

Energy Crisis Blacks Out Annual Decoration Contest

The national energy crisis hit home again this week, shortcircuiting the annual outdoor Christmas lighting contest.

Although cancellation of the 14th annual contest came on the heels of President Richard Nixon's emergency fuel proposals Sunday evening, the Northville Jaycee board of directors earlier had recommended the action.

"We (board) voted last week to cancel the contest," said Jaycee President Arlen Westling. "Our membership votes this Wednesday (yesterday) and we expect the recommendation will be accepted unanimously."

Westling said that while the Jaycees regretted having to cancel this contest which had become a traditional part of Northville's Christmas season, "we recognize the importance of doing whatever we can so our country can better cope with the crisis it faces."

It also appeared that the remaining few Christmas lights on downtown Northville streets might wink out even before the President's proposals are enacted into law. Earlier, 1,000 downtown Christmas lights were ordered turned off, leaving just 20 burning.

"I think we (merchants) should do whatever we can to help support the President's energy proposals. I also think that homeowners should do what they can to help, too," said Charles Freydl, president of the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Del Black, owner of Del's Shoes, echoed Freydl's remarks but doubted turning off the remaining 20 lights would have much overall effect. Nevertheless, Black said he has ordered the lights in his own store windows turned off early at 9 p.m. daily. And he guessed similar action will be taken by other store owners.

The President's proposed Saturday night and Sunday ban on the sale of gasoline drew little alarm locally, as Cal Cross, owner of Cal's Gulf service station that has regularly done business on Sundays, saw it as a possible blessing in disguise.

"It will give me a little more time off," said Cross, suggesting that he may voluntarily close his station in anticipation of the President's proposal becoming law.

"It's going to inconvenience a lot of my customers who have grown accustomed to buying gasoline on Sundays, but they'll get used to it," continued Cross. "I don't think the ban will cut into our gasoline sales volume much, if any."

Cross admitted, however, that the gasoline pinch has already hurt his sales of snowmobiles. As for himself, an avid snowmobiler, "I'm going to continue enjoying this winter sport no matter what."

The gasoline shortage took a new twist this past week as the Northville School District attempted to conserve its own bus fuel supply by having some of the district's school buses gassed up at local service stations.

"Gasoline supplies are running tight," admitted Superintendent Raymond Spear. "The next delivery will be November 30th, so naturally we're concerned about whether or not we can operate the transportation program on the remaining fuel."

Earlier, the district put seven energy conservation measures into operation. These included reducing the number of hallway and office lights; ordering off lights in empty classrooms; switching off lights when natural light suffices; not leaving electrical equipment on longer than necessary; more efficient use of power tools; custodians are to light rooms only when cleaning; all lights except exit lights are to be turned off at night when custodians leave the building; and thermostats have been dialed down to 68-degrees.

A random sampling of Northville area residents seemed to indicate homeowners are not only willing but anxious to meet President Nixon's conservation challenges. Neither the highway speed limit proposal (50 MPH) nor the Sunday ban on gasoline sales seemed to worry them.

"If it has to be done I think we should do it. It's not going to create any hardship for our family; we'll just make do with what we've got," said Mrs. Gerald Paulson of 18607 Jamestown.

Mrs. Horace Godwin of 46812 Dunsany agreed, adding "For the good of our nation I think it must be done quickly. I only hope the people really cooperate and try to do what the President suggests."

"We managed to do the same things during the war and I see no reason why we can't do them again."

Mrs. Godwin admitted some puzzlement over suggested reduction of thermostat settings. Some reports indicated the temperature should be set at 68-degrees, others suggested thermostats be rolled back six degrees, she noted. For those homes that

Township Citizens Ask Plan Revision

Saying they feel strongly that the research and development zoning classification proposed in the southeast portion of Northville township is incompatible with any section of the township, two residents urged township planning commission members to reconsider the proposed zoning map.

Speaking to the commission Tuesday night, Thomas Murdock of 41600 Rayburn Drive and David Hoyle of 15992 Winchester Drive said they believe the title research and development (R & D) "is a misnomer. It's too loose and is inconsistent and detrimental to the area. We would oppose it in any section of the township."

Taking no action on either the proposed zoning map or future land use map, planners set a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. Monday, December 10, to discuss both proposals.

Proposed new zoning plan for the township envisions R&D zoning along Haggerty Road between Five Mile north to Six and a half mile, adjacent to Hawthorn Center. Multiple zoning is planned as a buffer between that development and Northville Commons and Northville Colony.

Hoyle and Murdock, who said they represented approximately 50 to 100 citizens in their area, gave nine points opposing both the R&D and multiple zoning proposed for the area:

- not compatible with existing residences in the area;
- not compatible with land use plan of Livonia along the east side of Haggerty (office zoning is planned by Livonia);
- not compatible with the land use in Plymouth (residential) south of Five Mile;
- lack of public facilities in the area to accommodate research and development structures;
- school taxes generated would not go to Northville schools but rather to Plymouth and therefore it is not in the interest of Northville residents;
- use is contrary to the wishes of a large number of residents in the area who defeated similar zoning in the 1969 referendum;
- living conditions, traffic and property values would be adversely affected;
- proximity of I-275 expressway is not a viable reason for choosing the area; and
- proposed M-14 expressway along the whole southern boundary of the township would be reason, using planners' logic, to place the zoning along Five Mile Road.

Hoyle also attacked specific sections of the R&D zoning, noting that four-story hospitals were permitted on 25 acres and bars, bowling alleys, racket clubs, theaters, assembly and manufacturing plants could also be built.

"We feel we are really being let down as residents and are being deprived of saying how the land around our homes will be used," Hoyle said.

Murdock added that the homeowners' association for Businesses

Site plans for three Northville businesses drew approval of the city planning commission last week.

They include:

- A new State Farm Insurance office, owned by Paul Folino, at 430 North Center Street south of Lake.
- A new State Farm Insurance office, owned by Gary L. Methner, at 535 River Street at Seven Mile.
- A new plumbing and boutique establishment, owned by Glenn Long, at 190 East Main Street near the First Presbyterian Church.

Owners of these developments must still present architectural plans to the commission and gain approval prior to the start of construction. None of the properties require zoning changes.

Folino's development will entail demolition of the little frame dwelling that has housed his business since the office was moved from its location on Main Street where the Northville Square is now situated.

Folino hopes to develop his property in conjunction with Dennis Roux' proposed development to the south.

Roux plans to introduce a site plan for his proposed office development soon.

The latter also will involve the demolition of an existing house. It would be located

PUBLIC HEARING on a special assessment hearing for water lines in the area of Franklin Road and First Street in Northville township will be held at 7:30 p.m. January 8, 1974. Estimated cost of the line is pegged at $18,300.

A LETTER has been sent to the township board by the city council, indicating the city's intention to continue serious study of the public safety concept proposed by the township and to reaffirm the city's willingness to cooperate in mutual aid fire protection.

A DIRECTIONAL SIGN, which will indicate locations of Amerman Elementary and the high school, the business district, South Lyon, and Northville Downs, has received school board and city council approval and the beautification commission has been authorized to proceed with its plans to erect the sign at the southwest corner of Center and Eight Mile Road.

TWO MORE stores are scheduled to open this week in Northville Square. They are Harvi's, featuring junior and women's apparel, and L.G. Haig Shoes for women. Next in line to open are Max Green's Men's Wear, Sportstacular and Coney Island, bringing the total to nine. Approximately 30 stores are anticipated when the shopping center is complete. A grand opening will be held in late January or February.

Get It Where You Can

With the school district's own storage tanks running dangerously low, Northville's buses were filling up at local service stations as a temporary emergency measure. It means the district must pay 37.9 cents a gallon instead of the normal bulk rate of 27.9 cents (taxes are to be reimbursed later). That's Judy Arthurs, school bus driver, filling the tank of her bus.

Council Spares Others

Remove 3 'Parking' Trees

Three trees were cut down Tuesday but several others were spared in Northville's south municipal parking lot as a result of a Thanksgiving morning inspection of the lot by city councilmen.

Angry councilmen had ordered the unusual holiday on-site inspection upon learning that the actual lot layout, which was specifically intended to save trees, put trees in both driveways and in parking spaces.

Saving of the three trees was deemed impossible in view of the lot's layout. Their removal however, leaves more than 12 others on the site, located south of Cady between Center and Wing streets.

One of the three was located in the entrance to the lot near Cady and Wing, another was located in the entrance-exit to the lot near Cady and Center, and the other was located mid-way along one of the north-south drives.

With Mayor A.M. Allen wielding a measuring tape, the council also ordered parking spaces adjusted along the west side of the lot and the drive adjusted at the south end to accommodate trees and still increase the number of spaces.

Besides the council, also present were City Manager Steven Walters and City Engineer Harold Penn.

In answer to council criticism of the "hills and valleys" in the lot, Penn pointed out that the rolling grade was purposely established to break up the flow of storm waters. Without this grade, he said, the storm water would all rush from northwest to southeast which has an elevation difference of some seven or eight feet.

As the inspection ended, some councilmen privately clung to their criticism of the uneven grades and they were still wondering aloud how trees could suddenly sprout in places where the plan indicated they did not exist.

At least one of the three trees removed Tuesday, however, apparently had been marked for removal on the plan. But, according to Councilman Paul Vernon, for some reason the tree was left standing and blacktop was laid around it.

Planting areas in both the south and the north municipal parking lots are to be completed next spring. The north lot, located between Main and Dunlap streets, also is to include a brick planter wall along the Main Street sidewalk.

Trees already have been planted in bricked tree wells along this sidewalk.

Eye Township Hall Site

Members of the Northville Township Board inspected buildings Tuesday at the Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon Road (north of Six) for possible use as township offices and fire station facilities.

While he reported that board reaction to the buildings was mixed, Supervisor Lawrence Wright was himself enthusiastic about their adaptability for township use.

He termed the fire station in "tip-top shape", but added that the proposed township building would require an estimated $30,000 in repairs. "But there's plenty of space for all our needs," Wright stated.

The supervisor said the proposed township hall building contains 10,000 square feet of space and the fire station 4,000 square feet.

Negotiation for the property is continuing, Wright said, but he noted that the latest proposal by Wayne County was $2 per square foot including utilities.

By JEAN DAY

IT'S CHRISTMAS already—at least in the specially decorated store windows throughout Our Town. Window shopping can be one of the delights of the season as there's much for both children and adults to enjoy.

The large three-by-four foot gingerbread house in the window of The Marquis shop next to the P&A Theatre definitely is "one of a kind." Shop owner Inga Zayti commissioned Terry Krug to create the wood frame, which he did without any pattern.

The shop employees and Mrs. Zayti then "painted" it with Betty Crocker's frosting, now kept on hand for instant repairs. Imported cookies in such shapes as angels and cats as well as Christmas candies were used for decoration. Stuffed birds nest in its thatched roof.

A witch at the door and a little oven in the snow outside the gingerbread house, together with Hansel and Gretel, help tell the Grimm fairy tale. This was a natural choice for the holiday window as Mrs. Zayti is a native of Germany where the tale originated.

Carpenter Krug, a graduate student at Eastern Michigan University, also crafted the oak desk, table and shelves in the Marquis shops.

As Christmas draws near, more and more "snow" will fall in the window to cover the scene.

THE ANTIQUE DOLLS having tea in the window of Pease Paint and Wallpaper store, also on Main Street, are the personal treasures of Mrs. Barbara Williams, a store employee. The Shirley Temple doll was given to her when she was a child, and she recalls buying the older doll with the china head when she was only five or six years old.

The doll was in an antique shop near Briggs stadium, nestled in a cradle—which was not part of the purchase until the shop owner, seeing the little girl's disappointment, made the cradle a gift. Mrs. Williams also loaned the china tea set for the display.

The display was created by Mrs. Donna Boshoven, another employee.

A miniature tree decorated with gingerbread men is set against a red-and-white tiny check gingham in the window of The Little People Shoppe. At Lila's Four Seasons Flowers and Gifts pink-and-white check ornaments on the tree carry out the window's delicate color scheme.

A creche with the German Hummel figurines tells the religious Christmas story at Summit Gifts. A manger scene also decorates Margie's Beauty Salon window.

A VICTORIAN Christmas theme was chosen for the three tree displays that decorate the new Northville Square. Carrying out a red-and-green traditional color scheme, doll-like figures in bustled gowns and frock coats are trimming trees, serving plum pudding and celebrating the holiday.

The figures are Dickens' Villagers. The scene on the square's lower level shows a group ice skating, frolicking in the snow and enjoying a Christmas past. The tree trimmers are dressed in velvet costumes with much detail, as are the plum pudding-treat trio, all on the upper level.

The display was purchased just for the new Northville Square, according to manager Jane Funaro, who adds that she selected it with Our Town's Victorian heritage in mind. Outlines of each grouping are appearing in the square's advertising.

"THE HOLLY and the Ivy," the Christmas exhibit and show of the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will be in place next Wednesday and Thursday, December 5 and 6, on the lower level of the square. It will be on public view from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. both days.

This will be the first civic exhibit in the new shopping area. Much to the relief of the branch planners, the square has been completed in time to hold the show.

NEWS OF A FORMER Northville resident and past president of the Northville branch, WNF&G, comes with the November-December issue of The Countrywoman, the magazine of the British garden group, Associated Country Women of the World, with headquarters in London.

The magazine contains an article by Phyllis (Mrs. William) Slattery covering an Open Day session of ACWW at historic Caxton Hall.

Mrs. Slattery, who is living near London while her husband is with Ford overseas, is serving on the ACWW publicity and publications committee and as associate editor of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association Magazine in this country.

She notes that an evening reception, which her husband also attended, was one of her "memories to cherish." It was a wine and cheese party (they must be popular in the British Isles, too) to meet ACWW officers and was held in the Middle Temple Hall, world famous inn of the barristers at the gates of the City of London where Queen Elizabeth I dined and watched William Shakespeare acting.

College Offers Yule Workshop

Schoolcraft College will offer a special workshop on creating Christmas floral designs on Wednesday, December 12.

The afternoon workshop, to be held in room 400 of the Forum Building from 1:30 to 4:30, has a $10 registration fee.

Demonstrations will be a part of the instruction and will include construction of garlands (roping), wreaths and floral arrangements.

SETTLED FOR SANTA—Northville's new city manager, Steven Walters, his wife, Marty, and their sons, Tom, 5, Richard, 3 months, and David, 9, have moved into the home they have rented on Debra Lane in plenty of time for Christmas activities.

He's New City Manager

Meet the Walters Family

By JEAN DAY

Martha Walters, wife of Northville's new city manager, Steven L. Walters, has just had one of those experiences you recall for a lifetime.

"I'd never do it again," she vows as she talks about the family's move from St. Ignace to the home the Walters are renting at 362 Debra Lane.

The youngest of their three sons, Richard, now three months old, had just been born at Petoskey hospital when Marty Walters began to make moving plans. Their other sons are David, 9, and Tom, 5. Both now are enrolled at Armerman Elementary School and settled into a new routine.

Mrs. Walters adds that the baby, "fortunately," is good and is just getting acquainted with his father.

"We were lucky to find a home to rent," Mrs. Walters says, adding that they really are seeking a home to buy, however. Her sons are pleased to have a basement in which to run their cars as the family didn't have one in St.

Ignace. Unless a home is on a hillside, Mrs. Walters explains, there usually isn't a basement in that city as the area is too rocky.

The Walters family lived in St. Ignace for three and a half years while he was city manager there. While the winters were long, Mrs. Walters recalls, they were "beautiful" because there always seemed to be enough fresh snow to keep everything white. Spring, she said, was "worse than winter because it always was so long coming."

Adding that they had enjoyed their stay in the city by the Straits of Mackinac, Mrs. Walters mentioned that they had been involved in a lot of the community's activities. She doesn't want to overextend here with a new baby to care for, and so plans to take time to become involved. "We're in but not settled," she declares.

The move to the Northville area is a bit like coming home as Walters served as assistant city manager in Plymouth before going to St. Ignace. Last Friday evening Plymouth friends had a welcoming party for the couple.

For Thanksgiving the family went to Battle Creek, where both sets of parents still live, for dinner at Mrs. Walters' parents' home with his parents also invited.

Marty Walters recalled that she and her husband met while still in high school and that both had gone on to University of Michigan. He received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from U of M in public administration. They married while he was in school and son David was born in Ann Arbor. Tom was born while they were in Plymouth.

With baby Richard joining the family during the stay in the north, the family of five now is "getting organized" for Christmas season in Northville.

arrangement. The flowers were ivory statice, white miniature carnations and pink sweetheart roses. The music was the "Lord's Prayer" sung by Mr. Lennon.

Mrs. Patricia Lennon, the bride's sister, was the matron of honor. She wore a white lace-trimmed long sleeve blouse with deep purple crushed velvet floor length skirt, and a white crocheted hat.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Sharon Lamp and Miss Mary Wurster, wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. Other attendants were flower girl Mary Hamilton and ring bearer Brett Lennon, a nephew of the bride.

The best man was Bernard Lamp, the bridegroom's brother. The ushers were Larrie Traverse, Daniel Smith, and Mr. Lennon.

A reception in the Salem Bible Church parlor followed the wedding, with 200 guests and relatives attending.

The newlyweds took a southern Ohio sightseeing trip, and are at home in the South Lyon Woods Mobile Home Park.

Holiday Recipes

Cloud Pie Follows Feast

The Thanksgiving turkey can offer impressive fare even after the first big feast. Here is a recipe that uses cubed leftovers in a turkey casserole.

TURKEY SUPREME

3 c. cubed turkey (or more)
1 tsp. salt
1 c. sour cream
3 T. flour
1 c. condensed cream of mushroom soup
½ c. grated sharp cheese
½ c. water with chicken bouillon cub dissolved in it.
½ c. sliced almonds
1 small jar pimento, chopped
1 tsp. paprika
bread crumbs

Cut turkey into larger, bite-size pieces. Mix all ingredients except cheese and bread crumbs. Pour into casserole dish and sprinkle cheese and crumbs on top. Bake uncovered at 325 degrees for 1½ hours. Serve with chicken-flavored rice.

For those who do not roast a turkey, this recipe can be used with chicken breasts that have been boiled 20 minutes and boned, suggests the newsletter of Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club.

A tart, refreshing flavor combines with light texture in this dessert to follow a holiday feast.

LEMON CLOUD PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¾ c sugar
¼ tsp salt
1 c water
one-third c lemon juice
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1½ tsp grated lemon rind
2 c (one 4½ oz. container) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled

Cloud Pie — a light, tart treat

Mix gelatin, sugar and salt in saucepan. Add water and lemon juice. Blend in egg yolks. Place over medium heat and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved—about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon rind. Chill until slightly thickened.

Place bowl of gelatin in larger bowl of ice and water. Whip with electric mixer or rotary beater until about double in volume. Blend in 1½ c. whipped topping; pour into pie shell. Chill until firm, about 3-4 hours. Garnish with remaining topping and slice of lemon if desired.

As an alternative to the traditional cranberry-orange relish that is a part of holiday feasting, a reader sends this recipe for Ambrosia Relish. She mentions that it "puzzles as well as pleases for no one seems to be able to identify the main ingredient."

AMBROSIA RELISH

Drain 4 c. julienne beets. Soak them overnight in cold water. Next day: drain thoroughly. Place in large heavy saucepan. Slice and cut in small pieces: 1 orange and 1 lemon (Very thin slices). Add 3 c. sugar and ¼ c. chopped crystallized ginger.

Cook over low heat until syrup is thick and the melange is a beautiful deep amber. Add ¼ c. blanched slivered almonds and cook a minute longer.

When cool, put into covered jar and refrigerate.

The crystallized ginger, sometimes hard to find, now is available locally at the Sunflower Shop.)

Concert Set

The Schoolcraft College Woodwind Quintet will present a concert in the Waterman Campus Center at 8 p.m. Monday, December 3.

Formed in 1973, the quintet features the artistry of five talented musicians, each one a teacher, performer, and member of a major symphony orchestra.

With baby Richard joining the family during the stay in the north, the family of five now is "getting organized" for Christmas season in Northville.

School Board Acts to Save Energy

Pumping conservation in lieu of gasoline, Novi's board of education is seriously considering division of the Southeastern Conference.

The matter is expected to be explored with other members of the SE athletic conference in the wake of Tuesday's action here in which the board unanimously approved "Restrictive" measures to cope with the energy crisis.

Suggested division of the league is one of the most controversial of the initial measures receiving board approval.

But waiting in the wings for possible adoption later if the fuel situation grows worse are such measures as eliminating all night activities in schools, including sports;

rescheduling of school board meetings to daytime hours; a four-day school week with makeup by having Saturday classes next spring; and cancellation of all bus runs except for special education students.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz categorized his recommendations under three progressively worse stages—Restrictive, Critical, and Crisis. Only those recommendations under the heading of "Restrictive" were adopted this week. They include:

- Improve insulation wherever possible.
- Improve maintenance for maximum production of heat.
- Explore measures to minimize fuel by lower room temperatures and water temperatures, warning staff and pupils to dress more warmly.

- Maintain a constant vigil on open doors or windows.
- Centralize Community Education classes.
- Turn off unneeded lights and leave lights off in unused areas.
- Designate a person in each building to be responsible for conservation of all energy uses within the building.
- Devise means of reducing heat to building "hot spots" rather than permitting opening of doors or windows in such areas.
- Repair leaking hot water faucets and make similar kinds of preventive maintenance repairs.

- Improve bus routes exploring main roads only stops (no stops within subdivisions).

- Reduce warm-up time for buses (limiting this possibly to five minutes each as suggested by Secretary Ray Warren).

- Eliminate all field trips—regular and extra curricular—using school vehicles.

- Eliminate all spectator buses.
- Check tuneups on all vehicles.
- Study the possibility of a two-division league.

The two-division league, as suggested by Dr. Kratz, would group those schools closest to each other. At the conclusion of the season, the winners of the two divisional races would play for the championship.

An attempt by Board Vice President Gilbert Henderson to retain field trips and eliminate late buses instead failed to win support. Elimination of late buses is one of the recommendations that would come under the Critical stage suggested by the superintendent.

Henderson himself apparently was satisfied later, upon explanations by Dr. Kratz and Middle School Principal Robert Youngblood, that elimination of the field trips is a "lesser evil" than elimination of late buses.

The latter step, according to Youngblood, would "kill" extra curricular activities at the middle school—including sports and club activities—since they occur after school.

Dr. Kratz made it clear that the energy crisis is "neither theoretical nor long-range in coming. It is real and if we close our eyes it won't just disappear."

Locally, the crucial issue is gasoline consumption, he said. "We have been notified by our present supplier that he will in all probability be unable to deliver fuel beyond the first part of December. We presently are using between 800-1000 gallons of gasoline each week."

Board Trustee Robert Wilkins sought unsuccessfully to authorize the superintendent to go beyond "Restrictive" measures should an even more serious situation arise. But Board President LaVerne DeWaard and Secretary Ray Warren strongly objected to the suggestion arguing that some of the recommendations under the Critical and Crisis categories are so drastic that their implementation should be first voted upon by the board.

Here are what those recommendations, which have not been approved:

Critical Stage: Eliminate all outdoor physical education classes, recesses and other outside activities which require substantial numbers

City Fires Inspector

After nearly five weeks of official silence, news of the on-going investigation of the Novi Building Department surfaced at Monday's Novi City Council meeting.

On the recommendation of City Manager Harold Saunders, the council by a 6-0 margin passed a resolution calling for the discharge of City Plumbing Inspector Albert Miller.

The reason for discharge cited in the resolution is "official misconduct in office."

Miller has been employed by Novi since January of 1971 when he was hired for the Plumbing Inspector position. He had previously been discharged from a position with the State of Michigan.

Miller's discharge, according to the resolution passed by the city council Monday, will be effective December 15 of this year. Under the city charter he has the right to appeal the discharge.

Asked to be more specific about the grounds for dismissal, Saunders told The Novi News Tuesday that the details are strictly a private matter between an employer and an employee.

"Mr. Miller will be presented with a list of the charges against him and if he wants to release them that's up to him," said the City Manager. "At the present time I feel that we have sufficient information as an employer to justify the dismissal of an employee."

According to the city charter, Miller has the right to appeal the discharge and defend himself against the charges before the Mayor.

Saunders indicated that if the Mayor upholds the validity of the charges, the details behind the discharge will be released at that time.

The City Manager refused to say whether criminal charges will be brought against Miller. "That is a matter for our investigation to conclude," he stated. "Whether or not criminal charges will develop out of our investigation will have to be seen."

Saunders went on to say that the tentative discharge of Miller did not indicate that the investigation of the Building Department had concluded.

"At the present time our investigation has been limited to the activities of Mr. Miller," said Saunders. "As a result of our investigation, we have gone through most of the official records of the Building Department and it is within the realm of possibility that information has been uncovered which may be followed up at some future date."

"At this time, however, all our investigation has been centered around Mr. Miller."

Saunders did not rule out the possibility that the FBI had been involved in the investigation. "The FBI has been around the periphery of the case," he admitted. "The major portion of the investigation is being conducted by our own men, however, and I'm not sure to what degree the FBI has been involved."

Miller was suspended without pay from his duties with the City at the end of October. News of the suspension was made public at the October 29 meeting of the city council.

That original suspension expired Monday.

The council met with Saunders prior to Monday's regularly scheduled session, presumably to discuss the evidence against Miller.

The call for his discharge was made in resolution form and was approved unanimously by the council. Mayor Robert Daley, who must rule on the charges if Miller appeals the case, abstained from voting.

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT... — Novi City Treasurer Mrs. Evelyn Natzel (above) carries yet another box filled with tax notices that will be sent to Novi property owners later this week. Mrs. Natzel, along with Deputy Treasurer Bonnie Iseli, reports that the city will be sending out approximately 5,500 notices this year, an increase of 1,000 over the 4,500 notices mailed last year. Taxes are payable at City Hall.

Council Rejects Requests For 'Multiple' Rezoning

Two requests for multiple family residential rezoning were denied, while a third request for a rezoning to a commercial designation was approved, as the Novi Planning Board and City Council sat in joint session at a public hearing Monday.

Specifically, the council took the following actions on the three requests for rezoning brought before it at Monday's hearing:

- Denied a request from Bernard Rollin for the rezoning of a 62-acre parcel on the southeast corner of Grand River and Meadowbrook Road from its existing M-1 (light industry) and R-1 (single family residential) designations to an R-2-A (multiple family residential) designation.

- Approved the request of J. Robert Langan for the rezoning of 32 acres on the northwest corner of Novi and Ten Mile Roads from M-1 to C-2 (general commercial). Langan, the developer of the Roman Plaza on Novi Road just north of Grand River, owns the parcel on which the old goat farm was situated. He told the council Monday that he plans to build a combination bowling alley-lounge on the location.

- Denied the request of Aronoff, Aronoff, Levy, and Boyle for the rezoning of a 17-acre parcel, located between the Novex One industrial park and Novi Road, from M-1 to R-2-A.

In requesting a multiple family residential zoning designation for the property on the southeast corner of Meadowbrook and Grand River, Bernard Rollin reminded the council that a previous request for a M-1 (light manufacturing) zoning for the 62-acre parcel had been turned down earlier this year.

"The terrain is rather problematical and would require a good deal of land balancing before it can be developed," Rollin told the council. "We are willing to take either a multiple family or an industrial rezoning for that property."

To sweeten the deal, Rollin offered to dedicate a 4.5 acre tract between his proposed multiple family residential development and the Willowbrook subdivision which is situated south of his property to the city for use as park land.

He further offered to dedicate an additional piece of land for use as a fire station or for recreation department offices.

However, Rollin's success met with little support from either the planning board or the council. The planners recommended by an 8-0 vote that the request be denied and the council accepted that recommendation by a 6-1 vote. Councilman Denis Berry cast the lone dissenting ballot.

Major objection to the rezoning regarded density problems in the southeast corner of Novi.

Councilman Louie Campbell noted that the city's Master Plan called for approximately 600 multiple family units in that portion of the city. "If we allow this to go through for multiple development, we will have about 350 more units in that area than specified in the master plan," said the Councilman.

In granting the change in zoning to Langan for a commercial development on the northwest corner of Novi and Ten Mile Roads, the council disregarded the planning board's 8-0 recommendation that the request be denied.

The property in question is currently zoned for light industry and is slated in the master plan for development

Thief Swipes Gas Truck

Unique solutions to the national gasoline shortage are beginning to pop up all over the country.

One of the most unusual of those solutions for obtaining gasoline took place in Novi early Sunday morning.

A representative for the Gulf Oil Company called Novi police Sunday to report the theft of a tractor and two tanker trailers from their bulk distributing plant on Grand River.

The truck was loaded with 16,000 gallons of gasoline.

Novi Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner reported Tuesday that the truck had been parked in the Gulf Oil terminal early Sunday by an employee shortly before he went off duty. A different employee on the next shift was assigned to take the loaded truck on a delivery.

But when he went to the location at which the truck had been parked it was nowhere in sight. A search of the terminal failed to uncover the missing vehicle and Gulf officials then notified police of the apparent theft.

The tractor and trailers were valued at $80,000, while the 16,000 gallons of gasoline carried a retail value of approximately $8,000.

The truck was recovered by police in Detroit at approximately 6 a.m. Tuesday in an alley behind a shopping center. All the gasoline had been taken from the truck.

Faulkner said that police were surmising that the truck had been stolen by a person who sold the gasoline to a gas station.

"Gas stations are given a quota of gasoline each month which is based on the amount of gasoline they sold during the corresponding month last year," noted Faulkner. "A station which is selling more gasoline this year than it did last year is looking for means of increasing its gas supply. We can only surmise that the missing gasoline would end up in the underground storage tank of some gasoline station."

Faulkner said that the vehicle is being processed for any possible physical evidence.

Wixom Approves Seeking Crime Prevention Funds

Convinced that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," Wixom City Council voted Tuesday to approve application by Police Chief George Von Behren for federal funds for a crime prevention program.

Action was taken after VonBehren outlined the type of work an officer, who would be hired under a grant program costing an estimated $18,000 to $20,000 for a year, could do in crime prevention education.

Ronald J. Rohdes, Jr. of Oakland County Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, assisted VonBehren in stressing that crime is easier to prevent than to stop. He pledged his assistance in seeking the federal aid.

Rohdes said that, while there is no guarantee such a grant would be renewed, it is usually done for a second year. Such programs, he stated, are 90 percent federally funded with state funds supplying about half of the remaining 10 percent, and the city supplying the final five.

In other action the council instructed VonBehren to present a report on the application of Sam and Lawrence Loberman of Detroit to have a resort liquor license transferred from Isabella, Michigan (Rapid River post office), to Wixom. The Lobermans' plans, council was told, are presently being reviewed by the planning commission. They include a cocktail lounge, restaurants and bowling alley.

The council's action on the matter came as a result of a request from the Department of Commerce-Liquor Control, Commission-asking if it would waive fees on the license for the remainder of the year.

Councilman Gunnar Mettala pointed out that it appeared the commission was not seeking its approval of the transfer but only a waiver of the fee.

Council asked for the police report after it was stated that a dance permit application is being sought. VonBehren is to report to council at the second meeting in December, which was moved up to December 18 because of the Christmas holiday.

New Year's Eve Dance Benefits March of Dimes

Area residents looking for a way to spend New Year's Eve are invited to attend the benefit dinner dance being sponsored by the March of Dimes at the Plymouth Community Center. In addition to helping a good cause, sponsors point out, those attending will have an opportunity to participate in an auction and to win door prizes. The event is semi-formal with music by an Ann Arbor group. Set-ups will be provided. Livonia, Plymouth and Northville residents are invited to make reservations early. They are $21 a couple and may be made by calling 453-4059 or 453-2966.

Nursing Facility Offers Volunteer Opportunity

Beverly Manor Convalescent Center, 24500 Meadowbrook, Novi, is welcoming volunteers in an expanded activities program under the direction of Mrs. Eileen Evon of Farmington, who has been appointed activities coordinator and volunteer director for a gift shop and general store to be managed by residents with many items made by residents to be on sale. Craft items, made in the activities room, also will be on sale. Mrs. Evon stresses that volunteers do not replace staff members but provide services beyond their scope and give a touch with the outside world. By bringing the community into the home, she says, recovery of patients is speeded. Volunteers are used in corrective therapy, manual arts, nursing and social services. Trained skills are welcome but not necessary. Because the holiday time is a lonely one for many residents, volunteers especially are sought. Anyone interested is invited to call Mrs. Evon, Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., at 477-2000.

Northville Colony has "not taken an official position and won't until the planners make their decision."

Planning commissioner Fred Philippeau asked Murdock and Hoyle what areas "will generate taxes to pay for the proposed public safety department? We have the responsibility to provide money to operate this government."

Murdock said he was concerned that with the energy situation the R&D property "will be less saleable now than it would have been a year ago."

However, commission member Kenneth Sewell added that "gas, electricity and oil will be needed in a larger degree for homes."

Township Engineering Consultant William Mosher explained that "any use of this land is four or five years away. You do not zone today for what will be built tomorrow. It is zoned for four or five years in advance."

Cancel all after-school trips, including athletic competition trips; consolidate bus stops; eliminate all driver education classes; and eliminate late buses.

Crisis Stage: Cancel two school days to reduce to the 180-day minimum (Novi's current school year is the longest in history); during winter, for a 10-week period, have school only four days each week and make it up by having classes Monday through Saturday during the last 10 weeks of school in the spring;

Add four weeks more vacation to the Christmas holiday; cancel spring vacation to "repay" one week and add three weeks in June; if permitted by state, reduce to a four-day week by extending the school day by approximately one hour; and cancel all bus runs except for special education students.

Jaycees Host State President

Dick Robinson, 50th president of the Michigan Jaycees, will be the guest speaker at a special dinner meeting of the Novi Jaycees slated for December 4 at the United Methodist Church.

The 32-year old Robinson was elected in May to lead the state organization through their golden anniversary of community development and individual leadership training.

First of all, it should have studies concerning its own costs of operations, and concerning sales techniques of its members. Most importantly, this research should include studies of appraisal problems, comparative rentals, business trends, advertisements and building costs.

A Christmas shoppers' bonus is being offered again this year by 19 downtown Northville stores, in cooperation with the Northville Chamber of Commerce, it was announced this week.

All shoppers—whether they make purchases or not—are eligible for the second annual windfall worth up to $450 in "Christmas Dollars."

The December 10 Christmas Dollar prizes, worth a combined total of $200, will include one $50 prize, two $25 prizes, and ten $10 prizes.

A "Christmas Dollar" is worth the equivalent of $1 in purchase at any of the participating stores.

After the December 10 drawing, the old registrations will be thrown away, and everyone must again register for the Monday, December 17 drawing involving Christmas Dollar prizes worth $250.

For Novi

Eye Liquor Licenses

Novi's struggle to obtain additional liquor licenses may soon meet with some positive results.

City Manager Harold Saunders told the city council Monday that legislation has been introduced in Lansing which would, if enacted, enable Novi and other communities to obtain additional licenses without having to wait for the federal government's decennial census.

A liquor license is viewed as an important asset by most governing bodies because it can be used to attract development and thus increase the tax base.

Municipalities are presently allocated liquor licenses by the state Liquor Control Commission on the basis of population as determined by the decennial census of the federal government. Each city is granted one liquor license for each 1,000 of population.

Novi and other fast-growing communities have objected to this process on the basis that the 10-year interval between censuses is too long.

In Novi, for example, the last decennial census showed a population of approximately 9,000, while the present population is estimated at 14,000. Since liquor licenses are awarded on the basis of the population figures in the decennial census, Novi has nine instead of 14 liquor licenses with no hopes of getting any more until after the 1980 census.

The legislation currently being contemplated in Lansing would alleviate that problem by allowing local governments to conduct their own census counts and authorizing the Liquor Control Commission to award additional licenses on the basis of the results of that census.

City Manager Saunders noted that the legislation would alleviate "our problem and the problems of other fast-growing communities." Councilman Louie Campbell, Novi's legislative delegate to Lansing, indicated that he would shortly be introducing a resolution to the council calling for the support of the proposed legislation.

In other business, the council —unanimously passed an ordinance which combined the Road Department and the Sewer and Water Department into one department which will be known as the Department of Public Works.

—heard a report from Saunders regarding construction costs of the Meadowbrook Road paving project. Saunders told the council that the estimated cost of the total project was pegged at $522,077 and that $397,000 had been paid to date.

Saunders went on to say that sufficient money is available to pay for the balance of the paving project.

The report brought an angry response from Councilman Campbell.

"This job is going to wind up with close to a $100,000 overrun over the original estimate," said Campbell. "We've paid Johnson and Anderson (city engineers) a great deal of money to supervise this project and I want to know why we're having this kind of overrun." Saunders told Campbell that Johnson and Anderson would be before the council with a full report of their activities within two weeks.

Speaking for Myself

Ban Lights For Christmas?

AUDREY MURPHY

This week I'm going to respond to a letter to the editor, which appears on the next page.

We like letters from readers. We encourage them. So normally, we don't write replies (unless requested) even though we may not agree with their content. After all, a letter to the editor is supposed to be opinionated, like an editorial.

But if a letter contains inaccurate or misleading information, it is difficult not to respond. Sometimes, we still hold off, hoping another reader will spot the error and reply.

But in instances where accusations may be harmful to responsible people, and the charges are clearly inaccurate, there's an obligation to respond to avoid lending validity to the misconceptions.

So let's not play the innuendo game with the letter-writer. Let's dissect his shotgun charges pellet-by-pellet and tell it like it is.

First the distortion that Northville teachers were paid for striking ("and not one word of bad ink in the local paper").

The facts are these, as reported at the time of settlement.

Teachers were not paid for the time they were on strike because they did not perform their services.

In fact, they will work 189 days during the current school year and receive pay for 188 days.

School children will receive 180 FULL days of instruction. In past years there have been 181 days of school, but eight of these were only half-days of instruction. The other half of these days were consumed for parent-teacher conferences and curricula and work days.

This year teachers, because they went on strike for 14 days, must work five Saturdays and conduct their parent conferences during after-school hours to make up for the other lost days.

Payments for fringe benefits (life and health insurance) made by the school district covering the strike period have been paid back to the district by each teacher.

Last year when teachers struck for one day, they lost that day's pay. This year the last item to be negotiated at the table was the matter of lost pay. It was finally decided (and reported in The Record) that the teachers could receive their total pay for the year if they made up all their time (plus one day).

Now let's look at the matter of fringe benefits.

The writer refers to The Detroit Free Press reporting use of the school-owned car by the superintendent. "And not one word in The Record".

Recently, an item appeared in Action Line concerning the car used by Northville's superintendent. A woman from South Lyon saw the car at a Northville supermarket and witnessed a woman putting groceries into the state-licensed car.

She wrote Action Line to find out how a state-licensed car could be used for private purposes.

The license was traced to the Northville superintendent, who explained to the Action Line reporter how the car happened to be at the supermarket.

Then Action Line reported that the car was not state-owned, but rather the property of the school district of Northville and that use of the car was a fringe benefit given to the superintendent.

It was not reported that on that particular Friday evening the superintendent's personal car was slated to be taken to the service garage to have its brakes repaired. It did not report that the superintendent drove this car to work rather than have his wife drive a car with faulty brakes. And it did not report that on this single day, grocery day, the superintendent used his own car for business and asked his wife to use the car that normally he uses exclusively for business.

And despite "each week reading The Record front to back", the letter-writer apparently missed newspaper reports of board action beginning in the fall of 1966 when the school system first started buying cars for its superintendent.

The first car was a Chevy, approved for purchase in October, 1966; the replacement was a Ford, purchased in March, 1970; it was traded in for the present Dodge in July, 1972.

In negotiating salary with the superintendent, the board considers the car provision worth between $1,200 and $1,500 per year. In the metropolitan area perhaps 30 to 40 per cent of the districts provide cars for superintendents. Another 50 per cent or so provide a car allowance of so much per month. A smaller number of districts pay 10 to 12 cents per mile for travel.

Northville's school district pays 10 cents per mile to anyone (teacher, administrator, etc.) using his personal car for school business.

The city of Northville pays its manager $83 per month car allowance. It provides vehicles to the superintendent of public works and his assistant, which they take home so that they might be on call at all times.

Like the school district, the city pays 10 cents per mile for an employee's use of his private car for city business.

Perhaps the letter writer would also be interested in how the township spends its money, inasmuch as he is a township taxpayer.

YES . . .

Yes, we should ban outdoor yuletide lighting as a first step in our efforts to learn ways of conserving power. I think we all want to conserve power but not if everyone else goes ahead using up everything (gas, oil, electricity). So we have to agree to restrict the whole community.

It's going to be interesting to find that a simple cut-back of all outdoor Christmas lighting makes us feel cheerful, giving and special about this new form of Christmas spirit. Robert Lazarus Jr., vice-president of the largest department store in Columbus, Ohio, began an energy reduction program in his stores last February, a program that has saved an estimated 1.22 million kilowatt hours of power. A survey taken by Lazarus showed that a 150-watt light burning 70 hours a week consumed $8.19 in power.

Additional changes for more effective use of lighting with less power will be made by Lazarus, including elimination of all exterior Christmas lights, turning on window lights 30 minutes before opening and turning them off one hour after closing, reducing flood lighting of stores and reducing lighting of interior Christmas displays.

Football is not the only area in which we can overshadow those Buckeyes from Columbus. We could lead in banning all outdoor advertising lighting (as the state of Oregon has done), using Christmas spirit to give us the beginning momentum.

Marian Gyr
Brighton

NO . . .

The first time I became aware of what is now commonly called an "energy crisis" was a few years ago when a port for oil tankers in New England was being opposed by the people. Shortly thereafter, a critical shortage of fuel oil was announced for the New England states.

After years of conflict in Vietnam (a conflict during which fuel for tanks, trucks, and planes flowed from a horn of plenty) my second exposure to the "crisis" arrived. The current "critical" crisis seems to coincide with a declining coal industry and the desire of the oil companies to get the Alaska Pipe Line under construction along with an increase in prices. What makes the crisis even more dramatic is its proximity to Watergate and the sad state of affairs in the Middle East.

As a concerned citizen, I question these "events" as being not so much an energy crisis as being a political or special interest crisis. I will be curious to see (now that our holiday lights are banned and thermostats must be lowered) if our President flies to San Clemente or to Florida during the Holiday season or will he remain at the White House with no lights shining, wearing a sweater for the "good of the country." I suspect that as usual it will only be the average citizen who will be forced to "sacrifice."

Photographic Sketches . . .

By JIM GALBRAITH

November Morn

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Speculations about fuel rationing bring to mind a different time and place.

Of the unpainted old garage squeezed between a young willow and the empty chicken coop where the Wolf pretended to sleep.

Of the two-foot wide path that snaked past the garage and of the nearby matching unpainted high board fence.

Of the enormous padlocked gate that led directly to the mysterious house where the Giant Hun lived alone, with only his evil cats and the Wolf to keep him company.

It was the time when Lum urged Abner to buy bonds.

When people raised blisters on their feet from stomping tincans until the cans were flat.

When lonesome stars were hung in windows not just at Christmas time.

This was the time and the place.

Both are gone.

But I remember them well, mostly because of the adventure two boys shared near the unpainted fence.

Rationing.

The boys knew its meaning. They stood in the same lines as their parents waiting to buy butter and oil and meat and tires and silk stockings.

More importantly they knew about the Giant Hun with the familiar black mustache and the shaven head.

This old telephone pole of a man daily left the side door of his house and goose-stepped down Pettibone Avenue, turned at Fenton Road and followed it into the country where he hoed cucumbers. He left regularly in the morning, returning just before dusk.

But Friday was different. On Friday the Giant Hun jackknifed himself over the Black Dart hidden in the garage and sped off in the same direction. Upon returning, he always carried a shopping bag slung over the rear wheel.

It was late afternoon the day the boys made the discovery that convinced them that the Giant Hun was indeed a spy. They had crawled under the board fence, crept past the sleeping Wolf, and peered into the garage through a crack in the wall.

There, piled in the center of the dirt floor, were maybe seven or eight sacks of sugar. Bricks of gold would have been less startling. Sugar was richer than lard, more precious than coal. It was sold on the blackmarket, coveted by canning farm folks, and parceled out to housewives queued up at the grocery store.

Hoarded sugar!

Bo Learns There's No Santa (or Roses)

relatively short, but definitely not sweet.

for the first time.

They say time heals wounds.

His struggle to maintain inner control was often betrayed by his voice. But his words were as clear as pistol shots, and frequently as sharp.

In some ways he was like a little boy learning that Santa's not for real.

If so, 24 hours weren't nearly enough to drain the bitterness welled-up within Bo Schembechler.

His chief targets were Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke and MSU Athletic Director Burt Smith. He also took a not-so-veiled swipe at his own boss, M Athletic Director Don Canham.

Being good doesn't necessarily mean you'll get what you want.

Saturday he coached his unbeaten Wolverines to the best on-the-field record of any football team in the Big Ten Conference.

And he didn't overlook a good portion of his audience, the alums who both tolerate and are part of what Bo views as the problem.

Monday Bo finally had time to turn his attention from his job on the football field and look around at what everyone else was doing. He'd performed his assignment. So had his players. What happened to the other teachers of teamwork and sportsmanship?

Sunday he learned another team was being awarded the prize for the best season performance in the Big Ten.

For underneath it all, Bo was revolting against the system in behalf of his players.

"Commissioner Duke says we must improve the image of the conference. He absolutely destroyed it", Bo charged.

Monday noon he made his regular weekly appearance before some 400 members of the U of M Club of Ann Arbor.

It was as though he had just discovered the seamy side of politics, or was speaking out against its evils

He accused the Big Ten commissioner of telling

Speaking for The Record

The township pays 12 cents per mile for employees using their own car for township business.

The township provides a car for its building official. It also pays its electrical inspector and its plumbing inspector $50 each per month for car use. It pays $75 per month for car use to the heating-air conditioning inspector.

Now let's get down to the suggestion that for some reason or other (which only the writer seems to know) The Record and "good 'ol Bill" don't have the guts to criticize the school board.

Maybe (who knows) he thinks it's because my wife is a teacher in the system.

Or maybe it's because he thinks I'm particularly friendly with some board members.

I don't know, he doesn't say. Maybe it sounds more incriminating merely to say "how strange indeed!"

The truth is that this newspaper has never dodged an issue or failed to reveal any condition that it was aware of because of personal friendships or pressures, financial or otherwise.

And when it does so it will no longer be able to attract the high calibre of journalists it now enjoys having on its staff.

The Record has not discouraged the widespread practice in the city, township and school district of providing cars, allowances and mileage money to certain employees. We believe these fringes are necessary, but we believe those responsible for such expenditures should be certain that they are not excessive.

While we agree that it is important to check even the smallest details when it comes to the way tax dollars are spent, we think it unwise to overlook total performance for the sake of finding one thing wrong.

And The Record happens to think that Northville has a pretty good school system with a hard-working, well-informed school superintendent backed up by an assistant and a business manager any district would be proud to have. The same can be said for the members of the elected board of education.

They're still fair game for criticism so far as this newspaper is concerned, and by this time I'm sure they're all aware of that fact.

But we firmly believe that half-truths, innuendos and outright fabrications, if unchallenged or unexplained, can damage or destroy the enthusiasm of any organization.

It isn't our intent to constantly look for "what is wrong". We believe that the public has a right to know both the good and the bad and it is our job to report it as accurately as possible.

And, it has never been contended here that our editorials are written "right down the middle".

They're biased. They're our opinion. They're not intended to be right down the middle.

We make every attempt to report news stories accurately, objectively and fully. This is not easy for a number of reasons...including how much background to provide in reporting continuing action, how much space is available, and how do you determine what's most important in any meeting or activity.

But these decisions are not singular. They are discussed by editors and reporters and a judgement is reached. Reporting news events involving human beings is serious and we do not take the responsibility lightly.

So now let's get down to the clever little aside tucked neatly into brackets: "(Don't die in the nude, kids)".

Coincidentally, in recently looking through a file of personal letters I have received since taking over The Record in 1956, I came across one from the late township treasurer, Alex Lawrence, written April 16, 1961.

It said, in part, "it might interest you to know that I have watched the growth of your paper, thru several ownerships and am all for the things you are accomplishing...tell them to the best of your ability".

It's coincidental because, of course, the letter-writer is referring to the report of Alex's death in his little "nude" zinger.

Alex and I weren't particularly close friends. You might say because of strong political differences, we weren't friends at all.

I was surprised, and flattered, when his fine son and daughter asked me if I would serve as a pallbearer at his funeral.

They had read the news story in The Record on his death and they graciously thanked me for it.

It was a very small funeral. I was the last car in the six-car procession returning from services in Plymouth to the cemetery in Northville.

And as we entered the township limits of Northville, I suppose a curious taxpayer could have wondered why such a small procession should be escorted by two township police cars. Some might even wish to complain and call a halt to such "abuses".

But maybe if it were explained that Alex Lawrence served his township long and faithfully, and that someone in authority at township hall thought that it would be an appropriate tribute to his service, they might understand and accept the "cost to the taxpayer".

Fortunately, no one called Action Line on that little ditty.

Anyway, our report of Alex's death contained all the facts that we considered important.

The Detroit News reported that many firemen fought heavy flames and that the ex-treasurer was burned to death.

The Record reported the facts. The small fire was confined to one room of the house. Alex was not found in that room. He was not burned. There was no evidence at the time as to whether he died of a heart attack (perhaps while trying to rush from the house) or from smoke inhalation.

So instead of letting the facts of how his body was found "filter" back to the public, we reported the situation accurately.

Later it was determined he had died of smoke inhalation and it was so reported in The Record.

It was a judgement call on our part, but one that followed discussion.

It may have spoiled some fun for the gossips. But it was the way Alex said to do it.

Elect Directors

FOUR PERSONS were elected to the board of directors of Northville Area Economic Development Corporation recently. They are: John Carlo, William Milne, Lini Handy, and Wesley Hendrikson. Hendrikson's term is for one year, filling the seat held by Donald Lawrence who resigned upon moving from the community.

The Giant Hun was worse than a spy, the boys whispered in agreement when suddenly the Wolf appeared sniffing their legs and sizing up his dinner. And with their eyes riveted to the animal whose wagging tail did not allay their fears, they failed to see in time the shadow that came up on their blind side and clamped a vice on their arms.

He said nothing, just tightened his grip, led his captives into the house and shoved them into kitchen chairs.

Digging into a cupboard drawer, instead of a carving knife he came up with a pencil and a pad of paper. He scribbled the words, "No talk, no hear," and then added the question, "Why look?," before pushing the paper and pencil at his guests.

They wrote out their explanation as honestly as they dared and returned the pad. He read it and then frowned and then laughed. He was still laughing when he went to the cupboard again, this time returning with cookies.

After they had eaten, the boys and the Wolf and the Giant Hun and maybe a cat or two went out to the garage. In a flash his knife slit through the side of one of the sacks and a pile of white stuff poured out. Tiny silk fuzz.

Milk weed seed.

The kind kids still catch, wish on, and then blow away.

Like so many people who saved big wads of cigarette package tinfoil, the old man who toiled in the fields saved milk weed pods, stored them in his garage, and wondered what to do with them.

Our Giant Hun was really a softie...a patriotic softie at that.

And even as I remember the other time and place of ration, I wonder yet if any of those milk weed seeds were really stuffed into life preservers to keep shipwrecked sailors afloat.

Readers Speak

'Why Didn't Record Oppose Strike Pay for Teachers?'

To the Editor: Each week, I read the Record with great interest, front to back, and I must say that the reporting is very clear and complete, even down to the most minute facts. (Don't die in the nude, kids).

I never miss your editorials in which you have stated more than once that you play it right down the middle, no holds barred, or favors given, although I must admit to just a "pinch" of cynicism on my part while I read this, but then I must also admit that I am a cynic.

But no matter, let's get back to the home front and talk about the school strike and the school budget and the school board.

First I must congratulate the teachers on their fine showing and the clean battle that they fought, because being a union man myself, I know through my own strike times what you people went through. I have been on strike two different times in my life, once for five weeks and the other for almost five months, but in both strikes the company paid not one cent to us for the time that we were on strike! And not one word of bad ink in the local paper. Great! Congratulations.

So now let us talk to the other half of this strike. Since we taxpayers were going to pay up anyway, why did we have to go through the exercise of keeping students out of class?

About the new budget. One can only wonder how much of the 20 per cent increase will go to finance the next strike and the other fringe benefits as reported on the front page of the Detroit Free Press. I think that the gas pinch, if not the unfair cost to the taxpayer, would bring a halt to some of these abuses. I am speaking, of course, of the taxpayers supplying an auto to one of our well paid school administrators for any use that he sees fit. And yet not one word in the Record to discourage this practice. Strange indeed - and "straight down the middle" of course.

As for the School Board, once was a time when the Record would devote entire editorials condemning the Board for holding what the Record considered "secret meetings" and one can only conclude, sir, that the actions now taken by the Board meets with your complete approval because many of the taxpayers have read all of your editorials since the strike and up to this latest budget hearing and not one drop of bad ink from good 'ole Bill. How strange indeed.

I can only wonder after having read the minute reporting of our "unification" election by the Record why you now take such great pains to avoid any editorial remarks concerning these problems in our school administration. Strange? Not really.

Yours truly, Martin C. Cayley

FISH Appeals for Room

To the Editor:

Once again Northville-Novi FISH is turning to the members of our community in a time of need. Our Family Clothes Closet, presently located in the Main Street School in Northville, is in danger of being closed down. The state fire marshal has ruled the room unsatisfactory and we need a new facility.

In the past year FISH has helped more than seventy-five families. We have donated clothing to area nursing homes, Plymouth State Home and to Northville State Hospital. We feel our Family Clothes Closet is a much needed community service.

Our appeal is to anyone who may have a room with outside access that we may use. If any person or business feels they can help or wishes further information, please contact Anne Rogers at 349-7337 or Shirley Matthews at 349-7197. Help us help the less fortunate of our communities.

Thank you, Anne Rogers (Mrs. Max) Chmn., Northville-Novi FISH were already at 68 or 70, reducing it another six degrees "would mean a pretty chilly house. I think there's got to be a little clarification."

Mrs. Arthur Anderson, 40450 Seven Mile Road, pledged her family's "total support" for the President's proposals. "I see no problem with them," she asserted. "Frankly, I think it's about time people started practicing a little self discipline anyway."

The president of the Northville Chamber of Commerce, N. C. Schrader, said the gasoline sales ban might cut down the numbers of people visiting Northville on Sundays but he saw the problem as a minor one.

And Jeananne Weston, saleswoman in The Marquis, suggested the gasoline ban might be good for local shops since more people may be forced to shop locally rather than traveling to other communities.

Realtor Stanley Johnston said the President's Sunday message was discussed the following day during a meeting of local real estate salesmen. Most concluded that the gasoline sales ban would definitely have an adverse effect on their business.

The number of weekend "lookers" for homes is likely to be reduced, he said, pointing out that his office is considering use of one company car to transport prospective customers so as to minimize travel.

No changes in bus scheduling is expected in Northville, a spokesman for Short Way Lines told The Record. "We sold some of the company's routes earlier and we adjusted others so that we think our fuel allotment will be sufficient to meet our needs," the spokesman said.

While fuel oil dealers were attempting to ascertain how the President's 15-percent cutback in delivery of fuel for homes will be implemented beginning January 1, Charles Ely of C. R. Ely & Sons Garden Center voiced alarm over another aspect of the fuel crisis.

It's been 10 days since the Center has had any firewood to sell and it may be a good deal longer, said Ely, who said he refuses "to pay the ridiculous prices they (suppliers) are asking for wood. I won't insult my customers by trying to pass on those kinds of prices."

Ely said firewood where it is available is selling for as much as $40 or $45 a cord. When Ely last had firewood available it was selling for $23 a cord.

"If everyone refused to pay the terrible figures they are asking today, you'd see those prices would tumble back down to normal in just a matter of a few days," he declared.

Asks for Light

Five suggestions to reduce traffic congestion and confusion in Northville township were brought to the attention of township board members last week.

Speaking to trustees, Troy Milligan of West Main Street advocated the township press for a street light at the intersection of Eight Mile and Griswold.

"I've seen two near accidents there," Milligan said, adding that at night, drivers don't know which way the intersection turns.

He also suggested the township seek a stop light at Six Mile and Sheldon which would operate during afternoon hours to alleviate the congestion on Sheldon between Five Mile and Six Mile and also develop access to Highland Lakes through Gerald Avenue.

Two traffic suggestions concerned possible placement of a future fire station on Six Mile Road near Winchester Road.

Milligan advised the township to obtain computer readouts "at the fire station so the firemen know whether a train will be at the Seven Mile Road crossing at the time a fire engine will be trying to get to a fire."

He also suggested developing an access to Seven Mile Road from Six Mile "other than Haggerty Road or Northville Road."

Trustees took no action on Milligan's suggestions but said they would keep them in mind

Novi Dominates Grid Selections

By PHILIP JEROME

The quality of area football is definitely on the rise.

Coach Tom Wilson's powerful Pinckney team put together its second consecutive 7-2 season.

And a vastly-improved Northville squad under the tutelage of Coach Chuck Shonta fashioned a 5-4 record in spite of having to play in the rugged Western Six Conference.

But once again there was no question whatsoever in the minds of the Sliger Publications staffers that the Team of the Year - for the third consecutive year - was the high-scoring Wildcats from Novi High School.

Coach John Osborne's Wildcats swept easily through their eight game schedule to rack up their second consecutive undefeated season, win their second consecutive Southeastern Conference championship, and run their streak of consecutive victories to 21.

You have to go all the way back to October 15 of 1971 to find the last time Novi lost a football game.

Fittingly, Osborne was tapped for Coach of the Year honors in the fifth annual Sliger Publications All-Area Football Awards.

Singled out for special recognition as Players of the Year were Jim Porterfield, Northville's outstanding defensive tackle, and George Reynolds, the elusive Pinckney running back.

Any question about the selection of Novi as Team of the Year was effectively resolved by the Wildcats themselves as they personally eliminated all other contenders for the title.

After running over Pinckney in their pre-season scrimmage, Novi proceeded to register regular season victories over Northville (27-18), South Lyon (26-7), and Brighton (37-8).

The Wildcats were not overlooked by the men who compile the polls, either. Novi was rated among the state's Top Ten Class B teams in every poll and were ranked as high as second in one of the polls - the poll, incidentally, which is generally acknowledged as the most accurate.

Coach Osborne's Novi gridders forged out their undefeated season with the same basic tools they've used in each of the past two years: an explosive, high-scoring offense built around the triple-option running attack and a swarming, hard-hitting defense.

With Dave Brown at quarterback and Eric Hansor and Mike Riley manning the halfback slots, the Wildcats were a threat to score every time they got their hands on the ball, regardless of their field position.

By the end of the season, Novi had rung up a total of 270 points - an average of better than 33 points per game.

And on defense, the Wildcats were no less effective as they yielded just 53 points and recorded three shutouts.

What's more, the stingy Novi defenders limited four of their eight opponents to less than 100 yards of total offense. Only one team, Northville, scored as many as three touchdowns against the Wildcats, while Milan was the only team to score as many as two touchdowns against them.

A total of 24 athletes were selected to the 1973 Sliger All-Area team. In addition to full 11-man offensive and defensive units, a place kicker and an extra running back were included among the selections.

As in past years, no player was named to both the offensive and defensive teams, although several were deserving of the honor.

Novi, Pinckney, and Northville dominated the 24-man squad with each school having six players selected for honors. Two players from South Lyon and Whitmore Lake were named to the team, while Brighton and Hartland each had one player on the team.

Here, then, is the 1973 Sliger Publications All-Area Football Team:

John Osborne

He's Area's Top Coach

Unanimous choice of the Sliger Publications staffers for Coach of the Year honors is Novi's John Osborne.

Osborne's Wildcats swept through their 1973 schedule to finish the year with a perfect 8-0 record and win their second consecutive Southeastern Conference championship.

Perfect seasons and SEC championships are nothing new to the Alma College graduate, however, in 1972 his Wildcats were 8-1 and last year they finished with a 9-0 mark.

Over the past three years Osborne's teams have posted a combined record of 25-1 and have established themselves as one of the top football teams in the state. Their consecutive game win streak now totals 21.

The decision to tap Osborne for Coach of the Year honors was predicated only partly on his won-lost record over the past three years. The deciding factor in the selection of the Novi coach was that he

Advent Wreath

It's a Way to Beat Commercial Christmas

By TERESA ARNOLD

Tired of the commercialization of Christmas? Some families have awakened the old custom of the Advent wreath to bring alive the true meaning and spirit of Christmas during the Advent season.

The Advent wreath originated in Germany several hundred years ago. Since the word Advent means "the coming," the season has been a time of preparation for the coming of the Lord at Christmas. Other central thoughts of the season have been His coming at the day of judgment and at the death of Christians.

The Advent wreath epitomizes the celebration of the coming. Consisting of an evergreen circle, it represents the unceasing flow of time—the thousands of years from Adam to Christ—during which the world waited for the coming of its Savior.

It also symbolizes the cycle of years since then that man has been awaiting His second and final coming and the longing for Him on Christmas.

The circle too reminds people of God—a being with no beginning and no end. The wreath bears four candles, equally spaced, for the four weeks of Advent. The lighted candle symbolizes Christ who came to enlighten those in spiritual darkness. Violet ribbons are attached to the candles to remind man that Advent is a time of purification and prayer so that all may welcome the Prince of Peace on His birthday.

In the Roman Catholic Church, generally, three purple candles are used for the first, second and fourth Sundays of Advent. A pink candle is used for the third Sunday of Advent to symbolize the nearness of Christmas day. That Sunday, called Gaudate Sunday, has traditionally been the only joyful day in Advent.

In previous years, the Catholic disciplines of fasting and abstinence were just as austere for Advent as they had been in Lent. For that reason, Advent was sometimes called the "Winter Lent."

Actual Advent wreath ceremonies today are simple.

Each Sunday the candle for that week is lighted and a simple prayer is said. For the first week the family gathers for the blessing of the wreath and the lighting of the first candle, usually by the youngest child.

During the week the candle is left burning during the evening prayers or meal. Two candles are lighted on the second Sunday, usually by the oldest child. Three are lighted on the third Sunday, usually by the mother.

Week by week the anticipation of the Birth grows until the fourth Sunday when the father lights all four candles.

According to Father Raymond Klauke of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Brighton, the Advent wreath can be transformed into a Christmas wreath. Ribbon and candles can be replaced with red ribbon and long red tapers to be lighted at breakfast on Christmas morning. Other festive decorations may also be added.

"Children are deeply impressed with the beautiful symbolism of the Advent Wreath. Their anticipation of Christmas increases as the ceremonies progress each week," Father Klauke said.

Advent is observed in the Roman, Eastern, Anglican and Lutheran Churches and it

Brighton Churches Plan Annual Service

The annual candlelight procession heralding the beginning of Advent will be held Sunday, December 2, in Brighton.

Participating groups from Brighton churches will come from their various areas in the city, timing their arrival at the Mill Pond Park for 7 p.m. A brief service will be held with the singing of Christmas carols.

All church fellowships in the community are invited to participate, according to Pastor Dave Kruger of Lord of Life Community Church.

In the past, St. Patrick's Church, First United Methodist, First United Presbyterian, Brighton Wesleyan, St. George Lutheran, St. Paul's Episcopal and Lord of Life have participated.

"The purpose of this annual event is to demonstrate, in a small way, the unity we have as Christian congregations in the Brighton area," Mr. Kruger said. "All types of groups—everyone—is welcome to join in the procession."

For further information Pastor Kruger can be contacted at 229-4896.

Area Woman Arrives At Peruvian Mission

EDITOR'S NOTE: Pat Erwin is a missionary to Indian tribes at Limoncocha, Peru for Wycliffe Bible Translators. The 21-year old Novi girl is a college graduate whose call to Peru was chronicled in The South Lyon Herald in mid-September. Her footnote to Mrs. Marilyn Herald, who wrote the article at that time, follows:

"Dear Mrs. Herald—
"After being here only three weeks I had the rare opportunity (very few people may go) to go out and visit the notorious Aucas. God is TRULY glorified by the changes in these people. I want to share this personally with you. I also want to thank you for the article you wrote. I felt you did a faithful job of reporting accurately my thoughts and I DO appreciate it. You have been given a real gift and skill.

Following are excerpts from Miss Erwin's letter:

Hello, Dear Friend!
I didn't want to wait any longer to let you know I have arrived safely in Ecuador. The country is very beautiful and I've already had many exciting adventures. I want you to feel a part of each of them.

I arrived September 26 in Quito, the capital city of Ecuador. It is just beautiful—a lovely city cradled in the strength of the mountains. At night the city sparkles like a sky full of stars. As the result of its high altitude, Quito deserves the label it has been given; "the city of eternal spring." I enjoyed the warm welcome of the Wycliffe people there who made me feel so much at home.

I flew out to Limoncocha on the DC-3 a few days after my arrival in Quito. From the plane I got my first view of the jungle, with the wide ribbons of water running through it. As we came down for the landing it didn't take long to feel the change in heat and humidity. At the base I received another warm welcome from my fellow-workers.

I changed into my jeans and boots and got out to the garden. We grow pole beans, bush beans, corn, tomatoes, squash, cucumbers, okra, soybeans, pineapple, bananas, papaya, plantanos, and rice. Lemons, grapefruit, oranges, and avocados are also produced. A man from Florida who's had some experience in growing vegetables in the tropics arrived the same day I did to help out for a few days. Gene Miller, the fellow I've come to help in the agriculture program, also came in that night after spending two weeks in one of the tribes helping out with a new chicken program.

The three of us began work the next day to enlarge the garden. The main goal of the Ag. program is to try to improve the diets of the Indian people and to prepare them for the adjustments they will have to make as civilization rapidly moves in to change their life style. God opened up the door for us to fly out to three of the tribes to plant small gardens. We visited the Secoyas at Shushufindi, the Cofans at Durono, and the Aucas at Tiwaeno. Each group has their own remarkable and distinct characteristics.

I'm taking pictures along the way to share with you when I return but I wasn't skillful enough to catch through film the laughter of the Cofans, the songs of greeting in Secoya, or the inquisitiveness of the Aucas. It was a joy and privilege to visit each tribe. We also have one garden started among the Quichua Indians. Gabriel, who works for us here on the base, asked us to come and help him get a garden started. Pray for us in our follow-up work.

As we were ready to leave Tiwaeno, one of the older Auca women gently put her hand on my arm and then looked at me shyly. Then she looked again and again at my arm. The others looked too and joined in laughter. I looked at my arm and couldn't figure out what was going on. Rachael Saint was busy getting a calf ready for flight, but someone else explained that they were fascinated by the hair on my arm—a very rare commodity among Indians! Then I joined in on their fun and laughed too. The next thing we laughed at was my tennis shoes, and so on... The motto hanging in our dining room here at Limoncocha has been useful: "He who laughs...lasts."

Sometime in the future I would like to start a vegetable garden project with the children at the Quichua school. I would appreciate your prayers concerning this. Particularly that the children would be enthusiastic and that God would bridge the communication gap.

Although I had three terms of introductory Spanish at school last year I am finding difficulty in comprehending and expressing things in Spanish. One of the ladies here at the base is tutoring me and I am confident that God can do great things to overcome this stumbling block. Your prayers can do wonders.

I especially want to learn Spanish so I can talk with Gonzalo, a hard-working fifteen year old Quichua Indian who helps us in the garden. I am not sure if he is a Christian and I ask that you would also remember to pray for Gene and me as we witness by working with him each day.

There is not enough time to share everything with you now, but I hope to keep you informed on the highlights. I am so thankful to God for the way He has supplied you to care for, and pray for me. I trust that God will bless you abundantly as you invest in His Kingdom in this way.

South Lyon Lutheran

Church Sets Advent Vespers

The Immanuel Lutheran Church of South Lyon will hold advent vespers services at 7 p.m. on December 5, 12 and 19 in preparation for Christmas, Pastor George Tiefel, Jr. announces.

After each of the vespers, the Girl Pioneers will serve light refreshments.

And on December 12, the junior and senior choirs of the Zoar Lutheran Church of Detroit will participate in the vespers as guests of the junior and senior choirs of the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

SALEM
This Sunday, December 2, will find the Salem Bible Church celebrating Civil Air

Patrol Day. Squadrons from Walled Lake and Farmington will be guests at morning services. Following services, there will be a potluck at 1 p.m.

BRIGHTON
The Livingston County Holiness Association will hold its December meeting at the Brighton Church of the Nazarene, 5291 Ethel Street. The Reverend William Ross of Adrian will be the speaker. The meeting will be Tuesday, December 4, at 7:30 p.m. Officers for 1974 will be elected. All are cordially invited to attend.

Evangelist Lous Paul Goldstein will be the guest speaker at the home of Brighton Area Bible Study groups meeting at the home of Mrs. Violet Green, 10410 Old US-23, November 28 at 10 a.m. A discussion period and luncheon will follow. All interested women are welcome.

A new Alcoholics Anonymous and Alanon group will meet tonight, November 28, at 8 p.m. at the Hardy United Methodist Church Hall, 6510 East Highland Road, Howell.

The group is scheduled to meet every Wednesday evening. The administrative council of the church approved the creation of the group at its November 19 meeting.

Christian Custom?

Who would have thought the custom of writing letters containing about, "what I want for Christmas" was originally a Christian Advent custom?

In Bavaria and Austria, children would put their letters to the "Child Jesus in Heaven" on the windowsills when going to bed before the visit of St. Nicholas on December 5. St. Nicholas was supposed to take them with him on his visit during the night.

BRIGHTON DEVELOPMENT—Retention of nature is the big feature in Hamilton Farms subdivision located on Flint Road between I-96 and Grand River in Brighton. The bulldozer has left most of the natural sloping terrain untouched in this subdivision featuring several models priced from $31,320 to $36,900. Above, a Hamilton Farms condominium combines contemporary design in a rustic setting. Below is a typical condominium living room showing the sliding doors leading to the balcony overlooking the surrounding wooded areas.

wrapped up his second consecutive undefeated season this year with practically a brand new squad of players.

Graduation struck the team that won the 1972 SEC championship heavily. The entire first string backfield graduated, including All-State quarterback Steve Lukkari and All-State halfbacks Jim VanWagner and Pat Boyer.

In fact, only one starter from the 1972 offensive unit returned to the 1973 team. On defense, Osborne lost his top four defensive backs to graduation.

Nevertheless, the 1973 edition of the Novi football team was just as explosive as the 1972 crew.

For his ability to take virtually a brand new team and develop it into one of the state's top Class B powerhouses, John Osborne is our choice as Coach of the Year.

JOE SCOTT and Fred "Fritz" Henry are selling a familiar South Lyon landmark to two other men soon. Tom Snell of Miami, Florida and Jeff Eckert of South Lyon will take over the Scotty and Fritz automotive repair shop at 333 South Lafayette on December 1.

The new owners plan a grand opening for Wednesday, December 5.

CATHERINE MASLOWSKI of 435 Welch was the winner of a bicycle in the free drawing Saturday sponsored by Dino's Pizza, 1053 Novi Road in Northville. Winners of free pizza in the drawing were Marla Wald of 42322 Norwood Court and Tammy Sharp of Novi Road.

Besides winning the new bicycle, Catherine also receives a free dinner with the Lion's quarterback, Greg Landry, at Dino's Pizza in Westland, according to the Northville store manager, Al Caradonna.

"THINGS are beginning to hum", announces Mrs. Gladys Bader, new owner of the Midwest Beauty College, 9829 E. Grand River, Brighton. She assumed management October 25.

Upgraded education methods including the use of styling charts and audio visual aids have been introduced to the school by the new owner, who previously managed the Lakeland Beauty School in Walled Lake, as well as several other well known establishments throughout the state.

A facelifting of the present facilities in the new location, The Grand Plaza, 30 students, half of which are seniors and a full time and part time schedule of classes keep Mrs. Bader busy without the daily drive from Richmond. However she plans on relocating in the vicinity as soon as possible.

More than 900 income tax practitioners from Michigan will take part in 11 income tax schools, to be held in 10 Michigan cities, late this month and next.

Out of The Horse's Mouth

Send your questions, comments or horse show news to "Horse's Mouth", care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, MI. 48178. This column is open to news of all breeds of horses and ponies.

It appears that a horse can survive outdoors in cold weather without shelter as long as he is given plenty of food and fresh water.

A horse remaining outdoors to face the elements in winter will naturally burn up more calories in providing heat for his body. He should therefore be fed extra rations of food, especially grain (corn).

One reason for the horse's being able to withstand cold weather so well is that climatic changes do not affect him as much as other animals. The horse has a built-in mechanism for rapid regulation of body temperature.

This great adaptability of the equine species has been responsible for its usefulness to man in every geographic area, whether it be Iceland, Arabia, or the United States.

Although a horse is not affected by cold weather, drafts and cold, damp surroundings can be very bad for his health. More horses seem to catch cold from standing in barns that are not properly ventilated or are drafty with hard damp floors than from being outside in the snow. It is a well-known fact (as any horseman will attest) that nine out of ten horses will stand outside regardless of the weather even though they are provided with a run-in shelter.

Naturally a horse should be provided with warm, dry surroundings. If this is not possible, however, he should be given proper food to help him survive a long, cold winter with no ill effects. After all, he has been doing that for thousands of years.

LAMENESS IN THE PLEASURE HORSE—Sole Abscess: A puncture of the bottom of the foot by a nail, etc. Usually a hoof tester is used to locate the spot of soreness.

Nail punctures or cuts from glass or metal are often most difficult to find. The veterinarian will cut into the hoof and establish drainage. This must be kept draining until it is completely cleaned up.

Stone Bruises: Caused by stepping on a stone. The horse will react to the hoof tester, but unless the bruise is unusually severe, hemorrhage in the sole will not be visible for about six weeks after injury. In this case you might have the horse shod with pads to add protection to the hoof.

Navicular Disease: An arthritic change in the navicular bone inside the hoof which is characterized by a shortened stride in one or both front legs. This condition usually must be X-rayed to locate.

Advent Wreath

is generally considered the beginning of the Church year. Many denominations observe the Advent wreath ceremonies as a part of their Advent services.

Tradition carries the observance of Advent as far back as St. Peter, reliable history dates it to the fifth century. As observed by the Roman Catholic and English Churches, this season was probably introduced into the calendar by Gregory the Great, according to some historians.

THE HOME FRONT
By OREN F. NELSON

Fuel cells are being tested for providing electricity to homes, stores, apartments. Tests will continue to 1975, to see if costs are comparable to ordinary power. Advantages are: no need for power lines, no moving parts, no pollution.

If your decorating plans require a lot of the same kind of fabric (very fashionable now), ask your fabric store if they'll give you a discount by the bolt.

Quickest way to an extra room may be to remodel your garage.

If your cedar-lined closets and cedar chest have lost their pungency, a light once over with sandpaper will restore it.

Things are not what they used to be! The old army barracks are giving way to townhouse-style buildings, with air-conditioned, carpeted "apartments" designed for three or four soldiers, according to U.S. Defense Department plans.

Have you seen what's new in modern homes? Let us move you to where the living is easy—and mighty pleasant!

Wilson's Pirates as a sophomore and has held the job ever since. He was named to the All-Area team last year as a junior and this year added All-Ingham County recognition to his list of honors.

GUARDS: Filling the guard positions on the 1973 All-Area squad are Whitmore Lake's HAROLD BRAUN and Northville's STEVE SERKAIAN. With good size and good speed, the 5-10, 190-pound Braun was a standout for Coach Phil Davidson's Trojans. The husky senior lineman was unanimously selected to All-Tri-County League honors and was honored by his teammates as the team's Most Valuable Player.

Serkaian (5-11, 195) is another two-time All-Area selection. A four-year letterman for the Mustangs, he developed into an outstanding offensive lineman in the sophisticated Northville running attack and is being recruited by several small colleges.

TACKLES: Named to one of the tackle positions on the All-Area team is Pinckney's FLOYD MACKENZIE. A 6-0, 185-pound senior, MacKenzie is yet another two-time All-Area selection. A guard for the Pirates, he is an outstanding offensive lineman who, together with Duchane, was a key factor in the highly successful Pinckney rushing attack.

Named to the other offensive tackle position is Novi's RON BUCK. A strong two-way performer for the Wildcats, the 6-0, 210-pound junior was probably the finest offensive lineman on the Novi team. Said one awed SEC coach: "I had my biggest, toughest lineman opposite Buck on a goal line defense and he just knocked my man right on his can."

ENDS: An easy choice for tight end on the All-Area squad is Pinckney's LANCE KUHN. A 6-1, 190-pound senior, Kuhn was an All-Area selection last year as a junior and did nothing but enhance his claim to that berth with a fine senior year. Described by his coach as a "terrific blocker," Kuhn also found time to snare 17 passes. He was a unanimous All-Ingham County selection.

South Lyon's DAN CHERESKO was a narrow winner over Northville's JIM O'BRIEN in the race for split end honors on the All-Area squad. Although only a 5-8, 150-pound junior, Cheresko proved himself to be a dangerous receiver with good speed and good hands as he latched onto 24 aerials for more than 300 yards.

QUARTERBACK: Once again this year the area produced a number of fine quarterbacks. Nevertheless, Novi's DAVE BROWN was the choice over Pinckney's STEVE BISHOP and South Lyon's TONY KERN.

Selection of Brown marks the third consecutive year that the husky 6-0, 170-pound Novi senior has been named to the All-Area team. Ironically, he has been selected at a different position each year. As a sophomore, he was named as a defensive halfback and last year he was selected to one of the linebacker slots.

Brown stepped into the shoes left vacant by the graduation of Steve Lukkari, Novi's All-State quarterback, and performed magnificently. Directing the triple-option attack with the same efficiency demonstrated by Lukkari, Brown carried the ball 41 times for 331 yards for an average gain of 8.1 yards per carry. Possessor of a strong and accurate arm, Brown completed 17 of 42 passes for 485 yards and an average gain of 28 yards per completion.

RUNNING BACKS: There were so many fine running backs in the area that it was the decision of the Slinger staffers to name four, instead of three, running backs to the All-Area team.

Top choice was Pinckney's GEORGE REYNOLDS. Only 5-9 and 140 pounds, Reynolds, nevertheless, proved himself to be an outstanding ground gainer for the Pinckney squad. After rushing for 1,072 yards last year, the Pirate senior came back to gain 914 more this year in spite of an injury which caused him to miss a game. Through two varsity seasons, he averaged 115 yards per game and never once fumbled the ball. An All-Area and All-Ingham County selection last year, he duplicated that feat this year and was also selected as Pinckney's Most Valuable Player for the second straight year.

Joining Reynolds in the All-Area backfield is another Pinckney running back, 5-10, 135-pound MIKE GRAMER. Only a junior, Gramer eclipsed Reynolds' season's rushing record by rambling 1,076 yards for the Pirates this year. He was also named to the 1973 All-Ingham County team.

Novi's ERIC HANSOR (5-9, 160) was one of just two players named unanimously to the All-Southeastern Conference team. A hard-nosed, determined runner, Hansor was the Wildcats' leading ground gainer as he romped for 852 yards on 125 carries for an average of 6.8 yards per carry.

Rounding out the list of All-Area running backs is Northville's DOUG CRISAN (6-2, 210). The work horse of the Mustang offense, Crisan carried the ball an average of 20 times per game and ground out 960 yards on the ground. A bruising runner with good speed, he was a unanimous selection on the All-Western Six Conference team.

DEFENSE

NOSE GUARD: Novi's MIKE RILEY was selected as the nose guard on the All-Area team. A 5-11, 175-pound senior, Riley was one of the key performers on the Wildcat team both offensively and defensively. An All-SEC halfback, Riley was also an outstanding nose guard. The strongest man on the Novi team, he exhibited outstanding quickness from the nose guard position and had a total of five blocked punts during his two years on the varsity.

TACKLES: Northville's JIM PORTERFIELD and Novi's KEVIN LAFLECHE were easy choices as the All-Area defensive tackles. Porterfield (5-11, 215) could well be the area's top player: Strong (he bench presses 350 pounds) and remarkably quick, he met some of the top tackles in the metropolitan area and beat them all in head-to-head competition. He is regarded by the Northville coaching staff as an outstanding collegiate prospect and has already been approached by recruiters from 10 schools.

Lafleche (6-0, 185 pounds) is another two-time All-Area selection. With outstanding quickness for an interior lineman, he was an All-SEC choice in each of the past two years. "Kevin didn't have much of an opportunity to show just how good he really is because other teams ran away from him all season long," observed Coach Osborne.

ENDS: Novi's RICK MARCHETTI and Brighton's JIM JOHNSON have been tapped as the All-Area defensive ends. A 5-11, 175-pound senior, Marchetti was one of the keys to the outstanding Novi defense. A rugged performer, he was the only player unanimously selected to the All-SEC defensive team.

Johnson (6-1, 170) was a jack-of-all-trades for a Brighton team sorely lacking in man power. He played four positions on defense and two more on offense and also handled punting chores for the Bulldogs. A fine athlete he has won three varsity football letters and will wind up his prep career next spring as a nine-letterman.

LINEBACKERS: Heading up the linebacking corps on the 1973 All-Area team are Hartland's RON HOGUE and Northville's TIM RICE and LARRY PINK.

Hogue, a 6-0, 185-pound senior, was one of the few bright spots on a Hartland squad that posted a 2-7 record. A co-captain, he averaged 13 solo tackles per game from his linebacker position. Against Genesee, the hard-hitting senior blocked two punts and then returned the ball both times for touchdowns.

Rice (5-11, 190) is another two-time All-Area selection. A solid two-way performer for the Mustangs, he was a rugged defender who narrowly missed a berth on the prestigious All-Western Six Conference squad.

Switched to a linebacker position just this year, Pink (5-11, 170) was probably the best of the Northville linebackers by the time the season was over. "He plays the position like it was meant to be played - with reckless abandon," commented Northville line coach and former MSU star Ed McLoud. Pink sacked South Lyon's Tony Kern four different times in the final game of the year.

DEFENSIVE BACKS: With Whitmore Lake's TOM MURPHY and Northville's JOHN SHERMAN returning to berths won last year, the All-Area team boasts a fine defensive secondary.

Murphy, a 6-0, 180-pounder, picked off eight enemy aerials to successfully defend the All-Area position he won during his junior year. He was unanimously selected to the All-Tri-County League this year.

Sherman, a 5-10, 170 pound Mustang co-captain, returns to the All-Area team as a defensive back for the third consecutive year. The protégé of Coach Shonta, a former All-Pro cornerback, Sherman developed into an outstanding defensive safety. A sure tackler, he hauled in four interceptions in his senior year to run his three-year career total to 17.

Joining Murphy and Sherman in the defensive secondary is Pinckney's STEVE WILTSE, a 6-1, 160-pound senior. An All-Ingham County selection, Wiltse's presence in the Pirate secondary persuaded opponents to stay on the ground.

PLACE KICKER: South Lyon's KEN GIVENS, a 5-3, 170-pound junior, has been selected as the place kicker on the All-Area team. Givens booted 10 of 13 extra point attempts and also kicked field goals of 25 and 30 yards. His 25-yard boot in the fading minutes of the game proved to be the decisive margin in South Lyon's 15-12 upset of Milan.

Win Opener 67-65

Mustangs Outlast Lions

Walt Koepke has always been a firm believer in a strict disciplinary policy. And after Tuesday night's season-opening clash with South Lyon, the Northville basketball coach is thanking his lucky stars that Lion coach Bill Thomas thinks the same way.

It's no secret that South Lyon's cage fortunes for the upcoming season rest squarely on the shoulders of guard Tony Kern and forward Ed Segars.

And so when Thomas relegated his star guard to a seat in the bleachers before

Tuesday's opener for an unexcused absence from school, it looked as if the Mustangs would win in a breeze.

But as it was, Northville did not seal down their 67-65 victory until the final seconds of the game as Segars almost single-handedly won the game for the Lions.

Mr. S. treated the fans to quite an exhibition of basketball as he tossed in 21 of the Lions' 28 points in the first half, dominated the backboards at both ends of the court, blocked at least a half dozen shots, and just generally dissuaded the Mustangs from trying to toss up any shots from under the bucket.

Oh yes, he finished the game with 34 points.

"I shudder to think what would have happened if Tony, Kern had been in there," commented Koepke after the game. "They would have won by 20 points."

But, Kern wasn't in there and the Mustangs took advantage of his absence to post their first opening game victory since 1968.

And, as Koepke pointed out, it's always nice to win the opener.

Even without the services of Tony K., the Lions battled the Mustangs right down to the closing minutes of the game before finally yielding the victory.

After trailing by a point 15-14 at the end of the first quarter, Northville moved into a seven-point, 35-28, lead at halftime. Three straight buckets at the start of the third quarter enabled the Mustangs to open up a brief 13-point lead, but the Lions came roaring back to trail by just a single point at the end of the third quarter and set the stage for a wild final quarter in which the lead changed hands nine times.

With a 64-63 lead and 1:15 left on the clock, the Mustangs went into a stall. With 22 seconds left, the Lions fouled Todd Eis who tossed in a pair of free throws to stretch the Mustang lead to 66-63.

The Lions brought the ball down the floor, but Northville engineered a steal to regain possession. Joe Bishop tossed in a free throw with two seconds left on the clock to put the Mustangs out in front 67-63 and South Lyon then scored an uncontested basket as the buzzer sounded to make the final score 67-65.

Though pleased with the win, Koepke was not overly joyed with his team's performance. "Dr. Naismith must roll over in his grave this time of year," said the Mustang mentor. "It's frustrating because I know we can play so much better than we did."

"We've got a good group of boys though, and I'm confident that we'll be playing some pretty respectable basketball by Christmas."

Todd Eis, the Northville captain, paced the Mustangs in both scoring and rebounding by tossing in 15 points and grabbing 10 rebounds. Ed Kritch, Tom Eis, and Jim Yanoschik each tossed in 10 points to join the Mustang captain in double figures.

Northville's junior varsity unit also netted an opening-game triumph over the Lions. After building up a 56-41 third quarter lead, the Mustang jayvees held off a furious South Lyon rally to gain a 70-65 verdict.

Chris Armada had 27 points to spark the jayvees, who got 15 points from Mark Lisowski and 11 from Bill Shaughnessy. Center Jay Slagel had nine points and 15 rebounds.

The Mustangs' next game is slated for this Saturday when they travel to Lutheran East to take on the Redskins.

UP IN THE AIR — Northville's Joe Bishop (12) contends with South Lyon's Greg Stephens for a rebound in the early stages of Tuesday night's season-opening basketball game. In spite of the absence of Tony Kern, South Lyon's outstanding guard, the outcome of the game was also up in the air until the Mustangs finally wrapped up a 67-65 victory in the final minute of play.

Two State Champions Boost '73 Swim Team

Everybody knows what happened last year.

There isn't a soul who can in good conscience call himself a self-respecting citizen of this fair burg who does not know that Ben Lauber and the members of his Northville High School swim team traveled to Ann Arbor one foud day last March and brought back the Michigan Class B swim championship.

It was a great day. A great season.

The only Northville High School team to ever win a state championship.

But now, as the 1973-74 season is about to begin, Lauber and the members of his swim team are beginning to realize that a state championship season is a tough act to follow.

"You've got to expect us to be down a little bit after the kind of a year we had last year," observed Lauber while watching his team go through their paces in the under-sized Northville pool.

"You have no idea of the work that goes into a state championship season, not only on the part of the coaches, but particularly on the part of the members of the team. To win the state championship you must have a lot of seniors—a lot of good seniors. And that's what we had last year."

"But now they've graduated and I don't know of many teams that can afford to lose the kind of swimmers that we lost and still come back and have another outstanding season."

"Look what we lost from last year's team," Lauber continued. "We lost our best backstroke, our best sprinter, our best individual medley man, and our best middle distance man. That's a lot to lose."

Still, it should be duly noted that Lauber is not totally bereft of talent. In fact, four outstanding members of the 1973 state championship club return to form the nucleus of the 1973-74 squad.

Kevin Kelly won the state championship last year in the 200 yard freestyle; Art Greenlee is the state champion in the 100 yard breaststroke, Tom Cook finished second in the state in diving, and Don Cook finished third in the state in the 200 yard freestyle and fifth in the state in the 400 yard freestyle.

Not a bad nucleus, no matter how you look at it.

Joining them are a group of nine lettermen and the members of last year's freshman team which rewrote the Northville ninth grade record book.

"The potential is there, there's no doubt about that," admitted the Northville coach. "Most teams which win state championships have to go through a rebuilding year and this will not be a rebuilding year for us."

"We feel that we can win 80 percent of our dual meets. Rebuilding is when you start completely over, and we aren't starting completely over."

Perhaps the strongest single area on the Northville team will be the diving where Tom Cook will head a group of four lettermen while he personally is gunning for All-American honors.

"We've never had an All-American at Northville before and one of our goals this year is to finally have at least one," said Lauber. "Tom's a hard worker and I think he's one of two boys on this team who could make the All-American team."

Mark Owens, a junior, and Joe Devereaux and Scott Knapp, a pair of sophomores, should also score plenty of diving points this year.

One of the toughest areas to fill this year will be the void left by the graduation of John Pacific in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle events.

"That's one of the gaps we're going to have to fill,"

Novi Girls Claim SEC Title

Chalk up another Southeastern Conference championship for Novi High School.

Coach Chris Hayward's Novi girls' basketball team posted a 9-1 record in conference competition to edge out Dexter (8-2) for the first conference championship ever awarded in girls' basketball.

"That makes us the original conference champion," commented Miss Hayward whose team had an overall record of 11-1.

The Novi girls got off to a slow start, dropping a 3-1 decision to Dexter in their very first conference outing.

But since that time the Wildcats have been all but unbeatable. They beat Dexter 39-31 in the second round of conference play and clinched sole possession of the SEC championship last week by downing Brighton 37-30 in the final conference game of the season.

"It was the best game they've played all year," reported Miss Hayward. "They were really excited before the game and they just ran away with the victory."

Indeed After the first quarter the Novi girls had rung up an 18-4 margin and from there on the reserves coasted to the final 37-30 triumph.

Miss Hayward was particularly impressed with the performance of Laura Valentine, a reserve who came off the bench to fill in for the injured Nancy Brzezniak.

"Laura was all over the court," commented the Novi coach. "She scored 15 points and played superior basketball."

Miss Valen's 15-point performance was the SEC champions in scoring. Nancy Pisha and Pat Robinson tossed in seven points apiece and Carol Padget and Mary Kardell each added four more to the Novi total.

Coach Hayward also lauded the play of reserves Terri McGahey, Janet Cook, and Vicki Kulick.

Underclassmen Dominate Team

Novi Grapplers Must Rebuild

Russ Gardner's first year as coach of the Novi wrestling team was something of a success.

Although the Wildcat grapplers fell far short of the 10-5 dual meet record Gardner had set as a goal, they did finish with a 7-8 mark and when you stop to consider that no previous Novi wrestling team had ever won more than two meets in any given season, a 7-8 mark is something to cheer about.

And now that Gardner, a former Class A state champion from Garden City, has had an opportunity to work with the team for one whole year, things should be even better in 1973-74, right?

Well, not necessarily. Novi's wrestling team was hit heavily by graduation, you see, and even the ever-optimistic Gardner admits that this year's team will be hard-pressed to match the seven wins racked up by the 1972-73 squad.

"I'm not setting any won't lost goals for this year," commented the second-year Novi wrestling coach. "I lost a lot and I don't have much coming back. There are only three lettermen on the whole team."

And, there are only four upper classmen.

Don Jackson, one of the Wildcat co-captains, is the lone senior on the squad and there are only three juniors.

Everyone else on the 27-member Novi team is either a sophomore or a freshman - a fact that Gardner notes with some optimism.

"If these kids stay with me for two years, I'm going to have some kind of wrestling team," he said. "There's a lot of good material in the freshmen and sophomore classes."

"How well we're able to do this year depends on how fast our underclassmen develop," he continued.

The three lettermen returning from last year's team are Jackson, Bob Sasena, and Gil Spiers.

Jackson, a long, lean 6-0, 155-pounder, should be the class of the Novi team this year. After a slow sophomore season, he improved to the point where he had an overall 22-11 record and finished fourth in the SEC tourney last year as a junior. Gardner feels that Jackson will be just that much tougher this year.

The other co-captain is Bob Sasena who lettered last year as a freshman. Though only a sophomore, Sasena has three years of experience behind him and is a former CYO age-group champion for the city of Cleveland.

"He had an 11-14 record for us last year and that's not too bad for a ninth grader," observed Gardner. Sasena will see action at 126 and move down to 118 as the season progresses.

The third letterman is Gil Spiers, a 6-4, 225-pound sophomore who was 5-8 in his varsity matches last year. "Gil's strong enough, but he has a lot to learn in the way of know-how," commented the Novi mentor.

Gardner has four other wrestlers who he feels will come on strong as the season progresses:

Al Jones is a freshman who looks like "he could do us some good" in the 118 pound division.

BOB SASSENA

DON JACKSON

Kevin Shappard, another ninth grader, moved to Novi from Cleveland where he participated in CYO age-group wrestling and finished third nationally in his age-group. Shappard is slated to see action at 132.

Doug Maier, a second year wrestler and another tenth grader, will hold down the 138-pound division for Gardner's team. "For a guy without much experience he's pretty tough," said the Novi coach. "I don't know how many he'll win, but he'll let people know he's been there, I'll guarantee that."

The fourth wrestler who could figure prominently in the Novi plans is Mike Mulligan, a sophomore slated for action at 165. Mulligan came out for wrestling midway through his freshman year and won four varsity bouts without losing once.

"He told me that nobody's going to beat him this year either," said Gardner with a smile. "I know darn well that somebody's going to beat him, but I hate to tell him that because it's the kind of attitude I like to hear."

Other wrestlers slated for action this year include Dwight Pugsley, a 107-pound junior; Jeff Slattery, a 118-pounder; Jeff Pelchat, a 132-pound junior; Ken Kardell, a 145-pound freshman; Greg Nothnagel, a 155-pound sophomore; and Tom Auten, a 185-pound junior.

"There may be others, too," stated Gardner. "We haven't had our wrestle-offs so I can't say for sure who is going to start. Don't forget that we've got a lot of inexperience and it's hard to tell this early who is going to develop and do a job for you."

"We're young and we're inexperienced," he continued. "But I'll guarantee you that we're going to be in there plugging."

TO THE GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY

NOTICE OF HEARING ON GAS CURTAILMENT PROGRAM

On October 26, 1973, Consumers Power Company filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission in Case No. U-4453, which requests authority to adopt as part of its rate schedule a new Rule 15 relating to curtailments of gas service. Consumers Power Company states in its application that there exists in the State of Michigan and elsewhere throughout the United States a severe gas supply shortage, which shortage has made it necessary that many pipeline suppliers of natural gas, including Applicant's pipeline suppliers, substantially curtail deliveries of natural gas to their customers. Consumers Power Company also states in its application that greater curtailments of gas deliveries from its pipeline suppliers are expected in 1974 than those currently in effect, and that prudent operating practices make desirable the establishment of procedures whereby gas service to its customers may be curtailed in the event it is necessary to do so in order to maintain a balance between gas requirements and gas supply. Consumers Power Company further states in its application that it does not presently anticipate that it will be necessary to initiate curtailments under proposed Rule 15 in the near future, but that it cannot predict when a worsening in its gas supply situation and/or an unanticipated increase in demand may make necessary the initiation of such curtailments. As set forth in proposed Rule 15, Consumers Power Company proposes to establish six curtailment categories, as follows:

1. All commercial and industrial gas requirements for boiler use in excess of 8,334 Mcf per monthly billing period of customers served under the provisions of Rate "E" other than those requirements falling within Curtailment Category 6. Twenty-four months from the date of the order approving this curtailment procedure, this curtailment category will be consolidated with Curtailment Category 2.

2. All commercial and industrial gas requirements for boiler use in excess of 8,334 Mcf per monthly billing period other than those requirements falling within Curtailment Categories 1 and 6.

3. All industrial gas requirements other than those requirements falling within Curtailment Categories 1, 2, 4, 5 and 6.

4. All commercial gas requirements other than those requirements falling within Curtailment Categories 1, 2, 5 and 6; and all industrial gas requirements for plant protection needs or process needs in excess of 1,250 Mcf per monthly billing period.

5. All commercial and industrial gas requirements of 1,250 Mcf or less per monthly billing period other than those requirements falling within Curtailment Category 6.

6. Residential gas requirements and requirements for services essential for public health and safety; provided, however, that requirements for boilers which have alternate fuel capability shall not qualify as requirements for services essential for public health and safety without the express authorization of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Consumers Power Company proposes to implement curtailments within the foregoing curtailment categories when necessary in the Company's opinion to balance gas requirements with gas supply, after giving effect to interruptions permitted by the Company's rate schedules. Curtailments could be simultaneously instituted in more than one curtailment category, provided, that no curtailment would be made of gas usage falling within any curtailment category during any period in which the gas usage falling within all lower-numbered curtailment categories had not been completely curtailed. Curtailments of less than 100 percent of the gas usage falling within a curtailment category would be made pro rata, based upon the customer's historical gas usage falling within the category being curtailed. Any gas usage by a customer in excess of volumes authorized to be used would be subject to excess use charges of up to $15.00 per Mcf and would constitute sufficient cause for Consumers Power Company to discontinue gas service to the customer. The application of Consumers Power Company in Case No. U-4453 sets forth in more complete detail the manner in which the proposed curtailment procedure is to operate. The application, together with proposed Rule 15, is available for public inspection at the offices of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, and at each local office of Consumers Power Company.

The Commission has scheduled public hearing on the application in Case No. U-4453 and has ordered that notice be given that:

A. A public hearing be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. on December 13, 1973 in the Auditorium of the Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, for the purpose of taking statements from the interested public concerning Applicant's proposed gas curtailment program.

B. Any interested parties may attend the hearing and participate, subject to the provisions of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. Any party seeking to intervene in this proceeding, notwithstanding Rule 11 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, shall file with the Commission, on or before December 13, 1973, an original and 6 copies of the petition to intervene, together with proof of service upon Consumers Power Company.

C. A prehearing conference will be held at 9:30 a.m. on December 14, 1973 in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, for the purpose of exploring and, if possible, agreeing upon matters which will expedite the proceedings in Case No. U-4453 and including the following:

1. Determining the parties to the proceeding, the nature of their appearance and the positions they are taking in the proceeding.
2. Simplifying and defining the issues.
3. Establishing procedures for the hearing.
4. Specifying a further schedule of dates of hearing.
5. Expediting any other matters that may aid in the orderly conduct of the hearing and the disposition of the proceedings.

D. THE CURTAILMENT CATEGORIES AND PROCEDURES DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE ARE IN THE FORM REQUESTED BY CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY. THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY EITHER AUTHORIZE THEIR ADOPTION IN THE FORM REQUESTED, DENY THEIR ADOPTION OR MAY ORDER THE ADOPTION OF A CURTAILMENT PROCEDURE WHICH CONTAINS PRIORITIES OR PROCEDURES DIFFERING FROM THOSE DESCRIBED HEREIN.

Jurisdiction of the Commission in this matter is pursuant to Act 300, PA 1909, as amended, MCLA 462.2; Act 419, PA 1919, as amended, MCLA 460.51; Act 3, PA 1939, as amended, MCLA 460.1; Act 9, PA 1929, as amended, MCLA 483.101; Act 306, PA 1969, as amended, MCLA 24.201; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R460.11.

said Lauber. "John was swimming in the low 23s when he left and right now we don't have anyone other than Kelly and Don Cook who can approach that kind of time."

One possibility is Ed Erdos, a sophomore who smashed all the old freshman freestyle records last year. Other possibilities are Mike Chaffin, Mark Lelek, and Jeff Guider.

With Don Cook and Kelly around, the Mustangs will be strong in the middle and long distance events. Erdos, Steve Luckett, and Guider are also possibilities here.

Those two names — Kevin Kelly and Don Cook — again pop up when Lauber talks about his butterflyers. However, Pete Talbot and Dean Alli, a pair of sophomores up from last year's freshman squad, are potentially outstanding performers in this event. The breaststroke is the sole province of Greenlee, the defending Class B champion. Greenlee, though just a junior this year, is the other member of the Northville team who Lauber feels has at least a chance to win All-American honors.

Bob Wright, a senior letterman, is a strong backup performer and Bill Bloomhuff and Biff Ballash — two more of those sophomores — took turns breaking each other's freshman records last year. John Bedford, yet another sophomore, cannot be overlooked in the breaststroke, either.

Kelly is the top backstroke on the team and Mark Haynie, a senior who qualified for the state meet last year, will give the Mustangs good depth. Mike Chaffin, Ken Kohs, Mike Swayze, Matt Stopper, and Chad Niedfelt are other backstroke candidates.

"We're depending on four or five guys a great deal," observed Lauber. "And there are also an awful lot of sophomores whom we're counting on. Frankly, I don't feel that it's fair to expect these sophomores to come in and fill the shoes of people like John Pacific, Bill Witek, Jeff Kappler, Dennis McLaughlin, Andre Manochio, Bill Bretz, and all the other seniors who won the state championship last year."

"Don't get me wrong," he continued, "I think they have tremendous potential. People like Ed Erdos, Pete Talbot, and Dean Alli could become some of the best swimmers we've ever had. But it takes more than potential; it takes a lot of hard work."

Mustangs Set Pace In Over-30 Hockey

Joe Lunghamer scored two goals to lead the Northville Mustangs to their third straight victory in the Metro West Over-30 Hockey League Sunday at the Plymouth Arena.

The Mustangs, who are sponsored by John Mach Ford and New York Life, strengthened their hold on first place in the eight-team league by recording a 5-2 win over the Westland Hawks.

Gil Burford, Earle Weichel, and Dick Wald netted single goals to round out the Northville scoring. Jim Mascotti was tagged with the lone Mustang penalty, while seven were assessed against the Westland squad.

Wildcat of the Week

NANCY PISHA

Wildcat of the Week honors go to Nancy Pisha. A 5-9 senior forward on the SEC champion Novi girls' basketball team, Miss Pisha led the team in scoring with a 9.7 average and is also a top rebounder. "Nancy is every inch a lady out on the court," said Coach Chris Hayward, "but she's also one heckuva good basketball player. Miss Pisha is the first girl ever selected Wildcat of the Week."

In SEC Cage Race

Milan's Team to Beat

The Milan Big Red are going to repeat as Southeastern Conference basketball champions. At least, that's the consensus opinion of SEC coaches on the eve of the 1973-74 season, which will begin Friday evening for conference teams.

The Big Red, led by All-SEC sharpshooter Stan Joplin, were picked by all seven opposition coaches as the team to beat this year.

Saline and South Lyon were commonly referred to as the teams most likely to give Milan a run for its money, with Chelsea and Ypsilanti Lincoln mentioned by all as possible contenders, too.

Brighton, entering its first season of SEC play, is generally regarded as something of a question mark, while Dexter and Novi are the consensus picks to bring up the rear of the conference standings.

Three new coaches will be guiding conference cage fortunes this season. Larry Mason takes over the reins at Brighton, Tom Balistrere is the new mentor at Chelsea and Ron Elutur is beginning his first season at Novi.

The Milan Big Red is everyone's pick to repeat this year as Southeastern Conference basketball champions.

With six lettermen and four starters returning from last year's 16-5 team (13-1 in league play), Milan has to rate as the team to beat.

The team's Most Valuable Player, smooth-as-silk Stan Joplin, a 6'3" junior, will lead the Big Red this year. He'll be joined at forward by a fellow junior, 5'10" Jay Cummings, who has graduated from last year's 18-2 junior varsity squad.

At center will be 6'3" senior Tim McGovern, who sat out last season with an injury. The guards will be a pair of returning seniors, 5'8" Greg Armstrong and 6' Mike Keeler.

On top of all this will be plenty of backup help.

Milan Coach Ron Dingman isn't predicting an easy championship, but he's serving notice his team will be in the running.

"We want to win it," Dingman says. "We do have some good players back and we had a good jayvee team last year, so we've got good boys waiting to play."

"We're not real tall, but we've got good quickness and we like to run. Our weak spot may be the boards, but we hope we can overcome that."

Saline's Hornets, coming off a fine 17-6 season last year, may be a challenger for the SEC title - if the returning Hornets can pick up the slack left by the departure of 6'8" Dave Ziegler.

"It's tough when you lose a kid like Ziegler," says Coach Jim Bradley. "But we won't have a bad team. The key will be how well we can play together."

Although Ziegler and another fine player, Scott Skinner, are gone, the Hornets do have some good-looking returnees.

Leading the lettermen will be 6'5" junior Dan, Scotton, who will get the starting nod at center. Tim Slepisky, a 6'2" senior who quarterbacked the Hornets' football team, and Jim Hill, another 6'2" senior, will probably go at the forwards.

At the guards will be 5'10" captain Dennis King and Joe Forrester, a fellow senior who stands six feet tall.

The South Lyon Lions may boast two of the top players in the Southeastern Conference this season. But will those two players be enough to carry them to the league title?

"Milan is way out in front," says Lion mentor Bill Thomas. "They're obviously the class of the conference. But it looks like a four-way scramble for second place between us, Saline, Chelsea and Lincoln."

The Lions' Ed Segars (6'2" senior) and Tony Kern (6' senior) are two excellent basketball players. Segars is regarded as the best leaper in the SEC and Kern is a class guard.

But, after the Lions' two co-captains, Thomas is confronted by a lack of size and experience which is going to hurt

3 Misses Tops Grid Quiz

Since everyone missed guessing the 10-10 tie between arch rivals Michigan and Ohio Saturday, the outcome of last week's football contest was narrowed down to a number of other contests.

Among these was Northwestern's 9-6 squeaker over Illinois—a game missed by a majority of contestants.

Surprisingly, all three of the winners failed to correctly guess Colgate to bomb Rutgers, 42-0.

Brian Star of 44915 Thornapple was judged the first place winner by virtue of his closer guessed score in the big game in Ann Arbor. Brian, who like the other winners missed the same three games, guessed Michigan to win by four points, 14-10.

Taking second place was Joe Kritch, Jr., of Cincinnati, Ohio, Joe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kritch, Sr., of 860 Spring Drive, figured Ohio to win 17-21.

And third place winner, Tom Clemens of 16610 Old Bedford, guessed Michigan to edge the Bucks, 24-17.

Thirteen other contestants finished just out of the money by missing four of the 16 games. And two of these, John Gougeon and E. W. Brown, came close to correctly guessing the Michigan-Ohio State tie. Gougeon guessed Michigan to triumph, 10-7, while Brown had Michigan winning 13-10.

Others who missed just four games were Dan and Phil Gougeon, Joe Fasang, Randy and Robert Eppers, Craig Raycraft, Mary Gates, Jerry Cole, Sandy and Ed Kritch, and Jack Smith.

Because judges incorrectly had Northwestern winning over Wisconsin two weeks ago, the reported outcome of the earlier football contest was incorrect.

Winning first place with just two missed games was Tony Adamowicz of 622 Fairbrook, while John Gougeon of 511 Reed and Thomas C. Wick of 9267 Tower Road shared second and third place by each missing three games and coming within the same number of points of guessing the score of Detroit's victory over the Chicago Bears

'Gaps' Cloud Hopes Of Mustang Matmen

Ask Big Ed McLoud how his 1973-74 Northville High School wrestling team is going to do and he'll tell you point-blank. "I don't know," admitted the former All-Big Ten lineman from Michigan State. "I really don't know how we're going to do."

"I'm going into the season with some mixed emotions. On the one hand there is some reason to hope that we'll have a better record than the 4-8 mark we had last year. But to be perfectly honest about it, we've still got some problems that will be hard to overcome."

The "problems" which McLoud has reference to are nothing new.

In fact, they've been around for some time now.

"It's the same old story," continued the coach of the Mustang grapplers. "We just can't seem to get the big kids to come out for wrestling."

"The way things look right now we're going to have to forfeit two of the 12 weight divisions. We just haven't got anybody to put in at 165 and 185. And when you have to give the other team 12 points every time, it's a tough deficit to overcome."

Nevertheless, there are a number of reasons to be optimistic about the upcoming season.

The only important loss from last year's team was captain Bill Norton, the Western Six champion in the 135-pound division.

Most of the rest of the team returns for another year of action and there's also a potentially outstanding heavyweight and a promising transfer student on the scene to make the season interesting.

Co-captains of the 1973-74 Northville wrestling team are Jack Barger and Dan Fialon. Barger is perhaps the top returnee from last year's team. Although only a sophomore, Barger put together a fine 20-5 record and captured the conference championship in the 98-pound division.

A year older, Barger will start the season in the 112-pound slot and work his way down to the lower weight classes as the season progresses.

Fialon, the other co-captain, is a four-year varsity wrestler whose career has been marked with ups and downs. At times he has appeared ready to establish himself as an outstanding prep grappler and McLoud is hopeful that this is the year in which Fialon fulfills that promise.

Fialon is slated to begin the season at 132, up from the 119-pound division in which he competed last year.

Two other returning lettermen figure prominently in the Mustang hopes for the upcoming season. Slated for action at 138 is Mark Okopyn, a senior who finished third in the conference in the 119-pound division last year.

The other letterman who figures prominently in the Northville plans is Malcolm Dedes, a 112-pound junior who was forced to sit out much of last year with an injury.

"Both Mark and Malcolm could help us a great deal," commented McLoud. "Okopyn is a third-year wrestler who has really developed over the past couple of years and could have a very good season. Dedes is another one with a lot of promise who could be a big winner if he manages to stay healthy."

McLoud also has a couple of additions to this year's team who should help considerably. One of them is Jim Sackkla, a husky 150-pound junior who transferred to Northville from Garden City East.

The other is Jim Porterfield, a 215-pound All-Conference defensive tackle and the school record holder in the shotput.

Although he hasn't wrestled for two years, Porterfield is not an inexperienced newcomer. As a sophomore, he defeated Novi's Terry Auten in his first match of the season and then decided to drop from the team to concentrate on putting the shot. It was the only loss suffered by Auten until the state tournament.

"I think Porterfield will do very well," predicted McLoud. "Even though he hasn't wrestled for two years there aren't many heavyweights who can match his strength or quickness."

McLoud also has six other lettermen who could contribute significantly to the team's success.

Wally Armstrong, Larry Pink, Greg Peltó, Mike Lemmon, Tim Johnson, and Joe Assemany all have a year's experience in varsity competition under their belts and will see extensive action this year.

"The problem we have with all those returning lettermen is that they all wrestle in just about the same weight class," pointed out McLoud.

"For example, Wally Armstrong is in the same weight class as Dan Fialon. And Mike Lemmon and Greg Peltó will go against each other at 112. In the 145-155 pound divisions we've got Joe Assemany, Jim Sackkla, Larry Pink, and Tim Johnson.

"It's nice to have that kind of competition on the team because it will help them to develop into better wrestlers.

"At the same time, it's too bad to have three or four boys all in the same division when there are other divisions with no one at all in them.

"As far as our overall team record is concerned we can't be too optimistic without anyone to put in at 165 and 185. But from the standpoint of individual performances, I think we have some wrestlers who could really have some good seasons."

SC Cagers Split Openers

Coach Tom Roncoli's Schoolcraft College basketball team opened its 1973-74 season last week and after two games the Ocelots stand with a 1-1 mark.

Led by the 21-point effort of freshman Mark Reed, the Ocelots trimmed Kellogg Community College 74-69 in their opening game, while Saturday they were blasted 108-58 by a far-superior Alpena team.

points during the second half while coasting to the opening game victory. Joining Reed in double figures were Tom Luch who tallied 15 points and Brian Dinsmore who added 10 more.

The Ocelots were simply no match for Alpena in their second game as they suffered a 108-58 setback.

"Alpena recruited six out-of-state kids and they just continued to pound us all night," lamented Roncoli, the Schoolcraft coach. "They had a full-court press throughout the game."

Luch paced the Ocelots in scoring with 27 points, while John Grigal added 13 and Dinsmore again tallied 10.

the eight athletic directors who did not see the M-OSU game all about Quarterback Dennis Franklin's injury, but none of the details of the game.

He charged that the commissioner obtained his information on Franklin from non-official sources.

Bo praised Minnesota Paul Giel for speaking up and revealing that he had voted for Michigan.

'Why can't the athletic director of Michigan State tell the people how he voted?', he asked.

Bo declared that he always pulls for MSU to win whenever they play any other team but Michigan. "No Biggie Munn or Duffy Daughterty would act like the Michigan State athletic director", he charged.

Finally, striking closer at home, Bo said he would be "a hell of a coach if I didn't say what I think. I have to face the kids". And he added bitterly that, "if I don't say it, no one would".

He invited Commissioner Duke to Ann Arbor to tell his team it had not earned the right to go to the Rose Bowl... "to give Franklin his medical opinion of his injury... to face Cipa and tell him he's not a good enough quarterback to perform in the Rose Bowl".

A wet-eyed Bo Schembechler exited immediately. And many in the audience expressed relief that he had not ended his speech with a resignation.

But if Bo and his players can weather this setback and not run and hide, maybe they can help the lot of future teams at all Big Ten schools.

Maybe the wheeling and dealing, the prejudices and jealousies will give way to pure performance if enough voices are raised.

Statistics prove that Michigan outperformed Ohio State on the field Saturday.

But the 6-4 vote on Sunday would indicate that the U of M has not fared as well with its fellow Big Ten members off the field.

Reappoint Two

Two persons were reappointed by split votes to three-year terms on the Northville Township Planning Commission and one was unanimously appointed to the board of review.

Reappointed were Fred Philippeau and Kenneth Sewell. Voting in favor of both appointments were Supervisor Lawrence Wright, Treasurer Joseph Straub and Trustees John MacDonald and Charles Schaeffer. Trustee Leonard Klein was absent.

Voting against Philippeau's reappointment were Clerk Sally Cayley and Trustee Richard Mitchell. Neither gave a reason for their vote.

Mitchell also voted against reappointment of Sewell. He gave no reason. Mrs. Cayley abstained from voting, explaining her husband worked with Sewell.

Appointed unanimously to the township board of review was James E. Ford of Highland Lakes. He replaces Thomas Lovett who moved from the area.

"People turn to the Yellow Pages when they want specific answers."

"That's what we think and that's why we list many of our special sign services in our ad," continues Mr. Loren Whitcomb, Whitcomb Sign Co., 7636 West Road, Washington. "With few exceptions, people don't have a definite idea of what they want. Quite often potential customers call and ask about items like displays, plaques, silk screen, pin striping, electrical signs, etc. We take this as a sign they're probably looking at our Yellow Pages ad. By explaining our services I feel the Yellow Pages has a definite place in our total advertising program."

"Our Yellow Pages ad outproduces all of our other advertising 3 to 1," says Mrs. Rene Clark, Country Estate Mobile Homes, Inc., 58220 W. Eight Mile Rd., Northville. "It's our best advertising investment. Since we've had our ad, our business has increased by 50%! I think some business people overlook the fact that the Yellow Pages maintains a hard-hitting and effective ad campaign of its own. But we only have to look at our results to know that the campaign is really paying off in the form of more business for us."

Mr. Hershel Stuart, Federal Hardware and Supply, 29080 Southfield Rd., Southfield recommends Yellow Pages advertising highly. "My program includes display ads in the North Woodward and East Area Directories. These ads pull in literally hundreds of calls for fireplace fixtures, resulting in sales ranging from $20 to $200. I also receive a great deal of response from our ad at the 'Hardware' heading. This ad produces both calls and walk-in business."

A lot of sales help, that's what the Yellow Pages gives Mr. Chester Podgorny, Venoy Realty Co., 32508 Michigan Ave., Wayne. "During the past 16 years we have found Yellow Pages advertising a very efficient way to attract potential real estate customers. The calls we get from the Yellow Pages are regarded as very important because these buyers are in the market now. We began with a half-page display ad. After we became established we switched to a smaller ad. However, we noticed a definite decrease in leads from the Yellow Pages and decided to return to the half-page ad we carry today."

Travel the Yellow Pages road to sales success. Call your Yellow Pages representative!

For Appeals Board, Building Authority

Novi Seeks Applicants

Novi's City Council is seeking applicants to fill vacancies on the Board of Zoning Appeals and the Novi Building Authority.

by Daley's resignation.

Presently, there is one vacancy on the Zoning Board, while three positions on the five-member Building Authority must be filled.

Appointments to the Building Authority, on the other hand, will be delayed until the council has an opportunity to evaluate the future value of the commission. The Building Authority was originally established to study the construction of a municipal complex.

Recent legislation has restricted the usefulness of building authorities, however.

Although the council already has a list of candidates for the unfilled positions, other names are being sought. Once nominations have been closed, the council will conduct interviews with each of the candidates before making the appointments.

Novi citizens interested in serving on one of the boards should contact City Clerk Gerri Stipp at the Novi City Hall.

Three Caught in Car Wash Break-In

In Township

Three Livonia youths were caught Sunday night in the process of prying open coin boxes at a car wash.

Township police were called to the Choo-Choo Car Wash on Northville Road just south of Seven Mile Road at approximately 8:20 p.m.

When they arrived, police saw two males attempting to pry open a coin box with a crow bar and a girl watching them, reports said.

Police said the two males spotted them shortly after they arrived and ran out the east side of the car wash. Township officers pursued the pair and apprehended them just outside the car wash.

A warrant charging the 17-year-old boy with attempted larceny from a coin machine is being sought by township police. A 15-year-old boy and girl were each released to their parents and charges of attempted larceny from a coin machine were to be filed in juvenile court.

Break-in of a home at 15600 Lakeside is being investigated by township police this week.

Reported to police at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, the break-in took place sometime after 8:40 p.m. Friday.

Pry marks were found on the rear door and the house had been ransacked, police said. It was unknown what was taken in the break-in, police reported.

Two thefts from cars were reported to have occurred between Saturday and Sunday.

A vent window was broken in a van parked at 46000 Pickford and a stereo tape deck, valued at $100, was stolen. The theft took place between 11:30 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday.

Between 3 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Sunday, unknown persons entered a locked car parked at Woodhill and Valencia and took an eight-track tape deck valued at $40.

A 10-speed boy's bike was stolen from a garage at 16249 Old Bedford during last Wednesday evening. Valued at $125, the bike is a white Frez Spirit with red and blue trim.

Vandals throwing eggs broke a rear view mirror on a car parked on Sutters Lane. Damage to the 1973 model car occurred at 10:10 p.m. Friday, township police said.

Three men were bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court to face charges of possession of phencyclidine.

William Stewart Brink, 24, of Romulus, Guy Edward Marinelli, 19, of South Lyon and Lorn Alden Ross, 22, of Taylor appeared in 35th District Court Friday for examination and were bound over to appear in circuit court December 11.

They were arrested by township police July 28 and charged with intent to deliver barbituric acid. That charge was dismissed after charges of possession of phencyclidine were filed against all three.

In Northville

Two break-ins of businesses are under investigation by city police detectives this week.

Carpet samples, three canvas covers and a wheel barrow were stolen from Lee Building and Supply Company by three youths in a pick-up truck shortly before 9:50 p.m. Sunday.

According to reports, the owner of the company was driving by when he spotted a white and red pick-up truck leaving the yard of the business on Base Line Road.

The owner chased the vehicle to Base Line and Griswold where he lost sight of the truck.

Approximately five minutes after the incident, police were notified. A few minutes earlier, they reported seeing carpet samples fall from a truck which was passing them, but when they attempted to locate the vehicle, they could not find it.

Investigating officers said a chain had been cut on a gate on the west side of the yard to gain entrance. All the merchandise missing was taken from an outside open building. Value of the wheel barrow was placed at $8 and no value was placed on the canvas or carpet samples, police reports said.

An undetermined amount of money was taken from Little Caesars at 168 East Main Street between 2 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. Saturday.

Police said they could find no signs of forcible entry and theorize the person or persons responsible for the theft could have entered by the front door and left by the rear door.

The rear door of the building was found unbolted and standing open when employees arrived, reports said.

A tape deck valued at $85 was stolen from a pick-up truck while it was parked near Barn 14 in the St. Lawrence Barn Area of Northville Downs.

The theft took place between 2:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday.

More than $150 in damage was done to a lawn on Larry Drive after unknown persons drove a car across the yard, knocking down a small tree. The damage took place sometime last week Wednesday.

Theft of nearly $450 worth of items from a car last week Tuesday night is being investigated by city police this week.

Taken from a 1973 vehicle were $50 in tapes and an am-fm stereo radio and tape player valued at $373.

Police reports said the items were stolen between 9:30 and 11:30 p.m. while the car was parked at the Downs.

COURT NEWS

A Northville man was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay $10 per month costs after he pled guilty to an added charge of attempted seduction.

Sentenced in Wayne County Circuit Court November 19 was Richard DiCicco of North Center Street.

He was arrested July 20 by city police and charged with statutory rape, a charge which was dismissed after he pled guilty to the added charge.

In Wixom

Wixom police arrested a pair of men while they were allegedly attempting to break into a private residence last week.

Robert Richard Korrok, 18, of Walled Lake and Frank Timothy Laszlo, 19, of 31000 South Wixom Road in Wixom were arraigned on charges of attempted breaking and entering and carrying a concealed weapon before 52nd District Court Judge Gerald McNally on November 19.

Both men are currently lodged in the Oakland County Jail on $1,000 cash bonds.

Korrok and Laszlo were arrested at approximately 10:30 p.m. on Sunday, November 18.

Responding to a report of a breaking and entering in process, police went to a residence at 2910 Loon Lake Road where they apprehended Korrok and Laszlo as they were getting into their vehicle, according to reports.

Police learned that the two had pulled their vehicle up onto the lawn of the residence and parked it approximately 12 feet from the rear door. When one of the two men began ringing the door bell, the owner of the home called police.

According to reports, the men attempted to break in through a window after no one answered the door bell.

Korrok and Laszlo were placed in the rear seat of the police car by officers. A subsequent search of the car in which Korrok and Laszlo had been riding revealed two knives and a plastic bag containing suspected marijuana, police said.

A painting valued at $150 was stolen from the wall of an office in the Ford Motor Company Assembly Plant at 5000 South Wixom Road last week.

The theft was discovered November 20.

In Novi

A 16-year old Novi High School girl was discharged from Botsford Hospital Sunday after recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

April Hare, 16, was injured when, according to police, she drove into the path of on-coming traffic and was struck broadside by a pick-up truck.

The incident took place Saturday, November 17, shortly after 12 noon, as Miss Hare was exiting from the Total gas station on the southwest corner of 10 Mile and Novi Roads onto Novi Road.

Police quoted witnesses as saying that Miss Hare looked south, but never looked north before pulling out onto Novi Road and was subsequently struck broadside by a south-bound pick-up truck.

She was knocked unconscious in the collision and was transported to Botsford suffering from a concussion and a separated shoulder, police said.

Patrolman Jack Grubb, who handled the accident report, said that no charges would be brought against the driver of the southbound truck. Miss Hare will be charged with failure to yield the right of way, he said.

A 57-year old Novi man was taken to St. Joseph Hospital with serious injuries suffered in an accident which occurred November 20.

Arthur Edmund Chase, 57, of 1721 East Lake Drive, was traveling westbound on East Lake Drive when his vehicle went off the roadway, went for a distance of 50 feet, struck a telephone pole, and then continued for 50 more feet before coming to a stop.

Chase later told police he had passed out while at the wheel.

Police reported that Chase suffered a deep cut on his leg and possible chest injuries.

Police are investigating a breaking and entering of the Zabala Texaco Station at Novi Road and the I-96 expressway which occurred sometime during the night of November 21-22.

Thieves gained entry to the station by breaking out a window in the bay door. They then entered every room, closet, and drawer in the station, police reported.

Six batteries were stolen and the cigarette machine was also broken into and the money removed, according to reports.

Jaycees Plan Wixom Chapter

An open meeting to discuss the possibility of forming a Jaycee chapter in Wixom has been slated for Wednesday, December 12.

The meeting will be held in the VFW Hall at 2652 Loon Lake Road beginning at 8 p.m.

The meeting was scheduled by the Novi Jaycees at the request of a number of young men from Wixom who are interested in forming a Wixom Jaycee chapter, said Phil McNary, extensions chairman for the Novi Jaycees.

Council Turns Down Rezoning Requests

of research and engineering firms.

Three major objections to the commercial rezoning were raised by the planners. They were that a commercial rezoning is premature at this time until the five separately owned parcels of land are consolidated under one ownership; that granting the commercial rezoning would open Novi Road for spot commercial development; and that commercial development in that area would create major traffic problems along Novi Road.

The council disagreed with each of the three objections, however, and passed the rezoning request by a 6-0 margin (Councilman Berry was not present at the time the vote was taken).

The request of Aronoff, Aronoff, Levy, and Boyle for the rezoning of a 16-acre parcel from M-1 to R-2-A was strongly opposed by Bernard Sullivan and Irving Rich, owner-developers of the Novex One industrial park located immediately east of the property for which the rezoning was requested.

"We have an industrial park slated for heavy industry and I don't think it's fair to us to allow someone to come in and put up multiple family residential next to us," Sullivan argued.

"We've been developing our property very responsibly and very carefully. I think it's critical that this request be denied," he stated.

Sullivan's arguments won the support of both the council and planning board. The planners recommended rejection of the request by a 6-2 margin (John Roethel and James Cherfoli dissented), while the council adopted that recommendation unanimously.

Said Planner Donald Gleason: "I don't think it's fair to put a burden on Sullivan and Rich for a problem created through no fault of their own."

Councilman Berry said the council should not put itself in the position of having to face angry residents in the future who come in to ask "how we could allow residential development to go in next to heavy industry."
