

NEWS BRIEFS

RETIRING TOWNSHIP Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg and Clerk Eleanor Hammond will be honored at an open house today (Thursday). Sponsored by township employees, the open house will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. in the township offices. The public is invited to attend.

ARTICLES of incorporation for Northville township's proposed Building Authority appear on page 12-A of this edition. The new corporation, which will be known as the Northville Township Building Authority Commission, becomes effective January 1, 1973. It possesses broad powers to acquire property, build structures and lease them to the township, which then become an obligation of the township. The articles provide, however, that the township board must approve Building Authority projects. Specifically, the township is considering a proposed $500,000 township hall-police-fire station complex. Legal authorities point out that any proposed project may be subject to a vote of the people if petitions are circulated within 30 days following advertisements for sale of bonds to finance a project.

FOUR APPOINTMENTS were made to committees Tuesday night by Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg. Supervisor-elect Lawrence Wright was named to represent the township on the South East Michigan Council of Governments and the water and sewer commission. James Vargo of Highland Lakes was appointed to the Recreation Commission while out-going trustee Bernard Baldwin was named to the Fish Hatchery committee.

INTERVIEWS ARE being conducted this week for the position of administrative assistant with the Northville Public Schools. Formerly called the personnel director, the position was vacated earlier this year by the resignation of Robert C. Benson. Superintendent Raymond Spear said he hopes to make a recommendation on filling the vacancy at the school board's November 27 meeting.

$3.8 Million Budget Called 'Best Ever' for Schools

State Aid Up
$200,000

Northville School Board members approved a record $3,876,188 budget for the 1972-73 school year.

The budget approval, which this year came at the latest date ever due to the late settlement with the teachers, was made Monday by a unanimous vote.

Last year's budget totaled $3,247,476 after cutbacks were made due to withholding of state aid payments.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said he views the budget as the "best ever since I've been superintendent in terms of funds available to get the job done."

"There is a significant increase in state aid which is $200,000 more than what we anticipated," he commented. "The budget is 'flexible,' too, which is something we haven't had recently."

Spear explained the major increase in expenditures are in the instruction category while the major increase in revenue comes from state aid.

Business Director Earl Busard said the budget is "not a loose budget. It does not have money for everything people may want to do."

School board members were criticized by Robert Strachar of 540 Horton for not levying the one mill voted in June after citizens asked the millage request be put back on the ballot following the April defeat.

Decision not to levy the mill came after the district was notified of the increase in state aid.

Trustee Glenn Deibert said that he "would rather be criticized for not levying the mill than levying it and not having the extra $50,000 (made possible by state aid) to put in the capital outlay category."

The additional $200,000 received by the district through state aid represents approximately $50,000 more than one mill levied would have raised.

Per pupil expenditure anticipated for the 1972-73 school year is $1,006.02, based on an enrollment of 3,855. Expenditures last year on a per pupil basis were $839.94, with an enrollment of 3,445.

Largest expenditure in the instruction category is salaries for 177 teachers in the district.

Salaries total, $2,118,800, up $313,290 from last year when the district paid $1,805,510 in salaries to 160 teachers.

Instruction expenditures include $2,773,385 total or 71.58 percent of the budget; administration, $136,000 or 3.5 percent; attendance service, $900 or .01 percent; health services, $3,200 or .08 percent; transportation, $134,300 or 3.46 percent; operation of plant, $407,159 or 10.5 percent; maintenance of plant, $126,444 or 3.26 percent; fixed charges, $177,900 or 4.58 percent; capital outlay, $50,000 or 1.29 percent; student services, $38,000 or .99 percent; expenditures to other school districts, $10,000 or .25 percent, and contingency funds, $19,000 or .5 percent.

Anticipated revenue, which matches the expenditures,

Administrators Get Raises

By a 5-2 vote of school board members Monday, salary increases were granted to the three central office administrators.

Five building principals and two assistants were granted raises by a unanimous vote of the board.

The action was taken following two closed sessions of the board, including one recess which lasted more than an hour, called just before the meeting ended.

Raises for the three administrators total 10 percent each.

Superintendent Raymond Spear's salary for the 1972-73 school year will be $29,425, up from $26,750, Director of Instruction Florence Panattoni, $22,000, up from $20,000; and Director of Business Earl Busard, $21,450, up from $19,500.

Raises were recommended by Trustee Glenn Deibert, chairman of the board's personnel sub-committee, and supported by Trustee Stanley Johnston.

Also voting for the motion were Trustee Richard Ambler, also a committee member, Trustee Martin Rinehart and Board President Dr. Orlo Robinson.

Voting against the motion were Trustee Sylvia Gucken, a member of the subcommittee, and Trustee Andrew Orphan.

While no explanation was given at the board meeting for Mrs. Gucken's and Orphan's dissenting votes, board members said later that both voted "no" on the basis of the 10 percent hike, favoring instead an increase of eight percent for the three administrators.

Although no mention was made at Monday's meeting of how the 10 percent raises were reached, board members later said a study of districts in the six county area showed the three Northville administrators were paid lower than comparable positions.

Salaries for teachers and principals were found to be comparable to the average, in the six county area.

The study also showed the director of business and finance and the director of instruction in the six county area are paid very close to the maximum rate for high school principals, while in Northville the positions have been about 15 percent below the maximum for high school principal.

The salary of the superintendent has been about 13 percent over that of the high school principal while in other districts the range is between 23 and 40 percent.

Board Asks State For $62,000

Northville school board members agreed unanimously Monday to ask the state to return the district's share of the 1971-72 state aid contingency fund.

Amounting to $62,000, the funds were withheld from Northville's state aid payments last year and, as school officials have learned, now are surplus funds.

Statewide, the funds total $24-million.

The board study also indicated that the three administrators do not have automatic step raises in Northville as do principals and teachers and that in many cases the increases for

Board members said they also will suggest to the state that $8- to $15-million anticipated surplus in this year's state aid budget remain in the education budget to be used in district's where it is needed.

Originally, Superintendent Raymond Spear suggested the board should not recommend Northville ask for

State Pedals Biking Paths

Bicyclists will have their own paths for pedaling along Edward Hines Drive in the Middle Rouge Parkway next summer.

The project is being financed with $50,000 of State funds, which is expected to cover the cost of developing about four miles of path along Hines Drive.

Preliminary plans call for construction to begin in Northville and proceed south along Edward Hines Drive through Northville Township and beyond as far as funds will permit. The paths could possibly reach Plymouth township or the City of Plymouth.

Construction is expected to begin next summer, with about one month needed to complete the project.

The paths will have a hard surface, probably asphalt, and will be from 4 1/2 to 6 feet wide. The ideal width will permit two-way bicycle traffic but will be narrow enough to discourage use of other vehicles, said a spokesman for the County Department of Parks and Forestry.

The state will finance the entire cost of construction and the County will be responsible for maintenance and operation after the project is completed.

The project is part of a larger program agreed upon in 1971 in which the County Board of Commissioners is cooperating with the State to provide hiking, bicycle and horseback riding facilities throughout the County.

Merchants Plan Holiday Preview

Northville's annual Christmas Holiday Preview will be held from noon to 5 p.m. this Sunday with 16 downtown merchants hosting open houses.

All shops will be decorated and filled with Christmas merchandise, and many will be serving refreshments. The 16, not normally open Sundays, are in addition to stores and antique shops regularly open on this day. The holiday preview is a Sunday-before-Thanksgiving tradition.

In addition, Band Booster members and band students in uniform will continue a tradition begun last year and sell pumpkin bread to aid the band camp project. The bread is homemade, the donation of students' mothers.

Stores to be open are Schrader's Home Furnishings, Stone's Gambles, Pease Paint and Wallpaper, Spinning Wheel Fabrics, Little People Shop, The Attic, Long's Bath Boutique, Brader's Department Store, Freydl's Men's and Ladies Shops, Lapham's Men's Store, Del's Shoes, Ely's Christmas Trims, Summit Gifts, Banbury Cross Gifts, Bedspread Place and Lila's Four Seasons Flowers and Gifts.

Some of the shops will have hours that extend to 6 p.m., and Lila's also will hold open house Saturday from 6 to 9 p.m.

Newcomers

Host Coffees

Nine neighborhood coffees were held earlier this week by members of the Northville Newcomers Club to introduce new Northville women to their neighbors.

According to Mrs. Robert Holloway, club president, over 200 women attended the coffees, and of those, "about a third" are not yet club members.

Hostesses for the neighborhood get-togethers this week were Mrs. Bob McDonald, Mrs. David Olgren, Mrs. Bruce Pegrum, Mrs. Terry Heaton, Mrs. Myles Walker, Mrs. Howard Fithian, Mrs. Vincent Banks, Mrs. James Novotne and Mrs. Winchester Chaffin.

The club is planning a race track party at Northville Downs on December 2 and all members and prospective members are invited. Reservations should be made by November 20 with Mrs. Howard Fithian.

Back-Pack Trip Meeting Topic

Northville Mothers Club members and their guests will have an opportunity to hear a talk given by a Northville High School teacher about her back-pack trip to Europe and the Olympic Games.

The meeting is scheduled for Monday, November 20, at 8 p.m. at 9625 Napier Road. Speaking will be Pat Bubel who has taught physical education in the Northville school system for over 10 years.

Miss Bubel received her BA and MA from University of Michigan and was in the Ph. D. program at New York University.

In addition to her teaching position at Northville, she has directed children's summer camps and worked for the Northville Recreation Department.

This summer's Olympic trip was the second for Miss Bubel as she also attended the summer Olympics held in Mexico City in 1968.

OPEN HOUSE 'DECORATORS'—Getting ready for the benefit holiday open houses to be held December 2 are Mrs. Gordon Forrer, lower right, Northville Mothers' Club president, and Mrs. Martin Rinehart, club finance chairman, who recruited their husbands to help with party arrangements at the Rineharts. Dr. Forrer is at the right. Eight homes are to be open with proceeds of $5 a couple to be used for equipment—special education needs for grades 6-12. Invitations are out, asking area residents to specific homes.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

AVAILABLE THIS WEEK is a new, 11-page booklet about Our Town. It's a Community Organization List of Northville compiled by the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary that not only lists the community's organizations but also tells when and where they meet, their purpose and their leaders.

It is indexed, and seems quite complete, including governmental (city and township), political, church, service and educational groups. Best of all, the Jaycettes are distributing the booklet without any charge to anyone who needs it.

The ambitious project was headed by Mrs. Russell Anger, who even sketched the Northville well on the Bright yellow cover. Working with her were Mrs. Marlowe Bonner, Mrs. Gerald Campbell, Mrs. Michael Marks, Mrs. David Pevovar, Mrs. John Swienkowski and Mrs. Harvey Tull.

The young wives of Northville Jaycees envision the list as helping community newcomers get acquainted with what's available in our town. They have distributed it to area offices. Mrs. Anger, 349-0068, also may be contacted about copies.

A NEWCOMER to the community, Mrs. Nathaniel Whiteside III, is meeting area residents at a tea being given this afternoon by Mrs. Glenn Cummings at her home on West Six Mile Road.

The Whitesides purchased the Richard Martin home on Whipple Drive last September, moving here from Hinsdale, Illinois. He at that time also bought Mr. Cummings' bond printing business in Plymouth.

A THANKSGIVING TEA will follow one of Northville Woman's Club's most anticipated programs at 1:30 p.m. this Friday in Northville Presbyterian fellowship hall. A gourmet cooking lesson will be presented by Jan Longone, food editor of Vintage, the magazine of the American Wine Society.

Mrs. Longone, in private life Mrs. Daniel Longone of Ann Arbor, will speak on the topic "Artist With a Wooden Spoon." She is the owner of The Gourmet Kitchen, a school which offers cooking lessons in her home in Ann Arbor, catering and lecture-demonstrations.

She and her husband have toured all the vineyard areas of Europe and the United States and have visited many of the best restaurants in France.

She will be introduced by Mrs. Donald Williams, who mentions that the gourmet cook even made a trip here last week from her home to check facilities and work out demonstration details. The speaker confided that she really didn't mind as she is an antiquer and likes visiting local shops.

Mrs. Robert Mohr is chairman of the tea.

(Incidentally, newcomers may question the singular spelling of Woman's Club, but that's the way it's been ever since the group was formed 80 years ago.)

TOWN HALL TREASURES—Antiques expert George Michael holds an oriental Imari fish plate as he examines antiques from local homes decorating the Northville High School stage for his lecture last week. The former editor of National Antiques Review and television authority on antiques told his audience that he is getting ready to do a color television series.

Expert Tells Town Hall

Antique Auctions Can Be Teachers

"The best place to learn about antiques is at auctions," antiques expert George Michael told his Northville Town Hall audience last Thursday.

At auctions, he pointed out, pieces are identified by name, often by the period and by the wood. A catalog also often is available for purchase telling more about each major item. "Watch the interest in bidding to see prices and desirability," he advised. Michael added that desirability alone is what sets the price of antiques.

Michael, who ran an auction house in New England for 17 years, also has edited an antiques magazine and taught many courses. He was introduced by Fred Brusher, who ran the Ann Arbor antique shows in the farmers' market and is an admirer of Michael through his television shows. Through Michael's "thousands of auctions," Brusher said, "he has come close to seeing one of everything."

Speaking on how to collect and enjoy antiques, Michael stressed the importance of having antiques as a source of pleasure.

"When you equate antiques with money, you've lost the essence of enjoying," he said, telling how some collectors even hire "antique sitters" as they are afraid to leave their homes unguarded.

Michael gave his definition of an antique, suggesting it as a buying guide:

"An antique is something wholly or partially handmade—I like to buy the work of an artisan's hands. An antique also must be of good quality, of good taste and age."

Quality and taste, he explained, mean that the piece is of good design and workmanship in proper dimension or proportion with good carving and coloring. The item must also be "of the period" and not a transitional mixture.

In stipulating that an antique must be made by hand, Michael contrasted a real antique by his definition with such items as iron banks and prints, which, he said, were collectible bits of Americana, but warned that these could be reproduced by machine.

He noted that in traveling around the country, he is more and more aware that tastes in antiques change. Reproductions hurt the antique business today, he said, pointing out that this is why he cautions would-be collectors about machine-made items. When they are reproduced, he declared, the price plummets. "Prices can go down as well as up," he warned, recalling one summer's heavy demand for bowl and pitcher sets, raising prices from $12 or $15 up to $35.

"That next winter dealers hustled to collect sets, paying as much as $25—but by the next summer they weren't wanted and prices were back to $12."

He cited also miniature lusters that are being reproduced and present-day pieces from Murano, Italy, that look much like Burmese as reasons that many are wary about buying.

"If you are not sure you are getting quality," he suggested, "turn your attention to contemporary work; look for artisans of today whose works are being judged at shows—these will be in the museums of tomorrow."

In speaking of age of an antique, Michael stated that the typically-stated 100 years is only the definition of the treasury department for import purposes. An antique, he said, conceivably be a piece only 10 years old if the artisan is no longer producing.

In illustration, he pointed out that Grandma Moses, who lived only 30 miles from their home in New Hampshire, a few years ago was getting $10 a painting.

Michael told his Town Hall audience that in addition to preserving antiques there is a need "to take a greater look at preserving our architecture."

He suggested that communities try to preserve old buildings if at all possible. He cited the case of a classic home in Exeter, New Hampshire, which a bank had purchased to raze for a parking lot. Women of the town, he said, formed a picket line around it for three weeks. The bank came to realize that it would lose half its depositors if the house were destroyed, so at great expense it moved the building. "A building is just as important as the antique it houses," Michael said, pointing out that President Nixon has signed the new historic protection bill for national preservation.

Other advice from the nationally-known expert included the warning, "When you've made a mistake, sell and get out."

And, popular items to collect currently are oil paintings—"They're a functional antique you can use and enjoy and are a good investment."

He commented that people are assembling fewer collections of such things as pitchers and more of the functional type Depression glass.

Honor Women

Northville Town Hall last Thursday remembered two of its active members, Carol Wegeng and Martha Milne, with a $200 donation to Northville Historical Society and a plaque in their memory.

In making the presentation to Jack Burkman, society president, Mrs. Jack Doherty, town hall chairman, said that the sum had been set aside to honor their memories. It was being presented to the historical society, she explained, as "it was for this community that they had worked."

Mrs. Milne, it was noted, had served as secretary of the TH board of awards since its inception.

In accepting the award and plaque, Burkman promised that the plaque will be placed in a prominent place in the museum when restoration work is completed. He thanked town hall for both its interest and help in the Mill Race restoration work.

Mrs. Philip Wegeng died in September, 1971, and Mrs. William Milne, who also was Northville City Clerk, died in April of this year.

Cooke Mock Vote Follows US Pick

32nd DEGREE—Walter V. Scarevich of 42050 Seven Mile Road was one of more than 400 Masons in Southeastern Michigan who received the 32nd Degree in Scottish Rite of Freemasonry at the Main Masonic Temple in Detroit November 11.

Long before the television networks began projecting the national outcome of the elections and the city and township clerks began counting ballots, the eighth grade students at Cooke Middle School in Northville had already had their votes counted.

The winner was Richard M. Nixon who garnered 261 votes. George McGovern trailed far behind with 68 votes. Fourteen votes were cast for American Independent Party Candidate John Schmitz and George Wallace received one vote.

The mock presidential election was the idea of Carolyn Calmers, 45795 Clement Court, and Teresa Folino of 20556 Clement Road. The girls arranged with the school administration to have students cast their ballots in home rooms Tuesday and then they tallied the votes themselves.

Citizens Invited to Flint

'Keep Doors Open' Urges School Proposal

An "excellent opportunity" to develop a program that can break through the governmental subdivision bounddaries that presently divide Novi was seen Tuesday as the Novi Board of Education and community leaders explored the community education concept.

Meeting for the first time in the new mobile conference room next door to the high school, board members and a large number of citizens bubbled with enthusiasm following a presentation by an Eastern Michigan University official.

"How soon can we start?" "What can we as citizens do to help?"

These questions were typical of the remarks of citizens who, along with school officials, next Tuesday will visit the city that started the now nation-wide program of keeping school doors open to its citizens—Flint.

Cosponsored with the Novi Jaycees, the trip to Flint and tour of its nationally acclaimed community education facilities is open to the public.

School Superintendent Gerald Kratz urged citizens to "join us" in seeing what can be done in Novi. As many buses as is necessary to carry interested citizens will be pressed into service, he promised.

There is no charge, he said but citizens should call the board offices by Friday so that reservations may be made with hosting Flint community education personnel. A dinner is included. Basically, the "community education concept," which gained impetus through the financial support of the industrialist C.S. Mott of Flint, means keeping school doors open for all people of all ages at all times for recreation and education.

School Trustee Robert Wilkins summed it up by referring to large school sites and asking, "Why can't part of the elementary school (property) be a park? Who cares if it belongs to the city or the school? It belongs to the people, and I think the indication is we'd better use our buildings."

After showing the film, "To Touch a Child," Dr. William Hetrick, assistant director of community education at EMU, told the audience the program need not be a duplicate of programs elsewhere but "may be tailored" to fit the needs of Novi.

Education and recreation during non-school hours, he explained, may include classes ranging from chipping golf balls in gymnasiums to hair styling to mechanics and languages.

He concurred with Trustee Gilbert Henderson who said Novi's school system, because it is young, has a unique opportunity to help correct and prevent Novi from becoming a fragmented community of citizens who look to other communities for fulfillment of their needs.

It can help coordinate existing activities while providing many others, it was noted, so that sponsoring organizations need not compete with each other through duplicate services.

Why, for example, should both the city and the school system think of providing separate auditoriums when together they can provide, at less cost, a single larger community auditorium center serving both? it was asked. Along those lines, Dr. Kratz said the community education

Board Praises '72 Grid Champs

Novi's 1972 Southeastern Conference football champions, who Friday wrapped up an undefeated season, was lauded Friday in a special resolution adopted by the Novi Board of Education.

The resolution, which notes that "the measure of a quality program is not solely in the wins and losses but in positive attitudes and value development which take place in youngsters," makes these assertions.

That during the season good judgment and sportsmanship prevailed,

That the faculty and coaching staff has given of their time and energy

That the board of education is extremely proud of the excellent football team and devoted fans whose meaningful enthusiasm was a model for the entire school district.

That the undefeated team has brought recognition to the entire community.

"Therefore be it resolved," the resolution concludes, "that Friday, November 17, 1972 be declared Green and White Day with appropriate recognition given the team at a school assembly;

"Further, be it resolved that a copy of this resolution be presented to the high school principal by a member of the School board at that assembly."

Undefeated!

Number One in the eyes of partisan fans, Novi's champion gridders ended the season Friday on another successful note, defeating Class A Crestwood handily. Rated among the top three Class C team's in Michigan, the Wildcats so impressed Southeastern Conference coaches they garnered 10 positions on the SEC All-Star team. See story about Friday's game and the SEC selections on Page 17-A.

But Novi Approves C-T

Rejects Multiples Zoning

Acting on the recommendation of the planning board, the Novi City Council Tuesday rejected one rezoning petition and approved another by a split vote.

• Killed was the petition of Donald Tworck to rezone eight lots from R-1 (one family residential) to R-2A (restricted multiple family) on the south shore of Walled Lake.

• Approved was the petition of Julius Toth of R J Engineering to rezone land on the north side of 10 Mile Road, west of Novi Road, from M-1 (light manufacturing) to C-T (thoroughfare commercial).

The latter property is located west of the service station at the northwest corner of 10 Mile and Novi roads, opposite the bank property Toth's small plant is located on part of the property.

Council voted 4-3 to approve the petition, following a 5-0 recommendation by planners that it be rezoned.

Councilmen Louie Campbell, Edwin Presnell and Denis Berry opposed it, apparently on the basis that C-T zoning would injure a light manufacturing corridor extending northward from 10 Mile Road. Furthermore, Presnell noted that planners originally had presented a persuasive case for rezoning the property to M-1.

Presnell also apparently suspected planners might later decide to extend commercial zoning deeper into the manufacturing district—even though commissioner Robert Bretz said he probably would disfavor additional commercial zoning.

Bretz pointed out that the property in question is relatively shallow and hence more conducive to commercial development than manufacturing.

3 to Review Applications

Three councilmen have been named to a screening committee by Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi to review applications of candidates for city manager.

Named were Councilmen Denis Berry, Louie Campbell and William O'Brien.

The mayor Monday turned over some five applications already received for the position.

No objections to the rezoning were registered by adjacent property owners, and the planning consultant, Vilcan Leman, saw nothing objectionable to the C-T zoning, particularly in light of existing businesses in the vicinity.

Consultant Edward Vettel expressed doubt that a longer undesirable commercial strip would later occur should the rezoning be approved.

In answer to a question by Berry, Vettel said the com-

Tree Survives Construction

Saving a tree may have cost a house, Novi City Councilmen learned Monday as the Connemara Homeowners Association appealed for help in resolving a subdivision dispute.

According to Association President Charles Meredith, a house now well under construction in the subdivision fails to meet subdivision covenants because it is less than 20 feet from the property line.

And the Association, he said, is determined not to grant a variance.

The contractor (who was not identified) refuses, said Meredith, to follow through on a commitment to purchase adjacent property to meet the 20-foot minimum restriction.

Although Mayor Joseph Crupi explained that the Association, not the city, is responsible for enforcing subdivision regulations, it was pointed out that the city is indirectly involved because site plans, approved by the city, have not been met.

Those plans, it was explained, called for the 20-foot side yard—even though the city's own ordinance is less restrictive.

During the discussion, Meredith admitted that one reason the contractor had built closer to the lot line than permissible was to avoid cutting down a tree on the opposite side of the house.

Removal of trees also is prohibited by subdivision covenant, it was disclosed.

According to Building Department Head Earl Bailey, he does not intend to issue an occupancy permit until the dispute is resolved. Meanwhile, Meredith indicated he is hopeful the contractor will yet purchase additional property to meet the side lot requirement.

But barring such action, cautioned Crupi, the only other course open to the Association is a civil suit... and in view of the fact that the house is already up (though not completed) the mayor advised the homeowners he wouldn't bet on a favorable legal ruling.

County's Future Seen in Policies

Should Oakland County's population increase, remain constant or should it be decreased?

This is but one of many questions explored by the county planning commission in development of a comprehensive growth policies statements that eventually will go to the Oakland County Board of Commissioners for adoption.

For the past several months local municipal officials have been studying the suggested policies, recommending changes and endorsing or rejecting the policies concept—first of its power in the nation ever to be tried on such a massive scale.

Officials of Northville—planning Commission and council—already have endorsed it, Lyon Township has completed an intensive review as has Novi; and South Lyon and Wixom are still reviewing it.

While Northville planners had a number of minor recommended changes and clarifications, they generally agreed with the concept, praising the county planning commission for involving local communities in its development.

Northville planners and councilmen were particularly pleased with the fact that the Oakland County Planning Commission, unlike Wayne County, "goes out of its way to assist local planners" even though a relatively small portion of the city lies within Oakland County.

Presently county planners are weighing the reactions of the municipal officials and their suggestions before preparing the final suggested document.

Composed of six chapters, the policies advance basic questions concerning planning, analyze questions and then attempt to reach conclusions.

Sweep State Boards

Republicans Capture Victories

Early election return leads by Democrats in several state and county races failed to hold up as Republicans came from behind to snatch a number of surprising triumphs last week.

And because of it several "winners" noted in this newspaper's election results published last week turned out to be losers.

Republicans, for example, swept every seat in the boards of education races. Here are the unofficial results released Monday by state elections personnel:

State Board of Education—William Sederburg, 1,518,199, and Edmund Vandette, 1,493,944, both Republicans; Charles Morton, 1,415,522, and G. Salas, 1,310,919, both Democrats.

U-M Regents—Deane Baker, 1,496,792, and Lawrence Lindemer, 1,490,033, both Republicans; and Marjorie Lansing, 1,421,747, and Thomas Roach, 1,407,999, both Democrats.

MSU Trustees—Aubrey Radcliffe, 1,500,738, and J. M. Stack, 1,470,094, both Republicans; and Donna O'Donnohue, 1,414,845, and Tom Downs, 1,385,645, both Democrats.

WSU Governors—W. M. Brucker, 1,573,737, and Kurt Keydel, 1,454,944, both Republicans; and Kathleen Straus, 1,398,319, and Michael Einheuser, 1,339,185, both Democrats.

Incumbent Republican Senator Robert Griffin defeated his challenger, Frank Kelley, 1,771,925 to 1,573,562.

In local area Congressional races, Republican Incumbent Marvin Esch topped Marvin Stempien 101,929 to 78,752 in the Second District, and Republican Congressman William Broomfield won easily over George Montgomery, 123,559 to 50,474 in the 19th District.

Republican State Representative Clifford Smart was an easy winner over William Kabzinski, 21,810 to 8,852 in the 24th District, and Republican R. Robert Geake of Northville won over Mrs. Marie Miller, 16,907 to 11,376 in the 35th District.

In the race for the two Supreme Court seats, Charles Levin led with 969,339 votes, followed by Rainer Coleman with 913,726. Runners up were James Thorburn, 851,070, and Zolton Perency, 524,242.

Daylight Savings Time was the only one of the five state propositions to carry: 1,749,431 to 1,457,162. The other propositions went down to defeat. "B" Abortion Reform, 1,270,029 to 2,028,935; "C" Property Tax Reform, 1,325,130 to 1,816,178; "D" Graduated Income Tax, 9,062,556 to 2,097,949; and "E" Veterans Bonus, 1,490,550 to 1,646,169.

In the races for seats on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, two Republicans who will serve this area came out on top. In the 19th District, which includes the City of Northville and most of the township,

Mrs. Mary DuMas polled 21,485 votes to Eldon Raymond's 15,353, and in the new 27th District, including the southwestern portion of the township, Republican Brian Arrowsmith picked up 15,674 votes to Paul Lada's 14,932.

Drug Treatment Centers To Get Federal Funds

County Commissioner John J. McCann, chairman of the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Services Board, has announced the signing of a contract for more than $1 million to treat drug dependent persons within Wayne County.

munity Mental Health Service Act (Act 54) and created by City and County government for the purpose of developing and coordinating a network of mental health services within the county.

The board oversees an annual budget in excess of ten million, and funds 17 agencies which serve the mental health, retardation and drug abuse needs in the City of Detroit and Wayne County.

The funds, all Federal money, were made available November 2 in Washington through the narcotic rehabilitation branch (NARB) of the National Institute of Mental Health.

McCann said that the $1,001,572 contract will provide services to 595 drug dependent persons who are currently waiting for service in established programs.

The programs are all located in Wayne County and include Lafayette Clinic, Mayor's Committee for Human Resources Development (MCHRD) Drug Treatment Centers, Inkster Begira Drug Abuse Center, Hutzel Hospital, Model Neighborhood Drug Abuse Program, the Detroit Health Department, Dearborn Heights HEAD Center, and the CAADA Clinic located in Detroit.

McCann also said that services will be available for residential drug treatment at TWI DA House and SHAR House.

"The services to be provided are a major step forward," he explained, "since these services can be rapidly added. It is expected that the available places will be opened within the next 3 to 10 days."

In the pistol shoot, the twenty shots allotted to each competitor are shot at a disappearing silhouette at a twenty-five meter distance. Epiphany Lutheran Church, Five Mile Road, will be celebrating its 15th anniversary as a congregation on November 19. Highlight of the festivities will be the 10:30 a.m. morning worship service. A letter of greeting will be read from the Reverend Charles Holland, the mission developer who began organizing the Lutherans of Plymouth back in 1956. All other pastors who have served Epiphany until the present time will participate in the service. The Reverend John W. Miller will deliver the message for the day. And the Reverend David Strang will assist with communion and bring personal greetings.

New members will be received and a coffee hour will follow the service. During the afternoon, from 4 to 8 p.m., the members will participate in a progressive dinner. This will conclude with dessert being served at the church, beginning at 7 p.m., and an informal communion service, immediately following.

Epiphany's service of organization was held in the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth on November 10th, 1957. Since that time, the congregation has been actively involved in both the Plymouth and Northville communities.

Current projects include programs at the Northville State Hospital and the Wayne County Child Development Center. The congregation also offers the use of its facilities free of charge to community groups that need a place to meet. The congregation numbers 180 communing members, with 30 new members having joined since July of this year alone. Epiphany's pastor today, the Reverend Frederick Prezioso, began serving the congregation in January, 1969.

A STATE FIRST—It was a busy Monday morning for State Senator Carl Pursell. He visited several of the new Michigan State Lottery agents throughout the area to witness early sales. The newly-legalized Michigan Lottery, which is expected to enrich the state's general fund by an estimated $40 million annually, opened its ticket sales Monday. Senator Pursell is shown at three of the stops he made Monday: above in Novi at Novi Drug where owner George McCollum sells a ticket to Calogero Alecia of Novi; top right at Northville Drug where owner Al Potts waits on one of his first customers, Northville Attorney Clifton Hill; and at right, where Bill McAllister of the Northville road McAllister Brothers Grocery sells a whole row of tickets to his father-in-law, Clarence M. Hoffman of Northville township. (For comments on lottery, see Speaking for The Record, Page 16-A).

Patriotic Services Planned

An ecumenical Thanksgiving service with a patriotic theme will be conducted next Wednesday evening by five area churches with a helping hand from Northville high school.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasure is sparking-plugging the program which, admittedly, is aimed at rekindling patriotism, promoting community unity, and expressing thanks.

"I've hired a hall (the Northville high school auditorium) and I'm hoping that we can persuade people of the community to pause briefly for prayer and song at Thanksgiving", the Presbyterian minister stated.

The program has the full support and active assistance of Father John Wittstock of Our Lady of Victory, the Reverend G. C. Branstner of the First United Methodist church, the Reverend Philip M. Seymour of the Novi United Methodist church, and the Reverend Leslie F. Harding of the Holy Cross Episcopal Mission.

In addition Robert Williams and his high school band as well as the high school choir under the direction of Miss Anita Kalousdian will take part in the Thanksgiving program.

Both clergymen and lay members of the churches will participate in the service, which will be one hour in length and will start at 8 p.m.

An offering taken at the door will be donated to the FISH program.

merical or C-T zoning probably would produce more automobile traffic than would light manufacturing, but less truck traffic.

A suggestion by Presnell that the rezoning question be delayed pending a zoning study of properties to the north failed to gain support.

In explaining his purpose for seeking rezoning, Toth said he was no longer physically able to continue his plant operation.

While it was the C-T request that sparked the greatest council opposition, it was the multiples zoning request that triggered wide-ranging protests of adjacent property owners.

No fewer than 10 persons offered objections, most of which revolved around the argument that multiples development would adversely affect the economic and aesthetic value of adjacent properties. Air and noise pollution also was cited.

Lone dissenting vote was cast by Councilman William O'Brien, who emphasized to adjacent property owners that the proposed multiples development might very well be less objectionable than single family homes since such a development would offer more open space.

Although fellow councilmen preferred multiples, they opposed the rezoning on the grounds that it did not encompass sufficient properties to better meet the city's recently revised master plan for the lake area.

They suggested that additional properties be accumulated so that a larger, more complementary development might result.

Specifically, Mayor Joseph Crupi noted that the master plan calls for eventual medium density development around the entire perimeter of the lake, with shore properties to become park lands.

Six of Two's lots are located between Elm Court and South Lake Drive, while the other two are located on the north side of South Lake Drive immediately adjacent to the lake.

Concerning the latter two lots, Planning Consultant Vettel pointed out that existing city restrictions prohibit their development as single dwellings—or multiples.

However, City Attorney David Fried said it may be possible to combine the two lots for a single home—although he deferred final judgment pending study.

In the final analysis, said Vettel, the six lots on the south side of South Lake Drive probably could hold no more single family units than multiples (approximately four) because of zoning restrictions and because development will necessitate a wider road easement thus reducing the amount of buildable land.

He concurred with councilmen that it would be more in keeping with the master plan if a larger tract of land were proposed for development.

Two, who bristled when citizens protested his multiples proposal, reminded officials that under the existing zoning he is permitted to build single family units—master plan notwithstanding.

Arguing that his proposed development would enhance the neighborhood, Two warned adjacent property owners that he is prepared, if necessary, to hold the property for future sale that could mean a larger multiples development.

Also, in denying the rezoning councilmen advised citizens that the council would consider a similar multiples development in the future if it encompassed a larger section of land.

Smart Announces

Republicans to Caucus

House Republican Leader Clifford Smart (R-Walled Lake) today announced that the Republican Caucus will hold its organizational meeting for the coming session on Thursday, November 30.

The purpose of the caucus will be to elect leadership positions, and to discuss the role minority Republicans will play in the coming legislature.

"We presently have three vacancies caused by retirement or defeat within our leadership. Representative Thomas G. Ford (R-Grand Rapids) lost his bid for renomination and vacates the position of Assistant Republican Leader. Representative Jim Heinze (R-Battle Creek) was defeated in the Primary and we will be selecting a new caucus Chairman. In addition, Representative John Payant (R-Kingsford) did not seek re-election and his position of Assistant Republican Whip will have to be filled," Smart said.

The Republican Leader indicated that there will be a discussion at the caucus as to the makeup of the leadership and that it is possible that new positions could be added. "However, at this point, we will have our eight leadership positions standing for consideration. They include Leader, Assistant Leader, Floor Leader, Assistant Floor Leader, Caucus Chairman, Assistant Caucus Chairman, Whip, and Assistant Whip."

Representative Smart also indicated that he will press for a discussion of the direction of the Republican caucus during the coming session, including deciding on the major issues the caucus would like to consider during the coming year, and matters of the operation of the House.

"We think that we should establish some priorities for consideration during the year, including the very critical issues of financing education and reform of the operation of our educational system."

"In addition, we will continue to push for reforms in the operation of the House in an effort to bring about more decisive actions on legislation and bring about more decorum in the operation of the House."

The 11 new Republican members of the House will also be present and will participate in the November 30 caucus.

Traffic Deaths Down in State

Michigan's traffic death count was 197 for October, which was 12 or six per cent less than 209 in the same month last year, according to State Police provisional figures.

The toll was 31 less than the average of 228 for the month in the five years 1967-71. High October count was 248 set in 1968 while the low was 97 in wartime 1944.

October was the fourth month this year to show a reduction compared with year. Six other months have recorded increases.

The October deaths brought the accumulated toll for 10 months in the state to 1,884.

Growth Policies Suggested

What's in Oakland's Future

The first policy, for example, deals with population growth. Four questions are asked:

Should Oakland County continue to increase its population indefinitely (natural growth—births, deaths and in-migration)?

Should Oakland County remain at its present (1970) population or thereabout?

Should Oakland County decrease its population from that of 1970?

Is there an "optimum" population size for Oakland County?

Oakland planning staffers rejected the first three propositions, and the staff concluded that determination of an "optimum" size must wait until after thorough research of available data.

"The staff is calculating the population holding capacities of each unit of government on the basis of existing zoning," the growth policy states. "These population figures will be reviewed with each unit of government together with the identified natural open space resources, with the objective of reflecting both county policy and policy desires of local governments."

Concerning an open space policy for the county, planners made these observations:

Major hardwood forests must be made available to the greatest number of people for maximum use and benefit as an essential part of one's living environment.

They noted that trees offer educational and recreational opportunity for people, and that they "provide spiritual well-being and emotional stability in a society growing complex and which produces alarmingly higher rates of abnormal behavior."

Wetlands, rather than detriments, are essential assets in environmental protection. They are natural reservoirs in flood control, and the "most valuable biological communities, both plant and animal, exist in wetland areas."

In urging that these "natural reservoirs" be preserved, county planners suggested that such areas be identified and surveyed and that model ordinances outlining appropriate uses within flood plains be adopted by local units of government.

The county's 430 lakes and its numerous streams "must be retained or restored as suitable biological environments for fish and other aquatic plants and animals. Presently the recreational value of lakes is threatened, too, which has a more direct effect on the individual."

A major recreational deficiency already exists in the southeast corner of the county, and as future development moves out "it will behoove the county to profit by these past mistakes and plan more recreational open space."

Noting that in 1971 there were about 110 farms left in Oakland County and that remaining prime agricultural lands are threatened by inflated taxation based on speculative land use and not highest and best use, planners concluded that "productive farm land should be taxed for its agricultural use only and not upon something else."

Past zoning methods and land use planning have excluded the idea that productive farm land can co-exist compatibly with other land uses.

These natural resources concluded planners in their policy statement recommendation, "would be recognized as vital parts in the total environmental picture, and should be retained in their basic character as their own highest and best use. Not precluding orderly and harmonious development, these areas must be retained for public health and welfare."

Oakland County should, suggests another policy, support the concept of continuity and linkage of natural resource areas...to shape and control development. "Further, this policy can justify acquisitions and or zoning of such land since it affords maximum interfacing between people and open space." In the section dealing with community structure, county planners concluded that existing central business districts should be preserved and revitalized.

One policy suggests that the county should "encourage the development of community centers with diversified activities," and another proposes that "pedestrian and non-automotive circulation should be used as a criteria for any development or re-development in the county."

The provision of a comprehensive pedestrian and bike path system should be an element of community master plans and a consideration in examining all development proposals, planners stated. "Similarly, the locational and design criteria for commercial and other activity nodes should include pedestrian access from residential and other parts of the community."

Concerning transportation, a proposed policy suggests that the county "should support an increase in public transit facilities," and that it should "support an increase in the number of general aviation airports."

In the section dealing with economic development, planners concluded that "all small and medium-size industry (under 10 acres) should not locate in industrial parks."

However, the industrial park does represent a type of industrial location with a minimum of conflict to the community. This form of location will be encouraged with the consent of the local community," they said.

Planners suggested economic base studies should be encouraged "as a component of the land use plan" of individual and collective communities, and their suggested policies indicate the county should promote the growth and location in Oakland County of non-automotive firms to reduce seasonal fluctuations in employment and income.

In the final chapter—perhaps the most controversial—county planners addressed themselves to the question, "Should the legislative authority for zoning remain with the local unit of government?"

They concluded that the county should support a position that local units of government retain zoning control, pointing out that "for the most part our local units (including planning commissions and zoning boards and the legislative bodies) generally exercise conscientious efforts in regard to zoning decisions."

Planners added, however, that the county planning commission should become "more involved with zoning issues which are near the common boundaries of two or more units of government (perhaps a one mile radius as a proper perimeter)."

Similarly, cases that propose a regional shopping center or a large industrial park should be reviewed diligently by the (county) staff because several local communities could be affected.

"Lastly, proposals that seem to contradict county planning objectives relating to open space, community structure and other county-wide considerations should be reviewed carefully and our position should be stated emphatically to the officials within the one or more local units where the proposal is being made."

Planners suggested that one way of preventing "urban sprawl from obliterating the landscape," is to provide for a mixture of residential zoning from small lots to large lot districts.

"There should be some variation between these two extremes with appropriate emphasis placed on common open space provisions," they said. "This concept could provide a balance between the two extremes. Municipalities that continue to zone only for large lots could be faced with litigation due to exclusionary or "snob" zoning practices."

Another policy suggests that the county planning commission should develop model ordinances (including zoning and subdivision regulations) for communities within the county, and still another suggests that the county should propose county-wide minimum zoning restrictions.

"There is a need to properly control such controversial land uses as mobile homes and filling stations," they agreed. "Minimum lot sizes and minimum location standards for these two respective uses should be created after the staff has thoroughly studied the various problems associated with such uses."

Local communities, they indicated, should adopt ordinances to facilitate open space retention.

"At a time deemed appropriate by each local community, pressure should be exerted to obtain the new legislation required under Michigan law for additional methods of open space preservation."

Meanwhile, county communities should examine legislative research, now underway, as to existing means of retaining open space, and they should consider adding to current codes and ordinances those methods that could, in the community's opinion, be controlled and enforced at the local level.

Examples of these methods, they explained, include new flood plan and open space zoning, scenic easements, preferential assessments, local land trusts, purchase-leaseback, and charter revisions.

Increase Comfort - Cut Heating Costs

It's a fact that insulation adds to your comfort and saves you heating dollars. When a home is not properly insulated, heated air escapes through the roof and through the walls. Insulation acts as a barrier to stop this heat loss. It keeps your home warmer and reduces your fuel consumption (in many cases as much as one-third). It's easy to install insulation yourself, or have it pneumatically blown in.

Consumers Power Company neither sells nor installs insulation, but for a number of years has encouraged its customers to investigate the benefits of insulating their homes.

W.I.P. CONTINUES—The Wixom Identification Program for crime prevention will now be able to continue, thanks to a $1,000 gift given to the Wixom Police Community Fund by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3952. Wixom Patrolman Michael Schott watched recently as Joe Pytiak, manager of the Indian Lodge Apartments, engraved an identification number on a television set. The VFW gift was specified for "crime prevention in the city of Wixom. According to Police Chief George Von Behren, other projects for which the money will be used include improvement of house number identification on city houses and the illumination of the American Flag at city hall so that it can be flown 24 hours a day.

Groups Plan Christmas Bazaars

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Caught a little unprepared for that soggy white blanket of snow that descended on us Monday? I can't say that I was overly delighted but at least it was a change from our almost constant rain. According to one report I heard, there were four hours of sunshine almost two weeks ago.

I guess people weren't wrong when they said Indian summer lasted exactly one day this year. As usual, there are the yet to be done outside chores that aren't going to get done again this year although anyone will admit the weather hasn't been too conducive to outside activities.

My kids had two snowmen built by dinnertime Monday night and were absolutely delighted with the snow. I must be getting old. The soggy mittens, wet socks and drenched pants just don't turn me on.

There was a rather interesting phenomenon that took place Monday night. As the snow was coming down in big blobs, the heavens broke loose with some rather explosive bursts of thunder and lightning. Somebody, somewhere was confused.

At least the rain was held back on Saturday to allow a good group of hearty Wixomites to attend the traditional Veterans Day flag raising ceremonies at city hall.

Friendliness

Pleases Her

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Trahan of Novi continue to be impressed with the "Friendliness and helpfulness of the people in Northville and Novi, even though we've been here for eight months."

Mrs. Trahan reported this week that she and her husband were on their way to the Rotary Travelogue last week but couldn't find Northville High.

"A man stopped, asked if he could help and then escorted us to the high school," she said. "He left, though, before we could say 'thank you'."

Originally from Detroit, the Trahans said they enjoy the area because "everyone is so friendly and helpful, including the merchants. It's a nice change."

The Civil Air Patrol cadets braved the chill winds and stood through the ceremonies at attention, dressed in shirt sleeves. They had mule-high goosebumps by the time it was all over. Sadly, the onlookers had a very difficult, if not impossible, time hearing the remarks of the speakers due to the lack of a public address system.

Chief George Von Behren came through loud and clear when accepting a check from the VFW for $1,000 to be used in the Police Community Fund. The check represents the largest single donation made by an organization to the city.

The coffee and donuts served afterwards by the Wixom Chamber of Commerce were welcomed commodities.

It was then on to the Senior Citizens Bazaar at Central High School. The ladies and gents put forth a great effort and the crowd attending showed it was worth every hour of work.

The displays and demonstrations were well shown and the "Golden Squares", a group of senior citizen square dancers, put on a fine show despite a very slippery floor. Another great show by the seniors.

Things coming up this week include the Rebekah Rummage and Bake Sale this Friday and Saturday at the I.O.O.F. Hall on Novi Road in Novi. Hours on Friday will be from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and on Saturday 9 a.m. until noon. Chairman Lillian Byrd and co-chairman Mae Atkinson of Novi cordially invite everyone to attend adding that coffee and donuts will be served throughout the sale hours. Doors will open at 10 a.m. at the V.F.W. on Saturday for Wixom's own Holiday Boutique. Christmas isn't that far distant. The boutique is a good opportunity for you to do a little Christmas shopping and possibly decorating from the variety of goodies offered for sale.

The Finnish Ladies Auxiliary will have a booth featuring imported silver flatware, jewelry, candies and cookbooks while another booth will offer candles of every size, shape and form.

There will also be a good selection of macrame belts, knitted and crocheted articles, pottery and ceramics. Another booth will have decoupage plaques as well as Christmas decorations for sale. Centerpieces, stained glass "gloom chasers" and baked goods round out the variety of items offered throughout the day.

Hope to see you at the VFW on Saturday sometime between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Sunday will find the activity in the Club Room of the main building at the Finnish Summer Camp. The Ladies Auxiliary annual Christmas Bazaar will start at noon and will also feature a great variety of items perfect for Christmas giving. A man's table will offer hand made fishing lures. A table featuring small items for the youngsters to purchase as well as a multitude of other hand made items will be offered for sale throughout the afternoon.

Wixom people are cordially invited to stop in at the Finn Bazaar, enjoy a light lunch or a cup of coffee and browse around.

Who knows, maybe the snow is a blessing, especially necessary for the Christmas mood.

A fond farewell to Stan Gidley who left his post at the Wixom Co-op for another position in Milford. Stan's good nature, friendliness and great mechanical ability will be sorely missed in Wixom. May we add "good luck" to Stan.

Mothers beware. An epidemic of chicken pox has broken out at Wixom Elementary School. Chills, high fever and sore throat may be the beginning of a ten day confinement. Naturally, my middle one had to come down with them right at the wrong time.

Also in abundance in the schools is the good old flu

Lead paints are generally unsafe, but they are good for painting copper. Zinc paints cause a chemical reaction which is destructive to copper. Lead paints do not. Paint should be applied evenly but in very thin coats. Be sure that one coat is dry before applying another. Before beginning the job, however, be sure that dirt and soil should be removed: use plenty of steel wool, and do a very thorough job. It's the only way to keep the paint looking nice.

NORTHVILLE LUMBER CO., 615 E. Baseline, 349-0220 carries the quality products you'll need for the job. We feature DuPont paints and Minwax and Olympic stains. Included in our inventory of lumber are construction and clear redwoods and kiln-dried Idaho white pine boards, which we'll cut to size. Delivery service available. Hours: 8-6, Mon.-Fri.; 8-2, Sat. HELPFUL HINT: Paint removers often contain wax which must be washed off completely before applying another coat of paint.

Bi-Monthly Meeting

College Hosts VIPs

Schoolcraft College will host the regular bi-monthly statewide meeting of the Michigan Community College Association (MCCA) on November 17-18.

Presidents and trustee representatives from 27 member community colleges are expected for the two day meeting. Business sessions are scheduled for Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Schoolcraft's president, Dr. C. Nelson Grote, has arranged a special program for the group on Friday. For dinner, the college will prepare and serve one of the gourmet menus it has become noted for. Two musical groups, the Madrigal Singers and the stage band, will entertain after dinner.

There will also be special exhibits by the college in an effort to familiarize visitors with the uniqueness of Schoolcraft and the breadth of its program offerings.

As president, Dr. Grote is a regular participant in MCCA activities. Schoolcraft's trustee director is Paul Kadish of Livonia, and Lee Bennett of Plymouth serves as alternate. Since it is the host institution, all Schoolcraft trustees will likely participate in the upcoming meeting.

MCCA was founded in 1954. Its major purposes are the exchange of ideas among governing boards and chief administrators; to serve as a resource to the State Board for Public and Community Colleges; to provide input into state and federal legislation, and to provide representation for Public Community and Junior Colleges in which collective action is necessary and desirable.

Dr. Robert Cahow serves as executive secretary for the organization, and its current chairman is Dr. John R. Dimitry, president of Macomb County Community College.

The association meets on alternate months. Member schools at times take turns in hosting the group.

Two New Programs Begin at Moraine

School coffees and a birthday book program are two new activities recently initiated by the Moraine Elementary PTA.

PTA President Mrs. Lawrence Meyer reports that the coffees have been started because of the large number of new students in the school this year.

"These small, informal sessions let the parents personally meet and talk with the principal, Milton Jacobi," she explained.

Jacobi and Mrs. George Kausler, welcoming committee chairman for Moraine PTA, said the first coffee brought a "very enthusiastic response from the parents."

The birthday book program, under the supervision of Mrs. Eddie Earehart, is also new at the school this year.

On his birthday, each student may select a book from a special collection and donate it to the school's library.

Each birthday book donated will have an engraved nameplate with the name and birthdate of the student placed in the front of it.

Confectionery Delights Make Excellent Gift

There seems to be a certain mystique about candymaking, and many of us, after an experience that was the kind "Jewel Tea Company gave as premiums," also is currently popular to collect

The period of 1920 to 1940 between the wars now is called the Art Deco period, and pieces from the period which used to be called junk now are being collected, but Michael doesn't recommend them. He warned that round oak tables and old ice boxes are dropping in price.

At the luncheon following at Farmington Holiday Inn, Michael gave another bit of advice to antiquers:

"When you clean a piece down to the bare wood, the worst thing you can do is apply oil which will soak in and darken the wood. Instead use surface finishes, such as satin varnish."

Michael continued, "If you can live with a piece, let well enough alone, but if you can't, I don't feel it harms a piece much to refinish. The exception is pieces made prior to the Revolutionary War. Then you should seek professional advice."

Michael mentioned the Henry Ford Museum in this area as another place to go to learn about antiques.

He concluded by saying such auction and museum visiting makes the antiquer "aware of what he should be looking at."

Michael then briefly explained what he looked for as he examined the antiques of local residents decorating the stage. They included samplers, copper pieces, a flint less (than divine with divinity or other candies, restrict our confectionery activities to fudge.

So it may come as a surprise to learn that candies, like the jellies found in commercial assortments, are easy to make at home. These tender and clear gumdrop-type confections, such as Lemon Fruit-Jell Candy, are slightly softer and more transparent than the gumdrops you're used to buying. They make lovely gifts, tasting so fresh and homemade.

The candy mixture made with liquid fruit pectin sets in a few hours after pouring and is then cut into squares or other shapes which can be rolled in granulated or confectioners sugar. Or you can go fancy and roll them in cookie coconut or dip them in melted semi-sweet chocolate squares.

ORANGE FRUIT-JELL CANDY

1 box (1-1/2 oz.) Sure-Jell Fruit Pectin
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup sugar

Red and yellow food coloring
Granulated sugar

mixture, and sugar mixture is boiling rapidly—about 5 minutes.

Pour fruit pectin mixture in a slow steady stream into boiling sugar mixture, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute longer. Remove from heat. Stir in extract and red and yellow food coloring

In Novi

Burglaries continue to plague Novi, with five more cases now under investigation by detectives here.

For the second time in less than a week, burglars hit Nick's Grocery, 2206 Novi Road, on Friday, taking wine, cigarettes, and money.

The next day, during daylight hours, burglars gained entrance to the home of George Newbegin, 49235 11 Mile Road, and stole equipment valued at some $1,000. Stolen were radios, guns, tape recorder, etc.

A burglar returned to the home of Guy Rasette, 23821 West LeBost, early Saturday morning but was frightened off by Mrs. Rasette, who screamed when she spotted him inside the house while investigating noises.

Last summer a burglar hit the Rasette home and made off with $700.

Detective Richard Faulkner urges Willowbrook residents who may have seen a subject walking in the vicinity at approximately 3:30 a.m. to contact his department.

The suspect is believed to be a white male, 20 to 30 years of age, approximately 5' 8" in height, with brown hair hanging down over his ears and possibly to his collar.

Also on Saturday, someone broke into the home of Clifford Stetler of 140 Penhill and made off with camping gear, radio-TV, and tools valued at $750.

A 30-year-old Detroit man, James Horton, currently being held by Livonia police for crimes in that city, has confessed burglaries at two Novi businesses and an attempted burglary at another on October 31.

Detective Faulkner disclosed this week.

The burglaries took place at Evans Construction Company, 24300 Novi Road, and at Holcomb Industries, 40900 Grand River. Equipment valued at $1500 was taken from Evans, and at $1300 from Holcomb.

Horton reportedly also admitted attempting to break into Wilkins Parts & Equipment Company, 43900 Grand River.

The suspect is being questioned now about where he disposed of the stolen property, Faulkner said.

A 1970 Chevrolet, registered to a Westland man, was found stripped and set afire this past week in the vicinity of 46050 West Road, police reported.

Brian Young, 22 of Detroit, was sentenced to from 27 months to 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison this past week by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge William Beasley.

Young pleaded guilty October 6 of assault with intent to rob, while armed, Little Caesars Pizza, at 41467 10 Mile Road on July 6.

Another suspect in the case remains under investigation. Melvin T. Lamb, 52 of 311 Duana, arrested Friday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, is free on pending trial.

According to police, Lamb "threatened to shoot someone" at Derby Bar, 43393 13 Mile Road, and was disarmed by Rubin D. Woods, 119 Charlotte.

Paul W. Johnson, 18 of 25682 Lincoln, was sentenced this week to six months probation for reckless driving in a fatal accident here February 28. Condition of his probation is that he may drive to and from work only.

Killed in the February accident on Grand River, near Haggerty, was Pamela S. Shipley, who was a junior at Novi High School.

The three Detroit residents arrested August 20 for theft of cemetery grave markers at Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens here are awaiting sentencing following pleas of guilt Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Scheduled for sentencing December 12 before Circuit Court Judge William Beasley are James Parks, Diane Kozlowski and Arleta Niemiec.

The trio pled guilty to the charge of larceny over $100, having been caught with some $5,000 worth of markers, and each could be sentenced to a maximum of five years in prison.

In Northville

A Northville man is awaiting trial on charges of resisting arrest and drunkenness following a disturbance early Tuesday morning at the apartments on Novi Road near Eight Mile Road.

Arraigned on the charges Tuesday in 35th District Court was Dennis C. Brandenburg, 26, of 967 Novi Road. He pled not guilty to both charges and is free on $1,000 personal bond for resisting arrest and $50 bond for drunkenness.

Police were called to the apartments at 3 a.m. Tuesday after a tenant reported Brandenburg was yelling in the parking lot and throwing snowballs at the building.

Upon their arrival, officers found he had built a three-foot snowman on the top of a car, causing the top to buckle from the weight, and placed about 30 snowballs on the trunk.

Officers asked him to remove the snowman and snowballs from the car and he refused. Police said he became antagonistic while they were talking with him and began yelling.

When police attempted to arrest him for drunkenness he resisted and had to be wrestled to the ground. No trial date has been set.

One person was hospitalized following a two-car accident at 9:10 p.m. Saturday on South Main near Beal Street.

Treated at St. Mary hospital for rib injuries was Elizabeth Martin of Garden City. Police said Mrs. Martin was attempting to make a left turn from northbound Main onto Beal Street when she pulled into the path of a southbound car driven by a 16-year-old Northville youth. He was uninjured. Mrs. Martin was ticketed for failing to yield the right of way.

Utility wires were downed early Tuesday morning during the season's first snowstorm. Two live wires fell across the back of 511 West Cady Street shortly after 1:20 a.m.

A Fort Wayne, Indiana, man reported his wallet was stolen last week while he was at Northville Downs.

John R. Ramp called police when he arrived home and found he was missing his wallet. He said a man had stumbled into him at the races the previous night, grabbing him by the leg. Ramp said he thought the man was drunk at the time.

Credit cards, $160 in cash and miscellaneous papers were in the wallet when it was stolen.

In Township

Township police are continuing their investigation into the October 11 death of Alger F. Quast, Detroit realtor.

Mr. Quast was found dead in his home at 20000 Springwood where he lived alone.

To date, police have spent about 200 man hours investigating the case.

An autopsy showed a carbon monoxide level of 26 percent in Mr. Quast's bloodstream and no bruises or abnormalities were found on the body.

Interviews have been conducted with neighbors, business associates, friends, relatives and employees of business places Mr. Quast patronized.

Police said they have determined a close friend of his died in Florida the day before Mr. Quast was found dead.

The theft of a tire and wheel from a car parked at Northville State Hospital was reported to police last Thursday.

Investigation showed the trunk had been forced open to gain access to the tire and wheel.

In Wixom

Francis Chapp, a resident at the Indian Village apartments, reported a carburetor, distributor, and manifold had been stolen from his automobile while it was parked outside his apartment last week. Value of the stolen items was estimated at $160.

Arrested on charges of driving under the influence of liquor were Fred Allen Montcalm, 32 of Milford and Norman Francis Carrico, 56, a Westland resident.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

On page 12-B of this edition you'll either find an advertisement listing places where you can buy Michigan State Lottery tickets, or you'll find a large, white space with a few words explaining that it's illegal to advertise lotteries in newspapers.

If you bought this newspaper on a newsstand, or received it from a carrier boy, then page 12-B contains the lottery advertisement.

If you received this newspaper through the U.S. mail, page 12-B does not contain a lottery advertisement.

Michigan (and several other states) has a legal lottery. But the federal government has a law that says lotteries are illegal.

Thus, lottery advertising, and most lottery news, cannot legally go through the mail, over the airwaves or across state lines.

That's why, unless the law is changed, this newspaper will not publish lottery advertising and only a limited amount of lottery news. This newspaper depends largely upon postal service for delivery. To regularly make "plate changes" in the middle of press runs (such as was done this week on page 12-B) would be infeasible.

We've never been entirely convinced that legalized gambling is the panacea to the state's money problems. Nor are we filled with delight at the prospect of more gambling (dog racing) to lure more revenue from the same pocketbooks.

But, holy snake-eyes, what kind of hypocrisy is it that declares the game legal then threatens you with a fine, imprisonment and loss of a mailing permit if you acknowledge that it's being played.

So our readers might understand the situation as clearly (?) as we do, here's the word we've been given:

—Regulations forbid ads about lottery or lists of winners;

—Exception has been made for newspaper articles which have "news value" in their own right, and in which the lottery element is only "incidental" to a newsworthy event;

—Can winners' names be published as news? Maybe, if the prize is large enough to make it newsworthy or maybe if the post office decides that's news, but winning numbers? Definitely not.

So, we'll continue to play this silly game until somebody down in Washington, D.C. admits that the states are in the lottery business and amends the law so it's legal to write home about it.

Incidentally, Bingo will probably be given its official recognition as a legal game of chance in Michigan by December.

It's slated for consideration by the House of Representatives in the upcoming lame-duck session.

The state legislature now has the authority to legalize various games of chance including casino gambling. But so far, only the state-operated lottery is legal in Michigan.

Not many slain deer are given a ride to the freezer plant in a Cadillac hearse.

Freddy Casterline, the friendly undertaker, bagged a 160-pound buck last week when returning from a trip to Ohio.

He did it without firing a shot.

The deer darted in front of Casterline and his hearse on Ann Arbor road near Dixboro. "I didn't even have time to hit my brakes", Casterline noted.

As fast as you can say "venison for dinner", Casterline jumped out, lifted the deer into the hearse and headed for the food freezer plant.

GOOD...

Titles of movies are misleading. Even previews don't tell the whole story. The only way that I can tell which movies I want to take my children to is the rating of the movie.

Even though I believe that a rating system is necessary, I haven't always agreed with some of the ratings assigned. I have gone to some 'G' rated movies and found them to be 'Horror' or 'Monster' type shows and I haven't found these type shows to be the best for my children. I have attended some 'PG' or 'R' rated shows and have found them to be mild enough to be rated 'G'.

These cases, however, are few and relate only to my personal beliefs. In the majority of movies I have found the rating system to be an accurate judgment for me to follow.

To me the real crisis of this whole situation is that there are movies being made and shown to the public that require at least a rating of 'X'. Even sadder and more alarming is the way people are swarming to see these movies.

Movie Ratings?

SCHMUCKER

BAD...

Perhaps there is some merit in the argument that the current system of rating movies allow parents who do not go to movies or read newspapers or magazines to have some idea of the type of film their children view.

Because of the rating system, however, many young adults "turn their noses" at G and GP films and are only interested in R and even X rated ones. There are films that are produced very well with good acting, good scenography, good costumes, good development of plot, and an acceptable and beautifully handled theme, but have been ruined by one unacceptable, meaningless scene just so the film could have an R rating. After all, the film industry is in business to make money and is naturally going to produce the films that are big box office sellers.

There seems to be no uniform control over the system. Some theatres adhere to the classifications, others seldom check the age of viewers. If the system is going to work it must be equally controlled by all theatres.

If parents wish to know what their children are viewing they should rely on professional reviewers or critics found in practically any newspaper or magazine.

"What's good for the goose is good for the gander," suggests the old aphorism. But it isn't necessarily so. Take, for example, the new law permitting girls to compete in boys' interscholastic, non-contact sports.

Non-contact sports include archery, badminton, bowling, fencing, golf, gymnastics, riflery, shuffleboard, skiing, swimming, diving, table tennis, track and field, tennis, etc., but not football or wrestling.

Although the anticipated avalanche of girls participants hasn't occurred yet, the opportunity is there now and most local school officials are prepared to support the girls' right to participate.

Novi Superintendent Gerald Kratz made that plain in a recent report to the board of education on the new law.

And Novi Board Trustee Robert Wilkins insisted the school's position not become one of "lip service" only but rather that girls be "welcomed" to participate.

To date only two South Lyon girls have tried out (unsuccessfully) for a boys' sport (frosh basketball).

And in Northville no girls have made the attempt for high school boys' sports, but last week some 25 girls indicated a desire to participate in the boys' swim program at the middle school.

"Quite frankly," says Northville Athletic Director Bob Kucher, "I think the middle school girls will give the boys some real competition. Some of them were in swim club competition this summer and they're at an age level where girls could do pretty well against boys."

Although Northville will abide by the new state law, Kucher has plenty of misgivings. He takes the position that where good girls' programs are available (in high school, for example) girls should be encouraged to participate in these rather than in boys' sports.

"In the middle school where we don't have a swim program for girls I think competition with the boys is a natural alternative."

He suggests, however, that the new law could, if left unchanged, be more harmful than helpful to girls.

"Nobody seems to have given much attention to the fact that there is nothing in the law to prevent boys from trying out for girls' teams. After all, equal rights works both ways."

How could it be harmful for girls?

"Let's say that boys decide to go out for girls' volleyball, because we don't have an interscholastic volleyball program for boys. Chances are the boys would beat out some of the girls for team positions. So you could have a girls' team composed of almost all boys; and girls wouldn't have an opportunity to compete in their own program."

What's the answer?

Says Kucher: "I think the law has got to be modified to permit participation in only one sport. For example, if a girl competes in boys' track, she can't compete in girls' track as well. Or if a boy competes in the girls' swim program he can't compete in the boys' program."

Ambulance service headed a relatively brief Salem Township agenda last week Wednesday.

Clerk Laura Verran looked as if she could have used some of the service, suffering as she was from fatigue and laryngitis both as direct results of Tuesday's general election which had moved the regular meeting date to the following night.

Supervisor Phillip Brandon reported on telephone conversations between himself and South Lyon Mayor Vincent Weinburger and South Lyon Fire Chief Donald Fletcher regarding the use of the city's ambulance service.

"They place such a value on human life," Brandon pointed out, "that they will not refuse to pick up people who need their services here in Salem. However, they fall short of Washtenaw County's licensing ordinance in man-hours of first aid training per man. Because of this, they have not received a county license nor have we given them financial support."

As Washtenaw is the only county requiring stricter licensing, the city does not feel that it should go to the time and expense of providing the additional hours of training to the all-volunteer ambulance staff, Brandon added.

The town board then handed newly re-elected Commissioner Floyd Taylor the assignment of determining whether, since the city's emergency service meets all the requirements (state) of a rescue squad in addition to its ambulance qualifications, the township might enter into some sort of an arrangement with South Lyon in that area. Residential pressure may force another issue to a head. Several months ago, Brandon charged the Planning Commission with the duty of reviewing the township's industrial zones to determine if some of the affected parcels might be more advantageously rezoned to agricultural or residential uses.

Wednesday, several citizens asked if the commission had reached any determination on the issue.

When commission chairman Taylor indicated that his body had not made a recommendation on the matter, citizens pressed their desires for such a determination.

In other actions, the board granted a request for a temporary trailer occupancy permit while a home on Sleepy Hollow Lane, near Angle and Six Mile roads, is being completed.

The board also paid a $95 bill for roofing repairs to the fire department roof and voted to support two recommendations of Treasurer Russell Knight. First, the township will once again waive the collection and penalty fees for tax collecting. Secondly, constables will receive pay from the general fund "until such time as the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (MLCC) funds are replenished by the state to the extent that they can again cover these expenses." The $50 to the constable (on a rotating basis) who handles the monthly liquor inspection will continue to be drawn on the MLCC account.

All 1971 appointive officials in the township had their appointments extended to the December meeting. Brandon made this request pending a meeting with the four constables.

Smart Assesses Election Results

In the wake of the November 7th election Republican Leader in the Michigan House of Representatives Clifford Smart of Walled Lake has reacted with mixed emotions.

"In spite of a Democratically drawn redistricting plan in Michigan the Republican Party had hoped to take the majority of seats in our 110 members lower chamber," Smart said. "After working hard and losing some very close races we are not at all ashamed of the 50 Republican votes we will have when the House convenes in January."

According to Smart "as a minority party we will continue to let our voice be heard. The Republicans will not fall to the Democratic pressures which would financially weaken the state of Michigan. In the past we have successfully acted as a watchdog and we will continue in this role."

Representative Smart called the election "one of the most unique in Michigan history."

President Nixon took Michigan with a landslide of about 56 percent of the vote. Even with this strong showing no coattails were evident with voters deciding on the individual, not the party. A close U.S. Senate race and many close Congressional races coupled with Republican losses in the state legislature point to the fact that President Nixon's victory didn't bolster a large portion of the Michigan GOP ticket. A sweep of the university posts along with the first woman to be elected to the state supreme court have provided the state's Republican ticket with an added impact.

In conclusion Smart said "It is evident that the Democrat's redistricting plan overshadowed the President Nixon's victory when you examine their impact on the Legislature's races. Even though we lost two Republican seats in the Legislature we will be a strong force to contend with in the upcoming two years."

Downs Handle Soars

Record Pace Set

If there ever was any doubt that Michigan harness racing fans wanted a late fall-winter meet at Northville Downs, that doubt was disposed of Saturday night.

A crowd of 5,283 turned out for the first Saturday night card of Leon A. Slavin's 47-night meet, and by the end of the program they had wagered $419,678.

It was the first time in the three-year history of the meet that the $400,000 barrier had been broken. This big turn-out and handle followed a Friday night handle of $372,000-plus, and an opening night wager of $349,000.

Only the expected post-election drop marred the sensational first week, and that mid-week problem was more of an easing off than a drop.

Highlight of the first week of Jackson's action at Northville Downs was the first leg of the late closing pacing series. It went in two 10-horse divisions, and both stopped the clock at 2:04 3-5.

Despite road traffic, he scored from second trailing position, Michigan Mack, the Hillsdale-owned pacer lived up to expectations, scoring a decisive victory in the first division.

Two divisions are again expected this Saturday night as the second leg of the $35,000-est series goes to the post. The second week matches the top money winners of last week on one division, with the lower winners in the other.

Area winners during the first week included Lucky Eddie Adios, owned by Lavine and R. P. Huffman, Northville, a 2:09 winner for its 6th of the year, and Briar Lea Farm, Dwight, Briar Lea Farm, Northville, winner of its fourth for the year, in 2:10 4-5.

SO WHO'S MARK SPITZ?—The seven Olympic gold medals won by swimmer Mark Spitz would pale in the glow of gold brought home by the Northville High School's crack 1972 golf team. The Mustang linksters won every major tournament in the state (Dearborn Invitational, Marshall Invitational, and Oakland Press Invitational), as well as the Western Six Conference championship and Class B regional championship before being beaten in sub-freezing weather in the Class B state finals. Above the Mustang foursome pose with Coach Al Jones and the 31 trophies they won during the course of the season. From left to right are—Brian Mills, Bob Simmons, Jones, John Marshall, and John Hlohinec. Marshall and Hlohinec will graduate in the spring, but Mills and Simmons are just juniors and will return to head up the 1973 Northville squad.

Hockey Highlights

Basketball Schedule

Northville, lost one and tied another in "Bantam B" hockey competition last week.

In the first contest, the Inkster Hawks scored four goals in the first two periods to take the lead before wrapping up the 5-2 triumph with a third period goal.

Northville scored in the second and third periods, with Bill Houck pushing across the first with an assist by Rick Balagna. Steve Black scored the second with assists by Ty Cole and Eric Purcell.

In the game with Dearborn Heights, Northville came from behind to squeeze out a 2-2 tie with third period goal by Rick Miller, assisted by Ray Allen.

Dearborn opened the scoring in the first period, and Northville bounced back with a second period score by Rick Miller, assisted by Purcell, to tie it at 1-1.

Dearborn scored its second goal in the second stanza.

Left winger Kirk Terpevich fired in a third period goal, but it was just not enough as the Thomson Sand and Gravel-sponsored Northville Squirts hockey team fell to Wayne last week 2-1.

Brian Starr and Dean Axtell assisted on Terpevich's goal. Handling goal-tending duties for the Northville skaters was Ken Weichel.

A goal in the final two minutes of play gave Dave Pink Squirts a 5-4 victory Thursday over the Redford Travelers in hockey.

Jack MacIntosh led the Squirts' attack, picking up two of the five goals. Doug Horst, Richard Pattison and Tom Mack scored one each. MacIntosh, Mack and Pattison also were credited with two assists each. Tom Allen also was credited with an assist.

Goalie was Bob Boshoven.

Two Pick State To Upset Ohio

Believe it or not...two of the three winners in last week's football contest correctly picked Michigan State to pull out an upset victory over Ohio State.

But first place winner, Steve Stuart of 292 Sherrie Lane, played the odds and picked Ohio—his lone wrong guess in 16 games.

Steve's predicted score in Minnesota's triumph over the Detroit Lions boosted him into the first place position, as the second and third place winners also made only one wrong guess.

Taking second place was Joseph Szabo of Farmington, and in third place was Michael Engel of 341 Baseline Road. Joe picked Northwestern to win over Minnesota, and Mike had Detroit edging out the Vikings.

All three were pretty close on the tie-breaker, with Steve just two points off, Joe five points off, and Mike six points off.

Seven other contestants also came up with just one mistake but they finished out of the money because of poorer guesses at the score in the Detroit-Minnesota game. They are:

Dave Biery, Tom Eis, Bruce Martin, John Bunn, David Kleckner, Doosie Cole, and Ken Kohs.

Big Splash

Northville middle school girls made a big splash here Monday.

With the start of practice for the middle school swim team, some 60 hopefuls turned out at the high school pool under the watchful eye of Coach Rod Whitback.

More than half of those turning out were girls.

Novi Champs Finish '72 Season Undefeated

Novi's first undefeated season began and ended with the Bill McDonalds of Northville.

Bill, the son, quarterbacked Northville's eleven that lost to Novi in the opener, and Bill, the father, coached the Dearborn Crestwood squad that Friday night lost to the Wildcats here, 40-12.

Naturally, neither is pleased the Wildcats came out on top, and both would like nothing better than another crack at the undefeated Southeastern Conference champs.

But the Class A Crestwood coach chose instead to put it this way:

"Like I told John (Coach John Osborne)...you can really be proud of your boys."

"Novi has a good, solid team. They execute well."

Although he tried avoiding excuses for his squad's loss, McDonald remains convinced, however, that given a season under "less, trying conditions" and fewer players with injuries "I think we would take them."

"I'm not going to knock those Novi kids...they play really fine ball"...but I felt we were in the ballgame until about two minutes before the half," McDonald said.

Well he might, for at that point Crestwood was down just seven points (13-6) and the Chargers had marched from their own 13 to Novi's 20 in 10 plays. But Crestwood fumbled and Dave Brown pounced on the ball to end the threat.

While Crestwood was unable to rebound from its mistakes, Novi did. After losing a fumble of its own seconds later, Novi's Quarterback Steve Lukkari intercepted a pass to set the stage for the Wildcats' third touchdown and from then on it was all over.

As it did in many of its games this season, the Wildcats scored early.

Novi Halfback Tom Ford intercepted a pass on the third play of the game, and the Wildcats quickly pushed 27 yards to Crestwood's 23 where Halfback Jim Van Wagner recovered after nearly losing his balance to go in for the TD—first of four the power-driving back was to score in closing out his high school career.

Surprised but far from demoralized, Crestwood bounced right back on the next series by marching 61 yards in 16 plays to tie the score. Steve Wilkes did the honors by carrying the ball in from the 13.

The first quarter ended with Crestwood trying unsuccessfully to move the ball out from deep in its own territory. Then, just three plays into the second stanza, the Wildcats' Van Wagner took a pitch out and raced in from the 10 for the touchdown. Just before intermission, following Lukkari's interception, Van Wagner dived over from the nine yard line for his third TD.

Novi came close to a score early in the second half, moving the ball 30 yards before Quarterback Steve Lukkari uncorked a long pass to Van Wagner. But a 15 yard holding penalty nullified the touchdown and the Wildcats were forced to punt.

The setback was temporary, however, because Novi came right back after holding Crestwood to negative yardage and launched another touchdown drive. At the Chargers nine yard line, halfback Pat Boyer ripped up the middle for the score.

And before the quarter was over, the Wildcats scored again. This time it was a long bomb by Lukkari, who successfully dodged several would-be tacklers, to End John Pantalone from the Crestwood 38.

Novi closed out its scoring early in the fourth quarter on a 25-yard gallop by Van Wagner.

Crestwood put its second score on the board mid-way through the last quarter as Kevin Clark capped a 58-yard drive with a five-yard touchdown.

Fourteen Novi players ended their high school football careers with this final game of the season. They can look back on the finest season in their school's history—nine victories without a single defeat.

The seniors include Quarterback Steve Lukkari; Ends John Pantalone, Jerry Cockrell, Ken Jones, and Dan Kardel; Halfbacks Pat Boyer, Bill Ross, Tom Ford, and Jim Van Wagner; Full back Gary Collins; Center Bob Brown; Guards Dave Sinicola and Dave Ward, and Tackle Steve Fear.

With Hudson's 42-0 rout of Morenci Friday, the Class C eleven wrapped up the mythical number one rating—no matter how differently local fans may view it. Like Novi, Hudson had an undefeated (9-0) season.

But more than that, Hudson has now gone four straight seasons with 9-0 marks 44 consecutive victories.

Nevertheless, Osborne admits a "play-off" would be nice. A lot of coaches would like to see a play-off schedule of some kind in the state, and I think you'll find more and more pressure being placed at the state level to produce one.

"But that's something in the future, not this year."

Although Osborne labeled Friday's victory a team effort, he had special praise for Steve Fear, the 6' 1", 183-pound tackle who "played a whale of a game" in closing out his high school career.

HOLE OPENS—Quarterback Steve Lukkari, an all-state contender, moves into a hole opened by his blocking teammates for a short gainer against Crestwood.

REPLAY

with John Osborne

It's all there in the statistics:

389 points to the opponents' 49.

2,543 yards rushing to the opponents' 957.

1,034 yards passing to the opponents' 453.

Anyway you look at it except in one interesting statistic, Novi's championship eleven—which Friday wrapped up a nine-game undefeated season with a 40-12 victory over Class A Dearborn Crestwood—was a superlative team.

The lone "bad mark"?

Take a look at the number of penalty yards lost through the nine games: 751 yards to the opponents' 283.

Although Coach John Osborne naturally would have preferred fewer penalties, he looks at them in retrospect as a mark of an aggressive defense fired up to the point perhaps that his players may have been overly aggressive.

In looking back over the season, Osborne sees three high-water marks:

"The first was our game with Northville. I think beating Northville was very important. They've got a tough team, a tough schedule, and I've got a lot of respect for them. So winning that game was a signal, I think, that we had a good season coming.

"The second was our win over Chelsea. We were out to avenge that loss last year.

"And third, of course, was the big win against Saline.

"Those two back-to-back games have to be the crucial ones. Both teams were up for us but we managed to get up ourselves...and that's important."

Speaking of those middle of the season games, Osborne recalls that his squad played three in a row (Dexter, Chelsea and Saline) in which opponents were staging their homecomings.

"I look at homecoming games a little differently than some coaches," he says.

"Some try to schedule their toughest games for homecoming to get their players up for the game. But, in my opinion, it's a game in which there are too many activities going on to get the players really concentrating on the game.

"So, in my mind homecoming isn't the big advantage that some people think it is."

Because the question was being asked repeatedly this past week by partisan Novi fans, Osborne explained that a "play-off" game between Novi and top ranked Hudson is out of the question.

"Under state rules high school teams may play only nine games...no more."

Furthermore he points out that undefeated Hudson, already ranked on top in Michigan, would "have everything to lose, nothing to gain" in a playoff game.

With Hudson's 42-0 rout of Morenci Friday, the Class C eleven wrapped up the mythical number one rating—no matter how differently local fans may view it. Like Novi, Hudson had an undefeated (9-0) season.

Novi Garners 12 Positions

Indicative of its championship season, Novi dominated the All-Southeastern Conference selections of league coaches last week—garnering six positions on the offensive squad, four on the defensive unit.

Two Wildcats were unanimous choices. Senior End John Pantalone and Senior Guard Dave Ward, both on the offensive squad.

In addition to the 10 first-team positions, Novi also took two positions on the second team defensive unit.

Wayne County OKs Record High Budget

More guards and medical staff at the jail, stepped-up air pollution control and plans for a Circuit Court branch west of Detroit are included in Wayne County's budget for next year.

After making the most extensive changes in memory, the County Board of Commissioners adopted a budget of $253,781,135 for the fiscal year beginning Dec. 1. The budget, adopted Nov. 3, is $17.3 million higher than this year's.

The commissioners added 26 deputies and 10 medical aides at the jail. They also earmarked $200,000 as the local share for an anticipated $600,000 Omnibus Crime Control grant for full staffing of a medical-reception center at the jail.

Construction of the center, to be located in a former cellblock on the sixth floor, was expected to start later this month.

"With more guards and fewer inmates than ever before, we are hoping that assaults and suicides will be prevented at the jail," said Robert E. FitzPatrick, chairman of the Board of Commissioners.

Six field inspectors and a second assistant prosecuting attorney were added to the air pollution control staff of the county health department.

This will permit regular checks of factories and other potential pollution sources in evenings and on weekends, said Morton S. Sterling, director of the air pollution control division.

Sterling said checks during those periods have been limited in the past by lack of staff. He will have 22 inspectors under the new budget.

Citizens have complained that some plants have been violating the air pollution regulations at night and on weekends, knowing they were not likely to be under surveillance.

Sterling also promised faster handling of citizen complaints as a result of the budget increase.

He said the addition of a second prosecutor to his staff would expedite court action against violators.

In another major budgeting decision, the commissioners approved the $2.2 million operating budget of the Sheriff's Road Patrol for only a nine-month period.

"The intent of this action," the board's budget report stated, "is to further pursue the previously-stated objectives of the board to have Road Patrol costs financed by some method other than General Fund appropriations of the County."

Two years ago, the Board of Commissioners declared its intention to end free Road Patrol services for local communities. The board directed that contracts be negotiated with those cities and townships that wanted to pay for continued service.

Only the City of Romulus has contracted for service to date. Under that contract, the Sheriff took over all police services for the city and the Romulus police department was disbanded.

FitzPatrick said the status of the Road Patrol would be reviewed intensively during the nine-month period. He noted that the commissioners had the option of making changes in the budget or continuing its present form for the remainder of the year.

The Board of Commissioners also earmarked $250,000 to locate at least one Circuit Court judge and support personnel in the vicinity of Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

The move was proposed by Commissioner John J. McCann, Livonia Democrat.

McCann, a lawyer, noted that one judge will be added to the 27-member Circuit Court bench this year, with four more to be added two years from now.

"Most felony cases, tried in Circuit Court originate in western Wayne County because the population is growing most rapidly there," he explained. "Vacant space is available on the hospital grounds, while we have a space shortage at the City-County Building. This move will solve the space problem and carry an important service right to the people of that area."

It is expected to take several months to prepare and implement specific plans for the out-county operation. Enactment of Federal revenue sharing, coupled with stringent economies imposed by the Board of Commissioners, eradicated a potential deficit of $12-$15 million and left an anticipated budget "surplus" of $7 million.

FitzPatrick said discussions regarding use of the $7 million have centered on nonrecurring costs such as building renovations delayed due to lack of funds, during several years of "austerity" budgeting. Among the projects awaiting the go-ahead is a $1.5 million renovation of the Wayne County Social Services building at 640 Temple, Detroit.

"There is no guarantee that a surplus will exist in future years," FitzPatrick stated in explaining why the funds were not used to expand present programs or to initiate new services. He said a hiring "freeze" and other economies imposed by the commissioners saved about $8 million this year.

The commissioners approved lump-sum appropriations for the courts as the result of a Michigan Supreme Court ruling that courts were separate entities whose "reasonable" budget demands had to be met. The lump-sum budgets give the courts complete discretion over how the funds are used within the total budgeted by the commissioners.

Circuit Court, the largest court, was given a budget of $7.8 million, an increase of $483,887 over last year. The court requested $10.7 million.

Nine additional assistants were added to the Prosecuting Attorney's staff to handle the additional workload resulting from the seven-judge expansion of the Detroit Recorder's Court bench.

Seventeen of the additional jail guards are new positions. The other nine will be added by filling jobs held vacant under the freeze.

The commissioners reinstated 60 presently-filled jobs which the County Board of Auditors had recommended be eliminated from the budget. But the commissioners let stand the Auditors' elimination of some 470 vacant positions, including 361 jobs vacated at Wayne County General Hospital due to transfer of state mental patients from there to state institutions.

The budget was approved by a 17-2 vote, with one abstention.

Schoolcraft Plays Host To Confab

Schoolcraft College hosted the bi-annual meeting of the Data Processing Committee, a group of data processing instructors and staff members from community colleges and universities, on November 10.

The Committee was formed over five years ago, and has grown steadily from a membership of five persons to representation from seven community colleges and two senior institutions. Oscar Poupart, data processing instructor at Schoolcraft, is the Committee's chairman.

The primary purpose for the Data Processing Committee is in the exchange of ideas to help member schools develop a comprehensive and stimulating curriculum in data processing. Friday's meeting was devoted to a report relative to the transferability of data processing courses at four year institutions, a "how to do it" session on the teaching of Assembler Language, and a discussion concerning the recruitment of students.

In addition to Schoolcraft College, member community colleges are Macomb County, Oakland, Monroe County, Henry Ford and Delta. Eastern Michigan University and Wayne State University are four-year institution members.

Despite Millage Defeat

New Jail Plans Continue

Because of a court order, a new Wayne County jail is likely to be built despite defeat of millage to finance it in the November 7 election, says the chairman of the County Board of Commissioners.

Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick warned prior to the election that defeat of the jail millage probably would force financing of new facilities through issuance of bonds at double or triple the cost.

But proposed juvenile justice facilities probably will be delayed indefinitely because a companion millage proposal to finance them was defeated in the election, FitzPatrick said.

"We are under court orders to meet all state housing and jail codes and make other major improvements at the jail," FitzPatrick stated. "Those orders have the force of law and we have been advised it is unfeasible virtually to rebuild the present jail to meet the requirements."

On the other hand, he said, there is no court order requiring construction of Juvenile Court and youth detention facilities although additional facilities were recommended by consultants after a lengthy study.

The two proposals were ballot propositions F and G. Both were special five-year property levies.

Proposition F proposed a levy of 60 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation. It would have raised a total of about $39 million. Consultants have recommended $39.5 million in jail construction.

Proposition G would have levied 40 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation, raising about $26 million toward construction of juvenile justice facilities. Consultants had recommended $29.3 million in new facilities.

Both proposals, as well as all other ballot propositions that involved money, lost by wide margins. Incomplete returns had Proposition F losing by a count of 425,637 to 331,962 and Proposition G defeated in a vote of 416,098 to 337,315.

Consultants have recommended that new jail facilities for 750 prisoners be constructed in downtown

Detroit by 1975 and that a detention facility for 400 inmates be built on county-owned land in Westland by 1980. They also recommended $3.3 million worth of additional renovation at the present jail to permit its continued use on a temporary basis.

A $2.5 million renovation program is already under way at the jail.

In response to orders, the Board of Commissioners submitted a jail master plan to a three-judge Circuit Court panel last year. The plan set a 1973 target date for the start of new jail facilities.

The process of selecting architects to prepare schematic drawings for new jail facilities is under way.

FitzPatrick said the consultants' recommendations could be scaled down, but whatever facilities were built probably would have to be financed by a long-term bond issue to keep the annual cost at a manageable amount.

The County Board of Auditors recently computed the cost of a $69 million bond issue to finance both the jail and juvenile justice facilities.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan, to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, which paying agent qualifies as such under the Statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, subject to the approval of the School District. A like-wise qualified and approved co-paying agent may also be so designated which may be located outside the State of Michigan.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 1974 to 1984, inclusive, are not subject to prior redemption.

The right is reserved of redeeming bonds maturing in the years 1985 to 1998, inclusive, at the option of the district, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after May 1, 1984, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium as follows: 3 percent on each bond called for redemption prior to May 1, 1988; 2 percent on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1988, but prior to May 1, 1992; 1 percent on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1992, but prior to May 1, 1997.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the School District has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of defraying the cost of remodeling and re-equipping the Northville High School and erecting, furnishing and equipping an addition thereto for welding instruction, remodeling and re-equipping the Moraine Elementary Building and erecting, furnishing and equipping an addition thereto as an instructional materials center; remodeling and re-equipping the Main Street Elementary School; constructing and equipping an addition to the Maintenance Garage, acquiring additional land for site purposes, constructing and equipping playgrounds; and developing and improving sites.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from December 1, 1972, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the School District. Each bidder shall state in his bid the interest cost to the School District, computed in the manner above specified. No proposal for the purchase of less than all the bonds or at a price less than 100 percent of their par value will be considered.

The bonds are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 12, Part II, Act 269, Public Acts of Michigan, 1955, as amended, and the School District is authorized to levy upon all taxable property therein such ad valorem taxes as may be necessary to pay these bonds and the interest thereon, which taxes may be levied without limitation as to rate or amount.

A certified or cashier's check in an amount of $15,000.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. Northville Sells Building Bonds

Approval for the sale of $750,000 building and site bonds was given last week to the Northville School District.

The bonds will be sold by bid at the school district's November 27 meeting.

In announcing the approval of the bonds by the Municipal Finance Commission, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley said the bonds are unlimited tax bonds and run through 1998. The bonds are also qualified by the state superintendent of public instruction under the School Bond Loan Program.

The bonds were approved by the voters in the school district on June 12.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for the Northville High welding addition, remodeling and equipping buildings in the district, addition to the maintenance garage, placing purchase options on future school sites and developing and improving existing school sites.

To Join Trash Authority

Township Asks Legislation

Thanks to the planned introduction of new legislation, Northville township will be able to participate in the garbage-trash collection service set up by the Northwest Wayne County Sanitation Authority.

Township Attorney Donald Morgan told board members Tuesday that Senator Carl Pursell will be introducing new legislation in January to enable townships to impose special charges for services like trash collection.

Morgan said that an opinion from Attorney General Frank Kelley confirmed that, under present laws, townships cannot set up a special assessment or levy a use charge for the service without a vote of the people.

If persons failed to pay for the service, funds covering those unpaid bills would have to come from the township's general fund or special millage would have to be levied.

The Authority was set up to provide collection services for the cities and townships of Northville and Plymouth.

Target date for the program to begin is April 1.

In other action Tuesday night, township trustees voted to receive plans and cost estimates from the engineer for construction of sanitary sewers in Grand View Acres and set up a public hearing on the matter.

No specific date for the hearing was named and trustees have not decided on a cost to each individual property owner for the sewer installation.

Trustees also received a petition from C. Thomas

Sechler who asked that a special assessment district be set up and plans be drawn for the installation of water and sewer lines on his property on Seven Mile Road across from Northville State Hospital.

The matter was unanimously referred to the township engineer who was directed to begin work on the plans.

At Tuesday's meeting, Trustees also—

- rescinded previous agreements between the township, Highland Lakes and Northville school district and authorized the signing of a new agreement exempting the 10-acre school site from street lighting and storm drain costs not directly connected with the school property;
- accepted a recommendation from the planning commission to rezone Thompson-Brown property north of Six Mile Road, thus placing all multiple homes and all single family homes on opposite sides of Winchester Road;

- took no action on a request from Police Chief Ronald Nisun who asked that two more men be added to the township force;
- referred back to the police department a request from Chief Nisun for fire-rescue equipment, asking for cost estimates and specifics on equipment and instruction needed; and
- discussed establishment of a township employee salary review board which would determine job classifications and recommend salaries for office employees but took no formal action.

Wixom Disapproves Rezoning

The commission, council was told, voted to table the proposal of Feiler until the new proposed zoning ordinances have been revised and take effect.

There were no residents at the hearing who spoke up but a letter from some Charms Road home owners was read by Mayor Gilbert C. Willis.

The letter pointed out problems the residents felt the multiple dwellings would arouse such as the added traffic to the area, which is near the elementary school, and the safety of the school children.

Council voted unanimously to concur with the decision of the planners and take no action on the matter.

In other business, Mayor Willis read a letter to the city from the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3952 which invited all city officials and residents of Wixom to a flag raising. The ceremony was held on the traditional Veterans Day, November 11, and announced that the Wixom Police Department would be given $1,000 from the Post to be used for crime prevention in the city.

According to Councilman Gunnar Mettalla, this is the "largest sum of money ever given to the city by a community organization."

concept can be jointly implemented by city and school system or by the school system alone. Obviously, he was suggesting to Mayor Joseph Crupi and councilmen in the audience that it become a joint program.

According to Dr. Hetrick, there are more than 100 school districts in Michigan that presently subscribe to the community education concept, which is endorsed both by the Jaycees and the PTA.

Walled Lake, Huron Valley, and South Lyon are among them, he said.

Dr. Hetrick said his EMU staff is prepared to aid Novi, at no cost, in planning, developing and implementing a community education program here.

Key to the success of such a program, he and Dr. Kratz suggested, is the appointment of a competent community education director specially trained in this field. EMU, said Dr. Hetrick, will recommend candidates or assist Novi in selecting and training of a member of its staff.

Financial grants are available for this purpose, he said.

Cost of operating a community education program is dependent upon the desires of the community. However, he suggested the cost is minimal in view of the fact that existing facilities are used.

Programs may, he said, be supported by earmarked taxes or from general fund monies.

School systems with community education programs frequently design their new facilities to complement the concept, he said.

And with Novi on the doorstep of more school buildings, pre-designing for this purpose may be advantageous, the board suggested.

For example, swimming pools can be made shallower than would normally be constructed in high schools so that they may more readily accommodate the general public, Dr. Hetrick said. Or gym floors may be designed so that they may be used for golf practice or roller skating by the public, he added.

In emphasizing the cohesiveness of the concept, Dr. Hetrick pointed to Elmira, New York where, following the recent floods, the school system quickly mobilized its buses for evacuation of its citizens and provided its facilities for their temporary housing and care.

"There, community education," he said, "responded to a community crisis" just as it responds daily to the needs of communities, in non-crisis situations, across the nation.

In answer to the question, "What can we as citizens do to help?", Dr. Hetrick replied, "Let your school board know that you are behind them."

last year's contingency and that they suggest the state use it to help Detroit schools.

However, Board President Dr. Orlo Robinson said that "if we aren't critical of having money taken from us which we expected to get, it will seem as though we support the action and it will happen again."

"The wisest use may be in Detroit, but we should be openly critical of the position they (the state) put us in last year by withholding funds," he explained.

Trustee Andrew Orphan said he was opposed to "helping Detroit if they are not willing to help themselves. I cannot support a give away program."

Trustee Stanley Johnston said the board "should say something about the $62,000. We have every right in the world to ask for it and I can remember a lot of crying on this board last year when we lost the funds."

Board members agreed that if the funds had not been withheld from Northville last year they would have carried over to the current budget year, making the April and June millage requests unnecessary.

Spear was directed to draw up a resolution asking the state to return the funds and requesting the anticipated surplus remain in the state's education budget. The resolution will be acted upon by the board at its November 27 meeting.

In other action Monday, school board members - accepted the lone bid from Manufacturer's National Bank for purchase of $250,000 tax anticipation notes at an interest rate of 2.75 percent or $3,170.14;

- granted a maternity leave to Mrs. Jacalyn Wager, second grade teacher at Main Street, effective no later than March 30, 1973;

- accepted the resignation of Mrs. Mary Jane Honecker, kindergarten teacher at Moraine, whose husband has been transferred out of state, effective December 21;

- accepted a gift from the Northville Boosters Club, "N" Club and VFW Post of a weight machine for the high school;

- authorized the purchase of two trucks for maintenance use; and

- appointed Orphan as the board's representative to the Northville Area Economic Development Corporation.

THE NOVI

Argus THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wed.-Thurs., November 15-16, 1972

Now that the election is over and President Richard Nixon has been re-elected in an unprecedented landslide victory, we wondered how citizens viewed the results.

To get a sampling of opinions we spoke to a number of people in Brighton, Northville and South Lyon, asking the question, "What is your reaction to the election?"

Although most expected or were pleased with President Nixon's victory, a few indicated disappointment, while others were more interested in the outcome of other issues.

Mrs. Dewey Carter of 309 North Center Street, Northville, a voter who found herself switching party candidates, said she feels "a little disloyal" to the Democratic party for giving President Nixon her vote, but she said the voter had little real choice.

"I wasn't happy with either candidate, but now, I guess, my attitude is let's wait and see what happens."

Not so with Cliff Brody of South Lyon, who was "glad Nixon won again. I served in Vietnam and I liked the job he did untangling the situation there."

But Brody was disappointed that Proposal E--the veterans bonus-- failed to pass. "I was surprised the only proposal supported was daylight savings time."

Mrs. James Carpenter, a young Milford mother shopping in Brighton, also was disappointed with the failure of some of the state proposals--"especially the fact that property tax reform did not pass."

"I didn't especially like the election results," commented Tom Witkop of 1114 Lakeview Drive, Hartland, who said he "didn't like either of the two Presidential candidates."

Barb Vogelsang of New Hudson agreed, pointing out "We didn't have much of a choice; it was Nixon or nothing."

Neal Brown of 340 Rayson, Northville, took the position President Nixon was obviously the better candidate. "The problem with McGovern," he said, "was that he was contradicting himself so much the people just couldn't believe him."

"We waited in line for 3½ hours at the township hall and everyone we voted for, lost...and you ask our reactions?" remarked Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bray, 18149 Jamestown Circle, Northville.

"If we have a reaction it has to be something must be done to improve the voting facilities here," the Brays declared.

Dallas Phillips, a South Lyon travel agent, saw nothing surprising in President Nixon's overwhelming victory, but he was surprised that more proposals did not pass, he expected a closer contest on the abortion reform proposal, and he was surprised that Lyon Township candidates were unopposed.

Dottie McCormick, a South Lyon pharmacy clerk, said, "I'm just glad it's all over." She wasn't happy with the

Broken Promises Trigger Public Distrust

LANSING—Politicians often lament the fact that most people don't really trust them very far. Why, they ask, won't people listen to them more trustingly and put more stock in what they say?

The answer is that past performance doesn't encourage that sort of reaction.

The most often cited examples are campaign promises, which are made and broken by the carload. Many politicians, instead of attempting to present their views on a series of issues to the electorate for an up or down vote, try to outdo each other in pandering to the current emotions of the crowd.

The hottest issue in this year's election was busing, a question which is in the federal courts and will be decided there no matter what the politicians say and do. Left virtually undiscussed were such areas as the environment, which legislators have a great deal of control.

THERE ARE OTHER reasons for this distrust.

Let's take a look at some promises made in 1971 by the Michigan Legislature and see what happened to them this year.

In 1971 the legislature raised the state income tax by 50 per cent and put in a clause, a "promise," that the increase would expire Aug. 1, 1972, unless the legislature put on the November ballot a proposal for property tax relief.

The legislature did not put on the ballot any such proposal, it arrived there through the petition efforts of Gov. Milliken and the Michigan Education Association.

DOES THAT MEAN the tax increase expired, since this was the promise the legislature made? No, as your pay check will tell you. The lawmakers decided they could not cut any expenses, so they made the tax increase permanent.

Another promise the legislature made in 1971 was that payments to recipients of aid to dependent children (ADC) would rise to $2.72 this coming Jan. 1. But this year the legislature changed that, saying it the welfare caseload goes up, the payment goes down.

Whether you approve of what happened or not, the fact is the legislature did not live up to a defined policy.

AN AGREEMENT more obscure to the average voter but just as vital was made in 1971 when the legislature drew up a plan to help cities who help themselves by basing revenue sharing payments partly on population and partly on local tax effort.

It was decided this year that the formula would be too expensive, and it was cut back with the result that cities expecting a hefty increase in state money did not get it.

In each case it can be argued that the legislature had to take the action to keep a balanced budget. That is true. But if that is the case, then why make all those promises in 1971? Surely they knew back then they couldn't roll back a tax increase while increasing spending.

These sorts of things are why politicians in general and the legislature in particular aren't looked upon with trust by the people of the state.

MICHIGAN HIGHWAY officials are removing a bottleneck which annoyed many a traveller from points north and east of Lansing.

A nine-mile section of Interstate 69 from Olivet to Charlotte is being opened, ending the necessity for more than 8,500 vehicles a day to travel a narrow winding section of U.S. 27 between those two points.

With the exception of a short section of M-78 in East Lansing, motorists now can travel on expressways on a line from Lapeer to Flint to Lansing to Charlotte all the way to Chicago if they wish.

The opening comes just a couple of weeks after another bottleneck affecting every Michigan motorist driving to Chicago or any point west of there was removed in Indiana.

OFFICIALS in that state finally completed I-94 from the Indiana state line to Chicago by opening the final 18-mile stretch of expressway.

Critics have suspected they dragged their feet in opening the toll free highway to generate business for the Indiana Tollway.

The result is that once you get on I-94 or I-69 in Michigan, you can drive non-stop at freeway speeds all the way to downtown Chicago without hitting a stop light or a slower speed limit. And that tells you how fast we have come with our highway system.

Babson Report

It's Time to Review Holdings

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., At this time of year investors are wise to review their financial holdings in order to determine if changes should be made for 1972 income tax purposes before the year end.

It is also appropriate to review the tax rules in order to utilize every possible deduction. Briefly, here are some of the "high spots." More complicated situations will require the assistance of a tax advisor.

ALMOST everyone holding stocks probably received dividends during 1972. The rule here is direct and simple: The first $100 of total dividends received from all companies combined is exempt from federal income tax. It should be noted that some dividends are considered a return of capital, hence will be identified separately as already entirely or partially exempt from ordinary income tax.

Where joint tax returns are involved, each spouse owning stock is entitled to the $100 deduction including instances of joint ownership.

WHILE NOT everyone necessarily incurs capital gains or losses in every tax year, this is an important category. The most direct approach is to itemize sales into (1) long-term gains and losses (securities held for longer than six months prior to sale), and (2) short-term (held for six months or less). Combining the net long-term gain or loss with the net short-term result will determine the total net capital gain or loss for 1972 as a whole.

An excess net long-term gain may be reduced by 50 percent, with the balance only taxed at ordinary income tax rates. An excess short-term gain is fully taxable at ordinary rates. Thus, if practicable, it is more advantageous to take long-term gains.

IF LONG-TERM capital losses exceed capital gains, the excess may be used to offset up to $1000 of taxable income, with the provision that $2000 of long-term losses is required to offset the $1000 of taxable income. Any remaining excess of capital losses may be "carried over" into future taxable years and applied in the same manner.

If a sale of securities is made deliberately to establish a loss, the law will disallow the loss if the same or essentially identical security is purchased within 30 days prior to or after the sale. However, there would be no objection to the purchase of another security in the same industry or near the price range of the one sold.

Timing of sales for losses or gains is critical. This year, December 29 is the last day to sell to establish a loss, while December 21 would be the last day to sell in order to establish a gain in 1972.

A METHOD of accomplishing several goals is the granting of a gift of cash or securities which might have accumulated a heavy potential capital-gains tax liability. Tax-free gifts of up to $3000 in value may be made annually to an unlimited number of persons. This is in addition to the lifetime exemption of $30,000 of gifts to one or more persons.

Charitable donations can be not only compassionate but may also have some tax advantages. Within limits they may be used as an allowable tax deduction, and if in the form of securities with a heavy capital gain, no tax will accrue.

THESE, THEN, are some tax facts to be kept in mind as the year draws to a close. Intended to be general in nature, the foregoing comments may serve to remind investors of tax savings possibilities. Such savings are important, but investors should also remember to place emphasis on the broader picture of investment goals and personal considerations, with savings through tax adjustments secondary.

Dollar Obscures Vision

David P. Kruger
Pastor and Mission Developer
Lord of Life Community

"I was hungry and you fed me... whenever you did this for one of the least important of these brothers of mine, you did it for me!" (Jesus)

Picture a boy holding a silver dollar to one eye like a monocle. He is trying to see the world through a dollar.

He is not really any different than many of us. We, too, often fail to use our good eye. Instead, we squint at the world with vision obscured by dollar signs. If we are to become giving and serving people in the style of Jesus of Nazareth, I suggest that we start by becoming aware of the filters we use to screen out or distort the messages God is sending us from other people in the world.

There is massive hunger in the world, and most of us have food and resources to spare. People are asking for help. We are confronted by their need. We have decisions to make.

But we usually view their need with obscured or distorted vision, if we allow the image of their need to penetrate our consciousness at all. We excuse ourselves from responsibility. We hang pretty pictures on the walls of our homes, not pictures of starving children. We see the despairing image of an unemployed man and his hungry family pictured in a magazine, but we say "it's his own fault; he won't work" — when the reality of their situation is that they live in an area of the country where jobs are now impossible to find.

We frequent supermarkets gorged with food. We regularly eat more than is either necessary or healthful. Business firms daily spend thousands of dollars to advertise new combinations of basic food items, the latest convenience packaging, or their claim to have "the lowest prices in town." There are even TV programs describing exotic ways to serve ordinary fare or ordinary ways (in your own kitchen) of preparing exotic foods.

What if all this excess were shared with others? What if we cut out a few pictures of the world's unfortunates and posted them in our dining rooms until Thanksgiving as a reminder to share? Maybe a can or basket on the table to receive an offering EVERY MEAL from now until Thanksgiving — you work out the details, but let's share... share... share!

This year let's prepare for Thanksgiving by allowing God to sneak past our filters, our possessive dollar signs, our rationalizations and motivate us to make a generous gift to help ease the problem of hunger in America and the world. CROP and CARE, for example, are emphasizing "self-help" programs in which food is given as wages to persons working in community improvement projects. Your church or synagogue would have additional information and would be able to forward your gift. It may also sponsor similar programs directly.

Whatever the channel, I urge you to give! Whatever your motivation — gratitude, Christian duty, humanitarianism, etc. — I urge you to share!

"What good is it for someone to say, 'I have faith,' if his actions do not prove it? Can that faith save him? Suppose there are brothers or sisters who need clothes and don't have enough to eat. What good is there in your saying to them, 'God bless you! Keep warm and eat well!' — if you don't give them the necessities of life? So it is with faith: if it is alone and has no actions with it, then it is dead... I will show you my faith by my actions." (James)

center of life

At our house bedtime reading ranges from the "just so stories" to the encyclopedia, from "Mary Poppins" to the Bible, depending upon Billy's interest.

And always there are the questions. "How high are the stars, Daddy?" "Where did the dinosaurs go?" "Daddy, did Adam love Eve?" "What makes electricity spark?"

How challenging to watch the alert mind of a youngster mature! I know I'll have to keep on my toes with new ideas in every field, if I want answers for Billy as his questions grow more profound.

Of one thing I am confident, the age-old truths of my church and the Bible never change. Integrity, responsibility and the love of God are a source of strength now as in every age. I have no qualms about teaching my son that God's Church is the center of a man's life.

November 15: Dual Target Date plates begin getting mailed out to people who have ordered them by mail -- and the day they go on sale at the branch offices.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin says this year as in previous years prepared license plate application forms have been mailed to most of the vehicle owners in the state, and people have been encouraged to send in their orders by mail even before the November 15 date for the start of distribution.

He noted, "The early applicants will be first in the state to get their new license plates by mail."

Austin says the passenger and commercial vehicle plates sent by mail are made of light weight aluminum. The plates sold at the Secretary of State branches will be galvanized steel, as are the single plates used for trailers and motorcycles.

This year, according to Austin, "The mailing system has been even further speeded up, and the form has been simplified, so we are able to assure that owners will have their new plates within three weeks or less of the time they apply."

He cautioned owners to check the prepared forms to be sure the address, county code, and other information is correct. He also called attention to the need for completing the required insurance information and for signing the form before returning it.

February 10 is the deadline for mail orders.

He said, "The applicant has just one place to sign this year. The line is marked with a large red 'X' to make it stand out."

This is the second year vehicle owners can pay for their plates by check, whether they buy by mail or from a branch office. However Austin reminded, "Uninsured motorists who pay $45 into the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund will have to send us either a certified check or money order for that particular fee."

The new 1973 plates are dark blue, with white reflectorized paint on the lettering and numbering. The colors were chosen on the basis of high visibility.

They are a far cry from the world's first known vehicle license plates -- which originated on chariots in the Roman Empire before the birth of Christ.

They are also a far cry from the first Michigan license "plates" issued in 1905. Those were simply small round metal discs which were attached to the dashboard inside the car. Each motorist had to make his own exterior plate, for fastening to rear of his vehicle. These were made of wood -- or often, of leather -- with house-type numbers tacked on. The first standardized Michigan plates weren't issued until 1910.

Since 1918, Michigan's plates have been produced by convicts at Southern Michigan Prison near Jackson, producing nearly 6-million plates is a big job, and work on the plates you are buying now began last February. Shifts of almost 200 men each work around the clock for nine months of the year in order to get enough plates turned out.

The first reflectorized plates were issued by Michigan in 1971. Unlike some states, Michigan reflectorizes the letters and numbers instead of the background. Cost of reflectorization is about six cents a plate. Reflectization of the background is more expensive.

Austin says, "We want to get some accurate measurement of how much help they give, not only in law enforcement but also in terms of traffic safety."

Incidentally, Austin pointed out that one of his department's most recent "modern innovations" is actually, in part, a return to the days of yesteryear.

He said, "Our computerized, streamlined plates-by-mail program isn't absolutely new, after all. As a matter of fact, back between 1905 and 1910, the only way you could get a plate was by mail. But as motor vehicle numbers grew, the mail system proved too slow and too cumbersome and it was abandoned. Now, of course, automation and data processing have reversed the situation. Now it's the most efficient and generally most convenient way for ordering your plates."

This is the second year -- since 1910, anyway -- for vehicle owners to buy by mail. Austin says, "Last year, of course, we had tabs instead of plates and an earlier deadline. About 300,000 owners took advantage of the early, easy way and were licensed by mail. This year -- with the new aluminum full-sized plates and a later deadline -- we expect to license as many as 600,000 to 750,000 by mail."

He added that his office will be capable of supplying an even heavier demand if necessary. It is geared to mail out as many as 1-million license plates before the February 10 deadline for mail sales.

Austin said, "Of course, owners may still get their plates through the lines at any Secretary of State branch office. And persons who wait until after February 10 will have to buy them that way."

Mansion Gets New Life

What breathes life into a 100-room mansion? People. "The splendid response to Meadow Brook Hall by the community has been beyond our most optimistic expectations," says Lowell Eklund, Oakland University's dean of continuing education.

During the hall's first year of operation as a cultural and conference center, 500 events were held in the magnificent Tudor edifice that was home for more than 40 years to the university's benefactors, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.

The voices of more than 50,000 people have given new life to the hall. In all, 47,710 people participated in events at the hall from October 1, 1971, to October 1, 1972. The number reached 50,000 in October 12.

"Despite these impressive figures, we haven't begun to tax this home's facilities," said Eklund.

These people attended 24 residential conferences, 26 daytime or evening conferences, 279 group tours, 62 public tours, 38 courses or meetings, 50 special events, and 21 events hosted by Oakland University president Donald O'Dowd.

Among the special events hosted by various organizations was the Detroit reception on April 13 for the table tennis players from the Peoples Republic of China on their historic visit.

Dance Lessons

Plans to offer square dance lessons as a part of their winter program are being considered by Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission.

The announcement was made Monday by Commissioner Donald Gorman.

"We've had a number of inquiries regarding an instructional program of this type and if residents indicate a desire for such a program, we will offer it," he said.

Residents of surrounding communities such as Northville and South Lyon are also welcome to participate, Gorman indicated.

Tentative plans call for the program to be held in the Novi Community Hall every Thursday night.

Persons interested should contact Gorman at 349-2511 or Mary Ann Cabadas at Novi City Hall at 349-4300.

$3.5 million. Many of its architectural details were adaptations of several Tudor and Jacobean mansions. Some of the furnishings and details were incorporated from an unfinished mansion Matilda R. Wilson and her first husband, auto pioneer John F. Dodge, were building in Grosse Pointe Farms when he died in 1920. She and Wilson married in 1925.

In 1957 the Wilsons gave their 1,600-acre farm and an initial $2 million to Michigan State University to establish a public 4-year college. Until their deaths they enjoyed watching Oakland University grow from its charter class of 470 in 1959. Current enrollment is 8,169.

Collectively, the gifts of the Wilsons and from the Matilda R. Wilson Fund constitute the largest personal and private gift (excluding tax-exempt organizations) ever given to public education.

"Meadow Brook Hall offers something to all ages, from elementary school children to senior citizens with their experiences and knowledge of the past," states Eklund.

The first group tour was made on September 29, 1971.
