

Farmer's Market Opens

"Down on the farm" resumes downtown (Thursday) as delighted Chamber of Commerce officials predicted a "long life" for the weekly feature that got off to a bang-up start last Thursday. A dozen produce-flower booths opened the farmer's market that is to continue each Thursday morning (beginning about 9 a.m.) until early October in the Main Street parking lot across from the P&A Theater. Even though it was a first, a host of shoppers turned out to buy the piles of fresh produce. One enterprising farmer brought attention to his booth by giving away chickens to those shoppers fast enough to catch them. Co-chairmen of the farmer's market are John Genitti and Harry Weiner.

Council OK's Zoning Law; Minimum Lot Size 100-Feet

City of Northville zoning ordinance revisions, in the making for approximately two years, were enacted into law Monday thus ending a string of public hearings that began January 8.

The controversial ordinance, changed significantly from the document recommended by the planning commission, was approved by a 3-1 council vote.

Casting the dissenting vote was Councilman Paul Folino, who did not specify his reasons other than to note that his objections to various parts of the ordinance had been previously aired. Out of town and not voting was Councilman Paul Vernon.

Although citizens had vociferously argued against the ordinance over the past months, few registered complaints in the final hearing. In fact, an attorney for one Northville property owner praised the council and the planners for their in-depth consideration of the ordinance provisions.

Biggest bone of contention Monday was a council proposal that the minimum lot size be pegged at 80-feet widths.

However, by the time the hearing ended council was persuaded to increase this minimum to 100-feet as earlier recommended by the planners. The minimum square footage remained the same—12,000 square feet.

Championing the larger lot size was Planning Commission Chairman J. Burton DeRusha, who in the work session prior to Monday's hearing and again during the hearing argued that it would be unfair to set the minimum at 80 without notifying citizens of this specific change in advance.

He was supported in this position by R. P. Hall, spokesman for the Lexington Commons Homeowners Association. It was this association and residents of Northville Estates subdivision who had shot down smaller lot sizes in the hearing before the planning commission. They demanded lots in excess of 100-feet width.

Planners "compromised" with 100 feet. But councilmen, heeding the caution of City Attorney Philip Ogilvie, decided following the last hearing to set the minimum at 80 feet. Ogilvie noted that the larger lot size might not survive a court test and, depending on the judge, might even be rolled back to a smaller size than 80-feet.

At the urging of citizens, however, council decided to hold firm at 100-feet widths and face the possibility of a court challenge. "But we're in this together," councilmen reminded citizens. "Don't blame the council if it goes to court later and the lot sizes are forced back to, maybe 60-feet."

Despite his strong appeal for council reconsideration, Kisor Wahi of 20900 Taft Road lost his fight for a single family residential classification for his property. Instead the council placed the area of his property, east side of Taft and north of the Boron Oil service station, in a multiple-family zone.

Mayor A. M. Allen repeatedly asserted that the multiple zoning classification is the "highest and best" use of the land. However, he reminded Wahi that they may continue living on their property indefinitely.

But Wahi's parting shot was that while he and his family may continue living on their property its attractiveness as a single family setting will be destroyed by adjacent multiples. DeRusha objected to several other changes in the ordinance by council but, he too, failed to gain reconsideration. For example, he found fault with——The proposal permitting second story residential use in the central business district.

—The proposal permitting the board of appeals to grant expanding non-conforming uses in certain cases.

—The stronger-than-recommended planning commission parking requirement for churches or temples (one parking space for each three seats or five linear feet of pews in the main unit of worship). These objections, however, concerned the ordinance text and were relatively minor in comparison with objections planners had earlier registered over the zoning map. Their objections shot down—in earlier debate, planners made no attempt to revive these zoning map protests on Monday.

Among those controversial zoning map changes, now officially incorporated in the new zoning ordinance, are:

- Professional office zoning for the three lots lying between the Chatham supermarket and Walnut Street.
- Multiple zoning for the George Kohs property, including the house, located adjacent to the Cady Street cemetery.
- Commercial designation for property along Main Street opposite the city hall and along the west side of Wing Street between Main and Dunlap.
- Placement of properties along the north side of Dunlap, between Wing and Center in a commercial district, with the remainder of the properties in the block along Wing and Randolph to carry a residential classification.
- Commercial zoning for properties on the east side of

Teacher Raises To Average 9.9%

Northville teachers will receive average salary increases of 9.9 percent for the 1974-75 school year.

Following an agreement reached last year in the two-year contract with the Northville School District, salary increases are based on an average of the cost-price-index for the Detroit area.

Raises for each step were increased by six percent except for the first three steps of the BA (bachelor's degree) and MA (master's degree) scale and the maximum level steps which will receive three percent raises.

Each step which teachers move up to after a year of service also gives them an additional 4½ to 5 percent increase, Superintendent Raymond Spear added.

Salary scale for BA teachers will be $9,100 to $15,900 in 11 years, and for MA teachers, $9,900 to $19,080 in 11 years.

Personnel Director J. Ronald Horwath told the board that the minimum BA raise is 7.82 or 8.8 percent; maximum, 11.55 or 10.8 percent; average, 10.26 or 8.7 percent; and median, 11.23 or 10.4 percent.

MA raises are a minimum of 9.06 or 9.9 percent; maximum, 11.55 or 11.4 percent; average, 11.55 or 11.3 percent; and median, 11.76 or 12.8 percent.

"Figured on the total staff of 218 teachers, the average increase is $1,268 or 9.9 percent with the median $1,266 or 9.9 percent," Horwath explained.

The personnel director added that raises last year accounted for approximately $200,000 while this year they will total nearly $430,000.

From School Board Members

Annexation Gets Boost

Speaking as individuals six Northville School Board members present at Monday night's meeting came out in favor of annexation of the township of Northville to the City.

Trustee Andrew Orphan was absent from the meeting. Public hearing on the annexation question will be held Tuesday, September 10, before the State Boundary Commission.

Board President Martin Rinehart told fellow board members that "last time, we as a board decided not to take any official action since we represent more than the city and township and some residents felt we were overstepping our school board duties." They did, as individuals, speak in favor of the issue.

However, Rinehart offered the chance to the trustees to speak on the matter.

All cited economic and planning advantages if annexation takes place.

Trustee John Hobart said that he is "in favor of annexation and I live in the township." He called annexation the "only salvation for the township in an economic sense and overall planning for the betterment of the Northville community."

Vice-President Dr. Orlo Robinson said that he "was in favor of annexation last time and I reaffirm my position. It is economically sound."

Rinehart said he felt it was "refreshing that the township has indicated a desire to discuss mutual problems (millage) because sometime the school board will vie at the polls for millage with them and someone will go down in defeat."

"We should unify and provide economies," he stated.

Trustee P. Roger Nieuwkoop said he supports annexation because it is the "key to opportunity for overall planning. We do have common goals in the city and township."

Trustee Sylvia Gucken, who last time declined to take a stand on annexation said she has "learned in the last two

AN EARLY DEADLINE for classified advertising will be in effect this next week because of the upcoming Labor Day holiday. Want ad deadline has been moved up to Saturday at noon. Early news copy is urged. The office will be closed Monday. The Northville Record-Now News will be published, as usual, on Wednesday for delivery by mail on Thursday.

NO NEW CONTRACT for instructors was reached at Schoolcraft College by the extended midnight Tuesday deadline. Both sides did agree, however, to extend the new deadline to October 4 — which means classes will begin as scheduled on September 3. A record enrollment is predicted. The two-year contract originally expired August 18 but was extended to last Tuesday night. Big hangup, this newspaper learned, concerns salaries.

BUS SCHEDULE for Northville Public Schools may be found on Page 4-C of this week's Record. School administrators explain that four early and late buses will be run for high school students with a schedule of basic stops being mailed to students enrolled in those classes this week. Parents who have questions concerning bus schedules may contact the administration office at 349-3400.

Moving to Lutheran Center

Ruth Knapp's Career Spans Sea

By JEAN DAY

As Ruth Margaret Knapp packs for a move this weekend to the Lutheran Retirement Center in Ann Arbor, one of her most cherished keepsakes that will accompany her is a scrapbook of memorabilia.

Clippings and pictures in it help reconstruct the many causes and groups to which she has given service during her 33 years in Northville.

When she came to Northville as a school nurse and teacher in 1941, she was already launched on a new career as a teacher having been graduated from Hillsdale College in 1937 with a BS degree and a life teaching certificate.

This degree came 25 years after her graduation from Hillsdale High School in 1912 and after a career in nursing that included wartime service at a U.S. base hospital at Dijon, France, during World War I.

Miss Knapp recalls that war was declared shortly after she completed her nurse's training at Harper Hospital in Detroit and the American Red Cross sent out a call for nurses. After taking state board examination for registered nursing, Miss Knapp and 12 classmates signed for active duty—and packed supplies to last two years.

From Detroit they went to Ellis Island where they stayed for 10 days as part of a Harper Hospital Unit with 63 nurses and other personnel. They were shipped on the Mongolia, a former fruit freighter in the Pacific, on July 13, 1917, to Plymouth, England.

They shortly crossed the channel to France and in a week were in Dijon—as the first Americans in the town.

A four-story Jesuit Seminary had been converted to a military hospital at this railroad center, Miss Knapp remembers. She also recalls vividly awakening the morning after their arrival the swollen, and blotched "prey" of fleas and bedbugs.

Miss Knapp has written a reminiscence of her 22 months as a military nurse and in it relates how the first patients were medical and contagious cases with pneumonia, mumps, scarlet fever and diphtheria.

Then came a request to care for "a few British wounded" who in a few days totaled nearly one thousand patients. Some stayed for many weeks recuperating.

"After Chateau Thierry battle I had a barrack full of marines—they were all young boys," Miss Knapp continued.

Along with 10 and 12 hour days after each convoy arrived and hours in the four-table operating room, Miss Knapp includes remembrances of other times, such as birthday celebrations for which the nurses went without sugar to make candy treats. She adds that it was at Dijon she learned to make lemon pie for her patients.

Included in her recount is a month's sick leave in March, 1918, in Cannes and a seven-day vacation in December, 1918, to Paris and Versailles.

"The night the Armistice was signed the enlisted men and nurses held a dance in the YWCA building (at the base)—the first and last we ever had," she writes.

After being relieved from active duty at the base in January, Ruth Knapp and three friends visited small villages at the front where, she says, "not a building had been left standing."

Thirty-nine years later in 1958, Miss Knapp returned to France and visited the base hospital which once again was a seminary. This trip was with a Wayne State University group and came the year after she retired as a Northville school nurse and teacher.

In Northville she taught first aid and home nursing classes.

Ruth Knapp also visited Europe in 1960 when she saw the Passion Play at Oberammergau Village in southwest Germany. This time, she says, she did not return to Dijon as she had found two years before that no one remained at the seminary who knew of its military service.

Along with her sofa and chairs inherited from her grandparents, Miss Knapp Saturday will be taking with her to the modern retirement center at 1200 Earhart Road a small brass clock from France.

She has earmarked an ironstone teapot and tureen from her family for the Northville Historical Society which she has served as treasurer. She also had been treasurer of the Northville Senior Citizens Club.

For her 50 years of volunteer service with the American Red Cross Ruth Knapp was presented with her 50-year-pin in formal ceremonies in 1967. She was made an honorary member of Harper Hospital Alumnae Association of Nurses.

For more than 15 years Miss Knapp has been historian of the Lloyd H. Green Post of the American Legion in Northville. Last Saturday she was honored by the post.

She also has been an active assistant in Northville Town Hall and is an honorary member of Our Lady of Victory Church altar society. She has been a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution since 1921.

When St. Mary Hospital was first built, Miss Knapp remembers, she served on its board for two years. She also worked to help establish the elementary libraries at Our Lady of Victory School and at Main Street Elementary.

Other groups in which she has belonged and worked include Northville Business and Professional Women, Delta Kappa Gamma International, Northville-Plymouth Senior Citizens, Detroit International Society, Detroit Goodwill Industries Women's Association, Northville Coordinating Council (as treasurer) and Northville Women's Club.

In Northville Woman's Club, Miss Knapp was a member with her former neighbor, Mrs. C. C. (Helen) Teasel, who moved to Lutheran center from her Fairbrook apartment last year. She has since entertained her book club at the center and helped give Miss Knapp a view of its operation.

A fall while on a senior citizens' trip to Washington, D. C. prompted Miss Knapp to consider the center for her home. She explains that it offers care that includes meals.

She explained her future plans last week to friends who entertained for her. One gathering was a tea Thursday given by her neighbor, Miss Florence Keith, of friends who had taught together.

She's embarking on her newest adventure with enthusiasm—and it appears certain that pictures of the Ann Arbor center will soon have a place in the scrapbook.

'Operation Winnebago' Ends at Elody Home

BY JEAN DAY

FOURTEEN MONTHS and 22,000 miles after leaving Northville for a dream trip through Europe with a stop at Morocco the Laszlo Elodys and their five sons say they are "really glad to be back" in their home at 392 Welch.

Called "Operation Winnebago," the adventure came about after four years' planning and was preceded by extensive travel in this country, including a 6,000 mile trip to the west coast.

Their motor home was taken to New York in June, 1973, and shipped to Germany to become a home-on-wheels for Las Elody, who had to quit his job as an engineer at Chrysler to go, and his wife, Dr. Marta Elody, a physician with the state. She, too, had quit her job but has returned to work at the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

With them were their five sons. Their three oldest sons had been in a Hungarian school for two years and joined them in Germany. Leslie, 17, and Steven, 16, will be juniors at Northville High this fall. Peter already is in year-round school in ninth grade. Their younger sons, George, 11, and Gabi, 7, are going to be in sixth and second grades respectively this fall.

The Elodys, who had planned to spend a month in their native Hungary before touring Austria, Germany, Holland, Belgium, France, Spain, Portugal, Morocco, Italy, Greece, Yugoslavia and Switzerland, relate that the trip was almost as planned except that engine trouble extended their stay in Hungary an extra month. They compensated by leaving Yugoslavia and Switzerland off the itinerary.

Las Elody, who now is working on the more than 100 rolls of films and slides, pinpoints Greece as one of the countries they "liked very much." They had been apprehensive, he recalls, as the International Herald Tribune was citing anti-American feeling as they prepared to go there.

"Let's try and see," the family decided and, Elody says, they found Greece safe with much to see.

"Maybe the best experience of the trip was meeting people," he adds as he mentions meeting other families from the United States. In Morocco they befriended a family in a Volkswagen bus and towed it 600 miles to Malaga for repairs. The Elodys own motor home had problems with its power steering and then its power generator broke down. The latter was fixed in Paris finally.

Everybody wrote a diary in both Hungarian and English. Of all the adventures, Elody adds. Adventures, though, really are not new to the Elodys who migrated from Hungary to Canada and then to United States. They have lived in Northville since 1967. They rented their home while they were gone.

After he gets the home back to normal, Las Elody says, he will be looking around for work in his field.

GREECE AND THE Balkans were on the itinerary of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Larkins who have just returned to their Jamestown Circle home after a three-week vacation. The couple flew to Belgrade, Yugoslavia, to meet a tour group and then traveled by plane and bus, as far as Athens.

It was in Greece, they remember, that the news of President Nixon's resignation was translated for them. "However, we did not realize at the time how serious their own political situation had become," Larkins adds.

A SPANISH DINNER that takes about eight hours to prepare and simmer was given last Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Perez of Northville for 25 members of the Motor City Eagles, area 2265.

"It was all cooked by Manuel," notes Mrs. Perez, telling about the authentic spiced chicken and rice meal. Her husband, who is from Spain, sends to that country for the unusual spices in the dishes. "It was something different in food and much enjoyed," she says.

"ESPECIALLY MEMORABLE" has been the two-week visit of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah O'Sullivan with their daughter, Mary, of Philadelphia with their oldest daughter and her family, the Robert G. Zimmermans of 20800 Chigwidden. They are visiting with the six Zimmerman children who are among their 17 grandchildren and also seeing their six great-grandchildren — a number expected to be increased to eight in the fall.

Grandparents Take Part In Taggart Wedding

As Kimberley Taggart became the bride of David Lienhardt in an 8 p.m. service Saturday, August 3, at Salem United Church of Christ in Farmington, she was given in marriage by both her parents and her maternal grandparents.

Because she is their only granddaughter, the bride especially wished to include her mother's parents, Mr and Mrs Abe L. Johnson of Farmington, as well as her parents, Mr and Mrs Thomas A Taggart of 625 Reed Court in Northville.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs James Stidd of Groveport, Ohio.

The Reverend Carl Schultz officiated at the double ring service at the altar decorated with a candelabrum and arrangement of red and white asters.

The bride's mother made her gown of candelight satin, fashioned with short, puff sleeves and sweetheart neckline, and lace detailing to match the lace on her fingertip veil. She carried a nosegay arrangement of her favorite red roses and baby's breath tied with satin streamers.

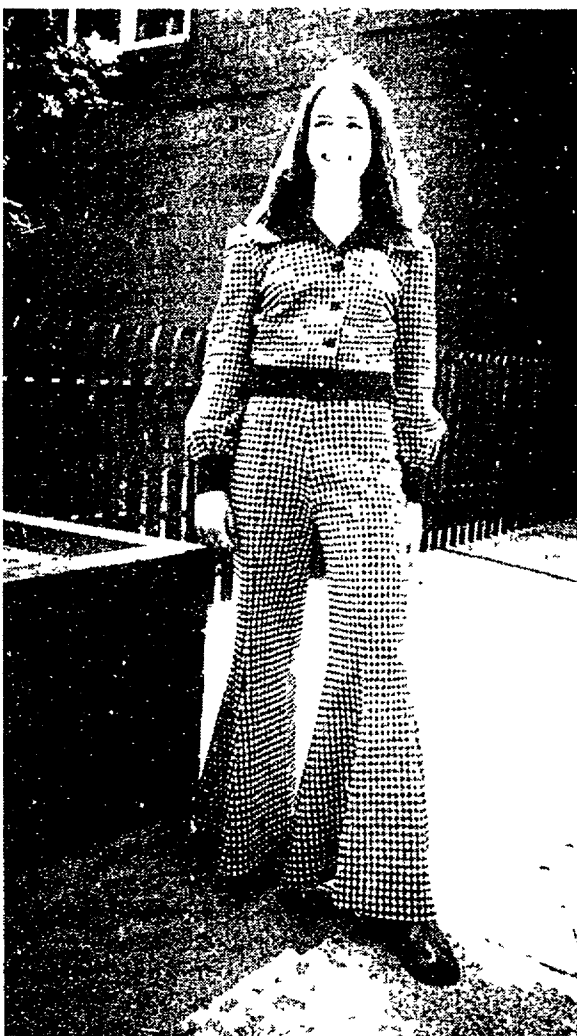

Candice Porter of Houston, Texas, was maid of honor in a sleeveless green crepe gown with high neckline and Empire waist. She carried yellow carnations and baby's breath.

Christopher Stans was best man for his brother. Ushers were the bride's brother, Timothy Taggart, and David Mackin.

A reception at the church followed the ceremony with guests attending from Ohio, Indiana, California, Texas and Canada.

The bride, a 1970 Northville High School graduate, is employed by Computer Services Corporation of Southfield where her husband also works.

They are making their home at 512 Randolph in Northville.

FAIR WINNER—Lisa LaFevre, 13, models the blue-and-white check pantsuit with navy trim she made of polyester double knit and wore last weekend in fashion modeling competition at Michigan State Fair to win first place in her age competition. She carried a navy matching skirt and received a plaque and $10 cash award. Last year she was second runner-up in the competition. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson LaFevre, 49191 Ridge Court, she will be in the eighth grade at Cooke Middle School this fall.

Mothers of Twins Elect

Programs of arts and crafts as well as educational guest speakers are on the schedule of the Plymouth-Northville Chapter of Mothers of Twins Club which will begin its fourth year in September.

All mothers of multiple birth children who live in the surrounding areas are invited to attend the monthly meetings which are held at 8 p.m. on the second Wednesday of the month in members' homes.

An exception to the schedule, however, will be the October meeting to be held on the first Wednesday to prepare for a garage sale the following day, October 3, at 12218 Appletree, Plymouth, near Ann Arbor Trail where youngsters' clothes will be available "in duplicate."

Club president Sonja Krug explains that regular meetings will be devoted to the various aspects of raising twins with opportunity to be given for questions and answers. Entertainment also is planned.

Other 1974-75 officers are Mrs. Barbara Brooks, vice president; Mrs. Carol Murphy, recording secretary, Mrs. Judy Ewing, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Dolly White, treasurer; Mrs. Gail Norback, librarian; and Mrs. Kris Cook publicity.

Additional information about the group may be obtained from Mrs. Krug, 459-9441, or from Mrs. Norback, 349-0294.

Novi City Council Asks Temporary Millage Hike

Novi residents will be asked on the November ballot to approve a millage increase allowing the city to levy up to 10½ mills operating expense in the next two fiscal years, with a one mill drop each succeeding fiscal year until taxes are back to the 6½ mill level.

The council approved the millage request 5-1 August 21 over the objections of Councilman Louie Campbell who indicated he would not vote for any millage increase without a solid program on where funds would be used.

Passage of the resolution occurred after:

- The Citizens Committee on Municipal Finances presented a report recommending against any millage increase (see story this page).
 - An original request for the declining millage plan was defeated 3-3.
 - A resolution for up to three mills for five years failed to receive the required five votes, losing 4-2.
 - A resolution for up to three mills for four years also failed 4-2.
- The resolution could allow the council to levy up to 14 mills additional over the next five years. The second resolution of three mills for five years would have brought in up to 15 mills while the third resolution of three mills for four years would have resulted in up to 12 mills.

Councilman George Athas, who introduced the resolution that ultimately passed explained, "The theory is that as growth continues, shopping centers come in, and evaluations increase, millage will drop."

"It will take one hell of a selling job," admitted Athas who added people should know and be able to see that there is an end in sight of the increased millage.

"To me a declining millage indicates a belief in future growth," added Athas, a past city manager.

While Councilman Campbell was contending that it would be impossible to sell the millage hike to the public without a solid program, Athas replied that the city must come up with a program before November 5.

"If we don't come up with a program, I'll be the first to vote against the millage," he said.

Councilman Philip Goodman defended the request stating that the city needs improvement in road maintenance, parks, cultural programs, replacing equipment, police department, fire department, and equipment maintenance.

Goodman also said that the city needs more administrative personnel including a labor specialist and someone in the financial area.

"We can't go on without these types of personnel," he contended.

"If we continue at the present level of services we won't get anyone moving into Novi," added Goodman. "Sure we can scrape along and get by at 6½ mills, but we aren't going to grow."

"I think we're selling the future generation and us short," said Mayor Robert Daley. "If we don't trust the councilmen let's get rid of them. If we do trust them, let's not tie their hands."

The mayor declared that the city is "grossly underfinanced".

Main concern voiced among councilmen opposed to the declining type millage centered on labor contract negotiations.

"Labor negotiations will go for all that's there," said Councilman Denis Berry. "It's like the goose that laid the golden egg. One day it's not going to be there."

Berry said that he favored three mills for five years.

"If the public is not getting services, they can replace the council," said Berry.

Mayor Daley said that the millage rate shouldn't have "that much an effect" because the city would have to pay at the prevailing wage rate in any case.

Berry also contended that the more complicated a question is on the ballot, the fewer people there will be who will vote in favor and more people would stay home.

A first motion to place the declining millage on the ballot was defeated 3-3 with Athas, Goodman and Daley supporting, Berry, Presnell and Campbell opposed.

A second motion by Berry that up to three mills be levied for five years was defeated because it did not receive five votes needed for passage. Athas, Berry, Daley and Presnell voted yes and Campbell and Goodman voted in opposition.

A third motion, by Presnell, that up to three mills be levied for four years failed by the same tally.

At that point, with 11 p.m. having been reached, the suggestion was made that the declining millage plan be reconsidered. Berry and Presnell switched their original votes on the resolution and the second attempt succeeded 5-1.

Schedule for general operating millage under the November question would be:

- 1975-76 up to 10½ mills
- 1976-77 up to 10½ mills
- 1977-78 up to 9½ mills
- 1978-79 up to 8½ mills
- 1979-80 up to 7½ mills
- 1980-81 up to 6½ mills

'Student' Teaches Piano

By WAYNE LODER

Fontaine Laing doesn't claim to be a professional pianist, but the recent Novi transplant has spent her lifetime learning the instrument and imparting its magic to students throughout Michigan.

Although still taking lessons herself under Flavio Varani at the Rochester campus of Oakland Community College, Laing has taught at the old Detroit Conservatory of Music and is currently instructing students in piano at Grosse Pointe Conservatory and the Detroit Community Music School.

Teaching a class in accompaniment, Laing has found the tables turned, accompanying several professionals on the stage.

"You have to be flexible rhythmically," says Laing of the art of accompaniment.

"It's most important, but probably one of the hardest things to do."

Among the persons Laing has accompanied are Ara Berberian, bass-baritone of the New York City Center Opera and Ervin Monroe, first flutist for the Detroit Symphony orchestra.

She accompanied Berberian when he played at the Scottish Rite Auditorium in the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

"He has one of these huge voices without any effort at all," she recalls. Berberian is 6'4" tall.

"It's so nice to sing with someone who isn't clutched," says Laing. "If you play with someone good you play better. You're relaxed because you know they're not going to mess up."

She played with Monroe when Gordon Staples, concertmaster of the Detroit symphony came down with bursitis. Laing was given only two days notice but managed to learn the music in time for the big event.

She adds that for most people it's very nerve-racking to play on stage.

Recalls Laing, "I was teaching a class in piano at the University of Texas made up of veterans coming back from Southeast Asia. I had one man who said 'I went through the worst battles of the Korean war and I was never so scared as when I got up on that stage.'

"There's an awful lot of stress," explains Laing. "It's good because it helps students to concentrate."

Students have to be well prepared before performing in recitals and must perform satisfactorily before other students and teachers before the final recital.

"Anyone forgets. I've gone absolutely blank. I was trying out for the Tuesday Musicales, a Detroit organization. I figured no sweat and I didn't practice. I got three-quarters through one Hindemith (contemporary composer) and forgot everything."

"I was playing a second Hindemith and the same thing happened," she says, adding that she ad libbed to the end.

"It was very lucky they didn't know the music," admits Fontaine. "I was about to apologize later when one woman said 'We particularly enjoyed your Hindemith' — and I just said thank-you very much and left it at that."

She adds that she made it into the group, which gets together just to play for each other.

A member of the Grosse Pointe Chamber Music Association, Laing will be its program chairman next year. The group meets once a month in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial — a house utilized by the community.

She is also in the Detroit Musicians League.

Reflecting on the state of piano in the United States, Laing says that universities are flooding the market with professional pianists.

"We're turning them out by the hordes," she says. "It's a dog-eat-dog business. There's no place to make a living."

She adds that the influx of professionals has worked to her own personal advantage because she is taking lessons from Flavio Varani at Oakland Community College.

"Otherwise he would have been at a larger school," she explains.

Laing, who owns a 1902 Steinway piano, received a degree from the University of Texas in Piano Pedagogy, and went to the University of Michigan where she graduated in 1960 with a masters degree in piano.

She and her husband recently moved to Novi because "it's half-way between everything that's going on."

Laing likes to travel and plans on going this summer to Germany, Austria and Paris.

"To come into contact with culture gives more insight if you interpret their music," she contends.

Advocates Manager Operation

Citing receipt of an offer he "cannot refuse", William Travis, assistant to the mayor of Wixom, Tuesday night resigned his $17,000 position to enter private business. Resignation is effective October 15.

Although refusing to specify what corporation he is joining, Travis indicated that it is in Wixom, and he will remain in the city.

In submitting the resignation, Travis came out strongly in favor of a change to a strong city manager form of government for Wixom.

"Although my resignation may be uncomfortable, it provides the city council a vehicle to change the form if the council so desires," Travis said.

Travis explained after the meeting that "somebody has to have sufficient power and time to pull the system together."

He added that anytime he makes an administrative decision, he stands a chance of being embarrassed if it is overturned by the council.

MELVIN GREEN

Appoint Green

Melvin A. Green was sworn in Tuesday night as Wixom councilman, filling the seat vacated by Val Vangieson who took over as mayor when Gilbert Willis resigned.

Green, 40, of 29241 Beck Road has served on the planning commission almost two years. He has a BA degree from Albion College and an MBA degree from Michigan State University.

He is employed by Western Electric in Plymouth and is a member of the Wixom Goodfellows and the Crossroads Presbyterian Church in Walled Lake.

Green has a wife and four children.

Committee Says 'Hold the Line'

A report prepared by the Citizens Finance Committee in response to questions posed by the city council indicates that the city has "no need for an operating millage increase at this time."

Main contention of the report is that a $70,000 federal revenue sharing carry-over from the 1973-74 fiscal year should be applied toward the 1973-74 deficit of $128,600 to come up with an actual 1973-74 deficit of only $58,600.

While not advocating that the federal revenue sharing carry-over be applied directly to the deficit, the committee noted that the city can use it in various areas, for which other funds would have been used.

"With prudent management, other sources of unused budget money will be found (unfilled positions, etc.) during the year to make up the balance of the needed $58,600 (deficit)," stated the report.

Finance committee members further contended August 21 that the $60,000 found to offset the actual 1973-74 budget deficit would be available for other uses in the 1975-76 budget as well as future fiscal years.

The report, however, said that the city is in serious need of additional fire equipment, facilities and fulltime personnel to handle currently planned building and that consideration should be given to requesting approximately one mill specifically earmarked for fire department funding so that long lead equipment could be ordered immediately.

"This fund could also be used to operate the fire department in future years, thus reducing General Fund expense by approximately the amount of federal revenue sharing, and freeing that revenue for its intended special project use," said the report.

Don Young, representing the committee, said that with a

Saunders Gets Vermont Job

Harold Saunders, controversial Novi City Manager, has announced that he will be leaving his position August 30 to begin work as Town Manager of Bennington, Vermont.

In an announcement to the council August 21, Saunders expressed his best wishes to the community and said that Administrative Assistant Ed Kriewall would "be briefed on all matters in which I have been involved and my files will be put in order for his use and reference."

Bennington is the third largest town in Vermont with 36 square miles and 16-17,000 people.

"It's a charming new England town," said Saunders. "It's not experiencing metropolitan type growth like Novi."

Saunders' resignation was submitted and accepted by the council to be effective September 15 or earlier, if circumstances permitted.

Saunders was dismissed by the council in a special executive session Sunday, June 2 and he shortly thereafter submitted his resignation.

He had been roundly criticized for not spotting conditions that left the city of Novi with an approximate $128,000 deficit at the end of fiscal year 1973-74. Saunders was the fifth manager in the Charter Makers Divided

Novi council decision to place a "diminishing" millage increase before voters drew mixed reactions from several of those persons who served on the city charter commission that fixed the present limitation.

Joseph Crupi, former mayor and charter commissioner, offered cautious optimism, taking the position that "it's an unusual proposal but perhaps it's a workable one. At least it incorporates a limiting factor."

The charter commission that established the present limitation in 1968, he said, recognized that the limitation was "very restrictive, but we felt it was the only way the charter could be approved," said Crupi. "And we hoped the industrial development would provide the tax base necessary to make the millage work. But as you know the population has outstripped the industrial development — a factor requiring higher levels of service while not providing the necessary greater tax base."

"This just might work...I hope so; it's worth a try."

On the other hand, Russell Button, who sat on both the city charter commission and the village charter commission, was openly critical of the millage proposal.

"The city's been running on 6½ mills for years and now these guys are in there just six months and they think it can't be done any longer. They just haven't tried hard enough," Button contended. "Sure, it's not enough if you want to provide everything, but I think the best government is the least government."

Despite his criticism, Button said he would favor calling for an election on millage specifically earmarked for areas of need. For example, a millage proposal for road improvement throughout the city should be put to the voters, he argued.

"The city charter commission," he said, "almost put 3 mills in the charter for roads, but in the end we decided that if additional road monies are needed they should be approved and earmarked by voters."

J.F. Buck said, "It doesn't make sense to me. If they need 10½ mills then they ought to make it a permanent part of the charter. To do so doesn't mean they have to levy the entire 10½ mills indefinitely."

The former charter commissioner expressed grave

Vintage Tour Home Boasts Schoolhouse Addition

By JEAN DAY

A small Michigan farmhouse to which a one-room schoolhouse later was attached is one of the oldest homes which will be open September 26 on the Northville Home Tour.

The original home was built about 1865 on West Main Street. Records indicate it was bought in 1893 by Northville pioneer Charles Bloom who moved it back "off the street" and placed it on a fieldstone foundation.

John and Claudia Berry, who have owned the home for just a little more than a year, have been gathering information about the house while decorating and furnishing it to reflect their artistic interests.

The one-room schoolhouse, which was moved from Seven Mile and Meadowbrook roads and attached to the east end of the house, now serves as the family room. Carpeted in bright red, the room's white walls are a background for the couple's collection of graphic art.

Some of the work is John Berry's own. Other pictures are by fellow Cranbrook artists, including Carol Wald. Mrs. Berry explains that, while her husband was getting his master's degree there, students traded original works with each other — thus they assembled their collection.

Included among the framed works is a photograph of their son, Stephen, done by a friend.

Stephen now is a second grader at Main Street Elementary where the Berry's other child, daughter Megan, is in kindergarten in the year-round program.

An architectural focal point in the schoolhouse-family room is a fireplace mantel with massive claw feet at the base. It's really a "sham" fireplace, Mrs. Berry points out, as it needs a chimney to be operative.

It was added to the room by a previous owner that Mrs. Berry thinks might have been Parker Holden, who came to Northville in 1946 and lived in the house into the 1960's.

Compatible with the fireplace is an old-fashioned baby buggy which Mrs. Berry acquired at a farm auction — and has filled with dried flowers.

Entrance to the main part of the house still boasts a decorated Victorian door. The ornate detail includes the bust of a woman's head below two long window panes. The Berrys have left the old nameplate but are hoping soon to remove the layers of white paint to what they think will be black walnut.

A stained-glass window in green colors in the entry had been moved with the Berrys many times before they had the right place for it. John Berry had been given it when he worked in their home state of Indiana in Nashville, the hub of Brown County.

Behind the entry is the dining room with a Victorian oak dining table that had belonged to John Berry's grandfather. The kitchen, facing north, is brightened with yellow-orange Roman stripe wallpaper which, Mrs. Berry points out, also relieves the white cupboards. A center of interest is the massive old chopping block which came from Kentucky.

To the left of the entry is the living room with a door opening on its west wall to the porch which also crosses the front of the house. With hanging floral baskets it looks much the same today as it must have with its Victorian-era owners.

From the porch visitors can view the secluded back yard with its gazebo.

"Nobody seems to know much about our gazebo," comments Claudia Berry. She knows it has been moved several times in the yard. They hope in the future to screen it for greater use.

A small downstairs room, used as their son's bedroom, also looks upon this corner of the yard.

There are two other bedrooms upstairs. A vine-patterned wallpaper with yellow-and-red sprigs covers the walls of a front bedroom under the eaves. White lace curtains keep the room as light as possible.

A pineapple motif decorates the poster bed. Mrs. Berry notes that the furniture was her grandmother's. On the walls are pictures of her family and a large montage represents her husband's ancestors.

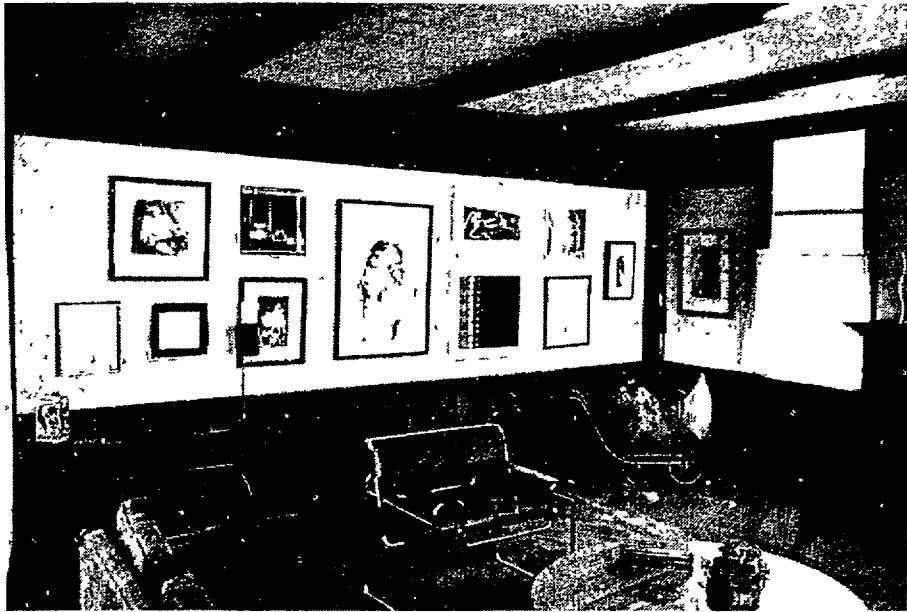

As she points out a dresser in another room made by a great-grandfather, Mrs. Berry adds that "our antiques mean something to us as most are from one or the other's side of the family."

Even tour visitors who are not antiquers will enjoy seeing how the old home has gained outdoor living area with a wide rear deck created with railroad ties with beds for flowers and an ornamental tree. This landscape work was done by the Larry Urbanskis from whom the Berrys purchased the home in July, 1973.

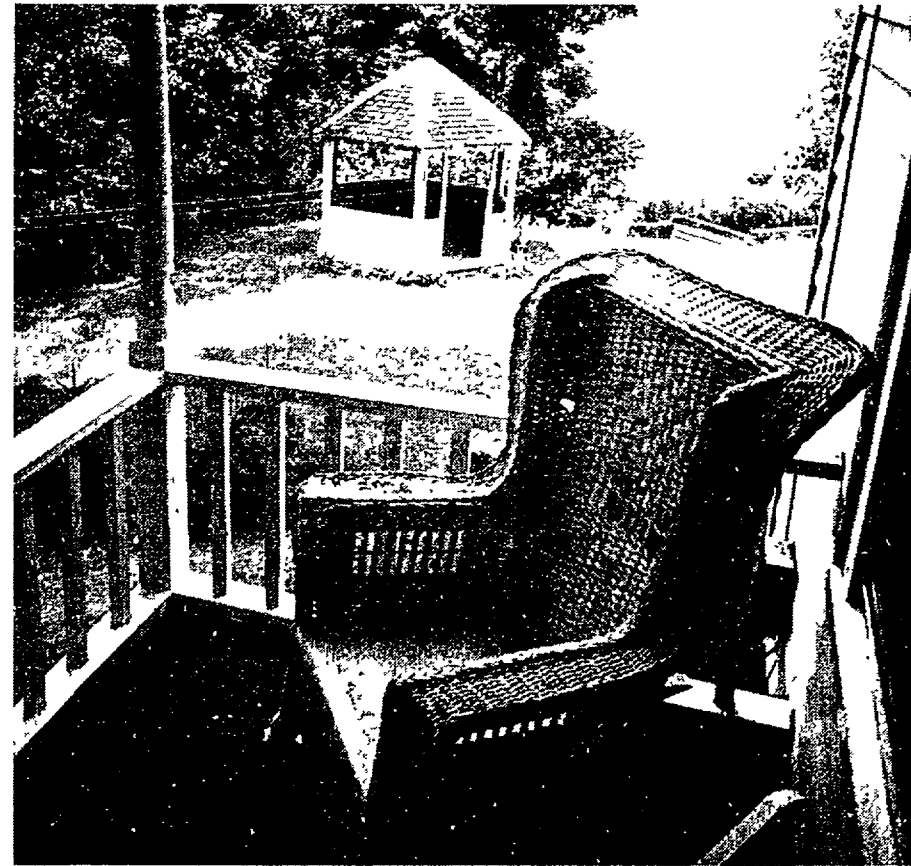

In all, the little house that was moved off the street, perhaps because it also CONTEMPORARY CONTRAST—White walls of the former schoolhouse joined years ago to the West Main Street farmhouse are background for an original collection of graphics, some of which are the work of the home's new owner.

Schoolcraft Offers

8-Week Diet Course

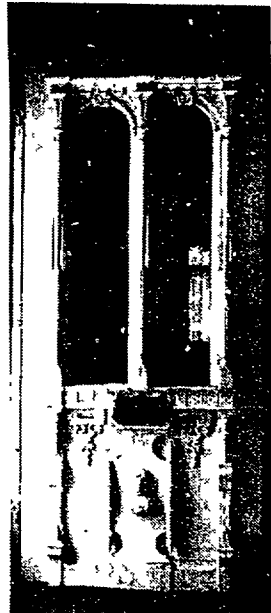

Schoolcraft College, under the community service program, will offer an eight week course on Low-Fat, Low-Cholesterol Diets beginning Monday, September 30, from 7 to 9 p.m., and continuing for eight weeks.

Fee for residents of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth School Districts, will be $11. For others outside of these designated areas, the registration fee will be $22. Mail in registrations will be received by the registrar, Schoolcraft College, August 12 to September 6. After that date, participants must register in person.

The course will be taught by Mrs. Katherine Crossman, R.D., M.S. Mrs. Crossman, who lives in the Northville area, previously taught a similar course in the winter of 1973 which was received quite well by those who attended.

The Michigan Heart Association will be working in conjunction with this Community Service Program by distributing some of the diet literature they carry.

ORIGINAL DOOR—This ornate door opens to welcome visitors.

Registration Begins

For Story Hours

Registration begins at noon Tuesday, September 3, for two story hours planned this fall at Northville Public Library.

Sessions, which will be held at 10 and 11 a.m. Thursday mornings, are open to children between the ages of three and five.

Enrollment in the story hours is limited and parents are asked to register their children at the library for either group. The eight-week sessions run through October 31.

Library Mrs. Elaine Lada also reminded library patrons that extended hours will be in effect through September.

The library is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from noon until 8 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday, noon until 6 p.m., and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Mrs. Lada said.

NEW PHONE SYSTEM—Northville Public School's new telephone system currently being installed is hardly what one would call a "works in the drawer" model. Dick Koch of Michigan Bell prepares to begin working on the second of several panels which contain all the extensions for telephones in the district.

Once completed, the system will allow calls to go directly into schools rather than going through a central switchboard as they have done in the past. The system is expected to be in operation in late September, school administrators said.

CONTINUING A TRADITION — In 1919 C. R. Ely started a coal and ice business at 316 North Center Street in Northville. His sons, Charles and the late Ivan, expanded the business, which now includes fuel oil, a garden center, patio and Christmas trim shop. Last week the sons' sons took over. Flanking Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ely are their son, Clancy (left), and their nephew, Ivan's son Chips.

Radio Stations Tell School Closings

To help alleviate concerns of parents on days of inclement weather, Novi school officials have made special arrangements with selected radio stations to provide information relative to school closings.

The stations are WJR, CKLW and WXYZ. Individual calls will continue to be taken at each of the Novi schools, but information given out by the above mentioned radio stations "would be an accurate description of the situation," said officials.

According to Superintendent Gerald Kratz, before school is closed "the Oakland County Road Commission, the State Police and our own local police are called in order to gain their knowledge on road conditions.

In addition, administrators drive throughout the school district making comparable road checks.

"After all this information is gathered the administration formulates a recommendation of school operations, informs the school board president and notifies the (previously named) radio stations."

Blue Ribbon Committee Gets School Board OK

Northville School Board members gave their endorsement to establishing a blue ribbon committee to review and evaluate the community feasibility study.

The committee, comprised of 24 residents representing the city, township, school district and various organizations and commissions, will be known as the CTS (City-Township-School) Blue Ribbon Committee.

Objective of the committee will be to "review the feasibility report, evaluate its total implications and recommend the soundest approach, which would be considered in the best interests of the total Northville community, for dealing with each of the five major needs investigated and reported within the feasibility study."

Released two weeks ago, the feasibility study surveyed the three present school buildings on Main Street and recommended demolition of the Cooke Annex and replacing it with a new library, conversion of the present school board offices to recreation facilities and using Main Street elementary as both an elementary school and school board offices.

The study also recommended construction of a senior citizens' housing facility on the proposed Wing Street site south of the post office.

The study, which was undertaken earlier this year, was jointly paid for by the city, township and school board.

According to the committee structure, which must also receive approval from the city council and township board, the committee is to

1. Identify the anticipated role and responsibility of each affected governmental agency in relationship to each recommendation submitted by the committee;

2. Identify the best method for financing the final recommendations;

3. Identify and recommend the method and timing for implementation of each recommendation; and

4. Recommend an approach for obtaining total community support.

A chairman, vice-chairman and secretary are to be selected by the committee with selection assuring that if the chairman comes from the city, the vice-chairman will live in the township, or vice versa.

Membership of the committee will consist of two members (one from the city and one from the township) from each of the Northville Library Commission, recreation commission and senior citizens;

Three members (one from city, township and school district) from community service organizations and citizens at large, not members of any other groups represented;

And one each from the city housing commission, city council, township board, school board, Novi, Lyon township and Salem township portions of the school district, Northville township land outside the Northville School District, community religious leaders, Chamber of Commerce, city planning commission and township planning commission.

OK Ordinance

Center, from Rayson south to Detroit Federal.

Most significant of the planning commission recommendations (that received council endorsement are:

• A performance regulated industrial zoning for the area bounded by Main, Griswold, Cady and Park Place.

• A commercial designation for the west side of South Main, from Beal to Gardner.

Not all councilmen opposed all planners' recommendations. Folino and Nichols, for example, sided with planners in favoring residential classification for property north of Chatham to Walnut.

Biery argued on the side of planners Monday in urging that a multiples classification be assigned the existing condos section of Thompson-Brown's development. But finding himself in what appeared to be a minority position, Biery dropped this argument.

He and Nichols, taking the view that the majority rules, eventually cast their approval of the entire ordinance even though they had objections to some sections. Folino held fast, however, voting against the total ordinance although he observed that with "a few more meetings" between council and planners a totally acceptable ordinance might be produced.

In response to a question by Richard Bohn, council indicated that it will begin soon a process of dedicating city park lands. Dedication would mean that such lands must remain as parks until such time as the voters should decide to change them.

Dedication of these lands is the substitute course offered by council in lieu of a specific zoning designation.

In his initial remarks opening Monday's hearing, Mayor Allen conceded that some portions of the ordinance may yet require revisions. But he urged adoption "so we can get something on the books" and then "go back and clean up any rough edges."

An area of the new ordinance that obviously will require additional work concerns parking requirements for the CBD. Still undecided is the specific formula or ratio of parking spaces versus floor space

Tips on Real Estate

DOWNTOWN NORTHVILLE

Editorials... a page for expressions ...yours and ours

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Annexation should be a subject that most residents of the community of Northville understand better than the average citizen.

It didn't start locally with the filing of annexation petitions in March, 1972. But most present-day residents became closely acquainted with it then.

Actually, most of the area in the Oakland county portion of the city was annexed to Northville from Novi. The residents of Northville Estates subdivision along Eight Mile road petitioned to gain entry into the city of Northville from the village of Novi.

And the unification of the city and township governments has been discussed since the incorporation of the city in 1955. But wounds that resulted from unsuccessful efforts to make the city's original boundaries larger healed slowly. So far at least a decade city-township relationships were highly sensitive.

The campaign to promote one governmental unit for the community of Northville in 1972 caught some people by surprise. The early seventies brought many newcomers to the area as housing development boomed.

So it was not surprising that one newcomer wondered aloud at the public hearing on annexation in 1972 "why they try to annex me as soon as I move in?"

It is, of course, impossible to inform every newcomer of what has happened previously in the community. Nor can it be assumed that even those who have lived here for years will take the time to inform themselves of the pros and cons of annexation.

But Northville should be better prepared for the question when it is posed for a second time.

And one way for all citizens to better acquaint themselves with the facts, and pose questions if they desire, is to attend the public hearing called by the Michigan State Boundary Commission at the Northville High School auditorium on Tuesday, September 10.

Presentations for and against annexation will be heard by the commission. And they will entertain statements and questions from the audience.

It wasn't until February, 1973 that the Boundary Commission rendered its Northville decision following the August, 1972 public hearing.

It ruled in favor of annexation of the township to the city and declared that unless petitions calling for an election on the question were filed within 30 days, then the township would become formally annexed to the city on March 31, 1973.

Petitions were filed by both city and township residents and an election was held in May.

Campaigning was lively and informative. And 60 percent of the township's 4,696 voters turned out for the election and voted 1,504 to 1,358 to reject annexation. The proposal was approved in the city, 942-259.

In all probability the timetable for the current annexation proposal will follow the 1972 pattern. It may be February before the Boundary Commission renders its decision. If it rules against the proposal, then it is dead. If it favors the proposal as it did previously, then a date will be set for dissolving the township government.

But first 30 days must be allowed for filing of election petitions.

Persons opposed to annexation would want to take advantage of this method of deciding the question by ballot. Those undecided would certainly want to seek time to gain information and would therefore sign election petitions.

But many strong advocates of a single city government for the community of Northville hope that if annexation is approved by the state, that the majority of the people in both the city and township will consider their petitions for annexation as their "vote". They point out that both time and money, as well as a period of uncertainty for both governments, can be avoided if the will of the people is to support unification.

Either way, the people must decide. And the law has provided for both avenues—by declaration or by election.

It now remains for citizens of Northville to become as well informed as possible on the subject of annexation.

And a very good start would be to attend the September 10 public hearing.

Public response to Northville's first "farmers' market" was very good.

The every-Thursday-morning event, spearheaded by local retail merchants to attract people to the business district, enjoyed surprising results for openers.

Nearly a dozen area farmers sold everything from homemade pies and honey to cantaloupe, cucumbers, sweet corn, tomatoes, apples and peaches.

The farmers liked it and so did the shoppers. And the Main street parking lot never "smelled" better.

Retailers President Larry Weiner of The Spinning Wheel and EMB's John Genitti have been the driving forces behind the idea, which is a happy addition to the downtown district.

They report that the weekly sales will continue through the first week in October.

Raps Hart's 'Double Set of Standards'

To the Editor:
I am submitting a copy of a letter I have mailed to Senator Philip A. Hart for your use on the editorial page of your paper. This letter was prompted by his position on two issues of great concern to myself and I feel it reflects the views of many of your readers.

The first item occurred early this past spring and concerned Senator Hart's agreement with serious efforts in the U.N. to have our Vietnam veterans forcefully returned to Vietnam and tried by a Communist government for acts of genocide. The second issue is in regard to his stance on the amnesty issue.

Dear Senator Hart:
I fail to understand by what logical, rational process you use in reaching your decisions. You appear to apply a double set of standards, depending upon the issue.

Taxes Killing Small Farms?

LLOYD CROFT

YES . . .

In the last few years, taxes on farm lands have increased as much as 500 percent. Many farmers have had to sell to investors while others have sold off five and ten acre parcels in order to live. This increases the problem for neighboring farmers because the constitution says property must be assessed at 50 percent of true cash value.

About 20 years ago there were about 20,000 dairy farms in Michigan. In February, 1973 there were 7,922. In February, 1974 the number had dropped to 7,208, a 10 percent drop in one year.

Planning commissions develop new master plans and zoning maps for the future growth of the community. When they are accepted by the governing body, the assessor for the community and the county equalizing director immediately assess to the potential value—as opposed to the present real value.

Land used for agriculture demands no services and sends no children to school. Property taxes, especially school taxes, should be collected only on the house and not on the farm acreage. Canada takes this approach. This land should not be taxed the same as residential, commercial or industrial property.

Lloyd Croft

No. In fact, recently released figures from the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture indicated an average nationwide increase of farm property from March, 1973 to March 1974 as 25 percent. The same report showed 16 percent for Michigan with the highest increase being recorded in North Dakota with a 36 percent figure.

These increases were spurred on by the record high farm income recorded in 1973. Farm operators realized a net income for calendar year 1973 of $26.1 billion. The sudden increase of farm income and acreage value have had a two-fold impact on farm both national and those in Michigan. For one thing many individuals are selling, taking their capital gains and retiring, thus while some of the land sold remains out of production, the balance continues to be farmed generally as a part of a larger unit. Secondly, more and more farm operators are relying on leased land as a way of expanding to an economical size.

For the seriously interested farmer or operator, the legislature earlier this year passed Public Act 116 to provide for acquisition of farm land development rights and open space development rights easements by the State of Michigan, for a term of not less than 10 years with options to renew. Under this act an individual, firm or corporation who owns a farm agrees to continue farming and not to develop the land for any other purpose in exchange for tax credit against the Michigan Income Tax or in some instances a cash payment.

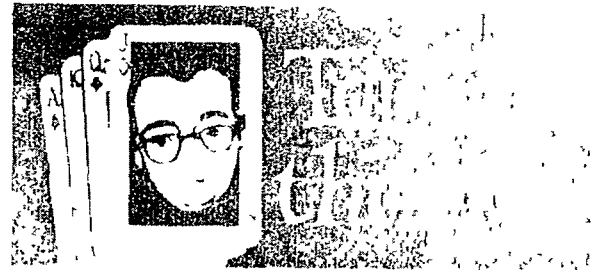

When you consider that the legislature in prior years had already exempted farm personal property, it is difficult to imagine that taxes by themselves are eliminating the farmer per se.

Sundown on 'Ole Corral

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

So what would you say if your son came home to announce he had just captured a blue frog:

You'd do what any mother would. . . like Dianna Canup, for instance.

"Sure, sure you caught a blue frog. Just tell me where you got the blue paint?"

And later, after gaining enough courage to get a closer look, "You didn't feed the poor thing something to turn it color, did you?"

But 9-year-old Brent Canup and his 11-year-old companion, Mike Walling, stuck to their story. They'd caught this blue "bullfrog" while hunting for "snakes and things" back behind the Canup home in Novi's Pioneer Meadows.

Still unconvinced, Mrs. Canup suggested they keep the frog for a couple days to see if it returned to a standard green complexion before announcing to the world what they had.

Days passed and the frog's color didn't change.

So the Canups rang up the naturalist at nearby Kensington Metropolitan Park who guessed it might be rare and suggested the boys' find be reported to the zoology department at the University of Michigan.

They called the Amphibian Facilities, a unique quasi-governmental research laboratory located off campus in what formerly was the Argus Camera Company warehouse. And excited officials there talked the boys into donating their royal blue frog to the lab and then they invited the youngsters in for a VIP tour of the facilities.

The frog, it turns out, isn't a bullfrog at all but a member of the Rana Clamitans family. The species is not unusual, but the blue mutation distinguishing it from other members of its family is very rare.

And as luck would have it, the boys' frog was a male — the only one of this sex in captivity at the lab — making it an ideal match for a lonely blue female that was donated just a few weeks ago.

"Hopefully, we will be able to reproduce the blue mutation," said Karrie Potter, a lab technician "and instead of one or two we'll have dozens of them hopping around."

Frogs at the lab, she explained, primarily are used for a cancer research, inheritance of sex research, and in development of hybrids. In the case of the boys' blue frog, the lab hopes to reproduce hundreds of the rare blue creatures so it can provide them for research labs elsewhere around the country.

Besides the blue pair, the U-M laboratory has many other kinds of frogs — including one albino recently discovered in the Chelsea area. It also has 14 albino toads.

Actually, the blue frog of the Novi boys isn't all blue. Its front legs are yellow, which may or may not be a mutation, since the Rana Clamitans' natural your reasons are not applicable.

Again I find you and I are 180 degrees out-of-phase, when you are talking about amnesty to draft dodgers and deserters.

Understand, I am not opposed to amnesty, on a case-by-case basis providing the individual cases are judged by a court of law. If an individual did not serve his country for truly moral objectives, then I feel the courts can recognize these moral objections. How can any other basis for granting amnesty be justified in the minds of veterans or their families?

I am a veteran of the Korean period. When I look back, I also had reservations about military service. I didn't like the prospect of leaving my home — perhaps never to return again. Those thoughts helped me decide I would not allow myself to wait for the draft. I beat the draft by enlisting into the Air Force. I took my chances with everyone else, only I figured I improved my odds of returning.

When you make the statement "If I had my druthers I would not condition it (amnesty) upon going into the Peace Corps or doing anything else, except come home and we'll forget," you make me boil. Sir, I don't think you can justify your position in the mind of the young widow whose husband will never return, or the mother and dad whose son had a whole future ahead of him, only to have it cut short as the price of conflict. Explain your position to the guy in the V.A. Hospital, perhaps for life, and see how well he accepts your argument.

In your statement you refer to draft dodgers and deserters as "those kids." Well sir, let me remind you have have those kids have served in every conflict this great country of ours has been involved in, starting with the Freedom Fighters who helped us gain our independence. Most of your colleagues in our government were "those kids" in one of our wars and fortunately they did not run away when asked to serve. I ask you, where would we be today if it was not for "those kids" who obeyed the law and served their country?

Again, I repeat, you appear to apply a double set of standards, depending upon the issue. On one hand you would have our Vietnam veterans be subject to trial in a foreign country for genocide and on the other hand you would have the draft dodgers come home and we'll forget.

By the way, the definition of the word "genocide" is: the deliberate and systematic destruction of a racial, political or cultural group (Webster's Seventh New Collegiate Dictionary). I feel any time you have a military army at war, everyone is guilty of genocide, after all you are attempting to accomplish the deliberate and systematic destruction of the enemy.

Last, let me remind you that the Vietnam veteran obeyed the law and served his country while the draft dodgers and deserters did not. In the latter case, he is a fugitive, and must be willing to stand the test of a court of law. If his reason is honestly a moral objection, then let the court establish that fact.

Thanks Students

To the Editor:

I think that all of us in and around Northville owe a very special vote of thanks to the work of the students who worked in the recreation programs this summer.

From my viewpoint as both coach and parent, I feel very strongly that we got much more in return than we could possibly have paid. The patience and the spirit of helpfulness these young people showed should be lessons to all of us.

My particular thanks go to Scott Leu and Tex Trumbull for their work with the knothole kids. They went far beyond the call of duty and made that program a great improvement over past years.

And, a lot of credit should go to Ed Kritez, not only for the tremendous amount of work he put in but also for choosing the help of these students. Not many of us are satisfied with our recreation program but if a few more of us will show the interest and provide a little more "elbow grease" from the example of Ed and his crew, we'll have a great program.

Farm Market's Fun Attraction

To the Editor:

The organizers and supporting downtown merchants have added another good reason to come into downtown Northville for shopping. The opportunity to buy fresh produce at considerable savings without the bother of driving several miles was greatly appreciated. Besides, it was fun!

I hope that the Farmers' Market can and will become a part of Northville "tradition". Thanks to all involved.

So far the city has received approximately 25-30 applications for the position, according to Councilman Philip Goodman who is serving on a three man committee named to select a new city manager.

Interviews will hopefully start by the first week in September, Goodman said. He added that the applications so far received have been narrowed down to 3-4 and that he is hoping for more applications as the result of further ads.

Ads so far have been placed in the Wall Street Journal, The Michigan Municipal Review and the Novi News. Administrative Assistant Ed Kriewall is expected to take over the city manager role during the interim until a new manager is selected, Goodman said.

color is green, the lab technician explained. A lack of the color pigments results in discoloration.

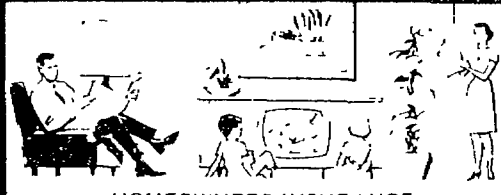

Although blue mutations in frogs are rare, explained the technician, this and similar mutations occur far more frequently in amphibians than, in say, dogs simply because a frog produces so many more tadpoles than the dog does puppies.

What other strange animals have ended up at the Ann Arbor lab?

Well, if Brent and Mike come home someday with a frog that has an eye growing in its mouth, mom may panic needlessly. The critter's been around before.

Committee Says Hold Line

separate fire department fund, the city could start a fulltime paid fire department.

"It could give relief to the general fund by ½ mill," he continued.

Mayor Robert Daley replied that a fire department union could demand high labor negotiation settlements "while the cupboard is bare for others."

Councilman George Athas added that allocated millage "is froth full of pitfalls."

Mayor Daley slammed head-on a contention in the report that the city could levy millage to cover a commitment to the Novi School Board to pay for property at Ten Mile and Taft Roads.

"Considering approximately $500,000 for the property and $800,000 for a municipal office building, the indicated total of $1,300,000 could be covered by one mill for ten years," says the report.

"A previous council cannot commit moral agreements on future councils," replied the mayor. "This report is the first time I've seen any dollar figure on the commitment. They're not tying my hands to that extent."

"Should we go into a municipal-school complex or get a park program that's worthy of the people in this city," asked the mayor.

This council made a commitment and entered into negotiations," declared Councilman Louie Campbell. "This was to be a municipal-school complex. They (the school district) sold bonds on that basis."

City Manager Harold Saunders noted that building expenses do not come out of the general operating budget.

"Too often citizens have blurred the two together," he said.

Responding to questions from the council, the committee report noted that the 1974-75, budget incorporates approximately $160,000 in federal revenue sharing funds for use for operating purposes.

The report said that federal revenue sharing funds will one day end and that any budget using revenue sharing funds for operating expenses should be considered a deficit budget.

"That's 1½ mills you'll have to make up," said Saunders.

The report also said that the city will probably not realize estimated revenue funds from the building department, because, despite a large drop from the previous year's estimate, the 1974-75 estimate is still $50,000 higher than the 1973-74 actual revenue level.

The report noted that estimates of overtime and non-personnel expenditures for virtually all areas were "cut to the bone" to balance cost against estimated revenues.

"It can be expected that not all departments will be able to operate at the reduced levels," said the report. "In particular, the amounts estimated for overtime appear low in relation to prior years. Maintenance of equipment for police, fire and DPW have been cut to levels which may not be attainable."

The report contended that elimination of essentially all formal training programs and the elimination of new equipment purchases are perhaps "false economies" — areas which may be difficult and expensive to catch up in.

While the report recommended against creating a contingency fund for the sake of having a contingency fund, any unneeded funds discovered in departmental budgets "should be transferred to a special account for emergency use."

Meeting opposition was a statement in the report that "if the city employee level is held constant during the period of slow population growth, service levels should not decline."

Saunders contended that the city meets certain threshold points.

"A new park system might need not only a full-time director, but also others for maintenance," he pointed out. "I think we're playing catch-up," argued Athas. "We may have grown too fast and not been up to it."

While the committee noted that population of Novi has risen 80 percent since 1970 and employees increased 138 percent, Mayor Daley declared that the 1969-70 period had been depressionary and that the employee-population ratio had not been good at that time, and should not be used as a basis for comparison.

"Statistics indicate that the number of city employees and total expenses have increased at a rate far greater than the population during the past five years, even though no new functions and-or services have been added," said the report. "This means that employee additions and cost increases must be eliminated until the current level of city functions can be financed within the 6½ mill income without the use of federal revenue sharing funds. We cannot allow cost increases that cannot be supported by population and tax base growth."

City officials disagreed noting that increased complexity of services as the city grows requires further increases in personnel.

"We must be competitive," added mayor Daley about giving employee pay raises. "You can't have good underpaid employees because then you end up with no employees."

"We haven't been able to live within 6½ mills even when we adopted it," declared Councilman Berry. "It was adopted so the village could go to a city and not be eaten up by surrounding communities."

The following points need amending in the 1974-75 fiscal year budget, the report stated:

—building department revenues may be over-stated by up to $50,000

—architectural fees, educational expenses, equipment purchases and maintenance requirements appear to be understated by approximately $60,000 —consideration should be given to continuing the practice of carrying an added Administrative Assistant position, or effecting an offsetting reduction in some general fund department.

'Student' Teaches Piano

Locally, she says that Schoolcraft College is doing a "fine job of promoting music."

Laing, who advocates piano as a stepping stone to other instruments, warns that not all persons are musically inclined and that parents should do their best to make certain that a piano teacher is a "good teacher."

"The music profession is one of the few professions that is not licensed," she notes. "There's no way a parent can tell if youngsters are getting good lessons."

Pointers she gives in selecting a teacher include finding out a teacher's education and if the teacher plays well.

"The teacher should be able to play better than the student," she says, noting that surprisingly, not all teachers can play better and in fact many are only a few steps in front of the student.

Laing adds that despite the fact Novi does not have a wide following of classical piano, the cause is that Novi is still relatively spread out. She predicts that when more urbanization comes to the area, classical piano will find its place in the community.

He said that the 15 teachers who were released from contract totaled $237,834 in wages with replacement and additional teachers amounting to $389,479 for the 22 staff members.

In related matter, school board members authorized Spear $2,500 to make minor salary adjustments for three administrators, Assistant Middle School Principal J. Michael Janchick, Middle School Principal David Longridge and Special Education Director Barbara Hajdusiewicz.

Proposal Divides Charter Makers

doubts that once a higher millage levy is used that it can be reduced later. "I just can't understand, in view of the spiraling prices, how they think they must have 10½ mills today but can get by for 6½ mills years later."

"My first reaction," said William Brinker, "is that it doesn't surprise me that they are asking for an increase. I think the charter commission purposely set the millage limitation low, as a compromise, because we did not feel the charter would receive approval with a higher figure."

He continued, "I'm a little puzzled, however, with the council's feeling that it can return to the present millage later."

"I think, perhaps, the present millage is low and that we (citizens) must recognize that if we want the services we must be willing to pay for them."

William Duey, another former charter commissioner and councilman, said he "totally opposes" the "diminishing" proposal.

"It may be legal, as many things were legal in Watergate, but it certainly isn't in the spirit of the charter as it was written," he asserted.

"The spirit and intent of the charter was that if we needed additional money we can go back to the people and ask them to approve a specific amount for a specific purpose. For example, if more money is needed for police the charter provides a means of asking approval for millage for this purpose."

Furthermore, if the council should "abuse" specifically earmarked millage the people have the opportunity to demonstrate their dissatisfaction with such abuse by not approving renewal, he said.

Said Raymond Evans, still another charter commissioner and city councilman, "I'm not saying they don't need additional millage, but until they can show me and other taxpayers that they are using existing monies wisely I cannot support this (diminishing millage)."

"The recent fiasco in which they ran out of money leads me to be skeptical. They should never have reached that point without knowing in advance what was happening. No, I think they must show us some built-in controls...prove to us that they are using present tax dollars wisely."

Board Members Plug Annexation

years that overall planning for the betterment of everyone in the area is one of the advantages.

"I am pleased that the city, township and school board are working together on the common feasibility study. We do have problems and they may be worked out better if we solve them together," she explained.

Trustee Mrs. Karen Wilkinson said she "strongly supports annexation for the obvious reason of non-duplication of services. We are a community. We need to affirm that fact legitimately by unifying."

In a related matter, trustees directed Superintendent Raymond Spear to indicate to Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright the board's willingness to meet with the township board and city council.

Two weeks ago, township trustees asked that a meeting be set up between the three governmental agencies to help the township decide whether or not special service millage should be placed on the November ballot and if so, how much.

Adding to questions on millage is a proposal from the recreation commission to have the school district take over community recreation and levy millage for that purpose and the soon to be appointed blue ribbon committee to study and recommend action on the feasibility study.

The township must make a decision by September 12 if the millage is to appear on the November ballot.

Spear said he saw the meeting also as an opportunity to "look at the CTS Blue Ribbon committee and decide how much time to give them for their recommendations on the study."

Who Thinks up Those Crazy Stickers?

"Smile, School's Open."

If that sign appears on local school buses this fall, chances are it will have originated in the Detroit printing plant of Stanley Sawicki — the king of the bumper sticker.

"If I'm not the king, I'm his lordship's duke of silk screening," says Stanley modestly.

Ever since ol' Stan cut up the kitchen oilcloth and experimented by gluing it to a car bumper 30 years ago, he's been stuck on this business that is experiencing one of its best years.

Bumper stickers are popping up everywhere lately.

"Some people might say they print more stickers than we do, but nobody makes a better product," says Sawicki. "No smut, just a little clean humor and tons of political messages," he says.

A pioneer in the field, he experimented with the "plastic" appearing bumper sticker 28 years ago. He used a "formica" glue to paste it to the car bumper.

"Only trouble with it," he recalls, "is it wouldn't come off. It was like the paper sticker is today. If you scrape it off it probably will take part of the bumper with it."

Later he began using an adhesive backed vinyl and his business boomed almost immediately.

"We don't use 'Paperback' here," he insists.

Gary DeVries of Ann Arbor, who does a few bumper sticker jobs that come in off the street, agrees. "Warn people about buying paper stickers. The stuff just won't come off, and then our industry suffers the consequences."

The silk screen method appears to be the "accepted" way to print bumper stickers.

DeVries uses it, so does Sawicki, and Glenn Printing and Kux.

And so does Jim Trelor, another Detroit who prints "a lot of 'em" even though bumper stickers represent a very small part of his business that primarily involves itself with more sophisticated silk screen processing for the automotive field.

Most printers, according to Trelor, don't come up with the words for bumper stickers. "We just do the work for someone else who is trying to sell an idea. There are guys out there who brain storm things like this. Then they go out and order stickers hoping they can sell them."

Action Communication, one printer suggested, is a bumper sticker "idea man".

But Tom Caudell, owner of the firm, wonders why some think bumper sticking is his field. Action Communication, it turns out, is a radio shop in Dearborn Heights.

"Explains one of Caudell's salesmen: 'He's an idea man, alright, but not for the bumper sticker industry. He's got this blinking sign out front, you see, and every now and then when he gets a good idea...a catchy saying of some kind... he puts it up there on that sign to draw attention to the store. He doesn't get paid for it, and he doesn't try to sell his ideas. It's just fun for him and it makes people look at our place.'"

Apparently, some bumper sticker people have been taking advantage of Caudell's blinking sign. Not long ago a sticker that first appeared on Caudell's store front sign became a hot bumper item. It read, "Custer Wore Arrow Shirts."

British Headmaster Shows Teachers Use of Acorns

What can you learn from an acorn? Most of us would say "not much", but teachers-turned-students at Oakley Park Elementary School in the Walled Lake School District this summer would disagree.

In a graduate course on British Primary Schools offered through Oakland University, David Martin, Headmaster of Queensway School in Banbury, England, demonstrated how simple objects like acorns or stones can become the basis for an entire instructional unit.

Having the children weigh, measure, test and write about a single object gives a sense of continuity to their learning.

"This integrated approach lets the children practice all the basic disciplines and skills without feeling that learning has to be chopped up into a lot of unrelated pieces," Martin said.

The three week course, attempted to present to the 49 teachers who attended, how what Martin calls "child centered education" is conducted in English primary schools.

The children in Martin's school work in open classrooms at their own pace under their teacher's supervision. They are given as many firsthand experiences as possible. For example, they will find out everything they can about the acorn before they turn to a book to see what other people know about it.

Martin emphasized that the flexibility of the open classroom does not mean that the children are wild or lacking in discipline. In fact, discipline is essential if the open classroom is to work.

"The children know we have a commitment to certain skill areas. They must learn to read, write, compute and reason, and they respect that commitment," Martin said.

This stress on discipline is illustrated by the fact that each child in Martin's school is taught italic writing, the script that one sees on plaques and certificates. "A child has to learn that learning involves a self imposed discipline," Martin said.

The italic writing also provides the child who has difficulties with other subject areas the opportunity to produce something beautiful in which he can take satisfaction.

Martin also pointed out that the open classroom, like its more structured traditional counterpart, requires a method to make certain that the children are acquiring the necessary skills.

"In an open classroom the student is directly accountable to the teacher on Spring-flowering bulbs are available now — or will be soon — at local garden supply outlets. Naturally, the picture make you want to have some of every one on display, but unless you choose well and plant well, you'll be disappointed with the results.

Because of the wide range of tulip varieties, they are the easiest bulbs to mis-use. Knowing the divisions, or classes, within the tulip family will help you know the best types for your garden plans.

BRIGHTON ARGUS AND SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wed., Thurs., August 28-29, 1974

This generalized guide to growth habits and bloom times will help you have flowers throughout the eight-week tulip season.

Kaufmaniana tulips are the earliest to bloom. Their water-lily-like white or yellow flowers have colored centers and carmine edging on the petals. They are called a species or botanical tulip because you grow them in their original form; breeders didn't develop this tulip by crossing other types. Kaufmanianas have short stems which make them good rock garden tulips.

Another early botanical tulip is the Fosteriana. Later than Kaufmaniana, its growth is just as vigorous and its stems slightly longer. (There seems to be some correlation between the bloom time and stem length; the later, the longer.) The Emperor tulips — Red Emperor, Orange Emperor, White Emperor, and Yellow Empress — belong to this group.

Single Early and Double Early tulips have a wider color selection than the botanical tulips, and bloom slightly later.

The tulip season covers about eight weeks, but when it begins varies from year to year. About 21 days after the first Kaufmanianas bloom, expect the mid-season tulips to begin. Mendel tulips, a mid-season variety, are excellent for forcing indoors. Their medium height means that they need little protection outdoors from strong wind or rains.

Crossing strong and long-stemmed Darwins with shorter-stemmed Early Singles yielded the Triumph group. They have large flowers and their medium height again means they can be planted in areas which receive no protection from wind and rain.

Darwin Hybrids may be the most choice of all tulips. Crossing the Darwin with early Fosterianas gives vibrant colors, vigorous growth, and the largest flowers of any tulip. Bulb life is longer than for most tulips, with blooms possible for 5 — 7 years. These bloom 10 — 14 days before the Darwins, bridging the gap between mid-season and late tulips.

Botanical Gregitis have short, stout stems, beautifully mottled foliage, and large, long-lasting flowers. They join the other species tulips in being good rock garden plants.

Darwins announce the beginning of the late tulip season. Discovered and developed in the end of the nineteenth century, they have the squarish base which most people consider to be the tulip shape. They have the longest stems of any tulips, bearing flowers in the widest range of colors in any class. They also make excellent cut flowers.

Cottage or May-flowering tulips are so-called because they bloom in May around many English cottages, where they were planted extensively. They have vigorous growth and are rich in the delicate shades of orange, yellow, fawn, and salmon which are missing in the other late-flowering varieties.

A development within the Cottage family are the Lily-flowering tulips. Their name comes from their lily-like appearance with pointed, out-curved petals. Though they appear to be delicate, they have the same vigorous qualities as the Cottage group. Their colors and form are especially enhanced by planting them where they will receive early morning or late afternoon sun.

The large, feathery flower head of Parrot tulips tends to droop so they need to be planted where they are protected from strong wind and hard rain. The front of evergreen shrubs usually gives the necessary protection. Like all the late-season varieties, the flowers don't last long because of the heat of mid-May days (Tulips

State's Defensive Over Feed Mix-up

LANSING—Hoping to avert any repeat of the tragic feed mix-up situation reported earlier this year, the Michigan Department of Agriculture says feed companies should be required to notify them of any product recalls.

Department officials will ask the Legislature to write such a requirement into Michigan law this fall.

"That would be one more protection against such a thing happening in the future," says a Department spokesman.

WHAT HAPPENED in the past was this:

Somehow, a fire retardant chemical, known as polybrominated biphenyl (PPB), got mixed into feed instead of an experimental additive, magnesium oxide. The bromide was sold by the Michigan Chemical Company of St. Louis, MI. Michigan Farm Bureau Services Inc. distributed the feed.

As a result, there have been thousands and thousands of contaminated animals awaiting slaughter. The total includes 6,249 cattle, 2,200 swine, 348 sheep and 200,000 chickens. Pending court action will determine where they are to be buried.

HEAVY CRITICISM was aimed at the Agriculture Department over handling of the matter. But listen to its side of the story.

Last October, one local veterinarian sought Department help in diagnosing problems with a farmer's herd. "And as far as we knew, until this May, there was only the one farm involved," the spokesman says.

"If any other local veterinarians had told us of problems — if the Farm Bureau veterinarian had notified us or told us they'd recalled the feed in January, we could have pieced together some kind of pattern. But we didn't know until May." No law now on the books requires such notification of referral or recall.

THE DEPARTMENT did set about checking the feed used on the one farm where it knew of problems.

"About 50 different compounds were tested in our laboratory in a futile attempt to identify the source of the problem," says Director B. Dale Ball. "At the same time, tests were being run by the nation's top animal diagnostic laboratories, and no diagnosis was made."

Ball says PPB "had never been identified in either feed or food previously, and there was no basis for suspecting this compound would be present in animal feeds."

Finally, a young research scientist in Beltsville, MD, Dr. George Fries, who had worked on PPB research previously, recognized the compound and, Ball says, the Department staff "went into high gear."

ARSON KILLS—six people last year, according to statistics from the Michigan State Police. In addition, the more than 5,000 fires included in arson statistics for 1973 caused an estimated $20 million damage.

Concern over the arson problem has prompted the State Police to add eight officers to the arson investigation arm of its fire marshal division.

The men, expect to be on their new assignments before the end of September, will be given special training in arson policing techniques at State Police Headquarters in East Lansing. The Detroit arson squad will help with the training.

OFFICERS WILL be assigned to Flint, Jackson, Paw Paw, Traverse City, Bridgeport, Marquette and two areas of Detroit.

Assignment of the new specialists is being made on the basis of "greatest policing concern in this field," State Police report.

"Bridgeport, for example, was chosen because of its big workload and high incidence in arson cases in its area," they said.

LEGISLATION regulating the sale of franchises in Michigan — tagged a "vitality needed consumer protection measure" by Governor William Milliken — now is law.

Franchise purchasers are often newcomers to the business world, and are sometimes investing their life savings," Milliken says. That makes it "essential that they have all relevant information at their disposal."

The new law, sponsored by Milliken's GOP running mate this fall, Representative James Damman of Troy, requires:

—Registration of companies selling franchises in the state, as well as registration of all franchise-selling agents.

—Full disclosure of information to the prospective purchaser of a franchise operation.

—Prior approval of sale literature and advertising.

It also gives the Commerce Department authority to investigate violations and to issue cease and desist orders.

HEADMASTER DAVID MARTIN

a one to one basis," Martin said.

The teacher meets with the child himself often and discusses his work, rather than just being handed the work back with a grade on it. There is also strong emphasis on keeping the parents thoroughly informed about what their child is learning at any given time.

Martin conducted the course with a pattern similar to the one he recommends for the elementary classroom. Each teacher had his or her own project and was helped individually by Martin and his assistant, Carmin Iverson. This was important because the class itself served various functions for the different teachers enrolled. For some, like Joan Head, a first grade teacher at Oakley Park Elementary, it reinforced methods she was already using and provided some practical suggestions for things like arranging the classroom or setting up a classroom science center.

For others like Bill Lenz, a fourth grade teacher at Northville, it opened up a whole new way to approach teaching. "I had heard a lot about the open classroom but I didn't know how to go about it. This course gave me the structure I need to feel secure trying it," he said.

One aspect of the course they both like is that they can pick and choose among the various techniques, using what will work for them. In fact, Martin emphasized that youngsters who are used to a structured classroom will not know how to react if faced with the numerous choices provided by the open classroom all at once.

Although the teachers taking the course will use it in different ways depending on their needs, they all agree with Martin that their primary goal is to "try and see that each child is equipped to lead a full and satisfying adult life."

Babson Report

'Forest Products Should Flourish'

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—Following a year of excellent sales and earnings gains in 1973, most forest product companies continued to chalk up good results in the first half of 1974.

The common stocks of lumber and plywood producers, however, have come under pressure because of general market weakness, a falling off in export demand, and a sagging domestic residential housing market. But 1974 should be a generally good year for forest product firms themselves, and in our opinion long-term prospects remain bright.

The industry should flourish when the housing field becomes more lively, and export demand should pick up later on. Hence, the Research Department of Babson's Reports continues to recommend holding the issues of major firms in this line. For investors desiring representation in the industry, we currently favor purchase of Champion International. Comments on some of the leading producers follow:

BOISE CASCADE—Hold. Management of this leading forest products company has made great strides in restoring profitability and strengthening its financial position. Last year profits — before special items — totaled $2.89 a share, compared with 78 cents in 1972 and a deficit in 1971.

Further strong earnings improvement was evident in the first half of this year. Although a month-long strike at several of Boise's paper mills and less robust lumber and plywood prices are restrictive influences, 1974 earnings should compare favorably with last year's.

Champion International — Buy. This is the third-largest paper and forest products company in the world, and its U.S. Plywood division is the nation's foremost distributor of that item. In 1973 net sales increased 18 percent to a record $2,208 million and net income rose 45 percent, reflecting excellent results in the building materials group and definite improvement in the company's fine paper operation. In the first six months of this year sales advanced 16 percent over the first half of 1973, and earnings rose 22 percent.

For investors seeking capital appreciation, purchase of the common is recommended. The $1.20 Convertible Preference, which provides a higher yield than the common, is also favored. Readers may get a free copy of a more detailed report on Champion International by writing to Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass. 02181.

GEORGIA-PACIFIC—Hold. Earnings last year were $3.07 a share versus 1972's $1.85. Additional gains are anticipated this year, with price increases in pulp, paper, redwood, hardwood, prefinished plywood, etc., expected to help offset the drop in softwood plywood and lumber quotes.

Management feels that any energy shortages will benefit the forest products industry because of its ample raw material, low manufacturing energy requirements, and its high building insulation qualities. To meet future demand, this concern intends to lay out $1 billion on expansion over the 1973-1977 period.

LOUISIANA-PACIFIC—Hold. In January 1973, this significant producer of lumber, plywood, particle-board, and pulp was spun off from Georgia-Pacific Corporation. In its first twelve months of independent operation, it earned $2.52 per share on sales of $416.9 million.

For the first half of the current year sales moved up 27 percent above the comparable 1973 period, and earnings advanced 19 percent. In spite of reduced demand and a slump in lumber and plywood prices, generally good results are looked for during the months ahead.

WEYERHAEUSER—Hold. Second-quarter results fell below 1973's very strong 90 cents-a-share level, but the present year as a whole should compare favorably with last, when Weyerhaeuser earned a record-breaking $2.74 a share versus the prior year's $1.17.

The company feels that the housing markets in the U.S. and Japan constitute major near-term uncertainties. But the expectation is that demand for paper and pulp products will continue to be strong through the remainder of the 1970s, while most of this corporation's other product lines will also contribute on the plus side.

College Plans Fair for Women

Women in the Detroit Metropolitan area will be offered special assistance in discovering new alternatives when Schoolcraft College presents its second annual Women's Opportunity Fair from 12 noon to 5 p.m. on Friday, September 6. It is free of charge and open to general public.

Women's Opportunity Fair is a combination of exhibits, information and counseling, workshops and films. Fifty-eight institutions and agencies will have representatives on hand for personal information and guidance.

These participants represent colleges, adult education facilities, business, employment agencies, government agencies, women's groups, volunteer organizations and community service agencies.

Five special workshops have been scheduled hourly throughout the period. Helen Musial, manager of Women's Career Planning at General Motors, will open the Fair at 12 noon with a discussion of "Employment Prospects for the Mature Woman in Industry." Paulette LeBost, an attorney who accepts civil rights cases and serves as a Michigan Civil Rights Commissioner, will speak at 1 p.m. on "Your Civil Rights."

The 2 p.m. workshop, "Decision-Making Skills," will be led by Bill Heise, a Schoolcraft College counselor. Stanley Mann, a social worker employed by the Veterans Hospital and in a private practice, will lead the 3 p.m. session on "Transactional Analysis."

Kathy Crossley, a supervisor at the Livonia AIDE Crisis Center, will lead the 4 p.m. session on "The New Volunteer in the New Community Service Setting."

A variety of films will be shown in two locations at the fair. One set of films will review women's changing roles, alternatives and lifestyles. Another set of films and slides, furnished by the exhibitors, will portray the services and opportunities provided by some of the participating organizations.

Ms. Nancy Dufour, who is in charge of Women's Programs and Services at Schoolcraft, sees the Fair as a unique and timely event which can help area women expand their knowledge of women's opportunities at a time when they are making decisions on their fall activity schedules.

Amazes Museum Curator

'Pianist' Tries Out Harvard Organ

Cross of Christ's regular Sunday pianist is St. Paul's substitute organist who wants to build a five-octave harpsichord.

What's more he will start practice soon on the giant pipe organ in the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit after having amazed a curator with his master-like performance on the famous Flentrop Organ at Harvard University this summer.

No big deal about that, perhaps unless you consider the musician — 16-year-old David Heinzman of Northville who only began taking organ lessons a short time ago.

Just as he amazed a curator at the Busch-Reisinger Museum, so too this young man has impressed his music teachers.

But his biggest fans are the Lutheran clergymen and congregations who hear him play.

"We marvel at what he does," says the Reverend E. Michael Bristol, pastor of the Cross of Christ mission church in South Lyon where each Sunday David plays the piano.

"He's absolutely amazing; his spirit is contagious...he's been a real life for us here."

Pastor Charles Boerger of St. Paul's Lutheran in Northville, where the Heinzmans are members, recommended young David for the job at Cross of Christ.

"He's an excellent budding organist," he says, "and some day he will be a very fine player. Right now he's in a transition stage from piano to organ and doing well."

Similar accolades and predictions are voiced by those at St. Paul's of Livonia where the high school student has also played for Lutheran services.

David's father and mother (his father is public relations director at Schoolcraft College) are understandably proud of their son but more than a little surprised. "Where he gets his musical talent is beyond me," says his father. "There hasn't been a musician on either side of the family for at least two generations."

Although they knew he played well for a young man, David's parents didn't fully appreciate his potential until his surprising performance on the Flentrop Organ this summer.

The fact that he was permitted to play on this famous organ without much formal training is as much a tribute to his determination as it is to his musical ability.

David began "fooling around" with the organ when at the age of 11 his parents gave him a toy-like chord organ which he still keeps in his bedroom closet. Although he wanted to take organ lessons, he and his parents were advised that a good organist is first a pianist so he began taking lessons on the piano from instructors at Schoolcraft College.

Meanwhile, on his own, David continued practicing his tiny organ. Later he bought and refinished an 80-year-old pump organ, that now graces the family room, and he was given an electronic organ that shares space with a piano in his bedroom.

In the Heinzman home it isn't a case of the parents nagging their son to practice but often it's a matter of asking him "lay off for awhile".

To practice on his own David bought himself a record of organ music played by the world renowned organist E. Power Biggs on the Flentrop, a giant of an organ made in Holland and housed in the Busch-Reisinger Museum of German arts at Harvard.

Day in and day out he listened to the record and practiced.

In less than two years after beginning piano practice, his instructors were impressed with his advancement and recommended him for organ lessons. By this time, having practiced on his own, David was already playing the organ for services in Livonia.

Upon learning that the family vacation this summer would be in the Boston area, David without the knowledge of his parents wrote away to Harvard for permission to play the Flentrop. When his parents learned of it they were skeptical. No youngster with so little formal training would receive such an honor.

But back came the invitation, and so one late afternoon this summer a young man of 16 took a seat before the keyboard of this gigantic instrument and began playing some of his favorite pieces by Bach.

For one hour, as guests wandered through the massive halls of the museum, stopping to listen, David Heinzman, high school junior, played the organ that had so impressed him as he listened to Mr. Biggs' record.

And then something strange happened. A museum curator, an old man who had listened to the master organist play this same instrument over the years, came in thinking that Mr. Biggs was back at the keyboard. David had unconsciously picked up some of the playing habits of the famous musician he idolizes.

Later David telephoned the Biggs home and although Mr. Biggs was out of town, he spoke to Mrs. Biggs for nearly an hour.

Although those who listen think he plays the piano very well, David doesn't hide his preference for the organ. In fact he's constantly scheming on how to get an organ for Cross of Christ. Last spring when Pastor Bristol was to be installed, David persuaded a manager of Grinnell store to furnish an organ for the service. And now, says Pastor Bristol, he's trying to swing an on-time purchase of a used organ "that he thinks would be ideal for our little church."

Lutheran church music was written for the organ, he explains while demonstrating the difficulty of "holding" notes on the piano.

Despite his talent, David has not yet decided his future. He will continue taking lessons from Steven Egler, director of music at the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, continue his studies in German and "wait to see what develops".

David Heinzman's big moment at Harvard

One thing's for sure: though he's a devoted Lutheran he's not interested in the ministry. "When you're preaching you can't be playing the organ," he laughs.

Christ the Master Lutheran Church has added a new school building to its facilities. The building is 24 x 80 feet. It has two large classrooms with cathedral ceiling, an office-multipurpose room, lavatories, and mechanical room. It was erected by Space Planning Associates, a subsidiary of National Homes.

The new building was erected at an approximate cost of $36,000.

The school will open its doors for the second year of operation on September 3. It has a K-12 program. The school and church facility is located at 28847 Beck Road within the limits of the city of Wixom.

Edward Regentin is headmaster of the school. The Reverend Mr. Boniek, who has a master's degree in education from Eastern Michigan University, also teaches in the school. For information call Mr. Regentin at 349-9133 or Pastor Boniek.

St Paul's Episcopal Church of Brighton will hold a clam bake Saturday, September 7. The menu for the outdoor dinner includes lobster, fresh steamer clams, filet of fish, sausage, clam broth and several vegetables. Charge per person is $10. Interested persons should call Claudine Donovan at 227-2637 to make reservations.

A Church Family Camp Out sponsored by the Salem Bible Church will be held at Haas Lake September 12, 13, and 14. Activities will include campfire devotions, nature hikes, bicycling, swimming, and games. Families should bring tents, trailers, or campers, and the charge per night per family is $4.50. Reservations for one or both nights may be made by calling the church office.

Nicky Cruz, former New York City Gang Leader whose religious conversion is subject of the book and movie, "The Cross and the Switchblade," will be appearing in Ann Arbor September 6, 7, and 8 at Pioneer High School. Cruz now heads Outreach Centers which provide live-in counseling and therapy situations for boys throughout the nation. Friday and Saturday evening programs will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the Sunday presentation starts at 5 p.m.

The United Methodist Women Morning Fellowship of Northville announces its luncheon buffet and style show will be held Tuesday, September 10 at 12 noon at the church. Bee-Lynn Fashions of Northville will present the fashion show, and nursery facilities will be provided for pre-schoolers. Interested women should call the church office to make reservations before the September 4 deadline. Tickets are $2 and they will not be sold at the door.

The U.M.W. also reminds all church women it is still collecting recipes for its church cookbook. Women may bring recipes to the church office or call Charlene DeWitt at 349-8763.

The Highland Christian Child Care Center will begin its tenth year of operation Monday, September 9. The non-denominational child care program, licensed by the State of Michigan and staffed by trained and experienced personnel, is accepting children aged three to five years. Classes for four- and five-year-olds meet Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and sessions for three-year-olds meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Sessions meet each morning from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and afterwards from 1 to 3:30 p.m., and the charge is $3 per session. Parents interested in enrolling their children should visit or call the center at 887-1402 or 887-2412.

St. John's Church of Hartland will hold an art auction Tuesday, September 10, at Hartland High School. Preview time is 7 p.m., and the auction begins at 8 p.m. The auction will be conducted by Gallery Art Center of Berkley. A donation of $1 is asked, and all proceeds will go to the church altar society.

Festivals, Fairs Dot September In Michigan

September in Michigan is an ideal vacation month accented with festivals, fairs and fun for all, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

The month begins with a tribute to Bishop Frederic Baraga (the Snowshoe Priest), who devoted his life to the Chippewa Indians of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. The ceremonies will take place Sunday, September 1 at the Baraga Shrine, which rises six stories above the Red Rock Bluffs, between Baraga and L'Anse overlooking Keweenaw Bay.

September 1-2 is Old Time Summer Festival time at Greenfield Village, Dearborn. Strolling minstrels, a medicine show, colorful yarns spun from the writings of Mark Twain, heated debates between Stephen Douglas and Abraham Lincoln and a musical revue called, "Gaslight Melodies" are some of the bygone diversions and entertainment that will be relived.

If you're physically fit, "in the pink" or just have an excess of energy to expend, lace-up your most comfortable walking shoes and join the annual Mackinac Bridge Walk, September 2, from St. Ignace to Mackinaw City.

September 7-8 will be a busy weekend. The Old Car Festival at Greenfield Village, Dearborn will feature antique automobiles and High-wheel bikes "jazzed-up" with Dixieland music and flapper hostesses straight from the days when America first started rolling on wheels.

The Merry Marketeers Flea Market will be beckoning bargain hunters to the Fort Saginaw Mall in Saginaw. It's also the weekend of Marshall, Michigan's 11th annual Historic Home Tour.

In addition to the tour of nine vintage homes, a variety of collateral events are scheduled including an arts and crafts fair and antique sale. The potato harvest and the customs of a Polish heritage are the main ingredients of the Posen Potato Festival. Parade, carnival, Polish dances and dinners will help to keep the festivities on a lively note.

Potatoes are the king crop in the Edmore area and the folks there also feel that a festival is in order at harvest time. The Edmore Potato Festival is a three day celebration, September 13-15, complete with dancing in the streets, a big parade, pony pulls and good things to eat.

Chesaning will be "buzzing" in the most literal sense of the word, September 12-15, when the Michigan Honey Bee Festival will be in residence. In addition to graphic exhibits showing how the busy little bees make honey, there will be a slo-pitch softball tournament, canoe race, honey baking contest and a gala parade of bands from all areas of the State. Some 40 acres of campsites will be available at Showboat Park.

Art 'n Apples may seem like a strange combination but that's the name of the Festival, September 12-15, at Municipal Park in Rochester. The purpose of the festival is to expose the public to area arts and crafts and encourage artists and craftsmen to compete for quality. As for the apples, they will be available in dessert, candied and cider form for visitors' refreshment.

The Folk Life Festival, September 14-15, at Charlton Park near Hastings brings pioneer days to life with demonstrations of early crafts and folk art. Spinning, weaving, sausage, soap, bread, butter and "likker" makin' are some of the activities on the agenda. The village smithy will be making the anvil ring and there will be appropriate toe-tapping music to set the pace.

Harvest time of the fruit of the vine in southwest Michigan heralds the Grape and Wine Festival at Paw Paw, September 17-22. Festival guests are invited to tour the wineries and sip a sample of the mellow merchandise. Other attractions include grape stomping, a turtle derby, art show and carnival.

The Detroit Ethnic Festival Program for September has the Mexican Festival in residence 6-8, the Arab Festival 13-15, and closing the 1974 season will be the Latin American Festival, September 20-22.

Detroit's Fall Antique Show and Sale is set for September 18-22 at the Light Guard Armory. Some 166 dealers and exhibitors from all over the U.S. are expected.

On the outdoor scene, the Tittabawassee Amateur Canoe Races from Wooden Show Village at East M-61, the Au Sable River Raft Race at Oscoda and the 200 Mile Off Road Endurance at Rose City are all taking place on September 1. The Lakeside Bicycle Tour at Charlevoix will be September 14 and Canoe Races will paddle away from Honor September 21-22. The Fair schedule shows: Saline Community Fair, September 3-7 at Saline; Allegan County Fair, September 6-14, Allegan; Saginaw Fair at Saginaw, September 7-14; St. Joseph County Fair, Centerville, September 16-21; Hillsdale County Agricultural Fair, September 22-28, Hillsdale; and the Marquette County Harvest Festival at Marquette, September 26-28.

And there's still more to enjoy during September's 30 days in Michigan. For a complete listing, write for a free copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48926. Michigan residents can now call — TOLL FREE — for vacation information by dialing 1-800-292-2520.

Horse's Mouth

The fifth annual competitive trail ride, sponsored by the Dixie Saddle Club of Clarkston, will be held on September 29 in the Holly Recreation Area.

The trail ride will cover a distance of 30 miles.

Competitive trail horses must be conditioned for the ride over a period of at least six weeks of consistent riding, officials stress. Deadline for turning in entry forms is September 12.

The four previous rides brought together contestants from throughout Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, New Jersey and Canada.

Persons wishing entry forms may write to the Dixie Saddle Club, P.O. Box 357, Clarkston, 48016.

Walled Lake to Kensington

Benefit Marathon Set September 21

Cyclists are now being registered for the second annual Bike-A-Thon sponsored by Senior & Youth Employment Service of Southwest Oakland county.

The marathon is scheduled for 9 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 21, with bikers pedaling from Walled Lake to Kensington Metropolitan park and back. Participants will have a rest and a free picnic lunch at the park.

First prize for the bicyclist turning in the most funds from sponsors will be a ten-speed bicycle donated by Tom Nell, 8238 Cooley Lake Road, Union Lake.

Other prizes include: a camera donated by Grant City, Union Lake; a bike generator set from Colony Bike shop, 516 North Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake, portable radio from Fitzgerald-Melvin Home center, Walled Lake; bike bag from Scarlett's Schwinn cyclery, Pontiac; $5 gift certificate from R & M department store, Union Lake, first aid kit from Colonial pharmacy, Walled Lake, and 23 free drinks from Jay's Dairy Queen, Walled Lake.

Bram-child of the late Ruth Kadella; Christian Service coordinator for St. Patrick's parish, Union Lake, the Rev. Philip M. Seymour, minister of Novit United Methodist church, and other citizens concerned with the employment problems of young people and senior citizens, Senior & Youth Employment Service was inaugurated in February, 1973, with a federal grant. Three offices were set up last year in Waterford, Holly and Walled Lake.

Only the Walled Lake office survived the government cut-off last December because of the strong community support generated in that area.

Office space for the free employment service has been provided without cost by St. Williams parish of Walled Lake from the inception of the program. St. Patrick's parish has been paying the agency's phone bill since February of this year. In response to the unified funding appeal of the Lakes Agency Council, two municipalities — Walled Lake and Wolverine Lake — have allotted some revenue-sharing funds for the unique free employment service. Smaller contributions have come from the Beyond Parish Giving committee of Christ Church, Cranbrook; Novi Rotary club and the Walled Lake and Union Lake Jaycees.

Senior & Youth Employment Service acts as a free referral service through which youths between the ages of 14 and 25 years of age and senior citizens 55 years and up are directed to employment opportunities and local businesses and homeowners are aided in finding the workers they need.

The 550 placements confirmed by the Walled Lake office have ranged from a Mary Poppins-type gal who took over a motherless family of four children to a Santa Claus job for a 77-year-old gentleman who has a way with youngsters.

S.Y.E.S. was incorporated as a non-profit corporation on Feb. 11, 1974. The Rev. Philip M. Seymour is chairman of the board of directors; Lawrence C. Gelinis, Wolverine Lake councilman, vice chairman; Marian Baker of Union Lake, secretary, and Frances A. Barber of Wolverine Lake, treasurer.

Other members of the board are: Oakland County Commissioner Lew L. Coy of Wixom; Gary M. Doyle, community-student relations coordinator for Walled Lake schools, Gene Schnelz, Walled Lake attorney; Fran Sarto, senior citizen activities coordinator in Walled Lake; Julie A. Hunt of Union Lake and Jeanne Kaiser of Walled Lake, youth representatives; Sister Alice Clover, social worker of St. Williams parish; Mrs. Mabel O. Rose of the Walled Lake Civic Welfare club and Mrs. Thelma Wurst, senior citizen representatives, and Barbara LaFond of Union Lake.

Mrs. Kadella, who died of a heart attack August 18, also was a member of the board and had been one of the program's staunchest supporters.

The area served by S.Y.E.S. includes the Walled Lake and Novi school districts, primarily.

Bikers may register for the bike-a-thon at the Tom Nell cycle shop in Union Lake or the S.Y.E.S. office in St. Williams parish center on North Pontiac Trail. For additional information, offers to assist with the event or to call in job orders for youths or retirees, please call the S.Y.E.S. director, Alice E. Schulte, at 624-5940.

Stuck on Humor

Spokesmen for a couple of printing firms believe companies exist that "pay 100 bucks or more" for good bumper sticker ideas. But none of them knew the name of such firms.

"Idea men", it appears, are just ordinary "Joe Blows" who are working in an ad agency or in a factory someplace but moonlighting gimmicks on the side.

All printers seem to agree on this one point: humor stickers are a small part of the business. The real money-makers are those dealing with politics.

Sawicki, who has printed bumper stickers for United States presidents from Nixon on back to FDR, figures about 90 percent of his business is politically oriented.

This year — an election year — Sawicki figures his company will produce maybe 5 million pieces and most of these will be for politicians. "It's a cheap way to get your name before the public. Look at a name often enough and chances are you'll remember it when you go into the election booth."

State representatives, says Sawicki, will order about 2,500 stickers, congressmen might go for 10,000, governors buy about 50,000, and national level candidates will order "into the millions."

Sawicki's firm did work for Muskie, McGovern, Humphrey, Kennedy and even Truman.

"But we're non-partisan," he insists, pointing out that one of the firm's best zingers was a sticker reading, "Don't Blame Me, I Voted Republican."

What's more, although his firm has printed thousands of "To Hell with Shell" stickers, it also has produced large numbers of "Shell Is Swell" stickers.

Although Sawicki & Son employs artists to assist customers in developing specialized stickers, most of the messages — political and humor — is the work of customer or his advertising agency, explains the owner.

Says Sawicki's son, John, the humor bumper sticker is a gimmick that "really got its start a few years ago with the 'Sack It To 'em Tigers' slogan" which was the work of a guy in an advertising agency.

With that sticker the "gimmick" message caught fire. "But the problem is it's a very risky business," explains John Sawicki. A guy can invest in a message that just doesn't take off and he's left holding a batch of worthless stickers. That's why most printers aren't involved in "gimmicks".

"We had a guy come in last year with one that everyone figured would be a smash. It was 'Aaron is Ruthless.' We printed 1,000 of 'em for him and he flew down to Atlanta with them. It was a sure seller, but you know the Braves' management didn't like it. So here's a guy who has invested 160 bucks in printing and maybe a couple hundred in plane fares and he's got something nobody wants."

Plan Retiree Classes

Schoolcraft College has expanded its senior adult services to include "Study After Retirement" (STAR).

Senior Adults who are retired from full-time employment and are residents of the College District should call 591-6400, extension 218 to register with Schoolcraft's senior adult services. A senior adult student card will then be mailed to them.

This card can be used to register for college classes on a space available basis and for community service courses. It can also be used to obtain a library card, and free admission to most cultural and public affairs and athletic events.

For the first time on September 4, retirees will have the opportunity to enroll in regular college classes without cost.

A special one-day registration for senior adults will be held on September 4 in the auxiliary gym from 8:30 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

Financial

Aids Set

At OCC

Equal opportunity to education is more of a reality than ever at Oakland Community College this fall. For the first time, larger amounts of financial aid are available to part-time students.

In making this announcement, Mary McCullom, director of financial aid and placement at the Orchard Ridge Campus explained:

"Every year more and more low income adults have successfully up-graded their employment opportunity at Orchard Ridge, but many have faced the disappointment of learning that the money for educational expenses is available only to those who are full-time students."

Anyone who can't afford an education should apply to the Financial Aid office at Orchard Ridge Campus. Registration for Fall classes will be held September 4-12.

Tulips Easiest to Mis-use

WE KNOW WHAT A PAPA GOLDFISH IS WORTH.

What happens when somebody says, "We put in that little pond by the apple tree 6 years ago. And the papa goldfish is 8 inches long now." That ought to be worth something. We think it is. And so we take the pond into the afternoon sun and spring blossoms into consideration. If they're worth something to the owners, they'll be worth something to the people we'll find to live in their home. And everyone will be pleased.

Alumni Charge!

These ex-Northville high school gridders are preparing for the second annual encounter with Detroit's Catholic Central alumni team by holding regular weekly workouts. Shown getting the kinks out of muscles that are more accustomed to less strenuous exercise are (l. to r.) Fred Mitchell, Dick Willing, Stan Nirider and Spike Walker. Mitchell was a guard and played with fullback Walker on the 1959 Mustang team. Center Willing graduated in 1961 and later played for Eastern Michigan University where he was named to the all conference team. Nirider, a 1968 graduate, played quarterback in high school but switched to cornerback at Hillsdale College where he was named to the All America small college team. Mike Zayti, who heads up the Northville alumni team, reports that up to 40 ex-Mustangs will suit up for the Saturday, September 7 game at the Northville field.

Molding Green Giant

Mr. Wishbone Busy Again

Twice-a-day drills will continue up to the start of school next week in Novi where Coach John Osborne and his staff are trying to mold another Green Giant. But Osborne admits initial practices indicate he doesn't have a lot of superstars to stuff into empty shoes.

"It hasn't been going as well as we hoped it would by this time," said Osborne who during the first two weeks of practice has been shooting players in and out of positions as he tries to come up "with just the right combination."

He and his coaching sidekick, Rick Trudeau, have some big holes to fill — including the gaps left by Quarterback Dave Brown and his fleet-footed, now departed halfback, Mike Riley.

But then, of course, Osborne's been in that position before. Last year despite the absence of Jimmy VanWagner, now leading ground-gainer for Michigan Tech, all-state quarterback Steve Lukkari, and all-state wide receiver John Pantalone the varsity mentor still figured he had a few "diamonds" left.

Indeed he had. By season's end the Wildcats had chalked up their second-straight Southeastern Conference championship. With a big 42-14 win over Milan in the final, Novi piled up its 21st straight triumph.

Missing stars or not, Novi can go all the way again this year, suggested Osborne who won't concede an inch to skeptics. And he doesn't need any changes in his offensive game plans to do it, he said.

"The wishbone has been kind to us," he noted in promising to keep The Persuader around for a long time.

At this point Osborne is pinning the label of starting quarterback on Gary Ford. And best bets to nail down halfback positions are Bill

Miami Ends 5th at State

Miami Blue Water Pools found that it really wasn't in over its head at the state tournament, but couldn't quite put together enough of an attack to keep from eventually sinking.

The Pool men lost their first game and then won the next two before the final loss. Miami ended up in a tie for fifth place out of 31 teams participating.

In the first match-up against Diamond Die of Huntington Woods, Miami pushed across a lone run in the second inning on a single by Donner and double by David McMillan.

Huntington Woods, meanwhile, slashed out 17 runs on 17 hits. Miami only had five hits.

The second game against Wheeler's Market of Sturgis brought back memories of local games as Miami tore apart the market men 14-4.

Miami's big innings were the second and fourth where four and six runs crossed the plate respectively.

The four run second was climaxed by a Dan Flattery homer which pushed in two runs.

In the fourth inning, Dennis Diem and Donner both slammed singles to lead the onslaught.

Sturgis scored all four of its runs in the fourth utilizing a grand slam.

Flattery led Miami with a homer and two singles.

Donner punched a triple double and single while Pisha collected two doubles and a single.

Snags Whopper!

A 30 inch Walleye, the second biggest to be caught in Michigan this year, was the prize catch registered by Dean York, 16969 Franklin in Northville on a recent trip to the upper peninsula.

The big fish was caught in Ogontz Bay in Big Bay De Noc August 20. York attributed the catch to "good luck".

1 blk. S. of 8 Mile Rd., 6 blks. E. of SheldonBIG SPLASH—Lisa VanIngen, captain of the Northville swimming team, is captured as she surfaces in a cascade of water. The Northville team promises to be one of the powers in the Western Six. The team has 25 returning swimmers.

Aim for PerfectionGirl Swimmers Eye Championship Bid

Don't expect to see Northville girl's swim team lose any league meets this year.

At least, that's the expectation of team coach Karen Turner, who predicted that Northville's perennial second place team will be changing places with Western Six champion Farmington Harrison this year.

Returning from a 5-2 season last year, Turner reports that the team lost only one senior and has 25 returning lettermen. That includes four seniors, 10 juniors and 13 sophomores to make the team a threat for several years to come.

"Farmington-Harrison lost 5-6 of their big people while we're the strongest we've been in the six years we've had the team," says Turner. "We've got a lot of experienced young people who will be around for a couple of years."

A stand-out returning swimmer is junior Tracy Piscopink, who holds team records in the 50, 100, 200 and 500 yard free style, as well as the 200 yard individual medley.

Others who figure prominently in the plans include backstrokers Donna Guard and Lori Holland, diver Barb Jones, senior distance swimmer Cindy Bretz, breaststrokers Jan Greenlee and Cathy Coates, and Kathy Biery in the 50 and 100 freestyle.

Two relay teams which placed high in the state meet last year will be back almost intact. In the 400 yard free relay, which placed eleventh in the state meet, Lisa VanIngen, Lori Holland, Donna Guard and Tracey Piscopink will all be returning.

The 200 yard medley, which placed tenth at state, will be slightly changed. Holland, VanIngen and Piscopink will all be back but "Sandy" Bacsanyi won't.

Vying for the final spot on the medley team will be Jan Greenlee or a new face on the squad, Vida Mikalonis, a freshman from Warren.

Andy Conder, another freshman, will be taking over the number two diving spot.

While Northville girls swimming does not yet have the popularity or following that the Northville boys state champion swimming team does, Turner says that the transition is being made.

This year for the first time, the team has new swimsuits, complete set of dress sweats, swim bag and bathing caps—while the boys have had full uniforms since the beginning.

"We had to work for what we have, but we've found it and now have our own place in the world of sports," observes Turner.

Following is a schedule of Northville girls swimming:

September 19-Redford Union, home; September 26-Farmington Harrison, away; September 28-Redford Union Relays, away; October 1-Ann Arbor Huron, away; October 3-Ypsilanti, home; October 5-Farmington Harrison Relays, away.

Other meets are: October 10-Walled Lake Western, away; October 17, Livonia Churchill, home; October 24-Plymouth Canton, away; November 6, 7-league meet at Farmington Harrison; November 15-16, state meet at Rochester.

Inn Ends Tire 'Dream'

Novi Inn decided to put the question to rest once and for all and bounced Novi Tire 10-3 to win the play-off in the Novi American League and take the undisputed championship. Novi Tire, which had rested most of the season in third place, had put on a last minute really to catch the Inn on the last game of the season. Both teams had final records of 10-6.

Novi Inn's big fifth inning was the key to the victory although the Inn would have run the game even without those five runs.

In that fifth inning, George Hawkins slammed a homer Singles by Tony Olvich, Gary Reinwand, Dave Brandenburg, Stan JBujak and Ed Shoemaker plus a double by Dave Ottawski provided the punch necessary to put the game completely out of reach.

The Inn also scored single runs in three of the four preceding innings and two runs in the third.

Novi Tire could only muster two runs in the first and one in the seventh innings.

In the first inning, Dave Boner and Rey Rodriguez each punched singles and a double by Tom Renner pushed them both in.

The seventh inning run came on singles from Ron Balogh, Ray Murphy and Tom Mowbray.

Novi Inn collected 16 hits compared to 11 for Novi Tire. Leading the Novi Inn cause was Mike Bingham who blasted homers in the first and third innings, leading off.

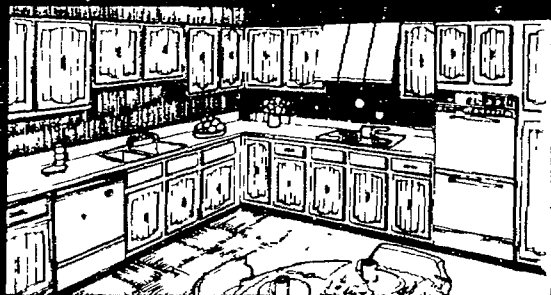

Names Tourney Winners

A small turnout graced the first annual Novi Parks and Recreation Tennis Tournament held August 22-24, but competition in the six divisions proved tough.

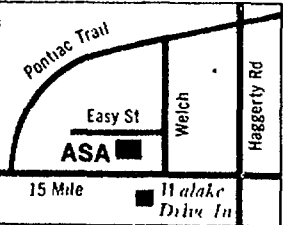

Most competition was evident in the men's singles where 14 entrants battled for top spot. Winner was Dick Norton who bumped Fred Brostoff 7-6, 6-4.

Other winners were: women's singles-Louise Jean over Paula Huot, 6-4, 6-2; men's doubles-Fred Brostoff, Bob Ross over Gil Henderson, Will Chiasson 6-1, 2-6, 6-3; Mixed doubles-Gil Henderson and Karen Litherland; boys 14 and under singles-Jeff Laverly over Jeff Norton, 6-2.

6-1; boys 17 and under doubles-Perr Edsund and Biff McAllistair over Bill Henderson and Paul Henderson.

Area 4-H's Spur Show Horses

Double N. Riders 4-H Club came away with more than its share of honors in the recent Wayne County 4-H Fair at Belleville. The Northville-Novici members were ribbon winners in horse and non-horse projects.

Here's how they did:

• Carol Bellenir, 17, riding her saddlebred, Gidget, received a third in fitting and showing, fifth in driving, a and small red in English pleasure and equitation.

• Gayle Davidson, 13, riding her Morgan, Whittmor Shadette, received a sixth in western horsemanship, small blue in fitting and showing and trail class, small red in pleasure.

• Rick Davidson, 17, riding his grade horse, Pearl, won third in western horsemanship, fifth in fitting and showing, small blue in trail and small red in pleasure. He also showed Pearl's weanling filly foal to a small red in her class.

• Laurie LaFevre, 17, showed her Morgan, Adam, to get a fourth in fitting and showing, and small reds in English pleasure, horsemanship and trail.

• Lisa LaFevre, 13, with her grade horse, Nick, won first in grade horse, third in horsemanship, and small red in pleasure and trail.

• Maria Lupini, 12, riding the pony, Tinker, took a second in pleasure, sixth in equitation, and a small red in fitting and showing.

• Candy McCurdy, 17, showing her 1/2 Arab, Pistol, received a second in equitation, sixth in trail, small blue in fitting and showing, and small red in pleasure.

• Suzanne McCurdy, 13, riding her Morgan, Squire, won a sixth in fitting and showing, and a small red in pleasure and equitation.

• Shelley Millard, 14, and her Morgan, Holly, won first in English pleasure, first in driving, fourth in equitation, and small blue in fitting and showing. Shelley also showed her Morgan weanling filly to a second place in the foal class.

• Chris Stickland, 15, showed her half Arab,

Smoky, to small reds in fitting and showing, English pleasure, equitation and trail.

In other competition, local 4-H's won the following:

• Rick Davidson won first in the archery tournament and then won the county award for archery. He also received blue for candle making, red in photography.

• Maria Lupini had the best of three market rabbits and won the county award. She had the reserve champion doe rabbit, and she also received a blue on her cactus garden.

• Shelley Millard won the high point Morgan horse trophy, and picked up blue with her clothing, macrame and dried flowers with a candle.

• Chris Stickland received blues on her hooked rug and three candles

• Suzanne McCurdy had blues in food, crewel picture and terrarium, and red on her hooked rug.

• Laurie LaFevre took a red in clothing.

• Candy McCurdy won a blue in foods and macrame and picked up a white in clothing.

• Lisa LaFevre took blue in dried flowers and red in hooked rug

• Gayle Davidson won blue in clothing, wood and dried flowers, red with her terrarium and other stickery, and white in candles and food

Exams Remain

Northville School District will retain its present policy of requiring physical examinations before students may try out for team sports.

Superintendent Raymond Spear told the board Monday night that "based on our last discussion, the types of sports which should be excluded from physical examinations are so minimal that I feel we should stick with our present policy."

Board Vice-President Dr. Orlo Robinson said he believes "it is a wise decision."

Several months ago the board directed Spear to draw up a policy exempting students from physical examinations until they are accepted on a team.

Reasoning behind this stemmed from those students who try out for several sports, are required to pay for several physicals and then are not accepted on a team.

Ends 5th

doubled and Donner tripled to push in three runs. John McMillan's single then singled in Donner.

But that was all Blue Water could muster. And as Blue Water's hitting stopped, Riverview's began, adding 10 hits after that point.

Miami tallied seven hits. Diem led the team with a homer and single. Pisha had two doubles and White and Phil McMillan a triple and single each.

When Spear presented the policy to board members in June, they directed him to add a number of sports to the list which would require physical exams before tryouts. At that time, board members found themselves discussing whether or not swimming time trials were more strenuous than tennis, and so forth.

"After compiling the sports added to the list of those which would require physicals under the suggested policy, there were just a few which would be exempted from the examinations," Spear said.

Board members agreed with his decision and took no further action on revision of the policy.

Barr, Brian Schingeeck, and Andy McComas.

Right now Osborne has 63 gridders out on the field for daily practice and of these some 30 are earmarked for the varsity level. The remainder eventually will be slotted for the Jaycee squad under coaches Ron Flutur and Gene Guterrez.

coach — Russ Gardner, who pilots the wrestling team in the winter.

Because of construction at the high school, the football players are temporarily using shower and locker facilities at the middle school. And although workmen are pointing to completion soon, Osborne's not counting on much use of the high school showers this season.

Like Lee Marvin, he's probably building a mean Dirty Dozen.

Rotary Tournament Announces Results

Results have been announced from the annual Rotary Club Tennis Tournament held for past two week-ends at the Northville High School courts.

According to Wes Henrikson, co-ordinator of the tournament, $383 was cleared from the 127 entries in various categories. The funds will go to purchase wind breaks for the 8 Mile Side of the tennis courts.

Winners are: Men's Singles A (advanced), Ian Wilson over Bob Boshoven, 6-3, 6-3; Men's Singles B (intermediate), Bill Hopping over Dutch VanIngen, 6-3, 6-1; Men's Singles C (novice) Jim Belz over Ken Rossetol, 6-3, 6-2; Ladies' Singles, Chris Modrack over Marilyn Hopping, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Other winners were: Ladies' Doubles A, Donna Boshoven and Dorothy Mortenson over Lennis Horst and Uta Filkin, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2; Ladies' Doubles B, Carol Schaal and Chris Modrack over Marilyn Boland and Shirley Horwath, 6-0, 6-4; Men's Doubles A Grant Allen, Bob Boshoven over Ian Wilson and Dan Boland, 7-5, 6-4; Men's Doubles B, Wes Henrikson and John Edwards over Charles Quinn and Jerry Marvin, 7-6 and 6-4; Men's Doubles C Jim Belz and Chuck Fialon over Bill and Steve Firman, 6-2, 6-4.

Also winning were: Mixed Doubles A, Jamie Boshoven and Grant Allen over Dan Boland and Dorothy Mortenson, 6-1, 6-0; Mixed Doubles B, Carol Northrup and Don VanIngen over Emery and Joanne Jacques, 7-5, 6-0; Mixed Doubles C, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Devereaux over Nancy and Ken Rossetol.

Drain Board Scores Northville, Sets New Costs

Chastising Northville for permitting the "encroachment" by developers on the Randolph Drain, the inter-county drain board Tuesday morning jacked up Northville's share of drain improvement costs.

The new tentative apportionments will go to public hearing in the Northville Public Library on October 8 at 10 a.m.

The new percentage shares, as approved this week by the drain board, are:

Northville—68 percent; Novi—29.9 percent; Oakland County—0.800 percent; and Wayne County—1.116 percent. Total estimated cost of the improvement project is pegged at $597,500.

While the new percentages represent an increase for Northville over what previously was recommended (62.24 for Northville, 35.84 for Novi), they are less than what originally was proposed: Northville—70.84; and Novi—26.97.

The new percentages represent what the drain board considers to be a compromise. To arrive at that compromise, the board took Novi's suggested increase of from 26.97 to 35.84 (or 8.87) divided the difference in thirds and then assigned one third of the difference to Novi and two-thirds of the difference to Northville.

Drain board members reached their compromise after hearing Novi's administrative assistant, Ed Kriewall assert that the Novi council is prepared to take the drain board to court should it decide to charge Novi a greater than the 26.97 percent originally proposed.

However, later after being pressed by the drain board, Kriewall modified his position suggesting that a compromise might be acceptable.

Northville officials failed to muster any significant attack on this compromise probably because they were too busy trying to defend the city from the drain board's charges concerning encroachment.

Picking up the City of Novi's argument that Novi ought not to have to pay for Northville's past mistakes, Drain Board Chairman Stanley Quackenbush of Lansing strongly criticized Northville officials for permitting Thompson-Brown to build its condos on the edge of the stream in Lexington Commons and for permitting the development of the Northville Green apartments on the edge of the same stream.

And when Northville Councilman Paul Folno asked why the drain board had not "on its own" reviewed subdivision plans along the drain, Quackenbush bristled: "Are you trying to blame us for what the hell you did? We were not made aware of the subdivision. We don't have spies out here to tell us what you are doing."

Drain Commissioner George Kuhn, former state senator, was especially critical of Thompson-Brown. "They have taken advantage of the law," he asserted, pointing out that while their development along the stream north of Eight Mile Road may be legal it nevertheless is "damn unsafe."

Condo construction, said Kuhn, does not require county drain approval so he intends soon to ask passage of state law to bring such developments under direct control of the drain board. "Let's face it," he said, "no builder or developer will ever come to us voluntarily. They avoid us (drain commission) like the human plague."

Robert Bretz, a Nine Mile Road resident in Novi challenged the drain board's decision to force Novi to pay for part of the underground drain enclosure that will bypass the Green Apartments south of Eight Mile, arguing that it may set a precedent and Novi might later be forced to also pay for "mistakes" of Thompson-Brown north of Eight Mile.

Said Kriewall: "We have seen Northville get away without providing safeguards (south of Eight Mile), and now I understand they are starting to mess up things north of Eight Mile."

In response to a question by Quackenbush as to what protections Northville proposes for undeveloped lands north of Eight Mile, Northville officials promised to present all future subdivision plans to the drain board, whether the law

Students Face Suspension

Northville OK's Policy To End School Smoking

Students caught smoking inside Northville High can expect to be suspended from school according to a new policy adopted Monday night by Northville School Board.

The policy, drawn up by a committee of students, teachers and administrators and reviewed by Superintendent Raymond Spear and Assistant Superintendent Florence Panattoni, establishes disciplinary action to be taken against students caught smoking inside the building.

Those found smoking outside on school grounds will be told to extinguish their cigarettes and no further action will be taken unless directed by the principal.

Middle school students found smoking outside or inside the building face suspensions.

The committee is expected to make a recommendation to Spear by October 15 on use of a detention policy in dealing with students found smoking.

The policy, which received endorsement from the PTO executive board on August 15, calls for up to a three day suspension after the first offense. The second offense calls for a suspension of up to five days and third offense means suspension for up to 15 days.

No students will be sent home because of a suspension without the parent being contacted.

After the first offense, a telephone call will be made to the parents advising them of the suspension with a follow-up letter sent. The second suspension carries a parent conference with the principal while the third offense suspension includes a conference with the superintendent or his designee.

According to enforcement methods of the policy, administrators are to provide adequate supervision, teachers are expected to share in enforcing the policy and reporting violations and students are to alert fellow students about the rules and to report where violations are being committed.

Two hall monitors should also be retained to supervise the policy, students recommended. The policy also suggests students assist in establishing a program to inform middle school and elementary students of the dangers of smoking.

Parents, board of education members and the central office are encouraged to be supportive of the anti-smoking policy, students urged, helping administrators, teachers and students carry out the policy.

Board members voted unanimously to adopt the policy, expressing their appreciation to the committee which drew it up.

Trustee Mrs. Sylvia Gucken asked that the board be given a progress report on the effectiveness of the policy about November.

The policy is an outgrowth of a plea from students for the past several years to designate an area in which students would be allowed to smoke. In the past, students have been smoking in the high school restrooms, making them unseemly because of vandalism and litter.

Short of granting an area for student smoking, the school board directed the committee to establish guidelines for enforcing the no smoking policy.

Wixom, Walled Lake Schools Set Opening

The familiar yellow and black school buses of the Walled Lake school district will begin making their daily neighborhood rounds and transporting Wixom students to school on Tuesday.

All students at all grade levels in the entire district will report to classes on Tuesday, which will mark the opening of the fall semester.

Classes will begin at 8:55 a.m. for students attending Wixom Elementary School and at 8:25 a.m. for those children attending Loon Lake Elementary. Junior high students report at 9 a.m. while Senior high students begin at 7:45 a.m.

Elementary school youngsters are asked to bring their own lunches on the first day of school since the daily lunch program will not go into operation until Wednesday. Milk will be available for purchase on the first day of school. Regular lunches will be served in the junior and senior high schools beginning Tuesday.

Wixom Elementary School has been included in an expanded learning resource program which has operated as a pilot project at Oakley Park Elementary for the past two years. The program allows youngsters who have the intellectual capacity to read, but are not doing so, to receive the help they need without being segregated into special classrooms.

Under the program, each child spends 30 to 45 minutes a day receiving individual or small group instruction in reading with various teaching materials normally chosen for the child's interest in the subject matter. Children who participate in the program do so after thorough testing and with parental consent.

Obituaries

Cass R. Bolton Dies

CASS R. BOLTON

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Cass R. Bolton, a resident of Northville for the past 51 years.

Mr. Bolton died at his home on South Wing Street Friday, August 23, at the age of 79.

Born February 13, 1895, in Plymouth, he was the son of Benjamin and Sarah (Oliver) Bolton. His wife, Alberta B. Bolton, died March 25, 1962.

Mr. Bolton was a retired employee of the Ford Motor Company, a member of the First United Methodist Church of Northville and a charter member of the Northville Senior Citizens Club.

Surviving are a son, Douglas Bolton of Northville, a daughter, Mrs. Laura Hicks of Northville, a sister, Mrs. Zaida Gottschalk of Plymouth, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the Casterline Funeral Home where Reverend Paul Cargo of the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth officiated. Burial was in Plymouth's Riverside Cemetery.

JEAN BOYD HILL

Services were held Wednesday morning for Jean Boyd Hill, a resident of Livonia since 1921, who died Sunday, August 25, in St. Mary hospital at the age of 84.

Mrs. Hill was born November 19, 1889, in Baltimore, Maryland. Her husband, Sherwin A. Hill and a daughter, Mrs. Delphia Lamberson, preceded her in death.

She served as DAR treasurer for the area and was a member of the Country Club of Detroit, Detroit Athletic Club, Woman's City Club, Detroit Club, Meadowbrook Country Club, Birmingham and Bloomfield Garden Club.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Jean Holler of Florida, four grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the Casterline Funeral Home where the Reverend J. Thurston Powell of Bushnell Congregational Church in Detroit officiated. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery in Detroit.

Memorials may be given to the DAR for the planting of pine trees.

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Wright at 7:40 p.m.

1 ROLL CALL
PRESENT: Wright, Straub, MacDonald, Tegge temporarily for Cayley, with Cayley arriving at 7:50 p.m.

ABSENT: Schaeffer, Klein, Mitchell

ALSO PRESENT: Six visitors, the press, Consultant Mosher.

2 APPROVAL OF MINUTES OF JULY 18, 1974 Straub stated that the motion dealing with the adoption of the Fire Ordinance Code on page 3 was incomplete. Motion should read "Carl Lundquist as Bureau Chief, and Chief Nisun as Deputy Chief." MacDonald moved, Wright supported, to approve the minutes as corrected. Ayes All Motion carried.

3 APPROVAL OF BILLS
PAYABLES MacDonald moved, supported by Straub to pay bills as presented. Ayes All Motion carried.

4 APPROVAL OF RECEIPTS FOR JULY, 1974 Treasurer's report for July, 1974, Minutes of Water & Sewer Commission of July 3, 1974, July Financial Report of water & sewer department, minutes of the Fire Ordinance Code on page 3, and June 17, 1974, minutes of the Planning Commission. MacDonald moved, Tegge supported, to approve Ayes All Motion carried.

CORRESPONDENCE
1. Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service - Availability of grants in aid for recreation. Tegge read a letter explaining the grant. A copy was sent to Mr. Prom of the Recreation Department. Straub moved, MacDonald seconded, to receive and file Ayes All Motion carried.

2 City of Romulus - Resolution regarding H.B. 5635 and resolution regarding S.B. 1363 Tegge moved, Straub seconded to support Bill 5635 and to receive and file resolution regarding 1363 Ayes. MacDonald, Straub, Tegge, Wright Resolution No. 7473 adopted.

3 Donald C. Morgan - two letters regarding general ambulance service contract. Copies of letters had been sent to City Manager Walters, as Morgan pointed out deficiencies in insurance endorsement.

Cayley moved, Straub seconded, to take item No. 1 of Recommendations of the Planning Commission out of order. Ayes All Motion carried.

1 Meier, Inc., Landfill permit A deposit for inspection fees had been placed with the Township as required by the Landfill Ordinance. At its meeting of July 30, 1974, the Northville Township Planning Commission recommended a landfill permit be granted to Meier, based on the plan dated July 23, 1974, plus the conditions of the landfill permit. MacDonald moved, supported by Straub, to grant landfill as already outlined, with inspection fees to be a maximum of $200.00 per week in those weeks in which the landfill is in operation for a period of time to end on December 30, 1974. Ayes All Motion carried.

OLD BUSINESS
1 Discussion of submitting site plans to building dept. and police dept. for review and written report to planning commission. Cayley explained that a short time ago, it was decided to submit site plans to the Fire Chief for review

Cayley suggested that perhaps this procedure should also be followed regarding the Police Dept. and Bldg Dept. These Depts. could then submit a report to the Planning Commission. Mosher stated that he did not know of any community in Michigan who does this, that the Planning Commission is already well informed. MacDonald moved, seconded by Cayley, to refer to the Planning Commission for study and recommendation. Ayes All Motion carried.

2 Discussion of Millage for November ballot. Cayley suggested that millage should be placed on the November ballot so that the Board would know what they had to work with when making up the budget next year, and that such millage should be designated for a specific purpose, such as recreation, library, senior citizens, etc. MacDonald stated that he was not informed well enough to make this decision. There is discussion that the school district will assume the recreation program. A new library will be needed shortly. Representatives from the Library Advisory Commission advised the Board that two neighboring communities had some years ago placed money aside for library purposes, and now have almost enough money to build new libraries without incurring large bonding amounts. The Board discussed MacDonald moved, Straub seconded, to table this matter until the Supervisor can call a joint meeting with the City Mayor and Council, the School Board and the Township so that each community can discuss their plans. Ayes All Motion carried.

NEW BUSINESS
1 Final estimate payment for Tri

County Const. Co. in the matter of construction of the Six Mile Rd water extension - Mosher Mosher reported that Tri Co. had satisfactorily completed all work under the contract. MacDonald moved, Straub supported, to approve the final payment of $200.00 Ayes. Straub, Wright, Cayley, MacDonald Resolution No. 7474 adopted.

2 Discussion of adoption of ordinance for control of entertainment licenses. Straub moved, MacDonald seconded, to table Ayes All Motion carried.

3 Proposal for deferred compensation plan for township employees. Straub moved, Cayley seconded, to have a company representative to attend a meeting and explain the program to the Board. Ayes All Motion carried.

4 Request from Chief Nisun to sign contract with Criminal Justice Institute. The Criminal Justice Institute is where new police officers are trained. Cayley moved, MacDonald seconded, to authorize the Supervisor to sign Ayes All Motion carried.

5 Request from Chief Nisun for additional patrolman under Title 17A. MacDonald moved, supported by Straub, to table to next meeting. Ayes All Motion carried.

RECOMMENDATION (from Water & Sewer Comm Meeting of July 3, 1974)
1 Inlandbrook Storm Drain maintenance agreement. It was determined that this item already had been acted upon by the Board. No action necessary.

2 Meadowbrook Country Club sanitary sewer. The Township Engineer advised that this construction had been satisfactorily completed under Township inspection, met all required tests, and that as built plans had been delivered approved. The remainder of the inspection deposit fund, in the amount of $1137.84, should now be refunded. MacDonald moved, Straub seconded, to remit it to the amount to Meadowbrook Country Club. Ayes Wright, Cayley, MacDonald, Straub Resolution No. 7475 adopted.

(From Planning Commission Meeting of July 30, 1974)
2 Rules for Site Plans. The proposed Site Plan Rules describe purpose, application, required materials to accompany application and certain other pertinent information as needed in order to assist the Planning Commission and their Consultants in determining adequacy of site plans. Straub moved, seconded by Cayley, to adopt the Site Plan Rules as presented. Ayes Wright, Cayley, Straub, MacDonald Resolution No. 7476 adopted.

3 Planned Neighborhood development fees. A fee schedule was presented to the Board, as approved by the Planning Commission, and as prepared by the Engineer. The schedule is subject to modification by the Township Board. Cayley moved, Straub seconded, to adopt the fee schedule as presented with the modification of a charge of $100.00 Township administrative fee in the event an applicant submits a substitute plan, and a modification of time limit to read 18 months. Ayes MacDonald, Straub, Wright, Cayley Resolution No. 7477 adopted.

Straub moved, Cayley seconded to adjourn. Ayes All Motion carried at 9:40 p.m.

Sally A. Cayley, Clerk

Northville City Council Minutes

August 13, 1974
Mayor Allen presided at the regular meeting of the Northville City Council to order at 8:00 p.m.

ROLL CALL Present: Allen, Blery, Folino, Nichols, Vernon

MINUTES OF PREVIOUS MEETINGS Minutes of the July 15th meeting and the July 24th Special Meeting were reviewed.

CORRECTION On page 3, 15th paragraph, "Minutes, add," should be "Minutes, add."

MINUTES OF BRDS & COMMISSIONS Historical District Commission Minutes of July 24 were reviewed and placed on file.

COMMUNICATIONS Letter from ALSAC requesting permission to conduct their canister drive in the downtown area Saturday, August 10th. Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Blery to approve ALSAC's request to allow their canister drive Saturday, August 10, subject to notification of the Police Dept. and the City Manager working out the details. Carried unanimously.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIES None.

CENTER STREET City Attorney read the resolution and agreement received from the Wayne County Road Commission regarding Center Street. The Wayne County Road Commission does not want any taps into the Johnson Drain without prior consent of the County.

Mayor Allen recommended the resolution.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Vernon to accept the resolution from Wayne County Road Commission for the City to receive jurisdiction of Center Street from Edward Hines Drive to Baseline Road. Carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman Folino approving the resolution between Wayne County Road Commission and the City of Northville, to be authorized by the Mayor and the Clerk.

Carried unanimously.

PICKUP TRUCK City Manager reviewed his memo to Council recommending the purchase of a 1/2 ton four wheel drive pickup truck from John Mach Ford for $3,317.86, since the other bidder is located in Detroit and the price difference does not justify the expense and inconvenience of receiving warranty service there.

James Martin Chevrolet with trade in 6250 Woodward, Detroit John Mach Ford, with trade in $3,317.86 550 Seven Mile, Northville Council expressed concern that only two bids were received. Mayor Allen pointed out that most dealers have probably not received their 1975 price lists, and this could be a reason for the lack of bids. It was also pointed out that the bid includes trade-in, and this could account for the lack of response.

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Folino that the bid of John Mach Ford for $3,317.86 for the purchase of a 1/2 ton pickup truck be approved inasmuch as the trade in allowance of $175.00 is greater than the trade in allowance on the Chevrolet, and based on the City Manager's recommendation that the savings would be greater than the savings.

Carried unanimously.

POWER WASH Memo from the Assistant Superintendent of DPW, Ted Mages, was reviewed recommending the purchase of the Nu Process power wash for $795.00.

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Nichols to accept the recommendation of Mr. Mages for the purchase of the Nu Process power wash for $795.00.

Carried unanimously.

RESOLUTIONS RE FINANCING OF REPAIRS City Manager presented two resolutions authorizing the financing of the refuse packer and the accounting equipment.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt the resolution for the financing of the refuse packer through Manufacturer's National Bank.

Yess, Allen, Folino, Nichols, Vernon Abstained. Blery Carried.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Vernon to adopt the resolution authorizing the financing of the refuse packer through Manufacturer's National Bank.

Yess, Allen, Folino, Nichols, Vernon Abstained. Blery Carried.

RECREATION COMMISSION LETTER A letter from the secretary of the Recreation Commission was reviewed, in which the Commission gave its recommendations of being placed under the jurisdiction of the School Board.

Councilman Vernon felt the Board is the best qualified to handle the Recreation Commission but would hesitate to place it under their guidance because a bond issue could fail and recreation would be cut. He added the proposed one mill should be passed first before the Board of Education takes over.

Mayor Allen said if the School Board accepts these recommendations, the City, Township and Board of Education will have a joint meeting to work out the details.

TRAFFIC CONTROL ORDERS Three traffic control orders were reviewed that would place stop signs in the N Center St area.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Blery to adopt Traffic Control Order 7415.

Carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Blery to adopt Traffic Control Order 7416.

Carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Blery to adopt Traffic Control Order 7417.

Carried unanimously.

Councilman Vernon suggested a letter be written to the Mayor, who is first drew Council's attention to this area, informing him of the action taken by the Board.

Wayne County Drain Commissioner was received announcing a meeting Thursday, August 8, at 10 a.m. at Northville City Hall to discuss the Randall Drain.

Councilman Vernon suggested that residents bordering the drain area be contacted and told of this meeting.

MISCELLANEOUS Mayor Allen asked the City Manager to look at the area across from Joe Denton Park and possibly try to clean it up.

The Cloverdale Ice Cream Parlor on Center St was discussed as complaints have been received concerning ice on the floor and out on the sidewalk.

Charles Lapham was present and suggested the City call for an inspection by the Health Dept.

Councilman Folino said that possibly a doctor at the State Hospital would be interested in serving as the City Health Officer part time.

Councilman Vernon asked the City Manager to contact the owners and give Council his recommendation as to the licensing procedures for change of owners.

WORK SESSION Mayor Allen scheduled a work session on the Zoning Ordinance for Monday night, August 12. Councilman Vernon will be out of town and not able to attend, but will give the Mayor his comments before hand.

SEALCOATING STREETS City Manager reviewed his memo listing the streets that will be sealed and asked for Council's comments. Councilman Vernon suggested the City Manager and Mr. Harner look at Allen Dr., as it is beginning to break up quite badly.

Councilman Folino mentioned a hump at 8 Mile and Taff heading west that is quite bad.

RECREATION Wes Henrikson, Recreation Commission Secretary, appeared before Council and was told his letter had been discussed and tentatively approved. He said the Board of Education will discuss the recommendations at their meeting Aug. 12.

MOTORCYCLE NOISE Councilman Vernon said he received motorcycle noise complaints last Saturday afternoon and heard it himself. He feels the starting time should be regulated, as 4:00 was too early in the afternoon.

CITY PARKS Councilman Vernon mentioned that Council should seriously consider the areas to be dedicated as city parks before action is taken on the Zoning Ordinance.

HISTORICAL DISTRICT ORD Councilman Vernon said the Historical District Ordinance will be recorded and that an approved copy is needed to file in Lansing. He went on to say that the Historical District Commission passed a resolution which would permit some restorative work to be done on buildings in the district without official consent of the Historical Commission. The resolution was read and the City Attorney approved it but added the Building Inspector should receive a copy.

MICHIGAN WEEK CHAIRMAN Councilman Vernon asked the City Manager to contact Jim Kipker, last year's Michigan Week Chairman, and ask him if he would like to serve next year, thus allowing him more time to plan things.

FARMER'S MARKET Charles Lapham explained to Council the Retail Merchants Association's plans for a Farmer's Market to be held in the parking lot between Northville Drug and Northville Insurance Agency. They will begin with 20 "stalls" and charge approximately $5 each Thursday, possibly between 9:00 and 2:00 would be the time, starting August 22.

Council suggested various other areas to hold markets, specifically on Dunlap, as they are square and not curved and present a problem to cars. There being no further business, Mayor Allen adjourned the meeting at 10:05 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Patricia Rajda

STATE BOUNDARY COMMISSION TO CONDUCT PUBLIC HEARING ON THE PROPOSED ANNEXATION, DOCKET NO. 74-AP-4, OF NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP, OAKLAND AND WAYNE COUNTIES, TO THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE, WAYNE COUNTY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1974. COPIES OF THE MAP AND LEGAL DESCRIPTION OF THE AREA PROPOSED TO BE ANNEXED ARE ON FILE WITH THE CITY AND TOWNSHIP CLERKS. COPIES MAY BE OBTAINED BY WRITING THE BOUNDARY COMMISSION.

7:30 p.m., Northville High School Auditorium, 775 North Center, Northville.

To comply with section 8 of Act 191 of the Public Acts of 1968, as amended, being section 123.1008 of the Compiled Laws of 1970 and section 9(2) of Act 219 of the Public Acts of 1970, being section 117.9(2) of the Compiled Laws of 1970, the State Boundary Commission will hold a public hearing on the proposed annexation of Northville Township, Oakland and Wayne Counties, to the City of Northville, Wayne County, and will receive information and testimony of the following.

1. Population;
2. Population density;
3. Land area;
4. Land uses;
5. Assessed valuation;
6. Topography;
7. Natural boundaries and drainage basins;
8. Past and probable future urban growth, including population increase and business, commercial and industrial development in the area;
9. Comparative data for the annexing municipality, and the remaining portion of the unit from which the area will be detached shall be considered;
10. Need for organized community services;
11. Present cost and adequacy of governmental services in the area to be annexed;
12. The probable future needs for services;
13. Practicability of supplying such services in the area to be annexed;
14. Probable effect of the proposed annexation and of alternative courses of action on the cost and adequacy of services in the area to be annexed and on the remaining portion of the unit from which the area will be detached;
15. Probable increase in taxes in the area to be annexed in relation to the benefits expected to accrue from annexation;
16. Financial ability of the annexing municipality to maintain urban type services in the area;
17. General effect upon the entire community of the proposed action;
18. Relationship of the proposed action to any established city, village, township, county or regional land use plan.

The Boundary Commission will not reach any conclusions or make any determinations until after the September 10, 1974 public hearing. The Commission has several options. They can deny the petition, approve it as submitted or approve with boundary adjustments. Such boundary adjustments could remove land and thereby contract the area to be annexed or add additional lands to those described in the petition thus expanding the area to be annexed.

TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

BY JEANNE CLARKE
624-0173

Thursday evening of this past week Mrs. Hildred Hunt entertained several guests in honor of Mrs. Laney Henderson, former resident of Novi.

Joan Porritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Porritt, former residents of Novi and now of Bradenton, and James Lee Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mason of Union Lake, were married Saturday afternoon, August 24 at the Clarkston United Methodist Church. Reception was held at Maceday Lake Inn, Union Lake. Joan is a recent graduate of Central Michigan University and Jim is a fifth year pharmacy student at Ferris State College. After a brief honeymoon they will be making their home in Big Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Warren of Haggerty Road have returned from an eight-day trip by boat that included visiting Harbor Beach, Port Sanilac, East Tawas, Rogers City, Mackinaw and other ports. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lytle of the Drive Inn Evangelism Program.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin F. Geppert and daughter, Sue, of Meadowbrook Road, accompanied by Mrs. Pat Kozak, returned from a long weekend trip to Traverse City.

Novi Auto Part's Girls baseball team had a picnic this week at the home of Tracy Sobkow in Meadowbrook Glens.

Mr. and Mrs. David White and family attended the "Arkansas Picnic," which is an annual affair for all families living in the area who were originally from Arkansas. There were about 35 who attended the picnic.

held at Six Mile and Waterford Park. Nadine Stone is the chairman.

Kelly Knight of Bellville is spending a week with the William Kurin family of Shainrock Hill as guest of Tina Kurin.

Mrs. Virginia Burnham and children of Fonda Street, accompanied by Mrs. Burnham's mother Mrs. Gretrude Taylor, have returned home from a three-week camping trip. They stayed eight days in New Mexico with Mr. and Mrs. Don Anderson, former residents of Novi, and visited with relatives in Arizona before returning home by way of Colorado.

Jimmie MacDermaid II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim MacDermaid I, celebrated his birthday at a clown party last week. Everyone had to come dressed up as a clown. There were two cakes decorated by Cheryl MacDermaid. Those present were Donnie and Terry Ellis, Deede, Mike and Tony Brewer, Frank Worley, Jack Boshell, Jenny Fuson, Teresa and Ernie Ellsworth, Mary Ann Kidd, Bambi, Mary, Tammy, Patrick MacDermaid, Timmy and Douglas Napier, Bridget, Beebe and Kerry Scannell.

Guests at the Hadley Bachert home on Fonda were Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Putnam, former residents of Novi who now live in Lewiston but were in the area for their granddaughter's wedding. They were accompanied by their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Putnam.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Glance of Stassen Street entertained a group of friends on their second wedding anniversary.

OK Novi Notes

The Municipal Finance Commission has approved $750,000 of Tax Anticipation Notes for the Novi Community School District. Attorney General Frank J. Kelley said proceeds will be used to operate the school district due to a cash shortage.

"Taxes are due and payable December 1, 1974. These notes are dated August 30, 1974, to be due April 30, 1975, and will carry a maximum interest rate of 6 percent per annum," he said.

on Saturday, August 17, and celebrated six birthdays with members of their Eagles club.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Button attended the annual Midwest mobile home show at Southbend, Indiana last week. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Blakesly in Ann Arbor on Sunday. Deedri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brewere, is visiting her grandmother Mrs. Wodeski in South Lyon this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rackov of Fonda Street and Mr. and Mrs. Oville Whittington of Grand River have returned from spending a few days at the Rackov cabin near Marian, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Ward, former residents of Novi, have been visiting friends and relatives in the area have left for Arkansas and will be on their way home to Florida where they now live.

Debbie Erb of East Lake Drive who is a patient at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, room 708, will return home on Friday and will be convalescing in a cast for six weeks.

Mrs. Mary Ann Atkinson had a dinner party on Saturday in honor of Mrs. Berdella Doyle of Ronoake, Virginia. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, Mrs. Lawrence Seiferlein of Marlette, Mrs. Kenneth Atkinson of Detroit, the Reverend and Mrs. Dean Parker and Mrs. Hattie Garlick. Some of those celebrating their birthdays recently were Artie Pritchard, 18, Jim MacDermaid, 19, and Tony Brewere, who celebrated his 13th birthday party and received a dalmatian puppy named "Dotty".

Last Friday Mrs. Hildred Hunt of Eleven Mile had a luncheon for members of her pinocle Club and Mrs. Laney Henderson of Falls Church, Virginia also was present. An annual family celebration of three birthdays was held on Sunday. Birthdays celebrated were Marge Glance, her daughter, Annette Rowell, and granddaughter Nanette Cheek. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson (former Susie MacGillvary) of Plymouth.

North Novi Civic Association The association had its meeting on Tuesday, August 20 and a nominating committee was appointed: Elinor Rabideu at 624-2041 and Pet Stetler at 624-3371. Any member in good standing who would like to help serve on this coming year's slate of officers are asked to contact the two persons.

Novi School Reunion

The committee was very pleased with the turnout for the fifth anniversary reunion of the class of 1969 which was held at Camp Dearborn. There were 27 graduates and their families present and they had a short business meeting presided over by Gary Boyer, who had been the class president in 1969. They also planned to have a reception in honor of class member Pat Erwin who will be returning from South America where she has been working as an agricultural missionary with the Wycliffe Bible Translators in the Auca Indian tribe.

Novi Youth Assistance Thursday, September 5 at 8 pm is date and time of the next Novi Youth Assistance meeting to be held at Holy Cross Episcopal Church. Reports will be heard from the various committees — camping, bike trails, one-to-one, etc. With the expansion of the program, there is a need for additional members to become involved in the fall planning officials stressed. "If you have a little bit of spare time and would like to get involved in a phase of juvenile delinquency, contact Case worker Wally Cook or chairman Father Leslie Harding at 349-2292."

Novi Pin Pointers

The Novi Pin Pointers Bowling League will be starting play on September 11 at 9:30 am at Belair Lanes, Farmington. If you would like to act as a substitute, plan to be there at that time.

Novi Community Band

While most organizations took a summer vacation, the Novi Community Band under the direction of Guy Smith, has continued through the summer with much interest.

This group meets on Monday night from 7-9 with a coffee break. It is for young and old in the community who play an instrument. Especially needed right now is a drummer. The evening includes all types of music to please everyone. If you're interested and would like more information contact Mr. Smith 349-7055.

Novi Senior Citizens

The Novi Senior Citizens met at the Novi Community Building on Tuesday. A delicious lunch was served by hostess Mrs. Virginia Bruce and Mrs. Hazel Mellon. Summer activities were discussed by the membership and a good time was held by all. The president appointed a nominating committee to select a new president for the November meeting. Also tentative plans were made for a potluck luncheon at the United Methodist Church on September 11 at 12 noon.

Novi Blue Star Mothers

The next meeting will be September 5 with a shared luncheon and afternoon meeting at the home of Dolly Alegnani. Special speaker will be Mr. Harold Nordley, chief of volunteer services at the Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor. "If you are the mother of someone in service, this group is for you. It's a good time to learn more of the hospital work," officials stated. $350 was given recently to the hospital to purchase electric razors, robot smokers, and part of it went into the general post fund for emergency use by veterans.

Novi Women's Golf League

First place was taken by Lori Fear, Second place by Marianne Gross, and for third place, the winner of the "sudden death playoff" was Sharon McCord. There also will be a prize awarded for the only birdie of the season to Mary Fear, and the Ringers Tourney be given to Debbie Hensel. The most improved golfer of the season was Sue Schley. All the prizes will be awarded at the Roman Terrace where a luncheon is planned September 7 at 1 pm. Token gifts for each golfer who participated will be presented by the Brooklane Golf Course.

Novi Jaycee Auxiliary

The auxiliary will be having a summer tea at the home of Joan Griffin in Village Oaks on 29th at 1 pm and guests are invited.

Cyclist Dies in Crash

In Wixom

A head-on crash claimed the life of a 19 year-old Livonia motorcyclist at 5:50 a.m. August 20.

Dead at the scene was James Arthur Cannon. According to Wixom police, Cannon was westbound on Grand River and hit an eastbound pick-up truck at 12 Mile Road driven by Thurmel Bostic, 48, of the Wixom area.

The 1974 Ford pick-up was almost totaled in the crash, police said. Speed limit in the area is 50 miles-per-hour.

No charges have been made but the accident is still under investigation, Wixom police said.

Two 15-year-old juveniles have been released to their parents after being detained in the burglary of a house in the 1400 block of North Wixom Road August 19.

According to police, an undetermined amount of silver coins was missing.

The burglary occurred approximately 2:30 p.m. A short while later, an employee of the Oakland County Road Commission noticed two youths coming out of a field about a half mile down the road from the burglary. He gave a description of the boys to police and they were shortly picked up.

Officer Roger DeClercq and his tracking dog Kojak were brought in and Kojak followed a trail to where the boys came out, as well as leading officers to the plastic bag containing the missing silver coins.

The youths were turned over to Oakland County juvenile division and released to their parents.

A repossessed 1970 Michigan four wheel drive loader worth $3500 was stolen from Body-Harrison Equipment Company, 30025 South Wixom Road.

The theft occurred between 1:30 p.m. August 17 and 8 a.m. August 19.

Police said that a 1974 Honda 750 motorcycle was stolen from a home in the 2200 block of Maple North Trail August 19.

According to reports, the motorcycle was taken from a front porch. The cycle was valued at over $2,000.

Another 1974 Honda 750 motorcycle was stolen from the Ford Motor Company parking lot from 5:10 a.m.-3 p.m. August 21.

Equipment worth $100 was taken from a workbench at the rear of a garage in the 2,000 block of Teaneck circle August 22.

In Novi

A seven-year-old girl living in the Country Cousin Trailer Park was abducted and was the victim of an attempted rape by three youths age 10-13 Tuesday, August 19.

According to reports, the girl was playing with her brother in the park approximately 4 p.m. when the three youths threatened the two with physical violence if they did not accompany the youths to the I-275 expressway, where construction is taking place. There the three allegedly unsuccessfully tried to rape the girl with the brother watching.

Manager of the trailer park notified police and the girl's mother filed a complaint.

All three suspects, who also live in the trailer park, were charged with sexual assault and have been petitioned and hearings were scheduled for Monday August 26 in Oakland County Probate Court, Juvenile Division.

Ten roof trusses, delivered to the wrong address, turned up missing the following day when the owner company returned to claim the items.

According to police, the 22 foot trusses had been intended for 23621 West LeBost but were mistakenly delivered August 13 to 23955 West LeBost where a home was being rebuilt because of fire.

When Leonard Clayton, an employee of Michigan Building Company of Livonia attempted to recover the trusses the following day, they were missing.

Police talked with Keith Williams, construction boss of Public Fire Corporation of Southfield, repairing the home at 23955 LeBost, and Williams said he had not seen the items.

Neighbors said a blue van with trusses left the area at 6:15 p.m. August 13.

A $300 canoe being stolen August 17 from a beach at Monticello at East Lake Drive was recovered after the brother of the owner drove by and noticed the canoe being taken.

According to reports, Danny Green called police after seeing the canoe, owned by Carl Green of 217 Monticello being taken.

The canoe was reportedly paddled from the beach to Novi and East Lake Drive where a truck was waiting.

Police stopped the vehicle on Grand River east of Novi Road and placed Donald Campbell, 31, of 23822 Willowbrook Drive under arrest.

He was arraigned before 52nd district court judge Martin Boyle August 19 and released on $1,000 personal bond pending examination.

Approximately $1,000 street value of marijuana growing in the backyard of a Novi home was discovered through investigation by Novi police August 17.

John Steven Kielian of 40135 Buckingham was charged with possession of marijuana and arraignment set for Monday, August 26.

Two guns were reportedly stolen from the trunk of a car August 17.

Sam Bates of Detroit reported that the guns were stolen from 5-7:15 p.m. August 17. He had been at Dukes Bar and East Shore Bar in Novi.

The guns, valued at $200, were identified as being a Smith and Weston .44 Special and a Browning automatic 9 MM.

Bates told police that left in the trunk were .22 caliber bullets and a beer can, which had not been there previously. Police are still investigating.

Approximately $138 cash turned up missing after a Stonehenge resident picked up a hitchhiker at 11:30 p.m. August 14 and then took him home to spend the night.

According to police, the hitchhiker, named Mike, was picked up at 6 Mile and Middlebelt roads and taken to a home in the 23,600 block of Stonehenge, when the driver felt sorry for the hitchhiker.

The resident left for work at 7:15 with the youth still asleep. According to witnesses, Mike left the residence at 2:30 p.m. and the cash was found missing later. The subject was described as 20 years old, six feet, 160 pounds with blond shoulder length hair.

The 7-11 Store at 24111 Meadowbrook was burglarized by six teen-agers from 1-1:10 a.m. August 11.

According to reports, six teen-agers ages 15-18 broke a store window, left, then came back to the store and burglarized it when no one responded to the breaking glass.

Sergeant Dale Gross' dog Banner was brought in but had no luck tracing the youths.

Taken were $60 in quarters, wine and snack cakes. Value of the broken window, as well as a cooler glass which was broken, was set at $400.

A 29-year old woman and her sister were the victims of an indecent exposure August 15 at 11 p.m. in the 300 block of Ludlow.

According to police, the two victims were in their residence and heard the unlocked rear door open. When they went to investigate, a white male outside the house exposed himself.

The subject was described as 5'10" to 6' tall, 16-18 years-old wearing a T-shirt with one inch horizontal red and white stripes, blue jeans and red tennis shoes.

A couch and two chairs of undetermined worth were discovered by a cleaning-woman to be missing from a Raintree Model home.

The items were taken sometime between 8 p.m. Monday, August 19 and 8 a.m. the following day. No determination was made on how the house was entered.

A 10-speed white Ross 27" bicycle valued at $100 was stolen from the front yard of a home in the 23900 block of Pheasant Drive.

The theft occurred from 10:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday, August 18.

Three bedrooms were ransacked and a book of personal checks stolen following a break-in in the 18000 block of Jamestown Circle last week.

Township reports said unknown persons cut a screen and entered the home through a sliding glass door.

Two destruction of property incidents reported to township police involved broken windows.

Approximately $400 worth of damage was done to two plate glass windows about 2:25 a.m. Saturday when a rock was thrown into a home on Woodhill west of Clement Road.

An unknown object was used to shatter a sliding glass door on Savoy Court shortly before 12:30 p.m. last Tuesday.

No one was injured in either of the incidents, police said.

Two 10-speed bicycles, valued at $125 each, were stolen from the garage of a home in the 16000 block of Winchester Road.

The theft took place between 1:30 and 3 p.m. last Wednesday. The bicycles were white and orange Chiorda models with black seats, police said.

Sooner or later the past comes back to haunt you as township police can verify.

Patrolman Philip Presnell noticed a car in the Boron station lot after the business had closed Thursday night. A subject in the car was acting suspiciously, so Presnell decided to investigate.

The car pulled out of the station, drove eastbound on Seven Mile Road, turned around and then drove to National Bank of Detroit office.

Presnell said he turned on his emergency lights to stop the car and noticed the driver threw something from the car.

Closer investigation showed the "something" contained marijuana and the 19-year-

Probably the best-known and most often referred to passage of scripture is Psalm 23. Here are some interesting and accurate implications of that well-loved Psalm.

"The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want" (Psalm 23:1).

I shall not want rest "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures."

I shall not want drink "He leadeth me beside the still waters."

I shall not want forgiveness "He restoreth my soul"

I shall not want guidance "He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His Name's sake."

I shall not want companionship. "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me"

I shall not want comfort. "Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me."

I shall not want food. "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of my enemies"

I shall not want joy. "Thou anointest my head with oil."

I shall not want anything. "My cup runneth over."

I shall always be fully cared for "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life."

I shall not want anything in eternity. "And I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Deadline for Fair's Changed

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Unfortunately, there are times when the best of planning and organizing can run amuck. Amuck is what literally happened to Wixom's Fair Book. The long awaited book was delivered late last week to the many anxious people who volunteered to see to sales.

Since the Wixom Fair Committee runs on a pretty tight budget and the offer to print the book free sounded like the golden lily in the onion patch, the offer was quickly accepted.

To put it bluntly, in the minds of some people, the job was botched and the Wixom Fair committee decided the efforts and hard work put into the Fair warranted a better than botched job.

So it has been decided to reprint the book which means a few more days will pass before the books are on the market. For those of you who have already purchased a book, please turn it in to whomever it was purchased from and it will be replaced. If you have already sent in the entry blank it will be honored and the book replaced.

Entry deadline for the Fair Book has been advanced to September 12.

It is doubtful that the old books will become collector's items like Eggleston buttons but it is hoped the new books will more than make up for the delay. Should there be some curiosity as to what is in the books as far as categories to enter, you can glance through one at City Hall - good reading material as you are waiting in line to pay city taxes which are due this Friday. After that date, there's an interest charge tacked on.

The Friends of the Library will resume their bi-monthly meetings with a general membership meeting at the home of Kathy Wahamaki, 2058 Teanecock Circle, Highgate, at 8 p.m. on Thursday, September 12.

Featured speaker of the evening will be Dorothy Clark, a member of the Farmington Artists Club. She will present a slide program of an African safari taken last summer and the paintings she developed from some of the slides. Included in the safari group was Dorothy's close friend, Doc. Wilson who has just recently retired as curator of the Detroit Zoo.

The evening promises to be most entertaining...Dorothy is a very charming and witty gal. All members and guests are cordially invited to attend the program.

The Friends of the Library are now one year old and dues for the coming year are now payable. Memberships include individual at $2, contributing $5, student $1, senior citizen $1, life $50, organizational $10, businesses $25, and up. Dues may be mailed to the Friends of the Wixom Library, P.O. Box 239, Wixom, or paid at the meeting on September 12.

Carolyn and Fred Morehead and Ellen and Joe Callahan had a genuine bash last Saturday night as they hosted a couples, bridal shower for Sheryl LaChance, daughter of Sylvia and Val Vangieson at the Morehead home on Maple Road.

Although the weather was a bit cool, it did not detract the crowd of over 60 from enjoying the festivities and wishing the young couple happiness. Giant redwood tubs of geraniums and bright Chinese lanterns decorated the outside setting while many of the couples hung their own wedding pictures on decorative netting strung along the house. A buffet supper was served throughout the party that reached into the wee small hours of the morning.

Sheryl will become the bride of Bruce James Orr, Lt. (j.g.) in the Navy and currently stationed in Florida. The young couple both graduated from Central Michigan University.

The sporting extravaganza staged at the little diamond behind City Hall last Sunday had a hearty cheering section and good weather but the Northridge gal's softball team went down to defeat, beaten by a score of 17-3, at the hands of the Wixom wives team. Dave Schwanky's coaching techniques, which included running laps around the field, should be applauded but they couldn't match the abilities of the Wixom team. Some of those perky Wixom daughters who rounded out the team were just too good. They're all talking "more" and we might just find the birth of something coming from this fun match.

It's Coho time again and an entourage from Wixom made its way to Manistee and two days of looking for the big ones on a charter boat in Lake Michigan. Dreamed up by Paul Salo, he was joined by son Neil of Wixom and sons-in-law Bill Mann and Mike Garrells. Also joining the group was Bill's father, Delbert Mann of Minneapolis, Minnesota. As always seems the case, the Coho's decided not to run during the time spent on the boat. It took close to 12 hours but each fisherman came ashore with a catch...one Coho and six lake trout weighing in at eight to ten pounds each. They were requires such review or not, prior to approving any development.

Northville Mayor A. M. Allen, who reasserted his contention that if it wasn't for Novi development Northville wouldn't need drain enlargements, argued that "Novi has been the stumbling block" in getting the drain project rolling. Development of the Thompson-Brown property he charged, occurred during the five-year period Novi has been sitting on the drain matter.

Kuhn warned Kriewall, against any court action, suggesting the evidence is on the drain board's side. And, he added, neither he nor the other members of the board will permit any more delay. "I'm not here to play games for 10 years," he declared.

Dean Lenheiser, a Novi property owner along Taft and a former Novi councilman, urged the board to order the start of the project. He said property owners, like himself, have been placed in a position of not knowing what is to become of their property because of delay. "Are we just going to talk for another five years?" he asked. "It's got to be done eventually anyway."

Dennis Roux, Northville property owner, concurred with Lenheiser, taking the position that any financial gains either community might win in continuing the apportionment battle will be exceeded by rising construction costs. He suggested the drain board stick with the proposed 62-27 split.

All of the construction is to take place inside the City of Northville. It is to involve enclosure of the drain around the west and south side of Northville Green Apartments, cleaning of the stream bed along Randolph, obtaining of flood plain easements, construction of intersection culverts, and installation of an underground drain from west of Center Street to a point where it empties into the stream near Ford Field at Hutton Street.

Culverts, stream bed, and underground enclosures are to be oversized, engineers have stated, to take care of increasing storm water runoff resulting with future development in Novi.

old Detroit youth was arrested on a charge of possession of marijuana, a misdemeanor.

A routine check of his driver's license showed he had eight current license suspensions, dating back to July 14, 1973, for failing to appear in Detroit traffic court on equipment violations.

In addition, Detroit held four warrants for his arrest on moving traffic violations.

The youth pled guilty to the marijuana charge and posted bond to appear in Detroit on the other charges, Presnell added.

Daniel Szyak has been sentenced to two to 10 years for fraud, obtaining money under false pretenses.

Szyak, who lives in Sumpter township, was arrested last December by Northville township police who said he collected about $3,000 from township residents as deposits on landscaping orders without delivering any of the goods or performing any of the services promised.

The sentence was handed down in Wayne County Circuit Court after he was found guilty of the charge, township police report. He is to serve the time in Jackson State Prison.

Township police said they received complaints from about 20 persons in the Northville Commons and Colony subdivisions on Szyak's operation.

'home on Rouge Street last week.

According to police, the theft took place late Thursday or early Friday morning. The money was stored in a green bottle with a brown wooden bottom, reports said.

Two 10-speed boy's bicycles, one valued at more than $300, were stolen from driveways on Eaton and Thayer Wednesday evening.

A white Peugeot model with a red air pump, was taken from the 300 block of Eaton between 5:30 and 5:50 p.m. Value of the bicycle was placed at $308.

A blue Ross model, valued at $104, was stolen from a driveway in the 700 block of Thayer between 6 and 7 p.m., police said.

A 10-speed Schwinn was stolen from the garage of a home on Bristol Court sometime between Friday afternoon and Sunday morning.

According to city police reports, the brown 26-inch bicycle has white handlebars.

A 21-year-old Westland man was arrested for being drunk shortly before 4 p.m. Sunday.

Police received a report of an accident at Randolph and Center at the entrance to Kroger parking lot. When police arrived on the scene they found two persons in the car with the passenger allegedly drunk.

Investigating officers said the driver of the car told them the vehicle stopped and that there had been no accident. No witnesses could be found or evidence showing there had been an accident.

A city-owned Bronco was stolen from South Main Street late Saturday night.

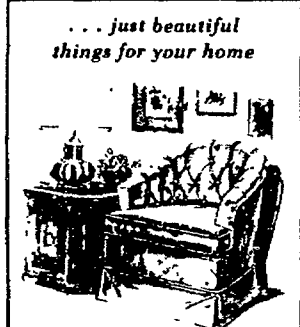

According to reports, the car was found on Schoolcraft and Levan by Livonia police the next morning with the clutch burned out.

Police are investigating a break-in which took place between 5:30 and 10 p.m. Saturday in the 400 block of Grace Street.

Missing from the home is a collection of Hummel figurines and cash.
