See Page 7-C

UNANIMOUS legislative approval of final plans for the proposed Michigan state police complex in Northville has been handed down by the joint capital outlay committee of the House and Senate, Senator Carl Pursell told The Record Friday. The $1 million complex is to be built on Seven Mile Road, adjacent to the Northville State Hospital. An October groundbreaking is planned, Pursell said.

A FARMERS' MARKET each Thursday in downtown Northville will be introduced by the Retail Merchants Association beginning August 22. Larry Wiener, president of the retailers' association, said that farmers are being sought to sell their produce in the central parking lot on Main Street. Market hours will be from 8:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. Produce farmers interested in reserving space should call John Genitti, 349-0522.

NOISE from recent motorcycle races prompted City Councilman Paul Vernon this week to suggest that future racing be curtailed during afternoon hours. Vernon said he visited a home in the city where it was impossible to carry on a conversation because of the noise that seemed particularly loud in the afternoon.

DISPOSITION of the aging proposal calling for improvement of the Randolph Drain in Northville and the southern edge of Novi will be determined this morning (Thursday) in a meeting of the inter-county drainage board. The meeting is scheduled to get underway at 10 a.m. in the city hall. Northville councilmen are expected to push for the project's fruition even though Novi officials have indicated reluctance to go ahead with the improvement — cost of which is to be shared by the two municipalities.

CAROL ANN AYERS has been reappointed to the Northville Library Commission by the city council. She is one of the city representatives on the seven-member commission which is composed of residents of both the city and township. Her new term expires January 1, 1977.

Dropped Ice Cream

Sours City Attraction

"Gobs" of ice cream dropped on sidewalks have triggered a growing number of citizen complaints while persuading the Northville City Council to consider re-establishment of the health officer post here.

Mayor A.M. Allen said the problem has gotten so bad he is afraid to talk to people on Center Street because he knows how angry they are. Emphasizing that he has no intention of driving good business places out of Northville, the mayor nevertheless did not disguise his displeasure with the manner in which Cloverdale Farms Dairy has been operating in recent months.

Other councilmen concurred, taking the position that it is "unfortunate" that one of the city's major attractions over many years—the dairy—has allowed its public image to erode.

Conditions inside and outside the dairy are unsanitary, officials stated, then recommending that the matter be referred to the county health officer. Specifically, the mayor and others noted that little or no attempt has been made by the management to clean away ice cream dropped by customers.

The melted ice-cream is attracting large numbers of flies, they reported.

Cloverdale's new owner, George Barum of Southfield, was not available for comment when The Record attempted to reach him Tuesday.

It was apparent by the comments of councilmen that they are seriously considering the appointment of a health officer to police a growing number of eating establishments in the city.

Northville has been without a health officer for several years.

In related business, council also directed the city manager to investigate nuisances and health hazards posed by weeds and-or debris on Seven Mile Road opposite Joe Denton Park and a private residence on Rogers Street north of Thayer.

Township GOP Casts 'Slate' Vote

It's Marengere, Sutherland for Dems

Democrats Marengere and Sutherland Win Nomination for Trustee Seats

GOP Nominees: Nowka, Rosenberg for Trustees (above), Lennox for Clerk, Straub for Treasurer (below).

Thirty-five percent of the registered voters in Northville township went to the polls Tuesday, spurred by local interest in two Republican slates facing each other for nomination to township board offices.

Democrats include supervisor candidate Robert Oleson, 389; clerk candidate Janet VanVoorhis, 407; treasurer candidate Robert Pope, 383; trustee candidates Sutherland, 270; Marengere, 230; Guido, 187; and Glaser, 153.

By a margin of more than 100 votes, electors nominated a full Republican slate, led by incumbent Supervisor Lawrence Wright, to run for office in the November election. The slate defeated another Republican group running on the platform of retaining a strong township government.

Democrats faced no opposition except in the trustee race where Donald Marangere and Hugh J. Sutherland won the right to run in November, defeating Kurt Glaser and veteran candidate Eugene Guido.

A total of 1,708 votes were cast by the 4,863 registered electors

Nominated to run in the November election along with Wright were Republican incumbent Treasurer Joseph Straub, clerk candidate Betty Lennox, and trustee candidates James Nowka and Charles Rosenberg.

Voting went relatively quickly in the township, although machine troubles developed in at least one precinct and about 40 persons were waiting in line in Highland Lakes, Precinct 2, after the polls closed at 8 p.m. Precinct totals were slow in coming in with the last figures learned close to midnight.

Clerk Sally Cayley said about 18 percent of the registered voters had been to the polls by 4 p.m.

Meanwhile, in the City of Northville where no local issues faced voters, about 18 percent of the registered electors turned out at the polls.

Republicans and the number of votes they polled include incumbent Supervisor Wright, 690, highest of any township candidate; clerk candidates, Mrs. Lennox, 566; Patricia Cousineau, 299.

Treasurer candidates, Incumbent Straub, 533; Anita Eising, 256; trustee candidates, Nowka, 522; Rosenberg, 470; R. M. Lysinger, 363; and Robert Reh, 263

Stop Signs

Authorized

Several new stop signs in the northern part of the City of Northville were authorized by the city council this week in an attempt to improve pedestrian and-or vehicular safety.

Council action followed recommendations of the police department, which had been ordered to study traffic problems brought to the council's attention by a citizen in that section of the city.

Four crossings on North Center Street were designated as stop intersections by council order. These include:

Northbound Center at Hill Street; southbound Center at Ely Drive South; southbound Center at North Ely Drive; and northbound Center at Maplewood.

In the Village Green area, five points were designated as stop intersections:

Northbound Horton at Welch; eastbound Welch at Horton; southbound Horton at Maplewood; southbound Welch at Reed; and eastbound Maplewood at Novi Street.

Three crossing points were designated stop intersections in Northville Heights. These include:

Southbound Hillridge Drive at Sherrie Lane; eastbound Sherrie Lane at Hillridge; and southbound Hillridge at North Ely Drive.

Recreation Role Urged for School

Should the Northville School District take over jurisdiction of the city-township recreation department?

That question is likely to headline a meeting of the board of education next week as a recommendation of the recreation department commission is considered. The recommendation calling for school supervised operation of the recreation department drew city council endorsement this week—although councilmen made it plain that their formal approval is contingent upon the school's assurance that the department would be adequately and consistently funded.

The four-part recommendation suggests the following:

1. That the commission be placed under the jurisdiction of the Northville Board of Education.

2. That the membership of the commission be composed of appointed citizens from the city and township, the recreation director, and the superintendent of schools or his designated representative.

3. That the commission would report directly to the board of education.

4. That the school board ask for 1 mill per year for the next 10 years, earmarked specifically for recreation — these funds not to be intermingled with school operating funds.

During council discussion of the recommendation Monday, Councilman Paul Folino, a council representative on the commission, concurred with Councilman Paul Vernon's remark that the recommendation is palatable only if the school can guarantee sufficient operational monies for the department.

School jurisdiction over recreation departments in other communities is not uncommon, Folino suggested, who pointed out that a top priority of the commission as it calls for the shift to school jurisdiction is to make the department director a full time post.

A citizen storm has been brewing over this point for some time, it has been learned, and the director, Robert Prom, has been the target of much of the unrest. Some citizens contend the recreation program suffers because its director is available only on a part-time basis.

It was noted that if 1-mill was earmarked for the department it would, in view of the school's tax base, "just about double" the budget for the recreation program. The current budget is $56,000.

Presently, the recreation department is financed and operated jointly by the city and township of Northville.

In a related matter Monday, the council reappointed Folino and W. R. Henrikson Jr. as city representatives on the commission. Henrikson serves as the secretary.

'Catch' Seen In County Gift

Although the resolution contains a "catch", the Northville City Council this week took formal action approving the transfer of Center Street jurisdiction from Wayne County to the city.

Take over of the street by the city had been sought by the council for several months. Presently, Center from Seven Mile to Baseline is under the jurisdiction of the Wayne County Road Commission.

Requested to grant the transfer, county road officials drew up a transferring resolution but when presented the resolution this week surprised city councilmen noted that it prohibits the city from making any storm drainage taps into the Johnson Drain, located at Seven Mile and Center, unless specific approval is first granted by the county.

"It's like getting a cream puff only to find no cream inside," quipped Councilman Wallace Nichols.

Nevertheless, he and other councilmen shared Mayor A. M. Allen's observation that "I think we better take it with the string attached and then later try to work out the drainage problem."

Specifically, council sees the county requirement as a possible "hitch" in city plans to install a new storm drain in the Center Street vicinity. One plan calls for the drain to extend south along Center Street to the Johnson Drain.

That the county had previously restricted city use of Center as an access to and from the Cady Street parking lot and as a route for the proposed storm drain were among the reasons persuading council to seek superintending control over the street.

The overriding reason, however, was the strong stand of councilmen and city

September 10

Boundary Commission Sets Annexation Hearing

It will be almost exactly two years after the Michigan Boundary Commission conducted its first hearing on Northville annexation that it again takes up the controversial question here.

Word was received last week from Lansing that the commission has validated the petitions and set Tuesday, September 10 as the public hearing date. Annexation petitioners said the hearing will take place in Northville High School at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday, August 29, 1972 was the date of the last hearing on annexation here. The scope and nature of the current annexation petitions are the same as they were two years ago. They seek annexation of all of Northville township to the City of Northville.

Should annexation become a reality, Northville township government would be dissolved and Northville would become one city under a single council-manager governmental structure.

Months after the last public hearing on annexation was held here, the boundary commission voted to approve the annexation. Citizens then called for a referendum on the question, and annexation was subsequently defeated by a margin of 146 votes in the township.

Voting separately but on the same question, township residents rejected unification 1504 to 1358 while the city approved it by vote of 942-259.

Annexation must carry in both the city and the township to become a reality.

With last week's announcement of the upcoming hearing, it also was disclosed that the commission has rejected an annexation petition in neighboring Plymouth that called for making Hillside Inn part of the City of Plymouth. It is presently in Plymouth township.

The commission did, however, order an October 22 public hearing on another Plymouth annexation petition — this one to consider annexing the Burroughs parking lot, opposite Hillside Inn, to the City of Plymouth.

A third and the most important of the Plymouth annexation petitions before the commission is expected to be taken up by the commission later this year. It calls for annexation of all of the township to the city.

Invading the Field

This Dr. Geake's A Veterinarian

Dr. Carol Geake and one of her patients

By JEAN DAY

When Dr. Carol Geake's veterinary practice reached 700 horses recently, she made a difficult decision.

"I hated to do it, but I've quit treating horses," Northville's woman veterinarian explained, "because I had to have more time to spend with my family."

The girlish-looking young vet still is juggling a full nine-to-five schedule every week day while raising two pre-school youngsters and a teenage foster daughter.

She also is the wife of Dr. R. Robert Geake, state representative from the 35th district.

Dr. Geake — the veterinarian — manages the veterinary clinic a little more easily as it's just a few steps from the Geake home on their Eight Mile Road property. Their home is a pillared Victorian landmark with acreage where they raise rabbits as well as eight horses.

When Dr. Geake opened her practice late in 1971, she took horses as well as cats and dogs, but they soon became 65 percent of her practice.

"I was running all the time," she explains. She still accepts horse patients if they come to her clinic, however.

Horses injure themselves easily on fences, she says, pointing out that in addition they routinely need wormings and vaccinations at least twice a year and sometimes up to 5 or 6 times.

Wormings present no problem to Dr. Geake in any animals as she was finishing work on her master's degree in parasitology at University of Michigan when she married Bob Geake. Parasitology is the branch of biology dealing with parasites, which often are worms.

She then worked at the School of Public Health in industrial parasitology where the toxicity of rocket fuels was being studied by injecting rats.

Carol Geake confides that she "always had wanted to go to vet school" but it was when a researching doctor handled a rabbit wrong and caused it to break its back with a powerful hind kick that she began thinking about it seriously.

In another incident an animal tender put male rabbits together and in the fierce fighting that followed they were severely injured, she recalls with concern that still lingers.

In 1966 she applied to Michigan State University veterinary school and condensed the four-year program into two-and-three-quarters years — year round.

During this time she commuted to the East Lansing campus daily — which is one reason her husband now commutes to his legislative job.

"We have had foster children ever since we were married," Carol Geake remembers pointing out that her husband then worked at the Plymouth Home and Training School as a psychologist.

She admits that she was concerned about having a family of her own as she says she was "getting older" and, after losing the first child at birth, had a son who will be four in October and then a daughter, now two — and — a — half. Their foster daughter is Carolyn Davies, 15.

To keep her schedule, Dr. Geake has an office assistant at the clinic and a full-time baby sitter at the house.

Being a woman was no problem in getting accepted into MSU vet school but her educational background helped, she says, recalling that she was accepted within two weeks of application.

"Only three in our class of 50 (and all 50 didn't graduate) had master's degrees," she adds, chalking up a point for women's lib by noting that two of the three were female. Of the 50 only five were women.

"We are invading the field, however," she adds as she points out that another woman vet has opened a practice in Ann Arbor and that the Plymouth Veterinary Hospital where she worked after graduation was then run by a woman, Dr. Marion Weberlein, who later sold to a husband — and — wife vet team.

Dr. Geake worked at the Plymouth vet hospital right up to the night she had her child.

While there, she even treated a lion owned by a Canton resident.

In her own clinic most pets are dogs and cats, but she has had rabbit pets.

"The heartworm is dogs right now," she says, warning that it is "all around — even in the city."

Dr. Geake has one small problem she hasn't yet solved to her, and her husband's satisfaction. If they answer the telephone saying it's the clinic, it's sure to be a call for Representative Geake — but if they say it's Robert Geake's home, it's just as likely to be a clinic call.

So, if you call, you're likely to hear a simple, "hello" until a solution's found.

In Our Town

Audrey, Cris Becker
Star in New Roles

By JEAN DAY

CRISTIE BECKER, who became Mrs. Alan Pacholski May 31, has been playing in starring roles in the summer Hilberry Theatre program at Wayne State University.

Currently, she's Mary in the musical comedy, "Little Mary Sunshine," which runs through August 17 in Hilberry's downstairs studio theatre. Termed a "gentle spoof," the musical has been one of the most successful off-Broadway productions.

A 1969 Northville High School graduate who went on to study theatre at Wayne State University, Cristie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wildred C. Becker of 543 Dubuar. Previously this season she appeared in "The Tavern," a mystery comedy presentation.

In the fall, she and her new husband will live in Bloomington, Indiana, while he teaches and studies for his doctorate in the classics at University of Indiana. He has his bachelor's degree from University of Michigan and master's from WSU where he has been teaching classics.

It was while taking his class in Greek that Cristie became acquainted with her future husband. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas Pacholski of Detroit.

They were married in a double ring service at the Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak by Father James Kisicki, a priest who is on leave from his Florida parish while studying for his graduate degree in drama at WSU. He previously taught drama and became acquainted with Cris in the Wayne program. He helped the couple write personal vows.

While her mother sewed her polyester satin gown with lace bodice and edging, Cristie made the peach gowns worn by her four attendants. Merilee, her sister, was honor maid while a cousin, Sally Gault, and the bridegroom's sisters, Karen Pacholski and Patricia Pacholski Hughes, were bridesmaids.

Cris' gown was fashioned with a deep oval neckline framed with an Elizabethan-type collar. Her mother appliqued the lace with seed pearls.

A dinner reception for 300 followed at the K of C hall in Southfield where Greg Williams, who had been in the WSU glee club with Cris' brother Gary, played for dancing — as he had at Gary's wedding. The couple honeymooned in Toronto.

AUDREY BECKER is far from the typical mother seeking pearls on her daughter's bridal gown (which she says she "wasn't meant for.") She has just received her education specialist degree from Wayne State University and Monday night officially was named by the Livonia School Board to the post of assistant to the assistant superintendent in charge of personnel for the district.

Last year she was one of two women in the district in secondary school administration. She was assistant principal of Bentley High School.

She had been in teaching for 10 years prior — in the classroom and as director of instructional materials at Franklin High School for five years. "I've been going to college for 19 years," she says, explaining that she received her BA and MA degrees also from Wayne.

"I've never had the feeling of being discriminated against because I'm a woman," Audrey Becker notes, but adds that she knows other women who have been. She points out that the Michigan Education Association cites Michigan, the third largest state in education personnel, as being one with the fewest women in administration.

Mrs. Becker adds that, while she likes to see women advance, "if a woman isn't competent, she shouldn't be there (in administration) if she doesn't deserve it."

This is the Becker family's "year," Mrs. Becker mentions. Her husband, Wilfred, a former president of Northville School Board, has been named acting head of the art department at Wayne State University. Daughter Merilee also is a Wayne student.

"THROUGH FRIENDLINESS, I think a lot of times people can develop the beginning of settlements," observed Betty (Mrs. Richard) Lennox in talking about her upcoming trip to the Middle East with the Delegation for Friendship Among Women.

The trip, she said, is being made "with the blessing of the U.S. State Department," leaving November 6.

The Delegation for Friendship Among Women is composed of women, she explained, who are outstanding in their fields and includes women judges and educators. Its president is Mrs. Elly Peterson of Charlotte, Michigan. Mrs. Lennox' sister in St. Paul, Minnesota, organized the trip with Mrs. Peterson, a national GOP figure.

In the Middle East the delegation will be meeting with women of Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Syria and Iraq. The group first will fly to London and have evening meetings with British women before going on to meetings in Cairo and Luxor, Egypt, and then to Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Kuwait; Baghdad, Iraq; and Damascus, Syria.

Mrs. Lennox and her family live at 41828 Sutters Lane in Northville. She has a BS degree from Michigan State University where a daughter now is a student. She has two married children and a 14-year-old son at home. In New York City she operated her own television advertising business — one of the reasons she thinks she received an invitation to participate on the three-week trip.

MRS. ALAN PACHOLSKI
the former Cris BeckerRape Forum Set in Novi

"Rape could happen to anyone and has, even in Novi," state Novi Jaycee Auxiliary sponsors of a rape prevention and self-defense forum to be held at 8 p.m., Wednesday, August 21, at the Novi Community Building.

They point out that the rape crime rate is "ridiculously high and continuing to climb" as they offer all interested women opportunity to learn how to protect themselves and be informed on the subject.

Two speakers will be from the Ann Arbor Crisis Center and from the newly formed Flint one. A question-and-answer period will follow the program, and refreshments will be served.

The public is welcome at no charge, but planners ask that those planning to attend make reservations by August 17 with Mrs. Sandie Mayer, 349-5269, or Mrs. Jane Helling, 349-8824.

News Around Northville

Plan Family Clown Night

A family night featuring magic and ventriloquism by "Billy the Clown" is being sponsored by the Novi-Northville chapter of Parents Without Partners at 7:30 p.m. this Friday in Northville First Presbyterian Church.

Chapter members and any interested families in the Northville, Novi and South Lyon areas are invited to attend.

Bill Nagler, the clown will present several comedy acts, including "Balloon Circus" and "Comedy Music." Tickets will be available at the door at $1 for member families and $2 for guest families. Additional information may be obtained by calling 349-9346.

Northville newcomers are hosting a family picnic Sunday, August 11, beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the Northville Commons picnic shelter.

The picnic is the first outing held since June, club spokesmen note. Each family is asked to bring their own picnic lunch.

Games will be held for all ages Sunday. For additional information, contact Joan Suchowolec, 349-9365. In case of rain, the picnic will not be held.

Long-time residents of Northville, Mr. & Mrs. Earl Wuestnick and their son Earl 111 of 991 Grace Street, recently enjoyed a vacation tour of California and Hawaii which included an old-fashioned steam train excursion through the magnificent redwood forests on the West's Oldest steam railroad, the Roaring Camp & Big Trees Narrow-Gauge Railroad at Felton near San Francisco.

John Regenhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Regenhart of 44428 Cottisford Road, has been named to the dean's list at Kalamazoo College.

A freshman, he was one of 85 students who completed the quarter with a grade point average of 3.75 or better (a grade point average of 4.0 is all A's).

Northville High School class of 1968 will hold a picnic reunion at 1 p.m. Saturday, August 24, at the H.J. Frogner home, 51300 West Seven Mile Road.

Alumni attending are to bring their own beverage with dinner to be provided. Those planning to attend are to send their reservations with the $7.50 charge per couple in advance to Pat Bongiovanni, 5929 Strawberry Lake Road, Whitmore Lake, Michigan, 48189. Deadline is August 17.

Further information may be obtained from Pat Jerome, 349-5471, Janet Olson, 455-0451, or Karen Ratliff, 348-9579.

LaLeche League of Northville-Plymouth will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at the home of Kay Williams, 9437 Tavistock Drive, Plymouth, for a program on "Nutrition and Weaning."

John Hanley Takes Bride in Greenville

John Michael Hanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Hanley, former Northville residents now living in Rochester, Michigan, claimed Patricia Marie Sims as his bride in a July 6 ceremony in Greenville, Michigan.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Sims of Greenville, wore a long gown of sate-peau with ruffle-edged cluny lace yoke and long sleeves.

Father Denis P. Nash officiated. Norm Janetske was soloist accompanied on the guitar by his daughter, Mary Janetske.

William Hanley was best man for his brother while his sister, Mary, was one of the bridesmaids in a garden dress of pink-and-white striped seersucker.

After a reception at Greenville Country Club, the newlyweds left on a trip to Eastern Canada. They will be making their home in East Lansing where the bride, a 1970 Greenville High School graduate, is continuing her studies in interior design at Michigan State University.

The bridegroom received his BA degree from MSU in March and is continuing work toward a master's degree in business administration while employed as chief engineer of WVIC radio in Lansing. He is a 1969 graduate of Rochester High School.

MILL RACE 'FIRST'—Displaying the top handcraft prize, a contemporary owl of concrete nails and washers mounted on barn wood, at the first benefit card party in the old library building are Mrs. Donald Ware, its creator and chairman of the event, and Mrs.

BUY A TICKET—Tickets for the second annual Northville Police Officers Association ball, a dinner-dance August 24 at Farmington K of C hall, now are on sale and Patrolmen William J. Harrison, chairman, left, and Jim Petres, association vice-president, vie to sell one to Cathy Keller, a city secretary. Tickets at $20 a couple, including food and drinks, are available from any Northville City Police officer. Gene Czarnecki and the Meltones will play for dancing.

AARP Schedules Trip

Plymouth-Northville Chapter of the American Association for Retired Persons will take its final trip of the summer to the Irish Hills next Thursday, August 15.

Reservations may be mailed to Weir Gill, 11631 Ridge Road, South Lyon, 48178. Cost of the bus is $4.25 with those attending bringing their own picnic lunch or buying a box lunch on the trip. Non-members are welcome if there is bus space.

Regular meetings will resume in September. The club announces that the September eight-day trip to the New England states already is over-subscribed so that room will be available only if there are cancellations.

Concerts at the Hollywood Bowl and Disneyland will spotlight the return to the United States of the Musical Youth International band and chorus.

List Graduates From EMU

Eleven area students have received baccalaureate degrees from Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti at the conclusion of the spring session.

Northville graduates are Maureen Chamberlain, 43663 Westridge Lane, BS; Gary Davison, 18693 Jamestown Circle, BBA; Paul Drolshagen, 142 Randolph, BS; Layla Kroury, 42331 Beacontree Court, BS; Jan Van Ee, 49151 Ridge Court, BBA; Douglas Waldren, 231 Ely Drive South, BS; and Rayda Warren, 41289 Lehigh Lane, BS.

A Novi graduate is Edward Sobkow, 24700 Highlands, EPC.

Three Wixom graduates are Susan Gruschow, 415 North Wixom Road, BS; C. James Lafkotes, 1868 Hopkins, EPC; and Michael Petseys, 50042 Helfer Boulevard, BBA.

Three local young people — Carol Baltz, John Forrer and Cynthia Todd — are in the group returning from a tour of Australia.

After completing their tour of New South Wales, Australia, and singing at the Music Educators International Conference in Perth, the musicians are expected to land in Los Angeles this Friday. Saturday they will perform in the Hollywood Bowl with the concert at Disneyland following on Sunday.

One of the highlights of the tour "down under" in Australia was the fact that there were many opportunities to visit school and perform before students. Since it is winter in Australia, some of the MYI youth went skiing in the mountains around Sydney with their host families.

For Debt Retirement

Board OK's Mill Hike

A 1-mill increase is reflected in the new millage rates set Thursday by the Novi Board of Education.

The 1974 levy, based on this 1-mill increase, is put at 36.53 mills in those portions of the cities of Novi and Wixom within the school district and 35.53 in Novi Township.

Up 1-mill is the levy for debt retirement — from 7 to 8 mills. The increase, Superintendent Gerald Kratz reminded citizens, was anticipated a year ago when voters approved the $13.5 million bond issue for new school construction.

Here's how the school millage levies break down:

In the cities of Novi and Wixom, 28.53 mills for operation and 8 mills for debt retirement; in Novi Township, 27.53 mills for operation and 8 mills for debt retirement. The one mill difference in the township results from the fact that the county has allocated one less mill for schools in the township. That mills is picked up by the township for operation of the township.

Here's how the operational millages are earmarked:

Novi Township, 8.53 county allocated, 19 voted extra; and for the cities of Novi and Wixom, 9.53 allocated and 19 voted extra.

The state equalized valuations of the political subdivisions within the school district are pegged at $1,858,100 in Novi Township; $41,235 in the City of Wixom; and $101,276,400 in the City of Novi for a grand total of $103,175,735 SEV for the entire school district.

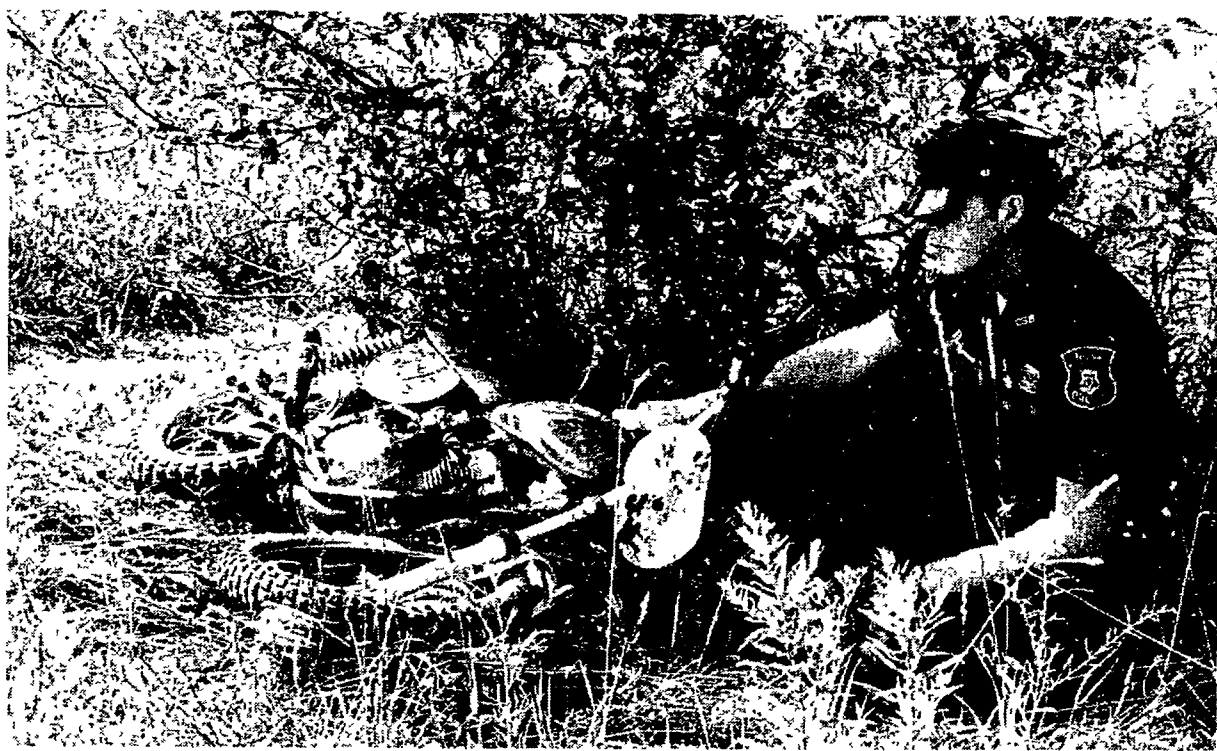

Based on the foregoing SEV figures, the 1974 operational levy will produce $51,153.49 in taxes in Novi Township, $1,176.44 in the City of Wixom, and $2,889,415.69 in the City of Novi for a grand total of $2,941,745.62 in operational taxes for the entire school district.

Based on the foregoing SEV figures, the 1974 debt levy produces $14,865.80 in Novi Township, $329.88 in the City of Wixom, and $810,211.20 in the City of Novi for a grand total of $825,405.88 in the debt levy for the entire school district.

Actually, were it not for the fact that Novi participates in the Michigan school loan program the annual debt retirement levy would approximate 13.5 mills, officials point out.

The school loan program operates much the same as the financing of an automobile. By stretching out its payments to repay monies borrowed from the state, school district participating in the program is able to hold down its annual debt retirement levy.

The effect of such a program, explained Superintendent Gerald Kratz, is to ensure that future taxpayers, who will enjoy benefits of buildings constructed today, help pay for them.

ACCIDENT SCENE—Novi Patrolman Tom Hess looks over one of the motorcycles involved in a head-on crash Monday. Two Novi teen-agers were seriously injured in the back trail accident. Neither had a permit to ride on the property.

Collision Injures Cyclists

Two Novi teen-agers were seriously injured at 3:40 p.m. Monday when the motorcycles they were riding slammed head-on into each other on a back trail in Novi.

Police identified one of the youths as David Joel Puzzuoh, 15, of 43824 Crestridge. Identification of the other youth was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Puzzuoh received serious facial damage in the accident while the second teen-ager suffered a severely cut leg, broken wrist and severe face and eye damage, police report. Both teen-agers were transported by ambulance to St. Mary's hospital in Livonia.

Patrolman Tom Hess said the accident occurred 185 yards north of the intersection of Nine Mile and Center Roads on vacant land believed to be owned by Manufacturer's Bank. One of the motorcycles was heading north and just passed the crest of a hill when it slammed into the other motorcycle which was heading south.

Puzzuoh made it to Nine Mile Road where he was picked up and taken to his home. He was conveyed from there to St. Mary's.

The other youth was taken directly from the scene of the accident to St. Mary's where he underwent immediate surgery.

Hess placed much of the blame on the motorcyclists for not obeying a controversial city ordinance which requires cyclists to have a permit from the police department, with owner's consent, to ride on private property.

"This is the reason the ordinance is in effect," Hess said. "These boys did not have permits."

Although motorcycle trails permeate the property where the accident occurred, no permits have been issued for use of motorcycles there, police Chief Lee BeGole said. Hess said there has previously been much opposition to the ordinance because "parents feel the ordinance is hampering the kids from having a good time."

Brinker, Fessler Win Party Nominations

Novi candidates came off second best in the Republican race for state representative as Waterford Township Attorney Richard D. Fessler claimed the 24th district nomination Tuesday.

Representing Democrats in next November's general election will be William Brinker of Novi who defeated Novi Councilman Edwin Presnell in the primary.

A slightly heavier than average turn-out was chalked up in Novi as 1,502 of 5,344 registered voters, or 28 percent came to the polls compared to 25 percent statewide. In Wixom, 369 of 1,400 registered voters, to put the city at a 25 percent turn-out level.

See detailed results on Page 6-A.

Locally Fessler, a former assistant prosecutor for Oakland County, did poorly, as Novi politicians fared well. Novi councilman Louie Campbell claimed the most votes in Novi and Wixom with 222. Road Commissioner Frazer W. Staman was second at 183 but LaVerne M. DeWaard, member of the Novi Board of Education and President of the Oakland County School placed a close third with 167 votes.

Fessler was fourth locally with 115, followed by Victor Bouckaert with 55, Patricia Riccobono, 33, and Benjamin Bundo Junior, 10.

In the Democratic race, Presnell beat Brinker locally 437-423 on the strength of the Wixom vote. In Novi, Presnell lost 351-285.

Wixom city attorney Gene Schnelz was the top vote getter in the four man race for the newly created judgeship in the 52nd District Court, first division. He will run against the number two vote getter, Thomas J. Connelly in the November election.

Locally, Schnelz was carried to a landslide victory. Schnelz received 1,030 votes; Connelly, 174; Ralph Hazen McIntyre, 128; and John R. McCauley, 119.

In the Novi Township race, all incumbents ran unopposed and were each re-elected with 20-21 votes. Thirty-five of 100 registered in the township voted.

Winners were: Leo Kalota, Supervisor; Robert Boyd Armstrong, clerk; Irene Bacanyi, treasurer; Donald Hackman, trustee and John Zimmer, Constable.

The top Republican vote-getter in Novi Township for the 24th State Representative District seat was Staman with five. Campbell tallied four and DeWaard, Fessler and Riccobono three apiece

Interviews Set For DPW Head

What might be called a "meet the applicant" night for the job of Novi Department of Public Works Superintendent will be held before the next regular council meeting August 19. The council interviews will be with the top four candidates as listed by the administration and will consist of 15 minutes per applicant with the meeting beginning at 6:30 p.m. No determination has been made as to whether the public will be admitted.

Decision to hold the interview session emerged at the Monday night council meeting when the council decided to ignore the recommendation of Councilman Denis Berry and Administrative Assistant Ed Kriewall. They recommended that Dan Gannon, who had 21 years of experience with the Detroit water department and five years with Smokler Corporation, be named to the position. The early meeting was set after some councilmen contended that biographical information should be made available to the council before it makes a decision based upon the administrative recommendation.

Berry appeared miffed at the council for not following through on the recommendation and attempted to resign his position as council representative for personnel matters, but no action was taken on the resignation.

Kriewall and Berry indicated that 17 applicants were trimmed down to four by the committee, but that for various reasons, only Gannon was suited to the job.

The position of DPW Superintendent was opened when Robert Shaw resigned his position in June to take over a similar post at Farmington Hills.

HISTORICAL HOME—This house on Charms Road in Wixom is the subject of controversy among city officials. A proposal from the Walled Lake School District that would give the house to Wixom provided it is then restored, met mixed reactions at the last council meeting.

City Ponders Fate Of Historical Home

By WAYNE LODER

The old graying weatherbeaten house stands today with just a hint of the majesty which it one day possessed.

Sitting on Charms Road about a quarter mile west of Wixom Road, in Wixom, the house, an example of Greek Renaissance architecture, is probably one of the two or three oldest homes standing today in Wixom.

The fate of the house, labeled as a historical marker by the person who now lives in the house, rests with the Wixom Council. Standing on Walled Lake School District property, school officials have offered to give the house to the city, provided it is restored.

Brought to the attention of the council last week through a letter from Walled Lake assistant superintendent Rollie Langerman, the proposal met mixed reaction.

The main objection rested with the possible cost to the city of repairing and restoring the old structure. City and school district attorney Gene Schnelz said the house is a good example of Greek Renaissance architecture and advocated restoring the home either through city funds, the historical society or both.

Schnelz mentioned that bicentennial monies might also be spent to save the house.

Langerman told the Novi News that the house is in need of repairs but that the school board is willing to give the house, but not the land to the city.

The house sits on 40 acres of school property which was purchased from the Burch family in 1967. When the school purchased the property, the house was occupied by C.F. Richter and the school district agreed to allow him to occupy the house as long as he wanted.

Richter, an old-timer from way back, said that he moved into the house, renting the property, in 1935. Since the school district purchased the property, he has been keeping an eye on the property and maintaining the house.

The problem is that Richter plans on moving from the house. The school district must make some decision about what to do with the house.

Langerman said he is uncertain what will happen to the house if the city does not agree to restore it.

Richter, who admitted his say "doesn't mean a thing," said that the house should be restored. "It's a landmark nowadays."

He estimated the house itself is 150-160 years old. A barn behind the house which Richter said is newer than the house has a date carved in it which places it in the 1880's. The last digit of the date is illegible.

Richter said that the walls of the house are made of "slack-lime" which do not, as a rule, hold up as well as today's concrete. The walls, including those in the basement, have stayed in remarkably good condition, he added.

Using his hands to illustrate the five inch thick trees which were utilized during construction of the floor, Richter said the trees were sheared off on two sides to make the "single floor".

"They got them as straight as they could, but some of them were not all that flat," said Richter. "It's hard to set a four legged chair down and have all four legs touch the floor."

Basically the house is in good condition, Richter indicated. He added that some reshingling would have to be done because modern asphalt shingles have been laid over the old wood shingles.

The wood shingles have air spaces

Adopts Tax Resolution

Board Urges Dual Collection

To re-emphasize its expressed desire that the City of Novi collect school taxes twice annually, the board of education Thursday adopted a resolution for presentation to the city council.

Along with the resolution, a copy of a previous Novi School communication (which some in the city had suggested was non-existent) is to be sent the council urging split tax collection.

In discussing the resolution, board members noted that the earliest the dual collection could be set into motion would be next summer, thus giving city officials plenty of lead time to set up the necessary machinery for implementing dual collection.

Dual collection of school taxes was supported several years ago in a straw-vote election by Novi voters.

Here is how the resolution reads:

WHEREAS, the State of Michigan passed legislation during the 76th regular session of 1971 permitting one half of the levy of school taxes on the taxable property to be collected at the same time as the collection of city taxes provided it meets with the approval of the city governing body, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Education of the Novi Community School District is in receipt after that time of an advisory vote of the citizens concerning a dual tax collection, and

WHEREAS, legal notice of the vote on the question had been properly posted and published, and

WHEREAS, on June 14, 1971 that vote of the citizens actually took place, with results supporting dual tax collection, and

WHEREAS, the total saving to the school district would approximate $20,000 annually in interest paid to borrow funds prior to the annual collection of taxes, and

WHEREAS, after due consideration this board finds that a dual tax collection would serve the best long and short-range interests of the citizens of the community,

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved that the Novi Community School District formally request that the city governing body approve twice

With lower beef prices, more families again are enjoying steak cookouts this summer. Outdoor cooks can serve every type from ground beef patties to chuck and tenderloin if properly prepared and grilled.

Michigan Beef Industry Commission is suggesting cooking with marinades and barbecue sauces and points out the importance of proper cooking time.

Thrifty cuts, such as chuck, figuring two generous servings a pound, can be as delicious as more expensive varieties, the commission points out, with proper preparation.

Here's a barbecued chuck suggestion:

BARBECUED CHUCK STEAKS

2 chuck steaks, 1 inch thick
1 tsp. freshly ground pepper instant unseasoned meat tenderizer

1 medium onion, chopped
1 c. catsup
½ c. vinegar
3Tbsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. salt
1 clove garlic, crushed
¼ tsp. hot pepper sauce

Sprinkle steaks with meat tenderizer, then with pepper. Rub the pepper into meat. Make slashes in fat on outside of steaks to prevent curling. Set steaks aside.

Place remaining ingredients in small saucepan and cook slowly 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool.

Place steaks in a utility dish and pour sauce over. Turn to coat all sides. Marinate in refrigerator 4-6 hours or overnight. Pour off and reserve sauce.

Place steaks on grill and broil for 20-30 minutes, or to desired doneness. Turn and brush steaks with sauce as they cook.

NOVI SCHOOL ADDITION—Addition to the physical education plant at the present Novi High is "moving right along" and it appears it will be completed by the first football game in September. However, contingency plans have been made for use of lockerroom facilities at the middle school in the event there is a construction delay. Meanwhile, Superintendent Gerald Kratz reports that final schematic drawings for the proposed new high school at 10 Mile and Taft will be presented to the school board for approval on August 29.

Girl Joins Air Force

Susan Christine Derrick left in July for Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas, for six weeks of basic training.

She enlisted for four years and will receive training as a maintenance technician in an Air Force electronics program.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Derrick, 4894 West Eight Mile Road, Northville.

In joining the Air Force, her mother reports, she is following a family tradition as her brother, Technical Sergeant Ralph H. Derrick, is a career serviceman stationed presently in Rapid City, South Dakota, with the Air Force.

Miss Derrick, a 1971 Northville High School graduate, had been working at Multi Elmac company in Novi. Her mother credits her experience there with helping her pass the Air Force electronics test.

Because of the service's need for trained women in the field, she is not expected home after basic training, her mother says, but probably will go directly to technical school.

Mothers' Club Sets Rules For Marathon Bridge

Marathon bridge tournament sponsored by Northville Mothers' Club is being organized to begin play in September, according to Mrs. Charles B. Smith, chairman, who held a meeting of her committee Monday at her home on Thornapple.

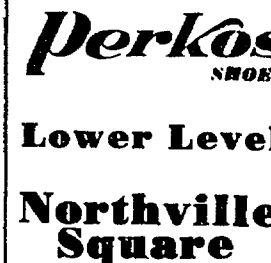

This year, she announces, participants are to pay when they sign up for the season rather than sending in payments as they play each month.

Fee is a dollar a month of play per person, which, Mrs. Smith says usually is $9, covering play from September through May, 1975. Couples pay $18.

Anyone interested in playing in the benefit in which all proceeds go to Northville school projects is invited to call Mrs. Smith, 349-5984, or her co-chairman, Mrs. Roger Pyett, 349-2658. Deadline for registration is August 31.

There are evening league for couples with one being a duplicate group and both daytime and evening groups for women partners.

Planning Commission Approves Resale Business Here

Go-ahead to open a consignment business of used furniture and antiques at 16795 Northville Road was given William Davis at the July 30 meeting of Northville Township Planning Commission. The commission earlier had sent the request for a split use of the property, zoned commercial, to the township board of appeals as Davis said he wished to use the upstairs for a rental apartment while his wife, Margie, operated the business downstairs. The split use was granted by the board. The commission also requested a site plan showing parking provisions, which was submitted at Tuesday's meeting. A concern about increased traffic the business would generate was expressed by Mr. and Mrs. James Hollis, whose home is next door to the property on the south side. The Hollises, who have young children, also appeared at the board of appeals hearing. They stated that the school buses have to make three stops daily there and that they felt the traffic from a business would be dangerous. The Davises said they plan to operate a business much like the Treasure Mart in Ann Arbor. According to the plan, parking will be on only one side of the building, with the drive adjacent to the Hollis home to be marked private. Mrs. Davis told the commission only her personal car would use that driveway. The Hollises said they had been residents there 10 years. It was pointed out that the area was rezoned commercial about five years ago, however, and that the commission was approving site plans on an area already commercial.

James Nowka, chairman of the commission, suggested that "no parking" signs could be requested of the Wayne County Road Commission for the front of the properties.

Supervisor Larry Wright said this week he has contacted Russell Harrison who is in charge of traffic and safety for the county about the signs and also about signs marking the new location of the township hall on Sheldon Road.

At the beginning of its meeting the commission welcomed its new member, John Dugan, who was appointed by the township board to fill the vacancy that occurred when Lini Handy moved from the community. Dugan was elected secretary of the commission, a post Mrs. Handy previously held.

Rules for site plan requirements drawn up by William Mosher, township engineer, were accepted with modifications. Mosher was instructed to send them to the township board with recommendation for approval.

Action on fees for rezoning was tabled with the deputy clerk to be asked to gather information on costs to the township of the rezoning cases handled in the past year. Mosher advised the commission that fees should be set on actual costs rather than policies of neighboring areas.

Action on the site plan of Meijers Thrifty Acres was tabled for 60 days while a landfill permit was granted to take effect August 1 for a limited time. The engineer was instructed to inform Meijer's that the site plan is not sufficiently complete.

At the request of the petitioner, a rezoning petition on the Waterford Road property of James Pasco will be placed on the September agenda. Hessee Realty, Incorporated, site plans for a multiple development on Seven Mile Road were tabled for 30 days.

A request from Dun-Rovin Club for PND development was cancelled and to be placed on the August agenda. Public hearings were scheduled for 7:30 p.m. August 15 for Wil-O-Mac, Incorporated, on Haggerty Road, and for 7:30 p.m. August 20 for Equity Resources, Incorporated, Six Mile and Sheldon.

The commission studied fees for planned neighborhood developments and instructed the engineer to write suggestions to the township board which incorporate the concept of charging fees by room count with a base filing fee rather than a fixed fee.

Local Fire Department

Names Prize Winners

Fourteen-year-old Kathy Hendricks of Chipmunk Trail was the winner of first prize in the Northville Fire Department's annual drawing held Sunday at the Northville Fair.

She won top prize of the Budweiser canoe, according to Joe Bishop, spokesman for the firemen.

Second prize went to Frank Kijek of Northville who won a deer rifle while third prize went to Pam Ricardo of Jamestown Circle with a 10-speed bicycle.

According to Bishop, more than 1,300 persons entered the drawing.

Milk Contract

A Novi school contract for milk was awarded last week to Farm Maid - Detroit Pure Milk Company on the basis of the firm's low bid of .07650 cents per one-half pint of homogenized white milk and .08150 cents for chocolate milk.

DOUBLE HONORS—Approximately 35 guests paid tribute Wednesday, July 31 to former Wixom mayor Gilbert C. Willis and his wife, Pearl who was celebrating her birthday. Speaking tributes to Willis were former councilman Howard Coe, Wixom postmaster and past councilman Elwood Grubb, councilmen Gunnar Mettala and Fred Morehead, assistant to the mayor Bill Travis and police chief George VonBehren. The dinner was thrown by Val and Sylvia Vangieson who presented Willis with a plaque "with appreciation for faithful dedicated leadership to this community, April '70 - June '74."

Thumbs Way to Glacier

By NANCY DINGELDEY

A couple of weeks ago I told the story of the young fellow, Jan Mack, who was all packed and ready to hike across Kenya and Tanzania only to have his plans dashed because of an airline strike. At that point, he decided to shift gears and head to Alaska.

That idea seemed to sit better with his parents, Helen and Hank Mack of Evona Street. But what they didn't know was that Jan had a change of heart again and decided it would be too expensive to drive to Alaska.

So, the newest venture is to hitchhike through the northern states along the boundary of Canada and head to the high country of Glacier National Park and points west.

Hitchhiking wasn't the sort of thing that Helen and Hank thought smart but Jan was on his way, catching his first ride with a buddy to Manistique.

At a point in time when a driver is leery of the hitchhiker and vice versa, those concerned figured Jan would be doing more walking than hiking.

"Not so," says Jan, as he occasionally "dropped" post cards home. Lots of friendly cars traveling the northern route as he caught rides in cars loaded with little kids and their parents. But the luckiest ride came from two fellows from, of all places, Livonia, who just happened to be heading to Glacier. The threesome hit it off and things have been working out well.

Helen has always contended it's better not to attempt such a project as Jan's without company. So true. The latest post card reported that during a climbing expedition, one of the boys slipped and fell breaking two vertebrae and a leg. Fortunately it was not Jan but Helen's remark, echoed by so many mothers everywhere, "I told you so". It was almost two years in the planning but Arlene and Rolf Munk of Teaneck Circle agreed the time and waiting was well worth it. They and their children, five year old Kim and seven year old Rolf, have recently returned from a twenty-two day trip to Denmark and Sweden.

Most of their time was spent visiting Rolf's parents in Bastad, Sweden — a cosmopolitan city made famous by the late King Gustav. And Bastad is the tennis capital of the continent, hosting the regional Davis cup finals which the Munk's were able to attend.

Prior to their leaving, the John Momborg's, the Cavanagh's and the McDonald's, all neighbors of the Munk's in Highgate hosted a champagne send-off. During a short stop-over in New York, the family was able to visit with Arlene's folks before boarding the 747 which took them to Copenhagen. Arriving there, they took the boat train to cross the Straits to Sweden and Bastad.

Arlene described Sweden as truly gorgeous even though they had a great deal of rain and it was too cold to do any swimming anywhere in the beautiful resort area on the sea. The countryside was hilly with unbelievable flowers blooming and picture post card perfect. Each apartment complex which dots the landscape had window boxes — one more beautiful than another — and all ablaze with color.

Leaving the children with their grandparents, Arlene and Rolf spent three days in Copenhagen touring the beautiful city and relaxing. It was during this time that the Momborg's, Cavanagh's and McDonald's got together again and placed a trans-

Atlantic phone call "just to say hello. It was so delightful to hear from them. They had our itinerary so they knew where to catch us."

It was as the Munk's were having their breakfast which would put Detroit time at 4 a.m. And, of course, the time sped by all too quickly on the Munk's "fantastic" journey.

The gals in Northridge had their annual summer "tea" last week. This year's event was hosted by Liz Peck in the garden of her home on Hopkins Drive. A variety of cakes, watermelon boats and beverages were served while Helen Tillman gave a demonstration of painting on pine to the 22 ladies who attended.

Doris and Bob Merkle have returned from a square dance conclave in Bowling Green, Kentucky. Some sixteen hundred dancers assembled for the annual convention which lasted four days and was filled with hours and hours of dancing and music.

Each year Doris and Bob set aside vacation time to attend the gatherings often going in caravans to the designated area. As usual, the Merkle's had a great time, stopping at Hass Lake before returning to Wixom.

Northville, Novi to Discuss Student Tuition Agreement

A suggested interim agreement concerning tuition students living in areas earmarked for annexation to the Novi School District is to be discussed next week Wednesday between Novi and Northville school officials.

Representing Novi at that meeting will be School Board President Robert Wilkins and Trustee James Helmer.

Up for discussion will be expressed concerns of Northville made at the time it consented to the first-phase annexation of property at the southeast corner of Taft and 10 Mile roads. That annexation, which transferred 237 acres of land from Northville school jurisdiction to Novi school jurisdiction, was subsequently approved by the Wayne and Oakland intermediate school districts.

A second proposed annexation, if it becomes a reality, would transfer property north of 10 Mile, in the vicinity of Glenda Avenue, from the Northville to the Novi School District. Plans call for this second phase annexation to occur at the time Novi's new high school and elementary school are completed on Taft.

Basically, Novi officials going into next week's meeting appeared satisfied with all interim suggestions of Northville except for two. And these two deal with busing.

Here are the ground rules Northville has made:

1. The appointment of a committee of representatives from each local board that the citizens residing north of 10 Mile Road in the Northville district to formally review and confirm the elements of Phase II.

2. A complete K-12 program is available to the students of this area within walking distance.

3. Agreement is reached by the joint boards that any student who is enrolled in the Northville High School at the time Phase II is implemented shall be allowed to complete his/her education in Northville High School as a tuition student within the following conditions:

- a. The student has attended at least one semester in Northville High School.

- b. The parents have requested in writing to both boards their desire to have their child granted tuition status.

- c. The Novi District will pay tuition cost and provide reasonable transportation for students requesting to remain in Northville. (Novi officials object to this last suggestion, contending transportation of tuition students should be a matter of parental responsibility).

4. Any family residing in the area north of 10 Mile Road in the Northville district who chooses to enroll their children regardless of grade, in the Novi schools prior to implementation of Phase II may do so in keeping with the following conditions:

- a. The parents must submit in writing to both boards a request for tuition student status in Novi.

- b. Tuition cost will be paid by the Northville district.

- c. The parents and/or Novi district must assume transportation required. (Here, again, Novi officials disagree, arguing that transportation is a parental responsibility).

According to Novi Superintendent Gerald Kratz, "it appears a few parents have indicated an interest in attending the Novi schools prior to the actual transfer of property in Phase II," thus accounting for next week's joint meeting.

"I find it a reasonable proposition (proposed tuition arrangement)," Wilkins told other Novi board members at their meeting Thursday.

Board Secretary Ray Warren concurred, but he emphasized that he personally believes the eventual common boundary between the two districts should be established along Nine Mile Road.

His remark followed an observation by Dr. Kratz that the present thinking is to establish the boundary along a 9 1/2 Mile line.

Although he recognized that next week's meeting will deal with tuition students as it relates to proposed Phase II, Warren took the position that it is important to "express our views" on what is envisioned over a longer range period.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

John Burkman, one of the pioneer forces behind the Northville Historical Society's Mill Race project, called a dozen people together last week to talk about 1976 in Northville.

My initial reaction to the invitation was that John was rushing things a bit.

But I think that most of those who attended came away feeling pressed for time and enthusiastic about the prospects for big things in '76 for Northville.

What the "big things" are depends upon the help the committee can get from the public in the form of constructive ideas.

The city council and township board of trustees designated the Northville Historical Society as the community's official American Revolution Bicentennial committee.

Under the guidelines set forth by the Michigan Bicentennial Commission it is the responsibility of each local community to come up with its own projects coinciding with the three ARB themes: Heritage '76, Festivals USA and Horizons '76.

For Heritage '76 Northville hopes to complete its Mill Race project. That leaves "Festivals" and "Horizons" for the committee, and community, to ponder.

The state commission explains these themes this way:

FESTIVALS USA—This theme offers the opportunity to dramatize the spirit of hospitality and mobility which characterizes the American people. As a theme it focuses more strongly on people or places—peoples' ideas, their diversities, cultural expression and their interests. It encourages our citizens to expand their knowledge of our country and extends a welcome to others to visit our villages, towns, cities, events and festivals.

HORIZONS '76—Ahead of us lies the challenge of civilization in the third century of our existence. The Bicentennial is an occasion for looking ahead and perhaps speeding up the accomplishment of specific local projects, particularly those which advance the quality of our lives or give lasting improvement to our communities.

So there you have it, fellow citizens of Northville.

The ARB committee is looking for ideas for these two themes. The festival project might be confined to a week, month or longer in 1976. Or it might become an annual observance.

Horizons should offer something of a lasting nature for future generations.

Several ideas were discussed: pageants, historical productions; development of bike trails, parks; building-by-building renovation of the business district following original architecture; beautification of the Northville road boulevard entrance into the city.

But the committee wants more ideas. And later, after the projects are officially adopted, individual participation will be sought.

There's some matching fund monies available from the state for projects that qualify.

So lend your ideas and talents to Northville's Bicentennial celebration. Contact John Burkman or one of the following committee members with your suggestions: Florence Panattoni, Charles Lapham, Mrs. Lawrence Wright, A.M. Allen, Reverend Lloyd Brasure, Francis Gazlay, Dr. John Swienkowski, Mrs. Warner Krause, John Carlo and Jan Reef.

A "painting kick" by Chuck Lapham triggered the renovation of several store fronts along Main street recently (see picture below).

The genial haberdasher gives credit to Fran Gazlay and Don Fee of the Historical Society for the design. Gazlay came up with some pictures of original Victorian buildings, while Fee employed his artistic talents to provide renderings for the fronts of the Old Mill Restaurant and Northville Drug buildings.

So Lapham started painting his own store (right) and kept right on going down the street. Richard Kopecki, manager of the Old Mill, can't say enough for the assistance provided by Fee.

Since the formation of the local commission to review proposed exterior changes of buildings in the historical district, Fee has provided help in the form of color sketches.

It's just possible that the proposed store-front renovation for '76 could become a reality. Several merchants have expressed interest. And, of course, many have already made substantial improvements.

YES . . .

Teaching someone to drive without instruction in manual shift transmissions is like teaching someone to play golf using only woods and forgetting irons. They're OK on the fairway but in trouble around the green.

It has been my experience in hiring drivers for our company that a great percentage of the applicants have had no experience in driving with manual transmissions. In our case, that means they really don't know how to drive our trucks, because they lack a basic driving skill.

In the case of someone with a minimal educational background, this skill becomes more critical, as his employment opportunities are more limited. Very often, I'm afraid, this skill is the difference between getting a job or not.

But even in the broader sense, everyone is going to be confronted with a manual transmission at some point. So why not give the instruction where everyone is going to be—in a driver's training car equipped with dual controls.

Far better than your driveway or on the highway.

NO . . .

Not too many years ago, students had a choice and those "real" drivers chose to learn on a standard transmission. I don't know whether the instructors drew straws, but there were those who volunteered for duty.

Greater use was made of the High School parking lot because this was all the space needed for the first couple of days behind the wheel.

Our two oldest learned to drive using a "Beetle" and we only had to replace gears once.

I've been told that you don't really have the "feel" of a car unless you shift gears. Should we deny our young people this privilege?

Shouldn't they have the opportunity to stop at a signal light, stall the engine, and listen to all those courteous motorists behind them? How about getting a "straight stick" started after being parked on an uphill grade? What about it?

Where are all those economy, ecology, nostalgia buffs who should be demanding that our teenagers know the real joy of driving a car - without automatic transmission. Think 1950!

Two Views of Fair

To the Editor:
Friday August 2nd dawned bright and clear—a perfect day to go to the Northville Fair. So I called my friend from Livonia and asked her to go to the fair with her two sons ages 1 and 3. So she packed lunches, strollers, diapers, bottles, etc and off we went with my five sons, ages 13-12-10-6 and 3. We arrived about 10:30 and were charged 50 cents each to park (we had to take two cars). That was OK. We noticed no exhibits, no food, no rides—in short no anything.

We asked a few people and one person said she thought the rides would open at noon. So we went inside and looked briefly at antiques (how much of that sort of thing can one look at with 7 boys). We struggled up the stairs carrying the stroller to a few exhibits and back down again.

By then it was noon—still no rides, no exhibits, no food—no nothing. So we asked where the horses were and trudged down there, our irritability growing, only to be told it was a restricted area.

So back to the midway (and I use the term loosely) where some lady was calling out

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"It's a sad fact... nobody will ever know who those soldiers are... only God, I guess," said Walter C. McGhee, a retired farmer who lives next door to the national cemetery near Cold Harbor, Virginia.

The cemetery is located on his family's homestead that dates back to the eighteenth century.

Sitting in his backyard reminiscing, McGhee recalled vividly several occasions during his childhood when, during spring plowing, remains of unknown Civil War dead were unearthed on the family farm.

"No one made much over it because they used to dig up bodies regular in Virginia. My grandfather would just call up the cemetery superintendent and they'd come over and get it... add it to the other unknown graves they've got over there."

McGhee was born and raised in the Garthright House across the street from his present day home. Now owned by the federal government as a national monument, the Garthright House is located on one of the battlefields where Private Frederick Silsby of Whitmore Lake and his Michigan infantry regiment fought 112 years ago.

Many of the soldiers who fought in this section of Virginia disappeared, never to be heard from again. Some were captured, some died in battle with no identification on their bodies, and some were so terribly mangled they could not be identified. And some, very likely, deserted. In many instances no one could say with certainty what happened to the missing.

This same uncertainty exists over Civil War battlefields throughout the East and South. Military records, at best, were sketchy and sometimes nonexistent, and much of the evidence relative to a soldier's whereabouts was based on the recollections of battle weary companions.

It is not uncommon, therefore, to find more graves of "unknown soldiers" than the number of missing soldiers shown in military records.

Yet, despite the government's own uncertainty about the missing Civil War soldiers, it three times denied appeals of Silsby's widow to remove the label of "deserter" from her husband's military records.

I don't suggest that Silsby is one of the "unknown soldiers" who died near the McGhee home. I offer his observation only to show that while the government has been unable to identify many of the war dead it nevertheless adamantly insists Silsby deserted. Its proof of desertion is no more valid than the contrary circumstantial evidence submitted to the government by Silsby's widow following the Civil War.

Her most convincing evidence is the sworn statement of a companion soldier who said he was detailed to bury Silsby after he died of smallpox in the vicinity of Snicker's Gap, Virginia.

The government refused to accept this statement as valid evidence, insisting that before it could change the records Mrs. Silsby would have to either prove that her husband was "honorably discharged" or produce the official record of his death. Obviously, she could do neither. If she had been able to do so there would have been no need to appeal in the first place.

Boiled down, what the government told Mrs. Silsby was this: "You show us military records

News From Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Representative

Many persons have asked me how the legislature, after so many months of work, failed to adopt a campaign finance reform bill before recessing for the summer. The answer, while incredibly complicated in detail, may be summed up in the term "partisan politics."

It was already past midnight and we had been in session for over 14 hours when SB 1016 found its way back to the floor of the House of Representatives. Determined to make a last ditch effort to pass the bill, we temporarily set aside some budget bills to begin the tortuous process of considering further amendments to the Senate Amendment to the House Substitute to Senate Bill 1016.

Two amendments, to delete penalties for "false accusations" against candidates and to delete a requirement that the media file a special report of political advertising receipts, passed easily. Then Rep. Ryan, the Speaker of the House, moved to delete a section calling for the inclusion of in-kind contributions under spending limitations.

In-kind contributions are goods and services which are donated to a candidate instead of money.

The motion to exclude in-kind contributions from being counted lost by a close 51 YES to 41 NO vote. Fifty-five votes (a majority of the members elected and serving) are required. I voted against the motion.

The Speaker then moved to delete the section which would require reporting of spending by political committees for voter registration and get-out-the-vote drives. I also voted against the opening of this loophole which lost when only 52 votes could be found.

The Speaker then moved to delete the requirement that in-kind goods or services be reported at all. This assault on one of the bill's key provisions garnered only 49 votes, six short of the 55 required for adoption.

After further debate the bill was set aside again while more budget bills were considered. When we returned to the bill at about 3 a.m. several amendments were offered to change the spending limitations. In the end it was agreed that candidates for governor could spend up to 40 cents times the vote cast for Secretary of State in the last election.

It is important to realize that there are no spending limitations on candidates for any office in the present law.

Debate droned on for a considerable time longer, with Democrats generally failing to come up with the magic number of 55 votes needed to get the changes they wanted. Not that the Democrats were not in the majority. They simply were not in attendance in sufficient numbers.

As the sun began to brighten the morning sky Rep. Doug Trezise (Republican of Owosso) moved that the bill be given immediate effect. The weary presiding officer took a voice vote. With immediate effect we would have the bill in force in time for this fall's election!

But the Democratic floor leader, suddenly realizing what had happened, quickly jumped to his feet and moved that the vote by which immediate effect had been given be reconsidered. Another voice vote was taken and this time the obliging gentleman in the chair ruled that the required two thirds had not voted for immediate effect.

Thus, after 22 hours of work and struggle the gavel came down on an exhausted legislature. The budget bills needed to run the state for the next 12 months and a number of other worthwhile measures had been passed but campaign finance reform would have to wait another year.

indicating that your husband was honorably discharged or died on the battlefield and we will amend the military records to show that he was not a deserter."

How asinine!

The irony of all this is that the government's own records are pock-marked with errors. They could not hold up in a court of law today, and very likely if Mrs. Silsby had been able to afford legal counsel they would not have held up in the 1800's.

For example, one set of army records show Silsby actively serving with his regiment in Virginia, while other records indicate that at the same time he was hospitalized in West Philadelphia.

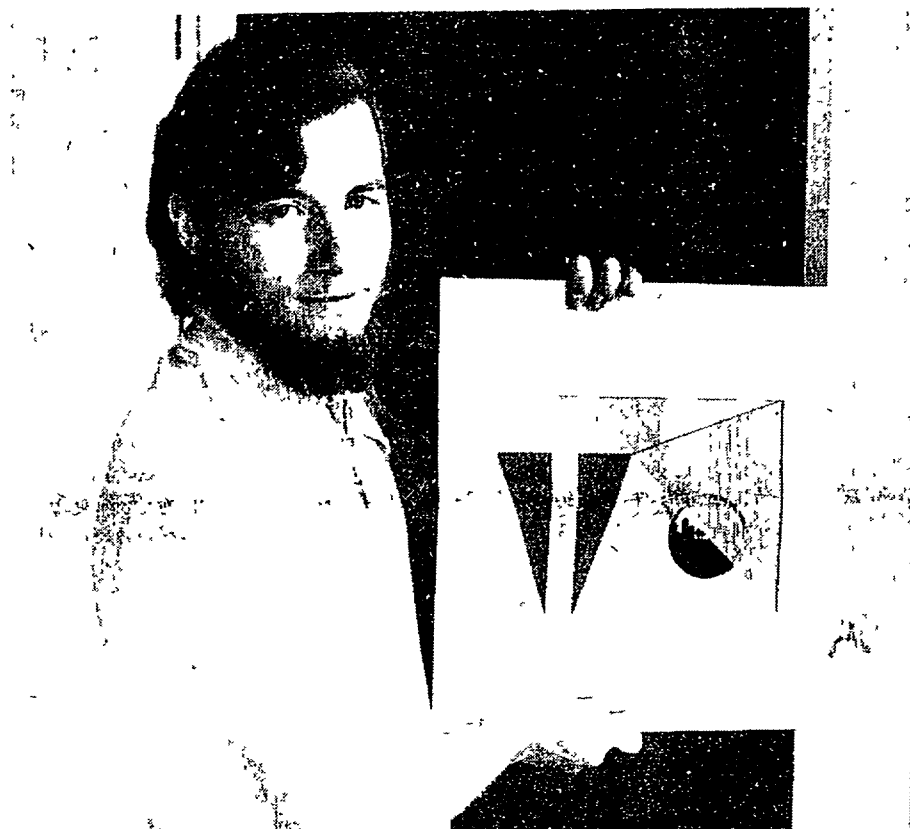

Another example: the records — all of which, fortunately, are preserved in the National Archives in Washington, D.C. — contain sworn statements of the Michigan adjutant general himself and of a Michigan army officer that Silsby, after deserting, returned to "make up" lost time and later was honorably discharged.

No one claimed then, nor do I claim now that Silsby deserted and later returned to the service. Obviously, the AG — who incidentally later wrote the most comprehensive book on Michigan's role in the Civil War — mistakenly confused Silsby with another soldier even though the error was never formally admitted. The point is this: the government's own records are inaccurate and confusing, so how can it justify using them in declaring Silsby a deserter?

Reading the internal departmental communications in the Archives, I came away with the distinct impression that the decisions in regards to Mrs. Silsby's appeals were arbitrarily made by governmental personnel who simply did not want to be bothered by this woman.

Mrs. Silsby and her two children, who had to be "boarded out" by a widowed mother unable to raise her family alone, went to their graves carrying the stigma of desertion. The grievous wrong done them and Private Frederick R. Silsby can never be repaid. Yet the government can still clear the soldier's name ... and until it does Silsby's current day representatives in Congress can expect to be pestered by friends of the Michigan soldier.

planners that Center Street ought not be widened, as suggested by the county, to make Center a major thoroughfare through the city

City officials have urged that the county consider a new north-south route as the major thoroughfare through Northville. Although that route has not been definitely decided a recurring proposal is to utilize part of existing North Griswold with construction of a new roadway parallel to the railroad track to carry traffic to and from Novi Road at Eight Mile.

County officials to date, however, have been less than enthusiastic about this proposal because they contend the cost would be prohibitive.

To the Editor:

I would like to congratulate Northville on having another excellent and enjoyable Fair for 1974. The one thing I did not enjoy was all the youngsters, parents, and friends who brought their horses, ponies, costumes, etc being harassed every 15 or 20 minutes by a helicopter taking off and landing about 100 feet over their heads. This took place Saturday morning and all Saturday afternoon. These kids put on a great show, (Incidentally no charge to view these classes of horsemanship although it cost the kids a couple of dollars for each entry.) and it was grossly unfair for them under those unfortunate circumstances to show their horses. I hope next year someone in charge of events will try to eliminate this obstreperous situation

I'm sure all the kids especially the horses would appreciate it! Thanks again for a swell Fair.

Appreciates Help At Sidewalk Sale

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the City officials and staff for their invaluable assistance and cooperation in Northville's successful Sidewalk Sale. The D.P.W. was on the job early to block the necessary streets, reroute traffic, and help to keep things running smoothly. They were still there at 6 p.m. to clean up the debris and put the streets back in order as quickly as possible.

Because of the large crowds, our parking facilities were inadequate. My thanks to many businesses whose private parking was encroached upon, and stores such as Kroger who had their parking areas strained to the utmost

All exhibitors were most cooperative and found their places quickly and uncomplainingly.

The Sidewalk Sale is a true community project, and I will welcome comments, pro and con, for suggestions and ideas to be considered by the committee for 1975. May I hear from you? Phone 349-5175

My sincere thanks to all who participated

Sincerely,
Charles Lapham

"Dad's more independent than ever since he moved to the Center."

Dad's always been one for living his own life. And he taught me a lot about the best way to live mine. When he retired, I wanted him to get the most out of his leisure years.

But it was tough. I used to worry about him. He didn't want to move in with me and my family. Said he was too set in his ways. Maybe he was right. But I didn't think he should go on living alone in that big house. It was just too much work.

That was just one of the reasons I was so pleased when Dad told me about the Center. It's the sort of place that's right for an active person like Dad. He can keep his independence and still have some of the rest and pampering I think he's earned.

Each resident has his own apartment on a Life Membership basis. It's theirs to furnish and use as they wish. It's their home. But with some important differences. At the Center, the staff takes care of the heavy cleaning and flat laundry. (And there are washers and dryers available for the resident's personal use, free of charge.) Meals aren't a problem either. The main dining room serves a varied selection of meals, three times a day. The meals are served in a beautiful setting by the Center's own staff. Not cafeteria style. And for special occasions, there are private dining rooms for entertaining family and friends.

I think that the key word for the Center is freedom. First, the freedom from the burden of maintaining a house. That leaves people like Dad free to pursue activities they really enjoy. Residents organize their own activities ... and they're involved in just about anything you can think of ... bridge games and hospital volunteer work, choral programs, lectures, group excursions and gardening. Some residents are still involved in the business world as consultants and part time workers.

On the whole, the Center is a resource as well as a place to live. There are hobby rooms, a library, lounges, meeting rooms, beauty and gift shops and more. Dad can even get a ride into town without waiting for me. The Center has its own bus service.

And finally, the Center is right here. Not ten states away. I can see Dad and he can see his grandchildren easily and often.

Oh, I'd never tell Dad how to live his life. But I must say I'm glad he decided to move to the Center.

It's a modern, realistic retirement alternative for people like Dad who have retired from their jobs ... but not from living.

Veteran Detroit Educator Selected NHS Principal

Northville High School's new principal began his first day of work Friday morning by addressing high schoolers enrolled in the year-round school program just hours after he accepted the post.

Michael M. Tarpinian has been hired to head the high school from a field of 48 candidates.

The 44-year-old Tarpinian has served as principal of two high schools in Detroit and as assistant principal.

He received both his BA and MA degrees from Wayne State University and taught English in Detroit schools from 1952 to 1963. He served as a counselor in Detroit schools from 1963 through 1967 and as assistant principal of Henry Ford High School from 1967 through 1970.

Tarpinian was principal of Finney High School from 1970 to 1973 and principal of Cody High last year. A resident of Dearborn, he and his wife have four children.

Unofficial confirmation of his $24,657 one-year contract was given by board members via telephone and the board will officially act on his contract Monday night.

Superintendent Raymond Spear called Tarpinian's addition a "real fine asset to the staff. He has had rich and varied experiences, has a good attitude and is a 'kid oriented' person who believes in people.

"He will be a real asset to Northville High," Spear concluded.

Tarpinian and Assistant Principal Mrs. Barbara Campbell will be heading up the high school staff. Vacancy of the second assistant principal position has been posted, filling the post left by David Longridge who accepted the principalship earlier this year of Cooke Middle School.

Two other positions within the school district, those of curriculum coordinator and assistant business manager, will not be filled this year, Spear said.

Although 41 persons applied for the curriculum coordinator opening, Spear said that "due to various considerations, we could not reach agreement." He added that the persons the school district wished to hire and the district could not reach salary agreement.

Of those selected for the post of assistant business manager, one person decided not to leave his present job and another selected another post outside the district, Spear said.

NEW PRINCIPAL—Michael M. Tarpinian, hired Friday to head the staff at Northville High School, confers with Assistant Principal Mrs. Barbara Campbell about plans for year-round school which began Monday. Tarpinian's first official duty came Friday morning when he addressed YRS students at an orientation meeting.

between them and this causes the asphalt shingles, which need to have a completely flat surface, to lay incorrectly and cause some leaking, Richter explained.

The house itself has no modern facilities. An old well behind the back porch has long since gone dry although Richter said he had another well placed down behind the "milk house".

An old fresh air outhouse is also in evidence on the property as the house has no plumbing at all.

Richter said that up until about two years ago he burned wood or hard coal in a "Round Oak 20" stove which provided all the heat for the not extremely well insulated house. The stove has since been sold and fuel oil is now used, he added.

Being realistic about the fate of the house which has been his home for the last 40 years, Richter said, "It's going to cost someone to fix it up. I don't know if the city of Wixom is going to do that."

Charges Against Doctor Appealed

A district court opinion that insufficient evidence to show a crime has been committed in the case of a Northville doctor is being appealed by the Michigan Attorney General's office.

The seven-month-old case against Dr. Alexander Petrides of Northville remains open, therefore, although District Court Judge Dunbar Davis last month handed down an opinion (not an order) indicating the state had introduced insufficient evidence to convince him to bind the case over to circuit court for trial.

Papers have been filed by the AG's office to start the appeal either at the circuit court or the court of appeals level. If the appeal fails the state may, under law, return to the district court with any additional evidence it may wish to introduce, this newspaper was told. If the state wins its appeal it would mean in effect that Judge Davis would be required to bind the case over for trial.

Meanwhile, Judge Davis is expected soon to sign the order officially documenting his ruling.

A companion case against Dr. Pasquale Buoniconti was earlier withdrawn and he was granted immunity in turn for state's evidence.

Among the charges still outstanding against Dr. Petrides are those alleging that he took money under false pretenses from the state and from the county when he worked at Northville State Hospital and the Wayne County Child Development Center. More specifically, Dr. Petrides, a psychiatrist, is charged with drawing full-time salaries from both the state and county "even though he actually only worked part-time for both employers."

City Awards Contracts For Power Washer, Truck

Contracts for a pick-up truck and a power washer were awarded two firms this week by the Northville City Council.

John Mach Ford of Northville was awarded the contract on a new one-half ton four-wheel 1975 pickup on the basis of the firm's bid, with trade-in of $3,317.86.

Only other bidder was James-Martin Chevrolet of Detroit who came in with a $90 lower bid.

trade-in allowance, the firm's past maintenance performance and its location inside the city were deciding factors in Mach's favor.

A $795 contract was awarded the Nu-Process Machine Company of Livonia for a power washer to be installed in the department of public works garage. It was a budgeted item and no bids were sought following inspection of three different washers and the recommendation of Ted Mapes, assistant DPW superintendent.

In other business, council approved resolutions authorizing the borrowing of money to finance a refuse packer and an accounting machine. Both pieces of equipment were previously approved for purchase. Councilman David Biery abstained from voting because of his affiliation with the lending institution, Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit.

Bus Committee Slated in Novi

Establishment of a citizens committee to review the school bus transportation schedule in Novi is in the offing.

Board President Robert Wilkins has named Richard Garlick and Dr. William Barr to the committee, leaving the appointment of citizens open pending nominations by the public and the board later this month.

Wilkins envisions an eight-member committee to be charged with reviewing the present schedule to determine if any significant changes are required.

worth just under $13.5 million, in Chicago. Using a duplicating machine, the officials signed 20 bonds with each stroke of the pen.

The bonds are part of the $13.5 million bond issue, approved by voters last year, to pay for new school buildings here, including the giant new high school planned at 10 Mile and Taft roads. The bonds were recently sold, and the school district has since banked the money in short term, interest producing notes.

Priest, Hippie, Cop Get it Together

In A Game of Slow Pitch

By PHILIP JEROME

Leslie Harding is a priest. Or, more correctly, a rector. He presides over the parish of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church in Novi.

Steve Pauli is what some might call a "hippie". He is young, just a couple of years out of high school, hangs around with other "freaks" and long hairs, drives a van, and has a magnificent "Afro-style" haircut which has earned him the nickname "Bush".

Allen Cox is a cop on the Northville Police Department.

Lou Hopping is 74 years old. His profession - retired.

Brighton's George Kirchner works construction. South Lyon's Ron Evasic is a dentist. Novi's Butch Shoemaker works in the DPW. And John Genetti owns a grocery store in downtown Northville.

But as dissimilar as this group might appear, every member has something in common. What is it?

Slow pitch softball.

The wide spread of ages, interests, and professions is nothing unusual, however. You can find the same spread in almost any town across the country.

The game is the thing; and nowadays just about everybody - women and children included - is flocking to play slow pitch softball.

No matter where you go, slow pitch softball is the hottest thing around.

Every city has its own league and the cities in the area covered by Sliger Publications are no exception. South Lyon has a nine-team league. Novi - which started its league just three years ago - has 11 teams. There are 14 teams in the Brighton league. And no fewer than 16 teams compete in the Northville league.

And those are just the men's leagues.

Why is slow pitch so popular? Several of the reasons can be found in the game itself. There are a number of basic differences between slow pitch softball and baseball.

For one thing, the pitcher's mound in slow pitch is only 45 feet from home plate as opposed to 60 feet in baseball. And bases are 60 feet apart in slow-pitch as opposed to 90 feet in hardball.

Another difference is the number of players. There are 10 men to a side in slow pitch as opposed to the nine players who man a hardball team.

But the big difference - the key to the game's popularity - is in the pitching. Slow pitch softball pitchers may only throw the ball underhand, and it must have an arc of at least 10 feet but not more than 15 feet. In other words, the pitcher is required to serve the ball up to the batter on the proverbial silver platter.

The result is that it is a hitter's game with the emphasis on action.

Pitching is the key to the game's popularity, insists Bob Kucher, athletic director at Northville High School and a parttime scout for the St. Louis Cardinals.

"The nice thing about slow pitch is that everyone can hit the ball and feel a measure of success," he states. "It's a lot different from hardball where hitting the ball is not at all easy. In slow pitch hardly anyone ever strikes out and the chances of getting a good hit are pretty good."

Related to the fact that the ball is easy to hit is a second reason for the game's popularity.

"The game is a lot of fun because there's so much action," comments Dutch VanIngen, a principal in the Northville school system. "In hardball an outfielder may only get one or two chances per game and there are long waits between hits, but in softball the ball is almost always in play."

"There's a lot of hitting, fielding, running, and throwing. It's more fun for the players and it's more fun for the fans," he continues.

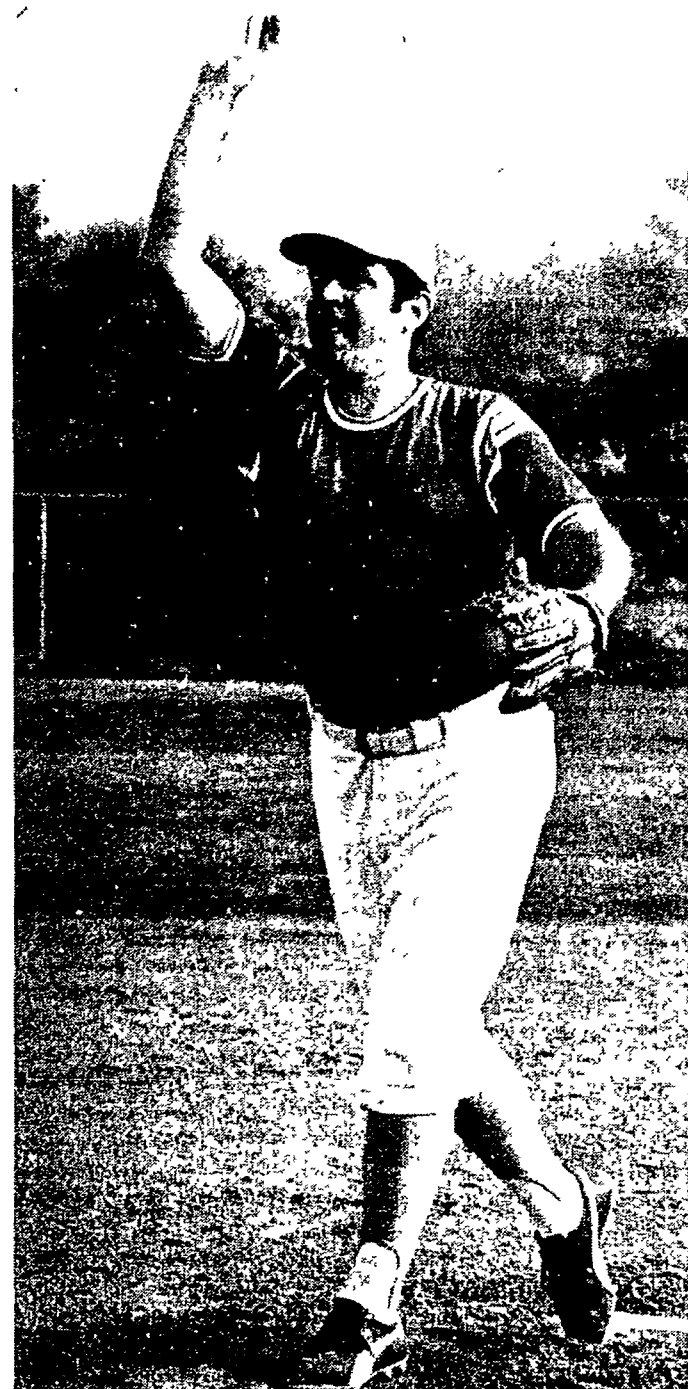

Ray Murphy, who founded the league in Novi, feels that another reason for the popularity of the game is that anyone can play.

"A 35-year old can compete on pretty much the same level with a 20-year old. Slow pitch gives the accountant and the engineer a chance to go out and relive some of his youth while having a lot of fun and getting a little exercise at the same time."

Murphy also notes that it is a good family game. "It's given me and a lot of the men on our own team a lot of prestige in the eyes of our sons," he says. "The boys go out to the softball field and really get a kick out of seeing the 'old man' run and hit and field."

Murphy reports further that the game is a good father-son activity. There are a number of teams which have father-son combinations, and one of the teams in the Novi league - Miami Blue Water Pools - features 53-year old John McMillan, Sr., and his three sons, David, Philip, and John, Jr.

Another feature of the game is that it is readily adaptable to just about any level of play. There are leagues for the superior player, while there are also leagues for women, men over 30 years of age, men over 50 years of age, and girls under 15.

Industrialist Rob Holloway flings one across the plate

Already Northville, Novi, South Lyon, and Brighton have found that the demand for slow pitch softball leagues is large. South Lyon teams are going at it four nights per week, while the Northville, Novi, and Brighton leagues have action slated from 6:30 to 10 p.m. five nights a week.

And the demand is still growing. Comments Doug Cogger, head of the South Lyon league: "With the way things are going, we're going to have to put in another field before next year rolls around."

Second Thoughts About Moving

Terrorized by the gunmen who forced them from their house in Naples, Florida recently, a former long-time Northville couple were released unharmed but badly shaken.

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, who lived for a quarter century at 51275 West Seven Mile Road before moving last fall to Florida, laugh about the frightening experience today but it was no laughing matter that July afternoon.

They had hoped to talk a daughter, Pat Hall, and her husband of South Lyon into moving to Florida.

"But after hearing about this, he'll probably want to stay where he is," Mrs. Martin told Florida newsmen.

After entering the Martin home at gun point, the men first wanted to tie up their victims and take their car but later they decided to take them along as hostages.

The gunmen, who had just held up a Naples jewelry store, ordered Martin to drive towards Fort Myers. But they became confused when Martin made a "wrong turn," and a short distance later the car was flagged down by a patrolman.

Inside the car, with the Martins listening, the gunmen debated whether or not to give up.

The whole incident was over within moments and both gunmen were handcuffed. Mrs. Martin said she fell apart once at the police station.

Ironically, the day before the experience the couple had written a letter to Detroit suburban friends suggesting they move to Naples where it is sunny, peaceful and quiet.

So—You Want to Save Money!

If you want to save money, this is the best time to do so. Because First Federal now pays the highest interest rates allowed by law, the highest ever offered! And with a variety of insured plans, so that you're bound to find one to suit your particular needs.

Think about earning this high interest now—and saving for things you want in the future! This makes common sense to us, and we think you'll agree, if you take the time to consider. Further, in addition to building towards your own security, you will be helping in the fight against inflation.

And, while you're thinking, just consider this: How much are you earning on your present savings, every three months? Or every year?

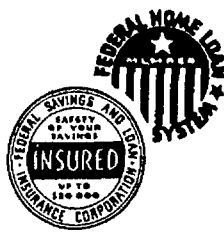

Enough to pay your taxes?
Enough to buy new furnishings for your home?
Enough for that trip to Hawaii or Europe?
Enough to help pay for a new car?

Editor's Note: This is the first publication of Church Capsules, which will be a regular feature of Sliger Publications religion page. If your church or religious group has announcements of public interest for Church Capsules, call 349-1700 (Northville) 437-1001 (South Lyon) 227-6101 (Brighton)

The Highland Congregational Church will hold its annual bazaar and bake sale August 9 and 10. The bazaar will feature over 20 hand made craft items, clothes, jewelry, and books. Doors are open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. All proceeds from the two-day sale will go to the church building fund.

The Hartland Christian Women's Club extends an invitation to all interested women to attend its mother-daughter luncheon Friday, August 16. The luncheon and afternoon program of fashions and music will be held from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. at Waldenwoods, one mile north of M-59 on U.S. 23.

The Highland Christian Child Care Center, a non-denominational community service of Highland Church of the Nazarene, is now accepting enrollment applications for the fall session. There are openings in the four- and five-year-old class which meets Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays and the three-year-old class on Tuesdays and Thursdays. All classes meet 9 to 11:30 a.m., and the fee is $3 per session. The Center is approved and licensed by the State of Michigan and staffed by trained and experienced personnel.

The First United Methodist Church of Northville announces plans for its 1974-75 Mixed Doubles Bowling League. League games start at 7 p.m., Wednesday, September 4. Interested persons may sign up as couples or the church will arrange partners. Call the church office for more information and to register.

The United Methodist's Rummage Sale will be held August 14, from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. All saleable items should be brought to the church office by 9 a.m., August 13. To arrange rummage pick-ups call the church office.

The church also reminds all United Methodist women it is still collecting recipes for its cookbook.

Catholics, 'Yes' — Protestants, 'No'

Celibacy Critical to Clergy?

Since Reformation leader Martin Luther renounced celibacy and married in the sixteenth century, the issue of a celibate or married clergy has divided Catholic and Protestant churches. Clergymen of both persuasions believe their vows, to either celibacy or marriage, are an essential part of an effective ministry.

Why does the Catholic clergy opt for celibacy? In what way does remaining unmarried make priests more effective church leaders? Why does the Protestant minister choose marriage? Is the Catholic commitment to celibacy strong enough to withstand recent criticisms of it by Catholics and non-Catholics and defections by priests because of the requirement?

Father Raymond Klauke of St. Patrick's Church, Brighton, explains celibacy is part of the priest's undivided commitment, of body and soul, to God and to serving the Catholic Church.

"Remaining celibate is part of our total commitment to leading lives of controlled discipline.

"Married love and children can be beautiful things, but the priest deprives himself of those so that he can throw his total energies in his spiritual leadership."

Father Klauke referred to documents of Vatican II, the ecumenical council of Pope John XXIII, which states in part, "Through virginity or celibacy . . . priests are consecrated to Christ in a new and distinguished way. They more easily hold fast to Him with undivided heart. They more freely devote themselves in Him and through Him to the service of God and men."

The work schedule of the priest, said Father Klauke, also makes family living prohibitive.

"We work 16 hour days and are always on call. With hours like that, the priest can't meet the responsibilities of a wife and children. I couldn't have made a wife secure and happy."

Does abstinence from marriage and family living limit the priest's effectiveness as a marriage and family counselor?

Father Klauke thinks not, that celibacy affords the priest "a neutrality" — in counseling which is not available to married clergy and which members of the congregation respect.

What about criticism of celibacy from within and without Church ranks and priests who leave the Church to marry?

"First, said Father Klauke, 'priests seldom leave just to get married. They leave because they have become involved in a different relationship with society, and marriage is just part of their new social framework.'"

"And a priest does not stop being a priest because he is married. Vows are taken for life. Once a priest, always a priest."

The married priest is, however, "laicized" by the Vatican. That is, he is dispensed of his priestly duties to say mass, perform the sacraments, and hear confession. Such dispensation comes only from the Pope.

"A married priesthood, said Father Klauke, would present an economic challenge the Church is not prepared to meet."

Finally, he said, Catholics do not want married priests.

"The last thing the majority of our Catholic people want to see is a totally married priesthood. They have always felt deeply that the free spirit with which the celibate clergy can go about ministering to their flocks, without heavy responsibilities of a personal earthly family, is a great asset to his spiritual leadership."

The vow of celibacy is a different one for priests and nuns, explained one nun from the Dominican order in Northville who preferred to remain unidentified.

Nuns can take vows for life or for a specific length of time, three or six years, for example.

"When you become a nun for any length of time, you do so having accepted celibacy. Marriage does not enter your thoughts."

The sister sees marriage as "terribly impractical" considering nuns live in convents with women only, and their contacts are primarily other women and children.

The sister said she knows of only one or two nuns who have left their orders to marry.

Nuns who leave the Church, she said, do so mostly to do community work not provided for by the Church.

A nun wishing to serve a need in the community must first have the work she wishes to do approved by her Mother Superior, then the Provincial Mother, and finally the Mother General. Nuns may prefer to work outside the Church to avoid that hierarchy.

The Reverend Dave Kruger of Lord of Life Lutheran Church, Brighton, believes the issue of married or celibate clergy is a matter of individual clergymen.

"Some individuals need the companionship and intimacy of marriage. But if one is taught from a very early age not to cultivate that need, he learns to live without a marriage partner. He accepts his life without married intimacy as a given. But once one accepts heterosexual marriage as a part of his life, he can't very easily shift gears."

Mr. Kruger said he believes the argument that one who doesn't know the difficulties and tensions of married intimacy first hand can't be an effective pastoral counselor is rather hollow.

"Anyone skilled in interpersonal relationships," he said, "can be a helpful counselor."

The Reverend Robert Warren of First Baptist Church of Wixom said he bases his view of celibacy on Biblical passages, and "the Bible makes it very clear the pastor should be a married man."

He said the Catholic requirement of celibacy is not grounded in the Scripture which is the only authority for his and all Baptist churches.

"In part, Catholics base their belief in a celibate clergy on the fact Christ wasn't married. But Christ never condemned marriage. Christ never said only unmarried men can serve Him, and the Bible claims no higher spirituality for the unmarried."

Among the passages Mr. Warren cited as a clear indication the pastor should be a married man is this from chapter 3 of Timothy:

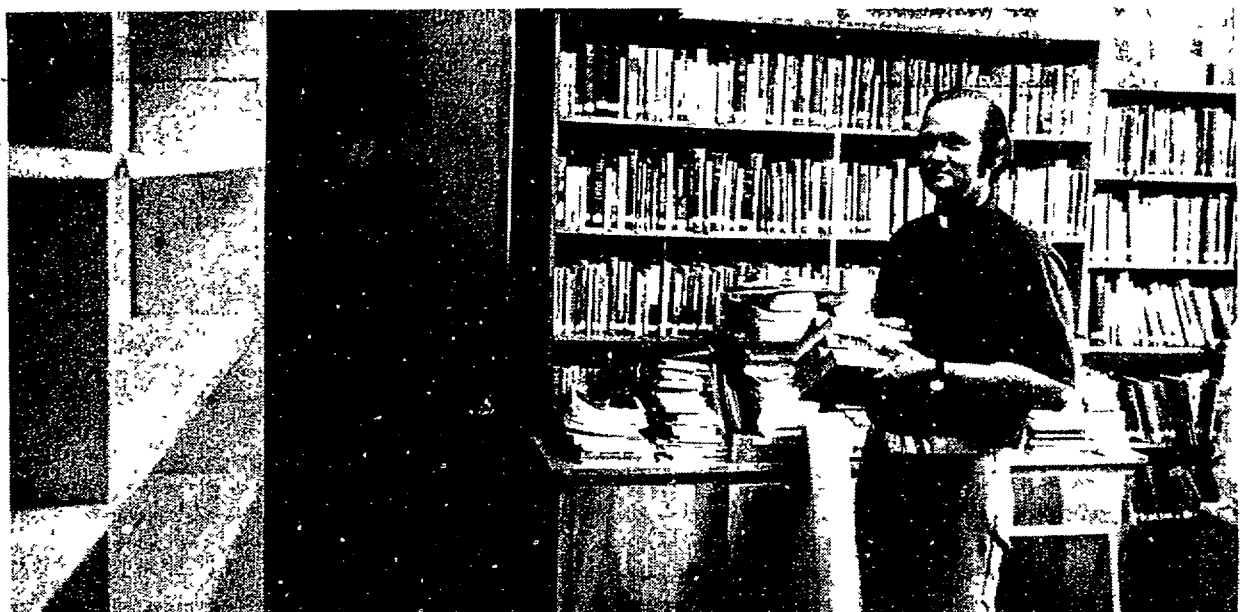

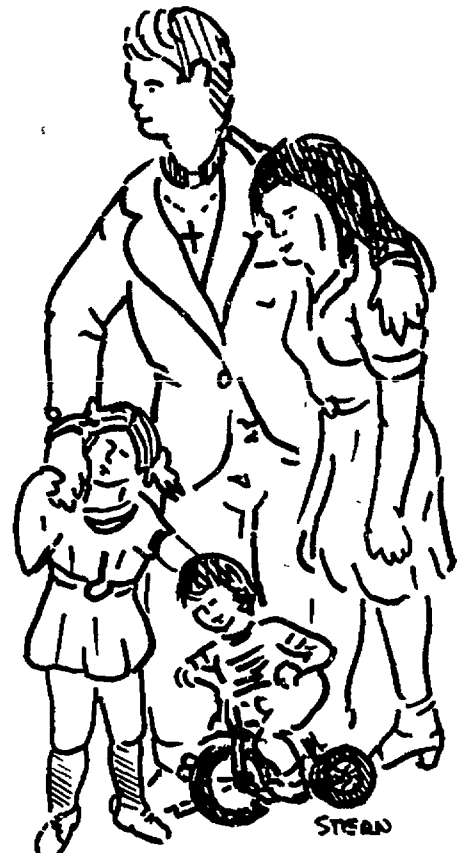

"Our leader, therefore, must be faithful to his wife. He must be one who manages his own household well and wins obedience from his children. If a man does not know how to control his own family, how can he look after a congregation of God's people?"

Mr. Warren said the Bible does not say that all ministers of God must be married. For example, evangelists may remain celibate.

"But those who govern a church, who shepherd a congregation, must also govern their own households."

Mr. Warren says he knows of no unmarried pastor who has an extremely effective ministry.

The Reverend Richard Anderson stacks books on new shelves at St. George's library.

Church Library Expands

"Ours is the only complete church library which serves the whole Brighton community," said Mrs. Walter Taube, librarian for St. George Evangelical Lutheran Church in Brighton. Started six years ago at the urging of the congregation, the library now holds over 3,000 religious volumes on matters of interest to every faith, fiction and non-fiction, for adults and children.

In addition to books, the library also makes available audiovisual equipment, records, tapes, cassette and films for religious education. The Reverend Richard A. Anderson said the library is well-used by the education programs the church sponsors. The church provides summer programs for children of all ages and the mentally handicapped and operates parochial pre-school during the school year.

Persons interested in using the church library should call the church office.

State Signs Salute Centennial Farms

LANSING— Ever notice "centennial farm" markers as you drive through the Michigan countryside on a Sunday afternoon?

There's a wealth of history—and more than a bit of family pride—behind each of those signs.

The plaques designate those farms that have been in the same family for 100 or more years. And that's no small feat, especially in recent years when developers have gobbled up rural territory, and some farming families have abandoned their businesses in favor of more stable work.

IN RECOGNITION of this family stick-to-itiveness, the Michigan Historical Commission grants "centennial farm" status to those who can show unbroken family ownership for a century or more.

The program, which the commission says is unique in the United States, began more than 25 years ago. To date, nearly 3,000 Michigan farms have been certified and awarded plaques, which are paid for with the help of Detroit Edison Company and Consumers Power Company.

"THE VALUE of this program isn't just in publicity," declares Jerry Roe of Lansing, chief of the Historical Commission.

"It brings our heritage to the forefront," he contends. "The marking of anything like these farms lets people understand it's part of history."

THINGS YOU WON'T get to vote for or against this fall:

—Election of 18-year-olds to state offices. A proposal to put that question on the ballot fell far short of the required two-thirds vote in the Michigan Senate and is dead for this year at least.

—Ban public ownership of handguns. Backers of that proposed constitutional amendment failed to collect the required number of petition signatures, coming up with only 200,000 of the needed 265,000 validated names. They blamed a late start in circulating petitions and inadequate funding, and began talking about other ways to implement their plan.

—Capital punishment. Same problem here, with not enough petition signatures collected by backers of the drive.

ON THE OTHER HAND, it's likely Michigan voters will have an opportunity to decide whether the state should eliminate the 4 per cent sales tax on food and the 2 per cent on prescription drugs.

Supporters of that constitutional amendment handed in some 315,000 signatures earlier this month. Their issue will go on the November ballot if at least 265,000 of those signatures are found to be valid.

Douglas Ross, director of the Michigan Citizens Lobby, which sponsored the food and drug sales tax referendum, estimates adoption of the amendment could save the average Michigan family up to $70 a year.

Budget officials, meanwhile, figure it will take a 0.5 per cent hike in the present 3.9 per cent income tax to make up for lost revenue if the sales taxes are eliminated.

TWO OTHER ISSUES destined for ballot spots this fall are a proposal to give up to $600 case bonuses to Vietnam veterans and another dealing with use of motor vehicle fuel taxes.

The latter question, placed on the ballot by the Legislature, would ban use of motor vehicle tax revenue for highway patrol purposes by law enforcement officers.

GET OUT THE CHERRY pie recipes—Michigan's crop looks like a super one this year.

The Michigan Crop Reporting Service says the state will grow some 95,000 tons of tart cherries in 1974, nearly two-thirds ahead of the freeze-damaged 1973 crop.

In addition, the service reports that the state will maintain its solid fourth place among the nation's sweet cherry producers.

MICHIGAN'S AGRICULTURE Department, in a newsy publication touting agriculture as the second largest source on income in the state, says that "along the Lake Michigan shoreline are thousands of Michigan's cherry orchards thriving in the almost perfect climate and soil conditions which exist there."

The report says that Michigan grew 66 per cent of the nation's red tart cherries last year, with a 58,000 ton crop worth some $390 per ton.

The department says also that there was a 1973 sweet cherry crop of some 16,000 tons, valued at nearly $4.5 million altogether.

Counties with heaviest cherry production are Grand Traverse, Berrien, Leelanau and Oceana.

Here's How to Make Flowers Last Longer

By KATHY COPLEY

The nicest things about a garden in August are sitting back on a warm evening to enjoy the color and fragrance, and bringing the garden indoors with fresh flowers.

Make the cut flowers last as long as possible by picking them in the early morning, preferably while they are wet from dew. This means that each of the cells is as turgid, as full of water, as they will get. That makes your job easier right off.

Make a sharp cut at an angle when you cut the flower. This gives the stem more area through which to draw water. Cut off the bottom 4" of foliage, or more if it will be submerged in the arrangement.

Most flowers benefit from soaking up to their necks in cool water for 2-3 hours. It only makes sense that the more water-filled the flower is before you put it in an arrangement, the longer it will stay fresh.

The list below gives some special treatments which will help to keep a bouquet—from your garden or from a florist—nicer, longer. Naturally you won't have all the oils and powders necessary, but you don't have all these flowers, either.

ACHILLIA: 2 Tbs. salt in 2 qts. water.

ALYSSUM: 1 Tbs. sugar in 2 qts. water.

ANEMONE: ½ C. vinegar in 2 C. water.

APPLE BLOSSOMS: Cut when in bud; crush woody stems with hammer; 2 Tbs. ammonia in 2 qts. water.

AQUILEGIA (Columbine): 5 drops oil of peppermint in 1 pt. water.

ASTER: 2 Tbs. sugar, 1 Tbs. salt in 1 qt. water.

BEGONIA: 2 Tbs. salt in 2 qts. water.

CAMELLIA: Wrap in wet tissue overnight. These flowers don't drink after being cut.

CAMPANULA (Canterbury Bells): 2 Tbs. washing soda in 2 qts. water.

CARNATION: Soak in cool water for 6-8 hours. Don't submerge the flower heads.

CHRYSANTHEMUM: Treat by soaking in hot water instead of cold; 10 drops oil of clover in 2 qts. water.

CLEMATIS: 3 Tbs. alcohol and a pinch of soda in 1 pt. water.

COREOPSIS: 1 Tbs. salt in 1 qt. water.

COSMOS: 1 Tbs. sugar in 1 pt. water or 5 drops oil of peppermint in 1 qt. water.

DAHLIA: Cut 1" into the bottom of the stem and burn it for several seconds; 5 Tbs. alcohol in 2 qts. ice water.

DAISY (all types): 8 drops of oil of peppermint in 1 qt. water.

DELPHINIUM: 1 Tbs. alcohol in 1 pt. water.

DIANTHUS: Same as for camellia.

EVERGREENS (all types): 1 Tbs. glycerine in 1 qt. water.

FERN: Submerge in water for 12 hours. Shake off the excess when ready to use.

FORGET-ME-NOT: Plunge in hot water, then cold; 8 drops of alcohol in 1 pt. water.

GAILLARDIA: 2 Tbs. salt in 1 pt. water.

GARDENIA: Same as for camellia.

GERANIUM: 5 drops oil of peppermint to 1 qt. water.

GLADIOLUS: 5 Tbs. vinegar in 1 qt. water.

GYPSOPHILIA (Baby's Breath): 1 tsp. alcohol in 1 pt. water.

HOLLYHOCK: Burn ends of stem as for dahlia; 1 handful rock salt in 2 qts. water.

HYACINTH: Squeeze substance from end of stem as soon as picked; plunge immediately into very cold water, to which 5 drops oil of peppermint have been added.

IRIS: 3 drops oil of peppermint in 1 qt. water.

LARKSPUR: 1 Tbs. alcohol in 1 pt. water.

LILAC: Never pull the green leaf off near the flower head because it conducts water to the bloom; condition in hot water for 2 hours.

LILY (Easter, Regal, Hansoni, Henryi, and Calla): ½ C. vinegar in 2 qts. water.

LILY OF THE VALLEY: ½ C. vinegar in 1 qt. water.

MARIGOLD: 2 Tbs. sugar, 1 Tbs. salt in 1 qt. water. Keep the water sweeter by adding a lump of charcoal.

NARCISSUS and family: Arrange in no more than 1" water.

PEONY: 3 Tbs. sugar in 1 qt. water.

PETUNIA: 1 tsp. sugar in 1 pt. water.

POINSETTIA: Burn ends of stem as for dahlia; 1 handful rock salt in 2 qts. water.

POPPY: Same as for poinsettia.

ROSE: 2 Tbs. powdered alum in 1 qt. water. If alum isn't available, use 2 Tbs. table salt in 1 qt. water.

SALVIA: 1 Tbs. alcohol in 1 pt. water.

SNAPDRAGON: 2 Tbs. salt in 2 qts. water.

STATICE: 3 Tbs. sugar in 1 qt. water.

SWEET PEA: Plunge in hot water, then cold water, 8

APPROACHING SHOWS August 18 - Fleming Creek The Fleming Creek Riding Club will start its show at 9 a.m. in Dixboro. The location is on Dixboro Road one-half mile north of Plymouth Road in the village, about one mile east of US-23.

Judges will be Ken Mumy, of Parma for Western and Clarence Hastings for English competition.

The show secretary is Sue Staebler (761-8221).

September 8 - Superior 4-H Superior 4-H Saddle Club will host a junior and adult show beginning at 9 a.m. September 8.

Fleming Creek Riding Club arena (see above) will be the site in Dixboro. Ted Dodge is judge.

For further information contact Julie Hornback, 6119 East Joy Road in Ann Arbor (665-9380).

"CODY" Cody's the neatest horse I've ever seen.

And if you really got to know him you'd see what I mean.

His trot is really smooth and free and I don't think anyone loves him like Suzy and me.

He's got his own personality you'd never believe! and I'd really be sad if he was ever to leave.

You don't have to believe me when I say he's great.

But there's nothing about Cody anyone could hate.

If you don't believe me for yourself you can see, that Cody's the greatest, and I think you'll agree!

INTERIOR SELLING TIPS

Remember—when you are showing the inside of your home to a prospective buyer, first impressions are lasting and have an important effect on a potential sale.

A clean, well-kept home shows a home that has had good care and has been properly maintained. Repaint the interior if it needs it, but use neutral colors, if possible. An attractive, comfortable living room is a major attraction, but a sparkling kitchen will appeal to the lady of the house. It's the heart of any home, so keep it spotless. No dirty dishes. Women are also sensitive about bathrooms; keep them clean and orderly. Bedrooms are important—arrange their furnishings neatly. Shiny, clean windows, not only are a great asset, but let sunlight in and brighten the entire atmosphere. Clean up the clutter in the closets, basement, and garage. And, if you have pets, clear them out too, when showing.

About People, Places 'n Things of vice president-membership for the Detroit Chapter of the National Association of Accountants for its 1974-75 fiscal year.

The Detroit chapter of NAA has over 550 members who work and reside in the greater metropolitan Detroit area. The chapter's membership comprises accounting and financial management, ranging from accountants beginning their careers to senior executives in business, government, education and public accounting.

NAA is the world's largest accounting association, with 68,500 members in more than 300 local chapters across the United States and abroad.

O'Hara is a partner with Sumerton, Gerhard, O'Hara & Rowe. Other affiliations are as follows: American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

CLAUDE E. FREEL, 47140 Dunsany, Northville, has been named to the Allstate Insurance Companies national "Conference of Champions."

CLAUDE FREEL

The conference, attended by the company's foremost sales leaders in insurance counselling and customer service, was held recently in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Freel's selection marks his seventh conference since joining the Sears subsidiary in 1957. In his selling career, he has also won the firm's Honor Ring seven consecutive years in recognition of his professionalism.

Freel was accompanied to the conference by his wife, Shirley. The Northville residents are the parents of three children, Claude, Michele and Christine.

DR. ROSS B. GRISWOLD of South Lyon represented his state osteopathic society at the annual meeting of the American Osteopathic Association's (AOA) House of Delegates at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles recently.

The House of Delegates, official policy making body of the 15,000 member osteopathic profession, considered more than 50 resolutions submitted by state osteopathic societies, AOA bureaus and committees, and central office departments.

Among the topics covered were policy proposals on physicians' union, professional standards review organizations, and osteopathic membership in M.D. societies.

About 140 delegates and 105 alternates representing their home state osteopathic societies participated in the three-day meeting which ended with the installation of the AOA's 1974-75 officers.

WILLIAM ASHER who owns Asher's "76" Service, 357 South Rogers, Northville, received the special Gates "Mystery Car" Award Thursday, August 1.

The award, a plaque bearing three Eisenhower Dollars, and two Kennedy Half-Dollars, was presented for exceptional customer service by a representative of The Gates Rubber Company, Denver, Colorado.

Gates sponsors the nation-wide contest, now in its 42nd year, to reward service station personnel who properly check for worn or defective parts. A fleet of "Gates Mystery Cars" travel across the country stopping at service stations.

Each "Mystery Car" is equipped with a worn fan belt, faulty radiator hose, and worn windshield wiper blade. Award plaques are presented to station personnel who recognize one of the defective parts and offer to replace it with the proper Gates part.

PROFESSIONAL Medical Distributors, Inc. of Wixom will be sponsoring an Acupuncture symposium at the Ann Arbor Marriott Motor Inn, 3600 Plymouth Road on August 17 and 18.

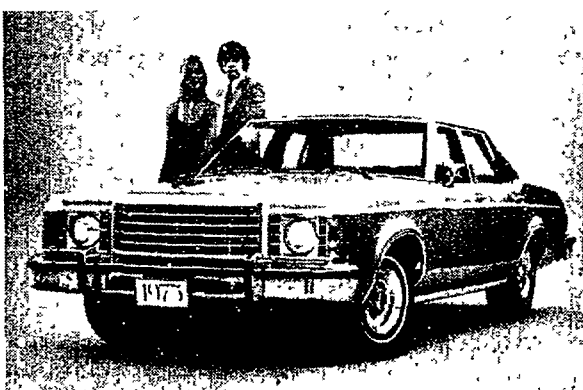

The faculty will consist of the following acupuncture researchers, which will cover subjects with color slides and practical application demonstrations:

Dr. Pang Ling Man, M.D.; Paul Ling Tai, D.P.M.; and Forrest Smith, D.O. Man is director of research at Northville State Hospital as well as director of the Detroit Acupuncture Pain Clinic.

Some of the research data to be released at this symposium, according to a spokesman, will be a first not only for the physicians here in Michigan but for physicians throughout the United States.

Professional Medical Distributors, which distributes acupuncture equipment, is located at 29830 Beck Road in Wixom.

JAMES E. CURTIS, a resident of Green Oak Township and township engineer for Green Oak, Brighton, Genoa, and Hartland Townships, has been appointed an associate of McNamee, Porter, and Seeley Consulting Engineers. Curtis has been with the Ann Arbor-based firm since 1972.

FOR 1975 Ford Division will introduce the Ford Granada, a new automobile with classic styling and five-passenger seating comfort. It is so efficiently designed that it is about half a ton lighter and two feet shorter than most standard-size cars. The new car is available in two- and four-door models in two series, a well-equipped basic Granada and a luxurious Granada Ghia top of the line series. Major standard equipment includes a 250-cubic-inch six-cylinder engine, manual front disc brakes, fully reclining front bucket seats, a 19.5 gallon fuel tank and a specially designed body and suspension for a big car ride. Two V-8 engines, the 302-2V and 351-2V, are available.

STEAKS ALIVE — Alan Somershoe of Northville spent a portion of a day this week trying to capture a steer at Ridley Commission Stockyards in Detroit that should dress out to about 400 juicy pounds of blue ribbon steaks awarded him as national prize winner in a circulation guessing contest sponsored by AUTOPRODUCTS Magazine, largest domestic automotive publication. Somershoe is advertising and sales promotion manager of Federal-Mogul Corporation, Southfield.

KING DISCOUNT PHARMACY in downtown Brighton officially got underway with a gift giveaway last week. Gerald Gilfix (above) is one of the registered pharmacists who will be filling prescriptions.

Owner Steve Sklar hopes to attract customers with his discount prices on prescriptions. "We dare them to compare our prices," Sklar said.

THE BOARD of County Road Commissioners has awarded a $39,832.10 contract to Kel-Cris Corporation of Farmington to grade, improve drainage and widen with concrete pavement the west side of the intersection of Novi and Nine Mile Road, according to Frazer W. Staman, vice chairman of the road agency.

GUARDIAN Industries Corp. (NYSE) reported record sales but a decline in earnings for both the second quarter and first six months ended June 30, 1974.

At the same time, the glass manufacturer announced its board of directors has approved payment of the company's first dividend, a semi-annual payout of 10 cents per share, on October 1 to shareholders of record August 13.

Earnings for the second quarter were $1,947,000, down almost 23 percent from record net income of $2,515,000 in the same period a year ago. After allowance for dividends on preferred stock, per share earnings for the quarter were 31 cents, compared to 44 cents per share the year before, when no preferred stock was outstanding.

Sales for the quarter were $24,454,000, highest for any three months in the company's history, and more than 11 percent ahead of sales of $21,934,000 in the second quarter of 1973.

Earnings for the first six months were $4,519,000 a decline of more than six percent from record net of $4,831,000 in the first half of 1973.

JERALD B. MARVIN, 38, has been appointed manager of Automobile Club of Michigan's Pontiac office, located at 76 Williams Street.

JERALD MARVIN

He succeeds Lloyd Rehkopf who was named manager of Auto Club's Mt. Pleasant office.

Marvin joined Auto Club as a salesman in 1960 at the Royal Oak office, where he served until 1968 when he became an administrative assistant in the Club's Sales Department.

A graduate of Detroit's Eastern High School, Marvin is a member of the Dearborn's Fairlane Club and North Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

Marvin, who has two children, and his wife, Carol, live in Northville.

GEORGE C. HASTINGS has been appointed vehicle sales manager of Perkins Engines, Inc., a major supplier of diesel engines based in nearby Farmington. The appointment was announced by William D. Winemaster, president.

Winemaster said the appointment "signals our intention to enlarge our share of the North American market for automotive diesels — a market that we expect to expand rapidly as a result of the energy crunch and rising fuel costs."

Hastings was associated with the Ford Motor Company's industrial engine and turbine division for the past four years, most recently as Eastern Regional sales manager. Earlier he was distributor development manager of Perkins Engines.

A native of the Detroit area, Hastings was educated at Hillsdale College where he earned a degree in business. He served with the Michigan Air National Guard for six years. Hastings resides with his wife and three children in Northville.

PENNY AWARD—Barbara Black of Black's Hardware in Northville was awarded a special citation this past week for her enterprising role in encouraging patrons to return thousands of pennies to circulation. Presenting her with the Department of Treasury citation is Jack Werner, bank vice-president and manager of the Northville branch of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. According to Werner, Mrs. Black's idea of issuing scrip in lieu of penny change focused attention on the shortage of pennies. Although much of the publicity has died down, the national scarcity of pennies is continuing, according to Werner, who urged area residents to turn in pennies they may be saving.

SHADES OF PAST — Archery seems to be growing not only among the older set, but also among the younger as witnessed by participation in the Northville Recreation Department's summer archery program. Youngsters in the 6-10 age group and 11 and older age group enjoyed lessons once a week. Many could probably give their elders a few lessons as noted by the youngster who confided that he always beats his father.

Choo-Choo Scrubs Ford, Earns Big 9-7 Victory

Northville American League champion Choo-Choo added frosting to the cake by beating John Mach Ford 9-7, but then settled for forfeiting a rescheduled Friday against the Jaycees.

In other contests, Manufacturers Bank moved up into a tie for third by beating Exotic Plastic & Rubber 13-1 and Exotic also fell to Hamlet 10-2.

Choo-Choo Car Wash, which had wrapped up the championship with a victory over John Mach Ford two weeks ago gave the car sellers a real sudsing in their latest meeting.

Choo-Choo scored two in the top of the first, three in the second, three in the third and one in the sixth innings.

John Mach scored single runs in the second, fifth and seventh innings and four in the third.

Choo-Choo's two first inning runs came from singles by Rich Adams, Don Thomson, Jeff Moon added to a walk and a Dennis Nadeau sacrifice.

Choo-Choo made it 5-0 in the second inning on four back-to-back singles, an out, and then a Don Thomson single.

John Mach came back with a single run in the bottom of the inning on a triple by Paul Jameison and a sacrifice by Charlie Boerger.

The car washers added three more in the third on a Tom Albers homer, a single by Jim Zayti and a double by Charlie Sorenson.

Bruce Mach, Jeff Crawford and Ray Taulbee each hit singles in the third for Mach and a sacrifice by Grosplitz cleared the bases. An error allowing Ray Beckstein to reach base and advance added another to make the score 8-5.

The car men added another run in the fifth on a triple by Crawford and a double by Grosplitz.

Plymouth Takes National Despite Lost Scorecards

The final tally is in and it's Plymouth State Home taking the championship in the Northville National League.

Some anxious moments were experienced by the Northville Recreation Department which lost several scorecards and was up in the air itself until a few days ago as to which team won the championship and when. Some of those cards are still missing.

The final official standings show that Plymouth State Home wrapped up the championship with a 15-3 record. Tavern stands in second at 12-5-1 but probably won't be there long as Newcomers-Little Caesars will be battling it out with Kings Mill. Both stand 11-6 and a win will push either into second.

One of the missing score sheets was that of the loss Plymouth State Home suffered at the hands of Newcomers-Little Caesars. That game ended 6-4 after a last inning comeback by Plymouth netted two runs, but not enough to win the game, Plymouth did manage to pad its win column margin by blanking VFW Post 4012 14-0 in four and a half innings. Plymouth scored six runs in the first inning, one in the third and seven in the fourth.

Seven hits including five back-to-back did the damage in the first inning for Plymouth. Five singles, a double by Smith and a walk helped Plymouth State Home score its seven runs in the fourth inning.

The VFW had to settle for collecting two singles in each of the first, third and fourth innings.

Leading hitters for Plymouth were Anger and Smith with two singles and a double each.

King's Mill Coop moved itself into a tie for third with respective 15-6 and 5-2 wins over Con Langfield and the VFW.

King's Mill pushed across four in the first, seven in the third and four in the sixth against Con Langfield. Nine singles including eight back-to-back were collected by King's Mill in the decisive third inning.

Con Langfield settled for three in the second, one in the fifth and two in the sixth. Singles by Mahoney and Ball plus a walk and error pushed across Langfield's three second inning runs.

Ken Hinkel's triple did the damage in the sixth for Con Langfield.

Leading batters for the Coop were Ron Dilisi, Don Whitlow and Bob Ferdorka with three singles each. Mahoney and Ball led Con Langfield with two singles each.

King's Mill had to play more defense but still ended up with a 5-2 win over VFW. One run crossed the plate for the winner in the first inning on singles by Whitlow and Lyle added to an error.

Singles by Utley, Burton and McIsaac helped VFW tie up the score in the second.

King's Mill took the lead for good in the fourth inning on an error and singles by Lyle and Staelmach which pushed across two runs.

Wins Women's Championship

Lorraine Tops Meadowbrook Again

Any doubts lingering in anyone's mind as to which team in the Novi Women's Softball League is best were put to rest last week as Lorraine Tool & Die crushed second place Meadowbrook Realty 14-8 to wrap up a share of the championship.

Farmington Sports Center grabbed at least a share of third place with an 8-6 win over last place Maxwell Insurance. No-Nonsense moved into fourth place with a 24-9 smashing of West Oakland Bank with which it had been tied.

To say that the Lorraine-Meadowbrook game was hotly-contested would be like saying that crime is increasing — a real understatement. Neither team would give an inch during the early going of the match.

Lorraine took advantage of two errors, two walks and a July DePollo double to put four runs on the scoreboard in the first inning. Meadowbrook retaliated with a triple by Joyce Ives and singles by Jan Edwards, Ginger Gillick, Joanne Athey and Sandy Kovar to grab the lead 5-4.

A walk, three singles and a double by Jennifer Sibole gave Lorraine back the lead 7-5 in the second inning. Meadowbrook tied it up on doubles by Gillick and Edwards, together with singles by Gayle Jansen and Ives.

Five doubles in the third by Clara Porter, Sibole, Marianne Gross, Teri McGahey and DePollo were the straw that broke Meadowbrook's back as six runs crossed the plate for Lorraine.

Meadowbrook scored a single run in the third on a walk, an error and a fielder's choice, but could get no more basehits during the game.

Two errors and a single gave Lorraine its final run in the seventh inning.

Leading champion Lorraine was DePollo with two doubles and a single while Sibole socked two doubles. Meadowbrook was led by Ives with a triple and single while Edwards and Gillick both hit a single and a double.

With three games left for Meadowbrook and two for Lorraine, the best the Realtors could hope for would be a tie, assuming Lorraine lost its cool and the last two games as well. No play-offs are planned, even if the "near impossible" should happen.

Farmington Sports Center scored three in the first and five in the fourth to upend Maxwell Insurance 8-6.

A triple by Debbie Gommerez was the only hit for Farmington in the lucrative first inning, but three errors including two of the two base variety aided the Sports Center.

Five more crossed the plate in the fourth for Farmington three errors and a triple by Pat Karavich, double by Vivian Huotari and single by Karen Porcell.

Maxwell Insurance put across two runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and three in the seventh.

A single by Irene Bureau and Amy Riedmiller added to an error, walk and a fielder's choice helped Maxwell in the fourth. Maxwell's three last inning runs came by way of four walks, an error and a Donna Polinski single.

Farmington Sports Center tallied seven hits to only four for Maxwell.

In the last league match, No-Nonsense, a field day, scoring seven in the third, six in the fourth and 10 in the fifth to whip West Oakland Bank 24-9.

Leading the second inning onslaught for No-Nonsense were back-to-back hits of triples by Nancy Kroese, and Pat O'Dowd and a double by Joey Frere.

Four singles and three errors helped No-Nonsense in the third. Six errors, three walks and a single by Holly Elie gave No-Nonsense its 10 runs in the final inning.

Singles by Mary McCurdy, Karon Tyler and Kathy Owens, three errors and a homer by Sheila Corcoran helped West Oakland score seven runs in the third inning. The bankers also put single runs across in the first and fourth innings.

Tyler and McKeever both had two RBI's for West Oakland. Diane Frehre, Nancy Kroese, and Kathy Szeznowski each had three RBI's for No-Nonsense although Karen Taylor led the team with six RBI's.

OF GOOD CHEER—Novi's varsity cheerleaders recently took first place in Camp All-American competition and will be competing in national competition soon if they can raise $200 for expenses. They are:

Cheerleaders Capture 1st

Novi's High School cheerleaders took first place at Camp All-American competition at Walden Woods and will be competing in national competition August 16-17—if they can raise $200 for expenses.

The Walden Woods competition, held in Hartland, Michigan pitted Novi's girls against 200 girls representing 25 high schools throughout Michigan and Ohio. The event was held from July 24-27.

The Novi girls did well in daily competition between the squads. Competition consisted of two cheers with the squads receiving first through fifth place awards.

A fourth and second on the first night was followed the second night by two firsts. Third night was trophy night and five squads were chosen as being outstanding, as well as five cheerleaders.

Novi placed first of all the squads and Lucine Tafralian took third best in the individual category among all 200 entrants.

The next step will be the grand national championships where Novi's girls will compete against 95 squads from all over the country if they can raise $200, according to squad sponsor Chris Hayward.

Competition will be at the Lansing Civic Center from 1-5 p.m. for the preliminaries and 7:30-10 p.m. for the finals. Donations to help send

Novi's squad to the national tournament can be turned in to Miss Hayward or the Novi followed a Charlie Sorenson single pushed across the ninth and final Choo-Choo run in the sixth.

High School. Telephone number of the high school is 349-5159.

John Mach ended its scoring in the seventh with a homer by Crawford.

Adams led Choo-Choo with a double and two singles, as did Sorenson.

Crawford paced John Mach with a homer, triple and single.

Exotic found itself on the losing end of both sides of a doubleheader Wednesday. In the first game against Hamlet, Exotic put single runs across in the first and sixth innings, but was effectively stifled during the remainder of the contest.

Hamlet scored three in the fifth on two singles and a walk interspersed with two fly-outs and a ground out. Four more crossed the plate in the sixth on two errors, a double by John Conder and singles by Genetti and Abraham.

Singles by Ed Kretz and Dave McAdams following a walk pushed across Exotic's first inning tally while a walk, two sacrifices and a single yielded Exotic's second run in the sixth.

Conder led Hamlet with a double and single.

In the nightcap, Manufacturers bank had innings of four, three, five and one runs to bomb Exotic 13-1 in four and a half innings.

Singles did the damage for the bankers as the team hit four in the first, four in the second, three in the third and four in the fourth. The only extra base hit was a double by Charlie Failon in the third.

Exotic scored its lone run in the second on singles by Kretz and Dale North followed by a fielder's choice and an error.

Leading Manufacturer's was Jim Belz with three singles, Failon had a single and double. Newman, Kucher, Boshoven Temple and Harrison each tallied two singles.

Plymouth Wins

VFW utilized two singles in the fifth to add its last run.

King's Mill added its final two runs in the sixth when Whitlow slammed a homer with one mate aboard.

Utley paced VFW with two singles while Whitlow led King's Mill with a homer and single.

Newcomers-Little Caesars might have managed to beat Plymouth State Home but it apparently had an off night later in the week falling 13-7 to Presbyterian Men's Club.

Presbyterian scored five runs in both the third and seventh innings. Three singles added to a Ken Parsons triple played a large role in Presbyterian's third inning onslaught.

In the fifth inning when Presbyterian pushed across two runs, Dick Sanford smacked a triple and was sacrificed home. Hank Greschaw then elevated a pitch past the fence to add another run.

Four singles and a Greschaw double helped Presbyterian to shove five more runs over in the final inning.

Three singles, an error and a walk helped Newcomers in its big inning, the second when three runs crossed the plate.

Pacing the winner was Greschaw with a homer, double and single. Rich Sievert and Don Williams, each tallied three singles while Ken Parsons collected a triple and two singles.

Gary Armstrong led Newcomers with three singles.

Although Presbyterian upset Newcomers, the church men themselves were in the same situation when VFW whipped them 17-1.

Seven fourth inning errors helped VFW push across 11 runs.

The Men's Club scored its lone run in the third on a Jim Curl double with one man aboard.

Steve Utley, Dick McIsaac, John Dodd and Don Collins all collected two singles for the winner.

Three Still in Running

Knothole Race Down to Wire

Everything boils down to last week action plus make-up contests in the Knothole Hardball league race. Three teams, the Rangers, Twins and Bruins still have a chance to walk away with all or part of the championship.

After action last week, the Rangers stood 9-1, Twins 10-2 and the Bruins 9-2. The Rangers have two games this week and the Bruins one meaning that if the Rangers win both their games with the Giants and the Indians, they will have the championship wrapped up.

If the Rangers split and the Bruins win, there would be a three way tie for first.

In contests last week, things went pretty much as expected. Information is sketchy because of a missing scorecard, but in the big game the Bruins knocked off the Giants 7-1, eliminating them from competition for the championship spot.

In other games, the Twins whipped the Bucks, 14-1, the Cardinals knocked off the Indians 16-10 and the Cubs beat the Bucks 8-4. The Giants, Indians and Rangers picked up respective forfeit wins from the Padres, Yankees and Cubs.

The Twins pushed across eight runs in the first inning and ended the contest in the minimum 4½ innings.

Bobby Thomson and Scott Armstrong each collected triples in the first inning for the Twins although four walks helped the cause. Armstrong's triple knocked in three teammates.

Twins scored three more in the second inning on four singles, doubles by Mark Holland and Carl Schwarze and a round tripper from the bat of Karl Scott. Holland collected a homer in the two run fourth inning.

Holland's homer and double paced the winner while Scott accumulated a homer and a double, Armstrong a triple and double and Bobby Thomson a triple and single.

Pacing the Bucks were Vanderwouwe and Brenner with two singles each. The Cubs scored two in the first, five in the second and one in the third to wrap up the contest before the Bucks were able to put even a single run on the scoreboard in the 8-4 victory.

A triple by Michael Lupin and a double by Willy Newman put the Cubs two first inning runs on the board. Singles by Lupini, Joe Traudi, Mike Laskowski, Jeff Trout and Keith Provencal added to a double by Jim Tweedie gave the Cubs their five second inning runs.

The Bucks pushed across two in the fourth on a single by Greg Williams and Marc Mosher and a double by Bob Wagner. A Williams homer gave the Bucks another run in the sixth while three singles helped the Bucks tally another run in the seventh.

Cubs were led by Lupini with a triple and single. Williams paced the Bucks with a homer and single. Wagner had a double and two singles while Mosher and Dan Vogt each had a pair of singles.

In the final Knothole contest, the Cardinals pushed their record to 6-3 with a 16-10 eighth inning win over the Indians.

The Cards went ahead with four first inning runs coming singles by Matthew Fasang.

Brian Pratt, Bobby Brown, and Jim Wilson added to a Mike Crammer double.

Indians scored single runs in the first three innings and used Randy Baxter and David Ward doubles in the fifth inning to tie the game 6-6 following single runs by the Cards in the third and fourth innings.

Doubles by Crammer and Joe Simrak added to singles by Fasang and Pratt pushed the Cards back into the lead 8-6 in the top of the sixth but the Indians came back with one run in the bottom of the inning on a triple by Bob Simrak followed by a Mike Nistal single.

The Cardinals added two more runs in the top of the seventh to take a 10-7 lead. The Indians, a team which has shown a lot of spunk this season despite its record, tied up the game in the bottom of the seventh when Jim Tidwell and Randy Baxter singled and then were scored on a homer by David Ward.

Six runs by the Cardinals in the top of the eighth inning signalled a victory. Singles by Fasang, Pratt, Scott Brown, Simrak, Perpich and Eaton pushed across the runs.

Rain Dampens Fair Crowds

Rain on Friday and Sunday cut down attendance at the fifth annual Northville Fair but failed to dampen enthusiasm, reports Northville Community Chamber of Commerce spokeswoman Margaret Zayti. Attendance on Thursday and Saturday, however, was reported up over previous years. Overall, attendance on the midway was "about equal" that of past years, she said. State department of agriculture representatives were pleased, she said, urging however that future fairs provide more grandstand shows and beef up arts and crafts exhibits. A horse-pulling contest was suggested. Object is to provide a continuous series of entertainment specials, she said. This year's first—the goat show and the harness racing—together with the annual 4-H horse show were lauded by the state.

PARSON to PERSON

Cedric Whitcomb, Pastor

A banker and a business man sat opposite each other in the manager's office. The business man was talking earnestly, when suddenly the other man interrupted him.

"Ridiculous! Absurd! Foolishness!" And the proud banker curled his lip in scorn.

"But why?" inquired the one to whom he had spoken.

"Why? Do you, a thinking man, ask why? Such nonsense!" and he laughed sarcastically.

The face of the banker took on a scowl, and there was anger in his voice as he answered.

"Why? Do you mean to tell me that the death of Jesus Christ in my place on the cross is going to satisfy God? If I am to be saved I must accomplish it by my own efforts."

"Ah! I see," replied the other. Now I know what the trouble is. You think you have the right to manufacture a way of your own, and so you reject and spurn the God-provided plan."

"What do you mean by that?" questioned the banker.

"Now listen! Suppose a man should come to you and say, 'Mr. Banker, I am in great need, and I want you to loan me some money'. Tell me, who would have the right to make the terms and the conditions upon which the money was to be loaned? You as the banker and owner, or the man in need?"

"Why, I would, of course," replied the banker.

"Exactly. You are the poor, helpless sinner, lost and undone, and God is the Banker. You must come to Him on His terms, not your own."

And you, too, my reader-friend, must come and receive Jesus Christ on His terms, not yours.

Beef up State Police Protection

The discontinuation of freeway patrol in the cities of Novi and Wixom by the state police has resulted in the assignment of added patrol in Northville township.

State police have notified township officials that one car is now assigned exclusively to the Northville area. Three cars patrol the Plymouth-Canton area from the Plymouth post.

According to state police, the Northville patrol car is on duty from 8 a.m. until 4 a.m.

Between the hours of 4 p.m. and midnight it is a two-man car.

State police provide service in unincorporated areas and only recently informed the cities of Novi and Wixom that expressway patrol within the city limits would be the responsibility of the local police. The Brighton post patrols the I-96 expressway up to the Wixom area.

While state police respond to township calls, it is primarily as a back-up service to Northville township police. If a township car is on duty and available, calls are answered by the local police. If not, state police respond.

In case of an emergency, the nearest patrol car is dispatched, whether it is township or state.

The police number for Northville township police was recently changed to 459-1700.

The state police number is 455-5550.

Probe Accidents, Fires, Break-Ins

In Novi

A Detroit man was seriously injured July 31 at 2:48 a.m. when he lost control of his car on 10 Mile Road 300 feet east of Meadowbrook and slammed into a ditch.

According to reports, Paul Richmond, 25 was driving east on 10 Mile Road when he lost control, went across the west bound lane hitting the ditch, struck two signs and slid sideways across 10 Mile Road, ending up hitting the south side ditch with the vehicle facing west.

He was conveyed to Redford Community hospital with injuries of a serious nature.

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has suspended for seven days the liquor license of the 7-11 Store at 24111 Meadowbrook.

Police said that the suspension came after owner Joseph Michniewicz sold beer to two 17 year old girls April 24.

Corporal Jack Grubb said that he and patrolman Herb Harbin observed the girls outside the store and one of the girls said she had purchased the beer from Michniewicz without showing any proof of age.

Michniewicz originally denied selling the beer but when told that a witness had observed him do so, the owner stated he was shown a phony ID, Grubb said.

A search of the purses of the girls by police netted no phony IDs and the Novi city prosecutor issued a warrant to Michniewicz for selling to minors.

Michniewicz pled guilty in 52nd district court and paid a $50 fine. Both girls pled guilty to being minors in possession and paid $17 fines.

The LCC ruling suspends the liquor license for seven days beginning August 19, in addition to a fine of $300. The ruling stipulates that if the fine is not paid, an additional 60 day suspension of liquor license will be added.

A young Novi girl received a broken leg and facial cuts after running into the street and being hit by a passing vehicle.

Injured was Debbie Lee Erb, 6, of 1415 East Lake Drive.

Police reports show that the injured girl ran from the east shoulder of East Lake Drive to the other side. Foliage on the north side of Parklow Street, which intersects with East Lake Drive blocked the view of the driver, John Lonesky of Milford.

Erb was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic and is expected to be in traction for 8-10 weeks. Lonesky was not charged.

A Stonehenge Model Home received $800-$1,000 damage July 31 when a cigarette touched off construction debris at the house.

A witness reported the fire, but by the time firemen could respond, several construction men managed to bring the fire under control with a garden hose.

Police report that a gold Yamaha motorcycle valued at $757 was taken from a home in the 23,000 block of Willowbrook sometime between July 29-30.

The owner stated that someone entered the garage during the night. A south door was used.

Police have fingerprints from a helmet which was moved when the motorcycle was taken.

A stereo amplifier and Zenith television worth $400 were taken from a home in the 45,000 block of Grand River sometime between July 23-24.

Police reports show that a resident of the house was picked up by two black males at 6 Mile and Telegraph Road in Detroit who told him they had no money and did not have enough gas to get back to Ann Arbor.

The resident of the house took the men to his home and they stayed in a spare bedroom.

At 9 a.m. the following day, the two men were observed by a neighbor taking the missing items from the house. The owner of the house reported the theft to police.

A home in the 43000 block of 11 Mile road was burglarized of a 14 inch RCA television valued at $275 and two guns worth $75.

According to police, the owner left his home at 10:30 a.m. July 30 and returned home at 12:15 to find the front door standing open.

The house had been entered through a bedroom window.

One hundred ten dollars in $10 bills were taken from Cesaro's Mobil at 43407 Grand River Thursday.

An employee of the station said a car pulled in and the owner requested $1 worth of gas. All three subjects left the car and one entered the station while the other two stood by the auto.

When the attendant returned to the station the $10 bills were gone.

In Northville

An injury accident, three thefts and two break-ins were among the reports investigated during the past week by Northville City Police officers.

The injury accident took place shortly after 8 a.m. Thursday on Eight Mile at Randolph when a car and Postal Service truck collided.

Taken to Bostford Hospital with rib injuries was James Purcell, 17, of Farmington, driver of the eastbound car.

According to police reports, the mail truck, driven by Anne C. Driscoll, 20, of Detroit, was stopped at Randolph and began to pull out onto westbound Eight Mile when she said she saw Purcell's car and heard him slam on his brakes.

Miss Driscoll told police she thought she had enough time to get out of his way but did not. Purcell, who told police he was traveling about 50 mph, left 105 feet of skid marks.

Four youths were arrested at the Northville Fair Thursday night for stealing merchandise from a booth.

The four have been charged with larceny under $100, a misdemeanor. They were arrested about 10:40 p.m. for taking hats and purses from a booth.

Two 17-year-olds and one 16-year-old are from Livonia while the other 17-year-old is from Novi, police said.

Tools, a bucket seat and three-speed bicycle were reported stolen from Ely's Garden Center over the weekend. The tools and bucket seat were removed from vehicles parked in the lot and the bicycle was taken from outside the building.

A jacket containing a wallet and $80 in cash reported stolen from Winner's Circle Bar between 9 and 9:30 p.m. last Wednesday.

Owner of the blue windbreaker told police he put the jacket on a chair while he went to talk with some friends. When he returned, the jacket was gone.

Unknown persons broke into a home on Orchard Drive near West Main Street and ransacked the house, taking a coin bank and jewelry.

According to police reports, the break-in was discovered about 3:40 p.m. Monday when the front door was found open.

A break-in at the First Presbyterian Church on East Main Street resulted in the theft of a stereo record player valued at $125. The green stereo has fold-out speakers and was stolen from the nursery of the church between Saturday and Sunday police said.

About $150 in damage was done to a wrecker around 11:45 a.m. Wednesday when a youth in a 1973 or 1974 brown Gran Torino wagon threw a rock at the windshield of the wrecker, shattering the glass.

Police said the driver of the wrecker was not injured in the incident which took place on South Main Street at Seven Mile.

Police have arrested 25-year-old Kenneth Glenn Sparks of Walled Lake on a charge of fleeing and eluding officers. He was released on bond to appear in court August 13.

The chase stems from an incident in July during which police chased a car through side streets south and north of Eight Mile Road along Novi Street after which Sparks allegedly rammed his car into a house on Reed and fled on foot.

Terrence Anthony Knish of 115 Maundlin Street in Novi was recently sentenced to four months in Detroit House of Correction after pleading guilty to an added count of conspiracy to commit larceny under $100.

Knish was arrested in April by Northville city police and charged with fraudulent use of a stolen credit card. That charge was dismissed in Wayne County Circuit Court after he pled guilty to the added count.

In Township

Seven bicycle thefts and two break-ins are among the incidents investigated by township police during the past week.

Three of the bikes were stolen between 11 p.m. last Wednesday and about 7 a.m. Thursday.

Missing are a 10-speed green Ross, valued at $123, which was taken from the rear of 41387 Leidel Court; a men's white Chiordor, valued at $100, taken from the rear of 19484 Inlet Court; and a men's green 10-speed taken from the front porch of 19517 Dartmouth.

The last bicycle was recovered by Livonia Police Department and returned to the owner Monday.

A black Schwinn was stolen from the rear patio area of 19460 Inlet Court between 5 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday.

Unknown persons entered a garage in the 15000 block of Hickory Ridge late Saturday or early Sunday and took a 20-inch red Schwinn valued at $164.

Two other bicycles stolen during the same time period were taken from the rear yard of 18834 Jamestown Circle. The bikes, which had been chained to a fence, include a 26-inch Blue Vista boy's model five-speed valued at $114, and a gold Liberty 27-inch 10-speed valued at $88.

Two break-ins in Northville township are also under investigation this week.

Unknown persons broke into the Lake Pointe Clinic on Five Mile Road late Saturday or early Sunday.

Township officers on routine patrol discovered a window in the clinic broken about 4:40 a.m. Sunday. Police said bloodstains were found on the window sill and frame but nothing was reported missing.

A second break-in took place in the 40000 block of Six Mile Road sometime between 11:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. Unknown persons smashed the door to gain entry to the building but nothing was discovered missing.

The middle school under construction on Bradner Road and Six Mile was again the target for thieves who entered the school site and took a pavement compactor valued at $700.

The yellow and black machine was removed from the site by cutting a chain. The theft took place last Wednesday or Thursday.

Township police believe the fire which destroyed about $600 worth of standing wheat was deliberately set. The fire was reported about 4:40 p.m. last Tuesday in a field on Six Mile at Winchester.

Residents in the area reported to police they saw several youngsters coming from the field about the time of the fire

In Wixom

A Detroit teen-ager was arrested Thursday when he allegedly tried to drive a new Lincoln from the Wixom Ford Assembly Plant.

According to police, Stephen Eric Lemont, 17 of Detroit was stopped after a Ford employee notified the security department that a man was starting one of the cars.

Police said Lemont was charged with unlawful driving of an auto and was released on $1,000 personal bond following arraignment and a night in the Oakland County Jail.

'Young People . . . I love Them All'

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Young people are confused, exasperating, lackadaisical, abrasive, inconsiderate, even arrogant. They are all of these things at one time or another for parents the world over.

But who would disagree with the Northville mother who recently lost her son: "There is a gentleness, a sensitiveness about young people today that I must admit my generation did not possess. In our haste to build bouquets, I'm afraid we failed to appreciate the flowers along the way."

"All cried out" following Terry's simple funeral, Mrs. Robert Horrigan retraced her steps over the past weeks and concluded that her 23-year-old son's accidental death, though a painful tragedy, has magnified the beauty of youth that adults sometimes overlook.

Like most parents who worry about their children, this Northville mother was naturally apprehensive when her son, newly graduated from Michigan State University a year ago, decided to spend a year in Vermont, skiing and getting close to nature before reaching out for his goal in life.

His ambition was to become a farmer, to own a small farm, to raise his own food, and to have a little time to relax occasionally on the ski slopes he loved so much.

"He was raised in the city and everything about his boyhood was so foreign to the country, it is hard for me to understand how he was able to develop his appreciation for nature and for farming," Mrs. Horrigan said. "Maybe he reached back into our family's past; he certainly didn't inherit it from his father or I."

Terry was the third youngest of six children — four daughters and two sons — ranging in age from 28 to 10.

Before Terry started college, Mrs. Horrigan had hoped he might enter one of the military academies. "It would have been an excellent opportunity for him, and I guess as a mother I thought the discipline might be good for him. His father, my husband Bob, is a graduate of the Naval Academy and he is such a wonderful man I thought if it could do that for him it could do the same for Terry."

But Terry's father, remembering how his own attendance at the Academy was not so much a matter of choice as it was to please his father, avoided pushing Terry into something he might not want.

Even though regimentation and discipline represented by the military would have been abhorrent to him, "I'm sure Terry would have gone to a military school to please his father just as Bob did," said Mrs. Horrigan.

So he entered MSU instead. And soon agriculture, which to him represented a basic, profound way of life, attracted him. Spending a summer at the Wixom Finnish camp, alone with his thoughts and close to nature, convinced him that farming was his answer. He earned his degree in resource development.

In Vermont, Terry worked the winter season at a ski lodge and this past spring, when the skiing season ended, he took a job in a restaurant. In addition to his outside work, Terry and his friends operated a small farm on which they lived.

Many of the other young people in the region also lived on and operated farms, usually owned by residents of another state. "All of them were extremely close," said Mrs. Horrigan, because of their similar ages and interests.

"Bob and I were getting ready for a game of tennis when the state policemen came to our door," remembered Mrs. Horrigan.

Terry, they learned later, had slipped and fallen while climbing a rocky falls not far from his mountain home. He died instantly. Ironically, he had been strolling with a girl friend trying to console her after she had learned of the death of one of her grandparents.

One of the most important decisions in their lives, she declared, was to hold a simple funeral service in the mountain country that their son loved. By doing so, "I avoided the unspoken bitterness that I might have felt when friends with healthy children came to express their sympathies."

"More importantly, we were able to meet and enjoy the young people with whom Terry had associated. From the time we got there until we left they took us in tow and refused to give us much time to grieve.

"For young people death is not as final...and I think being with them at a time like that helped both Bob and I.

"No one could have been any more gracious, understanding or helpful. They were simply marvelous...just as are all kids when you meet them half way. Their farms are little, their demands of life simple.

"You know, young people today may not be as ambitious as was our generation, but they are just as responsible. If they drift a little when they are young...give them some time. They'll come around. Getting married at 19 or 20 isn't as important to them as it was years ago; today young people have learned more, experienced more than we ever dreamed of by the time they settle down."

During one of her conversations with a girl her son had known, Mrs. Horrigan observed that Terry had never spoken of death. "But, he did," the girl said. "Just the other day. He told me he hoped it wouldn't be a sad time."

The Horrigan's tucked the comment away.

In a small country church, the funeral service was a simple one. "Terry's friends had placed wild flowers in the church, and as I watched they began to droop almost as if joining us in sadness. Those flowers, picked from the fields by the kids Terry knew, meant more to me than the most elaborate bouquet anyone could send.

Later, following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Horrigan invited all the young people — 40 of them — to a party in the little resort restaurant where Terry had worked.

"The owners were just grand; they opened up especially for us. All of the young people who worked in the restaurant with Terry came in to help out."

And so the Northville parents who had lost a son joined his young friends in toasting Terry's memory with the songs and laughter he had wanted.

When the party ended a young man came up to the Horrigan's and bashfully presented them with a token of his appreciation for having known their son. "It was a eulogy...I can't express...the most beautiful tribute anyone could have given us," said Mrs. Horrigan.

"Young people...I love them all."

By Roy Morrison

TERRY HORRIGAN

1951 - 1974

Terry and I won't take that walk with Toby in the woods behind Buzzy's place to look for deer. Terry and I won't climb to the top of Haystack to catch trout in the pond and watch the sunset and then sleep covered by the sky and the mountain air. Toby will only walk with me, and hunt the deer that leaps graceful, perfectly formed on to the trail, the deer that pauses genuinely surprised, but calm, looks for a long instant into my eyes and leaps away. Today Terry was killed on the cliffs at Townshend Falls.

Our lives, his friends, are drawn together. We don't want to pass this night alone. In the beauty and elegance of these mountains we sought something in common. All exiles drawn here from things far away and long ago, we search and cannot explain, but understand without words. But this is the real world and he is dead. Words are futile. This is offered for our sake, not his.

We must understand. Try to continue. His death reminds us as small recompense. Our feelings, our passions are intensified. Frightened, we cover ourselves and huddle with our gentleness. His death seems part of their world, unfair, rapacious, for profit. Somehow it is redeeming that he died an old-fashioned death not grasped by steel and machines. There may be ironies beyond the pathos of his death but there is no need to seek them. It is done. Not an outrage, only an accident. Today we seldom have the chance to die for a cause. But he died touching the world he loved.

Gentle and appealing only once did I ever see him angry and then it was at me. He read Thoreau and thought of other mysteries. Looking for land for his farm, he chased his dream and lived simply. Ordinary, one of us, he was neither exemplar or pilgrim. No monuments, no great creations; only a man, his friends, his family, his lovers to remember him.

And for us this night. The shock, then the music, the grass. The fire burning brightly in the cool July night. There are no words to say the night Terry died

Crouching in front of the fire something is wrong. Inside my center floats helpless, frightened, moving by itself within the shell of my body it is part of and yet apart. Its grief and agony I feel as dizziness and nausea.

I write, for me sometimes a way of experiencing. And this thing within me screams stop! But closing my eyes, riding along the floor with the feelings it changes. The message is genuine. Only the remedy is not to abandon my work but to confront it. To run away in the face of death proves nothing. You are left alone in unchallenged perfection never to have wrestled with life.

Death should evoke simplicity not eloquence. It is the great orderer. But it is sterile. Simplicity here would be to understand, to indulge my grief in the tragedy of it all, the hopeless finality. To evoke loss not life. To mimic death is a claim of knowledge. And death should remain only as the unknown teacher. I apologize for my frivolities, this is my way to transcend, to mourn.

I walk to the barn for wood to feed the fire. The stars are crystalline and the barn is blackness and quiet. Shadowy and musty it scares me. Still, I walk away from the door, from the cool air and starlight and strike a match. I am standing near the piggery where up to our knees we piled load after load of rotting hay into a wheelbarrow and pushed it swaying and struggling up a long narrow plank into the back of Terry's blue truck. Dumped by the garden where it would be mulch it made a small haystack. Itching, smelling of pollen and old manure we leapt over the fence off the truck's tailgate and into the pile arms and legs in the air.

If only it was all a dream that could be rerun, erased like a tape. The day is so beautiful. How could they all have driven up to my house eyes full of tears, walking slowly. And I thought who is dead? Did it all really happen? The sky is so clear. On Stowe Hill right near the base, close to the light and noise of Route 100 a large buck stepped out in front of the car, eyes gleaming in the headlights, and then vanished. I've never seen so many deer as there are this year. They turn up in unexpected places — wild, they mock our stone and fences and go where they may.

I saw him last on Sunday at the Newfane Fair. We watched the huge Belgian horses strain against the sledges loaded with concrete blocks. Terry stepped into his new yellow car and left for work. It's about time for him to come home.

This is the end to things as they were. Not that fearful of our own deaths we will run to the ends of the earth seeking sensation and adventure. We will stay here and live our lives much as we have. But it will not be the same. The idyll is over. I am left to continue working toward something I cannot articulate but dimly glimpse, perhaps only in shadow.

There is no end to this, only consequences, endless resonances, a final tonality that leads ever onward.

The poet Theodore Roethke wrote:
If only I could nudge you from this sleep...
Over this damp grave I speak the words of my love.
I, with no rights in this matter
Neither father or lover.

It is important for them to know that he searched for something here and was happy.

I have begun and ended with a death. Perhaps my musings were blind, oblivious to the world that lurched callous and fey, streaming like storm clouds across the sky over our mindless frolic. No, the world is a unity. There are no edens, no escape. There are only men and women struggling with this thing that is life in a world where we find only mysteries. We watch our shadows flickering off the walls as the fire in riot burns down and suddenly blazes up.

Somewhere in the woods the deer, the great spirit deer leaps suddenly high into the air, its shadow hung from the moon. And we, shadows, dare not turn to look.

A hodge-podge of items ranging from appointment of a committee to survey city manager applicants to the possible purchase of a new recording system crossed the table at Novi's Monday night council meeting.

Named to the committee which will narrow down the applicant's list to the top three were Councilmen Phil Goodman and Denis Berry, along with Mayor Robert Daley.

The council was also informed that the advertisement for city manager did not make it into the August issue of the Michigan Municipal Review. No decision was made as to how long the council might wait before selecting a manager.

Councilman Edwin Presnell noted that the city could appoint an acting city manager after the present City Manager Harold Saunders leaves on September 15.

A tape recording system which the city council had tried out at the last meeting was rejected as being too costly. Total cost would have been approximately $1,200.

The council directed Councilman George Athas to bring a usable cassette type recorder to the second council meeting in September for use and council consideration. Kriewall estimated the cost of such a system as closer to $500.

Novi Council accepted the bid of D & G Heating of Novi of $3900 for heating of the interim office building going up behind city hall.

The council also accepted a $2,375 bid from Bryant and Moon of Novi for plumbing on the structure. Electrical bids were rejected and are being rebid because all were too high.

Administrative Assistant Ed Kriewall informed the council that $8,000 has been put into construction of the building to this point.

Approval was given for demolition of a house at 133 Wainwright. The house, owned by Everett Noble, was gutted by fire last year.

City attorney David Fried informed the council that it was in violation of the city charter if bids were opened at some time other than during a council meeting.

Fried confirmed that Johnson and Anderson opening bids on highway jobs was "obviously" in conflict with the city charter.

A public hearing was set for September 11 on the rezoning request of Rich-Sullivan Co. for 18 of 38 lots in the industrial park on 9 Mile

Saturday Clean-Up Set

Novi's Beautification Advisory Commission has proposed a clean-up for the city park for 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

The proposal, which was presented to the council, specifies that a section of land to the west of the park entrance, adjacent to that previously cleared by a group of concerned homeowners would be cleared.

This includes the "magic squares" basketball and tennis area which was recently completed at the park.

Broken glass and other "undesirable" items are to be removed by citizens of Novi, who are asked to bring equipment such as rakes and shovels to help clean the lake, Joseph Toth, head of the commission said.

He added that the commission will attempt to obtain an "appropriate" sign to denote the entrance of the park.

City Administrative Assistant Ed Kriewall said that following the clean-up, the city will pick up the garbage and will also have the grass mowed.

Road. The company is asking that the 18 lots be rezoned from General Manufacturing (M-3) to Light Manufacturing (M1).

Public hearings are also set for Wednesday, August 14 on the Almas Rezoning, Grand River Taft sewer, Novi Heights sewer and Connemara Streets.

The council noted that the deadline for submitting a question for the November ballot asking for a charter change to allow a higher millage rate for the city is September 3.

Kriewall said that he understands the Citizens Finance Committee plans to have its recommendation on the question ready by August 15. It will then be submitted to the council August 19.

Councilman Presnell noted that he will be attending a seminar October 2-8 with the Oakland County Drain Commission on the public act 347 concerning soil erosion and sedimentation control. The county was delegated control under the act by the city but Presnell said that after the seminar he will recommend to the council that the city request to be delegated control.

Councilman Romaine Roethel said that she would not approve any more warrants to pay bills until she has seen a financial statement of the city.

Because the City Comptroller, Francis Loyne, is hospitalized, the city has not received its monthly financial report which she prepared.

Kriewall later indicated he has talked with the office and will have a report to the council by the next regular meeting.
