

Esch, Stempien, Agree: 'End War Quickly'

Both favor a quick end to the war in Vietnam but the two candidates for the Second Congressional seat were full of fight when they clashed here Thursday night in debate.

Republican Congressman Marvin Esch and his Democratic challenger, State Representative Marvin Stempien, battled before the First Presbyterian Church Men's Club and its guests from other local churches.

Referee for the confrontation was John MacDonald, himself a candidate at the township level.

Challenged by Esch to disclose his formula to end the war, Stempien, noting that his opponent's last vote against the war in Vietnam occurred in 1969, called for immediate (within 90 days) withdrawal of all American troops and immediate cessation of bombing in North Vietnam. "There is no simplistic answer to getting out of South Vietnam," Stempien conceded. "The French had a very difficult problem, too, but they were able to disengage and the U.S. has to disengage. There's one thing I see across this district in campaigning and it is that the people of this area want this war to end."

Explaining his 1969 vote was tied to the return of prisoners of war, Esch unlike the GOP administration, said he favored ending the bombing and setting a specific date for ending the war—provided "our prisoners of war are returned."

"But, again, it was a Democratic Congress that has controlled Congress for the past six years—and not a Republican Congress—and any movement away from escalating the war from over 500,000 men to where we are tonight was by Presidential action."

Esch said he seriously objected to Stempien's emotional appeal (his challenger had noted he had lost a relative in the war) and suggesting that he is "better on the war" than himself.

Responding to a question as to who started the war, Esch said "I think we must be honest that the previous administrations, starting with Eisenhower, Kennedy and then Johnson all had a hand in that war. And the present administration is the first one to reverse the trend."

Two Democratic and one Republican president supported the war, agreed Stempien, but he emphasized that he did not support President Johnson in 1968. "I started to work for his defeat in the Democratic convention in 1967 and I supported a candidate named Bobby Kennedy."

"It would be foolhardy," Stempien continued, "for either of us to tell you that one Congressman can end that war...and it also would be foolhardy for a member of the minority party (Esch) to tell you that he is going to get the majority party to take that kind of action.

"A member of the majority party, however, can begin to put pressure on his own party to do that I began in 1967 and I would continue in 1973 to do that."

Stempien viewed the

Vietnamese conflict as an internal civil war "with both sides believing in the right to be where they are."

Esch said he disagreed with Stempien's "simplistic" viewpoint.

"I do not believe it was simply an internal rebellion. The North Vietnamese have not only moved into South Vietnam but also into Laos and Cambodia. Now I can

Council Buys Property, Plans Public Housing

The on-again-off-again city purchase of property for senior citizen housing on Fairbrook Street is on-again.

Following a report that the owner preferred not to hold up sale of his property pending a decision on rezoning, the Northville City Council voted 2-1 Monday night to purchase it without first securing the necessary zoning.

Two weeks ago, after a heated debate and a 2-2 deadlock, the council had decided to make its offer to purchase contingent upon rezoning from single family to multiple family housing zoning.

In the interim, however, the owner of the property, Conrad Langfield, who lives next door to the property in question, indicated to Mayor A. M. Allen and City Manager Frank Ollendorff that he did not wish to wait the two or three months it might take to secure rezoning.

"I'm sure that if he were really serious Mr. Langfield would agree to a delay," said Ollendorff, "but I don't think it would be fair to him."

The manager noted that Langfield soon will be leaving the state for the winter and, furthermore, he had better offers for purchase of the property, which is located on the south side of Fairbrook east of the Fairbrook Apartments and west of the Northville Laboratories. The property includes a house and a garage.

Councilman Paul Folino, emphasizing he strongly supports senior citizen housing, cast the lone dissenting vote because he opposed reversing the council's earlier decision on the matter.

Absent were Councilmen Kenneth Rathert and David Biery, who had indicated to the manager that one (Rathert) would oppose the purchase and the other would support it.

The property is to be purchased at the appraised value of $25,500.

NEWS BRIEFS

CANDIDATES NIGHTS are being planned by the Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters and the Northville Civitan Club to give Northville voters an opportunity to hear and meet their candidates. Tonight (Thursday) at 7:45, U. S. Congressional candidates and those for State Representative will meet the voters in the West Middle School at Sheldon Road and Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, at an LWV sponsored program. The Civitan candidates' night is scheduled for Thursday, October 26, at 8 p.m., in the King's Mill Clubhouse, and will include candidates for local offices as well as state and national posts.

IT'S OFFICIAL: Mayor A. M. Allen has proclaimed the hours of 5 to 7 p.m. on Tuesday, October 31, as the times for the annual trick-or-treat adventure by masked goblins. As for the mischievous "devils", Allen warns that beefed up police patrols will be out to deal with vandals.

DEMOLITION of the city-owned house at the southwest corner of Center and Cady streets is planned within the next two weeks. Presently vacant and rapidly becoming a public nuisance, the council authorized the city manager to have it razed immediately. Meanwhile, plans are going ahead with the demolition soon of the building located immediately west of the Drawbridge Restaurant. Both sites are to be used for parking.

EIGHTEEN YEAR OLDS can vote and now they can also drive taxicabs in the City of Northville. By action of the council this week, the minimum age for taxicab drivers was reduced from age 19 to 18 to conform with requirements of adjacent communities.

An in-depth census survey of every family in the Northville Public Schools District will get underway here Monday, Business Director Earl Busard disclosed this week.

Although a school census is no longer required by state law, "we intend to conduct the survey anyway so that we can better prepare for potential needs of the school system," he said.

The census, which will be conducted through Saturday, November 4, will go beyond the traditional real and potential student population count, according to Busard. It will have a four-fold purpose:

To gather accurate data about potential student population to enable school officials to adequately prepare for future school needs.

To gather voter registration data so that school officials may divide the district into two or more voting precincts and assign more convenient polling places for voters.

To ask district families whether they oppose or support the proposal for collection of school taxes in the summer.

To gather opinions of 750 families about the voluntary extended (year-round) school program.

Twelve enumerators, with Marian Zayti serving as coordinator, attended a workshop at the board offices Saturday to receive instructions "to insure the accuracy of the school census and other information" sought.

The enumerators, all residents of the school district, are:

Joan Johnson, Ione Artley, Betsy VanEe, Marguerite Hartner, Doris Richmond, Neva Kerher, Jean Angell, Mary Rose, Mary Hilton, Madeline Crawford, and Cynthia Mahan.

Delay Plans For Rubbish

The planned new garbage-trash collection service due to start January 1 has been delayed until spring or later.

The delaying action was taken last week by the Northwest Sanitation Authority, serving the cities and townships of Northville and Plymouth, because of a legal technicality affecting townships.

Township and Authority attorneys, following a question raised by Northville Township officials, agreed that under the existing law townships cannot charge residents special fees for collection services.

Without a means of offsetting the cost of this service in the two townships, neither is able to participate.

Ironically, while a new state statute requires municipalities of 10,000 residents or more to provide for adequate disposal of rubbish the law does not give townships a means of paying for such service, according to City Council Paul Vernon.

Vernon and City Manager Frank Ollendorff indicated that the Authority hopes to seek quick passage of special legislation to permit fundraising for garbage collection by townships.

Meanwhile, the planned bidding process to secure a contract for pickup of garbage and trash in all four member communities has been placed on the back-burner. Without the townships it would be unwise to go ahead with the planned project, Ollendorff said.

Presently, neither township has a rubbish pickup program. The City of Northville operates its own program, while the City of Plymouth contracts for its service.

However, Plymouth, whose contract is due to expire at the end of the year, has been advised to secure a three to six month extension of that contract in view of the cooperative program delay. Target date for the cooperative program has been changed from January 1 to April 1—"But no later than July 1."

Bride Sews Gown

For her marriage to Rendell Lee Thomas on September 8, the former Francis Faye Qualls fashioned her own wedding gown. The candle light ceremony took place at the First Baptist Church, Novi, with the Reverend Arnold B Cook officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Jobe of Farmington. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Thomas of 46133 West Nine Mile.

Solos were sung by Mrs. Nita Bellamy and candles were lighted by the bridegroom's sisters, Judy and Beth Thomas.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Jack Johnson of Madisonville, Kentucky. She made her gown of satin and chiffon with satin lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

Patty Bellefeuille, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a peach colored gown which featured puffed sleeves, a gathered empire waist and a long skirt with a wide ruffle on the hemline. Her flowers were autumn pomps with orange roses.

Bridesmaids Jean Coble, the bride's sister, Sandie Thomas, sister of the bridegroom, and Janet Warren, a friend, were dressed like the maid of honor.

Larry King was his friend's best man. Acting as ushers were Les Thomas, the bridegroom's brother, Jim Dickey and Dennis Diem, both friends of the bridegroom. Following the ceremony, 150 guests were invited to a reception in the church fellowship hall.

After their return from a wedding trip to Traverse City, Mr. and Mrs. Rendell Lee Thomas are making their home at 715 Randolph.

The bride is a graduate of Moody Bible Institute in Chicago and now works at Missionary Internship in Farmington. The bridegroom graduated from Schoolcraft College and is presently attending Lawrence Institute of Technology. He is employed by Royal Oak Trenching

He, a native of Freeport, Illinois, and she, a Dryden, Michigan, native, first met at a party held at the Northville home of his parents.

The Foremans have one daughter, Mrs. Melvin (Pauline) Mitchell of West Seven Mile Road, and two sons, Louis F. of Gregory, Michigan, and Ralph F., Jr. of 49711 West Seven Mile Road. They also have nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

THE SCARLET maples that contribute toward the brilliant color displays in Northern Michigan are one of the main lures that are taking area residents north for a "last" visit of the season to summer cottages.

That, at least, was the thought advanced by Mrs. Paul Beard after the Beards visited their hunting property near Hubbard Lake. Others who have spent October week ends at their cottages include the John F. Browns who go all the way to Rogers City area.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams and their five daughters gathered leaves last week end at their cottage near Lake City.

Among the first couples to go north on a color tour were the John Burkmans who traveled across the Upper Peninsula to the Porcupine Mountain region. Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Weber readied their cottage at Arcadia, near Frankfort, for the winter on a three-day vacation this month.

At Harbor Springs, it's not a cottage but their cruiser that takes the Fred Casterlines north. The Casterlines, incidentally, christened the boat with a clever, hyphenated play on their name.

SPAIN AND North Africa were the far-away vacation destination of the John Federspills. During a vacation on the Costa del Sol, they rode one of the water-skimming hydro-folls across the Straits of Gibraltar to Africa.

If anyone needed a trip, it must have been the Federspills, whose move back into their home in Northville Estates coincided with the vacation. The family had been living in one of the cottages at Botsford Inn since their house fire August 14.

Since most of the damage was from smoke, Mrs. Federspill adds, cleaning and repairs took only six weeks.

THE WOMEN'S Club program this Friday has been arranged by Jeanne Federspill.

The program at 1:30 p.m. on NOW (National Organization of Women) will be held in the sanctuary of Northville Presbyterian Church as men of the church will be setting up tables in the fellowship hall (the regular meeting place) for the annual homecoming pancake supper Friday night.

Speaker for the "Bloomer Girl in Hot Pants" meeting will be Mrs. Loretta Stults Moore, a psychologist and board member of Detroit Chapter of NOW. She presently is a Ph.D. candidate at Wayne State University working on her doctorate in industrial psychology.

She received her master's degree from Wayne State in social psychology and has been engaged in research with the university's school of nursing. She is one of just two women in the United States who have been employed in heavy industry, having worked in personnel research for Ford Motor Company.

Early America Topic for DAR

The Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution met Monday, October 16, in the Livonia home of Mrs. D.H. Baumhart. The luncheon committee was headed by Mrs. Thomas Lovett of Northville. Mrs. David Christensen of Northville presided over the meeting.

Mrs. Greg Heppie and Mrs. Roger Schlack of the Wyandotte Muzzle Loaders Club spoke to the group about the early American costumes and utensils they have made for the club's shoots.

Mrs. Schlack told D.A.R. members at the meeting that she and her husband became interested in muzzle shooting when they were given an antique rifle by her father, Dr. Russell Atchison of Northville. During the meeting, Mrs. Christensen presented the group with a plaque of appreciation from the President General of the DAR which verifies the chapters contribution in the national project which is the restoration of the second floor rooms of Independence Hall.

Appoint Committee to Revitalize Chamber

Twenty-three of Novi's business leaders met for lunch at the Saratoga Trunk Tuesday to decide whether or not there is a need or even an interest in establishing a new chamber of commerce for the city of Novi.

Their answer was a unanimous "yes," and to transform that mandate into an actual, functioning chamber of commerce, a nine member committee was selected.

The feelings of most of the business leaders present were expressed by Bernard Sullivan of the Rich-Sullivan Corporation, developers of the Novex-One industrial park on Nine Mile Road. "I don't think even we're fully aware of what we've got here in Novi. This community is going to be faced with unprecedented growth in the immediate future and there is a definite need for an organization that can convey the interests of the business community to the legislative bodies."

Novi has had a chamber of commerce for a long time, but as President Russell Button admitted to the businessmen Tuesday, that chamber has not been an effective body of late.

Impetus to revive the chamber of commerce was provided by the city council two weeks ago when they invited members of the Novi business community to a meeting at which the idea was proposed. From that original meeting, Tuesday's luncheon was scheduled to allow discussion of the proposal more fully.

"It's possible that we might have come away from Tuesday's meeting with a consensus that there was no need for a chamber," said Gary Johnson, West Oakland Bank president, who has been instrumental in the formative stages of a new chamber.

"I'm glad we received the response that we did."

Johnson will assume temporary chairmanship of the committee charged with transforming the mandate into something more concrete.

Other members of the committee are Carl Evans of Evans Plumbing and Heating, Peter Phillips of the Saratoga Trunk, Warren Coville of Guardian Industries, C.F. Morreau of the Sugden Company, James Dinsor of Dinsor Greenhouses, Bernard Sullivan of the Rich-Sullivan Company, Russell Button of the County Cousins Mobile Homes, and Florence Harris of the Rosewood Restaurant.

The committee will attempt to arrive at a new set of by-laws and a new charter, as well as suggest candidates for a board of directors and establish contact with the national and state chambers of commerce.

"Most importantly," said Johnson, "we want to draw up some long term goals for this body to accomplish."

Once the committee's spade work has been done, the group will be reconvened to discuss further action.

The primary need for a strong chamber of commerce was seen as a lobbying force between the business community and the city council.

Several business leaders were critical of the council for adopting ordinances which were, in their opinion, un-

ADMINISTRATIVE TURNOVER—Handing over the keys to Novi's municipal offices is former city manager George Athas. Friday was Athas' final day on the job, as he has resigned to accept a position in private industry. Recipient of the keys to the city and the problems and responsibilities that go with them is Edward Kriewall, 31, who has been appointed by the city council to serve as acting city manager until a fulltime replacement is named. Kriewall has headed Novi's DPW department and served as Athas' administrative assistant.

Close 9 Mile Bridge

The bridge on Nine Mile Road near Ennishore Drive has been found to be structurally unsound and has been closed to truck and school bus traffic.

The announcement was made by Acting City Manager Edward Kriewall at Monday's Novi city council meeting.

Acting on Kriewall's report, the council took steps to repair the bridge as soon as possible.

"The paving of Nine Mile Road has generated increased traffic flow," Kriewall told the council in his report. "If we continue to use the bridge as it presently stands, we're asking for trouble."

The Nine Mile Road bridge matter came to light as a result of a study by Kriewall to determine the advisability of constructing guard rails on three Novi bridges—the bridge on Center Street between Eight and Nine Mile, the bridge on Taft Road between Eight and Nine Mile, as well as the Nine Mile-Ennishore Drive bridge.

"I thought it would be wise to have the structural soundness of all three bridges examined before putting up any guard rails," said Kriewall. "When the report came back it showed that the Nine Mile Road bridge should be closed to all trucks and school buses immediately."

To remedy the problem the city manager proposed removing the bridge deck, inserting new tubes of corrugated steel through which the water could flow, and then replacing the bridge deck and installing the guard rails.

Kriewall estimated the cost of the new tubes would be in the neighborhood of $3,000. In addition, he proposed that the work be done by the Novi Department of Public Works at a considerable savings to the city.

An objection was raised by

Councilmen Edwin Presnell, who stated that there was no doubt that something should be done as soon as possible, but that he felt the job should be contracted out rather than

Jaycees Set Dates

For Haunted House

The season of ghosts and goblins is almost here once again and in keeping with the Halloween spirit, the Novi Jaycees will be sponsoring their second annual Haunted House - for those brave enough to attend.

Grand opening is slated for Saturday, October 21 at 1 p.m.

The Haunted House will be located on the east side of Novi Road between Nine and Ten Mile Roads in the same building it was in last year. Signs will indicate the exact location of the house.

This year's Haunted House has been expanded to seven thrill-filled rooms including the Doomed Tombs, the Witch's Den, the Headless Hanged Man, and the Monster-filled Maze.

Outside the house, pointing the way, will be a 25 foot monster.

Hours for the Haunted House are as follows:

Saturday, October 21, 1-10 p.m.

Sunday, October 22, 1-8 p.m.

Thursday, October 26, 6:30-9:30 p.m.

Friday, October 27, 6:30-10 p.m.

Saturday, October 28, 1-10 p.m.

Sunday, October 29, 1-8 p.m.

Monday, October 30, 6:30-10 p.m.

The Haunted House will be closed Halloween Day.

Projects such as the Haunted House, Jaycee spokesman James Deamud pointed out, are sponsored by the Jaycees as fund-raisers which enable them to sponsor such community programs as the Christmas party for underprivileged children, drug abuse seminars, Santa for Servicemen, shooter's education, city and park clean-up and beautification and many others.

Price of admission to the house is 35 cents per person. Group rates are available with reservations.

The 25 foot monster will be available for photographing after October.

For further information contact Deamud at 349-6081.

Train Wreck Averted

A major train wreck that would have done extensive damage to the Timberlane Lumber Company on 10 Mile Road was averted by a matter of minutes late last Thursday night.

"We were lucky to catch the train where we did," said Patrolman Howard Washington of the Michigan Railroad Police while investigating the scene of the near-accident Friday morning. "If the train had gotten past us, it could conceivably have plowed clear through the building out onto 10 Mile Road."

"As it was the train was travelling only 15 miles per hour at the time of the incident and still came within a matter of feet of slamming into some box cars on the siding leading into Timberlane. If the train had been going 50 miles per hour as it usually does, there would have been no way it could have stopped in time. It would have really wiped out the lumber company."

Reason for the near accident, police believe, was some juvenile mischief. Youngsters were responsible for breaking a lock on a railroad switch that leads southbound trains into a siding that runs up to Timberlane, they feel.

The lock was broken and the switch was thrown at 9:45 p.m. The train was scheduled to come through Novi at 50-60 miles per hour at 10:10 p.m.

"It was really close," commented Washington.

The 25 minute interval between the throwing of the switch and the arrival of the train left railroad emergency procedures little time to operate as they are designed.

"As soon as the switch was thrown in Novi," said Jesse Griffith, Washington's partner on the case, "a light went on on a control board up in Saginaw indicating there was trouble on the tracks ahead."

"There's a signal light just west of Novi Road about half a mile from Timberlane. The light turns green whenever a train approaches it unless there's trouble on the tracks ahead in which case it remains red."

"When the engineer sees the red light it is his signal to stop the train and telephone Saginaw from a call box by the tracks. He can't proceed beyond that point until he finds out what the trouble is."

"In this particular situation the engineer called Saginaw and was told that there was trouble on the tracks ahead and that he was to proceed at caution speed (15 miles per hour). If he'd have gotten past that signal he would have gone roaring up onto that

THE GREAT PUMPKIN ROBBERY—Only an average sized pumpkin, you say, and you're right. But when this picture of the four Bissell brothers of Wixom was originally scheduled, plans called for them to be huddled around a monstrous, orange, 100-pound pumpkin they grew in their garden during the summer. "It all started as a contest with their grandfather," explained the boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Beth Bissell of Hopkins Drive. "He gave the boys two pumpkin seeds and he kept two himself and they set out to see who could grow the biggest pumpkin. The boys won going away, they were really excited." But last week the boy's 100-pound beauty was stolen from their garden during the night, leaving them with only a standard sized pumpkin. "I guess we got greedy. We wanted to see if it would grow any bigger," said Mrs. Bissell. Helping the boys to celebrate Halloween in style will be Bugheera, the family's black cat. The boys are from left to right, Scott, aged four; Charles, aged eight; Geoffery, six years old; and two year old Steve.

Council Weighs Request

A request from School Superintendent Gerald Kratz that the city council share in the cost of purchasing a used voting machine for use in a high school government class prompted an angry exchange of words between council members and threatened to bring to an end the period of relative calm in council-school board relations that has existed for late. The council arrived at a general consensus to participate in the purchase of the machine, but decided to take no official action until such time as a set of rules governing proper use and storage of the machine can be agreed to by representatives from the city and school.

"I can't see agreeing to participate in buying a voting machine unless we have a need for it," said Mayor Crup. "If we agree to buy this machine it must be because we can use it and an agreement with the schools that this voting machine must be available to us for a designated period of time before and after every election must be received."

The voting machine issue

SCI Decision Due Soon

A decision on whether Shopping Centers Incorporated will build a major shopping center in Novi or opt for a different location should be forthcoming in the immediate future. Acting City Manager Edward Kriewall told the city council Monday.

Unknown to most people who have been under the impression that Novi would have its own Hudson's store on a piece of land on the Southeast corner of 12 Mile and Novi Roads, a high level power struggle between two developers for clients has been in progress for the past 12 months.

Kriewall told the council that he had been visited by an envoy from Dayton-Hudson last Friday. They inquired about the status of sewer, water, and community opinion toward their development, the acting city manager reported.

Art Linkletter

Celebrity Opens Town Hall

Northville Town Hall began its 12th season last Thursday with a near capacity crowd gathered in the Northville High School Auditorium to hear national radio and television star Art Linkletter talk about his travels, speeches, fans and involvement in the American drug scene.

In introducing the new Town Hall season, the Reverend Lloyd Brasure of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, called the annual event, "a wonderful contribution to the community".

Of Linkletter, Mr. Brasure said, "He has a wealth of experience. He has touched life on many points." He went on to say that what Linkletter could say and teach could be of "value to young and old."

Linkletter, known to most Americans through his "People are Funny" and "House Party" radio and television shows appeared at the podium with his familiar wide grin and "Hi" to the audience which was made up primarily of housewives and some high students.

He began his talk with some biographical information about himself and comments about experiences he's had with fans who recognize him on the street.

"One kid came up to me, and said, 'you look better alive than on television,'" he said. "People do say the darndest things."

Although he makes many speeches and gives numerous talks during the course of a year all over the world, Linkletter explained that he never knows what he is going to say to an audience until he gets out onto the stage. "I change, the world changes and so do audiences," he said.

In speaking about the different kinds of groups to which he has spoken, Linkletter told about groups at the San Quentin penitentiary, a mental hospital, a Korean orphanage, and at a leper colony in the Hawaiian Islands.

A speech at the United Nations, he added, was one rare occasion where the words had to be written beforehand.

"I was speaking on the international narcotics program," he said and explained that additional preparation was needed because "in speaking of drugs, no slang phrases could be used and some of them can't be translated into other languages."

"Also, I was speaking about drugs and drug abuse in America," he said, and the State Department was worried about how it was phrased, because Communist countries could take things out of context and use them in the press to put capitalism down."

There was more joking about audience and humorous anecdotes about his friends President Richard Nixon and California Governor Ronald Reagan.

"The President is a great human being," he said and added that he has known the Presidential family for many years. "When I go to Washington, I stay at the White House and I want to thank all of you taxpayers," he quipped.

There was more light talk about his many interviews with children over the 25 years his "House Party" program was on television and radio and then the talk became much more serious.

"About three years ago," he began, "the fun and laughter ended for a while. I was in Colorado Springs getting ready to speak at the Air Force Academy and I received a telephone call saying my daughter had taken her life during a flashback from LSD."

He called his daughter's death an "inexplicable tragedy" saying that she had "everything to live for" including a career in pictures and recording ahead of her.

"I was determined to make Diane's (his daughter) life meaningful by what I could say to others about drug abuse," he said.

Linkletter added he has learned much more about drug abuse since his daughter's death and has listened to youngsters talk about drugs.

He told the parents in the audience that there are four things to do if they become worried about their children and drugs. "And you better be worried," he added.

First of all, Linkletter advised, "realize it's on your doorstep." Then, he said, learn about it. Linkletter said the third step for parents to take is a look in the mirror.

"Ask yourself if you are a drug abuser," he said, referring to excessive use of alcohol, cigarettes, coffee and sleeping pills.

The fourth step according to Linkletter is to "get close to your youngster without being a buddy," he said.

Then, addressing mainly the students seated in the front rows, Linkletter told them to never take anyone else's advice on which drugs to take. "Any drug in your body can take a different effect, to put it there is like playing Russian Roulette," he advised.

He said that with his own daughter the flashbacks from LSD had occurred previous to her suicide, but "she thought, as so many young people do today, that she was losing her mind."

When asked his age, Linkletter said, "I'm 60 years old. I used to think that was old but now that I'm here, 70 looks old."

His favorite hobbies he told the audience, are snow skiing and surfing.

Linkletter received an approving ovation from the women in the audience when he told them he was negotiating with a sponsor and "might be going back to television shortly."

On the subject of personal achievements of which he is most proud, Linkletter said his first is his family referring to his marriage of 37 years and the success of his children, "in spite of the Hollywood atmosphere."

He then talked about the development of his land in southwestern Australia from a desert to fertile pasture land with roads and schools and farms.

In answer to a question about the appearance of a generation gap between established stars in Hollywood and new stars, Linkletter said he is often "appalled at the crassness and vulgarity" on the movie and television screens by young stars.

"When you turn on your TV and someone drops into your livingroom practically uninvited, it's up to him to behave himself," he said.

Mrs. Jack Doheny, now in second year as Town Hall Chairman, closed the program and announced that the next speaker would be antique expert George Michael on November 9.

Legion Observes Education Week

Making education the top priority is the aim of the American Legion Auxiliary during American Education Week.

Lloyd H. Green Post 147 Auxiliary will be observing American Education Week October 22 through 28.

School officials, parents, students and other interested persons are urged by the auxiliary to acquaint themselves with benefits and opportunities by reading the booklet "Need a Lift."

The booklet is placed in every high school library in Michigan by the Legion and its auxiliary and can lead students to scholarships, loans and part-time jobs.

In the spring of 1972, the American Legion Auxiliary Department of Michigan awarded 18 scholarships. Known as the Past Department President's Memorial Scholarship, the awards carried a $300 scholarship.

This year, scholarship awards have been increased to $500 each. Daughters of veterans may apply for the scholarships through the Lloyd H. Green Post 147. Applications may be obtained by calling 455-9133.

Auxiliary spokesmen explain that the sophomore year of high school is not too soon to begin preparing for college. They suggest beginning with a review of fields in which the student is interested.

High school programs should be planned to include courses required for entrance to college and the auxiliary notes that grades of "B" or better are needed for most scholarships or financial aid.

Hobbies and participation in school, community and church activities are often considered when judging scholarship applications, the auxiliary said.

Court Seeks

Probation Help

Probation department of the 35th District Court will hold a meeting for volunteer probation officers Monday, October 23.

Beginning at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth City Hall courtroom, the meeting is open to those persons interested in becoming probation officers.

The film "Help Me, Please" will be shown. All residents in the area are invited to attend the meeting. The 35th District Court includes both the city and township of Northville.

Esch, Stempien Agree: End the War

condemn the bombing of the North and I disagree with it...but in the same condemnation I very clearly have condemned the shelling of the villages in the South. Clearly an invasion exists there and nothing we do to sweep it under the rug is going to change that."

A more fundamental issue in this campaign, asserted Esch, concerns welfare reform.

"The basic difference between the approach of the President and Senator McGovern," he said, "is that the Senator suggests he is going to take money from the middle income group and redistribute it down to the lower income group. The choice is clear: 'Do we or do we not reform our welfare structure and develop programs to put those people who can work back to work?'"

"And, secondly, in terms of tax reform I think we must recognize and accept the responsibility of continuing to work on tax reform. I introduced Mills proposal on tax reform—the first Republican to do so, and why, because I think we ought to have a systematic review of tax reform. But do you believe that we should do away with the capital gains tax?"

"And directly related to tax is the question of pension

I've been a supporter of pension reform and I serve on the Education Labor Committee. Next year we'll have pension reform. But do you believe that the Federal government should control all of the pensions in this country or should we keep the pension system in the private sector?"

"I think we should provide for vesting more quickly but I question whether or not the Federal government's role is to completely control the pension program and that's basically the position that the UAW supports and the AFL supports and the other union special interest groups support, who in turn are supported by my opponent

We can go on and discuss the fact that my opponent supports the Kennedy program for Medicare. Do you really believe that we should have a Medicare delivery program in this country that costs $70 billion a year? Well, maybe it only costs $58 billion because the Finance Committee said it's somewhere between $58 and $78 billion a year.

"Do you believe that we should have a program costing $58 billion a year? If you do then you vote for my opponent and you deserve to vote for my opponent because that is what he supports."

Stempien rebutted these remarks of Esch by first pointing out he does not propose eliminating capital gains, emphasizing that he supports "the free enterprise, capitalistic economy of this nation."

"But is it right for this nation to have a tax system that allows an oil depletion allowance, which provides a tax shelter for some industry in this nation...which provided some $700 million of profit for Atlantic-Richfield Oil Company, from 1962 to 1968, on which they didn't pay one dime in of Federal taxes?"

"Is it right, also, that we have a Federal tax structure that allows other kinds of tax shelters through which people can avoid the payment of taxes? He (Esch) can shout all he wants about the bogyman of taking money from the middle income people and passing it down to the lower income people. But you know I've represented this area since 1965, with the exception of one term, and I haven't been taking the money from the middle income people and giving it to the poor people.

"I believe that everybody should pay their fair share of taxes, and that's not such a radical proposal, is it? We shouldn't have some people not paying taxes which we have got in this nation today. We should also be working for taxes that are not regressive, that are fair and equitable. We shouldn't have people on fixed incomes paying property taxes that they can't afford so that they have to sell their property, their homes. And I've represented senior citizens who have had that kind of thing happen to them."

"My opponent voted against giving them even a property tax exemption and then he says he is for senior citizens. Health care. It's going to cost some $70 billion, some $58 billion a year? We're paying now some $83 billion a year for health care services that aren't delivered adequately now. We have people who aren't getting the health care that they need."

Bristling, Stempien said he does not try to hang all of President Nixon's programs "around his (Esch's) neck and I'd appreciate it if he does not do the same for me" relative to the programs of Senator McGovern.

He noted that one of the programs wholeheartedly supported by McGovern but opposed by himself is abortion Stempien contended that the Federal government has failed to meet its financial obligations to the states. Specifically, he said Michigan produces more tax revenue than it gets back from the Federal government.

One of his political platforms, he said, is that "the educational system of this state is entitled to get more financial support from the Federal government...support without strings attached, not categorical aid, not aid for library books and only library books or aid for handicapped children only..."

"Congress has got to pay its fair share, and in my view its fair share is at least one-third of the cost of educating children without any strings attached."

Esch, who arrived late because of the House vote earlier in the day that approved revenue sharing, emphasized that the Congressional action, which he supported even before the President took office, will mean return of tax dollars to local communities.

Similarly, he was successful in pushing through Congress the Environmental Protection Agency, he said.

He also took partial credit in "developing the most recent (tax) reforms in 1969 in a program proposed by the President. And since 1969 individual income taxes are down $18.9 billion. Corporate taxes are up $4.9 billion. Excise taxes are down $3.5 billion."

"In 1972 it's true 106 people paid no taxes, and that's probably wrong. But in the same year in the over $200,000 income bracket 15,000 people did pay taxes and those taxes averaged $177,000."

"Ripping Esch for failure to disclose amounts of Federal monies he has used in sending mail outside his Congressional District and suggesting that he is part of the secrecy in government element, Stempien said a major thrust of his role if elected will be for Congressional reform."

"That kind of change has got to come from the majority party, and the party that is to blame for this is my party—the Democratic Party that has controlled Congress for 18 years," he declared. "And I think it's shameful. The people have a right to know and I will fight to see that they have the right to know."

Esch replied that all expenditures of Congressmen are available and are a matter of public record.

Furthermore, he said he, as long ago as 1967, has favored Congressional reform.

"My mailings are clear, they are specific, they are all in accordance with the Committee on Ethics and the Committee on House Administration."

Furthermore, he (Esch) has spent less than all but two other Congressmen, while Stempien has spent more state monies for mailing than all other State Legislators, he added.

As a matter of fact, said Esch, Stempien mailed congratulatory notes, at state expense, to high school graduates in Monroe County—outside his district.

Stempien, who took and won court action against mailing by Esch in Livonia, countered by insisting all his mail outside his district was by his own expense—not at state expense.

Novi Park Board Activities Told

Know what a basketball player, a square dance enthusiast, a musician, and a lady volleyball player have in common?
The answer is that each of them can be participating in a program sponsored by Novi's

Parks and Recreation Commission this winter. The women's volleyball program got underway last week, and dates for the first meetings of the other three programs are all set for the immediate future.

There are plenty of openings in each program, according to Parks and Recreation Commissioner Ray Murphy, and interested people are urged to sign up. The first meeting of the Women's Volleyball League was held at the Novi Middle School last Monday. An orientation period designed to familiarize women with game rules and techniques is currently being taught by Mrs. Sherry Edwards prior to the beginning of actual team competition. Women interested in playing should contact Mrs. Edwards at 349-3570. The girls meet every Monday at the Middle School.

'Free and Female' Topic Of Schoolcraft Speaker

A science writer who has become a best selling author and articulate spokesman in behalf of women and their sexuality will lecture at Schoolcraft College on October 24.

Barbara Seaman has written The Doctor's Case Against the Pill, and more recently Free and Female - the Sex Life of the Contemporary Woman

About Free and Female, Ellen Frankfort has written, "All women who want to understand their sexuality - especially those who have been misled by Dr. Reuben's books - should read this one. In other words before 'Any Woman Does,' she should read 'Free and Female.'"

Lucy Freeman describes it as "one of the most challenging and provocative books I have ever read. Barbara Seaman has given us a courageous new way of thinking about female sexuality."

And, from Betty Freidan, "We hope soon, all women will be liberated enough to be 'Free and Female' in Barbara Seaman's sense - to explore and affirm honestly their own sexuality as subject, not object, and to experience a fully human sexual relationship with man."

Miss Seaman is Child Care and Education Editor of Family Circle and vice president of the Women's Medical Center. A graduate of Oberlin College and Columbia University School of Journalism, she received an Advanced Science Writing Fellowship in 1967. She is married to a psychiatrist and has three children.

"It is important for a woman to view her gynecologist the way she does her television repairman. But often a trip to the gynecologist is a humiliating experience," she goes on. "For instance, instead of letting a woman pick her own form of birth control, he tends to decide for her. A few take great pride in diaphragms and go so far as to say, 'I've never had a diaphragm pregnancy.' Just whose pregnancy is it anyway?"

"Free and Female," has been called the first book to deal with sexuality from a feminist point of view. Originally, however, Miss Seaman says it was intended as a "bride's sex book."

Miss Seaman will be presented in the Waterman Campus Center at 8 p.m. on October 24. Admission is $2 for the general public and $1 for Schoolcraft students. Advance tickets may be purchased in the Administration Building on campus between 1 and 4 p.m. daily and 6 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Her lecture is being sponsored by the Cultural and Public Affairs Committee of the College.

It'll be "strike up the band" Monday, October 23, as the Community Band holds its first meeting at the High School. The band will play every Monday from 7-9 p.m. and all high school and adult musicians are invited to join regardless of their musical skills or number of years away from their instruments.

For information on the Community Band call Ray Murphy at 349-0376 or Guy Smith at 349-7055.

A Square Dancing Club for both experienced and novice dancers is also being organized by the Commission. The Club will meet Thursday evenings at the Community Building. Residents interested in joining are urged

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS By JEANNE CLARKE 624-0173

Jan Harbin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harbin of Grand River, was honored at a bridal shower Wednesday, October 18 by many of her friends. Hostess was Mrs. John Tymensky. Jan will marry Frank Kucinski on November 11 at the United Methodist Church. She will also be honored on Sunday at another shower given by Barbara and Loretta Harbin at the Harbin home for members of her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Behrendt of Meadowbrook Road entertained about 20 friends and members of their family on Sunday. Among those present were their grandchildren and their families, the Bill Gray family and the Tom Darling family.

Weekend guests at the Gellinger home on 12 1/2 Mile Road were Mrs. Billinger's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Andrus and daughter Anita of Traverse City. While here they attended the wedding of their niece, Robin Jackson, in Dayton Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Button of Grand River attended the Central Baptist Church at Southgate on Sunday evening and heard the Osovo Choir of the John Wesley College in concert. Their daughter, Rose, is a member of the choir and will be on tour with it for the next few weeks.

Mrs. Marie LaFond was special guest at a luncheon at the home of Hazel Mandlik on Tuesday. Other guests included Jerry Kent, Alma Klasener and Edna Highstreet.

Virginia Munro of Taft road attended the reunion of staff members of Camp Cherith at Oscoda over the weekend. Patty Shank, who is a student at John Wesley College, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shank of Taft Road.

Mrs. Lucille Holloway has been a patient in St. Joseph Hospital in Pontiac for the past week. She is expected to be released soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thomas attend the 50th Wedding anniversary of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Caulron.

Eugenie Choquet and Leon Dochot were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Robertson of Brighton on Sunday.

Mr. Joe Flotte of South Lake Drive is ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tank of Nine Mile Road attended the Grand Chapter Session of Order of Eastern Stars at Grand Rapids on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Erwin F. Geppert returned home from a week's trip to San Francisco where he attended the International Gear Conference.

Bill MacDermaid was home over the weekend to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mac Dermaid of Stassen Street.

It was sweet revenge for Russ Fertitta of 23259 Enshore Drive Friday night.

For the past three years his friends at the Chrysler Proving Grounds in Chelsea where he works have presented him a "loser's trophy" following Chelsea's victories over the Novi football team.

But this year was Fertitta's year to shine as the Wildcats pummeled the Bulldogs 35-0.

Last year, when the big game was played in Novi, Fertitta invited his Chelsea friends to a post-game party at his home, and his friends returned the favor this year by inviting Fertitta and his Novi friends to an "after the game" party at the Inverness Country Club.

Highlight of the evening was, of course, Fertitta's presentation of the "loser's trophy" to the Chelsea contingent.

The entire evening was a great success, according to the Novi fans, and they hope to continue the post-game party tradition in the future.

Several employees of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority were honored at the annual recognition dinner held at Roma Hall in Livonia on Saturday, October 14.

Among those honored were: George F. Seeley, 64 of Brighton former head of the department of purchasing, supply and equipment maintenance for the Authority, who completed his active service on July 31, 1972;

William A. Muellenhagen, 65 of New Hudson, an employee of the central warehouse at Kensington Metropolitan Park since April 5, 1966, who completes 6 1/2 years of service.

James H. Cash of New Hudson, who works at the central Authority garage located in Kensington Metropolitan Park and has the responsibility for maintenance of all park equipment throughout the nine parks of the Huron-Clinton;

Guy F. Fisher of South Lyon, a maintenance worker at Kensington Metropolitan Park, who joined the Authority on May 28, 1957.

Edward Phillips, a member of the maintenance staff and Mrs. Billie J. Walls, secretary at Lower Huron.

Revitalize Novi Chamber

necessarily detrimental to the interests of business. "We have a council that is more oriented toward the subdivisions than it is to business," said Button. "We probably pay 50 percent of the taxes and yet have only one percent of the vote. By acting as a group I think we will be able to exert increased influence over the council's decisions."

A second need for a strong chamber was cited by Sullivan, who asserted that there is no place where potential business residents can get information about the city.

"Most of the industry we have now is because the owners had to research the area at their own expense. Novi is a very fine location because of its relation to major highways. Potential businesses shouldn't have to research this information by themselves. We should have it readily available to them. There's got to be a place where they can come and find enthusiastic support of the city," he said.

Avert Novi Train Wreck

siding at 50 miles per hour. "There'd have been no way he could have stopped."

To prevent against such accidents railroads install a derail bar on the tracks. "The idea," says Washington, "is to put the train on the ground rather than let it plow through a building."

But this time the derail bar didn't do its job. It got wedged between the train's wheels, explained Griffith.

There were 51 cars, two engines, and a caboose in the train.

Police have not completely dismissed the idea that it might have been a professional job. Sometimes a train will be purposefully derailed and thieves will be "ripping off" one end, while workmen are working at the other end, noted a Novi officer.

Still, police feel that the Timberland incident was probably the result of juveniles tampering with the switch.

Mini-bike tracks were found leading directly to the switch and last week five juveniles were taken into custody for throwing rocks at a passing train, breaking out a window. "We don't know if there was any connection between the rock throwing incident and the thrown-switch," said Washington. "But we're investigating the matter closely. The penalty for train derailment, he noted, is from life to any amount of years. It's a pretty serious charge," he added. "We don't take it lightly."

POW BRACELET—Mrs. Kenneth (Beverly) Meyers is one of the first persons to purchase a POW bracelet from Al Simon, chairman of the Northville Jaycee project. Each bracelet contains the name of a serviceman captured or missing in action in Southeast Asia and the date he was lost. Bracelets should be worn and not removed until the day the Red Cross is certain of the serviceman's status and that he is receiving humane treatment, Simon said. The bracelets may be purchased through the Jaycees by contacting Simon at Earl Keim Realty, 330 North Center Street.

Residents Hosts Visitors

By NANCY DINGELDEY

For once I have beaten the weatherman and can proudly say that I got my windows washed under partly cloudy skies instead of the usual "wait 'til the last minute" snow flurries. And this time my hands didn't turn that sickly blue color either.

It's not that I dislike doing household chores... it's the contemptable attitude I have towards them. In short you might say that I think they're hateful. I do like sparkling windows and shining floors if only they would stay (sparkling and shining) after all the hours it took to get them looking that way.

For example. Cleaning the stove. I wish mine would blow up so I could get one that would self-clean. Took many hours cleaning and polishing. Bright and early the next morning, the coffee boiled over spewing grounds and brown water over everything. When the stove is dirty, the coffee never boils over. Then it was potato water and drippy goo from a culinary delight.

Or the pitcher of kids soft drink dropped on the "I just waxed that floor". Or, let's play walrus in the bathtub tonight which means water from one end of the "I just waxed that floor too" to the other end.

Ah, but what stirred my hidden talents in the house cleaning department to the surface? A visit from the relatives naturally. A full months cleaning squeezed into four slight days... windows, floors, furniture, curtains, rugs, basement and appliances. Lost sleep, aching muscles, harried nerves.

And now that they've gone, I wonder if anyone ever really noticed.

But I wasn't the only one with visiting relatives. Jane and Ollie Wahamaki have with them Karen and Rob Adams along with Janie and newly arrived Charles. Rob is with the Navy stationed in California. They are here visiting Karen's folks for about two weeks.

Visiting with the Tillman's over the weekend was Helen's mother, Mrs. C. M. Wittman from New Hartford, New York. She also spent a few days with Helen's sister in Ypsilanti, visited friends in Fenton, and, along with the Tillman's, attended "Pat Boone in Concert" at the U. of M. in Ann Arbor before continuing her motoring trip to Iowa.

Back from a two-week trip to southern California are Louise and Ray Matson. Boating, fishing, soaking up the sun and a lot of sight-seeing occupied their time. They took a side trip to Death Valley to visit with an old prospector friend who has built himself a little oasis out in the middle of nowhere. Louise did a little "prospecting" herself and found some very old bottles and horseshoes cast aside by previous wayfarers way back when.

Squeezing in one last camping trip before the really chill winds come from the North were Eleanor and Ray Mustonen and Helen and Hank Mack. They spent last week in Kentucky in the "Land Between the Lakes" area. Lots of fishing, boating and nature hiking filled the glorious days. The weather was great, no frost down there yet and the countryside extremely beautiful.

For those of you planning a trip within Michigan to see the Language Clubs, Visit Market

The French-Spanish clubs of Novi High School recently visited the Detroit Institute of Arts and the Old World Market.

Purpose of the trip, a spokesman explained, was to see examples of French and Spanish art and to see displays of old world crafts and sample foreign foods. Club members made the trip by bus.

fall beauty, better make those plans now. The colors will be fading rather quickly this year no thanks to the weatherman.

The colors stay longer with warm days, cool nights and only slight winds. Since our days have been far from that it would seem that our beautiful fall season will be over very soon.

Benstein Road from Wixom into Commerce had an exceptional show of foliage this year although I really think last years was even more glorious.

If the thickness of a dogs coat is indicative of the season coming up, I would gather that a good supply of fire wood, stacked near the back door was in order.

Our "outside" dogs' coat seems to be developing more rapidly this year and appears to be extra thick. Can that mean "snuggie" weather sooner than we think?

Northville Coed Chairs Festivities

Editor's note: The writer of this article is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Weston, 20374 Woodhill Road. She is majoring in journalism at Michigan State University and submitted this story about another Northville student at MSU.

By LESLI WESTON

"My mother always told me that if you want something done right, do it yourself," said Judy Bogart, 1970 Northville High School graduate.

Judy, 20, is the homecoming co-ordinator at Michigan State University for the second consecutive year. She is majoring in nursing at MSU and is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Homecoming 1972 began Wednesday and continues with a bonfire-concert today. The homecoming game this Saturday pits MSU against Wisconsin. During halftime the 1952 football team will be introduced to spectators, carrying out the "Flashback '50s" theme.

The burden of planning four days of events falls heavily on Judy's shoulders. But she isn't complaining.

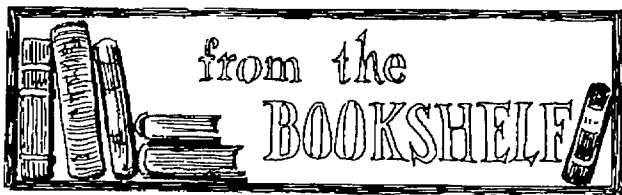

"It's a chance to meet and work with everyone in the community, both adults and students," Judy said enthusiastically. "This year we're having problems again with fire regulations and our bonfire-concert plans, but I'm sure everything will work out as it did last year."

"We're planning a goldfish eating contest for the 'Flashback '50s' party after the homecoming game," she continued, "and the Department of Health is squeamish about THAT."

Leadership comes easily to Judy. During her freshman year at MSU she was elected president of her floor in her residence hall and as a sophomore she was elected president of the entire dormitory. Now that she lives off-campus at her sorority house she still maintains close ties with student government.

"Coming from a small town like Northville made things easy for me at a huge university like MSU," she explained. "I was active in high school and at college I stepped into the action with ease."

She is the daughter of Robert W. Bogart and the late Virginia Bogart, 46638 W. Main, in Northville.

Class Planned In Esperanto

HENRY GEORGE

Want to learn an unusually easy "foreign" language? If so a class in Esperanto now in the formative stages here may be the answer.

The organizational meeting—for both adults and high school students—is scheduled for Thursday, November 2 at 7:30 p.m. in a Northville school not yet designated.

Having no outside sponsorship, the class is described as a "self-learning" experience with relatively little formal instruction, according to George Lockhart, an Esperantist who has volunteered to lead the class.

Lockhart was persuaded to launch the class by citizens of the community who recently voiced enthusiasm upon reading he is a strong advocate of this 80-year-old international language that is rapidly gaining in popularity in the United States.

"We can safely say that after very little classroom instruction and a minimal of practice at home participants will be able to both read and speak at least elementary sentences," Lockhart said.

No fees will be required, except less than $5 cost for instructional materials.

Lockhart will not be paid, getting his reward "from seeing others learn while correcting some of my own shortcomings in the language."

He emphasized that the experience "can help us better understand our own English grammar."

A piano tuner by occupation, 80-year-old Lockhart is a self-educated Northville resident who is convinced that Esperanto will one day be used throughout the world as the principal means of communication between peoples of different language.

Most of the words of Esperanto have the appearance of common languages and hence are easily recognized even by those with little or no formal language training. Furthermore, there are far fewer rules and exceptions in this language than in English which makes for easier understanding of the grammar, he said.

Persons who may be interested in participating in the class but who might not be able to attend the organizational meeting are urged to call Lockhart at FT 9-1945.

Novi High Holds Drug Abuse Talks

In conjunction with Drug Abuse Prevention Week, teachers at Novi High School Tuesday conducted seminars regarding the dangers of drug usage during second hour classes.

In a program initiated by Principal Hal Seymour teachers discussed problems of drug usage and distributed literature regarding drug abuse.

Stressed during the discussions were the attitudes that drug dependence is wrong, a serious problem for the individual, and serious problem for society.

In addition, students were made aware that there are various sources available in the community which can provide assistance and counseling when drug problems arise.

George Enters 19th Race

Henry L. George, a former Novi Township trustee, has been named by the American Independent Party as its candidate for Congress in the 19th District.

Announcement of his candidacy was made by Harold Davidson, Oakland County chairman of the AIP. "Lloyd George of 40958 Malott Drive, Novi, a founder of the Oakland County Conservative Club," said

Davidson, "will provide voters of the 19th District with a hard-hitting alternative to the candidates of the Republican and Democrat branches..."

Running on the Republican ticket is William Broomfield, and on the Democratic ticket, George Montgomery.

George said, "I have entered this race because I am deeply concerned for the future of our society, when I see the very foundation of civilization being eaten away by the Socialist cancer that is being introduced into our national life under the guise of social reform.

"An example of what I am talking about is the proposal that will appear on the November ballot in Michigan, falsely labeled 'abortion reform'"

You won't be getting your mail Monday, October 23, and don't expect to be able to get into the banks.

But if you have business to transact at any of the Novi municipal offices, go right ahead.

Novi's city council Monday passed a resolution amending the city's policy of closing on Veteran's Day, giving city employees the Friday after Thanksgiving off instead.

The change was made at the request of the city employees, and was supported by City Manager Edward Kriewail, who told the council that this would put the city's policy in line with that of most developers and contractors.

"In the past we've found that we have almost no business whatsoever on the day after Thanksgiving," he said, "because all of the contractors take the day off I'm sure it would be much more profitable for the city to adopt the same policy."

The motion to amend the policy was passed 6-0, although Councilman Edwin Presnell said his vote was a "reluctant" yes and expressed concern that Veteran's Day wasn't being properly observed.

David Fried, city attorney, informed the council that even though offices will be open Veteran's Day, law required that no legal business be transacted.

The city council will not be affected by the change, however, and will meet next Tuesday instead of Monday due to the fact that Veteran's Day is a legal holiday.

...it's money down the drain

Drip. Drip. Drip. A leaky faucet is an annoying noise. But it will annoy you even more when we tell you a water faucet leaking one drop per second will drip hundreds of gallons of hot water in a year's time. This means you're not only wasting water but probably wasting water heating dollars, too. Often, a new faucet washer and a few minutes of your time will cure the faucet drip. Commission OKs Party Store Plan

Site plan for the proposed party store on Eight Mile Road, east of the Boron service station at Taft, was approved by the Northville Planning Commission Tuesday night. Action followed submission of still another site plan to planners, who earlier had rejected proposals because of the building's location on the property and because they failed to provide minimum parking

Upon review of the latest plan, however, Commissioner Francis Gazlay reported it met all requirements in approving the site plan and emphasizing that the architectural plan must still be presented to the commission, members urged the owner to consider an Early American design in keeping with the station next door

In another matter Tuesday, the commission accepted the site plan for an addition to Northville Laboratories, referred it to committee, and directed the owners to submit additional details prior to the commission's next meeting. The addition is to be used as a warehouse.

That next regular meeting of the commission, originally scheduled for November 7, has been changed to Thursday, November 9 because of the November 7 election.

Planners also refined a proposed ordinance by Planning Consultant Ronald Nino to control storage of recreational vehicles on residential property. After revising the proposal, the commission voted to put it to a public hearing on November 21.

Also to come up at that public hearing will be an ordinance amendment permitting the storage of recreational vehicles in M-1 (industrial) districts.

Planners also recommended several private street names for Thompson-Brown's condominium development at Eight Mile and Taft. Several of the names suggested by the developer could not be used because of the existence of similar street names elsewhere in the area. The commission chose names prominent in the Revolutionary War period to fit the street name theme.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff urged the commission to consider clarification of three zoning-permit matters:

- Parking of trucks in drives of residential properties

- Determine what, if any, types of businesses (i.e., occasional hair dressing, washing, etc.) should be permitted in homes. Determine whether or not site plans should be required of changing property uses where physical structure change is not made.

The latter suggestion rekindled an argument by Commission Chairman Thomas Wheaton that the ordinance, in his opinion, requires site plan review. Furthermore, as he has in the past, Wheaton challenged the city manager's right to grant occupancy permits to such businesses as Hartford real estate on South Main and Keim Realty on North Center since these businesses did not submit site plans to the commission.

Ollendorff, who contends the ordinance does not require site plans in use changes only, conceded differences of opinion exist and for this reason the commission should clarify the ordinance.

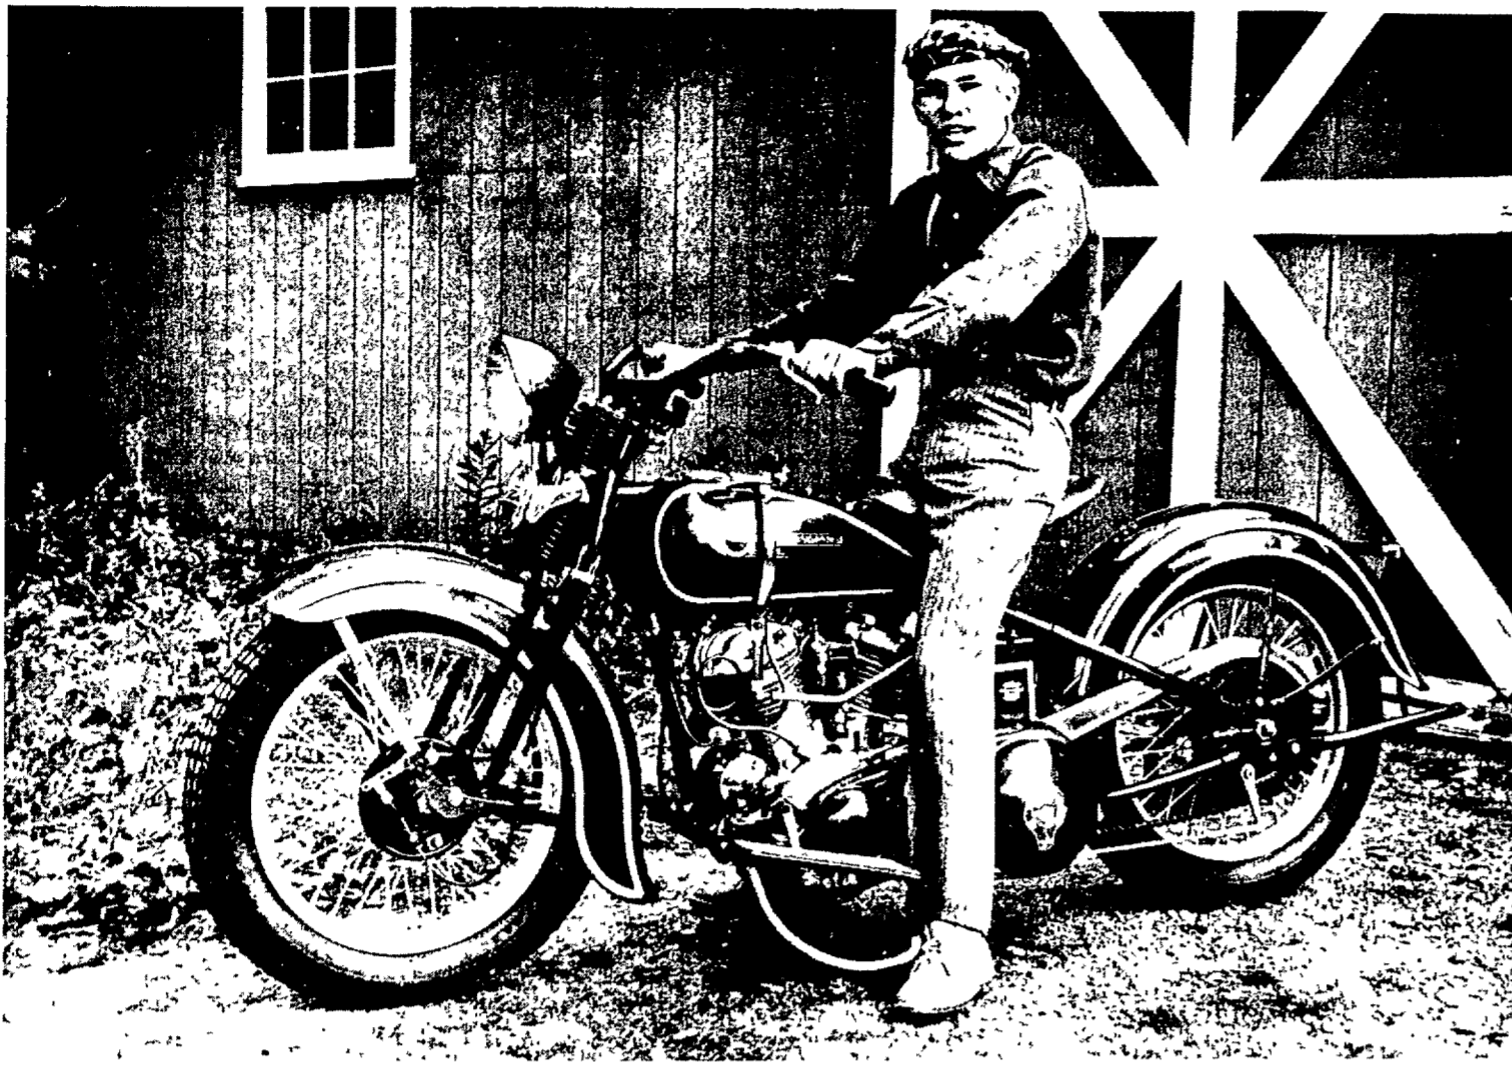

However, he suggested that if the commission is disturbed by specific cases it should seek a ruling from the city attorney. And if the attorney rules that site plans are required, Ollendorff would have no recourse but to go back to the businesses and demand such plans after the fact, the city manager said.

In connection with these matters, Commissioner Wallace Nichols also suggested officials consider again the licensing of businesses.

Commissioner Charles Freydl noted that presently businesses not located in Northville and not paying taxes are permitted, without license, to sell products and services, i.e., food, household items, dry cleaning, etc. as part of traveling sales routes.

Concerning Hartford real estate, commissioners informed Ollendorff that this business has not yet installed green belts as required by ordinance.

ANTIQUE MOTORCYCLE—Bruce "Chip" Thomas, 17, of Shadbrook is shown with the 1936 Harley-Davidson motorcycle which he completely restored in a year. On October 7, Chip was awarded second prize at the Antique Automobile Club of America's fall meet in Hershey, Pennsylvania. This was the second time he was awarded second prize in the antique motorcycle division. Chip's interest in restoring the motorcycle was fostered by the Thomas family's hobby of restoring antique automobiles. Another Northville resident, Ray Jackson, was awarded a first place prize at the Hershey meet for his restored 1933 V-8 Victoria Ford in a division for all 1932 and 1933 automotive products. Jackson has owned the car for seven years and it has taken him six of those years to completely restore it.

Colts Post 3 Victories

Northville's varsity little league football team ran its season's record to an impressive 6-0 with a 20-8 triumph over the Westland Rockets last week, but it was a good week all the way around for the Northville little league gridders.

As has happened all season long, it was the varsity which led the way against the Rockets. A 60 yard sprint in the first quarter and a quarterback sneak in the second gave the Colt varsity a quick 14-0 lead.

The Westland lads managed to push across a second quarter score also, however, to make the half time margin 14-8. The Colts upped their lead to 20-8 with a third quarter touchdown and then get stingy on defense to preserve the 20-8 lead. The junior varsity defense was stingy from the onset as they held the Rockets scoreless and enabled the Colts to win 14-0. The Colt touchdowns came on a 12 yard sweep around the left end in the second quarter and an eight yard end-around play in the third quarter.

The Colt freshmen also posted a victory against the Rockets, as a 30 yard return of an intercepted pass in the last minute of the first half produced the game's only touchdown and gave them a 6-0 victory.

Police Blotter

Investigate Death, Assault Here

In Township

Investigation into the death of Alger F. Quast, 57, is continuing this week following the discovery of his body last Wednesday night, October 11.

Mr. Quast, who lived alone, was found in his home at 20000 Springwood Drive in Northville township at 9 p.m.

Township police were summoned to the home after Mr. Quast's secretary and her husband tried without success to contact him.

He was found in bed fully clothed, police said, and there were no signs of violence or forced entry. An autopsy revealed a high carbon monoxide content in his blood.

Police said Mr. Quast's car was in the garage with the ignition in the "on" position but the battery was dead.

Pills discovered near the body were found to be barbiturates, police said.

Two persons were injured last week following an accident at Maxwell and Stoneleigh roads.

Injured were Michael W. Castillo of 41400 West Seven Mile Road and Foster D. Ashby of 19476 Maxwell.

Police said Ashby was northbound on Maxwell about 9 p.m. October 9 when his car was struck by Castillo who was westbound on Stoneleigh.

Both were taken to St. Mary hospital for treatment and released.

Castillo was ticketed for failing to have his vehicle under control.

COURT NEWS

Jack A. Wildman of Taylor pled guilty to an added count of driving while ability impaired and was fined $154.

Wildman, who was arrested July 19 by township police, had been charged with drunken driving, a charge which was dismissed after he pled guilty to the added count.

The action came October 10 in 35th District Court.

Driving without a license resulted in a $29 fine for Kenneth L. Garrett of 111 West Main Street. Arrested September 19, he pled guilty to the charge.

Rodney R. Bidwell of Detroit was found guilty of driving without a license and fined $39. He was arrested in August on a warrant for the charge.

Following a pre-sentence investigation, Tyrone Huskey of Detroit was found guilty of driving with a suspended license and fined $54. He was arrested on the charge in February.

In Northville

City police are investigating an assault on three Northville High students which occurred Friday.

The three reported they were shot at while working on science projects in a wooded area just off the high school drive near Eight Mile Road. The incident took place at 1:45 p.m.

According to reports, two youths in a light green Dodge two-door shot at them with what appeared to be an air gun, striking the girl and one of the boys in the back. The pellets did not penetrate the skin.

The two youths in the car continued eastbound on the drive to Center Street. Driver of the car was described as in his teens with long sandy brown hair.

Two prowler complaints were reported to police Friday night. A woman on Rogers Street saw a male, approximately five feet 10 inches run from her basement door shortly after 9:30 p.m. The youth headed towards Eight Mile Road.

At 11 p.m., a woman on Dunsany reported a prowler was knocking on her garage door. Both men were gone before the police arrived.

Vandals slit an awning at Travel Plans, 101 East Main Street, last week and destroyed several soccer nets at Ford Field. Value of the awning was placed near $150. One of the soccer nets, valued at $85, was also taken from the field.

COURT NEWS

Mary J. McLaughlin of 42580 Eight Mile Road was fined $39 after she pled guilty to improper passing causing an accident.

She was ticketed September 10 by city police. The action was taken before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis on October 10.

In Novi

Destruction and theft of school property top the Novi police blotter this week.

Officers were summoned to the Orchard Hills Elementary School early Monday morning to investigate a report that several school windows had been broken.

Upon arrival they discovered that four large windows had been broken out sometime over the weekend. Value of the destruction was placed between $300 and $350.

"That playground is a good play area for a lot of children," said Novi Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner. "It would be a shame if it became necessary to fence it off to protect against similar cases."

Faulkner also indicated that if the department discovers who is responsible for the damage, they, or their parents if a juvenile is apprehended, will be expected to make full restitution for the windows.

A breaking and entering of the Novi High School machine shop which resulted in the theft of several small engines and tools last week has been solved by Novi police.

Four juveniles were taken into custody and charged with the offense following an immediate investigation of the machine shop.

Faulkner said the four youths involved were all local residents and indicated that appropriate action would be taken in conjunction with their apprehension.

An adding machine and a tool box filled with miscellaneous tools were reported stolen from the Simmons Orchard Packing House last week.

Bruce Simmons, owner of the business, told officers that the theft occurred sometime between 1 and 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 10.

Value of the items was estimated at $225.

Arrested on charges of drunken driving last week were Steve Peter Kloop, 23, of Southgate; John Joseph Siegrist, 43, of 40422 Village Woode Road in Novi; George Stuart O'Dale, 51, of Detroit; Harry Louis Dace, 68, of 40217 Jefferson in Novi; Richard Frank Goutlay, 32, of Livonia; and William H. Powell, 41, of Belleville.

In Wixom

Police are investigating a larceny of building supplies from a construction site at 49800 Martin Drive.

The owner of the stolen supplies called police Wednesday, October 12, to report he had seen someone in a red jeep drive up to the site, load some supplies into the jeep, and then take off before he could be apprehended.

A car stolen from Tiger Stadium sometime after 9 a.m. Wednesday, October 12, had been driven to Wixom, stripped, and abandoned before 11 a.m. the same day.

The abandoned vehicle was found by Wixom police in the woods north of Loon Lake Road at 11:10 a.m. Wednesday. All four tires had been removed from the car, as had the spare tire from the vehicle's trunk.

Police traced the car through its registration number and discovered it was owned by a Lincoln Park man, Raymond Sanderlin. Sanderlin told officers he had parked the car in a lot adjoining Tiger Stadium at 9 a.m. that morning.

A routine investigation of an automobile accident led to the arrest of John Shouse of 2440 Diamond Court in Wixom on charges of drunken driving.

Officers were summoned to a location on Loon Lake Road to police a car which had left the road and overturned. Shouse, the alleged driver of the overturned vehicle, was found at the scene by the officers and charged with driving under the influence of liquor.

If you find a 100 pound pumpkin lying on your front lawn some morning, call the Wixom police. They're looking for one.

Mary Beth Bissel of Hopkins Drive reported that someone had taken a 100 pound pumpkin which her son had grown. The theft occurred during the night of October 10 and 11.

Debate Appointment To Building Authority

"It smells to me like we're being railroaded," charged Novi city councilman Edwin Presnell. And apparently the rest of the council concurred to the point that the matter was referred to City Attorney David Fried for his legal opinion. At issue was the appointment of former City Manager George Athas to the Novi Building Authority-the five explained, will be using a specially prepared census sheet for taking the school census, the voting precinct information and the opinion on summer tax collection.

Plan Census-Opinion Poll

Separate year-round school questionnaires will be completed for each of the randomly selected 750 families on the census roll. In addition, all other families not included in the 750 family sample, will be given mail-back questionnaires.

"Every family with or without children not designated for the (year-round school) interview," explained Busard, will be given a questionnaire and asked to complete it and mail it back to our offices.

However, enumerators will, if requested, hand carry the completed form back to us.

The questionnaires need not be signed."

In connection with the census, each enumerator will count all children from birth to 20 years of age. Age of children will be recorded as of May 31. (A child who will be 5 years of age on June 1 will be recorded as a 4-year-old).

The count will include children of legal guardians and those persons, whose parents or legal guardians reside in the district, in the armed forces.

Also, enumerators will take a census of all handicapped children, age from birth to 25. Handicapped children are defined as those who are deaf, hard of hearing, blind or partially blind, mentally handicapped, and those with crippling diseases, i.e., heart disease, cleft lip and palate, cystic fibrosis, kidney disease, diabetes, etc.

This information, emphasized Busard, will be held by the district in the strictest confidence. "It is essential that we have it so that the district may determine the kinds of special education programs that may be needed to help these youngsters," he explained.

Parents needing information regarding the definition of a handicapped child may contact Busard or Superintendent Raymond Spear. Similarly, those who may have questions about any other part of the census may contact these two administrators.

Other specific information sought by the enumerators will include:

Names and addresses of parents; names, places of birth and ages of children; whether or not the family owns or rents its home; type of dwelling in which they live; i.e., single family home, apartment, condominium, etc.; the municipal precinct in which they live, i.e., Northville Township Precinct 1, City of Northville Precinct 3, etc.

By knowing the types of dwelling in which people are living, "we will have a more accurate count of students coming from the various kinds of housing," explained Busard.

"We want to know municipal precincts in which they live so that we can incorporate this information on school registration cards we intend to give voters within our school district. Also, it will help us determine where best to draw our school district precinct boundaries and where school polling places may eventually be placed."

Since those persons who vote in school elections register for those elections through their municipalities—and not the school—school officials cannot easily double-check accuracy of registration, he said. Registration data is supplied school officials by the six municipalities comprising the school district.

Busard explained that under the law polling places for school elections need not, however, be located in schools. "It is conceivable, for example, that if we find sufficient numbers of registered voters in an area that does not now have a school we could even rent a trailer and temporarily place it there for voting." Additional polling places, he said, will speed up registration checking and cut down waiting time for voters.

Enumerators, according to Busard, will be paid separately for their collection of data concerning year-round school since this survey, which allows for a scientifically programmed analysis, is being financed by funds included in the state-federal grant for Northville's experimental year-round program. Cost of the remaining portion of the survey will be borne by the school district.

Novi Officials Weigh Request

was raised two weeks ago when two students - Mel Stephens and Pat Boyer - from high school teacher Del Munson's government class approached the council for the use of the city's voting machine to use in a mock election.

Due to the complicated technical and legal implications of moving the machines, their request was denied, but the council suggested they consider purchasing a used machine they could have permanently.

Kratz' letter to the council informed them that a used machine could be purchased for somewhere between $350 and $500. Suggesting that the machine could be utilized by the city as a back-up machine and that participating in the expense could help to ease the often-strained feelings between the council and the school board, Kratz asked the council to pick up 50 percent of the cost.

City Clerk Mabel Ash told the council that such a machine could be utilized by the city in elections, particularly for the counting of absentee ballots.

In addition, Mrs. Ash told the council that the time is rapidly approaching when there will be a need to create new voting precincts. "I'm very much afraid of what we're going to do this year with overcrowding on election day," she said. "We're going to have to find new locations for putting voting machines. Perhaps if we cooperate with the school on this, they'll cooperate with us when we ask to establish polling places in their school buildings."

Strongly supporting the request to pay for half of the machine was Councilman Raymond Evans. "The school board is apparently looking at us with the idea that we can cooperate with each other," he said. "Even though we've had our differences in the past, I'm perfectly willing to try again, and I think this would be a good way to do it."

Evans also stated that he thought it was part of the council's responsibility to educate the students in proper voting procedures.

As objections to participating in buying the machine mounted, Evans became increasingly upset with his fellow councilmen and finally said, "Let's just forget the whole thing if there's going to be this much trouble. I'll contribute the money to the school board in the name of the city rather than go through all this. For the fee of only $250 I think all this debate is ridiculous."

Target of his words were councilmen Denis Berry and Louie Campbell, who used the request to renew long-standing matters of dispute between the two bodies.

Said Campbell, "I don't expect the city to buy equipment for the school, any more than I expect the school to buy equipment for the city." Campbell then made reference to the school board's recently adopted $2 million budget.

Added Berry, "If we do let them buy the machine maybe the students will look favorably upon us and vote in a new school board that would be much more generous than the one we have now when it comes to pay for the paving of Taft Road

STATE OF MICHIGAN

SPECIAL TRIBUTE

LET IT BE KNOWN

That HARVIN R. STEMPIEN is leaving the House of Representatives after 3 terms in office.

In his 6 years in Lansing, Marvin Stempien has given selflessly of his very considerable talents and energy in finding solutions to the very complex problems facing the people of Michigan. A strong advocate of consumer protection laws, he was instrumental in the creation of the Michigan Consumer Council and worked very hard in securing the passage of the State's present laws protecting consumers.

In his first term in office Marvin Stempien served as a member of the Governor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Court Reform. In this capacity he contributed in no small way to the reformation of the State's court system. A proponent of district courts, he was successful in contributing to the realization of the district court system.

Mindful of man's abuse of his environment, Marvin Stempien's dynamism exhibited itself in the passage of very significant legislation concerning natural resources and ecology. He was a cosponsor of the "Environmental Control Act of 1970" and the "Truth in Pollution Act of 1970". Recognition of his concern for the environment came in 1971 when he was nominated to receive the "Conservationist of the Year" Award by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Evidence of his superb leadership qualities and devotion to hard work are amply attested to by his service as Majority Floor Leader and his membership in the very important House Committee on Appropriations where he is Chairman of the Subcommittees on General Government and on Computers. He is also a member of the Legislative Council and the House Fiscal Agency Board. In these positions he has demonstrated himself to be deeply concerned with legislative efficiency.

Born in Detroit on July 26, 1933, a graduate of the University of Detroit High School, the University of Michigan School of Business Administration and recipient of the degree of Juris Doctor from the Detroit College of Law in 1960, Marvin Stempien is married to the former Corinne Lotowski and is the father of 4 daughters Lynne, Christine, Sharon and Lisa.

In 1966 the Lansing Press Corps named Marvin Stempien as the "outstanding Freshman Representative" of that year. His performance in every year since he was so honored has been nothing less than outstanding; now therefore

Salem Township

Planners OK Rezoning

Discussion rather than action featured Salem Township Planning Commission's regular quarterly meeting Monday.

The commission read special meeting minutes recommending a rezoning approval, discussed a planned mobile home ordinance and looked ahead to the January reorganizational meeting and sewer and water availability for the township.

Minutes of the special September meeting reflected recommended approval for the rezoning of 12 acres fronting North Territorial and Napier roads from agricultural to low density residential. Owned jointly in Section 25 by Alexander, Dorothy and Alan McClelland, the parcel's disposition is now before the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission.

and Taylor responded that there are no concrete plans for either utility in the township in the near future.

TWO ACRE PARCELS of land owned by the City of Northville in neighboring Novi are to go on the selling block soon. The nearly forgotten two parcels, owned by Northville since before the turn of the Century, once were part of a water main from Novi springs to Northville. One landlocked parcel (436 x 100 feet) is located off Beck Road between Nine and 10 Mile Roads. The other 209 x 251 feet faces on Beck Road, just south of the 9 1/2 Mile line. Bids are to be secured on the latter, while the city will negotiate with Manufacturers' Bank, which owns property surrounding the landlocked parcel, for sale of the other.

done by the D.P.W.

Kriewall told Presnell that he thought the cost of the job could be cut in half by having the D.P.W. do the work.

Much of the discussion centered on the question of whether or not the city would have to advertise for bids for the tubes.

According to the city charter, all expenditures in excess of $1,000 have to be bid. Kriewall argued, however, that the charter provides for the waiving of bids in emergency cases.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Kriewall, "this is an emergency situation."

Finally, with the concurrence of City Attorney David Fried who said he would report back if the motion was in conflict with the city charter, the council authorized the city manager to proceed with emergency repairs of the Nine Mile Road bridge with expenditures for the tubes not to exceed $4,000. The motion passed by a 5-1 margin with Presnell casting the sole dissenting ballot.

(Councilman William O'Brien was not present. He is recuperating at home from a recent operation.)

Also with the concurrence of Fried the council by a 6-0 vote tacked on an amendment to the motion which instructed the city manager to secure at least three sealed bids for the tubes by next Monday's council session.

The council also gave its concurrence to the city manager to secure guard rails for the two other bridges, the Center Street bridge and the Taft Road bridge.

Cost of the guard rails was estimated by Kriewall at $550. Guard rails on the Nine Mile Road bridge will cost $660, Kriewall told the council.

AN ACTING city clerk is to be named soon by the city council. Since the retirement and subsequent death of Mrs. Martha Milne the city has been served by a number of deputy clerks.

3. Poll district residents to determine if they approve or disapprove of the proposed summer tax collection for schools.
4. Gather opinions of 750 school district families on the Voluntary Extended School Year Program. Excluded from this opinion poll will be those families whose children presently are enrolled in the experimental Voluntary Extended School Year Program at Amerman Elementary School.

Residents of the Northville Public Schools District are urged to cooperate with the Census Enumerators who visit their homes.

Epidemic Threatens Football Activities

FIVE YEARS AGO
A Northville Downs Driving Club request for rezoning of River Street property to permit construction of a new barn brought strong response from residents of the area at a planning commission hearing. Residents near the track property told the commission that the track had not yet lived up to its agreement following the construction of an identical barn three years ago.

The city's parking authority decided to recommend to the city council that it open the customer parking lot near the Methodist Church at 7 a.m. Other unmetered customer lots would remain closed between 2:30 a.m. and 9 a.m.

The radar scope which has found so many victims in Northville in recent weeks became the target for criticism. The use of radar enforcement of local speed laws stirred heavy controversy. Since its introduction speeding tickets jumped from a normal average of 20 to 30 per week to over 100 a week.

Planners OK Zoning Request

Rezoning of four parcels of land was recommended for approval following a public hearing Wednesday, October 11.

Spokesmen for Thompson-Brown said the rezoning would provide for more flexibility and better layout of the multiple area.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
The current flu epidemic double-crossed the Northville Mustangs and threatened to put the Wayne-Oakland league into a spin if it continues. Though only one league game - Northville-Clarenceville - has been cancelled so far, the possibility of future cancellations brought concern to league officials.

LWV Extends Invitation to Novi

Novi women interested in becoming active in local, state, and national politics now have an opportunity.

The Plymouth-Northville League of Women Voters is opening its membership to women who reside in Novi, Mrs. Shirely Moak, spokesman for the Novi contingent, announced Monday.

"It depends on how much interest there is in such an organization from Novi," Mrs. Moak indicated. "We're hoping a lot of our Novi women take advantage of this opportunity to become involved in politics."

Nine Novi women attended a special membership tea at Northville's King's Mill clubhouse Thursday, October 5. Present at that meeting were Mrs. Martha Toth, Mrs. Audrey Murphy, Mrs. Jay Durand, Mrs. Judy Wikman, Mrs. Clara Porter, Mrs. Joan Best, Mrs. Linda Swift, Mrs. Gretchen Pugsley, and Mrs. Shirely Moak.

Speaking for Myself

Walter LaMoria

Try Juveniles As Adults?

George Jerome

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

YES...

I agree wholeheartedly with the concept of full prosecution for teenage juvenile offenders involved in Major Crimes. An important facet that one should note is that the champions for juvenile freedom from prosecution are the same persons who are so feverishly engaged in gaining further constitutional guarantees for perpetrators of crimes, not for the helpless victims of those perpetrators.

In the great multitude of major crimes it appears that nowhere is any great concern exhibited by our interpreters of constitutional rights for the rights of the victims who die, and in many cases, are left physically or emotionally crippled. Does it matter to the victim if a person with an adult body, with a sense of legal reason, is fourteen, sixteen, or fifty years of age when loss, injury, and destruction is meted out to that victim? Would the same calm and methodical decisions on license for wrongdoing be granted so easily to some reasonably intelligent, husky young man who rapes, or murders one of those decider's daughter or wife? Would decisions be made which would grant him immunity from full prosecution solely because he had not yet attained his seventeenth birthday?

I will admit that my feelings on the issue are motivated in part due to my employment as a police officer. However, my oath as a police officer was to protect the lives and property of others. I feel that our forefathers designed the Constitution with the same thought in mind, regardless of modern liberal interpreters, and meant this protection to be from anyone who possessed sound reason. It was not meant to be a means for a perpetrator to circumvent the punishment due him.

I do not advocate blanket punishment to all criminals, be they juveniles or otherwise, if for some reason they are adjudged mentally unsound. I do advocate fair and impartial prosecution of legally responsible persons. In the particular case of a juvenile, the tool of full prosecution should be readily available to us, keeping in mind that each criminal and each crime should be judged solely by the merits, or demerits, of the particular case.

Walter LaMoria, Chief
City of Brighton Police

NO...

The understandable concern occasioned by the increasing number of serious crimes committed by young people must not be allowed to bring about patterns of action which would inevitably be to the detriment of society and result in the destruction of individual lives. Those who would alter established procedures designed to protect the immature from the lot of those deemed adult do all concerned a great disfavor.

Advocates of change seem to be under the impression that prisons rehabilitate. This is simply not true. Far from being houses of correction, prisons are schools for crime which embitter the incarcerated and provide top quality instruction in most forms of criminal activity. The person who comes out of prison is most certainly a changed person, but, with possibly a few exceptions, any change is decidedly for the worse.

The more reasonable reaction to the current situation would be to employ treatment methods designed to rehabilitate the offender. Constructive programs are in operation which could be adapted to a local situation. Not only would our youth be given the opportunity to become responsible adults, but much money would be saved as the cost of keeping an individual in prison for any period of time soon reaches a considerable sum which the taxpayer should be reluctant to pay when a viable alternative is available.

Rev. George Jerome
Chaplain,
Detroit House of Correction

Northville township has approved the formation of a building authority which becomes effective January 1.

Legally speaking, such authorities are somewhat clouded by confusion in Michigan due to various court suits (including the Detroit sports stadium) and the upcoming election at which time voters may establish a limit on property taxes (that may or may not apply to building authorities).

But forgetting all the sideline games, the building authority as formed by Northville township means that the board can build almost anything it chooses and levy whatever tax is necessary to pay for it.

Right now it would appear that the board is split on the question of what should be built in the township.

All seven members agree that a fire station is needed in the southeast section of the township.

But a $500,000 township hall-fire-police complex is proposed. Presumably, that's why there's been a delay in providing the fire station.

According to the supervisor, the township has enough money to build a fire station without issuing bonds or levying new taxes.

But a half-million-dollar project requires the formation of a building authority so that bonds may be sold and additional taxes levied over a period of 10 or 20 years to pay off the building bonds.

The supervisor said a fire station could be constructed for about $50,000 on township-owned land.

He indicated that he would favor staying in the present township hall and just building the fire station.

But he's leaving the board soon. And it appears certain that the new-township-hall advocates will gain more support after the November 7 election.

So what recourse does the voter have who may believe that additional fire safety is essential and that present office facilities are adequate?

First, the formation of the building authority can be challenged in the courts. This must be done within 60 days of filing the articles of incorporation with the county clerk.

The filing date is not known, but it should be soon if the authority is to become a reality on January 1. There is no provision for calling for an election on the formation of an authority.

But another, more practical method for giving the public a voice on this issue remains when the board finally decides exactly what it proposes to build.

Petitions may be circulated calling for an election on the question of the proposed project. They must be filed within 30 days of the date of publication of the intent to issue bonds to finance a specific project.

In itself, the formation of a building authority is not bad. It may serve as a useful vehicle for financing projects needed and desired by the public.

It would be both costly and unnecessary to challenge the formation of the building authority by taking legal action. Further, the township attorney points out that legal action may be taken against any specific project even if petitions are not filed for an election (as in the case of the Detroit sports stadium).

The opportunity to file petitions calling for an election on any specific project gives the public its chance to let its will be known. And in reality, it would seem that boardmembers would find more comfort in proceeding with a $500,000 project if it carried the support of the majority of voters.

Unfortunately, the construction of a fire station in the southeast section of the township is being delayed. If the building authority method is used, the township attorney estimates it will be early spring before details could be completed and an advertisement placed on the intent to issue bonds.

Then more delay if petitions are circulated for an election.

Meanwhile, says the supervisor, the township could build the fire station by using some of the $200,000 it has on hand.

So who is holding up the township fire station?

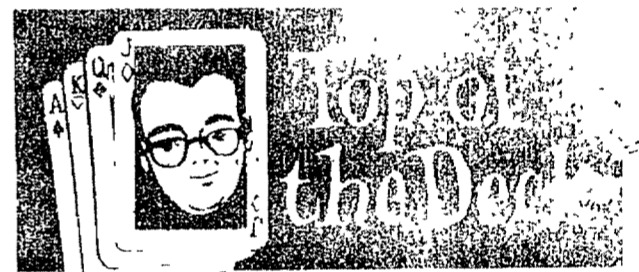

Could it be those board members who insist on linking an unneeded township hall and expanded police facility to a needed fire station?

Trail to Autumn

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

We learn to live with mistakes and I guess, basically, that's how it has been in our house since the big, lumbering animal came to live with us.

It never occurred to us that the furry, little housepet would sprout size 10-C paws.

The kids named her Grizzly.

And, indeed, neighbors insist she is a bear. Sometimes we wonder, too.

Marty Rinehart, who occupies a house behind our "kennel," probably wasn't joking when he told public gathering awhile back, "Hoffman's the guy who owns a horse and calls it a dog."

Similarly, Paul Vernon, who lives on the next block, was laughing on the outside but probably crying on the inside when he informed us recently: "Your 'friendly' dog knocked me to the ground and playfully scratched my chest. Later when I went in for a checkup (on another matter) the doctor saw the 'scar' and asked what kind of surgery I'd had."

Most, however, have been less tactful in their comments.

My father has been one of those.

He had the incredulous look of Spencer Tracy whenever we told him who we were bringing home for Sunday dinner.

"Must you bring along that awful beast when you come?" he asked while uttering disappointment that the animal continues to avoid collision with a truck.

Until recently, he carefully avoided addressing the dog by her name so that neither she nor her owners were mistakenly given the impression that an affection might be developing.

Instead, it was "mutt," "beast," or "thing."

The irony of this put-down is that Grizzly loves my father and would lick his hand if it wasn't always cupped into a fist. She'd lick his mustache, too, but he'd probably bite a chunk out of her nose.

And since the dog already has lost part of her nose in surgery to remove my sons' fish hooks, she prefers to sniff his pant legs and take her chances with a karate kick to the jaw.

So it was with no little misgiving we joined our parents for a week-long sojourn in the interior of the Porcupine Mountains. The dog came along...hard on the heels of the man who hated her.

He came close to a heart attack when his grandchildren insisted the dog had to share the cabin. And when the dog insisted on sleeping next to his bunk

To the Editor:
I was interested to read in the Novi News that, "After several years of uncertainty and numerous minor squabbles over the use of the Novi Community Building," a Community Building Board had been appointed. It is my understanding that the new rules, as laid down by the board, are the same as those previously in effect except for the increase in rates and the smoking ban. The previous board consisting of Mrs. Mae Atkinson, Mr. Kenneth Bassett, and Mrs. Mary Louise Taylor very faithfully discharged their responsibilities and duties. I remember many occasions when someone from my family would run across the road (no matter what the time or weather) to shut off a light, or lock a door, or close a window at the Community

College Slates Classes on Taxes

Schoolcraft College has scheduled two classes to help small businessmen with their Federal income tax. Both Saturday morning and weekday evening sections will be offered.

The Saturday class begins October 21 and runs through November 11. Entitled "income tax seminar," it will meet from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. It will provide a concentrated review and update of income tax information, and should be a profitable experience for those wishing to cover a great deal of ground in a short time.

The same basic tax information will be covered in the evening section "income tax - short course," which will be held Tuesday and Thursdays from October 24 through December 5. Meeting from 7 to 9 p.m., this class will enable a more in-depth study as well as time for individual problem solving. Both classes will be taught by Gerard H. Brisse, B.B.A., a Livonia tax accountant. They are being sponsored by Schoolcraft's Community Services.

Tuition is $11 for residents and $22 for non-residents for the Saturday class, and $16.50 and $33 for the weekday evening section.

Authority Action Draws Criticism

To the Editor:

Proposed articles of incorporation for the Northville Township Building Authority have been approved by the township board. It is interesting to observe how the board avoided discussion related to financing the proposed structure. The politicians try to leave the impression that they have yet to decide if they plan to construct a fire station or a complete municipal office complex.

I favor the construction of a modest fire station which could be built at a reasonable price. One of the top priorities of township government should be that of providing fire protection for the residents. However, I am opposed to the construction of a complete municipal office complex, because this might result in an increase in taxes. Taxpayers deserve to know the exact amount that the township officials plan to spend on this project.

Building. Also, there were many family parties (birthdays, etc.) and holidays (including Christmas, Thanksgiving and Easter) when we would receive a phone call from someone wanting to know if they could use the building for basketball.

I know that the Committee did not serve for a salary or for great personal recognition but I feel that the City Council of Novi and the Board of Education has acted very discourteously towards them. It seemed rather rude that they should receive their official notification of being replaced by reading it on the front page of a newspaper. Even after this official notification it was several weeks before they were relieved of their duties.

No doubt in the amount of business conducted by the City Council and the Board of Education there are bound to be oversights and mistakes, but I wonder if everyone who voluntarily gives so much time and effort to their community is treated so discourteously and so ungratefully.

After a number of weeks passed and memories had sufficiently faded, we drove home for another Sunday dinner, leaving the dog behind. It would have been just another pleasant visit except for a surprising question asked by my father when we were safely out of hearing distance from the others:

"Jack, where's Grizzly? Nothing's happened to her?"

man commission charged with determining a location for and then financing and constructing a new municipal complex.

The matter arose when Mayor Joseph Crupi read a letter from Building Authority Chairman William Duey asking that Athas, whose resignation from the city manager's post went into effect last Friday, be reappointed to the commission.

The council objected to the reappointment almost immediately.

Stressing that their objections had nothing to do with the qualification of Athas, the council questioned the legality of the appointment.

"It seems to me that the articles of incorporation for the authority call for the city manager to be one of the five members," said Councilman Denis Berry.

Crupi countered Berry's objection with a letter from former City Attorney Howard Bond, who had ruled that the appointment of Athas was not in conflict with the articles of incorporation.

It was at this point that Presnell charged that the council was being railroaded. In addition Councilman Louie Campbell said he would also like to see the opinion of new city attorney David Fried.

In an attempt to resolve the matter a copy of the articles of incorporation was presented to Fried who said that he could see no provision which required the city manager to be a member and that Athas could indeed be reappointed.

Still, the council referred the matter to Fried so he could have more time to pursue the articles of incorporation and not be forced to make a quick opinion.

Wildcat Defense Stops Chelsea Cold

It was a defensive victory—pure and simple. Peel back the crowd-pleasing romps and the thrilling aerial maneuvers and you'll find the core of Novi's decisive 35-0 triumph over defending champion Chelsea Friday night.

As a matter of fact an autopsy of each of the previous four games will disclose that Novi's defensive unit has been steadily grinding away at the opposition all along. But Friday night the defense easily grabbed the limelight.

While the Wishbone-T was piling up the 35 points, Novi's superlative defense smashed the defending champ's nerve center and paralyzed the opposition's game plan. In the face of the blitz and stunt, Chelsea's bigger line simply could not cope with Novi's speedier linemen who forced Chelsea's offensive backs to hurry their moves and in the process the Bulldogs lost their poise.

By the end of the half, the Bulldogs had grabbed only 19 yards rushing and an equal number of yards through the air. At game's end, the host eleven had piled up just 59 yards rushing and 59 yards through the air. Two of the six Chelsea punts were blocked, one of its 10 passes intercepted.

Eight times Chelsea was thrown for losses. The over-anxious Wildcats were penalized 130 yards—the best offense going for the Bulldogs who came up with 10 first downs, five of them on penalties. Twice Novi touchdowns were nullified by penalties. Counting the two blocked punts, the Bulldogs were forced to the wall with an average of but 11 yards per punt.

Friday's shutout was the third straight game in which Novi's defense has refused to give up a single point. In the five games to date, the Wildcats have given up only 18 points and 12 of these were racked up by the opposition's defense.

Novi's offense, meanwhile, has piled up 216 points—an average of 43 points per game.

Eric Hansor set the stage for Novi's opening touchdown by blocking a Chelsea punt on the first series of plays in the game.

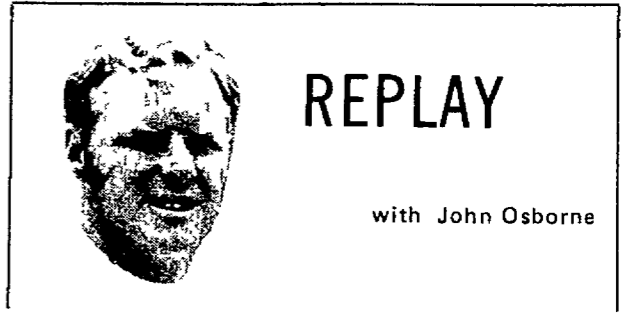

night with his fifth straight extra point kick. Chelsea, playing its homecoming game, mustered its greatest offensive threat early in the fourth quarter, marching from the 46 to the 38 where John Mann completed a pass to End Rick Miller, who bobbled the ball and

TURNING THE CORNER—Pat Boyer, one of Novi's tandem of outstanding halfbacks, turns the corner and heads up field after taking a screen pass from quarterback Steve Lukkari. You'd never guess it from this picture, but Boyer managed to elude the Chelsea tacklers and sprint 65 yards for a touchdown.

REPLAY

with John Osborne

Taking over at the Chelsea 14, Novi's quarterback, Steve Lukkari, dashed for 13 yards, sneaked over from the one, and then kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter, Rick Marchetti blocked another punt at the Chelsea 15 and Mike Riley covered the ball in the endzone for the touchdown. Again Lukkari kicked the extra point.

Less than two minutes later after taking possession at the mid-stripe, Novi moved to the 30 where, on first down and 54 seconds to go, Lukkari fired a pass to End John Pantalone who went in for the six-pointer. Lukkari's kick was good.

Early in the third quarter, Tom Ford recovered a Chelsea fumble at the 23 yard line. Seven plays later, Lukkari again passed to Pantalone for TD covering 10 yards. Again the quarterback's kick was good.

Following a Chelsea drive late in the third stanza, Lukkari rolled to the left and rifled a shot to Pat Boyer who outran Chelsea's secondary to the goal line and the final score of the game. The pass play covered 65 yards. Lukkari made it a perfect

Did he ever expect his Wildcats would be able to pile up enough points against perennial league champion Chelsea to enable him to play his reserves at the end of the game?

John Osborne hemmed and hawed with the question—torn between the truth and the unwritten code of what a coach should and shouldn't say about his opponents.

Finally, the Novi coach arrived at an answer. Honesty won out.

"You start telling your team things during the week about how you're going to blow the other team right off the field," said Osborne, "and after you've said it I guess you just start to believe it."

"I'll tell you one thing, though, I didn't think it would happen the way it did. I thought we'd be able to move the ball offensively better than we did. Chelsea was able to cut off our wide stuff and we scored our points on our passing and two blocked punts."

"What they were doing was taking advantage of their big 200 pounders in the middle of the line," Osborne continued. "They shorted themselves in the middle and put just about everyone else wide when we started to run."

Chelsea's preoccupation with shutting off Novi's running game led directly to quarterback Steve Lukkari's success through the air.

"They played a 5-3 defense," said Osborne, "and their two corner backs were coming up very fast. That put an awful lot of men near the line of scrimmage and gave our receivers a lot of area to work in. They simply took advantage of the opportunity Chelsea presented them with."

The true story of the game was, however, the Novi defense, and Osborne couldn't say enough about his defensive crew.

"I was truly amazed," he said. "Everything came off just right. Our execution was nearly perfect. It was without a doubt the finest defensive effort any team I've ever coached has made."

"For the first time our linemen were slating like they should. One of our big advantages was that we are a lot quicker than the big Chelsea line. Some of our guys were hardly getting touched out there. Mike Riley (nose guard) and Kevin LaPleche (tackle) hardly got touched all night long. They were slanting right past the Chelsea men."

Key to Novi's 21-0 lead at the half were a pair of blocked punts, one of them recovered on the one yard line and the other recovered in the end zone for a touchdown. According to Osborne, the blocked punts came as no great surprise.

"Our scouting reports showed us three things that made us believe we could block their punts," said Osborne. "The big thing was that their punter takes an extra step and something like that can be fatal. But we also knew that the snap from center wasn't real strong and there was a tendency among the linemen to be more concerned with getting downfield than protecting the punter."

"They had one lineman in particular who wasn't very concerned about blocking for the punter. On the first play Eric Hansor slipped right past him to block the punt. The second blocked punt was a direct result of the first. Their lineman didn't block again and Hansor was coming through. Another one of their linemen saw him coming and cheated off Marchetti to hit Hansor and Marchetti got through to the punter."

Novi's chances to win the SEC championship now rest squarely on their game with Saline tomorrow. Both teams are 4-0 and should have no trouble winning the rest of their games after their important contest tomorrow.

Or, as Osborne puts it, "It's showdown time."

"They've got an awfully good football team," he says. "They execute extremely well. They've got three very good backs and three very good linemen. Basically they're an I formation team that tries to blow you out with pure strength."

"I'll tell you one thing we'll definitely have to do and that is go to our passing game a lot more just to loosen them up. In the back of my mind I felt we could rout South Lyon and Chelsea, but I have none of those feelings about Saline. They're a very fine football team."

To Win Cross-Country Title

Mustangs Must Upset Churchill

Ralph Redmond, Northville cross-country coach, set two goals for his team at the start of the season - to win the Western Six Conference Championship and to qualify for the state meet by finishing either first or second in the regionals.

The time of reckoning has come. Redmond's Mustangs will journey to Hickory Hills Golf Course next Tuesday to participate in the Western Six League meet, and the following Saturday is the date of the regional competition. "We'll take them one at a time," said the Northville mentor, sounding suspiciously like a big league baseball manager.

"Frankly, Redmond and his harrishers have got their work cut out for them and Redmond is the first to admit it.

"I don't think anyone would deny that Livonia Churchill is the team to beat for the conference title," he says. "They're the defending champion and they've wiped everybody else in the league out in dual meets. If they don't win it, there will be a lot of very surprised people!"

The Mustangs were handed a rather substantial 22-33 setback when they faced the Charger runners early in the season, as the defending league champs took first, second, fourth, sixth, and seventh against them.

"We'll need a top performance from everyone on our team to even come close to them," said Redmond. "We thought Guy Cole might be able to beat their Mark Kappler for the conference individual title, but when they met before Kappler beat him by a considerable margin."

Regardless of how the Mustangs perform in the conference meet, the 1972 season has been a relatively good one as Redmond's young charges have run up a 9-2 record in dual meet.

Two of those victories came last week.

Thursday Northville had a return meet against a

Brighton team they had whipped 17-38 in their first encounter. This time the score was even more one-sided as the Mustangs swept first through fifth places for a perfect 15-40 victory.

"We held Cole out of the meet to give him a chance to get in some extra practice," Redmond explained, "but we still did well against them."

In Cole's absence junior Tom Coram crossed and finish line first, followed by three sophomores (Fred Shipley, Kevin Koffler, and Tim Hurley), and a freshman (Jim Tiffen).

The second Northville cross-country victory was garnered at the expense of South Lyon and came by a 22-33 margin. This time it was Coram's turn to take the day off while Cole returned to lead the pack.

Koffler finished second for the Mustangs against the Lions, while Smith came in a badly beaten third. Hurley and Beers took fourth and fifth for the Mustangs, while Shipley rounded out the pack in eighth place.

Saline	4 0	Scott Skinner had a 72 yard touchdown run

South Lyon	2 2	Another big fullback, Ray Givens, set the pace for his team, as the Lion star gained 141 yards in 16 carries to lead South Lyon to a 6-6 tie with Dundee, only to see Dundee take a 9-6 victory on a 35 yard field goal with 19 seconds left in the game.

The stage is set. Saline joined Novi in recording its fourth consecutive SEC victory last week to make tomorrow's showdown clash the key to the 1972 SEC grid championship.

The Hornets amassed 442 yards of total offense every inch of it on the ground, and yielded just 143 in rolling over Milan 33-0. Pat Gill, the rugged Saline fullback, led the assault with 166 yards in 10 carries, including touch-

Wildcat

Taking Wildcat of the Week honors for his defensive play against Chelsea is Kevin LaFleche. The 6', 185 pound defensive tackle played an outstanding game in Novi's defensive masterpiece, making nine first hits and adding 13 assists to his total. "He was slanting past his man so well," said Coach John Osborne, "that his blocker barely touched him all night long."

HEADED FOR TROUBLE—Mustang sophomore halfback Larry Pink is headed for a rough landing as a crew of Churchill tacklers zero in for the tackle. The Livonia school's defensive unit proved to be the decisive factor by twice forcing turnovers deep in Northville territory that led directly to touchdowns in their 20-0 victory.

Churchill's Defense Topples Mustangs

Livonia Churchill is a team that will live and die on the strength of its defense, their head coach, Ken Kaestner, had predicted at the start of the season.

Ample evidence that Kaestner knew exactly what he was talking about was provided Friday afternoon as the Charger defense flexed its muscles and paved the way for a 20-0 victory over the Northville Mustangs.

Not only did the Churchill defenders hold the Mustangs scoreless, they also played an important role in the scoring of 13 of their team's 20 points. Two key turnovers did the trick.

The first came midway in the first quarter when defensive end Jim Foster refused to be fooled by Northville's attempt to throw a screen pass and hauled in Bill McDonald's lob over the heads of the rest of the charging Charger line and returned it 27 yards to the Northville eight yard line.

The second turnover came at the end of Northville's first set of downs in the second half.

Paul Black broke through the Northville line to block Ted Fuertges' punt and Foster gobbled up the bouncing ball and hauled it all the way down to the one yard line before he was finally stopped.

Shades of the Minnesota Vikings.

Losing to Churchill is, of course, no disgrace. Led by their defensive unit, the Chargers have won all five of their games this season and have yielded just nine points to their opponents. What's more, if they can get past Waterford Mott tomorrow, they will win the Western Six Conference championship.

The final score of 20-0 hardly gives an accurate picture of how closely the two teams played.

Northville entered the game without the services of Jim Porterfield, probably their finest lineman, who is resting a twisted ankle. And when senior co-captain Bill Norton was tossed out of the game on the first play for shoving a Churchill player who had kicked him in the head while he was lying on the ground, the Mustangs were without two of the key people on their defensive unit.

Nevertheless, the Northville defense played one of its finest games.

A quick look at the final statistics reveal just how close the game actually was. The Mustangs gained 30 more yards rushing (161-132) and completed four more passes (nine of 15 as opposed to five of 12). Churchill picked up two more first downs (nine to seven), and had nine more yards passing (77-68), and, when the fact that McDonald was sacked seven times for 45 yards is figured into the statistics, had no more than a 25 yard edge in total yardage (209-184).

Hardly a 20-0 margin. What the statistics didn't show was those turnovers.

Quarterback Bob Blaies put the Chargers on the scoreboard at the 4:34 mark of the first quarter after Foster's pass interception had put the ball on the Mustang's eight yard line. Phil Damaska, Churchill's top halfback, was socked for a one yard loss on the first play. But Blaies sprinted the nine yards into the end zone on the second play, after he had faded back to pass and been unable to find any receivers open.

It was Damaska who took advantage of the second break forced by the defensive unit, hurdling across from the one yard line on the first play.

Churchill's other touchdown came in the second quarter. Starting on their own 17, they drove 83 yards in 14 plays for the score. A 23 yard pass from Blaies to Damaska put the ball on the Northville three yard line and the Little Churchill halfback squirted into the end zone two plays later on his first of two touchdowns for the day.

The Mustangs offense, meanwhile, was unable to score against the Churchill defense.

Northville's deepest penetration came in the second quarter when they moved from their own 27 down to the Churchill 17 before sophomore halfback Doug Crisan's carry on fourth and four fell one yard short of the first down.

Crisan, playing just his second game with the varsity, rushed for 31 yards on five carries in the 56 yard drive.

Northville Coach Chuck Shonta went to the air in the second half and had some success. In the third quarter, quarterback Bill McDonald completed five of five passes and had nine completions in 12 attempts over the entire second half.

Still, however, the Mustangs were able to score. A 25 yard pass from McDonald to flanker Bart Taylor gave Northville a first and ten situation on the Churchill 26 in the third quarter and the Mustangs again moved the ball to the Churchill 26 in the fourth quarter as McDonald hit Taylor on passes of 16 and three yards. But each time the Churchill defense stiffened and prevented any further penetration.

Crisan was the leading Northville ground gainer as he eluded the Churchill tacklers well and often enough to gain 96 yards in 22 carries.

Northville's last chance to win their first Western Six Conference game this season will come next week when they host Farmington Harrison. The Hawks are 1-1 in league play, having lost to Churchill 23-0 and beaten Walled Lake Western 21-0. Game time is 8 p.m.

REPLAY

with Chuck Shonta

Chuck Shonta is increasingly often finding himself in situations where he just isn't exactly sure which emotion to express.

Take Friday's game between his Mustangs and Livonia Churchill, for example.

"Two plays," he said. "Two plays - a pass interception and a blocked punt. Take them away and we're right back in the game. Things like that can get you down."

But then he adds, a note of optimism in his voice, "But there were an awful lot of bright spots. We looked awful good at times out there, I thought."

The reason for Shonta's mixed emotions about his team's performance is created by the two facts that - number one - they are still losing, but - number two - the quality of play between this year and last year has improved tremendously.

Sure, Churchill won the game, but on the actual field of play, Shonta's Mustangs had battled the Chargers on even terms - and even managed to outgain them on the ground.

"I'm really pleased with the way our defense played," said Shonta. "I thought we controlled them on defense. The last two ball games, they've proven that they can really hit out there. A couple of the Churchill players came up to me after the game and said it was the hardest they've been hit all year."

"They had us done 14-0 at the half and then they got that blocked punt early in the third quarter to make it 20-0. But that blocked punt was the only time they scored in the second half. He kept his regulars in the whole game and we played them on even terms in the second half."

"They could have quit out there, but they didn't. They really sucked it in and got tough. That's one thing that I'm really happy about, this team doesn't quit. They play all the way to the final whistle."

Perhaps the most amazing things about Northville's performance against Churchill which is undefeated in five outings is that they played with a patched up lineup Jim Porterfield, the best of the Northville linemen, didn't even dress for the game. Bill Norton, the quickest man on the squad and an outstanding nose guard, was kicked out of the game for fighting on the first play. And Tom Johnson, who has been playing excellent ball from his defensive end post, was injured in the first half.

"It's a good indication that we were able to play without those key people and still play as well as we did," said Shonta. "We had to play Ron Angove both ways and that's something I don't like to do. And we had to move Steve Serkantan to nose guard when we lost Norton. Steve's a linebacker, but we moved him up to tackle to replace Porterfield and then we had to move him again."

Another bright spot for Shonta was the play of sophomore halfback Doug Crisan, who picked up almost 100 yards against the Churchill defense in just his second game on the varsity.

"We're missing Porterfield and Johnson from our offensive line and Crisan still gets that many yards against them," he said. "Don't forget Churchill is very strong on defense. They've only given up nine points in five games and still Crisan gets that kind of yardage against them. He's big and strong and fast. I think he's going to be a helluva back."

Shonta pointed out one other thing about his team's performance against Churchill. "They're really beginning to believe in themselves," he said. "Every time they play a game like that against a team as good as Churchill is, they realize that they're as good as anybody else is. You know, I think we've got a chance to win our last three games. I really think we're capable of it."

Set Sites on State Crown

Golfers Cop Regional Title

One more to go. One more victory and the Northville High School golf team will have completed perhaps the finest season of any golf team in the state of Michigan.

Unfortunately, that one more victory is the most important of all - the state championship.

"Somehow the season won't be quite the same without it," said Al Jones, the Northville coach. "I don't want to take anything away from the season we've had, because I'm extremely proud of what this team is doing. But still to really round out the season we're going to have to win the state championship."

Just what have the Mustang linksters accomplished this year?

You name it. They've won it. They've won every one of their dual meets and every major tournament in the state against Class A and B competition alike.

Last week they put two more important victories under their belt, winning the Class B regionals at Brighton's Burroughs Country Club by 17 strokes to qualify for the state tournament and then winning the Western Six Conference championship.

But Jones is worried, nevertheless. The cause of his concern is the fact that the Mustangs were, quite frankly, downright lucky to win the league meet, edging out Waterford Mott by a single stroke.

"I'm afraid we might have peaked too early," said Jones. "We've been winning lately, but we've been winning by the skin of our teeth. We're flat. That's all there is to it. There's just no way we can win the state title if we play like we did in the league meet."

The Mustangs' victory in the regionals was a substantial one as their four-man, 72-total of 321 was 17 strokes better than the 338 recorded by second place Okemos. Jackson Lumen Christie also qualified for the state meet by finishing third at 339.

As has happened time and time again this year, it was John Hohenic who led the Northville foursome and the rest of the field - byshooting a 75. Bob Simmons tied for the second medalist spot with a 79, while Brian Mills and John Marshall rounded out the Northville foursome with an 81 and an 86 respectively.

Northville's victory in the league meet was a far different story. At the turn the Mustang were in third place, five strokes behind Waterford Mott and four strokes behind Farmington Harrison.

The individual responsible for winning the league title was Brian Mills, who won medalist honors in the meet with a fine round of 76 over the Meadowbrook course. Harrison's Jerry Costa was second with an 80.

But after Mills the rest of the Northville scores fell off considerably. Hohenic soared to an 85, Marshall had an 86, Simmons carded an 87, and Jim Dales rounded out Northville's five man team with an 89.

In dual meets last week Northville edged Farmington Harrison on the front nine of Brae Burn 198-200. Mills had a 38, Marshall 39, Mark Dougher and Simmons had 40's and Dales a 41.

The Mustangs also recorded a dual meet triumph over Riverside 199-208. Hohenic had a 38, Marshall and Simmons carded 39s, Mills had a 41, and Dales had a 42 in that meet.

One possible reason for the Mustangs' late season slump could well be that they're looking ahead to the state meet at Marshall Saturday.

"There's just one thing left," says Jones. "If we can get together just one more time. We're down to the last thing."

Mustanger

Brian Mills, a stand out member of Northville's outstanding golf team, has been selected Mustang of the Week. Not only was the junior linkster named to the All-Western Six Conference team by virtue of having the second lowest per round average in the league (37.3), he also claimed medalist honors in the Conference championship meet by shooting a 76 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Girl Swimmers Swamp Plymouth

Northville's Girls' swimming teams stroked to first place finishes in 12 of 13 events last Wednesday to swamp Plymouth 83-40 in dual-meet competition.

Less fortunate, however, was the Northville girls' tennis team which was shut out by Plymouth 5-0.

Leading the Northville linksters in their victory were Cindy Bretz, Lisa VanIngen, and Sandy Bacsanly, each of whom won two individual events and swam a leg on a victorious relay team.

Cindy's victories came in the 200 yard freestyle and 50 yard butterfly; Lisa won the 200 yard individual medley and the 100 yard freestyle, and Sandy grabbed firsts in the 50 and 100 yard breast strokes.

Other Northville first place finishes were turned in by Bonnie Angell in the 50 yard back stroke, Suzie Evans in the 50 yard freestyle; Pat Sonk in the 100 yard back stroke; and Sheila Corcoran in diving.

Also posting winning performances were the 200 yard medley relay team of Lisa VanIngen, Pat Sonk, Cindy Bretz, and Suzie Evans and the 400 yard freestyle relay team and Suzie Evans, Teri Albus, Kathy Ryan, and Sandy Bacsanly.

Five members of the Northville team have qualified for the state swim meet. They are Donna Guard, who has qualified in the 200 yard individual medley, 50 yard butterfly, 100 yard back stroke, and 200 yard medley relay; Cindy Bretz in the 400 yard freestyle; Lisa VanIngen in the 50 yard backstroke, 50 yard freestyle, and 200 yard medley relay; Pat Sonk in the 200 yard medley relay; and Suzie Evans in the 50 yard freestyle and 200 yard medley relay.

The girls' tennis team was soundly beaten by Plymouth last Tuesday. Jamie Boshoven, Sara Kunst, and Martha Whiteside all dropped their singles matches, while the two doubles teams of Carolyn Axtell and Barb Lie and Rene Wheaton and Carol Weber also went down to defeat.

Two Losses Win Football Contest

Ability to better forecast the score of Michigan's 10-0 victory over arch-rival Michigan State proved to be the deciding factor in last week's football contest.

Two of the three winners picked 14 of the 16 winners, but Doug Marzonie, 47005 Dunsany Road, came out on top by picking the Wolverines to win by a score of 17-10. Second-place winner Tom Coram, 21734 Taft Road, picked U-M to win by a score of 21-7.

Winning third place by picking 13 of the 16 winners and coming closer on the UM-MSU score was Ty Cole, 356 Fairbrook. Ty saw Michigan blanking the Spartans, 17-0.

Other contestants who made only three mistakes but who weren't as close on the score were: Mike Heater, Elizabeth Martin, Steffi Bach, Joe Kritch, Sr., Alan Peter, Frieda O'Leary, Steve Clemens, Robert Middleton, Ruby, Bob, Brad and Guy Cole, Jeff Norton, Gordon Bunn, John Bunn, and Willy Newman.

One contestant was disqualified for submitting two entries, and another failed to sign his name to his entry.

Major obstacles for contestants proved to be the New York Giants 23-17 win over San Francisco, Iowa's 23-12 victory over Northwestern, and the 20-19 Kansas State squeaker over Kansas.

Western Six Standings

Waterford Mott	2	0
Livonia Churchill	2	0
Farmington Harrison	1	1
Walled Lake Western	1	2
Northville	0	3

Mott and Churchill each won their fifth consecutive games of the season and their second conference game to set the stage for a showdown meeting tomorrow at Mott which will probably decide the conference championship.

Lex Kane scored on runs of four and 24 yards and picked up 130 yards in 16 carries to lead Mott to a 26-0 triumph over Walled Lake Western. Greg Aldrich, who finished the game with 68 yards in just three carries, dashed 58 yards for another Mott touchdown and brothers Phil and Matt Trears combined for an 18 yard touchdown pass in the final period.

In a nonleague encounter Farmington Harrison was trimmed 23-6 by Walled Lake Central. Chris Pagnucco fired a 30 yard scoring strike to Bill Herpock for the lone Harrison touchdown.

SPORTS Go-Round

By Bob Moore

Do you know that the first night baseball game was held in September of 1880? Two amateur teams fought it out at Nantasket Beach, Massachusetts. Arc lights strung across the field helped them get through nine full innings. The next recorded night game was on June 2, 1883. The Quincys of Illinois beat home players of Fort Wayne, Indiana. Night games remained simply as exhibition feats, however, until far into the twentieth century.

City Orders Sidewalks on 8 Mile

With but one more protest raised, a public improvement project and a rezoning request were approved by the Northville City Council following public hearings Monday.

They include:
 • Construction of sidewalk in front of the new Methodist Church and the Northville Green Apartments at Eight Mile and Taft roads.

 • Rezoning of the Nicholas Zander property on Seven Mile Road to permit construction of an addition to his 20th Century barber shop.

Concerning the sidewalk, the owner of the apartments,

Sheldon Gordon, wrote a letter of protest to the city, arguing that the sidewalk is unnecessary, difficult to install, and unfair to himself since other neighboring properties do not have sidewalks.

However, the officials observed that the pedestrian traffic has grown considerably in the past three years to warrant the sidewalk, adjacent properties have or are about to install sidewalks, and the contours of the land do not present any major construction problems.

Gordon and the church are to be assessed the cost of the 900 foot-long-four foot wide sidewalk.

A request by the Northville Jaycess for a temporary liquor license in connection with its November 17 Millionaires Party was endorsed by the council. Final decision is to be made by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff and City Attorney Philip Ogilvie were directed to begin preparation of a sidewalk ordinance or code.

City Buys Property

property. Councilman Paul Vernon noted the Northville Housing Commission's recommendation that the property be purchased as a step to provide minimal public housing for senior citizens.

Responding to Folino's comment, Mayor Allen pointed out that he, along with other councilmen, had authorized an appraisal of the property. If the council had no intentions of purchasing it, why then the appraisal, he asked.

Folino, upon hearing objections raised two weeks ago by three members of the audience, including a nearby resident—Leon Bonner, sought unsuccessfully to set aside the matter until a special public informational meeting was held. Allen, who was not present two weeks ago, reminded Folino Monday that all council meetings are public.

Pancake Supper Slated Tomorrow

A pancake supper will be served by the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville on Friday, October 20, from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. in the church Fellowship Hall.

According to a club officer, the early hour of the supper will enable those headed for the Northville homecoming game to eat supper out before attending the game.

Bonner, who was present again Monday, restated his opposition to "public housing," and charged the council by purchasing the property prior to securing the necessary zoning would be making a "mockery" of the rezoning process.

Specifically, he contended the council, once it owned the property, would by necessity force a rezoning despite objections of the public.

Admitting that he had made Langfield an offer to purchase, Bonner dodged the repeated question of Mayor Allen: "Would you favor multiple zoning if it wasn't for senior citizen housing?" However, he did indicate he would prefer a development such as Fairbrook Apartments to low-cost rental units.

Bonner took the council to task for considering purchase on a "speculative" basis since, if it is unable to secure the necessary zoning for public housing, it will be left holding unneeded property.

"It's not the business of the city to buy property on a speculative basis," he declared.

Ollendorff, pointing out that Bonner himself obtained property in the past on a similar speculative basis, said the city could, if it is unable to get the necessary zoning, resell the property at no loss to the city.

"This (purchase) is a small, first step to meet the problems of senior citizens," the city manager said.

Councilman Vernon, obviously angered by Bonner's accusations, echoed the manager's remark and pointed out that if, upon seeking rezoning of the property, citizens voice objection the "council will give them every consideration."

"We do, however, have an obligation to our senior citizens as well," he added.

To date no formal plans for development of senior citizen housing on the property have been made. However, it has been suggested that the house and garage could be razed and two or more duplex units constructed at city cost.

A much larger senior citizen housing development (the site of which has not yet been selected) has been proposed, and an application for federal monies has been made. But with little likelihood that the federal government will act upon that request in the near future, the housing commission suggested the smaller Langfield property development as an interim solution.

In other business Monday, the council accepted the lowest qualified bid—$18,510 by Terra Construction Company, Inc.—for installation of water and sanitary sewer mains to serve the area north of Silver Springs Drive (Mergraf Oil).

The oil company is to pay the entire cost of installation, recouping part of its investment as other properties are tied into the lines.

A second unidentified bidder on the project failed to present a bond with the bid and hence was disqualified.

Sidney Frid, a citizen of the community, registered a complaint against the city-sponsored reassessment program currently underway in the Oakland County section of the city.

Specifically, Frid objects to the reassessment, which is being conducted by Oakland County at city request, because the same thorough survey is not being conducted in the Wayne County section of the city.

Officials explained that reassessment of the Wayne County section is also being conducted. However, because existing field data that is more accurate and up to date, remeasurement and inspection of all properties has not been ordered as in the case of the northern section of the city where field data was found inadequate, it was explained.

Primary purpose of the reassessment project, officials explained, is to develop more equitable assessments for property owners and to reduce the equalization factor presently imposed on the city because its properties fail to meet the 50-percent value required by the state.

Council voted to purchase a dump truck chassis from G.E. Miller Sales of Northville on the basis of its low bid of $6,985.65. John Mach Ford submitted a bid of $7,082.14.

Final cost of the Hutton Street paving project was pegged at less than one-percent more than the estimated amount assessed property owners. In view of the small additional cost—$519—for the $29,785 project, the council voted to absorb this amount.

Choose a fabric that is right for you. Greens, blue-greens give a brownette more color. Tan, red, orange—these colors camouflage freckles. Pastels and dusty colors are more flattering than white. Brunettes can wear more vivid shades, and look great in stark black or white. If you are blonde, you will need to do some experimenting to find the shades that look best. However, do pay attention to these details. It will make home sewing just that much more rewarding.

A&P Closing

in Northville Township, a reliable source said. However, A & P officials would not confirm this report. No official reason for the closing of its store here has been given by A & P, and officials declined to discuss the closing.

The store manager, Earl Swangim, told this newspaper that he and the seven other employees of the store will be transferred to other A & P stores. Closest other A & P stores are located in Farmington and Plymouth.

Originally, the A & P store was located on Center Street, opposite Schrader's. Subsequently, it was moved to locations on the north side of Main Street, then to the south side of Main just east of Center before moving to its present location a decade ago, according to Frazer Staman, a former manager and now an Oakland County Road commissioner.

Staman was manager of the store for eight years, from 1928 to 1936. "One of the earliest managers," Staman recalled, "was E. M. Bogart (now a resident of Plymouth), who later started EMB Market in Northville."

The new store to occupy the A & P building, according to Stone, will feature the unfinished furniture lines presently housed in the second floor of his hardware business. This furniture business, together with the wallpaper outlet, will be relocated in the new facility, leaving the second floor of the hardware for storage.

The unfinished furniture line represents the largest outlet of its kind under one roof in the United States, Stone said.

It will warehouse 2,500 pieces of furniture and have more than 1,200 pieces for floor display.

The new store also will carry a complete line of paints and will be capable of mixing some 500,000 different colors.

Plans also are being made to conduct twice monthly furniture refinishing classes in the new building, he said.

The interior of the store will be divided into departmental rooms and will be completely carpeted.

Stone, who has owned Gambles for the past eight years (his father owned it for the previous 12 years), will manage the new business, assisted by Frank Defina of Northville.

Dear Residents of Northville Township:

My first priority will be that of reforming township government by initiating efficient personalized management to serve the needs of the people. This plan of action will include the implementation of professional management of budgeting to insure fiscal responsibility by township officials. Financial integrity will be restored to township government through the careful review of expenditures, and accountability will be demanded to provide answers regarding the manipulation of funds by township officials.

Another priority will be that of providing professional quality services for the residents. We need better police and fire protection, sidewalks, and senior citizen housing within the near future.

A major priority will be that of implementing tough new standards for the enforcement of building codes, especially in the areas like Highland Lakes, to protect the rights of homeowners. We need to reform the attitudes of township officials who appear to be interested in their projects, rather than the needs of the people.

Sincerely,

Kelley Says

'Busing's A Cop Out'

Vigorously denying charges that he has waffled on the issue of massive school busing, Frank Kelley, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, lambasted his opponent as a champion of big business and the ultra-rich.

"The facts are that I have never reversed my position on busing and it can be documented and supported by court records," he said in an interview with Sliger Publications.

He placed the principle blame for what he termed "this distortion" at the doorstep of his opponent, Incumbent Robert Griffin, and the Detroit News.

"What the Detroit News is doing is a typically, intellectually dishonest way editorially—they're treating me fairly on the news pages, don't get me wrong on that, but editorially they're playing intellectually dishonest games to support their own political candidate."

"I have opposed cross-district busing from the beginning, massive busing from the beginning," he continued. "Any use of busing where it isn't a crutch or a limited tool, or of limited duration, I've always opposed it."

He charged that Griffin, however, has changed his stand "In 1970 he was voting with pro-busing forces from Michigan in the United States Senate," Kelley declared.

"In April of 1971, almost a year after I was in court opposing this case (The NAACP case), in the United States Senate Robert Griffin stood up and voted against the Irvin amendment which would have barred the use of school funds for cross district busing."

Busing, Kelley said, is a false answer to a real problem. "It's a cop out."

The thrust of Kelley's campaign has been, and it was in his interview with Sliger Publications, that Griffin is inextricably tied to big business and the ultra rich.

As an example, he said he, as Michigan attorney general, last year sued the three biggest retailers in the country, including Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck for what Kelley termed "charging unconscionable interest rates on unpaid charge accounts per month."

The companies, he said, settled and gave up the practice, saving consumers of Michigan collectively millions of dollars.

A bill that would have attacked the same retail practice was defeated by one vote in the United States Senate, Kelley said, and the one vote was Robert Griffin's.

"I think that's a typical example right there," the attorney general said. "My approach, consumer protection—his, championing the cause of the biggest retailers in the country who are supporting his candidacy."

Kelley also charged that Griffin, within the last six months, had voted against a 20-cent raise in the minimum pay for the lowest strata of workers in America and for exclusion of three million people not currently protected by the minimum wage law, such as domestics. "At the same time," Kelley said, "he (Griffin) voted to give $5.6 billion relief to the ultra rich and the big corporations of America in tax relief. $20 million a day. I would have voted against giving that tax relief."

Continuing his hard-hitting campaign, Kelley accused Griffin of publishing inaccurate information in a recent newsletter. In the Newsletter, Kelley claimed, Griffin took credit for a 20 percent raise in social security benefits, when he had advocated only a 10 percent raise because 20 percent would be inflationary. In the area of ecology, too, Kelley ripped Griffin. "Field and Stream magazine rates him as one of the poorest senators in the field of ecology and conservation, no sensitivity to the issue," the attorney general said.

and maintained as a matter of law by the legislatures of the states and local school bodies.

"We haven't had that in Michigan and don't have it"

Noting that his opposition to busing occurred prior to Federal Judge Stephen Roth's Detroit findings whereas Kelley supported busing following that decision, Griffin said his strong opposition was triggered by the "shocking" decision of the Federal court in the Pontiac busing case.

"I was shocked because my own brothers and sisters attended the Pontiac high schools 20 years ago and they (schools) were integrated then and they've been integrated ever since. And when the Federal court said there's going to be busing in Pontiac because the schools are not integrated...at that point it became very clear to me that the courts were going far beyond any reason or logic."

Senator Griffin charged that Kelley, hiding behind legal framework of his office, has declined to state publicly how he would vote on legislation against busing.

"But the one sure and most decisive difference (between himself and Kelley on the busing issue) is his opposition to a Constitutional Amendment and my advocacy of it and the fact that I introduced it."

Having just seen his effort to end a filibuster against anti-busing legislation fail, Griffin said it is becoming more and more apparent that a Constitutional Amendment is the only "sure answer." There is no certainty, he added, that the nine-member Supreme Court, which includes only four Nixon appointees, will hand down an anti-busing decision.

As for an alternative to busing, Griffin said, "there is no overnight answer. Those who advocate busing are trying to provide one. There are sound answers, however. One is to work harder to make the promise of equal job opportunities, the economic opportunities really equal in our society regardless of the color of a person's skin. I think we've made a lot of progress in that regard, but we still have a long way to go."

"I think we need to deliver on the promise that housing opportunities are equal, regardless of the person's skin. I think we need to deliver on the promise of equal public financing of schools. We should be sure that, relatively speaking, the same amount of money is spent on the public education of every child in the state regardless of his economic circumstances or the color of his skin."

"I think Governor Milliken's proposal on the ballot to reduce the reliance on property tax and to try to equalize expenditures on public education is a move in the right direction."

Griffin bristles at Kelley's charge that he is a champion of big business.

Recalling that he comes from a workingman's family and that he is himself a former factory worker, Griffin ticked off several areas in which his Senate role has been anti-big business.

Most recent of these stands, he pointed out, was his support of President Nixon's opposition to a price increase by the automobile industries

"Six or seven years ago when I thought it wasn't economically feasible I voted against the repeal of the automobile excise tax. Last year I led the fight to get it repealed

"I also notice that my opponent makes a great deal of the fact that there are people associated with General Motors, Ford, etc. who have contributed to my campaign. I'm very proud of the fact that we have over 16,000 individual contributors to our campaign and that the vast overwhelming majority of these contributors are contributing in amounts of one dollar, five dollars, 20 dollars, 25 dollars. Of course we don't hear anything about that kind of support."

Griffin predicted his campaign cost will total about $12 million.

"An awful lot of money will be spent on his (Kelley's) behalf but will never be reported by Mr. Kelley's committees," Griffin suggested. "I'm referring specifically to money that the UAW will pay hundreds and hundreds of workers who are already engaged in registration drives and who will be out on election day and who will be distributing literature and who have been and will be spending vast amounts of money that benefit Mr. Kelley but will not be reported by Mr. Kelley's committees."

Abortion

James H. Brickley, Lieutenant Governor of the State of Michigan, will discuss the issue of Abortion Law Reform at Farmington's Harrison High School, 29995 West Twelve Mile Road, on Thursday, October 19, at 8 p.m.

Brickley will discuss governmental responsibility in the area of Abortion Reform. As presiding officer of the Michigan Senate, he has witnessed the struggle concerning Abortion Legislation. The Lieutenant Governor's appearance has been arranged as a part of the effort to educate the voting public on this vital issue. It is being sponsored by Citizens Concerned About Abortion Reform. There is no admission charge.

Dumas

Mary E. Dumas, Republican candidate for the 19th District office of Wayne County Commissioner, emphasized the need for a restructuring of county government which would include provision for an elected or appointed full time chief executive.

Speaking at a recent Jaycee candidate meeting, she outlined support for Senator Carl Pursell's County Reorganization Bill. In addition, Mrs. Dumas said she would recommend the abolition or consolidation of some existing county boards and commissions, the change of some county offices from elective to appointive positions and, specifically, bringing the Road Commission more directly under the jurisdiction of the elected Board of Commissioners. Such reforms would make county government more responsive to the local community, more accountable to the voters.

Mrs. Dumas also spoke to the need for proper tax assessment procedures, which would assure homeowners in Livonia and Northville that they were bearing only their fair share of the tax burden.

She was critical of the duplication and lack of adequate supervision of drug abuse programs in the county.

"I really question their sincerity when I hear some of the present commissioners suddenly screaming for an accounting of where all the money has gone just two months before the election, especially when some of them have been in office for the past four years," she said.

Mrs. Dumas again stressed the need for Western Wayne County Youth Facilities.

"As a member of the SEMCOG Council on Regional Development I have become increasingly aware of the need for concerted planning for the development of an adequate combined highway and mass transit system to serve our suburbs with an eye to preserving both our ecology and lands for recreational use. It is not necessary to pave ALL of Wayne County," she said.

Commenting on the new funds made available through revenue-sharing, Mrs. Dumas pointed out that Congress must be persuaded to allow local and county governments to determine the ways in which the money is spent rather than tying it to specific programs pre-determined by Congress. Only in this way can the special needs of the individual communities be met, she said.

She added that still more new means of financing must be sought by the county, suggesting that perhaps the State of Michigan should reimburse the county for the use of lands used by them and thus removed from the local tax rolls...such as Northville State Hospital, Hawthorne Center, or the Maybury Sanitarium land.

"Most importantly, Wayne County tax dollars must be conserved by the careful consideration of the programs which the Commissioners approve and continued supervision and re-evaluation of those programs to determine their effectiveness. The tax payers of the 19th Commission District deserve to know that their elected Commissioner is administering their tax dollars prudently."

Geake

State Representative candidate Dr. Robert Geake of Northville blasted what he termed "The Michigan Highway Department's deplorable lack of concern for the public" in a speech at Franklin High School in Livonia Monday night.

"Michigan taxpayers are forking over the top dollar for what are supposed to be some of the best highways in the country, yet with all the construction taking place the public suffers from a continual traffic jam," lamented Geake.

Now the legislature is considering a two cent per gallon increase in the gasoline tax, most of which would go for more highway construction. What we need is more productivity and more consideration for the taxes we are already paying," the Schoolcraft College Board chairman charged.

"Construction projects which should be completed in days last weeks, and projects which should last weeks drag on into months. There is absolutely no justification for this that I can see.

Highway officials have brainwashed the public into believing that summer long repair and construction tie-ups are a necessary evil to be accepted and tolerated by the public without a murmur. This is pure nonsense.

If, in certain cases, a lengthy tie-up is necessary, then the legislature should devise a set of administrative rules indicating, through the bidding process, that financial penalties will be charged for deadlines not met and that no construction can start on parallel roads within a given distance of a present construction site. Also, no company presently working on a state construction project which is behind in its work should be allowed to bid on other state projects until their present construction is completed.

The profit motive would then encourage construction companies to handle projects as expeditiously as possible. The resulting increased productivity would also help the unions in their drive to maintain full employment for their membership.

Main streets throughout the suburban areas where most people have to travel to and from work have been in a mess for months. If only one road were torn up, or a section of a road, it might be understandable. But this persistent, seemingly random reconstruction appears to be irresponsible and thoughtless where the people are concerned.

Certainly the citizens deserve more consideration than they've been given in the past. If I am elected state representative in the new 35th district, I will do all in my power to see that needless lengthy traffic construction tie-ups are eliminated."

GOP Club

Judge Mary Coleman and John MacDonald will be guest speakers at the Greater Northville Republican Club Meeting Thursday night, October 26, at 8 p.m. at the Township Hall located at 301 West Main Street.

Judge Coleman is a candidate for the Supreme Court of Michigan. She is currently Probate and Juvenile Court Judge.

First woman president of the Michigan Probate and Juvenile Court Judges Association, she has been a member of the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

She was chairman of the Task Force on Delinquency, and she has provided active leadership in the field of judicial administration, mental health, probate law and family law.

MacDonald, a candidate for Northville Township trustee, is an attorney-at-law who received the highest vote of any local candidate in the August primary.

The meeting is open to the public. There will be a question and answer period after each speaker.

"The makeup of the Michigan Supreme Court and local township government are both important to the residents of the Northville area," said Club President Edward Hodge. "This is an opportunity to meet these candidates."

A Republican candidates coffee, sponsored by Republican women, will be held Monday, October 30 at the Lakepointe Village Apartments clubhouse, located at Wilcox and Shadywood roads in Plymouth.

Special guests at the 9:30 a.m. coffee will be Republican candidates for Northville Township offices.

The same GOP organization last Monday hosted a benefit card party at St John's Church in Plymouth for Congressman and Mrs. Marvin Esch.

Griffin

U. S. Senator Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich) urged the Senate Democratic leadership to call up a pending pension reform bill so that the Senate will have the opportunity to pass meaningful pension reform legislation in this session.

In a speech on the Senate Floor, the assistant minority leader told his colleagues that "millions of American workers are basing a substantial portion of their future on the pensions they have been promised. It is the responsibility of this body to see that those promises are kept."

Griffin said that the only obstacle to consideration of pension reform legislation is the reluctance of Senate Democratic leaders to call up the pending bill for consideration.

Although Griffin reiterated his displeasure with the handling of that bill by the leadership of the Senate Finance Committee, "which watered it down by eliminating three key provisions — vesting, funding and insurance" — he said that the bill "provides a vehicle through which the Senate can work its will. We can amend this bill to make it the type of meaningful legislation that American workers need and deserve. But first, we must have the opportunity to consider it."

Griffin added that he is confident that, if the bill is called up, the amendments that he and other Senators plan to introduce to strengthen it will be adopted.

Jolly

Speaking to senior classes in government at Novi High School last week, Terry Jolly, candidate for district judge, discussed political campaigns in general and his campaign in particular.

"It is a sad commentary on today's political life," he declared, "that a candidate is usually elected on what he spends rather than on his ability."

Voters require extensive name-education campaigns, he said, before voting for their particular candidates.

Promising to initiate a vigorous program to reduce court backlog if elected, Jolly called for extensive drug education and rehabilitation programs throughout the district. He also advocated the establishment of evening court sessions for traffic violations.

A resident of Novi, Jolly discussed, too, a volunteer probation system which he would institute under the guidance and supervision of trained probation officers.

"Rehabilitation of youthful offenders and drug users is the key to the rapid reduction of our current crime rate," he declared. He noted that "70-percent of criminal violations is directly related to the use of hard narcotics."

An opponent of incumbent Judge Martin Boyle, Jolly was invited to speak to the government class by the teacher, Del Munson.

Kuhn

George W. Kuhn, Republican candidate for Oakland County Drain Commissioner, has challenged his opponent, William Richards, to make public his campaign contributions for both the primary and general election.

Kuhn, noted that all of the primary candidates who ran for this office only Richards failed to detail his campaign contributions.

This is secret handling of special interests who expect favors in the future, Kuhn said. Richards' report shows all receipts were received from one celebrity night event which totaled $9,735, or almost $10,000. His expenditures from the primary running $2,685 was 13 times more than spent by Kuhn, the Republican said.

In the general election Kuhn predicts his total campaign budget will run less than $1,500. Kuhn further indicated he is proud to say that he has both directly and indirectly turned down campaign contributions from contractors whom he might be doing business with in the future, if elected.

"It is extremely important that whoever is elected to this office be totally free of political obligation whatsoever," Kuhn said. "I am free of obligation before the primary election and will remain free of obligation after the election. The only obligations Kuhn will have is to serve the best public interest of all the citizens of Oakland County."

Kuhn also requested Richards to tell the public "Why he is spending over $20,000 to get elected to a post he is anxious to abolish? This kind of politics I cannot understand."

Patterson

More than 500 volunteers have signed up and "are to work throughout the county" on behalf of L. Brooks Patterson, candidate for the office of Oakland County Prosecutor, it was announced this week.

Campaign Manager Richard Thompson, in announcing the number of active Patterson volunteers, also announced the appointment of 10 area directors who will supervise and coordinate campaign activities in their respective areas.

"I'm delighted with the number of residents throughout the county who are volunteering to work on Patterson's behalf," Thompson said. "We have more than 500 working right now and I'm confident we'll have well over 1,000 workers before Fri. Oct 20. This total combined with those workers signed up by the Democrats and Independents for Patterson Committee should give us a field force of 1,500 to 2,000 before election day."

Truth Squad

Frank Kelley, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, came under fire again this past week as William McLaughlin of Northville, member of the GOP "Truth Squad", challenged Kelley's statements.

Concerning Kelley's announcement implying that Senator Robert Griffin was guilty of wrongdoing on the subject of campaign financing, McLaughlin said "Frank Kelley is the only one of the two that violated federal law by filing the Campaign Receipts and Expenditure Report of his campaign 49 days late."

And although Kelley's explanation was that late report was a technicality, the state's highest law enforcement officer nevertheless "violated federal law," declared McLaughlin. "He continues to confuse you and the public. Let the record show that Kelley did in fact violate Federal Law."

Furthermore, Kelley told the press that he had only one committee working in his campaign, said McLaughlin. Yet "He has many campaign committees promoting him."

Among those committees cited by the Northville Republican are: Friends of Kelley Committee of Sterling Heights, Frank J. Kelley for U.S. Senate Committee in Lansing, Citizens for Kelley '72 of Detroit, Kelley for Senate Committee of Detroit, and Kelley for Senate Committee of Flint, Committee for Total Victory of Troy.

McLaughlin charged that the Kelley for Senate Committee in Flint is "even being run out of the Genesee County Court House" since that is the address for the committee in Washington. Genesee County Prosecutor Robert Leonard, he said, is listed as the Committee chairman.

This committee, said McLaughlin, "reported $1,000 in contributions but didn't identify the contributors as required by law."

Business Briefs

WALTER E. HAINES, president of Evans Industries, Inc., has announced the appointment of Daniel R. Taylor to the new position of controller of the company.

Haines said Taylor will also be treasurer of the LaCoquille Development Corporation, a subsidiary of Evans Industries, which is building luxury villas in the Palm Beach, Florida area. Haines said, "Mr. Taylor's strong financial background will be an asset to the company."

Taylor joined Evans Industries after three and a half years as assistant controller of the Precision Products Division of Eaton Corporation, Saginaw. Prior to that he was manager of budgets and measurements of the Misco Division of Howmet Corporation in Muskegon, and an accountant with the firm of Haskins and Sells in Detroit.

Taylor, who received his B.A. in accounting from Michigan State in 1965 is a certified public accountant. He is a member of the American Institute of CPA's and of the National Association of Accountants.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and their two children, will soon be moving to Novi from their present home in Saginaw.

Evans Industries was formed earlier this year from a merger of companies owned or controlled by Evans.

R.L. POLK & Company recently started delivery of its up-to-date 1972 Plymouth-Northville city directory. The books are being delivered to local subscribers.

The directory contains four major departments along with an introduction and statistical and general review of the communities.

First, the classified section contains a complete list of the names and addresses of business and professional concerns, in both Plymouth and Northville, arranged in alphabetical order under their appropriate classified headings.

The alphabetical section of the directory shows the name, marital status, occupation and address of each resident of the Plymouth and Northville areas. Husband and wife are counted as one name, and eighteen is still the minimum age limit of individuals listed.

The third section is the directory of householders, including a street and avenue guide. This section lists numbered streets in numerical order followed by the named streets in alphabetical order. The residents on every street are listed along with the telephone number at each address.

The numerical telephone directory is the last major section of the book. This is a list of every telephone number in order with the person or business who has the number listed alongside.

BILL LONGHURST, 23915 Forest Park Drive, has been named "Captain of the Guard" by the 3M Company, St. Paul, Minnesota, for outstanding sales accomplishments in 1972.

He is marketing representative for 3M Business Products Sales Inc., 22100 Telegraph Rd., Southfield. This is the fifth consecutive year the Longhurst has reached "Captain of the Guard" status.

Longhurst and his wife, Lora Lee, have one child and have lived in the area 40 years.

NAYADIC SCIENCES, Inc., manufacturer of a unique home sewage system, has announced the opening of a distributorship, Tri-County Sewage Treatment Company, to serve a three-county Michigan area.

The distributorship, located at 24450 Martindale, South Lyon, will be under the direction of Richard H. Benson, who will handle distribution of Nayadic's aerobic sewage unit in Oakland, Washtenaw, and Livingston Counties.

The announcement was made by Gilbert Murray, general manager of Nayadic, a publicly-held company, at the firm's headquarters in Uwchland, Pennsylvania. The 600-gallon-capacity aerobic unit, called "The Answer," solves many of the environmental problems which accompany septic tank use.

Nayadic's individual sewage treatment plant does away with backed-up sewage lines, overloaded tanks and clogged drainfields. The unit utilizes a smaller drainfield and, since it discharges a clear and odorless, liquid effluent, extends the life of the drainfield.

The six-foot fiberglass module, installed on an individual basis, biologically breaks down all household and farm sewage through an oxidation process.

The unit never needs pumping out, as septic tanks do. After the oxidation, the clear water is held in a clarification area in the module, then empties into a drainfield for dispersal into the ground.

Here's the Answer

LANSING—Taxes and abortions are two of the most controversial subjects state governments in most parts of the country have dealt with in recent years. What to do about spiraling property taxes have vexed many people; and whether to permit abortions has been argued heatedly by even more.

Michigan voters have a unique opportunity Nov. 7 to help set the national tone for the discussion of both in coming years. The voters will decide on proposals which deal with both questions.

The manner in which the proposals were placed before voters says something about how the legislature is handling modern problems. Both had to be petitioned onto the ballot after political wrangling made legislative action impossible.

MORE EMOTIONAL of the two, by far, is the abortion proposal. It is being bitterly opposed by several groups spearheaded by the Roman Catholic Church, which opposes all abortion as a matter of religious principle.

The ballot proposal would allow any woman to have an abortion if she wanted it during the first 20 weeks of pregnancy.

Backers say that whether one favors the idea of abortion personally, it is immoral for the state to enforce the viewpoint of one group—the antiabortion faction—on the whole state. They point out the fact that thousands of illegal abortions are performed in Michigan every year, sometimes in wretched conditions, and that many women die or are permanently injured because they have been forced to see an illegal abortionist.

The ballot proposal, they say, merely makes available to the poorer segment of the population a medical treatment the more wealthy can go elsewhere for already.

OPPONENTS claim abortion is murder and that the removal of a fetus is the killing of a human being. They say approval of the proposal would be the legalizing of murder.

Polls indicate a sizeable majority of Michigan residents favor the liberalization proposal and will adopt it, but no one will know for sure until election day.

Since present abortion laws have been called unconstitutional by Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman, the legality issue may have already been established. But voter reaction at the next election will express the feeling of those who go to the ballot box.

PROPERTY tax changes were petitioned onto the ballot by Gov. William G. Milliken and the Michigan Education Association. It would remove the use of local property taxes for the financing of school costs.

The governor proposed that the drop in property tax money be made up from an increase in the state income tax and levying of a value added tax on businesses. But that is something the legislature will decide if the proposal passes.

ONE SURE THING is that people around the country will be watching Michigan on both issues. In both cases the vote will be the largest test yet of public sentiment on the issue involved.

And Michigan, with its cross section of interests which closely mirrors the nation, is seen as a reliable barometer of feeling on both subjects.

With controversy now brewing about Michigan's gasoline tax and whether a tiny fraction of it should be used to help fund mass transit programs, it seems a good time to compare the state's present gas tax with other states.

Gov. William G. Milliken proposed that the tax be raised from 7 cents to 9 cents. Of the increased money, he would allocate 1.5 cents to accelerated highway construction plans and one half cent to mass transit. The current 7 cents would still go entirely for highways.

If Michigan raises its tax to 9 cents, it still won't have the highest gas tax in the country. That distinction belongs to Connecticut, which charges 10 cents for every gallon of gasoline sold in that state.

Eight states already charge 9 cents per gallon gas tax. They represent a broad section of the country, too, including New Hampshire, Washington, Maryland and Kentucky.

MISSISSIPPI raised its rate to 9 cents effective next July 1. Kentucky, Maryland and Virginia raised theirs to 9 cents this year.

Twelve states have their tax at 8 cents right now and three other pay 8.5 cents.

Hawaii is all alone at the lowest tax rate of 5 cents and is only one of seven states which haven't raised its gas tax since 1961.

It may not help your pocketbook much to know it, but Michigan certainly isn't alone in its need for more tax money.

Nixon's "remarkable job" in gradually withdrawing American forces from Vietnam without jeopardizing the well-being of South Vietnam.

"There is every indication now that we are very, very close to a settlement that will be much better than the alternative that Senator McGovern proposes. He proposes that 90 days after inauguration he will get the rest of our troops out of Vietnam. Well, that's fine except that doesn't end the war in Southeast Asia. The war will still go on. That doesn't get our prisoners of war back. All he says is that he will fight for it.

"I think we are very close to a much better solution... a solution that will really stop all killing in Southeast Asia, and we'll get our prisoners back.

"I can't say that's going to happen before election day. But serious negotiations are going on. It's not a charade. There has been movement and there obviously are very serious negotiations going on."

Aside from the differences between himself and Kelley, the most important question before voters, he said, is that of qualifications. "Which one of the two candidates can more effectively represent the people of Michigan in the United States Senate, which one of us is better qualified?"

"A few years ago Teddy Kennedy ran in Massachusetts. His brother happened to be president at the time. I don't think I would ever want to run on the sole argument that I can do more for Michigan. But I do think which of the two candidates can do more for Michigan is an important consideration.

"I think President Nixon is going to be president for four more years. A lot of those people who even won't vote for him think he is going to be president.

"Now I have 16 years of experience in Congress. I have six years of seniority in the Senate, and seniority is still a very, very valuable commodity. And furthermore I represent the state of Michigan, by the honor of my colleagues, from a position of leadership. I'm the second-ranking leader of my party in the Senate. This means my phone calls are answered at the White House, that I have constant contact with the President and members of his cabinet.

"I think I can do more for Michigan than a freshman Democratic senator who would start over again, particularly in a Nixon administration.

Noting differences between himself and Kelley, Griffin suggested that Kelley supports McGovern "96-percent of the time" and such support means he advocates disastrous cuts in military spending even while supporting McGovern's domestic proposals that will cost additional expenditures of $100 billion in the first year if Congress approves them."

Such expenditures, he continued, "inevitably will mean a tax increase for the American people," he said.

"On the other hand I support President Nixon who is trying to hold the line on spending, who is against higher taxes, who is trying to get people who can work off the welfare rolls.

Kelley

"My record is I have secured some of the biggest fines against corporate polluters of any attorney general in the United States," he said, "including the largest fine for a single spill of $15,000 against the Standard Oil Company."

Allegations by Griffin that Kelley was dragging his feet in the federal case against Reserve Mining of Minnesota are untrue, Kelley said, pointing out that he had sent a telegram to Griffin in December urging him, without success, to get the Department of Justice going in the case.

In early January, Kelley added, he sent a team of lawyers to Washington "Personally, myself" to confer with the Department of Justice in an effort to initiate federal legal action.

"I also personally contacted the attorney general of Wisconsin and got him to agree to intervene with the State of Michigan, so that the federal government would initiate action.

Finally, Kelley said, he sent an ultimatum to William Ruckelshaus, head of the Environmental Protection Agency, telling him that if he did not get the Justice Department moving, Michigan would begin the case alone.

Within a couple weeks, Kelley says, the Department of Justice started the suit and Michigan immediately intervened. The suit seeks to stop Reserve Mining from dumping tailings and other wastes into Lake Superior.

Besides opposing the national Democratic party platform on busing and amnesty, Kelley said he earlier opposed McGovern's plan to give everybody $1,000 and what Kelley termed, "some of these other utopian, rather sophomoric ideas that were kicked around six or seven months ago, which he has since altered."

Although Kelley said he does not share McGovern's view on the need for a $30 million cut in military expenditures over three years, the attorney general did point to a study done by the Brookings Institute, "which I respect as an independent think tank."

The Brookings study said that maximum security could be maintained in the United States with a $12 billion cut in military expenditures, Kelley noted.

Kelley does not necessarily support McGovern's proposal to reduce U.S. troop commitments in Europe, but the Democratic senate candidate said, "I don't think it has any value (stationing troops in Europe). If the military can show me it has value, fine, I'll buy it. Having troops stationed in many of the places where we are a few minutes away by jet is not needed."

McGovern, in fact, would not have been Kelley's first choice as the Democratic presidential nominee. He would have preferred Ted Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey or Edmund Muskie.

But, he says "I'm a Democrat. I don't run or hide from anybody."

The same cannot be said of Griffin, Kelley charged. "A year ago, it's a fact that Robert Griffin was running away from Nixon when he was not popular." Kelley contends McGovern won't hurt his campaign "No, because I don't think Richard Nixon has coattails to amount to anything," he stated. "This is the greatest ticket splitting state in the United States."

INCUMBENT...

...CHALLENGER

On the issue of Indo-China, Kelley says there is a distinct departure between him and Griffin. While the incumbent senator has supported President Nixon's bombing of North Vietnam, the mining of Haiphong, and gradual withdrawal, Kelley said he was opposed to these measures and would support withdrawal in 90 days.

"France got out," Kelley noted. "They saw the foolishness and the futility of it (fighting in Vietnam)."

And, Kelley added, Ho Chi Minh released all French prisoners in 61 days after French withdrawal from Vietnam following WWII.

Even in commenting on Nixon's wage and price freeze action, Kelley returned to the claims of administration coziness with big business. "He's just frozen the poor wage earner and the small businessman and everybody else is getting away with murder economically," the Democrat said.

'It Must be True Love' from the Pastor's Study

Rev. Richard J. Henderson
Assistant Pastor,
First Presbyterian Church
Northville

Once upon a time there was a young man who had recently "gotten the faith" as they say. Filled with the enthusiasm of the change that had taken place in his life, he was anxious to tell others the good news that he had found. He decided to give every hour of his spare time to telling other people about the Christian faith. He wanted to reach out to the people who were not in churches, so he went out to meet people where they were. He began this new venture by walking through the streets and talking to people as he met them.

The first person he met was a ragged old man who was leaning up against a building, mumbling to himself. He wore such tattered clothes that he had to put on two layers just so the holes of the bottom layer wouldn't coincide with the open spaces of the top layer, and he could at least be covered all over. Our young evangelist approached the shabby old man and leaned down to talk to him. "Are you a Christian, old man?", he asked.

"Huh?" replied the poorly dressed man, without enthusiasm. "I said 'Are you a Christian,' you know, do you have faith?"

The ragged man's reply was slow but eventually he said, "Faith? Are you joking, what I need are clothes! can't you see how cold I am sitting out here?"

"But you don't understand," the young man answered. "Clothes aren't nearly as important as what happens to your soul."

The old man again answered, this time with a sad frown on his face. "I sit here shivering and you want to talk to me about my soul! If you can't give me any help then go away."

The young man walked away, not very pleased that his first attempt to help hadn't been appreciated. As he walked through the lonely streets feeling dejected, he saw a young woman rummaging through some garbage cans looking for scraps of food that had been thrown out. It was behind a restaurant and the young woman obviously was extremely hungry.

"Excuse me ma'am, Are you a Christian?" The woman, startled by his voice, jumped, then turned to him, looking embarrassed. "What did you say?"

"Are you a Christian?" the young man repeated, "Are you right with God? Have you cared for your soul?"

"My soul?" the woman looked perplexed. "I know that my soul is important but it's sort of hard to worry about your soul when your stomach is crying for something to eat. Could you get me some food?"

"The things of the body are not as important as the things of the Spirit," he replied. "Let me tell you about what God has done for me."

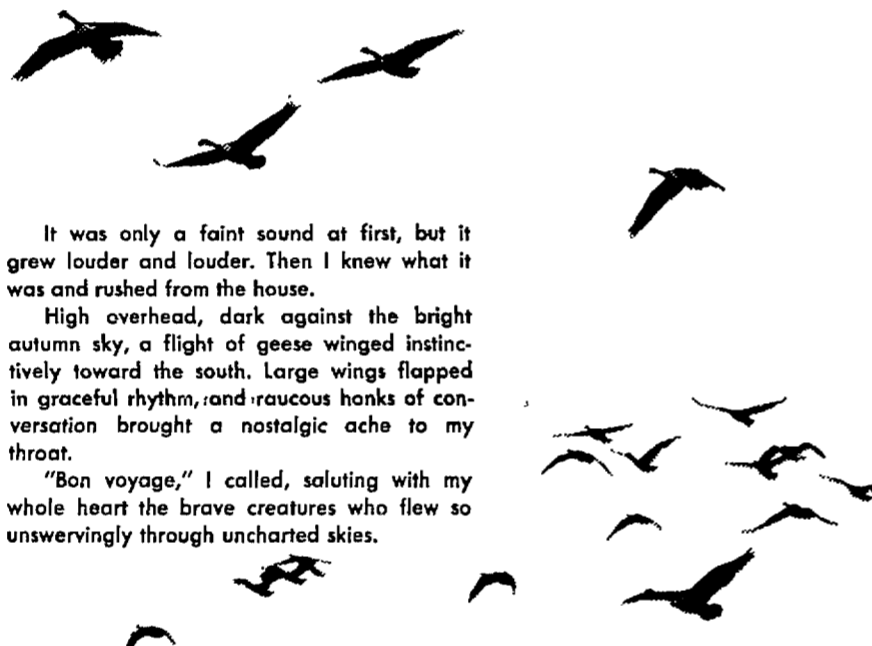

"But can't you get me something to eat?" she answered.

"Oh, yes, I can get you food," the man answered, "but first let me tell you about God and His Word. When you hear His Word you won't be so concerned about your stomach because you will be filled in a new way."

The woman muttered something and put her head back down in the garbage can to dig for food once again. Since the young man was obviously being ignored, he walked on, more dismayed than ever.

The young man continued his work and met people in hospitals and prisons, in ghettos and mental hospitals, people who were poor and people who needed help in many different ways. But they all seemed to be more concerned about their physical needs than about the "good news" that he was bringing to them. The young evangelist just couldn't understand why he wasn't being heard.

"If a man is rich and sees his brother in need, yet closes his heart against his brother, how can he claim that he has love for God in his heart? My children, your love should not be just word and talk; it must be true love, which shows itself in action"

It was only a faint sound at first, but it grew louder and louder. Then I knew what it was and rushed from the house.

High overhead, dark against the bright autumn sky, a flight of geese winged instinctively toward the south. Large wings flapped in graceful rhythm, and raucous honks of conversation brought a nostalgic ache to my throat.

"Bon voyage," I called, saluting with my whole heart the brave creatures who flew so unwaveringly through uncharted skies.

And I wondered at us humans. How we doubt and fear and flail about, worrying about tomorrow and a dozen other things! Our course is not unknown. God promises abundant life if we but follow Him.

Your church is your guidebook to God. Worship there and find the security that comes from within, the result of understanding God and one's relationship to Him.

November 3, 4, 5-Detroit Junior Horse Show Michigan State Fair grounds

Sponsored by Michigan Horse Show, Inc.; show secretary Mrs Dorothy Bedell, 3105 Sunset, Flint, Mich 48503, phone 1-313-239-2298. Entries close October 21. Post entries will be accepted. Only mares and geldings may be shown at this show. Judges are: George Dunham, East Long Meadow, Mass and Roland Wood, Ballston Spa, New York.

There will be classes for Arabians, Half-Arabians, Morgans, American Saddlebreeds, Ponies, open English Pleasure, Working Hunters, Equitation all divisions, Quarter Horses, Appaloosa, Palominos, Pintos, open Western Pleasure, and open Showmanship

An Ann Arbor riding school has been invited by Greenfield Village in Dearborn to stage a horse show on the outdoor historical museum grounds Sunday, October 22.

Majestic Farm will sponsor the all-jumping show from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and has invited five four-man riding teams from three other area farms to join the competition.

According to show manager Mike Mathews, the afternoon will feature team competition and two individual performance classes over jumps up to three feet-six inches.

The teams will jump a modified Olympic course, including intricate combinations of jumps such as triple in-and-outs and jumps of up to four foot spread, with each rider making two circuits.

Individual competition will feature Choose Your Own Line and Six Bar Jumping events. In Choose Your Own Line, the rider plots his own course over 12 jumps in random positions riding against the clock. The six Bar Jumping course consists of six fences in a straight line 24 feet apart. A continuous jump-off elimination with fences raised after each round decides winners.

Judge for the show to be held under international rules will be Mrs William Lewis of Ann Arbor

Robert Miller, Greenfield Village official, reports that this is the first time an all-jumping show has been held at Greenfield Village and it will be the highlight of the Fall Harvest Festival Weekend

Schools competing in the show in addition to Majestic Farm are Stoney Ridge Farm of Chelsea, Whitehall Farms of Birmingham and Haverhill Farm of Walled Lake

Other features of the Harvest Festival October 21 and 22 will be a pony-pulling contest on Saturday, as well as performances by barbershop quartets, German bands, and Punch and Judy shows. Miniature steam trains, old pop-corn machines, Historic fire engines and antique threshing machines will be operating

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kline and daughter Karen, of Brighton, owners of the two-year old Morgan mare, "Erwin's Lady Maureen", came home with Grand Champion mare International All-Morgan Horse Show, held in Syracuse, New York, on October 5, 6, 7 & 8. Sally Saddle
