Deep in Thought

"Let's see, I'd like..." and eight-year-old Charles Meredith gives his request some thought as Santa waits patiently. Hosted by the Northville Chamber of Commerce, Santa Claus will continue to greet youngsters tomorrow 3 to 8 p.m., Saturday 10 to 8; and Thursday, Friday and Saturday (December 21, 22 and 23) from 10 to 8.

For Ambulance Housing

Township Splits Cost

Township trustees agreed unanimously to join with the City of Northville in providing housing for an ambulance service in the community. Taking action Tuesday night, the township board voted to share the cost with the city, not to exceed $1,800 per year.

Paul Folino said that General Ambulance has agreed to base two ambulances in Northville on a 24 hour basis, provided they are given rent free quarters. Total cost of rent which the two municipalities would share is estimated at $3,600.

"This is a much needed service," Folino said, "and everyone will benefit from it."

City Manager Frank Ollendorff stated that the cost of providing the housing could be cut if Plymouth, Wixom and Novi were included in the plan. However, then there would be no guarantee that an ambulance would always be within the Northville community.

Ollendorff explained that an ideal location would be in the center of the total community. "We couldn't be happy if the ambulances were housed near Five Mile and Haggerty and you wouldn't be happy if they were housed in the northern section of the city."

John Early, representing General Ambulance, explained that if both ambulances in Northville are out on calls, a back up unit would be sent in from Farmington. The building sought would have to include a heated garage of approximately 24 feet by 24 feet with a nine foot high door. It would also need to include living quarters with shower, bathroom, bedroom and living room for the four attendants on duty.

State Plan Act Triggers Protest

It hasn't taken the form of a bill as yet but a proposed piece of legislation on the drawing boards in Governor William Milliken's office already has generated state-wide controversy.

Rumor has it that the landmark measure, tentatively called the "Ombibus Land Use & Development Act," will be an integral part of the governor's upcoming State of the State message. Ramifications of this proposal, according to Northville Planning Consultant Ron Nino, are "so alarming" that he has urged the local commission to immediately develop a position statement on it.

Similar concerns have been expressed by other professional planners for municipalities, who see it as a "colossal robbery" of local planning and zoning controls by the state. The Oakland County Planning Commission also has urged municipal planners to study the measure carefully.

Some of the major objections to the proposal include: State guidelines will transcend local boundaries without providing tools for involvement of local municipalities in development of those guidelines. Its standard would tend to produce state-wide uniformity in planning concepts without allowing for development of exciting, unique plans at the local level.

• It gives the state the right to determine where "new towns" are to be developed. • It forces creation of two distinct local bodies—one for planning matters and the other for zoning—and it requires a qualified or professional officer for each of these agencies.

• It provides for the designation of "critical impact areas" within the state where no local development may take place without state approval.

• It suggests local compliance with both regional and state planning proposals.

• It suggests that, even in areas not designated as having "critical state concern," local development must not interfere with the objectives of a state land use plan.

• It provides that no municipal funds may be used for streets, parks, public buildings, etc. until they are approved by the municipal planning commission, and that commission decisions on these matters stand unless overruled by a majority vote of the legislative body (city council).

Bogart Gets School Post

A well-known Northville insurance man, Robert W. Bogart, has accepted the position of business manager of the Charlevoix public school system.

The surprise announcement was made this week by Bogart after the appointment was confirmed Monday night by the Charlevoix board of education.

Mr. and Mrs. Bogart, who reside at 46638 West Main street, plan to move to Charlevoix after the holidays. Bogart said he will sell his interest in the one-year-old Bogart-Henrikson Agency, Inc., to his partner, Wes Henrikson. The two opened offices at 311 West Main street

Year round school received a boost Monday night as trustees authorized the administration to seek funding to continue and expand the experimental voluntary program next school year.

If there is sufficient interest and student enrollment in the voluntary program, year round classes will also be offered in grades six through eight.

Currently, 170 students in kindergarten through grade five are enrolled in the program at Amerman Elementary. The schedule used alternates 45 days of school with 15 days of vacation.

Superintendent Raymond Spear told board members that a recent random survey of 750 families in the district showed that if the program were offered in all grades next year "we could have 2,000 students enrolled, or half of the student population."

More than 400 survey questionnaires mailed out to residents in the district, confirmed the formal survey results of the 750 families questioned as to whether or not they would consider enrolling their children in year round school during the 1973-74 school year.

"However," Spear said, "curriculum problems and training teachers make it advisable now to only offer the program through the eighth grade."

Spear noted that if the program is offered in the higher grades (six through eight), it would be on a contiguous basis.

"If there are enough seventh graders but not enough sixth graders, we will not operate year round in grade seven or six. We want to be able to offer a continuous program for a certain number of grades, not skip around from grade to grade."

He added that at the elementary level, between 620 and 800 students could be handled in the program "by using, two, three, four or even five tracks (schedule times for the school year)."

"How many tracks we offer and the number of students we can handle depends largely upon the number of walkers (students within walking distance of Amerman) who enroll in the program," he continued.

Between 150 and 200 students would be enrolled per track.

Formal registration for next year's programs will be conducted between January 2 and February 15, with information centers planned at each elementary school during that period.

Spear emphasized that no students within walking distance to the school would be displaced in order to operate the program.

For $4.1 Million Facility

Middle School Plans OK'd

Preliminary plans for a new middle school were approved Monday night by school board members who also authorized architects to proceed with detailed drawings.

Located at Bradner and Franklin roads on an 18-acre site, the school will house between 900 and 1,000 students.

Estimated cost of the building is $4.16 million, not including furniture, moveable equipment and development of the athletic field.

Plans call for the use of the bid before bond process, whereby bids on construction are taken and then the voters are asked for a specific amount of money. The process was pioneered in Northville when additions were made to existing schools in 1970.

Bid opening is slated for May with the bond issue request going before voters on June 11. Ground would be broken July 13 with construction of the middle school completed by February, 1975.

The one-story building is designed with flexible classroom walls, gym and cafeteria partitions, allowing areas to be divided into space to meet a specific program or project need.

Thirty-four instructional areas are included in the building with only 11 percent of the 117,500 square foot structure devoted to corridor use.

Architects explained that the usual percentage of corridors is 20 percent.

With few windows included in the building, plans call for air conditioning and humidity control of all areas but the physical education section.

Announce Racing Dates For 1973

Harness racing dates for 1973 were announced Wednesday morning by Michigan's Racing Commissioner and fell just four short of the number of nights raced last year.

Northville will have three meets beginning January 1. Only track to have its schedule cut was Jackson.

Here's the 1973 schedule: Jackson at Northville Downs—January 1 through January 27—24 nights;

Northville Downs—January 29 through March 14—39 nights;

Wolverine—March 15 through June 19—82 nights, Northville Downs—June 20 through July 31—36 nights, Hazel Park—August 1 through November 3—82 nights, Jackson at Northville Downs—November 5 through December 31.

Jackson will race at Jackson August 23 through October 27—57 nights.

Administrators noted that fewer windows will decrease vandalism while air conditioning will enable the school to be used for year round or for summer school classes.

School board members said the schematic drawings of the planned middle school will be posted for examination in the school board office and possibly at several other locations in the community.

In other action Monday, trustees accepted a deed to the 10-acre school site in Highland Lakes and authorized the payment of $45,001 to Levitt and Son for the site.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said the school should hold title to the property by Christmas.

Trustees also learned that the superintendent and attorneys for the school district have rejected an offer from Cooke Junior High architects allowing them to fix the gym floor as they see fit and, if it does meet the satisfaction of the school district, let the school district settle with the contractor.

Currently, the school district has legal action pending against O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, architects of the school, E E Powell, general contractor and Continental Casualty Company of Illinois.

School board members also

• granted a contract extension through June 30, 1974, to Earl Busard, director of business and finance, to bring the expiration date of his contract in line with other administrators;

• denied a grievance filed by a teacher who was docked pay for taking sick leave for the illness of his wife;

• learned a grievance filed over assignment of drivers education sections instructors will go into arbitration; and

• discussed concerns over mounting requests for out of state and out of country non-school sponsored trips.

NEWS BRIEFS

"GOING, going, gone" will ring out Saturday when City Manager Frank Ollendorff conducts an auction of parts of the city-owned house at 131 West Dunlap Street, immediately west of the Drawbridge Restaurant building. The building will be opened at 10 a.m. to permit people to look at any items of value, and the auction will begin promptly at 11 a.m. The city presently is taking quotations for the razing of the building, which will become the site of an enlarged municipal parking area.

"KEEP YOUR LIGHTS ON," urge Jaycee officials who remind Northville residents of the annual Christmas Lighting Contest to be judged Sunday. Jaycees will be viewing commercial and residential outdoor Christmas lighting displays from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday. The three winners in this 13th annual contest will be announced next week, according to Project Co-Chairman David Van Hine.

PURCHASE of top soil for the fish hatchery park and sale of the city's old bulldozer were approved by the council in a special meeting Thursday night. Councilmen authorized the purchase of 1400 yards of top soil not to exceed $2.50 per yard and the sale of the bulldozer, on an unconditional basis, for $2,000.

NORTHVILLE Township Planning Commission's regularly scheduled December 26 meeting has been cancelled because of the holiday season.

JAYCEES' OPERATION Red Ball received the unanimous support Monday night of the Northville School Board. The red window stickers, alerting firemen to rooms where children or invalids sleep, will be distributed in the elementary schools soon, according to Jaycee project chairman Dr. Jerome McDowell.

RACING was cancelled Tuesday night at Northville Downs, but not because of bad track conditions. Leon Slavin, president of the Jackson-at-Northville operation, said that road conditions were reported severe so it was decided to call off racing in the interest of public safety. Despite snow and freezing rain, the track was in running condition, Slavin reported.

ROBERT BOGART

Santa Hears Them All

Lists Are Surprising

By MARTHA ROEMER
Wouldn't you like to be a little mouse sometime and be able to sit under Santa's chair and listen in on the conversations held between Santa Claus and his youthful visitors?
Admittedly, many parents might want to in an effort to better know what the children will be expecting to see under the Christmas tree.
Northville's own Santa has his share of funny, heart-warming and even downright strange requests and happenings during a day's work.
"Many of the children, the younger ones, who come seem to be afraid of Santa," said Northville's St. Nick. "I don't understand it. I explain to them that Santa Claus is a nice guy and that he's going to bring them toys. Sometimes that works and sometimes it doesn't."
Children who talk to the local Santa are given candy canes and balloons "Once in a while I use the candy canes for a little bit of bribery if the kids don't want to sit on my lap or don't want to tell Santa what they want for Christmas."

In one case where a child had difficulty remembering what he was going to ask Santa to bring him, Santa said to the young man, "Don't you want your own car, maybe a Corvette?"
After that, Santa laughed, the boy's mother was quick to offer suggestions to her son.
What has been Northville's Santa's funniest experience this year?
"A little girl, about four years old, came in to see me. She walked toward me very slowly, almost as if she was afraid. She didn't stop walking, though, until she was right in front of me.
"She stopped, looked me straight in the eyes, put her hands out in front of her, palms up, and said, 'Hang 10, Santa,'" he recalled. "and added that he knew what she meant, so he slapped her palms in greeting.

Santa has observed that the most popular items with the Northville tykes this year are a game called Operation, a doll named Baby Go Bye-Bye and pets.
Probably the most difficult requests Santa has received during his visit to Northville have been those from some older kids. "Some of the 13 or 14 year old girls in town come in and ask for boyfriends," he said.
It isn't often that someone as friendly and jovial as Santa is lost for words, but it happened to Santa in Northville two years ago. "A little girl, 10 years old, came and sat on my lap. She was a little bashful," said the jolly 'elf, "but she began to tell me what she wanted.
"She said she wanted a pair of roller skates, a doll, then there was a slight pause before she said, and a training bra," he remembered.
"That absolutely stopped me. I didn't quite know what to say after that.
Not all of the things for which the children of Northville ask the North Pole resident are material things. "One little girl asked for a baby sister, but her mother was standing there and straightened her out on that," he said.
The number of children who have cried while sitting on his lap has not been very great this year, but he did say that when it does happen, the response from parents is usually the same, "He didn't cry last year."
From what Santa said, it would appear that the children of Northville have, on the whole, been polite and cooperative

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND ADCOX

Couple Celebrates 50th Anniversary

At a family dinner held at the Skipper's Table restaurant recently, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Adcox were honored on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.
The former Geneva King and Raymond Adcox, both of Dickson, Tennessee, were married November 15, 1922, in Union City, Tennessee.

Pickeral of Novi, Mrs. John Norman of Northville and Robert Adcox of Novi. They also have 17 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.
Mr. and Mrs. Adcox came to the area from Tennessee in 1941 and are members of Orchard Hills Baptist Church.
Of their 50 years together, both agree that they've "never regretted a moment of those years."

The first meeting of the couple took place in the bride's home. They were introduced by Mrs. Adcox's brother who was a good friend of the bridegroom.
Now retired, Mr. and Mrs. Adcox live at 25300 Beck Road. He retired in 1962 from Northville Laboratories. She was a medical attendant at Maybury Sanatorium for nine years and at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia for five years.
The couple has five children, Mrs. James Newman of Northville, Mrs. Theodore Van Toll of Plymouth, Mrs. Shirley

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

THE NEW YEAR approaching will mean new homes for several Northville families. Among those making moving plans are the Robert Bogarts, G. Steven Orbans and the G. Robert Honeckers.
They join the Richard Hustons, who are moving to Pennsylvania in January (He was to start at the Philco-Ford subsidiary December 1), and the William Bakes, who plan to move from their home on West Main to an apartment in Plymouth.

BOB AND ANDY Bogart are inviting their many Northville friends to visit them in north as they plan to leave by January for Charlevoix. He has been named business administrator for the Charlevoix schools.
Their West Main Street home, to which a large wing was added last year, is for sale, and they are hoping to buy a Victorian home overlooking the water—and complete with tennis court.

THE ORBANS are looking forward to buying a sail boat as they are about to move to the home they have purchased in Grosse Pointe.

Ginny Orban, past president of the Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters, explains that she was "practically raised" on a sail boat and hopes to introduce her family to the sport. She adds that they will delay "getting involved" in organizations until they have finished the decorating they plan for the old home they will be moving to on Lincoln Road.

JANE HONECKER, who has been the kindergarten teacher at Moraine school ever since it opened six-and-a-half years ago, was to be honored Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Jan Mueller on Fonner Road. About 25 room mothers who had served during those years were invited. Mrs. Richard Barron was in charge of arrangements. Principal Milton Jacobi, who also had helped, was on hand.

The family has purchased a new home, which Mrs. Honecker says is very similar to the Northville colonial, in Bel Air, Maryland. The furniture will be moved December 15 with Mrs. Honecker and son Dwight following after school recesses December 21.

Robert Honecker, who was promoted by Bethlehem Steel to assistant plant manager in the Baltimore area, has been at his new post since November 1. Mrs. Honecker has applied to teach in Maryland and has been informed that she probably will have a position "within a month or two." With most of the decorating details of the new home already decided, she feels she will be about ready to tackle a new job then.

Moving into their home on Fonner Court East will be another Moraine teacher and her family, the William Craigs. Like the Honeckers, the Craigs have one son, Scott, also a sixth grader. For Sandra and William Craig the move will just be across town.

Several homes on Fonner courts east and west have changed hands during the past year due to job transfers.

The L.B. Listons moved during the summer and sold their home to singer Larry Santos and his family.
"We just love Northville," Santos told his radio station WJR audience one recent morning while he was on the air on the station's "Open House" show following the 9 a.m. news.
The young couple has two children.

FORMER NORTHVILLE residents, the William Slatterys, are back in the country briefly. He currently is with Ford near London where they have an apartment.

Last Monday Phyllis Slattery was catching up of local happenings at the December meeting of the Northville branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. She has been visiting also with daughter Nancy in Dearborn.

The branch heard a report on the success of its first Christmas Walk, held last Thursday, and yielding about $2,000 for the scholarship fund.

(One apparently-experienced walk patron arrived with white satin slippers ruffled with lace to don when she took off her shoes at each home, as required.)

Crowds assembled early on the Christmas Walk and quickly bought up the hand-fashioned goodies, especially the Christmas breads. The unusual cornhusk wreaths were reported gone before noon.

Mrs. William Farrington, whose home was one of the five open on the walk, followed with a dinner party Saturday evening. There was no decorating problem as all hostesses keep the lovely decorations were created for their homes...a "thank you" from the branch for opening them to so many visitors (there were 900 tickets sold).

"OF ALL THE SMALL shows in the area, this is the nicest," Carleton Brown told Eleanor Lowell as he visited the Northville Antique Show sponsored by Northville Historical Society November 28-29 at Northville First Methodist Church.

Since Brown is a member of the Henry Ford Museum staff, this was high praise; he attended with Mrs. Brown

Burning Interest Sparks Artistic Hobby for Youth

By MARTHA ROEMER

Along with the revival of getting back to a basic way of doing things has come the candle craze. Candle making is becoming a favorite pastime of people of all ages. Instead of making them because of necessity, it's done for fun today.

Fourteen-year-old David Laverty of Novi is a candle maker for fun but his candles are quite different from most as he uses no molds for his candles. Since he began his hobby in February, David has made about 100 candles.

The whole thing started when he was given a candle making kit as a gift. "I made a few molds and I decided I didn't like the candles made that way. Then I started using bottles and got tired of that so I started making sand candles," he explained.

The Novi High School ninth grader began making the sand candles on his own and then began reading more about making candles in books.

During the warm months he uses his younger brother's sand box, he said, and in winter he uses buckets of sand placed in a box.

"The sand is moist so that when I dig a hole to pour the wax in, the walls will stay up. If I am going to use driftwood in the candle, I bury that at the bottom. Then I pour the wax in, a small amount at a time to give the candle a layered effect," David said.

they are always a surprise when they come out. You never really know exactly what the finished product is going to look like," he said.

To make the candles more interesting and unique, David began using driftwood in them. "My parents gathered the driftwood along the beaches when we were on vacation," he said and added that he began to use it for the candles just because it was available to him and "I thought it would look good in the candles."

David explained, "Half the candle is making the mold." He said that some of his candles are given legs on the bottom simply by poking holes in the sand. Others are made flat or are given a driftwood base.

To make the candles harder, so there is less of a chance of it breaking if it's dropped, David adds stearic acid to the paraffin wax as it is melted. "The acid also keeps it from melting if it sits in the sun on a window ledge," he said.

Candles are usually a part of David's weekend recreation. He said he begins early in the day melting down his wax in three or four pots on the stove to make the colors of wax necessary.

When his creations are taken from the sand, David uses a small propane gas torch to remove the excess and if it is a candle in which he has used driftwood, David soaks the wood in water before the torching so the wood won't burn.

To make the different shades for his layered candles, David uses crayons and the scents he puts in the wax are a commercial brand sold at most hobby stores.

David enjoys his hobby a great deal as is evident when he talks about it. Through reading and trial and error he has learned much about candles and what goes into their making. Like most craftsmen, he does have one part about his hobby he dislikes most - the clean-up.

David, an honor student, lives on Border Hill with his parents, Mr and Mrs Robert Laverty.

Western High Sets Holiday Program

Nearly 600 music students at Walled Lake Western High School will present their Christmas program Tuesday, December 19, at 8 p.m. in the E.V. Ayres Auditorium.

The Girls' Chorus; Girls' Glee Club and Girls' Choir; the Male Chorus and Concert Choir, and the Westernaires, a group of 16 selected voices, will join in the presentation of both sacred and secular Christmas music. Alexander Zerban, director of vocal music at Western High School, will conduct the 300 vocalists.

The school orchestra and concert band will be under the baton of Helmut Holland-Moritz.

Admission is free, and an invitation to attend is extended to the entire community.

In concert Thursday, December 14, Walled Lake Central High School will present the Bach Christmas Cantata No. 140, with Baritone Ed McAllum and Soprano Mary Ellen Sobetsky, former Central High School students, singing solo roles.

Members of the girls' and male choruses and choirs will take part in the program as will the orchestra and band. Members of the Neo-Renaissance Chorus will sing Fred Waring's arrangement of "The Night Before Christmas".

Central's program is also free and invitations are extended to all members of the community to attend.

ILLUMINATING HOBBY — That's not just any candle David Laverty is lighting. It is one of about 100 he has made since February when he began his hobby. Although he began using molds made of metal and then moved on to bottle molds, David, 14, now specializes in sand candles. The candleholder shown at left was also made by David in shop class.

Schoolcraft To Feature Ensembles

The Schoolcraft College Music Department will present an instrumental music Christmas Program Friday featuring several various musical ensembles. Under the direction of Richard T. Saunders, the Wind Ensemble will perform a contemporary piece for wind and percussion instruments by W. Francis McBeth. Entitled "Divergent," it is a selection that explores the great variety of tone colors and rhythmic possibilities displayed by the modern wind and percussion instruments.

Also featured on this program will be a number of Chamber Ensembles made up of performers from the larger Wind Ensemble, String Trio, and Percussion Ensemble. The concert will take place in the upper Waterman Campus Center beginning at 8 p.m. There is no charge.

Dr. Okey is professor of speech at the University of Michigan. He will read a variety of seasonal selections. The speaker holds memberships in the Speech Association of America, the Central States Speech Association and the Michigan Speech Association. Continuing a long-time club tradition, this Christmas program is under the direction of the music chairman, Mrs. R.M. Atchison. She will introduce the speaker.

A club "sing" will be led by Mrs. H.O. Evans and Mrs. Leland Mills.

New members who have joined during the past year will be honored during the program with Mrs. George Weiss, vice-president, presenting each with a red carnation.

They include Mrs. George Daraban, Mrs. Leo Laruwe, Mrs. Kenneth Pickl, Mrs. Alfons List, Mrs. Neil Nichols, Mrs. Adelbert Heath, Mrs. Harold Schmidt, Mrs. Kenneth Ross, Mrs. Eugene Reynders, Mrs. Charles Porter, Mrs. Joseph Pettit, Mrs. Roman Pawlowski. Offer Lamaze Classes

In cooperation with the Lamaze Childbirth Education Association, Schoolcraft College has scheduled a series of classes which will teach the Lamaze method of natural childbirth to expectant parents.

The classes are designed for both father and mother and are taught by registered nurses who have been specially trained in the Lamaze method.

The first six week series of classes will be held from Wednesday, December 20 to Wednesday, January 24. Couples may register by calling Mrs. David DeJohn, 349-5720, or Schoolcraft College, 591-6400, ext 225.

Birth

Mr and Mrs. Jay E. Bowser of Noblesville, Indiana, announce the birth of their second child and first son, Steven M. E. Bowser, on December 5, at Methodist Hospital in Indiana.

Mrs. Bowser is the former Helen Meaker of Northville. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Bowser of Cicero, Indiana and Mr and Mrs. M F Meaker of Noblesville. Mrs. Harriett Cox is the baby's great-grandmother. The Bowser's also have a daughter, Lynne.

Every layer is about a quarter-of-an-inch thick and sets in about 20 minutes. After all of the layers have been poured, David leaves the candle in the sand for 24 hours until it is completely firm.

Why does David go through all of the work of melting down the 11 pound blocks of wax, adding the scents, just the right amount of color and digging the sand form?

"I just enjoy doing it," he exclaims. Of all the candles he has made, David has never sold one of them. The ones he no longer has have been given to friends and relatives as gifts. "In the future, I hope to sell some of them, though," he admitted.

The sand candles are David's favorites "because

Community Education Gets Board Approval

The community education concept was endorsed by the Novi Board of Education Tuesday night, thus paving the way next month for specific recommendations of the superintendent.

And in somewhat related areas, the board appointed members to a needs assessment citizens committee and granted six half-days of release time for high school students to permit staff work on North Central accreditation matters.

In unanimously endorsing the community education concept, the board gave Superintendent Gerald Kratz the green light to next month recommend a specific course of action.

Dr. Kratz reported he will recommend some kind of pilot program, and ask the board to authorize appointment of a community education coordinator. He indicated the wisest choice may be to request the services of an administrative intern from Eastern Michigan University's Center for Community Education.

As envisioned by the superintendent, the coordinator's responsibility will include——Responsibility for the development of a community school concept.

—Coordinating and scheduling all community use of the school buildings in conjunction with the building principals' over-all goals and objectives for their schools.

—Directing the adult education program.

—Publicizing all phases of the program in cooperation with the principals.

—Working in conjunction with community groups, organizations, to further community improvement through use of school resources.

—Coordinating after-school and evening activities with regular school day portion of the school program.

—Seeking and identifying community resources to aid the school faculty.

—Training any other community directors as the need arises.

—Having responsibility for summer education programs, use of the buildings, and development of the same.

—Assisting the superintendent with certain assigned duties.

By adopting an initial pilot program, Dr. Kratz believes the board would be in a better position to closely observe and evaluate community education prior to instituting a regular program.

"During this initial phase, the services of an administrative intern working out of the Center of Community Education from Eastern Michigan University would be sought," said the superintendent, who reminded Tuesday's audience that the community education concept has wide local support.

Some 40 citizens from Novi last month toured community education facilities in Flint where the concept was originated.

In keeping with its earlier action to hire Dr. Ray Kehoe of the University of Michigan to conduct an in-depth survey of needs within the school system, the board Tuesday appointed members to a citizens committee that will work with Kehoe.

They include:

mail boxes installed around Novi will receive a return letter written and signed by Old Saint Nick, himself. It's City vs. Township

Begin Liquor License Fight

Efforts of the City of Novi to prevent Novi Township from awarding a liquor license to the Thundersview Corporation received a boost last week from Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Warren.

According to Novi City Attorney David Fried, Judge Warren granted the city's request for authority to appear before the Liquor Control Commission to ask that the license not be awarded until the matter of the Novi annexation has been resolved.

Everyone's Invited

Novi Rotary Readies Plans For Community-wide Sing

Carollers prepare! Novi's Rotary Club is sponsoring a "Christmas Sing" for all of Novi next Thursday, December 21, in the Community Building.

All Novi residents are invited to attend the combination carolling party and concert which gets underway at 12 noon and is scheduled to run for two hours.

"We're hoping as many people as possible will make an effort to attend," said Gary Johnson, president of the Novi Rotary.

Several issues are involved and the case is a complicated one.

Early this year the State Boundaries Commission approved the city's petition to annex seven of the eight scattered parcels of land which comprise Novi Township.

That decision was contested by Novi Township which filed suit not only to contest the decision, but also to contest the constitutionality of the Boundaries Commission.

The case thus becomes an extremely important one because all past decisions of the Boundary Commission could conceivably be found to be invalid if the court finds in favor of the suit lodged by Novi Township.

The case is currently in the Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Warren, the judge charged with hearing the case, has issued a stay order on all transactions between the city and township until such time as a decision is reached.

In the fall of 1971 the Township Board awarded the liquor license currently being contested to the Thundersview Corporation. One of the partners in that Corporation is Emery Jacques, former Novi Township Attorney who resigned that post shortly before the license was awarded.

The City of Novi would very much like to have the right to award the liquor license and is thus attempting to block Thundersview Corporation at the point it must receive concurrence from the Liquor Control Commission to be able to accept the license.

Warren's decision last week gives the City the right to ask the Liquor Control Commission not to take action on granting the license to Thundersview until the annexation matter has been resolved.

In reporting Warren's decision on the city's petition to appear before the Commission, City Attorney Fried said he was impressed with the decision and the judge's comprehension of the situation.

"I felt Warren stated the case extremely well in his opinion," said Fried, "and I intend to include his decision in our request to the Liquor Control Commission."

Fried told the council that Warren had ruled that a

He has been hailing motorists to sell them the Goodfellow edition ever since the Novi Goodfellows first organized in 1954. Money earned from the sale will be put toward meeting the Goodfellow goal of "No child without a Christmas." Every needy family in Novi and Wixom will be given a complete Christmas dinner and toys, candy, and clothing will be distributed as long as supplies last. The Goodfellows are still looking for more donations and volunteer helpers. If you can help or know of a needy family call 624-1248.

On 2 Rezoning Requests

Planners Hold Action

A joint meeting of the Novi planning board and city council Monday produced little in the way of positive results as action on two proposed zoning changes was put off.

The first request involved a one and one-half acre parcel on the north side of Grand River, immediately west of the former Titan Pump Company property. The request, made by J. Robert Langan, was for a change in zoning from M-2 (restricted manufacturing) to C-2 (general commercial).

The second request, proposed by the planning board itself, was to rezone a parcel of land located east of Olde Orchard Drive, approximately 140 feet south of Grand River from R-2-A (multiple family) to C-2 (general commercial).

Consideration of the first request was delayed until the next regularly scheduled public meeting of the planning board January 8 at the request of Langan, who was unable to attend Monday's hearing, he explained to the council by letter, due to unavoidable conflicts in his schedule.

Langan reportedly seeks to construct a combination bowling alley-lounge complex on the property.

Representatives of abutting property owners were present at Monday's hearing to argue against the rezoning to permit the zoning change to C-2 in the predominantly M-2 district, opponents claim, is paramount to spot zoning.

The second request involved a small strip of property at the southern end of a larger parcel on the south east corner of Grand River Avenue and Olde Orchard Road owned by the Albanelli Company.

The larger portion of the property is zoned C-2, while the small parcel presently carries a R-2-A zoning designation. The proposed change was to make the smaller parcel conform to the zoning of the larger piece of land.

Representatives from the Albanelli Company had come to the Planning Board, Chairman John Roethel explained, to ask what they could do with the parcel to make it eligible for use for parking space for a proposed shopping center.

At that time Albanelli was told to seek a variance from the board of appeals.

The variance was granted with several restrictions, including stipulations for masonry walls and proper screening of outside refuse containers.

"After they got the variance we decided that a complete rezoning of the property would have been a more desirable alternative," Roethel stated, "and therefore initiated the rezoning action ourselves."

The problem arose from the fact that if the property is rezoned to C-2 the masonry walls and screening stipulations could no longer be required. The Board of Appeals can require the restrictions, but the city's zoning ordinance for C-2 makes no such stipulations.

A solution to the problem was proposed by City Attorney David Fried who suggested that action on the rezoning be delayed until such times as the walls and screening devices have been constructed.

"Once the wall is up," advised Fried, "then proceed

Chamber Committee Nominates Officers

The Committee to Revitalize the Novi Chamber of Commerce has set a special meeting to elect a new slate of officers and board of directors.

The meeting will be held Tuesday, December 19, at 12 noon at the Saratoga Trunk Restaurant on Grand River.

Nominated by the Committee for the board of directors were Bernard Sullivan of the Rich-Sullivan Company and C.F. Morreau of Sugden, Incorporated. A. Russell Button will automatically become a member of the Board of Directors under the by-laws of the old chamber of Commerce because he is the immediate past president.

Further nominations for offices or the board of directors will be accepted from the floor at the December meeting.

In a notice sent to Chamber of Commerce members, Gary Johnson, chairman of the Revitalization Committee, stated that it was his "personal feeling that anyone proposed as a director of officer be willing to actively support and promote the Novi Chamber of Commerce."

"The individuals proposed by the committee have publicly expressed their desire to give their time and energy to the Chamber," he stated.

The December roster of the Novi Chamber of Commerce lists 39 members.

The committee to Revitalize the Chamber is comprised of Johnson, Carl Evans of Evans Plumbing, Peter Phillips of the Saratoga Trunk, Caville, Morreau, Dinsler, Sullivan, Button, and Florence Harris of the Rosewood Restaurant.

Wallace Cook

Pick New Assistant For Youth Program

A new social worker-professional assistant to the Novi Youth Assistance Committee has been named by the Oakland County Probate Court.

He is Wallace J. Cook, 27, who most recently was an assistant to the surgeon-administrator of a medical facility.

Cook recently completed an intensive study under the Oakland County Youth Assistance program to prepare him for field work in both Novi and Berkley. He replaces Jeff Smith.

A graduate of Grove City College in Grover City, Pennsylvania, where he received a BA degree, Cook received his master's degree in guidance and counseling from Wayne State University's extension campus at Aviano, Italy in August of this year.

Cook is one of 18 field workers in the county program that includes a director and three supervisors. Although he and the other field workers are paid by the court, he works for the Novi Youth Assistance Committee, an organization of volunteer citizens in existence for more than five years.

"I am not a probation officer," Cook emphasizes, "and none of my records are reported to the court. My relationship with young clients and their families are strictly confidential. As a matter of fact anything a boy or girl tells me in confidence is between them and me alone... it isn't even disclosed to the parents."

creates a stigma that drives them to accept questionable values of peer groups he explained, which in turn creates still more stress. It's a vicious circle that is best treated at an early age.

Problems often are rooted in the family itself, so in dealing with the youngster the entire family is involved in the rehabilitation process.

Aside from offering his own personal help, Cook also may refer a youngster or family to one of the many specialized agencies that can also assist.

Chairman of the Novi Youth Assistance Committee is the Reverend Father Leslie Harding, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Mission.

Purpose of the committee is to develop and implement local programs and financing.

Its subcommittees included education and public relations, community development, and camping-recreation. Secretarial help is provided Cook by the committee.

One of its initial functions was in the area of drug abuse, but that subcommittee function now has been turned over to a completely separate organization because of the spiraling problem demanding special attention.

Office for the social worker (Cook) is provided by the Novi school system at Village Oaks Elementary School. The telephone number is 477-7229.

In dividing his work between Berkley and Novi, Cook is in Novi on each Tuesday and Thursday. He works with youngsters and their families throughout Novi and the Oakland County section of the City of Northville Varnish should always be applied in straight strokes with the grain and carried the full length of the piece to be varnished. Never brush in cross strokes since this causes streaking. The sale in downtown Northville continues through Saturday, December 23.

All proceeds from the sale of candy canes, which is operated on a donation basis, is given to local charities and organizations. Among those likely to be assisted this year, depending upon the sale's success, are youngsters at the Wayne County Child Development Center and Our Lady of Providence school. Jaycees also hope to assist in the purchase of Christmas gifts for old patients at Eastlawn Convalescent Home.

For the first time this year's project features displays in local stores. Theme is "Christmas for Others"

Project Chairman Jim Totzkay admitted has set a "pretty high goal"—sale of 4,500 candy canes.

Members of his Jaycee committee include: Jerry McDowell, Paul Condon, and Dick Van Otten. Jaycees also are assisting, including Paula McDowell, Cathy Totzkay, Carol Swienkowski, Sue Bonner, Cathy Povour and Sally Marks.

CANDY CANE SALE—Paula McDowell, Jaycee chairman, and Jaycee Candy Cane Chairman Jim Totzkay seek donations in downtown Northville as part of the annual Jaycee project to bring cheer to the faces of needy at Christmas. The sale continues through Saturday, December 23.

For Winter Term

Financial Aids Available

Two deadlines for applying have already passed, but Keith Witmer says there still may be financial aids available for persons needing assistance to attend Schoolcraft College during the winter semester.

Witmer is director of financial aids and placement at the College. His office will provide loans, outright grants, and work-study opportunities for 350 students this year. Expenditures will total about $350,000, or an average $1,000 per student. Financial assistance is available primarily for fulltime students. The kind and amount is based on need. "We do have a few dollars of loan money for half-time students," Witmer said, "but our emphasis is on the person who attends full-time."

Students on work-study assignments are employed both on campus and at agencies in the immediate area. They may work up to 15 hours a week and wages vary from $1.60 to $2.50 per hour.

The director went on to say that the original deadline for applications was November 15, which he extended to December 1. He would still encourage persons to apply now, however. He said they will be given every consideration, although at this point he could not assure they would know what help they might get before classes start on January 6.

Regular registration for Schoolcraft's winter semester will be conducted January 3 and 4, with classes beginning the following Saturday. The semester extends through April 26.

Persons interested may visit Witmer's office on campus to obtain an application and the financial statement form which is required, or they may call him at 591-6400, extension 362

Youth's on Course

There seems to be a youth movement in Jackson's action at Northville Downs. It involves both horses and drivers and seems set to continue through to the January 27th closing date of the meet.

into the upper echelons of the drivers standings.

Among the young horses winning during the week were Hi Ronnie, Froggie, Briar Lea Dwight, Blu Star, 4th straight, Sparkling Bret, Nellie C., Go Johnny Go, and Amy Girl Mercury.

Two of the youngster professional reinsmen in the state, Tommy Harmer, 22, and Pete O'Hare, 20, have moved in among the top ten drivers at the meet, and contrary to the belief that only older horses race during fall and winter action, many 3 and 4-year old trotters and pacers are building enviable win streaks.

Experience still leads the drivers standings, however, Farmington's Gerry Banfield and Pinckney's Corky Hammell are neck and neck for top slot in number of races won Attention this week-end focuses on the Saturday night finale to the $30,000 Jackson-at-Northville pacing series. Michigan Mack, winner of several legs of the race is expected to be the favorite for the $10,000 purse event.

Three and four-year-old pacers and trotters are reaching the winners circle with surprising regularity.

Aliens Should Register

Harmer and O'Hare are sons of professional drivers who have enjoyed more than passing success in harness racing. Both have grown up in the sport, and with that background it's not surprising that they are moving quickly

Postmaster Gordon J. Blackburn announced today that the Novi Post Office will again cooperate with the Immigration and Naturalization Service in assisting all local aliens to comply with the Alien Address requirements.

Immigration and Naturalization Act, each alien must report his current address no later than January 31, 1973.

Report forms will be available after January 1 at the main post office, Blackburn said

Sports Winners Announced Here

By NANCY DINGELDEY
Physical activities are much in the news this week with the announcement by the Parks and Recreation Commission of the Decathlon winners.

Scoring of the Decathlon, held in October, is done on the point system with five points going to the first place winner in each individual event, four points to second place, and three points for third. Points are then totaled for boys and girls and are also classified to grades one through three and four through six.

Decathlon medals were awarded at Wixom School to Geoffrey Bissell for boys in grades one through three. A tie occurred in the girls class, grades one through three. Nola Houtz, a first grader and Kelli Jo Korhas of the second grade were both awarded Decathlon medals.

Steve Posey wrapped it all up in the boys classification grades four through six with Analene Cotter capturing the crown in the girls class.

Not only did Steve Posey win his Decathlon medal, but he has added another outstanding award to those he has collected throughout his elementary school days. He has been named the Presidential Physical Fitness Award winner of Wixom School. This is a first year award for Steve who received an outstanding grade in each category which qualified him for the award.

The events in the Physical Fitness Award include the standing broad jump, 600 yard dash, 50 yard dash, softball throw, pull-ups and the shuttle run.

The Walled Lake Physical Fitness Award uses the same events and children qualify for this award by receiving four "excellent" and two "good" grades in the overall program.

The Walled Lake Awards went to Joe Burke, Michelle Decker, Cher-El Fawcett, and Gloria Rochowiak. Others were Bob Jasiemnicki, Wesley McAtee, Babette Nissen, Brian Nissen and Lane Noble George Spencer, Don Warwick, Tom Aiken, John Eller and Georgia McDermott also won awards along with Glen Muszynski, Darrel Prestwood, Steve Sutherland and Tom Zielinski.

Five Earn Diplomas

Several area residents recently received degrees during fall commencement exercises at Michigan State University.

Rebecca A. Woodruff of 45241 Grand River, the only Novi resident, was awarded a BS degree in social science.

The Northville graduates included the following: Susan Bailo, 7811 West Seven Mile, BA, English, Jennifer Clapp, 41312 Lehigh Lane, BS, general clothing and textiles, Joseph A. Ditzhazy, 37990 Tralee Trail, BS, criminal justice; and Mary D. Fuerstges, 1012 Grace Court, BS, retail textiles and clothing.

To Steve and all the other youngsters — "great show!"

"Ode to a poinsettia plant" or "it will be a sheer miracle if it blooms." About a year ago The Novi News carried an article on the care and preserving of those lovely Christmas plants, one of which I received. The article also gave the necessary pointers on how to make the plant bloom again.

Miracle Number One was that the plant even survived my household conditions. Miracle Number Two was that it survived my animals.

With the help of my wonderful botanist neighbor, the plant was pruned back during the summer and miracle number three was that the remaining stub (the other two died) actually grew a bushy set of new green leaves.

Conditions in our newly-erected mud room seemed almost perfect for the plant when it's brought in from its healthy outdoor atmosphere at the onset of fall.

Probably becoming overconfident of my newly acquired gardening techniques I decided to embark on the ultimate — making the plant bloom again. Oh joke!

Fortunately we did have a cabinet large enough to hold the "baby," which was neither too hot nor too cold. Score one. Next was to make sure that the cabinet was completely dark — not one thread of light could creep into that cabinet during the "dark" hours for fear of "blinding" the "bracts" or little flower buds. Checked that out by crawling into the cabinet myself and hanging a large trash bag on the door as security. A battle half won.

One interesting thing is that the little darlings need exactly twelve hours of dark and twelve hours of light to make them bloom. Ever try baby sitting with a plant?

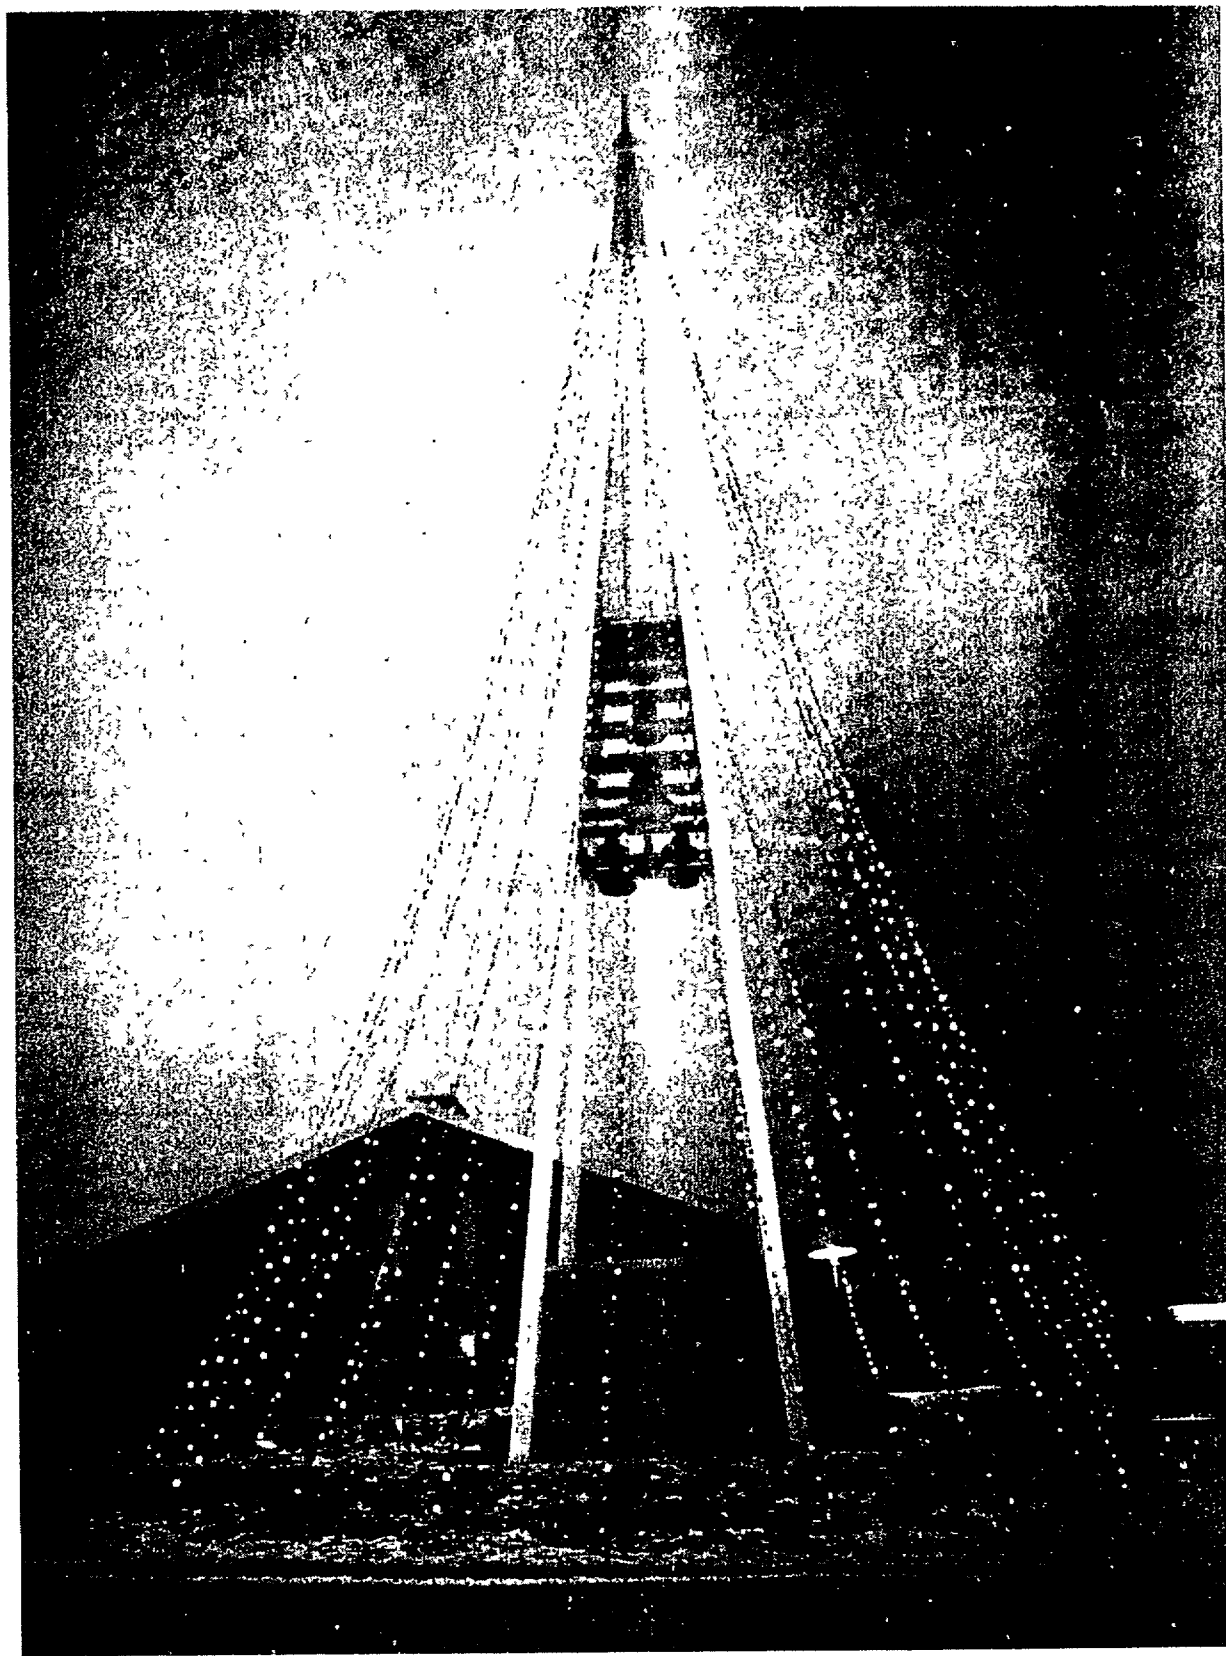

What I need is a Rube Goldberg device to put the plant in and take it out at exact hours. It really wouldn't have been so bad except that it takes six weeks to accomplish a bloom and I think I struck out two weeks ago "Baby" wound up in solitary confinement for two whole days — I forgot her!

But, with little attention other than a drink of water now and then my Azalea plant has done me the ultimate of favors — blooms!

The only unanswered question in my mind is how the Poinsettias in Bermuda bloom. Certainly nobody runs around covering them up with trash bags or playing the role of Mother Hen and they bloom!

Coming up this Tuesday is the annual Christmas program put on by the youngsters at Wixom Elementary Choir and band renditions featuring different grade levels will make up the program. It will begin at 7 p.m. and the whole family is invited to attend.

Also on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m., Western High School will present their Christmas program in a musical evening featuring orchestra, choir and the Western-aires vocal group.

LIGHTED FOR CHRISTMAS—Schoolcraft College's familiar bell tower has taken on a new look for the holiday season. Thanks to a donation by Floyd Kehrl of Northville, the tower has been bathed in lights from top to bottom. The college invites area residents to drive out to see the spectacular display, which will be lighted nightly through the holiday season.

Novi Jaycees Seek Nominees

Novi's Jaycees are seeking nominations for their Distinguished Service Award (DSA).

The award, which will be presented in January during National Jaycee Week, will be given to the Novi citizen who is judged to have given the most outstanding service to his fellow man.

Any Novi citizen, male or female, 18 years of age or older, can be nominated for the honor.

Ben Hemker, chairman of the project, said the Jaycees hope to make the presentation of the award an annual event.

The award is intended to both encourage and honor the humanitarian efforts and personal qualities of idealism, initiative, and involvement displayed by a Novi citizen through service to his community. Each nominee's record of achievement and involvement will be reviewed by a committee consisting of two civic leaders, two members of the Novi Jaycees, and a clergyman.

Civic mindedness and community service are the keys to qualification for nomination.

Nominations can be made by mail or by contacting Hemker at 349-5743. All citizens are urged to make nominations.

purple suit instead of his red one.

County Reversal Sought

McCann Criticizes Commission Salary Hikes

Calling the action "reneghensible," Northville's representative on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is making what appears to be a futile effort to head off pay raises for commissioners.

Commissioner John J. McCann of Livonia made an impassioned plea against the pay increase last week as the board voted 13-5 to hike their salaries beginning in January.

A lame duck commissioner due to be replaced by Commissioner-elect Mrs. Mary Dumas, Republican, in January, McCann lashed out at his Democratic colleagues for what he termed was total disregard for the public's pocketbook.

McCann is the same commissioner who fought (successfully) against the stadium bond proposal in Wayne County.

Having stormed out of last week's meeting after angrily scoring the salary increase proposal, McCann told this newspaper Monday he was "sorry" for losing his temper. But, he added, "I still oppose it."

McCann argued that commissioners knew what their salaries would be when they ran for re-election in November. "If they wanted raises they should have said so before the election, although I would have opposed it even then."

Acting on the unanimous recommendations of a three-member special salary committee, the commissioners last week—

—Established a per diem compensation of $30 for attendance at not more than eight committee meetings monthly.

—Increased the annual base salary for the board chairman from $12,000 to $14,000 and for the vice-chairman from $10,000 to $12,000.

The per diem provision means a commissioner could make $2,880 above his existing $10,000 base pay. Commissioners are to receive per diem compensation for only one meeting when they attend two or more meetings.

Based on an estimated 30 Ways and Means Committee meetings annually, the chairman's potential com-penation will approximate $14,900 and the vice-chairman's $12,900, the salary study committee reported.

The salary committee was composed of Commissioners Joseph Young of Detroit, chairman, Paul Silver of Detroit, and John Sabo, Jr. of Taylor. All are Democrats.

"The present compensation of $10,000 per annum has been in effect since January 1, 1969, and the increased activities, duties and responsibilities by the members of this board warrant a salary adjustment at this time, the salary committee reported.

The board will increase from 26 to 27 seats when the new two-year term starts in January. The additional seat covers the new 27th District that includes the southwest corner of Northville Township.

McCann contends the commission job is a part-time one and warrants only a part-time salary.

Commissioner Richard Manning of Redford, who today will formally contest the action on grounds that it violated commission rules, agrees with McCann.

Manning told this newspaper he will attempt to force the commission to reconsider its action of last week.

"I'm not against a raise to offset the cost of living," said

Manning, "but the 28-percent increase approved goes far beyond 'cost of living'. People in my district are reasonable when it comes to salary adjustments but they won't stand for this kind of increase."

Manning contends the commission erred in passing on a money matter the same day it was introduced. He cited three specific commission rules that he said were violated.

In recommending the per diem compensation for commissioners, the salary committee cited the board's effort to improve the functioning of county government by eliminating "faceless" boards and commissions and analyzing the operation of many departments.

"The members of this board of commissioners are expending more and more time in becoming more knowledgeable in the many and varied aspects of county government," the committee stated.

In other action last week, the commissioners approved 4-percent salary hikes for the deputies of six elected county offices—the deputy clerk, drain commissioner, prosecuting attorney, register of deeds, undersheriff and treasurer.

Also approved, however, was a recommendation by the special committee that the board of commissioners conduct a special study of the salaries of all elected county officials, their deputies and top county administrators.

"We believe this over-all study to be necessary to eliminate the 'see-saw process' whereby salaries paid to various positions in these categories are used as argument for salary adjustments for other positions in these categories."

A $750 annual increase request for the six probate court judges was turned down by the commissioners, as recommended by the special committee. Probate judges now receive $34,000 annually.

Edward Leffler, a retired general foreman from the Ford Motor Company, was appointed to the Novi Planning Board by the city council Monday.

Leffler was named in a

Wins Bike

secret vote after the council had interviewed seven candidates for the position Saturday.

He will fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Jean Rumble who submitted her resignation several weeks ago. Mrs. Rumble's term expires June 30, 1974.

"There were several excellent candidates for the opening," stated Councilman Denis Berry after Leffler's appointment. "It was unfortunate that we could only select one of them."

Other members of the Planning Board are Ronald Birou, Robert Bretz, James Cherfoli, Edward Dobek, Donald Gleason, Merle Jenkins, Robert Weber, and chairman John Roethel.

CHOPSTICKS AND EGG ROLLS—Fourth graders in the classes of Miss Paula Finnell and Mrs. Marlene Aitken at the Novi Elementary School last week concluded their study of Japan by eating a Japanese meal.

The fourth graders cooked the meal themselves, dressed in Japanese clothing, and followed Japanese customs right down to eating with chopsticks. "It was messy, but good," commented their teachers.

'Kangaroo Court'

Citizen Rips Novi Council

Charges that the Novi city council is little more than a "kangaroo court," bent on serving the interests of special concerns, were levied Monday at the council's regularly scheduled meeting. Making charges was Jack Wikman, a Taft Road resident, who has not always seen eye-to-eye with the actions of the Novi council in the past.

"What I'm saying is that when seven men govern this community with complete disregard for the people they represent then that's a kangaroo court," said Wikman.

Although Wikman's objections Monday were to the location of the "Audience Participation" portion of the agenda, the true source of his displeasure with the council is the proposed Taft Road special assessment district.

Wikman, who lives between 11 Mile Road and Grand River, faces a tentative assessment of $14 per front foot on his property so that Taft Road can be paved. An earlier attempt to establish a special assessment district for the paving of Taft was defeated when close to 100 per cent of the Taft residents, including Wikman, signed a petition objecting to the assessment.

His charges that the council has disregarded the opinions of the people it represents stem from the fact that the council has recently moved to establish the special assessment district in spite of the objections of the Taft Road residents.

"When all the people of Novi are willing to share the cost of paving Taft Road," he told the council Monday, "then I'll be willing to go along with it too."

Wikman's charges were refuted by Mayor Joseph Crupi and Councilman Louie Campbell.

In response to the charge that the "Audience Participation" is put on the agenda in such a way to prevent participation of citizens on items of particular interest, Mayor Crupi stated that as long as he had been mayor he has very rarely denied the floor to any citizen who wanted to be heard on a particular subject.

After asking Wikman if he had ever been treated disrespectfully by the council, Campbell said he wished that Wikman would show the council the same courtesy the council shows him.

"This is not a kangaroo court and never has been," stated Campbell emphatically.

Wikman did not back down from his "kangaroo court" charges, however, and the exchange between Wikman and the council ended in what is tantamount to a cease-fire.

There is little doubt that hostilities will be renewed when the council holds a public hearing January 3 to discuss establishment of a special assessment district for the Taft Road paving.

Near Walled Lake

Novi to Operate Well

Novi's city council Monday tentatively agreed to maintain and operate a community well in the north end of the city once it has been constructed by Gil Homes, an area developer.

The action came after the council received a letter from the Michigan Department of Safety asking if it would be willing to accept ownership of the well.

Gil Homes is constructing the well to supply water for their development in the area. Once the 14 Mile Water line has been extended to the area, Gil Homes will tie into the Detroit water system and the well will be abandoned, according to existing plans.

Detroit water is expected to be available in approximately two years time. Until the time Detroit water is available, however, wells are the only means of supplying water for development.

The request of Gil Homes is similar to one made by Kaufman and Broad earlier this year. According to state law, community wells must be operated by and under the jurisdiction of the municipality in which they are located. The Department of Health cannot issue permits for construction of the wells unless the municipality agrees to accept ownership once construction has been completed and the wells are operational.

Council granted the Gil Home's request by a 6-0 vote. The wells will have to be constructed to specifications set both by the state and Novi city engineers Johnson and Anderson.

In other business, the council learned that Village Oaks developer Kaufman and Broad has indicated a willingness to deposit the money it would cost to put in ditching along Meadowbrook Road between Nine and Ten Mile Roads into a fund that will be used to pay for the paving of the road.

The matter of the ditching along Meadowbrook Road arose at last week's council session when Councilman Edwin Presnell pointed out that K & B had not installed ditching even though required to do so.

Acting City Manager Edward Kriewall was directed to approach K & B officials about the ditching, and it was his report which was delivered Monday.

Kriewall will now seek cost estimates for the ditching job from city engineers Johnson and Anderson.

Adopted a resolution designating the National Band of Detroit as the official depository for all 1972 tax monies collected by the city.

Adoption of such a resolution is required by Oakland County, City Clerk Mabel Ash reported.

The resolution was adopted 6-0. Councilman Raymond Evans was not present at Monday's meeting.

Directed Kriewall to investigate two complaints regarding road conditions along Nine Mile Road.

Councilman Louie Campbell told the council that the culvert over the creek under Nine Mile near Ennishore Drive was too narrow for two cars to pass at the same time and should be corrected.

Councilman Edwin Presnell complained about the conditions left along Nine Mile after the recent installation of the water line. "Several hazards have been left in the form of large holes, and the contractor should be made to correct the hazards and do a better job of cleaning up the area," Presnell stated.

— postponed action on a request from the developers of Stonehenge for a temporary sewage holding system similar to the one recently granted Smokler's Country Place development.

The sewer lines are all in the ground, but a small piece of connecting pipe has not yet been installed, the council was told.

The council decided to take no action until hearing a report from the city manager and having a representative of Stonehenge present to answer questions.

— tentatively set Saturday, January 13, as the date for a meeting with the Board of Appeals. The meeting was scheduled at the request of the Appeals Board to discuss several problem areas it has run into lately.

The Appeals Board is particularly concerned with its increasing work load and the number of variances which are being sought in certain areas. City Attorney David Fried told the council.

30-Year Fireman

Fred Loynes Quits

Fred Loynes, longtime chief of the Novi fire department, Monday submitted his resignation to the city council in a tersely-worded letter.

"I've tried to serve the community to the best of my ability," wrote Loynes, "but the time has come when the rapid growth of the city and the increasing demands on me as fire chief no longer make it feasible for me to serve."

"This certainly comes as a surprise," commented Mayor Joseph Crupi.

The council directed Acting City Manager Edward Kriewall to approach the members of the fire department for their recommendations as to the appointment of a new chief.

Loynes is only the third fire chief in the history of Novi. In 1958 he succeeded Glen Salow, who succeeded the original fire chief, Walter Tuck.

Loynes was a member of the Novi Fire Department for almost 30 years.

Wixom Bazaar

This Sale's for Kids Only

By NANCY DINGELDEY
Dreaming up ideas for fund raising projects is not the easiest job.

Getting people to support and energetically help is another problem. The people of Northridge Estates in Wixom are an energetic group and there is always someone willing to take charge of a project with the rest pitching in with their help.

The idea, submitted over a year ago by Mrs. Jane Fitzgerald blossomed into the "For Kids Only Bazaar" this weekend. It was completely off-limits to adults and neighborhood youngsters over twelve years old.

The bazaar featured gifts for the whole family ranging in cost from five cents to $1. "When you consider that there were very few items offered at $1, and total sales of the day were about $95, we did a lot of selling," said Mrs. Beverly Walters, chairman of the event.

Mrs. Walters started planning the bazaar about a year ago by sending out newsletters asking for donations from neighborhood parents of handmade articles. Approximately twenty people in the subdivision answered by making gifts, supplying fancy jars filled with candy to knitted, crocheted, and macrame pieces. There were golf club covers, huge frog and turtle beanbags, building blocks painted like houses and stores, drill bit holders, dried flower arrangements, pottery and cuff links, and more.

Throughout the year, Mrs. Walters collected and stored the items "besides constantly

Examination

Terrill LaRue, the son of Mr and Mrs James LaRue of West Seven Mile Road, recently passed bar exams for the states Michigan and Florida.

LaRue, a graduate of Wayne State University Law School, has moved to Daytona Beach, Florida with his wife Maureen and their daughter Michelle.

The 1964 Northville High School graduate is practicing law with a Florida firm bugging for more". "Towards the end we were really working fast and furious to make sure every age group had appropriate gifts especially in the "dad" line", she said.

"We had almost a total neighborhood turnout of kids between the ages of four and twelve. Some of them were a little reluctant to come," she added, "because they were sure the gifts would be corny."

Once the kids got to the bazaar, they were decisive buyers and made their purchases quickly. One young fellow had to make two trips to carry home his three bulging shopping bags full of presents. Another youngster made his purchases but remained for two hours "just looking".

Five teenagers volunteered their time for gift wrapping "which had to be the hardest job of all". Each child's purchases were wrapped and tagged before leaving for home.

"The little guy with the three shopping bags full wouldn't let us put tags on anything. He said he wasn't sure who he was going to give them to", laughed Mrs. Walters.

NO ADULTS ALLOWED—That was the number one rule of the "For Kids Only Bazaar" held this past weekend in Wixom. The home of Mrs. Beverly Walters was completely off-limits to anyone over 12 years old Saturday as Wixom youngsters perused potential Christmas gifts ranging in price from five cents to a dollar for every member of the family. See Nancy Dingeldey's story on this page for full details.

FIRST WINNER—Mrs. Francis Potter of Jamestown Circle was the top winner of "Christmas Dollars" in the shop-in-Northville promotion sponsored by 19 local retailers and the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Potter will receive 50 Christmas Dollars, worth full value in any of the 19 participating stores. Assisting in the selection of the first week's winners was A. R. Clarke, vice president in charge of the Northville office of Manufacturers Bank. He's flanked (left) by Record Advertising Manager Mike Preville and Pat Russo, advertising salesman. Other winners of Christmas Dollars were: Michael Rooney of Detroit, $25; Sean Chapman, Grace Street, $25; Pat Campbell of Detroit, $15; and six $10 winners—Jim O'Brien, Laraugh; Dana Hayes, Farmington; Carolyn Owen, Connemara drive; Ed Tarrow, Northville road; Mrs. Dean Honsinger, Currie road; Cary Eaker, Thayer Blvd. Ten more winners will be selected next Monday evening from among those who shop in the sponsoring stores this week. Top prize in the final presentation will be $75.

liquor license is an important asset to a community and the council has the responsibility to try to protect it.

The high school presently is accredited by the University of Michigan, but not by North Central.

THE COMMUNITY IS INVITED CEDRIC WHITCOMB, PASTOR

An early draft of the proposal also abolished planning and zoning in townships and placed this responsibility in the hands of a regional body. However, spokesmen for the governor's office indicated this change was an oversight and in subsequent drafts the townships retained their planning and zoning functions.

South Lyon Planning Commission Chairman Gerald Hartman, who withheld comment about the proposal pending further study, took the position that the usurpation of local controls by the state is a result of local communities' failure to provide their own good planning and zoning.

Protection of the environment, he asserted, is a responsibility of each community and if they fail to provide for this protection the result will be more and more state control.

Hartman sees hope in Oakland County's plans, which are so new and comprehensive that the state may find them adequate without requiring a new set of regional guidelines.

Although a series of public hearings on the state proposal have been conducted, Nino criticizes the lack of publicity given it by the state. It appears, he suggested, that the "cloak and dagger" approach to it is an attempt to keep it out of the public eye.

A measure of this magnitude, with its "startling" ramifications, should be given widespread publicity, he said.

Nino said he agrees, philosophically, with some of the proposed provisions—for example, its insistence that municipalities and counties establish planning commissions and develop land use plans.

"I oppose, however, its implicit proposals that local planning must conform to regional plans without providing a medium whereby local communities may have a say in those regional bodies. It appears that a select few will be making decisions without providing for local input."

Nino said he is "unalterably opposed" to the measure's insistence that planners no longer be involved with zoning. He sees mandatory establishment of separate zoning bodies as unnecessary and unwise in small communities such as Northville.

Under the proposal a seven-member State Land Use Commission would be created, with members appointed by the governor. It shall "prepare, adopt, review and amend the State Land Use Plan, designate and provide regulations for areas of critical state concern and development of state impact, review the land use plans of municipalities, coordinate state agencies' land use plans and programs."

This state commission could, under the proposed assign any of its powers and duties to Regional Planning Commissions (such as SEMCOG).

The state commission would designate specific geographic areas of the state of "critical state concern", and the regional planning commission may recommend to the state areas to be so designated.

Within these designated areas all new development would be suspended until approved by the state.

Areas of "critical state concern" may include:

- 1. Areas that would be significantly affected by, or having a significant effect upon, an existing or proposed major public facility or other area of major public investment.

2. An area containing or having significant impact on historical, natural, archeological, or environmental resources of statewide importance.

3. A proposed area of major development potential, which may include a proposed site of a new community, designated in the State Land Use Plan.

4. An area necessary for solid waste disposal as delineated by the Department of Public Health.

Certain proposed developments identified as having "state impact" also would come under the jurisdiction of the state. "Impact" may be interpreted as having either state or regional significance.

Criteria for governing rules would include — —Potential for creating or alleviating environmental problems such as air, noise, or water pollution and solid waste disposal.

—The amount of pedestrian or vehicular traffic likely to be generated.

—The number of persons likely to be residents, employees, or otherwise present.

—The size of the site to be occupied.

—The likelihood that additional or subsidiary development will be generated.

—Unique qualities of particular areas of the state or region.

Again, the regional planning commission may, from time to time, recommend such "State impact" areas. For example, a "state impact" might be interpreted as a development providing a large number of jobs.

It provides that "no municipality shall grant a permit for development of state impact that will create more than 100 opportunities for permanent, full-time employees that did not previously exist within the jurisdiction of the municipal government unless it also finds that adequate public facilities will be available for the employees and their families, including water, sewer, transportation, and other public services."

It requires establishment of both municipal planning and zoning commissions and planning and zoning "officers"; it sets the terms of commission members, provides a minimum number of times they must meet, and describes their general function.

Applications for the job of Novi city manager continue to pour in. Councilman Denis Berry told his fellow councilmen Monday.

To date Novi has received approximately 35 applications for the position vacated by George Athas in October. DPW Head Edward Scale is the relation of each part of an object to another part and to the whole—so says a well-known decorator. But how to recognize scale for yourself? Imagine you have entered a small room which is so loaded down with large pieces of furniture that there doesn't seem to be any room for people. There is a room whose furnishings are out of scale with its relative size. Scale, then, has to do with making furniture go together in size and kind as well as with the room.

Looking for gifts for Christmas? Visit us at SCHRADER'S HOME FURNISHINGS, INC., 111 N. Center St., Northville, 349-1838. Dad would love a La-Z-Boy recliner chair—Mom a beautiful Stiffel lamp. There is something for nearly every room in your home and best of all you can charge it with Master Charge or pay with our Convenient Credit Terms. Open: 9a.m.-6p.m. Mon thru Thurs, 9a.m.-9p.m. Fri and Sat., closed Sundays.

HELPFUL HINT: Sometimes a paint job is just what you need to help scale the room to bigger or smaller furniture.

For Police Reports

Policy Change Told

A policy change involving this newspaper's "police blotter" was announced this week by Jack W. Hoffman, assistant to the publisher.

Basically, the policy change means that in most instances the reporting of misdemeanor (minor) cases, such as traffic violations, drunk and disorderly, smoking marihuana, etc., will be discontinued, and the police blotter will become basically a report of felonious (major) crimes such as selling marihuana, robberies, burglaries, etc.

The change is necessitated by the rapidly growing number of local police cases resulting from a spiraling population.

"To continue to report all of these so-called 'minor' offenses—though we remain convinced that the police blotter represents a deterrent to crime—is no longer practical or feasible in view of community growth," Hoffman explained.

"As has been our reporting practice in the past, we will not make exceptions within the framework of the policy. In other words, pleas that a person's name be omitted because it may prove embarrassing will be denied."

In special circumstances, some misdemeanor cases will continue to be used when, in the judgment of this newspaper, a story is warranted.

For example, if an elected public official is arrested for drunk driving, a misdemeanor, a story will be published. Or should a local clergyman be arrested for drunkenness, it should be reported. Or if a coach should be arrested for assaulting one of his players, it, too, would be reported.

The blotter will continue to carry reports of accidents involving personal injuries where people are hospitalized. Generally speaking, it will exclude property damage accidents except in unusual circumstances.

For example: Should a train hit and demolish a car in which the driver and passengers escape injury it probably will be reported. Or should a driver run a stop sign and crash into a building, causing property damage, it also will be published.

Most crimes of injury will be reported, even though they may be legally interpreted as misdemeanors. For example, should a drunk strike a person inflicting an injury requiring hospitalization the blotter will carry a report.

In cases where people are arrested and charged with a felonious crime, a report will be carried only after arraignment. If, however, special circumstances warrant a story prior to arraignment, the story will be used without identifying the suspect. The subsequent week's story, following arraignment, will, however, identify the suspect.

Names of rape victims will not be used.

Names of juveniles (16 years old and younger), arrested for crimes, will not be used unless the crime is such a bizarre or unusual one that public disclosure is justified.

For example: If a 16-year-old robs a store and kills someone in the process the newspaper very likely will use the arrested suspect's name—provided the newspaper has access to the name.

Thefts Continue to Plague Area

In Northville

The break-in of a home at 1065 North Center Street is being investigated by the city's detective bureau.

According to reports, items valued at more than $1,000 were stolen from the home between 12:30 and 2 p.m. December 5.

Family members returning home found the door wall open and the color television sitting in the garage. The set had been damaged when dropped, police said.

Missing from the garage was a mini-bike, while two hand guns, stereo, two speakers, headphones, 30 records and a large copper color rug were stolen from the interior of the home.

Investigating officers said they found no signs of forced entry to the home.

A Walled Lake man, Fred C. Stricker, reported his 1973 Cadillac Eldorado was stolen from near Northville Downs between 6 p.m. and midnight last Thursday.

The car, bearing 1973 Michigan license plates KFW-664, is red with a white top. Police said the car had been locked when it was parked.

For example: If a 16-year-old robs a store and kills someone in the process the newspaper very likely will use the arrested suspect's name—provided the newspaper has access to the name.

In Novi

William Calvin Brown, a 17-year old Detroit man arrested by Novi police two weeks ago, has been charged with the breaking and entering of a New Hudson business which occurred November 24.

The charges were levied after Novi detectives, working with Detective Sergeant Joseph McGee of the Brighton State Police Post, discovered that Brown's finger prints were identical to prints found at the scene of the New Hudson break-in.

Prosecution of the case will be turned over to McGee, Novi police indicated.

In Wixom

Thirty juveniles ranging in age from 13 to 16 years of age were taken into custody last week when Wixom police discovered a large party taking place at a residence at 1908 Hopkins Drive.

According to officers, alcohol was found in every room of the house, including the basement, and several of the youths were under the influence of alcohol.

While the juveniles were being detained at the Wixom City Hall pending notification and arrival of their parents, an unknown youth removed the City's American flag from its storage place, tore a hole in it, and took it outside to drape it over a police car, damaging the aerial on the car and shredding the flag.

A 23-channel citizen's band radio was removed from a car owned by Leslie Carl Crabtree of Walled Lake.

Crabtree told police the theft occurred while he was at work in the Wixom Assembly Plant from 5:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. Friday, December 8. The car had been parked in the Ford Motor Company employee's lot when the radio was taken, he reported.

In Township

It should have been reported that the four were arraigned on the charges. Miss Story, Miss Thomas, and Trumble were released on $1,000 personal bond following arraignment. A cash bond of $1,000 was set for Towns, who was remanded to the Oakland County jail in lieu of the bond.

Township police are investigating the theft of a camera and lens, valued at $200, taken from a home at 18234 Arselot.

The theft, which was reported to police Friday, took place last month.

had been removed from his car while it was parked in the storage lot at Herb's Standard Station.

LaLonde told officers his car had been in the lot since he was involved in an automobile accident November 22. When he returned to check the condition of his car December 2, he discovered the radio had been removed from the dash board.

Last week it was incorrectly reported that Wynfred Hillis Towns, Deloras, Elaeen Thomas, Arthur Lewis Trumble, and Linda Sylvia Story had pled guilty in 52nd District Court to charges of larceny from a building.

Charge Nets Life

Charles M. Fullwood, formerly of Northville township, was sentenced last week after he was found guilty of second degree murder in the slaying of Frederick Bodnar.

Fullwood, who currently is serving a life sentence in Jackson for the 1971 murder of a Taylor barmaid, was sentenced to 66 to 99 years in jail for the March, 1971, Bodnar murder.

The action came December 6 in Detroit Recorders Court.

Bodnar, who was found dead in his burning car in Detroit, lived in Plymouth and was a 1966 graduate of Northville High School.

State Plan Act

It requires within five years of enactment, establishment of local land use and development regulations "as may be best suited to carry out the provisions of this Act."

And finally, it sets standards for specific uses.

For example, it requires lots used for single mobile homes to have an area larger than 3,200 square feet, and that apartment or townhouse densities "(be) less than 12 housing units per acre.

Legal Notice

A Detroit man arrested by city police for driving with a suspended license has turned up to be wanted in Cleveland, Ohio, for grand larceny.

Jarmon Hargrove Jr., 24, was arrested in November by police. A routine check run on him earlier this week through the National Crime Information Center computer hook-up showed that he was wanted for failing to appear for trial on the grand jury indictment.

According to police; Cleveland law enforcement officials were preparing extradition papers Tuesday.

Police arrested Peter G. Butterworth shortly before 1 a.m. Monday on charges of being absent without leave from the Fort Knox, Kentucky, Army Base.

Butterworth, who was picked up at his home on Sherrie Lane, had been missing since October 13,

Federal Mogul Plant Sold To Adistra of Plymouth

Purchase of the Federal-Mogul Haller Division plant, 16580 Northville Road, by the Adistra Corporation of Plymouth was announced this week by Adistra's president, William P. Scott.

The Northville Township facility is to be used for business expansion and in finalizing the consolidation of the recently acquired Sampson-Hill organization presently located in Dearborn, Scott said. Plant modifications are to begin immediately and the facility here is expected to be in full operation by March.

Once the Northville plant is fully operational, officials predict it will employ some 75 full-time persons and up to 25 part-time personnel.

Federal-Mogul will continue to use the Northville Township plant offices until February.

Adistra's consolidation plans began last January when Sampson-Hill was acquired. The Northville Road facility, with its 77,000 square feet of space, will bring the combined total to 252,000 square feet in the Plymouth-Northville area.

Adistra's corporate headquarters in Plymouth is located in what years ago was the Daisy Air Rifle plant.

Founded in 1943, Adistra offers to a variety of clients specialized marketing services ranging from packaging-distribution to direct mail and from administration-coordination to offset duplicating through three sales divisions—DSI, Scott Phillips and Sampson-Hill.

The latter was acquired to add additional expertise and capacity in the areas of duplicating and direct mail, Scott explained.

"1972 marks a year of record growth the expansion for Adistra," Scott said. "With the new facility it is projected that in 1973 Adistra Marketing Services will produce nearly double the service volume in the two facilities as handled in the Plymouth plant alone in 1972."

Scott said Adistra is "pleased to be able to consolidate all corporate facilities in this local area. The Plymouth facility has been very successful in fulfilling the needs of marketing clients with a capacity to handle almost any size of packaging, distribution or program assignment."

The new facility will add to this capacity he said, pointing out that Adistra presently provides a work force of 160 full time employees and up to 300 part time employees.

Federal-Mogul discontinued its plant operation here a year ago, transferring its operation to other facilities. It continues to operate the adjacent Haller Research Center, however.

Federal-Mogul began its operation here in 1964 when the corporation acquired Haller, Inc. from its founder, John Haller, who moved his complete powdered metal parts operation into the plant in 1958.

Haller had purchased the plant from the Ford Motor Company.

When in operation the Federal-Mogul plant employed more than 150 hourly personnel and 36 salaried employees

Here's Winter Safety Tips

Winter is here and with it come the heavy snows and icy conditions which make driving hazardous.

Corporal Frank Barabas, head of Novi's Traffic Division, Monday passed along some suggestions for driving during or immediately after a storm based on National Safety Council research and endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

At the top of the list is visibility. Drivers should be careful to keep windows and lights - tail lights and directional signals, as well as head lights - clear of ice and snow. When visibility is reduced by a storm, slow down and allow more distance between you and the car ahead. If conditions become extremely bad, Barabas cautioned, pull off the road and wait for visibility to improve before going on.

Planning ahead is a second important consideration. Even when commuting to and from work, be sure you know which routes will be cleared first. If you are planning a major trip, delay your departure long enough to give road crews a chance to clear up the worst of the mess. Check weather forecasts. The highway patrol, weather bureau, or auto club will give you the latest information. While driving listen to the radio for further bulletins.

There are tricks to getting your car out of heavy snow and Barabas recommends that motorists practice these tricks before they get stuck in a remote area where there is no immediate help. The correct technique for getting out of heavy snow is to turn the wheels from side to side to clear snow and slush away from the tires. Vehicles with stick shifts should use second gear for starting, while drivers with automatic transmissions should start in drive. A slow steady start does it.

Stay on the road. Know how slick the surface really is. Away from traffic, try your brakes or make a sudden power application to find out just how slippery the pavement really is.

"Getting the feel" of the road is a practice regularly followed by good drivers when there is a question about traction. Plan driving maneuvers well in advance to avoid skidding and loss of control.

Traction aids should be utilized. Check your emergency equipment to be sure you are ready for the weather. Your trunk should contain a shovel, sand or rock salt, tire chains, booster cables, tow chains or straps, and flares or other emergency lighting equipment.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

It's hard to imagine a newsstand without Life.

The familiar photo-cover interrupted only by the red block surrounding the white-lettered LIFE has been a part of the American scene for 36 years.

Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright dropped off a first edition at our office this week.

The birth of Life was dated November 23, 1936.

Its editors decided to kill Life December 29, 1972, when a final, double-issue will be published.

I've always admired Life for its quality of production. Life was first class. And maybe this refusal to be anything less is partly responsible for its demise.

Top photographs, top writers, fine reproduction techniques and quality paper stock cost money. Add the fact that a magazine cannot get into the home by the flick of an electronic switch, and you come up with the answer for the death of Life.

It's ironic that while the sentimental staffers of Life were mourning its death, the stock market reflected its opinion of the decision by recording more than a $5 increase in Time Inc. stock, owner of Life.

The first edition of Life contained 96 pages. Its newsstand price was 10 cents. The most recent edition of the magazine contains 92 pages and sells for 50 cents.

For those born in the Twenties or before, it might be interesting to thumb through the first Life edition.

The cover has a photograph of a dam at Fort Peck, Montana taken by Margaret Bourke-White.

On page two opposite an introductory article by the editors is a full-page photograph of a doctor delivering a new baby entitled: Life Begins.

There's a nine-page photo-feature on life in the shanty towns around the work-relief project at Fort Peck, Montana. The area's called Franklin Roosevelt's Wild West. Two of the shanty towns are named Delano Heights and Square Deal.

Life shows life as it is—rugged and wicked.

There's a two-page spread entitled "Overweather" in which it is stated that at heights of 35,000 feet "it never rains, never snows, never storms." It points out that commercial aviation hopes to get its airplanes up "near these placid altitudes, whip them across the continent in 8 or 10 hours."

And to do this it must first learn how to seal the plane and condition its air supply against thin atmosphere and sub-freezing temperature; and to equalize stresses and strains inside the plane.

Life also devotes a few pages to Helen Hayes' childhood; to the tenth birthday of NBC radio and some of its stars—Walter Winchell, Gypsy Rose Lee, Jack Benny, Rubenoff, Rudy Vallee; to a new star named Spangler Arlington Brugh, who became Robert Taylor; to scenes from Camille with Taylor and the beautiful Greta Garbo; to pictures of Sylvia Sidney, Myrna Loy, William Powell, Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

The back-cover advertisement features "Luckies" in the familiar green package—"a light smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco—It's Toasted".

Other advertisements include a page on Williams' shaving cream that features "wiry-bearded athletes" Bill Tilden, Ed "Strangler" Lewis, Paul Runyan and Benny Friedman.

A full-page color ad by Nash features the LaFayette "400" for $595 and the Ambassador at $755.

A double-page spread by Hudson lists prices beginning at $595 for the Terraplane up to $770 for the Hudson Eight.

A full-color cigarette advertisement urges the reader to smoke Camels "For Digestion's Sake."

It was all in that first edition of Life in the U.S. and the world in 1936. Ten cents on the newsstand.

The final edition ought to be a bargain at five times the price.

There's a story elsewhere in this edition announcing a change in policy regarding police reporting.

No longer will The Record report everything that goes to District Court.

Instead, only police matters of felony level will be reported, except in special instances where lesser crimes, accidents or police action cause particularly newsworthy events.

That means that the minor violations such as fighting, speeding, drunk driving, etc., which normally call for an appearance in court will be ignored by the police reporter.

Assault, breaking and entering, rape, murder—felony level violations which happen less frequently and are usually more serious will be reported as usual.

For many years this newspaper has made a conscientious effort to report all court proceedings. There were no exceptions, no preferential treatment.

It was perhaps the most controversial, most frequently criticized, department of our newspaper. The number of people who have called this newspaper to have their name excluded from the court news, who have threatened and pleaded, is inestimable.

Many have laughed, more have been angered at our "small town" journalism.

They'll be happy to learn of our new "big town" professionalism.

Frankly, I'm saddened by the decision.

But I know it is necessary and that we must bend with the times.

Our area is no longer "small" in numbers of people and occurrences of violations. Frankly, we have been unable to keep up with the high instance of police activity in Novi for several years. In other areas served by our newspapers we have also found it most difficult to keep up with all court proceedings.

But in Northville we have found both the police and the District Court most cooperative. They have made our job of sorting through reports easier.

Like this newspaper, these officials believe that reporting violations in the local press serves as a deterrent to crime. Most drunk drivers, for example, would far rather pay a stiff fine than see their name in the newspaper.

But if our newspaper continued to report all violations that require court appearance, soon we'd have space for little else. So a straight line must be drawn if exceptions are to be made. And that line lies between "misdemeanor" and "felony".

Meanwhile, you may be sure that if a drunk or sober driver brings his car to a halt in the display window of a local store, we'll still consider that "news" even if the court calls it a misdemeanor.

So drive carefully.

Bail Out Detroit Schools?

MARY RIORDAN

NO . . .

The Detroit school system will become fiscally solvent only when Detroiters recognize their obligation to support their schools. Until they accept this obligation, I will oppose any further effort to underwrite their educational system at state expense.

Detroit currently levies 15 mills for school operation while the state average levy is 26 mills. Five times since 1968 the Detroit Board of Education has asked voters to approve a higher millage to finance their schools. Each time the millage issue has failed.

Detroit's neighbors in the suburbs have superior school systems because suburban parents have been willing to pay for quality education. Dearborn taxpayers now pay 25 mills in school tax, while Grosse Pointe and Warren taxpayers pay 33 mills. Madison Heights and East Detroit tax payers pay 37 mills; and the rate is 38 mills in Bloomfield Hills and 43 mills in Wayne City.

Detroit's 15-mill operating tax combined with a three-mill construction bond tax brings the system's total levy to 18 mills. This is among the lowest in the state and second lowest among the 86 schools systems in the tri-county metropolitan area.

Because of this unwillingness to finance Detroit schools locally, state support for the Detroit system has risen from $79.2 million in 1968-69 to $120 million this year. This must come to an end.

If Detroit receives further state subsidies to bail them out now, there is no need for the voters in this state ever to approve another school tax millage vote again.

Detroiters are going to have to realize that their school situation is serious and recognize their responsibility to support their system. Failing that, we may have to mandate this responsibility by law, empowering the Detroit School Board to levy taxes without a popular vote.

Thomas G. Sharpe
State Representative

YES . . .

Detroit taxpayers for years have been carrying an unfair share of the burden of support for the entire state. For decades on end, they poured tax monies into the state coffers and accepted a trickle in return without so much as a complaint.

As an example, the Detroit Board of Education paid out of locally raised school monies almost $22-million for social security for its employees.

At the same time that the state paid the cost for every other school employee. There are other similar examples.

Detroit is now faced with a shrunken tax base what with the extensive properties taken off the rolls by expressways and urban renewal. We support public libraries and museums used extensively by suburbanites. And the list could go on. We can no longer carry the full load.

We are asking for help.

But now, at a time when Detroit is tremendously overburdened by city property taxes in combination with a two-percent income tax and a five-percent utilities tax to an equivalent total of more than 70 mills, others in the state are insisting they will not return any help to the city which has helped them for so many years.

But what happens to the one-seventh of Michigan's children in Detroit schools is the concern of the entire state. It's time to look carefully for a resolution, not to jump to a hasty conclusion.

Rips Taft 'Paving'

To the Editor.

Whatever has happened to "...government of the people, by the people, for the people..."

Some months ago, 90 percent of the owners of property along Taft Road signed petitions objecting to the proposed paving thereof and to the method of assessment.

The Novi City Council at that time was unable to gather enough votes to override those petitions and the project was abandoned. Now it appears, for reasons unexplained, that two of those councilmen have changed their minds and are in favor of the project, despite the wishes of the people.

It is reported (Novi News) that the January 3 road hearing is to be held at the high school, as have other

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"You're kidding," the four young men chorused when I suggested they represent the most appreciated service provided by the City of Northville.

I meant it.

Northville's municipal garbage-trash collection is second to none, and there is no other service in this community—and that includes police, fire, library, recreation, you name it—that we citizens utilize more regularly.

"What is it about you guys that so fascinates my son?" I asked. "He has but one ambition in life and that is to become a garbage man," I told the four as they finished their rounds Friday.

"You see, he sees you out there with the truck, whistling, laughing, and tossing snowballs back at the kids and he's convinced it's a great job.

"Is it really that much fun?"

One by one, Russ Turner, John Pinion, James Daniel and Al Zielinski, admitted it is a "degrading" job—not because of the nature of the work but because of the public's general attitude that "anyone who works on a garbage truck must be a dummy who can't do anything else."

It's one cruel remark after another as they make their rounds, they admitted when pressed.

"Garbage men don't make much money but they get a free lunch," is typical.

Keeping one's self-respect in the face of this attitude, they agreed, is difficult. It's embarrassing; it hurts even to admit to friends that they are garbage men.

The whistling and laughing...it's their way of minimizing the degradation and keeping happy. They like hard work.

Although they would like to believe the public appreciates them, they are skeptical. "If they like us so much why is it that all we get are complaints? About the only person who has told us we're doing a good job is Mr. (City Manager Frank) Ollendorff," one of them said.

Nevertheless, they agreed that "most people are nice or considerate."

"The young kids are great; they always want to say hello or help out. Most of the snowballs are in fun. But then you have the ones who throw apples and what have you and it isn't fun any more."

What's the major complaint?

Most concern damaged garbage cans, especially the plastic ones.

"They ought to ban plastic cans. They get cold and brittle. If you try to bang out garbage frozen inside they crack; if you don't get everything out the people complain, explained one.

"I think they should ban all cans," said another. "Put everything in bags," all agreed.

"Don't you think it's odd the council is considering (an inter-community pickup program) that will require everyone to use plastic bags but they won't give us the same consideration?"

They admitted, however, that bags are easy prey for dogs...and "raccoons up in your part of the city. But if they're having that problem why couldn't they keep their bags in a can? With bags we could do a better, faster job."

Is it heavy work? I asked.

"Are you kidding? You wouldn't believe what some of them put out for us to lift. I had a can filled with rocks a while ago and it took three of us to lift it. But the lady insisted she had carried it to the curb herself" one said.

Another laughed, "I saw a guy move his trash barrels to the curb on a tractor because it was so heavy. Thinks we're supermen, I guess."

"They like to hide the heavy stuff on the bottom," explained another. "Put paper or something on top, so when you waltz up and start to lift what you think is something light...crack, there goes your back."

"It would take a Bay City crane to lift some of the stuff."

That's during the weekly pickups. During the once-a-month "anything goes" pickup days "the stuff we get is unbelievable."

Broken up automobiles, hot water tanks, stoves, davenport, trees, etc.

Spring, fall and holidays...those are the "heavy days" the days the garbage man feels like carting himself off to the dump.

"You begin to wonder if there is anything left in town...whether you haven't hauled off everything but the city's name."

As we ended our conversation one of the men asked, "Say, did you really mean it... about people liking the job we do?"

You bet! Maybe a reader or two will let them know it.

Township To Share Rent Cost

Both the city and township agreed they will advertise for bids on rental of suitable property for the ambulance service.

Trustees voted to join with the city in sharing the costs, not to exceed $1,800 annually, providing a satisfactory agreement is reached on the lease.

In other action Tuesday, trustees voted to have the Wayne County Health Department make a survey of the proposed sewer district in Grand View Acres.

It is anticipated the survey will be completed and submitted in writing to the board before the January meeting.

Six residents from the subdivision, all of whom said they are opposed to the construction of sewers, urged that a determination be made as to whether or not a health hazard does exist.

Mrs. Phyllis Mills of 19477 Fry Road also suggested that it might be better instead to install storm drains to take care of surface waters.

However, it was pointed out by board members and township engineer William Mosher that storm drains would also have to be paid for by the property owners and that they alone would not solve the problem.

Mosher also told board members that the township's water and sewer commission will be recommending that the township assess only $285,000 of the planned $314,000 cost, with the rest of the cost being paid out of water and sewer funds.

No determination has yet been made as to how the cost will be assessed, whether it will be per benefited lot or per front foot.

In other business Tuesday, the board

- set hearings on plans and estimates for water and sewer districts on January 9 at 7:30 p.m. on petition requests submitted by C. Thomas Sechler for the old Northville Coach Lines property on Seven Mile Road;

- accepted a deed for 212 feet of eight-inch sanitary sewer on Northville Road near Six Mile Road from Federal Mogul;

- accepted an easement and dedication from Levitt and Sons and agreed to release $20,800 from the water and sewer funds, as stipulated in a payback agreement with the developer, and to release $36 as each dwelling unit is hooked in to the sewer until the $66,000 originally put up by Levitt is paid back;

- authorized Supervisor Larry Wright to meet with the city and have them appoint a representative to speak with the township fire study committee; and

- tabled a request from Police Chief Ronald Nisun to hire an additional two men on the police force, to purchase fire rescue equipment for the police cars and train the officers in rescue work.

Equal Sports Coverage for Girls

To the Editor:

Included is a copy of last week's Sports section - Great coverage of Boys Sports.

I am really discouraged with the Record in their refusal to cover girls' sports here at the high school other than writing up results that we have delivered to your office.

Time and time again we see the reporter up in the school building talking to coaches, taking pictures, etc. Only last week, the photographer took the wrestling picture that appeared in this week's paper in the middle of our Varsity girls Volley Ball practice. The reporter walked thru another practice.

I did confront Phil once about lack of girls' coverage and he said he couldn't cover them because of his hours and we should get results to him. Frankly, I don't think this is right. But even so, what would stop them when they are up in the school interviewing Walt Koepe about Varsity Boys Basketball to stop in my office and get the scoop about girls sports or even make an appointment with the coach for story and picture.

Believe me, girls' sports is on the upswing all over the State. There are now 6 State Tournaments for girls. With Basketball State tournament next year and it would be a shame that the community of Northville not have this kind of coverage in their paper when their own daughters are part of it.

Our girls' swim team was undefeated in Duel meets and second in the League meet. We never had a reporter or photographer at one meet although a copy of the schedule was delivered to Phil. No interview of the coach, not one picture of the team - Is this good community coverage?

I've always respected the Record and it's my only newspaper subscription but I'm really disheartened over this situation and sincerely feel you should take some action to correct it.

Thanks Patricia Bubel (Pat)

He Lauds Commissioner

To the Editor:

It was refreshing to learn that our county commissioner, James McCann, recently voted against the "money grab" on the part of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

To say that they did not vote themselves a raise when they increased their per meeting fee to $30 is nothing but a subterfuge. This hike could increase a commissioner's pay by $2880.00 a year.

It is no wonder people have lost faith in politicians. Sincerely yours, Edward Jacques public meetings. Is this not evidence, in itself, that Taft Road serves the community at large, rather than the few that live along or own property adjacent thereto.

Traffic going to and from the two schools and the new administration building represents the majority of the usage of Taft Road. Why, then, should the "few" pay so heavily ($14 per front foot proposed, or approximately 55 percent or better) for a road that serves all the citizens of Novi, and most especially those with children attending those schools?

Subdivision roads mainly serve the residents of a particular subdivision and most have restricted usage.

Taft Road is, in a sense, a "Public highway"--so let those who use the road most and want it paved pay for it.

Very truly yours, Mary S. Wikman (Mrs. Jack L.)

South Lyon Rally Nips Novi 52-48

South Lyon broke a tie with less than two minutes to play Friday to claim a 52-48 triumph over aich-rival Novi and extend its victory streak to three games.

The loss was Novi's second straight, following a season opening non-league victory.

In back-to-back games, the Wildcats will take to the road tomorrow and Saturday, clashing with Dexter and then the Chelsea quintet that last week nearly posted an upset over defending champion Salme.

"We had just too many turnovers...something like 29 compared to 17 or 18 for South Lyon...and they hurt us," commented Novi Coach Milan Obrenovich. "There were other problems but I think the turnovers hurt us most."

The coach noted that in the first half, his cagers rebounded well before slipping in the second half, but defensively "they did a pretty good job of holding down (Ed Segars) who has been averaging a lot more points than the 10 he got against us."

If only we could stop making mistakes"

Down by five points going into the final quarter Friday, the Wildcats chopped away at the Lions' edge, twice tying the score before eventually losing by four.

It was Tony Kern, who flipped in the tie-breaker with 1.50 to go. Even though he failed to score a single point in the first half, Kern led his squad in scoring with seven field goals in just 10 shots in the last two quarters.

Novi led at the end of the first quarter, 10-9, trailed at the intermission, 23-25, and was down 39-35 going into the final stanza.

The Wildcats hit but 11 of its 31 field goal attempts in the first half (35-percent) and 12 of 36 (33-percent) in the second half. South Lyon took fewer shots but proved more accurate, hitting 12 of 27 in the first half, 11 of 31 in the second.

At the free throw line, South Lyon's edge was even more decisive. The Lions converted 6 of its 14 shots, while Novi netted just two of its 11 shots.

John Panatone continued to pace the Wildcats, flipping in 14 points—all field goals. Steve Lukkari was second high with 10 points.

Besides Kern, three other South Lyon players hit double figures.

Novi, which last year lost three games to the Lions (including a district tournament contest), doesn't meet the South Lyon squad again until January 26.

HEY! YOUR SHOES ARE UNTIED—Novi's Don Jackson appears to be preparing a new variation of the old trick as he grapples with Brighton's Bob Wagner. The 145 pound Novi grappler went on to pin Wagner in the second period, but it wasn't enough as the Wildcats lost the match to Brighton 33-30 Monday.

Novi Matmen Win Tourney

Mark down Saturday, December 9, as a red-letter day in the history of athletics at Novi High School.

That's the day the Wildcat grapplers recorded the first tournament victory ever in the four-year history of wrestling at Novi by beating out seven other teams to win the Airport Invitational Tournament.

Martha Martin declared a major portion of the credit for the victory.

"And while no one could argue with her basic concentration that if it hadn't been for her bus driving the Wildcats would never have gotten there in the first place, first-year coach Russ Gardner was more inclined to give credit for the victory to Tom Ford, Don Jackson, and Randy McGarry.

And Bill Livingston, Jim Cook, and Dave Ward, and Bob Sasena, Tom Wilkins, and Gary Staubs; and Ed Weaver—all of whom won points in the tournament, as Novi scored in 10 of the 12 weight classes.

"It was really great," reported Gardner. "They really went nuts when we won it and I don't blame them. No Novi team has ever done what they did before."

"I think the difference was that they were really hitting their moves," he continued. "They were really throwing in those pinning combinations that we've been drilling on and it paid off."

Topping the Novi contingent were Tom Ford, Don Jackson, and Randy McGarry—all of whom took first place in their respective weight classes.

For Ford, who won the 126-pound crown, the victory was especially sweet as it marked the third consecutive year he has won the Airport Tourney.

Ford took the title by decisioning Ron Ringo of Ida 2-0 in the finals. The senior Wildcat star also recorded the second fastest pin of the tournament when he put Jim Musco of Jefferson on his back in just 36 seconds.

Jackson swept through the 145-pound division with such ease that he spent less than six minutes on the mats in all three of his matches put together, as he pinned each of his opponents in the first period.

"He was really tough," admitted Gardner. "He went out against a pretty good wrestler in the finals and just ate him up. He pinned Milan's Terry Olson at 1:03 of the first period."

McGarry did almost as well, pinning each of his three opponents, although he didn't always get them in the first period. In the finals he pinned Milan's Jim Whitelaw at the 3:05 mark.

"He was hitting his moves instead of trying to outmuscle his opponents," commented Gardner.

Three other Novi wrestlers also made it into the finals, but, unlike Ford, Jackson, and McGarry, were defeated and had to settle for second place.

Billy Livingston was second at 105; Jim Cook was second at 132, and Dave Ward got pinned by Bob Iott of Ida in the third period to also finish second.

"Iott's tough," reported Gardner. "He could win the state Class C championship unless Ward improves enough to beat him when they meet again."

Finishing in third place for Novi were Bob Sasena at 112; Tom Wilkins at 155; and Gary Staubs at 185. Ed Weaver was fourth in the 98 pound class.

In all, Novi took three firsts, three seconds, three thirds, and a fourth for a total of 96

Bob Weinburger needs a refresher course in "Half-time Speeches 101."

"My pep talks seem to be doing us more harm than good," lamented the Novi junior varsity basketball coach after his team dropped two games last week.

"Maybe I won't even take them into the dressing room at the half anymore. I'll just leave them on the floor and let them shoot."

There is indeed good reason to believe there is something lacking from Weinburger's half-time orations. In both the Brighton game Tuesday and the South Lyon contest Friday, his junior Wildcats went into the dressing room at the half with the lead only to lose it with poor third-quarter showings.

Against Brighton, Novi had a 21-19 half-time lead, but were outscored 17-8 in the third quarter as the Bulldogs pulled away to a 49-40 triumph.

Pat McAllen and Mike Collins paced the Novi scorers in that game with 16 and 10 points respectively.

It was much the same story against South Lyon. The Wildcats squandered a 27-22 lead at the half as the Lions tied the score 34-34 at the three quarter mark, and then outscored Novi 22-14 in the final stanza to register a 56-48 victory.

Again McAllen led the Novi scorers with 12 points. Bill Barr and Steve Lynn had eight points apiece

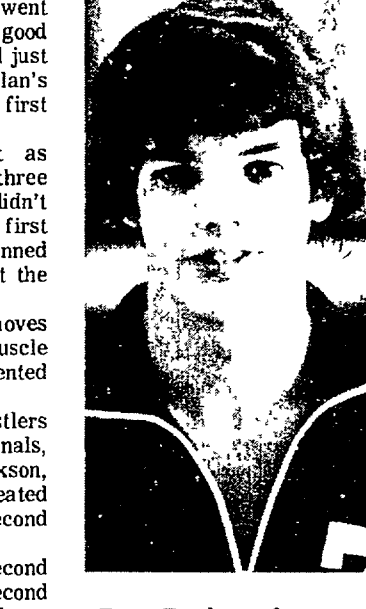

Name Hicks All-American

Fred Hicks, who starred at Northville High School from 1967-69, received honorable mention on the Associated Press' 1972 All-American football team.

Hicks, a center at Western Michigan University, was named to the Mid-American Athletic Conference team in both his junior and senior seasons. He is 6'3", 215-pounder.

The Associated Press team is named by a vote of the nation's coaches from major colleges and universities.

Wildcat

Tom Ford, a four-year standout on the Novi wrestling team, has been selected Wildcat of the Week for his performance at the Airport Invitational Tournament Saturday. The 126-pound senior was one of three Novi grapplers to win his respective weight class, but Ford's triumph was particularly outstanding as it marked the third consecutive year he has won at Airport. He also had the second fastest pin of the tourney when he floored Jim Musco of Jefferson in just 36 seconds.

Waterford Mott Blitzes Mustangs

There's hope yet for the Northville basketball team as long as there's anything to the old saw that you can learn how to do things right by watching somebody demonstrate how to do things right.

Waterford Mott's lightning-quick Corsairs gave the Mustang cagers an elementary lesson in fast, aggressive, ball-hawking basketball Friday as they romped to an easy 83-71 victory.

Only a fourth quarter surge of 27 points against the Waterford third-stringers made the final score as close as it was.

And somehow there was the feeling as the Mott players raced up and down the floor intercepting passes and then darting in for easy lay-ups that this was somewhat akin to the type of play envisioned for the Mustangs by Coach Walt Koepke.

"The thing that is discouraging," said the Northville mentor in the quiet of the past-game locker room, "is to have to be constantly pointing out how much harder our opponents are playing than we are."

Or, as succinctly stated by a Waterford follower after watching the Mustangs for approximately two minutes, "Boy, they look slow."

Northville was simply no match for the high-powered Corsairs, who out-ran, out-hustled, out-defensed, and out-rebounded them.

And, as fate would have it, the Mott gang experienced a particularly hot night from the floor.

In the first quarter the Corsairs poured 45.4 percent of their shots through the hoop, but that turned out to be a simple warm-up for the second quarter when they hit an amazing 64.7 percent of their shots.

Mott's hot-shooting continued through the third quarter when they converted 58 percent of their shots and didn't cool down until the final stanza when the third-stringers turned in a 33 percent shooting mark.

The Mustangs were able to stay close only for the first half of the first quarter. But with two minutes left in the period, the Corsairs' mid-court trapping defense produced two quick turnovers which were promptly converted into buckets and the romp was on.

The Mustangs scored a respectable total of 16 points in each of the first two quarters, but Mott poured through 26 points in the first stanza and followed that up with 23 more points in the second frame to lead 49-32 at the half.

A 22-point third-quarter production advanced the score to 71-44 and Ray Robinson, the Mott Coach, played his substitutes the rest of the way.

Again the Mustangs were plagued by turnovers—32 of them to be exact—a season's high. The turnovers were due in part to Northville's inability to elude Mott's half-court press.

As they have in each game so far this season, the Mustangs enjoyed a decided height advantage over their opponents, but that advantage was more than negated by the Waterford speed and was never a factor.

Again it was Todd Eis who paced the Northville scorers, this time with 16 points. Mike Brown with 11 and Joe Bishop with 10 also scored in double figures for the Mustangs.

Mike Grace and Mark Lawrence topped Mott with 18 and 17 points respectively. Eleven of 14 Mott players scored in the game, while 11 of 12 Mustangs netted at least a free throw during the contest.

"We've just got to practice harder and start playing harder if we're going to win very often," noted Koepke.

OUTMANNED—Waterford Mott's Larry Grace (23) futilely attempts to block this shot by Northville's Tom Eis (44). One of the reasons the Corsairs were able to handle the Mustangs as easily as they did Friday is aply illustrated in this picture. Four Corsairs (one is hidden behind Grace) are ready to snare a possible rebound. Mott raced to a big first half lead and then coasted to an 83-71 victory over the Mustangs.

Showdown!

Mustang Tankers Prepare for Milan

Tuesday's the night. That's when Northville's crack swimming team runs headlong into mighty Milan in what promises to be the toughest, most heated competition of the year for either team.

And if you think feelings are not running high between the two top-rated Class B teams in the state, herewith be informed that both Ben Lauber and his Mustang swimmers and Charles Lott and his Big Red tankers have been looking forward to this meet from almost the minute the Mustangs eked out a 55-50 triumph in last year's encounter.

Consider the following: —Milan lost only one meet last year and that lone loss was inflicted by Northville. —Northville finished second in the state Class B championships, beaten out by, you guessed it, Milan's Big Red. And there's more. Lott was named the state's Coach of the Year in spite of the fact that Lauber's team beat his in head-to-head competition, Jeff Kappler finished second in the state in the backstroke to Milan's Randy Dakin, etcetera, etcetera, etcetera, ad infinitum.

"Right now I'd have to say that Milan has the edge on us this year," commented Lauber Friday. "They've got a great deal coming back from last year's team and we lost 12 key swimmers from our team last year. We feel very complimented that they put so much emphasis on beating us. Likewise, it's a compliment to them that we want to beat them as much as we do."

The Mustangs warmed up for their big meet by knocking off Riverside 67-28 Thursday, winning ten of eleven events.

Don Cook, Kevin Kelly, and Bill Witek paced the victory by winning two events apiece. Cook swam to first place in both the 200 and 400 yard freestyles; Kelly won the 200 yard individual medley and the 100 yard freestyle; and Witek won the 50 yard freestyle and 100 yard butterfly.

Other first place finishes were turned in by Jeff Kappler in the 100 yard backstroke, Tom Cook in the diving, and Art Greenlee in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Particularly outstanding was the performance of Don Cook who smashed his own school records in both the 200 and 400 yard freestyle events. In the 200 he shaved six-tenths for a second off his former record of 1:58.4 and in the 400 he shaved 1.8 seconds off his old standard of 4:17.5.

Pool records were established by Tom Cook, who bettered his former total of 195.58 points by recording 208.30 points, and Greenlee, who lowered his record of 1:07.5 in the 100 yard breaststroke by three-tenths of a second.

The Mustangs also won the 200 yard medley relay against Riverside as Kappler, Greenlee, Mark Haynie, and Dennis McLaughlin turned in a 1:50.6 clocking.

Saturday the Mustangs competed in the Suburban Relays at Redford Union, finishing in a fourth place tie with Plymouth with 37 points.

"It was really exciting," reported Lauber. "We knew we had to win the medley relay to finish second in the meet, but our medley relay team came in with the exact same clocking that Plymouth had and the judges ruled that Plymouth had just barely touched us out for first place. If the decision had gone to us, we'd have taken four more points in the event and that would have given us a total of 41 for the meet, one more than North Farmington which was second with 40 points."

Class A state champion Dearborn won the meet going away with a total of 125 points.

"It would have been nice to finish second," said Lauber, "but we don't feel bad about finishing fourth in a meet that has 13 teams, especially when you consider that there were some very good teams competing."

Northville was the lone Class B school invited to the meet.

Lauber also put in a plea for spectator support against Milan. "It really helps to have those people there rooting for you," he said.

Mustanger

Don Cook, a junior freestyler on the Northville swim team, saw his school records in the 200 and 400 yard freestyle events bettered last week, but he didn't mind a bit as it was he who did the bettering. For his two new school records Cook receives Mustang of the Week honors. "It's quite an accomplishment," commented Coach Ben Lauber, "when a swimmer can start out a season with faster times than he was swimming the previous season when he was at his peak."

But Fail in Dexter Tourney

Grapplers Flatten Milford

It was a week filled with peaks and valleys for the Northville wrestling team.

After a 36-21 triumph over Milford Thursday, Coach Ed McLoud was all smiles.

"Outstanding," he said. "I was really pleased. I thought everyone on our team did an outstanding job. In fact, I think I was more pleased with our victory against Milford than I was with any of our matches all last year as far as total team effort is concerned."

And then came the Dexter Invitational Saturday. The Mustangs managed the meager total of 28 points to finish one point ahead of last-place Willow Run and 72 points behind first-place Pinkney.

"I was really disappointed when we left," said McLoud. "It's not fun to finish seventh in an eight team tournament."

Later, McLoud had a change of heart about his team's showing in the Dexter Tourney, however.

"On the way home I started thinking about it," he said. "Of the 11 kids we took down there, eight of them were wrestling in their first tournament and there's a big difference between a dual meet and a tournament."

"In a tournament you have to wrestle three or four times in one day. There's a lot of added pressure."

"I'm not really down on the kids because I'm convinced that they're going to do better as they get more experience."

It was Northville's strength in the lower weight classes which proved to be decisive in the match against Milford. Jack Barger at 98 and Malcolm Dedes at 105 gave the Mustangs a quick 12-0 lead as they each pinned their opponents. In all, Northville won four of the first five matches - three of them by pins - to open up a 21-3 lead over the Redskins.

Mark Okopyn got the third Mustang pin by flooring Dale Boyd in the 126 pound match, while Dave Houck decisioned Milford's Jim Beaumerchais 4-0 in the 119 pound division.

Northville also got a couple of pins in the middle weights as Joe Assemany at 155 and as each finished in second place. Dan Fialon at 112 and Steve Barger at 138 took fourth place finishes, as only four Mustangs managed to make it into the finals.

Norton, who was seeded third, pinned Brighton's Joe Frisbie in 1:07 of his first match and then gained the

Stall Tactics Doom SC

Schoolcraft College resorted to "stall-ball" when they hosted powerful Monroe Community College Friday, but the delaying tactics didn't do them much good as Monroe took a 38-28 decision anyway.

"Monroe has a superior team," reported Tom Roncoli, the Wildcat coach. "They were 21-3 last year and have got three starters back. We felt the only way we could beat them was to hold the ball."

Monroe led 18-14 at the half. "We pulled to within two points of them early in the second half," Roncoli reported, "but then they hit several long shots over our zone and we missed a couple of crucial lay-ups."

Neither team made a free-throw in the contest.

Jim Price was high for Schoolcraft with 12 points, while Jim McElroy topped Monroe with 10 points.

Jayvees Drop 2 Games

After winning their first two games of the season, Northville's junior varsity basketball team saw their record fall back to the 500 mark last week as they dropped decisions to first Fenton and then Waterford Mott.

Neither game was close as the Mustangs lost to Fenton by 22 points Tuesday, 67-45, and then fell to Mott by a 24 point margin Friday, 70-46. Against Fenton, the junior Mustangs fell quickly behind, as they scored just five points in the first quarter and trailed 14-5 at the end of the stanza. Fenton upped their lead to 29-15 at the half by outscoring Northville 15-10 in the second quarter and then coasted to the victory.

John Boland was high point man for the Mustangs with 17 points, while Scott Leu tallied 15 for Coach Omar Harrison's crew.

The game against Mott was similar to the Fenton game as the Mustangs were blitzed in the first half and then watched their opponents coast to the triumph.

At the end of the first quarter, Mott led the Mustangs 18-6 and then all but iced the victory by tossing in 24 points in the second quarter to lead 42-20 at the half. Final score was 70-46.

Again it was Boland and Leu who led the Northville scoring with 14 and 12 points respectively.

Bantams Skate to 2 Victories

Northville's Kiem Realty Bantam hockey team played three games last week, won two of them, and lost the third after fighting back from a 3-0 deficit only to see their opponents win 4-3 with a goal scored with just one second left in the game. The Kiem Realty Bantams beat Plymouth 4-0 and then handed Dearborn Heights a 2-0 setback as Carl Pawlowski scored twice and Steve Black picked up a pair of assists. The game with Inkster game was quite a different matter.

The Flyers picked up three first period goals and maintained the lead through a scoreless second period. The Kiem Bantams came to life in the third period, however, as Dan Oetzman and Rick Balagna netted unassisted goals.

And when Ty Cole converted a pass from Pawlowski with just 27 seconds left in the contest, it appeared as if the Kiem Bantams had salvaged a tie.

But the joy on the Northville bench was short-lived, as Inkster came back to score with just a second left on the clock to take a 4-3 victory.

Western Six Standings

Walled Lake Western	1	0
Waterford Mott	1	0
Livonia Churchill	0	1
Northville	0	1

Churchill seemed almost a shoo-in to take their second straight Western Six title until Western appeared on the scene practically out of nowhere. Trailing 33-28 at the half, the Warriors outscored the Chargers 14-11 in the third period. Rick Shekil led the victors with 14 points, while Phil Damaska's 19 points were tops for Churchill.

Surprise! Surprise! Surprise! Walled Lake Western, last year's Western Six cellar-dwelling team, continued its amazing turnaround (they're now 3-0 for the season) by defeating defending league champion Livonia Churchill 61-57.

In England the term "hunting" usually means fox hunting. Fox hunting is an art as well as a sport, the sport of pursuing a fox. The fox is not shot, but killed by the fox hounds. The horses are the hunters. These horses are usually very strong with a lot of endurance. They have to be able to take jumps: fences, walls, ditches, etc. The master of the fox hounds usually decides the strategy of the hunt. The sport is a traditional one, traceable beyond Shakespeare's time—no wonder it is so familiarly known in its native land! ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT — Irwin L. Sutter, left, new administrative assistant with Northville Public Schools, confers with Superintendent Raymond Spear. Sutter, who has been on the job for the past week, was officially hired Monday by the school board.

Irwin Sutter

Northville Adds Assistant

Irwin L. Sutter, 33, has been named to the position of administrative assistant with Northville Public Schools. Sutter, who fills a vacancy created earlier this year by the resignation of Robert

Benson, personnel director, was selected from a field of 28 applicants. His position will include dealing with personnel in the school system, negotiations, student personnel and test administration. Sutter received a bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan University in 1961 and a masters degree in 1968.

He spent four years teaching sixth grade and junior high in Montrose and Beaverton and served as a kindergarten through twelfth grade principal for three years in Bear Lake.

A research project assistant with a pilot school program for two and one-half years in Manistee, Sutter most recently was a senior high principal in Hart.

His salary for the position of administrative assistant will be $17,500 per year.

In selecting the job with Northville schools, Sutter said he was looking for a district that was operating programs to improve education of the students.

Sutter said he is "very much interested in the year round school program operating in Northville."

He added that he views his job as a challenge and commented he is "impressed with the people in the school system and community. They are very open and willing to talk."

An advocate of teacher accountability in instruction, he said he hopes to be able to bring in additional qualified teachers, in keeping with the standards of the school district, and improve the skills of the teachers currently employed in the system.

Spear said Sutter "adds a real fine feature to the personalities in the central office."

He will broaden the scope, depth and effectiveness of the superintendent's office in meeting the needs of the children and the community."

Busing Ordered

Angered by delays in completion of the bridge over Ingersoll creek near Village Oaks School, the Novi Board of Education Tuesday ordered transporting of Willowbrook Sub 3 pupils by bus.

Cost of the busing is to be charged against Kaufman & Broad's escrow for bridge construction.

The measure was deemed necessary to safeguard children during construction delays.

Citizen Joel Colliau urged board action, citing dangers to children walking in the vicinity of the construction. Board members agreed that the area is unsafe and ordered the administration to begin busing the following morning. Trustee Robert Wilkins was especially disturbed, calling K&B delays in completion of construction "despicable." It's a "nasty situation" requiring immediate attention, he declared.

"We want to keep the neighborhood school concept and will not bus students to other elementary schools just to make room for year round school. We also do not want to divide the year round school program by operating it in more than one school," he added.

To operate the experimental program in grade six, a minimum of 120 students would be needed and the program most likely would be run at the Cooke Junior High Annex.

If sixth and seventh graders were included, 120 students would be needed, distributed equally in both grades, with the program offered at the junior high.

If sixth, seventh and eighth graders were involved in year round school, 180 students would be needed, distributed evenly throughout the grades, with the sixth grade remaining at the annex and seventh and eighth graders at the junior high.

In a report Monday night to the board on the current year round school program, Curriculum Director Florence Panattoni commented it is "progressing very successfully."

"Teachers in the program feel it aids individualizing instruction. However, it is still too early to judge what specific effect it is having on education when compared with the traditional program," she added.

Amerman Principal William Craft stated that he "is very pleased with the program." He said that a number of administrators and teachers from districts throughout the state have visited the program, showing "there is more and more interest throughout the state in development of extended school year programs."

Spear commented that the main objective of next year's planned voluntary program will be experimenting with having more than one track in operation at the same time.

Planners Hold Action

with action on the rezoning request. He will no longer be required to have the wall, but once he has gone to the expense of constructing a wall, it would be to his benefit to maintain it."

The planning board accepted Fried's advice and the request was tabled for future consideration.

In the meantime, Roethel informed the council that new zoning standards are being studied which will eliminate future problems of this nature by requiring walls and screening facilities in the zoning ordinance.

They're Learning Young

But They're Here to Stay

'You Like 'em Or You Don't'

By ROLLY PETERSON

"It's a little hard to be neutral about snowmobiles," said Ed Furgeson of the Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Natural Resources. "It's kind of like pregnancies. You are or you're not. You like them or you don't."

It does depend on whom you talk to.

But underlying every comment, from persons pro and con, is the firm realization that snowmobiles are here to stay and that the new state regulations will help make this newest of recreational activities palatable.

It's also agreed that the eight-year-old industry has a way to go. There's room, critics and advocates alike say, for improvement in the machine itself, in operation of snowmobiles and in the laws pertaining to snowmobiles.

Mrs. Harry Weiser, wife of the president of the Snow Drifters, a Northville association of snowmobilers, sees snowmobiling as a family thing, a means for mom and dad and the kids to get away from the television set into the outdoors.

"It promotes family togetherness," she says, adding, "Snowmobiling makes the winter fly by. You don't get that letdown feeling that comes especially after Christmas, because you have something that's fun to look forward to."

The Weisers are like many snowmobiling families. They started out with one snowmobile five years ago. Now they have three. Some families even have four, one for each member of the family.

The Snow Drifters Club, like others proliferating about the state, was formed quite spontaneously some two years ago by Weiser and Calvin Cross, another Northville resident, primarily because they wanted fun that comes with comradery outdoors. Point of common interest, of course, was the snowmobile.

Like skiers, the snowmobilers, individually and as groups, head north for the weekend. "We have something planned for just about every weekend," Mrs. Weiser said. "We're even going for a weekend to a cabin to spend New Year's Eve."

Cabins, lodges, campers all afford accommodations for the snowmobiling family. Like skiers, the snowmobilers have to make reservation well in advance, because the crush for accommodations is getting more acute.

Mrs. Weiser welcomes the new snowmobile regulations, especially the provision calling for safety classes for young people between the ages of 12 and 15.

The 40 families in the Snow Drifters Club, Mrs. Weiser said, are concerned about the reputation of snowmobiles. They, in fact, try hard to observe all the laws, because, as she explained, they want to be able to come back to use the same spot again.

While admitting that snowmobiles are as noisy as motorcycles or a souped-up car, she maintains that much of the criticism of snowmobiles comes from people who haven't even tried it and indeed, don't even like winter.

Sheriff Charles Hards of Livingston County says he receives fewer complaints today about snowmobiles than he did, for instance, two years ago. He attributes this decline to the new Michigan laws and increased awareness of the laws by snowmobilers.

The number of complaints he receives, Hards said, are minor and they pertain to two chief infractions: trespassing on private property and aggravation caused by the noise of snowmobiles operating late at night.

Eight years ago when snowmobiles were still a curiosity, an estimated 14,000 were in use nationwide—about 10 percent of them in Michigan, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

In Michigan alone this winter, 40,000 new snowmobiles are expected to be sold as the state's number of registered snowmobiles soars well past the 300,000 mark.

By winter's end, snowmobiling will have pumped an anticipated $290 million into the state's economy. This estimate projects a $50 million increase over last winter's expenditures on snowmobiles, accessories and related items. That outlay generated almost $12 million in state tax revenues.

"To accommodate this ongoing boom, 200 more miles of state forest trails and 70 of Michigan's 79 state parks are now open to snowmobile use," notes Joseph Ratke, Auto Club's touring manager.

But Ratke advises snowmobilers to familiarize themselves with Michigan's tougher snowmobile restrictions before operating their vehicles this winter.

Aimed at curbing the ever-increasing snowmobile accident rate, the new law takes full effect this season. It allows snowmobiles to be driven only on road right-of-ways—not the roads themselves—north of a line from Muskegon to Bay City. Use of public roads or right-of-ways south of the line is absolutely forbidden.

An amendment to this state law which would have permitted snowmobilers to use highway right-of-ways throughout Michigan is not expected to receive legislative approval this year.

After January 1, 1973, the law will prohibit children aged 12 to 15 from driving snowmobiles without supervision unless they have successfully completed a safe snowmobiling course. Children under 12 cannot operate a snowmobile on public property.

The state legislature has also earmarked almost $600,000 in snowmobile registration revenues for use by state and local agencies for trail development and snowmobile safety programs.

"Snowmobile accidents claimed the lives of 30 people in Michigan during 1971-72 and injured another 1,969," says Ratke. "Hopefully, the state's more vigorous involvement in snowmobile accident prevention will change this alarming trend."

Imprudent snowmobile use has also resulted in the vehicles being barred from four public game areas in southern Michigan. Maintaining that snowmobiles were harming wildlife and damaging land, the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has prohibited their use in Danville, Gourd Lake, Minden City and Murphy Lake areas. The scramble area of the Rogue River (in Kent County) is also off-limits to snowmobiles.

and Murphy Lake areas. The scramble area of the Rogue River (in Kent County) is also off-limits to snowmobiles.

To offset these closings, the DNR is in the process of leasing 18,000 acres of private land in southern Michigan for snowmobile operation.

Snowmobilers will have access to four new routes in northern lower Michigan developed by the DNR, which now provides 900 miles of snowmobile trails in 39 state forests.

The new routes are: the Fur Farm Flooding Trail north of Clare, the Red Oak-Lovelle-Lewiston Trail between Mio and Grayling, the Rose City-Clear Lake Trail north of West Branch, and the Brush Lake Trail near Atlanta.

Under $273,000 improvement program, the DNR has purchased eight trail-grooming machines to keep state forest trails in good shape this winter.

Use of state park facilities, however, will be left up to the discretion of the park manager. Snowmobiles definitely will not be allowed in state parks if less than four inches of snow are on the ground.

Election Method for Justices Scored

LANSING—Every election year as voting day draws near, Michigan people are reminded that they have this country's silliest way of electing members of the state Supreme Court.

They also are reminded of the manner in which they choose members of the State Board of Education; that the governing boards of the three major state universities is designed to be much less representative than it seems.

But then the election comes, everyone votes, everyone is tired of elections and politics and no one thinks about the situation until the next election year. The sad part about this is that by the time the election is drawing near, it's too late to change the selection process for that year. And when something could be done to change to selection process when the legislature is in session, no one thinks about it.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICES, are nominated at partisan political conventions and then elected on a non-partisan basis.

That process was upset this year when voters named Appeals Court Judge Charles Levin to the court. Levin formed his own political party for the express purpose of nominating himself for the court after deciding he couldn't get the Democratic nomination.

He combined the statewide familiarity with the Levin name built up by former State Sen. Sander Levin and a strong media campaign to win one of the two seats. The other seat went to Probate Judge Mary Coleman of Battle Creek, who was nominated by the Republicans but whose strongest point was the fact she was the only woman in a field which included eight men.

Both new judges are highly competent. But that is more luck that through any strength in the system.

EVEN LESS well known are the people elected to the four education boards listed on the statewide ticket. Probably 99 per cent of the people who Nov. 7 could not name the eight candidates they voted for for the four board posts.

The winners were all Republican, not through any great merit of their own but simply because President Nixon and Sen. Robert Griffin both carried the state and carried the rest of the statewide ticket with them.

When he originally announced his education reform program, Gov. William G. Milliken proposed completely abolishing the State Board of Education and allowing the governor to appoint the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The board had been looking especially silly at the time and there was some support for the idea, but it still didn't get anywhere.

In recent years there has been some thought of having the governor appoint board members with the consent of the Senate, the way the boards of other state schools are filled now.

THE BASIC POINT is that some change should be made. And if it is going to be made somebody should start working on it in the near future.

Any change would require a constitutional amendment. A constitutional amendment would appear on the 1974 ballot and wouldn't be in effect until 1976, unless a special election were scheduled prior to 1974 for some ballot proposals—an outside possibility.

But if those in the legislature wait until shortly before the 1974 election to worry about the problem, it will be too late again. Michigan deserves to have a more modern, streamlined method of selecting the people who interpret its laws and govern the education of its children.

After all, we are in the 1970's.

A NEW LOOK at the way every resident of the state is billed for the gas, electricity, water and telephone-services used is planned by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The commission will hold 10 days of hearings beginning January 23 to determine if the 118 utilities doing business in Michigan are using the most modern means of collecting the money owed them. Included in the study will be a look at the number of days allowed before a late payment penalty is charged and the amount of the penalty.

The commission recently ordered Detroit Edison to cut its late payment charge from 4 to 3 percent.

IT IS ALREADY known there is a wide variance in the way various utilities bill their customers.

For example, telephone companies charge you for regular service a month in advance. The bill you receive is for the next month's use of the phone, plus any long distance calls made in the last month.

Electric and gas companies bill after their energy has been used. Most of them offer a discount for prompt payment, something the telephone companies don't generally do.

THE COMMISSION already sent each utility a four page questionnaire to start things rolling.

The questionnaire involves such matters as general billing practices, provisions for delayed payments, security deposits, collection procedures and information on the policy for shutting off service for nonpayments. Utilities are asked how many customers take advantage of early payment discounts, how much revenue is generated by late payment.

Hearings are a full month away, yet they already look like they might give an interesting "first time ever" picture of how Michigan utilities collect their money.

Real vs. Imitation

Trees No Threat

"Don't you believe it if anyone suggests that for ecology's sake you shouldn't use a real Christmas tree," said B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture today.

Fake plastic Christmas trees don't contribute one bit to enhancing our environment, Ball said. "But real live Michigan Christmas trees are grown as a perpetual, crop on thousands of acres of Michigan land, providing wildlife cover, erosion protection and pleasing green scenery throughout the state.

"Christmas tree growers plant millions more trees than they harvest," the ag head said. "Much of northern Michigan would not have been reforested but for the incentive of the Christmas tree harvest."

Tree nurseries in Michigan raise millions of pine, fir and spruce seedlings each year for Christmas tree plantations and other uses.

Planting, cultivating and harvesting Christmas trees is the backbone of a $25 million a year industry in Michigan, said Ball. "Michigan is the nation's biggest source of plantation grown Christmas trees. Trees grown here grace homes in California, Arizona, Florida and dozens of states in between

Babson Report

Tool Industry Turns Corner

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—After an extremely disappointing showing in the past few years, the machine tool industry is currently registering considerable improvement. The new-order rate turned the corner some months ago and now appears to be in a strong uptrend, with the improvement likely to continue throughout the coming year.

The machine tool industry was particularly hard hit by the 1969-70 economic recession. According to Dep't of Commerce figures, total new orders for machine tools fell 47 percent in 1970 from the year-earlier level.

Because of the time lag between new orders and shipment, however, the latter declined by only about 10 percent. This resulted in a fast erosion of backlogs, which at the end of 1970 were a whopping 41 percent below the corresponding year-earlier level.

In the following year the new-order rate receded still further, but this time by only 6 percent. The big decline in 1971 occurred in shipments which fell 31 percent and again the order backlog also declined.

The depressed industry conditions were reflected in the operating results of the machine tool builders. Furthermore, because costs could not be cut quickly enough to offset the decline in sales, profit margins deteriorated. Thus, by 1971 net income of the machine tool producers had been substantially reduced and in some cases had been replaced by a red-ink figure.

WHILE MACHINE tool orders began to bottom out in the second half of 1971, it wasn't until the first half of this year that the recovery picked up any steam. Latest available figures indicate that the industry may now be in a solid uptrend.

Aided by a strong rise in domestic demand, machine tool orders in October were 1.5 percent above the September rate and more than double the October 1971 figure. Perhaps even more significant is the fact that machine tool orders have exceeded $100 million for seven of the past eight months.

While industry shipments for the first 10 months of 1972 continue to trail the year-earlier rate due to the time lag between new orders and shipments, the full-year total should be on the upside. And since shipments have trailed new orders every month so far this year, back logs are swelling and at the end of October stood at $856.6 million vs. $573 million a year earlier.

With the economy expected to register further gains in 1973, the new-order rate should remain strong while shipments continue to move higher.

LOOKING FURTHER ahead, machine tool shipments could remain strong over the next few years. Demand is expected to benefit from the growing emphasis on profitability by many companies. In this respect domestic metalworking plants have not kept pace with the other major industrialized countries in the replacement of machine tools. It is estimated that some 60 percent of the machine tools in domestic metalworking plants may be considered obsolete.

Barring another economic downturn, it appears that the machine tool industry could operate in a favorable atmosphere through 1975. In fact, the U.S. Department of Commerce estimates that machine tool shipments will reach more than $2 billion 1975, for an average increase of 20 percent per year.

park or not, it also must have a $5 vehicle sticker. Michigan's four national forests—Ottawa, Hiawatha, Manistee and Huron—are open again this year to snowmobilers. The national forests offer a wide variety of marked trails, ranging up to 40 miles in length, plus a vast network of unmarked logging trails. Maps and trail information can be obtained in ranger district offices in the four forests. Snowmobiling courses for youngsters aged 12 to 15 will be offered by local law enforcement agencies throughout the state. Safety certificates will be awarded upon successful completion of eight hours of classroom instruction and a two-hour examination, including operating a snowmobile. Information on where classes will be held is available through district DNR offices and county sheriff's departments. Snowmobilers are advised to keep these simple safety rules in mind this winter: -Avoid illegal use of roadways where most snowmobile deaths occur. -Know trails and stay on marked routes. -Carry area maps plus a compass

"GAS UP FOR GOODFELLOWS" will be the theme of Jim Straega, operator of the J & D Marathon, at Novi Road and I-96, this weekend.

Straega will be joining 64 other Tri-County Marathon dealers to help the "Old Newsboys-Goodfellows" raise money to provide Christmas packages of clothing, food, and toys for underprivileged youngsters in Detroit and surrounding communities.

The 65 dealers will be launching a fund raising campaign of their own. Beginning this Friday and continuing through Sunday the dealers will be donating one penny for every gallon of gasoline they sell.

"We don't know how much money we can raise," stated Straega, "but we'll be out to break last year's record." In 1971 thirty Marathon dealers, in a similar program, raised approximately $1,500 for the Goodfellows. Marathon Oil Company has already announced that they will support their dealers' efforts by adding $500 to the money they raise.

Straega and the other Marathon dealers participating in the "penny-a-gallon" program will display signs beginning Friday stating, "Gas Up For Goodfellows."

"Most of the snowmobile operators do observe the law," he said. "They are good."

But there's always the guy, the sheriff says, who wants to get up in the middle of the night and whip around the block. "You'll always have this problem," he contends, "because some people just aren't considerate of others."

Hards said there is now a bill in the state legislature that would eliminate the three snowmobiling zones and leave the decision to county Road Commission as to whether certain roads in the county will open to snowmobiling.

Hards says the change would be very good. Kenneth Wilson, owner of Wilson Marine, a snowmobile dealership in Brighton, isn't sure leaving the decisions to the county would be so good.

"You can't have too much localized law," he maintains, "because then the snowmobilers would have difficulty in familiarizing themselves with the different regulations in different counties."

What Wilson favors is elimination of the zones and adoption of a uniform law applying statewide. The counties then, he explained, would have to post signs where snowmobiling was prohibited.

He, like Hards, believes, though, that new snowmobile laws, and primarily the mandatory instruction for drivers 12 through 15 will help avoid infractions and provide a safer sport.

The snowmobile manufacturers, he said, are also taking steps to decrease the noise generated by snowmobilers and to provide safer vehicles. Wilson pointed to the federal law which established an 82-decibel ceiling and also high and low-beam headlights and the safety switch, all standard items on 1973 snowmobilers.

Although Wilson says he doubts whether the decibel level will be further reduced, Rod McKusick, owner of Sport-Cycle, Inc. in Brighton, said next year he believes the decibel level will be reduced a little more.

McKusick points out that 1973 machines are more reliable, have better brakes and handle better.

But, he adds, "The industry must go a little farther."

There is one source of criticism, McKusick said, that is liable not to be eliminated. That's the reckless snowmobile driver.

He agrees with Sheriff Hards that to eliminate the reckless drivers, who are definitely in the minority, would amount to changing human nature—an impossibility.

In the main, McKusick says, the new Michigan law should be helpful in this respect, but he agrees with Wilson that the zone designations should be eliminated.

George Welbon, park manager at the Island Lake Recreation Area, says he has had no major problems with snowmobilers, that the majority of them are law abiding.

"Those that go astray," he said, "are those who don't know the rules or regulations."

To make snowmobilers more aware of the law, courses are now being offered throughout the state in snowmobile driving and safety. In Livingston County, 600 to about 800 persons are expected to sign up for snowmobile instruction, most of them youngsters between 12 and 15 who must take the course and obtain a certificate before they can drive on public lands.

Ed Ferguson of the DNR believes education in the proper use of snowmobilers will help dispel some of the criticism of snowmobilers. There hasn't been time, however, for the education program to have an impact, Ferguson maintains.

Even then, he said, there will still be those who are opposed to snowmobilers. Part of the current opposition, Ferguson maintains, comes whenever there is a change in technology. "When there's new technology," he said, "people are not always prepared to react knowledgeably about it."

And snowmobilers, he adds, have produced a dramatic change in outdoor recreation.

There are environmentalists, Ferguson said, who are dead set against the snowmobile. People in the DNR themselves are divided over the issue.

Ferguson, himself, has certain leanings. He admits he isn't enchanted with snowmobilers and would prefer other forms of outdoor activity.

"Anything that puts dad and mom and Mary together," he stated, "is socially good. But," he added with a laugh, "it would be hard to speak over the snowmobile noise."

What is of special concern to Ferguson is the impact of the machines on the environment.

"The jury's still out on the effect on wildlife and vegetation," he said.

Be aware of and abide by state snowmobile laws.

-Stay off ice on lakes and streams if conditions are unknown.

-Avoid Alcohol.

-Never travel alone.

-Carry safety gear such as snow shoes, flare gun, first-aid kit, axe, extra fuel, new spark plugs, tools for minor repairs and rations.

Snowmobilers are also advised to dress appropriately for wind and weather conditions. Even moderate temperatures, coupled with wind velocity or snowmobile speed, can produce a chill factor capable of causing severe discomfort—even frostbite—to riders.

1-3 Card Of Thanks

THANK you to the two unidentified boys who found my car keys and turned them into the Brighton police.
Marilyn Green

I WISH to thank my many friends in Northville for the cards and calls I received while in the hospital here in Noblesville, Indiana. It meant a great deal to me to be remembered by my "back home" friends. Thank you so much.
Mrs. Merritt Meaker

THE family of Mazie M. Markham wish to express their appreciation to her many friends for their acts of kindness and are grateful for the lovely tributes to her memory.

WORDS cannot express our gratitude to all the people who offered and gave assistance during our recent fire. Special thanks to the Fire Department, to the Holmans, to Edith Stocsup, to the Salem School Staff, the Salem P.T.O., all the Salem school boys, girls, and parents, and to the Sugden Construction Company.
Everett & Thelma Atkinson and Larry & Karen

WE wish to thank our children, relatives and friends for helping to make our 60th Anniversary Open House, such a happy occasion. Also for the many flowers, cards, and gifts. God bless each one.

“Why is a little red wagon like a want ad?”

HEY KIDS, GET OUT YOUR CRAYONS AND COLOR SANTA!

For one thing, both of them have been best sellers for years. Uncounted millions of youngsters have enjoyed endless hours of fun with their little red wagons, just as uncounted millions of grownups have used newspaper Want Ads to buy, sell, rent, hire and find.

Especially at Christmas time. This year Santa will once again deliver thousands of little red wagons, and this year millions of folks will use Want Ads during the Christmas season to sell useful but unneeded items for extra holiday cash.

It's easy to place your Journal Want Ad. Just dial our office and ask for Classified.

"I FOUND HIM!"

What a happy expression... and it's heard more frequently than you might imagine! The Lost and Found ads carried in the Classified pages of this newspaper do a tremendous job of returning lost pets to youthful owners.

You can find other things through the Classified ads... like homes and apartments, cars and motorcycles, furniture and appliances, jobs and employees... just about anything you're seeking. And equally important, you can find cash buyers for items you'd like to sell!

Whatever you're looking for, look first to the Classified ads. Read them regularly... and dial our office when you want to place an ad of your own!
