

Historical Renovation Here Uncovers Another Secret

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Peeling off the interior walls of the former library building has revealed another surprise for members of the Northville Historical Society as they go about the tedious job of restoring the 129-year-old building.

The building is the focal point of the Mill Race Historical Village, which one day the Society hopes will be an assembly of perhaps eight historic Northville buildings located on the west side of North Griswold Street near Butler.

Today, the village contains only two buildings—the library building and a winged Greek-revival house that once stood at the Main Street entrance to South Griswold Street.

First of the two big surprises was the discovery of the "shadow" etched in wood, outlining what obviously once was the end of a church pew.

That the building was once a church came as no surprise, but that interior church print still existed "really excited everyone."

Adding interest to this find, was the discovery in the attic of parts of pews, one of which perfectly matched the etching on the wall.

The pew parts, according to Society President Jack Burkman, will be reconstructed and the "shadow" on the wall will be left exposed to remind visitors to the building, which is to serve as a museum and meeting house, that it originally was built on Wing Street as a church by a splinter group of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Latest discovery was the framework of two "windows" in the rear of the building.

The frames were discovered beneath the plaster lath and, interestingly, they are symmetrically arranged to match the two windows in the front of the building.

However, because the lime marks of the plaster appears unbroken across the rear window frames, most Society members have concluded the windows really were not installed.

"Furthermore, the rear wall or altar side of the church when it stood on Wing Street was on the east," explained Burkman. "That would mean that members of the church would have faced into the sun for Sunday morning services. We don't think that happened. Instead, we feel that after construction was started the builder was persuaded to change the window arrangement so that the windows there were never ever installed in the rear."

Citizens, Councilman Protest

Snowmobile Routes OK'd

Despite objection by one councilman and the existence of an opposing petition, the council by split vote (3-1) Monday approved several marshalling sites for snowmobiles.

Councilman Wallace Nichols cast the lone dissenting vote, contending the city was coming up on the "short end" of the agreement with the Snow Drifters snowmobile club.

Representatives of the Drifters, in seeking routes by which they could drive their machines from the city, had indicated the club would be willing to volunteer time and machines of members to assist police or the public works department in emergency situations (critical snowstorms).

Biggest booster of the club's request was Mayor A.M. Allen, who contended the request was a "very reasonable" one by an organized, law-abiding club. Councilman David Biery pointed out that the council could quickly scrap the routes if they were abused by club members, and Councilman Paul Folino emphasized that the routes are to be used only in exiting and entering the city—not as places within the city to regularly ride.

Specifically, the proposed sites and routes, which were approved subject to state and county road regulations and subject to approval by adjacent communities and the school system—are provided to give snowmobilers a place to park their cars and trailers and drive their machines from the city without transporting them first to adjacent communities before unloading them.

Two proposed sites were withdrawn by the club. These included one of the two fish hatchery routes and the route from the cider mill on Base Line.

Approved were:

1. Trail near the railroad track to Griswold, Griswold to Base Line, Base Line to Eight Mile and Eight Mile west, staying on the south side of Eight Mile on the horse trail.

2. Northville—Middle School, north on Taft to Nine Mile, west on Nine Mile.

3. Fish Hatchery, west a few hundred feet into the township on Seven Mile Road. The suggested Fish Hatchery route—to Rural Hill Cemetery, then following trail behind Edenderry out to trails in open fields—was withdrawn because it involved too many privately owned properties, club representative Frank Kocian reported.

4. Moraine Elementary School, west on Eight Mile Road staying on south side of horse trail.

5. Railroad Street at Ely's coal yard, following trail on edge of gravel pit property down Griswold to Base Line, then to Eight Mile Road.

The city's year old snowmobile ordinance, which regulates time and manner of operation, permits the city council to adopt specific routes for operators.

A large club representation was present at Monday's meeting.

See I-275 Completion Next Year

Latest projections indicate portions of the north-south expressway bordering the east boundary of Novi and Northville, adjacent to Haggerty Road, probably will be completed next year.

Here's status of the local freeway construction projects:

I-275—Construction of the 30-mile freeway, which will provide a western by-pass of Detroit, is moving into high gear.

Work is underway in both Wayne and Monroe counties, with additional work scheduled for contract in 1974. The freeway will run from I-75 near Newport north across I-94 east of Belleville to I-96 in Livonia, the Michigan Highway Department reports.

It will dual with I-96 north (eastern border of Northville and Novi) to the interchange of I-96, I-696, and I-275 in Novi, the state's largest interchange now under construction.

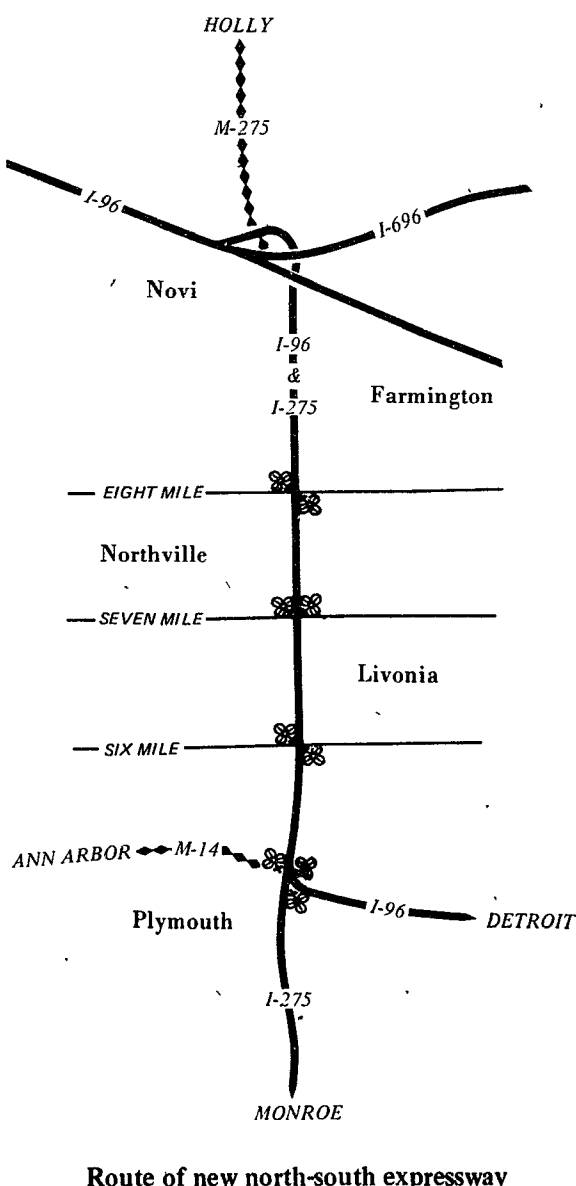

I-96—The entire freeway from Grand River Avenue in Detroit west through Redford and Livonia and north (along eastern border of Northville and Novi) to I-696 near Novi is in various stages of construction.

Much of the work from US-24 (Telegraph Road) west to Newburgh Road is scheduled to be placed under contract in 1974.

Freeway exchanges are planned at Eight, Seven and Six Mile Roads.

Northwestern Freeway — Scheduled work has been suspended pending public hearings this year on design and environmental aspects of a planned 9.2-mile extension

Council Eyes Light For Rogers-Main

A traffic light (red-green-yellow) installation at the intersection of Main and Rogers streets is under council consideration.

But whether or not the light becomes a reality awaits completion of a related traffic study of the area of Orchard Drive, adjacent to Our Lady of Victory Church.

After hearing a police department traffic report concerning the corner of Main and Rogers, council Monday considered and then temporarily set aside a proposal that a blinker light be installed at the intersection.

Council delayed choice of a blinker light at the suggestion of City Manager Steven Walters, who pointed out the related traffic study may show that a traffic light would be more effective in eliminating an intersection hazard as well as improving traffic patterns from the area of the church.

Study of the Main-Rogers intersection, which resulted from complaints of citizens who voiced concern over the potential danger at the corner, showed that since 1967 a total of 12 accidents have occurred at the intersection—half of which were personal injury accidents.

Recent near fatal accidents had concerned citizens, who suggested the corner ought to be made a four-way stop as it was previously.

According to the police report, excessive speeding is not a major problem at the corner. Nine out of the 12 accidents, the report noted, involved failure to yield or to stop violations on Rogers.

Planners OK 100 Foot Lots

Hoping to wrap-up its complete revision of the city's zoning ordinance, Northville's Planning Commission eliminated one of the document's controversial provisions Tuesday night to the delight of a roomful of citizens from Northville Estates and Lexington Commons subdivisions.

Planners are now hoping to present the revised zoning ordinance to the city council at its next meeting (scheduled for Tuesday, February 19 rather than the council's normal Monday date because of Washington's birthday holiday). It is expected that the council will then set a public hearing date to consider adoption of the 115-page ordinance.

Petitions bearing some 300 signatures were presented to the planning commission on behalf of the subdivision residents. Specifically, they asked that the minimum lot sizes in R-1A zoning be increased from the proposed 80-foot frontage with 12,000 square feet area to 120-foot frontage and 15,000 square feet area, and it asked for elimination of section 3.02 which allows lot size reduction to 65-foot frontage and 9000 square feet area. The lot-size variation concept provided the same density per acre but permitted developers to request grouping of dwellings around open space areas.

Planners finally voted 5-2 to increase R-1A lot sizes in the proposed ordinance to minimum 100 foot frontage with 12,000 square feet of area

DeHoCo Prisoners Study

THE MICHIGAN Public Service Commission has ordered C&O Railway to install crossing gates at its crossing on Seven Mile Road, just east of Northville Road, Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright disclosed this week. C&O now has until March to file a protest if it wishes to contest the commission's decision.

ROBERT KRUEGER, 318 Randolph, has been appointed to the city board of appeals to replace Gerald Stone, who has been unable to attend meetings regularly. Appointment of a planning commissioner to fill a vacancy created by the recent resignation of David Van Hine is expected at the next meeting of the council.

A MEETING of city, township and school representatives is planned soon to discuss a feasibility study for conversion of the school administrative offices to a library. Besides indicating whether or not the building is suitable for a library, the study also would indicate whether it could satisfactorily be expanded into larger administrative quarters for the school system.

Name 6 Historical Commissioners

Six of the seven members of the newly established Northville Historical Commission were named this week.

The seventh is to be appointed by the council at its next meeting.

Mayor A. M. Allen, because of his position, is automatically one of the members. The other members are Councilman Paul Vernon, Planning Commissioner Francis Gazlay, Historical Society President John Burkman, E. A. Chapman and R. W. Bohn.

The seventh member, under the commission ordinance, is to be a resident architect of the city. However, because none apparently is available the council is expected to name "a citizen at large".

Commission members also may, said the mayor, name a township architect as an ex-officio member.

In making the appointments, Councilman Paul

Folino said he wanted very much to be a member of the commission. But fellow councilmen picked Vernon, who although not present at Monday's meeting had voiced interest in commission membership.

Jazz Unit Debuts At College

The Schoolcraft College Jazz Ensemble will make its public debut tonight (Thursday) under the direction of Richard T. Saunders.

The concert begins at 8 p.m. in the Waterman Center on campus. Admission is free and the general public is welcome.

The 23-piece Jazz Ensemble was formed in September of 1973 through the process of open auditions. According to Director Saunders, Schoolcraft's director of fine arts, those selected were primarily college and high school musicians, with some more experienced semi-professional members represented in each section.

The group is composed of five rhythm, seven saxes, five trombones and six trumpets. Their performance style includes Count Basie, Neal Hefti, Thad James and "Chicago".

Selections to be performed at its premier concert will include: "Superstar," "Everything's Alright," "Rockexotica," "Coral Reef," "Beginnings," "Basie Straight Ahead," "P. C. Wallbanger," "The Deacon" and many others.

Other concerts by the Ensemble have been scheduled throughout the area. They will appear on February 17th at Clarendonville's Schmidt Auditorium as part of Midge Ellis' Big Band Jazz series.

News Around Northville

A Valentine-season candy bar sale will be held by Northville High School band students throughout the community from February 13 through 20 with profits to help pay for summer band camp expenses.

Northville Senior Citizens Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the scout-recreation building to hear Mrs. J. L. McKinney of Northville speak on her study of handwriting analysis.

The International Farm Youth Exchange Program of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will be the topic of the February guest day meeting of the Northville Branch at 12:30 p.m. Monday in Northville First Presbyterian Church fellowship hall.

The speaker is to be Miss Retha Hankey. Hostesses are Mrs. Robert Fair, chairman, Mrs. Alfons List, Mrs. James Northrup, Mrs. Eugene

Konrad and Mrs. Rahsan Anisoglu.

Northville Business and Professional Women's Club is urging its membership to attend the BPW District meeting at 9 a.m. Sunday, February 10, at Leright's Restaurant, 626 Wayne Road, Westland, in order to retain the "Nikey" award for attendance.

The award is given at district meetings to the club with the highest attendance. Luncheon is to be at noon.

Mrs. Coy Sandrock, a high school counselor, will speak on "Self Improvement".

Mrs. Joanne Lawson, 18133 Jamestown Circle, Northville, was elected corresponding secretary at the annual meeting of Our Lady of Providence League, Providence Hospital's volunteer organization, January 22. Service awards also were presented at the mini-luncheon.

Oriental rugs will be studied by members and guests of Station No. 6 Quarters at the February meeting at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 13, at the home of Mrs. Paul Sobol, 43758 Westridge Lane.

Mrs. Leonard Klein, guest speaker and member of Base Line Quarters, will present the program, telling history, patterns and identifications of the popular rugs.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

MARCHING MOTHERS who collected for the March of Dimes throughout the community last week raised a record total of $3,027.74, march chairman Mrs. Charles B. Rosenberg reports.

Northville Postmaster John Steimel, who for many years has served as March of Dimes general chairman for Northville, lauds Mrs. Rosenberg's work, saying, "She's really done well...the total is $700 higher than last year and more than triples the 1972 collection."

Mrs. Rosenberg, who lives with her family on Liedel Court in Highland Lakes, is the former Pam Kay, who grew up in Northville as her father was principal of Amerman School before he assumed administrative duties in the Grosse Pointe school system.

"She did a terrific job in getting girls she went to school with as well as women she didn't even know to cover the community," Steimel says.

Pam Rosenberg's total was tallied at a final "thank you" coffee at her home last Wednesday. Both she and Postmaster Steimel are so pleased with the response of Northville that they have formed a pact, he says, to repeat the effort next year for the fight against birth defects. Mrs. Rosenberg, who was a Mothers' March marcher last year, volunteered her services this year.

Another traditional event, a "Sound of the Big Band" concert by the Northville High School band under the direction of Robert Williams, still is upcoming in this year's campaign, according to Steimel, who hopes to announce the date shortly.

JUNIOR MISS Kathy Radzibon, who was chosen Northville's Junior Miss last November and went on to become a district finalist, competed in the state contest January 26 in Pontiac. She won the Breck Award of $100, a special feature of the competition each year, which is given for hair styling.

John Dugan, who was Northville general chairman for the Jaycee-sponsored event here, reports that the Jaycees are "very pleased" with Kathy's achievement. He and his wife were on hand to see Kathy in the state competition. She will reign at local Jaycee festivities throughout the year. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Radzibon, 16411 Old Bedford.

"THE BANJO may be considered the only musical instrument native to this country," Father Joseph Dustin told his capacity audience of Northville Woman's Club members and their husbands at the club's annual men's night last Friday at Northville Presbyterian Church.

It has evolved, he said, from a four-string instrument southern Negroes used in spirituals, a type of instrument originally brought from Africa. The musician-priest then made his own banjo sing—even to the point of sounding like two instruments. He led his audience in a sing-along of popular old songs.

An associate priest at Holy Redeemer Church in Detroit, Father Dustin again will be holding his traditional St. Patrick's party in Detroit. Mrs. John Brown of the club program committee, who introduced him, said that she and her husband hope again this year to attend the March party and urges others who "like to sing-along" to do so.

TABLE RESERVATIONS may be made for groups of eight or ten at the second annual Northville Historical Society-VFW Mill Race benefit to be held February 21 at the Thunderbird Hilton Inn. Mrs. Leonard Klein, general chairman, reports that most tables will be set for ten but that tables for eight also may be reserved.

The dance committee, she adds, has more than 200 reservations. Friends and neighborhood groups are encouraged to reserve tables together, as they did last year. One of the largest gatherings planned to date is a group of 30 for which Mrs. Samuel McSeveny has made reservations.

Ticket chairmen who are selling tickets throughout the community will report their totals to Mrs. Klein Monday.

She credits these "neighborhood sellers" with making last year's event a success, bringing out the entire community to aid the restoration project.

AN ART AUCTION and a program on Greenfield Village are two events scheduled by Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club on two consecutive days.

The benefit art auction is to be at 8 p.m. Sunday, February 10, in Rosedale Gardens Civic Association clubhouse, 9611 Hubbard, Livonia, to raise funds for an Interlochen scholarship. It is to be preceded by a champagne reception at 7 p.m.

The art exhibit and sale is coordinated by Fred Grossman from Gallery Art Center and features original oils, graphics, etchings and watercolors. Included will be works of Dali, Rockwell, Lionel Barrymore and others. Donation tickets at $1 will be sold at the door, according to Mrs. James Dunn.

At 8 p.m., Monday the club will hear Mrs. Cheryl Termaat, a club member and guide at Greenfield Village, speak on "How Well Do You Know Greenfield Village?" at the February meeting in Sword of the Spirit Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Termaat promises to explain some of the events and services the village offers in addition to sightseeing. A movie will accompany her talk.

THE JUNIOR WOMEN'S group includes members from the five communities of Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington and Novi. One of its active Northville members, Mrs. Donald Baxter, explains that it is open to interested young women and anyone who would like to attend next Monday's meeting may call her at 349-7296.

One of the club's longtime projects is a well-baby clinic held the first Wednesday of each month in Livonia where mothers may receive immunizations for their children. Mrs. Baxter was among club members volunteering their services there yesterday.

Since many of those bringing their children to the clinic are on aid to dependent children or welfare, Mrs. Baxter feels this is a "worthwhile service to the area." The clinic, she adds, is staffed by a volunteer doctor.

Girl Scouts Seek Orders

Cookie Sale Aids Camp

Girl Scouts in 13 Northville troops are among 6,000 scouts in the Huron Valley Council who are out "to burn a mortgage" as they begin taking orders tomorrow (Friday) in the 1974 Girl Scout cookie sale.

New Northville-area cookie chairman is Mrs. George Daraban, 18220 Laraugh.

Orders will be taken by Northville scouts from February 8 to 17 with deliveries scheduled between March 19 and April 2, she reports.

The goal of the Huron Valley Council, Mrs. Daraban points out, is the highest in history, $260,000 in gross sales; if successful, part of these profits will make the last $10,000 payment and interesting on a 10-year mortgage on Camp Linden, the council's 400-acre residential and troop camp in Livingston County.

Cookie sale planners also have earmarked profits from the sale to pay one-third of the costs of troop camping and one-half of resident camping as well as to fund scholarships for more than 100 girls.

This year a new flavor, lemon creme, has been added to the cookie selection, according to Mrs. Daraban.

Other flavors, she said, will include traditional favorites, peanut butter Savannah cookies, thin mints, Scot teas and chocolate and vanilla cremes. Dropped from last year's selection is cocoa fudge.

The scout council notes that both Scot teas and thin mints are Kosher, having received the circle-U designation from the Union of Orthodox Faith.

Valentine Event

A Valentine luncheon is planned for Christian Women's Club at noon Thursday, February 14, at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth with Marge Flora, a mother of four, as guest speaker.

A special feature will be music by Marion Cumming, a violinist, who will be accompanied by her sister, Ruth.

Luncheon reservations should be made by February 11 with Mrs. Eugene Harris, 21147 Lujon, or Mrs. Ivan Springstead, 23849 Heartwood, both in Northville.

The cookies sold here are products of the Burry Biscuit Company, a division of Quaker Oats Company of Chicago.

The larger boxes introduced last year again will be offered at the 1973 price of 96 cents plus 4 cents sales tax for a total of $1, Mrs. Daraban stated. The boxes contain from 36 to 88 cookies and are wrapped for freezing.

Girl Scout troops and the council share in cookie profits as each troop receives 15 cents while the council gets 38 cents a box.

"Through the annual cookie sale, scouts have the opportunity to contribute a service to our expanding camp program... with profits adding to our campsites, equipment and camp buildings the girls enlarge their own, their sister scouts' and future scouts' opportunities for camping," Mrs. Daraban points out.

The new cookies were sampled last week as Mrs. Daraban hosted a coffee for the 13 local troop cookie chairmen.

Junior troop chairmen are Mrs. Eugene Wagner, 349-4029, troop 690; Mrs. Frank Poirier, 349-4724, troop 338; Mrs. Othal Baggett, 349-3110, troop 573; Mrs. Robert Hodson, 349-7888, troop 234; Mrs. Gerald Stuart, 349-4352, troop 530; Mrs. Robert Ferguson, 349-5732, troop 574; Mrs. Carl Wheeler, 349-0528, troop 360; Mrs. John Stuart, 349-4168, troop 331; Mrs. Robert Brugman, 455-9140, troop 361.

Cadette troop chairmen are Mrs. Gerald Norsby, 349-6072, troop 407; Mrs. George Taylor, 349-4756, troop 371; and Mrs. Rod Harris, 349-5257, troop 226. Mrs. Richard Troop 234. Girl Scouts will be taking orders for 10 days, beginning this Friday, with cookies to be delivered between March 19 and April 2.

Wheaton, 349-2558 is chairman for senior troop 222.

Anyone not visited by a scout may call any of the troop chairmen to order cookies.

Guardian Secretary Assists Workshop

Co-coordinator and secretary for the 22nd annual secretaries' workshop sponsored by the Greater International Metropolitan Area Council of the National Secretaries Association to be held March 9 at Cobo Hall is Miss Marie L. Ahearn.

Miss Ahearn, a Farmington resident, is secretary to William M. Davidson, president, Guardian Industries, and Warren J. Coville, president of the photo division, Guardian Industries in Northville.

A certified secretary, Miss

Ahearn is a member of River Park chapter, one of six chapters in the metropolitan council, and reports she is "in training" for the top coordinator post next year.

"The workshops as well as the secretaries association itself are a way to keep up-to-date," she explains. More than 1,000 are expected to attend the workshop, luncheon and program featuring Mike Whorf in a musical, historical trip, "Of A Land So Fair."

Additional information may be obtained by calling Miss Ahearn, 474-8307.

School Test Results Show Academic Improvement

Testing results of Northville's third, fifth, sixth and eighth grade students all showed improvement this year in subject areas when compared with results from 1968.

All results showed students at or above grade level in the academic areas.

"The district can be proud of the results of the Stanford Achievement Tests, especially as compared with the 1968 SAT results," commented Miss Florence Panattoni, assistant superintendent of schools. That year was when the last complete report was made in the district.

"Credit should go to the principals and staff members of our schools," she continued, "and to the board of education for support of curriculum development which is largely responsible for the results."

SAT tests were administered earlier this school year to third, fifth, sixth and eighth graders. Fourth and seventh graders were given the Michigan Educational Assessment Tests.

Third grader results included vocabulary, 3.9 (third grade ninth month) in 1973 compared with 2.8 in 1968; reading, 3.7 compared with 2.8; work study skills, 3.9 compared with 2.8; math concepts, 3.6 compared with 3.1; math computation, 3.1 compared with 2.6; spelling, 3.3 compared with 2.5; social science, 4.0 compared with 3.2; and science 3.9 compared with 3.2.

Fifth graders in vocabulary scored 6.0 (sixth grade level) in 1973 results compared with 5.1 (fifth grade, first month) in 1968; reading comprehension, 6.0 compared with 5.0; word study skills, 6.2 compared with 5.1;

Math concepts, 5.8 compared with 5.2; math computation, 5.7 compared with 4.3; math application, 6.0 compared with 5.0; spelling, 5.9 compared with 4.8; language, 6.0 compared with 4.8; social science, 6.0 compared with 5.4; and science, 5.9 compared with 5.3.

Sixth grade results in vocabulary were 7.0 compared with 5.9 in 1968; reading comprehension, 7.1 compared with 6.1; word study skills, 6.6 compared with 5.9; math concepts, 6.7 compared with 6.3; math computation, 6.4 compared with 4.9;

Math applications, 6.8 compared with 6.4; spelling, 6.6 compared with 5.9; language, 6.6 compared with 5.9, social studies, 7.1 compared with 6.4; and science, 7.1 compared with 6.4.

Eighth graders tested in reading comprehension at the 9.1 (ninth grade, first month) level compared with 8.1 in 1968; math concepts, 8.9 compared with 8.6; math computation, 9.6 compared with 7.1; math applications, 9.1 compared with 8.3; Spelling, 8.3 compared with 8.0; language, 9.0 compared with 7.5; social science, 9.1 compared with 8.4, and science, 9.3 compared with 8.3.

Miss Panattoni explained that testing allows the curriculum director "to find weaknesses in the district and remedy them and to find the strengths and expand them. "Testing also helps principals to find flaws in their buildings and correct them, along with finding the individual needs of each child." She added that teachers use test results to individualize instruction by matching it to the student's abilities and to judge the effectiveness of instruction.

Announce Engagements

JILL HAGGE

The engagement and upcoming wedding plans of Jill Hagge to Dan L. Anderson are announced by her mother, Mrs. Donald R. Hagge, 700 West Main Street, Northville.

The bride-elect also is the daughter of the late Dr. Hagge. Her fiancé's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Anderson, 310 West Dunlap Street, Northville.

Both the bride-to-be and her fiancé are Northville High School graduates. She also is a 1973 graduate of Schoolcraft College and presently is a senior at Eastern Michigan University majoring in education.

Her fiancé, a 1973 graduate of Bowman Technical School, Lancaster, Pennsylvania, is a watchmaker and manager of Northville Watch and Clock Shop.

They plan an April 20, 1974, wedding.

3 Councilmen Say 'No' to Private Session

A proposed meeting between Novi's City Council and a group of disgruntled building department employees is threatening to split the council down the middle.

Ostensibly, the purpose of the meeting is to allow the employees to air their grievances against the city administration, particularly City Manager Harold Saunders. According to the terms requested by the employees, Saunders is to be excluded from the session.

It is the exclusion of the city manager, however, which has created the controversy. Three members of the city council have told The Novi News that they definitely will not attend the meeting.

Councilman George Athas, himself a former city manager, contacted The Novi News Tuesday to announce that he had "no intention of attending that meeting."

"According to the city charter, no member of the council may deal with an employee except through the city manager," stated Athas strongly. "For the council to go ahead with this meeting is wrong and I personally will have nothing whatsoever to do with it."

Athas' comments were reiterated by Councilman Louie Campbell, who also stated that he would not attend the meeting. "For us to sit down with a group of disgruntled employees and usurp the authority of the manager is wrong and I will not be party to it," remarked Campbell.

Councilwoman Romaine Roethel has also stated that she will not attend the meeting. Basis of her objection is that the press is to be excluded.

"Whenever the council has a meeting I strongly believe the press should be present," she stated. "If the members of the press are barred from attending, I will walk out immediately."

On the other hand, Councilman Denis Berry has stated that he will walk out if anyone other than the members of the building department and city council is allowed to attend.

"It's going to be a private session even if I have to hold the meeting in my own living room," he commented. "The employees have a lot of complaints, a lot of serious complaints, and they should have the right to let the council know about them without anyone else being present."

Berry's contention is generally supported by Mayor Robert Daley and Councilman Philip Goodman. Although objecting to the exclusion of the press, Goodman upheld the exclusion of the city manager saying that the employees should be given every right to speak in a completely uninhibited atmosphere.

Daley, who upheld the exclusion of the press, concurred that the employees should be given every right to speak their piece in a free and uninhibited atmosphere.

The meeting with the council was requested by the employees through Berry, who was directed by the council three weeks ago to look into personnel problems in the building department.

Berry has reported that morale in the department is at a low ebb (three employees have submitted resignations and, according to Berry, several others are contemplating similar action).

Basis of the morale problem appears to be twofold. First, the department has been under the implication of criminal wrongdoing since October when Saunders revealed that he had requested the police to conduct an investigation of irregular practices. That investigation led to the arrest of Plumbing Inspector Albert Miller on bribery charges. Saunders announced at Monday's council session that the investigation has now been terminated without any further evidence of criminal misconduct (see story elsewhere on this page).

An additional factor in the discontent of building department personnel has been the terms of a contract negotiated between the city and the teamsters union, which represents the employees.

The council ratified that contract by a 5-1 vote Monday over the strong objections of Councilmen Berry and Edwin Presnell. Presnell abstained from voting.

Although the contract had previously been ratified by the employees, Berry reported Monday that the vote on ratification had been 20-10 and that many of the employees were upset with the terms of the contract.

The city was represented in those negotiations by Saunders and Terrence Jolly, an attorney retained by the council.

Berry told The Novi News Tuesday that he had recommended that the employees' request for a private meeting with the council be accepted. "I think the nature of their complaints are very serious and I don't want to run the risk of having the whole department resign on us," he stated.

"The relations between the city manager and the building department personnel are very serious."

Basis of the objections to the meeting are that the council is usurping the power of the city manager.

Athas stated that the meeting, if held, would negate the power of the city manager to deal effectively with the building department.

"If any employee feels he can't get along with the city manager there is appropriate machinery for him to utilize," said Athas. "When I see a man who works 16-17 hours a day, six, and sometimes seven days a week, I don't like to see him being treated like this."

Campbell, who frequently has been critical of the TRAFFIC PROBLEM SOLUTION—A solution to the traffic problem at the Novi Elementary School is being provided by the Novi Police Department. Both citizens and school officials have been concerned about the problem of getting busses from the school out onto heavily-traveled Novi Road. Unable to persuade the Oakland County Road Commission to install a light, they turned to the Novi Police Department which agreed to assign a Community Service Officer to the school each day to guide the busses safely out onto Novi Road.

Citizens Oppose Zoning Requests

Two rezoning requests from Village Oaks developer Kaufman and Broad (K&B) ran into expected stiff citizen opposition at a public hearing held a week ago Wednesday (yesterday).

In a departure from past procedures, Novi's Planning Board presided over Wednesday's hearing. Previously, the planners have sat in joint session with the city council to consider rezoning requests.

A public hearing before the council on the requests has been scheduled for Wednesday, February 27. Final decision on whether to grant or deny the rezonings is slated to be made at that hearing.

K&B has been attempting to bring their two requests for rezonings to public hearing since late last summer. After numerous delays and reschedulings, however, the requests are only now being heard.

Although a sizable contingent of more than 100 residents showed up at a previous hearing at which the two requests were to have been considered, Wednesday's hearing before the planners attracted a much smaller turnout.

K&B is requesting the rezoning of two parcels located south of Nine Mile Road between Meadowbrook and Haggerty Roads. The parcels are part of the original "Community of Village Oaks" concept.

Both parcels are presently zoned R-1-S (suburban residential district) which requires a lot frontage of 90 feet and a total lot size of 12,000 square feet.

The first rezoning request is for a R-1 (one-family residential district) designation for a parcel of approximately 122 acres located on the south side of Nine Mile, midway between Haggerty and Meadowbrook roads.

The R-1 designation requires a lot frontage of 80 feet and a total lot size of 10,000 square feet.

The second request is for an R-2-A (multiple-family residential) designation for a parcel of approximately 56 acres on the west side of Haggerty Road, south of Nine Mile.

In requesting the R-1 zoning for the 122-acre parcel, K&B Vice-president Thomas Loew stated that the request was being made to offset the loss of property on the overall parcel that can't be used for development.

"We (K&B) have committed ourselves to selling 10 acres to the school system for an elementary school and there are approximately 10-15 acres which are unbuildable because of soil conditions," stated Loew.

"We are requesting the

Tie Vote Kills Novi Radio Station

A tie vote Tuesday killed a proposal for establishment of a low power FM educational radio station at Novi High School.

The proposal—calling for application to the Federal Communications Commission for a license and, upon receipt of such license, purchase of radio equipment—died when the board of education voted 3-3. Secretary Ray Warren, out of town, did not vote.

Voting for the measure were Vice-President Gilbert Henderson, Norman Miller, and Robert Wilkins. Opposing it were President LaVerne DeWaard, Sharon Pelchat and Todd Price.

Money proved to be the big hangup, with opponents suggesting the estimated cost of setting up the station ($15,000) might better be spent in upgrading existing programs such as counseling, remedial reading, vocational education, etc.

Operation of the station would add to the overall cost, it was explained.

On the priority scale a radio station is not of top importance, opponents indicated.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz, on the other hand, argued the radio station would be a vital teaching tool at all grade levels and he assigned a "high priority" rating to it. He saw its use for classroom educational purposes as outweighing service benefits the school district and the community would derive from it.

He noted, too, that the station concept is strongly endorsed by the staff.

DeWaard, leading opponent of the measure, left the chairman's seat to read a prepared statement. His major point was that he opposed establishing a facility, such as a radio station, without first knowing whether

Set Plans for Mabel Ash Fete

Reservations for the testimonial dinner honoring retired City Clerk Mabel Ash are now being accepted.

Mrs. Ash retired as city clerk last September after 15 years of service to Novi.

City councilman and former city manager George Athas will preside over the appreciation dinner which is slated for Friday, February 22, at the Holiday Inn in Farmington. A cocktail hour will precede the dinner which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speakers will include Police Chief Lee BeGole, Mayor Robert Daley, and City Manager Harold Saunders.

Mrs. Sarah Everett, chairman of the event, emphasized that the dinner is open to anyone who wishes to attend. Tickets are available at a cost of $12 per person with a choice of a chicken or steak dinner available.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Everett at 349-7216 or Mrs. Winifred Dobek at 349-1904.

Close Investigation of Novi Building Department

While discontent among city employees continued to grow (see story elsewhere on this page), City Manager Harold Saunders announced Monday that police have concluded their seven-month investigation of the Novi Building Department.

"As far as police are concerned," Saunders reported, "the investigation has been concluded without any further evidence of criminal wrongdoing on the part of any city employee."

(Chief Plumbing Inspector Albert Miller had previously been arrested and arraigned on bribery charges as a result of the investigation).

Saunders' announcement was included in a 12-page report on the status of the building department investigation. Requested by the council three weeks ago, the report was prepared for the purpose of clearing up any questions about wrongdoing in the building department and, thereby, removing the shadow of suspicion that has covered the department since news of the investigation was first released last October.

Both Saunders and Mayor Robert Daley Monday issued statements designed to improve the image of the department and help dissipate the employee unrest which has developed as a result of the investigation.

Said Saunders: "The investigation and this report have focused on those things which are wrong. Fortunately for the citizens of Novi, the vast majority of the work done by the building department has been very good. Given the tremendous growth rate of the city and the department, they should be commended for being able to do as well as they have under the conditions."

Daley stated that he hoped Saunders' report would enable the council to "close down this matter and move on to more important things."

"This department (building) has been under a microscope for the past seven months," Daley continued. "We are experiencing some of the disadvantages of that kind of scrutiny (employee discontent), but there are also some advantages."

"Within three months, the Novi Building Department will be the best in the state—bar none," said Daley.

Saunders' report was an attempt to "clear the air" of the unanswered questions involving the building department investigation. The report was prepared at the direction of the council three weeks ago as an alternative to the special council investigation requested at that time by Councilman Louie Campbell.

Campbell had charged that many questions had not been answered and that the investigation was being "whitewashed."

Saunders' report was divided into two major parts. In the first half he attempted to "outline those circumstances which led to the investigation and which developed during the course of the investigation."

The second half dealt with "general administrative problems" and proposed courses of action to eliminate the problem areas.

Saunders reported that the investigation had dealt with

More History's Found Hidden Behind Library Walls

Two buildings are presently located on the Mill Race Historical Village site

Can you make out frame of 'window' in this picture?

Concerning windows, it was determined that the upper half of all windows in the building were originals. The lower half of some, however, were replacements. To authenticate the appearance of the windows, therefore, the Society had the bottoms replaced with custom-built ones.

Thick plexiglass has been installed over the exterior side of the windows to prevent glass breakage from vandalism.

Society members also have been able to determine, by clues found during restoration, that two stoves stood on either side of the church. Exposed pipes from these stoves extended upward about 10 feet—just over the heads of worshippers—and then turned and followed the walls to the front of the church where they turned again and went up through separate holes in the ceiling.

"The pipes themselves," believes Burkman, "were exposed and strategically located to produce the most heat possible."

Besides the church pew "shadow", the Society also plans to make permanent displays of other interesting characteristics of the building interior.

For example, a small section of wood lath is to be preserved and exposed for inspection by museum visitors. The lath is unusual, explains Burkman, because it was "created from boards after they had been tacked to the wall."

"Long boards were tacked to the wall and then an ax was used to split the boards and these splits were pried apart, accordion style, thus forming lath. So what looks like many pieces of wood strips may really only be single boards split, spread and then nailed into position."

"Some of those boards, particularly in the ceiling, were 15 to 20 feet long."

Also to be preserved will be one of the thick wood joints in the building superstructure, illustrating how hewn timber was fitted and pegged.

All nail holes in woodwork decorating the interior will be covered except where old square nails are located. These—and there are many of them—will be left uncovered.

Although specific interior arrangement of the museum displays has not yet been decided, it is generally agreed by members that the displays should be along the exterior walls, thus leaving the middle area clear for meeting area.

The Society plans to hold its meetings in the building.

Completion of restoration work tentatively has been set for May—possibly during Michigan Week and on "Our Heritage Day" of that week.

By the time the work is completed, the Historical Society will have spent between $35,000 to $40,000 on the old library building project—not counting the monies provided by the city for moving the buildings and not counting the value of the property donated to the city by the Ford Motor Company.

According to Burkman, already some $20,000 has been spent on the project. Most of the money resulted from fund-raising projects.

"I want to emphasize, too," said the President, "that the expense does not include the hundreds of volunteer work hours put into restoration. I would guess more work has been done voluntarily than has been hired done."

"Frankly, because much of the work has been basic, such as installing the heating system, it may look like not very much work has been done."

"Of course that really isn't the case. Restoration work is slow, hard and very expensive. That's why benefits such as the dinner dance planned February 21 are so important."

Next big project—after completion of the old library building work—will be restoration of the 1857 house on the property. Last week a representative of Greenfield Village toured the house with Society members to help plan restoration work.

three major areas other than the case involving Plumbing Inspector Miller.

They were:

1. Saunders stated that he had initiated the investigation in July when a building department employee had delivered materials to his (Saunders') house after he (Saunders) had obtained a permit for certain minor repairs. I was concerned, said Saunders, because a "seemingly innocent and sincere act can then be converted into grounds for widespread suspicion of misuse of public funds or collusion with builders and contractors."

2. During the time period between June of 1971 and December of 1972, the city made additions and modifications to city offices. Saunders said that he had received information that the improvements done to the building department offices exceeded those that had been authorized by the city and that the materials (lumber, paneling, and carpeting) had been supplied by builders and developers.

Although no evidence of wrong doing had been uncovered, said Saunders, "unfounded criticism and distrust developed in the minds of many persons who became aware of the situation."

3. The investigation further dealt with "numerous rumors and complaints" that inspectors in the department had received gifts of "significant value" as an inducement to give favorable inspections or skip inspections entirely.

There was strong evidence that a former inspector received a major appliance from a builder, but conclusive evidence was not obtained and no criminal action has resulted, Saunders reported.

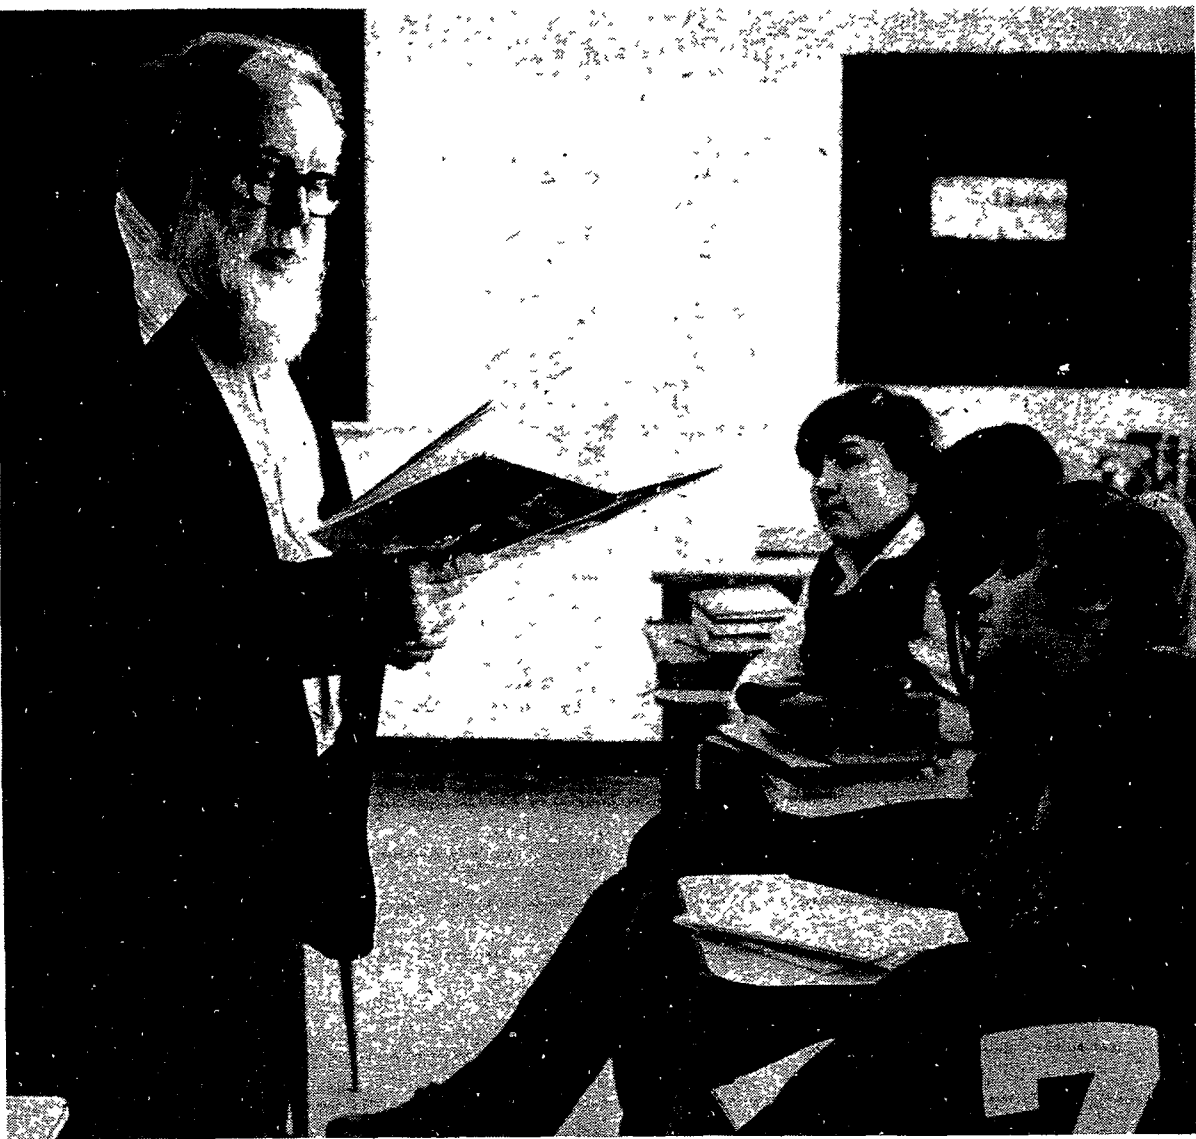

Saunders also stated that several building department employees had regularly received lumber, paneling, and various other commodities from various building sites with the knowledge of the developer. Most of these items, however, were damaged and slated for destruction.

The investigation failed to show that there had been any criminal intent in the gifts and that there was no evidence that any "favors or leniency by the inspectors" had ever been extended.

Saunders' report said that no evidence of any criminal wrongdoing could be related to any of these incidents. However, he said, there is a definite need to develop a firm policy about accepting gifts of any kind.

The danger in not having a policy, he reported, is that once an "enforcement agency (such as the building department) begins to become indebted to the very group which it must regulate, it becomes increasingly difficult to remain objective and equitable in exercising the duties of its office."

Council reserved comment on Saunders' report for two weeks to allow time for further study of the document.

SPECIAL GUEST—Michigan's Poet Laureate Max Ellison paid a special visit to Northville High School last week and held the students spellbound as he read from his books of poetry. A guest of the English classes at the school, Ellison's books "The Board Terminates Contract

Termination of one teacher's contract, releasing another teacher from contract and employment of a new teacher were approved last Monday by Northville School Board members.

Following a public hearing before the board, the contract of Mrs. Elody Moldovan, librarian at Northville High, was terminated.

Mrs. Moldovan has reported for work three of the 86 days school has been in session. She suffered nose and hand bruises in an auto accident October 2 and has not been able to return to work since, board members said.

Trustees said they could not grant her a health leave of absence since under the contract with the Northville Education Association, teachers must have two years of service to the district to be eligible. Mrs. Moldovan was hired in November, 1972.

Trav. Griffin, executive director of the Michigan Education Association for the Western Wayne County Area, spoke in behalf of Mrs. Moldovan.

"The NEA is willing to sign a waiver that this is an individual case and that it will not be precedent setting," Griffin said.

However, school board attorney Thomas Schwarze told Griffin and the board that the "NEA cannot waive the individual rights of a teacher. Signing a waiver would not prevent this case from becoming precedent setting," Griffin told the board he felt granting Mrs. Moldovan a health leave would be humane.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said he felt the "superintendent and board have been more than humane and patient and sympathetic. We have carried her medical and life insurance payments and granted her two full paychecks assuming she would be back to work."

Board members voted unanimously to terminate her contract, effective immediately.

In other action, Mrs. Dorothea Bach was granted a release of contract effective immediately. She was employed to teach English at the high school.

Hired to replace her was Mrs. Mary Bray who previously taught high school English.

Saginaw Picks

Frank Muller

A former Northville resident has been named the Outstanding Young Man of the Year in the Saginaw area.

Winning the coveted Jaycee award was Frank Muller, son of the George Mullers of Ann Arbor. His selection was based in part on his extensive work with young people.

Muller and his wife, Becky, are graduates of Northville High School and Michigan State University. They have two children ages 8 and 12.

Mrs. Muller's mother is Mrs. Robert Coolman of Northville.

Plant manager for Eaton Yale & Towne manufacturing company, Muller and his family have lived in Saginaw for the past four years.

Babysitting Clinic Registration Opens

Northville Jaycee Auxiliary is sponsoring its fourth annual babysitting clinic February 26 through April 2 on Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Cooke Middle School.

Registration forms will be available at Our Lady of Victory, St. Paul's Lutheran and Cooke schools Monday with the deadline for returning them February 18.

The first session on "Infant Care" will be taught February 26 by Mrs. Peter Lindholm; with "Mouth to Mouth Resuscitation" to be presented by the Livonia Auxiliary Police March 5; and "Entertaining the Young Child" taught by Mrs. Richard Norton and "Child Safety and Fire Prevention" by Captain Louis Westfall, both on March 12.

A summary and examination will be at the fourth session March 19. Presentation of certificates will be two weeks later, April 2, when those participating are invited to invite parents for the presentation and refreshments following.

Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. John Buckland, chairman, 349-0773; or from Mrs. Irvin Sutter, 349-3795. Working with them on the committee are Mrs. Peter Thies and Mrs. Rex Spencer.

"They wanted a union and they got a union. But now that they've got it, they're not happy with it," Campbell stated.

"Personnel problems are an administrative problem and should be handled through the city manager," he continued. "If they don't feel they're being treated fairly, they have every right to file a grievance."

"But for us to usurp the city manager's power by meeting with a group of disgruntled employees is wrong and I will have no part in it."

"We hired Harold (Saunders) and he's doing a good job. I support him 100 percent and will continue to support him 100 percent until someone shows to me that he's not doing the job."

"In no way will I take any action that might circumvent the authority of our city manager, and that's exactly what meeting with those employees will do," stated Campbell.

The meeting was scheduled to have taken place Wednesday, February 6, at 8 p.m. The Novi News goes to press Wednesday at noon. Details will be carried in the February 14 issue.

Waterman Snack Bar

Schoolcraft College has opened a new snack bar in the Waterman Center that's just the thing for late afternoon and evening students.

Operating in the lower level of the center, the snack bar replaces numerous food machines which previously served students there. It is open from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, and until 5 p.m. on Fridays.

The snack bar menu consists of hot and cold drinks, hot and cold sandwiches, desserts, salads, soup, chili, hot dogs, potato chips, ice cream, candy and gum. If a micro-wave oven becomes available, hamburgers could be added to this menu. At present the possibility of installing grills and exhaust fans for hamburgers would be prohibitive.

Many on campus have expressed hope that the snack bar will also remain open during the summer session when the upper Waterman is closed. This would be an added service for faculty, staff and students.

—Obituaries—

MARGARET A. BENISH
Margaret A. Benish, a resident of Northville for most of her life, died January 27 at St. Mary Hospital at the age of 60.

Miss Benish, who lived at 4334 Seven Mile Road, was born November 2, 1913, in Champaign, Illinois, the daughter of Edward and Hazel (Cunningham) Benish.

She was an accountant and a member of the Independent Accountants Association of Michigan. Former president of the Airedale Terrier Club of Southeastern Michigan, Miss Benish has won top awards for her dogs in shows which ranged from Detroit Kennel Club to New York City Westminster.

Miss Benish also was a member of the Northville Antique and Arts Dealers Association, secretary of the Plymouth Women's Bowling League and the National Society of Public Accountants.

Funeral services were held last week Thursday, January 31, at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville officiated. Burial was in Grand Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

BERNARD L. HODGE

Funeral services were held Thursday, January 31, for Bernard L. Hodge of 19265 Gerald Avenue who died January 29 at Botsford Hospital in Farmington. He was 64.

Mr. Hodge, who lived in Northville since 1949, was employed as a truck driver and harness racer. Born December 29, 1909, in Chicago, Pennsylvania, he was the son of Harry and Amiea (Rallya) Hodge.

He was a member of the VFW of New Hampshire and the First Baptist Church of Northville.

A brother, Charles, died November 20, 1972.

Services were held at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Cedric Whitcomb of the First Baptist Church officiated. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

JOHN A. LING SR.
Services were held Monday, February 4, for John A. Ling Sr. of 521 Randolph who died Friday at home following a long illness. He was 73 years old.

A resident of Northville since 1935, Mr. Ling was born January 20, 1901, in Ashley, Indiana, the son of Edwin and Henrietta (Voghtman) Ling. On September 15, 1936, he married his wife, Evelyn, who survives him.

Mr. Ling was employed in plant protection at Evans Products. He was preceded in death by two brothers and two sisters.

Surviving besides his widow are four sons, John Jr. of Plymouth, Andy Keller, Thomas and Daniel all of Westland, two daughters, Mrs. Jacquelyn Austin of Atlanta, Georgia, Mrs. Audree Miller of Las Vegas, Nevada, four brothers and sisters, Burdette of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Waldo of Northville, Trevor of Dayton, Ohio, Mrs. Wanda Ulrich of Hagerstown, Indiana, 17 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure of the First Presbyterian Church officiated. Burial was in Glen Eden Memorial Park, Livonia.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) for Mrs. Annabelle-Vallie Smith of 450 East Main Street who died Monday at St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor. She was 69.

Services will begin at 1 p.m. at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville will officiate. Burial will be in Rural Hill Cemetery.

A resident of Northville since 1962, Mrs. Smith was born May 4, 1904, in Bay City, the daughter of Peter and Margaret (Thompson) Campbell.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Melvin P., who died in 1967, and by three daughters and one son.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Elaine Snow Samples of Ohio, Mrs. Barbara Vallie Joslin of Lathrup Village, Mrs. Shirley Whitford Goodspeed of Bay City, Mrs. Donna DeMasters of Missouri, two sons, Jack Smith of Ann Arbor and Melvin Smith of Colorado.

Also surviving are a brother, Robert Campbell of Bay City, 15 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

ROBERT STEVENSON
Funeral services were held yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon for Robert Stevenson of Plymouth who died Saturday in Pontiac after a long illness. He was 77.

Born November 7, 1895, in Knoxville, Tennessee, he was the son of Charles and Annie (Murphy) Stevenson. A resident of Plymouth for many years, Mr. Stevenson married the former Lelia Burgin who survives him.

Mr. Stevenson was a member of the Church of the Nazarene in Plymouth and was a retired custodian at Burroughs in Plymouth.

Surviving besides his widow are four daughters, Mrs. John (Dollie) Gotro of Northville, Mrs. Walter (Norma) Stobbe of Farmington, Mrs. Harold (Marilyn) Hester of Northville, Mrs. Philip R. (Karen) Dingeldey of Plymouth, five sons, Ray of Ann Arbor, William of Livonia, Robert of Ann Arbor, Al of Macon, Georgia, and the Reverend Dwight Stevenson of Beulah Heights, Kentucky.

Also surviving are 30 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the Schraeder Funeral Home in Plymouth where the Reverend B. Edwin McDonald of Church of the Nazarene officiated. Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

ROGER F. SOUCY

Roger F. Soucy, a former resident of Northville, died January 25 in Manchester, New Hampshire. He was 44 years old.

Mr. Soucy taught mathematics for 15 years at Southfield Senior High School and two years at Kenyatta Teacher Training College in Nairobi, Kenya.

Survivors include his five children, Francis, James, Rose, Gary and Paul.

A memorial service will be held at 3 p.m. March 10, at Universalist Unitarian Church of Farmington on Halstead Road where Mr. Soucy was a member. Officiating will be the Reverend Richard Neff, minister at the church.

The family requests that memorials may be made to the Universalist Unitarian Church of Farmington.

AUGUST V. TIERNAN
August V. Tiernan, a resident of Northville and Novi for most of his life, died Thursday, January 31, at New Grace Hospital in Detroit. He was 64.

Mr. Tiernan, who lived at 22855 Haggerty Road, was born August 23, 1909, in Novi, the son of George and Helen (Barbar) Tiernan.

He was employed as a machinist for American Motors in Detroit.

Surviving are his widow, Ella J. Clark, a daughter, Mrs. Joan Moll of Novi, two brothers, Raymond Tiernan of South Lyon, George Tiernan of Litchfield (Michigan), and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday, February 2, at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Cedric Whitcomb of the First Baptist Church of Northville officiated. Burial was in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens, Novi.

Hammond Awarded Degree

A Northville resident is among 800 students listed as candidates for degrees at the end of the fall semester at the University of Oklahoma.

Gordon Roy Hammond is to be awarded a master of science degree.

There is no fall commencement ceremony at the university located in Norman,

Oklahoma, and formal recognition of the fall graduates will be at the spring commencement next May.

Over Center Street

City Seeks Jurisdiction

Northville has formally requested the Wayne County Road Commission to turn over jurisdiction of Center Street to the city.

In a resolution adopted by the city council this week, jurisdiction over the roadway—from Edward Hines Drive (Seven Mile) north to old Base Line—was requested since—— the city is already providing repairs and emergency maintenance on the street.

— the city is paying for race track traffic policing on the street.

— the street runs through the city's business district and therefore is not an ideal route through the city.

— the county has jurisdiction over another route (Northville Road-Griswold) through the city.

— a portion of Center (called Sheldon by the county) from Base Line to Eight Mile, is already under the jurisdiction of the city.

— with jurisdiction over the street the city could better control adjacent development.

— the city maintains parking meters and regulates parking on the street.

Although it is not part of the resolution, county suggestion that the street is eventually to be widened into a major thoroughfare triggered the resolution. Both the council and the planning commission have voiced stiff opposition to the county plan.

Local officials argue that Center should not become a major traffic artery through the community. Instead, they strongly suggest that the county consider improvement of Griswold Street to provide a more ideal north-south route.

Council adopted the resolution at the suggestion of City Attorney Philip Ogilvie, who has been discussing the matter with county representatives.

Local Artists' Work In Farmington Show

Three Northville men will be among 150 professional Michigan artists displaying their work this weekend at the eleventh annual Sholem Aleichem Art Show and Sale.

The show begins Friday, February 8, and runs through Sunday, February 10. It will be held in the Labor Zionist Building on Middlebelt Road in Farmington.

The three local men involved in the show are John Chaffee, Eugene Bilinsky, and Chong Bae Park. Chaffee and Park are sculptors, while Bilinsky makes silver, gold, and copper jewelry.

Hours of the show are as follows: On Friday, the show will open at 11 a.m. and run until 5 p.m. when it will close for three hours. The show will reopen at 8 p.m. and run to 11 p.m. with a special "Meet the Artists" session. On Saturday the show runs from 12 noon to 10 p.m. with door prizes being awarded during the evening. And on Sunday, doors will be open from 1-5 p.m.

A $1 donation is requested as an entrance fee. Refreshments will be provided.

Tax Program Set For Senior Citizens

Novi's Jaycee Auxiliary has invited all Novi senior citizens to a special luncheon meeting on Wednesday, February 13.

Featured will be a representative from the State Treasury Department who will speak and answer questions on tax breaks available to senior citizens. Special attention will be focused on the new property tax relief act.

The meeting will be preceded by a pot luck dinner. Everyone who attends is asked to bring his own table service and a dish to pass. The Jayceettes will provide drinks and dessert.

Sharon Larson, spokeswoman for the Jaycee auxiliary, noted that the meeting is open to all senior citizens, not just the members of the Senior Citizens Club.

The luncheon meeting will begin at 12 noon at the Novi Methodist Church on 10 Mile Road, just west of Meadowbrook Road.

Northville City Council Minutes

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES

Mayor Allen called the regular meeting of the Northville City Council to order at 8:00 p.m.

ROLL CALL: Present, Allen, Folino, Nichols, Vernon, Absent, Biery.

MINUTES OF PREVIOUS MEETING: Minutes of the previous meeting of January 7, 1974, stand approved as submitted.

MINUTES OF BOARDS & COMMISSIONS: Minutes of the Plan Commission of December 18, 1973, and January 8, 1974, were reviewed. Councilman Folino raised a question regarding the December 18th Minutes, and will discuss this with the Plan Commission. Minutes will be placed on file.

POLICE REPORT: Councilman Vernon noted that, though total calls were up in December, the year-to-date figures are much lower than before. The Police Report will be placed on file.

Councilman Biery entered at 8:08 p.m.

APPROVAL OF BILLS: The bills were reviewed. Councilman Folino asked whether our insurance covers the replacement of truck mirrors. City Manager will check on this.

Bills presented are as follows:

GENERAL FUND DEBTS	$49,231.27
LOCAL STREET DEBTS	4,819.85
MAJOR STREET DEBTS	8,949.84
NORTHVILLE BUILDING AUTHORITY BOND
AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND	40,156.75
PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT FUND	56,449.85
TRUST AND AGENCY FUND	376,309.40
WATER FUND DEBTS	9,875.29

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Vernon to approve the bills as presented.

Carried unanimously.

COMMUNICATIONS: A letter from Mrs. Howard Cole of Brighton, Michigan, was read objecting to the rezoning of her lots 665, 666 and 667 from C-1 to P-B-O. This will be referred to Council's Public Hearing on the Zoning Ordinance.

Letter from the Michigan Municipal League regarding the Annual Legislative Conference February 21 in Lansing was read and placed on file.

Notice was read of the General Assembly Meeting of SEMCOG on March 1, with morning and afternoon sessions.

Letter from ALSAC—St. Jude's Hospital was read requesting permission to solicit door to door Sunday, September 15, 1974, and tag days to be July 19-21, July 26-28, August 2-4 and August 9-11. Council approved ALSAC's request subject to notification and approval of the Police Department.

Notice from the House Consumers Committee that hearings are to be held this month on HB 4926, which would place a 10-cent deposit on nonreturnable beverage containers. Mayor Allen said the Council was very interested in this but rescinded the ordinance because the other communities did so and we couldn't be the only one. Council is still interested in this, however, and the City Manager will instruct our representative of this.

Resolution from the Township of Plymouth was read and placed on file opposing an increase in taxes on gasoline.

Resolution from City of Birmingham was read and placed on file regarding the County Sheriff being required to collect wages of those employed and released on day parole, and to deduct boarding costs from prisoners' accounts. This was referred to the City Attorney.

Communication from the Southeastern Transportation Commission regarding the Annual Urban Public Transportation Plan was read and placed on file.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: None.

PUBLIC HEARING ON HISTORIC DISTRICT ORD: Mayor Allen opened the Public Hearing on the Historic District Ordinance.

Mr. John Murray of 355 E. Main requested that his property at that address be excluded from the district, as it is zoned commercial and has nothing to offer of value. He feels further restrictions on it will make it much harder for him to improve it.

Councilman Nichols thought only those properties within the boundaries were to be considered in the district.

Mr. John Burckman of the Historical Society replied that all lots abutting the perimeter line are included in the district.

Mr. Murray asked what value his building had.

Mr. Burckman said that real estate values, from past experience, do go up if a piece of property is in the historical district.

Mr. Elmer Schubert of 413 Beal pointed out that only R1 and R2 structures are under restrictions, and since Mr. Murray's building is commercial, he may go to the Zoning Board of Appeals if he wishes any improvements.

Don Jones, 245 S. Wing, suggested that the Historical Society include in their map all properties to be colored that are in the district to avoid the misconceptions of what is designated historical and what is not.

Councilman Biery pointed out on Page 2, last paragraph, the phrase "consist of seven members who reside within the City and shall..." is redundant, appearing twice on that page.

Councilman Vernon suggested deleting the word "and" on Page 3, paragraph 1, and inserting a comma after "council." He also asked that R3 and R4 be included as Residential, not just R1 and R2. This could read "...within residentially zoned areas..."

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Folino to amend the ordinance by deleting the word "and" and inserting a comma after "Council" on Page 3, paragraph 1.

Carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Nichols to amend the ordinance by changing the last paragraph Page 3, to read "located within residentially zoned areas..."

Carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Folino to amend the ordinance by deleting the words "consist of seven members who reside within the City and shall..." on Page 2, last paragraph.

Carried unanimously.

There being no further comments or questions, Mayor Allen closed the Public Hearing on the Historic District Ordinance.

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Folino to adopt the Historic District Ordinance as amended.

Carried unanimously.

Mr. Michael Wascko of the Michigan Historical Commission congratulated the Council and City on the passage of the Historic District Ordinance. He said he will be meeting with the State Review Board for Historic Preservation on January 22, 1974, and he will tell them the good news.

PUBLIC HEARING ON ANTI-LITTER ORDINANCE AMENDMENT: Mayor Allen opened the Public Hearing on the Anti-Litter Ordinance Amendment. The clerk read the amendment as it appeared in The Record.

There being no comments or questions, Mayor Allen closed the Public Hearing on the Anti-Litter Ordinance Amendment.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt the Anti-Litter Ordinance Amendment.

Carried unanimously.

SNOWMOBILE REGULATIONS: Mayor Allen said at the time the Snowmobile Ordinance was enacted the Council had said they would reconsider the regulations at a later date if necessary. The Snow Drifters Club had made recommendations for entrance and exit routes from the City by letter. City Manager read the letter and list of routes. In the letter, Club President Weiser stated that the Club has developed a mobilization plan to utilize the personnel and snow machines within the Club to aid the Police or Public Safety Department in emergencies.

Councilman Nichols requested sketches of the proposed routes be submitted before Council takes any action. This will be ready for the next meeting.

COURT BUDGET: City Manager reported on the three questions Council had raised concerning the Court Budget. The Court has been paying the Court telephone service and will continue to do so. The fringe benefits were worked out several months ago for Court employees. The Wage and Price guidelines are not mandatory for the court, they are also under a State Labor Board decision concerning cost-of-living raises.

Councilmen Vernon and Nichols were opposed to the pay increase.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Biery to approve the 1974 Court Budget.

Yeas: Allen, Biery, Folino.

Nays: Nichols, Vernon.

Carried.

POLICE DEPARTMENT RE-ORGANIZATION: Regarding the memo received from the City Manager concerning Police Department Re-organization, Council approved the recommendations made.

Concerning the Resolution for the re-organization, Councilman Nichols suggested re-wording item 7 to read "The City Manager is authorized an annual administrative fee of $1,000.00 for administration of the police Department."

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt the Resolution for the Re-organization of the Police Department as corrected.

Carried unanimously.

GENERAL AMBULANCE RATE INCREASES: The City Manager, reporting on the General Ambulance rate increases, said that they are in conflict with the contract.

Councilman Folino said that John Early, former manager of General Ambulance, told him of these proposed changes last year. He suggested to Mr. Early then that because of the contract, a copy of the proposed changes should be submitted to the City Council and to the Township. Mr. Early had agreed, but has since left General Ambulance.

Mayor Allen instructed the City Manager and Councilman Folino to work on this with General Ambulance HOUSING COMMISSION APPOINTMENT: Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Folino to appoint John Steinel to fill the vacancy on the Housing Commission.

Carried unanimously.

TRAFFIC SURVEY AT W. MAIN &

ROGERS Mayor Allen asked if the traffic survey at W. Main and Rogers was completed yet, and City Manager replied no.

Mr. Hugh Forman of 117 N. Rogers was present and stated that the situation at this intersection is very bad, with some cars running the stop sign on Rogers.

Mayor Allen said there should be a signal in the center of the intersection for traffic to see clearly. He instructed the City Manager to find out the cost of a flashing red and yellow light.

Councilman Folino favored the four way stop when it was there before.

Councilman Vernon urged the acceleration of the study.

City Manager was instructed to look into the situation at Orchard and Main St. as well.

MAIN STREET PARKING: Councilman Nichols suggested eliminating parking on Main in front of the Square Shopping Center, and leaving the area in front of the stairway completely free of traffic. City Manager will check into this.

CADY STREET: Mayor Allen suggested that Cady St. east of Griswold be made into a one-way street, with traffic going west. Due to the buildings being so close to the curb, it is a very hazardous corner. This will be on the agenda of the next meeting.

Select Northville Girl For 4-H Pilot Program

Denise Dingee, 21350 Halstead, Northville, recently was named one of 31 select participants in Michigan's pilot 4-H TEAM (Teen Enrichment and Maturity) Program.

Designed to create social awareness opportunities for older 4-H youth, the TEAM Program includes a series of four, two-day involvement activities.

The first of these, held in East Lansing last weekend, Jan. 25-27, featured visits to several area agencies, including: the Shelter Home for wards to the court, Pine Knob Lodge drug rehabilitation home, Glass House home for alcoholics, and a Methadone clinic. They also attended the Lansing community "Day with the Arts".

A senior, Miss Dingee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dingee.

All TEAM participants were initially selected by counties, one boy and one girl from each. After participating in district programs, the 31 state finalists were selected. All are between 16 and 19 years of age.

He Nominates Penrod To Air Force Academy

Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Birmingham) today announced that he has nominated Michael G. Penrod of Northville to compete for an appointment to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Penrod is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory P. Penrod of 45265 Mayo Drive. He is a senior at Northville High School.

He was selected on a competitive basis as a result of his College Entrance Examination, scholastic achievement, extracurricular activities, leadership potential, and the recommendation of his high school counselor.

Under the competitive system used by Congressman Broomfield, final selection will be determined by a selection board at the Air Force Academy.

Congressman Broomfield urges youths interested in attending service academies next year to contact him before November at Room 2435 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

AREA 4-H TEAM participants get together for discussions after visiting social agencies in Lansing (L to R): Bill Strautz, Wayne County; Denise Dingee, Oakland County; and John Lopez, State 4-H Extension Assistant.

ELEMENTARY CONSTRUCTION—Although construction is still 30-percent behind schedule, the elementary school in Highland Lakes is beginning to take shape. Outlined in steel is the circular classroom area which will house 500 students while the two-story bricked area to the lower right of the classrooms is the gym and boiler room.

School officials said progress at the elementary school in Northville Commons is identical to that of Highland Lakes and roofing of both buildings is expected to get underway soon. Work on the middle school on Bradner Road is on schedule with the completion date set for February, 1975.

Planners OK 100 Foot Lots and to eliminate the variation concept (section 3.02) entirely.

Chairman J. Burton DeRusha and C. Thomas Wheaton voted against the change, while Planners Ray Jackson, Donald Jones, Richard Alkire, Francis Gazlay and Bruce Turnbull supported the revision.

In other action Tuesday night planners rejected a request from Mrs. Howard Cole of Brighton that three lots she owns on North Center at Rayson retain commercial zoning. The proposed ordinance changes the zoning classification to professional-business-office (PBO).

Requests from Denis Roux and George Lloyd that separate parcels they own on Taft road near Eight Mile be rezoned to R-3 (multiples) were turned over to the planning consultant, Ronald Nino, for study and recommendation. Lloyd, who originally had proposed to build a professional office complex on the 2.7 acre parcel, presented plans for a 20-unit, higher-cost condominium development.

Architectural plans were presented by Glenn and James Long for a proposed commercial building on Main street directly west of the First Presbyterian church at Mary Alexander Court. Planners accepted the plans for architectural review and informed the Longs that plans must also be submitted to the new Historical Commission committee for review because it is located within the city's designated historical area.

Planners elected Wheaton vice-chairman replacing David Van Hine, who resigned because he is leaving the community, and decided to submit a list of names to the council for consideration as replacements on the planning commission.

Board Kills Radio Station

or not taxpayers would finance its operation.

He warned that voters may be in no mood to finance such expenditures since, even without them, they very likely will be asked to approve in June of next year renewal of 9 operational mills and perhaps additional millage to operate the new high school.

The board president urged "more thought" be given the proposal, weighing it against educational needs in other areas.

Trustee Wilkins, most vociferous proponent, argued that he was elected to make decisions—and not wait directions each time from the electorate. If those decisions prove wrong or are distasteful, the correct avenue for the electorate is to vote him out of office.

"I assume the same responsibility," retorted DeWard, "but I also have a responsibility to the voter on how I spend his money."

A program started by the board could be killed, thus wasting money, if the voters subsequently refuse to fund operation of that program because "the well is dry," the president repeated, adding, "I say wait."

Wilkins, in backing the station proposal, made it clear that he favored beefing up the district's vocational education curriculum—since not every child can nor wants to go to college. And the radio station, with its use of electronic equipment, represents a good vocational education tool, he suggested.

Although agreeing that counseling, remedial reading are important, Wilkins contended that once the student has benefited by these it is vital that the district have those kinds of programs that will sustain his interest and keep him in school.

Benefits of the radio station, as outlined in writing by the superintendent, were placed under three broad categories—for students, for schools and school board, and for community.

Student benefits—training ground for real career-oriented experience; insight into important mass medium used throughout adult life; focal point for media studies, and an experience site for clerical, electronics, speech, creative writing enthusiasts.

School benefits—instant, immediate communication with students, staff, parents, overall community; focal point for school-community relations; quickly accessible example to community of schools' commitment to educational quality and diversity; school-city and school-citizen liaison; instructional programming.

Community benefits—school operational information such as closing, schedules; coverage of athletic, musical, oratorical events; school board, council meetings if desired (live or recorded); credit and non-credit courses beamed to homes; quality news and public affairs.

Dr. Kratz also suggested the radio station could help give Novi a single identity.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

FRANK H. WHITMYER of Northville has been appointed chief engineer-product engineering, Hydramatic Division General Manager G. W. Griffith announced this past week.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Whitmyer joined General Motors with the Hydramatic Division in 1948. After a series of assignments in the division's engineering department, he was appointed assistant chief engineer in 1966, the position held previous to this appointment.

Whitmyer received his master's degree from Michigan State University last year. He and his wife, Ruth, reside in Northville. They have one son, Alan, and two daughters, Joan and Jan.

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt a resolution for transfer of appropriations of $20,000 from Water Fund to General Fund.

Carried unanimously.

There being no further business, Mayor Allen called the meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

Respectfully submitted, Patricia Sattler

Aerial view of the hazardous Novi Road - Eight Mile intersection

While Northville township officials apply as much pressure as possible on Wayne county to bring about the installation of better traffic safety facilities at the Northville Road-Seven Mile railroad crossing, another community intersection nearly as dangerous is plaguing the city.

It's the Eight Mile-Novi Road conglomeration that must certainly represent one of the most fouled-up engineering creations in county history. Maybe it's because it is the product of the efforts of two counties, Wayne and Oakland.

In all fairness, the intersection is better now than when it was first opened more than a decade ago. The curve has been broadened and new ingress and egress lanes provided off Eight Mile.

But east and west bound motorists on Eight Mile Road planning to turn either onto Novi Road or adjacent Novi Street had better have their wits about them.

Traffic at the intersection is heavy, especially in the morning and evening hours. And within a relatively short distance there are four traffic corridors leading into or out of Eight Mile Road.

-- There's an eastbound lane off Novi Road onto Eight Mile;

-- There's a westbound lane off Novi Road onto Eight Mile;

-- There's a northbound lane onto Novi Road off Eight Mile;

-- And there's Novi Street less than half-a-block west of Novi Road where traffic may either leave or enter Eight Mile Road.

In the case of either east or westbound Eight Mile Road traffic the big question that occurs when a motorist blinks a turn signal is, where will he make his turn, onto Novi Road or Novi Street?

If the car waiting to leave Novi Road and turn westbound onto Eight Mile Road guesses that the motorist approaching from the east is planning to turn north onto Novi Road and thereby pulls out, he may drive into a collision with a motorist who had intended to turn onto Novi Street.

An eastbound motorist on Eight Mile Road, planning to turn north onto Novi Street, may find that the motorist behind him thinks he is planning to follow the mainstream of traffic and turn north onto Novi Road, which is east of Novi Street. Thus when the turning motorist slows down or stops to permit westbound Eight Mile traffic to clear he may find that the trailing motorist is surprised by the unexpectedly abrupt stop and a rear end collision results.

Sounds pretty confusing, doesn't it?

For those motorists who drive this route regularly, the problems are most familiar. (See aerial photograph.) But a stranger doesn't have a chance.

That's why the city council is urging Wayne county to consider the installation of light signals at the multi-street intersection.

In Our Opinion

Novi Council Undermines City Manager

Last night a majority of the members of the Novi city council was scheduled to lower itself into a giant vat of hot water.

In our opinion the stage was set for the immersion when individual councilmen were assigned specific areas of responsibility, apparently with authority to circumvent the city manager.

So last night the "personnel councilman" was among those supporting a private meeting with disgruntled building department members, who want to talk about their boss without being heard by him.

Naturally, the press and public are barred, too.

Three councilmembers have expressed opposition to the meeting and have indicated for one reason or another that they will not attend.

We have little patience with private meetings of public bodies. Even on those rare occasions when

YES . . .

This question refers to the filling of vacancies on elected bodies.

I believe that the citizens of Novi, as do most Americans, still value their opportunity of choosing their representatives at the polls. By adopting a plan whereby the runners-up are designated as alternates then we as voters would be protecting our vote and voice at the polls and save the cost of a special election to fill vacancies.

A runner-up is clearly the choice of more of the voters than a person who never took the time to run. A runner-up has shown the desire and interest of serving the community by seeking the office. He would be more responsive to the voters than an appointed person who might be more responsive to the people who appointed him.

Too often the members of an elected body are in a position to stack or load that body with what they consider the "right" kind of people which means people who agree with the majority of them and may or may not agree with the voting community. They keep out the potential dissenter or outsider with different ideas. They justify this by saying they've picked the best person for the job and they very well may have, but they have made a choice that is not theirs to make and in doing so robbed us of our right of choice of our representatives.

If they are acting within the present framework of our City Charter, then that Charter should be changed.

Appoint Runnersup?

ALAN STONEX

NO . . .

Inherent in the appointment process is the ability to gain the services of the best qualified individuals available.

Voters may have rejected certain candidates because their positions were viewed as being objectionable to the public interest.

For a variety of reasons, other individuals (although most highly qualified) may not have actually sought election. The public is entitled to the services of a well qualified group which will discuss and examine all facets of a question—with a minimum of divisiveness—prior to making decisions.

Whenever an appointment becomes necessary it is the duty of the public body in question to consider all qualified citizens as candidates.

To be limited to consideration of "runners-up" only would constitute an overly severe restriction on all concerned and be counter-productive to good government.

Cold Seat

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

But for the arthritis that has crippled his legs and made putting on his pants an hour-long chore each morning, Joe Denton at 86 is as healthy today as he was 40 years ago when he trained polo ponies on what now are the streets and lawns of Northville Commons subdivision.

Police chief when I first started covering the Northville station, Joe insists he has never been sick a day in his life "if you don't count broken bones and a few bullet and knife wounds."

His legs just can't keep up with his active mind these days. "I sure wish I could get up and go," he repeats. "Probably could if I hadn't stopped riding. But I'm not complaining. I've had the fullest life any man could ever want for himself," he says.

And indeed he has.

In fact Joe really has had four different careers in his lifetime. They can be divided into four parts:

Military, cowboying in western Canada, farm management, and police work. The latter, his last, ended with his retirement from the Northville department in 1959 after 15 years on the force.

Born and raised in England, Joe was admittedly "young hellion most of the early part" of his life. He ran away from home and sneaked into the army at the age of 14, serving as a bugler during the Boer War.

At 16, not long after the turn of the century, he traveled to Canada "to try my luck on the ranges of the West." Today he's considered one of the official "Oldtimers" in the history of Winnipeg. He is one of few who remembers the wagon trains and oxcarts making their way across the prairies.

He quickly became a "crack horseman," working as a cowboy principally in the Elm Creek area "just north of the Dakotas in the Red River Valley." Besides working hard, he played hard, too, getting into all kinds of scrapes. He was knifed by an Indian in Western Canada, waylaid, stabbed and dumped for dead inside a livery stable, and shot in the hand during a card fracas in the Copper King Saloon in Butte, Montana.

"Oh, Jack, I was quite a character as a young man. I'm not so sure you ought to say much about that part of my life," he cautions.

A couple of years later Joe made a trip back to England—sort of an R&R sojourn from the rigors of the West—and got himself married "to the loveliest girl I ever met. I just didn't deserve her; she was too good for me," he recalls of his late wife.

But Mrs. Denton would not be persuaded by her husband's romantic descriptions of the West. She refused to move to Canada so poor Joe, having tasted the tough but adventurous life of a cowboy, had to content himself with a dull job in England.

The day World War I broke out was a "red letter date" in his life. He up and joined the army without even consulting his wife. "It was an awful thing to do but I just had to do it," he admits today.

Because of his knowledge of horses and because of his previous riding experience in Canada, Joe became one of four scouts in his cavalry unit, riding around the French countryside trying to spot Germans by drawing their gunfire.

Within weeks of his enlistment he was promoted to corporal and not long afterwards he became sergeant and was recommended for a commission. During one of the few periods he was not on horseback, Joe was "wounded and buried alive" by an exploding enemy shell. Frantically clawing his way from beneath the dirt and debris, his gas mask was scraped from his face so when he finally reached the surface to suck in some air he was gassed as well.

Joe recovered of course and before the war ended had rapidly advanced in ranks, attaining the position of major. Later, he was offered a tour of duty in India. But living in India seemed even less attractive than living in Canada to Mrs. Denton, so she promised her husband if he resigned his army commission she and their two baby sons (Pearl Stephens, a daughter still living in Northville and an employee here at The Record, came along later) would move to Canada.

"I was a happy man, let me tell you."

In Canada with his young, homesick wife and two babies sick with measles, Joe became a ranch manager on the 10,000 acre spread of Hiram Walker. "About 1921" he was offered a ranch job in the states—"by a Mr. Booth out east of here on Seven Mile Road." Then a year later, the bakery king, Philip Grennan, hired Joe to manage his 1,000 acres of farmland in Northville Township.

Grennan's main farm, of course, is today part of Thompson-Brown's Northville Commons development on both sides of Six Mile road near Bradner. It was called Farm Crest.

There was no finer farm in the area or for that matter anywhere in this part of Michigan, says Joe. Principally, a Guernsey cattle farm, the giant showplace was better known as one of the finest polo pony and hunter horse centers in the Midwest.

"Not many people are around who know it, but Northville had some beautiful fox hunts on the farms here years ago—complete with redcoats and hounds and all the rest," he points out.

The late Mr. Grennan operated the farm primarily as a hobby, says Joe. And it was his horses that he loved mostly.

It was Joe who supervised construction of three polo fields—a regulation field and two "skin fields" for practice—on 40 acres of land on the south side of Six Mile Road where Northville Commons homes stand today.

"Mr. Grennan loved the West, just as much as I did, so he had me build him a western cabin on 320 acres of beautiful "ranch land" near the corner of Six Mile and Beck roads (north side of Six, east of Beck). It was a beautiful place, a place where he could get away from the busy life in Detroit."

Joe also built the giant pole gates on the lane that led back to the cabin ("it still stands there, I think, way back off the road so you can't see it") and a bucking horse corral ("Mr. Grennan kept one bucking horse to entertain his friends").

After 20 "wonderful years" with the Grennan family (Mr. Grennan died before Denton left), Joe "retired," planning to raise and train horses on a little 80-acre farm on Ridge Road. But it wasn't long before he was managing John Haller's farm (of the former Haller factory on Northville Road) at Six Mile and Sheldon roads.

An officer in the Michigan State Troops, a military organization that was called to duty during the riots in Detroit in the 1940's, Joe was persuaded to leave farm management for good and to join Ford Motor Company as a plant protection officer in Northville. He was there but a year, however, when the then mayor of Northville Del W. Hahn talked him into joining the village police department.

And a year later Mayor Forrest Doren named him chief to succeed Lyle McKinney.

Still living at the corner of Randolph and Linden where he moved after leaving the farm, Joe looks back over his life without a single regret. And interestingly, even though his life is packed full of adventure, his most cherished memories are of the youngsters who made up his junior police corps when he was chief.

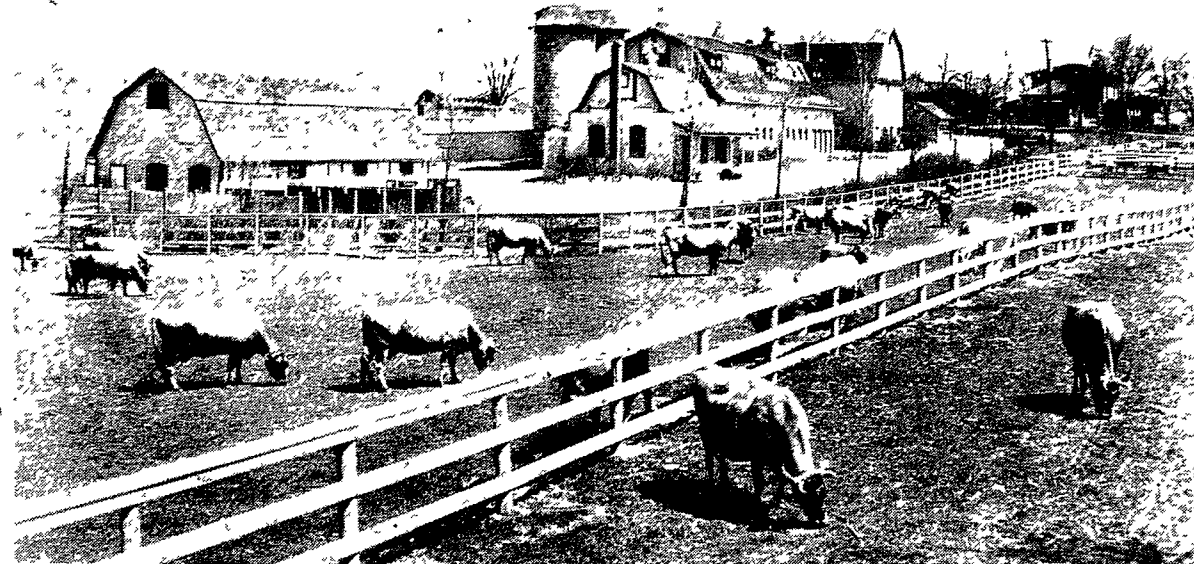

"Look at this picture," he says thumbing through an old album, "it's my junior police giving a party. Remember it? Wasn't that something?"

Indeed it was, Joe. But as I recall the party it was a tribute by youngsters of Northville who were expressing their thanks to the man who devoted untold hours and money to provide them with a wholesome activity.

The youngsters called the party, "This Is Your Life, Chief Denton."

This is how Farm Crest looked when Joseph Denton managed it 40 years ago

delicate personnel matters prompt elected bodies to hold secret sessions, word usually leaks out and the interpretations of what took place always vary.

But we can understand, if not accept, the fact that the press and public are barred.

In this instance, however, we find it completely inconceivable that a council would undermine its handpicked manager.

The excuse that individual employees fear reprisals from their boss if he hears their complaints just doesn't hold up.

How will he feel not hearing the grievances yet knowing they are being made? And how can he be subjected to such humiliation and still carry on his responsibilities of management?

The Novi council has, under its new mayor, adopted a procedure not unlike the commission-type government where there is no city manager. Each commissioner takes care of his own special interest.

We have no quarrel with the right of employees to complain. And we do not presume to judge whether or not their grievances are justified.

But we do know that you cannot operate in such a manner under a city manager form of government. The procedure is perfectly clear and fair to all sides involved.

Perhaps the mayor and those councilmembers who favor barring the manager from personnel meetings should purchase and read the manual on city manager government.

They were elected to operate under its rules. And they have the option of firing the manager if they are dissatisfied with his performance.

The miracle may be that they will have a manager to fire.

Says Officials Short Sighted

To the Editor:

It has become quite apparent that we should be concerned with the performance of our Northville Township Government. The dismal financial picture and the results of the Public Safety Study make our community look ridiculous.

Prior to the annexation vote, the township officials who were against annexation assured us that the township form of government and the present tax level could provide us with the services our community needs. Today, a year later, the township is in serious financial trouble; services are being cut back, and we are being asked for a 3 mil tax increase to support a Public Safety Program. It appears that some of our township officials are not very far sighted. If our growing community does not maintain financial stability, it will not attract the kind of development we are looking for in the future. A cut back in services is only a temporary solution. Our township officials must move quickly to take sound, long-term corrective actions which may include a recommendation for a tax increase. At this point, the important issue is not whose fault it is, but how the problem can be solved. The politicians can point fingers later.

The Public Safety Study has been handled poorly from the start. Very few people are opposed to improved fire and police protection; we need it. It appears that the study group chose to ignore the fact that the City of Northville existed, let alone the possibility that a combined effort between the township and the city could be beneficial to both. It's not difficult to draw the conclusion that the people involved in developing the plan let their feelings on the annexation question get in the way of objectivity. It's also hard to imagine that the city can seriously consider becoming involved in the plan under these circumstances. Now the residents of Northville Township are faced with voting for the millage to support a Public Safety Program which is needed, but appears to be conceived without all alternatives being considered.

FURTHER CUTS in Northville Township's operating budget for the current year are still being studied, according to Supervisor Lawrence. One clerical person has been reduced to four days per week and the heating and refrigeration inspector quit his post last week. Wright commented that the inspector "could make more from his pension and decided to leave." Budget cuts have been necessitated by lower than anticipated revenues from building permit fees.

APPEARANCE of William Friedkin at Schoolcraft Community College Tuesday has been canceled due to "personal exhaustion," Friedkin told college officials this week. Friedkin directed "The Exorcist" and "The French Connection." Refunds on tickets for the lecture may be obtained from the college bookstore or by writing the Community Service Office and enclosing the ticket. Next on the college's program of events will be a concert by Maynard Ferguson on March 14.

NEXT MEETING of the city council has been changed from Monday, February 18 (Washington's birthday observance) to Tuesday, February 19. On that date a hearing on a proposed ordinance amendment prohibiting loitering in business places will be held.

ADVERTISEMENT for bids on construction of a water main and a storm drain along the Wing Street block, from Cady to Main, has been authorized by the council. Cost of the dual project has been estimated at more than $60,000.

A RULES change for the board of appeals requires a minimum attendance of 75-percent at the board meetings by members.

AN ACTUARIAL study of retirement benefits for city employees has been ordered. Cost of the study has been estimated at $230.

DESPITE the heavy snowfall this winter, the amount of salt used by the Northville Department of Public Works "is about the same as last year," reports Assistant DPW superintendent Theodore Mapes. He explains that icy rain last winter required as much road salt as have heavy snows this winter.

Eventually, motorists driving south from Flint on I-75 will be able to turn off in northern Oakland County, get on M-275 and zip through Oakland County to the interchange in Novi and continue south past Northville into Livonia.

From that point they may turn east and head into Detroit, continue south and hit I-75 in Monroe County, or turn west on a new Plymouth expressway and drive into Ann Arbor.

Snowmobile Trails OK'd

Lone member of the audience voicing opposition to the proposal was Planning Commissioner Thomas Wheaton, who declared bitterly, "I find this (council support) incredible. I don't believe what I'm hearing. In the 30 odd years I've lived here I have not yet seen a situation that the DPW could not handle (without assistance of snowmobilers)."

Pointing out that churches very likely would oppose snowmobiles driving past during services, Wheaton said. "I agree with Nichols. The city is giving away everything and gaining almost nothing."

Snowmobilers, on the other hand, argued that noise is no more a nuisance than motorcycles either. Nichols quipped, "I don't like motorcycles either", that they (operators) are subject to state and county regulations as well as the city ordinance, and that authorized routes would discourage non-member violation driving within the city.

Furthermore, they pointed out that club activities are family affairs, thus ensuring that sound driving practices are followed to protect children.

Nichols explained most citizens who had voiced their objections to him were primarily concerned with "noise pollution." He called the club's promise to donate equipment in emergencies a "trade off giving the community the short end of the odds."

A petition opposing the fish hatchery site as a mar-shalling area because of the "noise pollution and safety hazard" and a letter from a protesting citizen were presented to the council by Nichols.

City Considers Traffic Light

Resumption of a four-way stop was seen as an unsatisfactory way of eliminating the hazard, since it appears a failure to notice the stop signs on Rogers is triggering most accidents. The idea of a blinker light—yellow for Main Street traffic and red for Rogers traffic—seemed like the best way to alert motorists to a potentially dangerous corner, councilmen agreed.

However, Mayor A. M. Allen again emphasized that no solution will work well unless the city deals also with the related traffic flow and parking problems at OLV. Twice now he has been caught in a traffic jam on Orchard, the mayor reported, because motorists are parking on both sides of the street thus allowing only for one-way traffic.

In the event of a fire, a truck would be unable to get through, he warned. Since the problem occurs only during church services Saturday night and Sunday morning, a parking ban on one side of the street during these periods was suggested.

Councilmen David Biery also pointed out that since removal of the stop sign on Main it has become almost impossible on Sunday morning following services to gain access to Main from Rogers because cars are bumper to bumper from the church east on Main almost to Center Street. Councilman Paul Folino concurred.

Motorists trying to gain access to Main from Linden, West and High streets also are experiencing similar difficulties, Biery added.

It was at this point in the discussion when the traffic light suggestion was introduced.

Cost of a blinker has been estimated at from $1,000 to $1,500, while the traffic light cost was put at about $2,500 by the city manager.

A police study of the parking and traffic flow at OLV was ordered by the council.

Honeymoon's Over

To the Editor:

The honeymoon is over for Northville Township officials. Oil companies have manipulated the national government to the extent that politicians have become servants of the giant monopolistic interests. Now we observe the obvious fact that the fire study committee has cleverly manipulated the township board into the position of requesting the public to vote for an additional 3 mills, to support a program of empire building, which will inevitably burden the taxpayers, without any assurances that the current financial mess will be solved.

We could expect the fire study committee to place their report on an 18-minute tape, with assurances that the erasure would deny the public the right to know the truth. We might expect them to claim that some sinister force, not only erased the tapes, but also prohibited their investigation of the complete facts as related to a joint department of public safety.

We might also expect that they will bug the offices of township officials, under the guise of national security, while placing great emphasis upon the artificial slogan of law and order. We can assume that the chairman of the committee will present a state of the township address, claiming that we never had it so good. Sparks ignited by the fire study committee will never be squelched by a new flood of Watergate activities.

Sincerely,
Larry VanderMolen

Seeks Cooperation

To the Editor:

Recent articles in the Detroit News as well as the local papers have been called to my attention by interested citizens of the City of Novi, who are concerned by this adverse publicity.

The morale of the city employees has been seriously affected and this has resulted in several proposed and actual resignations which has further undermined the morale of the remaining employees. This can result in seriously undermining the city administration.

We feel that every concerned citizen should do what he can to prevent this from happening. Therefore, we request a meeting with the City Council to try and create an atmosphere of unity and cooperation.

Respectfully yours,
C.A. Smith

Northville Township needs objective leadership from its elected officials to grow and prosper. It is obvious we are not getting that kind of leadership. Now is the time for those officials to put aside their personal feelings and differences and to start working toward establishing a strong, well run township government. The question of annexation should not be of concern in running and planning for the township. That question is up to the voters.

By JEAN DAY

Every weekday morning a bus filled with women inmates from Detroit House of Correction pulls up at the Plymouth Center for Human Development—and 25 special students of Schoolcraft College descend to begin a day of child care work and study.

The women are now in the 11th week—the mid-point—in a new work-training experience designed to equip them with skills to rejoin society as "useful, productive citizens" in the medical service profession, according to Donald Laird, program director.

Under contract with the City of Detroit, Schoolcraft College is providing instruction in child care and child development to the 25 women inmates. The program is supported with funds from the U.S. Department of Justice's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

During the 22 weeks the women, who have been selected from those who volunteer, work in wards during the morning and spend two hours in classroom instruction in nursing techniques and child development each afternoon.

"These women are more than meeting us half way in the program," Laird said, pointing out that, while helping children who need help even more than they do, the inmates are developing a better self-concept.

In groups of six or seven they go to residential programs within the Plymouth Center each morning and are assigned as assistant group leaders to work with groups of ten children.

In this on-the-job training they are learning from the group leader and ward supervisor techniques used in caring for and educating the mentally retarded. Each group rotates so that students are exposed to four different kinds of treatment facilities. At noon the students help feed the children.

In the classes they are taught by Dora M. Cavalieri, a registered nurse and instructor, and Irmgard Gellely, a psychology instructor.

"There have been absolutely no serious incidents in the program," Laird stated, adding that reports of the program have spread through DoHoCo and he already has almost enough volunteers for the second semester of the pilot program.

He pointed out that inmates with a history of assault, child abuse of sexual problems automatically were rejected from consideration for the training.

In April the initial group of special students will take the Michigan Civil Service examination for nurse attendant—and the 15 of the 25 due to be released from prison in the next year will have a new career to anticipate.

Laird said ways now are being explored to use the new skills of the remaining 10 women who will graduate as child care workers while they're still serving their terms.

"A Good Neighborly Policy" (based on an article in the 1974 edition of "Horse and Rider")

Difficult as it is to believe, some people don't like horses...or it may be just your horses!

In today's suburban living the horse owner often has neighbors who are not horse oriented. If the horse owner is to avoid the complaints of these neighbors—which may lead to strict regulations—he must learn how to be a good "horsey" neighbor.

Here are a few things which the horse owner should do to improve conditions:

1. Horses should not be

Active Catholic Group Breaks with Tradition

By TERESA ARNOLD
A Novi-based activist group recently confronted the Wayne County Human Resources committee with its view that a tuberculosis clinic on Park Avenue in Detroit was improperly serving its patients.

As a result of these efforts, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has accepted the offer of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association to undertake a complete study of the Cass corridor clinic.

That activist group is not a citizens action group. It is a Catholic "small faith community" called Emmaus. And this is only one example of that group's search for Christ in a way unlike traditional Catholic parishes find themselves able to do.

Their search began three years ago when they formed this community.

They chose the name Emmaus from Chapter 24 of Luke which tells the story of Christ's disciples walking on the road to Emmaus, lamenting on the events of His death. A stranger joins them and speaks of Christ, but it is not until they reach Emmaus and break bread with the stranger that they realize he is Christ.

"This is a portrayal of our struggle to find Christ and the potential of not recognizing Him where we were—in a parish situation," said Ben Pierce, president of the community.

Not wanting to open old wounds, members of the community say only that their differences with the Northville Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church were ones of liberalism versus conservatism and this caused them to seek an alternative to the traditional Catholic parish.

"We do happen to live in one of the most progressive archdioceses under Cardinal John Dearden," said Pierce.

"I suppose we were influenced by the times. When we found out it was possible to form this community and be recognized, we jumped on it and had considerable assistance from the archdiocesan office."

The Emmaus community is only one of 14 such communities in the Detroit area. The oldest is about 10 years old.

The differences between the Emmaus group and a traditional parish have to do with size, boundaries, land holdings and structure.

"The concept of a community is a return to the early days of Christianity, in attempt to regain the personally based contact and love," Pierce said. "This is difficult to achieve when there are large numbers."

The Emmaus community has about 12 regularly attending families. Pierce explained that the group is not geographically confined as a parish is and it does not hold property, nor does it seek to.

"We tend to find those kinds of possessions overbearing," Pierce commented. "People are inclined to become preoccupied with the house rather than the purpose for which they're there."

The Emmaus community meets for self designed liturgies each Sunday at Living Lord Lutheran Church on 10 Mile Road.

"Our smallness lends itself to a greater intimacy among members," pointed out Father Frank Cusack, priest-member of the community.

He sees the community as an extended family of which he is a part, not because of his office, but because of his person. He says that although he resides in the monastery, he feels he can walk into any of the members' homes and be recognized as part of the community.

"In the parish setting I was always Father," Mr. Cusack said. "I prefer this situation where I am called by my first name because it is a recognition of the person."

Father Cusack is a Passionist priest associated with St. Paul of the Cross Monastery in Detroit. He was chosen by the group.

"We do not have a pastor," Pierce said. "He is a community member. Like one of us, he has special talents and we have ours. We share responsibilities."

Father Cusack, who worked in a structural parish for seven years, says he sees the small faith communities, or the "small communities of faith" as he prefers to call them, as a "sign for the future which is already in the present."

Being in the community means sharing joys and sorrows, Pierce said.

"We know all about each other, what we believe, what we like, where we live, when someone is sick," he said.

"We celebrate everyone's birthday. We try to orient our activities to the family, including joining together as a group for some part of our vacation."

"If people are in the group, they're here because they want to be here. Everyone is an activist who has made a direct selection to be here," he added.

As activists, the community takes care of the religious training of the children, plans liturgies, settles all of its own financial matters, works on adult religious education and is active in service projects.

The principal reason for their incorporation as a legal entity, said Sam Chapman, a member of the group, was so they could become involved in housing the elderly.

"We were working in that direction when Federal funds collapsed," he said.

Their work with the Wayne County Board came as a result of another project members became involved in.

The tuberculosis clinic on Park Avenue, along the Cass corridor, is a place where patients report for shots and contact with service agencies, after their release from the hospital.

"We learned about some of the needs there, and we began assisting with food bags for their high protein diet," Chapman said. "Through our association with the people and their problems, we began to realize the system was not working and helping the way it was designed to."

"Our investigation found there were problem areas in the clinic's relationship with other social agencies and lapses in contact between the hospitals and the clinic," he said. "It was all a lot of bureaucratic nonsense which left the people without food and aid for sometimes as much as 10 to 14 days."

The group's initial pitch to the Wayne County Human Resources committee came in November and at the conclusion of a second meeting with the Board of Commissioners in early January, a decision was made that a study of the workings of the clinic would be made within 60 days.

"At least they listened," Pierce said. "The majority of our members were involved and we are still maintaining the food bag program."

priest, Father Frank Cusack, whose tiny parish is a Novi-based activist group.

Fund-Raising Drive Set

St. Paul's Plans Additions

A fund-raising drive to finance a major building program at St. Paul's Lutheran Church and School will get underway late this month, Assistant Pastor Ralph Schmidt has announced.

The drive, to be conducted by Chase & Associates—a professional firm out of the New England area, will be launched with a banquet at the church social hall on February 25.

A two-part building program calling for additions to both the school and the church itself, immediate emphasis will be on the school addition, said Pastor Schmidt, who reported additional space is desperately needed.

"We are pushing out the walls," he said, pointing out that the K through 8 school presently has an enrollment of 101. In addition 26 youngsters are enrolled in the pre-school program.

The church addition and the school remodeling has secondary priority, said Fred Sarnes, who is chairman of the building program and of the fund-raising drive.

Plans call for the school addition to connect the existing school with the church property.

It will provide for three new classrooms, a multimedia center, youth room, multi purpose room-gymnasium, offices and remodeling of the existing facility.

The church construction will deal primarily with expansion of the chancel area, addition to the balcony, etc.

Construction of the first phase is expected to get underway in June or early summer, with earliest occupancy by late December or next year.

St. Paul's is located at the corner of High and Elm Street. Its pastor is the Reverend Charles Boerger. Principal of the school is Kenneth Lehl.

Organized in Northville in 1896, the church built the original frame building on the site the following year. In 1949 the present brick church building was constructed, and 10 years later St. Paul's adjacent school building was constructed.

The planned new additions represent the first building projects at St. Paul's since construction of the school in 1959 when the Reverend B.J. Pankow was pastor.

'Joy Mission' Scheduled

A new concept in affirmation, acceptance, trust, love and commitment will be experienced by members of the South Lyon United Methodist congregation who participate in the Joy Mission scheduled for February 10 through 14.

The evening sessions led by the Reverend and Mrs. Al Hanson of Morenci are from 7 to 9 p.m. with a nursery provided for the very young. There will be classes for ages four through eight years while the older members of the family are taking part in a wide variety of activities designed to emphasize the purposes of the Mission.

Local chairman Gary L. Moore urges everyone to "try to make time for this series of events." He promises a rewarding experience for all.

Fellowship, fun, family and learning will all be stressed, Moore said.

A prayer vigil for the success of the Mission is planned for Saturday evening with Fred Burt in charge.

Casual dress is requested for the Mission series and ladies are asked to wear slacks for comfort. While the Joy Mission is planned to enrich the lives of the congregation's members, guests are most welcome, Moore stated.

Eye Land Use

A program on "Land Use" will be presented by the Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters at the February luncheon meeting of the Northville United Methodist Women at the Northville church, 777 Eight Mile Road, next Tuesday, February 12.

The meeting will begin with "Chapel Mementos" presented by Isabel Todd at noon. Luncheon will be at 12:30 p.m. with the program at 1 p.m. The public is invited to attend with guests asked to make reservations with Nanci Olgren, 349-6432, before February 8.

Down Walled Lake Western 70-58

Victorious Mustangs Even 'Look' Good

When he isn't coaching basketball, Walt Koepke is an English teacher.

But the conversation following Northville's 70-58 conquest of Walled Lake Western last Friday had more to do with aesthetics than it did with either basketball or Beowulf.

"There's a certain coach who comes up to me after each of our victories and says, 'Well, it wasn't pretty, but you won,'" related the Mustang cage coach.

But after Northville's impressive 12-point triumph over Walled Lake, there wasn't a Northville fan in attendance who wouldn't have told you that the Mustangs not only won—they looked like an awfully "pretty" team in the process.

Even Koepke, who is often his own harshest critic, couldn't suppress a pleased smile as his team filed into the locker room. "It's pretty hard not to be pleased with that kind of performance," he admitted. "I thought we played well in the first half, but I thought we played extremely well in the second half, particularly in the fourth quarter.

"Our passing was crisp... we were running our offense well...and we rebounded very well. We had something like 11 turnovers for the whole game and that is really very good," he continued.

What made Northville's 12-point victory all the more impressive was that it came against Walled Lake Western squad which also turned in one of its better performances. The result was that the fans were treated to quite a basketball game.

The first half was particularly exciting as the two teams battled back and forth on equal terms with first Northville and then Walled Lake holding the lead. On the strength of two fast-break buckets in the final minute, the Mustangs moved out to a 19-16 lead at the end of the first quarter.

But the Warriors came back strong and led throughout most of the second quarter

The Mustangs managed to take a 39-37 lead into the locker room at the half, however, as Joe Bishop threw a full court pass that bounced off the hands of two Western players to Todd Eis who laid it through the cords as the buzzer sounded.

The lead continued to see-saw back and forth when the two teams resumed action in the second half. With 2:25 left in the third quarter, Northville held a one point, 48-47-in lead. But then the Mustangs made their move and added three buckets while holding the Warriors scoreless to take a 54-47 lead into the final period of play.

Northville stretched the margin to nine points by scoring the fist bucket in the fourth quarter. Western narrowed the lead to five points, 58-53, with five minutes left on the clock, but Northville quickly upped their margin to seven points and won going away.

Even Steve De Mar, the fine young Western coach, was impressed with the Mustangs' performance. Asked to pinpoint the difference in the game, De Mar said "they (Northville) just played with a lot more poise than we did."

"They played a much more intelligent game than we did," stated De Mar. "On offense they were patient and much more deliberate than we were. They waited until they had a good shot before they threw the ball up there and when they were on defense, they were able to capitalize on our mistakes with their fast break."

The victory was the fourth in a row for the Mustangs who now boast a 9-5 record overall and a 4-2 mark in Western Six play.

"One of the things that has been helping us is the play of Doug Crisan at the forward spot," observed Koepke. "We've been getting the usual strong performances from Todd and Tom Eis at forward and center, but Crisan really rounds out our front line.

"Doug's only 6-2, but he weighs 190-pounds and his size and strength under the boards makes us a much stronger rebounding team," Koepke continued.

Crisan has also made a significant contribution to the Mustangs' fire power. Against the Warriors, for example, he tossed in 16 points. Todd Eis, Northville's All-conference forward, topped the Mustangs in scoring with a 26-point performance, while junior center Tom Eis contributed 12 points.

Together Crisan and the two Eis brothers accounted for 54 of Northville's 70 points.

"I like to see the scoring come from up front because the forwards usually have the best shots at the basket," Koepke observed. "But our three senior guards are also capable of scoring in double figures if they have to."

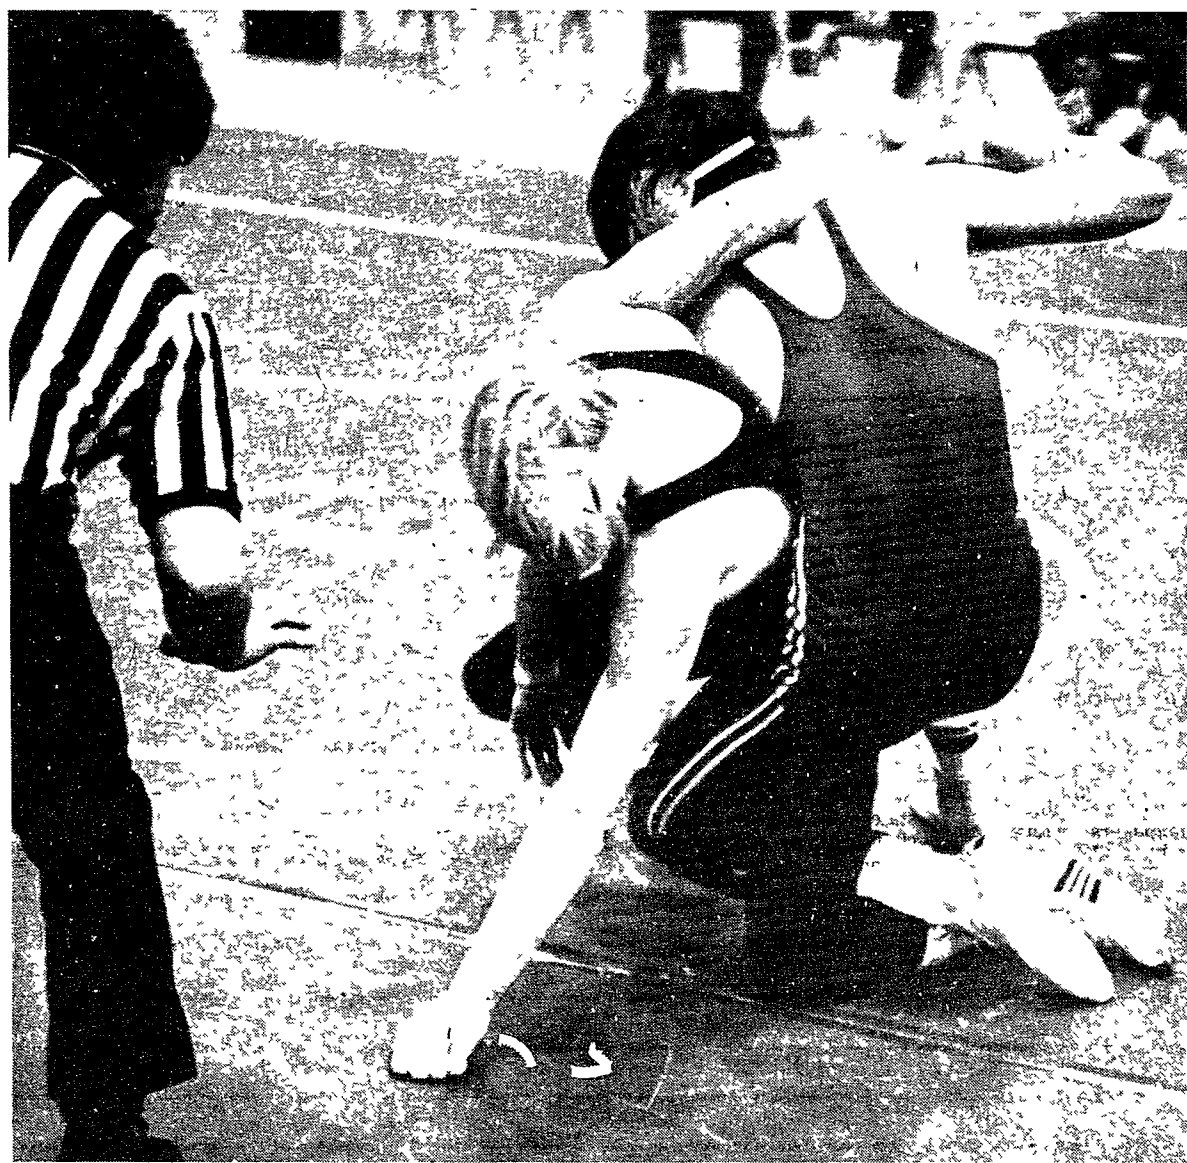

Scoring honors in the game went to Western's John Spranger, a 6-5 forward who scorched the bucket with 35 points.

"Spranger was really a big problem for us," commented

Koepke. "We switched three different men on him and he scored against all three. He's really developed into a very fine basketball player."

Spranger was the only Warrior to hit in double figures, however, and the Mustangs more than offset his scoring prowess by hitting 31 of 56 field goal attempts for a 56 percent shooting percentage. Northville hit 15 or 21 field goal attempts in the second half.

The Mustangs will be hard-pressed to extend their winning streak to five as they host Waterford Mott Friday. Led by Mike Grace, an outstanding senior guard, the Corsairs are 5-1 in Western Six competition and 11-2 overall.

RIDING FOR A FALL—Novi's Don Jackson (right) clearly has the upper hand as he prepares to catch South Lyon's Don Cevora in the pinning combination called the guillotine. Cevora successfully resisted Jackson's efforts, however, and handed the

Overcome Early Deficit

Northville JVs Triumph

Omar Harrison, coach of Northville's junior varsity basketball team, is convinced that Walled Lake Western's jayvees are just about the best first-quarter team around.

When the two teams first met back in December, the Warrior jayvees spurred off to a 21-14 first-quarter lead and last Friday, when the two clubs met again, the Warriors streaked away to a 24-16 first-quarter margin.

But each time the Mustangs managed to come back and gain the victory, winning the first game 63-42 and then posting a 66-51 triumph last Friday that upped their season's record to 10-4.

"They did the same thing to us Friday that they did the first time," observed Harrison. "After that first quarter it looked like they were going to blow us right out of the gym. I just can't believe how hot they were."

The difference in the game was Northville's switch from a man-to-man to a trapping-zone defense at the end of that high-scoring first quarter.

By the half Northville trailed by four points, 36-32, and then blew the game wide open in the second half by outscoring the Warrior jayvees 34-15.

"After that first quarter we talked it over and decided to see if we could narrow the gap with our zone in the second quarter and then come out at them strong with our full-court press in the second half," Harrison reported.

Busy Schedule Too Much For Schoolcraft Matmen

Disaster struck the Schoolcraft College wrestling team last week when the talented Schoolcraft grapplers attempted to take on four different opponents within the span of 24 hours.

After dropping a 23-22 decision to the University of Michigan reserves Friday night, Coach Larry Meyer took his Schoolcraft team to Illinois for a triple-dual meet Saturday afternoon.

The hectic schedule proved to be too much as the Ocelot grapplers dropped a 20-19 decision to Harper Junior College and were bombed 30-8 by Forest Park Community College of St. Louis. The lone Schoolcraft victory was a 20-19 verdict over the University of Illinois reserves.

Particularly upsetting to Meyer, the Schoolcraft coach, was the 30-8 setback handed his wrestlers by the Forest Park squad. Prior to the meet, Schoolcraft had been rated seventh in the nation among junior college wrestling teams, while Forest Park was a notch behind in eighth place.

"I guess we can just about kiss the top ten good-bye for this year," commented Meyer. "Our only claim to fame now is that we beat the tenth-rated team (State University of New York at Farmingdale) in the Grand Rapids Invitational Tournament two weeks ago."

Howard Strick, Schoolcraft's fine sophomore grappler who is a contender for national honors in the 134-pound weight division, was the lone Ocelot to win all his matches over the weekend. Schoolcraft now has a 14-5 dual meet record.

Wildcat Cagers Drop Pair To Country Day, Chelsea

Given another crack at the Number 3 team in the Southeastern Conference, the Wildcats of Novi might turn things around.

Playing at snow-clogged Chelsea Friday night, Novi clipped 20 points off the Bulldogs' previous total but still came up on the short end, 64-46.

Last time these two teams met—here on December 14—the Bulldogs smothered the Wildcats, 84-48. With a cushion like that they could afford to be charitable Friday.

But in another meeting and another shaved 20 points the Novi quintet might pull out a chestnut. Unfortunately, the two teams won't clash again until next season.

Nevertheless, Coach Ron Flutur was pleased.

After all, the Wildcats had kept it close for two quarters against one of the stronger teams in the league. And that's more than could be said about the previous Tuesday's encounter with Detroit Country Day—a game in which John Hanett's team aimed for the ceiling and very nearly reached it.

Country Day won that non-league tilt, 96-43.

Against Chelsea, however, Novi actually led through the first quarter of play (13-11) and then managed to keep it close at the intermission, slipping back just two, 23-21.

That's when Coach Tom Balistrere's five turned on a zone defense that all but throttled the guests. By the time the third stanza was over, the Bulldogs' running faster than a Snowshoe fleeing a hunter, were out-front by 16—43-27.

Dave Alber, who came up with only one field goal in the first two quarters of play, fired four two-pointers and added two charity points in that third quarter for the Bulldogs.

And in the final frame, even though Alber's shooting eye went awry, Rick Miller took up the slack by hitting four field goals.

Gary Ford, who got off to a good start (four two-pointers in the first quarter), finished high for the Wildcats with 14, followed by Bill Barr at nine and Rick Marchetti at eight.

Alber took scoring honors for the host five, flipping in 18 points, while Miller was the runner up with 16.

Novi looked slightly better at the free throw line, converting 10 of its 18 shots whereas Chelsea settled with 14 of 26. The Bulldogs, however, flipped in seven more field goals—25 to 18.

Believe it or not, Country Day scored nearly three times

Wildcat Grapplers Top Lions

Novi wrestling coach Russ Gardner has no special dislike for South Lyon.

On the contrary, with the exception of his Novi, South Lyon is probably his favorite Southeastern Conference high school.

But when Gardner's Wildcat wrestlers managed to come from behind to hang a 32-24 loss on Dave Stewart's South Lyon squad last week, the victory had a special significance to the Novi mat coach.

"It's nice to beat them because I have so many personal ties over there," noted Gardner. "South Lyon is where I did my student teaching and I was also a fulltime substitute over there the year before I came to the Novi system."

What's more, Gardner played an important role in the success experienced by the South Lyon matmen over the past few years. During the two years he was associated with the school, he assisted Stewart in coaching the Lion team and helped develop such outstanding grapplers as Russ Danielson, Ray Givens, and Gary Ison.

"I think the reason I like to do well when we wrestle South Lyon is that so many people over there know me," Gardner offered. "It's always nice to look good in front of your friends."

Actually, Novi's victory—their second SEC dual meet triumph of the season—was boosted by the fact that the Lions were forced to enter a heavily patched-up line-up. No fewer than five South Lyon regulars were unable to compete in the meet due to a variety of reasons that ranged from injury to illness.

Gone from the Lion line-up were 100-pounder Craig Layson and 140-pounder Steve Gurney. The losses that proved to be decisive, however, came in the heavier weight classes where the Lions were forced to compete without the services of Jack Esery at 169, Ken Givens at 187, and Ison at heavyweight.

At the end of the 157-pound match, the Lions held a commanding 24-14 lead. But the Wildcats came on strong and gained pins in each of the last three weight classes to pull out the 32-24 triumph.

Mike Mulligan, a rapidly-improving junior, started the comeback by flooring Don White at 1:13 of the first period in the 169-pound weight class. It was the third consecutive first-period pin registered by Mulligan over the past two weeks.

Tom Auten gave the Wildcats their first lead of the night by pinning John Perfetto in the second period of the 187-pound match to make the score 26-24. And Gil Spiers wrapped up the victory by putting South Lyon's Keith James on his back in the heavyweight match.

The three straight pins enabled the Wildcats to win the match even though the Lions won six of the 12 weight classes, while Novi was winning just five. One match—the 107-pound battle between Novi's Scott Spielman and South Lyon's Dave Slaybaugh—ended in a 4-4 tie.

Fortunately for Novi, each of their five victories came via a pin. In addition to the pins registered by Mulligan, Auten, and Spiers, the Wildcats also got pins from Bob Sasena and Al Jones.

Sasena upped his personal record for the season to 22-4 by pinning Walt Wilson at 2:56 of the 121-pound match, while Jones floored John Stanford at the 4:45 mark of the 134-pound match.

Sasena's victory at 141 enabled the Wildcat's sophomore co-captain to remain undefeated against SEC competition this season.

"Bob's got a good chance of being the top-seeded 121-pounder in the league meet," stated Gardner. "He's really having an outstanding year. The only kids who've been able to beat him are all really good wrestlers. What makes me even happier is that Bob's only a sophomore."

"He's already a good wrestler and he's only going to get tougher."

Novi's victory upped their season dual meet record to 4-7 and their dual meet record against SEC teams to 2-4. The Wildcats will attempt to finish their SEC season with a 3-4 record when they trek to Saline next Monday.

MAKING A POINT — Northville's Eve Williams goes to her knees to save a point in the Mustangs' volleyball game with Farmington Harrison last week. In spite of Williams' efforts, the Northville girls went down to defeat in overtime, losing the second and third games 15-7 and 17-15 after having won the first game 15-13. The Northville girls, now 1-1 for the season, are coached by Wendy Spaid.

With Win Over Milan

Saline Nears SEC Title

Saline just about wrapped up the 1974 Southeastern

Conference basketball championship Friday by registering a 58-55 victory over Milan in what could have been the season's key game.

Saline had won the first meeting between the two teams, but Milan could have moved into a first place tie with the Hornets by coming back and winning the second meeting last Friday.

But it wasn't to be as Saline came out on top by the three point margin, 58-55. The victory left the Hornets all alone in first place with a 9-0 record and dropped Milan, now 7-2 in the conference, two games off the pace.

Milan managed to hold Dan Scotten, Saline's 6-5 junior center, in single figures, but 6-3 forward Tim Slepisky picked up the pace by tossing in 28 points. Stan Joplin and Jay Cummings had 23 and 14 points respectively for the Big Reds.

Elsewhere in the conference, a pair of surprising upsets created a three-way tie between Brighton, Dexter, and Ypsilanti Lincoln for fifth place.

Biggest upset of the week was Lincoln's 69-52 triumph over South Lyon. Just last week the Lions had come within two points of downing Saline, but they came up flat Friday as the Railsplitters raced to a 40-24 halftime lead en route to the 17-point, 69-52, verdict.

Scott Hubbard's 22 points paced the victors, while Tony Kern and Ed Segars had 15 and 10 points respectively for the Lions who fell into fourth place behind Chelsea.

The other upset was Dexter's 75-71 surprise of Brighton. Hot-shooting paced the upset as the Dreadnaughts hit 60 percent from the floor and 15 of 19 from the charity stripe. Jeff Montibeller scored 22 points—including a field goal and a pair of free throws when the Bulldogs closed to within two points late in the game—to lead Dexter Greg Martin with 20 and Jim Johnson with 14 sparked Brighton.

MIKE MULLIGAN

Wildcat of the Week

Mike Mulligan has been tabbed for Wildcat of the Week honors. The 160-pound junior started Novi's comeback victory over South Lyon last week by pinning his opponent in the first period of the 169-pound match. It was the third consecutive match in which Mulligan has floored his man in the first period.

Powerful Harrison Tops Mustang Swimmers

Farmington Harrison, the only team to beat Northville in swimming over the past four years, did it again last week.

And this time it wasn't even close as the powerful Harrison squad stroked its way to a decisive 106-66 rout of Northville's defending Class B state champions.

It was the worst loss ever inflicted on a Northville swim team since the sport was initiated here five years ago.

"We knew they had an outstanding team, but we convinced ourselves that we were going to go over there and give it everything we had," commented Ben Lauber, coach of the Northville team.

"I'm really proud of the job our boys did. They went into the meet knowing that Harrison has one of the best teams in the state and yet they gave it everything they had."

"They're really a great group of competitors," Lauber added. "I think I could take them up against Indiana University (seven-time NCAA champion) and they would go into the meet trying to win."

"They really showed me a lot of character."

The Northville-Farmington Harrison rivalry has been intense over the past few years. In the five years that Northville has had a swim team, the Mustangs have lost just five dual meets and three of those five losses were inflicted by the Hawks.

The quality of the two teams was best demonstrated last year when the Mustangs won the Class B state championship, but had to settle for second place behind Harrison in the Western Six Conference.

This year, however, the Hawks have dominated the two meetings between the two squads.

"They only have 13 swimmers on their team, but every one of them is excellent," observed Lauber. "Most teams will have one or two mediocre swimmers, but Harrison has nothing but outstanding performers on its team and that makes for excellent workouts."

"As far as I'm concerned," Lauber continued, "they've got one of the top five teams in the state this year. This is by far the best team they've ever had."

The Hawks won nine of 11 events in piling up their 106-66 victory over the Mustangs.

They set the tone for the entire meet by taking first and second place in the opening event - the 200 yard medley relay. The one-two finish gave them a 10 point, 12-2, lead and Northville was never able to get any closer through the rest of the meet. Tom Cook and Don Cook were the only Mustangs able to take a first place against the powerful Harrison squad, and both of them had to break their own school records to do so.

Tom Cook registered Northville's first-place finish when he compiled 268.05 points to edge out Harrison's Rick Kral (261.05 points) for top honors in the diving competition. Both Cook and Kral, incidentally, are strong contenders for the state diving crown.

Don Cook picked up Northville's only other first place finish when he stroked his way to a 5:18.5 clocking in the 500 yard freestyle. Cook's performance was all the more remarkable because he has been sidelined with an injury for the past week.

Harrison won everything else. Mike Rado won the 100 and 200 yard freestyle events, Jeff Hornacek won the 100

Although the Mustangs were soundly defeated by Farmington Harrison last week, the meet was not a total loss for these two Northville performers. Not only did they account for the Mustangs' only victories, but also established new team records in the process. Tom Cook broke his own team record in winning the diving competition, while Don Cook smashed his own former record in stroking to top honors in the 500 yard freestyle.

yard butterfly and the 200 yard individual medley, Bruce Howell won the 100 yard breaststroke, Todd Dolan won the 100 yard backstroke, and Mark Dudash won the 50 yard freestyle.

The loss, which dropped Northville's season record to a still highly commendable 8-2, had an added significance to Lauber, however.

"At the start of the season we set a goal of not losing more than two dual meets," recalled the Northville swim coach. "If we're going to meet that goal we've got to win all the rest of our meets. The nice thing is that if we work hard I think we can do it."

"And a 14-2 record isn't too bad for a rebuilding year," he added.

Porterfield Leads Northville

Warriors Pin Loss on Grapplers

Ed McLoud's lack of optimism was understandable when he took his Northville wrestling team to Walled Lake Western last week.

It's not that the Walled Lake team is unbeatable, mind you. They've already lost to Detroit Catholic Central this year. But the Shamrocks are the only team that's beaten them as the Warriors have run up 12 wins in their other dual meet matches.

"It was a little difficult to be optimistic about our chances for a team victory," admitted McLoud, the Mustang mat mentor.

"They beat Waterford Mott

45-12 and Mott beat us 38-18, so I really would have been very much surprised if we had managed to come out of the match with a team victory."

As it was, the Northville grapplers managed to post 11 points in suffering a 48-11 setback.

"I might feel bad about it except for the fact that they've beaten everybody in the conference that badly," commented McLoud.

Indeed, with four defending Western Six Conference champions and two more third-place finishers from last year's tourney gracing their present squad, the Warriors have been posting lopsided victories over all the conference teams.

The Mustangs accumulated their 11 point total with a pin, a decision, and a tie.

It was Jim Porterfield who paced the Northville matmen as he registered a second-period pin over Western's Andy Blair in the heavyweight division.

With only Plymouth Canton left on the schedule, Porterfield has now registered victories over each of the other heavyweights in the Western Six and, barring an upset at Canton, should go into the conference championships as the top-seeded heavyweight.

What's more the 215-pound senior has registered pins over Harrison's Scott Labo and Churchill's Dave Kuhn - two of the better heavyweight grapplers in the area.

Sophomore Brent Ashby was responsible for Northville's only other victory against Walled Lake as he gained a 4-0 decision over Western's Garth Geiger in the 128-pound match.

"Brent really did a nice job," commented McLoud. "Geiger is a pretty decent wrestler and Brent went out there and really wrestled a good match against him."

McLoud also expressed pleasure with two other performances - Tim Johnson's 6-6 draw with Mark Shurmur at 157 and a 6-5 loss suffered by Wally Armstrong in the 140-pound match.

"Shurmur finished third in the conference last year, but Tim almost beat him," observed McLoud. "Tim was leading 5-2 going into the last period, but Shurmur narrowed the score to 6-4 and managed to save a draw by getting a takedown with one second left in the match."

Armstrong was also pitted against a third-place finisher from last year's conference tourney when he met Bruce Garland in the 140-pound match.

"Wally got outscored 3-2 in the final period or he would have had a tie, too," McLoud reported. "But even though he lost 6-5 I was really pleased with the way he wrestled. Wally is really a gutsy kid."

The loss dropped the Mustangs' conference record to 0-4 and their overall record to 0-7. Northville will get its last crack at a Western Six Conference win Thursday (tonight) when they journey to Plymouth Canton to take on the Chiefs.

Grand Rapids, Mott Top SC Swimmers

Revenge is what Schoolcraft College swim coach Jim Millen had in mind when he carted his Ocelot tankers off for a rematch with Grand Rapids Community College last week.

But what he got was something far different as the Grand Rapids squad not only repeated its earlier triumph over Schoolcraft, but did it even more emphatically, stretching the margin of victory from 23 to 42 points.

What made matters even worse was the fact that Millen's defending state junior college champions then went out and dropped a 57-55 decision to Flint's C.S. Mott Community College, a team they had defeated 59-50 in their first meeting.

"I felt that we could beat both Grand Rapids and C.S. Mott," stated Millen. "Our times were getting better and their times were staying pretty much the same. I thought we had a good chance to come back and beat them both this time around."

But things didn't work out the way Millen would have liked them to. Grand Rapids won 10 or the 13 events in stroking its way to a decisive 77-35 victory.

Steve Leclair, Schoolcraft's All-American, accounted for two of his team's three victories by winning the 500 and 1,000 yard freestyle events. Tom O'Hagan recorded Schoolcraft's only other first by winning the 200 yard backstroke.

From then on it was all down hill.

Country Day managed only 22 points in the second quarter and an equal number in the third before hitting 26 again the final frame.

Novi, meanwhile, improved only slightly after their first quarter output, notching 13 points in the second, 11 in the third and 10 in the fourth.

Best word that can be said for the Wildcats' effort is that low scoring was balanced. Ten Novi players hit the scoring column, led by Barr with 11 and Pat McAllen with eight.

Novi also looked better at the free-throw line, converting 11 of its 26 shots. Country Day hit 12 of 28 shots.

Mustang of the Week

Mustang of the Week honors go to Tom Eis. The 6-4 junior center scored 12 points and led the Mustangs in rebounding by hauling in 11 caroms in Northville's 70-58 triumph over Walled Lake Western Friday. "Tom's been giving us solid performances in the center slot game after game," commented Coach Walt Koepke. "He's developing into one of our more consistent players."

A special part of the evening was the surprise cake presented to Carole Smith, who was awarded the teacher of the year award recently by the Novi Jaycees. Plans also were made for the annual cupcake sale on Valentines day, February 14.

North Novi Civic Association

There will be a meeting February 19 at 8 p.m. at the Novi Community Building for the general membership. At this time reports will be heard of the progress on various projects. This group is open to any resident north of Twelve Mile Road. For further information contact Mrs. Martha Hoyer.

Density Concerns

projected increase, according to the planning consultants, is the increase in the amount of land planned for multiple-family residential density. In addition to those 332 acres indicated for multiple-family residential density in the 1967 Master Plan, an additional 369 acres are estimated to have been zoned for such use.

These additional areas are located in three areas: near the intersection of Nine Mile and Haggerty Roads (213 acres), north of Nine Mile and east of Novi Roads (43 acres), and north of Eight Mile and west of Meadowbrook Roads (113 acres).

Vilcan-Leman reported further that a total of 15 multiple-family projects have received site plan approval in Novi and 10 of the 15 are located in the southeast corner. There are a total of 2,673 dwelling units in those 10 projects.

In addition, according to Vilcan-Leman estimates, there are approximately 358 acres planned or zoned for multiple-family development in southeastern Novi which have not yet received site plan approval.

These 358 acres would generate 3,508 additional multiple-family dwelling units in addition to the 2,673 units already approved — a total of 6,181 multiple-family dwelling units.

AZALEAS FOR BIOLOGY—Puzzled about what to get your sweetheart for Valentine's Day? How about an azalea. The plants are being sold by members of the Advanced Biology class at Novi High School to raise money to purchase equipment and supplies. The azaleas are being sold at a price of $5 apiece and can be ordered by calling Mark Kay at 349-9282 or Novi High School at 349-5155. Orders must be pre-paid, but students will come to your home to collect the money, as well as to deliver the plants on Valentine's Day. Above, Mark Kay and teacher Douglas Day exhibit the plants being sold.

At Novi High

Band Sets Concerts

Members of Novi High School's band will be giving two concerts during the next month, it was announced last week by Gordon Seiler, Novi's Director of Instrumental Music.

The first is slated for this evening, Thursday, February 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school commons and will involve the Novi students who will be competing in the district solo and ensemble festival on February 9 in Farmington.

The second concert is scheduled for February 28 when the band will perform in preparation for the district band festival on March 2.

Five soloists and two ensembles will be featured in the first concert. Mark McCormick will play a trombone solo, Sue Burton and John Withers will play trumpet solos, and Denise Stipp and Tina Wilkins will give flute solos.

A clarinet duet will be offered by Patty Tuck and Mitch Edelman, while Miss Tuck, David Fertitta, Kathy Mannilla, and Sandy Smith will perform a clarinet quartet.

There is no admission fee for the concert which gets underway at 7:30 p.m.

In Snow Removal Plan

Novi DPW Asks Help

Novi DPW Head Robert Shaw has requested citizen assistance in future snow removal operations.

"As a result of the big storm that hit during the third week of December, we have pinpointed several problems that hindered our snow removal efforts," stated Shaw.

"If we can get citizens to help us solve these problem areas, our snow removal efficiency will be greatly enhanced."

Chief among the problems were snowmobiles and cars parked on the roadway.

In addition, Shaw noted that the city is only responsible for clearing certain roads, while Oakland County has the responsibility of clearing the other roads.

According to Shaw, cars parked in the roadway are a serious hindrance to effective snow removal. "In order to plow through the snow it is necessary that the operator build up a good rate of speed and maintain it," stated the DPW Head.

"If the operator has to weave in and out around parked cars, it slows the momentum of the plow."

Shaw also noted that cars left on the roadway frequently get "buried" in snow.

"If everyone would keep their vehicles off the roadway during snow storms we would be able to operate much more efficiently," he added.

Snowmobilers were also a big problem for snow plow operators, Shaw reported. "When an operator is driving his rig he has to concentrate on what he's doing. He doesn't have enough time to be on the lookout for snowmobilers who were darting in and out of the roadways. As a result we had a number of very close misses that could have had tragic results."

Police Chief Lee BeGole noted that it is illegal for snowmobiles to be operated on public roads and stated that violations will be issued.

Oakland County's Road Commission is responsible for clearing the following roads: Haggerty, Novi, East Lake, Napier, Eight Mile, Ten Mile, Twelve Mile, Fourteen Mile, Grand River, and the I-96 expressway.

Roads under the jurisdiction of the city are Nine Mile, Eleven Mile, Thirteen Mile, Meadowbrook, Taft, Beck, Garfield, Wixom, Dixon, and Twelve and One-Half Mile. Novi is also responsible for all subdivision streets that have been dedicated and accepted by the city.

The phone number of the Oakland County Road Commission is 338-4585. Shaw can be reached by phoning the Novi DPW at 349-4300, extension 75.

Jaycee Dinner Saturday

By NANCY DINGELDEY

What do you do during these long, cold winter nights? One thought comes to mind which may stir some of you on. Why not check out the seed catalogues and start planning your garden. Doesn't take long for the remainder of the cold months to slide by and, if not prepared, the peepers could be chirping in the swamps before thoughts of planting time even came to mind.

Think a little further in the future to our Wixom Country Fair. It should be held along about September...but now is the time to think about it.

What about you industrious gals in the needlework department? Rules say that you can't enter any article made last year. The item must have been made during this fair year. Maybe hubby can check out the seeds while mom gets cozy in a corner with her knitting, crocheting or crewel work. All these things take quite a bit of time so at least start thinking about it now

The Jaycees are thinking about their charter dinner and it's just about last call for those tickets. The dinner is slated for Saturday, February 9, at the American Legion Hall in Northville. Tickets are available from Dick Swan at the Wixom Branch of the Community Bank for $12 a couple or $7 per person.

The public is cordially invited to attend this "kick off" event which is hoped to be the first in a long series of community activities planned by the group.

Next week is a busy one with two functions planned in the community.

On Tuesday, February 12, the gals can look forward to an afternoon full of fun and entertainment. It's time for another city-wide potluck luncheon. There are no tickets to purchase, so it's not difficult to attend. Only requirement is that you bring a favorite dish for the potluck table. Check your cabinets for one of those white elephants which takes up an enormous amount of unnecessary space. Then take a friend or neighbor by the hand and trot up to the V.F.W. on Loon Lake Road.

Plan on gathering along about eleven for a bit of a social hour, enjoy the friendship and chatter and then line up for a delicious lunch featuring some of the finest foods ever prepared.

And if the dish you bring happens to be one of your favorites, why not jot down the recipe and slip it to Bev Walters so that it might be included in the Friends of the Library Cook Book that is being assembled.

The white elephants will be handled by the "Friends" with the funds going to their treasury for work on the Wixom Library.

A craft demonstration will follow lunch. All this and you'll still be home by the time school gets out. For those of you with little tykes there have been some offers for baby sitting services.

Coming to City Hall Thursday night for what promises to be an evening of light-hearted humor, as well as a look and a taste of delicious diet-style gourmet food is the author of one of the "hottest" cookbooks on the market, "The Happy Cooker."

Elayne Stulberg, who has appeared on local radio and television shows and is scheduled for appearances with Johnnie Carson and other network celebrities, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Stulberg insists her cooking is not strictly limited to those on diets. It's good for everybody, but the main point is that it tastes good. She will prepare a main dish from her cookbook and will also offer a variety of pastries for everyone to sample. After the lecture Mrs. Stulberg will answer questions and be available to autograph copies of her book.

A limited number of tickets is available at a price of $2.50 each and can be obtained from Jane Wahamaki at 624-3754, Cathy Olson at 624-6866, or Nancy Dingeldey at 624-3950.

One Receives Degree

Several Win Honors

Several Novi and Wixom students have been honored for perfect 4.0 grade point averages at Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College.

They are: Robert Barger of Wixom, John Gunn of Novi, Gerald Leonard of Novi, Ernie Mason of Wixom, Shirley Nowak of Novi, Kathleen Stafford of Novi, and Shirley Ward of Novi.

They attained the high scholarship standing while attending Oakland full time during the fall, 1973 term.

Douglas C. Richardson of Novi was one of 114 seniors from the University of Michigan-Dearborn who received degrees in the annual winter commencement exercises.

Richardson, who lives at 24532 Bashian, received a bachelor of arts degree during the graduation program at the Scottish Rite Temple of Masonic Auditorium.

Degrees were presented by UM-Dearborn Chancellor Leonard E. Goodall.

Lieutenant Robert Robertson of the Michigan State Police, Captain Louis Westfall of Northville City Police, Chief Ronald Nisun of Northville Township and Paul Folino of State Farm Insurance.

Launch Anti-Crime Series

A series of programs for businessmen and community residents on how to prevent crime are scheduled to be presented later this month. Under the heading of "Cripple Crime's Triangle," the slide presentations and tapes have been purchased by the Northville VFW Post 4012 and donated to the Northville City Police Department.

Programs include shoplifting, robbery and check fraud for the businessmen and auto theft, self-protection, burglary prevention, crime and the citizen and crime reporting for area residents.

According to City Police Captain Louis Westfall, the community programs will be presented at the VFW Hall. Representatives from the city, township and Michigan State Police agencies will be present to answer questions following the programs. Groups may also arrange to have the programs presented at their meetings, he said.

Brochures highlighting each seminar will be made available at the discussions. Paul Folino has offered to pick up the cost of printing the pamphlets.

"Through the seminars," Captain Westfall said, "we hope to make the community more aware of how to prevent crimes and what to do if the crimes occur."

Last week's issue of The Northville Record carried a story on self-protection, one of the topics to be covered in the local programs.

Promotion of the crime fighting program throughout the state is being conducted by the Michigan State Police. Lieutenant Robert Robertson of the state police explained that by "denying opportunity to the criminal, the triangle of desire, victim and opportunity of crime is broken. Methods of denying opportunity are covered by the programs," he added.

Persons wishing to have any of the crime prevention programs presented to their neighborhood, club or organization should contact Captain Westfall at 349-1280 to make arrangements.

New books available in the public library this week include.

Hearing Thursday

A public hearing on a proposed one-mill property tax levy to bolster local and county public safety program in Wayne County will be held in Westland Thursday, Feb. 14.

The general government committee of the County Board of Commissioners will conduct the hearing at 7:30 p.m. that date in the council chambers of the Westland City Hall, 36601 Ford Road.

County Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick, D-Detroit, proposed that the board give the voters the option of approving a one-mill levy in a special spring election. He recommended a 10-year duration for the levy. If approved, the levy would raise $13.5 million annually. Under FitzPatrick's plan, the county would return 80 percent of that revenue—or about $10.7 million annually—to the 43 cities and townships for use in their public safety programs.

The money would be distributed through a "fair share" formula based on a combination of population and property tax base for each community.

The county would retain the remaining $2.8 million to help finance its law enforcement and related activities.

Commissioner Samuel A. Turner, D-Detroit, the general government committee chairman, by letter invited all local elected officials, police chiefs and "concerned citizens" to speak at the hearing.

He said his committee will decide on a basis of the response to the hearing whether or not to hold additional hearings.

Other members of the general government committee are: Richard E. Manning, D-Redford, vice chairman; Brian G. Arrowsmith, R-Plymouth; John Barr, D-Dearborn Heights; Huey A. Ferguson, D-Detroit; and Chester Wozniak, D-Hamtramck.

District-wide survey of Northville's attitude towards year-round school went into the mail today.

"We're attempting to assess whether or not community support of year-round school has increased with the operation of the program in the district," Superintendent Raymond Spear said.

"We also want to know to what extent people are interested in becoming involved in the program and enrolling their children," Spear added.

Survey forms are being mailed to all addresses within the school district, whether or not the families have school-age children.

Completed forms should be returned to the district no later than Friday, February 15, and may be mailed to the school, sent with school children or dropped off at any of the school buildings or central office.

Tabulation of results should be completed by late February or early March, Spear said.

"We really want to know how the community feels about year-round school and we need as many questionnaires returned as possible," he explained.

Questions included on the survey are:

- Are you receiving adequate information about the growth and development of the 45-15 program?
- What is your greatest area of concern in expansion of the 45-15 program to the high school?
- Do you agree or disagree with those who feel the district should mandate the year-round school program for one year?
- What alternative do you find most acceptable in meeting the classroom crisis—lengthen school day, year-round school, half-day sessions, increased class size, other?

• Are you considering enrolling your child in the voluntary year-round school program next year?

The last survey on community attitude towards year-round school was taken in November, 1972, when a random sample of district families was polled.

Spear said he hopes the district will receive a good return on the questionnaires "so we can determine how the community feels about year-round school."

Enrollment Sets Classes

"If you're interested in year-round school, sign up," Superintendent Raymond Spear urged Northville High students this week.

"We can't determine the class offerings at the high school level until we know how many students are interested," he explained.

If curriculum doesn't work out for the individual, if his friends are not given the same track he is or if he doesn't like the track he's been put on "the student has the right to withdraw from the year-round school program and go back to the traditional schedule," the superintendent promised.

Spear said the district will know by mid-March what type of class offerings can be made available and parents will have adequate time to plan for the summer.

"But we can't even begin to develop a schedule of class offerings until we know how many students are really interested in year-round school," Spear added.

Enrollment forms are available from offices of all schools in the district and at the central office. To date, 350 students have enrolled in the program grades kindergarten through 12.

An additional 600 students are currently involved in year-round school through grade eight, Spear said, bringing the total to 950.

Three Honored At Northern

Three local area students have been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester at Northern Michigan University at Marquette.

They are Donald Bode of 520 Grace and Philip Wojtowicz, 21634 Taft Road, both of Northville; and Frida Waara, 1429 Nightingale, Wixom.

To earn a spot on the list each of these three had to carry a minimum of three full courses during the semester for 12 semester hours of credit, while maintaining a minimum grade-point average of 3.25 out of a possible 4.0 for their courses.

You never outgrow your need for wealth.

No matter how old you are or how well off you are, we know it's always good to have some money tucked away.

So we try to help you tuck it away. Any way you want.

There's our 5% Regular Savings Passbook Account and our 5½% Special Time Passbook Account for your short term needs.

And our higher-interest 6%, 6½% and 7% Certificates of Deposit for your longer range goals.

So pick the savings plan that interests you most. And that fits your need best.

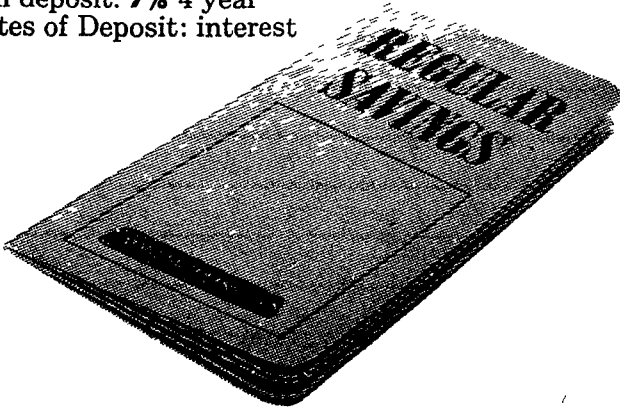

And your wealth will grow on you.

5% Regular Savings Passbook: interest compounded quarterly; withdrawals and deposits daily.
5½% Special Time Passbook Account: interest compounded continuously, payable quarterly, 90 day maturity; $50 minimum additional deposits.
6% 1-2½ year Certificates of Deposit: interest compounded quarterly with quarterly interest checks available; $500 minimum deposit.
6½% 2½-4 year Certificates of Deposit: interest compounded quarterly with quarterly interest checks available; $500 minimum deposit.
7% 4 year Certificates of Deposit: interest compounded quarterly with quarterly interest checks available; $1,000 minimum deposit. (Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate.)
