CONSOLIDATION of the city and township of Plymouth was defeated before it progressed beyond step one Tuesday. In an election to consider the possibility of bringing the two governments together to draft a single city charter the vote went like this: CITY—858 Yes, 252 No; TOWNSHIP—763 Yes, 2,706 No.

THE NEW SEV (State Equalized Valuation) for the city of Northville is up to $43,319,490 from $39,496,750 last year. The SEV actually represents 50 per cent of the market value of all real and personal property and is the valuation used for taxing purposes. One mill of tax, therefore, raises $43,319.49 in the city. The Wayne county portion of the city has a 1974 SEV of $28,070,150, while the SEV in the Oakland county section is $15,249,340.

NORTHVILLE FAIR meeting for organizations and their representatives wishing to participate in this year's event will be held Thursday, May 16, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the general offices of Northville Downs.

DEADLINE'S Monday, May 13, for filing petitions for Northville School Board. All petitions for the two four-year terms must be filed by 4 p.m. at the board of education offices, 303 West Main Street, school officials reminded residents this week.

BLOOD DONORS are welcome and needed for the Northville Blood Bank to be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. this Friday at Northville First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Elden Biery, chairman of volunteers, reported early this week that 189 donors are lined up, a total "down a little from normal". Anyone wishing to donate may call her at 349-2665.

Northville's city council was taken to task Monday night by a former council member for dragging its heels on levying of assessments for offstreet parking and carrying out legal action to complete the current offstreet parking program.

Businessman Charles Lapham reminded the council, politely but firmly, that it had failed to:

—levy assessments against the Drawbridge restaurant and the Rathert Building for offstreet parking obligations;

—complete legal action involving the condemnation of a building owned by Joseph and Pete Spagnuolo so that the current parking program for which business district property owners are being assessed could be completed.

Lapham noted that occupancy of the Drawbridge, which has been open more than a year, was approved by the planning commission in its examination of the site plan subject to completion of negotiations for offstreet parking requirements.

The ex-councilman admitted that as a member of the council at the time he, too, was subject to criticism. But he noted that he had reminded Mayor A.M. Allen on several occasions of the unfinished business. Lapham also criticized City Attorney Philip Ogilvie for not pursuing the condemnation action taken by the city against the Spagnuolo property.

"Property owners in the central business district being assessed for offstreet parking are not getting what they are paying for," Lapham pointed out.

Nearly 50 property owners in the central business district are being assessed over a 10-year period for construction of the parking deck on Cady street and a proposed lot on Dunlap east of Center street which cannot be completed until the Spagnuolo building is acquired by the city.

The assessment program provided that property owners within the central business district would pay one-half the cost of the offstreet parking and the city

$1,400 Wallpaper

"I'm hooked," Cal Cross readily admits. He's wallpapered the office of his Gulf station on West Main Street with 2,800 lottery tickets "and they're not all up yet." They're all his tickets and at 50 cents each, that's $1,400

he's spent so far. But he's had 30 winners at $25 each, recouping $750. Adding that he always has been a gambler and, although the lottery has so far been a losing proposition, "one day I'll have the big winner."

Sidewalk Sale, Bikes and Cycles

Busy Day in Northville July 27

The way things are shaping up, Saturday, July 27 could be one of the busiest days in Northville's history.

Barring rain, it will be the date for the annual sidewalk sale when merchants block off parts of Main and Center streets and thousands of shoppers jam the streets and sidewalks in search of bargains.

Northville could also be the site of the Amateur Bicycle League National Road Championships, which will attract hundreds of bicyclists to the two-day event, July 27-28.

And, finally, there's a possibility that on Saturday night, July 27, Northville Downs will be staging motorcycle races.

The Sidewalk Sale is all set Chairman Charles Lapham appeared before the city council Monday night and received the city's blessing and approval for blocking off the streets.

At the same time the council gave its support to a request from the Michigan Bicycling Federation to start and finish its multi-mile bike races in the city. The proposed course extends into Northville township where approval must still be gained from the township board of trustees and Wayne county.

granting the June 1 request because of previous complaints involving noise and dust control at the races.

Councilmen Wallace Nichols and Paul Folino voted against granting the permit for the June 1 event. But Mayor A.M. Allen and Councilmen David Biery and

School to Seek 9 Administrators

Nine administrative positions which are open in Northville School District are or will soon be posted for applicants.

In announcing the posting of the positions this week, Superintendent Raymond Spear said five of the posts are new for the 1974-75 school year, including the principalships of the three schools presently under construction.

A total of 24 administrative posts are planned for the 1974-75 school year, including intern positions.

Vacancies posted include personnel director, two intern positions (one each at the elementary and middle school level) and assistant principal at the middle school level.

Five new positions soon to be posted include vocational and career education coordinator for the kindergarten through 12 grade level, assistant to the director of business and finance, principals for two new elementary schools (one person to start).

principal for the middle school and coordinator for elementary and secondary education.

According to Spear, the two principalships will be filled with appointments in mid-year (January). One person will be hired to ready both elementary schools and another person will be hired for the middle school.

Spear also said that the special education coordinator's services will be expanded from part time to full time for the next school year.

Positions of the interns are open only to persons already employed by the school district. Those posts are one year only in length and were used this year at Amerman Elementary and Cooke Middle School Annex.

He explained that once the two new elementary schools are open, he anticipates that the school in Northville Commons will have an

Father Wittstock to Leave OLV

The call of "Go West, young man, go West," is being answered by the Reverend Father John Wittstock, who'll be heading out west in July.

Father Wittstock, who's been pastor of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville for the past 18 years, is "going into semi-retirement. I am relinquishing the reins of administrative duties to be an assistant in a parish out West, probably in the State of Nevada where there are only 53 priests in the entire state."

And after a year of Western living, he plans to return to the Archdiocese of Detroit to help out in any parish where there is a need for a priest.

The pastor, who turned 65 last December, has been at OLV longer than any of the other pastors.

"I have no sorrows," he commented. "I have had many joys. One of the greatest accomplishments has been in the area of ecumenism where the Protestant ministers and I have joined together once a month and, as a result of our dialogue, have brought Protestant and Catholic laymen together in special liturgies."

"The events have been experiences in spiritual and social growth; experiences which I shall always cherish," he said.

Ecumenism is a growing process, he explained. "It starts with a loosely knit kind of communications effort among the clergy of a given community and, after several months of dialogue, will naturally filter into the lay people of various religious persuasions."

Father Wittstock has been a strong advocate of community concern programs, being involved personally in the Volunteer Probation Department program since it first began, and has been instrumental in getting other adults to become interested in working as probation officers.

He has also promoted FISH and, together with other parishoners, has given financial support to the program. He also gave support to the Town Hall program from its inception 13 years ago.

"When Town Hall first began, I had my reservations," he remembers. "I did not have the confidence that such a program would work with the small numbers we had, but I gave the women my blessing."

"Town Hall has done a lot to spread ecumenism and good will," he added.

Father Wittstock has been an ad-

First Woman to Get State License

Lois Anderson Passes Clock Test

The image of the clock repairer who puts your grandfather clock in running order probably isn't that of a petite blonde—but it very well might be if the work's being done at Northville Watch and Clock Shop.

Lois Anderson, wife of Mel Anderson, widely known as "the clock man", has just become the first woman in Michigan to be licensed as a clock repairer.

She received notification the end of April that she had passed both the essay and practical tests in a day-long examination by the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulations at the state rehabilitation school at Pine Lake near Kalamazoo.

The examination was given there, she explains, as this is a skill taught the disabled and the facilities are available. After answering 30 to 50 essay questions, Mrs. Anderson had to repair a clock movement and have her work inspected by a state board committee. For this, she relates, the applicant brings her own clock movement—to which the examiners then "do something".

In Mrs. Anderson's case they "moved the verge (a lever) and let the wheels spin," she explains, and bent a wheel.

Of the four taking the test, Mrs. Anderson was the first and only woman, but she was doing so with the full encouragement of the examiners.

"They couldn't have treated me better," she recalls, "and they seemed really pleased to have a woman there."

The newly licensed horologist explains that the watchmaker examination also is given by the state, but is a two-day examination and a separate license from the clockmaker's.

Now both Mel and Lois Anderson hold clockmaker-repairer licenses while their son, Dan, who is in the business with them at 132 West Dunlap, is the licensed watchmaker.

Michigan, Lois' Anderson, notes, is one of the few states

CLOCK MAKER — Lois Anderson inspects the clock movement she worked upon that have licensing laws for this skill and also penalties for operating without a license, but she concedes they're difficult to enforce.

Mrs. Anderson recalls that she began her role in clock repairing by taking clocks out of their cases to help her husband and then took on cleaning about five years ago.

While a woman's hands may be smaller and make it easier to get into movements,

Mrs. Anderson says "you have to have strong hands to be a clock repairer". She also noted regretfully that the occupation is hard on nails. "My hands always look dirty," she says.

Although the Anderson clock shop is located in a white Victorian house at Dunlap and Wing streets, Mrs. Anderson has her work bench in the basement of the family's home at 310 West Dunlap amidst at least 250 clocks waiting to be worked upon.

"All clocks are pretty much the same to work with," she says, citing the Westminster chime clock with springs as the most difficult type to repair.

Three shelf clocks of the pillar and scroll type sit on the Andersons' fireplace mantel while another is in the basement. Cases are on the wall above the clockmaker's bench. Piled on the floor are stacks of the familiar school clocks with drop regulators. Mrs. Anderson points out the "double round" version as her favorite, mentioning that they erroneously often are called hour-glass clocks.

Throughout the house are decorative clocks—from fancy French types to a rare little grandmother tall-case clock.

"We buy as many as we can at a time from importers," explains Mrs. Anderson, "and fix them when we find time."

The clock shop, originally located in the family's home and operated by Mel Anderson on a part-time basis, has expanded to full-time in a separate shop. It seems, they note, "that more and more people like the 'company' a ticking clock provides in a home."

While trained by her husband, Lois Anderson is working with supplies familiar to most housewives. There's a can of glass cleaner by her bench, and she says Elmer's glue is used to repair loose wooden case pieces.

Unlike most housewives, however, she can file a clock wheel or replace a broken cog on a grandfather clock wheel with a brass pin as she helps time go by on schedule.

She Composes Musical For Sesquicentennial

By JEAN DAY

COMPOSER Charlene Slabey, Our Town's composer-in-residence who lives with her husband, Theodore, and family at 1088 Horton, has completed the music for a new musical to be presented in Farmington in July.

She and lyricist June Rado of Farmington, who collaborated two years ago on "Mackinac!," teamed up again to write a musical history of Farmington for that community's sesquicentennial celebration in July.

They officially were commissioned to write the musical for Farmington Community Center last September, and Mrs. Slabey estimates that about 200 hours have been spent doing so—not counting the actual copying.

The story, Charlene Slabey reveals, is told through flash-backs to yesteryear parades, Quaker settlement and Indian concerns. Titled, "The Power of It All," the musical has Annabel as its central character. She has been commissioned to write the history in the storyline.

Annabel, who will be played by Hope Nahstoll, leads the action, which Mrs. Slabey says, "is fast-paced and has a love interest." Virginia Dickerman is choreographer; Sue McCollum, music director; Robert Shaw, director; and George Nahstoll, producer.

"It's really being produced quite professionally," Mrs. Slabey reports, with tryouts being held this week Wednesday at the Farmington Players Barn for adults and at 10:30 a.m. May 18 for children.

It will be presented July 19-21 and 28 this year with plans to repeat it with different casts each summer.

Mrs. Slabey, who is a musician and a piano instructor, previously has written several religious works, including a cantata, "The Light of the World," taken from the New Testament Book of Revelation; "The Creation," a sacred work for women's voices; as well as "Pieces of Jade" from Chinese poems.

Her first musical, "Mackinac!," two years ago told of the settlers on the Michigan island in the 1820's. It was performed in Farmington, and then on the island during the summer season.

TED SLABEY, a junior at Northville High School, also is displaying a full measure of musical talent. He has played the piano for many musical events and also is an oboist. He recently has been playing that woodwind instrument in a small orchestra group at old St. Mary's Church in Detroit.

The orchestra has been invited to perform at the National Catholic Shrine in Washington, D.C., June 16. It and the choir are flying in for the performance with members to stay in college dorms there.

Ted's mother notes that the young musician has had only about three oboe lessons. He also has displayed an exceptional ability in language, "sitting in" on high school French class while taking beginning German.

He later won a regional scholastic French competition and has just placed second in a National French Alliance Contest at the Detroit International Institute. As such, he is an alternate if the winner cannot take the first-place prize trip to France.

Ted's sister, Marcy, a ninth-grader at Northville High, also plays the piano. Little sister, Mindy, 8, however, has set her goal on acting and is hoping to win a part in her mother's musical.

MEG POTTER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Potter, 46600 West Seven Mile Road, left a week ago today on a trip that will take her to the Philippine Islands.

Meg, who has just completed the sixth grade at Cooke Annex, will be staying in Manila with the family of Emmanuel Chua, who has been an exchange student with the Potter family. After graduating from Northville High School, he went on to Western Michigan University. He plans to transfer as a junior this fall to Michigan State University.

In Manila he will introduce his American "sister" to his own five sisters and his three brothers as well as to his parents, the Henry Chuas.

He and Meg first were to fly to Texas where Emmanuel is representing the Chua family at a Hickok convention before going on to California and the Philippines. Enroute back they plan to visit Hawaii.

BRADFORD PAUL Karrer, first grandchild of the Eugene R. Karrers, 18395 Pinebrook, came from the East with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Karrer, for a visit and his baptism last Sunday at Our Divine Child Church in Dearborn.

He was born March 27 of this year and wore a gown worn by his grandfather and a shawl worn by his great-grandmother at the service. He was introduced to his great-grandmother, Mrs. Marie Rinke Karrer, and his uncle, Charles Karrer, of Dearborn. His uncle served his first Mass as altar boy at Divine Child where Father Herbert Weir performed the sacrament Sunday.

The baby's great-great grandmother was Barbara Spieler Rinke; his great, great, great-grandfather John Spieler was a Dearborn resident.

His mother is the former Janice Pěruske of Dearborn.

TOWN HALL goers receiving announcements of next season's four lectures (opening with newswoman Nancy Dickerson October 10) are finding that the Northville Town Hall Committee has been able to "hold the line" on prices with a season ticket to cost $12, the same as this year.

Location of the lectures, however, is changed to the large auditorium at Madonna College which boasts an elevated stage. Mrs. Francis Korte, publicity chairman, is enthusiastic about the new meeting place, pointing out the "beautiful parking." She adds that it will be easy to reach at 36600 Schoolcraft at Levan roads. Maps will be sent with the tickets.

Luncheons will be at the Holiday Inn in Farmington and will have to reflect a food-cost increase, she says, to $5.

Other lectures will feature pianist William Albright, November 14; drama critic Joe Callaway, March 13, 1975; and cartoonist Bill Keane, April 10, 1975.

While this season's lectures have ended, the work of the TH board has not. Next board meeting will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Wilkinson, 45871 Fermanagh.

YWCA Sets Fashion Show

"Maytime Fashions", will be given at a salad luncheon at noon Friday, May 10, the Northwest Branch YWCA, at the branch building at 25940

Grand River by Claire Kelly of Northville.

The annual luncheon-show is the wind-up event of the YWCA membership drive. Reservations must be made and tickets purchased in advance at a cost of $2.50 for members and $3 for guests, according to Dorothy Horrigan of Northville, fashion show committee chairman. There is baby sitting for an additional 50-cent fee.

Interested area residents are invited to call KE 7-8500 for ticket information.

MR. AND MRS. BRUCE C. ENGELMAN

Laurie Carpenter Wed in Spring Rites

A wedding trip to Nassau followed the marriage of Laurie Lee Carpenter and Bruce C. Engelman at 6 p.m. April 20 in St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Carpenter, Sr., of 1035 Jeffrey Drive, as the Reverend Charles F. Boerger officiated in the double-ring service.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William Hamilton of Wolverine, Michigan, and of Edmund Engelman of Seattle, Washington.

As a symbolic gesture, two candelabra at the altar were lit during the ceremony and the third was lit by the couple together and the others extinguished at the conclusion.

The bride's gown of voile was accented with cluny lace and fashioned with a high, Victorian neckline, long, puffed sleeves and empire waist. A ruffle edged the skirt which extended into a full, flowing train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged with lace, and she carried a nosegay arrangement of mums and baby's breath tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Allan Verhaeghe was matron of honor in a white-with-red dotted swiss gown with high neckline and empire waistline with a red satin ribbon bow in back. She wore white roses in her hair and carried a single white rose tied with red ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Bernice Giancola, Barbara Wallace and Mrs. Edmund Engelman in white-with-red dotted swiss gowns styled like the matron of honor's in opposite colors.

Renée Verhaeghe, who as flower girl tossed rose petals as she came down the aisle, wore a gown similar to those of the bridesmaids. Bobby Engelman was ring bearer. Edmund D. Engelman was best man with Frederick M. Carpenter, Jr., Dr. Allan Parry and Marvin Tople ushering.

A reception for 150 guests followed at Vladimirs in Farmington. The newlyweds will make their home in Livonia.

$1.6 Million Budget Plan Goes to Novi City Council

A proposed city budget calling for a $330,380 increase over last year, which the city manager contends "is so tight it squeaks," has been introduced for council consideration.

The 1974-75 proposal of Manager Harold Saunders projects a balanced budget of $1,651,010.

A series of budget meetings by council to consider the proposal—to cut, increase or otherwise change it—was to get underway this week. The budget was presented to council, following reading of a lengthy explanation by the manager, Monday night.

Council members withheld comment pending a review of the document they first saw at Monday's meeting.

Saunders noted that the city's new equalized valuation for real and personal property tax purposes is pegged at $131 million—up $35 million over the 1973-74 fiscal year figure.

The $35 million increase, he explained, should yield an additional $225,375 in taxes.

However, he added: "In spite of what seems to be a substantial increase in property tax revenues, this additional money falls far short of what was needed to balance the general fund budget."

He pointed out that license and fee revenues are up "only $11,000" because of tight economic conditions and a general decline in new building starts.

State shared revenues, the other major source of income to the city, are estimated at $197,500, or $14,050 higher than the previous year. Federal monies for the traffic bureau and the community service officers project, he said, yield $51,055 to help offset part of the cost of the police department.

Concerning the police department, a graph accompanying the budget, indicates the police department share of general fund expenses represents 40-percent of the budget.

In spite of this large percentage, the new budget provides for no new police employees even though department requests suggested increases of four patrol officers, two detectives, two traffic officers, one CSO officer and one clerical position.

Saunders said even with a "status quo budget" the police department will consume 78 percent of all revenues generated by the city's 6½ mills for general operating purposes.

The new budget provides for a full-time fire chief, which the manager said could "handle basic fire administration and delve into long range planning for the upgrading of the department."

"A full-time chief," he continued, "could also provide some assistance to the fire marshal on fire inspections."

The manager emphasized that the "needs of the fire department are the most critical of any city department. New equipment is badly needed and much of the current equipment should be replaced within the near future. The need for a substation in southeastern Novi is critical with the rapid development of that section of the city."

"Fire station sites must be acquired to meet current and projected growth patterns and station houses must be built and equipped. Hundreds of thousands of dollars will be needed in the next four or five years to meet the city's obligations for adequate fire protection."

Concerning his longer range expenditure projections, the city manager estimated the police department budget will increase from its $454,355 level in 1973-74 to $1,752,567 (far more than the entire city budget now) by 1978-79; the fire department operational costs will climb from $82,150 to $223,500.

As the budget proposal presently stands, it would provide $19,162 for lease of office space from West Oakland Bank. But council also is considering alternate proposals that could cost less. See related story.

'Financiers' Named

Eight persons have been named to a Citizens Finance Committee in Novi to study methods of financing major capital improvement projects facing the city council.

Council Monday night named these persons:

Dieron Taffralian, 46153 Grand River; Donald C.

The manager's budget proposal suggests these departmental expenditures:

General administration, $125,490 down from $141,015 budgeted in 1973-74; mayor and council, $6,800 up from $6,500; clerk-general, $52,037 up from $37,870; clerk-elections, $15,355 up from $10,785; manager's office,

Urges Charter Amendment

'Boost Millage Limit'

In the wake of spiraling costs, which "are forcing a widening gap between revenue and expenses," Novi's city manager has recommended a charter amendment to provide greater funding in the future.

More specifically, Manager Harold Saunders, in a budget cover message to the city council, suggested the charter be changed to permit increasing the millage limit from 6.5 to 13.5 mills.

He urged council to seek voter approval for this charter change.

"The question can be posed in one of two ways," he said. "First, the charter could be amended to allow up to 13.5 mills to be levied for general municipal purposes. Second, the charter could be made to read up to 6.5 mills for general operation purposes, up to 4 mills for police services, and up to 3 mills for fire services."

Saunders recommended "the proposed 7 mill tax increase be earmarked for police at 4 mills and fire at 3 mills."

Nevertheless, he noted that projections indicate police costs would still require monies from the 6.5 (existing) mill levy.

Designation of 3 mills for fire, he said, "creates an assured source of money to begin acquiring badly needed station sites, construction of stations and new capital equipment."

If the first several years' receipts were used for capital expenditures, then subsequent years' tax monies could be used for salaries in beginning to build a full time force augmented by volunteers."

Two alternate methods of raising future monies were suggested by the manager, who opted for the charter amendment process. The others included a city income tax and user fees.

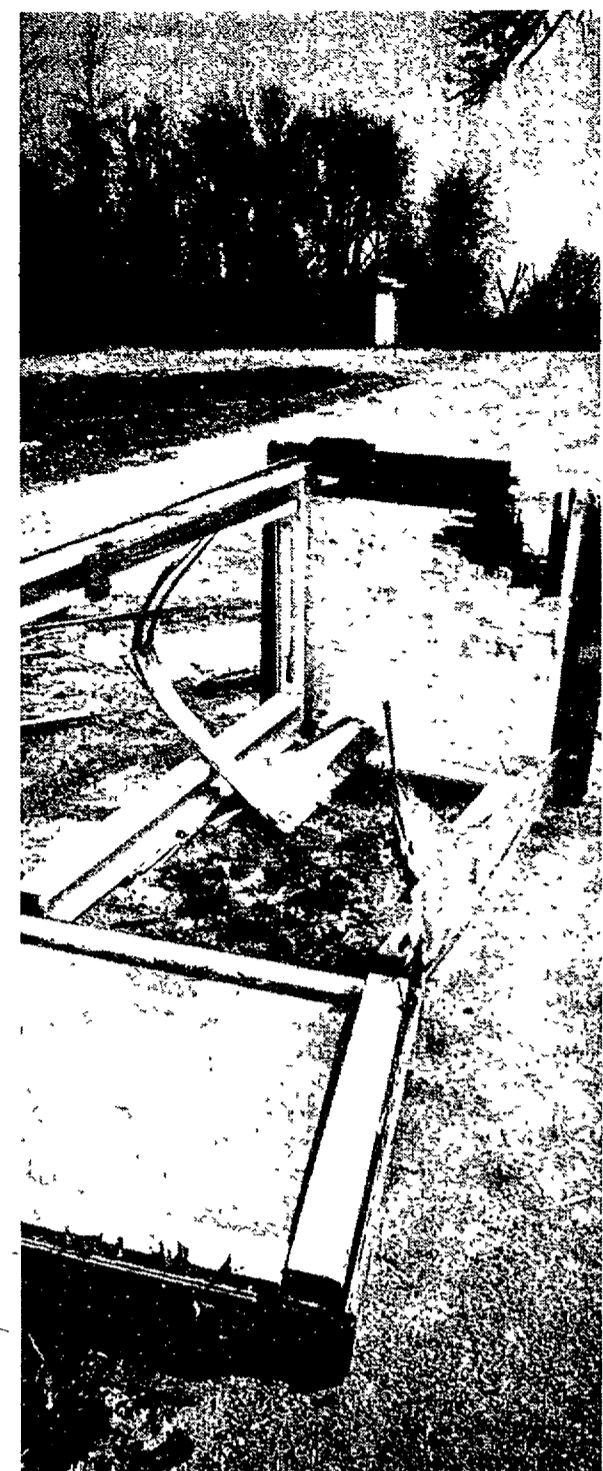

The latter, he explained, assumes that the citizen who uses a city service pays for the cost of that service by fee or permit.

However, the manager said "the amount of new revenue that could be generated by a general fee schedule revision in this area is limited. Nevertheless, it is recommended that during the coming year the fees charged versus the cost of service rendered be analyzed and new fees set where warranted."

If the millage limit was increased by 7 mills, the owner of a $40,000 house assessed at $20,000 would pay an additional $140 per year in city taxes, Saunders said.

He noted that city residents are presently paying from VANDALISM — City officials admit the vandalism problem at the city park on the south side of Walled Lake has reached disastrous proportions. Councilman Edwin Presnell, noting that buildings had been all but completely destroyed, suggested bitterly that the park's scheduled Memorial Day opening will be more of a memorial to the park than an opening.

$145,518 School Project

Bus Garage OK'd

A school bus garage, a proposal hanging fire for years, finally reached the stage of reality Tuesday evening as the Novi Board of Education awarded a contract for its construction.

The pre-fab building and the fenced compound is to be located off 11 Mile Road not far from the administration office.

Reminding fellow board members that he had opposed the garage in the past primarily because he felt the money might be better spent elsewhere, Trustee Robert Wilkins said he was persuaded to change his position by spiraling construction cost that are going up at a rate of 2½ percent a month.

Unless the garage is built now, he admitted, costs will prohibit it from ever becoming a reality.

He joined five other members (Trustee Sharon Pelchat was absent) in approving the measure, which empowers the administration to negotiate changes in a contract with low bidder Detroit Steel Building to keep within the framework of a $145,342 expenditure.

The contract, however, specifically excludes asphalt paving of the compound and an electrically operated gate. It includes a base bid of $99,824 plus $45,518 for sewer and water, outdoor lighting, etc.

Already expended on the project was installation of an underground gasoline storage tank at a cost of $7,225 and site work of $9,250.

Later in the meeting the board also accepted preliminary plans for remodeling and repair work at the present high school, which eventually is to be converted to a middle school, and it approved a furniture outlay for the Village Oaks addition.

Concerning the high school remodeling, Assistant Superintendent William Barr explained that it will involve remodeling and additions to the present boys' and girls' locker rooms; repair and renovation of all door hardware; repair and renovation of roof, eavestrough and downspouts; and movement

1,000-Foot Squeeze Throttles Arcades

Adoption Monday of a Novi pinball arcade ordinance, which is aimed at potential businesses anywhere in the city, may have barred two existing license applicants.

One of the two amendments tacked onto the ordinance could effectively prevent the opening of arcades in the Roma Plaza arcade or at 43500 Grand River, former location of a diner — one block west of Novi Road.

That amendment prohibits the operation of a pinball arcade within 1,000 feet of an elementary school.

"We just don't know yet; we measured it last night (Monday following council action) and it's very close," said Timothy O'Leary, attorney for two Novi men who have applied to operate the Big Wheel Arcade on Grand River.

It all depends, he said, on whether the measurement is from the Grand River site to the edge of the Novi School property or to the school building itself. If the measurement is "taken as the crow flies" the business would be affected, O'Leary admitted.

A proposal of Alfred Dinverno to operate an arcade in Roma Plaza appears to have been smothered by the new statute.

The "1,000-foot amendment" was proposed by Mayor Robert Daley, who made no effort to hide his contention that arcades are less than beneficial to a

Artist Sculpts in Novi Barn

Fat Prize for Thin 'Possum

By DONALD MEADOWS

It took John Chaffee three years to complete "Thin 'Possum", a white marble sculpture that took the $500 Award at Marietta College's "Mainstreams '74" art symposium in Ohio last month.

That's not bad for a 42 year old artist whose beginnings go back to the Depression. As a boy of ten, Chaffee would model things from the clay he dug up behind the brickyard in his West Virginian home town.

"Mamma didn't encourage it too much though," he chuckled.

Chaffee was never formally trained in sculpting. "I've just always done it," he said. He uses more than just clay to create pieces now.

"I like all medium for sculpture," Chaffee said. Bronze, marble, stainless steel and Corten steel are the predominant materials he has used to express himself.

"Bronze has a warm metallic quality and takes on a nice patina," Chaffee said. "Marble is nice because of the details that can be worked into it," he continued.

"You almost have to have a commission to work in marble though because of the time it takes," said Chaffee, who figures he would have earned about $2.72 an hour after costs if he gets the $8,000 asking price for "Thin 'Possum".

"Steel allows for larger pieces and it's being used more and more to build large abstract pieces to go along with architecture, like the "Gracehopper", down by the Art Institute."

The piece Chaffee entered at Marietta was small compared to that giant work, only 18 inches by 14 inches by 6 inches wide.

Slides of "Thin 'Possum" and a bronze female figure were submitted for preliminary screening for the show after Chaffee saw it advertised in "American Artist" magazine.

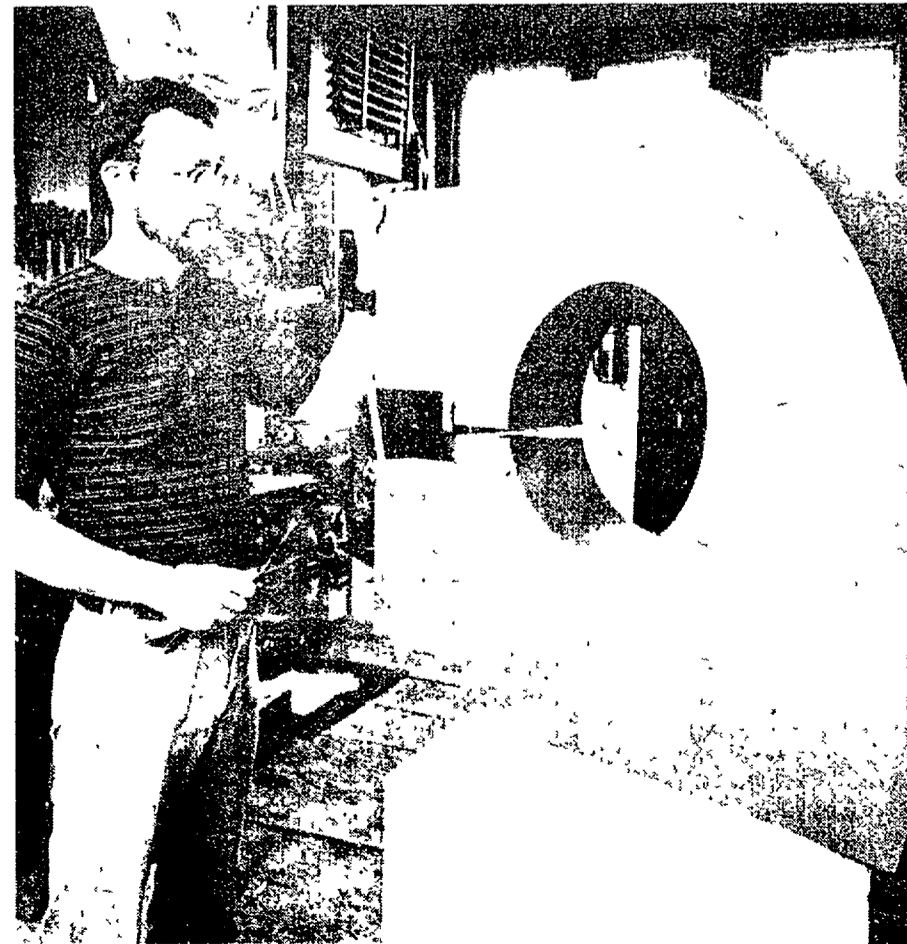

The judges decided the marble piece was the better of the two and the other work was left out.

"The judges at the Marietta show like well-crafted, completed works," Chaffee explained. "They emphasized conviction on the part of the artist on what he was trying to show," he said.

Chaffee's sculpture and other works from the symposium will be on exhibit at the Hermann Fine Arts Center at the Ohio college through May 12.

Chaffee's work also is on

C & O Eyes Plan For Bike Path

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company is considering the idea of permitting establishment of a bike path along its railroad line through Novi, it was disclosed this week.

Novi Councilman Denis Berry revealed that C&O representatives have inspected the railroad area and is actively considering the bike path plan.

Property on either side of the tracks is owned by the railroad and it is on this adjacent property where the path would be permitted.

Cost to the city has not yet been discussed, Berry said. It appears, he suggested, that C&O views the idea as good public relations.

While Berry waits further word from C&O, administrators also are investigating the possibility of

DeAlexandris and Alison Kugler. The preschoolers participated in the cake-baking project while also taking turns making special Mother's Day gifts.

Co-op Preschoolers Make 'Imprints' for Mothers

Some of the most treasured and longest-kept Mother's Day gifts will be those presented this Sunday by eager-faced three-to-five year olds with the proud comment, "I made it for you."

The handmade presents for mothers of 66 preschoolers in the Northville Cooperative Nursery will be just that — imprints of their hands in plaster of Paris circles.

The youngsters each pressed a hand into the goopy mix last week. After the imprints dried over the weekend, they were to be wrapped in gift paper by the children ready for Sunday giving.

This gift-making activity is one of the oldest in the cooperative's program.

"We do it almost every other year," notes director "Biz" (Elizabeth) Gazlay, "as mothers who have had children in the nursery before always want a hand print for each child."

Mrs. Gazlay adds that she appreciates the way mothers treasure the fat, little hand-prints as she still had those made when her now-grown children were little.

Hung with ribbon poked through the hole made in the imprints the plaques are in many area homes with "alumnae" mothers telling the nursery directors that the mementos are like silhouettes — "you can't go back and have them done after they've grown."

Also supervising the project were the other two cooperative directors, Rae Deibert and Eugenie Bemish.

Mrs. Gazlay, a teacher for 14 years in the popular cooperative at the scout recreation building at 215 Cady Street, teaches all five week-day mornings.

Mrs. Deibert, now in her 11th year, teaches Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings as the older group of four-and-five year olds gather. Mrs. Bemish, who joined the staff six years ago when the cooperative expanded into two sessions, teaches the younger group Tuesdays and Thursdays.

A less traditional but very popular project also was going on last Friday morning at the nursery as youngsters baked an all-in-one chocolate cake under supervision of teachers and helping mothers.

Mother participation is one of the requirements of a cooperative play school, but, the teachers feel, also is one of the benefits.

In addition to getting to know the children your own child is playing with, Mrs. Deibert says, there is a definite social aspect with many women in town dating long friendships from the days they "worked together in the co-op."

The parent participation also reduced cost of enrolling a child, cooperative officers add, with the rate now $17 a month for three days a week and $13 for two.

Traditionally, the cooperative has had long waiting lists but there still is space available for next fall in the three-day session and interested mothers may call Mrs. Deibert, 349-0285, or any teacher or officer.

Mrs. Deibert was the "cooking instructor" for the baking project last Friday as the young cooks worked from a picture recipe she had pasted on a large piece of poster paper. Even if you were too young to read, you could see the pictured cup or spoon for the amount and the pictured ingredient. The "Let's Bake a Cake" recipe instructed that 3 cups flour, 2 cups sugar, two-thirds cup cocoa, 2 teaspoons baking soda and 1 teaspoon of salt be sifted together and placed in the bottom of a 9 x 13-inch pan.

Three holes were poked into the mixture and into one went two-thirds cup of corn oil; into another, 2 teaspoons vanilla; and into a third, 2 teaspoons of vinegar.

Two cups of water were poured over the top, and the children then stirred until all was mixed. The cake then baked at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

When it emerged, the children sprinkled M-and-M's on top although Mrs. Deibert said the recipe really calls for candy bars to be melted on the warm top.

Anyway, it was the "best kind" of activity, according to the youngsters, because "you can eat it."

Michigan Week Highlight

Mill Race Open House Set

Official recognition as bicentennial communities will be given Northville city and township in ceremonies during the Michigan Week-Heritage Day open house to be held in the old library building in the Mill Race Restoration Village.

The building is to be open from noon to 7 p.m. on Tuesday, May 21, to provide the community with an opportunity to view progress to date in restoring the former library building since it was moved to the historical village site.

Seven crafts demonstrations will be given in the building throughout the day with the presentation of flags and certificates to be made at 3 p.m. by Howard Lancour, executive director of the Michigan Bicentennial Commission.

He also may be joined by Del Black of Lansing, regional manager of the Michigan Bicentennial Commission (not Northville's Del Black), planners report.

Local dignitaries have been invited to be present and will include Northville Mayor A.M. Allen, Northville Township Supervisor

Lawrence Wright, Northville City Council, Northville Township Board members and possibly state representatives.

Old-fashioned crafts to be demonstrated include canining, basket weaving, macrame, needlepoint, quilting, rug hooking and weaving.

Canning will be done by Mrs. Suzanne Mynatt, who has been involved in antique chair seating for the past seven years. She does canning, genuine rushing, shaker tape and splinting, performing work mostly for her friends.

Basket weaving will be shown by Mrs. Marge Fithian who was introduced to the craft in a community college course about a year ago.

Mrs. Joyce Buerkins and Mrs. Ilene Pierre will demonstrate their macrame skills. Needlepoint will be done by Mrs. Robert Horner, who has been doing it for several years as a hobby, but she occasionally sells work and teaches.

Mrs. Jo Krause will conduct a quilting bee, working on an antique frame. Her family has been involved in quilting since her childhood. This is her hobby, but she is teaching a class.

Rug hooking has been a hobby of Mrs. Barbara Scantlin's for 12 years. She does teach also. She is organizing a hooking bee for May 21 and those participating will use the traditional crochet hook method.

Weaving will be demonstrated by the husband and wife team of John and Gloria Tetter whose interest in this area is an outgrowth of a textile collection. In addition to weaving, they also spin, dye with natural dyes and raise their own sheep. They have been in business for the past five years and teach, lecture and demonstrate.

Those planning the open house event are Mrs. JoAnne Harris, coordinator; John Burkman, Northville Historical Society president; Francis Gazlay, restoration committee chairman; and Mrs. Carol Butske, publicity.

Tom Lee's been in Cub Scouting for eight years, most recently with Northville's Cub Pack 721

He's Been A Cub Scout 8 Years

Eight years ago, Tom Lee sent his son on a Cub Scout outing, declining the invitation to accompany the boys "because, like most fathers, I was too busy."

Today, 426 Cub Scouts later, Lee is retiring from the position of Cub Pack leader. "Eight years ago," Lee explains, "my son went on the outing and had a great time. I attended a few pack meetings and six months later, I was cub master."

That was in Cincinnati. For two years, he was a Webelos leader in Livonia, served two more years as Pack Master in Livonia and then spent two years as Pack Master in Northville with the Pack sponsored by VFW Post 4012. Lee, who has five sons of his own, the youngest a Webelos, has been involved in scouting since his oldest, now 16, joined.

Parents of the boys he works with praise him, reporting he does a wonderful job with the group.

His secret? "I don't put pressure on anyone to join the Pack or to volunteer for committees. My philosophy is to have fun, and keep it going with what you have. I've never lacked for volunteers," he added.

No one likes to be told they have to do anything, he acknowledged, noting that pressure never helped a chairman get volunteers.

As Pack Leader, Lee has a group of 21 working with him. "They're wonderful and I couldn't run the pack without them," he said. He meets with the boys once a month with an activity planned for that evening. He's responsible for boys in six dens and those in three Webelos groups.

"I also try to have an activity for the family to participate in," he said.

In September there was a hayride; October, a rodeo; November, park clean up at Kensington; December, toys were collected for the needy and a bowling party was held; January, ice skating; February, Blue and Gold dinner; March, candy sale; and April, Pinewood Derby.

Coming up in May will be a six mile hike from Nankin Mills Nature Center and a father and son canoe trip in June.

"The boys sold 278 cases of candy in March and the proceeds are being used for prizes in the Pinewood Derby, for the derby cars and to underwrite part of the pack activities for next year."

"I try to have the pack contribute part of the cost of activities but still have the boys pay something, too," he explained.

Those who've also played a part in making Pack 721 a success are Bal Capote, committee chairman; Don Pratt, institutional representative; Dick Bischoff, treasurer; Frank Firek, Bill Richardson, awards co-chairmen, Beverly Montante, refreshments chairman; and Lois Hollis, committee woman.

Committeemen are Bob Lupini, Gerry Connolly, Don Willoughby and Jim Dyer. Webelos leaders are Jerry Foster and Chad Ramsey. Den Mother coach is Maureen Dunn.

The seven Den Mothers are Fran Firek, Pat Roux, Marilyn Paler, Jane Frank, Marilyn Klocke, Lois

Housman and Mina Bhavsar. "Without all of them, I couldn't have done it," Lee commented.

Novi, County OK Plans

Agreement has been reached between the county road commission and the City of Novi for improvement of the intersection of Novi and Nine Mile roads this year, according to Vice Chairman Frazer W. Staman of the road board.

"Plans call for installing a passing lane along the west side of Novi Road, through the intersection," Staman said. "Additionally, the Nine Mile approach from the west will be improved."

Staman said the agreement provides that the road commission and the city will share equally the cost of improvements to Novi Road and that the city is to pay all costs associated with improvements to Nine Mile Road.

Preliminary estimates place the project cost at $50,000, Staman said. Of that amount, he said, Novi would pay $30,000 and the Road Commission would pay $23,000.

Bake Sale Set

"Help Mom for Mother's Day and buy her some baked goods," FOE Northville Ladies' Auxiliary is reminding area residents.

The Auxiliary will sponsor its semi-annual bake sale Saturday, May 11, from 11 a.m. until everything is sold. The sale will be held at Ellis Electronics on East Main Street. Proceeds will go to charity.

Garden Club Swaps Plants

The annual meeting of the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will be held at the Ann Arbor home of Mrs. Francis Jennings on Peninsula Court, next Monday, May 13.

Members are to gather in the south parking lot of the Northville Square at 11:30 a.m. for car pool rides and are reminded to bring seedlings for a plant exchange.

Mrs. Jennings, the hostess, is a life member of the branch. Hostess chairman for the day is Mrs. William Switzler.

Courses, Smoking Topics for PTSO

General open meeting of the Northville PTSO will be held tonight, Thursday, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

High school students will address the meeting, presenting a detailed analysis of the smoking problem at the school. Students also made the report last week to the executive board.

Curriculum committee chairmen will also report on initial steps taken regarding future goals for vocational education and college preparatory courses. High School Principal Fred Holdsworth and Assistant Superintendent Florence Panattoni will answer questions.

High school students who spent 18 months studying the smoking problem, will make their report which hopes to "focus attention on a problem of major concern to parents, faculty and students, this being the condition of the restrooms due to student smoking," spokesmen for PTSO said.

The report includes investigation in other school districts and their handling of the smoking problems, talking to professional people in the community, administration and faculty members of the high school.

Curriculum committee chairmen will report on how the curriculum affects the new philosophy of the school, whether enough training is provided for the 35 percent of the students who do not go on to college and whether the traditional year students will be affected by the introduction of year-round school classrooms.

Both Holdsworth and Miss Panattoni will answer questions raised in these areas.

HELLO DOLLY — Alex Kalota, who portrays Barnaby in Northville High's production of "Hello Dolly", picks a not so safe hiding place while trying to conceal himself from Jim Porterfield who's cast as

Senior Parents Shop For Party's Fare

"It's enough to give a woman nightmares," commented Mrs. Rosemary Palarchio, chairman of the food committee for the annual senior class party for Northville High's 1974 graduation class.

Mrs. Palarchio is busy shopping for shrimp, tuna (by the case), cheeses, fruit, hot dogs, chips and dip — all in king-size quantities. She's buying enough groceries to feed about 300 hungry high school seniors during the all-night party June 18.

She and her buffet committee promise that everyone will have plenty to eat that night while dancing, swimming, watching old time movies and other scheduled fun.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Fran Kritch, chairman of the breakfast committee, is facing a similar task of shopping for enough sausages, strawberries, rolls and pancake makings for all the seniors. Breakfast will climax the party with serving beginning about 3 a.m.

Heritage Day Honors Novi Senior Citizens

Michigan Week's Heritage Day in Novi will be commemorated by a senior citizens' sing along co-sponsored by the Novi Jaycee Auxiliary and the Novi Welcome Wagon.

All senior citizens in Novi are invited to attend the celebration, whether or not they belong to senior citizen clubs. Mrs. Joan Hemker, spokesman for the Jaycee Auxiliary, commented.

The sing along is set for Tuesday, May 21, in the Village Oaks Clubhouse from 7 to 10 p.m. Leading the songs will be Vincent O'Malley, a professional singer, who was with Mario Lanza. Mrs. Cindy Hoops will be accompanist.

The groups are asking those senior citizens who plan on attending the evening of songs, cards and refreshments to notify the groups. "We want to plan refreshments and tables for cards," Mrs. Hemker explained.

Transportation may also be arranged by calling either Mrs. Hemker at 349-5743 or Mrs. June Pursey at 349-4859. Deadline for responding is Friday, May 17.

"Everyone's invited to our sing along," Mrs. Hemker added.

MOTHER-SON STARS—On or off the stage, a mother looks after her son. Marcia Lee of Northville, straightens her son Jeff's hat for the current Greenfield Village Players production of "Peter Pan." In the role of Mrs. Darling, Marcia whisks her children off to bed. But as her precocious son John, Jeff has a more adventurous evening planned with Peter in Never Never Land.

At Greenfield Village

Mother, Son in 'Peter Pan'

Saturday matinee performances of "Peter Pan" in the Henry Ford Museum Theater are a family affair—not just for the audience, but for the players as well.

Among the 20 cast members in the current Greenfield Village Players production are a mother and son of Northville.

"It's an unusual situation for us," said Theater Arts Manager Joseph French, "but with all the children we needed for the play, we were bound to end up with a few relatives sharing the stage."

In the role of Mr. Darling, Dr. French coaxes his own son, who plays young Michael Darling, into swallowing some awful medicine before going to bed. Six-year-old Joseph French III then takes off for Never Never Land with John and Wendy, only to confront his own father again playing the fearsome Captain Hook.

"This is Joey's first appearance on stage," Dr. French explained with a smile, "and his toughest problem is just keeping still when he's supposed to be asleep or sitting down. But he loves to fly."

In dress rehearsal, after Peter Pan sprinkled fairy dust on him so he could fly, he leaped out of the nursery window on cue, ran down into the audience and sprinkled fairy dust on the assistant director so he could fly too!

The French's are residents of Allen Park.

Marcia Lee of Northville, has a few words for her own son, too, in the role of Mrs. Darling.

But as the precocious John Darling, ten-year-old Jeff Lee simply disregards his mother's scolding and flies off with Peter to seek adventure. After all, Jeff is the member of this family with loads of acting experience as the star of WXYZ's Saturday morning TV show "Jerry in the Circus." Jeff attends Moraine Elementary School in Northville.

The Kriner brothers are running their own three-ring circus in the play. The family trio, who live in Dearborn, play nine different parts between them. That means it's busy backstage.

Nineteen-year-old Paul, a student at Henry Ford Community College, wears Indian makeup under his first costume for the play. After barking his way through the first act as Nana, the Darling's family dog, Paul sheds his furry trappings and becomes one of Tiger Lily's Indians. Later he turns into a pirate.

In between stints as an Indian and a pirate, his brother Tim slithers after Captain Hook as the crocodile who's anxious for a tasty dinner. Tim is 16 years old, and has just completed a lead role in the Fordson High School production of "Damn Yankees."

Thirteen-year-old David appears as a leaping frog and a member of the Indian and pirate bands. He's a student at Lowrey Junior High School.

Peter Pan, who doesn't have a father or a mother, is portrayed by Village Players regular Irene Schwyer. The petite brunette was seen recently on the stage of the Henry Ford Museum Theater as Jill in the Christmas holiday production of "Jack and the Beanstalk."

The last three Saturday matinee performances of "Peter Pan" are scheduled for May 4, 11 and 25 at 2 p.m. Tickets are available at the Theater box office for $2.25 for adults and $1.25 for children 14 and under.

Knights 4-H's Camp Out

Northville Knights, the newest 4-H Club in Northville, just completed a fun-filled weekend camping trip and has scheduled a full slate of activities for the coming months.

The weekend camping trip was held the last weekend in April at Wayne County Child Development Center Scout Cabin. Twenty-two members on horseback rode out to the cabin as a group with horses tethered at the site. Many members learned how to use neckropes and haybags for the first time, Nan Wetterstrom, president of the group, said.

Activities for the weekend included trail rides, games, hikes, campfires, singing and preparing dinners.

A total of 33 members and 15 parents participated in the weekend.

Members also have recently participated in the Spring-A-Rama singing in the talent show and winning a fifth place ribbon. Talent and fashion contests were also entered by individual members.

Coming up on the club's activity calendar are Exploration Days at Michigan State University in June and the 4-H fair in Belleville in August.

Parents of the club members all act as leaders with the club meeting in members' homes twice each month. Ages range from youngsters to 18 years old, Miss Wetterstrom said.

Those wishing more information on the club or who are interested in joining should contact Ron Smoker at the Wayne County 4-H Office, 721-6576.

For 21-Mile Hikers

Jaycees Offer Tips

Comfortable clothing, soft-solid hiking shoes, woolen socks, lots of foot powder, and determination.

Those are ingredients for a successful adventure in the May 19 Walk for Mankind, co-sponsored by Jaycees of Northville and Novi who issued tips for walkers.

"Wear comfortable clothing. Don't overdress because walking is hot work after the first few miles," they advise those who will participate in the 21 mile benefit to raise medical assistance money for the underprivileged.

"A windbreaker will be plenty on a warm day. Wear shoes suitable for walking — soft-solid hiking shoes are best. Woolen socks are better than nylon. Powdering your feet will reduce chafing."

"If you're prone to blisters it might be a good idea to put band-aids on before you start the walk. However, band-aids and foot powder will be available at all check points along the way."

"If at all possible 'train' for the walk by walking eight to 10 blocks every day prior to the Walk for Mankind."

"There is a list of approved vehicles if you don't want to walk the 21 miles. These include pogo sticks, strap on skates without straps, scooters and skateboards (used up-hill only), and a unicycle with one wheel removed."

Jaycees have announced the following rules for participants:

- Signs will point the way. Stay off lawns and don't litter.
- Obey all Walk officials

(they'll be wearing red on green armbands) and police officers. Observe normal traffic rules.

- Drop out only at a checkpoint. Should you drop out at a checkpoint inform the official and turn in your walk card.

- Go easy on food and drinks. Pace yourself; endurance counts. First aid is always available.

- If it rains, the Walk will go on as planned.

In the event of rain walkers may wish to strap umbrellas to their backs so they don't have to hold them, suggest Jaycees. "It rained during a Walk in Redbank, New Jersey," they said, "but the walkers didn't quit. Instead they got themselves the 50-gallon size plastic trash can bags and just tore out a portion of the bag to see through."

Jaycees are hopeful their goal of 1,000 walkers will be achieved. But they remind participants "this is the time they should be taking sponsor sheets door-to-door to solicit sponsors.

"Students may obtain sponsor sheets through their schools in Novi or Northville or at Banbury Cross on Center Street in Northville."

"They should explain to residents why they are walking, complete all the forms and bring them to registration at the Northville Downs parking lot from 7 to 9 a.m. on May 18. The forms should be signed by a parent or guardian."

Tours with U of M Band

Ninety-five members of the University of Michigan Symphony Band — including two from Novi — will present concerts in eight cities during their nine-day tour in May.

The local participants are Debbie Kuick of 41881 Quince Drive and Gary Gillett of 25335 Clark.

Band director is George Cavender.

Performances are played in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

The U-M Symphony Band has been acclaimed by audiences at home and abroad as one of the world's finest concert bands. It was selected by the State Department as the first band ever to represent the United States in the Soviet Union and the Near East as part of the cultural exchange program.

Ruona Plays

In Concert

Ferris State College music groups, one of which includes a Novi resident, will combine their talents for the annual "Pops" Concert to be presented May 7 at Big Rapids.

The local participant is Chris M. Ruona, cornet.

Performing groups are the concert band, the concert choir, the collegiate singers, and the varsity band. Altogether some 250 students will participate in the program

Drew to Perform In St. Bede Play

James M. Drew, formerly of Northville, will portray Phobos in the St. Bede Players' production of "The Mikado" May 16-19 at Southfield-Lathrup High School, 19301 West 12 Mile, Lathrup Village.

Performances on Thursday, Friday and Saturday will begin at 8 p.m. Sunday curtain time is 7 p.m.

Drew was first attracted to the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas while a student at Northville High under the direction of Leslie Lee. He is presently a theatre major at Eastern Michigan University.

He has sung 13 major roles in seventeen G and S productions. This is his third appearance with the Southfield group, which draws talent from many communities in the metropolitan area.

Last fall he directed "Grand Duke" for the U. of M. G and S Society. He has also starred in their "Gondoliers" and "Princess Ida" at the Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The dust is clearing on a period of transformation in the city of Northville and it is time to take stock and tie up loose ends.

During the past five to seven years an ambitious council and an energetic city manager converted a slipping business district with deteriorating buildings and inadequate parking into a center that has attracted new and encouraged improvement of old business.

It would be unfair to ignore the progress. But it is obvious that with such achievement comes added responsibility which demands attention.

And Monday night an ex-councilman reminded his former associates of that fact.

The city of Northville cannot allow inequities in the application of assessments to exist.

It cannot tolerate the dragging out of legal action that results in the collection of assessments for parking that is not being provided.

It would appear that the problem lies not with those who owe assessments, but rather with the city which has the responsibility for levying the assessments.

Unquestionably, the change in city managers in the midst of assessment negotiations is partly responsible for some of the delay. But the council has had no interruption in its service. It is simply guilty of procrastination.

The time has come for Mayor Allen to call for an inventory of unfinished business and to insist that long-lingering matters of business, such as the Drawbridge and Rathert Building parking assessments and the Spagnuolo condemnation case, be pursued with promptness and vigor.

In my opinion, ex-Councilman

Charles Lapham deserves to be congratulated by the public and the council for pointing out these inequities.

It is noteworthy that Lapham chose the direct approach in airing his complaints before the city council. Perhaps as a former councilman and a Main Street merchant he is all too familiar with the rumor-mill criticisms that are usually unfounded and never lifted above the level of a whisper.

The city received some long-awaited good news this week from Wayne county.

Approval now seems assured for the turning over of Center Street to the city.

Presently, that portion of the street from Seven Mile to Baseline which serves as the main north and south artery through the city comes under the jurisdiction of the Wayne county road commission.

Mayor Allen has been the chief proponent of gaining control of Center Street for the city.

At this particular time it is most beneficial to the city as it wrestles with the problem of continuing the storm sewer currently being installed along Wing Street adjacent to Northville Square. The sewer, which will provide drainage for the western half of the business district, must be extended southward to the Rouge River. County officials were reluctant to permit the city to install the drain along Center Street without providing prohibitive setbacks.

Control of Center Street will also permit the city to correct ingress and egress problems at the new parking lot south of Northville Square and to institute traffic controls and parking regulations along the street throughout the business district.

Speaking for Myself

$5 Fine For Marijuana?

YES . . .

24 million Americans have smoked marijuana despite the existence of harsh penalties. It is an illegal practice, but very widespread. Marijuana use is a practice classified as a "crime", yet there are no "victims". In this respect marijuana smoking is similar to vagrancy and homosexuality as an "illegal" practice which harms no one.

Those arrested are stigmatized for life as criminals because they have been caught smoking marijuana. An arrest, even without a conviction, can and does bar people from college, employment, entrance into professional fields, and qualification for occupational licenses. It means an emotional ordeal for the person and her family, financial hardship, and for those who cannot make bail, a long wait in jail before trial.

Police and public priorities have, for too long, been directed at the maintenance of an outdated Victorian morality rather than dealing with the critical social and economic problems of today.

The long overstated fear campaign connecting marijuana use with heroin addiction must now die in the face of the overwhelming evidence to the contrary.

Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, East Lansing and other communities have taken a rational first step toward eliminating the injustices caused by marijuana laws, through enactment of local legislation imposing the minimum punishment available under State law.

Kathy Kozachenko
Ann Arbor Councilperson

NO . . .

In my opinion, the recent law the City of Ann Arbor passed regarding marijuana is without a doubt entirely too lax and it will turn Ann Arbor into a "pot puffers paradise." I believe it will contribute to the delinquency of young people and will open the door for increased crime.

Most people don't realize that marijuana is classified as a mild hallucinogen and affects behavior, causing the user to become irrational. The long-term physical effects of using marijuana are not yet known, but generally the user has a drop in body temperature, increased breathing with little if any increase in heartbeat, his reaction time is slowed, coordination is impaired and body movement may become quite irregular.

Also, the user may get talkative, loud, unsteady or drowsy and find it hard to coordinate his movements.

Even though the fine may only be $5, getting arrested for possession or use can have serious aftereffects. A user may find his education interrupted and his future shadowed or altered by having a police record. An arrest or conviction can complicate life.

Arrest can prevent a person from entering certain professions such as medicine or law and it can make it rather difficult for him to get a responsible position in business or industry, especially governmental positions. Some employers feel that users of marijuana or other drugs are irresponsible and immature.

Although you may pay only a token fine in Ann Arbor, you may be hurting your future. Is it worth it?

Beware—'Watchgoat'

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"It's beautiful. The golfers are wonderful. They do just about everything for me but carry their own bags," laughs 20-year-old Robin Fox of Novi, first female caddy ever to make the rounds at Washtenaw Country Club in Ypsilanti.

A graduate of Northville High School and now a sophomore at Eastern Michigan University where she is majoring in biology, Robin just up and decided to become a caddy earlier this year.

"I wanted some outside work for the summer so my sister (Holly Fox Elie) sort of jokingly suggested being a caddy. It sounded like a great idea so I went over to Washtenaw and they hired me. I guess I'm the first girl caddy they ever had. Now, though, there are five or six others but I'm the youngest."

ROBIN FOX

As you might guess, Robin's no ordinary girl. She's about as energetic a girl as you'll find anywhere. Besides holding down a full schedule in college, she's working 32 hours a week as a desk clerk at the Holiday Inn in Ann Arbor. Now there's the summer caddy job as well.

Besides her school work and her two jobs, Robin's also active in church work, studies guitar, sings and plays guitar for functions such as weddings, is an artist, and soon is to cut a record.

"Yes, I guess I am busy but I like it," says the girl who is just short of being an honor student at Eastern and who even finds a little time for a boyfriend.

Having toted golf bags daily for a couple of years as a young teenager, I wondered how the male-dominated profession had accepted her.

"Well, at first they didn't know what to think. They were surprised, most of all. But they treat me very well, and I think they really like me," she says of the male caddies, who have an average age of 13.

"They joke about it a little...some call me a 'female chauvinist pig'...but we get along just fine."

Robin's first "loop" or assignment was no snap-distance wise. She caddied 36 holes the first time out. "It wasn't hard at all, although by the time the day ended (1:30 to 8:30 p.m.) I was a little tired," she admitted. "But that's because it was the first time I'd walked that far."

For one 18 hole round she pulled a cart and for the other she carried a bag. Interestingly, she learned that carrying a bag was "easier because I found the cart was really a nuisance. Of course, if I had been Reader Agrees with Honesty in Architecture, But...

To the Editor:

I read with interest the article "Downtown Motif Must be 'Honest'", which appeared in the May 2 copy of the Northville Record, and have several comments which I would like to express with regard to this subject.

I fully agree with Ms. Eckert's suggestion to remove cosmetic facades and return to the original architecture of the buildings. Only by removing what is false and exposing the integrity of the original structure through restoration can Northville's CBD arrive at an architectural identity that is meaningful to Northville and its 19th-20th century rural town image, which is the basis of its charm. Covering the individual facades with each store owner's idea of the city's appropriate architectural character only suppresses this charm.

A related problem is policy regarding new structures in the CBD, or elsewhere in the city for that matter. If a 1920 building should look like a 1920 building what should a 1974 building look like? Obviously it should have enough integrity to present itself as a product of this decade and not look like a 1920 building or cover itself with a colonial (?) motif. If anything less is done future architectural historians will only be able to conclude that the social and retail culture of Northville in the 1970's, as reflected in its contemporary architecture, was stagnant and regressive.

This is not to say that new structures should go against the grain of what is already established. They should not. It is possible however, I believe, to have architecture of this decade which is stimulating and honest to itself and also respectful and compatible with architecture of past decades. This can be achieved through consistency of building height, materials, fenestration patterns, scale of detail, etc. The common "motif" is integrity of design not architectural style.

Northville's downtown area has a great deal of physical potential. However this potential is not properly realized when it is covered in a cosmetic, bastardized colonial style and fragmented by the intrusion of chain burger palaces. The only defense Northville's CBD has against the inevitable nearby regional shopping complex is to exploit its potential positively through honesty and imagination.

Sincerely,
Mark S. Chadwick

would pay the balance from its public improvement fund. A similar arrangement was made with owners of Northville Square for parking lots both north and south of the downtown shopping center.

Also included in the special 50-50 parking assessment plan was the Drawbridge and the remodeled Rathert Building at 160 East Main street.

Kenneth Rathert, also a former city councilman and owner of the expanded office building said he has made repeated attempts to resolve the question of the assessment but with no success. His new building was completed in June, 1973 and an occupancy permit granted based upon Rathert's recognition of the parking assessment.

"I know that I must pay for some 4,000 square feet of offstreet parking, but no one will tell me how much. I assume it's between $10,000 and $12,000," Rathert stated. Under the city's offstreet parking ordinance commercial buildings in the central business district must provide 2½-square-foot of parking space per one square foot of floor space. If the property owner cannot provide the space in the proximity of his building, he has the option of paying into the city's offstreet parking fund.

At the present time, however, the city has not set a cost figure for parking spaces.

Mayor Allen pointed to this problem in defense of the city's delay Monday night.

"A study of current costs for development of parking spaces is being made by the city manager," Mayor Allen stated.

City Manager Steven Walters entered the offstreet parking program right in the middle of the current controversy. He succeeded Frank Ollendorff, now serving as manager of Adrian, in the fall of 1973.

Contacted Tuesday ex-Northville Manager Ollendorff said that the Drawbridge owed the city for 18 to 20 parking spaces. He said at that time (opening of the Drawbridge) the estimated cost of parking spaces was between $1,500 and $1,800 each.

On the basis of those costs and using the 50-50 payment plan the restaurant owner would owe the city approximately $31,350. The owner of the restaurant did not respond to a call placed by the newspaper seeking reaction to the assessment issue.

Ex-Manager Ollendorff said that he remembers no objection to the assessment by the restaurant owner, who acknowledged the obligation at the time of opening.

Manager Walters reported Tuesday that his new estimate of offstreet parking costs per space runs between $2,000 and $2,200.

The council has not stated whether the Drawbridge and Rathert will be assessed on the basis of costs when their buildings were granted occupancy, or current costs.

City Attorney Ogilvie stated Monday night that the delay in the condemnation action was due to failure of the court to act since briefs were filed more than a year ago. He said he had tried to contact the court to determine the reason for delay.

But the court's record clerk at Wayne county stated Tuesday that the action brought in Wayne county circuit court before Judge James L. Ryan was dismissed "for lack of progress" on February 11, 1974. He said this came about because of failure to appear in court at a scheduled January, 1973 hearing.

"A praecipe was not filed; or in other words, no one did anything about the case," he explained. The clerk stated that the action could be reopened.

The city has offered the Spagnuolo $30,000 for the building. It's up to the court to first decide on the necessity of the condemnation. If need of the site by the city is upheld, then the $30,000 payment can be made immediately and the building taken over by the city. If the court finds the property is worth more, the balance is paid at the conclusion of the trial.

Of this total millage package "only 8 mills go for City of Novi purposes" as follows: 6½ mills for general operation, 1 mill for road and ½ mill for the library. Novi's millage rate for general operation purposes is one of the lowest in the state of Michigan."

community. His amendments were supported by all other council members present except Councilman Louie Campbell.

Campbell explained that he voted against the ordinance because of the "1,000-foot amendment".

In opening the discussion to the public only one comment was made — that by a policeman, who agreed with the mayor that an arcade will not benefit the community.

Geake Withdraws Rezoning Request

Petition of Dr. Robert Geake, 48525 Eight Mile Road, to rezone his property from R-1 to B-2 to cover his wife's operation of a veterinary clinic was withdrawn from Northville Township Planning Commission consideration last week after discussion.

Dr. Carol Geake operates an animal clinic in a small house directly behind their home in the middle of the ten-acre site now zoned residential. Instead, it was decided that

Dr. Geake should apply for a temporary-use variance from the township board of appeals as the commission expressed hesitation about zoning part of the area for business and to zone the entire property would place his home in non-conforming use

A fee of $500 was established for special meetings which might be requested by developers not wishing to wait until the monthly meetings.

Here's Tips On Caring For Trees

EAST LANSING—Michigan's winter temperatures may have caused considerable damage to the flower buds of peach and apricot trees; say Michigan State University fruit specialists. In some cases, the wood may also have been damaged.

Specialists offer these suggestions for caring for your damaged fruit trees:

- Delay pruning until growth starts. Remove only dead wood.
- Do not use oil sprays on injured stone fruit trees.
- Use the leaf-curl spray to protect foliage from disease.
- Keep weeds away from young trees.
- If the bark has split, tack it down and paint it with a tree paint. Clean out dead areas and cover them with tree paint.
- Don't be too quick to remove injured trees. With good care they may be able to revive themselves.

Trees Boost Value of Home

EAST LANSING—If you are planning to build a home this spring, remember that your new home will be worth more if it has mature trees and shrubs around it.

Michigan State University landscape experts suggest that instead of clearing the land completely, select those trees and shrubs you want to keep and protect them from construction damage.

Mark your trees and shrubs clearly on your blueprints and specifications. It may be less costly in the long run to keep as many trees and shrubs as possible.

There are four potential hazards you will need to guard against—construction equipment, excavating operations, changes in grade and cleanup operations.

To protect trees from construction damage build box-like structures around them. Use snow fence to protect groups of shrubs or small trees.

If excavating is necessary, try tunneling under tree roots instead of cutting them off. If tunneling is impossible, cut as few roots as possible and paint the ends with an asphalt wound dressing.

Do not change the grade more than six inches near your trees and shrubs unless you plan to provide aeration relief. Drastic change in grade may cause damage to the roots or keep them from getting their normal amounts of air and water.

When cleaning up, remove the plant protective devices last. Haul the debris away—don't burn or bury it on the site. Local officials will have information on where to take the debris.

Window's A Possible Greenhouse

If your home has a large picture window that lets the sun shine in, you may have an unnecessary energy problem.

If the sun shines through that window you have what amounts to a "green house" inside, with temperatures far higher than they need be. That means your air conditioner will be working overtime, using energy you would really rather not spare.

The American Association of Nurserymen suggests a novel remedy—a green, growing awning of leafy vines to screen out the sun's rays. The way they describe it, it sounds like fairly simple project.

Put up a trellis, they instruct, coming out horizontally from the roof overhang above the window. Train your deciduous twining vines on that trellis, and after a couple of growing seasons you will have an attractive and highly practical addition to your home.

The nurserymen suggest you select a deciduous vine for this purpose because its leaves will fall off when winter comes to let the sun stream in through the window to save on heating energy.

"This natural mineral cultivates lawns like millions of tiny hoes!"

"GRAND PRIZE Gypsum breaks up hard-pan clay soil to render it useful and improve drainage," advises Jerry Baker, America's master gardener and author of "Plants Are Like People."

GRAND PRIZE™ Lawn & Garden Gypsum

Now GRAND PRIZE Gypsum makes it easy to get your lawn ready for the growing season. These clean, white mineral particles work their way down into packed turf like little hoes, loosen clogged soil so it can breathe. This helps speed up seed germination, lets roots grow deep and strong, makes fertilizers work more effectively, too. And non-toxic, non-burning GRAND PRIZE adds its own bonus of sulfate sulfur and calcium. Spread GRAND PRIZE Gypsum in Spring and Fall to loosen clay soil, improve growth of grass, flowers and vegetables. Get it now at your garden center or hardware store.

Bag and rake not included. Nor needed.

BOLENS MULCHING MOWER™

The new Bolens Mulching Mower doesn't leave clippings behind for you to bag or rake. As it cuts your grass, it cuts and recuts the clippings into tiny particles and blows them into your lawn. So the clippings become a fine mulch that feeds your lawn. Instead of becoming more work.

The move is anticipated around June 1 with a tentative grand opening slated for "about June 15" she added.

"Horse Vaccination"
By Oscar G. Swannstrom,
D.V.M.
Michigan State University

An obscure vaccination history should be considered equivalent to no vaccination. Many horsemen, upon purchase of a new animal are told that it has "had all its shots"; without certification such remarks bear no credence. Such owners should be urged to begin a primary immunization program.

A surprisingly low percentage of Michigan horses are immunized against tetanus and equine encephalomyelitis; almost none against influenza and rhinopneumonitis. There are alternatives to the program herein outlined that can best be acted on according to the judgment of the local veterinarian.

TETANUS
The horse is highly susceptible to tetanus, and the vaccination of horses against tetanus is essential. Clostridium tetani organisms are normally found in soil

Bible Returns to School

Bible Literature Studied

The literary aspects of the Bible are being explored in a literature class at Brighton High School.

"After the Supreme Court ruling (on prayer in school), people were scared to death to teach a course like this, but I think they're realizing that you miss a great deal of good literature," said the Biblical literature teacher, Madelyn Johnson.

"People seem to be coming back to teaching about the Bible in school," she said. "So many things in our society allude to the Bible that sometimes you can't even laugh at a good joke if you aren't acquainted with the Biblical story."

One of the student assignments in the Biblical literature class is to compile a file of allusions from different sources.

"The main way we can demonstrate the Bible's far reaching influence in our society is by having the group collect allusions to the Bible in song titles, book titles, cartoons, comics and advertising," Mrs. Johnson said. "By the end of the nine week course we've had a surprising number of allusions collected."

Mrs. Johnson says she teaches literature and literature only in her course. She will allow no one to argue about Biblical interpretations and religion. That should be left to the individual, ministers, priests, rabbis and parents, she says.

She's been teaching the class in Brighton since 1968 and so far the only objections to the way she teaches have come from students who sometimes wish she'd allow them to discuss interpretation of passages rather than just their literary values. Her own interest in the Bible as literature dates back to her college days at Wheaton College, Illinois, where she earned a minor in Bible.

Mrs. Johnson says she begins the course with a look at the beginning, Genesis. The students generally are assigned to make a collage on the days of creation.

She approaches the stories of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph and Samson as character studies. The stories of Ruth, Esther and Jonah are studied as short stories. The stories of David and Jesus are presented as biographies.

The course also hits on the poetry of the Bible such as Ecclesiastes, parts of Job, Psalms and selected portions of Proverbs. A study of selected parables, a look at other famous portions, such as the Sermon on the Mount and a final look at Revelations, concludes the course.

"The only thing they realize when they leave the class is that the Bible is not one book, but 66 books and that it is some of the greatest literature ever written," Mrs. Johnson said.

Why do students elect to take the Biblical literature course?

Some know nothing about the Bible and want to find out about it, Mrs. Johnson says. Some know about it but want to study it as literature because that's a different point of view than they're used to looking at.

"Since our culture and literature have been significantly influenced by the stories and language of the Bible, I believe this class is both valuable and relevant," Mrs. Johnson said.

Walk Needs Community Recruits

A 10-mile fund raising walk for the Christian Rural Overseas Project (CROP) is planned in the Brighton area June 22 and recruits are needed, it was announced last week.

Karen Lowry, chairperson of the publicity committee for the walk, said many persons are needed to man first aid and rest stations as well as to participate in the walk and sponsor walkers.

"Participating in the walk involves getting friends to sponsor you a dime' or quarter or whatever per mile," Miss Lowry said.

Any area resident interested in helping in any way is urged to contact the Reverend David Kruger at 229-4896, Sue Kentsiges at 227-5193 or Kris Bair at 229-6402.

Last Year, CROP distributed over $3 million to feed needy people in 30 countries.

CROP began following the Second World War to bring relief to the widespread starvation and suffering in Europe. In 1945, 17 Protestant denominations organized Church World Services and asked leaders of churches in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma to start a "church wheat relief project."

The success of this program prompted Church World Services to designate a general program for farm commodities. The project was named Christian Rural Overseas Program.

Although the actual collecting of wheat still takes place in the west, Crop Hunger Walks, Fast for the Hungry and Coin Cards are ways Church World Service has brought the suburbs into participation

UP AND IN — These young women from Community Baptist Church, Brighton take their newspaper collection seriously and well they should. The youth group plans to collect enough papers to purchase a bus to attend youth activities. Here Judy Zander, Kathy Vargo and Holly Williamsen load their truck after a pick-up at a local business. Anyone wishing to contribute to this paper drive should contact the group sponsor, David Portar, at 227-5518 or call 227-6546 for a pick-up.

Churches Collect Papers

Several area churches are now conducting newspaper drives for various fund raising purposes.

Two churches in Brighton are actively soliciting community support for newspaper collection. The youth group at Community Baptist Church are collecting newspapers weekly to raise funds to purchase a bus for transportation to various youth events.

Persons wishing to contribute old newspapers may call 227-5518 or 227-6546 for pick-up.

The youth at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Brighton are collecting newspapers to raise money for a summer mission trip to Wyoming in 1975. The youth plan to provide their transportation to Wyoming with funds collected and to build a shelter at the mission with materials they pay for themselves.

The first paper pick-up for this group was last Saturday and a pick-up is planned every four months. If you can start saving papers for the next pick-up now, call Ginny Nancarrow, president of the youth group, at 229-2839.

Newspaper collections in Northville will take place June 7 and 8. The youth group at the First United Methodist Church will collect the papers that weekend from persons who have called the church office requesting that papers be picked up. Call the church office weekday mornings at 349-1144 if you wish to be put on the list for the paper pick-up.

The Reverend Guenther Branstner indicated that newspapers may also be brought to the church on that weekend. The youth are collecting papers to help defray costs of their contribution to the church's annual family camping trip to Lake Louise on Memorial Day weekend.

Salem Bible Church in Salem also collects newspapers, but they are not actively soliciting papers as a fund raising project. People in the congregation bring papers to donate just as they would bring food for camp or make a monetary donation, according to Pastor Ivan Speight.

"We sell the newspapers to help buy more paper for our church mailings," he said. "It's an easy way for people to make a donation to the church."

Open House Scheduled For Moms, Volunteers

Whitmore Lake Convalescent Center will host an open house Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. in recognition of mothers and volunteers to the center.

Elsie Sly, pianist, will feature a number of Mother's Day selections as part of the afternoon's entertainment. Ceremonies honoring the oldest mother, the mother with the most children and the person who has travelled the greatest distance to visit their mother will be held.

Certificates recognizing the service of the center's volunteers will also be awarded to a number of persons.

A bazaar featuring items made by the patients will be held during the afternoon. Refreshments will be served and activities will be open to the public.

Gospel Group Sets Highland Concert

The "Envoys" Quartet of Rockway, New Jersey, will present a concert of contemporary gospel music Sunday, May 12, at the Highland Church of the Nazarene, 1200 West Livingston Road, Highland, at 7 p.m.

Pastor James Kraus invites all area residents to attend the concert and enjoy the music of the group.

The Envoys were recently nominated as one of the best male gospel music groups in the United States.

You can choose from studio, one-bedroom, two-bedroom units (some with two baths). The quality of design and construction is obvious. In the living room large sliding glass door to balcony or patio. Novi Parish Possible

The Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit has indicated that a Catholic parish has the possibility of being formed in Novi between the boundaries of I-96 to the North, Haggerty Road to the east, Nine Mile Road to the south and Novi Road to the west.

John Lynch of the Office of Communications for the Archdiocese explained that today the church establishes the boundaries of a community that is to be served. Then interested priests may apply to lead the community.

If growth is indicated the new community can later apply for parish status.

"The Catholics in the designated area are presently served by Our Lady of Victory in Northville," Lynch said. "If a priest is interested in going out there, it will be announced."

The Body Boot

Device Boosts Flow of Blood

"The body boot," an experimental external heart assist device, has had its first University of Michigan Hospital trial to help patients recover from heart attacks.

Doctors in the U-M Cardiac Intensive Care Unit say the device, which is the only one of its kind in the Midwest region, increases the blood supply to the heart by rhythmically squeezing blood vessels in the patient's legs between heart beats.

It may have the potential to limit or reduce heart muscle damage during the early days following a heart attack, they say.

Irvin J. Schatz, M.D., associate director of the Hospital's Cardiology Section, said the device was used for the first time on a 37-year-old Ford Motor Company engineer who suffered an acute heart attack. The man has an excellent prognosis for a rapid recovery.

The circulation booster device is put into action within 12 hours following a heart attack. Timed by the patient's own heart signals, it creates a pulsing backpressure from the legs to the aorta (main artery coming from the heart) between beats. The coronary arteries branch off the aorta and receive an extra surge of blood each time the heart rests.

Dr. Schatz explained that the extra blood supply is important because permanent damage from a heart attack results when part of the heart muscle with a marginal blood supply dies from lack of oxygen.

The size of the dead muscle area or infarction is what differentiates between a major and a minor heart attack.

Dr. Schatz said that the body boot is considered experimental at this time and has to be used under meticulous medical supervision, but it has great potential. Other balloon-type heart assist devices require surgery to insert them through a blood vessel into the interior of the aorta and cannot be used for extended periods.

Actual operation of the body boot, one to three times daily, is done by a clinical nursing specialist in coronary care. Nancy Janz, R.N., one of these specialists, said the control console and hydraulic power unit are connected by wires and hoses to the "boot," which has a rigid plastic casing, and envelops the patient from hips to ankles with flexible chambers similar to double-walled hip boots.

These fit closely around the patient's legs and compress the blood vessels with pulsations of water pressure triggered by the electrical signal (electrocardiogram) preceding each heart beat.

In addition to helping the patients in the critical period immediately after a heart attack, the body boot also can be used for patients with chronic heart problems such as angina pectoris.

Persons with this condition suffer chest pains each time they exert themselves, due to low blood supply to the heart. Drugs such as nitroglycerin can temporarily ease the problem by decreasing the work load of the heart and dilating the coronary arteries. Body boot treatments might be able to accomplish a longer lasting increase in the size and number of blood vessels although this effect has not been proven yet.

Infection May Trigger Asthma

Asthma attacks can be triggered by many different things. Pollen. Dust. Chemicals. Psychological factors. And it now seems, respiratory infections.

During an asthma attack, the air passages of the lungs constrict suddenly. The person may wheeze and gasp for breath. An attack may last a few minutes or may continue for days.

Australian researchers, a few years ago, followed 12,000 asthmatics and classified their attacks into two categories. In the first, the attacks were triggered by specific substances in the air to which the person was allergic.

Mostly older children and younger adults were in this group. In the second, the attacks came at the same time as respiratory infections. Mostly younger children and elderly persons were in this group.

This year, researchers at the University of Wisconsin Medical School confirmed the fact that asthma attacks can be precipitated by respiratory infections. And when they are, the infections are commonly caused by a virus such as the one which causes Hong Kong flu or other colds and flu. There are hundreds of different kinds of viruses that cause the common cold, but there is evidence that one type, the rhinoviruses, are spread by hand rather than by coughing and sneezing.

Researchers suggest keeping asthmatic children away from brother or sisters or people who have a cold or the flu. They also recommend special personal hygiene to keep asthmatic children's hands as germ-free as possible to reduce chances of infection.

LANSING—Don't joke about making the bee Michigan's official state insect.

A proposal to do just that currently is awaiting action in the Senate, having been approved by the House, 94-5.

And of course there were the expected stinging remarks.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY'S honeybee expert, Bert Martin, suggests that there's nothing funny about what the bee does for Michigan agriculture.

"About 5,200 beekeepers, keeping about 120,000 colonies of bees, make possible the economic production of over $100 million worth of Michigan crops," Martin says. He explains that many of the crops Michigan is most proud of are pollinated by bees.

"Growers of highbush blueberries, for instance, rent two colonies to an acre from beekeepers," Martin continues. "If we screen bees away from a mature blueberry bush, total yield won't exceed three pounds of small berries. If bees are put under the screen, we can get over 50 pounds of large, plump berries."

ALTHOUGH BEEKEEPING is "a relatively small industry," Martin says it makes "an indispensable contribution to our welfare."

"Recognition of such services is neither a joke nor a waste of the legislators' time."

Michigan already has: a state bird, the robin; a state stone, the Petoskey; a state gem, the greenstone, a state flower, the apple blossom; and a state fish, the trout.

"THE PRESIDENT got a bum rap out of that one," says Michigan Republican Chairman William McLaughlin.

The comment refers to reports that President Nixon invited himself to Michigan to campaign in the Thumb earlier this month.

McLaughlin says that just isn't true, the invitation really did originate with Michigan folks.

DID THE VISIT do any good? McLaughlin thinks so—despite the fact that Democrat J. Box Traxler defeated Republican James Sparling by some 3,000 votes.

"The Thumb was soft," McLaughlin says referring to a poll taken a month before the election. It showed that 63 percent of Thumb-area voters still were undecided about which candidate they'd support. "It just wasn't happening."

But a look at election results, with Sparling running generally ahead of Traxler in the Thumb, leads McLaughlin to say he believes the presidential visit "had a positive effect."

MCLAUGHLIN SAYS he thinks the Republicans can retake the 8th Congressional District come November.

Traxler, of course, says otherwise. On a recent national news interview television show, the Congressman-elect said he plans to work hard in Washington and in his district from now through fall and win voter support for a full term in Congress.

WHO BUYS LOTTERY tickets most frequently? A working man or woman with an above-average family income, living on the fringe of a metropolitan area.

That's the picture that emerges from research conducted by the Michigan Lottery Bureau advertising agency, the Leo Burnett Co.

Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison says the findings confirm many of his bureau's preconceptions about who buys tickets.

The average ticket buyer, the research shows, tends to be a bit more affluent than had been suspected. Areas with a predominance of people with family incomes in the $15,000 - $25,000 bracket appear to be better ticket markets than any other.

The 1970 census estimated the average family income at $11,032, yet the areas with average incomes ($10,000 - $15,000) finished second to the next high income group in the lottery survey.

"WE WOULD have guessed that those with average incomes would have been our best customers," Harrison says. But, he adds, "the study shows that the rich and the poor tend to buy less frequently."

Race appeared to be the least significant of the factors included in the study, the bureau reports.

As expected, ticket sales are below average in rural areas, Harrison says, and there is a direct relationship between the urbanity of an area and its ticket sales.

"We assume that the below average sales in rural areas are due primarily to the limited access to ticket selling locations, and the fact that the attitudes of those in rural areas are undoubtedly different," he says.

and horse manure.

Horsemen may not understand why tetanus vaccination is so important. In most cases of tetanus no wound is seen (i.e. the value of tetanus immunization lies in protection against inapparent puncture wounds).

Tetanus antitoxin (antiserum) and tetanus toxoid (vaccine) are often confused. Veterinarians should encourage horse owners to provide active immunity against tetanus by giving a yearly booster of tetanus toxoid, rather than depending upon antitoxin for temporary protection following an injury. Two injections of toxoid are administered the first year.

EQUINE ENCEPHALOMYELITIS

Twenty-eight cases of Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis (EEE) were confirmed by the laboratory in Michigan 1973; it is likely that many more equine deaths from the disease went unreported and unconfirmed.

Urgency for the EEE vaccination stems from the fact that: 1) most horses were vaccinated last summer (August and September); many horse owners are falsely depending on the immunity from those vaccinations to carry through to the coming fall; 2) wildlife reservoirs (ducks, birds, pheasants etc.) are likely to harbor the virus for some years in the future; 3) misunderstanding about EEE and vaccination against it is prevalent.

Questions Concerning EEE: How is EEE spread? The horse is a dead-end host. The disease is not spread from horse to horse. EEE is transmitted to a horse by a biting insect which has bitten an infested or carrier bird, chicken, duck, etc.

How long does immunity to EEE vaccination last? Probably less than 12 months; vaccination should be done each year before the insect season.

Is only one shot necessary for booster vaccination? Definitely not! Two vaccinations are necessary each year to provide adequate protection.

Is bivalent Eastern and Western Equine Encephalomyelitis (EEE and WEE) vaccine necessary? Yes; there are no geographic boundaries for these viruses. Is EEE-WEE vaccine safe for pregnant mares? Yes.

What about exercise after vaccination? Continue training. Some horses may show slight depression or loss of appetite for 24-36 hours after vaccination. In those cases training should be reduced for 2-3 days.

Can other vaccines be given at the same time as EEE-WEE? Given an option, only tetanus toxoid should be given at the same time. It is not recommended that more than one Modified Live Virus (MLV) vaccine be given at one time; however, untoward results probably will not accompany use of EEE-WEE plus one other vaccine, such as influenza vaccine.

At what age can a foal effectively be vaccinated for EEE-WEE? In general, a consistently protective response will not occur before 5-6 months of age. This is especially true for foals from mares that were vaccinated within a few months prior to foaling. The antibody the foal gets from the mare's colostrum, while protecting it against disease, interferes with the production of antibody by the foal following vaccination. This possibly acquired antibody from the colostrum may persist in the foal for two to several months. A foal from a non-immunized mare may respond to a series of vaccinations by producing protective antibody as early as two to four months of age. Vaccination between three and five months of age would generally be effective. In the face of a disease outbreak, foals could be vaccinated at an early age in hope of protection, then vaccinated again at four to eight months of age.

Should I vaccinate my horses for Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE)? Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis vaccination is recommended only for horses that will be in the southern border or Gulf Coast states.

So progress has been slow toward a bargaining strategy that tries to avoid completely expensive strikes and lockouts.

Withoutless the most successful move in this direction on a large scale has been taken in the steel industry, with establishment of an Experimental Negotiating Agreement by the United Steelworkers and the 10 firms comprising Basic Steel. With the recent signing of a new labor pact, the effectiveness of the ENA was clearly demonstrated.

THERE IS NO question but that all major industries and unions were watching developments in steel with extraordinary care. Nobody wants protracted and financially crippling strikes, and if they can be avoided in the massive steel industry there is hope for similar improvement in practically all fields.

Even though modifications may be necessary in different industries, especially those with sharp seasonal stresses or potential imbalances, patient and thoughtful negotiations should greatly reduce the need for strike activity.

While the steel settlement was extremely costly for the companies, even management appears to feel that the most significant aspect of the outcome was the assurance of a stable labor peace, almost certain to last until April 6, 1980.

Already the AFL-CIO Steelworkers negotiators have agreed to sit down again with company representatives in 1977, using the ENA plan that worked so nicely this year. The stipulation is continued that neither party in the negotiations will resort to the strike or the lockout weapon on a national level. CERTAIN STEEL spokesmen—while admitting that the wages, pensions, and other benefits included in the new contract will mean a big jump in labor costs—are of the opinion that the advantages are worth the price. For instance, the steel industry has had some poor years, and it is now on the way back to health.

Is Basic Steel Pact Start of Trend?

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—In recent years there has been a trend toward more amicable bargaining between management and labor, attributable in large measure to the fact that prolonged strikes are too damaging and costly for all concerned.

With wage rates at today's high levels, workers in a medium-sized or large company can lose millions of dollars if a walkout persists. Corporate profits can be pared close to the disappearing point by plant closings, picketing, and boycotts.

It has become evident, in fact, that weeks of bitter confrontation on the labor front are no longer necessary or sensible, and that the bargaining process can and should reveal the intelligence and experience gained by employers, employees, and labor authorities over decades of industrial evolution.

PRESIDENT George Meany of the AFL-CIO has long deplored the terrible waste of energy, money, time, and profits in the course of dragged-out crisis-type negotiations resulting in slow-downs and often walkouts. One difficulty lay in the constant fear on the part of the unions that they might lose "the right to strike" if they agreed to binding arbitration.

So progress has been slow toward a

STREAKING — It's the "winning" kind of streak that is occupying the attention of Northville high school's tennis team. Unbeaten in seven straight dual meets over the past two weeks, the Mustang netters now hold a season record of 10 wins against two defeats. In Western Six conference play Coach Bob Simpson's team has a 4-1 record. Pictured here are four of the Mustang netters who have contributed to the team's performance. Making that extra effort to reach a low volley are Frank Knoth (left), number two singles man, and Jami Boshoven (above), the team's "Billie Jean King" who has played both number three and four singles. At right, Number One Man Greg Boll practices his serve, while Dan Gougeon, who teams with Jim Bonamici in doubles, dances into position to handle a high lob. Coach Simpson describes his squad of 10 players as a "solid team" and predicts that the Mustang netmen have an excellent chance in both the Regionals tourney at Plymouth on May 17 and in the Western Six conference meet that will be staged in Northville on May 22.

Sweep Lifts Mustang Netters to 10-2 Mark

Northville's high school netters boosted their season won and loss mark to 10-2 last week by sweeping a trio of matches.

Monday the Mustangs visited the Canton courts at Plymouth and returned with a 6-1½ win; Wednesday the journey was to Farmington's Harrison high school and a 7½-0 victory. Thursday Northville hosted Fenton and

Although Coach Bob Simpson's netmen blanked Harrison, the meet with the Farmington high school team was by far the closest.

Five of the seven matches extended into three sets.

In the number one singles match-up Northville's Greg Boll and Dave Hayes of Harrison tangled in a marathon with Boll outlasting his opponent, 7-6, 5-7, 7-6.

All the other singles matches were decided in three sets with Frank Knoth downing Jeff Klein, 7-5, 1-6, 6-3; John Oatey winning the number three match over Jerry Segal, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4; and Jami Boshoven showing comeback stamina by winning over Ken Notestine in the number four slot, 1-6, 7-6, 6-4.

Only the number one and two doubles teams managed to gain straight set victories. Cary Eaker and Rick Norton topped Van Vleck and Corey, 6-4, 7-6, while John Folino and Rob Bowman defeated Miller and Sandy, 6-2, 6-3. In the third doubles match Jim Bonamici and Dan Gougeon had to come from behind to top Kourtjian and Weiner, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Steve Prueter prevented the Mustangs from sweeping Canton off its courts in straight set matches by winning the number one singles match from Boll, 7-6, 6-2.

In the other pairings Knoth found easy going in winning from Steve Moorehead, 6-0, 6-0; John Oatey breezed to a 6-1, 6-1 win over Dave Anderson; and Boshoven blanked Steve Pasley, 6-0, 6-0. In doubles the Eaker-Norton duo downed Schultz and Sweet, 6-1, 6-3; Folino-Bowman topped Doty-Hopfner, 6-4, 6-4; and Bonamici-Gougeon won over Haarer and Miller, 6-1, 6-1.

Returning home Thursday night the Mustangs swept all but the number two singles in straight set victories. Mark Federoff took the measure of Knoth, 6-4, 6-1 to record Fenton's only win of the night.

Boll downed Scott Blasie, 6-3, 6-4; Oatey blanked Todd Knoop, 6-0, 6-0; and Boshoven defeated Rob Whitt, 6-3, 6-2.

In doubles it was Norton-Eaker 6-0, 6-3 over Scott Browder and Bob Ferguson; Folino and Bowman over Bill Cowan and Mike Kolbow, 6-2, 6-1, and Gougeon-Bonamici over Sue Pittsley and Jay Browder, 6-3, 6-4.

Skids Towards Cellar

Rain Gives Novi Nine Rest

Postponement of Friday's doubleheader may have been a blessing in disguise for Novi's varsity nine.

The unplayed games (because of a wet field) with South Lyon, together with open dates on Saturday and Monday, gave the Wildcats a long layoff before heading into a torrid daily schedule.

"It may be what we needed," said Coach Rick Trudeau as his squad prepared for Tuesday's encounter with Dexter.

With last week's 7-2 loss to Milan, the Wildcats are fast skidding into the Southeastern Conference cellar. They've dropped four of their first five SE games — a surprisingly dismal showing that has league followers scratching their heads. Going into the season Novi was billed as a potential champion.

And indeed it is — even if the record to date indicates otherwise. At the moment Brighton is on top of the heap with a 7-1 mark.

The irony of it all is that Novi continues to pound Class "A" size teams while losing to league opponents.

Latest non-league opponent to take it on the chin from the Wildcats was Walled Lake Central, which dropped an 8-6 decision just two days after Novi knocked off Detroit Western by a score of 17-6.

"I just can't put my finger on it," said Trudeau in trying to figure out why his team continues to whip the A clubs while losing the important league contests. "Maybe it's the desire to show the bigger schools what we've got."

Whatever the reason it's hurting Novi's showing in the conference, and Trudeau's hoping things start changing fast.

Although Central's big ace hurler, Mike Imhoff, was on the mound last week, the Wildcats teed off on him as if their careers depended on it.

Imhoff, one of the state's top pitchers and a full scholarship football ticket to Michigan State, fired his blazer as fast as ever but it simply didn't impress Novi's batsmen.

Meanwhile, Novi's Dave Piotrowicz, a reliefer enjoying his first starting role, pitched a fine game. "He got into trouble a few times but he seemed to get out of it okay," said Trudeau, who predicted Piotrowicz will give Novi some important additional pitching strength as the schedule heats up.

A four-run first inning burst set the stage for the Novi triumph. The Wildcats added its fifth run in the third, icing the victory with three more runs in the fifth.

Mustangs Split 2 Before Rain Hits

Maybe those showers were a blessing, then maybe again they hurt.

If you're a coach like Chuck Shonta—an optimist who things his club's a winner—you've got to believe rain washed out a pair of victories this past week. And that hurts.

On the other hand, if you're a pessimist the rain wasn't all that bad.

Any way you look at it, the Mustangs split a pair last week before rain forced postponement of two others—one on Friday against Milford and another this past Monday against Waterford Mott.

The rain left Shonta with plenty of time to mull over the split—a heart-breaking 2-1 loss to first place Plymouth Canton last week Monday and a wild, 13-10 triumph over Farmington Harrison.

"There's not much you can say about those games," said the coach. "The games pretty much speak for themselves. Farmington Harrison was a wild one and Plymouth Canton was just a good game."

Plymouth pushed across its game-winning run in the eighth after Northville had knotted the score with one run apiece in the fifth. Driven home by Bill McDonald, Ed Kritch scored the lone run.

Mustang hurler John Boland fired a fine game despite the loss, insisted Shonta.

While the two teams could muster only a combined three runs in that Western Six game, it was a scoring free-for-all a couple of nights later.

By the end of the third inning, Harrison was out front by six runs—9-3. But Northville chipped away at that lead and by the fifth had narrowed the gap to four, 10-6.

Then in the seventh, the Mustangs' bats exploded. And when the barrage was over, the local nine had pushed across seven runs and was enjoying a comfortable lead.

Big guns for Northville included Randy Oginski, who tripled and doubled in accounting for five runs, and McDonald, who had two RBI's.

Ed Kritch, who relieved Joe Bishop in the third, was the winning pitcher.

Golfers Defeat Saline, South Lyon

But Milan Wins Easily

Novi's Scott Devall fires 43 . . .

Novi's varsity golf team picked up two wins and a loss in two Southeastern Conference meets this past week.

The Wildcats hosted Saline and South Lyon last week Tuesday on the Godwin Glen course and eked out a 176-177 margin over the Hornets while easily beating the Lions, 176-199.

Milan played host Friday and turned the tables for a 176-184 verdict.

At Godwin Glen Don Ling showed the way, firing a 40 for medalist honors and helping the Cats hold off the balanced Saline attack.

All four Hornets scored in the mid-40's with John Drake at 43, Duffy Williams at 44 and Craig Hoeft and Lee Lambarth both carding 45's.

Scott Devall fired a 43 for Novi with Ken Snew in at 44 and John Withers recording a 49.

South Lyon got a 43 from Greg Wallace and 47 from Harry Bowers, but Bart LaBram could do no better than 53 and Robin Justice wound up at 56.

Kevin Kelly Eyes WMU Swim Team

Ken Dove of Livonia Churchill and Northville's Kevin Kelly, a pair of high school individual medley and freestyle swimmers, have signed National Letters of Intent to attend Western Michigan University.

Dove achieved All-American mention this past winter after twice winning All-League and All-Area acclaim.

His best performance to date is a :49.1 clocking in the 100-yard freestyle, which is just three-tenths of a second off the Bronco varsity record. He has also gone :22.5 and 1:52.6 in the 50 and 200 freestyles and owns a 200 I. M. effort of 2:06.6.

Kelly won the Michigan Class B 200 free crown and took part in a winning relay in 1973 as his Northville squad captured team championship honors. He owns a personal best of 1:53.3 in this event, has recorded a :58.8 in the 100 butterfly and has covered the I. M. in 2:10.

By the end of the third inning, Harrison was out front by six runs—9-3. But Northville chipped away at that lead and by the fifth had narrowed the gap to four, 10-6.

Then in the seventh, the Mustangs' bats exploded. And when the barrage was over, the local nine had pushed across seven runs and was enjoying a comfortable lead.

Big guns for Northville included Randy Oginski, who tripled and doubled in accounting for five runs, and McDonald, who had two RBI's.

Ed Kritch, who relieved Joe Bishop in the third, was the winning pitcher.

"Best time of the season," was repeated over and over again as Northville Thinclads Coach Ralph Redmond described how the team performed for last week's meets.

"Over-all we thought our kids did real good," he said, even though they lost to Churchill 72-51 at the Thursday meet. Redmond gave credit to Churchill for having a "good depth team," plus some outstanding top performers.

"They're probably number one in our league," he said. They're also the defending champs.

Northville made a fine showing at the meet, however, taking firsts in a number of events.

In the half mile run, Tom Coram took first with a time of 2:02. He was followed in third place by Rob Foust with a 2:04.7; his best so far this season.

Guy Cole's best mile of the season at 4:34.1 captured another first for the Mustangs.

Tom Marzoni took firsts in the high and low hurdle races with times of 18.3 and 21.5.

Northville's undefeated Mile Relay team of Coram, Cole, Pettit and Bloomhuff took another first with a time of 3:32.5, its best of the season.

"The kids were up for the meet and it showed in their times," said Coach Redmond.

"There was a big match between Jim Porterfield and Tom Reardon," the thinclad's trainer explained. Both shot putters had bettered 51 feet previously. Porterfield was the victor this time with a first place put of 50-10.

The thinclads found stiff competition in Churchill's hurdler Bob Mendoza. The runner secured firsts against the Mustangs in the 880 relay, the 440 Relay and the 220 yard dash.

Jim Shortt's second place pole vault of 11 feet was "a surprise we hadn't planned for," Redmond admitted. The same held true in the hurdle races.

"They hurt us badly in the high jump and the low jump," Redmond concluded. "We would have been okay if we were stronger in those areas."

"We took a team of 40 to Observerland and found about 25 that really wanted to compete," confided Redmond concerning Saturday's meet at Redford Union's Hilbert Junior High.

Northville placed fifth in the invitational out of the 16 teams there competing.

"We had a real fine day," the trackmen's trainer said. "The kids ran some of their best times," he grinned, admitting that the other teams "offered some good competition."

The thinclads took five medals at the meet; two for second place showings, and one each for a third, fourth and fifth.

Scoring was based on team efforts in each of the events and awards were presented at the conclusion of each event.

In the field events, the Mustangs got off to a good start with a second place in the shot put. Northville's trio of putters had a combined total throw of 140-4 3/4; seven feet further than any team entered by the high school before.

Jim Porterfield had the best put of the day there, covering 52-5 1/2. Doug Crisan's shot traveled 44-1 and Mike Hutchinson's went to 43-10 1/4.

"The kids worked just beautifully," commented assistant coach Alex Klukach. "Each kid really exploded as he came off that ball."

Another second was taken by Northville in the 2 mile relay. Cole, Kevin Kofler, Foust, and Coram delivered the baton with a time of 8:20.4. Cole set a new school record in his 880 yard leg with a time of 1:58.5.

The mile relay saw "another excellent performance for our kids," Redmond said happily. Bob Bloomhuff, Bill Pettit, Cole and Coram brought the team around the cinder track with a time of 3:31.7—their best of the season.

The fourth place medal was won by Earl Bingley, Rick Marcicki, Pettit and Bloomhuff in the 880 Relay. They, too, ran their best time of the season, coming in at 1:33.7.

"Bingley and Marcicki had outstanding splits of 23.2 in their 220's," Redmond observed.

That medal was one of "two nice surprises" cited by the coach. The fifth place taken by the shuttle hurdle team was the other nice surprise. Tom Marzoni, Dennis Keegan, Dennis Singleton and Bill Shaughnessy brought the honor to the thinclads with a time of 61.7.

Redmond noted that the Mustangs were "one of the few teams with freshmen on the field." He commended Bingley and Singleton for their efforts in the relays.

"Bingley probably had the best day of his career," confided Redmond. The sprinter set a new freshman record in the 440 with a 53.2 in his leg of the sprint medley. Singleton, the other freshman, "did an excellent job for us," the coach continued. Singleton anchored the shuttle hurdle relay.

"The kids really got caught up in the competition," Redmond recalled. "Attitude was very very strong," he said.

"They came away saying 'We can do better,'" he said proudly. "We have to agree with them. There are a couple of good work weeks coming up and they were running on a cinder track, which gave them slower times."

"We're very proud of our kids and yet we have greater expectations for them," the thinclads' coach pointed out

Students Compete Northville Coach to Walk In Olympics 21-Mile Route in 2 Hours

Two Northville youths will be participating today in the Garden City Olympics.

Competition includes 231 students from five school districts vying for ribbons in track, field, swimming and bowling events. Local students are Kevin Schrot and Heidi VanEe, who both attend school at Cooper Annex in Livonia.

The olympics include athletic competition for mentally handicapped children and adults, according to Mrs. Barbara Hajdusciewicz, acting director of special education for Northville Public Schools. Both Kevin and Heidi will be competing in the softball throw, 50 yard dash, standing long jump and bowling. Their physical education instructor at Cooper is Mrs. Ricki Gans of Northville who's been training both students.

Begun in 1968, the Garden City Olympics is sponsored by the Garden City Kiwanis, Wayne-Westland Civitan and Garden City Jaycees. Games are held from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. with students earning ribbons for placing among the top three in each event as well as for having participated in the olympics, Mrs. Hajdusciewicz explained.

Events are divided into competition by age, sex and ability "so all have the opportunity to be successful. It's most thrilling to see the students experience success," she commented.

The program was started because there was no physical education program for mentally handicapped students.

Thirty-five of the 231 competing will be selected to go on to the three-day state meet which will be held at Central Michigan University.

There is no cost to either the parents or students for the local meet, Mrs. Hajdusciewicz said. Today's meet is the first time students from Northville have entered the local competition and "they're all excited to be involved," she added.

In its third week of play April 30, Al Jones fired the low score with a 41 and Denny Armstrong was closest to the pin on his sixth hole shot.

Northville Coach Paul Bedford will attempt to run the full 21 miles of the Jaycees' upcoming Walk for Mankind race, it was announced this week by Jaycee spokesmen.

Coach of the girls' track team, Bedford hopes to run the 21 miles in two hours — easily in time enough to attend the girls' regional track meet the same day.

"There is reason to believe he'll make it, too," says Jaycee Vince Hanson.

"Paul is ranked 125th in the nation among the marathon runners. To qualify as a marathon, runners must cover 26 miles, 385 yards. The extra 385 yards were added during the 1940 Olympic games held in England," he explained.

"The queen wanted to watch the runners finish in front of the palace," he continued, "so the Olympic committee extended the course 385 yards and it's been that way ever since."

As Paul Bedford put it, "Any runner who falters in those last 385 yards always can blame the queen."

Even though the Walk for Mankind does not qualify as a marathon, "Coach Bedford will be out there giving it a professional marathon touch," says Linda Hanson.

Bedford recently finished third in the Grand Valley State Marathon held in Grand Rapids with a time of 2 hours and 31 minutes.

"So if you subtract five miles for his run over the Walk for Mankind course, his goal of two hours is quite feasible," says Jaycette Hanson.

Choo-Choo Takes Four

Even before regular season slo-pitch action got underway Monday, Choo Choo Car Wash softballers were wearing the smiles of champions.

That's because the local club swept four straight games over the weekend to claim the championship trophy in the second annual South Lyon Softball Tournament.

Although Choo Choo pounded Lipon's Sports of Brighton twice in the tournament—once by a football size score, the crucial victory came in the first game.

Playing Mueller Real Estate of Milan, Choo Choo was down 6-3 in the sixth when the local club rallied to knot the score.

Then in a big ninth inning, Choo Choo's Don Phillip and Rich Adams singled, Brian Gillis walked to load the bases, and Pete Woodard cracked a single up the center of the field to push home the winning run.

Key play in that opening game—a play that seemed to inspire the local club throughout the weekend action—was a fantastic backhanded, diving catch in right center by John Bidax midway through the game.

Saturday evening Choo Choo picked up its second victory—an 11-0 shutout over Farley's of South Lyon. Big

"Paul will be running with two goals to make it in two hours and to get to the regional meet by noon. He's got our good luck wishes."

Choo Choo jumped off to a 3-0 lead, but the two teams 3½ times!

Big blows in the inning included a three run homer by Denny Nadeau, back to back doubles by Gillis, double and single combinations by Tom Albers and Jerry Wedge, and a pair of singles off the bats of Ray Kelly and Lineman.

Phillipi pitched all four games for Choo Choo.

But Lipon's rallied for six runs in the top of the seventh to knot the score at 8-8.

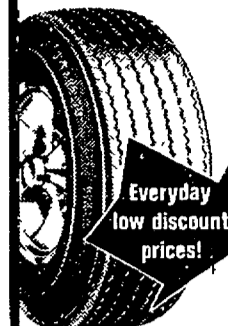

In the bottom half of the seventh, Phillip led off with a single and then moved to third on a single off the bat of Woodard. At that point Lineman doubled off the left centerfield fence to drive in the winning run.

The victory moved the Northville squad into the finals late Sunday afternoon. Ironically, in that game Choo Choo again faced Lipon's, which had worked its way back into the finals by knocking off Mueller and continued to jockey for the lead until late in the game. Going into the seventh inning, Choo Choo had a 10-6 bulge.

That's when the lid came off. Choo Choo rocked Lipon's with 23 hits and piled up 18 runs before the devastating inning was over. The local club batted through the lineup Hamburg in consolation

Novi JV's Win Two

Novi's junior varsity nine picked up its first two victories of the season last week, defeating Walled Lake Central on Monday, 7-6, and Willow Run on Wednesday, 9-5.

Friday's scheduled contest with South Lyon was rained out.

Scott Parsons pitched "a fine game" against Central, said Coach Bob Weinburger, who credited the young hurler for the victory.

Novi worked Central's pitcher for 11 walks—a key to the triumph. Five of Weinburger's players picked up single hits.

Bruce Aitema hurried for Novi against Willow Run.

Big bats in that game were carried by Greg Porter, who picked up two hits and stole four bases, and Bryant Hammond, who also hit twice and stole two bases.

Going into three games scheduled this week, the junior varsity squad carried a 2-3 record.

Novi Nine Rests

Walled Lake scored three in the first, one in the third and two in the fourth.

Biggest blow of the game was turned in by Dave Brown who homered to open the top half of the fifth.

It looked for awhile as though Novi might squeeze past fourth-place Milan last week. The Wildcats were leading 1 to zip the host club came to bat in the bottom of the fifth.

Taking advantage of a handful of Novi errors, the Big Reds pushed across a half dozen tallies on three hits—including one four-bagger.

Milan sewed it up with a lone run in the sixth.

After battling to a scoreless tie through the first three innings, Novi took the lead in the fourth on a combination of errors and a sacrifice bunt by Eric Hanson that brought home Bill Barr in a squeeze from third.

Novi picked up its second and final run in the seventh as Mike Riley stroked a four-bagger over the rightfield fence.

Deadlines! A word used by newspaper men, students and travelers To be finished before the deadline or on hand, is vital!

There's a story from the prison life of America that speaks of deadlines. It's said that in front of the electric chair there was painted a wide, yellow line. It became known as the deadline. It used to be that a criminal was ready to be executed and some lawyer or relative would burst in with some new, last minute evidence and the man would be taken back to his cell and a re-trial. In more cases than not, he'd be returned to the chair to undergo the same ordeal again. Someone got the idea that they'd paint the yellow line, on the floor, across the front of the chair. Once the convicted would step over that line, he'd never step back.

Life presents many deadlines, but there is one that is inescapable and that's the deadline of death. The Bible says, "And as it is appointed unto man once to die, but after this the judgment!" (Hebrews 9:27). The Bible tells us we're going to die and we're aware of this. We hear about it and read about it all the time.

"After death life must be lived somewhere. Don't be misled by the false idea that death is the end. Our verse says we stand before God in the judgment. You'll either spend eternity in the presence of Jesus Christ or in hell. Which will it be for you? The decision is up to you. Receive Christ as your personal savior and you can look forward to eternity with Him. Once you've crossed the deadline of death it's too late to decide!

She Marks 90th Birthday with Party

By NANCY DINGELDY

Just about the time you think the winter snuggles ought to be packed away for the season, good ole Mother Nature deals one of those low blows and out they come again. Warm one day, cold the next...ahhh, the glories of spring.

But to ask anything different would be rushing the season and it appears the spasmodic changes in climate serve only to remind us that it is just the first part of May.

For Helmi Korhonen, Sunday, May 5 marked a very important day in her life. It was her 90th birthday and she celebrated it with a birthday party. With Mrs. Jack Karell acting as hostess at her home on Nalene Street, more than 80 friends and neighbors both from Wixom and Detroit joined together in a buffet lunch and a resounding chorus of "happy birthday" in Helmi's honor on Saturday afternoon.

Some typically Finnish foods were featured including herring and beet salad, Finnish meatballs, cardamom cake, pulla and a very large torte cake topped with three birthday candles.

Helmi was born in Finland and worked as a domestic in her younger days and still carries on a very active life despite her years. It is not unusual to see this spry, but frail appearing lady on top of a ladder washing windows or pruning her trees. During the warmer months she can be seen caring for her garden or bustling around her immaculate home. She does all her own laundry...by hand. A very happy birthday to this lovely and amazing lady.

At almost the opposite end of Helmi's milestone birthday was a surprise "sweet sixteen" celebration in honor of Nancy Tillman. Rather devious methods were used to gather a group of Nancy's friends into the Tillman recreation room without her knowledge for an evening of fun topped with the teenage delight... pizza, pop and birthday cake.

A reminder that next week has been designated "clean up, fix up, paint up" week by the mayor and city council...with the hope that balmy breezes and sunny skies aid in the venture. Many of the civic organizations have designated this weekend as the time to get together and tidy up things locally.

Other reminders...reservations for the golf outing slated during Michigan Week should be made by May 13. Call the Hickory Hill Golf Course at 624-4733 for reservations. Greens fees will be $2 per person if the calls are made by May 13...May 18 is the day for golf.

Reservations are now being taken by the Naragon's and the Andrews' for the wild, wild treasure hunt the night of May 25. Cost for the evening will be $13 a couple, and reservations should also be made with them by May 13. Phone numbers...Naragon's at 624-5596 and Andrews' at 624-3721.

Letters for nominations of outstanding senior citizens are also due by May 13. They should be addressed to Lillian Spencer, The Wixom Chamber of Commerce, c.o. the Wixom Post Office.

And it's almost the last chance to enter a design in the city flag contest. Entries should be either 4" x 6" or 11" x 8" rectangulars using no more than five colors, keeping in mind that the colors should contrast or blend with the National or State flags when flown together.

Pearl and Gib Willis have returned to Wixom relaxed and well-tanned after a pleasant stay in San Jose, Costa Rica. Their time was spent at The Cariarre which featured just about anything to make a vacation period one of enjoyment. The main lodge was surrounded by a complete sports complex of tennis courts, swimming pools and the golf course where most of the time was spent.

Side trips, when the Willis' weren't on the fairways were taken to the oxcart and leather goods factories. They still manufacture and use the colorful oxcarts we only fancy in our imaginations.

According to Gib, the country is strictly agricultural, picturesque and quite colorful...a perfect place to relax and enjoy.

Nancy and Joe Yogus were recently honored by over 100 friends and relatives at a 50th wedding anniversary held in the club room of the Finin Camp. Hosted by Ruth and Joe Yogus, the entire club room was decorated in gold and white for the festivities. Pictures of the couple during their 50 years were featured including one that was taken at the beginning of their marriage which was blown up to poster size and hung behind the head table. Guests enjoyed a buffet dinner and a special "sweet" table of petit-fours, mints, eclairs and tarts.

Music for dancing completed the most enjoyable celebration.

Mary Ann Vollmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vollmer of 2076 Hazel, has been awarded the Wall Street Journal citation for outstanding scholastic achievement.

A graduate of the Walsh College of Accounting, Miss Vollmer was president of the student council and a member of the dean's honor list.

She is a graduate of Walled Lake Western High School

Novi Jaycees Pick Winning Slogan

"Drive slow-let kids grow" is the winning slogan chosen for the Novi Jaycee Auxiliary's Traffic Safety Awareness Week, May 12-18. The slogan was entered by 12-year old Mike Berardi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fleming. The Novi Middle School seventh-grader was presented with a $25 Savings Bond as a reward for his effort.

The slogan is being put on bumper stickers which will be available later in the month.

To make citizens further aware of public safety, the women's group, headed by Anne Conklin, has been working on a number of projects. As a result of its efforts, "high accident area" signs will be installed at appropriate locations.

A traffic accident sign showing deaths and fatalities will also be erected, at a cost of $60.

The women will further their efforts by having speakers come in to address groups on public safety.

"The women put a lot of effort into this," said Corporal Frank Barabas of Novi's Traffic Bureau. "They are trying to reduce the number of accidents in Novi by making people aware," he said.

Last year there were 566 accidents in Novi, according to Barabas. In those there were 12 fatalities and 202 injury accidents.

Traffic Safety Awareness Week is scheduled to take place during National Police Week. In recognition of this and in support of the Jaycees Auxiliary, the Traffic Patrol will issue Safe Driver Awards during that week.

About 25 of the awards will be issued to drivers who are observed as particularly safe drivers. Barabas said the drivers will receive some further recognition later on. Barabas pointed out that tickets will still be issued to bad drivers that week.

In an effort to show the need for greater public traffic safety awareness, Barabas cited the many speeding violations issued to drivers on Meadowbrook Road between Nine and Ten Mile roads.

"We had gotten complaints from the area and were out enforcing with radar," Barabas explained. On Saturday 13 speeders were caught, 10 of whom were residents of the area, he said. Three more residents were caught speeding Monday.

The worst offender was doing 61 in a 30 mph zone, according to Barabas. He described the road as looking like an expressway since it's been paved, but added, "all it takes is one kid to step into the street. That would make people aware of the problem," he said.

Barabas said they are not trying to hide when they are out looking for speeders. He wanted people to know that "95 percent of the time we end up catching people who live in the area, who are doing the violating."

enrollment of 414 students while Highland Lakes will house about 286. Other elementary enrollments projected include Main Street, 205; Amerman, 479; and Moraine, 441.

The superintendent said it is likely that one principal will be used to administer both Main Street and Highland such events annually.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie advised the council that the June 1 request leaves no time for amending the existing ordinance.

Lakes during the 1975-76 school year.

Deadline for applying for the positions posted has been set for May 17 with appointments expected to be made the following week, Spear said.

By contract with the Northville Education Association, administrative and teacher openings must first be posted within the district.

While Councilman Nichols stated that he was "opposed to subjecting the people to such a nuisance" and Councilman Folino charted that "gross violations of the ordinance" had taken place in previous races staged by the same promoters, Councilman Vernon took the position that "we should put teeth in the ordinance".

"While we receive complaints about the motorcycle races, we also see local support", Councilman Vernon noted. He said many residents attended the events. He suggested that if time limits, noise and dust control regulations are not observed at the June 1 event, the council should take steps to deny the July and September dates.

In other business Monday night the council reviewed the proposed traffic signal plan at the Eight Mile-Novl road-Novl street intersection with Lyle Neustadt, traffic safety director of the Wayne County Road Commission.

The council was satisfied that the proposed signal control system can alleviate the problem that often delays traffic at the complex intersection. It is designed to maintain a steady flow of traffic on Eight Mile while permitting turns on and off Novl street and Novl road without undue delay.

It is anticipated that it will be between three and six months before the new system is installed.

The council awarded a bid for a new police car to John Mach Ford Sales and rescheduled its next regular meeting for Tuesday, May 21 to avoid a conflict with Michigan Week's Mayor Exchange Day on May 20.

Resolution from Riverview received asking WCB to place the questions for the Special April Election on the August or November ballots.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: Councilman Folino, on behalf of Harvey Tull, Jaycees, asked Council if they would man one of the checkpoints for the May 18th Walkathon. Council unanimously agreed to man one of the checkpoints. Mrs. Nancy Bohn, 220 N. Wing, asked if a barrier will be erected between the parking lot and sidewalk behind the Drawbridge Restaurant.

Mayor Allen replied that after the final top coat is put on the lots, bumper blocks and plantings will be put in.

Mrs. Donna Bongiovanni, 222 S. Center, asked when a greenbelt will be put in along her property, and also what will be done with the water running on her property?

Mayor Allen said Wayne County has the City tied up on this and we have to make some arrangements first as to Center St.

Mrs. Bongiovanni said a fence was put in on one side but children have been cutting through her yard. Mayor Allen told her a fence will be put up right away.

CENTER ST JURISDICTION: Councilman Biery asked if anything has been heard from Wayne County regarding Center St. Jurisdiction.

City Attorney has not heard anything, and will be calling them tomorrow. RESOLUTION RE HB 5055: City Attorney reported on the Resolution from Keego Harbor. He feels that he should read the bill before recommending Council to pass a resolution. This will be reported on at the next meeting.

BIDS FOR FIRE VEHICLE: Bids for the fire vehicle were reviewed. Memo from City Manager recommending the acceptance of the low bid from Miller Dodge and explaining the Township share of 48 per cent was also reviewed.

Bids received are as follows:
Miller Dodge, Northville $4,562.42
Mach Ford, Northville 4,832.59
James-Martin Chevrolet, Detroit 4,725.75

Motion by Councilman Folino support by Councilman Biery to award the contract for the fire vehicle to G. E. Miller Dodge for $4,562.42 subject to the percentage clarification by the City Manager.

CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY.
PUBLIC HEARING ON ZONING ORDINANCE: Mayor Allen re-opened the Public Hearing on the Zoning Ordinance Text.

Councilman Nichols said Council should go over the parking requirements in certain districts as proposed.

Mayor Allen said in talking with Clancy Ely, he pointed out if they had a fire where the tanks are, by the railroad tracks, they would not be able to rebuild. The Mayor suggested a district be formed for oil storage and warehouses east of the railroad tracks. There are no homes or businesses in this area that would be affected.

Councilman Nichols suggested an amendment be added to the P.R.D. Mayor Allen said establishing a district east of the tracks might be better.

Councilman Folino said the comments made at the public hearing should be gone over at a work session.

Motion by Councilman Folino support by Councilman Nichols to adjourn the public hearing to May 13 for continuation of the Zoning Text.

CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY.
MOTION BY COUNCILMAN FOLINO support by Councilman Biery to set the public hearing on the Zoning Map for May 13, 1974, at 8:00 p.m. at City Hall, with notice to be published in the Northville Record.

CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY.
RETENTION OF AUDITOR: Memo received from the City Manager regarding retaining the CPA firm of Iceerman, Johnson & Hoffman for auditing the fiscal year 1973-74.

Motion by Councilman Folino support by Councilman Biery to retain the CPA firm of Iceerman, Johnson & Hoffman for the auditing of fiscal 1973-74.

CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY.
STUDENT RIDERS IN POLICE CARS: City Attorney checked on the proposed program of the students riding in police cars. He renewed the release form of liability and briefly discussed this with the City Attorney's office in Livonia, but was not satisfied, that the waiver would release the City from the students' liability.

He talked with a Livonia officer and was told that students are dropped off if a car is to go on a serious call, and another car picks them up. Northville does not have enough cars to do this, however. This will be taken up at the next meeting, and he will check with the insurance company.

HORSES: Councilman Nichols noted that horses were in front of the Federal Savings and Loan over the weekend. Mayor Allen notified them riding over the baseball field and cemetery. This will be discussed further with the police department.

WORK SESSION: A work session was scheduled for Thursday night, April 18, to discuss the budget and the Zoning Text.

There being no further business, Mayor Allen adjourned the meeting at 9:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Patricia Sattler

Whenever the holder of such license desired to effect a change of place of doing business he shall notify the City Council and make application for a license for such new place in the same manner as in the first instance, excepting that proof of good character may be dispensed with by such City Council. No license issued pursuant to this act shall be assignable or transferable, nor shall any person excepting the person to which it was issued be permitted to do business thereunder either directly or indirectly.

The revocation of any license or the denial of renewal thereof shall not be made without a hearing. Notice must first be given to the applicant or licensee setting forth the time and place of hearing and the reasons for such revocation or denial of renewal of said license. Any conviction of a violation of this Ordinance, or any ordinance of the City of Novi or Statute of the State of Michigan involving moral turpitude, by the licensee or his employees shall be grounds for revocation of any license or the refusal to renew the same.

Section 12.01. Penalty. Section 15.01. Effective Date. The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be immediately necessary for the preservation of public peace, health and safety, and are hereby ordered to take effect immediately after posting and publication thereof in manner prescribed by the City Charter.

Novi Space Pinch

More Solutions Planned

Novi's quest for additional space to house bulging city offices has been expanded. Following last week's council action in authorizing the city manager to negotiate a lease with a bank at the southwest corner of 10 Mile and Novi Roads, two additional proposals—and perhaps a third—was introduced this week. All of the alternate proposals are being studied by City Manager Harold Saunders. His findings and recommendations are expected within a week. One of the proposals never surfaced Monday but council members were informed nevertheless that absent Councilman Edwin Presnell had a plan to submit as well. Its contents were not immediately known.

The two other interim proposals were:

- Proposal of Councilwoman Romaine Roethel to rent 2100 square feet of space in Roma Plaza shopping center at a $550 monthly or $6600 annual cost.

(The bank proposal introduced last week suggests renting 3,650 square feet of bank office space was estimated at $19,162 annually.)

- Proposal of Councilman Louie Campbell to move all police facilities from the city hall building on Novi Road to the building on Grand River presently housing building department offices; construct a "holding room" addition to this new police station at a cost of from $3,500 to $4,000.

Move the treasurer and assessor offices to the mobile home behind the city hall; move the building department to the city hall first floor and into the basement; move the DPW offices to the DPW garage building behind what would become the police station.

The latter move, he suggested, may force a clean-up of the area which he called a junkyard.

Both of these new proposals, as well as last week's bank proposal, have been labeled "interim" since council members view them as a means to temporarily solve an overcrowded condition until voters approve construction of a new municipal complex on 10 Mile Road near Taft.

A citizen attending Monday's meeting, Frank Green, attacked the new municipal complex idea (at 10 Mile and Taft) as an unnecessary waste of money. He suggested instead that the council consider purchase and conversion of the Novi School building for this purpose.

However, Councilman Denis Berry reminded the citizen that the suggestion already had been investigated, that cost of the facility has been estimated at $1 million, and that it is poorly situated for a municipal office.

During the discussion Mayor Robert Daley emphasized that the future municipal office complex decision ultimately would be up to the voters.

boosted by Parks and Recreation Commissioner Mrs. Clara Porter. Another citizen, Peter Romanow, Monday night suggested construction of sidewalks along Taft, for the safety of school children, is more important than a bike path.

In a letter to the council May 1, Mrs. Porter indicated that recent surveys, conducted with the students of Novi and in discussions with some of the adult population, suggest that "bike trails and paths are an important priority."

A four-part program for non-motorized transportation in Novi has been suggested:

1. Pave shoulders of city and county roads that are scheduled for paving or repaving.

2. Install bike route signs.

3. Grade and grub paths off existing roadways.

4. Pave the graded and leveled paths.

"The Taft Road project is only the beginning," Mrs. Porter said.

Chaffee's home and studio is a converted barn on Nine Mile in Novi Insulation, a heater and water had to be put in, the hayloft was replaced with a solid floor and "that was about all that was done," Chaffee said.

Novi Law Hits Slum Landlords

A modified landlord ordinance, aimed at ridding the city of slum housing, has been adopted by the Novi City Council.

In its discussion Monday, council decided to modify the proposal to exclude commercial and industrial establishments, convalescent homes and hotels.

Also, council decided to exclude housing less than three years of age.

The ordinance and a license fee schedule was approved by a 3-2 vote, with Councilmen Louie Campbell and Denis Berry casting the dissenting votes.

Berry contended the ordinance is "too vague," contains too many loopholes, is a watered down version of what originally was suggested.

Campbell contended existing laws permit effective elimination of slums without resort to a new ordinance.

Mayor Robert Daley, who originally suggested the ordinance, defended it as an effective tool to eliminate slums that existing laws have been unable to do over past years.

In response to a charge later by Peter Romanow, a citizen, that the city had given this new legislation little study, City Attorney David Fried reminded Romanow that a public hearing on the proposal had been held and Romanow had not attended.

Furthermore, he noted that only one citizen had reacted negatively.

Absent and not voting on the ordinance were Councilmen Philip Goodman and Edwin Presnell.

Seeks Novi Workers For Michigan Week

Novi's Michigan Week chairman, Mrs. Linda Pochter, has issued an invitation to volunteer workers to participate in the eight day celebration scheduled to begin May 18.

"The response so far has been extremely gratifying," Mrs. Pochter noted, "but we want to stress that this is an event for all Novi residents. The welcome mat is out for anyone who wants to have a part in the observance."

Mrs. Pochter said her committee, in planning events for Michigan Week, has met with cooperation from many directions.

"The city officials, the schools, churches, the Jaycees, and merchants have all joined in to help make the week a success," she said. Committee chairmen have planned a diversified program with something for everyone, varying from free movies for the very young to a sing-a-long for senior citizens.

Residents may view a special needlework exhibit sponsored by the Novi Public Library, while more active types may participate in the 20 mile "Walk for Mankind."

"With numerous other activities planned to include one or more event each day, we can use lots of help," Mrs. Pochter concluded.

Those who wish more information about Novi's Michigan Week calendar or who wish to volunteer may call Mrs. Edward Gilbert, 349-3839.

$1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12. Open competition students in the class, their teacher reports, have danced in events at Bob-Lo Island, St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit.

Police Blotter

Pedestrian, 80, Killed on 5 Mile

In Township

An 80-year-old Plymouth woman died Saturday from injuries received Friday night after being struck by a car on Five Mile Road at Bradner. Mrs. Anna Stroyan of Bradner Road died about 12:40 a.m. Saturday in St. Mary hospital. According to township police reports, she was struck by a car driven by Roy Hockenberry, 84, of Detroit.

Hockenberry told police he was driving westbound on Five Mile at Bradner when he heard something hit his car. He said he stopped to investigate and found he had struck a pedestrian, police reported.

Investigating officers said no skid marks were found at the scene. Hockenberry estimated he was traveling about 30 mph.

Mrs. Stroyan, who was found lying in the westbound lane of Five Mile Road just west of Bradner, sustained a broken right arm and head cuts in the accident. Hospital authorities told police her blood pressure was very low after the accident, township reports said.

Witnesses who were following Hockenberry at the time of the accident told officers they did not see him swerve to avoid anything and one witness said they saw a woman flying through the air but did not see the impact. Police reported Mrs. Stroyan was wearing a long black coat at the time of the accident.

Neighbors told officers that Mrs. Stroyan often walked during daylight hours but that they had not seen her walking at night.

The case remains under investigation, township police say, and charges are pending against Hockenberry.

A 15-year-old Northville High School girl was treated for head injuries she sustained last Tuesday afternoon after she fell from a moving car in front of the high school.

Debbie Todd was treated at St. Mary hospital and released. According to police reports, Miss Todd was riding on the trunk of a car driven by James R. Nair of Mariner Court about 3:40 p.m.

Nair, who told police he was driving no faster than walking speed, said she slid off the trunk when he turned around in the circle drive by the high school office. She struck her head on the pavement and suffered a bump on the head. Another girl riding on the trunk of the car did not fall off, police said.

According to police reports, a car was seen cruising in the area and tampering with cars before the gas was discovered stolen.

Approximately $5 in cash was stolen from a home on Base Line near North Center Street. The theft was discovered Saturday morning after residents of the home found the house had been broken into.

The youngster was released to the parents and the case will be referred to the youth authorities.

Sheriff Assigns Unit

To Work with Novi Police

In an attempt to "prevent and apprehend criminals in high crime rate areas" of Novi, a special unit from the Oakland County Sheriff's department has been assigned to work with the Novi Police, according to Detective Gordon Nelson.

The Support Operation Crew (SOC) members will be under the direction of the local police in the areas to which they are assigned. Nelson will have over-all charge of the SOC unit when it is in Novi, Police Chief Lee BeGole said.

Novi is the first area to use SOC, since it was first to ask Oakland County Sheriff Johannes Spreen when the service was announced. The four members of the unit began operating in the Novi area May 7.

"We hope to catch the criminal in the act of committing a crime," Nelson said. He said the unit will be of particular help in catching criminals who come in from outside the Novi area, commit a crime and then leave.

A 1971 Honda motorcycle belonging to Robert McBride was stolen from in front of his residence at 39707 Villagewood, April 30, according to police reports.

The disappearance of the 350 cc. dirt bike was noticed and reported by Mrs. Susan McBride. She told police that the fork was locked and the engine did not run.

This led police to speculate that more than one person would be needed to move the motorcycle.

The black machine was bought in Japan and is somewhat different from models exported for sale in the United States. This may aid police in identifying the missing bike.
