

It's An 84-Year-Old Problem: Library Needs Space

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

...Also, firmly believing that in union there is strength, we desire a meeting of the citizens of Northville to consider the best method of securing a large and well selected public library for the use of our citizens and younger people. . . .

It was almost exactly 84 years ago when this "call" was published in The Northville Record, signalling the birth of one of the community's oldest continuous service institutions.

Today, more than three-quarters of a century later, citizens are again considering "the best method of securing a large and well selected public library."

Having outgrown its present quarters in the city hall building at the southwest corner of Main and Wing streets, "the library desperately needs larger facilities in which to house an increasing number of books and to accommodate a spiralling patronage," according to members of the library board.

Their present-day search for such quarters is not unlike the search that occurred here in late 1889.

It was an exciting year.

• The Globe Furniture Company was about to erect an electric light plant in its factory near the South Main Street bend (near present-day Park Place). More importantly, the Globe was considering the possibility of extending wires from its new plant up town so that stores could be lighted.

• Newest game making its rounds, so The Record reported, was the Electric Kiss. "The lady and the gentleman shuffled about on the carpet until they were charged with electricity and then they kissed in the dark to make the sparks fly."

• Edward S. Horton was officially installed as the Northville postmaster and Captain J. H. Woodman, it was reported, was retiring after "feeding at the government crib for the past four years."

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of a series of stories about the history of the Northville Public Library and its current search for larger quarters.

• E. Roscoe Reed, a prohibitionist, was editor of The Record and his sister, an eminent microscopist at the University of Michigan, was teamed up with Susan B. Anthony in the battle for woman suffrage. She was Mrs. Louisa Reed Stowell.

• Two Northville men—Henry Houk and Daniel Pomeroy—were honored during the local celebration of the 100th anniversary of General George Washington's inauguration. Both men were born before the President had died. Remarkable The Record:

"Verily the long lives of these two citizens are links that join us with the distant past. When they were born there were no railroads, no steam-boats, no telegraphs, no telephone and electricity was almost an unknown commodity. Of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence 21 were alive at their birth. Of the 23 presidents this country has had 20 of them died during Messrs. Houk and Pomeroy's lifetime."

One of these two old men had cast his first vote for Andrew Jackson, while the other had voted for John Q. Adams.

• Northville's ordinance prohibiting saloons and sale of intoxicating beverage held up in a case before the Michigan Supreme Court.

This was the setting here in Northville when on October 4, 1889 a notice in the newspaper urged citizens to attend a meeting for the purpose of forming a library. The notice was signed by:

NEWS BRIEFS

SANTA'S COMING...

YES, CHILDREN, there is a Santa Claus and thanks to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce the Jolly Gent will greet area children weekly beginning Friday, November 23. His headquarters is Del's Shoes, where he is scheduled to arrive at 3:30 p.m. Santa's visiting hours appear in an advertisement on page 5-C.

BUSINESS is booming at the current Jackson-at-Northville harness racing meet. Through the first 12 nights of racing at the Downs betting is up 23.2 per cent over last year. Total mutuel handle through last Saturday night was $3,943,440 for a nightly average of $328,620. Attendance is up 10.7 per cent with a nightly average of 3,317 fans.

CHRISTMAS STAMPS for those who wish to use the special eight-cent issues in holiday mailing offer a choice this year between a religious motif of a madonna and child and a holiday theme of an old-fashioned Christmas tree done in needlepoint. Northville postmaster John Steimel announces that the stamps went on sale here last week. Northville post office Tuesday received a notice from the postmaster general urging all Americans to post Christmas mail at least one to two weeks earlier than previously recommended—by November 20 to Alaska and Hawaii and by December 3 to the rest of the states. Cards and other first class mail should be sent by December 8 and all airmail by December 15.

YEAR-ROUND School program in Northville has received a grant of $100,000 for the current school year, following approval of the year-round budget by the State Department of Education. Although administrators anticipated approval of the funds for the Northville program, the official OK was only recently received.

SPEEDERS are likely to ring up an expensive bill if they keep violating the 25 MPH zone on Base Line near Grace. In an effort to curb violations, the council has directed special police patrol of the area and the erection of speed limit signs. Meanwhile, a citizens' petition for stop signs has been placed on the back burner pending the result of this patrolling campaign.

SPECIAL MEETING of the city council is planned Monday to discuss the disposition of the controversial Randolph Drain project and to review updated engineering plans. Also, appointments to various boards and commissions are to be made.

Township Board Can't Decide Date

Millage Election in Limbo

Two motions, deadlocked in 3-3 votes, left in limbo a proposal to ask township electors for millage to establish, operate and maintain a 20-member public safety department.

Township trustees failed Tuesday to agree on a proposal from the Fire Study Committee to ask for millage "not to exceed three mills" in an election either January 22 or sometime during the last two weeks in March.

Voting to place the millage on the ballot were Clerk Sally Cayley and Trustees Richard Mitchell and Charles Schaeffer.

Voting against the motions were Supervisor Lawrence Wright, Treasurer Joseph Straub and Trustee John MacDonald. Trustee Leonard Klein was absent.

Wright said he felt the January 22 date was "too soon. We will not get the money for a year anyway." Any millage approved by voters would not be collected until tax bills go out in December, 1974.

"We have a selling job to do and loose ends to draw together," the supervisor observed. "I am for the (public safety) concept but I feel we are acting in haste."

He noted that property, income, federal and state taxes are being paid by voters in January along with Christmas bills.

The supervisor said he favored an election in February or March.

He said he would also like a response from the City of Northville as to whether or not they plan on joining with the township in establishing a public safety department.

MacDonald and Straub agreed.

A second motion to hold the election in March was defeated by the same vote. The matter is expected to be discussed by trustees December 11.

MacDonald stressed that the proposal "includes little rationalization of how you arrived at the three mill figure. What if that is not enough?"

Mitchell, chairman of the fire study committee, told MacDonald he has "just insulted the committee." He said the committee worked for "a year and a half on the proposal."

The proposal submitted by the committee asked voters to approve "property tax

Parking Snafu Irks Council

Northville's south parking lot has run smack dab into trees and a heap of trouble.

So upset were city councilmen upon learning Monday that driving lanes in the new parking lot south of Cady Street are blocked by trees they ordered an early morning meeting at the site on Thanksgiving Day.

And there were signs that City Engineer Harold Penn's job could be on the line.

The problem surfaced last weekend when a hired paint crew began to stripe the still unfinished lot for driving lanes and parking spaces. Penn reportedly directed the location of the stripes as per the plans.

In doing so, however, the main entrance off Cady, near Wing Street, is blocked immediately by one of the large trees saved on the former residential property.

Another large tree blocks the traffic lane at the opposite end (south) of the lot.

And several parking spaces are blocked by other trees.

Dozens of motorists using the lot during Sunday's downtown Christmas Open House went away scratching their heads.

"It's not funny at all," declared Councilman Paul Vernon. "This is embarrassing to the entire council."

"Apparently, on the plans the traffic lanes are in the right location but the trees are not," said City Manager Steven Walters. (New in the city, Walters arrived on the job after the plans were devised and the lot was built).

"The original plan was to save the trees and we paid the engineer for this function," said Vernon, who said he was "very surprised and upset" Penn was not present at Monday's meeting.

Mayor A.M. Allen, who was especially critical of the "wasted" space, commented

City Seeks Appraisals For Seniors

Northville City Council Monday authorized appraisal of property adjacent to the post office in view of the housing commission's conclusion the area is a "feasible site for senior citizens' housing."

One of the Wing Street properties for which an appraisal would be obtained is the house of Ed Welch, long-time resident and former city councilman.

The council earmarked $50,000 in its current budget for initial planning and land acquisition for senior citizens' housing.

In a memorandum to the council, City Manager Steven Walters noted the Northville Housing Commission had last summer determined

42 Commuters Respond

Forty-two area residents have responded to the proposed "commuter's club" idea and their names appear in an advertisement on page 10-B of this edition.

Now it's up to each of the commuters to contact one another and form their own car-pool groups. Their names, telephone numbers and daily destinations and timetables appear in the commuter's club advertisement on the back page of B-section.

The car-pool idea was sparked by President Nixon's appeal to the nation for energy conservation, particularly in fuel.

Sliger Publications has offered its readers the opportunity to list their names as prospective commuter club members without charge.

Further help in the form of central parking lots where commuters may meet and leave their cars has also been offered in Northville by Northville Downs and in two locations in South Lyon, and in Novi.

Similar assistance is being sought in Brighton and will be announced next week when arrangements are complete.

In Northville John Carlo, executive manager of Northville Downs, has offered the free use of the track's parking lot on the northwest corner of Seven Mile and Sheldon Road (Center Street). The lot must be vacated daily by 7 p.m. City Manager Steven Walters promised that city police would be informed that commuters' cars will be parked at the lot during the day so that patrols may periodically check the vehicles. Cars should be locked, it is noted.

In South Lyon free parking spaces are being offered at the rear of the post office and in the St. Joseph's Catholic Church parking lot.

In Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole reports that space is available on the unpaved portion of the parking lot behind city hall on Novi Road.

1973-74 Junior Miss

Kathy Radzibon Captures Title

Kathy Radzibon was crowned Northville Junior Miss for 1973-74 before a capacity crowd of 300 in Northville Presbyterian Church fellowship hall Saturday night at the conclusion of the Northville Jaycee-sponsored pageant.

Northville's first Junior Miss in two years is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Radzibon, 16411 Old Bedford Road. Runner-up in the competition judged on talent, scholarship, poise and appearance was Lizanne Peace.

Lorrie Deibert, Northville Junior Miss for 1971-72, now a sophomore at Eastern Michigan University, came from Ypsilanti to crown her successor. There was no competition in 1972.

Kathy, who did an interpretive jazz dance for her talent entry, also plays the violin and plans to take advantage of the Eastern Michigan University tuition scholarship which goes to the local winner.

Runner-up Liz Peace, who did a piano solo-reading, was awarded dinner for two at the Drawbridge Restaurant. Other entrants and their talent presentations were Sue Heckler, ballet; Pam Palarchio, humorous reading; Janene Pelt, song-and-dance.

The Northville High Jazz Band under the direction of Robert Williams played for the competition, as it has for every pageant since 1968. N. Nick Serkalian, host of the Armenian Hour on WMZK-FM and a Northville resident as well as the father of the senior class president at the high school, served as master of ceremonies.

Judges were Miss Florence Panattoni, assistant superintendent of Northville schools; Cynthia Pryor, Novi music teacher; John Steimel, Northville postmaster and a recipient of the Northville Jaycee's distinguished service award; and Carl Johnson, Northville realtor.

John Dugan, general chairman for the pageant, announced that the Jaycees were "thrilled and delighted" with the response to the pageant and would be planning for an enlarged one next year. He was assisted by his wife, Jane, and Chris Campbell of the Jaycettes. Judging chairman was Don Campbell.

Other Jaycee chairmen were Art Bakewell, tickets and program; Robert Hilton, staging; Harvey Tull, publicity; Al Simon, awards. Other awards presented included cosmetics from Northville Drugs and a $25 savings bond from Al Simon, Realtor Associate.

Miss Radzibon will represent Northville in the regional competition to be held in Westland December 8. Regional finalists go to state competition in Pontiac January 26, 1974.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

CHRISTMAS lanterns and greens decorations are up in downtown Northville where the holiday season - following tradition - officially was launched last Sunday afternoon as merchants held open house. Observers commented that it was the "biggest crowd ever."

It's hard to estimate the number of shopping days until Christmas since it's now possible to shop almost any day, any hour, but there are 32 days until December 25. Many groups are hoping shoppers will stop at their bazaars and fairs to find handmade items—and help good causes at the same time.

KING'S MILL Boutique will be held from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday, December 1, in the clubhouse. Featured in the 17 booths will be handmade jewelry by Tom Graham, Sesame Street hand puppets, candles, dried material pictures, candles and baked goods. All proceeds from the bake sale, and a portion of those from the other booths, will be used to refurbish the clubhouse kitchen, according to co-chairmen Mrs. Lee Kellar and Mrs. Florence Leikett.

The community is invited to attend, and planners point out that there are parking spaces on the right side of the clubhouse building and that visitors may park in any unnumbered parking space.

THE CHRISTMAS FAIR of St. John's Episcopal Church will be held Friday, November 30 from 5 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, December 1, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 574 Sheldon Road. Craft items, toys, knitted work, pine cone decorations and jewelry will be among the featured wares.

While parents shop, children will be entertained with movie cartoons. Mrs. Peter Lindholm, one of the publicity planners, is most enthusiastic about the woodwork items made by men of the church; especially appealing, she says, is a child's decorated stool.

Other upcoming bazaars include the Highland Lakes Women's Club event December 1 at Highland House and the Children-Only bazaar being sponsored by the Northville Jaycettes for youngsters three-to-ten in the city council chambers from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, December 8. There is a ceiling price of $1.

THE MITTEN TREE, which the community is asked to "decorate" with warm wear for children at the Plymouth State Home, will go up in the Northville branch of Manufacturers Bank December 3. This will be the third year that the Northville Jaycettes have sponsored the project.

It will remain there until December 21 with donations of washable mittens, hats and scarves being sought. Mrs. Peggy Sutter, mitten tree chairman, is trying to meet the first year's total of 98 items as last year only 36 pieces decorated the tree.

With advance notice, she is hoping knitters will have time to help. Anyone with questions may call her at 349-3795.

"ANTIQUES FOR Christmas" will be the theme of the second annual antique show being sponsored by the Northville Historical Society next Tuesday and Wednesday, November 27 and 28, at Northville United Methodist Church. Hours are noon to 10 p.m. Tuesday and noon to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

All proceeds from the $1.50 admission will be used for Mill Race restoration work which the society hopes to have completed as Northville's official part in the country's 1976 celebration.

John Teeter, general chairman, expects to have 22 dealers participating in the show, which last year was highly lauded. Among those dealers returning this year will be Eleanor Lowell of Northville's Barn Door, Manor Hills Antiques of Plymouth, and Helen Meisel, who previously operated a shop on Main Street.

Other dealers and their specialties include Bodell Antiques, glass; Cynthia Galbraith, quilts; Ward Eagle Farms, quality English and American period furniture; Maize Center Antiques, specializing in corn-motif items; Pair Tree, oriental things; and Puritan Farms.

Marie Bonamici, a society member and Sunflower Shop owner, will have antique jewelry. Mel Anderson, Northville's "clock man," also will participate.

Dinner will be available at the show Tuesday night.

Miss Lowell, who also assisted with last year's benefit, comments that this show promises "a lot more things in a buy-a-bit price range."

Eleanor adds that her former fellow Northville dealer, Jean Magee, who moved her shop to Clinton, Michigan, now is operating the Clintonian Inn there with her husband, Verne. They are holding open house this weekend.

A COMMUNITY Sing is planned by all Northville Girl Scout troops from 7 to 8 p.m., Wednesday, December 5, in the park behind the municipal building. Several hundred uniformed scouts, with flashlights to read by, will be singing carols around the city's Christmas tree which will be lighted for the occasion.

Everyone in the community is invited to come and sing.

Madrigal Club's annual Christmas concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, December 2, at Detroit Institute of Arts will include a solo by Northville member Annalee Mathes. She is to sing "On December 25" in Director August Maelberghe's original work, "Christmas Suite," a short Christmas cantata and the final number on the program.

Other music will include a new number, "Rondo for Children," and a Gloria selection. The singers also will be appearing on television on December 23. Mrs. Mathes, who has been a Madrigal member for about eight years and has served as the respected singing group's president, notes that this will be Director Maelberghe's last concert as he is retiring after 27 years.

A SUCCESSFUL "first" was chalked up last Friday by the League of Women Voters who held a wine-and-cheese party at the home of the J. J. DeMotts on Six Mile Road (This is the former home of the Douglas Batheys, not the Luke Batheys as previously noted.)

Invitations were issued to all league members and their husbands, to prospective league members, advisors and contributors—and 67 attended. Annalee Mathes reports that the league has had questions already about a repeat next year and plans to do so.

She Stars in 'Miss Reardon'

Mrs. John (Alice) Fitzpatrick, 18157 Pinebrook, has a leading role in the upcoming production, "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little," of the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford. She is Anna Reardon in Paul Zindel's play.

She previously has starred in other guild productions, including "Cabaret."

"And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little" will be presented

November 30, December 1, 7, 8, 9, 14 and 15. Curtain rises at 8:30 p.m. except Sunday, at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $2.75 Friday and Sunday nights, $3 Saturday. Reservations may be made by calling 261-7996.

BPW to Hear State Head

Phyllis Harrison, president-elect of the Michigan Business and Professional Women, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Northville Business and Professional Women's Club at 6:30 p.m. Monday, November 26, at Northville's newest restaurant, The Tack Room, 41122 West Seven Mile Road. A member of the Royal Oak club for 13 years, the upcoming state president is an agent and account executive with Harry Rubenfire Insurance. She currently is enrolled in a five-year program to earn the professional designation of chartered property and casualty underwriter. She has completed the first year, having passed a national examination in June.

She has served as membership chairman, recording secretary, vice president and president of her club and, as state civic participation chairman, co-chaired a spring BPW conference at Shanty Creek. She was chairman of a "fly-in" to Washington, D.C.

She also is the only woman to serve on the founding board of directors of the Royal Oak Alcohol and Drug Abuse Center.

The Northville BPW also will pay respects to the memory of Mrs. Clifford (Jennie) Turnbull, a charter member, who died earlier this month.

DODGE GIRL'S A WINNER—Kathy Petty, left, who was Kathy Winner when she was graduated from Novi High School in 1969, has been named the first native-born "Dodge Girl". Pam Austin, original "Rebellion Girl", came from Hollywood to help pass on the tradition and white hat to Kathy at the 58th annual Detroit Auto Show, November 16 - 25 at Cobo Hall.

Michele Wallace Wed In Armenian Ceremony

A wedding trip to Toronto followed the marriage of Michele Elizabeth Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Wallace, Jr., 1012 Canterbury, to Gary Franklin Frigon October 27 at St. Sarkis Armenian Apostolic Church in Dearborn.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Frigon of Livonia.

The late-afternoon, double-ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Father Gorun Shirkian.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire-style gown of ivory silk organza with rosepoint lace on the bodice and sleeves and adorning the skirt to the hemline. Appliques of lace roses were repeated on her cathedral train. A camelot cap, embroidered with seed pearls, held her fingertip veil which also was appliqued with rosepoint lace.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations, pink sweetheart roses, white miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Jacquelyn Wallace was her sister's maid of honor in a floor-length, azalea-colored gown fashioned on empire lines with a v-neckline. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath tied with pink streamers.

Bridesmaids were Carol Frigon, sister of the bridegroom, Dahna Kozak and Barbara Barron of Northville, Jacquelyn Kennedy of Plymouth and Cheryl Manley of Livonia. All wore azalea-colored chiffon gowns and carried cascading arrangements of red, white and pink carnations.

A niece-of the bride, Heather Lynn Ross, was flower girl in an empire gown of azalea chiffon with white organza bodice embroidered with azalea flowers. She wore a ringlet of sweetheart roses and carried a basket of pink rose petals. Joe Root was ring bearer.

Donald Blake Frigon was best man for his brother. Ushers were another brother, Curtis, Gordon Lee, Bill Duncan, Kurt Karlson and George Hejja of Toronto.

The bride's mother wore a long, gold chiffon gown trimmed with seed pearls. The bridegroom's mother chose a long, mint-green crepe gown with sequin trim. Both mothers had sweetheart rose corsages.

About 235 guests attended the ceremony and reception following in the church hall where the centerpiece of the bride's table was a five-tier wedding cake with a pink waterfall-fountain and two smaller, heart-shaped cakes joined to the larger one with pink satin ribbons. Garlands of greens and pink orchids decorated the table.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Marie Wallace of Charlotte, North Carolina, an aunt, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hejja and their son, Dr. Paul Hejja of Toronto.

The bride's going away outfit was a cranberry tweed pant suit with matching accessories. The newlyweds are living in Plymouth Township.

The bride is a 1972 Northville High School graduate and is employed by Sachs Association of Livonia as a secretary while her husband is a pre-medical student at Wayne State University.

At Detroit Auto Show

Novi Grad Wears 'Dodge Girl' Hat

Kathy Petty, who was Kathy Winner when she was graduated from Novi High School in 1969, has been chosen the first native-born Michigan "Dodge Girl" and is making her debut at the car division exhibit in the 58th annual Detroit Auto Show at Cobo Hall November 16-25.

The blue-eyed brunette, who was born in Redford and raised in the Northville-Novi area, has been living in Dearborn following her marriage December 4, 1971, to Michael Petty III, a certified public accountant.

In being named to the "white hat" role, Kathy follows a string of starlet predecessors who went on to added professional acclaim. Included are Rebellion Girl Pam Austin, who came from Hollywood, California, to help pass on the tradition and white hat; Fever Girl Joan Parker and Material Girl Cheryl Miller, all of Hollywood.

The new "Dodge Girl" is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert F. Winner, who lived at 24003 Heartwood while Kathy attended Novi High School from 1966-69 and became a member of its first graduating class. Her father, a car dealer for 15 years, operates Hollan'd Dodge, Incorporated, in Holland, Michigan, a fact which the Dodge public relations department points out is "sheer coincidence." She has two brothers and three sisters.

Born March 31, 1951, in Redford where she lived until she was nine, Kathy never considered a modeling career until her husband suggested it and she began doing photographic facial modeling for Leslie Fargo Agency. She attended Eastern Michigan University for one fall-winter term in 1969 and then decided college was not for her and was accepted for airline stewardess training.

She left this for marriage and then began modeling in May, 1972. In addition to decorating her apartment, she has pursued such hobbies as attending auctions and such crafts as macrame, decoupage, needlepoint and, currently, vue d'optique and related papier tole.

She is 5'6", 115 pounds and measures 35-24-35, adding up to a size nine.

Here's How to Tell Your Romantic News

So that holiday-season brides and brides-elect may have their romantic news told in the Sliger publications here are the requirements for publication:

Engagement announcements should include names of the bride-to-be and her fiancé as well as names and addresses of both sets of parents. If the wedding date has been set, note it. School, organizational and work affiliations may be listed. A simple form is available to fill out at the newspaper office. Black and white pictures are the only ones that can be accepted; graduation pictures of wallet size usually can be used.

Wedding pictures can be accepted no later than 15 days after the ceremony takes place. They may be of the bride or of the couple but MUST be black and white only. They must be clear and in focus.

A wedding form for names of the couple, their parents, location of the ceremony, names and costumes of the wedding party, etc., is available at the newspaper office and may be obtained in advance so that details may be noted. A daytime telephone number is requested.

Staff members will be glad to help in filling out the forms. There is no charge for engagement or wedding stories.

There was a time when hero's status was reserved for the individual who slayed the dragon.

But changing times bring different dragons and different heroes.

Often times, the modern-day hero is the person who takes on not a fire-breathing dragon but a large corporation with its talons of red tape and staff of gray-flannel attorneys.

Mrs. Elaine Welch, an attractive Novi housewife, finds herself in the position of becoming one of those modern-day heroes, but isn't certain that she enjoys the role.

Ever since the story of her personal battle with the legal staff of developer Kaufman and Broad received wide-spread attention through coverage in newspapers and television, Mrs. Welch has had numerous offers of help for her fight.

"A lady from Dearborn called to say that she had been fighting K&B for a long time and that if I ever needed any help all I had to do was give her a call," said Mrs. Welch Tuesday, approximately 24 hours before she was scheduled to appear in Oakland County Circuit Court in response to a summons obtained by Kaufman and Broad attorneys.

"I've also received calls from a group in Troy fighting K&B who want to come down and join me in court, and a lot of people in my own subdivision have called to say they're 100 percent behind what I'm doing," Mrs. Welch continued.

Mrs. Welch lives with her husband and four-year old son in a new home in Novi's relatively-affluent Village Oaks subdivision.

Her present legal difficulties came about when she and her husband and several other neighbors, angered at what they consider shoddy treatment from Kaufman and Broad, erected signs on their homes one Sunday afternoon two weeks ago.

The signs were all highly critical of the developer. "Add to your misery, buy from K&B," read one of the signs, while another read, "Our K&B house - one big mistake." Attached to the Welch's own home was a sign which declared, "K&B Trial and Error Homes."

Mrs. Welch said that she and her husband were trying to accomplish two things by putting up the signs.

"First, we were trying to get K&B's attention. Ever since we bought our house we've had nothing but trouble with it," she said. "The week before the signs went up I had called K&B headquarters every day for a week to try to register some complaints about the construction, but no one would return my calls."

The second goal sought by the Welchs was to warn other people to be careful in dealing with Kaufman and Broad.

"People who want to buy houses out here should be warned about how to deal with K&B," Mrs. Welch continued. "People should be warned to get things in writing and to hold money in escrow until all mistakes in their homes are properly taken care of."

The signs received relatively little attention, however, until Kaufman and Broad decided to take legal action to bring about their removal.

On the Wednesday following the initial appearance of the signs, the Welchs and two other homeowners were served with summons from Oakland County Circuit Court.

K&B's action is based on a clause in the subdivision's restrictions and covenants which prohibits all signs with the exception of "for sale" signs.

The legal action had its desired effect in two of the three cases. The day after the summons were issued all the signs with the exception of the one on the Welch's home had disappeared.

"The two other people who had the signs up just didn't feel they could go to the expense of hiring a lawyer to fight for them," said Mrs. Welch. "The husband of one of the other ladies has had a stroke and hasn't been able to work for the past year."

"I think K&B expected that we would take down our sign rather than go to court with them," said Mrs. Welch, "but we decided to follow through with it. We've had nothing but problems with K&B ever since we bought our house two years ago."

"We spent a lot of money in buying this house," Mrs. Welch continued. "It was our dream house, but it has been anything but a dream for us."

"When you spend $50,000 for a new house you expect it to be nice. You just wouldn't believe the problems we've had with it. And trying to get K&B to make repairs is a constant battle."

Mrs. Welch insists that she and her husband are not really trying to be heroes. In fact, they would just as soon not have to go to court at all.

"All I want," she said, "is to get my house fixed."

Former Livonia Chief

Council Selects New DPW Head

In a key administrative move, the Novi City Council Monday approved the hiring of Robert A. Shaw as Supervisor of the Department of Public Works (DPW).

Action on a related ordinance which would consolidate Novi's DPW and Sewer and Water Department into one department under the supervision of the DPW head was postponed.

Adoption of that ordinance is expected within two weeks, however. Shaw, 47, is currently employed by the City of Inkster as Director of Public Services. He will assume his new duties with the City of Novi on December 3.

He is to receive an annual salary of $17,000.

Appointment of Shaw brings an end to a search for a DPW head that was initiated at the time the 1973-74 fiscal budget was approved last June.

His hiring is a direct result of the increased work load on municipal services created by the current development boom.

Previously, Edward Kriewall was Novi's DPW head. During the time that George Athas, now a city councilman, served as Novi City Manager (April 1971 to October 1972), Kriewall was given additional duties and handed the added title of administrative assistant.

When Athas resigned as city manager, the council appointed Kriewall acting city manager - a position he held until Harold Saunders, the present city manager, was hired last February.

As part of the administrative reshuffling associated with the hiring of Saunders, Kriewall was made both administrative assistant and DPW head.

At the time the city council was hammering out the 1973-74 fiscal budget, it was determined that a full-time employee was required for each of the two jobs and the council authorized Saunders to begin a search for a new DPW head.

Kriewall's work load was increased even more with the recent administrative changes involved with the appointment of Mrs. Gerri Stipp to the city clerk's position. Mrs. Evelyn Natzel, then head of the Sewer and Water Department, was moved up to fill the city treasurer's post vacated by Mrs. Stipp and the responsibilities in the Sewer and Water Department were added to the administrative assistant and DPW duties already being handled by Kriewall.

It was this final reshuffling of duties which led several council members, ostensibly Mrs. Romaine Roethel, to urge the city manager to move quickly forward with the hiring of a DPW head.

In recommending appointment of Shaw, City Manager Saunders told the city council that he had interviewed 11 people for the position and felt that Shaw was the best candidate.

Saunders told The Novi News Tuesday that Shaw was the Director of Public Works for the City of Livonia for eight years during the 1960's.

"He ran the show in Livonia during eight key years in their development boom and from everything I've been able to determine he did a good job," stated Saunders. "I think he has good potential for us here in Novi."

In the past Shaw has held positions that range from dance band musician and farm laborer to Director of Public Works in Livonia and Director of Public Service in Inkster.

While employed with the City of Inkster, he served as acting city manager and administrative assistant to the city manager in addition to his duties as director of Public Service.

His responsibilities have included management of such various municipal departments as Engineering, Bureau of Inspection, Water and Sewer, DPW, Sanitation and Rubbish, and Code Enforcement.

He has been vice-president of a senior citizens housing commission which built 162 units.

During 10 years in municipal government, Shaw has supervised over $30

Novi to Consider Rezoning Requests

Novi's City Council and Planning Board will sit in joint session next Monday to consider three different rezoning requests.

Two of the requests are for changes in zoning from existing designations to R-2-A (multiple family residential), while the third request is for the rezoning of property on the northwest corner of Novi and Ten Mile Roads to C-2 (general commercial).

All three matters are slated for council action at the public hearing to be held next Monday, November 26, at the Novi Community Building. The hearing has been set to get underway at 8 p.m.

The rezoning issue expected to stir the largest citizen turnout is the request of Bernard Rollin for the rezoning of a large parcel on the southeast corner of Meadowbrook and Grand River from M-1 (light manufacturing) and R-1 (single family residential) to R-2-A (multiple family residential).

The property to be rezoned is immediately north of the Willowbrook Number Two subdivision.

Specifically, two rezonings are necessary for the entire 35-acre parcel to be rezoned for multiple family development. A strip which runs 450 feet deep and parallel to Grand River is presently zoned M-1, while the remainder of the property is presently zoned R-1.

Monday's hearing will mark the second time that the parcel has been brought before the city council for rezoning. In May of this year, the council unanimously rejected a request to rezone the entire parcel to M-1.

Basis of that rejection was that the nature of the terrain would make it difficult to develop a proposed industrial park on the location.

A sizable contingent of citizens from the Willowbrook subdivision attended that hearing to protest the requested rezoning, arguing that they did not want an industrial subdivision to be developed outside their rear windows.

Under the request to be considered at Monday's hearing a 22-acre parcel which is dominated by a deep ravine and divides the Rollin property from Willowbrook is to be left with its existing R-1 zoning to serve as a buffer between Willowbrook and the R-2-A.

The council will also hear the request of J. Robert Langan for the rezoning of property on the northwest corner of Novi and Ten Mile Roads from M-1 (light manufacturing) to C-2 (general commercial).

Langan, who developed the Roman Plaza near Novi Road and Grand River, has proposed to construct a bowling alley-lounge type of establishment at the Novi-Ten Mile location.

He holds the liquor license from Duke's Tavern and has told the Planning Board that he is under pressure from the Police Department to move the license from its present establishment.

According to the City's Master Plan, the corridor along Novi Road is slated for industrial development. Langan's initial request to the Planners for a public hearing to consider the rezoning was denied on the basis of "insufficient merit."

Langan consequently appealed that decision to the council and was granted the public hearing set for next Monday.

The third request for rezoning to be considered at Monday's hearing involves a 17-acre parcel located east of Novi Road and between Nine and Ten Mile Roads. The landlocked parcel is in the general vicinity of Meadowbrook Lake subdivision and north of the Novex One industrial park.

Novi Man Killed In Auto Crash

A 57-year old local resident became Novi's eleventh traffic fatality of the year in an accident which took place at the corner of Novi and Ten Mile Roads early last Saturday.

Henry Mikko, 57, of 40161 Jefferson was pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford General Hospital at 6:33 a.m. on Saturday, November 17, approximately one-half hour after the accident occurred.

According to police reports, the accident took place while Mikko was on his way to work in Plymouth at 6 a.m. While traveling southbound on Novi Road, Mikko's 1970 Mercury was struck broadside as he was passing through the Novi-Ten Mile Road intersection by a westbound Mercury driven by a 40-year old female from Southfield.

Both Mikko and the woman were transported by ambulance to Botsford Hospital where Mikko was pronounced dead on arrival. The woman was treated for leg injuries and released.

Investigation revealed that the woman had disregarded the flashing red light on Ten Mile Road, police said. Officer Jack Grubb, who is heading up the investigation, indicated that a warrant charging the woman with negligent homicide will be sought from the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

Name of the woman is being withheld at this time, police said.

It was the second fatal accident to have occurred at the Novi-Ten Mile Road intersection during the past month. On Wednesday, October 24, another man was killed and six other were injured when the driver of a westbound car on Ten Mile failed to heed the red blinking light and was struck in the side by a pick-up truck traveling northbound on Novi Road.

Police have obtained a warrant charging the driver of the westbound car in that case with negligent homicide.

Wixom Approves Cycle Ordinance

Fees for registration and inspection of motorcycles, minibikes and go-carts under the new ordinance passed at the November 13 meeting of Wixom City Council will be discussed at the upcoming council meeting November 27.

As it passed the ordinance, which had stirred citizen controversy in public discussion six weeks ago, the council observed that the season for cycling was about over, but the city would be ready to invoke provisions for next year.

Police Chief George Von-

Behren was instructed to bring to council cost figures for purchasing equipment for the inspection of motorcycles and to measure the noise emission at 50 feet. A limit of 85 decibels was set in the ordinance.

The ordinance covers motorcycles, minibikes, including motor scooters with a motor producing five or less maximum brake horsepower and bicycles with motors attached (except friction-drive motors of one or less horsepower) as well as dune-bikes and go-carts. It excludes tractors and motor-powered lawn mowers.

The ordinance provides that no such vehicles may be operated in the city without being registered and inspected for safety by the police department. They may not be operated on posted property prohibiting their use, which also has been registered with the police department.

Cycles, according to provisions of the new ordinance drawn up by city attorney Gene Schnelz, are prohibited from sunset to 10 a.m. and never may be operated within 200 feet of any residence.

The ordinance also provides for suspension of an owner's certificate to operate if he or any individual operating the vehicle with his permission violates terms of the ordinance. Certificates of registration and inspection will be issued annually and will expire December 31 of each year. They must be displayed on the vehicle.

Police also are given authority to impound vehicles declared to be a nuisance and require a fee for storage and removal. Removal fee is $10 and storage fee is $1 a day. Conviction of ordinance violations will be a misdemeanor and subject to a fine not to exceed $500 and/or imprisonment not to exceed 90 days.

The penalties may be levied against anyone operating such a vehicle in a manner endangering lives or property of the rider, passenger or others persons within the city.

Exception to the regulation is vehicles operated in the performance of a governmental or public function.

DAVID AND LISA—Although playgoers to Northville High School's production next week of "David and Lisa" will only see one girl playing Lisa, the waif who has developed a split personality, both Devon Glenn (left) and Diana Dye have been cast in the part. The girls will star alternate nights, sharing the lead with Eric Egeland who has been cast as David, over-protected by a dominating mother. Devon will be on stage Wednesday and Friday with Diana playing the role on Thursday and Saturday. Tickets are on sale now for the play which will be presented at 8 p.m. each evening in the high school auditorium. Prices are $1.50 per person pre-sale or $1.75 for tickets purchased at the door.

LAST PERFORMANCE—Northville High's 1973 majorettes made their last appearance at a home football game recently. Their performance was capped by a half-time show during which the girls twirled with fire. Mem-

Novi Lions Set Service Projects

Chartered less than six months ago, the Novi Lions Club has already started work on a number of projects connected with their goal of aiding individuals with seeing or hearing disabilities. Publicity Chairman Robert Starnes announced last week that the Novi Lions are sponsoring a 50-50 Raffle and will be holding a candy cane sale in a couple of weeks. Purpose of the two projects is to raise funds which will be used to purchase and train a seeing-eye dog. Starnes also reminded citizens that the Lions have an on-going program of collecting old eye glasses and hearing aids. These are subsequently distributed to individuals who might otherwise be unable to afford any help for their disabilities. Tickets for the 50-50 Raffle are available from any Lions club member. First prize is 25 percent of the money collected through ticket sales. Second and third prize winners each receive 10 percent of the proceeds, while fourth place receives five percent of the ticket sales. The other 50 percent of the money will be put toward the seeing-eye dog project. Tickets are available for a donation of 50 cents, or, three for $1. The drawing will be held at the December 12 meeting of the Lions Club. Ticket holders do not have to be present to win. Lions Club members will be selling candy canes on the weekend of December 14-16. A plastic tube in the shape of a candy cane and filled with small candy canes can be purchased at a cost of $1 from club members. Anyone who has old eye glasses or hearing aids and is willing to donate them to the Lions Club can take them to either Novi High School or the Novi Police Station Detective's Bureau. Assistant Principal Chuck Nanas at the high school and Rickard Faulkner, John Johnson, and Starnes at the police department will be available to receive any donations.

Earns Scouting Honor

A Novi woman, Mrs. Betsy Alcala, has been presented the Thanks Badge, the highest award for adults in Girl Scouting.

A rare honor for outstanding service, the Thanks

Badge was awarded by Mrs. Bette Cooper of the Southwest Girl Scout Association and a member of the Northern Oakland Girl Scout Council Board of Directors.

Beginning as the leader of a Brownie Troop in 1965, Mrs. Alcala, a volunteer, has held a number of positions in Girl Scouting that include encampment director, member of the board of directors of the Northern Oakland Girl Scouts, and delegate to the national Girl Scout convention. The Thanks Badge was presented October 11 at the monthly meeting of the Southwest Association leaders. The presentation followed the regular meeting. Special guests at the surprise luncheon included Mrs. Nancy Holan, council president from Waterford, and Mrs. Lillian Neville, council vice-president from Pontiac. Also present were Mrs. Alcala's husband, Peter, and members of her senior Girl Scout Troop 924.

Township Board OKs Subdivision

Two recommendations from the planning commission were accepted last week by Northville township trustees.

Conditional approval was given to a preliminary plat stage one development for a 112 unit single family subdivision.

Located southwest of Bradner and Franklin roads, the subdivision is being developed by Smokler-Gordon. Approval was conditioned on granting an easement for the existing 12-inch water main from Franklin west through the subdivision and across the railroad tracks.

A walkway for students to get to the new middle school on Franklin Road was also made a condition of the board's approval.

Board members also granted an extension of time for submission of a site plan for the 600-unit mobile home park on the southwest corner of Six Mile and Ridge Road. Upon recommendation of the planning commission, Mobilife, developer of the property, was given until December 31 to submit the plan.

Admission is 50 cents per child and children under five years of age must be accompanied by an adult. No tickets will be sold at the door. Parents interested in making reservations for the event should call 349-7591.

Wixom Homeowners Tap George Johns Prexy

George Johns was elected president last week as the members of the Wixom Homeowners Association selected their 1974 slate of officers.

Also elected were Helen Zawacki, vice-president; Dorothy Whitliff, recording secretary; and August Schroll, executive secretary and treasurer.

Johns, who was instrumental in forming the organization earlier this year, reported that 50 percent of the membership was present for the election of the first official slate of officers.

Johns and Zawacki had been previously elected president and vice-president during an interim period while the association was being formed.

Full name of the organization is the Wixom Homeowners Association of South Wixom. Membership is open to all Wixom homeowners south of Pontiac Trail. According to Johns, one-third of the registered voters in the district have already joined the association.

Charter memberships in the organization are still available, but will be shut off on January 1. Residents wishing to join should write to August Schroll at 4940 Helfer Boulevard in Wixom. Charter memberships cost $1, Johns announced.

Next meeting of the association has been slated for the second Monday in January.

School Board Cancels Date

Northville School Board has canceled its meeting scheduled for Monday, November 26.

Next meeting of the board will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, December 10, in the board offices, 303 West Main Street.

Township, City Join In Bicentennial

A resolution to join with the city of Northville in observing the Bicentennial of the American Revolution was approved unanimously last week by Northville township trustees.

Speaking to the trustees, Northville Historical Society President John Burkman said the society is seeking to have Northville designated by the state as a Bicentennial community.

If this is achieved, matching funds would be available. Burkman said the historical society hopes to have the restoration of Mill Race completed by the time of the Bicentennial, 1976.

Supervisor Lawrence Wright added he felt that it would "be better to join as one in the celebration."

A similar resolution was adopted by the city council recently.

New books available in the public library this week include:

Library Friends Meet in Novi

Thanks to suggestions by the Friends of the Novi Library Board, several projects have been scheduled by the group.

One of the projects suggested by Mrs. Marian Pickl, Mrs. James Brown and Mrs. Jan Wilhelm was the planting of spring bulbs, group president Mrs. Millie Parker explained.

"These have been planted in front of the library by Mrs. John Cook and Mrs. Walter Sobczak," Mrs. Parker added.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carter spent several evenings alphabetizing the juvenile books section and the "books now look very neat and orderly," group spokesmen report.

The next meeting of the Friends will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, November 27, and will be a work night.

The group will be doing odd jobs in the library and anyone interested in helping the library is welcome to join.

Mrs. Naomi Poe, chairman of the campaign, said the children were "thrilled to go trick or treating for someone else and skits presented at school stressed what the money would do for children around the world." During the past two years, the students at Moraine have collected more than $1,000 for UNICEF.

Council Axes Barricade Request on Novi Road

The requested controversial closing of old Novi Road south of Eight Mile was torpedoed by a 4-1 vote of the city council Monday night.

Dissenting was Councilman David Biery who contended fellow councilmen appeared to be going out of their way to find excuses for turning down the request of Marion Szczepanski, owner of International Diamond Tool Company at 21141 Novi Road. Several weeks ago Szczepanski requested permission to block the deadend road at night to prevent motorists from using it and thus discourage possible robbery of his factory. He was told to secure permission from Novi and from another property owner on the road, and to get a letter of understanding from his fire insurance company.

Szczepanski subsequently complied with these requests but the council denied it on the basis of recommendations of the city manager and the acting police chief.

Angry over what he termed was the council's "antagonistic attitude" towards business in general and his business in particular, Szczepanski told city officials he may block just half of the road (the east half under the jurisdiction of Novi Township and the Oakland County Road Commission) to point up this attitude.

Although a number of other reasons were offered, the main objection of the council and city manager appeared to be issue of a private owner taking over a public right-of-way.

"While I consider his request a very simple one, the council cannot lose sight of what we would be doing if we approved it," said Councilman Paul Vernon. "Simplicity isn't the question; rather it is the ramification of our action. I just don't think closing the road is the answer to protecting private property. If so everyone prone to robbery could request the same thing on their streets."

Biery, on the other hand, contended Szczepanski's request was unique in that the road in question is a deadend. Since the only other property owner involved has given his consent to closure, "there is no earthly reason for people going down there other than for trouble," he declared.

Biery said he had inspected the roadway and found it a place filled with junk and garbage left by parkers.

Policing and fire protection of the area would be hampered by a chain or fence, it was pointed out. But Szczepanski, who said he has been robbed six times in the last 10 years, contended the chain would discourage thefts by persons loading equipment into their cars.

Furthermore, Szczepanski noted that he had purposely left a window open in his factory for two weeks to see if police were, as reported, nightly inspecting his premises. No one reported the open window, he said.

Council earlier had advised Szczepanski that he should consider fencing of his own property rather than chaining off a public right of way. Szczepanski said this would be too expensive.

Following the council vote, City Attorney Philip Ogilvie suggested the council seek cooperation of Novi Township in posting no parking signs on the roadway, thus discouraging use of the road. Presently, it is not illegal to park there at night, he noted.

Snafu Irks City Council

that it probably would be cheaper for the city to cut down the old trees and pay $500 apiece for new trees and plant them in proper locations than to redesign the lot at this late date.

But Vernon reminded members the council had made a commitment to citizens, at the time the parking lot idea was conceived, to save as many trees as possible. "We have a responsibility to make sure we save the trees," he asserted.

Councilman David Biery expressed displeasure, as did Councilman Paul Folino, with the topography of the lot. "I couldn't believe all those hills and valleys," said Biery.

According to Don Jones, member of the planning commission who was in the audience, the present layout of the lot is not the same as was approved by the planning commission.

"You haven't seen the worst yet," warned Jones, who said when winter comes motorists will find it almost impossible to negotiate the ice that likely will accumulate in the "valleys".

Vernon asked the city manager to prepare a list of all engineering and inspection costs.

The final layer of blackout on this parking lot and the one north of Main Street is to be applied next spring.

Praises Teacher Evaluation

New teacher evaluative process and forms, presently being revised drew praise of Novi Principal Roy Williams during a report to the board of education last week.

"So far, it's working beautifully," said Williams, who characterized the process as a "self-improvement" type evaluation.

The new forms and concept were developed by the teaching staff and administrative team working together to facilitate communication and improve the quality and effectiveness of evaluations.

"The new evaluation forms seemed to aid in the identification and acknowledgement of areas in which improvement is desirable, essential, and possible," said Superintendent Gerald Kratz.

"These procedures encourage the review of teaching characteristics by teacher and principal, a conference with the administrator, and setting teacher goals."

"Following the identification of areas of concern on a check list, the teacher establishes improvement goals to work toward including a plan for accomplishing them and a criterion for measuring results.

"In the final analysis a positive documented basis for the yearly tenure evaluation will be provided."

Seek Appraisals

From Record, 1

"the area south and west of the post office is the most feasible site for senior citizens' housing."

This site, he said, involves a combination of privately owned property and city-owned property.

On November 15, the housing commission established the following procedure for studying the site:

1. Obtain appraisals for the property to be acquired.

2. Obtain purchase options if possible.

3. Retain an architect to develop a preliminary site plan relative to the possible number of units.

4. Develop a financing plan relative to final design, land purchase and construction.

The matters of options and architects are to be investigated by the housing commission before it recommends to the council action to be taken, Walters said.

Car Explodes in Ravine

Youth Dies in Fiery Crash

An 18-year-old Novi youth burned to death Sunday night when the car he was driving catapulted about 200 feet out over a steep embankment at the end of Clement Road at Seven Mile, crashed at the edge of a pond, and exploded.

Killed in the accident was Gary Dennis Kohn of 21656 Connemara Drive, a 1973 graduate of Northville High School. He was alone in the vehicle.

The 1969 Thunderbird Kohn was driving had been taken from the Drawbridge Restaurant parking lot in Northville where he worked as a parking attendant.

The valet parking service which employed the youth is hired by the Drawbridge to park cars of its patrons.

Township police said the accident took place about 6:35 p.m. when the youth was traveling south on Clement Road at a high rate of speed.

When he crossed Seven Mile Road, the car became airborne, shearing off six small trees before landing on the passenger's side in about a foot of water at the bottom of a ravine. The car then burst into flames.

Police said they found no sign of skid marks on either Clement Road or Seven Mile Road.

The youth was trapped inside the burning auto and died at the scene. Northville Fire Department was called to extinguish the blaze.

Police, fire and wrecker crews spent several hours at the scene.

Township police said they were told Kohn and another youth were drag racing down Clement.

Police said they questioned Claude A. Freil III of 47140 Dunsany, who also worked as a parking attendant at the Drawbridge. He told township police that he had gone out to find the youth and saw that the accident had occurred.

The car Freil was driving was found stuck in a ditch on the west side of Clement between Main Street and Bloomcrest.

Police said they checked the car and found no signs that the vehicle had been involved in an accident and released the youth.

City police received a report from Michael A. Rich of 41323 Lagoon Court about 7:35 p.m. that his 1969 Thunderbird was missing from the Drawbridge.

Kurt Stelmach, 18, of 257 Maplewood, head parking attendant, told city police Kohn had taken the vehicle about 6 p.m. He told the officers he saw Kohn drive out of the east section of the parking lot in a reckless manner, headed east on Dunlap from North Center.

Stelmach told police Kohn's actions did not alarm him since attendants sometimes took patron's cars out for drives and he assumed Kohn would return the vehicle in a short time, police reports said.

At 6:30 p.m. Stelmach told officers, another employee took a car from the lot in an attempt to locate Kohn.

A check by city police revealed Rich's missing car was the one involved in the accident.

The accident is the fourth fatality recorded in Northville township this year.

In June, a St. Clair Shores girl was killed and six other youths injured in a one-car accident on Beck Road south of Eight Mile.

Last month, a Livonia couple was killed when their car struck a train on Seven Mile Road at the C&O railroad tracks near Northville Road.

27-Percent Have Master's

Teachers Earn Degrees

Approximately 27-percent of the teachers in the Novi school system hold master's degrees, according to Superintendent Gerald Kratz.

The report also indicates that 29 percent of the secondary educators hold master's degrees, as compared to approximately 25 percent at the elementary level.

Of the 11 full time persons—eight men and three women—at the administration level, three have earned doctorate degrees and three have 30 hours of credit beyond the master's degree.

Women comprise 68-percent of the 121.5 member staff, Dr. Kratz said, with secondary teachers outnumbering elementary staff members 65 to 56.5. These figures, he said, exclude district-wide special services and administrative team personnel.

Eastern Michigan University leads all colleges and universities in teachers employed in Novi with 43. Wayne State University ranks second with 22, and Central Michigan and Michigan State University rank third and fourth with 16 and 12 teachers, respectively.

University of Michigan graduates hold seven positions and Oakland University two.

Teachers from a total of 12 state colleges and universities are represented on the staff. Dr. Kratz said 11-percent of Novi teachers obtained their bachelor's degrees outside of Michigan. Ohio leads all states, with Illinois a close second. Kentucky ranks third. Eight states are represented as far west as California and east to Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Township Buys Diverters

Purchase of two phone diverters for Northville Township Police Department was authorized by township trustees last week.

Cost of the equipment is estimated at $1,390, plus the cost of any toll calls from Northville to Michigan State Police Post in Redford and $15 phone service rent per month.

Township Police Chief Ronald Nisum explained the equipment would automatically switch calls to the Redford Post. Presently a similar system, using a leased line from the phone company, is being used at a cost of between $1,500 and $1,600 per year.

The chief explained the cost of the new equipment will be less the second year since no equipment purchase will be needed.

Select DPW Head

Continued from Novi, 1 million worth of capital improvements, such as major road improvements, water main installations, sanitary sewer expansions, storm drain projects, two large indoor ice-skating rinks, two 50-meter swimming pools, an 18-hole municipal golf course, fire stations, libraries, and other municipal facilities.

He is married and has four children. City Manager Saunders stated that Shaw's salary will be drawn from the $12,000 budgeted in June for hiring a DPW head. Even though he is to receive a salary of $17,000, Saunders said that the $12,000 already in the budget will be more than enough to meet Shaw's salary for the remainder of the present fiscal year.

Appointment of Shaw to the post was approved by the 5-2 vote of the council. Councilmen Edwin Presnell and Denis Berry opposed the hiring on the grounds that they wanted to wait a week before taking the action.

Councilwoman Romaine Roethel, Mayor Robert Daley, and Councilmen Louie Campbell, George Athas, and Philip Goodman voted in favor of the motion approving the hiring of Shaw.

MacDonald instead of Cayley moved to authorize the committee to meet with the City for discussion of the study; with the Building Authority to discuss equipment housing, and to suggest possible wording for the mileage request" Schaeffer supported Ayes: All Motion carried

3 APPROVAL OF BILLS PAYABLE: MacDonald moved to accept Bills Payable with correction noted that item No. 12 under Water & Sewer should read $1580 05 Cayley supported Ayes: All Motion carried

4 ACCEPTANCE OF RECEIPTS FOR OCTOBER 1973, TREASURER'S REPORT FOR OCTOBER 1973: FINANCIAL REPORT FOR OCTOBER, 1973 OF WATER AND SEWER DEPARTMENT: MINUTES OF WATER AND SEWER COMMISSION MEETING OF OCTOBER 3, 1973: PLANNING COMMISSION MINUTES FOR OCTOBER (Public Hearing) SPECIAL MEETING OF OCTOBER 8, OCTOBER 16 (Public Hearing) AND REGULAR MEETING OF OCTOBER 30, 1973 Klein moved to accept in entirety, MacDonald supported Ayes: All Motion carried

Cayley moved, Mitchell supported, to take out of Board minutes from Northville Historical Society and Mr. Gene Zeimet from Smoker-Gordon Ayes: All Motion carried

Mr. Burkman asked the Board to consider a resolution to join with the City of Northville to appoint the Northville Historical Society to conduct and plan the celebration. He wants three phases covered: Heritage, Festival, and Horizon. Mr. Burkman also stated that the application had to be in by December 1, 1973 and would not involve any expenditure on the part of the Township as certain funds were available. There would be a member Board involving Township, City, and various local clubs

MacDonald moved to accept resolution as presented. Straub supported Roll Call: Ayes: Mitchell, Wright, Cayley, Klein, MacDonald, Schaeffer, and Straub Motion carried

Mr. Zeimet was present to ask for tentative approval of Preliminary Plat, Stage 1 Mr. Mosher recommended approval with two (2) conditions (1) Easement be provided for the existing 12" water main which extends westerly from Franklin to and across the C & O RR (2) Walkways be provided for school children to get to Franklin Road. These items should be on Stage 2 Preliminary Plat and Plat will not be approved if not shown Klein moved to accept with these conditions Mitchell supported Ayes All Motion carried

Mrs. Cayley questioned why subdivisions are allowed to have less than ordinance states for minimum frontage Mr. Mosher explained that subdivisions are allowed to have less than ordinance states for minimum frontage and in reality do meet minimum lot requirements. Mr. Zeimet also stated that he had shown the plans to the Road Commission They questioned Elk Road and Lakeside Drive and wanted 10 ft easement from developer and 10 ft from the property owners at the intersection Mr. Zeimet spoke with several of these owners and they were not receptive to this idea Mr. Zeimet further stated that the developers are "really at the mercy of the Road Commission" for a decision

Mrs. Cayley moved, Klein supported to take Chief Ron Nisum out of Order (No 4 under New Business) Ayes All Motion carried

Chief Nisum explained to the Board that there was a need for another emergency line into the Police Department At the present time the Police Department is leasing from Mitchell Bell a line at a cost of $1,500-$1,600 per year Chief Nisum recommends that the Board approve the purchase of two (2) phone diverters at a cost of $1,390 On the third ring the call would automatically be diverted to the State Police in Redford The total monthly charge would be $15 00 plus the toll calls to the State Police. Klein moved to purchase these diverters and cancel the leased line Straub supported Ayes: All Motion carried

Mrs. Cayley moved, Klein supported to authorize Chief and Attorney to draft ordinance regulating silent burglar alarms. There had been previous discussion that many people were installing these alarms in their homes and tying into the Police Department's Emergency line without the Department's knowledge, and there was a great chance that due to a power failure or malfunction the Department's line would be tied up indefinitely by these alarm systems, and someone trying to report a true emergency could not get through. Ayes: All Motion carried

Mr. Mitchell moved, supported by MacDonald to take out of Order Mr. Manooch (item No 5 under New Business) and Mrs. Osier (item No. 12 under Correspondence) Ayes: All Motion carried

Mrs. Cayley read letter from Mrs. Manooch and Mrs. Arakalian along with signatures on petition requesting feasibility study of sewer installation for Marilyn, Maxwell, Fry and Parkland (North of Five Mile) Mr. Mosher stated that it would be prohibitively expensive until an interceptor sewer on Haggerty Road was installed Mr. Manooch said that the situation was critical for health reasons Approximately 50 percent of the residents in this area cannot flush their toilets. He would like the Township to go to Wayne County and present it as an emergency case He also questioned the feasibility of tying in with Livonia Mr. Mosher stated that this was a possibility but that he did not expect a favorable reply from them.

Straub moved to direct Mosher to make survey with tying in with Livonia after determining the quantity of sewage from the four above mentioned streets, including vacant lots. Mr. Mosher will not do anything about estimating costs until we get a reply from Livonia if they will allow tie in. She stated that she would like Mitchell supported It was also discussed that this would only be a temporary situation until the Haggerty Sewer was installed, and then these streets would be connected with that Ayes: All Motion carried

Mrs. Osier's letter was read to the Board, regarding lot split on Beck Road, Mrs. Osier is interested in purchasing a piece of this property to construct a home There was discussion with individual members of the Board and Mr. Mosher There is a problem because no matter how the lot is split, she does not have the necessary minimum frontage required by the Township It was the general consensus of the Board that she come in and speak with Mr. Straub on Thursday, November 15 No action was taken

Mr. Troy Milligan, a part time employee of the Township, raised a question from the floor He had been advised that employees working less than 35 hours a week could not have Social Security taken out of their pay It had been taken out in the past and he wanted to know where the money was going that had already been deducted It was suggested that he come into the office and speak further with Mrs. Cayley who in turn will look into the matter and get a definite decision from the Social Security Office No further action was taken

Vandals Damage Novi School

In Novi

Vandals did an estimated $800 worth of damage to the Orchard Hills Elementary School recently.

On Sunday, November 11, police were contacted by a maintenance man who reported that two juveniles had shot approximately 20-30 holes in several windows with an air rifle.

The man told investigating officers that he had caught sight of the two youngsters, but had been unable to apprehend them.

Corporal Robert Starnes of the Novi Police Department reminded residents that there is a city ordinance regulating use of air rifles. Any parent considering purchase of an air rifle for a child should consult with the police department to learn the restrictions, Starnes stated.

Orchard Hills Elementary School was also victimized by a breaking and entering recently.

Thieves gained entry to the building by removing a sheet of plexi-glass which had been placed over a broken window. Once inside the building they took a Bell and Howell auto-load film strip projector. Value of the stolen projector was estimated at $90 to $125.

Police feel they have solved two breaking and enterings with the arrest of five local juveniles on Monday, November 12.

The five were arrested in conjunction with a pair of break-ins of homes in the Village Oaks area on November 9.

One of the break-ins involved a home at 22424 Heatherbrae. Owner of the house told police that all drawers and cabinets in the house had been ransacked. Candy bar wrappers were found scattered around the house, and it appeared as if someone had cooked hot dogs in a pan on the kitchen stove. An estimated $20 worth of change and costume jewelry valued at $15 were also stolen during the break-in, police were told.

The other break-in occurred at 22501 Chestnut Tree Way.

Residents told police that approximately $20 had been stolen and miscellaneous food ranging from potato chips to cupcakes had also been taken by the intruders.

According to Police Corporal Robert Starnes, the five youths arrested by police have all admitted their guilt.

A portion of the stolen property has been recovered and full restitution is expected, said Starnes. The youths will be prosecuted in Oakland County Juvenile Court, according to police.

A pair of juveniles from Livonia have been arrested on charges of possession of LSD.

The pair were apprehended on November 10 on Beck Road by Novi police.

Officer Jack Grubb, who made the arrests, stated that juvenile petitions have been filled out and that the pair will be petitioned into Oakland County Juvenile Court.

The two Livonia youths were turned over to their parents pending juvenile court action.

An automobile stolen from a Walled Lake residence last week was recovered by Novi police before the theft had been discovered by the car's owner.

While on routine patrol, officers observed a 1966 Chevrolet parked on the west side of East Lake Drive with its motor running.

Subsequent investigation revealed the identity of the owner of the vehicle who told police that the car must have been stolen from his driveway within an hour of the time it was found.

Two Novi residences were broken into and ransacked last week.

Owner of a home at 23640 E. LeBost told police his home had been entered and every room had been ransacked on November 14. Only missing property, however, appeared to be costume jewelry valued at $60.

A residence at 40025 Washington was broken into and ransacked on November 16. Owner told police that nothing appeared to have been stolen, however.

A deer head was reportedly stolen from a residence at 1603 East Lake Drive on November 12.

Value of the stolen deer head was placed at $100.

COURT NEWS

Two Novi residents have been bound over to the Oakland County Circuit Court to face charges of possession of a controlled substance, a two-year felony.

Lucky Junior Hensley, 19, and Vicki Lynn Puckett, 17, were bound over by 52nd District Court Judge Martin Boyle in an exam held last Friday.

The two were arrested, along with 17-year old Robert Kurick and a 16-year old juvenile, on September 10 after being initially stopped for driving a car with a defective exhaust.

Officers reported observing a marihuana cigarette lying on the front seat of the car. Further investigation uncovered a bag containing marihuana and 150-200 capsules.

Puckett and Hensley were charged with possession of a controlled substance (chemicals), while Kurick was charged with use of marihuana. The juvenile was petitioned into Oakland County Juvenile Court on related charges.

In Northville

A 74-year-old woman was robbed last week as she was walking into the Chatham Food Store on North Center Street.

The woman's purse, which contained approximately $45, was ripped from her arm as she was walking toward the store last week Tuesday afternoon, police said.

City police recovered the purse on Country Lane, just off Sheldon Road south of Seven Mile, but the money was missing.

Three 18-year-olds are being questioned in connection with the incident, city police detectives said.

Two tires were stolen off of a car last week Wednesday evening while it was parked at Northville Downs.

During a routine check of the lot, police found a 1968 Chevrolet with both rear tires gone and the car sitting on wheel drums. The theft was discovered about 9 p.m.

Shortly after midnight Friday, the owner of a 1974 Lotus reported his car had been tampered with while it was parked at the Downs.

Unknown persons had taken wires from the ignition switch of the unlocked vehicle. The incident took place between 7:45 p.m. Friday and 12:10 a.m. Saturday.

Three persons were arrested on charges of being drunk following accidents during the past week.

Two were involved in property damage accidents which took place on Monday and Tuesday while the third was involved in a minor injury accident Friday.

COURT NEWS

A Northville man was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay $165 cost per year after he pled guilty to added charges of attempting to carry a concealed weapon.

Gary Lee Bloomhuff received the sentence recently in Wayne County Circuit Court. He was arrested August 4 by city police and charged with carrying a concealed weapon after a knife was found strapped to his leg.

That charge was dismissed after he pled guilty to the added count.

In Township

Police have ruled suicide as the cause of death of Marilyn Grace Fell, 35, of 46050 Neeson.

Miss Fell was found last week Wednesday about 7 p.m. She had hanged herself in the garage.

Police were summoned to the home after a boarder found her body. He told police he arrived home about 6:45 p.m., saw her car in the driveway but did not see her in the house and then checked the garage.

Police said neighbors reported seeing her about 8:30 or 9 a.m. that day and that the garage door was closed all day long.

Portions of a clothes rope, along with a kitchen knife, were also found in the garage, township reports said.

Township police have obtained a warrant charging a Detroit man with assault with a gun after he pistol whipped a job superintendent at Maybury earlier this month.

Witnesses told police the superintendent of the wrecking company was hit in the face with a gun and kicked after the employee learned he had been docked time for a breakdown. The employee also threatened to kill the superintendent, reports said.

Six stitches were required to close the facial wounds sustained by the superintendent. The employee is still at large, township officers said.

Two cars were stolen in Northville township last week.

A 1964 Chevrolet taken from the parking lot at Highland Lakes clubhouse Thursday night was later recovered on Crystal Lake Drive.

While police were taking the report, three youths approached them and said they saw a vehicle matching the description of the missing car. The ignition key was found in the car.

Shortly after 8 a.m. Saturday, a 1967 Mustang with Missouri plates was stolen from 18577 Innsbrook.

The car, taken between 4 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m.

Saturday morning, is gold with a black vinyl top.

Theft of an electric typewriter from Northville State Hospital is being investigated by Michigan State Police.

Valued at $567, the royal blue IBM typewriter was taken from J Building between 11:30 p.m. Thursday and 12:30 a.m. Friday.

Police reports indicated files in a nearby office were entered, however, none were found to be missing.

FIRE CALLS

November 17—6:35 p.m., fire following fatal accident at Seven Mile and Clement Road.

November 18—5:32 p.m., brush fire on Six Mile west of Beck Road.

In Wixom

Wixom police have impounded a dog suspected of having killed 97 chickens on a small farm at 980 North Wixom Road last week.

Police were notified of the incident by a woman who reported seeing the dog - a one-year old German shepherd - in the chicken coop killing her chickens.

She succeeded in chasing the dog away and then notified police, the woman reported.

The dog responsible for the incident was traced to a neighboring home and was taken by police to the Char-Mur Kennels.

A family living at 2713 Loon Lake Road was startled when a shot was fired into their living room on Sunday, November 11.

According to police reports, a woman and her son were in the living room of the residence when a passenger in a passing vehicle shot a hole in the picture window.

Closer investigation revealed that the hole had been made by a b-b fired from an air rifle.

A breaking and entering of the Wixom Co-op Service Station last week enabled thieves to steal approximately $40 in change and two snow tires.

The theft occurred sometime between 6:30 p.m. on November 13 and 8 a.m. the following day, according to reports.

Entry was gained through a broken window, police theorize.

Police received two different reports involving the thefts of stereo tape decks from cars parked in the employees lot at the Ford Motor Company's Wixom Assembly Plant last week.

On Tuesday, November 13, David Freilich, a Farmington man, told police that someone had broken into his car and removed a tape deck and six stereo tapes.

Value of the stolen property was estimated at $85.

Gerald Krigner, a 23-year old Howell resident, reported the theft of a tape deck and two stereo tapes from his car at approximately the same time.

Value of the property was placed at roughly $80.

Both thefts took place while the men were working the early shift on November 13.

A girls' 20-inch bicycle was reportedly stolen from a residence at 1974 Charms Road some time during the night of November 10-11.

The bicycle had been left on the front yard of the home, according to police.

Northville Downs will be the scene of a special happening next Thursday (November 29) and the state of Michigan is inviting the public to come and witness the event.

It's the 54th weekly drawing of the Michigan lottery.

Matter of fact, the State Lottery Bureau is so worried that a crowd won't be on hand for the drawing ceremonies that it's offering door prizes.

"We don't figure that Northville's a very jumping place at 9:45 a.m.," explained Dave Hanson, lottery PR man.

So to entice a crowd, the free-admission event will be buttered-up with 10 free memberships in the lottery's "Chance of a Lifetime Club".

Hanson explained that these memberships consist of having the same pair of three-digit numbers every week.

For example, if you want to buy "123-456" for 52 weeks, you can do so for $25 (which is a saving of a buck, Hanson points out). Or you can buy a single number for 12 weeks or 24 weeks for $6 or $12.

Anyway, 10 or more of these memberships will be given away free to lucky members of the audience at next week's drawing.

Meanwhile, the real purpose of the event is twofold:

1--To draw the winning numbers for tickets purchased this week;

2--To conduct the "super drawing" to determine the big winners from those who held both three-digit numbers in last week's purchases.

There are about 10 winners in the super drawing with a guarantee of $10,000. About four persons win $25,000, two more win $50,000 and the top prize in the super drawing is $200,000.

So any area residents holding both three-digit numbers that will be drawn Friday (a day late this week because of Thanksgiving) won't have to go far to find out how much they win.

And if you buy tickets this week (before Tuesday noon, November 27) the winning numbers will be drawn at the Downs.

A few other show-biz gimmicks have been added to Michigan's lottery operation to help promote sales. For example, Hanson explained that special bonus drawings are also being held to celebrate the lottery's first birthday.

The second of these four weekly bonus drawings will be held at the Downs. The bonus prizes are $2,000 gift certificates, redeemable at any store selling lottery tickets.

Three 3-digit numbers are drawn for the bonus prizes, and to win your ticket must match two of the three sets of numbers.

If you're not already confused, add to the fun the "second chance" numbers. They consist of a second pair of three-digit numbers. If your ticket matches both these numbers, you win $5,000.

So now that the state has a year of experience under its lottery belt, how have all these fun and games paid off?

Total sales for the first year was $134 million with approximately $62 million going to prize winners and $61 million to the state's general fund. Sales' agent commissions amounted to some $6 million and operating expenses totalled $5 million.

So results were better than expectations, if what matters is the number of dollars that go into the tax coffers.

And next week in Northville, the show goes on with Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley, State Senator Carl Pursell and Representative Robert Geake assisting. Maybe Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison will be on hand, too.

Anyway, if you're not doing anything around 9:45 a.m. next Thursday, drop by the Downs and sign up for a door prize.

The sulkies won't be running. But then, how many horse races offer the chance to win a million dollars?

Just a word about the recent municipal elections.

The winners in our area--Northville, Novi, Wixom--have been duly congratulated and in most instances have already taken office.

But the losers are left with the nagging pains of defeat.

In truth they, too, deserve congratulations that they cared enough for their respective communities to run for office.

Recently, Observer Newspaper Publisher Philip Power noted that "the reward for the winners is simply to help try to make their community a better place to live; the solace for the losers is to have participated in the democratic process." And he recalls the axiom, "it isn't who won or lost, it's how you played the game".

So my fellow citizens, winners and losers, congratulations for trying. You need not be ashamed of defeat.

If you ran, you certainly voted. And in Northville and Novi that's more than 60 per cent of your fellow voters did.

Council Lauds Novi 1973 Champions

Novi High School's undefeated and untied 1973 Southeastern Conference champion football team has been lauded by the Novi City Council in a special resolution passed at Monday's council meeting.

Adopted unanimously by the council, the resolution designated the week of November 19 as "Novi Wildcat Week" throughout the city.

Further, the council resolved that the members of the city council and the City of Novi join with all citizens in expressing their pride in the accomplishments of the Novi Wildcats and, on the behalf of all Novi citizens, commended the members of the team for their unique accomplishments.

The resolution, introduced by Councilman Louie Campbell, noted that in compiling a record of 21 consecutive victories, the Novi Wildcats have been undefeated in the past two seasons of football competition.

The resolution also noted that the conduct, sportsmanship, enthusiasm, and spirit of competition of the Novi Wildcats both individually and collectively have been exemplary and brought great honor, recognition, and distinction to their team, their school, and their community in general.

Councilman Edwin Presnell suggested that the City send certificates of merit to each of the players on the team, the coaching staff, and everyone else associated with the squad.

Speaking for Myself

White Meat Or Dark Meat?

JOHN BECKETT

WHITE ...

"No doubt about it," he replied to my question. "Gallup shows white meat leading four families to one."

"That's very interesting, but tell me why are they all lying on their backs?" I asked the turkey farmer as we threaded our way through the clumps of big birds.

"You see the chests on these beauties and you ask me a silly question like that," he chided. "My land, how long has it been since you were down on the farm? These are New Jersey Chesties; they don't have legs."

"No legs?" I asked incredulously. "What in the world happened to them?"

"Public pressure," he said. "Public forced us to breed 'em out. Went and took the West Virginia Mountain Runner and mixed it up with the Mississippi Cacklebird and came up with Chesties."

"Breasts got bigger and bigger and legs smaller and smaller and pretty soon the buggers were so top heavy they kept falling over."

"Amazing, simply amazing. And public pressure did all this?"

"And more besides."

"More? Guess dark meat's really taking it in the neck, eh?"

"Nope. Neck's going, too. Look around you," he observed waving his arms. "We're just a wishbone society."

Jack Hoffman
Northville

DARK ...

While doing research on the subject of turkeys, I came across a comparatively little-known historical document, "The Chronological Study of the Turkey and Its Role in the Evolution of Man," by Dr. Rubin Fowl, Professor of Paleontology and Stereo at Oak Grove University.

In his book, Dr. Fowl notes that, during the 13th century, turkey — and especially dark meat — was considered a delicacy by feudal lords and ladies.

According to Dr. Fowl, alchemists of the day determined that the genetic structure of dark turkey meat contributed greatly to virility, intelligence and sense of humor.

Everything was fine, according to the good doctor, until someone told the serfs.

When they realized that it was dark meat which was helping to keep them in bonds, the serfs organized a devious plot to substitute other types of fowl for their lords' turkeys.

The eventual result was that the lords, growing fat and lazy while gnawing on chickens, pigeons, starlings and crows, were eventually overthrown by the serfs, who had been busily stuffing themselves with the real thing.

Thus ended the Dark Ages.

So there you are. I say, let us learn from the lessons of history. Give the white meat to the serfs (and the Hoffmans). Pass me the dark meat.

Bucket of Holiday Cheer

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Thanksgiving was almost like another Sunday—chicken, mashed potatoes, noodle soup, and some pumpkin pie.

But, oh my, how we enjoyed that Thursday.

And viewed from a distance of 30 years, Thanksgiving 1943 is the most unusual, if not the finest, in the pocket of my memory.

It was the year the Hoffmans' dinner flew away!

It began a week previous when visiting on a farm in Flushing my father was presented with a big fat duck for a day's work.

"For Thanksgiving," he told his excited children as they stuffed themselves inside the 1936 Chevrolet for the 45-minute drive back to their house in southwest Flint.

Something in German passed between our parents, and then Mom protested, "But I don't like ducks. They're greasy."

And while they spoke alternately in German and English, we watched in fascination as the struggling black and white creature on the floor of the backseat tried to free its handcuffed feet. The thought of eating it was as foreign to us as the words that our parents exchanged. All that really mattered was that we were taking an animal home from the farm.

The duck lived in the garage with the car.

For one whole week the Hoffman kids were the most popular on the block. They had visited a farm and brought home a real live farm animal. And for a smile and a friendly, "Can I see your duck?" the wide garage door was cracked open and for a fleeting second one could see a white blur dash beneath the car.

Even neighborhood adults knew about our duck. The Hoffman kids made sure of that, telling everyone it was the biggest duck in all of Michigan.

"Jake, understand you've got a real prize winner? Is it really a 25-pounder?" old man Grantner asked my father. "Only if it stands on one leg," he replied with a sly smile.

"What kind is it?" asked another visitor.

"I think Hank said it was a Muscovy."

The week passed rapidly, and soon it was time. Nobody, especially in the Hoffman household, was wearing a smile that day in 1943 when the chopping block was readied. It was a funeral procession that went to the garage—a couple dozen kids following a grim faced adult.

Dad opened the garage door.

The kids crowded in for a closer look as duck and adult faced each other, neither really appreciating the task at hand. Then it happened. A great flapping of

Saucers Visited Earth Ages Ago, Author Asserts

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Erich von Daniken believes in flying saucers but he suspects the last one may have visited earth many centuries ago, not yesterday.

Nevertheless, the 38-year-old Swiss author carefully avoids words that might debunk recent sightings, and instead he points out that "unidentified flying objects" do exist and that his "open mind" will not rule out the possibility that some UFO's may be space ships from other planets.

There's not a whisper of doubt about him, however, when it comes to ancient space ships.

And this man, whose books were the basis of a repeated television special attracting many millions of viewers this past year, made that point in a heavy accent last week as he addressed an overflow audience in the main gymnasium at Schoolcraft Community College.

He was introduced by David Heinzman of Northville, director of college relations.

Von Daniken's books—Chariots of the Gods?, Gods from Outer Space, and his newest, Gold of the Gods—deal with his controversial theories that earth was visited in ancient times by astronauts from another solar system who deposited the seeds that grew into today's civilization.

Evidence of their presence, he told his audience of more than 2100 people, is scattered about the globe—from Russia to Egypt to Peru to Arizona.

What's more, this man who says he definitely believes in God points to the Bible for words to support his theories.

The basic position of von Daniken was this:

Astronauts from another solar system visited earth many centuries ago.

And primitive man assumed these foreign visitors were gods—for who else had the supernatural ability to fly through space in fire-spitting chariots?

When the foreigners left earth primitive man naturally told the story of the visitors to his children, and his children repeated the story to their children, and thus the story was passed from one generation to another.

And in retelling the story, man embellished it, and he fashioned carvings and other artwork memorializing the visit and depicting the gods that flew down from heaven.

About 3000 B.C., noted the author, the Sumerians discovered the art of making small signets usually worn around their necks. The oldest of these contain mythological symbols—flying gods, birdmen, flying horses, flying objects. From where, he asked himself, did the models...the ideas for these flying objects come?

During the Sumerian Epic of Gilgamesh—older than the Old Testament—a story is told of a human, Enkidu, who is flown over the land by one of the gods, said von Daniken. This account contained in the ancient tablets quotes Enkidu as saying of the trip through space, "The weight of my body seemed to me like the weight of a boulder that pressed upon my chest."

That this ancient account should describe, much the same way Astronauts do today, the G-forces of take off is simply amazing, said von Daniken.

Babylonian texts, he continued, tell the story of another space trip in which the commander asks his passenger to look down at the earth and describe what he sees:

"Look how the land has become, my friend. And the earth looked like a plantation of trees. My friend looks to see what has become of the land. The land becomes a large cage and the ocean as large as a bread basket. And he took me up higher again and said, my friend look down and see how the earth disappears. I looked down and saw how the land had disappeared and my eyes could not take in enough of the wide oceans.

"My friend, I do not want to ride up to heaven! Please stop so I can return to the earth again."

Erich von Daniken signs autographs following his lecture at Schoolcraft

These and many similar ancient descriptive stories—stories that detailed things about the earth and space and space travel that could not be used or understood by people of antiquity—brought von Daniken to one of his other theories.

He suggested ancient astronauts probably encouraged man's engravings in the hope that some future generations would correctly interpret them and learn something from them.

"No doubt they (descriptive stories) must have been addressed to us," he said, "because we are the space age generation. We know how to interpret it...to look at the old truths from a modern angle."

The book of Ezekiel offers some of the best documentation for these early visits, said von Daniken, who quoted at length from the Old Testament.

"And I looked, and, behold, a whirlwind came out of the north, a great cloud, and a fire infolding itself, and a brightness was about it, and out of the midst thereof as the colour of amber, out of the midst of the fire.

"Also out of the midst thereof came the likeness of four living creatures. And this was their appearance; they had the likeness of a man.

"And every one had four faces, and every one had four wings.

"And their feet were straight feet; and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calf's foot; and they sparkled like the colour of burnished brass..."

A NASA scientist, said von Daniken, has ascertained after three years of research that the spacecraft described by the Prophet Ezekiel was sophisticated and quite functional by today's standards.

Quoting the NASA scientist:

"The results obtained show the space vehicle is not only technically possible but it is also conceived in a very clever way with regard to its functions and purpose. We are surprised to find that on a technical (basis) the spacecraft is by no means fantastic..."

"Furthermore, the results show a

OUT OF PAST—Paintings, carvings and massive stonework from centuries ago attest to visits to earth by ancient astronauts, insists Erich von Daniken. 'We Have So Much'

Editor's note: Terry Mitter, 27, a former Brighton resident, left his home in August 1971 to travel around the world and meet a fraternity buddy in Seoul, Korea in February 1972. He liked Korea so well he decided to stay, according to his mother Mrs. D.M. VanSchoiack. He returned home for a visit in December of 1972, bringing two Korean orphans with him to deliver to prospective parents in the United States. Mitter is now a teacher in Korea and he plans to be home again in the summer of 1974. He formerly taught in a Chicago High School. Mrs. VanSchoiack offered his letter as a reminder of the plenty Americans have to be thankful for this Thanksgiving.

November 3, 1973

Dearest Mother and Van,
With Halloween over and Thanksgiving just around the corner, I can hardly believe that almost another truly wonderful year has passed. I know I'm to be in Korea. It's just to be that way. Everything tells me this is where I should be.

Last Monday was a good example, and possibly a turning point in my life. Let me explain. I went to pick up my winter coat from the tailor's shop, as I need it due to the cooler weather now.

After leaving the shop, a small boy came up to me begging for money. This is not unusual as Americans are always considered rich, and many kids ask for money. But for some reason this time I asked why he wanted the money.

He replied; that he was hungry. So without a second thought, I said, "Well, let's go eat." While eating I asked where his mother and father were. He said he had none and that he slept in the street.

I thought this was a sympathy story and that when we finished eating he'd run away. But no, he kept following me. So then and

The Miracle Van at Work—Taking the Elderly to Church.

Church's New Van A Miracle?

They call it the miracle van. Members of the Salem Bible Church are not so proud as to say the van brings miracles to the lives of the people who ride in it, but they do say its acquisition last month seemed a miracle to them.

Pastor Ivan Speight said one of the men of his congregation who helps in the weekly pick up of persons from Whitmore Lake Convalescent Center had told him an additional van would soon be needed to bring people to Sunday services and that he was praying for it.

"I didn't get real excited about it," Pastor Speight said, "until a Jewish friend of mine called and said he had tagged a van last year and he could relinquish his claim on the van to us.

"So here we were with the chance for a '72 van with a '73 test engine in it, with all the equipment we needed and only 578 miles on it—plus we could get it for a reasonable price," Mr. Speight said. The only hitch was the church had to take the van immediately and in the Salem church no purchase of over $200 can be made without approval at a meeting of the entire congregation.

"I just mentioned it in church that Sunday and by evening people of the congregation had come in and given me $2200 of the $2600 we

Lawmaker Urges Execution of Murderers

LANSING—Electric chair, gas chamber, firing squad, hanging. . .

Representative Kirby Holmes, a Republican from Utica, says he hasn't figured out the method yet. But he wants execution for anyone convicted of "murder one" in Michigan.

Holmes, a conservative freshman legislator, started a petition drive aimed at putting the capital punishment question on the November 1974 general election ballot. That will take about 300,000 signatures, he says.

Holmes, who calls first-degree murder the "thinking man's murder," says it's invalid to point to statistics showing the death penalty is not a deterrent to murder. Those who are actually deterred by capital punishment threat just are not known, he contends.

ON THE OTHER SIDE, which will get a workout when and if Mr. Holmes and backers come up with the required signatures, is a group called the Michigan Committee Against Capital Punishment.

Chairing the group are two Lansing men who were instrumental in having capital punishment banned under Michigan's 1963 state constitution, attorneys Tom Down and Eugene Wanger. Wanger actually wrote the provision in the Michigan document.

Michigan is the first jurisdiction in the English-speaking world to ban the death penalty.

The last man to be executed by the state was Stephen Simmons, who stopped off at the Black Horse Tavern in the Detroit area one night, then went home and killed his wife.

Another man executed in—but not by—the state, was Anthony Chebatoris, put to death on the gallows at Milan for killing a truck driver. The execution was undertaken by federal officials.

The first man to sign a Holmes petition was conservative Michigan Congressman Robert Huber, a former state senator from Troy. It is too early to evaluate how successful this campaign will be.

WHO'D BE INTERESTED in a book about Gerald Ford?

Not many folks, until President Nixon tapped him for the vice president's seat.

So Michael Doyle of Michigan State University, an assistant director of alumni relations, figures himself lucky, indeed.

Doyle had the manuscript ready to go, complete with an introduction by the Grand Rapids Congressman, when the Nixon announcement was made. The book had been ready for some time—without any takers.

Called "Gerald Ford, Selected Speeches," the book is a compilation of Ford's views on political, foreign and domestic issues. It will be distributed in paperback soon—if it's not already available at the corner bookstore.

GIVE THE UNITED WAY?

The Sportsman's Alliance of Michigan—SAM for short—said: don't do it. The group declared a moratorium on United Fund giving because of a national YWCA resolution supporting restrictive federal gun legislation.

Many reacted negatively—to SAM.

Detroit News outdoors editor James A.O. Crowe, who says he'll put his track record up against anyone's in opposition to restrictive gun controls and confiscation of guns, contends the SAM resolution will do more harm than good to the group's cause.

And church officials—at least in Central Michigan—formally advised they support the right of every private organization to take a public stand "on any social issue," and oppose all attempts to withhold support from any United Way agency due to "differences over the public stand of one member agency."

The "Y" nationally does not receive any UF contributions—while many other worthwhile organizations, Big Brothers and Big Sisters, for example, do.

It could be that SAM's pettiness can shoot down much more than the YWCA. And it might even injure itself, one of the inherent dangers when the uninitiated handle firearms. When it comes to situations in society, SAM should learn not to shoot with a shotgun so as to endanger everyone in the area, but with a rifle so there is a better chance of hitting the mark.

Babson Report

Investors Puzzled by Volatile Market

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., The volatile stock market of the past two years has caused investors to alternate between hope and despair. Many stock groups have fallen from favor during this span of time while others have become popular.

For example, last spring we featured in this column a discussion of the natural gas stocks. Until recently the issues in this group were not regarded as particularly attractive investment vehicles, but during the acute fear over the fuel crisis they have held up quite well.

Currently, there are other stock groups which may be as worthy of serious consideration. One of these is the multiple-line insurance companies. A considerable part of the attraction in this field lies in the likely reduction in accident losses that may well result from short gasoline supplies and soaring prices bringing (along with controls) slower driving speeds and lessened use of automobiles.

THE SECURITIES of multi-line insurance companies are not noted for their glamor, but neither are they, in most instances, merely "widow and orphan" investments. Herein lies the usefulness of this sector of the market. For investors chiefly in search of growth, the pure life insurance stocks paying very little by way of dividends may be desired. Investors aiming primarily for a reasonably generous yield might best consider moving into property-casualty issues.

Many investors, however, will prefer the middle-of-the-road course available through multi-line insurance companies' stocks and convertible securities. These offer not only a fair yield but also a good opportunity for medium- as well as longer-term capital appreciation.

IN ORDER to serve their policyholders better, the multi-line insurance companies have formed or acquired operations providing a wide scope of insurance protection. They can not only offer protection in the life, health, and accidental injuries sectors but also furnish property-casualty liability coverage. In recent years many multi-line insurance firms have formed corporate holding company structures with subsidiaries to serve the several special divisions of the insurance field, giving them a foot in both the life insurance and property-casualty doors. This setup is capable of providing steady long-term growth of life insurance while at the same time moderating the disadvantage of investment fund attrition (through borrowings on life insurance policies) when borrowing costs are extremely high, as they are at present.

financing, equipment leasing, and electronic data processing—via subsidiaries they have formed or acquired.

Many of the major firms have also built and now manage mutual funds and/or real estate investment trusts; and the life subsidiaries are offering, or preparing to issue, variable annuities as well as life policies.

At this time, the Research Department of Babson's Reports advises retention of holdings of Aetna Life & Casualty, American General Insurance, and Connecticut General Insurance for further growth and appreciation. For purchase, we recommend either the common or the $2 Convertible Preferred shares of Travelers Corporation.

Horse's Mouth

Send your questions, comments or horse show news to "Horse's Mouth," care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi. 48178. This column is open to news of all breeds of horses and ponies.

DECEMBER 8—Practical Longeing Clinic given by Mrs. Karin Wolski at Tiertgarten Farms Training Stables, 26975 Martindale Road, South Lyon. Time: 2-4 p.m.; Fees: $3 for each participant and $1.50 for observers.

This session will cover the young and the green horse. Chuck Grant, the well known horse trainer of Brighton, will have his first book released sometime after the first of the year. "American Dressage", written by Grant, is illustrated by Rich Rudish.

Grant's purpose in writing the book was to help the average horse-owner to improve his concept of training. It will deal with the problems of training a horse from the very beginning and covers two vital areas: the right mental or psychological attitude and the complete training of the horse. To do this in the lifetime of a horse is no small feat.

Forty years of training horses and training riders to train their horses makes Grant a very qualified person on his subject.

FACTS FROM HOLLYWOOD "Fury", equine star of several pictures, was raised on a farm in Missouri, bought by his trainer Ralph McCutcheon when he was 18 months old and registered as "Highland Dale" (an American Saddlebred). His first role, "Black Beauty", was followed by "Gypsy Colt", "Wild is the Wind", "Outlaw Stallions" and "Giant". Later, when he was featured on TV he became known as "Fury". Some doubles were used in filming and one of these was a Morgan.

Roy Rogers purchased "Trigger" in 1938 from the Hudkins Brothers for the sum of $2,500. "Trigger" was sired by a thoroughbred stallion out of a Quarter Horse mare. When he died in June, 1965, he was over 30 years old and had worked in over 100 pictures.

This weekend, visit a neighborhood that will never grow old.

Thompson-Brown and Nosan Building Corporation have joined forces to create what we believe is the perfect condominium community. And we've taken steps to keep it perfect for a long, long time.

From the moment you enter a Lexington Condo Home, you'll see things that make it different from any condominiums you've ever seen before.

You'll see niceties like a large entrance foyer, spacious walk-in closets and attached garage with its own private entrance to the home.

You'll see a family-sized living room with fireplace, a breakfast nook, air conditioning, insulated windows and doorwall and metal-insulated front doors.

Outside, you'll see your own private patio with an optional balcony overhead. And downstairs, you'll see a spacious basement just waiting to become a family room or second living room.

What you won't see at Lexington Condo Homes is peeling paint, uncut lawns or trash in the street. Not this year, not next year... not any year. Because we take care of all the outside maintenance. (Maintenance covered by monthly fee.) And when we say we, we mean we, the Thompson-Brown Property Management Division...not some outfit we just hire for the season.

Thompson-Brown has built its reputation by developing the kind of communities you'll be as proud to live in twenty years from now as you are the day you move in. And we take very good care of that reputation.

Come out and see us at Lexington Condo Homes this weekend. We're at Eight Mile and Taft Roads, in the City of Northville. Open daily and Sunday 1-8, Saturdays 12-5. (Closed Thursday.) Call 522-4920 or 349-6350. Two-bedroom prices start at $41,400.

THE HOME FRONT

By OREN F. NELSON

Some builders are using polyurethane as a building material and insulator. House stays cool in summer, warm in winter, like the contents of lunch boxes made of the same material.

Consumer preferences are causing a shift to electric ranges, which now have 55 percent of the market. The self-cleaning oven is the major factor, say marketers.

One manufacturer is experimenting with a system that recycles dirty water for re-use in the home.

New aluminum siding costs roughly the same as two paint jobs. If the family stays put for ten years, they break even on maintenance costs.

Rethinking your kitchen? Make the most of empty walls. Remember that cabinets not only provide storage areas, the counters below create work space.

If you rethink yourself into a new HOUSE, be sure to see our excellent listings at (name, address, phone).

didn't even take an offering," he said.

Now this van is also in use along with the original van which is equipped to transport five persons in wheelchairs. The new one will carry up to a dozen persons from the convalescent center to church each Sunday.

"This has been a fantastic program," Pastor Speight said. "Some of those folks had been at the home a long time and it's changed their life pattern to be able to mix socially again, as well as to feel a part of the church community."

"The people tell me they appreciate the chapel at the center, but they say there's nothing like going to church," he said.

On a given Sunday several volunteers from the congregation may be seen helping people into the church's two vans and maybe one, or perhaps each, is a miracle van.

A NEW BUSINESS—Ye Olde Bath Shoppe—has opened in the McAllister's House of Decorating building at 324 East Main Street in Northville.

Owned and operated by Karen Wisniewski, a former high school librarian at Cherry Hills, the Bath Shoppe features "everything for the bathroom", including wicker and wood accessories, shower curtains, wallpaper, etc.

Mrs. Wisniewski is a Northville resident, living at 47073 Curtis Road.

FEATURING the "Glitter Look," the Alcove has opened for business on the main floor of the Northville Square shopping center on Northville's Main Street.

And the store's manager, Patti Callaghan of Ypsilanti, says the Glitter Look is just one of the many fashionable designs in this women's junior sports wear boutique.

The shop also carries fashionable denims, high fashion sports wear, smart hats, and all kinds of jewelry and accessories.

The Alcove is open daily to 9 p.m., and Sundays 12 to 5 p.m. until Christmas.

ALDER THE REALTOR, a Howell real estate investment and management firm with offices in Howell and Ann Arbor, has announced that Charles E. Trim is joining their staff after 17 years in the savings and loan business.

Trim started his career in Detroit with American Savings and Loan in 1956 as a teller and joined the staff of First Federal Savings and Loan of Livingston County, headquartered in Howell, in 1965 with promotion to Manager of its savings department. After 2 years as manager of the savings department, Trim was appointed Assistant Treasurer and Manager of the Brighton Office. In 1968 a promotion to Chief Mortgage Officer, and later to Vice President, brought Trim back to Howell where he remained until he joined the staff at Alder.

Trim has made his home in Fowlerville for the past 8 years and is a member of the Howell Elks Club, Fenton Eagles and Fowlerville VFW Post.

Saucers Visit Earth?

spacecraft that makes use of a mother spaceship that moves in orbit around the earth."

Von Daniken showed his audience a drawing, reconstructed by scientists and engineers of what Ezekiel "must have seen", pointing out that the prophet was compelled to use paraphrases in his writing because what he saw in 592 B.C. was totally unknown to him.

"Ezekiel is not crazy," von Daniken said. "He's not having visions, either. Being an observer, he is describing by the words of his time what he is seeing and hearing."

Von Daniken also quoted the prophet concerning his trip into space, "And the hand of the Lord pressed heavily upon my chest."

He reminded the audience of what Enkidu had said. "Is it not a coincidence that both should make the same statement? And similar statements are to be found in (other) texts."

The speaker asked his audience to imagine itself 500 years in the past. "You have never heard the word electricity. You have never seen an antenna, never a television. You've never heard a radio, you've never seen a car...."

"And now, ladies and gentlemen, you see this thing (a slide of a modern day spacecraft is shown)... Try to describe this object in the words of the Middle Age..."

"The Prophet Ezekiel found himself in a similar critical state of description, but I have the feeling he did a very good job."

South America, according to von Daniken, offers some of the most spectacular evidence about ancient astronauts.

Besides stone carvings and drawings of men wearing helmets—the kind of helmets, remarkably similar to today's astronauts—that appear in old artwork in many other sections of the world—he drew attention to other artifacts.

'We Have So Much'

there I decided I could no longer be indifferent. I had to act.

I took him into one of the shops and had some Korean men quiz him to see if his story was true, thinking he'd be honest with them. Well, it was the same. While talking with these men, a woman came in and said that she had given him some money two days before, and she saw him give the money to a man. This man, I later found out, only let him keep 75 cents a day.

The men asked if he wanted to go home with me. He said yes, so home we came. I gave him a bath and put him to sleep. The next day I took him to the Boy's Home where I've visited before.

"These are statues of gods in Mexico," he said, flipping a picture onto the screen. "Have a look at their faces and peculiar hats...and the things on their chests. Have you ever seen anything like it? Does it not seem familiar to you?"

Records suggest, asserted von Daniken, that the objects held by the statues are the firearms or "the lightning of gods."

Other South American discoveries:

• A stone relief in Yucatan shows a human seated in what von Daniken suggested is a spacecraft. Bent forward, the astronaut is looking at the control panel, the heel of his left foot on a pedal.

• The Plain of Nazca in Peru contains what archeologists call roads, but according to von Daniken, the roads lead nowhere and can only be viewed in their geometric entirety from high in the air.

• Gigantic blocks of stone—that modern day machinery cannot move—have been cut from the mountain side and moved, intact, considerable distances.

Archeologists also have discovered in ancient ruins such things as batteries still capable of producing electricity, airplane models, a skeleton dating back to the stone age that definitely contains a bullet hole through the skull, and machined tools.

Despite this evidence, von Daniken is critical of archeologists who, for one reason or another, are not actively exploring ruins in South America for other signs of ancient astronauts.

He noted, for example, that in today's technological age very tiny instruments, such as transistors, are being used. Suppose, he told his audience, astronauts years ago visited earth and left behind some of their instruments in hopes that future generations would find them.

"Wouldn't it be a tragedy if, in looking only for large objects of early human civilization, we overlooked the small sophisticated machinery of ancient astronauts?"

They took him in with open arms. So now he has three meals a day, warm clothes, and goes to school in the second grade. He was only seven.

I wonder where he would be now if I hadn't been in Korea. Perhaps in the street? Anyway I can no longer sit on the sidelines. I know this. How or what I'll do, I don't know yet. I'll visit the Boy's Home on Saturday and help in anyway I can. All I can think of is what if this were Paul or David or Gary or John (his nephews). God, how lucky some are. He was only seven.

So this is what I'm doing in Korea these days.

Your Son, Terry

Mink Goes To Lansing

Daniel Mink, a 22-year veteran with Michigan Bell, has been appointed to the post of suburban manager for the Lansing area, the company announced today.

Mink succeeds Norman J. Burnworth who has been named commercial manager-billing for the area.

In his new position, Mink will be responsible for the company's commercial operations for 10 communities, including Livingston County.

These communities are: Brighton, Dansville, Dimondale, Fowlerville, Hartland, Howell, Mason, Mulliken, Portland and Pottsville.

After joining Michigan Bell in 1951 in Detroit, Mink's telephone career primarily has been with the marketing department as a communications representative in Detroit, Royal Oak, Ann Arbor, and, for the past four years, in Grand Rapids.

Northville

Northville, South Lyon Vie in Opener

The lead in a nine-game series will be at stake when Northville and South Lyon square off in the opening game of the 1973-74 basketball season next Tuesday.

The game will be played in the Northville High School gym with tip-off slated for approximately 8 p.m. following the junior varsity game at 6:30 p.m.

The Mustangs and Lions have been opening their cage seasons against each other every year since 1965, and, after eight of the opening-game encounters, the series stands deadlocked with each team having won four games.

The Lions, however, have clearly held the upper hand over the past five years, and Walt Koepke and the members of his Northville basketball team would very much like to put an end to that domination.

The Mustangs galloped off to a quick 3-0 lead in the series. But the Lions have won four of the five games since 1968 to knot the series at four wins apiece.

The lone Northville victory since 1968 came in 1969 when a Bob Kucher-coached team posted a 70-55 triumph.

South Lyon will be trying to make it four in a row over the Mustangs when the two teams meet Tuesday. In 1970 they gained a 47-44 victory and then won 74-65 in 1971 and 55-50 last year.

The 1973 game could go either way. For the first time since he took over the Northville basketball program three years ago, Koepke will send an experienced, veteran unit out onto the floor in the season's opener.

With forward Todd Eis and guards Joe Bishop and Ed

Kritch returning to starting roles, Koepke has the nucleus of the team which won the Class B District championship at South Lyon last March.

The Mustangs are more than just a three-man team. Either Joe Boland, Doug Crisan, or Bill McDonald will fill the forward position opposite team captain Todd Eis, and Tom Eis, brother of the Mustang captain, will get the starting nod at center.

The Eis brothers stand 6-4 and 6-3 with Tom, a junior, being the taller of the two. Boland, Crisan, and McDonald are all in the 6-1, 6-2 range.

South Lyon will pit its hopes on the abilities of a pair of outstanding seniors - guard Tony Kern and center-forward Ed Segars.

Both won All-Southeastern Conference first team recognition last year and both were instrumental in downing the Mustangs in last year's opener.

Kern tossed in 18 points last year, while Segars (6-3) scored 17 more and controlled the backboards against the taller Northville squad.

After Kern and Segars, however, the basketball talent at South Lyon falls off rapidly. A third likely starter is senior guard Dave Hartman, a 5-11 senior letterman. The other two forward slots will be filled by either Mike Phillips (6-0), Greg Stevens (6-2), or Ed Hock (6-0).

Segars at 6-3 is the tallest player on the squad, which has only three other players (Phillips, Stevens, and Hock) who stand over 6-0.

But in spite of their lack of height and lack of depth, the Lions still have a good shot at defeating the Mustangs. Kern and Segars just may be enough.

Cage Prospects Bright

Depth, Experience Bolster Mustangs

Walt Koepke is worried. "I can remember saying last year at this time that I was somewhat optimistic about the upcoming season," recalled the coach of the Northville High School basketball team.

"And then we went out and lost 15 of our first 17 games. 'Maybe I should have learned my lesson last year,' he continued, 'but in all honesty I have to say that I am approaching this season with some optimism.'"

Koepke isn't alone in his optimism. In fact, most close observers of Mustang basketball over the past few years feel that the 1973-74 season could be the best Northville has had in some time.

Certainly it should be the best season Northville has had since Koepke took over the reins of the Mustang basketball program three years ago.

Two years ago Koepke's Mustangs posted a 5-13 record, while last year they were 8-16.

Nevertheless, most Northville fans remember the 1972-73 season as being a somewhat more successful one. And with good reason.

After dropping 15 of their first 17 decisions, the Mustangs finally came alive at the end of the season and won six straight games - including their first district championship since 1966 - before losing to Southgate Aquinas in the regional tourney.

One of the main reasons for optimism about the upcoming season is that the heart of that 1972-73 team returns for another year of action.

"This is the first time in three years that I will have returning starters starting in the first game," noted the Northville coach.

"And not only do I have returning starters, I also have returning starters who were good enough last year to gain some Western Six Conference recognition."

The three - forward Todd Eis and guards Joe Bishop and Ed Kritch - will form the nucleus of the 1973-74 Northville team, but their presence is not the only reason Koepke is optimistic about the upcoming season.

For one thing, the Mustangs will have more depth than they have had in the past and, for another, the members of the 1973-74 squad have demonstrated a willingness to work hard.

"I've been a varsity basketball coach for 11 years and this year we've had some of the best practice sessions

I've ever had," said Koepke. "You always have a few guys who are willing to work hard, but the great majority of the people on our 13-man team this year are the kind of individuals who are willing to go all out and work hard all the time."

"Some of our early practice sessions have been downright inspirational."

Nowhere is the Northville team any deeper than it is at the guard position. Not only do Bishop and Kritch return to the starting roles they held last year, Koepke has at least three other guards who are capable of stepping into starting roles.

One of them is Jim Yanoschik, a 5-8 senior, who saw a great deal of action last year, particularly as a defensive specialist.

Also on hand are Scott Leu and Mike Campbell, a pair of 5-11 juniors. Leu, the leading scorer on the junior varsity last year, is probably the finest ballhandler on the team. Campbell is a transfer student from St. Agatha, where he averaged 20 and 15 points as a starter on the varsity in his freshman and sophomore years respectively.

"He's a good shooter with good size and good speed," said Koepke. "Also, I'm amazed at how fast he has been able to pick up our offensive and defensive systems."

The other guard Koepke will carry on the varsity is 5-11 junior Norm Boerger, who showed "outstanding improvement" on last year's junior varsity team.

At this point, however, Koepke will probably stick with Bishop and Kritch. Both received honorable mention on the Western Six All-Conference team last year and both are familiar with the type of hard-driving style of play which characterizes Koepke's coaching philosophy.

Northville will also be deep at the forward positions.

One of the starting jobs has been sewed up by Todd Eis, the 6-3 captain of the 1973-74 squad, who was named to a first team berth on the All-Conference team last year after leading the Mustangs in both scoring and rebounding.

The other starting forward will be either Doug Crisan (6-2, 190) or Bill McDonald (6-1, 175) or John Boland (6-1, 195).

"It looked like it would be a dog fight between Crisan and McDonald," Koepke stated. "But both are slowed with injuries from football and I

NORTHVILLE NUCLEUS—Depth is one problem that Northville basketball coach Walt Koepke does not have to worry about as his cagers approach the start of the 1973-74 season next Tuesday. Pictured here are eight of the players who will be seeing plenty of court time for the Mustangs this year. Front

New Wildcat Cage Coach Must Overcome Problems

Before the 1973-74 season is over, Ron Flutur, the new head basketball coach at Novi High School, could well find himself telling the old Mark Twain tale about the man who was tarred and feathered and run out of town on a rail.

You know the one. It's the story in which the man says that "if it weren't for the honor of the thing, I would just as soon walk."

The present, you see, is not the best time to be coach of the Novi basketball team.

"When I applied for the job I knew that it wouldn't be easy to turn the program around in one or two or maybe even three years," said Flutur, the 23-year old Central Michigan grad who coached Novi's freshman squad last year.

"I applied for the job because I think we can have a pretty good basketball program here in time," he continued. "But I'm aware that what is presently required is some sort of rebuilding program."

Novi has never been particularly successful in basketball. As a matter of fact, last year's 5-9 record against Southeastern Conference competition was the best the Wildcats have ever posted.

And, quite frankly, this year's team will be hard-pressed to equal that mark.

One of the first problems that Flutur must overcome is the lack of experienced ball players. Graduation hit Novi hard as four of the five starters on last year's squad received their diplomas in June.

Lone returning starter from the 1972-73 team is Eric Hansor, a 5-9, 160-pound senior who — believe it or not — played center for the Wildcats last year.

With one possible exception, the rest of Flutur's starting five will come from last year's junior varsity team.

Experience, however, is just one of the problems the Wildcats will have to overcome. Lack of height and a rather shallow bench are also problems that Flutur will have to contend with if Novi is to have a winning season.

One of the few positions at which the new Wildcat mentor will have some leeway with personnel is at guard. Presently, Hansor, senior Sean O'Brien, and junior Gary Ford are all vying for the starting jobs.

"We have someone to play center for us this year so I decided to move Hansor into the backcourt," explained Flutur. "He's never played guard before, but he's a scrapper and I think he'll do a good job for us."

O'Brien, another 5-10 senior guard, saw enough action for the varsity last year to win his letter, while Ford, yet another 5-10 backcourt man, was the top guard on last year's junior varsity team.

Pat McAllen, the other guard on last year's jayvee team, will also see a great deal of action.

Replacing Hansor at the center slot will be Ron Buck, a rugged 6-0, 210-pounder who started for the junior varsity last year.

"It's hard to play basketball without a good big man and I suspect that we're going to run up against some teams that will just have too much height for us to handle," said Flutur.

"But I think Buck will hold his own against most of the centers he has to play against. There's more to rebounding than just height and Buck is strong and has good bulk under the boards."

"He's going to have to learn to move in the post area, but I think he's going to do a good job for us."

Most of the Novi height — what there is of it — is at the forward positions where a pair of juniors — 6-2 Bill Barr and 6-1 Mike Collins — seem destined for starting roles.

Like Ford and Buck, Barr and Collins were starters on the 1972-73 junior varsity squad. Other possibilities at the forward slots are Rick Marchetti, who lettered for the varsity last year, and Butch Pyant.

"With the personnel we have available," stated Flutur, "our offense is going to have to be highly disciplined. If you have trouble putting the ball through the hoop, you have to be sure to stop the other guys from putting the ball through the hoop."

"Basically, our game plan will be to get our men open for high percentage shots and then play tenacious defense.

"I'm enthusiastic about this year's team, but I'm realistic about the situation. We don't have much height and we don't have much experience.

And we also have a problem with depth.

"The one thing that I think we do have is a number of very scrappy ball players. It's going to take some real dedication and a lot of hard work for us to be a winner.

three years ago.

Mott claimed the first conference basketball championship and Churchill has captured the conference cage crown in each of the past two years.

And according to every coach in the league, one of those two schools will win the title again this year.

"You've got to go with one of the two teams that have dominated varsity and junior varsity basketball every year," commented Steve DeMar, the youthful, second-year coach at Walled Lake Western.

The only other team given even an outside chance of competing with Churchill and Mott is Walk Koepe's Northville Mustangs.

"They've got a real fine forward in Todd Eis," said DeMar. "And they've got a good backcourt tandem in the backcourt with Joe Bishop and Ed Kritch coming back," added Farmington Harrison coach Bob Sutter.

As for the rest of the league, the coaches are in agreement that DeMar's Western squad will be fourth with Harrison and Plymouth Canton battling it out for the fifth and sixth positions.

The Churchill-Mott encounters should be a study in contrasts.

Pat Montagano's Chargers will be big and physical, while Ray Robinson's Mott team is scrappy, aggressive, and fast.

"They just keep coming at you," said DeMar.

Churchill, which has claimed the conference championship in each of the past two years, lost four of five starters through graduation. Biggest of the losses were All-Conference guard Phil Damaska and All-Conference forward Mark Reed.

Nevertheless, the Chargers will be tough once again. Lone returning starter is Don Braun, a husky 6-7 center, who will be joined on the front line by Don Forrest, a rugged 6-5 senior who won All-Conference honors this fall as a defensive tackle.

Ken Landini (6-2) will probably be the other forward, while Montagano has yet to decide between three competent guard candidates - Rich VanWagoner, Chuck Wayne, and Brian Kelly. "We'll be bigger this year," said Montagano, "but we're also somewhat slower than we were last year."

Speed is no problem at Waterford Mott where Ray Robinson has a number of talented returning lettermen.

Top Corsair is Mike Grace (5-10), who was a unanimous selection as All-Conference quarterback and is probably the best all-around athlete in the Western Six this year.

But Grace is not the only outstanding returning letterman at Mott. Also returning are 6-6 junior center Mark Gisse and Bob Swindell and Dave Bauer, a pair of 6-3 senior forwards. Also on hand is Blaise Saffron, another 6-3 senior forward, who Robinson says is the most improved player on the team.

Robinson readily admits that his team is going to run. "We're not much for patterned basketball," he stated. "In fact, if we ever have to run a pattern I'm not sure we'll be able to do it."

With seven returning lettermen, Walled Lake Western is hoping for a first division berth. Top Warrior cager is John Spranger, a 6-5 center who was a second team All-Conference pick last year.

Jeff Parrish, a 6-2 senior forward; Kevin Tobel, another 6-0 senior; John Gabriel, a 6-3 junior forward; and Kevin Nissen, a 5-10 junior will also see plenty of court time for DeMar's squad, while Tom Lang, a 5-8 guard up from the junior varsity will be the play maker and floor leader.

Graduation was even rougher on Bob Sutter's Harrison team than it was on Churchill. Biggest loss was Jeff Sieloff, the Hawks' 6-9 All-Conference center, but Sutter will also miss guard Dan Hickey and forwards Mike McGrath and Nick Nickolay.

Bob French will direct the 1973 Harrison team from the backcourt and Bob Mason, a 6-4 center, will try to fill the void left by Sieloff.

Casey Cavelle has the unenviable job of guiding a Plymouth team comprised exclusively of underclassmen through their first Western Six season.

"We don't have any one tall player, but we will have good overall team height," reported Cavelle. "We will be able to put up a front line of 6-2, 6-2, and 6-3 and a backcourt with two more six footers."

Rick Thom (6-3), Don Lloyd (6-2) and Dave Edwards (6-2) are strong candidates to start for Cavelle at the forward positions, while the backcourt seems likely to be comprised of Tom Close and Brian Stemburger.

Bolster Mustangs

have been extremely pleased with the play of Boland. He's another one who goes hard all the time."

McDonald is a senior, while Crisan and Boland are juniors. All are rugged rebounders.

Rick Norton (6-2, 185), who started at the forward slots with Boland on the junior varsity last year, and Robbie Foust (6-0, 150) are other forwards on the varsity roster.

Filling the center position will be Tom Eis, a 6-4, 175-pound junior who is the younger brother of the Mustang captain.

"Like his brother he's not afraid to work hard," commented Koepe. "He's developed some moves with his back to the basket so I'm hopeful that we will be able to get some scoring from the center position."

Tom, along with Scott Leu, were the sparkplugs of the junior varsity team which posted a 13-7 record last year, winning 11 of their final 13 games. The 6-4 junior pivotman also saw enough varsity experience while filling in for the injured Mike Brown to win a varsity letter.

"Our biggest weakness last year was our defense," said Koepe. "We just gave up too many points. I think we have that problem solved this year. We have boys with the speed and the desire to play aggressive defense."

"I also think you're going to see us scoring off our fast break a little more often than we did last year," he continued.

"I'm not predicting a conference championship," Mott and Churchill in particular will be rather difficult to contend with.

"But I do think there's enough ability on this team to stay in every game. There isn't a team on our schedule who we're not capable of beating."

Loss Drops Schoolcraft From Soccer Tournery

Schoolcraft College's hopes for a national soccer title came to an end last week as the Ocelots were defeated 3-0 by Cuyahoga West (Ohio) in the opening round of Inter-regional play in Chicago.

The Ocelots had played to a 3-3 tie against the Ohio school earlier in the season, but were set back last Friday on the strength of three second half goals.

"We made some changes in our line-up after that scoreless first half to try to get a little more offense," explained Cec Woodruff, coach of the Schoolcraft soccer team.

"But in the process we weakened ourselves a little on defense and they were able to score three goals to beat us."

Cuyahoga West was subsequently routed 6-2 by Bethany Lutheran College of Minnesota for the Inter-regional championship.

Bethany Lutheran will join seven other two-year schools in Miami this weekend for the national junior college championships.

The loss to Cuyahoga West brought Schoolcraft's 1973 season to a close. The Ocelots finished with an 8-2-1 record and won the Michigan Community College Athletic Association (MCCAA) championship by posting a perfect 5-0 record against other Michigan two-year schools.

Three Ocelots were named to the All-Conference team. Arthur Wyszynski, a fullback, was a unanimous selection at one of the defensive positions, while George Kala was also tapped for one of the fullback slots. Forward Kamran Asdigha was also selected for All-MCCAA honors.

Meet's 'A Success'

As the third week of Jackson's Action at Northville opened Monday at Northville Downs, Jackson President Leon A. Slavin was calling the 47-night meeting "highly successful so far."

He said the plush clubhouse and the heated grandstands are keys to the initial success.

"That is the reason for the sulky sport becoming the nation's fastest growing spectator past-time," Slavin said. "The time of the year or the temperatures doesn't matter any more."

"It is the thrill of the chase," he continued, "that gives harness racing a particular lure of its own, along with the excitement of making selections for win, place and show. And then there is the challenging Daily Double on the first two races plus Perfectas on races six and 10 along with Trifectas on the fourth and ninth."

Biggest combination payoff through last week was a whopping $3,770 to lucky holders of $2 Trifecta tickets, Slavin said.

Tote board favorites have been consistent in showing up in the winner's circle but, throughout Jackson's Action at Northville so far, there has also been a liberal sprinkling of longshot payoffs.

Post time remains at 8 p.m., including Thursday night, which will provide an exciting Thanksgiving Day race program.

Sideline Seat Gives Rare Vantage Point

He's Expert on Mustangs

By PHILIP JEROME

Phil Fisher has probably forgotten more about Northville football than most other people ever knew in the first place.

That's only to be expected, however, for Fisher has had the best seat in the house every year for the past 21 years.

Ever since 1952, Fisher, now 61, has been down on the playing field at all Mustang home games manning the sideline markers.

"That's not entirely true," corrects Fisher. "I did miss one year entirely and there have been one or two scattered times over the years when I might have missed a game. But for the most part, I've seen most of the games that Northville has played since I moved here in 1952."

From his vantage point on the sidelines Fisher has seen coaches and players come and go and he speaks with first-hand knowledge of the days when Northville partisans claimed to have the top football team in the state - and no one argued with them.

His conversation is filled with names and remembrances which only a long-time Northville resident can appreciate.

"John Taxis and I started manning the markers back in 1952," he says, and only the oldtimers know that John Taxis was the minister of the First Presbyterian Church back in those days.

Fisher was drafted to handle the down markers in the days when his own three sons - John and Hank and Art - were playing a rugged brand of football for the Mustang teams, and he's never given it up.

"I just can't find a better place to watch the game," he explains.

"Al Jones was the coach when we first moved to Northville," recalls Fisher. "That was back in the days when we were in the old Wayne-Oakland League and played schools from Holly, Clarkston, and Keego Harbor, why we even used to play Centerline."

After Jones came Dick Kay, then Ron Schipper, then Ron Horwath, David Longridge, Al Klukluch, and now Chuck Shonta.

Asked to select the best coach Northville has ever had, Fisher says it's a toss-up between Jones and Schipper. "They both knew how to handle boys and they were both able to get their players to actually give more than they might otherwise have been capable of giving," says Fisher.

"Schipper was a good one. When he came in, he brought good assistants with him. He robbed Dutch VanIngen from Clarkston and they made quite a team."

"It was when those two were the coaches that Northville went 32 straight games without a loss."

"Schipper used to make it a point to see that every boy who went out for football got to play in every game," he continued. "If a boy came out and worked hard in practice he knew that he was going to get a chance to play. And Jones was the same way."

"I think Shonta could be a good one, too, but he hasn't had the victories yet. If the players do what Shonta tells them, I think he could be the best coach that Northville's had."

As for players, there are almost too many to remember. Fisher's memory is jaundiced in favor of the boys he watched grow up in the Presbyterian Church of which he has been a stalwart.

"There was Steve Juday, of course, but Steve Evans and Doug Swiss were also good ones," he recalls. "And then there was a boy named Dave Jerome who used to put everything he had into football."

"Of course you can't forget Bob Wangenschutz and Bill Juday and then there were running backs like Starnes and Biery and Spike Walker. There've been so many it's really hard to remember," he says.

"Northville has had a lot of All-Staters, you know, and some of the Northville boys have even won All-American honors."

Fisher, however, is thinking about retiring from the local

Squirts Pace Hockey Clubs

Northville Hockey Association (NHA) teams continued to sail along last week, winning five of nine games and tying two others.

Leading the way was Northville's "A" team in the PeeWee division (11-12 year olds) which won two games against other Western Suburban Hockey League clubs and then won a non-league contest to boost their record for the week to 3-0.

Tod Mack tallied with five minutes left in the first period to give the Northville PeeWees a 2-1 lead over Wayne and then added an insurance goal in the third period to spark the Pacers to a 3-1 win. Jerry Sherwood netted the first Northville goal in that game.

It was Sherwood who paced

Northville in a 5-1 triumph over Taylor in another league clash. Sherwood tallied twice and Roger Pattison, Dan DiComo, and Mike Zdanowski each scored single goals to account for the Northville scoring.

The Northville PeeWees were also successful in a non-league contest as they bested Redford 5-2. Pattison scored twice in that game, while single goals were added by DiComo, Zdanowski, and Paul Shutt.

Northville's "A" team in the Squirrel division (9-10 year olds) split a pair of games last week.

Jack McIntosh netted the three goal hat trick and Mark Weichel fired the puck into the cords twice to spark the Northville Squirts to a 6-2 triumph over Taylor. The game was knotted 2-2 at the end of two periods, but McIntosh and Weichel each tallied twice in the final period to clinch the win.

Brett Thompson also tallied for Northville in that game. The Squirts suffered a 4-2 defeat in their other game, however.

Dean Rose and Scott Schaal connected for third period goals after the Twin City T-Birds had taken a 4-0 lead.

Northville's "A" team in the Mite division (7-8 year olds) won one game, but had to settle for a 3-3 tie in their other outing.

Bob Pegrum scored the three-goal hat trick and added one assist to lead the Northville Mites past Inkster 6-2. Two of Pegrum's goals were unassisted, but goalie Todd Bartling was credited with an assist on the third as he fed Pegrum a clearing pass.

Jeff Pyden, Bob Ventura, and Tom Simoncic scored the other Northville goals in the 6-2 triumph.

Paul McKelvey and Simoncic each netted goals in the third period to enable the Northville Mites to rally for a 3-3 tie with Taylor. McKelvey had scored the first Northville goal, but Taylor came back to gain a 3-1 lead. McKelvey scored again in the third period and Simoncic tied it up with less than two minutes left in the contest.

Brothers Dominate Weekly Grid Quiz

After a week of perfect guesses, contestants in The Record-Now News football quiz could do no better than three mistakes last week.

Big hurdles tripping up most contestants were:

The 7-7 tie between Arkansas and SMU, Mississippi's 28-18 victory over Tennessee, and the Patriots 33-24 triumph over Green Bay.

Minnesota's 19-16 squeaker over Illinois and Northwestern's 36-34 win over Wisconsin also caused considerable problems.

Nevertheless, two members of the Dales family—Don and Jim—of 18715 Sheldon came up winners as did Tony Adamowicz of 622 Fairbrook. Don took first, Jim second and Tony third.

Don and Tony each had three mistakes, but Don was just 13 points off the actual score in the Lions-Bears game, while Tony missed it by 19 points.

Jim made four mistakes but still managed to win third because his tie-breaking score was closer to reality than six other contestants who also missed four.

The others missing four were John Gougeon, 511 Reed; Mark Kay Bunn of South Lyon; Otto Regentik, 46144 Neeson; Thomas Wick, 9267 Tower; Conrad Newman, 16638 Old Bedford; and Dawn Mamp, 48000 Eight Mile Road.

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

By JEANNE CLARKE
624-173

Mrs. Laney Henderson, former writer of this column, has been visiting friends and relatives in the area. Scheduled to return to her home in Church Falls, West Virginia on Sunday, she was involved in a car accident so her return trip has been delayed. She is at the home of her son Ed Ward Rix in Plymouth.

Mr. Richard Bureau of Willowbrook Drive bagged a four point buck on opening day near Oscoda.

Brett Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith who are visiting from Danvers, Illinois, entered University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor on Sunday for ear surgery.

Dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Hildred Hunt on Eleven Mile Road last Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Race, Mrs. Dolly Algenani and Mrs. Laney Henderson.

Hunters who have returned home from near Gladwin are Chuck Holland, Jack Boshell and Billy Wageski. Jack Boshell got a four-point buck.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bureau of Willowbrook Drive returned recently from Las Vegas. While there they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bureau who are residents of Anaheim, California.

Steve and Lloyd Brewer of South Lake Drive both got four-point bucks near Beavertown while hunting this past week. Bill Kruevis shot a six pointer. Mr. and Mrs. Russ Button and son Russell Jr. have returned from hunting at Lost Lake Woods Club. While there Rose Button and Kevin Craig from Spring Arbor College joined the hunting party for a few days.

Dinner guests this week at the home of Mrs. Mary Thomas on East Lake Drive were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones, Mrs. Ruth Norwood, Mrs. Bernice Stewart and daughter Peggy.

Jeff Brewer, Herman Worley, and Larry De Grandchamp were lucky deer hunters near Rose City.

NOVI LIONS CLUB

The next meeting of the Lions Club will be on November 28 at 6:20 p.m. at the Danish Inn in Farmington. At this time, reports will be heard about two projects the Lions are involved in. Proceeds are going towards purchasing a leader dog for the blind. All Lion Club members have tickets which can be purchased for 50 cents or three for $1. Also starting on December 14—for two days only—large sized candy canes will be sold for $1. Orders for these can be made in advance.

NOVI GIRL SCOUTS

Any Girl Scout troop wishing a service project can help the Farmington Good-fellows out by contributing a new cotton dress or boy's shirt as some child's Christmas gift. For further information contact Shirley Richardson at 476-4320.

All Novi Girl Scouts have been invited to help in trimming the Christmas tree in front of the Library possibly the first Sunday in December. All leaders are asked to return the pink adult information sheet as soon as possible to their troop service director.

Anyone knowing of a volunteer who is doing an outstanding job helping girls to become "happy resourceful citizens", is asked to contact the Recognition Task Force at the Girl Scout Office 548-2244.

NOVI SCHOOLS LUNCH MENU

Monday—Scalloped potatoes, ham, baked beans, hot muffins and butter, fruit and milk.

Tuesday—Mashed potatoes and hamburger gravy, bread and butter, buttered vegetable, cookies and milk.

Wednesday—Meat pasties, gravy, bread and butter, tossed salad, fruit cup and milk.

Thursday—Sloppy Joe Hamburger, potato chips, buttered vegetable, pumpkin pie, milk.

Friday—Pizza, salad, juice and fruit.

PUMPKIN PIES AND BROWNIES—Twenty members of Wixom Brownie Troop 505 assembled at the home of Assistant Troop Leader Mrs. Judy White last week for a little old-fashioned pumpkin pie baking. Above, Lisa Doria starts mixing the dough for the pie crust as Mrs. White, Troop Leader Mrs. Sally Finney and the girls in the troop look on. Before the project was completed, each of the girls had made a major contribution to baking the pies from "scratch". According to reports, the girls' culinary results were mouth-watering.

JAYCEE AUXILIARY

The Auxiliary would like to remind everyone of the Saturday, with Santa on Saturday, December 1, at the Village Oaks School. The first visit will be at 11 a.m., the second at 1 p.m. and the third at 3 p.m. Admission is 50 cents per child. Children under five years must be accompanied by an adult, but only the child must have a ticket.

A Children's Only shop also is planned where they can purchase a gift for Mom and Dad or Grandma and Grandpa for 25 cents or less. For tickets call 477-1485 or 349-7591.

The next general membership meeting will be Tuesday, November 27. Anyone wishing more information is asked to contact President Linda Pochter at 349-1723.

PARENTS WITHOUT PARTNERS

The next regular meeting will be on Friday, November 23 at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Northville. Special speaker will be from the Novi Drug Abuse Speakers Bureau. All parents, who are divorced, widowed, or separated are eligible for membership and encouraged to come out, meet new friends, and plan activities with other families.

NOVI BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts worked on their first aid skill badges at Monday's meeting. They also made plans to go roller skating on December 15 at Northland. Awards presented were the camping, conservation skill award to Dave Mannila; the first aid skill award to Tom Peterson; and Kerry Fear was awarded the conservation, natural resources, and reading badge.

NOVI COOPERATIVE NURSERY

Next regular meeting will be on December 6 at 7:45 p.m. at Holy Cross Church. All mothers of the children are urged to attend.

NOVI BLUE STAR MOTHERS

December 6 will be the meeting at noon at the home of Mrs. Florence Wyatt in Plymouth. This will be a combined business meeting and Christmas party. Each lady attending is asked to bring a sandwich and table service. Plans will be made for the tree trimming to be held on December 13 at the Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor. Each Blue Star Mother is asked to bring one original decoration. The group also is interested in obtaining names of servicemen before Christmas.

NOVI SENIOR CITIZENS

Next meeting will be November 27 at the Novi Community Building at 7 p.m. The Novi Girl Scouts will be serving lunch following the meeting. Please bring table service and deposit for the mystery trip.

Members are urged not to forget the mystery trip on December 5 when the group will be leaving from the Novi Community Building at 9 a.m. where the school bus will take them to their destination.

Anyone wishing more information or facts about the group may contact Mrs. Nancy Liddle at 349-2219.

The special speaker last week was Sheldon Isen, who discussed corporate structures, corporate fringe benefits, pensions and profit sharing. Rotarians also made plans for Community Christmas Party to be held on December 20 and for the special Christmas party for all the Rotarians and their wives on December 15.

PARSON to PERSON

Cedric Whitcomb, Pastor

A poor woman living in a shack said, "Thank you God for the sun that shines through the cracks." Thanksgiving is an empty word unless related and directed to God who is the most generous Giver in the universe. "The Heavenly Father daily loads us with His benefits" (Ps. 68:19). Are any of the following our own doing? Life, food, family, the Bible, our salvation and a host of other good things!

A thinking person will recognize that life and all that sustains it does not just happen. My deepest reason for gratitude comes because I know Jesus Christ is my Savior. The apostle Paul frequently mentions being thankful to God and the Lord Jesus Christ. Hearty thanks follows the experience of deliverance from sin. Thanksgiving comes from a cleansed heart. Nothing surpasses that. It makes me want to do something for someone. Thanksgiving is contagious. When I'm thankful for forgiveness, than I'll be forgiving. Thanksgiving is turned into "Thanksgiving."

Don't let Thanksgiving become a memory of the past or a reluctant obligation. Penetrating oil loosens rusty metal. So let the Holy Spirit loosen and clear my heart to say, "What shall I render to the Lord for all His benefits" (Ps. 116:12)? Do you want the most from this Thanksgiving Day? Receive Him and be thankful for Him as your Savior!

First Graders Cook Feast

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Thanksgiving. A time to share with friends and relations the bounty of harvest...that is if the Teamsters don't go on strike creating gasless gas stations.

And it may be a little hard to fill the table with the traditional goodies that make Thanksgiving what it is because of soaring food prices. Maybe we won't get quite so stuffed this year and our waistlines will appreciate that.

Regardless of the food on the table, the tradition of Thanksgiving is what it's all about. So whether near or far, our hope is that your Thanksgiving was a most joyful occasion.

It's rather fun to sit back and hear your children relate their version of the first Thanksgiving. Their version seems to be more modern than the one I learned. Fortunately, not too much has changed. It still involves the pilgrims and the Indians.

To make the learning process a little more fun, tradition in the first grade classes at Wixom School means cooking their own "feast." Samples of everything for everyone. Under the tutelage of first grade teachers Miss Brogan and Miss LaMarre and a couple of mother helpers, the little ones "prepared" foods that the pilgrims ate.

The kids were divided into three groups and each helped measure and make each thing. Heavy cream in a jar, sit in a circle, take a shake, and eventually you come up with butter.

Also on the menu...cornbread, pumpkin custard, cranberries and an assortment of vegetables.

One mother helper, Carol Ballmer, said the kids were excited but took their "cooking" seriously. They really made horrible faces when they bit into raw cranberries and "yum-yummy" over pumpkin custard! All the food and festivities of their "very own" Thanksgiving was enjoyed Wednesday afternoon.

Thanksgiving also spread to Wixom Brownie Troop 505 over the weekend. Assistant-leader Judy White of Hopkins Drive had 20 eight-year old Brownies at her house early Saturday morning for pumpkin-pie baking.

Most mothers shuddered when they heard. One eight-year old can create a monumental mess in a kitchen, but 20 all at once meant nightmare. Not to leader Sally Finney and Judy though. They were the center of attention as the girls were shown how to measure and mix ingredients.

"And we didn't even use the stuff from the can, mom, we used real pumpkin!" That's called really from scratch!

By the time one o'clock rolled around, three pies were baked, the kitchen cleaned up, lunch eaten, and even a craft project completed. I find that absolutely amazing. It's a struggle just to get them dressed and fed on Saturday morning.

The girls, needless to say, were quite proud of their achievement and each had a piece of their "delicious" pie during the regular Brownie meeting Monday afternoon.

Just what kind of a mess was created during the pie baking is only known by the leaders and the girls. It wouldn't take much to imagine the worst. What is admitted to is "a little bit of pie crust in the rug."

Flowers by John had its annual open house last Sunday afternoon. That's our one and only store for a "Christmas Walk," it seems. As usual, John and his artistic talents reigned with loads of lovely items for home decoration and gift-giving. If only I could afford... If you haven't already done so, stop in and browse.

Thinking about the long winter months ahead and how not to get sluggish? The Community Education Department of the Walled Lake Schools has added a Sunday afternoon of family fun and fitness to its calendar. Every Sunday from 1-3 p.m. from now until March 24, the family can have an afternoon of recreational swimming and gym activities at Walled Lake Western High School.

Cost is $1 per family or 50 cents per person. It's a bargain and a good way to keep in condition if you're not a winter sports addict.

Energy Saving Guidelines Set for Schools, City

Northville Schoolcraft

In the interest of conserving as much energy as possible, Northville Public Schools issued a seven point directive to all school employees last Friday.

Guidelines include having only one bank of lights on in halls of school buildings when the building is opened each morning and one light on in the office area.

Remaining hall lights will be turned on at 7:30 a.m. with other lights turned on by office personnel and teachers upon their arrival, Earl Busard, director of business and finance reported.

Lights will remain off in empty classrooms and will be turned off in all areas when natural light will suffice.

Electrical equipment, such as audio-visual materials, will be turned off when not in use and Busard has asked that all power tools be used "as efficiently as possible."

Custodians will be turning on lights only in rooms where they are actually cleaning and all lights, with the exception of exit lights, will be turned off at night when custodians leave the building.

Last week, thermostats in school buildings were turned down to 68 degrees.

"We're trying to do our part in helping to conserve energy," Busard commented.

President C. Nelson Grote has issued phase one of a broad-ranging, directive for reducing energy consumption at Schoolcraft College.

Included is the graduated reduction of classroom and office temperatures to 68 degrees; the elimination of most corridor and exterior building lighting; voluntary switching off of all lights when classrooms, laboratories and offices are not in use; and a call for employee and student car pools.

The president said that parking lot lighting and some street lighting on campus belongs to and are directly controlled by Detroit Edison. He has asked for an immediate meeting with the utility company to effect reductions consistent with personal safety and campus security.

"We have no concern at this point for campus energy supplies, as none of our fuel contracts are on an interruptible basis," he said. The campus utilizes both natural gas and electricity for heating.

Wixom

A six-point program to conserve energy was put into effect in Wixom last week by Mayor Gilbert C. Willis, who ordered heating, lighting and automotive fuel reductions in accordance with President Nixon's request for fuel conservation to help combat "A growing energy crisis."

Willis in a proclamation ordered temperatures in city buildings reduced to 68 degrees; daytime lighting of hallways and lobbies and non-work areas eliminated; and all city vehicles to be operated at speeds not exceeding 50 miles an hour, except when necessary in performance of police duties.

He also ordered the elimination of automobile idling except when necessary in emergency situations. Signs are to be posted on all light switches, reminding employees to conserve electricity and on all outside doors without closers reminding employees to conserve heat. He indicated that all future decisions in the city will consider energy conservation a priority item.

Schools Issue Project Report

Following is a brief building project report issued last week by Novi school administrators:

160-acre Master Plan—Representatives of the city, library board and school district were to meet November 12 to review board and school district met November 12 to review all credentials submitted by individuals and firms interested in doing the master plan for utilization of the 160-acre parcel at the southeast corner of 10 Mile and Beck Roads.

It is anticipated this group will recommend to the various boards a selection on or before the end of the month.

High School—Principal Helen Ditzhazy, chairman of the high school planning committee, is in the process of organizing her committee.

It is anticipated that by involving the architect, Richard Prince & Associates, during the planning of "educational specifications," the firm will be better able to complete and present to the board for approval the "preliminary plans" sometime during the month of March. If this deadline can be met, the project could be bid sometime during the summer of 1974.

The new high school, part of a $13.5 million building program approved by voters this past summer, is to be built at the southeast corner of Taft and 10 Mile Roads.

Village Oaks Addition—Principal David Brown, chairman of the Village Oaks Addition planning committee, has organized his committee and has held the first meeting.

Citizens involved in the planning met with Brown and the architect, Lane, Riebe & Weiland, and Assistant Superintendent William Barr on November 7.

It is anticipated that the architect will present preliminary plans for board approval on November 27—after having presented several building layouts to the committee.

High School Conversion—The architect, Lane, Riebe & Weiland, and Dr. Barr are in the process of analyzing and comparing the instructional facilities of the present middle school and the high school. Once this is done, the total scope of the conversion project—from high school to middle school—will be submitted to the board of education for approval.

Two New Elementary Projects—Novi Elementary Principal Roy Williams, chairman of this committee, is in the process of selecting his planning committee which is to involve elementary teachers and parents.

Representatives of Harry J. Harmon & Associates, architects for the two new elementary schools, are to regularly meet with this committee in order to speed up the process of planning. First of these buildings could be bid during the summer months of 1974.

Novi Hires Teacher At Elementary Level

Hiring of a new teacher and resignation of another was approved this past week by the Novi Board of Education.

Newly hired is Michele Rohan, who holds a BA degree from Wayne State University. She is assigned to Novi Elementary School at a pro-rated salary of $8,480.

Irene McCormick, sixth grade teacher at Novi Elementary, resigned because her husband has been transferred.

The board also approved for hiring two non-certificated employees:

Rita Winowiecki, who is to be a replacement bookkeeper at a rate of $4.04 an hour, and Carolyn Lewis, a replacement custodian at Novi Elementary at a rate of $3.30 hourly.

The resignation for personal reasons of Beverly Bumann, head cook at Orchard Hills Elementary School, was accepted.

Board members also approved the following changes of assignment:

Beverly Cook, from administrative bookkeeper to high school secretary at a rate of $3.50 hourly; Jackie Wilenius, from head cook Orchard Hills to manager at Orchard Hills Elementary, $2.94 hourly; Carol Love, cook at Orchard Hills to head cook, $2.74 hourly; and Connie Sherrard, from lunchroom supervisor to cook at Orchard Hills, $2.28 hourly.

Board Revises Policy

A Novi Board of Education policy concerning nepotism was revised slightly this past week.

The term "full time" was added to the policy, indicating now that full time employment of spouses or children of board members and administrators is prohibited.

With this change, it becomes permissible to hire such relatives for part-time work, i.e., summer employment of college students, and substitute teachers.

The policy does not include any persons so employed at this time.

The vote on the amendment was 4-0, with Trustee Todd Price abstaining. Absent were Trustees Gilbert Henderson and Robert Wilkins.

Let's Talk Real Estate
BY BOB STONE
Will Durant once wrote in one of his most famous editorials: "If I could live my life again I would marry early...I would have an individual home, no matter where I had to move to get it. As for happiness, I would look for it in our partnership, in helping our home, and our children to grow. For a home must grow too, with the care and love of years until it becomes a part of us—an old friend to whom we willingly return!" What better reasons for owning a home of your own!

Choir Robes Hit Snag In Novi

Purchase of choir robes ran into a temporary snag this past week as the Novi Board of Education cast a split vote on the question of increasing the previously approved order from $1200 to $1400.

Last month the board approved an expenditure not to exceed $1200 for the purchase of 50 robes.

Last week, however, administrators indicated their earlier report was in error and that the $1200 estimate was for 40 robes, not 50.

In a move to increase the outlay by $200, the board split 3-2, thus defeating the motion. (Two members were absent). Opposing the expenditure were Board President LaVerne DeWaard and Norman Howard Miller.

DeWaard made it clear that he did not oppose purchase of robes but that he didn't like the informal last-minute manner in which the proposal was brought to the board by administrators.

"What bothers me," he said angrily, "was the method of purchase...and it's been this way before."

When Superintendent Gerald Kratz apologized for the manner in which the proposal was introduced and after Trustee Sharon Pelchat pleaded for support of the choir, Trustee Miller introduced a slightly different motion calling for a total expenditure not to exceed $1,399.

This motion carried 4-1, with DeWaard continuing to dissent.

In what appeared to be another board-administration disagreement, the board after receiving a request for approval after-purchase of a $1,050 freezer at Novi Elementary School adjourned without taking action.

Assistant Superintendent William Barr had pointed out the purchase was an emergency one because of the inoperative condition of the old freezer.

School Notes

Novi School District has been accepted for participation in this year's reading internship program, and Mrs. Jacqueline Frere of Novi Elementary School was selected to represent the district.

Training session will be seven weeks beginning January 7 and running through March 1.

WHOPPER—Sunday traffic was like Saturday in downtown Northville as the largest number of people in history took advantage of the Holiday Open House—traditionally held the Sunday before Thanksgiving by local merchants. The open house kicks off the Christmas shopping season. Twenty-four stores participated. And giving the tradition a new appeal this year was the opening of four of the stores in the new Northville Square shopping center.

Elect Murphy Chairman

Raymond Murphy has been elected chairman of Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission for 1973-74.

Murphy was elected to the post by the other members of the seven-man board charged with overseeing the recreational needs of the city.

Also elected were Joseph Pochter, vice-chairman; Donald Gorman, secretary; and Richard Bingham, treasurer.

Other members of the Parks and Recreation Commission are Mary MacDermaid, Sherry Edwards, and Thomas Marcus.

One of the major projects currently being conducted by the commission is a study of property in Novi available for acquisition to be used as a city park. Novi has been allocated $85,000 from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for the purchase of park property.

The voyage of "Detroit"

In connection with our annual Great Lakes Reproduction Series of marine lithographs... we are currently commemorating the trans Atlantic voyage of a 35 foot boat named the "Detroit"... which journeyed from Detroit to St. Petersburg, Russia in 1912 to prove the reliability of the marine gasoline engine. Drop in and see our display of this event. And if you deposit $100 or more, a lithograph of the "Detroit" is yours.
