who is about ready to toss out an old, but usable vacuum, toss it Dorothy's way. The rug in the school library collects a lot of sand and soil and that old vacuum would surely come in handy. She'd really appreciate it.

Our sympathies to Val and Jack Vangieson and Bus Marshall and their families on the death of their father, Charles Vangieson. He must have been quite a man.

Reston, and Columbia, Maryland and Philadelphia were among the cities visited by Ray and Doug Lahti for six days last week. Doug will be entering the U of M this fall doing graduate work in Urban Planning, so for him it was a "fact finding" excursion.

Reston and Columbia are the original "new towns" and are located half-way between Washington, DC and Baltimore, Maryland. Both communities were completely planned from "scratch" and include shopping centers, industrial areas, recreational areas and a variety of residential areas. That construction included town houses and multiples as well as single dwelling units.

Columbia will have a total population in 1980 on its completion of 100,000. The area encompasses five villages each with its own small shopping center and swimming pools. Within easy reach of each "village" is a lake which allows only rowboats, canoes or sailboats. Swimming is confined to the pools.

They also made stops at Greenbelt, Maryland formed during the "New Deal" and Radburn, New Jersey formulated in the 1920's. Both are "old" but well kept, surprisingly pleasant as communities and have many features that are still used in today's planning. Everything was planned to be within walking distance with no major traffic areas to cross so there is no competition between pedestrians and bikes or autos.

Philadelphia, of course, has been going through the pains of urban renewal. The residential areas, within walking distance of Independence Square, have been refurbished and the flavor of the area is colorful and quaint and very comfortable.

One other stop was made in Vienna, Virginia where Doug and Ray spent a long evening with an old family friend, Ray Carlson, Carlson, who was best man in the Lahti wedding is now an executive vice president of the International Monetary Fund.

Visitors this week in Wixom included the Byron Bernard family from Midland and daughter Karen. They were in spending some time with Lillian Spencer.

And keeping Evelyn and Ozzie Simmons on an even keel during wedding preparations for daughter Ellen is Ev's mother, Mrs. Mamie Cheek from Roanoke, Virginia. The wedding sounds fantastic—it's to be held outside on the shores of a lake surrounded by stately pines and birch trees—near the Pinnacles ski area outside of Gaylord.

The bride will be wearing an ecru "old fashioned" gown and all will carry nosegays of wild and dry flowers fashioned by an aunt. The reception will be held in a huge lodge on the grounds owned by close friends of the Simmons. It all sounds too beautiful!

Marge Preston had a shower for Ellen on Monday night at her home on Bogie Drive. Close friends and relatives gathered for the miscellaneous party followed by a salad and dessert buffet. Also feted at a shower over the weekend was Dominique Salo honoring the coming first child of Don and Neal and the first grandchild for Elma and Paul Salo. Hostesses were Marty Garrells and Ann Louise Mann—and the lucky little tyke made out like a bandit!

Joanna and Charlie Ware were called to the East for the funeral of a nephew. While there, Joanna said there was so much rain that people were rowing boats down the streets in Linden, New Jersey. These rain clouds just keep passing us over.

board to call for a special election of the board so that all members—not just three—are elected on an at-large basis in conformance with the "one-man, one vote" principle. Since the board had already planned a special election on September 13 for a millage issue, board candidacy also was added following the court ruling.

None of the current trustees, whose posts are up for election September 13, chose to seek re-election. Thus, an almost completely new board is in the offing. And now, with the resignation of Martin, it could mean that six of the eight trustees will be new members.

Students See EMU Campus

Groups of high school students who expect to enroll as freshmen at Eastern Michigan University in September attended one-day orientation programs on the campus last week.

Among those attending from this area were James Downing, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Downing of 8292 West Seven Mile and Catherine Yee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Yee of 53963 Nine Mile.

During their visit, they received individual and small group counseling and registered for the fall semester. A campus tour, an opportunity to meet other freshmen in residence hall surroundings and 24 hours to become acquainted with campus routines were other parts of the program.

Pumas Slip to Second

Colts Recapture Lead

The Pumas position atop the Northville Knottball League was a short-lived one as the Colts won two of three contests last week to recapture the lead going into the final week of play.

Splitting its two games last week, the Pumas slipped two second place with a record of 9-3, one more less than the first place Colts.

In third place with a narrow margin over the VFW Rams but still with life enough to crack the top spot was Choo-Choo Car Wash at 8-2.

The Colts, who had lost their first-place standing two weeks ago by a half-game, bounced back by defeating the Tigers, 15-3, and the Panthers, 4-3, while losing a 4-3 squeaker to the Lions.

The Pumas bombed the Blazers, 8-2, but fell to the Chiefs, 9-8.

In winning easily over the Tigers, the Colts unleashed a barrage of 20 singles and doubles. It was a different story two days later when the Colts had to come from behind in the last inning to edge the Panthers.

And as the week closed, the Colts had lost all of its batting strength as Lion hurler Mike Ward fired a three-hitter to clinch the upset for his fifth place nine.

Meanwhile, the Chiefs edged the Pumas on Thursday with the help of a five-run rally in the sixth that rushed the game into extra innings. In the seventh a single by Mat Koenig drove in the winning run.

Bouncing back on Friday, the Pumas bombed the Blazers to keep a grip on second place.

Allan Scarlett hurled a one-hitter for the Pumas and aided his cause with a double and a single, teammate Dave Herbel belted a triple and a double, while Jim Herbel picked up a pair of singles.

Both the Lions and the Chiefs ran wild over the cellar dwelling Cougars last week in 10-1 (Lions) and 24-6 (Chiefs) victories.

Hurler Mike Ward blasted a pair of triples in the Lion game Tuesday and Richard Pattison socked a grand slam homer for the Chiefs Monday.

In that Chief game, Cougar Scott Herrington clubbed a two-run four bagger.

The Tigers handed the Cougars a third loss Friday, this one a 10-0 shut-out worked by Conrad Newman and relief man Curt Exelby.

The Tigers bombed the Bears earlier in the week 16-5 as Doug Miller and Kirk Turpevitch each came up with home runs.

Ram hurler Carl Kohs pitched a two-hitter to take credit for a 17-1 victory over the Blazers.

Steve Norton connected for both of those hits, a single and a triple.

With final games coming up this week, and a playoff scheduled for next week, the league looked like this Friday:

Two Teams Square Off In 'Lakes

The race for the Walled Lake industrial softball crown narrowed last week as Lawson's Manufacturing and Brandenburg Construction knocked over Walled Lake Building Maintenance and the Walled Lake Oldtimers with back-to-back games.

Lawson's delivered knockout punches to Walled Lake Building Maintenance last week Monday and Tuesday 11-9 and 15-10.

Brandenburg dealt two defeats to the Walled Lake Oldtimers, 11-4 and 8-7.

Dutch Brandenburg went to the mound in Monday's 11-4 contest with the Oldtimers while Tuesday's victory was engineered by Jerry Wilson.

In both games Buddy Williams belted a home run for Brandenburg.

The two squads were slated for a showdown early this week in a best-of-three series.

Local Youths Place Third

Four Northville youths brought home third place in the 200-yard shuttle relay race at Metropolitan Youth Fitness Day Thursday, July 29 at Belleville's Lower Huron Park.

Denise MacDermaid, Kurt Stevens, Barb Jones and Blair Robinson were the stars of the Northville roster as 20 local athletes competed against 2000 from more than 65 different cities in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Slo-Pitch Playoffs Start Here Friday

The race for Northville's Men's Slo-Pitch crown went into its final week this week as teams aimed toward playoffs slated for Friday.

During preliminary contests, held last week, the action shaped up like this:

FRIDAY, AUGUST 6

Ford Valve Plant bombed St. Clair Advertising, 11-5, in the first game. Winner's Circle held South Lyon Jaycees to two runs to claim 14-2 victory. Newcomer's Club upset O.L.V. Men's Club in a razor thin 11-10 thriller.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 5

Northville Drug-Casterline demolished Green

Ridge-Palace-Gambles, 19-4, as a homer by shortstop Vern Brown in the ninth inning paced Casterline batsmen. Exotic Rubber and Plastic buried V.F.W. under a 26-6 avalanche sparked by a 16-run, fourth-inning rally. Joe Corcoran belted two and three-run homers for the Plastic in that game.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 10

Northville Jaycees did in Novi Inn, 18-12, as Northville Lumber beat Northville Downs, 8-4, and O.L.V. Men's Club upset V.F.W., 10-9.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 9

St. Clair Advertising whipped Northville Jaycees, 12-11 Bill Phillips tallied the winning run.

South Lyon Jaycees edged Northville Drug, 18-17, with the help of a three-run homer blast in the last inning by hurler Barry Holmes.

Newcomer's Club upset Exotic Rubber and Plastic, 7-6.

MONDAY, AUGUST 8

Northville Downs bombed Plymouth State Home, 11-5, despite a first inning three-run homer by Plymouth centerfielder John Slezak.

Ford Valve Plant upset Novi Inn, 8-7.

Winner's Circle beat Green Ridge, 12-5 as Marv Fordor and Ron Nickrand blasted

Mets Win; Athletics Keep Pace

The Mets retained an undefeated record last week as Carl Pawlowski hurled an 8-0 shut-out against the Giants in Northville's knothole hardball league.

Close behind, with only one loss against them, were the Athletics who worked another 8-0 shut-out over the Pirates.

Hurler John Wizzard claimed the Athletics victory, while Alan Peters helped out with a home run.

Both squads boasted eight wins in league action which was slated to close this week.

Closest race involved the Twins who were tied with the Giants for third place — each with a 6-2 record.

The Twin nine plastered the Astros last week with a 22-0 shut-out as Paul Knapp took to the mound and fired a dozen consecutive strike-outs during the last four innings.

In other knothole action the Wolverines picked up a 7-3 victory over the Orioles.

Frank Helms engineered the victory, fanning 13 men while Cliff Griggs ripped a double to pace Wolverine batsmen.

Forfeit victories came to the Twins from the Angels, the Angels and Padres from the Dodgers, the Padres from the Orioles, and the Indians and Astros from the Yankees.

All-in-all, the league shaped up like this at the end of last week:

	W	L
Thompson-Brown Realtors Mets	8	0
Township Police Athletics	8	1
V.F.W. Post 4012 Giants	6	2
Del's Shoes Twins	6	2
Hyatt Construction Co. Wolverines	4	4
Casterline Indians	4	4
Asher "78" Angels	4	5
Northville Police Department Padres	3	5
Northville Record Dodgers	3	7
Thompson-Brown Realtors Orioles	2	6
John Mach Ford Yankees	2	7
Northville Optimist Pirates	2	7
Northville Realty Astros	2	8

Dog Show Set

A childrens dog show sponsored by the Novi Heights Association will be held during Novi Gala Days celebration. The show is set for Sunday, August 22 at 2 p.m., held at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook Road.

To be entered dogs must be licensed, on a leash and handled by children. The show is not open to professionals, and dogs do not have to be registered. Mrs. Lloyd Huotari, spokesman for the association pointed out.

Classes will be divided into age groups of the handlers: six years-old to nine, 10 to 12, and 13 to 16. An entry fee of 25 cents for each entry of each dog will be charged with entry.

Dogs will be judged according to cutest dog costume, costumes of dog and owner, best trick, and best groomed by owner. A surprise category will be announced the day of the show. Advanced obedience demonstration will also be presented that day. Mrs. Huotari said.

To enter fill out the blank printed below and deposit it any time between now and August 22 at Tricky's Sporting Store at 43220 Grand River. Blanks will also be accepted during the show. For further information call 349-4693 or 349-2113.

The Novi Jaycees have lined up a thrill-packed weekend for the annual Gala Day festival to kick-off next week Friday at 6 p.m.

Big attractions, predicted co-chairmen Jerry Surles and Todd Price, will be "an exhibition of trick and fancy flying by Michigan's Flying Cowboy, Bob Carter, and the first annual Novi Mini-Bike Classic."

Carter will put his plane through a series of maneuvers ranging from an end-over-end tumble, to a full vertical roll, to his famous inverted ribbon pick-up, during which he flies the length of the field, upside down, squeezes between two poles and slices a ribbon, all while only 10 feet above the ground.

That will be Sunday according to Surles. Saturday will be the mini-bike race, held in two divisions for two to three-and-a-half horsepower, and four to five horsepower bikes, starting at 2 p.m.

"Nobody will be allowed to race who has a bike bigger than five horsepower," said Doug Thrush, Jaycee race mentor.

First second and third place trophies will be awarded in each division.

Participants under 21 must have parental permission, according to Thrush who urged those interested to fill out the form elsewhere on this page and send it to him at 23861 West LeBost, Novi, 48050.

"There will be forms available, the day of the race," said Thrush, "but we'll be rushed so people will have to get them from me before 2 p.m."

Reef Eliminated

Redford Adray Wins

Northville's Reef Manufacturing lost any chance it might have had to bring home championship honors in Livonia's Adray league last week Tuesday as Redford claimed its second victory, 6-4, cutting the local squad from double elimination action.

Jeff Moon started for Reef but was pulled for Bob Hood in the eighth inning after Redford batsmen had worked Moon for six runs on seven hits and four walks.

Northville parleyed four hits and three walks into four runs but were never ahead in the game.

Redford got the first run of the game in the bottom of the first inning when Jeff Washington rapped a triple to drive in Tom Roy.

In the third, Northville tied it up and things began to look up. Griffith gained base by error, went to second as Moon sacrificed, and sped home on a throwing error that saw Rich Adams safe at first.

Adams was left stranded, however, and in the third,

Redford pulled ahead notching three more runs on a sacrifice and a two-run homer by Tim Fox.

Local bats were cold until the seventh when Denny Benedict punched a triple and was driven in by Dan Boehm's sacrifice.

In the bottom of the seventh Redford pushed across two more runs on a triple and a sacrifice to cap its scoring.

Dick Boehm drew a walk in the eighth and made it 6-3 as he stole two bases and galloped home on a single by Adams.

In the ninth Boehm got his third single of the night,

Mrs. Jerome Dies

Memorial Set Here Sunday

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the First Presbyterian church for Mrs. George P. (Ruth) Jerome who died suddenly Monday night at Henry Ford Hospital.

Earlier in the day Mrs

MRS. GEORGE JEROME

Jerome had been shopping with friends in downtown Detroit. She became ill during lunch and was taken to the hospital.

Well known in the community, the Jeromes moved to Northville from Erie Michigan in 1954 and reside at 743 Horton.

Mrs. Jerome was active in civic affairs including volunteer work at Northville State Hospital and Reading for the Blind. A member of the First Presbyterian Church she directed the children's choir and was soloist for the church choir. She was a member of the Michigan Choral Union.

Born August 25, 1923 in Maryland, Mrs. Jerome was the daughter of Kinsey and Ruth Pease Owens. She graduated from high school in New York City, New York. On February 28, 1943 she married the Reverend George P. Jerome, who is chaplain at Northville State Hospital and the Detroit House of Correction.

Besides her husband, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Milton Enright of Livonia; her husband; five children, Jane Elizabeth, Nancy Elaine, John Timothy and George Philip of Northville and David Edward of Ann Arbor, and a brother, Milton, of Wisconsin.

Memorial services will be conducted by the Reverend Lloyd Brasure. The body will be cremated in the Woodmere Crematory in Detroit.

OBITUARIES

CHARLOTTE FRIEDLANDER

A long-time resident of Northville Mrs. Charlotte Friedlander, 83 of 168 East Main Street, died at her apartment home Thursday.

Few knew her well but the infectious smiles she tossed to passersby as she strolled daily through downtown Northville with her dog, Go Go, were familiar to many.

Having no children and no known surviving relatives, Mrs. Friedlander had made previous arrangements with the University of Michigan Medical School for the donation of her body to medical research.

She had many times indicated a wish to express her appreciation to her friends and neighbors for their kindness and understanding during her years in Northville.

CHARLES VANGIESON

A life long farmer, Charles Vangieson of Athens, Michigan, died August 4 of acute coronary while doing chores in his barn. The former Wixom resident was 81 years old.

Mr. Vangieson was born in January, 1890 in 1923 he married Mary E. Vangieson who is still living. Always a farmer, for many years he also operated the Vangieson Dairy Farm in Wixom. He moved to Athens with his wife several years ago.

Survivors include sons Jack Vangieson and Dr. Val C. Vangieson, local veterinarian and member of the Wixom City council. Merritt W. Marshall was raised by them and was always considered a son. Mr. Vangieson had one sister, Myrtle Savage of Athens, nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were Saturday, August 7 in the Athens Spencer Funeral Home. Interment was in Athens.

FRANK R. JARMAN

A heart attack on Wednesday August 4 claimed the life of Frank R. Jarman, 229 Hutton who died at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia at the age of 64.

Mr. Jarman was born on January 1, 1907 in Detroit to Andrew and Josephine Jarman. He first came to Northville in 1938. He was formerly employed by D. S. R. and Detroit Bank and Trust.

Survivors include his wife Erna who he married on January 6, 1929 in Detroit. They had one son, Dr. Paul Jarman of Narragansett, Rhode Island.

Mr. Jarman had two sisters and six brothers. They are Mrs. Josephine Barlow and Mrs. Christine Wesseling of St. Louis, Missouri; Andrew of Covington, Kentucky; Max of San Francisco, California; Theodore of Evanston, Illinois; Charles of St. Clair Shores; George of Livonia; and William of St. Louis, Missouri.

Funeral services were held August 7 at 1 p.m. at the Ebert Funeral Home. The Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure officiated. Burial was in Glen Eden Memorial Park in Livonia.

EDGAR K. EXELBY

Edgar K. Exelby, 38, of 4485 Thornapple Lane who was president of his senior class at Lansing Sexton High School in 1951 died August 6 in an Ann Arbor hospital.

The former Lansing resident was an executive for the Detroit Sprinkler Division of the Phoenix Plumbing and Heating Company. He graduated from Michigan State University in 1957 and received a master's degree from Western Michigan University in 1965. He was a registered civil engineer.

Surviving are his wife, Mary two sons, Curtis and Kyle, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Exelby of Lansing and a sister, Mrs. Murray Poland of Lansing.

Services were at 2 p.m. last week Monday at the Estes-Ledley Colonial Chapel with burial at Gunnsville Cemetery. Donations may be made to the American Cancer Society.

the number of steps are settled, "other things will fall into place."

"Except for the calendar," Jones noted "As far as we're concerned, we're willing to go back to the 1884-day calendar we had for the 1970-71 school year."

The calendar, already approved by the board, contains 189 days of work for teachers.

A major disagreement between the district and the NEA is the NEA maintains the calendar is a negotiable item while the district contends it may "discuss the calendar with the NEA but the district reserves the final right to set the dates," Spear said.

With the request for fact finding submitted to the State Employment Relations Commission this week, meetings with the fact finder were not expected before late next week.

The fact finder will listen to both sides present their positions on the unsettled issues and will render a decision on what he believes is a fair and equitable settlement.

The fact finder's report is not binding, Jones and Spear said.

However, he added that the calendar has been found satisfactory by the teachers' organization.

Contracts for gasoline, fuel oil, workman's compensation, and bus fleet insurance were awarded to low bidders.

Low bidders and their prices were: Gasoline — Leemon Oil Co. Inc., 16-cents per gallon; fuel oil — Standard Oil Division of American Oil Company, 11.7-cents per gallon; workmen's compensation — Talmay Agency (Richard Bingham), $3,366; and bus fleet insurance — Frazer Staman, $1,777.

Staman and Bingham submitted identical bids on both workmen's compensation and fleet insurance. Both were awarded contracts in areas where they previously held contracts.

In awarding the contract for milk, the school chose the second-lowest bid — Guernsey Farms Dairy at 6-cents per one-half pint of white milk and 6.5-cents per one-half pint of chocolate milk.

The bid was slightly higher than that submitted by Farm Maid Dairy at 5.95-cents and 6.45-cents, respectively.

The board waived the low bid in favor of Guernsey because of past good service by Guernsey, and because Guernsey's bid called for bottles while Farm Maid's bid called for cartons.

At the urging of Trustee LaVerne DeWaard, the board agreed to take up at a future meeting the matter of busing youngsters across 10 Mile Road primarily for purposes of safety.

Noting that such special busing costs the district some $20,000 in lost state aid, DeWaard argued that the matter could be resolved satisfactorily if mothers volunteered to serve as crossing guards.

Board President Gilbert Henderson announced the make up of board committees. These include:

Building and Site — Bruce Simmons, chairman, Ray Warren and Robert Wilkins; Personnel — Ray Warren, chairman, Gilbert Henderson and William Ziegler, Instruction — Robert Wilkins, chairman, LaVerne DeWaard, and Sharon Pelchat; and Budget and Finance — LaVerne DeWaard, chairman, Sharon Pelchat, and William Ziegler.

The board accepted the resignation of one teacher and voted to hire four others.

In accepting the resignation of Alvis R. Taulbee, the board instructed the administration to include in Taulbee's personnel file a record of his "breach of contract" in reaching at this late date. Record of this reprimand to be sent to the state board of education, to the university placement bureau, and to the Novi teachers organization.

Hired to replace Taulbee was Ronald E. Healey, an Eastern Michigan University graduate with a BS in mathematics, at a salary of $8,450.

Also hired were: David B. Hawood, who is to teach industrial arts under a probationary teacher contract, at a salary of $8,000.

Miss Suzanne M. Himbeault, who is to replace Mrs. Mary L. Leipheimer as vocal music instructor, at a first-year teacher salary of $8,000. Gordon H. Seiler, to teach instrumental music and become band director to replace R. Stannard, at a probationary teaching contract salary of $8,000.

Assistant Superintendent Hendrickson explained that a previously hired industrial arts teacher, James Partridge, could not accept the position because he had received his draft classification notice.

President Henderson instructed the budget tax and finance committee to study the possibility of investing funds in Commercial Paper (prime stock market firms) as opposed to investment in banks, and to report back findings late in September.

100-Year-Old Grist Mill Gets New Lease on Life

The Northville Record THE NOVI NEWS

The Brighton Argus THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wed.-Thurs., August 11-12, 1971

Despite Detroit's threatening urban sprawl, a piece of Americana exists tucked away in Parshallville in the form of an old grist mill. The three story brown building, known as Tom Walker's Grist Mill, is now undergoing a complete renovation. The mill, first built in 1834, destroyed by fire in 1835 and rebuilt in 1871, opened for business Sunday.

According to Thomas Walker of Hartland, the old mill has been in his family for 92 years until he sold it to William Richards of Milford in 1968.

The mill was built by Isaac Parshall in 1835. Walker said the mill later changed hands to a man named "Walker" Browning and his grandfather Thomas Walker became involved in the business when he gave Browning financial aid for the mill.

Walker acquired the mill in 1927 and used it to grind farmers' cow feed, chicken feeds, wheat, oats and a variety of grains. During the time Walker owned the mill, he never used electricity and relied solely on the power of the water and mill wheel.

"The mill stream did go dry about this time of the year every once in a while," Walker laughed, "and then I just took a vacation for a few days." Walker said he then had an excuse and didn't have to give explanations.

Walker stated the Hartland mill wasn't the only mill built by the Parshall family. A very similar mill was built near Chisaning on the Shiawassee River by the same family, although not by Isaac himself.

Walker said he had been told when the grist mill was destroyed by fire, a part of it was saved although the unburned portion could have been torn down during construction of the second mill in 1871.

But Walker believes part of the original mill still stands. The section which houses the country store could have been an unconnected shed at one time, in which farmers left their teams of horses to rest and feed after pulling the wagon-loads of grain to the mill.

Walker explained he wouldn't have sold the mill - except it had become too much work for him. At one time Walker had polio and his doctor told him he would never be able to go back to the mill. "The doctor said I'd never go back, but I did," Walker said. He explained that he couldn't have done it without the help of his wife.

When the work is completed, the second floor of the building will house a series of six small shops dealing with anything from antiques to contemporary ceramics and jewelry.

Three antique stores predominate the floor. Virginia Fournier's Queen's Attic, Sally Thomas & Co., and The Wooden Peg offer a wide range of antiques including primitive and 18th century pieces.

Kathleen Keegan specializes in dried flower arrangements, weaving, and hand-dipped candles in her shop, known as Kathy's Kountry Kreations. Barbara Feff's shop, which is still unnamed, offers contemporary ceramics and jewelry. The sixth shop is The Studio, run by Bill and Miriam Litteral.

WILLIAM RICHARDS, present owner of Tom Walker's Grist Mill, acquired the mill from Tom Walker in 1968. Prior to the sale, the mill was in the Walker family for 92 yrs. First built in 1834, it was destroyed by fire in 1835 and was rebuilt in 1871.

The renovation of the mill began when Richards bought the building from Walker. The mill ground its last flour July 15, 1961.

"We bought the mill in 1968," Richards said, "and have been working on it gradually."

Richards explained the project started as a hobby, but ended up as a lot of work. "I don't hunt or fish," he laughed, "so this is my hobby."

In addition to the second floor shops, the first floor will house an old country store offering a variety of farm produce. An old red coffee grinder and old-fashioned scales greet customers as they enter. The wooden floors are complimented by the shelves with old-fashioned glass containers of stick candy.

Near the first floor stairway in the main part of the mill, crank telephone rests on a beam with a hand-lettered sign which says the telephone is operational and should not be handled.

At the top of two flights of stairs is the third floor which houses the machinery of the mill. A small window at the rear of the room offers and excellent view of the surrounding land. If one climbs the third flight of stairs a small attic-type room waits at the top.

hold the beams together.

"The old building has stood a lot of wind and rain," Walker commented. He said he believed there could be termites working on the building but didn't know the extent of the damage, if any.

The mill can be reached from the Brighton area by taking I-23 north to the Clyde Road exit. Follow Clyde Road to Parshallville Road and turn left. The mill is located approximately 1½ miles down the road.

ANOTHER MILL, SIMILAR TO THE PARSHALLVILLE MILL WAS BUILT BY THE ISA PARSHALL FAMILY ON THE SHIAWASSEE RIVER NEAR CHESANING.

Visitors Jam Parks

More than 1,541,534 visitors came to eight Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks in July of 1971 compared to 1,524,623 visitors at seven HCMA parks in the comparable month of 1970.

Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville and Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills Metropolitan

Parks showed increased attendance this July over the same month in 1970, while both Metropolitan Beach and Stony Creek Metropolitan Park had less patronage in July of 1971 compared to July of 1970.

Kensington had 401,000 visitors, which is an increase over the 380,000 visitors reported for July of 1970, but below the record high of 490,000 set in 1968.

Additional Fluoridation Proof Seen in State School Study

LANSING — More proof of benefits from fluoridation of drinking water was apparent in a new study released by the Michigan Department of Public Health.

The statistics come from a study of all public school children aged 10 through 12 in four Michigan cities: Flint, Jackson, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

Flint began fluoridating its water in 1966, and a study conducted there in 1970 showed children had 30 per cent fewer cavities than did children in the same age bracket in 1966 before fluoridation began. In addition, the 1970 study group showed 22 per cent fewer missing permanent teeth.

Dr. Louis F. Szwejd, research and special projects chief of the department's dental division, conducted the analysis. He says that while the benefits of fluoridation are clear in Flint, "the Flint story is modest compared to what has happened in the other three cities."

BATTLE CREEK, Kalamazoo and Jackson began fluoridating water 20 years ago in 1951. Children in those cities show a dramatic 52 per cent to 67 per cent reduction in decayed, missing and filled permanent teeth.

As a matter of fact, more than 40 per cent of the children examined in the three cities showed no decayed, missing or filled teeth at all.

Szwejd says the benefits of fluoridation "are really no surprise, of course. They simply confirm the overwhelming evidence of other studies, including the study in Grand Rapids, the first city in the world to begin water fluoridation."

THERE ARE other statistics for parents on what they are saving in the four cities on dental bills as a result of the fluoridation.

"For Jackson," he says, "without fluoridation parents would have had to pay for nearly 7,000 more decayed teeth in the 10 to 12 age bracket and just under 13,000 surfaces — at a minimum estimated cost of about $64,000."

"In Battle Creek, over 5,300 teeth have been protected from decay, and almost 10,000 surfaces — amounting to a minimum saving of slightly under $50,000."

"Water fluoridation in Kalamazoo has meant a saving to parents of more than $79,000 in dental expense, from the extra protection of over 8,500 teeth and almost 16,000 surfaces."

And in Flint, after only 4½ years, "the study shows parents have saved more than $118,000 in reduced dental bills so far, for the age 10 through 12 year old children."

ROADSIDE facilities maintained by the State Highway Department were used a total of 25 million times last year, almost three times for every resident of the state, according to reports of the department.

The estimate is based on actual traffic counts and known rest area use patterns. An actual count of 875,000 visitors was taken at nine travel information centers.

The final estimate amazed even the traffic engineers who compiled the survey, the department says, and the figures were rechecked and recomputed just to make sure.

THE 25 MILLION figure is a substantial increase since the first state highway roadside park was constructed on old US-16 near East Lansing in 1935.

The first travel information center to serve tourists was opened that same year near New Buffalo. Prior to that, picnic table sites and parks had been established along many county highways.

At present there are 57 freeway rest areas and 103 roadside parks in the state, as well as 30 state highway scenic overlooks and 1,000 roadside picnic table sites.

Plans call for eventual construction of 96 rest areas to be spaced at intervals of approximately 25 to 40 miles on all divided state and interstate highways in Michigan.

Draft Impasse Isn't an Escape

The current Congressional impasse over extending induction authority has created great uncertainty among area draft-age men, according to Dorothy Lynn, executive secretary of the Plymouth draft board.

"Many young men seem to think that the Selective Service act has permanently expired," she said, "and that they probably will never be drafted."

"They are wrong since it is only the induction authority that has expired. They, therefore, may be unintentionally breaking the law by failing to register at age 18, by not keeping their local boards informed of their current address, or by failing to report, if ordered, for their pre-induction physical examination."

She noted that Selective Service Director Curtis Tarr has recently stressed the importance of explaining to draft-age men the high probability that draft calls will resume in the near future and that the current impasse in the Congress is not likely to affect any registrant's chance of being drafted.

"Our local board has been specifically instructed to continue to register and classify men, and to order for pre-induction physical examinations those young men who may be needed to fill draft calls in the coming months," she said.

Men with lottery numbers through 125 were eligible for induction in June in order to fill draft calls. Since then, the Defense Department has asked Selective Service to draft 16,000 men in July-August. This request is being held by Selective Service headquarters pending final Congressional action on the draft bill, which is expected within several weeks.

"Those young men with relatively low lottery numbers who are eligible for induction this year, particularly those with numbers below 175—the current processing ceiling—have a very good chance of being processed for induction after draft calls are restored," she said.

The Plymouth executive secretary also emphasized that local boards are continuing to consider CO, hardship, and student deferments and to take classification actions. "Young men who had planned to submit requests for deferments or exemptions are encouraged to do so," she said. "The expiration of the induction authority does not affect our responsibility to classify young men," she added.

Meteors Etch August Skies

A shower of meteors and the closest approach of Mars in nearly 50 years will add luster to the evening skies of August, notes University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

The Perseids—a conspicuous swarm of meteors that crosses the earth's orbit annually—should be visible for two or three weeks in August. However Prof. Losh points out that these "shooting stars" will reach a peak of perhaps one per minute around August 10-12.

Radiating from a point in the constellation Perseus in the northeast, the iron or stone meteors burn up when they enter the earth's atmosphere at high speeds.

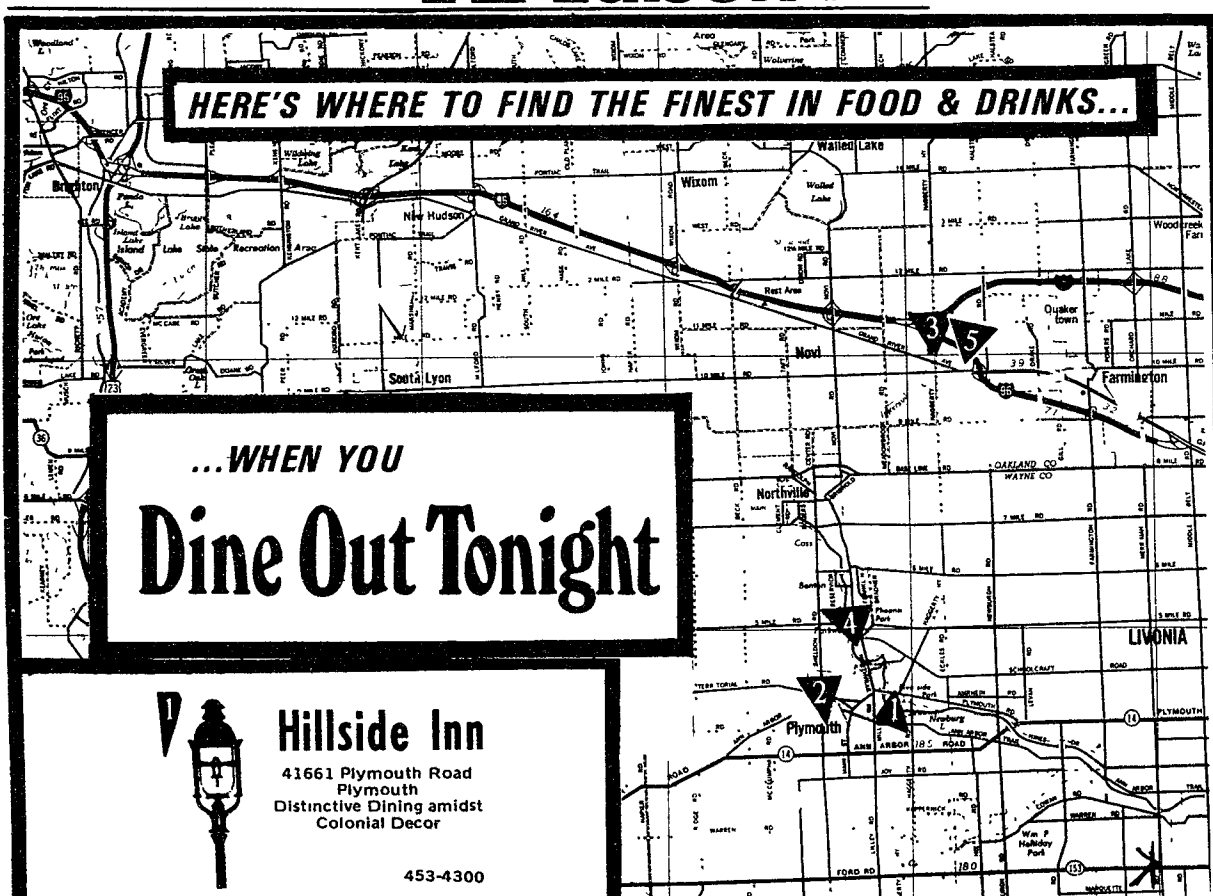

"More comets are likely to be seen after midnight, when we are riding on the forward side of the earth in its rotation," Professor Losh says. Early morning meteors will have a bluish tinge because our portion of the atmosphere will be meeting them head on, producing greater temperatures that cause a deeper blue, she adds.

The best time for spotting shooting stars is also the best time for spotting Mars, the U-M astronomer advises. At 10 p.m. (Michigan time) on August 11, Mars will draw within 35 million miles of earth. This will be the closest the red planet has come since 1924. It will not be as close again until after the 20th century.

Mars rises in the southeast in the constellation Capricornus shortly after sunset. The pink disk outshines everything near it during August, Professor Losh says.

The favorable approach of Mars in 1877 gave birth to one of the greatest astronomical controversies of all time, she comments. That year the Italian astronomer Schiaparelli detected the Martian channels or "canals." The ensuing debate about the origin of the canals was widely publicized, giving Mars the nickname "the newspaper planet."

The sighting of the canals by noted astronomers has occurred with some regularity, but the mysterious lines have never shown up on photographs sent back to earth by flyby rockets. The existence of the canals is widely questioned, and some astronomers feel the lines may be optical illusions.

Babson Report

Building Boosts Lumber Demand

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — The high level of building starts over the past few months is at last being translated into increased demand for lumber, and prices have strengthened accordingly. At the same time, however, plywood prices are struggling to maintain upward momentum.

The reason for the price split in these two sections of the timber market is the additional plywood capacity that has been brought on stream in the course of the past year, making producers considerably more flexible in meeting upsurges in demand. In addition, a number of competing materials have made some inroads into plywood markets.

For example, particle-board is being used increasingly to replace sanded plywood in cabinet work and interior housing uses.

Nevertheless, at least one major manufacturer of plywood is optimistic about further strength in the pricing of plywood due to a substantial increase in the market for plywood sheathing. As a matter of fact, most of the expansion in plywood usage over recent years has been a result of its mounting popularity as sheathing.

FIRST-HALF earnings performance by a number of the major forest products companies proved quite disappointing. The third and fourth quarters, however, should be marked by generally improving percentage results since comparisons will be with the second-half totals of 1970, at which time earnings were penalized by depressed operations in the paper making segment of the industry.

Also promising a considerably brighter profits picture are not only the anticipated higher levels of residential housing construction but also improvement in wood prices during the third and fourth quarter of this year in comparison with the second half of 1970. Along these lines still further strength may well be evidenced during 1972.

ALTHOUGH in the past the lumber industry has been marked by a generally stable consumption pattern punctuated by occasional short periods of feverish demand, developments over the next few years may include sustained strong markets for lumber unlike anything the industry has experienced up to this time.

If housing starts reach projected targets, the industry will be hard pressed indeed to meet requirements for lumber and other wood products at reasonable prices. Either more timberlands must be developed or the harvest of trees on presently used lands substantially increased.

Attempts that have been made to step up production from federal timberlands have met with rebuffs from conservationists and others interested in preserving our wilderness as it is. Most producers, however, do have programs under way to boost growth rates and thereby enlarge the harvest of trees.

ALSO, major producers have been intensifying development of timber in foreign countries, a move which can be expected to help take care of the high domestic demand. It should be noted, too, that advanced technologies such as highly automated sawmills can go a long way toward easing the strong upward pressure on lumber prices. Over the longer term, it would appear that the wood producers will be able to streamline their operations and techniques sufficiently to improve on past profits performance.

Although common stock prices of the forest products companies have drifted off somewhat from their 1971 highs, they continue to command rather generous price-earnings ratios.

THEREFORE, with the exception of depressed Boise Cascade which may be bought for its comeback potential by those in a position to speculate, the Research Department of Babson's Reports is not currently recommending purchase of stocks in this industrial group. Such issues, however, are still considered as strong holds for the longer term.

Loose Leaf

Bicycling a Lark?

It Just Ain't So!

By ROLLY PETERSON

Most things begin inauspiciously, like the scratch that leads to infection, the loose thread that leads to a major rip in the pants, the drip in the dyke that leads to a flood, the first casual date that leads to marriage, and infinitum.

And yes, the suggestion of wife that perhaps the family ought to buy bicycles. "There's nothing like riding along quietly in the country, feeling the breeze on your face and communing with nature along the way," she says.

"Sure, honey, good idea," I reply as I read the paper. It doesn't sound like a bad idea, but if it doesn't come about I won't be crushed either, I think, as I turn the page of the newspaper.

Two weeks later, the blond one pipes "up, again, about bicycling. Everybody's out of bicycles," she says. "It's almost impossible to get one."

"Too bad," I reply. "But I've ordered one for you and one for me. Three speed, from Sears. They'll be here in about two weeks," she informs me.

Well, anything can happen in two weeks. Maybe the shipment will get lost or Sears will quit manufacturing bicycles.

No such luck. Two weeks to the day my wife happily informed me that our bicycles had arrived and wouldn't I like to pick them up right now. Sears is still open. Like most requests my wife makes, this one was complied with promptly.

Two months have passed since that fateful day. We are now known as the bicycling Petersons. But if anyone tells you bicycling is a lark, or a happy communion with nature, or a blissful ride down quiet country road, tell him to—well, tell him it just ain't so.

It would be Bliss if there were no hills, no cars, no loose gravel on country roads, no hot sun during the summer months and no young son weighting 35 pounds on the back of the bike constantly asking questions over and over and over, like "Where mama?" a dozen times in 10 minutes.

And, lastly, no ambitious wife who greets you after work and happily inquires, "Wouldn't you like to go for a bicycle ride? It's such a beautiful evening."

And what she has in mind is a 10-mile trip over hills, down loose gravel roads, over paved roads teeming with cars with a two and one-half year old on the back asking, while you're sweating profusely and your legs are aching the ache of the aged, "Where mama?"

Child's Problems Tied To Insecure Parent

A child who is emotionally disturbed may be displaying symptoms of his parents' problems, not just his own.

A parent, insecure about his own competence and authority, can project his self-doubts upon his child in order to gain self esteem, says University of Michigan child psychologist Eric A. Bermann.

"The child can function as a scapegoat, absorbing the frustrations of his parents and siblings like a sponge. It's as if everyone in the family unloaded, an unwanted personality trait on this child and then attacked it in him."

Dr. Bermann was a member of a team that worked for several years with youngsters who had emotionally rooted learning disabilities — children who, though of normal intelligence, were two years or more behind the rest of their class. Drawing the entire family into therapy, the psychologists noticed several surprising patterns.

"The parents tried to keep the child from improving," Dr. Bermann said. "If we recommended tutoring or other treatment, they undermined it. In fact, it soon became apparent that they had used the referral of the child as an excuse to discuss some more urgent family problem, such as a promiscuous older daughter."

"If the first child's learning disabilities improved, the family tended to disintegrate. It seemed that his emotional problems were the factor holding the family together. 'The experience left us with several hunches about the way families of learning disability children operate as a group," Bermann said. "What we needed was proof."

He devised a controlled experiment involving a machine with six buttons to be pushed in a certain sequence. The sequence, which might be 1,3,5,2,4,6; 1,2,2,3,3,3, or other variations, had to be discovered by trial and error. An experimenter in another room sounded a bell when a correct button was selected and a buzzer for each wrong one.

Sixty-two boys, aged 9 to 12, and their parents participated. All were of average to above average intelligence, but 23 had learning disabilities, 23 had "behavior problems," and 16 were "normal." They were so identified from within the school system.

"Everyone working alone could find out the button sequence," Bermann said. "But when we put them in family units, patterns emerged."

"In the learning disability families, parents could not work together effectively, while in the normal families they could. Behavior problem families fell in between."

"In the normal family, the mother gave up power to the father, and the father deferred to the son. The parents' attitude was one of wanting the child to experience success."

"But in the learning problem family, the father dominated the mother and the mother dominated the child. The child was seldom even asked his choice of button sequence."

Salmon Derby Tops Fun Events

Summer fun and vacation time combine to offer Michigan vacationers and weekenders a wide selection of events the whole family can enjoy from August 9-31, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Auto Club's ninth in this summer's series of 14 maps of festivals and special events in Michigan lists a dozen such opportunities.

At Manistee, the fourth annual Salmon Derby, which runs 17 days from Saturday, August 21 through Monday, September 6, is expected to attract anglers from all over the U.S. Many prizes, trophies and awards of fine fishing gear, plus Manistee's fine launching facilities, will add zest to this event.

The Paul Bunyan Festival will attract thousands to Oscoda Friday through Sunday, August 20-22. There will be a parade, fireworks and a festival queen. TV's traveler, George Perrot, will be this year's honorary Paul Bunyan and live entertainment and events will await visitors of all ages.

The Au Sable River Longboat Regatta on Sunday, August 15, will feature the unique, 22-foot longboats that can be seen today only on the Au Sable. The Regatta runs 18 miles east from Grayling, with many participants fishing along the way. Prizes will be awarded for the biggest brook trout, biggest brown trout, biggest catch and the finest longboat. Refreshments will be available at the end of the line. The public is welcome and there is no admission charge.

The Polish Festival at Bronson, on US-12, 12 miles west of Coldwater, will delight those who enjoy Polish food, Polish music and dancing. The festival is Thursday through Saturday, August 26-28, with many events each day. A parade Saturday will be followed by a mock Polish wedding.

The Danish Festival, at Greenville Friday and Saturday, August 20 and 21, salutes the Danish founders of that area. More than 40,000 visitors are expected, with a parade, many special events each day and a variety of Danish food and souvenirs available at the Danish Tavern.

The National Downriver Canoe Race Championships Saturday and Sunday, August 28-29, will take place on the AuSable River at Oscoda. The two-day program will include five races starting and finishing at the Oscoda Yacht Club. Prizes will be awarded and finish-line events will include canoe jousting, water vehicle and underwater demonstrations.

Other events which will attract many visitors to Michigan points August 9-31 are: The Lightning Invitational Regatta, Tawas City, August 13-15; the Waterfront Art Fair, Charlevoix, August 14; The Eagle Harbor Arts Festival at the tip of Michigan's Upper Peninsula, August 14-15; Summer Arts Festival at Ludington, August 15-28; the Webberville Area Centennial, August 22-28 and the Lunden Area Centennial, August 31-September 6.

Ungodliness Won't Go Unpunished

Rev. Clarence K. Porter
Pastor,
First Baptist Church
Brighton

Scripture: Isaiah 59: 1 & 2

Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear: But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear.

Having recently moved to Brighton, I naturally do not know too much about the community. I do, however, look forward to serving my Lord here in whatever way I can.

Although I haven't been here long, I have been here long enough to notice some things. I have noticed an abundance of alcoholic beverages in the markets and stores, along with several taverns. I have also read about the possibility of some topless dancers in some of these places. (They need more than clothes) These are things no community should be proud of regardless of what progress it may seem to be making.

This type of thing is sweeping our country and is a good indication we are going downhill fast. The trend is toward ungodliness and away from Godliness.

My dear friends, I say to you I believe we will live to see one of two things: either a turning back to God and the receiving of His blessings or the outbreak of His wrath upon this country. From what I understand about my God the first would certainly be the best road to take.

God has never tolerated such ungodliness very long and He is the same yesterday, today and forever. (Hebrews 13:8)

What then has caused these problems? This is it! God's people have become worldly and indifferent to what goes on around them and so the condition of things is the result.

There are two groups of people in the world; God's followers and the devil's followers, and when God's people let up then naturally the other will take over. This is what the scripture is saying. Sin has done its separating work between God and His people.

If God's people were in their right place then there would be enough seasoning in the community to stop much of the sin.

I hate sin, and I do not make any apology for it. I believe it has ruined enough lives.

There are many of you who uphold sin and promote it. Regardless of how you may profit from it now you must remember you will stand before God and give an account of all the lives you have helped to wreck and ruin.

You'd probably love to have a car like this to fool around with. But suppose you had to drive it day in and day out?

We Americans are used to having the latest, and we don't like to live with what seems out-of-date to us. For that reason, a good many of us don't go to church. We tell ourselves that church was great for Grandma and Grandpa, or maybe even for Mom and Dad, but it has no place for us in this jet age.

If we believe this . . . then it is we who are out-of-date! The Church today is a modern institution in touch with the world around it. It helps us cope with the problems of modern life, teaching us to change with a changing world. Let's catch up with the times. Let's attend church.

1—Card of Thanks

Words can not express our deepest and most sincere thanks to our relatives, friends, and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy in the loss of our beloved one Philip Parlove. Our special thanks to Rev. McCann for his comforting words and prayers. Also to the ladies from St. Patrick's, Altar Society for preparing the food, to Keen funeral home, and to all those that sent flowers and cards.

God Bless You All
Mrs. Philip Parlove
and Family

We wish to thank old friends and neighbors in Brighton for the beautiful floral piece sent at the time of the death of our wife and mother, Mrs. Leona Koskovich.
