All varsity lettermen from the class of '72 are invited to the game. The Pep Club will sponsor the homecoming dance on Saturday, October 21, from 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. with "Those were the Days" as the theme. ELECTION of officers and planning for upcoming activities will highlight a meeting of the Northville Band Boosters Tuesday, October 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

A LIGHT fixture which fell in a Cooke Middle School classroom last week has resulted in the inspection and re-hanging of all fixtures in Cooke classrooms. Administrators said clips holding the fixtures were placed too far apart when the lights were initially hung, causing strain on some fixtures. The falling light is the third incident of its type in the district in the past three years. No injuries have been caused in any of the cases.

SUSPENSION of a Northville High School student for pulling a fire alarm September 29 has been temporarily lifted pending the outcome of an administrative hearing on the facts. Following the superintendent's decision on the suspension, the matter will be reviewed by the school board. The procedure was agreed upon Monday night by attorneys for both sides.

KEEPING close tabs on expenditures resulted in Northville School District ending up the 1971-72 year $25,096 in the black. Auditors, in their report Monday to the school board, said the district spent an average of $18,070 per day and that it cost an average of $5.23 daily to educate each student.

Board Inks Teacher Pact

Settlement Ends 8-Month Talks

After nearly eight months of negotiations, Northville Education Association (NEA) and school board members have ratified the master agreement for the 1972-73 school year.

The contract was approved Friday by NEA members, according to Cy Nichols, chief negotiator.

School board members ratified the contract Monday night by a 4-1 vote. Trustee Andrew Orphan dissenting and Trustees Glenn Deibert and Martin Rinehart absent. (See related story.)

Approval Monday marks the latest in the school year the two sides have come to terms.

According to Nichols, the contract "is acceptable in light of surrounding teacher settlements. There aren't that many changes and none are radical."

Superintendent Raymond Spear commented he believes the teams "reached a very fine settlement. Salaries are reasonably competitive and the MA salary schedule continues to be one of the better in the area. Language-wise, there weren't many changes but changes weren't needed."

Salary schedules in the one-year agreement include BA degree beginning at $8,500 to $14,185 in 11 steps and MA degree beginning at $9,300 to $17,000 in 11 steps.

Negotiated salaries last year included BA $8,400 to $13,700 in 11 steps and MA $9,100 to $16,300 in 11 steps.

Wages actually paid to teachers last year due to the freeze included BA $8,285 to $13,447 and MA $9,035 to $16,005, both in 11 steps.

BA salaries represent an average increase of 2.89 percent and MA salaries increased an average of 3.1 percent over those negotiated last year.

Administrators noted that merit and cost of living increases represent an average of 7.9 percent over salaries actually paid last year.

Salaries are retroactive to September 5, however school board members said teachers will lose one day's pay for failing to report for work on September 5, a day spent in NEA meetings.

The contract also provides for increases in extra-curricular activity pay schedule, drivers training and for tuition reimbursement up to $400, up from $300 reimbursed last year.

Maternity leave provisions were changed to comply with recent court rulings. Teachers with two years' service to the district must apply for the one year leave six months before the expected birth.

Clarification of the master agreement as it applies to teachers in the year round school program, were filed with the NEA by the administration to "develop a better understanding," Spear said.

No specific limitations were placed on class size and agency shop clauses were not approved, leaving both items the same as in last year's contract.

Spear said the settlement reflects a "downward trend in large teacher raises. However, some may be critical that the raises are still more than some are getting in the market."

He said he was pleased "agreement could be reached without fact finding. It was

'Buys Vote,' He Charges

Charges that Superintendent Raymond Spear and the Northville Education Association circumvented the negotiation process and that the salary schedule represented "gerrymandering of teachers by the NEA to buy voters for approval of the contract" were leveled Monday night by school board trustee Andrew Orphan.

Orphan was the lone dissenter in the 4-1 vote for ratification of the master agreement with the teachers. Board members and Spear strongly denied Orphan's charges.

Orphan objected to what he termed an "unofficial meeting of Spear and NEA negotiators, indicating a settlement could be reached without fact finding" which was scheduled to take place last Saturday.

Board members met with Spear last Wednesday, October 4, and learned a settlement could possibly be reached by the teams. Terms were agreed upon by both sides Friday.

Orphan stated he disliked Spear "intervening in negotiations when they had been turned over to our attorney."

He said that he found it "impossible for board members (October 4) to Proposed articles of incorporation for the Northville Township Building Authority were approved Tuesday night for filing with the county clerk.

The action was taken by a 5-0 vote of the township board. Trustees Leonard Klein and Charles Schaeffer absent.

Trustees set January 1, 1973, as the date the building authority becomes effective, unless challenged by township residents.

According to township attorney Donald Morgan, citizens have 60 days from date of filing of the articles of incorporation to challenge incorporation of the authority.

Trustees also added a clause to the proposed articles by which the authority must first obtain written approval of the township board before going ahead with any project.

Addition of the stipulation had been requested earlier by Klein who expressed concern that, without the clause, the authority could build whatever it wished.

While the attorney indicated that a built-in veto power of the board existed in the proposed articles, he explained the addition of the clause "reinforces the direction the building authority could take. The board of trustees can indicate which road the authority should go down."

Kucher has served in his post for the past five years and has been with the school system since 1964.

He has indicated he would like to go back into coaching.

Athletic Director Wants to Quit

Robert Kucher, athletic director for Northville Public Schools, has asked to leave his post and go back to teaching.

In a letter to school board members Monday night, Kucher asked he be given a teaching assignment for the second semester.

He said the hours the post of athletic director requires takes him away from his family. Kucher said he found the job rewarding but that teaching brought him the most satisfaction.

Superintendent Raymond Spear commented, "I sincerely regret the request, as he has done a fine job as athletic director."

Kucher has served in his post for the past five years and has been with the school system since 1964.

He has indicated he would like to go back into coaching.

EXHUMED—Buried in the creek bed last week while being used for bridge construction at Rural Hill Cemetery, this earth mover posed a problem for workmen. Construction on the bridge was temporarily halted while the equipment, embedded up to the cab in mud, was pulled back up the hill from which it rolled. How did it get stuck? None of the workmen would say, commenting only, "That'll teach 'em to fool around with the dead."

For Building Authority

Township OKs Articles

Whether the building authority will be used to construct a fire station or a complete municipal office complex remains to be decided by the township board.

Also added to the proposed articles, at the request of Trustee Richard Mitchell, that the articles be published in the Plymouth Observer in addition to publication in The Northville Record.

In other action Tuesday, trustees were informed by the state's liquor enforcement division that Arthur Jahn has been denied a liquor license for a proposed building on Northville Road.

The state division noted it turned down the request because of objections from persons living in the neighborhood.

Earlier the township board had recommended the state approve the application for liquor license.

Trustees also took no action on a request from Donald DeHar, representing Edward Rose Builders, that the board order the planning commission to make a decision on a rezoning request for apartment units on property at Bradner and Franklin. The decision on the request has been tabled by planners until completion of a study of the township's complete zoning master plan;

• authorized that the township engineer proceed

City Population

10,200 Seen by 1980

City of Northville has a greater proportion of younger people than it did 10 years ago.

This fact, according to the city's planning consultant, Ron Nino, is the "most significant characteristic change" that occurred between 1960 and 1970.

Nino spelled out characteristic population changes in a report recently to the planning commission as part of his review of the community's master plan.

"Contrary to a majority of communities of the State of Michigan," he reported, "the average family size in the City of Northville increased from 3.05 persons per household to 3.3 persons per household."

"This, however, does not tell the whole story and if we look at the growth rate of the sixties with the increase in housing stock, the actual household size per unit for the new housing stock was substantially higher."

According to the consultant, available housing increased from 1,384 dwelling units to 1,685—an increase of 301 units—while the population increased by 1,433.

"This suggests an average household size of 4.4 persons per dwelling unit. Clearly, the great majority of the increased population was comprised of young growing families. These statistics should be important to any

State Police Get Temporary Post

Temporary relocation of the State Police crime laboratory and part of the Redford post complement took place this week.

The move, according to Colonel John R. Plants, director of the Michigan State Police Department, permits an expanded service here until the department's new district complex is completed in Northville Township adjacent to Northville State Hospital.

Construction of that complex is expected to get underway yet this year, he said.

New temporary quarters are located in what formerly was a Plymouth schools administrative office on Lilley Road between Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road (M-14).

The crime lab had been operating out of the former Detroit Edison building in Plymouth since 1969. The Detroit post complement previously was located in the Redford Post.

"This move, under consideration for some time," explained Plants, "was facilitated with change of quarters for the Plymouth satellite laboratory."

According to Captain Alfred LaPointe, Detroit district commander, the temporary Detroit post extension in Plymouth Township will have a minimum of one patrol car on duty around the clock. Initially, the patrol command desk there will be manned during daylight hours.

The Plymouth detachment will have eight troopers, a detective sergeant and a uniform sergeant as its complement, some of these serving on a rotating basis, he said. The lab complement remains unchanged at 20.

LaPointe noted that the reposition of some of the Redford post's personnel at Plymouth "will enable the district to better cover the department's responsibilities in the Plymouth Township and Northville areas."

Table Plan For Store

A proposal for construction of a party store on Eight Mile Road east of the Boron Oil station, corner of Taft and Eight, was shelved last week by the Northville Planning Commission.

The proposal was tabled at the suggestion of Leslie Seeligson, attorney for the property owner, after planners disclosed the revised plans failed to meet the ordinance's minimum parking requirements.

Previously, the zoning board of appeals turned down a request for a yard variance and revised plans were submitted to the planning commission. It was those revised plans that planners found to lack sufficient parking space.

CHRISTMAS CARDS AND STATIONERY—Mothers in the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children met at Hawthorn Center last week to prepare brochures and sample Christmas cards for the annual sale. Christmas Card chairman, Mrs. Richard Sprague, left, shows the new card for 1972 which features a winter snow scene. The new design is available in packages of 10 at $1.50 each. There are three other designs which are being sold at 10 cards for $1. The group is also selling seasonal notepaper. There are 24 sheets and 12 envelopes in each $2 box. Other women present at the mailing were Jackie Laschen, Shirley Matthews, Pat Reske, Betty O'Halloran and Mary Carver. Several Northville Jayettes assisted by addressing envelopes in their own homes. All proceeds from the sale of the cards and stationery will be used to purchase equipment for the young adult unit at Hawthorne Center. Cards are available through the center.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

DR. RUSSELL M. Atchison was made a fellow of the American Academy of Family Practice in a convocation ceremony in Felt Auditorium at Madison Square Garden in New York City last month.

Presentation of the certificates to physicians who have completed 600 hours of post-graduate medicine was made at the annual meeting of the academy.

Guests of Dr. and Mrs. Atchison for the occasion were their daughter, Mrs. Rhonda Schlack, and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Casterline II (Roxanne). In addition to attending the September 24 presentation, they toured exhibits of the convention at the coliseum, and Dr. Atchison attended lectures for four days.

The Academy of Family Practice formerly was the Academy of General Practice until a name change about two years ago. Dr. Atchison was one of the founders of the initial academy in 1947 at Atlantic City.

Dr. Atchison, who has been in practice here since 1936, explains that he actually exceeded the required hours to become a fellow as the requirement is 150 hours every three years. His practice is at the Doctors Clinic, 501 West Dunlap.

The past several weeks have been involved ones for Ruth Mary Atchison also. As state sponsor of Delta Gamma sorority at Michigan State University, she has made many trips to East Lansing helping the sorority's officers redecorate the house.

Her help was no mere moral support as she and Dr. Atchison wielded paint brushes and helped get ready for school opening. Events culminated Monday as she entertained the sorority's national president before going on to East Lansing for fall pledging ceremonies.

AS HUMOROUS verse writer Elinor K. Rose chatted with members of Northville Woman's Club at the luncheon at Meadowbrook last Friday, she discovered a college sorority sister—Mrs. Beth Lapham. They had been students together at Hillsdale College.

The club opened its 80th year with a large turnout—192 members and guests. Mrs. Paul Beard introduced Mrs. Rose.

As she recited from her collections of humorous verse, the speaker brought to mind an out-of-fashion word—"elocution"—the art of oratorical public speaking. She brought smiles and laughter as she recited many of her four-liners which have appeared in Reader's Digest and the Wall Street Journal as well as being syndicated in newspapers.

Mrs. Rose finds inspiration in every-day events for her verses. In "Memo to an Average Girl" who envies the class beauty, she admonished, "Just remember, she has more looks to lose than you!"

Of a bride, she noted "Of all the people in the room, she's the one who sees the groom."

In keeping with tradition, the club honored its past presidents with Mrs. George Weiss introducing those present. Mrs. C. E. Woodruff responded.

MISS IONE PALMER'S services to Northville Woman's Club as flower chairman will be missed this fall as Miss Palmer has decided to divide her retirement years between Northville and Florida.

She has just returned from Venice, Florida, where she has a double-wide mobile home in Country Club Estates. It's in a area of palm and crown-of-thorn trees, Miss Palmer says. She isn't sure that she wants to leave Northville for good, having spent many years as high school Latin teacher and then librarian. In the meantime, she's driving back and forth.

AS MRS. MARION Kahler retires the middle of this month from her post of general (head) teller at the Northville branch of Manufacturers National Bank, she will be leaving immediately for Florida.

Mrs. Kahler has been a teller at the bank for 20 years, and general teller for five. She has purchased a mobile home at Tarpon Springs, Florida. Having sold her home on Napier road about three years ago, she has been living in an apartment until her retirement.

She will be honored at a dinner October 25 at Hillside Inn for about 40 bank employees and former employees.

THE GREEK ISLANDS were the latest travel destination of John and Doris Stuyvenberg. They returned the beginning of the month from a trip with the Nomads flying club that took them in the club's new Electra to Netherlands, Portugal and the Greek Islands.

In Greece Mrs. Stuyvenberg climbed island mountains and managed a mule ride.

PALM TREES and donkeys were part of the Costa del Sol view awaiting retired Northville teacher Miss Florence Keith on her recent trip to Malaga, Spain. She commented that she enjoyed touring Spanish cathedrals and palaces that incorporate this part of the world's history.

Delta Gamma will meet Monday, October 16, at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. James Rumpsa, 36453 Roycroft, Livonia.

Speaker for the meeting will be Mrs. George Purcell who will talk about her recent trip to the Middle East.

Northville Newcomers Gourmet Group began its third season with a color trip to Fun Valley in Mio Friday and a wine tasting party.

Saturday activities included golf, horseback riding and a hay ride. A dinner at Shafers Gourmet House in Mio completed the evening.

Orient Chapter's Past Matrons club will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, October 18, in the Plymouth home of Mrs. E.M. Bogart. This will be a regular meeting followed by a dessert luncheon.

Miss Betsey L. Ballash daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Ballash, 18332 Laraugh, will be a student at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri, during the 1972-73 school year. She will join nearly 1,870 young women representing all 50 states and several foreign countries when classes begin on September 11.

Northville Newcomers Alumni are reminded to have their money in for the October 28, dinner dance by Saturday, October 14.

Co-chairmen for the event are Mrs. Joseph Traudt and Mrs. Charles Plumley.

The evening will begin with cocktails at the home of the Kenneth Kaestners, 941 Novi Street, at 7 p.m.

The cost is $10 a couple. For more information, Mrs. Plumley, 349-2267, should be contacted. Any alumni not yet contacted by telephone is invited to make a reservation for the dinner dance.

PISTOL PACKIN' COP—Linda Harris, of Novi, is the first and only Farmington Township policewoman. She said when she first moved in, her Novi neighbors thought she was "some kind of a crook" when they saw the police cars and uniforms of her colleagues who came to visit.

Novi's Linda Harris

Lawman Shoots Straight And Wears A Short Skirt

Recently named Michigan Female Combat Shooting champion, Linda Harris of Novi is a "lawman" who shoots as straight as Matt Dillon.

And although she doesn't ride horses, she's a winner aboard sports cars and her motorcycle.

First and only policewoman on the Farmington Township police force, she has piled up some 25 trophies for her pistol marksmanship.

Previously, she was a sports car road racing winner. She owns her own motorcycle.

Her job often prompts people to ask, "What's a nice girl like you doing on a job like this?"

To which Linda replies: "I've always wanted to do it. It's not a family thing. There are no other policemen in the family."

Although she was sworn in as an officer just this past July, Linda began working for the Farmington department six years ago following her graduation from high school. "I started doing clerical work, and I've been in just about every department here."

Since she has been with the department, she also has been taking classes at Oakland Community College in pursuit of a degree in police administration.

"I like people," she said. "I can't stand in line at a supermarket or somewhere and not talk to other people. I feel that in a job like this, I can help people. I can contribute something."

"Discrimination from people toward policemen is disappearing and it won't be much longer before people will change and begin to think of policewomen as something other than the big gorilla matron type."

As part of her police training, Linda spent eight weeks at the Metropolitan Police Academy. She received the highest award in shooting—239 out of a possible 250 points.

Her interest in shooting began about two years ago. She had done some skeet shooting with her father previously, but it wasn't until she visited the police department range that she learned to shoot with a pistol.

"Ray Marchewitz, one of the officers here was terrific," in helping her learn the points of pistol shooting, she explained. Now, she belongs to an indoor league and enjoys competitive shooting.

When it comes to her job, though, she said she "wouldn't shoot unless it was my life or someone else's."

Linda said she is very fortunate to be where she is.

"My director here doesn't believe that policewomen should do just juvenile work. The guys here couldn't be nicer. Discrimination for women in police work is bad. In many departments they are just considered social workers."

Most of her cases involve juveniles and women.

About half of her time is spent in the juvenile bureau and half in the detective bureau. Part of her job involves schools. "I go to the schools and introduce myself to counselors and the principal and tell them if they need a policewoman for help in the schools, I am around."

"The guys here on the force are just great. They tell me call if I need them, but they won't interfere in a case of mine. They say, 'if you think you can do it go ahead,' but they're always there. That makes me happy," she said.

"I don't think about the danger in my job," she said. She added that most other people don't think about the hazards on their jobs and neither does she. "There's so much going on out there. What aggravates policemen is we see the victims and it's so sad sometimes. That's when the frustration comes in," she said.

"I try to forget the bad experiences. It never bothers me until it's over. That's when I shake sometimes," she added.

Linda admitted her job sometimes carries over to her social life.

"Sometimes, I tell people that I'm a secretary, simply because of the hassle I get. As soon as they find out I'm a policewoman I hear about their last traffic ticket. It can ruin a party," she said.

Even when she watches movies or television police programs, her job enters in. "I watch for technical things they do wrong," she said and added that now, it's instinctive.

Would she recommend police work to other women?

"Definitively, yes. There are few people in police work that do it only as a job though. You can't get involved and do it just as a job."

Voters Set Candidates Forum

The Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters believes that voting is a privilege and that before voting, citizens should know the candidates and the issues.

For this reason, the League, in cooperation with the American Association of University Women, will sponsor a "Meet Your Candidates" night at 7:45 p.m. on Thursday, October 19, in West Middle School located at Sheldon Road and Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth.

The meeting is open to the public.

Among the candidates invited are those from the 2nd and 19th United States Congressional Districts and the 24th and 35th State Representative Districts. All of these include the Northville area.

The candidates are as follows: second Congressional District, Marvin R. Stempien, Democrat; Marvin Esch, Republican and Henry W. Kroes, Jr., American Independent Party; 19th Congressional District, George F. Montgomery, Democrat; William S. Broomfield, Republican and Henry Lloyd George, American Independent Party.

From the 24th State Representative District, William J. Kabzinski, Democrat and Clifford H. Smart, Republican; 35th state representative district, Marie E. Miller, Democrat and R. Robert Geake, Republican.

Candidates from the Plymouth and western Livonia area also have been invited. Each candidate will be given five minutes to respond to the question, "What do you consider the most important priorities in your legislative district for the next several years and what legislation would you propose or support to implement them?"

1972 CHRISTMAS CARDS

PTA Sells Tickets For Child's Play

Tickets are now on sale for the first of what is hoped to be many cultural programs in a Junior Entertainment Series for the youth of Northville sponsored by the area PTA Council.

"Once Upon a Fairytale" will be presented Sunday, October 22, in the Northville

High School auditorium. Tickets will be sold from 8:45 a.m. until 9:15 a.m. in all Northville elementary schools and the Cooke Middle School Annex on Thursday, October 12, and Friday, October 13. Price is 75 cents each.

The play, written for elementary school children, will be performed by members of the Plymouth Theatre Guild. There will be two performances, one at 1:30 p.m. and the second at 3:30 p.m.

According to general chairman for the series, Mrs. Laurence F. (Sylvia) Gucken, the PTA council has two objectives in beginning the Junior Entertainment Series. "One," she said, "is to supplement the culture in the schools for the youth in the community. Because our schools are increasing and growing in number, the other is to unify both parents and youth in the community."

"Once upon a Fairytale" is a play which parodies many fairytales. The plot, according to the PTA council committee, will offer both parents and children lots of fun as well as excitement.

A preview of the play will be presented Sunday, October 15, at 9:30 a.m. on "The Clown Show" on WWJ-TV.

Christmas Cards

Combat Cancer

Mrs. James Rosenfeld, Northville area representative for the Michigan Cancer Foundation, has announced that the 1972 Cancer Foundation Christmas cards may now be purchased.

The price for a box of 25 cards is $4.00 and 26 envelopes are included in each box. For an additional $2.50 for the first three boxes, personalized imprinting is available, and additional 25 cents is added for each box thereafter. Imprinting orders must be received by Sunday, December 10.

All prints from the sale of cards will, as in the past, go toward cancer research. More precisely, Foundation research facility.

Wools come in many different weights, blends, and colors—and they make the most exciting clothing. Contrary to popular opinion, however, wool is not difficult to sew on. There are three rules when working with wool: measure and cut from the pattern exactly, sew slowly, and press! Pressing is most important to the tailored look of your woolen clothing. Press each seam carefully with a steamy iron. You will find that the finished product will be more than worth the effort.

And you will find a beautiful selection of quality fashion fabrics, priced right, at SPINNING WHEEL FABRIC SHOP, 146 E. Main St., Northville, 349-1910. We also feature a complete range of bridal fabrics and carry a full line of sewing notions and accessories. Ask our friendly staff, all experts in sewing, for help with your sewing problems. Hours: 9:30-6, Mon.-Sat.; til 9, Fri.

HELPFUL HINT: Use the reverse button on your sewing machine to knot the ends of seams: saves tying.

TEN MILE ROAD BRIDGE—Construction of the bridge on 10 Mile Road over the I-96 and I-275 expressways is nearly completed, according to project chief Carl Christianson. "If we don't hit any snags or bad weather, we should have the bridge in operation by the end of October," Christianson reported. Ten Mile Road has been closed between Haggerty and Grand River for approximately five months while the bridge was under construction. Christianson also announced that as soon as 10 Mile has been re-opened his work crews will shift over and shut off Grand River so a bridge can be constructed across that road. Grand River probably will be closed until some time next spring, Christianson reported. "There just isn't enough construction weather left this fall for us to get the job done any earlier."

Wixom Police Crack Ring

Solve Cycle Thefts

Wixom police have begun a crack down on a ring of young people they feel may be responsible for the theft of as many as 50 motorcycles from southwestern Oakland County over the past three months.

Four arrests—all of them students at Walled Lake Western High School—have already been made and 11 more arrests are imminent, according to Sergeant Walter Sprenger of the Wixom Police, who has headed up the investigation of the case.

The most recent arrests took place September 29 when police served warrants on a juvenile and Michael Nissen, 18, of 3976 West Maple Road for breaking and entering and stealing two motorcycles.

The first two arrests in the case were made September 19 when Gregory Geller, 18, of 2067 North Wixom Road and Kevin McDermott, 17 of 1730 North Wixom Road were taken into custody at Walled Lake Western on charges of possession of a stolen motorcycle.

"There have been 15 motorcycles stolen from Wixom in the past three months and a total of 50 cycles have been stolen from this portion of Oakland County over the same period of time," Sprenger reported.

"Not all of the thefts can be attributed to the ring, but it's my feeling that they are responsible for the majority of them."

Sprenger indicated that he did not feel the Nissen arrest was necessarily tied in with the ring.

According to Sprenger's investigation which has been conducted over the past three months, there are at least 18 people involved in the ring with the oldest one being 24 years old.

The majority of the stolen motorcycles are stripped of their parts and made into different bikes, Sprenger reported. The newly constructed bikes are then either sold or used by the individuals responsible for the thefts for their own entertainment.

"The information we have at this time, Sprenger continued, "is that some of the cycles are being shipped out of state for sale and some are being sold in the Farmington area at the present time."

According to the Wixom detective, the ring used a van and a pick-up truck in the thefts.

"It's my theory," said Sprenger, "that they'd stake out a motorcycle, watch where its owner would leave it and in what shape he'd leave it in and then they'd come in and rip it off."

"Some of the cycles were stolen from the parking lots of bars. They'd wait until they saw someone come up on a motorcycle and go into the bar. Then they'd run up in the van, toss the cycle in the rear, and be gone long before the owner of the cycle had time to drink a beer."

Novi Police Seek Help

Novi police have requested the assistance of citizens in apprehending a man who allegedly has exposed himself to young children on several recent occasions.

"We've received four different reports within the past month of a man exposing himself to children under 10 years of age," said Detective Sergeant Gordon Nelson of the Novi Police Department. "For all we know there may have been other incidents which have gone unreported."

Each of the four reported incidents have taken place in the vicinity of the old Walled Lake Amusement Park and the description of the exhibitionist on each occasion has been more or less the same.

Police are looking for a well-dressed, white male businessman, who is alleged to be driving a late model yellow Mercury with a black top. Police also feel there's a small citizen's band radio antenna mounted on the trunk lid.

So far, reports indicate the

Novi School Budget Tops $2 Million Mark

Without a single public comment, a record-high budget was approved by a 6-0 vote of the Novi Board of Education Tuesday night following a public hearing.

Recommended for adoption by Superintendent Gerald Kratz, the 1972-73 budget tops the $2 million mark for the first time in history.

Specifically, the budget provides for a total anticipated expenditure of $2,085,037—up $342,643 over the 1971-72 disbursement of $1,742,643.

Lone comment by the board concerned the $700 allocation for board of education salaries. Board President LaVerne DeWaard noted that this payment—$100 per trustee annually—is determined by voters.

This salary, he emphasized, represents but a token since board members' out-of-pocket annual expenditures for board-related business exceeds the allocation.

The budget, which calls for income of $2,085,037 (up $335,983), anticipates major increases in property tax, income and income from state aid. The former is up to $1,515,879 from $1,246,744 in 1971-72, while state aid is expected to climb from the 1971-72 figure of $424,372 to $506,148.

Decreases are anticipated in Title I federal funds ($40,991 to $16,000), in interest on investments ($14,263 to $12,000), in interest on delinquent taxes ($3,633 to $2,600), and in vocational education federal monies ($5,072 to $4,000).

Major expenditure increases are seen in instruction (includes salaries), from $1,314,360 to $1,530,793, central administration, from $95,989 to $121,050; operation of school facilities, from $168,481 to $203,580; school facilities maintenance, from $27,207 to $47,445; fixed charges, from $59,409 to $78,167, health services, from $938 to $3,000; capital outlay, from zero to $2,342; and for transportation (busing), from $76,259 to $91,660.

Here's what the elementary instruction outlay looks like:

—Salary for principals—$52,145.

—Salary for teachers—$166,989 at Novi Elementary where 14 teachers are employed; $196,615 at Orchard Hills with 16½ teachers;

$100,995 at Village Oaks with nine teachers; and $49,985 for 5½ itinerant teachers.

—Substitute teacher salary—$8,000.

—Librarian salaries—(one at Novi Elementary and one at Orchard Hills) $30,429.

—Secretarial salaries—$16,772

Other salaries—$9,000.

—Total elementary salaries—$636,930, up from $600,638

—Textbooks ($7.50 per

At Short Council Meeting

Air Annexation Suit

George Athas' final council meeting as city manager may not have been one of his most productive, but was without a doubt his shortest.

In fact, no one disputed his claim that it had been the shortest council meeting in the history of Novi.

By 8:50 p.m. Denis Berry's motion for adjournment had been seconded and passed unanimously and most of the councilmen were headed for either the second half of the Monday night football game or coffee at the Pepper Tree.

Novi's lengthy council meetings were at one time such a consistent problem that an automatic 11:30 p.m. curfew was adopted approximately two years ago. And while that rule is rarely violated, it still needs to be invoked almost weekly.

One of the reasons for the brevity of Monday's session was the cancellation of a public hearing to consider the assignment of zonings to seven parcels of township property approved for annexation to the city early in the year by the State Boundary Commission.

Reason for the cancellation was the fact that the whole annexation matter from the specifics of the Novi case to the basic constitutionality of the Boundary Commission is being challenged in court by Novi Township.

City Attorney David Fried advised the council to cancel the rezoning matter entirely until the court has rendered a decision. Novi Township officials have filed a petition charging the city with contempt of court for even scheduling the public hearing in the first place, Fried informed the council members.

The court refused to take action on the contempt petition, Fried reported, but said it would be kept and if any further information about any city attempts to exert influence over the township properties should come to

In Oakland County

Dropout Rate's Lowest

Novi High School has the lowest drop-out rate of all school districts in Oakland County, Superintendent Gerald Kratz disclosed this week.

Lauding the programs that encourage students to stay in school, Dr. Kratz noted that based on 1971-72 data, Novi's .38 percent drop-out rate is well under the Michigan average rate of 6-percent for grades nine through 12.

Among those programs cited by the superintendent as factors in the local high school's "holding power" are:

Increased special services such as diagnostician, school social worker, special education teachers, and speech therapist; easy student access to counselors via an "open door policy" availability of the Vocational Education Center and a growing co-op program; work with community agencies such as the Youth Assistance Program; a comprehensive high school curriculum; revised programs in vocational education; and increased extra curricular activities.

Concerning the latter, two

ROOKIE COPS—Two new Novi patrolmen were sworn in last week in special ceremonies at the Novi City Hall. The new officers are Charles Brown, 29, on the right, and Herbert Harbin, 23, on the left. Brown has been a member of the Novi police reserve for the past two years. Harbin, who was born and raised in Novi, has a degree in police administration from Oakland University and has been on the university's police force since 1970. The hiring of the officers was made possible by a $35,000 grant from the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning for the establishment of a traffic bureau. Brown and Harbin will replace officers on the regular force, who have been assigned to the new division. One additional officer has yet to be hired, bringing the Novi police force to 19 members.

LICENSED BIKER—Jaymie Schrot of 47900 West Seven Mile Road registers his mini-bike with Township Patrolman Robert Budd in accord with the recently enacted township ordinance. All mini-bikes owned and operated by township residents must be registered for a $1 fee and carry an assigned identification number. The bikes may be registered with the township police daily between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Weather Dampens Meet

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Although there were sunny skies this past Saturday, there were a lot of scorekeepers, judges and bystanders with cold feet and hands for the postponed Decathlon.

Unfortunately, the number of kids showing up for the Decathlon was down from last year due in part to the cancellation from the week previously. Many kids were out of town, some camping with the Boy Scouts and others were attending their first classes in the various recreation programs offered by the School District.

Nonetheless, the games got underway promptly at 9 a.m. with first, second, and third grade youngsters participating in three events. Wish we could print the names of all the class winners in all events but there just isn't that much room. Listed in all categories, all events and all grades are the first place winners for the girls and boys. The final Decathlon boy and girl winner will be announced by the Parks and Recreation Commission in November. Ribbons and medals will be awarded to the boys and girls placing in the various events at school.

So on to the winners... Geoffrey Bissell captured first in all three events scheduled for first grade boys. He racked up a 6'8" leap in the running broad jump, scored 56'7" in the baseball throw and won the 30 yard dash.

In the first grade girls events Nola Houtz took two out of three winning the running broad jump with 4'6" and the 30 yard dash. Laurie Stombaugh took first place honors in the baseball throw with a toss of 17'1".

Kelli Korthas took a first in the 35 yard dash for second grade girls and won the running broad jump with a leap of 4'4". Kathy Dickey scored a first in the baseball throw with 36'11".

Brian Berger caught two firsts in events for second grade boys winning the 35 yard dash and the baseball throw with 59'6". Tim Bozynski of the jumping Bozynski family took the running broad jump for second grade boys with 7'11".

Again the Bissell family with third grader Charles taking first place in the baseball throw with a whopping 11'4" and the running broad jump with 9'1". For the girls, Karla Hardmeyer threw the ball 50'10" for a first in that event while Debbie Aubrey took first place in the running broad jump. Bob McCormick took the 40 yard dash for the third grade boys. Leslie Bozynski scored three firsts in the fourth grade girls events winning the 50 yard dash, the baseball throw with 69'10" and the running broad jump with 8'8". Christina Jarzynka took the jump and touch with 6'8" and Kathy Tillman came whizzing around the bike course to take the gold medal.

For the fourth grade boys, Richard Bye kicked the pigskin 55'10" to take first in that event, while Ed Kent cornered the market in the bike race and the running broad jump with 3'6". Todd Green chalked up a first in the 50 yard dash and Ron Fekete threw the baseball 99'4" for his first place medal.

In the fifth grade girl events, Analene Cotter scored firsts in the bike race, the jump and touch with 7'1" and the 50 yard dash. Marsha Scott tied in the jump and touch with the same mark of 7'1". Kim Berger, who must keep in practice with younger brother Brian who won the same event, took the baseball throw with 71'11". Susan Kent won the running broad jump with 7'1".

Darrell Prestwood took firsts in the 50 yard dash, the running broad jump with 10'11" and the boys bike race. Other medals went to Mark McCormick with 70'2" in the football kick and to Bob Posey with a tremendous toss of 142'10" in the baseball throw. Joan Emmons scored 8'2½" in the running broad jump to win a first place medal and came through again for a first in the bike race. Cher-El Favett captured a first in the baseball throw with 85'2" and the jump and touch with 7'5". Karen Robinson cornered the medal in the 60 yard dash.

And back to the Posey family with Steve booting the football 70'7" for first place honors in that event plus the bike race and the baseball throw with a mighty heave of 190'7".

The Posey boys look like they're eyeing the Tigers in a few years.

Wes McAtee caught two first place medals winning the 60 yard dash and the running broad jump with 10'11½".

It was a good day of competition and really worth battling the chill winds to watch the kids in action. Congratulations to all the winners and to all the kids for coming out and doing their best.

Coming up this Saturday and Sunday, October 14 and 15 the Inter-Lake Masquers fall production of "Out of the Frying Pan." Under the direction of Don Craig, the curtain will raise on both performances at 8 p.m. in Western's Auditorium. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 14. Senior Citizens are admitted free by showing their card.

Attrition has been the devil for this group so new members are always sought. There are a multitude of jobs both in front of and behind the curtain that are crying for bodies, so if you are even remotely intrigued by the theatre, why not stop in and see the group in action.

Two "open houses" were scheduled Sunday and both received a good turnout. To introduce Wixomites to her new beauty shop, Carolyn Morehead had the doors open at "Carolyn's Country Set" on Maple Road. Done in blues and golds, the shop is cozy and informal. If you missed the open house, stop in anytime and say "hi".

The Police Open House was a huge success with people taking a great interest in the various displays and everyone certainly enjoying rides in the police cars. I rather enjoyed the radar demonstration.

Juvenile Crime Climbs in City

Juvenile crimes took a big jump in August with city police investigating 26 cases involving juveniles. During the same month in 1971, only five cases were reported.

The figures were recently released by the city police department's juvenile division.

Of the 26 cases investigated, 19 involved non-traffic related matters. Twenty-eight juveniles were involved in the 19 cases with ages of the youths ranging from six to 16.

Categories included runaways, three youths; armed robbery, four; breaking and entering, two; carrying concealed weapon, one; drunkenness, two; drug overdose, one; and larceny from a building, five.

Others included possession of stolen property, four juveniles; vandalism, four; and assault and battery, two.

Fourteen cases were handled within the local police department and 12 were referred to juvenile court.

Spreen Speaks In Wixom

It was an opportunity for two candidates for elective office to speak before a captive audience and to present their views relative to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

But only one contender showed up—and he was the Democrat in "Republican" territory.

Both Johannes F. Spreen, the Democrat and Leo F. Hazen, the Republican were issued invitations to speak before the general luncheon meeting of the Wixom Chamber of Commerce last week, according to Chamber spokesmen. Only Spreen showed. Hazen sent Detective Sergeant Charles Whitlock, as his substitute.

It was the fifth time, charged Spreen, that Hazen said he had a "previous engagement," and Spreen suggested Hazen was "ducking the issues".

In opening his remarks, Whitlock explained, "The boss (Hazen) told me to avoid anything controversial or political" and that he (Whitlock) didn't come prepared to answer any of Spreen's charges. Spreen called for new leadership, revitalization of the Sheriff's Department and the emergence from sleepy, rural day attitudes.

According to Spreen, the Sheriff's Department can serve the people of Oakland County best by preventing crime, by leadership and by professionalism. He pointed out that suburban crime is rising—up 13 percent over last year—while in Detroit only a minimal crime rate increase was shown. The criminal has mobility and the suburbs have green pastures for those intent on breaking the law, he said.

In answering Spreen, Whitlock said the problem was basically that of money. "Expansion can only come through the County Commissioners who hold the purse-strings and from, unfortunately, the taxpayer who does out the money."

When Lew Coy, Oakland County Commissioner, contended the only duties designated to the sheriff by state statute is that of the "jail keeper", Spreen replied, "It takes a complete team to combat crime and it is not enough to be a jail keeper and process server. 'I am a criminologist, not a penologist—the idea is to combat crime'."

Spreen said he would prefer to appoint an administrator to oversee the jail facilities and inmates.

Defending the current administration, Whitlock concluded that "there are causative factors in crime", pleading with the public to be patient and "bear with us".

GUARD'S A LAUGH—The near-sighted crow atop the garage of the William Bakes is a better laugh than a guard, says Bake who installed the antique crow there this past summer. The Bakes live at 841 West Main Street. An antique buff, Bake had the cupola built to house an antique bell he obtained from an Indiana farmhouse. He planned to erect a weathervane but while rummaging through his basement he came across the forgotten crow he'd picked up some 15 years ago in Baltimore, Maryland. Made of a wood substance, the crow was weatherproofed before it was given its perch. The two-foot high bird doesn't see far enough to foretell weather but he generates a storm of laughter from neighbors. Incidentally, the bell, which Bake believes once was housed in a school, has no inscription as to where it was cast.

Postal System To Speed Mail

A system to speed up special delivery of airmail and first class letters, flats and small parcels was added to the United States mail on October 1, local postal officials announced.

According to Postmasters John Steimel of Northville and Gordon Blackburn of Novi, the system was launched to improve special delivery service.

They noted that Postmaster General E. T. Klassen recently told a press conference in Washington, D. C., that "special delivery service for many years has been a disgrace."

At that time Klassen announced plans to install a nation-wide improvement program based on the use of a self-identifying plastic "speedy bag." The speedy bags will be used within the mail system to keep special delivery mail from losing its way among millions of other pieces of mail, they said.

Steimel and Blackburn noted that a six-month test program executed at 4,500 post offices in the West "has shown a reliability rate in the high 90's."

"All special delivery letters, flats and small parcels normally dispatched in mail pouches will be placed in speedy bags," they explained. "Upon arrival at the destination or next processing office, pouches containing speedy bags are opened first and the speeding bag is removed and immediately taken to the distribution area for priority processing."

They pointed out that the "public frequently contributes to slow movement of special delivery mail when special delivery mail is dropped into street collection boxes or mail deposit points without checking whether there will be an expeditious pickup afterwards."

It is rare when any of us settles for just one style of furniture in his home. Life is too varied and exciting to stick to just one style of life. Also, you are a more interesting person if you are able to bring comfort and unity of impression out of a mixture of many different types of furniture. Remember that color is always a good way to link pieces of furniture that might not otherwise go together. Wood finish of similar types is also helpful.

students were present at Tuesday's school board meeting to offer their thanks for the recent construction of tennis courts at the high school. The courts, they pointed out, are being used frequently by both students and adults.

And in another round of bouquet giving, Board President LaVerne DeWard directed the superintendent to write a letter of thanks to the student body for its support of school activities — namely the band, cheerleaders, and the football team.

A report by staff members of Village Oaks Elementary School on a pilot "Child Centered Activity Program" was presented to the board Tuesday.

The program's main thrust, it was explained, is activity centered, with emphasis on learning by doing.

"Many times youngsters forget what they hear and do not remember what they see, but very seldom do they misunderstand what they do or experience," board members were told. "It is this concept that has motivated the Village Oaks staff to move in the direction of providing children and youth experiences that involve greater activity and less listening and looking."

The program, presently involving children in grades two through five, provides classroom rearrangement for freer, more positive atmosphere; allows student choice to encourage decision-making; provides individualized instruction in basic studies; and encourages students to accept challenges and to budget their time.

Most of the materials now in use, board members learned, have been developed by the participating teachers.

Henderson, who supported the motion of Secretary Ray Warren to institute the policy, said he and other board members "may have been hasty" in their action. He suggested an all-encompassing recommendation by the superintendent might deem it wise to revise the policy.

Board Vice-President Bruce Simmons, who had voted against adoption of the policy, advised fellow members that the wiser alternative might be a "common sense" approach on this and other matters rather than adoption of formal policies.

Specifications have been prepared and bids on furniture for the new administration quarters, located in mobile units northeast of the high school, are expected to be presented to the board at its next meeting.

Cub Scouts Meet

An organizational meeting for parents of boys interested in forming a cub scout pack and boy scout pack will be held Wednesday, October 18 at the parish social hall of Our Lady of Victory Church.

The meeting will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of boys from the minimum age of 8 or third grade (cub scout) and from the minimum age of 11 or sixth grade (boy scout) are invited to attend.

Plans call for sponsorship of the pack and troop by OLV.

WORK STARTS—Blacktopping of Center Street, from Cady to Baseline, started this week with patching work. In addition to this project, Wayne County has other surfacing projects slated on Seven Mile and Five Mile roads.

Serious Crimes Increase Here

The number of serious crimes investigated by city police increased in August when compared with the same month in 1971.

According to a report recently issued by the city police department, a total of 578 calls were received in August, up from 511 calls received during the same month the previous year.

Through August, the department had answered 4,491 calls, up from 3,980 received through August in 1971.

Categories of crime which showed an increase included armed robbery, with two cases investigated in August — bringing the year to date total to four. During the first eight months of 1972, only one attempted robbery was reported and no armed robberies occurred.

Other categories showing an increase were burglaries, six compared with two; possession of stolen auto, one compared with none; vandalism, 15 compared with 12; larceny from homes, three compared with none; resisting arrest, one compared with none; rape, one compared with none; carrying concealed weapons, three compared with none, and disorderly drunk, six compared with three.

Areas showing a decrease included drunken driving, one compared with three, thefts from cars, two compared with four, breaking into cars, none compared with two; forgery, none compared with six; assault and battery, four compared with seven; and animal complaints, 17 compared with 40.

During each time period one car stolen outside the city was recovered in Northville, two thefts from buildings were reported, two arrests were made for disorderly conduct and seven bicycles were stolen.

In August, police also recovered eight stolen bicycles, treated eight sick or injured persons, served warrants on 10 persons wanted by other police agencies, arrested four persons on warrants held by the city police, investigated two suicide attempts, seven city ordinance violations and one suspicious vehicle and impounded five vehicles.

Two missing persons were reported, one was recovered, and two walkaways were recovered.

Softwood floors should be finished with oil, paint, or varnish. Before finishing with anything, however, the floor should be scraped or ground smooth with an electric sander. The smoother the floor, the longer the finish will last, and of course, the better it will look. Softwood, however, may shrink and cracks will then form between the boards. These cracks should be filled with a commercial filler.

Police Blotter: Thieves Hit Novi High

In Novi...

Four breaking and enterings—one of them at Novi High School—were reported to and handled by the Novi police last week.

Three engines and a quantity of tools were stolen from the automobile shop at Novi High School last weekend. Value of the stolen items was estimated at $150.

The theft was discovered Monday, October 9, when the teacher reported to the class room entry to the auto shop was apparently gained by punching out a section of plexi-glass in the garage door leading into the building.

A breaking and entering of a residence at 43635 Cot-tisford netted thieves goods valued in excess of $550.

The theft was reported by Mrs. Joanne Lawson on September 30. She had left the home at 12:30 p.m. to go shopping, she told investigating officers. When she returned at approximately 3 p.m., she discovered her home had been victimized by thieves.

Stolen were a rifle, a quantity of money, and a rifle scope

Another breaking and entering apparently occurred during the day at a residence at 39935 Grand River. On October 5 police were called to the Long residence with reports of a breaking and entering.

When they arrived they discovered that the interior of the home appeared to have been thoroughly searched, according to reports, as closets doors and drawers had been left open.

Stolen were a color portable television set and an Am-Fm radio. Value of the items was estimated at $340. Police feel the theft occurred between noon and 7 p.m. that day.

A fourth breaking and entering case occurred at the Thomas Fullington residence on Grand River.

A tape deck was stolen from a car parked in the garage and a clock-radio was taken from the residence itself, police were told. Police estimated the value of the items at $140.

Under investigation is a theft of steel panels from the Wilkins Auto Parts building on Grand River.

Owner of the company told police that 30 sheets of steel panels 17 feet long by four feet wide had been stacked alongside the building, but were discovered missing October 5.

Value of the stolen sheets was placed at approximately $150.

Arrested for drunken driving last week were Oscar Kersey, 37, of 40244 Jefferson in Novi; Ronald Loran Hicks, 42, of Berkely; and Robert Lester Stearns, 43, of Walled Lake. Further charges of driving with an expired driver's license were lodged against Stearns.

Corporal Frank Barabas and Police Chief Lee BeGole returned today (Thursday) from a two-day seminar at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant.

Purpose of the seminar was to bring together project directors and administrators from communities receiving federal grants for the establishment of traffic divisions. The grants were issued by Michigan's office of Highway Safety Planning.

Patrolman Jack Grubb and Ralph Fluhart have recently been issued certificates from the Michigan Heart Association which indicate they are qualified to teach Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation techniques.

In addition to having taken numerous hours of class room instruction, Grubb and Fluhart were required to teach courses in proper Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation techniques to Novi police and fire departments and a group of 35 police reserve officers from departments in Oakland County under the supervision of officials of the Michigan Heart Association before their certificates were granted.

Grubb last week became the seventh member of the Novi Police force to become a certified breathalyzer operator. To become a licensed operator Grubb attended a 48 hour instructional program at Michigan State University last week.

The courses were taught by the Michigan State Police and the Michigan Department of Public Health marks were found at the scene.

A horse trailer valued at $1,200 was reported stolen Monday from the St. Lawrence barn area. The trailer, which did not have any license plates, is two shades of brown.

Vandals reportedly cut an awning at Little People's Shop, 103 East Main Street. The damage was discovered Monday and cost of replacement is $200.

FIRE CALLS

NEA Eyes Full Program

Following the ratification this week of the master teaching agreement, Chief Negotiator Cy Nichols said the "teachers will continue to contact the public, making them aware of the education program needs."

Nichols commented that "much of the program cut five years ago still has not been reinstated and we haven't expanded the program."

He stated the teachers will be attempting to make the volers aware that the district is growing fast and can't afford to be stagnant.

"We will be working with the school board to get programs back in Northville and to get bonds for construction of additional buildings approved."

Services Held for Mr. Ebert

Dempsey B. Ebert, 56, who operated a funeral service in Northville for the past 16 years, died Monday, October 8 at Sinai Hospital in Detroit.

Mr. Ebert, who lived at 404 West Main Street where he operated his business, was one of the community's most active members of the Northville Chamber of Commerce.

Having served in numerous roles with the Chamber, he was a past president of that organization and of the Northville Rotary Club.

Mr. Ebert purchased the funeral business of the Philips-Bahnmler company in 1956. The firm had been established since 1907 by Nelson Schrader, Sr., father of the owner of the local furniture store.

Prior to assuming the business in Northville, Mr. Ebert and his father operated a funeral service in St. Johns for some 15 years. He received his mortuary license in 1936.

Besides his memberships in the Chamber and Rotary, Mr. Ebert was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, the Knight Templar, Detroit Moslem Shrine, Eastern Star, the Michigan Funeral Directors Association, and the National Funeral Directors Association.

Born January 12, 1916, in Davenport, Iowa, he was the son of Clarence D. and Susan (Brookway) Ebert.

His father, who lives in St. Johns, and his wife, Bernetta, survive him as do a daughter, Mrs. Arthur (Susan) Silletti of Livonia, a brother, Robert Ebert of St. Johns, and two grandchildren.

Funeral service was conducted Wednesday, October 11 at 11 a.m. from the Schrader Funeral Home of Plymouth, with the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, pastor of the Northville Presbyterian Church, officiating.

In Uniform

SAN ANTONIO—Airman Thomas A. Gullekson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Gullekson of 24488 Old Orchard, Novi, has been assigned to Loring AFB, Maine, after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Texas, he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command for further training and duty in the administrative field.

SUBIC BAY, PHILIPPINES—Navy Airman Jerry W. Chilcote, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Johnstone of 2155 Hopkins Drive, Wixom, participated in the massive flood relief operation "Sakioio" credited with saving countless lives through thousands of rescues, deliveries of food, medicines and medical assistance missions in the worst Philippine natural disaster in more than 25 years.

His unit at the Subic Bay Naval Base provided relief assistance to the cities and barrios surrounding the base and 35 outlying towns.

She's Off to Dallas

Mrs. Eino Sorvari of Wixom will be among the 16 delegates from Southern Oakland Girl Scouts attending the National Council Meeting of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. in Dallas, Texas October 22 to 25.

Mrs. Sorvari is employed by Southern Oakland Girl Scouts as a field director.

At the council meeting, "Today's Vision - Tomorrow's World", will be introduced as the banner line for the next triennium.

"In this, the 60th year of Girl Scouting in the United States, the need for facing the questions and issues before the National Council and for guiding our movement through the currents of change and uncertainty in the world gives added weight to the deliberations we will be engaging in," said National President, Mrs. Douglas MacNeil.

Two of most interesting issues before the convention will concern the Girl Scout Promise and Laws and Senior Scouts.

At the 1969 national council meeting, the delegates discussed and voted for an updating of the Girl Scout promise and laws. A nationwide scientific sampling of Junior, Cadette, and Senior troop opinion of 80,000 girls gave reactions to a tentative rewording of the promise and laws.

These girl reactions were incorporated in the final form to be voted on at the meeting. Though the wording is changed, the girls surveyed wanted the basic concepts to remain the same.

In another proposal, the delegates' age limit is lowered to include members who are 14 years of age or over. Currently, delegates must be adults. This change would support one of the GS-USA goals for the current triennium; i.e. "increase youth member participation in planning and decision-making".

Southern Oakland Girl Scouts have had senior scouts serving on council committees for several years.

Two Detroit area women are nominees for the Board of Directors of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.: Mrs. Richard E. Cross and Miss Olga M. Madar.

Northville Hospital Taps Nair

Dr. K.C. Nair, staff psychiatrist at Northville State Hospital since 1967, except for a year and a half furlough for additional training at the University of Toronto, was recently named as the hospital's director of psychiatric education and resident training.

In making the appointment, Richard D. Budd, medical superintendent, commented: "Most important areas of a modern psychiatric hospital's program and closely related to its treatment efforts are various educational and training responsibilities, with Dr. Nair as our new director we look forward to retaining our current high standards."

In his new position, Dr. Nair will be responsible not only for the ongoing three-year psychiatric residency training for fifteen to twenty doctors, but he will participate in educational programs of other disciplines, such as psychology, social work, nursing and occupational therapy throughout the hospital. Dr. Nair, a native of Myslapra, India, earned his medical degree in 1961 from the University of Kerala there, followed by internships both in India and Chicago.

Business Briefs

CODLIVER oil, "best" bourbon, and opium were some of the ingredients in a 100-year-old prescription book that will go on display this weekend at Northville Drug as part of its centennial celebration.

In addition to the 100-year-old book the drug store, located at 134 East Main Street, will display in its windows a number of antiques for the remainder of the month.

Al Potts, owner of the store since spring of this year, reported the prescription book is a fascinating assembly of prescriptions written by local physicians then practicing in Northville.

The book is under the name "Bogart & Stevens." "I don't know anything about these gentlemen except that they started our business 100 years ago. Where it was located at the time I don't know," admitted Potts.

But a check of The Record editions of 1872 uncovered this news item:

"Mr. T. H. Bogart of Novi and Mr. Charles Stevens, for sometime a respectable resident of this village of Kingsbury and Jackson and Horton, have formed a co-partnership for the sale of drugs, medicines, paints, oils, dye stuffs, etc. They intend carrying on business in the east part of the Perrin block."

The advertisement in the 1872 Record edition noted, too, that the new firm would carry a complete line of "pure wines and liquors for medicinal purposes."

CLOSING of Schrader's Plymouth furniture store was expected to be completed this week.

Enlargement of the firm's Northville store and consolidation of sales facilitated the closing, N. C. Schrader explained.

One of the oldest stores in Northville, Schrader's has operated the Plymouth branch for the past 12 years. The local store was launched in 1907.

According to Schrader, all personnel at Plymouth will be moved to Northville.

DUFFERS or pros can swing their clubs year-round now with the opening this past week of the indoor driving range at Brooklane Golf Course, corner of Sheldon and Six Mile roads.

The range offers seven stalls and a 65-foot wide nylon net. It is heated, air-conditioned, well lighted and will be open year-round from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Eventually, an indoor sandtrap will be added. Lessons are available by appointment for individuals or groups using the range.

Ben Northrop also plans soon to install a new more cozier decor in the bar area.

Low Bidder Gets Job

Salem to Carpet Hall

Carpeting the township office headed a light agenda at last week Tuesday's regular Salem Township board meeting.

Carpet Center, lowest of four bidders at $726 (approximately), was awarded the job of carpeting the office building. Storm windows, purchased from a Plymouth firm that had submitted the lower of two bids received, are now in place.

One or two board members were expected to attend last night's (Wednesday) Michigan Township Association meeting. Slated for Weber's at $6.50 per delegate, the dinner session was to have attracted at least Clerk Mrs. Laura Verran and possibly Treasurer Russell Knight as well.

County Commissioner Floyd Taylor gave an appraisal of three referendum votes appearing on the November ballot in Washtenaw County. He was not in favor of any of them. Said Taylor, "Both Commissioner Byrd and I are opposed to asking county millage now (when the statewide proposal on property tax reform is appearing at the same time) and there has been some indication that federal funds will be made available. I don't think the public will buy the proposals and I don't think they should."

The three referendums seeks .6 mill for 15 years ($8 million) to build a new correction facility; .15 mill for 15 years ($1.9 million) for a county sub-office in Ypsilanti and .06 mill for five years ($600,000) to renovate the county's medical care facility.

Ed Wendover, candidate for trustee, asked if the township has any ordinance on firearms. He would like to see hunters and other gun users (target practice, for example) receive written permission from property owners prior to firing their guns in the township.

Supervisor Phil Brandon pointed out that "Salem is still an 'open' township. We have more space for hunting than do most townships and we would not want to ban hunting entirely. To seek to restrict hunters more than they are under Michigan law, might mean banning them entirely."

The board granted the fire department the use of the town hall on Thursday, November 2. Chief William Hirth invited board members to join the firemen who are hosting the Tri-County Mutual Aid meeting on that date.

Date of the November meeting has been set as Wednesday, November 8 due to the election the previous (regular meeting) day.

Inspector Fred Verran praised two Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies for their efforts in getting the carcass of a dead horse removed recently.

Planners Table Plan for Store

Seeligson asked for and was granted time to revise the plans still more.

Aside from the parking requirement, planners have voiced concern for traffic problems that might be generated by the store.

In other business, planners voted to lift its requirement that a fence be built around a trash container at the Northville Park apartments near the corner of Eight Mile and Novi roads. Lone dissenting vote was cast by Bert DeRusha.

Planners learned that no additional communication has been received from the Chapper Organization of Detroit, which earlier had requested rezoning of nearly 40 acres of land east of Northville Estates subdivision.

The developing firm had asked that the property be rezoned from a single family classification to a multiple-dwelling classification.

General consensus of the commission at the time was that members hoped fewer multiple dwellings be considered, with perhaps one-third of the property being used for multiples and two-thirds for single homes.

Planners declined to act on the request pending submission of more detailed plans. Those plans have not yet been received.

Growth policies of the Oakland County Planning Commission, which earlier had not been endorsed by local planners, were approved last week. One of those involved provision for Oakland County airports.

In moving to approve this policy, Commissioner Ray Jackson advised the Oakland Commission to update its airport data.

All of the policies are now before the city council for its stamp of approval.

In discussion with a Northville citizen who voiced concern with Planning Consultant Ronald Nino's proposed master plan revision, planners emphasized that this proposal and the proposal of the master plan revision committee are suggestions only.

Specifically, the consultant's proposal for multiples and professional offices north of Randolph, they noted, are quite different from the proposal of the master plan revision committee, which emphasizes preservation of existing homes.

The commission, it was explained, will give both proposals a critical examination before the final decision is made at the commission and council levels.

Wixom Council To Fill Vacancy

The Wixom City Council plans to appoint a sixth member at its next regular meeting, it has been announced by Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Parvu. Council will accept names for consideration, she said, to fill the vacancy created by the September 11 resignation of Elwood Grubb.

The appointee will serve on the council until the next regular city election which will be in November, 1973. At that time, a council member will be elected to serve for the remaining two years of Grubb's term.

According to City Clerk, June Buck, Wixom citizens interested in being considered for the council seat should send a letter to the clerk's office stating qualifications by October 20, as the appointment will be made October 24.

An announcement was made Tuesday night by City Attorney Gene Schnelz that the Ford Motor Company has again filed suit against the city of Wixom protesting their billing for taxes from the city.

Schnelz said the matter is being held up because the State Tax Commission, which reviews these matters, "is swamped."

The original lawsuit filed against the city by Ford came in 1971. The company charged that it had been wrongfully assessed for property taxes in excess.

Schnelz said Ford "had to file the lawsuit to protect their own rights."

In other action, Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Parvu, proclaimed the evening of October 31, 1972 to be "Trick or Treat" evening in the City of Wixom.

Buys Water Lines

Purchase of six and one-half miles of water mains from the City of Plymouth at a cost of $63,000 was authorized Tuesday night by Northville township trustees.

The mains, which run through the township, will need repair in many places, township engineer William Mosher explained, but will be cheaper in the long run than building new mains.

The water lines run along Five Mile to Beck roads through Edenderry and Shadbrook subdivisions to Sheldon and Northville roads.

The engineer commented the extent of repair work needed cannot be determined until tests are made on the lines.

Purchase of the mains is

Board Gives OK To Annuity Plan

In Novi

A revised annuity program policy was approved by a split vote of the Novi Board of Education Tuesday night.

The policy—adopted by a 4-2 vote, with Trustees Robert Wilkins and William Moak—authorizes the administration to establish procedures for obtaining and regulating annuity programs for qualified school district employees.

(Annuities are tax deferring investments, permitted under state law for public employees. They are most frequently used by teachers, whose husbands or wives are wage earners, to defer taxing of part of their own incomes until a later date.)

Wilkins, who emphasized he does not oppose annuities or an annuity policy, urged fellow members to delay action until after thorough board review of the existing policy and the revised policy recommended by the administration.

He objected to a recommended policy being placed on the table on the same night action was sought. Trustee Moak concurred.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz and his assistant, Dr. William Barr, explained that the chief difference between the old policy and the new is that the latter permits contracting with more than two carriers while the former limited it to two firms.

The new policy, Trustee Gilbert Henderson pointed out, does not establish specific procedures but rather authorizes the superintendent "to adopt a property method of procedure to implement the policy."

Aside from the fact that he disliked taking action prior to study, Wilkins said he wanted to avoid the possibility that "tax shelter" annuities might become a bargaining issue in future contract negotiations.

In another split vote, Vice-President Bruce Simmons voted against a personnel proposal because it included provision for "retroactive pay" for one of the teachers involved.

Specifically, he opposed paying Christine Hayward a higher rate of pay for past service—although he did not oppose the higher salary, $8,320, for future services.

Trustee Henderson, who introduced the retroactive amendment, noted that at the time the teacher had been hired at a $27.50 per day salary it was not known that she would be retained on a permanent basis.

In other personnel matters, Sarah Sass, who earlier had been suspended with pay, was assigned to teach grades 4 and 5 at Village Oaks; and the hourly rate of pay for Betty Walls, library technician at Village Oaks, was increased from $2.50 to $2.60.

Grade System Revised

A revised grade reporting system designed to develop closer communication with parents was reviewed this week by Novi High School principal Hal J. Seymour.

Report cards are to be issued November 8, January 31, April 4, and June 14 this school year.

In addition, interim reports will be issued to parents of students working below a satisfactory level each marking period.

Interim reports are scheduled for October 11, December 16, March 7 and May 9. Interim reports are aimed at developing closer communication with parents and students regarding academic deficiencies, he explained.

Semester exams will complete each semester's class work. They will comprise 1-5 of the semester grade. Semester exams formerly comprised 1/4 of the semester grade.

The principal stated that an "Open House" is again planned tentatively for Thursday, November 9. Plans call for an "Open House" to be held each semester. "The Open House" held last spring met with a very good response and we hope to have as many parents as possible visit their teenagers' teacher and school," Seymour said.

Honor roll lists will be compiled and published each marking period.

The major change in the reporting system involves issuing grades each nine weeks rather than each six weeks.

"The use of the nine week grading period should result in improved data for grade evaluation while the use of interim reports is expected to provide increased help to students experiencing academic difficulty. The new grading system follows a trend in larger school districts and is a preliminary step to use of data processing grading services of the Oakland Intermediate School District next year."

OUT OF 150,000 WORKERS FOR THE UF, ONLY 78 ARE ON THE PAYROLL.

This is one statistic that works heavily in your favor. It means that 95 cents out of every dollar you give to the United Foundation goes directly to where it will do the most good—to the 164 agencies that benefit from the most successful fund-raising drive in the world.

Translated even further it means that 1 out of 3 people in the Wayne-Oakland-Macomb community will benefit directly, this year, through the services of those agencies.

This makes the UF one of the most effective, most efficiently run fund-raising services in the world. Ever.

It wasn't always so. Before there was a UF, there was chaos. Dozens of different charitable agencies constantly, out of desperate need, asking you for your support. And spending as much as 30 to 60 cents out of every dollar you gave, just getting it. The UF today spends only 5 cents of every dollar for fund-raising and administration. So why not make your money count for all it's worth. Give generously.

Steffi Bach Wins Football Contest

It seldom happens but Steffi Bach, 20336 Woodhill, won first place in last week's football contest by submitting a perfect entry.

She correctly guessed the winners of all 16 games. And although her guess at the Miami-New York Jets score wasn't nearly as close as some, she did pick Miami to win.

Steffi lives at 20336 Woodhill.

The second and third place winners each missed one game, but John Bunn of South Lyon came out on top by missing the Miami-New York score by just three points. He picked Miami to win 24-17, while third-place winner Tom Clemens of 16610 Old Bedford Road picked Miami to win by a 27-21 score. (Miami won 27-17).

Other contestants who finished out of the money with a single mistake were Todd Eis, 18243 Arselot; Christine Regentik, 46144 Neeson; Jon Sewell, 18320 Laraugh; and H. W. White of Plymouth.

Fifteen contestants submitted entries with just two mistakes. They were:

Toughest game for contestants was San Diego's 23-20 triumph over Baltimore.

Other obstacles included the Lions' 26-23 win over Atlanta, Indiana's 10-2 victory over Syracuse, and Southern California's 30-21 win over Stanford.

Help's on Way For Mustangs

If Chuck Shonta and his cohorts on the Northville varsity football coaching staff can just hold the fort a little longer, help is on the way.

The junior varsity Mustangs recorded their third victory in four outings last Thursday, as they soundly defeated defending Western Six Conference junior varsity champion Waterford Mott 28-12.

The Mustangs moved to a 22-0 lead before the Corsairs managed to push across a TD in the waning minutes of the second quarter to make the half time score 22-6.

Bob Bloomhuff tallied the first Northville TD on a three-yard run and quarterback Jerry Fulcher flipped a two-point conversion pass to Dean Mitchell to give the Mustangs a quick 8-0 lead.

Fulcher, who moved into the starting signal caller's role when Eric Lampella was injured, scored the second Northville touchdown on a four yard keeper play and Bill White, a linebacker, intercepted a lateral and rambled 20 yards for the third Northville TD. Tex Trumbull hauled in a Fulcher flip for another two point conversion after White's touchdown.

Each team scored a touchdown in the second half as the Mustangs maintained their 16 point lead to take a 28-12 victory. Northville's six-pointer came on another Fulcher to Trumbull aerial. The play covered 25 yards. Mott scored in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter.

The victory over Mott followed on the heels of a 54-0 rout of the Clarenceville Jayvees two weeks ago. In that game Doug Crisan and Larry Pink, a pair of sophomores, each scored three touchdowns to lead the awesome Northville running game.

Crisan and Pink were called up to the varsity, leaving the Jayvees without their two starting running backs, but Coach Bob Simpson's talent-deep squad showed little signs of the loss as they easily defeated Mott.

Little League Unit Posts Fifth Win

Northville's varsity Little League football team notched its fifth victory in as many games and the junior varsity Northville team ran its winning streak to two last week, as both teams turned back the Garden City Panthers.

Only the Colt freshmen failed to win, yielding a pair of second quarter touchdowns to lose 12-6.

The varsity Colts ripped off touchdowns on a 93 yard run and a 29 yard pass play to pile up a quick 16-0 lead before the Garden City varsity finally pushed across a second quarter TD to take a 16-8 lead into the locker room at the half.

The Colts added a third touchdown on a 16 yard run in the third quarter and held the

Girl Swimmers Square Record

Northville's girls fared less well in their first meet of the year when they were soundly thrashed by Ann Arbor Pioneer 93-30. The Ann Arbor girls won every event in the meet.

The emphasis on the tennis team is on the future, as there is only one senior on the 14-member team and the top three players are either freshmen or sophomores.

So far only Jamie Boshoven, the top-rated Northville player has had any success on the courts. Playing in the number one bracket, Jamie has won two of three matches, turning back opponents from Livonia Churchill and Walled Lake Western before losing to Ann Arbor Pioneer's Chris Grey.

Jamie's wins were the only ones recorded by Coach Pat Bubel's netters, however, as they lost 4-1 to Churchill and Western and 5-0 to Pioneer.

Other girls on the tennis team are Martha Whiteside (second singles), Sara Kunst (third singles), Carol Axtell and Carol Weber (first doubles) and Rene Wheaton and Barb Lie (second doubles).

Northville High School's girls' swimming team evened their season's record at 1-1 last week with a convincing victory over Livonia Churchill. The girls' tennis team has been somewhat less successful, however, and dropped all three of their matches.

The swimming team's victory over Churchill was a lop-sided 84-38 affair with the Northville winning 11 of the 13 events. Leading the Mustang swimmers were Cindy Bretz and Pat Sonk, each of whom won two events.

Other winners in the meet were Bonnie Angell (50 yard back stroke), Suzie Evans (50 yard freestyle), Kim Bingley (diving), Donna Guard (50 yard butterfly), and Lisa Vaningen (100 yard freestyle).

Scott Schaal Posts Big Win

Scott Schaal, a third grader at Northville's Amerman School, has qualified for district competition in Ford's Punt, Pass, and Kick contest by winning the zone competition in Plymouth Saturday.

Scott qualified for the zone competition by winning the Northville PP&K contest two weeks ago. In Plymouth he again came out on top, besting other eight year old winners from nine different suburbs.

Next move for Scott will be the district competition in Livonia Saturday. Punt, Pass and Kick is a national contest sponsored by the Ford Motor Company which annually culminates in the crowning of a national champion in each age bracket (8-13) at the Super Bowl game.

Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schaal of 319 Sherrie Lane.

Dear Mr. Hurd,
I would like to commend you for considering and using wildlife management practices in conjunction with the construction of the gas pipeline from Armada to Marysville. All too often the environment and other animals living in this environment are given little or no consideration. In addition, instead of burning the trees and causing air pollution, you have utilized them for small game habitat.
I was happy to be of some assistance in checking the pipeline with you and see first hand the good job your construction crew has done in making brush piles from the trees and stumps. Many species of animals will use the piles including rabbits, woodchucks, grouse, fox and others. In addition, I was interested in discussing the seeding and fertilizing of the cleared pipeline area which should provide some good cover and food for the above-mentioned species.
If I can be of further assistance, please contact me.

We have long been dedicated to the conservation of our natural resources and the achievement of a wholesome environment. Our forest management program is designed for multiple use which includes recreation, forest regeneration and wildlife habitat improvement. Consumers Power's reforestation and timber management program is scientifically planned to maintain a sustained forest cover for soil stabilization and water conservation.

Speaking for Myself

License Cats?

DEE MALAN

YES . . .

What is the difference between a cat and dog? A silly question on the surface, but one that comes right home to the bone of this matter.

Throughout the state of Michigan owners must register their dogs. One of the obvious reasons, and perhaps the initial one when dog licensing requirements were adopted, was to furnish a means of tracking down dogs to check for rabies.

Another reason that has cropped up with concurrently with the people squeeze is the burgeoning dog population. There are dogs, and there are more dogs. Licensing is one means of keeping a check on them.

Now we come to cats—and really what is the difference? A cat, although cleaner, still may be a rabies carrier, if my knowledge of communicable diseases is correct. Cats also are exploding—in number. They can be a nuisance.

Let's face it, cats are no better than dogs. Let's treat them as equals.

Rolly Peterson
Sometime Cat Hater

NO . . .

The innocent cat owners must pay for the crimes of the guilty. Who are the innocent cat owners? The ones who care enough to see that their cats have the shots necessary to protect their health and that of anyone who should come in contact with them. The people who sometimes pay expensive vet bills, often exceeding some personal medical bills, to keep their cats healthy, including control of reproduction.

Who are the guilty cat owners? The ones who do not care enough to do something on their own to see that their cats are well cared for. The ones who make no attempt to control their cats' birth rate. Parents who allow a child to begin caring for a cat, then discarding it when the novelty wears off.

In most cases people who contribute to license fees, such as hunters and fishermen, receive something back for their money. Hopefully the city council, with this new source of revenue, will create a constructive program that will in some way benefit the cat owner.

Dee Malan
South Lyon Cat Lover

The people were nearly as thick as the leaves last weekend in beautiful northern Michigan.

Motels were filled Saturday night in the Petoskey-Harbor Springs area. And if you didn't bother to make reservations, you waited an hour for dinner.

What's the big attraction?

The Chinook salmon?

Partly, perhaps. They're running upstream out of Little Traverse Bay by the thousands. It's a sight I'd never seen before. Huge, 20-30 pound salmon battering themselves against rocks, dams and rushing water. Fishermen lining the stream with hooks heavily baited to make it all legal, but catching the king salmon beauties mostly by the luck of a snag into their open-mouths.

It didn't strike me as "fishing" in a sporting sense. And I found myself hoping the young boys with nets were the most successful.

They'd catch a salmon, carry it above the dam, and release it.

Anyway, Mother Nature is the October attraction in northern Michigan. And as advertised, she's a breath-taking sight.

The reds, golds, oranges, yellows and browns mixed with the green pines and brightened by the sun create a sight impossible to consume. It's like two banana splits.

So beauty-lovers have made

October another big tourist month for the north country. A restaurant owner told me that November is very quiet. Then, depending upon the snow, the skiers take over.

In a bit of clever planning I conned my wife into playing 18-holes of golf at Boyne Highlands by convincing her the colors were beautiful. So we toured the layout with camera and clubs.

Personally, their $10 greens fees and $10 for carts ($30 for a twosome) seems high to me. But I suppose their season is short. The course is excellent, however—for golf and sightseeing.

On our way up we stopped at Cadillac, where I held one of my first newspapering jobs at the Evening News.

Cadillac is one of my favorite cities. Our son was born there some 23 years ago and it was a treat to recall old times with old friends.

The newspaper is celebrating its one-hundredth birthday and a special edition was published last week marking the event. My old boss, T. O. Huckle, is no longer living. And his son, Earl, has recently turned the reins over to his son, Tom. So a third generation takes over.

Gone are some of my old cronies, like Beans Paulsen and Evelyn Benson. Beans is dead; Evelyn retired the day before we arrived. She'd been a regular fixture at the Evening News since 1924.

A tall, statuesque Swede, Evelyn would tell me that the secret to good health (she never caught a cold) was to drink "lots of water" I've always followed her advice.

Today the Evening News is one of the most modern-equipped, small-town dailies in the state. It's well-staffed and managed and publishes a sharp looking newspaper.

Back in 1949 the Evening News staff was composed of two people in the business office, three on the news side, two advertising salesmen and T. O. and Earl. A half-dozen worked in the shop to put the pages together, run the press, stuff and address the newspapers.

I'd double as a circulation manager, which means I helped count out papers for the newsboys and delivered their routes when one of them didn't show up.

It would appear that I may be working myself back to that position.

We found Earl, my ex-boss, tucked away upstairs in a little-used office, addressing special labels for the centennial edition.

"What a coincidence", he remarked, "I just finished addressing your label".

So old publishers never die; they switch from writing editorials to addresses.

Brief as it was, returning to Cadillac and visiting Petoskey and Harbor Springs was both relaxing and pleasant.

It's only three or four hours away by expressway. There's still lots of color left. Try it. You'll like it.

'They Deserve Best'

To the Editor:

I was quite dismayed to read the opinions by Trustee Deibert in a recent edition of your paper pertaining to special education. I myself am not a resident of Northville. This article was brought to my attention by a concerned mother whose son is retarded and is a resident of Northville.

I ask you, Mr. Deibert, what makes you so ill that you are opposed to helping a child obtain the best education that he so rightly deserves? What do you see as an advantage to the continuation of bussing Northville's special education students to other districts?

Every county, every city should provide educational and social activities in which the handicapped may participate. This includes children found in the 'normal' classroom who have perceptual, psychological, and physical limitations. Should a child of your own fall into a special category, I am sure you would want the best of educational and social provisions for him.

There are far few places where a severely retarded, a blind, a cripple, or a child with another handicap can turn to get educational and

Four years of hard work is nearing a payoff for Senator Carl Pursell as state representatives take up consideration of his county reorganizational bill.

The bill has already been passed by the Senate, and currently it is resting in the Towns and Counties Committee of Representative Alex Pilch. Pursell is optimistic that it will receive top priority this fall.

But don't count on it

County reorganization is a hot potato and legislators may try to duck the issue in this election year. I hope not because it's a matter of major importance deserving immediate attention.

"It (the bill) is not everything that I wanted but it is a step toward better management for those counties that are interested in improving their outmoded systems," Pursell says.

The legislation sponsored by the Plymouth Senator serving this area is permissive in nature...that is it permits counties to change their organizational structures. It does not require change.

"I'm well aware that some counties, especially those with relatively sparse population, may be able to function effectively with less defined lines of responsibility and accountability," notes Pursell. "But these, I believe, would be special cases dependent more on the political chemistry and cooperation of the people involved, rather than the governing structure in which they operate."

Basically, the bill provides two variations of optional county government built around the concept of a county executive.

One alternative would allow for an appointed county manager, and the other specifies an elected executive. In either case the provision must be approved by the electorate before implementation.

Like Pursell, I'm convinced that a single administrator with ultimate authority over county programs is the only truly efficient model.

While such a system does not guarantee effective, responsive government, a strong administrator nevertheless provides the best climate for success by concerned and qualified officials, emphasizes Pursell.

Senate Bill 1036 has gone through a transformation process in its nearly two years in the legislature. But while the specifics have changed and the scope has narrowed, the concept of strengthening county government has been defended and preserved, he insists.

Under the bill, the alternatives can be presented to the electorate through action of the existing county government, or through citizen action. If a county board declines to place either of the alternatives on the ballot, petition signatures equaling 10 percent of the last county vote for governor can bring the matter up for a vote.

In either case, voters must be given a choice of one of the alternatives, with a negative vote maintaining the existing governmental form. But the same form of county executive structure cannot be put before the voters more than once in a two-year period.

"The current proliferation of boards, commissions and authorities would be limited and specified by law," explains Pursell. The bill provides for the following elected officials: county commission, prosecuting attorney, clerk, register of deeds, treasurer, sheriff, drain commissioner and auditor. It sets forth the various departments which would operate under supervision of the executive.

Generally, the relationship between the county board of commissions and the county executive or manager would be similar to that of the legislature and the governor at the state level, he explains.

Red Cross Appreciates Help

To the Editor:

We would like to take the opportunity during National Newspaper Week, October 8-14, to personally thank you and your staff for the part you have played in furthering the work of the Red Cross in metropolitan Detroit.

If it were not for the help of the press, our task of recruiting volunteers, blood donors and students for safety and health courses would be much more difficult.

Throughout its history, the Red Cross has had the benefit of high-level aid from newspapermen and women. Currently, Arthur O. Sulzberger, president and publisher of The New York Times, and James S. Copley, La Jolla, Calif., chairman of The Copley Press, are national vice chairmen for publishing of the Red Cross campaigns for members and funds. Joe M. Dealey, Dallas, Tex., president of The Dallas News, is a member of the Red Cross Board of Governors and chairman of the Board's Committee on Public Relations and Personnel.

During the 20th Century the influence of newspapermen in the organization has been marked. Through their dissemination of safety information provided by the Red Cross and of appeals for blood donations, newspapers have earned much of the credit for the saving of lives.

Cordially,
Robert G. Wick

Community Thanked

To the Editor:

On behalf of the parents of Northville High School Band members many thanks to the entire Northville community for its support in making Band Camp a reality. The hundred or so young people who spent a week at the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp benefitted greatly from their experience. The well-executed marching and music demonstrated at football games attests to the value of the week's practice.

Many wonderful generous people made it all possible and our young people are enormously grateful to all of them. In turn the community can be extremely proud and grateful to these young people for their fine efforts. It is not possible to thank the many individuals involved but certainly, our Band Director, Bob Williams, must be singled out for his extra ordinarily effective development of a Northville High School Marching Band which is a distinct credit to us all.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. E.O. Weber
Northville Band Boosters

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the Northville Jaycees for all of their help in getting the citizens of Northville & Northville township out to register.

I feel many more people could have been registered if the township clerk would have set up temporary stations in the new housing developments such as Highland Lakes and Kings Mill. Assistant clerks could have been assigned to these areas to make it more convenient for the vast number of new residents.

How much longer must we put up with the whims of our present clerk?

Sincerely,
Michael P. Price

'Preserve Lakes In Township'

To the Editor:

One of the reasons why we love Northville Township is because of the beauty of the area. However, while walking in one section of the township I have personally witnessed ecological destruction created by the pollution of one of our lakes. One mother was determined to circulate a petition to prevent the eating of fish caught from the lake.

Township officials should measure the purity of the water to determine the safety of fishing in this area. We must protect the beauty of the township and prevent the ecological destruction that has occurred in other areas.

social activities. The majority of facilities commonly found exist at state or private institutions. These institutions as well as many parents and employees are fighting to let our residents return home, to return to society. But how can they return if there aren't facilities for them?

I hope that someday soon your eyes will open to the needs of every student in the school and in the society itself. And someday I'd like to read that you Mr. Diebert have said that it makes you ill to see the lack of, instead of the want for, special provisions for our handicapped.

Top of the Deck

For example: the executive would formulate the annual county budget and submit it to the board of commissioners for debate, revision and final approval. He would be responsible for constructing recommendations to the board, while the board would make specific policy decisions and enact the actual ordinances proposed by the executive.

The executive could veto board decision, but the board could override his veto with a two-thirds vote.

If the county manager form is adopted, the individual would be appointed by the board (under regulations spelled out in the bill), and would serve at the board's pleasure.

However, if the elected executive alternative is adopted, he would serve for a four-year term and be elected in the same year as the governor.

In addition, the bill provides built-in means for abolishing the county executive form of government if citizens find it unsuitable after a trial period, or if they wish to adopt a county home rule charter as a replacement.

Senator Pursell, who launched his reorganizational plans while serving on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, notes that "sound business management demands an administrative head. And I believe sound government exerts the same demands. In almost every organizational aspect of modern life we operate in this manner, not because it has become traditional, but because it works better than anything else."

expected to be completed by December 1. The mains will be connected with the township's existing water system, the engineer said.

In other action Tuesday, trustees appointed four persons and re-appointed three person to township commissions.

John McDonald was appointed to the township planning commission, replacing Luke Bathey who resigned last month. Paul DeJohn was named to the water and sewer commission to replace Neil D. Winters who submitted his resignation in September.

Named to the Wayne County Sanitation Authority to replace Gunnar Stromberg was Lawrence Wright. Joe Fiorelli was appointed to the board of review while Mrs. Rita Young and Thomas

Lovett were appointed to the board.

OK Annuity Program

In other board business Tuesday, Dr. Kratz was directed to pursue his study of a community school concept for Novi and to invite Eastern Michigan University personnel involved with the Mott Community Education program to discuss the matter with the board.

According to the superintendent, the community schools concept encourages full utilization of school facilities—day and night. Flint, where the Mott program originated, and nearby South Lyon presently have such programs, he said. "Such programs," he said, "can be augmented by funds available through the Michigan Department of Education. Reimbursement of the cost of staff personnel assigned to the community schools program is available in accordance with provisions of (state law)."

Aside from establishing new uses for school facilities, for both children and adults, the program, offers an opportunity way to coordinate in-school activities to avoid conflicts.

UP IN THE AIR—Novi's John Pantalone made a diving effort to haul in this Steve Lukkari aerial, only to have the ball fall to the turf incomplete. All was not lost for the senior receiver, however, as he and Lukkari got together later in the game on a 30 yard touchdown pass.

Novi's Big Green Machine Rolls Over Dexter 48-0

Rain and a scrappy Dexter offense tried hard but unsuccessfully to stop Novi's high-riding eleven Friday night as the Wildcats took advantage of some costly Dexter fumbles to post a 48-0 shutout.

The triumph, third straight for Novi in the rugged South-Eastern Conference, represented little more than a tune-up for tomorrow's encounter with the defending champions at Chelsea.

Chelsea's lone loss of the season was to Saline, which hosts John Osborne's Wildcats next week.

Friday's victory over the Dreadnaughts wasn't nearly as easy as the score might indicate. Playing in driving rain through much of the first half, Dexter gave up just two touchdowns and came within one yard of a TD itself before the half-time homecoming festivities.

Four of Dexter's eight fumbles were turned into scores for the Wildcats.

And although Novi piled up 368 yards rushing and passing to Dexter's 253 yards, the Dreadnaughts put together 15 first downs to Novi's eight.

It was late in the first quarter before Novi was able to score—an 18-yard pass play from Quarterback Steve Lukkari to Halfback Jim Van Wagner. Lukkari added two insurance points on a running play.

Seconds before the close of the first period, Novi recovered a Dexter first-down fumble to set the stage for the Wildcats' second TD. On second down from the 19, Halfback Pat Boyer ripped over for the score.

Three times in that first half, Dexter threatened. Early in the first quarter, the Dreadnaughts put together a 50-yard drive before running out of steam on the Novi 30.

In the second quarter Dexter moved to the Novi 43 before falling back to the 47 and punting.

And then in the closing seconds, Dexter moved from its own 49 yard line to the Novi one where, with first down and just five seconds to go, it ran into Novi's defensive wall.

Lukkari took to the air again early in the third period, flipping to End John Pantalone for the TD covering 30 yards.

And then on the first down of the next play, Dexter lost a fumble. On fourth down at the 26, Van Wagner ran in for the TD.

The Wildcats scored still another touchdown in the third quarter, with Boyer galloping 44 yards in a third down situation. Lukkari kicked the extra point.

Seconds into the fourth quarter, Dexter lost another fumble in a first down situation and Halfback Eric Hansor scooped up the ball and ran 16 yards for the TD.

Halfback Mike Riley closed out the Novi scoring midway through the last quarter. On third down from the 35, he brought fans to their feet with the best running-dodging exhibition of the game. And again Lukkari kicked the extra point.

Best effort Dexter could muster in that second half came 'on a third quarter Wildcat fumble at the Novi 34. But the Dreadnaughts gained only three yards in four downs before giving up the ball.

REPLAY

with John Osborne

A quick glance at the final score of 48-0 would leave the impression that Novi's victory over Dexter Friday had been another of those offensive field days in which the Wildcats' awesome wishbone attack had buried the opposition with a quick flurry to touchdowns and then coasted to an easy victory.

But it just wasn't so. At the half Novi held a narrow 14-0 lead, and it could have been even closer if time hadn't run out on the Dreadnaughts as they moved the ball to the Novi one yard line.

"It wasn't that we weren't able to move the ball on offense," explained John Osborne. "We were moving the ball well. The problem was that we couldn't get our hands on the ball. They took the opening kick-off and ate up something like seven minutes on the clock before we were able to stop the drive."

"We had one of our own drives halted with a fumble and that hurt us. And they managed to put together a couple of time-consuming drives in the second quarter."

The Wildcats finally got untracked in the third quarter and rolled up enough points to enable Osborne to play his reserves through most of the fourth quarter.

"What happened in the first half was that they were using very wide splits between their offensive linemen, and we weren't able to plug the holes," the Novi mentor explained. "In the second half we changed from a five man to a six man line and did a little blitzing with our linebackers to confuse them and it worked. They weren't able to start any of those time-consuming drives that kept the ball away from our offense in the first half."

A second explanation for Novi's slow start against Dexter was that the Wildcats were looking ahead to their games with Chelsea and Saline.

"There's no doubt about it," concurred Osborne. "Dexter really didn't have much of a chance against us and we've got Chelsea Friday and Saline a week from Friday. If we can get past those two teams we have a good chance of winning the championship and everybody on our team knows it."

One of Osborne's concerns about Chelsea is that they, like Dexter will be able to mount time consuming drives on offense.

"One of our goals in the game is to not let them control the ball for long periods of time. One of the things we're going to have to look out for is that they're a lot bigger team than we are physically. They have a couple of very big linemen. We figure they'll probably try to outmuscle us on the ground and move along three to four yards at a time."

As to whether or not the Bulldogs will be able to halt Novi's Wishbone, Osborne has his doubts.

"No one has really been able to stop us yet," he said, "and we were able to move pretty effectively against Chelsea last year, but there's no doubt in my mind that they're going to go into that football game with the idea that they can stop our offense. It should be interesting to see what they try."

Wildcat

Dan Kardell, a 5'10", 150 pound offensive guard and defensive halfback, was tabbed for Wildcat of the week honors by Coach John Osborne. "I know that's a funny combination of positions for a player," admitted the Novi mentor, "but Dan handles them both well. He was a key blocker in our game against Dexter and he batted down a pass on defense that saved a touchdown."

AAU Honors Swimmers

Three Northville swimmers were honored Sunday as the Michigan Amateur Aquatics Association held its tenth annual awards banquet.

Honored at the banquet were Art Greenlee and Kevin Kelly for their performances in state high school competition as well as A.A.U. meets, and 10 year old Tom Simrak, who was on a state record-setting medley relay team.

Also honored at the banquet were Olympic stars Micki King and Janet Ely. Miss King was given the "Sea Hawk" Trophy, while Miss Ely was named Michigan's Outstanding Aquatic Athlete of the year.

A.A.U. age-group swimming gets underway for the season October 21 and 22 with ninth annual Bulldog Aquatics Club Meet at Schoolcraft College.

Saline managed to keep pace with the Wildcats by coming back from a 21-20 half time deficit to defeat Tony Kern's South Lyon squad 38-21. Pat Gil paced the Hornets with touchdown runs of 45 and 28 yards. He finished the game with 166 yards on 15 carries.

Chelsea prepared for its big game with Novi Friday by polishing off winless Lincoln 24-0. Tim Lancaster tallied TDs on a one yard dive, a six yard run, and an eight yard return of a fumble for the defending league champs, who outgained the Raiders 368-117.

Lancaster was the leading ground gainer with 115 yards on 18 carries. Two fourth quarter touchdowns enabled Novi to move from a tenuous 6-0 half time lead to a 20-0 conquest of Dundee. Randy Banks scored on a four yard run and a 37 yard pass interception for Novi. Dundee twice moved inside the Big Red's five yard line but couldn't punch the ball across

Pass Comes With with 22 Seconds Left to Play

Mustangs Lose on Last Minute TD Bomb

For 47 minutes and 38 seconds Northville's Mustangs and Walled Lake Western's Warriors played to a hard-hitting, scoreless stand-off in the mud and the rain Friday.

As the clock ticked off the closing seconds of the fourth quarter, the Warriors had the ball, but were practically at midfield - a distant 45 yards from the Northville goal.

A sudden-death overtime period seemed imminent.

But then it happened. Kurt Schnelz, the Walled Lake quarterback, dropped back and launched a 50 yard bomb toward a trio of players huddled together on the five yard line.

John Sherman and Bart Taylor, the Mustang defenders went up in the air, but the ball sailed over their outstretched hands and into the arms of Western's Rick Newman, who backed unmolested the remaining four yards into the end zone.

At the other end of the field, the clock came to a stop. There were 22 seconds left in the game.

Mark Shurmur then powered his way through the middle of the Northville line for a two-point conversion and Western had an 8-0 lead.

Three plays - and 22 seconds - later they had an 8-0 victory.

The game was an important one to the Western Six Conference rivals-probably the two weakest teams in the league. To the victors went the satisfaction of having won at least one league game. To the losers - unless they're able to pull off a major upset - goes last place in the final standings.

But the game had a little added incentive for the Mustangs, who have yet to win their first Western Six football game. It was Walled Lake Western which piled up the worst defeat in Northville's grid history last year, a 63-0 shellacking under the coaching of Leo Folsom.

Folsom's gone now, replaced by Mike Mancini, but the memory of that defeat lingers on.

The game itself was unexciting. To tell the truth, it was downright boring. Euphemistically-speaking, it was herculean defensive struggle.

Both teams plugged away at each other in the first half with little offensive success.

The closest thing to any scoring took place in the closing seconds of the second quarter when Western's Frank Marotta attempted a field goal from the 21 yard line. It wasn't even close.

Still, the bulk of Northville's offensive success took place in that scoreless first half. A fact due more to the Mustangs' almost total lack of second half offense than any first half prowess in moving the ball.

Northville's best drive of the evening came on their very first series of plays when they moved from their own 45 to the Western 21, where they finally surrendered the ball on downs.

The Mustangs gained a total of 75 yards in the first half, all of them on the ground, as quarterback Bill McDonald attempted only one pass.

In the second half the Warrior defense throttled the Mustangs almost completely. The Mustangs rushed for just 13 yards on eight attempts in the second half and picked up just two first downs - one of them on the game's final play.

Walled Lake ran off 36 offensive plays in the second half, while the Mustangs snapped the ball just 19 times.

But in spite of their lack of second half offense, Northville came within inches of scoring in the third quarter. Dave McLean recovered a Western fumble on their own 29 yard line.

Northville picked up a first down on the very first play as McDonald hit Steve Griggs with a 13 yard pass that carried to the Walled Lake 16 yard line.

McDonald's next pass fell incomplete, but with second and 10 he again found Griggs who made a beautiful catch in the end zone for an apparent touchdown. But the officials said no, ruling that Griggs was out of bounds when he made the reception.

McDonald's next pass was picked off on the goal line by Western's Jeff Parrish who ran it out to the 40 to end Northville's lone offensive threat.

Walled Lake, meanwhile, was having considerably better success in moving the ball, but was plagued by an inability to hold onto it.

On one drive they moved to the Northville 21 before they fumbled the ball and McLean recovered to end the threat. Another long march came to an end on the Northville 14 when Marotta's field goal attempt from the 21 fell far short and wide of the goal posts.

In all, Western fumbled the ball four times in the second half and lost it all but once. They finished the game losing four of eight fumbles.

In light of Northville's inability to move the ball and Western's propensity for timely fumbles, the prospects for a long scoreless overtime period seemed strong.

But then Schnelz connected with Newman on the 45 yard bomb and all need for a sudden death period was suddenly removed.

For Mustang fans, the defeat was a bitter one because of the fluke ending. Still, perhaps the most important thing about the game to Northville loyalists was the fact that for the first time since beginning Western Six competition, the Mustangs were in the game all the way to the end.

Or, as expertly expressed by one of Northville's dedicated followers, "it beats the hell out of 63-0, doesn't it?"

Northville's next opponent is Livonia Churchill, who they play Friday at 4 p.m. in a rare afternoon game. The Chargers, who are 4-0 for the season, are co-favorite with Waterford Mott to win the Western Six championship.

REPLAY

with Chuck Shonta

Frustration was written all over the face of Chuck Shonta as he sat in a corner of the coaches' locker room following his team's loss to Walled Lake Western Friday.

The Mustangs had fought the Warriors to a scoreless deadlock before losing on a 45 yard pass play in the game's dying seconds - a play that owed as much to "fluke" as it did to skill.

"That's football," Shonta told his dejected gridders in a silent dressing room immediately after the game.

"Things like that happen to the pros and they happen to college teams. What can I tell you, things like that are just a part of football."

"The important thing," he told his team, "is that you showed you're capable of playing Western Six Conference football. These teams know now that they're going to have to reckon with Northville in the future."

It was true, of course, but somehow it didn't really help in removing the sting of the fluke pass.

"I guess we're snake bit," said Shonta. "Even when we play well enough to win we can't win. Some of those breaks have got to start coming our way. It seems like everytime they fumbled, the ball came right back to them."

And Griggs just missed a touchdown by inches on that one pass reception.

"Do you know how Harrison beat them last week. They recovered one fumble in the end zone for a touchdown and they recovered another fumble on the eight yard line. I'm not trying to alibi, but it sure would be nice to see breaks like that coming our way once in awhile."

"I thought that defensively it was one of the best games we've played in the two years I've been here. We were really hitting out there."

"A couple of times they had the ball deep in our territory and we could have laid down and died, but we didn't. The kids sucked it up and got tough and stopped them. From the standpoints of hitting and playing proper positions, it was one of our best games."

In an effort to insert some punch in the running attack, Shonta brought up a pair of sophomore running backs from the junior varsity - Larry Pink and Doug Crisan - and handed them the starting backfield jobs.

But it wasn't their newness which Shonta blamed for Northville's lack of punch. It was injuries. "We lost Bill Potter (tackle) in the Clarenceville game, we lost Porterfield (tackle) in the first quarter, and Serkaian (guard) has been sick as a dog all week with bronchitis. We were missing all but two of our interior linemen. I thought Crisan and Pink did a good job. On the first series of downs Crisan had to beat just one guy and he'd have broken off a long run for us. Our trouble wasn't our backs, our trouble was that we weren't making any holes for them to run through."

After Winning 4 Top Tourneys

Golfers Eye State Crown

Is Northville's golf team the best ever assembled in the state of Michigan?

Coach Al Jones will veto that notion without a moment's hesitation, but a pretty fair case can be drawn up to support such a contention, nevertheless.

Last week the Mustang golfers notched their eleventh consecutive dual meet victory of the season to run their winning streak over the past two years to 25 and their undefeated streak to 33.

But, as Jones is quick to point out, long undefeated streaks are nothing new. What makes the 1972 Northville golf team something out of the ordinary is their performance in the state's major prep tournaments.

Beginning with the Dearborn Invitational and ending last week with the Brae Burn Best Ball Tournament and the prestigious Pontiac Press Invitational, the Mustang golfers have come out on top of every major tournament in the state.

"I'm just not aware of any team that's done as well in one year as we have this year," admitted Jones in an unguarded moment. "Usually somewhere along the line a team will have an off day in a tournament and lose to a team that happens to be having a particularly good day. But we've managed to win every tournament we've entered and we've entered all the big ones."

The reason Jones refuses to listen to any talk about his 1972 Mustangs being one of the state's finest teams is the fact that one major title-the most important one-has thus far eluded them. That title is, of course, the state Class B championship.

Friday (tomorrow) the Mustangs must finish among the first three teams in the Class B regionals at Brighton's Burroughs Farms Country Club to qualify for the state finals.

If they get by the regionals, and most observers will agree that it will be a major setback if they don't, they will then get a crack at the state crown the following week at Marshall

Country Club.

Northville's biggest win last week came in the prestigious Pontiac Press Invitational in which they bested 32 of the state's finest teams to become the first Class B school to ever win the tournament.

Unlike the Mustangs' other tournament victories this season, however, their win was a narrow one, as they squeaked past defending Class A champion West Blomfield by a single stroke, 319-320.

Northville and the Lakers were far out in front of the rest of the field as Birmingham Groves, Birmingham Seaholm, and Royal Oak Kimball were all tied for third place with 331 strokes. Waterford Mott was fourth with 335 and Clarkston and Cranbrook were tied for fifth with 337s.

John Hlohenic, Brian Mills, and Bob Simmons each carded a 78, while John Marshall rounded out the Northville foursome with an 85.

"Considering the wind and rain," Jones commented,

"those were all pretty respectable scores."

In the Brae Burn Best Ball Tournament held a week ago Tuesday, the Mustangs won the four-man team title with a score of 142, although the best two-man team title eluded them.

Hlohenic and Marshall tied for first place with a team from Thurston, as both twosomes carded 69's, only to lose to a birdie on the fourth play-off hole.

Simmons and Mills, the other Northville twosome, finished the 18 holes with a best ball total of 73. The Mustangs' combined score of 142 was five strokes lower than Thurston's second place total of 147.

In addition to their tournament activity, the Mustangs also took time to record their tenth and eleventh dual meet victories of the season.

A week ago they journeyed to the Burroughs Farms course in Brighton, where they handed the Bulldogs a 157-197 shellacking-an average of 10 strokes lower per man.

Hlohenic and Marshall had 36's, Simmons shot a 40, and Mills had a 41.

The following day they defeated a good Redford Union team 192-199 at Brae Burn. Mills was medalist as he carded a 35 for the day. Hlohenic and freshman Tom Dales were three strokes back at 38. Marshall carded a 39, and Mark Dougher was the fifth Northville finisher with a 42.

Cole again was at the head of the pack as he picked up his seventh win in nine dual meets. Shipley finished second, his best finish of the season, in place of Coram, who was held out of the meet by Redmond. Hurley was third, Koffler fifth, and Tiffen, a freshman, was sixth.

"Frankly, we expected a little more competition from Country Day," said Redmond.

Harriers Win Two More

Hurley. Koffler. Shipley. Tiffen.

Names that Northville cross-country coach Ralph Redmond had hardly even heard of at the start of the season, much less counted on to play an important role in the fortunes of his 1972 squad.

But an important role they have played, and the Northville coach couldn't be happier.

The effectiveness of the Mustangs' two senior co-captains - Jeff Menyhart and Tim Taggart - has been curbed considerably by injuries, this year but people like Tim Hurley, Kevin Koffler, Fred Shipley, and Jim Tiffen have developed from practically out of nowhere to make the Northville harriers a formidable force.

Formidable force, indeed.

Last week the Mustangs won both their dual meets to run their season's record to 7-2 and their record against Western Six Conference competition to 2-1. And those names - Hurley, Koffler, Shipley, and Tiffen - figured prominently in the victories.

The Mustangs notched their second Western Six victory of the season Thursday by running away to a 16-39 decision over Walled Lake Western. Led by Guy Cole and Tom Coram, the team's established veterans, the Northville harriers took first, second, third, fourth, and sixth in the meet as only one Western runner was able to squeeze into the top five.

Hurley finished third in the meet, Koffler was fourth, and Shipley sixth.

Northville's victory Tuesday against Detroit

Country Day was identical in that it came by a 16-39 score. Only the names and places were changed.

Cole again was at the head of the pack as he picked up his seventh win in nine dual meets. Shipley finished second, his best finish of the season, in place of Coram, who was held out of the meet by Redmond. Hurley was third, Koffler fifth, and Tiffen, a freshman, was sixth.

"Frankly, we expected a little more competition from Country Day," said Redmond.

Mustanger

Mustang of the Week honors go to Northville co-captain Bill Norton. Alternating between nose guard and outside linebacker, the rugged 5'8", 180 pound senior led his team's defensive efforts against Walled Lake with seven first hits and six assists, many of them in key situations.

consideration of educational and recreational facilities." Education and income characteristics also changed significantly between the census periods, he said.

"Income characteristics in particular have dramatically changed in which the medium family income nearly doubled. The statistics, considering inflation, indicate that the residents of Northville are better educated, better housed, and financially more affluent."

He cited these examples: Median family income increased from $7,642 in 1960 to $14,387 in 1970.

Median school years completed increased from 12.2 in 1960 to 12.6 in 1970.

Percent who had completed four or more years of high school increased from 55.6 to 69.4.

Percent of people with incomes less than the poverty level decreased from 6.2 to 2.0.

In surveying the existing land use of the city, Nino found that——600 acres or 45.3 percent of the city is used for one and two family residences.

—17 acres or 1.3 percent for multiple family residential.

—27 acres or 2.1 percent for commercial.

—30 acres or 2.3 percent for industry.

—45 acres or 3.4 percent for race track and auxiliary services.

—18.9 acres or 1.4 percent for public and semi-public uses.

—49.3 acres or 3.7 percent for parks and recreation uses.

—82 acres or 6.2 percent for institutional.

—180.5 acres or 14.3 percent for streets and highways.

—276 acres or 20 percent vacant

Future population in the city, Nino said, will depend upon the potential density at which vacant land will be developed.

"One large tract of land lying north of Eight Mile Road and containing some 130 acres will largely determine the population capacity estimate

Noting that the city's present master plan estimated a population capacity of 9,050 persons would be reached by 1985, Nino said this estimate appears to remain fairly accurate—if zoning changes are permitted on the remaining large tract of land. But, he added, capacity development will take place long before 1985.

Reviewing building trends and an analysis of vacant land potential, the consultant concluded that Northville will achieve a population level of 10,200 by 1980—nearly doubling its size in the next 10 years.

According to Mrs. Ramsey, the street, located near the Grand Trunk and C. & O. railroad tracks, often gets a lot of traffic from people trying to get around the tracks when a train is going through.

Also, she explained, many empty beer cans and bottles are dumped at the end of the street and this causes a problem for people who try to find a place to turn around. Councilman Gunnar Mettala interjected that never before has Council broken precedent and authorized the placement of street lights anywhere but on a major thoroughfare or at an intersection. Council, he said, was not in the practice of installing street lights for individual's convenience because of the limited funds in the budget for street lights.

He added that groups of Wixom citizens, where it concerned their own personal need, have had lights installed and paid for them themselves. The cost, he said, "is about $100 a year."

Von Behren told Council the approval for a light on Renton would definitely be for the public safety and that he could point out other locations that also needed lights.

"I feel we have failed the taxpayers when we allow things like this to happen," he said.

Board Vice-President Stanley Johnston told Orphan that "Wednesday you knew you were on one side of the fence and we were on the other. You were the only one who felt the superintendent was out of line."

President Dr. Orlo Robinson reminded Orphan that "the superintendent is still the captain of the ship. He was well within his rights in trying to reach a settlement."

Johnston said the board had the power to reverse Spear's action and order him out of negotiations but that it did not agree to do so.

Trustee Richard Ambler commented that the "settlement was reached without the laborious task of fact finding. We would not have gotten the contract we have through fact finding."

Trustee Mrs. Sylvia Gucken said the community has been in doubt long enough about whether or not the teachers would continue to work without a contract. "It's time to move on and ratify it."

with establishing a special assessment district and preparing plans and cost estimates on a per front foot basis for sewer construction in Grand View Acres; and

• considered, upon the request of Clerk Mrs. Eleanor Hammond, addition of a second monthly meeting to the board's schedule. No action was taken, however.

Trustee Bernard Baldwin noted the majority of them would not be returning to office after the November election and that it was "rather presumptuous of us to tell the new board how to conduct its business."

Concerning the charge of gerrymandering, Orphan stated that differences between some steps of the salary schedule represent less money than last year.

He stated it was done so the NEA would have enough votes from teachers receiving bigger step increased to approve the contracts.

Spear, backed by the remaining four board members, told Orphan that the charge was totally untrue. "If you look at the number of teachers receiving higher step increases, you'll find fewer teachers there than on some steps with lower increases."

Orphan stated it "look from 1968 to last year's contract to get some reasonableness in progression of step increases."

Spear said the change in differences between steps from last year's contract "is insignificant and only by chance. There are a few inequities."

Orphan said the district should "reward longevity of service in education and length of service to the district."

Dr. Robinson said Orphan's argument was valid and that "it is unfortunate that the differences slid a bit from what we have tried to do over the past years. But there are many good features of the contract."

Ambler agreed the "percentage differentials are slight. We should begin now to work this out for next year. The overall benefit (of the contract) is sufficient that it is a worthwhile contract."

"One of the things we're afraid of," said Nelson, "is that people will treat offenses of this type lightly. Just because this man has done no more than expose himself to date doesn't mean that he's not capable of something far more serious. All cases of this sort should be treated as if they are potentially dangerous."

Police are asking parents to instruct their children how to react in the event they come into contact with the man.

"We'd like parents to instruct their children to observe as much about the man's vehicle as they can," said Nelson. "They should try to observe anything unusual about the car. Does it have a hub cap missing? Are there any dents or scratches? Does it have stickers on the rear windows or on the bumpers? In particular, they should try to get the license number."

Nelson also stressed that the police department should be notified of the incident as quickly as possible. If the report is made quickly enough, the area can be flooded with police cars and hopefully the man can be apprehended, he explained.

THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wed.-Thurs., October 11-12, 1972

Daddy Plays A Concertina for Little Matthew

American frontier days are long gone. But the spirit of those distant days still glows, fanned by a handful of Americans who dig rugged individualism and self-reliance as "the good life."

One of the rare breed is Jim Day of Brighton, a 37-year-old father of three, a carpenter extraordinaire, who, on November 1 with wife Bernice and children, Colleen, 14, Tim, 9, and Matthew, 15 months, will pull up roots and begin a unique voyage into yesteryear.

On that date they will begin a planned five-year odyssey around the world, traveling to the east coast to nail down final details before acquiring a boat that will be their home and fortress on the high seas.

"This is going to be a clean-cut American type of thing, said the clean shaven, firm-jawed Day. "We're going as an American family from a small town. We want to take a hell of a bite of life."

Says wife Bernice, "Jim and I, as parents, are attempting to educate our children in the realities of life and what their roles should be."

What better way, the Days reason, then a trip around the world in a boat and the eternal verities this elemental life offers—self-reliance, love of country and family and appreciation of life.

They're not shucking the A.B.C's. The Day children will continue with their formal education, but they'll do it through extension courses offered through Brighton's Community Schools Program, with special arrangements made by Director Jerry Cassell.

What the Days also are hoping to do is to open some job opportunity doors for an industrious and capable family.

Their trip isn't an escape, nor an ill-planned jump into adventure. It's been in the Days' mind, off and on, for seven years. Within the past two years, they have been busy making preparations.

Jim Day, for instance, has been taking classes in cinematography from Adrian Lustig, with the intention of filming his family's adventure and selling the travelogues to help defray the cost of their sojourn.

"Most travelogues are done by one man," Day said. "We think it would be unique to have a travelogue centering about a family's travels."

Jim, along with daughter Colleen, has taken courses in navigation in preparation for the trip. Reading of articles pertaining to sea life have also occupied a lot of the Days' time.

Contacts have been made with others who have gone on similar journeys, as well as with officials representing governmental and biological agencies, for whom the Days may be doing some work.

The vessel which the Days eventually will buy, Jim says, probably will be a North Sea trawler, a sturdy 50-foot ship equipped for sailing and power locomotion.

Before that time, the undaunted Day says, the whole family will have to learn seamanship, which probably will involve four months of training. And the purchase of a ship may not come until after sea time with a licensed pilot.

"We hope to become licensed, too," Day says "so that we can become a chartered boat and earn money to support our trip."

On board ship will be his carpenter's tools, another possible source of income that will keep the sea voyage afloat. Jim may take odd jobs, as he put it, "hang a few hatches", along the way.

He is a carpenter of some repute. Twice he has been featured in the Detroit Free Press, once for renovating a room in Brighton for his uncle, and just recently for the unusual home which he built for his family.

Featuring "a little bit of everything I like", such as a ship and a Tyrolian lodge, the home was sold this month to provide the Days with money to help launch their trip. Jim calls the home "a Will Rogers' house" — for good reason.

Will Rogers is Jim's idol, and has been ever since the days when he and wife Bernice lived in California's Beverly Hills, close to the movie stars and sets.

He died in 1935," Jim said, "the year I was born. My parents were fond of him. He liked the outdoors, the hardy life, like I did."

"His philosophy was to help people out," he continued. "That's part of our bag—when you care, you give a little help."

It's no accident that Jim is quite expert with a rope. Like Rogers, he does rope tricks, swirling it around his head and jangling it deftly at his side.

Jim's infatuation was heightened in 1960 when he visited Roger's California home, which has been converted into a museum. "He had a porch swing in the living room," Day said, "and saddles and blankets over the upper rails. There was an outdoor feeling, yet you were protected from the elements."

Colleen was just a baby then. Jim was attending college in Los Angeles, preparing to become a doctor, like his father. Bernice was working as a secretary.

The Beverly Hillbillies, Jim says, may have originated with him, his wife and Colleen and the carefree life they lived at the time.

They owned a jeep then and lived in a Beverly Hills apartment. "We went to church in the jeep," he said, "with all those Rolls Royces and Bentleys. There was a half-million dollars in cars in the parking lot and this lousy little jeep."

The Beverly Hillbillies began a year later as a television comedy, featuring the mountain hicks in the swank, movie star setting. The same jeep carried the Days over the continental divide to their next destination, Colorado. Since Jim liked the outdoors and animals, he had decided to attend Colorado State College to study veterinary medicine.

It was during this time that Jim, aside from going to school, learned about and competed in rodeos. "Out west they have rodeos like we have football games back here. It's a real big thing," Jim said.

During this time, too, Jim managed the Three-Bell Ranch, a large cattle spread. He liked going up into the hills with his dog, Smokey, and his 30-30 early in the morning for a little hunting, then he'd return to class.

A broken arm, sustained when a horse threw him, and other personal complications prompted him to quit school and move from Colorado to Sun Valley, Idaho, where he worked for six months at the Rams' Inn.

The outdoors proved highly appealing in Idaho, as it had in Colorado. Jim took time out for forays into the wilds, namely along the River of No Return. "It was practically inaccessible and the wildest country in America," he says.

Finally, the Days, Jim, Bernice, Colleen and then little Tim, who was born in Idaho, decided to return to Brighton — five years after the journey out west, beginning with the stay in California.

"The name, Brighton, became pretty sweet sounding to us," Jim recalls.

He returned with wife Bea, two children, a German shepherd, Smokey and all his belongings packed into a station wagon.

Eventually, Jim took a job at the Wixom Ford plant, but carpentry occupied a special place in his life. His interest in carpentry and construction work, aroused during the five years out west, blossomed.

"I did a little carpentry as odd jobs all along the way," Jim said. "Every kid should be raised with a hammer in his hands."

In the home-sun fashion of his idol, Will Rogers, he told of the time he laid a row of bricks. "I thought it was a most beautiful thing I had ever seen. The boss saw it and made me tear it out. He told me, 'Just don't let me see you again.'"

Jim took a natural liking to contractors and construction workers. "They're independent people who do things," he said. "They're self-made men."

To Jim, the voyage which he and his family are planning has the same basic appeal as Will Rogers, a walk into the wilderness, a hammer on the nail.

High Court Smorgasbord Awaits Voters

LANSING-Michigan voters have a veritable smorgasbord of candidates to choose from when they cast ballots for the new members of the Michigan Supreme Court this coming Election Day, Nov. 7.

No less than nine persons will be on the nonpartisan ballot. Quite a few of these have reasons to think they might be one of the two who will be picked to fill eight year terms on the state's highest court.

At this point no one in Lansing would want to put much money on any pair of candidates. Too many variables are involved.

Leading the list of candidates, are the four chosen by the two political parties. Michigan, because of an illogical method of picking Supreme Court members, still has political parties nominate candidates for the high court.

MOST NOTABLE of the candidates picked by the parties is probably Probate Judge Mary Coleman of Battle Creek. Mrs. Coleman is the first woman ever nominated to run for the high court.

She was picked at the Republican convention after she scared off all the men candidates.

She is no "token" candidate, either, having a solid record in the juvenile field. Her campaign is helped quite a bit by the fact that the godmother of the Michigan Republican Party, Ellie Peterson, is running her campaign.

The other candidate picked at the Republican convention is Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn of Troy, a veteran jurist.

DEMOCRATS, on the other hand, have nominated a man who, if elected, would be the first black member of the high court. He is Recorder's Court Judge Robert Evans of Detroit, who has worked two years to secure his party's nomination.

The other candidate picked by the Democrats is Wayne Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore of Grosse Pointe Park.

NORMALLY the contest for the court would be decided between these four candidates, with the winners the ones who could generate the highest name recognition between now and election day. But, this is no ordinary election year.

In fact, it's just possible the two parties might be shut out this year, though no one would bet on that, either. Arrayed against the major party backed candidates are five others. Three of them already have a good name recognition factor going for them.

PERHAPS best known is Zolton Ferency, the former Democratic State Chairman and gubernatorial candidate who fell from favor when he grew to dislike the Vietnam War before it was popular to do so.

Ferency was nominated for the court by the newly formed Human Rights Party, a party he was instrumental in founding. As a former candidate for statewide office, he has much name identification, an important ingredient in an election like this.

Those who argue that since he lost his last election, he can't win this one, it should be remembered that Justices G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson both lost their last partisan contest before they ran for the court and both won their court seats by wide margins at least partially because voters recognized their names.

ANOTHER candidate with a well known name, though he didn't make so himself, is Appeals Court Judge Charles L. Levin. Levin is a cousin of former State Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley. The Sandy Levin name became well known when he ran as the Democratic candidate for governor and almost won in 1970.

Judge Levin figured early this year that he didn't have much of a chance for the Democratic nomination and decided to get his name on the ballot without currying favor from either major party. Instead, he went out and formed his own party, the Nonpartisan Judiciary Party. Naturally his party nominated him.

He also filed suit challenging the validity of the current system which requires that a political party nominate a candidate. Any action on that suit prior to election day also would help focus attention on Levin.

ANOTHER candidate with a familiar name is another Appeals Court Judge-Vincent Brennan. The Brennan name is well known, and one current court member, former Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan, already bears it.

And since there are already two Kavanaghs on the bench, Thomas M. and Thomas G., the thought of another Brennan isn't impossible.

Brennan also formed his own party-the Independent Judiciary Party-to get his name on the ballot.

The remaining two candidates are William Beer of Berkley, nominated by George Wallace's American Independent Party, and William A. Ortman of Farmington, nominated by the Conservative party.

Babson Report

More Vibrant Stock Market Ahead

BABSON'S REPORTS Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass.—For most of August and much of September, a drifting pattern prevailed in the stock market with a net trend on the downside. The Dow Industrials and Rails followed this pattern, while the Utilities displayed surprising strength for a time, only to drift downward again. Volume was average until near Labor Day when investors turned to recreational activities and trading dropped off sharply.

As we move along in the early part of the fourth quarter, it appears that more vibrant stock market action lies ahead. At the present time, there is a good deal of apathy among investors generally, apparently a result of the numerous uncertainties existing in this country and throughout the world today. Chief among these are the war situation in Vietnam and the uneasy psychological mood that always precedes a Presidential election.

While a peace settlement in Southeast Asia is possible before the election, it is unlikely that the North would hand President Nixon a gift like this to support his campaign. On the other hand, if the polls continue to show Senator McGovern lagging badly, the North Vietnamese might not feel any further need to withhold their trump card. Thus, if they sincerely want peace, they might adopt a more reasonable posture toward settlement.

Investors must, of necessity, eye the election warily. While President Nixon would seem to be far ahead, the possibility still exists that McGovern might come out on top. Though he has modified some of his pie-in-the-sky concepts, his position on a number of questions is still somewhat unpalatable to many, especially investors and share owners.

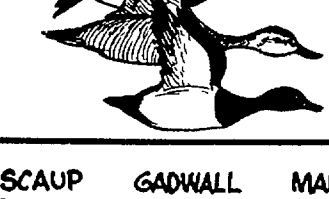

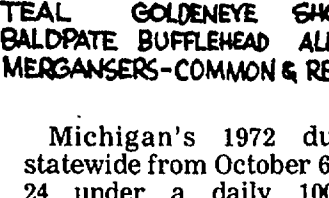

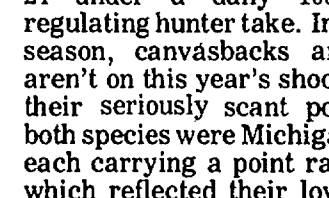

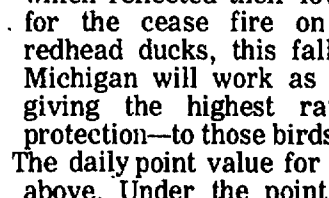

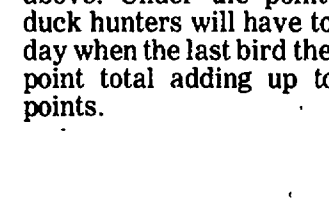

Another area of doubt, even before the election, is the possibility of a change in wage-price policies if inflation fires begin to heat up again. It is easy to see how such uncertainties have made many investors—particularly the smaller ones—adopt a cautious attitude. While institutional traders have been active, individuals have tended to stock to the sidelines. However, if one or more of these nagging problems were to be suddenly resolved, it could well be the signal for a renewed pickup in investment activity. After all, it should be kept in mind that the economy looks quite healthy.

IT IS DIFFICULT to correlate numbers as expressed by the Dow Jones Averages with the stock market as a whole. These figures, however, are widely followed and carry considerable psychological weight. Thus, the Research Department of Babson's Reports suggests that the indexes for the fourth quarter will show more backing and filling by the stock market. This will probably persist until election time. Then, if Nixon turns out to be a second-term, we would expect a strong post-election rally—one which might join forces with the traditional upward move often seen at year end.

One flaw that has characterized stock market performance in 1972 has been lack of breadth. In other words, price trends have been dictated by comparatively few issues, principally in the high-flying glamor group. These have risen to exceptionally high levels, as expressed by their price-earnings ratios. On the other hand, the so-called "Cyclicals" experienced less participation. Cyclicals may be termed issues selling on the basis of their relationship to the state of the economy or separate parts thereof. Hence, a vitalized economy could generate more interest in these types. Rather than anticipating vigorous improvement for the glamor stocks in the fourth quarter, we would expect that a great deal of investor attention will be directed toward the basic industries, with some "rotation" of market leadership among industry groups from time to time.

Michigan's 1972 duck season runs statewide from October 6 through November 24 under a daily 100-point system of regulating hunter take. In a change from last season, canvasbacks and redhead ducks aren't on this year's shooting list because of their seriously scant populations. In 1971, both species were Michigan's top value birds, each carrying a point rating of 100 per day which reflected their low numbers. Except for the cease fire on canvasbacks and redhead ducks, this fall's point system in Michigan will work as it did last season, giving the highest rating—and greatest protection—to those birds in shortest supply. The daily point value for each bird is shown above. Under the point system, Michigan duck hunters will have to stop shooting each day when the last bird they take gives them a point total adding up to or exceeding 100 points.

Amendment

David M. Mahowald, president of the Michigan Congress of Parents & Teachers, has announced that 1,500 letters are being mailed to local PTA Presidents informing them that the MCPT Board of Managers has endorsed State Educational Tax Reform Constitutional Amendment Proposal C on the ballot November 7, 1972.

The motion that was adopted reads as follows: "The MCPT endorse and support ballot Proposal C that will appear on the November 7, 1972 ballot and support an educational program on it. Further that we support an educational program for ballot Proposal D, appearing on the same ballot, with no endorsement."

Broomfield

Congressman William Broomfield has praised the bill sent to the White House recently to discourage airline skyjacking schemes before they get off the ground.

According to the Republican candidate in the 19th District, the bill authorizes the President to prohibit all air traffic to and from any nation which harbors or gives comfort to hijackers. In addition, he may even go so far as to cut off air travel to any third nation which does not take similar sanctions against the offending nation.

"By setting off a chain of events that effectively isolates that country from international air traffic and the right to use foreign airports for its own planes, I think we will create a positive deterrent to increasingly dangerous and numerous skyjackings," Broomfield said.

"For example, a country like Algeria which in the past has protected these criminals, would, in effect, be banned from using international air lanes. This would have a very real and severe effect on their commerce and economy."

Gilbert

District Court Judge Alice L. Gilbert has asked the presiding Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem to call a meeting of candidates for the two new judgeships, the Judges of the Oakland County Circuit Court and the Court Administrator to meet now to discuss the facilitating of the smooth transition of cases preparatory to the 1973 court calendar.

Judge Gilbert has also asked the candidates for the 48th District Court to meet to discuss the District's 1973 court calendar.

"I think we (the candidates for Circuit Court seats) ought to have a voice in the assignment of cases coming into the Circuit Court in January. By the same token, the candidates for the 48th District Court should be allowed the same privilege at this time. I therefore have suggested meetings at both levels to insure the courts' continuity in 1973."

Esch

Congressman Marvin Esch, assisted by several young people from the Northville community, cut a red ribbon before a group of Northville area residents on Saturday morning, which officially marked the opening of the Greater Northville Republican Club Headquarters. The headquarters building is located at 320 North Center Street.

The children assisting Esch were Elizabeth and Billy Atwood.

Congressman Esch stated that he was glad to see young people at the opening. To Cindy CiComo, Paula Hodge, and Diane Pitak, high school students who were present, he said, "each citizen and each government representative has an obligation to work to achieve the kind of government that will be best for young people, and upon which they can build as they take an increasing part in running the country."

Edward Hodge, local club president, added that "During Congressman Esch's current term of office in Congress, he has proved his interests in people and government by his efforts for improvements in education, citizens rights, and congressional reform."

"Government must be responsive to individuals rather than individuals having to accommodate themselves to the government," Esch stated.

Esch commended the Northville area club for the color and artistry of the interior of the club headquarters. The Club had rented an old house and brightened it up by cleaning and painting it, according to Hodge. Esch noted the silhouette portraits of Abraham Lincoln and Richard Nixon on one of the walls. He remarked about the appropriateness of the comparison "When Lincoln was President," Esch said, "some people claimed he was aloof and lacked charisma, but no one can doubt that he was a great President."

Congressman Esch stressed the importance of the Northville community in the coming elections and urged people "to get to know the candidates at both the local and national level and give them your support."

Mary Dumas, candidate for Wayne County Commissioner was present. "The Northville community has a direct interest in the make-up of the Wayne County government," she said, as she thanked the group for their support in the past and urged them to learn more about the issues in the current campaign.

Hodge promised that the group would work as diligently on the coming campaign as they did in getting the headquarters ready for opening.

"The greater Northville community is growing rapidly," Hodge said. "Over 500 families have moved into the area within the last few months. We must work to provide a forum for candidates which will give us the kind of local and national government that represents the best interests of all the people."

Hodge pledged the support of the club toward the reelection of Congressman Esch. "He represents," said Hodge, the kind of man who understands both local needs, and the broader national interests." He pledged the club's support toward the election of Mary Dumas and Bob Geake, who is running for the Michigan State Legislature.

McGovern

A group of Michigan farmers, headed by Richard Grabemeyer of Dowagiac, has formed a Michigan Farmers for McGovern-Shriver organization to advise and help elect George McGovern President.

Grabemeyer, calling the Nixon-Russian wheat deal "the last straw," said, "We agree with George McGovern that it's time we had a President who turned the power of the Department of Agriculture over to farmers and appointed a working farmer as Secretary."

Grabemeyer said his organization will conduct canvassing and distribute McGovern-Shriver literature in rural areas of the state, coordinate farmer-to-farmer letter-writing campaigns, and talk with members of farm groups at meetings on behalf of the Democratic Presidential candidate.

"Since Richard Nixon took office as President," Grabemeyer said, "an estimated 250,000 farms have gone under. One million more people have left rural America. Those are not people who want to leave."

"In Michigan alone more than 6,000 farms—7.2 per cent of all the farms in the state—have been forced to close down during the Nixon years beginning in 1968."

Raymond

Following are highlights of a statement made to the Livonia Jaycees at their candidates night by Eldon R. Raymond, 19th County Commissioner candidate on Oct. 2:

"In an election year when the people are choosing a President, Senator, Congressman and State Legislators, it is easy to overlook the importance of the candidates for County offices. We will be electing several county-wide officials, but only one will be elected to represent Livonia and Northville exclusively."

"This one County Commissioner will be the sole voice heard in the County Building when questions involving county roads, county parkways, county health services and the county Sheriff's police protection for our district are raised."

"I believe it is critical to the citizens of the 19th District to be represented by a Commissioner who is willing to listen to the people of his district and who can then communicate their feelings to the various agencies of county government."

"I was raised, went to school, worked and now with my wife I am bringing up a family of four children in the district. I think I have come to know the problems of its communities and feel I can best represent its best interests in the County Government."

Spreen

The Oakland County sheriff's department needs to be as professional as the best urban departments, and the key to professionalism is new leadership in the sheriff's office, Johannes F. Spreen said last week.

Spreen told a meeting of the Wixom Chamber of Commerce that suburban counties are facing a spillover of urban crime, and no jurisdiction at any level of American policing could afford to be complacent about the actual or potential danger of rising crime.

Spreen, who was Detroit police commissioner, 1968-1970, is a candidate for Oakland County sheriff in the November 7 election.

Small local police departments do not have the resources or manpower, by themselves, to cope with the changing crime picture, and need the backup support and cooperation of a fully professional sheriff's department, he said.

If local police departments prove unable to cope with rising crime, Spreen said, pressure will increase for regional or state or even Federal policing.

The best guarantee for the survival of local police agencies is a strong sheriff's department, to provide help on a countywide basis in communications, crime analysis, police education and training, scientific lab, citizen information and special crime fighting task units, Spreen said.

"A lot of very good citizens of Oakland County don't seem to think their sheriff's department is very important."

"This is partly because the problems that require a more active and proficient sheriff's department have only just recently begun to surface."

"It is also because the sheriff's department has not made itself fully visible and meaningful to all the citizens of the county."

"This is a situation that needs correcting. Times have changed for Oakland County, and for police departments everywhere."

"As population continues to grow in Oakland County, the quality of life and the quality of police protection are going to depend more and more on strengthening the supportive and catalytic role of the sheriff."

financing for the Civil Rights Commission in the appropriations committee represent well the depth of your commitments to fair treatment for all."

Truth Squad

William McLaughlin of Northville, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and member of the GOP "Truth Squad," has challenged a statement of Attorney General Frank Kelley issued in Detroit recently.

In that statement, Kelley, who is opposing Republican Senator Robert Griffin, said: "A complete check of the contributions of the Griffin Campaign, which is expected to raise up to $2 million, is underway."

"That statement is pure garbage," declared McLaughlin. "While it might be nice to have $2 million for a Senate campaign, Senator Griffin's campaign won't approach it and Kelley knows that."

Kelley also said that his investigation does not include "about $230,000 which went into the Griffin campaign before the beginning of the formal reporting period."

But according to McLaughlin, all contributions received by Griffin before and after April 7 have been disclosed. "Included in the total," he said, "is the contributions received for the Griffin birthday dinner held last November 6."

Kelley went on to say under questioning: "We're not talking about illegal activity here. We're talking about influence peddling and the fact that there seems to be a violation of the spirit of the reporting act."

Commented McLaughlin: "There is nothing illegal whatsoever about Senator Griffin's campaign finances. However, it is absurd to charge influence peddling. It's a foundation charge which pollutes the political atmosphere. It cannot be supported and is a crude attempt at character assassination."

"If Bob Griffin has established any sort of a reputation in his 16 years in the Congress, it is a record of honesty and independence."

"If he values anything, it is his integrity."

"He does not go down the line for any group, union or manufacturer. Votes against the SST, the Lockheed loan and his fights against the Alaska Pipeline, new car price increases and his fight against the Reserve Mining Company of Silver Bay, Minnesota, which is owned by Republic and Armco Steel Corporations, is hardly a pattern of being pro-big business."

Stempien

State Representative Marvin Stempien has been endorsed for Congress in Michigan's Second District by the Michigan House of Representatives.

In its endorsement, the Michigan Federation of Teachers recognized Stempien's leadership in legislation to improve public education in Michigan as well as his stand on other issues affecting all citizens.

The MFT criticized Stempien's Republican opponent, Congressman Marvin Esch, for failure to vote to override several of President Richard Nixon's vetoes of education funds.

In their letter of endorsement, the 12 black representatives wrote:

"Each of us who have signed this letter want you to know that your black colleagues who have served with you over the years you have been in the Michigan House endorse and support your candidacy for Congress."

"Your sponsorship and active work in behalf of Equal Rights Amendment for women and your special concern for adequate WATCHDOG of the Treasury award was presented to Congressman William S. Broomfield (right) last week by the National Association of Businessmen. The award is presented annually by the NAB to Congressmen who, in the NAB's opinion, vote consistently for economy in government spending. Broomfield, who has received the award a number of times in the past, receives the bronze bulldog statuette from NAB President H. Vernon Scott at ceremonies in Washington.

from the Pastor's Study

"And the Lord said unto Joshua, See I have given into thine hand Jericho, and the king thereof, and the mighty men of valor, And ye shall compass the city, all ye men of war, and go round about the city once. Thus shalt thou do six days. And seven priests shall bear before the ark seven trumpets of rams' horns: and the seventh day ye shall compass the city seven times, and the priests shall blow with the trumpets, And it shall come to pass, that when they make a long blast with the ram's horn, and when ye hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people shall shout with a great shout; and the wall of the city shall fall down flat, and the people shall ascend up every man straight before him....and it came to pass, when the people heard the sound of the trumpet, and the people shouted with a great shout, that the wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and they took the city." Joshua 6:2-5, 20.

"OH, BRETHREN, be great believers! Little faith will bring your soul to Heaven, but great faith will bring Heaven to your soul" (Spurgeon).

Marching Orders

Rev. J. Walter De Boer
Fellowship Baptist Church
Whitmore Lake

Upon those mighty city walls there must have been some Canaanites watching and wondering about this strangest of parades. "Ha! Ha! If those Israelites think they are going to get in by marching they are foolish people." Each day for six days the parade continued. On the seventh day they started very early. Patiently they marched around six times but at the end of that seventh round they heard Joshua's voice. "Shout; for the Lord hath given you the city." What a noise! The great strong walls fell.

The means approved and appointed by God are often foolishness to men. Faith knows that God has His moment, and in that moment everything yields to His will and power. It is better to wait and have faith than to trust reason and fail. Moses knew this secret as the pursuing Egyptians trapped the helpless Israelites at the Red Sea. Moses said to those who were turning to reason, "Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord...The Lord shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace" (Exod. 14:13, 14).

"Have faith!" is the imperative that prefaces our marching orders.

SPIN OF THE WHEEL

Life is a gamble, you say? Each day is a spin of the wheel of chance, and your destiny goes along with the spot where the ball lands or the place where the cards fall.

Is this true? Are we all really helpless victims of circumstance? If you think so, reconsider!

We make our own decisions! Sometimes they are right, sometimes they are wrong, but they belong to us—not to chance. Perhaps that is why we all need help, inspiration and self-dignity. We need to know that as God's children, our faith comes only as a gift from Him.

Where do we find all this? Well, we start to find it in the Church. Shown the way, the rest is up to us. Why not go to church next Sunday?

Try out any of the cars people trade in for new VWs. We get all kinds. But we don't sell them again just like that. We check them out first. Give them the 16-point inspection. Fix whatever needs fixing. Then guarantee the repair or replacement of every major working part* 100% for 30 days or 1000 miles. Whichever comes first. Incidentally, the guarantee comes with all our used cars.

Even the Volkswagens.

Horse's Mouth

This column is open to news of all breeds of horses and ponies. Send your questions, comments, and horse show news to "Horse's Mouth", care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, MI 48178.

Skin Ailments
The horse's skin is hypersensitive, rather thin, and alive with nerve endings and tiny muscles which permit him to move almost any part of it at will. The skin is also of importance in eliminating waste matter from the body, which is why the horse's daily grooming is more truly health care than a beauty treatment.

Skin eruptions may be caused by infections, nervousness, dietary upsets, chills, or allergies, and they are rarely serious or hard to cure. Usually they will clear up very quickly with a light laxative diet, good hygiene, and grooming. Irritated spots may be soothed by applications of witch hazel or a bland powder such as zinc oxide.

You can avoid chafing a sensitive skin by seeing that your tack is always clean, soft, and supple. Keep your horse's bed as clean as possible too, because his skin may become inflamed upon contact with irritating liquids such as urine. The horse is particularly susceptible to skin irritations of all kinds during the shedding season.

Insect, fly, and mosquito bites can be avoided by proper control measures, including screens, sprays and the use of fly sheets. See that your stable is always clean, disinfected regularly and that the manure pile does not become a breeding place for flies.
