

Northville Officials Look into 1974 Crystal Ball

'YRS at HS by Fall'

The high school "classroom crunch" will force a decision in 1974 on year-round school, predicts Northville School Board President Stanley Johnston.

What's more, Johnston says he personally favors implementation of a mandated kindergarten through 12th grade year-round program by next September.

"I fully realize that what I am saying is extremely controversial and no doubt I'll be severely criticized by many, including some fellow board members. But in view of the classroom situation at the high school I have no other good choice," asserts the board president.

"My responsibility is to provide the best education possible for our children and I cannot do that with an insufficient number of high school classrooms."

Johnston suggests the mandated program (as opposed to the present voluntary program at the elementary and junior high levels) be given a good one-year test. "After a year let the people decide if year-round works or not. If we don't try it, how will we ever know?"

'Center Street Fight'

A street fight of sorts appears to be brewing between the Wayne County Road Commission and the Northville City Council and, if Mayor A. M. Allen is correct, 1974 may be the year it happens.

Admittedly ready to put on the gloves and "fight for what we think is right and sensible," Allen and other members of the city council are boiling mad over the county's insistence that the city dedicate a substantial amount of private property along the west side of Center Street from Cady to Seven Mile Road for road right-of-way.

"It's ridiculous...why, some of the front porches of the Center Street residents would have to come off if we went along with the county," asserts the mayor.

Specifically, county road officials want the city to purchase and give to the county enough property to provide for 40 feet of road right-of-way from the center line of the street westward.

The County request came up this past year when the city attempted to secure county permission to install a storm sewer, under the sidewalk, from Cady to the branch

'Township Hall Move'

"I am hopeful a lease arrangement with the county can be consummated early in 1974 so that we can be in a new township hall by the end of the year or earlier."

Not wanting to make it a flat-out prediction but nevertheless confident a move is very possible within the next six months, provided the lease is signed, Northville Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright sees the move to a different township hall location

City Zoning Ordinance Goes to Hearing Tuesday

Toasting Togetherness

See Page 2-A

TOWNSHIP PLANNERS will hold a special meeting Monday, January 7, to consider approval of a preliminary plat plan for Mobilife Estates. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the township offices, 301 West Main Street. The mobile home park is to be located at the southwest corner of Six Mile and Ridge roads.

TOMORROW (Friday) at 5 p.m. is the deadline for reporting the first baby born in 1974. The baby's parents must have mailing addresses in Northville, Novi or Wixom. A bundle of prizes, provided by sponsoring stores, will be presented to parents of the winning baby. Last year's winning baby was Jennifer Batt, daughter of Michael and Nancy Batt of 22045 Novi Road. The 1973 champ was incorrectly identified as a boy in last week's Record.

ALTHOUGH many service stations were reportedly running out of gasoline just before scheduled January deliveries, a sampling of Northville stations indicated they would have enough gasoline to carry through to the weekend.

NEXT scheduled meeting of the city council is Monday, January 7.

A voluminous zoning ordinance proposal, which already has generated some static from members of the city council, goes to public hearing next Tuesday before the Northville City Planning Commission.

The 8 p.m. hearing will be held in the council chambers in the city hall.

Purpose of the hearing is to provide a forum for public criticism and support for the proposed new ordinance consisting of more than 100 pages together with a zoning ordinance map.

Planners, who spent much of the past year in developing the updated ordinance, are hopeful the hearing can be concluded Tuesday. However, because of the proposed ordinance's length they are prepared to extend the hearing to a second night if necessary.

The proposed ordinance may be viewed at the city hall.

Upon conclusion of the hearing, planners must recommend approval, rejection or modification of the ordinance to the city council. The council, in turn, will then hold another hearing before it makes a final decision.

The proposed zoning map, which indicates the zoning classifications for the various sections of the city, is likely to stir the most controversy. Members of the city council, for example, have already indicated displeasure with the map's failure to designate the southwest corner of Walnut and Center streets for commercial or professional office zoning.

Specifically, some councilmen have suggested that the commercial zoning be extended north from Chatham's parking lot to Walnut. Planners, on the other hand, have held fast to their contention that commercial zoning should not be extended north beyond the Chatham property.

If recommended by planners for approval and eventually approved by the city council, the new zoning map supersedes all existing zoning. Existing uses not conforming with the new zoning may continue as legal non-conforming uses.

For example, the house of Record Sports Editor Philip Jerome at the southwest corner of Dunlap and Wing streets may continue to be used as a residence even though under the new ordinance the property is given a PBO designation. The only other legal use for the property is for professional and business office. Should he wish some other use designation in the future, he would first have to gain approval for rezoning.

The new zoning map designates much of the residential area west of Center Street as a "First Density" classification. Planners decided to give it this highly restrictive single family designation to preserve the older homes of the city. They feared that given a lesser residential designation, these homes might eventually be turned into two-family homes, rooming homes, etc.

Generally speaking, the boundary of the central business district in this map is defined as the area inside Randolph Street and a line east to Hutton (including Ely's Garden Center), Hutton south and then along a line east behind Stone's Unfinished and Custom Made Furniture Store to Griswold, Griswold south to Cady, Cady west to Center, Center south to encompass the new municipal parking lot to Wing, and Wing Street north to Randolph.

The post office and city hall property together with the block bounded by High, Dunlap, Wing and Main streets has been given a professional and business office district (PBO) classification.

Lots along the west side of Center from Randolph Street to the Randolph Drain also have been given a PBO designation as has much of the east side of Center from the northern line of Ely's Garden Center north to Lake Street.

The race track and related uses district (RTRU) encompasses an area property south of Cady from Center to South Griswold, south on Griswold to Beal, Beal to River, River south to a point midway between Gardner and Johnson, and then southwesterly along the southern boundary line of Northville Downs to Center.

RTRU designation also is given those lots between Center and the extension of Wing streets and extending north to a point south of the lots along the south side of Fairbrook. Lots bordering on Fairbrook are excluded from RTRU and designated for Second Density Residential (R-2) zoning.

The property east of Griswold, between Main and Cady streets to Park Place, and including lots facing South Main to Beal has been designated for general commercial (GCD) zoning.

Property west of the South Main lots, between Cady and Beal, and extending to South Griswold is designated industrial (M-1).

Also designated for industrial zoning is much of the property adjacent to the C&O railroad from the southern border to the northern border of the city.

Property bounded by Beal, River, Gardner and South Main is classified residential zoning (R-2).

Third Density (R-3) or multiple zoning is given the area south of Fairbrook; the area at the corner of Randolph and Taft roads where apartments already exist; the area at the northwest corner of Eight Mile and Taft where Thompson-Brown is developing

Thrifty Acres Coming Here

A giant all-purpose shopping center is to be constructed at the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty roads within the next two years, Meijer, Inc., of Grand Rapids disclosed this past week.

It is to be a Thrifty Acres store as large as or larger than the Meijer's new Thrifty Acres center in Ann Arbor.

John Stephenson, real estate specialist for Meijer, told The Record construction of the giant store, which will have between 200,000 and 250,000 square feet of floor space, very likely will begin as the new I-96 expressway along Haggerty Road nears completion.

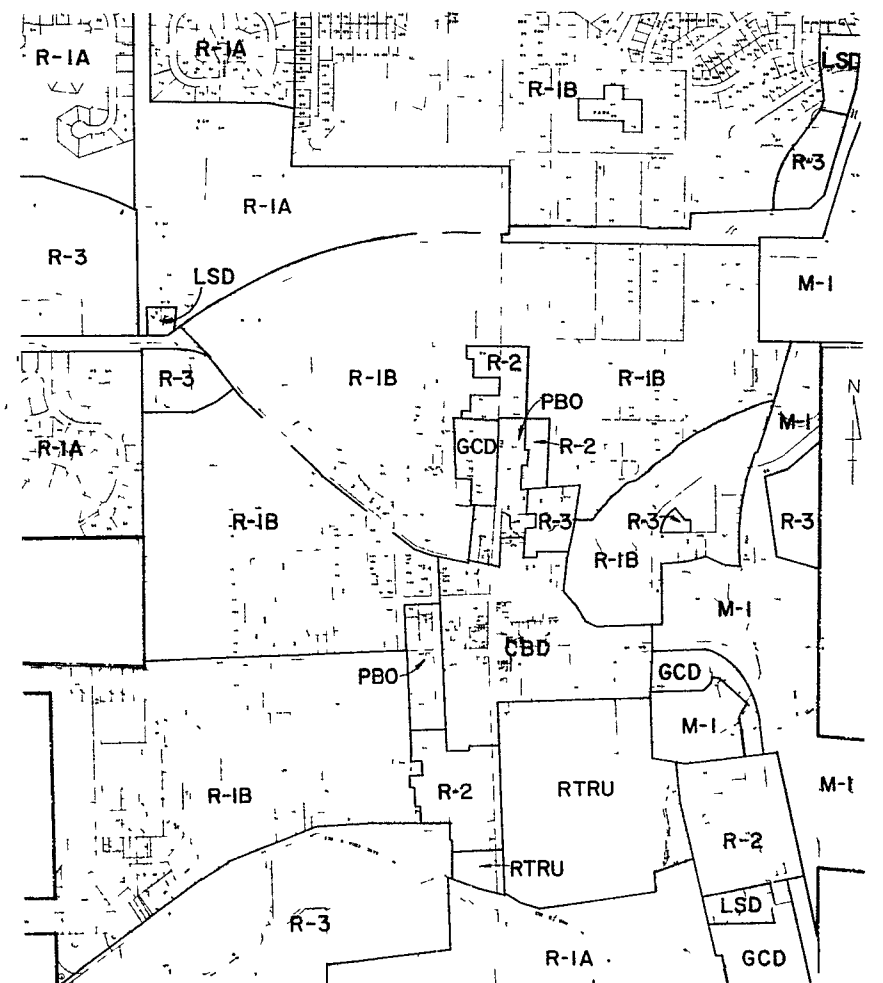

The expressway is expected to be completed within two years.

An expressway interchange is planned at Eight Mile and Haggerty roads.

Stephenson said the property, involving "about 34 acres", was purchased "over a year ago" from Nate Shapero, who three years ago had the property rezoned to permit construction of a shopping center.

At that time, however, Shapero representatives indicated his plans called for development of a shopping center of about

Babson Predictions

Life Styles Change in '74

Shortly after publication of our 1973 forecast, a vital change in the ground rules occurred when the Administration suddenly put into effect Phase 3 of its economic game plan.

With fear of inadequacies of food and feed supplies already driving prices upward, this unexpectedly early shift in policy sent many other prices soaring.

In our forecast of a year ago, we warned against succumbing to the outright optimism on 1973 then prevailing, citing inflation as a possible pocket of serious trouble. Despite some problems no one could predict, factory output, retail trade, profits, employment, personal income, and business capital expenditures achieved the lofty results we projected.

Except for limitations of productive capacity and transportation, 1973 could have seen larger gains.

The staff of Babson's Reports now detects signs of a period of change in the life style of the nation's populace. For an indefinite time, rising costs along with inadequate supplies of fuel and energy could force alternations in demand and living habits, just as the high prices and

Hit at Main-Rogers

5 Injured in Auto Crash

Five persons were injured early Saturday morning in a two-car accident at West Main and Rogers streets.

Force of the impact spun one of the cars around and it ended up facing the direction it had come from. The second car plowed across a lawn, skipped over a concrete porch and struck a house approximately 70 feet from the point of the accident.

Taken to St. Mary hospital were Ronald Percy Nesgel, Gay Ann Pariseau, Scott Michael Pariseau, all of Pontiac, Robert F. Lang and Anne M. Lang, both of 105 Linden.

The accident took place about 12:50 a.m., police said.

Nesgel received cuts and bruises, as did the three-year-old Pariseau youth. Miss Pariseau, who was unconscious on the floor of the car when police arrived, suffered head injuries when she struck and broke the windshield of the car in which she was riding. She regained consciousness about 6 a.m., police said. Lang suffered a cut above the eye and Mrs. Lang received rib injuries.

Witnesses told police Nesgel was southbound on Rogers traveling about 40 mph when he failed to stop for the stop sign and struck the Lang

Thailand Bride Adjusts Easily Here

"If you love me, Mama, then go watch TV."

Most mothers and mothers-in-law would like to be thus ordered, and Mrs. Robert W. Matthews is no exception. In shopping and getting acquainted with Michigan ways, however, her daughter-in-law, the former Sang Wan Boonrod, of Bangkok, Thailand, is glad to have her help.

Sang Wan now prefers to be called Penny. She chose her American name herself and asked to be called by it when

PATRICIA LONG

Engaged

An August 10 wedding date has been selected by Patricia Ann Long and William Raywood Blanchard.

Announcement of their daughter's engagement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Long Jr. of 48385 West Eight Mile Road. Parents of her fiancé are Mr. and Mrs. Raywood H. Blanchard of Kalamazoo.

Miss Long, a 1970 graduate of Northville High School, is attending University of Michigan School of Nursing and expects to be graduated in May.

Blanchard, a 1970 graduate of Loy Norrix High School in Kalamazoo, is attending Western Michigan University and is employed at Bronson Methodist Hospital in Kalamazoo.

she arrived here in November to join her husband, Robert Matthews.

Technically, she isn't a bride as the couple was married November 12, 1971, in Thailand. It took all this time, plus help from Senator Robert Griffin, to bring her here. Her husband, who was a sergeant in the U. S. Army, met her overseas in 1968.

He was discharged in 1970 and returned to visit her in Thailand the year following. He proposed but at that time Sang Wan didn't think she could leave her family as she was the support of five people. She explains that she felt she "owed it to them" to remain. She was working an office and also at the U. S. officers' club.

Robert Matthews returned to his parents' home on Whipple Drive and continued writing. A year later, when Sang Wan (now Penny) found that her sister was 19 and old enough to help the family, she said "yes." They were married in a civil ceremony with the bridegroom leaving in just three weeks.

Finally, through the efforts of Senator Griffin who was alerted by Detroit News' Contact 10, the Thailand government was persuaded to speed up its paper work. Penny arrived just a few days before their second wedding anniversary.

The Matthews are living in a mobile home in Holiday Woods park in Belleville. Penny, who is five foot-three inches tall, is not so small as a Japanese woman and has no trouble finding clothes here.

She hasn't had much time to make friends yet but does have a close friend from Thailand who married and is living in Wisconsin. The young Matthews visit his parents and brothers, Michael and Dennis, a student at Central Michigan University.

In Thailand Penny has an older married sister as well as a younger one and young step-brothers.

She reports that Christmas decorations are not new to her as Bangkok department stores are decorated for the holidays, probably because so many Americans live there.

Penny likes decorating and managed to have fresh flowers on the table when she entertained her new family at dinner recently. After dinner, she insisted upon doing the kitchen clean-up alone.

That's when she told Betty Matthews, "If you love me, Mama, then go watch TV."

It's Second Wedding For McNeiece Family

When James Haggerty McNeiece Jr. took Terry Loraine Young as his bride, it marked the second wedding in the McNeiece family is less than a month.

His sister, Cynthia, became Mrs. James L. Morrison on November 24, just two weeks before his December 8 marriage to Miss Young.

The couple, who met while both were counselors at a summer camp in Manistiquette, was married in a candlelight service at St. John's Episcopal Church in Plymouth.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Potter of Livonia and George G. Young of Northville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. McNeiece of 20145 Woodhill Drive.

Performing the ceremony was the Reverend Robert S. Shank Jr. who officiated before an altar decorated with candelabra and vases of white flowers. Pews were marked with greens and ribbons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of layered rosepointe lace. The gown featured a high neckline and the fitted bodice was trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. Mutton sleeves and a bouffant skirt with a train completed her dress. Her illusion veil was held by a pearl crown edged in lace and she wore her mother's bridal slip and Mrs. McNeiece's pearl drop earrings.

She carried a nosegay of white carnations with baby's breath and greens.

Maid of honor was Elizabeth Perry of Mt. Pleasant while Deborah Ann Young, cousin of the bride from Canton, Ohio, and Ruth Lorenger of Farmington served as attendants.

The maid of honor wore a sleeveless A-line gown of wine velvet trimmed by a white satin collar. Elbow length white gloves and a pearl pendant completed her outfit.

Attendants wore gowns of forest green velvet styled like the maid of honor's.

All wore matching slippers and headpieces of tinted carnations. They carried amber colored lighted kerosene lamps surrounded by tinted carnations and greens.

Best man was the bride's brother, Mark Young of Northville. Ushering guests were Mark Edwards, formerly of Northville and now living in Ypsilanti, Scott Young of Livonia, another brother of the bride, and Richard Pickren of Northville.

They wore formal tails with the bridegroom wearing a yellow rosebud boutonniere and male attendants wearing white boutonnieres.

Reception for 150 guests at Hines Park Inn in Livonia followed the ceremony. Those from out of town included the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Eckroad of Sarasota, Florida, paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Young of Canton, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Skaggs of Livonia.

The newlyweds chose a two-week motor trip to Florida and are now at home in Northville. Both are attending Schoolcraft College and plan to transfer schools in the fall.

News Around Northville

Following a six month tour of European countries, Gail Luchtman returned home to celebrate the holidays with her parents.

Miss Luchtman, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Luchtman of Orchard Drive, toured Mediterranean and European countries with a girl friend from San Francisco.

They also visited Austria, Belgium, Switzerland, France, the Netherlands, Germany, Luxembourg and Africa.

Later this month, Miss Luchtman will be returning to San Francisco where she now works and lives. She is a graduate of both Northville High and Western Michigan University.

Guest speaker for the Sunday meetings will be Dr. Charles Meredith of Northville, a psychiatrist who practices in Farmington.

Group discussion begins at 9:30 a.m. each Sunday, Mrs. Kenneth Dodds, Forum coordinator, explained, and continues for one hour.

Discussions are open to the public and are free of charge.

"I'm OK, You're OK" will be the January discussion topic for The Forum at First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Forum topics are centered around "concerns of today's world and we can meet those challenges as Christians," Mrs. Dodds added.

Mrs. Metta DuBrule, a resident of Northville for nearly 40 years and now living at University Convalescent Home on Five Mile Road in Livonia, observed her 104th birthday on January 2. Her daughter, Ruth Hoysratt, lives at 229 Hutton Street.

The Northville division of the Lamaze Childbirth Education Association is sponsoring a film showing and discussion night at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, January 11, in St. Mary Hospital auditorium. The film to be featured is "The Story of Eric," which shows a Lamaze delivery.

A couple who used this birth method will be present to tell about it. The Lamaze instructor also will be there to answer questions.

Installation Scheduled

Installation of officers will highlight a meeting of the Northville Senior Citizens Club Tuesday evening, it was announced this week.

The January 8 meeting will be held in the Scout Recreation Building beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Recently elected officers to be installed include Clarence Harsch, who will assume the president's post held this past year by Mrs. Richard Sharon.

Other new officers are: Mrs. Fred O'Connor, first vice-president; Harold Smith, second vice-president; Mrs. Helen Rieger, secretary; and Mrs. Gladys Johnson, treasurer.

Members of the board of trustees include Mrs. Frances Collins, Mrs. Lena Hammond, John Kuzilla, Richard Sharon, and Mrs. Ruth Hoysratt.

Plan Spread

The Mizpah Circle of the Kings Daughters will hold its annual January spread at the home of Mrs. Fred Casterline, 122 West Dunlap, on Tuesday, January 8, at 12:30 p.m. All members are urged to bring passing food dishes and table service.

Life Styles to Change in 1974

short supplies of food have forced changes in our diet. Industrial and commercial establishments and even the nation's international posture could be affected. Use of leisure time and consumer shopping habits may be influenced. Even protection of the environment could become less imperative.

On the positive side, however, the might of the country's research and technology will be brought to bear most forcefully upon the fuel and energy problems.

Even before the energy shortage had reached acute proportions, there were increasing signals that the cyclical rise in economic activity was aging. In 1973 this three-year-old had already encountered production capacity limitations in one industry after another of a nature not easily remedied. Then came the fuel shortage to pinch matters. So, with interest rates at stratospheric levels and credit supplies still stringent, some letdown seems inevitable for 1974.

At this juncture, its magnitude is iffy, depending in large measure upon how long and how onerous the curtailment of Mideast oil supplies turns out to be. Even if the spigots were soon turned on again, we would not be likely to escape without some industrial and commercial disruptions, while consumers might tug their purse strings tighter because of impaired employment and income prospects. Thus, an economic setback of wider scope than a "growth recession" seems imminent.

Almost as critical to businessmen, consumers, and investors is inflation. 1973 was a traumatic period on this score, inflation virulent and visible along a broad front. In the opinion of the Babson's Reports staff, the only uncertainty is the degree of inflation that will be seen in 1974. It is too much to hope it will be mild in view of the ongoing escalation of fuel costs along with the inevitable hikes in other fields.

Also, the second phase of multi-year labor pacts signed in 1973 will automatically boost wages nearly as much as in the past year, as could any new pacts negotiated over the next twelve months. Many will be augmented by raises guaranteed under living-cost escalation clauses.

As of now, we forecast an inflation rise of approximately 6 per cent in 1974. Here are some of the reasons for this seemingly moderate projection: Interest rates may already have crested over for this cycle; monetary authorities are not likely to completely abandon their anti-inflation credit stance unless inflation is superseded by threat of a deeper recession than is now anticipated; beleaguered consumers will display sharper price resistance; and the cooling of domestic and foreign industrial activity should ease the feverish scramble for raw materials and commodities.

No one can blame the unions solely for the acute inflationary pressures of 1973. To their credit, labor leaders were moderate in new contract demands, and the danger-fraught calendar passed with no sequence of harmful strikes. Looking ahead, 1974 will be the lightest of the three-year cycle that recurs in major labor contract expirations, with the steel industry virtually alone in the spotlight. There will be numerous secondary unions at the bargaining table, but none with the clout of the United Steelworkers.

The severe upthrust in consumer prices will make the steel group bargain more aggressively, but the expected sag in business could lighten some of this pressure. Then, too, the close relationship between labor and management in trying to do away with crisis bargaining in steel is an experiment that may well pay off.

The staff of Babson's Reports look for a 5 per cent increase in the Gross National Product (in current dollars) for 1974 as compared with 1973, primarily as a reflection of higher prices. If the fuel and energy shortages are not ultra-severe in the winter months, early-year economic activity could be bolstered by existing backlogs of unfilled orders. Capital outlays and government spending will be the backbone of GNP, while the prime boosters of the past two years—inventory accumulation and consumer spending—will exert a largely negative influence.

The GNP will probably be more deceptive in 1974 than for many a year,

Drivers Wanted

Oakland County's Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) is seeking individuals to staff a Volunteer Transportation Corps.

Purpose of the corps is to provide transportation for people who are not otherwise able to get from place to place.

According to Gray Harwell, Community Development Leader at the OCCEO office in Walled Lake, the transportation corps will fill a pressing need in the "Lakes area."

Harwell said that eight volunteers have already been secured, but more are still needed.

The Corps will become operative at the start of 1974.

Anyone who can serve as a part time volunteer driver or who has need of transportation should contact the OCCEO office at 624-5520.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD M. BOGART

Edward Bogarts Mark Their 60th Anniversary

It hasn't been difficult for Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Bogart to remember their wedding anniversary. They were married 60 years ago on New Year's Day.

They were honored on the milestone at an open house Sunday, December 30, at Northville United Methodist Church. They have been members of the church for 58 years with Mrs. Bogart also serving with the United Methodist Women.

Mrs. Bogart was Lena J. Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hunt of Farmington, before her marriage in 1914 at her parents' home. Mr. Bogart's parents, the Nelson Bogarts, were living in Wixom when he was born.

His grandfather, Marvin Bogart, lived in the square green home on Center Street now occupied by Johnson Insurance Agency. The Bogarts later made their home there, moving to an apartment in Plymouth in 1964.

Mr. Bogart recalls that, at his grandfather's funeral, Mrs. Henry Ford told him of helping work on the house with her husband, Melvin Bogart and her father, Melvin Bryant, were cousins.

The Bogarts were graduated in the same class of 1911 from Northville High School—"there were 23 in the class, the largest to that date."

A 43-year member of Rotary, Mr. Bogart is proud of the fact that he "hasn't missed a meeting in 38 years." Both are life members of the Eastern Star; she is a past matron and he, a past patron. He also is a life member of Northville Blue Lodge No. 186, Union Chapter No. 55, RAM, and Northville Commandery No. 39. Mrs. Bogart is a life member of Northville Woman's Club.

Mr. Bogart, who worked for A & P early in his work career, was the founder of EMB Food Market on Main Street (now John's EMB Market). He sold the business in 1944 to a former Northville postmaster, the late L. V. Smith.

During the depression years, he was instrumental in the formation of Depositor's State Bank and served on the board of directors for many years. After selling the market Mr. Bogart was a local real estate broker for 25 years. He also was a village assessor and justice of the peace for many years.

The anniversary party hosts were the couple's three sons and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bogart of Livonia, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bogart of Ypsilanti, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bogart of Northville. The couple also has five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Columinist To Speak

"Old Northville" will be the topic of the first meeting of the new year for Northville Woman's Club. Speaker will be Jack Hoffman, assistant to the publisher of The Northville Record, whose "Top of the Deck" column often deals with Northville history.

He also is a past president of Northville Historical Society. In his December columns he has written about Mary Lapham, second president of Woman's Club, who left the historic white building that for so long was the library to Northville, and for Woman's Club to use.

He will be introduced by Mrs. Robert Brueck, program chairman. The program is a guest day with a tea following.

'City Must Plan Future Now' — Saunders

At the onset of 1974, City Manager Harold Saunders sees the most important task in the upcoming year as being the planning of Novi's future development.

"With the coming of the Dayton-Hudson shopping center and the I-275 interchange, the city will be undergoing tremendous changes in the year ahead which must be incorporated into our overall planning," said Saunders.

"My biggest concern for our community is that we provide ourselves with the resources to do a quality job of planning for our future right now while we are in the formative stages of our growth. The type of planning we do today will determine the quality of life that Novi residents will have in the future.

"To shortchange ourselves at this stage in our history on the type of resources required for proper planning would, in my opinion, be a tragic mistake."

Although an extensive re-thinking of the city's master plan for development topped Saunders' list of priorities for the upcoming year, it was not the only area of concern singled out by the City Manager for special consideration during the upcoming year.

In a special interview with The Novi News Friday, Saunders singled out three other areas which must receive special attention in 1974. They are:

- further development and planning of the proposed city-school complex at Ten Mile and Taft Roads;
- examination of the city's financial condition with thought given to the possibility of a tax increase; and
- study of the feasibility of establishing a full-time fire department.

PLANNING

No task facing the city in the year ahead is more important than updating the master plan and zoning ordinance, according to the City Manager.

"We have to determine exactly what type of community we want to have here in Novi and then lay the groundwork to insure that it will develop as we want it to," stated Saunders.

An updated master plan and zoning ordinance are essential to the planning of the city's capitol improvements (roads, water lines, sewage treatment systems, and storm water run-off systems).

"Once we determine what type of development we want to take place," said Saunders, "we must face the problem of providing the capitol improvements that will accommodate that type of development."

All planning will have to take into consideration three major factors: the Dayton-Hudson regional shopping center at Novi and 12 Mile Roads, the I-275 expressway interchange at 13 Mile Road, and the city-school complex.

"The most obvious question that we will have to ask ourselves in our review of our master plan for development is does it adequately provide for the demands that will be put on us by the presence of a regional shopping center," said Saunders.

"The shopping center will have a tremendous impact on our developmental patterns.

"The I-275 interchange is another factor that will have a tremendous impact on the city," Saunders continued. "With a major interchange you can usually expect pressures from hotel chains, shopping center developments, and filling stations. We're going to have to determine if our existing planning and zoning patterns take into consideration the pressures connected with the freeway."

"We're going to have to further ask ourselves about the impact of the city-school complex on the development of the land around it. When that becomes the governmental center of Novi it will create a pressure for certain types of commercial development adjacent to it should we change our zoning for the area or should we see if the governmental center can stand by itself in the midst of what is presently slated for residential development.

"These are all areas of tremendous impact," commented Saunders, "and will direct our rethinking about our current master plan and what changes may be necessary. The determination of how we want the city to develop will then enable us to begin planning our capitol improvements such as roads, water, sewers, and so forth."

Says Wixom Mayor

Paving Plan Top Priority

Resumption of the road paving program rates as the top priority for Wixom in 1974, according to Mayor Gilbert Willis.

"At the time that Wixom was incorporated into a city, the citizens were promised that their roads would be surfaced," commented Willis. "That commitment was made years ago and we hope to finally fulfill it in the upcoming year."

Completion of the paving program was foremost on Willis' list of goals for Wixom in the year ahead. In a special interview with The Novi News held Monday morning, the Mayor outlined three other areas of major concerns. They are:

- widening North Wixom Road through the business district;
- attracting some sort of medical facility to Wixom; and
- starting construction of a new fire hall west of the C&O railroad tracks.

ROAD PROGRAM

Willis sees two major portions to the city's paving program. The first part will be the paving of the interior subdivision streets, while the second half involves extension of Beck Road through to Loon Lake Road.

"The engineers have already prepared some of the necessary paper work so I see no reason why we shouldn't be able to get a good jump on both programs this year," said Willis.

"Some update of those original engineering specifications will be necessary, but by and large much of the preliminary work has already been accomplished," the Mayor continued.

Willis sees two possible roadblocks to the paving plans, however.

"First of all, the city must acquire property for retention basins that will handle the storm water run-off," said Mayor.

A second problem is related to the energy crisis. "As you know a good bit of crude oil is used in the manufacturing of asphalt," pointed out Willis. "If the petrol-chemical shortage continues to become worse than it already is, it is very possible that we may have to alter our plans."

WIXOM ROAD PLANS

Plans to widen North Wixom Road through Wixom's downtown business district are also well underway. The major problem, according to Willis, is "to get the county to get moving with them."

The plans call for Wixom Road to be widened from two lanes to four lanes (60 feet) from Pontiac Trail to the Grand Trunk railroad crossing. North of the crossing the road will remain as it currently is.

Directly related to the widening of the road is the reworking of the C&O railroad crossing.

"Primarily," said Willis "that will entail new signalization and reconstruction of the road bed."

MEDICAL FACILITIES

One of Willis' major goals for the upcoming year will be to attract some sort of medical service to the city.

"I think the community has a real need to have medical service available within the city limits," said the Mayor.

"Some communities are able to attract medical services by constructing a clinic on city property and then leasing it to a medical concern," Willis continued. "Unfortunately, the city doesn't have any property available for development at this time, but it is an area which will definitely merit our attention in the coming year."

FIRE STATION

Much of the preliminary work for the construction of a second fire station within the city limits has already been done. The city has purchased a piece of property west of Wixom Road on Pontiac Trail for the station and a report on the design of the building is expected in January.

"I see no reason why the station shouldn't be under construction before the year is over," commented Willis.

In spite of the new station, the Mayor stated that he did not envision the immediate need to purchase any additional equipment.

"We have two trucks right now and we plan to put one in each of our stations. That will give us a fire truck on both sides of the railroad tracks so we will be able to respond quickly to any fire call regardless of where it is in the city," he said.

Corporal Robert Starnes Exhibits Dangerous Drugs Confiscated by Police

Novi, NET Officers Find Huge Supply Of Dangerous Drugs

Working in conjunction with officers from Oakland County's Narcotics Enforcement Team (NET), Novi police Saturday confiscated a large quantity of dangerous drugs.

Corporal Robert Starnes, Novi's chief narcotics officer, estimated the value of the confiscated pills in the thousands of dollars.

"We have no way of telling for sure just how much the drugs might be worth until we get the report back from the State Police laboratory," Starnes told The Novi News Monday.

"There's no question that it was a sizable operation," Starnes noted.

The drugs were found in an abandoned barn behind a residence at 41770 10 Mile Road, according to police reports.

The property is on the north side of 10 Mile, directly across the street from the Willowbrook Church.

Starnes reported that the "raid" took place after police had received a call from what he described as an "undisclosed source" at approximately 1:30 p.m. on Saturday. Police subsequently obtained a search warrant from 52nd District Court Judge Martin Boyle.

That warrant was executed by Starnes and Officer Ralph Fluhart, along with NET agents, at approximately 7 p.m.

The drugs were found secreted in a wooden chest in one of the several abandoned barns on the property, Starnes reported.

Starnes said further that the location had been under surveillance for a considerable length of time.

As of Monday afternoon, no arrests had yet been made. Starnes stated that the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office would be contacted pending receipt of the report from the State Police laboratory. Charges could range from simple possession to possession with intent to deliver to manufacturing illegal drugs.

"I think it's reasonable to assume that we are dealing with an individual who sells drugs," said Starnes. "Certainly a quantity of this size and this value was not acquired for home consumption."

Although Starnes said that it was not the largest drug raid that has taken place in Novi, he stated that it was an extremely large haul, nevertheless.

"Both the NET officer and I were surprised at the quantity of the drugs involved," said the Novi detective. "Frankly, we didn't expect to find such a large quantity of this particular type of drug at one time."

Starnes also stated that at least a portion of the dangerous drugs could have been slated for distribution in Novi. "I've seen this same type of material in Novi before and I've seen this same sort of material in our high school before," he said.

"I think it's safe to assume that at least some of the material would be sold in Novi."

Building Program Starts

Schools Face 'Space' Problem

Overcrowded classrooms and finding methods of accommodating Novi's burgeoning population growth are the top problems facing school officials in 1974.

"There's no question that our growth is our biggest problem," commented School Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz last Friday.

"We projected a 12 percent increase in school population last year and ended up with an 18 percent increase. If we continue to grow at a rate of 18 percent, we're going to have some real problems."

Not coincidentally, 1974 will see the groundbreaking on the Novi School System's $13.5 million building program which will ultimately provide two new elementary schools and a new high school.

In a special interview with The Novi News last Friday, Dr. Kratz talked about the building program, solutions to the classroom shortage until the new buildings are ready for occupancy, and his educational objectives for the Novi School System.

His comments follow:

BUILDING PROGRAM

In June, Novi voters approved a $13.5 million bond issue for a four-phase building program that consisted of an addition to the Village Oaks Elementary School, construction of two elementary schools, conversion of the present high school to a middle school, and construction of a high school.

According to Dr. Kratz, construction of the Village Oaks addition and construction of the high school and one elementary school will get underway this year.

"At its last meeting, the School Board approved the preliminary design for the Village Oaks addition and the architect is currently working on schematic drawings for the final plans," said Dr. Kratz.

"Very shortly we will be applying to the Municipal Finance Commission for permission to sell our $13.5 million bond issue so we can pay our construction costs. I suspect that within 30 to 60 days we will be letting bids for the Village Oaks addition and I'm hopeful that it will be ready for use by September," he said.

"Concurrently, the high school staff is preparing the educational specifications for the new high school and (Assistant Superintendent) Dr. Barr and (Novi Elementary School Principal) Roy Williams are working on the educational specifications for the new elementary school," Kratz continued.

"Those ed specs are scheduled to be presented to me and subsequently to the School Board by the first week in February. Once the ed specs have been approved, they are turned over to the architects."

"One elementary school and the high school are scheduled to be started by September and by that I mean the bids will be let and the shovels will be in the ground."

Dr. Kratz stated that he was confident that the $13.5 million would be sufficient to complete the entire building program in spite of the present economic conditions which have brought about substantial increases in the costs of building materials (steel, for example).

"Don't forget that we'll be able to generate additional revenue by investing our money after we sell our bonds," stated the School Superintendent. "I assume that we will sell our bonds at something like five percent and the last time I saw a Cash Deposit it was something like 10 to 10.5 percent."

"So we'll be able to generate some interest on our money while we're holding it to pay off our creditors. Unless the energy crisis forces us to go to some entirely new type of heating plant for the schools, I feel that the $13.5 million bond issue is sufficient to do what we set out to do in spite of the inflationary trends."

CLASSROOM SHORTAGE

Until the buildings have been completed, however, Kratz must find ways of dealing with the school's already overcrowded conditions.

"Our biggest problem is in the high school," he said. "We're at capacity right now and in June we will be losing a senior class of 140 students and replacing it with a ninth grade of approximately 200 students. That means that with absolutely no in-migration at all, we will be 60 students over capacity."

Dr. Kratz reported that Administrative Assistant Thomas Dale is presently preparing a report of temporary solutions to the problem. The report is slated to be presented to the

Northville Officials Look at 1974

LAWRENCE WRIGHT

'Township Hall Move'

as "one of our most important goals in 1974." Wright sees the move as a double-barrel blessing:

"It will provide us with more adequate quarters with plenty of room to grow over the next few years and it will free up the present township hall building so that it can be used by the library.

"I've already written to Mr. Spear (school superintendent) notifying him that if we can't be out of the building by April 1—the date our present lease expires—we would like the school board to consider granting us a month-to-month lease until we are able to move."

Specifically, the township's chief executive when referring to a new township hall means the conversion of vacated facilities at the county-owned Child Development Center located on Sheldon Road, north of Five Mile Road.

Over the past several weeks, Wright has been negotiating with Wayne County in an attempt to gain a five-year lease for use of two buildings. The lease would include an option to renew the contract at the end of five years.

One of the buildings would be the Center's fire station, which would serve as the township fire station and police station. The second building, a vacant cottage dormitory, would serve as township hall offices.

The Child Development Center, a giant complex of many buildings serving relatively few mentally retarded children in recent years, is scheduled to close in 1974.

Leasing of these buildings is a "far better" immediate solution to providing adequate quarters than would be construction of a new township hall, especially now during the tight money situation and the resulting slow-down in building activity in the township, says Wright.

"We've simply got to have time to catch our breath before plunging into a major construction project. The Child Development buildings would give us more than ample space and easily serve our needs at least over the next five years."

Money is available now without additional taxation to refurbish the buildings and, if necessary, install a new heating system, he says. (The buildings' heat supply is now being provided by the Plymouth State Home facility located on the opposite side of Sheldon Road, and there have been indications recently that the state may be forced to cut off this supply if the fuel pinch gets worse.)

The year 1974 will require some "tightening of the belt" so far as township expenditures are concerned, according to Wright.

Nevertheless, the supervisor predicts that by late March a millage proposition will be put to the voters. This millage, however, will be earmarked for operational purposes only, he stresses, and not for construction. It will facilitate implementation of the public safety concept which has been endorsed by the township board.

Wright also expects a substantial number of new sewer lines to be started or installed in 1974. These include those in Grand View Acres, Park Garden, and at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Installation of water lines into the Franklin Road area will be completed, and "zero hour is finally nearing on the purchase of the Plymouth water line," he says.

The supervisor also predicts:

- Expansion of the police department, perhaps by one police officer.
- Completion of 75 units in Northville Commons subdivision.
- Completion of the Northville Plaza Shopping Center on Seven Mile Road, of the Michigan National Bank of Livonia on Five Mile Road, of 115 units in Highland Lakes No. 8, of 110 units in Smokler Gordon Sub, and of the Inns Brook apartments subdivision.

Although Wright sees the current general slow-down in building activity continuing through 1974, he emphasizes that a change in the economy could result in a real building boom. He bases this observation on the fact that the township now has additional sewer capacity for 4,000 additional connections.

The additional connections result from the "rental" of four CFS from neighboring Livonia at a cost of $12,000 per year. The five-year rental contract was consummated in July.

"This additional capacity should meet our needs over the next several years until a new sewer interceptor system has been constructed. Without it, of course, all building in the township would stop."

STANLEY JOHNSTON

'YRS at HS by Fall'

Johnston sees only two alternatives to year-round school at the high school level and, he contends, "neither of them is educationally sound." They are, he says, extension of the school day and split sessions.

And split sessions, he points out, would compound the energy (fuel) problems facing the district in 1974. They would necessitate, he explains, significantly increased transportation provisions.

"We are going to have enough problems securing fuel as it is without increasing our needs," he asserts.

Whatever decision is made—year-round school, split sessions, extended day—that decision must be made by March, insists Johnston. At least that much "lead time" is necessary to implement the programs by next fall, he explains.

Unlike the situation at the elementary level, a combination of voluntary and traditional school programs at the high school "just isn't workable. It's got to be one or the other," says the board president.

Another factor forcing the board to make a decision early in 1974 is the "behind schedule" building program currently underway in the district. The energy crisis and shortages of materials have delayed construction to the point that the board can no longer count on the new middle school or the two elementary schools to ease the classroom shortage by the next school year.

Originally, the two elementary schools were scheduled to open next September and the new middle school by the following February. Now officials predict that none of these new facilities will be ready for occupancy before spring of 1975.

Administrators had hoped that some middle school classes could be shifted temporarily to the new elementary schools, the ninth grade moved from the high school to the middle school, thus freeing classrooms for grades 10 through 12.

The March decision seen by the board president will come at the time of still another decision—this one a 3-mill renewal election. The 3 mills for operation expired December 31.

Johnston predicts the millage election will occur "sometime in March," and he admits school officials are concerned that it may conflict with the proposed township millage election.

Should taxpayers be faced with two elections back to back they may be less inclined to approve the school's millage renewal. And, according to Johnston, failure of this proposition would be disastrous.

A. MALCOLM ALLEN

of the Rouge River on the south side of Seven Mile Road.

In addition, the county also denied the city permission to make the drive on the south side of the new municipal parking lot join with Center—unless the city acquired the right-of-way property.

Mayor Allen interprets the county demand as a "lever to get us to OK widening of Center from one end of the city to the other. We don't want the widening, we think it's unnecessary and too costly and I, for one, intend to fight it every inch of the way."

He stopped just short of labeling the county request blackmail.

To do what the county wants, says Allen, would cost an estimated $200,000. And, he adds, it would not relieve the heavy traffic flow through the city.

"We think the $200,000 would be better spent in building an alternative north-south route, such as along Griswold," he says.

Furthermore, the mayor believes property owners along the west side of Center "would never stand for the county plan. I think they'd take it to court and I wouldn't blame them. Besides taking away their front yards and porches, in one case, I believe, it takes part of a house."

Allen sees 1974 as the year the city attempts to gain control of Center Street from the county. He admits, however, the county probably would oppose such a transfer.

The mayor contends that the transfer would benefit the county since it would no longer have to maintain the roadway. Furthermore, he emphasizes that the county does not have control of the entire route through Northville now. The city controls the section of Center from Base Line to Eight Mile Road.

"If they (county) had jurisdiction over the entire route I could understand them wanting to keep it. But their control stops at Base Line and what they really have is a dead-end street."

The mayor admits that gaining control of Center is probably a long-range solution to the city-county confrontation. More immediately, the city must attempt to come up with an alternative route for the storm sewer. Presently, the city is exploring the possibility of running the line from the southern end of the municipal parking lot east across private property to the stream near River Street, he says.

Extension of Wing Street south to Seven Mile Road, a plan in the works for more than a year, is also tied up at the county level, according to Allen, although he admits that county demands here are not unreasonable.

The big hangup is that the county wants the city to acquire additional property at Seven Mile to facilitate a better intersection.

Allen, who contends the county should share the cost of acquisition, believes this logjam will be removed and the Wing Street project pushed to fruition in 1974.

Concerning the over-crowding of the library, the mayor doesn't envision the library being moved to larger quarters in 1974. That move, he suggests, may not come until next year. If the township moves to different quarters in 1974, however, such a move could accelerate plans to shift the library to the community building—provided the vacated space is not needed by the school system.

At best, suggests the mayor, paper plans for renovation of the community building might be made in 1974.

A major switch at the city hall this new year, the mayor predicts, will be the hiring of a full-time engineer. Examination of part-time costs indicate, he says, that a full-time engineer wouldn't be any more costly than what the city now pays for contracting work on a part-time basis.

Concerning the township's plan to implement a public safety concept, the mayor treads lightly. He emphasizes that the city will continue to provide the township with volunteer fire protection no matter what plan is implemented, but he expresses doubt over the reported cost of the plan.

"There are too many unanswered questions about cost for me to comment," explains the mayor, who says he is uncertain if the township wants the city to just continue providing volunteer fire protection or to actually join with the township in running a single police-fire department under the public safety concept.

"I've always said it would be cheaper to operate a single department rather than two side by side."

It's impossible even at the local level of government to look back at 1973 without thinking about what has happened at the national level.

In the current edition of Nation's Business an article by James J. Kilpatrick describes why this is true. It is entitled "The Confidence Tree".

It points out that people are losing confidence in their leadership and most of the major institutions.

And it reminds us that the business of building confidence is a slow-growing process; that once attained it is a possession to be cherished and guarded.

Its erosion comes swiftly and spreads rapidly from one area to another as doubt replaces faith.

If 1973 has taught us anything, it is that the basic values continue to be the most important.

The nation must have held its collective breath as the intense investigation of the vice presidential nominee took place. Ability be damned...just find him honest, was the deeply-held hope of many.

Admittedly, honesty and integrity alone do not qualify an individual for a position of leadership. But surely we have learned again in 1973 that they stand as the foundations.

Both Harris and Gallup polls tell us that confidence in such institutions as the supreme court, the press, medicine, religion and major companies has dropped. In the Gallup Poll, Nation's Business says, "big business" ended up at the bottom of the confidence poll, just under organized labor.

The press, for example, is accused of confusing news and opinion, of making news instead of reporting it; of forgetting old values like objectivity and fairness.

And one need not be near the Washington scene to know how far the integrity rating of our political leaders has fallen in the year since the team of Nixon and Agnew was swept back into office in November, 1972.

It is not enough for governmental leaders and businesses at the local level to disassociate themselves and declare no involvement with what is happening in our nation.

When the confidence tree falls, it takes the limbs at the bottom along with those at the top.

So as 1974 begins it might be wise for business and governmental leaders in communities like Northville, Novi and Wixom to make certain that everyone in their respective organizations understands the ground rules.

The whole team effort is penalized when just one member overlooks the importance of honesty and integrity.

In 1974 our area communities face many similar problems normally associated with growth.

And in many instances, honesty and good intentions may not be enough to satisfy citizens who will find their lives disrupted by crowded classrooms that may call for school-scheduling changes, by new construction of roads and sewers and, possibly, by higher taxes.

IN NOVI the emphasis at the city council level will be on planning. Among the developments that are certain to bring more people and vehicles into the community are a major expressway interchange, the huge Dayton-Hudson shopping center and, of course, more dwelling units. The council is determined to prepare the community for the crush by carefully reviewing its master plan. Meanwhile, Novi schools are also jammed as a building program is finding trouble keeping pace with the demand for space. Problems will be most apparent at the high school level. Growth has also prompted the city to consider a fulltime fire department. Together the city and school district plan to develop a major municipal-school complex.

IN NORTHVILLE the school situation is almost identical to Novi's. The high school is jammed; added space in the new middle school won't be ready in time to provide relief. The school board president has declared he favors expanding the experimental year-round school program to the full system. And this is certain to arouse response. The township is feeling its growing pains, too, and must expand fire protection. A fulltime public safety department has been proposed, which will require a vote in the near future to approve a tax hike to support the added service. The city will struggle with drainage and traffic problems, particularly in the center of the town.

IN WIXOM, where the council starts every meeting with a prayer and pledge of allegiance, problems may not be as critical. But traffic and trains are plugging up the city's main streets and the railroad tracks are the chief reason why another fire station is needed.

Speaking for Myself

Share Recipes?

TERESA ARNOLD

YES . . .

I believe in exchanging recipes with others as that is the way people learned how to cook and bake from their forefathers.

It is too bad that some people exhibit selfishness by refusing to share recipes with friends and neighbors. A lot of good cooking and baking, as well as some fine health remedies, have been lost and forgotten just because people failed to write them down and pass them on to kin folks and neighbors.

Most of the recipes we have today have been handed down from one generation to the next.

There are many dishes my husband and I have enjoyed over the years for which, unfortunately, we do not now have the recipes.

How well I can remember the farm ladies getting together at threshing or silo filling time and exchanging their recipes for their canning of slippery jacks, for spiced crab apples, molasses cake and for a wonderful liniment used on sore legs or for horses.

Some of grandmother's recipes exchanged now would make for some pleasant living for future generations. Frankly, I think the exchange of recipes is the backbone of the world.

NO . . .

Ask me to divulge recipes. I will gladly share most of my favorites — EXCEPT recipes of my family's ethnic tradition.

You see, no one would even have those recipes if I hadn't spent one of my teen-age summers testing and re-testing, and working and reworking the basic ingredients my grandmother uses to prepare certain family favorites.

She started me out by saying, "Well, I use some of this, and a couple of handfuls of that and a little of this." I took it from there and when I had the final product, then I had the recipe.

The way I see it, if I hadn't bothered to do that, no one would have carried on these family foods. I've shared these recipes only with family and that's the way it will stay.

Call it selfish. But even other Slovak-Americans don't make these dishes the same way. After having been to an ethnic festival to sample the wares, I've come to realize that the women from my grandmother's area of the country are the only ones who make certain dishes a certain way.

Rather than share those recipes with just anyone, I feel we in our family should share the recipes only in the family and preserve our individual ethnic pride.

Homes Slated for Pit

FIVE YEARS AGO

A 400-acre gravel mining operation in Northville will be turned into a community of lake-front homes and townhouses. Levitt and Sons, Inc., confirmed this week that it holds options on the property between Seven and Eight mile roads.

Northville township board decided last week to "adhere as closely as possible to the master plan," meaning they intend to hold the line on density.

Members of the Wayne County Department of Public Works axed a proposal that would have provided additional sewer capacity for Oakland County with major benefactors being Novi and Walled Lake.

The hazardous railroad crossing on Nine Mile Road near Novi Road is slated to receive a crossing light system, timbers will be replaced and the approaches will be leveled off.

If Northville Township, Clerk Sally Cayley is successful, the Northville Historical Society will have an important document to place in the museum underway in the Mill Race Historical Village.

It's the official record book of the first board meetings of the then newly organized Northville Township.

"This precious book along with some other historical documents are just gathering dust at the township hall. They should be preserved and placed where people can view them, and I think the community museum is the ideal place for that," says the township clerk who plans soon to recommend such action to the township board.

In remarkably good condition, the record book contains minutes of annual and regular meetings, a record of chattel mortgages, oaths of office, and an interesting resolution.

The opening page begins this way:

"The first Township Meeting of the newly organized Township of Northville was held on April 4, 1898."

Written in long-hand by Frank S. Harmon, the minutes indicate that "previously" four gentlemen had been appointed, according to law, to act as commissioners of the new township. They are identified as Charles Booth, S.W. Carrington, Dean F. Griswold, and B.A. Wheeler.

These four, according to the minutes acted as the board of registration and as election inspectors. S.E. Cranson & W.L. Tinnah were appointed clerks of the election. And, according to the minutes, "the following gentlemen were chosen as the first officers of the Township."

They and their titles are recorded as:

Charles A. Sessions, supervisor; Frank S. Harmon, clerk; Samuel W. Knapp, treasurer; Cassius R. Benton Highway Commissioner; Charles C. Chadwick and Charles L. Dubuar, school inspectors;

Will G. Yerkes (one year) and Francis G. Terrill (two years), members of the Board of Review; James K. Lowden (two years), Hiram B. Thayer (one year), Frank H. Johnson (three years), and Clarence L. Brigham (four years), justices of peace;

Frank N. Perrin, Horace Green, John Buchner, and Loren Haynor, constables.

Monies necessary for operation of the township that first year were estimated at $700 for Contingent Fund, $400 for the Poor Fund, $400 for the Road & Bridge Fund, and $150 for the Benton Hill Fund.

What the "Benton Hill" monies were for, is unclear. In subsequent annual minutes this fund does not appear.

Another unexplained term is contained in this 1903 notation: "Moved and supported that Andrew Houk be appointed Black-knot commissioner. Carried."

Having only recently written something about the Starkweather farm, I found a number of chattel mortgages especially interesting because they are signed by E.K. Starkweather, owner of the Starkweather farm, as the mortgage recipient.

In one of these, for example, the mortgaged property is described

In one of these, for example, (from Page Miller to E.K. Starkweather), the property mortgaged is described as 1 chestnut horse, 1 chestnut mare, 1 double harness, 1 lumber wagon, 1 top buggy and spring, and 1 set tools for moving buildings. It is dated July 16, 1900.

Another interesting mortgage is that of Arthur Adams to William G. Yerkes. The property is described as "Barber Shop and Cigar Store, contents thereof."

Among other familiar names appearing in mortgage transactions are: E. Vradenbury, Charles Lockhart, Peter Ely, Truman A. Garfield, James Hamilton, American School Furniture Company, Louis Westfall, George R. Turnbull, George M. Northrop, William J. Lanning, Fred M. Warner, the Northville Condensing Company, B.A. Parmenter, Fry Brothers, James Gibson, Samuel W. Knapp, Henry VanSickle, J.A. Dubuar and J.S. Lapham companies, and William H. Ambler.

The lone resolution in the book is a tribute to Hiram B. Thayer, grandfather of the late Mrs. Louise Thayer Bryan who died in December, 1972, leaving $25,000 to Schoolcraft Community College.

It reads in part: "Our friend and fellow townsman...a life long resident of this township, after having filled many positions of trust and responsibility, having been for many years supervisor of the township of Plymouth, also holding offices of great importance in the county of Wayne, has been removed from our midsts in accordance with the inexorable laws of nature to which we must all submit...."

The resolution was dated July 15, 1902 and is signed by the township clerk, Henry P. Fry.

The obituary appearing in The Record that year noted that Mr. Thayer had died June 17 at his home "five miles southwest of here." He had served two years as county clerk (1875-76), as county auditor (1877-79), as supervisor before Plymouth Township was divided — half becoming Plymouth and half Northville, and as justice of the peace "for years and years."

The old Thayer Cemetery located on the Thayer homestead, still exists at the northeast corner of Six Mile and Napier roads. Thayer Boulevard in the city honors the family.

vehicle which was eastbound on Main at about 25 to 30 mph. On impact, the Nesgel vehicle spun around and ended up south of the intersection pointing north on Rogers.

The Lang vehicle plowed across the lawn on the southeast corner of the intersection, lost a wheel when it went over the porch and ended up facing into the house.

The hood of the car Nesgel was driving was ripped off in the accident.

Police said the Pariseau youth was found sitting in the snow near the car when they arrived on the scene.

Nesgel, 33, was ticketed for failing to yield at a stop sign and never acquiring a driver's license.

Rename YMCA Branch

The Plymouth Community YMCA, upon recommendation of its board of directors, has voted to rename the Y the "Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA."

"This action was taken because of the increasing programming that the YMCA is doing in the Canton and Northville areas," says John Schumh, director of the YMCA.

"With the increased service area, and a bigger population to draw from for programming, along with new YMCA members from this larger constituency, we can point to the future when the three communities involved can begin to look at a full-facility YMCA for just this area," he pointed out.

According to Schumh, a full-facility YMCA is "a realistic goal well within reach" in this area in view of the increasing demand for recreational facilities.

Persons wishing information about the YMCA program may visit the Y office at 670 Church Street in Plymouth or telephone 453-2904.

Several winter fitness programs are to get underway this month at the YMCA.

These include:

- Men's Thirty and over Volleyball and Basketball night, starting Thursday, January 17, from 7 to 9 p.m., at the Starkweather School Gym, fee is $5 for Y-members and $10 for non-members.
- Adult Co-ed Volleyball, starting Saturday, January 19, 1 to 2:30 p.m., at Starkweather School, $5 and $10.
- Basketball Skills Class, starting Saturday, January 19, from 10 a.m. to noon, Starkweather School, $10 and $12.

Zoning Hearing Set

condominiums; the area along Novi Road just north of Eight Mile Road where apartments already exist; and a section of land south of Griswold and east of the railroad where Levitt plans to build multiples.

Two other areas are given multiples designation. These include land south of Rayson, east of the CBD boundary to Hutton, and north of the CBD boundary; and three lots at the northeast corner of Butler and Griswold streets.

All of the area east of Thompson-Brown's development at Eight Mile and Taft to Beck Road is designated for one-family residential zoning. Included in this area is Northville Estates.

The old zoning ordinance (1964) provided for 14 different designations whereas the proposed update suggests only 10 designations. The proposed zoning districts include:

R-1A to R-1B (First Density Residential District); R-2 (Second Density Residential District); R-3 (Third Density Residential District); R-4 (Fourth Density Residential District); PBO (Professional & Business Office District); LSD (Local Shopping District); CBD (Central Business District); General Commercial District (GCD); Race Track & Related Uses District (RTRU); and Performance Regulated Industrial District (M-1).

R-1 districts, of course, refer to single family homes; R-2 to one and two-family homes district where older residences may be in a transitional stage; R-3 is for multiple housing with townhouses and garden apartments constituting the principal type dwelling; R-4 is designed for high density multiple dwelling structures such as apartments and it generally shall only be considered peripherally to the CBD zone.

Although the R-4 district is provided for in the updated zoning ordinance no specific area is so designated on the zoning map.

The PBO classification is generally defined in areas around shopping center locations and at the junction of major roads; LSD classification is provided for retail business and service uses needed to serve nearby residential areas, such as the one presently located on Novi Road adjacent to Village Green subdivision.

CBD is designed for intensive business activity. Planners and city councilmen may, under the ordinance, permit multi-purpose buildings in this district including retail, office and residential activities.

GCD is designed, according to the ordinance, to provide sites for more diversified and less intensive type business. For example, such businesses may combine retail, wholesale, service and repair in various ways. Generally, they are not household oriented.

RTRU generally means it is to be used as a race track or in some related way such as stables, food or alcoholic outlets, or off street parking.

Performance Regulated Industrial District (M-1) is "simply another way of describing an industrial zoning district in which industrial operations will be limited to those operations and land use activities that can satisfy the most stringent emission standards," explains the ordinance.

Thrifty Acres

700,000 square feet. (Livonia Mall involves about 560,000 square feet). It would be located, his representatives said, on 57 acres.

Apparently, not all of those 57 acres have been sold.

As is the case in other Meijer centers, the Northville Township center will consist of a giant single store building featuring everything from groceries to lumber.

Thrifty Acres customers are able to purchase meat and tire wrenches and storm windows in the same building.

Meijer, which has been doing business since the early 1930's, operates 16 Thrifty Acres centers and 10 supermarkets, most of which are located in the Grand Rapids-Holland area.

Besides the new store in operation at 3825 Carpenter Road in Ann Arbor, Meijer currently has another Thrifty Acres center under construction in Canton township. The Ann Arbor store encompasses 220,000 square feet of space, while the one in Canton will have 250,000 square feet of space.

Drugs are often the cause of much consternation within the family.

Teenage children may get involved with drugs for many reasons. The situation within the family is, however, a problem in itself, and not necessarily related to the drug abuse.

The family, an integral unit, can easily become disrupted by the realization that a drug problem exists.

Families may deal with this disruption in many ways, not all of them constructive. The feelings of family unity and open, honest channels of communication must be maintained. Understanding each other's viewpoint, along with an accurate knowledge of drug effects is essential to the continuation of good family relationships.

This type of situation is not necessarily destructive to the family unit. The crisis may be successfully handled within the family and if not, professional help can be sought.

Novi Schools Face 'Space' Problem

School Board in February.

"Right now we're looking at four alternatives," said Dr. Kratz. "Number one is the possible utilization of portable units. Number two involves the use of a building in another school district. The third alternative would be to change the division of grades in the elementary, middle, and high schools. And number four would involve a split-schedule."

"We have no more room in the high school, but we do have some empty rooms in the elementary schools, plus we will have the Village Oaks addition by September," Dr. Kratz continued. "One solution would be to put grades K-6 in the elementary schools, grades 7-9 at the middle school, and then go with just three grades, 10-12, at the high school."

"Whatever we do has got to be something that will resolve the problem for at least two years because I think it will be that long before we will be able to move into our new high school."

Dr. Kratz stated that although the administration has looked into the possibility of year-round school, it is not included among the four alternatives presently being studied.

"There are some very good points about year-round school and it is true that you could theoretically serve 33 percent more children," stated Dr. Kratz. "But I think there are also a lot of problems. Right now I think we would prefer to stand by and see how our neighbors (Northville) are doing with it."

EDUCATIONAL DIRECTIONS

"Improving our educational system is always a major area of concern and in 1974 we will continue to examine and explore our present curriculum to determine what needs to be improved, what needs to be changed, and what needs to be maintained," said Dr. Kratz.

Completion of the new high school will help considerably by bringing about expansion of vocational-education facilities such as auto mechanics. "In the coming year, we also plan to expand our career education offerings," stated the School Superintendent.

On a philosophical basis, Dr. Kratz sees the Novi schools moving toward what he terms "alternative education."

"By that term I mean that we will try to give parents and students a choice as to what type of education they can have," said Kratz. "Some day I see us offering three different types of programs in the elementary schools: the self-contained classroom, a 'continuous progress' type classroom in which the child can work at his own rate and pace regardless of his chronological age, and the 'open activity' type classroom in which the activity creates the learning environment."

"If you believe in individualized education - and we certainly do - you must also believe that each parent has his own concept about how his kids should be educated," Dr. Kratz continued.

"Ultimately, I can see us offering these three different types of classrooms and having the parents decide which type of program they would like to have their children enrolled in."

Jaycees Seek Outstanding Man

Only two and a half weeks are left to submit nomination for Northville's Outstanding Young Man of the Year Award sponsored annually by the Northville Jaycees.

Letters have been sent to all Northville organizations asking them to submit nominations of young men within their groups. However, Project Chairman Dave Kull emphasizes that Jaycees would also like members of the community at large to submit nominations.

"Perhaps Northville residents know a young man from their neighborhood, church, office, or school who has contributed greatly to the Northville community," said Kull. "This young man deserves recognition, and the only way he will receive it is if his acquaintances enter his name in the contest."

To nominate a candidate residents are asked to submit the name, address, age, marital status, and occupation of the candidate. Give a brief accounting of the reasons why you think he should be selected, and send the information, including your name and address, to: Outstanding Young Man Of the Year Contest care of David L. Kull 1020 Allen Drive Northville, Michigan 48167

Nominations must be sent by January 18. The winner will be announced in late January at a dinner and cocktail party sponsored by the Jaycees.

Let's Talk Real Estate

BY DAN MAHAN

When your real estate man agrees to list your house, he will attempt, first of all, to get a price for the house which is as nearly "right" as possible. That means he will list the house as clearly as well as attractively as he can. Probably he will explain to you how the market can vary, and that one may be a bit flexible as to the price without endangering an investment. Then he will show your house to buyers who are genuinely interested in a house realistically priced.

When you call HARTFORD REALTY, 224 S. Main, 349-1212 you can be assured that you have listed your property with a very reliable and competent firm. ## Plan Breakfast For Jaycee DSA Novi's Jaycees have begun their annual search for the recipient of the 1973 Distinguished Service Award (DSA).

"Given to the citizen who has made the greatest contribution to the betterment of the community during the past year, the Distinguished Service Award is designed to both encourage and honor the humanitarian efforts and personal qualities of idealism, initiative, and involvement displayed by a Novi citizen through service to his community."

The award is presented each year during National Jaycee Week (January 20-26). Every citizen 18 years of age or older is eligible for nomination. Each nominee's record of achievement and involvement will be reviewed by a panel of judges made up of community leaders, local clergymen, and Jaycees.

Civic-mindedness and community service are keys to qualification.

The Novi Jaycees presented their first DSA award last year when they honored J. Fred Buck who was selected from over 20 nominees due to his 15 years of commitment, contribution, and leadership within the community.

The winner of the 1973 Distinguished Service Award will be announced at a Recognition Breakfast held on January 26 at the Holiday Inn. At that time the winners of the annual Jaycee-sponsored competition for Outstanding Young Educator, Outstanding Public Safety Officer, and the "What America Means to Me" essay contest at the Novi Middle School will also be announced.

Individuals wishing to secure a nomination form for the Distinguished Service Award may do so by contacting Todd Price at 349-7572. All nominations must be submitted by January 19 to be eligible for consideration.

Time's are changing and the trend in cameras today, as with automobiles, is toward the economy models

Snapshooters Go Economy Class

'They Want A Camera They Can Throw Away When It Stops Working'

By ROLLY PETERSON

"It all depends on how you want to travel" is a comment commonly associated with automobile sales. Either a Cadillac or a Pinto will get you there, but in an entirely different manner.

The same might be said of camera purchases which have been spiraling upward for years, so much so that the average family has two cameras around the house, just as they have two cars in the garage.

You can go first class by purchasing a camera beginning around $200 and ranging up to $500. Or you can go with what might be called the economy camera, priced from $20 to $45.

The trend, which some might term revolutionary, is toward the economy model, much as in the auto industry. But where one demand is accelerated through the fuel shortage, the demand for cheaper cameras, almost of a throw-away variety, is self imposed.

Chiefly responsible for the growing shift away from more expensive, quality camera to the cheaper, simpler camera are females, according to Jerry Doub, manager of Fox Photo in Plymouth, one of 250 camera shops owned by a national company.

Women, Doub observes, are bargain hunters. What they want in a camera is low cost, plus simplicity. Putting it more bluntly, Doub said, "They want a camera they can throw away when it stops working. They want junk."

The little lady is getting into the act, he contends, because she would ask her husband to take pictures. He'd take some time about it, because he had a quality camera which demanded more time and attention to produce the good picture.

The new instant cameras and pocket cameras provided the woman with instant pictures she herself could take, Doub explained, thus relieving her of dependency on the man of the house. She can now take the pictures of the kids by simply pushing a button.

Doub notes that in 1973 for the first time the majority of his customers were women

And their buying habits in his store bear out his observations, he claims.

Sales in 1973 and during the recent Christmas season don't point the finger at women, but they do indicate that the cheaper cameras of the instant load or pocket variety were the most popular items around. The cheaper Polaroids also sold well.

No firm figures are in yet, but a survey by the Master Photo Dealers and Finishers Association covering the United States and Canada indicated 73 percent of retail photo outlets polled said they anticipated record sales this Christmas.

During 1973, the poll indicated, dollar sales were up 10.4 percent, due to availability of the 110 size film for the new pocket cameras.

Fifty-seven percent of the dealers polled said their movie camera sales were up also in 1973 due to the introduction of faster film, which makes it possible to take movies using available, or what some call, natural light, thus eliminating need for blinding lights.

"Most peaks in this business," one man in the trade said, "are due to product innovation." The instant load camera was the innovation which spurred sales in the mid 1960's, the pocket cameras have pushed sales up in 1973.

The economy, too, influences sales, it was pointed out.

And, of course, the purchasing habits of consumers has pushed sales upward. The average American has more leisure time available. He also has more money to spend.

Despite the leisure time, however, Doub claims people aren't turning to photography as a hobby. Again he points to the involvement of women in taking more pictures as being responsible for this trend.

The simple, low cost camera, he says, produces the pictures they want, inferior though they may be. Hubby, who was more inclined toward photography as a hobby, quality pictures and more durable, expensive cameras, has receded into the background.

Photographic sales don't end with the camera. A growing source of revenue for dealers is the sale of film, bulbs and finishing services.

Area dealers of these supplies and services, and that includes drug stores with a limited line of cameras to the most thoroughly stocked camera shop, report brisk business this past Christmas.

Average cost of these supplies is: $1 for film, $1 for bulbs and $3 for processing. Cost per picture ranges from 25 cents to about 85 cents, depending on the number of exposures on the roll and the type of film the camera requires.

Polaroid pictures are definitely more expensive than processed pictures. Slides are less expensive than pictures.

Then, of course, there's the cost of accessories, such as flash attachments, strobes and in high priced cameras, interchangeable lenses, an innovation which came with mass production of the single lens reflex camera after World War II.

What's ahead in the photo industry? Doub figures sales and dollar volume will continue to increase. The trend to cheaper cameras will continue also.

Innovation, however, is nearing the end of the road, he contends.

"I feel they have made every breakthrough there is to make," Doub said. "The 35 millimeter camera, for instance, right now has all a man would want to produce a quality picture," he said.

The same holds true for home movies, he adds. It's possible to purchase a sound system for $400 to $500, Doub explained, but people have to extend themselves if they are to produce good home movies. They won't, he stated.

Another significant change is taking place, Doub asserted. The specialty camera shop with the personalized touch will be driven out of business by the discount stores and mail order companies.

"There is no way I can compete with the larger companies," he explained.

Father Wyskiel to Take Brazilian Assignment

The issuance of a visa is all that's holding Father John Wyskiel of Our Lady of Victory of Northville in the United States.

He is off to Brazil to be a missionary as soon as the Brazilian government okays his visa application.

The young priest is optimistic, though he admits the last person going to Brazil waited six months for his visa. His has been in application for about three months.

At this end, all lights are green for Father Wyskiel. The Archdiocese of Detroit has approved his application to become a part of the archdiocesan mission in Recife, Brazil.

The mission in Brazil presently consists of a priest and four nuns from the archdiocese. It was begun in 1965 when missionary priests could no longer handle the missionary load.

"Normally missionaries come from special orders of priests and diocesan priests care for diocesan parishioners," Father Wyskiel said. "But the missionaries were extended as far as they could be and they turned to diocesan priests for help."

Detroit made a commitment to keep two Detroit diocesan priests in Brazil, Father Wyskiel said. For the past one and one-half years there has been only one priest there and another has been sought.

Father Wyskiel applied and was accepted. Soon the 29-year-old priest will leave his first assignment at OLV for the Brazilian post. He has been the assistant pastor in Northville since August, 1970. He was ordained a priest in December of 1969.

In Recife, Father Wyskiel will be serving 45,000 persons.

"Most of the people are Catholic by name only, since that is the official religion, but their ties with the church and Christianity have been minimal, since they have not had access to Christian teaching," Father Wyskiel said.

Father Wyskiel believes that as a priest who is involved in Christianity, he personally has to be involved in living a life of poverty.

"I feel Christians have to speak strongly to the poor wherever they are found," Father Wyskiel said.

He describes the Recife environment as a "real circle of poverty."

"The economic future is very limited," he said. "About 30 percent of the people are unemployed and 30 percent are partly employed. The living situation is minimal and most houses don't have running water."

"With the missionaries there already committed to a communal type of living to form a Christian group among the team, hopefully a Christian community will be an outgrowth of it."

"I will be teaching, but not in the sense of imparting knowledge. It is more a sense of lived Christian awareness of people. By our life and presence, we hope to teach others to begin operating life in a profitable Christian manner."

Father Wyskiel said, in time, the goal of missionaries is to work themselves out of a job. After a three to five year stay in Brazil, he hopes to return to the archdiocese to work in a parish here.

"My goal is to be involved with the poor. There is a necessity for the church to be involved serving the poor," he said.

New Pastors Bound For Area Churches

South Lyon and Brighton churches are welcoming new pastors this month. The Reverend Daniel P. Kolenda has taken over at South Lyon Assembly of God, while The Reverend Kenneth Ouellette and The Reverend Larry A. Carver have joined congregations in Brighton.

In addition to his pastoral duties, Pastor Ouellette is also serving as administrator of the Regular Baptist Academy, a Christian day school, which is housed in the church facilities.

The Reverend Larry A. Carver assumed the duties of rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Brighton as of January 1. He replaces the Reverend Paul Nancarrow who has served as priest-in-charge since April, 1973.

He is an assistant professor of theology with the Michigan Episcopal Diocese.

Mr. Carver, 30, comes to Brighton from Mt. Clemens where he was assistant rector at Grace Episcopal Church. He graduated from Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Virginia in 1972.

A former midwestern evangelist has taken over pastoral duties at Tri-Lakes Baptist Church, 9100 Lee Road, Brighton.

The Reverend Kenneth Ouellette began his pastorate in Brighton on a part-time basis in November, in order to meet several scheduled revival dates.

He is now in Brighton full-time and living in the parsonage. His family will join him at the end of January, when the current school semester ends at their home in Greenville, South Carolina.

Mr. Ouellette comes to Brighton with considerable experience, having graduated from Bob Jones University in South Carolina in 1953. He began his evangelistic tours in 1969.

The Ouellettes have five children, three of whom will be moving to Brighton.

The oldest Ouellette son is a graduate of Bob Jones University and is now a youth pastor in Mt. Morris. A daughter is currently a freshman at Bob Jones University.

Born in Plymouth, Mr. Carver attended Plymouth High School and graduated from Oakland University in 1968. He taught elementary school in Pontiac and served as Director of Youth Ministry at St. Philip's in Rochester, prior to becoming a minister.

He is now a member of the Michigan Diocese Parish Education Task Force and Society Committee. He and his wife, Margaret, and two and one-half year-old daughter, Christina, are now residing in Brighton.

The Reverend Daniel P. Kolenda has recently been called as the new pastor at South Lyon Assembly of God. Mr. Kolenda comes to South Lyon from the First Assembly of God in Bay City where he served as pastor for the past seven years. He was also president of the Bay County Clergy Association.

He is a graduate of Central Bible College of Springfield, Missouri. Previous churches have been in Gaylord and

Do Pastors Make Resolutions?

In the midst of making your own new Year's resolutions, do you ever wonder what kind of resolutions pastors make?

Some ministers, when asked this question, responded with a laugh and "I haven't the foggiest" or "None at all."

Some formulate resolutions with and for their congregations, as well as for themselves.

Pastor George Cliffe of Brighton Baptist Church said his congregation is deciding what they would like to study and setting goals and objectives. His own resolutions are more personal than public he said.

The Reverend Leslie Harding of Holy Cross Episcopal of Novi said he makes the same resolution every year—to take more time off.

"I blow it every year," he said.

Monsignor Joseph Matyn of St. Joseph Catholic Church in South Lyon said his resolution is to "serve better, with more smiles."

The Brighton Church of Christ has made a resolution "to do more in '74 and Mr. Douglas Tackett, pastor, said this is his personal goal also. The Reverend William Brown of Brighton United Presbyterian and the Reverend Donald McLellan of South Lyon United Methodist are two pastors who don't make resolutions.

"I make them from time to time, all year long," Mr. Brown said, "but I struggle with them and break them."

"To do the best I can with what I have, with where I am," is the resolution of the Reverend James F. Andrew of Full Salvation Union Church, Northville.

The North Brighton Lutheran Mission, which began holding services in November, has been officially organized into a congregation.

The church will now be called the Shepherd of the Lakes Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. It will continue to meet at Birkenstock School at 10:45 a.m., with Sunday school at 9:30 a.m.

The Reverend John Hirsch, pastor of the congregation, arrived in the Brighton area in September and the congregation held its first service November 11.

Charter members of the congregation include 47 adults and 20 children. More are attending, Mr. Hirsch said, though not as official members of the congregation.

The name of the church, which was chosen by the congregation, comes from the large number of lakes in the area and the shepherd concept of Christ, Mr. Hirsch said.

The Reverend John Gimenez, former convict and drug addict, will be the featured speaker at a rally sponsored by Huron Valley Youth for Christ, to be held January 5.

Prior to 1962, Mr. Gimenez was a drug addict who had served time in such places as Sing Sing, Auburn, Elmira, Rikers Island and Tombs. Today John Gimenez is an

Babson Prediction

Life Styles Change in '74

with inflation making any gain in the "current dollars" figure illusory.

All in all, 1974's "real" GNP (expressed in constant dollars—currently based on 1958) may shade off 1 per cent from the 1973 level. The quarterly figures are likely to chart a downward path for the first three quarters of the year, and while we are hopeful of an upturn in the final three months this is by no means certain. It does look as though we will experience a true recession (at least two successive quarters of decline in the "real" GNP).

If we can escape a protracted petroleum shortfall, industrial production may not suffer too badly, but a decline seems inevitable for part of the year. Key areas have already felt the sudden repercussions from the fuel crisis. The downtrend in home building will hurt manufacturers of building products and home furnishings. Painfully high consumer prices and the intense need to conserve fuel and energy will produce areas of both strength and weakness in the consumer durables field.

Leisure-time products (boats, recreation vehicles, skis, snowmobiles, pleasure aircraft) will suffer from the crunch of scarce and high-cost fuel as well as from consumers' need to establish spending priorities. Auto production is already suffering from lack of demand for "gas guzzlers". There will be high priority on certain items which were once nonessential but are now a "must", such as siding, insulation, storm windows and doors, and supplemental stopgap space-heating units.

Auto parts replacements should enjoy higher demand, especially where a car's idleness does not necessarily mean longer life for some parts (tires, for instance, tend to correlate with miles driven). Raw materials and energy supplies permitting, there should be no letup in output of material and components for power generation and transmission, equipment for oil and gas exploration, offshore and onshore.

While the crestover pattern may already have formed, the bulk of the slide in business will be centered in 1974. Consequently, the Federal Reserve Index of production may well average 5 per cent below that of 1973, and the uniqueness of the existing climate suggests the drop could be a bit more, possibly 6 per cent.

The economy should derive some support from the agricultural boom. With the low supply levels of most agricultural commodities in relation to expected domestic and foreign demand, the push is on to expand farm production. Acreage previously idled under the Soil Bank plan of price stabilization is being put back to work. Considering the prices key farm commodities are commanding, the high allocation rating the Administration is asking on fuel supplies for farming purposes, and the present lush farm incomes, demand for agricultural machinery and implements is extremely brisk.

With a little help from Mother Nature in important crop areas, the expansion of acreage put to seed assures a new record crop output in 1974. There should also be some increase in livestock and poultry supplies over the next twelve months. The picture as a whole promises more reasonable food prices, particularly after the 1974 growing season is well under way.

Although consumers have been a bulwark against recessions for nearly three decades, they may not be the stopper this time. Spending will be hurt by weakened consumer confidence, soaring living costs, and the burden of installment payments. Now, the high cost of both heating and transportation fuel along with gasoline shortages may limit shopping jaunts. Neighborhood mini-plazas and local retail outlets will benefit from this situation.

Since neighborhood shopping tends to be less extravagant than that done in the impulse-buying supermarkets, we foresee a period during which consumers will channel more of their disposable income into savings and debt repayment. Long term, this is healthy and lays the groundwork for the next cyclical upbeat in the economy, but the short-run impact is negative. Less consumer spending will mean reduced inventory buying, with perhaps some backup of goods.

Aggregate personal income during 1974 will not show the vigor of the past two years. It will be up, but boosted more by transfer payments (social security, unemployment compensation, etc.) than by earned income. Salaries and wages and income of proprietorships and partnerships will average lower than in 1973 because of the slower business pace. Support will come, however, from wage hikes in multi-year union pacts, new agreements, and built-in cost-of-living adjustments.

Employment faces reductions in 1974, and the jobless rate could average 6 per cent, but may run as much as 7 per cent at the topmost point. As in the early years of this decade, unemployment will be difficult to shrink because of the flood of new workers into the labor pool.

While the nation's housing needs are still enormous, tight and costly money has snuffed out the boom after the high rate of residential starts in 1972 and the first half of 1973. Government figures on building permits issued give no hint of early improvement in this sector which utilizes so much manpower and materials. Resumption of vitality must await a longer spell of anti-recession credit policy than the past six weeks.

By late spring of 1974 or sometime during the summer, residential building should bottom out, probably near the 1.1-million annual rate, and thereafter the economy can derive much-needed support from this source. For 1974 as a whole, new residential starts should approximate 1.3 million units. Industrial and commercial construction bolstered overall building activity for a good part of 1973. But high costs, supply shortages, and now the lack of clarity as to consumer spending plans and shopping patterns are likely to cause some hesitancy for nonresidential building during the coming year.

The amazing 1973 gains in overall business profits after taxes were due to basic and uncomplicated business principles and not to profiteering on the part of corporate enterprises, as claimed by some unthinking critics. Fact is, we saw what happens to profits when plant and equipment operate at full capacity and there is little simultaneous cut-throat price competition. For 1974, however, the outlook is less promising.

In general, we cannot count on the strong demand of the past year, and costs will continue to move upward. The situation will be worsened if fuel allocations prevent profitable use of operating facilities. But, barring extremes, net corporate profits should dip about 14 per cent overall, with the greatest year-to-year slippage in the first half of 1974. But some firms, notably those with food-related operations, may even stack up favorably vs. 1973 because of the afflictions they suffered at least part of last year.

As to dividend disbursements, if operational disruptions are not overly severe, corporate dividends can increase again in 1974. The reason for this is that anti-inflation rules permitted only a tiny slice of 1972 and 1973 profits to be paid out.

Politics caused a good deal of the uneasiness and uncertainty which marked 1973. The unending sequence of "shocks" in connection with the investigations on Capitol Hill make any reasonable forecast of political prospects for 1974 an exercise in futility. It is to be hoped that the biennial congressional and gubernatorial elections upcoming next fall will produce some semblance of reason to replace the chaotic circus. While those most eager to have the President impeached may have lessened their efforts, just how much of a working relationship between the Administration and Congress will be restored is questionable.

Past election years have usually brought forth some productive efforts on Capitol Hill; these will be most vitally needed in 1974. There should be no federal tax increases except on the Social Security impost in the year ahead.

While the staff of Babson's Reports is hopeful that there will be no resumption of fighting in the Mideast, negotiations leading to more stable conditions there will be arduous. Arabs will doubtless use their oil strategy as an overhanging threat for years to come in dealing with the industrialized nations of the world, although they may moderate their attitude somewhat. The emergence of underdeveloped nations is never smooth, and unrest will surface from time to time. We do not expect, however, actual military action between the great powers in 1974.

Late in 1973 the monetary authorities at least temporarily relented their anti-inflation credit restriction in order to forestall a serious recession due to fuel shortages. Confronted with both inflation and recession, the Federal Reserve may be forced to vary its tactics. For now, the need to protect the economy prevails. So the peak in interest rates may have been seen for this go-round.

With an economy-propping monetary policy and business needing less borrowed capital as activity eases, short-term money rates will likely back away from recent peaks; but long-term rates, which had risen less than short-term in the past two years, will recede more slowly.

This means healthier bond markets in 1974 than for the past two years. Investors requiring the best possible yield on their investments should find, therefore, that bonds, preferred stocks, and even some common stocks generally regarded as "income issues" can now provide an attractive yield, plus some capital appreciation as interest rates decline.

Two significant 1973 scares for the stock market were (1) the early-year panic over food prices and supplies, and (2) the still-current worries over oil and gasoline shortages with the unhappy consequences for business and employment. The former proved temporary and should not be overly distressing in 1974, but fuel-energy troubles will be harder to resolve. Hence, depending on the Mideast picture, the stock market may face more uneasiness that could carry well into spring. By then, Israeli-Arab peace talks may have made sufficient progress for investors to start thinking in terms of better business some months away. And the stock market could assume a more hopeful stance.

Now is a practical time for investors to effect portfolio realignments to meet individual goals. Start switching to improve your position whether you are seeking growth or a combination of reasonable income and some inflation protection. These changes can be tied in with tax considerations. With numerous depressed issues in virtually every industry group, go bargain hunting for well-established stocks and convertible securities (of companies with proven earnings capabilities) which are selling at the lower end, historically, of their price-earnings range.

Industry groups looking particularly promising for 1974 include fuel and energy stocks, some of the life and property-casualty insurance issues, offshore securities, and farm equipment stocks. The farsighted investor will find potentially rewarding buys in medical equipment and supplies and consumer goods. Even the currently out-of-favor S & L, building, and apparel groups will offer plenty of good candidates where cash reserves are ample.

Such buying should be selective in early 1974, but as the year progresses and uncertainties are brought into clearer perspective, more aggressive buying might be in order. In short, as 1974 makes its debut, Babson's Reports—instead of repeating the cautionary note sounded a year ago—suggests that this is the time for realism and courage, longer-range vision, and a healthy measure of faith in this country and our economy.

Furthermore, the cheaper, simpler cameras do not require the expertise, nor personalized service he offers.

Even film, he says, will be mail order. As Doub phrased it, "Mail order is cheap. There will be a lot of cheap film, imported film. It isn't good quality. But it doesn't matter to the public."

Robert Weber, owner of Northville Camera, admits he can't compete. He's selling his building on Main Street and thinking of changing the nature of his camera business. Larger stores selling cameras at a discount are driving him out, he says.

Why should anyone stumble through the darkness of illness, immorality or discord when healing light is available?

That question will be answered when Edward C. Williams, CSB, of Indianapolis, Indiana, will speak on spiritual enlightenment at a Christian Science lecture.

The lecture will be held

Sunday, January 6, in Farmington.

Entitled "Let There Be Light," the lecture will begin at 4 p.m. in the First Church of Christ Scientist at 33825 Grand River and will last approximately an hour. Admission is free and everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. Williams, a practitioner and teacher of Christian Science, withdrew from a successful career in public relations 25 years ago. Since then he has devoted all of his time to the healing ministry of Christian Science. He served as a Christian Science minister for the armed services during World War II.

He is currently on tour as a member of the Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts.

Berkley (both in Michigan) and he has served as an evangelist in both Canada and the United States.

Also included in Mr. Kolenda's background is service as an instructor at two different bible colleges and having been president of one of them.

He has served in both radio and television ministries.

First impressions mean a lot, the new pastor feels, and "that means I am sure to like it here. I am impressed with both the outstanding community and with the enthusiasm of the young congregation here."

The new pastor has a wife and five children. Some of the family sing and play instruments and assist their father in his ministry.

Mr. Kolenda comes from a long line of preachers and missionaries who have served in Christian service over the past three generations, on three continents.

"I look forward to getting acquainted with South Lyon and I expect the church will enjoy a continued growth in this growing community," said Mr. Kolenda. "We look forward to reaching many of the people who have no church home."

Horse's Mouth

HOW DO YOU TRAIN A PONY NOT TO BALK, WHEN YOU ARE LEADING IT?

Begin by leading the pony with his shoulder even with your right side. Hold the lead rope in the right hand and in your left hand, a whip which must be long enough to reach the hind legs of the pony.

Start walking at a regular pace, if the pony does not keep his shoulder even with your body, bring your left hand back and give him a sharp snap on the hind legs with the whip. Do this every time you lead the pony and it will not be long before balking days are over.

Gas Ban Worries Tourism

JOHN E. LONG of Northville retired from Western Electric's Michigan Service Center on Monday after almost 45 years of service.

Long started in installation and transferred to the Service Center in 1932 where among various assignments he spent 17 years in the shop and warehouse division as a supervisor.

He has five children and 11 grandchildren. His favorite pastime is golf, but he also enjoys devoting time to activities with the Elks Club and the First Presbyterian Church.

Western Electric's service center is located at 909 North Sheldon Road, Plymouth.

JOHN E. LONG

JUNE C. ROOKS of Northville will be among the 1,200 men and women to be honored January 3 for 25 or more years of service with the J. L. Hudson Company.

The 22nd annual anniversary dinner will be held at Cobo Hall where special recognition will be given to employees belonging to the Twenty-Five Year Club, including Hudsonians of 25 years and those celebrating every fifth year thereafter.

Ms. Rooks is one of 75 Hudsonians marking 25 years with the company this the fifth year of the Twenty-Five Year Club.

RONALD L. BARNUM, a representative of Aetna Life & Casualty at Northville, Michigan, has recently attended a special casualty and property insurance course at Aetna's home office here.

The five-week course provides comprehensive instruction in all forms of individual and business insurance protection, stressing new developments and methods of meeting changing conditions.

Barnum, a graduate of Central Michigan University, is associated with Northville Insurance Agency, Inc. He lives at 947 Novi Road, Apt. 7, Northville.

MEADOWBROOK INC., Michigan-based national property and casualty insurance agency, announced appointment of Gary T. Traylor of Novi as manager of its national association franchise division and Lynn S. Ingram as manager of its Michigan association franchise division.

Merton J. Segal, Meadowbrook president, said the appointments were in line with the company's increased emphasis on providing insurance coverage for members of national and state trade and professional associations. He noted that Meadowbrook now has exclusive endorsements from more than a half dozen associations to serve membership insurance needs.

Before joining Meadowbrook, Traylor had been vice president of Bradley-Chesbrough-Niswonger, Inc., Ann Arbor insurance agency. Ingram formerly was with the Detroit office of Republic Insurance Company.

Traylor lives in Novi with his wife, Phyllis, and three children.

THOMPSON-BROWN COMPANY, a leader in residential, commercial and industrial development and sales since its inception in 1924, announces another dimension in its real estate activities.

On November 20, 1973, Thompson-Brown assumed the full responsibility of sales, management, and marketing efforts of their Michaywe' recreational property in Northern Michigan.

Michaywe', a 2800-acre leisure-living community, luxuriously designed with economy and ecology in mind, is located seven miles south of Gaylord. It was developed by Thompson-Brown Company to encompass three lakes, an 18-hole Golf Course, Ski Slopes, and a Club House for family recreation.

Thompson-Brown, celebrating its 50th year in the real estate industry, is actively involved in five single-family communities in the Detroit metropolitan area; two condominium developments; four "Class A" Industrial Parks; and a medical complex, Quakertown Medical Arts Center, in Farmington Hills. The medical building is adjacent to the Thompson-Brown Office Center, and the headquarters of the Thompson-Brown Company. Two Branch Offices serve Livonia and Birmingham.

The Michaywe' Marketing Division is spearheaded by Douglas Goss, assistant vice president, Michaywe' Sales Division, with Thompson-Brown as sales agent. Goss was previously associated with a Property Development Group in Ann Arbor as sales and marketing director and is past president of the Flint Board of Realtors.

Michaywe' will be marketed under the provisions of the New Michigan Land Sales Act and the Federal Interstate Land Sales Act.

LANSING—The Sunday gas sales ban prompts much worrying in Michigan about the tourist business.

Richard Allen, director of the Michigan Tourist Council, puts forth an alternative proposal. He suggests that those counties whose economy depends on tourism and travel should have emergency exceptions from the Sunday ban.

"Tourist and travel industries should absorb their share of the energy shortfall," Allen says. "But we need a strong, positive program to insure survival of this important segment of our economy."

ALLEN SAYS the tourism-dependent areas should have the option of closing down gas stations on Tuesday or some other days of the week, instead of Sunday when most folks have the time to enjoy their attractions.

Interesting idea that sure would help the tourist industry—even though it might cause some confusion among drivers who might be puzzled over when they could or couldn't fill up.

VOTERS in a number of Michigan counties can expect to have the option of centralizing management control in the administration of county government next year.

That's because a new law enables boards of commissioners to put one of two options on the ballot. The county boards may choose a unified county government that permits voters to approve either: 1) a county manager form in which boards of commissioners could appoint an administrative head of government with limited powers, or 2) an elected county executive form with all balloting on a partisan basis—similar to the method of electing prosecutors and other county administrative officials.

THE LEGISLATION describes limits of authority of either the county executive or the county manager. Each would perform the same general functions. However, the county executive would have veto power over actions of the boards of commissioners, similar to the veto power of a president, governor or mayor. The county manager would not have such power.

Basic arguments of county government reformists for three decades have been that rules made into law by state legislatures were written by and for rural-oriented officials. Urbanized counties have tried to make do with these old rules, but the result has been that county level government in these areas is "headless" and not responsive or capable of meeting current needs.

Adoption of one of these new plans would be a first step toward updating county governments to make them more comparable to other levels of government.

CANDIDATES keep popping up.

Two new faces have entered the race for Vice President Jerry Ford's Grand Rapids Congressional seat. They're Republican State Sen. Milton Zaagman and Democrat Richard VanderVeen, an attorney. Already in the race were GOP Sen. Robert VanderLaan and Democratic State Representative Jelt Seitsema.

Ford's brother Tom, a former state legislator who now works as legislative auditor coordinator, says he will not be a candidate for the seat, and he's supporting VanderLaan.

WHILE BOWING out of the Congressional picture, Tom Ford kept a foot in the political door.

He says he has not discounted a return to political life, perhaps as a candidate for a state legislative post in the future. Translation: Maybe he'll seek VanderLaan's Senate seat?

Gov. Milliken set dates for the elections to fill the seat. The primary will be January 15, and the general, February 18.

The Vice President, meanwhile, told Milliken in a letter, that "it has been a great honor and privilege to serve the people of Michigan for nearly 25 years in the House of Representatives." He said he would "continue to serve them, together with all the people of the United States," as Vice President.

THE FLAP over football—Michigan or Ohio State to the Rose Bowl—brings this response from the Legislature.

The House and Senate passed a resolution telling the Wolverines they're "deserving of lavish praise for (their) remarkable performance" in the 1973 season. The resolution, sponsored by Ann Arbor Republican Rep. Raymond Smit, also declares that the U-M team was "unjustly deprived of their rightful chance at the 1974 Rose Bowl."

Small solace for the loss of a trip to California, but it is an official accolade to the maize and blue.

By Electrocardiogram

Predicting Future Death Risk Possible

Evidence is building internationally that the squiggly lines that record the electrical signals of your heart may be used to predict your future risk of heart attack and death, a Minneapolis scientist reported here at the 46th annual Scientific Sessions of the American Heart Association.

Long used to help diagnose heart problems already present, the electrocardiogram (ECG) now shows promise of also being able to weigh the chances of men having a heart attack and dying from it in the next five years. This health fortune telling is possible even when subjects are in apparent good health and free of any other sign of disease, according to Dr. Henry Blackburn, spokesman for the International Cooperative Study of Cardiovascular Disease Epidemiology.

He said the newly-emerging application of the ECG is based on a long-range study of 8,319 rural workers in five European countries and 2,451 active U.S. railway employees who were judged free of disease at the outset and who have had medical follow-up at five and ten year intervals. Co-authors with Dr. Blackburn were Drs. Ancel Keys, Henry L. Taylor and R. Douglas Thorsen, all from the University of Minnesota, which is directing the multi-national study.

Dr. Blackburn said the electrocardiogram, taken at rest, showed predictive powers independent of such facts as high blood cholesterol, cigarette smoking and high blood pressure, which are known to raise heart attack risk. He noted however that the ECG's ability to predict coronary susceptibility was less effective among men already at high risk than in those at lower risk.

He added that the resting ECG is "not appropriate alone as a mass screening device but the physician can more accurately pinpoint individual risk by weighing-in consideration of minor and major (abnormal) ECG findings on top of regular risk factor."

Dr. Blackburn said the degree of heart attack risk depends on the kind of abnormality spotted in the ECG, segments of which are characterized by the letters P, Q, R, S and T. Thus, if the coronary risk for all men in the study was given a base value of 1, then the presence of "minor non-diagnostic Q waves" raised the five-year risk by a factor of 4; "non-specific sagging" of the ST segment or the "T wave" gave a score of 3.5; ventricular blocks rated 3 to 5, and atrial fibrillation, a common arrhythmia or erratic beat, 9. Premature or "skipped" heart beats did not appear highly important in prediction, as other studies in cardiac patients have suggested that they may be. Not yet known, said Dr. Blackburn, is how effective "preventive" measures—such as diet, blood pressure reduction and stopping smoking—will be in reducing future heart attack risk. The overall questions about coronary prevention can only be wrapped up, he said, by running appropriate clinical trials involving three groups of subjects: those with known heart disease, those bearing "non-specific ECG signs of trouble" and healthy persons.

The emergence of the ECG as a predictive tool came from measuring ECG's in all men in the international study during rest and after exercise. To get them, the medical team set up field stations in such places as a Russian border guard outpost in Finland, a school house in Yugoslavia and civic auditoriums.

The European volunteers represented over 95 percent of all men ages 40-59 in the geographic areas chosen for their population stability and for apparent variations in coronary incidence or diet. Dr. Blackburn called the exercise ECG—generally measured while the subject paces on a treadmill—"quite unsuited to large mass screening" but important "and best used at the second level of evaluation of those detected at high risk after mass, rapid screening."

January A Fun Time in State

January ain't no time to sit at home fussin' and frettin' about the energy crisis.

"There are lots of things to see and do and enjoy close to wherever you live in Michigan," suggests the Michigan Tourist Council.

More than 40 dealers will be exhibiting their treasures from the past at the Pontiac Mall in Pontiac January 2-8. Antique addicts will be able to find just about anything that suits their fancy from art glass and brass beds to jewelry, pewter and political paraphernalia.

More treasures from bona fide antiques to unclassified "old stuff" will be up for bargaining at the Merry Marketeers' Flea Market January 5-6, at the Rogers Plaza in Grand Rapids and January 26-27 at the Meridian Mall in Okemos.

One of the most vital crafts in modern day culture that we take very much for granted has to be printing. In addition to being responsible for our first line of communication, it is involved in every aspect of daily life. You can take a closer look at the printing industry January 10-16 at the Printing Craftsmen Display, Maple Hill Mall, Kalamazoo.

The gasoline shortage has not dimmed interest in the "horseless carriage". You can admire examples of automotive genius at the Rod and Custom Car Show January 11-13 at the Civic Center in Lansing and again at the IMA Auditorium in Flint January 25-27. Pontiac has an Auto Show scheduled for January 17-27 at the Pontiac Mall and January 18-20, the Hot Rod Autorama takes over Cobo Hall in Detroit.

All types of watercraft will be the center of attraction January 14-20 at the Westmain Mall Boat Show in Kalamazoo. Professional and snapshot variety "shutter snapper" alike will find many areas of interest at the Detroit Photo Show, January 17-20 at the Light Guard Armory, Detroit.

If you've never tried ice fishing, you're missing a special kind of thrill. If you've never visited Tip-Up Town U.S.A., at Houghton Lake, you've been missing some great times. Tip-Up Town '74 will be welcoming visitors January 18-20. Ice fishing competition is the main attraction with other games and contests on tap for all ages and prizes for the winners. A parade, the coronation of the queen, the queen's ball, stunt flying and a variety of other activities promise a good time for all.

And speaking of snow time happenings, you might try Baldwin's Sno-In Celebration January 25-27 or the Winter Carnivals at Central Lake January 25-27, at West Branch, January 26-27, the one-of-a-kind Michigan Tech Winter Carnival at Houghton, January 31-February 2 and the Gogebic Winter Sports Carnival January 31-February 3.

The Gogebic Carnival is held in conjunction with the International Ski Flying competition at Copper Peak near Ironwood, the only ski flying hill in the western hemisphere. Thirteen countries have been invited to participate in this year's competitive feat.

Other snow coated activities include: Sled Dog

Races, January 5-6 at Ranch Rudolf near Traverse City, at Montague, January 12-13 and the Midwest International at Kalkaska, January 26-27; Cross Country Flatland Tour Race, January 13, Calumet, Cross Country Ski Championship Races, January 26, Calumet and the Cross Country Ski and Snowshoe Race, January 26 at St. Ignace. The Thunder Bay "250" Snowmobile Race (first in Michigan's Snowmobile "Triple Crown") will be held January 12 at Alpena.

State Swim Championship Tops Accomplishments

1973 was the year in which Northville High School claimed its first state championship.

In just four years, Coach Ben Lauber developed a swimming team powerful enough to do what no other Northville team had ever done before.

The state championship of the Mustangs' swimming team was without a doubt the top sports story of the year. However, it was far from the only story of interest on the Northville-Novu sport scene during the past 12 months.

For a review of the year's top sport stories, read on.

Tankers Win State Title

Everyone should have known that Coach Ben Lauber's Northville swimming team was going to win the state championship. It was a simple matter of mathematics.

Back in 1970 - the first year of swimming at Northville - Lauber's charges had finished in tenth place in the state meet. In 1971 the Mustangs moved up to fourth place and in 1972 they moved up once again, this time capturing second place.

And so, you see, there was nowhere else for them to go. They had to finish first.

Actually, up until the day of the state meet, the 1973 season had not been as good as the 1972 season in which the Mustangs swept through their dual meet season without a loss and won the Western Six Conference championship before losing the state title to Milan by a 206-185 margin.

The 1973 edition of the Northville swim team had neither an undefeated dual meet season nor a Western Six Conference championship. Farmington Harrison beat them in a dual meet and then beat them again for the conference championship.

But those two setbacks were more than avenged by the events of March 17, 1973.

Snow - 14 inches of it - descended on southeastern Michigan the night before the state meet, making transportation all but impossible.

Somehow the Northville tankers made it to Ann Arbor, however, and when they returned over those same snow-bound roads later that day they brought with them the state Class B swimming championship.

Kevin Kelly won the state 200 yard freestyle championship.

Art Greenlee shaved almost a full one and one-half seconds off his best previous time to win the state 100 yard breaststroke championship.

But the biggest success of all came in the relays - both of which the Mustangs won in new state record clockings.

In the 200 yard medley relay, Jeff Kappler, Andre Manochio, Art Greenlee, and John Pacific broke the old state record of 1:45.65 with a 1:44.9 clocking.

And in the 400 yard freestyle relay, Kelly, Pacific, Don Cook, and Bill Wittek broke the former state record of 3:30.39 with a 3:27.46 clocking.

It marked the first time in history that any Northville High School athletic team had ever won a state championship.

Wildcats Just Miss State Baseball Crown

Rick Trudeau is a baseball coach. Unfortunately, when the ex-Western Michigan University star first arrived at Novi, the Wildcats already had a baseball coach.

And so Trudeau bided his time by coaching the wrestling team until the job he really wanted finally opened up. Good-bye wrestling. Hello baseball.

If the truth be known, the members of the Novi baseball team were at first more than a little suspicious of their new coach. They weren't playing baseball; they were spending their practice sessions in the classroom - studying baseball. Hit-and-run. Pick-off plays. How to run bases.

By the end of the 1973 season, however, any doubts about Trudeau's approach to the game had disappeared.

After splitting their first 10 games, the Novi baseball team went on a 12-game winning streak that carried them to the Southeastern Conference championship, a district championship, and a regional championship before finally coming to an end in the final game of the season - the game to determine the 1973 Class C state championship baseball team.

The Wildcats had it all. Dave Brown headed a mound corps that also featured John Pantalone, as well as Mike Riley and Ed Brown. Defensively, Novi had Eric Hansor behind the plate, second baseman Tim Assemany, shortstop Ed Brown, and third baseman Tom Celani shoring up the infield, and a pair of fleet ball-hawking outfielders in Pantalone and Dan Kardell.

And on offense...The Novi lineup was loaded. Pantalone, Kardell, Assemany, and Hansor all hit for average. And Tom Celani, Dave Brown, Riley, and Ron Buck hit for average - and distance.

It was Ron Buck's grand slam home run which enabled the Wildcats to beat Lakeview 6-1 in the state semi-final contest.

But in the finals the Wildcats gave up four unearned runs - three of them in a disastrous second inning - as they lost the state championship to Blissfield by a 4-0 margin.

The 1974 season should also be a good one. Pantalone has graduated and so has Kardell, but everyone else from the 1973 squad returns for another season.

We'll just have to see if Trudeau takes them back to the classroom.

Cagers Sweep Districts

Nothing turns on Walt Koepke any more than the prospect of winning district basketball championships.

In 10 years of coaching on the high school level, the coach of the Northville basketball team has won nine district championships and 22 of 23 games.

What's more, he gets very defensive about the time he didn't win.

"My best player missed a lay-up with four seconds left that would have given us a one-point victory," laments Koepke. "If he would have made that lay-up I would be 10 for 10 in district championships and 25 for 25 in district championship games."

Given that background, it should come as no particular surprise that Koepke's Northville squad won the district basketball championship at Clarencville in 1973.

It should come as no surprise, that is, unless you forget the fact that the Mustangs lost 15 of their first 17 games and finished dead last in the Western Six Conference standings with a 1-7 record.

But, as mentioned heretofore, there's something about March and district cage tournaments which hones Walt Koepke's competitive instincts to a fine edge.

And in 1973 it happened again. With their record standing at 2-15, the Mustangs warmed up for the district tourney by winning their final three games of the regular season.

They topped that win streak to six by winning their three district games, downing Pinckney 56-37 and Brighton 61-44 in the first two rounds and then edging Riverside 54-52 for the district championship.

It was the first district basketball crown won by a Northville team since 1966. There's just something about district basketball games which seems to bring out the best in Walt Koepke.

Novi Gridders Do It Again

Undefeated seasons and Southeastern Conference football championships are nothing new to Novi. The Wildcats are becoming quite adept at those sorts of things.

After all, in 1972 Coach John Osborne's Wildcat gridders had posted a perfect 9-0 mark en route to their first SEC championship. And in 1973 they did it again - this time going 8-0 to stretch their undefeated streak to 21 straight games while claiming SEC football championship number two.

What made the 1973 season particularly rewarding to Novi fans was that Osborne did it with virtually a whole new roster of players.

Graduation hit the 1972 Wildcat football team hard, robbing them of their entire starting offensive and defensive backfields as well as their offensive line.

The stars of that 1972 team were all gone. All-State halfback Jim VanWagner was at Michigan Tech leading the Huskies in rushing and All-State quarterback Steve Lukkari distinguished himself as the back-up quarterback at Grand Valley State College. Gone too were All-State halfback Pat Boyer and All-State wide receiver John Pantalone.

But if the 1973 edition of the Novi football team was any less awesome or any less potent offensively than that 1972 unit, you would have a hard time convincing any of the eight teams who were rolled over the the Wildcat juggernaut.

Replacing VanWagner and Boyer at the running back posts were Eric Hansor and Mike Riley. And replacing Lukkari at the quarterback spot was Dave Brown, a husky 6-0, 180-pound senior who could do it all.

When Brown wasn't handing off to Hansor and Riley, he was taking off on long downfield jaunts or hurling passes over the heads of run-wary defensive backs. And when Novi didn't have the ball, Brown distinguished himself as a hard hitting linebacker with a penchant for breaking the spirits of the halfback unfortunate enough to be carrying the football.

When the season came to a close, the Wildcats once again reaped more than their share of individual honors.

...and John Osborne was left plotting strategy to compensate for the impending June graduations of his offensive and defensive backfields as well as his offensive and defensive lines.

Shonta Spurs Gridders

QUESTION: Can a football team which finishes the year with a 5-4 record claim that it has had a successful season? ANSWER: Does Howard Cosell talk too much?

That's what happened to the Northville Mustangs this year. They put together a 5-4 record and Chuck Shonta and his staff of assistants couldn't have been much happier.

Northville's football program, you see, has experienced some bleak times over the past few years. And so in 1971 Athletic Director Bob Kucher announced that Chuck Shonta - a former All-Pro cornerback with the Boston Patriots - had been hired to straighten things out.

Quite frankly, however, things didn't go quite as Shonta - or anyone else for that matter - would have liked. In 1971 the Mustangs failed to win even a single game. And in 1972 things were not much better. True, the Mustangs won a pair of games, but they still did not resemble the type of a football team that Northville fans could be proud of.

But in 1973 Shonta and his assistants finally got things turned around and headed in the right direction.

The Mustangs were 2-3 in the Western Six Conference - one of the tougher Class A conferences in southeastern Michigan. And just as important as those two wins was the fact that the Northville gridders were finally competitive.

Conference champion Waterford Mott capitalized on a disputed call to gain a 24-6 victory; Farmington Harrison triumphed 14-7 thanks to a couple of costly turnovers; and Livonia Churchill, the ninth-rated Class A team in the state, had to overcome a 7-0 deficit before taking an 8-7 win.

Outside of their own conference the Mustangs looked awesome. After losing to Novi 27-18, they blasted out non-league victories over Clarencville (27-0), Milford (38-0), and South Lyon (47-6).

These Events Made Headlines

JANUARY

IN NORTHVILLE

A shopping center, the first of its kind in Northville township, was slated for construction on 13 acres of land in front of InnsBrook Apartments on Seven Mile Road. When completed, the center will contain a supermarket, pharmacy, family department store and several variety stores.

IN NOVI

After nearly 30 years of service, Fred Loynes stepped down from the Novi Fire Department. Loynes, who joined the department in April of 1943, was the third fire chief in the history of the city's volunteer department.

IN WIXOM

Eleven box cars were derailed and approximately 3,000 gallons of highly flammable diesel fuel was dumped on C&O Railroad tracks on the northwest side of the city. The derailment was caused after a rail split due to cold weather. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

FEBRUARY

IN NORTHVILLE

In a later than expected but unsurprising ruling, the Michigan Boundary Commission decided in favor of a single Northville community. The township of Northville was to be formally annexed to the city on March 31 unless challenged by citizens.

IN NOVI

Harold Saunders, city clerk in Ann Arbor, was named city manager for Novi. He fills a position created by the resignation of George Athas last October.

IN WIXOM

Spurred by long lines which kept polls open until 11 p.m. in the 1972 Presidential election and state rules limiting the number of registered voters per precinct, Wixom city council approved a plan dividing the city into three precincts.

MARCH

IN NORTHVILLE

Petitions calling for an election on the decision of the Boundary Commission annexing Northville township to the city were filed and a May 7 date set for the election. A total of 2,314 valid signatures were collected in the township and 927 in the city.

IN NOVI

A state of emergency was placed on Novi following a weekend long snowstorm which left the city virtually paralyzed. Twelve inches of snow, combined with drifting caused by high winds, blocked access to many parts of Novi except by snowmobile.

IN WIXOM

City councilmen authorized the establishment of a library board, following nearly a year of study on the feasibility of a library for Wixom. The library was expected to become a reality within three years.

APRIL

IN NORTHVILLE

Township planning commission members agreed to settle out of court a suit challenging the township's denial of rezoning to permit installation of a 600-unit mobile home park on Six Mile and Ridge Road.

IN NOVI

Novi's building authority selected a 160-acre parcel on the southeast corner of Taft and Ten Mile for the new municipal complex. Plans envisioned a multi-building facility.

IN WIXOM

City council unanimously passed an ordinance rejecting state enforced injection of fluoride treatment into the city's water system.

MAY

IN NORTHVILLE

By a 146-vote margin, the proposal to annex all of the township to the city was defeated. Township voters turned down the issue 1358 yes to 1504 no, while city voters approved the measure 942 yes to 259 no. Annexation would have had to pass in both areas to become a reality.

IN NOVI

Plans to sink an exploratory oil or gas well in Novi were squelched by the Board of Appeals as it failed to grant a request for a zoning variance to a Tulsa-based company which would have permitted the drilling of such a well. Concern was expressed over how the proposal would affect surrounding residential area.

IN WIXOM

For the first time in four years, Wixom City Council voted to raise the city's operational millage rate, increasing it by .4 mills. The new millage rate will be placed at 6.1.

JUNE

IN NORTHVILLE

Although only 20 percent of the voters turned out at the polls, they gave approval to a $10-million bond issue to build two new elementary schools and one new middle school and elected John Hobart and P. Roger Nieuwkoop to the Northville School Board. In board action, Miss Florence Panattoni was named assistant superintendent.

Several of the nearly 25 stores in Northville Square opened in 1973 after a year of construction.

IN NOVI

Dr. Helen Ditzhazy, one of relatively few female administrators in Michigan, was named principal of Novi High School to replace Harold Seymour who will return to school for graduate studies. In another major appointment, Milan Obrenovich, varsity basketball coach, was named Novi's first full-time director of Novi Community Education Programs.

IN WIXOM

By a unanimous vote, Wixom City Council adopted the recommendation of the Wixom Library Board to contract with the Walled Lake Public Library for another year of service, thus ending the threat that Wixom residents would be without library service.

JULY

IN NORTHVILLE

City Manager Frank Ollendorff accepted the position of city manager of Adrian and city council appointed A. R. Clarke as interim manager. Meanwhile, it was rumored Police Chief Samuel Elkins was job-hunting in Tennessee and planned to join his family which had already moved to that state.

IN NOVI

In what could well prove to be the single most important decision in the history of Novi, the city council granted a rezoning request from Shopping Centers Incorporated which will enable them to develop a multi-million dollar regional shopping center at the corner of 12 Mile and Novi Roads.

IN WIXOM

Wixom Public Library officially opened its doors to the public. Called the Young People's Library Program, the goal of this place in the establishment of a complete library will be to fill the needs of the city's young readers.

AUGUST

IN NORTHVILLE

Northville School Board pared the millage rate to 35.4 mills, a reduction of .506 mills. With the increase in state equalized valuation from $92,776,814 to $113,164,653, the reduction was made possible in the taxes for the 1973-74 school year.

IN NOVI

Oakland County Road Commission's proposed improvements call for five-lane roads criss-crossing Novi. The 20-year program includes widening of Novi Road from Eight Mile to 12 Mile; 10 Mile from Haggerty to Novi Road; 12 Mile from Haggerty to Novi; and 13 Mile from Meadowbrook to Haggerty.

IN WIXOM

The Michigan Public Service Commission ordered the installation of flashing signals at the Beck Road crossing of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad. Plans called for the signals to be installed within the next four months.

SEPTEMBER

IN NORTHVILLE

A three-week strike by Northville

Education Association ended with the settlement of a two-year master teaching contract. During the strike, school doors were closed to 4,200 students. Both teachers and administrators said students would have a full year of classes, with time lost made up throughout the year.

IN NOVI

Classroom squeeze was being felt in Novi as enrollment jumped from 2,148 to 2,500 this month. In June, voters approved a $13.5 million bond issue to build two new elementary schools, a high school and renovate the present high school for middle school use. In addition, four rooms would be added at Village Oaks Elementary. However, existing schools in Novi are filled to capacity.

IN WIXOM

Wixom council unanimously adopted a new zoning ordinance and map for the city. When completed, the future land use estimated a community of over 20,000 people.

OCTOBER

IN NORTHVILLE

Under armed guard, aboard a seized Greek cruise ship, smuggled beside an anchored Russian steamer in the middle of a war, a trip to the Holy Land was interrupted for seven members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and their pastor, the Reverend Charles Boerger.

IN NOVI

Rezoning of a 44-acre parcel was denied by Novi City Council. The new zoning would have led to the development of a shopping center and industrial park in the southeast sector of Novi, adjacent to Olde Orchard condominiums near Grand River and 10 Mile west of Haggerty Road. Strongest opposition came from residents of Olde Orchard.

IN WIXOM

Controversy over installation of a storm drain at the community beach at Loon Lake appeared to be solved as the city council agreed to provisions of a consent order. The drain, part of a road improvement project in Birch Park, was to be relocated below the surface level of the beach. Citizens filed the court injunction in 1969 saying the drain would contribute to pollution of the lake. Under the decree, the city must complete the program in the subdivision before any other paving can be done.

NOVEMBER

IN NORTHVILLE

Wallace Nichols won back a seat he lost two years ago on the city council as he and Paul Folino, incumbent, out-pollied Wesley Henrikson, Lawrence Sheehan, Eugene Wagner, Gerald Stone and Allen Ingle. A. Malcolm Allen, who was unopposed, won an unprecedented eighth term as mayor.

IN NOVI

Robert Daley won the mayor's post by a 3-1 margin over incumbent Joseph Crupi. Voters also elected Romaine Roethel, Louis Campbell, Philip Goodman and former city manager George Athas to council seats.

IN WIXOM

By a margin of 34 votes, electors returned Gilbert Willis to the mayor's office over former mayor Wesley McAtee. Elected to the council were James Lahde, Fred Morehead, Gunnar Mettala and Lillian Spencer.

DECEMBER

IN NORTHVILLE

Go-go dancing, massage parlors and adult movie theaters and book stores were outlawed in the city under the anti-smut ordinance passed by the council. The drive to put the ordinance on the books was spearheaded by Councilman Paul Folino.

IN NOVI

Agreement between the school board and city council was reached on selection of a land use planner for the proposed school municipal complex at 10 Mile and Taft roads. The 160-acre center will be used as a civic, cultural, educational and recreational site, including a $13.5 million high school.

IN WIXOM

City council gave the go ahead to a 207-unit single family subdivision designated at Smokler-Wixom. Located between Wixom Road and the westerly city limits, homes in the subdivision are slated to begin at $40,000.

For I-96

John Carlo Inc. of Mt. Clemens was the lowest of 11 bidders at $4,638,217 for earthwork and drainage structures on 1.5 miles of I-96 (also I-275) between Five Mile Road (Fenkell Avenue) and Six Mile Road (McNichols Road) in Livonia.

Work also includes paving on nearby Six Mile Road in the I-96 and I-275 interchange complex now under construction.

The highway project is part of the expressway ribbons under construction between Novi south to Livonia and from there east to Detroit and south to join with I-75 to Toledo.

Upon completion of this expressway network, motorists presently traveling east on I-96 through Novi on their way to Detroit will be able to use either I-696 or the new I-96 and I-275 highway.

The new I-96 (south) and I-275 will parallel Haggerty Road, just east of Northville Township, on its southerly route into Livonia.

For the first time in a long time, Northville had a winning football team. And coaches and fans alike were optimistic about the future.

Alumni Stir Memories

Once upon a time — not really so very long ago — Northville had just about the toughest football teams around.

That was back in the days when people like Al Jones, Ron Schipper, Dutch VanIngen, and Ron Horwath were in charge of the Mustangs' grid program.

You don't really have to be an old-timer to remember Northville's All-Stars, either. There was big Bob Wagenschutz, the 6-4, 250-pound center who was the second fastest man in the league ... tackle N. C. Schrader ... guard Bill Juday ... and end Jerry Emsland.

And those were just the linemen. The Mustangs had their share of All-Stars in the backfield too. Dick Biery, who once carried the ball on consecutive touchdown runs of 96 and 98 yards ... Bob Starnes ... and Steve Juday.

In 1973 the greats and near-greats from Northville's "golden age" of football were reunited for what was billed as "the first annual" Northville alumni football game.

For long-time Mustang fans, it was like a dream come true.

Steve Juday was at the helm, handing off to Mike Zayti and rifling the ball downfield to Jerry Imsland. Butch Willing, Bill Chizmar, and Fred Mitchell anchored the offensive line. And on defense, Fred Hicks, Jack Murtha, and Joe Hay once again ranged from sideline to sideline.

An estimated 2,000 fans showed up for the Alumni game. And even better, everyone of them went away pleased as the Mustang alumni showed that they were a long way from being over the hill by downing the Detroit Catholic Central alumni 21-6. Mike Zayti scored twice and Steve Juday sneaked four yards for the other score.

Girls' Sports Make Gains

While the alumni football game seemed to be at least partially related to the nation's interest in nostalgia, another national trend was echoed in the sports pages of The Northville Record-Novi News.

Women's Liberation.

In the past, the girls had seemed more or less unconcerned about their runner-up status in the field of coverage of high school sports. But sometime during the course of the past few years, the preachings of Betty Friedan and Gloria Steinem seemed to take root as Northville and Novi girls decided that they had a right to equal billing on the sports pages.

Letters to the editor fell short of declaring Sports Editor

Phil Jerome a chauvinist, but made it clear, nevertheless, that it was their firm belief that he should pay a little more attention to the accomplishments of the female athletes.

And the girls themselves seemed to take a greater interest in sports.

On the state level, a basketball tournament for girls was initiated. And locally, more and more athletic programs were opened up for girls. Northville, for example, started gymnastics and synchronized swimming teams.

The girls' cry for better coverage seemed to have some effect.

When Novi's girls' basketball team won the district championship in the state tournament, it was the lead story in that week's sports section. Northville's gymnastics team was given the entire front page of another sports section.

The girls even managed to break into the previously male-dominated domain of "Mustang — or Wildcat — of the Week."

Mites, Pee Wees Keep on Winning

Two Northville Hockey Association (NHA) teams weren't slowed in the least by the holiday schedule as they skated their way to victories last week which kept them right at the top of the standings in their respective Western Suburban Hockey League divisions.

Northville's undefeated entry in the Mite division (7-8 year olds) ran its league record to 9-0-1 by sweeping to a 3-0 verdict over Garden City. And Northville's Thomson Sand and Gravel-sponsored entry in the PeeWee division (11-12 year olds) maintained its number one status by walloping the Garden City PeeWees 11-1.

NHA teams also did well in "house league" play by winning one game and tying another.

High-scoring Bob Pegrum netted his fifth hat trick of the season to provide all the scoring in the 3-0 victory of the Northville Mites over Garden City.

Pegrum gave his teammates a 1-0 lead with a goal at the end of the first period and then wrapped up his hat trick by scoring twice more in the third period. Ron Housman assisted on the first third-period tally, while David Pohlod picked up the assist on Pegrum's third goal of the evening.

Bob Simone collected a hat trick in the win of the Thomson Sand and Gravel PeeWees over Garden City, but he got plenty of scoring help from his teammates as the Northville club skated to a lop-sided 11-1 triumph.

Tod Mack tallied twice for the Northville PeeWees and Jerry Sherwood, Roger Pattison, Mike Muzzin, John Pawlowski, Dan DiComo, and Steve Shutt all tallied single goals to share in the rout.

In a non-league encounter, Northville's top PeeWee team recorded a tight 2-1 win over the number one Dearborn PeeWee squad.

Dearborn took a 1-0 lead in that game with a first period marker, but Northville came back to take the win by scoring once in each of the last two periods. Bob Hawthorne knotted the score at 1-1 and Tod Mack tallied the winner with five minutes left in the third period.

In "house league" action the Northville Bantam team (13-14 year olds) sponsored by Midwest Mechanical Contractors played to a 2-2 tie with a Dearborn Heights team. Gary Wald knotted the score at 1-1 in the second period on a goal assisted by Tim Alexander and Kevin Mills.

Wald's second goal of the night came with just five seconds left on the clock and enabled the Northville Bantams to salvage a 2-2 tie. Mills and Ray Allen picked up the assists on Wald's second goal.

Northville's Hamlet Food Mart-sponsored team in the PeeWee division gained a 3-2 decision over a rugged Plymouth team. Rick Wisniewski, Tom Allen, and Ty Gray accounted for the Northville scoring, while Pete Cameron and Mark Regentik picked up assists.

Wildcats Take Third in Tourney

One of Russ Gardner's freshman grapplers came up with a first place finish as the Novi Wildcat wrestling team took third place in a special six-team, take-down tournament at Waterford High School Saturday.

The lone Wildcat to take first-place honors was Kevin Sheppard, a ninth grader competing in the 132-pound weight class. Two other members of Gardner's Novi wrestling team took second places, while five Wildcat grapplers garnered third-place points.

"All in all, I'd have to say that we did pretty well," commented Gardner, the second year coach of the Novi matmen. "We took third place behind two Class A schools and that was with having to forfeit two weight classes."

Sheppard, a fine freshman prospect, surprised practically everyone by copping first place honors in the 132-pound division.

"Kevin went through five guys and did a pretty nice job," stated Gardner.

"Everything he tried seemed to work just right for him. He went through some tough kids, too."

With six teams in the tourney, a perfect score consisted of 15 takedowns. Three wrestlers, one from Waterford and two from Lapeer, had perfect records.

Sheppard had a total of 10 points in winning the 132-pound class.

Narrowly missing first place was Don Jackson, the Wildcat's 155-pound co-captain. Jackson's total of eight takedowns tied him for first place, but he was relegated to the number two spot in the standings because it took him four seconds longer to work his takedowns.

Doug Maier, Novi's other second place finisher, had eight takedowns and also lost first place honors on the basis of time. Maier wrestler at 145.

Third place finishes were registered by Mark McKenny at 98, Dwight Pugsley at 119, Bob Sasena at 126, Al Jones at 138, and Mike Mulligan at 167.

A meeting is to be held at the United Methodist Church on 10 Mile Road January 8 beginning at 7:30 p.m. and followed at 8 p.m. by a guest speaker, Mary Paonessa, who will discuss "Sex Education Beginning with The Pre-School Child". The subject should interest both mothers and fathers, who are invited to bring guests. A fee of 25-cents will be taken to cover the speaker's expense.

Novi Goodfellows
A total of 65 baskets for needy families was prepared and delivered just before Christmas. Victor Muscat donated the use of his facilities at 2213 Novi Road for the preparation work.
Persons delivering the baskets were Steve Brewer, Mrs. Joyce Brewer, Herman Worley, Donna Boshell, Leon Dochot, Bill Brewer, Jack Boshell, Helen Moss and Eugene Choquet.

"Besides Mr. Muscat a number of our people deserve our thanks for their donations and assistance," a Goodfellow spokesman said, pointing out that 21 certificates for Kentucky Fried Chicken were donated anonymously. In addition, the Novi Jaycees provided 50 single roses for mothers, someone donated 24 candy canes, and still other anonymous donors provided 10 turkeys and a black-white television set.
"Our thanks also go to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and the Brownies who donated a real old fashioned Christmas tree complete with popcorn strings, to a retiree who gave Christmas toys and clothes, and to many others who help make Christmas a little more pleasant for families in need."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The City of Northville Planning Commission will hold a Public Hearing on the proposed for the City of Northville at 8:00 P.M., Tuesday, January 8, 1974 at the Northville City Hall.

ZONING ORDINANCE

J. Burton DeRusha, Chairman
Northville City Plan Commission

Copies of the Proposed Zoning Ordinance & Map are available at the City Building Department and the Public Library for study. Copies may also be checked out at the Building Department for a deposit of $5.00.

PUBLISH DEC. 13th and JAN. 3rd, 1974.

INTEREST RATE AND BIDDING DETAILS: Both issues of bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding 6 percent per annum, to be fixed by the bids therefore, expressed in multiples of 1/8 or one-twentieth of 1 percent, or both. The interest on any one bond shall be at one rate only, all bonds maturing in any one year must carry the same interest rate and each coupon period shall be represented by one interest coupon. None of said bonds shall bear interest at a rate per annum which is less than 50 percent of the rate borne by any other bond. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than 100 percent of their par value will be considered.

PAYING AGENT: Both principal and interest shall be payable at a bank or trust company located in Michigan qualified to act as paying agent under State or United States law, to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, who may also designate a co-paying agent, which may be located outside of Michigan, qualified to act as paying agent under the law of the State in which located or of the United States, both of which shall be subject to approval of the undersigned.

PURPOSE AND SECURITY: The Special Assessment Bonds are issued in anticipation of the collection of a like amount of the unpaid installments of special assessments on Special Assessment Roll No. 18, as revised, for the purpose of paying part of the cost of sanitary sewer improvements in said Special Assessment District in the City of Novi, and in addition to the special assessments, will pledge the full faith and credit of the City for their payment.

The General Obligation Bonds are issued for the purpose of paying part of the City portion cost of the hereinabove described improvements in Special Assessment District No. 18, and the full faith and credit of the City is pledged for their payment. The City will be required to levy taxes without limitation as to rate or amount for their payment.

GOOD FAITH: A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $4,200.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

AWARD OF BONDS: The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid produces the lowest interest cost computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified in the bid, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from February 1, 1974 to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium.

LEGAL OPINION: Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified approving opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, a copy of which opinion will be printed on the reverse side of each bond, and the original of which will be furnished without expense to the purchaser of the bonds at the delivery thereof.

DELIVERY OF BONDS: The City will furnish bonds ready for execution at its expense. Bonds will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at such place as may be agreed upon with the purchaser. The usual closing documents, including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of the bonds, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the bonds. If the bonds are not tendered for delivery by twelve o'clock noon Eastern Time, on the 45th day following the date of sale, or the first business day thereafter if said 45th day is not a business day, the successful bidder may on that day, or any time thereafter until delivery of the bonds, withdraw his proposal by serving notice of cancellation, in writing, on the undersigned in which event the City shall promptly return the good faith deposit. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of the bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

THE RIGHT IS RESERVED TO REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS.
ENVELOPES containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

How Do You Start A New Year?

By NANCY DINGELDEY
How do you start out a New Year?
Do you make out lists of dozens of resolutions? Or do you treat the New Year as just another day?

To tell the truth, I skip the resolutions. In the past I've either made too many or dreamed up ones that were impossible to achieve. But I keep hoping and always tell myself I will turn over a new leaf.

New Year's unfortunately, means the end of a fun-filled week of skiing or snowmobiling. The holiday week is set aside by many of our Wixom neighbors for their annual trek to the North Country — and always pray for more snow. Rest assured there were some who didn't curse our pre-Christmas snowfall.

New Years means a variety of things to many people. I thought I might start out the New Year by passing on an educational piece of information — one of those fine pieces of knowledge that comes along but tends to be rather useless.

We might begin by asking "what's in a name?" There is, for example, some good in having the name "Dingeldey" — after the guffaws have quieted down, there is little chance the person will forget it. On the other hand, it's rarely spelled correctly.

All this brings me to the rather startling name of "Booz." I used to work for a firm in Chicago named Booz, Allen and Hamilton. At first sight, the name would often be incorrectly pronounced, but in the end it was plain old Booz(e).

Although the term is not as widely used now as it was some years ago, booze still refers to alcoholic beverages. Mr. Booz, incidentally, was a teetotaler.

But there is more to the story. One day I stumbled over a rather interestingly shaped bottle which in, one glance I could tell was very old — hand-blown because of the inconsistency of its lines. The shape was that of a cabin, the chimney was the bottle's spout. Imprinted in the roof was the name "E. G. Booz's Old Cabin Whiskey." The date was 1840, the address 120 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

"Our" Mr. Booz was also E. G. Interesting. A little checking around brought out the entire story. First of all, the word booze as defined in Webster's comes from the Middle Dutch word "buizen", meaning drink or cup. The Middle English "bous", a drink or cup.

But to go further, the old Mr. Booz as many others of his time, distilled his own spirits at home. It was he who decided to bottle his brew and sell it. Since his was the first to be sold under an actual name rather than the type (rum, etc.), the name stuck. The "e" was inserted at the end of the name and people would ask for a bottle or "shot" of booze.

Old Mr. E. G. Booz's legacy to the world, his name used in a colloquial way.

To complete the story, Booz, Allen and Hamilton had an office in Philadelphia located, strangely enough, almost on top of the original still.

So what's in a name? It would sound pretty ridiculous to ask for a shot of Dingeldey.

WHERE IS HAPPINESS?

Not in money...

Jay Gould, the American millionaire, had an enormous fortune. When dying, he said, "I suppose I am the most miserable man on earth."

Not in pleasure...

Lloyd Byron lived a life of pleasure and ease. He wrote, "The worm, the canker and the grief, are mine alone."

Not in military power...

Alexander the Great conquered the known world in his day. Then he wept, "There are no more worlds to conquer."

Not in political power...

William Tweed became the brilliant boss of Tammany Hall and ruled New York City. He said, "My life has been a failure in everything."

Not in unbelief...

Voltaire was an infidel of the most pronounced type. He wrote, "I wish I had never been born."

Not in position and fame

Lord Beaconsfield enjoyed more than his share of both. He wrote, "Youth is a mistake; manhood a struggle; old age a regret."

Where is happiness?

The answer is simple: In Christ alone. He said,

"Your heart shall rejoice, and your joy no man taketh from you" (John 16:22)

Whoso trusteth in the Lord, happy is he" (Proverbs 16:20)

'Novi Must Plan Now'—Saunders

priorities for the upcoming year is progress on the city-school complex at the corner of 10 Mile and Taft Roads.

"In the next month or so we should be receiving our report from the land-use planner as to what the inter-relationship between the school, city, and library facilities should be," said Saunders.

"The next step for the city will then be to look into the hiring of an architect-planner who can assist us in projecting what our space needs will be.

"Right now the lack of space is a major problem facing the city administration. However, you don't build a city hall to accommodate present needs, you have to over-size it to allow for growth. At the same time, you don't want to build the ultimate structure right away, either.

"What is required is a plan for a phase development that will enable us to add to the city complex as our needs dictate and, at the same time maintain the overall architectural integrity of the structure."

"Once we've determined what our space requirements will be," Saunders continued, "we can get down to actual cost analysis so we can put a price tag on it and determine how the construction should be financed.

"By this time next year I would hope that we will have final drawings and a plan for financing the building."

TAX INCREASE

Another major concern that must be faced in the upcoming year will be the city's financial future.

Saunders reported that in preparing the budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year, he will also be preparing a data base which will enable the city council to project future needs and future revenues.

"This data will show us whether our needs and our revenue are coming together or moving further apart," said Saunders.

"The council and the administration will have to be innovative in ordering means of financing at the lowest possible cost to the tax payer, but in the long-run the tax payer is going to have to decide for himself the level of public services that he wants and what he's willing to pay for them."

Saunders also cited the unionization of municipal employees and the city's rapid growth as other factors which affect the city's financial condition.

"If you want good employees, you have to pay for them and as our city expands it will take an expanded number of employees to provide city services.

"The increase in wages brought about by unionization and the increase in the number of employees it will take to provide the services that the community wants will create a severe money crunch that the community is going to have to take a serious look at."

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Saunders also feels that Novi is rapidly approaching the day when it will require a full-time fire department.

"I think the city can be proud of the service it has received from its volunteers, but I feel that we must start to consider the implementation of a professional, full-time paid fire department.

There are a number of factors to be considered. First, said Saunders, the city must look into the acquisition of sites for additional fire stations. In addition, there is a need to purchase modern and frequently costly types of specialized fire fighting equipment.

"All this will require an enormous financial investment," said Saunders, "But I feel that a full-time professional fire department is something which we are going to have to look at very seriously."

SUMMARY

In summary, Saunders feels that the single most important task facing the city in 1974 will be to finalize the plans for Novi's development.

"There's a tendency among our citizens to look at other suburban communities and say that we don't want Novi to be developed like this one or like that one," noted the City Manager.

"The task that faces us is to determine the type of community we'd like Novi to be and then go out and support the type of resources necessary to see that that type of community is what evolves."

Police Blotter

Probe Break-Ins, Thefts

In Northville

Break-in at Main Street Elementary and Cooke Annex was discovered about 6:45 a.m. Monday by custodians reporting to work.

Several windows throughout the two buildings were smashed, trash was strewn in halls, a fire extinguisher was emptied on floors and an aquarium was broken by vandals sometime Sunday, police theorize.

A chair was thrown through a window in the Annex and flower pots were broken in a hallway.

City police detectives said entry to the buildings was gained by breaking a window in a door on the west end of the elementary school. An attempt to enter through a window near the door proved unsuccessful, police theorize.

Investigating officers said blood was found on the window, indicating the person or persons involved sustained injuries during the break-in.

Nothing was reported stolen from either school and the case remains under investigation.

Thieves took advantage of a broken window at Northville Drugs on East Main Street early Friday morning, entered the store and took a large amount of pills and capsules.

According to city police detectives, a brick had been thrown through the rear window of the store about 9:20 p.m. Thursday. The window was temporarily secured by the owner, reports indicated.

At 4:37 a.m. Friday, officers noticed the window was broken further than it had been the night before. Further investigation showed drawers behind the drug counter had been rifled.

Missing are nearly 1,150 pills and capsules, mostly amphetamines. A pry tool was left at the scene, officers said.

Police theorize the thieves were scared off since several items of value were untouched. Investigation is continuing in the case, detectives said.

A Westland man reported $95 was stolen from his pocket as he was leaving Northville Downs December 18.

He told police a man stopped in front of him to tie his shoe, causing him to stop, and he believes the money may have been taken at that time by someone behind him.

Identification cards were reported stolen from the Northville Record Printing Plant, 560 South Main Street.

The theft occurred last week and was uncovered after the cards were found on youths involved in an accident in Washtenaw County last Wednesday.

COURT NEWS

Charges of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling have been filed against Hal Travis Hoag, 17, of 164 East Cady Street.

The youth was arrested last Thursday in Clinton Township near Mt. Clemens on a felony warrant held by Northville police.

Hoag was arraigned Friday in 35th District Court, pled not guilty and was held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Police said the charges stem from the break-in of a home on Thayer Boulevard November 28.

Pre-trial examination will be held January 23.

FIRE CALLS

December 31 — 10:10 a.m., electrical fire at Freydl's Women's Wear.

In Township

Thefts from four cars and a theft from a home in Northville township were all reported to township police last Thursday, December 27.

Am-fm stereo radios were stolen from four cars parked in driveways on Robinwood, Portis and Sunnydale. The thefts took place sometime the previous evening, police said.

Investigating officers said no damage could be found on any of the cars from which the radios were stolen. All of the vehicles were Ford products.

Also under investigation is the theft of a portable color television set valued at $470.

According to township reports, entry was gained to the home on Franklin Road through the back door. The theft took place between 7:30 a.m. and 3 p.m.

A Livonia woman suffered back injuries while tobogganing near Cass Benton in Hines Park.

Monica Houghton was taken to St. Mary hospital December 22 shortly after 1:20 p.m.

COURT NEWS

Ronald Ross Ellis of 15546 Bradner Road has been placed on probation after being found guilty of possession of marihuana with intent to deliver.

He was arrested by township officers in August after they confiscated about 14 pounds of marihuana found growing at Ellis' home.

Sentencing took place recently in Wayne County Circuit Court, township police said.

In Wixom

A breaking and entering of the Alloy Mold and Die Company at 49201 West Road last week netted thieves an estimated $300 in cash.

According to police reports, the thieves broke into the building sometime between 6 p.m. on Thursday, December 27 and 7 a.m. the following day. Entry was gained by breaking a window.

GOLF TIPS

by John Koch-PGA Professional No. 1 of Series

Before you put a club in your hands or even start trying to swing, you have to establish in your mind a good technique of the mechanics, the rhythm and psychology of golf.

A good swing is a cultivated rather than natural function because of a static start, controlling left side weakness, and most important you cannot look at target.

To instill in your mind a simple way to reduce consecutive errors you have to have at least four preparation factors. First instruction from a professional and in return he'll give you the other three, drill, exercises, practice, results—enjoyment of playing.

FIVE INJURED — Five persons were injured, including two Northville residents riding in this car, early Saturday morning. Two cars collided at Main Street and Rogers when, according to police, one ran a stop sign and slammed into the car above, forcing it across a lawn and porch before it came to rest against the house. See story on Record, Page 1.

Grants Awarded State Projects

1845 Greek Revival building used as church, school, library and township office will be restored for museum use. Mill Race Historical Village will eventually encompass 7½ acres in Northville and will include seven worthy buildings threatened with destruction.

7. Ingham County Bicentennial Committee—$2,500. To assist in publishing and distributing an updated history of Ingham County. The last known county history was done in 1923. The history will treat the contributions of all ethnic groups that have settled in the county and early settlement and social life. The history will also be converted to film in two languages.

8. Mackinac Island State Park Commission—$2,575. To fund research for historical interpretation of two major bicentennial projects, the restoration of the Stone Officers' Quarters and the reconstruction of the sloop Welcome.

9. Meridian Township Bicentennial Committee—$7,000. For first development phase of Meridian Historical Village. The John Grettenberger House and the Proctor Toll Gate House will be placed at Central Park in the Township. These and other structures will eventually cluster around a landscaped village green.

10. Detroit Historical Museum—$8,000. To aid in the completion of the Post Headquarters Building at Fort Wayne. The building is a central feature of the garrison area, and has potential as a visitors' orientation center. Eventual museum restoration costs will total over $2.6 million.

11. Detroit Bicentennial Committee—$2,000. To expand the Detroit Ethnic festivals in cooperation with the Smithsonian Institution. In 1974, performing arts groups from other nations will become a part of the festivals, which attract 3.5 million visitors.

CAR WRECKED — This car spun around after the collision at Main Street and Rogers. A Pontiac woman sustained head injuries after striking the windshield. Two others in the car were also hurt.

Plan Series Scheduled

Local elected officials and planners throughout Wayne County are invited to a series of meetings, beginning January 10, as the final step in planning a county-wide "development strategy."

A major goal of the strategy is the creation of programs to counter an impending environmental crisis which, the Wayne County Planning Commission has warned, threatens to reduce the quality of life in this metropolitan area, as elsewhere.

Since the county planners warned of the impending crisis two years ago, one major aspect of their warning—the energy crisis—has materialized.

Five evening meetings with local elected officials, planners and representatives of major segments of the economy such as business and labor, will be held.

The purpose is to discuss pressing environmental and economic problems and the solutions proposed by the county planners, and to solicit ideas for inclusion in the final development strategy.
