

Charlie Schoultz and His 1913 Chauffeur's License

For Car Drivers

Good Ol' Days Weren't So Good

The "good old days" may be alright for some things but when it comes to 81-year-old Charlie Schoultz opts for today's cars and today's highways.

Traffic jams and automobile pollution notwithstanding.

That's because Charlie, who has been driving cars since 1909, can recall little comfort in cranking up stubborn engines, eating dust and battling foot-deep ruts.

"Besides," he adds with a wry smile, "I hated horses."

Ever since he and Roy Ambler teamed up as teenagers to buy a mean "one-lunger" (second-hand one cylinder Oldsmobile), he has been involved with cars—first as a teen looking for thrills, then as a chauffeur, later for many years as a car repairman, and now as a retired senior citizen enjoying short trips in his 1966 Dodge.

When he first began "foolin' around" with cars, there probably were fewer than a dozen automobiles in Northville and its environs.

Paved streets were unheard of locally.

Horses, wagons, and sandy, dusty roads were commonplace.

He and Roy drove the one-lunger up Novi Road to Walled Lake, he recalls, on what then was a major excursion.

"By the time we got there the old thing was so hot it wouldn't stop running. We had to pour lake water on the engine to kill it."

A column in The Record reported:

"Roy Ambler and Charlie Schoultz are joint owners of an aut-to-go-bile. During the first try-out of this machine the boys observed a horse and buggy in front of them and gave the signal for the right of way. The rig went to Plymouth and met the boys when returning. Roy says the machine is safe."

Charlie, who admits to being a high school drop-out, soon graduated to a hand-some car.

"In those days you didn't need a license to drive unless you were a chauffeur," and that's what he wanted to become.

So he entered the Cadillac driving school over on Woodward Avenue. Spent two weeks there.

"I remember driving into the center of Detroit to where the streetcar tracks all came together. The engine died with the car right on the tracks. I wanted the guy (instructor) to get out and crank but he wouldn't budge. It was a test, I guess."

So while the streetcars clanged their bells and their drivers swore, Charlie climbed out of the Cadillac, madder than blazes at the smug instructor, and cranked the car to life.

Charlie got his chauffeur's license from the state in 1910 and began driving for the well-to-do Etherly family living in a mansion where the Chase house now

Citizens Slam Request

Rezoning Protested

If city councilmen were unaware that many citizens vehemently oppose a proposed Randolph Street rezoning they no longer have any doubts.

As they did at previous planning commission meetings, citizens packed the council chambers Monday to lodge their protests against the proposal of Joseph L. Hudson to rezone a parcel of Randolph Street property to permit development of an apartment complex.

Two of the leading opponents speaking Monday were former city councilman, John Canterbury, and former school board member, Donald Lawrence.

Despite the big turnout of citizens, however, Monday's meeting could not be considered a legal public hearing since the city failed to properly notify the community of the hearing.

The hearing on this request and on two other requests, involving Center Street property, has been rescheduled for Monday, August 21. Decision on at least the Hudson petition is expected at that time.

Rather than postpone discussion on the petitions for two weeks, council permitted citizen comments Monday hoping that most views would be expressed prior to the August 21 official hearing.

Hudson was not present Monday.

Lone member of the audience to voice support for the appeal of Hudson (the planning commission earlier voted to recommend denial of the rezoning) was Wallace Nichols, one of two planning commissioners who voted to recommend rezoning.

Nichols, as he stated earlier, reminded opponents that adjacent property to the east of the proposed apartment development is presently zoned commercial. The apartment complex, he argued, would form a "very good" buffer between the commercial property on the east and the residential property on the west.

(The proposed apartment property is located on the north side of Randolph, three houses from the corner of Center Street).

Obviously referring to Nichols, Canterbury in his presentation said, "I am not convinced by the arguments of one of the proponents of this rezoning. I am not doubting sincerity or honesty here. I'm just saying we who live in the neighborhood believe we know what we want and what is best for us. We appreciate his concern for us, but once he has expressed his personal subjective judgment and we have listened and disagreed, he could conclude he has done his duty."

Canterbury gave several reasons why he and other citizens oppose the rezoning. These basically included:

It would constitute "spot

MacDonald Big Winner; Cayley Defeats Tellam

Hotly contested races in Northville township brought a 40-per cent response in a drizzly Tuesday primary, but only 23 per cent of the city's registered voters went to the polls.

Township winners on the Republican side were Lawrence Wright for supervisor, Mrs. Sally Cayley for clerk, Joseph Straub for treasurer, John MacDonald and Richard Mitchell for trustees, and Paul DeJohn and James Schrot, constables.

Democratic nominees who will face the Republican slate in November are: Larry VanderMolen, supervisor; Michael Frice, clerk; Thomas Curran and Eugene Guido, trustees.

Competition was keenest in the Republican race for township clerk, a post given up this year by the incumbent, Mrs. Eleanor Hammond. Mrs. Fay Tellam collected 451 votes and topped her opponent by narrow margins in precincts one and two. But Mrs. Cayley ran up a 190 to 100 vote margin over Mrs. Tellam in precinct three to earn a victory by 78 votes.

The only two board incumbents running for reelection, Treasurer Joseph Straub and Trustee Richard Mitchell, won handily. Straub easily defeated three Republican opponents with 457 votes. Robert Adams finished second in the treasurer race with 261 votes.

Trustee Mitchell trailed newcomer John MacDonald in the Republican race for two seats in a field of four candidates. MacDonald led all candidates with 602 votes. Mitchell received 468 with Leon Pater finishing third with 399, and James Nowka, 375.

In the race to succeed retiring supervisor, Gunnar Stromberg, Wright topped his Republican opponent, Arthur Jahn, 570-371. VanderMolen collected 209 votes on the Democratic ticket.

Complete vote totals appear on page 6-A.

In what otherwise was a lackluster election, Northville voters in both the township and city backed State Representative Marvin Stempien, former city attorney here, in his successful bid for the Democratic nomination for the Second Congressional seat.

Stempien defeated his closest rival, former Nader Raider Walter Shapiro, by some 1,300 votes district-wide. Locally, heavily Republican weighted Northville gave Biggest vote-getter in Northville township's Tuesday primary election was John MacDonald, Republican nominee for trustee. He received 602 votes. Winner in the closest contest was Mrs. Sally Cayley, who topped Mrs. Fay Tellam 520-451 in the Republican race for clerk.

WINS BY BEAK—Staffer Phil Jerome drives his galloping ostrich to a disputed victory in Saturday races at the Downs during the Northville Fair. He edged out Arthur Jahn, a Fair

Council Brews Internal Fight

A sticky, controversial matter, involving a city councilman, appears to be reaching a boiling point as the council seeks parking area south of Cady Street.

Brewing ingredients are these:

- The council has for many months considered parking south of Cady, Center to Wing, to meet its parking commitment for the Northville Square Development.

- One of the properties considered for parking involves a house owned by Councilman Paul Folino on South Center Street.

- Folino insists, despite contrary opinion of his fellow councilmen, that his property was not included in the council's early plans, and he opposes parking on Center south of Cady.

- Folino has petitioned for rezoning of his Center Street property to permit moving of his insurance business from its present Main Street location. The petition comes up for hearing in two weeks.

- While the council encourages his business relocation so that his Main Street property may become part of the Northville Square development, it looks with some disfavor at its relocation to Center Street.

- Folino has laid it on the line: if he can't move his business on Center or to some other suitable downtown location, he will remain where he is but he will continue to oppose parking on South Center.

- Some councilmen see a conflict of interest developing in which the council could be severely criticized for developing parking south of Cady, excluding only Folino's property, which, if rezoned, would be more valuable as an island amid parking area.

This past Monday, in considering authorization to obtain an appraisal of properties south of Cady and permit negotiation with owners up to the appraised values, the council refuted Folino's contention that it had decided to exclude Folino's property from appraisal.

Furthermore, Mayor A. M. Allen emphasized that to exclude the Folino property would be improper.

Angered, Folino said he would not allow his property to be appraised by James Cutler, the appraiser normally used by the city, charging that his appraisals

NEWS BRIEFS

DON'T LOOK for a new super highway bridge to Rural Hill Cemetery. It appears now, as council attempts to pare costs for the proposed new bridge, that it will settle on an unpaved, two lane bridge without a sidewalk and curbs. The engineer has been authorized to whittle down the project in negotiation with the low bidder.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS, operating during hours when children are walking to school and returning, may be in the offing as the city seeks permission from Wayne and Oakland counties and the State Police for the speed reducing signals on either side of Taft Road on Eight Mile Road. While the permits are sought, officials also are attempting to get the school district to share cost of the signal installation.

FENCING plans at the Novi Road bridge, south of Allen Drive, have been approved by the city and officials are now seeking an Oakland County permit for its erection. The fencing is aimed at discouraging youngsters from darting into traffic while playing near the bridge.

A REQUEST by Orson Atchison to permit an addition to the bump shop opposite the city hall has been denied upon recommendation of a planning subcommittee, mainly on grounds that the existing business is non-conforming. The addition, it was noted, would require rezoning—not merely site and architectural plan approval.

Niemi-Poole Vows Repeated in Redford

Nancy Anne Niemi and James Thomas Poole II were married July 15 in a double ring ceremony at St. John's Lutheran Church, Redford Township.

The Reverend Karlo J. Keljo performed the marriage of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin S. Niemi, 46078 Pickford Court, to the son of Mrs. James T. Poole, 40365 Washington, and the late Mr. Poole.

The altar and aisles were decorated with bouquets of Fuji mums and greens. Soloist Jo Kitzman, of Livonia, sang "Oh Perfect Love" and "Because."

The bride chose a gown of organza and Cluny lace. It featured long sleeves, empire styling and a full skirt with a matching organza and lace train. Her bouquet was a cascade of Fuji mums, yellow roses and fresh greens.

Kathleen McDermott of Northville was maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow flocked voile and carried a nosegay of daisies, white carnations, pink roses and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Sharon Van Buren, Deanne Mahaney, Cindy Ware and Lois Bolton, all of Northville. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the maid of honor's.

Darlene Murphy, of Mt. Clemens, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Dave Gilbrite of Long Island, New York, was best man. Ushers were Jim Niemi, Northville, brother of the bride, Richard Smith, of Grosse Pointe, Frank Kuzinski, of Farmington, and Gary Boyer of Novi.

A reception for 175 wedding guests was held at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. Guests were present from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois, California and Canada.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Northville High School and attended Grand Valley State College. The bridegroom graduated from Novi High School in 1969 and attended Oakland Community College before entering the United States Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Poole II will be living in Knob Noster, Missouri, while he is stationed at Whiteman Air Force Base.

ROTARY GUESTS—Japanese students and their teachers in Northville until next Monday are being hosted by the Northville Rotary Club. They are shown here as they returned from a trip to Greenfield Village. The visit was brought about by Mrs. Joseph Holman's friendship with Masara Kikuchi, coordinator of the Cultural Exchange Program. Jan Reef accompanied the group.

Japanese Students Visit U.S.

The Northville Rotary Club came to the assistance of Mrs. Joseph Holman of Beck Road when she asked them to help her house 18 Japanese students and their two teachers during their 10 day stay in Northville.

The Northville visitors are in the United States as part of the Cultural Exchange Program for students from many Japanese high schools and colleges.

Coordinator of the program, Masaru Kikuchi, is an old friend of Mrs. Holman. Kikuchi met Mrs. Holman's brother, John Hooper in 1950 while Hooper was stationed in Japan with the United States Air Force during the Korean War.

In Japan, Kikuchi became a teacher and had been living in Tokyo. From 1960 to 1962 he came to the United States and lived with Mrs. Holman's brother in California while he studied there. It was then that Mrs. Holman met Kikuchi.

The students arrived in Northville August 5 and will be here until August 14. During their stay, the Rotarians not only have found local families to house them, they have also planned activities for the group.

According to Herman Moehlman, Northville Rotary International Relations chairman, the students were taken on a tour of Greenfield Village and attended a Tiger baseball game.

The Rotary Club also hosted the students and teachers at a picnic last Tuesday.

The 18 students in Northville this month are just a few of the 350 Japanese students currently in the United States through the Cultural Exchange Program.

Through the same program, the Holman's daughter, Mary Jo, studied in Japan for a year and will be returning this week. The Holman's will host a Japanese girl, Michiko Ochiai, for a year while she attends Northville High School. Michiko arrived in Northville this week.

News Around Northville

Dr. and Mrs. Dale Kiser, of Westview, will be moving to Wisconsin this month so their friends have been planning parties in their honor.

The Fred Zillich, 350 Sherrie Lane, invited 15 couples to roast shish-kebob and say goodbye to the Kisers.

Dr. and Mrs. Kiser were presented with an album containing pictures of all the couples at the party and an engraved door knocker for their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Mathes will host the Kisers and some of their friends on Saturday.

A newly organized group of parents of severely handicapped children is seeking members from the Northville area.

Interested local parents are urged to contact Mrs. Rosemary Angelotti, 8084 Cortland, Allen Park (DU 8-1741).

The organization enables parents to properly present their special needs for education of their children to appropriate county or state agencies.

Two local area youngsters, David Bach of Northville and Danny Rother of Novi, have been named winners in the national Lego "Make-A-Model" contest sponsored by Samsonite Toys, a division of Samsonite Corporation.

Both were third prize winners, receiving Lego sets to continue their creative building.

All models entered in competition were made of Lego building pieces, which come in bricks and gears of assorted sizes, roof and ridge tiles, windows, doors, wheels, axles, turntables and tires.

Deborah J. Burkeen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Burkeen, 44317 Chedworth, Northville, is among 450 new students who have been accepted for the fall term at Taylor University, Upland, Indiana. She was graduated from Northville High School.

New student activities, September 3-5, will include orientation sessions, tests, auditions, and social events.

Four Northville residents were in Ypsilanti recently for freshman orientation programs at Eastern Michigan University.

Attending were: Peter Bedford, 19450 Beck Road; Eric Johnson, 404 Dubuar; Jeffrey Sleete, 19939 Schoolhouse; Karon Tyler, 18383 Jamestown Circle.

Overture to Opera

Group Plans Season

The Northville Overture to Opera committee is "very excited" about the new opera season, according to Committee Chairman Mrs. Ernest Shave.

Mrs. Shave and three other committee members recently attended a tea at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. Lynn A. Townsend to hear plans for the three operas to be presented at the Music Hall in Detroit by Detroit's only professional opera company. With that over, the Northville committee soon will begin planning its annual "Something Sale". Mrs. Shave said, "We call it a 'Something Sale' because we have something new, something old, something hot and something cold to sell."

This year the sale will be on August 26 in front of the Bogart and Henrikson Insurance Agency at 311 East Main Street.

Mrs. Shave along with committee members Mrs. Paul Hughes, Mrs. John Mowat, and Mrs. Donald Ware listened as Dr. David DiChiera, Overture to Opera general director, told the 150 volunteers at the tea about the operas to be presented.

The new season will include: Mozart's "Così Fan Tutte" on September 28 and 30 and October 6 and 7; Puccini's "Tosca" on October 27 and 28 and November 2 and 4; and Menotti's "The Medium" and "The Telephone" on December 7, 9, 15 and 16.

Ticket prices are $3, $5, $7 and $9 for single performances and from $8 to $23 for season tickets. They can be ordered from any of the Northville Overture to Opera Committee members.

Members of the committee who did not attend the tea are Mrs. Robert Bogart, Patricia Dorrian, Mrs. Michael W. Huesing, Mrs. Edward G. Kelly, Jr., Mrs. Robert H. Shafer, Mrs. Charles E. Wheatley and Mrs. B. A. Zayti.

Mrs. Shave said this year the committee is planning to have charter buses from Northville to Detroit for each of the operas as it did last season.

Women Win Golf Prizes

The Northville Newcomers Club held its annual women's golf tournament last week at Brooklane Golf Course. Winners were awarded cash prizes in three categories.

Seventeen women participated in the 18 hole contest.

Mrs. Robert DeAlexandris won with a low net score of 53. A gross score of 88 made Mrs. Robert Holloway winner in that category. Mrs. Harvey Tull won putting honors with a score of 33 for the 18 holes.

Family Projects Highlight Home

The Richard Wheaton home is a family project.

The house is a collection of handmade projects and items converted or redone by members of the Wheaton family.

Actually, the house was built by Mollberg Construction which is owned by Mrs. Wheaton's three brothers, Dewey, Lene and Russell.

The large ranch style home in Northville Township will be open to the public in September for the Northville Presbyterian Church's sixth annual Homes Tour.

The Wheatons found the plan for the house and commissioned Mrs. Wheaton's brothers to build it. That, along with the many original touches put into the house by Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton and their three children, has given the house a personality all its own.

The front door of the house was hand hewn by the Mollberg brothers. On it is a Swedish door knocker Wheaton purchased during a family vacation in Sweden.

In the vestibule there is a bench made from a wagon seat with horses harnes for legs by Mrs. Wheaton's father. The large latch rug on the floor was a project completed by Mr and Mrs. Wheaton.

The grandfather clock at the end of the hall was made by Mrs. Wheaton's 81-year old uncle from Sweden. He was a contractor in Sweden and is now retired. The clock was made in parts and shipped to America. During a recent visit to Northville, he assembled it. "The wood is unfinished," said Mrs. Wheaton, "but in Sweden they don't finish their wood."

Of the living room, Mrs. Wheaton said, "I like this room because of my windows." The four narrow windows have mutton bars and are separated by porch posts which her brothers sawed in half. Roman Shades on them were made by Mrs. Wheaton from material with red and green flowers.

The living room fireplace was taken from an old house. On the mantle stands a large ceramic owl, one of several in Mrs. Wheaton's collection.

On a shelf above the mantel are two Mary Gregory vases which were found in Mrs. Wheaton's mother's antique shop in Galein, Michigan.

To the right of the fireplace is the family's organ. Above it hangs Mrs. Wheaton's grandfather's violin. While in high school, Mrs. Wheaton took lessons on the same violin.

Between the two groupings of windows is the piano. The picture that hangs above it is of Wheaton's great-grandmother and is still in the original frame.

At the far end of the living room is a solid roll-top desk. According to Mrs. Wheaton, it is probably older than the slat-type roll top desks for they were a newer innovation than the solid tops.

An ice cream table with four wire chairs stands in front of the desk. Next to the desk is a spinning wheel which Mrs. Wheaton said still works.

Mrs. Wheaton said that many of the items in their home are "collectables" rather than antiques. "I don't really care whether it's old or not; if I like it, I buy it," she said.

The chandelier which hangs over a handmade serving cart in the living room is one of two in the house from Europe. Both chandeliers have been converted from gas to electric.

The Wheaton children have helped decorate their own bedrooms.

Rene, 15, has a room done in red, white and blue. The one piece of furniture that stands out is the four poster bed. On top of it are perched two rag dolls, two China face dolls, a teddy bear and two dolls made by Mrs. Wheaton.

The round latch rug on the floor is another of Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton's projects.

Derek, who is 14, decided to have a room with a mixture of early American and nautical furnishings. In one corner at the ceiling is a piece of netting with sea shells. Early American flavor was added to the room with a large trunk at the foot of his bed.

Glenn, 11, has a room wallpapered with old posters to give his room an oldtime theme.

The second of the European chandeliers hangs in the large master bedroom.

The quilt on the king-size bed was made by Wheaton's grandmother, mother, and great-aunt. It, too, is king-size. Mrs. Wheaton said it took the women a whole winter to make it, for there is not a machine stitch in it.

Above the bed is an arrangement of family pictures. Many of them are in old frames.

The lamp on the bedside table was a gift to Mrs. Wheaton from her cousin in Sweden. The shade is done in what the Swedish call birch embroidery. A piece of material is put onto a frame and then the threads are sewn together to make lace-like designs. The material was then glued onto a lampshade.

The children's bedtime prayer sampler was embroidered by Mrs. Wheaton's mother. "I could remember looking at that just before I fell asleep as a child so I asked my mother for it," Mrs. Wheaton said. It now hangs on the wall of the master bedroom.

Just inside the doorway there is an old bureau with a marble top. The wall hanging above it is hand carved mother of pearl depicting the birth of Christ. The carving was placed on red velvet inside a glass covered frame.

Hanging in the doorway leading from the bedroom to the dressing room are strings of wooden beads.

The light fixture in the kitchen was taken from a Tiffany-type lamp, and the shade is made of carmel colored glass.

The wallpaper in the room is carried through in the kitchen curtains. Mrs. Wheaton made the kitchen curtains, as she did all the curtains and drapes in the house, and trimmed them with material the same pattern and color as the wallpaper. The glass tie backs for them were found in her mother's antique shop.

Just off the kitchen is the spacious family room. The beams on the ceiling and the wood over the fireplace mantle were, like the front door, hand hewn by Mrs. Wheaton's brothers.

Wallpaper printed with old advertisements decorates the walls and ceiling in both the family room and dining area.

Above the mantel hang many more of Mrs. Wheaton's "collectables". Among them are a coffee grinder, a vegetable slicer, cigar molds, a wool carder, a bracket lamp with reflector, and a regulator clock.

To the right of the fireplace hangs an old fashioned wall telephone. Beneath that is a hired man's bed.

Mrs. Wheaton explained that people used to keep small beds in the kitchen for the hired man to rest on after meals and before he went out to finish his work.

The round oak table in the dining area is another item in the house with a family story to it. The pedestal table with claw feet is the same one on which Mrs. Wheaton's mother played cards as a girl. At one time it belonged to friends of her family. They passed it on to her for her antique shop and Mrs. Wheaton found it there.

Chatham Extends Store Hours Here

Northville's Chatham supermarket is now open daily until midnight and Sundays from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Announcement of new store hours for all Chatham Complete Food Centers was made this week by Bernard Weisberg, Chatham president.

Seventeen of the 33 Chatham markets will be open 24-hours a day beginning Sunday. All other stores, including the Northville market, will adopt the midnight schedule.

A spokesman for the supermarket chain stated that it is possible that other stores, including Northville, could go to the round-the-clock schedule, "if there's customer demand."

According to Weisberg, "The decision to provide customers with 24-hour service is the most recent example of our continuing policy to give consumers services equal to or better than competition day in and day out."

"Combined with our lowest overall food prices, 24-hour service provides customers with a combination of benefits unavailable anywhere else in the Detroit area."

Weisberg added that "recent surveys gave us conclusive evidence that the trend to late hour shopping is growing every day. And if that's what customers want, it's our responsibility to provide it."

Another step taken by Chatham recently to meet consumer demand is the introduction of new meat labels that give shoppers more detailed information about the meats they buy. Now the portions of meat are identified by their special names as well as the basic cuts. Still another example of Chatham's concern for the consumer is the fact that they introduced unit pricing to Detroit area shoppers more than two years ago.

Set Swimming Program

Northville High School's swimming pool will be open to the public during the week of August 14-19 for a special one-week open swimming program. Northville Swim Coach Ben Lauber announced Monday

The pool will be opened from 1-5 every afternoon. Lauber noted, and a night session is planned from 7-9 p.m. Tuesday.

There is an admission fee of 65 cents for children and $1 for adults.

Veteran Novi Fireman Dies, Services Today

Jim Hensley, the bewhiskered old man whose never-failing attendance at every fire have earned him a minor niche in the history of Novi, died Saturday in Botsford Hospital.

He had collapsed earlier in the day at the corner of Novi Road and Grand River - the spot where his presence had become as much a part of the Novi scene as the stop light or Ben's Novi Inn.

"It's hard to believe Jim's gone," said Robert Starnes, a sergeant in the Novi Police Department. "He had become a part of Novi. I've always fully suspected that even when Novi is filled with shopping centers and skyscrapers, you'd still be able to go down to the four corners and see Jim Hensley sitting there keeping his eye on things."

"He was a likable fellow," added Duane Bell, a long time friend through a mutual association with the Novi Fire Department.

"There were a few who took exception to the fact he didn't care much for baths, but he had become a fixture in Novi. He was so much a part of the everyday scene that if a day would go by in which you didn't see Jim Hensley walk by, you'd ask yourself where he was."

Hensley's only known relative, a brother, died ten years ago. Since that time the old man, he was 74 when he died Saturday, has been unemployed, living off his social security checks.

"Jim's whole life was the Novi Fire Department," said Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole. He was usually the first to arrive at the scene of a fire and he was always the last to leave. It was his entire life.

Following the pronouncement of death, BeGole pried open the foot locker Hensley had been allowed to maintain in the fire department after completing his service and patched together a history from the various scraps of paper and his own recollections.

James Hensley was born in Boyd, Kentucky, in 1897 and later served in World War One. In 1942 he was drafted into the Second World War at the age of 45 and served until October 1943.

He came to Michigan shortly after his discharge and worked in his brother's tool shop in Farmington until ten years ago when the brother died and the shop was closed.

In 1951 Jim Hensley joined the Novi Fire Department, serving until two years ago.

Among the papers and memorabilia found in the foot locker were a picture of him in his World War I uniform, several old army pins and awards, and at least 10 badges he had accumulated in different roles from Public Safety Officer of Novi Township to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy.

"What Jim was best known for," said BeGole, "was his old coupe. He had many cars, but the one he was known for was a 1953 DeSoto Club Coupe that he had decorated up like a Christmas tree with sirens and flashing red lights. We counted them once and found a total of 19 red lights on that car."

"Jim used to get in his car and drive down to the four corners here on Grand River and wait for the fire whistle to blow. The funny thing was that people would come whipping down Grand River and see Jim sitting there with all his red lights and think he was a policeman. He really used to slow them up fast."

"It was kind of fitting that his last appearance in Novi was right at those four corners," BeGole continued. "That was his spot. He went down there Saturday and that's where he collapsed."

Officers received the call at approximately 5:30 p.m. and administered oxygen until the Fire Department arrived with the resuscitator shortly later.

Hensley was transported by ambulance to Botsford Hospital where doctors told BeGole that night that he was in satisfactory condition and the collapse had been due to malnutrition and dehydration.

Later that evening, he suffered a bleeding ulcer which brought on a massive heart attack.

Hensley was a pauper at the time of death. Contributions from the police and fire departments, as well as a collection taken by friends and acquaintances will help to defray funeral expenses.

He will be buried Thursday (today) on a city plot in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens at the corner of Novi and Twelve Mile Roads following services at the Harbin Funeral Home at 2 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to the funeral, BeGole said. Coffee will be served in the fire hall following the funeral.

TRAGIC SETTING—A diver from the Michigan State Police walks back to the shore after locating the body of Novi's Anthony Thomas Kruvelis, 51, in 10 feet of water approximately 200 yards off the shore of Walled Lake. Looking grimly on are Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole (far left) and Grant Dale, South Lyon Police Chief and brother-in-law of the deceased man. Kruvelis drowned a week ago Tuesday after the boat in which he was fishing capsized. The body was recovered Wednesday morning.

Coy, O'Brien Win In Primary Races

Two local candidates were successful in their bids for election in Tuesday's state-wide primary.

Incumbent Lew Coy of Wixom, running unopposed for the Republican nomination for Oakland County Commissioner from the 24th district, polled 1,759 votes to lead all local vote getters.

Opposing Coy in November will be William O'Brien, a Novi city councilman, who outdistanced a field of four for the Democratic nomination.

Without the incentive of local issues and hindered by day-long showers, voter turnout in both Novi and Wixom was predictably light.

In Novi 1,061 of 4,328 registered voters showed up at the polls, a voter turnout of a little less than 25 percent. The Wixom turnout was slightly better as 372 of 1,143 registered voters cast ballots, a turnout of 32 percent.

Four years ago in the 1968 primary election 21 percent of Novi's registered voters showed up at the polls, while 38 percent of the Wixom electorate turned out.

Although Coy and O'Brien were successful in their bids for election, three other local candidates met with failure.

Most ambitious of the local candidates was Novi councilman Denis Berry who was attempting to unseat incumbent Clifford Smart for the Republican nomination in the 24th State Representative District.

Smart, the Republican Leader in the House of Representatives, easily won election to his fifth two-year term, polling 5,045 ballots. Berry with 270 votes ran third behind Sam Bailo who drew 559 votes.

Berry was outpolled by Smart even in Novi where the veteran legislator outpolled the city councilman 435-156.

The remaining two local candidates were both in the race for the Democratic nomination for Oakland County Commissioner won by O'Brien Glenn Betts, a Novi resident, finished second in the race with 156 votes, less than half O'Brien's 322 winning total. John M. Gillis of Wixom was third with 141 votes, while Benjamin Bundo, Junior, a Walled Lake man, finished fourth in the race with 88 votes.

Much of O'Brien's winning margin was provided by Novi voters, who gave him 135 tallies, as opposed to 59 for Betts, 30 for Gillis, and 18 for Bundo. Gillis was the leading Democratic vote-getter in the Wixom balloting, drawing 28 votes. Betts ran second in Wixom with 21 votes, while Bundo drew 13 and O'Brien 10. O'Brien will have his work cut out for him in attempting to unseat Coy, who drew heavily, though unopposed, in each city. Novi cast 467 votes for Coy, while Wixom added 171 ballots to his total.

Novi and Wixom voters were in agreement with state and county-wide voters on the two proposals on the ballot. An amendment to the state constitution that would permit trial by a jury of less than 12 members in misdemeanor was ratified 600-241 in Novi and 184-86 in Wixom. The amendment was adopted by a 2-1 margin on the state level.

Voters rejected a proposal to raise the millage for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority (which operates Kensington Park among others) from one-fourth of a mill to one-half of a mill. The proposal failed by a 321-535 margin in Novi and by a 68-205 margin in Wixom.

In the race for the Republican nomination to the United States Congress from the 19th District, local voters endorsed Jack McDonald by 2-1 margins even though William Broomfield was the eventual winner in the district. McDonald outpolled Broomfield 455-198 in Novi and 157-73 in Wixom. Broomfield will oppose Democrat George F. Mon-gomery, who was unopposed Tuesday, in November.

An area of agreement between local and county voters was the race for prosecuting attorney where incumbent Thomas Plunkett defeated Anthony Rene for the Democratic nomination. Plunkett received the nod over Renee 138-63 in Novi and 53-12 in Wixom.

Former Detroit Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen won the Democratic nomination for Oakland County sheriff over Ruel McPherson and Leo Hazen won the Republican nomination for the same

In Walled Lake

Novi Man Drowns

Anthony Thomas Kruvelis, 51, a long-time Novi resident, drowned Tuesday, August 1, when the boat in which he was fishing capsized and sank 200 yards off the shores of Walled Lake.

The accident was witnessed by Kruvelis' 27-year old son, Thomas Kruvelis, Junior, who had been watching his father from the shore.

A second man in the boat, Robert Lemus, 27, of Detroit, was rescued by two men who had heard the shouts and raced in their boat to the scene.

The two rescuers, Herman Worley, 31, and Sterling Worley, 27, both of 1109 South Lake Drive, and young Kruvelis, who had swam the 200 yard to the scene, were unable to locate the body of the elder Kruvelis.

Divers from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the Michigan State Police were summoned to the scene of the tragedy which occurred at approximately 7:40 p.m. and remained until 11 p.m. when the search was called off until the next day.

The body was found in approximately 10 feet of water 20 minutes after the divers renewed their search Wednesday morning.

Police obtained the following story from information supplied by the deceased's son and Lemus, the passenger in the boat.

The two men had been fishing off the dock in front of the Kruvelis residence at 1201 South Lake Drive when they decided to continue their fishing in a boat.

They proceeded to row a 12 foot aluminum pram about 200 yards from the shore, where Kruvelis instructed Lemus to throw in the anchor. As Lemus was following the instructions, Kruvelis noticed that the anchor rope was not secure and jumped up to grab it. With both men standing on the same side of the boat, it capsized, throwing them into the water. The boat sank immediately.

Police learned that Lemus did not know how to swim, and observers reported he was going down for the "third time" when the Worley brothers arrived on the scene and tossed him a life jacket.

The elder Kruvelis was reported to be an experienced swimmer, but was believed to be extremely weak from heavy manual labor done earlier in the day.

The Oakland County Medical Examiner reported that the body had a deep gash over the left eye, which could have been received when the boat capsized, rendering him unconscious.

Novi School Board

Approve Millage Hike

Novi School Board members approved a one mill hike in operating millage for the 1972-73 school year, raising taxes in the cities of Novi and Wixom portions of the district to 33.33 mills and in the Novi township portion to 32.33 mills.

The mill was approved by voters in June, 1971, as part of a 5-mill package. However, only four of the additional mills were levied last year for operation.

Board President LaVerne DeWaard said that "if the board had known last year what we know now, we would have levied the additional mill last year."

Assistant Superintendent Dr. William Barr told the board the district will be borrowing funds through the school bond loan fund "so we won't have to ask the voters for another mill."

Based on a state equalized valuation of $58,291,505, the district will raise $1,941,402.21 from the tax levy.

Broken down, the millage rate includes 7.3 mills for debt levy, 16.5 mills extra voted operating millage and 9.53 allocated operating millage from the county in Wixom and Novi city portions of the district and 8.53 operating millage from the county in the Novi township section.

Dr. Barr explained the lower millage rate in the township portion is due to the township's one mill operating levy being taken out of the school district's share.

In other action, the school board went on record as supporting a change in state constitution to allow for a graduated income tax instead of the flat rate presently used. Board members said they view the graduated income tax as being more fair than the flat rate tax, although they realize the graduated tax will place the burden on the middle income levels.

that action has been resolved in the favor of the city by Monday, the hearings will be further delayed. City Manager George Athas said Tuesday.

The second public hearing concerns the paving of Meadowbrook Road between Nine and Ten Mile. If the council sees fit, it will pass resolution number six, approving the special assessment roll.

Trustees also voted to support the elimination of property tax for financing schools.

Trustees Ray Warren, Gilbert Henderson, William Moak and Robert Wilkins supported the motion, while DeWaard cast the lone dissenting vote.

DeWaard stated he could "not see where the local district will benefit in years to come from zero property tax. We're going to lose control to the state, as I see it."

Henderson said he has never been impressed with the amount of control local boards presently have since most of the district's finances are controlled by outside sources.

Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz noted that opponents of using the property tax to finance school district say it is inequitable, but "with the provision for six mills for enrichment purposes allowed to be levied by local districts, the richer districts will be able to levy that while the poorer ones will not. That's also inequitable."

Name Winners In Horse Show

A total of 98 children and adults entered one or more of the 40 events held at the third annual 4-H Horse Show during the Northville Fair Sunday.

According to Robert Geake, announcer, the show attracted 296 entries. It featured three rings, with performances taking place simultaneously.

Archery Winners

Brian Prom and Scott Millard twanged their way to honors in the Northville Recreation Department's Archery Tournament Saturday at the Scout-Recreation Building on Cady Street.

Prom's victory came in the 11 year old and over category, while Millard took first place in the 10 and under classification.

There were 12 competitors in each bracket.

Other winners in the 11 and older bracket were Jim Klaeser, second; Tom Herbel, third; Kurt Romberg, fourth; an Jean Wilson and Luke Murray, tied for fifth.

Winners in the younger division were Jim Herbel, second, Mike Olgren, third, and Theresa Norris, fourth.

FAIR'S A SUCCESS—With an estimated turnout of 100,000 persons over the three day period, N. C. Schrader, chairman of the Northville Chamber of Commerce's third annual community fair, billed it a big success. And because it also was a success financially, Schrader said the non-profit organizations that sponsored booths and concession stands will not be charged any fees. The chairman, who was assisted by Arthur Jahn, Les Bowden, and Glenn Long, said none of the 11 organizations with booths earned less than $150 and one earned more than $1,500. The chamber paid its costs through money earned in midway rides and from tickets sold for the four grandstand shows. Biggest crowd turnout for a show occurred at Sunday night's presentation of the Demolition Derby. Although several local drivers were entered in the two Derby shows Sunday none was able to post a win. All drivers, however, gave fans plenty of thrills as they bumped, thumped and smashed their way over the track junk yard. Crowds were smaller Saturday for the wild animal show but nevertheless enthusiastic. It featured trick riders, ostrich, camel and what-have-you races as well as an animal parade, dog and chimp show. Big success on the midway was the Jaycees Bavarian tent where beer and German food were served up day and night.

Citizens Protest Randolph Rezoning Petition

zoning," the planning commission has rejected it and council is not justified in overriding the commission's recommendation unless the general good of the community is "clearly and definitely" established; it would constitute "one more step" towards downgrading and deterioration of a "fine old residential area"; it is undesirable from a standpoint of traffic and safety; the petitioner has changed plans in respect to the number of apartment units; and the proposed private development would be out of the price range for senior citizens who need housing.

Canterbury, who lives a few doors away from the proposed apartment development, and other citizens in the neighborhood and elsewhere in the community demand that the house presently located on the property be preserved.

And when Councilman Paul Folino told citizens he has been negotiating with Hudson for purchase of the property, that he would hope to preserve the house, and that perhaps, at some future date, the back portion of the property could be used for apartments while preserving the old house, Canterbury responded, "You won't be doing us any great favor..."

Noting that he is not a resident of the "inner city," Lawrence, who lives in Northville Estates, voiced fear that the city is becoming another "suburb of hamburger joints."

Lawrence urged preservation of the city's "character," and he added, "I think it's about time you consider those who live in the town rather than trying to attract (outside) development."

objections to the proposed removal of the existing house, reportedly built in 1873, and development of the apartment complex come from all areas of the community—not just in the Randolph Street area.

Furthermore, many of the signers, said Mrs. Reeside, are senior citizens for whom housing is sought by the city.

William Stockhausen, 218 Dunlap, responded to Nichols' comments by saying residents preferred to deal with the current problem—that of the apartment proposal—and deal later with the commercial problem when and if it arises.

Speaking on behalf of the Northville Historical Society, which has been a major proponent of preservation of the house, John Burkman said the Society was informed

Saturday that the house in question together with some 80 other old homes in Northville, have been approved by the United States Department of Interior for inclusion in the National Register of Historically significant buildings.

Recognition of the houses has long been a goal of the Society, which hopes now to spearhead enactment of an historical district ordinance restricting removal or major alteration to the buildings.

took officials to task for "too much" parking area.

City Manager Frank Ollendorf, who recommended to council that the rezoning petition be denied, defended the existing and proposed parking ratio while noting that the council's parking provisions, in his opinion, fall short of the city's future needs.

Church Plans Bible School

St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold its annual Vacation Bible School beginning Monday, August 14, and running through August 21.

Classes are planned for all children from age four through 13 in the church parish hall and the Christian Day School classrooms.

Classes will be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Theme of the year's course of study is "My God, My Faith, My Life."

Besides the Bible lessons - taught each day, the school will feature handicraft, games, songs and refreshments. No pre-registration is necessary for the classes, the Reverend Charles F. Boerger, pastor, said. All children in the community are welcome to attend.

The church is located at the corner of Elm and High streets in Northville.

Developers Seek Novi Taps

Two requests for sewer taps were heard by the Novi city council Monday.

J. Adler, who owns a 20-acre parcel east of Novi Road between Nine and Ten Mile Roads submitted a request for 150 sewer taps.

The property, known formerly as Mac's Berry Patch, carries a R-2-A (multiple family dwellings) zoning on the front section and a M-1 (light manufacturing) zoning on the rear section.

Due to the lack of available sewer taps in the area, Adler's name and request were added to the city's "waiting list" for taps.

The second request was submitted by Nate Shapero, who inquired about the availability of sewer and water facilities for his 40-acre parcel north of Eight Mile Road.

The property is the Apple Crest Farms orchard west of Haggerty Road. Shapero told the council in a letter that he was ready to develop the land as soon as sewer and water became available.

Fight Brews

in previous cases have been unfair.

When it was suggested that a different appraiser be used in Folino's case, the councilman reluctantly agreed, but steadfastly insisted that his property is not for sale—no matter what the appraised figure.

Which brings up still another problem: should the city determine that the property is indeed vital to the overall parking plan and should it fail to negotiate a "fair" purchase price, the council could begin condemnation proceedings against one of its own members.

OBITUARIES

MRS. THOMAS COUSINS
Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday, August 11, for Mrs. Thomas I. (Jennie H.) Cousins of Delray Beach, Florida, formerly of Northville.

Officiating at the services at Casterline Funeral Home will be the Reverend Henry Walch, retired pastor of Plymouth Presbyterian Church, with burial in Roseland Park Cemetery, Berkeley.

An Eastern Star memorial service will be held at 8 p.m. today (Thursday) at the funeral home.

Mrs. Cousins died August 6 at her home in Florida after a short illness.

She was born in Alpena, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Huard. Her husband, Thomas Ide Cousins, died in 1926.

She lived in Northville from 1921 through 1942 and served as a librarian at the public library and as township clerk.

While in Northville, she operated Cousins Dry Goods on Main Street.

In 1942, she moved to Ann Arbor where she operated the Cousins Shop until moving to Florida in 1960.

She was a member of the Northville Methodist Church, the Women's Club, WNFCA and Orient Chapter of the Eastern Star.

Surviving are two sons, Robert T. of Edison, Pennsylvania, Alfred W. of Delray Beach, four daughters, Marion V. and Eunice M. both of Delray Beach, Mrs. Paul (Frances) Steencken of Northville, Mrs. John (Elizabeth) Dean of Knoxville, Tennessee, 10 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

HAROLD PARMENTER
Funeral services were held Monday, August 7, for Harold Monroe "Cider" Parmenter of 117 Fairbrook, a lifetime resident of Northville, who died August 3 in St. Mary hospital. He was 71.

Born April 20, 1901, in Northville, he was the son of Wallace A. and Maude (Carr) Parmenter.

A former employee of Ford Motor Company's Northville Valve Plant, having retired in 1965, he was a member of Ford's retiree's club, VFW Post 4012, American Legion Post 147 and Northville Masonic Lodge 186 F & A.

Surviving are his widow, the former Lucille Strawser, his mother, Mrs. Maude Bray of Northville, a son, Robert Parmenter of Big Bay, a daughter, Marjorie Tabor of Northville, two sisters, Mrs. Genevieve Ely of Florida, Mrs. Vivian Junod of Northville, five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Guenther Branstner of the First United Methodist Church officiated.

Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery with the VFW Post conducting graveside services.

HUGH A. ROOT
Funeral services were held Friday, August 4, for Hugh A. Root of 23828 East LeBost in Novi who died August 1 at Botsford hospital in Farmington. He was 64.

Born August 24, 1907, in Windsor, he was the son of Hiram and Jennie Root. Mr. Root moved to Novi about five years ago and was employed as a bookkeeper for Kosins Clothing in Detroit. He was a member of Ward United Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

Surviving are his widow, Grace I., two sons, John A. of Detroit, Paul E. of Novi, two sisters and four brothers.

Funeral services were held at the Thayer Funeral Home in Farmington where the Reverend Dr. Bartlett L. Hess of Ward United Presbyterian Church officiated.

Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

EDGAR D. WILDER
A resident of Northville for the past 26 years, Edgar D. Wilder of 615 Grace Street died Friday, August 4, in St. Mary hospital. He was 61.

Born February 16, 1911, in Pauline County, Ohio, he was the son of Grant and Roda Wilder.

A correctional officer at Detroit House of Correction for 19 years, Mr. Wilder was a veteran of World War II, member of VFW Post 4012, American Legion Post 147, Plymouth Elks Lodge 1780 and Northville Auxiliary policeman for 14 years.

Survivors include his widow, Aileen, his parents, Mrs. Roda Hodges of Oak Park and Grant Wilder of Cabbage, Kentucky, three daughters, Mrs. Barbara Smith of Livonia, Mrs. Corinne Freeby and Mrs. Donna Butler, both of Howell, a son, David of Plymouth, five sisters, Mrs. Dolly Comings of Northville, Mrs. Esther Buoniconito of Plymouth, Mrs. Helen Peterson of Livonia, Miss June Wilder of Birmingham, Mrs. Jan White of Montebello, California, two brothers, Leo of Puerto Rico, Willie of San Mateo, California, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Guenther Branstner of the First United Methodist Church officiated. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Tornado Strikes

By NANCY DINGELDEY

It seems, at times, that there's never a dull moment around our house but that's not too unusual when you have three kids and two dogs traipsing in and out all day long. But then again, there's never a dull moment around anyone's house when it includes kids and pets.

But last Wednesday was a dull day. Who can get intrigued with cleaning house or ironing on a grey, rainy day. And so it was in mid-afternoon the kids were coloring and watching the tube and they were quiet. I was thumbing through the newest edition of the National Geographic, really trying to decide if it was too early to start dinner or force myself into starting another chore. I suppose it was because I was reading that the sudden change of color in the room was so noticeable. I remember frowning and looking out the window. The sky had taken on a strange, sandy color and a wind picked up that seemed to come from nowhere. And then the rain came from all directions. I noticed the wind and thought it must be pretty strong to make the bigger trees whip around the way they were.

I headed to the west end of the house to close the windows but stopped in front of one of them and just stood while the rain came in, saturating the curtains and the floor. The reason I stopped was the sound of the wind outside. It was whistling—almost like one of those chill winter winds coming through a slightly raised window. Mixed with that eerie sound was another—like a freight train in the distance.

I noticed a big cloud, not really very dark but very low and again another thought flew through the mind. My, that's a funny shaped cloud, I don't remember ever seeing one quite so rounded and I stood and watched it pass over my house and over my neighbors and then blend into the tree line.

With that, the wind died down, the rain subsided and I figured I was being foolish and went back to work.

But then Bob came home from work early, hearing that two tornados supposedly came down in our area. Then the reports began coming through on TV and we realized that the Benstein and Glengary area had been hit. Got a frantic telephone call from a worried mother in Livonia. Could I please check on her kids who were staying at a house in that area.

I don't really know what I expected to see when I got there. What I did find was a massive traffic jam. Managed to park the car and walk over to see if everything was alright. There were four very large trees uprooted from a front yard and thrown up on the roof of a house. One man was looking for his garden tractor. Another, whose camper had been parked in a side yard, found it parked very neatly in his drive next to his house—upside down. A woman lost her kitchen and a dormer. A man, who had just completed a $5,000 remodeling job to his home, lost the complete addition. And, strewn all over everywhere were trees like so much firewood.

And then there were the completely destroyed homes.

The police were patrolling constantly. Twenty minutes after the tornado struck there were reports of looting.

And so it went on into the night. Emergency crews from Edison and Michigan Bell had scores of trucks throughout the area. Neighborhood people set up tables serving coffee to the crews, the Red Cross had coffee and food and there were candles everywhere.

I called one of the local TV weathermen for a guestimate on the velocity of the wind. It was during the conversation that I mentioned my big black cloud. From questioning the people in the area, I found that no one had actually seen the funnel cloud.

All that's left now is the mess to clean up. We, and our neighbors on Glengary, are rather lucky. A tornado struck but there was no loss of life and damage was minimal, except to a few.

A four week stay in Europe has just been completed for the Neil Salo's, full of fond memories and the task of settling back into the old routine.

For Dominique, the trip to The Netherlands meant "going home" it has been five years since she has seen her whole family. For Neil, it meant meeting all his in-laws along with some sightseeing in his wife's country. For year-old daughter Carla, it was the first plane ride and all sorts of new things for a little one.

The majority of the time was spent in Walenswaard with Dom's folks and taking trips throughout the countryside. From talking with Dom, I had the unique experience of being "led by the hand," so to speak, through a country I found I know so little about. The country has a history dating back many centuries and is filled with glorious examples of Baroque and Medieval architecture.

Nevertheless, short excursions were made to Amsterdam, to Dom's mother's "Mother's home town" is carefully as a mosaic, short narrow doors in the homes, which are still occupied, and is "very typical for that part of the country".

Zeeland, meaning "Land of the Sea" is an area of peninsulas and islands connected by dikes and filled in to close the land off from the sea. Since the sea water has been dammed up, it is changing from salt to "sweet" water. There are many picturesque fishing villages surrounding the area and it is very popular for water sports and recreation.

A week was spent on a camping trip to Bavaria in the Bavarian Alps in a setting "that you see on all the travel posters for Germany". They visited Rothenburg, the famous medieval, walled city which is still occupied. In the center of the city is a beautiful, ornate church and, when looking through the gun holes situated in the walls which are being restored, there is a beautiful view of the rolling countryside with the Rhine River winding its way through the valleys.

Then it was on to probably the two most famous castles in the world—King Maximilian's and his son Ludwig's located "across the street on the next mountain".

TORNADO DAMAGE—A workman surveys the damage done to Walled Lake Central High School last Wednesday when a tornado ripped through the Walled Lake-Wixom-Commerce Township area. The tornado narrowly missed Wixom and did most of its damage north of Glengary Road near Benstein Road.

Registration

Set for NMS

Registration for Novi Middle School is scheduled for the week of August 21-25, Middle School Secretary Mrs. Jack Morris announced Tuesday.

Students entering grades six through eight should register at the Middle School offices between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. during that week.

A $10 book deposit is required at the time of registration, Mrs. Morris reported.

Oakland County Clerk Jean Saile was the winner though finishing behind Gail McPherson and John J. Murphy in Novi and McPherson in Wixom.

In the race for the Democratic nomination for treasurer Novi and Wixom agreed with county-wide voters in giving the nod to James Brennan over Stanley Stevens.

George W. Kuhn, who won the Republican nomination for Drain Commissioner, carried Novi by nearly a 3-1 margin, though losing to Daniel Barry and Delos Hamlin in Wixom balloting. In the non-partisan race for sixth circuit court judges Novi and Wixom voters agreed with county voters on the selection of the four winners, endorsing Alice Gilbert, Richard Kuhn, John O'Brien, and Clarence Reid.

EBERT FUNERAL HOME

404 W. MAIN STREET NORTHVILLE, MICH.

Dear friends,

Recently we were asked if a person could make advance arrangements for his funeral... select the desired vault and casket, determine details of the funeral, and place the required funds for that purpose in a local bank.

Such advance planning is feasible at most funeral homes and is especially sensible when there are no surviving relatives.

Respectfully,

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Last week the nation's best golfers gathered at the nation's best golf course for the 54th annual Professional Golfers Association championship.

South African Gary Player was the official winner, but Oakland Hills really came out on top. Its tight fairways and undulating greens refused to yield to the best shots fired by 139 sharpshooters.

And Player's one-over-par total of 281 was two shots better than runners-up Tommy Aaron and Jim Jamieson.

I "covered" the PGA for The Record. I was probably the only weekly newspaper representative to receive press credentials from PGA headquarters in Florida.

So I figure the least I can do to return their courtesy for recognizing my application is to record a few of my impressions.

First off, you've got to realize that I'm a golf nut. I'd rather hit the ball like Nicklaus, Palmer or Trevino than be publisher of The New York Times.

So everytime I could sneak out of the office last week I'd race out the expressway to Telegraph and Maple road for an hour or two.

On the Sunday before the tournament started, for example, I watched a young pro from Fayetteville, Tennessee hit the ball on the practice tee.

I'd never heard of him...his name is Larry Gilbert. But if I can tell a driver from a putter, I was sure this kid could hit the ball with anyone. He was pounding drives to the screen, which must be nearly 300 yards away.

So I made a mental note of his name and waited to see what he would do when the shots started counting.

Opening day Gilbert the unknown (there's a "Gibby" on the tour who is one of the regulars) fired a one-under-par 69. Only two players beat him with 68's.

You can guess what happened the next day. He shot 82 and barely made the cut. But that was no small accomplishment and a lot of the big names on tour packed up after the second round.

Anyway, it gave me some satisfaction just have picked out a golfer from all the swingers on the practice tee who looked like he had the shots to score at Oakland Hills.

Another little-known club professional who didn't make the cut but proved he could play was John Frillman. He's the head professional at Happy Hollow Country Club in Omaha, Nebraska.

Frillman wasn't so happy after the opening day round. He shot 85.

But on Friday he turned in a flawless 69, something he can tell the members back at Happy Hollow for years. He fell four shots short of making the cut, but he had toured mighty Oakland Hills in less than par.

Then there was Bob Wynn, a club pro from Fairborn, Ohio. He'll never forget the 16th hole at Oakland.

Playing with Steve Frieber and Sam Carmichael, Wynn hit his drive into the right rough in Friday's second round. His second shot to the green was over water, but it didn't quite make it.

So Wynn dropped a ball and another new Titleist dove to the bottom. The young Ohio golfer reached into his bag for another ball and calmly stroked this third shot into the water.

While his playing partners stood on the green and waited, Wynn motioned for his caddy to pick up the bag. He had either run out of golf balls or patience. He just skipped the last two holes and trudged to the clubhouse.

These kinds of experiences can only be understood by golfers; they're funny in retrospect, but tragic when they take place.

It might sound contradictory, but most golfing professionals would do anything to help one of their fellow tourists with his game while doing their best to beat him.

After Friday's round Palmer went to the practice green. Art Wall, who had played with Palmer and had putted beautifully, joined him on the green and worked with his fellow Pennsylvanian on his putting. Wall moved Palmer's hands on the putter; he stood behind him and watched his stroke; he stood patiently by and watched Palmer hit putt after putt.

It didn't seem to help, but Wall tried.

And on Saturday after getting off to a hot 31 start on the front nine Nicklaus had his own cheering section playing along.

Whenever Nicklaus would putt or chip, Pro Kenn Still would be yelling "get in there", just like one of the fans.

It was a great week at Oakland Hills and a professionally-run tournament. The crowds broke all tournament records, the weather was mostly good, and the press accommodations (speaking as the only weekly reporter on the job) were excellent.

Come back again, soon, PGA.

YES . . .

First, we should establish that we are referring to underground services in new areas. It would be nice to have all utilities underground, but replacing existing overhead lines in established areas would be costly and inconvenient to the consumer, unless new methods are developed.

As a consumer, my primary interest in utilities is reliability, with cost and appearance secondary factors. Having been a licensed electrician for 26 years and presently employed as Electrical Foreman at Wayne County General Hospital, responsible for the use and distribution of 20 million kilowatt hours per year, I feel qualified to judge the reliability of overhead and underground systems.

At the Hospital, our power is supplied in part by Detroit Edison and in part by our own plant; supply voltages both being 4800. Edison lines in our area are all overhead and our system is entirely underground. Temporary power outages due to overhead failures outnumber underground cable failures by 10 to 1. The main reason, of course, is lightning.

As a planner, my main concern is for the orderly development of the City of Northville for the benefit of all its people. Article 13-B.02 (B) of the Northville Zoning Ordinance states that an objective for the Planning Commission is "To encourage developers to use a more creative approach in the development of residential areas and to encourage a more efficient, aesthetic and desirable use of the land."

Responsible developers agree with this and usually specify underground utilities, if not, we encourage them to do so.

NO . . .

People who are anxious to see all power lines go underground—and that includes almost everyone—may be surprised to learn that electric utilities across the country share their point of view.

The many advantages of burying lines, rather than exposing them to the above ground onslaughts of nature and man, have been recognized by Detroit Edison and the entire industry since the early days of the business.

Unfortunately there is much more involved than just digging a hole and burying the wire as can be done with gas or water pipes. A major obstacle is that present technology limits the distance that high voltage transmission lines can be built underground.

Underground distribution lines for new residential developments are practical and now required in Michigan with some additional cost to the developer. Further research is needed to develop the technology for economical high-voltage underground transmission. The cost of constructing underground transmission lines which must be reflected in the customer's electric bill, can be as much as 30 times more than for overhead lines.

Detroit Edison spends $200,000 annually on underground transmission research and also contributes to a national organization which has spent $16 million over the past three years on an underground transmission research program.

With these research activities underway Detroit Edison hopes that the day will come when all new power lines can go underground at a reasonable cost, both to the company and the people it serves.

"Won't you try Wheaties? They're whole wheat with all of the bran. Won't you try Wheaties? For wheat is the best food of man."

Young men and women who grew up with Howdy Doody probably wouldn't recognize, nor even care for the foregoing advertisement, but for those a little older who, like myself, regularly snuggled up to the living room radio those words in song once made the heart beat a little faster.

That's because they signalled the start of a daily, 15-minute adventure involving the "all-American boy," Jack Armstrong.

Jack's "Hudson High Fight Song" and his secret whistle code came to life again last week in a fascinating, nostalgic book that my wife brought home from the local library.

Titled "This Fabulous Century (1930-40)", this 288-page memory trip is a must for those who have a special place in their sentimental hearts for radio and even for those who have many unpleasant recollections of the Depression decade.

Besides Jack, the book recalls other heroes of radio, Saturday movies, and the Sunday funnies.

Evening radio programs during the Thirties were equally interesting for young and old. More than once the kids in our family glued their ears to the bedroom door trying to pick up some adult late night favorites such as Lux Radio Theatre or Jimmie Fidler's Hollywood Gossip.

They and others are listed in a radio schedule in the book. Others you may remember include:

Jell-O program with Jack Benny, Chase and Sanborn Program with Edgar Bergen, Burns and Allen, Eddie Cantor's Camel Caravan, Amos 'n Andy, Big Town with Edward G. Robinson, Al Jolson, Vox Pop, Fibber McGee and Molly, One Man's Family, the Green Hornet,

First Nighter, and Mr. Keen-Tracer of Lost Persons.

The book includes dialogues from Amos 'n Andy, H. V. Kaltenborn's report of the Munich Crisis, Jack Benny's face-off with Fred Allen, Charlie McCarthy's clash with W. C. Fields, a breakfast with the Barabours, and Orson Welles' "War of the Worlds."

It remembers in pictures and words the hungry years, when poverty became a way of life for 40 million people; when the winds blew parts of Texas into Oklahoma and parts of Oklahoma into Texas; and when the jobless made their way by

'King Kong' Needs Leash

To the Editor:

Bravo to Mr. Hoffman and his article on trucks or "King Kongs" in last week's Northville Record.

I would like to help put a leash on King Kong as I too have been plagued by trucks—gravel, dump, garbage—every kind of truck that travels on our two lane road—Seven Mile Rd.

In the past two years we have had three broken windshields and have had to replace seven headlights. It is pretty upsetting to have a brand new car only two days old and have a truck throw a rock and bust that shiny new windshield and then have the truck driver, whose truck did the damage, deny it and stand there with a silly smirk on his face. (I might add that none of these trucks had covers.)

I have been forced off the road many times by semi and tandem trucks who cross over the yellow line or who surpass the 45 mile speed limit.

How would you like to be awakened by what sounds and feels like you're in the middle of an earthquake at 5 or 6 o'clock in the morning? Well, you guessed it. It's an empty gravel truck hitting a bump in the road and travelling at top speed.

Another episode in my bout with trucks was the time I was making a left hand turn into my driveway with the turning signal on and there happens to be a double line or no passing road signal right in front of my house when a huge garbage truck passed me on the left. Thank God I was on the alert and saw the truck in my side view mirror or another unnecessary tragedy could have taken place.

This is a residential area with children, school buses, pets. If we can't stop the trucks we can at least put a leash on King Kong and increase the safety measures. One is, as Mr. Hoffman stated, write your state senators and representatives urging the passage of the dump truck covers—it's the only way.

Let's not wait until something drastic happens—let's save our Seven Mile Rd. and all our Michigan Roads and highways.

Sincerely yours,
A Seven Mile Rd. Resident

Criticizes Novi For K&B OK

To the Editor:

At the Novi City Council meeting on Monday, July 31, 1972, three officials of Kaufman and Broad Homes, Inc. appeared to plea for approval to construct four models in their Buffmeyer Subdivision. On a motion by Councilman Berry approval was granted by a 4-3 vote of the council. Councilmen Campbell, Evans and Presnell cast the NO votes. Upon obtaining what they sought, the Kaufman and Broad personnel immediately departed from the meeting even though the agenda showed that Kaufman and Broad was to be discussed regarding Village Oaks Homeowners complaints and the half day shut-down of operations on July 27, 1972.

All of the Novi Councilmen have been apprised of the Village Oaks homeowners complaints and in many cases the long delays by Kaufman and Broad in correcting defects and errors in construction and workmanship. Still some councilmen see fit to permit Kaufman and Broad to proceed to build more defects which will cause more homeowners to have more complaints.

Many homeowners hoped that the Novi City Council would provide some assistance in getting Kaufman and Broad to take some corrective action on complaints which have been pending for a year or more.

It all makes one wonder how some councilmen can expect support at the polls on election day when they either are running for re-election or seeking election to another office.

Police Blotter

Investigate Three Rapes

In Novi

Police have arrested a subject in conjunction with a rape of two Pontiac girls which occurred in Novi last week.

Name of the subject is being withheld at this time. The alleged rape occurred Monday, July 31, at approximately 1 p.m.

Novi police were called to a residence on Shawood Road with reports that a rape had just been committed. Upon arriving in the Shawood-Austin Road area they were stopped by two subjects, Richard Adams, 21, of Belleville and Larry Malchic, 20 of 45382 West Road.

The two men told police they had seen a red suitcase thrown from a yellow car traveling at a high rate of speed east on Shawood. The car had then turned south onto Austin.

After talking with the two men, officers proceeded to the Scharf residence on Shawood where the call had originated. At the residence, officers met two girls—a 17-year old female and a 16-year old juvenile companion. The girls told officers they had been raped by a white male, 25-30 years of age, who had long red-light brown hair down to his shoulders and a full beard of the same color. They further told police the man had a tattoo in his right forearm of the number "13" in red and blue with a drawing of the devil underneath it.

They had been picked up, they reported, by the man while hitchhiking in the vicinity of 12 Mile Road and I-75. He told them he had to drive to Novi to pick up some money and proceeded to drive into the countryside telling them he was lost.

The man drove his car into a "lover's lane" south of DeGross Road, where the rape was reported to have taken place. In the process of the rape one of the girls managed to escape and when the man started to chase her, the other girl ran off.

The man then jumped into his car, described by the girls as a bright yellow Vega, and drove off at a high rate of speed. They then went to the nearest house, the girls said, and telephoned police.

From a clue provided by one of the girls, a Southfield man was arrested later in the week. Investigation is still underway, however.

charged with felonious larceny in conjunction with a theft of lumber from the Old Orchard Condominiums Sunday, August 6, at 3 a.m.

Arrested were Benjamin Franklin Tate, 57, and Gabriel Anderson Tate, 19. Officers on patrol received a report of a larceny at the Old Orchard Condominiums. While traveling east on Grand River, they observed a subject standing behind a pick-up truck with a large piece of lumber in his hands.

As the squad car turned south onto Old Orchard Road, the two subjects were observed getting into the pick-up truck, which was parked 200 yards south of Grand River. Officers blocked the trucks' progress and ordered the men out of the vehicle.

Investigation of the vehicle revealed a substantial quantity of lumber valued well in excess of $100, officers reported. The two men were arrested on charges of felonious larceny and subsequently transported to Oakland County Jail where they were lodged.

Two Florida men—50-year old John Farwell Rice and 23-year old Edward Anthony Rice—were arrested on charges of arson of insured property last week.

The arrests were in conjunction with a trailer fire in the Country Cousins Trailer Park at 26855 Haggerty Road, which occurred in May of 1972.

The two men were arraigned in 52nd District Court and released on $5,000 bond each. Examination has been scheduled for August 14.

A 20 foot house trailer stolen from a residence at 1149 East Lake Drive December 20, 1971, was recovered by Novi Police last week.

Value of the vehicle had been estimated at $3,000. After much investigation, the trailer was located at a camp grounds in the Houghton Lake area, where it was recovered by Detective Richard Faulkner reported.

Investigation of the case has not been completed, Faulkner said, and the matter will be brought to the attention of the proper Prosecutor's Office with a recommendation that arrests be made.

In Wixom

A 17-year-old Detroit Girl told police she had been raped on a secluded road in Wixom last week. The alleged offense took place Wednesday, August 2.

Wixom police were summoned to the Walled Lake Police station where the girl had been transported by a motorist at approximately 9:30 p.m.

She told police she had been hitchhiking on Telegraph Road near Ecorse Road in Taylor and was picked up by a man in a small car she believed to be a green Vega.

She described the man as being in his mid-20s, approximately 5'9" tall and with a heavy build and red hair with a full red beard. He was wearing a muscle-shirt, she said.

The man became physically abusive and refused to let her out of the car, she reported, and when she began crying he threatened to beat her up. The man eventually drove off the expressway and onto some dirt roads, where he finally stopped the car and raped her, she reported to the police. The man then released her and drove off. She hailed a passing motorist, who drove her to the Walled Lake Police Station.

Wixom officers were contacted and she directed them to the location of the offense. The alleged rape took place on West Road between Beck and Wixom Roads.

The girl was released to her parents.

A 22-year old Walled Lake man led police on a 90-mile per hour chase last week before finally being taken into custody.

Arrested was Isaac Lee Brewer. Charges included reckless driving, failing to stop for a police officer, and consuming liquor on a highway.

The incident occurred Saturday, July 29, when police observed a man on a Honda motorcycle place a can of beer between his legs while riding down Pontiac Trail.

According to police reports, the man saw the Patrol car and increased his speed. Officers turned on their overhead light and siren but the cyclist continued to flee, traveling in excess of 90 miles per hour. The man finally stopped the cycle after nearly being involved in a head-on accident with another motorcyclist, as he was passing a car on a curve in attempting to evade police.

Brewer will answer charges in 52nd District Court.

Under investigation is a breaking and entering of the Wixom Medical Clinic which occurred Monday, July 31.

Dr. Arnold Kelz told police he arrived at the Center at 9:40 a.m. Monday and discovered that the front door had been pried open. Inside he discovered file cabinets had been opened. Missing were a quantity of narcotics and a revolver.

The subjects apparently made their escape through the back door, police reported.

Julianne Patricia Slewak, 37, of Troy was arrested on charges of being drunk on a public street Wednesday, August 2, at 7 a.m.

The arrest was made after police noticed her condition while investigating a one-car property damage accident. The accident occurred, according to police reports, when Mrs. Slewak failed to stop her car at the corner of Pontiac Trail and South Wixom Road and damaged a county road sign.

Mrs. Slewak told officers that her foreman at the Wixom Assembly Plant had put about three drinks in her pop.

A 1972 Suzuki motorcycle was reportedly stolen from a residence at 3127 Branch Drive in Wixom. The theft was reported Wednesday, August 2.

Police recovered a 1972 Thunderbird on Beck Road near West Road last week. The vehicle was discovered to have been stolen shortly earlier. The motor of the car had been left running, officers reported, and it was parked half on the road, half on the shoulder. A radio and four tires had been taken from the stolen car.

In Northville

City police recovered a stolen car early Friday morning but its three male occupants escaped on foot, leaving behind three hats, a pair of sandals and a tape recorder.

Recovered about 2:20 a.m. Friday was a 1971 black and yellow Thunderbird stolen from Southfield.

According to reports, police first spotted the car speeding on Center Street between Baseline and Eight Mile. When an attempt was made to stop the car, it turned onto eastbound Eight Mile.

The car was chased from Eight Mile north on Carpenter, west on Hill and south on Grace where the three men fled on foot, leaving the car running and in drive. Two of the occupants ran east and one ran west. Police chased them on foot but lost the three. Found in the car were two vinyl hats while another hat and a pair of black sandals were found in a nearby drive. A tape recorder was also found in the vehicle.

Owner of the vehicle, Fred Levine, said the car was stolen sometime after midnight and was first noticed missing about 9 a.m. Friday.

A car stolen from Northville was recovered Friday night by Detroit police.

John Carlo of 143 Cady Street told police his 1972 Lincoln was taken from the parking deck on Cady Street between 12:15 and 10 a.m. Friday.

Detroit police found the car about 10:30 p.m. Friday.

More than $690 in cash and checks was stolen in a break-in at Phil's 76 service station, 130 West Main Street.

According to reports, unknown persons entered the station by breaking a window late Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Police believe a metal bar found on the floor of the station was used to pry open the desk where from which most of the money was stolen.

Guy G. Oatman III of Detroit was placed on two years probation Tuesday, ordered to pay probation costs and fined $54 following his arrest Monday for carrying a concealed weapon while drunk. He pled guilty to both charges before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis.

Oatman, 26, was arrested by police about 1:30 a.m. on Center Street, just south of Seven Mile Road.

Police were investigating the report of a van which struck the bridge on Center Street, 125 feet south of Seven Mile, when the arrest took place.

He was arrested at the scene for being drunk and a search turned up two knives in his possession, one with a 3½-inch blade and another with a 3-¾-inch blade.

An unknown male phoned a bomb threat into the Downs at 9:21 p.m. Sunday, stating a bomb would go off in the grandstand area in 10 minutes.

Police checked the area but found nothing.

Two dogs owned by Charles Freydl Jr. of 221 North Rogers Street were poisoned between 8:30 and 9 a.m. Friday.

Freydl told police both of his dogs had been out of his yard for about 30 minutes when his Husky and German shepherd puppy walked into the driveway and died and his AKC German shepherd when into convulsions.

Both dogs were taken to a veterinarian where the second dog died. Cause of death was found to be strychnine poisoning.

Police are investigating three fires which were set on Rouge Street shortly before midnight Saturday. Rags, which police believe had been soaked in fuel oil, were found burning in front of one home and in the street. One burning rag had also been thrown into a tree, police said.

COURT NEWS
David D. Duke of Plymouth pled guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was fined $54.

Two persons issued tickets by city police following traffic accidents have been found guilty and were fined $39 each.

They are Edward E. Holtzman of Oak Park, ticketed June 12 for improper passing, and Chester M. Marsh of Detroit, ticketed July 8 for driving left of center.

Raymond T. Lehr of Farmington pled guilty to failing to stop in assured clear distance and was fined $39.

Following a pre-sentence investigation Esther Hahn of 18732 Jamestown Circle was fined $104 and placed on one year probation.

Arrested by city police April 15 for drunken driving, she pled guilty to an added count of driving while visibly impaired and the original charge was dismissed.

In district court last Thursday, two persons pled guilty to traffic violations issued by city police and were each fined $39.

They are Frieda E. O'Leary of 43663 Six Mile Road, ticketed July 14 for failing to stop in assured clear distance, and Neida M. Hosler of 46670 Stratford Court, ticketed July 16 for disobeying a red traffic signal.

In Township

A Highland Park man was hospitalized following an accident August 2 on Six Mile Road, just east of Bradner.

According to police, Henry F. McIntosh received cuts and bruises in the accident which occurred at 4:30 p.m. He was treated at St. Mary's hospital and released.

Police said McIntosh was traveling east on Six Mile when his car spun out of control and struck a west-bound car driven by James K. Howell of 19487 Seabrook. Howell was not hurt.

McIntosh was ticketed for failing to stop in assured clear distance.

Firemen were called to extinguish a truck fire at 4:35 p.m. Saturday.

Police said the driver was traveling south on Sheldon Road when he noticed a fire on the floor of the passenger's side. He drove the truck into a ditch a Thornapple and Sheldon. The driver was not hurt.

foot and junker to hope in California.

Hard times brought a boom in crime, and the book deals, too, with such desperados as John Dillinger, Baby Face Nelson, Machine Gun Kelly, Ma Barker, and Bonnie and Clyde.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, his "New Deal," and the dozens of acts and agencies spawned by Congress are recalled. Among them are the CCC, PWA, and WPA.

Also remembered are the numerous and often brutal clashes between labor and business, and, of course, the birth of the sit-in.

Movies played a big role in the

And it gives the reader a peek at scenes from the Andy Hardy series, the Marx brothers comedies, the mushy musicals, and the most famous movie of them all, Gone with The Wind.

The rise of the German-American Band, Huey Long's rule, Father Charles Coughlin's fiery speeches, the jitterbug, the big bands, songsters, people and places. . . all are jammed into a book that makes for a pleasant escape from the history making places, people and events of today.

Rips Road Letter

To the Editor:

Mr. Anchors letter of August 3 needs an answer. The first paragraph sounds a little like personalities. What Mr. Button thinks about Novi making progress and attracting business and industry is not the problem. The problem is roads and how to do the most for ALL the people in Novi. We think that Mr. Anchors and Mr. Button want the same thing but do not agree on the best way to get it—which is not unusual.

1. John Richter is an example. There are many "John Richters" in Novi. The answer to the question as to why he wants to "hang on to 164 feet" is pretty simple. It has been his home for many years and maybe he doesn't want to sell it. We might get to the heart of the matter if the Road Committee would tell the council on August 14 what the Michigan Tractor property was assessed when Novi Road was paved. We believe that a community has an obligation to furnish an adequate road for ALL its citizens without forcing them to sell their homes to pay for it.

2. We question the wisdom of the Road Committee because they have forgotten one thing. Their program is based on special assessments which are subject to petitions and litigation.

To the Editor:

Time and memories tend to play tricks on our minds. We remember the good days - the good times and especially the good friends.

Time does not erase memories of all the above, it only increases these thoughts and sharpens details.

We're fortunate. We have good memories of good friends and good times.

We were in Northville on Sunday, July 23rd, upon the timeless invitation of the Taylors. They called friends and neighbors whom we hadn't seen together for nearly 10 years and we all reminisced. We're truly grateful for these friends, memories, and having had the opportunity of knowing Northville. It's grown so much during this time, but the friendly feeling still persists.

Thanks to all of you for making our short time there again memorable and unforgettable, but especially to Ellie and Scott for making it happen.

Sincerely,

3 Now we come to sealcoating. Mr. Anchors statements show a complete lack of understanding of the road building business and we wonder what "experts" the Road Committee talked to. In our letter of January 6 we invited the Road Committee to drive down 12 Mile East of Haggerty—we doubt if they did. If they drive there today they will find that the county has put up caution signs at the big swamp. The north side has settled about two feet and there is a six inch crack in the middle, yet this section was filled over five years ago. We would like to know if the Road Committee asked the county why they didn't pave this section when they were talking to the "experts."

The statement that if we spend $100,000 on Meadowbrook "we would be right back in our present state next year and the money is gone" is entirely untrue and Mr. Anchors should know better than to make it. Most of the $100,000 will go for much removal, fill, grading and gravel; the sealcoat will only cost about $8,000. It is a temporary surface and it will have to be repaired every year.

There are many sections of Novi where sealcoat will do for some time—such as Beck Road. It is a cheap temporary surface that will get you out of the mud and dust, and condition the road for future paving. We suggest that the Road Committee invite a member of Michigan Sealcoat Association to the August 14 meeting and ask their opinion.

"At the next meeting, August 14, let's have the experts tell A. Russell Button how long it will be in ball park figures before" Taft and Meadowbrook are paved with concrete while the rest of us "live in dust, mud, weedgrown, junk infested roads."

In view of past experience it is not difficult to tell in "ball park figure" how long it will take to sealcoat all of the mile roads. One mill ($70,000) plus some Act 51 money will pay for an average of about two miles per year. Three mills would do it three times as fast.

Mets Close to Title In Knothole Hardball

What has 18 legs, catches flies, and has fought off Wolverines, thwarted Indian uprisings, and withstood the batterings of Giants?

If you said the Thompson-Brown Realtor Mets, you not only got the right answer, but also spend too much time reading bad, old joke books.

rounded hitting attack, the Mets are the only team in either Knothole League to still boast an undefeated record.

The Mets kept that unblemished record intact last week as they notched victories in both their games.

The Mets had to put down one of those Indian uprisings to win one of those games, as the Casterline Indians rallied for three runs in the top of the seventh inning, cutting the Mets' lead to 9-7 before finally relinquishing the victory.

Jeff Cozier and Rich Patison were the only Mets to pick up more than one hit, as each had a pair of singles. Doug Cook with three singles and Mike McLaughlin with a double and a triple paced the Indians, who outlit the Mets 15-13.

The Mets had a much easier time in their other outing as they topped the Choo-Choo Car Wash Chiefs 17-8. Lance Carter and Greg Bach each had a single, double, and triple to pace the Mets. Jeff Lane had two doubles and two triples and Mark McDonald had four singles to account for eight of the Chiefs' 19 hits.

The Mets have a two-game lead over the second place VFW Giants, who also posted a pair of victories last week.

The Giants fell behind the Hyatt Construction Wolverines in the early innings, but came on strong with a five-run fourth inning to secure an 11-6 triumph. Allen Barrow and Jimmy Bedford each had three safeties to pace the Giants, while Darryl Hyatt with a triple and Dave Herbel with a double topped the Wolverines.

The Giants' other victory was a 23-3 trouncing of the Northville Police Padres. Jim Bedford homered, Dan Ludwig tripled, and Allen Barrow contributed four consecutive singles to spark the Giants' 22-hit attack. Brian Zillich with a pair of singles and Paul Hotchkins with a double were the top Padre hitters.

The Del's Shoes Twins pulled within half a game of the third place John Mach Ford Yankees by posting victories in each of their two games last week.

One of those victories was at the expense of the Yankees themselves in an important game. Trailing 7-5 at the end of three innings, the Twins came back to register a 9-7 triumph with three final inning runs. Steve Maisonneuve rapped out three hits including a double and John Holdsworth and Kevin Schugar contributed two singles apiece to the Twins' 13-hit attack. Steve Cooper tripled and Doug Castillo and Don Burnham each stroked doubles to pace the Yankees.

Pizza, R & L Wall Lead Novi Girls

Da Old Country Pizza Palace, champions of the First Division in the Novi Parks and Recreation Commission's Girl's Softball

League, added to their record last week by bombing the Novi Inn 19-6.

Cathy Natzel picked up a grand slam home run in the game and Kate Pierce and Brenda Benson each stroked out four hits in four trips to the plate to top the Pizza-girls.

In another First Division game Talmay Agency clinched second place with a 6-5 extra-inning victory over Lacy Tool.

In Second Division action, West Oakland Bank got home runs from Joy Benson and Melissa Faulkner and three for three performances at the plate from Kim Mesyac and Sue Thomas, but still dropped a 14-8 decision to league-leading R and L Wall.

Nancy Porter paced the winners in that game by collecting two round trippers and a single in three trips to the plate.

In the only other Second Division contest of the week, Staman Insurance beat Mobarak Realtor 16-11 with the help of a home run by Kim Solmes.

On August 21, the Second Division All-Stars will play the Novi "Old Timers" (a team composed of the league's coaches). The Division One All-Stars will take on the "Old Timers" the following day.

Pirates Plunder Foes

Del's Shoes Pirates have all but clinched the championship of the Northville Recreation Department's Knothole Softball League, as they posted a pair of victories last week to run their season's record to 12-1, while each of their two prime opponents were absorbing their third losses of the season.

With just one week to go, it would take more than Sir Francis Drake and the entire English fleet to stop the Pirates, now. Not even Errol Flynn could help.

The Pirates proved to be their own best ally last week as they dumped the Choo-Choo Car Wash Warriors 5-4 in 10 innings.

The Pirates opened the week with their record set at 10-1. The Warriors - along with the Northville Hardware Colts - were just a game behind in the loss columns with 8-2 records and were more eager to get at the Pirates than the Coyote is to get at the Road Runner.

The Pirate-Warrior game was easily the highlight of the wee.

At the end of seven innings, the Pirates held a 4-2 lead. The Warriors tied it with two runs in the ninth, but Jeff Nieuwkoop drove home Dave McDonald with the winning Pirate run in the tenth.

Greg May and Nieuwkoop each had three hits to pace the Pirates' 21-hit attack, while Rod Barrows, Scott Armstrong, and Tom Arnold all had three hits for the Warriors.

The Pirates' other victory was a tight 9-8 conquest of the Casterline Lions. The Lions rallied for four runs in the top of the final inning to overcome a 7-4 deficit and take an 8-7 lead, but the Pirates added two more runs in the bottom of the frame to preserve the victory.

Willy and Conrad Newman each had three hits for the Pirates with Conrad's three-bagger scoring the winning run. Kevin Schrott and Joe Trautd stroked a single and double apiece to take hitting honors for the Lions.

Smarter from their crucial loss to the Pirates, the Warriors came back strong to sting two other opponents.

Scott Armstrong, Tom Arnold, Rod Barrows, and Mike Pohlod each rapped out three hits apiece to lead the Warriors over the Northville Township Athletics 18-5. Curt Wolfe's three hits included a triple as he led the Athletic batters.

Even more top-sided was the 37-2 scrunching the Warriors gave the Northville Drug Panthers. Tom Arnold's four hits included three round trippers as he paced the Warriors who also got strong hitting performances from Scott Armstrong (home run), Bob Thomson (two triples), Keith Foster (two triples and a double), and Mike Pohlod (two triples and a double).

Rob Marzone and Dave Axtel had four of the Panthers' ten hits.

The league-leading Pirates got an assist from the Northville Realty Astros, who handed the Northville Hardware Colts their third loss of the season 16-9. The Colts are the only team to have beaten the Pirates.

Carl Schrott's four hits included two doubles and a triple and Mike Kramer had a double among his four safeties as the pair paced the Astros' upset of the Colts. Scott Schaal and David Ward each had three hits for the Colts.

The Astros found themselves on the short end of a 19-18 score when they played the Northville Drug Panthers. Chris VanGieson with two doubles and a triple was the leading Panther hitter, but he got plenty of support from John Ludwick's four hits and the three hit efforts of John Zimmerman, Mark Tuggle, and Rob Marzone. Bob Ritenour, Gary Kucher, Dan Murray, Jim Wilson, and Dan Contes had four hits apiece to spark the Astros' 35-hit attack.

The VFW Rams won their only game of the week by topping the Township Police Athletics 16-9. Tom Potter had two doubles and a triple for the Rams who also got three hits from Charles Meredith, Dave Hixon, and Bill Wittenberg. Neal Hartshorne had two singles and a double and Matt Fasang had a pair of two-baggers to spark the Athletics.

The Casterline Lions maintained their hold on seventh place by topping the A&W Cougars 19-3, as Alex Zion, Bob Simrak, Tim Frader, and Kev Schrot each banged out four safeties. One of Frader's hits was a first-inning home run. Kam Gerol, Gary Lauber, and Karl Scott each had three hits for the winless Cougars.

The Cougars were also victimized by the eighth place Township Police Athletics last week. The score was 20-5. Jack Patwell, Jim Williams, Bill Kelly, and Tim Hoult collected four hits apiece for the Athletics, while Paul Rigby and Gary Lauber combined for six of the Cougars' 17 hits.

In Tee-Ball League

Blazers Near Crown

With just one more week of games on the schedule, the Northville Fire Department Blazers would seem to have the championship of the Northville Recreation Department's Tee-Ball League just about locked up.

The Blazers won their only scheduled game last week to advance their season's mark to 10-2. Second place belongs to the Northville Insurance Tigers, who are a full three and a half games back with a 5-4 record.

The Blazers all but clinched the Tee-Ball title with an 18-10 conquest of the Northville Township Pumas last week.

Holding a narrow 5-4 lead at the end of four innings, the Blazers broke loose for 10 big runs in the fifth to wrap up the victory. Jeff Pyden, Tim McLaughlin, Tom Basilico, and Maurice Hill each stroked out five hits to pace the Blazers' blazing 35-hit attack.

Kyle Carter with four hits and Steve Harrison with two doubles paced the Pumas, who had 25 hits in the slugfest. Making the Blazers' drive to the top an easy one have been the Schrader's Home Furnishings team Schraders' Raiders dropped their first four games of the season, but have since rallied and won five of their last six, eliminating most of the Blazers' competitors in the process.

Schraders' Raiders were up to their same old tricks last week as they added two more victories to their win streak. Mike Crane, Dan Yoder, Kevin Anderson, Mike Ziemann, and Sean Sperkowski each rapped out three hits and Eric Schrader slugged a home run to spark a 16-8 Schraders' conquest of the Northville Township Pumas—a former league-leader. David Bach's four hits included a double, and John Bradley, Kyle Carter, and Dan Neilson also had doubles to highlight the Pumas' attack.

In their other game, the Raiders scored 12 times in the second inning to rout the Dels' Shoes Bears 20-3. Mike Ziemann, Kevin Anderson, David Martin, Mike Crane, Sean Sperkowski, and Brian Myers each contributed three hits to the Raiders' 29-hit total. Mike LePard, Greg Peterson, and Mike Sylvester each picked up a pair of hits to account for half of the Bears' 12-hit total.

Choo-Choo, RGA Battle for Title

Northville's Jaycees clinched the championship of the National League the Northville Recreation Department's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League last week, but the championship of the tougher American League is still very much up for grabs.

The defending champions, the once-invincible Northville Lumber squad, are out of it. The Lumber has lost four games so far this season - three of them to Choo-Choo Car Wash and the fourth to South Lyon's Renwick, Grimes, and Adams Insurance (RGA) team. Choo-Choo currently leads the league and with just two losses to date and only one game to go there's simply no way the Lumber can get back into the race.

Choo-Choo does have a challenger for league honors, however. And that challenger is the Renwick, Grimes, and Adams outfit.

RGA has three losses to date and if they get past a mediocre Palace-Phil's 76-Stones squad Tuesday night, they can move into a first place tie with Choo-Choo by beating them in a position night contest scheduled for either Thursday (tonight) or Friday.

Choo-Choo and Renwick, Grimes and Adams tuned up for their big showdown clash by coping victories in last week's play.

The Car Washers hooked up with an Exotic Rubber and Plastic team which had handed them one of their two losses this season. The two clubs were tied 3-3 at the end of four innings, but then Choo-Choo staged a three-run rally in the fifth and added another run in the sixth to secure a 7-3 victory.

Brian Gilles and John Fawcett each had a pair of singles and Don Phillippi's triple was the games' only extra-base hit, as the trio paced the Car Washers to their sixteenth victory. Jeff Jones and Chuck Marino shared four of Exotic's nine hits.

Renwick, Grimes, and Adams had a busy schedule of three contests, but had no trouble with the load, moving to three easy victories.

On Monday they erupted for 10 big runs in the fourth inning to gain a 16-3 "mercy" victory over Plymouth State Home. Bill Hogg and Dave Grimes each stroked out three hits in three at bats to pace the R.G.A. attack. Joe McWilliams had two of the Homes' seven hits.

Renwick, Grimes, and Adams played twice Saturday and won both games.

In a well-played game the South Lyon challengers trimmed the B.C.A. Truckers 9-5 on the strength of four run outbursts in the third and seventh innings. Dave Brandon with a pair of doubles and Paul Jamieson with three hits in four trips to the plate sparked the Insurance-men who out hit the Truckers 14-12. Don Salisbury and Charlie Sorenson had half of the BCA hits.

In their second game Saturday, RGA recorded a decisive 13-1 win over Civitan-Castrline. Joe Schultz' fourth inning round tripper accounted for the lone Civitan run. John Davis ripped out three doubles and Bob Holman had a pair of two-baggers to spark the RGA hitters.

In spite of being relegated to an also-ran, Northville Lumber also posted a pair of triumphs last week.

It was the Civitan-Casterline squad that fell to the dethroned champions Monday. The score was 5-2. Steve Juday and Bob Kucher each had a single and double and Gerry Wedge added a pair of singles as the trio accounted for half of the Lumber's 12 hits. Bill Hopping and Otto Leu had two hits apiece for Civitan, which managed just seven safeties off the tosses of Lumber ace Gerry LeVan.

John Mutch banged out a three-run second inning home run that spurred the Lumber to a 12-3 conquest of Palace-Phil's 76-Stones. Jim Newman slapped out three singles and Bob Simpson belted a triple to share Lumber hitting honors with Mutch. This time LeVan was even stingier on the mound, yielding just six hits - two each by Bill Gilbert and Joe Kluesner.

In the four-team battle for fourth place, Palace-Phil's 76-Stones took an important victory by topping Lipon's Sporting Goods 13-12 in an extra-inning thriller.

Lipon's broke an 8-8 tie with four runs in the top of the eighth, only to see the Palace mount a five run rally in the bottom of the frame. Paul Mack's double to left brought in Bob DeAlexandris with the decisive run. Sharing hitting honors with Mack was Bill Gilbert, whose three-run circuit clout with two down in the sixth had thrown the game into a tie.

The BCA Truckers pulled themselves out of last place in the American League by beating the Presbyterian Men's Club 16-5 in an inter-league mis-match and then trimming Plymouth State Home 4-0. Pitcher Charlie Sorenson yielded just four hits in leading the Truckers over the Home.

There was no need for concern about play-off games in the National League, as the Northville Jaycees clinched the championship with a pair of wins last week.

On Tuesday, the Jaycees came up with some seventh inning heroics to cop a 6-5 victory over a stubborn Northville Newcomers team. Tony Rizzo's two-run homer in the top of the seventh had given the Newcomers a 5-4 lead. The Jaycees came back in the bottom of the frame on singles by Bob Hilton, an error on a ball hit by Dave Pevovar, and a game-tying single by Ron Reitenour. Omar Harrison then delivered a third single to send Pevovar scampering across the plate with the decisive tally.

The title-clincher came Thursday against Ford Valve, as the Jaycees blasted their way to a 23-0 mercy-killing victory. Larry Vanderbie, Tom Lang, and Ron Heller paced the 21-hit Jayce onslaught with three hits apiece. Almost overlooked in the bombardment was a masterful three-hitter tossed against the Valve by Jaycee pitching star Ron Reitenour.

Second place in the National League was taken by Village Oaks, which posted a 12-8 verdict over the VFW last week. Bob Conway had a three run homer and big first-sacker Phil Assaley stroked out four straight hits to spark the win. Bruce Dingwall and Ron Jones had two hits apiece for the veterans.

CAT Diesel Power, which had a good chance at taking third place, did nothing to improve their position last week by dropping two of three games.

Trailing 8-1 at the start of the seventh inning against a Presbyterian Men's Club team which has won just one game this year, CAT struck for 10 seventh inning runs to eke out an 11-8 triumph. Dave Ball slugged a home run in that wild rally. Ken Parson's triple was the only extra-base hit by the Presbyterians.

CAT then dropped a pair of games Friday as first the OLV Men's Club beat them 12-10 and then the Newcomers registered a 27-14 victory at their expense.

Lee Eaker's four hits sparked the Catholics, while Fred Philippeau had four hits for the Newcomers. Steve Bagdon with three hits against OLV and Dave Coe with a home run against the Newcomers paced the faltering CAT team.

Two errors by the OLV Men's Club and a sacrifice fly off the bat of Ken Lehl gave the John Mach Ford team a 13-12 victory Friday. The game was tied at 12-12 before Lehl's seventh inning fly ball scored Jeff Nieuwkoop with the winning run. Bob Oswald with a triple and home run paced the Men's Club.

The John Mach Ford teamed displayed similar late inning heroics Tuesday, but this time they were matched by a determined Ford Valve squad, as the two teams battled to a time-limit 12-12 tie. Nieuwkoop blasted a first inning grand slam home run to spark the Mach-ers. Ed Poling's four hits for the Valvers included a two-run third inning homer.

The OLV Men's Club out hit the VFW 10-8 and got home runs from Bill Edwards and Jim Penrod, but still dropped a 10-5 decision to the veterans. Ed Modin and Jerry Lyke stroked triples for the winners.

Win Novi Championship

Inn Blanks Filters on One-Hitter

Klaus Bujak came through with one of the finest pitching performances of the year last week as he held the hard-hitting Michigan-Ohio Air Filters to one lone single to lead the Novi Inn to the championship of the Novi Parks and Recreation Commission's Men's Slow Pitch Softball League.

This was the first year that Novi has had a men's softball league and you just couldn't ask for much more in the way of competition. When the regular season came to a close last week, two teams were tied for first place, two teams were tied for fourth place, and two teams were tied for sixth place.

The fourth and sixth place ties were decided on the basis of the competition between the two teams involved.

But the first place tie - well, that was a different matter. The champion should win the crown, it was decided, in head-to-head competition.

The play-off game was set for Tuesday with the Inn and the Air Filters slated to fight it out.

Pre-game favorite was the Air Filter squad. After a slow start the Filters had come on strong in the second half of the season to dominate the league with their heavy hitting.

But those bats were stilled Tuesday by Bujak.

Ray Murphy, the Filters' left-center fielder, ripped a first inning single down the third base line, but that proved to be the only hit Bujak surrendered all evening as his teammates slugged their way to the championship with a 12-0 triumph.

Even Ted Battistone, the league's home run champ with nine round trippers, failed to connect against Bujak.

"He really pitched a great game," muttered one of the Filter players in admiration of the effort. "He put the ball over the outside corner and had us all leaning out over the plate trying to hit it."

A single by Bujak and a double by Tony Olivich drove home two Novi Inn runs in the first inning and Olivich's sacrifice fly brought Mike Bingham home with the third Inn run in the fourth inning.

The Inn broke the game open in the fifth, scoring five times as Mike Welsh pounded a home run, Dennis Brooks stroked a triple, and Bingham added a double. Doubles by Paul Faulkner and Brooks were the key hits as the Inn scored two more in the sixth, and Bingham hit a home run and Mike Welsh added a triple as the Inn capped their championship victory with two more runs in the seventh.

The victory over the Filters Tuesday was the second victory of the week for the Novi Inn. One day previously they had hammered out a 17-10 verdict over the Northville Burger Chefs to pull into the first place tie that necessitated the play-off game.

Wally Thompson and Tom Horgan each slugged home runs for the Inn in their game with the Burger Chefs, but hitting honors belonged to Mike Welsh, who blasted three round trippers.

Junior Bernardi with four hits and Tom Mobray with three were the leading sticks in the Burger Chefs' 15-hit attack.

The final game of the regular season pitted the Novi Police Officers against Thompson's Travel Center. A victory by the Travelers would have given them sole possession of fourth place; a police victory would have enabled them to avoid sole possession of last place by pulling them up into a tie with the Burger Chefs for sixth.

The coppers won, but the game was a wild one. Doubles by Jack Grubb and Bruce Place got the crime fighters off to a quick 3-0 first inning lead, but Lloyd Huotari's two-run home run blast in the bottom of the first pulled the Travelers back into the game.

Sparked by home runs from Jack Crawford in both the third and fourth innings, the coppers piled up an 8-2 lead, but again the Travel Center came back, scoring eight runs in the fourth to regain a 10-8 lead.

Neither team scored in the fifth or sixth, but the cops surged back into the lead with four runs in the top of the seventh, thanks largely to a three-run round tripper off the bat of Ed Butler.

The Travel Center loaded the bases with two outs in the bottom of the seventh, but the game ended without further scoring and the cops had a 12-10 victory.

Northville Hosts Class B Tourney

Northville's Thomson Memorial Field has been selected as the site for District Two play in the state's Class B Men's Slow Pitch Softball Tournament.

City champions from Birmingham, Walled Lake, Berkely, Ferndale, and Southfield, as well as Northville will meet in the double elimination tournament which runs August 15-17.

The winner will then advance to the state tournament finals to be played in Allen Park.

Games get underway Tuesday, August 15, with Northville playing Birmingham at 6:30 p.m.; Walled Lake playing Berkely at 8 p.m.; and Southfield playing Ferndale at 9:30 p.m.

BEGINNING OF THE END — Players from the Novi Inn swarm over Mike Welsh (middle) after his three-run fifth inning home run started a five run rally that led to the 12-0 defeat of the Michigan-Ohio Air Filters. The play-off game victory gave the Inn the championship of the Novi Men's Slow Pitch Softball League.

Green Giants Topple Philies

The Green Giants had plenty to "ho-ho-ho" about last week and it had nothing to do with a particularly outstanding crop of broccoli either.

The Green Giants doing all the "ho-ho-hoing" were the group of young ladies who form the Green Giants team in the Northville Recreation Department's Powder Puff Softball League.

After a season of playing second tomato to the Del's Shoes Philies, the Green Giants took over the league lead last week with three victories—one of them a conquest of the former leaders.

Green Giant pitcher Debbie McGuire allowed the Philies just three hits, as her teammates pounded out a 7-0 victory Tuesday. It was the first loss of the season for the Philies.

Laura Hutcherson was the big hitter for the Green Giants, as she stroked a double, triple, and home run. Toni Burns also had three hits for the winners, while Lori Loeffler, Meg Graham, and Mary Campbell each picked up a single safety for the Philies.

The Green Giants ran their season's record to 7-1 with two other victories last week. The Casterline Ponies forfeited a game to the Giants and the Choo-Choo Car Wash Squaws dropped a 7-2 decision to them.

Rita Williams had a homer and a single and Debbie McGuire had a pair of three-baggers to spark the Giants' victory over the Squaws, who were led by the two hit performances of Kim DeRusha and Vivian Hyatt.

The Del's Shoes Philies followed up their 7-0 setback by the Green Giants with a 6-3 conquest of the Casterline Ponies. Lori Hopping's two triples accounted for the Philies' first run and sparked a five run final inning rally that gave her team the victory.

Cindy Gears and Ellen Smith each had a single and double in two at bats to spur the Ponies' seven-hit attack. The VFW Cobras and the Charles Chipster Bombers each recorded their second victories of the season in other games played last week.

The Cobras built up a 12-1 lead in the first two innings and then held on for a 14-12 decision over the Choo-Choo Car Wash Squaws. Kathy Herbel's four hits included a triple and a pair of doubles and Kip Zillich and Carla Schronce each stroked out three hits, as the trio accounted for 10 of the Cobras' 18 hits.

Liz Pixley collected a home run, double, and triple to pace the Squaws.

The Charles Chipster Bombers scored 11 times in the first inning and then coasted to a 13-4 victory over the Casterline Ponies. Liz Smith with four singles and Lynn Sylvester with a single and home run sparked the victory. Ellen Smith, Sue Harris, and Donna Blaney each doubled for the Ponies.

GO-ROUND

Ever hear of a challenge round? In the Davis Cup tennis competition, the challenge round allows the winner of all the competitions to be challenged by an outsider to win the cup. This has in the past generally meant that the winner of all the competitions, worn out by all the tennis he has played, must face a challenger fresh from practice, rested, at ease. The challenger also gets to pick the court he will use.

City Considers PO Rezoning

Although several citizens raised objections Monday to a proposed rezoning of Center Street property to a professional office designation, at least one councilman appears to favor it.

Specifically, the city council is considering proposals to rezone three lots on North Center Street, opposite Chatham supermarket, from residential to a PO classification.

Request for rezoning on one of the lots was made by Denis Roux, and the two others are up for rezoning by the planning commission's own petition. Official hearing on the requests is slated in two weeks.

All three were recommended for rezoning by a split 4-3 vote in June.

As they did during an earlier discussion of the Randolph Street rezoning request (see related story), citizens objected to encroachments into residential areas by business developments.

Speaking in behalf of the proposal, Planning Commissioner Wallace Nichols emphasized that rezoning does not automatically mean that the existing houses must be removed. Once rezoned, the houses become non-conforming but may remain as long as the owner so chooses, he explained.

Nichols, who is chairman of a master plan study committee that has recommended curtailment of business development further north on Center Street, argued that the professional office zoning would be a safeguard against some future "undesirable" development. The corner parcel, he cautioned, could one day be rezoned for a gas station.

"Generally, the council puts a lot of faith in what the (planning) commission recommends," commented Councilman Kenneth Rathert. "I tend to favor it," he added.

Councilman Paul Folino, however, argued against the rezoning, taking the position that no rezoning should be considered by the city until a development is proposed. (No immediate development as PO is considered presently).

Streets Question Still in Doubt

Proposal to vacate two street rights-of-way in the Maplewood area remains in limbo this week.

Still insisting that the city vacate the rights-of-way only if it retains ownership, Mayor A. M. Allen once again directed City Attorney Philip Ogilvie to search the law to find some means of reaching his objective.

Meanwhile, other city officials appear to favor vacation with retention of an easement in lieu of out-right ownership.

Basically, the problem is this:

The city would like to eliminate the rights-of-way, located between Maplewood and Hill streets through property owned by the city for park or open space purposes, so that no roads can ever be developed.

Elimination of the rights-of-way means vacating, under the law, and in vacating streets the property reverts to adjacent property owners.

So even though city officials and adjacent property owners desire to maintain the rights-of-way as park land, there appears to be no lawful means for the city to retain ownership. Nevertheless, Allen is adamant, insisting that a "loophole" must exist somewhere in the law.

In other business Monday, the council—

- Approved a right-of-way for Detroit Edison lines to the Northville Square Development.
- Waived bids and awarded a contract (cost estimated at $2,000) for pump repairs at the water tower.
- Authorized the city engineer to prepare final cost estimates and the city attorney to prepare a contract for installation of sewer and water lines east of the C&O railroad and north of the DPW garage property.

Good Ol' Days?

stands at Griswold and Eight Mile Road.

Etherly was a lumber businessman, besides operating a farm here. Charlie's father managed the farm.

Years later the property was purchased by George B. Yerkes, and the house burned to the ground.

As a chauffeur, Charlie drove a Cadillac, a 1910 beauty that featured a speaking tube from the enclosed back seat to the open driver's seat.

Most of his driving was in and around Northville, with occasional trips to and from Detroit.

"Most times we took Seven Mile Road into Detroit because the sand was smoother. Eight Mile Road (ribboned with interurban tracks) was terrible. Sometimes we'd go up to Orchard Lake, over to Woodward and then up Woodward. That way wasn't too bad."

His longest trip for the Etherlys was to New York. "We took a boat across to Buffalo, took the car off and then drove the rest of the way."

As a chauffeur, Charlie's dress varied from uniform to his own clothes—depending upon the Etherlys' moods. Always, however, he proudly wore the chauffeur's license—a handsome policeman-like badge. He still has many of those badges today at his home on Wing Street.

There were no traffic signals in Northville in those days, he recalls, and even in Detroit they were scarce. What few signals that did exist in Detroit were hand-operated. A policeman stood at an intersection and manually moved signals, he remembers.

Sometimes the policeman stood in a "crow's nest" and signalled traffic with his hands. A "crow's nest" was erected in Northville at the Center and Main Street intersections, but it was primarily used as a downtown speaker's platform or bandstand.

Locally, motorists observed an unwritten courtesy law which, according to Charlie, meant giving the right-of-way to horses.

"It really wasn't a law," he says, "but whenever a horse and buggy approached the driver of an automobile—if he was courteous—he would pull off to the side of the road and kill his engine so he wouldn't frighten the horse."

There really wasn't a good street in all of Northville for driving automobiles, he remembers. All of them were full of ruts and dusty.

A 1911 editorial in The Record noted:

"The speed limit for autos on Main Street has been limited to twelve miles an hour. At the same time the street cars tear up and down the streets, anyway, from twenty-five to forty miles an hour, endangering life and health by kicking up the dust laden germs."

Gas stations, of course, were non-existent and automobile drivers depended on garages for fuel.

In Northville, for example, "there were two garages, I think, that had hand-operated gas pumps," recalls Charlie. "There was one where the Ford garage (now vacant property for the proposed Northville Square Development) was, and another, I believe, up on Center Street where the book store recently burned."

In July, 1911, The Record reported:

"The Pettibone Auto Garage Company has a new air pressure pump in working order and your auto will be supplied with pure Northville air, free of charge..."

Most garages in those days were really blacksmith shops that adjusted to service automobiles.

His chauffeur's job continued until 1917 when Charlie took a trip with the United States Army to France where, instead of battling ruts, he battled Germans.

Following the war, jobs were scarce and Charlie knocked around from one job to the next.

One of his early post-war jobs was with the milk condensory plant on Baseline where Warren Products is now located. Charlie drove a Packard truck with hard rubber tires that vibrated the dickens out of the driver and the load of milk during the trips into Detroit.

"Its fastest speed," he recalls, "was 14 miles an hour—and that was downhill."

A trip into Detroit, where the condensed milk was dropped off at two different bakeries, was an all-day adventure owing to the truck's snail-like pace. "I'd start out in the morning and wouldn't get back to Northville until about 3 in the afternoon."

The truck-driving job lasted less than two years, and Charlie then launched his own business—a car repair garage next to his home at the Baseline and then Novi Road curve—immediately east of the cider mill.

Although Charlie was one of the earliest drivers in Northville, he never became a member of the Northville Automobile Club—a club organized by F. S. Neal, former publisher of The Record.

The club, says Charlie, got started about the same time he started driving and, according to articles in The Record, it was still going strong in the early 1920's.

In April, 1911 The Record carried this news item:

"There is talk of organizing an automobile club in town for the promotion of good roads and other matters beneficial to both the automobile drivers and the general public."

In 1921 membership cards were being offered in the club, at $3 each, by the club secretary Neal. Among its officers at the time were C. C. Yerkes, T. G. Richardson, L. A. Babbitt, Neal, N. C. Schrader, W. L. Tinham, Cass Benton, H. M. Bogart and Roy Terrill.

One of the most active members, believes Charlie, was M. A. Porter, who operated a funeral home and furniture business where Schrader's furniture store is today located. Some oldtimers believe it was Porter who owned the first automobile in Northville.

"Not many people know it but one of the early cars was manufactured right here in Northville," says Charlie.

Digging out an old automobile manufacturers book, he points to a paragraph containing the name "Globe".

The Globe, in 1921, was manufactured by the Globe Furniture Company here. "I don't think too many of them were made but I remember them. They didn't have a cab, just a chassis and an engine."

The Globe company, no longer in existence, also was one of the world's largest makers of church and school seats. It also made seats for Ford Motor and seats for streetcars.

A driver in those days, he says, not only could tool around in a locally made automobile, but he could also smoke a Northville-made cigar—"Pride of Northville," later make butter in a Northville-made churn, and then take some Northville-made aspirin.

Northville, he concedes, was an active community "but," he adds, "I'd rather drive on today's roads in today's cars. And anyone who says driving in the old days was more fun doesn't know what he's talking about."

Not on Trees

Political candidates were reminded this past week that it is unlawful to affix signs to trees on any public highway or without county right-of-way.

"Each election year, our office is besieged with complaints regarding the posting of political signs within the right of way of highways in Oakland County," said Frazer W. Staman, vice-chairman of the Board of County Road Commissioners.

Patches to press on are made of various types of materials treated on one side so that they may be pressed on to the material. They are best suited to men's shirts, women's uniforms, and woven cotton underwear, and of course, small children's blue jeans! If you cut out your own patches from treated material, make corners rounded rather than sharp. They stick better and more smoothly. These patches may be bought at many notion counters. Do not try to patch any material that may be dry cleaned with any other than an insert patch of the same material sewn in place since these are the most presentable for the longest amount of time.

At SPINNING WHEEL FABRIC SHOP, 146 E. Main St., Northville, 349-1910, you'll find a most presentable collection of quality fabrics, including a full range of bridal fabrics. All our personnel are experts in sewing and will be happy to help you with any sewing problems. We feature a complete selection of patterns, sewing notions and accessories. Stempien a 3-1 edge.
GOP Incumbent Congressman Marvin Esch was unopposed.

(See Novi front page for results in Oakland County).

Northville's lone local candidate in a state contest, R. Robert Geake, defeated Livonia's George Kettunen for the GOP nomination for the 35th State House of Representatives District. In November, he'll battle Democrat winner Marie Miller for the House seat presently held by Stempien.

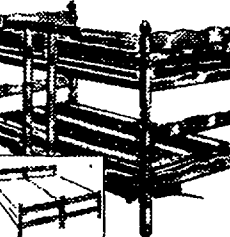

Three of the four propositions appearing on the Wayne County ballot were defeated.

Defeated were the county millage, home rule charter, and metropolitan park millage proposals. Approved was the state-wide proposal amending the Constitution to allow trial by a jury of less than 12 jurors in misdemeanor cases.

Hartland Man Predicts Dressage Team by '76

The Brighton Argus

THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wed.-Thurs., August 9-10, 1972

"It'll come about," said the man dressed in riding breeches, the wind ruffling his grey mantle of hair. The determination was evident in the unwavering tone of his voice and fairly jumped from his eyes, deep set in a craggy, sun-bronzed face.

What Charles Grant of Hartland was predicting, perhaps promising, was that America in the 1976 Olympics would field an All-American dressage team—with Americans astride American bred and American trained horses.

In light of present circumstances, that's quite a declaration, despite the fact that, according to the tall owner of Bit O' Shine stables, "Dressage is growing faster in America than any other division in the horse show world, except the quarter-horse division."

The art of dressage is dominated by the Germans. The United States, for instance, has entered a dressage team in the 1972 Olympics coming up this fall. But the horses are German born and trained and the riders, likewise, are from Germany, where dressage, cultivated for years among the military elite, has been a popular sport for centuries.

It takes careful breeding and thousands and thousands of hours to train the right horse for successful competition in the intricate art of dressage. The name dressage indicates as much. It is french for "training of the horse."

The rider, too, must submerge himself in hours upon hours of training.

The objective, of course, is to produce a fluid combination of horse and rider that for about 12 minutes in a 66 by 198-foot area goes through a precision routine without a verbal command and without a hitch.

What this all amounts to is knowledge, pride, perseverance—and money. Gobs of it. As Grant points out, "Dressage is dominated by wealthy people." A German dressage horse costs upwards of $30,000.

If any American is in a position to make a prediction that "definitely in 1976" the U.S. will have its own dressage horses and riders in the Olympics, it's the lean but muscular Grant.

If he is not the premiere dressage trainer in the United States, he is second to none. He is the only person trained in America and designated as a judge by the Federation of Equestrian International, meaning that he may judge Grand Prix dressage the world over.

Grant first became familiar with horses as a young boy in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. He was born in Manistique.

When still a youth, his parents moved to Chicago—and almost carried him away from horses. After graduation from high school in Chicago, he was seriously thinking of becoming a marine engineer.

During April of 1934, he

A roof for shelter sure. But also for money value. The kind of money value you automatically have, once you own a home.

That's what First Federal Savings is responsible for, more than any other money service—helping people own their own homes.

First Federal does that, so people will build "equity"—money value—in the roof over their heads. In the house around them. In the property surrounding the house.

And that's a very secure way to be.

First Federal will help you save money for a home in the future. Or lend you money for a home right now.

LANSING—A common complaint heard in public life these days is that government is no longer responsive to the needs of the citizen.

It has become so big, the argument goes, that it just can't look out after the individual any more.

There is a good deal of validity to this statement, of course. As bureaucracies grow larger, the tendency to pass the buck and cover one's own tracks becomes more pronounced.

But every now and then a few examples come forth to show all is not lost.

ON THE HIGHER SCALE, there is the practice undertaken by Gov. William G. Milliken a few months back to telephone every now and then a few of the people who write him letters.

The Governor made governmental responsiveness one of his programs, and the phone calls are part of the effort.

But the less dramatic, broader scale happening is probably more important in the long run, since it is on the broader levels of communication that most people come in contact with their government.

That makes an effort which will be undertaken next week (Aug. 15-19) at the Upper Peninsula State Fair noteworthy.

PUBLIC HEALTH nurses from the Delta-Menominee Health Department and state health department staff will be operating a free mobile immunization clinic.

Every fair visitor will be able, if he or she wants, to get free immunizations against lockjaw, diphtheria, measles, polio and whooping cough.

The director of the Delta-Menominee Health Department, Dr.

Mary Cretens, will be in charge of the unit.

She says it will "serve adults as well as children, especially inasmuch as so many adults have never had the booster shots needed to keep up protection against lockjaw and diphtheria."

STATE PUBLIC Health Director Maurice S. Reizen was quick to praise the project as a "commendable demonstration of imaginative public health."

"Too often in the past we have tended to insist on limiting ourselves to traditional approaches in the delivery of health services," he said.

The project can be important in saving lives, and will probably receive little publicity. It is a perfect example of how public employees who want to do more than pass the buck and merely conserve their own little bailiwick can turn government into something that really serves the people, not just figures out ways to antagonize them.

IN ADDITION to such traditional parties as the Democrats and Republicans, Michigan voters will see a party listed on their November ballots that may startle a few of them.

It's the Communist Party of Michigan.

The party qualified for a spot on the ballot by filing more than 23,000 signatures with the Secretary of State's office. That's 9,000 more than they needed to gain a spot.

Their presidential candidate is their perennial national leader—Gus Hall. The vice presidential candidate is Jarvis Tyner.

THE PARTY PLATFORM doesn't include a revolution as such.

The woman who organized the petition drive, Peggy Goldman, said she and her fellow communists have found people "want an end to this (Vietnam) war and they want jobs."

"Neither of the major parties is doing anything about these and other major problems that people are facing such as racism, repression, inflation, escalating taxes, the refusal of the law enforcement agencies to halt drug traffic, etc.," she said.

Such issues as inflation aren't quite in the same league as, "Workers of the world unite. You have nothing to lose but your chains." But then nothing is the same any more.

Whereas Marx and his followers were against private property, the Communist Party of Illinois came out this year in favor of property tax relief, a bourgeois idea which actually encourages the ownership of private property.

Babson Report

Variance Seen in Drug Sales

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—Many leading drug stocks are currently priced near their all-time highs and several are selling at what appears to be inflated price-earnings ratios.

Investors are wondering if the drug stocks are particularly vulnerable to decline or if there is still considerable growth ahead. Naturally, the problem arises as to whether profits should be taken in this group, purchases avoided.

WHEN LOOKING over the issues of the numerous companies making up the domestic drug industry, it may be seen that there is a wide variance in price-earnings ratios of the leading firms.

For example, based on expected per-share profits this year, the stock of Schering-Plough recently sold at a generous 42 times earnings while Johnson & Johnson sold at a high 54 times. In view of their exceptional records and promising prospects these issues customarily command premium prices.

On the other hand, the stocks of such firms as Pfizer, Smith Kline & French, Morton-Norwich, Rorer-Amchem, and several others are priced at much lower levels relative to anticipated earnings.

THE VERY RAPID growth of the drug industry during the late 1950s and early- to mid-1960s has slowed somewhat. But even at the less intensive pace, sales and earnings and profit margins compare favorably with most other lines. The drug group also has a good defensive record.

Overall profits this year, aided by the stronger economy and high sales from overseas operations, are likely to improve by at least 10 percent over those of 1971. Additional gains are expected in subsequent years as the industry benefits from continued strong worldwide demand for established ethical and pharmaceutical drugs as well as for newer compounds currently in experimental or testing stages. Increased emphasis by the government on health-care spending represents an additional plus factor in the drug field.

In view of the still favorable outlook for the foremost drug companies, the Research Department of Babson's Reports is recommending that investors continue to hold such issues for further long-range increases.

This advice applies to such well-known companies as Abbott Laboratories, American Home Products, Bristol-Myers, Johnson & Johnson, Eli Lilly, Merck, Morton-Norwich, Pfizer, Richardson-Merrell, Rorer-Amchem, Schering-Plough, G.D. Searle, Smith Kline & French, Sterling Drug, Syntex, Upjohn, and Warner-Lambert.

AS FOR ATTRACTIVE purchases, Babson's Research Department currently favors the common stocks of Morton-Norwich and Pfizer for longer-term growth. Income-oriented investors should, of course, avoid these two as well as other drug issues because the yields on stocks in this industrial segment are almost universally low.

Pfizer has a fine progress record. A leading drug firm, it has recorded consecutive sales peaks for 22 years, and another new high seems assured for this year. Earnings gains have also been consistent except for a dip in 1967. Last year's profits were $1.38 a share, should reach $1.55 this year.

Pfizer gets about one-half its sales from the U.S. and the rest from abroad. The conservative-grade stock is an attractive growth candidate, in the opinion of Babson's Reports.

Morton-Norwich's progress has been restricted in recent years by price cutting on two of its important drug products, plus difficulties with its salt operations. But this year earnings are likely to show good improvement, possibly up to the $1.85-per-share range from 1971's $1.35.

Its product line includes Pepto-Bismol, Unguentine, Morton Salt, Fantastik, Simoniz, and Janitor in a Drum. The conservative-grade stock is regarded as a good "comeback" candidate.

MOON BLINDNESS

Moon blindness is also called periodic ophthalmia or recurrent iridocyclitis. This disease is the most widespread cause of blindness in horses and mules. It usually doesn't strike animals until they're three to four years old, but it has left its mark in most of the world and particularly in the eastern half of the United States.

It was once thought to have something to do with phases of the moon. Research, however, indicates that riboflavin in the seems to help prevent it. Some tests tend to show it is related to leptospirosis infection which is caused by a corkscrew bacteria.

Inflammation may begin in one eye or both, often quite suddenly. The eyelids are swollen and tender, and the horse will keep his eyes closed. A flow of tears is secreted, the cornea may look cloudy or milky. Temperature usually rises.

In a week to 10 days the inflammation will subside. By that time, the eyes will sometimes show little effect of the disease. However, in acute cases, the eyes may be chalk-white and blind.

Prompt veterinary treatment can prolong sight and reduce adverse effects. Keep the horse away from strong sunlight, in a dark stall, during acute stages.

Sad to say, no successful treatment has yet been developed for advanced cases which have already caused extensive damage.

Meteors Light August Skies

The Perseids—a shower of meteors that appears annually—will flash across the evening skies of August, notes University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

She says these bright "shooting stars" will reach a peak of about 70 per hour around August 11. The iron or stone meteors, which burn up when they enter the earth's atmosphere at high speeds, grow more numerous with the approaching dawn.

Motorcycle Races Return to Downs

Motorcycles Will Whirl Around Downs Oval Again on August 19

Dressage Team by '76

hired on with the O. H. M. Reese, the largest steel freighter on the Great Lakes. What better way to launch a career in marine engineering than to get some practical experience aboard a freighter?

But it was not to be. His parents were dead set against his sojourn on the seas. They prevailed, so the young Grant went down to the harbor in June to give notice he wouldn't be sailing.

It was a fateful walk back from the ship. While passing by the 122nd Field Artillery Armory on East Chicago Avenue, he became curious and walked into one of the buildings housing the horses.

"An officer put his arm around me and asked me whether I would like to ride horses," Grant recalled. The officer, it turned out, was Rosy Sissler, head polo trainer for the 122nd Field Artillery Association and trainer of recruit riders for the National Guard artillery.

Grant snapped up the job. Twenty-two horses in a polo string were assigned to him and he lived at the armory, working long hours conditioning and training horses. "I never sent a pair of breeches to the laundry," he said, "they wore out."

Eventually, the entire string of some 60 horses was turned over to Grant. Although he had the responsibility of training an increasing number of horses, Grant himself was not permitted to compete in the polo games. Only officers could do that.

In 1938 came the next significant change in his life. Bernard Christenson, owner of one of the largest public riding stables in the United States, called Grant and asked him to have dinner at the Red Star Inn, a famous, old German restaurant no longer in existence in Chicago.

Christenson's stable was located at 1508 North Clark Street in what is now downtown Chicago.

"I remember sitting there," Grant said. "He asked me to come to work for him as a trainer 'My God,' I said, I wouldn't because there was no future in it. I said I would never become a professional horseman."

Christenson countered with an offer that Grant try it on a part-time basis for one week. That offer was to become a full-time job. Working from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Grant received $25 per week, plus five percent over the gross of the previous year for that month.

"I began to make better money probably than any professional in Chicago," he said.

As in his previous years with the national guard artillery, Grant received no formal training. He picked up pointers here and there and read everything he could about training and horses.

It was a trail and error method that Grant had used throughout his life.

Dressage was little more than a word at the time. He was training hunters and jumpers at Christenson's stables. Eventually, there were 100 school horses there.

The next chapter in Grant's life was especially significant. World War II broke out and in 1941 Grant left Christenson, and saw service in Africa and Italy with the tank corps.

It was near the close of the war, while he was stationed in Italy, that he came face to face with dressage. About 100,000 German soldiers were imprisoned near King Victor Emmanuel's estate, just west of Pisa. Located there also were about 20,000 horses captured from the Germans.

"All my free time I spent riding horses," Grant said. "I talked with the German prisoners who were good horsemen and learned something from them." He also learned something about dressage from the pictures he saw in Europe.

Grant's "trial and error" schooling continued in 1946 upon his release from the army. He went to work at the Chicago Riding Club on the north side of Chicago, which was to be, as Grant put it, "a tremendous experience."

He worked 12 hours a day, ran classes every night of the week and owned a horse of his own. During his tenure at the Chicago Riding Club, he judged the first civilian dressage show ever held in America. It was held at Northwestern Stables, Morton Grove, Illinois.

"From then on," he said, "I taught dressage."

The professional trainer turned owner in 1948. He bought the Old Fashion Club Stables at Cleveland and Grant in Chicago and renamed it the Plush Horse Stables.

Finally, upon the recommendation of one of the most knowledgeable dressage trainers in the United States, Colonel Isaac Kitts, Grant came to Michigan around 1950 and became a trainer with the Bloomfield Hills Open Hunt Club. His stay at the Hunt Club was of short duration.

Eventually, through a monied horse fancier, Grant purchased his present farm in Hartland. And during his years in Michigan, his first love has been and continues to be the demanding art of dressage.

The horse, after whom the farm is named, Bit O Shine, was the first dressage horse in America to pay its way in prize money. That was in 1969. It took hours and hours of training to produce a champion like Bit O Shine. And Grant, of course, looks forward to training other horses, for, as he put it, "This is my life."

Motorcycle racing returns to Northville Downs for the second time this year on Saturday, August 19.

And promoters of the event promise that the race over the half-mile track will attract the best and fastest riders in the business.

They're predicting 100-mile-per-hour speeds with Mark Brelsford, currently the hottest rider in the country, on his alloy Harley, and Dick Mann, the defending Grand National Champion.

Other riders representing the best names from the California riders include Jim Rice, Gene Romero, Mert Lawwill and John Hateley.

Most of the national championship circuit riders from the mid-west appeared at Northville Downs in the May 27 event. All except Bart Markel, that is. Markel was hurt and unable to compete in the last event.

But the popular Flint rider will be at the Downs August 19, both to celebrate his 37th birthday and to add to his current string of 28 national-championship racing victories.

Markel's victory string has been on dirt tracks, which should make him the man to beat at Northville.

Teddy Newton will return and hopes to duplicate his May win on his super-fast BSA. Larry Darr was a close second and hopes to improve his performance.

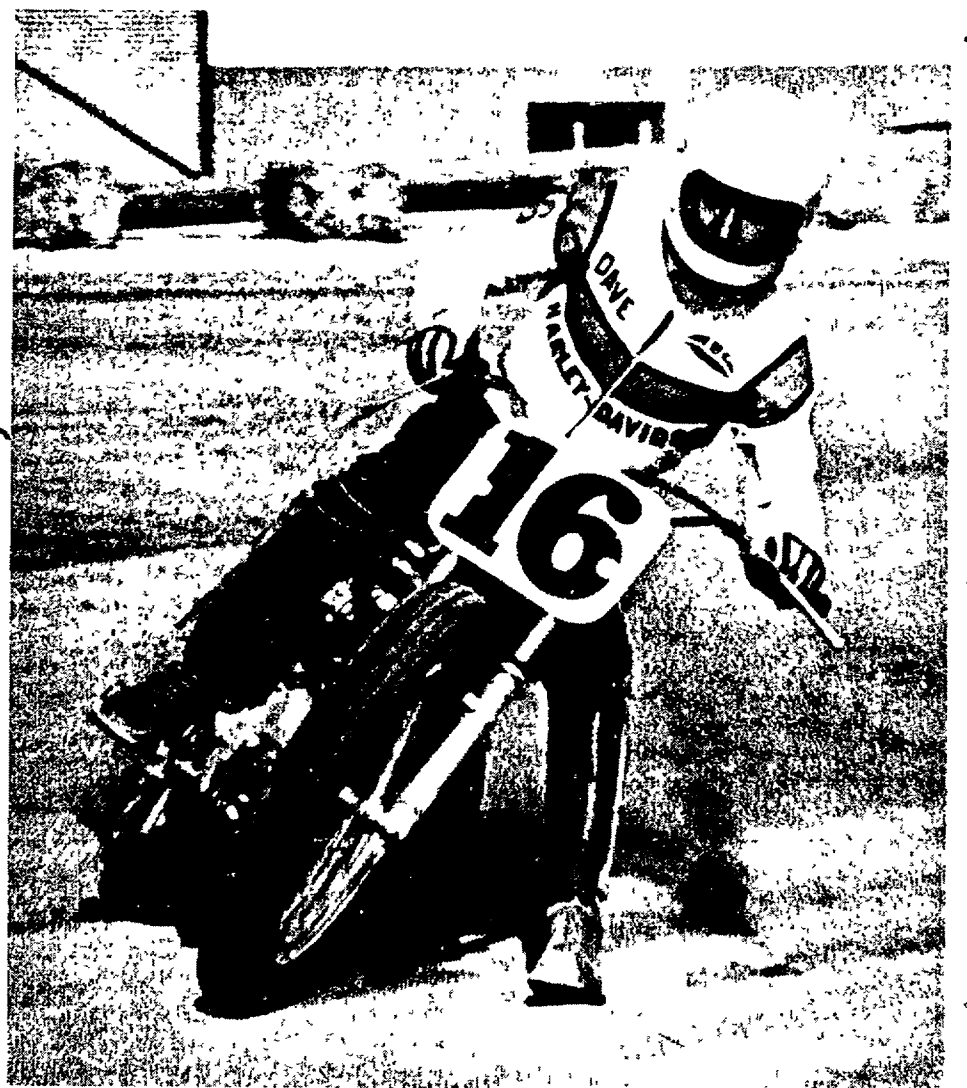

Other riders in the expert class will be Dave and Doug Sehl, Gary Nixon, Charlie Chapple, Robert E. Lee, Rex Beauchamp, Jack Warren, Corky Keener, Frenchy LeBlanc, Kenny Roberts and Gary Landry.

There will be more than 150 licensed, professional riders competing under the lights at the Downs' oval. They ride 750 cc machines developing 75 horsepower, use no brakes, and compete for a purse totalling $3,500.

Junior and novice classes will also compete making up a race program of from 15 to 18 races.

Competition begins at 7:00 p.m. and ends with three main events highlighted by the 15-lap Expert Final at 10 p.m. Practice starts at 4:00 p.m.

Fans can enjoy the races from the air-conditioned, enclosed grandstands at Northville Downs.

TORNADO ODDITY—When the tornado whirled through the Walled Lake area last week Wednesday, it snatched the metal boat of Chester Combs, 2879 Fisher Road, and slammed it into this tree, leaving an undamaged fish net at the base of the tree almost as if to catch the mutilated boat.

Day Camp Interest Sparks Three Sessions

By NANCY DINGELDEY

What better way for a youngster to spend two weeks of his summer vacation than in an organized day camp? Using the spacious facilities of the newly opened Outdoor Education Center, the Community Education Department of the Walled Lake Schools felt the need to provide an introductory camping experience to children at a reasonable cost.

Originally, two camping sessions were planned but the response to the program was so great, a third session was arranged. Each session lasts for 10 days with a regular bus route planned to transport the children every day. With sack lunch prepared at home, the campers spend a seven hour day in a multitude of activities generally aimed towards basic camping skills.

Tent pitching, archery, boating, riflery, swimming, horseback riding and nature study, always stressing "safety first," take place in the perfect setting surrounding the Outdoor Education Center and adjoining Proud Lake Recreation Area.

Naturalist Hartley Thornton from Proud Lake spends a few hours each session with the children explaining and pointing out Mother Nature at work.

Hiking to the Power picnic site or to the Huron River for boating, a bus ride to the Highland Lake Recreation area for horseback riding with eight experienced counselors to guide the children fill each day with the main ingredient to a successful camping experience—fun.

During the first camping session, John Xenos, principal of the Vocational Education Center and his son Mike, marched into camp completely outfitted in Minute Man regalia.

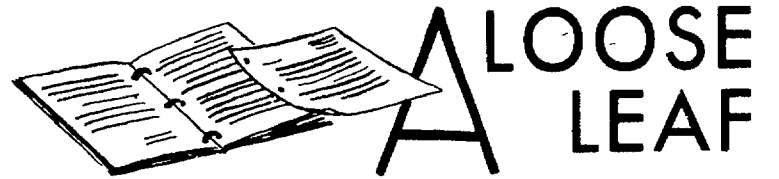

Using reproductions of old-time pistols, they entertained the 105 youngsters with handgun demonstrations using flintlocks, black powder firings and more up-to-date cap and ball pistols.

Winding up the two weeks at camp is an overnight stay with dinner of hamburgers, hot dogs, camper's stew, corn, potatoes and other such delicacies prepared over open campfires using techniques acquired during the prior days of camp.

A field day concludes the session, again using camping skills, including tent pitching, sharp shooting and archery. Ribbons are awarded to the winning teams.

How do the kids react to day camp? "They put their hearts and souls into everything they do," remarked one counselor, "and there are a lot of nodding heads on that bus ride home."

By ROLLY PETERSON

For the 19th century, the villain was the guy with the handlebar mustache, the long flowing cape and a sinister cackle, all draped in black. For the 20th century, the villain had the same black mustache, shortened however, the black hair and a uniform with a swastika on it. He is, of course, Hitler.

people. But he was the fifth, sixth or seventh choice of McGovern, doesn't augur well for the Democrats, who before the Eagleton controversy were some 16 points behind Nixon in the popularity polls.

The ground will surely be closed before the general election, but the odds must be one million to one against McGovern. The only thing giving Democrats hope at this point is the fact that McGovern came from no where to gain his party's nomination.

Frustrating. To put a dime in the parking meter, only to realize too late that you put it in the nickel and penny slot.

Monday night some of the most interesting film footage appeared on television. It was an hour-long special on the 1936 Olympics and Jesse Owens' triumphant march to four gold medals. But the most fascinating part was not Owens, although he was featured. It was many close-ups of Hitler and specifically his reaction to the competition.

An aura of malevolence pervaded the shots of the dictator. He'd smile broadly whenever a German won an event, and frown discernibly whenever an Aryan didn't break the tape first, or finish on top in a field event.

Through it all came this sinister diabolism. Here was a fiend, you couldn't help thinking, whose thirst for world power had not yet emerged in bloody war. Frankly, it was equally frightening and fascinating.

Indications were there, however, in the summer of '36 as to what was to come. Hitler snubbed Owens by walking from the German stadium after congratulating the winners. The Olympic Committee reprimanded Hitler for his unsportsmanlike conduct, which, in the long aftermath of World War I and the string of atrocities perpetrated by Hitler, seemed petty.

Not all Germans, as indicated by the footage, shared Hitler's extreme racist attitudes. They warmed to the performances of all athletes, whatever their stripe, by applauding with enthusiasm.

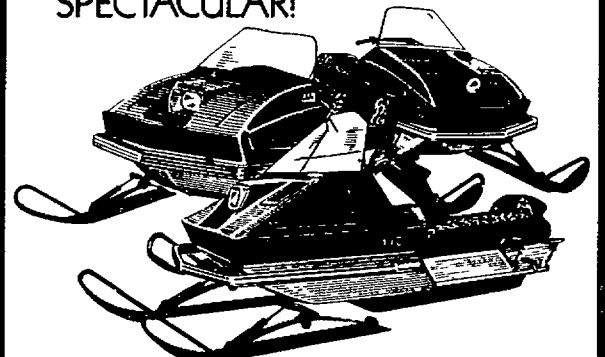

The impression, I'm sure, is shared by many that the Democratic ticket of George McGovern and R. Sargent Shriver is indeed facing a near-impossible task as the race to the presidential election in November begins.

Shriver may be eminently qualified, with appeal to many different types of

The U-M astronomer says the meteors are believed to be debris spread out along the orbit of a comet and they appear to radiate from a point in the constellation Perseus in the northeast. Although the shooting stars' paths may seem divergent, Prof. Losh notes, they actually move along parallel lines. The meteors can glow as brightly as the North Star upon hitting our atmosphere, she adds, but they are probably no larger than the head of a pin.

August constellations include Aquila, the eagle, in the eastern portion of the Milky Way, Prof. Losh notes. Aquila contains the conspicuous star Altair, easily identified by two attendant stars. With Altair in the middle, the three stars form a striking line, Prof. Losh says.

Near the zenith is the constellation Cygnus, the swan. Also known as the Northern Cross, Cygnus seems to be flying west through the Milky Way, the U-M astronomer notes.

Venus continues as a morning planet and will reach its greatest angular distance from the sun on the 27th, Prof. Losh says. After that, the planet will draw closer to the sun. Jupiter will be found well above the southern horizon in the early evening.

By the end of the month, our day will have lost two hours from the June high of 15. Even at the beginning of the month, Prof. Losh says, a marked decrease in the daylight hours will be visible.

Revival Starts With You

Robert V. Warren, Pastor
First Baptist Church
Wixom

"Revival . . . The Church's Greatest Need!" This is the title of a pamphlet that recently came across my desk! Allow me to share some of its content with you. The author states that "if the church of Jesus Christ is ever going to be the force for God, instead of a farce, it must be melted down in the flames of an old-fashioned, God-sent, heaven-born, heart-searching revival."

How often we have sung the hymn: "There Shall Be Showers of Blessing" and yet have failed to experience the same! What has been the expression of our lips has not been the experience of our hearts. WHY? Simply because professing Christians have not been willing to pay the price for revival. Let us be frank about it! Large numbers of the redeemed have not been broken in spirit and open in confession of their sin. They are not mastered, possessed and controlled by the Holy Spirit of God! Their discipleship is shallow, superficial and self-centered!

The author goes on to state: "God has not changed the price which we must pay if revival is to fall upon the church. Give ear to the conditions: If MY people, which are called by MY name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek MY FACE, and turn from their wicked ways; Then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." (II Chronicles 7:14) God is not waiting for the unregenerate to repent. He is waiting for his own people to repent, to humble themselves, to pray, to seek His face, and to turn from their wicked ways! It's very clear!

Dr. J. Oswald Smith in his book: "The Revival We Need", states: "As long as inquiry among the people of God is covered over and unconfessed, just so long will the Spirit of God be unable to bring about a revival."

One just recently said: "Revival will only come as each true believer is willing to be honest about his sin, is willing to crucify his self-life, and claim the fullness of the Holy Spirit. Revival is painful to the believer! It means permitting God to perform total surgery on our self-life. This will mean our willingness to let Him have His way 100 per cent in every area of our total person—nothing held back! This will mean possibly making full restitution to people we have hurt, wrong deeds we have done, attitudes we have held that were not Christlike, and sin we have committed.

Such a spirit of revival is presently sweeping across Western Canada, as well as parts of our own United States. Such Christian magazines as Moody Monthly, Christian Life, Good News Broadcaster, Decision, etc. have reported on this encouraging awakening. According to an article in the Good News Broadcaster, May 1972, revival blessings began to come to the community of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan in October of '71.

After hearing the preaching and testimonies for several nights, the people began crowding to the altar night after night, confessing their sins, making restitutions, and renewing their dedication to God. As a result, the services were moved from the small auditorium to the largest in town seating nearly 2,000. Hundreds testified of the victory they had received over bitterness, pride and selfishness. Broken homes were re-united, young people turned from drugs to God, and numbers were returning to stores, etc to make restitution for past dishonesty.

Many in the churches have experienced a new found love and genuine concern for one another. Galatians 6:2, "Bear ye one another's burden", has become a living reality! Others have experienced a new love and excitement in reading the Bible. It has come alive! For many others, the Christian life and service have ceased to be a burden—they have become a joy! One pastor observed: "Before the revival, we were doctrinally right . . . but we were DEAD right."

Are you hungry for genuine Biblical revival? Are you willing to pay the price? The answer is found in II Chronicles 7:14: "If MY people . . . shall humble themselves . . . seek MY face . . . turn from their wicked ways . . . Then will I hear . . . will forgive and will heal their land." Oh, how desperately our land needs healing today! Will you be that tool that God can use to bring about such a revival? Remember, revival begins with and in YOU!

TOWER OF STRENGTH

Maybe you know her as Miss Lizzie or Granny Hill or Aunt Mary Jones. Through the years she's been a tower of strength in her community . . . helping with the sick, sharing with the poor . . . a friend to all.

She doesn't seem to worry about the future, just looks to the brighter side and is happy. You envy her, thinking she gets much out of life that you miss. Does she have a secret, a magic formula?

No, you can't say that her fellowship with God is a secret, for God is for everyone!

Would you like to possess some of her strength to look ahead, to face danger and conquer fear? The Church can help you reach this goal. All through the years it has strengthened mankind and helped him find the best in himself and in others.

1-3 Card Of Thanks

WE wish to extend a sincere "Thank You" to all our friends and neighbors for cards, memorials and other expressions of sympathy at the time of our bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. John
Wyskiel, Commander
Utley, the Veterans and
Auxiliary of Post 4012,
Ron Neitzel and the Casterline Funeral Home.

Mrs. Herbert Olson and Brothers and Sisters

We would like to thank Fireman, Police, and Neighbors for all of their help during our recent bereavement.

WE wish to thank our many friends for their expression of sympathy and acts of kindness at the time of the death of our loved one. Special thanks go to Rev. Glenn for his service and to the ladies of the Methodist Church and Eastern Star who served dinner after the service.

State Boasts Historical Buildings

Michigan has nearly a hundred buildings around the state which deserve more than the casual glance they get from persons who go by them every day, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

They are houses, public buildings, churches and other structures which have unusual historical significance, given this honor by the National Park Service's Historic American Buildings Survey, working with the American Institute of Architects and the Library of Congress. The Michigan Historical Commission also has tagged many of the same buildings for its own list.

The largest concentration of historical buildings is in Washtenaw, Calhoun, Kent, Eaton and Wayne Counties. Some are privately owned and not open to the public. Others are open by appointment or have regular seasonal hours.

Nearly a third of the state's 83 counties have one or more buildings on the list.

Number one on everybody's list is the 93-year-old state capitol at Lansing, one of the state's top tourist attractions. The architect, Elijah E. Myers, also designed the state capitols of Colorado, Idaho and Texas.

Also in the Lansing area, midway between East Lansing and Williamston on Meridian Road, is St. Katherine's Chapel, built in 1887 for John Harris Foster, a dairy farmer, who presented it to the Protestant Episcopal Church.

In 1955, Detroit's picturesque Mariners' Church was saved from demolition by being moved and restored. Built in 1849 for the sailors on the Great Lakes, it is one of Detroit's revered landmarks. Formerly located near the foot of Woodward Avenue, a short distance from the Detroit River, its new site is a few blocks east on Jefferson Avenue.

Detroit has four other churches on the HABS list, the oldest built in 1844-48.

Old Fort Wayne on West Jefferson Avenue in Detroit, built in 1845-48 when border tension with Canada ran high, was the last of the great redoubts built in Michigan. Its guns were never fired at an enemy. The fort, including barracks, gun emplacements, powder magazine and sally port, are now maintained by the Detroit Historical Commission.

Only railroad station on the list is the Michigan Central or Penn Central depot in Battle Creek, built in 1887-88. It is a brick and stone structure with tower, hip roof, wide-bracketed overhangs, wide arched doorways and porch. Presidents William McKinley and William Howard Taft spoke to crowds gathered there.

Marshall, the Calhoun county seat, is almost in a class by itself in historic and unique homes. It has some 61 examples of mid-19th century architecture, some of the finest in Michigan.

The HABS lists seven residences, all except the 1860 Honolulu house still private homes. The Honolulu House, now headquarters for the Marshall Historical Society, was built by Abner Pratt, a justice of the Michigan Supreme Court and U.S. consul to Hawaii who reputedly modeled it after a house he occupied in Hawaii.

Two inns are recognized. Botsford Inn at Farmington is the oldest in Michigan still providing food and lodging. The original portion was built in 1836. Henry Ford purchased the property in 1924 and restored it, retaining ownership until 1951. At the intersection of US-12 and M-50 at the western edge of the Irish Hills is the Walker Tavern, a stagecoach inn which dates from 1830.

The Eaton County Courthouse at Charlotte is the only Michigan courthouse to make the list but others are under consideration. The cornerstone of this impressive 2½-story brick-stone structure was laid in 1883. A characteristic is a three stage square cupola with octagonal dome.

Historic Mackinac Island is given major representation. First are restored buildings of the American Fur Co. consisting of the Agency of

Robert Stuart House and the Fur Warehouse, the Edward Biddle House, probably the oldest house on the island; Fort Mackinac, with its blockhouses, guardhouse, officers' stone quarters, officers' wood quarters, post headquarters, post hospital and ramparts and sally port; the Mission Church; the 1887 Grand Hotel, and the recently restored Indian Dormitory, former Indian agency building dating from 1838.

Only lighthouse listed is the Presque Isle on Presque Isle. Built in 1870, it was abandoned in 1940 when a new one was built a mile north. It has been a museum in recent years.

Other structures included on the lists:

Ann Arbor—Anderson, Norman B. Coverl, Thompson Sinclair, Dr. Benajah Ticknor, Judge Robert S. Wilson and the University of Michigan president's houses; the Anson Brown commercial buildings, built in 1832-34, and the University Observatory. Ypsilanti—Ballard House, 1832, and the Arden H. Ballard, Esq., House, 1842.

Dearborn—Detroit Arsenal, on north side of Michigan Avenue at Monroe Boulevard, and famed Fair Lane, the estate of the late auto pioneer, Henry Ford, built in 1915, now owned by the University of Michigan.

Tonia—Hall-Fowler Library, formerly the Frederick Hall House, built in 1870 for Frederick Hall, banker and public official. Grand Rapids—Abraham Pike Home, 1944-45, now the Grand Rapids Art Museum. Niles—Rodney G. Paine Bank Building, a clapboard structure built about 1842-48. It is privately owned and not open to the public.

Sault Ste. Marie—Henry R. Schoolcraft House, 1820s. Marquette—Bishop Baraga

House, mid-19th century, and John Burt House, 1858.

Constantine—Gov. John S. Barry Home, 1835-36.

Adrian—Gov. Charles M. Croswell Home, pre-Civil War.

Pontiac—Gov. Moses Wisner Home, built in 1845.

Monroe—Gov. Robert McClelland House, 1828, and Rudolph Nims House, 1846.
