SEVEN MILE Road, between Haggerty and Northville roads, will be repaired and resurfaced within the next two or three weeks. According to township Supervisor Lawrence Wright, the road will remain open during the project. Construction will be done by Monroe Contractors which has been awarded the bid by the Wayne County Road Commission.

HORSE RIDERS are being warned that stiff fines and jail sentence await those who persist in violating city ordinance by riding their horses on sidewalks and in the Rural Hill cemetery. Complaints that horses have damaged cemetery property, the city hall lawn, and private property are growing, angry city councilmen have noted. They are requesting that law-abiding riders do what they can to police violators to avoid the "bad name" all are receiving.

PONTIAC has been chosen over Northville Township as the site of the National Road Championship bicycle races, Chairman Robert Devos, road chairman for the Michigan Bicycle Federation, has announced. The event will be co-sponsored later this month by the Michigan Bicycle Federation and the Amateur Bicycle League of America. Difficulty in obtaining permission from the Wayne County Road Commission reportedly persuaded the sponsoring organizations to pick the Oakland County city over first choice Northville.

LAUDING Charles Lapham for upgrading the appearance of his downtown store building as well as those adjacent to it, the city council has agreed, through the historical district commission, to underwrite the cost of erecting date-of-construction blocks on downtown buildings that are improved in the manner of Lapham's building. The blocks would be similar to the 1874 block on Lapham's building.

PURCHASE OF water lines from the City of Plymouth has been approved by Northville township board members at a cost of $63,000. Board members authorized the supervisor and clerk to sign a resolution agreeing to the purchase with the changeover to occur within a period of 120 days from the time the agreement is signed by both communities. The system covers water lines in Edenderry, Northville Road and Beck Road, among others, trustees said.

ON THE HEELS of its grand opening this past week, Northville Square shopping center was given a special welcome with the announcement that the annual sidewalk sales area will be expanded along Main Street to include the Square. Main Street will be blocked off from Hutton to Wing, and Center will be closed from Dunlap to Mary Alexander Court. The gala, event, which includes booths of merchants, craftsmen and organizations, is slated for Saturday, July 27. Persons wishing to reserve booth space are asked to call Charles Lapham at 349-5175.

Water Problem Swamps Board Again

Frustrated by the lack of anything being done to alleviate flooding in the Five Mile and Haggerty Road area, residents pleaded with Northville township board members last week to solve the problem.

"The school (Tanger Elementary School) has filled the area and caused the problem," Herman Esch of Haggerty Road said.

Esch, who also appeared before the board in April for help, said he did not agree with township engineer William Mosher's assessment of the situation.

"Saying there is 'no clear evidence of artificial changes such as blocked ditches'... The school has filled the area. I don't buy your statement," Esch said.

"I feel there's more than 80 acres involved. We get all the water but are not causing the problem," he said.

Mosher said that "no one can walk the area and see what causes the problem. We must have facts and there is no inexpensive way to collect them." He estimated it would cost $2,500 for a survey.

"The board has limitations on its jurisdiction and authority and the ways in which it can spend money," Mosher added.

Another long time resident of the area, Glenn Kaiser, told the board that there "has been water in my basement since the school was built. It's like a dike across the area. Every year they build the playground up higher."

Supervisor Lawrence Wright said he has talked to the school district of Plymouth and "they deny the school is the problem."

"The county will do work and assess the homeowners and it will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars," he warned the residents.

Robert Osborne of Wil-O-Mac Golf Course said the course is "still mowing one green by hand because of the water in the area."

One woman said she "must wear boots when I walk out in my back yard".

Wright reminded the residents that "we do not have a DPW. All our work is done by the (Wayne) county or the drain commission."

Osborne suggested that the county road commission cut a 12-inch ditch on the west side of Haggerty flowing north. Others suggested running drain tile down the area.

Township attorney Donald Morgan suggested the residents attend the school board

3 Incumbents Are Not Running

Twenty-two candidates have entered the primary race for Northville township posts. Three incumbents are not seeking re-election, insuring at least three new township board members after the November general election.

Only incumbents seeking re-election to the board are Supervisor Lawrence A. Wright and Treasurer Joseph B. Straub.

Board members not filing petitions are Clerk Sally Cayley and Trustees Leonard Klein and Charles Schaeffer Jr.

Those filing petitions by the 4 p.m. deadline Tuesday include:

Supervisor - Incumbent Wright, who lives at 40241 Fairway III, running on the Republican ticket and Robert L. Oleson, 18693 Innsbrook, Democrat.

Treasurer - Republicans, Incumbent Straub, 39875 Six Mile Road; Anita S. Eising, 48444 Seven Mile Road; Democrat, Robert Pope, 18527 Innsbrook.

Clerk - Republicans, Patricia Cousineau, 42247 Ludlow Court; Betty M. Lennox, 41828 Sutters Lane; Democrat, Janet L. VanVoorhis, 42792 Lake Success Drive.

Trustees - Republicans, R. M. Lysinger, 41805 Banbury Road; James L. Nowka, 15707 Bradner Road; Robert R. Reh, 42801 Waterford Road; Charles B. Rosenberg, 41377 Leidel Court;

Democrats, Kurt H. Glaser, 15465 Northville Forest Drive; Eugene S. Guido, 20390 Westview; Donald B. Marengere, 18569 Innsbrook; Hugh J. Sutherland, 49300 Ridge Court.

Constables - Republicans, Roger G. Eising, 48444 Seven Mile Road; E. F. Peterson Jr., 18786 Jamestown Circle; Incumbent Robert R. Reh, 42801 Waterford Road; Incumbent James F. Schrot, 47900 Seven Mile Road.

Democrats, Guy L. Coykendall, 47150 Seven Mile Road; Raymond Golen, 19811 Crystal Lake Drive.

For the August primary the only contest on the Democratic ticket is in the trustee race. Republicans will be uncontested in the primary race for supervisor only.

In the primary election, the field will be pared to one Democrat and one Republican for the offices of supervisor, clerk and treasurer and two each party for trustees and constables. Candidates have until Friday to withdraw from the race and Reh must withdraw either his petition for trustee or constable by that time.

EXPENSIVE SHOW—For several days last week hundreds of spectators watched as dozens of workmen and heavy equipment tried to retrieve a 100-ton crane, owned by B & V Construction of Novi, that was bogged down in soupy peat at the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty Roads. Spokesmen for B & V were unavailable for comment, but representatives of the firm at the scene indicated the rescue operation which finally proved successful Friday afternoon, cost more than $2,000 an hour.

The crane operator had just finished work on the relocated Haggerty Road (adjacent to the new expressway) on Wednesday and was moving away from the site when the giant machine was caught in the bog. It was under lease to the John Carlo Company, contractor involved in a $7 million expressway project for the state highway department. Although the site work occurred on the Haggerty right-of-way the crane became stuck on the site of what eventually is to be a Thrifty Acres shopping center.

Zoning Compromise Seen on Center

As the Northville City Council prepared to resume the public hearing Monday on the proposed new zoning ordinance, a compromise solution to a dispute that has split the council appeared possible.

The bone of contention is the zoning to be assigned to the property lying north of the Chatham supermarket, along Center to Walnut street.

Planners have recommended that the property in question remain in a residential classification. Councilmen, on the other hand, are divided, with some favoring professional office or commercial zoning while at least one sides with planners.

Wallace Nichols is the councilman who has taken a strong public stand with planners.

The "compromise" came wrapped in a proposal by Charles Lapham and the owners this week—a proposal that suggests two of the three houses on the property be retained and enhanced but that their use be converted from residence to PO.

The third house is owned by another party—Mrs. C. Oscar Hammond—and therefore was not specifically included in the proposal. However, it was suggested that all three parcels probably should get a PO designation if a change is made.

Mrs. Hammond's home is located at the corner of Center and Walnut, while the other two houses are located between the Hammond home and the Chatham parking lot.

According to Les Seeligson, who along with Paul Sigal is

Downs Racing Near

Northville Downs will open its 1974 summer season Wednesday, June 26. The 24-night schedule will continue through July 23.

Post time will be 8:15 p.m. Wagering features of the winter meeting will continue with a daily double on the first and second races, a perfecta on the fourth race, and trifectas on the seventh and tenth.

John J. Carlo, executive manager, looks forward to continued success at the mutual windows despite the abbreviated schedule. The pioneer Michigan parimutuel track had an increase of 11 percent in wagering for the winter meeting, averaging $306,080 nightly.

Harry Peterson, veteran racing secretary, will again be assisted by Tom Smith.

Schoolcraft Eyes

Budget Tax Hike

A levy beyond voted millage allocation will be required to finance Schoolcraft College's proposed operating budget for 1974-75 which will be aired at a public hearing on June 26.

The hearing is set for 7 p.m. in the administration building on campus. It will be followed by the board of trustee's regular monthly meeting. The proposed budget is for $7,777,609, up almost $700,000 over the current adjusted budget for 1973-74.

A special maintenance fund of $250,000 will be charged against this increase for the first time. General operating costs for 1974-75 will expend all funds derived from the College's 1.77 mill property tax. This will necessitate an additional .23 mill levy for

Oldest Grad Celebrates

Attending baccalaureate services for Northville High School graduates of the class of 1974 Sunday at the high school was Mrs. Arthur Phillips, who is the high school's oldest living graduate.

Mrs. Phillips presently is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rollings at their Park Grove home. She will celebrate her 92nd birthday with a family dinner there this Saturday.

Mrs. Phillips who was Eda Anderson before her marriage to the late Mr. Phillips, now lives at the Michigan Masonic Home in Alma. She is visiting her daughter for several weeks.

It will be a double celebration this weekend as the Rollings will mark their 36th wedding anniversary June 22.

Attending the dinner will be the Rollings' daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paulger of Plymouth, and their grandson, Phillip Fisher.

In Our Town

Residents to Move Across State, Globe

By JEAN DAY

"MAKING NEW FRIENDS is not a problem; it's leaving friends here that's hard."

As Mrs. Bruce Thomas talked about the family's upcoming move to Australia she summed up thus the feeling of area residents leaving to make their homes in other parts of the country and world.

Bruce Thomas left two weeks ago for his new post as chief engineer of Chrysler in Australia. The rest of the family will move from their Shadbrook home September 2. At that time Mr. Thomas will be back on vacation to help with the move.

Leaving with the Thomases will be daughter Sue, 14, and sons Chip, 19, who is finishing at Schoolcraft now, and Jason, who will celebrate his sixth birthday September 2 on the flight.

Staying behind but planning a future reunion will be two other daughters. Ann, a senior at Michigan State University, expects to graduate there next March, and Ellen is doing graduate work now at the University of Colorado.

Because the move to Adelaide in South Australia could be permanent, Bruce Thomas has sold all but two cars in his antique collection.

"We had 92 calls on Mother's Day," recalled Mrs. Thomas as she mentioned that her husband had kept only a little Trifon, made by Chrysler in the 1930's, and a rare 1939 Chrysler Imperial on which restoration will be completed in Australia.

The Thomas home is expected to be purchased by Chrysler, Mrs. Thomas said, freeing her from all but packing duties.

THE DALE L. STARRS active Northville residents for six years, will be leaving their home on Thornapple Lane about July 2 for the Phoenix, Arizona, area.

They were honored at a farewell get-together last weekend of 60 friends and neighbors hosted by the James Armstrongs. Jim Armstrong was assisted in the roasting of a pig by Roger Nieuwkoop.

Dale Starr with son, Brian, 12, left Sunday for Phoenix where he has accepted a new position with Air Research, a turbine company.

The Starrs also were feted at a party June 8 given by the James Clarkes at their home on Arselot, assisted by the Donald Baxters.

Since coming to Northville from Connecticut, Linda Starr has been most active in the Western Suburban Junior Women, working with Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Baxter. She served as its president for two years.

Mrs. Starr also is an antiquer and bottle collector. She presently is first vice president of Novi VI chapter of Questers and noted that a chapter has just been formed in the Scotsdale-Phoenix area where they hope to locate.

Neighbors and friends remembered her interest in antiques and chose a large old silver tray for farewell gift.

Mrs. Starr and Rene, who will be entering high school in the fall, will leave early in July after completing plans to rent their home here. The move, however, will be easier than usual, Mrs. Starr said, because it's the first time they've had friends in the community where they're moving.

THE RICHARD WHEATONS already have sold their home on Edenderry to Tom and Judith Sechler, but won't be moving until July. The Sechlers own The Tack Room restaurant.

The Wheatons will be living at Lake Doster, Plainwell, Michigan, near Kalamazoo as Dick Wheaton is the new chief of the Battle Creek air control tower. While living in Northville he was chief of government air traffic in Ann Arbor. A trip to Sweden is preceding the move for their son, Derek, 15, who was to leave Wednesday for Stockholm and Karlskoga where he will visit his mother's relatives. He earned the money for his trip, his mother pointed out, with his paper route. He hopes also to see the family of the Swedish exchange student the Wheatons have hosted.

Because Derek, like the rest of the Wheaton family, has been an active worker in the Northville Presbyterian Church, he plans to return to Northville to go on the church work camp to Wheeling, West Virginia, the first week in August.

The Wheatons' daughter, Rene, now graduating, will be going to Northern Michigan University in Marquette this fall.

Dick and Flossie Wheaton recently were honored on their 19th wedding anniversary at a party given by the Christian Education group of the church.

THE JAMES HAYWARDS' sale of their home at 18420 Donegal Court brings back to Northville Richard Huston and his three children. Before being transferred to Gwynedd Valley near Philadelphia they lived at 18452 Donegal Court.

They have been away just a year. Son Rick will be a senior at Northville High School in the fall while Katy will be a sophomore. John, 6, will be in elementary.

The Haywards will be moving to a one-story home in Northville Commons. Their daughter Cecily will be entering University of Michigan as a freshman in the fall.

A MONTH'S TRIP to California began last weekend for Mr. and Mrs. William Williams, who took delivery on a new auto van last Friday.

Their destination was Palo Alto, California, where their son, Tucker, and his wife, Pam, are waiting to introduce them to their new grandson, Steven Matthew. He was born May 18 at Stanford hospital weighing in at seven and a half pounds. Maternal grandparents of their firstborn are Mr. and Mrs. Doran Laidlaw of Palo Alto.

THE GRAND HOTEL on Mackinac Island was where the Richard Foys of Seven Mile Road had reservations last week to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

They first marked the milestone at a family dinner and headed north after Barbara Foy attended a state board meeting of Michigan Questers antiques study society Wednesday in East Lansing. Mrs. Foy is new state treasurer.

After Mackinac Island the Foys planned to cross the Upper Peninsula to visit relatives in Wisconsin. Mrs. Foy, with her sister, was enrolled in a craft workshop there this week while her husband was on business.

MERLE DUEY called last week with good news regarding the family's new daughter, Dawn Patricia, the deaf South American child just adopted by the William Dueys. A consultation with the family doctor indicated that an operation may correct the hearing problem for the little girl.

Mrs. Duey also added that her social worker wants to correct her information that orphaned children of Colombia (Dawn's home) become street children at 12. This is not true there but, unfortunately, is in some other South American countries.

Roast Slated

St. Kenneth's annual roast beef dinner will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. this Sunday, June 23, at the church at 14951 Haggerty Road, with the public invited.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children 12 and under.

'Biggest Ever' Harbor Day Set at Highland Lakes

The third annual Highland Lakes Harbor Day to be held this Sunday in the subdivision will be the "biggest ever," according to Mrs. E. Keith Jack, overall coordinator.

A full schedule of events is planned, she said, beginning with a bike parade led by the Highland Lakes fire department and continuing into the evening when a sing-along and teen bonfire will end the day.

Because Harbor Day, so named because the original was planned near the boat ramp, involves the entire community, groups have been meeting since February to "pull the event together," Mrs. Jack says.

An international theme has been chosen. Youngsters will decorate their bikes to reflect this in the opening parade, and it will be repeated in booth decorations at the clubhouse. The social committee has chosen a Hawaiian motif for its booth there, Mrs. Jack illustrates.

The parade will lead to Highland House, the subdivision clubhouse, which will be the center of activities. Snow cones, watermelon, coffee, hot dogs and donuts will be sold at booths there.

A swim meet for teens and any other youngsters who have passed their Dolphin tests is set for 2 p.m. at the pool. There will be relays and games at 3 p.m.

Play-offs in adult tennis will be at 4 p.m. and there will be a fishing derby at Silver Springs Lake for small children. A sailboat regatta and event for "anything that floats" is scheduled for 5 p.m., according to Mrs. Jacks who remembers that last year all breezes stopped at that hour leaving sailors only paddles to use.

Families are to bring picnic suppers to eat on the terrace of the clubhouse at 6 p.m. with Jimmy Clark playing for the sing-along afterward. At 8 p.m. teens will have a bonfire and their own party across the lake

Mothers' club, Women's club and teen club as well as the Highland Lakes Recreation Committee have worked on plans. A special feature that has been arranged is registration for coming elections at the clubhouse.

In event of severe rains the celebration will be postponed to June 30.

An August 3 wedding date has been set.

The bride-elect is a 1970 Novi High School graduate and will be graduated from Eastern Michigan University in December, 1974, with a degree in elementary education.

Her fiance also is attending EMU where he is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, Gamma Tau Chapter. He presently is employed as a Washtenaw County deputy sheriff.

Scott Lenheiser

Scott Lenheiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Lenheiser of 45095 Mayo Court, has earned graduation honors at Hope College. He earned the Cum Laude citation given graduates who attain a grade point of 3.3 during their four years of college.

CHRISTMAS-IN-JUNE—Gathering around the decorated tree at the Joseph Assemany home at 811 Horton Street are the Assemany youngsters and their cousins just returned from South America, their mothers, an aunt and grandparents. Seated, rear, are Mr. and Mrs. Apollos Taylor of St. Petersburg, Florida, with daughters, Molly Howley (just back from Brazil with her family), Sally Taylor and, in front of her, Jean Assemany, who planned the reunion celebration for last Wednesday.

For Returnees from Brazil

It's Christmas in June

Christmas came almost six months late for the John Howleys and their six children, but it was a real celebration complete with gifts and a traditional feast when it finally arrived last Wednesday.

It was held around a decorated tree at the home of Mrs. Howley's sister and her family, the Joseph Assemanys on Horton Street, the day the Howleys returned from Brazil where he had been transferred by Chrysler.

Mrs. Assemany and another sister, Sally Taylor, also of Northville, conceived the idea of a Christmas "welcome home" after their sister, Molly Howley, wrote from South America not to mail any Christmas gifts, as postal rates were high and so much duty was charged.

So the family saved the presents and the Howleys brought theirs from Brazil last week. Parents of the sisters, Mrs. and Mrs. Apollos Taylor, came from their Florida home in St. Peter-sborg for the reunion. Greeting the Howleys, who had been in Brazil for a year-and-half, was a large lawn sign saying, "Welcome Home" and Merry Christmas in Portuguese.

"We're a close family," explained Sally Taylor as she told of the homecoming preparations and how the family was buying presents for all the children.

The Howleys, who had been Dearborn Heights residents, had gone to Brazil on January 10, 1973.

The reunion also celebrated the sixth birthday of their youngest child and only daughter, Mary Frances, who was six. Other Howley children are Tim, 16, Tom, 14, John, 12, Pat, 11, and Kevin, 7.

Brass Rubbing Talk

Set at Mill Race

A talk on brass rubbings will highlight the June meeting of the Northville Historical Society at 8 p.m. next Thursday, June 27, which is to be held in the newly restored old library building in the Mill Race Village.

Mrs. Albert Geisler and Mrs. Richard Bohn will display rubbings they made in England and tell their history.

Both historical society members made their rubbings while living in England as their husbands were on Ford assignments there, but each used a different technique.

Mrs. Geisler, who made her rubbings in churches in the Oxford and Stratford-upon-Avon areas, worked in relief, making aluminum foil casts and filling them with a resin base.

Mrs. Bohn, who visited churches in Warwickshire, Essex and Oxfordshire, used a heel ball on paper.

Each has donated a rubbing to be raffled as prizes July 4.

Mrs. Bohn was elected secretary of the society in elections held June 13.

Other new officers of the society are James Harris, president; John Teeter, vice president; Harvey Smith, treasurer.

John Burkman was named chairman of the board of directors, and Donald Severance, corporation counsel.

Officers of the society point out that anyone in the community who is interested in the work of the group is invited to attend the meeting which offers an opportunity to see the restoration work already accomplished in the Mill Race located off Griswold Street.

Conley Studies at Hospital

Nineteen medical students from Wayne County, including a Northville man, will be getting a first-hand look at hospital-based medical care by spending the summer at hospitals throughout the state.

Michael Conley of Northville, a University of Michigan student, is spending the summer at Dickinson County Memorial Hospital in Iron Mountain.

Coordinated by the Student American Medical Association Project for medical education and community orientation, the program provides students with the opportunity to observe community health care services under direction of practicing physicians.

Students are based in hospitals which have continued financial support of the program despite rising economic pressures. In some areas, county medical societies and individual physicians also contribute financially.

Smart's Retirement Stirs Local Candidates

A surprise decision by Representative Clifford Smart not to seek re-election triggered a scramble for the GOP nomination this week.

By the 4 p.m. Tuesday deadline for filing nominating petitions or fees, no fewer than seven Republicans—three of them local residents—had formally entered the race for the seat in the 24th State Representative District.

Two Novi Democrats also filed—William Brinker and Edwin Presnell.

Those seeking the GOP nod in the August primary are: Louie C Campbell and LaVerne M. DeWaard of Novi; Frazer W. Staman of Wixom; Richard D. Fessler of West Bloomfield; Victor B. Bouckaert and Benjamin Bundo of Walled Lake; and Patricia A. Riccobono of Union Lake.

Although Smart has not so reported to this newspaper, party members have stated the Representative timed his surprise announcement on the eve of the filing deadline to discourage Democratic "heavyweights" from entering the race.

Several other persons reportedly were considering running for the nomination, among them Gilbert Henderson, but they decided against the move.

Two of the candidates are veteran Novi councilmen—Campbell and Presnell. Brinker is a local Democratic leader; Staman is a former long-time supervisor of Novi Township and now a county road commissioner; and DeWaard is president of the Novi Board of Education and vice-president of the county school board.

In a statement explaining his decision, Smart said, "There comes a time when a man has to make a decision about whether or not he should remain in elective office. I have spent 10 years in the legislature...

"I must admit that this was a very difficult decision to make because I am convinced that I would have been re-elected. I did not want to bow out without the knowledge that there would be Republican candidates available that would bring the kind of representation to the 24th District that I think the citizens should have. Those fears have now been erased and I feel confident that we will have a highly qualified and dedicated representative."

Smart, 69, entered the legislature after retiring as superintendent of the Walled Lake school district. He had been a school administrator for nearly 40 years.

Just a couple of weeks ago Smart had indicated his intentions of running for re-election, and Campbell had formally announced his candidacy for the seat now held by County Commissioner Lew Coy of Wixom.

Campbell was one of two of the candidates who issued formal statements to the press. Their statements read:

Campbell—If elected I will endeavor to be the most accessible and responsive representative in the state legislature and will, on a continuing basis, seek input from local governmental bodies, homeowner groups, voter leagues and service clubs as a way of implementing my campaign theme of responsive government.

DeWaard—It is with a deep sense of commitment to the people of the 24th District that I have filed for the Republican nomination for the House of Representatives. For the past six years, I have gained a wealth of experience as a public servant and I have many people to thank for this experience, county wide. If I am nominated in August and elected in November, I shall strive to represent the people of the 24th District in a responsible manner.

In notifying this newspaper of his candidacy, Fessler, an attorney, said he "would like to continue the good work that Cliff Smart has begun".

He stressed the importance of maintaining open communication between Lansing and the 24th District and he pledged to ably represent constituents in the legislature.

Staman contends his many years of experience in government (Local and county) and business, together with his understanding of the problems faced by over-taxed citizens, especially equip him to give citizens of the district meaningful representation.

The 24th District includes the cities of Novi, Walled Lake, Keego Harbor, Orchard Lake, Wixom, Milford, South Lyon and part of Northville, and the townships of White Lake, Milford, Commerce, Lyon, Novi and the west half of West Bloomfield.

Blasts Wixom City Council

Mayor Willis Resigns

Wixom City Council members were accused of playing "petty politics" last Friday, two days after Mayor Gilbert C. Willis submitted his resignation, in a press statement explaining his action.

Willis, elected last November to his second term as mayor, had been serving with a council often in opposition to his policies.

He first became mayor a little more than four years ago when he won in a landslide vote in April, 1970, after a highly polarized campaign.

Willis, who is president of Am Cars, Incorporated, at 26971 Grand River in Redford, issued a statement at his business criticizing the council. He said he was home "writing his resignation" when council met June 11.

The "straw" that influenced him to do so, he said, was a meeting the night before the council session, Monday, June 10, with the architect for the new fire hall and Fire Chief Robert Potter and Assistant Chief George Spencer.

The mayor said that when he questioned "the value at the moment" of a training room when the police force of 10 men had "no squad room or john," Spencer said he hadn't done anything for the fire department but "get a cruddy fire truck."

Willis said this type of dissension was making his nerves "ragged" and that he was quitting to keep his health. He said he had had a physical three weeks ago and was in good health and under no medication, but felt the tension Monday and at last month's budget sessions when council did not go along with his recommendations.

Since he came into office, Willis said, Wixom was paying its bills on time and getting its reports and minutes on schedule.

"With Wixom now facing some of its most difficult problems, I found that I was not working with a council that had the best interests of the city at heart. A majority of the members," Willis' statement said, "are more interested in their own petty politics."

He declared the most important issue to which the city must address itself "is a determination of policy in regards to a public safety department as opposed to separate police and fire departments."

Willis said he had not approached the council with this suggestion as it "would be political suicide to introduce such a program while in of-ice" but said it would be "the best possible solution to Wixom's immediate as well as long-time problems."

He said volunteers, in conjunction with public safety personnel, work in other communities and could in Wixom "if council could act with logic and not react to emotion. Recent actions of city council have indicated that were I to have presented such a program the time and effort would have been in vain.

"It is evident," he continued, "that certain council members are playing political favoritism between city departments in addition to discriminating between male and female employees." He declined to name council members specifically at the interview.

"Current stresses of the mayor's office plus economic conditions in my private business mandate that I vacate the mayor's role in order to retain both my mental and physical stability. I do so with regret in that I have not finished the projects or obtained the goals previously established," he stated.

He offered his thanks to the citizens who elected him and asked them to "take heart" in the fact that Wixom is a healthy city with "the most helpful, considerate, hard working undermanned and underpaid administrative staff in Oakland County.

"I feel I leave the city in good hands. Dr. Val Vangieson is a very capable and highly competent individual," he concluded.

VanGieson Assumes Mayor's Job

Stunned last Wednesday by the unexpected resignation of Mayor Gilbert C. Willis, Wixom City Council is expected to accept his resignation from the $2,400 a year post he had held since April, 1970, at this coming Tuesday's 8 p.m. council session.

It is anticipated that council member and mayor pro-tem Val Vangieson will be sworn in at the meeting as new mayor.

In the past the council has invited interested individuals in the community to submit resumes and volunteer for vacant council seats. By terms of Wixom's charter, Robert Dingeldey is expected to be mayor pro-tem.

For a time last week immediately following the brief Wednesday morning resignation statement of Willis, it appeared that the city might also lose its clerk, June Buck. Upset by council comments on her minutes at the June 11 meeting and reportedly by a heavy work schedule, she had prepared her resignation.

Council members, however, persuaded her to take off time due her last Thursday, and to think it over.

Back at work this week, she indicated she did not have plans now to quit. She said she really enjoyed her work and the people of the community.

Dr. Val Vangieson, who presided at the June 11 council meeting when Willis was reported ill, indicated at an unofficial but open meeting of the council he called last Thursday that he was concerned about having time to perform the mayor's duties.

He received the unanimous support of the council, with each member offering help. Dr. Vangieson, elected to his first four-year term on the council in April, 1970, at that time received 422 votes, more than any other candidate in Wixom's then 12-year history.

A 31-year resident of Wixom and a Walled Lake High School graduate, Dr. Vangieson, 41, is a veterinarian. He holds degrees from Michigan State University and University of Michigan.

He lives at 50496 Pontiac Trail and operates a part-time veterinary clinic at his home. He also is employed by the Wayne County Health Department as a divisional director.

Except for Dingeldey, council members carefully avoided comment on Willis' resignation last week while offering strong support to Vangieson.

Mrs. Lillian Spencer, a new member on the council since last November's election, said she felt happy with the prospect of Dr. Vangieson as mayor. "He's a swell guy and willing to listen," she said.

James Lahde, also new to council, said he hoped Vangieson would "be candid enough if the office became too much to let us know so we can pitch in and help."

Gunnar Mettala also offered help and urged Dr. Vangieson to "delegate jobs." With Councilman Fred Moorehead, he indicated that he had full confidence in him. Both also stated they had "a lot of respect for Mayor Willis with Mettala saying, "I think he has done a tremendous job."

While stating he "will do everything I can to help Val and feel council is behind him," Dingeldey blasted Willis for quitting, saying, "He's acting like a spoiled brat and putting because he didn't get his own way."

In budget sessions last month, the council rejected Mayor Willis' proposed raises for city officials, preferring an 11 percent increase for all.

Novi School Board OK's Salaries, Construction Management Firm

Robert Shaw Resigns As Head of Novi DPW

Robert Shaw has submitted his resignation as head of Novi's Department of Public Works (DPW).

Shaw, who was hired by the city to fill the DPW post last December, is leaving Novi after seven months to accept a similar position with the City of Farmington Hills.

His resignation becomes effective June 21.

"It's just a matter of accepting what looks like a better opportunity," Shaw told The Novi News last week. "Farmington Hills is a brand new city and I will have an opportunity to build a department from the ground up.

"The city (Farmington Hills) has its eye on an 11-acre parcel for a DPW yard, and money has been budgeted to construct a DPW building and purchase all the necessary road maintenance machinery.

"Their budget also calls for a department of 18 men," continued Shaw. Shaw also stated that several members of the Novi DPW have expressed an interest in going with him to Farmington Hills.

"There's quite a difference in the pay scale and the fringe benefits are also more extensive," he noted.

The Novi News was informed of Shaw's resignation by a telephone call from Shaw on Friday, June 14.

The DPW head stated that he had read the advertisement for the Farmington Hills position on Sunday, June 2. "I was interviewed on June 4 and hired on June 5," said Shaw. His resignation was submitted on Thursday, June 6.

No public indication of Shaw's resignation was made until Monday, June 17, when City Manager Harold Saunders requested the city council's permission to advertise for a new head for the Novi DPW. The council has taken no action on Shaw's resignation.

Shaw, 47, was hired by Novi in December of 1973 at a salary of $17,000. He brought with him ten years of service in municipal governments with populations of 38,000 to 112,000. He was head of the Livonia DPW for eight years during the 1960's during which more than $30 million in various projects were completed under his supervision.

Those projects included major road improvements, water main installations, sanitary sewer expansions, storm drain projects, two large indoor ice skating rinks, two 50-meter swimming pools, libraries, fire stations, and an 18-hole municipal golf course.

Shaw was employed by the City of Inkster as Director of Public Works and Administrative Assistant to the City Manager immediately before coming to Novi.

The salaries, effective July 1, include:

David Brown, Village Oaks, $19,787, up from $15,969; Ester McDonough, Orchard Hills, $22,787, up from $20,788; Roy Williams, Novi Elementary, $23,140, up from $21,124; Robert Youngberg, Novi Middle School, $25,146, up from $23,035; Helen Ditzhazy, high school, $26,610 up from $23,953; and Charles Nanas, high school, $20,786, up from $18,882.

Salaries of central office administrators have not yet been considered by the board for approval.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz explained the salaries of Brown and Mrs. Ditzhazy are exceptions to the formula approved by board last week.

Salaries were adjusted further beyond the formula, he said, to reflect professional training and responsibility.

The previously approved formula called for an annual improvement factor of five-percent to the total actual salary earned during the 1973-74 school year; cost of living adjustment on the first $12,000 earned with a maximum of eight-percent;

Life insurance in the amount of the administrator's salary; full family medical and dental health care as provided teachers; short and long term disability insurance; and dues of local, state and national professional associations.

The board also approved contracts for the following teachers: Margaret Anderson, Village

Oaks, $10,675 (3.5 years experience); John Lawrence, industrial arts at the middle school, $8,480 (no experience); Annilee Artz, reading at the middle school, $13,386 (six years experience); and Leslie Mayne, vocal music at the middle school, $11,800 (six years experience).

Non-certified personnel approved for hire included: Nancy Brezniak, temporary clerical, $2,50 hourly; and Diane Rixie, Chris Sasena, Carrie Adams, Cheryl Blan, and Martha O'Neal, all of whom are part of the co-op program retained at $1.65 hourly.

Memories of past commanders and past presidents of Northville's Lloyd H. Green Post and Auxiliary were revived last Thursday as records made in 1940 and 1941 were played at a luncheon at the Plymouth home of Mrs. Lyle Alexander.

The records were made at the post's 21 and 22nd birthday parties which were held in the Moffatt Building located next to the Palace Restaurant. At that time it was the American Legion Home.

Cutting records in those years was a novel experience, Mrs. Bea Carlson, who attended, recalled. After they were cut through courtesy of Turnbull Electric, they were stored in Mrs. Carlson's cedar chest.

Voices recorded on the records are those of legion veterans of World War I, Mrs. Carlson says. They were responsible for veterans' affairs in Northville for many years and enjoyed social events with the auxiliary and families.

As other wars brought younger veterans into responsibility, Mrs. Carlson explains, annual suppers with an evening together were instituted to keep the World War I group in touch. The first get-together was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Johnston in 1963.

As some moved south and ill health and death took their tolls and night driving became impossible, Mrs. Carlson remembers, the dinners became luncheons.

Thursday's luncheon had only 10 attending, down from the original with 100. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Simmons, here for a visit from their home in Florida; Charles Murphy, Florida; Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Johnston, Charles Schoultz, Mrs. Oscar Hammond, Mrs. Claude Ely in addition to Mrs. Carlson, all of Northville, and the hostess, Mrs. Alexander, now of Plymouth.

Franklin Hearing Set

Public hearing on whether or not Franklin Road should be declared a natural beauty road will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, July 18. The hearing will be held at the township office building at the Wayne County Child Development Center.

which was presented to the board by citizens of the township, will be taken following the hearing.

Because Franklin Road is under the jurisdiction of Wayne County Road Commission, any action taken by the township board must have the approval of the county, it was pointed out.

According to township attorney Donald Morgan, enactment of the natural beauty designation would mean that any native vegetation within the road right of way could not be changed through cutting, salting, spraying or mowing.

Morgan said the statute "deals only with the road right of way and native vegetation, nothing else."

He added that before a tree could be cut down in the road right of way, "Wayne County would have to hold a public hearing. However, the road can be graded and paved."

Township engineer William Mosher expressed doubts that the statute would allow "any public improvement, even grading or graveling or paving, without a public hearing. Ditching, sewers and water mains would be the same."

Mrs. Margaret Tegge, a resident of Franklin Road and spokesman for the group, said that the petition was "generated because of the school. (A middle school is being constructed and plans call for construction of a storm sewer along Franklin Road.)

"There is an entrance off Franklin to the school," she said. She asked why the school could not branch the road off for parking and have the entrance on Waterford Road instead. "The school should have some responsibility to the people in the area."

Clerk Sally Cayley added that the "school board will not cooperate with the planning commission and we should do at the board level what we can. We only have past experience to go on," she said.

By state law, school districts do not have to have building plans approved by a municipality. State rules govern inspections, etc. for school buildings.

Several members of the township board and Mrs. Tegge have expressed concern that the school board did not meet with planners and the township board to discuss plans while they were being drawn up.

At Thursday's township board meeting, the trustees directed Supervisor Lawrence Wright to suggest that the school district consider making all entrances to the school site off Waterford Road.

Cooke Floor Issue Solved Out of Court

An out of court settlement has been reached between Northville School District and the architect and general contractor of the Cooke Middle School to remedy the sinking floor in the school's gymnasium.

According to Superintendent Raymond Spear, the agreement was signed Monday by representatives of O'Dell, Hewlett, Luckenbach, Incorporated, architects, and E.E. Powell, general contractors.

Under terms of the agreement, the two firms will pay the cost of ripping up part of the gym floor, sinking pilings, placing beams across them, pouring a concrete slab and replacing the floor. Cost of the repair work, to be borne by the two firms, ranges from $50,000 to $75,000.

The school was opened for use in October, 1967, and since the early part of 1970, the school district has been discussing the sinking floor problem with the firms.

Suit was filed in March, 1971. Several methods of remedying the situation, which also has affected part of the locker room, included mud jacking between the fill and the floor which failed to solve the problem, school officials said.

However, they are confident that the plan recently agreed upon will end sinking of the floor.

Under the agreement, work on the floor is to begin Monday, July 8, and be finished no later than September 15.

Township Delays Decision On Last Liquor License

Granting a liquor license to Larry Sheehan for his planned Little Caesar's family restaurant on Seven Mile Road near Northville Road has been delayed.

have for the next six years," he said, noting that a major hotel or restaurant development might want to locate in the township during the next six years.

Northville township board members decided last week to wait until their June 27 meeting to vote on the request.

Liquor licenses are issued on the basis of population as determined by each 10-year census.

Trustee Leonard Klein voiced concern about granting the township's last liquor license.

Township attorney Donald Morgan said he was under the impression that a bill to hold censuses each five years for liquor licenses had won the approval of both state houses.

"It's not good business to issue the last license we'll directed Morgan to obtain more information on the bill and report to the board June 27.

Awards Student $150

Patti Tuck, Novi High School's 1974 valedictorian has been awarded $150 towards replacement of a

In voting the compensation, the board emphasized that the action is not to be construed as an admission of total responsibility or that it is precedent setting.

While the board admitted it has a responsibility in keeping school equipment in good repair, it contended also that Miss Tuck had a responsibility, too. She had placed the instrument in a locker she knew had a faulty latch, they noted.

In Northville Schools

Special Ed Serves 100

More than 400 students are being served this year through Northville Public Schools' staff of special services.

According to a report presented to the Northville School Board recently, Mrs. Barbara Hajdusiewicz, program coordinator, said the services range from reading consultants to programs outside the district for the mentally handicapped children.

By law, Michigan school districts are responsible for the education of students with learning disabilities from ages 0 through 25, Mrs. Hajdusiewicz explained.

Programs in which Northville students are being aided include teacher consultants, 87 students; speech and language impaired, 156, including five pre-schoolers; social workers, 94; psychological services, 128, and programs outside the district, 32, including 20 students who attend programs offered by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Mrs. Hajdusiewicz added that of the 32 attending outside the district, four are pre-schoolers. "We do not have enough of any one age range and handicap in Northville to offer our own program," she said. Students with the same handicap and in the same age range are enrolled in programs run by a particular school district which opens the program to surrounding districts.

Northville students are attending classes in Livonia and Plymouth, for example, she said.

Plans are now being made for a summer program for the students which will run for six weeks in July and August.

Commented Assistant Superintendent Florence Panattoni, "The special education staff has done an excellent job this year".

Former Superintendent Returns to Novi Classroom

Thomas Dale, former Novi superintendent of schools and presently an administrative assistant, will return to teaching next fall.

Dale's appointment as a social studies teacher at Novi High School has been approved by the Board of Education. His teaching salary was fixed at $17,500.

Other teaching assignments receiving board approval include: William Ayotte, high school social studies, BA, $8,480; June Fox, high school art-English, BS, $8,480; Robert Emerson, high school social studies, BS-plus, $8,550 (the three foregoing teachers have no experience); Lois Garavaglia, first grade, AB, three years experience, $10,450; Eileen Grossman, sixth grade, BA, four years experience, $10,600; Peter Karr, psychology, MA, six years experience, $13,650; Dennis Lampron, kindergarten at Novi Elementary, 1.5 years, $10,650; and Patricia Reilly, social worker, MSW, no experience, $9,900.

The board also approved the return from leave of Sharon Marsh, a third grade teacher at Orchard Hills, $12,000; and granted a maternity leave of absence to Laurel Collins of Village Oaks.

Five non-certified personnel also were approved for hire. They are:

Novi Tax Bills One Week Late

Novi property owners will have a one week reprieve before having to face their 1974 summer tax notices.

Novi City Treasurer Evelyn Natzel announced last week that the 1974 city tax bills will be mailed one week late this year.

"The city has been notified by the Oakland County Data Processing Center that the bills will not be received from the Center until the end of June," explained Mrs. Natzel. "The delay is due to a new state law moving the date of the final determination of the Allocation Board to the fourth Monday in June."

The 1974 City of Novi tax bills will be payable without penalty through September 2 at City Hall. City Hall is open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Career Spans Two Continents

Miss Sours Retires

When Miss Margaret Sours leaves her classroom at the end of the school year this week she'll take with her remembrances of more than 1,900 children and service that spanned two continents.

She's retiring after spending a total of 34 years in the teaching profession which began "when I was 18, before I had my degree, teaching in a one room schoolhouse in Newaygo County."

Miss Sours still calls Big Rapids home, has taught a total of 28 years in Northville. "There were only two school buildings when I began teaching at Main Street Elementary," she recalls, "this building and the high school which now is Cooke Annex. The entire staff of teachers numbered 30 or 35," she adds.

Today, there are more than 200 teachers for Northville's six school buildings and three new schools are presently under construction. "The system has gotten so big," Miss Sours observes.

From the one room schoolhouse in Newaygo County she moved the next year to teaching in a one room school in Mecosta County.

She's also spent two years teaching in Michigan's Upper Peninsula and two years in Richmond. And in between her assignments, she found time to get her degree.

Miss Sours remembers that she "Applied to teach in Northville then but wasn't hired" so she joined the Navy working for two and one-half years in the hospital corps.

She returned and was offered a position at Main Street Elementary which she accepted. After teaching here, she then went to Germany and taught in the Rhineland schools, returning again to Main Street. In 1955, when Amerman Elementary opened, she joined the teaching staff of that school where she remained until transferring back to Main Street five years ago.

"I've taught first grade mainly, except for the one room schools, and for the last five years have been a second grade since coming back to Main Street."

Over the years she's seen many students pass through her grade and believes that today's elementary students "are more outspoken now."

"Their interests are also more varied today than they used to be," she comments, attributing that to "television, the space program and the open classroom. Things have changed."

Miss Sours was honored last week at a luncheon given by her fellow teachers, staff members, principal and retired teachers with whom she has taught.

Northville School Board unanimously adopted a resolution honoring Miss Sours for her service to Northville schools and its students.

She's looking forward to retirement and already has a full summer schedule. "I'm going back to Big Rapids which is my home and will be taking several trips this summer, including a trip around Lake Superior with my sister and niece. I love to travel."

Surrounded by her Main Street students, Miss Sours holds the money tree she received from staff members

Board OK's Library Funds

Two Movies on Tap At Northville Library

Summer Reading Club at Northville Library, beginning Monday, June 24, and the first afternoon of movies for students are on tap next week at the Northville Public Library.

The six-week reading club, which runs through August 2, is open to all children in grades one through six. Registration for the club is necessary, Librarian Elaine Lada said, and reading records will be kept by the students. Certificates can be earned by reading six or more books during the summer.

Theme of this year's reading club is "Rated K" for Kids, Books Made into Movies." Books that have been made into movies will be set aside in the library for reading club members. In conjunction with the reading club, Friends of the Northville Library will be showing movies on Wednesday afternoons. The first two movies are scheduled for Wednesday, June 26, in the Northville City Hall council chambers.

"Story About Ping," by Marjorie Flack, will be shown for ages three through eight from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Also on the schedule will be "Mike Mulligan and His Steam Shovel," by Virginia L. Burton.

Shown for students between the ages of nine and 12 will be "Legend of Johnny Appleseed." Time will be from 1:30 to 2 p.m. All students are welcome to attend the films and no registration is necessary.

The Friends will serve coffee and tea in the library from 1 to 2 p.m. for parents on the days of the films. For further information, call the library at 349-3020.

By unanimous action, Northville township board voted to pay $2,380 to the Wayne County Federated Library System for use at the Northville Public Library. The money will be paid from revenue sharing funds.

According to Library Board Chairman Mrs. Marjorie Sliger, who spoke before trustees last Thursday, state aid to the libraries has been increased from five cents per capita to 30 cents per capita which effectively reduced the amount of money the city and township of Northville must pay to operate the library.

However, because the amount of aid increased from the state, the township and city decreased their support of the library by a like amount.

Mrs. Jane Weigand, library board member, added that the increase in state aid will be for one year and the state will then review and see how the additional money was used to expand services.

"The state reduced your bill by $2,380 and the money saved has gone into your general fund. In the city it was $1,300," Mrs. Weigand said. "We were to have an additional $3,600 more for expansion of services but we do not have the additional money for library improvement."

Mrs. Sliger added that the library is "going to be in need of more funds to take care of needs in the community. We need more large print books for senior citizens and increases in services."

She added that the library is studying the possibility of remaining open six days per week. Presently, the library is open five days.

Novi Jaycees Set Clean Up

Novi's Jaycees are looking for individuals interested in assisting them in a community, betterment program this Sunday, June 23.

Beginning at 12:30 p.m. the Jaycees will walk throughout Novi picking up bottles, cans, and other debris.

The collected trash will be loaded onto a truck and be presented to Novi Mayor Robert Daley at City Hall at 6 p.m.

Citizens interested in assisting the Jaycees should meet at 12:30 p.m. at the abandoned gas station on the corner of 10 Mile and Meadowbrook Roads.

Jaycees Grant Magnan High Honor

Past President Peter Magnan was presented with the highest honor a chapter can bestow upon one of its members at the Northville Jaycee installation banquet recently.

Magnan, who led the Northville Jaycees to the Giessenbier Award during the 1970-71 year, was presented the award because of his continued service to the Jaycee organization. He joined the Northville chapter in October of 1968, serving as state director during the 1969-70 Jaycee year.

In April, 1970 Magnan was elected president of the Northville Jaycees. He continued active in all phases of Jaycee activities the following year by serving as activation chairman as well as participating in numerous other activities.

Most recently Magnan served as co-chairman of the Plymouth Center standing committee.

Magnan and his wife, Gwen, live with their two sons, Wes and Wayne, at 15894 Northville Road. He is employed at Hawthorn Center as a special education instructor.

Township to Face MTA Dues Issue

"We may have to rejoin the Michigan Township Association for our own protection insurance-wise," commented Northville Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright last Thursday.

"I believe it is something we must face one of these days," he added.

One year ago, Northville township decided not to join the MTA by a split vote. Since then, Wright and Clerk Sally Cayley have said they have learned that the township's insurance policies through the MTA will be canceled after they expire in 1975.

"We sent out bids and one insurance agent told us it would cost $10,000 more for insurance than MTA charges," Wright said.

The matter was brought up for discussion by Treasurer Joseph Straub who noticed a bill from MTA included in the list of bills to be approved for payment by the board Thursday.

Two votes on the matter, one to pay all bills except the MTA bill, and one to pay all bills, ended in a 3-3 deadlock (Trustee Leonard Klein arrived late to the meeting.)

A motion then made to pay all the bills but the MTA and table discussion on the matter until the board's July meeting passed with a 6-0 vote

Under the terms of said constitutional and statutory provisions, if for any reason the School District will be or is unable to pay the principal of and interest on the bonds when due, then the School District shall borrow and the State shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the School District to make the payment.

GOOD FAITH: A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $270,000.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

AWARD OF BONDS: The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid produces the lowest interest cost computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified in the bid, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from August 1, 1974, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium.

LEGAL OPINION: Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified approving opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys, of Detroit, Michigan, a copy of which opinion will be printed on the reverse side of each bond, and the original of which will be furnished without expense to the purchaser of the bonds at the delivery thereof.

DELIVERY OF BONDS: The School District will furnish bonds ready for execution at its expense. Bonds will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be agreed upon. The usual closing documents, including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of the bonds, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the bonds. If the bonds are not tendered for delivery by twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Time, on the 45th day following the date of sale, or the first business day thereafter if said 45th day is not a business day, the successful bidder may on that day, or any time thereafter until delivery of the bonds, withdraw his proposal by serving notice of cancellation, in writing, on the undersigned in which event the School District shall promptly return the good faith deposit. Accrued interest to the date of the delivery of the bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

THE RIGHT IS RESERVED TO REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS.

CUSIP: Cusip numbers will be imprinted on the bonds. Improper imprintation or the failure to imprint CUSIP numbers will not constitute grounds for refusal to receive thereof.

ENVELOPES containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for School Bonds."

Long Time Educator, Ida B. Cooke, Dies

Ida B. Cooke, a woman who dedicated nearly 40 years of her life to Northville children, died Friday at Oak Manor Nursing Home in Largo, Florida.

The 85-year-old former Northville teacher-principal, after whom the local middle school is named, had been ill for the past five years.

Six years ago—in January, 1968—Mrs. Cooke was honored as a capacity crowd turned out at the dedication of the middle school, then called a junior high.

Former Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman lauded Mrs. Cooke's professional performance here, while a former student, Edward Bender of Plymouth, remembered in glowing terms her tender yet firm dealings with pupils.

Representing the Class of '35—the "maverick class" which Mrs. Cooke sponsored—Bender recalled how classmates had demanded that she become their teacher thus causing her the loss of a job as principal, and, how, despite some raucous escapades, she dealt a liberal mixture of love and punishment that earned her the admiration of pupils.

Many members of the 1935 class were on hand for the occasion, pausing later to have their picture taken with their favorite teacher.

Mrs. Cooke (she used the middle initial "B" representing her maiden name, Barley, because for years there were two other Ida Cookes living in Northville) moved to Free Soil, Michigan from Canada in 1917. Her husband, a lumberman, died in 1942.

"I thought I could maybe get a job as a substitute or maybe teach in a country school," she recalled in 1968. "But he (superintendent) called me in the next morning and said, 'You had the job from then on for all those years. You were the first teacher in the seventh grade.' In 1923 she became principal of the grade school and later principal of the junior high school while serving as a junior high teacher.

Her job as principal ended, oddly, because of a rebellious sixth grade class, Mrs. Cooke recalled. "Oh, they were a bunch. I was their teacher while in the fifth grade so when they got to the sixth they went to the superintendent's office and said they would not go back to school unless I became their teacher.

"We (Mrs. Cooke and the superintendent) went to their class, to talk and they screamed and yelled. Oh, they were wild. The best kids, so, I was a teacher again."

Mrs. Cooke had those same youngsters in her seventh and eighth classes and then was their sponsor through the remainder of high school. That's why, in recalling the thousands of children she knew over the years, she remembered the "rebellious" class of '35 with the fondest of memories.

After the Class of '35 was graduated, Mrs. Cooke became a study hall teacher and remained in that capacity until her retirement in 1956.

Before teaching in Northville, Mrs. Cooke taught in Free Soil and at Port Arthur in Canada.

Born in Chatham, Quebec, Canada, she was the daughter of Christopher and Anna (Stephens) Barley. Her only living relatives are nieces Mrs. Leslie (Viola) Greer of Largo, Florida, Mrs. Thelma Siebert of Detroit, and Mrs. Christine Goetz of Monroe.

Mrs. Cooke was a charter member of the Northville Business & Professional Women's Club, charter member and past president of Delta Kappa Gamma, charter member and past worthy high priestess of Pilgrim Shrine No. 55, past worthy matron of Eastern Star Orient Chapter 77, past worthy high priestess of the Farmington Shrine, past mother advisor of Rainbow Assembly No. 29, and member of the First United Methodist Church of Northville.

She earned her BA degree from Central Michigan University and her MA degree from Eastern Michigan and Wayne State.

Funeral service was conducted Tuesday afternoon at Casterline Funeral Home, with the Reverend Guenther C. Branstner officiating. A service under the auspices of Orient Chapter of Eastern Star was conducted Monday evening at Casterline's.

Burial was in the Rural Hill Cemetery mausoleum.

Intermediate Schools Ask Special Ed Millage Hike

Wayne County Intermediate School District has announced it will be placing a one-mill request before voters in the August primary, but Northville School Board members aren't sure they'll support the request.

County-wide, the proposal will raise $5-million, including more than $130,000 in Northville.

Township Sets Hearing

Public hearing to act on a proposed bond resolution for installation of sewers in Grand View Acres will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 27, in the township offices, 301 West Main Street.

The bond resolution, originally acted upon by the board last June, 1973, is outdated, township trustees learned last week and the hearing will be to increase the allowable interest rate from five percent to six percent.

Also on the agenda next Thursday will be unfinished business from the board's June 13 meeting.

In other action last week, the board received feasibility study for including Maxwell Road (Grand View Acres) in the sanitary sewer project. Township engineer William Mosher estimated the project would cost $76,220.

Extension of the sewer line along other streets in the area was estimated at the same cost.

However, local board members haven't received answers to questions they raised several months ago about the millage. And they're asking the intermediate district for the answers before they take an affirmative stand on the issue.

- Questions include:
1. What procedure will be used in refunding money raised by the millage to the local district?
 2. What is the estimated amount of millage necessary for special education?
 3. What steps will be taken to assure local districts that administration costs will be kept to a minimum?
 4. After the millage is levied, will an equal amount (1-mill) be withdrawn from the county levy of 15 mills?

Editorials... a page for expressions ...yours and ours

It's time for a change-of-pace week when observations and collections of bits and pieces total enough for a column.

One of the speakers at a recent media-law conference at Michigan State University was John Feikens, judge in the federal district court for the eastern district of Michigan.

The conference concerned itself with the media and its rights under the first amendment, plus an individual's rights and how it is possible to have both a free press and fair trial.

Sponsored by the State Bar of Michigan, MSU's School of Journalism and Michigan Press and Michigan Broadcasters associations, the conference attracted experts and interested observers from throughout the midwest.

Judge Feikens impressed me greatly, not only because of his ability as a speaker and his knowledge of the subject matter, but because of his belief that a free press can operate without restraints or suppression and that a good atmosphere for a fair trial can still exist.

Judge Feikens placed his emphasis on what he described as the lost art of voir dier, the preliminary examination of prospective jurors to determine their competence.

It is Judge Feikens' contention that this examination should be conducted to expose the prejudices of jurors for the purpose of shoring them up against their own prejudices — not to eliminate them from jury duty.

He cited a trial of an individual on income tax evasion. The name of the defendant was associated with underworld activities. When prospective jurors were asked what they thought of when they heard this name, some replied "mafia".

In Judge Feikens' opinion it would not be proper to excuse such a juror because he was informed and well read. "We do not want illiterate jurors," he noted.

Instead, contends the federal judge, it is the duty of the attorneys for the prosecution and defense to emphasize to the prospective jurors that they must commit themselves to fairness and recognize that only the evidence they hear in court should influence their decision.

In other words, a free press can operate without restraints so long as it recognizes its responsibilities; and the American jury system can still provide a fair trial in an atmosphere of publicity by emphasizing the "voir dier" procedure for seeking fair-tryers of fact.

Last Friday night I was scheduled to eat crow.

Fortunately, Jim Jabara was not present at the charter night program for Northville's new Kiwanis club.

Jabara's an ex-mayor of Plymouth and an active Kiwanian. His Plymouth club sponsored the organization of the Northville club. Some weeks ago I was one of a number of Northville businessmen invited to a meeting to express our opinions on how a new club might be organized locally.

I was very candid. "It can't be done," I told them.

Well, the Northville Kiwanis Club now meets weekly at 6:30 p.m. at the Wagon Wheel. And although I didn't eat the crow that Jabara would have provided, I was properly introduced to the charter-night gathering of some 140 as the "expert" from Northville who said it couldn't be done.

In this case, it's nice to be wrong.

Kiwanis is alive and healthy in Northville and, I'm sure, would welcome new members into its fold. There's a story elsewhere in this edition about the club and its charter membership.

Many area communities and educational institutions have been invited by Wayne County to inspect the facilities at the Child Development Center on Sheldon Road for possible use.

Schoolcraft College officials looked over the grounds this week. Northville township will locate its offices there. The City of Northville is interested, perhaps for senior citizen accommodations. And the Northville recreation commission would like to take a good look, too.

There are many possibilities that could benefit the total community as well as the college.

The Center is slated to close this summer. The county board of commissioners would like responses from interested communities by mid-August.

JOIS L. HAM

YES . . .

Of course, hairy faces are more kissable. They have to be. I have one.

Thinking back, many a famous man has had a beard or moustache, like famous movie idols Clark Gable and Or Flynn. They were certainly kissable.

Twenty years ago, in high school, you were considered weird or an oddball if you had a beard, but I had one and it didn't stop me. Today, it is almost reversed. Long hair, beards, moustaches, van dykes, long side burns, even braided hair is acceptable. I don't believe today's "young bucks" are going unkissed.

How about men in medieval times? The heroes in those days always won the hearts of their fair ladies. And the famous lover, Don Juan, also had a beard. Who was more kissable than him?

Bearded men may not look like the clean-shaven, All-American cowboy-type. But at least they don't go riding off into the sunset — alone.

Willie A. Ham
Hartland

NO . . .

Kiss me once, kiss me twice, kiss me once again ... Where have I heard that song before? Who wrote that theme? It must have been someone without a beard.

My husband was sprouting a beard and moustache when I met him years (and years and years) ago. At that time, I thought the whiskers made him stately, foreboding and mysterious.

But they didn't make him any more kissable. After 10 years, he still has a beard — now streaked with gray. A gray beard is supposed to signify the wisdom and experience of old age.

But it doesn't make him any more kissable. Is a bearded man more kissable? Not if he's the unkempt and dirty backwoodsman who chews tobacco and lets the juice find its way into his beard.

Or Bluebeard? A ruthless madman who murdered his wives? I wonder, did his beard make him more kissable?

Are bearded men more kissable? Probably not. But at least that hair on the chinny-chin-chin affords a good handle when you want to grab hold of him.

'Soggy Season'

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Harold Penn and I literally crawled back into history this past week and it was dirty fun.

The illustrious commander of the Northville Commandery 39 KT gave me a guided tour of the cubby-hole of an attic above the Masonic Temple Building at the southeast corner of Main and Center streets.

As expected the attic in this building, which reportedly was constructed in 1880, held a lot of surprises and a few disappointments.

But before describing what the attic contains, let me explain that the Masonic Temple covers the second floor of two buildings — the corner building which houses Lorenz Pharmacy and the building next to it housing John's E.M.B. Foods and Ellis Electronics.

The Masons lease the upstairs of the corner building; they own the upstairs and downstairs of the second building.

The corner building has a mansard roof, a tower fronting on Main Street. The tower, according to Penn, has no ritualistic meaning within the Masonic order. Such towers, according to Edmund Yerkes, were common on buildings of the period. This tower, which is anchored inside the attic, appears to be entirely sealed with no entrance trap.

The mansard roof encloses a low attic crawl space which contains little but electrical lines. An empty box-like container is the only item stored in this section. The trusses are made of oak and black walnut.

The corner building was erected as a grocery by Barton A. Wheeler, grandfather of John Blackburn who lives at 525 Fairbrook. Wheeler, who was himself a very active Mason, operated a grocery store in Northville for 43 continuous years until his retirement in 1917.

Wheeler, who died in 1932, built the first floor of the corner building and then, because they were searching for a new home, the Masons persuaded him to add a second floor which was leased to the Masons for 99 years.

Thus the second floor was specifically constructed for the Masons.

When Wheeler retired, the corner grocery was taken over by A. E. Stanley who operated a drug store business there. And Charles Blackburn (father of John), who was a partner with Wheeler in the corner grocery, continued the business in the adjoining building now housing Ellis Electronics.

The attic room in the corner building is stuffed with materials related to the Masonic order. Most important of these are the ledgers, the earliest of which dates back to 1861 — just 10 years after the Northville lodge was begun in W. P. Hungerford's store on the north side of Main Street — just opposite the existing temple.

Most of the ledgers are in remarkably good condition except for one which has been burned quite badly. (Masonic data suggests that historical records of the original organization were destroyed in a fire at Plymouth. Interestingly, just as Northville and Plymouth years ago split governmentally, the

Readers Speak: Editorial Attracts Scorn and Praise

To the Editor:
Oh! the mysterious workings of the editorial mind. The editor, in the best Kissinger outburst, pits his credibility against the uncreditable or is it incredible Mayor of Novi.

Mysterious, yes! An incident in a neighboring community rates a full editorial spread for the entertainment of the Community of Northville. Why are we asked to take sides? Does the editorial master feel his leaning tower of credibility is tumbling? Obviously, there is more to this passing story of two strong-willed adversaries.

The Mayor of Novi naively uses himself as the reliable source to support his story. Editor uses an unnamed reliable source who achieves the highest rating of reliability because he agrees with the political philosophy of the Editor on secret meetings. The fact the unnamed reliable source likes to attend secret meetings doesn't make him any less suspect, does it?

Should the citizens of Novi believe an unnamed reliable source against their Mayor? The Mayor had the decency and fairness to sign his letter of protest. How reliable is an unnamed source who hides behind the wall of secrecy? Of course this kind of secrecy is more respectable than secret meeting.

The editor is almost paranoid about "secret meetings." How strange these secret meetings are never secret to the editor who always hears about them.

Over one half page of editorial space given to the question of who is more credible makes one question who is begging credibility?

Opposes Novi Liquor License

To the Editor:
I am concerned about the petition for a liquor license at the Meadowbrook Pharmacy in my area. It is not that I think that the owner and manager would not practice discretion with whom may purchase liquor but the fact that we are so short of police help in the Novi area.

We normally have about three patrolmen on during the 3 to 11 p.m. shift and there are only 2 men on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift.

Dance Caps Grand Opening

A community dance capped a 10-day grand opening celebration Saturday evening at the Northville Square shopping center, corner of Main and Wing streets.

The dance included music by Jimmy Clark of WJR Radio fame, with Marc Avery also of WJR as the emcee. In addition, refreshments were served and door and Treasure Chest prizes were awarded.

In the picture above guests wait for the festivities to begin in the south end of the upper level, while at the right guests enjoy punch and snacks and listen and dance to the band's music.

"Buster Brown", symbol for Buster Brown Shoes entertained shoppers the first weekend of the celebration, the "Big Boy" symbol was on hand both weekends, and Ray Lane and Jerry Hodak visited their anchorman, Jac LeGoff, at his book store earlier this past Saturday.

More than 150 prizes were awarded in the $3,000 Treasure Chest, sponsored by Northville Square merchants. Top winners were announced at the dance. They include: Color television, Doreen Jayto of 232 Gilbar Drive; stereo, Lhea Lindsey of 8145 Deer Creek Lane; black and white television sets, Jeff Menyhart of 42211 Sunnydale, Toby White of 335 Eaton Drive (names of some winners were not taken); watches, Dorothy Holman of 17130 Beck Road, and Charles Simmons of 32700 Hees; happening in the 30 some square miles of Novi, there are no policemen available to service a call for any disturbance that may result from people outside the neighborhood who may come to purchase liquor.

I was also disturbed to see one of our councilmen's name on the petition for the liquor license, as he above all citizens in Novi should know the problem with the shortage of police help in this area due to the lack of funds.

I realize we need the revenue in this city that this would provide, and as I said before, the proprietor of the Meadowbrook Pharmacy, in my opinion, is fully capable of handling this type of license. But I think first we should consider the pessimistic view of the outsiders it will bring into our area for the purpose of purchasing liquor and the problems that it will present.

Driver Kills Dog, Fails to Stop

To the Editor:
I hope the person who hit the little dog on Center Street near Rayson Saturday night and just kept spinning along, slept well that night. I also hope he continues to hear the scream of that little animal every time he tries to fall asleep. He most likely did not know if it was a child or a dog he hit, he was going too fast. I did not know what it was myself when I ran over there.

your dog and offer to help but some people do not have any feeling.

It will be a child next. I have been expecting it right along and I just wonder if the person who injures a child on this street will show any more humanity than this person did for this little dog.

Masonic order was split. Thus, today the original charter is located at Plymouth even though it contains a Northville address.)

One of the ledgers lists in alphabetic order the members of the organization — many of whom are among Northville's earliest settlers.

The attic room also contains old Masonic history books, aging Masonic garments, a beautiful leather-bound photo album containing unidentified pictures of early Northville Masons, tables, chairs, screens, tapestry, and a huge mysterious trunk just waiting to be opened.

Large ornately framed pictures of prominent Northville residents gather thick layers of dust. Among those whose pictures are tucked inside these elaborate frames are:

Dr. J. M. Swift, prominent physician in Northville more than a hundred years ago; Francis R. Beal, prominent Northville businessman who managed the Globe Furniture Company for a quarter century; Clark M. Sly, first Masonic prelate; Eli K. Simonds, a captain in the Fifth Cavalry during the Civil War;

David Clarkson, who as a pioneering teenager came to Northville with Captain William Dunlap in the spring of 1831; Samuel Hungerford who pioneered in Novi in 1826; and W. P. (Pitt) Hungerford, who was a Northville businessman more than 100 years ago.

"These are too valuable and important to our history to be left up here in the attic," volunteered Penn, who said he will recommend to Masons that the pictures and other historical materials be donated to the Northville Historical Society for preservation in the Mill Race museum.

I hope Penn's recommendation is taken seriously and accepted.

By the time we had waded through the dusty treasures and soaked ourselves in dirt we couldn't resist the tempting old trunk any longer. Big enough to hold a couple of bodies, the trunk was unlocked. We lifted the cover and....

...found dust gathers inside empty caverns, too.

Thefts Draw Fire

To the Editor:

What has happened to some of our kids of today? Why have they turned into petty thieves? And how come their parents haven't seen these "used" items in their kid's possession?

I'm speaking about the continual stealing of baseball gloves at the Little League field in Novi.

We are a baseball family. We volunteer hours of our time every day to this league and in return a second baseball mitt was stolen last Thursday.

The first mitt was stolen when our son was asked to umpire a game a couple of weeks ago. The second was stolen from under the players' bench when our other son was coaching first base for his team that was still playing their game.

Our two are probably not the only gloves "missing." If anyone cares to return a "missing" glove, it can be brought to the concession stand.

Lauds Paladium Staff

To the Editor:

The new Paladium just arrived at our house and I wish to extend congratulations to the Year-Book staff, and especially Miss Serafa for a job well done! I realize how much hard work you all put into it.

When I look back at our Northville High Paladiums of the '50's all I can say is, "We've come a long way." Let's keep this moment going so another generation can show it to their teen-agers and tradition can go on!

Many thanks for the happy memories, A.N.H.S. mom

Good Deed's 'Refreshing'

To the Editor:

Yesterday afternoon (Wednesday, 12 June) there was a bicycle-car accident in front of my house on Seven Mile Road. A young teenager who witnessed the accident with blonde curly hair and dressed in light blue shirt and jeans deserves a firm handshake and a big thank you for acting so quickly. He ran to the nearest house to phone police and gave an account of what happened and the location.

He did his "good deed for the day" and how refreshing to see a young person's thoughtfulness and good sense.

Sincerely,

$4,000 BEAUTIFICATION—Howard Lan-
Michigan Bi-Centennial Commission, used the occasion of his guest address here before the quarterly luncheon of the Beautification Council of Southeastern Michigan last week to formally present a $4,000 check for North-ville's Mill Race Village restoration project. Accepting the check is John Burkman, immediate past president of the Northville Historical Society. The luncheon meeting was hosted by the Northville Beautification Commission at the Drawbridge Restaurant. Earlier a workshop was held at the city hall. Chairman of the Northville commission is Paul Vernon, mayor-pro tem who officially welcomed members and their guests to Northville.

Water Problems Swamp Board

meeting in Plymouth to voice their feelings.

But residents said they were appealing to the township board for help and asked the township to represent them at the school board meeting.

"We've called the supervisor and he said the county is responsible. The county tells us to talk to the supervisor," one resident said.

Wright, who said he has made "at least 30 phone calls to the county and the Plymouth school district," was directed by the board to approach the school board at a meeting. Osborne said he would attend the meeting with Wright.

Osborne commented that Livonia, to solve its drainage problems "in its flat terrain, is bonded up to $80-million for drains, with the cost spread over the whole city."

Wright, who acknowledged that the water problems in the township are "not just in the Five Mile and Haggerty Road area but also in Ridge Court area," said it's a very expensive undertaking to solve the drainage problems.

In a related matter, Megerich Manoogian, who lives on Maxwell Road off Five Mile, asked the township for help with obtaining a sanitary sewer in the area.

"I've waited six years and it's taking too long," he said.
About a year ago, he presented petitions from residents in the area requesting a sewer be built in the area which is not served by septic tanks which are no longer working in some cases.

Mosher said that "it is not within the township's power to do anything".

Later in last week's meeting, Morgan told the board that Plymouth township is considering building a sanitary sewer along the Sly Drain which could also serve residents along Five Mile Road.

"Plymouth township wants to know if you're interested and if so, they will enlarge the size of the sewer," Morgan said.

While Northville township could not participate jointly in the bond issue, they could pay rent to Plymouth township for use of the line, he said.

Fire Code Issue Back on Agenda

After meeting for four and one-half hours last Thursday, Northville Township Board adjourned the meeting deferring action on several agenda items until the board's special meeting next Thursday, June 27.

Among the items on that agenda will be accepting the fire prevention code ordinance whereby a fire prevention bureau will be established and a fire marshal appointed.

The matter, discussed by the board last month, saw the board split over whether the building official or the police chief should receive the appointment.

Also on next week's agenda will be discussion of the community feasibility study for use of the three school buildings on Main Street, request from the University of Michigan to study annexation in the Northville area, two appointments, to the water and sewer commission and an appointment to the planning commission to replace Mrs.

Lini Handy who resigned last week because she is moving from the area.

Also to be discussed is a request from the Jaycees for a donation to the July 4th activities and a letter from the township engineer concerning the storm sewer along Franklin Road to serve the middle school.

During the discussion several points were emphasized by board members.
Among these were:
The construction management concept (CM) had been studied over many months and the decision to utilize CM for two of the school projects was not done without serious consideration; the approximate contract fee of $360,000 is "considerably less" than that estimated by the other firm; this fee replaces the cost of a general contractor under the conventional construction process and is not an additional cost; and both firms stated CM will ensure completion of the high school by September 1976.

Norman Miller.

In explaining his vote, Miller noted he found Miller and the other firm considered, Construction Management Coordinators, both competent, and he indicated he does not oppose the construction management concept. His lone objection, he said, was that only two firms presented to the board for consideration.

(While the board committee examined the credentials of numerous potential candidates and interviewed several, it eliminated all but the two in question. These were recommended to the board which last week heard formal presentations from both firms).

Following last week's presentation, the board committee this week recommended Miller-Davis be retained. The recommendation was accepted and the 5-1 vote followed.

In August Primary

Pursell, Geake Unopposed

State Senator Carl D.
Pursell will be unopposed as he seeks the Republican nomination for the newly reapportioned 14th District in the August primary.

Seeking the Democratic nomination are Donald O.

Christie and Michael O'Shea.
The 14th District includes the Wayne County portion of the City of Northville, Northville Township, the city and township of Plymouth, Livonia, and it now also embraces Redford Township and the four precincts in northwestern Westland.

cumbent Commissioner Brian G. Arrowsmith of Wayne faces opposition from Joseph Buonico, Royce E. Smith and Andrew Spisak. No Republicans filed by Tuesday's deadline.
Three of the candidates issued statements upon announcing their candidacy this past week. Those statements read in part:

here in Western Wayne County, and in the communities of Livonia and Northville.

In that time I saw more clearly the reasons why Livonia and Northville are growing dynamic communities. I also saw, through talking with many people, that what we are lacking was a strong voice in Lansing — we were lacking a representative that knew and could articipulate the needs of the community.

Tax Hike Proposed

debt requirements which for 1974-75 total $380,000 officials explain.

For district taxpayers it will mean a college tax of approximately 2.0 mills for 1974, or an increase of $4.60 on $40,000 homes. The college district includes persons living within the Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth school districts.

The decision to levy beyond voted millage comes after extensive study to effect a balanced budget in the face of sharply rising costs, many beyond the control of the trustees, officials note.

The college has been operating on 1.77 mills since the last successful millage vote in 1966. Tuition has remained the same since July of 1972, when the board adopted a 10 percent increase.

Although it will be the first time Schoolcraft has levied beyond voted millage, 15 of Michigan's 29 public community colleges are currently meeting debt requirements in this manner. They have the option to do so as "charter authorities" under Michigan law.

Projected sources of finance for the proposed $7.8 million budget include approximately $3 million from property taxes, $3 million from state appropriations, $1.8 million from student tuition and fees, and the balance from federal grants and other sources.

Expenditures will approximate $6.6 million for personal services, $1 million for non-personal services and the balance for contingency.
A 4 percent inflationary increase has been built into the budget, and it also contains sufficient funds to effect a growth of 4 percent in credit hour production for fiscal 74-75.

As in the case of Senator
Pursell, State Representative
R. Robert Geake of Northville is unopposed for the 35th State Representative District.

Here, too, two Democrats will be battling for the party's nod in the August primary.
They are Ernest R. Grant and R. William Joyner, both of Livonia.

The 35th District includes part of Livonia, the Wayne County portion of the City of Northville, and Northville Township.

Republican Incumbent
Mary E. Dumas of Livonia will be unopposed in the August primary, but two Democrats will square off for the nomination in this 19th Wayne County Board of Commissioners District.

The Democrats are Gerald
C. Davis and Barbara Johnson.

This district includes the Wayne County portion of the City of Northville, and all but the southwest section of Northville Township. The latter section lies within the 27th District.

In the 27th District, Incumbent

State Senator Daniel S.
Cooper of Oak Park will be unopposed as he seeks the Democratic nomination for the new senatorial district encompassing part of what formerly was Senator
Carl Pursell's 14th District.

The new district — the 15th
— includes the Oakland County portion of Northville, Novi, Wixom, Walled Lake, Commerce, Lyon, South
Lyon, Milford, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Huntington Woods, Lathrup Village, Oak Park and Southfield.

Unopposed for the Republican nomination in this same district is Lee A. Cop-pock of Farmington Hills.

Everybody, from Tot...

By ROLLY PETERSON

It's an omnipresent fact of life. Soft drinks are everywhere. Everybody, from tot to senior citizen, drinks pop, here and abroad. There are as many kinds, so it seems, as there are sizes of containers. If you're on a diet, there's low calorie pop. If you're planning a picnic with the family, there's the convenience of a king-size container, the latest being the 64-ounce bottle.

The amount of pop consumed is nothing short of staggering. In 1973, according to Dwight Reed, assistant executive vice-president of the National Soft Drink Association in Washington, D.C., the estimated quantity consumed in America was 3,771,000,000 cases.

The wholesale value of soft drinks is over $4 billion annually, according to the 1974 World Book.

The estimate of quantity consumed is just that, an estimate — and not all inclusive. Reed said that the quantity was figured on the basis of a case of 192 ounces. And, he added, not all pop is sold by this measurement.

Reed says it's not the secretiveness of people in the pop manufacturing business that makes pinpointing consumption difficult, although there is secretiveness. It's primarily the nature of the industry.

As Reed put it, "It's an industry difficult to deal with."

There are about 3,000 manufacturers of pop in the United States — most of them small, local manufacturers. So the mere quantity makes accumulation of accurate data difficult.

But furthermore, Reed explained, there is a tendency for small manufacturers to be more secretive, or at least guarded about their

Secretiveness pervades other aspects of soft drink manufacture also. The oft-quoted reference to the cloak of secrecy about the formula for Coke (only a select few reportedly are privy to the formula) appears to be true.

"I've heard the same story," Reed said, referring to the Coke formula. "Any ingredients are easily obtained by a competent chemist. But it's like a recipe — it's how you put it together. Two women can buy the same cake package and have different results."

Other brand name companies zealously guard their formulas for making syrup, too. Among them are the other members of the big four — Pepsi, Canada Dry and Royal Crown.

They are but four of about 220 brand name companies, Reed explained. What the brand name companies do is sell a franchise to a local businessman who acquires the right to use the company syrup, which contains the secret ingredients, and the brand name.

There are basically two other approaches to soft drink manufacture, Reed said. A person may purchase an extract, which is a flavor base, and put any name on the pop he manufactures. Or he may acquire ingredients from a supply house and mix them to produce the desired taste.

"The range is from an absolute, total secret to some houses which take the flavor out of the library," Reed said.

"You can look up cola, come home with the basic ingredients and make your own."

Probably the largest consumption group in the United States, Reed estimates, is the 23 to 29 age group. That is a story in itself.

Ten to 12 years ago, the age group that consumed the most pop was 13 to 19. "That was the so-called war baby boom wave," he explained.

Marketing experts and Reed himself, based on previous patterns, expected the war babies to discard their heavy pop drinking habit when they reached their mid 20's. They haven't.

"The traditional pattern or beverage drinking apparently is breaking down," he noted. "One would drink milk until he was 20 or 21, then he would switch to coffee. But these habits don't seem to prevail any more."

In other words, the war babies are still drinking pop. They surely are not the only ones.

Here's Gardening Tips

The following gardening tips for June are offered by specialists at Michigan State University. When using pesticides follow all labeled directions and cautions.

- Check for rhododendron, dogwood, lilac and mountain ash borer. If present spray with Lindane.
- Check for holly leaf miner. If present use a Cygon systemic insecticide.
- If your birch tree is dying from the top down, check for

- the bronze birch borer. If present, trim out and destroy the dead parts and spray the bark with Lindane.
- If American plum borers appear on sycamores, apply Lindane to the trunk and branches. Apply three times at three-week intervals.
- Remove old flowers from spring flowering bulbs.
- Check for birch leaf miner. If present spray with Malathion, Sevin or Cygon.
- Prune shrubs that have

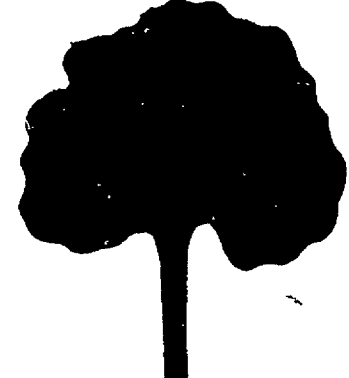

- just completed flowering.
- Check ornamentals for mealybugs. Use a high pressure application of Malathion to control them.
- Remove old flowers from perennials that have finished blooming.
- Shrubs can be propagated now from soft-wood cuttings.
- If sawflies are seen on Scotch pine trees, spray with Sevin.
- Poinsettia cuttings (three inches long) can be taken now to have blooming plants by Christmas.
- Remove old flowers from rhododendrons late in the month.
- Check for juniper scale and cottony maple scale now through mid-July. If evident, control with Malathion plus Methoxychlor.
- There is still time to fertilize trees and shrubs.
- If little white moths fly in a zig-zag pattern above the lawn surface when it is walked on, it might mean sod webworms are damaging the lawn. Check the lawn for larvae and damage. If present treat every four weeks with Sevin or Diazinon until they are gone.
- Examine tomatoes that have been outside for aphids, mites, hornworms, and leafhoppers.
- Sow cabbage and cauliflower seeds for a fall crop.
- Most house plants will enjoy the outdoors now that it is getting warmer.
- Thin crowded root crops.
- Fertilize asparagus in late June. Use 2½ to 3 pounds of 5-10-10, 5-10-5, 6-24-12, or 10-10-10 for every 100 square feet of garden.
- Pick ripe strawberries in early morning when they are cool. Pick only the red berries and refrigerate them soon after picking. Remove any damaged berries.
- Keep an eye on hanging baskets — they will dry rapidly as the weather gets warmer.

- If your spring flowering bulbs didn't do well this year, they might need to be thinned and replanted. After the bulb coat turns light brown, dig them up and store them to be replanted in the fall.
- Remove the top half inch of each shoot for bushier mums. — Rambler roses should be pruned after they finish flowering. Do not prune large flowered climbers severely.
- Plant dahlias and cannas in the first half of June. Gladiolus can be planted any time this month.
- Potted azaleas should be moved to a partially shaded spot in your garden.
- Water your lawn only when it is dry. Wet the soil to a depth of five inches or more. Deep infrequent watering is best — approximately one inch of water per week is needed during midsummer.
- Thin the fruit on apple and peach trees to improve size and quality.

Dwarf Tree Best Suited In Michigan

Your environment: temperatures, rainfall, soil texture, acidity and drainage, and the prevalence of insects and diseases determine what fruit crops can be successfully grown in your garden, say Michigan State University horticulturists.

Some fruit crops require annual pruning and training, and a relatively large area for plant development. These plants are not suitable for most home gardens.

Fruit plants best suited for Michigan's environment are strawberries, raspberries, grapes and tree fruits. MSU specialists recommend dwarf fruit trees. These plants grow best if planted on reasonably fertile, well-drained soil. Planting on a slope provides air-drainage, and minimizes the frost injury potential.

Grapes and tree fruits require more space to grow and considerable time and attention. They must be trained and pruned annually. Insect and disease problems are often numerous, requiring applications of pesticides at 7-10 day intervals throughout the growing season, warn MSU horticulturists.

Watch Out For Sunburn

Staked tomato plants produce less fruit and that fruit is more susceptible to sunburn and blossom end rot, says Robert Herner, Michigan State University horticulturist.

"If foliage diseases are not strictly controlled on staked plants the fruit might become sunburned because of the foliage loss," says Herner. "Also, water availability must be maintained more uniformly during the growing season or fruits might develop blossom end rot."

Although the fruit is usually of better quality, staked tomato plants produce less fruit, the horticulturist says. The staked tomatoes must be pruned to one or two main stems by removing all side branches as they begin to develop. This reduces yield because it reduces the bearing surface of the vine.

According to Herner, un-staked tomato plants can supply as much as 10 pounds more fruit than staked plants.

Grease May Choke Plants

If the plants in your kitchen look a little sickly it might be because they can't "breathe". A grease film, caused from cooking, builds up on the leaves. This, coupled with dust can affect your plants' "breathing", say Michigan State University horticulturists.

To help your plants "breathe", clean the leaves with water and a soft cloth. Use a mild dishwashing detergent on areas that are especially soiled, and wipe with a damp cloth.

The pop industry has come a long way since what many consider its invention in 1772. In that year, Joseph Priestly made the first soda water. The manufacture of soda water continued later in that century, with flavored soda water, especially lemon, becoming popular after 1830. In 1806, Benjamin Silleman, a Yale professor, made and bottled the first artificial soda water in the United States. Coke was founded much later, in 1886. Why is pop called "pop"? Because of the sound made when caps were removed from the bottles.

Here's Top 10 Brands in Cases

1. Coke — 1,232,000,000

SEVERAL AREA RESIDENTS have been elected officers in the Detroit Powder Metallurgy Society for the coming year.

Douglas Loomis of Northville, field executive for Burgess Norton of Geneva, Illinois passed chairmanship to George Hooks of Livonia, a value engineer for Detroit Diesel Allison Division of General Motors.

The new vice chairman is James Cahill, 47030 Dunsany, Northville, regional sales manager for A. O. Smith-Inland of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, while the new secretary is Richard Forbes of Brighton, technical sales representative for Quebec Metal Powders, Ltd. with offices in Southfield.

Elected treasurer was Michael Lilly of Charlotte. He is technical sales representative for Glidden-Durkee. The annual dinner dance was held again this year at Meadowbrook Country Club with entertainment supplied by The Ambassadors of Ann Arbor.

R & A FURNITURE recently opened at 200 South Main Street in Northville.

Owned and operated by two young men from Wayne, Raymond Rozell and Andrew Urbaniak, the business features antique restoration, repair, refinishing, and custom made furniture.

The business was started in Wayne on a part-time basis and is being moved here as a full-time business. It is located in the same building as the Village Pump antique shop.

LAWRENCE WIENER, owner of the Spinning Wheel Fabric Shop in Northville, has been elected president of the Retail Merchants Association—a division of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

Wiener succeeds Charles Freydl of Freydl's Men's Wear.

Re-elected secretary-treasurer was Aaron Gellerman of Brader's Department Store.

The association meets the last Thursday of each month at 2:30 p.m. in the community room of the Manufacturers National Bank. Merchants are urged to attend.

Wiener took over ownership of the Spinning Wheel in 1962 from Mr. and Mrs. Fred McLean, who established the business in 1962.

State's Losing, Not Gaining Doctors

LANSING—Michigan could use about 1,000 more family physicians. But instead of getting more family doctors, the state is losing them, whether through death or moves to different parts of the country.

Just last year, according to figures from the American Medical Association, the number of family physicians in Michigan dropped by 40. John A. Doherty, executive vice president of the Michigan Health Council, reports a loss of some 600 general practitioners in this state in the past 10 years.

The total number of general practitioners went from 2,275 in 1964 to 1,669 this year.

WHAT'S HAPPENED? An emphasis on specialization.

Dr. Robert Vitu of Saginaw, president of the Michigan Academy of Family Physicians, spoke of the problem at a recent conference on rural health.

"Back 40 years ago, about 1930, two out of three doctors out in practice were family physicians," he said. "In 1970, less than one out of four doctors are family physicians."

"When World War II came around, and we had a lot of battle casualties that needed specialized surgical care, etc., there was a great deal of emphasis given to specialty training." Vitu said the emphasis was so great that the medical schools got into the business almost exclusively of training specialists.

NOW, BECAUSE OF THE NEED, there seems to be some motion in the other direction.

In Michigan today there are seven family practice residency programs, in Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Dearborn, Flint, Midland and Lansing.

Doherty notes, however, that it's only during the past year that medical schools in Michigan have developed family practice departments. He says there has not been as much exposure to family practice for would-be doctors here as there is in some other states.

And for those who are interested, there are not enough places in Michigan for them to go through family practice residency. (Last year there were 40 family practice residency openings in Michigan, he says. This year there were about 60. By contrast, there were some

1,500 openings in the state of South Carolina.)

THE BEST ANSWER to this problem, Doherty says, would be an expansion of the family practice residency programs. But that takes money. Legislation now pending in Lansing would subsidize these programs to the tune of some $750,000, allowing expansion and possibly creation of new programs.

Doherty says he would like to see about 15 programs — double the current number — "so nearly all the teaching hospitals would have them."

Such an expansion might improve records like that of the University of Michigan medical school. This month, some 209 M.D.'s were graduated. Of that total, 16 were going into family practice residency, nine of those in Michigan. Young doctors leaving the state represent a dramatic loss in service and cost of education to the people of Michigan.

ONE OF THE MORE COLORFUL members of the Michigan House of Representatives, Democrat William Copeland of Wyandotte, says he'll run yet another term in office.

Copeland, who's been known to wave a Confederate flag from his back corner seat in the House chamber to win attention of the presiding officer, is now completing 22 years as a state legislator.

For 14 of those years, Copeland has served on the important House Appropriations Committee. That group, along with its Senate counterpart, helps write budget bills for Michigan government spending. Copeland has been chairman of the committee for the past seven years.

IN THE SENATE, Copeland's alter ego, Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zollar, has yet to announce his intentions. Zollar, a Benton Harbor Republican, recently submitted his resignation from the committee in disgust over what he considered attempts to boost spending higher than the state can afford this year. He has utilized the resignation ploy previously to shock his colleagues into what he knows is reasonable action.

So Zollar went back to committee work, but there's talk that he might be considering getting out of the legislature after his current term.

Horse's Mouth

To make owning and riding your horse safer and more enjoyable, here are a few safety hints about horse management to keep in mind.

1. It is not safe to leave a halter on a loose horse. When necessary to do so, it should be checked daily. Some halter materials will shrink so be certain to check the fit. There is a possibility of the horse catching a foot in the halter strap. A halter strap could also catch on posts or other objects.

2. Wear footwear that will protect your feet from being stepped on and from nails, etc., around the stables and barnyards. Boots are preferable or hard toed shoes. Never wear tennis shoes, moccasins or go barefooted.

3. When leading a horse make him walk beside you or lag behind. A position even with the horse's head or halfway between the horse's head and its shoulder is considered safest.

Always turn the horse to the right and walk around it. Never wrap the lead strap or rein around your hand, wrist or body.

Sunday, June 23, the Horse Marauders 4-H Club will host its annual fun horse show at Davidsburg Youth Activity Center in Davidsburg beginning at 9 a.m.

SHOW BEGINS

The 39th annual "Detroit Horse Show" will begin tomorrow (Friday) and continue through Sunday, June 30 at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, 405 East Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills.

Every year hundreds of riders of every age enter in competition.

All riders are welcome to enter, assuming they meet entry conditions established by the show. Special classes have been established not only for riders under 21 years of age, but also for children under 14.

Dressage classes as well as competition for hunters and jumpers will be featured at the prestigious event. All classes will include special categories for junior riders, although children will not be eligible for the $34,880 in prize money.

Classes are scheduled for 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. on weekdays and on Saturdays, except for Fright is nothing to be ashamed of when you are first learning to ride. The best way to overcome your fears, if you have them, is to practice and build up your expertise and confidence. Below a reader cites a common problem and receives some advice from Sally Saddle.

Dear Sally,
My problem is fright — I'm afraid to canter. I've had riding lessons and I've cantered about seven times and fallen off three of the times.

I love to ride and have just purchased a new horse. But I'm afraid to canter him. What should I do?

I think you have a problem most people do in learning to ride horses and that's expecting too much, too fast. Just walk and trot and enjoy your horse until your confidence is built up and you feel like you're ready to canter. Don't worry about cantering. It's not going to hurt your horse not to canter.

Parenting 12 Not Easy

Raising 12 children ranging in ages from two to 16 isn't easy for anybody, but Pat and Kathy Buers wouldn't trade their life for anything.

The couple, both born in the Salem area, are house parents to nine Navajo girls in addition to their three children. They make their home in Navajo Missions Incorporated in Farmington, New Mexico.

"We applied to various missions and were waiting for an answer," explained Kathy Buers. "However, the church wanted us to go back to school for extension work. Pat has had five years of college and I've had three so we didn't feel we needed to back to school."

"We were all set to purchase a home here and settle down to see what would happen," continued Kathy. "But the night before we were ready to sign the papers I got this feeling that this wasn't what God wanted us to do. I prayed and that same evening Navajo Missions called and asked us to come out."

That was two and one-half years ago.

Today the Bueres have three sets of Navajo twins, ages two, 11 and 12, plus three other Navajo children in addition to their own offspring who are three, four and six. Kathy Buers is also expecting another child.

Generally the children are brought to the mission by their Navajo relatives or parents. Most of them, explained Kathy, belong to mothers and families who are unable to take care of their children. Occasionally, however, the children are orphans.

Being house parents isn't a breeze, admits husband Pat. "You have to be very organized and everybody has to cooperate," said Pat. "We live in a six bedroom farm house near the reservation right now and I can tell you that it gets pretty cramped Arizona with her natural mother who is very ill. The Salem stay is planned through June.

The family has been rooming with Kathy parent's, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of Salem Township, while taking short excursions to such places as the University of Michigan museums, Greenfield Village and Niagara Falls.

The group has also visited Indiana where one of their former "daughters", Sarah Savage, is attending Grace College at Winona Lake.

Because preservation of Indian culture is such an important issue at this time, the Bueres have encouraged, when possible, the girls to maintain native crafts and language.

"We've made looms with sometimes." "We're just like any other parents," added Kathy. "Our job with the girls is just as if we were their natural parents. If one of the kids gets sick or gets into trouble we are the ones who deal with the situation."

Although most of the girls address Pat and Kathy as mom and dad, Kathy says they do not force the issue.

"We don't try to insist that they call us mom and dad," said Kathy. "It's really a matter of how things are going at the time, too. When everything is running smoothly we're mom and dad, but when they're in trouble it becomes Mr. and Mrs. Buers."

According to Kathy, it is the objective of the mission to give young Navajo children opportunities for training and education that they might not otherwise receive, in order that they can return to their communities and thereby help their people.

Pat says the mission is currently in the process of building a bigger home for his expanding family. "Right now we live in a six bedroom home and we're legally over the limit for the number of children we have," stated Pat. "The state hasn't said anything so far because the mission is building a nine bedroom house for us."

Presently Navajo Missions is comprised of two houses and two apartments in Farmington plus an out station which is somewhat of a retirement home for several elderly dependent Navajos. In all, 13 missionaries are affiliated with Navajo Missions.

According to the couple, a mission operates on a nonprofit sponsorship basis—most of the funds coming from individuals. The mission, itself, is nondenominational although the Bueres are affiliated with Salem Bible Church where they were married nearly eight years ago.

Presently the couple are on vacation in Salem with eight of their nine Indian children as well as their own three. One girl, Linda, remained in

CROP Walkers Still Sought

Walkers and sponsors are still needed for the upcoming 10-mile Brighton area CROP walk, it was announced this week.

CROP is the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service. By securing sponsors for a nickel, dime, 50 cents or $1 per mile, walkers help raise money for CROP to use in community self-help projects in over 30 countries, according to CROP chairpersons, Kris Bair and Sue Knechtges.

The CROP walk is Saturday, June 22. Walkers are to register at 8:15 a.m. at the Brighton High School parking lot. All that's necessary to participate are "walking papers."

"Walking papers" are sheets of sponsors for each walker. The walk begins and ends at the Brighton High School parking lot. The 10-mile hike will be along roads and through the woods and fields south of town.

A kick-off ceremony is scheduled for 8:45 a.m. Saturday and the walk itself begins at 9 a.m. Walkers set their own pace so the walk ends when walkers finish the 10-mile hike.

Water is to be available all along the walk and first-aid stations are to supply band-aids in case of blisters. Transportation can be provided for those who cannot complete the full 10 miles.

For more information call Kris Bair at 229-6402 or Sue Knechtges at 227-5193.

Dean Named at Seminary

The Reverend Francis B. Sullivan, C. P. S., has been appointed academic dean of St. John's Provincial Seminary, located on Five Mile Road near Sheldon.

Announcement of the appointment was made by the Reverend Robert J. Rose, rector of the seminary. The appointment, approved by the Council of Ordinaries of the State of Michigan, will be effective August 1.

Father Sullivan comes to St.

John's with an extensive background in both teaching and administration. Presently completing a term as assistant dean at the school of religious studies, Catholic University of America, he previously served as assistant chairman of the theology department of the University of Notre Dame, 1969-1973.

Director of the University's summer program in graduate theology from 1969 to 1972, Father Sullivan's earlier experience includes the academic deanship of St. Joseph's Calumet College, Indiana, between 1963 and 1966.

Prior to these administrative positions, Father Sullivan taught theology and sociology at St. Joseph's College, Indiana; St. Charles Seminary, Ohio; and the University of Notre Dame.

Father Sullivan's duties as academic dean of St. John's are best expressed in the Formation published by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

"The Academic Dean bears the chief responsibility of implementing educational policies. He is responsible for curriculum, courses, methods of instruction, and academic quality and performance of faculty and students, and the improvement of the academic program."

Father Sullivan will also be responsible for developing programs for renewal and continuing education for the priests of Michigan. Expansion into courses and training programs for sisters, brothers, and lay persons is envisaged as a further goal of his work at the Seminary.

Hartland Pastor Receives Orders

Elder's Orders and reception into full membership in an Annual Conference are the final steps into the Ministry of the United Methodist Church. Mr. Figgins was ordained at the 133rd consecutive annual session of the Conference in Adrian.

Bishop Loder has assigned Mr. Figgins to continue to serve as pastor in Hartland in the coming year.

Mr. Figgins received his Master of Divinity degree from the Theological School in Delaware, Ohio in 1972. He was elected to Deacon's Orders by the Detroit Annual Conference in 1970 and was also received as a Probationary Member in the Detroit Conference in 1970.

PREPAYMENT PENALTIES
You've sold your home. Your buyer obtained new financing with a new mortgage. Therefore, your old mortgage was, undoubtedly, paid in full with part of your proceeds from the sale. Paying off a mortgage in advance of its original loan length is known in the trade as "prepayment".

Many lenders today require a prepayment penalty if a mortgage is paid off prior to its original due date, and you'll find this can amount to several hundred dollars. If you paid this penalty, don't forget that the Internal Revenue Service treats the prepayment penalty the same as interest - which can be a valuable deduction from your income tax. But, in spite of the tax break, always try to bargain for the smallest prepayment penalty or no penalty at all.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

A COMPLETELY new manufacturing plant and office facility was recently completed by Multi-Elmac Company, leading manufacturer of remote electronic controls for home, business and industry.

Production at the new building, completed in just eight months following groundbreaking in March, 1973 was initiated in December, 1973. Formal opening which included an open house for employees, customers, suppliers, competitors and friends was held Sunday, March 10th with over 500 persons attending.

The move is the sixth major expansion for the firm since its founding in 1945. The new building contains 33,000 square feet, situated on a 4-1/2 acre site in Novex Industrial Park at 22700 Heslip Drive, Novi. Dembs Roth Construction Co., Southfield, Michigan were the primary contractors.

Prior to the move Multi-Elmac was located in a 21,000 square foot building in Oak Park, Michigan.

The firm's product line includes miniaturized radio controls, radios for security purposes, industrial electronic controls, remote control electronic systems for directing, operating and guiding a wide range of electrical devices ranging from garage door openers to coin operated amusement games.

FACELIFTING is progressing well at South Lyon Gulf where manager-lessee Mike Mills estimates that the renovation efforts are about 80 percent completed. Interior work included new lights, dropping bathroom ceilings and paneling while the mansard roof, bricking, new lights and driveway repairs were completed externally. The station is located at 302 South Lafayette in South Lyon.

PEGGY'S HAIR-I-TAGE is open for business at 115 East Lake and is, in fact, enjoying its Grand Opening through June 29. Manager Peggy Along is assisting associate hairstylist Ellen Gulasey (left) as she prepares customer Mrs. Theda Lyke's hair for a permanent. Everett and Margaret Williams own the shop run by their daughter. Hours in South Lyon is 9-3 Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 9-6 Thursday, 8-5 Friday and 8-1 Saturday. Grand Opening specials are being offered.

Oil Shale Gets Sharp Attention

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — Severely jolted by the Arab oil embargo, the petroleum industry is making a determined effort to develop more stable sources of oil and gas.

Construction has at long last commenced on the Alaskan pipeline, exploration is increasing in offshore waters, and research is on the upswing into alternate sources of energy. Two highly promising areas with considerable potential are oil shale and tar sands.

Although their existence has been known for years, development of oil extraction processes for these minerals has been slow by reason of cost. Now, however, with conventional crude oil escalating in price to what is probably a permanent high level, the production of synthetic crude from shale and sand becomes more economically feasible.

THE RICHEST oil shale deposits in this country are found in Colorado, Utah, and Wyoming in the Green River formation. Estimates vary, but these shale deposits alone are considered to contain more than one trillion barrels of recoverable oil. Total U.S. shale deposits probably contain nearly five times presently estimated national crude oil reserves.

Obviously, any successful, and economic recovery process would lower the threat of foreign intervention in the flow of oil supplies. For this reason, attention has sharpened of late on oil shale.

Oil shale is actually a misnomer since the shale is, in fact, a mixture of clay, sand, and stone impermeable in nature. The "oil" is a waxy material called kerogen, which may vary in content from one deposit to another anywhere from a few to 100 gallons per ton.

AT PRESENT, shale is mined by open pit or tunneling methods, and crushed to a workable size. The raw shale is then heated — up to 1300 degrees F — to release oil and some gas. Shale oil extraction is still in the pilot plant stage above ground. For the future it appears likely that extraction will be "in situ" by applying heat to the shale in place.

This would be similar to secondary recovery methods in some oil fields; nuclear stimulation is also a possibility. In-place recovery would solve the problem of disposing of the spent shale.

EQUALLY IMPORTANT and somewhat more advanced in development is the production of oil from tar sands. Primary deposits lie in the province of Alberta in western Canada; they are estimated to contain some 250 billion barrels of oil. About 10 per cent of this is recoverable by present methods, but new processes will undoubtedly unlock the bulk of the oil in the years ahead.

However, the initial costs of tar sand development will be little short of overwhelming if oil production of any magnitude is to be achieved. A plant that would turn out 125,000 barrels a day could cost $1 billion, and many such plants would be needed.

THE PROCESS of production of synthetic crude from the sands is fairly complex. Huge bucket excavators scoop up the sticky sand in two-ton bites at a rate of 100,000 tons a day. By application of steam and water the raw oil is released from the sand, upgraded to synthetic crude, and pipelined out of the area.

It is then further processed into good-quality petroleum products. A single barrel of oil requires two tons of sand, and as with oil shale the procedure leaves a residue of spent sand. Some "mined" areas may be used for disposition of processed sand in much the same manner that land is recontoured after strip-mining for coal.

"In situ" recovery using steam, heat, or chemicals is also possible in the case of tar sands.

MOST MAJOR oil firms are researching oil recovery from oil shale and tar sands, and at least by the 1980s efficient in-place techniques could be available.

But it should be emphasized that prospects for any company in these fields are long term, even though such activities may be considered a potentially valuable bonus for the future.

Coast Guard Urges Water Safety

If this summer's boating season is anything like last year's hundreds of Midwesterners will experience watery deaths, the Insurance Information Institute has noted.

Last year a total of 448 boaters were killed, 440 were injured and a total of 1,270 boating accidents were reported in a 12-state area, resulting in $1,181,300 in property damage.

Michigan led the way with 94 deaths followed closely by Ohio, 73, and Illinois, 69. The latter state reported the greatest amount of property damage at $311,100.

The lowest figures reported were in North Dakota where two persons were killed, five accidents were reported with only one injury and $4,300 in damages.

In urging boaters to exercise safety, the I.I.I. points to U. S. Coast Guard accident statistics (note chart) that paint a bleak picture.

In California alone there were 696 boating accidents, 128 deaths and some $1.7 million in property damage last year. With nine million boats expected afloat, this year's national figure could increase.

The Institute notes that no matter how well designed and engineered a boat is, using it in the wrong waters, or trying to exceed the limitations for which it was built automatically make it unsafe. Boat owners and potential boat owners should know how to tell when a boat is in unsafe working order, and under what conditions it is under to use the boat.

Three critical systems to check out: fuel, electricity and steering must be in good working condition. Connections fastened, protective casings and other parts of each system should be expertly checked for conditions that could be hazardous during operation.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary, as part of its, courtesy motorboat examination also checks the configuration and working order of navigation lights, sound producing devices, anchor and anchor line and ventilation systems, among others.

Flotation materials in the construction of boats that will keep them afloat in the event of swamping or capsizing is most important to passengers. Flotation cushions and vests are also essential in the event passengers are separated from a capsized boat. If a boat stays afloat after capsizing, the Institute says, stay with it!

Boaters should never overload a boat with people or objects. Every boat has a definite load capacity which can be learned from the manufacturer, retailer or local coast guard auxiliary. If a plaque attached to the craft does not indicate maximum speed or power output under optimum condition, check with the manufacturer.

One of the most important ingredients of safe boating, says the I.I.I., is the operator who uses his craft in waters and weather with which it can cope.

Since October 31, 1972, the coast guard has required that all recreational craft meet specific safety standards, and that each boat have a plaque attached certifying that these standards in effect at the date of construction have been met.

The auxiliary also offers a free home study program "The Skippers Course" which is available from the Superintendent of Documents for a nominal $1.50 (ask for catalogue No. 7D5.2:SK3) Superintendent of Documents, GPO Washington, D. C. 20402.

the girls," claimed Pat. "Several of the girls are very good at bead work, too, and three or four of them speak fluent Navajo. While we don't pressure them we try to encourage them as much as possible to retain these things."

According to Pat and Kathy their own three children have adjusted very well to their darker skinned sisters.

"Really the only bit of trouble was when we got the two-year old twins," said Kathy. "Our youngest resented them at first much the same way a child may resent any new addition to a family."

Do the Buersees intend to continue to be house parents? "You bet," replied Pat emphatically as he picked up a pudgy two year old twin. "We wouldn't throw this away for anything."

Choo Choo Tops Challengers—Still Unbeaten

The only thing wrong with being Number One is that there's usually a Number Two hard at work figuring out ways to take your place.

And that's exactly what's going on in the American League of the Northville Recreation Department's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League.

At least two teams were formed this year for the specific purpose of separating Choo Choo Car Wash from the championship it has earned in each of the past two seasons.

But so far the Car Washers have been able to repulse all challengers. Last week, for example, Choo Choo took an 11-2 victory over Fairway Landscaping and then came back the next day to eke out a 3-2 verdict over Exotic Plastic and Rubber.

The two wins enable the Car Washers to run their record to 7-0 and stretch their American League lead to a game and a half over second place Manufacturer's National Bank.

Choo Choo gave Charlie Sorenson one of his rare starting assignments and the crafty veteran responded with a classy six-hitter which enabled his teammates to take an 11-2 triumph over Fairway Landscaping.

Rich Adams, Ed McLeod, Jeff Moon, and Don Thomson each stroked out a pair of hits for the champions, while the six Fairway hits were collected by six different hitters.

Don Phillippi, the regular Choo Choo pitcher, was back on the hill the following day against Exotic Plastic and Rubber. Phillippi also tossed a six-hitter as Choo Choo hung on for a 3-2 victory in its closest game of the year.

Exotic scored a pair of runs in the top of the fifth to knot the score at 2-2, but Choo Choo came back to score the decisive run in the bottom of the sixth as Ed McLeod singled home George Borth.

McLeod also picked up a double in the game as he was the only Choo Choo player with more than one hit off Exotic's Bill Andrews who limited the usually hard-hitting Car Washers to just eight safeties. Ed Kritz had two of the six Exotic hits.

John Mach Ford began to make its move last week by winning a pair of games, including a 6-3 triumph over second place Manufacturer's National Bank.

Mach Ford started the week with a 4-3 record, but are now in third place with a 6-3 mark—just half a game behind Manufacturer's Bank.

The Car Dealers picked up two runs in the first, second, and fourth innings in their 6-3 upset of Manufacturer's National Bank. Paul Jamieson with three hits and Charlie Boerger with a pair of hits sparked the victory.

Omar Harrison, Jim

Newman, and Bob Boshoven each singled twice for the Bankers.

John Mach Ford's other victory was a 15-5 verdict over Fairway Landscaping. Jim Lieder had a three-run homer in the third and also picked up a pair of singles to lead the victory. John Mach also contributed three hits to the Ford attack.

Dave Coe, Craig MacDermaid, and Kim Marburger had two hits apiece for Fairway.

Manufacturer's National Bank managed to hold onto second place ahead of Mach Ford by registering a 15-2 conquest of the Northville Jaycees Friday.

Leading 6-2 at the end of five innings, the Bankers turned the game into a rout by scoring seven times in the sixth and adding two more in the seventh.

Bob Mandell went four for four and Bob Kucher and Doug Swiss each stroked out three hits to share hitting honors for the Bank. Tom Barber had three hits for the Jaycees who are still looking for their first victory.

The Jaycees almost got that first victory of the season when they played the Hamlet Food Mart Monday. The Jaycees scored three times in the top of the seventh inning to knot the score 8-8. But Hamlet pulled out the win in the bottom of the seventh as Jim Conder singled home Jeff Jones with the decisive tally in the 9-8 contest.

Dale Devitt went four for four and Russ Kelly and Jones each stroked out three hits apiece for Hamlet. Vince Hanson, Ross Totten, Tom Lang, and Ron Reitenour, each collected two hits apiece for the Jaycees.

Northville Men's Softball

Plymouth State Home Leads National League

Any doubts that Plymouth State Home is the team to beat in the National League of the Northville Recreation Department's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League can be officially dismissed.

The State Home made that point abundantly clear last week by recording two more wins and outscoring their two opponents by a combined score of 23-1.

The two wins left the State Home with an 8-0 record and a two-game lead over the Tavern which also posted a pair of wins in last week's action to pull into second place with a 6-2 record.

The State Home opened its week with a decisive 12-1 victory over Keith Heating-Rizzo Realty and then came back the following night with an impressive 11-0 whitewashing of St. Paul Lutheran Church.

State Home scored four times in each of the first three innings and then coasted to the 12-1 verdict over Keith Heating.

John Delinski and Norm Angner each stroked out three hits in four at bats to spark the State Home's 14 hit attack which included three doubles and four triples. Keith Heating was limited to just seven hits in the contest, but managed to put three singles together in the fourth inning to avoid the shutout. Ray Tisch collected two of the seven hits for Keith Heating.

The State Home did even better in their next game as Denny Milobar tossed a six-hitter and picked up his first shutout of the season in an 11-0 conquest of St. Paul Lutheran Church.

John Delinski and Norm Angner again went three for four to pace the State Home and they were joined by Brian Smith who also went three for four. Delinski had a double and home run among his three hits. Fred Shipley had two hits to pace the Lutherans.

Moving into second place in the National League standings was the Tavern which posted a pair of victories last week.

First Tavern victory was a 10-6 triumph over the Lutherans. St. Paul's scored six times in the first inning, but the Tavern came back to knot the score at six-all after five innings, and then scored four times in the bottom of the sixth to take the win.

Randy Cadotte and Matt Gellner sparked the comeback victory with three for three performances at the plate. Cliff Schultz collected three hits for the Lutherans.

The Tavern's other triumph was a 4-2 verdict over Keith Heating-Rizzo Realty. John Norman had two of the six hits that the Tavern was able to collect off Keith Heating pitcher Jerry LeVan. Le Van and Jim LaPlante each picked up a pair of hits to pace the loser's seven-hit attack.

The two victories enabled the Tavern to move into second place ahead of Newcomers-Little Caesar's which suffered a 7-2 upset at the hands of Kings Mill Coop in its lone game of the week.

Little Caesars picked up a pair of runs in the first inning, but were unable to score again as Kings Mills registered the 7-2 upset.

Gerry Courtney went three for three to pace the winners, while Paul Steckley and John Bauman each picked up two hits apiece to pace Little Caesars.

The upset over Little Caesars was one of two victories recorded by Kings Mills last week. In their other game, the Mill tallied four times in the bottom of the sixth inning to gain a 13-10 victory over the Northville Police.

Gerry Courtney and Keith Heathcock each rapped out a pair of hits for Kings Mill, while the Police were paced by Ron White who had three hits and Gary Callendar, Roy Sabin, Bill Howe, and Vince Dow who each collected two hits.

The Con Langfield Cougars moved up into fourth place by splitting a pair of decisions last week. The Cougars stroked out 23 hits in a 14-2 rout of the Northville Police.

Dave Zuma and Steve Pauli went four for four and Bill Pink added three more hits for the Cougars, while pitcher Andy Walters limited the Coppers to just eight hits - two of them by Dave Bivins.

The VFW leveled its record at 4-4 by edging the Presbyterian Men's Club 4-2 in a tightly-played game. The Veterans took a two-run lead in the first and wrapped up the win with a four-run outburst in the third.

Ron Brevik, Don Modine, and Mike Myers each collected a pair of hits to pace the Veterans' 10-hit attack. Hank Greshaw had three hits and Rich Sievert had a pair of singles to account for five of the nine Presbyterian hits.

The week was not a total loss for the Presbyterians, however, as they managed to post their second win of the season by upsetting the Con Langfield Cougars 10-3.

Don Williams and Jim Curl each had three hits for the Presbyterians who surprised the Cougars by scoring three runs in the first and seven runs in the second. Curl's three hits included a double and triple.

Rick Bingley and Bill Pink had four of the Cougars' 10 hits.

FLYING DUTCHMAN — Dutch VanIngen sails into third base ahead of the throw in action last week in the Northville Recreation Department's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League. VanIngen's heads-up base running sparked Manufacturer's Bank to a 15-2 conquest of the Northville Jaycees.

Tom's Selected Co-Captain

Novi's VanWagners Shine at Tech

Jim (22) and Tom (57) VanWagner

Novi's VanWagner brothers — Tom and Jim — are carving out quite a reputation for themselves at Michigan Tech.

Each of the VanWagners walked off with a top honor at the Varsity Awards Banquet held recently. And Tom — the older of the two — has been named co-captain of the football team for the 1974 season.

Tom, a 1971 Novi High School graduate, was named recipient of the Bill Hausser Memorial Award for the second consecutive year. The award is given to the individual selected as the most outstanding during spring football drills.

Jim, who graduated from Novi in 1973 after leading John Osborne's Wildcats to the 1972 Southeastern Conference championship, was named recipient of Tech's Terry Wilson Memorial Award at the Varsity Banquet.

The award is given to the school's outstanding freshman athlete.

Jim, a rugged 6-1, 205-pound tailback, was Tech's leading ground gainer as a freshman and is being counted on heavily to lead the attack in 1974.

The VanWagner brothers proved their worth during the recent intra-squad football game which ends spring drills. Running through holes developed by brother Tom, Jim led his team to a 22-6 win by powering his way for 92 yards on 14 carries, including a five-yard touchdown plunge.

The VanWagner brothers are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack VanWagner.

Coaches Tap Jim Porterfield

Big Jim Porterfield, a hard-working 5-10, 215-pound senior, has been selected Northville High School's Athlete of the Year by the coaching staff and athletic director.

Announcement of the selection of Porterfield was made last week at the annual Spring Honors Convocation by Assistant Football Coach Chuck Apap.

The Athlete of the Year award was instituted in 1968 by the Boosters Club and has since been taken over by the high school athletic department. According to the rules set up for selecting the recipient of the award, the head coach in each sport may nominate three candidates from his sport. The entire coaching staff, along with the athletic director, then votes for the top three selections for Athlete of the Year.

The criteria for selecting the winner are leadership, athletic performance, devotion, and scholastic achievement.

erfield has established himself as a standout performer in football, wrestling, and track.

Porterfield was one of the sophomores on whom Chuck Shonta built his football program when he took over head coaching duties three years ago. Porterfield had a fine sophomore year, but then his performance fell off during his junior season when he was hobbled by injuries.

During his senior season, however, the rugged defensive tackle came into his own. Competing in the tough Western Six Conference which prides itself on the quality of its linemen, Porterfield established himself as one of the loop's top performers and was a unanimous All-Conference selection.

He was tapped for "Player of the Year" recognition in the annual Sliger Publications All-Area football squad, the first Northville player selected to that honor since its initiation five years ago.

Porterfield used his size, speed, and strength to good advantage as a heavyweight on the high school wrestling team. After sitting out his sophomore and junior years, the husky 215-pounder returned to the mats in his senior season and was perhaps the finest and most consistent performer on the team.

He culminated his mat career with a second place finish in the heavyweight division in the Western Six championships.

In track Porterfield had few rivals in the shot put competition. He finished second in the Western Six Conference in both his sophomore and junior years and then came on in his senior season to cop the conference championship.

His best put of 52-8 broke the former school record of 50-11 set by Fred Hicks in 1969. Hicks, incidentally, was also selected Athlete of the Year during his senior years at Northville.

A strong student who also earned starring roles in the school plays, Porterfield will take his athletic prowess to Michigan State University in the fall.

Rejecting scholarship offers from Wayne State University, Michigan Tech, and Central Iowa College, Porterfield will concentrate solely on football at MSU.

"Michigan State wasn't too interested in me because I'm only 5-10 and they want their linemen well over the 6-0 mark if possible," commented Porterfield. "I plan to go out for either offensive guard or nose guard. I'm not going up there as anything special, I'll just be another walk-on hoping to make the team."

Announce Plans For Mat Clinic

A wrestling clinic for boys between the ages of eight and 15 years will be conducted at Northville High School by assistant wrestling coach Gary Emerson during the week of June 24-29.

The clinic will be held in the high school gym each day from 3-5 p.m. and will conclude with a tournament on Saturday, June 29. Medals and ribbons will be awarded in each weight class.

Fee for the clinic is $3. All boys are required to provide their own gym shorts and shirt, tennis shoes, soap and towel, and lock. A parental permission slip is also required.

Interested individuals should report with the above items at 2:30 p.m. on Monday, June 24. For further information contact either Emerson or Northville Athletic Director Robert Kucher at 349-3400, extension 14.

Ambler Aces

Richard W. Ambler of 47033 Timberlane is eligible to win a free trip to Scotland and $1,000 as a result of scoring a hole-in-one at the Black River Country Club.

Ambler's ace qualified him for the annual Rusty Nail Hole-In-One Sweepstakes, a national competition sponsored by the Drumbie Company of Edinburgh, Scotland.

The winner will be announced early next year.

Thinclads Select Guy Cole

Guy Cole was named Most Valuable Athlete, and Robbie Foust, Bill Pettit, Tom Coram, and Tom Marzonic were also singled out for honors as the winners of the annual post-season awards for the 1974 Northville track

The selections were made by the vote of the 45 members of the varsity squad and announced Tuesday at the team picnic in Edward Hines Park.

Cole, who holds school records in the 440, 880, mile, and two mile runs, came out on top in close balloting for the Most Valuable Athlete award.

The "Guts" Award went to Tom Coram, Cole's running mate for the past three years. Coram won the Western Six conference championship in the mile run with a 4:32.4 clocking.

was junior Robbie Foust. The junior distance runner chopped his time from 4:51 to 4:37 in the mile run and finished third in the conference championships. Foust, who carries a 3.8 average in the classroom, was also selected to receive the Scholar-Athlete Award.

Junior hurdler Tom Marzonic barely edged out Cole for the High Point Man designation. Marzonic compiled 100 points during the season to finish ahead of Cole who had 97 points.

Ralph Redmond, coach of the Northville thinclads, reported that a total of 25 varsity letters were awarded for the 1974 season in which the Mustangs posted a 10-4 record. Varsity awards were determined on the basis of 10 or more points during the season, points earned in conference or regional competition, and/or outstanding times in individual events.

Redmond also reported that five freshmen received varsity awards. Freshmen earning their letters in track were Earl Bingley, Dennis Singleton, Jim Shortt, Rick Rose, and Bob Gould. It was the largest group of freshmen letter winners in the history of Northville track, Redmond reported.

ATHLETE OF THE YEAR — Jim Porterfield was selected Northville High School's Athlete of the Year by the coaching staff last week. The 5-10, 215-pound senior was a standout performer in football, wrestling, and track during his prep career. He plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall.

Jaycees' Soapbox Derby Gets Underway Saturday

Saturday is Derby Day in Northville.

Soapbox Derby Day, that is. Sponsored by the Northville Jaycees, the fifth annual Soapbox Derby is slated to get underway this Saturday, June 22, at 10 a.m.

As in past years, the Derby will be held on the Maplewood Street Hill. There will be two racers per heat in the double elimination contest which is open to all youngsters between the ages of eight and 13 years.

The rules are simple. The Jaycees require that the racers have at least four wheels set in two parallel axles, the wheels having a diameter not greater than 16 inches. Each racer must have some sort of steering system and braking system.

Drivers are required to wear protective headgear, such as a racing or football helmet. A racer of any reasonable height, length, and width may be constructed of whatever material the driver chooses.

Advance registration is not necessary and there are no entry fees. Trophies will be given to the top three finishers.

And when the starter says "gentlemen, start your engines" this coming Saturday, if anyone actually proceeds to start an engine — instant ignominy

Harvard Cites Bernie Bach

Bernie Bach, a 1971 graduate of Northville High School, has been named recipient of the Jack Fadden Award at Harvard University.

Bach is the first non-senior and the first intramural athlete to receive the award which is presented for overcoming physical adversity.

Bach, a junior, "just couldn't be overlooked when it came to the real meaning of the Fadden Award," commented Harvard's intramural director Floyd Wilson.

Bernie came to Harvard with an athletic record which indicated varsity potential in both football and basketball. In the past two years he has had both his knees operated on. While most people tend to "retire" after one such operation, Bernie was back on the basketball court this winter without having full flexion of his knee and asking no favors," Wilson continued.

Bach was a three-sport star during his athletic career at Northville, starring in football, basketball, and baseball. He suffered a knee injury in football practice prior to his senior season and sat out the entire grid season and half the basketball season before returning to action.

Novi Softball League

National League Edges Ahead

Thanks to Jim Storm Insurance and Miami Blue Water Pools, the National League is beginning to establish itself as the superior division in the Novi Parks and Recreation Commission's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League.

Ten games were played last week and National League teams came out on top in eight of them. What's more, the two American League teams posting victories did so at the expense of other American League clubs.

contests, the National League squads came out ahead on all five occasions.

National League

Three National League teams - Jim Storm Insurance, Miami Blue Water Pools, and J.P. Realty - came up with a pair of victories last week as National League teams dominated the action.

Storm Insurance maintained its National League lead and kept its undefeated record in tact by defeating Lakewood Colony and the Novi Police.

Key game of the week was the clash between Storm Insurance and the Police, leaders of the American League. Both teams took undefeated records into the contest, but Storm Insurance emerged with an 11-5 triumph to become the only team in either league without a loss.

Storm Insurance had a narrow 4-3 lead after two and one-half innings, but then broke away with three runs in the bottom of the third and two more in the fourth en route to the eventual 11-5 victory.

Huotari were the big sticks in the victory, as each drove in four runs. Jim Eskola shared hitting honors with Kantola and Huotari by stroking out three singles. Ron Roy had three hits and John Love, Bruce Place, and Mike Butler each rapped out a pair of hits for the previously unbeaten Police.

Storm Insurance's other victory last week was a 13-8 conquest of Lakewood Colony. Dan Taylor's home run staked Lakewood to a 4-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but Storm Insurance came roaring back with 10 runs in the bottom of the first as John Heinonen belted a round tripper.

Heinonen collected two other hits to pace Storm Insurance, while Jim Eskola, Don Maki, Chuck Kantola, Jim Juopperi, and Walt Maki each contributed a pair of hits to the 16-hit attack. Taylor went four for four and had six rbi's to lead Lakewood. Tony Stines went three for four for Lakewood.

Miami Blue Water Pools kept pace with Storm Insurance by also winning a pair of games last week. Storm Insurance is now 6-0, while Blue Water Pools is just half a game back with a 6-1 record.

John McMillan, Sr., tossed a classy five-hitter as Blue Water Pools downed Portec Paragon 6-1. A walk to Bill White and back-to-back home runs by Phil McMillan and Dennis Diem enabled Blue Water Pools to take a 3-0 lead in the first inning. Jim Dickie also homered for the winners. Ron Schluchter collected two of the five Portec hits.

Blue Water Pools' other win last week was a 22-5 rout of the Novi Inn. Bill White, Bob Pisha, and Rick Dales each slammed a home run, and Phil McMillan sent two balls over the fence as Blue Water Pools highlighted a 21-hit attack with five circuit clouts.

Harvey Wilson homered and Corky Polivich went two for three to share hitting honors for the Inn.

Also winning a pair of games last week was the J.P. Realty squad which moved its record from 1-3 to 3-2 with the two wins.

Ron Iseli's bases-loaded single in the first inning enabled J.P. Realty to jump off to a quick lead in a 9-5 triumph over Novi Tire. Jim Reynolds had two hits for J.P. Realty, while Dave Temple, Larry Wickman, and Ron Balogh each rapped out a pair of hits for the losers.

J.P. Realty banged out 20 hits in a 13-4 victory over Novi Heights. Roger Wittenbach had a two-run homer and John Padgett, Owen Sutherland, Jim Reynolds, Jud Sayre, Ron Iseli, Ken Beers, and Jim Woelkers each collected a pair of hits in the well-balanced J.P. Realty attack.

Dave O'Neill was the only Heights player with more than one hit off Carl Helwig.

Other National League teams posting victories last week were Jamaican Pools and Lakewood Colony.

Jamaican Pools scored 12 times in the first inning and then held on for a 14-9 victory over Portec Paragon. Carrying the heavy timber for Jamaican Pools was John Pantalone, who belted three home runs and a double in four trips to the plate and collected five rbi's. Larry Taylor added three hits and Greg Frontier and Phil Greene each added a pair of hits to the Jamaican Pools total.

John Lilly, Ron Schluchter, had two hits apiece for Portec.

Lakewood Colony stroked out 19 hits in a 12-2 decision over Novi Heights. Jim Sutton hit a home run and Dan Taylor, Paul Black, and Shel Stone each ripped out three hits apiece to take hitting honors for the winners. Novi Heights got two-hit performances from Rick Marinch and Rick Ortwine.

American League

The Novi Police managed to retain sole possession of first place in the American League by handing second-place Don W. Kelsey Company its second loss of the season. Trailing 4-2 at the end of the third, the Crime Fighters scored five times in the final three innings to wrap up the win.

Charlie Brown, Ed Butler, Gary Scott, and Tom Pattison each picked up a pair of hits to pace the Coppers. John Elkins had three hits and Bob Hovey had two hits for Don W. Kelsey.

Don W. Kelsey got back on the winning track by dumping the Novi Jaycees 20-10. Mike Veenstra carried the big stick for the victors, belting out five hits that included a home run in five trips to the plate. John Hunter contributed five rbi's with a double, triple, and sacrifice fly, while Bob Mathers and Tom Sheppard each collected three hits in the triumph.

Les Branch homered and John Balagna went three for four to pace the Novi Jaycees.

Coaches Tap Novi's Celani For All-Conference Honors

After placing three players on the first team and two more on the second team last year, Novi's Wildcats were limited to just one first team selection and one second team selection on the 1974 All-Southeastern Conference baseball team announced last week.

Tom Celani, the Wildcats' hard-hitting third baseman, was named to the first team, while Eddie Brown, Novi's steady shortstop, was named to a berth on the second team.

The two selections were a far cry from 1973 when five Wildcats were named to the first two teams. What's more, four of those five 1973 selections were juniors who returned for their senior year at Novi this spring.

But in spite of the flock of returning All-Conference performers, Novi's 1974 performance in the SEC was quite different from their 1973 performance when they won the conference championship.

The Wildcats finished their 1974 conference schedule with a 5-9 record that put them in a sixth place tie with South Lyon.

"I still think the players on our team are as good as anyone else in the league, but when you finish sixth you don't deserve to put many people on the all-conference team," commented Rick Trudeau, coach of the Novi nine.

"You can't go on past laurels. You have to pick the players who produced during the regular season," he added.

One of the Wildcats who enjoyed a 1974 season that was every bit as good as his 1973 performance was Tom Celani, the Wildcats' outstanding third baseman.

Swinging from the number three slot in the Novi lineup, Celani rapped out 37 hits in 74 at bats during the season for a solid .500 average. The hard-hitting third sacker had three triples and five home runs among his 37 hits, scored 21 runs, and had 23 rbi's.

Trudeau revealed that Celani has also been selected to the Class B All-State team.

"Tom has only been hitless in two games all season," commented Trudeau. "One was the no-hitter at Plymouth Canton and the other was our game against Milan in which he hit a couple of pretty good shots that were caught. There's no doubt that Tom is the sparkplug of our team," continued the Novi coach. "If he doesn't get us started with his bat, he gets us going with his chatter and hustle."

Selected to the second team was Eddie Brown, Novi's smooth-fielding junior shortstop.

"Eddie's a ballplayer's ballplayer," stated Trudeau. "He's not flashy, but he is extremely consistent and turns in an outstanding job. There are a number of coaches around the conference who always tell me how much they admire our shortstop (Brown)."

As expected, conference champion Ypsilanti Lincoln led the all-conference squad with three players being named to the first team and two more named to the second unit. Second place Brighton placed two men on the first team and two on the second team.

Milan, which finished third in the conference standings, had two players named to first team berths and three more on the second team.

In addition to Celani, the only other repeater from the 1973 All-Conference team was Saline pitcher Dennis King. Lincoln hurler Terry Leonard was also named to a first-team pitching berth. Tim Slepky of Saline was named first team catcher.

Named to the All-SEC infield were Don Guenther of Lincoln, Mike Hitt of Brighton, Ron Cyphers of Milan, John Houle of Chelsea, and Celani.

Named to the All-SEC outfield were Dave Lawson of Brighton, Milan's Rod Cranston, and Dale McCurdy of Lincoln.

Two Wildcats - catcher Eric Hansor and second baseman Tim Assemany - received honorable mention recognition.

PHILIP McNARY

Citizen of the Year

Tap McNary For Award

Philip McNary has been named first recipient of the annual "Citizen of the Year" award sponsored by the Novi Police Lieutenants and Sergeants Association (NPLS&A).

Selection of McNary was announced at a banquet at the Bob-O-link Golf Course last Saturday by Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner, commander of the Novi Detective Bureau and vice-president of the NPLS&A.

McNary was selected for his involvement in the community, particularly through the Novi Jaycees.

McNary currently holds the office of internal vice-president in the local Jaycee chapter. He recently recruited 33 new members into the Novi Jaycees and was chairman of the Wixom extension, recruiting 23 new members into the Wixom Jaycee chapter.

State Activation chairman by the Michigan Jaycees and will tour the state encouraging men to become active in their communities.

A graduate of Ferris State College, McNary is employed as a financial supervisor by the Ford Motor Company. He is married with three children and resides at 2210 Park Ridge in the Meadowbrook Glens subdivision.

Guest speaker at the Citizen of the Year banquet was Attorney Gene Schmelz of Walled Lake.

Also participating in the ceremonies were Father Leslie Harding of Novi's Holy Cross Episcopal Church; Detective Sergeant Gordon Nelson, president of the NPLS&A; and Sergeant Dale Gross, secretary-treasurer of the NPLS&A.

In addition to a plaque commemorating the achievement, McNary and his wife were given a three-day trip to Montreal by the NPLS&A.

NPLS&A President Nelson stated that the organization hopes to make the Citizen of the Year award and banquet an annual event.

For his hours of hard work in Novi, McNary was selected as one of the five "Key Men" in the state Jaycee organization.

Faulkner noted that McNary's community involvement extends beyond his participation in the Jaycees, however. He is a director of the Meadowbrook Glens Homeowners Association, a member of the city's Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission, and a charter member of the Novi Lions Club.

He is presently working on a project to repair or paint the homes of senior citizens or other individuals who can't afford to maintain their homes in good conditions.

"And every man did his own thing" is the "Whitcomb translation" of Judges 21:25 which really says, "In those days there was no king in Israel: every man did that which was right in his own eyes". Certainly that's a picture of today.

Six times in the Old Testament book of Judges, Israel goes through a period of sin, suffering for that sin, crying out to God for salvation. What they went through as a nation, people are going through today in their individual lives.

The Bible tells us we're sinners and that the wages of sin is death. So much of the suffering of this world is due to man's sin. Sin brings suffering, not only in the Old Testament but in the 20th century. When Israel had finally "had it" with the consequences of their sin, they cried out to God and God sent a deliverer. The way out of man's sin today is not found in social reform, going to church, trying to be more religious, but to confess to God that he's a sinner and asking the Lord Jesus Christ to forgive him of his sin. Jesus Christ is the only One who can forgive sin. When Israel cried out to God and confessed their sin, God sent a deliverer and saved them from enemy aggression.

When we ask the Lord Jesus to forgive us our sins and come into our heart and save us, He saves us. "For whosoever (that means you) shall call (pray and confess your sin) on the name of the Lord (He's the only One to call on) shall be saved" (from his sin). Have you done this?

Novi Councilmen Debate Public's Right to Criticize

Derogatory comments about the efficiency of the Novi Building Department made by a citizen at the June 10 Novi City Council meeting have been denied by Director of Building and Safety Earl Bailey and the 13 members of his department.

The comments and the responses to them touched off a heated city council session Monday in which the right of citizens to bring complaints about municipal departments to the city council's attention without fear of reprisal and the right of municipal employees to respond to those criticisms were alternately supported by various members of the city council.

Mayor Robert Daley also reported that the citizen had issued a partial retraction of the original comments. Included in the discussion was criticism of the press for factual reporting of the original comments.

At issue were the comments made by a Mrs. Carol Kern, secretary of the Northern Novi Homeowners Association, at the June 10 council meeting. Speaking during the audience participation portion of the agenda, Mrs. Kern told the council that she and other members of the association had observed inefficiencies in the Building Department.

"It takes three girls an hour and a half to wash one coffee cup," she stated.

Her comments were reported in the June 13 edition of The Novi News.

In a correspondence to the city manager, mayor, and city council also addressed June 13, Building Department Head Earl Bailey stated that he had caused an immediate investigation into the "alleged allegations" and determined that the statements "are false and have no basis."

"I sincerely believe that unwarranted, unsupported, published statements about this department are degrading, contemptible, reprehensible, and ludicrous and their motivation suspect," wrote Bailey.

His correspondence was accompanied by statements from 13 members of the building department. In general, the statements denied the accuracy of the comments and praised the administrative abilities of Bailey. Three of the statements threatened legal recourse against Mrs. Kern.

In opening discussion of the matter Monday, Mayor Daley stated that the results of the comments and their appearance in the newspaper had had "a disastrous effect on the morale of the building department."

Daley also stated that Mrs. Kern had been asked to meet with himself, Bailey, and City Manager Harold Saunders prior to the council meeting at 7:30 p.m. As a result of that meeting, Mrs. Kern had agreed to issue a partial retraction.

Mrs. Kern, who was present at Monday's session, told the council that she would not take back what she had seen taking place in the Grand River offices, but admitted that since the DPW and Assessor's Office were also located in the same building that she could not say definitely that the people who were "goofing off" were building department employees.

"The end result," said Daley, "was that in all likelihood the inefficiencies that she witnessed were not building department employees at all."

Two councilmen - Louie Campbell and Philip Goodman - were critical of the way Mrs. Kern's comments had been handled by Mayor Daley and the building department employees.

"What disturbs me is that a citizen comes to this council and then has to face this kind of grilling," stated Campbell, referring to the 7:30 p.m. meeting. "Citizens should have a right to come before this council and make their views known."

Under questioning from Daley, Mrs. Kern denied that she had been "grilled". Goodman was critical of several of the statements issued by building department employees. "When a citizen comes to this council she should not be the recipient of threats of legal action. Our employees should not be threatening legal action," he stated.

The right of the employees to respond to the charges was supported by Councilman Denis Berry who stated that city employees should not be subject to defamation and character assassination.

Councilman Edwin Presnell criticized the accuracy of the report of Mrs. Kern's comments which appeared in The Novi News.

"She did not say that it takes three girls an hour and a half to wash one coffee pot," stated Presnell. "If the reporter will get the journalistic wax out of his ears and cut his hair perhaps he will be able to hear what is going on," charged the councilman.

City Attorney David Fried stated that the public does have a right to be heard at public meetings and the press does have a right to report what is said at public hearings. Fried also stated, however, that in the instance that either the public or the press maliciously defames a person, there is legal recourse.

Moroccan Travelers Return

By NANCY DINGELDEY
Snake charmers, belly dancers, and Moroccan dancers were just a few of the sights seen by two Wixom travelers during a ten-day tour of Spain and Morocco. Sylvia Vangieson and Lillian Spencer were among a number of League of Woman Voters on a charter flight to the two countries. Actually only one day was spent in Tangiers, but that one day seemed to whet the appetite for more. The time was mainly spent in Spain along the Costa del Sol.

The two arrived in Malaga and were lodged in the quaint seacoast fishing village of Torremolinos. It was described as a lively place with lots of sidewalk cafes. Touring took up most of the time as the girls viewed ancient Roman ruins, a cathedral that took 200 years to complete, and Picasso's home. Mijas, a mountain village, was described as a lovely place with shops and gardens nestled in the Sierra Nevada mountains.

And who could go to Spain without seeing Granada and the Alhambra? The trip to Granada gave a lovely view of olive groves, almond trees, and, as Lillian put it, "a hundred shades of green" in the countryside. On seeing the Alhambra, Lillian said you could almost feel yourself being a part of the Arabian nights. The carvings were exquisite and the gardens, bedrooms and especially the harem were breathtaking.

Luncheon was at the Riff

Hotel where the group feasted on Kish-kish and other Moroccan goodies and were entertained by belly dancers, snake charmers, and Moroccan dancers.

And a rather funny thing happened to Lillian. While waiting for luncheon she happened to be next to a man whom she suddenly realized she knew, but couldn't place. Was he from Milford, Walled Lake, Brighton? The man kept answering "no," but seemed to enjoy the questions. Lillian insisted she knew him. He slipped a card from his wallet... "Oh well, I knew I knew you from somewhere." He was John Hogan, the Channel 4 newsman.

Teachers and staff members at Wixom Elementary were treated to a buffet luncheon on Thursday as they completed report cards and final record keeping for the year. The Wixom PTA hosted the buffet which was well received by all. Said one teacher, "It's usually a day when we're all going our separate ways and there's never the opportunity to say goodbyes and thank you's. The luncheon was really a perfect closing and such a lovely thought".

John Miner of Hopkins Drive underwent surgery last week at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn and will be there for at least another week before coming home.

Wesley McAtee Hospitalized

Former Wixom Mayor Wesley McAtee is in the intensive care unit of Pontiac's St. Joseph Hospital after suffering an apparent heart attack early Sunday morning. McAtee is expected to be hospitalized for at least a week.

The Finn Camp is preparing its annual Juhannus celebration this weekend. A program of Finnish dancers and music opens the celebration followed by an evening of regular dancing, lots of good Finnish food, and the lighting of the "koko," the gigantic bonfire which welcomes the long, warm days of summer.

Juhannus is traditionally an extended evening of gaiety which dates back to a pagan celebration welcoming summer. The whole com-

Plan Dazzling Fireworks Display

aerial pieces and dazzling ground displays will cap Jaycee Fourth of July festivities here.

According to fireworks display chairman Tom Waits, the display will be the largest ever fired off here and it probably will be the largest Fourth of July display in the metropolitan area.

Fireworks set-off time will be dusk on Thursday evening, July 4.

Spectators are urged to arrive early and to park in the high school parking lot where they may view the display from the south side of Eight Mile Road. The hillside north of Eight Mile Road and the pedestrian overpass will be closed to the public.

Following the conclusion of the display, the winner of the Jaycee drawing will be announced.

Jaycees have contacted community business firms and government agencies for financial assistance. Any citizen who would like to contribute to help Jaycees sponsor the annual community project may do so by mailing their contributions to the Jaycee president and Fourth of July finance chairman, Harvey Tull, at 43721 Galway Drive, Northville.

Meanwhile, additional units for the Fourth of July parade are being sought. Floats and antique cars are particularly needed, according to the parade chairman, Ron Bodner, who announced that John Mengel of the Detroit Pistons will be the parade marshal.

Area children again are being encouraged to decorate their bikes to ride in the parade. However, no motorized bikes of any kind will be permitted. This year, the bikes will ride at the front of the parade and will be judged at the Downs prior to the start. Thus, winning bikes will precede other bikes with their ribbons attached.

Novi Plans Mobile Recreation

Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission will be bringing "Mobile Recreation" to Novi.

The concept of "Mobile Recreation" involves bringing recreation to the community in mobile units. The Oakland County Parks and Recreation has purchased a substantial number of these mobile units and is making them available to the local communities.

Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission has arranged to bring two of the Oakland County units to Novi.

A Skatemobile will be in the parking lot of the Orchard Hills Elementary School on Tuesday, June 25, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

A Showmobile, which provides entertainment for all age groups, will be in the Orchard Hills School parking lot on Monday, July 1, from 7-9 p.m.

Novi's Parks and Recreation Commission has urged groups and organizations to view the units and submit comments about their value. The Commission will then be better prepared to evaluate this program for possible implementation into the City's program.

The Commission is also interested in providing additional units in the community this summer. In order to bring additional units to Novi, however, the Commission must find groups willing to sponsor the undertaking.

Representatives of groups interested in sponsoring a mobile unit in Novi are urged to contact Milan Obrenovich at 349-5126 for complete lists of available units and rental costs.
