He'll know for sure Sunday when he drives it in the Northville Fair's Demolition Derby in competition with other area drivers and their clunkers. ## 19 Seek Party Nod

Township Race Stirs Interest

Township voters will go to the polls Tuesday to decide among 19 candidates seeking nomination in the township.

About 70 percent of the 3,599 registered electors are expected to vote in the primary. Township officials say the number of candidates running will influence the turnout.

And while residents will not be voting directly on the question of annexation of the township by the city, annexation is expected to play a major role in their selection of candidates.

In the 1968 primary election, 36 percent of the township residents voted.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Township Precincts One and Two will vote in the township offices, 301 West Main Street. Residents in Precincts Three and Four will vote in Tanger Elementary School, 40260 Five Mile Road.

Voting machines will be used in all but the newly created Precinct Four which will vote on paper ballots.

Although two incumbents are seeking re-election, new faces are sure to be seen on the township board.

Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, who has held his post since 1968, served as a trustee two years and before that had been a member of the planning commission, is not seeking re-election.

Clerk Eleanor Hammond, who has held that office for nearly six years, is not running for another term and will be moving from the area.

Trustee Bernard Baldwin, also a six-year member of the board, will not seek re-election.

The only two incumbents running are Treasurer Joseph Straub and Trustee Richard Mitchell.

Straub has served as treasurer since 1970 and held a two-year term as trustee before that. Mitchell is completing his first four-year term in office.

Terms of office include supervisor, clerk and treasurer, two years each, and two trustee posts, four years each.

Republican candidates face opposition in all primary races except constable, while Democratic candidates face contests in only the trustee division where three are seeking two posts.

Those seeking election include:

Candidates Galore

Primary Vote Tuesday

Unlike township voters, the 2,753 registered voters in the City of Northville will have no local offices to fill when they go to the polls in Tuesday's primary election.

In the Wayne County portion of the city, they will be picking political nominees for national, state and county seats and deciding four proposals.

(Township voters will pick from the same slate of non-local candidates and decide the same four proposals).

In the Oakland County portion of the city, voters will pick from a different slate of county, state and national offices and they will be asked to make a decision on only two propositions.

Four years ago in the 1968 primary, only 30 percent of the then registered electorate of the city voted. City officials are reluctant to predict next week's turnout, indicating that it is difficult to gauge public interest in this election.

City voters will cast their ballots in one of three precincts: Precincts 1 and 2, located in the city hall, 215 West Main Street; and Precinct 3, located in Amerman Elementary School, northwest corner of Eight Mile and Center Street. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Only one local candidate and one former city official is involved in any of the major races. These include R. Robert Geake of Northville, who seeks the Republican nod for the Michigan House of Representatives in the 35th District, and former City Attorney Marvin Stempien, a Democrat, who has decided to give up the 36th State House seat in an attempt to win himself a slot in the United States House of Representatives in the 2nd Congressional District.

The two proposals that all area voters—in the city and township of Northville—must decide Tuesday are:

1. Proposal to increase the tax for the metropolitan park system, which includes nearby Kensington Metropolitan Park, from one-quarter mill to one-half mill.

2. Proposal to amend the Michigan Constitution to provide for juries of less than 12 people in misdemeanor (minor) criminal court proceedings.

In the Wayne County section of the city, voters will vote on two additional proposals. These include:

1. Proposal to extend for an additional five years a one-mill levy for Wayne County services.

2. Proposal to establish a commission to formulate a proposed home-rule charter for Wayne County. Besides deciding whether or not to establish such a commission, voters also will be asked to pick political candidates for the commission in the event it becomes a reality.

If authorization for the charter commission is denied, the commission candidates picked will be nullified.

Charter Commission Candidates for the proposed charter commission will be picked from the same revised districts that comprise the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. Locally, those Wayne County districts are the 19th and 27th. Candidates for the proposed charter commission from these two districts are:

19th District (includes the Wayne County portion of the city and most of the township)—Nancy Blatt and Eugene S. Guido, Democrats, and James R. Hayward and Ralph L. Ritter, Jr., of Northville, Republicans.

Coincidentally, both Guido and Hayward, residents of the township, are also candidates for township board nomination.

27th District (includes locally only the southwestern

Sells Aid Notes

Manufacturers National Bank was low bidder Monday on the purchase of $840,000 in state aid anticipation notes.

Northville school board members awarded the bid to Manufacturers which bid an interest rate of 2.8 percent.

Business Director Earl Busard stated the interest "is the lowest bid received by any district in July." The only other bid submitted to the local district carried an interest rate of 2.89 percent.

Busard said the interest to be paid by the district on the loan will amount to $19,756, about $2,000 less than what was anticipated.

Board members also were notified by the state department of education that the district will receive a state aid allocation of $1,014,000. State equalized valuation of the district has been placed at $92,776,814.

In other financial business Busard told board members that a preliminary audit for the 1971-72 school year shows the district about $5,000 in the black.

"For the first time in five years, the district took in as much money as it paid out," he noted.

The cafeteria fund finished the year about $420 in the black.

Busard said that less than one-twentieth of one percent was made on a volume of $90,000.

"At the beginning of the year, the cafeteria fund was about $2,400 in debt and finished only $1,900 in debt," he explained.

Busard said funds will be transferred to the account to bring it to a zero balance by September.

'Better School Collection'

Eye Tax Plan

A proposal from Washtenaw County which would guarantee 100 percent tax collection every year to all governmental units in the county, provided they waive their rights to collect six percent interest on delinquent taxes, was aired before Northville school board trustees Monday night. Seen as an advantage by local school administrators in that it would save bookkeeping work and help the district's cash flow, the matter failed to win support of one of the four members present.

With the vote to approve the proposal 3-1, the matter was tabled for further action at the board's August 28 meeting.

Casting the lone dissenting vote which prevented the school district from acting on the proposal was Trustee Glenn Deibert.

Deibert said he wished to discuss the matter further with Superintendent Raymond Spear and said he wanted to know "who will benefit from this? Somebody will, I'm sure."

Voting in favor of waiving the district's right to the six percent interest were Board President Dr. Orlo Robinson, Trustees Martin Rinehart and Andrew Orphan.

Trustees Stanley Johnston, Mrs. Sylvia Gucken and Richard Martin were absent.

Business director Earl Busard pointed out that with 100 percent collection guaranteed every year, the district would not have to borrow funds because of delinquent taxes, would not pay interest on the loan and could earn interest on the invested taxes.

He said the six percent interest is not realized if the land is sold in a tax sale.

"Back taxes from Washtenaw County from the 1971 billing total $6,100 or about four percent of the total levy. Total back taxes amount to about $9,100," Busard said.

"This proposal will save both county and the school district paper work," he continued.

"Every time a check for back taxes comes in, even if it is as little as $6, it must be split seven ways into our seven different accounts.

"It costs the district about $3 per check for processing and it costs the county another $12. In the long run, the taxpayers will be the ones who benefit from this proposal," Busard stated.

School board members also went on record Monday as being opposed to the elimination of the property tax and graduated income tax.

Trustees were acting in response to a survey being taken by the Michigan Association of School Board requesting the district's position on the proposed constitutional amendments.

July Ceremonies Unite Couples

Gombasy . . .

Suzanne Pfluecke became the bride of George L. Gombasy at 2 p.m. on July 15 at First Presbyterian Church in Northville.

The Reverend George Jerome, chaplain at Northville State Hospital and friend of the bride's family, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Pfluecke, Jr., 926 Novi Street, are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gombasy of 26052 Clark Street.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli, blue and yellow pompon and Fujiums. Arrangements of the same blue and yellow flowers with ferns and daisies were placed at the side rails and pews.

Organist James Cater played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" for the entrance of the bridesmaids and Purcell's "Trumpet Tune" for the bride's processional. The recessional was "Trumpet Tune" by Clark.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She chose a white dotted Swiss gown which was trimmed with Alencon lace at the square neckline, the empire waist, sleeve cuffs, apron front of the skirt and the hem. Her Cathedral mantilla was also outlined in Alencon lace.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, carnations, baby's breath and ivy. The cultured pearl necklace she wore was a gift of her paternal grandparents.

Maid of honor, Lori Oswald of Farmington, wore a gown of blue dotted Swiss featuring a high neckline. Alencon lace trimmed the neck, bodice and sleeves. In her hair she wore blue satin ribbons and white daisies. Her old fashioned bouquet included white and yellow daisies, baby's breath and fern.

Mrs. Thomas Singer, Plymouth, Janet Miller, Kim Taggart, both of Northville and Anne Pfluecke, the bride's sister-in-law who recently returned to Northville from California, were bridesmaids.

Their gowns, bouquets and hair decorations were identical to the maid of honor.

Junior bridesmaid was Patricia Gombasy, sister of the groom. Jill Anger, Northville, was flowergirl. Their dresses were similar to the bridesmaids and were trimmed with pleated lace and blue embroidery. Patricia's bouquet was made of blue and white daisies with baby's breath and Jill carried a white wicker basket filled with blue, yellow and white daisies, baby's breath and fern.

Best man was Paul Boeger of Northville

Best man was Paul Boeger of Northville. Ushers were Rex Balko, Northville, John and David Pfluecke, brothers of the bride, and Byron Wildaur of Farmington.

A reception was held at the Farmington Community Center for 160 guests from New York, Pennsylvania, Florida, Ohio and Michigan.

The bride chose a light blue linen dress with white accessories and a rose corsage for her going away outfit.

After a brief stay in Michigan, the new Mr. and Mrs. Gombasy drove to Portsmouth, Virginia where the bridegroom will be stationed at Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Northville High School and attended Alma College for two years. Her husband is a graduate of Lutheran High West and attended Michigan Technological University before enlisting in the Navy.

Hosko . . .

Penny Lyn Anchors and Eugene William Hosko were united in marriage at Our Lady of Victory Church, Northville, on July 15 by the Reverend John Wittstock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.S. Anchors of 23950 Meadowbrook Road. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hosko of Muskegon are parents of the bridegroom.

Music chosen by the couple for the double ring ceremony included "Wedding Song", "Here I Am", "If Ever I Should Leave You", "The First Time Ever" and "Color My World".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of organza and lace. The dress featured a lace bodice and empire styling with a full organza skirt and lace bell cap sleeves over long full organza sleeves. The organza train was trimmed in the same lace. A lace cap secured her veil. Her bouquet was made of white and pink sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor was Susan Reblin of St. Clair Shores. The floor length multi-colored skirt she wore was matched with a long sleeved organza blouse of mint green. She carried a bouquet of pink daisies with purple statice.

Bridesmaids Jane Tyler, Northville and Sue Hosko, Muskegon, were attired identical to the maid of honor and carried similar bouquets.

Michael Hosko, Muskegon, was best man. Ushers were William McGinnis of Westland and Dennis Anchors of Okemos.

A reception was held at Vladimirs in Farmington for 150 wedding guests from Muskegon, Ypsilanti, Lansing, Marine City and Pennsylvania.

A wedding trip to Northern Michigan was chosen by the couple.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Eastern Michigan University. The bridegroom graduated from Eastern Michigan in 1971 and is presently teaching special education at Reeths-Puffer School.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Eugene William Hosko will make their home in North Muskegon.

Tripp . . .

The orchard of the bridegroom's parents home was the setting for the July 9 marriage of Sue Ellen Blough to John Leonard Tripp.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Blough, Hastings, Michigan, formerly of Northville. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tripp of Hastings are the bridegroom's parents.

The Reverend Willard Curtis performed the 3 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride wore her grandmother's wedding gown. The white eyelet embroidered dress was trimmed with handmade lace. Matching lace trimmed her floor length veil. She and her mother gathered the wild flowers used in the bridal bouquet from fields near the Tripp home.

Kay Acker was her sister's only attendant.

Best man was Doug Acker Steve Tripp, brother of the bride, and Jeff Chandler were ushers.

Dr. and Mrs. Jerry White of Dearborn were master and mistress of ceremony.

Following the wedding, a reception for 85 guests was held on the patio of the Tripp home.

The couple left on a two week wedding trip to Finland after the reception.

Exchange Student

Novi Girl Goes Dutch

In July last year, following her graduation from Cass Technical College in Detroit, Wendy Jackson left for a year in Belgium as an exchange student.

"I wanted to go to Europe and experience the culture instead of just being a tourist," she said of her decision to apply for placement in a European home as a high school student.

Wendy, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osie Jackson, 22550 Brookforest. She became interested in the American Field Service exchange program due to her family's previous involvement. Through the same group, the Jacksons have hosted a boy from Sweden and a girl from South Africa in the past.

During her year abroad, Wendy lived with a family of eight in Mariburg, Belgium, a small city close to the Holland border and about 40 miles from Antwerp.

When she arrived in the country she knew nothing of the language. She said it took her until Christmas to learn Flemish fluently but said it was "pretty easy."

"Most of the television programs over there are American," she explained, "and instead of dubbing them, we have subtitles so it was quite easy to pick up words from that."

She said reading the newspaper also helped her learn a lot as did forcing

For State Home Residents

Couple Gives Pizza Party

Ask yourself: What would you do if you won enough free Little Caesars pizza to feed 40 people? Throw a party for your friends? Eat a pizza a week for 40 weeks? Or one a month for more than three years?

Don and Mary Adams, of Garden City, didn't have to think about their answer too long after Adams, Detroit Press Club chef, won the pizza prize in a raffle sponsored by the Detroit chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism organization for women.

The Adamses began immediately to plan a party for 35 retarded youngsters from the Plymouth State Home in Northville Township where Mrs. Adams' brother, Jim Bentley, is a resident. The party was held July 8 at Cass Benton Park.

"Not enough people would think of doing this kind of thing and its needed ever so much," said Mary Adams. "Just watching those kids tear into the pizza and realizing how much they were enjoying it made the whole day for me."

The Adamses enlisted the aid of their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. John Jankowski and Mrs. Elmer Bentley (Jim's mother) of Redford Township. Mrs. Adams, her daughter Debbie, 12, and Mrs. Jankowski dressed up as clownettes.

The pizza was supplied by Little Caesars Northville unit, 168 E. Main Street, the Plymouth State Home provided the punch and ice cream was donated by the Women's Auxiliary of Dearborn's VFW Post 134.

Tim Sheehan, who delivered the pizzas for Little Caesars, told Mrs. Adams he didn't think 35 children could finish 40 pizzas.

"He was sure surprised," said Mrs. Adams. "Tim stayed around to help us out and when he was ready to leave, there was nothing left but empty boxes and 35 over-stuffed kids asking for more."

Dave Agius, assistant office manager for Little Caesars Enterprises, Inc., Southfield, helped the Adams organize the party and made sure the pizzas were delivered hot and on time.

DeLYNN SUE TOBIAS

Local Candidates Vie for Election Tuesday

Five Novi-Wixom men will be vying for state and county offices when area voters go to the polls in Tuesday's primary election.

Denis M. Berry, a Novi city councilman, will be attempting to unseat incumbent Clifford Smart for the Republican nomination in the 24th State Representative District. Also seeking the Republican nomination is Sam A. Bailo.

The remaining four area candidates are vying for the Oakland County Board of Commissioners as the representative from the newly created 24th district. Incumbent Lew Coy of Wixom is unopposed on the Republican ticket. Novi city councilman William R. O'Brien; Glen R. Betts, also of Novi; and Wixom's John M. Gillis along with Benjamin Bundo, Junior, of Walled Lake are seeking the Democratic nomination for the right to oppose Coy in November.

Novi and Wixom voters will be picking national, state, and county candidates in addition to deciding one county and one state proposal and selecting two non-partisan judges for eight year terms to the sixth Circuit Court.

Novi has 4,328 registered voters, while Wixom's voting rolls number 1,100. Four years ago in the 1968 primary, the voting turn out in Novi was particularly light with 564 ballots being cast, 21 percent of the number of registered voters. The turn out in Wixom was slightly better, as 281 of the 733 registered voters showed up at the polls, a turn out of 38 percent.

Novi voters will cast ballots in one of two locations. Voters from the first and second precincts will vote at the Fire Station on Novi Road, while voters from the third and fourth precincts will cast their ballots at the Novi Community Building between I-96 and Grand River.

Wixom voters will vote at the Wixom City Hall.

In both communities polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

The two proposals facing Novi and Wixom voters are:

1. A proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Michigan that would permit a trial by a jury of less than 12 members in any court provided the offense is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year.

2. A proposal to raise the millage for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority which operates Kensington Metropolitan Park from one-fourth mill to one-half mill.

Voters will also decide the following nominations:

County Commissioner
Four candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination for the right to oppose Republican incumbent Lew Coy in the 24th District. They are Glen R. Betts; Benjamin Bundo, Junior; John M. Gillis; and William R. O'Brien. Coy is unopposed as the Republican nominee for the office.

U.S. Senate
Neither Democrat Frank Kelly or Republican Incumbent Robert Griffin are opposed in Tuesday's primary.

U.S. Congress
In the 19th Congressional District, Democratic challenger George F. Montgomery is unopposed. One of the state's most interesting races is shaping up for the Republican nomination, however, as two incumbents are battling for their party's nomination.

William S. Broomfield and Jack McDonald both has their congressional districts revised through reapportionment, thus, creating the situation in which two incumbents are battling for the same seat.

State House
William J. Kabzinski is the unopposed Democratic challenger for the 24th State Representative District. The primary battle will be on the Republican ballot where incumbent Clifford Smart, house minority leader, faces opposition from Denis Berry and Sam A. Bailo.

Oakland County
Although the Oakland County ballot is not overly long, several interesting races are seen.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY-Democratic incumbent Thomas G. Plunkett faces a primary challenge from Anthony Renne. L. Brooks Patterson is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

SHERIFF-Six men are vying for the opening created by the retirement of long-time Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons. Former Detroit Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen is running against Ruel E. McPherson for the Democratic nomination.

Seeking the Republican nomination are Herbert C. Cooley; Leo R. Hazen, undersheriff during Irons' term of office; William E. Kish; and Donald K. Kratt.

CLERK-Incumbent Lynn D. Allen is unopposed for the Republican nomination. Daniel L. Medina, Gail J. McPherson, John J. Murphy (Pontiac), John W. Murphy (Hazel Park), and Jean W. Saile are seeking the right to be the Democratic candidate in November.

TREASURER-James M. Brennan and Stanley A. Stevens are seeking the right to oppose Republican incumbent C. Hugh Dohany as the Democratic party's nominee.

DRAIN COMMISSIONER-Republican incumbent Daniel W. Barry is being opposed by Delos Hamlin, Goerge W. Kuhn, and Frederick J. Whitcroft for his party's nomination. William M. Richards is the lone candidate for Drain Commissioner on the Democratic ballot.

Sixth Circuit Court Judges

Voters will be asked to vote for two of seven candidates for new eight year terms as judges of the sixth Circuit Court. The seven candidates for the non-partisan positions are Harvey F. Tennen; Julian Abele Cook, Junior; Alice L. Gilbert; Richard D. Kuhn; John N. O'Brien; Clarence A. Reid, Junior; and Marvin Schwedel.

Stop Order Halts K&B Construction

All Kaufman and Broad construction projects in Novi were shut down Thursday, as City Manager George Athas issued a stop order and had all construction sites cleared of personnel.

The order was delivered at 1:30 p.m. At the same time telegrams were sent to John Tedesco, president of K&B's Michigan operations, at his Southfield office and Eli Broad at K&B headquarters in California informing them of the action.

By 5:15 p.m. Thursday the stop order had been lifted and work was resumed Friday morning.

K&B spokesmen estimated that the three hour, forty-five minute work stoppage cost them $100,000. Had workmen been barred from construction sites Friday, an additional $125,000 in losses would have occurred, they said.

What transpired in that three hour, forty-five minute period to cause the work order to be lifted was outlined by City Attorney Howard Bond along with Athas in a special report to the city council Monday.

Shortly after the telegrams had been sent out, the city manager's office was deluged with phone calls and by 4 p.m., Athas reported, "there were more lawyers in my office than were at the last Michigan Bar Convention." K&B attorneys argued with some validity, according to Bond, that the stop was illegal. Each building, according to law, is an individual unit and if violations of codes and ordinances exist, they must be handled on a house to house basis - to shut down the entire project is illegal.

Also occurring in the time the work stoppage was in effect was a conversation between Bond and Kaufman and Broad Attorney Michael Lewiston. It was this conversation which led to the work order being lifted.

"Mr. Lewiston and I reached agreements that a number of things would be done and would be done very quickly," Bond told the council Monday.

Those understandings were then enumerated for the council.

1. That drainage problems would be remedied quickly.

2. That K&B would correct drainage problems on homes already being inhabited.

3. That K&B would supervise their workers and not rely on city inspectors to do their supervision.

"It's obvious that excess inspection has been required," said Bond. "They should be doing the work of inspecting and correcting problems before asking our inspectors for approval."

4. That if there are any problems which are not being acted upon immediately, Bond would contact Lewiston directly who in turn was empowered to direct Kaufman and Broad's employees.

5. That there would be an open line for discussion of any problem that would seem to be unsolved.

Residents of Kaufman and Broad's Village Oaks subdivision have been asking the city to shut down the developer for some time. Their pleas reached a crescendo in late May and early June, but have been on the decline since.

Athas informed the council of his decision to shut down the developer at a public hearing a week ago Wednesday - one day before the stop order was issued.

At that meeting Athas said he was tired of having K&B "thumb their noses at us whenever we tell them to do something." The major complaint had to do with drainage problems.

"They submit a grading plan, we approve it, and then they no more look at that grading plan than the man in the moon," said the city manager. "In my wildest dreams I've never seen such terrible grading."

Athas cited other reasons for issuing the stop order, including an allegation that K&B had been tying into city water mains without permission.

At Monday's session Bond offered a further reason for the stop order. "When George brought this up," he said, "I agreed that things had reached a point where there was complete frustration on the part of the city and something had to be done to get them back in line."

City officials are "hopeful that the problems with Kaufman and Broad can be resolved. Athas said he felt all existing problems could be resolved within the present year.

"It was a strong move," he continued, "but we accomplished what we wanted to accomplish - we finally got their attention."

As to future problems, Bond said that Kaufman and Broad understands that inspections will be much more thorough before additional certificates of occupancy for a dwelling unit are issued.

"We'll be going on a house to house basis in the future," said the attorney, "and they understand that all it's will have to be doubly dotted and all it's doubly crossed."

Campbell Asks

Athas Threatened?

Implications that Kaufman and Broad officials had threatened Novi City Manager George Athas with bodily harm were made by Novi Councilman Louie Campbell at Monday's council session.

The implications came in the form of questions to the city manager while the council was discussing the legal ramifications of the work stoppage imposed on Kaufman and Broad Thursday afternoon.

That order was delivered and enforced at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. By 4 p.m. Athas' offices were filled with lawyers and several high-ranking officials from Kaufman and Broad's Michigan division. It was during this session that the threats were allegedly made.

Campbell approached the subject Monday by announcing he had heard reports that threats had been made during that meeting. He then asked Athas to tell the council how he had been treated.

Athas speaking softly, attempted to pass the situation over lightly, saying it had been "unpleasant" and that he would take care of the matter.

When Campbell persisted in his questioning, Mayor Joseph Crupi interceded. "When George (Athas) told me he was going to shut them down I warned him that he could face legal repercussions. You can shut down individual buildings, but you can't stop an overall development without subjecting yourself to damages. According to their figures, they lost $100,000 when we shut down Thursday," said Crupi.

Campbell refused to drop the matter, however, and finally asked the manager directly if he had been threatened with any personal bodily harm. A pause followed; the question with neither Athas or Crupi denying that threats had been made.

Finally, Crupi broke the silence, saying, "Lou, some things are better left unsaid."

Crupi went on to say that the situation had been a heated one and that he felt the threats made could be defended in court.

Pressed for details after the meeting, Campbell said that he did not wish to comment as his reports were second hand and that if threats were made the information should come first hand. "I was merely trying to find out tonight if what I had heard was true," he said.

Athas' only comments following the council session were that there had been much yelling and that the session had been "unpleasant."

For K&B Models

Novi Grants Request

A request from Kaufman and Broad to construct four sales models on their Buffmeyer Farms property was granted by a 4-3 margin by the Novi city council Monday.

Although similar requests are granted to other developers as a matter of course, it was obvious that the events of the past week in which Kaufman and Broad's Novi construction projects were temporarily shut down had created hard feelings between some of the council members and K&B.

Although the developer is ordinarily represented in such requests by one man, three K&B officials, including Michigan division president John Tedesco and director of Marketing Michael Moran, were present in the council chambers Monday night.

Almost as soon as the request was granted the three K&B representatives left, even though discussion of the agenda shortly thereafter. The departure prompted the angry retort of Councilman Louie Campbell who blasted Tedesco, saying, "I wish the president of that company would have seen fit to stay here and see what we had to say about the shut down instead of following his usual custom of leaving as soon as he gets what he wants."

The Buffmeyer Farms property is located in the northwest sector of the city, immediately south of Pontiac Trail and west of West Road. Although the site contains 109 acres, K&B is presently

Presnell Asks Investigation

Road Report Ires Council

A report issued by Councilman Donald Young has aroused the ire of other members of the Novi city council and led Councilman Edwin Presnell to charge that he will ask Mayor Joseph Crupi for a full investigation of Young's actions.

Young's report concerns the matter of road cost apportionment, specifically as it relates to the resurfacing of subdivision roads.

Prepared more than a month ago and since distributed to both councilmen and residents of Echo Valley subdivision, the report contends that "subdivision residents are getting the short end of the stick in the resurfacing program."

In essence, Young took the amount of Act 51 monies given annually to the city as its share of state gasoline taxes to be used for maintenance of local roads, divided that figure by the number of miles of local roads in Novi, and then, using figures submitted by D.P. W. Head Edward Kriewall, determined the difference between the first figure and what is actually spent to maintain subdivision roads.

His study revealed, Young said, "that 37 percent of the cost of resurfacing the subdivision roads would be available in the local road fund had it not been diverted to maintenance of other roads outside the subdivision during past years."

Consequently, Young concluded, the city owes subdivision residents considerably more than the proposed 20 percent financing and he would oppose any resurfacing program which does not call for at least 40 to 50 percent financing by the city.

Young's report was presented in conjunction with a public hearing held a week ago Wednesday to consider

Hold Forum For Candidates

Novi's Jaycees are sponsoring a "Meet Your Candidate's Night" program tonight, Thursday, August 3. The program gets underway at 8 p.m. in the Novi High School Auditorium at the corner of Taft and 11 Mile Roads.

Joseph Pochter, Jaycee chairman for the event, announced Monday that seven candidates for state and county offices had indicated they would be present for the program.

Those seven candidates are William Broomfield, candidate for the Republican nomination from the 19th United States Congressional district; William Kabzinski, Democratic candidate for the Michigan legislature from the 24th district; Sam Bailo and Cliff Smart, Republican candidates for the state legislature from the 24th district; Herbert Cooley, Republican candidate for Oakland County sheriff; Anthony Renne, Democratic candidate for Oakland County prosecutor; and Glen Betts, Republican candidate for Oakland County Commissioner.

Pochter said he expected other candidates to be present Thursday even though they had not responded by 4 p.m. Monday.

The program will consist of five-minute position statements from each candidate, followed by a question and answer period. After the formal meeting, the Jaycees will serve refreshments, and the candidates will be present for informal discussion.

herself to speak nothing but Flemish: even to people who spoke English.

"The life style is quite different. For one thing," she said, "the families are closer and the children are more tied to the apron strings. That took some getting used to."

She said she found school very difficult at first, mainly because she could not speak the language and it was much stricter than Cass Tech.

"Most of the schools over there are not co-ed. The one I went to was a girls Catholic school and was very strict. It was considered to be the strictest school in Antwerp," Wendy said.

She explained that the schools are very much for memorizing facts and that if a student fails one subject, he gets one more chance at the end of the summer to take the final exam. If he does not pass it, he must make up the whole year of school.

As for the social life among the young people, Wendy said in Belgium, "there is not the dating culture that there is in America." She explained that most of the teenagers go out in groups rather than as couples.

"The main social event is a party. For this," she said, "they rent a hall and there is a door charge. The main reason for the party is dancing so the music is very loud and it is even difficult to have a conversation."

When a boy and girl do get together alone for a date, they usually spend a quiet evening at home. Rather than going out, they spend it with parents.

"Also, going Dutch really means what it says," according to Wendy. "Over there, the girl almost always pays her own way."

Because her Belgian home was so close to the border, Wendy hiked into Holland one day. "Everyone over there hikes," she said, "maybe because it is such a beautiful place to be." She explained that next to walking, bicycling is the most popular form of transportation.

She said she found no American resentment while in Belgium. "The Belgian people are very considerate. They don't talk very openly and most of the people are older." In Wendy's opinion all of this stems from World War II.

Holidays like Christmas and Easter are not as commercial over there as in America. Wendy said they are more like religious holidays.

Christmas, she said, is usually a quiet family gathering and each member of the family gives one small gift to each of the other members. The children do hunt for eggs at Easter, but it is "far less commercial" than in the United States, Wendy said.

Wendy returned home on July 16 and said the adjustment to being back after a year was a big one.

"In New York, after I got off the plane, I made quite a few enemies because I didn't tip. In Europe, the tip included in the total cost automatically," she said.

Once with her American family again, Wendy had more adjustments. "My parents had moved to a new house while I was away. Also I couldn't get over how big the cars are here. Over in Europe, the streets are narrower and many of them are cobblestone so the cars are much smaller."

Of the differences between the Belgian and American life styles, Wendy said the one that impressed her most after her return home was the way people in America "always worry about how they look." She added that in Belgium there doesn't seem to be the desire for glamor there is in the United States. She calls seeing the difference "an eye-opener."

Right now, Wendy is working at the Adell Corporation and hopes to save enough money to attend either Brown University or the University of Michigan soon.

Does she want to go back to Belgium? "I sure do," she said. "My brother and sister from there are supposed to come here next summer and if they don't come, I want to go back there. I made some great friends I'll miss."

SUPER SANDBOX—It took 450 yards (that's 18 truck loads) of sand to fill the new 120-foot by 160-foot sandbox at Amerman Elementary. Part of the playground re-location program, the project was completed last week. New swings, donated by the PTA, also were installed in time for the year round school program being conducted at the school.

Northville Hires Seven Teachers

Contracts were approved for seven teachers Monday night by Northville school board members.

"With the signing of these contracts, the staff totals 170½ teachers, 10½ more than last year. One vacancy still exists," Superintendent Raymond Spear stated.

To date, a total of 26 teachers have been hired this year in Northville.

Among teachers receiving contracts Monday were Moraine Elementary, Louise Gillis, 1971 graduate of Eastern Michigan University (EMU) with a BS degree in elementary education, literature and social science; Barbara McCallum, 1972 graduate of EMU with a BS degree in art groups and English, Carol Van Soest, 1964 graduate of Western Michigan University with a BS in elementary education, music, social science and health; Dwight Sieggreen, 1967 graduate of Wayne State University with a BA in education and social science;

Cooke Middle School, Barbara Darnton, 1971 graduate of University of Michigan with a BA degree in English and fine arts, who will teach English;

Northville High, Susan Costello, 1969 graduate of Michigan State University with a BA in French and sociology, who will teach French; and Cynthia Rosenberg, 1972 graduate of University of Michigan with a MA in English and social studies, who will teach English half-time.

the resurfacing of the streets in the Echo Valley subdivision and was immediately attacked by several councilmen.

Most vocal of the opponents was Presnell. "I think you're taking something into your hands which you have absolutely no right to do," said Presnell. "You have no right to chastise this council with facts and figures which I don't know to be accurate or not."

Presnell then said he would ask Crupi for an investigation of Young's actions.

Further discussion of the report at the hearing was discouraged by Councilman Raymond Evans, who was chairing the meeting in the absence of Crupi and Mayor Pro-Tem Denis Berry.

When Young complained that the council has been guilty of passing over his reports, Evans promised that it would be put on the agenda for Monday's council meeting.

The topic was slated for discussion Monday but Crupi and Presnell asked that it be delayed once again so they could have an opportunity to more fully analyze the contents of Young's report.

Models

developing only 85 of them, reserving the remainder for future planning.

Site plan approval has already been granted for 188 duplexes - a total of 376 units. Specifically, K&B's request Monday was for permission to construct four sales models on the property. Led by Councilman Edwin Presnell, the council sought reasons for not granting the request.

"There are too many unanswered questions here, as far as I'm concerned," stated Presnell. "Our neck has been sticking out too long and if you aren't prepared to answer all our questions then I'm not prepared to let you build these models."

Presnell's comments were supported by Councilman Raymond Evans and Campbell.

After much discussion, Councilman Denis Berry moved and Councilman Donald Young seconded that the request be granted subject to two provisions: that a meets and bounds description be submitted and that engineers Johnson and Anderson confirm that the engineering for the model complex is in accordance with that of the rest of the first stage development.

The motion was passed by a 4-3 margin. Dissenting ballots were cast by Presnell, Evans, and Campbell, while Berry, Young, William O'Brien, and Mayor Joseph Crupi voted in favor of it.

The matter was slated for further discussion at the council's August 28 session and although Crupi attempted to stop further discussion at Monday's session, several councilmen, including Presnell and Louie Campbell, let it be known that they were strongly opposed to what Young had done.

Road Views

To the Editor:

I am having a great deal of difficulty fathoming Mr. A. Russell Button. Is he for or against Novi making progress? Is he for or against Novi attracting business and industry? Is he for or against saving the taxpayer money?

I am going to take a guess that he is well meaning and really has the city of Novi in his heart but let's examine his letter of July 20 part by part.

1. John Richter - it should not be the aim of any area's progress, to put someone on "welfare." But the city of Novi and its inhabitants is bigger than you and I as individuals. On Meadowbrook Rd, we seem to get along fine on 80 to 100 feet of frontage. Why does John Richter hang on to 164 feet?

2. A. Russell Button questions the wisdom of the Road Committee. Does he truly believe that a small group of variously-employed citizens sat down in dozens of meetings and chit-chatted about improving roads in Novi? If so, let me correct him now! Our wisdom was gathered in dozens of interviews with experts in the fields of city management, city financing, Road construction and any other area which could help to present a sound plan to eliminate mud and dust in Novi - People and publications who know a lot more about the subject than A. Russell Button or the Road committee.

3. Sealcoat - A. Russell Button says spend a $100,000 on Meadowbrook Rd. He advocates blowing Your money on a temporary surface. With the fantastic amount of traffic on Meadowbrook (and Taft) today as opposed to Beck Rd in the last 8 years, we would be right back in our present state next year and the money is gone. Then throw in inflation and the $14.00 a foot of today is at 18.00 a foot. And the longer we wait to build roads - good, permanent roads - the more it will cost you and I.

At the next meeting Aug 14, let's have the experts tell A. Russell Button how long it will be in ballpark figures before all "heavily traveled roads" are sealcoated. "As fast as act 51 and millage will allow," how much taxpayers money will have been spent in those "years" and how much the front foot assessment will be when we finally "talk about concrete?"

Meanwhile, we live in dust, mud, weed-grown, junk-infested roads, while the ostrich hides his head in the sealcoat - I mean sand!

I believe that every effort should be made to establish home rule government so that we might have every available tool to work with in an effort to solve the many problems confronting the county in its effort to service the citizens of the county. I have proposed the creation of a county level Industrial Development Commission and staff that would work to retain our existing and attract new industry and commerce to Wayne County without regard to municipal boundaries.

Age: 36, 42024 Sunnydale Land, Plymouth, Republican, University of Michigan (Chemical Engineering) 1956-1959, Labor Relations Representative, General Motors, Background in administrative operations (personnel and labor relations) and courses in government
1. I believe that the citizens of Wayne County should vote to establish a Charter Commission so that all citizens of the county who feel there is a need to streamline our county government will have a formal means to express their desires. The Charter Commission, by acting intelligently upon these ideas, would be able to draft a charter serving the needs of the county as a whole, upon which the voters may then voice their approval or disapproval without the establishment of a Charter Commission this opportunity will never exist

Nancie Blatt
Age 34, 19482 Parker, Livonia, Democratic, BA, MA in Education - University of Michigan, Active service in civic organizations working in areas under county jurisdiction
1. Changes should be made to streamline county functions to avoid duplication of efforts, and to simplify county government so that it would be easy to place responsibility for actions or in actions at this level

The change from a Board of Supervisors, (130 members) to the Board of Commissioners (26 members) was good but not enough - County needs One Head Executive in order to begin streamlining operations. Civil Service needs complete revamping. Several departments could be merged and modernized to cut down on expenses

Propositions

Proposition B TAX LIMITATION PROPOSITION

Shall the County of Wayne continue for five additional years from 1975 through 1979) the one mill approved by the voters in 1968 for five years from 1970 through 1974, the proceeds to be used to continue existing county services, including public health, recreation and safety services, maintain hospitalization for the medically indigent, help furnish medical care of the aged poor, help care for and train juveniles under county care, help provide treatment for the mentally ill and those suffering from tuberculosis?"

Explanation: This proposal has been placed on the ballot by action of the Board of Commissioners. It is a renewal of a 1 mill levy approved by voters in 1968. The present millage continues until Nov. 30, 1974, therefore, in fiscal 1975, this millage would expire. The issue is placed on the ballot at this time because there is an election general election scheduled until 1974. If approved, 1 mill would be levied for an additional 5 years (through 1979) and go into the General Revenue Account for operating expenses. At the present time, 1 mill produces approximately $12.5 million a year in revenue
This is just a renewal of a levy approved by the voters originally in 1964 and again in 1968. There would be no tax increase
2 Failure could have a disastrous effect two years hence on citizens of Wayne County because this would necessitate a setback in a budget already suffering from a shortage of money
3 If the voters do not approve this

Proposition C COUNTY HOME RULE

Shall the County of Wayne elect a charter commission for the purpose of framing and submitting to the electorate of the County a county home rule charter under the constitution and laws of Michigan?

Explanation: Charter Commission nominees are to be selected at the General Primary and subsequently elected in November, if there is a favorable vote on this issue. Their salaries and the expenses pertaining shall be borne by Wayne County. The charter which is written will conform to the requirements as stated in Public Act 293 and must be submitted to the voters for its adoption
Proponents say:
1 Wayne County would be able to elect a County Executive which is not possible at present. His authority, duties, and responsibilities would be

Proposition D METRO PARK PROPOSAL

Vote on Public Act No 145 which amends Act No 147 of the Public Act of 1939, creating the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority to declare the authority which currently levies 1/4 mill within the tax rate limitation of article IX, section 6 of the Michigan constitution to be a special charter entity to set the charter tax rate of the authority at 1/2 mill which shall be levied in addition to all other taxes and shall not be within the tax rate limitation as provided by said article IX, section 6, and to permit the authority to increase from its present 1/4 mill to 1/2 mill the millage which may be levied for the purpose of the authority.
SHALL THE ABOVE PUBLIC ACT BE APPROVED AND ADOPTED?
Explanation: The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority presently operates 9 parks in the 5 county area (Wayne, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw and Macomb). They are asking that the voters increase the present 1/4 mill which finances their parks to 1/2 mill, to be levied outside the 15 mill tax rate limitation upon the counties
Proponents say:
1 The Authority plans 4 new park areas (one each in Oakland, Washtenaw, Wayne and Macomb) and they plan to redevelop the recently leased Belle Isle.
2 The Authority feels it should double its land by 1990 because of increasing population
3 Park facilities for the most part (except for boat rental and food) are free
Opponents say:
1 Parks are being taken over by teenagers and huggers
2 Taxes are very high. This money can be better spent on schools or local parks
State Proposal A
Proposed Constitutional amendment to allow trial by a jury of less than 12 jurors in all prosecutions in all courts for misdemeanors punishable by imprisonment for not more than 1 year
This proposed amendment alters the provision of the present Constitution relative to the guarantee of a trial by jury in criminal prosecutions. The Constitution now permits juries of less than 12 members in criminal proceedings in courts not of record. The proposed amendment permits a trial by a jury of less than 12 members in any court if the offense is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than 1 year
SHALL THIS AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
Explanation: This proposed amendment to Article I, Section 20 of the Michigan Constitution was accepted by a 2-3 vote of both the Michigan Senate (June '72) and the House of Representatives (November 71)

Now it must be voted on by the people of Michigan at the August 8 election
The purpose of this Constitutional amendment is to clarify that District Courts in Michigan may have juries of less than 12 persons in misdemeanor cases (Misdemeanor cases are generally criminal prosecutions such as local ordinance and traffic violations in which convictions could result in a sentence of less than a year's imprisonment) If accepted by Michigan voters, it will be up to the Michigan Legislature to determine the number of jurors less than 12 that the District Courts may have Historically, misdemeanor cases in Michigan were tried before municipal courts or before Justices of the

In Novi

A 49-year old Farmington woman, Elizabeth Roseann Baron, was arrested on embezzlement charges by Novi police last week.

The arrest was made after John Hock, president of Polytherm Engineering Company on Haggerty Road and Mrs. Baron's employer for the past three years, reported irregularities in the company's records. Mrs. Baron was the company's bookkeeper.

After further investigation, Novi police proceeded to obtain a warrant from the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office charging Mrs. Baron with embezzlement.

After numerous attempts, which included a stake out of Mrs. Baron's Farmington apartment, police served the warrant and took the woman into custody in Detroit.

She was arraigned in 52nd District Court on the embezzlement charges. Her attorney waived examination and the case was bound over to circuit court. Mrs. Baron was released on $5,000 bond.

A post hole digger stolen from a residence at 1328 East Lake Drive July 13 was recovered by Novi police last week.

Police reported a 15-year old juvenile was arrested for larceny in the case. The post hole digger engine was being used on the juvenile's mini-bike, officers reported.

Anthony Krubelis, 27, of 1367 East Lake Drive was arrested on charges of careless use of firearms in an incident which occurred Sunday, July 23, in the early evening.

Krubelis pled guilty to the charges before 52nd District Court Judge Martin Boyle. Sentencing is slated for August 3.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—Various cuts of beef are sometimes sold under specialized rather than basic designations. Cuts such as California roast come from the chuck portion of the carcass; Denver steak is a rib cut; boneless strip steak is part of the loin; family steak is a round cut; London broil is flank steak and skirt steak fillet is a plate cut. Chatham Complete Food Centers have become the first Detroit-area markets to label meats by their basic and specialized names.

What's in a Name?

What do London broil and flank steak have in common?

Everything, according to Sam Feig, vice-president-director of meat merchandising for Chatham Complete Food Centers. In fact they are the same cut of meat under two different names.

To help clear up consumer confusion over meat cut designations, Chatham has introduced a new meat labeling procedure. Labels on packaged meats will list the cut both under its special and its basic designation.

According to Mr. Feig, "It has become the common practice to apply more glamorous names to standard meat cuts. At some chains, the fancy names have been offered at higher prices. By informing our customers exactly what they are getting, we feel we are simplifying their shopping. In addition, our prices will continue to be based on the standard meat cut, not on a fancy name."

Chatham operates 34 complete family food centers in the Detroit Metropolitan area, including one in Northville.

Northville Girls Lose to Plymouth

The Baronesses, Northville's entry in the Class E, Plymouth-Northville Girls "E" League, made a valiant effort, but still dropped a hard-fought 7-6 decision to league-leading Keim Realty of Plymouth last week.

Coached by Luanne Gilbert, the Baronesses have an 8-3 record with one game remaining to be played. The 8-3 record assures them of second place in the seven-team league.

Keim opened the scoring in their game with three runs in the third inning. They added a fourth run in the following frame, but Northville tied it up with a four run surge in the bottom of the fourth.

Plymouth clinched the victory with three runs in the sixth. The Baronesses rallied for two in the bottom of the sixth, but were unable to get the tying run.

Denise MacDermaid and Kim Bingley each had two hits to pace the Northville attack

What is Chippendale furniture? There were three cabinet makers named Chippendale: Thomas, his son and his grandson. They designed and made all kinds of furniture in a great variety of designs. At first their furniture was heavy in scale, but gradually it became lighter. Their favorite material was mahogany. He often designed whole interiors, the elder Thomas, which were very elegant using rich fabrics with soft but definite colors—yellows, green-grays, and sometimes lacquer red.

Whole interiors can be designed with the help of the decorating service at SCHRADER'S HOME FURNISHINGS, INC., 111 N. Center St., Northville, 349-1838 or 825 Penniman, Plymouth, 453-8220. We have Colonial, Traditional, Mediterranean and Modern furniture by nationally known companies. Although each store is in the heart of the towns of Northville and Plymouth there is plenty of parking behind each one.

Heatwave Felt All The Way to Netherlands

By NANCY DINGELDEY back reached across the oceans and made life miserable there too. For example, a little blurb in a daily newspaper stated that close to 100,000 chickens perished in Eindhoven, The Netherlands, because the heat in the chicken coops reached "broiling" temperatures. The only reason I noticed the little goodie is because I had just finished a column mentioning our "peddling foursome" and the fact that they had reached Eindhoven.

Now reports have reached me from returning visitors to other parts of Europe and they too remarked that temperatures had reached all time highs. So we weren't exactly all alone.

A chartered plane departed about a month ago carrying several Wixomites to Helsinki, Finland. Included in the group were Helen Rentola, Marian and Ken Lehman, and George Weeks. On arrival in Finland, the group scattered and went their separate ways, meeting again only for the return flight.

Helen added an eight day stay in Majorca, Spain, to her trip. From what she told me, there's quite a difference between Spain and Finland. Cleanliness is the byword in Finland and most visitors there will tell you there just isn't any litter lying around in the streets or countryside. Spain was the opposite and Helen also found the food a bit disagreeable to her taste. Back in Suomi-land, it was visiting with friends and relatives and having a perfectly lovely time.

For Marian and Ken, their arrival in Helsinki meant a five day stay before renting a car and covering the countryside. While in Helsinki, they visited with their exchange student of nine years ago and enjoyed a family party. Marian met five more cousins than she thought she had.

The heat wave hit Finland during their stay, and since the Finns hadn't experienced such heat since 1927, they just weren't prepared for it. They don't need fans or air conditioning in that part of the world. Marian said the temperatures ranged from 85 to 90 degrees and were tolerable. But for a poor Finn who is used to a high temperature in the summertime ranging from 60-70 degrees, it was hot!

"The Land of the Midnight Sun" is no farfetched notion and the only serious adjustment the Lehman's had to make was getting used to sleeping when the sun was out. During the summer season, which is at its height in June and July, the sun is up about 22 hours a day. Marian said sunset was between 9:30 and 11 p.m. Dusk occurred around midnight with sunrise around 2:30 a.m. It was unusual and fascinating.

Their travels also took them to Lapland and the Arctic Circle. I envision the Arctic Circle as glaciers, snow and cold. What was it really like? Hot—the same as Helsinki and a great big sign in four languages stating "you have just crossed the Arctic Circle." The reindeers and their offspring were also suffering from the heat. The mosquitoes were "awful" and the cause of death in many of the babies was attributed to inhaling mosquitos. Sounds horrible! Their travels also took them into Sweden, completed by a four hour boat trip back into Finland.

What were the Lehman's impressions of Finland? A beautiful country with many lakes (unfortunately, even some of theirs are polluted), lots of trees, and again the comment on the cleanliness. Streets throughout the country are hosed down almost everyday, according to Marian, and there isn't a trace of litter to be found anywhere. I wonder how they do it. The people are extremely courteous and all visitors are made to feel welcomed. The food was excellent and served beautifully. The menus are usually printed in Finn, Swedish and English and include a full range to satisfy any taste. "We loved every minute we were gone. The time went by so fast, but it's also nice to get home."

Meanwhile, back in the States, we find the Wahamaki's back from a two week visit to the Kentucky Lakes region of the Blue Grass State. Ollie and Jane, with beautiful new boat in tow, spent two weeks cruising the lakes, fishing, and relaxing.

Kentucky Lake was formed several years back by damming up a river and the newer addition was created the same way. Barkley Lake, in its creation, flooded seven towns and one prison. The piece of land separating the two lakes is known as "Land Between the Lakes" (that makes sense) and is an excellent area for camping and even includes a model farm, and "water all over the place"

The state runs several lodges surrounding the area which is "really gorgeous and covered with woods and a great place for swimming and fishing." According to Jane, the state lodges are really quite fabulous. They stayed at the Rough River Dam Lodge and the Kentucky Dam Lodge. There are no commercial establishments along the waters edge. Bear this in mind. Jane and Ollie had taken a forty mile cruise expecting a marina along the way as a stopping point for lunch. In order to get lunch, they had to travel the forty miles back to the lodge.

And for you antique buffs, the Wahamaki's stumbled onto just the place that many of you are looking for. Shelbyville, Kentucky, is the place to go. One building was condemned in 1929 and the business is just moving out. Progress is being made!

At any rate, Jane spied an old looking red brick building with fence all around with deserved a little investigating. It turned out to be filled with antiques from all over the world and a restaurant to boot. One hundred and eighty years ago it was an outstanding girls' finishing school and has been in continuous operation, both as the school and antiques delight.

Jane said the restaurant offered a limited menu but included many courses, complete with tried and true Kentucky dishes. And even though the Wahamaki's are not antiquers, they said the buildings encompassing the "campus" are just loaded with antiques and it would be a virtual paradise for those interested. Can't help you out as far as "bargains" go but it sounds like a great place to investigate

Summer library at Wixom Elementary will conclude with the session on August 9 Dorothy Thompson will be on hand for story hour and to check in all outstanding books. If your child has checked out any books during the summer library weeks, please be sure they are returned next Wednesday, August 9.

SOMEONE WHO CAN STOP THE BUSING MADNESS

MARV STEMPIEN, like other parents, wants the best education possible for his children. And, like other parents, he knows that cross-district BUSING will not give any child a better education... as numerous studies have shown.

MARV STEMPIEN has opposed the forced busing of students solely to achieve racial balance for the last three years in the State Legislature. Opposed busing because children should go to school in their own area. Opposed busing because our limited revenues should be spent on improving educational facilities and faculty, and not on the mere transportation of students.

MARV STEMPIEN, because he cares, supports vigorous Congressional measures which would remove the jurisdiction of the Federal District Courts on busing, supports reform of education spending that will guarantee an equal share of our tax dollar to every school child, supports measures which would spend money to improve the education of all students and their schools and not on more buses and supports the principal of ending CROSS-DISTRICT BUSING BY IMMEDIATE CONGRESSIONAL ACTION!

College Sets Classes

The class in National Electric Code (RI-220) will be given on Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. Students taking these classes will attend just one session weekly, and enrollment is open to others than apprentices and trainees.

The new course covers theory in both refrigeration and air conditioning systems. Operational trouble shooting will be analyzed, and realistic problems described and resolved. Concepts of refrigerant, refrigeration controls, air volumes, humidity and electrical components of the systems will be defined and related to specific installations. A field trip may be arranged, and the RI-377 textbook will be used

Supervisors who intend to enroll employees in these and any of the Related Instruction classes are requested to contact Monfette by August 14. He can notify employees concerning specific information about enrollment. Monfette may be reached at the College at 591-6400, Ext. 305.

The director reports that space is still available for 10-12 students in each of the maintenance classes. He encourages those planning to participate to act as early as possible to take advantage of these courses.

It is one of the miracles of modern technology that natural gas can now be made.

And Consumers Power is preparing to make natural gas to help meet the growing demands of more than 880,000 customers in Michigan. Although we continue to find new underground sources of natural gas, we also are building a gas reforming plant near Marysville in St. Clair County, like the scale model shown above.

Using a unique process to change liquid hydrocarbons into natural gas, the Marysville Plant will start operation in 1973. By 1974, we expect the plant's output to reach 210 million cubic feet of gas a day, increasing Consumers Power Company's gas supply by more than 20 percent.

By manufacturing supplementary gas, and prospecting for new gas reserves underground, Consumers Power is bending every effort to meet Michigan's need for clean-burning, dependable natural gas.

You Can Help U-Kan

U-Kan could use some help! The new crisis intervention center, sponsored by the Council for Community Concerns and located at the fish hatchery building on Seven Mile road, doesn't have enough money, help, materials, and furniture to complete remodeling required at the temporary location. Needed are building materials, some labor (particularly an electrician), desks, chairs, sofa, etc. Some money would help, too, as the group was given but $200 for work to restore the building interior.

Anyone wishing to help may contact the center at 349-1640 evenings, or call the CC's headquarters in Plymouth, "Our House", at 455-4900.

SOMEONE WHO CAN BE YOUR SPOKESMAN FOR CHANGE IN WASHINGTON

MARV STEMPIEN is concerned about American policies which spend billions on a senseless war and military weapons while our cities, our impoverished citizens and our schools go wanting. MARV STEMPIEN wants to change the order of priorities of government spending which allocates over $200,000 to kill each Vietnam soldier, while spending an average of $44 per year on the education of an elementary school child.

MARV STEMPIEN, because he cares, supports every serious effort to finally end the Vietnam War now, to assure that our POW's and MIA's are safely returned and supports the redirecting of the money which will be saved into programs of National Health Insurance which will provide better health care at a cost that everyone could afford, programs of revenue sharing to help our cities, and programs of educational improvement to aid our community's schools.

MARV STEMPIEN, who believes that the needs of our own citizens are paramount and that our own house should first be put in order before we ship billions of tax dollars overseas, demands that now is the time to BRING AMERICANS BACK TO AMERICA AND TO BRING AMERICAN DOLLARS BACK TO AMERICA.

Home Features Antiques, Crafts

A collection of Shaker furniture, early American samplers, antique clocks and many other objects throughout their home, gives the impression that Mr. and Mrs. John Teeter enjoy the way things were made in the past.

The impression is not deceiving. "We enjoy hand-crafted things," Mrs. Teeter said, "and the old things were made so well. People who see our home now, can't believe it. Three years ago, we used to have everything ultra-modern."

Their house will be one of five opened to the public in September for the sixth annual Homes Tour sponsored by Northville Presbyterian Church.

This will be the second time in four years the red farmhouse will be part of the tour. In 1968, when the house was owned by Mrs. Kate Edgerton, the public was invited inside. Actually, it was because of Mrs. Edgerton the Teeters became interested in the house.

Mrs. Edgerton taught Mrs. Teeter to weave and Mr. Teeter pottery. When Mrs. Edgerton moved from Northville, the Teeters purchased the house from her. "It is a perfect atmosphere for his pottery, my weaving and our antiques," said Mrs. Teeter.

The first clue to the Teeters' love of antiques is the front door. They have removed the original window and replaced it with a pane of antique colored glass.

Once inside, the most predominant of the Teeter collections is the clocks. There are 17 of them through the house. All are in working order and set for the correct time. Sixteen are American and one is a Vienna regulator.

Actually, it was clocks that spurred the interest in antiques in the Teeter home. They bought one clock because they liked the way it sounded and this gave way to Teeter teaching himself to repair clocks.

In the living room, beside the book shelves, stands what Mrs. Teeter calls the "pride and joy" of their clocks. It is an eight foot tall grandfather clock made of painted pine with wooden works. They estimate it was built between 1811 and 1825.

A Shaker rocker, one of three in the house, is just to the right of the clock. Also in the living room is a desk and straight back chair made by the Shakers.

On the north wall there is a clock made around 1840. The dial has been removed to expose the wooden works inside.

Beneath the clock is a blanket chest from the early 1800's which the Teeters purchased because they liked the way it was painted to resemble wood grain. In the chest, Mrs. Teeter keeps her collection of three coverlets and two bed linens, some dating back to the early 1800's.

One of the newest acquisitions in the room is an upright piano dated 1902. It has been painted black and Mrs. Teeter said they plan to refinish it.

What is probably the most predominant piece in the living room is the iron stove near the east wall, which was put into the room by Mrs. Edgerton.

Mrs. Teeter's sampler collection hangs on the south wall of the living room. One, a darning sampler from the late 1700's is considered by collectors to be very rare.

In one of the two small rooms off the living room is another of the Teeters' Shaker rocking chairs. "We keep it in there," said Mrs. Teeter,

"and bring it out when we need it for company." Another feature of this room, which they refer to as the dressing room, is the Victorian mirror which hangs over the bureau.

The combination studio and master bedroom, just off the living room, is a large room in which Mrs. Edgerton taught pottery classes. Here, Mrs. Teeter keeps her floor loom and the three table looms she has. One of these is a Shaker loom. "I'm very proud of it. It needs to be repaired, and I am going to have it fixed," she said.

At the entrance to the studio are shelves and showcases displaying many of Teeter's ceramic pieces.

Mrs. Teeter keeps her weaving supplies in a cupboard made in the late 1800's. On top of that cupboard is a Shaker seed box. "The Shakers," Mrs. Teeter explained, "were the first people to package seeds and sell them." The labels for the various kinds of seeds are still legible on the box.

A yarn winder which sits at the foot of the bed is a product of the first Shaker settlement in America and was made around 1800.

Third of the Shaker rocking chairs is in the kitchen. The jars and canisters on the kitchen counter top carry through the theme of the Teeter interest in antiques

Many of them were found in antique shops.

Like Mrs. Edgerton, Mrs. Teeter does her own baking. The island of cupboards in the kitchen, designed by Mrs. Edgerton for that purpose, still stands in the middle of the room.

For family dining, there is a drop leaf cherry wood table which dates back to 1840.

Even the stairway to the basement reminds visitors of the Teeters' interest in the Shaker people. The rust colored trim on the woodwork is called saffron and is what Mrs. Teeter called "a Shaker color."

Above the stairway on a shelf is a display of old cans and bottles.

A sample of Mrs. Teeter's crewel work hangs on the stairway wall. The piece is a reproduction of a Shaker spiritual painting called the tree of life.

The room downstairs in which Mrs. Edgerton taught weaving classes has been converted into a bedroom for the Teeter's daughters Sandy, 15, and Vikki, 11.

The canopy beds are not antiques, but the treadle sewing machine and school clock in the spacious room are a couple of the Teeters antique finds.

Teeter and his daughter Vikki have a collection of their own. Throughout the house are four aquariums filled with such interesting creatures as angel fish, glass fish and neons.

The red farmhouse may have changed from the first time it was opened for the Homes Tour four years ago, but according to tour chairman Mrs. Kenneth Dodds, the house should be just as interesting to individuals taking the tour now as it was then.

Four Star At Metro

Four Northville youngsters came home with trophies from the 15th Annual Detroit Metropolitan Area Youth Fitness Meet held last week at Metropolitan Beach.

More than 50 communities sent teams to the meet.

Winning trophies were Bob Heckerl, Ray Coram, Liz Pixley, and Janis Jones, who combined to take second place in the Class C (10-11 year olds) shuttle relay. Mount Clemens won the events, while Detroit South came in third.

Although the Class C shuttle relay team was the only Northville team to finish in the top three, Coach Ralph Redmond also lauded the work of the Class A (14-15 year olds) shuttle relay team of Bob Bloomhuff, Dennis Keegan, Denise MacDermaid, and Eve Williams and the Class B (12-13 year olds) shuttle relay team of Dave Dugud, Dave Spence, Barbara Jones, and Kirsten Williams.

Our View of Issues and Candidates

By BILL SLIGER

The business of picking candidates is not calculated to win many friends, but it is regarded by this newspaper as one of its important responsibilities.

And our choices for next week's primary election appear elsewhere on this page.

In particular, I should like to urge all township voters to give serious attention to the matter of nominating candidates for the township board of trustees.

I believe this election has an important bearing on the future welfare of the township; and I believe voters have the right to know what qualifies this newspaper to make its choices and where it stands on the issues facing the township.

Our staff members attend every meeting of local governments. We have interviewed, known or observed the performance of every candidate facing opposition in this primary with the exception of one who declined to be interviewed.

We have published their statements as made to both the League of Women Voters and to this newspaper.

It is our business to follow local government closely, and we do it with dedicated interest.

Just like our readers, we live in this community and we are concerned about its welfare.

Obviously, we have our prejudices. Although there are those who might argue with the claim, we are human.

But we regard all candidates as examples of good citizenship, people willing to contribute and become involved in their local government.

So we try, as best we can, to eliminate personalities and stick to objectives. Which candidates would do the best job for the township taxpayer?

Editorials... a page for expressions ...yours and ours

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD-NOVI NEWS

Thursday, August 3, 1972

We make our choices against this background of convictions:

1—That board members will have nothing to say about unification with the city; this decision should, and most certainly will, be finally determined by an election;

2—That the township does not need a new township hall; that petitions should be circulated to put this question to a public vote as soon as possible—which is within 30 days following publication of the articles of incorporation for the Building Authority, a legal body formed by the township board which gives it the authority to levy a tax without a vote to build a $500,000 complex for offices, fire station and police department;

3—That a new fire station should be constructed in the southeast portion of the township to expand fire protection;

4—That fire protection, not police, is the most essential service for the board's priority; that this is illustrated in neighboring Plymouth township with three times the tax base and twice as many people and where there is no local police department, but an excellent fire department with a rescue squad;

5—That additional state police protection throughout the area is available without cost and should be promoted;

6—That if the city and township should decide to unify, there is ample space in the present city hall for combined city-township offices; all that is needed is to move the library out of the city hall into the building next door where township offices are now located, as has already been proposed by the library commission after studying the need for more library space; this obvious, business-like approach would save taxpayers thousands of dollars in building costs for both a township hall and a new library by making maximum use of existing facilities and extending the usefulness of the city hall for decades;

7—That unification of our two governments offers the best opportunity for lower taxes to all citizens of the community; that townships providing their own services and physical facilities pay high taxes—example:

Bloomfield township, 9.32 mills plus 1.30 mills for library; Redford township (with a large industrial tax base to help defray cost to homeowners) 6.78 mills;

that studies now show a combined Northville city-township government offering the same services for the total community that now exist in the city would require a tax rate of about five mills;

8—That if unification does not happen now, or even in the near future, the township government would fare better by continuing to make use of present, low-rent, conveniently-located offices and seek to expand services through cooperative contracts with the city;

9—That those township board members who oppose contracting with the city for services and prefer to create their own police and fire departments, build their facilities, are leading the township down a path of high taxes in their zest to build an empire; if joint fire services are severed with the city, the township faces an immediate need for fire stations in both the east and west portions of the township.

Personally, I shall vote for township candidates Tuesday who I believe will consider all these alternatives before plunging the township into a commitment of deep debt.

Five of the seven seats on the Northville township board are up for grabs and at the very least there will be three new faces, perhaps as many as five, when the new board is elected in November.

In Tuesday's primary there are Republican races for supervisor, clerk, treasurer and trustee.

The Democratic slate offers unopposed candidates for supervisor and clerk, and three candidates for two trustee positions.

Only Trustees Leonard Klein and Charles Scaeffler are not up for election. Their four-year terms expire in two years.

Wright for Supervisor

Starting on the Republican side, where competition is thickest, the two candidates for supervisor are Arthur Jahn and Lawrence Wright.

Frankly, neither appear to possess the background of information on local affairs that would be desirable for one who intends to take over the leadership of the township board.

But both have been successful businessmen. So, presumably, they can learn fast and move cautiously enough to keep their mistakes to a minimum.

I'll vote for Wright—mostly because I won't vote for Jahn.

It's more than just an impression that leads me to believe that Jahn suspects wrong-doing in local government, that he believes favors are distributed to the favored, that he thinks his own appeals before the township have received more consideration since he has filed for office.

While this column has carried its share of criticism of townships officials, I cannot subscribe to the above philosophy and I'm immediately suspicious of those who do.

It troubles me that Jahn has a history of difficulties with the township over landfill operations adjoining his business, that he recently made application for a liquor license for a proposed restaurant, and that he chooses this time to run for the township board.

It may not constitute a conflict of interest, but it's the feather that tipped the scales in favor of Wright for supervisor as far as I'm concerned.

Tellam for Clerk

My vote for clerk goes to Fay Tellam.

She may have a tough time winning the post as an outsider trying to upset the township hall choice, but she's a determined young lady with a history of active participation in community affairs.

Her opponent is an equally fine young lady. But I believe that Mrs. Tellam will bring a fresh voice to the board that is uncommitted and without obligation to any special interest, inside or outside of township hall.

Straub for Treasurer

There's no shortage of talent in the Republican race for treasurer.

A certified public accountant, a bank executive and an industrialist, now serving as a management consultant, challenge the incumbent.

I heartily endorse the latter, Incumbent Treasurer Joseph Straub.

It would be foolhardy to compare qualifications of these candidates. Undoubtedly, they are all outstanding.

But Straub has proven himself to be a conscientious, most able treasurer. He has worked at the job fulltime and he has brought order and accuracy to the treasurer's department that has earned the praise of his peers.

More important, Straub has maintained objectivity and a sense of fairness in his performance as a voting member of the board that deserves recognition.

I do not always agree with his position; and at times he permits his German temper to display itself. (But I find it easy to sympathize with this characteristic).

Nevertheless, Straub is forthright and honest. And these qualities are refreshing and invaluable to any board.

Joe Straub deserves to be returned to office as treasurer of Northville township.

County, State, National

Here's Our Choices

For Parks . . .

Of the propositions that will appear on Tuesday's primary ballot, none in this newspaper's opinion is more deserving of support than that dealing with a millage increase for regional parks.

The increase requested—from one-quarter mill to one-half mill—isn't a substantial one but it nevertheless is important if the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority is to carry out its proposed park expansion program to meet increasing demands of a growing population.

Since its inception in 1941 the Authority has produced one of the nation's finest park systems...a park system in which all taxpayers may be justifiably proud and content that their tax dollars have been well spent.

The thousands of residents in this area who regularly use the Authority's parks, especially nearby Kensington Metropolitan Park, are well aware of their phenomenal success in providing fine recreational activities and relaxation for young and old from throughout the metropolitan area.

The Authority, in short, has proved to us its proposed expansions are necessary and desirable. We urge support of this tax increase.

For Amendment . . .

Voters should have no hesitancy in approving the proposed constitutional amendment appearing on Tuesday's primary ballot. The amendment would permit a trial by a jury of less than 12 members for misdemeanor cases.

More of a constitutional clarification than a change, the proposed amendment does nothing harm the defendant nor does it endanger the judicial system itself. Rather, it makes for speedier justice.

For Charter Commission . . .

Restructuring of Wayne County government is, we think, long overdue, and the proposed charter commission may come up with the instrument to accomplish needed changes.

The proposal on Tuesday's ballot provides for establishment of a charter commission and it also provides candidates to serve on the commission should it be approved.

A "yes" vote does not mean approval of a home-rule charter. Rather, it merely permits a charter proposal to be drawn up for submission to voters for approval or disapproval at a later date.

Thus, if recommendation of the proposed commission proves unsatisfactory, voters still will have the opportunity to defeat it at the polls. But to deny, out of hand, the opportunity to suggest methods of streamlining of county government would, in our opinion, be most unfortunate.

Against Millage . . .

While we recognize that financing of Wayne County government operations is dependent a good deal upon this millage, its extension for an additional five years is, in our judgment, premature.

The present 1-mill levy does not expire for another two years. If the 1-mill proposal on Tuesday's ballot is approved the millage will not go into effect until the present millage expires.

We see ample opportunity during this two year period to put the matter to a vote of the people—at a special election if necessary. Meanwhile, it is possible that state or federal revenues, such as revenue sharing, may make a difference in needed county monies.

For Geake . . .

R. Robert Geake is, in our opinion, more politically astute with better credentials for state office than his Republican opponent, George Kettunen, in the 35th State Representative District.

While we have not always agreed with some of his conservative positions as a member of the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees, he nevertheless has demonstrated to us his leadership abilities. That he lives in Northville and hence may be more easily accessible for Northville residents, is admittedly a plus in his favor.

For Miller . . .

Marie Miller, we believe, is better qualified and has a better grasp of the financial problems of the state than does her Democratic opponent, Jerome Harris whom we see as suggesting stop-gap measures rather than major overhaul to solve these problems.

For Smart . . .

Because Representative Clifford Smart has served in the legislature since 1964, it is not surprising that in those years he has generated some disgruntled voters and political adversaries. Nevertheless, in this newspaper's judgment his overall performance has been excellent even though, we, too, sometimes have been impatient with him.

Clifford Smart not only is far better qualified than his opponents but he also holds the respect of his legislative colleagues on both sides of the political aisle and, like it or not, the lawmaker without that respect is just another unheard voice.

Speaking for Myself

Open Spouses Private Mail?

YES . . .

There will be those, I am sure, who will call me naive, but for the life of me I can think of no logical objections to allowing one's spouse to open one's mail.

All mail is divided into four parts: personal mail, bills, periodicals, and that which is commonly and aptly termed "junk" mail.

Certainly no one can object to having his spouse browse through his periodicals, even if they include Playboy; and for one's spouse to save him the trouble of having to throw away the "junk" mail is a downright service.

And unless one is married to some type of mental incompetent, what possible objection could there be to having one's wife sort through and pay the bills. After all, many men hire secretaries, bookkeepers, and accountants to perform the same service.

The only area then left for objections to letting one's spouse open his mail would be in the category of personal mail.

I strongly suspect that Peterson, chauvinist that he is, will come up with some type of "a man must be king of his castle" reason for enforcing a "laissez-faire" policy in his home.

Discarding that argument as "old fashioned" and "silly," what other argument for such a policy could possibly exist? None!

Surely in the marriage relationship where loyalty, trust, truthfulness, and openness are paramount, who could possibly deny his wife the right to open his mail?

I can only add these words of wisdom, "He who has nothing to hide, has nothing to fear."

Phil Jerome The Northville Record

ROLLY PETERSON

NO . . .

Call me reactionary Rol, or the man from the dark ages, but frankly I'm dead set against opening my wife's mail. And I would expect her to abide by the same commandment, "Never open thy spouse's mail."

It is a throwback to my upbringing. I was taught not to take things that belong to other people. And letters clearly fall into this category.

If a letter comes to the house addressed to my wife, I figure there's a reason why she, alone, appears on the outside of the envelope. The person who sent it meant it for her.

If she wishes to read it to me, that's her business. But sharing of the information contained in the letter is her prerogative.

If it's addressed to Mr. and Mrs., then either of us can open it. And if it's for me alone, then I appreciate it when my wife hands me the unopened letter when I get home.

Bills and handbills are exceptions. My wife is encouraged to open them. She can stand the shock better than I.

The argument against this clear demarcation is "In a marriage, all secrets should be shared. The only reason one would abide by a no-opening commandment is because the spouse had something to hide."

On the contrary. In no instance that I can recall have I withheld from my wife any information in a letter. It's simply a matter of manners and courtesy and respect for other people's property.

Of course, there are those who are running scared of being called male chauvinist pigs.

MacDonald, Nowka for Trustees

The Republican race for nomination of two trustee candidates pits a field of four including the incumbent, Richard Mitchell.

Two of the candidates are outstanding.

They are John MacDonald, an attorney, and James Nowka, a member of the township planning commission.

Relatively speaking, MacDonald, as a three-year resident of the township, is a newcomer. But he brings a wealth of experience in local government as a practicing attorney working with planning commissions, zoning boards and school boards.

He's well informed, articulate and intently interested in community affairs.

MacDonald would be a most valuable addition to the township board of trustees.

Anyone who has ever attended a public hearing relative to multiple dwellings or density of building in Northville township knows where Jim Nowka stands.

He's been an active advocate of maintaining the natural attractiveness of Northville township and a strong supporter of the master plan and its provisions for the future.

A resident of the southeast portion of the township, Nowka is also acutely aware of the need for more fire protection in that area. He has strongly defended the able township consultants and their work in the areas of planning and zoning.

Nowka and MacDonald would improve the Northville township board.

Because I do not believe it is necessary to be anti-city to be pro-township, I cannot vote for Incumbent Trustee Mitchell.

His consistent opposition to any form of community cooperation goes beyond reason.

When Treasurer Straub recently proposed that community senior citizens could benefit from a jointly-planned and federally-financed housing complex, which would be located in the city within convenient walking distance of shopping, Mitchell objected on the basis that it would deprive the senior citizens of participating in township government.

That's reaching a long way to find an excuse for duplication of costs.

Guido, Curran for Trustees

In the lone race for trustee on the Democratic ticket voters will find able representatives in Eugene Guido and young Thomas Curran.

Guido has been as active in township affairs as a Democrat can get. He's attended many board meetings and served on numerous study committees. He's been helpful to the township on several occasions in his capacity as county civil defense coordinator.

Curran's a newcomer living in Highland Lakes. He's eager to become involved and has a degree in political science.

One of his announced projects is to encourage voter registrations in the new Highland Lakes area.

We like his enthusiasm and welcome his talents to the community.

Our Choices

For Stempien . . .

This newspaper looks at the Second Congressional primary race with mixed emotions: We are happy to extend our support to Representative Marvin Stempien in his bid for the Democratic nomination, but looking ahead to the November election we see a tough job in picking between him and the Incumbent Republican Congressman Marvin Esch.

Nevertheless, the primary is that time in which voters must pick the best political nominees. And in that respect, we feel confident that none of the competing Democrats is more qualified nor better motivated than Stempien. We think he would make an excellent congressman.

For Broomfield . . .

In what is probably the toughest congressional battle in Michigan, two Republican congressmen, William Broomfield and Jack McDonald are pitted against each other for the GOP nod in the reapportioned 19th Congressional District.

Although Jack McDonald has represented this area in most recent years, we are quite familiar with his opponent who served the area prior to McDonald. Picking between these two moderates of similar political philosophies will be no easy task for voters who know and respect both.

Just as the choice will be difficult for voters, so, too, it was difficult for staff member of our newspapers to reach a consensus in giving their support to William Broomfield. His greater experience, together with what we see as a more genuine interest in his constituency, barely tipped the scales in his favor.

Readers Speak

Annexation View

To the Editor:

In response to the Letter to the Editor submitted by the Niedfeldt's of Timberlane in Northville regarding annexation, may I say "I can't believe the whole thing." Really, I am not trying to be funny but I feel that a running account has been published in the Northville Record of all of the activities of One Northville as well as schedules of its meetings, time, place, the whole ball of wax with editorial comments as well, and then to read the Niedfeldt's letter about anything relating to secrecy is to say the least "FANTASTIC".

Responding to your points by starting with 1, no one ever knows of an initiatory petition being circulated by anyone other than the circulator and those solicited to sign. It was to our advantage that once we had an excess of sufficient signatures to take them to Lansing the very next day. Why wait? The pro-annexation group, now known as "One Northville," has been in operation since the petitions were circulated. The original committee that discussed unification by both annexation and consolidation at length, was the current four (4) officers of One Northville plus four (4) current members of the organization. Since we have registered One Northville with Wayne County, we are certainly not operating in secrecy notwithstanding the many items published by the Northville Record relating to same.

The officers, for your information, are: John Canterbury, Vice-Chairman, Richard Ambler, Recording Secretary, Wilson Tyler, Treasurer and myself as Chairman, this already published by the Record.

(2) The exact wording of the petition is available at our regular meetings for your perusal. Rest assured they are legally correct and in order.

(3) Unification is simply methods by which two things are put together. The only methods under which two communities may be put together are either by consolidation or annexation, therefore, the term unification is merely descriptive.

(4) I think the names, addresses, types of business engaged in, and the position or title of petition circulators is the business of the petition circulators. What your question has to do with circulation of petition involving the circulators as concerned citizens and taxpayers escapes me.

(5) Mr. Parisi is paid as an employee and representative of the Michigan Township Association, therefore he is fully paid for the job he did here in Northville. At this point, the township has not come forth with a speaker to present city governments advantages and have recently defeated any effort to reimburse such a speaker.

(6) This one really is patently a degrading of your own humble opinion because there can possibly be no taxation without representation since no one, and in particular One Northville, is proposing as you suggest. Again you lose me because your statement makes no sense at all, one Tea Party was enough.

(7) We have suggested that taxes for all, including, naturally, business and residence alike, will be less than if we go our separate ways. That is a simple statement and the facts, if you care to take the time to look at them without propaganda or emotion involved, you must also come to that same conclusion.

(8) I am sorry of your disappointment, however, may I never feel that I vote for government officials supporting a form of government whatever that form may be, particularly with built in obsolescence. I would hope to vote for candidates that would structure and restructure and improve and reimprove to my satisfaction as a taxpayer and always to the efficiency and economy of better government on my behalf.

You are in a fast growing urban area and township type government without the professionalization that is needed and with the bare minimum of facilities such as Northville Township has, simply will not be able to economically cope with furnishing us as citizens and taxpayers the greatest value for our tax dollars. Northville Township obviously, if you really care to look and be honest, must start from scratch with building a full police department, fire department, Department of Public Works and administrative forces, buildings, equipment, everything.

Isn't it obvious that we should know these services are needed now and realize our capital expenditures will be fantastic? We will have to be asked for a levy of some kind, be it millage or otherwise, to come up with revenue to pay for the capital expenditures as well as, and most importantly, operating costs. Our taxes will well exceed what two can do together as opposed to duplication and confusion by a separate township entity.

(9) And in closing with number 9, please feel free to attend any of our One Northville Committee meetings which most likely will be published as usual in the Record and if you feel that we are well "oiled" or "heeled" with our very weak treasury, then so be it, but please we do not want to roll over anyone as you put it. We would like to tell you the facts and common sense advantages of becoming one community for all.

Sincerely, Eugene S. Guido

Drain Views

Editor's Note: The following letter concerning the Randolph Drain improvement proposal was sent to the city managers of Northville and Novi. It was signed by 16 residents on Randolph and High streets.

To the Editor: This letter is written to express the views of concerned citizens of the city of Northville related to the proposed Randolph Drain Project.

Points of Protest— 1. Exorbitant cost to the city of Northville.

2. Infringement of developed home properties by the imposition of a 30 foot ditch with 50 foot easements.

3. Disregard of Natural and developed landscaping.

4. Wanton destruction of numerous mature trees and shrubs.

5. Decrease in property values due to loss of land area and creation of inaccessible portions of other properties.

6. Loss of aesthetic values caused by substitution of drainage ditch for natural stream.

Flood Plain Easements—

It is suggested that the added investigation substituting flood-plains as an alternate solution to the predicted flood problem, include the following considerations.

1. The entire stream (high and low water) flood-plains be maintained with no infringements (including Wayne and Oakland County).

2. Future Developments of land use be restricted to low density housing.

3. All massive hard-top parking surfaces capable of contributing to a flooding problem be required to construct dry wells for retention of all run-off water.

4. All new construction adjacent to existing flood plains and capable of contributing to a flooding problem be required to construct dry-wells for the containment of run-off water.

We contend that the solution to the predicted flood problem in the city of Northville lies in the wise and careful use and management of the land located in the drainage area of Oakland County.

Sincerely yours, Concerned Citizens of Northville

AVOIDING THE TAG — Roger Pattison of the Thompson - Brown Realtor Mets turns away from the plate in trying to avoid the tag of John Mach Ford catcher Steve Cooper. Pattison was ruled safe as the Mets beat the Yankees 16-4 in Knothole Hardball League action last week.

Mets Beat Yankees; Lead Hardball League

The Thompson-Brown Realtor Mets took an important step in their march toward the championship of the Northville Recreation Department's Knothole Hardball League last week as they downed the John Mach Ford Yankees 16-4.

The Mets entered the game in first place with a 5-0 record, while the Yankees were in second place with a 6-2 mark. A Yankee victory would have done much to tighten the standings, but it just never came about.

The Mets erupted for five big runs in the first inning and the rout was on.

Gregg Suckow was the hitting hero for the Mets as he slammed two doubles, a triple, and a home run. Allen Scarlett, Jeff Koziara, and Jim Kula each picked up three hits apiece for the Mets, while the Yankees were sparked by the two-hit performances of Steve Cooper, Don Barnum, and Clayton Williams.

The Mets also posted a victory over the Thompson-Brown Orioles last week, recording a 12-8 decision. Lance Carter and Bob Heckerl had three hits apiece to pace the Mets' 15-hit attack. Bob Orban, Mark Swayne, Luigi Folino, and Tim Jones combined for eight of the Orioles' 11 hits.

Taking over second place from the deposed Yankees were the VFW Giants who continued their second half surge by winning two more games last week. Jimmy Bedford doubled and homered and Mike Ward added a double and a triple as the Giants scrubbed the Choo-Choo Car Wash Chiefs 15-7. Jack Stabenau, John Kaim, and Doug Kennedy paced the Chiefs with two hits apiece.

The Casterline Indians were the other team to fall to the Giants last week, succumbing by a 21-7 margin. Myles Burke stroked four consecutive singles and Kevin Lindley slugged a home run to spark the Giants. John Alspaugh, Dean Guard, and Tom Doyle each picked up a pair of hits for the Indians.

After their key 16-4 loss to the Mets, the John Mach Ford Yankees came back to top the Northville Record Dodgers 14-2, as Bob Chapman and Paul Cooper collected four and three hits respectively and Jeff Morgan added a double. The Dodgers had just four hits—one of them a triple off the bat of Brian Prom. Moving into fourth place in the standings with a pair of victories last week were the Del's Shoes Twins. Paced by a pair of doubles off the bat of Rick Bargert, the Twins scored four times in the first inning and then held on for a 5-3 victory over the Thompson-Brown Realtor Orioles. Jeff Norton and Bob Simone joined Bargert in collecting two hits apiece for the Twins, while the Orioles got two-hit performances from Paul Wiegand and Mark Swayne.

In their other game the Twins walloped the Northville Police Padres 24-1. Jeff Norton tripled, Kevin Schugar doubled, and Scott Grieg doubled and tripled for the Twins. Paul Hotchkins' triple was one of just three hits for the Padres, who have yet to take their first victory.

In a close game the Casterline Indians came up with two seventh inning runs to take a come-from-behind 6-5 decision from the Northville Record Dodgers. Dean Guard and John Alspaugh drove in the winning runs for the Indians, while Steve Bourne personally accounted for four of the Dodgers' 11 hits.

The Hyatt Construction Wolverines scored four times in the seventh inning, but it wasn't enough as the Choo-Choo Car Wash Chiefs held on for a 12-11 triumph. Dan Carpenter had four hits including a double and Jim Herbel had three hits including a triple for the Wolverines.

Mark McDonald's four hits included a double and Dane Cates' three hits included a triple as the duo paced the Chiefs' victorious 15-hit total.

In Knothole Softball

Colts Upset Pirates

It looks as if there's going to be a pennant race in Knothole Softball after all.

For awhile it seemed as if the Del's Shoes Pirates were going to have just about as much of an easy time as their namesakes from Pittsburgh in the National League are having.

But last week the Northville Hardware Colts handed the Pirates their first loss of the season in a stunning upset.

The result—the Pirates are still in first place with a 10-1 record, but lurking just one game back in the loss column are the Colts and the Choo-Choo Car Wash Warriors with 8-2 records.

In the game of the week, the Colts toppled the Pirates from the ranks of the undefeated with an 8-5 ten-inning triumph. All five Pirate runs came in the first four innings, as the Colts held the usually potent Pirate sluggers scoreless through each of the last six innings.

David Ward with a triple and two doubles among his four hits and Brian Pascal, Carl Wiegand, Jeff Dyer, and Carl Koffler with three hits apiece paced the upset, while Jeff Nieuwkoop and Willy Newman each had three hits for the Pirates.

In addition to their victory over the Pirates, the Colts also hammered out a 32-3 victory over the winless A&W Cougars. Scott Richmond homered and Dan Whittaker, Dale Hawker, Scott Schall, Jeff Dyer, and Andrew McLoud each ripped out four hits in the 40-hit Colt rout.

Paul Rigby, Bob Darrel, and Gary Lauber each singled twice for the Cougars.

The Pirates snapped back from their upset loss to the Colts by defeating first the Panthers and then the Rams. John Simone doubled home Paul Lang in the last inning to give the Pirates a 6-5 victory over the Northville Drug Panthers in a squeaker. Carl Lang and Willy Newman also doubled and Dave McDonald contributed a triple to account for all the Pirates' extra-base blows. Jeff Trout and Bob Marzonia doubled and Scott Dayton tripled for the Panthers.

The Pirates finally returned to their hard-hitting ways against the VFW Post 4012 Rams, banging out 37 hits enroute to a 30-0 victory. Dave McDonald stroked a four-bagger and Carl Lang, Jeff Nieuwkoop, and Willy Newman each delivered fourth-inning home runs to pace the Pirates.

Thayer McMullen, Terry Nadeau, Tom Potter, George McMullen, and Mike Weist collected one hit apiece for the Rams' five-hit total.

Sharing second place with the Colts are the Choo-Choo Car Wash Warriors, who also posted a pair of victories last week. Three final inning runs propelled the Warriors to a narrow 6-5 conquest of the Casterline Lions. Mark Moriset homered and Brian Starr and Mike Pollard contributed two hits apiece to lead the Warrior hitters. Bob Simrak, Brian Pratt, Joe Trout, Jack Olson, and Dave Wangeman each singled twice for the Lions.

It was those winless Cougars who bore the brunt of a 43-hit Warrior attack that netted a 36-4 triumph. Tom Arnold with a home run and two triples, Tony Nader with two triples and a double, Bob Thomson with three triples, and Rod Barrons with two triples and two doubles were the leading Warrior batters. Mike Oliver, George Rigby, and Gary Lauber had doubles for the Cougars.

The Northville Realty Astros took over third place with a 6-4 record by posting two victories last week. With Carl Schwarze, Jim Wilson, Gary Kucher, Eric Muller, Rob Reitenour, and Mike Kramer contributing extra-base raps the Astros dumped the Rams 26-7. Tom Potter and Terry Nadeau each had a pair of doubles for the losers.

The Astros ripped out 33 hits in beating the Township Police Athletics 23-2. Eric Muller had two triples, Rob Reitenour had two doubles, and Steve Norton had a double and a triple to spark the Astros. Jim Hubbard with two singles and Rich Smith with a double were the top Athletic hitters.

Two final inning runs enabled the Northville Drug Panthers to record a 9-7 conquest of the Athletics. Rob Marzonia tripled and Mark Tuggle doubled for the Panthers, while the Athletics got a pair of hits from Bill Kelly, Jerry Powell, Jack Potwell, and Seth Swallow. Terry Nadeau stroked out five hits and Mike Weist and George McMullen each rapped out five safeties to give the VFW Rams a 16-13 decision over the Casterline Lions. Alex Zion, Kurt Mayer, and Leslie Neal combined for 12 of the Lions' 29 hits.

Despite Tiger Upset

Blazers Still Lead Tee-Ball

The Northville Insurance Tigers turned in a false alarm to the Northville Fire Department Blazers last week in Tee-Ball League play.

The Tigers handed the Blazers just their second loss of the season and for awhile were just one game back of the league-leaders in the all-important loss column.

But then the Northville Township Pumas came along to defeat the Tigers and by the time the week's play had been completed, the Blazers were once more perched securely atop the standings, enjoying what could well be an insurmountable three game lead over the second-place Tigers. Sparking the Tigers' conquest of the Blazers were Don Wilkinson, Chris Koenig, Tom Clemens, Bob Pegrum, Jay Bartling, Steve Dyer, and Bart Leu, who each contributed a pair of hits to the 22-hit attack. Tom Basilio and Dennis Stevens, with three safeties apiece and Ted Wagner, who belted a four-bagger, paced the Blazers.

The Tigers also recorded a 26-9 triumph over the Bears last week. Kyle Exelby, Bob Pegrum and Don Wilkinson all had doubles and Wilkinson added a home run to pace the Tigers' 48-hit attack. Mark LaPard homered and Danny Nyquist and Jim Ziegler each rapped out four hits for the losers.

The Tigers' string of victories was stopped by the Township Pumas, who scored five last-inning runs to take a 14-13 victory. Dave Bach had four hits and Bart Orban, Jeff Anger, Steve Harrison, Kyle Carter, and Andy Romanik had three apiece to pace the winners. Tim Brownell with four hits and Rich Paler and Bart Leu with three apiece accounted for 10 of the Tigers' 23 hits.

In spite of their upset loss to the Tigers, the Blazers showed they've not lost the winning touch by defeating Schraders Home Furnishings and the Del's Shoes Bears last week

Dennis Stevens and Tom Basilio each had a home run and a double and Ted Wagner had a pair of two-baggers as the trio sparked the Blazers' 19-7 conquest of Schraders. Mike Ziemann, Don Kaufman, and Steve Schrader all had doubles for Schraders.

Basilico and Stevens also homered in the Blazers' 23-7 victory over the Bears. Tim McLaughlin and Gary Simrak also had extra-base hits for the Blazers, while Ray Green and Chris Khoury were the leading Bear hitters.

Resignation's Sad Moment

By ROLLY PETERSON

One of the saddest moments in politics came to pass Monday night. Thomas F. Eagleton, the Democratic choice for vice president, bowed out, making an historic first in the United States.

From the moment Eagleton was named by George McGovern as his running mate, there was noticeable enthusiasm on the part of Eagleton. He seemed to have needed requirements—Catholic, ties with labor, articulate, young.

There was another characteristic which came across the tube as he was interviewed on the convention floor. You could sense this man of 42 was ambitious. He wanted the vice-presidential niche and wasn't about to turn it down.

Then, about three weeks after the convention, Eagleton's lights began to flicker. It was disclosed, through investigative reporting of Knight Newspapers, that Eagleton had received shock therapy twice during the six-year period, 1960 to 1966, to combat depression.

Monday Eagleton's light as a vice-presidential candidate went out. After three hours in closed session with McGovern, a news conference was called in the Caucus room of the U.S. Senate and the announcement was made that Eagleton had agreed to step down as the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

All of these events are now history. We can only speculate upon them. But one has to wonder what would have happened had Eagleton disclosed his psychiatric treatment when he was being considered as a vice-presidential candidate.

Would McGovern still have chosen him? And if Eagleton's psychiatric care had then come to public light, what effect would that have had upon the McGovern ticket?

Frankly, I don't think there would have been any different public reaction. People would question—and perhaps rightfully so—whether Eagleton could withstand the pressures of the presidency, if it should become necessary for him to take over.

It is undeniably true that there is a stigma in this land about psychiatric treatment. People do not equate psychiatry and medical science.

The time will possibly come that more will be known about psychiatry. If it does, people might look back on Thomas F. Eagleton as a victim of time.

That is small comfort today, however, to the man who Monday vacated the spot which he evidently wanted so much.

Bus Ruling Sought

State Representative Thomas G. Sharpe of Howell and Representative E.D. O'Brien of Detroit recently requested a ruling from the attorney general on the constitutionality of a federal court decision ordering the state to pay for school buses prior to legislative authorization of the expense.

The two representatives also requested the attorney general issue his opinion prior to the imposed stay date of August 24 set by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Third ranking member of the House of Foreign Affairs Committee and ranking member of the Asian and Pacific Subcommittee, Republican William S. Broomfield said he is opposed to the United States acting as world policeman.

"I think for too long we've acted in the role of world policeman," the 19th Congressional District candidate told Slinger Publications last week. "I'm opposed to that. I think that these countries have a responsibility for their own self defense."

He wouldn't lop off all military assistance, however. "I do support a reasonable military assistance program in areas that affect our national security," he said. And military assistance, he adds, is also justified when outside aggression is involved.

What has created major problems in foreign affairs, he contends, is United States involvement in the internal affairs of other countries, such as Vietnam, Rhodesia and South Africa.

"We've got our problems to settle here without trying to get involved running other governments and telling them how they should be run," he stated.

This does not mean, Broomfield pointed out, that he favors abandonment of interests. America does have a major role to play in foreign affairs, he asserts, but other major countries must share this responsibility, if peace is to be achieved.

Furthermore, the 16-year Congressional veteran said, America's treaty agreements, many of them put into effect during the Eisenhower-Dalles period, must be reviewed in light of the 1970's.

He emphatically backs President's Nixon's program for disengagement from Vietnam and points out that in three years the President has reduced troop levels from 550,000 men to less than 50,000 men. "I think we're moving toward a negotiated settlement," he said.

Bombing of North Vietnam and the mining of harbors also have Broomfield's emphatic approval.

Underscoring his "vast experience" as a trump over Republican opponent Jack McDonald, Broomfield flatly opposes cross-district busing to achieve racial balance. "I sponsored the Broomfield amendment, which is designed to take away from federal district judges the right to implement any desegregation case until all appeals are heard," he stated.

"I support the President's proposals," he added, "one calling for an 18-month moratorium, the other calling for $2.5 billion to upgrade the poorer school districts throughout the country. And I certainly would support a constitutional amendment, if that were necessary."

He cited two reasons for his stand. In Broomfield's estimation, busing does not improve education and it violates the neighborhood school concept, which he says, "is very important to most people in our country."

To generate the revenues that would be needed to upgrade poorer districts, Broomfield says he favors a complete restructuring of federal financial assistance to schools. New teaching techniques and new training programs for teachers also are needed, he maintains.

Another key issue in this election year, Broomfield said, is the need for welfare reform. "This is an area that desperately needs revision, with particular emphasis on taking care of those who absolutely need the help, but putting more emphasis on work incentive."

The tax structure, Broomfield said, also sorely needs revision "I would hope the Ways and Means Committee would concentrate on this and come up with a new

Congressman Jack McDonald

McDonald: 'I've always felt we should win or get out.'

While he fully supports the Administration's efforts to negotiate a settlement of the Vietnam War, Congressman Jack McDonald, Republican candidate for Congress in the 19th District, intends to introduce legislation in January to end the war if peace talks are unsuccessful by that time.

He prefaced his remarks by noting that, "I support the blockade of the (North Vietnam) harbor. I've always felt we should win or get out."

"The Johnson Administration," he said, "and the early years of the Nixon Administration didn't demonstrate any feeling we should win, so I have supported peace resolutions. And if we are not out of there by January of next year I will again introduce a resolution to end our involvement."

McDonald, who labeled the top South Vietnamese leaders part of a "very weak, corrupt government," emphasized that his peace resolution will be dependent upon the return of all prisoners of war.

This position on the war, together with McDonald's strong critical analysis of foreign aid, points up two key differences between McDonald and his Republican opponent, William Broomfield.

In his own opinion, however, the chief difference between himself and Broomfield is that he (McDonald) will vote his convictions while his opponent, he charged, dodges the issues.

"My opponent has been in Congress longer than I have, yet he has not taken a stand on any issue in 16 years with the exception of busing," he declared.

"I think in our television debate (Channel 56) that was evident. He's on the foreign affairs committee, and I attacked foreign aid and he said he didn't want to make any comment. Now that's his committee; he reports those bills out every year."

"There was another question asked about Housing and Urban Development that I very openly answered, and he refused to comment on that. And that has been his style in Congress. No one knows him; he never speaks out on the issues there or at home."

"If I am for something or against something I work with all my energy for or against it. I wasn't just for Revenue Sharing or Welfare Reform. I took my weekends across the country, speaking to groups for the President trying to sell the program."

Concerning foreign aid, McDonald contended that all foreign aid, with the exception of technical assistance, should be eliminated.

"I think that technical assistance, which doesn't cost us very much money, can do more good in winning friends for us and in benefiting other nations around the world than any other form of aid."

He recalled a tour of the Mideast where he found a warehouse full of plows, supplied as foreign aid to Jordan. The plows couldn't be used because they had no tractors, he said.

"We've made those countries a dumping ground for a lot of American manufacturers. We've taken our goods, sold them to the United States government, and given them away to people who, in many cases, couldn't use them."

"Cash grants to the countries have also been misused..."

"I just think that $212 billion that we spent since World War II, counting interest, could much better be used here (in the United States). People over there would really respect us more if we made our foreign aid in terms of teaching them how to grow crops, etc."

On busing, McDonald said it is unfortunate that this has been made a "big issue...the biggest" because, while he objects to cross-district busing and has been a chief battler in Congress against it, "there are more important underlying issues."

Nevertheless, throughout the district the predominant question concerns busing, with voters demanding to know the candidate's position and what he is doing to combat it. And oddly, it is on this issue where the two candidates reach their closest agreement.

On this issue, he emphasized that he has long opposed cross-district busing to achieve racial balance.

"I was the first member of Congress from Michigan to get into the cross-district fight. Over two years ago I introduced a resolution that would prohibit busing across district lines, was one of the 20 members of Congress who decided upon having a discharge petition for Constitutional amendment, and the only member from Michigan who has endorsed and sponsored the President's legislation opposing forced busing."

The only difference between himself and Broomfield on this issue, he said, is that "he feels the amendment that was tacked on the higher education bill will stop forced busing, and I feel it will not."

"Gerald Ford (Michigan Congressman) feels it will not; the President called that amendment misleading, inadequate, and unsatisfactory. It won't stop busing. It's the only place we differ because we're both against busing."

In looking at defense department spending, McDonald said cuts or additions to the budget must be dealt with differently on each item.

"Each major item must be taken on its own merit," he said, "and in some cases that would mean a reduction

I voted against the ABM and the MERV, but I would vote for nuclear submarines. I would vote against the B-1 bomber. So more than likely my votes could mean a "reduction in the defense department budget but not necessarily."

Most crucial issue facing Congress, McDonald said, involve crime, reorganization of the court, and probably environment, in that order.

Concerning welfare, he takes pride in his active support of legislation for the President. "It would require that anyone who is able to work be required to work, to take job training, to take any job that is offered

But it would also ensure that anyone who was physically or disabled blind would have at least a base for a living allowance."

Recognizing that the nation's cities do need federal assistance, McDonald said he advocated a multi-directed attack.

"Education is one," he said, "I think we have to upgrade the educational opportunities

THIS OAKLAND COUNTY Law Enforcement-Jail Complex was dedicated today. The $8.2

million project, designed by Giffels Associates, Inc., architects, engineers and planners of Detroit, replaces a 45-year old jail in Pontiac.

New Jail Dedicated

The new 470 inmate Oakland County (Michigan) Law Enforcement-Jail Complex was dedicated today (Thursday).

Located on a 12 acre site at the County Service Center, the 167,000 square feet structure replaces the overcrowded jail in downtown Pontiac, constructed more than 45 years ago.

In the $8.2 million project are a maximum security county jail, medium security areas to permit work release of prisoners, and all county sheriff's road patrol operations, including investigations and licensing functions. In addition, the facility has a complete morgue, a parking garage and an emergency operating center.

Ted Dziurman, chief engineer, Oakland County Facilities and Operations Department, said, "In all our examinations of county jails, we found there hadn't been any significant improvements during the past 45 years. We were phasing out a 45 year old facility and we didn't want more of the same. Giffels Associates, Inc., architects-engineers-planners of Detroit, was asked to give us a new and imaginative facility and to accomplish it at minimum possible cost."

An entirely new design by Giffels was provided. Gone is the old, expensive concept of multi-story cell blocks, facing an outside wall for natural lighting and ventilation through barred windows. Replacing it is a scheme of single-story cell blocks receiving natural light from unbarred overhead skylights, which are inaccessible and impenetrable. Alarm systems add additional security. Ventilation is provided by forced-air heating and ventilating systems, providing uniform air movement.

Other improvements include reduction of noise by use of precast concrete cell partitions (rather than steel plate).

program, so that some these people avoiding income tax would have to pay their fair share," he said.

"I also favor giving more flexibility to federal programs where cities can make their choice as to priorities on the basis of what is best for that specific city," the Royal Oak resident said.

"There's no question," he said, "with the limitation on taxes in the larger cities, that some help has to come from the federal government."

To provide more money for beleaguered cities, he said he voted for the federal revenue sharing bill which he said is presently before the U.S. Senate.

"I think we're moving in cities. Classes have to be smaller. I think we must realize that not everyone is going to college so that we put more stress on reading, writing and on math. Once we achieve that, and through welfare reform as well as education and getting people working and improving their economic climate, I think then some of the problems will begin solving themselves."

McDonald pointed out that he introduced the revenue sharing bill and worked hard to see it through the House.

The congressman takes the position that a measure now in the House conference committee offers an ideal means of attacking the nation's environmental problems.

Costing some $23 billion in the next four years, the water pollution bill would provide sewer systems for municipalities across the country and require industry and the government to clean up the water with strict penalties, he said.

"I think it is a significant piece of legislation, and I think if we can administer that in the next four years we'll have our hands full for pollution control," McDonald said.

ahead very well," Broomfield said of current attempts to provide a better environment for Americans. "I think we are recognizing that this is one of the major problems in this country and it is getting attention from Congress."

In addition to co-sponsoring four administration bills aimed at providing better environment through water quality standards and financing for them, Broomfield said he asked for further studies of the proposed Trans-Alaska pipeline and formulation of a national land use policy.

"I've asked for further studies of the Trans-Alaska pipeline," he explained, "because of the problems that have been indicated would result if this line is built. So I have been one in the forefront urging the secretary of interior to hold up until all the facts have been submitted on this."

The land use policy that Broomfield is advocating, he explained, would be a national master plan, so that over-population of certain areas in the United States would not occur.

One of the means for dealing with megalopolis, he pointed out, would be the new town concept. "I do feel this is something that will be in the future and I think we have to look toward that," he said. Broomfield has co-sponsored a bill that would authorize the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency to devise new and stronger water control standards, but Broomfield is in sharp disagreement with the EPA's William Ruckelshaus in his firm demand that automotive companies adhere to the 1975 deadline for compliance with the federal government's emission control standards.

"He's got to be a little realistic in regard to what can actually be accomplished," Broomfield said. "It's one thing to set goals, but I certainly feel the automobile industry is working very, very hard to meet those goals."

The automobile companies, the congressional candidate said, deserve credit for their efforts to meet the standard. "I certainly would step in and try to cooperate, if I felt that industry could not meet these goals, and ask for an extension (of the deadline)."

If he is elected 19th district Congressman, Broomfield says he hopes to establish two satellite offices, one in Brighton and one in the area of Lake Orion. His central office, he said, would be located in the Pontiac area.

To criticism that he moved from Royal Oak to Birmingham in order to run for the 19th Congressional seat, Broomfield points out he wasn't alone. His Republican opponent, McDonald, moved from Farmington to Waterford shortly after the new redistricting plan was issued by Federal Judge Damon Keith, Broomfield said.

Sponsored by the Midwest Dressage Association and featuring lateral dressage movements, Weiss instructed the class with the aid of demonstrations from three of his pupils. A critique followed the performances of Meryl Fried, Brooks Hinerman and Suzanne Capps.

Weiss is noted as one of the few trainers who prepare students for combined events, which include dressage, stadium jumping and cross country over fences on a single mount.

Students trained by Weiss have won numerous awards in area horse shows in these combined events.

Extra-Sensory Perception in Horses

Horses and humans both have nerve endings in the limbs, mouth, eyes, nose and ears which convey messages to the brain. They tell what's going on in all those places, and how they are related to each other at the moment. The scientists call this the proprioceptive sense.

It's the most important faculty in horses and other four-legged folk that gallop at high speed over irregular ground. The animal must have accurate knowledge of the relationship of the hind feet to the front feet.

Horses don't operate like four-wheeled vehicles. A horse is capable of moving all four feet in all four directions at the same time. Therefore some complex activity like galloping, jumping or balancing demands centralized thought, not four-way thinking.

It is the proprioceptive sense that enables a horse to navigate on all fours, and a human on two.

Along The Campaign Trail

Broomfield .

Thanks to a bill introduced by Congressman William S. Broomfield which passed the House last week servicemen may no longer be forced to pay their travel costs if they re-enlist for a second tour of duty overseas.

Under present law, men stationed overseas receive 30 days leave at the end of their tour. The military pays for the transportation. Those who volunteer for extra duty overseas must pay their own travel costs home between tours.

Said Broomfield, "I was shocked to learn that one of my constituents had re-enlisted for an extra year in Vietnam only to find that he had forfeited his right to visit his family unless he paid for his own travel."

"At a time when we are trying to build a volunteer army and to eliminate the draft, why should we penalize patriotic young men who wish to serve their country an extra year," Broomfield said.

"The Department of Defense has noted that the cost of my bill will be very small. As a matter of fact, it should result in an overall savings since more men will be encouraged to re-enlist," Broomfield said.

"More important, I feel this will prove a boost in the arm for the morale of our military. In view of the sacrifices these men are making, it is the least that we can do," Broomfield said.

The measure now goes to the Senate where it must be approved before becoming law.

cent) to prevent busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

—And approved a pollution tax or higher prices for goods to speed up the implementation of anti-pollution programs (66 per cent).

Montgomery

George Montgomery, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 19th District, announced this week that Billy Farnum has agreed to act as his honorary campaign chairman. Farnum was the congressman from the 19th District in 1965 and 1966 and has also served as Michigan's Auditor General.

Montgomery also announced the appointment of Roe Van Fossen, a local computer expert, to serve as campaign director.

"My campaign will center on those issues that most closely affect the residents of the 19th District," Montgomery said. He pointed out that all too much money has gone from the people of Michigan to Washington and all too little has come back in recent years.

"It's time to send a man to Washington," he said, "who will be responsive to the needs of the people back home, instead of allowing the whims of some national politicians govern their actions."

Montgomery also pointed out that with the recent redistricting a Democrat can win in the 19th District. He promised to wage a vigorous campaign and he pledged that his office would provide responsive representation for the people of the 19th District once he becomes congressman.

back Shapiro.

Other backers include: Ron Hecker of Livonia, who was a 1970 Democratic Congressional primary candidate in the 19th district; Allen Whiting, nationally respected China expert; and Jim Pifer, chairman of the Bedford Township Democratic Club.

"I am especially honored that people who know Congress, like Wes Vivian and Mike Stillwagon, have decided to support my candidacy," Shapiro said. "What is more important, however, is that taken together, the individuals on this committee demonstrate that we have been able to build a broad, district-wide base of support, unlike that of any other candidate in this race."

Other Ann Arbor supporters are: Mike Berla, Eunice Burns, LeRoy Cappaert, Alan Jones, Jan Klaver, Franz Mogdis, Dr. Al Schneider, Alice Whiting, and Jacqui Hoop.

In Ypsilanti: Ted Hefley, Dawn Lenington and Lynn Minkoff.

In Plymouth: Dick McGlenn and Bob Penland.

In Monroe County: Bob Kehres, Monroe, Dr. Larry Lark, Ida; Sharon Utz, Lambertville, and Ron Ziegler, Monroe.

busing into the following reasons:

- 1) Increasing costs to already overburdened school districts. (Estimates of the cost of Judge Roth's decision run from $100 million to $200 million annually!)
- 2) Making school districts "equal" could involve making some good ones worse.
- 3) Arbitrary assignment of teachers and students will cause dissatisfaction and inconvenience.
- 4) Confusion and dissension will develop in the various ethnic and economic areas involved.
- 5) A better-than-even chance exists that the higher courts will throw Judge Roth's orders out of the legal window.
- 6) Judge Roth's decisions are being openly defied and resisted by 80 to 95 percent of residents in affected areas.
- 7) Loss of local control of schools due to enlarging of districts.

Commenting further, Geake, who is running for a seat from the 35th district, which includes Livonia and Northville, noted that Dr. Porter's proposal to cut the 53 districts down to 16 was based upon the current 16 clusters of city and suburban schools in the affected tri-county area.

He told his audience that Dr. Porter's plan would weaken local control of schools by discouraging parental involvement due to the larger area of the super-district. The students would lose interest in the new districts after being exposed to the continual rotation on and off of busing lists, he said.

Bretz . . .

Barbara T. Bretz has been appointed Legislative District Director of the 24th Legislative District. The appointment was made by the 19th District GOP Chairman John Cartwright.

Mrs. Bretz will be working with the Republican City-Township Directors and Precinct Delegates of White Lake, Novi, Wixom, Commerce and West Bloomfield.

Mrs. Bretz has been a member of the Commerce Republic Club since 1965 and Secretary of that club for the last four years.

In 1966 she was the co-ordinator (Commerce) for Senator Griffin's campaign and she was elected to the Oakland County Republican Executive Committee.

Previous to her appointment as the 24th District Director, Mrs. Bretz was the co-ordinator for the 60th Legislative District, area of Milford, Commerce, Wixom and Walled Lake.

In announcing the appointment, GOP 19th District Chairman, John Cartwright stated, "Barb Bretz's dedication, experience and leadership abilities make her a great asset to the Republican Party. I'm pleased that she will be a part of our leadership team."

Kettunen . . .

George Kettunen, a candidate for the Republican nomination in the 35th State Representative District blasted his opponent's failure to face up one of the most crucial issues in this campaign at a meeting in his home on Wednesday evening with some of his supporters.

"As a lifetime member of the National Educational Association my opponent, Dr. Geake, surely is aware that educational reform will be the most vital issue to face the 77th legislature," Kettunen stated.

"We were both at the Republican District Convention when the issue came up for a vote. Unfortunately, the resolution was so ambiguously worded that the results of the vote, which was negative, became meaningless in my opinion. My opponent has apparently chosen to play it safe and not address himself to the issue."

"I have long advocated educational reform in Michigan, I believe that when people fully understand the issue they will come around. Many cite the possible loss of local control in resisting the reform of our educational financing system, disregarding the inequities that exist throughout the state, and the unfairness of the system towards retirees and people on fixed incomes."

"The courts are forcing the issue and reform will be enacted in one form or another. I am committing myself to the job in this campaign. While working towards reform, I would strive to guarantee that the neighborhood school concept be maintained. It is most important that the interests of this community be protected in Lansing and that local control, so vital to good government, be maintained wherever possible."

"As an alternative to the property tax, the reform of our system of financing education can best be accomplished with a flat rate income tax coupled with a statewide property tax on business and industry and an added value tax designed with exemptions for food and medicines. A balance must be struck to avoid educational disasters during periods of economic recession. Provisions must be made for

Geake . . .

Voicing opposition to forced busing and support for local control of schools, Bob Geake, Republican candidate for state representative, told campaign supporters Sunday that latest developments of Judge Stephen Roth's orders now link the two issues.

Speaking at the home of John and Lynn Siviter in Livonia, Geake explained that Dr. John Porter, state superintendent of public instruction, in acting upon Judge Roth's instructions, wants to reorganize the 53 affected school districts into 16 super-districts.

"Should this happen, local control of schools as we know it will be reduced sharply. Board trustees elected locally would, according to Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's office, be subject to the supervision of the new super-districts."

Discussing forced busing, Geake, who now serves as chairman of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees in Livonia, warned of "the chaos and disaster which would follow in its wake."

"Assuming complete objectivity and total lack of racial prejudice, forced busing still makes no sense. As now proposed, it represents the dictatorial mandate of a Federal judge with no thought given to the financial, emotional and physical havoc he would be creating if it was implemented."

The candidate condensed his arguments against forced enrichment purposes at the discretion of the community."

Kettunen is a former candidate for the Livonia Board of Education, a member of the Board of Education Board Canvassers, has served on the Livonia School Board Advisory Council as the Republican Party delegate, and is the District Director for the Republican Party in the Livonia-Northville area.

STEMPIEN FETED—State Representative Marvin Stempien, candidate for Democratic nomination in the revised Second Congressional District, was feted at a dinner party last week at Northville Downs. The representative, a former Northville city attorney, and Mrs. Stempien (left) chat with two Downs executives, John Carlo and Margaret Zayti, during the party.

McDonald . . .

Residents of Novi cited crime, education and the economy in that order as domestic priorities needing attention by Congress, according to the results of Congressman Jack McDonald's recent questionnaire.

The residents also called for a reduction in our Foreign Aid expenditures, with 64 per cent calling for less spending abroad. Only 2 per cent asked for more funds, with 15 per cent seeking the same level of funding and 19 per cent calling for abolishment of Foreign Aid altogether.

Results of the entire 19th District are to be mailed to each family sometime this week.

On the subject of the conflict in Vietnam, 42 per cent of those responding from Novi want a negotiated peace; 24 per cent want withdrawal of all troops but seek continuation of air and sea support, 21 per cent seek withdrawal of all troops and discontinuation of air and sea support; and 12 per cent seek a military victory.

Although 30 per cent of those responding said their personal financial situation had worsened due to the economy, 80 per cent approved the President's price-wage-profit controls. Only 11 per cent said their situation had improved, with 59 per cent saying it was about the same.

"It is my belief" said McDonald, "that the stabilization of the economy with price-wage profit controls has been a good move, and I will continue to support it until such time as the economy has stabilized. However, I think we should return to the more basic philosophy of the free enterprise system, without controls, as soon as possible. These controls have reduced the eroding force of inflation to a generally accepted level, but it will be some time before the end of the month comes before the end of the money. At home, and in government, we must continue to guard our pursestrings, and cut out unnecessary spending. As a member of the House Subcommittee on Investigation and Oversight, I have made it my business to see that appropriated funds are not misused or misdirected. I am confident that the stringent measures we all have to take will right our economy, and restore a high standard of living to every working man and woman."

On other portions of the questionnaire, the residents: —Supported a Constitutional amendment (86 per

Brown . . .

William H. Brown, Democratic candidate for the Congressional seat now held by Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor), attacked schools for not adequately preparing students for a changing society.

Brown released his position paper on education July 28. This is Brown's last position paper before the primary election August 8.

Brown's proposals for "meaningful reform" include abolishing the property tax for supporting education, using instead a federal progressive income tax, having students, teachers and parents on a board for each local school; and equal educational opportunities for children needing special education.

Brown called the use of the property tax to finance schools "completely inadequate" and having "outlived its usefulness." A federal progressive income tax would be "a fairer method of taxation."

Even if state level tax reform were successful, he said, there would still be discrepancies in school quality among the states. Federal allocation would halt the inequality, he said.

A local school board, giving students and teachers, as well as parents, a voice in the decisions that affect the school, said Brown, "could bring an end to present student apathy, teacher demoralization and parent distrust of schools."

Regarding children with special needs, children with multi-handicaps, Brown said the federal government should be "actively concerned" and "make sure the extra funds are available to provide the necessary teachers, equipment and facilities these children need."

annually, making the millage renewal completely unnecessary.

"Furthermore, since the Court Reorganization Act places all Wayne County Courts in the category of state courts, the Supreme Court could order the State of Michigan to take over not only the balance of judicial salaries but also the costs attendant to the operation of these courts such as bailiffs, clerical staffs, and probation facilities. As Wayne County Commissioner, I intend to safeguard the tax dollars of Livonia and Northville."

Dumas . . .

At a recent open house for campaign workers, County Commission Candidate Mary E. Dumas introduced her election committee.

They include Livonia School Board Member Marvin Pridgeon; Sylvia Skrel, president of the Livonia GOP Women; Leonard Wozniak, president Livonia Jaycees, Sharon Falk, Chairman Livonia Youth Chorus; Livonia Planning Commissioner David Merrion; Charles Allen, Jr.; Beebe Lindhout, Beverly Chiasson, Bentley HS Youth Activities Director Ronald Cowden; E. O. (Bud) Weber; vice-chairman of the 2nd District Republican Congressional Committee and Joann Dayton both from Northville; Dee Dittmar, chairman Livonia Town Hall; Betsy Tagami, Harold Schoen, John Hofer, Harry Greenleaf, and Sheldon Weiner.

Also present were Robert Geake, Republican candidate for State Representative, 35th District, and James Hayward, Republican candidate for the 19th District Charter Commission.

In a statement to her campaign workers, Mrs. Dumas, who is presently a Schoolcraft College trustee, stressed the need to restore accountability to the office of Wayne County Commissioner. She also reiterated her long-standing support for the extension of out-county juvenile facilities and local drug rehabilitation centers.

"As a probation officer with the 16th District Court since 1970 and as a chairman of the District Court Bond Drive Committee in 1969, and a former member of the Livonia School Board Advisory Drug Abuse Committee, I am vitally aware of the needs for these services and have previously advocated the possibility of incorporating a permanent juvenile department and volunteer juvenile probation program into our new court facilities. It is also imperative that we provide separate detention facilities for convicted felons and these awaiting trial on misdeamors in the County Jail. We must avoid any repetition of the recent tragic murder which occurred there.

"However, the request of the Wayne County Commissioners for renewal of the 1 mill levy (Proposal B on the Primary Ballot) is unnecessary at this time and should be defeated on August 8th.

"In the first place, the authorization for the present millage does not expire until late in 1974 and can be placed on the ballot at the next general election. Secondly, in view of the possibility of the passage of Senator Carl Pursell's Senate Bill providing for the restructuring of all county governments not presently under home rule and the additional possibility of the approval of a Wayne County Charter Commission, the millage request is badly timed."

Congress, she said, is presently in the process of acting upon revenue-sharing at the demand of state and local officials across the country, which if enacted could result in added revenues for Wayne County amounting to $13 million annually, making the millage renewal completely unnecessary.

"Furthermore, since the Court Reorganization Act places all Wayne County Courts in the category of state courts, the Supreme Court could order the State of Michigan to take over not only the balance of judicial salaries but also the costs attendant to the operation of these courts such as bailiffs, clerical staffs, and probation facilities. As Wayne County Commissioner, I intend to safeguard the tax dollars of Livonia and Northville."

LANSING—One way special interest groups which must deal with the Legislature can let their own members know how they view each person in either House or Senate is to rank the membership.

The practice is a long used one, especially in Washington where so many different groups lobby for so many different causes.

A member of Congress will usually rank at the top of one list or another. For example, if he receives a high rating from the Americans for Constitutional Action, a conservative group, he will probably receive a low rating from the Americans for Democratic Action, a liberal group.

Such ranking doesn't always involve all 435 members of the U.S. House or all 100 members of the Senate.

IN LANSING, members of the House, who are up for re-election this year, found themselves ranked by a new measuring stick: how they voted on issues relating to women.

The ratings were issued by the Michigan Women's Political Caucus. This involved eight separate legislative proposals voted on this year and 14 different roll call votes on the proposal itself or on procedural movements connected with the proposal.

The Women's Political Caucus measured reaction it thought appropriate and then recorded how each member voted.

Among the items checked were the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, a bill requiring equal pay for equal work, a bill prohibiting sex discrimination in public accommodations and the abortion bill.

THE LEGISLATOR with the best voting record, in the eyes of the women's caucus, is State Rep. Richard Allen of Ithaca. The Republican lawmaker voted "right" on 12 of the 14 votes, according to the women.

The "second best" lawmaker also was a man—James Defenbaugh—who was "right" 11 of the 14 times.

Tied for last place were four men—all Republicans. They all voted "right" on only one of the 14 issues as far as the woman were concerned. The four are Richard Ariske, Quincy Hoffman, Joe Smeekens and Joe Swallow.

Ironically, only one woman lawmaker ranked in the top 10, or in the group voting right more than half the time. She was Rep. Alma Stallworth, a Detroit Democrat.

Democrat Joyce Symons of Allen Park was the only other woman who managed at least a 50 percent mark as she voted according to the way the women's caucus thought she should have 7 of the 14 times.

WOMEN with the worst record are both Detroit Democrats: Rosetta Ferguson and Josephine Hunsinger. As most everyone must have noticed by now, the political season is in full swing.

That means an endless series of speeches, advertisements and signs hailing the virtues of this would-be office holder or that one. One of the favorite means through which a candidate establishes his name identify with voters is the sign—either a large billboard or one of those yard signs which multiply like rabbits shortly before an election.

Those yard signs of various sizes are causing a problem for the State Highway Department.

SUCH SIGNS have a way of popping up along state highway right-of-way. The department is pulling down as fast as possible.

"All campaign signs placed on state highway right-of-way will be removed immediately by maintenance forces," says Michigan Highway Director Henrik Stafseth.

He says the signs can be danerous and confusing along highways as they distract the attention of motorists from the place they should be watching—the highway.

Babson Report: Freeze to Limit Bargaining

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — When some major union contracts come up for renegotiation next year, there will undoubtedly still be limitations on wage increases under Phase 2 or some extension of it. Hence, liberalization of working conditions is likely to receive more emphasis at bargaining tables than large-scale raises. Two important issues will take center stage during 1973: Shortening the workweek and planning for earlier retirement.

More controversial of the two demands is that concerning a cut-back in the length of the workweek. While leaders in the auto and railway unions have placed the shorter workweek on the agenda for next year's bargaining, there is as yet no great rank-and-file pressure for such a measure.

The four-day week has become rather widespread over the past year or more in smaller industries, and its acceptance has been fairly enthusiastic where it is workable in terms of the industry involved—even though the ten-hour day has generally been retained. ONE THING, HOWEVER, IS CERTAIN. If the shorter workweek becomes a key bargaining point in autos and/or railways, the demand will be for a thirty-two-hour week spread over four days but at same take-home pay.

The forty-hour week accepted by many smaller industrial employe groups is definitely out as far as the big unions are concerned. This would mean a ten-hour day, which is scarcely doing away with job boredom—one of the chief reasons for considering cutting weekly hours.

Railway union chieftains are not overly enthusiastic about a four-day week, even though Railway Employees Department delegates unanimously endorsed the thirty-two-hour week at forty hours pay. The Machinists Association, pace setter for railway bargaining, has shown little interest in this issue. Nor is it expected to unless there is enough unemployment next year to create local support for the short workweek as a key to more jobs.

Even if there is overwhelming support for a shorter week, most labor officials will fight to the end against a ten-hour day—no matter what the pay situation. They will stress that the eight-hour day was a major goal of organized labor from the time of the first Federation convention in 1886, and surely not a prize to be lightly surrendered, even for the purpose of cutting unemployment.

THE UNITED Automobile Workers are not expected to draft bargaining demands in specific terms until next March, just before negotiations begin. But there is little doubt that the issue of early negotiations begin. But there is considerations, possibly with top priority.

A major cause of the prolonged strike against General Motors in 1970 was the determined union drive for retirement after thirty years in the plants, regardless of age. After this bitter battle, a compromise was reached, permitting retirement at age fifty-six after thirty years employment, with $500-a-month pension.

Look for renewed pressure at the bargaining table during 1973 to allow retirement after thirty years regardless of age.

Did you know that the U.S. has spent nearly $200 billion in foreign aid since the end of World War II? Much of it has gone to countries few of us have ever heard of. Your Congressman, Jack McDonald, has been fighting for tighter controls in foreign aid and government spending. He believes that we need to re-order our priorities so that more Federal funds can be directed to state and local governments. God's Word: A Mirror for Man

Reverend Ernest L. Crocker Wesleyan (Retired) Brighton

As Queen Elizabeth I of England advanced in age, her wrinkles deepened. The hapless master of the mint incurred the Queen's disfavor and was dismissed because of his producing a faithful likeness of her on a shilling. The die was destroyed.

The Queen's maids of honor, not wishing to displease the Queen removed all mirrors from the palace. An old journalist wrote: "The Queen had not the heart to look herself in the face for the last twenty years of her life."

God's Word is a mirror. As we read it the true condition of the heart is reflected. Too many people like the Queen refuse to look lest the wrinkles of the reflected heart be revealed. To see ourselves as God sees us ("He knoweth our hearts...") is the purpose of the Book.

Then, when God gets our attention He shows just as clearly how we can be recreated in Christ's likeness. The Psalmist prayed, "Create within me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me" (Ps. 51:10). It is closely followed by another just as real a promise, "Behold I make all things new"

Many are scared by the theological terms flying at them from our pulpits of "Repentance" and "Confession". But simply stated they mean that we tell God that what we see mirrored in His Word about ourselves is true and we want to see the picture changed.

We are assured that "The entrance of thy Word giveth light" (Ps 119:130) and that the Word within the heart protect it from sin: "Thy Word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee." (Ps 119:11).

Jesus said, "Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life. and they are they which testify of me." (John 5:39)

COFFEE, TEA AND CORNPLASTERS

There aren't many of us left who remember Sixbey's General Store. It was more than a store; it was a gathering place, a news bureau, a bright spot in a boy's summer afternoon.

You would come in from the hot dusty street, and the shaded store was cool. Immediately you encountered a tantalizing blend of scents — apples, licorice, spices and smoked ham. Grown-up conversation enhanced your feeling of excitement as they viewed and reviewed town happenings. You always took a long time to decide between a chocolate or a lemon drop, so that this exciting visit could be prolonged.

Our town has changed since then. For those of us whose memories linger in Sixbey's Store, it hardly seems the same place.

Yet one thing's the same. At the corner of Elm and Main, St. Mark's steeple still points skyward. Man's need for God never changes. And the Church remains constant as it teaches the truths of God's love and presence.

3 Days in Northville

Big Fair Opens Friday

Fun for youngsters and adults—that's the promise of Northville Chamber of Commerce officials as they prepare for the opening tomorrow (Friday) of the third annual Northville Fair.

The fair at the Northville Downs opens at noon tomorrow, closes at midnight, reopens at 9 a.m. Saturday and continues until midnight, and resumes at 9 a.m. and concludes at 11 p.m.

In addition to commercial displays, art exhibits, games of chance and all kinds of rides, this year's fair will feature a unique wild animal show and a demolition derby.

Another touch of variety will be added by the Northville Jaycees and the Jaycee Auxiliary, providing food and frolic under tent in the form of a Bavarian-style Summerfest with dancing, food and drink.

Gene Holter's nationally known "Movieland Animals" show will be staged Saturday, August 5 at 2 and 8 p.m.

Holter is owner of Movieland Animal Park in Bloomington, California and reputedly owns and trains more animals than any individual in the country.

In addition to racing ostriches and staging a tiger wrestling match, the exciting show includes elephants, zonies (half zebra-half pony) and zonkies (half zebra-half donkey), Appaloosa stallion, llamas, motion picture wonder dogs and stunt men, performing bears, Rocky the elephant featured in "Swiss Family Robinson" and the animal race from the same motion picture.

The ostrich races will feature local drivers, riding behind these big birds in chariots.

According to show officials, "driving an ostrich is like nothing else you've ever tried. To steer the bird you shake a special stick by the side of the bird's head. The bird turns from it. Stopping the bird, well, that's where the excitement comes in. Once started they don't like to stop."

The 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. animal shows will be seen from the Downs' air-conditioned grandstands. Tickets for the grandstand shows ($1 for children, $2 for adults) will go on sale at the grandstand entrances shortly before each show.

Sunday show action will feature thrills, spills and smashes of the "demolition derby" competition at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Spectators will watch the excitement from the grandstands, also.

Basically, a demolition derby means:

One by one drivers are eliminated as their cars suffer injuries that prevent movement. The last two drivers whose crippled cars can still move are eligible to compete in the feature event for the glories of championship and prize money.

In the feature event the one car that outrams and outdodges the others—the one that can still move amid the other smoldering piles of junk—is the one that earns the title of "Champion Destroyer."

These action-packed derbies are not exhibitions involving the world's top drivers in expensive racing equipment. Rather, audiences will be cheering their local favorites driving old automobiles unfit for anything except demolition or junk yards. Each junker will contain just two gallons of gasoline.

The action will take place on the Downs track in front of the grandstands.

As during past years, the Fair midway will be jammed with amusement rides for toddlers and adults, concession stands, and games of chance sponsored by local organizations.

Also, a horse show is again planned during the fair.

It will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, under the sponsorship of the Roamin' Riders of Northville, the Double N Riders of Northville and Novi, the Plymouth Bridle Club of Northville and Plymouth, and the Livonia Saddle Tramps.

The horse show is open to all riders, not just 4-Her's. Persons wishing information or registration forms are asked to call Mrs. Eddie Earehart, 349-0057, or Mrs. Robert Davidson, 349-0342.

Announcing the show will be R. Robert Geake.

New to the fair this year will be the Summerfest.

It will be located in a 40 x 100 foot tent just off the midway. Slated for all three days of the fair, it will include brass bands, pitcher beer, knockworst, dancing, and sing-along.

Besides light and dark beer

by the glass and pitcher, knockworst, pretzels, and German wines all during the daylight hours, dinner consisting of knockworst, German potato salad, sauerkraut, rolls and butter will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. each night

The Summerfest runs from 4 p.m. to midnight Friday, 10 a.m. to midnight Saturday, and noon to 10 p.m. Sunday. Jaycees also will host the second "Jaycee 500 Races" for boys and girls, ages three through 15. The races will get underway at 10 a.m. Saturday on the Downs race track.

Races will range from 500 inches for children on tricycles to 500 yards and longer for older youngsters, depending on age and bicycle size.

There's more to good meat than appearance, a name and a price... and we're determined to tell you!

When you buy a cut of meat from Chatham, we want you to know exactly what you are getting. So we give you an honest and direct name for every cut of meat we sell. And we do it right on the label.

As you look over the meats at Chatham, you'll notice the label tells you the special or fancy name. London Broil, Family Steak, Rotisserie Roast, etc. It also tells you the name of the basic cut: Sirloin, rib, round, etc. With this honest approach to labeling, you always know what you are buying no matter how it is cut, trimmed and packaged.

You can be sure of getting your money's worth, too. Because Chatham does not charge a fancy price for a fancy name. No matter what the cut, we label it like it is... and we price it like it is. Chuck is priced like chuck and round like round.

Chatham meat experts work hard to make sure you always get high quality meat... cut and trimmed to taste the best. As proof, we'll give you double your money back if you are not satisfied with your Chatham meat purchase.
