The familiar saying that if March comes in "like a lamb" it will leave "like a lion" is posed here by Northville's Muri Lamb and Dick Lyon. If they're right, we can expect more bad weather in 30 days.

School Board Cuts Budget by $10,000

In an effort to ensure a balanced budget, school board trustees cut $10,000 from the 1971-72 budget and clamped freezes on any further expenditures in several categories.

Taking the action Monday night, trustees noted the $471, which had been the only un-earmarked funds in the budget, was not enough to carry the school district through the end of the fiscal year (June 30) and guarantee a balanced budget.

Cuts and freezes approved by board members include:

- not filling a vacant custodial position, roughly $2,000;
- canceling a mid-year counseling position at Cooke Middle School, $4,500;
- freezing monies for administrative research and travel, $3,000;
- freezing non-allocated tution reimbursements, $500, and

- freezing any further outlay for athletic supplies and expenses, any extra-curricular activities not previously approved and all equipment replacement.

Chiefly responsible for the recent budget cuts and freezes are the anticipated loss of $7,000 in revenue caused by lost interest on investments and an estimated $1,000 increase in student and teaching supplies due to an increase in enrollment.

"The interest rate being paid on investments is down," Superintendent Raymond Spear explained, "the rate of tax collections is down but students keep moving into the district."

The budget was eased somewhat by unexpected revenue increases of $2,000 in reimbursements to the transportation program and $500 for administrative services in handling state aid payments for the Wayne County Child Development Center.

Board members noted they earmarked roughly $5,000 in funds "just to bring the budget up to a zero balance and another $5,000 to give us some flexibility."

Lone dissenter on the freezes and cuts was Trustee B. William Secord who, though he said he was in favor of the move by the board, said he disagreed with the categories frozen and cut.

Backs Lease For Township

Northville school board members authorized a lease to be drawn up renting 4,500 square feet of office space in the board of education building to Northville Township.

The action, taken Monday night, ends the township's search for new quarters. Currently housed in the old library building on South Wing Street, township offices must be moved by May 1 to make way for Northville Square shopping center.

The lease, which will come before school trustees for approval March 13, will be for a minimum of two years. Rent was placed between $300 and $400 per month.

At its last meeting, the township board voted to form a building authority to finance construction of a proposed new township hall-fire station on Six Mile Road near Bradner. During the interim, the township will rent space from the school board.

Leased to the township will be half of the gymnasium area, half of the lobby and the entire basement. Sixth grade physical education classes, currently held in the front of the gym, will be moved to the back half of the gym which had been used for storage. School administration offices are housed in the western half of the building.

Earl Busard, business director, said leasing the space to the township "will not jeopardize our use of our facilities and will not affect the school program."

Remodeling will be done by school district personnel with all costs paid by the township, he added.

The building is expected to be ready for occupancy by the township in mid April.

Planners Nix Multiple Zoning

COUNCILMAN David Biery has been designated as council representative to attend, along with City Manager Frank Ollendorff, a meeting with school and township officials to discuss the school's proposal that school taxes be collected in two installments to avoid the cost of borrowing money against anticipated income. Representing the township will be Treasurer Joseph Straub, Clerk Eleanor Hammond, and Trustee Charles Schaeffer, Jr.

'SOMEONE'S CRYING WOLF?' questioned Superintendent Raymond Spear in response to R. Robert Geake's contention Schoolcraft College taxpayers are exempt from financially supporting Wayne County Community College. Spear noted he talked with authors of the state law as well as legal counsel and "they can't assure me one-quarter mill won't be lost from our county allocation. I hope he (Geake) is right, but I'm not counting on it as a sure bet."

IT WAS SILVER DOLLAR night at Northville Downs Tuesday as cashiers dispersed $5,000 in Eisenhower silver dollars and $5,000 in Kennedy half-dollars. Holders of winning tickets had the option of receiving, as part of their cash winnings, either a silver dollar or half dollars as long as the supply lasted, according to Executive Manager John J. Carlo.

STILL TIME to reserve a ticket for the buffet dinner that will precede the March 8 travelogue program sponsored by the Northville Rotary Club. Tickets for the dinner may be purchased from any Rotarian by tomorrow's deadline. Tickets for the travelogue film, featuring famed Robert Brouwer and his portrayal of "Scenic America", may be obtained at the Northville High School auditorium on the night of the program. It starts at 8 p.m.

Northville township planners recommended to the township board denial of a request to rezone land for 123 multiple dwellings.

The petition, submitted by Greenspan Building Company, asked to rezone 16.29 acres of land at Five Mile and Robinwood from single family use to permit construction of 33 buildings each housing three or four families.

The action, taken Tuesday night, followed a plea, based largely on economic reasons, by the developer for approval of the request.

Fred E. Greenspan, developer, explained that sales of single family homes were down and that "economics do change. Our business has changed. I do not hide the fact I want to build multiples because of the economic situation."

However, planners noted they could not be persuaded by an "economic hardship case." They told Greenspan he had allowed the land to sit idle while developing large portions of subdivisions north of the area.

The 16.29 acrea, as currently zoned for single family residences, contains 34 home sites.

Re-elect Ken Sewell

By unanimous action Tuesday night, Kenneth Sewell was elected to a second term as chairman of the township planning commission.

Named vice-chairman was Bernard Baldwin, who also will be serving his second term. Don Thomson was picked as secretary.

Donald Boor, out-going secretary of the commission, told fellow planners that although he has enjoyed serving on the commission for the past five years, he intends to resign after the March meeting. He said increased time required by his job necessitates that he give up the township post.

James Littell, attorney representing Greenspan, told planners that if they denied the request the developer had only two alternatives left:

"He can either sell the land," Littell said, "or, as a last resort, appeal to the courts which may be our only alternative, depending on how you gentlemen handle this matter."

The threat of a law suit cut little ice with planners who had been approached by Greenspan two weeks ago with an amended version of his request.

The developer offered to leave approximately six lots on the east side of Robinwood zoned single family as a buffer between the multiples and single family homes and develop the remaining 14 acres of land for multiples.

In a motion, made by Planner Bernard Baldwin and supported by Planner Donald Boor, planners unanimously recommended denial of the rezoning petition, noting

Racing Rebate

City to Get $67,476

Northville will soon receive, as payment for the period January 1 through January 29, 1972, $67,476.24 as its share of the state-collected tax on race track wagering revenues.

That's the word from Representative Marvin Stempien, who noted that Northville has received $255,713.69 in race track revenues since the beginning of the fiscal year in June of 1971.

Under existing law, the state collects 15 percent of the betting take at thoroughbred and harness tracks in the state with a portion of that money returning to the local community where the track is located but not to exceed $600,000 in any one year.

Stempien was a prime mover of the bill in 1969 that raised the local racing revenues from $500,000 to $600,000. "This payment to Northville and other cities where tracks are located," he said, "is a procedure that I have strongly supported. It compensates the cities for the additional services they must furnish to race tracks within their corporate limits."

A bill recently passed by the legislature and now Public Act 5 increases the state percentage of the betting proceeds from 15 to 16.5 percent and returns 20 percent of revenues received (not to exceed $600,000) to the city or township where the track is located.

Though this latest act does not benefit Northville immediately, in the future when the $600,000 limit is reached because of increased wagering, there will be increased local monetary gains, Stempien explained.

Secord suggested all funds in the administrative travel category be cut, whether encumbered or not, "rather than see us cut the mid-year position from the middle school. I don't want to see the children of the district suffer by cutting from some of these accounts."

Spear questioned the "necessity of going to this extreme (cutting travel expenses already spent or committed) to balance the budget."

The superintendent said that even if the expenses were cut, "you can't pick up $4,500 needed to pay the mid-year counselor. Though we have advertised, we have not been able to fill the position with a qualified person," he added.

Freezes and cuts ordered by board members Monday typify the district's bleak financial picture which has continued since the beginning of the 1971-72 budget year.

Early in the school year administrators were notified of the state legislature's action withholding $62,000 of state aid payments in a contingency fund.

The money is being withheld, according to the state, in order to avert deficits in the state budget similar to those which occurred in January, 1971.

Easing the financial blow a bit was the wage and price freeze ordered by President Richard Nixon in August. However, school administrators have noted that should the Michigan Education Association be successful in winning retroactive pay for its members, they cannot guarantee funds will be available in the local budget to grant the back pay.

In other action Monday, trustees

- retained the auditing firm of Plante and Moran, certified public accountants, for the 1971-72 school year;
- approved the educational specifications for the

80 Attend Wedding Reception

More than 80 friends and relatives attended a reception Sunday afternoon honoring newly wed Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hoag. Mrs. Hoag is the former Peggy Grande. They were married by Judge Dunbar Davis in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony Saturday in Plymouth.

Hosts at the reception Sunday were their attendants, Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas, who gave the reception at their home on Carrington Drive.

The bride greeted guests in a long gown with a white organza bodice embroidered in matching light brown. It was fashioned with long sleeves and a high neckline at which she wore her grandmother's cameo. Her corsage was sweetheart roses with baby's breath.

Mrs. Thomas wore a long, floral print gown with an orchid corsage. Serving at the reception buffet were the bride's daughters, Glenda and Judy Lottner. Her sons, Louis and Michael Grande, also attended, as did the bridegroom's sons Hal and Andrew, as well as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hoag.

An old-fashioned, round arrangement of spring flowers in a silver and crystal chalice decorated the reception buffet table. A pink, double-ring wedding cake centered another table.

Following the ceremony Saturday, the wedding party had dinner at Hucks Bavarian Inn.

The former Mrs. Grande is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Smith of Petrolia, Canada. She is an alumna of Port Huron Junior College. Her husband is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University.

PINOCCHIO AND 'FRIENDS'—Mrs. David VanHine, of Northville, who portrays the "little boy who turns into a donkey when he's bad" in "Pinocchio," holds Jimmy Cricket, Pinocchio's conscience in the children's classic, while Mrs. Joseph Uhl of Plymouth (Pinocchio) confers with the little figure. Produced by the Plymouth Association of University Women, the play is to be presented at 10:30 a.m. and at 1 p.m. Saturday, March 11, at Northville High School. Tickets at 50 cents are being sold in Northville and Novi schools Wednesday through Friday of this week. They also are available at Del's Shoes or by contacting Mrs. Douglas Whittaker, 349-5714. The production was a sell-out in Plymouth last weekend.

Borens Recall Wedding Storm

Fifty years ago on February 28, a sunny winter day turned into a blizzard while Sylvia Strausbaugh married Charles Boren in St. Mary's Church in Belleville, Illinois.

As the Borens, who live at 18756 Jamestown Circle, reached their golden milestone Monday, they recalled that the snow became so deep they had trouble driving their new 1922 Chevrolet coupe to their honeymoon apartment.

Last Saturday the couple celebrated the event at a family dinner gathering at the Hillside Inn after a champagne toast at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, the Elwyn Kaakes, on Finner Court West. (Mrs. Kaake is the former Jane Boren.)

Attending were the Boren children and grandchildren, including the Kaakes and daughter, Rebecca, all of Northville; another Kaake daughter and her husband, Janelyn and Jack Hooper of Columbus, Ohio, and the Borens' second great-granddaughter, Cheryl Lynn Hooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boren, Jr., and their five children, Charles III, Kathy, David, Timothy and Mary, attended from Dearborn.

The Robert Borens of Livonia and their children, Robert, Jr., Cheryl Ann and Susan, along with the Donald Borens, also of Livonia, with Donald, Jr., and Patsy Ann, completed the list. Also present was Patsy's fiancé, Brian Regan.

Absent from the festivities were two other Kaake children, Elwyn Jon who lives in Tacoma, Washington, with his wife, the former Catherine Beard, and their daughter, Jennifer Elizabeth, who is the Borens' first great-granddaughter; and Seaman Steven Kaake who is on duty with the U.S. Navy in San Francisco, but his fiancée, Sharon Brower of Detroit, shared in the celebration dinner.

In Our Town

BY JEAN DAY

WHETHER MARCH begins like a lamb or a lion doesn't really matter too much to most involved area residents (unless they're snowbound) for they're just too busy to notice.

There's at least one community event scheduled every day during the upcoming week.

Dr. Thelma James, retired English professor at Wayne State University and past president of the American Folklore Society, is coming to town Friday to speak at the 1:30 p.m. meeting of Northville Woman's Club at Northville Presbyterian Church.

A Phi Beta Kappa who is listed in Who's Who Among American Women, Dr. James is noted for her "sparkling wit and complete mastery of her subject matter—her lectures are memorable," notes club program committee member Mrs. Donald Funk who was one of her students at Wayne State.

Because Friday is World Day of Prayer, Dr. James has been asked to speak on "The Bible in English Literature." She will be introduced at the guest day program by Mrs. Kalin Johnson.

Other Friday events include World Day of Prayer service at 1 p.m. at Novi United Methodist Church (article elsewhere) and the previously announced Northville Band Boosters card party at 7:30 p.m. at Our Lady of Victory Church where for a $1.25 donation parents and friends of band members can play cards and help send the high school band to camp next summer.

AN INTER-FAITH dance is to be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Sunday in the social hall of Our Lady of Victory Church. A live band, "Tanglefoot," will be featured. Donations are 75 cents for a single admission and $1.25 a couple. Proceeds, according to planner Steve Penrod, will go to South American missions.

NEXT WEDNESDAY offers a difficult choice: Vincent Price, celebrated star of stage, screen, radio and television, will share his experiences in "The Villains Still Pursue Me" at 8 p.m. at the Schoolcraft College gymnasium. Tickets at the door are $2 for adults, $1 for students.

Robert Brower will show his travel film, "Scenic America," at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Northville High School under Northville Rotary sponsorship. Three screens and four projectors will help him cover the country from Vermont to Niagara Falls to Acadia National Park.

For the first time, there will be a dinner at the high school from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. preceding the program. A benefit for the Rotary crippled children program, dinner tickets are $4 from any Rotary member or from Northville Camera Shop.

Travelogue tickets will be available at the door at $2 for adults, $1 children.

DR. J. CLAYTON Lafferty's appearance as the third speaker in the 11th annual Northville Town Hall series marks the first time a local resident has been the featured speaker.

He speaks at 11 a.m. next Thursday, March 9, at Northville High School on "Roots of Human Motivation."

Dr. Lafferty is a psychologist in practice since 1956. He has owned and operated three business organizations and is serving as consultant to a wide variety of business, educational and government institutions.

DR. J. CLAYTON LAFFERTY
Town Hall Speaker

He will be introduced by Northville Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear.

At the speaker's table at the luncheon following at the Ten Mile Road Holiday Inn will be Mr. and Mrs. Spear with Dr. and Mrs. Lafferty, Mrs. Jack Doheny (TH chairman) and Mrs. William Miron.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made by this Friday with Mrs. John Frew, 349-0836. Luncheon hostesses will be Mrs. Donald DiComo, Mrs. Earl Egbert, Mrs. Richard Kelly, Mrs. Francis Korte, Mrs. Robert Lupini, Mrs. Arthur Palarchio and Mrs. James vanBuren.

Theater hostesses are Mrs. Kenneth Shelly, Mrs. Kent Mathes, Mrs. Theodore Kampf, Jr., Mrs. Stan Sonk and Mrs. Joseph Kluesner.

ANNUAL LADIES' Night dinner, program of the Northville Presbyterian Men's Club will be at 6:30 p.m. next Thursday in the church fellowship hall. Following the catered dinner, historian Harold Glassford is to speak on "Our National Heritage—The Flag." He will be introduced by Edwin Langtry.

A noted authority on Michigan and United States history, the speaker is a Wayne State University graduate, a World War II veteran and recently retired from 25 years with Burton Abstract and Title Company where he was a member of the firm's speakers' bureau. Born in Detroit, he is the first American-born member of his Scottish family.

He now has returned to Wayne State University to work on his doctorate and serves as assistant organist at Mariners' Church.

Program chairman Ole Sarto also announces that an added attraction at the dinner will be a girls' singing group under the direction of Northville High School's new choir director, Miss Anita Kalouseian. Dinner reservations should be made by Tuesday by calling the church, 349-0911.

SPRING FASHIONS will be featured at the luncheon style show and card party being given by Northville Mothers' Club from 12:30 until 4 p.m. next Friday (March 10) at Northville Presbyterian Church.

While women at tables of four have lunch, the new-season fashions will be shown by professional models from Harvi's in Plymouth. Tickets for the benefit are $2.50 and are available from any Mothers' Club member.

For Lenten Dinner

Campus Crusader Set

The Reverend William E. Pannell, black evangelist and vice-president of Tom Skinner Associates, Inc., will speak at the third Lenten service at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Northville First Presbyterian Church.

The nationality dinner at 6:30 p.m. preceding the program will be French with those attending invited to bring table service for their family and a passing dish for each two persons. There will be a table of home-style food as well as the French.

The Reverend Pannell is campus director for the Tom Skinner Crusade, a black movement that is compared with Billy Graham's. The organization is designed to be a rallying point for evangelicals of all denominations "who are concerned about an effective evangelistic thrust to all of society."

Married and the father of two sons, the Reverend Pannell lives in Detroit. He is a native of Sturgis, Michigan, and a graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College with a BA degree in Bible.

During the past 20 years he has become well known in churches, crusades, conferences and through the radio and television media.

He has authored articles published in "Eternity," "His," "The Gospel Herald," "The United Brethren," "The Other Side," "Latin American Evangelist" and the "American Scientific Affiliation."

His recent hardcover book, "My Friend, The Enemy," is an attempt to portray some of the dynamics of living in America as a black evangelical Christian. It has been released through Word Books of Waco, Texas.

The speaker has traveled throughout the United States and in several foreign countries. He was a participant in the historic World Congress on Evangelism in Berlin.

His preaching ministry has gained wide acceptance in both black and white congregations. In addition, he directs the campus ministries of the Tom Skinner organization aimed at black university students primarily and centered in the Southeast. It aims to train black students in the effective methods of communicating their faith and to provide further outlet for constructive social involvement.

The Reverend Pannell also is concerned with a "ministry of reconciliation" affecting the church and society in general, "penetrating the sprawling central cities of this nation, and there to call men and women to repentance and faith in Jesus Christ."

The program and dinner are open to the entire community.

Art Club to See Artrain Films

Members of Three Cities Art Club will see a slide preview presentation of the Michigan Council for the Arts special project, "Artrain," which is coming to Plymouth April 19, as well as another film, "Art Is..." at its meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the Waterman Center at Schoolcraft College.

Produced by the Sears Roebuck Foundation in cooperation with the Associated Council for the Arts, the 28-minute color film, "Art Is..." has been called one of the finest films attempting to answer the question, "What is art?"

It explores "the many opportunities to respond with our senses to the world around us and how art reflects the meaning of life in a number of different levels," notes the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Appearing in the film are leading artists from a variety of art forms, including Conductor Leonard Bernstein, dancers Edward Villella and Patricia McBride, metal sculptor Robert Murray and mime Tony Montanaro.

The two films together run for an hour with the Artrain presentation being scheduled prior to its area appearance in Plymouth at the C & O Depot, according to Phelps Hines, club president, who adds that anyone in the community is welcome to attend the meeting.

Talks Focus On China

Interested area residents are invited to attend a conference on China being co-hosted by the Center for Teaching About War and Peace, Wayne State University and Iona College of the University of Windsor March 8-11.

Northville resident Mrs. James Perna points out that "with the entrance of China to the United Nations and the recent trip of President Nixon to China there is a renewed interest in this 'sleeping giant' again."

In order to promote a broader understanding of China, the conference is bringing American, Canadian and Asian scholars and leaders to speak in Detroit and Windsor. Major areas of discussion are Sino-North American relations, China's impact in Asia and the Chinese today. Admission is free. More information may be obtained by calling 577-3453.

Churches Plan Day of Prayer

Speaker for the 1972 World Day of Prayer service at 1 p.m. this Friday at Novi United Methodist Church is Mrs. William A. Ritter, the former Kristine Larson of this area and now the wife of the senior pastor of Newburg United Methodist Church of Livonia.

"All Joy Be Yours" is the theme for the one-hour service which is co-sponsored by the women of Northville Presbyterian, Northville United Methodist and Our Lady of Victory churches. Everyone in the area is welcome.

Mrs. Ritter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Larson, who were long time residents of Novi on West Grand River. She is a former member of the Novi United Methodist Church, having attended the Grand River church as a youngster. She was graduated from Northville High School in 1964 and attended Michigan State University and Wayne State University.

She presently is a student of Family Life Education and home economics at Wayne. She has one son, Billy, nearly five years old.

An activity to which Mrs. Ritter gives "high priority" has been participation with other church women in rehabilitation patterning process for a brain-damaged child.

Her current Newburg church activities include WSCS, Junior Methodist Youth Fellowship and chancel choir. She also is vice-president of West Detroit District Ministers' Wives Association. Another special interest is the Plymouth Cooperative Nursery which her son attends. This year she is an executive board member.

This is the first year that the Novi church, located at 41671 West Ten Mile Road between Novi and Meadowbrook roads, has been host for the World Day of Prayer service.

A combined choir has been formed of women from all four participating churches. Refreshments will be served after the service.

Toronto Trip Follows Rites

A wedding trip to Toronto followed the marriage of Louise Angove to William B. Firman, Jr., February 18 in Northville First Presbyterian Church with the Reverend Lloyd Brasure officiating.

Lynn Angove arrived home from studies in France in January in time to be her mother's attendant. She plans to return to Alma College where she is a language major the end of this month.

Lawrence Firman was his father's attendant.

Also present were the bride's son and daughter-in-law, the Lawrence Angoves of Pella, Iowa, and the bridegroom's daughter and son-in-law, the Gregory Lenskis of Dearborn, and another son, Steven.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bogart hosted a small reception for close friends of the couple afterward at their home on West Main Street.

The newlyweds are making their home on Westridge Lane, Northville.

DRESSING UP — Shop windows in town took on a new look last week as seniors in Northville High's retailing class put up displays for the merchants. Randy Spangler (left) and Parker Irey put the finishing touches on Pease Paint and Wallpaper's display.

Co-op Enrolls for Fall

Northville Cooperative Preschool Play Group now is accepting names for fall enrollment. Mrs. Jeff Goodrich, membership chairman, announced this week.

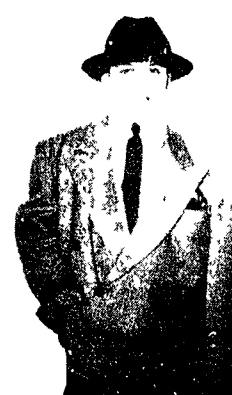

The nursery for three-to-five year olds meets in the scout-recreation building on Cady Street in two-and-three day sessions, with one group meeting on Tuesday and Thursday and the other, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Both sessions are from 9 to 11:20 a.m.

Anyone interested in enrolling a child is asked to call Mrs. Goodrich, 349-2854, as soon possible. Applications will be sent out in April to those on the list.

LWV Backs Registration

Registering to vote can be fun, point out the Livonia and Northville-Plymouth Leagues of Women Voters who are providing an accompaniment of four rock bands at student registration at Schoolcraft Community College March 10.

Starting at 7 p.m. as part of the voter registration drive, students at Schoolcraft have invited Harvey Oushinsky, WABX disc jockey John Sinclair, Rainbow People's Party; Edward McNamara, mayor of Livonia; and Dr. C. Nelson Grote, Schoolcraft president, to attend.

Music will be provided by "The Up," "Cat's Paw," "First Century" and "Blackwood Drake." Registrars from cities and townships in the college area will be present to sign up the new voters in the presidential election year.

Also as part of their voters' registration service, the leagues from Northville-Plymouth and Livonia, together with the Jaycees and Schoolcraft College, will present a program entitled "The New Voter."

This is a series of video tapes presenting major presidential candidates answering questions that most concern the new generation of voters. They will be shown starting March 6 through April 21 Monday and Tuesday students at Schoolcraft will view them; Wednesday through Friday students in Livonia, Plymouth and Northville are to see them. The public may see the presentations from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays at Schoolcraft.

Each political figure will be questioned by a panel of college students who have been selected to represent the broad spectrum of political viewpoints in the general student population—including everyone from an admirer of William Buckley to an advocate of the Peoples' Party.

Meeting Set By Democrats

Northville Democratic Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, March 9, at 8 p.m.

The group will discuss plans for the May Presidential Preference Primary, and the April millage election. Recently adopted campaign finance laws also will be evaluated.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dawson, 21219 E. Chigwidden. All interested Democrats are welcome to attend.

Walt Tuck, Novi's First President, Dies

Funeral services for Novi's first village president, Walter F. Tuck, will be held today (Thursday) at the Casterline Funeral Home at 2 p.m.

The Reverend Philip Seymour, pastor of the Novi United Methodist Church, will officiate.

Mr. Tuck, who died Monday at his home, 43111 Grand River, at the age of 71, will be buried in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens, Novi.

He had been in failing health for several years, although last month he took part in a meeting of the Novi Chamber of Commerce — an organization he helped found and later served as president.

Chief of the Novi Fire

Department for more than a quarter century before stepping down from the post, he organized the volunteer department at the request of the township in 1928.

Mr. Tuck was the prime-mover in the community's village incorporation, serving as chairman of the Novi Incorporation Committee.

In 1958 he was elected to the village charter commission, serving it as chairman, and later that same year he was elected to the first Novi council and subsequently he was selected by other charter councilmen to serve the community as its first president.

So intense was his ambition to see the new Novi government succeed, he personally advanced it money to see the village through some early financial difficulties that threatened payless paydays.

As the community's chief executive, he was instrumental in many of the government's early advancements, and he played a key role in employment of some of its first department heads, including the appointment of Police Chief Lee BeGole.

He bowed out of politics in 1962, saying, "I just feel I need to rest for awhile, and I'd like to give some of the other residents an opportunity to serve on the council in my place."

Besides his roles in municipal government, Mr. Tuck was active in numerous civic organizations. He was a member of the Novi Odd-fellows, Elks, and he served in

Student Code Wins Approval

With Board President Gilbert Henderson calling it the "best" product to come out of a citizens-school staff-student committee in at least four years, the Novi student conduct code was approved Monday for immediate implementation.

Only Trustee William Ziegler voted against approval—not because he disliked the code but because he felt some areas deserved "more thorough thinking."

The code, put together by adults, students, teachers and administrators, has been on the drawing boards for more than a year. Its final, acid test came recently with a review (for comments and recommendations) by general English class students.

According to Assistant Superintendent T. Richard Hendrickson, the general English class was selected to judge the code because these students represented a cross-section of all kinds of students—college prep, trades, etc.

"Generally speaking, their reaction (to the code) was rather positive," said Hendrickson, who pointed out several student recommendations. Among these were establishment of a specific smoking permitted area outside the school building but on school property, and stronger punishment for certain offenses.

Following his report of the English class reaction, the board approved the report as written and earlier revised. "This report impressed me more than any I've seen," declared President Henderson. "It's rare that you can get quality work from so many (participating) groups."

One of the reasons that Trustee Ziegler voted against approval is that he contended some of the student suggestions, especially that suggesting stiffer punishments, should be given additional consideration.

Concerning punishment, one of the committee members re-emphasized an earlier contention that punishment should carry with it some kind of manual labor at the school among peers.

Hendrickson countered by noting that where possible, this kind of punishment is being utilized, but that in some cases getting the student out of the school environment is better for the entire student body.

Trustee LaVerne DeWard lauded code, pointing out that those who helped produce it deserve the board's praise. He noted, however, that in all likelihood the state "will very soon" issue a student code for all Michigan school districts because some of them, unlike Novi, have failed to report their codes to the state.

For M-1 Zonings

Novi Amends Statute

An ordinance amendment governing the construction of barrier walls and fences and greenbelts around buildings in M-1 (light manufacturing) districts received the Novi city council's approval Monday by a narrow 4-3 margin.

Approval of the amendment was the major accomplishment in an unusually light evening of business in which the council sat with the Planning Board in a joint meeting to consider two proposed amendments to the city's ordinances.

The second amendment, which was approved unanimously, consisted of taking the legal action necessary to correct a typographical error in the zoning ordinance regarding restrictions for Residential Unit Developments (R.U.D.).

A third item on which no action was taken, however, was probably the most important one confronting council, and that item regarded the limitation on the height of buildings in light manufacturing zonings.

In their January 17 session the council made a tentative commitment of 11 sewer taps to Arkin Distributing Company to enable them to construct a warehouse and light manufacturing building on Nine Mile Road.

Dead Phones Raise Havoc

A freak accident Monday left Novi's police and fire telephone lines completely incapacitated and seriously impaired the functioning of telephone service in the entire Novi-Grand River Road area.

"What we had to do," explained City Manager George Athas, "was contact Michigan Bell and have them put an intercept operator on the police and fire lines (349-2444). All calls coming in on that line were transferred over to the regular city hall line (349-4300) and then we relayed them to the police."

By Tuesday morning the emergency lines had been restored and the system was back in regular working order.

What happened was that workmen working in the Novi-Grand River sewer trunk extension inadvertently pulled some key cables out of a large water-tight metal box that lies below the water line. When the lines came out of the box they got wet, creating a short circuit which cut-off telephone communications.

The short circuit also caused all the burglary alarms hooked into the police station to go off.

The accident took place at approximately 3:30 p.m. Monday and left the city with just three incoming lines. But even those three lines were undependable. "Between 4 and 7 p.m. we had anywhere from zero to three lines," said Athas. "After 7 p.m. all three city hall lines were operating properly."

Last week, at the February 21 council meeting, City Manager George Athas reported that Arkin Distributors had asked the council and planning board to consider an amendment to the zoning ordinance allowing a building 35 feet in height to be built. The present ordinance allows only a 25 foot building. As the ordinance in question was the same one already scheduled for discussion Monday, Athas said that the matter could be discussed in conjunction with the wall, fence, and greenbelt requirements.

Plans to take action Monday on the increase in building height were thwarted on a technicality, however. City Planning Consultant Edward Vettel agreed with Athas that the 25 foot limitation was too restrictive and should be changed, but also pointed out that if the building height is changed a similar proportionate change should be made in front yard setback requirement.

The setback requirement under the existing ordinance is 25 feet. If the building

Board Seeks State Support

Vocational education received a shot in the arm Monday as the Novi Board of Education took initial steps to launch a state-backed comprehensive program here next September.

Meeting at the Novi Middle School, following a dinner meeting with junior and senior high staffers, the board—

• Voted to align itself with the Huron Valley (Milford) and South Lyon School districts in seeking a shared vocational education director.

• Voted to make application to state for funds to operate five specific vocational education programs, with provision later to select three of these five for implementation.

Lone dissenter was Trustee LaVerne DeWard, who argued basically that the actions were premature in view of the fact that (1) they leave too many unanswered questions, and (2) that state's new vocational education aid program has not yet been funded.

Programs for which Novi will seek aid include: business machine and mechanics, mill work, cabinet making, electricity and electronics, and power mechanics (small engine repair).

Staffer John Ishler, who explained the state program to board members reported that should Novi go ahead with all five voc ed programs it would represent a total Novi outlay of some $82,000, with a total $31,000 rebate annually from the state.

Should Novi choose to go ahead with just three programs, as outlined in Ishler's Priority I recommendation, initial cost to the district would be some $45,000, with $23840 reimbursed by the state annually, he said.

Should the other two school districts—South Lyon and Milford—agree to the alignment with Novi, the three districts would share the voc ed director, with 40 percent of his salary being paid by the state and 60 percent by the three districts on a per student basis.

"I'm not against vocational education," said DeWard, "but I'm not satisfied with the presentation. It leaves too many unanswered questions. We could be committing ourselves to a tremendous expense" should the state fail to subsidize the program.

Superintendent Thomas Dale recommended the board move slowly. "I'm thinking ahead to next year's budgetary program," he said.

"I want to move ahead quickly," commented Trustee William Ziegler, "but not at the expense of other (academic) areas." At his suggestion, the board decided to permit Ishler to apply for aid on all five programs with the stipulation that only three areas be picked for implementation the first year.

Following a remark by Ishler that a local outlay of funds, based on the faith that the state will fulfill its financial obligation, is a "chance I think you have to take," Trustee Robert Wilkins, a strong advocate of Voc ed, declared, "We must put our necks on the chopping block. We are turning out 50 percent of our students who are prepared for nothing (work upon graduation)."

He urged the board to commit itself to developing a strong voc ed program—with or without state funds.

It's Official: Dale to Go

The resignation of School Superintendent Thomas Dale was accepted without comment by the board of education Monday night.

When the resignation, submitted to the board last month, came up Monday, Dale left the room and the matter was immediately closed with acceptance. The resignation is effective June 30.

No decision was revealed relative to Dale's requests and comment that he be allowed to retain privileges of tenure, that unused vacation time be granted him after the contract expires, and that he is willing to serve in any other capacity (business manager, consultant, etc.) if the board wishes him to do so.

Although the board has made no public disclosure, The News has learned that search for a replacement from outside the district has begun.

Auto Crash Claims Life

A Novi girl was killed and two other Novi residents were seriously injured in an automobile accident which occurred late Monday afternoon on Grand River, west of Haggerty.

Dead is Pamela Susan Shipley, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shipley of 39566 Blakeston in Novi Township. Miss Shipley was a junior at Novi High School.

Hospitalized were Paul Johnson, 17, of 25682 Lincoln, and Howard Edward Montroy, 61, of 40211 Washington.

All three were taken by ambulance to Botsford Hospital. Miss Shipley was pronounced dead on arrival; Johnson was transferred immediately to St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor, and Montroy was admitted to Botsford in serious condition.

Tuesday morning Montroy's condition was listed as fair by hospital spokesmen.

Details of the accident are being withheld by police pending further investigation. Police would only say the accident was caused when one of the cars crossed the middle line and hit the approaching vehicle head on.

The front half of the Johnson vehicle was seared completely off by the force of the impact and was found some 20 feet away from the rest of the chassis. Miss Shipley was a passenger in the car driven by Johnson.

Funeral services for Miss Shipley will be held at Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Farmington Friday, March 3. Monsignor Joseph Imesch will read a Mass at 10 a.m. Interment will be in the Holy Sepulcher Memorial Park in Southfield.

A scripture reading will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7:45 p.m. at the Thayer Funeral Home, 33603 Grand River, Farmington.

JUDICIAL BRIEFING—Judge Dunbar Davis of the 35th District Court explains courts and procedures to students during one of the age of majority seminars last Thursday at Northville High. City and township clerks registered over 100 students to vote at the school during the day.

They Mark 50th Year

By NANCY DINGELDEY

"It was a day of many happy thoughts and remembrances for us." That was the way Frances and George Morris summed up their 50th wedding anniversary celebration. Quite a crowd of well-wishers joined the event at Wixom school last Sunday.

On February 25, 1922, the two exchanged vows in the parsonage of the Northville Presbyterian Church. They moved to Detroit where he was associated with the Goddard and Goddard Tool Company from which he retired in 1966.

Fifteen years ago they returned to Wixom where Mrs. Morris was born and raised. Her husband is originally from Northville. They have two daughters, Mrs. Jerry (Marilyn) Wood of Desert Hot Springs, California, and Mrs. Glenn (Marion) Lent of Livonia, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The Morris' daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Wood, brought with her best wishes from five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Among the many gifts the couple received were a money tree from the Senior Citizens, plus "so many lovely things I wouldn't know where to start."

"It was so nice to see and talk to so many of the people we hadn't seen for so long and it was just a lovely, lovely afternoon," said Frances.

The reception, with over 150 attending, was planned by their daughters and one granddaughter, Mrs. Dennis Slicker of Belleville. Out of town guests included 15 relatives from Delaware and Strathroy, Ontario, Canada, Harrisville and Brevort, Michigan and California.

The head table was arranged with a centerpiece of carnations and mums, candles and a wedding cake. Table decorations included gold vases with mums and carnations with gold ribbon roses at the corners of each table. Mrs. Morris wore a corage of mums and carnations with golden ribbon.

Frances and George are very active people, enjoying together the Senior Citizens Club, gardening and traveling. Frances is also a great handicrafter and she creates many unusual items.

On Monday, they made the trip to the airport to see daughter Marilyn off on a plane back to California. It was a short visit but an enjoyable one for the family.

To a great Wixom couple, may we add to the long list of congratulations, our very best wishes on a great milestone.

From Jane Wahamaki, coordinator of the Wixom Identification Program sponsored by the Police Department, comes the latest in plans for a successful identification program.

Letters explaining the W.I.P. Program will be hand delivered to each home in Wixom by each district's representatives. The following are the dates of the identification program and representative's name for each geographical district in the City.

March 4, Highgate Sub-division, Stephen Rumbaugh, March 11, Palmer Lakes Estates, T.B. Bissel, Jr., March 18, Beck Road, Lois Green, March 25, Potter Road, Fred Beamish.

April 1, West Maple Road, Corbin Tillman, April 8, North Wixom Road, Mrs. Sutherland; April 15, Finnish Camp, Jack Karell; April 22, Pontiac Trail, John Parvu, April 29, South Wixom Road, West Road, Wainstock, Theodore, Renton, Charms and Chambers, Jerry Gresham.

May 6, Hickory Hills, Bob Dingeldey; May 13, Birch Park, Ray Burke; May 20, Grand River, Twelve Mile and Leisure Apartments, George Aronen.

In addition, reflectorized stickers will be put on the bikes of children whose parents are participating in the program.

The goal of the program is to reach at least 90 percent of the homeowners in Wixom, have them identify household items that are usually sought by thieves, and in this manner, build up a deterrent to those who might wish, under other circumstances, to break in and ransack the home.

Hand delivering the letters explaining the program gets underway this week. Should you not receive a letter, contact your local representative.

Lee Maxwell of Maple Road has entered St. Joseph's Hospital in Pontiac for knee surgery. It is expected that his confinement will be from seven to ten days. A speedy recovery, Lee.

At 85 pounds and 4'1" tall, Bob Vangieson celebrated his "third" birthday Tuesday. Twelve of his friends joined him after school for a trip to Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor. Main item on the menu — "The Zoo," which is a conglomeration of ice cream, fruits, nuts and sauces all served in one huge bowl.

The big hit of this, of course, besides the ice cream that is, is the flashing lights, the going bells, whistles and shouts of Happy Birthday during the serving.

Can you imagine that it takes two people to carry the tub?

Bob is one of those people who happened to come along on February 29. I suppose you could look at it as only having a birthday party once every four years. I can just imagine what it was like having twelve spoons digging in one bowl all at the same time.

Walled Lake's A.D.E. trailer will have an Open House, Sunday, March 5, A.D.E., which stands for Alcohol and Drug Education, has its headquarters on Ladd Road.

Out of The Past

School 'Loses' Hatchery

FIVE YEARS AGO

Northville school district has lost its bid to acquire the 15 acre fish hatchery site because its proposal did not include a day care center for training retarded children to which the government said it would give top priority. Meanwhile, Wayne State University is eyeing the property to studying water pollution.

Although the action was not unanimous, the city council decided Monday that it should make every effort to acquire the fish hatchery land in view of the school district being ruled out.

The much talked about overpass between Moraine Elementary and Northville Estates moved a step closer to reality Monday as the board of education directed its architect to secure bids on the proposed facility.

Novi village council and planning commission overwhelmingly voted against a request for a mobile home site during a joint public hearing. The request was to rezone 29 acres between Grand River and 11 Mile Road and Seeley and Meadowbrook roads.

Armed with a battery of questions, a capacity crowd of primarily Birch Park Improvement Association members jammed the Wixom city council chamber to sound out the city on its sewer system.

action to increase the size of the school district by more than half and gain the right to levy school taxes on the new Lincoln plant.

The Eight Mile Road cutoff came back into the news this week with the announcement that a final decision has been made on the road's route. The cutoff will begin at Baseline east of Griswold, angle off to join Carlyle and continue west to join Baseline again at Taft Road.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Northville Fire Department has ordered the latest model high pressure fire truck which will be delivered in approximately 60 days. The truck will cost $6,169 plus the cost of a chassis at $1,690.

Northville has received $6,641 as its share of the 1946 weight and gasoline tax collections.

At the time of the last fire alarms, the whistle was frozen and would not function, so the department answered them without the usual siren alarm to the community.

Shortly after 7 a.m. Wednesday, villagers were alarmed as their lights flickered and an explosion was heard. The explosion, of undetermined origin, was at the corner of Church and East Main street where two manhole covers were hurled into the air, wrecking telephone wires and several light poles.

A petition is being passed about the township asking for the submission to the voters of the township the question, "Shall the sale of alcoholic liquors by the glass in addition to beer and wines be allowed in the township of Northville?" If 400 names are secured it will be placed on the April ballot.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Something new for Northville has developed in the establishing of a riding academy at the stables at the Randolph home. Harry Cole of Detroit, formerly with Cincinnati Riding Academy, is in charge and has for hire six fine Kentucky saddle horses.

The Wixom BYPU social held last Friday netted them the nice sum of $17.

Owing to the fact that many of Farmington's players are suffering with sore arms on account of vaccinations, the basketball game scheduled with Northville has been postponed.

Next Sunday, Missionaries to the Congo, Roscoe and Rachel Lee and family, will be spending the day at the church. They will have part in all the services including Sunday School, morning and evening worship service, and in the youth meetings. There will be a potluck dinner following the morning worship service with the Lees. Each family is asked to bring a passing dish.

The Sunday School is experiencing "good growth", and this can be attributed to the Sunday School busing ministry," officials report. "We now have two bus routes. The north area bus covers the Walled Lake area and the newest route covers the South area, including Echo Valley Subdivision, Willowbrook area, Orchard Hills and Meadowbrook Glens. Anyone wishing transportation to Sunday School should contact either the church office at 349-3477, or one of the bus drivers, North area 624-2708 or South area 349-5976. Last Sunday, 73 boys and girls came to Sunday School via the buses."

Members are reminded that every Monday night is CALLING NIGHT and more people are needed for this work. The 28 children who rode the south area bus are a result of calling in the area. Also needed are persons to provide refreshments for the callers. If you can assist in either capacity, phone the church office any weekday morning between 9:00 a.m. and 12 noon.

Code Approved

appearing just before the code preamble—namely, that "students have a responsibility to be accountable for their actions" and that "parents have a responsibility to be accountable for their children"; the Reverend Leslie Harding emphasized that until students and parents recognize these responsibilities the code will be meaningless.

Among the changes noted in the 15-page document, which was reviewed at length in an earlier newspaper account, were these:

1. An addition, suggesting that the administrative staff "strive for uniformity of application."

2. An addition, advising that crimes "will be reported" to law enforcement agencies.

3. A similar addition, saying that students carrying or possessing illegal drugs "will be reported to the police department."

4. Substitution of a rule governing distribution of materials, namely that "materials which advocate violence or the violent overthrow of our government (and - or political activities which would be detrimental to our governmental system) is prohibited."

5. Add to corporal punishment. "Corporal punishment is authorized when issued in a responsible manner, taking into consideration the age, sex, and size of the offender and the seriousness of the offense and shall be done privately except that it may be done publicly for protection of the student from aggression by another student or the protection of a staff member from aggression by another student."

Concerning the suggestions that stiffer penalties are needed, English class students pointed to three specific areas:

Stiffer first-offense penalties for illegal use of drugs. Penalty in the code is "mandatory parent notification, parent-counselor conference during suspension before return to school, up to a five day suspension, and referral to appropriate agency to aid parent in dealing with the problem."

• Driving and parking lot violations, students generally agreed, require more enforcement.

• Penalties for school truancy are insufficient, students said. The code's stiffest penalty under this section is up to 10-day suspension with parent conference before return to school "for repeated offenses."

Concerning the student suggestion that a permitted smoking area be established, Hendrickson, said students felt this approach would be more realistic and less offensive to the non-smoker who must now contend with illegal smokers in restrooms, that it would make for cleaner school, and that it would be safer.

Basic to this argument said Hendrickson was the student admission that 11 of 20 students in one class were smokers and that 10 of 23 in another were smokers. If students are going to smoke, even if it is illegal, then it would be better to permit it in a designated area away from other students, they reasoned.

Overall chairman of the committees that researched and prepared the code was Dieron Tafarihan, a former Novi councilman.

several leadership roles with the Novi Methodist Church. He also had served as a school board president in Novi.

Mr. Tuck, along with several other citizens, spearheaded the construction of the Novi Community Building, adjacent to Novi Elementary School.

Although he was constantly active in community affairs in one capacity or another, Mr. Tuck was first and foremost a businessman who had "a little oil in my veins."

Born April 6, 1900 in Detroit to Fred J. and Mary (Weisthat) Tuck, he moved to Novi in 1925 and built a garage and a business -- Novi Auto Parts — that today exists in relocated facilities.

The original Novi Auto Parts landmark opposite the National Bank of Detroit was destroyed by fire in February, 1971, as its founder looked on helplessly from a wheelchair. The business was subsequently moved to different quarters on Grand River, just west of Novi Road.

Mr. Tuck had retired from the business, operated now by his sons, W. Harold and Donald F. Tuck, who survive him as do four grandchildren and a sister, Lillian Wines of Farmington.

Mrs. Zetta Tuck preceded her husband in death on August 3, 1959. They were married April 15, 1924.

On School Staff

Women Outnumber Men

While the ratio of men to women teachers is still far below 50-50, Northville school district has six percent more men teachers this year than last.

The figures were released recently in a personnel study written by Robert Benson, personnel director for the school.

According to the report, 34 percent of the teachers in the district are men, while last year only 28 percent were men.

By school, Amerman's staff is composed of 16 percent men; Main Street, 12 percent; Moraine, 6 percent; Cooke Annex, 46 percent; middle school, 43 percent; high school, 54 percent; and special services, 8 percent.

Of the total 161 teachers employed in the district, 58 teachers have received masters degrees with 15 of those working towards a higher degree.

Eastern Michigan University granted bachelor degrees to 38 Northville teachers; Michigan State, 27 degrees; Wayne State and University of Michigan, 16 each.

Northern Michigan, Western Michigan, six each; Central Michigan, three; Albion, Ferris, Hillsdale, two each; and Kalamazoo, Madonna, Mercy, Oakland, Sienna Heights, University of Detroit, one each.

Out of state colleges granting bachelor degrees included Ohio, eight; New York, Wisconsin, five each; Indiana, four; Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, two each; and Arizona, California, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, North Dakota, one each.

Colleges awarding masters degrees included Eastern Michigan, 25; Michigan State, four; University of Detroit, one; University of Michigan, 13; and Wayne State, five. Out of state schools include universities of Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, New York, New York State at Buffalo and West Washington State, one each.

Twenty-seven percent of Northville's teachers fall in the 25-29 age bracket; 20-24 year bracket, 26 percent; 30-34, 12 percent; 35-39, nine percent; 40-44, six percent; 45-49, six percent; 50-54, three percent; and 60-64, three percent.

In total years of teaching experience, two and one-half to three years totals 18 percent of the teachers, one and one-half to two years, 13 percent; six and one-half to 10, 13 percent; 10½ to 15, 11 percent.

No previous experience, one-half to one year, three and one-half to four, four and one-half to five, eight percent each, 25½ or more, four percent, and five and one-half to six, 15½ to 20, 20½ to 25, three percent each.

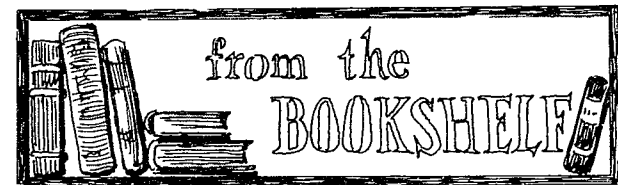

Most of the teachers in the district live in Northville, according to the study, with 51 giving Northville as their home address. Plymouth claims 32 teachers, other cities, 23, Ann Arbor, 17;

Livonia, 14; Farmington, nine; Detroit and Ypsilanti, six each.

Of the 55 men employed in the district, 12 are single, while 20 of the 106 women are single.

Of the 17 teachers who resigned at the end of the 1970-71 school year, 14 were women and three were men, Benson's report noted.

Average length of service to the district was two years. Seven resigned at the elementary level, nine at the secondary level and one in special services.

New books in the library this week include

Four Buses For Sale

Novi's board of education has authorized the sale of four old school buses.

Sealed bids on the four International buses will be presented to the board at its next meeting on March 13.

In other matters here Monday, the board acknowledged the receipt of $31, from the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution for purchase of flag for the new middle school and the Village Oaks elementary school.

Heard a report on the results of the state assessment testing program, in which Superintendent Thomas Dale noted that Novi ranked higher in the 1970-71 assessment.

Dale emphasized that while the percentile ranking of Michigan schools ranged from 1 to 100, most children in the state ranked in the 50-percentile bracket. Novi was ranked at 54 and 70 percent (fourth and seventh grades).

The superintendent also reported that school officials across the state are finding criticism with the assessment program. And Trustee LaVerne DeWard added that Dr. John Porter, state school superintendent, agrees the testing program is faulty and that Bloomfield Hills has been given a $75,000 grant to develop a new assessment program.

Found especially irritating by Dale is the fact that the assessment is tied directly to state aid, with those school districts doing poorly on the tests receiving more aid than those who do well.

Heard a report that Robert S. Kramp, director of library services for Oakland County Intermediate Schools, toured Novi school library facilities last month and "was pleased and complimentary of our library offerings," Kramp, said Dale, indicated the Novi book selection "was better than average." He suggested less furniture in each library and the addition of a few bean bag chairs and cushions, reported Dale.

Learned that workmen are working rapidly to complete the connection from the gas "feed to the boiler" at Novi Elementary School as part of the conversion process. Speed is essential, reported Assistant Superintendent T. Richard Hendrickson, since an oil leak in the basement has created oil odors disturbing to students and teachers.

Approved payment of $20,000 to the Waterford Construction Company, and $4,228.06 to the Detroit Edison Company, which had been billing the middle school contractor for electricity used at the school.

Tabled items involving change in wording of previously approved salary levels for Novi administrators, purchase of a gymnasium divider at the middle school, and a suggestion that an anti-nepotism policy be adopted.

Wixom Council Hears County Land Use Plan

Partners in Planning, a program of coordinated land use in Oakland County, was presented to Wixom city council at a special meeting Monday by representatives of the Oakland County Planning Commission.

Open space, population, transportation, community structure, economic development and zoning and regulatory measures were explained as problems in the county-wide plan to control and channel land use.

Cluster housing and city centers with a mixture of residential, commercial and office facilities all within walking distance were suggested as alternatives to single family housing. Such uses, it was felt, would open up land areas and slow automobile-oriented development that characterizes most urban areas.

In what urban designer Andrew Roze described as "insensitive development," much of existing urban areas is devoted to cars, with great distance between facilities, he said.

With proper planning older areas may be able to change their function, to adapt to new land use proposals instead of decaying and grow old gracefully, he suggested.

Within the next 25 years we will need 150,000 acres of land for development, according to Phillip Dondero, and "we can use areas suitable for development without touching our best resource areas." Dondero also said other means of saving land for protection of natural resources could be found in a county-wide program besides outright acquisition through rezoning by local units of government.

Transportation expert Shan Topiwala said it follows that "if you can plan land use you can plan transportation needs. Transportation facilities (referring primarily to roads and expressways) are not only for service to a city, but can determine what kind of a city you will have."

Development, said Harold McKay, has to be seen from three viewpoints. The developer, who wants to make a profit, the government, which has to provide services to its people, and the people who live there.

McKay said the Industrial Park method is one by which an industry can grow without interfering with or coming too much in conflict with the rest of the city.

Paul Long said zoning is moving in the direction of a county role.

NEA Memorial Honors Teacher

Northville Education Association (NEA) has voted to name its scholarship the Diana Lance Memorial Scholarship.

The announcement was made recently by Mrs. Sylvia Torma, president of NEA.

Miss Lance taught mathematics at Northville High for 27 years, during which time she was active in educational and community affairs.

She retired from teaching in 1970 and died in October, 1971.

In announcing the fund, Mrs. Torma said, "Because Miss Lance is remembered for her selfless contributions to education in this community, the Northville Education Association wished to commemorate her name in this way."

Re-Zoning Nixed

The petitioner had, in 1966, asked for multiple zoning east of the land currently in question to serve as a transition to single family homes, at which time the rezoning was granted and provided an adequate solution, not requiring another transition area.

The proposed plan (decreasing multiples by six lots) is an improvement (over 16 29 acres of multiples) but represents penetration into existing single family zoning rather than a transition

Girl Wins VFW Prize

Sondra Smith, a 17 year old junior at Walled Lake Western High School received a $100 United States Savings Bond and plaque in recognition of her award winning essay, "My Responsibility to Freedom."

Miss Smith's patriotic message won her the top award which was sponsored locally by the L.A. Sims Post 3952 in conjunction with the 25th annual VFW Voice of Democracy Program.

By winning the local contest, Sondra will now compete for Oakland County and District VFW Honors. The state competition follows, which would allow winners of the lower levels to compete for national honors. A $10,000 scholarship award awaits the winner of the national award.

The award was made to Miss Smith by Elmer Conrad, VFW Voice of Democracy chairman at a program on February 11. Other awards were presented to William Calhoun, Walled Lake Western assistant principal; Mrs. Jacqueline Plas performing arts teacher; and Joseph Malonis, counselor at Western.

Assisting at the awards ceremony were Post Commander Howard C. Cunningham and Mrs. Jack Colpitts, Voice of Democracy chairman of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Al Potts Gets Keys to Business from Al Laux Who Sold Drug Store

Al Laux Sells Northville Drug

Northville Drug Company changed hands last weekend with the sale of the downtown business by Arliss G. Laux to Allen Potts, who had been working for Laux for the past three years.

Potts, who lives with his wife, Susan, and two children at 18768 Jamestown Circle, plans no change in name or business.

A 1967 graduate of Wayne State University's pharmacy school, Potts is a native of Detroit. He is a member of the Northville Jaycees and Our Lady of Victory Church.

Laux and his family, which includes his wife and two children, will move from their home at 948 Allen Drive next June to Arizona — a state he "fell in love with" during periodic trips to the Superstition Mountains with a group of Northville men in search of buried treasure.

According to Arizona legend, a rich Spanish goldmine was covered and left still containing riches but never again found. A feature story appearing in The Record on the Northville men's search last year won first place in state competition with weekly newspapers of all sizes.

Laux, who will continue his pharmacy work in Arizona, purchased Northville Drug Company, 134 East Main, from Leo Mainville in 1961. Mainville still owns the building in which the drug store is located.

A charter member of the Northville Jaycees, Laux is also a member and the immediate past president of the Northville Rotary Club. He moved to Northville in 1957.

His wife, Brenda, is the daughter of John Wortman of Northville, who years ago operated a hardware store in The Record building at the corner of Main and Center streets.

Teens Beat Old Timers

It was a classic confrontation between youth and experience last week when the Teen-Superstars of Meadowbrook Glen took on the Old Timers of the subdivision and eked out a 20-16 triumph on the basketball court at Novi Middle School.

Sponsored by the Meadowbrook Glen Homeowner's Association, the cage classic raised funds to finance a trip to see the Detroit Red Wings take on the Boston Bruins in hockey March 28. Approximately 80 people attended the game.

Coached by Gary Roberts, members of the Teen-Superstars were Steve Black, Don Durocher, Skip Gainer, Bill Gainer, Scott Halladay, Steve Toyhaven, Dave Warneke, Don Warneke, Eddie Weaver, John Weaver, and Jim Vinariski.

Cheerleaders for the Superstars were Mary Beth Kovar, Lily Galgren, Denise Paquette, Carol Toyhaven, and Sandy Kovar.

The Old-Timers had to play without the benefit of either a coach or cheerleaders. They were Jim Lippert, Larry Williams, Joe Pochter, Jim Leatherman, Chuck Gramlich, Carl Frank, Dave Anderson, Jerry Fortenberry, Todd Price, Midk Veenstra, Bill Phifer, Ellis Venushar, and Jim Acetelli.

Jim Cote and Gordon Parker refereed the hotly-contested affair.

The activity was planned by Zoe Ann Price, Barbara Roberts, Corliss Gramlich, and Sonia Parmley.

Sports Films on Tap

Sports films, relay races, a magician and refreshments will highlight the evening following Moraine Elementary's father and son dinner tonight, Thursday.

The program, co-chaired by Phil Demski, fifth grade teacher, and Walter Carter, father of one of the students, is open to all fourth and fifth grade boys and their fathers. A sloppy joe dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. followed by a magician show. Relay races, with fathers and sons as partners, a professional football movie and an outdoor film are also planned. Refreshments will be served, concluding the evening.

Robert Boshoven is in charge of the relays and Mrs. John Cooper heads the refreshment committee.

NEW BUSINESS

1 Mr. Raymond Spear, tax collections. Spear explained that he was present to follow up a written request to our board to consider the matter of summer as well as winter collection of property taxes. This early collection of taxes would provide the school board with additional revenue at that time, and make it unnecessary for the school district to borrow money to meet payrolls and other expenses, thus providing a savings of 25 to 30 thousand dollars in interest. Permissive state legislation has been provided for such an early collection, but it takes approval of the tax collection agency. He requested that a committee of the Township Board meet with representatives of the City of Northville and the School Board to explore the merits and - or problems of such an early tax program. Klein moved that the board explore the feasibility of collection taxes twice a year and that the supervisor appoint a committee to meet with a committee from the City of Northville and the School Board, and further, that Treasurer Straub be one member of said committee, seconded by Schaeffer.

Ayes All.

2 Library expansion. Mrs. Sliger of the Library Commission outlined the plans for conversion of the Northville Library mezzanine into a children's reading area. It would cost $2,700 for these improvements, plus $400 for star carpeting. The improvements have been approved by the Northville City Council. Klein moved that the board agree to authorize the improvement for the Library. The township will pay its share of the improvement on an adjusted rental basis, and will advance $350.00 to the library for these improvements which should then be deducted for the 1972-73 adjusted rental budget item. Supported by Schaeffer Ayes All.

Supported by Schaeffer Ayes All.

8 Magazine Solicitation Ordinance. Copies of the proposed ordinance were studied and a few changes made including striking section 9 and one sentence in section 11, plus eliminating fees from the ordinance. (Fees are usually adopted only by resolution.) Mitchell moved to adopt Ordinance No. 41 as revised, seconded by Schaeffer Nays None Motion carried.

Novi Gets Own Breathalyzer

Novi police will no longer have to travel to Northville or the Oakland County Sheriff's Department whenever they want to give a breathalyzer test. Thanks to the Michigan State Police, Novi now has use of its own breathalyzer machine.

The breathalyzer is used by police in determining whether an individual is legally drunk. Officers using the machine take samples of the air in the suspect's lungs and determine the degree of alcohol in that air. The amount of alcohol in the air in the lungs is equivalent to the amount of alcohol found in the blood.

According to state law a reading of .15 percent alcohol in the blood stream makes a person legally drunk. That figure will soon be lowered to .10, however.

Novi presently has six licensed breathalyzer operators. Gerald Pratt, John Johnson, Frank Barabas, Gerald Burnham, Ralph Fluhart, and William Brown are all licensed by the state.

In 1970 Novi police arrested 32 drivers for driving under the influence of liquor and nine for driving with ability impaired.

In 1971, after Barabas had become the first Novi officer to become licensed to use the breathalyzer, arrests for driving under the influence of liquor jumped to 45, an increase of 40 percent.

This increase, police feel, can be attributed to the use of the breathalyzer.

The machine is being furnished to Novi police for their use by the Michigan State Police, who still retain ownership.

Raid Nets Drugs Here

In Northville

One man has been charged with possession of narcotics and two with loitering following a raid early Sunday morning by city police on an apartment at 496 West Cady Street.

Charged with possession of narcotics was Robert W. Handyside, 22, of 496 West Cady Street. Charges of loitering have been filed against Richard R. Stewart, 20, of 164 East Cady Street and Gary J. Jaskolski, 21, of Farmington.

Handyside and Jaskolski are each free on $500 personal bond and Stewart is free on $50 cash bond. All three will be arraigned on the charges Tuesday in 35th District Court.

City police obtained a search warrant and staged the raid shortly before 1:30 a.m. Sunday after receiving information a party involving narcotics was being held at the West Cady Street address.

Confiscated at the scene were quantities of suspected marijuana, several containers of pills and narcotic paraphernalia. An unregistered revolver of undetermined caliber also was found at the scene.

The suspected drugs and the weapon were sent to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab for analysis.

Police said four stitches were required to close a cut finger sustained by Jaskolski when he attempted to slam the door on police officers and was cut by broken glass.

Police said a purse and several other items in the home had been rifled but nothing was found missing.

A car at 18333 Pinbrook was broken into Saturday night and an attempt made to remove an eight track stereo. Township police said pry marks were found around a window which was forced open to get into the car and marks were found around the stereo.

In Novi

An intensive search involving approximately 200 persons, five police departments, Novi's fire department, two rescue units and the DPW, ended in the recovery of a Novi man reported missing for almost eight hours, last Friday.

Fritz Kirchberg, 73, 49800 Nine Mile Road, was reported missing about 5 p.m. when he failed to return from a walk he took about 2:30 p.m.

Police began the search after a neighbor reported that Kirchberg was walking in the vicinity of a near-by swamp.

A major search was initiated at approximately 6:30 p.m. as darkness approached, and the Novi police tracking dog was unable to locate the missing man.

Police and reserves from Novi, as well as police from Northville, Northville Township, Oakland County Sheriff, South Lyon and Michigan State Police, along with the Novi DPW and fire department, were dispatched to the scene as Novi's two rescue units prepared a helicopter landing strip for a possible aerial search.

Searchers were concentrated in the swamp area as other searchers covered a circular area starting from the Kirchberg house outward, where a search headquarters was set up with Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole commanding.

As police questioned residents in the area, a county-wide radio broadcast was aired to aid the search.

The search ended when South Lyon police found Kirchberg on the corner of Nine mile and Currie walking west.

Kirchberg was found in good physical condition, suffering only minor scratches from a fall and fatigue.

A warrant is being sought for the arrest of Steven Roger Clingan, 18, of 101 South Lake Drive on charge of assault and battery.

According to police, Clingan approached two juveniles Wednesday, February 23, at approximately 2:30 in the afternoon, accused them of turning in one of his friends to the police, and then started hitting them.

A Detroit man, 29-year old Gary Bryce MacLeod, has been arrested on charges of being drunk in a public place. MacLeod was observed staggering and shooting in the rear parking lot of the Novi Inn early Sunday morning, February 20, police reported. The man was taken to the Novi police station where he became unruly to the point he had to be handcuffed and finally transported to the Oakland County Jail, said police.

Minor personal injuries resulted from an automobile accident which occurred Sunday, February 20, at 10 Mile and Beck Roads.

Police reported that a car driven by Leonard Leigh Brand, 17, of Southfield, was struck in the rear by a second vehicle driven by Arlene Ruth Norris of 109 Fairbrook in Northville. The accident occurred, police said, because Brand failed to signal before making a right hand turn.

None of the injured parties required hospitalization.

Impaired vision was cited as the primary factor in a property damage accident, which occurred on South Lake Drive last week.

A vehicle driven by John Ray Turvey of Walled Lake was traveling east bound on South Lake Drive, when it was hit by a second vehicle driven by Sterling Eugene Worley, also of Walled Lake. Worley was backing out of his driveway, police said, and reported he did not see Turvey's vehicle approaching.

After the collision, Turvey's car careened into a mail box, causing further damage to the car.

Investigation of the death of a Paragon worker revealed that the man had died of natural causes, a heart attack.

Robert Dobbs, 59, a Detroit man, passed out while at work Thursday, February 24, at approximately 10 a.m. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. Dobbs, police discovered, had a history of heart trouble.

Breaking and entering and safecracking was reported at Country Building Supplies, 43755 Grand River Saturday, February 26, Novi police said.

The sum of $280 was taken from the safe, which police said was entered by ripping and prying open the door.

Police believe two unknown persons are responsible for the theft as two sets of tracks were found outside.

Entry into the building was made by prying open a rear door. Other physical evidence was collected by the Novi Detective Bureau and turned over to the Michigan State Police crime lab for analysis.

A color television set, a clock, and several pieces of jewelry were taken from the Fairchild residence, 44911 Nine Mile Road, Sunday, February 27, police reported.

Returning home at approximately 9:15 p.m. the Fairchilds found their home had been ransacked and the above mentioned items, valued in excess of $1,000, had been taken.

From the nature of the items taken Novi detectives feel two persons were involved in the larceny.

A burglary from Peraino's Texaco Station was reported last week by Frank Peraino of 26666 Novi Road, manager of the station.

Peraino told Police entry was made through the front door and a portable television set and an adding machine with a total value of $250 were taken.

A Novi youth was remanded to juvenile court for allegedly making an illegal entry into a small storage building behind the Leon Dochot residence. Approximately $200 worth of aquarium supplies were taken during the larceny which occurred Friday, February 18, police said.

In Wixom

A wallet reported by Wixom Police to contain a Marijuana cigarette was found by Ford Motor Company security officer Charles Phillips Tuesday, February 22.

A field test on the cigarette found in the wallet belonging to a Detroit resident proved that it contained marijuana. Action on the case is pending.

Salem Grants Permit For Machine Shop

Barry L. Egeler gained a conditional use permit from the Salem Board of Appeals in 15 minutes Friday.

Egeler was granted the permit to operate his new machine shop at 10124 Six Mile Road.

The owner explained that the shop will house three cold heading and one thread rolling machines. He plans to keep all stock within the building, anticipates no trucking problems and promised to use no punch presses. On the latter item, appeals board members indicated that such presses would not be allowed under conditions of the permit.

Appeal was necessitated due to the closeness of the building to its east lot line (a non-conforming setback of about 10 feet). It does comply with the zoning of the area. Fred Verran, zoning inspector, stated that he was familiar

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Remember the Michigan State Police Post proposed for the Northville-Plymouth area?

Well, it's still very much in the picture, except that, it's grown to include a crime laboratory and district headquarters unit as well as a post.

And right now State Police officials are studying proposals for complexes submitted by two groups, one from Northville and the other from Plymouth.

You may remember that a year ago in this column it was learned from State Police officers from the Detroit Post in Redford that a post was being sought in this area. Efforts to lease two vacant buildings at the Child Development Center from Wayne county failed when commissioners opposed the idea.

Months later these same commissioners reversed themselves after finding no better use for the buildings, but by then the Plymouth and Northville groups were busy designing new facilities large enough to include a district headquarters.

Private interests are pursuing the project in Plymouth. They'd like to locate the complex on Northville road across from the new Hilton Hotel currently under construction.

The new M-14 expressway, scheduled for construction beginning in 1974, crosses Northville road a few hundred feet from the Hilton. And it's been suggested that a State Police Post at that location wouldn't hurt chances of getting an exit ramp off the expressway at that point, although original state highway plans do not provide for one.

And, of course, a Northville road ramp wouldn't hurt hotel business, either.

Meanwhile, in Northville a citizens' group working through the non-profit Northville Area Economic Development Corporation has submitted its proposal for the police complex.

It would not require construction of a costly ramp. And its proposed site is already state-owned. And it is situated conveniently near the new major expressways that must be patrolled by State Police.

Specifically, the local group proposes to build its 27,000-square-foot complex on Seven Mile road on 10 acres of Northville State Hospital property. The land has been declared surplus by the State Department of Mental Health and State Representative Marvin Stempien has promised his support in obtaining legislative approval for transfer of the property to the State Police.

Both the Plymouth and the Northville proposals have been presented to State Police officials in East Lansing.

A decision is expected in the near future.

One might say that, wherever the complex is located in this area, it will be a welcome addition. The presence of State Police vehicles and personnel is certain to discourage prospective troublemakers. Moreover, the technical assistance available to local police agencies through the facilities of the crime laboratory is immeasurable, both in expertness and in time and expense.

Yet if it is possible from this biased viewpoint to look objectively at the two proposed plans for the State Police complex, it would be most difficult to choose other than the Northville site.

The prospect of such a complex in the Northville area may be one of the most important future assets to which this community can point.

And in Northville township, where literally hundreds of acres of land have been taken from the tax rolls for institutional purposes with little direct benefit to the community, it could reasonably be termed "justice" that this proposed "institution"—a State Police Post—provides a most welcome benefit in the form of safety and security.

This 'Nobody' Who Really Was Somebody

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

He was a windy guy, who didn't make much of his life so far as I know."

I was speaking with the veteran reporter who wrote the old man's obituary in his home town of Adrian.

"Are you sure?" I asked.

"Sure I'm sure," he said. "He fashioned himself a writer of sorts but never turned out anything of substance. I met him in our office a couple times during the Forties...he came from Washington (D.C.) to see his mother."

The Adrian reporter's observation amazed me.

He was talking about an Adrian native, whose journalistic career spanned more than a half-century and a half-dozen Presidents. Yet, when Russell Milton McFarland died early last week in a Detroit nursing home at the age of 85, he was a 'nobody' so far as his home town is concerned.

That "Rusty" McFarland should leave this world with so little fanfare, however, isn't so surprising. After all, most of his recent years were spent in mental institutions. And society doesn't treat these kind of people very well.

This writer, like so many others, found Rusty McFarland's stories so fastastically real that it was difficult to believe them. But the more you spoke with him the more you came to believe him. He was simply an old man, with nearly total recall, who was living from day to day on memories of days gone by.

He was a patient at Northville State Hospital when I first met him. After listening to him for a couple of hours, I embarrassingly asked, "Look, I'm interviewing you in a mental institution...I mean, well how do I know I can believe what you're saying?"

"That's true," was his reply. "Why don't you call up the National Press Club in Washington, D.C.? Somebody might remember me there."

I called, and a longtime secretary of the club remembered him well. "Oh I'm so happy to know you're going to write about him...yes, he did all the things he says...he's a wonderful man, a wonderful man."

We became good friends. He visited our home, fascinated my family, and later, after he was discharged from the hospital, we visited him at the Detroit nursing home. And each time we came away agreeing, "He's amazing, simply amazing."

A reporter-editor-correspondent in our nation's capitol, he had interviewed most of the Presidents since and including Woodrow Wilson. He was a friend of Henry Ford (the first one), had lived in the home of Thomas Edison during a 10-day writing assignment, had worked for Joseph Pulitzer, had been an associate of the late Roger Babson, interviewed the junior law partner of President Abraham Lincoln, had reportorial assignments ranging from the Teapot Dome scandal to the Alger Hiss disclosure, and in a semi-governmental capacity collaborated with the labor giant, Samuel Gompers, in promoting labor peace during World War I.

And last Christmas Eve he had a special story for our sons—his exciting meeting with General Pancho

Speaking for Myself

Split School Tax Collection?

DONALD YOUNG, JR.

The idea of 'split tax' collections is growing. Two local districts—Northville and Novi—have requested them to help solve financial problems

YES...

Main reason the Northville Board of Education is investigating a summer school tax collection for a portion of its local revenue is to avoid paying some $35,000 in interest for the 1972-73 school year.

During the early months of the district's fiscal year, beginning in July, there simply are insufficient funds available to meet costs—partly because state aid payments lag and partly because tax income does not arrive until collections are made in December and January.

Over the years this school district (and other districts as well) are forced to borrow money against anticipated income. Borrowing this money costs taxpayers thousands of dollars in interest.

This year approximately $1 million will be borrowed and paid back to the lender when the tax is collected. In future years, as the budget becomes larger, the amount to be borrowed will increase as will the amount of interest charged.

If about half of the winter school taxes could be collected in July some $1,200,000 of operational monies would be available, without interest. In addition, some $12,000 would be earned in interest to the district by investment of this money.

Implementation of a summer school tax collection will not be simple. Banks will have to make a second collection in July, and a tax form revision will have to be made. Despite these difficulties, we believe split tax collection may be part of an answer to the school's financial problems.

Stanley Johnston
Trustee
Northville Board of Education

NO...

The school board to date has advertised only the interest savings to the school system through summer school tax collection. In all fairness, we must consider the cost of this savings, and who pays this cost.

First, this additional collection will require preparation of a separate tax roll for part of Novi, plus the billing, collection, record keeping, accounting and handling of the taxes by City personnel. The cost of this additional work must, of course, be borne by the school district and would reduce the direct interest saving; however, a saving would still be realized by the school system.

Unfortunately, there is another cost of summer tax collection not often recognized. Those who do not have a tax escrow and must pay their taxes directly to the city will have to withdraw savings and lose interest income, or even borrow to pay the summer tax, thus paying interest on the money while the school system is using it. In either case, this interest loss or cost is effectively an unvoted tax increase to only a part of the public. This cost to part of the taxpayers could easily exceed the saving to the school system, and would certainly be discriminatory.

The point here is that someone must pay the interest cost of using the tax money under consideration. I believe that the cost to part of the public would exceed the saving to the school system, and that the additional tax collection in July would serve only to shift the cost from the school system to a part of the taxpayers.

Why Modern Design Here?

To the Editor:

How come we are back to the old modern design for the new professional plaza? I thought at the time the preliminary drawings were submitted that numerous groups in town made it clear they felt it important the design be in keeping with our Early American town.

I suspect the town council and the business community are so concerned with ensuring the financial investment, they are shortsightedly willing to sacrifice the town's identity. Can't they see that even a few buildings of modern design simply out date and put it into the "old hat" category instead of "antique" our existing town? It certainly would be much more expensive for the businessmen to tear out and replace all our Victorian and earlier buildings.

Or are we simply to be content with a hodge podge of old and new?

How come Plymouth is so much smarter than we are in this respect?

I understand they voted some years ago to establish an architectural identity for their commercial and civic buildings.

I am sure the majority of Northville's citizens came here originally because they like the Northville atmosphere as it is—and if they had wanted to live in Livonia they would have moved there in the beginning.

Still writing, though sometimes incoherently, right up to the end, Russell McFarland wrote his last piece for publication—in the nursing home's January newspaper:

"I'm as curious about life as I was in Texas, and I still enjoy the sunrise, the moonsets, the fresh fruit and preserves, the western breeze and its waving trees...These long leisurely peaceful times inside revive memories, thoughts and, strangely enough, my oldtime ambitions to be 'helpful and useful' in service to my God and country."

The irony of it all is that most of us in the journalism profession would feel fortunate if our careers could be as rich as that enjoyed by this 'nobody.'

School Needs

Appliances

Small appliances in non-working order are needed by Northville High's electronics class.

"Blenders, irons, toasters, radios, televisions — we can use any small appliance," Ronald Spaniol, electronics teacher, commented.

Appliances will be used in the classroom to teach students how to repair them, Spaniol said.

Those wishing to donate appliances may bring them to the high school office or arrange to have them picked up by calling the high school at 349-3400 and leaving their name and telephone number.

Wildcats Drop Finale To Railsplitter 'Five'

Well, look at it this way it was the best season in the history of Novi basketball.

Taking a 96 to 59 licking Friday at the hands of Ypsilanti Lincoln, which was in a do-or die showdown with South Lyon for second place in the Southeastern Conference, the Wildcats closed out their regular season with a record of four victories and 10 defeats.

Last year Novi won just one game in regular season competition before going on to pick up two more victories in the 1971 district tournament.

Tonight (Thursday) the Wildcats open the '72 district playoffs, clashing with tournament host South Lyon, which Tuesday defeated Dearborn Heights Riverside. By dropping its regular season finale last Friday at Lincoln, Novi ended up in a tie with Milan for fifth place in the SE loop. South Lyon, which closed its regular season with a win over last-place Dexter Friday, tied with Ypsi for second—just behind the SE champion Saline.

Novi simply didn't have the guns to combat the high flying Railsplitters, who excelled in both offense and defense.

By the end of the first quarter, Ypsi was already on its way to an easy victory with an eight-point edge (19-11). By the half it was all over, with the Dreadnaughts enjoying a 21-point bulge, 43-22.

Although the Wildcats closed out its scoring with a sizzling 27-point burst in the final stanza, Ypsi came up with an even hotter third quarter (29 points) and then closed out its scoring with 24 more points in the fourth quarter.

Altogether, Ypsi pumped in 39 field goals to Novi's 25. At the free throw line the Dreadnaughts converted 18 of its 36 tosses, while Novi could only muster nine points on 30 charity shots.

Ken Wright, unanimous all-star pick for guard in the Southeastern Conference, took scoring laurels with 21 points for Ypsi, followed by teammate Vern Porter with 20 points.

Novi's Jim VanWagner, another SE all-star, was high scorer for Novi with 18 points.

Dominate League

Hockey Teams Excel

Northville's four entries in the Inkster Suburban Hockey league more than held their own during the regular season and in the league's post-season play-off series. In fact, the Northville clubs dominated the league.

The Squirts and Midgets both were undefeated during the regular season to cop conference championships, and the Squirts and PeeWees both emerged triumphant in the play-off series. The Midgets, however, faltered in the play-offs, losing to Plymouth in a ruggedly-played, hotly-contested battle.

Coached by Doug Pattison and sponsored by the F.O.E., the Northville Squirt team was the most successful of all the local clubs. Comprised of 9-10 year old boys, the Squirts clinched their undefeated league season last week by taking 9-0 and 9-1 victories over Dearborn Heights and Inkster respectively.

Ken Stelmach netted the hat trick in the Inkster game, while Jerry Sherwood added a pair of goals. Single tallies were scored by Richard Pattison, Roger Pattison, Tom Allen, and John Pawlowski.

It was Pawlowski who led the Northville scoring in the Dearborn Heights game as he duplicated Stelmach's hat trick with a three goal performance of his own. Sherwood and Doug Horst fired in a pair of goals in that game and Richard and Roger Pattison each scored once to round out the scoring.

The PeeWees (ages 11-12), sponsored by Thompson Sand and Gravel, had to settle for second place during the regular season, but came alive in the play-offs to take the championship. Dave Beall led the championship PeeWees to a 7-0 triumph over Plymouth in the opening round with a three-goal hat trick. Eric Purcell, Kurt Stevens, Rudy Horst, and Kevin Stelmach netted single goals.

And it was Beall again with another hat trick in the final round against Inkster, who paced the Northville team to a 6-2 victory and the championship. Kurt Stevens popped in a pair of goals and Bob Michael added the sixth and final counter.

The Thunderbird Inn-sponsored Midgets (ages 15-16), like the Squirts, skated through the regular league season without a loss, but then, in the play-offs, they faltered in the final game and dropped a 4-3 decision to a fine Plymouth team.

Mark Ritchie, John Jusczyk, and Steve Anderson each scored a single goal to lead Northville to a 3-1 decision over the number two Plymouth team in the opening play-off game.

Ritchie and Rick Buttery each netted a pair of goals to pace the Midgets to an 8-3 triumph over Inkster in the second game. Single goals were scored by Rick Eaton, Mike Pattwell, Kevin O'Brien, and Greg Phillips. But then in the finals, Northville lost the game and the play-off championships to the number one Plymouth team by a 4-3 margin. Again Ritchie scored twice, while Pattwell beat the goalie to account for the third Northville goal.

Hard-luck award of the week has got to go to the Bantams (ages 13-14), sponsored by John Mach Ford. The Bantams had three games, two of them against league champions from outside the Inkster league, and lost each of them by a lone goal.

The Westland champions tripped the Northville Bantams 3-2, as Brett Howard scored both Northville goals. The story was almost identical when the Bantams lined up against the Jackson champions. With just four minutes left in the third period, Tom Bradley scored to pull Northville into a 1-1 tie, only to see Jackson win the game with a goal scored with a mere 22 seconds left on the clock.

In another 2-1 game, the Bantams fell to a good Dearborn Bruins squad. Phil Jackson scored in the first period to account for all the Northville scoring.

Qualifies for State

Auten KO'd, Still Wins

Terry Auten became the first wrestler in the history of the sport at Novi High School to qualify for the state finals, as he battled the stomach flu, a host of other outstanding heavyweights, and even had to overcome being knocked cold in one of his matches to advance to the state finals.

What's more, Auten almost had company in the state tournament. Novi's 167 pound Kevin Schingek came within 20 seconds of winning the match that would have enabled him to advance, too, only to be forced into a tie on a somewhat controversial referee's decision and lose in overtime.

"I'd have to say that I'm generally pleased with our showing," said Novi Coach Rick Trudeau. "Auten was sick and still managed to qualify and if Shack had won one more match, he'd be going to the state finals, too."

Schingek lost his first match by a 6-2 decision, but got to wrestle again as the grappler who beat him also won his second match. In that second match the Novi senior found himself pitted against Fenton's Mike Gaggi and held a 3-2 lead with just 30 seconds remaining in the third period. But then the referee awarded Gaggi a penalty point, citing Schingek for stalling, and the Fenton wrestler went on to take a 4-3 decision in overtime.

"I don't think it was a particularly good call," said Trudeau. "I don't think he was stalling. The Fenton wrestler was shooting for the takedown and Shack was blocking him, but it was a Fenton crowd, and I think that worked against Schingek."

In spite of Schingek's outstanding effort the real Novi hero was Auten. Winner of 22 straight matches, Auten qualified for the regionals last week by pinning both his opponents in the district tournament at Avondale. Needless to say, however, the regional competition was considerably more difficult and Auten's struggle to reach the state finals became all the more difficult when he showed up on the date of the regionals with a bad case of stomach flu.

In his opening match, Novi's version of Bruno Sammartino parlayed a second period near-pin and a third period escape into a 4-2 decision over Mt. Morris' Rick Fernandez.

But in his second match, Auten found himself squaring off against Oscoda's formidable 270 pound Ken Staebler.

"He had 60 pounds on me and he really knew how to use his weight," Auten remembered. With just 40 seconds left in the third period Staebler held a 4-0 lead and was riding the Novi star easily, when suddenly he came across with a forearm that knocked Auten cold.

"He had a cross-face on me and his arm was right across my mouth," Auten said. "He thought I was biting him so he let me have it with his forearm and I saw stars."

The referee promptly awarded Auten a penalty point and had he been unable to continue he would have been awarded the victory. After about two minutes, he was revived and the doctor gave his okay for the match to continue. "It was up to me at that point," Auten reported, "and I decided that the other guy deserved to win and finished out the match with him."

Auten wrestled two more times, making it a busy day for him even if he hadn't had the stomach flu and been knocked out. He advanced to the finals by scoring a reversal and a near pin in the final minute over Algonac's Dean Furtak to erase a 3-2 deficit and move to a 7-3 victory. In the finals he lost to Fenton's John Palmer to finish the tournament in fourth place.

Because of his fourth place finish in the Fenton regionals, Auten will have a tough fight ahead of him to advance beyond the first round in the state tourney. His first match will be against a top-seeded wrestler from a regional other than Fenton.

Nevertheless, Auten is pleased to even be going to state. "From the time you first start wrestling," he says, "you kind of dream about going to the state finals some day. When you get there it's really a big thing. You know you're one of the top 16 wrestlers in the state and that's quite an honor. I'd be real happy just to win one or two matches. That would really be a thrill, but I'm just happy to even be going there."

The state finals will take place this Friday and Saturday, March 3 and 4, at Alma High School in Alma. Preliminaries start at 2 p.m. Friday with the semi-finals slated for Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. The final four places will be determined Saturday. Consolation finals (third and fourth place) will begin at 2 p.m. with the championships (first and second place) starting at 7:30 p.m.

Ypsi Tops Novi JVs

With a 46-28 lead at the intermission, Ypsilanti Lincoln's junior varsity quintet coasted to an easy triumph over Novi Friday.

Ypsi put together periods of 25 and 21 points in that first half, while Novi could muster only 13 points in the first quarter, 15 in the second.

Both squads had an icy quarter in the second half. Novi in the third with just six points and Ypsi in the fourth with nine. Novi had 16 points in the final frame and Ypsi pumped in 21 in the third period.

Neither team was hot from the free throw line, with Novi converting six of its 21 shots and Ypsi four of its 16 shots.

From the floor, however, the host five fired 36 field goals while Novi came up with only 22.

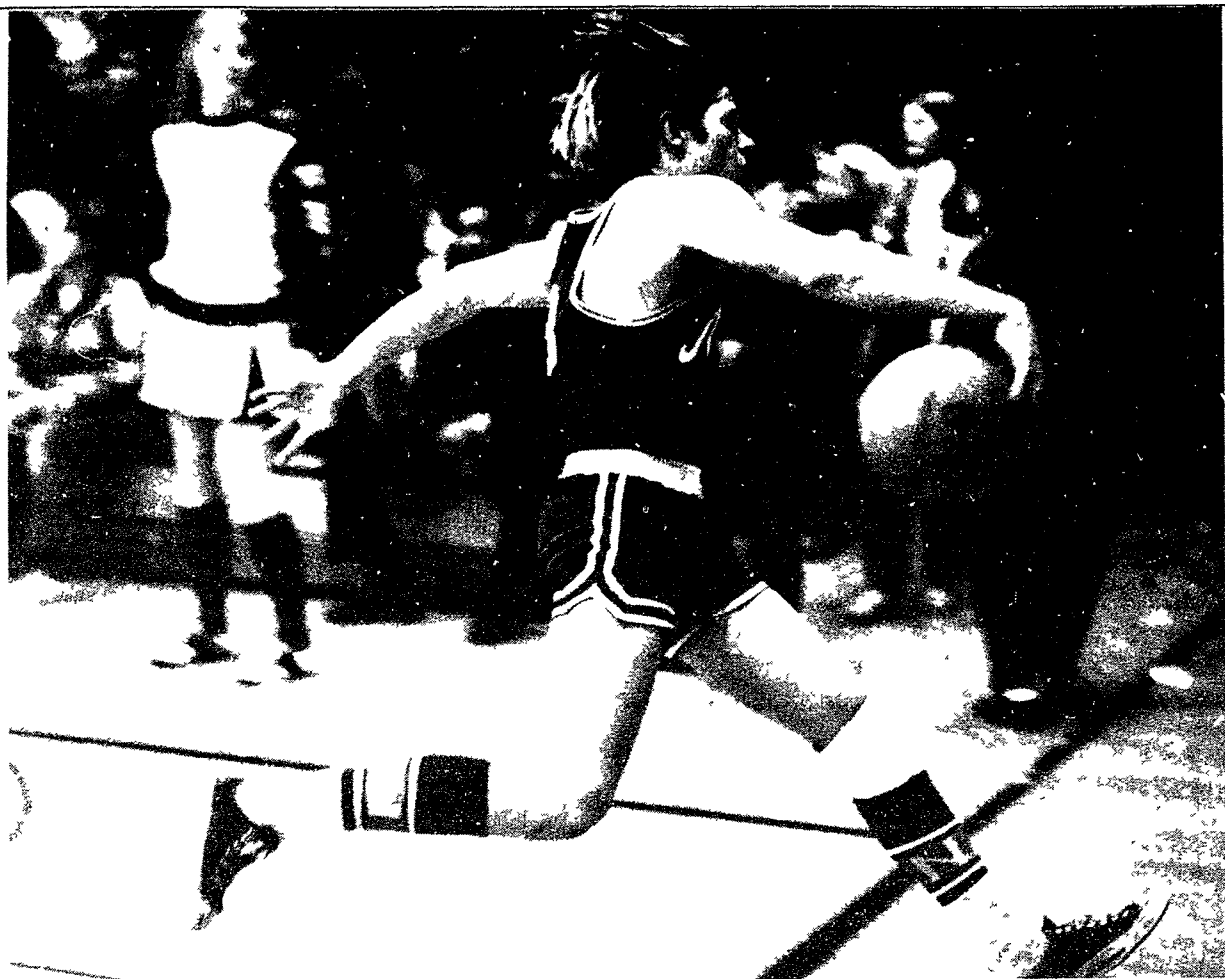

Dave Brown fired 20 points in his team's losing effort to claim high-point honors, while Ben Amhrien was high for Ypsi with 18 points.

Teams Meet

Walled Lake's Industrial Softball League will hold its opening meeting of the 1972 season Wednesday, March 8, 7:30 p.m. at Wixom City Hall.

Prospective new teams and all current teams remaining from the 1971 season should be represented at the meeting, a league spokesman said.

FUTILE ATTEMPT—Novi's Steve Lukkari makes a last second effort to keep the ball from going out of bounds in the Wildcats' game with Ypsilanti Lincoln Friday. Lukkari's valiant attempt proved too late, however, and the ball went over to the Railsplitters. Like Lukkari's, the efforts of the entire Novi team were just not enough to slow the Railsplitters, who had to win the game to remain in second place.

The conference championship already clinched, Saline showed no signs of complacency whatsoever, as they bombed Dundee 103-66 behind all-conference center Dave Ziegler's 35 point performance. The real battle was for second place and it ended in a tie with Lincoln and South Lyon both winning their final games. Lincoln won easily over Novi and South Lyon had an even easier time with last-place and winless Dexter. The Lion's all-conference forward Jim McIntosh pumped in 20 points, as did their other forward, Ed Segars, to give South Lyon an 81-52 triumph over the Dreadnaughts. Another all-conference forward, Ron Sweeney, paced Chelsea to a 70-56 victory over Milan, scoring 23 points. The decision clinched third for the Bulldogs, and doomed the defending champion Big Red to a sixth place tie with the Wildcats.

Mott Avenges Mustang Upset

You'd better believe Waterford Mott had vengeance on its mind Friday when it hosted the Northville Mustangs basketball team.

If it hadn't been for the Northville five, the Corsairs would have had their second consecutive Western Six Conference championship. Last year Mott took the league title outright, as they posted a perfect 10-0 record, and this year they would have been right up in first place again - although tied with Livonia Churchill - if it hadn't been for a stunning 64-62 upset administered by the firm of Andrews, Hannert, Evans, Moon, and Crane earlier in the season.

But Friday the Corsairs were ready for the Mustangs. By the end of three quarters they led by a healthy eight points and then absolutely shredded the Mustangs' attempts at a full-court press in the fourth quarter, scoring 32 points and turning the once closely contested game into a 87-64 rout.

The defeat brought the regular season to a close for Northville, leaving only the post-season state play-offs ahead. The season was notable on two counts: first, it marked the first full year of Northville's participation in the Class A dominated Western Six Conference and, secondly, it also brought to a close the first year of play under new coach Walt Koepke.

The Mustangs finished the season with a 5-12 record - a shade better than last year's 4-14 mark - and tied with Farmington Harrison for third place in the Conference, both squads sporting identical 3-5 records.

Much of Northville's success came late in the season, as they improved steadily under Koepke's tutelage. The Mustangs had won three of their last four outings prior to the Waterford defeat and would have been four of five if it hadn't been for an overtime two-point loss to Clarenceville.

A trio of factors led to Northville's loss to Mott, and perhaps the main factor was the Corsairs' 6'7" center Don Allen.

In the first game the Mustangs had used a man-to-man defense and Koepke went with it again in Friday's contest. The match-up pitted Northville's 6'3" Scott Evans against Allen, and the Corsairs did their utmost to take advantage of the height mismatch. In the first quarter Allen was practically the entire Mott attack, as he single-handedly tallied nine points to keep his teammates within range of the Mustangs who were taking an 18-13 lead.

And it was Allen again who paced the Corsairs in the third quarter, tallying eight points and enabling his team to move away to a 55-47 third quarter lead.

By the time Allen finally left the game with just two and a half minutes left and his team comfortably in front 78-57, he had scored 27 points and hauled in a myriad of rebounds.

Fouls also played a key part in the Northville loss. Forward Todd Hannert was lost to the Mustangs for practically the entire game. Midway through the first quarter, the big forward had already accumulated his third foul and sat out most of the rest of the half.

Hannert played approximately six minutes in the second half, picking up fouls number four and five at the 4:31 and 5:16 mark of the third and fourth periods respectively.

Northville's leading all-conference honors candidate, guard Bill Andrews, also ran into foul trouble. When Andrews went to the bench with his fourth foul at the 5:37 mark of the third period, the score was knotted at 38-38.

By the time Koepke inserted the senior guard back into the line-up at the start of the fourth quarter, Northville trailed by eight points, 55-47. And even then Andrews did not last long, picking up his fifth foul a mere 23 seconds after the quarter started.

The third factor leading to Northville's demise was their full-court press. Koepke is a strong believer in the press, but has more or less been forced to abandon it with his current personnel, as the Mustangs seem to be unable to exert any real pressure with it.

Faced with an eight point deficit at the start of the fourth quarter in the Mott game, Koepke was forced into going with the full-court press in an attempt to get his team back in the ball game.

But Mott had little trouble with the defense, and in fact penetrated it repeatedly and then took advantage of the mismatch upcourt before the three Northville guards could get back to help out the two forwards. Mott piled up a whopping 32 points in the fourth quarter.

"I don't know why we can't play a good zone defense," said Koepke. "I think most of the fans tend to blame the two forwards when they score, but it isn't their fault. The guards have got to cut off the initial passes and if they don't, and the other team gets the ball down the floor our two back-men are outnumbered."

Jeff Moon provided most of the Northville scoring punch in the Waterford game. The senior forward tossed in eight points in the first quarter to lead the Mustangs to an 18-13 lead and then tossed in three more buckets in the second quarter, as Northville trailed by just two points at the half 34-32.

Moon finished the game with 17 points, tops among the Mustangs. Scott Evans added 14 points, while Bill Andrews and Bart Taylor, Hannert's replacement, each scored ten points.

Scott Evans topped the Mustang rebounders, hauling in 13 caroms. Moon had seven rebounds, while Taylor and Hannert each added four to the Northville total.

Northville's play is now on a game to game basis. Wednesday (yesterday) they were scheduled to meet Clarenceville in the first game of the state tournaments at South Lyon. If the Mustangs manage to get by the Trojans, they will meet the winner of the South Lyon-Novi game scheduled for tonight (Thursday) for the district championship.

The championship game is slated for 7:30 p.m. Saturday at South Lyon High School.

Swimmers Eye League Crown

The long hard strain of trying to sustain an undefeated streak that now stretches back over the past 24 dual meets was producing uncharacteristic effects on Northville swimming coach Ben Lauber.

Throughout the season, Lauber and his talented swim squad have set their eyes on two primary goals: the Western Six Conference championship and the state championships at East Lansing.

Now practically on the eve of the first of those two goals—the conference championships—Lauber was exhibiting uncharacteristic abandon. "I think we're going to win it," he said. "There, how's that coming from me. Let's see that'll come out in Thursday's paper so they'll get a chance to read it before the meet. That's okay though, go ahead and print it anyway, that'll give 'em something to think about."

Perhaps some of Lauber's abandon was caused by the elation of news coming from Milan. All season Lauber has said that the state championship should be quite a battle between four teams: Northville, Milan, Riverview, and Erie-Mason.

Earlier in the season Lauber's swimmers had taken a 55-50 victory over Milan. Last Thursday Milan went up against Riverview and came away with a rather convincing 67-38 victory.

"We expected Riverview to be stronger than that," Lauber said when asked his reactions to the score. "At the start of the season we saw an article in one of the Detroit papers which predicted Riverview would win the state meet in Class B. It came as kind of a surprise to us when Milan beat them by that kind of score."

As a result of the victory, the Milan coach is predicting that Northville is definitely the team to beat in the state meet. Lauber, however, does not agree. "The state meet is a lot different than a dual meet," he points out, "and Milan has three possible individual champions and that's going to be hard to beat. I would still have to say Milan is the team to beat in the state meet."

Meanwhile, as the two coaches jockeyed for psychological advantage, the Northville tankers participated in the Grand Blanc Invitational Swimming and Diving Tournament over the weekend and came back to Northville with a large trophy for finishing second.

Grand Blanc, the host school, won the meet.

"It was a pretty good meet," reported Lauber. There were a lot of real strong teams there, including Saginaw Douglas McArthur, and Bloomfield Hills Andover.

We and Clarenceville were the only Class B schools competing."

Once again the Northville swimmers were paced by junior Bill Witek. Limited to two events, Witek set a new team record in the 200 yard individual medley, finishing fourth in the time of 2:11.8, and then took the lone Northville triumph of the meet in winning the 100 yard freestyle relay with a 51.6 clocking, another team record.

In both events, the team records broken by Witek were his own.

"We got some especially nice performances at Grand Blanc," said Lauber. "Particularly by Witek. But you'd also have to include to include Kevin Kelly and Bill Bretz and Joe Boland and Tom Cook. It's hard to single anybody out because there were so many of them that did well."

The Mustangs finished second in both relays. In the 200 yard medley relay, Jeff Kappler, Art Greenlee, Joe Boland, and Bill Maguire stroked their way to a clocking of 1:49.5, and the 400 yard freestyle relay team of Jeff Pitak, John Pacific, Kevin Kelly, and Bill Maguire had a time of 3:37.8.

Kelly turned in a fine time of 51.7 seconds on his 100 yard leg of the freestyle relay to highlight the Northville performance. "That's excellent time for a sophomore," added Lauber.

Other Mustang second place finishers were recorded by Tom Cook in the diving and Joe Boland in the 100 yard butterfly with a time of 59.9 seconds.

Third place finishers were taken by John Pacific in the 50 yard freestyle (24.4) and Jeff Kappler in the 100 yard backstroke (1:01.6).

Don Cook in the 200 yard freestyle (2:01.8), Witek in the 200 yard individual medley (2:11.7), Bill Bretz in the 100 yard butterfly (1:01.6), and Art Greenlee in the 100 yard backstroke (1:08.3) all capped fourth place finishes.

The conference championships get underway tonight (Thursday) at Livonia Churchill. The diving competition begins at 6:30 p.m. The finals will be held tomorrow (Friday), beginning at 7 p.m.

NOSE HOW TO PLAY DEFENSE—Although Northville Coach Walt Koepke has stressed rough, aggressive defensive play from his squad all season long, he has not advocated the defensive technique of grabbing the opponent by the nose seemingly demonstrated here by the Mustang's Joe Bishop (left). Northville lost the game, as Waterford Mott overcame the Mustangs in the second half.

Qualifies for State

Norton 4th at Fenton

Northville will be sending a wrestler to the state finals this weekend in Alma, but he won't be the one most observers of the Northville wrestling scene expected it would be.

Bill Norton, a junior co-captain of the Mustang squad, qualified for the finals Saturday by finishing in fourth place in the regional tournament at Fenton. And although the 132 pound standout is an accomplished grappler, most followers of Coach Ed McCloud's Northville grapplers expected the other co-captain, David Griffin, would be the one to qualify for the state tournament.

One of the finest wrestlers in the history of Northville High School, Griffin advanced to the state finals as both a sophomore and a junior and seemed to be the Mustang's best bet to go once again.

"I guess it just wasn't David's day," theorized McCloud after the tournament. "It's too bad because David probably had the best chance of any of our wrestlers to do well in the state."

Griffin, who has lost only two matches all season long, started off well enough at Fenton by easily winning his first match. But then the 126 pound Northville star lost his second and then his third match to fail to qualify in the top four and miss advancing to the state.

"He lost to a kid from Fenton 6-5 and then another kid from Lutheran West beat him 3-1," reported McCloud. Even more heartbreaking was the fact that both losses came with points scored in the closing seconds. The Fenton grappler scored the winning points with 25 seconds left and the Lutheran West 126 pounder pulled out the victory with a mere seven seconds left on the clock.

In spite of the loss, McCloud had praise for Griffin. "You'd have to say he had a pretty illustrious career," offered the Northville mentor. "Any time a wrestler goes to state he's in the top 16 athletes in the entire state. It's an honor to get to state just once and David did it twice. That's a pretty impressive record."

Shading the disappointment of Griffin's loss was Norton's victory.

"Bill did an outstanding job," said McCloud. "He's really been improving rapidly over the last part of the season and he came up with a real fine performance at Fenton."

Ironically, Norton won only one of three matches in qualifying for the state finals. In the first round Norton drew Flint Bentley's Fred Hoef, who eventually grappled his way to the regional championship. Hoef was top-seeded and had posted a 34-3 record during the season.

Norton got a first period takedown - the first time all season anyone has succeeded in taking Hoef to the mats - and led 2-0 at the end of the two minutes. But in the second period, Hoef escaped from the down position and took advantage of a "careless move" to pin Norton.

Because Hoef won his second match, Norton was able to stay alive in the tournament. He made the most of the opportunity by beating Osoda's second-seeded George Rutherson 4-3 after losing an early 4-0 lead. In the consolation finals (to determine third and fourth place) Norton lost his second match of the day to Jim Byers of Montrose by a 2-1 decision. Byers gained the decision by virtue of a penalty point assessed against Norton for elbowing.

How well Norton does in the state tournament remains to be seen. Under the state pairing system, the 132 pound Mustang co-captain will have to wrestle a number one-seeded wrestler from a regional other than Fenton. The Fenton regional, however, is generally conceded to be the best in the state.

The state tourney will be held at Alma High School. Preliminary matches begin at 2:30 p.m. Friday afternoon and semi-finals start at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The state consolation finals (for third and fourth place) are slated for 2:30 p.m. Saturday and the championships take place at 7:30 Saturday night.

Northville JVs Lose Final Game

If Coach Omar Harrison and his Northville junior varsity basketball team are asking themselves, "What happened?" who can blame them?

In their first game against the Waterford Mott jayvees they posted an easy 73-55 victory, but when the two squads got together Friday for a return match, the junior Corsairs did practically a complete turn-about and romped to a resounding 76-48 triumph.

"Defense was the difference," said Harrison. "Mott played great defense against us. I don't think they were really ready for us the first time we played, but they were ready and waiting in the second game."

Indeed. The Mott jayvees piled up a 37-24 halftime lead and then put the game out of reach with a 25 point third quarter in which the Mustangs scored just 12 points. Third quarter score was Mott 62, Northville 36.

The loss dropped Coach Harrison's squad into a second place tie with Mott among the Western Six Conference's junior varsity teams. Both clubs had 5-3 records, losing twice to Churchill and then splitting with each other.

The game brought the season to a close for the Northville jayvees, and a highly successful season it was by any standards. The young Mustangs finished with a 13-4 record against predominantly Class A competition.

Substitute guard Brian Mills paced the Northville attack in the Mott contest, coming off the bench to score 10 points. Todd Eis and Ed Kritch each had nine points, while Doug Crisan and Bill McDonald scored eight and seven points respectively.

Final Western Six Standings

Livonia Churchill	7	1
Waterford Mott	6	2
Northville	5	3
Farmington Harrison	1	5
Walled Lake Western	1	7

Waterford's only chance at a share of the conference title rested first on their beating Northville and, secondly, on Walled Lake Western upsetting Churchill. Waterford won, but Western didn't and the Chargers of Churchill copied sole possession of the league crown. The Churchill quintet raced to a 23-10 halftime margin over the Warriors, held the Walled Lake squad to a mere eight points in the third quarter, and then coasted to a 77-58 victory. Bruce Van Wagoner topped the Chargers with 19 points, while Scott McCrue and Rick Shekell tallied 17 and 16 points respectively for the last place Warriors.

Jr. Hi Tankers Stroke to Title

Northville's fine junior high swimming team made a complete shambles of their league meet last Wednesday, winning five of ten events and absolutely pulverizing the seven other teams competing for league honors in the Redford Union High School pool.

By the time the meet was finally over Coach Dave Graff's junior high Mustangs had amassed a total of 106½ points. Second-place Marshall was a distant 70 points away, taking runner-up honors with a point total of 31.

As usual Northville's triumph was marked by first place finishes in both relay events. The 200 yard medley relay team of Mark Morland, Biff Ballash, Pete Talbot, and Jack Young got the Mustangs off to a quick start by winning their event with a 2:15.9 clocking, a full five seconds faster than the second place finisher.

And it was the 200 yard freestyle relay quartet of Jim Cahill, Ed Erdos, Matt Ivey, and Gordon Rooker which brought the Mustang's successful evening to a close by winning their event in 1:58.1, six seconds faster than the second place team.

And in between the two relay events, the Northville swimmers were just as formidable, coping three individual championships and never finishing lower than third in any given event.

The Mustangs strongest event turned out to be the diving, where Jack Riggs led teammates Mark Price and Scott Knapp to a one-two-three sweep.

Northville did practically as well in the 50 yard breaststroke, as Bill Bloomhuff and Ballash finished first and second with times of 34.4 and 35.0 respectively. Mike Weston finished fifth in the event.

Pete Talbot was the other Northville champion, as he tied his own school record of 31.3 in winning the 50 yard butterfly. Dean Alli was third.

Rooker set the only new school record, posting a 27.9 in the 50 yard freestyle, but had to settle for second place.

Other Mustangs taking points in the meet were Matt Ivey and Ed Erdos who finished second and third in the 100 yard freestyle; Mark Price and Mark Morland, who finished second and fifth in the 50 yard backstroke; Dean Alli, Bill Bloomhuff, and Mike Weston, who took second, fourth, and fifth in the 100 yard individual medley; and Mark McDaniel, Scott Knapp, and Jack Riggs, who took third, fifth, and sixth in the 200 yard freestyle.

Schedule Swimming Lessons

Swimming lessons for Northville's seven, eight, and nine year olds are being expanded to cover a two hour period, it was announced Monday by Northville Swim Coach Ben Lauber.

"We just have too many people to handle in a one hour session," Lauber explained. "We didn't expect such a large turnout."

As originally scheduled, lessons for the 7-9 year olds were to take place between 3-4 p.m. Saturday. Due to the large response, however, a second hour of lessons is being added between 4-5 p.m. on Saturdays.

People who were unable to enroll their children in the 3-4 p.m. session should now enroll them in the 4-5 p.m. session. Both lessons hours will be in effect this Saturday, March 4 at the High School swimming pool.

Mustanger

Mustang of the Week honors go to forward Jeff Moon. The senior cage star paced Northville's efforts against Waterford Mott last week with 17 points. "Jeff has improved a great deal this season," said Mustang mentor Walt Koepke. "His driving to the basket has been an important part of our success late in the season."

At Amerman Elementary

Year-Round School OK'd

School board trustees gave the official OK Monday night to a one-year experimental year round school program

The pilot program, approved last Wednesday (February 16) by the state board of education, is slated to begin in July at Amerman Elementary

Accepted for implementation on an experimental basis, provided funds are received from the state and an adequate number of student volunteers are available, was the 45-15 concept involving approximately 150 students in kindergarten through grade five

The 45-15 concept calls for students in the pilot program to be in school for 45 days and on vacation for 15 days, alternating throughout the school year. A total of 180 days of instruction will be provided under the program, equal to the 180 days covered under the traditional semester plan

According to Superintendent Raymond Spear, the state board of education here committed itself to support legislation to fund the local program. If approved by the legislature, Northville will receive $100,000 to conduct the experimental program.

Also approved by the state board was a pilot program in the tri-district of Okemos, East Lansing and Haslett which will implement a quinquennial program in grades nine through 12. Funding for that pilot has been pegged at $50,000.

Freeland School District, which had intended to try a mandatory tri-mester program in kindergarten through grade 12, dropped out of the study.

Spear, who emphasized the program is voluntary, said he anticipates registration "on a first come, first served basis" will begin in April. However, parents interested in the concept may notify Spear's office by phone. About 12 students have already volunteered for the program.

The 150 students involved in the experiment will be broken down by grade level into classrooms of approximately 25 students each.

"The first year of the program will be a change in the calendar, nothing more," the superintendent explained.

"If people find they feel comfortable living with a different calendar and if we prove the program is educationally and financially beneficial, we may continue the experiment for a second year, staggering the beginning dates of two or more groups and deal directly with space utilization," Spear noted.

In its resolution to accept the pilot program, the board authorized Spear to organize a steering committee. Sitting on the committee would be the four central office administrators, one board member, building Principal William Craft, two teachers involved in the program and two parents.

Commenting on the board's action to approve the plan, Earl Busard, business director, noted Northville is the "only district in the last 10 years to open a year round school program voluntarily, without being forced into it financially, and is the only district east of Illinois to have a year round program in operation."

Wixom Mayor Says

Annexation Must Wait

Questions of Wixom's role in the annexation of 1,500 acres of Commerce Township arose Monday at a special council meeting with Mayor Gilbert Willis maintaining a non-committal position for the March 1 Boundaries Commission meeting.

Willis defended council's action in the matter when challenged on its refusal to submit a petition for the addition of the property to Wixom's boundaries.

The problem was further confused by what John Minor, chairman of the Planning Commission, called the "muddiness" of the terminology of the resolutions governing the council's alternatives in the matter of petitioning.

As Willis interpreted Boundary Commission rules, no petition action could be considered by the Boundaries Commission until the petition requesting incorporation for Commerce Township as a city is decided. If the Boundaries Commission decides to incorporate Commerce Township, there can be no annexation, he reported.

"We don't even know where we are going to fit into the picture, if we are going to fit at all," said Willis. "We have had no official communication from the Boundaries Commission about the meeting."

Part of the problem also lies in the fact that council is not sure just how many residents are involved in the annexation proceedings.

Willis contended it would be a waste of taxpayers money to go through the expense of the preparation of a petition request and present it to the Boundaries Commission only to risk being turned down.

Willis further contends that since council was not informed of the meeting, the role of council can only be as observers and advisors.

All States Collect Cigarette, Gas Tax

LANSGING—Though state governments are crying out for extra money all over the country, a few still refrain from collecting both sales tax or an income tax; but all collect one or the other.

Five states—Alaska, Delaware, Montana, New Hampshire and Oregon—still manage to get along without a sales tax.

Seven states—Connecticut, Florida, Nevada, South Dakota, Texas, Washington and Wyoming—exist without an individual income tax.

The only taxes collected in all 50 states, in fact, are the cigarette tax and the gasoline taxes.

THE HIGHEST sales tax is levied in Connecticut, which charges 6.5 cents for every dollar's worth of merchandise bought in the state. Pennsylvania is right behind with a 6 per cent sales tax.

The lowest sales tax collected is 2 per cent in Indiana and Oklahoma. There's a much wider variation on income taxes, with Michigan one of only six states levying a flat rate the same on all incomes. Four states charge a flat percentage of the federal tax liability, but since the federal tax is graduated, such state taxes are, too.

The lowest income tax rate charged is .5 per cent which is on the low end of a graduated scale in both Ohio and Oklahoma. On the other end of the scale, Delaware has a graduated income tax which goes all the way up to 18 per cent.

VIRGINIA has the oldest income tax by far. That state first took a chunk of the taxpayer's paycheck in 1843. The second income tax was levied by our newest state, Hawaii, in 1901—better than 50 years before statehood.

The sales tax, on the other hand, is a more recent innovation. The first state to levy it was Mississippi in 1930. It didn't take the other states long to adopt to the idea, however. In 1933, a total of 12 other states followed suit as they tried to stay solvent during the depression.

DR. CHARLES L. San Clemente, a professor of microbiology and public health at Michigan State University, believes in practicing what he preaches.

Dr. San Clemente is the editor of the first text in the nation to be printed 100 per cent on recycled paper. The 320-page paperback is entitled "Environmental Quality: Now or Never."

The book is a collection of essays on the environment by experts from all over the country and Dr. San Clemente felt one way to get the message on ecology across would be to use recycled paper for the book.

PEOPLE WANTING to look down the most lonesome road in Michigan will have to drive to the Upper Peninsula to get the job done.

The State Highway Department says the least traveled public road in the state is M-48 between Goetzville and M-134 in Chippewa County. Traffic there for an entire day averages 200 vehicles.

That isn't counting M-185 on Mackinac Island, of course, since no motor vehicles are allowed on it.

The busiest spot in the state, on the other hand, is the freeway interchange of US-10 and I-94 in Detroit, where an average of 172,000 vehicles run every day. It takes more than two years for that total to pass over M-48 at the rate of 200 a day.

Tourist Attractions

March Eyes Final Fling on Ski Slopes

March is the month when old man winter has his final fling on the ski slopes and snowmobile trails, and the blithe spirit of spring previews her arrival for those whose thoughts are turning longingly to warm weather activities, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Kicking-off the month's spring show events will be Sports Cars in Review, presented annually by the Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn. This outstanding exhibit traces the advancement of road and track cars through three-quarters of a century and is extremely attractive to those interested in the more significant steps in the development of our present day automobiles.

Come spring, comes redecorating and general "fixing-up" around the house.

For the "do-it-yourselfers" and the "has it done" alike, the Home Show is the pace to go for ideas and advice on the newest products, furnishings, building methods and materials.

Micigan's first Home Show of the season is scheduled for March 7 through 11 at the Civic Center in Holland.

For those who are endowed with, or attempting to cultivate, a proverbial "green thumb", the Southwestern Michigan Flower and Garden Show, March 9, 10 and 11, in Kalamazoo should hold a strong attraction.

Babson Report

Election Affects Stocks

BABSON'S REPORTS Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Some investors place a great deal of emphasis on the potential influence of national elections in formulating their investment plans, especially when it comes to presidential election years. Studies made by the Research Staff of Babson's Reports indicate there is considerable valid reason for assuming that an upcoming presidential election will exert an influence on the behavior of the stock market for some months in advance.

It is, of course, perfectly logical for the stock market to reflect this significant quadrennial event. After all, the market is basically a barometer of investor sentiment affected by a broad spectrum of hopes and fears, whether related to monetary, business, political, or international considerations. The significance is obvious in the case of a presidential election since the victor can shape the policies of the nation for the ensuing four years. Then, too, if the incumbent president is a candidate in the race, he can try prior to the election to create a favorable economic climate and place himself in an advantageous light by voting time. Such efforts tend to generate optimism on the part of investors, even though an inimical Congress can frustrate his intentions.

During an election year, for example, stock market movements can and usually do reflect variations in investor sentiment as different forces come into play. Early in such a year, the ideas propounded by the presidential hopefuls, the results of primary elections, and other factors can spark market advances or dips. Later on, expectations as to the final candidates likely to be nominated at the conventions, and then the actual results, can have a definite effect on the stock market. Finally, the outcome of the election itself may exert a powerful impact—provided it is not a clearcut runaway which has already been discounted by the market.

STARTING with the election of 1928 (the race which marked the twilight of the age when economic conditions could be automatically governed by the full gold standard), the past eleven presidential election years saw one only in which the Dow Jones Industrial Average closed the

VOLITGE CLINIC

Mrs. Karine Wolski of Martindale Road was the guest speaker at a volitge (mounted gymnastics) clinic Saturday night sponsored by the Justin Morgan Youth group and held at Batton Farms, South Lyon. Mrs. Wolski, originally from Berlin, Germany, has been teaching volitge in Canada but has recently moved to this area.

Mrs. Wolski first showed a movie made in Canada of a volitge team she had trained there. This was followed by a live demonstration featuring four young girls with whom Mrs. Wolski has been working at Vivi Hopkins Stables at Union Lake. The horse used for the demonstration was "Mar-Lo's Ben Hur", an 11-year old Morgan stallion owned by the David Battons.

The evening's door prize (a lunging whip) was won by Steve Herald of South Lyon. It's the Michigan family of average means, not necessarily the wealthy one, which owns a riding horse. Surveys show that horse owning families have incomes close to the national average, Dr. Richard J. Dunn, Michigan State University extension specialist in animal husbandry, said at the Horse Judging Roundup in December.

Dr. Dunn also predicted that the number of horses in the state will double in the next decade and a half. "Michigan will have between 350,000 and 400,000 horses by 1985," he added. Most of them will be pleasure horses. Michigan today has 170,000 horses which represent a $250 million segment of the state's economy.

New Michigan Horse Show Association officers for 1972 are C. A. Leetch, President, A. T. Hastings, Vice President, and Eleanor Pedersen, Secretary-Treasurer.

Some new regulations have been adopted for the M.H.S.A. Annual Championship Awards. Pertinent to all exhibitors is the ruling that any championship awarded by M.H.S.A. must have no fewer than four horses or riders to accumulate points towards that championship during the year. This means entered and shown.

Latest development on the Bill to License Blacksmiths in Michigan is that the bill is still in the Senate State Affairs Committee and will probably not come back for debate on the floor for another year. Write Rep. James Damman in Lansing to voice your opinion or obtain further information.

President Nixon has signed the 1971 Revenue Act into law and the American Horse Council reports that it contains provisions proposed by the Council that are beneficial to all horsemen.

The new law, Public Law 92-178, is important to horsemen because it clarifies the "Hobby Loss" provision of the Tax Reform Act of 1969; repeals the 10 percent excise tax on light duty trucks and the excise tax on horse trailers having a gross weight of 10,000 pounds or less; gives a 7 percent investment tax credit on farm investments and provides for a 20 percent faster depreciation of farm assets.

The Michigan State Fair Riding Academy is presenting a special exhibition Wednesday, March 8, 1972.

At 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Chuck Grant, a nationally recognized trainer, horseman, and showman, will present a "Dressage Clinic".

The "Dressage" known throughout the world as "The Grand Prix Test" of horsemanship will be demonstrated by Carol Grant as her husband explains the elaborate movements and timing between horse and rider.

This magnificent Olympic style exhibition will be capped by a question and answer session conducted by Chuck Grant and his lovely wife Carol.

Cost is $3 per person.

'Clean Your Plate!'

Are You Feeding Or Killing Your Child?

Many overanxious mothers are killing their children—with food, according to Dr. Donald G. Albert, chairman of the Atherosclerosis Council of the Michigan Heart Association. "Kids who are forced to clean their plates may please their mother," Dr. Albert said, "But they don't live as long as kids who are allowed to pick at their food."

"American mothers, by insisting their kids eat too much and the wrong kinds of food, are paving the way for their children's future heart attacks," he continues.

"We all know that animal fat consumption is a direct cause of atherosclerosis—the artery blockage, or hardening, that causes heart attacks."

"But what most people don't realize is that this blockage starts early. There is reason to believe that most American children, because of their diets, are afflicted with some degree of atherosclerosis."

Dr. Albert quotes a study in which post-mortem examinations were done on both Korean and American soldiers killed during the Korean War.

"The Koreans had almost no cholesterol in their arteries, because Oriental people have almost no animal fat in their diets. Probably because of that, they also don't have many heart attacks."

"But the majority of the American soldiers, average age 21, had moderate to severe artery blockage," Dr. Albert said.

"That says a lot about what their mothers had been feeding them—and for how long. Cholesterol doesn't build up overnight."

Dr. Albert also claims that mothers shouldn't force their children to eat because children instinctively eat the amount of food they need.

"Nothing's worse than the clean-plate mom who says, 'Think of all the starving kids in the world and eat.'"

"She'd do better just to throw the food away. Most food that's forced on a child just goes to fat in his body, and consistent forcing may make the kid a chronic and permanent overeater."

"People run less risk of heart attack if they're underweight than if they're average weight. People who're overweight are in trouble."

For Heart Month, Dr. Albert gives the following tips on how moms can assure healthy hearts for their children.

"Don't let your kids get overweight. Try to get them off foods containing high amounts of saturated (animal) fat."

"It's not necessary to do this at all meals," Dr. Albert says. Recent evidence shows that the body just needs a 'clearing time'—a 24 hour period in which the body can metabolize fat."

"So one meal can include meats, but the other two should not. An easy way to manage this," the doctor said, "is to serve cereals for breakfast and non-meat sandwiches, fish soups, or salads for lunch."

Foods which the doctor would restrict are beef, pork, and lamb, particularly the fats parts: egg yolk (the white is okay); pastries and bakery products (unless made with vegetable oils); ice cream, cheese, sour cream, butter, and whole milk."

In cooking, vegetable oil should be substituted for lard or animal fat. "Unsaturated margarine, cottage cheese, and skimmed milk are fine," said Dr. Albert.

Dad shares some responsibility for making children eat when they don't want to, according to the doctor. Exercise is essential," said Dr. Albert, "but too many jock-happy fathers try to make football heroes out of gangly boys by fattening them up. At best, this is unwise. It can be fatal."

Dr. Albert feels that both parents are responsible seeing that their children get more exercise than squatting in front of the television, and for discouraging them from ever smoking cigarettes.

"Attitudes and habits developed early stay with a person. If parents teach their kids to eat and exercise properly, the heart disease rate forty years from now would be reduced tremendously."

"In January, 1972, the INS destroyed some 2,000 uninvestigated complaints representing a total of 20,000 illegal immigrants working or living in this country," he said.

"Since last June," he continued, "complaints representing more than 130,000 illegal immigrants in the Southern California area have been destroyed."

McDonald said that the bulk of the complaints come from persons who have lost jobs to illegal immigrants or who have been refused jobs because illegal immigrant labor is cheaper.

"How frustrating it must be for the American citizen who is without a job to find the door of opportunity closed in his face because of illegal immigrant labor," McDonald said.

"But the ultimate frustration comes when he duly reports these flagrant abuses to the proper authorities only to have them ignored," he stated.

McDonald said a memo which he obtained during his investigation, written by a district director of the INS, cited many of the problems which have contributed to the growing chaos within the INS.

Portions of the memo stated: "Correspondence, reports and other material is being held up for long periods of

McDonald Rips Illegal Aliens

U.S. Congressman Jack McDonald (R-Michigan) renewed his attack against Immigration and Naturalization Service Commissioner Raymond E. Farrell by showing at a press conference here several hundred uninvestigated complaints on illegal aliens which had been ordered destroyed by INS.

McDonald said he received the documents during a recent trip to Los Angeles. Two weeks ago he wrote to President Nixon urging that Commissioner Farrell's resignation be requested, and to U.S. Representative Chet Holifield (D-Calif.), chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, asking that the committee investigate the INS.

"The evidence I obtained in California consists of several hundred complaints made by citizens in the Southern California area reporting to the INS the presence of illegal aliens working and - or residing there," McDonald said.

"The reason these documents are in my possession," he said, "is because the INS ordered them destroyed in order to make room for more complaints."

The complaints cited by McDonald were all received in May, 1971. "These are in addition to some 45,000 uninvestigated complaints which I viewed in New York two weeks ago," he said.

For Pete's Sake, 12 Organized

Twelve men from the northwestern suburban area met February 15 for the first committee meeting of The "For Pete's Sake" Committee.

The "For Pete's Sake" Committee is a group of people who are concerned about the youth of our communities. They are sponsoring the showing of the motion picture "For Pete's Sake" which will be premiered in Plymouth at the Penn Theater on April 19-25.

The committee represents a cross section of the community and its church life. It includes people from several different denominations and some from non-denominational churches.

Holloway Bid Low

LANSING-- Holloway Construction Co. of Wixom was lowest of eight bidders at 5.3 million for completion of Interstate 96 (Jeffries) Freeway between Interstate 94 (Ford) and Grand River Avenue in Detroit, the State Highway Commission has announced.

The Holloway bid was among 23 low bids on highway construction and maintenance projects totaling $24.3 million at the February bidding in Lansing.

Midwest Bridge Co. of Williamston was lowest of 10 bidders at 7.1 million for construction of 2.6 miles of Interstate 696 in Warren. The project includes paving of service drives and construction of five bridges, extending the freeway from Interstate 75 east to Warren.

Teens Push Rum Sales

LANSING--Michigan's new teen-age drinkers are believed to be responsible for big increases in rum, vodka and gin sales during January.

The Michigan Commerce Department's Liquor Control Commission reported that liquor sales were up 5.4 per cent during January—the first month it was legal for teenagers to drink—compared to the same month last year. Sales totaled 435,007 cases compared to 412,891 in January of 1971.

However, rum and vodka sales were up 30.4 and 23.6 per cent, respectively, while gin sales increased by 12.4 per cent. Rum sales jumped from 11,920 cases in January of 1971 to 15,538 cases last month while vodka sales increased from 39,637 to 49,001 cases. Gin sales totaled 37,354 cases compared to 33,240 last year.

Whiskey sales, meanwhile, declined from 231,566 cases in January a year ago to 221,945 cases last month.

Commission Chairman Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor said sale of specialty items—sloe gin, creme de cacao, creme de menthe, blackberry and miscellaneous liquors—were up 28.9 per cent in January compared to a year ago.

"Reports from many bars indicate that teen-age drinkers are ordering a greater variety of mixed drinks than their elders—rum, vodka and gin-based drinks—and more of the specialty and cordial type drinks," Thayer said.

Although January sales statistics are not yet available, Thayer said they probably will show big increases in sale of beer and the so-called "pop" wines with less than 16 per cent alcoholic content.

The Commission also reported that during 1971 one-third of the violation of state liquor laws involved the selling or serving of alcoholic beverages to minors, mostly 18, 19 and 20 year olds who can now legally drink.

Of the 1,384 violation cases that came before the Commission, 460 involved minors. Next highest number was 208 cases involving sale of liquor or allowing patrons to remain in a bar after hours while gambling or possession of gambling equipment was involved in 118 violations cases.

Thayer said the Commission expects the number of violations for selling or serving minors will drop considerably this year as a result of age of majority laws that went into effect Jan 1

Education Reform

Brickley Meets Public

Lieutenant Governor James H. Brickley holds the eighth in a statewide series of public meetings on education March 16, in Wayne as he seeks to bring about property tax relief in educational financing.

"We are proposing a fundamental change in financing education in Michigan, a change carefully designed to achieve two major goals - equity in the spending of funds to educate children and fairness in taxing for the operations of our schools," the Lieutenant Governor said.

The meeting, which will feature a question and answer session between the audience and Brickley, is to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Wayne Memorial High School, 3001 Fourth Street at Glenwood.

Brickley will speak briefly and there will be remarks by Tom Jones, Governor William Milliken's administrative assistant for education, and Western Michigan University President James Miller.

Dr. Miller, former member of the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform, is co-chairman of the governor's drive to change the state constitution so that property taxes for school operations will be reduced. More than 266,000 signatures must be collected to place the constitutional change on the November 1972 ballot.

"Educational financing and the quality of education itself are immensely unequal in our state," Brickley said. "A child in a school district which little industry, or other taxable resources, stands a little chance of receiving an education equal to a child living in a wealthier district, simply because of where he lives. We cannot continue to deprive our children this way."

"This inequity should exist no longer if we really want our children to get the best possible education and if, as taxpayers, we want fairness in the amount each of us pays to support that education," he said.

"Through this series of public meetings, the issues will be brought into sharper focus with people throughout Michigan contributing their views on this vital subject," he said.

In the question and answer session, the lieutenant governor will be assisted by a five-member panel of Wayne area people who will relay the questions directly to the lieutenant governor for on-the-spot answers.

Previous to the Wayne meeting, public sessions will have been conducted by either Governor Milliken or Lieutenant Governor Brickley in Grand Rapids, Marquette, Mt. Pleasant, Detroit, Benton Harbor, Saginaw and Jackson.

Election Affects Stocks

year virtually unchanged from twelve months before. In three of the years the Dow Average suffered a net loss. The remaining seven years were all on the plus side. Hence, there was a definite bias in favor of optimistically inclined investors. Generally speaking, for the election years studied, three phases of strength were noted: (1) A moderate rally extending from mid-winter through the early spring weeks, (2) a more pronounced gain from mid-spring through mid-summer, and (3) a post-election upward spurt.

If the foregoing composite pattern runs true to form, the 1972 stock market should make good overall progress. But the three years of down markets and the one with no progress are a reminder that an election year is not automatically profitable for investors.

We could go back to presidential races before 1928, but historic changes since then have altered the picture. The appeal of pump-priming techniques and the deeply imbedded voter abhorrence of even a short, mild economic malaise have caused campaign promises of the two major parties to become similar in many important respects. This year there are innumerable other considerations that could affect the stock market beyond the matter of which party will win. There is acute public concern over preservation of the environment, as well as what forms of government spending will gain top priority. And, perhaps more than at any time in a number of years, the role of this nation in the troubled world is influencing investor sentiment.

Beautiful Snow

Why is it that when ever the forecast is for heavy snow, announcers on television and radio, co-workers and neighbors automatically begin cursing the weather?

The lighter the snow the better they like it. And if they had their druthers, there wouldn't be any snow.

My re-action is quite different. I welcome that white, fluffy stuff, even the hard, cold stuff pushed along by gale-force winds.

Winter would be a drab season indeed, if there were no snow. Think of it now. Do you really like the barren trees and the withered grass, the stark look of a snowless winter landscape?

It's like a bird without feathers, a car without color, a girl with a dreadful, boney shape. In less poetic terms, winter without snow is dingy and dirty, a hard surface with no soft contours.

The cold seems colder without snow.

Most of the hew and cry has to do with roads and the slippery conditions that snow brings about. As I drive safely home or to a meeting over snow-covered roads and hear complaints over the radio, I wonder why the concern.

Driving on slippery roads is really quite a simple matter. Slow down, that is the principle thing. Don't jam on the brakes, don't make sudden swerves, keep your hands firmly on the wheel and don't lose your cool.

To add insult to injury as I'm driving along listening to the radio, friends of the salt manufacturers heap crystals on the road, making mush of a clean, white blanket.

The snow becomes grey slush splashed over the windshield, momentarily blinding me as cars foolishly zip by. And the salt eats my vehicle away, slowly but surely.

By now you've possibly concluded that I'm a friend of the abominable snowman, or a native of climes where winter is winter. The latter guess would be right.

A native of the UP I am. Snow, up to 280 inches, falls for nearly seven months. During that period, the country is dressed in white. Snow crunches underfoot and the breath of fresh air can be seen in front of you.

Ernest Hemingway, who was himself at one time a resident of northern Michigan (he lived near Traverse City and never made it to God's country in the U.P.), looked on winter symbolically as the time for death.

But there's a brighter aspect to it. Winter is also a necessary part of the cycle of life. Without it, spring wouldn't be half as welcome.

VINCENT PRICE will appear at Schoolcraft College on March 8. The celebrated star of stage, screen, and television will discuss "The Villains Still Pursue Me." He will be presented in Schoolcraft's main gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1 for students and $2 for the general public. They may be purchased in advance at the College Bookstore, or by mail from the Student Activities Office, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia 48151.

New Student Enrollment At 26 Percent

Statistics just released by the office of Registrar Norman Dunn show that 1,450 of the 5,549 students enrolled at Schoolcraft for the Winter Semester are attending the College for the first time.

Students currently new to Schoolcraft represent 26 percent of the enrollment. This compares to 19 percent and 17 percent respectively for the two previous Winter terms.

Winter term enrollment is up about 200 students over a year ago, but the average number of credit hours taken is on a decline. Students are presently averaging 8.96 credit hours compared to 9.25 during the Fall Semester and 9.2 a year ago.

Men continue to far outnumber women at the College, 3,475 to 2,074 (63 to 37 percent). Residents outnumber non-resident students by an even larger margin, 3,851 to 1,697 (69 to 31 percent). Students on transfer programs number 3,048 (55 percent) and those on career programs number 2,501 (45 percent).

More students (2,814) attend day classes than the number (2,068) who attend night classes, and part-time students outnumber full-time students at Schoolcraft, 3,390 to 2,159.

Limited Time Only

Free Color Portrait Offered Subscribers

A free portrait in natural color is being offered for a limited time to subscribers of The Northville Record-News, South Lyon Herald and Brighton Argus newspapers.

The gift portrait is available to all new subscribers, or any present subscriber renewing for one year. (See advertisement on page 2-B.)

Having a fine portrait made of the family is something frequently discussed, but seldom do most families ever get around to it.

Now the opportunity presents itself locally for merely a one year subscription to your community newspaper.

Allstates Color Studios of Evanston, Illinois has been engaged to take the photographs, which will be 8 by 10 color portraits with custom linen-textured finish.

Their photographer will set up studio facilities in Northville, South Lyon and Brighton at a designated time in the near future and arrangements will be made prior to this time for appointments.

Proofs for selection of the finished work will be shown shortly thereafter, providing subscribers a minimum of six to eight poses.

The community newspapers note that the offer of the free portrait is made "with no strings attached" and no one is under any obligation to purchase additional photographs.

The offer will be made for a limited time only. The final advertisement announcing the offer will appear the week of March 20. Responses to this final advertisement must be made by March 28 after which no more appointments will be scheduled.

All coupons appearing in the advertisement announcing the free portrait offer should be mailed along with a check or money order for the year's subscription to the office of the newspaper of the community in which you reside.

The offer is limited to residents of the counties of Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw and Livingston in the areas served by The Record-News, Herald and Argus newspapers.

FAMILY PORTRAITS make thoughtful gifts and precious keepsakes. An 8 by 10 color portrait will be given free for a one year's subscription, new or renewal, to The Northville Record-News, South Lyon Herald and Brighton Argus newspapers. The offer ends March 28.

Johnson & Anderson

Novi Disposal Plant Wins Firm An Award

Novi's consulting engineers, Johnson & Anderson, have been named winner of an "Honorable Conceptor Award" for the engineering excellence and design innovation of the Walled Lake Novi Wastewater Treatment Plant in northern Novi.

The award was announced February 11 at the Consulting Engineers Council Engineering Excellence Awards Banquet at the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

Judging took place at the gallery of the Cranbrook Institute of Art.

In announcing the award-winning selections of the blue-chip panel of judges from industry, business, education and the professions, a representative of the Consulting Engineer's Council noted that the projects represent "the forefront of engineering technology, as it meets the challenges of our urbanizing environment."

"The key to growth without damage to our resources is to be found in the foresight and technological achievements of the engineering profession."

Competition exhibits will be on display around the state following their showing at Cranbrook, and on March 10 will be sent to Washington, D.C. for the judging of national awards.

Upon completion of the Novi facility in August last year, it was hailed by officials at every level of government for its innovative design which permits drastic improvement in the quality of effluent reaching the area's streams.

Constructed under the auspices of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, $2.05 million plant resolves the five-year efforts of the cities of Novi and Walled Lake to join together in handling the wastewater flows of a projected 1980 population of 21,000 persons, and the accompanying residential and industrial growth.

Walled Lake itself has been one of the metropolitan Detroit's favored recreational spots for decades, and in recent years has deteriorated due to the high wastewater flows created by the expanding population.

Designed by Johnson & Anderson, headquartered in Pontiac, the plant is the first in the state to feature a complete mix process without primary treatment and use of mixed media filtration in the final treatment of effluent.

The mixed media filtration method is of the type used to treat drinking water, in which the water is filtered through several layers of aggregates to achieve 97-98 percent removal of organic pollutants.

In addition, more than 90 percent of the phosphates are removed from the wastewater by chemical treatment.

The facility also is unique for its use of an equalization tank which absorbs peak loads of wastewater to release them at a constant rate to the aeration tanks. Constant rate loading, has long been recognized as critical in meeting the highest efficiencies in the treatment of wastewater.

The Walled Lake-Novu wastewater treatment plant is the key element of a $10.3 million public works program being undertaken by the two communities through the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

The program will play a crucial role in continuing the growth of Walled Lake as an outstanding residential community, officials contend, and the industrial development of Novi with its prime location near rail lines and Interstate 96.

Lent Makes Me Angry

Rev. Donald McLelland
First United Methodist Church
South Lyon

I Peter 1: 22-23 "By obedience to the truth you have purified yourselves for a genuine love of your brothers; therefore, love one another constantly from the heart. Your rebirth has come, not from a destructible but from an indestructible seed, through the living and enduring word of God." (N.A.B.)

LENT makes me angry! It makes me a little ashamed to be named a Christian, and it frequently leads me to dreaming about a lay-ministry; for Lent is a time for looking inward and taking new direction—and we make a farce of it.

As Christian Communities, the many bodies which name themselves Christian use this season in a variety of ways toward a single end—repentance. Some encourage fasting, others share the common meal and a programmed event to accent the season. Some walk the road of humility and others accent evangelistic renewal. We do all the right things and our actions are meaningless; for at the heart of our corporate life—

WE DO NOT REPENT!

We do have our pious union services scattered conveniently around the area, and we celebrate our "oneness in Christ", and we conclude it all with our separate celebrations of God's action of reconciliation—the Easter Event.

And it is here that we show our true colors, for it is at this point that we accent not oneness but brokenness and an unwillingness to truly become more than token brothers. We affirm the ancient sin of Corinth in our lives.

Paul wrote, "I have been told, my brothers...that there are quarrels among you. What I mean is this: each of you is saying, 'I am Paul's man, or 'I am Apollos'; 'I follow Cephas,' or 'I am Christ's'. Surely Christ has not been divided among you!"

Merely change the labels—United Methodist, Church of Christ, Roman Catholic, United Presbyterian, Assembly of God, and you have the church in South Lyon; and I suspect in an even wider area. We try to divide Christ and it just doesn't work.

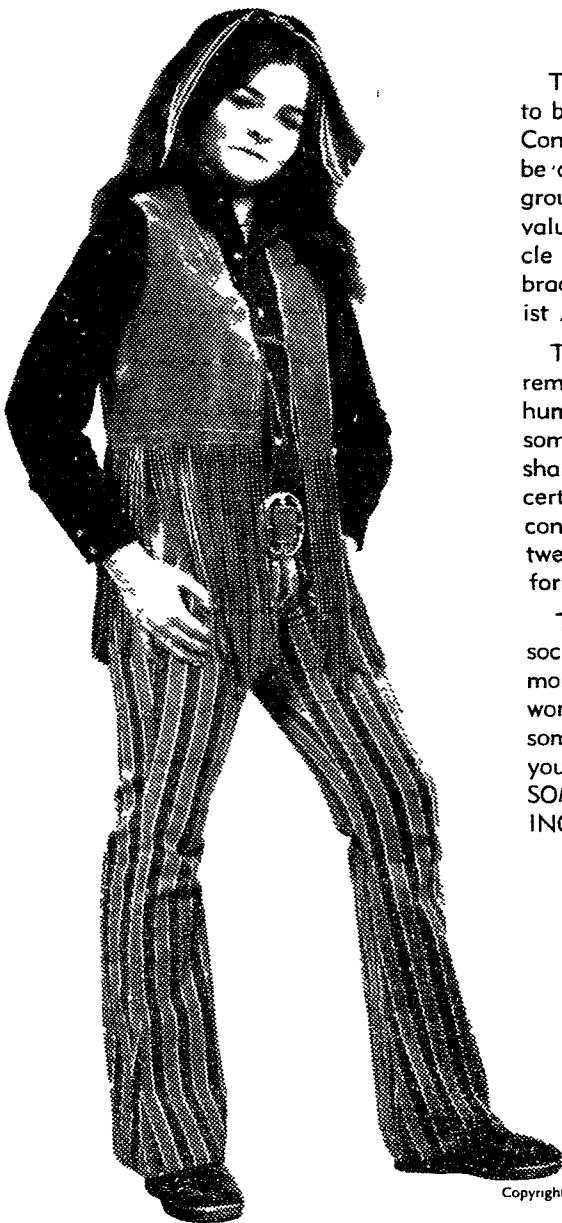

Yet there is a better way. The way the Apostle Peter spoke about in his writing to the Church. In writing of our single baptism he states, "By obedience to the truth you have purified yourselves for a genuine love of your brothers," A.M. Hunter calls this "the family spirit in a Christian community."

There is a better way than our present course—the way of the Apostle Peter. Whether we walk this road of "family love" is a decision which rests with each individual and each corporate body which sees itself as a facet of that single body which is Christ.

In the meantime, Lent makes me a bit angry, makes me want to hide a bit from the name Christian, sets me to dreaming about a lay-ministry; for in our refusal to be one as our Lord commanded we stand over against Him and do not show Him forth, but only our own brokenness.

Perhaps our only true hope lies in those compassionate words from the Cross which bring Lent to a close: "Father, forgive them; they do not know what they are doing."

Connie, The Conformist

The last thing Connie intended to be was a conformist. So one day Connie resolved in dead earnest to be a nonconformist. She joined the group. She learned their views, their values, their life-style. Soon the cycle was complete—Connie had embraced the way of the nonconformist... had conformed to it.

The adventure of Connie is a reminder that conformity is part of human nature. We all conform to something. And the seemingly sharp differences apparent between certain life-styles merely reflect the contrasts and contradictions between the things to which men conform.

The role of the Church in our society is to provide spiritual and moral values that enrich life. In a world in which all men conform to something, the Church's aim with youth and adults is to give them SOMETHING WORTH CONFORMING TO.

1-Card of Thanks

The family of William Bidwell Willard would like to thank everyone for the kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent loss. A special thank you for all the prayers and cards, to all who took care of my family's special needs while I had to be out of town. We also thank each who have already made Memorial Contributions for the special equipment for the Jackson Osteopathic Hospital May God bless.

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph E. Wilkinson Sr. and Family

I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for their sympathy and for all the kind acts extended to me at the time of Leo's illness and death. These kindnesses have meant much to me and will always be remembered.

My sincere thanks to my relatives, neighbors, and friends for their prayers, cards and inquiries while I was in the hospital and since my return home. Special thanks to Rev. McLellan.

Victor Kingsley

WE WISH TO THANK the Novi Police Officers both on and off duty and Novi Reserve Officers, Michigan State Police, Oakland County Sheriffs, Northville Township Police, South Lyon Police, Novi Fire Department, Detroit Police Department use of their helicopter, Pastor Berger, Pastor Harding, neighbors and all who helped find my husband Fritz Kirchberg.

Mrs. Fritz Kirchberg, and son Alfred Sorg

2-In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF THOMAS QUITMAN MUNCE SR., who passed away 3 years ago March 4, 1969. Father of 3 sons and four daughters and wife Elizabeth

In loving memory of our son Kenneth C. Markell who left us 2 years ago, March 4th, 1970. Gone is the face we loved so dear. Silent is the voice we loved to hear. Too far away for sight or speech. But not too far for God to reach. Sweet to remember him who once was here, and who though absent is just as dear. Sadly missed by your parents

Crash Bumpers Win Praise of Auto Writers

General Motors' crash-resistant bumpers and American Motors' blanket warranty were chosen the most worthwhile developments in 1972 cars by 16 of 25 top auto writers across the country who responded to a questionnaire posed by the Automobile Club of Michigan's Motor News magazine.

Complete results of the survey are published in the February issue of Motor News, reaching over one million Auto Club members throughout Michigan.

As one of the most significant developments in the 1972 models, General Motors' impact-resistant bumpers received support from 64-percent of their writers. American Motors' new warranty, which covers virtually the entire car for 12 months or 12,000 miles, was heralded by 95 percent of the poll as another boon for motorists.

The controversial air bag passenger restraint system was disapproved by 76 percent of the writers who answered the poll-even if air bags added no extra cost to the price of a new car.

Most who disliked the air bag gave fear of accidental inflation as the basic reason. Some told Auto Club they put more faith in a better seatbelt and shoulder harness system.

Again, 76-percent agreed new car buyers should be given a choice between air bags or some equally effective system, with some adding that the choice should include, "no system at all if the motorist wants none."

Ninety-five percent of the writers said that the new American Motors warranty plan is a good idea and proof that the auto industry is trying to win consumer favor.

Laurels for the most improved car for 1972 went to Ford, with Torino and Montego figuring prominently. Mechanical changes, not simply new styling, were offered as the reason.

Chevrolet's Vega was chosen for top quality and a good all-around buy in the domestic sub-compact field. Engineering, looks and the concept of a scaled down "Chevy" were given in support of the decision.

Asked which would be the best prospect for leading the U. S. sub-compact sales in 1972, the writers also favored Vega. (The poll was completed before current production problems.)

Volkswagen retained its title as best of the foreign sub-compacts, with the Japanese Toyota running a not-so-close second. Boosters of the "Beetle" cited quality, reliability, price and the best dealer network for foreign cars as a hard to beat combination.

Ironically, more than half of the writers agreed that consumer advocate Ralph Nader's criticism of the Volkswagen and VW Minibus is justified. However, many rationalized that the smaller car, the greater the hazard, and "many buyers willingly accept the risk."

Low price, one of the factors that made many of the imports such a success in 1971, will have less bearing on sales during the 1972 model year.

Although a majority felt the imports' high quality contributed to much of their appeal, 52 percent believed import sales would decline in the next five years due to domestic competition, rising prices abroad, plus the cost of meeting new safety standards in the U.S.

Most writers thought the current trend in federal legislation on how cars should be built was good, except in the area of cost increases. On that count, 44 percent felt the new regulations would prove bad in the long run.

"Limousine-driven politicians on expense accounts, in federally bought cars, will tell peons how much to pay for autos," said one writer.

In defending government standards, another said, "It is sure to cost more money, but so far government and pressure groups have made the auto industry do things it said it couldn't."

While there are many good points to the '72 models, most of the writers thought gas mileage and performance would not be among them. Many blamed the trend toward anti-pollution devices.

The federal emissions standards for 1975 and 1976 models were believed too stringent by 60 percent of the writers, with some even convinced the air today is not all that dangerous.

Asked which car they would buy if cost and upkeep were no factor, most writers preferred the Lincoln Continental Mark IV over Cadillac, with Rolls Royce and Mercedes-Benz close behind.

On the other hand, if economy were the only factor in original cost and upkeep, Volkswagen and Datsun were tied for first with the American Motors Gremlin second.

Thirty-nine U.S. auto writers received the survey, and 25 responded on topics ranging from what they thought was the most improved car for 1972 to which autos they would buy personally.

We Salute Our Weights And Measures Officials!

March 1 to 7 has been proclaimed National Weights and Measures Week honoring the Weights and Measures officials who guard the public welfare by insuring correct weights! In today's complex economy, standardization of Weights and Measures is an absolute necessity. To assure the consumers of confidence in goods and services they buy, and the businessmen of fair competition. We take for granted those who work in this field! Seldom do we give credit to those who try to guarantee the accurate measurements of the items we purchase. Though the main duty of the Weights and Measures official is to protect the buyer and insure that he gets fair value for what he purchases, the officials have also found instances where an inaccurate scale, if left uncorrected could have put a store owner out of business! What better time could there be to point out the advantages of our modern electronic scales used in prepackaging meat, and inspected regularly. They excel in production, efficiency, & uniform accuracy. Price lists are passed, and so is the drain on time and labor lost in relabeling wrongly priced items. However, consumers say they have difficulty in reading the new price tags for the weight is measured and shown in pounds and increments of 1/100th pound no ounces. The price of the package is also computed to the nearest 1/1000 (0.01) of a pound. But they are easy to understand if you follow this example time due to the lack of sufficient personnel." "Files are not received upon request. File charges are not immediately filed and files cannot therefore be located."

"The normal flow of supplies has been curtailed and we cannot obtain several necessary forms."

"All of the foregoing has had a most demoralizing effect upon all personnel and created a loss of pride and respect for the Service as a whole," the memo read.

"That memo was ignored," McDonald said.

Another memo which apparently went ignored came from another district director regarding the INS budget and its effect on operations, he said.

"Experience has shown that about 75 percent of the complaints received from the public, if worked promptly, are positive," the memo stated.

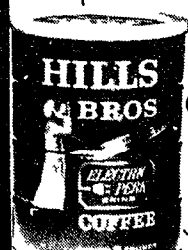

"Many involve multiple apprehensions. With sufficient manpower, Area Control Category investigations receipts and completions would increase an anticipated 3,000 units per year. This estimate was proven during fiscal year 1970 when a detail of 50 additional officers resulted in the apprehension of over 10,000 illegal aliens during a six-week period. There is no indication that there will be a decrease in area control apprehensions for many years," the memo stated.

"Before my investigation is complete," he said, "I or a member of my staff will interview INS personnel in every major INS office in America."

Farrell's failure to react to this debilitating influence of illegal immigrants has been an invitation for increasing numbers of illegal aliens to sneak into this country and stay here with little fear of capture or deportation," McDonald charged.
