

Crafts Exhibit Tops Michigan Week Salute

A special feature of Michigan Week 1973 in Northville will be an exhibit of 19th century crafts being sent from the Michigan Historical Society in Lansing for Heritage Day next Tuesday at the request of Northville's Michigan Week chairman William F. McLaughlin.

The exhibit will be set up in the city council room and, weather permitting, in the park behind city hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Volunteers are being sought to demonstrate the early crafts, which include quilting, spinning and creating corn husk dolls.

Individuals with these skills are asked to contact Mrs. Cathy Keller, 349-1300, at Northville City Hall. In announcing the early-day craft exhibition-demonstration, McLaughlin urged all residents of the community to make plans to view it. Northville is the only area which will have this exhibit during the 20th annual Michigan Week observance, he said.

McLaughlin also invited all interested residents to participate in the welcome to visiting Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael of Romulus at 10 a.m. next Monday, Government Day, at the city hall. On the traditional mayors' exchange, Mayor and Mrs. A. M. Allen and Councilman and Mrs. Paul Vernon will visit Romulus.

The Northville High School band will play at the welcoming ceremony here with representatives of the boy scouts and girl scouts conducting the flag-raising at city hall. In addition to receiving a key to the city, Mayor Carmichael will be given a flowering crab tree.

Northville's official tree, to take home. Presidents of the Northville High School student council and of each high school class have been invited to be part of the official family Monday to welcome the visiting mayor. They have been invited to attend the luncheon at noon at the Northville First Presbyterian Church sponsored by the Northville Rotary at which Richard K. Helmbrecht, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, will be guest speaker. This will replace the regular Tuesday Rotary meeting.

Northville City Manager Frank Ollendorff and McLaughlin plan to take the visiting mayor on a tour of the senior citizens' building where a display of the Northville Historical Society will be viewed.

Following luncheon Mayor Carmichael will visit the downs, Northville Laboratories and the Mill Race if time permits before he leaves for home at 4 p.m. Romulus has planned a dinner to which the Allens and Vernons are invited.

Officially opening Michigan Week, May 19-26, Saturday will be trash and litter collections throughout the community. To mark Community Pride Day, Vernon and other Beautification Commission workers are urging residents to participate in the clean-up. Boy scouts will go door-to-

A CONCERT in memory of the late E. C. Langfield, who was instrumental in organization of the Northville High School band in 1927, will be held tomorrow evening in the high school auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. The concert band, wind and jazz ensembles will provide the music. Also participating will be the high school choir. As part of the concert, the music wing of the high school will be dedicated to Conrad Langfield, a former mayor and councilman of Northville who, like his father before him, has been a spiritual and financial booster of the band for many years. The concert is open to the public.

FINAL REVIEW of proposed wording for the proposed update of the city's comprehensive plan and zoning ordinance was undertaken Tuesday night by planning commissioners and their consultant, who expect the new documents will be published in the near future. A similar project is nearing completion by the township planning commission.

Mobile Homes Park Likely Despite Citizen Protests

It appears likely that a 209-unit mobile home park will be built on 26 acres of land at the southeast corner of Seven Mile and Northville Road.

Despite strong objections to the development from Northville township residents voiced at a public hearing last Thursday, township planning commission members indicated the site plan for the park meets all requirements necessary under township ordinance.

Action on the site plan was tabled until the commission's May 29 meeting.

Developer of the park, to be known as Northville Mobile Home Village, is Stewart Oldford.

Land for the development is currently zoned industrial. Mobile home parks are a permitted use under industrial zoning in the township.

Approximately 18 residents attended the hearing. Only one spoke in favor of the development.

Objections included density, depreciation of mobile homes, use of industrial land for purposes other than industry, lack of recreation facilities, added demands on existing police and fire protection and increasing an already hazardous traffic problem at the intersection.

Planning commission members suggested the mobile home sites be set back from Seven Mile Road and that lot sizes be increased from 4,000 square feet to 6,000 square feet.

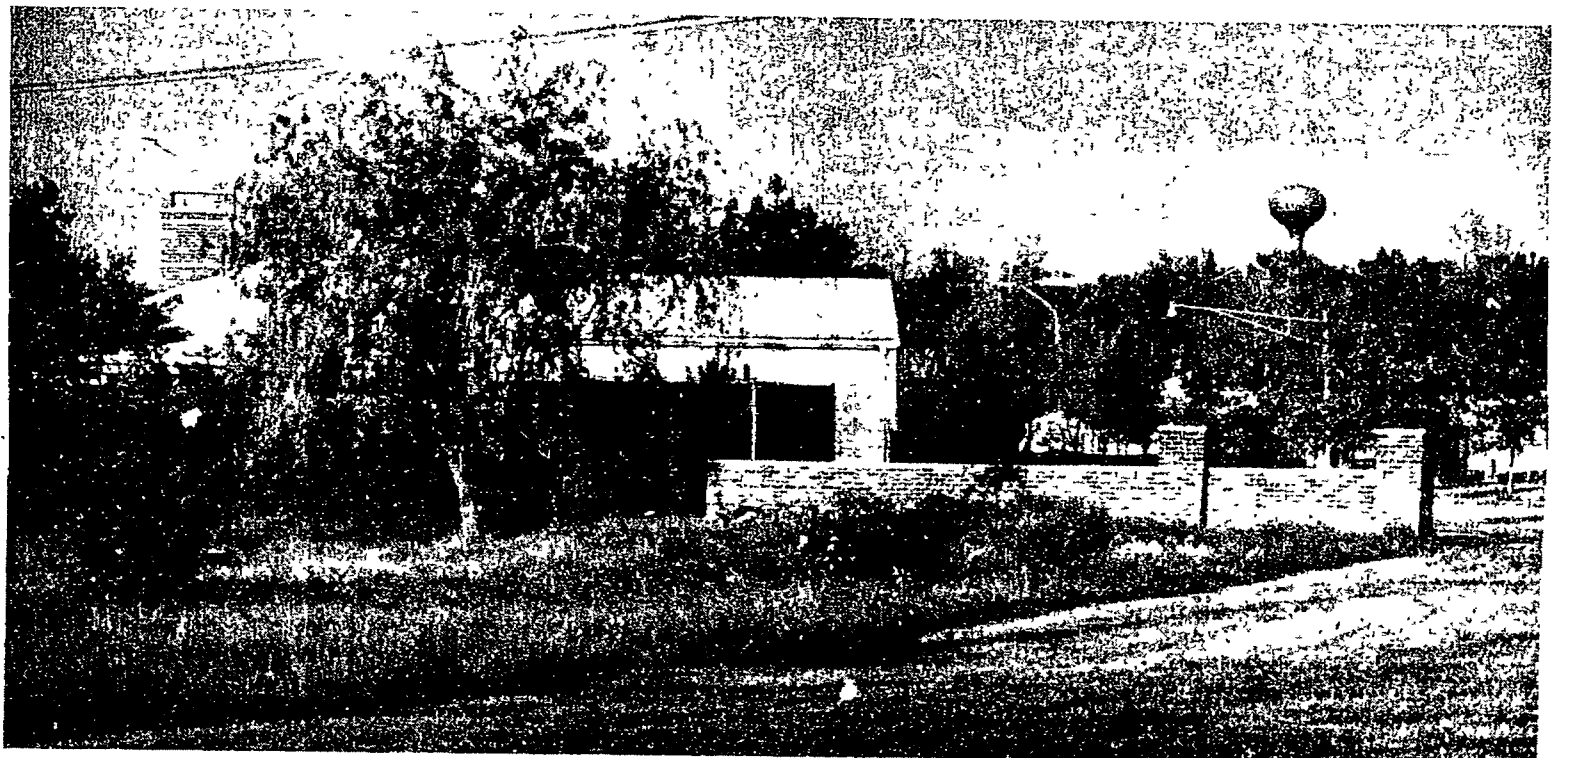

Attorney for Oldford, John Thomas, stated the mobile home "plan satisfied all requirements. Oldford and the other owners have gone through other parks and most are 4,000 square foot lots.

"It is not even possible to change (to larger lot sizes) and be competitive."

Planning commission member Fred Philippeau questioned if it was necessary "to have the pads out to Seven Mile Road. Can't they be screened?"

Thomas explained that it "meets the minimum requirements of the township

COMMERCIAL CENTER? Revised plans for a proposed commercial center at the southwest corner of Novi Road and Allen Drive were submitted to the city planning commission Tuesday night and subsequently referred to the site plan committee for review and recommendation. Proposed by Dennis Roux of Northville, the development would be located opposite the existing Hamlet Shopping Center on property originally suggested for a service station. The property already is zoned commercial. Although names of possible tenants have not been disclosed, it has been learned that a small chain restaurant probably will be one of them.

Without Millage Increase

School Sets $10-Million Issue

With bids for three new Northville schools coming in 4.9 percent lower than the architect's estimates, Northville School Board members settled on a figure of $10-million for the June 11 bond issue.

No millage increase will be necessary to retire the bonds. Earlier estimates had placed the bond issue at $10.3-million.

Taking action Tuesday night, school board members opened a total of 77 bids for two elementary schools and one middle school.

It was the second time the "bid before bond" process was used in Northville. Three years ago, Northville pioneered "bid before bond" in constructing additions to existing schools.

Board members also voted Tuesday to construct a 750-student elementary school in Northville Commons.

Earlier, the board decided to construct two 500-student elementary schools, one in the Commons and one in Highland Lakes, with bidders asked to submit an option on increased capacity at the Commons school.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said the difference in constructing the added capacity now "is $196,000. In five years, the estimate will be around $500,000. By spending an added $196,000 now, we can save the taxpayers $300,000 later."

Board members pointed out, however, that enrollment at the school will not reach the capacity until the late 1970's or early 1980's. Construction is expected to be completed by the fall of 1974.

No increase in millage will be required to retire the bonds.

Spear said a decrease in the operational millage and increase in state equalized valuation "will allow us to handle the increased debt levy without an increase in millage."

Bids for construction of the three schools, site acquisition funds, site development funds and fees total $10,265,765. However, Business Director Earl Busard said interest earned from bonds will enable the bond issue to be pegged at $10-million.

An analysis of the bids will be given to the board at its June 4 meeting with contracts awarded after the June 11 bond issue.

Middle school bids, estimated at a total of $4,751,880, came in at $4,634,816. Included are costs for architectural construction, mechanical and electrical trades, fees, contingency, equipment and site development.

General contractor bids ranged from $2,199,083 to $2,365,000. Mechanical trades bids ranged from $1,084,650 to $1,226,900, while electrical bids varied from a low of $307,777 to a high of $410,510.

Bids for the two elementary schools totaled $4,387,599, up from an estimate of $4,328,500. Increase is caused by the additional $196,000 for the added 250-student capacity at the Northville Commons elementary school.

Two School Seats Sought by Seven

During a last-minute filing rush, seven residents submitted nominating petitions to run for two vacancies on the Northville Board of Education.

Seats to be filled in the June 11 election include a four-year post currently held by Deibert and two remaining years of a term created by the resignation of Richard Martin, currently being filled by Richard Ambler.

Those seeking the four-year term include Bette Hancock of 42565 West Eight Mile Road, R. Duane LaMoreaux of 292 Ely Drive North, Roger Nieuwkoop of 815 Scott and Donald E. Williams of 47135 Grasmere.

Seeking the two-year post are Donald R. Faulkner of 15867 Hickory Ridge, John P. Hobart of 42131 Brampton Court and Robert M. Mandell of 16548 Winchester.

Two of the seven formerly sought seats on the board. LaMoreaux was an unsuccessful candidate in 1971, while Mandell ran for a term in 1972.

News Around Northville

Amerman PTA extends an invitation to all former co-workers and other friends of Mrs. Ann Chizmar to attend an open house in her honor on Thursday, May 24, from noon to 3 p.m. in the Amerman School library.

Mrs. Chizmar, who has more than 30 years of teaching service, will retire at the end of the present school year.

A member of a Southfield TOPS club will be present at the next Northville TOPS meeting to offer encouragement and hints to members about weight loss.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Monday, May 21, at the Scout-Recreation Building.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

The Northville Senior Citizens Club will travel to Windsor, Ontario, on Saturday, May 19, for a smorgasbord at The Fountain.

Members who will go with the group are reminded that the bus will leave Kerr House at 10:30 that morning.

Mrs. Kent Mathes of Northville will be one of the 33 members of the Madrigal Club of Detroit performing in the group's annual Spring Concert at 3 p.m. on Sunday, May 20.

The concert will be given in the Lecture Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts and will include traditional madrigal music in addition to contemporary and folk selections. The club is under the direction of August Maekelberghe.

Tickets are $2 for adults and 50 cents for students. They are available from Mrs. Mathes and will be sold at the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Thomas of 40301 Fairway were among 45 persons attending "Jazz Revisited Colloquium: Opus III" held on the University of Michigan campus on May 12.

The program featured a full day of recorded jazz broadcasting, discussion and listening. The music featured was from 1917 to 1947.

University of Michigan radio stations, WUOM and WVGR, in cooperation with the University of Michigan Extension Service, sponsored the program.

YESTERYEAR BRIDES — Wearing a gown of white lace and a regal crown holding the veil is Ann June, one of the models in a show of "Wedding Fashions Thru the Years" last week at Northville First Presbyterian Church. The gown was worn in 1965 by Donna Williams for her marriage to Richard Houghton. Oldest gown in the show marking the 100th anniversary of the Northville Presbyterian Women's Association is worn by Paula Dyke. It dates back to 1882, was entirely handmade in brown tones with lace trim. It belonged to Mrs. Levi H. Eaton. See In Our Town.

A Note to Future Brides

In spring and summer, many couples' thoughts turn to engagements and weddings.

To remind couples planning to announce one of those special occasions, here are the requirements of this newspaper regarding deadlines of pictures and information submitted for announcements.

Wedding and engagement forms are available at the newspaper office. The bride or her mother may pick up the form and return it, completed, to the newspaper office as soon as possible.

In the case of weddings, pictures and stories will be published in the paper only if they are received in the newspaper office within 15 days after the wedding date. This permits the use of the picture and story within three weeks of the wedding. After that deadline, only a brief announcement, without a picture, will be printed.

Color pictures submitted for either a wedding or an engagement cannot be used. Polaroid snapshots will be used only if the quality of the print is exceptionally good. The information on the forms must be typed or printed clearly. Wedding and engagement information will not be taken over the telephone.

In the case of engagements, couples wishing to announce an engagement in a specific edition of the paper should have the completed form and picture submitted by the Monday before the edition will be published.

As has been the past practice of the Sliger newspapers, no charge is made for publishing wedding or engagement stories and pictures.

Singles Club Plans Busy Calendar

The Northwest Singles has announced its schedule for the months of May and June. The members invite all single men and women over 30 to join them.

Meetings will be held on the first and third Thursdays of each month beginning at 8:30 p.m. in the Northville Fraternal Order of Eagles Aerie 2504 on South Center Street.

Planned activities are bowling on May 12 at 6:45 p.m. at Northville Lanes. The group will meet after bowling at Park Place on 10 Mile Road near Grand River.

Another evening of bowling is scheduled for May 26, again at 6:45 p.m., and a party at a member's home afterward.

The Northwest Singles has reserved June 29 for an evening at Northville Downs. Tickets are $6 each. The price of a ticket includes the entrance fee and dinner.

Individuals wishing more information about the organization should contact Mrs. Vivian McKeever at 349-5059 or Mrs. Lois Turner at 349-9969.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

A BRIDAL FASHION show of gowns dating from 1972 back to 1882 was the highlight of the 100th anniversary mother-daughter banquet of the Northville First Presbyterian Church. Adding to the interest in the lovely old gowns was the fact that most of them had been worn by local brides.

"Wedding Fashions Thru the Years" was the inspiration of Gail (Mrs. Charles) Gross who conceived the show to mark the founding of the church Women's Missionary Society on April 6, 1873.

"I felt like the 'mother of the bride' 17 times over," she confided as she recruited willing teen-agers to wear the gowns borrowed from local residents. She noted that by present-day standards many gowns seemed very small.

Leading off the show was the informal, ribbon-trimmed gown worn by Meredith Hartt for her marriage to Robert Skinner in August, 1972, which Mrs. Skinner sent from her home in the East for Dana Fieldman to model. A contrast was provided with the next gown, traditional in white velvet, worn by Barbara Trombley when she became Mrs. Herbert Skinner in January 1971, and again in the show.

A gown of chantilly lace and peau de soie featuring a train extending from the shoulders, worn in 1966 by Sandy White (Mrs. Robert Trombley) followed. She also wore it in the show.

A white lace gown adorned with sequins, worn in 1965 by Donna Williams, now of Florida, when she became the bride of Richard Houghton in 1965 was worn by Ann June. Carol Dyer followed in the waltz-length gown worn in 1958 by Peggy Hammond (Mrs. Lawrence Meyer). A satin gown worn in 1951 when Patricia Powell married Lester Clark was modeled by their daughter, Sally.

Little Mary Beth Gross then came down the aisle in a pink satin flower girl gown made by Mrs. James Cowie for Cindy Bretz to wear in a wedding at Greenfield Village. Cindy modeled a 1944 wedding gown of satin and tulle which had been worn by her aunt, Mrs. Thomas Henson (Mary Hill) modeled the gown worn by her mother, Mrs. Philip Anderson, in 1940 when she married Mary's father, the late George Hill. It was of lace over satin.

Another gown of 1940 was of marquisette with tucked bouffant skirt. Worn by Mrs. Doris (Susie) Demitroff, it was her mother's for her marriage to James Cowie. A bias-cut satin gown, with Julie Williams as model, had been worn in 1937 by Mrs. Peter Gross.

A bridesmaid's gown of lavender chiffon velvet, worn by Sue Clark, dated back to 1927 when it had been worn by Mrs. Philip Nauman, church secretary. From Mrs. James Cowie's collection came a chemise silk satin dress of the 1920's worn by Mrs. William Dyke. Gina Williams modeled the attendant's flapper dress. Her sister, Josie Williams, wore a two-piece tucked, blue organdy gown from 1915 belonging to the mother of Mrs. Harold Haller.

An ivory cotton gown was worn by Carolyn Axtell. It was worn by Nellie Warren (the mother of Mrs. Frederick Hartt) for her marriage to Charles Williams in 1915. Tucks and lace trimming decorated a cotton gown of 1908 worn by the mother of Mrs. Nauman. Susie Evans was the model.

Concluding the show was a handmade gown from 1882 of antique brown with lace trim. It was worn by Paula Dyke and later will be seen by Northville residents when the Northville Historical Society has permanent displays at the Mill Race. It was worn by Mrs. Levi H. Eaton and left by Mrs. L. M. Eaton for the society when the Eatons retired to Ohio.

Adding to the authenticity of the wedding show were the real floral bouquets carried by the models. Each was designed to match the period of the gown. They were the work and the donation of Mrs. Charles Tremor of Northville and of Miss Patty Robertson, a former Novi resident now living in Detroit. The women have been taking classes in floral design. Mrs. H. O.

Evans, who accompanied the show, designed the floral altar on the fellowship hall stage.

A CONCERT IN THE PARK is being planned for 3 p.m. Sunday, June 3, in the park behind Northville City Hall. Northville High School concert band, wind ensemble and jazz ensemble, all under the direction of Robert Williams, will play light show tunes, Latin American music and marches. Everyone in the community is invited. There is no admission charge.

The outdoor concert will be the final offering in this year's Junior Entertainment Series, a part of the Northville PTA Council, Mrs. Lawrence Gucken, series chairman, announces.

The program, she points out, has been planned for families and the council is hoping that area families will mark the date on their calendars. In event of rain the concert will be held in the high school auditorium. Assisting with arrangements will be the Northville Band Parents.

WHO IS THE Needlepoint Lady? For those who have noticed the little figure marking recent ads and the sign at 320 North Center Street, she is Betty (Mrs. Vaughn) Tufts of Ann Arbor. In the little house located next to Ely's Patio Shop run by Margaret (Mrs. Charles) Ely she plans to feature all needlework supplies and teach creative needlepoint.

Mrs. Tufts had been teaching in Ann Arbor and seeking a shop. At the urging of Northville friends, she says, she drove out to Northville and spotted the "for rent" sign on the house. Since then with volunteer help of friends she has been painting the walls white as background for bins of colorful yarn. Assisting her is Karla (Mrs. Matthew) Lambert, an artist who studied commercial design at the University of Arizona. She will create individual designs for anyone wishing a special subject.

"Because she says she believes 'learning is doing' Mrs. Tufts has created a sampler of 21 contemporary needlepoint stitches to be made into a tote bag. This way, women can carry their needlepoint in the tote—and refer to it for stitches. She adds that she opened the shop as she feels women have "a need to get back to hand work." She also is interested in ecclesiastical needlework and is hoping local churchwomen may wish to create sanctuary pieces.

Mrs. Tufts has a grown son who teaches at Kingswood, a daughter, 21, at Milliken College in Illinois and a daughter, 15, at home. Her assistant, Mrs. Lambert, is the wife of a medical student at University of Michigan. Wearing the pink and green colors that serve as shop accents, they welcome visitors from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily except Sunday.

One of their first visitors when Needlepoint Lady opened last week was next-door-neighbor Mrs. Ely. In this day when many women are seeking creative outlets in professional businesses in our community Margaret Ely can claim to be a forerunner. Her patio shop opens each spring with furnishings and accessories for outdoor living. She and her husband take only a brief rest after the Christmas Trims Shop closes at the end of the year.

"SOUND OF MUSIC," Northville High School's spring musical, played to sell-out audiences both Friday and Saturday nights, as well as to good crowds Tuesday and Wednesday. It drew praise for its talented cast, direction and effective settings.

Almost stealing the show from the expert performances of the high school students were the Von Trapp children, recruits from the elementary schools. John Mynatt, Susan Foster, Lisa Carter, John Wagner and Debbie Germeroth showed no indications that they were tired from keeping strenuous practice hours. One parent reported his young actor was sorry to see the fun end. Director Kurt Kinde should have no shortage of future talent.

Lamaze, LaLeche

Better Parents Are Groups' Aim

By MARTHA ROEMER
Better mothering and fathering separately, can lead to better parenting.

That is what the Northville Lamaze Childbirth Education Association and the Northville La Leche League want to get parents back to. Many couples are working toward that better parenting goal today. Three such mothers are Mrs. Robert Frellick, a leader of the Northville La Leche League, Mrs. Jim Liefeld, a Lamaze instructor and Mrs. Gregory Brower, a Northville mother of two sons who, like the children of the other women, were born and fed naturally.

The Northville Childbirth Education Association, which serves all of the surrounding communities, teaches both expectant parents the Lamaze method of natural childbirth. While the wife learns to control the muscles in the body used in birth, the husband learns to coach her.

Presently, the Association is working in connection with Schoolcraft College where Lamaze classes are taught twice a week.

The LaLeche League is for women interested in breastfeeding children. The main objective of the League is to give "happiness and security to babies through breastfeeding."

Mrs. Liefeld of Novi, a registered nurse and Lamaze instructor, is the mother of one daughter, Kimberly, who was born 20 months ago with a Lamaze delivery.

"Jim and I compared the whole experience to climbing a mountain. You prepare for it before, together, and you work yourself up to it and when it is over, there you are. Something like this can only strengthen a marriage. You start to be parents from the very beginning," she said. "Birth is a family centered thing," explained Mrs. Frellick. "The husband takes a central role. He's not placed in the background. This is what the classes will try to do."

The classes to which she referred are Child Care Classes for both or one parent to attend either before or just after the birth of a child. Both groups have joined together to sponsor them. They will be taught on three successive Saturdays at Living Lord Lutheran Church, 40700 Ten Mile Road, from 10 a.m. to noon each day by Mrs. Kathy Nunez of Plymouth.

Of the need for such classes Mrs. Liefeld said, "Now our society is so transient and many of us are miles away from our mothers or mothers-in-law. There just isn't a place where mothers can feel they can call if they need help with a new baby. Hopefully, the classes will pick up where there is a lack."

Although the classes are sponsored by the two organizations, parents who are not members of either group may join them. Basic things such as bathing and diaper changing will be in the curriculum but strong emphasis will be placed on the better parenting aspect.

All three women agree that their way of mothering is a basic way and that most of their contemporaries feel what they have done in giving birth naturally and breastfeeding their children makes them some kind of "marvel woman" as Mrs. Liefeld put it.

"It's simple things we've forgotten about today," said Mrs. Brower. Even something as basic as stimulation. A baby needs that just as an adult, whether it is another voice or touching. The woman I roomed with when David was born didn't even pick up her child when he was brought for his bottle feeding. She propped the bottle with a pillow."

Concerning the basic way of doing things, Mrs. Brower said that when it is implied that her sons, (Matthew, 2, and David, 10 weeks) might become "mamma's boys" because they have been breastfed, she simply refers to the "strong pioneers who were raised on breast milk."

Mrs. Frellick added that the better parenting idea is, in addition to the basic way, the best way.

"When I was expecting my first child (Steven who is now 7), I wanted to find the very best way to feed him so I attended La Leche League meetings. Then I wanted to know the best way to bring the child into the world for both him and me. That was when I began to think about natural childbirth," she said.

All three women said they feel society today places unwarranted stigmas on natural childbirth and most especially on breastfeeding. "More women are joining Lamaze and La Leche groups today," said Mrs. Frellick, "so maybe we are changing a little. But I'd like to see our society changed and open enough so that women will be able to decide to breastfeed a child or have a natural delivery without having to think of what others will think."

According to Mrs. Liefeld, the Lamaze group will show a film, "The Story of Eric," about a Lamaze birth in the Forum Theatre of Building F on the Schoolcraft College campus, Friday, May 18, at 8 p.m.

The La Leche League, Mrs. Frellick said, will begin a four-month-long series of classes on Thursday, May 17, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Robert Griffith, 47100 Seven Mile Road.

Those interested in the Child Care Classes can contact Mrs. Nunez, the instructor, at 455-0215.

Couple Composes Vows For Wedding Ceremony

Sharon Marie Macura and William Patrick Dreisig took a part in writing the mass which united them in marriage May 4 at Our Lady Of Victory Church.

Floral arrangements of lavender and white decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony which was performed by the Reverend Father J. Robert Schaden. The organist was Frederick Sowerby.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Macura of 46625 West Main Street and Mr. and Mrs. William Michael Dreisig of Orchard Lake.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a traditional gown of white organza with rose point lace trim. The dress featured bishop sleeves.

Her fitted headpiece held a fingertip veil which was also trimmed with rose point lace. She carried an arrangement of spring flowers in a white wicker basket.

As maid of honor, Kimberly Clowell wore a lavender organza gown trimmed with Schiffli embroidery. The gown was styled with bishop sleeves and a ruffle at the hem of the full skirt. She carried spring flowers in shades of deep lavender, light pink and white in a white wicker basket.

Bridesmaids Mrs. Michael Larkin, Mrs. Arthur Duran, Denise Dutzy, Pam Karkoski and Mary Dreisig were outfitted like the maid of honor.

Serving as best man was Daniel Barry. He was assisted by Ushers Ken and Robert Dreisig, Dan Singer, George Schkudor and Steven Macura. Three-hundred wedding guests were entertained at Vladimir's in Farmington following the ceremony. Out of town guests were present from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Florida and California. The couple chose North Carolina for a wedding trip. A 1970 graduate of Our Lady of Mercy High School in Farmington, the bride is now studying nursing at Oakland Community College. The bridegroom is a 1970 University of Detroit High School graduate and is in his third year of pre-law study at the University of Michigan. The couple will be at home in Ann Arbor.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM DREISIG

FAMILY TOGETHER—The Gregory Brower family of Northville takes walks together each evening, weather permitting. According to Mrs. Brower, "It's one of the things we do together as a family and that's so important today." Mrs. Brower is holding David who is 10 weeks and her husband is carrying two-year-old Matthew. Both children have been born naturally and breastfed.

Announce Engagements

JOYCE ZAYTI

The engagement of Joyce Kay Zayti to Peter Joel Lindberg is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benny A. Zayti of 10888 West Seven Mile Road.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Lindberg, formerly of Northville, now of Falls Church, Virginia.

A 1969 graduate of Our Lady of Mercy High School, the bride-elect graduated earlier this year from the University of Michigan with a degree in special education for the blind.

Her fiancé is a 1970 Northville High School graduate and attended Schoolcraft College and Oakland University. Currently, he is employed by Perkins Engines in Farmington.

The couple is planning an August 25 wedding.

KATHY BEIL

Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Glenn Beil of Alexandria, Virginia announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathy Ann, to Sp4 John Edward Mowat, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Mowat of 925 Carrington Drive.

The bride-elect graduated from Mount Vernon High School in 1972 and Washington School for Secretaries this year.

Her fiancé is a 1970 Northville High School graduate and is presently stationed in Germany with the United States Army.

A July wedding is planned by the couple.

CAROL HARPER

Carol Anne Harper and James H. Pell have set an August wedding date.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Harper of 18415 Fermanagh and Mr. and Mrs. Herman S. Pell of Lansing.

The future bride was in the Northville High School class of 1969 and will graduate in June, from Michigan State University where she is in the honors college and is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega.

The bridegroom-elect graduated from Eastern High School in Lansing and Michigan State where he affiliated with Pi Kappa Phi. He is now employed by the Ford Motor company in Ypsilanti.

DIANE BRASURE

Diane Ruth Brasure's name has been added to the list of June brides-to-be. Her parents, the Reverend and Mrs. Lloyd G. Brasure, 542 West Main Street, announce her engagement and approaching marriage to James Paul Edwardson of Elk Rapids. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Edwardson of that city.

The bride-elect's father is minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville where the wedding will take place June 22. It is to be a small wedding before the families. Dr. John F. Brown, a church Elder, will assist the Reverend Brasure with the ceremony.

Diane has been teaching in the Traverse City-Elk Rapids area for the past year. She and her future husband plan to make their home there.

This week the Reverend and Mrs. Brasure flew to Del Rio, Texas, to visit their son, First Lieutenant Neal Brasure, who is an instructor pilot of T 37's at Laughlin Air Force Base. Returning with them this week will be their daughter, Leslieanne, who has been visiting her brother. She went south to see him at the end of her freshman year at Western Michigan University.

Novi Eyes $85,000 for Park Lands

OPERATION CLEAN-UP—Cub scouts, girl scouts, girl scout Cadettes, and boy scouts combined forces last Saturday to undertake a city-wide clean-up of Novi's streets. Aided by Members of the Novi DPW, the scouts made an amazing haul, filling up 15 truck-loads with various and assorted debris and litter garnered from the sides of the roads. The effort was organized by Kerry Fear who is working on his Eagle badge in scouting. Above, a quartet of boy scouts from Troop 54 await the return of the city dump truck so they can fill another load of trash.

For Industrial Park

Council Ponders Rezoning

A request to rezone the southeast corner of the Grand River - Meadowbrook Road intersection to commercial use was rejected by the Novi city council Monday.

The decision on a related rezoning request which would in effect pave the way for a 35-acre industrial park in the Grand River - Meadowbrook Road area was postponed until May 29.

The action came at a sometimes stormy public hearing Monday in which the city council and planning board were strongly criticized by several citizens for not "getting tough with developers" and Mayor Joseph Crupi chided several council members for their stands on the rezoning request.

The council and the planning board sat in joint session to hear the rezoning request of Seymour Pomish for a 62-acre parcel on the southeast corner of Grand River and Meadowbrook. Since the property in question abuts a section of the Willowbrook subdivision, a substantial number of subdivision residents attended the hearing.

Bernard Rollins, representing Pomish, told the council and planning board that they were requesting that a 5-acre parcel on the corner of the intersection be rezoned from industrial to commercial to permit construction of a convenience-type shopping center.

Rollins further requested that the remainder of the 62-acre parcel be rezoned from its existing R-1 (single family residential) zoning to an M-1 (light manufacturing) designation.

The residents in Willowbrook would not be affected, he argued, since his property and the subdivision are separated by a ravine suitable only for "skiing and suicidal diving."

"You could take a safari down there and get lost," said Rollins.

Novi's planning consultant Edward Vettell of Vilcan-Leman offered an alternate plan to the one proposed by Rollins. Under the plan promulgated by Vettell, Pomish would be granted the commercial zoning on the corner, but the remainder of the property would be divided into two sections.

A 35-acre parcel abutting Grand River would be rezoned for industrial use, thus permitting development of an industrial park. Between the industrial park and Willowbrook, a 21-acre parcel would be left with its R-1 zoning and serve as a buffer strip. The ravine would be included in this R-1 parcel.

Vettell's proposal won the support of the planning board. "I would have voted against the original request, but I like this second plan," stated Ronald Birou. "The Willowbrook residents would have a good buffer for their subdivision, the petitioner would have enough land to develop an attractive industrial park, and the entire area would be getting a convenience shopping center. It seems to me that everyone would be coming out a winner."

Several Willowbrook residents also stated that they found the compromise much more acceptable to them.

By a 6-0 margin the planning board recommended that the council approve the commercial rezoning on the corner and by a 4-1 margin they recommended that 35 acres be zoned industrial with the 21 acre buffer strip remaining R-1.

Planning Board member Donald Gleason cast the lone dissenting vote, while James Cheroff abstained.

The council quickly vetoed the commercial rezoning on the corner.

"I think it's ridiculous to put a shopping center on that corner," stated Councilman

Denis Berry. "There's already a safety problem with traffic flow at that location and a shopping center would only compound it."

Berry stated that he was in favor of the industrial rezoning, however, and suggested that the corner parcel would be just as useful as a part of an overall industrial park.

Several residents argued against the industrial zoning, however. One resident argued that the industrial zoning would adversely affect property values. "The master plan calls for that area to be

State Appropriation In DNR Budget

Increasingly concerned with the need to acquire property for municipal parks before spiralling land values makes acquisition of large tracts economically difficult, the members of the Novi city council received good news Monday night.

Councilman Louie Campbell, Novi's legislative delegate to Lansing, told the council that the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has requested $85,000 in its 1973-74 fiscal budget to be paid to the City of Novi.

"The only stipulation on the money," Campbell told The Novi News Tuesday, "is that it be used solely for the acquisition of land within the city limits to be used for parks."

"I felt that was a stipulation that we would have no trouble agreeing with," said Campbell.

Before Novi receives a cent, however, the DNR's budget must first receive legislative approval. Campbell expressed confidence that the proposed appropriation for Novi would be approved without much difficulty.

"We have agreements with the Senator (Carl Purcell) in the Senate and Cliff Smart in the House of Representatives that they will support this appropriation," stated Campbell.

"We also have agreements with the head of the DNR and the chairmen of the appropriations committees in both the House and the Senate," he continued. "Having received commitments from people of their stature and importance, the appropriation should come through with no problem."

If Campbell is correct and the appropriation passes the scrutiny of both state legislative bodies, the City can expect the $85,000 sometime early in July.

Furthermore, if the appropriation is granted, Novi will have resolved a difference of opinion with the state that goes back approximately 14 years.

The reason the DNR has agreed to include the $85,000 in its budget request is to fulfill an obligation it owes to Novi.

In 1959 a life-long Novi resident named Ella Mae Powers died, leaving a stipulation in her will that her land be used for a municipal park. Sole stipulation to the bequest was that the park bear her name and thus be known as Powers Park.

However, instead of being used specifically for a park, the Department of Natural Resources, which had jurisdiction over the property, sold it to the State Highway Department in 1963 for $68,000.

The agreement reached at that time called for the Highway Department to donate excess property valued at $68,000 at prevailing 1963 market prices to Novi to be used for municipal parks.

Novi, in return, agreed to allow the money realized from the sale of the Powers' property to be used by the DNR for developing facilities in the Proud Lake Recreation area north of Wixom.

That agreement was reached in 1963 and was reaffirmed by the DNR as recently as June of 1971.

Efforts to get the land by a variety of Novi officials over the past ten years have been unsuccessful, however.

"The state has always known that they owe us the property," explained

Councilman Denis Berry. "We've just not been able to get it from them."

When Novi incorporated in 1971 a renewed effort to secure the property was undertaken. Over the past 15 months, city and state officials arrived at the solution which is now proposed.

The feelings of many city officials are that Novi should be getting a great deal more than the proposed $85,000, but that $85,000 is better than nothing at all and the City should speed efforts to purchase large tracts of land for parks before property prices rise any higher than they are right now.

Councilman Berry stated that there are several state and federal programs available which agree to participate on a matching funds basis with any municipality, seeking to purchase park lands.

Berry further stated that Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission has been conducting a study of potential municipal park sites over the past year.

7 File Petitions

For School Board

Seven candidates have filed petitions for the three vacancies on the Novi Board of Education to be filled in the June 11 election.

Deadline for filing petitions arrived Monday at 4 p.m. with four candidates having filed for the two four-year terms and three candidates having filed for the one two-year term Novi school district voters will be filling.

The list of candidates was most notable for the names which were not on it.

Neither William Ziegler or Bruce Simmons submitted petitions.

Ziegler, under fire from citizens demanding his recall, resigned from the School Board last week, but was expected to seek to regain his seat in June through a vote of confidence from the people.

Simmons, a long time Novi resident and member of the School Board, is a former Board president.

The two four-year terms to be filled are created by the June expiration of terms presently being served by Simmons and Robert Wilkens. Wilkens filed for reelection. Also vying for the four-year terms are Joel Colliau, Mrs. Sharon Pelchat, and Jacob Durling.

Both Mrs. Pelchat and Durling are former School Board members. Last week Durling was appointed to the Board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Ziegler.

The two-year term to be filled in June was created by Ziegler's resignation. Thomas Szeles, Norman Miller, and Dr. Richard Henderson are the three candidates who will be vying for the post.

Police Tell Changes Along Grand River

After six months of experimentation with traffic patterns on Grand River, lane usage has been restored to its original state, Corporal Frank Barabas of the Novi Traffic Safety Bureau announced Friday.

Under the direction of the Oakland County Road Commission, the middle lane of Grand River between Haggerty and Taft Roads had been designated for left turns only approximately six months ago.

Now, however, the "Left Turn Only" signs are being taken down and the middle lane will be used as a passing lane as it was previously.

Barabas noted that the Road Commission has recently painted new stripes on the road which will indicate passing and non-passing zones to motorists.

"Up until last year we were the only city in the state that we were aware of which celebrated the whole Michigan Week schedule," reported Gilbert Willis, mayor of Wixom. "Most other cities get involved in the Mayor's Exchange Day aspect of Michigan Week, but we've always gone all out and celebrated every day in the week."

Perhaps following Wixom's lead, several other Michigan cities have this year indicated plans to celebrate Michigan Week in its entirety.

Plans for this year's Michigan Week festivities in Wixom have been finalized and are ready to begin this coming Saturday. Mrs. Katharine Wahamaki, chairman of Michigan Week for Wixom this year, and her committee have compiled a busy agenda of events.

Saturday, May 19: Kicking off Michigan Week is "Youth Day." The day's events will get underway at 10 a.m. with the annual parade of the city's youngsters from the Wixom Baptist Church to City Hall. Prizes will be awarded for best decorated bicycles and floats.

After the parade, youngsters will have plenty to keep them busy at City Hall.

From 10:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. there will be a Glamour Clinic for girls under 12 years old. Muppet shows have been scheduled from 11-11:30 a.m. and from 12 noon to 12:30 p.m. And a pet show is slated from 1-2 p.m.

Also on Saturday the Finnish Summer Camp has invited all city residents to enjoy a sauna bath and a cup of tea with them anytime between 2-5 p.m.

In addition, the Wixom P. T. A. Fair will run all day long Saturday at the City Hall.

Sunday, May 20: Sunday is designated as "Spiritual Day" in Michigan Week and all citizens have been invited to attend the presentation of a patriotic musical entitled "Blessed Freedom" at the Wixom Baptist Church at 6 p.m.

Monday, May 21: This is Mayor's Exchange Day and Wixom will be exchanging officials with the city of Bronson. Orris McConn, mayor of Bronson, and his wife along with Bronson City Manager Lee Pettitjean and his wife are slated to fly into Spencer's Airport bright and early with Mayor McConn, a registered pilot, at the controls.

Flag raising ceremonies have been slated for 9:30 a.m.

in front of City Hall, and all citizens are urged to attend and then meet the Bronson representatives over coffee and doughnuts.

During his day in Wixom, McConn and his party will tour the Ford Motor Company's Wixom Assembly Plant and other points of interest throughout the city.

The day will be climaxed by the Mayor's and Senior Citizens' Buffet Dinner from 6:30 - 10 p.m. at the U.A.W. Hall. Catered by the Vocational School, the dinner will honor Mayor McConn and his party as well as Wixom's senior citizen population.

FOREIGN VISITORS — Three Jaycees visiting Michigan from the Dominican Republic were hosted here for three days last week by the Northville Jaycees as part of the Ambassador Exchange Program. During their visit here, the guests toured the city hall where City Manager Frank Ollendorff explained the functions of city government. Shown with the city manager are Luis Pena Sota, a 33-year-old bank vice-president; Jaime Fernandez, 28, director of a non-profit organization; and William Mejia, 22-year-old water department supervisor. Although the Jaycee organization is only four years old on the Caribbean island, it already has six chapters and several more are in the works. Earlier this year, Northville Jaycee President Dennis Dildy visited the Dominican Republic to set the stage for the exchange program.

For Northville Jaycees

Crime Correction Takes First

Northville Jaycees walked away with two first place and two second place awards in state competition during the Michigan Jaycee convention in Detroit over the weekend.

Nine local Jaycee couples represented the Northville chapter at the convention.

One of the most significant honors that went to Northville was its selection as having produced "the best" crime-corrections project in Michigan during the past year.

The Northville project involved sponsorship of a library book collection for the Detroit House of Correction. Chairman of the project was Peter Magnan, who also coordinated the same project throughout the local Jaycee district and Wayne County.

Altogether more than 17,000 books were collected for the prison library. In addition, physical improvements were made at the library through contributions of furniture.

DeHoCo Superintendent John Amberger suggested to Jaycee President Dennis Dildy that his chapter conduct the campaign, which took five months to complete.

Northville Jaycees also were named Michigan's top chapter in activation of its manpower in community service projects.

Second place awards garnered by the local chapter included best external community service overall planning and for the best internal local chapter management.

Dildy also received special recognition at the convention for his chapter's local accomplishment and for being the main impetus in establishing a successful international Dominican Republic ambassador exchange program.

Dominican Jaycees, after visiting Northville three days prior to the convention, were guests of the Michigan Jaycees at the convention.

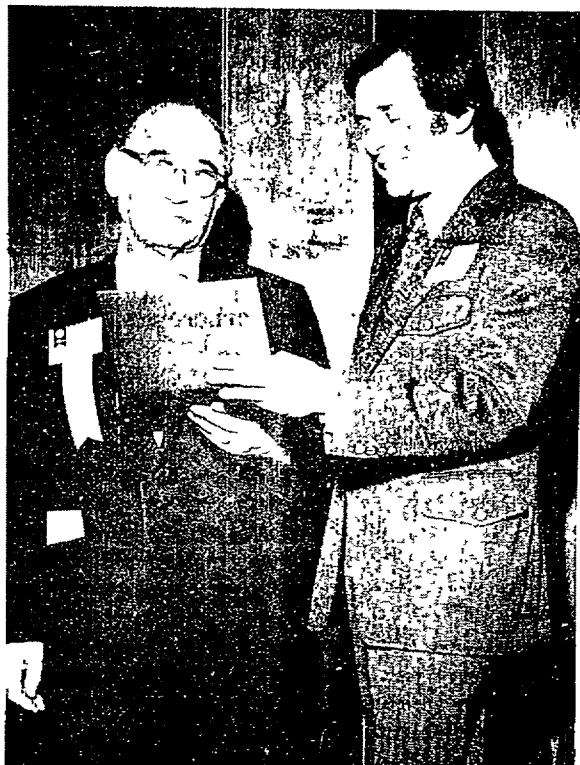

While attending the convention, local Jaycee representatives assisted in the election of the new Michigan Jaycee president, Richard Robinson, an instructor at Oakland Community College in Farmington.

One of the most active organizations in Northville, the Jaycees are involved in a wide number of community service projects. Some of them include the Fourth of July festivities, soap box derby, Easter egg hunt, Summerfest (fair) tent, voter registration, operation Red Ball, VD information, drug abuse program, and mental health-retardation, and alcoholism programs.

Pearlman is the first man to be honored by the alumni at one of the reunion teas.

PRIZE POET — Brian Fellers of 711 North Center Street was recently awarded honorable mentions in state and national creative writing contests for his poetry. Brian, who has been writing for the past three years, received the awards in the National Scholastic Creative Writing Contest, sponsored by Scholastic Magazine. His collection of poetry was among 16,000 entries, with 463 writers receiving honors. The poet uses mainly free verse and says he relates to inanimate objects. His poems have also been published in The Centaur, Northville High School's literary magazine, and Western Michigan University's literary publication. He is a former student in Miss Patricia Dorrian's creative writing class at Northville High.

But Earns $1,000

He Misses Million

Joe Kritch, who hoped to become Northville's first $1 million lottery winner last week, failed to achieve his goal in the Michigan drawings at Muskegon.

But he didn't come away empty-handed. He was awarded $1,000 just for being one of the 120 lucky contestants in the $1 million bonanza.

"It was exciting just the same," laugh Mrs. Kritch, who accompanied her husband to Muskegon.

Kritch was second — not the first as reported last week — Northville area resident picked to compete in the $1 million sweepstakes. The first was Charles Schueler, who lives at 18157 Jamestown Circle in Kings Mill.

Like Kritch, Schueler wasn't one of the 10 finalists but he walked away with $1,000 in the second drawing held in the Light Guard Armory in Detroit.

Schueler, 53, a manufacturing engineer for Kelsey Hayes, is married and has four children and seven grandchildren. He has lived in Northville since December. The first $1,000 winner bought his qualifying $25 ticket at the Good Time Party Store. Two weeks ago he bought another $25 winner, thus earning himself chance in the next $1 million drawing.

"It was awfully hectic," recalls Schueler. "The suspense is terrific. And with all your friends and neighbors pulling for you, when you don't win you feel like you've let everyone down."

Schueler, who buys about four lottery tickets a week, looks ahead to the "next time" with more confidence. "I'm experienced now," he laughs antique cars, hot rods, horses, marching groups, just about anything that would be appropriate for a parade," announced Parade Chairman Jim Leatherman.

The Jaycees plan to present prizes for the best decorated bicycles, tricycles, and minibikes, Leatherman reported further.

The parade will begin at 10 a.m. Monday, May 28 and last until approximately 12 noon. People interested in participating should contact Leatherman at 349-5523.

John Folino, Greg Johnson, Tim Butler, Mike Batt and Scott Cummings. Students who also took honors in the competition were Dan Sabon, John Klasner, Cory Collins, Chip Thomas, John Hlohinec and Jim Robbins.

19 Earn Awards In Drafting Show

Nineteen Northville High students recently won honors in the regional competition of the 11th Annual Michigan Industrial Education Awards program.

In addition, five Northville students' exhibits went on to state competition where one received an award.

Tim Butler, a third year drafting student, took third place honors in state competition with his surface development drawings. The award was given in the mechanical drawing division.

Besides Butler, other students whose work was entered in state competition included Mike Batt, architectural working drawings; Kathy Sechler, beginning mechanical drawings; Jack Barger, pictorial machine assembly drawings; and Greg Johnson, mechanical detail and assembly drawings.

10 File for Trustee In Schoolcraft Race

Ten persons, including one from Northville, have filed petitions to run for four seats on the Schoolcraft Community College Board of Trustees.

All trustees are elected "at large" with three seats open for the six year terms and one two-year term open.

According to college officials, signatures on candidates' petitions must still be verified.

Those filing petitions for the six-year terms include:

Incumbent Paul Kadish, 18687 Purlingbrook, Livonia; Noel Little, 41318 Windsor, Northville; Gerald L. Lunden, 9357 Marie, Livonia; and Alfred D. Rindsred, 42465 Parkhurst, Plymouth.

Filing petitions for the two-year term were Ronald Cowden, 15577 Westbrook, Livonia; and Mark McQuesten, 14476 Summerside, Livonia.

Candidates will be elected in the June 11 school election, with voters casting ballots in their local school district.

Not seeking re-election is Floyd Kehrl of Northville who held a six year term.

The two-year term was created by the resignation of R. Robert Geake of Northville who stepped down from the Schoolcraft Board after being elected to the State House of Representatives.

Women Voters Attend State Convention

Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters will send four representatives to the League's 13th biennial state convention May 22 through May 24.

Those attending from the local chapter will be Mrs. William Hopping, Mrs. Paul Cargo, Mrs. A.F. Cowan and Mrs. Price Watts.

The convention, which will be held at Lansing, will include addresses by Governor William Milliken and League of Women Voters National President Lucy Wilson Benson.

Delegates attending from all 43 leagues throughout the state will have a voice in the program and budget which will be adopted for the next two years and they will be electing new state board officers.

In addition to the two keynote addresses, Professor B.J. George of Wayne State University is scheduled to speak on the administration of justice, Karl Hosford of the Department of Atrial Resources will address the delegates as will David Froh from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

Northville High School will be closed early on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 22 and 23, to allow students time to register for 1973-74 school year classes.

The new scheduling procedure was announced by high school principal Fred Holdsworth.

Classes will be held each day until 9:52 a.m. Students will register for next year, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. on those days.

On Tuesday, students who will be seniors next year will register between 10 a.m. and noon. Prospective juniors will sign up between 1 and 3 p.m.

Wednesday, students who will be sophomores will register between 10 a.m. and noon.

Future freshmen who are presently attending Our Lady of Victory, St. Paul's Lutheran or Cooke Junior High will register from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday.

No bus transportation home will be provided after Tuesday morning, school officials said. Buses will pick up present eighth grade students at the regular time.

Registration materials were given to students last week in homerooms at the high school and will be given to eighth grade students this week.

Students are expected to make out their own schedules, school officials emphasized, and no students will be admitted unless course selection sheets have been completed.

Counselors will be available to help students.

High school cafeteria will be open for snacks only on Tuesday and will be closed on Wednesday.

Russell Clarke Ends 38 Years of Banking

Career Starts, Concludes Here

Thirty-eight years of banking in Northville will end this month for A. Russell Clarke, vice president of Manufacturers National Bank.

The tall, lanky and likeable Clarke has reached the mandatory retirement age of 65 and so concludes a banking career that started in Northville on January 23, 1935 at the old Depositors State Bank.

Friends and fellow employees paid tribute to Clarke last night (Wednesday) at a retirement dinner at the Thunderbird-Hilton.

A native of Sault Ste. Marie and the son of a banker, Clarke graduated with an MBA degree from the University of Michigan in 1932... "a bad year for banking".

After time out to see the world on a tramp steamer he landed in Northville after learning of a job opening through a banking friend of his father.

Except for time out from September, 1940 to December, 1941 to serve as an assistant examiner for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Clarke's career in banking and community activities has been centered in Northville.

He rose from teller in 1935 to cashier in 1938 and finally president of Depositors State Bank in 1954. In January, 1957, Depositors merged with Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit and Clarke became a vice president in charge of the local branch.

It's typical of Clarke to quickly point out that his elevation to the presidency came about as the result of an automobile accident that took the life of his predecessor as president of Depositors, John Boyce.

Clarke's career in Northville is liberally sprinkled with community involvement. He's a past president of the Rotary and Exchange clubs; he serves on the Schoolcraft College Foundation; worked as a member of the city's charter revision committee; is a member of the American Institute of Banking and Chamber of Commerce; and is one of the most active charter members of the Northville Economic Development Committee, a non-profit community group devoted to promoting the area's industrial and commercial base.

Clarke also served as village treasurer, an elective post, from 1942 until incorporation as a city in 1955. He continued to hold the post of treasurer under cityhood until 1957, when those duties were assumed by the city manager.

Clarke recalls that when he came to Northville, C. Harold Bloom was a teller at Depositors. Bloom later became a successful insurance agent here and recently retired turning the business over to his son-in-law, Richard Lyon.

The 1935 newcomer to Northville from the Upper Peninsula also met a fifth-grade teacher shortly after he arrived in town in January. Her name was Ellen Reincke, a Jonesville girl.

And on August 29 of the same year they were married following what Clarke describes as a "whirlwind courtship".

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke have two children: a son, John W. Clarke is an attorney in Rochester, New York; and a daughter, Mrs. Gerald (Ruth) Stowell of Nine Mile Road; and two grandchildren.

They have lived at 720 Fairbrook since 1940, where Clarke relaxes enjoying one of his hobbies, gardening.

A sister, Ruth Clarke, works for the newspaper, The Evening News, at Sault Ste. Marie.

Naturally, many changes have taken place in banking since Clarke began here in 1935. His starting pay was $65 per month. He was given an increase to $125 per month when he became cashier.

Deposits in the earlier days were under one million dollars. Now they're nearly $30 million.

"You'd almost have to call a committee meeting to lend $300. Now an individual can approve up to $25,000 or $50,000", Clarke recalls.

The old Depositors State Bank was located in the same building as the present Manufacturers National Bank on Main street, but it was less than half the size. And the drive-in facility at Dunlap and Hutton has been added.

Clarke says the guidelines for banking and giving credit are the same, but that by necessity everything is much more specialized and computers provide more information immediately.

Regionalized banking has also helped, says Clarke, in aiding local decisions. He points out that there are 10 offices in this region with authority to set forth area policy guidelines.

Clarke's successor as head of the Northville branch is Jack Werner, a vice president, who is already on the job.

Actually, Clarke's retirement does not begin officially until July. But earned leave time permits him to close his career as Northville's number one banker on the last day of May.

The Clarks have no plans for retirement except to remain in Northville near their friends, maybe travel, garden and golf.

Mayor of Romulus

Is City's Guest

Northville's official Michigan Week guest Monday is the first and only mayor of Romulus.

Elected three years ago upon incorporation of Romulus as a city, Hyle J. Carmichael, 57, became the city's first mayor. He had never held a public office previously.

A life-long resident of Romulus, a city of 24,000 people, Carmichael is married and has two children and two grandchildren.

His position of mayor is a full-time one, since the city has a mayor-council form of government. The Romulus council is a seven member body.

Center's Days Numbered

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has given preliminary approval to a county-state task force report proposing a new system of improved care for retarded children.

Meeting as the Ways and Means Committee May 10, the county legislators approved the report "in principle" by unanimous vote. Final approval was expected at the formal Board meeting on May 17.

The report recommends that retarded and emotionally-troubled children be placed in community-based residential facilities and that a central referral agency be established to evaluate and place the youngsters.

The Wayne County Child Development Center, a residential institution now housing some 245 such children in Northville Township, would be closed after its present students all are placed in community facilities.

Approval of the report was recommended by the board's Human Resources Committee.

The Ways and Means Committee also approved three resolutions which were recommended by the Human Resources Committee as steps toward implementing the report.

One resolution establishes the Central Referral Agency and directs it to receive referrals from all appropriate sources, including state and local agencies, physicians, schools and parents.

In calling for the closing of the Child Development Center, another resolution says that an institutional environment of its type is contrary to modern methods of treatment.

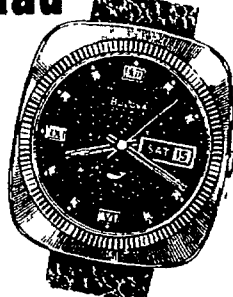

It also states that the Center will not be closed until each child has been properly placed in the community, and asks for a designated team of health authorities to bear responsibility for proper placement.

According to the resolution, a team is to consist of representatives from the Plymouth State Home and Northville Residential Center, the Children and Youth Committee of the Mental Health Services Board, and various Departments of social services, vocational rehabilitation, public health, and education.

The final resolution offers departmental transfers, employment preference and training programs for employees who will be displaced when the Child Development Center is closed.

Police Blotter: Arrest Youths in Break-In

In Township

Three Livonia youths were arrested by Michigan State Police Troopers last week and charged with breaking and entering coin machines at National Pride Auto Wash on Five Mile Road.

Arrests were made shortly after 10:10 p.m. May 7 following a stakeout by state police.

Charged with breaking and entering are John L. Lewis and Charles M. Foor, both 17. A 16-year-old Livonia juvenile was charged with the same offense.

Lewis and Foor pled not guilty when arraigned May 8 before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis and will appear for examination on the charge, today (Thursday). Both are free on $3,000 bond. State police reported coin machines at the car wash have been broken into five times during the past month. Another break-in took place between May 8 and 9, reports indicated.

A Detroit woman was injured in a three-car accident shortly before 4 p.m. May 8.

According to state police reports, Barbara J. Cushing, 22, was taken to Botsford Hospital and treated for injuries. Her car and one driven by Gerald E. Stovel, 53, of Warren were both stopped on eastbound Eight Mile, four-tenths of a mile west of Haggerty Road, waiting for a school bus to unload.

A third car, driven by Daniel G. Fletcher of Salem, hit the Cushing vehicle, causing it to collide with Stovel's car.

A passenger in Fletcher's car received minor injuries but refused medical attention. State Police said Fletcher was ticketed for driving too fast.

Under investigation by state police detectives is a violation of the state narcotic laws which reportedly took place May 7 at Detroit House of Correction Women's Division.

Break-in and theft of a color television and gun set from a home at 47500 West Six Mile is under investigation by state police.

Unknown persons entered the home between 7 and 8:30 p.m. May 9 through an unlocked door.

Missing are a 12-inch color television set and an eight-shot pistol.

Township police are investigating a break-in at 708 Base Line which took place over the past weekend.

Missing is a stereo turn table valued at $125. Pry marks were found on the south side of the home.

Ten youths were issued tickets for trespassing at Maybury over the weekend. Seven were issued violations Saturday night. All from Detroit and Southfield, the youths were between the ages of 17 and 20.

On Sunday afternoon, three Livonia youths, between the ages of 16 and 19, were ticketed.

Police also recovered a quantity of suspected marihuana.

In Northville

Following a high-speed chase which ended in Northville, a 23-year-old Plymouth man faces charges of fleeing and eluding police officers.

The chase, which took place at 1:21 a.m. Friday, originated on Sheldon Road at Five Mile when Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies attempted to pull over the man for a routine traffic stop.

Arrested was Michael L. Hilla of Plymouth.

According to reports, the man headed northbound on Sheldon. City police officers were in the process of setting up a roadblock on Sheldon, just south of Seven Mile Road at the bridge, when Hilla's car ran through the roadblock, hitting the rear bumper of one of the city police cars.

City police gave chase north on Sheldon Road (Center Street), east on Dunlap and apprehended Hilla at Hutton and Main streets.

No injuries were reported and the city police vehicle received only minor damage.

Involved in the chase were two sheriff's cars, two Northville City Police cars and one Michigan State Police car.

A 22-year-old Farmington woman was taken to St. Mary hospital in Livonia for treatment of head injuries sustained in an accident Friday at the intersection of Novi Road and Eight Mile.

City police said Linda S. Knapp received minor injuries when she turned from Novi Road onto eastbound Eight Mile Road into the path of a westbound vehicle.

The westbound vehicle was driven by Fred L. Steinkopf of Milford. He was not injured. She was ticketed for failing to yield to oncoming traffic.

City police are investigating a report of vandalism at the C&O Railroad siding near Griswold Street which took place May 8.

According to reports, train crews were violating cars onto a side track under the Griswold Street bridge shortly after 10 p.m. Two cars and the caboose, which had just crossed the switch, derailed on the southbound side of the track.

Train crews told police they believe vandals were responsible for throwing the switch while the train was crossing. An undetermined amount of damage was done to the three cars.

In Wixom

Construction companies working on new buildings at the Village Apartments Complex at 48200 Pontiac Trail suffered financial losses last week as two different breakings and enterings netted thieves close to $3,000 worth of merchandise.

The first of the two thefts occurred sometime last weekend between 4:30 p.m. Saturday, May 5, and 7:30 a.m. Monday, May 7.

Stolen were eight windows and four doors which were to be installed in the new apartment building. Value of the stolen property was placed at $1,500.

The second theft at the Village Apartments involved the breaking and entering of a construction trailer owned by the Walker Biggs Electric Company.

It occurred sometime between 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, and 7:30 a.m. the following day.

Thieves broke in through the rear door of the trailer and removed more than 22,000 feet of electrical wire and 2,000 wire nuts. Value of the stolen property was estimated to be in excess of $1,370.

A Detroit man reported that the windshield of his 1965 pickup truck had been shot out while the vehicle was parked in the employee's lot at the Wixom Assembly Plant.

Erman Dale Morris told police he had left the truck in the lot at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, and gone to work. When he returned at 5 a.m. Wednesday he discovered that the front windshield had been shot out.

According to police reports, the bullet had penetrated through the back window of the cab and proceeded into a camper on the rear of the truck.

A Howell man, Gordon Bailey, was somewhat less fortunate than Morris.

Bailey told police he parked his 1972 pickup truck in the Ford Motor Company's employee lot at 5 p.m. Tuesday, May 7. When he returned to the parking lot at 4 a.m. the next day, he discovered that his truck had been stolen.

In Novi

Following continued investigation, Novi police have made a second arrest in a cattle rustling case which occurred Saturday, April 14.

Arraigned before Judge Martin Boyle in 52nd District Court last week was David Louis Luedtke, a Northville resident. Luedtke is charged with larceny over $100, a felony. Judge Boyle set examination for May 18 and released Luedtke on $1,000 personal bond.

Gary Klocke, also of Northville, was previously arrested on the same charge in conjunction with the cattle rustling case. According to police reports, the two are responsible for the butchering of a 1,200 pound hereford cow from an Eight Mile Road Farm.

A Suzuki motorcycle and a clock radio were what thieves took during a breaking and entering of a Novi residence which occurred last week.

The break-in took place at a private residence at 43605 Nine Mile Road sometime between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on May 8.

The owner of the home told officers that someone had broken into the house and obtained the keys to a new 1973 Suzuki motorcycle. The thief then proceeded into the garage and departed with the vehicle and a clock radio.

The items had an estimated value of $830.

Vergil Jackson, a Novi man, has been arrested on charges of larceny by conversion over $100.

He was arraigned before Judge Martin Boyle in the 52nd District Court on May 9. He was placed on $1,000 personal bond and examination was set for June 14.

Police are looking for a man who stole a trenching machine from a building under construction in the Nine Mile-Nowi Road area.

The construction foreman told officers that the machine had been stolen from inside the building. The machine is valued at $500.

The theft occurred sometime between 5 p.m. May 7 and 8 a.m. the following day.

A microphone and 20 feet of connecting cord were reportedly stolen from Novi High School.

According to school authorities, the microphone had been used at a city council meeting April 9 and then returned to its storage place in the high school building. The theft was discovered at 8 a.m. the following morning.

attained adult status. The case has been stalled as police obtained a waiver from juvenile authorities to try Sansone in an adult court.

The waiver was finally granted and Wednesday, May 9, 52nd District Court Judge Martin Boyle bound Sansone over to Circuit Court authorities. Arraignment in Judge Thorburn's circuit court is slated for Thursday, May 17.

2 Men Rescued In Water Mishap

Thanks to the efforts of a Rochester and Pontiac man, two Highland Lakes residents are alive today.

George Richards of 19578 Crystal Lake and Frances DeKinderen of 19550 Mann Court were rescued from Swan Harbour Lake Friday morning after their row boat capsized.

According to Michigan State Police, James Bowman of Rochester and Herman Lipka of Pontiac were standing on the shore when Richards leaned over the side of the boat to pull up the anchor and the craft capsized.

Richards and DeKinderen hung on to the side of the boat until Bowman and Lipka paddled out in a canoe. They put the two men in the canoe, swimming along side of the canoe until they reached shore.

State Police said Bowman and Lipka then went back into the lake and towed the row boat to shore.

With the air temperature 61 degrees and the water temperature in the 30's, both Richards, who is 64, and DeKinderen, who is 56, told state police they could not have made it back to shore unaided.

State police credit Bowman and Lipka with saving the two men's lives.

Host Commerce Director

Richard K. Helmbrecht, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, will be the guest speaker Monday at the annual Mayor Exchange Day luncheon program at the First Presbyterian Church.

Hosting the Michigan Week program again this year is the Northville Rotary Club. Chairman of the week-long activities of Michigan Week in Northville is William McLaughlin.

Appointed to his present office by Governor William G. Milliken in 1972, Helmbrecht previously served as deputy state commerce director and special assistant to the governor for economic expansion for six months.

The State Commerce Department, which was created in 1965 under provisions of Michigan's 1963 State Constitution, is made up of seven bureaus and commission. They include the Cemetery Commission, Corporation and Securities Bureau, Financial Institutions Bureau, Insurance Bureau, Liquor Control Commission, Office of Economic Expansion, and the Public Service Commission.

As State Commerce Director, Helmbrecht serves on more than a dozen boards and commissions.

He is a native of Warren, Pennsylvania, and was graduated from Penn State University in 1959. He received his master's degree in political science from the University of Chicago in 1963. He taught political science at Hastings (Nebraska) College for one year.

In 1966 he came to Lansing to work as an intern in the office of Governor George Romney on a Ford Foundation Fellowship from the national Center for Education in Politics. He served as administrative assistant to then Lieutenant Governor Milliken in 1967 and as Governor Romney's legislative assistant during 1968.

Helmbrecht served as an administrative assistant to Governor Milliken from 1969 until April of 1971 when he was named director of the Governor's Office of Program Development and Planning, the position he held until he was appointed deputy state commerce director for economic expansion.

He and his wife, who have three children, live in Okemos.

How About Students?

Ban Board Smoking

While considering possible modification of the no-smoking rule for high school students on the one hand, the Novi Board of Education has moved quickly on the other hand to snuff out all smokes at future board meetings.

Board action to ban smoking at its meetings, including puffing by board members themselves, ironically followed a request last week by representatives of the high school student council that the board consider provision for a student smoking lounge or specified smoking area at the high school.

The student council request was taken under advisement by the board for study of all available data on the subject.

Following conclusion of this discussion, however, Board Secretary Ray Warren moved to ban smoking at board meetings. He was quickly supported by Trustee William Moak, the board voted 5-1 for the ban.

Taking the position that smokers may have the right to commit suicide, Warren argued strongly that they do not have the right to harm others in the room. Moak agreed, noting that the condition at board meetings caused by the smokers, especially by cigar smokers, was "unbearable for the audience" and himself.

Warren and Moak are non-smokers.

Of the board smokers, however, only Board President LaVerne DeWard voted against the ban.

In urging the ban, Moak suggested that a break at future meetings would be advisable to permit those who must smoke to do so outside of the board room.

He carried his smoke-break suggestion a step further, recommending that board members do their coffee drinking and cookie eating during the break and not at the board table during meetings.

Although the board had praise for Ron Broquet for the manner in which he presented the student council request, it was less than anxious to take immediate action. More study is needed, members agreed, and a suggestion for temporary smoking permission pending the study was quickly scrapped.

Warren questioned the legality of the board permitting smoking by students under the age of 18 when the law specifically prohibits it, and he expressed doubt that specified smoking area privileges would result in less vandalism in high school lavatories as suggested by students.

Moak said it would be "ludicrous" for the board to rationalize over permitting 18 year olds to smoke when clearly, under the law, they may do so. Furthermore, he said if a designated student smoking area is permitted he would oppose it being outside so long as teachers may smoke indoors in their lounge.

Permitting teachers to smoke indoors and forcing students outdoors would be demeaning to students, he argued. Superintendent Gerald Kratz, who indicated an outside smoking area might be worth a trial but that consideration of an indoor smoking area demanded more study, advised the board that it should consider the fact that growing evidence indicates smoking is harmful to health. To officially permit smoking, he suggested, might encourage it.

Dr. Kratz also noted that while 18-year-olds may legally smoke, school boards nevertheless may prohibit it on school property.

Student Council members recently sampled student and community opinion on a proposed smoking area, and it contacted other school districts to determine policies there on the subject.

Following completion of its survey, the council met with the superintendent and the president of the board, prompting a formal request by the council to the board.

That request suggested a trial basis smoking privilege accompanied by six guidelines:

1. Smoking to be allowed outside the hall near the band room where the portable classrooms were formerly located.

2. A smoking identification card, containing the parents' signature, to be required and checked periodically by teachers.

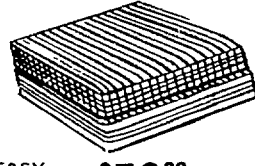

3. Hallways to be patrolled by paid students with the authority to report students for possible suspension.

4. Butt cans to be provided to keep the smoking area neat.

5. Stricter penalties for smoking in school: first offense, five-day suspension; second offense, 10-day suspension; and third offense, board action.

6. Student smokers are to be responsible for the smoking area, which could be used before, between, and after classes and during study hours.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Timing is a very important ingredient in any endeavor.

Poor timing can cause all kinds of trouble. Like in a golf swing, for example; or telling your wife you had spaghetti for lunch as she's about to prepare spaghetti for dinner; or washing your car just before it rains.

Or receiving a degree in banking during the infamous "banking holidays".

That's what happened to A. Russell Clarke when he received his MBA degree from the University of Michigan in 1932.

Now Clarke can look back on the "good old days" and smile. He's retiring this month after 38 years as a Northville banker.

Undaunted by the fact that jobs in his chosen profession were unavailable in 1932 the youthful future bank president from the Upper Peninsula took off for New York and landed a job with the Isthmian Steam Ship Line.

He may have been the only ordinary seaman with a college degree working on the "crummy freighter" for $26 a month plus food and lodging. But then, many graduates weren't working at all.

So Clarke saw Hawaii, the Philippines, Singapore, Egypt, the Suez Canal and the Dutch East Indies.

He's a little vague when you ask him about the Dutch East Indies. He jumped ship there with a fellow seaman, who like Clarke was a little tired of the rigors of ship life and saw adventure beckoning.

But the freight line authorities had experience in dealing with ship-jumping adventurers and soon apprehended the wanderers.

Clarke and his shipmate were fined for each day they were missing plus the cost of the apprehension. By the time the pair had worked their way back to New York aboard the freighter they still owed money to their employer.

This little experience apparently taught Clarke that banking, not shipping, was his profession.

So with the help of his father, also a banker, Clarke found a job in Northville in 1935. This month he ends a long and distinguished career as this community's number one banker.

Some of the early directors in Northville banking have either died or left the community. But Clarke remembers the familiar names of John Boyce, G. Carmi Benton, Alex Christensen, E. S. Beard, E. C. Bryan, E. M. Bogart, E. H. Lapham, L. C. Stewart, and Roy Terrill.

Banking Graduate Clarke in 1932

And when he came to town as a young man anxious to make good on his first real job, he found a friend in Harold Bloom, a teller at Depositors Bank who invited Clarke into his home until he could rent an apartment.

Russ didn't mention this to me, but about a year after coming to Northville the bank was robbed. The bandits, who were never caught, made everyone lie on the floor and instructed Clarke to open the vault.

The honest-faced Clarke told the bandits he couldn't because of the "timing device". They believed him and made off with money from the tellers' windows.

Actually, examiners were in the bank at the time and the vault was open.

Another incident Clarke doesn't talk about goes back to the early days of harness racing at Northville Downs.

The security procedure for nightly banking of betting receipts was a little more casual in the early forties when night racing was making its debut. After the money was counted Earl Montgomery, who doubled as police chief and public works superintendent, would dump the money bags in his car, pick up Clarke, and take the money up to the bank vault.

One morning at a very early hour Clarke awoke tormented by the realization that he and the chief hadn't dropped off the money at the bank on the previous evening.

Clarke dressed quickly, drove over to Chief Montgomery's house, went directly to the garage where he found the bags containing $70,000 in the back seat of the chief's car.

Computerization, the emphasis on efficiency, the constant pressures to improve upon last year's figures are producing a new breed of executive in the modern business world.

The odds that a man with the humanity of Russ Clarke will come along again in our community are slim indeed.

He possesses that rare ability to recognize and rebuke a four-flusher without being insulting. He can use profanity without being profane. And he can be "one of the guys" without losing his dignity.

Occasionally this newspaper will receive an inquiry from either outside, or within, the community to provide a list of the most respected residents who might be called upon to lend assistance to a worthwhile project.

Russ Clarke always tops that list.

I'm convinced that those bank robbers still believe, wherever they are, that the bank vault was locked.

Russ Clarke said it was so.

Speaking for Myself

Mayor Exchange Waste of Time?

GILBERT WILLIS

YES...

I believe most of the South Lyon City Council feels as I do that mayor exchange is a waste of both time and money. Both could be put to better use.

The day is an expense to the taxpayers for entertainment of the visiting officials and for travel expense for our own delegation.

When we went to the other towns, and I have gone to approximately 11 exchange days as mayor, the city fathers were usually a little reluctant to give us any information — on taxes, salaries, even laborers' wages.

In fact, I asked one councilman what they paid their D.P.W. men and he acted like it was a big secret. He said, "We'll tell you but don't let them know."

We readily told visitors about our town and showed them everything we have, including Michigan Seamless, the sewage disposal plant — whatever they wanted to see.

In most of our exchanges though, they took us to what they wanted us to see and told us only what made them look good. It seemed to us that we seldom saw anything really that outstanding or that we could relate to — size or moneywise.

In one town, they greeted us with, "Well, let's show them around and get it over with."

We returned to South Lyon that day before dinner and dined at a local restaurant — at our own expense.

Mayor Pro-Tem

NO...

Mayor's Exchange Day has been for me a very rewarding experience.

It has brought the opportunity to see first hand what other communities of our comparable size are planning and have accomplished. It is a chance to discuss similar problems which all small growing communities have in common and also to learn a little regarding the ethnic and cultural customs related to certain areas in our state.

Many mayors will come home, as I have many times, enthusiastic about what they have seen and filled with ideas for their own communities.

There is very little expense involved and yet the rewards are many.

Communities are given an opportunity to understand and commune with one another which often will create a bond of friendship between them. The hospitality of Wixom is becoming well known throughout the state and it is a compliment to our residents and municipal leaders and employees that some of our exchange cities request to return again.

Completes Salute to Moms

To the Editor:

Your spotlight on four Novi-Northville mothers prior to Mother's Day was appropriate, yet incomplete. While your selections were obviously meritorious, they were admittedly limited to "modern mothers" in pursuit of an occupation, education, recreation, or participation in an activity outside the home. My wife is like dozens of other area moms who are hopelessly old-fashioned. While they "do more than sweat over a hot kitchen stove", their other activities are limited to such incidentals as redecorating, gardening, handling home business matters, housekeeping, etc. But the kitchen is the most vital area. Where else can a mom bake bread, prepare ingenious meals (on an ever-challenging food budget), whip up fancy desserts, etc., while handling an uncountable number of interruptions, distractions, and disasters.

I think old-fashioned moms are the prettiest moms in the world. I'll bet there are plenty of husbands and children in Novi and Northville who will agree.

Print this letter and your salute to area moms will be complete.

Thank you,

If you can't find some humor in defeat life would be pretty miserable—and no one realizes that more than those who campaigned for the defeated annexation proposal.

Take for example the campaign worker who spent some 15 minutes in a home arguing the benefits of annexation only to learn later that the man of the house who had been shaking his head "yes" throughout was deaf and had not heard nor understood anything of what was said.

Or the door-to-door campaigner who was greeted by the homeowner's question, "Are you one of the good guys or the bad guys?"

One campaigner was surprised when the homeowner cracked, "But I don't vote here often." And when the curious worker asked, "Where do you vote?" back came the reply, "Mostly in Pennsylvania."

Another door-to-door campaigner spent nearly an hour trying hard to convert an opponent of annexation. When he had exhausted his arguments, the worker was momentarily elated when the property owner finally conceded that he had been wrong and that annexation was worth his vote. Then came the blow: "You've convinced me, but I voted by absentee ballot yesterday and I voted 'no'."

"I'm going to vote 'no' this time around," said one homeowner seriously, "because I voted for annexation in Northville two years ago and I didn't like what happened."

"Annexation...is that something like a vaccination?" asked one curious youngster of a campaigner.

After giving his detailed annexation presentation, complete with flip-charts, a campaigner asked his neighborhood coffee audience if they had any questions. "Yes," came the reply, "where did you (hostess) get these slip-covers?"

"Two-thirds of the audience favored annexation by the time the meeting ended," bragged the speakers in their report following a community assembly at the city hall. "And we think the other guy was wavering," they added.

"What becomes of our township horses if we annex?" asked one worried rural citizen. "Can we keep them or do they get civilized?"

One worker who introduced himself as a proponent of annexation quickly got the message when the householder replied, "Yeh, and I'm against it and so is this here dog of mine."

Introducing himself to a voice inside the house, another worker drew this response from through the screen: "Oh, just come on in and put it on the table...I'm taking a bath."

"If you're for annexation what's the 'no' sign in your window for?" asked a campaigner. "It's a peace symbol," she whispered, pointing to similar signs in her neighbors' windows.

From Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
Michigan Representative

One of the problems which concerned me very much in the last election was the long voting lines and the resulting long wait for people waiting to vote. Thus I was very pleased last week when House Joint Resolution H came up for third and "final" reading on the House floor.

HJR-H would amend the Michigan constitution to cause judges to be elected in November of odd numbered years rather than even numbered years as is presently done. This should reduce the size of "bedsheet" ballots and give voters an opportunity to consider their choices for judgeships more carefully. The resolution is sponsored by a Republican colleague, Martin Butth of Rockford.

In the opening debate an opponent of the measure moved to send the resolution back to committee. I voted against sending it back and the motion lost, 41 to 61. The resolution then came up for a vote and I voted for it, becoming one of 58 representatives voting FOR, with 44 voting AGAINST.

Ordinarily, this would have done it, but proposed constitutional amendments require a two-thirds majority (74 votes in the House) and so we lost. After further parliamentary maneuvering, the resolution was revived when a motion to reconsider the vote passed and the bill was then returned to committee.

Later, one of the senior House members asked me what I thought of the debate. "I was disappointed," I responded, "and I wonder why so many House members who are lawyers argued against it." He smiled. "Don't you know? A lot of those lawyers are just waiting for a chance to run for a judgeship. With terms of legislators ending in even numbered years and judgeship elections moved to odd numbered years, they'd be out of office a year before they could run."

Questionnaire Responses - How You Voted
In the last election many persons found that the lines were too long when they came to vote. How would you like to see this situation remedied?

11.8 percent — Have elections more often, with less on each ballot.

21.5 percent — Shorten the ballot by making judges and some other offices appointive.

ANNE KOVACH

Services were held Monday, May 14, for Anne Kovach of 25702 Strathaven Drive in Novi who died May 11 in Providence Hospital, Southfield, after a long illness. She was 56.

Born October 21, 1916, in Clarkston, West Virginia, she was the daughter of Michael and Catherine (Sedmak) Zadell.

A resident of Novi for the past two years, she was a member of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church.

Surviving are her husband, Anton F. Kovach, four daughters, Mrs. William (Judith) Mancuso of Oak Park, Mrs. Antonio (Mary Jane) Lopiccolo of Pinckney, Mrs. William (Suzanne) Horle of Detroit, Mrs. Daniel (Barbara) Henshaw of Royal Oak, three sons, Anthony of Walled Lake, James of Farmington, and Robert of Novi.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Catherine Berry, Mrs. Mary Sustarsic, Mrs. Stella Zorman, Mrs. Judy Handy, all of Cleveland, Ohio, three brothers, Frank Zadell of Milan, Ohio, Louis Zadell, Andrew Zadell, both of Cleveland, and 17 grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by one son, William.

Rosary was said Sunday evening at the Casterline Funeral Home and funeral services were held Monday at Our Lady of Victory Church where the Reverend John Wittstock officiated. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

School Election

Ballot Questions Viewed

Editor's Note: Voters in the Novi School District will decide two millage (renewal-additional) proposals and one bonding proposal in the annual June election. Following is the first of a series of questions and answers prepared by the school about the proposals.

How will the tax rate be affected?

The renewal (7 mills) requires no increase, as it merely continues the operational tax, which was in effect through 1972, for five years more.

The second proposal will increase the total (operational) tax rate by 2.5 mills, and the millage levied for operation will then be 28.3.

The third proposal for bonding authority will increase the present debt retirement obligation from 7.3 mills to 8.48 mills, which, when added to the 28.8 operational millage, gives a total of 37.28 mills.

The present tax rate for school is 26 mills for operation, plus 7.3 mills for debt retirement, making a total of 33.3 mills. The total increase millage, if all propositions pass, will be 3.98 mills. These projections of tax rate will be accurate for the 1973-74 school year with debt retirement rates for the future dependent upon the amount the assessed valuation increases.

Who can vote?

Registered voters who have registered with the appropriate city clerk before 5 p.m. on May 11.

How much majority is required to carry the proposal?

A simple majority. Exactly how will the school program be improved with the passage of these proposals?

1. The present program will be continued and expanded.

2. Additional counselor at the secondary (high school) school.

3. Addition of a reading consultant at the high school, and addition of a special teacher at the elementary level.

4. Expand library books, teaching aids and personnel.

5. Purchase of two additional buses and employ drivers.

6. Expand special education program.

7. Community education program will expand.

8. In-service training for teachers will be established.

9. Establish a preventative maintenance program for buses.

How would these proposals benefit a family without children or a family whose children are grown and out of school?

Property values are related directly to schools. One reason property values have decreased in other communities is because of school problems. People seem to wish to buy homes in a community which has good schools. In a similar manner, they seek a good strong school program over a period of years. These proposals will continue the present program, and thus property values.

How does Novi rank in comparison with other districts in Oakland County as to total operating millage?

Ponders Rezoning

R-1 and we purchased our homes in good faith that the R-1 was going to remain," he said.

More prevalent, however, was a general criticism of the city's land use and rezoning policies. "We don't want a Livonia or a Southfield here," argued George Wright, a Willowbrook resident. "What makes Novi a nice place to live is its trees, its open land, its orchards. Why can't you leave the land alone?" he asked. "It's time the city council and the planners knuckled down and forced these developers to leave parks and trees and open spaces."

A woman noted that Novi has an Olde Orchard subdivision but is quickly losing all its old orchards.

When Councilman Berry suggested that Pomish consider donating or selling part of his property to the city for a park, Mayor Crupi strongly criticized the suggestion.

"You can't use the right to rezone property as a level to extract promises or land grants from developers," stated Crupi. "The only thing affecting our decision should be the request proper land use."

To the suggestion that the city buy some of the land Crupi responded that there's no money available for purchase of park lands. "You can't buy something that costs $10 if you haven't got 10 cents," said Crupi.

Crupi also criticized an argument by Councilman Louie Campbell that the rezoning be denied until the drainage problems had been resolved.

"If you're going to sit on your duff until all the drainage problems are resolved, there'll be no development in Novi until the year 2000," he said.

By a 5-1 vote the council decided to reject the request for the commercial zoning on the corner of Grand River and Meadowbrook. Crupi cast the dissenting ballot.

A motion to delay action on the second part of the request was postponed to May 29 pending receipt of a meets and bound description of the property by a 5-1 margin. Campbell cast the "no" vote to the motion to postpone the matter.

Michigan Week

Awards for Outstanding Senior Citizens will be awarded at the dinner by the Chamber of Commerce.

Tuesday, May 22: To celebrate Heritage Day, an all city "pot luck" ladies' luncheon will be held at the V. F. W. Hall on Loon Lake Road beginning at 11 a.m. A "white monkey" auction will follow the luncheon.

Wednesday, May 23: A display of products made in Wixom will be on display in the City Hall throughout the week in commemoration of Livelihood Day. A businessman's lunch will be held at the Continental Restaurant on Wixom Road.

Thursday, May 24: To celebrate Education Day, the Wixom Extension Group will host a tea at Wixom Elementary School to honor Mrs. Beatrice Leffel Hallett and Robert Chandler, both of whom spent many years teaching at the school.

Friday, May 25: Hospitality Day will be highlighted by a dance for teen-agers 13-17 years old at the Wixom Elementary School. "Rock Pillow," a rock band, will provide the music at the dance which is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 p.m. and run until 11:30 p.m.

Saturday, May 26: Culminating Wixom's Michigan Week festivities will be Community Pride Day. The day will get underway at 8:30 a.m. with a pancake breakfast at the U. A. W. Hall. A pancake, sausage, and applesauce breakfast is planned for all who attend with meals being served until 11:30 a.m.

At 2 p.m. the second annual Kids versus Kops softball game is scheduled to take place with the firemen helping out the police this year. Boys 13-17 years old can sign up for the game at City Hall.

Concluding Michigan Week will be the annual Goodfellows Dance at the U. A. W. Hall from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Tickets may be purchased from any Goodfellow for $3.50.

Vikki plans to continue working for a year

John will attend Western Michigan University

John Regenhardt's Salutatorian

Vikki Brown Tops Class

Vikki Brown has been named valedictorian and John Regenhardt has been named salutatorian for Northville High School's Class of 1973.

Announcement of the top two seniors at Northville High was made this week by Mrs. Violet Bradford who heads the school's counseling department Vikki, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown of 45015 Galway Drive, earned a 4.1429 grade point average and graduated from Northville in January, completing her high school career in three and one-half years.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Regenhardt of 44428 Cottisford. He holds a 4.0769 grade point average. Averages above 4.0 are possible in Northville since "A" grades in honor courses carry a total of 5.0 points.

Although Vikki graduated in January, she will be present for the June 14 graduation ceremonies. She and John will lead the class of 300 students which will be the 104th to graduate from Northville High.

Vikki is the first valedictorian to graduate at mid-year from Northville High. However, Mrs. Bradford explained that with "mid-year graduation more common now, she probably will not be the last valedictorian to graduate in January."

Vikki said that she also is "probably the first valedictorian who's not going to college, or at least not right away."

Presently employed by The Northville Record, as a typesetter, she plans to "work here for at least a year. This year is to get everything straightened out," she added.

"Eventually I believe I will go to college, but right now I'm not motivated," she explained.

Vikki, who has attended Northville schools since the fifth grade, has been a member of National Honor Society, served as secretary of the student council during her junior year and worked in the high school office all through her high school years.

Regenhardt, who has attended Northville schools all of his life, will begin his college education in the fall at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. He plans to major in German.

Active in Northville's band program, he plays the clarinet. He has been in National Honor Society since his junior year and also works part-time at Ely Fuel Company.

Earlier this year, he earned finalist standing in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Both the valedictorian and salutatorian will be among the students cited Thursday, May 31, at Northville's annual honors banquet.

Township Board Confirms Sewer Assessment Roll

Construction is expected to begin in the fall on the $314,000 sanitary sewer project in Grand View Acres.

The assessment roll for the project was confirmed by Northville township trustees at a special meeting held last week Wednesday.

Bonds are expected to be issued for the project in September for a period of 15 years. Construction will begin shortly after the bonds have been sold, Supervisor Lawrence Wright said.

Of the $314,000 anticipated cost of the project, $285,000 will be paid by the property owners with the remaining costs picked up by the township.

Half of the costs have been assessed on a per front foot basis with the other half assessed on a benefited lot basis.

Per front foot costs are $10,226 with $1,700 pegged as the benefit cost charged to each home owner.

Bonds for the project will carry a six-percent interest rate. Wright explained the average assessment is $3,500 for a total of $5,100.80 including interest for the 15-year period.

Assessments will be billed to homeowners on their regular tax bills, with the first payment due February 28, 1975, and following payments due February 28 of each year thereafter.

Not included in the assessment is an approximate $400 tap-in fee.

Responding to questions from the audience, Wright said there is no deadline for hooking into the sewer system and subdivision residents may join the sewer system at any time.

He explained, however, a bill currently before the state legislature, would make it mandatory for homeowners who have sanitary sewers available to them to hook into the system within a certain length of time.

It is also permissible for a municipality to set a date by which homeowners must hook in to the sewer system, but the township has not chosen to do so.

Wright also said homeowners may pay the total assessment during the first year, avoiding interest payments, or may choose to pay off the remaining assessment anytime during the 15 years.

Payments will decrease each year, he explained.

door during the day collecting newspapers.

Vernon said a total of 1,000 litter bags will be distributed to downtown shoppers Saturday. Decals will be given away to youngsters for their bikes, he added.

Sunday, May 20, is Spiritual Foundations Day with area churches invited to toll their bells between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Clergymen have been asked to mention the Michigan Week observance that pays tribute to the enduring faith of Michigan's pioneers.

Other specially-designated days include Livelihood Day, Wednesday; Education Day, Thursday; and Hospitality Day, Friday. McLaughlin points out that locally it has been the custom to include young people in the Government Day festivities, rather than to mark Education Day separately.

On Hospitality Day next Friday merchants of the community will welcome shoppers in their stores with special Michigan Week promotions. The city is cooperating with free parking that day.

In announcing the 1973 Michigan Week program for Northville, McLaughlin stressed that he hopes residents will turn out Monday and Tuesday to make the mayor's welcome and the historical society craft exhibit successes. McLaughlin, who is chairman of the Michigan State Central Committee for the Republican party, is a Northville resident.

Mobile Homes Park Likely Despite Protests of Citizens

ordinance." He indicated that zoning the entire frontage of the property commercial "is not pertinent to the site plan."

Oldford said he did not want the plan "to be held up if the front must go through the commercial zoning process" which could take several months. "You could approve the plan with the alternate."

Zoning the entire frontage commercial, on which a shopping center is to be built, would eliminate about six or eight lots, Oldford said.

Philippeau also stated his "big objection, besides" the fact it is a mobile home park, is the density. Any possibility for more open space and still maintain the 4,000 square foot lots you have?"

Oldford said the "density is less than your (allowable) multiple density. All lots are 4,000 square feet or over. If you want us to reduce to less than 4,000 square feet, then we can give you more open space."

He added that "mobile home villages are primarily for people who work, single people and widows. You do not have to be as concerned about providing open space as you do in apartments."

He explained that 10 of the lots were larger than 4,000 square feet.

Dorothy Tillson of Highland Lakes expressed concern over depreciation of the mobile homes. "Will you have any thing to control the depreciation?"

Thomas said there "will be controls."

Norman Postma, resident of Edenderry, asked if there was "any legal way to stop this thing? How many square miles of industrial land is in the township?"

Acting planning chairman Kenneth Sewell commented there is less than one square mile.

"Then we could have one square mile of trailer parks in the area if the people don't object," Postma commented.

Don Thomson of Maxwell, who also is the township's representative on the Northville Recreation Department, said the "township does not have the money to go out and buy land for recreation. We must start allowing for recreation in large projects. If there will be kids, you must allow for recreation."

"As much area as Levitt has set aside for recreation in Highland Lakes, it will not be enough to take care of the number of children," Thomson commented.

Sewell explained that Oldford's plan calls for .9 acre of recreational land.

Oldford said he was not willing to go beyond that amount for recreation "until we're sure the site plan is acceptable. There is still room to have more recreation. We'll see what type of people move in and if they require it."

Janet Van Voorhis of Highland Lakes asked the township put "a moratorium on building until the sewer (shortage) problem is worked out is the township."

Arthur Jahn, owner of the A & W drive-in which is across the C&O Railroad tracks from the development, was the only resident to speak for the mobile home park.

"In the past years I've had trouble with the vacant land," he said. "I would like to see something go in to control the land. It's just a big playground now."

James Clarke of Edenderry asked what the incentives are to the township to support the mobile home park.

Planning commission member John MacDonald said the township "has an ordinance and that's the problem. What we think and what we like are two different things. We are not going out and looking for (mobile home parks)."

Planning commission member Bernard Baldwin said that mobile homes "are a form of housing that must be recognized in setting up the ordinance. There is no way to legislate mobile homes out of the community."

MacDonald said "we permit them but are not encouraging them."

Clarke said he did not feel the township "needs one, two, three or any motor courts. Kids using firearms on the property is a flimsy proposition to support the plan," he said in reaction to Jahn's comments about hunting taking place on the land.

Judi Bathey of Edenderry asked why the land, zoned for industry now, could not be used for "light industry like the Farmington Industrial Park near the Holiday Inn. It's nice looking and people would not object."

Sewell said it was zoned for such but that the owner chooses to use it for mobile homes.

Oldford explained he had "offered the land as an industrial park but there were no takers. We originally asked for multiple zoning but it was not allowed" by the township.

He continued that "we could put an asphalt plant there. All industrial parks are not like Thompson-Brown's" Farmington park.

Kay Starcevic of Edenderry asked that Oldford "eliminate mobile homes that come down to Seven Mile Road." Sewell said it would "be impossible to completely hide it."

Beth Young of Meadowbrook said it was "regrettable the township must pass on something so many people are opposed to. Can't you amend the ordinance so the City of Northville does not find itself surrounded by trailer parks?"

"We have Kings Mill traffic, Highland Lakes traffic, commercial areas on Seven Mile, a funeral home, trains and the racetrack during certain seasons."

"Can the intersection of Seven Mile and Northville Road adequately handle this traffic?" she asked.

Clarke asked if more police and fire protection would be necessary because of the development.

MacDonald explained the township has "four policemen and a volunteer fire department. Whether or not more police and firemen are needed depends upon who you talk to. The chief of police thinks he needs an army. Plymouth township has decided not to have any police."

"We don't have the money for more police. As it now stands," MacDonald continued, "we would have to go to the people for more money."

Clarke added that the "quality of the building determines the quantity of the police and fire protection which is needed."

Earmarks Funds

Northville township's $45,000 revenue sharing funds are soon to be earmarked for spending.

Last week, Supervisor Lawrence Wright commented the township has received $36,126.42, with an additional $9,000 expected by the end of June.

Wright said he has learned the Federal government may soon be asking what local governments have done with the money.

"Our funds are in the bank, earning interest of course, but I feel we should earmark those funds," the supervisor said.

To date, the township has spent $5,000 of the money for voting machines.

Trustee Leonard Klein favored allocating funds for the township's next payment towards the fish hatchery program.

Talks Underway For Fire Pact

Supervisor Lawrence Wright is currently discussing the possibility of mutual fire protection with officials in Plymouth township.

Wright last week told township trustees that one of Plymouth township's fire stations must be relocated "because of the expressway and that fire station could be relocated near us. I am exploring the idea with them now."

Currently, Northville township contracts for fire protection from the City of Northville.

When questioned by Trustee Leonard Klein how Plymouth could respond to calls phoned into the Northville Fire Department, Wright commented, "That must be worked out."

Trustee Richard Mitchell, chairman of the township's fire study committee, asked the supervisor to appear before his committee later this month and "explain what you've gone over."

Mitchell said several meetings of his committee are planned this month.

Trustee Richard Mitchell said some funds should be set aside for fire equipment, which Klein said he also favored.

Trustee Charles Schaeffer asked that a minimal amount be allocated to the planning commission to have their consultant look at establishing bike paths in the township.

The supervisor, clerk and treasurer were directed to come up with suggested allocations and report back to the board.

Collect 4 Hits in 2 Games

Mustangs Drop Crucial Double Bill

Just when it counted the most, the once booming bats of the Northville baseball team fell silent Saturday as the Mustangs dropped both ends of a crucial doubleheader to Waterford Mott.

"Four hits," muttered Chuck Shonta, coach of the Northville nine. "Four hits in two games. It's hard to win ball games with hitting like that."

The Mustangs had journeyed to Mott Saturday for the crucial double header with the Western Six Conference championship riding on the outcome. The Mustangs entered the contests with a 4-1 mark, while the Corsairs had a half-game edge with a perfect 4-0 record.

"That was the league right there," observed Shonta. "We had to win one out of two to still be in the race and if we'd have taken both games I think we could have gone all the way. But losing two knocked us right out of it."

By virtue of their sweep, Mott just about wrapped up the conference crown by advancing their record to 6-0, while relegating the Mustangs to third place behind Churchill with a 4-3 mark.

The two losses to Mott were only part of what was an all-around bad week for the Northville nine. Wednesday they managed to hold on for a 6-5 victory over Walled Lake Western, but Friday they dropped an 8-7 decision to Brighton.

By the end of the week the Mustangs had lost five of their last six games and their once sparkling 8-1 mark had dropped to 9-5.

"We've been playing poor baseball," commented Shonta in explanation of his club's sudden turn-about. "We're making mistakes in the field that we weren't making before. We're bobbling grounders, making bad throws, throwing to the wrong bases, things like that."

"When you're not fielding and you're not hitting, it's tough to win ball games."

Ed Kritch hurled the first game of the double header against Mott and turned in a fine seven hit performance, limiting the Corsairs to just one earned run.

But Kritch's effort was lost as the Mustangs collected just two hits off Mott's Dave Carter and suffered a 2-0 loss. Randy Oginski collected both Northville hits.

"We shouldn't have lost it," said Shonta. "But we weren't getting any hitting. We loaded the bases with two outs in the seventh and all we needed was a base hit to tie it up, but we just couldn't get the hits when we needed them."

The Mustangs weren't even close in the second game as Mott's Steve Miller held them hitless until the sixth inning when Wally Reed finally stroked a single. Ron Renault collected the other Mustang hit in the seventh.

The Corsairs jumped all over Northville ace Joe Bishop for four runs on four hits in the second inning and that was enough to clinch the win.

"Joe had a sore elbow and it hurt him out there," noted Shonta. "He pitched the whole game because he wanted to, but he was struggling all the way."

The lone bright note of the week for the Northville nine was their 6-5 conquest of Walled Lake Western Wednesday.

Ted Marzonie, Northville's senior left fielder, played a key role in the game as he stroked out two hits - a single and a double - and drove in three of the Mustangs' six runs. With the bases loaded in the second, Marzonie laced a single that scored Randy Oginski and Todd Eis; and then in the fourth inning the slender left fielder stroked a two-out double that scored Jim O'Brien all the way from first.

The two teams were tied 3-3 at the end of four innings, but the Mustangs scored three times in the top of the fifth to take a 6-3 lead the Warriors were not able to overcome. Two bases on balls and a hit batsman spurred the three-run rally and Bill McDonald with a sacrifice fly and Jim O'Brien with a single collected the rbi's.

In Friday's loss to Brighton, the Mustangs simply ran out of pitchers. With the double header against Mott slated for the following day, Shonta had to save Kritch and Bishop and turned to Glenn Kundrick and Scott Cummings instead.

At the end of three innings, Northville held a 1-0 lead thanks to Ron Renault's unearned first inning run, but in the fourth the roof caved in. Kundrick suddenly lost his control and walked three of the first four Brighton hitters. Two singles and a three-run homer later, Brighton had a 7-1 lead.

The Mustangs rallied for four runs in the bottom of the fourth and knotted the score at 7-all in the sixth as Bill McDonald delivered a key two-run double, but Brighton converted two walks and a single in the top of the seventh into an 8-7 triumph

DIVING CATCH—Northville catcher Bill McDonald made a diving catch of a short pop fly off the bat of a Bulldog hitter in the Mustangs' game with Brighton Friday. In spite of McDonald's efforts behind the plate, the Mustangs dropped an 8-7 decision to the Brighton nine.

Surging Wildcat Nine Sets Sites on Title

Novi's varsity baseball team is for real.

They proved that conclusively last week as they lambasted the daylight out of three conference foes and moved into position for a strong run at the conference crown as the SEC 1973 season heads into the stretch.

With key victories over first South Lyon and then Dexter, the Wildcats pulled into second place and are closing fast on first place Saline.

With just two weeks to go, Coach Rick Trudeau's Novi nine has an 8-2 record, while Saline is on top with a perfect 6-0 mark. South Lyon is third with a 6-4 mark and with two losses last week is fading fast.

"I like our chances, I really do," commented Trudeau as he viewed the SEC race. "Saline got rained out again last week and that means they've got to play eight more games in the next two weeks. I just don't think their pitching staff can take it. That's too many games to try to make up and don't forget that we get a crack at them in one of those games."

"There's going to be a lot of pressure on them coming down the stretch. I'll tell you this, if they manage to get through the next two weeks, they'll deserve to win."

Novi's move to the top has been accomplished through a combination of every manager's dream - a stingy, hard-throwing pitching staff and a whole line-up full of lusty hitters.

And never was that combination more in evidence than it was last week. In their three games - two of them against key conference foes - the Wildcat hurlers yielded a total of just three runs, while the hitters were stroking out 31 hits and scoring 32 runs.

Did somebody say something about a "Big Green Machine?"

Perhaps the most important of last week's games was Thursday's contest with South Lyon. By virtue of a sweep of a double header against Dundee, the Lions had managed to pull a half game ahead of the Wildcats in the standings. That situation was short-lived, however.

The Wildcats erupted for six big runs in the third inning and then coasted to a 9-2 triumph.

The star of the game, however, was not a hitter, but pitcher Dave Brown. The big junior hurler held the Lions without a hit until the seventh inning when a pair of singles ruined his bid for a no-hitter.

"Dave was really throwing hard," observed Trudeau. "He was throwing that high, hard fastball and they were hitting a lot of fly balls. That's a sign that he was overpowering them."

Novi scored once in the second when Brown came in after Dan Kardell had walked with the bases loaded, but their big inning was the third where they worked over a pair of Lion pitchers for six runs.

Walks to John Pantalone and Tom Celani and Brown's second straight single loaded the bases for Mike Riley who responded by ripping a two run single. Brown scored on an error by the third baseman, then Ron Buck singled in Riley. Tim Assemany tripled in Buck, and Kardell lofted a sacrifice fly that brought in Assemany.

And that was the ball game. The Wildcats continued their lusty hitting the following day when they played Dexter, a team which had handed them one of their two conference defeats this season.

But this time the Wildcats were ready for them. Mike Riley tossed a fine five-hitter and kept the Dreadnaughts off the scoreboard until the sixth and the hitters unleashed another of their one-inning outbursts as the Novi club registered a decisive 10-1 victory.

The game was scoreless until the third when the Wildcats erupted for seven runs. Mark Wentzel was on the hill for Dexter and the senior fireballer whipped third strikes past the first four Novi hitters, but in the third the Wildcats zoomed in on Wentzel's fast ball and sent him back to the showers.

Singles by Assemany and Kardell put two on with no one out and when Wentzel hit Eric Hanson with a fastball, the Wildcats had the sacks full. Eddie Brown singled to center to drive in two runs and, after a walk to Celani had reloaded the sacks, Dave Brown stroked a double that brought in two more runs. Riley singled in Celani and Dave Brown scored the seventh Novi run of the frame on a double steal.

Ed Brown also picked up rbi's in both the fourth and sixth innings as he finished the game with a total of four rbi's.

The victories over South Lyon and Dexter came after the Wildcats had opened the week with a 13-0 conquest of Milan.

John Pantalone got the starting nod from Trudeau and responded with a five hitter and his first shutout of the season.

The Novi hitters, meanwhile, were doing their usual hatchet job on the opposing pitching staff. With singles runs in the second and fifth innings and two runs apiece in both the third and sixth innings, they had built up a 6-0 lead by the time they came to the plate in the top of the seventh, at which time they broke loose for seven runs to douse whatever hopes Milan may have harbored for a comeback.

Buck doubled in Assemany in the second and Tom Celani laced a two run homer in the third. Ed Brown singled and came around to score on a pair of Milan errors in the fifth and Assemany and Buck each collected an rbi in the sixth.

And in the seventh...well, the Wildcats did it again. A walk and two singled loaded the bases with nobody out. Celani got hit by a pitch to drive in one run, Riley singled in a run, Pantalone followed with a two-run single, and Buck picked up his fourth rbi of the game by singling home Riley. Kardell and Sean O'Brien picked up the other two Novi rbi's in the frame.

Near Western Six Crown

Mustang JVs Win 3

The pitchers on Northville's junior varsity baseball team were something short of fantastic last week as they were ripped for 28 runs in four games.

But fortunately the Northville hitters were experiencing more than a modicum of success at the plate as they scored 30 runs and enabled the Mustangs to win three of their four games.

"I would have liked to have won four out of four," commented Gary Emerson, coach of the junior Mustangs. "But the way our pitching was going I guess we were lucky to do as well as we did. I've got no complaints about the way our kids have been hitting, though, that's for sure."

Unfortunately Northville's lone loss was an important one as they were bombed 9-5 by Western Six Conference foe Walled Lake Western Wednesday.

"If we would have won that one we would have just about clinched the Western Six title," Emerson lamented. "As it is we still have a real good chance to win it, but it would have been nice to wrap it up early."

Emerson started his ace - John Boland - but the hard-throwing sophomore got no respect from the Warrior hurlers as they struck for eight runs in the first three innings.

The Mustangs scored once in the second as Boland lofted a sacrifice fly; added two more in the fourth as Ron Jennings doubled home Bill White and Tom Dooley; and struck for two more runs in the seventh as Scott Leu and Bill Beason picked up the ribbies, but were unable to pull any closer.

The loss to the Warriors marred what was otherwise a good week for the junior Mustangs who upped their seasons' record to 7-4. Monday they dumped South Lyon 7-3 and Friday they swept a double header from Brighton, 10-9 and 8-7.

Northville has some sort of spell cast on the Lion jayvees who have lost just twice all year - both losses coming at the hands of the Mustangs. And Monday's game continued the whammy as the Mustangs struck for five runs in the second inning and then cruised to the 7-3 win. Scott Leu and Bill Beason each had two-run singles in that frame and Dave Wilson knocked in a single run as Emerson's squad raced off to an easy win. Wilson picked up another ribbie in the seventh.

Norm Boerger with relief help from Don Funk picked up the victory.

The Mustangs wound up the week by sweeping a pair from Brighton. "They weren't what you'd call a well-played pair of games, but they certainly were interesting," noted the Mustang mentor.

In the first game the two squads struggled to an 8-8 draw after six innings. And Northville's Andy Butterworth wrapped up the win in the top of the seventh with a 340-foot shot that cleared the fence in left with a runner on first to give his teammates the 10-9 triumph.

The nightcap was even more dramatic. Dean Mitchell started for the Mustangs and pitched no-hit ball through the first four innings as Northville compiled an 8-0 lead.

But Brighton struck for five runs in the fifth and narrowed Northville's lead to 8-7 with a rally in the last of the seventh. But with two down and the tying run on third Emerson called in Boerger from the bullpen and the sophomore pitcher K'd the last hitter to preserve the win.

Ross uncorked a 20-foot long jump in the Class C regionals last Saturday to take second place and qualify for the state finals this Saturday at Central Michigan University. He will also be competing in the 880 and as a member of Novit's mile relay team in the state meet.

Novi League Begins

A combination of rainy weather and sloppy field conditions forced cancellation of all but one game as action in the Novi Little League got underway last week.

In that game Thomas Steel Forms registered a 5-2 victory over Jamaican Pools in a Minor League contest (8-9 year olds).

Officials issued a last reminder that tryouts for the Babe Ruth League (13-15 year olds) will be held Saturday, May 19, at 12 noon on the Novi High School field.

Players who were on a Babe Ruth League team last year do not need to try out. May 19 is also the last day for paying the $10 registration fee for the Babe Ruth League.

Novi Little League officials also extended thanks to area residents who supported their Candy Sale. Little Leaguers raised over $2,000 which will be used to purchase equipment for this summer's action.

The schedule for the coming week is as follows:

Major League
Monday, May 21 Novi Police versus Novi Party Store, Bain Brothers versus Novi Firemen
Tuesday, May 22 B&V Construction versus Rexall
Wednesday, May 23 General Filtrix

Lose 66-55 to Milan

Injuries Plague Thinclads

Anyone who has followed the fortunes of Novit's track team with any regularity this season would have been surprised if he had dropped in on the Wildcats' meet with Milan last week.

Miller Kirk Rosey was out there in the two mile.

And two-miler Dave Miller was in the mile.

Sophomore Brian Schingeeck was left alone to carry the load in the 440 and 880.

But the most surprising thing of all was Bill Ross, the Wildcats' fine middle distance man. Instead of appearing in the 440 and 880 as he usually does, Ross found himself in a variety of new roles.

First of all, Ross came roaring around the final curve to take first place in the mile run. And a few minutes later, there was Ross leading the field down the track in the 180 yard low hurdles. And a little after that there was Ross again, this time carrying the Wildcats' fortunes in the 220.

"We had to juggle our line-up a little," commented Del Munson, coach of the Novi track team. "I thought most of our kids came through in great shape in spite of their new events, the problem was we just didn't have enough depth out there to beat them."

The outcome of the meet showed Milan on top with a 66-55 victory.

Reason for Munson's extensive juggling act was that old Novi bugaboo, injuries. Two weeks ago, the Novi mentor lost Pat Boyer and Jim Cook to the injury jinx and when he went into the Milan meet he had lost yet another key performer - Jim VanWagner.

Regardless of the losses of personnel, the Wildcats still held their own against Milan and actually managed to win eight of the 15 events.

Ross was the key performer for the Wildcats, as he personally accounted for three of those wins. The fair-haired senior won the long jump with a leap of 19'1/2", and then came back to win the mile (4:49.2) and the 180 yard low hurdles (22.55). The only event he competed in that he failed to win was the 220 yard dash where he finished third with a 25.05 clocking.

Munson also got a couple of first place performances from Brian Schingeeck - his promising sophomore middle distance man. Schingeeck won the 880 with a 2:07.8 clocking and then came back to take the 440 yard dash in 55.0.

"Brian really came through for us," commented Munson. "We put a lot of pressure on him, but he handled it admirably."

Ross and Schingeeck also played an important role in one other Novi victory.

Together with Mike Sumner and Mel Stephens they won the mile relay with a 3:48.5 clocking.

Novit's other two wins were recorded by Kirk Rosey who won the two mile run in 10:30.4 and Boyer who competed in the high jump just long enough to-top the field with a leap of 5'8".

"We decided to let Pat take a shot at the high jump in spite of his injury," reported Munson. "There was no way we were going to let him compete in the hurdles or long jump, though. It's the hurdles events which really aggravate his leg."

"We just want Pat to be ready for the state and for the league meets."

Boyer Eyes State Title

Del Munson, coach of the Novi track team, feels he may have a potential Class C state high jump champion on his team in the personage of Pat Boyer.

"I've talked with several Class C coaches from across the state and they tell me they consider Boyer one of the really first class high jumpers in the state," reported the Novi mentor.

"I think he's got a good chance to win a state championship, I really do."

Boyer was one of five Wildcats who qualified for the state finals in regional competition at Oxford last Saturday. Joining him in the state finals will be Bill Ross, a senior who qualified in three different events - the long jump, the 880 yard run, and as a member of Novit's mile relay team.

The other three Novi qualifiers all made it as members of the mile relay team. They are seniors Mel Stephens and Dave Miller and sophomore Brian Schingeeck.

Novi did well in the regionals, finishing third in the 17-team field with 20 points. New Haven won the regional championship with a 59.5 point total, while Byron was second with 41.5 points. "The only bad thing about the day was that I think we could have finished second if it weren't for all our injuries," commented Munson.

"Because of his thigh injury we only let Boyer compete in the high jump, but if he had been able to go in the high and low hurdles and the long jump like he usually does, I think he could have qualified for state in all three events and maybe even won a couple of them in the regionals."

Two other injured Wildcat thinclads who would have taken points at Oxford and qualified for the state meet were high jumper Jim Cook and middle-distance man Jim VanWagner.

Boyer was the only Novi performer to win a regional championship as he easily topped the field in the high jump with a leap of 6'2".

"He won it at 6'2" and immediately jumped the bar to 6'5"," Munson reported. "He's already done 6'4" and he wants to break that mark. He just missed 6'5" at Oxford. He brushed the bar with his back on the way over or he'd have had it. Given the right set of weather conditions and the right pit, I'm sure he'll go 6'5" in the state championships."

Ross will enter state competition in two individual events. He finished second in the long jump in the regionals with a 20'4 1/2" effort and then finished third in the 880 yard run with a 2:06.0 clocking.

Ross finished his day by joining Miller, Stephens, and Schingeeck on the mile relay team which qualified for state by finishing third in 3:44.3.

After Losing to South Lyon

Novi JV's Top Dexter

Timely hitting was the difference as the Novi junior varsity baseball team dropped a 4-2 decision to a tough South Lyon nine Thursday.

"We got four hits and they got five hits so we were pretty even in the hitting department," explained Bob Weinburger, coach of the Novi jayvees. "The big difference was that they got their hits in the clutch and we didn't."

The Wildcats made up for the loss to South Lyon Thursday by coming back the following day and registering an 8-5 decision over Dexter that squared their season's record at 5-5.

Pat McAllen was on the hill for the Wildcats in the South Lyon game, while Jim Wallace drew the starting nod for the Lions. The game remained scoreless until Novi broke the ice with a run in the bottom of the third as Paul Bosco delivered a bases-loaded single that drove in Tom Hardecki from third. But then South Lyon took over. With single runs in each of the last four innings, they had amassed a 4-1 lead by the time the Wildcats came to the plate for their last cuts in the bottom of the seventh.

Bill Barr opened with a long triple and scored when Mike Mulligan delivered a pinch hit single. A walk and a pair of stolen bases later, Novi had runners on second and third with one down and the top of the batting order coming to the plate. But Wallace retired the final two hitters to preserve the Lion win.

The Wildcats pounded out an 8-5 victory over Dexter the following day but they had to fight from behind to do it.

"It was what you could call a weird game," reported Weinburger. "Look at the box score and it will show you that both teams had nine hits. But what it doesn't show is that we hit the daylight out of the ball and all their hits were of the bleeder variety. They didn't hit the ball into the outfield all day long and we had a home, run, a triple, and two doubles."

Gary Ford scored in the first when Bosco laid down a squeeze bunt and Bill Barr followed with a home run. Ford and Barr teamed forces to score the third Novi run. Ford stroked a double in the third, inning and Barr delivered a single that brought him home. And Mike Collins scored in the fourth, coming home on a ground out after belting a long triple.

But Novi still trailed 5-4 when they came to the plate in the bottom of the fifth. They quickly remedied that situation by scoring a pair of runs as Barr doubled home Bosco and Collins singled home Barr. They iced the win with two more runs in the seventh.

Dexter wisely chose to walk Barr, but Craig Love also walked and Collins delivered a single to score Barr and Tom Hardecki laid down a bunt that scored Love to cinch the Wildcats' 8-5 victory.

Register Women For Novi Softball

Registrations for Novi's first Women's Slo-Pitch Softball League will be held this Saturday, May 19, from 1-3 p.m. at the Novi Community Building.

Sponsored by Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission, the league is open to all women 16 years of age and older. There is a $4 registration fee.

Mrs. Sherry Edwards, representative of the Parks and Rec Commission, noted that many women might be hesitant to register because they have either not played in a long time or were never any good at softball to begin with.

"I'd like to emphasize that this will be a fun league rather than a competitive league," she stated.

The league will meet one night per week beginning in June.

For further information contact Mrs. Sherry Edwards at 349-3570 or Mrs. Janice Edwards at 349-5200.

Wildcat of the Week

Wildcat of the Week honors go to Dave Brown. A 6', 170 pound junior, Brown is hitting a lusty .476 for the Novi baseball team. In addition to his prowess at the plate, Brown is also a key member of Coach Rick Trudeau's pitching staff. Last week he hurled six innings of hitless ball against South Lyon as the Wildcats upended the Lions 7-2 in a Key SEC game.

Two Mustangs Win Regional Track Titles

Ralph Redmond, coach of the Northville track team, had good reason to be pleased following his Mustangs' showing at the Class B Regionals at Clarenceville last Saturday.

A look at their accomplishments shows why. The Mustangs——set one school record;
—placed men in the top five in six different events to score 20 points and finish in fourth place in the tough regional field;
—qualified six men for the Class B State championships in Flint this weekend; and —produced two regional champions.

"I was really pleased with the way we performed," stated Redmond. "I was proud to be associated with Northville's track team in this regional because I thought they represented the school very well."

"All year long we've been saying that we were competitive in six different events and that's how many we scored points in," he continued.

Top performances were turned in by Jim Porterfield and Bill Witek who came out of the competition as regional champions in the shot put and pole vault respectively.

Joining them in Flint this weekend will be the Mustangs' mile relay team of Tim Taggart, Tom Coram, Guy Cole, and Bob Bloomhuff which qualified for the state meet by finishing third with a 3:35.2 clocking.

Coram, Cole, and Bloomhuff also scored points by finishing in the top five in the individual events, but failed to finish in the top three which would have qualified them for the state meet.

Coram finished fourth in the 880, Cole was fourth in the mile, and Bloomhuff was fifth in the 440.

The Mustangs' 20-point total was good for fourth place, one point behind Inkster which was third with 21 points.

Powerful Ecorse ran away with the regional title with 63 points, while Robichaud was second with 36 points.

Witek and Porterfield provided Redmond with more than a few anxious moments on their way to their regional championships.

Witek, who has been nursing a leg injury through most of the season, was a doubtful competitor to begin with.

"We didn't want Bill to aggravate the injury so we decided that he shouldn't even enter the competition till the bar got up to the 12'2" mark," Redmond reported. "He hasn't been vaulting too much because of his leg, but he's confident at that height."

Ultimately, that decision to wait until the bar hit the 12'2" mark won the championship for the senior Mustang vaulter.

Opening height was 11'6" and Witek's chief competitor cleared that height of his first vault and then cleared the 11'10" height on his first attempt.

Witek entered the competition when the bar hit 12'2" and both Witek and the other vaulter cleared the bar on their first attempts. The bar was then raised to 12'6" and neither boy was able to clear it on any of their three attempts. "Bill was over it easily all three times," Redmond reported, "but he knocked it off with his hands."

As a result of the three misses at 12'6" by both vaulters Witek was awarded the crown on the basis of fewer attempts - a vaulting technicality.

Porterfield, the Mustangs' husky junior shot putter, set a new school record in winning the regional shot put crown as he bettered his own mark of 51'5" by one-half inch.

Porterfield almost didn't make it into the finals. He fouled on his first two attempts and was put in the position of having to get off a good put on his third attempt to even qualify for the finals.

"Jim took it easy and lobbed a 46-footer that got him into the finals," his coach reported.

Porterfield was in second place as he entered the ring for his final put of the day, but he got off a 51'5½" shot that gave him the regional championship.

"Jim decided to go for broke on his last put," stated Redmond, "and it paid off. He was really happy. I think he was probably the happiest champion on the field. Of all the people on our team I can't think of anyone who deserved to be a champion more than Jim. He really worked for it."

Redmond was pleasantly surprised with the performance of his mile relay team which qualified for state by finishing third with a 3:35.2 clocking.

"We thought we had a chance to score points by finishing in the top five, but we really didn't expect to qualify for state because of all the good teams that were there," said Redmond.

The race developed into a two way fight for first and a two way fight for third between the Mustangs and Robichaud. Tim Taggart, Tom Coram, and Guy Cole gave anchor man Bob Bloomhuff a 15 yard lead over Robichaud's tough anchor man and Bloomhuff brought the baton across the line to send the quartet to state.

Coram missed by a hair of qualifying for the state meet in the 880 as he finished fourth with his best time of the year - a 2:01.3. The third place qualifier also clocked a 2:01.3, but got the trip to Flint by edging Coram at the tape.

In the mile Guy Cole missed third place by a second, finishing fourth with a 4:34.5. "Guy was nursing a bit of an upset stomach and I think that hurt him," reported his coach.

Biggest surprise of the day was sophomore Bob Bloomhuff who finished fifth in the 440 with a 53.0 timing.

Muriel Bedford Stars

Girls 4th in Regionals

Muriel Bedford personally accounted for 13 points as she sparked Northville's girls' track team to a fourth place finish in regional competition at Westland John Glenn High School Saturday.

Miss Bedford won the 440 and 880 yard runs and finished fifth in the shot put and will move on to the state finals this Saturday where she will be competing for the state 440 and 880 yard crowns.

Although Miss Bedford was the only Mustang to qualify for the state meet, one other Northville girl scored points by finishing in the top five and two Northville girls set new school records.

Sue Mahoney finished fourth in the 3,000 meter run with a new school record and Denise MacDermaid failed to finish in the top five, but still established a new school record in the 100 yard dash.

This is the first year that

Michigan has had regional and state competition in girls' track and thus Miss Bedford's winning times in the 440 and 880 will both go down as regional records.

The Mustang girls found themselves in regional competition with 23 other schools. Far and away the class of the field, however, was the strong Lincoln Park team which has one of the finest women's track programs in the nation.

After finishing fifth in the shot put, Muriel outlegged a fine half mile field in the regional and school record time of 2:25.8. That clocking was also a personal best for the senior runner.

Half an hour later in the 440 yard run, Muriel got off to a slow start but came on strong at the end to win by 10 yards with a 63.2 clocking.

Northville's other points were recorded by Sue Mahoney who finished fourth in a 3,000 meter field that included one of the top girl 3,000 meter field runners in the country last year. Sue's 6:12.4 clocking established a new school record and is 35 seconds faster than the former school mark in the event.

Denise MacDermaid established a new school record in the 100 yard dash with a 12.1 clocking.

BILL WITEK

Mustang of the Week

Mustang of the Week honors go to Bill Witek. Hobbled throughout the season by a nagging thigh injury, the senior thincled still managed to win a regional championship by pole vaulting 12'2" at Clarenceville Saturday. Witek made three attempts at 12'6" and cleared the bar all three times only to knock it off each time with his hand, Coach Ralph Redmond reported.

NUMBER ONE DOUBLES TEAM—Filling in the number one doubles slot for Coach Bob Simpson's surprising Northville tennis team is this twosome of Cary Eaker (left) and Rick Norton. Eaker, who is co-captain of the squad, and Norton have posted an 8-3 record in the top doubles spot this year and have been a key factor in the Mustangs' success on the courts. Both are juniors and will return to bolster the squad next year.

Ends Winning Streak at 6

Churchill Tops Netters

The six-game winning streak of the Northville tennis team came to an end last week as the Mustang netters were handed a sound 6-1 thrashing by the powerful Livonia Churchill squad.

The loss was particularly upsetting to the Mustangs' riot just because it brought their win streak to a 'close' but because they had placed such emphasis on their rematch with the Charger crew.

"That was it right there," commented Bob Simpson, coach of the Northville squad. "That was the meet we wanted to win. We really wanted to beat them badly."

And Churchill, a team which had lost just one point in all its matches prior to their rematch with the Mustangs, was no less primed for the battle.

"It's a grudge match out there," said Walt Yauch, the Churchill coach. "I'm not quite sure how the feelings got so high, but both teams are really up for this match. They're really out to get each other."

But, as the final score clearly indicates, the Chargers came out on top.

Only Jamie Boshoven, the young lady who plays in the fourth singles spot on the Northville team, was able to conquer her Churchill opponent. The rest of the Mustang netters all went down to defeat.

"I think we gave them a pretty good match," commented Simpson. "It was closer than that 6-1 score indicates."

Indeed, after the first set in each of the seven match-ups had been completed, it looked as if the Mustangs were on their way to an upset. Greg Boll at first singles and Cary Eaker and Rick Norton at first doubles each dropped their first sets to Churchill, but the Northville netters posted first set victories at second, third, and fourth singles and second and third doubles.

Unfortunately, the Chargers rallied to win in three sets in each case except "Billie Jean" Boshoven's fourth singles slot.

Boll lost to Mark Osenko in straight sets 6-3, 6-4 at first singles, while Frank Knoth lost 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 at second singles and John Oatey lost 5-7, 6-2, 6-2 at third singles.

"Billie Jean" had an easy time at fourth singles putting away Jim Purdy in straight sets 6-1, 6-3. It was Purdy who had handed Miss Boshoven her only loss of the season when the two teams first met in April. Coincidentally, it was the first time Purdy has been defeated this year.

In the doubles competition, Eaker and Norton lost 6-3, 7-6; John Folino and Rob Bowman lost at second doubles 2-6, 6-2, 6-1; and Jon Sewell and Jim Bonamici at third doubles ended up in a weather-forced tie with one win apiece.

The Mustangs got back on the winning track quickly after their Monday loss to Churchill. Wednesday they downed Walled Lake Western 6-1 and Thursday they felled Milford 6-1.

The Mustangs won all four singles matches and the first doubles match in downing Western 6-1½. Boll went three sets but finally wrested a 6-3, 5-7, 6-1 win at first singles; Knoth won 6-2, 6-3; Oatey took a 6-4, 6-1 decision; and Billie Jean coasted to a 6-3, 6-1 triumph.

In doubles play Eaker and Norton lost their first set 6-1, but came back with 6-0 and 6-4 wins in the second and third sets to win at first doubles.

The other two Northville doubles teams were less fortunate. Bowman and Folino went down 6-0, 1-6, 6-4 and Sewell and Bonamici lost 2-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Against Milford Simpson juggled his line up slightly, giving some of his younger players an opportunity to get match experience. Boll and Knoth were at first and second singles as usual and posted 6-1, 6-0 and 6-2, 6-4 wins respectively. Jim Mulville got a chance to play at third singles and won 6-1, 6-3; while doubles star Rick Norton played his first singles match of the season and won handily 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles play, Simpson teamed Oatey and Miss Boshoven and they responded with a 5-7, 6-0, 7-5 win at first doubles. Dave Sparling and Royd Riddell won 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 at second doubles while Tom Bradley and Dan Conder fell 6-0, 6-3 at third doubles.

'Start Your Soapboxes'

As drivers toolled up for Saturday's Indy 500, a call went out this week for local drivers to compete in the fourth annual Soap Box Derby slated here Saturday, June 23.

Sponsored by the Northville Jaycees, the Derby is open to all community youngsters, ages 8 through 13.

According to Derby chairman David Van Hine, the Derby features home-made racers of no special design requirements.

"Our only rules," he said, "require the racer must have at least four wheels set in two parallel axles, the wheels having a diameter not greater than 16 inches. There must be some sort of steering system and a braking system on each racer."

"Drivers must wear protective headgear of some sort, such as a racing or football helmet. The racer can be of any reasonable height, length and width and may be constructed of any material the driver wishes." However, an advance registration is desirable to insure an early place in the races.

A driver may have assistance in constructing his racer but only he may actually drive it in the race, Van Hine added.

Each racer will be run by gravity only and will race in two-car heats down the hill on Maplewood, between Grace and Horton streets. A double elimination system is planned to determine the top three overall winners, each of whom will receive a suitable trophy.

The race is scheduled to get underway at 10 a.m.

There is no entry fee for the Derby and advance registration is not required.

Application forms and information sheets are available from the Northville Recreation Department or from Van Hine at 556 Langfield Drive.

Persons wishing additional information are asked to call Van Hine at 349-3015.

Tankers Set Plans For Swim-A-Rama

Northville High School natatorium will be the site of an all-day Swim-A-Rama this coming Saturday to raise funds for the swim team.

Swim team members, other students, parents, and friends of Northville are invited to participate.

Each person participating in the Swim-A-Rama will solicit businesses for 15 cents a length and individuals for 10-cents a length.

Each participant is limited to 240 lengths total.

The swim starts at 7 a.m. and continues to 5 p.m. Money raised from the Swim-A-Rama will be placed in a bank account to be used for the varsity, freshman, junior high and girls' swim teams.

Ben Lauber, swimming coach and director of the Swim-A-Rama, invites everyone to watch the marathon. He also suggests that "if a swimmer comes to your door for sponsorship, please back him or her for a few lengths."

4-H Club Plans Annual Clean-up

Members of the Lyons 4-H Club held their sixth annual trash pick-up recently with typically amazing results.

"We started at Eight Mile and Currie and picked up all the trash to Eight Mile and Napier," reported 4-H'er Shirley Visnyak. "We got about six truck loads of trash."

Among the collected items were 16 mufflers, a toilet bowl, numerous real estate and produce signs, and enough automobile parts to practically assemble a new car.

"Mostly," reported Miss Visnyak, "we found a lot of bottles and cans."

Following the pick-up, the Lyons 4-H-ers were given a case of pop for cleaning the road by George McCaffery of Eight Mile Road and were later served tacos by Mrs. Norwood Balko of Napier Road.

In other 4-H Club news Denise Dingee of South Lyon was selected 4-H Club queen by the Oakland County extension service recently.

Scott McKay of Holly was selected king. Each will receive a $200 scholarship.

Last Tuesday the Lyons 4-H-ers had a seminar with a conservationist in which they discussed conservation plans for Oakland County and the Northville-South Lyon area.

Vocal Concert Set

A Spring Instrumental and Vocal Concert by students of Walled Lake Western High School will be presented Tuesday, May 22, at 8 p.m. at the E.V. Ayres Auditorium. Admission is free.

Karen Wilkinson, senior, will solo in Mozart's Violin Concerto in D Major with the orchestra.

The concert band, the Western choir, and the men's and women's chorus will perform under the direction of Helmut Holland-Moritz and Alexander Zerban, music instructors.

Final presentation will be selections from the musicals "Sound of Music" and "Oliver" by the combined vocal and instrumental groups.

MARK C. CHAMBERLAIN

In Uniform

Mark C. Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Chamberlain of 48268 Cedarwood Novi, has enlisted in the Navy's Delayed Enlistment 'CACHE' Program.

Scheduled to graduate this June from Novi High School, Seaman Recruit Chamberlain enlisted for the electrical specialties group consisting of interior communications electrician, electrician's mate and construction electrician. He will be assigned to one of these three schools upon completion of basic training at Great Lakes, Illinois.

He enlisted through the Navy Recruiting Office in Southfield and will depart for basic training at Great Lakes, Illinois and active duty on August 24.

Contest Winners Named

Robert Blackmer and Christine Fritz, students at Novi Middle School, were the winners of the "What America Means to Me" essay contest sponsored recently by the Novi Jaycees.

Blackmer was the seventh grade winner, while Christine was tops among the eighth graders.

The "What America Means to Me" essay contest was sponsored by the Novi Jaycees with Philip McNery as project chairman. Seventh and eighth graders are urged to submit an essay of 500-700 words.

Both Bob and Christine were awarded a $25 savings bond by the Jaycees for their winning essays.

In addition their names will appear on a large wooden plaque which will be kept on permanent display at the Novi Middle School. The names of the winners will be added to the plaque each year.

Nursery Elects

The Novi Co-Op Nursery announces the election of officers for the 1973-74 year. The newly elected officers include the following: President Mrs. B.R. Killick; Vice Presidents Mrs. Garry Kidd and Mrs. Daniel Taylor; Secretary Mrs. David Hofsteen; Treasurer Mrs. Raymond Nied; Council Delegate Mrs. Vincent Niemur; and Membership Chairman Mrs. Brett Bjorkman. All but the membership chairman will take office on June 1. Mrs. Bjorkman is already in office and is taking applications for membership. She can be contacted at 349-8076 for information about the nursery and applications.

Featuring 18 different arrangements, Bob Webber's Picture Groups started with an idea

Idea Catches On

He Makes Better 'Picture Frame'

What started as a seed of an idea during a Rotary convention in Toronto has blossomed into a handsome new business for Northville entrepreneur, Robert Webber.

Today, less than a year since he seriously started work on his idea, a product Webber calls Picture Group is being sold in gift and camera shops throughout Eastern United States.

Picture Group, which friends suggest would be a natural for the Michigan Week Product-of-the-Year, simply is a cluster arrangement of five photographs on Styrofoam.

Each cluster contains an 8 x 10, two 5 x 7 and two 3 1/2 x 5 photographs.

But by varying horizontal and vertical pictures artistically, Webber can offer the customer 18 different combinations. Thickness of the Styrofoam behind each picture also can be changed to offer still more variations.

The process of laminating the photographs, usually in color, on the Styrofoam is Webber's secret.

Initially, using the scenic and nature pictures from his own collection, the professional photographer assembled a number of Picture Groups and tested them for public reaction in gift shops in Glen Arbor and Petoskey.

As a result of this showing, a chain of gift shops (Mole Hole) in the Eastern United States snapped it up.

Similarly, camera shops became interested and began taking orders from their customers. The Hershey Rarks in Hershey, Pennsylvania also has begun selling them.

Customers ordering Picture Groups may select from Webber's own pictures or they may submit their own slides for reproduction in Picture Groups.

Webber's next step was to visit college campuses in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio, snapping pictures of familiar and attractive campus scenes. These he reproduced in the Picture Group, which students are buying for their dormitory walls or for friends and families at home.

Presently, Webber, who has owned and operated the Northville Camera Shop since 1965, is experimenting with still another way to enhance his Picture Group sales.

He's begun collecting and assembling pictures of tourist attractions. For example, one Picture Group may contain interesting pictures taken at the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Another may spotlight some historic Civil War battleground.

Each will be made available to tourists in the area where the attractions are located.

Because he makes all the Picture Groups himself in a small shop adjacent to his studio, on South Main Street, Webber is in no big hurry to increase the marketing outlets for the new product. He just doesn't have the time to devote to the manufacture of large quantities.

"It's time consuming," he says of his growing businesses. "I've become a conglomerate," he lights, referring to the Picture Groups, his eight-year-old camera shop, his commercial photo studio, and—since last summer—a store selling Furn-a-Kit products.

Keeping busy is a trademark of Webber.

Graduated from Albion where he played in the college band and orchestra, he served with the United States Navy in the Pacific during World War II, joined General Motors in 1946 and by 1950 was production control manager for a diesel engine and farm tractor firm in Hanover, Pennsylvania.

Three years later he joined the Ford Motor Company, eventually becoming Latin American operations coordinator for Ford International. He was with Ford until starting the camera shop.

It was his hobby of opening of the camera shop, and the three other businesses that followed

ALL OUTDOORS

America is discovering that yard care can be fun again—a welcome relief from today's pressure living. And Case outdoor power equipment is the key to this new world of outdoor fun. As a Case outdoor power equipment dealer, you sell and service proven products, with the same kind of precision engineering, performance, durability and service that mark the big Case farm and construction machines. You sell with confidence, backed by the $400,000,000-plus Case Company, a division of Tenneco. Power ranges from 8 to 16 hp to appeal to a wide range of prospects, both home owners and commercial users. A full line of compact tractors with attachments, riding lawnmowers and walk behind mowers, tillers and snowblowers. What does it take to be a Case outdoor power equipment dealer?

A capital investment on your part is minimal. Case provides wholesale financing with floor plan privileges to make it possible for you to sell from a "full shelf." You can finance retail sales through Case Credit Corporation. The most important qualification by far is YOU. If you enjoy meeting people, selling them on the fun of home care with Case equipment and providing their relatively simple service needs, you have the makings of a profitable dealership. We'll supply the product and service know-how as well as management training. Interested? Now is the ideal season to investigate the Case franchise. ## Space Left

In Voc. Ed.

There are still some openings at the Southwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (SVOVEC) for summer students.

There is space for additional students in food service, electronics, welding, greenhouse and landscaping, data processing, retail plant sales, total office procedures, dental assistance, and diesel shop.

Students interested in summer courses should contact either their high school counselor or Boynton at the Vocational Center.

Summer school runs from June 25 to August 3 and will meet from 8-11 a.m., Monday through Friday, at the Vocational Center, located at 3000 Beck Road in Commerce Township.

Boynton said that students who are presently sophomores and juniors will be accepted as long as there is room in class. Pupils from Clarenceville, West Bloomfield, Milford, Novi, South Lyon, Farmington, Farmington Harrison, North Farmington, and Our Lady of Mercy High Schools, as well as Walled Lake Central and Walled Lake Western High Schools are eligible to attend SVOVEC.

Television movies are more and more becoming the entertainment of the future. Today, more than ever, we see films which were possible not twenty or even ten years ago, but as recently as two years ago! The big money winners in the movie theaters are really only a step away from the television screen. This pleases many viewers with the exception of one thing—that is commercials. Recently, at one station break time during a very popular current movie, we counted eight commercials! Isn't there something that can be done about this?

Demolish Buildings in Summer

Eye Maybury Safety Projects

Safety security projects are underway at the new Maybury State Park near Northville to set the stage for development of public recreational facilities at the former sanatorium site, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

This June the DNR plans to complete fencing in the entire 865-acre park to keep people out of the area until it is safe and developed for initial public use.

The DNR is having the six-foot-high chain-link fence put up to control access and protect adjoining landowners from trespass problems by recreationists after the park is opened to limited public use—hopefully by the fall of 1974.

Under another project which places public safety first at the new urban state park, the DNR has contracted the demolition this summer of sanatorium buildings which generally are in a bad state of disrepair. Some of those brick, multi-story units house laboratories with potentially dangerous debris from chemicals and equipment, officials point out.

In general, the former sanatorium complex is interlaced with many other pitfalls to public safety—underground steam passageways and water supply tanks, ash deposit holes, old boiler rooms, power house systems.

"By necessity," explains DNR Parks Chief O. J. Scherschligt, "our first order of priorities has been to keep Maybury closed off to the public until we could remove or seal off these hazards. After that, of course, we want to get on with the job of developing the area for public recreation."

Since the DNR acquired the Maybury site from the City of Detroit for $3 million in 1972, it has provided a custodial staff there to enforce its closed-to-the-public order. The State Police and local enforcement agencies have assisted the DNR in this safety security measure.

Prior to the DNR's acquisition, the sanatorium site was patrolled by private police crews under a similar off-limits rule. The reason then, as now, was for public safety, points out Scherschligt.

As soon as the DNR can meet this basic concern, it will push ahead with the development of parking areas, access roads, picnic site, and toilet facilities within the 865-acre area.

If the DNR's present timetable holds up, the gates at Maybury will swing open to the public for limited recreation in the fall of 1974. At that time, recreationists there may also find trails throughout the tract for hiking and nature interpretation.

Also on the DNR's drawing boards for this early stage of development is a living farm complex where Detroit area children will be able to "touch and see" cows, pigs, lambs, and other such animals in a typical down-on-the-farm setting.

Beyond a year from this fall, the DNR hopes to carry through on its $7 million master plan of development for Maybury State Park to provide such improvements as a children's day camp, playfields, winter sports areas, fishing ponds, and an indoor recreational activity center.

Generally, the DNR's sweep of planned facilities for the area will be programmed and operated for people of all ages plus Detroit area residents who are handicapped or economically disadvantaged. In the picture, too, as these developments take shape, are horseback riding trails and other facilities to serve high intensity use.

Offer Free Saunas Annual Flower Sale Starts Friday

By NANCY DINGELDEY
As American as apple pie is the sauna (pronounced sow'na) to the Finn.

And this fact will be spotlighted in Wixom as citizens focus their attention on their Finnish heritage during Michigan Week.

Since hospitality and the sauna go hand-in-glove, the Finnish Summer Camp in Wixom will offer a free sauna and a friendly cup of coffee to Wixom residents Saturday—the "kick-off" day of Michigan Week.

Although the sauna has been Americanized it remains the "apple pie" of Finland.

Consider, for example, that in Finland a sauna is attached to parliament buildings. And when officials need a break to relax their minds they naturally retire to the sauna. Representatives of the Finnish Summer Camp note also that a homesteader in Finland will build his sauna first, then his house.

Offering a sauna to a guest is like offering him a cup of coffee. It's relaxing and refreshing, they explain.

Avid local sauna bathers quickly add, "It also recharges the boy's batteries. There's nothing like it after a long day at the office or after a hard day's work. It relieves the body and mind of stress and strain."

"It becomes a thing of pleasure and even a social event."

For those who are unfamiliar with the sauna, the Finnish Summer Camp offers a few tips for those who visit the camp Saturday:

(The bath is best taken 'au naturel,' but bathing suits will be acceptable for the occasion).

First, in the sauna one must relax completely. The dry heat will step up the blood circulation and, gradually, produce perspiration. Splashing water on the stove stones at this point is not advised.

After perspiring "sufficiently," one normally cools off a little on an enclosed veranda, under the shower, or with a quick swim. A face cloth soaked in cold water also helps the process.

After the cooling off period, the real steam bath begins.

Steam is produced by throwing small amounts of water onto the hot stones. Anyone wanting more steam (lovely) has the right to throw more water on the stones. Courtesy, however, demands that one should ask the other bathers first so that the heat can be regulated according to the wishes of the weaker bathers.

At this stage, the "vihti" or birch switch is essential. When soaked, dipped in warm water and whisked briskly over the skin it aids the perspiration process and works up the blood circulation.

The hot room-cooling off process can be repeated as many times as desired.

After whisking, the important washing process begins. A soft brush is often used for the scrubbing. Sauna etiquette demands that the bather offer to wash the companion's back.

After washing and rinsing the body with plenty of warm water, but before the final cooling off, many bathers like to return to the sauna, allow perspiration to start again, and beat themselves again with the birch switch. This period, however, is much shorter than the initial one.

Following washing and a bout in the hot room, the final cooling off process is completed under a shower or in the lake.

Take your time for the cooling off and drying procedure. Natural drying in the cooling room is very refreshing. Do not dress before perspiration has stopped.

Kudos are in order for Jane Wahamaki on her award from the State of Michigan. (See story elsewhere in this paper.)

The annual Northridge flower sale begins this Friday, May 18 at 10 a.m. Orders already placed may be picked up at this time with additional individual boxes and flats also available for sale to the public. The sale will continue through May 20 on Hopkins Drive in the Northridge Subdivision.

Walled Lake Western's Girls' track team took a first place with 40 points at the Region Five track meet at Madison Heights High School last Saturday. Those girls finishing in the top three places qualified for the first girls State track meet at East Lansing High School this Saturday.

Playing a key role in the 440 relay and 880 yard relay races was Frida Waara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waara of Wixom. Frida also finished second in the 220 yard dash with a 23.8 timing.

Twenty-five schools participated in the track and field events.

Jackie McAtee, daughter of the Wes McAtee's of Maple Road, reported $45 earned for the March of Dimes last week from the walk-a-thon in Pontiac. She also claimed an infected toe from a broken blister also earned in the twenty mile hike for charity.

Phil and Marybeth Bissell of Northridge have returned home after a ten day trip to Boston, New York and Washington D.C. "We lived the life of luxury, had a fantastic time and gorgeous weather." They walked the Freedom Trail, and saw Concord and Lexington, as well as a performance of "Godspell" during their four days in Boston.

"Godspell" was really different. During intermission the cast served little cups of wine on stage to the whole audience. During a "let's go" trip to New York, the Bissell's then enjoyed another evening at the theatre seeing "Jesus Christ Super Star". Both were rated "just great".

The remainder of the trip was spent in and around Washington D.C. with former Wixom residents Candy Gagnon and her family. The Gagnons, by the way, are being transferred back to Michigan and will be living in Troy. Side trips to the planned communities of Columbia and Reston, Maryland, brought words of praise from the Bissells.

Kathy and Russ Wahamaki of Highgate attended the Birmingham Montessori Art Auction last Friday night at Stouffer's Northland Inn. Besides coming home with their planned purchases, Kathy and Russ won the door prize - a 19 inch portable TV.

Congratulations are in order for Belinda and Mike Schott. They welcomed a little daughter to their home. She is Aimee Lynn born on May 8. She weighed in at 8 lbs. 14 ozs.

Don't forget that a full week of activities has been planned for Michigan Week with something appealing planned for everyone. Kick off day is this Saturday with Youth Day. Of special interest to many Wixomites is the tea on Thursday honoring Mrs. Beatrice Leffel Hallett and Robert Chandler. Many will remember Mrs. Hallett during her thirteen years at Wixom School from 1943 to 1956 with many of those years spent in the old two room school. Mr. Chandler has been in the district for five years as a social worker.

Be sure and stop at John's Flowers to see the display of arts and crafts all produced by Wixom Residents. I'm sure you'll enjoy it.

PTA to Meet

Northville area PTA Council has scheduled a meeting for Thursday, May 17, at 8 p.m. in the Northville High School auditorium.

Residents of the Northville School District will be able to learn about the 1973 school bond issue which will be on the June 11 school board ballot.

Superintendent of Northville Schools, Raymond E. Spear, will present the building and educational plans for the proposed two elementary schools and one middle school.

Literature will be available for interested citizens and there will be a question and answer period following Spear's presentation.

Wallpaper can achieve effects that can be acquired in no other way. In a room with dormer windows, for example, wallpaper may be used on the sloping side walls and carried onto the ceiling. In a symmetrical room, wallpaper may outline windows and doors. If you have a room with an alcove, why not set it apart intimately with a contrasting wallpaper to what you have in the rest of the room?

Jane Wahamaki

Governor Honors Wixomite

A Wixom resident — Mrs. Jane Wahamaki — was honored by Governor William Milliken recently for her outstanding contributions to her community and to the state.

Mrs. Wahamaki was one of ten citizens from across the state selected to receive one of the Volunteer Leadership Awards, which are presented annually in conjunction with Michigan Week.

In a special joint session of the Michigan Legislature in Lansing on Tuesday, May 8, Mrs. Wahamaki was presented the Volunteer Leadership Award by Governor Milliken.

"Mrs. Wahamaki receives this award," said Milliken, "for her willingness to step forward whenever her services are needed in the community."

She was nominated for the award by Wixom's Michigan Week committee. Judges selected the 10 recipients two weeks ago from subsequent nominations submitted by Michigan Week county and regional chairmen.

Mrs. Wahamaki was nominated as Wixom's representative for the award for her role in coordinating the Wixom Identification Program (WIP) in a "well-planned, total community door-to-door effort" that resulted in 81.7 percent of all single family dwellings in the City participating in the crime prevention program. She has also worked to establish a Finnish-American Library at the Finnish Summer Camp Association in Wixom, and served as chairman of the 1973 Library Study Committee to determine the feasibility of the City having its own public library.

Mayor Gilbert Willis has since named Mrs. Wahamaki to the Wixom Library Board. Mrs. Wahamaki and her husband Sven (Ollie) initially moved to the area in 1946 and remained here until 1958 when a job transfer necessitated a move to Racine, Wisconsin. After a five year stay in Racine, they returned to the Wixom area and have resided here ever since.

OUTSTANDING CITIZEN — Mrs. Jane Wahamaki of Wixom was one of ten citizens from across the state selected to receive the Volunteer Leadership Award. She was presented the award by Governor William Milliken a week ago Tuesday in a special joint session of the State Legislature. ## Lion's Club Forms Chapter in Novi Efforts are currently underway to establish a Lion's Club chapter in Novi. Richard Faulkner was elected first president of the Novi chapter in a special organizational meeting May 9 and other officers will be elected May 23.

Charter Night has been set for June 23 with a dinner and ceremonies at the Thunderbird-Hilton Hotel in Plymouth.

The Lion's Club is an organization comprised of a community's leading business and professional men. Members come from the fields of industry, farming, education, commerce, and many others.

Purpose of the Lion's Club is to determine community needs and develop means of meeting them, either through their own efforts or in cooperation with other clubs and agencies.

Lion's are pledged to help those less fortunate than themselves. They are best known for their work with providing assistance for the blind, particularly through the Leader Dogs program, but they are also very involved in related fields such as hearing conservation and work with the deaf as well as providing citizenship, educational, environmental, health, and recreational services.

Faulkner, one of three officers elected at the May 9 meeting, is a Detective Lieutenant on the Novi police force. Chuck Nanas, assistant principal at Novi High School, was elected secretary and James Koster was elected treasurer.

Among those offices which will be filled in the May 23 balloting will be three vice-presidencies and a minimum of four members of the board of directors.

One of the first projects being undertaken by the Novi Lion's Club will be sponsorship of the Little Olympics program which will involve youngsters from all three Novi elementary schools in track and field competition.

Faulkner also indicated that shortly after the club has been chartered June 23 it will hold a "Ladies' Night" to set up a Lion's Auxiliary.

Presently the chapter has about 25 members and are seeking more. Anyone interested in joining the new Novi organization or acquiring more information is urged to contact Faulkner at 349-2444 or Nanas at 349-5155.

What is veneer? Veneer is a thin sheet of natural wood cut from a selected log on either a giant lathe or on a slicer. The log is secured in position and automatically moved up against a razor sharp blade which cuts the log into slices or "peels" it off in long continuous sheets. The cutting method determines the appearance of the wood and depends on the wood species, the appearance of the wood and depends on the wood species the particular log, and the grain figure desired. The three most common methods used are: rotary cut, flat-sliced, quarter-sliced. Veneer thickness varies according to the end use of the paneling itself. The look of veneer is lovely for your walls, furniture, and floors.

Gasoline Rationing?

Pinch Starts Showing up Here

Although some area service stations are less than optimistic, the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association of Michigan insists gasoline rationing and soaring prices won't occur in Michigan this summer.

Nevertheless, the national energy crisis is real and already the pinch is being felt at some local gasoline pumps.

The day of the 35 to 39-cent regular gallon is numbered, and by the time this newspaper edition hits the newsstands most, if not all local area service stations will be charging 40 cents or more for a regular gallon.

Some were charging nearly 43-cents for regular gasoline last week.

Local dealers don't expect any rationing will be passed on to customers, but many of them won't rule out the possibility of a summer shortage.

Van's Texaco of Wixom states flatly that shortage problems are in store this summer, noting that its supplier failed to fill his tanks last week. "It's got to happen," a spokesman said. "New cars are using more gas, and production (of gasoline) is way down. Regular is selling here for 39.9 cents but it will be up next week...you can be sure of that."

A spokesman for Sandy's Mobile Service Station in Novi admits frankly that he has been advised to "charge top dollar" while the gasoline lasts.

"They've told us they may cut us back to 90-percent of volume on a month to month basis. They haven't done it yet, but they sure can. It's (gasoline shortage) is coming; there's no doubt about it."

With quota systems in the works for some major brand dealers, the independent service stations may feel the pinch more than others. Merritt Lane, an independent dealer in Brighton, admits he cannot plan very far into the future. For him it's a week-to-week basis.

"I haven't run out yet," he said. "I'm hoping I can get more when I need it. It looks to me like the (major brand) dealers are going to get what they need but the little dealers..."

Lane's gasoline was selling for 39 cents last week, three cents lower than Brighton area dealers of other brands, but a cent higher than "cut rate stations."

Ward's Super Service of Novi refused comment, saying angrily, "Go talk to the company; they're the people to talk with." But oil company distributors won't talk. Spokesmen are either unavailable for comment, or they've been instructed not to discuss the matter with the press.

According to Charles E. Shipley, executive director of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association, any price increase in gasoline or shortage of supply will be barely noticeable to Michigan tourists this summer.

"The recently enacted gasoline tax has added approximately $2 to the cost of any tourist traveling 1,000 miles in Michigan," Shipley stated. He said Michigan prices are comparable to, and in some cases considerably lower than, other parts of the country.

"Availability of gasoline supply for the tourist should be plentiful," he declared. "Most all freeway stations are supplied by the major oil companies and from all available information they will have plenty of product available to take care of all tourists."

And the Michigan Tourist Council agrees: "All systems are 'go' for great summer vacationing in Michigan with plenty of gas to go on."

Cal Cross of Cal's Gulf in Northville isn't so sure the much talked about gasoline shortage is as serious as some have indicated. "Maybe I shouldn't say this but, frankly, I think it's as much of a shortage as it is an attempt by refineries to stabilize the (pricing) market." Cross doesn't anticipate any shortages at his stations this summer, but he adds

FILL 'ER UP...MAYBE—Although area service stations apparently have all the gasoline they need for immediate customer demand, some of them admit the future doesn't look bright even though a state retailers spokesman insists no rationing nor high prices are in store this summer. Above, Ted Slentz pumps gasoline at 43.9 cents per gallon at the Boron service station corner of 10 Mile and Novi roads in Novi.

cautiously, "but that doesn't mean there won't be a shortage."

Don Tapp of Tapp's Standard in South Lyon also suspects other reasons for the so-called shortage. He guesses that pressure "at the higher levels" to restore oil depletion allowance, efforts to get the Alaskan pipeline built and to get more off shore drilling rights may be triggering crisis talk.

Frains Lake Mobile on Plymouth Road, near Dixboro, which reportedly is one of the state's biggest pumpers of gasoline, declined to comment on the shortage nor would he disclose his volume of sales.

"What shortage?" asked a spokesman for J&D (Marathon) Service of Novi. "There's no problem at Marathon. We've gotten the word that (a shortage) perhaps may happen next year but nothing this year."

There's no pinch yet at Phil's 76 in Northville, but a spokesman noted that a reduction in delivery has occurred. "We used to be able to call and get a fill-up (12,000 gallons) almost immediately. Now we have to give them (supplier) 48 hours notice, and then they'll drop off maybe 4,000 gallons one time, 3,500 the next time."

"We've been guaranteed 100-percent of our sales from last year. But from there the word is pretty sketchy. It just means I've got to keep right on top of my inventory and give them more advance notice."

Northville Shell reports that Shell dealers have been informed they'll have plenty of gasoline all summer. To ensure supply to service stations, a spokesman said, Shell has cut out supplies to big accounts, such as the Ford Motor Company, which involves about 65 million gallons.

"No problem yet," says a spokesman for Asher Pure of Northville. "I've been assured they'll meet my '72 quota. Gasoline is up a little...42.9 for regular, but I don't think we'll have any problems this summer. Salesmen tell me, though, that some customers (service stations) in the Novi-Brighton area may be cut back."

Dick Bur, who supplies Standard gasoline for some 300 rural customers (farmers, etc.) in the Novi area, indicates that he has been placed on an allocation of selling only what he sold last year. "There's no new customers at this time...but that could change from week to week."

Novi I-96 Shell says it has been given no indication by Shell distributors that it may face any cutbacks this summer.

Bitten Shell Service Station of Brighton reports no problems. "They tell me it's (shortage) critical but I don't have any shortage yet," said Robert Bitten, owner.

Selling out later this month, Bitten said the new owner has been informed by Shell that it will guarantee him 100-percent of last year's sales plus an additional 10-percent.

Cole's Standard Service of Brighton is on an "allotment" of its last year sales, but sees no real problems ahead this coming summer. Regular gasoline sells for 42 cents as it does at Bitten.

"They've (suppliers) cut out the supply to independents to make sure they can supply our stations with all the gas we need," according to a spokesman for Clark 100 of Northville. "they tell us there may be some short periods, like a couple of hours, when we may be out of gas. But I think we're going to be in pretty good shape this summer."

Class '63 Reunion Slated

Northville High School Class of 1963 will meet on July 21 at the Roma Hall in Livonia for a class reunion. The organizers of the event are still searching for six class members not yet contacted.

Those individuals include Christine Boretti, Roberta Davis, James Boyer, Larry Dearing, Chuck Hoffman and Frank Hartwick.

Anyone knowing where these people are, is asked to contact Mrs. Larry Morse, 449-2615, or Mrs. Robert Budd, 349-3482, before June 1

Schools, Cities Safe?

Gas Shortage Scares County Road Officials

Local area municipalities-school districts apparently are escaping the effects of the fuel crisis, but county road departments are worried stiff.

Earl Dickerson, clerk for the Livingston County Road Commission, reports the fuel situation is critical.

With only five weeks supply of diesel fuel remaining and no fuel bids in hand, Dickerson admits that unless something happens, soon his department may be forced to buy higher-priced fuels from local area service stations.

"Spokesman for the Oakland County Road Department," Lee Rogers, says the situation is less critical in Oakland but it nevertheless is raising concerns.

Last bids received by Oakland occurred five months ago, Rogers reports, but they came in on gasoline only. There were no diesel fuel bids and the county was forced to buy from a local independent who is charging 18.9 cents per gallon—almost 6 cents more than the department had been paying.

"We don't have a (gasoline) problem yet," says Rogers, "but we're anticipating it. We're under a contract now (for gasoline) but when that's up if we don't get any bids it will be tough."

He said gasoline suppliers have warned that they may not be able to bid.

Neither the city nor the school district of Northville has experienced any difficulties thus far.

And Earl Busard, business manager for the school district, doubts the situation will change. He points out that even during world war rationing, municipalities-schools received sufficient gasoline to operate.

According to Busard, the school district presently is selling gasoline at cost to Northville Township to operate the township's patrol cars. If the situation grows serious, he indicates, the school will discontinue this practice.

Northville City Manager Frank Ollendorff says the city has experienced no problems yet. "So far we're okay, but who knows how long it will continue?" he states.

The city of Northville is contracted for gasoline through June. It joins with about a dozen other municipalities and school districts in the Wayne County Purchasing Association to solicit and receive bids.

"We haven't been informed that we'll be having any difficulty," reports William Barr, assistant superintendent of schools in Novi. "If the shortage takes place in the summer it will be occurring when our buses are down. We probably use only 50 gallons of gasoline during the whole summer."

Robert Lee, assistant superintendent for business in the Brighton School District, is less optimistic. The situation could become critical, he says.

"Currently, we are under contract for one year with Standard Oil," Lee reports, "but it (contract) is up in June. We'll have to do one of two things: rebid or try to renegotiate with Standard."

Swamp fever can now be diagnosed quickly, reliably and inexpensively. Thanks to Dr. Leroy Coggins, considerable time and money can be saved if a horse suffers from this equine infectious anemia.

Dr. Coggins, a veterinarian and P.H.D. is associate professor of virology and director of Equine Anemia Research at Cornell University's veterinary college.

Unlike the old, $100, 90-day Swamp Fever test (a horse had to have blood from a suspected victim injected into a test animal and wait 90 days for confirmation), Dr. Coggins' method costs $10 and the waiting period is only 24 to 48 hours for conclusive results.

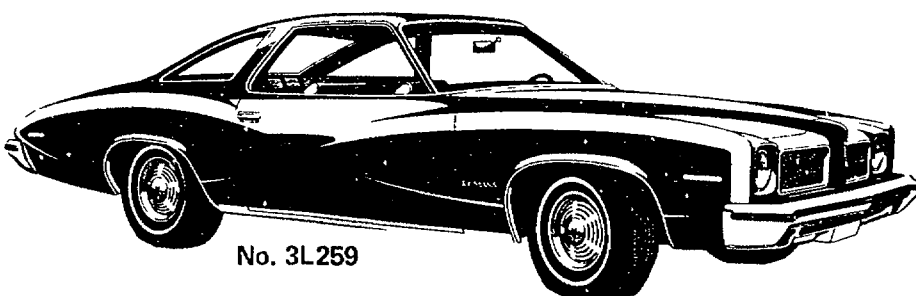

Swamp Fever is an infectious virus disease which affects ponies, mules and donkeys in addition to horses. It is found in practically every country and state in which large animals are assembled.

Clinical symptoms vary depending on the stage of infection, but high fever, low blood count, loss of weight, dropsical swelling of abdomen and legs and progressive weakness are general characteristics. Some horses die suddenly while others may linger, and show outward signs of improvement, over periods of months and even years. These latter are commonly carriers of this disease.

Transfer of blood from an infected or carrier animal is the normal method of spread of the disease. An infected hypodermic needle or biting insects can transmit Swamp

Fruit Trees: Grow 'em Flat

You don't need much room to grow fruit trees if you use the "espalier" method, say Michigan State University horticulturists. All you need is a sunny wall.

Basically, this method involves training young trees to grow flat against a wall with the use of horizontal wires.

SUMMER CARE OF HOUSE PLANTS

No doubt this is the time of year when you are making plans for your summer vacation. A change of scene is also beneficial for growing plants. The best move for valuable and permanent house plants is to the outdoor garden. If this is impractical, plants can be out in window boxes, on the porch or at least in a sunny window.

Before entertaining the idea of moving plants out of doors, it is well to take inventory and discard those specimens which are unattractive. Any cutting back to preserve a compact form should be done a few weeks before the move. Often the tips removed can be rooted to make new plants. Coleus, impatiens and begonias are especially in need of pruning.

Plants which are naturally vines may need training on some device for climbing. This can take the form of a wire loop, a wooden trellis or similar support. Ivies, philodendrons or other vines will thus be more attractive for home decoration.

Some plants may have outgrown their original pots. If repotting is necessary, do it before the move outdoors. By all means, never remove plants from pots for outdoor planting. Roots have a tendency to grow freely when unrestrained. It would be impossible to get them back into pots of any reasonable size in the fall without chopping off the major part of the root system.

One of the most important activities in house plant care during the summer,

Excellent for Mulch

Don't Overlook Compost As Garden Conditioner

Compost is the key to organic gardening, but it can help any gardener get better results, says J. Lee Taylor, Michigan State University horticulturist.

Compost includes fermented or decayed materials such as grass clippings, leaves, sod, straw, vegetable refuse, manure, corn stalks, asparagus stems and weeds, notes Taylor.

It is used as a source of organic matter for soils (especially sandy soils), for making potting soils and generally improving the soil structure. Compost also makes an excellent mulch for flower beds, trees and shrubs.

"The compost pile site should be easy to get to but not conspicuous," says Taylor. "A side or corner of the back yard often meets these requirements."

"You can build a partial fence or structure to hold and conceal the pile. Walls of concrete blocks (not cemented together) on two or three sides, about four feet high, work fine. So do sections of fence. If the fence rails are far apart, you may have to line the inside with chicken wire or other fine mesh fencing."

To prepare compost:

1—Spread materials in a layer 6 to 8 inches thick.
2—Over this material sprinkle a small amount of complete commercial fertilizer such as 5-20-20, 6-12-12, 10-10-10, or mix in some animal manure.

3—Wet the layer, but not enough to wash away the fertilizer.
4—Add additional layers at any time.

5—Adding a small amount of fertile soil to each layer hastens bacterial action and decomposition.
6—Keep the pile moist.

You can speed decomposition by stirring the pile every two weeks, says Taylor. The time of decomposing varies from six weeks to six months or more. Easily decomposable materials kept moderately moist will decompose in about six weeks during warm weather, he explains. Compost piles made in the fall may not be decomposed until late spring.

Adding one to three pounds of ground dolomitic limestone to each 100 pounds of compost material counteracts excessive acidity, resulting in conditions more favorable for decomposition.

"Don't use large amounts of garbage in composts because it may attract mice and rats," warns Taylor, "and do not use materials infected with diseases or insects."

Here's the Answer

Tax Cut' Sails Through Lansing

LANSING—Only one thing is safer and more popular in American politics than motherhood and cherry pie.

That's a cut in taxes.

If there is one thing nobody likes in this country, it is taxes. Even the most patriotic person figures his tax bill is too high. It's been that way since the Boston Tea Party.

Thus, when Gov. William G. Milliken came up with his proposal in January to cut the state income tax through a combined increase in the personal exemption and an increase in property tax credits, there were few protests heard. And they were drowned out by the cheers of approval.

The legislature has a hard time working out the details of a lot of problems, but the tax cut made it through in record time — just a little over three months from start to finish.

THE NEW TAX cut means a cut of at least $10.70 per person beginning next January in personal income tax bills since the personal exemption is raised $300 to $1500 per person.

With a flat rate tax of 3.9 per cent, that $300 additional exemption is worth $10.70. And it means a family of four will pay no taxes on the first $6,000 of income.

That plus a property tax relief program designed to aid those whose property tax bill represents an overpowering portion of their income is a political pie no one can throw out.

A few of the more liberal lawmakers talked briefly of how the state has too many unmet needs to begin cutting taxes, but they quickly quieted down.

A DEMOCRATIC strategist recently likened the governor's tax cut program to President Nixon's trip to China.

It won't, he conceded, make things any easier in 1974 when the Democrats try to defeat Milliken. Indeed, the idea was so unbeatable almost every Democrat voted for it. In the final tally in both houses, only six of the 148 legislators had the temerity to vote against it.

ONE OF THE CAUSES put forth in recent years by persons complaining about the racial makeup of police forces is the attempt to have police departments do away with height requirements.

The argument is that height requirements, whatever their reason, result in discrimination against persons of Mexican-American backgrounds.

Despite the arguments, however, the Michigan State Police has remained with their requirements that any state policeman be at least 5'9" tall. And Police Director John Plants recently came up with some strong arguments for retaining the height requirement.

FIRST OF ALL, he pointed out, the Mexican National Police, known as the Federales, have a height requirement of their own — and it's 5'8" or only one inch less than the Michigan requirement. Likewise, the Puerto Rican Police Department has a 5'8" requirement.

The El Paso, Texas, Police Department has a height requirement of 5'8" as well, yet more than 50 per cent of its police force are of Mexican-American descent.

"WE THINK that we are right," Plants said. "Most of the people who are advocating the reduction of height standards in police departments have never operated a police department and don't have the slightest idea what they're talking about."

The main reason for the requirement is that a police officer must command respect when dealing with people and a tall person has the psychological edge over a shorter person.

For instance, Plants said, The Los Angeles Police Department has a 5'8" requirement and will lower it to 5'7" in special instances when a person has an ability being looked for — such as the ability to speak Spanish. A study conducted in the department in 1965 showed that while persons 5'8" and 5'7" made up 10.4 per cent of the department, they were involved in 50.7 per cent of all assaults against police officers — proof, the shorter officer doesn't have the automatic control a taller one will have.

Babson Report

Future's Bright For Radio Market

BABSON'S REPORTS—Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Previous to 1947 the radio spectrum was not open to the public as a means of two-way communication. However, in that year the Federal Communications Commission decided to allocate frequencies to various types of businesses and local governments. Before, only radio amateurs ("ham" operators on the shortwave band), police, taxis, and other public services were allowed to own and operate two-way radio equipment.

It took another twelve years after the FCC allocated a group of frequencies for Citizens Band Radio Service to activate the system. It was limited to relatively short-range communication. A bandwidth, designated Class D, is the principal one on which some 900,000 to 1,000,000 licensed operators vie with one another to transmit and receive over the twenty-three channels reserved for them. However, because this bandwidth has become so crowded, there is a clamor from various groups, including the influential Electronics Industry Association, for a proposed new service to be called Class E. This would mean adding some eighty channels, affording a better range, less radio interference, and, above all, a far larger CB market.

THERE IS a wide range of equipment available—everything from complex walkie-talkies and do-it-yourself-kits to ready-to-use high-powered (5-watt power plus) fixed and mobile sets. The 5-watt handheld (or back-pack) and vehicle-installed systems can transmit and receive up to twenty miles. All of these require FCC licenses. However, license-free hand-held

"THERE ISN'T any question that shorter police officers do not command the respect automatically that larger police officers do," Plants says.

He says there's one other thing that must be considered.

"What's happened in the past where department have lowered the height standards is that you don't bring in more minorities, but you bring in some short Caucasians. We don't want to put ourselves in that position in the state police."

models with a top range of a few miles and with power less than 5 watts are also used by children and adults.

Those sets requiring a license have station call numbers for identification. There are no FCC examinations (so far), and no background in radio or electronics is called for. The applicant must be at least eighteen years old. Besides personal and business use, CB can be utilized for emergency needs. Aid for motorists stranded on remote highways, ship-to-shore calls, crime prevention, are only a few of the unlimited applications. If Class E service is approved (an FCC ruling is still a year or more away), Babson's Reports believes it could eliminate the need to develop an emergency mobile radio service.

IN THE TWO-WAY radio communications market, the industrial and commercial radio sector is the largest and is estimated at around $200 million annually. Citizens Band Radio (CB) is second with $70 million. Quite surprisingly, the amateur (ham) radio and walkie-talkie segments only garner $15-$20 million apiece.

The proposed Class E band would, according to the Electronics Industry Association, create a new market in two or three years of $300-$500 million for CB. If U.S. auto manufacturers installed a $200 (estimate) Class E radio in one out of ten cars sold each year, a ten-million car market would, alone, account for $200 million. Also foreseen is a fast-developing market for small personal radio transceivers.

particularly if plants are indoors, is the control of insect pests. These pests, such as aphids, white flies, mealy bugs, spider mites and scale insects should be especially hunted down before moving out of doors. Regular washing of the leaves under pressure is one of the best ways to prevent insects from gaining a foothold. A spray of nicotine sulphate combats aphids and white flies. Mealy bugs are best attacked with an alcohol-soaked swab or brush. Scale insects can be removed with an old toothbrush and soapy water.

A day or two on the porch before the period of outdoor vacation will help adjustment to the brighter, outside light. Select a warm cloudy day if possible as moving day. A sheltered, partially shaded spot is most suitable, preferably near the house to facilitate watering and inspection.

Most gardeners try to locate a suitable tree which will provide a variety of conditions. For example, cacti and succulents, amaryllis and young geraniums prefer full sun; azaleas and Christmas cactus partial shade, with deep shade for palms, ferns and most foliage plants.

The pots are partially or completely sunk in the ground to prevent tipping over on a three-inch layer of cinders, stone or other rough material. The rest of the bed is filled just about to the rim of the pots with a light soil containing peat moss or humus.

During the sojourn outdoors, water is needed. It is also well to fertilize at monthly intervals. Occasionally, give the pots a half turn to prevent roots from anchoring. Be sure to take plants indoors in the fall before cold weather comes. Plants should again become accustomed to indoor conditions and artificial heat gradually.

Will They Grow?

When you buy roses, be sure to get ones that will grow. Michigan State University horticulturists suggest buying only from reputable sources.

The most common sources of rose plants for home gardeners are nurseries, mail-order houses, supermarkets and department stores.

Climbing Cover

Vines can add much to your home landscape, according to Michigan State University horticulturists. Use them for screening, covering dull expanses of wall and for other decorative effects.

Many of these plants can climb trellises or wire frames, and some climb solid walls.

'So I Send You'

Reverend Frederick Prezioso
Epiphany Lutheran Church
Northville Township

Text: John 20:19-31 "As the Father sent me, so I send you."

These words of commissioning by Jesus could very well be the words that end the service of worship in all Christian churches, regardless of their denominational affiliation. They not only point to the proper thrust of our Christian Faith but they also give us a clue to understanding the purpose of Jesus' ministry among us.

The story is told of a man who was once being conducted through a very fine factory, the purpose of which was to refine crude oil into machinery. In the first room he saw many men active around large machinery. Pumps were going up and down, wheels were going around, belts were moving all over the place...and he was very impressed. In a second room he saw more of the same and also in the third and throughout the factory. His guide explained what all the machines were doing. But when the tour was over, the man was somewhat perplexed and asked his guide, "Where is the shipping room?" And the guide replied, "Well, you see, we don't have a shipping room. All the oil that we produce we need right here to oil our own machinery."

The purpose of the church is to produce a product in the world. But too often the church ends up without a "shipping department." The activities that go on within the structure have little or no impact on the real needs and concerns of people, whether they be members or not. God's plan is that the shipping department of the church should be the most active department in the whole organization.

And what are we supposed to be shipping out? In that same room Jesus said to his disciples, "Receive the Spirit of God." Did he not mean that we are to be receivers and communicators of God's Spirit? But what does that mean? There are many concrete clues provided. Jesus said, "I have come that you might have life, and have it more abundantly." "I am the Good Shepherd...who lays down his life for the sheep." "Be servants of one another, as I have served..." And so, "As the Father sent me, so I send you..." to be servants of mankind...communicators and facilitators of life, of hope, of possibility, of God's Spirit.

In this light, I wonder if perhaps we worry too much about being in church much of the time, whether for worship or for fellowship hours, or for meetings of one kind or another. I'll bet it would be very surprising to most of us to find out just how many of our "lapsed" members are really out doing the Lord's work in the world. It would be an interesting experiment to spend some of the time we waste on mourning lapsed members, actually investigating the ways and means of their involvement in our community, and talking to them about how they see their faith being acted out through these various channels. We might end up learning more about how to be the church, outside of the church, than we thought we were learning within our particular religious structure.

The imperative I would offer is this. When we are in church for worship, or for any other function, we should get clear in our own minds just how much time is actually being spent on maintaining the organization (oiling the machinery), and how much time is spent getting the product to the people who need it.

"Go ye into all the world" might therefore be freely translated, "Go forth and increase the shipping department's output." Stated another way, the imperative is that we be the "sent ones" that Jesus intended us to be.

John concludes the twentieth chapter of his Gospel with these words, "I have written these things so you might believe that Jesus is the Christ...and that believing, you might have life in his name." Jesus would have us believe in him so that we would then become the sources of life, and hope and possibility to others. Thus he said, "As the Father has sent me, so I send you."

You wonder how it got there... a sapling far from the forest. And grew... alone, untended, little-noticed. And flourished to stand like a sentinel against the horizon.

Maybe a tree understands, as sometimes man does not, the secret of God. We are never alone!

What we need He has provided. What we are to become He has designed. The beauty and majesty and grace that can emanate from one object, one creature, He has envisioned and made real... for all to share.

There is no loner.

But when we feel alone, then, more than ever, we are drawn to God and His Church. In faith, in friendship with others who believe, in service to those who need our affection and care—we discover how deeply and satisfyingly we belong.

ROBERT T. DRISCOLL is new production manager for the Detroit-branch of Zurich-American Insurance Companies.

Prior to joining Z-A, Driscoll was district manager for Kemper Insurance Company in Southfield, Michigan. He has also been associated with Employers Insurance of Wausau.

He attends Henry Ford Community College. He, his wife Fay and their daughter live in Northville.

ROBERT T. DRISCOLL

CARL E. PFEIFFER, President, Michigan Seamless Tube, announced that the Board of Directors in their regular meeting on April 26, 1973, promoted Harry Thomalla to Corporate Controller, and hired William L. Frank as Corporate Director of Marketing.

Thomalla has served as Treasurer of the Company's subsidiary, U.S. Broach & Machine Company, since 1966. He has his B. S. in accounting from Miami University and his C. P. A. certificate. Thomalla's wife, Martha, and son and daughter live in Warren, Michigan.

Frank will fill the newly created position of Corporate Director of Marketing. In this capacity, he will be responsible for planning and coordinating the market effort for the Company.

Frank received both his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering and his master's degree in advanced management from Michigan State University. He has over 15 years of experience in a variety of engineering, sales, and marketing positions. Bill will be moving his wife, Margaret, and their three children from the Grand Rapids area.

Michigan Seamless Tube Company is the largest independent tube manufacturer in the country, with tube mills located in South Lyon; Gulf States Tube Corporation, Rosenberg, Texas; Standard Tube Company, Detroit and Standard Tube Company, Shelby, Ohio.

A NEW employment agency, the only full-service one in Livingston County, recently opened its doors at the First Federal Office Building at 9880 East Grand River, Brighton.

Owned by Judy Parker, Placements Unlimited is founded on the premise of personalized attention to client's needs at reasonable and competitive prices.

Mrs. Parker has had 15 years of knowledge and experience in personnel and related business fields. During the last several years she has been directly involved in placement of clerical, secretarial, technical and other office personnel in Ann Arbor and the surrounding area.

She and her family make their home in Livingston County.

NORTHVILLE'S "Clock Man" Mel Anderson, who has been repairing and selling clocks from his Northville home for the past several years, will join with his son, Dan, in launching the Northville Watch & Clock Shop at 132 West Dunlap Street.

The younger Anderson, a graduate of Northville High School, recently completed a watchmakers school in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. He becomes one of very few school-trained watchmakers in the metropolitan area.

The new shop will be located across the street from the Drawbridge Restaurant in one of the community's oldest homes. The house and its quaint architecture will be preserved.

Specializing in antique watches and clocks, the business also will be selling new watches and clocks as well.

According to the senior Anderson, the shop probably will be opened before June.

MARK E. ROGERS, Clinical Information Systems Salesman for Ames Company, Division of Miles Laboratories, Inc., who resides in Novi, attended a six-day education program conducted by the company in Miami Beach, Florida, May 6-11.

According to Laurence W. Cappel, Sales Manager, the national meeting was designed to provide all Ames sales representatives with an intensive training program dealing with a number of new products and educational systems which are being introduced to the health field by the company.

In addition to receiving indoctrination from physicians and scientists on medical subjects, the

At U-M Children's Hospital

Stereo Movies Probe Infants' Hearts To Uncover Disease and Save Lives

"Stereo" movies of infant heart patients are saving lives at The University of Michigan where one of the most advanced diagnostic units in the world for children with suspected heart disease has opened.

The new $600,000 center at the U-M's C.S. Mott Children's Hospital enables doctors to literally tap into the interior of a child's heart, feed the signals directly into a computer for analysis, and compare this with x-ray television tapes and movies of the heart.

Other data come from the tiny electric impulses given off by the heart muscle itself and picked up by electrodes on the skin.

The total result is the most accurate, heart diagnostic centers for children in the United States. Staff cardiologists annually see thousands of children with suspected heart disorders, and of these, some 200 are selected for sophisticated x-ray studies to pinpoint abnormalities, often in preparation for major heart repair by physicians of the section of thoracic surgery.

It is the responsibility of the cardiologists and surgeons to accurately determine what, if anything, is wrong with the child's heart, whether it is practical to repair it, and what is the best time to operate with the least risk.

Designed by Dr. Aaron M. Stern, M.D., professor of pediatrics, the Mott Cardiac Study Unit has a great variety of complex diagnostic equipment, including special types of electrocardiogram devices that are capable of diagnosing some heart problems entirely from the outside of the body.

The key piece of equipment in the unit is the sophisticated fluoroscopy and x-ray machine which takes simultaneous, synchronized movies of the heart—in stereo—from the front and side. It was selected and installed in collaboration with the U-M Radiology Department.

Both x-ray arms of the unit have dual mounted television and 35mm movie cameras so that during critical parts of the heart procedure doctors can keep track of what the heart is doing on any one of the four television screens as well as having the images preserved on television tape and movie film for detailed study later.

The diagnostic procedure is called cardiac pressures and the hydraulics of blood flow in the heart, guided by a doctor, it also feels out holes between heart chambers as well as valve defects and blood vessel abnormalities.

The U-M cardiologists, by twisting the catheter from outside the body, direct it to different places in the heart, intermittently flicking on the TV-fluoroscope unit to check on its progress. The catheter appears like a wire inside the heart—a pulsing grey shadow in the center of the rib cage.

efficiency or cardiac output, its contractibility or how much the heart's muscle has begun to stretch and fail under stress, cardiac reserve, heart rhythm, and how well the valves open and close.

Because there can be as many as ten separate lesions or defects in a single child's heart, sometimes masking one another, accurate diagnosis is urgent to properly plan surgery and balance risks.

Clinical coordinator of the cardiac study unit is Dr. Joan the heart with the risk of only one dye injection is a major safety factor. The camera fluoroscopes also fire in alternating high-speed pulses, first the front unit, then the side unit, cutting in half the potential radiation the patient would receive.

The unit's computer itself will be used as a safety device by cardiologist Burton L. Perry, M.D., to build up a picture of heart muscle action in children. Figures on adequate heart contractibility do not exist anywhere, Dr. Perry noted. Consequently, during catheterization, physicians must "eyeball the pressure curve," relying on experience and judgment to estimate when the danger point of ventricular failure is near.

Properly programmed and with a background of data fed to it by Dr. Perry, the computer will give early warning of heart distress during catheterization.

Why is the procedure so necessary in the first place?

"Before catheterization, about all we could tell parents was that something was wrong with their child's heart, that we thought we knew what it was, that surgery could probably repair it and there was a risk," Dr. Sigmann explained. "Now we can say with a great deal of confidence that we know exactly what is wrong with the heart and how much risk is involved in repairing it," she said. "We can also time surgery better since catheterization tells us if surgery is urgent now or can wait until the child is older and stronger."

Surgery itself is also safer since, before the chest is open, the surgeon knows whether he has to deal with one or two defects or ten. He can plan his moves accordingly. The patient's time under anesthesia and on the heart-lung machine is cut.

Catheterization can also be used to perform temporary repair on the heart.

In one recent case, a blue baby was born at a community hospital on Michigan's west coast, and was near death because the oxygen-rich blood from the lungs was not getting to the body, due to a congenital defect in the large blood vessels connected to the heart.

The child was rushed to the U-M, and catheterization was performed at midnight, six hours after birth. Besides the transposition of the heart's "plumbing," a second defect was found. It was a small hole between the two sides of the heart. This allowed some red blood from the lungs to mix with the blue blood going to the body and was the reason the infant was able to survive at all.

The cardiologists capitalized on this by inserting a special balloon catheter into the hole, inflating the balloon and widening the defect. In essence, one mistake of nature was used to cancel out another.

This procedure allowed the child to survive another 24 hours until open heart surgery could be performed to connect the heart properly.

The child recovered, due largely to catheterization which made it possible for doctors to both diagnose the problem and perform an urgent temporary repair from inside the heart—all before the infant was two days old.

catheterization, and can last from one half hour to several hours. During that time, while the patient lies on the x-ray table having pictures taken of his heart, the other electronic information from his heart is being digested by a multi-channel recorder and oscilloscope and the combination digital and analog computer in the next room.

The impulses come from the leads attached to the patient's chest, arms and legs, and from a thin plastic tube, called a catheter, which has been threaded into the heart from a blood vessel in the arm or leg. Since blood vessels and the heart have few nerve endings, in their interior linings, the patient experiences little discomfort during catheterization and is only lightly sedated.

The catheter not only detects and reports on blood

Interior details do not show up at this stage, however, like a ship being guided by sonar, the doctors can tell where they are in the heart by the changing catheter pressure readings.

These are called out by a technician seated in front of a flickering, beeping oscilloscope—a scene oddly reminiscent of a submarine movie juxtaposed with a medical film.

The most intensive use of the complex x-ray equipment comes near the conclusion of the catheterization when an action-packed few seconds of heart activity are recorded on film and TV tape after about two teaspoons of thick, radio-opaque dye is squirted through the catheter and into one of the heart chambers.

The normally quiet atmosphere abruptly changes, as with a countdown of "three, two, one," the cardiologist signals a technician to trigger an automatic dye injector. At the same time, the doctor hits a floor switch with his foot. This turns on both x-ray arms, two television cameras, four television monitors, two 35mm cameras, x-ray coolers and a television tape recorder.

The whine and whoosh of electric motors and blowers fills the room as the dye fills the heart's interior, appearing on the television screens like a flash of black light. Valves and chambers stand out in sharp contrast for a brief moment until the rapid squeezing action of the muscular hollow organ dissipates the solution into the bloodstream. The heart becomes a featureless shadow again and the procedure is over as rapidly as it began.

The doctors rewind and play the TV tape of this sequence, and if the "take" is good the examination is finished. The catheter is withdrawn and the patient returned to his bed. The cardiologists then begin analyzing the electronic data, the movie films and television tape.

In a few hours, they have the most accurate scientific verdict possible today—information on the heart's

Babson Report

There are several large and small firms producing the hardware for two-way radio communication. These include the Big Three: GE, Motorola, and RCA; and the other giants, Bendix, Northrop, Raytheon, General Telephone and Electronics, ITT, Schlumberger (Heath Co. kits), Martin-Marietta, General Dynamics, and Rockwell International. Small public held companies with expertise include Gladding Corp. (Pearce-Simpson), E. F. Johnson, Regency Electronics, Tandy (Allied Radio & Radio Shack), Communications Industries, and Lafayette Electronics.

Currently, the Research Department of Babson's Reports recommends GE and Rockwell International for their diversified business activities. Even though such equipment is a minor part of their operations, these companies are significant factors in the two-way radio field.

FIND A FEW BARGAINS

Everybody loves bargains, and the best place to find them is in the Classified columns of your own newspaper.

Develop the habit, beginning today, of checking the many items listed for sale each day in Classified. You'll find these columns newsworthy, interesting reading, and more important... that's where you'll find the bargains.

And when you have bargain items of your own you'd like to sell, just dial your area office. Northville, South Lyon or Brighton.

Ames representative also received advanced training on sales techniques and motivation.

Ames company produces chemical and biological information systems for medicine and industry.

LOCAL AREA manufacturing companies may be literally missing the boat when it comes to significantly increasing their sales.

That's because fewer than 2,000 Michigan companies are taking advantage of the exporting business open to them here in the state, according to Governor William Milliken.

As part of an accelerated economic expansion program, Michigan is increasing its efforts to help Michigan businessmen sell their products overseas.

"It is all part of a trade expansion effort that could produce at least 25,000 new jobs in Michigan over the next five years," Governor Milliken explains.

To better acquaint Michigan businessmen with these exporting opportunities, the governor is recommending a booklet made available by Booth Newspapers called, "A Primer on The Opportunities in Foreign Trade."

It and/or other helpful information may be secured by writing William J. Cochran, director of the Office of Economic Expansion located in the Law Building, Lansing 48913, or S. John Byington, director of the Detroit district office of the U. S. Commerce Department, 445 Federal Building, Detroit 48226.

REAL ESTATE ONE recently joined the Earl Merriman Agency in Plymouth, creating the 23rd branch office for the firm. Merriman has been in the real estate and insurance business 20 years, succeeding his father, Leon Merriman, who was active in the Plymouth area since 1923.

The newest Real Estate One office is located at 1178 S. Main, and Darlene Shemanski, former assistant manager of the east Livonia-Redford office, will be managing the operation. William Y. Mathers, General Sales Manager of the firm, forges great activity from this office in servicing the needs of the Company's many clients in the Plymouth-Northville area as well as the surrounding communities.

CHARLES G. SKENE, C.L.U., of 18338 Shadbrook Drive, Northville, recently celebrated his 35th anniversary as a member of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's sales force, the company has announced.

A graduate of Detroit Cooley High School, Skene attended the Detroit Institute of Technology. He joined Metropolitan Life in April, 1938, and currently is district sales manager of the Livonia office at 35275 Plymouth Road, a position to which he was appointed in May, 1963.

Skene has compiled an outstanding sales and management record over the past 35 years, qualifying seven times for the company's President's Conference. He has achieved the chartered life underwriter designation of the American College of Life Underwriters. He is a member of the Detroit chapter of the Chartered Life Underwriters Association; the Detroit Association of Life Underwriters; and the Oakland County General Agents and Managers Association.

Skene is a member of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, and the First United Methodist Church. He and his wife, Elaine, have a son, Charles W., 22 years old.

Mackinac

Many Miss Island Jewel

The magic of Mackinac Island has lured vacationers to the shores of that jewel of the Great Lakes for more than one hundred years. Yet the majority of visitors remain in the southern end of the island—touring historic Fort Mackinac and strolling along Huron Street with its indescribable variety of shops.

In so doing, these visitors miss much of the history and lore of Mackinac and never experience the island's natural charm.

Mackinac Island is paradise for nature lovers and history buffs. A walking tour of any of 19 designated nature trails unlocks an unmatched panorama of scenic splendor. And, history and legend spring to life along the five hiking tours beyond the city, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Students of nature will delight in the unspoiled beauty of Mackinac Island with its fantastic variety of wildflowers, wide assortment of wild berries and fruits and numerous species of trees.

Some nature trails wind their way along the island bluffs offering unlimited viewing of magnificent Lake Huron. Others leave the main roads, rambling through dense woods and swampy areas into the remoter parts of the island.

Each trail imparts an aura of excitement, too, as hikers discover that the island is home for more than 400 different varieties of plant life. A special feature for those who enjoy hiking in the clean crisp air is the absence of mosquitoes.

History and Indian lore abound on Mackinac Island and many famous sites lie north of the city and Fort Mackinac. When the British landed in 1812 to capture Fort Mackinac from the Americans, the attack came from the northern part of the island.

And located in this same area is the battlefield on which the Americans sought to wrest control of the island from the British.

Among Mackinac's most famous attractions since the first white men arrived are Arch Rock and Sugar Loaf—both located in the northern two-thirds of the island.

These and other natural features of the island can best be viewed by following designated foot trails. One historical tour features Mackinac's other fort—Fort Holmes. Strategically located on the highest point on the island, this fort rests 325 feet above the Straits and 168 feet above Fort Mackinac.

From this vantage point, the hiker has an unparalleled view of the mainland of Michigan's two peninsulas, the island and the surrounding waters and islands for miles around.

Another tour features Arch Rock, called Shibaibikong by the Indians. According to legend, the arch was built by the Great Spirits who once lived on the island. Sugar Loaf, which rises some 75 feet above the surrounding island, is a major attraction on the third tour. The Indians say this giant limestone rock was once a huge beehive filled with honey and was the home of the Great Spirit Manabozho.

Mackinac's walking tours are sure to provide inquisitive visitors with a most enjoyable part of their trip to this historic and scenic island.

Daily ferry service to the island from Mackinaw City and St. Ignace begins May 15. Fort Mackinac, the Indian Dormitory and the Benjamin Blacksmith Shop open for the season May 19. And on June 16, Biddle House, Beaumont Memorial, Mission Church and the Visitors Center will open.

For more information on Mackinac Island, and Michigan's many other vacation attractions, write to the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, Michigan - 48926.

Out of Horse's Mouth

Fever. Active cases are most prevalent in late summer when insects are most numerous and near swampy areas (hence, the common name for the disease).

Horsemen fear equine infectious anemia because there is no treatment or cure and no vaccination has been found to protect other animals once it occurs. Infected animals must be isolated or destroyed for these reasons and because they are often carriers. The impracticality of detection was also a major factor in this seemingly hopeless situation prior to the development of Coggins' test.

The diagnostic test is the first ray of hope in the battle to curb and eliminate this dread disease. The lowered cost and especially the ability to more quickly and positively determine the presence of the disease, produce the strong likelihood that control programs and possible cures can be developed.

A typical program of breeding farms today includes:

1. Test all horses on the farm for the disease.
2. Destroy infected horses or isolate them on another farm.
3. Require incoming horses to be free of the disease.

Catkill's Gay Valient, owned by David Earehart of Poplar Farm of Northville, was judged the grand champion stallion in the Morgan division at the spring show of the Michigan Horse Show Association at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

Poplar's Mr. Ed took first place for three year old stallions; Taffy Tail, first in English pleasure mares and reserve champion English pleasure Morgan; and Pebbles, fourth in western pleasure and fourth in Morgan western pleasure championship.

Lois Godfrey, fifth with Fashion's Bit-O-Sass for in-hand mares; Ward Clawson, second with Half Acres Tony for in-hand stallions; Alma and Chelsea Couger, third with Heather Hanna for in-hand mares, fourth in junior pleasure driving, and fourth in pleasure driving mares; Batton's Prima Donna, in pleasure driving junior, and grand champion pleasure driving Morgan; Ernest Lusk, second with Renown in English pleasure stallions; Shelley Millard, third with Dar-Vale Holly in western pleasure junior; Pam Grunheid, sixth place in saddle seat equitation (13 & under); and Wendy Marino, third for saddle seat equitation (14-17) and fourth for stock seat equitation (14-17).

The spring show at the fairgrounds continues through May 20, with more than 1200 horses entered.

Gas Shortage Scares County

Other school sources, says Lee, have indicated response to bidding has been less than encouraging. They suggest that districts renegotiate with their present suppliers, he says.

Should Brighton be forced to buy its gasoline at retail rates, it would cost the district an additional $19,000 annually based on the district's annual consumption of 90,000 gallons, says Lee.

Bruce Romer, city manager of Brighton, reports that city is under contract with the Howell Cooperative through September, so no immediate difficulties are expected there.

Livingston County appears to be the most concerned. The county, according to Dickerson, burns 14,000 gallons of diesel fuel per month and 3 to 4,000 gallons of gasoline per month.

"We usually take bids on a six months basis," he says. The six months period ran out on May 1. We were due to receive (diesel) bids on April 23 but none came in."

Dickerson says he spent all day last week Wednesday trying to locate fuel. He was unsuccessful, but the following day an independent supplier agreed to sell the county 10,000 gallons—enough for the next five weeks.

When that diesel supply is gone, there's no telling what will happen. And Dickerson admits that he's been so tied up with trying to locate diesel fuel sources he hasn't yet begun an inventory of the gasoline supply.

Presently, Wayne County's road department is "in good shape" so far as fuel supply goes but, according to spokesman Ed Davey, "it could change anytime."
