Spokesman Defends Government

Township Able To Meet Growth

"In the last 25 years, township government has caught up with and is able, along with county, city and village government, to meet the challenges of this century," according to Colonel Joseph A. Parisi, executive director of the Michigan Townships Association.

Colonel Parisi delivered his talk on township government last Thursday night to more than 100 persons at the high school auditorium.

His 40-minute talk was followed by a question and answer period which lasted one hour and 20 minutes. Parisi was introduced to the audience by Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg.

Parisi noted that 25 years ago the "township was identified as a geographic unit, but today it is a political unit which has found its political strength."

"The township government can give to its people any service or utility which a city government provides," he explained, "but the people must be willing to pay for them."

Parisi said he gets "upset with city officials who say 'Come into the city and we'll do it out of the general fund.'"

"The general fund is tax dollars and not manna from heaven."

He commented that rather than townships using the general fund for improvements, special assessment districts can be set up, the people will pay for a set number of years "and then will be done paying."

He said that township taxes are limited to one mill without a vote of the people, "but you can vote extra millage or use special assessment districts." Parisi told the audience city taxes "by charter go as high

Press Biased Says Parisi

Colonel Joseph A. Parisi, chief spokesman for the Michigan Townships Association, devoted a generous portion of his discussion last Thursday evening to newspapers in general, and The Northville Record in particular.

"Do not look for unbiased help from your local newspaper," he told his audience.

"History is replete with the local newspaper being in favor of annexation," he said.

"Bring about your own study (of pros and cons of annexation to the city) and give it to the people," Parisi urged his audience.

"You must find your own way to print it. It's the only safe way to do it, because, section by section, the newspaper will make comments (on the study) against the township," he continued.

"Northville is no different than any other area in the state when it comes to the newspaper," Parisi said, adding that he, while not familiar with The Northville Record, was speaking from past experiences.

He said if a "committee organizes in the township (to keep township government), I will be more than happy to aid. I will provide the facts but will not become involved in campaigning."

Parisi cautioned that "it's impossible to get a story in favor of the township in the paper. It will not be straight. They'll editorialize and the township side will not be seen in print."

He stated that if the two governments become one, the "paper stands to gain advertising dollars."

Parisi suggested instead of telling the township's story through the paper, "mimeograph off the story. We've done this many times, printing the city side right along side of the township side."

"I will not tell you how to vote if the boundary commission approves annexation and you go out and petition for an election," Parisi stated, "but inform yourself."

"Do not rely on paid propaganda or on the biased viewpoint of the newspaper," he added.

Parisi is head of the organization which represents the 1,247 townships in Michigan with a combined population of just under four million residents.

as 20 mills. Charter townships are five mills by a vote of the (township) board or up to 10 mills by a vote of the people.

"There is no reason why the city and township can't go down the road providing services but not disturbing the political integrity of each," Parisi said. "There are 73 statutes which permit any two governmental units to join together to provide services to their residents."

Parisi cautioned that if the township is annexed to the city it will lose police protection from the Michigan State Police and the Wayne County Sheriff.

"Your taxes will increase and being way out in the country, you may sit out there for several years before you get any of the city services."

"There will also be immediate problems of adjustment under the new laws of the city," he said, "and you will not have any representation on the city council until the next election."

Parisi said the township has five alternatives to consider for its future direction:

- city status alone by incorporation, annexation to the city consolidation of all or part of township with city;

- home rule village;
- charter township, which will "allow you to do all that a city can, short of being a city";

- consolidate with Plymouth Township and become a charter township and "probably emerge as one of the most efficient townships."

On Teacher Contracts

Mediator Enters Talks

Mediation has been called for by the Northville Education Association in its contract negotiations with the Northville School District.

First session with the mediator was to be held yesterday (Wednesday) at 10 a.m.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said he does "not believe we are ready for mediation. I don't think we have reached an impasse, but maybe the teachers do."

Spear has taken over the job of chief negotiator for the school district following the resignation of Robert C. Benson, personnel director.

Meeting with representatives of the NEA last Wednesday (July 5), Spear said he indicated to them the district's willingness to reach a settlement.

"The district offered to drop nine of its 11 proposals and agreed to work out the two remaining proposals with the NEA," Spear commented.

"All they would do is remove one of their 18 demands and leave the other 17 on the table," he said.

Efforts to contact spokesmen for the teachers Tuesday to get their comments on negotiations were unsuccessful.

"I don't think they (the teachers) are ready to settle the contract yet," Spear said. "They have indicated a willingness to continue negotiations, but I'm ready to settle this contract now."

HORTON STREET from Baseline to Eight Mile road will soon be converted into a paved surface with curbs and gutters. Detroit Concrete Products was awarded the job on a low bid of $13,944.50. The city council met in special session last Wednesday night to approve the project. The contract calls for work to begin within two weeks and completion within 45 days.

FIRE STUDY preliminary report was submitted Tuesday to Northville township board members. Headed by Trustee Richard Mitchell, the fire committee's multi-page document includes information, proposals and suggestions for fire protection in the township. Details of the study will be reported in The Record next week.

AN 11 A.M. HEARING today will be held at the Northville city council chambers on the proposed $650,000 Randolph drain. While the city favors the inter-county drain commission plan to provide water drainage for some 900 acres in the city and northwest into Novi, it will argue against widening of the stream along Randolph, as will many residents. And the city opposes charging the city full cost for directing the drain around Northville Green apartments. Three representatives from the state and Wayne and Oakland counties will conduct the hearing. It's open to the public.

TOWNSHIP planners will hold two public hearings at 8 p.m. Wednesday, July 19, in township offices. Hearings include a petition to rezone .94 acre on the southeast corner of Seven Mile Road and Valencia from single family to multiple. Also slated for discussion is a request to rezone the northeast corner of Six Mile and Napier roads from single family to general business to permit construction of a restaurant and lounge.

REGISTERED voters in the township total 3,599 while the city records a figure of 2,753 eligible to cast ballots in the August 8 primary election. A total of 150 new voters in the township and 101 in the city registered by the deadline Friday.

Mini-Bike Noise Still Plagues Townshipites

Discussions on an ordinance regulating mini-bikes and a search for a spokesman to present the township's side of the annexation story to the boundary commission were major items considered at Tuesday night's township board meeting.

Township attorney Donald Morgan presented a proposed ordinance covering the operation of mini-bikes in the township and the ordinance was tabled for study by the board.

Also covering all-terrain vehicles, go-karts and other motorized vehicles not registered or regulated by the state, the proposal would ban the vehicles on private property, unless written permission is obtained from the owner, and on all public property.

If adopted, the ordinance would establish registration of the vehicles with the township for a $1 fee.

Only vehicles used on land owned by the operator would not have to be registered. Times of operation proposed include from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and not within 500 feet of a dwelling.

Trustee Richard Mitchell moved for immediate adoption of the ordinance

School Starts Annual Borrowing Program

Noting that "summer taxes would eliminate the need for this type of action," Northville school board trustees authorized the filing of an application with the State Department of Education for a loan of $840,000.

The money is being borrowed in anticipation of state aid payments and will carry the district through November 15, Earl Busard, business director, stated.

Interest to be paid will amount to $21,000 on the loan, he said.

Currently, the district is studying the possibility of collecting school taxes in the summer, rather than in December, to eliminate the need for borrowing funds.

Busard said he anticipates the district will have to borrow "another $250,000 to $300,000 in November to carry the district through January when taxes begin coming in."

He said the district will have to borrow a total of $1,150,000 or $1,200,000 during the school year. During the 1971-72 school year, the district borrowed a total of $1,095,000.

In other financial action, trustees approved a final application for borrowing $49,243 from the school bond loan fund to meet the 1971-72 debt retirement obligations.

Busard explained the district was borrowing the money "in lieu of increasing the tax levy and it's cheaper to borrow from the state than any where else."

Trustees also applied for a loan from the fund to cover anticipated needs from January 1, 1973, through January 2, 1974.

The business director said he anticipates the loan, to which no figure need be attached until next July, will total about $4,800.

"Through borrowing the funds, we will be able to reduce the debt levy from 7.07 levied this year to 7.006 for next year," he explained.

In his preliminary final budget report for the past school year, Busard said the district currently is $524.19 in the black.

However, when all accounts have been settled and transfers made, the budget will be "about $5,000 in the black," he said.

Trustees also authorized application with the state for the final qualification of the district's $750,000 bond issue, application for approval to sell the bonds and named Manufacturers National Bank as depository for funds received from the sale of those bonds.

It's City Tax Time

Tax notices, 1,600 of them, were mailed out to city residents last week.

According to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, the city will receive an estimated $314,000 from its levy of 10.2 mills against a state equalized valuation (SEV) of $32.3 million.

Last year's higher levy of 10.3 mills against a SEV rate of $29.8 million brought the city $300,000.

Taxes are payable without penalty through August 31. After that date, a two percent penalty will be charged, lower than last year's four-percent penalty.

Dr. Orlo J. Robinson was elected to his third consecutive term as president of the Northville board of education.

The unanimous action came Monday night at the board's organizational meeting.

Dr. Robinson said he "enjoyed working as president the past two years and your (board members and administrators) cooperation makes it a pleasure to serve in this capacity."

Also elected to office in unanimous decisions were Stanley Johnston, vice-president; Mrs. Sylvia O. Gucken, secretary; and Martin Rinehart, treasurer.

Other members of the board include Trustees Glenn Deibert, Andrew Orphan and Richard Martin.

Board members approved a resolution recognizing the service to the school district of B. William Secord, who was appointed to fill a vacancy on the board created last fall by the resignation of the Reverend Timothy Johnson.

The resolution cited Secord's "faithful service to the district" and expressed "thanks and appreciation on behalf of the board of education and community."

Appointed to committees by Dr. Robinson for the 1972-73 school year were, curriculum committee, entire board; personnel committee, Deibert, chairman, and Mrs. Gucken; physical facilities committee, Johnston, chairman, Rinehart, and Martin; and financial committee, Rinehart, chairman, and Orphan.

Dr. Robinson will serve ex officio on all committees.

Trustees also agreed to meet the second and fourth Mondays of each month at 8 p.m. in the school board office and named Manufacturers National Bank as official depository for school funds.

Their dresses were identical to that of the maid of honor. Their flowers were pink and red carnations.

Junior bridesmaids, Cory Westphal, sister of the bride, and Leena Singer of Livonia, the bridegroom's niece, wore dresses identical to those of the other attendants and carried bouquets of variegated pink and white carnations and baby's breath.

John C. Singer, II, Livonia was his brother's best man. Ushers were Paul Singer of Omaha, Nebraska, and Jason Singer, Northville, both brothers of the bridegroom, and Jeff Mooney and Geoff Nast, both of Plymouth.

Mrs. Westphal wore a floor length chiffon gown in a pink floral print. The mother of the bridegroom wore a pink and white floor length chiffon gown.

TOP JAYCETTE—Kathy Crawford is a woman looking forward to a new kind of community involvement for herself and other Jaycettes. She is shown above with a 'friend' Max.

Wife's Job: To Know All About Community

"I feel very strongly that because women are home much more than their husbands these days and are in the community more, they should be more involved in the community and knowledgeable about what is going on in it," said Mrs. Hugh Crawford of Novi.

Mrs. Crawford is the State Vice-President of District 22 of the Jaycee Auxiliary of Jaycettes.

She feels that there should be some changes made in the way in which the organization approaches the community and its problems.

"I have created a new district post this year," she said, "a Community Awareness Coordinator." The function of the coordinator is to read and listen for news pertaining to the community and report back to Mrs. Crawford who includes the information in a newsletter which is sent to Jaycette members in the 22nd district.

"I'm not a woman's liberationist," she said, "but I do feel that a woman should be able to talk about community things intelligently."

Mrs. Crawford said, "Husbands are not in the community as much as their wives, so they very often do not have the time to become involved in community projects. The women should take the initiative and become involved."

She believes that it should be the job of a wife to read about what is going on, be familiar with both sides of the issues and be able to talk to her husband about them.

Mrs. Crawford's definition of community does not include only a town or neighborhood.

"Things that involve Detroit also involve all of us in the suburbs," she said. "The suburbs from Detroit to the suburbs effects all of us, but too many people in the suburbs choose not to believe it. They think that they can hide here but they shouldn't."

Jaycette workshops "on relevant things like busing and crime prevention" is one of Mrs. Crawford's goals, although, she said, all of the other community projects in which the Jaycettes are involved are also very important.

"I'm encouraging the women in the organization to go to city council and school board meetings and speak up if they feel they need to. Once they go, they find out that they actually enjoy it. Their voices can be heard if they are knowledgeable enough about a subject."

She said she would like to plan district seminars, joint meetings with the Jaycees in the district, on issues of the day "like prison reform and crime prevention."

Mrs. Crawford is also very interested in setting up the first regional meeting involving Jaycees and Jaycettes from several districts.

"This will give us a greater number of people and will hopefully enable us to get more and better speakers for the group on important issues."

The response of other Jaycettes to Mrs. Crawford's ideas has been "just great", she said. "Women are very anxious to get involved today. They aren't the homebodies that they used to be. They are no longer satisfied to sit at home and watch 'Secret Storm! They are looking for a new way to channel their interests."

"I went ahead with the idea of more community awareness because I felt it was something that was needed. I think if we prove it successful this year, more districts will have community awareness chairmen in the future."

Mrs. Crawford said at first many of the men in the Jaycee organization were afraid of what the women were trying to do. They may have felt that the women were attempting to "take over." She explained that once they realized the Jaycettes wanted to work with them, they were more willing to ask their help with projects.

Mrs. Crawford hopes to have the Leadership in Action course given to Jaycettes soon. In the past, it has been offered only to Jaycees.

"This," she said, "will give them confidence to stand up and say what they feel at meetings."

At Presbyterian Church

New Assistant Pastor Plans Active Program

Richard J. Henderson has been named assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Ordained last Sunday, July 9, in Pennsylvania, he will give his first sermon this Sunday, July 16, at the 9:30 a.m. service at the Presbyterian Church.

An informal reception will be given for the assistant pastor and his family following the service.

Mr. Henderson will be in charge of Christian Education and youth work at the church.

In announcing his addition to the staff, the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, pastor, said Mr. Henderson "shows great promise in the areas of Christian Education and youth work."

The new assistant plans to develop a full religious education program from pre-school age through adult levels. While working with church youth, he hopes to develop programs for junior and senior high youth, college students and post high school young adults.

"Youth fellowship, retreats, work camps, music groups, counseling and Community Out Reach are just a few of the activities planned," he said.

The 27-year-old assistant grew up in the Wallace Memorial United Presbyterian Church of Green Tree, Pennsylvania, where he was ordained.

He attended Green Tree public schools and Dormont High School in Pennsylvania. He graduated in 1968 from Muskingum College in New Concord, Ohio, and enrolled in Pittsburgh Theological Seminary.

After two years at the seminary, he took an internship in Rochester, Michigan, at the University Presbyterian Church and finished his senior year at the seminary in May.

Mr. Henderson will be officially installed as assistant next month when Mr. Brasure returns from vacation. A formal reception will be held at that time.

Sheila Anne White of Village Presbyterian Church in Detroit, have one daughter, Jennifer Anne, who is a year old.

They are currently living in Livonia and are planning to move to Northville

NEW ASSISTANT—Richard J. Henderson has been named assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville. He will deliver his first sermon Sunday.

Car Wash

Northville Jaycees will hold their fourth annual car wash Saturday, July 15, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Jaycees will be washing cars at the Robo Wash on Novi Road, just north of the Pepper Tree Restaurant.

Proceeds from the car wash will help fund the Jaycee's community projects.

Slim Cooking

Larry Janes, chef for Weight Watchers, will hold a cooking demonstration tonight (Thursday) beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The cooking show will be held upstairs in the First Presbyterian Church. The evening is open to the public and there is no charge for admission, spokesmen for Weight Watchers said.

Alaskan Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller of First Street had visitors from Juneau, Alaska, as their son Gerald, his wife Linda and their daughters Kathy and Nancy were in Northville recently.

In their honor, a family gathering for 50 people was held at the Miller home. Present at the gathering were Gerald's brothers Roger and Linwood, both of Northville, and his sister Donna, of Whitmore Lake.

Gerald graduated from Northville High School in 1941 in absentia because he had enlisted in the U.S. Army. In 1950, he graduated from University of Michigan with a degree in civil engineering. From 1950 to 1954 Miller worked for the Bureau of Public Roads in Alaska. He was the city engineer for the city of Juneau for five years and presently is with the State of Alaska Department of Highways.

In May, Miller received his master of science degree in engineering management from the University of Alaska and he was made the Director of the Division of Maintenance of the Alaska Department of Highways.

He and his family left on Monday for Cape Cod, Massachusetts to visit Mrs. Miller's parents before returning to Alaska.

Hearings Must Start Over

After four weeks of silence, the Novi Board of Education Thursday issued a position paper regarding the arrest of one of its members - Trustee William Ziegler - by the Novi police on charges of larceny under $50.

As the first item of business in Thursday's organization meeting, then Board President Gilbert Henderson reported that the Board had met in executive session June 29 to decide what action to take on the matter.

"The Board of Education recommended, and Mr. William Ziegler concurred," read the position paper, "that he should not participate as a Board Trustee at regularly scheduled meetings until there is some legal disposition of the charges brought against him."

Ziegler, along with Richard Jensen of Novi, was arrested Tuesday, June 6, after allegedly stealing four 20-foot lengths of pipe from a Michigan Bell construction site on the corner of Novi and Nine Mile Roads. The arrest was made after a high-speed chase down Meadowbrook Road, according to police reports.

The case has been scheduled for a hearing before Judge Martin Boyle in the 52nd District Court July 20.

The June 29 executive session of the Board of Education was called "as a result of concern by fellow Board of Education members," the position paper stated.

The ensuing discussion led to the following positions taken by the Board:

"First of all, the Board of Education realizes that it should not, and cannot, pass judgment as to the validity of the charges. This will be done through the proper channels."

Novi Withdraws From Roth Suit

Superintendent Gerald Kratz was authorized to withdraw the support of the Novi Community Schools from the law suit against the inter-district busing order included in Judge Stephen Roth's recent desegregation plan by the Novi Board of Education Monday.

The law firm of Butzel, Long, Guest, Klein and Van Zile had been retained by the board to enter the law suit of Bradley versus Milliken on behalf of the Novi Community Schools. At that time, the desegregation order had not yet been handed down and there was some speculation that Novi might be included in the order.

Each of the school districts participating in the law suit contributed 25 cents per enrolled pupil toward appealing the Roth action. Through May, total expenditure by Novi Community Schools was $888 00.

Since the Novi school district was not mentioned in the final Roth decision, the board was asked to consider curtailing Novi's involvement in the action so there would be no regular financial support involved.

Board member Bruce Simmons pointed out to the other members that they "might be letting the others involved down" and that Novi might well be involved in a desegregation plan eventually.

Kratz said the suit could go on for quite a long time and could call for great sums of money in filing law briefs for the appeal of the decision. He added that if Novi continued to be part of the law suit, even though not included in the desegregation order, the courts could include the Novi Community Schools in future decisions concerning desegregation.

Simmons said that even though Novi was not mentioned in the order "we are involved" since it will be state money used to buy the buses.

Kratz explained the longer it takes the appeals, the more expensive the cost per child will be as other districts not named in the plan are withdrawing, making it more costly for those still involved.

"I don't think we should ignore them," Simmons said. He suggested that the board drop out of the law suit but not necessarily withdraw financial support.

A caution came from attorney Frederick Knauer. Unless the financial support was completely on a voluntary basis he said, the Novi Community Schools could still be considered legally involved. By a 4-1 margin the board passed the order to withdraw from the suit but agreed to contribute to it on a voluntary basis.

The dissenting ballot was cast by Trustee Ray Warren, who wanted the school board to remain in the suit.

Name DeWaard Board President

LaVerne Dewaard was honored twice during the past week. At a special organizational meeting Thursday, he was elected president of the Novi Board of Education for the 1972-73 year and Tuesday he was elected to a two-year term as vice-president of the Oakland County Intermediate School Board (Oakland Schools).

DeWaard, 44, was elected to the five-man Intermediate School Board two years ago by voters from the 28 Oakland County school districts. He is serving a six year term on the board.

In being elected president of the Novi board, DeWaard replaces Gilbert Henderson, who returns to his trustee's seat on the board for the upcoming year. Henderson was not nominated for office for the 1972-73 school year.

Other Novi Board of Education officers elected Thursday are Bruce Simmons, vice-president; Ray Warren, secretary; and William Moak, treasurer.

The slate of officers was elected by unanimous ballot, as only one nomination was made for each of the four offices (Simmons declined a nomination for president).

DeWaard, owner of the Michigan-Ohio Air Filter Company, is a member of the board of directors of the

NEW FIRE TRUCK — Novi Fire Chief Fred Loynes proudly perches on the department's latest addition - a class A 1972 pumper built by Fire Trucks, Incorporated from Mt. Clemens. The truck arrived in time to make its first run July 4 and has been used on several calls since then, Loynes reported. Capable of pumping 1,000 gallons of water per minute, the truck cost approximately $24,000 and brings the fire department up to a total of 10 vehicles. In addition to the new truck, there are two other pumpers, three tankers, two jeeps, one rescue truck, and one equipment truck.

Says Louie Campbell

'School Should Pay for Taft'

As far as Novi Councilman Louie Campbell is concerned, the city council's recent abandonment of Taft Road paving plans can be laid directly at the feet of the Novi Board of Education.

"Let's face the pure and simple fact that if it weren't for those two schools being there, there is absolutely no way we could justify paving Taft Road," Campbell told The Novi News Thursday. "By refusing to accept an assessment for the paving of the roads, the School Board has failed to meet its responsibility to this community."

Campbell has been an outspoken critic of the school board's refusal to accept a portion of the assessment for the Taft Road paving from the very beginning.

Due to circumstances, however, Campbell and his criticism of the school board have emerged as one of the keys to the defeat of the paving plans for Taft Road. Although his vote was just one of three defeating the program, it was Campbell who arrived late at the public hearing and found himself in the position of having to cast the decisive ballot.

Although no one on the school board would deny that the reason Taft Road needs to be paved at this time is because of the traffic volume created by the High School and Middle School, it has steadfastly refused to offer any financial aid to accomplish the paving.

The reason most frequently given by school board members for the refusal is that educational money should be used for educational purposes and not for paving roads.

Campbell is ready with an answer to the argument.

"In September, 1969, voters in the Novi School District approved a $4,475,000 bonding proposition for the purpose of defraying the cost of developing and improving school sites. The School Board doesn't need to take a single penny away from educational needs; they can get it from money designated solely for improving school sites."

"What it narrows down to is this," he continues, "Would you consider a road paving project as a site plan improvement? I would."

Campbell has been supported in his opinion that paving Taft Road could be construed as a site plan improvement by School Board Attorney Frederick Knauer, who issued the opinion that money from the 1969 bond issue could be used if the school board so desired.

Campbell further argues that if the school board was

Wilkins Rebuffs Criticism

Saying he was "fed up" with the Novi city council for using the school district as an "excuse" for not paving Taft Road, Trustee Robert Wilkins Thursday introduced a motion to spend $10,000 as the school board's "full and just" obligation for Taft Road paving.

Miliken Due Here

Michigan Governor William Milliken will be in Novi Wednesday, July 19, to participate in opening ceremonies for the city's first industrial park - Novex One, located on Nine Mile Road between Novi and Meadowbrook Roads.

The announcement was made by Councilman Louie Campbell Monday.

Campbell, who is the council's legislative delegate to Lansing, reported he had invited the governor to attend the ceremonies and had received word from Lansing verifying that the governor would be present.

The motion failed by a 3-3 vote.

Wilkins, who has been strongly opposed to the board's accepting any part of the assessment since the question was first raised, said he had procrastinated about making the motion all week.

"There is a point at which, if we should exhibit some good will, perhaps someone else will also exhibit a little good will."

Wilkins said further that he made the motion "not because it will serve the school district, but because it is for the good of the community" that Taft Road be paved, and he was willing to attempt to get the project started.

Seconding Wilkins' motion was Trustee Ray Warren. "I do not feel that $10,000 is the full and just amount which should be paid by the school board," said Warren. "It is only a token gesture, but I'll support the motion, nevertheless."

Warren cited a study made by former Novi Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard Henderson, which revealed that all surrounding school districts have agreed to participate in accepting an assessment when a road paving program is involved. Bruce Simmons, Vern DeWaard, and William Moak voted against giving the $10,000 to the city, while Wilkins, Warren, and Gilbert Hendrickson cast affirmative ballots. The motion thus died for lack of a majority.

Continue Plans On Meadowbrook

Although plans to pave Taft Road have been temporarily scrapped, the Novi city council Monday continued with paving plans for Meadowbrook Road, as they passed resolution six in the city's seven step special assessment procedure.

Specifically, the council accepted the assessment role as prepared by the assessor, ordered it to be filed with the city clerk for public examination, and set August 14 at 8 p.m. as a public hearing to allow interested persons to express their views on the role.

The resolution was passed unanimously.

After seven months of resolutions and public hearings, only one public hearing and one resolution now stand between the council and the letting of bids for the paving of Meadowbrook Road.

If the council sees fit, it will pass the seventh resolution at the August 14 public hearing. This resolution confirms the assessor's role and directs the assessor to spread it and the treasurer to collect it.

Residents in the assessment district may still attempt to block passage of the seventh resolution, however. According to the city charter, if more than 50 percent of the number of owners of property object in writing to the assessment, the improvement cannot be made unless the council overrides it by a five-sevenths majority.

Attorney Renders Decision

Added pressure to continue with the paving of Taft Road was brought to bear on the Novi city council Monday as the Novi Jaycees introduced a position paper urging the council to "exercise the responsible leadership necessary to approve the paving of both Meadowbrook and Taft Roads as mandated by the citizens of Novi when they approved the millage for roads."

The council also learned Monday that if it is to levy a special assessment on Taft Road residents to pay for construction of the road, it must begin the lengthy special assessment procedure completely over again.

Both the Jaycee letter and the information regarding the special assessment procedure were prompted by the council's action at a public hearing two weeks ago when the Taft Road paving project was abandoned after six months of public hearings to set up the assessment district had been completed.

Although the council voted in favor of continuing the project by a 4-3 margin, the plan was abandoned as at least a five-sevenths vote was necessary to override the objecting petitions signed by nearly 90 percent of the Taft Road property owners facing assessment.

Disappointed at the action, several councilmen have studied the possibility of reopening the hearings at the point in the special assessment procedure they had reached before the project was abandoned.

According to parliamentary procedure, the matter could be reopened if one of the three who voted against continuing the paving would move to reconsider and his motion then passed by a simple majority.

"I thought it sounded just a little too easy," City Manager George Athas told the council Monday, "so I asked our bonding attorney and our city attorney for a legal opinion. They both said the only way for us to bring the assessment matter up again is to start the procedure of public hearings completely over."

When City Attorney Howard Bond was questioned about the legality of parliamentary procedure, he replied that assessment procedure overrode parliamentary procedure in this case.

"Once the public gets the information that the hearings for the assessment have been terminated," Bond said, "they have full right to the entire procedure from the very beginning before an assessment can be levied."

Presenting the Jaycees' letter was President Todd Price. Stating that the Jaycees had previously gone on record supporting both the recommendations of the Road Commission (which urged paving of Taft and Meadowbrook Roads as soon as possible) and the recently passed road millage proposal, Price said the Jaycees were of the opinion that changing the paving priorities at this juncture was paramount to "a betrayal of public confidence."

The Jaycee letter also stated that the community as a whole had been led to believe that if the millage was passed, the recommendations of the Novi Road Commission

3-Week Workshop

Teachers Start Preparing For Year Round Classes

Teachers in Northville's experimental year round school program are participating in three-weeks of workshop programs which began Monday.

The experimental classes, funded by the federal government, begin July 31 at Amerman Elementary School.

Focusing in four major areas, workshops include how to meet the needs of children not achieving up to their potential because of learning disabilities.

Other areas to be covered are developing materials for the classroom, new approaches to teaching and establishing objectives for each area of learning.

Miss Florence Panattoni, Northville's curriculum director, said services of the Downriver Learning Disability Center have been contracted for 12 sessions during July and for an additional three weeks in October.

"These sessions will provide the staff with 'know-how' in dimensions of learning disabilities, testing for diagnosis, classroom assessment of basic skills, workshops in skills areas and teacher-made and adapted commercial learning aids.

"Also covered will be motor skills development, movement education, strategies in behavior management, individualizing instruction, laboratory methods of teaching math and diagnostic teaching," Miss Panattoni said.

Conducting the workshops will be Marcus Beetwee, assistant director of the Center, and Dr. Byron Aldrich, Miss Suzanne Quayle, Mrs. Ann Hammond and John Mathey, diagnosticians from the Center.

Also teaching workshops will be Miss Joan Peters, specialist in movement education from the University of Michigan, Dr. John Ginter, mathematics specialist from Eastern Michigan University, and Mrs. Nora Martin, specialist in diagnostic teaching from Eastern Michigan.

"Another workshop series will be called 'Starting Tomorrow,'" Miss Panattoni said.

"This is an in-service program designed to help teachers adapt and adopt teaching techniques which will enhance learning of elementary school children. Teachers will also be introduced to necessary planning to launch and sustain individualized programs," she explained.

Included will be films, guides and materials for new approaches to reading, math, spelling, social studies and art.

Developing teacher-made materials and setting up math and reading centers will be supervised by Dr. Barbara Borusch of Eastern Michigan.

These centers are a necessary part of implementing the open concept classrooms and individualizing the program, the curriculum director stated.

"We will also be spending time in determining performance objectives and establishing means for achievement of skills in education," Miss Panattoni explained.

All of the workshops are made possible under the extended school year 45-15 Title III Federal Grant, she said.

GETTING READY—Although it's summer, teachers at Amerman Elementary are busy attending workshops and preparing materials for the July 31 opening of the experimental year round school program.

In Walled Lake

Board Year Begins With Resignation

In a short written statement, Stuart Elwood announced his resignation from the Walled Lake Board of Education at the first meeting of the new fiscal year Monday night. Elwood, a member of the board for six years, stated his resignation involved "personal and business reasons".

The resignation becomes effective August 1. By state law, the Board must elect Elwood's predecessor within thirty days after the resignation becomes effective. No mention of possible candidates was made at the meeting.

The board also authorized the spread of tax rates for the 1972-73 school year. The levies duplicate those of the 1971-72 school year of 20.0 mills voted operating funds, 8.13 County allocated operating funds and 5.0 mills for debt retirement.

The District is eligible for the "A" plan of the State Aid formula recently passed by the state legislature June 30. The increase in state aid will add roughly $350,000 to the fiscal budget. Cuts of some $70,000 are still necessary from the preliminary budget currently under study.

The Student Conduct Code, adopted last year, sparked a discussion by board members in respect to the "age of majority" and certain sections of the code pertaining to the possession and smoking of tobacco by senior high students on school property. The Board voted on the revisions with dissenting ballots cast by Elwood and Fogle.

In other business conducted by the board Monday

—Eleven retiring staff members were awarded plaques in recognition of their years of service to the school district. Collectively, the retirees had spent 190 years teaching in Walled Lake and 270 years in the teaching profession.

—Minor changes were made in the format of the Junior High School report card. The continuation of the card was recommended by the curriculum division with concurrence of the Board.

—a three year contract between the Bus Drivers Association and the Board of Education was approved.

The Williamsons had bought the ticket several days before the drawing from Jaycee Ronald Reitenour.

Board Approves Pact For Levitt School Site

Two agreements were approved Monday night by school board members, bringing an end to negotiations for a 10-acre elementary school site in Highland Lakes.

"After I don't know how many years of negotiations and the approval by voters in June of a $750,000 bond issue," Superintendent Raymond Spear said he was ready to recommend approval to the board of two amended agreements.

The first, passed unanimously by the five board members in attendance (Trustees Richard Martin and Andrew Orphan absent) excludes the school district from paying any assessment for sewers or street lights in the Levitt and Sons project.

The second agreement authorizes the payment of $1 to Levitt for the school site and $45,000 for improvements to the parcel by September 30.

Originally, Levitt had requested a July 1 deadline for payment.

Both agreements are contingent on approval by the Northville township board of the first agreement excluding the district from the assessments.

Trustees also authorized Spear to forward to Levitt a quit claim deed and tabled acceptance of the deed until reviewed by the school district's attorney to make certain no liens are held against the site.

Board members also gave their approval to five projects, totaling $63,000, which were included in the June bond issue.

"All have an immediate impact on the instructional program for the 1972-73 school year," Spear commented, "and unless they are begun now, will not be completed by the time school opens."

Projects include

- additions to the welding shop at the high school and purchase of new equipment to meet standards set by Wayne County Health Department;
- purchase of supplies and equipment for the middle school reading lab;
- electrical wiring and typewriters for a second typing facility at the high school;
- repairing of the middle school annex and painting and renovation of the home economics area and former Cavern area; and
- reorientation of the playground at Amerman Elementary resulting from expansion of the building.

The playground work will be completed, Spear said, in time for the July 31 opening of the experimental year round school program at the building.

In other action, trustees

- authorized Spear and Trustee Martin Rinehart to attend a meeting yesterday (Wednesday) in Taylor with 15 other school districts in Region Nine who have not joined the Roth school desegregation case;
- heard a report from Dave VanHine, project chairman, on the Jaycee community survey; and
- rescheduled the board's July 24 meeting to July 31.

Lounge Boasts Gay 90's Theme

The Northville Hotel and Lounge restaurant, a steak house with a "gay nineties" theme, is scheduled to re-open "sometime this week" according to Robert Ronk, the new owner.

Formerly the Northville Hotel and Bar, the restaurant portion of the building at 212 South Main has been undergoing remodeling for the last few months.

Ronk, former owner of the Pepper Tree Restaurant in Novi, says that the restaurant will serve complete dinners and liquor. A specialty will be steaks on the hearth. There will be no entertainment.

The hotel, Ronk said, is also undergoing a complete revamping and anticipates it will be re-opened in five or six months. Ronk purchased the building from John and Joseph Manica.

Dozen Chase Stolen Car

An 18-year old Livonia youth was apprehended driving a stolen car following a high speed chase early Monday which began in Livonia and ended shortly after 2 a.m. in South Lyon.

Charged with unauthorized driving away of an automobile is Richard L. Winkles, who reportedly is also AWOL from the U.S. Army at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

Twelve cars from seven police departments were involved in the chase with speeds recorded up to 120 miles per hour.

Included were cars from Northville, Novi; South Lyon, Livonia, Farmington, Farmington Township and Michigan State Police.

According to Livonia police, the youth allegedly stole the car from Livonia about 8 p.m. Sunday. At approximately 1:41 a.m. Monday, Livonia police spotted the car headed eastbound on Eight Mile Road in Livonia.

The chase started on Eight Mile and went through side streets in Livonia to Inkster Road, north to Grand River, west to I-96, west on I-96 to Novi Road exit, south on Novi Road to Old Grand River, west to Flint Street, south to Novi Road, south on Novi to Eight Mile, west on Eight Mile to Griswold Road, located about one-half mile east of Pontiac Trail.

Road blocks were set up at Novi and Nine Mile Road and Novi and Eight Mile Road. Police said the vehicle was stopped after it slowed near Griswold Road, at which time one of the Northville cars blocked it from the front and a Livonia car blocked it from the rear.

Found in the car were $40,000 in negotiable bonds which police said the youth did not know were there when he took the car.

Livonia police said the wife of the owner of the car works for a bank and was going to deposit the bonds in the night depository before the car was stolen from her home.

In Northville

City police are investigating a report of attempted accosting which occurred July 5 between Sherrie Lane and Novi's Connemara Sub-division.

According to reports, a youth with long brown hair, wearing a headband and earrings attempted to accost two young children. He had been hiding in weeds calling to the children, police were told.

Both children ran home when approached by the youth, who was seen driving a red car.

Police from Northville and Novi searched the area with negative results. It is the second attempt in the same area since late June. Police said descriptions of the youth and car match in both cases.

Police are investigating a felonious assault which reportedly took place Friday at 4:30 p.m. behind Mergraf Oil Company.

A 16-year-old Northville youth told police three men in their 20's wearing swim suits and driving a 1963 or 1964 blue Ford assaulted him with a switch blade.

The youth said he received two cuts on his hand and one on his leg. He fled the area after two of the men jumped him and tried to cut his clothes.

Five thefts from barns were reported at Northville Downs Monday. They occurred between Saturday afternoon and Monday morning.

Taken from the barns were harnesses, halters, hobbles and bridles valued at a total of $1,210.

COURTNEWS

James B. Wynneparry, arrested on charges of arson, was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court last Thursday following a preliminary examination.

The exam was held before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis. Wynneparry will appear in circuit court July 24.

He was arrested July 2 by city police in connection with several fires, including one which destroyed the Book and Easel at 150 North Center Street.

Wynneparry is in Wayne County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Richard E. Rowland of 18715 Jamestown Circle waived examination and was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court last Thursday on charges of carnal knowledge of female minor under age 16.

He will appear in circuit court July 24. Rowland was arrested by city police June 27 on the charge.

A charge of harboring a runaway juvenile was dismissed on motion of the county prosecutor. He was arrested on that charge by Michigan State Police.

In Novi

For the second time in the past two months, the Little Caesar's Pizzeria on 10 Mile Road was the victim of an armed robbery.

The most recent robbery occurred Thursday, July 6, at 11:45 p.m. when two men came into the store shortly before closing time, ordered two employees into the freezer at gun point, and then made off with approximately $300 from the cash register. Previously, the Pizzeria had been held up Sunday, May 30.

"The unusual thing about these two robberies," said Novi Police Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner, "is that both of them were practically identical. In both robberies, the gunmen ordered the employees into the freezer and tore the phones off the wall before leaving. The only difference was that this time they took the phones with them instead of leaving them on the floor."

The receivers and cords from the five phones of the pizzeria were located early Friday morning by police. They were located at the corner of Tamar and Borchat in the Orchard Hills sub-division, south of Little Caesar's.

The theft occurred at approximately 11:45 p.m., according to employees in the store. Faulkner reported that Novi officers had checked the building no more than five minutes prior to the holdup, but found it in satisfactory condition.

The two men were described as being white males between the ages of 25 and 26. One was 5'8", 165 pounds with shoulder-length brown hair and extra-long sideburns that almost touched at the chin. The other was described as being 5'5", 130 pounds, clean-shaven and wearing a black leather motorcycle jacket.

Both branches of the West Oakland Bank were the object of an intensive search by Novi Police recently after an anonymous female called police to warn that a bomb had been planted in one of the buildings.

On Friday, June 23, the Novi dispatcher received a call at 4:13 p.m. A voice, described by the dispatcher as belonging to a young Negro female, said, "We hid a bomb in the West Oakland Bank. You had better get it."

The voice sounded as if it were on a recording with each word said very slowly and in a monotone, according to police reports.

Officers were dispatched to both the 10 Mile and 12 Mile branches of the bank, but no bombs were found.

Jewelry valued in excess of $575 was stolen from a Novi residence recently.

The jewelry came from a mobile home at 39567 Blakeston. The owner of the trailer told police she returned home from work in the early afternoon to find her jewelry box opened with its contents spread across a table top.

Missing was a diamond wedding ring, an engagement ring, a lady's wrist watch, and an undetermined amount of costume jewelry.

In Township

Township police are investigating a series of break-ins, including one in which $1,420 worth of items were taken, which occurred over the last two weeks.

According to reports, a home at 15801 Haggerty Road was broken into July 5 between 1:15 and 2 p.m.

Taken were two television sets, jewelry, camera equipment, tape recorder, coin collection and clothing. Police said unknown persons entered the home by breaking the rear door, and bedrooms in the home were ransacked.

A stereo and .35 caliber rifle were taken July 3 in a break-in of a home at 48950 West Six Mile Road. Police said entrance was gained by breaking in a rear door to the home.

Two break-ins have been reported at the Whistle Stop putting course, 43333 Seven Mile Road. Between July 4 and 5, unknown persons took $25 in golf balls and on June 28, golf balls and putters were stolen.

Fishing equipment and camera equipment, valued at more than $400, were stolen from a car parked at 18760 Jamestown Circle. The theft took place between June 28 and 29.

Township police reported the theft of a police hat, hat badge and karate sticks from the front seat of a police car. The theft took place July 1 shortly before 2:30 p.m. while the locked car was parked at the township offices.

In Wixom

Two counterfeit $20 bills turned up in Wixom last week.

The bogus bills were found by tellers at the Community National Bank as they accepted deposits from two local businesses. Victimized were the Pure 76 Station and the Calico Kitchen both located at the corner of Wixom Road and the I-96 expressway.

Under investigation is $200 worth of destruction to the Indian Village Apartments on Pontiac Trail. The damage resulted, police said, when someone marked on the walls of the apartment complex with a sharp tool causing the paint to chip off.

Thieves made off with approximately $250 worth of goods during a breaking and entering of a cabin on Loon Lake Road.

Mrs. Elvera Kanerva of Gwinn told police someone had taken a portable television set, an electric heater, a radio, and a clock from her cabin sometime during the past month.

Donovan F. Graves, 47, of 13504 Abbington was arrested on charges of driving under the influence of liquor Saturday, July 1, at 12:45 a.m.

An easy way to mend a hole in a piece of clothing or a sheet is to use your sewing machine! Place a thin piece of paper under the hole and darn with your machine back and forth many times until the hole is covered. When you wash the material the paper will dissolve leaving only the darn. Of course, unless you are a real expert, save this technique for children's play clothes and your oldest things. It does save time and garments, however.

For all your sewing needs, shop at SPINNING WHEEL FABRIC SHOP, 146 E. Main St., Northville, 349-1910. Oakland County School Board Association and a legislative committee member of the Michigan Association of School Boards, in addition to his posts on the Novi and Oakland County Intermediate School Boards.

He has been a member of the Novi Board since 1968 and was recently reelected to a four-year term by Novi voters.

In other business transacted at the organization meeting Thursday the board named the firm of Janz and Knight auditors for the upcoming year; retained Frederick Knauer as board attorney, boosting his retainer's fee from $3,000 to $4,800 annually; authorized the loan of $500,000 from the West Oakland Bank on anticipated tax collections. The West Oakland Bank's low interest bid was 2.72 percent for the half-million dollar loan; and changed the school board's regular meeting dates from the second and fourth Monday of each month to the second and fourth Tuesday. In supporting the change in nights, newly-elected trustee

William Moak noted he has been concerned with the lack of cooperation between the city council and school board. By moving the school board meetings so they did not conflict with the council's Monday night meetings, he suggested, opportunity for more interaction between the two groups would be possible. The change will not begin until August.

would be followed by the council and the paving of Taft and Meadowbrook Roads would begin as soon as practicable thereafter. Mayor Joseph Crupi and Councilman Edwin Presnell both refuted the allegation. "The basis of all our discussion regarding the millage," said Crupi, "was that the money would be used for a continuing road improvement program, not just for the paving of those two roads."

City Planners Hear Rezoning Bids

Northville city planning commissioners considered several requests for rezoning last week (Wednesday evening) and also elected new officers for the coming year. The commission recommended approval of a request by Paul Folino to rezone a house on South Center street from R-3 (residential) to C-2 (commercial).

Folino plans to move his insurance agency from Main street to the Center street location two houses south of Cady on the west side of the street.

Monday night the city council received the recommendation and set a public hearing for August 7 to take action on the request.

In other planning commission business a request by Dennis Roux to rezone land on the east side of Taft road just north of the Eight Mile road intersection from single family residential to R-2A (multiple dwellings) was tabled until July 18. Action was also postponed on site plan approval for Drawbridge, Inc., owners of the proposed new restaurant at the former Methodist church building, until owners appeared before the commission.

The study committee reported that the Drawbridge plans were acceptable subject to questions on outside lighting, a sign, depth and safeguards for a proposed moat, and customer parking. To meet minimum requirements for parking the study committee reported that an additional 2,690 square feet is required.

Site plan approval of the Novi road Northville Park apartments was postponed until the owner, Al Rottman, appears at a meeting. The study committee objected to "overcrowded use" of the land and to an accessory building, although the latter meets building requirements.

A request for rezoning of the Fairbrook street Northville Laboratories facility from R-1 to R-E (research) was requested by owner Paul Newman. He said an addition is planned at the rear of the building to handle increased business volume. Planners accepted the request and will announce a public hearing date in the future.

Robert Ronk was given plan approval for exterior improvements to Northville Hotel and Bar, now called Northville Lounge, located on South Main street. Ronk was halted in his project when it was discovered he had not taken out building permits. He explained that he was doing the work himself and did not know permits were required.

So that he could open on schedule, the planning commission quickly studied plans and gave approval.

The commission re-elected Thomas Wheaton chairman and named J. Burton DeRusha vice chairman. Charles Freydl, Jr., was re-elected secretary.

Eye Industrial Park, Shopping Plaza in Novi

Pre-preliminary plat approval for an industrial subdivision and a rezoning request that would allow construction of a small, convenience-type shopping center were granted as the Novi city council and planning board sat in joint session Monday.

Rejected, however, was a rezoning request that would have permitted land surrounding Seely's Golden Acres Mobile Home Park to be used for industrial purposes.

With eight items on the agenda, Monday's public hearing promised to be a long one. Five of the items involved assigning zoning designations to former Novi township property recently annexed to the city.

(When property is annexed, it is the right of the annexing party to assign whatever zoning designation it wishes).

In light of the fact that Novi Township officials have filed suit against the State Board of Zoning Commission, challenging its decision regarding the annexation of the property to the city and the court has decided to hear the suit, the planning board decided to reserve any action on the land in question at this time.

It was further decided to continue the public hearing on the five former township parcels on September 11, with the anticipation that the township's suit will have been resolved.

Of the remaining three items on the agenda, the one prompting the greatest public response was the request of Klaesner Investment Company for the rezoning of three small parcels east of Seely Road between 11 Mile and Grand River from R-1-H (country homes) to M-2 (restricted manufacturing).

Approximately 40 residents of Seely's Golden Acres Mobile Home Park, which abuts one of the parcels for which the rezoning request was made, attended the hearing to protest the rezoning.

The rezoning request was supported by Edward Vettel, the city's planning consultant from Vilican-Leman, who stated that in as much as the entire surrounding area is slated for industrial development on the master plan, the request was in keeping with overall planning.

Residents argued, however, that the parcels were the only protection the mobile home park had against the surrounding industrial area and were important to the park's continued existence.

Members of the planning board supported the citizens. "What we have to decide," stated Merle Jenkins, "is whether or not we should reduce the livability of the trailer park in exchange for a very small addition to our industrial tax base. I'm inclined to decide in favor of the residents."

Suggesting that the rezoning was premature and would place a hardship on the existing trailer park, John Roethel moved the planning board deny the rezoning. The motion was passed by a 7-2 margin with James Cherfoli and Robert Bretz casting the dissenting ballots.

When it became apparent that the council would follow the planning board's recommendation to deny the rezoning, Dale Cooper, attorney for Klaesner Investment Company, withdrew the request for rezoning, saying revisions in the request would be made and the matter brought before council at a later date.

The request for rezoning that would permit construction of the convenience-type shopping center was made by the Slavic-Wilson Company for two parcels of land on the south side of Pontiac Trail, immediately west of West Road.

A 9.2-acre tract was rezoned from C-N (neighborhood shopping district) to C-1 (local business district) and a 8.75-acre parcel from R-2-A (restricted multiple family residential) to C-1.

Both the council and the planning board approved the request with a minimum amount of discussion. Of the 17.95 total acres involved, there were only about 15 usable acres, Bretz pointed out, as the remainder of the land amounted to road right of way.

Also approved by the council was the pre-preliminary plat for the Novi Trans Industrial Subdivision. The 30-acre parcel, lies east of Novi Road between the City Hall and the railroad tracks. By a 9-0 margin the planning board recommended the council approve the pre-preliminary site plan which establishes the lot lines and location of the roads.

Opposition was raised by Councilmen Edwin Presnell and Louie Campbell, however. Saying he was in favor of industrial development, but he considered it his duty to make certain that industrial development is orderly, Presnell asked how many "splits" of the property had been made.

If there have been more than four splits, Presnell pointed out, the property is in violation of the State Plat Act. The councilman then moved the hearing be continued July 31 so the question of lot splits could be researched. The motion failed by a 5-2 margin, however, with only Presnell and Campbell voting for the delay.

A second motion to grant tentative approval of the pre-preliminary site plan passed by a 5-2 margin. Again it was Presnell and Campbell who objected to approval at this time.

But then there's the problem of what do you do while the hubby is away at work and you're in unfamiliar surroundings. Martha is no shy violet and became friendly with a local Birmingham gal. Together, the two spent some happy hours having lunch and visiting antique shops. And Martha did a lot of looking and walking "most of which was uphill".

Weekends were spent sightseeing with visits to Nottingham, Coventry, Stratford-on-Avon and Ludlow. Martha remarked that Ludlow was probably the most typically English town with the "flea market" and stalls out in the open. And even where the homes seemed to be squeezed together, each had a well-tended garden of mostly roses in postage stamp sized yards.

They rented a car during their stay and it did take a little time to get used to the steering wheel on the right hand side while driving down the left lane.

The English are "heavy" on hedgerows and some of the "paved paths" they drove down were almost obscured because of them. And naturally castles were on the list of things to see so they sought out Warwick Castle (O. poor Hamlet) and also toured Croft Castle with a couple of ancestors still living there. It's probably because of the hedgerows, but they're still looking for Richard's Castle.

Many of the manor's, I guess that's a smaller version of a castle, have been turned into restaurants and resident hotels. From some of the pictures Martha showed me I could understand why...the heating bills must be fantastic. One of George's hobbies is eating and, with the help of Martha's friend, they managed to sample the fare at a variety of interesting places, including several of the Manor's with architecture right out of an Erroll Flynn movie.

And what would England be without the grand tour of London. It was on the "underground" back from London Tower that the Tuorin's ran into our Wixom group who are now busily peddling through Belgium.

Included in that London tour, besides seeing where the crown jewels are stashed and where Anne Bowlin lost her head, was a visit to Parliament, Westminster Abbey, seeing venerable Big Ben, Queen Victoria's monument and, of course, the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

Martha said the men looked like wooden soldiers, stomping their feet, the arms and legs held rigid like so many wind-up toys. Unfortunately, George was engrossed in taking pictures of the Victoria monument, forgot his umbrella and while retrieving it, missed out on the colorful changing ceremony completely. Martha did bring home a reminder of their visit...a typically English cold, and George will have to go back, just to see the ceremony outside Buckingham Palace.

I noticed in the paper the other night that our traveling bandages?

What does it cost for this rather easy way to loose inches? Our gals took advantage of an introductory offer but the usual fee is about $30 a session. The cost is less if you have only a partial wrap. And then there's the take-home wrapping kit for about $50 for the do-it-yourselfers. Or, if you're really gung-ho on the method, there's a package deal available.

"Everyone was really very nice and the rub-down at the very end really felt great". A manicurist is available and you can even have your hair combed out so there can be a "new you" that passes through the portals.

"Would you do it again?" Our guinea pigs thought they might if it wasn't for one small item—the cost.

In addition to all this, there will be more than a dozen rides for children of all ages and many booths run by local organizations for the enjoyment of individuals attending Gala Days.

Any organization which is not yet a part of Gala Days and would like to be should contact Todd Price at 349-7572, as a few booth spaces are still available.

THE CITY COUNCIL took time out Monday night to present citation certificates to two of its police officers. Mayor A. M. Allen made the presentation in behalf of the city to Patrolmen Roger Rathburn and Norman Kubitskey (l. to r.), while Sergeant Louis Westfall and Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Spicer and their daughter, Jennifer, watched. The officers were credited with saving Jennifer's life last month. The two-year-old girl had choked on a piece of food. Officer Kubitskey administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while Rathburn sped the group to the hospital. The team effort restored her breathing and she regained consciousness by the time they reached the hospital.

Fun in Jolly England

What was to have been a two week stay in "Jolly old England" blossomed into four weeks for Martha and George Tuorin. George's work took him to the Sutton-Coldfield and Birmingham areas, and the company found it needed him for just two weeks. You just don't take off for England and leave the better half home, so Martha hopped the plane too, packing and planning on a two weeks vacation.

They rented a car during their stay and it did take a little time to get used to the steering wheel on the right hand side while driving down the left lane.

The English are "heavy" on hedgerows and some of the "paved paths" they drove down were almost obscured because of them. And naturally castles were on the list of things to see so they sought out Warwick Castle (O. poor Hamlet) and also toured Croft Castle with a couple of ancestors still living there. It's probably because of the hedgerows, but they're still looking for Richard's Castle.

Many of the manor's, I guess that's a smaller version of a castle, have been turned into restaurants and resident hotels. From some of the pictures Martha showed me I could understand why...the heating bills must be fantastic. One of George's hobbies is eating and, with the help of Martha's friend, they managed to sample the fare at a variety of interesting places, including several of the Manor's with architecture right out of an Erroll Flynn movie.

And what would England be without the grand tour of London. It was on the "underground" back from London Tower that the Tuorin's ran into our Wixom group who are now busily peddling through Belgium.

Included in that London tour, besides seeing where the crown jewels are stashed and where Anne Bowlin lost her head, was a visit to Parliament, Westminster Abbey, seeing venerable Big Ben, Queen Victoria's monument and, of course, the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

Martha said the men looked like wooden soldiers, stomping their feet, the arms and legs held rigid like so many wind-up toys. Unfortunately, George was engrossed in taking pictures of the Victoria monument, forgot his umbrella and while retrieving it, missed out on the colorful changing ceremony completely. Martha did bring home a reminder of their visit...a typically English cold, and George will have to go back, just to see the ceremony outside Buckingham Palace.

I noticed in the paper the other night that our traveling

What does it cost for this rather easy way to loose inches? Our gals took advantage of an introductory offer but the usual fee is about $30 a session. The cost is less if you have only a partial wrap. And then there's the take-home wrapping kit for about $50 for the do-it-yourselfers. Or, if you're really gung-ho on the method, there's a package deal available.

"Everyone was really very nice and the rub-down at the very end really felt great". A manicurist is available and you can even have your hair combed out so there can be a "new you" that passes through the portals.

"Would you do it again?" Our guinea pigs thought they might if it wasn't for one small item—the cost.

Rolling Along To Mill Race

A building that had served as a church, meeting hall, library, board of education offices and township hall said goodbye to familiar surroundings last Thursday as it headed for its new resting place. With its cupola trailing behind, Northville's old library building left its Wing street location and took the Main street route to Griswold street near the millpond. It will become a museum in the newly-named Mill Race Historical Village. The Northville Historical Society has taken over the old building and before it was moved three members of the Society (pictured above) made sure everything was secure on the cupola. They are Fran Gazlay, John Burkman and Jim Harris.

One Mill for 5 Years

Loss of County Millage Renewal Could Close Child Center Here

Wayne County officials have launched a public information campaign on behalf of County Proposition B, the county millage renewal that will be on the August 8 primary election ballot.

"This millage is absolutely essential to avoid a public services disaster in Wayne County," Robert E. FitzPatrick, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, told a meeting of county officials and union leaders July 6. He added:

"We are short $13 million already. Loss of this millage could put us $26 million in the hole in 1974. That would force cutbacks of a magnitude that would jeopardize the health and safety of every citizen in Wayne County.

The county is seeking renewal of a five-year 1-mill ($1 per $1,000 of equalized valuation) levy that was first voted in 1964 and was renewed for another five years by an overwhelming vote in 1968.

The one-mill levy costs the average homeowner about 75 cents a month, but produces nearly $13 million annually to help finance general county services of hospital care, public health, juvenile delinquency, public safety and courts, child care, mental health, education, libraries and parks.

"We believe the voters will be willing to renew this modest levy in view of the fact that it does not increase taxes and is necessary to maintain present services," FitzPatrick said.

The county officials and union leaders agreed to invite county employees and officials to contribute voluntarily to a fund to finance the public information campaign.

A similar solicitation in 1968 raised about $25,000 to pay for printed materials, advertising and postage.

"Beyond the fact that the livelihoods of many employees are at stake, nobody is more aware of the crucial importance of this millage than the employees and officials of Wayne County," FitzPatrick explained. In 1968 the millage was approved by a vote of 171,969 to 78,617.

The Board of Commissioners also issued a fact sheet describing the likely consequences of failure to renew the millage. It pointed out that some 650 county jobs are already vacant due to the present financial crisis and that, in addition:

—Sections of Wayne County General Hospital might have to be closed, as occurred in 1964 when a 60-bed ward was shut down. The hospital serves more than 100,000 patients annually.

—A consultants' report recommending expansion of the present Juvenile Court and Youth Home and construction of another Juvenile Court facility in Westland would have to be shelved, with further reductions likely in juvenile delinquency programs.

—The Detroit-Wayne County Metropolitan Squad, one of the most effective anti-crime programs established in recent history, might face curtailment.

—The Prosecuting Attorney, who already has threatened "selective" prosecutions because of staff shortages, would have little hope of relief.

—New difficulties would be faced in efforts to reduce the present three-year time it takes the average jury case to come to trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

—It might be necessary to close the Wayne County Child Development Center, depriving many retarded children of the chance to become self-supporting citizens.

—The County Health Department, which now has one public health nurse per 75,000 residents instead of the recommended one per 5,000, would face tighter budgets.

—Wayne County's 4,400 acres of parks could become uncontrolled, overgrown trash dumps where no one could go in safety if already-short funds for maintenance and park patrols were cut.

Other services that would face possible cutbacks, according to the fact sheet, are the foster home program for neglected and orphaned children, library programs for the blind and hospital patients.

At the July 6 meeting, Robert Johnson, president of Council 23 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, was named chairman of a steering committee for the informational campaign.

County officials said the committee would include representatives of all segments of the citizenry.

Novi Township Files Anti-Annexation Suit

Struggling for survival, Novi Township officials have filed suit against the State Boundary Commission.

Filed in the Ingham County Circuit Court, the suit challenges not only the decision of the Boundary Commission in permitting the City of Novi to annex seven of the eight parcels of Novi township property, but also the Boundary Commission's constitutionality.

In effect, the township is fighting for its life.

The Boundary Commission was created approximately a year ago to decide boundary disputes. In January the Commission approved the city's petitions to annex seven of eight township properties and in March, the Commission held a public hearing regarding the annexation of Brookland Farms subdivision - the lone remaining township parcel.

At that meeting members of the Commission gave every indication they would approve annexation of Brookland Farms to the city, thus terminating the existence of Novi Township.

The suit was filed by former township attorney Emery Jacques June 26. At that time he obtained a court order that had the effect of negating the Boundary Commission's decision.

Although the township's suit was filed against the Boundary Commission, city attorneys filed a motion to intervene in the case as a materially-interested party.

Jacques "strenuously" fought the motion, City Attorney Howard Bond told the council Monday, but the court permitted Novi to intervene, agreeing that it was an "interested, necessary, and proper party to the action."

"Three other parties have also intervened in the case," Bond said, "and the court has indicated it will welcome other interested and affected parties into the case."

Basically, the township is contending - one - that the state statute creating the Boundary Commission is unconstitutional, and - two - that the Boundary Commission's decision regarding the Novi annexation was arrived at improperly.

Bond told the council Monday that he expected the township would "shoot for the moon" in the case, arguing every point possible.

William Bloomhuff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bloomhuff of Northville, is one of 12 young men chosen to represent the United States at the Boy Scout Jamboree in the United Kingdom this month.

He will be at the Jamboree for two weeks with about 2,400 other scouts from all over the world.

Following the Jamboree, Bloomhuff will spend one week living with a host family in the United Kingdom. The fourth week will be spent touring London and the surrounding area.

The 13-year-old scout was chosen to attend the Jamboree last summer while at Charles Howell Camp in Brighton. Ralph Hortorp, a scout master from the United Kingdom was at the camp and chose the 12 United States representatives from the scouts attending

Corps Offers Jobs to Teens

Novi teenagers looking for summer jobs may have found their answer.

"We have about 15 summer jobs which have not yet been filled," reports Robert Croke, Novi representative of the Oakland County Neighborhood Youth Corps. All the jobs are in Novi

The Corps was started in 1964, but has been in Novi for just two years now. Purpose of the program is to locate summer jobs for teenagers 14-18 years old from low-income families.

The jobs, all of which are with governmental or non-profit agencies, range from recreational and day care positions to clerical and custodial-aid positions.

Presently there are more openings for males than there are for females, Croke added.

Of the 25 jobs available in Novi only 10 have been filled. Applications for the program are available at Novi High School

Seniors Meet

The Northville Senior Citizens will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 19, at Kerr House.

Miss Betty Andrews of the University of Michigan, a member of the Senior Citizens Advisory Board, will discuss what Schoolcraft College can do for members in the way of classes or entertainment during the fall session.

opposed to putting educational dollars into roads then they would not have paved the driveways and parking lots for the High School and Middle School.

"We're just not talking about that much money," he said. "The school's share of the assessment is only $36,300. When you come right down to it that's not much money when you have the type of funds available that they do."

"I realize that the school board is not legally obligated to accept the assessment, but I strongly feel that for the good of the community they should be willing to accept their fair share of the cost of paving Taft Road."

Although Campbell has stated that he feels the Board should pay the full $36,300, he has also said he is not opposed to compromise. "What I would like to do," he says, "is be able to sit down with the school board to try to resolve our differences so we can get on with the progress in this city that's badly needed"

Ziegler

"Secondly, the Board realizes that it cannot take any action in this matter. There are no state or national laws that substantiate any reaction by the Board of Education."

It was further stated that it was hoped these comments would allow the community to understand the position and concern of the School Board in the matter.

Ziegler was not present at the Thursday meeting, but was a member of the audience at Monday's regularly scheduled board meeting. No mention of the matter was made by either remaining members of the Board, Ziegler, or other members in the audience.

Prior to Ziegler's arrival, however, a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tuck of Clark Street urged that Ziegler's resignation be submitted.

At Thursday's session Hendrickson told the public that Ziegler is not considering resignation at this time.

Only board member commenting on the matter was Bruce Simmons, who called the board's action two to three weeks late. "Perhaps we were numb with disbelief," he said

Trustee Charles Schaeffer, supported by Trustee Bernard Baldwin, moved to table the proposal for study. Their motion passed by a vote of 6-0, Trustee Leonard Klein absent.

Baldwin said he was concerned about "passing an ordinance to regulate the vehicles out of operation. We should attack them from the nuisance standpoint and get this really settled"

Last month, homeowners in the township presented petitions to the board calling for an ordinance covering the operation of mini-bikes

In other action Tuesday, Clerk Mrs. Eleanor Hammond told the board a spokesman is needed to present the township's side of annexation when the boundary commission conducts its public hearing August 29 at Northville High School

Mitchell proposed having the township's attorney make the presentation, but Morgan declined.

"I am willing to assist, but primarily I am here to offer legal counsel. It is not the nature of an attorney to advocate a basic political position and not a legal position," Morgan explained.

Treasurer Joseph Straub asked if the township would be charged for the attorney's time in compiling figures for the boundary commission, to which Morgan stated yes.

Straub said he was opposed to using township money for the purpose "since we on the board represent the entire township, which includes people for and against annexation."

Trustees also agreed to letting each member reply, if desired, to questions from the boundary commission.

In a letter addressed to Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, the commission asked 18 questions, three of which are opinions.

Included are reasons for being in favor of or against annexation, effect of annexation on remaining parts of the township (of which there would be none, if the present annexation petition is approved) and should annexation take place and how much land should be annexed.

Schaeffer urged each member on his own to comment to the three questions, stating it was not up to the board to take an official stand on annexation

Mrs. Hammond argued that, "we are elected by the people and should protect the rights of the township."

ships in the nation; or remain as a township. "I appeal to you to continue to consider these alternatives," Parisi said.

He noted that any study of annexation the township must include:

- inventory of where the township has been, what its present strengths and weaknesses are and where it can go in the future as a township;
 - what each resident will get from annexation, "spelled out completely";
 - when township residents are going to get services and benefits, by priority; and
 - how much it will cost township residents.
- "If your study does not answer these questions, be careful when you vote," Parisi explained.

"Annexation has a very definite degree of finality to it," he said. "It is very simple to bring about, and if any election is petitioned for, can be voted in by a simple majority. Otherwise, the decision is up to the boundary commission."

"To reverse the decision, once annexation is a reality," Parisi explained, "twenty-five percent of the registered voters in the total area must petition for an election and a two-thirds majority is needed to reverse the decision."

Parisi said he has recommended township annexation to cities in two cases. "Both were cases where topography played a major role in preventing the township from developing because of costs (of providing sewer and water services to the area in question."

Parisi said he will "not tell you how to vote on annexation or become involved in campaigning, but if the boundary commission approves annexation, go out and petition so it comes to an election and inform yourself of the facts."

"Exercise caution," he continued, "for a structural change in government should not be destructional"

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The chief spokesman for township government came to Northville last week and did the job he's paid to do.

And this is not intended as a criticism.

Joseph Parisi is a veteran township government advocate fighting to maintain this grass-roots' system for the many areas of the state where it best serves the needs of the people.

And he acknowledged that in many instances voting on annexation is an emotional thing.

But he urged community citizens to study the facts, consider the alternatives, and vote accordingly.

Naturally, Joe Parisi supports township government and believes it can meet the challenge of growth in urbanizing areas.

Whether it can do so more economically than joining with a sister government in an instance where one exists (such as in Northville), is the question at hand and the issue for the state boundaries commission to decide.

If the commission endorses annexation, then the people can call for a vote and voice their opinion.

I must admit that I cannot resist comment on remarks made by Parisi regarding the press, particularly this newspaper.

And there was at least one other area where I believe the spokesman's facts were either wrong or misleading.

Truthfully, I want to believe that if Mr. Parisi had a firsthand acquaintance with The Record and was not relying on the impression of others for the authority of his charges, he would not accuse us of refusing to print both sides of any issue.

If this newspaper has had one major criticism, it is for publishing, not withholding, news.

There is no "clearinghouse" at The Record where "good and bad—right or wrong—our side, their side" is weeded out. Reporters worth their salt don't operate under such censorship.

It is deeply disappointing to me to hear a person of stature and position advocate bypassing the local press, using mimeographed fact sheets and stating flatly that the newspaper cannot be trusted.

I hope citizens of this community on either side of any issue will take full advantage of the resources of the press to state their views. I sincerely believe in the concepts of the free press, its responsibilities to the public, its role in the history of our nation.

At the same time the press must also exercise its right, and responsibility, to editorialize on community issues, regardless of their sensitivity.

Such opinions, constructively presented, frequently trigger response both for and against the newspaper position. The result is an involved community that takes action and solves its problems.

In my biased opinion, to ignore and mistrust the press and rely instead on unsigned, mimeographed fact sheets would be to take a giant step backwards in civilization.

Also, I can state positively, that unification holds no advertising advantages for newspapers. To the contrary, it reduces revenues by eliminating duplication of many legal notices.

Finally, a reference made by Parisi to the cost of constructing a township hall-fire-police complex should be clarified.

The impression was left with some, at least, that the proposed $500,000 facility could be constructed without levying additional taxes.

According to a report prepared by Shannon and Company, consultants retained by the township, installment payments to retire bonds to be issued by the newly-instituted Northville Township Building Authority would range from .84 mills to 1.57 mills per year, depending upon the length of the mortgage period (from 10 to 30 years).

If retired in 10 years, total cost of the complex would be $679,000 including interest; over 30 years the cost would be $1,090,000, the consultants told the township board.

Under the Building Authority Act, the township may levy whatever millage is necessary to retire the bonds—over and above the one mill limit which applies to townships.

Articles of incorporation for the township building authority are now near the approval stage, Township Attorney Donald Morgan has reported.

Once approved, the township may proceed with its building plans. The law provides, however, that electors may petition for an election on the building question if petitions are submitted within 30 days of the publication of the articles of incorporation.

All township board members agree, a new township complex cannot be constructed without additional tax monies. And the total need for additional tax dollars is difficult to determine until operational and maintenance expenses are known.

Naturally, they will be higher if the complex includes fulltime police and fire station forces.

YES . . .

The state senate's seats should have been up for election this year for a number of reasons.

The number one reason should have been to assure the people of proper and equal representation.

For example, it has been proven there are senate districts in Detroit that have three times the representations that a senate district in Oakland and Macomb counties have.

This is because people have moved from Detroit out into the suburbs since the 1960 census.

Another example of unequal representation is Livingston County. The county is a part of two senate districts under the new plan.

Senator Gordon Rockwell does not live in either district and will not have to run for re-election based on his present performance in the senate.

I presume he will run in the new district where he does live but in the meantime he will not have to answer to anyone for what he does as a senator in his present district.

Next, I feel that the 5,500,000 new voters between the ages of 18 and 21 should have been given the right to vote for or against the senators who represent them and not wait until 1974 to do so.

Speaking for Myself Elect State Senators in '72?

Senator Bursley

NO . . .

On June 28 the Supreme Court closed the door on attempts to force the State Senate to accept shortened terms and run for office this November.

Any other decision would have been unfair to the public and challengers and would have provided incumbent Senators with a tremendous head start. To be fair, the decision should have been made by last March or April.

It had long been common knowledge that population shifts occurred in Senate districts. A court challenge should have been mounted months ago.

If the court had held that Senators must run in 1972 to assure equal representation—then that principle should apply to the Court of Appeals where three districts are supposed to be equally divided.

The argument that 18-20 year olds did not elect incumbent Senators should apply equally to the Governor, Supreme Court, Senate, House and university boards—patently absurd.

Most importantly, I question shortening the term of an elected official which has been spelled out specifically in the Constitution.

In view of the fact that Senate districts will not change until 1974, I shall continue to serve everyone in the present district to the best of my ability and immediately start to establish contacts in the newly designated areas.

Elephantine Design

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"You're over the hill," remarked a son when I staggered to a halt in search of my breath.

Whereupon it was suggested he assist his aging, tiring father by carrying an extra sleeping bag.

"Well, you're not really over the hill," he hedged. "Just about half way up resting on a bench."

Half way up.
That about sums up our camping hike into what may be Michigan's last wilderness area—the Porcupine Mountain State Park. The 80 miles of foot trails in this 58,000 acre park are all uphill for city slickers like myself. But even city slickers appreciate the park's breathtaking beauty.

For several years members of our family have spent vacation time in the Porkies and we recommend it highly despite the sweat, aches and bugs. If you love the outdoors and you've never been to this Upper Peninsula park, 17 miles west of Ontonagon, you're missing Michigan's most impressive Eden.

Last week all eight members of our family, plus my retired parents, packed into the park to camp in one of several trailside cabins made available for city slickers who prefer a roof over their heads. Most backpackers, however, carry their own canvas roofs or use the Adirondack shelters provided in the park.

The log cabins include wood-burning cook stoves, bunks, tables, chairs, cooking utensils, saws and axes. Campers must furnish only their own bedding and food. There is no indoor plumbing or electricity, and campers must get their drinking and washing water from nearby streams and lakes.

The park's largest, eight-bunk cabin which we chose rents for $6 per night. Four-bunk cabins rent for $4 per night. All are available by advance reservation by writing the Porcupine Park, Route 2, Ontonagon 49953.

Cabins, however, are in high demand. We made our July reservation back on January 1—the first date on which reservation may be made for the ensuing year—and had to accept an alternate choice.

For the second year we chose a camp on Mirror Lake, located about 3½ miles from the nearest road. Highest lake in Michigan, it is surrounded by magnificent stands of virgin timber. The trail to the lake skirts Summit Peak, highest point in the park. From its 1,958 feet high peak, campers are treated to an exciting view of the mountains and Lake Superior.

Sixteen trails wind through the park, ranging from the one-mile long Union Mine Trail to the 16 mile long Lake Superior Trail.

The quiet remoteness of the interior, coupled with the towering White Pine and Hemlock, defies time.

Wildlife abounds. Deer, bears, birds, porcupines, and squirrels visited our camp daily. One bear ate chocolate pudding 15 feet from our cabin door. Another less friendly animal—terrorized backpackers 50 yards away, chewing up sleeping bags and eating a week's worth of food.

So whether you are "half-way up," just starting, or "over the hill," the Porkies emphasize that "the difference between tired feet and the satisfaction of an outstanding view is mostly a condition of the mind."

'Thank You'

To the Editor:
On behalf of the Northville Jaycees, I would like to thank the people of the community for their enthusiastic support on the 4th of July. It is the people who make our efforts worthwhile. You supported us with your participation and your dollars.

We also thank the Northville Record for their generous coverage and all of the publicity in the issues preceding the 4th of July issue. Thanks also to the Northville schools and the city for the use of their properties; to the police for their assistance on the parade traffic control and the fire department for their protection at the fireworks.

The donors of equipment and cash are too numerous to mention without leaving someone out. I will mention that the political candidates who rode in the parade each donated an equal amount.

There have been critics who say that the Jaycees spend too much manpower and dollars on this kind of celebration, and that the money and effort could be put to better use. However, the turnout at the parade and the rest of the day's festivities testified to the desire for the lump-in-the-throat nostalgia that these activities bring.

There is no generation gap during the euphoric experience evoked by a marching band on the 4th of July. We will be back next year.

Council Sets 3 Hearings

August 7 may be a busy and noisy night for the Northville city council.

Three public hearings on rezoning matters have been scheduled for the council's first regular August session and there's reason to believe some citizens will have more than casual interest in at least one of the proposals.

Monday night the council granted a public hearing to J. L. Hudson, a Plymouth real estate agent who wants to convert a Randolph street home into a 10-unit development of duplexes.

The planning commission denied Hudson's request at a hearing attended by many residents of the area. He appealed to the council for reconsideration and presented a plan that would have the 10-unit complex facing west and extending from Randolph to the creek on the one-acre parcel. Hudson noted that the duplexes would back up to lots on Center street zoned commercial, although they are presently used residentially.

Mayor A.M. Allen said that he believed such a complex near the business district was badly needed for elderly people who do not drive and wish to reside near shopping facilities.

Also on Monday, August 7 the council will consider a request from fellow Councilman Paul Folino to rezone a house on the west side of Center and two lots south of Cady from R-3 to C-2 so that he can re-locate his insurance agency there.

A hearing to consider rezoning of three lots south of Lake street on the east side of North Center street as requested by Dennis Roux from R-2 to P.O. (professional office) will also be held. Both the latter requests carry the planning commission's recommendation for approval.

The council authorized the city manager to make an application for a federal grant for a new police radio communication system. Such grants are now available, the council was informed, for radio systems that have been recommended after a state study. Total cost of the new set-up would be $28,400, but the federal government will pay $21,300 if the request is approved.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff said the present system needs replacing and would cost $5,000 to duplicate. "For $7,100 plus the federal grant we can obtain a system with better range, no interference and greater flexibility", he pointed out.

The council decided to delay action on platted but incomplete streets of Carpenter and Horton between Maplewood and Hill. Both residents and the council want the area to remain in its natural, park-like state. It has been proposed that by dedicating the street extensions as easements both street construction and building would be banned on the sites. Council plans to look at the area firsthand and make a recommendation.

In other business the city manager reported that work at the fish hatchery recreation site is being held up until filling work is approved by a state agency and a $45,000 park grant is received. He said work should start soon again and he will ask the city and township about facility priorities.

Ex-City Councilman Charles Lapham dropped in on his ex-associates at the tail-end of Monday's session and suggested that consideration be given to acquiring a ladder truck for the fire department. Lapham owns the Book and Easel building on North Center street that was badly burned recently.

The city manager said such equipment was readily available from other area departments and that he thought first consideration should be given to increasing water pressure in the business district. He also urged building owners to take private steps to install fire safety facilities.

The council promised to study the matter.

The council adopted a garage sale ordinance that requires permits for garage sale signs and limits their use to three days, three times a year. It also authorized the manager to hire a clerk-typist for city offices and to permit once-a-week use of council chambers for six weeks by the Lamaze natural childbirth group.

Blazers Tame Pumas

It certainly won't go down in history as the first time a fire department and an insurance company have been accused of being in cahoots, but that didn't make the Northville Township Pumas any happier about what happened last week.

The Pumas saw their hold on first place in the Northville Recreation Department's Tee-Ball League slide away from them as the Northville Insurance Tigers advanced their record to 3-1 with an 18-8 conquest of the Del's Shoes Bears and the Northville Fire Department Blazers handed the Pumas their first loss of the season, 18-5.

In the only other Tee-Ball contest of the week the Pumas scratched Schrader's Home Furnishings 17-9.

The outcome of the week's play was that the Tigers were in first place with a 3-1 mark, while the Pumas and Blazers lurked just half a game behind with identical 2-1 records.

The Bears, who have already beaten the Blazers and lost to the Pumas, had an easy time of it in running up an 18-8 victory over the Bears.

Jamie Owings and Jay Bartling each had three hits and a home run to lead the Tigers, who also got three hit performances from Bobby Pegrum, Todd Bartling, Bart Eui, and Tim Quinn.

Dave LeAnnais homered for the Bears, while Marty Cramer collected three of their 17 hits.

Blazers is a word that adequately describes how hot the Blazers' bats were when they upset the Pumas 18-5.

Led by Maurice Hill, Dennis Stevens, Steve Bailey, Jeff Pyden, Danny St. Germaine, and Tom Basilico—each of whom collected four hits—the Blazers rapped out a total of 41 safeties. The Pumas, by comparison, had just 12 hits, two apiece by Brian Pascoe, Kyle Garter, Steve Harrison, and Jeff Busard.

The Pumas got back on the winning track with a 17-9 victory over Schraders Tim Wagner and Danny Peters each had a single and a triple to spark the Pumas, but they got plenty of help from Andrew Romank, John Bradley, Steve Harrison, Chris Wagner, Glen Busard, David Bach, Kyle Carter, and Jeff Anger, who also got two hits.

Kevin Anderson's double and triple in two trips to the plate was the top hitting performance for the Schrader's squad. Mike Crane, Kevin Van Iden, and Dave Longridge each had a pair of singles.

CAGE STARS — Summer is the season for baseball, but Northville High School basketball Coach Walt Koepeke has just completed a three-week session of summer basketball practice for fifth through ninth grade boys. Advancing from basic drills to two-on-three competition to full five-man scrimmages, the 30 boys who participated in the camp learned a lot of basketball. Pictured above with Koepeke are the program's three award winners. They are (from left to right) John Horwath, free throw shooting; Alan Peter, most improved in the older age group; and Todd Nadeau, most improved in the younger aged group.

Lead Knothole Hardball

Mets Overcome Yanks

No one could accuse the Thompson-Brown Realtor Mets of backing into first place. The Mets took over the top spot in the Northville Recreation Department's Knothole Hardball League (10-12 year old boys) exactly the way any team should take over first place—by beating the former league leaders. But the Mets' ascendancy into first place was not the only change in the Knothole Hardball League standings last week. Not by a long shot. In fact, not since the celebrated frog jumping contest of Calaveras County has there been more jumping around.

Not only did the Mets jump from second to first, but the Yankees jumped from first to second; the Twins, Wolverines, and Giants all jumped from fourth to third; the Indians jumped from fifth to fourth; and the Orioles jumped all the way from second back into fourth.

The big game of the week was the clash between the Mets and the John Mach Ford Yankees. The Yankees had a 2-0 record going into the game, while the Mets were 1-0, but all that was changed by the time the game was over as the Mets scored six times in the bottom of the sixth to move from a 5-4 deficit to a 10-6 victory. Suckow slammed a home run in that sixth inning outburst to share hitting honors for the new leaders with Morfield and Yoder, who rapped out a total of four hits between them. Steve Cooper homered for the Yankees, but hitting honors went to Dave Barron whose three hits included two round trippers. The Yankees got back on the winning track with a 7-6 conquest of the Thompson-Brown Realtor Orioles. Both teams were deadlocked at 6-6 after six innings in one of the best played games of the year. But in the top of the seventh Dave Barron doubled, Matt McLaughlin singled him to third and Doug Castillo then sacrificed him home with the winning run. Barron belted a home run in addition to his double to share hitting honors for the Yankees with Paul Cooper, John Wheeler, and Jeff Morgan who also had two hits. Luigi Folino had three hits to lead the Oriole attack.

It was a rough week for the Orioles as they lost not only to the Yankees, but also dropped an 8-4 decision to the Del's Shoes Twins. The Twins displayed a perfectly balanced attack as Kevin Schugar, Jeff Norton, Bob Simone, John Bach, Dennis Minor, Steve Masonoff, Mike Lang, and Bill Hopping each had two hits. Gary Beason, Luigi Folino, Mark Swayne, Bruce McCloud, and Mark Pyles each singled twice for the Orioles.

The victory put the Twins into third place, but they had plenty of company as the Wolverines and Giants joined them in the third spot.

The VFW Giants had the easiest win of all, being credited with a 9-0 forfeit triumph over the Choo-Choo Car Wash Chiefs.

The Hyatt Construction Wolverines had almost as much of an easy time and a lot more fun besides as they blasted the Northville Police Padres 19-3. Dan Davis paced the Wolverines with four hits including a double and home run. Dave Herbel and Dave Biery each stroked triples to back up Davis' hitting pace. Bob Straw with a pair of singles was the only Padre to collect more than one hit.

In the final game of the week the Casterline Indians notched their first win of the season with a 23-9 romp over the Northville Record Dodgers. John Alspaugh with a pair of circuit clouts and a single led the Indians, who also got three hit performances from Pat McLaughlin, and Doug Cook. Mark Hooth and Brian Prom with four and three hits respectively had seven of the Dodgers' 15 hits.

Northville High School Golf Coach Al Jones announced Tuesday that all candidates for the 1972 golf team should attend an organization meeting at Northville High School Monday, July 17, at 8 a.m.

Batting Slump Plagues Reef '9' In Adray Loop

Rich Adams can empathize with Billy Martin.

Throughout much of the season the Detroit Tiger mentor has been commiserating about his team's lack of hitting. But the Tigers' offensive problems are nothing compared with what Adams has had to endure as the player-coach of Northville's Reef Manufacturing team in the Livonia Adray League.

Last week's games were particularly lacking in offensive spark, as Reef Manufacturing was shutout twice, losing first to Redford Adray 3-0 Friday and then suffering a 4-0 whitewashing from Livonia's Griffin Sport Center under the lights Sunday.

In defense of the Northville team, it should be noted that both Redford and Griffin Sport Center are too pretty respectable ball teams. With an 8-0 record, Redford has moved off to a quick lead in the Livonia Adray League, while Griffin Sport has also performed well, posting a 7-3 record to date.

Northville has a 4-7 record for the season.

Jeff Moon, the 6'3" pitching ace on Northville High School's outstanding 1972 team, drew the start for Reef against Redford and pitched well, striking out five while yielding six hits.

But Redford's Jeff Washington was just too much for Moon to handle. A regular on the Eastern Michigan University nine, Washington connected with two of Moon's fast balls to record a pair of home runs. The third Redford run also came via the home run route, as catcher Dan Malone belted one over the fence in the third inning.

"Jeff pitched a strong ball game," Adams commented in recounting the contest, "but Washington was just too much. He's got tremendously quick wrists. One of his home runs came on a beautiful pitch. It was low and on the outside corner of the plate, but somehow he managed to get around on it and hit it out."

Northville collected two hits in the game - a second inning single by Scott Evans and another single in the fourth inning by Moon. Dan O'Brien, Bill Freehan's brother-in-law, hurled the first four innings for Redford and Jim Kreaeger, the ace of the Redford staff, finished up with three hitless frames.

"We had runners on first and second in the first and we had the bases loaded in the second, but couldn't score," Adams added with new insight into just why managers get ulcers.

Mike Gee drew the pitching start for Northville against Griffin Sport Sunday, while Western Michigan University's Dave Rice started for Griffin.

Once again the Northville team was plagued by an inability to hit the ball. Only a third inning single by John Sprietzer and a fourth inning one-base rap by Terry Mills kept Reef Manufacturing from suffering the indignity of having a no-hitter pitched against them.

"He was nothing but a junk pitcher," said Adams of Rice's deliveries. "He just threw garbage up there. I'll bet he threw five curves to every fastball, but we just couldn't hit him. We kept hitting ground balls right back to him. He probably had more assists than anyone else on their team."

Rice was almost as effective with the bat as he was with his pitches. He tripled and scored in the third inning and scored again, along with Bill Turkington, on Tony Perrino's fifth-inning single.

Ron Sichta drove in the fourth Griffin run with a triple which scored Steve Chilenko.

Pirate Power Plunders Foes

"Pirates" seems to be a good name for baseball teams this year.

Boasting a lineup of Bench, Clemente, Sanguillen, Oliver, and Stargell, the Pittsburgh Pirates are leading the National League's East Division.

And boasting a lineup of Robins, Newman, Lineman, Niewkoop, and McElroy, the Del's Shoes Pirates are leading the Northville Recreation Department's Knothole Softball League (8-9 year old boys).

The Pirates, who breezed through their first three games with lop-sided victories, were slated to play the only other undefeated team in Knothole Softball last week—the Choo-Choo Car Wash Warriors—but were just plain unimpressed with the Warriors' 2-0 record, as they battered them as easily as they have everyone else, taking a 22-3 victory.

Scott Robins with four hits in four at bats paced the hard-hitting Pirates, but he got plenty of hitting help from Jeff Niewkoop, Brady Lineman, Willy Newman, and Iferson, who all collected three hits. One of Newman's three safeties was a four-bagger. Bob Thomson homered to pace the Warriors.

The Warriors refound the winning touch when they played the Township Police Athletics, but the victory was not an easy one. The A's rallied for three runs in the final inning to knot the score at 11-11, but Mike Pohold singled home Tony Nader in the bottom of the last inning to give the Warriors a 12-11 triumph.

Hitting hero for the Warriors was again Bob Thomson, who hammered home runs in each of his three trips to the plate. Ron France, Tom Arnold, and Jim Thompson, also had three hits for the Warriors. Bill Kelly with four hits and Seth Swallow with a home run paced the Athletics.

Third place in Knothole Softball is shared by the Northville Hardware Colts and the Northville Realty Astros.

With three hits apiece from Dale Hawkey, Jeff Dyes, Brian Pascal, and Scott Richmond, the Colts slashed out 29 hits enroute to a 23-10 conquest of the Casterline Lions. Pascal's three hits included a round tripper. Brian Pratt, Ron Le Pard, Leslie Neal, and Dave Wangeman each collected two hits for the Lions.

The Astros—the other third place team—had an even easier time of it last week as they bombarded the Northville Drug Panthers 31-3.

Steve Norton and Eric Mueller each had home runs among their four hits and John Penrod and Cramer also had four hits to spark the 40-hit Astro hitting spree. Mackover was the only Panther to get more than one hit.

The VFW Rams evened their season's record at 2-2 with a 17-10 verdict over the Athletics. But the Rams had to mount a fantastic rally to do it. Trailing 10-1 going into the last inning, they erupted for 16 big runs to pull out the victory.

Thayer McMullen and Tim Brock with three hits apiece led the Rams, while Greg Tuck and Bill Kelly each hammered out four safeties for the unlucky Athletics.

Winning their first game of the season were the Casterline Lions, who dumped the A&W Cougars 18-7. Al Zion and Dale Kitchen each stroked four hits and Brian Pratt had a homer, triple, and double in three at bats to pace the 31-hit Lion attack. Kam Gurol had three hits—one of them a two-bagger—to spark the Cougars, who are still looking for their first win of the young season.

Many fine old houses have plaster walls and ceilings, and where these are found, hairline cracks also sometimes appear. These can be filled much more effectively and easily than most people realize with a little white chalk. Simply rub the chalk back and forth over the crack until it is filled. On white ceilings this is all that need be done. Colored walls need only to be touched up slightly to be almost as good as new.

Lumber, Car Wash Face Key Battles

The week of reckoning is nigh. One of the sadistic features of the Northville Recreation Department's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League is a little item called Position Night. Appearing just three times over the 15-week season, Position Night, translated into its simplest terms, is showdown time. What it amounts to is this: the team in first place meets the team in second place; the team in third place meets the team in fourth place; and so forth on down the line. What Position Night is designed to do is separate the men from the boys. No game looms larger than the clash between the Northville Lumber and the Choo-Choo Car Wash. The two teams are tied for first place with identical 10-1 records and have about as much love for each other as Egypt has for Moshe Dyan. Both teams won their lone games last week to set up the big clash tonight (Thursday). The Car Washers had little trouble in their contest as they defeated the B.C.A. Trickers 12-4 behind the ten-hit pitching of Don Phillippi. John Fawcett and Ed McLeod each rapped out three singles in four appearances at the plate to pace Choo-Choo's 16-hit attack. Joe Humphries and Mike Zayti had four of the Tricker's 10 hits. The Lumbermen combined the strong pitching of John Mutch with a tight defense to slip past Plymouth State Home 6-2. The Lumber scored twice in the second, third, and seventh innings, while the Home got their runs in the fifth. Third-baseman Bob Kucher with three singles in three at bats and Stan Nirider with a triple, single, and two rbis led the Lumber hitters. Lurking right behind the Car Wash and the Lumber—just one game back in the loss column—is Renwick, Grimes, and Adams Insurance. In an All-South Lyon game last week, the Insurance squad turned back Lipon's Sporting Goods 9-4. Aided by three consecutive doubles off the bat of Don Smith, Renwick, Grimes, and Adams ran off to a 9-1 lead before Lipon's came up with three runs in the bottom of the sixth to make the final score seem closer than the game actually was. Smith's three doubles were the only extra-base blows for the victors. It's been a rough year for Lipons. Champions of the Brighton League last year, Lipon's has been considerably less successful in Northville. In addition to their loss to the Insurance team, they also lost to Civitan-Casterline last week. The final score was 7-5. After three scoreless innings, Civitan broke loose for seven big runs in the fourth inning as John Fialon and Schultz paced the assault with back to back triples. Fialon's shot came with the bases loaded. Lipons rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh and had the tying run at the plate and Ed Hock on second base when the game ended as Mike Gardner flew out to left field. In the only other American League contest of the week, Palace-Phil's 76-Stone's blasted out a 16-9 triumph over the Plymouth State Home. Dennis Nadeau had a double, triple, and single in four at bats for the winners, but hitting honors went to Jeff Taylor, who had a double, triple, and two singles in four at bats for Civitan-Casterline. Dick O'Hare with a three for three performance paced the Home's 13-hit attack. Position Night in the National League will be just as hotly contested, as Village Oaks will be attempting to pull into a first place tie with the Northville Jaycees. The Jaycees maintained their one game edge over the Oaks in last week's play as both teams registered victories over the Presbyterian Men's Club. Ron Reitenour showed he has returned to form as he gave up just five hits in tossing the Jaycees to a 20-4 conquest of the Presbyterians. Jim Belz sparked the Jaycee hitters with two home runs and four hits in four at bats. Ron Hellier and Bob Hilton each had three safeties. Jim Curl homered for the Men's Club.

The Presbyterians were victimized again as Village Oaks handed them a 14-2 setback. Scott Higley and Chuck Gramlich each picked up three hits in the 19-hit Village Oaks attack, and Gramlich slammed a two-run seventh inning home run. Don Williams and Dutch VanIngen with two doubles apiece led the Presbyterians. Ford Valve pulled into a third place tie with CAT Diesel Power, as CAT dropped a 10-7 decision to the VFV and Valve squeaked past the hapless Presbyterians 5-4. Bill Segura doubled, singled twice, and scored the decisive run in the Ford Valve victory, as the Presbyterians rallied for four runs in the last inning before finally relinquishing the decision. The VFV scored four times in the final inning to pull from a 7-6 deficit to a 10-7 victory over CAT Diesel Power. Ron Jones doubled and homered to pace the veterans, while Craig MacDermaid and Geff Nast each had three hits for the CAT squad. Five runs in the final two innings enabled the Northville Newcomers to take a come-from-behind 12-9 triumph from the Our Lady of Victory Men's Club. Jim Richardson had two singles and a double for the Newcomers. Bob Oswald and Dick Marrone each had three hits for OLV. John Mach Ford forfeited a victory to CAT Diesel Power, but evened their week's record at 1-1 with a 5-4 squeaker over OLV. Wayne Loutjer tripled and Chuck Kohs had a pair of doubles for the Ford dealers, while Bob Oswald topped the OLV hitters with a single and triple in three trips to the plate.

DIVE FOR THE BAG—Sporting a polka-dot engineer's cap, Jim Curl dives into third to narrowly beat the tag of the Village Oaks third baseman. Curl later came in to score, but his run didn't do much good as his Northville

Presbyterian Church Men's Club team was soundly defeated 12-2 by the Village Oaks club in action in the Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League last week.

Filters Top Novi Inn

Novi's Jaycees and the Novi Inn may both have better records, but without a doubt the hardest hitting team in Novi's Parks and Recreation Department's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League is the Michigan-Ohio Air Filters. Paced by Ted Battistone, who leads the league with eight round trippers, the Air Filters have blasted out a total of 19 circuit clouts—eight more than the Jaycees and 10 more than the Inn. Last week was showdown week for the Filters. Scheduled to meet both the Jaycees and the Inn, the third place Filters with a pair of victories could have taken over sole possession of first place—a spot the Jaycees have held since the start of the season. But it didn't happen. The Filters squeezed past the Inn

9-7 and almost upended the Jaycees. But with runners on second and third and only one down in the bottom of the seventh, second baseman Chuck Gramlich grabbed Frank Mrowczynski's hot liner and stepped on second to double up Eddie Stanczak and preserve a 16-15 triumph for the Jaycees. As a result of the week's play, the Jaycees were back on top of the standings, one game ahead of the Inn, while the Air Filters were left in third place just two games off the pace. The Filter-Jaycee game was a hitter's battle all the way. The two teams stroked a total of 42 hits and seven home runs. The Jaycees scored twice in each of the first three innings, but the Filters tallied four in the first, one in the second, and two in the third to lead 7-6 at the end of three innings. Doubles by Mick Veenstra and Jerry Fortenberry and singles by Pat McGurin, Doug Thrush, Chuck Gramlich, and Todd Price enabled the Jaycees to score five times in the fourth and take over the lead 11-7. From that point on, the Jaycees were able to keep one run ahead of the filters until the bottom of the sixth when the Filters got a two-run homer from Ron Balogh to take a 15-14 lead into the final inning. The Jaycees came back to score two runs of their own in the top of the seventh as Jerry Surles singled and Joe Pochter and Doug Thrush doubled to give their teammates a 16-15 lead and set the stage for Gramlich's game-winning, unassisted double play in the last of the seventh. Jerry Surles belted a pair of home runs to pace the Jaycee's attack. Five different players slugged round-trippers for the Filters—Eddie Stanczak, Frank Mrowczynski, Ted Battistone, Ron Balogh, and Ray Murphy. The Filters had Battistone to thank for their 9-7 victory over the Novi Inn Friday. The big third-sacker belted his seventh and eighth circuit clouts of the season and drove in five runs to pace the Filters' triumph. The sixth inning proved to be the lucky one for the Filters. Thanks largely to Jeff Deneen, who had scored twice and knocked in a pair of runs with two three-baggers, the Inn held a 7-6 lead as the sixth inning started. They almost scored more. With Klaus Bujack on third and Dennis Brooks on second and two down, Deneen smashed a wicked line drive to left center. But the Filters' Ray Murphy raced over and made a shoe string catch of the ball to end the inning. The sixth inning was also the one in which the Filters tallied the decisive runs. Mike Fenchel and Tim O'Hara singled and Stanczak and Mrowczynski doubled to bring the Filters from a 7-6 deficit into a 9-7 lead they never relinquished. In the only other game of the week, the Meadowbrook Lake subdivision squad pulled into a tie for fourth place with the Thompson Travel Center by topping the Travellers 11-6. Both teams now have 4-4 records. The game was over after two innings. First inning doubles by Jim Woelkers, Will Pilch, and Ken Beers and a triple by Mike Fritz gave the Lakers four first inning runs. They scored three more in the second to grab a 7-3 lead the Travellers were not able to overcome. Will Pilch and Jim Woelkers, each of whom went three for four, paced the Laker attack. Jim Pelkola was two for three and had a home run to his credit to lead the Travel Center.

Powder Puff Softball

Phillies Maintain Lead

Due to Fourth of July festivities, action in the Northville Recreation Department's Powder Puff Softball League (girls 9-13 years old) was at a minimum last week. League-leading Del's Shoes Phillies were inactive, but the only team with a chance to catch them—the Casterline Ponies—blew the opportunity by dropping a 10-9 decision to the Charles Chipster Bombers. In the only other game the Choo-Choo Car Wash Squaws moved into a three-way tie for second place with the Ponies and Bombers by defeating the VFV Cobras 11-5. The Ponies' loss to the Bombers came as something of a surprise. The Bombers had tallied three times in the first inning, but then seemed to lose their scoring punch as the Ponies galloped to a 9-3 lead. But then in the final inning, the entire Bomber team came to life and scored seven runs to take a 10-9 victory. Big blow in the rally was Julie Pelt's two-run triple. Jody Lauber, Kathy Pattison, and Peggy Watt all had two hits for the Bombers. Roberta Putrow, Kristin Williams, Susan Harris, Laura Brideson, and Theresa Hancock each picked up a pair of hits to pace the losers. Kim DeRusha was the hitting hero as the Squaws topped the Cobras 11-5. All told she had three hits—two home runs and a double—in pacing the Squaws' attack. Jean Egbert also homered for the Squaws and Carolyn McLeod, Kristy Iverson, and Cathy Sorenson each chipped in with a pair of hits. Pam Bingley, Jackie Sherman, Lisa Newbold, Cathy Herbel, and Donna Hoover all collected two hits apiece to lead the Cobras, who fell into last place with an 0-2 record.

Pizza Girls Win

Da Old County Pizza Palace jumped into first place in Division One of the Novi Parks and Recreation Department's Girls Softball League. Paced by Sue Velianoff's grand slam home run the Pizza girls downed Talmay Agency 16-13. Second place is held down by the Novi Inn, which outlasted a good Lacy Tool team 22-16 last week as Debbi Hensel and Jerri Sibole pulled off a double play. Lacy's Sharon Weber took game hitting honors with a perfect five for five night at the plate. In Division Two action, West Oakland Bank downed Fraker Staman Insurance 24-11, as Millissa Faulkner collected a pair of four-baggers and Sue Thomas recorded the league's first unassisted double play.

Choo-Choo Clinches Crown In Walled Lake Tournament

Northville's powerful Choo-Choo Car Wash softball team topped an 18-team field to win the second annual Walled Lake Community School's Men's Slow Pitch Softball Tournament last weekend. In winning the crown the Choo-Choo squad had to stage a phenomenal come-from-behind victory, playing six consecutive games from noon Sunday until they finally wrapped up the championship at 7:30 p.m. Pacing Choo-Choo's efforts was third baseman Brian Gilles. The 5'10" Gilles was awarded the tourney's Most Valuable Player Award, as he hit the ball at a .643 pace with 18 hits in 28 at bats through Sunday's grueling 7 1/2 hour session. Gilles' hits included two doubles, four triples, and three home runs, and he also scored 17 runs—an average of almost three per game. Backing up Gilles' hitting heroics was Choo-Choo shortstop Pete Woodard who had a .444 average with 11 hits in 25 trips to the plate. Choo-Choo got off to a good start in the tournament, taking a 12-3 decision from Pontiac's Sam Allen and Son Realty Friday and then trouncing back Walled Lake Building Maintenance 8-2 Saturday. Near disaster struck the Car Washers in their first game Sunday afternoon, however. Canton Printing caught Choo-Choo napping and reeled off a 10-2 victory to knock the Northville squad into the losers bracket and put them just one loss away from elimination in the double-loss elimination tournament. That's when Choo-Choo got down to work. With their backs against the wall, the Car Washers topped Jackson's Brown Hut 12-2 and then "mercied" last year's state Class C champs—the Milford Merchants—11-1. By virtue of the two victories, Choo-Choo got another shot at Canton Printing and this time they were ready, as they took a 12-7 triumph to earn the right to advance into the finals against Pontiac's mighty Minnesota Fabrics team—the only undefeated team left in the tournament. At the end of the regulation seven innings Choo-Choo and the Fabrics were tied 4-4. Then in the eighth inning Dave Broad slugged a triple and came home on Joe Hay's sacrifice fly to right field to give the Car Wash a 5-4 victory. With both teams now having lost a game, the winner of the tournament would be the winner of the second meeting between the two clubs. It wasn't even close. Choo-Choo's hitters got untracked, struck for seven runs in the first two innings, and went on to post a 12-3 victory to eliminate Minnesota Fabrics from the tourney and clinch the championship.

Eagles Set Pace In Class F Loop

With shortstop Todd Nadeau driving in four runs, the F.O.E. Eagles overcame a 4-1 deficit to record an 8-4 victory over the Casterline Indians in a Class F game last week. The Eagles now have a 5-1 record—good for first place in the Northville Class F League. Brett Lawson singled home Tony Hamp in the first inning and Pete Wright's single in the fourth inning drove in Mike Cairns from second to give the Eagles a 2-0 lead.

But the Indians came back with four runs in the bottom of the fourth as Dan Morelli doubled and Kirk Mack, Ron Angell, and Bob Zabinski all stroked singles. The Eagles came back from the 4-2 deficit with three runs in the fifth and then added three more in the sixth to cement the victory. Lawson pitched three hitless innings and recorded seven strikeouts, but the victory went to Carl Pawlowski who hurled the middle three frames for the Eagles.

Local Swimmers Spring Big Upset

Sweeping to 22 first place finishes in 41 events, the Meadowbrook Country Club swimming team upset Orchard Lake Country Club 235-221 in a Suburban Inter-Club Swimming Association meet last week. It was the first time the Orchard Lake squad has been defeated in dual-meet competition since 1968. Eighteen Meadowbrook pool records were broken during the heated competition and two of those pool records bettered existing league marks. They 9-10 year old boys' 100 yard freestyle relay team of Ron Bonatz, Blair Bowman, Todd Avery, and Dave Uzelac splashed to a record of 1:00.7, while Janet Show's 18.3 timing for the 25 yard breaststroke was a new mark for 9-10 year old girls. Northville swimmers on the Meadowbrook team are Dean Alli, Cecily Hayward, Marcia Kelly, Bronwyn Mills, Brian Cross, Kevin Lindley, Dana Christensen, Dirk Christensen, and Eric Christensen. Other Northville members of the team are Dave Uzelac, Doug Uzelac, Mike Uzelac, John Uzelac, Kathy Uzelac, Liz Smith, Isabel Smith, Jo Smith, Marjorie Smith, Paul Chenot, Dick McNulty, Mike McNulty, Matt Sullivan, Maggie Sullivan, Maureen Sullivan, and Sally Schueler. The Meadowbrook team is coached by Dave Seagraves. The victory over Orchard Lake was the second of the season for the Meadowbrook club.

The Russians have arrived in Salem.

At least an example of Soviet technology has reached this small local community.

A huge transformer built in Zatorzhye, Ukraine arrived Monday on a railroad siding to await transport to its permanent home at Detroit Edison's Coventry Station, 5300 Tower Road in Salem Township.

Shipped from Leningrad around June 1, the silver-colored 500 KVA (about 500,000 kilowatt) transformer reached Salem by way of Toronto Trucks will be used for the remaining short haul to the permanent site.

Edison spokesman John Harkness said in May that the company hopes to use the transformer as a means of evaluating Soviet high voltage technology, reputed to be among the finest in the world.

If the transformer measures up to estimated capabilities, it will be able to reduce voltage from 345,000 to 125,000. It will take Edison crewmen several months to install the equipment once it has reached the site.

The first U.S.S.R.-built transformer ever installed for use in the United States, the equipment was originally ordered in 1970.

Virtually every means of surface transportation has gone into bringing the giant electronic device from behind the Iron Curtain to this country.

They're His Life

Models Aren't Kid Stuff

Ask the man on the street what he thinks about model airplane building and chances are he'll reach into his grabbag of memories and pull out a youngster fooling around with balsa wood, a razor blade and model airplane glue.

Tom Beckman of Brighton began in this manner. He started to build his first model in summer camp when he was 10. And like most youths on solo flights, he never finished it. "I believe it was a bi-plane", he said, "a stick model."

Since those days in the early 40's, however, Beckman, like the glue that holds his sleek models together, has stuck with model airplane building. In those 32 years, he has matched the model airplane business stride for stride.

Now, a gulf exists between the stick plane of yesteryear and the radio controlled models of today.

There's still the balsa wood, to be sure. Beckman still contends that this material cannot be matched for its aerodynamic characteristics, not even by plastic or foam.

But the single-edge razor blade has been supplanted by more sophisticated cutting tools, and the pungent glue that stuck to the fingers has been replaced by equally sturdy glue that easily washes off.

Those are just a few of the colossal changes in the model airplane business, with which Beckman, who lives at Clark Lake, is intimately familiar.

Raised in Indiana, the personable Beckman has a simple explanation for his initial fascination with model airplane building. "The winters were long too," he said, speaking of Indiana and comparing it to Michigan. "We had a basement and that's where I spent many hours."

Beckman soon mastered the "art" (his own word) of building stick models with rubber band power and soon graduated to free flight models powered by fuel engines. It was an exciting, frustrating business.

"The free flight models could go until they ran out of gas," Beckman said. "I've chased them as far as 15, 20 miles away—by car, of course."

Likely as not the model plane would be a bundle of crumpled sticks by the time Beckman got to the landing spot. There was no way of controlling the landing. So hours and hours of work constructing a model would be wiped out on an initial flight.

Control line flying, Beckman said, was introduced in the early 1940's. This involves attaching lines to the model and flying it in the circular pattern so that the plane could be retrieved and hopefully salvaged.

Beckman's efforts, and those of other model airplane bugs, to adapt free flight models to control line flying were disastrous. "It wouldn't work," he said, "Nobody knew anything about it."

Eventually, however, the bugs were worked out and control line flying, Beckman said, became the rage in the late 1940's and through the early and middle 50's.

The breakthrough was provided by a man named Jim Walker, Beckman explained. He invented "U" control flying involving the attachment of two lines to control the airplane in an up and down manner.

Engines underwent significant change, too, in the late 40's. Unwieldy batteries, spark plugs and ignition systems gave way to smaller, more compact engines, principally through invention of the glow plug.

The glow plug looks like a miniature version of an automobile sparkplug, but it has a small coil inside. A battery is used to at first heat the small coil, then the hot (glowing) coil ignites the fuel and subsequent firings continue to keep the coil hot.

Despite the fact that Beckman entered the Navy in the early 50's and was stationed at Beeville, Texas, he continued to build model airplanes. "We had nothing else to do all day," he said. "We (Beckman and wife Sue) taught the whole neighborhood to fly."

When he and wife Sue left the Navy and Beeville, Texas in 1954 they had better than 20 control line models. But the planes, with the exception of one, didn't go with them.

"We couldn't put them into the car," Beckman said, "so we gave all but one away." And en route to Florida, where Beckman had a civilian job waiting for him, the remaining plane blew out of the car window.

Naturally enough, Beckman, the model airplane bug, received training as an aviation jet mechanic while he was in the Navy and naturally enough, one out of the Navy, he went to work for Eastern Airlines in Miami as an apprentice mechanic.

There he continued to work for Eastern until 1957, all the time "digging" model airplane construction. When Eastern was on strike in 1957, Beckman, who had done considerable business with the Orange Blossom Hobby Shop in Miami, decided to become a model airplane salesman for the hobby shop.

He was in charge of the burgeoning radio control program. Radio control flying, Beckman explained, was introduced in the late 40's by two men, Dr. Walter Good and Harold Mcentee. In fact, the first radio control model made by Dr. Good is now in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

Even in 1954," Beckman said, "radio control was not reliable. There were a lot of failures. I remember when I took out three models and wrecked them all in one day."

In those days, Beckman recalled, you had to construct your own radio control system. It was large, rudimentary compared to present-day sophisticated systems.

Big tubes, monstrous three by five-inch sets, a single channel and unreliability continued until about 1958, Beckman said. Only the rudder could be controlled, although the plane could be sent through loops, dives and rolls.

Significant change leading directly to current radio systems came in the period 1957 through 1959, Beckman said. "We got into pulsing signals and what is called proportional control."

Then came the 1960's and the heyday of the model airplane business.

"The evolution of the radio as we know it today came about in what we call digital, proportional control," Beckman said. "Beckman said. "From the single channel we knew in the 40's we now have eight channels; from 'maybe it's going to work' to a set that hardly fails. It's amazing, really."

The 1960's were to bring another change to Beckman's life. He quit as model airplane salesman for the hobby shop in 1961 and went to Motorola Communications and Electronics, the company he presently works for. He is regional sales manager for the Detroit office.

Beckman is still inextricably wound up with model planes. Significant improvements have been made, especially to the control system, but it still requires hours and hours of work to construct a flight-worthy model in keeping with Beckman's knowledge and talent.

It still takes balsa wood, sometimes plastic or foam, sharp cutting tools and glue. In the basement of his lake-front home, he has his work shop and several flight-ready models. There's

For 32 years a builder of model airplanes, Tom Beckman displays three distinctly different models that he made and flies. At the top of the page he holds his pride—a glider with an eight-foot wing span. The glider has been as high as 1,500 feet. Laid out at Beckman's feet are a bi-plane which took untold hours to build and just below it a smaller model which is controlled through manipulation of the rudder.

Don't Take Chances On Food Poisoning

Prevent food poisoning this summer by special care in preparing and handling the top offenders—cream pie fillings, potato salad, chopped ham and egg salad sandwiches and poultry stuffings—a Michigan State University marketing specialist advises.

Foos can be hazardous without giving any off-flavors or odors, Maryann Beckman cautions. Most food poisoning results from improperly prepared or handled foods.

Keep hot food hot and cold food cold, the specialist says. Never let foods stand at temperatures between 50 degrees and 120 degrees F when bacteria is most likely to grow.

If you're transporting hot foods, make sure they're hot through the center. Then keep them in thermos-type containers or wrap them in thick layers of newspaper. Plan to eat hot foods soon after reaching the picnic site, Mrs. Beckman says.

Keep cold foods at temperatures below 50 degrees F. Cold won't kill harmful bacteria, but it curbs growth. Chill foods thoroughly before putting them into an insulated cooler. Tuck plastic bags filled with ice around foods, or use plastic milk cartons filled with water and frozen. Cans of special liquid that can be frozen and used over and over also may be used.

For safe sandwiches, carry ingredients separately and put them together at the picnic site, just before serving.

Prepare foods under extremely clean conditions. Wash hands thoroughly and keep insects and animals away from foods during preparation.

Most acid foods—such as pickled products, fruit and fruit products—are safe without refrigeration.

Refrigerate all leftovers as soon as possible after eating, Mrs. Beckman says. A final suggestion: "If in doubt, throw it out."

ROLLING AGAIN—A 45-minute scenic tour of 22 miles of Kent Lake shoreline aboard the Island Queen awaits visitors to Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford. The replica of an old Mississippi riverboat is docked at Martindale Beach and makes tours around Kent Lake from noon through 6 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

Models

a drawing, too, on the board and he's currently constructing a Stinson.

Among his other model planes are a World War I bi-plane, which he constructed with only a plan to follow. He cut his own parts out of balsa wood, rather than taking the easier way of purchasing a kit with die-cut pieces.

It takes Beckman four or five months to construct one of his model planes, and he couldn't pinpoint how many hours. What would he sell a model for? $250, he replied, and that doesn't include the radio or fuel systems.

A good radio system costs $250, engines cost as little as $10 and as much as $150, Beckman says.

His pride, he admits, is his radio-controlled glider with an eight-foot-wing-span. The glider has been as high as 1,500 feet, "up in the clouds", as he put it, but the Federal Aviation Administration has requested that model planes be flown no higher than 400 feet. And Beckman abides by this request.

His son, Mike, 14, also gets into the act. Mike constructed, with marginal help from dad, a bright yellow Piper Cub. It's about the size of the other planes Beckman has made—a 48-inch wing span.

Sundays, Tom Beckman and his son go to Miller Field on Dorr Road to fly their planes. The Senior Beckman devotes much time to instructing other members of the newly organized Brighton Radio Control Club on how to fly their model planes.

Beckman, of course, is president of the club, and probably the most knowledgeable.

How to fly the models is the most difficult task, the club president says. A person must have quick reactions. The models can fly as fast as 100 miles per hour.

It's more difficult, Beckman says, than flying a real plane. "In a plane," he maintains, "you can get the feel of flying." Not so with remote model flying, for this is done through coordinated manipulation of levers on the compact transmission set.

Beckman even maintains that a model airplane builder knows more about aerodynamics than do pilots of 747's and private planes. The reason he explains, is that the avid model airplane builder learns what makes a plane fly, and in some detail, whereas such extensive knowledge is not imperative to a pilot.

Beckman's claim might be dismissed as ridiculous. But his interest in planes isn't confined to models. Currently, he owns and pilots a Cessna 178. Furthermore, he still has an airplane mechanic's license.

When he was living in Miami, he built his own airplane, starting with a wreck. He sold the plane, bought another, fixed it up, then sold it. Each sale netted a profit, of course. Then latched onto the Cessna four-seater.

What of the future? Beckman says when he retires from his current job with Motorola as a radio systems sales manager, he'll probably go back to his consuming hobby as a leisure source of income.

Crowds Enjoy Parks on Fourth

Over 314,280 persons visited Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks from Saturday, July 1 through Tuesday, July 4 compared to 259,622 persons for the 3-day holiday period of 1971, with only moderate crowds due to low temperatures of 67 degrees on the Fourth of July compared to 85 degrees in 1971.

Fireworks at Metropolitan Beach proved to be the major attraction, with over 42,082 persons coming this July 4th compared to 40,700 in 1971, which was the second highest crowd exceeded only by the 45,460 persons on July 4 of 1968.

Metropolitan Beach along Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens had a total of 92,315 visitors this past week-end compared to 74,450 last year, with a high of 42,082 coming on Tuesday, July 4. Last year's July 4th single day's use was 40,700.

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica had 58,000 visitors this past weekend compared to 64,100 in 1971, and a record high of 77,400 for a 4-day holiday in 1968. On Tuesday, July 4 (single day) attendance was 20,700 compared to a record high of 33,800 persons in 1968.

Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford had 84,300 visitors this past week-end compared to 66,100 in 1971, and a record high of 113,400 for a 4-day holiday in 1968. The July 4 (single day) attendance was 29,100 compared to a record high of 45,700 in 1968.

Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville had 54,099 persons for this past week-end as compared to 38,600 in 1971, and with a high of 52,100 for a 4-day holiday in 1968. Attendance for July 4 (single day) was 20,524 as compared to a record high of 23,500 in 1968. Willow Metropolitan Park, a new site under development between New Boston and the Village of Willow, had 4,791 visitors compared to 2,142 visitors for the 3-day holiday in 1971.

The three Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks in Washtenaw County had a record high of 20,775 visitors over the week-end, compared to 14,230 in 1971 and 12,120 in 1970. Comparative totals for July 4th (single day for all 3 parks) was 7,718 in 1972; 7,039 in 1971; and 4,710 in 1970 each covering Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudsons Mills Metropolitan Parks.

Prepare Pooch For Car Trips

Make traveling easier for your pet this summer with a pretravel physical, a few trial rides, and extra care during the trip, advises a Michigan State University veterinarian.

For some pets, a light meal before riding is advisable. Others travel better on an empty stomach, says Dr. Ralph M. McGovney. A few short rides before the actual trip will give you some idea of your pet's needs.

If your pet is excitable, you might give him a mild tranquilizer. The medication, which can be obtained from your veterinarian, may also have anti-nausea properties.

Before leaving, have your pet examined for minor skin and ear infections, fleas and ticks. Check with your veterinarian about pet ordinances where you plan to visit. Some states require signed health papers. Canadian customs regulations require proof of recent vaccination against rabies.

If you plan on camping, you may want a medication to protect your dog against disease carried by mosquitoes.

If your pet has a chronic illness, make sure you have enough medication. Know the specific drug name and dosage, in case you need a refill.

Check in advance for motels that have kennels or allow pets, McGovney suggests.

Also, pets can tolerate most water but should have their customary food.

Exercise your pet whenever you stop at a rest area or gas station. If you must leave him in the car, park in the shade and leave windows partially open.

For safety and courtesy, keep your dog leashed, the veterinarian suggests.

Park Millage Sought

A 30-minute presentation describing the activities and facilities of the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority—which presently operates nine "Metroparks" providing 12,500 acres in five Southeastern Michigan counties—is available to service clubs and other community organizations.

The presentation—highlighted by a 20-minute color film—illustrates the programs at the six major HCMA sites (Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park northwest of Ann Arbor, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville and Willow Metropolitan Park near New Boston) plus three smaller parks.

This presentation is a part of an informational effort by the Citizens Committee for Continuing Progress in Recreation to inform voters in Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties of an August 8 referendum on increasing the 1/4-mill property tax—that finances the HCMA—to 1/2-mill to be levied outside the 15-mill tax rate limitation.

The additional 1/4-mill property tax is being sought to carry out the Authority's plans to develop at least three new major metropolitan parks in the five-county area during the next 15 years and to lease and rebuild Belle Isle Park which is now operated by the City of Detroit.

"This new film dramatically shows how the Huron-Clinton park facilities provide boundless recreation to more than 9 million persons annually," Mack W. Worden, chairman of the Citizens Committee, declared.

"All of the members of the Citizens Committee are going to vote in favor of increasing the number of Huron Clinton parks on August 8. We urge everyone in the five-county area surrounding Detroit, to back this investment in added recreational opportunities for ourselves, our children and grandchildren."

To arrange for a speaker, contact E. E. Sullivan, 10-205 General Motors Building, Detroit, Michigan, 48202, or telephone 556-3079.

Sarazen To Swing In PGA

When Gene Sarazen stands on the first tee of the Oakland Hills Country Club in Birmingham, August 3-6, it will mark the 50th anniversary of the first of three victories in the PGA Championship.

The 54th Championship returns the classic to Michigan for the first time since 1955 when it was held at Northville's Meadowbrook Country Club. It was held at Plum Hollow in 1947 and at the Birmingham Country Club in 1953, all of these clubs being in the Detroit area.

Since all former champions are eligible, the Championship becomes a nostalgic event with the oldtimers mixing with the youngsters. Now 70, Sarazen first sought the title in 1921 but lost in the quarter-finals. It didn't take him long to find the key, however, and the next year, at Oakmont, he scored a convincing 4 and 3 victory over Emmet French. The following year, Sarazen and the late great Walter Hagen toiled for 38 holes in the final before the former prevailed.

He lost to Tommy Armour in 1930 but three years later came back to beat Willie Goggin, 5 and 4. In addition to his three victories, Sarazen reached the semi-finals twice and the quarter-finals on six occasions.

There will be memories aplenty at Oakland Hills. Denny Shute will be there, 35 years after he scored consecutive victories. Also, Jim Ferrier will be returning to the general area of his 1947 victory at Plum Hollow.

Historians will note the presence of Lionel Hebert, the last to win at match play in 1937, and Dow Finsterwald, Hebert's last-round victim who found stroke play more to his liking the following year. And then there's Don January who has been involved in the only two 18-hole playoffs since 1958. He lost to Jerry Barber's incredible putting in 1961 but ousted Don Massengale in 1967.

from the Pastor's Study

Ralph G. McGimpsey, Rector
St. Paul's Episcopal Church
Brighton.

If I were to ask you the question, "Who controls your life?, the chances are that your initial response would be that you control your own life. You decide what to do and when to do it for the most part.

Giving the question additional thought you might want to change your initial response by saying that actually many people and things exert a controlling force upon your life—your spouse, your children, your parents, your friends, your job, the community in which you live and the school that you go to.

All of these things do have a controlling influence upon our lives. In this nuclear age in which we find ourselves outside forces are exerting more and more pressures upon us in an attempt to mold us into what sociologists call the "suburban nuclear family".

The term "suburban nuclear family" is used to describe a new family lifestyle which has arisen out of the confusion of America's post-World War II exodus from the cities. This lifestyle is characterized by a sense of boredom and a breakdown of real communication between the family members.

It is also characterized by the willingness of the family members to go outside the family relationship and the church in search for the meaning of life. To a large extent the suburban nuclear family allows advertising and peer-group pressure to directly control its existence—be it father in his vocation, mother in her job, or the children in school or participating in sports.

In the midst of our great affluence we are really suffering the pangs of poverty—spiritual poverty. This is due in no small part to the fact that we are allowing God to play an ever decreasing role in our lives. If we were to take a survey of the man on the street I will venture a guess that very few respondents would even think to include God as one playing a prominent role in their lives. We tend to shy away from anyone or anything which places great demands upon our lives and this would have to include God.

As Christians we are being challenged by our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ to make faith in him the firm foundation of our lives. We are being asked to live not a convenient life, but a secure one. We all know that it is convenient to build our lives on the soft, shifting sands of compromise, excuse and pretense.

We can easily compromise with the philosophy that says that the good life is secured by money, position and power. We can find an excuse for anything we want to do by adjusting our consciences to suit our actions rather than directing our actions according to what we know is right. We can pretend that we will accept any sacrifice God demands of us provided the demand is not a present reality.

But if our lives are without a firm foundation, how will we stand against the storm that God may allow to buffet us? What will be our attitude on a gloomy, rainy day when we have lost our job and are faced with a huge hospital bill or a giant mortgage payment? How firm will we be when the winds of temptation are driving us to abandon our responsibility of love and loyalty to spouse and children? How will we accept the sacrifice when our lives seem to be crumbling because of the sudden death of a loved one or the unexpected accident which debilitates us or one of our children? Will our foundation of faith be strong enough to say to God, "Your will be done"?

In searching for the real meaning of life we must make God's will the directing force of all that we do. The suburban nuclear family cannot afford to live much longer according to present convenience.

Baseball is one of the few experiences of life in which you learn immediately and unquestionably whether you're safe—or out.

In other pursuits we can go on for years thinking we're safe when we're not.

Of course, in life as in baseball it is what a man attempts and decides to do, and how well he fulfills his aim, that determines whether he'll be safe. And in life, too, each venture calls for determination and a knowledge of the rules.

For many youngsters in our community the church is the sandlot of life. In the church's youth activities they find their training and experience—for one day on the "diamond" of life they'll be making decisions and pitting their strength against serious challenges, relying on the religious convictions and moral principles they gained on the way up.

In weighing your child's need of spiritual development remember this: In life, each day doesn't offer a new ball game!

For Dow Averages

Third Quarter Looks Good

Horse's Mouth

BABSON'S REPORTS Inc.—With the midpoint of 1972 now behind us, the stock market is still dogged by a good deal of uneasiness. As a matter of fact, the Dow Jones Industrial Average was in an indecisive state for most of the second quarter of this year. In the spring months, investment psychology was upset by a number of disturbing developments abroad and by the continued overhanging pall of inflation affecting the domestic economy. Even the incoming tide of general business, highlighted by a favorable corporate profits picture, failed to generate enough investor buying interest to bring about a good market advance. The same applied to the apparently favorable Peking and Moscow summit talks. So, the DJIA has as yet been unable to challenge its previous all-time high.

Checking back on recent developments, there does not seem to be evidence enough to indicate that the market has reverted to a major downward trend. While the nagging erosion of recent weeks could conceivably evolve into a more positive selling wave, the strength of the economy should be able to support the upward trend in the market.

A technical consideration is the pattern of the Dow Jones Transportation and Utility Averages. The former has been weak since early April, while the beleaguered Utility index, until mid-June, had been in a near-steady decline for months with little correlation to the Industrial Average. The plight of the two groups, however, appears to be due to rate problems rather than to corporate vulnerability.

THROUGHOUT June the Dow Jones Industrial Average was able to resist a testing of the psychologically significant 920 support level—an encouraging sign. With the traditionally strong summer season at hand, the third quarter should see firm to higher stock prices.

In recent months investment buying interest has been bolstered by expectations of better economic conditions, favorable corporate profits, and hopes that the winding down of the Vietnam war would ultimately reflect favorably in Wall Street. Thus far, only the profits picture has come through as expected. Industrial production and retail trade have made only modest headway, and capital outlays and inventory buildups have been restrained.

At this point, the tempo of the business upswing seems to be quickening. Thus, we should see more buying for inventory plus a pickup in consumer spending. If a healthier economy persists, it is more than possible that the Dow Industrial Average will challenge the previous record high sometime in the third quarter of 1972.

A FACTOR assuming even greater weight on the market as the Vietnam war drags on is the possibility of a definite end to that tragic situation. Over the past few years investors have reacted swiftly to implications of peace, and any developments of substance leading toward a settlement could have a considerable impact on the stock market. The Nixon Journey for Peace may bear fruit in future months; resumption of the Paris talks could well lead to an eventual conclusion of our prolonged involvement in Southeast Asia.

In the third quarter the Research Department of Babson's Reports looks for a broad list of industries to show strength in the stock market. Groups such as autos and airline and truck transportation should do well, as should rubber and tires, metal fabrication, health care, housing, savings and loan firms, and offshore oil and gas exploration. Investor interest should also center on business equipment, machinery and machine tools, and printing and publishing stocks. In all, the third quarter should see a still stronger economy and, barring now unforeseen adverse developments, a vigorous stock market.

Drying Up the Mare
Permanently separate the mare and foal at weaning time. Usually, foals are weaned between 4 and 6 weeks of age
Take the mare from the foal and put her in a well fenced area, where she can get plenty of exercise

Cut the mare's ration in half for a couple of days.
Examine the udder at intervals, but do not milk it out for five to seven days. The udder will fill up and get tight, but do not milk it out. At the end of five to seven days, when the bag is soft and flabby, milk out the little secretion that remains

A newly expanded day camp program for youngsters age seven and up has been launched by Majestic Farm, the riding school at 1300 West Joy Road, Ann Arbor.
School manager Mike Mathews reports that the campers now join with those from other riding schools for cross-country trips and special demonstrations

On July 3, 25 resident campers at Cottonwood Farms, Dexter, joined the Majestic campers for a demonstration of dressage riding by Frances Hinchcliffe and her Kladrub gelding, Santiago. The pair performed the two-track trot, the pirouette, changing leads at the canter and other complicated show exercises which form a part of Olympic competition in horsemanship.
Majestic campers will return the visit to Cottonwood Farms for rides over their hunt course.

Other innovations in this third year of the Majestic day camp program include the addition of a special instructor for beginning riders, the use of the new indoor arena and the new permanent hunt course.
Past practices being continued are assigning a particular horse for the entire camp session, weekly cook-outs and weekly gymkhanas

Court Reports Computerized

LANSING—A Michigan first! Computers have come to the tradition-bound Michigan Supreme Court.

The court and the Michigan Court of Appeals both are starting programs through which all their orders and opinions will be printed up by a computer rather than going through the handwork which has always been needed in the past.

The change makes Michigan the first state to contract for computerized publication and printing of its official court reports and simultaneous creation of a data bank in a computer where the reports are "stored" for future access.

As the computer reads pages for printing the reports, it also prepares a copy to be put on magnetic tape as a data bank for future information retrieval.

THE CONTRACT for the computerization is with The Lawyers Cooperative Publishing Co., Inc., of Rochester, New York. The firm is a large legal publishing house which has worked with Michigan courts for 24 years.

The data bank storing information will make it possible for lawyers and courts to have quick accessibility to all opinions in the data bank.

Under such a system, the person wanting information on a certain type case "tells" the computer what information is needed. The computer then pulls out cases coded for that subject area and displays them on a television-like cathode ray screen.

One computer serves a large number of keyboards through transmission lines.

BOTH THE MICHIGAN SUPREME Court and Court of Appeals have followed a time-honored pattern in publishing reports in the past.

As soon as a court decision was available in typewritten form, it was mailed to the printing company. The decisions were keyboarded onto disk storage within a computer system, printed out for proof reading and mailed back to the court for checking.

The use of the television-like screen to read what is in the computer means it is no longer necessary to print the proof sheets and that corrections can be made immediately.

Consideration is being given now to reducing the three-week period by using a terminal keyboard in Lansing through which corrections could be transmitted directly to the computer in Rochester.

THE SAME COMPUTER-television screen setup produces most of the national news you see in your newspapers these days.

Both major American wire services, United Press International and the Associated Press, are using the system to edit copy and then transmit it on their teletypes.

There have been some problems, of course, but as they are ironed out it is obvious the computer setup helps eliminate errors and produces a more steady flow of news over the wires.

PEOPLE AND ANIMALS aren't the only ones who are bothered by air pollution.

Horticulturists at Michigan State University say trees along heavily traveled urban freeways take a real beating from auto fumes, industrial and household pollutants and mist from salt used in the winter on the roads.

The plant scientists are in the midst of a study to see what kind of tree, if any, can do well, or at least live, in that type of surrounding. They have planted more than 1,000 trees with a total of 28 species represented on three freeway interchanges in Wayne and Oakland counties.

THE SPECIES RANGE from Austrian pine and Norway spruce to horse chestnuts, honey locusts and crab apples. White pine and other trees already known to be sensitive to urban pollutants also were planted so the scientists will be able to make a comparison.

The long-range goal for the project, being undertaken in conjunction with the Highway Department, is to attempt to beautify city freeways and other highways with large, healthy trees.

For the next three years, the trees will be checked regularly for growth rates, evidence of tolerance to salt mist and other pollutants, malformations and other signs of damage.

Broomfield Endorsed

A cablegram from former Republican County Chairman Joe Farnham, presently working and residing in Paris, France, announced his endorsement of Congressman Bill Broomfield for re-election to the new 19th Congressional District

Joining Farnham's endorsement are former county chairmen Arthur G. Elliott, of Troy; Dale Feet, of Waterford; Robert Webster, of Birmingham; and Charles L. Lyle, of Southfield Township. Lyle is presently serving as Broomfield's campaign chairman.

THANK YOU, MR. PRESIDENT
For Your Strong Support of the BROOMFIELD ANTI-BUSING AMENDMENT

Because I have been fighting to stop forced school busing in the Detroit area, I asked the President on June 26 to marshal the full resources of the federal government to enforce the Broomfield Anti-Busing Amendment. I thought you would like to see excerpts of the President's reply of June 28, 1972.

Wm. Broomfield

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON June 28, 1972

Honorable Wm. S. Broomfield
Dear Bill

I am fully mindful of the difficulties confronting you in securing stronger legislation to amend the Higher Education Act. In view of the Congressional opposition which you had, I have no doubt that you secured the best legislation you could under the circumstances. I know that you and I agree that stronger legislation is necessary and I know too that you are doing what you can to assist in securing a vote in the House of Representatives on my busing moratorium proposal.

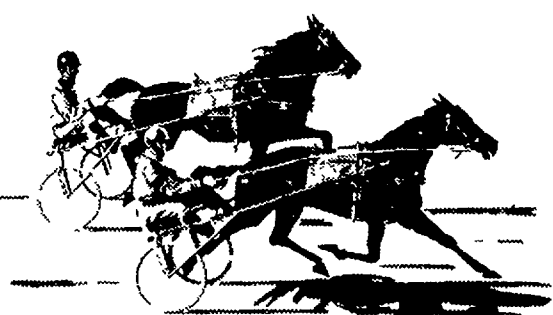

I have directed the Department of Justice to make full use of Section 803 of the Higher Education Act, the Broomfield Amendment. Under the circumstances, we must leave no stone unturned and I am determined that the Executive branch will do whatever it can to secure a stay of such a busing order affecting the greater Detroit area. As your letter points out, such a stay under Section 803 can only be good until all appeals are exhausted. I am hopeful that before the expiration of a temporary stay my busing moratorium proposal will be enacted into law.

You deserve much credit for your foresight and tenacity in fighting for this type of legislation at a time when some did not realize the seriousness of the situation. With the help of others like you in Congress I trust we can bring into law provisions which will avoid the divisive and harmful situations which have too frequently been created in school districts around the country in the recent past.

With sincere regard,
Sincerely,
RICHARD NIXON
President of the United States

WHAT HAPPENED WHEN AGNES HIT TOWN SHOULDN'T HAPPEN TO A TOWN

But it did.

To towns like Richmond, Virginia, Pittsburgh, Pa. Wayne, N.J. Wheeling, West Virginia, Olean and Elmira, N.Y. And a host of others.

Hundreds were killed. Hundreds of thousands suffered. You saw the incredible destruction and hardship on tv, and in your newspaper. Now the waters have receded. And somebody has to pick up the pieces. To feed people. And clothe them. And care for them. And find them homes.

The American Red Cross is one of the somebodies. If you think it's important to help your neighbors in twelve states who are the victims of the worst flood disasters these states have ever known, please send us money. Today.

Please send us your part of the over Ten Million Dollars that we need right now.

Plenty of Trails for Nature Walks

Michigan offers almost countless trails with opportunities varying from hiking to short strolls just to observe nature, according to Automobile Club of Michigan. With the help of leading conservationists, Auto Club has listed some of the more outstanding trails, gardens, nature centers and arboretums which attract thousands of visitors each year.

With few exceptions, admission is free to these outdoor attractions. Nature trails are found at five parks operated by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a regional park agency serving residents of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties. They are Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville, Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens and Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park near Dexter.

The first three also have nature centers. The trails at Stony Creek, located in a wooded valley and hills, explore woods, meadows, stream banks and small ponds. Kensington's self-guiding trails start near the nature center building while wildflowers are a specialty at Lower Huron Park.

Other nature centers are located at historic Nankin Mills, once owned by the late auto pioneer Henry Ford, in Wayne County's William P. Holliday Park, the Carl G. Fenner Arboretum in Lansing; and Drayton Plains Nature Center. All contain permanent exhibits which include rocks and minerals, wood samples, trees, seasonal plants, and Great Lakes birds and fish.

The William P. Holliday Park, a 500-acre forest and wildlife preserve, located between Joy and Warren Roads in Westland and Livonia, extends westward from the Middle Rouge Parkway along Tonquish Creek, a distance of three miles. Twelve miles of walking trails, some only a half mile long, wind through secluded natural areas. The park is operated by the Wayne County Road Commission.

Michigan's longest hiking trail extends 200 miles, from Empire on Lake Michigan to Tawas City on Lake Huron. Established by the state legislature in 1964, it was planned to accommodate both hikers and horseback riders.

Another long back-packing hiking trail is on Isle Royal a National park, in northwest Lake Superior off the Keweenaw Peninsula. It extends the length of the island, about 45 miles. There's also a shorter trail on the island—five miles roundtrip—for those who just want a taste of hiking.

The Seney National Wildlife Refuge also is in the Upper Peninsula. It adjoins Germfask on M-77. The nature trails in this 95,455-acre area are administered by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The Drayton Plains Nature Center, just northwest of Pontiac, covers 137 acres with five miles of nature trails. Although privately-owned, it is free.

There also are nature trails in the Kalamazoo and Lansing areas.

The 400-acre Kalamazoo Nature Center Preserve is north of Kalamazoo at 7000 North Westnedge. The Carl G. Fenner Arboretum, 2020 East Mt Hope Avenue, Lansing, has nature trails within the arboretum, which also contains an exhibit of prairie animals and a science building.

Two recreation areas in the Detroit metropolitan area offer nature trails. Highland, 17 miles west of Pontiac on M-59, has many trails within its 5,407 acres. Rochester-Utica, 20 miles north of Detroit off M-53, M-59 and M-150, covers 903 acres.

Onaway State Park, in Presque Isle County, six miles north of Onaway on M-211, has 158 acres, most of it densely wooded, with many nature trails. A few other state parks offer short foot trails. Others have nature study and interpretative services. The Matthaei Botanical Gardens at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, has several nature trails.

Outstanding gardens throughout the state include: The Cranbrook House Gardens which surround the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. George C. Booth, on Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills north of Detroit. Admittance is included with a ticket to the Cranbrook Science Center or Art Galleries. The Hidden Lake Gardens, at Tipton, is comprised of 620 acres of rolling countryside in the scenic Irish Hills of southeastern Michigan. The original owners, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Fee, of Adrian, gave Hidden Lake Gardens to Michigan State University in 1945 and set up trust funds to insure future maintenance and development. The Hidden Lake Gardens Center Building and a new plant Conservatory, both given by the Herrick family of Tecumseh, were opened in 1966 and 1968.

A showplace in Midland is the Dow Gardens on West Main Street. Guide service to this 30-acre area is available by appointment daily during the summer.

FIRST WITH UNIT PRICES

HOW CHATHAMS "ACTUAL" UNIT PRICES CAN SAVE YOU MONEY!

Your cost per measure

Item Description	The Actuals Price per pound.....	Unit Price	Shelf Price
Brand X Peaches 29-Oz. Can	14.3	.26¢

When you were shopping at any other supermarket than Chatham, has this ever happened to you: You see three different sizes of laundry detergent. One is the "regular" size, weighing 1 lb. 4 oz., and sells for 38¢. Another is the economy size weighing 3 lbs. 1 oz. and sells for 89¢. And still another is the "king" size weighing 5 lbs. 4 oz. and sells for 1 44. All three boxes are the same brand. And the quality is also identical. Now, the decision you are faced with is: WHICH IS REALLY THE "BEST BUY"?

Unless you happen to be a mathematical genius, or carry a computer with you, it could take you several minutes of figuring with pencil-and-paper to figure out that the king-size package is the best value in this example. Obviously, it becomes impractical to figure out the "best buy" among THOUSANDS of different products, brands, and sizes found in every supermarket. So Chatham makes it easy.

Each display of canned and packaged food features Chatham's exclusive "Actuals" price tag. On the tag you will see the name of the item. The size of the item shown in pounds, ounces, quarts, etc. And, the "cost-per-unit" of the item expressed in cents or dollars. Now, you will be able to instantly make price-comparisons not only between various sizes of the same brand—but also compare unit prices with other brands of the same product group. You may still prefer to buy a favorite brand—even though it costs a few pennies more. But Chatham's convenient "Actuals" unit pricing system lets you know what you are doing. You'll never shop "blind" again when you shop at our big, clean, friendly Chatham Food Center!
