

Northville's downtown will again become a carnival of values this Saturday

Saturday Sidewalk Sales

'More Like A Carnival'

Northville retailers pride themselves on sponsoring an annual sidewalk sale that's different.

And this year they're predicting it will be bigger and better than ever.

According to Charles Lapham, who has been handling arrangements for the promotion for several years, some 25 merchants and as many as 75 various organizations and individuals will share space on the sidewalks and on Main and Center streets to display their bargains.

The event is Saturday only. Local merchants think one day is enough and that bargains are better and sales more brisk than if two days were attempted. They admit that it's a gamble weather-wise.

And Northville's sidewalk day is more than just a sale, although merchants offer tremendous bargains as they take advantage of the last chance to clean their shelves of summer merchandise.

"We open the event to everyone," points out Lapham. "It's more like a carnival than a sale. Some enterprising youngsters will be selling cotton candy. And, of course, there are antique dealers and arts and crafts displays plus any number of sales by charitable groups raising funds."

Music will be added to the occasion with Bob Williams and his high school jazz band group playing from 3 p.m. until the close of the sale at 6 p.m.

And another new twist has been added this year in the form of a unique television promotion of the event.

Television interviews were conducted with local merchants by Bruce Roy of Bruce Roy Realtors, 150 N. Center Street. The film is currently being shown in the window of the local real estate agency.

Saturday's sale starts at 9 a.m.

SPECIAL MEETING will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, August 8, to discuss the proposed new zoning ordinance for Northville township. The meeting is open to the public, planning commission members added.

ONLY ONE application had been received by Monday for the position of city manager here, but officials confidently predicted two dozen or more would arrive soon since advertising has just been published. Meanwhile, Manager Frank Ollendorff is working closely with his interim successor, A. Russell Clarke, to acquaint the retired banker with city business. The two men are expected to present council with a detailed financial report Monday.

DISPOSITION of the Randolph Drain proposal remains in limbo. Last word received by the city was that the engineers had completed their plans and the matter was ready for consideration by the inter-county drain board.

ALTHOUGH Councilman Paul Folino has voiced opposition, the city council has given the green light for continuation of an experimental program of renting storage space for cars impounded by the police department. Folino wants such vehicles stored in the DPW yard, but the city manager has reminded him and other councilmen that in the past they have voiced concern because storage in the DPW yard and in the city hall parking lot have resulted in thefts from the cars. The rented space is more secure, he contends.

Will Houses Block Paving?

Parking Lot Bid Accepted

Although admittedly worried that two houses may park overtime and jeopardize plans, the Northville City Council nevertheless moved ahead Monday by accepting the low paving bid of $126,881.70 on two major downtown parking lots.

The paving contract went to O. E. Gooding & Company of Ypsilanti after it was determined that an apparent low bid of $121,039 submitted by Territorial Construction of Plymouth included an error in addition made by the bidder.

That error boosted the bid by $6,000 and meant Gooding, not Territorial was the low bidder.

Two other bids were received: from Macomb Concrete of Fraser for $147,868.60 and from Detroit Concrete Products Corporation for $162,659.10.

The two projects are scheduled for completion by September 20...provided two houses remaining on the two parking lot sites are removed soon to permit surfacing work to begin.

Houses in question include the former Methodist Church manse located in the north lot between Main and Dunlap east of Wing and the present ambulance company quarters in the south lot between Center and Wing south of Cady.

The former manse, now owned by Elmer McIntire, and slated for moving to a location in the Six Mile-Bradner area in the township, is resting temporarily on skids in the middle of the north parking lot having been moved a few yards directly south from the manse's original location.

According to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, the moving company is ready to complete its work but must wait for Detroit Edison to clear wires along the route.

"We really haven't been told when Detroit Edison will be ready for the move," the manager said, "but I'm sure hoping it won't take more than two weeks."

Councilmen expressed similar concerns Monday, and Mayor A. M. Allen made it clear that he will not permit an extended moving delay to jeopardize the parking lot paving contract. In fact, Allen indicated he might favor demolition rather than permit overtime parking in a lot intended for cars not houses.

Demolition of the house in the south parking lot awaits a move of General Ambulance to different quarters in the city or in the township.

Council is reluctant to force General out since it was the city that encouraged the ambulance company to locate here to better serve citizens of the community. However, time is running out and no new location has yet been secured.

An initial proposal for a location in the

Reshelve Mobile Home Park

Approval of a site plan for a proposed mobile home park at the corner of Seven Mile and Northville roads was tabled Tuesday night to give Northville township planning commission members an opportunity to review comments from township consultants.

In addition, planners said they will study three offers made by Stewart Oldford, developer of the proposed 209-unit park on the 26-acre parcel.

Oldford told planners Tuesday he was willing to • comply with the zoning ordinance as written;

• show a green belt on the site plan, in accordance with the ordinance; and

• eliminate one or two lots through which the Northville State Hospital sewer easement crosses.

However, Oldford made it clear to commission members that he would not agree to • expand the open space from .9 acres to 3.0 acres;

• change the size of lots from the minimum 4,000 square feet; or

• alter zoning along Seven Mile Road, removing mobile home sites and rezoning the strip to B2, general business.

Oldford added that "Should the township wish to make the B2 zoning (on its own

Year-Round School Opened

It was a typical school opening Monday when 480 students headed back to year-round classes at Amerman Elementary and Cooke Middle School, "except that it was earlier in the year," Amerman Principal William Craft commented.

Both Craft and Ronald Horwath, Cooke principal, agreed Monday's schedule went off without a hitch.

"It was beautiful and the students seem to be very happy to be back," Horwath reported.

"Teachers and the rooms were ready and the air conditioning is a blessing," Craft added.

For Probation Department

Hire Woman Officer

A Northville resident is the first woman ever to be named to a chief position in the probation department of the 35th District Court.

Mrs. Nina Goodwin of 45360 Byrne was selected for the post from a field of 12 applicants. The announcement was made by Probation Director Dennis Dildy.

Mrs. Goodwin, 36, replaces Peter Jones who has been with the probation department for the past three years. He is employed as a teacher at the federal prison at Milan currently and is anticipating an out state move in the near future, Dildy said.

"Jones' skills will be sorely missed in the department," Dildy added.

The 35th District is comprised of the cities of Northville and Plymouth and the townships of Northville, Plymouth and Canton. Mrs. Goodwin's case load will be in the Plymouth and Canton areas.

According to Dildy, there are 465 cases now in those areas and an increase is expected in the next year.

The appointment of Mrs.

Goodwin keeps the number of probation department employees at nine. All are employed on a part time basis. In addition to paid staff members, the probation department also has 100 volunteers on its staff.

"Hence," Dildy explained, "we are able to hire a very capable staff with many diverse talents and backgrounds who will lend their many talents."

Mrs. Goodwin is the mother of three. Recently she and her husband, who is also a social worker, began a group marriage counseling service. She received a degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1972 and will be entering into a master of social work degree program at the University of Michigan this fall.

The selection committee for the post of chief probation officer in Plymouth and Canton Township consisted of Dave Stratton, assistant chief; Ken Jacobs, Plymouth city chief; Carol Nacepka, probation clerk; Dennis Dildy, director of probation; and Peter Jones, retiring chief.

Dildy said the selection of a woman to the post will "certainly be valuable for a broader span of thinking within the department."

FEMALE FORESTER—Shelley Mitchell, 17, of Northville is shown measuring a tree to determine how many logs could be taken from it for raw timber. This was just one of the things Shelley learned recently during a week she spent at the Michigan Technological University forestry center near Houghton. The Northville High School senior plans to pursue a career in conservation and forestry after graduation.

Shelley Mitchell Knows

How Many Logs in A Tree?

By MARTHA ROEMER

I guess what the guys felt is probably like the feeling I would have if there were two guys in my home ec class."

That was the comment of Shelley Mitchell as she talked about her experience this summer of being one of only two girls in a class of 25 forestry and conservation students.

Shelley, a Northville High School senior, recently took part in a week-long course at Michigan Technological University at Houghton offered to high school students interested in forestry and wildlife.

"I learned to have respect for the forest and not go about studying it as if I knew everything about it," Shelley said.

During the week, the participants learned to cut and grade trees for lumber, they trapped animals to learn about migration and reproduction of various species of wildlife and were taught to fight a forest fire.

According to her mother, Mrs. Jane Mitchell, Shelley, who is 17 has always been interested in the outdoors and animals. Her interest in participating in the Michigan Tech course this summer was fostered by a notice on a school bulletin board.

"I wrote to them in April and got a letter saying they were all filled up, but I was number 14 on the waiting list," she said. "A week before the course was going to start, they called me from the university and asked if I was still interested."

The forestry and conservation class was held 40 miles away from the Houghton campus at the Michigan Tech Ford Forestry Center which encompasses 4,110 acres of forest land.

The experience of working in the forest and learning about caring for it and its wildlife inhabitants, Shelley said, convinced her that a career in forestry is what she would like to pursue after high school graduation in January.

Conversations she had with the college instructors during her stay led Shelley to believe the high male to female ratio in the forestry business need not discourage her.

"They said there's nothing holding a girl back if she has her degree," Shelley recalled. "There are really a lot of different fields to study."

The areas opening up to women include international forestry, wildlife and forest management, she said, as well as others.

Participants in the class learned to find their ways in the forest using a compass. "They gave us a number and compass directions. By using the compass, we were supposed to find ourselves right in front of a tree which had our corresponding number," she explained.

One day, the class saw movies about fire fighting in a forest. After the movies, it was out to the forest to fight an actual fire.

Shelley explained there are times when forest fires are planned and set by experienced fire fighters. "Jack pines need heat to reproduce. The heat opens the cones and they reproduce," Shelley explained. "So, fires are set when it is necessary to get more pines growing, but the fire is watched very closely."

To fight the fire set for the class, students dug trenches and walked through the area stopping the flames with water from a barrel strapped to their backs.

Other areas of forestry about which Shelley became

CAR-Lions Club

Youths Attend Convention

Children of the American Revolution (CAR) and International Lions Club functions around the country have kept the George Merwin family an active one in the early months of summer.

Jacki Merwin, who is state CAR president, along with Mrs. Merwin and Terry Lapham, attended the CAR summer board meeting of state officers which was held last week in Springfield, South Dakota. While in Springfield, the officers were quartered in the St. Mary's Episcopal School for Indian Girls.

Mrs. Merwin and Jacki also attended the regional meeting of CAR in Crete, Illinois. Mrs. Merwin is Senior Regional Vice-President for the organization and presided at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Merwin also attended the International Lions Convention in Florida last month while Jacki sat in at the state and regional CAR meeting in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. Merwin is president of the Northwest Detroit Lions Club. Enroute to the Lions convention, the Merwins were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Firebaugh, now of Lakeland, Florida, former Northville neighbors.

The Merwin's daughter Mimi has been in Caen, France, for the past three weeks. She is there, for the second year, on a Lions Club International exchange program and will return in mid-August.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE—There's been a new face at Northville's Atchison Clinic the past few weeks. He is Michael Harris, shown above preparing a slide with the assistance of nurse Mrs. Edna Foreman. Harris is a second year medical school student at Wayne State University and has been placed with the clinic for six weeks to learn about family medicine. According to Harris, medical students from three Michigan schools have been placed with doctors throughout the state to interest them in family practice. The 22-year-old Dearborn resident received an undergraduate degree in sociology before entering the Wayne State medical school. Harris, who puts in five or six days each week says his favorite part of the program is making hospital rounds with the clinic's doctors.

News Around Northville

The community directory prepared by the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary has been completed and will soon be available to the public free of charge.

This updated version of the auxiliary's first directory, published last year, includes a listing of cooperating organizations in the Northville area. With each entry is a description of the club and the names of one or more of its officers.

The booklets will soon be available at local real estate offices, city hall and township hall.

The Greater Northville Republican Club will meet on Thursday, August 9, in the Northville Township Hall.

September politics and the organization's booth for the Northville fair will be the two major topics of discussion in the meeting.

Mrs. Paul Hughes was honored at a luncheon on Tuesday in the Napier Road home of Miss Betty LeMasters.

Several of Mrs. Hughes' friends were present to say goodbye to her as she prepares to leave Northville to live in Paris. The reason for the move is a job transfer for her husband to that French city.

Mrs. Bob (Carol) Nickels and daughters Robbie Lynn, 5, and Tracy Lee, 9, are visitors in the home of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Johnson.

Mrs. Nickels is in the process of moving her family from McRae, Georgia, to Orangeburg, South Carolina, where her husband has taken a job.

While in Northville, Mrs. Nickels and her daughters have also visited Nickels' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Nickels of Laraugh Drive.

DOG-GONE ORDINANCE—Although many Novi residents were pleased to learn that the city council had adopted a new dog ordinance, the news was not greeted warmly by everyone. John Raymer (left) and John Pierce, the six year old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Pierce of 11 Mile Road, would just as soon not have any ordinance at all. Least Happy is Raven, the Pierce family's seven year old collie. Although the ordinance prohibits dogs from running loose unless it's on its owner's property, Police Chief Lee BeGole said his department will only enforce the ordinance if a dog is becoming a nuisance.

Begin Enforcement Of Dog Ordinance

Dog owners take note. The number of days that dogs will be allowed to roam at large in the City of Novi is limited.

In fact, Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole said last week that his department has already begun enforcement of a dog ordinance adopted by the city council several weeks ago.

The ordinance, which was passed by the council by a 6-0 margin (Mayor Joseph Crupi was not present), serves the basic purpose of giving the Novi police the right to intercede and issue tickets upon receipt of citizen complaints.

The ordinance is aimed at controlling fierce or vicious dogs, loud or habitually barking dogs, and dogs which are allowed to run loose from yard to yard.

Prior to the adoption of the ordinance, Novi citizens had to rely almost exclusively on Oakland County's Animal Welfare division for relief from dog problems.

The city council directed City Attorney David Fried to draw up the ordinance after hearing complaints from citizens who reported that Novi police refused to handle dog complaints and that it took Oakland County officials anywhere from two to four days to respond to calls.

Chief BeGole said last week that in spite of the new ordinance, Oakland County would still be the primary source of dog control in Novi.

"We simply don't have the facilities for picking up dogs," said BeGole. "According to state law we are therefore forbidden to pick up and hold a dog. We'll handle reports of dog bites, but Oakland County will still be responsible for picking up and quarantining all dogs."

BeGole went on to say that the primary benefit of the new ordinance is that Novi police now have the right to issue tickets to owners whose dogs violate its standards.

Most ordinance violations are expected to center around a section which provides for the confinement of dogs.

The ordinance makes it unlawful for the owner of a dog to permit his animal to stray beyond his own property unless the dog is either held on a leash or is "under reasonable control."

According to the ordinance, the dog is considered to be under "reasonable control" if it is amenable to orders and commands from the person in charge of it.

The ordinance also makes it unlawful for a person to keep a dog which creates a serious annoyance to the neighborhood by loud and frequent barking, yelping, and howling. Fierce and vicious dogs are also forbidden by the ordinance.

BeGole noted that police would respond only to complaints from citizens. "We have absolutely no intention of riding around and looking for loose dogs," said the Chief. "We simply don't have that kind of manpower. However, when we get a complaint we will respond to it and write tickets if necessary."

The Chief also noted that in most cases the citizen making the complaint would have to appear in court as a witness. "In the case of loose dogs, the animal is usually long gone by the time police are able to respond to a call," said BeGole. "Unless our officers observe the dog on someone else's property, the complainant will have to appear in court to testify that the dog was indeed wandering loose."

The same principle applies to the barking dog provision.

City Approves Plat For Industrial Park

Novi's city council came to grips with one of the city's stickier zoning problems last Wednesday as it gave conditional approval to the preliminary plat of the proposed Hydromation Industrial Park subdivision.

The property for which the plat approval was approved lies on the north side of Nine Mile Road and is bordered by the C&O railroad tracks on the west and a subdivision on single-family residences - Meadowbrook Lake - on the east.

Ordinarily, it is not considered good planning to have industrially zoned property abutting single-family residential areas, but that was not the issue at Wednesday's public hearing.

Since the zoning of the two subdivisions has been determined for some years, the problem facing the council and planning board was how to protect the interests of the homeowners without infringing on the rights of the developers of the industrial subdivision.

In granting the conditional preliminary plat approval, the council imposed a list of seven restrictions on the developer - some of them directed toward the end of protecting the Meadowbrook Lake homeowners.

However, Robert Bretz, a member of the Novi Planning Board, cast doubts on the validity of those restrictions. "These conditions are fine and good and I agree with them," said Bretz. "The only question I have is are they legal?"

The unusual zoning combination of industrial property directly next to single family residential property was created some years ago. Originally, the entire area carried an agricultural designation.

The first piece of property to be rezoned was the parcel along the railroad tracks. Arthur Heslip, a longtime Novi resident and former school board member, requested and was granted an M-3 (general manufacturing) zoning for the property.

It was after the Heslip property - the land which is now owned by the Hydromation Corporation - had been rezoned to M-3 that the R-1-A (single family residential) rezoning was granted so that the Meadowbrook Lake subdivision could be developed.

In making his request for the preliminary plat approval at last Wednesday's public hearing, Hydromation President Ted Doman noted that he had already made several concessions to the Meadowbrook Lake homeowners even though they knew their property was abutting industrial property at the time they purchased their homes.

"We constructed a half-mile of chain link fence between the Meadowbrook Lake subdivision and our own property," said Doman.

More importantly, Doman continued, "we voluntarily allowed our property to be rezoned from heavy industrial use to light industrial use in spite of the fact that the change cost us quite a bit of money."

Representing the Meadowbrook Lake homeowners on the west side of Balcombe Drive whose property backs up to the proposed industrial subdivision, Larry Meyer, made three specific requests of the city's planning board and council.

Specifically, Meyer requested that all existing vegetation in the form of trees and shrubs within 30 feet of the property line be left untouched. He further requested that the eight foot high green belt of evergreens required by city ordinance be put in by the developer before the plats are sold. Meyer's final request was that the nighttime lighting required by the police

City Seeks More Capacity

Sewer Taps All Gone

Novi's city council Monday approved the sale of 350 sewer taps to developer Kaufman and Broad.

As a result, the city has now exhausted its sewage capacity in the Huron-Rouge system which services the southeast portion of the city.

Without sewage capacity, all further development in that area is, in effect, halted. City Manager Harold Saunders admitted Tuesday that the sale of the 350 taps to Kaufman and Broad had "nearly committed" all the city's allotted capacity in the Huron-Rouge system.

However, the city manager emphasized that Novi had only theoretically exhausted its capacity in the Huron-Rouge system. "On paper we have sold all the taps that were allotted to us," said Saunders. "But in reality we still have a lot of capacity left. Even though we've sold all our taps, they're not all being used. As far as actual use of the line, I would guess that we're only using one-fourth to one-third of our allotted capacity."

Sale of the remaining 350 taps to Kaufman and Broad is further indication that the city intends to force the issue of acquiring additional sewage capacity for the southeast corner of Novi.

"What we've been faced with is sort of a chicken-and-egg proposition," observed Councilman Donald Young at Monday's meeting. "We've been trying to get additional capacity in the Huron-Rouge system for several years now, but we're always turned down because we're not using what we have now."

"It's an unusual situation," Young continued. "We're out of taps but can't get more because there's still plenty of actual capacity left."

Sale of the last 350 taps in the Huron-Rouge system was proposed by Kaufman and Broad Attorney Barry Stulberg at the council's July 16 session.

Noting that the federal government had recently approved a grant of $80 million to Wayne County to expand its existing sewage facilities - particularly those serving Oakland County, Stulberg offered to purchase the remaining 350 taps for cash.

In response to questions from the council, Stulberg reported that K & B would need 175 taps to complete its development north of Nine Mile and an additional 1,000 taps to complete its proposed development on the south side of Nine Mile Road.

Stulberg's proposal won general acceptance from the council.

Mayor Joseph Crupi noted that the 350 taps in question were part of a payback agreement with the Smoker and Broquet development on Eight Mile Road. "Selling them for cash to K & B would enable us to wipe out that

Nine Wixom Candidates Face Voters Tuesday

Nine candidates will be vying for six spots on the November ballot when Wixom voters go to the polls in the city's Primary Election next Tuesday, August 7.

Purpose of the primary will be to pare the field of nine candidates for three four-year terms on the city council down to six. In November, Wixom voters will elect a mayor, one councilman to a two-year term and three councilmen to four-year terms.

Since there were only two candidates for both the office of mayor and the two-year council seat, their names will automatically appear on the November ballot without having to go through Tuesday's primary.

Wixom City Clerk June Buck said that voters in the Primary will be instructed to vote for three of the nine candidates for the four-year term. The names of the top six vote getters will be placed on the November ballot while the three low vote getters will be eliminated from the race.

Candidates for the three four-year terms are Arthur Cronin, Melvin Green, George Johns, James Lahde, Gunnar Mettala, Frederick Morehead, Mary Parvu, Clifford Styrk, and Betty Taylor.

Mettala, Morehead, and Mrs. Parvu are the incumbents.

Next week's primary will mark the first election since the City of Wixom was divided from one to three voting precincts.

Precinct One is the northeast section of the city and is bounded by Loon Lake Road on the north, Potter Road on the south, Wixom Road on the west, and Beck Road on the east. Precinct One voters will cast their ballots at Loon Lake Elementary School.

Precinct Two encompasses all of Wixom north of Pontiac Trail excluding Precinct One. Registered voters in the second precinct cast their ballots at the Wixom Elementary School.

Precinct Three consists of the remainder of the city - everyone living south of Pontiac Trail. Precinct Three voters cast their ballots at City Hall.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. Tuesday, August 7, and remain open until 8 p.m.

Eric Walters, Sam Wahamaki, Assistant Wendy Wassall, Karen Wahamaki, and Julie Craig. Presently books are available for readers up to the ninth grade level, but ultimately Wixom hopes to have a complete line of books for all interests.

Meet Wixom Candidates

Wixom voters will have an opportunity to meet and talk with the nine candidates for the city council at a special "Meet the Candidates" Forum this Sunday at the V.F.W. Hall on Loon Lake Road.

The Forum is sponsored by the newly-formed non-partisan Wixom Residents Association and is slated for Sunday, August 5, from 3-6 p.m.

All candidates for the three four-year terms on the council will be given an opportunity to address the group. Following these presentations, the floor will be opened to a question and answer period.

'Education Is Continuous'

British Visitors Praise Year-Round

By SALLY BURKE

"Education is a continuous process and there should not be an artificial division of time between learning and vacation."

That opinion, expressed by David Martin, is shared by all four British principals who visited Northville's year-round school program Friday.

Martin is in the United States with Miss Eleanor Nisbet, Harry Ducker and Fred Meyrick conducting workshops for Oakland University's school of education in Utica.

All four are head masters of schools located in Oxfordshire west of London. Ducker's junior school includes students between the ages of seven and 11 while the other three head primary schools which teach students between the ages of five and 11.

In Northville, the four principals were conducting workshops for teachers at Amerman Elementary School, integrating study in all areas of the curriculum.

And while they were here, they also were learning about the voluntary experimental year-round school program which began its second year of operation at Amerman.

"The school year should be extended with schools kept open all the time," Miss Nisbet commented.

Ducker calls Northville's program a "rational use of planning and buildings."

Martin said they are looking at Northville's program and hope to begin something similar in England.

"In England, there's very much thought to year-round school," Meyrick added.

He explained that students in England travel great distances to school by bus, with some students living two hours from school.

"We would like to have schools in each community where students and the community could use them all the time," Martin added.

Students in England attend school for 200 days (American school year is 180 days), including 10 vacation days, and have a seven and one-half week summer break. Primary and secondary students have the same vacation days "but the needs are not necessarily similar," Martin explained.

Weather does not really affect education in England, the principals said, since temperatures rarely reach above 80 degrees.

There is little if any specialization among teachers in British schools and teachers teach all subjects to their children, including art and music.

Workshop sessions taught by the four last week centered on using the school grounds to study growth of plants, animals, art and other areas of the curriculum.

Commented Ducker, "Two main ingredients for education are that the students must be interested and what is being offered must be enjoyable."

"First-hand experience will be retained longer. Study of the child's environment is a good way for them to retain knowledge," Ducker said.

They pointed out that the four year-round school terms enable students to study something like the life cycle of trees or insects in summer as well as in fall, winter and spring.

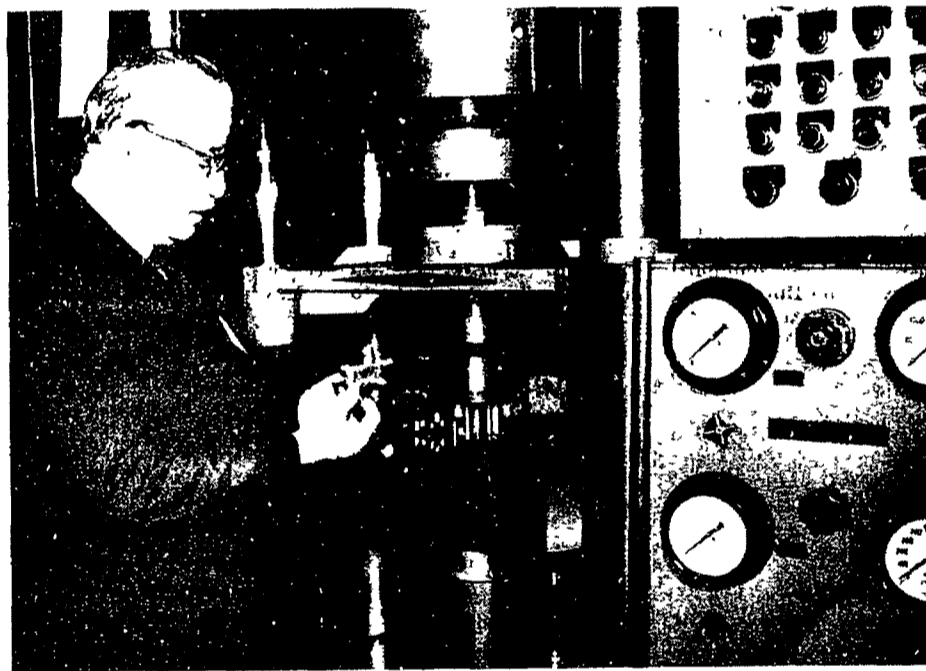

Workshops were designed to aid teachers in devising ways to enable students to gain the first-hand experience and at the same time give them a balanced education.

"Skills come from experiences," Meyrick stated, "and that's the basic philosophy we believe in."

TWO-WAY LEARNING — Four British principals in Northville Friday to conduct workshops were also learning how year-round school works. Checking over a paper-

NORTHVILLE'S John Haller is shown inspecting a powdered-metal part made on a compacting press that he designed.

For Developing Components

Haller Earns 'Pioneer' Award

Former Northville resident and industrialist John Haller received a "Powder Metallurgy Pioneer Award" from the Metal Powder Industries Federation at a special banquet held during the Fourth International P-M Conference at the Four Seasons-Sheraton Hotel, Toronto, Canada.

Haller was honored by the Industry trade group for his original contributions in designing and manufacturing complex components and products made from metal powders and used in the automotive and appliance industries.

Pioneer awards are given periodically by the Federation to recognize individuals who have pioneered developments that have served to advance powder metallurgy as an industry and technology.

Haller has enjoyed an interesting and an unusual career. Born 1905, in Schwenningen, Germany, he arrived in the United States in 1926 at the age of 21. He was highly skilled in tool and die making and machine tool building. His first job was with the Landis Machine Company. He moved to Detroit in 1929 where he joined Chevrolet and then Ford Motor Company to design production equipment. With his wife and three employees he formed the J.H. Tool & Machine Works in 1933. Haller became interested in powder metallurgy when he designed tools for P-M ordnance components.

In 1945 Haller formed Michigan Powdered Metal Products Inc., of Northville. During this time, Haller worked on designing new and improved mechanical and hydraulic compacting presses and special sintering equipment for making shock absorber pistons and rod guides, oil pump gears and washing machine gears.

After selling both companies, Haller designed and sold sintering furnaces and compacting presses to fabricate P-M parts and ceramic products. Haller returned to P-M parts fabricating in 1957 when his former firm had a serious fire and it was decided not to reopen. From this period on he established his company as a major supplier of P-M products. Haller opened his own plant on Northville Road taking over the former Ford Motor Company Waterford facility.

Haller was instrumental in helping Ford Motor Company apply P-M technology in the design of P-M parts for automatic transmissions. He acted as a consultant to Ford's Rawsonville P-M operation for three years.

Haller's many accomplishments include developing a patented "oil well" bearing, and an "erosion proof" infiltrating material, P-M automotive applications for automatic transmissions and steering mechanisms and the general development of complex, larger P-M parts. He also helped to commercialize his own special compacting presses and multi-action floating core rods.

In 1964, Mr. Haller sold his firm to the Federal-Mogul Corporation when it became an operating division. He was named Technical Advisor and Director of the Haller Research Center located on Northville Road in Northville township. In 1970, Mr. Haller retired from Federal-Mogul and moved with his wife to Liechtenstein, Switzerland.

Haller has received 95 patents; 64 for powder metallurgy related products and equipment; and 31 for general metalworking machinery. He also has five P-M patents which are currently pending.

He is also a major stockholder in Michigan Powdered Metal Products, Inc., of Livonia.

Spear Speaks to Convention

Northville School Superintendent Raymond Spear will speak at a summer workshop session of the Michigan Association of School Administrators next week.

Spear's topic will be "Innovations Worth Noting in Year-Round School."

Held at Lake Superior State College in Sault Ste. Marie between August 5 and 7, the workshop theme for this year is "Education 1973 — Toward the 80's".

In a related matter, the Northville superintendent has been named chairman of the Year-Round School Committee of Michigan Association of School Administrators.

He will hold the chairmanship for the 1973-74 school year.

Of Walled Lake

City to Control Level

Novi's city council has taken official action to regulate the level of Walled Lake.

At its regular Monday night session, the council by a 5-1 margin passed a resolution directing the city clerk to request that the Oakland County Commissioners "take such action as is necessary to maintain the water in Walled Lake at its normal height and level."

By passing the resolution, the council hopes to divorce itself from a problem which has haunted them for the past several years.

The level of Walled Lake can be controlled by opening or closing drainage tubes which run under South Lake Drive.

While George Athas was city manager (May, 1971 to October, 1972), it was decided to close the tubes to allow the lake to rise to a higher level.

But while some residents along the lake favored the closing of the tubes, others preferred the lake at a lower level and argued that the tubes be left open.

In trying to appease everybody, city officials ended up pleasing virtually nobody.

Recently, however, a new problem has developed.

City officials have found that when Walled Lake is allowed to remain at its higher level, frequent damage is done to the roads along the lake, most notably South Lake Drive.

After particularly heavy rains, the lake rises over the road in certain locations. And even when the water does not cover the road, the high water level tends to undermine the base of the road by eroding the soil beneath the road bed.

At its July 16 session, the Novi city council decided to rid itself of the problem, of determining the lake level. Although preliminary discussion centered on asking the Department of Natural Resources to set the lake level, the council ultimately decided at the suggestion of City Attorney David Fried to ask the Oakland County Commissioners to handle the task.

At the July 16 meeting, the council directed Fried to draw up the resolution that was approved Monday.

Mayor Joseph Crupi initially argued against adoption of the resolution. Basis of his argument was that no action should be taken until the City of Walled Lake had been informed of the resolution and had indicated a favorable response.

"They are our neighbors and it would make for poor relations to slap them in the face with this resolution out of the clear blue sky," said the Mayor.

City Manager Harold Saunders reported that he had discussed the matter with Walled Lake City Manager Harold Ackley and had received a general indication that Walled Lake had no objections.

Assured of the approval of the City of Walled Lake, Mayor Crupi withdrew his opposition.

Sole dissenting ballot in the 5-1 vote was cast by Councilman Edwin Presnell, who argued that it had not been determined, as stated in the resolution, that the uncontrolled water level had damaged the lands and roads abutting the lake.

knowledgeable during her week at the forestry center included learning about the lumber business.

"We learned to estimate how tall a tree is, we learned to grade lumber and to determine how many logs could be cut from a tree," she said.

The rules of logging were also explained to them. According to Shelley, only trees five feet in diameter or more are taken for lumber.

One class assignment was to find the worth of a tree on today's lumber market. This was done by determining the number of logs in the tree, their size and the cost of each log. "You wouldn't believe the money involved in lumber," Shelley exclaimed.

To study forest wildlife, one of Shelley's duties was to trap deer mice and squirrels and take data on them, mark them and set them free.

The whole experience was an enjoyable one for Shelley. "When I was out there learning and practicing what I was taught, I just had such a good feeling," she said.

Mrs. Daisy Hight, Doris' mother, is now spending the week with the Merkle's before returning to her home in Auburn Heights.

Nab Man in Theft

In Northville

A 26-year-old Northville man has been charged with grand larceny in the theft of $757 from Winner's Circle Bar at 111 West Main Street early Sunday.

Arraigned Monday on the charge was Steve Allen Bullock of 111 West Main Street. He pled guilty to the charge, however, the court would not accept his plea and a plea of not guilty was entered on his behalf.

Pre-trial examination has been set for August 9 and Bullock is in jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

According to police reports, the theft was discovered about 6:25 a.m. by a janitor who found window curtains tied together, cash register and money box open and checks scattered on the floor in front of the cash register.

The rear door which leads from the bar to the upstairs rooms was standing open, police said.

Bullock, who was employed at the bar, was arrested by city police detectives Sunday morning following questioning. The money taken from the bar was recovered by investigating officers.

Radios, stereos and musical equipment valued at more than $1,200 were stolen from a house at 619 Randolph Street following a break-in.

According to police, the house was broken into between 7 a.m. and 6:50 p.m. July 20.

Missing are portable stereo with two speakers, three radios, pocket watch, electric guitar, fender base, camera and cassette tape recorder.

Three Northville juveniles between the ages of 15 and 16 have been charged with breaking into coin boxes on pin ball machines at 140 North Center Street.

Investigating officers received a report that two coin boxes had been tried open between 10 and 10:25 p.m. July 25. Through questioning of suspects, police had the three in custody the following day.

Charges were filed against the three in Wayne County Juvenile Court on Friday. Police said the youths netted less than $10 from the coin boxes.

Seven persons, including two police officers, escaped injury when a city police car hit the rear of another car Friday evening at Seven Mile and South Center Street.

According to reports, the police car, driven by Patrolman Allen Cox, was attempting to stop another vehicle for a traffic violation when the accident took place at 10:20 p.m.

Cox said the car he was attempting to stop had its right turn signal on and he thought the driver was going to go through the red traffic light.

When the driver of the other vehicle came to an abrupt stop, Cox said he was unable to stop the squad car which struck the other vehicle in the rear. The police car was traveling at about five miles per hour when the accident took place.

Three persons received minor injuries after the car in which they were riding rolled over on Novi Road, 200 feet north of Allen Drive.

Driver of the car, Laurence E. Vigiletti of South Lyon, told police he was southbound on Novi Road at 10:45 p.m. July 25, when a vehicle approached him, blinding him with its lights. He lost control of the car and it rolled over in a ditch.

Vigiletti and two passengers in his car were treated for bruises. A three-year-old boy sleeping on the front seat was uninjured.

Unknown persons removed a suitcase from the rear of a car parked in the parking deck and took jewelry, a purse and toiletries from the suitcase.

The theft took place sometime Friday after 9 a.m. The suitcase was turned over to police at 2 p.m. the same day after it was found on the parking deck.

A Saginaw man reported to police his wallet was stolen about 10:45 p.m. Friday while he was at Northville Downs.

The wallet was recovered the following day in a men's washroom and $70 had been taken from it, reports stated.

In Township

Charges of intent to deliver and possess drugs and possession of marijuana have been brought against three persons following their arrest by township police Saturday night.

Arraigned on the charges Monday were Guy Edward Marinelli, 19, of South Lyon; Lorn Alden Ross, 22, of Taylor; and William Stewart Brink, 24, of Romulus.

All pled not guilty to the charges and will appear August 9 for pre-trial examination. Marinelli is free on $10,000 bond while Ross and Brink were released on $1,000 bond.

According to township reports, officers were called shortly before 11:30 p.m. to investigate a suspicious car in Kings Mill.

A check of the car and the three occupants revealed numerous capsules, marijuana and pills. Police said an attache case on the front seat contained thousands of pills, horse tranquilizers, suspected LSD and other drugs. Samples of a powder also recovered by officers have been sent to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab for complete analysis.

Also contained in the case were paper plates, tin foil, plastic bags, file card index and an address book. A sifter and cigarette package with capsules were also recovered.

Four drug overdose cases were reported to township police Saturday night. According to Chief Ronald Nisun, all occurred on Beer Hill. Nisun said he is investigating to see if there is any connection between the overdoses and drug arrests.

Four men in their twenties robbed a 15-year-old Milford youth of $2 and slashed him with a knife last Thursday night in Cass Benton Park.

According to the youth, the four forced him into their car, took his money and then slashed his twice above the right wrist and once on the left shoulder before throwing him out of the car.

The youth said all were armed with knives, had long hair and were in a 1966 white Chevrolet station wagon.

Two youths have been charged with careless use of firearms after a .22 caliber bullet from a gun they were shooting shattered a porch window on Spring Lane near Meadowbrook Country Club.

Police said the incident took place about 1:40 p.m. Friday.

Two 15-year-olds escaped injury and arrest after the stolen 1973 Jeep they were driving missed a curve at Waterford and Franklin roads and rolled over. The youths fled the scene.

A woman pursuing the vehicle told police she was trying to get close enough to read the license number to determine if it was the same one she knew had been stolen from a dealership in Plymouth when the accident took place.

The incident occurred at 5:50 p.m. last week Tuesday.

Township police are looking for a woman driving a yellow Pinto who struck a 10-year-old boy at 3:30 p.m. Saturday and drove off.

The youth was riding his bicycle on Bradner near Sunnydale when he was struck by the car. He was not injured.

Four persons, including a 16-year-old Northville youth, tried unsuccessfully last Tuesday evening to recover 39-year-old Lloyd Eason of Plymouth after he drowned while fishing in Waterford Pond.

Bob Hulin of Winchester Drive reported he was riding his bicycle when a woman screamed that a man was drowning.

Hulin, along with Mike McKay, Mike Genson and Ray Carmany, all of Livonia, swam out with their clothes on to attempt to recover Mr. Eason.

His body was found the following day by Michigan State Police divers in 10 feet of water 25 feet from shore.

Reports indicated the water was weedy and muddy, hindering recovery operations.

In Novi

Police have secured warrants for the arrest of two Detroit area residents in conjunction with the breaking and entering of the Meadowbrook Pharmacy last week.

Names of the subjects are being withheld pending the serving of the warrants.

Police discovered the break-in while on routine patrol at 3:40 a.m. July 21. Officers observed that the plate glass front door had been broken and further investigation revealed that the front sales counter had been completely ransacked.

The owner of the building reported that two radios and a combination radio-phonograph had been taken during the breaking and entering which is believed to have been interrupted in progress by police.

Value of the stolen radios totaled approximately $65. Also taken in the break-in were an undetermined amount of cigarettes.

Another Novi business establishment reporting a breaking and entering last week was Helen's Hideaway Bar located at 13393 13 Mile Road.

Police were summoned to the bar at 8 a.m. on July 23 by a waitress who reported discovering the break in upon arriving for work that morning.

Stolen items varied widely. An undetermined amount of money was stolen from a juke box and a cigarette machine. An estimated $15 was taken from the cash register.

Also taken, according to reports, were four six-packs of beer, seven boxes of prepared sandwiches, and eight 12 inch frozen pizzas.

Other stolen items included a 19 inch portable television set, an adding machine, two electric food warmers, and an undetermined amount of Michigan lottery tickets.

Police have apprehended a suspect who was allegedly involved in a reported indecent exposure incident.

The man was being sought in conjunction with an incident which occurred near the Pioneer Meadows playground on Beck and 11 Mile Roads last May.

Novi Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner stated that the police investigation has been completed and the subject will be brought before the proper authorities for disposition of the case.

In Wixom

Nine checks ranging in amount from $300 to $1,000 were stolen from the office of the Ford Motor Company's Wixom Assembly Plant on Thursday, July 19.

The theft was reported to police by Ford officials.

According to company spokesmen, the checks had been made out and were slated to be presented as awards to employees the day after they were discovered missing.

A 1973 Honda motorcycle valued at $825 was reported stolen last week.

Bret Rush of Walled Lake told police he had left the motorcycle outside the Birch Park Hunt Club on July 22. When he returned to the bike several hours later he discovered it missing.

A Loon Lake resident reported the attempted theft of an outboard motor last week.

The man called police to his residence and reported that sometime between 8 p.m. on July 19 and 4 p.m. July 21, there had been an attempt to steal a 40 horsepower Mercury outboard motor from his boat on Loon Lake.

The man then led investigating officers to the lake where they observed that the control panel on the boat and the cables to the engine had been completely destroyed.

A television set and a china cabinet filled with china were reported stolen from a private residence at 30100 Beck Road last week.

The theft occurred between 1 p.m. on July 20 and 2 p.m. the following day.

Police are investigating two reports of threatening phone calls made last week.

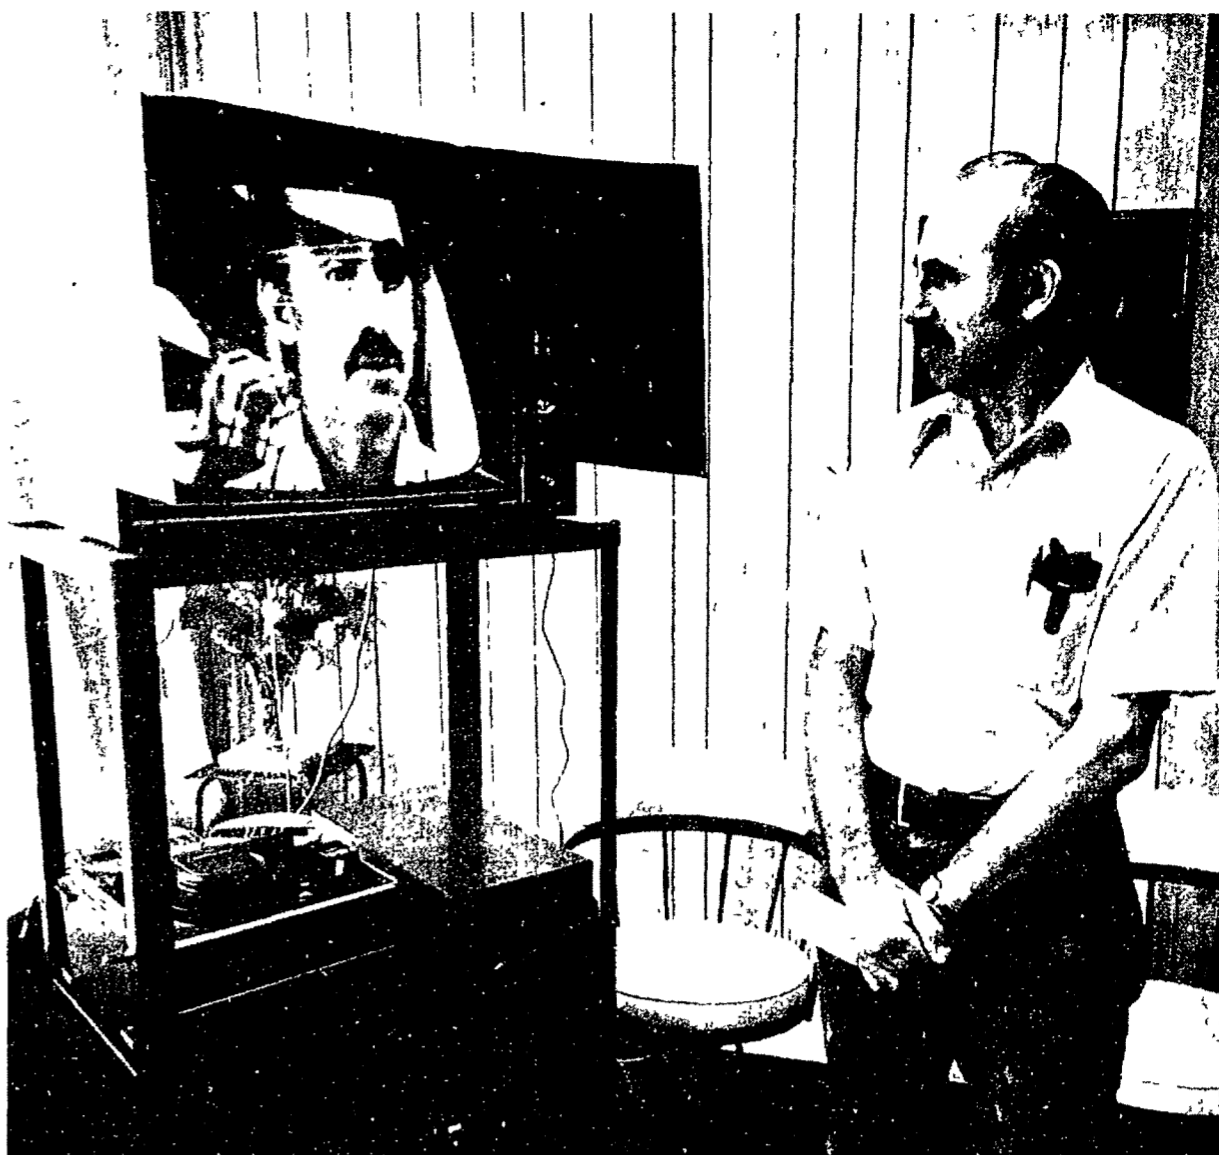

Two different citizens contacted police and reported that they had received a call from an anonymous male who said he had placed a bomb in their homes.

Judge Martin Boyle of the 52nd District Court in Walled Lake told The Novi News that "everyone had a dog ordinance, but that no one enforces it with the exception of South Lyon which has a man assigned to do nothing but trace down violators."

Would 'Streamline' Counties

State Senate Bill Awaits House OK in October

Legislation to enable the voters to modernize their county governments awaits approval of the Michigan House of Representatives.

The bill, approved by the Senate by a 30-3 vote in April, was passed on for third reading (final action) July 25 by the House. Representatives are expected to consider it for passage when they return to Lansing in October after their recess.

The bill would permit the creation of a county executive office and the reorganization of the county structure.

The House Towns and Counties Committee sent the measure, Senate Bill 229, to the House floor by a 7-4 vote June 21, after holding a hearing in Detroit.

Officials of Wayne, Jackson and Bay counties supported the bill at the June 18 hearing in the City-County Building auditorium. The Senate passed the measure by a 30-3 vote last April.

The bill also was endorsed by representatives of the Leagues of Women Voters of Michigan, the Oakland County Democratic Party and a citizens' group called New County, Michigan, Inc.

Macomb County was the only county represented which opposed the measure.

Senate Bill 229 would permit the voters of a county to elect a county executive with powers similar to a strong mayor or to authorize the County Board of Commissioners to appoint a county manager.

The measure, known as the Optional County Form of Government bill, also would permit the streamlining of the county structure. Major departments would be under the direction of the executive or manager and the number of appointed boards and commissions would be limited to those specified in the act.

In testifying before the House committee, Wayne

Tuesday noon Mrs. James Scott was awakened from a nap by her nine-year-old son who announced that "there's a strange man sitting in the living room".

What she thought was a prank turned into a 20-minute nightmare for Mrs. Scott.

The uninvited visitor had walked across the street from Northville State Hospital. He assured Mrs. Scott that he would not harm her; he ordered her son to call a cab and asked Mrs. Scott for a cigarette.

Mrs. Scott's "cab call" was made to Northville State Hospital. Neighbors, who spotted the invader and also called the hospital and state police, said it took the hospital's security guard 20 minutes to respond.

Meanwhile, the visitor invaded the nearby Bryan Conklin home on Meadowbrook. Eventually, he was apprehended by state police in the garage with the assistance of the Conklin's son, Brad.

The incident may not be typical, but it is not an unusual example of invasions that have taken place in the homes neighboring the Seven Mile road state hospital.

While Mrs. Scott managed to maintain her faculties and cope with the situation as it occurred, she was deeply upset by the experience after it had taken place.

Her concern was echoed by Mrs. Arthur Anderson, a neighbor, who complains that there have been numerous trespassers "ordering us to drive them to Detroit" and that response from state hospital officials over the past 20 years "has been terrible".

Mrs. Conklin estimates that during the past 17 years there has been an average of one "uninvited visitor" per month to their residence.

"Usually they're very docile. They'll do anything you tell them," she pointed out.

But she admits the latest experience was upsetting. She was not home at the time, but her son reported that the trespasser picked up a wrench in the garage.

So despite sympathetic feelings and appreciation for the problems and endeavors of the hospital, the neighboring residents fear for their safety.

They believe it is unfair that they should be submitted to the uncertainties that accompany the current concept of treatment, community psychiatry.

The idea that prevails at Northville State Hospital is that openness aids treatment. Old-style methods that employed confinement often proved damaging.

A hospital spokesman explains that many patients have "ground privileges". This unconfined freedom hurries their readjustment so that they may return to normal home life.

Patients who have "grounds cards" are described as "confused, but not dangerous".

In reality, Tuesday's incident was not the result of the hospital's open-door concept.

The patient in question did not enjoy ground privileges. He escaped through a window. He was described as "not dangerous, just childish".

Such a break-out could have taken place at any institution of confinement.

But it serves to point up a situation that a layman cannot accept with the same professional casualness as a hospital spokesman.

The fear that a violent act could occur lingers.

The knowledge that three acts of violence involving ex-patients have taken place recently cannot be disregarded.

The fact that the harmless invader could have been shot is equally disturbing.

Admittedly, a non-professional in the field of mental health cannot recommend meaningful solutions.

But common sense dictates that an act of violence is not required to bring about a re-examination of security procedures.

Fences may be taboo to the Northville State Hospital's program of rehabilitation.

But a responsibility is thereby created to provide for the safety, welfare and peace of mind of those citizens who live outside the hospital.

And this responsibility extends beyond the offices of Northville State Hospital and the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

State Representative Robert Geake, who is a professional in the field of mental health, has already called for a meeting with proper officials.

The weight of the offices of Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright and State Senator Carl Pursell should also be added to the investigation.

There is no suggestion that the program of "community psychiatry" should be abandoned. Only that it be made to work successfully for both patient and community citizen.

YES . . .

Where are all the children?

You are kidding me! Who would dare give them 90 days of vacation? What kind of minds and bodies are we building for the future of this country? You say that they are playing tennis and swimming. But just how many Billie Jean Kings and Mark Spitz' do we need? Does this prepare them for the future?

If this sounds a little far-fetched, it should not. This the way we prepare our children for the future. We would not have it any other way. In addition, studies have shown that the little rascals need that time to refresh their spirits. The pressure of riding the school bus, throwing paper airplanes, and explaining that tear in their new jeans kind of gets a guy down.

I am not suggesting that we make things tougher for kids. They will have plenty of time to get in the swing of adult life. Adult life will be a groove because this is a leisure-oriented society. The only problem is that not everyone has enough vacation time to do his thing. By the time he retires and has all the time in the world, he has forgotten what it is that makes his spirit free.

What I am suggesting is that four weeks of vacation should be mandatory. It refreshes a man's spirit and makes him more creative and productive. It will also better prepare him for that time when all his time is his own.

Speaking for Myself

Mandatory 4-Week Vacations?

NO . . .

Thousands of words have recently been written both pro and con by leading economists of our country on the subject matter of a four-week annual vacation for the average employee.

Four weeks? Not Me! It's preposterous!

When analyzing the present annual work day week using the accepted industrial formula of 21 working days each month for a total of 252 annually, we have a remaining balance of 113 days.

Considering an additional 10-day vacation, plus a 12-day paid holiday period, we now have a total of 135 days relief from the daily grind at the shop or office. This excludes the 6 percent absenteeism, the overall rate reported by Automotive and Airframe industries.

With an additional 10 days as proposed, we have a total of 145 days leisure time for the calendar year. It is then preposterous to assume any red blooded individual could survive 145 days of wisely admonitions casually reminding him "There's always something to do around the house or yard". What other prerogative has he to escape such unnecessary heckling?

The lesser of two evils may be an enthusiastic acceptance by the local "Little Theatre Group", casting him in a part of the "Maid Miriam", in their Shakesperian series. As an alternative adapting to the culinary art to offset the present pastry prices of today, what would be wrong in the concoction of an eggless, milkless and butterless cake under the trade name of a "Fatherless-and Motherless" delicacy, with his better half as salesmanager?

Now can you imagine the undersigned, classified as the average employee involved in a four-week vacation period? No Sir! Not Me! It's Preposterous!

'Where Will They Go?'

To the Editor:
I read your editorial lauding the accomplishments of our soon-to-be-departed City Manager, Mr. Frank Ollen-dorf with amusement (?) and dismay.
Granted we will no longer be a city of blight due to historic and quaint older homes. What a future we have in Northville - PARKING LOTS.
First South Center and now Beal Street.

Dearest Frank - where will our older citizens go?
Hope before you leave for Adrian you at least put in an order for green-tinted parking lots. Maybe the few remaining trees won't feel so badly. I know how the people feel. At the budget meeting you called it progress but Mr. Sid Frid (one of our more vocal senior citizens) accused you and the city fathers of "caring more about parking cars than caring about people".

Have you made arrangements for these people to move - where to? And can someone over 65 on social security afford to rent (buying is out of the question)?
This is only hearsay, but one of the realtors told me that at the recent planning meeting you said you weren't interested in low-cost housing. That's very progressive on

A while back I took a poke at the State of Ohio for permitting mining and oil explorations to gouge its beautiful landscape. More specifically, I fumed because commercial trucks were chewing up a state park near Belle Valley, Ohio apparently with the blessing of the state.

After reminding me about those living in glass houses, a Buckeye reader suggested my loose head was buried in Michigan's polluted beaches.

Alas, I'm afraid the criticism is justified, for it appears that while mining and oil explorations are gouging Ohio's landscape, two-cylinder engines and their maniacal operators are raping the tranquility of Northern Michigan.

Having spent most of our vacations during the past 20 years camping in Michigan state parks, we have noted without objection the increasing numbers of motorcycles, mini-bikes, dune-buggies, etc. roaring about the woods.

Like others, we accepted this invasion as the right of nuisance machine operators to enjoy the North just as we and others do. We accepted the arguments that nuisance machines are vital to the economy of Michigan, that most nuisance machine operators are considerate fun-loving folk, and that nuisance machines are no more harmful to ecology than camping itself.

For accepting this bilge and giving validity to the nuisance machine's existence we and others have allowed the erosion of what is perhaps Northern Michigan's last resource—tranquility.

Our family deserved, therefore, to be forced from DeTour State Park in the UP two weeks ago by the "fun-loving folk".

Despite the abbreviated vacation, we came away with an even greater appreciation of the state's last resource. And more importantly because we were able to closely observe the nuisance machines and their operators for seven days we are able now to attest to these modern-day camping truisms:

- First chore in camping used to be putting up the tent or leveling the camper...now it's putting down the kick stand.
- Mini-bike dust liberally sprinkled on a camp roast produces an especially grating delicacy.
- Today's sunbather is tomorrow's treadmill.
- Dune goons are louder than Huron loons.
- The scariest second in the woods at night is that heartbeat when the nuisance machine suddenly stops.
- The most fearful sound in the woods at night is the sound of the foot crank.
- Silence is blissful...and a broken chain.
- All hikes of 50 yards or more absolutely require

Suggests Traffic Aids

To the Editor:

Your July 12 issue discussed installing a traffic light at Novi and Nine Mile Roads. I live on Eight Mile, and have some further traffic suggestions to make, which I think would improve driving safety:

1. Erect a clear left turn sign for those driving East on Eight Mile at Novi Road.

2. Cut the speed limit at the curve east of the intersection of Eight Mile and Novi, where most of our accidents occur.

No doubt we need a light at Eight and Novi too.

3. Maintain the dirt shoulders of roads, especially at angles where deep ruts about a foot deep can and do occur, especially in winter. These contribute to accidents.

4. Install a turn light where Highland Lakes meets 8 Mile. Build a narrow bicycle path beside Eight Mile, especially between Meadowbrook Country Club and Northville High School. The roadsides are too rough for riding in general, so young people weave back and forth from lane to lane. I wonder who will be hit when. Bike paths could start a trend which could become increasingly important during the gas shortage, as well as being a real safety measure.

I will leave Northville soon, so I am not speaking for personal benefit but for those who will live here in the future, and I speak of the area I know best.

Yours truly,
Rose Boving

your part, Mr. Ollendorff. Do you know that in a 1970 study by the University of Michigan, Northville has more people over 65 than any community of its size in the whole nation?

These older citizens built and served Northville. Do we just put them on a rock to waste away?

I certainly would like to see an editorial about this problem, Mr. Sliger.

Last winter we had 368 welfare cases in Northville and the township. Many of these people are over 65. I personally took the time, trouble and expense of long distance phone calls to have food stamps sold in Northville. What happened to that project, Mr. Ollendorff?

Does anyone care? Our older people cannot afford to make long distance phone calls to Wayne County Social Services — the phone number is 222-7490 and the man in charge is Mr. Robert Lynn.

One of our sweet, honest, upright senior citizens had to move from a nice little house on South Center to an apartment over a store. The apartment is fine because she rents from a nice woman — but the rent is $100 monthly, and welfare only pays $80 monthly. In addition to this great fortune, she gets $80 from Social Security. So she takes $20 of that to pay her rent. Out of the remaining grand sum of $60 monthly, she must buy food, an occasional pair of special-orthopedic shoes, pay for her one luxury — her telephone. I am sure the new shopping plaza greatly impresses her.

But she is luckier than most — she has a nephew and niece who care. How many others are there in Northville who have nobody who cares?

My children are lucky — they know what a tree looks like. What will my grandchildren know and remember?

Does ANYONE in Northville care about people?

Mr. Ollendorff, you have left behind a great many answers hanging in mid-air. Do YOU care?

Sincerely,
Shirley Matthews

Senate Bill's A 'Streamliner'

County Commissioner Paul Silver declared that "the present structure of county government in Michigan is outmoded and badly in need of modernization."

He said the problem is particularly acute in large, urban counties such as Wayne, and noted that efforts to improve the county structure have been under way "for approximately half a century."

Silver described the lack of a single executive office as "the single worst flaw in the county structure." He noted that all other levels of government, plus virtually all private organizations, have a chief executive.

In county government, executive powers are scattered among the elective offices and various appointed boards and commissions.

Creation of an executive office "alone would be an improvement of such great magnitude that it justifies passage of the bill," Silver stated. He said he favors an elected executive for Wayne County.

However, Silver described the bill as "less than perfect" because it mandates the continued existence of 21 appointed boards and commissions which are not directly accountable to the voters.

State to Bid Two Projects

Paving and improvement projects on drives at Northville State Hospital and Plymouth Center for Human Development (formerly the Plymouth State Home) were scheduled to be put out for bids yesterday (Wednesday) by the State Highway Commission.

The two local projects are among 15 highway construction and maintenance programs on which bids were to be opened in Lansing. Paving and repairs on the drives at Northville State Hospital and on the drives of the Plymouth Center are estimated at $70,000.

Completion of the projects is expected by October.

New Parking Place

'It's Good Looking'

"If anything we've gone further than necessary to make it a good looking parking place."

With that declaration Monday, City Manager Frank Ollendorff told councilmen they need not be ashamed of the project nor fear that delay in small parts of the parking lot development south and north of Northville Square will produce an eyesore.

The two lots, he assured them, will include sufficient greenbelts and related improvements to make them attractive.

However, the manager said a "very tight" budget may force council to delay completion of some parts of the two lots.

Specifically, he suggested installation of a storm sewer beneath Cady Street, from Wing to Center, might be a major delayed project.

A low bid of $126,881.70 for asphalt paving and concrete curbing of the two lots was accepted by the council Monday, but an alternate bid of an additional $36,000 for installation of the Cady Street storm sewer was laid aside.

Ollendorff also suggested the council may wish to wait until after the surfacing of the lots before finally deciding whether or not walkways made of railroad ties or brick, etc.

The city manager said the contract cost can be readily shaved because all bids were submitted on a unit price basis.

Concerning delay of the storm sewer installation, council voiced considerable reluctance. It would, they agreed with Ollendorff, create the unfortunate situation of part of Cady Street now and then returning next year and "tearing the road up again."

Final decision on this and other minor proposed postponements await a detailed financial report by Ollendorff and his interim successor, A. Russell Clarke, next Monday. Plans call for an experimental one-way-west Cady Street.

The new south parking lot between Center and Wing will be extended north into the existing Cady Street about six or eight feet leaving about 16 feet for the redesigned one-way street.

North-south parking aisles in this lot will open onto the one-way street. A wide parking lot drive is planned at the south side of the lot, running from Wing to Center.

Turning lanes are planned along Center Street.

Some existing trees already have been moved into parking lot greenbelt areas, Ollendorff reported, and new trees and shrubs are to be added. A 15-foot wide greenbelt is proposed through the center of the lot, radius curbing entrances off Cady to the parking lot aisles are planned, and the curb on the north side of Cady in this one-way area is likely to provide a passenger unloading space for shoppers.

Resurfacing of Cady is planned, although because of a possible delay in installation of the storm sewer this resurfacing may also be delayed.

The north lot, located north of Main to Dunlap, is to include a three-foot high brick wall topped by planter boxes along the Main Street side of this lot. The sidewalk, flanked on the north by the wall, is to be narrowed and a greenbelt installed between it and the street.

Planters and/or other types of green areas are planned in the interior of this north lot, and a number of the existing trees are to be preserved.

Once new areas of the lot have been paved, a thin top coat of asphalt is to be laid over the entire lot—including the old asphalt areas.

Storm drains and catch basins are to be added, redesigned or rerouted.

The new interior parking lot drainage system will be considerably larger than the storm sewer into which it will drain. And this situation is not expected to change until next year or later when the storm sewer is enlarged.

It is possible, Ollendorff told worried councilmen, that this bottleneck—large pipe into a smaller pipe—may delay drainage of the lot in "especially heavy rains." But he assured them that such a situation would rarely occur, possibly once a year.

The lot is not to slope in only one direction, he added, and thus rain waters will not all rush to one area. He said the lot will have three different elevations.

Mayor A. M. Allen wondered aloud if excavation of the entire lot and then asphalt might be less expensive and produce a better lot slope. But the city manager assured him that this proposal had been considered and found to be "at least 10 times more costly" and would produce little or no better elevations.

students are able to participate in a swimming program at the high school pool.

Amerman students in grades three through five are receiving two lessons per week until August 20. Cooke seventh and eighth graders are able to go swimming during the last hour of the school day in place of a study hall.

At the middle school, all academic subjects are taught during the first four hours of the day, Horwath explained, with elective classes offered during the last two hours.

Students at Cooke Annex are offered swimming two days each week during the first period of the day in place of art or physical education.

Horwath said the "same basic educational program is being run at the annex and middle school for year-round school as is offered during the traditional school year."

Novi Council Approves Plat

department be directed away from the homes in Meadowbrook Lake.

Doman required that each tenant of the industrial park would be required to put in a green belt consisting of eight foot high evergreens, but that the trees would not be planted until after each individual plant was completed.

"Any trees put in prior to construction would in all probability be damaged during the construction process," said Doman. "What I'm trying to avoid is the double expense of having to put in one green belt and having it torn down during construction and then having to put up another green belt."

Meadowbrook Lake residents offered several other proposals to shield their homes from the industrial park.

Mrs. Marian Pickl suggested that an eight foot high green belt was not sufficient to block out the sight and sound of the industrial area. "Unless you require a spruce or some other type of tree which will reach a minimum height of 20 feet, you will have nothing more than a token green belt," she said.

John Christy asked the city to consider requiring the developers to construct their buildings so that they faced Meadowbrook Lake.

"I would much rather look at the front of a factory than the back of one," said Christy. "If the council would require Hydromation to have the buildings constructed so that they faced our subdivision, I think it would help ease this bad situation."

The planning board by a 7-0 margin recommended that the council give conditional approval to Hydromation's preliminary plat.

In its consideration the council also gave special attention to the green belt.

Councilman Denis Berry said that he could sympathize with the residents in Meadowbrook Lake. "If I lived there I wouldn't want to look out my window and see an industrial subdivision being built," said the councilman.

Councilman Edwin Presnell called for the construction of a berm with shrubs planted along the top of it on the east side of the industrial subdivision. Councilwoman Romaine Roethel stated that she wanted to see the green belt be put in prior to any construction. She further called for stipulations that the green belt be properly maintained.

After considering the question of the green belt as well as several other items including the water retention basin and acceleration and deceleration lanes, the council unanimously granted the conditional approval of the preliminary plat with the stipulation that the eight foot green belt be constructed prior to the granting of any building permits.

motion), we will consider it prior to construction of the park."

Planner Bernard Baldwin said he did not feel that what the developer had submitted was a site plan.

Baldwin said that it "does not reasonably reflect how you're going to develop the property."

Planning Commission Chairman James Nowka agreed, stating that "If there is no problem in complying with comments from Vilcan-Leman (township planning consultants), then why don't you put them on the site plan and comply?"

In a letter to the commission, George Vilcan stated that the access point to the mobile home park should be reduced to one point and that the green belt should be shown on the plan.

He also recommended several changes, although they are not required by ordinance: larger lots, more open space and removing lots along Seven Mile Road.

Township Engineer William Mosher said that a letter from the Water Resources Commission indicated that the flood plain was within the jurisdiction of the township and that it (the township) would control any building upon or within the flood plain.

The rear portion of the property within the proposed mobile home park has been determined to be within the flood plain.

However, Mosher stated that if the developer intends to fill in the flood plain and build upon it, township ordinances prohibit filling the flood plain. He also added that the developer should provide the township with proposed new elevations which would be established by the fill.

Council Advises Owners Of Leaky Basements

(Lansing) — Want to end that leaky basement problem permanently? Many Michigan homeowners find the summer months the best time to get to the root of the problem, but before you do, the Michigan Consumers Council advises that you contact several waterproofing companies first, since claims and guarantees are as varied as the methods used.

Homeowners generally have two methods to choose from in waterproofing their basements. One method consists of injecting a mineral substance into the soil around the house, while the other involves excavation around the outside of the house or inside the basement to find the leak.

Companies using the injection method claim that when the substance comes in contact with water it expands to form a seal around the leaky spot in the basement wall, making it impermeable to moisture.

While the major attraction of this method is that it does not require extensive digging, there is some speculation as to its effectiveness, since the operator cannot see the leak he is supposedly plugging.

Block Paving?

township fell through, and an offer by Councilman Folino to lease the city a house at 350 East Cady Street has snagged on a rezoning rejection by the city planning commission.

Council is to consider the planners' recommendation for the rezoning rejection next Monday.

Meanwhile, Folino, who has repeatedly stated that he would prefer that the city deal with some other potential ambulance quarters landlord, and the city manager indicate that "we (city) might be able to get a new place in the township."

Declining to publicize its location pending completion of negotiations, Folino said only that it is located on Northville Road south of Seven Mile.

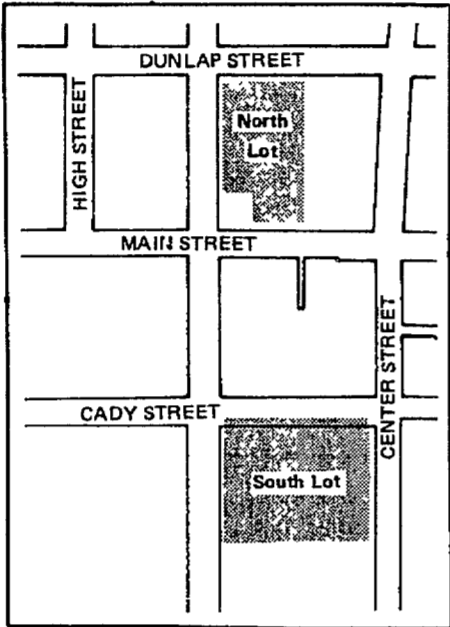

Presumably, completion of those negotiations waits final settlement of the rezoning question on Cady Street...itself a sticky problem for the council since one of its own members is involved.

Presently, the house on Cady owned by Folino is occupied. Folino petitioned for a rezoning from R-3 (multiple) to C-3 (commercial), suggesting that the requested zoning would permit a "more flexible" use, including ambulance quarters.

Early in July, however, the planning commission rejected the request taking the position that an M-1 (light manufacturing) zoning would better fit planned use in the area.

Should council reverse the planning commission Monday and award Folino his requested zoning, he has stated he will ask present tenants to vacate the house and lease it to the city for ambulance quarters.

(Cost of purchasing leased or rented ambulance space is shared by the city and the township).

If council upholds the commission recommendation, concerted effort to wrap up a deal for quarters on Northville Road is expected.

Meanwhile, the present ambulance quarters and the former Methodist manse sit smack dab in parking lots that are contracted for paving...completion by September 20. Either the houses or the contract must give and councilmen appear at the moment to be betting on the contract to survive.

Exhausts Sewer Taps

payback agreement in one fell swoop and would also permit K & B to move forward with its development," said the Mayor.

Before taking any final action on the request, however, it was decided to contact the two other developers with projects in that area to see if they wanted some of the 350 taps. Stulberg was directed to return in two weeks and told that the taps would be distributed on a "cash on the barrel head" basis at that meeting.

At Monday's session, Saunders told the council that one of the two developers interested in taps had stated that he was not interested in paying cash for them at the present time.

The other developer - the Myerson Corporation - sent representatives to the meeting who stated that they were interested in the taps, but unable to put forward cash at this time for a development which was still 18 months away.

Nevertheless, Myerson Corporation attorney Herbert Weingarten objected to the sale of the taps to Kaufman and Broad.

"We strenuously object to your giving all the available taps in that area to one developer," said Weingarten. "It's unfair and it may even be illegal to give someone exclusive building rights to one particular area just because they've got the $350,000 cost of the taps available and we don't."

However, the council remained firm on its agreement to sell the taps on a "cash on the barrel head" basis.

"Two weeks ago we said that we were going to sell those 350 taps tonight on a cash basis," stated Councilman Denis Berry. "Since K & B is the only one of the three developers ready to proceed on that basis tonight, I feel we should let them buy the taps."

The motion was supported by a 7-0 vote.

Meanwhile Mayor Crupi and Councilman William O'Brien urged Myerson not to postpone any development plans for the area.

"By the time you're ready to go," said O'Brien, "I'm sure that there will be additional capacity available to you."

It Was A Gay Old Time!

South Lyon Celebrates Centennial

It happens only once in a lifetime.

So South Lyon and its neighbors did things up right in marking the occasion.

For eight exciting and colorful days, citizens and friends celebrated the 100th anniversary of the town's founding. For gasping participants it seemed as much was packed into those eight days as during the southwestern Oakland County community's preceding 100 years.

The South Lyon Area Centennial included no less than three parades, breakfast community breakfasts and luncheons and snacks and ice cream socials, games and fun and fun and games, factory tours, a centennial play, centennial souvenirs, and most of all...colorful oldtime costumes.

Yup—from the moment the mayor opened the celebration (top left) and the speech was heard by a crowd dressed in its birthday best (far left) to the riotous bellows of centennial jailbirds, the play and the dancing, a clown volunteering himself for the time capsule, and those lazy afternoon hours looking over all the antique finery—it's safe to say South Lyon did its birthday up right nice.

A Conversation

Reverend Richard J. Henderson
Assistant Pastor
First Presbyterian Church of Northville

TIME - Uncertain
PLACE - As yet undetermined
CHARACTERS - God, Man

BACKGROUND - Man, having just completed a rewarding life, now stands before his maker in what has been traditionally known as "The Day of Judgment".

Man - Hello Sir, I won't take up much of your time because I'm one of yours. Have been since I was a kid. I joined church during confirmation class and I've been with you ever since.

God - Oh?

Man - You'll have to excuse me sir, but you sure don't look like I pictured you. I mean you don't even have a beard! Are you sure you're God?

God - I certainly am.

Man - No offense or anything. You know, it's just that I didn't expect you to be like this.

God - I understand. Now go ahead with what you were saying before.

Man - You mean about me being one of yours?

God - Yes, about that.

Man - Well, (clears his throat) Well, I've been a decent man. Even a good man I might say. Oh, you know we all have to make our little sacrifices, I mean everybody has got to compromise here and there - and I suppose I've done my share of that. Nobody's perfect and if you don't bend a little you just never make it in the business world. But on the whole I think I've done pretty well.

God - What have you done?

Man - Well, like I was saying before, I joined your church as soon as I was old enough - during confirmation class, along with everyone else. Let's see, that was back in 1913. I even brought my membership certificate along with me. Never knew when you might need it. And I've belonged to your church ever since.

And when I got married and had a family we didn't just belong to one denomination. Why, I've been Baptist, Methodist, Episcopal and Presbyterian. And some of my best friends are Catholic! That's O.K. to say here isn't it?

Anyway, I've been a member of your group all along.

Oh yes, there was that time when we moved to St. Louis for four years and we didn't change our membership. But we knew we weren't going to be there very long. And besides there weren't any exciting churches around there. You know you really ought to look into that St. Louis situation. Anyway, that was the time when the boys started getting interested in sports and wanted to play ball on Sunday mornings. You know, these days you've got to be careful about kids, with drugs and all that going around. So we figured sports weren't so bad. I even got up and went with them to the games a few times.

What I am trying to say is that I've been a church member since I was 13 years old. Not bad, huh?

God - What have you done?

Man - Well, let me see, what have I done? (pause) Oh, I see what you mean! I guess our church attendance really isn't anything to brag about but it's better than most people. When we were younger, I guess we made it to church more often, but even later on we were right there 2 Sundays out of the month. I don't think that's bad when you consider the decline in church attendance overall. I mean, think of all the people who don't go to church at all. There's getting to be more and more of them all the time.

We found that there were just too many other things going on. You know, like other programs on Sunday morning - the kids and their ball games, for example. Things like that. Or trips out of town to visit friends and relatives.

But like I say, even at its worst, we still went to church 2 or 3 Sundays out of the month. I think that's very important. These days we all need a little spiritual uplift to get us through the week; recharge the old batteries, as they say.

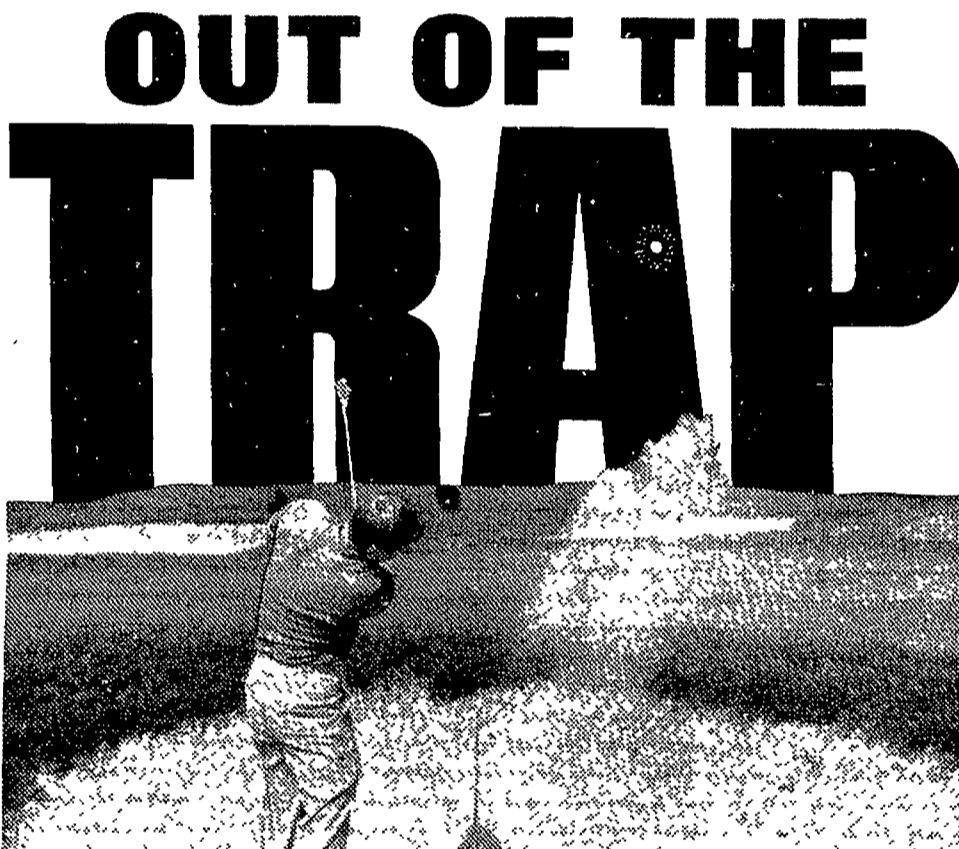

So, you see, I've not only been a long time member of your organization but I've also been a pretty regular attendee. Not to mention that I was a Deacon, usher and a member of the Men's Club. When you were in church each Sunday, I was there too, most of the time, anyway.

God - You were in church almost every Sunday?

Man - Yes sir, that's right.

God - What did you do, during the week?

Man - Oh, I was an accountant. Is that what you mean? (Read Matthew 25:31-46)

The game of golf reveals something fundamental in the character of man. For when man builds a golf course he deliberately creates hazards for himself. He builds his fairways between clumps of trees . . . dots them with bunkers and sand traps . . . often terraces his greens with confusing slopes. The whole idea—to make things harder for himself!

For thousands who find themselves in one of the traps of life . . . our religion offers precious help and reassurance.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

CHUCK BRAZEE, a local businessman, has joined the McKay Real Estate Firm, 2649 East Grand River, Howell, President Melvin McKay announces. Brazee came to Howell from Lenawee County in 1959 to manage the Farm Bureau Insurance office for Livingston County. In 1962, he worked out of the Lansing Office in field management. He held that position until 1966.

Brazee then took the position of area sales manager for the A.I.S. Construction Equipment Corporation of Lansing and has had over six successful years in sales of land development equipment.

Brazee, wife Virginia and son Mark (who also is licensed with McKay Real Estate) live in Howell.

McKay Real Estate is one of the most rapidly growing real estate firms in Livingston County. Over 30 licensed real estate salesmen are now working for the company at its two office locations within Livingston County.

THREE OFFICE MANAGERS were named recently by Darrell W. Ashley, broker, and Cindy Ostrander, associate broker, of Ashley & Cox Real Estate.

The firm's original office at 43043 Grand River, Novi, will be managed by Woodrow Ashley. A licensed builder, Ashley previously worked at the Novi office, but for one year helped train personnel at the Howell office.

Vincent "Pete" Robitaille has been named manager of the Howell office at 4505 East Grand River, which is the company's main office. He is a top salesman and appraiser.

Heading up the company's newest office in Hamburg is Rosemary Belke. The Hamburg office opened on July 1.

Cynthia Ostrander, herself, is recently new to Ashley and Cox, having been hired as an associate broker. She works out of both the Novi and Howell offices.

Plans to open a Fowlerville office also are well underway.

ELLEN BILOW of S & L Clothing of Novi reports the July Clearance Sale was a success and she attributes some of the success to the story of an attempted robbery of S&L that appeared in this newspaper. "People want to talk with the sales lady who ordered two would-be thieves from the store," she says. The thieves reportedly were so astounded they beat a hasty retreat.

The Gardening Way

By MARGARET HERBST

LAWN BUILDING

This is the time that the home owner should consider taking steps to establish a new lawn, particularly from the middle part of August to the end of September. The fall season is acknowledged by the experts to be the best for these activities.

Preparation of the seedbed will pay off in results many times over. The first step should be to have a soil analysis taken—to learn how to treat the soil available—whether you need limestone, how much organic matter to add and what fertilization is necessary. If you can, make the soil test several weeks before you are ready to do lawn building.

When it comes to actual building, the ground must first be thoroughly worked up with rototiller or spade, depending on the size of the area. All stones of any count, stumps, roots and other debris must be removed. Level off and fill in any low spots. At this time, spread evenly over the area the limestone, if needed, and organic matter as well as half of the fertilizer, working into the soil to a depth of six inches. Rake well to remove small surface stones, adding the rest of the fertilizer with a second raking to complete the process.

You are now ready for seeding. The selection of the proper lawn grass depends on local conditions and preference. Turf experts continue to recommend the use of Merion Kentucky Bluegrass for permanent beauty and utility even as far south as Atlanta. Fall planting can be accomplished with straight seeding of a single grass or in a mixture of compatible grasses. It is best to consult your local dealer on his recommendations for suitable mixtures.

Seeding can be done with a mechanical spreader, or by hand for small areas. The latter method is best accomplished by dividing the seed into two parts. The first part is then broadcast in one direction and the second part at right angles to the first. After seeding, rake in lightly and keep the seed bed moist with light, frequent waterings. Heavier waterings less frequently can be the rule once the grass is up.

Cutting the grass for the first time varies according to the type selected. Usually bentgrasses are cut at 1/2 inch high, bluegrasses or fescues about 2 inches high. Merion can respond to close mowing, between 3/4 inch and an inch but 1 1/2 - 2 inches is the usual rule. Always use a sharp mower set at the same height.

In the case of old, sick lawns, it is often too drastic to dig up and start over. It is cheaper, easier and more effective to renovate by chemicals, aerating and reseeding. This is accomplished by destroying existing growth with granular cyanamid, sodium arsenite or potassium cyanate. Cultivate the soil well with an aerating device, or use a spade in a small area, then fertilize and reseed—in a combined operation if you wish. Rake gently and water with a fine spray to start the seedlings on their way.

Fairs Top Activities In August

LANSING — If you're a "fair" minded individual, Michigan offers some 50 county and regional fairs during the 31 days of August. Leading the pack is the Michigan State Fair, August 23-September 3 in Detroit, with an all-star program of entertainment. Roberta Flack, Ann Murray, Joey Heatherton, Bill Cosby and Lola Falana are among the top favorites that will be on hand. In the area of equestrian entertainment, this year's State Fair will feature 23 free horse shows in the coliseum. A listing of fairs and dates is available from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, 48926.

Detroit's Ethnic Festival program for August leads off with the Ukrainian Festival, August 3-5, followed by the Polish Festival, August 10-12, Scandinavian Festival, August 17-19, Armenian Festival, August 25-27 and the International Festival, August 31-September 3.

Ethnic influences can also be enjoyed in other areas of the State. Bronson will hold their Polish Days Festival August 2-4. In addition to traditional Polish foods and polkas, a mock Polish wedding, parade, entertaining competitions and other good time activities are scheduled. August 11-12 are the days of the annual Indian Pow Wow at Charlton Park, Hastings. Representatives of many tribes from many areas of the United States recreate their early heritage. Colorful dances, music, arts and crafts and Indian foods are among the attractions. This year's Danish Festival at Greenville will be held August 17-19. A Danish tavern, Danish brunch, Danish dancers and strolling bands, a fairy tale parade, antique and art show, amusements and Danish souvenirs are only a few of the features of this popular event.

Time's Ripe For Harvesting

Vegetables should be harvested as soon as they ripen, says Robert Herner, horticulturist at Michigan State University.

To attain highest nutritional value, this is the time to cook, can, prepare, freeze or use fresh your vine-ripened vegetables.

Harvesting vegetables as they mature keeps the plants producing for longer periods of time. For example, says Herner, a cucumber plant may produce about 10 or 12 cucumbers if they are allowed to mature, then yellow and are not harvested. However, if harvested as they ripen, 40 or 50 cucumbers may be produced.

When harvesting, do not pull or tear and damage the plant or step on vines. Hold the plant with one hand and snip, pinch or cut the crop with the other.

TEAM MICHIGAN—This six-member Michigan motorcycle team, victorious over a powerful California sextet at Northville Downs on June 2, will meet six Buckeye riders from Ohio in two 10-lap challenge races Saturday, August 11 at Northville Downs. Pictured above (l. to r.) are: Mike Johnson (14E) of Flint; Dave Atherton (15E) of White Pigeon; Rex Beauchamp (31) of Milford; Corky Keener (standing) of Goodrich; Bert Cummings (97E) of Flint; and Ted Newton (40) of Pontiac. The Ohio team is captained by Larry Darr, 1972 Ohio professional racing champion. His teammates are Ronnie Rall, Jim Ziegler, Billy Field, Scott Drake and Rodney Bailey. Winning team in the competition receives $2,400, while losers get $100 per man. A card of at least 15 events is scheduled with time trials beginning at 5:45 p.m. and competitive racing at 7 p.m.

Cycle Races

Milford Star To Captain Six

One of the state's most successful young professional motorcycle riders will captain Michigan's six-man team in a pair of special challenge races in the climax of the Northville Downs racing program the night of Saturday, August 11.

This is 22-year-old Rex Beauchamp of Milford, who ranked fourth in American Motorcycle Association national standings in 1973. This is the third year the factory-sponsored Beauchamp (Harley-Davidson) has worn the coveted expert label and on the national circuit he's looked upon as a likely candidate for the No. 1 spot.

The Michigan speedsters teamed with Beauchamp against a six-man Ohio contingent include Ted Newton of Pontiac, Corky Keener of Goodrich, Mike Johnson and Bert Cummings, both of Flint and Jerry Sulek of Detroit. All hold AMA ratings as experts except Sulek who has yet to accumulate enough competitive points to emerge from the AMA junior class.

The Michigan and Ohio teams will meet in two 10-lap races to be scored on a point basis and a separate purse guaranteed at $2,400 will be split among the winners. Losing team members will get only appearance money.

The complete Northville Downs card will include at least 15 AMA-sanctioned professional events in the expert, junior and novice divisions with a total purse of $3,500 on top of the team money. From 150 to 200 of the top riders in the nation are expected to compete.

Time trials will begin at 5:45 p.m. and the first racing attraction is scheduled for 7 p.m.

The environmental crisis we face is so critical and so overwhelmingly immense in scope that Americans have good cause to stand back helplessly and wonder what on earth they can do as individuals to help.

One answer is for each of us to look upon our homes and businesses as "micro-environments" and begin there. It's true! The individual homeowner or businessman can do much to purify the air, abate noise, stabilize soil and clarify water.

Mass Transit Plans Key to Future

LANSING—Tucked away in a corner of offices of the State Highway Department in Lansing, a small group of men is drawing up plans which could produce a dramatic change in Michigan by the end of this century.

They are drawing up projects to introduce modern, efficient mass transportation into Michigan.

This state has usually lagged behind other states in the area of mass transit. It is the home of the automobile and has followed a transportation policy emphasizing the automobile.

But in recent years the need for clean, efficient, modern ways of transporting people has become more crucial. Growing traffic congestion, more air pollution in cities, and the realization that the petroleum supply is not limitless.

The legislature acknowledged this problem last year when it approved state funding of mass transportation projects included in Gove. William G. Milliken's transportation package.

The package wasn't all mass transit by any means. Three-fourths of the new tax money goes for highways, many of them in rural Michigan. But it was recognized a comprehensive policy in these times must include mass transit.

So the staff is working in the highway department under the direction of James Kellogg. Kellogg is on loan from the governor's office and was the chief architect of the transportation plan which Milliken sent to the legislature to start the ball rolling more than a year ago.

THE HIGHWAY COMMISSION gave final approval to a list of projects which, if they are successful, could mean a change for the better in the way some Michiganders travel.

Among the projects now being started are these:

—establishment of a 334-mile passenger train route from Port Huron to Chicago with stops in Lapeer, Flint, Lansing, Charlotte, Battle Creek and Cassopolis. The train would be part of the AMTRAK system and the state would help pay the costs.

—establishment of a new commuter rail service between Ann Arbor and Detroit, with eight runs a day in each direction. This would be a modern train such as millions of commuters use in Chicago or New York.

—a "dial-a-ride" bus service for eight smaller cities. Under this system, buses have prescribed routes. But instead of following timetables, they respond to a summons from places along their route, just as automatic elevators do. A person who wanted to ride would press a button to summon a bus right away. Eight cities ranging in size from 35,000 to 9,000 will be picked for demonstration projects.

The program is new. Any new program is bound to have problems as it develops.

The important thing is that Michigan is finally making a commitment to develop an alternative to the automobile for its citizens for at least some types of travel. The alternative will probably not mean any substantial drop in car sales.

Michiganders enjoy their automobiles too much to abandon them. Indeed, no one in the mass transit planning program wants or expects people to abandon the car.

What they do want is to provide alternatives so that the person who wants to go shopping doesn't have to fight traffic and find a parking place or the person going to work can relax instead of stewing in a traffic jam.

Good mass transit means people will enjoy their automobiles that much more, because they won't be forced to use them in situations where an alternative would be easier.

THERE WAS QUITE a bit of publicity recently about the traffic death toll for teen-agers which rose dramatically in Michigan last year — the same year 18-year-olds could begin to drink legally.

The assumption made by many was that alcohol alone was responsible for the increase.

But some figures from Ohio indicate that may not be the case. In Ohio, which has made no change in its drinking laws, teen traffic deaths are up 30 per cent this year over last year.

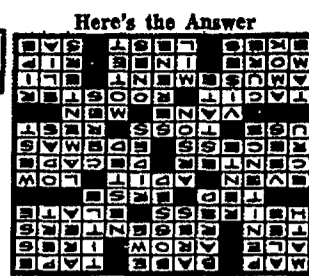

The figures were publicized by Rep. Michael Dively, R-Traverse City, who was a main sponsor of the age of majority legislation when it passed the legislature.

"Many in Michigan have indicated that there has been a correlation between the lowering of the drinking age and increased traffic deaths," he said. "It would appear, however, that Ohio has had an increase in traffic deaths even though there has been no modification of Ohio's current drinking law which provides only for consumption of 3.2 beer by 18-year-olds."

Babson Report

'Good Times' Deal Some Business Jokers

BABSON'S REPORTS INC., Wellesley Hills, Mass.—When the economy is moving along in high gear, as it is at present, and corporate earnings in general are excellent, investors and company managements alike usually give little thought to the matter of corporate liquidity. But in times of poor business when the economy is stagnant or moving downward, the extent of corporate debt takes on more significance. After all, it was only about three years ago during a recessionary economic phase that the Penn Central, the nation's largest transportation system, filed a bankruptcy petition because it was overlaid with debt. Since then other important companies have also encountered financial difficulties.

In part, the companies running into financial problems were those that got carried away by good times. For example, in the boom period of the '60's many firms borrowed heavily to finance expansion, develop new products, purchase new machinery, etc. Thus, they became what is referred to as "highly leveraged" and oftentimes vulnerable.

In 1973, when the economy went into a tailspin, many firms that had become heavily debt-laden during the lush years suddenly found the going especially rough. At present, with interest rates very high, there are undoubtedly many concerns that will have financial problems in years to come, especially if they have to float a large volume of bonds or assume other debt under current money rates. From an investment standpoint, therefore, it is advisable to keep an eye on those firms that are going overboard insofar as debt is concerned. It is possible they could drown in an adverse economic period.

We mentioned above that companies having heavy debt (or even preferred stock) are considered to be highly leveraged. In times of accelerating business activity the leverage factor can actually work to a shareholder's advantage. Once the profits of the business have risen to the point where bond and preferred charges have been covered, the remainder flows through to the common stock. So, when profits climb rapidly, the effect is usually magnified on common stock earnings. But during an economic slowdown or downturn, the opposite is true. The cost of carrying heavy debt becomes burdensome and can severely hamper earnings and even produce deficits.

IT IS TRUE that many ably managed companies with excellent marketing abilities have performed well in terms of sales and earnings growth with the aid of borrowed funds. As a matter of fact, most publicly owned companies do have some long-term debt.

Interestingly enough, however, there are still a number of companies that have managed to remain debt-free. Granted, the percentage of such companies relative to all listed companies is very small; but several big-name firms are on the list. In most cases their progress has not been hampered by their failure to issue debt. They have expanded through internally generated capital. Hopefully, they will be able to continue to do so and maintain ample working capital and profits.

A few of the well-known companies which remain debt-free are Briggs & Stratton, Campbell Soup, Chicago Pneumatic, Emery Air Freight, Franklin Life Insurance, Giant Portland Cement, Maytag Company, Polaroid Corporation, Stewart-Warner, Syntex, Timken Company, Upjohn Company, and Wrigley (Wm.) Jr.

The Research Department of Babson's Reports is currently recommending that all of the above issues be held, except for Emery Air Freight which is regarded as overpriced in relation to earnings. Our favorite for purchase from this group is Franklin Life Insurance (OTC), which appears to have attractive growth potential. In the past we have recommended purchase of several others on the list.

Fairs Lead August's Fun

The first half of Michigan's August calendar is sprinkled generously with art and artists. For openers, there's the Coast Guard Festival Crafts Fair, August 3-4. August 3-5 Bear Mountain Resort at Grayling will hold its second annual Arts and Crafts Show and International Bazaar. On August 4, an Art Fair at Fremont, August 4-5 the Waterfront Arts and Crafts Exhibit at Tawas City and the Portside Arts and Crafts Fair at East Jordan. One of Michigan's most popular and widely known art assemblies, the Waterfront Art Fair at Charlevoix, is set for August 11. Artists and craftsmen of the Upper Peninsula show off their creations August 11-12 at Eagle Harbor. August 12, a Clothesline Art Show at Dowagiac and an Art Fair at White Lake. The Spring Lake Arts and Crafts Festival comes around August 17-18 and Holland will hold their 4th Annual Outdoor Arts and Crafts Show August 18.

As usual, several unique events add sparkle to the month's activities. August 3-12 the First Annual International Music Festival will be held at the Blue Lake Fine Art Camp, Muskegon. The week long festival will culminate in a grand finale concert on Saturday evening and will include a performance of massed international choirs.

No fire and brimstone, but there's sure to be a hot time in the town of Hell, August 4. The occasion is Satan's Holiday Square Dance.

The power of "the good ole days" will puff 'n sputter at the Early-Day Gas Engine and Tractor Show, Boot Hill Ranch, Jones, August 4-5; the 18th Annual Live Steam Show at the fairgrounds in Caro, August 10-12; and the Antique Auto Show at Charlton Park, Hastings, August 19.

Jamaican Pools Joins Race for Novi Crown

Jack Benny and his money. And Jackie Gleason's belt. Those are just about the only things around which are any tighter than the race in the Novi Parks and Recreation Commission's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League.

The ten teams in the league have been battling it out for eight weeks in a row now and with just three weeks left in the season, the race is almost as close as it was on opening day.

Five teams - or exactly half the league - are all huddled within two games of first place.

And veteran observers are not counting out sixth place Jamaican Pools which has suddenly become the hottest team in the league and has moved to within two and one-half games of the leaders.

The thing that has the leaders in the wild and wooly Novi Men's League worried is that it would be entirely in keeping with the league's totally unpredictable nature for Jamaican Pools to come on with a rush and win the whole thing.

Last week was a relatively quiet one in that most of the top six teams were pitted against the four last place teams and came away with victories.

There were two key games on Monday, however.

In the week's top game Michigan Tractor knocked L'Esperance Electric out of first place with a 6-5 victory. And in the other key game Star Lincoln-Mercury moved to within a game and a half of the leaders by edging the Novi Inn 6-4.

It was a battle for first place

Monday when the Electric Company squared off against the Tractor-men. Both teams entered the game in a three-way deadlock with the Novi Jaycees for first place with identical 10-3 records.

Michigan Tractor broke loose for three runs in the top of the first and went on to post a 6-5 victory. L'Esperance tied the score at 4-all in the fourth, but Tractor tallied twice in the top of the fifth and then held on for the win.

Dick Floyd with three hits in four at bats paced the winners, while John Heinonen and Dan Laho each had two for three for the Electric Company which fell back into second place.

Star Lincoln-Mercury turned to the long ball to edge Novi Inn 6-4 in another key game. Barney Auton smacked a two-run homer in the first and Mike Fenchel hit a bases empty shot for Star in the fourth, but the Inn fought back to grab a 4-3 lead in the top of the sixth.

Star wrapped up the win with three runs in the bottom of the inning. Ray Rodriguez doubled in the tying run and Jerry Galik followed with a two-run double that provided the margin of victory.

Brian Deneen, Mike Bingham, and Bob McCoy had two hits apiece for the Inn.

Sharing first place with Michigan Tractor is the Novi Jaycee squad which barely squeaked past the last place Olympic Manufacturing team 7-5.

Trailing 7-2 at the end of six and one-half innings, the Manufacturers rallied for three runs in the bottom of the sixth as Bill Ruck cleared the bases with a double and could have pulled even closer except for a great throw from Pat McGurin which cut down Ruck as he tried to stretch his hit into a triple.

Jim Cherfoli had a two-run homer and Joe Pochter ripped out three hits to spark the Jaycees. Ken Sekenske with three hits and Gary Durand with two led Olympic's eight-hit attack.

After their 6-5 loss to Michigan Tractor, L'Esperance Electric came back and romped over Novi Heights 25-6. Eli Frantti banged out five hits and Dan Laho and Lloyd Huotari each contributed four more as the Electric Company stroked out a total of 29 hits. Laho's four hits included a round tripper.

Dan Harsh, Don Coleman, and Jerry Coleman each picked up a pair of hits for the Heights.

Novi Inn also evened its record for the week at 1-1 by registering a 17-3 thumping of Olympic Manufacturing. Pat O'Brian and Bob Miller paced the 17-hit attack with perfect four for four days at the plate and Jeff Deneen contributed a pair of four-baggers to the rout.

Bill Thackston had three of the seven Olympic safeties off the tosses of the Inn's Klaus Bujack.

Jamaican Pools made it five wins in a row by banging out a 23-11 triumph over J. P. Realty in their only game last week. Pete McClain collected three doubles and a home run to spark the Pools' 18-hit offense. The home run, his fifth of the season, tied the Pools slugger with the Jaycees' Phil McNary for the league lead.

Tony Stines and Paul Black stroked out three hits apiece to back up McClain's work with the bat. Mike Fritz had three hits to top the Realtors.

It was a good week for Novi Heights which recorded just its second win of the season by edging the Novi Police 11-10 in nine innings. The Heights rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh to knot the score at 10-10 and then won it in the ninth as Harold Ortwine singled home John Tymensky, Jr.

George Dingman had a three-run homer in the fourth inning and Tymensky picked up four hits to pace the victors, while Ed Butler and Bruce Place were each rapping out four hits for the Cops.

The week wasn't a total loss for the Crime Fighters, either, as they won their third game of the season by topping

J. P. Realty 3-1 in a defensive battle. Pat Alexander had a two-run homer in the first and Ed Butler stroked another four-bagger leading off the sixth to account for all the Police scoring.

Dave Butler, the Police pitcher, limited the Realtors to just five hits in the game, two of them by Ben Wright.

Tops Lumber in Showdown

Choo Choo Eyes Title

It's all over.

Choo Choo Car Wash has successfully defended its title and is king once again.

The weatherman finally cooperated and that long-awaited and twice rained out showdown clash between Choo Choo and Northville Lumber, the number one contender for the league crown, was finally played last week.

And once again, Choo Choo demonstrated its mastery of the Lumber team and came away with a 6-2 victory that just about sews up the 1973 championship of the Northville Recreation Department's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League.

The win advanced Choo Choo's record to 16-0, while the Lumber, which was upset by Plymouth State Home early in the season, now has a 14-2 mark.

Mathematically, the Lumber still has a chance. Each team has three games left, including another head-to-head confrontation Thursday (tonight).

If Lumber can win the rematch and Choo Choo should happen to lose one of its two other games, both teams would be tied at the end of the regular season with 17-2 marks.

But the chances that Choo Choo will lose two of its last three games are, quite frankly, practically nil. It just ain't gonna happen.

In other action last week, the Northville Jaycees strengthened their hold on third place in the American League by downing fourth place Hamlet Food Mart and John Mach Ford moved closer to the National League championship by shutting out the Presbyterian Men's Club.

Choo Choo and the Lumber have dominated the Northville league for the last three years. Lumber won the championship in 1971 only to have Choo Choo come along and win the title last year.

Tension was high for their key battle last week.

A Lumber victory would have left the two teams deadlocked for first place with 15-1 records and set the stage for a winner-take-all showdown in this week's contest.

But it never happened. Choo Choo, which has never lost to the Lumber, came away with a 6-2 victory.

The Lumber opened the scoring in the first inning as 6'3" shortstop Dan Parker picked out one of Don Phillippi's tosses and blasted it over the left field fence for a home run.

But that was the last run the Lumber would score until the seventh inning.

Choo Choo did all its scoring with three-run outbursts in the third and fifth innings. Phillippi tripled in Jim Zayti and then scored himself to spark the third inning uprising, while Don Thomson blasted a two-run homer over the right field fence - his first ever in the new ball park - to pace the fifth inning outburst.

Lumber tallied once in the top of the seventh, but it wasn't anywhere near enough and Choo Choo took the win by a 6-2 margin.

Sports

Ray Kelly and Jim Zayti had three and two hits respectively for the winners, while Bob Bartski with two singles was the only Lumber player to pick up more than one safety off Phillippi.

The Jaycees picked up just seven hits off the tosses of Hamlet's Jerry Pomeroy, but they made them stand up for a 5-3 victory. Omar Harrison accounted for three of those seven Jaycee hits, while Al Cox and Pomeroy also had three hits apiece to pace Hamlet's 11-hit attack.

Hamlet lost even more ground in its race to overtake the third place Jaycees when it failed to field a ten-man team and had to forfeit a victory to Extotic Plastic and Rubber on Friday.

It was the second win of the week for the Extotic team which had earlier picked up a 6-3 victory over Greenfield Die by breaking a 3-3 deadlock with a three run rally in the top of the seventh.

Ray Graham with a double and a triple and Jeff Sudz with two singles paced the Extotic victory. Ron Hubbard with two singles and a double was the only Greenfield Die player to pick up more than one hit off the tosses of Extotic's Tom Seamark.

John Mach Ford added to its lead in the National League by edging the Presbyterian Men's Club 4-0 in yet another closely played game.

The game was scoreless until the Ford Dealers finally tallied three times in the top of the fifth. One more run in the seventh made the final score 4-0.

Ray Beckstein's two hits were tops for John Mach which was able to collect just AGONY OF DEFEAT—It's not hard to tell that neither Jaycee catcher Mike Muzzin nor first baseman Marty St. Lawrence is very happy about the way things are going in their game with the Del's Shoes Twins last week in Northville's Knothole Hardball League. Both boys trudged dejectedly back to their positions with heads bowed as the Twins have just scored again en route to an easy victory.

36 Ex-Mustangs Fill Alumni Roster

There'll be plenty of grunting and groaning this Sunday as 36 ex-Northville High School gridders start to unlimber for their September 8 clash with the alumni from Detroit Catholic Central.

Starting time for the Sunday, August 5, opening session is 3 p.m. Practices will be held at the Northville High School athletic field.

Coaches Ron Horwath and Dave Longridge will put their 36-man roster of alumni through a 90 minute session that will include calisthenics and wind sprints as well as the beginnings of an offensive and defensive system.

Alumni need bring only their own football shoes to the opening practice, Horwath noted.

So far, 36 former Mustangs have indicated a willingness to play on the alumni team.

Mike Zayti, who is organizing the game along with Jerry Insland, stated that the squad is more or less complete.

"We only can suit up 30 men for the game so it looks like we're going to have to make some cuts," he said. "We may have some dropouts, however, so we're still looking to add a few more players to our practice roster."

"We've got 36 players and I think we've got a nucleus for a real fine team so we won't be trying to recruit any more players," Zayti continued. "There are still some very good ex-players out there who could probably help us though, and they won't be turned away if they show up at the first practice session."

While practices are presently slated only for Sunday afternoons, Zayti admitted that he would also like to have practice sessions on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for players who live in the general vicinity of Northville.

"We definitely could use the practice time," he stated. "We'll discuss it Sunday and see if there's enough interest to go ahead with practices during the week."

Horwath and Longridge will build their team around a number of former All-State and All-American selections. Quarterback Steve Juday earned All-American status at Michigan State, while center-linebacker Fred Hicks was an honorable mention All-American at Western Michigan University last year.

Former All-State players include guard Bill Juday, who went on to co-captain the Vanderbilt University team, and Jerry Insland, who played under Bo Schembecher at the University of Michigan.

Other members of the squad include Mike Zayti, Jim Zayti, Joe Hay, Greg Carr, Fred Mitchell, John Jameson, Artie Forth, Bill Trotter, Randy Marburger, Pat Hall, and Jay Sugrue.

Craig Bell, Ed McLoud, Bob Engel, Jim Hopkins, Brad Conklin, Mark Murtha, Don Sasse, Don Frazer, John Miller, Spike Walker, Dick O'Hare, Ron Rebitzky, Dan Bongiovanni, and Chris Holman.

Rounding out the squad are Dutch VanIngen, Dave Biery, Scott Stuart, Dick Willing, Ron Jones, Dick Kernozek, and Bill Elwell.

Hi-Lakers Still on Top in Knothole Hardball

Highland Lakes' entry in the Northville Recreation Department's Knothole Hardball League held onto both first place and its undefeated record last week.

And they did it the hard way, too - in head-to-head competition against one of the league's top teams - Choo

Choo Car Wash.

It was a key game anyway you look at it.

A Choo Choo victory would not only have ended the Hi-Lakers' undefeated record, it also would have relegated them to second place behind the Northville Number One team which was busy winning a pair of games last week.

More importantly, a Choo Choo win would have left four Knothole Hardball teams with just one loss and two more with just two losses and set the stage for a hot race to the finish with almost every game being an important one.

But Choo Choo didn't win and the Hi-Lakers did.

And as a result the Highland Lakes squad is still lodged in first place all by itself.

The Choo Choo-Hi-Lakers contest was one of the best and most exciting of the season.

The Hi-Lakers jumped off to a quick 2-0 lead with a pair of runs in the bottom of the first, as Brian Bonsall, John Leonard, and Tim Cavanaugh all picked up singles.

But that was all the scoring there was until Choo Choo finally got untracked - or should that be "tracked?" - in the top of the sixth and erupted for five runs to take a 5-2 lead and set the stage for a wild finale.

Not to be outdone, the Hi-Lakers came back in the bottom of the sixth and scored five runs of their own to regain their two-run edge - 7-5.

Choo Choo knotted the score at 7-7 with a pair of runs in the top of the seventh. But the Hi-Lakers finally clinched the victory in the bottom of the frame as lead-off hitter Tim Ellis connected for a home run that made the final score 8-7.

Brian Bonsall, Mike Daskalas, and Ed Olah each picked up two hits for the Hi-Lakers who were out-hit 17-10 by Choo Choo. Dan Carpenter and Bob Thomson paced the Choo Choo attack with three hits apiece.

The victory over Choo Choo was one of two recorded by the league leaders last week. In their other game, the Hi-Lakers trailed the Northville Police Padres 2-1 until the fourth when they broke loose for six runs and eventually ended up with a 13-2 victory.

Greg Sepanski, Kevin Travers, Mike Daskalas, Tim Cavanaugh, and Tim Ellis each stroked out a pair of hits for the Hi-Lakers, while Jim Koola and Joe Simrak with two hits apiece paced the Padres who collected just seven hits in the game.

Second place in the Knothole Hardball league belongs to the Northville Number One team which picked up a pair of wins last week to advance its record to 7-1.

One of those two victories came via the forfeit route as the Northville Number Two team was unable to field a full team and had to relinquish the win.

The other Northville Number One win was perfectly legitimate, however, as it pounded out an 18-5 verdict over the Casterline Indians.

Brian Odom and Conrad Newman each stroked out three singles and a double and Tim Chapman and Doug Iverson added three hits apiece to account for 14 of Number One's 20-hit total.

Hitting honors for the Indians were shared by Carl Kohns and Mike Ward who each had a single and triple in three trips to the plate.

Still very much in the race for the Knothole Hardball championship are the Del's Shoes Twins who upped their record to 6-1 with a victory in their only game last week.

It was a day for the hitters as the Twins took on the John Mach Ford Yankees. The two teams banged out a total of 31 hits and scored 26 times. But it was the Twins who came out on top of the slugfest, recording a 15-11 triumph.

The Yankees tied the score at 11-11 in the top of the sixth, but the Twins came back with four runs in the bottom of that frame to clinch the win.

Russ Horst had three singles and Mark Swayne contributed a triple and a home run to spark the Twins' 19-hit attack. Greg Behrens, Kevin Swayne, Dave MacElroy, and Steve Bourne also contributed two hits apiece for the Twins. Brian Pascoe had two singles and a home run and Todd Mack, Richard Patterson, and Larry Wallace each had a pair of hits to pace the Yankees.

The Lab Service Super Stars ended a two-game losing streak by topping Northville Number Three 10-5 last week. The victory put them in fourth place, one game behind the third place Twins.

Mike Wagner had a single and a home run and Phil Armada also rapped out a pair of hits to share hitting honors for the Super Stars.

Nine different hitters picked up one hit apiece for the Number Three team which is still looking for its first win.

Sheehan's Little Caesars' Mustangs evened their record at 3-3 when they were awarded a victory over the Jaycees who had to forfeit when it was discovered one of their players was two years over the age limit.

With their ineligible player the Jaycees had won 19-11 as Matt Fasang had four hits and Jeff Williams and Marty St. Lawrence had three hits. Top hitters for the Mustangs in the discounted game were Matt Ronayne with three hits and Terry Sheehan with a single and a double.

Rounding out Knothole Hardball action last week, the Northville Police Padres notched their third victory of the season with a 9-5 conquest of Northville Number Two.

Tom Simrak, Kevin Bennett, and Dave Gallagher each stroked out a pair of hits to spark the Padres victory.

Rob Kelly and J. D. Kelly had two hits apiece and Don Burnham poked a home run to pace the Number Two team which was out hit by a narrow 11-10 margin.

seven hits off Big Irv McLeod, the Presbyterian pitcher. Linton Grosnitz was almost as sharp, however, as he limited the Presbyterians to just eight hits - two of them by Jack Engel.

The Northville Newcomers moved into second place in the National League by handing the Con Langfield Cougars a 13-12 setback.

The Cougars had rallied for three runs in the top of the sixth to knot the score at 12-12, but the Newcomers won it in the bottom of that frame as Harv Fithian tripled and Mark Miller drove him home with a single.

Fithian, Dick Allen, Jim Clemons, and Don Pond each had three hits to spark the Newcomers' 18-hit attack. Con Langfield was paced by Dave Zima, who had three hits and Jeff Jones, Jack Jones, and Al Abrams who added two hits apiece to the total.

The Newcomers found themselves on the short end of a 7-6 score when they played Manor House Realty-Keith Heating on Friday. Trailing 7-0 at the end of five and one-half innings, the Newcomers rallied for six runs on seven hits in the sixth, but were never able to quite catch up with Manor House.

Ray Tisch and Tony Rizzo had two hits apiece for Manor House, while Dick Allen and Jim Clemons each singled twice for the Newcomers.

In spite of their loss to John Mach Ford, it was a good week for the Presbyterians Mens' Club which picked up two other victories last week.

One of those two wins came via the forfeit route when Manor House failed to field a full team, but the other triumph was gained on the playing field as the Presbyterians blasted the VFW 13-2.

Dick Willis and Marty Rinehart each had three hits to spark the win, while Joe Bell's two singles were tops for the Veterans who were limited to seven hits by Presbyterian hurler Irv McLeod.

Increase Comfort - Cut Heating Costs

It's a fact that insulation adds to your comfort and saves you heating dollars. When a home is not properly insulated, heated air escapes through the roof and through the walls. Insulation acts as a barrier to stop this heat loss. It keeps your home warmer and reduces your fuel consumption (in many cases as much as one-third). It's easy to install insulation yourself, or have it pneumatically blown in.

Consumers Power Company neither sells nor installs insulation, but for a number of years has encouraged its customers to investigate the benefits of insulating their homes.

Connie Mack League

Reef Ends Season On Upward Swing

Northville's Reef Manufacturing team in the Livonia Connie Mack League brought its 1973 season to a close last week by playing to a 5-5 tie with Fancher's Janitorial Service.

The tie left the Reef nine with a 6-9-1 record - good for second place behind Berry Appliance in the White Division.

A 6-9-1 record is definitely not my idea of a good season," commented Stan Nirider, who, along with Pat Cayley, coached the Northville squad. "But we finished up the season a lot better than we started out and I'm pleased about that. Don't forget that we were 2-7 at one point and we finished up with a 6-9-1 mark so somewhere along the line we must have done a lot of improving."

Northville's season-ending game with Fancher's was hardly a paragon of how to play the game. In fact, there were times when old Abner Doubleday himself was probably spinning in his grave.

Fancher's, which finished the season in second place behind Adray Appliance in the Orange Division with an 11-2 record, opened the scoring against Joe Bishop, the ace of the Northville staff, in the opening inning.

The lead-off batter opened with a single, Bishop then issued a pair of walks that loaded the bases, and Chris Zaliagous followed with a double that cleared the bases. Zaliagous scored moments later when a ground ball squirted through the right side of the infield and Northville was down 4-0.

"That's the second time in a row that Bishop has had a lot of trouble in the first inning," observed Nirider. "The only explanation that I can think of is that he's had a sore back and he just isn't getting it stretched out enough during warm ups."

"Once he gets it stretched out, he does a good job."

Indeed, after allowing the first four Fancher's hitters to cross the plate, Bishop settled down and struck out the side. Over the final six innings, the little left-hander gave up just four hits and one unearned run.

Unfortunately, it was that run which enabled Fancher's to gain the 5-5 tie. With a runner on first and one down in the bottom of the third, Fancher's Fred Price lofted a fly ball to centerfield.

The Northville outfielder came in a couple of steps and then started drifting back, but he didn't quite make it. The ball bounced off his glove and rolled to the fence enabling the Fancher's runner to score all the way from first.

"The truth is that that's what lost the game for us," observed Nirider. "If that ball had been caught as it should have been, they would never have scored that fifth run and we'd have won the game."

Northville's comeback was also tainted, however.

Frank Greger, the Fancher's manager, tapped Zaliagous as his starting pitcher and the 6'3" right-hander who usually plays first base quickly demonstrated why it was his first mound start in over a year.

He walked the bases loaded in the top of the second and John Sherman then stroked a single to drive in two runs. But Northville's big inning was the third when they tallied three times. A walk, an infield single, and another walk once again loaded the bases and then a hit-batsman and two more walks forced in the three runs that enabled the Reef nine to knot the score at 5-5.

Greger put the hard-hitting Zaliagous back on first base after his three inning stint on the mound and two successive Fancher hurriers held Northville to just one hit.

Fancher's almost scored in the bottom of the seventh, but a great throw by right fielder John Boland and a fine play by catcher Randy Oginski cut down the run at the plate.

"Boland made a beautiful throw," reported Nirider. "They had a runner on second with one out and got a ground single through the infield. It looked like they were going to score, but Boland came charging in from right field and fired a one-hop shot to the plate. It was a fantastic throw, it really was."

Just as outstanding, according to Nirider, was the play made by Oginski.

"Oginski really got his clock cleaned," Nirider continued. "I mean he really got wiped out by the runner coming in from third, but he managed to hold onto the ball and get the put out."

The game was called moments later on account of darkness and went down in the record books as a tie.

"I'm still convinced that we're a lot better baseball team than our record shows," stated Nirider. "With a few breaks I'm sure we would have won several more games. We made a lot of mistakes in fundamentals, too. There were a number of times when our baserunning really hurt us."

"I think the potential is here for a really good ball club. Sometimes I almost think they don't realize how good they could really be if they really put their minds to it," he continued.

"One thing that they definitely showed me is that they don't give up. There were a lot of games where we had to come from behind and we had to battle back after getting off to a poor start. When you've got a team that fights back, that really shows me something."

Striders Announce Mini-Meet Winners

The Northville Striders scored heavily in the Novice Division (10-13 year olds), but had their point total drop off sharply in the Junior (14-15 year old) and Senior (16 year old and up) Divisions in last week's Mini-Meet.

The Striders is the name given the Northville Recreation Department's summer track team. The squad is coached by high school track coach Ralph Redmond and Paul Bedford.

It was the largest Mini-Meet of the season as the Striders hosted Recreation Department track teams from Dearborn, Pontiac, and South Lyon. Team totals are not tabulated in the Mini-Meets.

Top performances in the meet were turned in by Brian Turnbull who clocked a 67.7 in the 440 yard run in the novice division, Barb Jones who turned in a 65.5 in the 440 in the junior division, Liz Pixley who had a 21.5 clocking in the novice 120 yard low hurdles, and Paul Bedford who ran a

Together with Nick Hemp, the threesome sprinted their way to a third place finish in the shuttle relay at the Detroit Metropolitan Youth Fitness Games at Belle Isle last week. Recreation track coach

Ralph Redmond estimated that 2,500 contestants from 51 cities participated in the meet. The shuttle relay team was the only Northville entry to win a trophy by finishing in the top three, although Leslie Nadeau barely missed by finishing fourth in the standing long jump.

AAU Swimming

Bulldogs Finish Third

Question: When is it disappointing to finish third in a field of over 30 teams?

Answer: When you swim for the Bulldog Aquatic Club out of Schoolcraft College.

The Bulldogs found themselves in the somewhat unusual position of not finishing either first or second in the seventeenth annual Michigan Water Wonderland swimming and diving championships at the Southfield Civic Center this past weekend.

The Ann Arbor Swim Club easily stroked away from the rest of the 30 Michigan AAU swim teams to take first place and the Clarenceville Swim Club surprised the Bulldogs by finishing second in the meet. Garden City was fourth.

The competition was the first half of the Michigan Water Wonderland Meet. Last weekend's competition was limited to swimmers under 12 years of age. The older swimmers will compete this weekend at the Brennan Pools.

Russ Gans led a contingent of nine swimmers from Northville who contributed points to the Bulldogs third-place finish.

Swimming in six individual events and two relays, Gans copped second place finishes in the 100 meter butterfly, 100 meter backstroke, and 200 meter individual medley. He finished fifth in both the 50 meter butterfly and 50 meter freestyle and then swam to a seventh place finish in the 100 meter freestyle.

He also performed on the 200 meter medley and 200 meter freestyle relay teams, both of which finished fourth.

Joining Gans on those two fourth place relay units was David MacDonald, who also picked up points in three individual events. MacDonald took a third in the 50 meter backstroke, a sixth in the 100 meter backstroke, and an eighth in the 50 meter butterfly.

The only other Northville Bulldog to place in the individual events was David Malinowski who took a fourth in the 50 meter breaststroke, a seventh in the 50 meter backstroke, and an eighth in the 50 meter freestyle while competing in the eight and under age group. Malinowski also swam on the first place 200 meter medley relay quartet and the second place 200 meter freestyle relay team.

The rest of the Northville Bulldogs all contributed points as members of relay teams. Scoring points were —Jenny Gans, eight and under age group, third in the 200 meter freestyle relay and third in the 200 meter medley relay; —Dave Uzelac, 11-12 year old age group, third in the 200 meter freestyle relay and seventh in the 200 meter medley relay; —Tom Cahill, 11-12 year old, seventh in the 200 meter medley relay and eighth in the 200 meter freestyle relay; —Pat Cahill, eight and under age group, second in the 200 meter freestyle relay; —Bob Simrak, 9-10 year old age group, fourth in the 200 meter freestyle relay; —Susan Cahill, 11-12 age group, sixth in the 200 meter medley relay; and —Tom Simrak, 11-12 age group, eighth in the 200 meter freestyle relay.

Tryouts

Northville boys interested in playing hockey for the Quigley Hawks this year should plan to attend tryout sessions slated for Tuesday and Friday, August 14, 17, 21, and 24.

Tryouts will be held at the Sportland Arena at Cherry Hill and Newburgh Roads in Westland and will begin at 8:30 p.m.

The Quigley Hawks are a Bantam (13-14 year olds) "A" team coached by Harry Johnson and Ken Ploof.

All league games will be played at the Sportland Arena.

Mayor Allen called the special meeting of the Northville City Council to order at 8 p.m.

ROLL CALL: Present: Allen, Biery, Polino, Rathert, Vernon. Absent: None.

FISH HATCHERY TENNIS COURT BIDS: The City Manager submitted the summary of bids received at 11 a.m., July 20, 1973 as follows:

Apollo Asphalt Co. $14,968.00; Metropolitan Asphalt Paving Co. $19,237.00; Souther Construction $22,300.00; Alternate 1 - Deduct $1,500.00; Alternate 2 - Deduct $1,000.00; Dorrougherty Paving Co. $38,213.00.

The City Manager recommended that the bid from Apollo Asphalt Co. be returned and the contract be awarded to the next lower bidder, Metropolitan Asphalt Paving Co., on the basis that the error was not discovered until after all bids had been received and to accept the Apollo bid might jeopardize the company's ability to carry out this contract.

Motion by Councilman Biery support by Councilman Rathert be the bid of Apollo Asphalt Co. be returned on the basis that the bid was an error. Carried.

Motion by Councilman Rathert support by Councilman Vernon that the contract be awarded to Metropolitan Asphalt Paving Company on the condition that the company agrees to complete the project within 30 days and on the condition that the City Manager investigate this company's experience in tennis court construction. Carried.

Offer College Classes

Schoolcraft College will be holding day and evening classes in its expanded Center in Garden City when its fall semester begins on August 23.

College since last November when it opened a service and information center to better serve persons in the southern regions of its district.

Friday between 1 and 2 p.m., the class will meet on Tuesdays only from noon to 3 p.m. It is much more convenient for mothers with children and others who have scheduling problems.

A special registration for the 42 credit classes being offered at the Center, located at 29205 Florence Street, has been set from 12 to 8 p.m., August 14-15. Students may also register at the regular period on campus, August 20-21.

Schoolcraft's campus is on Haggerty Road in Livonia between Six and Seven Mile Roads. Member districts include Garden City, Clarenceville, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth.

Other unique services planned for the Center this fall include some GED testing, conferences and seminars, and community meetings and presentations. Parking will be convenient and close to the Center, and the College will sell all books necessary for classes on site. A comfortable lounge for students will also be provided.

Besides regular College credit classes, the Center offers counseling and admissions services, and will be the location for community services classes, workshops, seminars and other special programs.

The college will offer 15 day and 27 evening classes in subjects ranging from accounting and mathematics to business, including real estate, law enforcement and astronomy.

Community services classes will include the Human Potential Seminar, two sections of Holiday Crafts, one during the day and one during the evening, Personal Income Tax, and Child Psychology. Other community services classes can be created as community interests are made known to the Center.

A number of unique features will be offered to those attending classes at the Center including some scheduled block sections. This enables students to attend class one day a week as opposed to three or four times weekly.

The building has been leased by the College from the Garden City Board of Education which, because of shifting enrollments, had no immediate need to keep it in operation as an early elementary school.

For example, instead of Biology 103 (health education) meeting on Monday, Wednesday, and

Wixom Rail Crossing

Flashing Light Ordered

Automatic flashing light signals will be installed at the Beck Road crossing of the Grand Trunk Western railroad tracks in Wixom within four months.

Installation of the signals was ordered by the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) following an inspection of the crossing.

Representatives of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Company, the City of Wixom, the Oakland County School authority, and the Michigan State Police participated in the inspection.

The Beck Road crossing is presently protected by crossbuck signs and "stop" signs.

Specifically, the MPSC ordered the Grand Trunk Western Railroad to install, operate, and maintain modern automatic flashing-light signals, equipped with back-to-back lights and gongs.

In other items, the MPSC ordered —the railroad company to install modern reflectorized crossbuck signs at the crossing;

—the City of Wixom to install modern advance warning signs mounted on a wooden latticework back ground that is painted or covered with a reflectorized surfacing;

—the railroad company to station a watchman at the crossing to warn of the approach of trains should any of the safety devices become inoperative.

Killer Crossing To be Rebuilt

The Board of Oakland County Road Commissioners has accepted without objection a set of Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) recommendations to improve safety at a railroad crossing in Novi where one person was killed and another injured in separate accidents earlier this year.

Frazer W. Staman, vice chairman of the Board of Road Commissioners, identified the crossing as the one where the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad crosses Twelve Mile Road in Novi. He said the MPSC recommendations arose from an on-site inspection initiated by the MPSC in response to a citizen complaint.

"The Road Commission's obligation is to trim or remove trees along Twelve Mile that obscure vision on the approaches to the crossing," said Staman. "We will get right to work on it once the recommendations become an order."

Under the recommendations, the C & O Railroad would be required to rebuild the crossing and update the automatic protection devices.

MPSC also suggested that the City of Novi install overhead vapor lighting at this and other crossings in the city.

Any party of interest may detail specific objections or request a hearing before the MPSC prior to a deadline of Friday, August 10, said Staman.

County Road Projects Approved for Novi

Two Novi projects are among road improvement projects totaling $1.5 million which have received varying stages of approval by the Board of Oakland County Road Commissioners. Road Commission Chairman William M. Richards announced that the largest single action was the awarding of an $800,000 contract to a joint venture of Ajax Paving Industries of Madison Heights and Stolaruk Paving of Southfield for a broad and diversified resurfacing program.

Improvements under this contract include the resurfacing of six miles of Grand River Avenue through Novi from Ten Mile Road to Wixom Road.

The Road Commissioners also accepted the low bid of $270,000 from the Groleau Brothers of Union Lake for grading, drainage, and bituminous surfacing of Haggerty Road from Nine to Ten Mile Roads.

Groleau Brothers is the same firm contracted by the City of Novi to pave Meadowbrook Road between Nine and Ten Mile Roads.

All projects are planned for completion this year, said Richards.

Local Girl On Tour With MYI

Erin Currier is completing a concert tour this week with Musical Youth International band.

Erin, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Currier of 7330 Five Mile Road, is a member of the percussion section of the MYI band and has been playing timpani during the tour.

A junior at South Lyon High, she toured Venezuela, British Honduras and Mexico recently with the MYI band and chorus.

Currier said he received a phone call from his daughter last week while she was in Mexico.

"She's thoroughly enjoying the tour and is thrilled to be a member of the MYI band," he reported.

The MYI band and chorus will present a series of concerts today (Thursday) through Sunday in Michigan and Ohio.

The first will be in Columbus, Ohio, on the Capitol steps at noon today. Friday, August 3, the group will perform in Jackson at the Cascades at 8 p.m.

The Community College in Lansing will host a concert Saturday beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The final concert will be at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor on Sunday. The concert begins at 2:30 p.m. and tickets for all concerts may be purchased at the time of the performance.

The young men and women of MYI have made many friends for the United States through their musical ability, MYI spokesmen report. During the concert tours, the students stayed at homes of people in the countries they visited.

Throughout their concert tour, the youth members and staff have appeared on television shows and have been interviewed on radio. Large enthusiastic crowds have attended their concerts in South and Central America and Mexico.

HONORED—Mrs. Eliza J. Wagenschutz of Northville (left) receives a resolution from the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, presented by Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick, honoring her 31 years of service "with distinction" on the Wayne County Public Library Board. Mrs. Wagenschutz resigned from the board after serving an unprecedented eight consecutive board terms, during which time she was chairman of the board for four one-year terms. Helping congratulate Mrs. Wagenschutz is Commissioner Mary E. Dumas, whose District 19 includes part of Northville where Mrs. Wagenschutz was a teacher and a member of the board of education, the Red Cross and Girl Scout committee. The resolution applauds her "many years of loyal and devoted service, and her splendid contributions."

County Hires Teens To Clean Up Rouge

Change Swim Hours

ERIN CURRIER

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has authorized the hiring of about 100 inner-city teen-agers from the Neighborhood Youth Corp (NYC) program to help clean the Rouge River this summer.

At a meeting of the Board July 19, the commissioners approved an expenditure of $15,000 to finance the project for an estimated six weeks.

Under the program, the youngsters will be transported to and from the work site by the Wayne County Drain Commission, which will also furnish necessary equipment and supervisory personnel.

The jobs pay $1.60 per hour and are available to underprivileged Detroit youths aged 14 to 18 whose families are receiving public assistance or have minimal incomes. To qualify, a family of four must have an income below $4200.

The NYC Rouge River clean-up is one of several NYC projects throughout Detroit and Wayne County which are financed in various ways and have varying stipulations.

Two changes in the Community Open Swim Program at Northville High School were announced by Ben Lauber Tuesday.

Beginning Monday, July 30 the hours of the afternoon swim sessions Monday through Friday will be changed from 3-5 p.m. to 3:30-5 p.m.

The new hours, necessitated by Year Round School, will remain in effect until the Open Swim Program comes to an end on Wednesday, August 18.

The second change involves Saturday, July 28, when the pool will remain closed all day. It will reopen the following Saturday for its regular 1-5 p.m. session, Lauber reported.

? HOW CAN WE KNOW THERE REALLY IS A GOD?

HEBREWS 3:4 says, "EVERY HOUSE
IS BUILT BY SOME MEN; BUT HE
THAT BUILT ALL THINGS IS GOD."

Where there is a design, there must be a designer. Also read, PSALMS 19:1, "THE HEAVENS DECLARE THE GLORY OF GOD; AND THE
