

Groundbreaking October 15 for State Police Complex

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the $1.7 million Michigan State Police complex in Northville township has been tentatively set for October 15.

The long-awaited announcement came from Senator Carl Pursell, who has given the project strong legislative support.

It climaxes an effort to locate the multi-unit facility in Northville that began more than three years ago.

Senator Pursell revealed that he has received assurances—in writing—from the Governor's office that the project will be given top priority rating without further delay.

Final legislative approval was expected this week from the joint House-Senate capital outlay committee. Slated to attend this meeting was Senator Pursell and the project's architect, Karl C. Nelson.

An appropriation of $1 million had been approved about three months ago to get the project started, but progress had bogged down.

The 34,000-square-foot complex will include facilities for a state police post, crime laboratory and headquarters for the Detroit district.

It will be constructed on an 11½-acre site on the Seven Mile road Northville State Hospital grounds. Ownership of the property just west of the hospital was transferred from the Department of Mental Health to the State Police.

City Finds 117 Tax Bill Errors

Foul-Up In County, City Rolls

A total of 117 city of Northville taxpayers will be issued reduced tax notices.

The action was proposed by the city council Monday night and approved by the board of review Tuesday night after it was determined that some assessments appearing on the city tax notices issued July 1 were in error. All of the assessments were higher than they should have been.

City Manager Steven Walters explained to the council meeting in special session Monday night how the errors took place. The matter was brought to the attention of the council last week by a city property owner, James Huff of 500 West Cady, when he reported that his property assessment had been increased without notification.

The source of the problem goes back to the city-wide re-assessment program undertaken in 1973, the manager noted. At that time the local board of review considered a number of appeals and granted numerous reductions in the proposed assessments.

While the board of review intended these assessment reductions to be permanent, apparently the county assessing officials considered the board of review changes to be for one year only. Therefore at the county level, where tax bills are prepared, the assessments in 1974 reverted to the previous proposed assessments as set by the county.

Manager Walters acknowledged that the fault "is probably half ours" in not making it clear that the changes were permanent, or in not catching the changes when the 1974 roll was prepared by the county.

By charter the city must notify all local property owners of any increase in their property assessments so that they may appeal the hikes if they desire at the March meetings of the board of review.

There's some confusion, the manager admitted, as to whether local board of review

AMBULANCE service complaints will be discussed by the city council and the owner and manager of General Ambulance Service, the firm presently serving the community of Northville at next Monday night's council meeting. The city and township governments subsidize the local service by providing rent-free quarters. The council has received complaints on slow response time and the absence of standby vehicles from the community. City Manager Steven Walters warned the council Monday night that "it may not be possible to get better service without paying more money". It seems the ambulance business is experiencing a slump.

COUNCILMAN Wallace Nichols has donated 385 books from his collection to the Northville Public Schools. In accepting the donation Monday, school board members extended their thanks and appreciation to Nichols for his gift.

RETIRING School Board President Stanley Johnston was presented with an engraved gavel Monday, signifying his two terms as president during his eight years on the Northville board. In addition, board members passed a resolution honoring him for faithfully serving the district. Commented Johnston who was seated in the audience, "If you ever need me, I'll call you."

IT'S CHANGEOVER time in the auto industry. The last of the 1974 models will roll off assembly lines at Ford's Wixom plant Friday. And next Monday regular production of the first 1975 Thunderbirds, Mark IV's and Continentals will begin.

A NIGHT OF RACING awaits members of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce tonight (Thursday) at Northville Downs. Free box seats are available to Chamber members. Reservations may still be made by calling Margaret Zayti at 349-7640. Post time's at 8:15 p.m.

JUDGE'S CHOICE—Selected as the float most in keeping with the July 4th parade theme of American Nostalgia, Northville Newcomers' entry of the old Crow's Nest at Main and Center streets walked off with the Judge's Choice Trophy. A replica of the nest once used for traffic control, the Newcomers added a trio of bandmen to their model. More pictures and winners of the Jaycee-sponsored July 4th activities may be found on Page 8-C of The Record.

Ask Reprimand Review

School Denies Drivers' Grievance

Grievance filed by the Northville school bus drivers over lost wages and disciplinary action taken after the March ice storm was denied by the 4-0 vote of the Northville Board of Education.

In acting on the grievance before a crowd of more than 20 drivers and interested citizens, board members Dr. Orlo J. Robinson and Mrs. Karen Wilkinson urged the board "to get together and discuss further the point of reprimand." Both said they had strong reservations on the letter which had been placed in the drivers' files.

Members absent from Monday's session were Trustees Sylvia Gucken, John Hobart and Andrew Orphan. The grievance, filed by the International Union of Operating Engineers, centered around the ice storm on March 29 and the drivers' refusal to take the school buses out that day.

In denying the grievance, board members said they felt it was management's right to decide whether or not school would be held and whether or not bus drivers should work.

Trustee P. Roger Nieuwkoop said the key issue was "whether employees or the board has the right to decide whether unsafe conditions exist and whether buses should be run. I feel we as a board must make that decision. I cannot see the school district running on individuals deciding whether or not they will work."

Joseph Jordan, union representative, told the board that he believed the union members should have the right to decide whether or not they would refuse an order to work and not lose pay.

"Don't employees have the right to say they will not jeopardize their lives and the lives of children by a management order?" he asked.

Nieuwkoop said that if the drivers refused to perform a service "they did so at their own risk and should accept the consequences. Otherwise there would be chaos."

Jordan maintained that the employees knew the condition of the roads better than the school administrators did. He said that the drivers "had the responsibility to the employer to say no based on their first hand knowledge."

Superintendent Raymond Spear, who said that the responsibility "ultimately lies with me," said he would "not knowingly jeopardize employees. This clearly was a work stoppage and the conditions of the roads were beyond the control of the school district."

If drivers refuse to work or if conditions beyond the control of the district mean there is no work for them, the contract states they will not be paid for that day.

Spear admitted that his decision to hold school March 29 but delay buses by one hour "might not have been the wisest decision the superintendent made but it happened and a contract is a contract."

"They agreed in the contract that they will not stop work and if they do not perform work they will not be paid," Spear said.

Referring to the letter placed in the files of the drivers, Spear said the letter stated that "we did not appreciate employees telling us when school should keep and when it will not."

Dr. Robinson, who made the motion to deny the grievance told the board that after "another winter, we should take a hard look at the reprimands. They were unfortunate all the way around."

Responding to a statement from a woman who said she

Board Elects Rinehart

By unanimous action of the board members present Monday, Martin Rinehart was elected to serve as president of the Northville Board of Education.

Serving as vice-president for the coming school year will be Dr. Orlo J. Robinson with John Hobart named secretary and P. Roger Nieuwkoop elected treasurer. Absent from Monday's meeting were Mrs. Sylvia Gucken, Hobart and Andrew Orphan.

Following his election, Rinehart named board members to serve on the three board subcommittees.

Dr. Robinson will chair the personnel committee with Nieuwkoop and Mrs. Gucken serving as members. Nieuwkoop will chair the finance committee with will be headed by Hobart with Orphan and Mrs. Gucken completing the membership. Rinehart will serve as ex-officio member of all committees.

In other organization business, board members retained the second and fourth Mondays of each month as the official meeting date. Meetings begin at 8 p.m. in the board offices, 303 West Main Street.

Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit was named as the official depository for Northville Schools with the treasurer directed to deposit the funds received in that bank.

The director of business and finance and appropriate principals were also authorized to sign activities account checks.

MARTIN RINEHART

For Township

Set Candidates' Night

A Candidates' Night for those seeking Northville Township posts will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 23, in the new township offices under sponsorship of the local League of Women Voters.

Candidates who have entered the primary race are being invited to participate and will be given three minutes each to answer the league's question: "If elected, what are your priorities for the township and how would you implement them?"

After a 10-minute break at the conclusion of the answering of the league's question, members of the audience will be able to submit questions. Answers will be limited to two minutes.

Mrs. Pat Wright will officiate as the league moderator with Mrs. Annalee Mathes as timekeeper. Mrs. Carol Ann Ayers will be in charge of audience questions.

Van Wagner-Moselle Vows Read

Jon Byron VanWagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. VanWagner of 39736 Village Wood Road in Novi, claimed Joanne Mari Moselle as his bride in a double ring Nuptial Mass June 22 in Gwin, Michigan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dean Moselle of Gwin.

The Reverend George Pernaski officiated at the 3 p.m. service at St. Anthony's Church in Gwin, which is located in the Upper Peninsula. White gladioli, yellow daisies and baby's breath decorated the main altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white organza fashioned with a fitted bodice with Camelot sleeves above a high-rise waistline. Venice lace applique trimmed the slash neckline and sleeves. The flounced skirt extended into a chapel train. Venice lace also bordered chapel-length veil of illusion held by a Camelot cap.

The bridal bouquet was a double cascade of white carnations, daisies and yellow sweetheart roses with English ivy.

The bride's sister, Kim, was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Mary Jo Bray of Norway, Michigan, and Kathy Kozlowski of Stephenson, both college roommates, and Sue Wachter of Gwin, a high school classmate.

All wore matching, Empire-style gowns of yellow-and-green plaid voile. They wore long-sleeved cutaway jackets over sleeveless bodices. The flounced skirts repeated the style of the bride's gown.

They carried white wicker parasols trimmed with yellow streamers and containing yellow and white daisies, baby's breath and green star flowers. Yellow streamers also decorated their large, white floppy brimmed hats.

Lisa Moselle, another sister of the bride, was flower girl in a dress matching the bridal attendants'. She wore a headpiece of yellow daisies with yellow satin streamers. The bridegroom's brother, Thomas Edward VanWagner, was best man. Bridgroom attendants were Jerry Courtney, Doug Schott and James Parker VanWagner, another brother of the bridegroom. Don Maki and Hal VanWagner ushered.

A dinner reception with dancing followed at the Chalet in Marquette for 200 guests including out-of-towners from Novi, Detroit and Tecumseh, Michigan, Chicago, and Montreal and Hurley, Wisconsin.

After spending the early summer in lower Michigan the newlyweds will tour the western states in August. They met at Michigan Technical University in Houghton where the bridegroom's two brothers and the bride attended school.

The new Mrs. VanWagner is a 1972 graduate of Gwin High School and received her degree in nursing from St. Joseph Community Hospital School of Nursing in Hancock this year.

The bridegroom is a 1969 Novi High School graduate and received his BA degree from Eastern Michigan University in December, 1973. In September he will be teaching at Tecumseh High School.

The bride expects to continue working as a registered nurse at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

MANDY SCHRODER

Troth Told

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Schroder of 18485 Ridge Road, Northville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mandy Renee, to John Andrew Chedrick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Chedrick, Sr., of 860 Scott, also Northville.

The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Northville High School and presently is employed with William J. Morrison, Jr., CPA, in Plymouth. Her fiancé, a 1972 NHS graduate, presently is employed with the D & C Store as assistant manager. He also has his own business in Northville, John's Mower-Minibike Sales and Service.

No immediate wedding plans have been made.

Bus Tour Group Visits Frankenmuth

By JEAN DAY

THE HIGH COST of gasoline may be in part responsible, but many area residents are "discovering" Frankenmuth, Michigan, the little town just south and east of Saginaw famous for chicken dinners.

Northville Senior Citizens who have made reservations for next Wednesday, July 17, however, have no transportation worries—they are going by bus.

Mrs. Hazel Sharron, trip chairman, is requesting those club members who hold reservations to be at Kerr House at 9 a.m. and because there's a waiting list she asks anyone who does not plan to go to call her at 349-1514 to cancel at least four days in advance. There will be two bus loads.

A newer attraction at Frankenmuth is the Fischer Opera Haus in which "Music Hall Tonight" is being presented through August 10 by the theatre arts department of Saginaw Valley College with performances at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and at 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Located directly behind the Frankenmuth Bavarian Inn, the opera haus has a history dating back to 1894. It now is air-conditioned in a renovation begun by the community a couple of years ago. For ticket information call 517-652-6106 from noon to 7 p.m.

The program is turn-of-the-century entertainment with songs, dances and comedy.

FOURTH OF JULY stay-at-home families crowded downtown Northville to watch the Jaycee-sponsored annual parade and stayed on for the barbecue and the Mill Race Village flea market.

The Mill Race event and lemonade sale by the Northville Historical Society added $800 to the society treasury, Mrs. Nancy Bohn reported Monday. Northville Girl Scouts, she added, helped with the lemonade sale—with thirsty parade viewers purchasing $140 worth.

Winners of the two brass rubbings were Connie Qualman, 343 High Street, who received the figure of the gentleman in black-on-gold, and Nancy Turnock, 39900 Sunbury, who won the figure in relief. The former rubbing was framed by Northville Camera Shop with Bi-County Glass supplying the glass.

Members of Northville High's Class of 1977 also did a brisk hot dog and brownie business at the Mill Race, raising almost $50 for the class treasury, at a booth in the midst of tables of antiques.

SECOND ANNUAL Fourth of July picnic of Northville Colony Estates was preceded by a parade of bikes.

Little Kevin Kachozka took first ribbon in the best-decorated tricycle category while Brenda Lee won first ribbon for best-decorated bicycle.

About a dozen games were played by children of the subdivision while adults vied in balloon competition. Andy and Barb Lesperance took first place in balloon throwing while Bruce Lamb and his son, Phillip, won a first in egg-tossing.

The social committee reports that in spite of the change in weather a hot dog and potluck casserole feast was served...with plans being made for a repeat event next year.

AN URGENT REQUEST for volunteer drivers, published last week from the Michigan Cancer Foundation, is being repeated this week. The foundation's service chairman explains that a Northville Cancer patient is in desperate need of transportation for weekly treatments at Ford Hospital. In addition, she must go to St. Mary's Hospital for needed blood counts.

Her husband also is ill and the foundation has exhausted the resources of the local FISH volunteers, it reports. Anyone who is willing to give this service is asked to call the foundation at 565-1440 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. week days.

OUTDOOR BAND concerts to which the community is invited are being held at 8 p.m. the next two Tuesdays, July 16 and 23, at Northville High School. Light and popular music will be played by the high school band under the direction of Robert Williams. In event of bad weather, the concerts will be given inside.

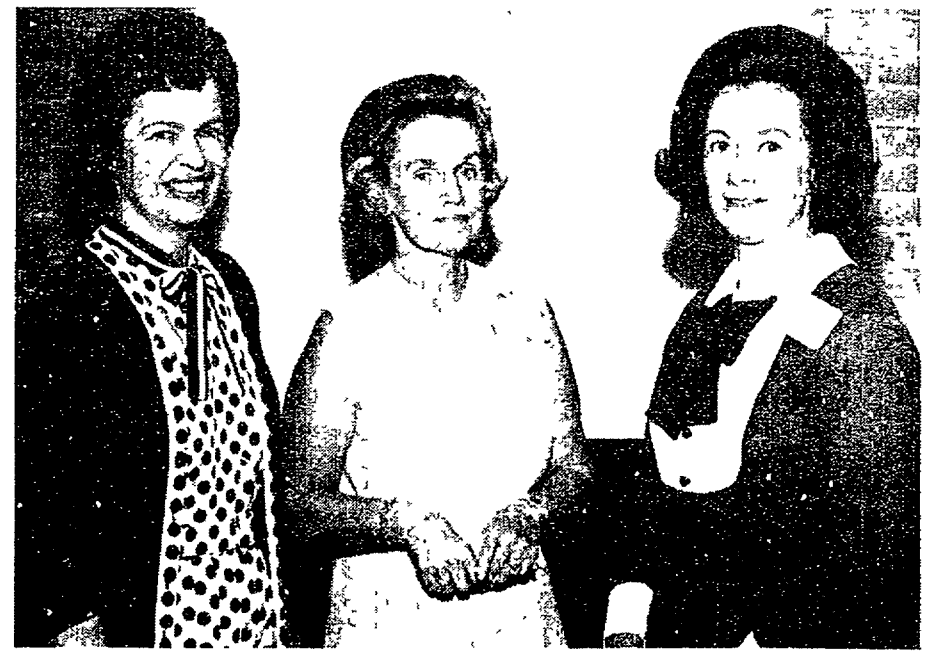

High school band students rehearse through the summer to present the concerts and are hoping that parents and friends will "come and hear."

"POSSUM TROT"—if the sign with this inscription at 42120 West Seven Mile Road has intrigued you, it will be of interest to note that owners of the property which has long borne the name now are using it as the name of their antique shop.

Barbara and Jay Bako report that they have been given permission by the Northville Township board of appeals to open an antique shop in their home, located one mile east of Northville Road on the north side of Seven Mile.

This is the third summer the Bakos have lived in the blue-shuttered farmhouse which dates to 1886. They have kept the name for the property bestowed by former owners who, Mrs. Bako understands, selected it from a Carolina golf course. There's also a town of that name in Kentucky, she adds.

In addition to being licensed to carry accessory items (fine art glass, china and pewter) the shop will display original works of several local artists, including Jacqueline Arant, Eve Samra, Evelyn Crabtree, Lillian Kortilla, Marilyn McIlrath, all of whom who have previously exhibited professionally. The shop will be open Friday, Saturday and Sunday from noon to 6 p.m.

Bea Farber Breaks Record

By JEAN DAY

When the two-minute flat mile record was set at Northville Downs the first Saturday night of the summer meet, June 29, the driver was Beatrice Farber of Fowlerville driving Easy Irv.

In addition to breaking a long-standing record for the mile pace at the downs, she more than proved "there's a place for women in harness racing."

In case this sounds like "women's liberation" at the track, however, it isn't necessarily any "big thing" as women are employed in many areas — from grooms in the barns and ticket sellers to the clerk of the course, according to mutuel manager L. W. Snow, Jr.

In addition to Driver Farber, there are two other women, a mother-daughter team of June and Jane Weller, who come from Ohio to race at the track.

As the track completed its first four nights of the 24-night summer meet, records were broken twice in one night. A two-minute and four-fifths second mile pace set in 1960 was broken by two-fifths of a second in the fifth race by John MacDonell driving Tim Valley.

Then came the ninth race with Easy Irv's two-minute mile. Last summer Driver Farber and Easy Irv set the same mark at Jackson Raceway.

Keeping official count of track records is a young woman from Wheeling, West Virginia, Nancy Hartfile, who is holding down her first job as clerk of the course.

While serving as program director's assistant at the Hazel Park track at the fall meet, Mrs. Hartfile watched the clerk and "got involved" in charting times. Finally, she took and passed the United States Track Association test for clerk of course.

Mrs. Hartfile points out that she is "filling in" at the Northville track as this is a union job and she is serving here and then at Detroit Race Course as acting clerk, substituting for clerks on leave of absence.

Two girls assist the clerk in charting race times of each horse. Together with information on earnings, yearly to lifetime, these are recorded on track records as well as on every horse's eligibility papers.

Nancy, who was just 21 when she took a job in the kitchen at the small Wheeling Downs track, has in the past five years worked in many capacities at tracks while supporting a small daughter.

Among jobs she has done at tracks is selling at the mutuel windows.

Northville Downs presently has three local women who are ticket sellers at $2 windows — Juanita Gaab, Helen Scott and Elizabeth Kalep.

Mrs. Gaab, a Northville resident at 105 Fairbrook, has worked at the Downs since June, 1970, and explains that she works where she's needed — at the windows or in the ticket room. She adds that track employees are not supposed to bet and that she never does.

Another employee who has been with the Downs since the track opened, Mrs. Dorothy Widmaier, says she also makes a point of never betting — "I don't like to work for nothing."

Working at the Downs began as an extra part-time job for Mrs. Widmaier in 1943. She always has handled box seat sales and remembers that originally there were just 50 such seats. Now the seats number 159. A great many, she notes, are season boxes with tickets being sent at the beginning of each meet.

When the track opened, Mrs. Widmaier recalls, employees at Depositors State Bank here were recruited to work part-time. She has continued ever since, working about three hours a night during meets.

Clara Snow, who is among the women working in the office, also is a dining room hostess with Lois Morris.

Mary Parlato is in charge of track programs. Margaret Zayti is well-known as recording secretary for Northville Downs.

Most track jobs, Snow points out, are covered under the Service Employees International Union, and are available by seniority. This is why, he adds, women sellers are employed at $2 windows.

The track, he says, looks for well-groomed, courteous women for the jobs, which start at $29 a night. The downs finds that women seem to have "more patience" at the selling windows. Most women, Snow says — and those interviewed agree — do not want to be cashiers at payout windows, although the salaries in this area run to $41 nightly.

There are women cashiers at other area tracks, he says, but not here.

Punching the wrong number if a customer at the selling window has been misunderstood seldom is a problem, according to the women who have sold at Northville Downs.

"Usually someone else will come along and want that ticket," they say.

Since grooms are hired by the stables, the track officially has no count of how many women are employed this way. With many harness horses coming from family farms, rooms often are family members, Snow notes, as he guesses that there could be 200 women working. They are wives, daughters and sweethearts of owners in most cases, he says.

No matter whether they're working with the horses or at the betting windows, the women who are employed at the downs share the feeling expressed by Juanita Gaab that "it's pleasant work" with good pay and excitement every night. It's not surprising that Snow says he has many applications from women for work at the Downs.

MUTUEL SELLER—Mrs. Betty Durham of Farmington is among the women who sell $2 tickets at Northville Downs meets. She's been working there for four years.

CLERK OF COURSE—High above the stands in the officials' box Mrs. Nancy Hartfile keeps complete records in quadruplicate of Downs' activity as official clerk of the course.

Announce Birth

Announcement is made of the birth of a son, Jonathan Richard, Saturday, July 6, to the Reverend and Mrs. Richard Henderson, of 121 East Baseline. The Reverend Henderson is the assistant pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

The baby is their second child and joins a little sister, Jennifer, 3, at home. He was born at Providence Hospital, weighing 8 pounds, 11 ounces.

Grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. J.H. Henderson of Pittsburgh and Mr. and Mrs. Robert White of Detroit.

GALA DAYS OFFICIALS—President Dave McCarthy (left) and Chairman Dave Creedon look over preparations before the opening of Gala Days '74 earlier this week. The annual community affair, sponsored by the Novi Jaycees, features rides, games and attractions for the whole family. Gala Days continue through Saturday, July 13 from noon to 11 p.m. each day.

Gala Days Affair Swings Into Gear

Novi residents are now in the midst of Gala Days '74. Since the opening of the annual community fair Tuesday, hundreds of residents have been entertained by the extravaganza of games and rides and have been thrilled by activities which those who missed the opening days will still have a chance to enjoy.

Gala Days, sponsored each summer by the Novi Jaycees, is located on the field at the northwest corner of 10 Mile and Meadowbrook Roads. Gala Days will be continuing through Saturday, July 13, and activities begin each day at noon, ending at 11 p.m.

Opening day, hundreds of on-lookers watched "the greatest motorcycle leap ever seen in our fair city," according to Gala Days chairmen Dave Creedon and Jim Deamud. Persons missing the jump have another chance today (Thursday) at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 5 p.m. Action motorcycle of Walled Lake presents the demonstrations. Beginning yesterday and continuing today, expert equestrian jumping and riding demonstrations are in full swing. Action begins at 7 p.m.

A pony pulling contest and a fireworks display promise to make Friday one of the big days of the fair.

Nearly two dozen steeds, provided by the Monroe Pony Pulling Association will be attempting to move four tons of concrete blocks. The pull will start at 7 p.m. and continues through 9 p.m.

At 9:30 p.m. the Jaycees will sponsor a half hour fireworks display. Assistance will be given by the Novi Fire Department.

If bad weather intervenes, the fireworks will be rescheduled for Saturday, the final night of Gala Days '74.

Bozo the Clown, well known red-haired television personality, will stroll the midway from noon to 1 p.m. Saturday and will meet with youngsters and pose for pictures. Bozo will also help gather children interested in entering a watermelon-eating contest.

The Novi Lions Club arranged for the arrival of Bozo, who lives in Novi.

Besides arranging for the scheduled special events, the Jaycees have lined up 12 major rides designed for persons of all ages.

Oakland Schools Tap DeWaard

LaVerne DeWaard, immediate past president of the Novi Board of Education, was handed a new gavel this week.

DeWaard was elected president Tuesday afternoon of the Board of Education of the Oakland Schools, Intermediate School District of Oakland County.

A member of the local Novi board of education for the past six years and president for the past two years, DeWaard has served on the county's intermediate body for four years.

Presently, he's a candidate for the Republican nomination August 6 to the house of representatives from the 24th district. If nominated and elected in November, DeWaard would have to resign his schools posts.

At the Tuesday meeting at which DeWaard was elected, the intermediate board also set July 23 as a public hearing for the county district's four budgets. They include: $2,823,538 for general fund; $2,618,011 for special education; $503,156 for vocational education; and cooperative programs, $933,293.

Citizens Asked To Recommend Millage Needs

Because of the city's present financial plight, Novi's city council has directed the Citizens Committee on Municipal Finances to recommend how much of a charter millage increase the city should request from the voters this fall.

The council met in special session with several finance committee members Monday to discuss the matter and the direction which the finance committee should take when considering possible solutions to the problem—and costs to the city.

Mayor Robert Daley said afterward that the recommendation is being requested in order to have a firm financial basis for the request when it goes to the voters. Former councilman Donald Young and Jacob Durling, both finance committee members, have warned the council previously that the city may have trouble getting any millage increases okayed.

Present at the special session were Mayor Daley, Councilmen George Athas and Philip Goodman, as well as City Manager Harold Saunders and some finance committee members including Durling.

Thrown out as possible alternatives or variables which the committee should consider when making its millage decision included personnel cutbacks, four day work weeks, across the board pay cuts, purchasing of services from the county including police and assessments, and better regulation of city purchasing procedures.

"If we ask too much, they'll turn it down," warned Goodman. "If we ask too little, we won't have enough money to run the city."

The millage increase would result in added revenue for the 1975-76 budget but would not help during the present fiscal year, it was indicated.

The finance committee was also asked to give recommendations for changing the 1974-75 budget to help solve the financial problem.

Main discussion centered on whether the ratio of city employees to city residents is as high as it should be and whether the growth in city population and demand for services has resulted in a similar growth in the quality of services and in the employee-resident ratio.

Athas said he doubts the figure has gone up much in the last two years.

"You can't add employees without a place to put them in," said Saunders.

The Novi manager estimated that the city could go three years without having to add space "on the one assumption that the library gets their building built and we take over that space."

Saunders said he foresees upper level administration moving into the old library facilities.

Those present also questioned increased costs necessary to maintain the present level of services in the future.

"How can we maintain the same quality of services as last year," asked Goodman. "If we are slipping, how much will it take to stop it?"

Goodman noted that only department heads can tell how much money and how many people will be needed to meet the increasing demand by residents for services.

The city should not discuss laying off employees because of a need for new buildings if new space is not needed for three years, the councilman said.

"We want to prevent layoffs at all costs," added Goodman. "We'll have a big fat strike on our hands."

He suggested that "if push comes to shove," across the board pay cuts will be needed.

Mayor Daley said that because there is no money in reserve, it may be necessary to lay-off employees in August.

"The question is, should they be laid-off to build the reserve," said the mayor.

Councilmen also touched on the possibility of buying assessment, as well as police services from Oakland

Wilkins Elected Board President

Robert Wilkins was elected president of the Novi Board of Education at an organizational meeting of the new board Monday. He succeeds LaVerne DeWaard.

Other new officers are Gilbert Henderson, vice president; Ray Warren, secretary; and Mrs. Sharon Pelchat, treasurer. The slate was elected unanimously by the five members present. DeWaard and Mrs. Pelchat were absent.

James Helmer was sworn in for his first term on the board, a four-year post won in the June 10 election, while Warren, veteran secretary to the board, began his third term, a two-year one.

One of the first actions of the new board was to accept a check from the Novi Jaycees in the amount of $1,012 for special education equipment. The check represented proceeds from the Jaycees' annual jelly week project and was presented by Harvey Larson and Dave McCarthy. The board named National Bank of Detroit and West Oakland Bank as depositories for the 1974-75 school year.

The Birmingham firm of Janz and Knight, which has served as the district's certified public accountants for more than 18 years, was reappointed for the 1974-75 year.

Attorney Frederick O. Knauer, legal advisor to the board for the past five years, was renamed district attorney for the upcoming year at the same salary as last year, a $4,800 annual fee with $600 for expenses, with the understanding that the retainer is not intended to cover litigation or prolonged tenure hearings.

The board also adopted unanimously a resolution to qualify the 1974 school building and site bonds under the state school bond loan program.

It was pointed out that in the June, 1973, election the district approved a bond issue in the amount of $13,500,000 to build and equip a new senior high building and two elementary buildings as well as an addition to Village Oaks elementary and remodeling of the present senior high building and to acquire sites.

In other action the board approved the request of Eric Hansor, a June, 1974, Novi High School graduate to hold in abeyance remuneration from the Richard Erwin Scholarship he has been awarded until he completes his two-year military commitment with the stipulation that he was to start using the scholarship by the school year 1976-77.

Council Releases 5 K&B Permits

City Manager Harold Saunders reported this week that some relief had been granted Kaufman and Broad, developers of Village Oaks, in the council-imposed ban on occupancy permits.

Because of a controversy over the design and installation of the Cranbrook Drive bridge within the subdivision, occupancy permits have been held up in Village Oaks.

Manager Saunders said that "move-in problems for about five families who have sold their old homes and have furniture ready to move in" prompted Mayor Robert Daley to instruct the city manager to poll the council on increasing the occupancy limit. The manager said that five of the six councilmembers polled voted in favor of granting five additional occupancy permits. Councilman Louis Campbell is out of town and was unavailable.

Manager Saunders pointed out that the homes must still pass final inspection by the building department before occupancy permits are issued. He said that K & B has about 50 homes nearly ready for occupancy, but that until the occupancy permit ban is lifted only 25 can be occupied.

"Actually, the council has accepted K. & B's bridge design, which will be wide enough to permit traffic flow without restriction," the manager noted. "But until a couple of engineering problems are resolved, the ban remains. I expect these to be cleared up soon and for the council to take action on the question at the July 15 meeting," Manager Saunders concluded.

Kratz, Barr Get Pay Hikes

Salary and annuity increases totaling $4,000 and $3,000 respectively were voted for Superintendent Gerald Kratz and Assistant Superintendent William Barr by the Novi Board of Education Monday.

Salaries for the district's top administrators, which had not been set when other administration salaries were considered earlier, were voted unanimously by the five board members present at the annual organizational meeting.

Dr. Kratz was voted a continuing three-year contract at an annual salary of $29,840 and a paid-up yearly annuity of $4,160. Last year he received $28,000 and a $3,000 annuity.

Dr. Barr will get $25,250 and a yearly annuity of $3,250, up from $23,000 and $2,500 last year on a continuing two year contract. In addition each will be provided with an automobile for which the district will pay insurance.

Milan Obrenovich, director of community education, was granted an increase of $1,622 to $20,250, from $18,628 last year.

The salary increases, which the top administrators have elected to take in part in the paid up annuities, represent total percentage increases of 7.75 percent for Dr. Kratz and 8.5 percent for Dr. Barr.

The board voted to continue to cooperate in sharing part of the community school director's time with the City of Novi which will pay $4,000 of his salary and will be allocated 20 percent of his time to administer city parks and recreation programs.

In recommending approval of the arrangement Superintendent Kratz pointed out that he considered it a "fair agreement within the city's limited resources."

The board also approved hiring of five teachers and a middle school counselor as well as a salary adjustment for Sara Sass, a teacher who now has earned her MA degree and will receive $14,166.

Barbara Carmer was hired as counselor with a MA degree and seven years' experience at a salary of $14,166.

New teachers are Gregory Balko, BS degree, a year's experience, for Village Oaks, $9,900; Gregory Carnacchi, BS, no experience, Village Oaks, fourth grade, $8,480; Leslie Condon, BS, Middle School, home economics, no experience, $8,480; Lynn Eden, BS, Middle School, sixth grade, no experience, $8,480; and Rebecca Hurst, BS, Orchard Hills, first grade, no experience but a former student teacher in Novi, $8,480.

The board noted that in hiring Balko and Carnacchi

It's Thursday Nights For School Meetings

Novi School Board voted Monday at its annual organizational meeting to change its meeting dates to the first and third Thursdays of each month at 8 p.m.

The first meeting of each month is to be held in the district's administration offices at Taft and 11 Mile roads with the second to rotate among the other five school buildings in the district during the time schools are in session.

In voting to meet at the Village Oaks was adding men to the elementary school staff.

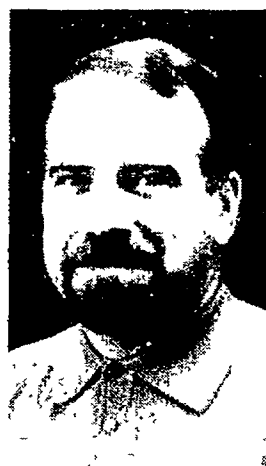

The board also approved Title I summer salaries for the program now in progress ranging from $7.50 an hour for administration to $5.50 and $5 hourly for teachers and clerical and paraprofessional help at $2.50 to $2.86 hourly.

Absent were board members LaVerne DeWaard and Sharon Pelchat.

three elementaries and the middle and high school buildings, the board expressed the hope that it will bring "more participation" from school staffs and parents at each school.

In changing the meeting night from Monday to Thursday the board indicated it was cooperating with news media who would have more time to prepare stories.

Next meeting was set for 8 p.m. Thursday, July 18, in the board offices.

STRAWBERRY NEST — Hidden from the eyes of hundreds of strawberry pickers during the past weeks at the Howard Meyer strawberry farm at 48120 West Eight Mile Road has been this duck's nest. It was discovered last week when a berry picker "picked" the hidden mother duck's tail instead of a berry. The startled bird flew, but later returned to the nest, reports Howard Meyer, Jr.; but the startled berry picker's almost-full basket was completely scattered. The farm owners now have roped off the nest area until the eggs hatch.

Name Holdsworth To New Position

Fred Holdsworth has been named coordinator of career and vocational education for the Northville School District. Appointment of Holdsworth to the new post was announced Monday by Superintendent Raymond Spear.

In addition, Holdsworth will assist Spear in working with federal projects and in coordinating the school district's year-round school program.

In March, after serving as principal of Northville High for eight years, Holdsworth asked to step down from the post and be reassigned within the district.

His salary for the new position will be $25,000, down from $26,775 earned last year as principal. Spear said the salary reflects a lower administrative level.

In commenting on Holdsworth's appointment, Spear said "Fred has the experience and educational background which will lend itself to the new assignment. I hope that he will be able to develop some real fine programs in both career and vocational education in addition to those we already have in the district."

Position of high school principal has been posted for applicants and Spear said he has received 15 applications, all from outside the school district. He added that he hopes to make a decision on filling the principalship by August 1.

Following that appointment, applications will be taken for assistant high school principal, a post vacated when David Longridge was named principal of Cooke Middle School. Mrs. Barbara Campbell will continue as the second assistant principal at the high school.

OK Thrifty Acres' Permit to Fill Site

A special meeting of the Northville Township Planning Commission was held last week at the request of Meijers Thrifty Acres which was seeking permission to fill land at Haggerty and Eight Mile roads where it plans to build.

The firm sought the special session, the first since the commission set up rules for such meeting for developers who do not wish to wait until the once-a-month meeting on the last Tuesday of each month

The $500 fee was paid by the developer who stated he is anxious to obtain fill from the expressway excavation on Haggerty at this time.

A temporary land fill permit was recommended to be granted at the township meeting July 11 with township engineer William Mosher and planner George Vilcan to inspect the fill plan and the developer to submit a detailed plan at the regular July 30 meeting.

"In keeping with the tradition of downtown Northville"

OUT OF PAST—The three-story building at the right once stood on the site of what today is the Ford Motor Company valve plant in Northville. Oldtimers say the building at the left is the depot where raw milk from area farms was collected. The three-story brick plant, built in 1896 as a wood-working shop operated by J. A. Dubuar Manufacturing Company, turned out wheelbarrows, beet cutters, wood pulley blocks, etc. Some of the equipment in this plant is preserved today at Greenfield Village. Henry Ford purchased the property in 1919 and the following year started producing valves there. In 1936 the present Ford plant was built at a cost of about $750,000.

OUT OF PAST—This small house once stood on the East side of South Main Street — south of where the Northville well is located. Other houses once stood there, too, according to Mary Irene Smith of Northville, shown here with her mother, Gladys Cooper Smith. The hill behind the house is the railroad embankment. The women are standing about where the north-bound lane of the Main Street boulevard is now located. Address of the house at the time was 27 Plymouth Avenue (later named Main). The house was eventually moved to River Street and later razed for race track expansion.

Citizens To Study Millage

County.

"Nothing is sacrosanct," warned Athas.

Novi should look into its purchasing procedures, he added, noting that Milford buys patrol cars through the Oakland County purchasing department.

"They get a price on police cars you wouldn't believe," Athas said.

Saunders added that the "city and schools could go into joint purchasing of paper."

Athas suggested that the city auditors, the firm of Arthur Young, should give some pointers.

"Every year they knocked our purchasing procedure," he said.

Goodman said he sees one of the main problems as an undermining of the power of administrative heads by the council.

"It's a question of smoothing out the chain of command," he said. "So many of the departments are run at the whim of the council."

He indicated that on some financial matters, employees go over the heads of their administrative bosses by going to the council.

Mayor Daley, said afterward that he expects the citizens finance committee will do a worthy job in its mission and called them a "blue ribbon financial committee."

Wixom Council Seeks Applicants for Seat

Wixom residents interested in being considered for the vacancy on the Wixom City Council are invited to make application to City Clerk June Buck.

A special meeting of the council was set at Tuesday's meeting for 8 p.m. August 20 to make the formal selection to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mayor Gilbert Willis and the assumption of the mayor's post by Councilman Val Vangieson.

The council asked that applications be made before the first August council meeting, August 13.

At its next meeting, July 23, the council is to receive reports from City Engineer Larry Pate on water, drainage and roads.

At the suggestion of Planning Commission Chairman Gerald Hieber a motion was adopted to be sent to Commerce Township Board of Trustees objecting to the request for an extension of Stratford Villa trailer park for 600 more spaces. Increased traffic and safety problems that would result were cited.

City Auditor Robert Clark gave an informal review of the city's May budget, stating that "the administration has exercised financial responsibility" and that the city would appear to have a surplus of $108,000 on June 30. Clark promised an early year-end audit as a result of the review, which had been requested by the council as it changed mayors.

Presbyterians Plan Dialogue

A dialogue on the theme, "Where Do We Stand?", is to be presented at 9:30 a.m. this Sunday, July 14, at First Presbyterian Church of Northville by the Reverend Lloyd Brasure and the assistant pastor, the Reverend Richard Henderson.

In the conversation between the ministers at the Sunday morning service, such questions as, "Our Church—Where Do We Fit in with the National Church and with the Whole Church of Jesus Christ (in the ecumenical sense)?" will be explored.

It's Gala Days

Both today (Thursday) and Friday from 2-5 p.m. are "Kiddie Days" and youngsters will be allowed to ride the fun machines at special cut-rate prices. Rides include a merry-go-round, dodge-em cars and a 90-foot ferris wheel.

Also on the midway is a "Fun House" and a myriad of games of skill and chance which are proving a challenge to those present.

A "Novi Community Tent" is also on the midway and provides information and services. Several non-profit community oriented organizations are sponsoring the tent.

"The Lions' Den," named after the sponsoring Novi Lions Club, is a beer tent which provides food, drink and entertainment for the entire family. Also served at the "Den" are hotdogs, french fries, cokes and other food.

Pitchers who want to practice their trade while having some fun can take careful aim at the target, attempting to drench persons manning the popular "dunk tank."

Parking for the annual Gala Days is available free of charge on Meadowbrook Road, north of 10 Mile.

"POEMS" by Mark Dixon, written by local author, is available by calling 349-5441, or writing to Sanfrid Dixon, 409 Larry Drive, Northville. Enclose $1.95 for book and mailing.

LaLeche Sets July 18 Meeting

LaLeche League of Northville-Plymouth will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday, July 18, at the Plymouth home of Kay Williams, 9437 Tavistock Drive, with the topic to be "Baby Arrives: the Family and the Breastfed Baby."

Interested expectant or new nursing mothers are invited with babies always welcome.

Mrs. Robert (Charlene) Frellick of Northville is to attend LaLeche League's fifth international convention in Chicago July 11 - 13 as local delegate.

The convention, planned to provide opportunity for parents, doctors and nurses associated with the league to share information, will feature a keynote address by Dr. Derrick Jeffiffe, pediatric nutritionist.

Dr. Paul Gyorgy of Philadelphia is to discuss his research on mother's milk. Other featured speakers include Dr. Lee Salk.

News From Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Representative

"If there were an award for the legislator who receives the most unsolicited advice, Colleen would get it," quipped Representative Doug Trezise. He was, of course, referring to the House of Representatives newest member, Republican Colleen House. Colleen took her seat last week after winning a special election in a surprise upset in Bay City to fill the vacancy left by Democrat J. Bob Traxler's election to Congress.

Representative Trezise has the seat just ahead of our attractive and personable new member, and I am just behind her. Thus we have been in a unique position to observe with some amusement the unending parade of legislators of all ages and both parties who somehow find a reason to wander down our aisle and then stop to offer her words of congratulations and advice.

To say that the arrival of Representative House has created a stir would be an understatement. In addition to her personal attributes of youth and enthusiasm combined with dedication and intelligence, her election has come to symbolize new hope for Republican candidates around the Capitol Building dreading the unknown implications of Watergate on state races. If a qualified but largely unknown Republican can win in a district which previously elected Democrats by 2 to 1 margins, then there is hope for all of us.

Her victory was one of two for Republicans this year in the only two special elections outside of heavily Democratic Detroit which did not involve Congressional seats. In the other race, State Representative Jack Welborn won the 21st District Senate seat in Kalamazoo to replace Senator Anthony Stamm who died following a stroke.

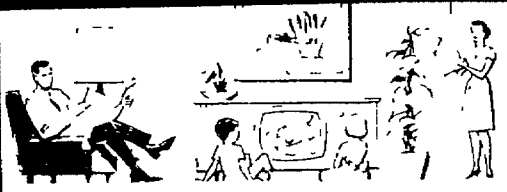

It is my belief that these victories demonstrate that voters are not going to let events in Washington dictate their votes for officials at other levels of government. They've shown that voters are going to take a closer look at all candidates and base their decisions on the qualifications of each one individually, regardless of political party.

I feel that this is a healthy trend and that it will result in better government at all levels.

In the meantime, Democratic leaders have fresh evidence with which to remind their followers of the dangers of overconfidence. This week there appeared on my desk a memo from the Speaker's office. It advised each of us of the new secretary, telephone number, and office location of "Representative" Fred Voisine. Voisine was Colleen House's opponent.

Plan Improvements At State Facilities

Senator Carl Pursell (R-14th District), a member of the powerful Appropriations Committee has reported on Senate budget actions that he supported that provide substantial funding for Capital Improvements in our area.

The Hawthorn Center received over 2½ million dollars which will enable construction to be completed at the Children's Unit of the Center.

Northville State Hospital received over $400,000 and the Plymouth Center for Human Development received $100,000 both for facility improvements.

$260,000 has been provided in Recreational funds for improvements in fishing facilities and bicycle trails at Maybury State Park, the first State Park to be located in Wayne County.

"The Appropriations Committee succeeded in its efforts to work within budget limitations," commented Senator Pursell, and I feel quite pleased that our area will receive over $3 million in state funds for local capital improvements."

Board Meeting Postponed

Township Moves Monday; Gets Phone Numbers

Moving day, new phone numbers and a change in the board's meeting date are all taking place this week for Northville township.

Beginning at 8:30 a.m. Monday, moving vans are scheduled to move township offices to the new office quarters at the Wayne County Child Development Center. The township's building is located on the east side of Sheldon Road on the most northerly end of the Center's property. There is a separate drive to the building off Sheldon.

At noon Monday, new phone numbers for township offices will go into effect. The switch in numbers was necessitated because the new offices are located within the Plymouth exchange area, Supervisor Lawrence Wright said.

New phone numbers are:
Police emergency — 459-1700
Business office — 459-1710
Building department — 459-1717

The move, originally scheduled for today, was delayed due to offices not being ready to move into, Wright said.

Hearing on that designation will be held by the Wayne County Road Commission at a later date, she said.

The rescheduled meeting will begin at 8 p.m. next Thursday, July 18. The public hearing to designate Franklin Road a natural beauty road has officially been canceled, Clerk Sally Cayley said this week.

The best news these ears have received in years came by telephone late Tuesday when Senator Carl Pursell reported that all stops have been pulled on the state police project.

A giant complex on Seven Mile road in Northville township providing quarters for a post, the biggest district headquarters in the state and a modern crime laboratory.

The impact of such a facility on the community cannot be overestimated. In my opinion it comes at a time when our community is on the verge of being introduced to both higher incidence and more serious forms of crime.

It cannot help but serve as a deterrent.

In addition, it brings the latest crime detection devices and talents to our doorsteps and makes them readily available to our existing local police forces.

And the complex adds employment and new activity of a desirable nature to Northville and the neighboring communities.

It also proves to me that a small community and dedicated citizens can win out against bigger competition if their arguments are sound and their proposals superior...and if they have proper support at official levels.

Like the help that ex-State Representative Marvin Stempien gave in seeing the transfer of state-owned property from one department to another through the legislative channels.

This gave a Northville citizens' committee an edge, not only in providing a desirable and logical location, but in acquiring the site without cost to the state.

And after his election to office Senator Pursell became most active in supporting the Northville campaign for the state police complex.

In the early stages it was merely post quarters that were being sought. A relatively small building to house a couple dozen officers. Later an effort to obtain a building on the Wayne County Child Development Center grounds failed.

Then the Northville Economic Development Corporation joined the campaign and advanced some $10,000 to hire an architect and provide proposed drawings.

State police officials, particularly Colonel John Plants who recently retired as top man in the state police, liked what they saw in the Northville presentation.

But money became a problem. If the state couldn't finance the project, could the Northville Economic Development Corporation do so and lease the facility back to the state?

Both Manufacturers National Bank and National Bank of Detroit indicated a willingness to provide the money to the local non-profit organization.

And as the plans developed further, it became a major complex for three units instead of just a post.

Still the local committee was confident it could be done.

Fortunately, the state's financial status improved and an appropriation was approved. The Northville plans and architect were both accepted and adopted by the state.

So the many hours spent in Lansing and in local meetings by such men as Gunnar Stromberg, Don Lawrence, John Canterbury, Frank Ollendorff, A.M. Allen, Robert Bogart, A. Russell Clarke, John Carlo, William Miron, John Miller, Philip Ogilvie, Joseph Straub, Lawrence Wright...and others, were not wasted.

Some of these individuals have moved from the community.

I hope that on October 15 they can return to see their efforts rewarded.

Multi-Million $ Rip-Off

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Although the supermarket industry doesn't like to label the problem a criminal activity, the "loss" or "misplaced" grocery cart is no pint-size headache.

Fact of the matter is it's a multi-million dollar annual heist that rivals the shoplifting rip-off.

Costing grocery stores from $30 to $50 a crack, the familiar metal cart loss runs into "many thousands of dollars" annually in the Detroit area served by Chatham and Kroger, headquarters spokesmen told me this past week. Multiply this loss by the regional problems across the country and the bill's staggering.

"The tragedy of it all is that in the final analysis the loss necessarily must show up in the customer's food bill," the Chatham representative confided. "We're in the business to make a profit so, naturally, losses like this are ultimately reflected in food prices."

And while Northville area stores are experiencing fewer problems than stores elsewhere in the Detroit area, we (local customers) share equally in the replacement bill.

I called the two supermarket companies after learning from Mark Larkins of Kings Mill that three carts were mired in the Rouge River bed near his home. I wanted to find out if missing carts are still the problem they were when I last checked several years ago.

It turns out nothing has changed. As a matter of fact, like shoplifting, the grocery cart caper is worse than ever.

In some places (not in our area) it's so bad Kroger has been forced to erect poles to form what they call "Bascart Corrals". The poles prevent customers from pushing the carts from the parking lot area.

"The thing about this is that we can't really call it a theft," said the Chatham spokesman. "Most shoppers who take carts from the premises do so fully intending to return them later. They don't consider it a crime. For one reason or another they forget to return them and sooner or later the carts end up in streams, like in your area, or in the basement as laundry baskets."

Vandalism to carts usually occurs after the cart is taken home...and by someone other than the person who took it home, he said. "Kids find it standing on the sidewalk and beat the daylight out of it."

Even the housewife who uses the cart as a laundry basket somehow manages to justify her actions,

MS. BELTZ

YES . . .

I am not supportive of compulsory titles that define an individual through someone else's name: Mrs. Pat Nixon or for that matter Mrs. Richard Nixon. "Your name" means just that! This does not imply a lack of commitment to or pride in one's mate not to use his or her name instead of your own.

I prefer Ms. as a title before my name but can understand some women wanting to retain the Mrs. title (Mrs. Pat Nixon). I do find it difficult to identify with using Mrs., then the husband's first name, and then his last name. Being told three times in one name that someone is married is a bit much. It is as if an erasure had taken away the image of that woman through her name.

When two people get married, wouldn't it be nice if they could exchange last names. After their marriage their last name would be a composite of each others last names. In this way no one is giving up a name. This could be a sharing, loving, respectful thing to do. I feel that as a parent the children that my husband and I have had deserve a name identity from both mother and father. In effect a statement of love and heritage from both parents.

Men and women are looking at themselves and each other in new and creative ways. As all our choices in our lives reveal things to the outside world about ourselves, our choice of titles does too. A variety of choices in titles would be more communicative.

More Highland Lakes Problems

To the Editor:

We are the first residents of Highland Lakes, having moved here three years ago next week. We have very much enjoyed living in the Northville community but it has been three very frustrating years in our relationship with Levitt & Sons.

As you are undoubtedly aware, windows installed in the early homes were a serious problem. Air leakage was so bad that any moderately strong breeze would drive dirt through or around the windows and leave the sills covered with fine silt. In the winter, cold air would likewise find its way around the windows.

Levitt tried several makeshift remedies, such as caulking, weather-stripping, etc. All were to no avail. The window manufacturer (Ida) claimed the windows were improperly installed by Levitt and refused to make any further service calls on the problem; not that their "service" had in any way been effective.

It is my understanding the Levitt and Ida became embroiled in a lawsuit over the windows. To bolster its case, Levitt hired a testing company to run air leakage tests on a number of representative houses. Ours was one of the units selected for test. A test box was constructed over one window and controlled air flow was directed at the window and measured on the inside by instruments. The testing company was advised that the window they were testing was not the worst window we had. They indicated that this didn't matter as the window they were testing was "plenty bad enough". The windows did in fact exceed acceptable limits for air leakage. Levitt took no further action pending settlement of their suit with Ida.

It was at this stage that our Association contacted IT&T in New York about several complaints about the local Levitt organization. The window problem was one of these matters. The New York representative directed the local Levitt group to fix the problem and worry about their suit with Ida later.

A few months ago, your paper featured an article on page one which covered the arrived-at solution — the installation of storm windows at Levitt's expense. Obviously, this is not an ideal solution when you already have thermopane windows and screens. Storm windows represent a redundancy that is bothersome, unattractive and undesirable. Nevertheless, most residents were agreeable as it seemed the only practical solution. Actually, the windows should have been replaced, not covered up. The air leakage in some units had been so bad that some residents reported at meetings that they had to put their children to bed in sleeping bags.

I regret to inform you that the great storm window experiment has been less than an unqualified success. The storm windows selected were for obvious reasons rather cheaply constructed. The storm windows were put on our unit in December and we admit that the air leakage is less than before but the problem is certainly not corrected. One suspects that covering the windows with Saran Wrap would have resulted in some improvement. The object of installing storm windows was not to cut down on the problem but to correct it.

The fact that the air leakage still existed as a matter of concern is distressing enough but the installation of the windows created a brand new problem of far greater proportions than mere air leakage. The storm windows are so cheaply constructed that rain comes through the windows and is trapped between the storm window and the house window. After a sufficient amount has built up, the water overruns the sill and comes through the house window, damaging carpet and drapes. When I say it comes through the windows, I mean with the storm windows closed.

This problem was not evident during the early months of being in place as it was winter and there was no rain. In the Spring with the first hard rain, our living room drapes and carpet under the window were soaked. Bedroom windows similarly leaked. We immediately advised Levitt's service department by letter in accordance with their established policy (May 12).

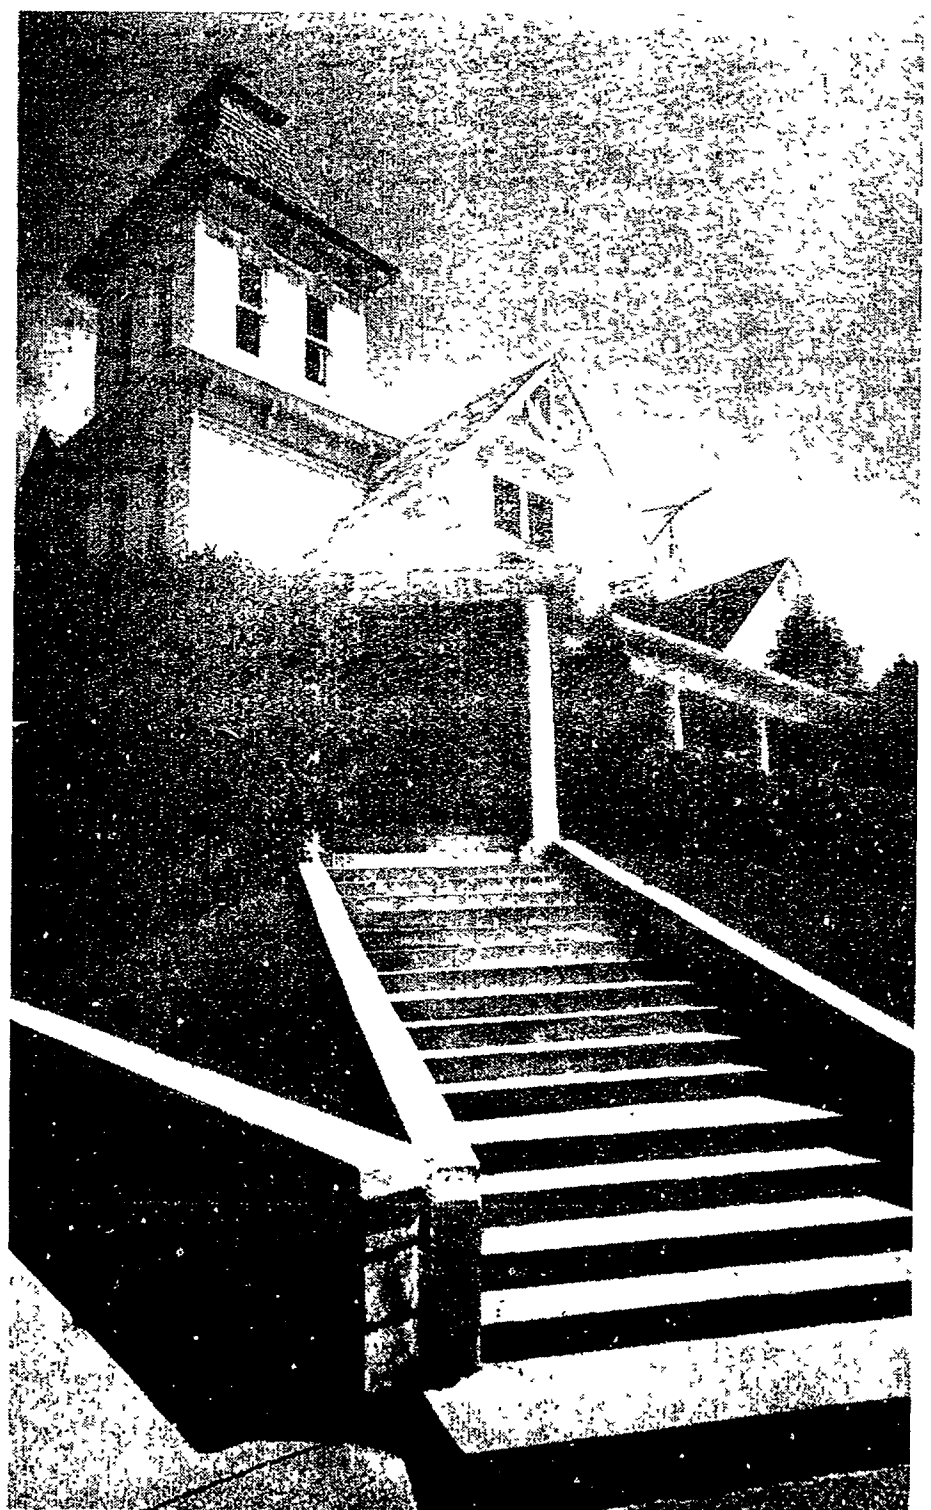

Their letter of May 13 advised "Winterseal Industries has been informed of the water problem you are experiencing and they will correct this problem immediately".

After no action in a reasonable period (two weeks), we contacted Winterseal direct and were advised that they had no notice

Abolish Titles For Women?

MRS. COOK

NO . . .

"You can't tell the players without a score card" says the program hawker at the ball game and he's right. In our society women's titles are the score card.

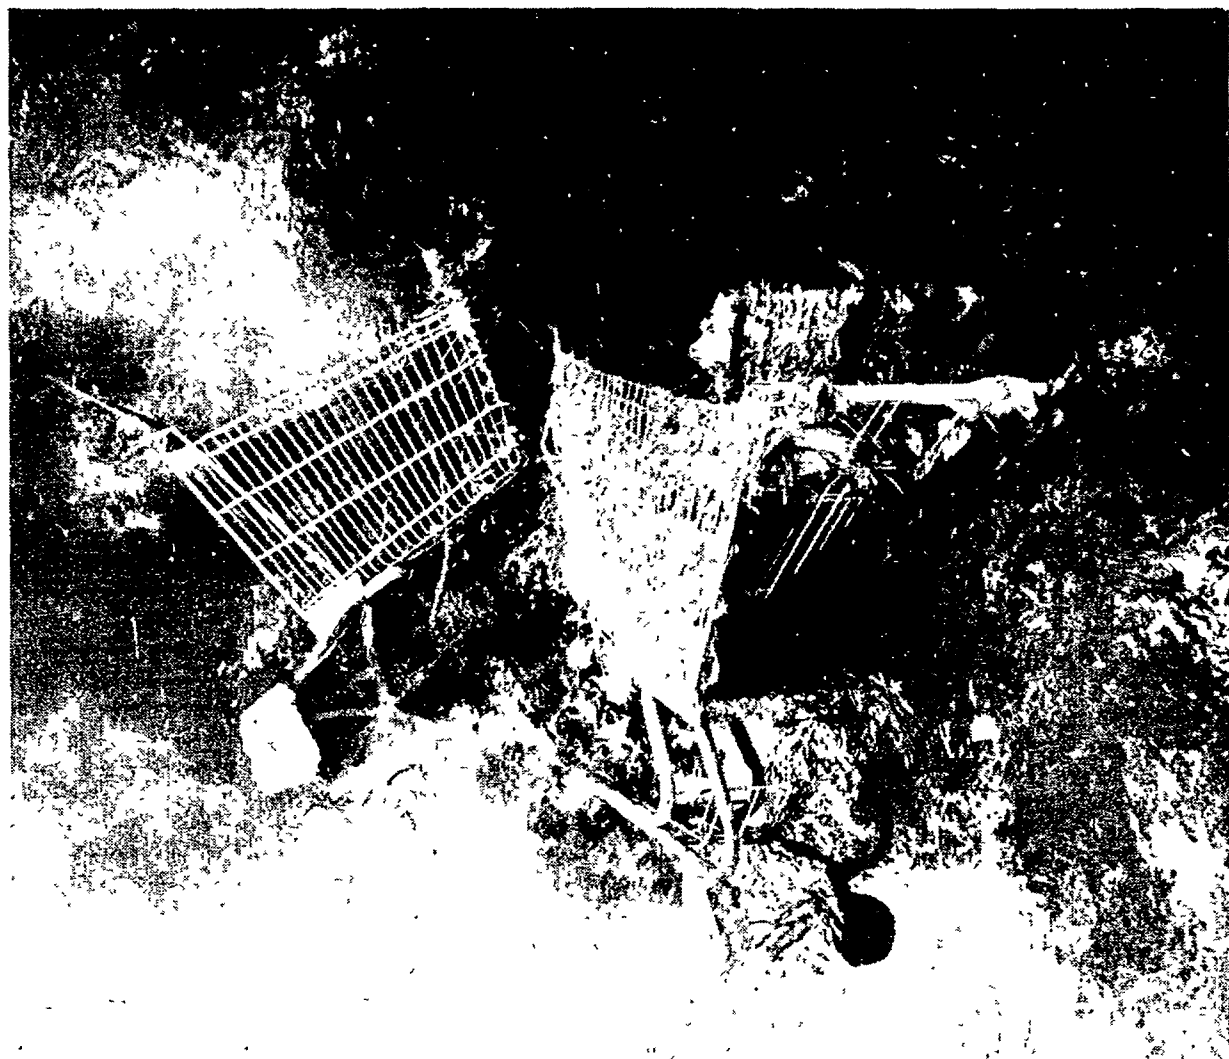

Miss, Mademoiselle, or Fraulein tells you immediately that the lady is unmarried; while Mrs., Madame or Frau tells you she's married or has been. Now, some women want to be known as Ms., which tells you absolutely nothing, because they feel they lose their identity if other titles are used.

I've never felt a loss of my identity as Mrs. Clifford Cook. I'm half of a Mr. and Mrs. team who have managed to raise three self-reliant good citizens and make a good life for ourselves in the bargain.

I never doubted my identity when I was referred to as Jack's or Jill's or Judy's mother, either and, believe me, in that situation being MRS Cook was a comfort.

During the 30 some years I have been Mrs. Cook, I have made a home for our family, worked on projects to serve our community, helped with activities our children were interested in, and worked in a variety of jobs. I always knew who I was and it was easy for the community to identify me. Pat Cook, wife of Clifford C., mother of those three Cook kids; these are my titles and I'm proud of them.

refusing to believe that she's stolen something. Even after a year she can tell herself, honestly, "I'm going to return it," and thereby relieve her conscience.

The problem increases as population increases, I'm told. In the higher urbanized areas where homes are closer together and where families have fewer automobiles, more shoppers use carts to transport their groceries.

Most stores discourage shoppers from pushing their carts from the premises but in some localities, the Kroger spokesman said, no real effort to prevent it is made. In other areas, signs are affixed to carts cautioning shoppers: And some towns have enacted local laws to specifically outlaw pushing carts from store premises.

Consumer relations spokesmen for Chatham make it a point to mention the problem whenever they are called upon to address local organizations.

What happens to all the missing carts?

"You wouldn't believe what they do with them," I was told. "Frequently, the wheels end up on soapbox racers. Some use them as backyard barbecue grills or as makeshift wheelbarrows for working around the yard.

"Lots of women have them in the basement for their laundry, and some men keep their tools and paint in them."

What's more, they've been observed locally in pet parades, as planters, as baby buggies, and as sunken dollar bills in the Rouge River.

Highland Lakes' Problems

to correct our windows. We again contacted Levitt and were assured that they would take care of it. Still no action, so our Resident Advisory Board contacted John Carroll in Levitt's Southfield office. He said it would be taken care of within a week. This was in early June and there is still no action from Levitt or Winterseal. We have been very patient, probably because it only bothers us when it rains.

This is not an isolated problem affecting only our unit. In our own court, there are two buildings of (8) units each. We have not made a survey but through casual conversation, we know that two other units have an even more serious water problem. There may be others, but even if there are not, this still represents 20 percent of the units.

At the time we advised Levitt of the water problem, we also told them that the storm windows had not corrected the original air leakage problem; they had only alleviated it some. Levitt's reply to this was an interesting bit of convoluted, Catch-22 type of logic. Our unit was no longer covered by warranty and hence it was not their responsibility. To fully appreciate this position, you should understand that air leakage was a matter of written record since July, 1971 and had been continually brought to their attention since that time. During the period the unit was covered by warranty, the various steps outlined earlier were taking place and during the last year everyone was told that the storm windows would be the solution. Accordingly, Levitt used up the warranty period and considerable time thereafter trying ineffective measures and when advised that the ultimate solution did not do the job, they took the position that we should have insisted that the work be done during warranty. There is obviously no way for us to win with these ground rules.

This matter has been brought to your attention objectively as possible with the hope that you will consider it consistent with the principles of an impartial press to give this side of the matter the same visibility which you accorded Levitt's press release on how good they were to put up storm windows.

Without the assistance of a newspaper to help the small guy, large companies like Levitt can trample individual rights with relative impunity on a practical level. Sure, we can picket their Sales office as others have done, but we view this as a last resort. After all, we live here and we want others to live here too.

Any help which you can give would be appreciated.

Very truly yours,
Harold R. Walton

July 4th

To the Editor:

Want to thank local business establishments that gave us their hearty and very generous support on our 4th of July Float.

We obtained information, cooperation and materials from many.

Without the help of my committee, the R. Morganos, N. Davies, D. Pierres, E. Perpichs, and J. Robbins, as well as helping hands of many club members—we would not have had such a successful Float entry.

Thanks to Northville Jaycees for planning the parade and giving us all an excuse to work together on a community recreation project. It was a very happy and proud day for me.

Dear Editor:

The 4th of July fireworks display was spectacular, as usual, but one incident that occurred on the school hill is what really turned me on.

A woman spectator, I believe, I heard her called "Mrs. Fogarty," purchased popcorn for some 24 persons that were there from the nearby State or County homes. I'm sure that that really made a "night out" for them complete — and, lady, you are truly a most beautiful person!

Another spectator

EDITOR'S NOTE—This newspaper publicized Highland Lakes' problems on more than one occasion. It also advised Levitt officials that it intended to review the situation after the period of time these officials indicated it would take to correct problems. Officers of the homeowners association worked diligently to bring about improvements. And they urged this newspaper to give them time to settle the problems without publicity, which some feared might reduce the property values of the homes in which they had invested. This newspaper did not publish a press release from Levitt; instead it sought out findings and conclusions of the homeowners association and the company. The homeowner's letter above far exceeds the limit of 500 words, but it is being published without editing. It is the newspaper's opinion that a more attentive township government could have averted many of the problems through stricter inspection regulations. In addition to the press, which is happy to continue its assistance, homeowners would be well advised to complain to their elected township officials.

Tips on Real Estate

by Bruce Roy

There is a little romance in all of us, including your real estate broker. He's a real matchmaker. Day in and day out he matches the buyer to a home. A quiet street near schools for the young family, a smaller home near shopping for the older couple. Or a condominium for Widow Brown and a southern colonial facing the golf course for Mr. Big. A successful courtship needs time, patience, and some degree of objectivity, even if it has to be supplied by the broker. Choosing right makes a marriage stick, and a home a joy forever.

A home is probably the largest single investment you will make in your lifetime — when you buy or sell choose the knowledgeable Realtors at BRUCE ROY REALTY, INC. as your agents. We will expertly guide you past the pitfalls that may be present in your real estate transactions.

HELPFUL HINT

DID YOU KNOW THAT: Interest rates on conventional mortgages are currently between 8½ per cent and 9½ per cent annually. This may seem high in proportion to what we are used to, but those who do purchase homes at today's prices will still beat a predicted 40 per cent inflationary increase in housing costs.

She's Delegate For Conclave

Mrs. Russell M. Atchison of Northville currently is a delegate attending the 46th biennial convention of Delta Gamma women's international fraternity at the Doral Country Club in Miami.

While in Miami, she is participating in various Delta Gamma seminars and workshops and is visiting some of the area's world-famous tourist attractions.

She is among 650 delegates from Delta Gamma, a woman's organization dedicated to sight preservation for children and allocating college scholarships and loans for women wishing to further their education.

Mrs. Atchison, who joined Delta Gamma while attending Albion College, is a member of the Detroit-West Suburban Alumnae chapter.

July 19-20, Northwest Oakland County Historical Society points out that "an antiques show is not only for buying and browsing but for learning."

At the two-day show held at Holly Oaks Middle School, Holly, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., visitors will see reminders of the homespun days of the early 18th century as well as of the straw-hat Gatsby era of the 1920's.

Eleanor Lowell of The Barn Door antique shop in Northville is among the 30 dealers represented at the show. The shop specializes in early tools and wooden ware as well as a fine line of country furniture.

Also participating will be the Early American Shop of Wixom and Helen Meisel of Farmington, who formerly had a Main Street shop in Northville.

Others will come from Bloomfield Hills, Romeo, Rochester and Sturgis as well as from the Holly-Pontiac area. An out-of-state dealer will be James Trice of Bremen, Indiana. He is the author of "Butter Molds" and has contributed an article to the program book being given to show visitors as part of their $1.25 admission.

The Holly Oaks Middle School is located at 14470 North Holly Road. One room will again be a tearoom featuring homemade pies, sandwiches, salads and sloppy joes from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The historical society also will have a booth of handmade items to complement antiques, including crib and cradle quilts, patchwork pillows, dolls, potholders and its own cook book and stationery.

Pursell Asks Bill's Veto

State Senator Carl Pursell (R-14th District) has asked Governor Milliken to veto a bill which allows early retirement for State Legislators.

"I believe it is inappropriate for the Legislature to consider this measure," Pursell said. "We must realize that most of the citizens of Michigan are not covered under adequate retirement systems. Therefore, the Legislature should not consider their interests before the interests of the people," the Senator stated.

SHAPING UP—Looking somewhat like a fort, the elementary school in Highland Lakes is surrounded by top soil awaiting grading on the site. The circular school, which now is totally enclosed, is expected to be completed late this year, administrators add. Top soil for the site was hauled from the middle school on Bradner Road, making it unnecessary to purchase dirt. Work will begin soon on the ball diamonds at the elementary schools in Highland Lakes and Northville Commons and school officials say the fields should be open for community use yet this summer.

While Fishing in Walled Lake

Mans Drowns in Novi

Divers have recovered the body of a 24-year-old Taylor man who fell while fishing from a rowboat and drowned in Walled Lake sometime between 12:30 and 1 p.m. Thursday, July 4.

The Oakland County sheriff's marine division recovered the body of Thomas Arnold Guill of Taylor at 1:10 p.m. Friday. Recovery was made in two feet of water.

According to police, Guill reportedly was fishing in the lake with his wife, Sheila, when he stood up to cast and fell from the rowboat. He could not swim, she said.

Mrs. Guill said that she drifted and rowed the boat for over an hour trying to find her husband. At that time, approximately 1:45 p.m., Anna Gargalino of 1260 East Lake Drive reported to police that she heard cries for help coming from the lake.

Following the drowning, Novi police called in the Oakland County sheriff's marine division under Sergeant Schultz to conduct the search for the body. Eight divers, using civilian boats which had been volunteered, searched throughout the day while four continued the recovery mission Friday.

BeGole said he was pleased with the prompt action of the sheriff's marine division and noted that the divers were hindered in their search by a storm which brought hailstones and forced the officers to seek shelter in the water.

"Against extreme odds they were successful," said BeGole. "It's a large lake and she (Mrs. Guill) couldn't give them any direction."

Our House Plans Free Medical Clinic

A free medical clinic soon will be a new service of Our House.

Focus will be on diagnosis and treatment of venereal disease. However, plans to offer pregnancy tests, birth control alternatives and general medical assistance have been outlined.

In addition, counseling in problem pregnancies and human sexuality will be offered.

The clinic will be held in Our House Crisis Center at 185 South Harvey, Plymouth. It will be open one night and hopefully one morning a week.

To date Our House Clinic has one doctor, a few nurses and a laboratory willing to run tests. However, more doctors and nurses are needed for limited work.

Anyone willing to donate time or suggestions should contact Denise Chandler or Mark Tobin at 455-4900.

Advance Registration Set

Advance registration for the Fall Semester at Schoolcraft College will be held the week of July 22-26 in the Waterman Campus Center. Fall semester graduates and sophomores will register the first day and from 8:30-11 a.m. the following morning. Freshmen will register beginning Tuesday afternoon through Friday afternoon. Advance registration is for students who have had an appointment with their counselor, and have completed the course enrollment form.

Students unable to register the week of the 22nd will have an opportunity to do so on three Wednesdays: July 31, August 7 and August 14. On these days, registration will be held in the Office of Student Affairs.

Evening students may also register during the advance registration period, or by mail until August 9th. They, too, should see their counselor and complete the course enrollment form. Persons planning to take classes at the Instructional Center at Garden City may also register in advance on campus and by mail.

Persons wishing further information should telephone the Schoolcraft Admissions Office at 591-6400, ext. 228. The College is on Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, in Livonia.

Registered Nurses Plan Continuing Education

Schoolcraft College will host a meeting for registered nurses in the area who are interested in advanced education through Wayne State University.

The dean of WSU's College of Nursing and members of its faculty have extended a cordial invitation to meet with them at 7 p.m. Monday, July 15. The meeting will be held in the Waterman Center on the Schoolcraft Campus, Haggerty Road south of Seven Mile, in Livonia.

Persons planning to attend the meeting are requested to assist preparations by calling Schoolcraft's Health Careers Office, 591-6400 ext. 324.

JAMES HOWARTH

Funeral services were held Saturday, July 6, for James D. Howarth of Seven Mile Road in Northville, a resident of the area since 1938. Mr. Howarth, who was 76, died July 4 in Sinai Hospital, Detroit.

Born January 1, 1898, in Horwich, Lancashire, England, he was the son of Henry and Annice (Brooks) Howarth. His wife, Martha, died July 24, 1971.

Mr. Howarth was a retired employee of the Ford Motor Company Rouge Plant and a member of the Olive Branch, 542 of Dearborn.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Joyce Voska of Frankenmuth, Mrs. Janice Doolittle of Pontiac, two sons, James M. of Northville, Glenn R. of Pendleton, Oregon, one sister, Miss Annice Howarth of Royal Oak, three brothers, Lawrence of Royal Oak, Norman of Oscoda, William H. of Melbourne, Australia, and 11 grandchildren.

Services were held at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Lloyd Brasure of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville officiated. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

CARLEN RENODIN

Carlen L. Renodin of Chubb Road died Tuesday, July 2, in Veteran's Hospital, Ann Arbor, at the age of 42. He had been ill for the past two years.

Mr. Renodin was born May 7, 1932, in Wayne, the son of Glen and Lucy (Fisher) Renodin. He was employed as a painter for Superior Decorating Company.

Surviving are his widow, Shirley Goins Renodin, five children, Carol Ann, Linda Lee, Bonnie Jean, Bobby Joe and Glen Arthur, all of Northville, and 12 sisters and brothers.

They are Mrs. Shirley Summerland of Johannesburg (Michigan), Lucille Renodin of Edwardsburg (Michigan), Janet Renodin of Atlanta (Michigan), Melbert of Hillman, Clair of Wayne, Eugene of Moss, Tennessee, Kenneth of Lake Orion, Donald of Tower (Michigan), Gary, Neal, both of Atlanta, Robert of Elkhart, Indiana, and Michael of Lewiston.

Services were held July 4 at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend Walter C. Ballagh officiated. Services were also held Saturday, July 6, at the Green Funeral Home in Atlanta. Burial was Saturday in Briley Township Cemetery, Atlanta.

Lame Pacers Don't Respond To Acupuncture Treatment

The Northville Record / THE NOVI NEWS

The Brighton Argus / THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wed.-Thurs., July 10-11, 1974

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

You can't win 'em all. Shiaway Stub, a two-year old pacer out of Sid Burtin's stables knows that old saying well, having "finished back" in his only two races at Hazel Park earlier this year.

And now, so does Dr. Robert Stone, a Southfield veterinarian whose initial acupuncture success two weeks ago was marred by Friday's experimental operation on Shiaway's lame front leg.

What's more, in the glare of the morning sun outside the Northville Downs barn and under the prying eyes of a dozen reporters and cameras Dr. Stone was unable to relieve the pain in either the leg of Shiaway Stub or the leg of another Northville stabled horse, Stroke of Luck.

"I'm disappointed but not discouraged," said Dr. Stone, who intends to continue his experimentation on horses.

Treatment on a quarterhorse two weeks ago—his first acupuncture operation on a horse—"worked beautifully," commented Kenneth Sekenske of Novi, vice-president of the Wixom based firm that supplied Dr. Stone with his equipment. Sekenske assisted the doctor Friday.

Also present was Jerry Thomesek, president of the Professional Medical Distributors located on Beck Road; Sid Burtin, the horse's owner; John Carlo, executive manager of the track; and several stable hands.

Dr. Stone's initial operation on the Rochester (Michigan) quarterhorse was so successful that upon the doctor's return a week later the animal was healthier than ever and a second planned treatment was cancelled. Until the operation the horse had been so lame it was unable to carry a rider, said Dr. Stone, who also has carried on successful acupuncture treatment on dogs with severe arthritic conditions.

"I'm amazed at the good luck we've had on dogs," the veterinarian said. "But of course this (acupuncture) is no panacea even though it appears to be a good treatment for pain."

Dr. Stone was persuaded to experiment with acupuncture on animals by Sekenske and after having learned of the successful treatment on humans by Dr. Pang Mann, a researcher at Northville State Hospital.

Acupuncture treatment on race horses, Dr. Stone said, "is a natural because use of drugs is prohibited by the state racing commission. You can 'pop' a horse with acupuncture and you aren't doing something illegal."

The instrument used by Dr. Stone, called an Acuflex, is a portable, self-contained electronic device for locating skin nerve sensitivity and stimulating these points. Very small amounts of electrical energy is carried from the Acuflex through wires to the needles inserted in the skin.

Because use of acupuncture on horses is so new in the United States, Dr. Stone has not yet used one major aspect of acupuncture treatment on horses — namely insertion of needles in skin nerves in one part of the body to treat another area.

For example, he explained, it has been found that treatment of a nerve in one of the fingers of the human appears to stimulate part of the intestine.

These correlation points, called meridians, are still difficult to identify in horses. "We figure there are over 100 in horses," he said.

After locating the sensitive points on the leg of Shiaway Stub, Dr. Stone and Sekenske inserted needles, attached the stimulator wires, and began a 10-minute treatment. Three-quarters of the way through the treatment, however, a passing manure truck spooked the horse and the colt jumped, pulling the needles free.

The operation was then begun anew inside the barn.

This time the full 10-minute treatment was completed, and Shiaway Stub was walked about outside before the leg was raised to determine if pain still existed. The reaction of the horse indicated the pain was as intense as ever.

Another treatment is scheduled soon. "Maybe after the second try we'll have a little better luck," Dr. Stone said as a gelding by name of 'Stroke of Luck' limped off the Downs oval for an acupuncture treatment.

Not only did the first treatment also fail to relieve this animal's pain, but it was determined later by Dr. Stone that the person making the original diagnosis had incorrectly identified the problem leg.

"Treating the wrong part of the body does no harm," explained Thomesek, "but obviously it doesn't relieve the problem either." It points up, he said, the importance of relying upon the medical advice of a veterinarian and not a layman.

Acupuncture, suggested Thomesek, opens up a whole new field for the veterinarian ... "and hopefully what we learn from treatment on animals will one day prove beneficial to humans."

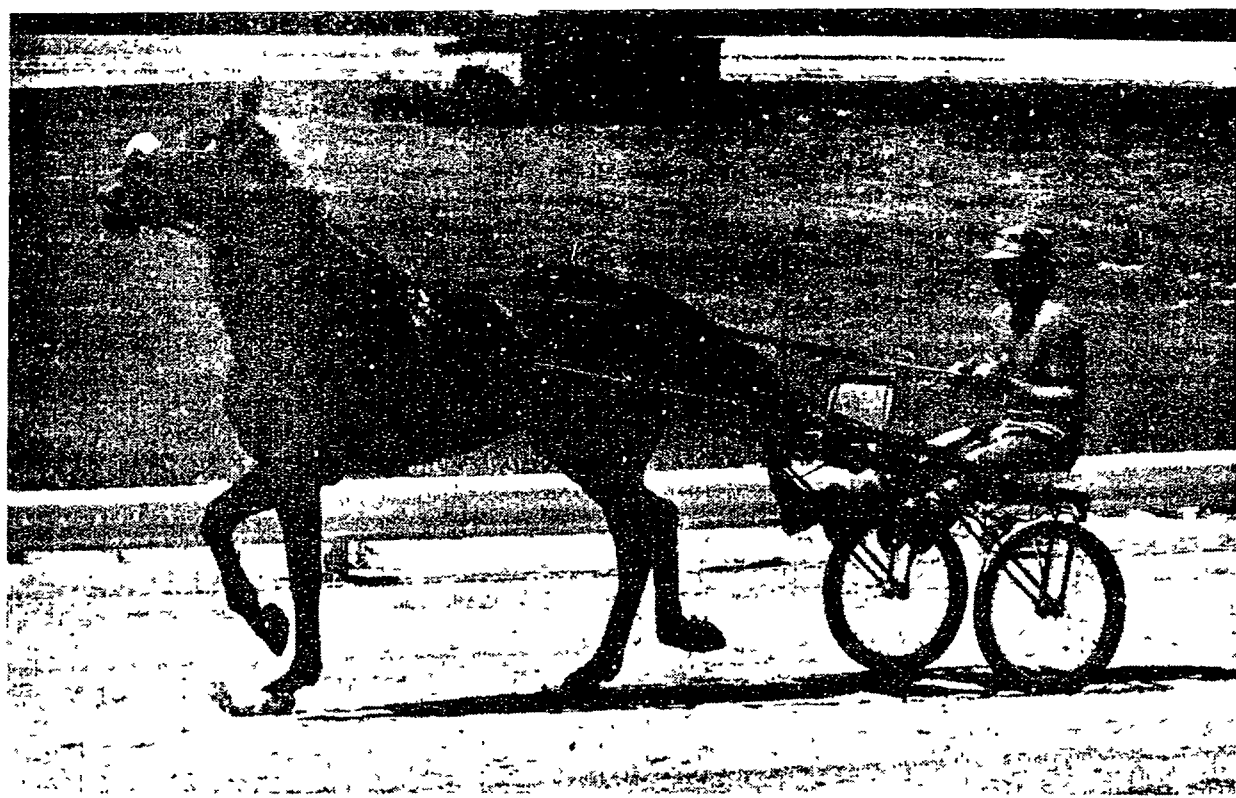

And, he might have added parenthetically, the experimentation of Dr. Stone hopefully will prove beneficial to Professional Medical Distributors of Wixom — a growing two-year old manufacturing and distributing subsidiary of Jaesic, Inc.

Dr. Robert Stone locates trouble spot.

"What's all the commotion?" Operation attracts TV cameras.

"Stroke of Luck" found little luck with acupuncture.

Shiaway Stub limps away after 'needle'.

'Hows, Whens' of Stem Planting

Meet
Kathy
Copley

Kathryn (Mrs. Paul) Copley of Novi loves to garden and to write.

So she is combining her favorite hobbies to write a series of columns on gardening for Sliger Publications—The Northville Record-Novi News, South Lyon Herald and Brighton Argus.

A teacher for seven years in the Huron Valley School system, where she taught journalism and creative writing, Mrs. Copley is practicing her gardening tips in her own yard in Village Oaks. She's decided to retire from teaching and spend more time gardening and doing free lance writing.

A resident of the Northville-Novu area for the past four years, Mrs. Copley is originally from Cleveland and is a graduate of Ohio University in Athens.

She grows her own flowers, trees and shrubs from seeds.

By KATHY COPLEY

Rooting plant cuttings outdoors is one of the easiest and most rewarding ways to increase our garden. Roses and chrysanthemums respond surely and quickly to stem cuttings, producing blooming size plants for the following year. Both are handled similarly.

Select a 4" to 5" shoot growing on the outside of the plant, preferably in full sun. Remove the stem by making a sharp, angled cut. This gives a larger area for root formation.

Once the stem is cut from the mother plant, speed becomes very important. The best shoots for rooting are the new and tender ones; they are also the most susceptible to transpiration, loss of water through leaves. Once they have begun to wilt, your chances of success are lessened. The best time to take cuttings is early in the morning when leaves are firm.

Time of year for taking cuttings is also important. Bend the stem to determine if the time is right. If it bends but does not break, it is probably too old. If it merely bends, it is too new. If it bends and snaps, the time is right. In this area Mid-July to mid-August is a good time. The stems are suitable, and there is sufficient warm weather remaining for the roots to become well established.

Roses and mums respond well to treatment with a rooting hormone, available from local garden supply stores. Follow package directions. Even without a rooting product, shoots should have developed roots in 4 to 6 weeks.

Plant the shoot in a shaded spot in the garden you have prepared in advance, or pot it in a mixture of one third coarse (builders') sand, one third garden loam, and one third humus. The sand provides good drainage; the loam provides the natural nutrients; and the humus retains moisture. The garden area should have roughly the same components.

Cuttings need to be kept uniformly moist, a condition easily accomplished by inverting a mason jar over the shoot. This will control humidity and prevent wilting. Mulch the base of the mason jars with garden soil, grass clippings, peat moss, etc.

Fertilize every 4 to 6 weeks with a dilute solution of any fertilizer high in phosphate, which promotes healthy roots. Do not depend on a high nitrogen fertilizer, since it encourages growth of leaves rather than roots.

Give mum and rose cuttings the same winter protection you would give any valuable plant. Mulch them heavily to prevent alternate thawing and freezing from tearing the new roots. In spring, transfer them to their permanent place in the garden and enjoy their beauty for years to come.

Watch for Insects

Michigan State University entomologist Don Cress warns that these insects might be a problem in your garden this month:

The asparagus beetle is about one-fourth inch long, metallic blue to black with yellow or orange markings. Use Malathion, Carbaryl or Rotenone for control.

The seed-corn maggot is white to yellowish in color and about one-third inch long. Chlordane or Diazinon are both effective. Apply the insecticide in the seed furrow and cover with soil.

The European corn borer will deposit egg masses on the underside of leaves. The larvae, pink to brown in color, can be controlled by Sevin and Diazinon.

Cutworms range in color from gray to brown or black. Some are striped or spotted. They are particularly fond of pepper, tomato, cabbage and related crops, peas and beans. For control apply Sevin to the soil surface when the plants are set out and repeat the treatment weekly for two or more weeks.

Aphids are small, soft bodied, and range from black to gray-green in color. They are commonly found on turnips, melons, cucumbers, the peas, beans, tomatoes, peppers, potatoes, celery, spinach and cabbage. Malathion or Diazinon will effectively control them.

Be sure to follow all label directions carefully, and check the time from last application to harvest before applying any pesticide.

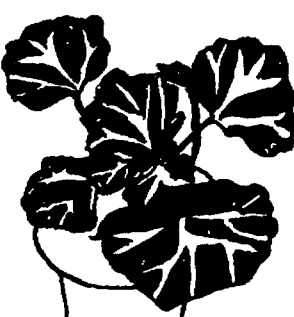

Strawberry Begonia Blooms Long Period

Saxifraga, commonly called the "strawberry begonia," is a hardy perennial spreading near the ground by threadlike runners bearing young plantlets.

The leaves are soft, rounded, and slightly hairy. They are a deep olive green in color with silver-gray following the veins and spotted purple on the underside of the leaves.

Saxifraga is an extremely varied group of plants with a remarkably long flowering season. The white flowers are numerous and stand tall on erect panicles.

The Latin word, Saxifraga, is derived from saxum, a rock; and frangor, to break.

State Aims to Improve Business Image

LANSING—Michigan is trying to sell itself to residents and nonresidents alike as a great place to vacation this summer. You've probably seen some of the full-page ads touting the state's wonders.

But there's a smaller scale ad campaign being conducted in some less widely read publications, like Business Week and the midwest edition of The Wall Street Journal.

Michigan is trying to drum up more industry.

"WE'VE HAD SOME BAD publicity in several areas — about high wages, workmen's compensation practices and rates and the lack of financial incentives for business," says one Commerce Department spokesman.

"We're seeing somewhat of an end to that now, but there has been an imagery problem."

In an attempt to end that problem, the department is spending part of a $450,000 legislative allocation to promote the state as a good bet for business locations.

Babson Reports

...But Feds Eye Taxes, Controls

BABSON'S REPORTS INC. — So far 1974 has been a better year for business than had been anticipated at its outset. Continued heavy capital spending has helped offset the lack of bounce in consumer purchasing. Profits have held up unexpectedly well despite the inroads of inflation.

But in addition to adjusting to changes in supply-demand-price relationships, business has had to fight a rearguard action against its foes on Capitol Hill who want to restrict business operations and profits via increases in taxes and a host of controls. To date, business has been holding its own against these assaults.

Back in the winter and early spring, it looked as though business was on its way to becoming a Watagate casualty as far as legislation affecting its interests was concerned. As a direct result of the scandals and the adverse publicity surrounding them, businessmen backed away from

"YOU CAN GET CHEAPER labor than Michigan's... but you'll make up the difference in aspirin," declares one of the ads.

The copy goes on like this:

"Let's say you pick a state where you can hire workers cheaper. It's not hard to do. And you move your business there to save some money."

"You locate your plant site, hire some local guys and open. Your business depends on labor skilled enough to bend a pipe into a perfect figure eight. Your first day, you find out you haven't got a guy in the shop who's capable of a perfect figure one."

"Feel that throbbing around your temples? Take a couple aspirin."

STINGING COMMENTS come from the Michigan Optometric Association in the wake of a report from the governor's Office of Health and Medical Affairs. The report, dealing with vision and eye care services in Michigan, recommended, among other things, that establishment of a school of optometry by the state be deferred.

"This recommendation is absolutely wrong and totally disregards the future vision care needs of the citizens of Michigan," declares a position paper from Association representatives.

"Neither state-supported student contracts, nor reciprocity, offer a significant solution to the future Michigan optometric manpower crisis."

THE ASSOCIATION LAUDS a recommendation that programs for post-graduate training in optometry be established at state universities.

But, it contends, "it would be extremely difficult to establish post-graduate training in optometry at any location other than an optometric school... In reality, an optometric post-graduate training center must follow the establishment of an optometry school, not precede it."

Optometry, the position paper says, "has very little alternative but to view (actions in preparing the recommendations) as a deliberate stall and an attempt to weaken or eliminate the profession of optometry."

WANT TO CALL your legislator, but shrink from the prospect of a higher telephone bill at your house?

Representative Perry Bullard, D—Ann Arbor, thinks constituents should be able to phone their senators and representatives in Lansing without having to foot the tab on their home phone bills.

So he's introduced legislation that would provide toll-free phone numbers to state officials and departments in Lansing.

"CITIZENS, WHO ARE rightfully cynical and mistrustful about their elected and appointed state officials, can talk with them directly without putting a strain on their pocketbooks," if the system is approved, Bullard says. This way, "both citizens and officials will benefit by the opinions and information exchanged in such calls."

Bullard suggests also that people who are having problems and need to deal with the services of state departments can "help cut through 'red tape' themselves" with a toll-free phone system.

THE GITFIDDLER music shop in Northville has moved and expanded both its services and assortment of instruments. Formerly located at 142 N. Center, The Gitfiddler moved up the street to 339 N. Center where it now provides a variety of sheet music, handmade guitars, banjos and string instruments as well as accessories and repairs. Owner Tom Rice announced that The Gitfiddler now has two teachers, both graduates of the University of Michigan where they majored in music. They will give lessons in beginning and advanced piano, woodwind and brass instruments, and vocal instructions. Harmonica and bass guitar lessons are also offered. Rice gives group guitar lessons. The guitar lessons include folk, classical and rock music. A grand opening of the new Gitfiddler is scheduled for Saturday, July 13 from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. Live folk music will be provided and refreshments served to visitors.

A NEW business will also open in the same location as The Gitfiddler. It's called SKIN DEEP and will occupy part of the space at 339 N. Center. The business, owned by Norman Shapiro, features novelty t-shirts, decals, and designs for shirts of clubs, and athletic teams.

David B. Kelly, former superintendent of New Jersey State Police, assumed new responsibilities today as national director of the loss-prevention division of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Team Company, Inc.

Mr. Kelly's assumption of the newly-created post coincided with the return of A&P's corporate headquarters to New Jersey after 47 years in New York City.

Long recognized as a foremost law enforcement official, Mr. Kelly retired last week at 56 after serving since 1965 as New Jersey State Police head under three governors.

With A&P, he will have overall responsibility for loss prevention throughout the company's 31 divisions operating 3600 stores and distribution centers in 33 states, the District of Columbia and Canada as well as food processing plants in several states.

The A&P store in the area is located in the Brighton Mall.

William D. Munro, Democratic candidate for Senate in the 17th District, said Wednesday he is opposed to state licensing of mechanics and television repairmen.

Munro is one of five candidates seeking the Democratic nomination in the August 6 primary.

"I think it is utterly ridiculous for our state legislature to create another bureaucracy to regulate the TV and auto mechanics," he said in a press release. The legislature is currently considering a bill for that purpose.

"The cost will double," said Munro. "These people have a sales tax license. The law could be changed to revoke this license if fraud or dishonesty were proven. This would not burden the taxpayer with another bureaucracy."

John R. McCauley, candidate for district judge in the 52nd district, Oakland county, states that, "I am an advocate of Preventive Justice. In an area that will triple in population in the next five years, certain precautions must be taken to prevent the crime rate from also escalating. The strength of our area will depend on our unity in attracting businesses, dealing with crime, and with pollution. One locality cannot deal effectively with these problems without the help of neighboring communities."

"A voluntary association of our local governments can work together to: (1) Set up stricter zoning laws

The Eastern Michigan Walking Horse Club will hold its second annual Walking Horse Show on July 13 at the Vel Starr's Estrallita Ranch, 26391 North Dixboro Road.

The show will feature six classes for the American Saddlebred horse.

The Flint Dressage Schooling Show is scheduled for 8 a.m. on July 28 at Dodge Stables, Lennon, on M-56 (Corunna Road) between I-75 and M-13.

Mrs. Chris Duffield of Rochester will be the judge. Entry fees are $3 and $7.50 and will be accepted until June 22.

Persons desiring further information should contact Caroline Moore, 2171 Painted Post, Flushing, (313) 732-0772.

The 27th Annual Appaloosa Horse Show was held in Shelbyville, Tennessee June 23-29. It is the largest single breed horse show in the United States.

All 99 barns on the show grounds were filled to capacity as 4,910 entries appeared to compete in the seven-day event. Youth entries, alone, accounted for 2,173 of the horses and riders present.

A number of Michigan riders were winners including several area competitors.

Dawn Haskell of South Lyon made the finals in the Showmanship Class for girls 12-14.

Dawn rode her sister's 15 year old gelding "J.C. Ranch's Fury" in the class of 106 entries. She was one of 10 finalists chosen from two groups of 53 riders and horses.

Dawn was also a finalist in hunter seat equitation for riders 12-14, riding her appaloosa gelding "Buckeye Holly Governor".

She competed with 85 other riders for the honor and finished among the top 16 entries.

A Northville resident, Brenda Adams, was a finalist in Showmanship and Western Equitation for riders 11 years of age and under. She represents Quad L Farms in Northville.

Do the tomatoes growing in your garden this year look better than ever? What about that quilt you spent hours of love and labor over during the winter months? Or maybe you have a special secret cookie or cake recipe. And don't forget that favorite farm animal the youngsters have been giving tender loving care all year. Why not show them off at the 1974 Michigan State Fair?

The Family Fun Fair will run from August 23 through Labor Day, September 2 at the State Fairgrounds at Eight Mile Road and Woodward Avenue in Detroit.

Detailed information on fees, which are nominal, and premiums which are greater this year, as well as entry requirements, are available by writing the Michigan State Fair, Detroit 48203, or calling (313) 368-1000. But do it soon because the deadline for filing entry forms and fees is August 1.

The categories are endless. There are hundreds of classes in the horseshow alone. And livestock entries cover about every domestic animal and fowl, including beef and dairy cattle, sheep, swine, dairy goats, poultry, rabbits and even pigeons.

Hidden Springs Retreat Center

Vision Yesterday, Reality Today

Seven years ago, Hidden Springs Retreat Center was a vision of Mrs. Sherman Richards. Today, Hidden Springs is a $75,000-building housing a chapel, dormitories, dining and kitchen facilities on a wooded 10-acre site in Deerfield Township.

It is also a testament to the faith of the Reverend and Mrs. Sherman Richards and their daughter and son-in-law, The Reverend and Mrs. William Tulip.

The opening "share and prayer" meeting scheduled for 2:30 p.m. August 11 will commemorate the financial contributions and volunteer labor which have built the center.

The initial contribution was that of Rev. and Mrs. Richards themselves of 10 acres of land to the Hidden Springs Corporation, a non-profit organization. The land is across Latson Road from the Richard's family farm, about seven miles northeast of Howell.

Funds and labor have been entirely voluntary, from the architect's plans by Max Musch of Brighton (paid for by a contributor), to land clearing and lake restructuring (the small swampy lake on the site was enlarged and shaped as a replica of the Sea of Galilee), to all building material and labor.

One volunteer, William Beckley of Beckley Construction, Howell, has donated countless hours overseeing all building since groundbreaking in July, 1973.

Another Hidden Springs devotee, William Levingood of Jackson, contributed all building materials to construct caretaker's quarters on the grounds. He and his wife, both retired from their greenhouse business, will move in to the quarters when completed as the only full-time residents of Hidden Springs.

"We have built only as we have had the money to buy materials," said Jean Tulip. "Everything you see here has been paid for."

Mrs. Tulip said they have received about $75,000 in contributions to date, but that another $70,000 is necessary to finish the plumbing and kitchen facilities and to furnish the dorms, chapel, and dining room.

Mrs. Richard's vision in 1967 projected Hidden Springs as a collective effort of her husband and the Tulips, and indeed it has been. Since his retirement as pastor of Henderson Church in Owosso, Reverend Richards and his wife have been active in the Lay Witness Program.

The program sent them on many weekend ministries in church and non-church settings. Reverend Tulip, who earned his undergraduate and graduate degrees from Michigan State University in guidance and counseling, left the Methodist ministry in 1966 to become a counselor at Howell High School and Huron High School in New Boston.

At that time, the Tulips opened a sandwich and coffee house in Howell. Called the Churger House (a combination of church and hamburger), the restaurant has become a "coffeehouse ministry" where patrons pray, study, and share spiritual experiences, as well as dine. Both couples have led regular meetings in the Tulip basement. Attendance has so increased at the meetings that the group has outgrown the basement and hopes to convene at Hidden Springs.

Out of these rather secular experiences came the idea of Hidden Springs as an extension of the church, where services not offered by the church will be provided. It is an inter-denominational center, and usual Christian rituals, such as baptism rites, will not be performed at Hidden Springs.

Reverend Tulip called the center "a kind of drop-in healing center" where all of one's emotional and spiritual needs receive intense and longer term attention.

Other than weekly meetings, the Richards and Tulips have no specific plans or programs for the center, believing that as the Lord has guided them "step-by-step" in the conception and building of Hidden Springs, so will He guide its use.

2 Programs

To Begin

Next Week

Two summer recreation programs will begin next week at St. George Evangelical Lutheran Church of Brighton, announces Mrs. Richard Anderson, program director.

July 18 is the first day of the Thursday recreation program for youths from age four through sixth grade.

Carolyn Romer is handling programming for the younger children, Cindy Ritz is managing music, and Shirley Robinson and Sandy Hudson will organize crafts for the Thursday program.

The program meets from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., July 18-August 20. The church asks a 30 cents per child donation each week. Children should bring their lunches and the church will provide beverages.

The Tuesday summer program for the mentally retarded is scheduled to begin July 16. Persons, age three through adult, of any educable level, are eligible for the program, though present facilities prevent acceptance of those unable to climb stairs.

Mrs. Anderson, who holds degrees in education and social work, will direct the program. Sessions will be staffed by experienced adults and 16 senior high students.

The Tuesday program will meet from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., July 16 through August 20. Donations of 30 cents per person per week are requested. Contact Mrs. Anderson at the church for further information and applications.

Travelers Invited

Are you away many summer weekends?

The First United Methodist Church of Northville invites weekend travelers to attend its informal study and prayer group on Thursday nights at 8 p.m. Meetings are casual, topics wide-ranging, and everyone is welcome.

The church also reminds its members that the first Sunday of the month is the day to bring canned or boxed food to be donated to the local emergency help program, FISH. Baby food and supplies and children's clothing will go to United Neighbors.

Drive Car In —and Pray

Outdoor drive-in church services are being held at First Baptist Church of Wixom from 7 to 8 p.m. every Sunday night beginning last Sunday, July 7, and continuing through September 1, the Reverend Robert V. Warren, pastor, announces. In addition to special music there is a "message from the Word of God," he states.

He suggests informal dress and adds that everyone is welcome.

Rev. Sherman Richards

Volunteer workers take break for lunch at Hidden Springs.

HONOR FATHER WITTSTOCK—The Reverend Father John Wittstock greets about 300 parishioners, friends and family members at a farewell dinner July 1 at Mercy College. After saying Mass last Saturday morning at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville, where he has been pastor for 18 years, Father Wittstock left to visit a sister in Detroit before going west to Nevada where he plans to be an assistant pastor in "semi-retirement" for a year.

Northville Bazaar Planned

Although the November 1 date for the Harvest-Holly Mart bazaar to be held by the women of Northville United Methodist Church still is four months distant, plans already are complete.

The early planning is due in part to the fact that the date for the traditional holiday-season event has been advanced this year to combine harvest-season with Christmas.

Mrs. Beecher Todd, general chairman, explains that so many women "shop early" that the earlier date was chosen. An old-fashioned general store with canned and baked goods and cheeses also will be a part of this year's mart.

The women suggest that the holiday baked goods sold there will be able to be frozen for use when needed during the holidays. The Children Only shop with items ranging in price from five and 10 cents to $1 will be continued.

Luncheon will be served, and an Attic Treasures booth promises to contain antiques, including a collection of depression glass previously donated to the church.

Working with Mrs. Todd are Mrs. Robert Holloway, arts and crafts; Mrs. David Olgren, publicity and general decoration; Mrs. Jack McCrumb and Mrs. Charles George, Christmas booth; Mrs. Fay Waldren, luncheon; Mrs. Kenneth Cockin, stuffed toys and doll clothes.

ENJOY YOUR INFLATION HEDGE

The best way to get people to talk about economics is to have prices skyrocket. People who worry about inflation aren't kidding; the problem is real and serious. But what can we do to protect ourselves?

If you are a homeowner, you are doing it unknowingly because one of the safest and surest hedges against inflation is the ownership of real estate. Your "shelter" expense will stay fairly steady even in times of rising prices. The monthly payments on a mortgage don't change at all.

If you decide to sell, you can be confident—except in a forced sale—of getting back more money than before inflation hit. And, if you're in need of cash, your rising equity in your home increases your potential borrowing power. So, if you're a homeowner, you've been an effective economist all along and didn't know it.

THEN, ON THE THRESHOLD OF MATURITY, YOU LET ME SPREAD MY WINGS AFTER GRADUATION AND ENJOY THE INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM OF ATTENDING THE UNIVERSITY...

FOUR YEARS... AND THEN I WAS PREPARED FOR THE WORLD! THE COVETED SHEEPSKIN TUCKED NEATLY UNDER MY ARM... YOU THEN CONSENTED TO SENDING ME TO EUROPE TO VISIT AND VIEW THE VAST ASSEMBLAGE OF HISTORIC PLACES I HAD LONGED TO SEE....

NOW, AFTER BEING FORTUNATE ENOUGH TO CONQUER THE DOUBTS AND ANXIETIES OF THE SEEMINGLY UNQUENCHABLE CURIOSITIES OF YOUTH, WHAT LIES AHEAD FOR ME NOW? DOES THE SEARCH CONTINUE?

I'VE LIVED A FULL AND EXHILARATING LIFE THESE PAST 23 YEARS... A LIFE BUILT ON THE FOND MEMORIES OF A CHILDHOOD SPENT HERE UNDER THE PROTECTIVE AND LOVING SURROUNDINGS PROVIDED BY YOU AND DEAR MOTHER..

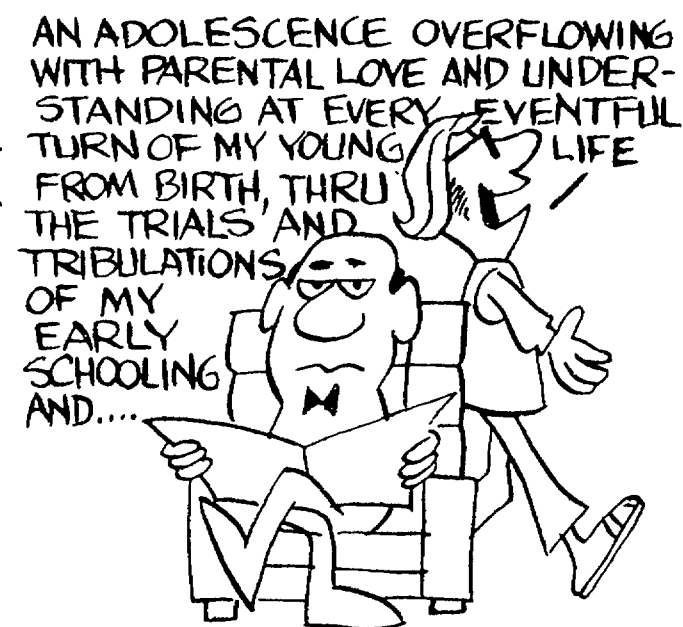

THERE I WAS ABLE TO BASK IN THE INTELLECTUAL ENVIRONMENT THAT INTRODUCED ME TO SOCRATES, PLATO, HOMER AND ARISTOTLE...

AND ON TO THE FAR EAST TO LIVE FOR A BRIEF BUT AWE-INSPIRING PERIOD OF MEDITATION AND THOUGHT-PROVOKING MOMENTS WITH THE AGE-LESS THINKERS OF THAT GREAT CULTURE.

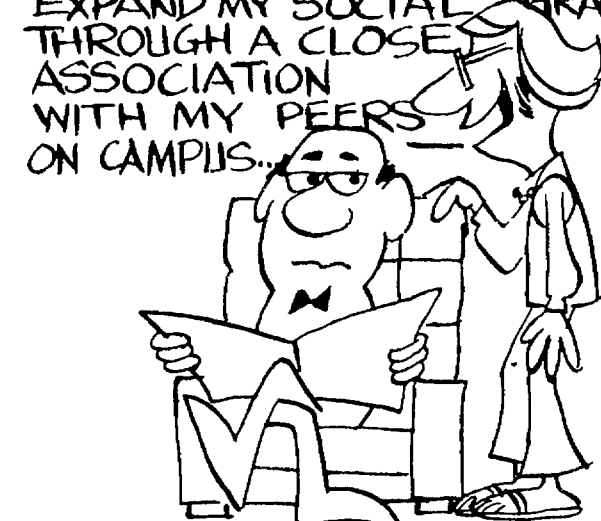

WHERE DO I LOOK NOW, FATHER, FOR THE UNKNOWN HORIZONS THAT STRETCH AIMLESSLY ACROSS MY FUTURE?

AN ADOLESCENCE OVERFLOWING WITH PARENTAL LOVE AND UNDERSTANDING AT EVERY EVENTFUL TURN OF MY YOUNG LIFE FROM BIRTH, THRU THE TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS OF MY EARLY SCHOOLING AND....

AND THE INCOMPARABLE EXPERIENCE OF BEING ABLE TO EXPAND MY SOCIAL GRACES THROUGH A CLOSE ASSOCIATION WITH MY PEERS ON CAMPUIS...

AND NOW, AFTER THESE ENUNERABLE PERSONAL ENCOUNTERS WITH ALL PHASES OF EDUCATIONAL, SOCIAL AND SPIRITUAL LIFE, I'VE MADE THE COMPLETE CIRCLE... RETURNING HERE TO WHERE IT ALL BEGAN....

"More than two years ago, I came to the conclusion that if we were ever to reduce our rampaging inflation that Congress has to reform its budget-making process," 2nd District Congressman Marvin Esch stated this week. "For too long, Congress has approached the federal budget in ad-hoc, slipshod, and irresponsible fashion and the results were obvious — high deficits, lack of control over spending, and a failure to establish priorities."

"For this reason, 1971 I introduced the Federal Fiscal Responsibility Act, which would dramatically reform the Congressional budget-making process by establishing a power Budget Committee to oversee the Appropriations process and to review the President's budget, as well as to re-establish the fiscal year to coincide with the calendar year. It also established a required ceiling on federal spending."

"Thus far, Congress has moved on one of these concepts — the establishment of a powerful Budget Committee. Although this has been done with little public fanfare, the establishment of this Committee is perhaps the most significant move in Congress to reform its procedures during the last twenty years."

"If faithfully implemented by the deadline of 1976, this budget reform bill would force Congress into more measured and timely action on budgetary legislation, tying its separate spending decisions together with fiscal policy objectives in a congressionally determined budget package."

Marjorie Lansing, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 2nd District, has been endorsed by the district Michigan Women's Political Caucus, Chairperson Vivian Shaner announced at a luncheon honoring women office holders and candidates at the Olds Plaza in Lansing.

"We have endorsed Marj for her goals and ideals concerning women's roles and for her acceptance of women in decision-making positions within her campaign," Ms. Shaner said.

Mrs. Lansing, who was honored as one of two women seeking Congressional nominations in Michigan, criticized under representation of qualified women in Congress.

"There are 55 percent lawyers and 3 percent women in a Congress which only 21 percent of the American people trust," she said. "I am running as a woman who is well qualified to make government more representative through my knowledge of the legislative process, my long experience as an activist and my concern for honest government without special interest subsidy," she said.

The campaign of Dr. Ed Pierce, the Ann Arbor physician seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Second District, picked up more steam in the Ypsilanti area Tuesday with the announcement of the endorsement of longtime Ypsi Democrat Burleson Fitzharris.

Fitzharris, a former chairman of the Ypsilanti city Democratic party, had previously been a supporter of Ronald Egnor, but said that he had "become convinced that Dr. Pierce is not only the best qualified Democrat in this primary, but is also the man most likely to beat the Republican incumbent in November."

"I believe that what the Democrats need to win this Congressional race this year is a candidate with deep roots in the district and who understands its people," Fitzharris continued. "Ed Pierce is such a man. He has served the people of this area for years as a low-cost doctor and a leader in local government."

The officers of the Oakland County Democratic Party today voted unanimously to urge the party to endorse Gene Kuthy at a July 9 meeting called to consider endorsements in the county executive race.

"We don't care to have the Republican Party's trash dumped in our front lawn," party chairman Betty Howe said in announcing the decision of the party officers.

Kuthy, of West Bloomfield Township, is opposed in the Democratic primary August 6th by the ousted Republican drain commissioner Daniel Barry.

The Honorable Sanford A. Brown, former Michigan State Treasurer in the G. Mennen Williams Administration, has been appointed Statewide Director of Jerome P. Cavanagh's campaign for the Michigan Democratic gubernatorial campaign.

The appointment of Brown, now a Bay Port lumber dealer, was announced today by Cavanagh. Brown, in accepting the task, said he was motivated by the fact that Cavanagh has the proven ability "to rescue the State from the grasp of the Republican party and return it to the people."

Brown said he would divide his time between the Cavanagh For Governor headquarters in Detroit and making visits outstate. He said he would devote full time to his new assignment.

FROM KURT H. Glazer, Democratic candidate for Northville township trustee — "It has been mentioned that the Northville Township Board of Trustees are going to finance a sewer construction project with bonds that have a higher interest rate than was anticipated. This, they claim, will not cost the taxpayer in more money. They go on to say that any cost overruns will be paid for out of the sewer and water fund, which is supposed to pay mainly for the upkeep and installation of more such lines."

These officials are therefore saying in effect that this project will call for more money than these bonds will probably pay for. We all should remember we the taxpayers elect these officials to spend our tax dollars in a wise and efficient way.

Nearby Irish Hills Offers Restful Break

The lush, rolling Irish Hills in southeastern Michigan's Lenawee County is one of the state's most picturesque and historic areas and has much to offer the tourist, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

At the peak of summer, up to 10,000 cars travel through the area on an average Sunday, attesting to its popularity among southeastern Michigan attractions.

At the edge of the Irish Hills, Saline and Clinton are among the area communities well worth a visit to view examples of 19th century architecture. Saline was settled in 1824 and Clinton in 1838. Both are communities removed from the tensions of a big city and visitors will find the people there genuinely friendly.

West of Clinton is the central part of the Irish Hills, so named by the Rev. William Lyster because the gentle slopes and sparkling lakes reminded him of his native land.

The Irish Hills is an area of about six square miles, with Cambridge Junction at the intersection of US-12 and M-50 considered the hub. Most of the things to see are along US-12 or M-50, between Clinton and US-127.

The area was settled in the 1830s by families who had left "the Auld Sod" of Ireland because of recurrent famines from potato crop failures.

They found this to be a lush area for farms and made their first permanent mark with St. Joseph's Shrine, a stone church started in 1854 which has drawn uncounted multitudes of worshippers to its Outdoor Stations of the Cross overlooking a small lake. In the old churchyard are graves of Irish pioneers.

There are 52 lakes in the Irish Hills and most of them are visible from the twin 64-foot observation towers that have been an area landmark for many years.

Seven miles west of Clinton on US-40 is Bauer Manor, a roadhouse dating to 1834 where stagecoach travelers bound for Chicago over the bumpy Sauk Trail could stay overnight. It is still a restaurant.

Another old roadhouse is Springville Inn, six miles west of Tipton on M-50, now an antique shop.

Four miles away is Walker Tavern in Cambridge Junction, once the junction of Michigan's old Chicago and Monroe turnpikes. Built in 1832, the inn's onetime notable guests included statesman Daniel Webster and James Fenimore Cooper, American novelist. Cooper spent considerable time here and the locale appears in some of his books.

Now under state supervision, Walker Tavern is now undergoing restoration and is closed to the public. However, an interpretation center and a restored barn have been open daily 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. since July 4. Both exhibit stagecoaches and pioneer artifacts.

Strung out in other areas are a score of other attractions, ranging from a "Prehistoric Forest" of dinosaur and Triceratops sculptures to gravity-defying "Mystery Hill", where water runs up and people can't fall down.

W. J. Hayes State Park, nine miles west of Clinton on US-12 and M-124, covers 654 acres in Lenawee, Jackson and Washtenaw Counties, and capitalizes on the beauty of the Irish Hills.

Most extensive of all the attractions is "Stagecoach Stop," an 1890-vintage Wild West town now in its tenth season which has been expanded to include early Americana and Old West displays. It's also on US-12, three miles east of the M-50 and US-12 intersection, across from Hayes State Park. There's enough here to keep most visitors occupied for several hours.

Cedar Point, Inc., of Sandusky, Ohio, has announced plans to develop an amusement park on the site of Frontier City, on M-50 about a mile south of Cambridge Junction. Construction will begin next year and the park is scheduled to open in 1976. Cost will be around $15 million and facilities will include rides, camping facilities and a children's playground.

The Hidden Lake Gardens, at Tipton, is comprised of 620 acres of rolling Irish Hills. The original owners, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Fee, of Adrian, gave Hidden Lake Gardens to Michigan State University in 1945 and set up trust funds to insure future maintenance and development. Hidden Lake Gardens attracted 221,000 persons last year.

A visit to the Irish Hills might be summed up as fun for the entire family.

Rough-riding rodeo to highlight Farmington Founder's Festival.

It's Founder's Festival For Fun in Farmington

This year the Farmington Founder's Festival will be bigger and better than ever before...and more fun.

Drawing national attention to Farmington will be International Rodeo

Tim McGuire

To Chair Meet

Tim McGuire has been named Brighton registration chairman for The Way International's fourth annual Rock of Ages Christian Music Festival scheduled for August 15-18 in Sidney, Ohio.

McGuire, who lives at 8704 Ardmore, Brighton, will be responsible for making tickets, registration, camping and housing information available to those in the Brighton area interested in attending the festival.

Association (IRA) sanction rodeo, held all three days of the festival, July 19th and 20th at 8 p.m. and July 20th and 21st at 2 p.m.

There will be rides, games, bands to listen to, the beauty pageant and crowning of the queen, and the ever-popular pigeon race opening the event on Thursday the 18th.

The rodeo, which already has drawn the attention of the cowboys and cowgirls, is sponsored by the Farmington Area Jaycees. The Jaycees have been working hard to make the rodeo site, 12 Mile and Farmington Road, ready for the event. The area will be plowed up and fenced in. Large parking areas will be marked off with easy accessibility to the two main roads and bleachers for 3,000 people will be constructed on the site, standing room only areas will be established as well as the main rodeo arena.

All rodeo equipment and stock is being supplied by the J Bar J Ranch of Clare, Michigan, one of the largest rodeo companies supplying the IRA. John Sprys, Jaycees Chairman and Tom Decker, Rodeo Coordinator, point out that the Farmington Rodeo will be the real thing. Decker, himself a former national champion rodeoer says, "If a person were to close his eyes and then open them, you wouldn't know if you were in Farmington or Cheyenne, Wyoming. The cowboys won't know either as J Bar J Ranch, with national bareback horse of 1973, Nightmare, among their top quality stock."

Dramatically designed homes, spectacularly located among Brighton's wooded hills.

Immediate occupancy available

We set out to share nature's beauty without spoiling it, at Hamilton Farms. And it's a dream come true. Still peaceful. Wooded. Private. Reminding you of an earlier time around here, when life was less hurried and more pleasurable. The best of the old and the new.

Hamilton Farms features condominium homes: ranches and two-stories with two or three bedrooms and full basements. The price includes all the features most buyers want: fireplaces, equipped kitchens, private patio and/or balcony, central air-conditioning and more. Much more.

Come August, you'll also have a swimming pool and cabana and by fall, shuffleboard and tennis courts, bicycle paths — something for everyone to enjoy. And, nearby, the parks and lakes and year-around sports that attracted you to the Brighton area in the first place.

Our condominium homes are ready for occupancy now, so come look us over. Once you see Hamilton Farms, we think you'll like us as much as you already like this area. For many of the same reasons.

AWAITING THE DECISION—Fairway Landscaping's Barry Deal looks for the umpire's call after putting the tag on Dutch VanIngen of the Manufacturer's National Bank team. Deal didn't have to wait long and was satisfied with the decision, as the umpire called VanIngen out at third on the play. Fairway Landscaping and NMB are both strong contenders in the race for the runner-up spot in the tough American League division of the Northville Recreation Department's Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League.

Northville Police Bounced Twice

The last place Northville Police have been having their share of trouble coping with the other National League teams and found their problems continuing as they fell to league leading Plymouth State Home, as well as VFW Post 4012 last week.

In other contests, the Presbyterian Men's Club upended Keith Heating 9-6, the Newcomers walloped St. Paul Lutheran 15-3 and the Tavern squeaked by Presbyterian Men's Club 6-5.

In the first Northville Police contest Monday, July 1, the Veterans scored every inning but two to wrap up the victory 10-5.

A double by Vince Dow, a single by Jim Honsinger and an error allowed the Police to grab the lead in the first inning for the only time of the game.

Four singles gave the VFW three runs in the bottom of the first inning while three more singles and an error added two runs in the second inning.

The Northville Police added one run in the fifth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh to round out their scoring while the VFW settled for pushing across three runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth to make the final tally 10-5.

Leading the victory surge for the Veterans were Don Modine who went three for four at the plate with two singles and a triple. John Dodd knocked three singles while Kerry Luedke smashed two.

The Police were led by Vince Dow with a double and single while Dave Toolanen and Butch Thacher each picked up a pair of singles.

In the second Northville Police contest, Tuesday, July 2, the men in blue were never in the contest as Plymouth State Home collected only four hits but bagged eight runs in the first two innings.

Four errors on the part of the Northville Police helped as three of the four runners to reach base by that route scored.

State Home took advantage of an error and three singles, to give them an 11-0 edge. The Northville Police used an error and singles by Roy Sabin and Tim Borkus to close the lead to 11-2 in the bottom of the fifth inning.

Leading hitters for Plymouth State Home were Ray Courter with three singles and Norm Angner and Bob Robertson, each with two singles.

Northville Police were led by Ron White with two singles.

The second place Newcomers raised its record to 9-3 by outitting St. Paul Lutheran 12-7 and capitalizing on seven errors.

Ten runs were tallied by the Newcomers in the first inning. Two singles by Bill Todd and Mac Richardson, plus one apiece for Bob DeAlexandris, Gary Armstrong, Mark Miller and Paul Steckley added together, with three back-to-back errors, led the Little Caesars rampage.

Leading hitters for the loser were Carl Welti and Dennis Foster with two singles each. Todd, Richardson, Steckley, DeAlexandris, Holloway and Armstrong contributed two hits for the Newcomers.

Tavern, which a short while ago fell from second to third position had a battle on its hands when it met Presbyterian Men's Club Monday, July 1 but managed to pull out the game, 6-5.

The Presbyterians were leading 5-1 going into the sixth inning but Tavern utilized two errors and four singles to score four runs in the sixth inning. A single by Pat Bullion and a ground-out followed by a Mark Finley single pushed across what proved to be the winning Tavern run in the seventh inning.

Easy Recovery

Choo Choo Crushes Last Place Jaycees

Choo Choo Car Wash found out that the road to recovery need not be rocky — at least when they find the last place Northville Jaycees as the opposition.

Choo Choo, which up until two weeks ago hadn't lost a game in two years, had an easy time squashing the Jaycees 16-4 Monday, July 1. The victory kept the car washers solidly in first place with a 9-1 record as number two John Mach Ford lost a half game in the standings by not playing.

Choo Choo was downed 18-12 two weeks ago by Fairway Landscaping. The Northville Jaycees were obviously looking for another upset as they took the field against the perennial favorite.

In fact, the Jaycees, who haven't won a game all year, did jump off to a 3-1 lead in the first inning. Part of the blame has to go to Choo Choo which gave up two errors. However, it wasn't all their fault as the Jaycees slashed five singles.

In the top of the second inning, Choo Choo took firm control of the game on four singles, a double and an error which allowed the Car Washers to tally eight runs.

The Jaycees came back with another run in the bottom of the inning but Choo Choo added insult to injury with four runs in the third, one in the fourth and two in the sixth.

The third inning onslaught came by way of singles from the bats of Jim Zayti, Charlie Sorenson and Rich Adams. Tom Albers followed with a triple to drive in his teammates and then followed them home on a sacrifice by John Bida.

Leading batters for Choo Choo were Albers with two singles in addition to the double and Jerry Wedge who had a double and two singles. With three singles, Ron Ritenour led the Car Washers.

The Northville Jaycees were involved in the only other American League contest of the week and found themselves on the bottom end of a 12-1 romp by Hamlet Food Mart.

Hamlet Food jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the second inning on singles by Bob Cole, Gary Cox and Jeff Jones. The following inning, singles by Cox, Jeff Jones, John Genitt, Devitt and a double by Lubnick pushed across seven more runs.

The lone run of the contest for the Jaycees came in the fourth inning as Tom Lang reached first base on an error and made it to home on singles by Ron Beier and Maxwell Clark.

The market men pushed through three more runs in the sixth inning on an error and singles by Roger Schultz, Russ Kelly and Devitt.

At Navajo Arena

Horse Show Set Sunday

The Shiawasee Saddle Club will present its 17th annual horse show Sunday, July 21, at the Navajo Arena, on M-59 four miles west of the M-59 and US-23 interchange.

The show, which will begin at 8:30 a.m., will be judged by Richard Forbush of Fenton.

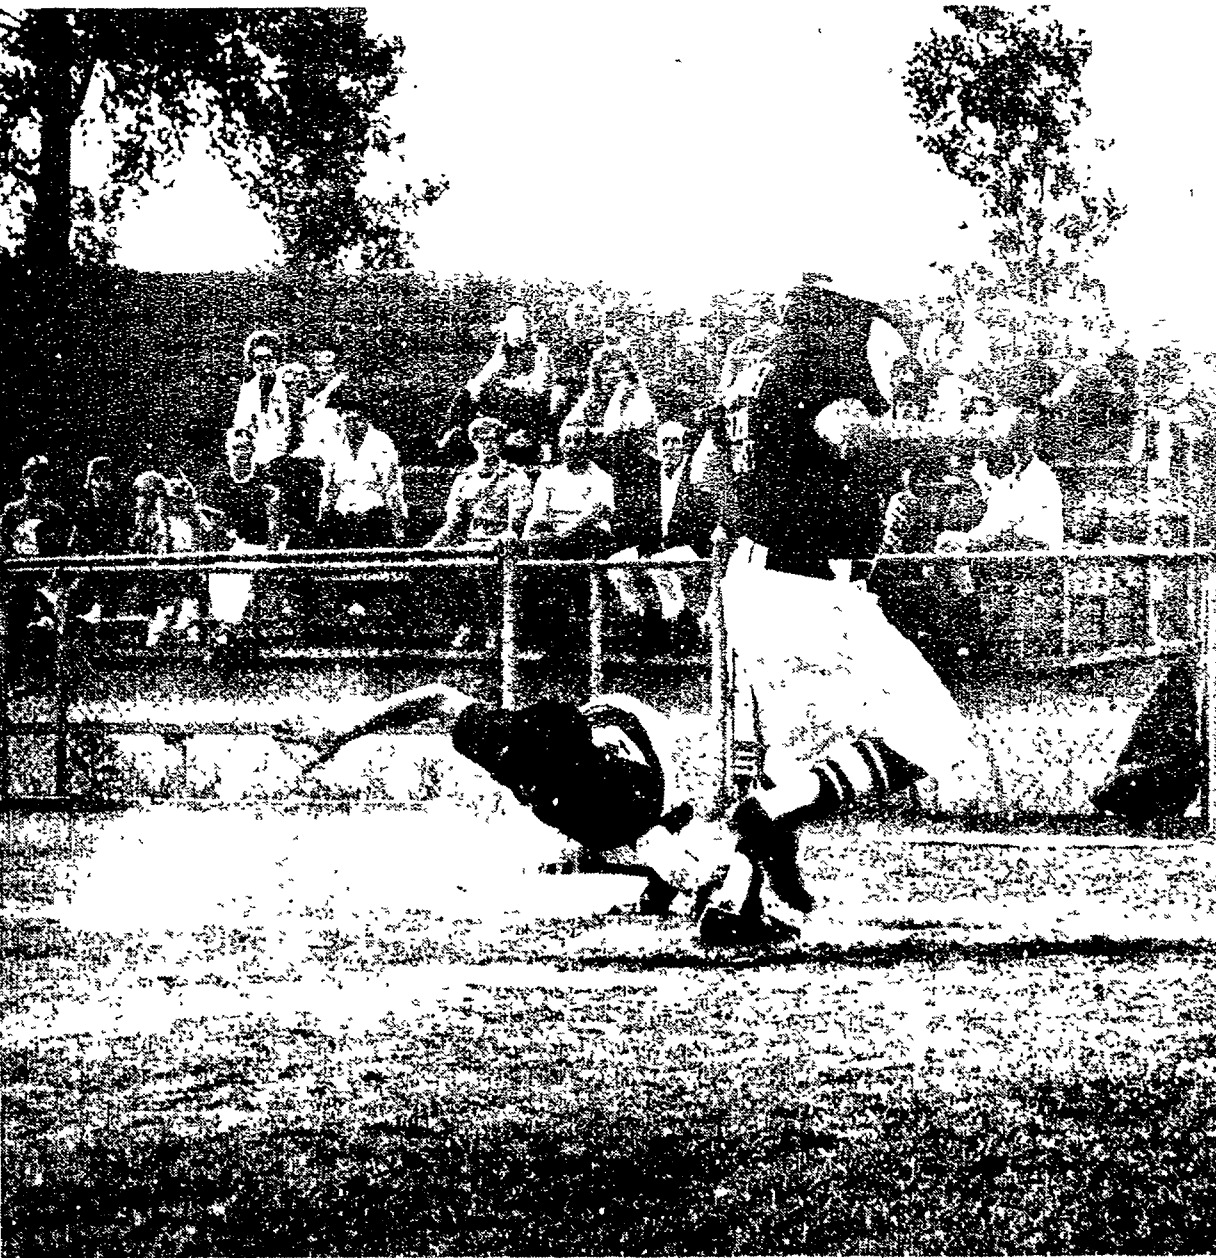

The show will include classes in both English and Western tack. Competition is to be divided into three age groups — 11 and under, 12 through 14, and 15 and over. Classes included will be halter, horsemanship and pleasure classes.

Admission price for the show has been set at $1 for adults with children under 12 admitted free. Refreshments will be available at the arena.

The Shiawasee Saddle Club is based in Livingston and Oakland counties, with members from South Lyon, Brighton, Howell, Novi, Southfield and Northville.

DIVING TAG—Rick Asher, catcher for the John Mach Ford team, lunges forward to tag Hamlet Food Mart's Bob Cole out at the plate in a bang-bang play in Northville Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League action recently. With efforts like this one, the Car Dealers managed to register a 10-5 win over the Food Mart squad.

Two Remain Undeclared in Knothole Hardball

Entry Deadline August 10

Twins Win Extra-Inning Thriller

And then there were two. That's the number of undefeated teams left in the Knothole Hardball program following action last week which, in a battle of the unbeatens, knocked out one of the three remaining undefeated teams.

Wilson and Hanson smacked two singles apiece for the Cardinals, while McLaughlin led the way with three of the one base variety.

In the other game involving a leader, the Rangers had an easy time cruising to its 12-4 victory over the Bruins.

The outcome of the game was in little doubt as the Rangers scored eight runs in the first three innings. The Bruins staged a mild comeback with all four of their runs striking in the bottom of the third inning.

Two more runs were knotted by the winning Rangers in the fourth inning and one more in the fifth and seventh innings.

McDermott and Mitchell each had four hits for the winner while Sowa contributed a home run and a single. Williams, Kurzawa and Fosten each smashed out two hits.

For the loser, Tuggle compiled two hits.

The Indians, who had previously not won a contest, scored 10 runs in the sixth inning to end the match-up early, 17-7. In that inning the Indians smacked out eight hits.

Leading hitters for the warring Indians were Ward, Greer, Simark and Lang with three hits apiece. Jennings, Ward, Greer and Lang each collected a round tripper. Baxter and Mueller each crunched two hits.

Top men at the plate for the Yankees were VanGieson with four hits and Balek with three. They were followed by Zimmerman with two base hits. The Cubs and Padres participated in a real slug fest, but when the dust cleared, the Cubs were a three run winner, 19-16. The Cubs rapped an impressive 27 hits while the Padres were 10 behind with 17.

Steady hitting and scoring were the secrets behind the Cub's victory. They scored every inning including four runs in the second, sixth and seventh inning, and three in the third inning.

The Padres meanwhile concentrated their runs in the first, sixth and seventh innings. In those stanzas the Padres scored five, eight and three runs respectively.

Phil Lamb showed the way for the winners with six hits, never being retired. Teammates Matt Yanoschik, Rod Barans and Dave Walters also had perfect nights at the plate with five hits each.

Joe Traudt collected three hits including a home run while teammate Jim Tweedie hit another round tripper.

For the Padres, John Lyle smacked three hits including a home run and a double. Chuck Biskhoff had four singles and a home run while Andy Williams came up with three hits.

Tom Potter hit two complete circuits and John Lyle another.

In a short four-and-a-half inning affair, the Bruins pounded the Bucks into an 11-1 submission.

Eight hits gave the Bruins seven first inning runs. Two more were added in each of the third and fourth innings.

The Bucks scored their lone tally in the fourth inning when hits by Dan Brennan, Steve King and Mark Moshier sent a run home.

No Bruin's batter came to the plate more than twice, but six players had perfect nights. They were Zion, Norton, Tug, L. Wallace, Ledwick and Mike Olgren.

Pacing the Bucks was Steve King with a double and single.

Rotary Tourney Sets Tennis Dates

Plans for the third annual Northville Rotary Tennis Tournament were announced last week by Wes Henrikson, tournament chairman.

The 1974 tourney will feature play in three divisions — advanced, intermediate, and beginner. There will be competition for each of the three divisions in men's and women's singles, men's and women's doubles, and mixed doubles.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners, while all entrants will receive a free set of sweatbands.

The tournament is slated for Saturday and Sunday, August 17-18.

There is an entry fee of $5 per event. No family will have to pay more than $15 in entry fees.

To be eligible to play in the tourney, contestants must live in Northville, Northville Township, or the Northville school district. People who work in Northville are also eligible.

Deadline for registrations is August 10. Entry blanks may be picked up at Northville Sporting Goods (near the Spinning Wheel) or the Henrikson Insurance Agency at 311 East Main. Entry forms will also appear in upcoming editions of The Northville Record.

Profits from the tourney will be used to purchase equipment for the high school tennis courts. Two years ago the Rotary purchased sod for the west side of the courts and last year proceeds from the tourney were used to purchase wind breaks.

According to Henrikson, the Rotary plans to use the profits from this year's tourney to purchase additional wind breaks to cover another side of the courts.

Eye Soccer League For Boys Age 9-12

Plans are currently underway to form a soccer league in Northville for nine to 12 year old boys.

Behind the program is Norm Davis, who coached S.A.Y. soccer in Ohio for two years prior to moving to Northville. S.A.Y. soccer is a nationally recognized youth soccer program.

At present Davis is looking for boys interested in learning the game and fathers who will coach teams and assist with the program.

There will be a series of clinics in September to teach coaches and players the rules of the game. Practices will begin at approximately the same time and games will begin in October.

Games will be played in Northville on Saturday mornings.

Soccer is the most popular team game in the world. There are 11 players per team. Regulation soccer calls for two forty-five minute halves. However, youth soccer consists of two thirty minute halves with no time outs and a ten minute halftime.

Davis boosts soccer as an ideal sport for all boys since it builds stamina and emphasizes team work.

Plans call for the formation of four teams with each team having a roster of 16 players.

For further information about the program contact Davis at 348-1289.

Wes Hendrickson in leading the men's club at the bat while Rick Pringle also collected two singles to pace the Tavern.

Presbyterian Men's Club may have lost to Tavern but they took out some of their frustrations by bouncing Keith Heating 9-6 the following night.

A fielder's choice followed by an error and singles from Bruce Griggs and Ray Tisch pushed across two Keith Heating scores in the initial inning.

Men's Club came back with three singles and three runs in the top of the second inning. The singles were by Jim Curl, Bill Beason and Rich Sivert. Gary Calder and Jerry Levan rapped out singles to give Keith the 4-3 lead in the third inning.

The following inning, two singles and three errors gave the Men's Club two more runs and the lead 5-4.

A walk and back-to-back singles by Jerry Levan, Bruce Griggs and Ray Tisch gave Keith heating a 6-5 lead which the Men's Club took away in the seventh inning.

Bouckaert Concerned for Youth

Bundo to Campaign in Bars

EDITOR'S NOTE— The last-minute announcement by Republican Clifford Smart that he would not seek reelection to his 24th District seat in the House of Representatives stirred new interest in that post. Seven Republicans seek to succeed Smart, while two Democrats compete for their party's nomination. Because of the intense interest and number of local candidates in this contest, all have been questioned by this newspaper. Responses from the nine candidates will appear weekly, alphabetically, starting with two Republican candidates in this issue. The 24th State Representative District includes the cities of Novi, Walled Lake, Keego Harbor, Orchard Lake, Wixom, Milford, South Lyon and the Oakland county portion of the city of Northville, and the townships of White Lake, Milford, Commerce, Lyon, Novi and the west half of West Bloomfield. The nine candidates seeking nomination August 6 are: Democrats—William Brinker and Edwin E. Presnell, both of Novi; Republicans—Victor Bouckaert and Benjamin Bundo, Jr., both of Walled Lake; Louie C. Campbell and LaVerne M. DeWard, both of Novi; Richard D. Fessler Union Lake; Patricia A. Riccobono, Union Lake; and Frazer W. Staman, Wixom.

serve the common people. I probably have had as many close dealings with the adult population of this district as Smart has in 24 years in business you meet a lot of people."

A lifelong Oakland County resident, Bundo has been in business 24 years and has been active in Eagles, Elks and Veterans of Foreign Wars in addition to running his Walled Lake bowling alley and bar (the Camelot Inn). Bundo believes the average person wants new faces and ideas in the legislature ("They've been doing a halfway reasonable job but they're not putting in as much effort as is needed").

Some laws, especially liquor laws, in Michigan are antiquated, Bundo claims. These he hopes to revise along with the state's entire tax structure. He says that real estate, personal property, income tax and sales tax laws all are "in trouble—the whole structure needs revision".

Bundo believes that "If I do a halfway decent job in those key areas in the next two years I will have accomplished what I have been elected to do."

He says legislators try to serve too many interests and feels that the individual representative must be "honest with himself" concerning what can be accomplished.

He was born in Oakland County in 1926. Married and the father of three daughters, Bundo is a high school graduate with college courses from St. Norbert's (Minnesota) and Biarritz in southern France.

Bundo spent three years in the United States Army

His only previous political efforts came three years ago when he finished second of four candidates for Walled Lake City Council. He filed but did not campaign in 1972 for Oakland County Commissioner (24th District).

"Other than that," Bundo noted, "my only political action has come in combatting the Walled Lake Council because they keep trying to close my business."

VICTOR BOUCKAERT

Bouckaert

"I feel citizens have lost confidence in government and public officials and I think it's affecting both parties," stated Victor Bouckaert of Walled Lake, a Republican candidate for the Michigan House of Representatives.

Bouckaert claims that while he feels the Republican party has been particularly affected by Watergate, he thinks people can identify with the office holder rather than simply with a party.

"My attitude has been affected by six years in the Republican Party. I pledged to support Paul McCuskey and I don't appreciate Watergate. I don't think, however, that an office holder has to have a stereotyped image."

Bouckaert says that while he is not attempting to "fill Cliff Smart's shoes" he feels he can do an adequate job in the Michigan House.

"If I didn't feel I could do a good job I wouldn't have filed," stated Bouckaert.

He admits, however, that had Smart filed he would not be running against him for the seat.

Bouckaert says two major issues will be particularly important to him as a legislator.

"I have to admit that as an educator I am very concerned that the youth of today are prepared for the world of tomorrow. Public schools are the chief avenue to accomplish this."

In addition to this campaign issue, however, is the restoration of public confidence and trust in government.

"Faith in office holders by their constituency has to be restored and confidence in government must be re-established by the men who hold office."

Bouckaert says that if he had to rank the Michigan legislature in comparison to all states it would be "above average", in his opinion.

He does, however, think that the legislature is moving far too slowly.

"I would hope that I can personally tolerate the slow, laborious way government seems to react. As a person I get very frustrated because there are so many areas which need improvement."

Bouckaert says he believes that his major qualification for the office is his knowledge of the district.

"I grew up on the shores of White Lake, and am a graduate of Milford High. My family has lived in this area for many years and I have lived in the corners and the center of this district. I feel I know the people and the people know me."

"I want to identify as one of them."

"If I am my party's primary choice, I pledge to conduct my campaign in every bar in the 24th District."

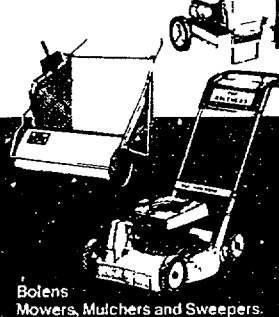

So says Benjamin Bundo Jr. of Walled Lake who is one of seven Republicans eying the seat Clifford Smart is retiring from this year.

Bundo, himself a bar owner, feels that the only real way to approach "grass roots America" is by going to the bars, lounges and night spots and "buying a beer, playing a game of pool and listening to what they have to say."

He stresses this point by referring to the importance of the colonial innkeeper in America and by reflecting on the need to be a "philosopher" if you're a bartender.

"You learn all sides of human nature in running a bar," he maintains, "I think my background has made me better qualified than any of these other candidates to

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

By JEANNE CLARKE

Benjamin Maddox is the name for the new baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Maddox, (former Becky Lyke). He weighed eight pounds and was born June 18 at St. Paul, Minnesota. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wardell Lyke of 12 Mile Road and Mr. and Mrs. James Maddox of Midland. Mrs. Lyke has returned from spending a week in Minnesota with her new grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Clarke of 11 Mile Road have returned from spending three weeks in Ireland. They flew from New York and landed at Sharron, Ireland. While they were there they visited Limerick, Killarney, Cork, and the city of Dublin among others. They also visited castles, abbeys and cathedrals. They report the people are the friendliest and were most hospitable.

Visiting from Joplin, Missouri, at the home of Orlando Bumann of Wixom Road is Jane Burgess.

Mrs. Hattie Garlick of Novi Road has returned from spending the weekend with Mrs. Ralph Lorenz of Plymouth. Also present was Mrs. Daisy Roberts of Utah. These ladies are all in their eighties and were former school mates and really enjoyed their visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Brent Munro attended a Rock Hound picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pierson of Hazlett, Michigan last Sunday afternoon. There were about 75 guests from all over Michigan who share a mutual interest in rocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Clarke entertained friends from Westland who were former residents of Novi, Mrs. Doris Bean and her son, Mr. Bill Bean last Sunday. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Timko.

Mr. and Mrs. John Klasener of Beck Road celebrated their 51st wedding anniversary last Friday night by having dinner with their family at a restaurant.

Mrs. Edwin Steinberger and her daughter, Mrs. Daniel White (former Jo Ellen), have returned from spending a week in West Virginia visiting relatives.

Mr. Bill Fox who had knee surgery recently has returned home from Harper Hospital and will be convalescing for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Glance of Stassen Street attended a picnic at School Lake on the Fourth of July, accompanied by other friends of the Dukes and Duchesses group.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rose (Alison Lyke) of New York City, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wardell Lyke of 12 Mile Road, also friends in Lansing and Jackson last week.

Mrs. Louise Breese and son Ralph from Clinton are visiting the Dobek family of 12 Mile Road for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Campbell, and daughters Linda, Brenda and Lisa, have returned from spending two and a half weeks in Clearwater Beach, Florida, visiting Mrs. Campbell's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Brent Munro visited the Clarence Morgan's of Whitmore Lake recently. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart of 13 Mile Road have returned from spending the Fourth of July weekend with Mrs. Stewart's mother at St. Ignace.

Mrs. Marie Travis and Mrs. Betsey Clarke enjoyed a mutual birthday party on July fourth at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Clarke. Also present were other relatives and friends.

Sergeant Robert Dobek and his wife Patricia will be leaving soon for Germany where Sergeant Dobek will be stationed for two years.

Novi Women's Golf League

The competition is getting keen with the ladies as this week the scores indicate several ties. In first place are Connie Lunski and Marianne Gross; in second place are Marilyn Vettraino and Mary Wikman and in third place are Nancy Bayer and Lori Fear.

Novi Welcome Wagon

A reminder to all members who would like to help or bring a cake to the monthly birthday party for patients at White Hall from 1:30 to 2:30. Contact Carline Harwick for additional information.

Substitutes are needed in the golf league, this group plays at Bob-o-Link in Novi on Wednesdays at 9 a.m. If you are interested contact 349-3934, Carline Harwick.

North Novi Civic Association

July 16 is the next meeting of this group, composed of citizens north of 12 Mile Road. If you haven't attended before plan to be present on this evening to hear Lou Campbell, from Novi who is a candidate for State Representative for our district. The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Novi Community Building on Novi Road.

Novi Senior Citizens

Forty Novi senior citizens left from the Novi Community Building on July 9 to see George Gobel on the Show Boat at Chesaning. They are also planning to participate in the Novi Gala Days from July 10-13. If you are new in the community and haven't joined this group yet, plan now to call and get in on the fun for the rest of the summer. Plans are being made to leave Novi on August 14 for a four day trip to Montreal. Contact Mrs. Virginia Bruce at 525-4188 for additional information.

Novi Rebekah Lodge

Novi Rebekah Lodge will meet tonight, Thursday, for the last meeting prior to the summer closing of lodge until September. All members are urged to be present for the reports.

Novi Rotary Club

Today, Thursday, at noon, at Saratoga Trunk, the Rotarians will be meeting with the newly installed officers. John Henderson is the new president.

Several of the Rotarians' wives are organizing a Rotarians' group, and Margaret Johnson has been acting as temporary chairman. The next meeting will be July 23 at the Depot Novi at 7:30, dinner if desired. Plans include organizing a slate of officers at this time.

Novi Friends Of The Library

July 19 and 20 is the time to get the early jump on Christmas shopping. Think cool and attend the book sale at the Community Building on Novi Road. There will be new books available for sale for both children and adults, also used books available. Proceeds from the sale will go towards special equipment at the Library. If you have any books you would like to donate, drop boxes are located all over town in the stores. All youngsters are reminded who are in the reading contest of the prizes and certificates that will be awarded this month.

Novi Lions Club

Outgoing president Richard Faulkner and wife, Irene, have returned from the International Lions Convention in San Francisco July 3-6. The Lions will be participating in the Novi Gala Days and will resume meetings under the leadership of new president Earl Bailey.

Novi Girl Scouts

Leaders are reminded of the discount tickets to Cedar Point that are offered to Southern Oakland through the Lathrup Village Recreation Department. Ticket prices are $5.85 for adults and $4.85 for Juniors age 4-11. The park opens at 9 a.m. Rides at 10 a.m. and park closes at 10 p.m. Contact 557-2600, Recreation Department for further details.

For Beautification

Novi Commission Elects Toth Head

Joseph Toth has been elected chairman of the recently-appointed Novi Beautification Commission. Other officers elected by the 15-member commission are Thomas Swope, treasurer, and Robert Brooks, secretary.

By-laws for the organization were approved by the Novi City Council at its Monday night session. The council also voted the advisory commission a budget of $100 to be taken from the community promotion fund.

By-laws call for the annual meeting of the commission to be held on the third Thursday of April at 8 p.m. Regular meetings will be held on the third Thursday of each month.

Toth told the council that the commission is presently meeting every week in an effort to get programs operational as soon as possible. One of the first programs undertaken by the group, Toth reported, will be the awarding of certificates of recognition to Novi residents — residential, commercial, and industrial—who are doing their part to further the beautification of the city.

Presently, there is one vacancy on the 15-member commission. Citizens interested in serving on the group should contact Novi City Hall at 349-4300.

SEVEN MILE WORK—Those trips down Seven Mile Road spent dodging chuck holes will soon be a thing of the past. This week work began on repairing the road from Nor-

Municipalities Share Job Funds

Forty cities and townships will share a total of more than $2.5 million in Federal job funds, to be distributed through the Wayne County Office of Manpower.

A total of $2,565,500 will be allocated among the localities under the adult employment section (Title 2) of the U.S. Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

Originally, only $664,400 was expected to be available for allocation among the 40 communities. That figure was based on a 4.9 percent rate in Wayne County outside Detroit for the 90 days beginning June 1, 1973.

However, that tentative amount was revised upward when a second survey established a 7.3 percent jobless rate for the same area for the 90 days from Feb. 1, 1974.

Allocations also received a boost because the Congress appropriated $370 million for Title 2 of CETA, compared with the $250 million requested by the Administration.

Detroit, Dearborn and Livonia are excluded from the county allocations because cities with more than 100,000 population received direct grants from the U.S. Department of Labor.

The CETA program was designed to provide public employment funds in areas with jobless rates of at least 6.5 percent over a 90-day period.

The county based its allocations for localities on a formula which considered a community's jobless rate, size of work force and number of disadvantaged residents.

Recruitment of employees under the CETA program will be handled by the individual municipalities. The Office of Manpower is a department of the County Board of Commissioners.

Funds available for local use include $11,907 for Northville township and $7,449 for the City of Northville.

To College Auto Lab

Ford Donates Parts

At its June meeting, the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees officially accepted a donation of $3,500 worth of engine components presented earlier by Ford Motor Company for the College's automotive components laboratory.

On hand to accept the components were dean of applied sciences Ted Diebel and automotive instructor James Taylor. Presenting the engine components from Ford were Richard Powers, manager, community affairs department, and Feix C. McDavid, manager of the national parts distribution center in Livonia.

Also representing Ford Motor Company were Lee Kollins, secretary of the contributions committee and Ed Gorman, public relations manager of Ford parts division in Livonia.

In the past the company has donated large automobile parts such as engines and chassis. However, small engine components, which consist of such items as carburetors, spark plugs, air cleaners, batteries, and distributors, are also needed for automotive instruction. The engine components donations are part of a new contributions program at Ford.

Following the presentation,

Dean Diebel and Taylor took the Ford representatives on a tour of Schoolcraft's automotive instruction facilities.

Schoolcraft offers programs in both automotive service and automotive service management. Each requires two years or approximately 70 credit hours of study to complete, and graduates earn an associate in applied science degree. Eighty students were enrolled in these programs during the past year and openings exist in both for classes which resume in September.

Gorman asked whether automotive technology graduates had any problems finding work. Responding, Taylor indicated that the demand usually far exceeds the College's ability to supply technicians. He added, "many of our graduates are placed directly with the Ford Motor Company and its testing facilities."

Schoolcraft Receives DeHoCo Program Aid

Schoolcraft College has received continued funding for two educational programs it conducts at the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) under the Manpower Development Training Act (MDT).

Approval of $45,000 for building maintenance and auto mechanics programs was announced by Roland A. Anderson, Schoolcraft's director of business and commerce. The grants bring to nearly half a million dollars in funds acquired by this administrator for special projects at DeHoCo over the past three years.

Designed to train male inmates at DeHoCo in building maintenance and auto service mechanics, these two projects have been approved for the fourth consecutive time.

This funding has allowed Schoolcraft to train 160 men to date in these ongoing programs since they began in 1971. The college expects to accommodate another 60 men under the new grant.

Beginning on June 24 the projects were funded for an additional six months and will enable the College to offer two sessions of both programs each lasting 13 weeks. The men work an eight hour day as they train in their programs.

Each program has a full-time instructor and both are coordinated by a director who is responsible for basic education and job placement. Basic education, which is 25 percent of each inmate's training, consists of reading, writing, mathematics, and employee relations.

The college also administers two other programs for women at DeHoCo.

One is the child care worker program where women inmates are trained while working with children at the Plymouth Center for Human Development. The College recently graduated 23 women from this program.

A second is the intensive clerical worker training which has been funded for the past three years by the disadvantaged and handicapped program.

Schoolcraft has touched the lives of approximately 150 women inmates through its instruction in this area.

All the training facilities are housed completely within DeHoCo, according to Schoolcraft director Roland Anderson. Upon completion of their programs at DeHoCo, trainees are placed in jobs throughout the area.

"Placement of our trainees in the building maintenance and auto service mechanics programs has been approximately 60 percent," Anderson added.

Wixom Newsbeat

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Wixom has developed quite an international flavor during this past month with visitors from Europe arriving or departing almost weekly.

Most of the activity has taken place in the Hickory Hill area although Dom and Neil Salo's home in Birch Park has its share of guests. Neil's folks, the Paul Salos in Hickory Hill, hosted a big family get-together Saturday which gave them the chance to visit Dom's mother who they had as a houseguest two years ago, when she had visited the States.

Arriving from the Netherlands just last week and planning to stay the month of July is Dom's mother Mrs. Mien Saenen Toonaer, her brother Eddy Saenen, an old friend Hannie Van Rijsingen and Willem Brouwer. All flew in on a charter flight from Amsterdam.

The Henry Mack's of Evona Street have had as houseguests two cousins from Helsinki, Finland. Liisa Nevalainen and Helena Mannersalo will depart later this week after a month's stay. While here, the ladies spent many days seeing the sights, as well as taking short trips to Holland and Grand Haven where they were much impressed with the musical fountain.

This past Saturday night the Mack's hosted a gathering of friends for a bon voyage party which also served to greet the daughter of one of the guests who had arrived in the country only hours before from Brazil where she has spent the last several years with the Peace Corps. Shirley Eklund, daughter of the George Eklund's who will be moving to Wixom later this summer, will be spending about a month in the States before returning to Brazil.

Arriving on Sunday were Helen Mack's brother, Oliver, and wife, Esther Salo from Holland, Michigan. They will be driving the Finnish guests back to Toronto, Canada via Niagara Falls for their return trip to Helsinki.

Down the street a bit are three more Finnish guests, also spending the month, at the George Tuorin's. Aunt and Uncle Hilja and Veikko Rahikka from Pytta and Aunt Anna Maria Kuikko from Ylmaa will be returning to Finland on July 15.

They, too, have been busy sight-seeing and visiting. Cousins from Sudbury, Ontario are further on down the road at Bertha and Bruno Aro's while even more cousins and their children are expected to arrive shortly from California.

And around the corner staying with the Jack Karell's are his uncle and daughter, Hilka and Lauri Klinga from Karhula, Finland. The Karell's have taken their guests to Sudbury and Timmons, Ontario. Probably the most enjoyable trip was the ferry boat ride from Manitoulin Island across the mouth of Georgian Bay. The guests will be leaving within a few days, also going to Niagara Falls before their return voyage departure point of Toronto.

A block party honoring Jane and Ollie Wahamaki was held Monday night in the mall area separating the homes. A mammoth feat was accomplished when the men manned the grills and the steaks.

A buffet featuring salads, desserts and homemade breads, and picnic tables covered with cloths and vases of fresh flowers were attended to by the ladies. It was a delightful way to say goodbye to the Wahamaki's as they prepare to leave for California — even though it was shared with the mosquitos.

Nancy Tillman, daughter of Helen and Corb Tillman of Maple Road, spent two weeks in Houghton lending a hand in establishing a Bible School II was a "first" for the University Baptist Chapel and the attendance was more than expected from the tiny mission.

Nancy and several other teens from the Union Lake Baptist Church earned the money to make the trip by doing odd jobs which even include painting and cleaning an airplane. The journey wasn't all "work" ... on the return trip they did some sightseeing.

Local Man

Writes Book

"Poems by mark dixon", written by a Northville man, has just been published and is available locally.

The author is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanfrid Dixon of 409 Larry Drive. He was graduated from Northville High School in 1970, and he attended Michigan Technological University and Western Michigan University.

It was during his college years that he wrote the poems in the book. Presently he is involved with photography.

Plan Summer Concert

The third concert of the 1974 Schoolcraft College Summer

Music Festival will be performed on Tuesday, July 16, at 8:30 p.m., in the Liberal Arts Theater on the Haggerty Road Campus.

Two important musical anniversaries will be observed by the performing faculty. 1974 is the centennial year for America's greatest composer, Charles Ives, and for one of the most influential and important musicians of the century, Arnold Schoenberg.

Ives' Set for String Quintet and Piano, dating from 1903-1913, will be performed, as well as two works by Schoenberg. Allen Shaffer will play the Six Little Piano Pieces, Opus 19, and the Schoolcraft String Quartet, joined by violinist LeRoy Fenstermacher and cellist Marcy Schweikhardt, will perform Transfigured Night, one of Schoenberg's most famous and beautiful scores.

Members of the Quartet are James Waring and Inez Redman, violins, David Ireland, viola, and Mario DiFiore, cello.

Other works to be performed, on next Tuesday's concert include the Quintet in F Major for Oboe, Strings and Piano by J.C. Bach and the Petite Suite for Piano Duet by Claude Debussy. Oboist David Mariotti will be heard in the Bach and pianist Donald Morelock will join Shaffer in the performance of the Debussy.

General admission is $2. for adults and $1 for students and children. The Liberal Arts Theater is on the south side of the campus, near Six Mile Road. Ample free parking is available next to the theater.

School Program Offers Fluoride

Fluoride treatments for youngsters three years of age or older in the Walled Lake School district will be available at a minimal cost during the summer.

The program, now in its seventh year, is jointly sponsored by the Walled Lake Consolidated School District and the Oakland County Health Department. The two student hygienists who conduct the program are paid for by the Health Department and the equipment and room in the Home Economics Room at Walled Lake Junior High School are provided by the school district.

"Fluoride toughens the enamel on the children's teeth so that the normal acids in the mouth can't eat away at it," reported Claudia Shahan, one of the hygienists.

According to Health Department statistics, fluoridation can reduce tooth decay by 40 percent.

The procedure involved in the fluoridation is quite simple. First, the child's teeth are cleaned. The teeth are dried, then coated with the fluoride continuously, four minutes to a side.

Both hygienists emphasized that it is important for pre-school children to receive the treatment even if they still have their baby teeth. "If the primary teeth are not in good condition, there is a good chance the permanent teeth won't develop properly," said Mimi Calme, the other hygienist.

Children with braces or who have teeth out should still receive the treatment for the same reason, she said.

Treatments are offered five days a week from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Appointments can be made by calling 624-0202 Monday through Friday. The cost is $4 per treatment.

Police Blotter: Probe Park Shooting, X-Way Accident

In Township

A 19-year-old Romulus youth was shot as he and a friend fought off two attackers late Saturday night in the Cass Benton area of Hines Park.

William R. Grimm and James Lee Davis, both of Romulus, told township police they were returning to their car about 11 p.m. when they saw two subjects in a red Chevrolet Impala parked near their vehicle.

One of the subjects told the two that he liked their car and then reportedly said "Why don't you give it to me," as he pulled a nickel plated derringer-type gun.

Davis, believing robbery was the intent of the two, jumped one of the subjects. Grimm, who was facing the man holding the gun, jumped him in an attempt to disarm him. The gun discharged, hitting Grimm in the left arm.

A .22 caliber shot was removed from Grimm's arm at St. Mary hospital.

Police described the first attacker as five feet six inches tall, brown eyes, black hair below the ear, mustache and dark complexion, about 22 years old.

The second subject, also five feet six inches tall, weighed about 145 pounds, brown eyes, long black hair parted in the center and a mustache which extended below the lower lip on the sides. He also had a dark complexion.

Nine-year-old Tracy Miller of Winchester Road was hospitalized with severe leg injuries she received Friday afternoon.

Township police said Tracy was involved in an accident with an auto as she rode her bicycle at the Cap and Cork Party Store on Five Mile near Fry Road.

Driver of the car was David Toth, 17, of 15400 Fry. Police said Toth was backing up his car when the accident took place. The accident remains under investigation. The crash took place at 2:45 p.m.

Two stolen cars, one of them set on fire, were recovered this past week by township police.

The entire interior of a 1970 Pontiac was burned shortly before midnight Friday on Beck Road just north of Seven Mile.

According to reports, the 1970 Pontiac was reported stolen the following day from Westland.

The second vehicle was discovered by township police on Haggerty Road just south of Eight Mile about 6:20 p.m. Thursday.

Police said the ignition and trunk locks were punched out, dents were found in the car and the radio and battery were missing.

The 1970 Dodge had been stolen from Farmington Hills the previous day.

Two break-ins were reported to police with the first occurring between 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the 16000 block of Haggerty Road.

Unknown persons entered the home through the front door and took $24 in pennies and $10 in half dollar coins.

The second break-in was reported shortly after 12:30 a.m. Monday. A window in the home in the 19000 block of Mayilyn was found broken, however, nothing was discovered missing.

Twelve rolls of reinforcement wire for concrete was reported missing from the Northville Plaza construction site on Seven Mile Road last week.

The wire, taken between June 29 and July 1, was valued at $540.

Stereo tapes and equipment, valued at $100, were stolen from a car parked on Norwood Court between 1 a.m. July 2 and 2:30 p.m. last Thursday.

Missing are 10 eight-track tapes, a blue levi material tape case, two stereo speakers and a pair of sunglasses.

In Novi

A Detroit man driving on eastbound I-96 in Novi is in critical condition at Botsford Hospital in Farmington after his car sideswiped another and went out of control crashing nearly head-on into a truck in the west bound lane.

According to police reports, Albert Hardy, 18, of Detroit was traveling at a fast rate in the high speed lane Tuesday, July 2, when he sideswiped a car driven by Ray Norman Foerster, 54 of Utica.

The Hardy car went out of control flying airborne across the median and crashing into a westbound truck driven by James Leary Glendinning, 65, of Fowlerville.

Hardy was cut from the car and taken to Botsford Hospital where he is in critical and guarded condition reportedly suffering from a collapsed lung, fractured face and two fractured legs.

Neither of the other drivers were injured in the three vehicle collision, according to police.

A truck stolen late last month from Livonia was recovered Sunday, June 30, when it was reported to police after being identified by the daughter of the owner.

Police reports show that Sharon Willis of Marine, discovered the truck parked at the J.D. Marathon station at 26475 Novi Road.

Upon investigating the vehicle, Novi police found it had been parked at the service station after the driver, Arnold John Bianco, 39, of Columbia was arrested for being drunk in public Thursday, June 27, the same day as the vehicle was reportedly stolen.

Approximately $1,390 in equipment was reportedly stolen sometime between 9:30 p.m. Thursday, June 27 and 8 a.m. June 28 from a trailer owned by the P and P Lawn Sprinklers of Detroit.

The trailer, located across the street from 23479 Stonehenge, was entered by way of a south door which had been pried open, according to police reports.

Listed as taken in the burglary were a ratchet set, sprinkler heads, presto lite and other equipment.

A 12 foot boat, valued at $329 was stolen from a dock at 1431 West Lake Drive between 9 p.m. Friday, June 28, and 12:21 p.m. Saturday, June 29. The boat is a Sea King and was reported stolen by Gail Manosky.

A 13-year-old Northville boy was slightly injured at 5:49 p.m. Wednesday, July 3 when he swerved his bicycle in front of a car preparing to pass him on westbound Eight Mile Road, approximately 300 feet west of Westview.

Authorities said that Dane Anthony Cates, 20030 Westview, was preparing to enter a street near his home when he swerved from the side of the road in front of a vehicle which braked but hit the rear end of the bicycle. Cates rolled onto the car hood and over the back of the car.

Cates was not hospitalized. Novi police said that three men were arrested after allegedly attempting to pry open the cash registers of Sandy's Mobil and the I-96 Sunoco station at approximately 3:06 a.m. Monday, July 8.

The men reportedly drove into Sandy's Mobil and while one kept the attendant busy at the pump, the other two men tried to pry open the cash register. They were unsuccessful as two customers entered the station.

The two men jumped back into the car and left the gas station but were followed to the I-96 Sunoco by one of the customers who was attempting to get the license number. He notified the attendant there who saw the men trying to pry open the cash register.

Because the suspects had knives, the attendant did not try to apprehend them, according to police, but took down the license number. The suspects car took off on westbound I-96 and was stopped in Fowlerville by local and state police.

Identification of the men was withheld pending issuance of warrants.

A fire caused extensive damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lindley, 40601 Brenda Monday, July 1. The blaze broke out approximately 3 o'clock and was reported by a neighbor, Mrs. Lyle Fetting at 3:09 a.m.

None of the five member family was injured as Mrs. Fetting aroused them from the burning house. No cause for the fire has been discovered although fire officials are still investigating.

Another house fire at 43021 Eleven Mile Road destroyed approximately 50 percent of the dwelling, according to Novi Fire Chief Duane Bell. The blaze broke out at 6:37 a.m. Monday, July 8 and caused extensive damage to the upper story. Authorities blamed the fire on rats and faulty wiring in the attic, where the fire originated. The house was unoccupied and no one was injured.

In Northville

Although the driver eluded police capture, Northville officers impounded the Corvette convertible he was driving after it struck a house on Reed.

According to city police reports, officers spotted the car with its three occupants about 1:35 a.m. Monday on Center Street between Fairbrook and Cady. Police said the car nearly forced another vehicle off the road while passing it.

Officers attempted to stop the car at Main and Center but it sped north. The car turned east on Lake and ran the stop sign at Horton Street going about 75 mph. At the curve on Lake at Novi, the Corvette jumped the curb and continued northbound on Novi Street.

It became airborne at Novi Street and Base Line and continued north on Novi Street crossing Eight Mile traveling about 80 mph.

City police, believing the car would try to get to Novi Road, went down Langfield to Canterbury in an attempt to stop the car. When the vehicle did not come down Canterbury, police resumed their search for the car.

At 1:45 a.m., the owner of a home on Reed and Maplewood reported a car hit the house. Police recovered the Corvette which was badly damaged but no one was found near the vehicle.

Blood was found on both doors, indicating injury to one or more of the occupants, police said.

Tracking dogs from Wixom Police Department, along with officers from Novi, assisted Northville in the search. Police said the car was registered to a subject from Walled Lake.

One of the city police cars was damaged in the chase when it bottomed out on Novi Street and Baseline. Damage included a buckled passenger's door and a dented left front fender, reports said.

Break-in at Burger Chef on North Center Street was discovered by city police officers on routine patrol shortly after 3 a.m. Friday. Police found the rear door of the business open about 3:10 a.m. Further investigation of the restaurant showed a glass panel on a north side door broken. Missing are a portable calculator and an am-fm radio.

A full tank of gasoline was siphoned from a vehicle parked in the lot of the apartments on Novi Road last Wednesday night.

Owner of the vehicle told police the incident took place between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. The car's gas cap was found on the ground near the vehicle. Value of the gas was placed at $12.

FIRE CALLS

July 3—10:34 p.m., car fire on Revere Court.

July 4—11:49 a.m., grass fire on Five Mile near the railroad tracks.

In Wixom

A seven-year old Plymouth boy received a cut requiring three stitches as the result of wind blowing over a canoe onto him as he was stepping onto land from a pontoon boat.

According to reports, Rasmussen was hit by the canoe at 2:27 p.m. Thursday, July 4 on the shore at 1938

Hopkins Drive. He was transported to the Ambulatory Care Center in Walled Lake where he was given stitches for a cut on the left side of the forehead.

Rasmussen also complained of a sore shoulder.

A rattlesnake gave Wixom officers Blashfield and O Shesky a little scare as they tried to dispose of the slithering reptile Thursday, July 4.

Responding to a call from Russ Phillips, 1015 N. Wixom Road, the officers attempted to carry the rattlesnake to the "Back forty" to dispose of it when it coiled and attempted to escape.

The bucket was dropped whereupon officer Blashfield "put four .38 caliber slugs in his revolver, took careful aim and missed," according to the report.

A second shot was more successful, hitting the rear torso of the snake.

Nature's Fireworks Keep Police Busy July Fourth

Not about to be forgotten on the Fourth of July, Mother Nature scheduled a few mid-afternoon fireworks of her own.

And in the aftermath, which saw Northville City Police officers involved in a flurry of activity, at least one was heard to say he was glad the Fourth of July comes only once a year.

While traffic, the parade and lost children kept police occupied during the morning hours, the storm and the hour immediately following left little breathing space between calls.

At 2:41 p.m., a tree was reported down on Johnson and Yerkes while just five minutes later, a live wire was found down on Eaton.

At 2:52 p.m. a primary wire, down and arching in the 300 block of Eaton Drive, knocked power out in the area. Firemen assisted police at the scene.

At 2:53 p.m., a tree limb fell into the street at Main and Rogers, blocking traffic. A tree fell on a house at Horton and Lake at 3:02 p.m., damaging the house but no one was injured.

Edison wires went down with a tree in the 500 block of Carpenter Street just five minutes later.

Meanwhile, police were trying to contact Edison crews to repair wires and found difficulty in getting through since Edison telephone lines were busy with calls from other storm-damaged municipalities.

Winds also spelled casualty for one of the decorative hanging baskets along Main Street which fell into the street along with two flags and holders from Main and Center street area.

An while the winds ebbed outside, police phone lines began to light up with queries on whether or not the fireworks would be held.

The Jaycee fireworks display went off without incident but one injured person was treated by police. A 12-year-old boy cut his finger on a concession stand just as the aerial display began.

Outside of the storm damage, traffic jams from the parade and fireworks, police also spent an hour and a half reuniting a lost child and her parents. Another lost child was reported but reunited almost immediately.

About 10:45 a.m., officers spotted a four-year-old at the corner of Center and Fairbrook. She told police she had lost her parents. Although she knew her first name and the last name of her neighbors, she could not remember her last name.

Officers drove her to Northville Downs parking lot where she had last seen her parents when the parade began but she could not find them.

Checking out the last name given for her neighbor, police found that she lived in Novi.

Unable to make contact with her parents, officers drove her home and when they could not locate her parents there, drove back into Northville where her parents were spotted at Randolph and Linden searching for her. The three were reunited shortly after noon.

Jaycee kids dressed as clowns entertain youngsters along the parade route

What's a parade without animals . . . especially elephants?

Jaycees turn over a batch of their barbecued chicken for the July Fourth feast

The snappy Amherstburg band was one of many musical entries in the parade

5,000 Enjoy Parade

Northville Newcomers captured the Judges' Choice Trophy for their crow's nest float in the Jaycee-sponsored Fourth of July parade.

Newcomers' float was selected for the trophy for best depicting the parade's theme, American Nostalgia. The float was a reproduction of the crow's nest which stood at the corner of Main and Center streets in Northville's early years.

Jaycee spokesmen report that more than 5,000 lined the parade route and a capacity crowd was on hand as the fireworks display capped the day's festivities.

Although rain dampened the Jaycee's chicken barbecue during the afternoon, 500 dinners had been sold before the cloudburst.

Donald C. Loudy of Crystal Lake Drive in Highland Lakes was the winner of the Jaycee drawing. His ticket was pulled from the nearly 1,400 sold. Loudy selected the $500 savings bond for his prize. Other prizes offered were a weekend in Toronto with $200 spending money or a color television set.

Other parade units earning awards included Plymouth Fire and Drum Corps which received the Grand Prize. In competition categories, winners included:

Floats — first, Northville Snowdrifters; second, King's Mill Coop.

Bands — first, Tri-Club Youth Band of Windsor; second, Amherstburg Community Band; third, Clan MacRae.

Senior Marching Units — first, Village Pump Antiques; second, Northville Historical Society.

Junior Marching Units — first, St. Robert's Cardinals; second, Redford Prancers.

Equestrian — first, Farmington Hills Mounted Auxiliary Police; second, Skene Crest Farms; third, Poplar Farms.

Special Categories — first, Farmington Elks Motorized Drill Team; second, Moslem Temple Motor Corps.

Judges for the parade included Dr. Robert Mandell, Jaycee's Outstanding Young Man of 1974; Mrs. Pat Wright, Outstanding Woman of the Year; Steve Walters, Northville City Manager; and Ronald Nisun, Northville township police chief.
