NAMED this week to the Northville Beautification Commission were Mrs. Robert Brueck, 47129 Dunsany, and Mrs. Thomas Handy, 40123 Stoneleigh. Mrs. Handy is a township planner. Her appointment to the city commission is permissible under the commission bylaws, it was explained.

TURKEY DINNER at the new Drawbridge Restaurant appears likely, city councilmen were told by the owner this week as he discussed parking requirements. These requirements, assured councilmen, will not interfere with the planned restaurant opening by Thanksgiving.

HAVING ALREADY received $2,000 appropriations from Plymouth Northville Township, the city council authorized a similar appropriation this week for Ukan—the inter-community volunteer citizen group battling drug and related problems. The local unit of Ukan is presently headquartered in the building at the Fish Hatchery park.

A WATER SUPPLY agreement with the township was approved this week by the city council. Under this agreement the city agrees to supply water through its mains to the township area west of the city if the township goes ahead with a special assessment program to install new lines in the area. Before the program can become a reality, however, township residents must petition for establishment of assessment district.

VOTER REGISTRATION deadline is Friday at 8 p.m. to be eligible to cast ballots in the November 7 election. Both city and township offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday to register voters.

A PARENT-STUDENT meeting to discuss senior trip plans has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tonight (Thursday) in the high school cafeteria, Gary Penrod announced Monday.

SUICIDE is listed as the cause of death of Jane I. Smith, 49, of 43725 Dorisa Court. According to police, Mrs. Smith died between 1 and 2 p.m. Tuesday after inhaling natural gas. Her body was discovered by her husband, Ernest, shortly after 5 p.m. Police found no signs of foul play.

Esch-Stempien Debate Battle Shapes Up

A humdrum of a battle is shaping up with the announcement that the two contestants for the Second Congressional District seat will square off at a meeting of the First Presbyterian Men's Club next week.

On deck are Republican Congressman Marvin Esch and his Democratic challenger, State Representative Marvin Stempien.

Their race is seen as a key one by both parties in the November 7 election.

Because of the significance of this race, the Men's Club has issued special invitations to men's club members from other Northville churches.

The October 12 dinner meeting will get underway at 6:30 p.m. in the social hall of the Presbyterian Church, with talks by both candidates scheduled to start about 7:30 p.m.

Those wishing to attend the 6:30 p.m. dinner, preceding the talks, are urged to call the Presbyterian church by Monday, October 9 for reservations.

Men unable to attend the dinner are nevertheless invited to attend the fireworks later.

Esch and Stempien are battling for the seat in the reapportioned Second District that includes a portion of the City of Northville, Northville Township and Livonia.

It is this reapportionment that last week found the two candidates battling in court. Before reapportionment, the Second District did not include Livonia—Stempien's hometown. With its inclusion he was able to enter the congressional race.

As the campaign heated up, Stempien sought and last week won a court order preventing Esch from calling himself the incumbent in Livonia.

"My opponent," charged Stempien, "has erected campaign signs, established a business office and has mailed, at approximately $8,000 of taxpayers' expense, to the City of Livonia which is outside of his incumbent district."

Noting that Republican Congressman Jack McDonald technically is the incumbent of Livonia through the remainder of this year, Circuit Court Judge James

MARVIN ESCH

Ryan issued a permanent restraining injunction against Esch.

Last week's court clash between Esch and Stempien adds fuel to the red-hot race. Both are liberals within their parties but they consider themselves miles apart on many issues.

Both Esch and Stempien are graduates of the University of Michigan in government positions for years.

Esch, a resident of Ann Arbor, was first elected to Congress in 1966, having previously served a two-year term as a state representative.

Stempien, a practicing attorney, has served as a state representative for three two-year terms and presently is the Majority Floor Leader.

Senior Citizen Housing Tied to Zoning Change

City Sets Rezoning Hearings

Three public hearings—two involving rezoning requests and another concerning minimum age limit for taxicab drivers—will come up before the city council soon. The council set the hearings at its meeting Monday. They involve:

- An appeal by Dennis Roux to rezone Taft Road property from R-1-S (suburban residential) to R-2A (restricted multiple dwelling). The request was denied by a 3-2 vote of the planning commission (four planners were absent) in August.

- Request of Nicholas Zander to rezone property in the rear of his Seven Mile Road barber shop from R-2 (two family residential) to C-1 (local business). This request was recommended for council approval by the planning commission (5-3) last month.

- The appeal by the owner of the Star Taxicab Company, serving Northville, to lower

A proposal for a small senior citizens housing development in Northville took a cautious step forward this week.

Following a 2-2 deadlock Monday, the city council resolved its impasse by tacking a proviso to its plans for purchase of property adjacent to Northville Laboratories.

Specifically, the council decided to purchase the property at the appraised value of $25,500—provided it is able to gain the necessary multiple housing zoning to permit construction of senior citizen housing. Proposed are one or two duplex units.

The matter now goes to the planning commission, which must decide whether or not the property should be rezoned from its present single dwelling classification.

However, the council is not yet sure the owner of the property, on which a house and garage now stands, will sell it contingent upon a zoning change. Earlier, Mayor A. M. Allen and City Manager Frank Ollendorff had negotiated a cash purchase from the owner, Conrad Langfield.

During Monday's discussion Ollendorff cautioned the council that the owner has other offers to purchase.

The purchase suggestion was made to the council last month by the city's housing commission, which has run into a red tape roadblock in its efforts to obtain federal funds for a large senior citizen housing development.

In view of the fact that the standing application for such funds appears doubtful for at least another year, the commission suggested the interim plan of purchasing this available property, removing the existing house, and developing at city expense duplex units.

Following this recommendation the council ordered the appraisal and authorized negotiations for a purchase agreement. It was that agreement, together with citizen objections, that triggered Monday's impasse.

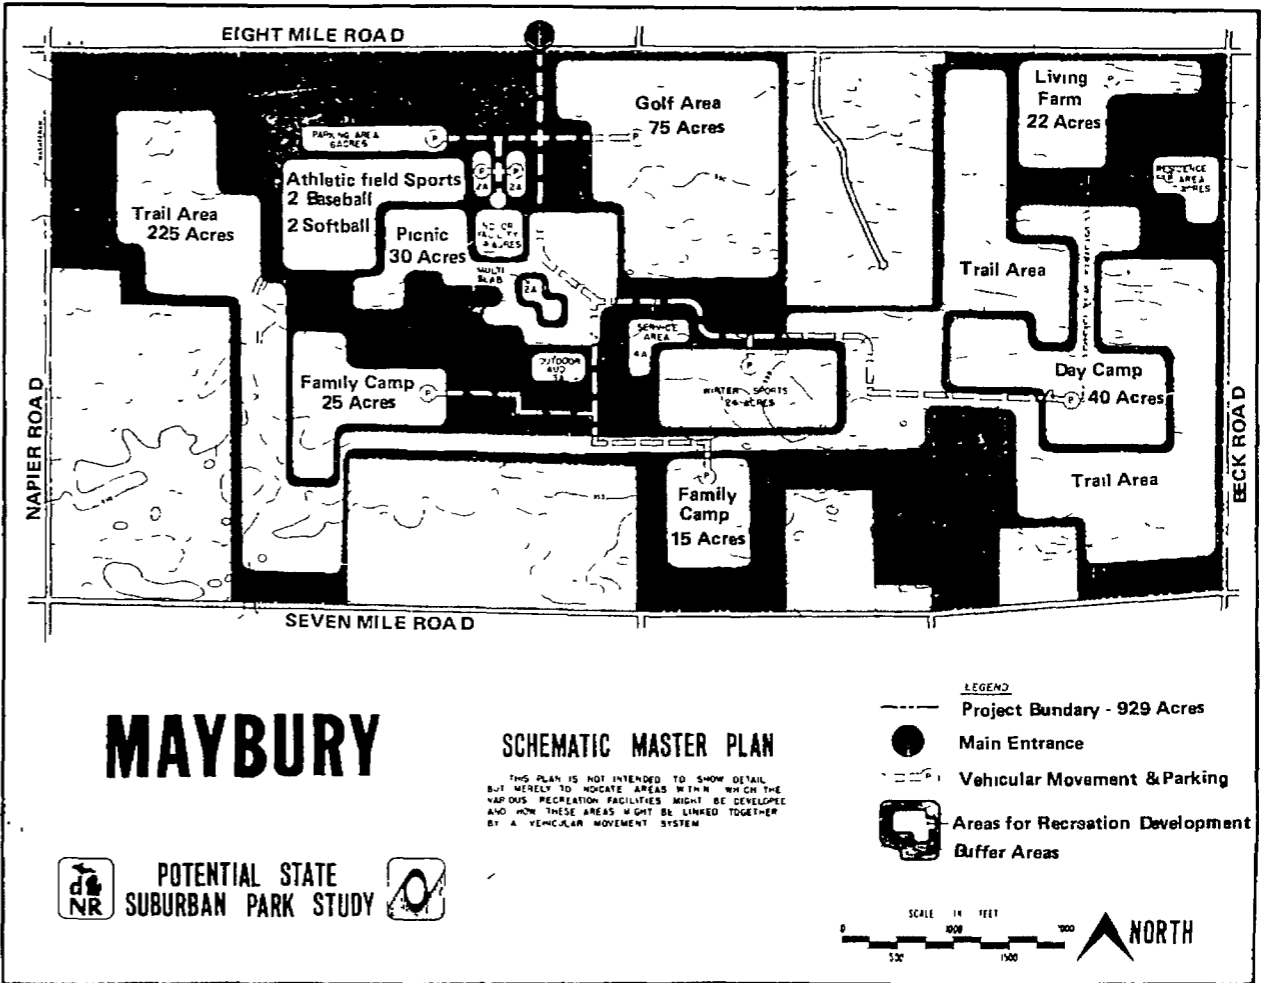

Leading objections were raised by Leon Bonner, a neighbor to the property in question and one of those persons who have offered to purchase it.

Bonner, who argued against city subsidized housing for senior citizens, suggested that the council by purchasing the property would by necessity push through the zoning change to fit its plans. Public objection to the rezoning would therefore be ignored, he charged.

He suggested that housing for only senior citizens may constitute discrimination by age. He was unmoved by Ollendorff's report that a housing commission survey indicates housing for limited income older citizens is a pressing need.

Bonner also argued that the price of the property was too great for the city's intended purpose. Other larger parcels could be obtained at a lesser cost, he said, pointing to the Randolph Street property (near Center) that recently was denied rezoning.

"Why must I as a taxpayer be involved in subsidizing public housing? What about people who are doing their best, working and paying taxes...aren't they being

For Maybury Park

State Reviews Plans

Maybury State Suburban Park, present and future, was the topic of discussion at a public hearing last Thursday evening at Schoolcraft Community College.

About 100 area residents attended the session called by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and co-hosted by the Wayne division of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit and Schoolcraft.

Purpose of the meeting was to introduce DNR "concepts" for the park and to give the public an opportunity to express its opinion of what the 865-acre state park should, or should not, include.

Another such hearing is scheduled later this month in Detroit.

In reality, no new information was introduced insofar as proposed facilities for the park are concerned. It was emphasized, however, that DNR is interested in receiving suggestions from the public.

But the appointment of a park manager, now residing at Maybury, was announced along with plans to construct a chain-link fence around the entire park, probably by next spring.

Oris Sherschligh, chief of the parks division for DNR, was the principle speaker. He was introduced by Mrs. Carleton Rush, Wayne division chairman of UCS.

Noting that DNR's plans for Maybury are still tentative Sherschligh introduced Larry Miller, DNR staff planner, who outlined for the audience these plans via color slides.

Object of the development, Miller noted will be to retain much of the natural aspects of the site, while using open, flat areas for development of such facilities as an athletic sports field, golf area, family camping grounds, fieldhouse for indoor sports including swimming and ice skating, trail area, living farm, day camp, etc.

At the conclusion of the formal presentation members of the audience were given time to ask questions.

One citizen criticized the idea of any formal development and asked why the entire site could not be left natural, for walking and nature study only.

DNR spokesmen noted that large areas of the site will be left untouched. Cars will be parked near the entrance on Eight Mile road and movement through the park will be confined to either walking, bicycling, horseback riding, or slow, mechanical

PARK MANAGER ROBERT REMER

State Names Park Manager

A 28-year-old Michigan State graduate has been named park manager for the Maybury State Suburban Park in Northville Township, it was announced this past week.

He is Robert Remer, who comes here from Proud Lake where for the past three years he had been a park ranger for the Department of Natural Resources.

Married with one child, Gary 6, he and his family have moved into one of the state-owned homes on the property at 20145 Beck Road. Remer began working seasonally with the state park system in 1962, starting full time in 1967 when he was graduated from MSU with a bachelor of science degree in park management. Prior to his assignment at Proud Lake he was assigned to the park in Muskegon.

His office is temporarily located in his home.

According to Remer, a park ranger probably will be hired within a month to assist him as the state begins initial preparation for the facility located between Seven and Eight Mile roads west of Beck.

Sisters Repeat Vows In Double Wedding

Kathleen Louise Trethewey and Delbert William Ortwine were married on September 9 in a double wedding with her sister, Eileen Marie

Trethewey, and Dennis Thompson. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend William Wager at Aldersgate

Methodist Church in Redford Township. Bouquets of gladioli and mums decorated the altar.

Kathleen and Eileen are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Trethewey of Livonia. Delbert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ortwine, 44100 Stassen. Dennis is a resident of Dearborn.

The brides were given in marriage by their father. Kathleen's gown was made of white satin and featured an empire waistline and lace appliques on the skirt. She carried a bouquet of June bells, roses, asters and stephanotis.

Her maid of honor, was Karen Taylor of Novi. She wore a blue floor-length gown and carried a nosegay of lavender, yellow, blue and white flowers.

Delbert's best man was Leonard Beadle of Novi. Ushers were Ernest and Richard Trethewey and Rick Ortwine.

Eileen chose a wedding gown of white faille and lace. Her bouquet was identical to her sister's.

Nancy Weiser, wore a floor length dress of lavender for her role as Eileen's maid of honor. She, too, carried a nosegay of lavender, yellow blue and white flowers.

Don Belanger was best man for Dennis and Doug Bates was his usher.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ortwine went to Cape Hatteras, North Carolina for their wedding trip and are living in Plymouth. He is a 1968 Northville High School graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Thompson chose northern Michigan for their wedding trip and are now living in Carlton, Michigan.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID L. PIASECKI

Kathy Kingsley Becomes Bride

During their wedding service September 16, Kathy Lynn Kingsley and David Lee Piasecki each presented their new mother-in-law with an abbey rose bud.

The ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Kingsley of 12 Mile Road, South Lyon, formerly of Northville, and the son of Mrs. Leo Van Bonn and William Piasecki, both of South Lyon, was performed at the First United Presbyterian Church of South Lyon. Pastor Norman Riedesel and the Rev. William Briggs of Central Presbyterian Church, Zanesville, Ohio read the marriage vows.

Yellow tapers and baskets of white gladioli, yellow and bittersweet daisy chrysanthemums decorated the church for the double ring candlelight service.

Approaching the altar on her father's arm, the bride wore a gown of bridal lace over taffeta featuring long lace sleeves, scalloped neckline and short train. Her long veil of nylon net with applique of bridal lace, held in place by a small cluster of lace medallions, was made by her mother. She carried a bouquet of white daisy mums, salmon abbey rose buds and baby's breath.

Nephew of the bridegroom, Randy Fisher was the ringbearer.

Terry Kingsley, brother of the bride, and Tommy Piasecki, brother of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

moss green crepe over taffeta with long full sleeves of matching chiffon. Her short matching veil was held in place by a matching velvet bow. She carried yellow daisy mums, bittersweet carnations and baby's breath.

Bridesmaid Anita Showerman and Mrs. Ron Morton were escorted to the altar by groomsmen Lenny Drazen and Bill Badenhop, respectively, cousins of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of daffodil yellow crepe over taffeta with long full sleeves of matching chiffon and short matching veils.

Kris Harms, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl wearing a dress identical to that of the matron of honor. She carried a small bouquet of yellow daisy mums, carnations and baby's breath.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

A TRIPLE-HEADER day is in the offing next Wednesday, October 11, for active area women. Some will have to choose between a fall fashion show-luncheon at Meadowbrook Country Club and a state or local Questers meeting.

And some will even stay home with their youngsters as that's the curriculum study day for Northville teachers with no school for kindergarten through twelfth grades.

TWO NORTHVILLE women are in charge of arrangements for the fashion show at Meadowbrook. Mrs. Reuben Jensen is chairman with Mrs. Bernard Baldwin serving as her co-chairman. At the rate advance reservations are being received, the club anticipates a capacity crowd for the show.

Fashions will be by the Tow-Bari Dress Shop in Dearborn. This is the shop which presented the successful Northville Town Hall program a couple of seasons ago. Its attractive owner, Peggy Hoffman, charmed Town Hall workers.

Television personality Jackie Crampton, who commented the TH show, is expected to add to Meadowbrook's. Models are professionals. Variety will be the theme of the show as both casual and dressy styles are shown.

(Queried about the continuing popularity of pantsuits, the store confirmed that they indeed are "Bigger" than last year but "where they belong—for casual wear—with palazzo pants that look like skirts big for after-dark.")

JO JENSEN, in addition to her duties as show chairman again (she headed the club's spring show, too), has been busy planning an addition to their home. This answers the question of whether the Jensens will be staying in Northville since he has been promoted to group vice president with jurisdiction of overseas operations by General Motors.

Seven rooms and a greenhouse are being added, Mrs. Jensen explains. They also have bought an apartment in New York City, which is being decorated. Mrs. Jensen is taking a flying trip there this week—but will be back in time to attend the opening luncheon of Northville Woman's Club at Meadowbrook this Friday.

LOCAL QUESTERS' antiques study members are expected to turn out in large numbers for the state meeting next Wednesday as it's being held at Waldenwoods conference center near Hartland. Base Line, Mead's Mill and Silver Spring chapters are to be represented.

Mrs. Edwin Langtry, Base Line president, also has accepted the post of area representative and will be attending an early-morning session at the state meeting. A talk on Victorian glass will highlight the luncheon.

Unfortunately, some calendar confusion has resulted in the Novi VI Quester chapter scheduling a special meeting for 12:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Robert D. Flowers on Balcombe Drive, Novi.

It is a guest meeting with members of all other area Quester chapters invited to hear a program on "Colonial Churches" to be presented by the Reverend Helen L. Royce of Flint. She will illustrate her program with slides.

Mrs. Joseph Bongiovanni, president, explains that the chapter had scheduled the speaker much earlier and could not change the date. Whichever meeting they attend, area Questers can anticipate an interesting talk.

WILLIAMSBURG dried flower arrangements were discussed by Mrs. William Farrington at the opening meeting of the Base Line Quester chapter last week.

While Doris Farrington talked about the popularity of "everlastings," her fingers created a fall arrangement in golds. For those who would like to try the popular hobby, she suggests beginning with florist's oasis, or sand in finger or block-type containers, and using static for filler. (Soaked in hot water, static will expand, she pointed out.)

While she grows and dries most of her material, Mrs. Farrington says that newcomers to the hobby may purchase the dried flowers in stores and markets. Arrangements are sprayed with lacquer when completed, she added, to preserve the bright colors and keep them looking fresh.

Even bridal bouquets are being created of dried baby's breath and rosebuds, President Jeanne Langtry commented, as they certainly can be preserved for a long time. To date, however, no local brides have carried dried posies.

THE GLENN DEIBERTS are back from a September trip through Europe which also was a reunion with Sike Kupiainen, the Finnish exchange student they hosted here two years ago.

Glenn and Rae first flew to London on a Ford Motor Company Charter. They went on to Edinburgh—and 70 miles north of that Scottish city to St. Andrew's and its famous golf course. There Glenn photographed seven holes of the old course, feeling, Rae says, as though he actually were playing it.

Traveling north via Copenhagen and Stockholm, the Deiberts then took a night boat across the channel to Turku where they were met by Sike, her mother and sister. The visited at Sike's sister's apartment there before continuing on to the family home at Leppavirta 300 miles away.

They also were entertained by Sike's family at their summer home on a 20-acre island. The islands, Mrs. Deibert explains, are everywhere in the waters surrounding Finland "like pancakes in a pool of syrup. We didn't believe it could be so beautiful."

Sike, she mentions, is finishing school as Finnish schools have more grades than ours. The Deiberts were met on their return by son Skip, now in his second year of medical school at University of Michigan. Their youngest daughter, Lorrie, now is a freshman at Eastern Michigan and is rooming with another Junior Miss Contest Break-winner.

THE OLYMPIC games in Munich were the travel destination of Mrs. Charles E. Ratliff. Kay, whom many know from her part-time job in the Northville Township office (now full-time), applied two years ago for her tickets for the Olympics.

Like Northville high school gym teacher, Pat Babel, she stayed in Mittenwald, an hour-and-a-half away in the Bavarian Alps. Kay was there for all 18 days and called the organization "superb."

She added, though, that what was an exciting experience also turned out to be a very sobering one because of the tragedy. While Miss Babel and a friend back-packed on their trip, Kay and a group of other teachers toured Bavarian castles and rode Alpine cable cars.

Plan Childbirth Class

Anyone interested in the Lamaze method of natural childbirth will have an opportunity to see two movies about the method at 8 p.m. on Friday, October 6 in the Northville City Hall. Parents-to-be still have time to sign up for Lamaze classes.

Begin?" will give parents an idea of the Lamaze method and how it works in natural childbirth.

The classes will be offered in three different series. Each series meets one night a week from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and are taught by Mrs. Patricia Van Bonn, a registered nurse and accredited Lamaze instructor.

There are still openings in the classes to be held Wednesday evenings now until November 1, Tuesdays from October 17 through November 22 and Wednesdays from November 8 to December 13.

Through the Lamaze method, couples learn to prepare for the birth experience together.

Seeks Involvement

The PTA Northville area council has taken on new responsibilities according to its president, Mrs. Edward Hancock. The role of the organization has changed within the last year it has gone from one of a coordinating group to see that activities of the various area PTAs did not conflict to one of the community parent-teacher concern and involvement.

According to Mrs. Hancock, the PTA council has a three-fold purpose. One is to increase the effectiveness of PTA members by developing leadership and bringing in new members. A second goal is to focus the attention of the PTAs and the public on home, school and community problems that require concerned plans and action. The third objective of the council is the furthering of the state and national PTA by interpreting their programs and fostering local PTA participation in them.

Some programs of the council are designed to foster council and public action to improve family and school life. The purpose of these programs is to give out sound and accurate information in areas that influence family life.

In addition to programs, both standing and ad hoc committees will be studying family and community needs as they effect the student.

The PTA area council is made up of the presidents and one other representative of all individual PTAs in the Northville area.

Also, the area council plans to have representatives from its ranks become members on community coordinating committees.

According to Mrs. Hancock, the new goals of the PTA council places them "in a position to place before the citizens in the area any problems that arise and to offer a forum for honest unbiased presentation and discussion of the facts."

As another project, the PTA council will sponsor what Mrs. Hancock calls "a kind of Junior Town Hall." Through this program, the council will be bringing productions to school-age children.

First of these presentations will be later this month as the Plymouth Youth Theatre Guild comes to Northville to present "Once Upon a Fairytale."

Council Lobbies for Strengthened Chamber

Novi's city council did a little lobbying of its own Monday night.

It used hors d'oeuvres, cocktails and the comfortable atmosphere of Saratoga Trunk to lure some 35 representatives of business and industry to a pre-council meeting (5:30-7:30 p.m.)

But Mayor Joseph Crupi didn't employ any of the subtleties of the professional lobbyist.

He forthrightly told his audience that the Novi council isn't in the habit of spending money without good cause.

"And we've asked you here tonight to help Novi, your community, by using your influence to bring more business and industry to Novi", the mayor stated.

Specifically, Mayor Crupi proposed that the businessmen of the community form a "chamber of commerce" both as a means of promoting Novi, and as an organization to represent the interests of business and organization to represent the interests of business and industry in the community.

Both Mayor Crupi and Manager George Athas emphasized that the council welcomed the advice and assistance of the business community in its deliberations.

In brief talks following an informal hour of getting acquainted the mayor and manager outlined development plans for the community, noted that Novi's tax rate (6.5 mills) is the lowest in the area, and suggested that an organized business group could attract new tax base as well as assist the city in the development of many services that will be needed in the future.

The businessmen responded positively to the council appeal and scheduled a Tuesday, October 17 noon meeting at Saratoga Trunk to discuss the possibilities of the formation of a chamber of commerce.

But one of the businessmen, Russell Button of Novi Building Service, reminded the group that Novi already has such an organization—the Novi Board of Commerce. And Button is its president.

But the ex-councilman and longtime Novi businessman said he thought it would be better to "let the old board of commerce quietly fade away. The young with their dreams should take over."

Button later stated that the present Novi Board of Commerce membership is not really representative of the business community, that it has many "hang-ups", and that it hasn't held a meeting since last May.

"It would be a lot better to start all over. The old board served its purpose. This is a new era", he added.

Councilman Ed Presnell joined Button in recognizing the old Board of Commerce, noting that all any organization needs is interested people.

At the request of the businessmen attending Monday night, Button agreed to use the old Board's business list for issuing invitations to the October 17 meeting.

Mayor Crupi fielded a few questions from the audience concerning city ordinances which were criticized. The mayor suggested that changes could be made for good cause and that the council would welcome the opinion of the businessmen.

OFFICIAL CITY GIFT—Mrs. Susan Holmes, a receptionist at the Novi City Hall, prettily exhibits the official city gift approved by the Novi city council a month ago. The gift is a two inch square cube of clear plastic with the official city medallion enclosed inside. According to City Manager George Athas, who proposed adoption of the gift, it will be given on special occasions, such as Mayor's Exchange Day, and to distinguished visitors to Novi.

For Community Hall

Announce Rules

After several years of uncertainty and numerous minor squabbles over the use of the Novi Community Building, the Novi city council and school board, joint owners of the facility, charged a specially-appointed Community Building Board to supervise the use and maintenance of the building.

Their report with a complete set of ground rules was released by Chairman Gary Johnson Monday. Other members on the Board are Laree Bell, treasurer, and Sharon Pelchat, secretary.

The hall was constructed through the joint efforts of Novi Township, the Novi Board of Education, and concerned citizens and organizations throughout Novi. It was intended for the use of all Novi citizens, the report noted.

The building is available to all non-profit community and community service groups free of charge and is available to other groups on a rental basis, Johnson reported. The building can be used any evening except Monday and during the day Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday.

The building may be reserved by contacting Johnson at 349-7200 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on week days. Individuals unable to contact Johnson during the week can reach him at 349-6746.

The rules for the use of the Community Building as laid down by the Board are as follows:

1. Non-profit community service organizations, located in the city of Novi and Novi Township will be permitted to use the building free of charge.

Any group of Novi children or young adults wishing to use the building for recreational purposes will be able to use the facility at no charge, provided an adult (18 or over) will be present at all times and will assume the responsibility for the building

Enrollment's Up In Novi Schools

Enrollment in Novi Community Schools has reached 2,148 on the state-designated membership count day, Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz announced Monday.

The total enrollment represents an increase of approximately 12.4 percent over last year's enrollment of 1,953 students.

The breakdown by schools is as follows:

Novi Elementary School has 324 students, Orchard Hills elementary has 471 students, and the enrollment at Village Oaks elementary is 255 for a total elementary school enrollment of 1,050.

Last year, when the sixth grade enrollment was counted in the elementary school total, Novi had a total of 1,088 elementary school students. Middle School enrollment (sixth, seventh, and eighth grades this year as opposed to just seventh and eighth graders in 1971) was pegged at 515, up from 311 last year. High school enrollment has advanced to 583 from 554 in 1971.

Of the 1,050 elementary school students, five are in the Type-A program and nine are in the PD program.

The figures, which are required by the state to be based on the enrollment on the fourth Friday of the fall term, are used to determine the amount of state aid each school district throughout the state is to receive.

Ingersoll Bridge Gets Council OK

To build a bridge across Ingersoll Creek on Willowbrook Road or not to build a bridge? That was the question resolved affirmatively by the Novi city council Monday.

Still unanswered, however, is the basic question of whether Willowbrook Road is to be permanently shut off at the Village Oaks Elementary School or allowed to become a through road so that it can service Kaufman and Broad's Village Oaks subdivision.

That decision was put off for an undetermined period of time that in all probability will extend more than a year. When the decision is finally reached, however, there is little doubt that the council will be faced with either a very angry group of residents from Willowbrook subdivision or a very angry developer in Kaufman and Broad.

At the council's session Tuesday, September 26, City Manager came before the council for approval of a different plan.

K&B would install an $80,000 pre-cast concrete bridge over Ingersoll Creek, he said. Approximately 20 feet south of the bridge six to eight inch curb stops would be installed across the width of the road. Then, eight feet south of the first line of stops, a second line of stops would be installed and the area between the two lines would be filled with dirt, compacted, and seeded.

This arrangement, Athas contended, would prohibit traffic from using Willowbrook Road to reach the school and thus effectively maintained the "closed" status of the road and at the same time would permit emergency vehicles to reach the school by mounting the curbs.

The third part of the plan was that the blocks would stay in position until Meadowbrook Road and Cranbrook Drive (a road from 10 Mile leading into Village Oaks subdivision) were paved and open for use. At that time the blocks would be removed and Willowbrook would become a through street.

Athas' proposal was attacked from several sides because it deviated from the plan which called for the two turn-arounds.

"We agreed that turn-arounds would be installed and, it seemed as if we had reached a good decision," Gerald LaFaive, president of the Willowbrook Homeowners Association at the time the original negotiations were held, stated. "Now it appears as if that plan has been scrapped. What happened to our agreement?"

Councilman Denis Berry supported LaFaive's contention. "It bothers me no end that K&B agreed to put in turn-arounds and now there are no turn-arounds to be seen," he stated.

Foils Industrial Expansion

Zayti Rezoning Denied

A request for a rezoning that would have permitted extension of the Zayti Trucking Company facilities and construction of an indoor ice rink was unanimously rejected by the Novi city council at a public hearing Wednesday.

Specifically, the council rejected a request to rezone approximately 15.5 acres on the northwest corner of Eight Mile and Taft Roads from its existing R-1-H (country homes) designation to M-2 (restricted manufacturing). Approximately 30 residents turned out to oppose the request, most of them from Northville Estates, the subdivision located immediately to the east of the Zayti property.

Presenting the case in favor of the rezoning was Attorney Philip Ogilvie, Northville city attorney although representing solely the Zayti Company at Wednesday's hearing.

The Zayti Trucking Company had been in operation on the property prior to the time that Novi had a zoning ordinance, Ogilvie pointed out.

Objections to the R-1-H zoning should have been lodged at the time the ordinance was adopted, he continued, but weren't.

To have to operate the business as a non-conforming use works a considerable hardship on the organization because they cannot expand their operations without special permission from the board of appeals, he argued.

Ogilvie also pointed out that though zoned residential the property was assessed and taxed as industrial property. He further argued that the R-1-H zoning was not a good one for the area as it would be extremely difficult for developers to acquire enough land at a cost low enough to justify a subdivision in the area.

After Bond's Resignation

Appoint City Attorney

The resignation of long-time City Attorney Howard Bond was accepted by the Novi city council a week ago Wednesday and David Fried was appointed Monday to fill the vacancy.

Bond's resignation was prompted by the action of State Bar Grievance Board, which suspended him from the practice of law for 18 months due to alleged improprieties in the handling of a client's estate.

Their action came Tuesday and Bond's written resignation was in the council's hand the following day. Bond is 65 years of age.

"Because of circumstances of which all of you are aware, it is necessary that I resign as the City Attorney for the City of Novi, such resignation to become effective immediately," Bond wrote.

"Briefly, this is not the forum to attempt any explanation or review of my personal matters, but I do sincerely regret that I have to terminate my services in this manner."

The council unanimously accepted the resignation in a special session preceding a public hearing scheduled for Wednesday.

Following acceptance of the resignation, Mayor Joseph Crupi began to make a brief statement of Bond's contribution to Novi, but was interrupted with "emotion," to use his words, and returned to his seat with tears in his eyes.

Councilman and Mayor-Pro-Tem Denis Berry then explained that "Howard Bond has been attorney for the past 14 years and has worked closely with Mayor Crupi for the last seven of those years. He has worked for every village and city council in the history of Novi," Berry continued. "He's a part of the city family. We all feel a deep sense of loss."

David Fried has worked as Novi's associate city attorney since October of 1971, when the original charges were lodged against Bond. He was unanimously appointed to the full-time City Attorney position by the council.

Opposition to the rezoning came from several sources, including the Planning Commission from the city of Northville, which had been invited by the Novi city council to express their feelings on the rezoning due to its proximity to the Northville Estates subdivision.

Thomas Wheaton, Northville planning commission chairman, recommended that the request be denied in a letter to the Novi council, listing four reasons for the recommendation.

Wheaton's reasons were that

1. the criterion for a manufacturing in the area did not exist;
2. extension of existing industrial facilities would be detrimental to the appearance of the proposed Maybury Park located directly across Eight Mile

Voters Face Deadline Soon

Whether you plan to vote for Nixon or McGovern, you'd better hurry down to City Hall if you're not yet a registered voter.

To be eligible to cast a ballot in the national presidential election November 6, voters must be registered on or before Friday, October 6 (tomorrow).

To give unregistered voters ample opportunity to add their names to the books, both Novi and Wixom City Halls are observing special hours this week.

Novi City Clerk Mabel Ash and her staff will be available at the Novi City Hall from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day for the rest of this week (Wednesday, Thursday, Friday).

In Wixom, City Clerk June Buck will keep her office open Friday, October 6 from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. to register prospective voters. Wixom ites may also register today (Thursday) during the regular City Hall hours of 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Both city clerks remind voters that they are registered if they have been permitted to vote in any city or primary election in the past two years.

Anyone who is uncertain as to whether or not he is registered, however, is urged to contact City Hall so the registration can be checked.

Evaluate Program

Schedule Workshops For Year-Round Staff

While children enrolled in Northville's year round school program are on a three-week vacation, teachers are involved in two weeks of workshops before their vacation begins.

During the workshops, teachers will be evaluating the year round school experimental program and the children involved in it.

"We hope to answer such questions as where each child is now, is each one experiencing success, should we change programs and what teaching methods have been most and least successful," Miss Florence Panattoni, curriculum director, said.

Part of the workshops will also be used to plan the next 45 days of school.

Teachers will have an opportunity to consult with the staff members of the Downriver Learning Disability Center and Dr. Barbara Borsch from Eastern Michigan University.

Workshops are also planned on implementing an environmental science program for multi-graded classes and on materials not being fully used because of lack of know-how.

Conducting the environmental science workshop will be Dr. Bill Forbes of Oakland University.

Finale for the workshops will be the two-day conference October 13 and 14 entitled Stepping Stones to Open Education. It is sponsored by the American Association of Elementary Educators, Kalamazoo Intermediate School District, Enrichment Center and Western Michigan University.

Conference workshop topics include "Make It-Take It", "Scavengers Anonymous: Using Junk Materials for Instruction", "Record Keeping and Evaluation", "Mathematics for Real Life", "Art as Conceptualization", "Integrating the Curriculum: Chain Webbing or Turn on Agents" and other programs.

'Helping Hands' Sought in Novi

Novi's Jaycee Auxilliary will be supervising the nationwide "Helping Hands" program for the fifth consecutive year. Mrs. Mary Bayer, auxiliary spokeswoman announced this week.

In essence the "Helping Hands" program provides homes along routes to and from schools where children can go for help in times of emergency.

Homes displaying the "Helping Hands" symbol of an extended hand in their window offer assistance to any child who is lost, injured, bullied, or threatened by a molester. When in trouble of any kind Novi school children have been instructed to go to a home displaying the Helping Hand symbol.

The Jaycettes are seeking volunteers to serve as Helping Hand workers. All volunteers are asked to fill out an application form and are carefully screened by the auxiliary along with the Novi Police Department.

Once a volunteer has been selected, she remains a Helping Hand during the time she lives in Novi. Volunteers should make a concerted effort to be home as often as possible during school hours.

For further information contact Mrs. Mary Bayer at 349-6009 or Mrs. Marlene Mercier at 476-9380.

11 Beaches Safe In Novi, Wixom

Eleven bathing beaches in Novi and Wixom have been judged to have acceptable conditions for bathing in a report conducted by the Oakland County Department of Health's Division of Environmental Health.

The environmental control study began in June and utilized sanitation intern students from Indiana State and Ferris State Universities. Two lakes in Novi—the Village Oaks Lake and Walled Lake—and Loon Lake in Wixom were included in the county-wide study. The three beaches on Village Oaks Lake, four beaches on Walled Lake, and four beaches on Loon Lake were all given an "A" rating by the study.

The "A" rating indicated that the total coliform bacterial count and fecal coliform bacterial count averages were within the acceptable range for public bathing.

After the sampling sites for the total study had been determined, a series of not less than 10 consecutive samples were taken and the laboratory results were geometrically averaged to determine the bacterial quality of the water during the summer swimming periods. The study included 252 beaches on 138 Oakland County lakes with some 5,420 samples of surface water having been collected and analyzed.

'FISH Sunday' Slated Here

The organization is made up of volunteers who assist needy citizens of Northville and Novi.

Persons who were unable to attend a FISH meeting yesterday (Wednesday) are urged to volunteer their services at church Sunday.

"All that is needed," a spokesman said, "is an hour a month of the volunteer's time to assist the needy or lonely, such as driving someone to the doctor, preparing a meal for the sick, or fixing something in the home."

Also needed are volunteers to assist in checking the organization's answering service.

Donations also are encouraged. Tax deductible, these donations may be mailed to FISH at post office Box 79, Northville.

Bridge Gets Approval

Crupi argued that although turn-arounds had been discussed extensively, no definitive agreement had been reached.

"The minutes of that meeting indicate that we referred the matter to the city's engineers to plan either turn-arounds or feasible resolution of the problem," Athas argued.

Both Berry and LaFaive questioned the veracity of the minutes.

"When we sent this matter to the engineers the only thing to be resolved was the location of the turn-arounds," Berry stated.

Athas went on to say that Willowbrook Road is intended to be a through road and has been from day one. "Let's face it, there is no way Kaufman and Broad is going to construct an $80,000 bridge that doesn't go through to their subdivision, and ends in a turn-around 20 feet down the road instead," he said.

Councilman Raymond Evans agreed that Attorney Barry Stulberg, K&B's representative in the previous discussions, had insisted that if a bridge is put in K&B would expect that its people be able to use it.

Other discussion centered on the advisability of opening or closing Willowbrook Road. Advocates of closing the road permanently argued that opening the road would re-establish the threat to the safety of their children.

Opponents of the plan to close the road permanently pointed out that when Meadowbrook Road and Cranbury Drive are paved and opened for use, much of the traffic on Willowbrook would be drained away and that K&B had reasonable right to expect that the road would be available for through use.

Finally, after one and a half hours of discussion, the council agreed to the plan submitted by Athas with one important exception - the bridge would be constructed, the curb stops would be set up, and the road would be closed to through traffic until Meadowbrook Road and Cranberry Drive are paved and open for use.

At that time, however, instead of removing the curb stops and allowing

Fire Hall to Get Name

Novi's city council gave tentative approval Monday to naming the city's new north-end fire hall on 13 Mile Road the "Walter F. Tuck Fire Hall" in honor of the city's first fire chief.

Chief of the Novi Fire Department for more than a quarter century before stepping down from the post, Mr. Tuck organized the volunteer department at the request of the township in 1928.

Mr. Tuck was the prime-mover in the community's village incorporation, serving as Chairman of the Novi Incorporation Committee.

City Manager George Athas was instructed by the council to draw up a resolution.

Novi Issues Orders To Raze 8 Buildings

Orders for the demolition and removal of eight buildings, seven of them in the Walled Lake section of the city, were given by the Novi city council Monday.

Specifically, the orders given by the council were for the city manager to continue with proceedings for the demolition of the condemned buildings by seeking bids for the work.

City Attorney Howard Bond indicated that he would bring a resolution before the council Monday for the official condemnation of the buildings in question.

When the buildings have been torn down more than four months of work by city officials will have been completed. Basis of the condemnation proceedings is that the buildings in question are unfit for human habitation and comprise a health and safety hazard to the well-being of the city.

Each of the buildings to be condemned was considered individually by the council

During the proceedings, the council advised one owner, John Sorduy, that he should investigate the possibility of legal action against the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for selling him a home they knew was in danger of being condemned.

Another of the condemned houses is owned by Marvin Stempien, a candidate for the state legislature.

The council approved condemnation of the buildings by a unanimous vote in all but one instance.

The lone exception was a house owned by Charles Wolok at 1717 East Lake Drive

Wolok had previously requested and had been granted a 30 day reprieve by the council in which to bring the house up to code. He appeared at Monday's session to argue for an additional reprieve.

Speaking in broken English and with tears in his eyes, Wolok pleaded with the council for more time. "What am I asking-30 days is all," he said. "It certainly won't hurt the city of Novi to give me 30 more days, but it will hurt me a great deal to have that house torn down. It's all I have left. All I'm asking is for the council to show me a little humanity. What's 30 days?"

Wolok's request drew the support of Councilmen Raymond Evans, Donald Young, and Mayor Joseph Crupi. "I can't vote to tear down this man's house with a clear conscience without giving him 30 more days," said Evans.

Building Department Head Earl Bailey informed the council, however, that he had been attempting to get Wolok to bring his house up to code for five years with little to no progress.

Councilman William O'Brien pointed out that Wolok had already received one 30 day extension and had not complied with the council's request.

O'Brien further pointed out that because it would take another week before the official resolution was passed and an additional 30 days after that for bids to be advertised, received, reviewed, and awarded, Wolok in essence did have 30 more days to show some progress.

"I don't feel you've exhibited good faith with the council's past request. If you can show good faith in the next 30 days we can take action to halt the demolition of the house," O'Brien said.

The council voted 4-3 to proceed with the condemnation with Councilmen O'Brien, Edwin Presnell, Denis Berry, and Louie Campbell voting in the affirmative.

Also recommended for demolition by the council Monday were three houses on a lot at 1317 East Lake Drive owned by Jesse Kidd; a house at 313 South Lake Drive owned by Donald Twork; a house at 1713 East Lake Drive owned by Marvin Stempien; a house at 1534 West Lake Drive owned by John and Eugenia Sorduy; and a house at 175 Pickford which is part of the estate of Fred Hayes. Attorney Gene Schnelz is the executor of the estate.

Investigation of the houses considered for condemnation was conducted by James Martin, Novi's ordinance enforcement officer

NMS Picture Dates Told

Last week's September 28 edition of The Novi News incorrectly reported that pictures of students at Novi Middle School would be taken October 3.

The dates for pictures at the Middle School are October 31 and November 1.

The article was also incorrect in reporting that all students would be required to pay $3 before pictures would be taken. The prepayment is required only of High and Middle Schoolers.

Elementary school youngsters do not have to pay in advance.

The schedule of pictures for the other schools was correct. Novi Elementary and Village Oaks Elementary Schools are slated for pictures Monday, October 9, and children at Orchard Hills Elementary will have their pictures taken Tuesday, October 10.

Boosters Set Dance

Novi's Boosters Club - an organization which promotes the high school's athletic program - is planning a fund-raising dance for Saturday, October 14.

The dance, which will be held at the Wixom Union Hall, will feature a live orchestra, beer, set-ups, hot roast beef sandwiches, and 10 door prizes, according to Mrs. Beverly Birou, spokeswoman for the Boosters.

Tickets cost $10 per couple and there is a limit of 100 couples who can be accommodated at the dance. For ticket information call either 349-2043 or 349-6829.

In the past the Novi Boosters have assisted the high school in purchasing such useful equipment as the scoreboard and public address system at the football field, a whirlpool bath for the training room, a weight-lifting machine, and new programs for the football games.

President of the 1972-73 Novi Boosters Club is Keith Branch. Other officers are - Maurice Ford, vice-president; Delphine McAllen, secretary; and Eugene Pisha, treasurer.

Goal of the Boosters, says Branch, is to bring the parents of athletic students from across the community together to further the spirit and camaraderie of sports through the betterment of the overall athletic program

The group is seeking to increase its membership and individuals interested in joining are urged to call either 349-2043 or 349-6829.

Willowbrook Paving Decision Postponed

A decision on whether to continue with plans to pave the roads in Willowbrook Estates Number Two subdivision was put off by the Novi city council Monday until October 23.

Reason for the delay which was recommended by Councilman Denis Berry was to allow subdivision residents time to file petitions with the city objecting to the paving.

According to the city charter, if more than 50 percent of the number of property owners object in writing to the spreading of a special assessment district, it takes a five-sevenths vote of the council to continue with the project.

"It would be foolish for us to authorize the expenditure of funds for final engineering plans tonight if the residents are going to force us to abandon the project," Berry explained.

The action came Monday at a public hearing called to consider the resurfacing of the interior roads in Willowbrook Number Two.

Approximately 30 subdivision residents were present to speak on the proposed subject. According to an unofficial poll of those present, approximately two-thirds of the Willowbrook people opposed the resurfacing.

Although plans are only in the preliminary stages, initial estimate of the cost of the project would be $71,640, or, $94,000 when 30 percent for construction contingencies are added to the original amount.

When the 20 percent of the financing to be picked up by the city is subtracted from the figure and the remainder is spread over the 9,900 lineal feet of road in the subdivision, a cost of $7.52 per lineal foot is reached.

Thus, under preliminary estimates, cost to each individual property owner would be $3.76 per front foot of property.

Responding to the question of a Willowbrook resident, Mayor Joseph Crupi stated that it has not definitely been determined that the assessment would be spread on a front foot basis.

There is a possibility that the district could be assessed on a per lot basis, the mayor said

As there are roughly 190 lots in Willowbrook Number Two, the cost on a per lot basis would be approximately $370.

Comments from citizens Monday concerned possible safety problems created by speeding vehicles if the roads were resurfaced, increased police enforcement of existing speed limits, and road damage created by construction equipment using the Willowbrook Roads for ingress and egress to building projects.

Mayor Crupi encouraged the residents to proceed with the resurfacing plans.

"The life of an asphalt road is approximately 15 years and the roads in Willowbrook have reached that point," he said. "They have already started to break up and will continue to do so on an even more rapid basis in the future. If a resurfacing program at $3 per lineal foot is not undertaken now, it is highly possible that a complete repaving program at $14 to $16 per lineal foot would be required sometime in the future," he said.

Novi Rec Slates Winter Sports

Four new programs are being planned to begin this winter by Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission, Commissioner Richard Bingham announced Monday.

The programs are a men's basketball league, a women's volleyball league, a community band, and a square dancing club.

The Middle School will also be the site for the women's volleyball league, which will meet every Monday night. Open to women 18 years old and older, the program will begin with an introduction period to familiarize women with the rules and proper game techniques. For further information contact Mrs. Sherry Edwards at 349-3570.

Musicians, past and present, are invited to join the newly-created Novi Community Band. High school musicians as well as adult musicians are eligible to play in the band which will meet one evening per week from 7-9 p.m. Information concerning the band can be obtained from Ray Murphy at 349-0376 or Guy Smith at 349-7055.

Natural gas.

It is one of the miracles of modern technology that natural gas can now be made.

And Consumers Power is preparing to make natural gas to help meet the growing demands of more than 880,000 customers in Michigan. Although we continue to find new underground sources of natural gas, we also are building a gas reforming plant near Marysville in St. Clair County, like the scale model shown above.

Using a unique process to change liquid hydrocarbons into natural gas, the Marysville Plant will start operation in 1973. By 1974, we expect the plant's output to reach 210 million cubic feet of gas a day, increasing Consumers Power Company's gas supply by more than 20 percent.

By manufacturing supplementary gas, and prospecting for new gas reserves underground, Consumers Power is bending every effort to meet Michigan's need for clean-burning, dependable natural gas.

The Don Ellis band is back, and Clarenceville's got him with an assist from Schoolcraft College.

The popular jazz band headed by the trumpeter whose name it bears, will perform in the L.E. Schmidt Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on October 7. It will be a return performance for the Ellis gang who were such smash hits here last year.

Ellis has compiled an amazing list of credits. He's won awards in solo competition and has been nominated for the Grammy Award; he's played with most of the big name bands and has many television appearances; his recordings are numerous; he has guest conducted, and has scored two movies, including the hit movie, "The French Connection."

Born in California, Ellis attended high school in Minneapolis and earned his Bachelor of Music Degree in composition from Boston University. He is 38, married, and the father of two children. Before forming his own group, he played with such greats as the Glenn Miller Orchestra under the direction of Ray McKinley, Woody Herman, Maynard Ferguson, and Lionel Hampton.

Writing in the April issue of Downbeat, Harvey Siders said, "Perhaps the most remarkable thing about Don Ellis is that he thrives on rejecting the familiar." He went on to tell how Ellis wanted to break with the traditional big band formation and did by convincing two violinists, a violist and a cellist "to do it with him."

Siders continued, "he tried some charts that combined classical string quartet, rhythm and Don's trumpet. The resultant sound over whelmed him, so his next project was to incorporate them into the band."

The Ellis performance is being sponsored by Schoolcraft College's Public and Cultural Affairs Committee. General admission tickets are on sale in the College's Administration Building daily, and at the Clarenceville box office, Thursdays and Fridays from 10-3. They are $3.50 and the supply is getting short.

Bumper Sticker Sale Benefits Scholarship

The ninth grade class at Northville High School will soon be selling bumper stickers to benefit the Stuart Taylor Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The stickers read "Northville Mustangs" and will be sold by students in the school and at football games and other high school functions. All profits from the sale will go toward the scholarship award which will be given to a member of the senior class at the end of the school year.

Stuart Taylor, for whom the award has been named, was a member of the ninth grade class. He died this past June after the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car.

The class has already earned money for the fund through a car wash which was held during the summer. Plans are to make the award an annual one.

Aids Civitan

Civic projects don't grow on trees but apples do and they can help make those projects grow.

That's the word from Carl Miller, project chairman for the Northville Civitan Club, who disclosed this week that club members will be "giving away" apples Saturday and Sunday in hopes of encouraging donations.

The apples will be given to pedestrians on downtown Northville streets throughout both days.

Donations received for the apples, Miller explained, will assist the club in sponsorship of its civic projects. These include seminar scholarships for local high school students and aid to mentally retarded.

The apple sale is a statewide fund raising project of local clubs of the Michigan District Civitan Clubs.

Wixom police will be giving away 400 yo-yos this Sunday in conjunction with their second annual "Just to Become Acquainted" Open House from 3-8 p.m. in the City Hall. Other features include rides in a police squad car, displays of standard equipment carried in a squad car, and demonstrations of the kits used to test materials suspected of being narcotics. In addition, VonBehren added, anyone who wants to can be finger-printed "just for fun." All Wixom residents are invited to the Open House for coffee, cake and a visit with their policemen.

Decathalon Rescheduled

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Citizens of Wixom beware! If there's one thing I've found out in the past week it's that there are a multitude of bugs at work—virus ones that is. And they hit everyone—young and old.

The trouble is, there are so many that it's nearly impossible to determine just exactly which one you might have—this week.

There are flu germs, bronchitis, pneumonia, downright miserable colds, throat infections and then some that are unnamed.

Symptoms run that gamut too—from virtually none to a body wracked with aches and pains. High fevers appearing from nowhere, chills, headache. In families with kids, treat one, get him well and another is down with something completely different. Each case deserves another trip to the doctors—it seems no two can be treated the same.

Seems that last year about this time we went through a similar rash of illnesses and as I remember, everyone was praying for the first frost just to kill the germs.

Now if the Decathalon had been held Saturday as was planned, all us parents could blame the illnesses on that. What an unfortunate day. At 8 a.m. it looked as though the day was a total loss—rain, wind and just downright cold. Decathalon committee huddled together and decided to call the whole thing off until this coming Saturday, October 7. Since it's a new moon, maybe the day will be better.

Anyway, if only the committee had known, the games wouldn't have been called and all that would have suffered was a lot of wet feet.

For at 9 a.m. sharp, the wind died, the sun came out and off went the rain and the day turned out half-way decently. So the best of plans and intentions oft run astray.

All we can hope is that next weekend is more to the liking of everyone and Parks and Recreation can hold their Decathalon.

It is unfortunate that the games had to be called, but had the weather not changed it's a sure-fire bet that everyone in the whole city would have had to take to their beds with the aspirin bottles close at hand.

We can't always second guess the weatherman and it is hoped by the entire Parks and Recreation Committee that the delay will not cause too many problems with the families with kids wishing to participate. "It's better to be safe than sorry!"

So, it is hoped that next weekend dawns bright and sunny and warm to make the day enjoyable for everyone. I really didn't want to stand out in the rain marking down scores.

Speaking of scores—score one for the General Store. What a lovely difference the addition of a "shake shingled" roof makes to the entrance to the store.

Inside the General Store, there's the addition of a brand new bar-be-quer and attractive case storing hot sandwiches plus some really yum-yummy corned beef.

Welcome also to another new business in town—Carolyn's Country Set located at the Morehead's on West Maple. All the latest hair fashions are offered in a relaxed, informal setting. Carolyn is having an Open House next Sunday afternoon. Everyone is invited to stop by and see the shop.

And then, don't forget the Police Open House on Sunday afternoon from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m. that ought to be an interesting afternoon for the whole family. Gifts, refreshments and demonstrations of all kinds are the featured fare for the afternoon. The good guys in the "blue" hats will be waiting to greet you.

Tuesday was a jammed-packed day in Wixom. Kids of all shapes and sizes waited 'impatiently' at the free immunization clinic, while a good group of both business people and guests joined together in the Voc Ed. dining room for the October luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Tuesday night found a good turn-out of parents to the first meeting and open house at Wixom School sponsored by the PTA. The youngsters worked hard the past couple of weeks to put together booklets and pictures for the folks to see.

Highlight of this past week was the installation of some sixteen little girls into Brownie Troop 505 at Wixom elementary. Led by Mrs. Gayle Hardesty along with Mrs. Pat Glenn and a few other lovely mothers, the girls received their pins and then proudly served their mothers and guests with punch and cookies.

For the older girls, a Girl Scout Troop has also been organized, with Mrs. Jane Fitzgerald as their leader.

Medical Care Heads Senior Citizens Needs

A senior citizens survey report, funds for children's movies, and a name change for the governing board highlighted the annual meeting of the Schoolcraft College Foundation on September 26.

Twenty persons were in attendance for the meeting chaired by President Jan Reef of Northville.

Ronald Griffith, Schoolcraft's director of community services, reported preliminary findings of the senior citizen's survey which was sponsored, in part, by the Foundation. Griffith said that medical care and services and transportation problems were at the top of the needs identified by senior citizens in the College district.

The survey showed that seniors would appreciate college sponsored classes and programs, providing they be held during the day and in a community location convenient to them. Full results of the survey will be released at a later date.

In response to a request by Mrs. Janet Atchley, coordinator of children's movies on campus, the Foundation approved a grant of $125 for the balance of the 72-73 program. The money will be made available through the office of community services. Free children's movies are presented on Saturdays, three times during the fall and winter semesters.

Members approved changing the name of the Foundation's Board of Trustees to the Board of Governors. The action was taken, in part, to eliminate possible confusion since the elected officials of the college are called Trustees. A total of 11 persons were elected or re-elected to the Board.

The Schoolcraft College Foundation is a non-profit organization which raises and disburses funds for student scholarships and grants, and supports the college in many other ways. The next meeting is scheduled for October 26.

Remnants are sometimes a great buy when you are making children's clothing. If your child is small and if you are clever, a small piece of yard goods is the answer to a mother's prayer. Corduroy and cottons, of course, are among the favorites. However, for dress-up and special occasions, it is worth it to splurge. Buy the best material you can find for the job. And, of course, buy it washable. You will be proud of the way your youngster looks and you will have saved yourself the hassle of skimping on cloth.

Charge 3 in Gas Station Robbery

In Northville

Three men charged with robbing the Clark service station at 510 South Main Street Friday will face examination today (Thursday) in 35th District Court.

Arrested on the charges approximately eight minutes after the robbery occurred were Robert J. Riley, 18, of Jackson, Kentucky; Ray A. Schipani and Terrance R. Warren, both 19 and of Plymouth.

The robbery took place at 1:37 a.m., with the three apprehended in Plymouth township at 1:45 a.m.

Arrested on the charges later that day, each stood mute and is jailed in lieu of $10,000 bond.

According to police reports, the three men drove into the Clark station and parked near the front door. Riley got out of the car and asked the attendant, Kenneth E. Globe of Detroit, for directions to a street.

Globe told Riley he did not know of any such street in the area and Riley allegedly told him "this is a stick up."

Schipani, who was leaning against the rear fender of the car, allegedly drew a small revolver and pointed it at the attendant. Globe handed over a roll of bills, later found to total $59, and the three men fled southbound on Northville Road.

Globe reported the robbery to city police, furnishing a description of the vehicle and two of its three occupants.

The information was broadcast to area police agencies and three men in a car matching the description of the one involved in the robbery were stopped by Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies on southbound Haggerty Road at Hines Drive in Plymouth township.

In a routine search of the car, deputies recovered the roll of money under a front seat along with an eight-shot starter pistol. A small gray plastic cap pistol was found on the floor of the rear seat.

The three were identified as those involved in the robbery of the gas station and were arrested on the charges.

A Westland man has been charged with drunken driving following an accident Monday night in which he and his passenger were injured.

Arrested on the charge was David D. Kendrick, 20. Kendrick and his passenger, Thomas McGahey, 20, of 41288 Llewellyn, were treated for injuries at St. Mary hospital and released.

According to reports, Kendrick told police he was southbound on Griswold near Butler traveling at about 50 mph when he lost control of his car, spun around and struck a tree in front of 315 Griswold. The accident took place at 8 p.m.

Kendrick sustained hand, head and facial lacerations. McGahey, whose legs were pinned under the dashboard, was treated for leg and head injuries.

Kendrick is free on $100 bond and will appear in 35th District Court October 31.

A 16-year-old Livonia juvenile has been charged with hitting a parked vehicle and failing to report the accident. Police said the youth struck a car parked at Northville Lanes about 5:45 p.m. Friday.

Vandalism totaling more than $100 was done by unknown persons over the weekend at the St. Lawrence barn area.

A vending machine was damaged when attempts were made to pry it open and the windshield of a truck parked nearby was shattered.

James W. Sterling of Detroit was found guilty of driving with a suspended license and fined $79. He was also found guilty of speeding 50 mph in a 25 mph zone and fined $44.

The action came September 26 in 35th District Court following a jury trial. Sterling was arrested April 16 by city police.

A Livonia man, Terry E. Jones, was fined $14 after he pled guilty to a traffic warrant.

In Township

State Police at the Brighton Post are investigating an alleged abduction attempt of a 15-year-old Northville Township girl which reportedly occurred last Tuesday, September 26.

According to a report filed with the post, the Northville girl told the State Police she was on her way home and took a short cut through Salem Township.

At one point she stopped near a gravel pit to watch someone climbing the dirt hills on a mini-bike and was approached by a man who talked with her. It then began to rain.

The teenager said she started running toward her home to get out of the rain and heard someone running behind her. The same man she had been talking to grabbed her by the hand and told her to get under a tree, she explained.

After pulling away, she said the man grabbed her around the waist and told her if she did not stop screaming, he would have to hurt her.

She then told police she pulled away from the man and ran to a neighbor's home. The neighbor, seeing a truck parked outside the home and after hearing the girl's story, asked the man if it were his truck, which he said it was.

The man then left the scene and the girl was brought to the Brighton post and a taped statement was taken.

Mini-bikes are now being registered in Northville township between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, Chief Ronald Nisun reports.

All of the vehicles owned by township residents must be registered according to a new ordinance. Fee is $1. Youths under the age of 18 must be accompanied by an adult.

Township police seized six cartons of party poppers, small plastic bottles which shoot confetti once a string is pulled, after an eight-year-old township girl suffered second degree burns on her hand.

According to reports, the girl pulled the string while holding the item in her hand and was burned. She was taken to St. Mary hospital for treatment.

Police, who are investigating the legality of selling the explosive articles over the counter, seized the "poppers" from Quik Pik Food Store at 41106 West Five Mile Road.

The incident took place Thursday, September 28.

Arson is being investigated as the possible cause of a fire Sunday evening in the hospital at Detroit House of Correction women's division.

According to reports, the fire began shortly before 6 p.m. in a mattress in the hospital. No injuries were reported.

A spare tire was stolen from the trunk of a car parked at 19749 Hayes Court between Thursday and Friday, while two wheels and tires were stolen from a garage at 19820 Marilyn September 23.

COURT NEWS

Following a jury trial, Marvin F. Donn of Detroit was found guilty of driving while ability impaired and was fined $154.

Donn, who was arrested by township police April 11, had been charged with drunken driving, a charge which was dismissed when he was found guilty of impaired driving.

The action came September 26 in 35th District Court.

On September 29, Mark D. Hardesty of 9751 Seven Mile Road was fined $64 after he pled guilty to a warrant for speeding 70 mph in a 45 mph zone. Hardesty, who was arrested on the charge May 28, was picked up on a warrant last week for failing to appear in court on the charge.

In district court September 22, charges of larceny by conversion against Lorraine Dowdle of Detroit were dismissed. Mrs. Dowdle had been arrested in April by Michigan State Police following an investigation at Northville State Hospital.

Also arrested on drunk driving charges last week were James Maurice Hotz, 21, of Farmington; Jack Harmon Rogers, 65, of Walled Lake; and Richard James Burton, 27, of Plymouth.

In Wixom

An 18-year old Wixom man was arrested last week and charged with the theft of two motorcycles from a Wixom residence two weeks ago.

On Monday, September 25, the motorcycles were recovered, partially stripped, in a field in South Lyon. The following day officers arrested Michael Eugene Nissen, 18, of 3976 West Maple Road and a juvenile in conjunction with the thefts.

Identity of the juvenile was not released. The motorcycles — a Yamaha and a Kawasaki — were stolen from the Byrd residence at 2958 Loon Lake Road.

A diamond ring valued at $305 was stolen from a residence at 3125 Wildwood Drive last week.

Karen Kovach told police the ring had been in a package on her dresser. While cleaning the dresser she observed the package open and discovered that the ring had been taken.

Mrs. Kovach could offer no clues as to how the ring might have been taken.

Barry Whitehead of Union Lake told police he had been assaulted last week by a man who claimed to be a Federal Reserve Officer.

Whitehead reported that the man had pushed him up against his car and kept reaching for what seemed like a hand gun in his belt.

The alleged offense occurred approximately 2:20 a.m. Saturday, September 23. The man was driving a dark blue Volkswagen which had American flag decals on the right vent and rear windows and there were two shot guns in the back seat, Whitehead reported.

The man was drunk, according to police reports. Whitehead described his assailant as being six feet tall and weighing 160 pounds with blond or light-colored hair cut short and combed back. He also had a mustache and short beard.

Three men were arrested on charges of driving under the influence of liquor last week.

They were Willard M. Hobbs, 48, of Detroit; Gary James Page, 18, of Dearborn; and Maxwell Samuel Evans, 20, of Detroit.

All were slated to answer charges in the 52nd District Court.

Underwriter's Association endorses the installation of lightning rods on your home. These rods are fairly easy to install and offer protection from lightning. On a roof with a fairly steep pitch, you need a lightning rod of only 10 inches in height. On a flat roof the rod should be five feet high. Lightning rods are attached to grounding cables, which are, in turn, attached to underground water pipes or other good grounding.

The high school departmental average ranges from a low of 22.3 in home economics to 28.7 in social studies to 34.6 in music.

Average pupil teacher ratio at the high school level when hours of classes and numbers of teachers and pupils are computed is 26.9.

3,853 Enrolled Here

"We missed it by two...not too bad."

That was the comment of Earl Busard, business manager for the Northville school system, as he added up the enrollment Friday—the official count day established by law.

State aid is based upon enrollment figures on September 29.

The official enrollment count showed a total of 3,853 students in the Northville school system—two more than the projection made by administrators back in January.

The 3,853 students included 1,603 in elementary schools, 966 at the junior high level, and 1,284 in high school. Officials had projected 1,584, 952 and 1,315, respectively.

By grades here is how the enrollment stacked up against the nine-month old projections:

Kindergarten, 237 projection, 258 actual; first grade, 258 projection, 256 actual; second, 274 and 260; third, 247 and 257; fourth, 275 and 283; fifth, 293 and 289;

sixth, 301 and 312; seventh, 313 and 314; eighth, 388 and 340;

Ninth, 326 and 328; 10th, 322 and 327; 11th, 327 and 320; and 12th, 340 and 309.

The official new enrollment is up 398 students or 11.5 per cent over the D-day enrollment of 3,455 in September of 1971.

Based upon the new figures, Busard predicts the February, 1973 projection of 4,054 and the June, 1973 projection of 4,258 "will be pretty close."

News from the Castle

(across from the Palace, that is...)

One of the nicest pieces of news for Northville is the return of the Karrer's by way of Ford from Indiana.

With Midge, the Hove's old and new house and us working on both, if the right papers go in the right house it won't be our fault—well—have you heard—we are leaving town anyway! And to get the record straight on our move to Florida (and we better, to cut down on the phone calls) we are gambling on Hobe Sound, you might say we are diving into deeper water!

Well, the business we are taking over has been there for 27 years and for some name dropping the clientele includes such notables as the Kanzler's of Grosse Pointe., John B. Ford's of Grosse Pointe, Douglas Dillon, former Secretary in D.C., the Ridgeway's of New York and Averill Harriman of D.C.

These folks all have nice little places on Jupiter Island—if you want one, forget it—Perry Como couldn't even build there—he went down the road a piece and dropped his $700,000 dollars. Bev and I visited many of the estates over a quick trip on Labor Day weekend—and we really have our work cut out for us.

However, there are so many of our Michigan people who will always have bigger names in our hearts for trading with us over the years! To list these people would be next to impossible—we have like 6 file boxes full—these are "Preferred Stock" and we have another little group marked "No thanks, not at any price!"

Well, our move to Florida will take a few months and our Northville location will continue and be re-located in the area later. So, do stop by—we do not intend to forget you—only when we're boating, swimming, fishing, and beach walking—and so on, and so on—

Sad, sad, news, Sir Robert Bruce and Lady Beverly Bruce and Bev, that is—

P.S. A few people have asked if we would give them a ride on our boat if they stopped by in Florida—well, we hope so, but the quantity of requests is picking up and we do not exactly plan to have another "Christina".

Novi Senior Citizens To Get Free Passes

A policy of free admission to school activities by Novi senior citizens was adopted by the Novi Board of education last week.

The policy was recommended by Superintendent Gerald Kratz as "a small way of thanking community members who have given of themselves over the years in providing financial and moral support to the Novi Community School District."

Specifically, the action permits citizens, 65 years and older, to attend events in Novi without charge by simply showing some form of identification. Activities include the performing arts.

Dr. Kratz also announced that the Southeastern Conference, of which Novi High School is a member, is offering to all senior citizens a season's pass good for all home and away athletic events.

The latter passes are available at the superintendent's office.

The superintendent also disclosed that a "drop-in center", located on Beck Road in Walled Lake, is open from 12:30 to 4 p.m. each Wednesday for senior citizens. Lunch is available for a minimal charge followed by card playing or other group activities.

In other action last week, the board authorized the superintendent to prepare specifications and obtain bids for furniture to equip the new administration offices. Trustee William Moak also insisted that descriptions of the bid equipment be submitted to the board.

Estimated cost of the furniture, not including a discount, was put at $8,500. The new administrative offices are to be located in mobile classroom buildings move to the southwest corner of 11 Mile and Taft roads adjacent to the high school.

According to Dr. Kratz, the new facilities will provide quarters for board of education meetings and other public activities such as meeting by senior citizens.

Preparations of these facilities, now underway, prompted introduction of a policy by Secretary Ray Warren that new construction on school property be prohibited on Sundays. His proposal, adopted by the board, came following a report of construction noise that disturbed Sunday services at the First Baptist Church at the southeast corner of 11 Mile and Taft Roads.

Boards Vice-President Bruce Simmons voted against the measure and trustee Moak abstained in the 4-1-1 vote.

The board heard a report from a Novi Jaycee Auxiliary spokesman regarding the "Helping Hands" program co-sponsored by the auxiliary and the Novi Mothers Club. Helping Hands is a program designed primarily to aid elementary school children in an emergency outside of their homes—on their way to or returning from school it was explained.

Volunteer homeowners are asked to display "Helping Hands" symbols in their windows during school hours, thus notifying children that they may knock on the owner's doors for help in case they are hurt, ill, lost or threatened by lies, strangers or dogs.

SPEAKING for The Record
By BILL SLIGER

Mayor Joe Crupi, Manager George Athas and the Novi city council deserve congratulations for their direct approach in encouraging business and industry leaders to become involved in promoting the community of Novi.

The informal get-together Monday evening at Saratoga Trunk was both direct and brief enough to produce results.

Now the businessmen in Novi know the council desires their involvement in community affairs. How active they become depends upon their initiative, not the lack of encouragement from the council.

In a sense the meeting may have triggered the death of one organization while giving birth to another.

The old Novi Board of Commerce, which a decade or more ago represented a meaningful force in Novi, has been dormant, if not dead, for months.

New faces and new ideas may be what is needed to meet new challenges of today's Novi.

Old Board President Russ Button seemed to be offering a eulogy for the Novi Board of Commerce as he suggested that it should "quietly fade away, leaving the old to their memories and the new to their dreams".

Last week this writer criticized the Northville board of education for holding a private meeting to select a nominee to fill a board vacancy.

For effectiveness the editorial effort must be given a "zero" grade.

The non-public meeting is an accepted procedure of the board. It is defended by the board president, most of the board members, and challenged by none.

Reaction to criticism of the practice has ranged from the charge that the press is just "hung up" on secret meetings to the suggestion that this writer is an irresponsible, uninformed, self-styled saint.

So presumably, we can expect more non-public meetings. The board is unanimous in its conviction that such meetings are both useful and legal.

Conversely, I am convinced that the meeting held by the Northville board of education to discuss and select a nominee to fill a vacancy was "probably illegal".

Certainly, it violates the intent of the law.

Only a court of law could decide for certain. But I have reached my decision based upon research of similar cases that have gone to court and opinions issued by the state attorney general.

One thing should be apparent. I do not intend to discard my "hang-up". The public may appear not to care, one way or another. But if private meetings should result in an unpopular decision, such as a millage hike, the public hue and cry would be clearly heard and the press would be castigated for its lack of vigilance.

Let's review exactly what happened when the Northville board met privately to discuss an appointee.

Five board members, presumably at the call of the president, met out of the city for dinner.

Reportedly, they considered some 23 names for the vacancy. The field was narrowed to a single nominee. He was called, interviewed and selected.

It must be assumed that some method of voting had to be conducted to reduce the candidates to one.

The next week at a regular meeting the board president announced that the board had met privately, considered several candidates, and decided upon the man who was in the room prepared to take the oath of office.

One board member who was unable to attend the private session made the choice unanimous even though he expressed support for another candidate.

No official vote was taken until the open meeting. So it was all very legal. Or was it?

In Flint recently a circuit court judge issued an injunction enjoining the council of the city of Flint from holding any non-public meeting in which they would vote or DISCUSS any matters the members might subsequently be expected to vote upon.

The judge based his decision upon Public Act 261 passed in 1968.

Admittedly, his decision represents an extreme interpretation of the freedom of information law. Reading of the law would not seem to indicate that private discussion is illegal. His decision is being appealed.

But the Northville board took that extra step that would appear to make their non-public session illegal.

They deprived the public of all discussion leading up to the decision. There was no slate of two or three candidates upon which the board voted publicly.

This is what Attorney General Frank Kelley has to say about this procedure:

"To interpret this act as requiring public presence only when 'votes' are taken at a meeting, and permit the underlying discussion to be held behind closed doors, would, in my opinion, be contrary to legislative intent and expression. It is therefore my view that the public has a right to be present during discussion leading up to the final voting process since this portion of a meeting is inherently part of such public meetings as defined under the statute".

Unlike the Northville practice of meeting privately on a non-meeting night to reach its decisions, a common practice of many boards is to hold such discussions during an open meeting.

When members feel privacy is necessary to discuss personalities, or other sensitive issues, brief executive sessions are called. Once the private discussion is completed, the board reconvenes, resumes its discussion, and votes on the candidates (or whatever the issue).

If it's legal for public bodies to hold non-public meetings, reach all their decisions without public discussion, then go through the motions of voting at a public meeting, there are no freedom of information laws.

And there is really no need for public meetings.

It is my personal opinion that Northville is fortunate to have an excellent board of education.

I believe their choice to fill the board vacancy was an excellent one.

But this is not the point. Boards change; and the law should be observed by all public bodies.

The board has made no effort to hide its non-public meeting practice. Perhaps it is not properly informed.

The fact that the board no longer employs a regular attorney for procedural advice may be responsible for this.

Abridge Rights?

YES . . .

Have the owners of these homes in this designated section of Northville ever been contacted and a poll made of their feelings and thinking?

Have they been told, outside of what they have read in the Northville Record, what would be their future obligations to the Historical Commission?

Do they realize that all exterior changes, major or minor, would have to be approved by the Commission before work could commence?

When the owner pays his own taxes and maintains his own property according to his ability and taste, should he be dictated to?

If the Historical Commission's restoration specifications are more costly than the owners' ideas of upkeep, would the Historical Commission subsidize?

Would the valuation of these homes increase proportionately?

In conclusion, I believe that the homeowners rights are being infringed upon without being fully informed of their future obligations.

The purpose of an Historical District is to (1) safeguard the heritage of this city by preserving a district in the city which reflects its cultural, social, economic, political and architectural history; (2) stabilize and improve property values; (3) foster civic beauty and pride of local ownership and; (4) strengthen the economy.

An Historic District is no more restrictive than present zoning laws and building codes, which restrict sizes, heights, uses, materials and methods of installation of materials.

Plans for new buildings or alterations of existing buildings at present must be approved by the city building department. In the Historic District, these plans will be approved by the Historic District Commission, one member of which will be a registered architect.

In reviewing plans the Historic District Commission shall consider: (A) the historical or architectural value and significance of the structure and its relationship to the surrounding area; (B) the general compatibility of exterior design, arrangement, texture, and materials to be used.

The property owner will have the same right to appeal to the local commission and to our own city council and recourse to the courts that he now has under existing zoning laws and building codes.

To the Editor:
As the mother of a handicapped child I must deplore publicly the remarks made by a member of the school board regarding special education programs. I was shocked to read that this elected official apparently feels obligated to serve only for our "normal" children, and that to consider the others would damage the district economically. Perhaps he would wish to carry this a step farther, and, in time, provide only for those children with the highest I.Q.'s, or for those who excel at sports. What a savings that would be!
My daughter has attended a special education program in Livonia for some years. She has benefited so much from this program we now have every reason to believe she will be a self-sufficient, self supporting adult, requiring only minimal family supervision. Since this is becoming the rule, not just the exception, for those trainable youngsters, is this not a good practical return for tax invested dollars? Yet these children cannot possibly learn in the classroom with normal children. I have yet to read or to talk to an educator or psychologist who would even consider this possibility. Having a program geared to their special needs is not special treatment. Isn't that what we are trying to do for all our children?

We feel strongly that special children have as much right to be educated to the extent of their abilities as do all of our children.
To regress in our attitudes and philosophy regarding their education at this point in time is unthinkable. Placing them in institutions has failed generally, and resulted in a concentrated effort to find ways to return them to society.
Surely our local school

He wore a heavy leather patch over his right shoulder and a mile wide grin.

A warm smile and a cold shoulder. That's how I remember the man who banged on our door every other day and announced, "Ice Man!"

On our block he was the most popular regular visitor—next to the milkman and his horse-drawn wagon. Visits by either, of course, meant we could race out to the wagon and help ourselves to the ice chips.

That was in Flint...35 years ago. But it wasn't much different in Northville except that kids here had the added advantage of getting their licks right from the ice factory.

"The little devils came in droves, milling around everyday for their handouts," recalls Charles Ely, Sr., who with his brother and father operated Northville's ice factory years ago.

"Ah, yes, those were the days," he says wistfully.

Did he deliver ice?
"Oh, why certainly. First by horse and later by truck. Why I had one of the best routes around; it included 14 blind pigs," he says remembering the ice business during the Prohibition era. "They always needed ice."

Blind pigs? In Northville?
"Well, now, I wouldn't want to tell where exactly. Could embarrass somebody. Most of them, though, were right here in the Northville area, operating in homes...ordinary houses on the outside but real rip-snorters inside."

Chuck recalls when his father purchased the ice business from the estate of Claude McCann in 1919. "Back then there was an ice shed, where they stored the stuff, north of the Ford parking lot next to the millpond."

I've heard they got the ice from the millpond in the winter? "Yes, that's when ice normally occurs...during the period of the year when freezing weather acts upon the surface of the water. Naturally it was winter. Who ever heard of ice forming in the summer?"

"They'd pick a section of the millpond where the ice was good 'n thick, scribe it, cut it with saws, yank it out and store it in the shed in straw and sawdust. They'd sell the ice the following summer, winter not being a particularly good marketing time.

"Dad operated out of there for only about a year.

"Wouldn't you know it: a warm spell descended upon this region soon as he bought...warmest we had in years. With only some thin, crusty ice on the millpond it wasn't a very pleasant time I can tell you. But nobody else had any good ice either so we managed."

Nevertheless, the Elys weren't going to be fooled by Mother Nature again. They pulled up stakes, moved three blocks away to a building "just north of where Cloverdale is now" and started making their own ice.

The ice-making took place in the back of the place, while up front the Elys shared an office with three barbers. "They cut hair, we cut ice."

The Ely business, which today continues in board members should be enlightened in this important area of education, and promote, not hinder, its progress.

Betsy VanEe
(Mrs. Rene VanEe)

To the Editor:
"SCHOOL BOARD PREPARES FOR SPECIAL EDUCATION". What a wonderful headline! It was music to my ears—until I read a little further and couldn't believe that one of the Board of Education members is so against Northville preparing for the education of the handicapped.

I think Mr. Deibert needs an education himself on learning more about mental retardation and any form of a handicap.

A retarded child who receives the proper education and treatment may grow up to lead a productive and useful life instead of becoming a financial and emotional burden on his family and community. I would also like to let Mr. Deibert know that these children deserve an education just as well as normal children. We pay for everything and a lot of extras such as special this and special that and we don't ask for favors. We just want what is rightfully ours.

It is about time that my school tax dollars are finally being used for one of my children. We have lived in Northville for 9 years and in this whole period of time my children have only used the Northville Public Schools in their kindergarten years.

Why should I have to pay $200 a month tuition to send my son to a private school when there is no reason why a public education cannot be given to him. Where are his Civil Rights? This child is an American Citizen and a very patriotic one at that.

You have money to treat your drug addicts—these people have brought their troubles on themselves while this child was born with his problem. He is ambitious—not lazy. He needs our help—Special Help—he needs education—Special Education—because he is a Special Child.

I wonder if Mr. Deibert had a handicapped child or grandchild—I wonder if he wouldn't try to find the best possible way to train and educate and make sure that this child would be a benefit to society.

My praise goes to the Livonia Board of Education and especially to Mr. Cliff Page, the principal of Cooper Annex School for Trainable Mentally Handicapped Children and all the teachers who have and are doing such a wonderful job.

I would like Mr. Deibert to meet with my son personally and see what a gentleman he is becoming because of his training at school and his good social life. I would like him to see some of the skills he has obtained that most normal children his age can't do (he has already proved this at Boy Scouts).

I am very proud of my son and he is growing up to be a real person, not something tossed away in the dark to decay and never grow and develop. He has sunshine all around him.

Very Sincerely Yours,
Bonnie J. Schrot

To the Editor:
Regarding the article in last week's edition on providing Special Education for all area children. It was indeed "sickening" to have even one board member express his opinion as he did

Perhaps he is a lucky man never to have had any handicapped persons in his family but he had better say many prayers that he never will for it can happen to any one of us.

We struggled many years to get the Northville schools to recognize their responsibility to the retarded but there was no help even when a home-bound teacher tried her level best to provide what she could at our home for our child. It was not permitted.

You would never believe the heartache that was ours and our child to be refused any time what so ever in the grade school.

This was the way it had to come to Northville. Only the law could force the issue to give these children a chance that so many so-called normal children do not appreciate—just to get to school and learn what ever their capabilities will allow. "Such people" would rather not have special treatment, believe me. The hardest question I ever had to answer for my 'special child' was, "Mom, am I retarded?"

Thank You,
Sincerely,
A Northville Mother

To the Editor:
The Northville Board of Education is to be congratulated for taking some first steps toward development of special education programs. Our school system is growing rapidly in number of pupils and is one of the few school districts of its size to be without special classes for the handicapped.

When slow learning children, hyperactive children, or children with emotional problems are taken out of regular classes and given individualized instruction, everybody benefits.

The handicapped child benefits because he is being taught at a level he can understand, and the children in regular classes benefit because their teachers' time and attention are not taken up disproportionately by one or two children with special needs.

Through the cooperation of able, dedicated men like Mr. Cliff Page in Livonia and Dr. Ed Page in Plymouth, handicapped children from the Northville Schools have been accepted in nearby school districts. When Northville had only a few children needing each type of class, this system made sense. But with the growing population in our school district, the number of children with special needs is growing too. The time has come to begin developing these programs in our own schools.

'Morale's Good, Need No Action'

To the Editor:
The Northville PTA area council, which is concerned about the possibilities of a strike that would affect the morale of the children, is asking school administrators, school boards and the teacher's organization to keep us informed about the issues in negotiation and their progress. Our priority is the welfare of children and we will continue to work for quality education in their behalf.

The Council's policy as stated in the by-laws is non-partisan. We intend to maintain our neutrality, dispensing the facts to local PTA presidents and allowing parents to reach their own conclusions. If a situation arises that adversely affects the children, the PTA believes it has a responsibility to bring this to the attention of both the parents and negotiating parties by means of an open forum. At this time, however, student morale is good and we do not see the need for such action.

Says FISH Failed To Contact Her

To the Editor:
The story on FISH in the Novi-Northville area and the interview with Mrs. Gallagher was very interesting.

I have lived in the Novi area for over 40 years and have found the residents of this area to be wonderful "neighbors." I would also like to state that when FISH was organized in Northville (about two years ago, I think) I volunteered to help with the clerical detail (I am employed and this seemed to be the best I could offer). I filled out a card with all the necessary information which went on file for future reference. I waited for a call for help in vain. I have not once been contacted to help.

Is it possible that the people of Novi-Northville are really not so different from people of other communities and that FISH is not as well organized and managed as it is in other areas and that this is really our main problem?

I cannot believe that Novi-Northville residents are unfeeling.

Very truly yours,
Virginia Kaluzny

Bandsmen Angry Over Treatment

To the Editor:
This is a letter concerning the members of the Northville High School Marching Band. We are angry at you and any other people that had anything to do with the terrible incident that occurred on the night of Friday, September 29.

Our band worked eight and a half hours this week alone to get the show to look good. The band was excited and ready to do the show cause everyone knew it was going to be special. When we got there we had to wait for the busses and everybody was raring to go. But when we found we couldn't go everyone was very very mad.

Nobody wanted to give up. People offered to drive so we could go march anyway but I guess everybody knew we wouldn't be able to get in without authority. A lot of the kids stuck around the school to see what Mr. Williams would do. Everybody and I mean everybody looked forward to that game and show!

Mr. Busard, we would like to ask one simple question! Why does the band always get pushed to the back of the crowd and get sneered at? Is there that much wrong with our band? The athletics department always gets what they ask for but the band gets turned down half the time. The band helps the football players and the spectators. We help them win the game! Why not think of us and good old Mr. Williams, who has devoted many years of his life to the band. Why not do something for him to pay him back for all he's done to the school and the band. Please?

Faults Township Spending Plans

To the Editor:
The Northville Township Grab Bag is on the move. Recently the township board raised salaries of officials and almost assessed residents for cost of a sanitation collection service without a vote of the people. The board held a recent meeting without notifying the public as required by law. The meeting held on Wednesday, September 27, was an attempt to deny the rights of interested citizens to voice their demands on the garbage collection issue.

Taxpayers should inquire as to the source of raising $500,000 for the new township hall, and the source of financing the new fire department, which amounts to $600,000 for capital expenditures and $524,000 for operations. These are proposals currently supported by your township board.

Where will all this money come from? Are they planning to raise our taxes? Residents of the township deserve answers to these questions but the board fails to supply the answers. When will the officials respond to the taxpayers of this community?

We need additional fire protection, but there are more economical ways to provide for this service. We might need more space for township offices, but there are modest facilities available that would prove to be acceptable and save money for the residents of the township.

the fuel and gardening lines, produced "tons and tons of ice, using the ammonia process.

"We'd make it in 400-pound cakes and then cut it down to 100-pound and 25-pound blocks for delivery or pickup. Guy could pull around the back of our place and we'd put it on the bumper of his car and away he'd go. Or we'd deliver."

Although oldtimers may remember the ice factory nostalgically, back then it was both liked and disliked—depending upon the pollen count. "You see," explains Chuck, "every once in awhile a pipe would spring a leak and the ammonia would seep out and float over the town.

"Why, practically the whole town would get up in arms—except for the sinus cases. They were our biggest boosters.

"We'd have people with hay fever come in just to sit and breath in the stuff. After a couple of hours they'd go off pleased as punch...

"Now that I think of it we should have charged."

Flint had its man with the warm smile and cold shoulder.

But so did Northville....and he's still wearing a mile-wide grin.

It's Grid Massacre! Novi 64, South Lyon 0

Tony Kern, South Lyon's hard-throwing answer to Joe Namath, rolled into town Friday night with a set of passing statistics that even Broadway Joe could be proud of.

Why, in just two games the slender South Lyon signal-caller had completed 15 of 22 passes for 403 yards and six touchdowns.

With Kern's passing and the receiving of Joe Stephens pitted against the awesome Novi running attack of "Jimmy Van and the Trucking Company," the experts were predicting a high-scoring, wide-open game.

They were right. By the time both teams left the field at the end of the game a total of 64 points had been rung up on the scoreboard.

What the experts had not foreseen, was that Novi would have all of them.

It was the worst massacre since Little Big Horn. A classic mismatch in the same tradition of Coyote versus Road Runner, Egyptian army versus Red Sea, or Elmer Fudd versus Bugs Bunny.

It was no contest. Novi drive 71 yards in seven plays for a touchdown the first time it got the ball, scored again to lead 14-0 at the end of the first quarter, and then puffed the game completely out of reach with an awesome 36 points outburst in the second quarter that left Kern and the Lions a broken team.

As for Kern's statistics. Well, they tell the defensive story of the game. Twenty-seven times the Lion star faded back to pass and on 10 of those times the Novi front four of Dave Ward, Kevin LaFleche, Ron Buck, and Mike Riley nailed him for losses totalling 85 yards.

Kern completed five of the 17 passes he did throw for 52 yards, but the Wildcats caught almost as many of his passes, as Jim VanWagner, Tom Ford, and Reid Harpster each recorded an interception.

The Novi victory, coupled with Saline's upset of perennial league-champion Chelsea, left the Wildcats and Hornets tied for first place with identical 2-0 records.

At the start it appeared as if the game was going to be the high scoring affair that some observers had predicted.

Novi took the opening kickoff and marched 71 yards in seven plays with Pat Boyer scooting the final ten yards for the touchdown with just a "little more than two and half minutes gone. VanWagner's two-point conversion gave the Wildcats an 8-0 lead.

But the Lions came right back. On their third play from scrimmage Kern found Stephens open behind John Pantalone and hit him with a 48 yard toss that pull the ball on the Novi ten yard line. That was the turning point Doug Bridson lost 12 yards on the next play, a pass to Bridson gained one yard, and then Kern was socked with an 11 yard loss while trying to pass and what Howard Cosell would call the "psychological turning point" had been reached.

The Wildcats took over downs and promptly launched a 68 yard, nine-play drive that was climaxed when VanWagner burst up the middle for the final six yards and the score was 14-0.

The rout was on. After picking up a first down on the ensuing series of downs, the Lions were forced to punt and Bridson's kick carried just 12 yards to the Novi 45 yard line. A personal foul gave the Wildcats the ball on the 30 yard line and they scored three plays later. Boyer carried twice to the seven yard line and Lukkari skirted the final yards to make the score 21-0 at 11:32 of the second quarter.

Two South Lyon plays later VanWagner picked off a Kern aerial and carried it back to the 24 yard line. Gray Collins gained seven yards to the 17 and then Boyer took it the rest of the way to make the score 27-0 at the 10:02 mark.

Novi's third quarter TD came less than two minutes later. This time it was Tom Ford who intercepted Kern's pass and the little defensive back brought it back to the six yard line. VanWagner bolted over on the next play and the score was 35-0.

The onslaught was just beginning. On the next South Lyon series of downs Kern was not intercepted—he was tackled for an 11 yard loss instead and Bridson's fourth punt traveled to the 21 yard line—two yards short of the line of scrimmage.

Lukkari got tackled with a 14 yard loss while trying to pass on the first play, but it didn't make much difference as Boyer raced 34 yards to the one yard line on the second play and Collins bulled the final yard to make it 42-0.

Thoroughly rattled, the Lions lost 11, three, and eight yards on their next three plays and Bridson added to their frustration by stepping out of the end zone while trying to punt to give Novi a two-point safety. 44-0.

Novi Coach John Osborne tried to stem the embarrassing flow of Novi touchdowns by inserting his second string on the next series of downs, but not even that worked, as Bill Ross, a 170 pound speedster, ripped off a 29 yard touchdown run on the very next Novi play to make the score 50-0 with 1:26 left in the half. The referee's gun ended the slaughter, mercifully, shortly later.

Osborne didn't insert his first string offense the rest of the game, allowing the second string to work the entire second half of the game. Still, the Wildcats scored two more touchdowns to run the final score up to 64-0.

Quarterback Dave Brown tallied one of those TDs, sneaking over from the one yard line midway through the third quarter, and Eric Hansor scored the other on a two-yard slant in the fourth quarter. Novi also picked off another safety in the second half as Kevin LaFleche flattened Kern in the end zone.

Boyer led the Novi rushers with 117 yards in nine carries, while VanWagner carried just four times for 31 yards. Both backs tallied two touchdowns.

Novi's next three games are on the road. Next week should be a breather against a weak Dexter, but after that the Wildcats must play Chelsea and Saline on successive Fridays. Two Novi wins would not only just about clinch a league championship, but could well vault the Novi juggernaut into the number one spot in the state's Class B ratings with

COACH JOHN OSBORNE

Any time a team scores 64 points, you'd expect the coach to be crowing about his offense.

But the thing that pleased Novi's John Osborne most about his Wildcats' 64-0 rout of South Lyon Friday was the way the defense had operated. "The defense was outstanding," declared the Novi mentor. "Those green shirts were buzzing all over the place out there."

Osborne admitted that he had been somewhat worried during the week about the South Lyon squad, primarily because of the offensive threat posed by the passing of quarterback Tony Kern. "Oh, I definitely felt we could beat them," Osborne said. "But I didn't expect to win by as much as we did. I knew we could score against them, and I thought that we might have to win by getting more points than they did."

As it was the Wildcat defense almost completely throttled the Lion offense and gave Kern a beating he won't soon forget.

"We made just two changes on defense for the game," Osborne reported. "We switched from a five man line to a four man line. We pulled Pat Boyer off the end and made him a linebacker and pulled Mike Riley out of nose guard and put him on Boyer's end."

The second change involved playing quarterback Steve Lukkari at defensive back for the whole game. "We usually just spot him on defense," said the Novi coach, "but he's one of our better pass defenders and because of South Lyon's passing threat we decided to let him play both ways."

"I think our defensive pressure on Kern was just excellent. Our four linemen (Dave Ward, Ron Buck, Kevin LaFleche, and Mike Riley) did a good job getting to him. They were helped by the fact that Kern had trouble finding his receivers open. A lot of the credit goes to the secondary and linebackers because they had their men covered."

The turning point in the game, as far as Osborne was concerned, came in the first quarter right after Kern had completed a 48 yard bomb to Joe Stephens, his top receiver.

"I guess my thoughts were that its going to be a long night and I hope we can outscore them," Osborne admitted. "Pantalone got turned around on the play and Stephens beat him. But John didn't give up and saved the touchdown with a shoestring tackle on the 10 yard line. Our defense got fired up and pushed them way back and that was what turned the whole game around in our favor."

Osborne attributed at least a portion to his team's record setting scoring spree on an observation of quarterback Steve Lukkari. Instead of running the South Lyon ends, the Wildcats geared most of their attack up the middle and the results were highly effective.

"Steve picked up what they were trying to do on defense pretty early in the game," the Novi coach reported. "He observed that the linebackers and center were keying on him. As soon as he started in one direction they were taking off with him, so we went to our dive series."

He would take his first step to the right and then reverse pivot and hand off to the middle to the back side halfback. Their linebackers and center would have to turn around and then they were easy blocks because they were out of position. By over reacting to Lukkari they were giving us big holes up the middle."

Although Osborne selected Pat Boyer as Wildcat of the Week, he had words of praise for Mike Riley, the nose guard who switched to defensive end for the South Lyon contest. "Mike had a couple of very fine hits," said Osborne, "and he put a great deal of pressure on both their passer and punter. He was one of the big reasons we were able to win by as much as we did."

Saline paved the way for a wide-open SEC title race by recording a stunning 14-3 upset of four-time league champion Chelsea, the state's top rated Class B team.

Led by George Dannefel, who scored on an 81 yard run and rushed for 167 yards in 11 carries, and a defense which yielded just 77 total yards and five first downs, the Hornets did all their scoring in the third quarter after Chelsea had taken an early lead on a 21-yard first quarter field goal.

Dundee and Lincoln each scored one touchdown, but Dundee added the two point conversion to gain an 8-6 victory. Don Reed went three yards for the Ypsilanti TD, while Keith Schmidt plunged one yard for the Dundee score.

Milan's Larry Russell gained 102 yards on 24 carries to lead his team to a 36-0 conquest of Dexter.

Little League Meets

An important meeting of the Novi Little League has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 10, at 8 p.m. in the Novi High School gym.

All parents of little leaguers are requested to attend.

Purpose of the meeting is to make arrangements for the annual banquet and to discuss plans for the 1973 season. Parents will be given ample opportunity to express comments and make suggestions to make the Novi Little League successful in the years ahead, Little League President J F Buck announced.

BALL-HANDLER EXTRAORDINAIRE—While halfbacks Pat Boyer and Jim VanWagner are the ones who usually gobble up most of the yardage in Novi's feared Wishbone attack, the one credited with making it all work is quarterback Steve Lukkari. On this play, Lukkari lateralled to VanWagner who completed a six-yard run into the end zone.

Choo-Choo, Village Oaks Win

True to form, the powerful Choo-Choo Car Wash softball team copped the American League championship last week in post-season play-offs as action in the Northville Recreation Department's Men's Softball League came to a close.

In the National League play-offs there was a major change of form, however. Having trailed the Northville Jaycees throughout the regular season, Village Oaks finally gained a measure of revenge by topping the Jaycees for the play-off championship.

Choo-Choo moved easily to the American League crown. The play-off schedule was arranged according to the final regular-season standings and the Car Washers defeated their first three foes without much difficulty.

Plymouth State Home fell 16-0; Lipon's managed to score three runs, but were topped 8-3; and the dethroned Northville Lumber squad was bombed 16-1.

In the championship match, Choo-Choo recorded a 13-8 victory over South Lyon's Renwick, Grimes, and Adams team.

Following the championship game the league's Most Valuable Player award was presented to Don Phillippi, the Choo-Choo pitcher. A former Alma College hurler, Phillippi posted a 27-2 record while doing the tossing for the Car Washers.

Selected for Wildcat of the Week honors was Coach John Osborne who was Pat Boyer. The 6', 190 pound running back led Novi's rout of South Lyon by rushing for 117 yards on nine carries. Boyer scored touchdowns on runs of 10 and 17 yards and set up another TD with a 48 yard jaunt that put the ball on the Lions' one yard line. In just three games so far this season, Boyer has tallied seven touchdowns and is the leading career scorer in the history of Novi High School.

Following the championship game the league's Most Valuable Player award was presented to Don Phillippi, the Choo-Choo

Colts Bomb Tigers

It was wide-open, high-scoring football Sunday when the Northville Colts took on the Garden City Tigers in little league football action. A total of 122 points were scored in the three games and, fortunately, the Colts got most of them.

The evening started off poorly for the Northville junior footballers, however, as the freshman squad squandered an early lead and dropped a 24-8 decision to the Tigers.

It looked as if more of the same type of treatment was in store for the Colts in the junior varsity game, as the Garden City lads drove 60 yards with the opening kick-off for a touchdown. The half ended in a 14-14 tie, however, and the Colts came on strong in the second half to score three times and take a 36-14 victory.

The high-scoring precedent established by the jayvee was followed by the Colt varsity, who won their fourth game of the year in as many outings by tripping up the Tiger varsity 28-12. The Colts opened up 16-0 half time and then swapped points with Garden City in the second half to clinch the victory.

Selected for Wildcat of the Week honors was Coach John Osborne who was Pat Boyer. The 6', 190 pound running back led Novi's rout of South Lyon by rushing for 117 yards on nine carries. Boyer scored touchdowns on runs of 10 and 17 yards and set up another TD with a 48 yard jaunt that put the ball on the Lions' one yard line. In just three games so far this season, Boyer has tallied seven touchdowns and is the leading career scorer in the history of Novi High School.

Mott Records 29-6 Victory Over Mustangs

Look at it this way: it could have been worse.

Having won only a single game since 1970, Northville was up against one of the state's top ranked Class A teams. So the 29-6 loss to Waterford Mott Friday wasn't all that bad.

But don't suggest this excuse to the Mustangs' mentor Chuck Shonta. He's apt to pitch you into the gaping holes in his defensive line.

Mott ripped through those holes in clobbering the visiting Mustangs for their third-straight victory this season.

But the highly-touted Waterford eleven, which two weeks ago knocked off powerful Pontiac Northern, didn't really measure up to its state ranking. Granted, the Corsairs won easily and they outclassed the Mustangs in almost every category...but, well, even partisan Mott fans were disappointed.

It was a ho-hum game, with Northville sneaking over a sixpointer in the fourth quarter while Mott's substitutes were getting a workout.

The Mustang TD capped Northville's longest drive of the game, starting just before the end of the third stanza on the 44 yard line. Three first downs, featuring a 26-yard pass play, set the stage for the score.

	North	Mott
First Downs	8	10
Rushing Yards	56	184
Passing Yards	96	31
Total Yards	152	215
Passes	24	13
Passes Completed	9	2
Passes Intercepted	2	2
Punts	4-30.5	2-21.5
Fumbles Lost	1	1
Penalties	60	105

On fourth down at the four-yard-line, quarterback Bill McDonald flipped to end Ed Pawlowski to prevent the shutout. An extra points running play fizzled. entire game did Northville cross the mid-stripe. It came late in the second quarter when the Mustangs connected on four straight passes, moving the ball from the Northville 26 to the Mott 31.

With that last first-half drive, the Mustangs had ekked out only 19 yards total rushing and 55 yards through the air. Their best offense, by far, was the 80 yards marched off by officials in first-half penalties against Mott.

By half-time Mott was relaxing with a 23-zip lead, having pushed across six points in the first quarter and two TDs and a field goal in the second.

Mott put its first score in lights the very first time it gained possession of the ball—and that came shortly after the game opened and after Northville had lost possession on a third-down fumble

In five plays Mott moved to the two from where Willis Hagle pushed over the center for the score.

In its second crack at the ball, Mott jockeyed back and fourth between the Northville 2 and 20 before settling for a 15-yard field goal by Tim Simmons.

Following a partially blocked Northville punt in the second quarter, Dale Romeo slithered past clutching Mustang hands and scaped 30 yards for the TD.

Before the close of the second quarter, Simmons took a Northville punt on the Mott 30 and weeded his way through a host of would-be tacklers for another TD. He also kicked the extra point.

Simmons closed out Mott's scoring in the third quarter, pushing over from two feet

with
COACH CHUCK SHONTA

How much difference can one man make in a football game?

A great deal, according to Northville Coach Chuck Shonta.

Perhaps the dominant note in his Mustangs' 29-6 loss to Waterford Mott Friday was their inability to move the ball against the Corsairs' defense and the person credited by Shonta for that situation was Gordon Sheldon, Mott's 5'11" 235 pound linebacker.

"He's just a great linebacker," said Shonta in praise of Sheldon. "We couldn't get the ball past him. He's the Dick Butkus of the Western Six."

He stopped us up the middle and he stopped us on the sweeps. Even when we ran sweeps away from his side of the field he was able to make the tackle.

"I'll bet he made 80 percent of their tackles. We finally gave up trying to run past him and went to our passing game instead. He's very definitely Big 10 material; I'll be very surprised if he doesn't end up at Michigan or Michigan State."

Outside of Sheldon and quarterback Tim Simons, Shonta was not that impressed with the Mott team. "They've got Sheldon and Simons is a great quarterback, but after that they're just not that tough. We were a lot of penalties and a lot of mistakes."

"In fact, the whole game in a capsule was our mistakes - two fumbles and a punt return. We gave them the ball twice deep in our territory on fumbles and then we let Simons get away on a 70 yard punt return. We had the men there on the punt return; they just missed the tackle."

"You can't make mistakes against a good team like Mott. We made the crucial errors at the wrong time and they capitalized on them. The score was 23-0 at the half, but it could just have easily been 9-0 if we hadn't made those mistakes."

"Overall, though, I thought we did a good job on defense," Shonta continued. "They run out of two formations - the Wishbone and the I. We went with our 4-4 against the I because they like to drive and pass out of it and went with our 5-2 against the Wishbone with the end taking the pitch man and the linebacker responsible for the quarterback."

"Defensively, I thought we did a good job except for two plays - an option play and a reverse. On the option the end didn't pick up the pitch man and on the reverse we had two men waiting for him, but it turned into a case of their man outrunning ours."

Northville had to play the game without the services of Bill Potter, the big offensive tackle; halfback Rod Crane, who twisted an ankle last week against Clarenceville; and Jim Porterfield, their offensive and defensive tackle stalwart, who was injured early in the first half.

Porterfield and Crane are expected to be ready for Walled Lake Western Friday while Potter is still in a cast and won't be able to play for at least several more weeks.

Friday the Mustangs will try for their first Western Six victory as they play host to Walled Lake Western, the squad that pinned a 63-0 shellacking on them last year.

Mustanger

Dave McLean, starting his first varsity football game against Mott Friday, was selected Mustang of the Week by Northville Coach Chuck Shonta, The 6'3", 190 pound senior defensive tackle was credited with six first hits, five assists, and batted down three passes. "He played a strong game," said Shonta of his new-found stalwart. "His pursuit was good and he gave outstanding effort throughout the contest."

IN THE OPEN—Mustang co-captain Steve Griggs has that all-important step on a Waterford Mott defender as he races for a Bill McDonald pass. Unable to move on the ground, Northville turned to the air and met with moderate success, but were still easily defeated by the Corsairs.

Win Marshall Tournament

Hlohenic's 70 Spurs Golfers

It was close, but in the end Northville's superb high school golf team managed to pull it out and record yet another win in a major prep tournament.

And without a doubt, it was John Hlohenic, the top Mustang golfer, who deserved the lion's share of the credit for the dramatic, come-from-behind victory.

The tall, thin senior shot an amazing four under par 32 on the back nine to pull his team from a six-stroke deficit after the first nine holes into an eight stroke victory over previously undefeated Portage Northern.

Hlohenic's 18-hole total of 70 broke his own school record of 71 established just last week.

Scene of the dramatic finish was the Marshall Invitational Tournament played last Saturday at the Marshall Country Club.

Pitted against many of the top golf teams in the state, the Northville foursome of Hlohenic, John Marshall, Brian Mills, and Bob Simmons found themselves in second place, six strokes behind front-running Portage Northern, at the turn.

What's more, after the first three men from each team had completed the course, the Mustangs still trailed by four strokes, 232-236, as Marshall carded a 77, Mills a 78, and Simmons an 81.

"I thought to myself that we'd finally lost our first meet," Al Jones, coach of the Mustang quarter admitted. "But then some kid came in and said someone in the final foursome was four under on the back nine," Jones continued. "I knew that John was capable of a round like that, but there were three other golfers in the foursome with him.

"They hit their drives on the eighteenth and some kid ran out and then came running back and said it was the golfer from Northville who was four under. Just about then John hit his second shot about four feet from the pin. He had an easy putt and he'd have been five under for the back nine and 69 for the day. But everyone was gathered around the green watching him and he missed it. He told me later that he couldn't feel the ball at all."

Hlohenic's 70 combined with the 82 recorded by the rattled number one Portage Northern golfer gave the Mustangs a 306-314 victory. The 306 total established a new school record for a four-man, 18-hole total.

"We were very pleased," said Jones. Jackson Lumen Christie, a contender for the Class B crown sought by the Mustangs, was third with a 325 total.

"If we shoot as well in the state meet, I think we can win the championship," Jones commented.

Dual meets don't present much of a challenge to the Northville foursome any more. They had three of them last week and won them all to run their season's record to 9-0 and their undefeated streak to 32.

The Mustangs topped Western Six foe Waterford Mott 200-210 Monday on the Pontiac Country Club course. Mills, Marshall, Hlohenic had 39s, freshman Jim Dale had a 42, and Simmons had a 42.

Against Farmington the Mustangs eked out a 257-263 triumph as Simmons and Marshall had 40's, Hlohenic and Mills had 42s, Greg Mack shot a 46, and Dale finished with a 48.

One dual meet the Mustangs were able to get up for was their contest with Pmckney, another contender for the Class B state championship. The Pirates got two 40s and two 41s for a team total of 162, but the Mustangs recorded an easy victory by shooting a 142, a school four-man for nine-holes record. Hlohenic and Simmons had 34s, Mills shot 35, and Marshall finished with a 39.

In Cross Country

Churchill Swamps Mustangs

A preview of the Western Six cross-country championships?

Northville Coach Ralph Redmond certainly hopes not. Last Thursday he pitted his Mustang harriers against the defending conference champions from Livonia Churchill and the results were...Well, the results just weren't very pleasant.

The Chargers took five of the top seven places and handed the Mustangs a very sound 20-35 defeat.

"I really thought it would have been much, much closer," said a dejected Redmond following the meet. "We know Churchill has a very good team, but we thought we might be able to give them a little competition for the league championship."

"I thought we were up for the meet and were ready to go out after them, but they took us apart."

Particularly disappointing to Redmond and the Northville forces was the showing of their number one runner Guy Cole, who finished no better than fifth in the meet.

Something approaching a rivalry had developed between the Mustang star and Churchill's top man, Mark Kappler. Cole defeated Kappler in a photo finish last spring for the conference two mile championship and most observers felt that the individual 1972 cross-country crown would go to one or the other.

But Thursday Kappler easily bettered Cole and won the race. The Chargers took first and second in the meet with Kappler and Mark Priebe copping the honors. Northville's Tom Coram finished third ahead of Churchill's Don Shaw. Cole was fifth and Churchill runners then took sixth and seventh.

The Mustangs got back on the winning track against Lutheran West Tuesday and did it decisively sweeping the first six places in the meet to win 15-40.

Cole, Coram, and co-captain Tim Taggart breasted the tape in unison, while Kevin Koffler, Tim Hurley, and Dave Beers finished fourth fifth, and sixth respectively.

"Frankly, we expected a little more competition from Lutheran West," Redmond said, "but we were pleased with the victory anyway."

The Mustang runners now have a 5-2 record in dual meets.

Novi Tells PP&K Winners

Winners of Novi's 1972 Punt, Pass, and Kick competition were determined last Saturday at the high school as over 125 youngsters vied for honors in six age groups.

The competition was co-sponsored by the Novi

Jaycees under the chairmanship of Doug Thrush and John Milnichuk and Stark Hickey West.

This year's winners were as follows:

Eight Year Olds: Todd Parsons first; Tim McClorey, second; and Richard Bergin, third.

Nine Year Olds: Jeff Jensen, first; David Ziegler, second; and Greg McComas, third.

Ten Year Olds: Daniel Bunker, first, Craig Isely, second; and Rodney Derrick, third.

Eleven Year Olds: Kevin McClorey, first; David Pisha, second; and Kent McQuistor, third.

Twelve Year Olds: Jeff Bunker, first; Kevin Mills, second; and Tom Morris, third.

Thirteen Year Olds: John Buck, first; Jeff MacDermaid, second; and David Barr, third.

Jack Brown, representative from Stark Hickey West, announced that all of Novi's first place winners will attend the divisional PP&K competition in Plymouth.

Upsets Boggle Grid Guessers

Joe Kritch, Sr. of 860 Spring Drive grabbed first place money in last week's football contest.

In a week of upsets, Kritch tied with Bart Leu, 18129 Pinebrook, with both missing the Auburn-Tennessee and Bowling Green-Western Michigan games.

(All contestants miss the latter game because it ended in a tie and no-one predicted a tie).

Although both missed two games, Kritch finished first by making a better guess of Novi's 64-0 shutout over South Lyon. He was 45 points off, while Bart was off by 58 points.

The third place winner, Mary Biery of 217 West Dunlap Street, was a good deal tougher to determine. Mary and 17 other contestants missed three games. But she was closer on that Novi-South Lyon score.

The others with three mistakes who finished out of the money (in order of their scores) were:

Polo Club Wins 9-1

Detroit's Polo Club recorded a startling upset Sunday when they thrashed the Cincinnati Polo Club 9-1 on the Ohio-Ians home field.

Balanced scoring earmarked the game as Johnny Mager, Joe Hill, Chris Jenkins, and Dr. Howard Glazer each whacked the ball through the goal posts twice and Gary King, returning to action after suffering a back injury, accounted for the ninth Detroit tally.

Detroit hosts the Michigan All-Stars Game this Sunday, October 8, at their field on Milford Road, three miles north of the Village of Milford. Game time is 2 p.m. and there is an admission charge of $1 for adults with children being admitted free.

Hicks Draws

Grid Praise

Fred Hicks, a 1969 graduate of Northville High School and now a senior lineman at Western Michigan University, compiled a blocking grade of 78 percent two weeks ago as the Broncos defeated Northern Illinois 14-10.

The 6'1", 205 pounder successfully completed his blocking assignment in 63 of 81 offensive plays.

Hicks started the season at center but was switched back to his former guard position when a knee injury sidelined Western Michigan's Steve Tonnell.

Western presently has a 3-1 season's record.

Western Six Standings

Waterford Mott	1	0
Farmington Harrison	1	0
Northville	0	1
Walled Lake Western	0	1

Joining Mott in first place were the Hawks from Farmington Harrison, who opened defense of their conference title with a 21-0 whitewashing of Walled Lake Western.

Harrison's defense was the key, as they not only limited the Warriors to just 59 yards rushing and 15 yards passing, but also accounted for a touchdown when defensive tackle Kevin Pryor recovered a fumble in the Western end zone.

In a non-league contest Livonia Churchill remained undefeated in three games to date by romping to a 23-0 victory over Waterford. Bob Biales threw scoring passes of 43 and 33 yards to Ron Miller to account for two of the Chargers' touchdowns.

Schoolcraft College Harriers Split

Schoolcraft College's cross-country opened their week with a victory over Washtenaw Community College Tuesday, but after that initial success the Blue and White's fortunes sank steadily down hill.

After beating Washtenaw 24-34, the Schoolcraft harriers finished second in a triangular meet at the Orchard Hills Community College Friday. Lorraine CC, an Ohio school, finished first in the meet, even-though Schoolcraft's Bob Stewart won individual honors with a time of 23:15 over the four mile course.

Van Wagner Honored

Tom VanWagner, a 1971 graduate of Novi High School, was singled out by Michigan Tech football coach Ted Kearly for his performance against Northland College.

Saturday, the Schoolcraft runners finished a disappointing sixteenth in the 18-team field, as Southwestern, the 1971 state champion, led the field.

VanWagner, an offensive guard at 5'10", 195 pounds, was one of eight Huskies awarded "blue chips" for their efforts in producing a 24-19 victory.

PUMPING UP PUBLICITY—Appointed by Governor William Milliken as chairman of Michigan International Week (October 22-29), Lansing industrialist John Belaski went through a lot of brain-storming in trying to find a way to publicize the week before he finally hit upon "just the right stunt." He purchased a "pedicab", similar to a rickshaw, from New Delhi, India and then last Saturday after the foreign vehicle had cleared customs at Detroit he hopped aboard pedaling it all the way to Lansing, stopping naturally in towns along the way to drum up some interest. Besides the disbelieving looks of downtown shoppers Belaski attracted the attention in Northville of two Chamber of Commerce members, Carl Johnson and Les Bowden (left), and City Manager Frank Ollendorff. Officer Fred Beksa (center) threatened a ticket for slow driving when Belaski, accompanied by a cohort (in the cab) who shared the pedaling, arrived an hour late in detouring off of Grand River to Northville. Owner of Crossroad Imports, Belaski took a short breather here and then headed back through Novi to Grand River for that "whew, long stretch to Lansing".

recommendation from Novi Planning Board Chairman John Roethel served to re-enforce Wheaton's objections.

As Elmer Petterson, a Northville Estates resident, said, "I just don't see the justification of rezoning land directly across the street from a park and a better-than-average subdivision for industrial use."

The council agreed and the request was denied by a 7-0 vote

Swinging Subdivision?

Is "Carnal" an appropriate name for a subdivision road? Novi's city council doesn't think so and asked developer Kaufman and Broad to come up with something different.

The issue arose at Monday's session when K&B submitted tentative names for the streets in their Buffmeyer Farms subdivision for council approval.

The names proposed by K&B were Cypress, Monterey, Carnal, and Santa Cruz.

Councilman Edwin Presnell noted that the name "Monterey" could conceivably lead to confusion for police and fire department service under emergency situations due to its phonic similarity with other Novi streets. The name was referred to Police Chief Lee BeGole and Fire Chief Fred Loynes for their opinions.

"Are there any problems with the other names," asked City Manager George Athas. "They're all okay except for the one that doesn't sound quite right," said Presnell, referring to "Carnal".

The rest of the councilmen concurred with his opinion.

"It sounds like a swinging subdivision," commented Athas.

the minimum age limit for drivers from the present limit of age 19 to age 18.

The latter two matters were scheduled for hearing in two weeks, while the request of Roux was set for the first council meeting in November.

Among matters presently before the city planning commission is the request for rezoning by the Chapper Organization of Detroit of some 39 acres of vacant property east of Northville Estates Subdivision. Chapper is a development firm.

Owned by Roy Johnston, the rezoning request is for a multiple housing classification. It presently is zoned for single dwelling lots. Planners, most of whom appear to disfavor use of all this property for multiple housing, has tabled the request pending receipt of detailed plans for the proposed development.

disfranchised?" he asked.

In offering to purchase the property, Bonner "told me he would keep the property just as it is if he got it, and that he would not use it except for rental residential purposes," the city manager told The Record.

Questions were raised, too, by Mrs. Bonner and by Gerald Stone who is building a home across the street from the Langfield property. (The latter is located west of Langfield's house. His house and property are not included in the proposed sale).

Stone voiced concern about the kind of housing proposed—namely factory-built modular units.

Following these protests, Councilman Paul Polinomoved that the matter be shelved for two weeks until a public informational meeting could be held. His motion was supported by Mayor Protem

Kenneth Rathert (Mayor A. M. Allen is vacationing). Voting against it were Councilmen David Biery and Paul Vernon

Voicing strong support for development here of public senior citizen housing, Vernon then moved the alternative proposal that drew support of all four councilmen.

State Reviews Maybury Park Plans

means of transportation provided by DNR

The public was asked its opinion on snowmobiling within the park.

Another questioner expressed concern that the proposed swimming pool would be official olympic size, 50 meters and eight lanes

DNR replied that it hopes to hold major swimming meets at Maybury, as well as conducting instruction classes

Other questions and answers included:

—park will be closed at night with only family campers allowed to remain on the site,

—capacity of the park will be 10,000,

—horseback riding will be allowed on designated trails,

—the 75 acre site set aside for golfing may not be a "golf course", but perhaps an instructional and practice facility,

—a pond may be included, but this is not definite, —existing roads will be used for bicycling, walking, etc., not cars, —Buildings will be torn down within two years, facility will probably not be open to public until two years, and probably not completed for at least five years.

Security in and around the park was the chief concern of those living near Maybury. One woman referred to the site now as "a jungle with wild dogs and hippies all over."

"What about 'now', not the future," she asked

DNR officials noted that they would have rangers on the property, that it would be fenced and that steps would be taken to keep trespassers off Maybury until development has advanced to the stage where a host of existing hazards are removed. They explained that this is the reason they do not permit horseback riders on the site now, because of state liability in case of accident.

The DNR officials also had high praise for township police, as well as state and county departments, for assistance given in control of trespassers.

Township Police Chief Ron Nisun noted that some 180 arrests had been made at Maybury either by state or township police in two months. He said the action had "cooled off" the problem to some extent.

DNR officials also promised to remove the "Maybury" sign, that area residents feel serves only to let trespassers know where the area is located

State Representative Marvin Stempien spoke briefly to remind residents that the "DNR wants to be a good neighbor and does not want to upset the way of life of the community"

He urged residents to call upon their elected legislators for help, when needed, and noted that cooperation between the state, city and township would be needed in providing controls both in and outside the park.

Sherschligt urged citizens with questions or suggestions to write to: Mr. Oris Sherschligt, Chief of Parks Division, Department of Natural Resources, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan 48926

Young Star and Her Father Rig Their Sailboat

Move over, Dad, daughter's moving up.

Leslie Kendall, 22-year-old daughter of Fred Kendall, former WJR star singer, has captured the hearts of her metropolitan audiences and now she is looking, hopefully, for that "big" break.

Currently starring at Duffy's, a culinary delight near Union Lake, the pretty blond songstress and her musical combo have been booked into a tiny but posh nightclub at Clearwater, Florida beginning in December.

"I think it may be a big step toward the top," she beamed the other evening following one of her numbers. "Naturally, we're very excited. But we'll miss this place; they've been so nice to us."

Leslie, whose repertoire ranges from soft, romantic ballads to contagious beats, sings with the Danny Stevenson trio of piano, bass and drums. They've been performing at Duffy's since June.

Stevenson plays the piano, Ted Harley bass and Garry Leonard drums.

It is Stevenson's special arrangements, which artistically turn westerns into swinging rhythmic music, that has provided Leslie with her built-to-order numbers. "He's just marvelous," she said. "All of them—Danny, Garry and Ted—are terrific."

Before joining the combo and her appearance at Duffy's, Leslie entertained at Brighton's Canopy, Kale's Waterfall in Ann Arbor, Hickory Hollow, the London Chop House, and the Royal Ascot to name a few.

In the two years she has been singing professionally, Leslie has overcome the initial nervousness that marks fledgling performers and has blossomed into a relaxed songstress who easily shifts her numbers to fit the moods of her audience. And this special talent immediately establishes a close link with her listeners.

Watch her audience:

Young couples, an old man with his matronly wife, businessmen, singles...all of them enjoying serious eating and loud conversation. A few words of self-introduction. The restaurant noises continue. Then Leslie's into her first number. It's a ballad, soft and lovely, and slowly napkins come up, forks go down, heads turn.

Leslie's relaxed on a stool next to the bar and she has captured her audience and she's only half-way through the number.

Then it's back to eating as she finishes and launches quickly into a change-of-pace. The old man smiles at his wife, unaware probably that he is tapping his foot and she her finger while they eat.

"You get used to it," explained Leslie when asked about the effect of noise upon a singer like herself. "It doesn't bother me anymore. As a matter of fact I think it's good; it makes you try harder. Once you get close to them...once you reach across the room to their tables...you know they're listening even when talking and eating.

Nevertheless, she looks forward to the day when she can perform in concert. Concerts, touring, some recordings...those are her goals.

Obviously proud but exposing a natural parental worry, her father said, "It won't be easy. It's a very difficult, competitive field with tremendous pressure."

Fred Kendall knows. For two decades he was the most popular singer in Michigan. His tenor voice was a feature of radio station WJR's live entertainment shows for 19 years.

Now retired as a professional singer, he owns and operates the bowling alley in South Lyon and he and his family enjoy the pleasant

LANSING—Not many people will admit they like it, but it's doubtful much will be done about the way Michigan picks the men and women who govern its three largest universities and the State Department of Education.

Members of the various boards are elected to eight year terms, with two positions open every two years. They are nominated at party conventions and picked in the general election.

About the only thing that can safely be said about the whole group of them is that few voters have any idea whom they are voting for.

Invariably, the party which carries the presidential vote, or the majority of the upper portion of the ticket in non presidential years, sweeps its candidates onto the respective boards.

IT'S REALLY hard to blame the voter very much for the situation. This year, for example, there are 31 candidates running for the eight positions open. The most popular board is the state board of education, which has a total of 10 candidates vying for its two spots.

It is nearly impossible for the average voter to make an intelligent choice between 31 candidates for just about anything, especially when very little is written about the candidates and they have no funds to use to make themselves known.

The result, is that the voter usually just votes down the line for the candidates of the same party he likes or president or governor or senator, depending on what offices are being contested.

DIFFERENT, probably better systems are used in most states. The boards are filled by appointment by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, just as the governing boards for Michigan's other public institutions of higher education are filled.

Governor William G. Milliken suggested back in 1969, when he first unveiled his education reform plan, that the State Board of Education be abolished altogether and that the governor appoint the state superintendent of public instruction. He later modified this to have the governor appoint the board. That plan fell to partisan fighting.

Odds for change in the near future appear very dim, since many people just don't worry much how the boards are filled. All the conscientious voter can do is get that list of 31 names and start to learn what he can about each candidate; an unlikely task.

THE MICHIGAN Consumers Council has been looking into those life insurance premiums you pay for life insurance policies taken out on installment loans you're paying off.

Council President William Morrison says it looks like the consumer is paying more than he should for such insurance. But since the premiums are usually small and usually included in with the installment payment, little is done about them by the consumer.

To correct the situation, the council has presented a series of recommendations for the Michigan Insurance Bureau to stop excessive premiums and inadequate coverage.

WHILE CREDIT life insurance benefits both the consumer and the creditor, Morrison points out the consumer ends up picking up the entire tab.

"It's to the consumer's advantage, since, in theory he's assured that the debt will be paid if he is incapable of doing so; and it's to the creditor's advantage, since he is assured that he will collect in the event of death or disability," he says.

Captive market conditions usually found in the credit life insurance field have led to higher than necessary premiums, says Morrison. In 1970, he says, a total of $39 million in premiums was paid in Michigan on such policies, while only $24.5 million in benefits was paid out.

That means an average of 37 per cent of the premiums were kept by the insurance companies involved, while during that year the seven largest writers of group life insurance in the country paid back an average of 85 per cent of their premiums.

ANOTHER PROBLEM the council found is that some companies will sell a policy and then, if a large claim is made or seems in the offing, will cancel and refund on premium payment.

In some health insurance cases, the policy may state that the holder must be permanently disabled before it will pay. Since most disabled conditions are not permanent the consumer then cannot collect, even if he is disabled for the length of the loan.

Heritage Abounds

Copper, iron, timber, agriculture, the automobile and ensuing industry - attracted scores of nationalities to Michigan during the last half of the 19th century.

These early settlers represented all the major powers of Europe as well as the smaller countries and even smaller principalities which existed for a few years before being consumed by adjacent kingdoms.

These first Michiganians left their homelands in search of a new life, but they brought with them the customs and traditions that kept their individual heritage alive. The influence of these variegated cultures is prevalent throughout the State with the greatest variety being concentrated in the Detroit area, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

In 1970, when Roman S. Gribbs took office as mayor of Detroit, he appointed a committee of city officials and civic leaders to develop ethnic festivals. The Greek festival had been an annual event in Detroit for several years and Mayor Gribbs hoped that other groups could be encouraged to organize and share their culture and customs with the public.

As a result, the German, Polish and Mexican Festivals were held during the summer of 1970. All were successful and consequently an ethnic festival site was selected on the riverfront behind Cobo Hall in downtown Detroit.

In 1971, the original three festivals grew to 14 attracting over two million visitors, with 1972's schedule numbering 19, filling every weekend from June 2 through September 24. The enthusiastic Irish opened this year's Ethnic Festival Series followed by: Slovak, German, Italian, American, Far Eastern, Captive Nations, Afro-American, India, Ukrainian, Polish and Scandinavian.

Operation of the program is under the direction of the Mayor's Committee for the Cultural Center and the City Parks and Recreation Department. A number of other City agencies assist in An unusual opportunity for local riding enthusiasts to see dressage riding and stadium jumping in the same show will occur Sunday, October 15, at Majestic Farm, 1300 West Joy Road in Ann Arbor.

The open Dressage-jumper Show will attract riders from throughout southeastern Michigan to participate in the parallel competitions, with dressage in the regulation dressage ring and jumping in the schooling ring from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Show Chairman John O'Brien has announced that the dressage judge will be Mrs. Carol Grant, well-known dressage rider and trainer from Brighton, Judge for the jumping events will be announced later. AHSA rules will be used.

Food and refreshments will be available on the grounds and no spectator admission will be charged. Among the dressage events scheduled are Training Level Test two and three, First Level test one and Second Level test one.

Jumping events will be held in two sections, with three-foot fence events in the morning and three-foot-six events in the afternoon. Both sections will feature a Modified Olympic course. Choose Your Own Line and Fault and Out.

The non-recognized show will not affect a rider's novice status or a horse's green year. Six ribbons will be awarded in all events. Time permitting entries will be accepted until 9:30 a.m. on the day of the show with no penalty. Further information can be obtained from show manager, Mike Mathews of Majestic Farm by calling 665-9813.

The farm will also hold its Fourth Annual Fall Schooling Show the day prior to the Dressage-Jumper Show, on Saturday, October 14. The Schooling show is restricted to students of Majestic Farm equitation, dressage, stadium jumping and hunter jumping classes.

Knowing The Living Word

Pastor,
Brighton Church of the Nazarene

Praise God! Praise God! Praise God! I'm a child of The King Words from a song, yes, but oh much more. This is truly the testimony of all born-again believers. This promise is given in Romans 8:16 & 17 "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together." A person's Christian experience is real. It is spiritually revealed as indicated in Romans 8:16.

In this day that we are living, there are many false prophets which try to replace God's inspired Word, the Bible, with other teachings. Christians "must" hold to the "written Word" through which they come to know the "Living Word", Jesus Christ.

In a day of criticism and questioning, a person can become bewildered if not grounded in the faith. The desire of all Christians must be, to be led of the Holy Spirit and governed by God's Word, the Bible. In short "led of the Spirit; governed by the Word."

To know Christ personally is so different than just having a knowledge about Christ. The term "Christian" is applied to many people with varying degrees of discipleship. Questions arise about Christian conduct: what should he do, how should he act, or how should he dress? For answers check the Word. Is it necessary to read God's Word? Yes—II Timothy 2:15 "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Christians, we can't afford a watered down form of Christianity. As stated in Matthew 9:37, "the harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few." We must be ready.

Being a Christian should be the most vital, vibrant, and enriching experience in a man or woman's life. A Christ centered life reaches beyond words for expression. It is well for all Christians to take spiritual inventory to see if there is more for them or required of them, and in so doing remember John 14:6 "Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

God's written Word, the Bible, was inspired, preserved, and is revealed by the Holy Spirit. Again from the Word, II Timothy 3:16 "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." We should be thankful that we can know that we are born again, that we have the written Word, and the Holy Spirit to lead us. May God bless you.

TOUCHDOWN... we all know the thrill that lifts us to our feet when OUR team scores. We cheer, we sing and shout.

It takes teamwork to put a man over that goal line. The whole team must work together to move that ball down the field... "the right way." The guards and tackles must hold the line. The ends must be "on target" to receive passes. The quarterback must know his plays and execute them with speed and skill.

Likewise, in the game of life we need wisdom and strength beyond our individual endeavor. It is essential to receive inspiration and help in order to achieve successfully our goals in life. Your church can provide that faith which leads to everlasting victory.

Along the Campaign Trail

Abortion...

Campaign for reform of Michigan's abortion law has opened its Wayne County headquarters in Detroit.

"It is our sincere hope," said Dr. Jack Stack of Alma, "that all citizens of Michigan will understand the importance of casting their votes on this issue in the November 7 election."

"It should be clearly recognized by all that abortion law reform is truly a people's issue. Proposal B is on the ballot by virtue of the referendum initiative, and a successful petition drive which secured over 300,000 signatures to take the issue directly to the voters."

"Secondly, it is very significant that this movement has gained broadly-based support, coming from all segments of the population, in all parts of the state. This was first demonstrated during the petition drive, when citizens from all walks of life put their names on the line in favor of the referendum seeking abortion law reform."

"Finally, I want to emphasize that our campaign for passage of Proposal B is based on factual arguments, rather than emotional appeals. We are presenting the voters with material relevant to the reasonable and logical consideration of all aspects of this issue. We are asking the voters to register their decision on the merits of the issue, not on a basis of sensationalism, or because of scare pictures, or misleading and sometimes irrelevant factors."

Coleman...

Calhoun County's Probate and Juvenile Court Judge Mary Coleman of Battle Creek has urged all Michigan citizens to register in order that they may exercise their right to vote in November.

Judge Coleman, seeking election to the Michigan Supreme Court, said from her Battle Creek campaign office, "this year, the electorate will decide their governmental leadership from the White House to the court house, in addition to the all important non-partisan judicial races and state and local proposals."

Ferency...

Zolton Ferency, a candidate for Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, was honored by some 250 people at a testimonial dinner, held on his behalf last night, at Livonia's Roma Hall.

Speakers included Justice John Swainson, Michigan Supreme Court; Barbara Halpert, Human Rights Party candidate for U.S. Senate; former State Senator Roger Craig, head of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA);

Babson Report

Economy in High Gear

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—The nation's economy has shifted into high gear, and there is little evidence that the upward momentum will slacken in the near future.

The Gross National Product, in current dollars, posted a smart 2.7 percent gain from the first to the second quarter reaching an annual rate of $1,139.4 billion. When third-quarter figures for GNP are available, they will doubtless show a continuation of the broadly distributed uptrend. For the final three months of 1972, we look for further strength, with real gain likely in most sectors of the economy.

THE UPSWING this year has been accompanied by a slowdown in the inflation rate, making the economic showing even more impressive. The second-quarter GNP price deflator was up only 0.4 percent, and in August consumer price increases slowed to 0.2 percent. Thus, the dollar's purchasing power is declining more slowly than in recent years.

and Bernard Klein, formerly Chairman of the Detroit City Charter Commission and Controller for Detroit.

Some of Ferency's remarks were: "At issue is whether a human being can pursue a personal interest, in the privacy of his own home. At issue is freedom and liberty. At issue is whether the U.S. Constitution means what it says. The only progress we've made, however small, is through the courts."

"I feel very comfortable in the Human Rights Party. They're talking about the issues. And they feel an obligation and responsibility to use those issues to educate the public."

"How can you discuss the war in Southeast Asia without talking about the mistaken role of the United States in maintaining a presence where we don't belong? None of us will live long enough to gain the forgiveness of the Vietnamese people."

"How can you discuss busing, or crime on the streets, without talking about racism? The problem is with the people of American, who are opposed to fair treatment for women, blacks, browns, and Native Americans, all of whom do not have the power to direct their own lives. As long as these minorities remain powerless, we must continue the struggle."

Geake...

Dr. Robert Geake, Republican candidate for state representative in the 35th (Livonia-Northville) district, proposed a legislative plan to curtail pollution in a speech marking the opening of his campaign headquarters at 15232 Middlebelt Road this week.

"Our economic system," noted Geake, "is based on incentives. Therefore it seems only logical that our governmental system follow suit." "Instead of relying on a costly pseudo-police force to investigate and intimidate potential polluters, Michigan should provide tax incentives to those companies which take positive preventive actions."

"We start by taxing industry its fair share of the cost of cleaning up our environment. Each innovation which an industry implements which cuts back on waste and pollution should be rewarded with a tax credit. Since corporations and industries must show a profit in order to survive, we should make it good business to help clean up the environment."

"The legislature has taken a step in the right direction by recently passing the Michigan Industrial Development Bond Act which authorizes the sale of industrial revenue bonds to raise money for installation of expensive air and water pollution control facilities."

Gilmore...

Wayne County Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore and Detroit Recorder's Judge Robert Evans, candidates for the Michigan Supreme Court on the non-partisan ballot, have won the endorsement of the Michigan Federation of Teachers.

Henry Linne, MFT president, said the endorsement is on behalf of the Federation's 20,000 members.

Judges Gilmore and Evans have also been endorsed by the Michigan AFL-CIO and the Michigan UAW-CAP (Community Action Program).

In addition, Judge Gilmore has the support of the Michigan Building Trades Council.

Both judges were nominated for election on the non-partisan ballot by the State Democratic Party Convention at Grand Rapids in August.

Griffin...

The Senate has passed legislation, co-sponsored by U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.) that would authorize the airlines to offer reduced fares on a space-available basis to senior citizens.

The provision, which passed by a voice vote, now goes to the House of Representatives for further action. It would, if it becomes law, apply the same reduced fare policy on a standby basis to senior citizens that many airlines now make available to youth-fare passengers.

Griffin told the Senate that authorizing the reduced fares would be beneficial both to senior citizens and the airlines. He noted that persons over 65 now account for only five per cent of all airlines passengers, and added that many airlines are operating at far less than capacity on many routes, especially on weekdays, and can use "a new" source of revenue.

"It is an unfortunate fact of life," Griffin said, "that many of our senior citizens are virtually imprisoned because economical transportation is not available. For example, in 1970 only one million of our 20 million senior citizens crossed a state line."

"Until our senior citizens are provided with adequate retirement income, including increased social security payments and better private pension security, they should not be denied basic services, such as transportation, which are available to the rest of our society."

"This amendment will provide a fair and reasonable opportunity they richly deserve."

U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin has announced the appointment of 20-year-old Spencer Abraham as director of the Youth for Griffin campaign.

Abraham is a junior at Michigan State University majoring in political science.

"Spence is an enthusiastic and dedicated worker for better government and stronger representation for youth. We're fortunate to have him in this key position," Senator Griffin said.

Miller...

Marie Miller, Democratic candidate for the State House of Representatives from the 35th District, was honored at a cocktail party held Friday, September 22nd at The Sherwood in Livonia. More than 100 persons attended the fund-raising affair.

Among the guests were Livonia Mayor and Mrs. Edward McNamara, and Councilmen Robert Bennett, Jerry Brown, Robert McCann, Robert Nash, Jerry Raymond and Peter Ventura, and their wives.

Other candidates attending with their wives were: Eldon Raymond, candidate for Wayne County Commissioner; John McCann, candidate for Circuit Court Judge; and G. Sallas, candidate for the State Board of Education.

In a prepared statement, Mrs. Miller said, "These are challenging days for the State Legislature and will be for the incoming legislators. I believe I can meet those challenges in the best way for Livonia and the Northville area. For that reason, I want to serve as your 35th District's State Representative."

Mrs. Miller is presently serving as Assistant Prosecuting Attorney in the Wayne County Juvenile Court

Oakland GOP

Sheldon B. Smith chairman of the Republican Committee of Oakland County has announced the endorsement of non-partisan judicial candidates by the Republican Party.

The action was taken by the Executive Committee of the Party in a meeting held Thursday, September 28, in Bloomfield Township.

The Republican Party endorsed:

For Michigan Supreme Court—Mary Coleman and James S. Thorburn.

For Circuit Court - to fill vacancy—William Hampton For Circuit Court - (Six Year Term) — William Beasley, Farrell Roberts and Robert Templin

For Circuit Court (Eight Year Term) — Alice L. Gilbert, Richard D. Kuhn and John N. O'Brien

For Probate Court—Barry M. Grant

In announcing the unanimous endorsements, Smith said, "We believe that it is important to Republican voters that they have some indications of those judicial candidates who meet the standards of the Republican Party. We offer these endorsements as an aid to those Republican voters. I am confident that these endorsements will prove to be quite meaningful when the actual votes are counted on election day."

The Republican Party did not take up the issue of the endorsement of District Court candidates but left the door open for endorsement of such candidates by local GOP clubs and organizations.

Patterson...

Formation of a committee of Democrats and Independents for the election of L. Brooks Patterson, Republican candidate for Oakland County Prosecutor, was announced this past week.

The six-member committee, which includes Hazel Park Mayor Wallace Carmier and Hazel Park Councilman John DiGiovanni, is headed by Ms. Gail McPherson, chairman of the Democratic Party in Hazel Park.

"Brooks Patterson is most qualified for the job of prosecutor in this county," Ms. McPherson said. "The incumbent in the opinion of this committee has not performed adequately during his term in office. We plan to work door-to-door and person-to-person throughout the southern portion of the county starting next week on behalf of Mr. Patterson's candidacy."

Plunkett...

Operation Identification, a unique program designed to reduce home and business burglaries, has a firm foothold in Oakland County and its success has been remarkable, it has been reported by Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas G. Plunkett.

Plunkett said several thousand homes in Royal Oak have been contacted and are participating in the project. In addition, nearly all of the citizens of the City of Wixom have joined in the project.

"Several persons are responsible for the success of Operation Identification in Royal Oak," Plunkett stated. "The Royal Oak Jaycees supervised the project and the Boy's Club, Y.M.C.A. and several Royal Oak high schools provided the volunteer workers. The Royal Oak Police also offered invaluable assistance."

Operation Identification is a project designed to imprint valuable household and business items with the owner's driver's license number. The numbers are engraved into the item and cannot be removed. A printed emblem is then placed on the owner's door or windows warning any potential burglar that the premises have participated in the project. All of the engraving tools and the window stickers have been provided to the various volunteer groups by the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

"Nearly 70 per cent of the homes and businesses contacted in Royal Oak have participated in the program," Plunkett stated. "Although it is a little early to evaluate the results of the project, the Royal Oak Police are beginning to show statistically that the amount of burglaries in this area of Royal Oak is on the decline," Plunkett added.

An even greater success in participation is being reported by the City of Wixom. In Wixom, a group of citizens, with the aid of the Wixom Police, has carried the project to nearly every residence and business within the City. Of the homes and businesses contacted to date in Wixom, nearly 90 per cent have participated in the project

Township...

Construction problems in Highland Lakes subdivision were given full attention by township candidates Thomas Curran and Larry D. VanderMolen, Saturday, September 30, during a door-to-door effort to get residents registered by October 6 deadline.

"We feel that the special problems of Highland Lake residents require immediate attention and action by township officials," remarked VanderMolen. According to homeowners, response by present officials has been minimal, he said.

"We challenge the township supervisor to investigate the construction problems in this region," agreed both candidates. "These people deserve better treatment than they have been receiving".

Larry D. VanderMolen is a candidate for township supervisor and Tom Curran, a resident of Highland Lakes, is running for trustee.

Stempien...

Michigan House Speaker William Ryan (D-Detroit) has issued corrected figures concerning the postage expenditures of House Majority Floor Leader Marvin R. Stempien (D-Livonia-Northville).

Ryan stated that an audit demanded by Stempien disclosed substantial errors in recording Stempien's postage in five of the first eight months of 1972. Stempien, Democratic candidate for Congress, demanded that Ryan's office audit his postage records after earlier figures released by House administrators had mistakenly showed $8,461.15 postage in the month of August. In reality Stempien's August postage was $3,359.08.

Representative Ryan commented: "I sincerely hope that the previously reported erroneous figures concerning Representative Stempien's postage has not caused him any undue hardship. As a result of the errors discovered in the audit of Representative Stempien's postage account, the recording of postage accounts will hereafter be centralized in a single office, and the various mailing stations will transmit their reports to such central office."

House Majority Leader Marvin R. Stempien (D-Livonia-Northville) this week introduced an amendment to the State School Aid Act which would prevent the loss of state funds for Livonia and a number of other school districts in the state.

The Stempien bill (H.B. 6378) would revise the municipal overburden section of the School Aid Act, which provides for special state aid for those school districts in which the total tax burden, exclusive of school operations taxes, exceeds 125 percent of the statewide average.

"This legislation has been of assistance to Livonia and other districts with a heavy burden of overall property taxes," Stempien said, "but this year's School Aid Act contains language which would mean a loss of much of this special assistance for Livonia and many of the other districts."

WE'VE BUILT A HOME IN THE COUNTRY FOR YOU.

In the middle of Northville Township's rolling hills and quiet farms. In the established community of Northville Commons. Its name is the Charleston. And it's waiting for your inspection this weekend. The Charleston is one of 20 models we've designed for this community—which gives you a pretty good idea of the kind of variety you'll find among the homes in Northville Commons. And inside the Charleston, you'll find the kind of features you'd expect of a fine country home. Such as four spacious bedrooms, including a generous master suite with walk-in closet and private bath. A walnut paneled family room with fireplace and beamed ceiling. A country kitchen with built-in appliances. And even a special room that can be either a den or a 5th bedroom at your option. There are many other fine touches to the Charleston—all of which can be seen this weekend. So drive on out to Northville Commons—one mile west of Haggerty on Six Mile Road. It's open daily and Sunday 1-8, Saturday 12-5 (closed Thursday). Call 476-4848 or 349-4550. The price of the Charleston is $57,100. Other homes in Northville Commons start at $50,000. And a number of homes are ready for immediate occupancy.

For too long, condominiums have been built too much like apartments and too little like fine homes. Now there are condominiums built like fine homes. By Nosan Building Corporation—one of the finest home builders in the area. Each includes a basement, a fireplace, an attached garage, a private driveway, a private courtyard... even a convenient second entrance to your Condo-Home from inside the garage. You get a kitchen pantry, a large entrance foyer, walk-in closets, a powder room, an upstairs laundry room, and a kitchen with modern appliances. You also get central air conditioning, central heating, and sound conditioning. You can even have a finished family room, or a second living room, or a private balcony. (Optional at extra cost.)

And you get the exclusive use of a private swimming pool and a community clubhouse with a billiards room, an exercise room, a card room, kitchen and bar facilities, and many other outstanding features. (When you're freed from exterior maintenance, shoveling snow and taking care of a lawn, it's only fitting you have some relaxing ways to spend your leisure time.) As you've probably guessed, our Lexington Condo Homes are not small. Indeed, many are two- and three-bedroom units with 2-1/2 baths. But the best way to find out how grand these condominiums are is to come out and see them for yourself. Which we invite you to do this weekend. At Eight Mile and Taft in the City of Northville. Open daily and Sunday 11-8, Saturday 11-6. Call 522-4920 or 349-6350. Prices start at $35,900.

the technical aspects. The City is also responsible for the physical arrangement of the site, traffic control, safety, food inspection and sanitation. Each festival, however, makes its own decisions on sales policy, booth rental and entertainment and pays its own liability insurance and guard service during non-operating hours and entertainment.

The public enjoys the entertainment - which includes music, folk dancers and singers, poetry and dramatic presentation - free of charge. There is also no admission charge to the festivals. Up to 50 booths display items representative of the ethnic group's culture such as mosaics, shillelaghs, silk saris and Florentine wood carvings, and the majority of them are for sale.

The festivals also afford the opportunity to sample many of the favorite foods of the world as well as several varieties of beers and wines throughout the season.

Word of the success of Detroit's Ethnic Festival program has spread. Other cities have sent representatives to investigate the possibility of initiating similar projects. If such a program could spread throughout the country, it might well produce significant results in chipping out prejudice that stems from ignorance of cultures other than our own.

Mayor Gribbs said recently that "not only are the various ethnic groups strong in their feeling for and observance of ethnic customs, but they are delighted to share them with members of similar groups. There is a very warm feeling of interdependence between the groups but each has retained its own distinct flavor."

Michigan is endowed with a generous abundance of fertile land, clear water, rich ore deposits, productive forests and prosperous industries. It holds a distinctive and honorable place in the nation's history. Michigan's most important asset, however, is and always has been its human resources, the proud heritage of people from many lands.

For more information regarding the Detroit Ethnic Festivals, write to Report and Information Committee, Room 1008, City-County Building, Detroit 48226.

comforts of a lakeside home in nearby Green Oak Township.

Both of Leslie's parents have musical backgrounds—having studied formally and performed professionally. Mrs. Kendall is a native of Northville, sister of Northville School Trustee Richard Ambler.

Neither parent tried to influence her decision to sing professionally, said Leslie. "When I decided to try it they gave me a lot of help but they never encouraged me. That was my decision."

She has no formal musical training, relying mostly upon the help supplied by her parents.

Following her third year at Eastern Michigan University, Leslie took an assistant teaching job in physical education at a private school in Ann Arbor. It was the kind of job in which she was shouting a lot so she left "because I wanted to sing and I thought it might damage my voice."

Unlike her older sister, Lynn, or her younger brother, Fred, Leslie has always been enamored by the world of music. "It's something I've always loved," she said, recalling the thrill of appearing with her father at the age of 12 over WJR.

"Someday, maybe, I'll make it like my father did."

For the audiences at Duffy's, the little blond girl with the lovely voice has already made it.

Here's Tour Tips

October Heralds Color

October heralds Michigan's third vacation season of the year with a burst of brilliant color and a bustle of activity. Nineteen million acres of forestland transposed into a full spectrum of vivid colors, tints and hues provide a fantastic spectacle as well as an inspiring background for local events, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Color tours take top priority on October's "things to do" list and the Michigan Tourist Council has prepared a guide containing 24 suggested tours mapped throughout the state noting points of interest for sightseeing stops along the way. These are available free of charge from the Council's office in Lansing.

Charlevoix's annual color cruise is a delightful way to see the color show at the top of Michigan's lower peninsula. The three hour trip embarks from downtown Charlevoix at 1:00 p.m. October 8 aboard the motor ship Beaver Islander. Depending on the weather, the ship cruises the Lake Michigan or Lake Charlevoix shoreline. Passengers are treated to live entertainment and free refreshments on board and the price is only $3.50. However, reservations are limited to 200.

October 8 is also the day for guided color tours of Gladwin County. Tours originate in Gladwin beginning about 10 a.m. Groups of 10-15 cars follow the leader through the picturesque countryside making periodic stops for picture taking, closer looks at points of interest, free coffee and donuts.

You can take a peek ahead to winter's snow fun season at the Ski Show, October 5-7 in the Eastbrook Mall, Grand Rapids and at Alpena's Snowmobile Show, October 6-8 at the fairgrounds. Alpena will also hold the Michigan Small Race, sanctioned by the National Aeronautics Association, the same weekend, at Phelps Collins Field, M-32 west.

The Heritage Hill Association of Grand Rapids presents their Tour of Homes October 7. Six historic homes will be open for visitors to tour at their leisure between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Included is the Gallup House built in 1865 featuring a rich mahogany staircase, shimmering crystal chandeliers hanging from 12 foot ceilings and an air of Victorian elegance. The Voigt House, Grand Rapids first Museum House, will also be open. This home is exactly as it was in 1895 from the luxurious wall and floor coverings to the gas and electric light fixtures to the delicate china and crystal in the well furnished dining-room. Tickets for the tour are available at the Grand Rapids Art Museum.

October 7 is also Red Flannel Day at Cedar Springs, the red flannel capital of the world. It's a fun-filled day complete with parade and lumberjack dinner and a few surprise events for good measure.

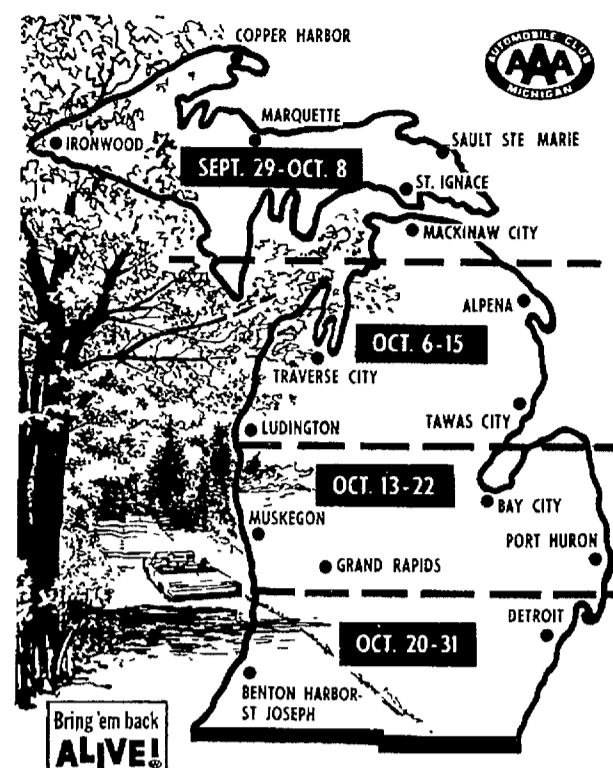

October 7 and 8, the Fall Harvest and Craft Festival at Kalamazoo's Nature Center will feature homespun demonstrations, activities and displays of interest and enjoyment for the whole family. Activities will include horse-drawn hayrides, a working steam threshing machine and an old-fashioned farm store for browsing.

If you're a sailing enthusiast, you might prefer the Yachting Regatta on Lake Charlevoix at Boyne City that weekend. It's open to the public and there will be a trophy for the winner.

October 7-16, the Artrain will be at St. Joseph. This unique traveling art exhibit is well worth your time if you're looking for a stimulating and most enjoyable experience.

Antique buffs have much to look forward to in October. October 9-13, the Midwest Antiques Forum will be held at the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn. This year's theme will be, "Collecting Americana: The American House and Its Furnishings". Antiques Show-Sales are scheduled for October 20-22 at Jackson; 21 and 22 at Flint, 21-23 at Royal Oak and 26-28 at the Westmain Mall in Kalamazoo.

Other events appealing to a wide variety of interests include the Autumn Festival at Lake City, October 14; the Motorcycle "Hare" Scrambles at Bridgeton, October 15; 1972 Foreign Sports Car Show at the Westmain Mall, Kalamazoo October 17-22; Gig Sled Dog Races near Hart October 22 and at Whitehall October 29; the Gem & Mineral Show at the National Guard Armory, Lansing October 20-22; Fall Coin Show, Kalamazoo, October 21, Fall Festival & Photo Weekend, Greenfield Village, Dearborn, October 21 and 22; The Honey Bee Festival at Chesaning, October 26-28; and Michigan International Week, October 22-29. During Michigan International Week, all kinds of special events, ethnic festivals, lectures, seminars and programs honoring our ethnic cultures will be taking place throughout the State. October opens the fall season and in Michigan, fall is definitely for all. Enjoy all 31 "living-color" days of it and for more details on October's events, write the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, 48926.

State's Farms Worth $5 Billion

A current profile of Michigan's agricultural community shows an industry with a real estate book value of nearly five billion dollars.

B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, said the new statistics show a healthy increase in the business of farming, even though total acreage and numbers of people engaged in farming have declined in recent years.

The real estate book value of $4.418 billion is an increase of nine percent ($396 million) over the 1971 valuation. It also represents an increase of $455 million or 20 percent over the value of the state's food and fiber factory five years ago.

Ball said new values were calculated by agricultural economists from data provided by crop reporters, realtors, bankers, county officials and other cooperators with the state-federal Crop Reporting Service of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Estimated value of an average acre of Michigan farmland is now $377, Director Ball said, an increase of 10 percent over the 1971 average. Value of the average Michigan farm was $58,000 as of March 1, 1972.

Buildings on Michigan farms represent an estimated $1.281 billion of the total plant value, an increase of $103 million since 1971.

During the last year, Michigan averaged 52 title transfers, changes of ownership, per 1,000 farms, compared to averages of 47.9 for the nation, 50.5 for the Great Lakes states, and 51.3 for the Corn Belt. Transfers in western states generally exceeded all other areas of the country.
