TOWNSHIP TAX deadline has been extended to February 28. That's the last day residents may pay property taxes without penalty, Treasurer Joseph Straub explained.

A FUEL CRUNCH has been cleared up and groundbreaking for the new State Police headquarters here on Seven Mile Road will take place next spring, Northville Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright has learned. Fuel is to be supplied through the adjacent Northville State Hospital. Construction is expected to take from 13 to 16 months, he said.

MARCH 16 is the date selected by Northville School Board members to place a three-mill renewal request before voters. The millage, which expired in December, will be up for approval for five years. No new millage is involved, administrators said.

Classroom Squeeze Remedy To be Decided March 11

Classes to Start Later

Beginning Monday, January 21, school starting times for all elementary and middle school students will be 30 minutes later.

Approved by Northville School Board members Monday, the change was made due to parental concern with students boarding buses and walking to school in darkness and dawn caused by the shift to daylight saving time.

No change in the high school hours will be made.

Effective Monday through April 5, the beginning of Easter Vacation, middle school students will attend classes from 8:30 a.m. daylight time through 3 p.m. Elementary classes will run from 9:30 a.m. daylight time through 4 p.m. Morning kindergarten classes will run from 9:30 a.m. daylight time until noon and afternoon kindergarten will be in session from 1:30 until 4 p.m.

Elementary lunch hour will be from 12:15 until 1:15 p.m.

Those students who ride buses to elementary and middle schools will receive a new schedule of bus runs later this week and parents will be notified through the district's "far-out" telephone system, Superintendent Raymond Spear said.

High school students will continue to attend classes from 8 a.m. until 2:40 p.m. and bus runs for high schoolers will remain unchanged.

While Spear did not recommend the change, board members split 3-4 over keeping the present starting time for all students.

Voting not to change the schedule were Trustees Andrew Orphan, Dr. Orlo Robinson and P. Roger Nieuwkoop. Voting to switch the starting times were Board President Stanley Johnston who cast the deciding vote, and Trustees Mrs. Sylvia Gucken, John Hobart and Martin Rinehart.

However, the 30 minute switch later gained unanimous support.

Mrs. Priscilla Smith, president of the Northville Education Association, said teachers were opposed to a

During more than two hours of discussion before a crowd of more than 60 people, Northville's Board of Education found there's no easy solution to the classroom crisis facing the high school next year.

Implement a mandatory year-round school program, stay with a voluntary program, rent portable classrooms and try split school sessions were just some of the solutions offered by the audience to alleviate the classroom squeeze.

While no decision was made by the board on how to remedy the space problem, board members said they will make their ruling at the March 11 meeting.

Until then they will be holding several public meetings to determine the interest in a voluntary YRS program at Northville High.

Times, dates and places of the meetings are listed in an advertisement on Page 8-C of this edition.

Next week, a tabloid section will be included in The Record further explaining the high school program and school schedules.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said that if the (voluntary) YRS program can be expanded by 600-800 students in grades nine through 12, enough classrooms would be freed to remedy overcrowded conditions at the high school during the 1974-75 school year.

When questioned by the audience, the board said they knew the overcrowding would exist but that "grades could be shifted into the new elementary schools to free high school classrooms by moving the ninth grade back to the middle school," Trustee Martin Rinehart said.

Trustee Andrew Orphan commented that "steel shortages and strikes threw us behind in the construction schedule through no fault of our own."

Neither of the two new elementary schools nor the middle school are expected to be completed until late spring of 1975.

The present high school has been expanded to its limits and can support no further student increase, the board explained.

Several parents told the board to "go ahead with year-round school" but questioned whether or not next year's seniors should be included.

"Some have summer jobs lined up and have planned their college education," one woman said.

Students in the audience who presently are juniors at Northville High told the board they were opposed to YRS.

"Elective courses depend upon the existing schedule," Devon Glenn told the board. "What would happen to courses like Conservation which are only offered once?"

Board member Orphan said he was in favor of YRS "as long as nothing at the high school will suffer. I will not support it if the educational program will be less than it is today."

Spear said he and Assistant Superintendent Miss Florence Panattoni would be meeting Friday with students at the high school to hear their concerns about YRS.

Mrs. Norman Frid asked if the "extras which made voluntary YRS attractive to the students will continue through a mandatory program?"

Spear said that the "learning disabilities center is now being operated totally through district funds and that things like swimming

'Elective courses depend upon the existing schedule...'

during the summer will be offered if we have space."

Jim Doyle criticized the board for "studying this for six years. You must decide if YRS is for the community or not."

Mrs. Joan Roth said that "as a mother and a taxpayer, year-round should be mandated. It's time for the community to face the fact the year-round is the only answer."

"Empty schools, over-building, empty schools in summer cost money," she continued. "If the high school students are not willing, then they just will have to (enroll in the program)"

Several people said they felt the program should be put to a vote while others favored the voluntary program since they said YRS would not fit their life styles."

John Sanders, who said he has children enrolled in YRS said he is "afraid when I hear talk of a mandatory program

Face Criminal Charges

Two Psychiatrists Lose Jobs Here

Two doctors facing criminal charges have lost their jobs with state and county institutions.

Ousted last week were Dr. Pasquale Buoniconto, superintendent of the Wayne County Child Development Center, and Dr.

payment of Petrides' salary last October 17 when the situation first came to light. Petrides continued to work at the center without drawing pay until his removal by the commissioners.

In addition, the County Corporation Counsel's office stated in its December 4 report to the Board of Commissioners that Petrides "allegedly" maintained an office for private practice in Livonia.

The attorney general also charged that Petrides drew more than $1,200 each from the state and county for attending a medical convention during a six-week trip to Greece although he did not attend the convention.

Both doctors were charged with taking money under false pretenses, conspiracy to take money under false pretenses and unlawfully carrying away public records.

Judge Dunbar Davis of Plymouth scheduled a preliminary examination on the charges for February 7 and released the accused on $1,000 bonds each. Maximum penalty on the charges is 12 years in prison and a $6,000 fine.

Commissioner Mary Dumas said county action concerning the removal of Dr. Petrides is permanent, while the removal of Dr. Buoniconto is conditioned upon the outcome of court action.

Following his removal, the Board of Commissioners installed Michael Sekulich as the interim superintendent of the Child Development Center, which has been under a phase-out program leading to its closing next summer.

Sekulich is a research coordinator working out of the commission's fiscal advisor's office.

In letters informing Buoniconto and Petrides of their removal, Commissioner Paul Siver, committee chairman, stated:

"While this act by the committee in removing you from your position is not to be interpreted as our expression of either your guilt or innocence of the charges pending against you, it is our decision that the continued confidence of the public in the integrity of its civil servants dictates your removal from your position pending disposition of these charges."

Buoniconto, 65, was working under a 90-day extension of his mandatory retirement date in order to preside over the phasing-out

Planners Modify Zoning

Standing firm on most of its proposed new zoning ordinance, the Northville City Planning Commission modified a few of its zoning designations Tuesday night as it prepared to submit the document to the city council.

Decisions made Tuesday on specific points within the ordinance grew out of last week's hearing and subsequent citizen requests. They include:

- Proposed rezoning to CBD (central business district) of all of the block bounded by Randolph, Wing, Center and Dunlap has been modified so that three of the houses along Randolph and at the corner of Wing are excluded from the CBD district and given a single family residential classification. Only Commissioner Donald Jones dissented.

- Proposed rezoning of PBO for all of the block bounded by Wing, Main, High and Dunlap has been modified so that the houses facing Wing are

Citizens Group Seeks Answers

A committee "to help the school district meet problems which it faces in planning a complete educational program for the 1974-75 school year," was approved Monday night by the Northville Board of Education.

Called ACEP, Advisory Council for Educational Programing, the 78-member citizens committee will have five major areas to study:

- three-mill renewal election on March 16;
- expansion of the voluntary year-round school program;
- alternatives to the classroom crisis;
- ramifications of the energy crisis; and
- other areas the committee determines.

In forming the committee, board members said it would be responsible for relaying concerns of the public on the above items to the board of education.

In addition, the group will assist with public relations, organize meetings within each residential area, assist with "getting out the vote" campaigns, organizing local information committees and relaying information from the school board to the community.

Board members responsible for appointing citizens from specific areas include: Mrs. Sylvia Gucken — Highland Lakes, Northville Colony, Northville Heights and Westridge Downs.

Martin Rinehart — Northville Commons, King's Mill, Village Green, Brookland Farms and Smock.

Dr. Orlo Robinson — Edenderry, Shadbrook, Northville city between Main Street and Eight Mile.

Roger Nieuwkoop — Northville city between Main Street and Seven Mile, Whipple Estates and Timberlane.

Andrew Orphan — Connamara, Glenda Avenue and Thornapple.

Stanley Johnston — Lexington Commons north and south, Northville Estates, Taft Colony and Meadowbrook.

John Hobart — Westview, Curtis, Lyon Township and Salem Township.

Board members will appoint one member from each of the above areas and that Shoppers Beware!

Shortage Pinches Bags

The day's fast approaching when you may have to carry away your groceries without a paper bag.

A national shortage which has been growing steadily worse, has sent local merchants scrambling in search of enough bags to keep their customers satisfied...and it's beginning to look like a losing battle.

The situation has become so critical that stores are recommending:

- Bring your own fish-net bags like they do in Europe.
- Save your paper bags and return with them to the store for refills.
- Shop with your own little fold-up push carts.

What's more, most privately owned local stores no longer automatically bag groceries. Now they don't bag unless the customer asks first.

Elsewhere the situation is even more acute. Some stores in the UP are charging customers a nickel for each bag, and in some places bags simply are no longer available.

One Northville man just back from Missouri reported that in shopping there he was forced to carry his groceries without bags by making repeated trips to his car.

FUEL SHORTAGES should not affect the plans of Northville Newcomers Club as it begins a new year-schedule of events for ladies. In addition to taking reservations for a coffee concert at Ford Auditorium February 22, club officers have planned to charter a bus for transportation.

In order to obtain the bus, however, Mrs. George Kausler, president, points out, the club must have at least 38 reservations.

Mrs. Jarrie Kissel, 349-0839, is taking reservations for concert seats at $3.50 or $5 and for the bus, which is $3.25.

A ladies luncheon program also is scheduled for Newcomers. It will be at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, January 31, at the Tack Room. McAllister's House of Decorating will present a program of decorating tips. Slides of Northville homes which the shop has decorated will be shown.

Reservations are being taken by Mrs. Daniel Ludwig, 349-6203. A pre-luncheon cocktail period will begin at noon for those who wish to gather early.

In announcing the new events for the clubwomen Barbara Kausler points out that guests and alumnae are invited to the ladies programs.

NORTHVILLE DOWNS' annual race track party for Newcomers Club couples will be held Thursday, January 24, with the $7 a person tab including admission to the clubhouse, a buffet dinner at 7:30 p.m. and a reserved table for the evening.

For those who wish there will be a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Kausler points out that the last race is 11:15 p.m. so that it is not a late evening activity.

Reservations deadline is this Sunday. Reservations are being taken by Mrs. William Bohan, 349-4713.

NEW OFFICERS were elected at the January meeting of the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Monday at Northville First Presbyterian Church.

Members also received suggestions on selecting and growing chrysanthemums from an expert, Mrs. Paul Machuga, made plans for a February guest day and a next-winter greens market!

Mrs. Warner Krause was named president to succeed Mrs. Gene Cushing at annual installations in May. Other newly-elected officers are Mrs. E. G. O'Brien, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph Keese, second vice president; Mrs. Alfons List, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Palarchio, recording secretary; Mrs. Richard Kelly, corresponding secretary.

"Cascading Mums" were a different type that the speaker suggested Northville gardeners may wish to cultivate. Mrs. Machuga illustrated her talk with slides of mums in her Detroit garden.

She encouraged the garden club members to take cuttings to root instead of dividing the mum plants. This is done, she said, using the top three inches of the plant.

A master judge and grower, Mrs. Machuga has 800 mum plants in her city-type garden. Another tip of the expert: use cocoa bean mulch for mums.

A special guest at the garden club meeting was Mrs. Norah Beaumont of Eastbourne, England. She arrived in time to spend Christmas with her daughter, Mrs. Roger Pyett, and family.

The club's guest day meeting February 11 will feature Miss Retha Hankey speaking on the NFGA International Farm Youth Exchange program.

In response to wide community interest, President Cushing announces, there will be an early December greens market this year with boutique items, homemade breads, greens and roping.

"LEARN MORE ABOUT YOUR Treasures" is the invitation extended to antique lovers and collectors in Northville Woman's Club. They are invited to bring their treasures to the club meeting at 1:30 p.m. this Friday in Northville First Presbyterian Church.

Guest speaker Bruce Scudder of Westland, an amateur antiquer, will talk about antiques, how to recognize them and how to seek them out. He will answer questions from his audience afterward, notes Mrs. Kenneth Pickl, program chairman for the day.

It is not necessary for club members to give advance notice if they are bringing antiques to the meeting, she adds. She expects about 22 members to bring special items and collections.

Mrs. James Harris, a brand new member, is to display her taintypes while Mrs. Louis Hopping will bring some of the quilts that she has made with old tops. Miss Elizabeth Etz will display her Hummel collection and show examples of china painting. Miss Ruth Knapp is to bring her collection of World War I service items. Old silver will be brought by Mrs. Albert Myers.

A former teacher, antiquer Scudder knows many area dealers and has assisted at antiques auctions. His specialty is glassware and china. The Scudders' interest in antiques started as they attended garage and home sales and "began buying what we liked."

Auxiliary Sets Dance To Aid VIVA Project

A "VIVA Valentine" benefit dinner dance is planned by the Lloyd H. Green Post American Legion Auxiliary for February 16 at the Legion home at 100 Dunlap Street.

All profits from the dinner dance will be used for the Missing in Action project, Mrs. David Fisher, auxiliary president, stressed in announcing the dance to which the auxiliary is inviting the entire community.

VIVA (Voices in Vital America), Mrs. Fisher explains, is being helped by the auxiliary as her chosen project, as auxiliary president, is helping the missing-in-action program.

On the dance committee also are Mrs. Robert Pohlman and Mrs. Norm Schollett of the auxiliary. The post is assisting in the project with the husbands of Mrs. Pohlman and Mrs. Schollett and Myron Uley on the committee.

The first-time benefit dance will have a red, white and blue theme.

Tickets are available at the legion home or by calling Mrs. Fisher, 349-0994.

LITTLE 1974 WINNER—Tracy Ann Thompson, first area baby reported in the Novi, Northville and Wixom area in the 18th annual competition is held by her mother, Mrs. Donald L. Thompson, while her father and sister, Michele, 4, look on. The family lives at 24071 Glen Ridge Court, Novi. The First Baby Contest is co-sponsored by The Northville Record-Novl News and area merchants. Tracy was born January 6 at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn. She weighed in at a mere five pounds, two ounces.

Novi Winner's a Wee Bundle

Tracy Thompson Wins Baby Contest

Tiny Tracy Ann Thompson, first area baby of 1974, arrived a few days after she was expected but still in time to claim honors and prizes as the first 1974 baby born to parents of the Novi, Northville and Wixom area.

She was born at 4:16 a.m. last Monday, January 6, at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn to Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Thompson of 24071 Glen Ridge Court, Novi.

"The doctor thought she would arrive January 3," her mother, Ellie (Eleanor) Thompson, said as she reported the birth to The Novi News. January 6, however, still was the first date reported in the 18-year-old contest conducted annually by The Novi News-Northville Record.

Mrs. Thompson adds that she won't be taking Tracy out for a while as she still is very tiny. Her birth weight was five pounds, two ounces but when the Thompsons brought her home Thursday, it was a mere four pounds, thirteen ounces. Since she was in good health, she was allowed to be taken home. She was 18½ inches long at birth.

Waiting to greet her at home was older sister, Michele, who is four.

In addition, Tracy is getting lots of attention from her father, a foreman at the Ford Wayne car assembly plant, who was saving his vacation for her arrival.

"He's really helpful," Mrs. Thompson said as she talked about bringing home the area's first 1974 baby, explaining that her husband had cleaned house and done the washing for her. The winter vacation, she added, also is giving him time to play in the snow with Michele.

The first reported area baby's arrival after the new year was six days old contrasted with last year when the first baby, Jennifer Lynn Batt, was born to Michael and Nancy Batt of Northville when the new year was just 14 seconds old.

Mrs. Thompson returned to Oakwood Hospital for the birth of Tracy because that is where her first daughter was born before the family moved to Novi about three years ago.

Big sister Michele, however, weighed seven pounds. Mrs. Thompson adds that she would have been "scared to death" if little Tracy were her first baby.

Tracy brings the newspaper's First Baby count to 10 girls and 8 boys in the annual contest.

As 1974 winner she will receive an assortment of gifts from area merchants, including a baby blanket from Brader's, 141 East Main; a baby toiletry kit, Northville Drug Company, 134 East Main; arrangement of fresh flowers, Lila's IV Seasons Flowers and Gifts, 149 East Main; 8 by 10 portrait, Gaffield Studio, 600 West Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth; vaporizer, Novi Rexall Drug, 43035 Grand River; gift certificate, The Little People Shoppe, 103 East Main; 10 half gallons of milk, Guernsey Farm Dairy, Novi Road just north of Eight Mile; silver cup, H. R. Noder's, 101 East Main; 24 jars of Heinz baby food, Kroger's Northville.

Mrs. Thompson, too, is receiving gifts, including a special gift from Freydl's Ladies' Wear, 118 East Main; a hair styling from Hair Sanctuary, 135 East Cady. There also will be dinner for both parents at the Old Mill Restaurant, 130 East Main.

Council Rejects Bid for Special Investigation

Councilman Louie Campbell's call for a special committee to investigate the Novi Building Department was shot down by the other members of the Novi City Council Monday.

Specifically, Campbell sought to invoke a section of the city charter which permits the council to establish special investigatory committees and to empower those committees with various legal rights, including the power of subpoena.

Instead, the council adopted a much softer stance on the issue and went to lengths to allay public fears of widespread criminal wrongdoing within the building department.

"I'm a little bent out of shape about the way in which this whole thing (building department investigation) has been handled," commented Councilman Denis Berry.

"I'm disappointed in Mr. Miller (city plumbing inspector who has been charged with accepting a bribe), but I'm even more disappointed that the investigation of this one man has led to the implication that Novi has a lot of dirty linen lying around its building department," Berry continued.

"Novi is one of the few cities which has been able to clean up its own house without having it pointed out in the newspapers," added the Councilman, "and I think that's something that speaks well of this administration."

After rejecting Campbell's motion for a special committee to investigate the building department by a 4-2 margin, the council decided on an alternate route of action.

First, the council directed

Berry, who is in charge of the council sub-committee on personnel, to make a study of the personnel in the building department. Concurrently, the council has directed City Manager Harold Saunders to make a detailed study of the organizational structure, policies, and procedures in the department.

Both reports are due back in three weeks.

"I feel we have the machinery in city government to do what needs to be done without having to invoke the charter," commented Councilman Philip Goodman.

"If it turns out that these reports are not sufficient to do the job, then we can always go back and set up a special committee."

Campbell first issued his call for the council to set up its own investigation of the building department in December. The police had been investigating the department since June and, with the exception of the arrest of Miller, little information had been made public, argued Campbell.

"The people of Novi have a right to know what's going on out there. There are a lot of hard-working honest people in the building department who are working under the implication of guilt," stated Campbell. "That's why I want this whole matter cleared up once and for all."

When Campbell reissued his call for an investigation Monday, however, City Manager Harold Saunders produced a memo from the police department which stated that "no evidence had been uncovered which would indicate any additional criminal activity among the other employees of the building department."

The police are continuing their investigation, Saunders stated, but the scope of their investigation is limited to the charges regarding Mr. Miller.

Leading the opposition to a council investigation was Councilman Philip Goodman who stated that he saw no reason "to parade the members of the department before a special committee of the city council."

"I think there are still two determinations about the building department which have to be made, however," added Goodman.

"First of all, we have to determine if the department is being operated in an efficient manner. This to me is an administrative question and should be handled through the city manager's office.

"The second question before us concerns personnel. There may be some incompetence in the department, but that should be turned over to Councilman Berry to study in his capacity as council advisor on personnel matters," Goodman continued.

Campbell Questions Status of Grant For Traffic Bureau

Novi City Councilman Louie Campbell threatened to open one of those proverbial "cans of worms" Monday when he began directing questions at City Manager Harold Saunders regarding the status of the federal grant under which the city's Traffic Safety Bureau was established.

Although Campbell was prevented from carrying his interrogation to its logical conclusion by the intervention of Mayor Robert Daley who suggested the matter be placed on a future agenda, he nevertheless gave notice that a stormy session is in the offing when the matter is next broached.

Campbell's questions were centered around the fact that the federal grant for the traffic bureau expired last fall. Although extension of the grant for another year has been approved in Lansing, the council has not yet been asked to approve acceptance of the grant.

Campbell directed two questions to the City Manager before Mayor Daley interceded in the discussion. First, he asked when the council was going to be asked to either approve or disapprove continuation of the grant.

And, secondly, since the traffic bureau has continued to operate even though the grant has not yet been approved by the council, Campbell asked if the city's budget would not be "in one helluva mess" should the council reject continuation of the grant.

The Traffic Safety Bureau was established in 1972 under a federal grant issued through Michigan's Office of Highway Safety Planning. The grant was applied for and received by the city administration in late summer and approved by the council in the fall.

According to the terms of the grant, the traffic safety bureau would be financed by the federal government and the City of Novi on a 50-50 matching funds basis for the first year.

At the end of the first year, the operation of the bureau would be reviewed by both Lansing and the city and a decision would then be reached on whether the grant should be extended for a second year.

Further, the terms of the grant stipulated that the degree of the federal government's participation would decrease by 15 percent each year. At the end of three years, the bureau would have to be taken over entirely by the municipality.

Thus, when police officials in Lansing approved extension of Novi's grant in December, it agreed to meet just 35 percent (down 15 percent from the original 50 percent) of the financial obligation.

Lansing officials further approved an increase in traffic safety bureau officers from three to five.

City Controller Frances Loyne reported that the city is now financing 100 percent of the operation of the bureau. Should the council agree to extension of the grant, however, the federal government would pick up its 35 percent share of the financial obligation retroactive to the time of the

TIM WOODS HE ISN'T — But this Novi youngster is enjoying himself, nevertheless, as he takes a tour around the ice on the rink behind Orchard Hills Elementary School. Raymond Murphy, chairman of Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission, announced Monday that both the city's "Magic Squares" have been scraped and flooded and are now ready for skating. The other "Magic Square" is located in the Novi City Park. Meanwhile, Wixom Mayor Gilbert Willis noted that the rink near the Wixom City Hall has been converted from a hockey rink and is now ready for all types of skating.

Jaycees Seek DSA Nominees

Deadline for making nominations for the Distinguished Service Award (DSA) given annually by the Novi Jaycees is this Saturday, January 19.

Todd Price, Jaycee project chairman, noted that judging will take place January 20 so it is imperative that all nominations be in by the nineteenth.

The DSA is presented each year during National Jaycee Week (January 20-26). Designed to both encourage and honor humanitarian efforts and the personal qualities of idealism, initiative, and involvement, award is presented to the Novi citizen adjudged to have performed the greatest service to his community.

All citizens over 18 years old are eligible for nomination.

The DSA award was initiated by the Novi Jaycees last year. Winner of the 1973 Award was J. Fred Buck.

This year's recipient of the award will be announced at a special Recognition Breakfast to be held at the Holiday Inn in Farmington on January 26.

The Jaycees will also announce the winners of their Outstanding Young Educator and Outstanding Public Safety Officer awards at the breakfast, as well as the winner of the "What America Means to Me" essay contest at the Novi Middle School.

Distinguished Service Award nomination forms are available by calling Jaycee Project Chairman Todd Price at 349-7572.

Site Plan Delay Angers K&B

Relations between the Novi City Council and Village Oaks developer Kaufman and Broad (K&B) continue to get worse, rather than better.

Most recent issue which threatens to boil over into a full-fledged controversy is K&B's strong objections to council deliberations regarding site plan approval for a multiple family residential development proposed by the Realtek Corporation.

Obviously angered by the council's discussion of the matter, a contingent of four Kaufman and Broad representatives—including vice-president Thomas Loew and Attorney Michael Lewiston—showed up at Monday's council meeting to voice their objections.

Most of the action, however, occurred after the council had adjourned.

While citizens and members of the council were filing out of the room, Lewiston, armed with a briefcase of documents, approached City Attorney David Fried and voiced K&B's strong objections to the council's discussion of the Realtek site plan.

Gist of Lewiston's comments was that the issues raised by the council were, in essence, none of the council's business.

Realtek owns a 40-acre parcel on the south side of Nine Mile Road, directly south of K&B's Village Oaks development. Originally owned by K&B, the parcel was sold to Realtek which now proposes to construct a multiple family development of 464 units.

Proposed name of the development is "Colony Park."

At its January 7 session, however, the council refused to accept the site plan submitted by Realtek. Basis of their objection involved the storm water run-off system.

According to engineering plans, the run-off from Colony Park would flow into a retention pond known as Park Village Lake. However, when Park Village Lake began to overflow it would then drain north into three privately-owned lakes—Village Oaks Lake and Village Woods Lake in the Village Oaks development and then into the Ingersol Creek, under Meadowbrook Road, and into Meadowbrook Lake.

The question raised by the council was "can a developer funnel storm water run-off into privately-owned lakes without first getting the permission of the owners of those lakes?"

The council tabled action on approval of the Realtek site plan pending Attorney Fried's legal opinion on the question.

Fried presented a preliminary opinion to the council Monday, but stated that he needed more time and more information before he could deliver a final opinion.

"I need further facts before I can give you an opinion on this particular situation," he stated.

Although Realtek representative Donald Horace and K&B engineer Ronald Steinacker spoke briefly during the audience participation portion of the agenda, most of the K&B comment was reserved for after the meeting when Lewiston approached Fried.

One of the arguments laid out by the K&B Attorney during the ensuing discussion was that the council had no business in involving itself in the question of allowing storm water run-off to drain into a privately-owned lake.

"That should be a private matter between the developer and the owner of the lakes," argued Lewiston. "The council has no business involving itself in matters between two private parties."

Asked by a reporter after the exchange with Fried if that were the main reason that K&B felt the council had no right to discuss the storm water run-off system, Lewiston snapped that he could give 12 reasons why the council shouldn't discuss the question.

"For starters take the fact that the entire storm water drainage system has already been put in the ground at considerable expense," stated Lewiston. "It's already there. It was approved by the city engineers and reviewed by the city's planning board. What do they want us to do with it? Tear the whole thing up and fill it in with straw?"

Propose Bus System

For Oakland County

Presentation of proposed bus routes from the Novi-Northville-Wixom area throughout Oakland County and into Detroit will be made at a public hearing tonight, Thursday, January 17.

The hearing is slated for 7:30 p.m. in Walled Lake Central High School located at the corner of South Commerce and Oakley Park Roads.

Purpose of the meeting is twofold. First, the hearing will permit the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) to present a revised bus route network which will provide a level of mass transportation to Oakland County.

The second purpose of the hearing will be to permit SEMTA representatives to gauge public reaction to the proposed routings.

Novi City Councilman Louie Campbell has asked that as many area citizens as possible attend the hearing. "SEMTA officials are very interested in obtaining local input on the mass transportation system," stated Campbell. "With a large turnout of citizens I think we can affect the frequency of bus service into our communities."

Thursday's hearing is sponsored by the Lakes Agency Council and the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCOE).

SEMTA is currently in the process of acquiring three bus lines—Great Lakes Transit, Pontiac Municipal Transit Service, and Martin Lines. Once that acquisition has been completed, SEMTA will then implement a mass transit system for Oakland County.

Presently, SEMTA of ficials, working in conjunction with the Oakland County Planning Commission, are attempting to formulate the bus route network.

A previous public hearing was held at Walled Lake Central High School on December 5. As a result of public input gained at that hearing, SEMTA has since revised its original routings. It is those new routes which will be presented at Thursday's hearing.

The system proposed by SEMTA has two basic sections. The base network will serve the densely populated southeastern part of Oakland County and provide service in the Woodward corridor between Detroit and Pontiac.

Of more interest to Novi-Northville-Wixom citizens is the outer network which will provide service to the outlying portions of the county.

Of the seven outer transit routes to be proposed by SEMTA at Thursday's hearing, four could be easily utilized by area residents.

• A Walled Lake-Pontiac route along Pontiac Trail would connect with the base

Offer Creative Ideas

Nursery Teachers Author Handbook

What is creativity? How can a parent encourage it in a young child?

According to two Northville creative day nursery teachers, creativity is "encouraged," not taught, and it can be "any original way of putting together materials or words, or spontaneous use of the body to express individual feelings."

Co-directors Ellen Wahi and Ann Stasinos have written a book, "Creative Activities," for teachers and parents of young children.

They will demonstrate the ideas it contains at a workshop in the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, where the Nursery is conducted Tuesday and Thursday mornings, between 8 and 9 p.m. today. It is open to anyone in the community without charge.

The spiral-bound handbook contains ideas for scout leaders, Sunday school teachers and parents that lead young children to explore and create through paints, plastics, paper, stitchery and music.

There's also a chapter on cooking. The teachers point out that, as a bonus for letting preschoolers participate in the kitchen, parents may find the youngsters may become more adventuresome at mealtimes "if their natural curiosity and wish to imitate adult behavior are stimulated by involving them in food preparation."

They warn that parents must be prepared for the "inevitable mess" by supplying aprons, and placing newspapers on the floor. Children's measurements may not be as accurate, they note, but most recipes allow a margin for error.

As examples of recipes possible for young cooks the teachers suggest doughnuts from packaged refrigerated biscuits, applesauce, peanut butter balls and even vegetable soup.

The teachers do not claim all of the ideas are original, but, they say, they have been tried and worked in their classes and workshops.

Both young women are trained teachers and, in addition, are mothers. Mrs. Wahi, her husband Kishor and four-year-old daughter Jennifer live in Northville at 20900 Taft Road. Mrs. Stasinos, her husband Steve and daughter Elizabeth, 13, are Farmington residents.

Not quite cooking but a "fun with food" type idea is one that should appeal to young children: string such cereals as Cheerios and Fruit Loops with cranberries to make necklaces to place on bushes and trees for feeding the birds in winter.

In the chapter on painting the teachers outline ways to paint on paper other than with a brush: string painting, splatter painting, print painting and sponge painting.

Included in the handbook are puppet patterns to be created of felt.

Pointing out that "language development begins early," the handbook suggests that it can be encouraged in several ways, such as, reading or telling a child almost a whole story but letting him supply his own ending.

For any parent who may feel his children are being entertained too often and too passively by television, the teachers offer a variety of alternatives.

For more information about the book and the workshop Mrs. Wahi may be contacted at 349-2161.

'CREATIVITY'S FUN'—Four-year-old Jennifer Wahi delightedly demonstrates a hand painting idea contained in the handbook, "Creative Activities," written by her mother, Ellen Wahi, left, and Ann Stasinos. Both are teachers in the Northville Creative Nursery.

Guidos Celebrate Silver Milestone

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Guido, 20390 Westview, were honored on their silver wedding anniversary at a dinner party for 65 relatives and friends given at the Tack Room December 22 by their children.

Dorothy and Eugene Guido both have been active in Northville civic affairs and in the Democratic party. Mrs. Guido currently is president of the Northville Business and Professional Women.

The couple's actual wedding anniversary was December 18. On that date in 1948, Mrs. Guido recalls, they eloped to Angola, Indiana, where they were wed in a civil ceremony. They later repeated vows in religious services.

Hosting the Tack Room reception were their daughter, Deborah, a sophomore at Eastern Michigan University; their sons, Douglas, who was just graduated from Western Michigan University; and Daniel, a student at Northville High School.

Douglas had been touring the country following his graduation, going to Maine and then across Canada to California and Oregon and returning via Florida. He made it home just in time for the celebration.

Also here from Arcadia, Florida, were Mrs. Guido's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. King, who recently moved south from South Lyon. A niece and nephew flew in from New Jersey while other guests came from Ohio.

A four-foot wedding cake created by Mrs. Alex Johnson was a highlight at the party. Special flower arrangements were done by Lila Collins, a friend of Mrs. Guido's.

63rd Anniversary Marked by Nathans

A cake and a family dinner party were arranged last Tuesday for Mr. and Mrs. Morton Nathan, residents of Beverly Manor Convalescent Center, 24500 Meadowbrook Road, who were celebrating their 63rd wedding anniversary.

The Nathans, both 83 years old, were married in Detroit January 8, 1911, and lived in the Palmer Park area until last year when they moved to Farmington to be with their son and daughter-in-law, the Stewart Nathans. They have been residents of the center for several months.

The couple has three grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Many years ago the Nathans were members of Temple Beth El.

Mrs. Nathan is the former Lillian Tannenholz and is a native Detroit. Her husband is from Alpena.

Club Plans Bare Foot Concert

"Bare Footin'", a concert-in-dance, will be presented by Walled Lake Western High School's Modern Dance Club on January 18 and 19. The concert, which is being held in the E. V. Ayres Auditorium, will begin at 8 p.m. The concert will consist of 10 different dance numbers choreographed by club members for widely varying styles of music. These include an electronic number called "Pithoprakta," "Turkey in the Straw" interpreted in a modern jazz style and an interpretation of Pink Floyd's rock number "Time."

Technical effects for the concert will be provided under the direction of Mrs. Jackie Plas and her stagecraft class.

Tickets for the concert cost $1.25 and can be purchased by calling the school office at 624-5020.

Mrs. Gross is the former Marcia Lee Jurmou. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jurmou of Dollar Bay in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ike Gross of Walled Lake.

Birth of a daughter, Elisa Marie, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Munro, 23023 Gilbar Drive, Novi, on December 20 at St. Mary Hospital. The baby weighed nine pounds, two ounces.

Elisa joins a brother, Jeffrey, 3, at home. Mrs. Munro is the former Billie Dee Losback of Saginaw.

JEROME P. CAVANAGH

Former Mayor Now Lawyer

Rotary to Hear Cavanagh

Jerome P. Cavanagh, former mayor of Detroit, will be a guest speaker at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Northville Rotary Club, program chairman Bill Reilly announced this week.

The meeting will get underway with lunch at 12 noon in the fellowship hall of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Cavanagh retains the same zest and concern for public affairs as he did when he was America's leading urban spokesman while serving as mayor of Detroit during 1962-70.

Now a senior partner in the Detroit law firm of Cavanagh and Toohey, the former mayor is in wide demand as a speaker and lecturer before audiences throughout Michigan and the United States.

In addition to his law practice and his involvement in public affairs and community projects, Cavanagh, until this year, served as a Professor of Public Policy at the University of Michigan and President of Urban Synergistics, Inc., an urban consulting firm, which he organized with former New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Jr.

Cavanagh was a political unknown when he scored an upset victory in 1961 over the incumbent mayor. He was re-elected four years later.

At 33, the second youngest mayor in the city's history, Cavanagh quickly developed a national reputation for the imaginative and practical programs which he instituted in Detroit.

LOOK Magazine called him the "mayor who woke up a city." The NEW YORK TIMES Magazine referred to him as "intelligent and urbane, one of America's authorities on what it must do if its cities are to be saved." The CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER noted that "other mayors hold him in awesome respect."

Many of the programs formulated in the Cavanagh administration later became the basis for federal legislation during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. In 1966, he became the only mayor in history to serve simultaneously as president of the National League of Cities and the United States Conference of Mayors.

He was appointed by the late presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon Baines Johnson to numerous national policy-making committees.

Paper Shortage Pinches Bags

"The situation is terrible and it's going to get a lot worse before it gets better," predicts Joe Spagnuolo of Spagy's Grocery, who spent half a day Friday driving from one wholesaler to another in search of bags.

"I finally managed to get five bundles and it cost me $100. I used to be able to get that many for $35.

Most stores report costs of bags have "about doubled."

"Trying to get bags is becoming a real cut-throat operation," says Spagnuolo. "Why, you can't go into a wholesale house and get something anymore unless you carry an identification number."

He and John Genitti, proprietor of John's E.M.B. Market, are convinced Americans must start adopting the European life style—carrying their own shopping bags.

Unfortunately, some Northville residents are self-conscious and are too embarrassed to carry their groceries in see-through fish-net bags. "But they are going to have to get used to it eventually," says Spagnuolo.

The paper bag salesman who used to regular visit EMB hasn't been around for three weeks. "White bags are non-existent and small ones are hard to come by. It's gotten to the point I don't offer bags for smaller orders unless the customer asks," admits Genitti.

"It's become a real critical problem," a spokesman for Harold Paper Company confirmed. "I don't know what will happen so I can't tell you anything."

"The shortage is in every size, and it's forced us into an allocation program. The bags are back-ordered. I can't say any more."

Salem Abraham of Hamlet Food Mart says, "We have three suppliers (not Harold) and fighting between them to get enough bags to keep us going. I just ordered seven sizes of bags and managed to get just one."

Shortage is one problem—price and incorrect bag sizes are others, he says.

"You have to take what they have even though the bag may be too large. We're getting thin bags at double the cost of what we used to pay for the more expensive thicker ones," explains Abraham.

He points out that Hamlet like other stores are attempting to inform customers of ways they may help save bags.

Despite the shortage, some customers "are still coming in and asking for big bags or double bags (one inside another) so they can take them home and use them for garbage," says Spagnuolo.

One of the oldest stores in Northville, Spagy's is experiencing shortages in a number of areas—not just paper products. Plastic products are skyrocketing in cost, he says, pointing out that plastic containers for milk are driving prices up again.

"With the cost of plastic today I just don't know how the cleaning businesses are getting by in finding bags for clothing."

Spagnuolo says other products are going to feel the pinch, too. He predicts paper cups and plates may not be around next summer for picnickers."

Freydl's Cleaners & Men's Wear also is experiencing a shortage of bags.

Plastic bag prices have shot upward, cardboard gift boxes are hard to get, "and I cringe when I think what they'll tell me when I try to reorder our personalized paper bags," says Charles Freydl.

Last week in ordering straw hangers (wire hangers covered with cardboard), Freydl was told "there isn't a single one anywhere in the Detroit area."

"Not only is there a shortage of cardboard but there's a shortage of the metal wire itself," he says, pointing out that he has learned the wire is being imported from Japan.

The paper bag problem is part of a national shortage of all paper, "even in your own newspaper business," explains Edward Deeb, executive director of Associated Food Dealers, representing 2500 members.

"The shortage, as I understand it, is due in large part to the closing of paper plants but that's about all I can tell you."

"All we can do is to emphasize that the grocer isn't the guy causing this problem and suggest to the customer ways he can help."

Asked if the problem may clear up soon, Spagnuolo replies, "Are you kidding?"

And Abraham adds, "It looks awfully gloomy; there's nothing encouraging about it."

Goodman's statements were reiterated by City Attorney David Fried.

"The investigation has revealed that there are problems in that particular department which must be corrected," said Fried. "Some of them are administrative and procedural problems, and some of them are problems with personnel."

"The public should be clear, however, that what the council decides to do is not based on any information that has not already been made public," Fried emphasized.

"There is no specific wrong doing that anyone knows of which has not yet been disclosed."

Campbell's motion for a council investigation was rejected by a 4-2 margin with Campbell and Councilwoman Romaine Roethel casting the minority ballots, while Mayor Robert Daley and Councilmen

Berry, Goodman, and Edwin Presnell voted to reject the special committee. (Councilman George Athas was not present at Monday's session).

Goodman's motion directing the studies of Saunders and Berry was adopted by a 5-1 vote. Campbell cast the lone dissenting ballot.

network at the intersection of Orchard Lake Road and Pontiac Trail. This route would provide citizens with service to the metropolitan Pontiac area as well as with Southfield and Detroit.

• A Wixom-Walled Lake-Pontiac route along South Commerce, Commerce, Cooley Lake and Elizabeth Lake Roads would provide north-south service in the area and also would service Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus.

• A Walled Lake-Wixom-Southfield route would start in Walled Lake, swing through Wixom, and then run down the I-96 expressway into Southfield. The Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College would be serviced by this route.

• A Northville-Southfield route would go from Northville down Eight Mile Road into Southfield.

SEMTA officials have stressed, however, that the proposed routes are not necessarily the routes that will finally be put into operation.

expiration of the original grant.

In response to the questions raised by Councilman Campbell at Monday night's session, City Manager Saunders stated that the matter would be brought before the council pending the completion of reports from police on the operation of the bureau and the city controller regarding financial considerations.

To the question regarding the effect of rejection of the grant on the city's budget, Saunders stated that the answer to that question was one of the reports being prepared by the controller.

The warm sun and gentle ocean breezes of Jamaica in January provide a most enjoyable, if not economical, means of combating the heating fuel shortage.

Fortunately, our far-flung family was able to coordinate vacations and military leave time so that mom, dad, son and daughter could spend a week together on the beach, golf course, viewing the scenery and gaining weight in the restaurants of Ocho Rios, Jamaica.

I can't speak for the more populated areas of Montego Bay and Kingston, but Ocho Rios is beautiful and friendly. It is located about midway along the northern shore of the 150-mile-long island.

The area is dotted with several village-like communities, fine hotels and restaurants, good beaches and both native and modern shopping centers.

Its biggest asset is the natural beauty of the island itself along with the climate, of course. Its hilly terrain is a jungle of vegetation; flowers grow in bright colors from a variety of trees and bushes that provide a rich backdrop of green; and the trees are magnificent and forest-thick, particularly the palms.

There were so many different varieties of trees on the golf course we played that each contained an identification plate.

We stayed at Turtle Beach Towers, a complex of four 12-story apartment buildings located on an excellent beach.

The development is relatively new and appeared to be well-managed. Each one, two- or three-bedroom unit contained a living room and kitchen and most a balcony. A nearby supermarket had everything that was needed to stock the kitchen for easy-to-prepare breakfasts and lunches. So during the day it was juice and coffee, a sandwich at most, and then a feast at one of the restaurants in the evening.

We ate at six different restaurants and found the food and service excellent. And the atmosphere ranged from the eye-appealing beauty of Playboy Bunnies to less-distractive and more restful views of land and sea.

And speaking of attractions, we travelled down on Air Jamaica escorted by stewardesses who conduct a fashion show in the aisles. (It's a gimmick I'm sure they toss in purely for the entertainment of women passengers).

Anyway, back to business. Food prices in the supermarkets are generally higher than in the U.S. And our money is worth less, about 10 per cent depending upon where you convert it to Jamaican money.

Shortages dominate the headlines there, too. And the Jamaican government is threatening to boost prices on its products (sugar, bauxite) as a possible means of gaining a more favorable oil price. Auto rental agencies are short of cars and some gasoline stations limited customers to three gallon purchases.

Tourism is Jamaica's number one industry, so the government makes a noticeable effort to provide for the safety and well-being of the visitor.

Certainly, I'd have to report that Harry Chong, owner of Villa Car Rentals Ltd., did everything within his power to provide us with satisfactory service. But it was a problem.

Because this is you-know-what country, I won't reveal the make of car that consistently refused to start for us. Finally, we were given a replacement (same model) which went dead one evening just as we arrived at a restaurant where we intended to dine. It was at least 10 miles from Harry's Villa over a route of winding roads and after normal working hours.

But when I called Villa on the telephone and said "hello Harry, this is Bill", he promptly replied, "where are you this time, Bill?"

And by the time we had finished eating, Harry had been there with another replacement. So I can honestly say that despite a shortage of cars and a few battery problems, Harry Chong gives 24-hour service.

If you're ever in Jamaica, just mention my name to Harry. He'll show you how to get to Hertz.

My thanks to Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear for filling this space last week. His first-person report on the alternatives open to the Northville district in the face of classroom shortages was both informative and well presented.

A series of public meetings proposed in the coming weeks should help the board of education reach its decision on this important matter.

Groundbreaking for the million-dollar-plus state police complex in Northville township probably won't happen before mid-summer.

But the project is definite. Building time is estimated at 14 months.

So that means the district headquarters-crime laboratory-post complex should be in operation by the fall of 1975.

Because of gas heating restrictions, a circulating hot water system is planned. Steam from the adjoining Northville State Hospital will be converted and piped to the state police facility.

Architect Karl Nelson points out that this alternative is more expensive, but that it would take a ruling by the Public Service Commission to obtain a gas permit for the complex.

Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright has indicated he would favor seeking such a ruling. Gas lines are on the property and the facility would seem to qualify as one serving the public safety and welfare.

Speaking for Myself

Start School Hour Later?

ROD JONES

YES . . .

I am in favor of starting school at a later time now that we have year round daylight savings time. As the father of a daughter who will enter kindergarten next fall and as a member of the Northville Board of Education, my main reason for this is the safety of the children.

I am particularly concerned about the younger children who must now walk to school, cross streets, and-or wait for school buses by the side of the road in total darkness these winter mornings. There are, of course, other reasons for a delay in the starting time such as making greater use of nature's heat and light and thus reducing our energy requirements.

I also recognize that a shift in the school time could create a problem for some working mothers, however my concern for the safety of the children is paramount.

Taking all of the factors into consideration I favor a delay of say 30 minutes in the starting time of our schools, especially the elementary, during these winter months with fewer hours of daylight.

John P. Hobart
Member Northville Board of Education

NO . . .

Working parents appreciate consistency in school hours since they must adjust schedules around them. Brighton schools have lacked this consistency for some time and proposals now suggest that further changes be made in school hours.

Starting school an hour later would leave many children home alone for that hour or would necessitate hiring a sitter each morning. Another bite out of an already deflated paycheck for those who might afford it, but for many it would mean quitting jobs.

I can appreciate parental concern over children going to school in darkness. As a parent, I would rather my children go to school during daylight hours, but enough is enough! We pay increasing taxes for a luxurious new gymnasium when an adequate equivalent existed, and for corridors that would accommodate Cobo Arena crowds when we are in need of more classroom space. Let's see some of OUR tax money used for more crossing guards, better street lighting and other safety features for school children, which would minimize the dangers that darkness can bring.

Change school hours again? No! We have only a few more weeks of dark mornings and a year to prepare for the dark mornings we will experience next winter. Let's explore alternatives before disrupting present schedules.

According to data released this week by American Telephone & Telegraph Company (AT&T for those of you who still remember San Diego), Washington, D. C. has 128.1 telephones for every 100 people.

In view of what has taken place this past year, the revelation comes as little surprise. It seems quite natural that the town with the black belt in bugging also would be the world's telephone king.

Just as naturally when it comes to being king of the hill for telephone blabbermouths the six kids in our family are shining examples of royalty. Not even Martha Mitchell in her heyday could match 'em for limber jaw.

Our six were born with silver phones in their mouths.

And they've been teething on them ever since.

Running a close second behind the nation's capital in numbers of telephones is nearby Southfield, which has 124.1 phones for every 100 people. Mighty New York City, with its network of telephone lines fanning out from the financial empire to points everywhere, has a modest 74.8 phones for every 100 persons.

Stockholm, Sweden is a leader outside the United States with 703,271 telephones or an average of 100.6 per 100 population.

Giant London, England has 54.6 per 100, while Tokyo has 49.8 per 100.

If remembering telephone numbers was a mark of intelligence, I'd celebrate every time a report card came home instead of mourning.

Oh, well, maybe our six can't add two and two but they can spew out telephone numbers with the rapidity and accuracy of an IBM office computer. That's something their old man can't do. He can't even remember his three-digit house number.

What's more our kids can do amazing tricks with the telephone. They can and frequently do use it while sitting, standing, lying down, walking, eating, reading, studying, watching, listening, fighting, playing and working.

They use it in sickness and in health...no medicine in the world can make our kids bounce from bed faster than calls from friends.

Ah, to enjoy the tranquillity of a place like Zelaya, Nicaragua where for the whole city of 158,000 people there are just 170 telephones. That's 0.1 per 100 population. Marvelous.

Readers Speak: Voice Abortion, Zoning Concerns

To the Editor:

A year ago January 22, the Supreme Court under the Wade & Bolt decision placed millions of unborn American children outside the protection of the law. In the twelve months since this tragic decision, over 1,300,000 human lives have been snuffed out by abortion in the U.S. Now, respect for life at every stage has been eroded. Denied to the unborn, the right to life has now been challenged - for the elderly the crippled and the defective. We are now being "prepared" for euthanasia. In my opinion, it will become part of our lives even more quickly than abortion did.

There are numerous reasons, both philosophical and practical, for us to oppose abortion and its follower, euthanasia. Chief among these is the sanctity of human life, an inviolable rule for centuries. It seems inconceivable that at a time when miraculous medical advances permit us to save lives heretofore thought lost, we are denying life to those just entering and seriously considering denying it to those near to leaving this earth. And on the practical side, we may have created a "future shock" - a time when there will be too few people in the wage-earning, tax-paying bracket to pick up the tab for all those collecting Social Security, old-age benefits, and welfare.

The bright side of all this is that we can do something about it. We can reverse the acceptance of abortion and halt the trend toward euthanasia. We can do so by time-honored American means - pressure. Pressure on our Congressmen and Senators to promulgate a Constitutional Amendment which shows that the people of this country still respect the right to life of every citizen - from those in the womb to those nearing the tomb.

This Sunday, January 20th, is "Day for Life" in Detroit. A rally is planned at Kennedy Square at 2 p.m. which will help to remind Detroit-area residents of the importance of this cause. Some Northville residents are already planning to attend, as well as people from Farmington, Plymouth, etc. Won't you join us? If you need a ride please call me at 349-7762. Let's show the world that we love life - in all its forms.

Sincerely,
Phyllis J. Lemon

I apologize to any Northville City resident who feels we misrepresented our cause when asking for support to our petition to the Plan Commission to retain the residential zoning of the

The facts are simple enough:

- The area is now residential.
- The Plan Commission proposes to rezone the area commercial and include it within the Central Business District.
- Once rezoned, the area will form the border of the Central Business District.

News From Lansing

BY R. ROBERT GEAKE
Michigan Representative

The legislature formally reconvened last week at the constitutionally required time of "12:00 p.m. on the second Wednesday in January" to begin the 1974 session. If events occur as rapidly for the remainder of the session as they did for the first twenty-four hours, we should all be in for quite a trip.

During the twenty-four hours between noon on Wednesday, when the bang of the gavel brought the session to order, and noon on Thursday, when we adjourned for the week-end, in rapid-fire succession a state Senator resigned, the Senate voted approval of the Emergency Energy bill, and Governor Milliken delivered his State of the State message, promising early presentation of the budget during the first full week of session.

Repeating a pleasant surprise from last year's State of the State Message when Governor Milliken promised taxpayers their first state tax reduction, the Governor, again this year, called for further tax relief. Outlining proposals for an additional $107 million in tax relief, the Governor noted that this would amount to nearly a half billion dollars total tax relief for Michigan taxpayers. Governor Milliken pledged that his forthcoming budget message would demonstrate how we can enact these further tax cuts and still provide increases in vital state programs as well as a balanced budget.

The Governor's proposals should certainly put to rest those critics who have been predicting that the state would have to renege on its current tax reduction program due to the energy related economic slowdown.

Obviously, we all have to wait until we see the total budget message to assess the possibilities of further tax cuts, but I am hopeful that we can accomplish what seems to be the impossible. Prudent budgeting will provide us with a balanced budget even in view of the economic slowdown, but I believe it is essential that we enact this tax cut if at all possible.

Briefly, the Governor proposed that the tax cut be achieved by: a sliding scale food credit on the income tax of those with incomes below $13,000; additional property tax relief for the blind, senior citizens, and the disabled; a 1/2 mill reduction in the Corporate Franchise Tax to stimulate business; authority to cities with heavy property tax burdens to allow a freeze on industrial property tax assessments; and passage of a bill to give farmers a break on taxes in return for a pledge to keep their land in agriculture.

reaching his vice-presidential nominee by telephone, just you wait until he tries calling me. He and the Russian Premier could wage a war and reach a peace settlement over the hot line before either could get through to me.

If the phone's busy when I call home from two miles away, it's faster to walk home to tell my wife I'll be late and then return by foot than it is to wait for one of our six to hang up.

And when they do hang up it's only for a sliver of a second before they've dialed another number.

AT&T wisely omits data concerning the average number of telephone conversations per person, suggesting previously supplied information proved unreliable.

You bet it was. The average among our kids is greater than that of the emergency reception room at St. Mary Hospital.

There's another piece of information AT&T neglected: the length of time it takes for a ringing telephone to be answered.

You'd think with six Bell infested kids, our phone scarcely would have time to ring before someone's grubby paws would be grabbing at it. Not so.

In our house, there's a delicate imbalance of sound and movement. It rings and rings and not a muscle budges until the old man slips and slides from the bathtub, cracks his toe on the door jamb, and slithers naked into the hallway.

Then, from somewhere close to a phone, someone shouts, "I'll get it."

In Imaginative Social Studies Class

Cooke Students Take 'Voyage' South

By SALLY BURKE

Seventh graders study the Eastern Hemisphere. Eight graders study the American Revolution through the Civil War.

And that was social studies at Cooke Middle School—that was last year.

This year, thanks to the development of a completely new curriculum for the middle school social studies department, students have a choice of 20 topics in nine different course areas.

We tried to organize the program according to the interests of the students," commented J. Michael Janchick, now administrative intern at the middle school.

It was Janchick who, as department chairman of social studies at Cooke last year, along with Mrs. Carol Pasco, present chairman of the department, wrote the curriculum guide.

Other instructors involved in the program include Cy Nichols, Randon Haight, Miss Linda Moore, Mrs. Brenda Irish and Miss Melissa Hall.

"Middle school is locked between elementary and high school," Janchick said and "we're to prepare them to take a variety of high school courses."

Janchick said that with students taking one course each year, "we were giving them less exposure. The new program has been designed to appeal to their interests."

Each student selects four elective social studies programs each year.

Mrs. Pasco said each eighth grader is required to take study and research skills while seventh graders must take a course in general map skills.

After that, they may choose from such courses as Archeology, History of Northville, History of Michigan, Current World Problems, Religion, Westward Movement, the Civil War, American Revolution and others.

Following the semester break in February, Mrs.

Pasco said seventh and eighth graders will be grouped "according to interests and not grades. We believe the interest grouping is more important," she added.

Once students get beyond a certain level of skills in social studies "they only will remember what is of interest to them," Mrs. Pasco said. "Consequently, we hope this program will help them learn and remember more than did the other program."

Mrs. Pasco said the program takes more preparation time "and is harder to do the first time around but the teachers are very happy with it."

For a course such as "20th Century Wars," where some textbooks are available, teachers use several books, pamphlets, audio visual equipment and library aids.

Other courses, such as History of Northville, will be mainly teacher preparation with two or three students selecting a specific area which they wish to study more thoroughly.

Individual or small group work on a selected area of a wide topic, such as Westward Movement, is greatly encouraged.

The program encountered some scheduling difficulties this semester since some courses were more popular than others.

"It seemed like everybody wanted to take History of Northville, History of Michigan, Archeology, 20th Century Wars and Westward Movement," Mrs. Pasco said.

Is the program successful? Although Mrs. Pasco feels it's too early to tell, she said she believes it "is holding the interest of students more this year, but maybe that's because I want to believe it is."

In organizing the program, Janchick said a "lot of teacher prejudice went into the planning. Everyone has specialized areas which they like to teach and these areas were matched with student interest."

SUCCESSFUL VOYAGE—Having just returned from an imaginary voyage to South America, three Cooke Middle School students prepare to prove they visited the country by showing the "artifacts" they found. The students, Amy Vargo (standing, Lori Hoping (left) and Kim DeRusha, have modeled the "artifacts" from clay as part of their social studies project.

TAX CAUTION

If your tax return shows itemized deductions greater than others in your income bracket, you stand a good chance of an IRS audit. But if you are running far below average, chances are you are overlooking some deductions. If your return is audited, merely showing your average won't do. You must have proof. On the other hand, if your itemized deductions are above average, don't pass them up. Comprehensive Development Plan and the Proposed Zoning Ordinance, the border of the Central Business District is reserved for parking.

We wonder what conclusion should be drawn from the above, other than additional commercial facilities and parking lots are planned for the area. We were gratified to learn that the idea of a second Northville Square or additional parking lot area between Main and Randolph Streets is as disconcerting to the City Council as it is to us.

I would appreciate hearing from those who gave us their support, but feel we misrepresented our petition. Their name will be stricken from our list and the Plan Commission will be so advised.

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP'S NEW ZONING—This new zoning map for Northville Township, issued the end of December, reflects the recommendation of Northville Township Planning Commission to the Northville Township Board last month that controversial research and development (R. & D), and multiples classifications be removed from the future planning for the Haggerty corridor. The map shows the area as residential.

Modify New Zoning

designated PBO, while three houses (lots 511, 512 and 513) fronting on High and/or Dunlap are given a single residential classification.

The vote was unanimous. • A two-acre parcel of property on West Cady, owned by George Kohs, is not to be changed and will retain the proposed single family residential classification. The vote was unanimous.

• Concerning the split in zoning on the property at the southwest corner of Center and Baseline between R-2 (two-family) and R-1B (single family residential), planners voted 5-4 to designate all of lots 607A and 607B to R-2.

An initial vote to retain the proposed zoning failed by a 5-4 vote, with Jones, Charles Freydl, Ray Jackson, David VanHine, and Bruce Turnbull voting no and C. Thomas Wheaton, Francis Gazlay, Richard Alkire, and J. Burton DeRusha voting yes.

In the subsequent motion to change all of the two lots to R-2, which carried, Jones, Freydl, Jackson, Van Hine, and Turnbull voted yes.

• The Leon Bonner property at the corner of Beal and South Main is not to be changed and will retain the GCD (general commercial district) classification. Unanimous vote.

• Planners voted unanimously to stand firm on their contention that neither the commercial nor professional office classification be extended north beyond the present limits.

• Concerning a plea by Harvey Ritchie that the vacant property formerly housing his laundry on North Center (it burned down) be zoned commercial instead of PBO, the planners agreed to make it commercial.

The vote was 5-4, with Freydl, Van Hine, Turnbull, Gazlay and Alkire casting affirmative votes.

• The M-1 zoning text is to be modified to include lumber and building supplies as permitted use.

• Concerning requests by the Donald Starrs of Brighton that their two lots on River Street, between Beal and Johnson, carry a PBO or commercial classification, planners decided to retain the two-family designation as proposed.

Planners have yet to take up other suggested changes made at last week's public hearing. For example, discussion of the controversial R-1 zoning for vacant land on the east side of Northville Estates was tabled as Tuesday's meeting drew to a close. It will resume at the next meeting.

The final planning commission recommendation will not go to the council until after the other decisions are made.

Decisions by the planning commission are recommendations only, planners emphasized again Tuesday. Final decision is to be made by the city council after still another public hearing.

March Decision Seen

that there will be a community uproar what will kill YRS. I hope the voluntary program will grow so we can keep YRS" for those who want it.

Mrs. Nancy Bonn asked the board what "will the quarter of the high school students who are out for three weeks do? They'll be home with nothing to do or up at the high school wandering around the halls."

Ron Meteyer, a high school teacher, said that at Parma (Michigan) where they have a mandatory program, "students are coming into classes at intervals. Teachers are running three programs at one time."

Bob Trombley, another high school teacher, said some teachers in Parma are "teaching up to three classes in one room at once."

Mrs. Priscilla Smith, president of the Northville Education Association said that a mandatory YRS program "is not right for everyone's needs. Those who are in the program now just love it but those who are not are skeptical. I would like to see the program kept voluntary."

Mrs. Barbara Massel, who teaches outside of the Northville district, warned the board to "remember this is a democracy for students, parents and the community. We should have a voluntary YRS and a traditional program. I would like to see a vote of the students in grades eight through 11 and another survey of parents with children four years old through the eleventh grade. She called YRS "a status symbol for some people. Don't force YRS down our throats."

Board President Stanley Johnston said he was in favor "of a mandatory program for one year throughout the entire district. If citizens do not like it, they will let us know."

Trustee John Hobart said he believes the "voluntary method is the better way of getting the concept to be accepted and I hope we can continue with the volunteer program."

Orphan said he is in favor of trying the voluntary program at the high school. "We'll never know if it can be done or not until we try it."

Rinehart said he presently has two children enrolled in

YRS "and personally I think it's fantastic."

Trustee P. Roger Nieuwkoop said that he is in favor "of the voluntary method we have used so far. We should study YRS at the secondary level and try it out on a voluntary basis."

However, Trustee Dr. Orlo Robinson said that surrounding districts are implementing YRS. It would be unfortunate for us, who have done all the leg work with supportive state grants, to sit back and watch other districts. We should go ahead and try YRS at the high school."

Middle School Progress Reports

Coupled with course changes in the social studies department at Cooke Middle School, there's also a new report card being put to use.

"This is a pilot program as well," Miss Florence Panattoni, assistant superintendent, said.

Rather than just listing "A" or "B" letter grades, the card is a type of progress report.

Teachers comment on how students have done on specific projects or reports.

"Both parents and students have a better understanding of why a particular grade was given," Miss Panattoni added.

She said she's had "positive comments from parents on the new format and parents like to know what their children are doing. Letter grades don't always indicate that."

She said she'd like to see more reports of this type in other classes.

of the Child Development Center. The center is to be closed eventually under a new system of care for retarded and emotionally troubled children in Wayne County.

Silver said Buoniconto's request for another extension after the present one ends January 31 would not have been approved by the commissioners in any event. Buoniconto was drawing a $39,112 annual salary.

Dr. Buoniconto informally has been given until the end of the month to move from the Child Development Center premises where he lives in a county-provided home, a legal spokesman for the county disclosed.

Buoniconto hired Petrides, 39, as clinical director a year ago after Petrides had served for nearly two years as a part-time consulting physician at the center.

In its report, the County Corporation Counsel stated that center employees spoke highly of Petrides' professional ability and concern for the children, although they stated his hours were irregular.

Silver said arrangements were being made to maintain psychiatric services for the children.

He also said the county may move to recover money from Petrides after the court case is concluded.

Dr. Petrides, according to Dr. Budd, had been employed by Northville State Hospital since 1968. Criminal investigators have sifted related work records at the hospital, Dr. Budd said.

Until "we were made aware that he (Dr. Petrides) was illegally holding two full time jobs, we had to assume based upon our own records that he was working full time here and part-time (at the Child Development Center)," Dr. Budd said.

Combination full-time and part-time jobs are legal, he explained.

Besides holding the two jobs simultaneously, Dr. Petrides also maintained a private practice, listed in the yellow pages as in Livonia.

According to Mrs. Dumas, county commissioners were aware that Dr. Petrides' work schedule at the Child Development Center was under investigation but "we weren't aware that it involved Dr. Buoniconto...at least I wasn't aware. It came as quite a surprise."

Even though they knew of the investigation concerning Dr. Petrides, commissioners did not act sooner "because we didn't want to jeopardize the state's investigation," the commissioner noted.

She said the medical superintendent's removal will not adversely affect the scheduled phase-out of the Center.

The Child Development Center was established in 1925 as a residential school for mildly retarded children. It is located on a large campus near Northville.

A state-county task force of experts recommended last August that the center be closed, stating that such large isolated facilities are out-moded and detrimental to full development of the children.

As recommended by the task force, a central referral agency was established by the Board of Commissioners and such children are being placed in community-based programs.

later starting time because "university classes they are enrolled in start at 4 p.m."

However, parents attending Monday's meeting said they felt it was unsafe for middle school students to walk in the dark and to cross the Eight Mile-Taft Road intersection.

Mrs. Arlene Grady, a crossing guard at Amerman Elementary School, said that only 14 to 22 students out of the normal 55 students are crossing the intersection of Eight Mile and Center Street.

"The rest of them are being driven to school by their parents," she said.

Mrs. Grady also said that some drivers have "nearly missed hitting students and the guards and trucks are speeding."

With the 30 minute time change, Northville's elementary schools will be starting approximately 30 to 45 minutes later than any of the surrounding districts.

Following questions from parents on why traffic signals and lower speed limits cannot be installed along Eight Mile Road, board members said they would re-contact the Oakland County Road Commission.

Reduction of speed limits, price hikes, rationing, daylight savings time, car pools, and dialing down thermometers are legitimate ways of combating the energy crisis.

But Sliger Staffers are convinced these solutions represent a minimal effort and barely scratch the surface of steps that could be taken to eliminate shortages. So in the interest of restocked larders we offer these suggestions:

Eliminate away games; play 'em all at home.

Put a brick in your gas tank.

Put bigger wheels in the rear so you are always riding downhill. Eliminate penalties for arson.

Eat out.

Put magnets on bumpers and steal rides from passing cars.

Struggle more.

Invite a politician to dinner and heat your house with hot air.

Drive backwards to save mileage.

Send chain letters to conserve paper.

Shower with a friend.

Chain smoke to save matches.

Kill three birds with one jolt...invent electric couch.

Put helium in your car tires and float to work.

Replace January, February and March with June, July and August.

Cut a hole in the roof and let the warm sun shine in.

Eliminate round trips.

Build only tall buildings because heat always rises.

Combine Platformate with LSD for longer trips.

Fix refrigerator so when you open door light goes off.

Sell only one way tickets.

Cook breakfast, lunch, and supper at one time and save fuel.

Outlaw carbon paper.

Plant your garden now for an earlier harvest.

Eat only leftovers.

Harness fireflies.

Turn down hearing aids.

Close outdoor theaters at night.

Eat cold fudge Sundaes.

Encourage heartburn.

Take an Arab to lunch.

WINTER RIDING HINTS (from 'The Horseman's Almanac, 1974)

Clothing: Wool, wool, wool! In winter use layers of wool clothing and you'll rarely be cold. Wool traps body heat and also absorbs natural body moisture better than other fabrics. Several light layers of clothing are better than one or two heavy layers.

Boots should be leather instead of rubber since leather "breathes" whereas rubber traps air and causes condensation within the boot. Never wear tight fitting rubbers. Buy rubbers 1 1/2 sizes bigger than boot.

For extra prevention against cold feet and frostbite, wrap feet and ankles in old newspaper. Use as many

FROM CATERPILLARS—Since last Good Friday, this cross, made by one family of the Living Lord community, has adorned the sanctuary. Part of the Easter celebration, the reading of Trina Paulus, "Hope for the Flowers," a story about two caterpillars growing to butterflies, inspired the group to adopt this unofficial symbol. A children's nursery and a Catholic small faith community also share these facilities with Living Lord.

Living Lord Sets '74 Goals

Community Has New Aim

Can a loosely structured, informal, family-oriented religious community adopt a more formal structuring and incorporate a Sunday School while still maintaining close ties?

Living Lord Lutheran Community, 40700 Ten Mile Road in Novi, is seeking the answer to that question this year.

The 17 family congregation has committed itself to trusting and sharing with their brothers and sisters, but it now faces a struggle to structure itself and still maintain its informal style.

"We found out last year that it is difficult to carry out the ministry without some kind of structure and we're ready to move in that direction now," said the Reverend Jim Liefeld, pastor. The community has set three goals for 1974.

"Power is at the grassroots and the struggle to keep it that way gets hairy," Mr. Liefeld said. "The priorities we've set for 1974 include work on family worship, family education and incorporation of values into our life style."

with trust levels and the relationships of people, not structured," he said. "It's not structure that can do this, but it's getting people to go find out how to support each other and meet each other's needs."

"One of the spots that has been causing us a great deal of thinking and evaluation is that we don't have a lot of things most people who would look at a church are used to," he said.

"When others ask if we have a Sunday School, sometimes I feel guilty," said one member of the congregation, Debbie Gerwulf. "When I look closely though, I'm not sorry we don't, if we help our children love life."

The liturgy at Living Lord is informal with children and adults gathered for worship service. Mr. Liefeld says sometimes the noise levels get to be a bit much, with the adults gathered in a circle for worship and children, doing their own thing with the family.

The actual liturgy is performed with guitar and adapts approved contemporary liturgies of the American Lutheran Church.

Living Lord started as an ALC mission in 1969, when the national organization built the church building. Since that time, pastor Liefeld said, the national mission board has done a lot of changing and they no longer build a church and send a pastor.

"They're willing to take risks and try new things and that's one reason I like my job," the 30-year-old pastor said. "I know I'm supported in my efforts by the national church. They say, 'We think there's a mission at Living Lord, you find it.'

When the church was down to nine persons in 1972, Mr. Liefeld became pastor.

"I think he's the best thing that ever happened to this church," said Cecile Sparta, a member of the community. "Maybe it's the way he believes in things. He says the kids will find it more meaningful to go out to the woods and experience than sit in the classroom."

"The community has felt that before we started a Sunday School, we'd like to decide what we're going to do in that Sunday School," Mr. Liefeld said. "That's one of the things the people interested in family education are really going to wrestle with in 1974."

"For most kids, going to church now is a very positive experience," he said. "We've got a mandate not to lose that excitement and enjoyment when we set up an educational program. If kids start not wanting to come to church, we'll have to take a long hard look at what we're doing."

"I'm not too concerned with teaching children the words,

"God's Love," he said. "We must do what we can to let them experience it in every way possible. They will find the words when they need them."

"There's one thing we've realized since we set up our goals," Mrs. Gerwulf said. "We have to try to remember that we're going to fail in some areas, but that being able to fail is not bad. Our goals may not be accomplished for 20 years, but I'm happy here, because people care about each other and they're not afraid to break with tradition."

Church Outlines Sex Ed Class Plan

Sex education has always been a touchy area for any group to get into, but members of Brighton's First United Methodist Church have the feeling that sex education, taught from a religious point of view, might be profitable.

This thought has prompted four months of preparation by a task force at the church to coordinate a sex and family life seminar series at the church for the month of February.

The seminars are planned for the whole family, but with separate classes for grades K-3, 4-6, 7-9, 10-12 and adults.

"At each age level there is a certain interest and knowledge level to cope with, that's why we chose separate classes," said Bill Riffe, publicity chairman.

"The classes are open to all, church and non-church persons alike," Riffe said. "We've sent letters to various community groups, libraries, doctors, and schools, as well as churches."

The seminars are to be conducted by various members of the Brighton community and members of the congregation. The Reverend Dave Kruger from Lord of Life Lutheran will be part of the team for the grades 10-12 group, while the wife of pastor Ron Figgins of Hartland United Methodist Church will participate in the seminar for grades 7-9.

The adult seminar will be conducted by Dr. Verne Hoshal, his wife and Linda Bond, R.N.

Coordinator of the series is Gloria Downing, who holds a Master's degree in religious education and is the wife of the Methodist minister in charge of Detroit Baptist Children's Home.

"The series is more of a discussion type than lecture type and while it does have religious overtones, it is not a strictly religious thing," Riffe said.

Members of the teaching team are expected to lead discussions around materials provided to them, including films, filmstrips, pamphlets and books. The basis for the course is materials gathered from the Methodist Church spring and summer conference, which included a program on sex and family life.

Riffe said because of the expense involved in purchasing materials, a fee will be charged for the classes.

Those wishing to participate must register by January 20, with Mr. and Mrs. George Seger, 11180 Newman Road, Brighton or call 229-9337.

The charge for the classes is $2.50 per family or $1 for adults and 50 cents per child (under 12). Classes are to meet each Sunday of February from 4:30 to 6 p.m.

New Sex and Family Life Classes are for All Ages

Sermon Series Planned

A series of taped sermons by the famous Dr. Helmut Thielicke will be presented for four consecutive weeks at the First United Methodist Church of Northville beginning January 23.

The Reverend Gunther Branstner, pastor of the church, said Dr. Thielicke taught theology at the famous German universities of Tubingen, Heidelberg and Hamburg.

While rector at Hamburg, he reportedly drew the greatest crowds of any pulpit man in modern Germany.

"Thielicke offers content and deep conviction, rather than the cheap pyrotechnics of so-called 'popular' preachers," Mr. Branstner said.

Dr. Thielicke will preach on the theme "In Search of the Reality of God." The first sermon in the series is titled, "What is the Meaning of Life," and will be presented at 8 p.m. January 23.

Ther sermons were taped at an International gathering in Sorrento, Italy.

Holiness Group Picks President

The Reverend Richard Warner of Brighton Church of the Nazarene has been chosen president of the Livingston County Holiness Association.

Persons associated with various area churches participate in the Holiness Association, Mr. Warner said. Area Free Methodist, Wesleyan and Nazarene churches show the most interest, he noted.

The purpose of the groups is to propagate a standard of "heart holiness."

The group emphasizes the experience of forgiveness and being filled with the Holy Spirit, rather than doctrine, Mr. Warner explained.

The Holiness Association will celebrate its 30th anniversary at the February 5 meeting, at Brighton Wesleyan Church.

WARNING!
Due to the serious gasoline shortage, we are selling many more Suzuki motorcycles at this time of year than ever before. The manufacturers did not foresee this and no way will we be able to get enough bikes in 1974 to satisfy the demand. If you intend to buy a motorcycle we strongly urge you to bring in a small deposit to begin a layaway plan. This will assure you of getting the bike of your choice this spring. Ask Middle Names

LANSING—They wanted middle names for the holidays. They didn't get them—but there is a glimmer of hope.

The Committees to Encourage Richard H. Austin to Give Michigan Women Their Middle Names took their plea to Lansing, asking the Secretary of State to allow them their maiden names on drivers' licenses.

For some time, it's been Michigan Department of State policy to allow only given names on the licenses. That means if you were born Jane Ann Jones, got a license with that name on it, then married and became Jane Ann Jones Smith, you couldn't be Jane Jones Smith on your license. You'd have to be Jane Ann Smith. (You could sign the license with your choice of names, but officially, you'd still be Jane Ann Smith in the Department records.)

You could be Jane Ann Jones still—not using your married name at all. But you just couldn't use maiden and married name unless you went to court for an official name change.

THE POLICY, initiated long before Austin took office, bothered some women not at all, but it irritated others constantly, and they finally decided to try doing something about it. One woman is threatening legal action. Others petitioned Austin to change the policy.

The Secretary of State, who says he's received about 50 letters concerning the middle name controversy in recent weeks, is looking into the problems that would be encountered by such a policy change.

"When there are these many interested, it is a concern we have to address ourselves to," Austin says. "So we're trying to see if we can accommodate the ladies without a major system change"—without spending too much money.

"We save a lot of money because we do not need a cross check file now," Austin says. "Since we do not allow options, we do not have to maintain an alias file."

"NON—SMOKERS have rights too."

That's the theme this week (through Jan. 17,) dubbed National Education Week on Smoking by the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health.

In conjunction with the observance, the Michigan Health Council and the Wayne County Council on Smoking and Health are stepping up their urging that smokers stop and non-smokers not start lighting up this year.

In addition, the Michigan State Medical Society recently distributed special editions of the publication "Smoking and its Relationship to Health and Disease" to schools throughout the state.

Michigan has yet to follow the lead of some states setting up stringent regulations against smoking in certain areas.

But there is at least one smoking-related bill pending in the Michigan Legislature. Sponsored by Democratic Sens. John McCauley of Grosse Ile and Jack Faxon Detroit, the bill would authorize the State Public Health Department to designate areas in hospitals in which smoking or carrying lighted tobacco would be prohibited.

MICHIGAN'S AIR POLLUTION Control Commission already has acted against the pollution of smoke at its meetings. It's banned smoking at its own sessions.

"It didn't seem reasonable to me that we are so concerned about the external environment and then we sit in a smoke-filled room," Commission Richard Rasmussen of Grand Rapids says.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

NEW PRESIDENT of the West Oakland Bank is James W. Johnson.

Announcement of the appointment of Johnson, 40, was made by out-going West Oakland Bank president Gary Johnson last week.

Johnson, who founded West Oakland Bank in 1971, is moving to Kalamazoo where he will assume the presidency of a new bank — Michigan National Bank West, a subsidiary of the Michigan National Corporation.

Johnson will retain his affiliation with the West Oakland Bank as a director and an officer (vice-president). "I don't want my move to Kalamazoo to be misconstrued with negative connotations," commented Johnson. "It's simply a matter of moving to a higher level of responsibility in a community of 300,000 people."

Johnson brings 17 years of experience to his new position of West Oakland Bank president. After spending eight years in Detroit at the Michigan Bank, now known as Michigan National Bank of Detroit, he moved to a position with Michigan National Bank North Metro in Troy.

Prior to accepting the presidency of West Oakland Bank, Johnson was senior vice-president and a director of the Troy bank. He will stay with Michigan National Bank North Metro as an officer and director.

An Alma College graduate, Johnson is married and has four children. He presently resides in Oakland Township, but plans to relocate in Novi.

SHOWERMEN'S IGA will be celebrating a grand opening of their quarter-million dollar addition in South Lyon January 23-29.

Gordon Showerman, in the grocery business in the city for 33 years, plans ribbon cutting featuring the South Lyon mayor, City Council and manager and Super Foods and IGA officials for Saturday, January 26. Other grand opening activities will continue through the week (Wednesday through Tuesday).

Showerman's employs 37 people. The store size doubled to 16,000 square feet with the addition which also enabled an increase in stock inventory amounting to $70,000.

RICHARD L. RUFFNER has taken over the Hartford Real Estate office in Northville, it was announced this week. A resident here for eight years, he has been in the business three years. Hartford is located at 224 South Main Street.

HERBERT H. GENENDLIS of 800 West Main Street, Northville, has been named top general manager for Vic Tanny International Health Spas during 1973.

He achieved the honor by winning the nationwide Vic Tanny managerial contest concluded in December. His prize is a new Datsun sportscar or the option of $5,800 in cash.

The contest was based on best service to members, new memberships, and best results obtained through Vic Tanny exercise programs.

Genendlis has been general manager in Birmingham for the past three months. Announcement of his award was made by Mike Lucci, Detroit Lions defensive captain and vice-president of Vic Tanny International.

Nature Walks Started

Special once-a-month guided winter nature walks on Sunday mornings are scheduled at the nature study area of Kensington Metropark near Milford.

Families and individuals should meet the park naturalist at the nature center on Sunday, January 13 or Sunday, February 17 at 9 a.m. Thomas Smith, chief naturalist of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan (Park) Authority said that walks will last from 1 1/4 to 2 hours and advises persons to dress according to the weather and to wear warm, sturdy boots.

Planned for those who enjoy the quiet solitude of the cold, crisp early morning, HCMA naturalists will emphasize winter themes such as identifying animal tracks in the snow, recognition of plants by their winter characteristics and observing how various animals meet survival problems in the winter.

Details pertaining to these HCMA Sunday morning walks are available by contacting Kensington Metropark, 685-2417.

'73 Death Toll 5th Worst

Michigan's traffic death toll for 1973 is 2,212, the fifth worst annual loss on record, according to the State Police traffic division's provisional figures.

The total is 46 or about two percent less than the 2,258 deaths charged to 1972.

The count ranks behind three other higher losses of 2,487 in 1969, 2,392 in 1968 and 2,298 in 1966.

It was the tenth year in a row and the thirteenth time on record that Michigan traffic deaths have exceeded the 2,000 mark for the year.

Charged to the 1973 total were 13 deaths occurring during the Christmas weekend and those deaths included in the 19 which resulted from New Year weekend crashes prior to 1974.

December deaths numbered 133, which were 37 or about 22 percent less than 170 charged to that month in 1972.

layers as will fit into your boot. Thermal socks are, of course, better than newspaper or you can try a couple of old nylon stockings over wool socks.

Snow baling: paint the sole, heels and outside wall of all four feet of your horse with a soft grease (vegetable oil of semi-soft butter) to prevent snow from falling inside the hooves of horses going through deep snow.

Keep fetlocks well trimmed in winter to prevent snow and ice from freezing around ankles and tendons.

The tail should be tied up in a "mudder's knot" or do it up with masking tape to prevent it from dragging through the snow and mud.

If your tack room is not heated, always hold the bit in your fist for a few minutes before asking the horse to accept it in his mouth. You wouldn't put your tongue on a cold pipe or on metal in winter. It would get stuck, so don't ask your horse to do what you wouldn't.

For your own comfort, cover the base of stirrup irons with thick leather, rubber or wrap in old sheepskin. Remember metal attracts cold. Rubber plates which are made specifically for stirrup irons are available at most tack shops. They also prevent your foot from slipping through the irons.

Churchill Survives Mustang Rally

Northville's book on Don Braun, the 6-7, 215-pound senior center from Livonia Churchill, reads something like this: "Strong rebounder; lacks offensive moves."

But after Churchill's thrilling 47-44 victory over the Northville Mustangs last Friday, someone is going to have to do a little rewriting. Braun not only dominated the backboards at both ends of the court as anticipated, the 6-7 Churchill pivotman also demonstrated that he's no slouch in the offensive department either, as he tossed in 10 of 16 field goal attempts—many of them 15 to 20 footers—to pace the Charger triumph with a 20-point performance.

"He (Braun) was obviously the major difference in the game," commented Walt Koepke, whose Northville charges fought back from a 13-point deficit in the third quarter to almost register an upset win.

"We had scouted Churchill extensively and we didn't think that Braun was all that tough on offense so we instructed Tom Eis (the Northville center) to play off him and let him take his shots," Koepke continued.

"After he (Braun) hit his fourth straight bucket, Tommy looked over at me as if to say that can't be the same guy you were telling me about."

The game marked the resumption of Western Six Conference play for both teams after the holiday break. The Chargers, who won last year's conference cage championship, carried a 2-0 league record into the contest, while the Mustangs, 1-1 against conference competition, were gunning for an upset.

"I expected that we might play well," commented Koepke. "There was almost complete silence in the locker room before the game. I think our kids were really ready to go out there and play themselves a basketball game."

And that's exactly what they did. In spite of Churchill's height advantage (6-7, 6-5, and 6-2 across the front line) and their number ten rating in the state polls, the Mustangs nearly pulled it off.

After trailing 10-8 at the end of the first quarter, the Chargers nearly broke the game wide open in the second quarter by outscoring Northville 22-9 to take a 30-19 lead into the locker room at the half.

Braun hit on five of five field goal attempts in that second quarter, while Ken Landini, Churchill's high-scoring 6-2 forward, added four more field goals with a deft jump shot from the free throw line.

The Chargers upped their lead to 12 points in the third quarter, taking a 40-28 lead into the final eight minutes of play and still were ahead by 10 points, 45-35, with less than two minutes left on the clock.

But then the Mustangs started their comeback. A bucket by Ed Kritch narrowed the score to 46-39 and Joe Bishop then tallied five straight points to cut the margin to 46-44 with 41 seconds left.

Northville had several chances to cut the lead even further. But Bishop missed a pair of free throws with 19 seconds left and then, after Churchill had missed a free throw with nine seconds left on the clock, Kritch lost the ball out of bounds as he was bringing it back up the court.

In a last ditch effort to get the ball back, Kritch fouled Churchill's Rich Van Wagoner with two seconds left to play, and the Cager backcourtman converted one of his charity tosses to make the final score 47-44.

In spite of the loss, Koepke was particularly pleased with his team's performance.

"It was a remarkable game for us because they (Churchill) were so much bigger than we were and yet we were able to hang in there until the very end," commented the Mustang mentor.

"They're 6-7 6-5, and 6-2 across the front and we're 6-4, 6-3, and 5-11 and yet we stayed with them all the way except for that second quarter," Koepke continued.

The Northville coach also expressed pleasure about the Mustangs' defensive play. "That was the best defense we've played in the three years since I've been here," he stated.

"Joe Bishop is our best one-on-one player and so we were clearing out the left side for him when we needed points in the last minute of play. There was one time when he put the ball up and missed and all five of our players converged on the loose ball as if it were solid gold. It was beautiful."

Although commenting that everyone who played for the Mustangs played well, Koepke singled out Bishop and 5-11 forward Mike Campbell for words of praise. "It's the first time Joe (Bishop) has started for us in several weeks and I thought he did a real nice job both on offense and defense," said the Northville coach.

As for Campbell, Koepke said it was "absolutely amazing" that a 5-11 forward could manage to come up with nine rebounds against the tall Churchill front line.

The Mustangs were paced in the scoring department by Ed Kritch who tallied 11 points, one more than Bishop and Todd Eis who collected 10 points apiece.

Campbell added eight points—all of them in the first half—and shared rebounding honors with Todd Eis as each hauled in nine caroms.

The loss dropped Northville's league record to 1-2 and overall record to 5-5. The Mustangs hope to even their conference mark at 2-2 Friday when they journey to Farmington Harrison to take on Coach Bob Sutter's Hawks.

DRIVE TO THE BUCKET—Northville's Ed Kritch has to avoid an arm stuck out by Livonia Churchill's Ken Landini (33) on his way to a lay-up in Friday's Western Six Conference battle. In spite of efforts like this, the Mustangs came out on the short end of a 47-44 score to the heavily-favored Charger quintet. Tom Eis (44) in the background keeps a close eye on Kritch's progress.

Wildcats Lose to Lincoln After Taking Early Lead

Leading Ypsilanti Lincoln much of the way in the first half, Novi came apart at the seams mid-way through the second quarter and then nosedived to a humiliating defeat here Friday.

By the time the Railsplitters completed the rout, the Wildcats had lost by more than 30 points — 75-44.

Coach Ron Flutur's cagers simply couldn't keep up with the fleetfooted Railsplitters, who seemed to thrive on Novi's mistakes. And those mistakes mounted rapidly as Ypsi ran opponents ragged.

Novi's fast break looked good only until the Wildcats ran out of gas, and then it was dullsville. The local five, after a very slow start (neither team scored a point until nearly half way through the opening quarter), held a 12-9 lead going into the second stanza.

Then the Wildcats stretched their lead to five points and appeared in command of the game until about mid-way in the quarter. Then a series of turnovers — bad passes mostly — coupled with some superlative Ypsilanti rebounding, turned things around.

With only 1:32 to go in the half, the Railsplitters tied it at 26, and then Derrick Thomas flipped in a two pointer (his fourth of the quarter) to shove Lincoln into the lead. From then on it was all over for the Wildcats. The pressure was too much, and Flutur's quintet collapsed both offensively and defensively.

The irony of it all was that Novi, after a slow start, played surprisingly well early in the game. They out-ran and out-shot the Railsplitters, and for a while local fans began to wonder if they might be treated to the first Novi victory of the season.

Bill Barr flipped in the first two-points of the game at 4:50 of the first quarter, and then he pumped in three more field goals to provide the Wildcats with a momentary hot streak.

In the remainder of the game, however, Barr came up empty-handed. Rick Marchetti took up a little of the slack in the second quarter, pitching in three field goals, while Pat McAllen hit on three of five foul shots and added a two-pointer.

By intermission, the Railsplitters were on top, 32-27.

Lincoln outscored Novi 18 to 10 in the third quarter as Thomas drilled four field goals and Rick Shelton two more. Gary Ford led Novi with three field goals.

Six Ypsi players scored in the final period as the Railsplitters ran away with the game, outscoring the Wildcats 25 to 7.

Top scorer for Novi was McAllen with 13, followed by Ford with 10.

But it was Lincoln's Thomas who led both teams, pumping in 12 field goals and adding two for two at the charity line for a game total of 26.

The loss dropped the Wildcats' SEC record to 0-6. And there's nothing but trouble ahead for Coach Ron Flutur's charges as Friday they trek to Milan to take on the high-powered Big Red quintet. Led by 6-3 junior guard Stan Joplin, Milan is 5-1 in conference play, one game behind first place Saline.

But Chargers Win by 4

Jayvees Come Close

Northville's junior varsity basketball team last Friday almost did something it has never been able to do before — beat the Livonia Churchill jayvees.

However, after taking an early lead that stretched to as many as nine points at times, the junior Mustangs succumbed to a full-court Churchill press in the fourth quarter and finally yielded a 61-57 decision.

"It was their press that beat us," commented a glum Omar Harrison, coach of the Northville jayvees.

"They had pressed us earlier in the game and it hadn't really affected us. But in that fourth quarter their press really affected us."

The week was not a total loss for the junior Mustangs, however. Prior to their four-point defeat against Churchill, the Mustangs had raced to an easy 54-28 victory over the Novi jayvees. And at week's end, they were still sporting a highly respectable 7-3 record.

Against Churchill the Mustangs built up a 15-12 lead in the first quarter as forward

Bill Piccolo tossed in nine points. By the end of the half, the Mustangs had stretched their lead to 26-19.

But somewhere between the end of the second quarter and the start of the third, the Charger jayvees recovered their scoring touch. After tallying just 19 points in the first half, the Chargers hit for 20 and 22 points in the third and fourth quarters respectively to wrest the lead away from Northville.

Piccolo finished the game with 14 points to take scoring honors for the Mustangs. He was joined in double figures by center Jay Slagle who tallied 13 points and guard Chris Armada who added 10 more.

The Northville jayvees had little trouble in disposing of the Novi junior varsity. After opening up a 20-4 first quarter lead, the Mustangs coasted to a 54-28 triumph.

Slagle led the way with a 16-point performance, while Mark Lisowski and Tony Armada each had eight points in the rout which saw everyone on the Northville team break into the scoring column.

Andy McComas with 12 points paced Novi.

SC Tankers Dunk Kellogg

Coach Jim Millen's fine Schoolcraft College swimming team upped its record to 4-0 by sinking Kellogg Community College 75-28 at Battle Creek last week.

The Schoolcraft tankers, who finished second in the nation among junior college teams last year, were just too powerful for the Kellogg team as they powered their way to first place finishes in 9 of 13 events.

Once again, the Ocelots were paced by freestyler Steve Leclair, their talented All-American who holds four national junior college records. In addition to winning the 200 and 500 yard freestyle events, Leclair established a new Kellogg Community College pool record by turning a 1:55.0 clocking in the 200 yard freestyle.

Also winning two events for Schoolcraft was diver Gary Wales who took first place off both the one and three meter boards.

Other first place finishers for Coach Millen's Schoolcraft squad were Tim Orians (200 yard breaststroke), Tom O'Hagan (200 yard butterfly), Dave Cravens (200 yard individual medley), Rick Vigil (1,000 yard freestyle) and the 400 yard medley relay team of Rick Phillips, Orians, Cravens, and Tom Osborn.

Midgets, PeeWees Set Winning Pace For Hockey Clubs

Northville's entries in the Midget and PeeWee divisions of the Western Suburban Hockey League posted a combined total of five victories last week to highlight local ice action.

Two other Northville Hockey Association (NHA) "A" teams fared less well, however. The undefeated Mite squad had to settle for a tie, while the Bantams suffered a narrow 3-2 loss to Twin Cities.

Northville's entry in the Midget division (15-16 year olds) upped its season's record to 11-6-1 by posting three consecutive wins last week.

Mike McDonald and Steve Shutt were the goal scorers as the Northville-Midgets skated to a 2-1 decision over Redford in a non-league game.

Returning to Western Suburban Hockey League action for their next two encounters, the Midgets strengthened their grip on second place and prepared to make a run at the number one position by notching two more victories.

Ken Fillion, Steve Shutt, and Brian Allen notched first period goals to start Northville on its way to a 4-2 triumph over Garden City. Rudy Horst completed the Northville scoring in that game with a second period goal.

Three days later the Midgets came back to hand Plymouth a 5-1 defeat in another league clash. Fillion, Allen, and John Treanor each scored once in that game and Tom Bradley netted a pair of markers to round out the Northville scoring.

Northville's Thomson Sand and Gravel-sponsored entry in the PeeWee division (11-12 year olds) also had a perfect week, coming out on top in a pair of games.

Balanced scoring was the key to a 6-3 PeeWee triumph over Taylor. Rich Pattison, Tod Mack, Dean Pullicin, John Pawlowski, and Mike Zdanowski staked Northville to a 5-0 lead, as the PeeWees coasted to the win. Roger Pattison completed the Northville scoring in that game.

The Northville PeeWees fell behind Wayne 1-0 in their next game, but came back strong to register a 5-1 victory. Roger Pattison tallied twice in that game, while single goals were netted by Brian Murphy, Rich Pattison, and Mike Zdanowski.

In the Mite division (7-8 year olds), Northville's Dave Pink Builders-sponsored entry remained undefeated in league play by playing to a 3-3 tie with Taylor. Three times Taylor took a one-goal lead, but the Mites answered each goal with one of their own. Ron Housman scored once for Northville, while high-scoring Bob Pegrum netted two Northville goals.

In Bantam division (13-14 year olds) play, Northville's entry, sponsored by the Northville Botanical Products, suffered its first loss to the Twin City T-Birds after having won three previous encounters.

Dan DiComo and Steve Kerr tallied the Northville goals in a 3-2 loss which still left the Bantams just three points out of the lead in the Western Suburban League.

In House League play, Northville teams tied one and lost another.

Audio Alert, the Northville entry in a Plymouth House League, evened its league record at 2-2-2 by playing to a - 2-2 tie with Plymouth. Jeff Wilson tallied both Northville goals.

Northville's House League team in the Squirt division would gladly have settled for two goals as it suffered a 2-0 loss at the hands of the Plymouth Blackhawks. The Northville team is sponsored by Novi Rexall Drugs.

skated the length of the ice, and flipped the puck past the Westland goalie.

The Mustangs had taken a 2-0 lead in the first period when Jim Mascotti and Dick Wahl tallied goals. Bennett's goals stretched their lead to 4-0.

Westland scored late in the final period to avoid a shutout.

Wildcats Rip Hartland, Lincoln

Grapplers Rout 2 Foes

Lop-sided. That's about the only word which describes the two dual meet victories chalked up by Coach Russ Gardner's Novi wrestling team last week.

After romping to a 51-15 decision over Hartland on Monday, the Novi grapplers came back three days later to post their first SEC win of the season by walloping Ypsilanti Lincoln 48-9.

So impressive were the Wildcats in those two dual meet wins that not even a rather undistinguished showing at the prestigious Schoolcraft Invitational on Saturday was enough to dim Gardner's enthusiasm.

"In the first round we looked pretty tough; in the second round we looked pretty good; but in the third round we started meeting some pretty good wrestlers," stated Gardner in a capsule review of his team's success at Schoolcraft.

"There are an awful lot of good Class A schools that go to that tournament," he continued. "We don't go to a tournament like that thinking we're going to win. I take my kids over for the experience. I like them to see just how far they have to go to be able to compete against the really good kids from the big schools."

"I was talking with the coach from the school which won the tournament (Wayne Memorial) and he told me that they have a wrestling room, a weight room, and a sauna bath," Gardner reported.

"He couldn't believe that we have to work out on a stage between the gym and the lunch room."

Judging from the Wildcats' performance against Hartland and Lincoln, however, you'd have thought that they had the most sophisticated equipment available.

In topping the Hartland

Eagles 51-15, Gardner's grapplers won nine of 12 weight divisions and registered pins in eight of those 10 wins.

"We could have beat them worse than we did, but I held Don Jackson out of the 155-pound match. If Jackson would have wrestled we would have won 57-9," reported Gardner with a chuckle.

Sophomore Mark McKenny started the rout by pinning his 100 pound opponent at 1:01 of the first period. Then, after Scott Spielman had posted a 6-2 decision at 107, Bill Livingston (114), Bob Sasena (121), Kevin Sheppard (128), Al Jones (134), Joe Riley (140), and Doug Maier (147) all posted pins over their opponents before the Eagles finally gained their first win of the night in the 157-pound match.

Even more impressive, four of those five consecutive pins were registered in the opening period.

Hartland also won the 169 and 187 pound matches before Gil Spiers scored Novi's eighth pin of the meet in the first period of the heavy-weight battle.

The Wildcats did slightly better in their meet with Ypsilanti Lincoln, winning 10 of the 12 matches to run up a 48-9 triumph.

This time six of the 10 Novi victories came via pins and four of the six pins came in the first period.

Mark McKenny (100-pounds), Bill Livingston (114-pounds), Kevin Sheppard (128-pounds), Don Jackson (157-pounds), Mike Mulligan (167-pounds), and Gil Spiers (heavyweight) were the Wildcats who pinned their Lincoln opponents.

Scott Spielman (107) gained a 9-1 decision, Bob Sasena (121) scored two reversals in the third period to top his opponent 8-7, Joe Riley (140) topped his foe 9-6, and Doug Maier (147) gained a 13-10 victory in his weight class.

"We're not fooled into thinking that we're a wrestling powerhouse just because we won those meets by large scores," Gardner noted. "We know that neither one of those teams is very good. Hartland is in just the second year of its program and Ypsilanti just isn't very good even though they've had a wrestling program longer than we have at Novi."

"The thing that pleases me," Gardner continued, "is that we now have a 3-4 record with only two seniors on the team. We've got a lot of young kids who've been working hard and it's beginning to show up."

"In two years," he stated, "we're going to have a tough team" gymnastics - a fact which Woodruff, who holds a doctorate from the University of Utah, attributes to the school's progressive thinking.

"We're the only junior college in Michigan which has a gymnastics team and Cuyahoga Metro (Cleveland) is the only two-year school in Ohio which has a gymnastics team," reported Woodruff.

"There is a need for gymnastics on the junior college level and that's why we decided to offer it here. Schoolcraft is probably one of the most progressive junior colleges in the state," he added.

Woodruff has coached the Schoolcraft gymnastics team since its inception two years ago. That first year, the Ocelots were 3-0 in dual meet competition, but last year their record slumped to 0-4.

Heading up the 1974 Ocelot gymnasts will be Ken Avis, a second-year man who graduated from Livonia Stevenson. Avis is known as an "all-around" performer because he competes in all six events which comprise men's gymnastics (parallel bars, high bar, still rings, side horse, floor exercise, and long horse vaulting).

Joining him on this year's Schoolcraft team will be two other all-around men - Eric Schultz of Plymouth High School and John Timm of Redford High School.

Bob Durham (Farmington High School) on the side horse and Doug Foster (Livonia Stevenson) on the still rings and parallel bars are also expected to boost Schoolcraft's scoring in those particular events

Schoolcraft Gymnasts

Coach Eyes Improvement

With the opening meet less than a week away, Schoolcraft College gymnastics coach Cec Woodruff is looking for his Ocelots to improve on last year's 0-4 dual meet record.

"We only have one returning letterman, but he was our best all-around man last year and we also have four or five newcomers who are going to help us a great deal," commented the soft-spoken

Schoolcraft coach in assaying prospects for the upcoming season.

Schoolcraft is one of a relatively small number of junior colleges in the country which fields a team in

Schoolcraft Wrestlers Boost National Rating

Coach Larry Meyer is expecting to see his Schoolcraft College wrestling team move up a few notches the next time the national ratings of junior college teams are released.

Rated tenth in the nation according to the most recent poll, the Ocelot grapplers enhanced their status by eking out a tight 20-18 victory over eighth-rated Cuyahoga West (Ohio) last week.

The victory came in a triple-dual meet held in Cleveland. The talented Schoolcraft grapplers had little trouble with either of the other two teams competing in the meet as they dispensed of Cuyahoga Metro 34-10 and then wasted Delta College (Michigan) 60-0.

There was no doubt, however, that the biggest win was the 20-18 triumph over Cuyahoga West.

"That was the first time we've ever beaten them in dual meet competition," stated a satisfied Coach Meyer. "It was really a big win for us and it should move us up a couple of spots in the national ratings."

The Ocelots carried a slim two-point 18-16 lead into the final heavyweight match and were able to maintain their margin as Fred Stanton battled to a 1-1 draw with the undefeated heavyweight from Cuyahoga West.

John Osentoski, a Farmington High School product, registered the lone Schoolcraft pin in the encounter when he floored his opponent in the 118-pound match.

Scoring decisions for Schoolcraft were Johnnie Jones at 126, Howard Strick at 134, Mark Kast at 167, and Ray Givens at 177.

Saline Still on Top In SEC Cage Race

Saline and Milan continued to sail easily through Southeastern Conference competition last week, biding time until their next showdown clash.

Saline currently holds a one-game lead over the Big Red by virtue of having come out on top in their first confrontation.

A vastly-improved Brighton team managed to stay with the Hornets for a half before finally relinquishing a 78-66 decision. Score at the half was deadlocked at 32-32, but Saline got rollin' in the third quarter, opened up an eight point lead, and finally won by 12, 78-66.

Dan Scotten led Saline with a career-high 29 points, while Tim Slepisky helped considerably by adding 20 points to the Hornet total. Jim Johnson's 24 points paced the Bulldogs.

"Defense" is becoming a key word in Milan's plan to gain at least a share of the SEC championship. The hustling Big Red cagers limited Chelsea to just one field goal in the second quarter en route to a 67-44 triumph. Stan "The Man" Joplin led Milan with a 28-point performance, while Jay Cummings added 15. Dave Alber topped Chelsea with 14.

After losing two of its first three SEC games (to Saline and Milan), South Lyon has pulled back into contention with a 4-2 mark. The Lions substituted profusely Friday in coasting to an 80-63 verdict over Dexter.

Leading 13-10 at the end of the first quarter, the Lions outscored the Dreadnaughts 26-13 in the second quarter to take a 39-23 margin into the locker room at half time.

Ed Segars and Tony Kern tallied 20 and 18 points respectively for the Lions in spite of seeing only limited action in the second half. Gary Winchester had 23 for Dexter.

Mustang of the Week

Mustang of the Week honors go to Tom Cook. A senior co-captain of the Northville swim team, Cook broke Northville's team and pool diving record in the first meet of the season and has since proceeded to break each mark three times. What's more, the outstanding senior diver holds the pool record at Schoolcraft College. "When a high school diver holds the pool record in a college pool, you know he's got to be really something," commented Coach Ben Lauber.

MUSTANG HEAVYWEIGHT — Jim Porterfield, Northville's fine heavyweight grappler, here has the upper hand on West Bloomfield's Tom Keckonen in action at the Schoolcraft Invitational Saturday. After wrestling to a scoreless tie in regulation time, Keckonen defeated the Northville heavyweight by gaining a two-point reversal in overtime.

Northville Wrestling

Success Eludes Matmen

Ed McCloud's Northville wrestling team took to the mats twice last week, but met with only limited success on each occasion.

After dropping a 42-24 decision to Farmington Harrison on Thursday, the Mustang grapplers trekked to Schoolcraft College Friday and Saturday for the Schoolcraft Invitational and were slightly less successful than they had been at Harrison.

Only three Northville wrestlers managed to get through their opening match, and only one Mustang—heavyweight Jim Porterfield—qualified for the second day of competition on Saturday.

"That's probably as good a tournament as there is in the state," commented McCloud, now in his third year as coach of the Northville grapplers. "A lot of the kids in that tournament will also be in the state tournament."

"Still," he commented, "it would have been nice to do a little better than we did."

Tim Johnson, a 155-pounder, and Larry Pink, a 167-pounder, were the two Mustangs joining Porterfield in winning their opening round matches. Before Friday was over, however, both of them had been eliminated, leaving Porterfield as the lone Mustang entering the second day of competition.

The husky heavyweight was eliminated in his first match Saturday, dropping a 2-0 overtime decision to West-

Bloomfield's Tom Keckonen. The Mustangs won just four of the 12 weight divisions in dropping the 42-24 decision to Harrison, as they opened their Western Six Conference schedule.

Fortunately, each of the Northville wins came via a fall. Jack Barger pinned his 121 pound opponent in 51 seconds and Steve Havala, a sophomore, flattened his foe early in the second period. Jim Sackallah at 147 and Porterfield in the heavyweight division rounded out the Northville victories by registering pins in their respective weight classes.

"I had hoped to get some victories in the lower weight classes," commented McCloud. "I knew Harrison was tough in the heavier divisions and to win the meet we would have to get some points early in the lighter weight classes.

"But we got pinned in each of the first three matches and those 18 points were the difference in the meet. I'm not criticizing our kids; it's hard to win when you're only a freshman and have to wrestle juniors and seniors," he continued.

Ironically, Porterfield won his heavyweight match by pinning Harrison's Scott Labo in the second period. Two days later—in the Schoolcraft Tourney—Labo finished in second place.

"That," stated McCloud, "is what is known as the luck of the draw."

Two Northville Girls Make All-Conference

Two Northville High School girls have been selected to the 1974 All-Western Six Conference basketball team.

Muriel Bedford, a senior guard, was tapped for first team honors, while senior center Rene Wheaton was named to the second team.

The All-Conference team was selected by conference coaches a week ago Wednesday.

After gaining sole possession of the Western Six Conference Girls Basketball crown in 1972, the Mustang girl cagers had to settle for a three-way tie for the title this past season. Sharing the 1973 crown with Northville were Livonia Churchill and Walled Lake Western.

Each team was 5-1 in league competition.

Three Churchill athletes were named to the first team along with Miss Bedford. They were Laurie McAllister, Mary Sue Leslie, and Kim Harmon. Rounding out the first team was Beth Burke of Walled Lake Western.

Joining Miss Wheaton on the second team were Debbie Liberty of Western and Jan Lawrence, Shelly Porter, and Cathy Carlson of Waterford Mott.

Coach of the Northville team was Mary Minor.

Win Easily over Churchill

Swimmers Destroy Coach's Prediction

Based on last week's performance, Ben Lauber's report card would look something like this:

Prognostication - D

Coaching - A

For while absolutely nobody would question Lauber's abilities as a coach, there is good reason to suspect that his skills as a future teller are something short of prophetic.

Prior to last week's meet with Livonia Churchill, for example, the easy-going coach of the talented Northville swim team had predicted one of those nip-and-tuck meets that goes right down to the final relay.

But when the last of the Northville and Churchill swimmers had finally climbed out of the pool last Thursday, Lauber's prediction had turned out to be all wet as the Mustangs had powered their way to a surprisingly easy 57-26 triumph.

"I was absolutely sincere when I said that I thought it was going to be a very close meet," commented Lauber in his office while the fans filed out of the natatorium.

"Frankly, I'm very surprised that we were able to win by as much as we did. With kids like Ken Dove and Dale Bryan, Churchill certainly has the talent to give us a run for the money."

"Going into that meet they had better times than we did in the medley relay and the freestyle relay. And they also had better times than anything we've done this year in the 100 freestyle, 200 individual medley, and 100 breaststroke," Lauber continued.

Regardless of Churchill's past performances, however, the Mustangs made an absolute shambles of the meet by winning both relays and seven of the nine individual events.

Only Ken Dove, Churchill's outstanding senior swimmer, was able to take a victory against Northville, as he won both the 200 individual medley and the 100 yard backstroke.

"Churchill has never beaten us in swimming and that may be one of the explanations for how we were able to beat them as easily as we did," stated Lauber. "It seems that one of two things can happen in cases like that: either they'll be fired up for revenge or they'll be psyched out and figure they'll never be able to beat you."

"The only possible explanation I can think of for our large point spread was that maybe Churchill was psyched out a little bit."

Not only did the Mustangs win nine of 11 events, they took first and second place in four of them.

Top performance for the Mustangs was turned in by Tom Cook who broke his own pool record in diving by piling up a total of 262.50 points.

Also turning in top performances in the meet were Don Cook and Kevin Kelly—two more outstanding senior members of the Northville team. Don Cook stroked his way to decisive victories in both the 200 yard freestyle and the 500 yard freestyle.

Kelly also posted a pair of victories as he led the Mustangs to 1-2 finishes in both the 50 yard freestyle and the 100 yard butterfly.

Art Greenlee, Northville's state champion breaststroker, won his specialty, while Ed Erdos, one of the promising sophomore swimmers on the Northville team, took first place in the 100 yard freestyle.

Rounding out the list of Northville firsts were the relay teams.

Mark Haynie, Biff Ballash, Jeff Guider, and Mike Chaffin pooled efforts to win the 200 yard medley relay and Mark McDaniel, Mike Swayze, Mark Lelek, and Guider formed the victorious 400 yard freestyle relay team.

Northville's 1-2 finishes came in the 50 freestyle, diving, 100 butterfly, and 500 freestyle. Kelly and Erdos took first and second in the 50 freestyle, Tom Cook and Scott Knapp took one-two in the diving, Pete Talbot followed Kelly across the finish line in the 100 breaststroke, and Dean Alli finished second to Don Cook in the 500 yard freestyle.

The victory advanced the Mustangs' record to 6-1.

7th Grade Rips Plymouth

Northville's 7th Grade basketball team opened its 1974 season by romping to a 39-21 triumph over Plymouth Pioneer last week.

The Northville seventh graders built up an 18-4 lead in the first half and then coasted to the victory.

PGA Professional

Your stance should be about as far as the width of your shoulders. The left shoulder and left hip has to be square to target. The weight must be equally divided between the feet. (Don't favor one side or the other.) Knees are slightly flexed keeping the weight toward the back heels. The body should be bent slightly at waist, head looking behind the ball, right shoulder lower than left, and left toes pointed toward target.

Always keep the left hand at the middle of left leg, this will help you be in correct position with woods and irons. Position of clubs: driver and fairway woods toward the left heel, 2, 3, 4, irons about three inches from left heel, and 5 thru wedge in middle of stance.

Mothers Aim for $2,000 Goal

Organizers of Novi's 1974 Mothers' March will attempt to raise $2,000 for the March of Dimes.

The drive is slated to begin Thursday, January 31, and continue through Wednesday, February 6.

Chairman of the 1974 Mothers' March in Novi is Mrs. Winifred Dobek. Mrs. Dobek was co-chairman last year when Mrs. Pat Karevich headed up the drive. This year Mrs. Karevich will serve as Mrs. Dobek's co-chairman. The 1973 Mothers' March was the first in Novi in five years. The drive fell approximately $1,000 short of the goal established by March of Dimes organizers.

This year Mrs. Dobek has raised the goal to $2,000, but notes that the help of the community is needed if that goal is to be achieved.

"We urgently need workers to assist our area captains," stated Mrs. Dobek. "Anyone who could spare a couple of hours to help us canvass the city will be deeply appreciated."

Volunteers should contact either Mrs. Dobek at 349-1904 or Mrs. Karevich at 349-3595. Mrs. Dobek stated that the help of high school students would also be deeply appreciated. "The students played a major role in our canvassing last year," she noted.

This year's area captains are as follows:

Pam Brady (Highland Hills); Kathy Mutch (Meadowbrook Glens); Jean DeWaard (Meadowbrook Lake); Isabel Collins (Olde Orchard); Irma Bruning (Village Oaks); and Sue Burkowski (Pioneer Meadows).

Other area captains are Judy Mahle (Orchard Hills), Joann Griffiths (Apple Gate), Nancy McKague (Echo Valley), Mrs. Arthur Evans (Brookland Farms), Mrs. Philip Goodman (Lakewood and The Colony), Rose Fritz (Willowbrook Number One), Lynne Budden, Junior (Willowbrook Number Two), and Pam Wright (Willowbrook Number Three).

Northern Novi (north of 12 Mile Road) will be canvassed by officers and members of the Northern Novi Civic Association. Canvassers include Betty Garcia, Nina Clot, Theima Smith, Carol Smith, Diana Stopinski, and Martha Hoyer.

(b) The driver of a vehicle is presumed to be responsible for litter, which is thrown, dropped, dumped, deposited, placed, or left from the vehicle on public, or private property.

That Section 7-159 of said Article V be repealed and that the following be substituted therefor:

The Court, in lieu of any other sentence imposed, may direct a substitution of litter gathering labor, including, but not limited to, the litter involved with the particular violation, under the supervision of the Court. Effective Date: The effective date of enactment of Sections 7-159 and 7-161 shall be ten (10) days after enactment and following publication thereof. Novi Resolution Honors Two

Two long-time Novi residents who passed away recently were honored in resolutions adopted by the Novi City Council at its January 7 session.

Honored were Henry Bashian and Harold Ackley.

Mr. Bashian, who passed away December 22, was acknowledged for "significant service to his fellow man" during his long Novi residency and for serving on Novi's Planning Board and Board of Review. The resolution made special note of the fact that Mr. Bashian's contribution to the development and growth of Novi have already been acknowledged by the designation of a street known as Bashian Drive.

Novi's first city manager, Harold Ackley, died January 2 in Walled Lake.

In expressing sympathy at his passing, the resolution passed by the council stated that he had devoted "a major portion of his life to public service, having faithfully served the Township, Village, and City of Novi in many capacities."

The resolution further stated that Mr. Ackley's service to the Novi Community had come "at the critical early years of growth, and was instrumental in guiding the initial development of the City."

Mr. Ackley was serving as City Manager of Walled Lake at the time of his death.

Inscribed copies of the resolutions will be presented to the Bashian and Ackley families.

'Lost' Quarter-of-a-Century

Student Discovers Old Wire Recorder

An old wire recorder, "lost" for a quarter-century and found recently by a high school student, has stirred some pleasant memories for retired band-choir director and Mrs. Leslie Lee.

Repaired by its young discoverer, Roy Williams, Jr. of 19233 Clement, the old-fashioned recorder last week spun out the voices of the 1947 high school choir for the surprised and delighted Lees.

One of the first recorders ever marketed, Lee had used it in the 1940's to record the progress of his students. It was an educational tool that then was quite revolutionary.

Then one day the recorder turned up missing.

The high school was switched from what now is the middle school annex building to the "new place up on gravel pit hill" and, apparently, in the shuffle the recorder was dumped in the corner of the new library and soon hidden from sight.

Sifting through materials in the corner two weeks ago, curious Roy and a friend, Mark Suddendorf, found the strange-looking box and, even though they had never before seen one, correctly guessed it was a wire recorder.

"It was in terrible condition...covered with dirt," says the 17-year-old junior, who asked and received permission to take it home to clean it up.

With his father's help, Roy cleaned and repaired the machine and then tried to play the single tangled wire spool in the case. "We put it on and it worked," he says.

The dates 1947-48 appeared on the spool, so Roy checked old year books to discover who was the music director then. "Then I took it over to Mr. and Mrs. Lee's house and played it for them."

"It was so nice to hear the students singing again," recalls Mrs. Lee, who says one of the songs was a religious number, entitled "All in The April Evening."

The song was one of those usually sung by students at "Easter chapel," a religious assembly that was abandoned because of pressures against religious activities in public schools.

Although they enjoyed hearing the high school choir again, the Lees no longer had any use for the recorder so they presented it to Roy.

Now the high schooler's out trying to scour up some old recording wire in hopes he can make some recordings himself.

"The wire's no longer produced and it's pretty rare," says Roy, who may have to settle with repeated playing of "All in The April Evening."

Wixom Newsbeat

Time Changes Made

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Mid-winter daylight savings time created a few extra problems in Wixom last week. Starting times at the junior high and elementary levels were officially changed with the children now tromping off to school one-half hour later than usual. "Refrigerator raiding" at the end of the day also occurs one-half hour later which presents problems with dinner hour.

And working parents whose early morning routines have been running along smoothly now find themselves faced with problems of "what to do" with that extra time.

Wixom's Library has made a few adjustments with its hours to coincide with the change in school hours. After-school library hours have been suspended for the "duration" and replaced with Saturday morning hours. This "switch" goes into effect immediately with the library open this Saturday (January 19) from 10 a.m. until noon.

It is hoped that the new hours will afford more children the opportunity to use the growing number of volumes that are now available. Monday and Thursday morning hours will remain for the pre-school youngsters, along with story hour.

The Library Board is also planning on instituting programs of interest for the younger citizens of Wixom during its Saturday hours to make trips to the library even more enjoyable.

At a meeting last Thursday, Wixom's newly-formed

Jaycee chapter elected officers for the coming year. Assuming the president's position is Dave Ladd, manager of the Community Bank in Wixom. Bill Travis was elected to the post of internal vice-president and will also have the duties of editing the organization's newsletter. Bill Wade was elected external vice-president. Tom Guntzville was elected secretary, while Lynn Coleman takes on the treasurer's position. External program director responsibilities went to Russ Wahamaki with Dick Swan handling internal programs. Frank Sirceley is in charge of publicity.

Next general membership meeting of the Jaycees will be held January 31 at the V.F.W. Hall on Loon Lake Road at 8 p.m. All young men 18-35 in the community are invited to attend, to meet others in their same age bracket and learn more about the Jaycees and their aims in our community.

Plans have been finalized for the Friends of the Library's Crafts demonstration night. Talented people from Wixom and the surrounding area have been invited to demonstrate their arts and crafts on January 30 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Some of the local people demonstrating will be Lillian Meigs from Highgate with "quilling"... a revived seventeenth century paper art form; Eleanor Shieko from Northridge with pottery; and Bill Thompson from Leisure Co-ops who has talent in every field imaginable. He is editor of an arts and crafts magazine and will demonstrate china painting during the evening.

There will be many more as well. It may even stir your creative instinct and urge you to embark on a new hobby. Plan on a trip to City Hall on the 30th to see what your neighbors are doing with their time.

Spare time for the Bissell's of Northridge and the Wiley's of Highgate means sorting, deciding, and planning. For the two families these activities will lead to a grand move to Paris, France sometime in March. Both men work for Federal-Mogul's International Division whose headquarters are in Paris. The length of their stay in Europe is indefinite, but will most certainly be for more than a year.

According to Marybeth Bissell, the move will really be an exciting one from all aspects. The Bissell children will attend French schools rather than English, and there should be some great stories just from that.

They will also be involved in something very new to the European countries, although taken very matter-of-factly here in the States...the subdivision. Developed by a French contractor with American concepts, the new development is rather similar to our Highgate area. Houses are situated on smaller plots of ground but have open play areas complete with clubhouse and pool. Close by and being developed is a shopping center, another unheard entity in Europe, and a brand new school.

Since land has such a high value in France most people are apartment dwellers. And if a home is built it is with four walls and a roof. The purchaser then has to worry about cabinets and all the other things that we take for granted when a home is built here in the States.

Refrigerators, ranges and the like, especially a dishwasher, are unheard of quantities. Fortunately for the Bissell's, the French developer is including all these things that we take so much for granted. The time of the great move will be determined by the completion date of the house.

In the meantime, Marybeth has to decide what to take and what to leave behind before she greets a brand new life which most certainly will be filled with much activity.

Carolyn Wiley is faced with much the same situation as she too plans to move to the same area. She has added courses in French conversation and basic French to be prepared for the move.

Four families from the area will also be making the trip to Paris and living in the same vicinity which will make the move somewhat easier since they are all acquainted. One of the families was transferred here from Paris originally which will make the adjustments for the other three a little less hectic. It always helps to have a guide along the way.

Anticipation is high as preparations are being made. But Wixom stands to lose two fine families. Marybeth and Phil have been two of the prime leaders in Northridge as well as the whole community. Both will be missed.

Mettala. Along with Mayor Willis, they were sworn into office in special ceremonies at the Wixom City Hall Monday. Willis and Mrs. Spencer were elected to two-year terms, while Lahde, Morehead, and Mettala were elected to four-year terms.

Pre-School Hour A Transition

School can be a scary place when you're five years old and going to kindergarten for the first time. The building seems big and strange and so do the grown-ups who work there.

It doesn't have to be that way, and it isn't for youngsters who have taken part in the pre-school story hours offered for them the spring before they start school. Between 70 and 95 percent of kindergarten students, depending on the school, have participated in story hours.

The story hours serve as a transition between staying home all the time and going to school. They give the child a chance to visit the school building for a short period of time, usually accompanied by his mother. He can locate important areas like the cafeteria and the rest rooms and usually gets to meet the principal. It also gives the only child a chance to learn how to act with a group of people.

Both children and parents find the story hours very worthwhile. The youngsters all agree that they like books and reading and one child with wide eyes commented, "I like story time because there are so many exciting things to do."

These other exciting things include finger games and plays, as well as various art projects. Using simple materials like scissors and paste acquaints the children with skills they sometimes don't learn in the home.

The program is designed and run by parents. "Even more than other programs, the story hours provide a good example of meaningful community involvement in school affairs," said Hugh P. Davies, Director of Elementary Education.

In addition, the story hour provides an excellent opportunity for the parent to become familiar with the school. In some schools, depending on the facilities available, a separate program is provided for the parent by school personnel like the speech correctionist or the school social worker. Story hour programs throughout the district will be beginning in January and February. Although the programs at all the schools are held for approximately an hour at least once a week for eight to ten weeks, each school operates its program individually. If you have a youngster who will be entering kindergarten in the fall, call your local elementary building to find out the days and times that its story hour is offered.

Oakland Re-elects F.W. Staman

William M. Richards has been elected by his colleagues on the Board of County Road Commissioners to his second consecutive year as chairman of the road policy group.

Richards, of Royal Oak, was named chairman of the road commissioners a year ago upon his appointment to a six-year term on the road agency. He has previously served nearly a year as interim Oakland County drain commissioner and as member and chairman of the board of county commissioners.

Frazer W. Staman of Wixom, former Novi Township supervisor, was re-elected vice chairman of the road commissioners, and Fred L. Harris, of West Bloomfield, continues as third member of the board.

The road commissioners also re-appointed R. G. Worland as secretary-clerk and Paul Van Roekel as county highway engineer.

She also is president of her class at the college, which is located in Centerville, Michigan. She was named to the president's list for her "dedication and high motivation." She has a "better than A average."

Miss Wilson will receive her cap in special capping ceremonies at 3 p.m. this Sunday at the college. Her parents and sisters, Elaine and Debbie, will attend with other relatives from Howell.

Police Blotter: Two School Children Hurt

In Township...

Two children on their way to Tanger Elementary School were struck by a car while crossing Five Mile Road about 8:30 a.m. Friday.

Hospitalized with a fractured leg and head cuts is Kelly Goeman, five years old. Seven-year-old Nancy Nalepka remains hospitalized with hip injuries and possible internal injuries.

No charges have been brought against the driver of the car, Steven B. Hall, 20, of Livonia, and township police said the accident is still under investigation.

According to police, the two children were crossing under the direction of a crossing guard from the south side of Five Mile to the north side.

Police Chief Ronald Nisun said the crossing guard was equipped with a sign and flashlight and wearing an orange vest but that neither the sign nor vest are reflected. The school crossing is in the middle of the block and not at an intersection, he explained.

Hall said he was westbound on Five Mile from Haggerty Road traveling about 20 mph and said the crossing guard did not give him sufficient time to stop before having the children cross the road.

He said the children were running across the road as he was sliding, trying to stop, according to police reports.

Mrs. N. Jean Bonasse, crossing guard, told police she was in the center of the road facing westbound and had already stopped eastbound traffic. She told officers she saw Hall's vehicle and felt he was going to stop. She said she had her back to Hall's vehicle when he struck the children.

The Nalepka girl landed on her back after being struck and the Goeman boy landed on his stomach.

Township police said 32 feet of skid marks were found at the scene.

Investigating officers reported there was not sufficient light at the crossing for children to cross safely and that the crossing guard cannot be seen by oncoming traffic in time to stop, Nisun explained.

He said he believes a traffic signal should be installed at the intersection of Five Mile and Haggerty Road and that the children should cross at the intersection with the aid of a crossing guard or police officer.

Cash amounting to $245 was reported stolen from three apartments in Northville Forest. The thefts took place between Friday and Saturday, according to township police reports.

Police said nothing was reported taken from any of the apartments except the cash.

Two youths caught siphoning gasoline from an abandoned car in a Highland Lakes parking lot were released to their parents.

Police said they discovered the incident about 10:45 p.m. Friday. A check of the vehicle from which the gas was reportedly siphoned showed it was abandoned, police said.

An Oak Park man working on pipes at InnsBrook Apartments Thursday sustained minor burns on his hands after insulation caught fire.

The workman told township officers a torch he was working with set fire to the insulation and he was burned while pulling the insulation from the wall.

Minor damage was done to the apartment building wall.

In Northville...

An eight-year-old Northville girl escaped injury Monday afternoon when she and two companions ran across Novi Road at Allen Drive.

Dawn Tipper of 43000 Eight Mile Road was taken to St. Mary Hospital but sustained no injuries, police said.

She and two friends ran between cars stopped on Novi Road shortly after 5:30 p.m. and into the path of a car driven by John C. Kreucher of Livonia, witnesses told police. She hit Kreucher's car which had slowed when he spotted the children.

Kreucher was southbound on Novi Road when the accident took place. No skid marks were found at the scene, police said.

Two persons were hospitalized with injuries following a two-car accident on Base Line at Center Sunday night.

Taken to St. Mary hospital and treated for cuts and bruises were Tim Ford and David Ford of 41801 Aspen in Novi.

They were passengers in a car driven by Gary R. Ford of the same address.

Ford told police he stopped for the sign on westbound Base Line at Center, looked for cars and then pulled out. Traveling southbound on Center was Dan A. Darnell of 507 Reed Darnell was not injured in the accident which took place shortly before 11 p.m.

City police recovered an escaped patient from Northville State Hospital about 1:40 p.m. Monday.

Officers were called to Kroger Supermarket on the complaint of a shoplifter. Police said they recognized the shoplifter as an escapee from the hospital. He was turned over to hospital authorities.

Northville High School's basketball game with Livonia Churchill erupted into several fist fights in the parking lot Friday night.

Police said they broke up several fights about 9:30 p.m. but that no arrests were made.

Putting the car in reverse rather than forward resulted in damage to an overhead garage door at Northville Shell at 575 Seven Mile Road last week Tuesday afternoon.

A customer getting his car service backed into the door by mistake, police said, causing damage to the door and breaking out six window panes.

In Novi...

Novi police Friday arrested and arraigned four individuals in conjunction with the breaking and entering of a Novi grocery store during the night of January 9-10.

Arraigned before 52nd District Court Judge Martin Boyle in Walled Lake were Ted D. Schroeder, 17, of Greensboro, North Carolina, and Jeffrey D. Rivenbark, 17, of Fayetteville, North Carolina.

Police reported that two others allegedly involved in the theft were juveniles. Disposition on the two juveniles, stated Novi Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner, is pending completion of the investigation.

Schroeder and Rivenbark were lodged in the Oakland County Jail in lieu of $3,000 cash bonds set by Judge Boyle. Examination has been slated for January 18.

The four are charged with the breaking and entering of the Lakeview Market at 2206 Novi Road on January 10. After breaking into the building, the responsible parties stole an AM-FM table radio valued at $50 and a quantity of beer, wine, cigarettes, and cigars, as well as $50 in change.

Faulkner reported that with the exception of the beer and wine, all stolen property had been recovered.

Police have determined that there is no connection between the arrest of a 19-year old Farmington man on January 11 for bomb threats and a fire which did an estimated $50,000 worth of damage to the Kargo Manufacturing Company on Seeley Road, Saturday, January 12.

William Chorkey, 19, of Farmington was arraigned before 52nd District Court Judge Martin Boyle on Friday, January 11, for allegedly making several bomb threats to the Kargo Manufacturing Company. Chorkey pled not guilty at the time of his arraignment, police reported. Trial is slated for March 4.

The following day, Saturday, January 12, a fire did an estimated $60,000 worth of damage to the Kargo truck assembly division. Sixty people are employed in the building, police noted.

Detective Lieutenant Faulkner reported that Novi police with the assistance of the Michigan State Police Arson Bureau, conducted an immediate investigation of the fire and determined that the blaze was of an accidental nature.

Although the exact cause has not yet been pinpointed, stated Faulkner, it appears that the cause can be traced to a malfunction of the furnace.

A 17-year old Detroit man was arrested for auto theft by Novi police last week after he failed to dim his lights while passing a patrol car.

David Andrew Lesondak, 17, of Detroit was arraigned in 52nd District Court on charges of possession of a stolen automobile on Monday, January 6. He was also charged with leaving the scene of an accident and having no valid operator's license on his person.

The incident which led to his arrest occurred Sunday, January 6, at approximately 1:15 a.m.

While traveling northbound on Novi Road near the I-96 expressway, police were passed by a southbound vehicle which failed to dim its lights. After turning around to pursue the vehicle, police saw the car, a 1964 Ford Galaxie, strike another vehicle near the Novi Road-I-96 intersection and then take off down the westbound ramp.

Police pursued the vehicle and finally made a stop across from the Novi rest area. Lesondak, the driver of the car, was asked to produce an operator's license. When he failed to do so, he was arrested for having no operator's license and for leaving the scene of an accident.

A subsequent check revealed that the 1964 Ford had been stolen out of Detroit on January 5, police stated, and the possession of a stolen auto charge was added.

Thieves removed an estimated $820 worth of property from a residence at 28375 Summit Drive last week.

Stolen were a portable color television set, a black and white portable television, a waffle iron, a silverware set, and various stereo equipment, including speakers, an amplifier, and a turntable.

According to reports, the thieves apparently gained entry to the building by breaking out the glass in a basement door.

Sixty-three sheets of 4x8 foot plywood were stolen from a construction site at the Stonehenge condominiums near Haggerty and 10 Mile Roads.

Valued at $1120 per sheet, the stolen property had a total value of $705.

Novi police issued a citation to the C&O railroad after a southbound train blocked the Novi Road and Ten Mile Road crossings for approximately 45 minutes last week.

The holdup occurred between 11:15 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. on Thursday, January 10.

According to the Michigan Motor Vehicle Code, a train may not block a crossing for more than five minutes.

Police reported that the delay Thursday was created by a broken air line. Traffic was backed up all the way to the I-96 expressway to the north and to Nine Mile Road to the south.

"This is getting to be an everyday occurrence at the railroad crossing," commented Patrolman William Brown who issued the citations. "They could have broken the train to allow traffic to pass through if they had problems, but they didn't do that and they didn't notify police of the situation."

"As long as they continue to disrupt traffic flow, we will continue to issue citations," Brown stated.

Brown further noted that the railroad was issued one citation for blocking each of the two crossings. The train finally cleared the Novi Road crossing at 12:10 p.m. and the Ten Mile crossing at 12:15, according to police reports.

In Wixom...

A 19-year old man was taken by ambulance to Botsford General Hospital last week with head injuries suffered when the truck he was driving collided with a train at the C&O railroad crossing.

Timothy Callan, 19, of 50450 Pontiac Trail suffered a deep gash in his head when his truck collided with an east-bound train at approximately 8:40 p.m. on Thursday, January 10.

Callan told police that the accident occurred when the brakes on the truck failed to work as he approached the crossing.

Railroad personnel were unaware that the train had been hit and proceeded through the crossing. Notified of the accident later by police, railroad spokesman said that the cars of the train involved in the accident had not been damaged.

Detroit Holdup

Shooting Victim Recovering

A local man, victim of a holdup attempt at a Detroit savings and loan where he works, has been moved from intensive care to a room where he may now receive visitors.

Robert Emery, 11 Arbor Way, Northville, was struck by bullets from two handguns January 8 during a daylight (11:30 a.m.) holdup attempt at Detroit and Northern's Savings and Loan office at Six Mile and Southfield where he is employed as a guard.

The two suspects escaped in a waiting older model car following the unsuccessful attempt.

They had entered the non-check cashing institution and had been turned away after attempting to cash a check. Turning away from the teller's cage, both suddenly drew guns and shouted "Freeze."

The teller and manager hit the floor immediately but Emery attempted to draw his gun and was struck in the abdomen and above the left wrist by bullets before he could succeed.

He was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital where it was learned that the abdominal bullet will be lodged in his spine for the rest of his life. The other bullet shattered the bone that it struck, but a cast is being used in hopes of promoting full healing there.

Seventeen pints of blood were required and Emery remained under intensive care until Saturday.

Some motion has been returned to his legs and there now appears to be hope that he will not be paralyzed by the abdominal injury.

"While I don't expect him home from the hospital before March, I think that, with physical therapy, my husband may regain full use of his legs," Mrs. Emery told this newspaper Monday.

Emery is in bed two, room 342 of Mt. Carmel Hospital, 6071 West Outer Drive, Detroit, MI 48235.

Visiting hours are from 2 to 3 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m. Mrs. Emery says she is sure he will appreciate cards and letters from his friends and "well spaced-out visits, preferably in the evening hour." She indicated she hopes to spend a good many daytime hours visiting her husband.

For Township Hall

Extend Lease

Extension of the present lease agreement between Northville Schools and Northville Township was unanimously approved on a month-to-month basis Monday night.

While the township's agreement expires in April, Supervisor Lawrence Wright has asked for the extension at the request of the township board.

School trustees agreed to the extension through the 1974 calendar year with the present $350 per month rent increasing after April because of rising costs being experienced by the district.

Business Director Earl Busard said the rent would be increased about 25 percent to cover added increases of supplies, janitorial services and utilities covered in the rent.

The two-year agreement signed in April, 1971, has not included any increases up to the present time.

Currently, the township is negotiating with the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to rent space at the Wayne County Child Development Center for use as office space and a fire station. However, no agreement has yet been made for the county facilities.

In other action Monday, school board trustees agreed to accept an alternate bid to provide air conditioning in the remodeled Moraine Elementary media center in an amount of $5,563.

The air conditioning is necessitated by high temperatures which will be generated in the stage area from lights and crowds.

Board members also directed the superintendent to contact the architect to reduce costs of the $93,000 remodeling project through redrawing of plans if necessary.

OK Bids For Buses

Buses have also been affected by the construction delay of the Northville School District's three new schools.

Monday night the board of education approved bids for seven new school buses.

Total price of the bids is $40,592.51 for the seven 66-passenger bus chassis from John Mach Ford, Incorporated, and $36,932 for seven bus bodies to be furnished by McFadden Corporation in agreement with the district's lease-purchase arrangement.

Business Director Earl Busard said that 20 buses will be needed during the 1974-75 school year to transport students to school.

"After the new schools open, we'll only need 15 buses on the road," he added, noting that three of the new buses are necessitated by the construction delays. Four other buses were due to be replaced this year according to the district's rotation schedule.

Early Mailing Sped Delivery

Postmaster John Steimel of Northville expressed appreciation for the way the public responded to pleas for early holiday mailing.

"The job of delivering the mail on time couldn't have been done without the cooperation of Postal Service employees and local media which gave so much time and space to the 'mail early' campaign," he added.

"We were able to meet Postmaster General Klassen's commitment that all Christmas mail would be delivered by Christmas Eve only because of the fine cooperation on the part of everyone in Northville," he said.

Steimel said public awareness of the need to mail early this year was nationwide. "This is shown by the fact that the largest one-day nationwide increase of 39 per cent occurred on December 8, the recommended deadline for first-class Christmas mail." He said the national daily volume this year peaked December 11, four days before the final deadline for airmail Christmas cards and eight days before the 1972 peak on December 19.

'Franklin' Water Possible in May

Residents on portions of Franklin Road and the north side of First Street may well have water lines by late May or early June if all goes according to plan.

Township engineer William Mosher told property owners at a public hearing last week that they "could have water by May."

Following the hearing held by township board members last Tuesday, trustees voted unanimously to accept the special assessment roll covering 13 lots on Franklin Road and First Street and to establish a special assessment district for the project.

Estimated cost of the installation of water lines is pegged at $18,300. Method of assessment will be split evenly between each benefitted property and 50 percent assessed on a "per front foot" basis.

Trustees said they felt the 50-50 type assessment was more equitable to all property owners.

Mosher told the board that while the township could sell bonds to cover the cost of the project, he felt the board should ask the township's water and sewer commission to finance the installation from funds on hand because of the small size of project.

He explained to property owners affected by the special assessment district who were present at the meeting that they could pay their total assessment at one time.

Mosher noted that six percent interest would be charged on the unpaid portion of the assessment.

PARSON to PERSON

Cedric Whitcomb, Pastor

Dr Karl Menninger world renowned psychiatrist, has just published a new book called, What Became of Sin?

For years many psychiatrists and other social scientists have dismissed sin as irrelevant. They've accused fundamentalists who preach sin of "producing guilt" in people and have counseled patients to cast off their guilt and "do their own thing."

Menninger believes mental health and moral health are identical and the only way our suffering and worried society can hope to prevent mental ills is by recognizing the reality of sin.

Whether we want to admit it or not, the Bible says we're born sinners (Psalm 51:5). It further says that "all of our unrighteousness is as filthy rags." "All have sinned" says Romans 3:23. All the sorrow and turmoil of our world is the result of sin.

When Christ died on the cross He died to put away sin. I deserved to die for my own sin, but God in His love sent His Son to die in my place. What love! His substitutionary death for me made it possible for me to receive Christ as my personal savior. When I did, He took all the sin and guilt of the past away. If you'll receive Him, He'll forgive you of your sin.

Proper mental health begins in the heart—a heart cleansed from all sin by the blood of Christ.

In pioneer days, good neighbors helped rebuild when a home was destroyed. Today, a State Farm Homeowners Policy with applies that same "good neighbor" principle to home insurance.

It can automatically increase your protection as the value of your home increases. So, if something happens, you'll be able to rebuild your home tomorrow the way it is today. Call or come in.
