

Commission Approves Annexation

For the second time in two years the Michigan Boundary Commission has voted unanimously for annexation of the Township of Northville to the City of Northville.

Creation of the single city automatically becomes effective on December 31 unless citizens petition within 30 days from now to bring the matter to a vote of the people.

Meeting last week in the Round Table Club in Plymouth, the commission took just a half hour to review the case and vote 5-0 to—

- support unification of the two communities.
- approve wording of the document substantiating the decision.

— issue the official annexation order.

— reopen the hearing briefly to amend the deadline for filing petitions to bring the question to a vote.

The latter provides that petitions for an election may be circulated and submitted to the Boundary Commission between 12:01 a.m. on November 1 and 5 p.m. on December 2.

To bring the matter to a vote in the township, petitions must contain signatures of 25 percent of the registered voters. Similarly, if the city is to vote on the matter, 25 percent of the registered voters of the city must sign petitions.

Based on current registration figures, petitions in the city would require 815 signatures, while petitions in the township would require 1,295.

In February of 1973, following the Boundary Commission's first vote in favor of annexation, the annexation question was put to a vote in both the city and the township. At that time signatures of some 2,300

Republicans Sweep Posts In Township Board Race

Two Residents Receive Honor

Cited for Community Service

LESLIE LEE

Two Northville residents have been named recipients of the Claude N. Ely Memorial Fund Award.

Leslie Lee was recently cited by the Northville School Board for his "outstanding leadership and for appreciation in establishing a place for music in the curriculum of Northville Public Schools," while Mrs. Harry Wagenschutz was honored for "her work on elections, the library system and for community endeavors" by Northville City Council.

In making the award to Lee, School Board President

Martin Rinehart said his work has had "a lasting effect on the community."

A former band and choir director for 34 years in Northville, Lee taught in public schools a total of 36 years before retiring in 1966.

Rinehart explained that the Ely Memorial Fund Award is "available to recognize citizens of the school district who have given outstanding and meritorious service to the district and community."

Both Lee and Mrs. Wagenschutz have received

A full slate of Republican candidates were elected to office in Northville township as 63 percent of the registered voters went to the polls Tuesday.

Meanwhile, although no local issues faced City of Northville voters, 57 percent of the electors turned out at the polls despite a chilly drizzle.

Although Republican Governor William Milliken garnered the most votes of any candidate from both city and township electors, ticket splitting was evident as voters also cast most of their ballots for Democratic Secretary of State Richard Austin and Democratic Attorney General Frank Kelley.

Township voters returned Incumbents Supervisor Lawrence Wright and Treasurer Joseph Straub to office, the only candidates seeking re-election.

Elected clerk was Betty Lennox while Charles Rosenberg and James Nowka captured the two trustee posts.

Republicans led Democratic opponents in all township precincts except in the trustee race where Hugh Sutherland and Donald Marengere tallied 50 and 51 votes, respectively, to Rosenberg and Nowka's 45 and 41 votes in Precinct Six.

Motorized Downs Racing Would End

Proposed Laws Restrict Cycles

Motorcycles are running into roadblocks on two fronts in the City of Northville.

By separate actions of the city council, ordinances were proposed Monday that would ban motorcycle racing at Northville Downs and restrict use of motorized vehicles, including motorcycles, on public and private property.

Public hearing on both proposals have been set for November 18.

The latter ordinance would restrict the use of snowmobiles, minibikes, go-karts, motordriven cycles on publicly and privately owned property.

Operation of these vehicles would be permitted on private property only when special permission is first secured. At no time, however, may these vehicles be operated on any private or public property, except highways and streets, between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m.

These vehicles may be operated on public property, excluding highways and streets, where paths or trails are designated for such use. None may operate within 100 feet of private property.

Vehicles may operate on public highways and streets only where lawfully permitted and licensed to do so. Snowmobiles, for example, are permitted to operate only on certain designated streets and under conditions specified by the city.

Violators are subject to fine of up to $500 and not more than 90 days in jail. The proposed law also provides for impoundment of vehicles of violators.

The proposal drew unanimous (five members) support, but on the proposed ban of motorcycle racing at the Downs Councilman David Biery cast a dissenting vote.

Although no specific mention is made of the Downs in the proposed ordinance, it is no secret that council

Rotary Sets City Salute

City employees and elected and appointed officials and their spouses will be saluted at a dinner hosted by the Northville Rotary Club Tuesday night.

An estimated 150 persons are expected to attend, including Rotarians and their wives, said Program Chairman C.A. Smith. Co-chairman is Paul Vernon.

"No long winded speeches are planned—just good food and fellowship and a chance for Rotarians to recognize the men and women who share important roles in the operation of the city," said Smith.

The dinner will get underway at 6:30 p.m. in the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Review Committee Tours County Child Center Today

The nine-member committee determining the future use of the Wayne County Child Development Center will tour the facilities at 9:30 a.m. today.

Northville Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright, a member of the committee, said the group will visit some of the service buildings, one dormitory and the present township offices which served as a dormitory before being renovated for office use.

Following the tour, the committee will meet in township hall for its second session.

The committee is reviewing 10 proposals submitted for use of the now vacated site in Northville township on Sheldon Road near Five Mile. A total of 35 buildings are contained on 40 acres of the 640-acre site.

Proposals being reviewed include:

- Schoolcraft College and Wayne State University which propose to conduct a joint educational program providing comprehensive post-secondary instructional and instructionally related services;

- Jefferson-Chalmers Citizens District Council and Project Redirection of Detroit which ask to establish a new neighborhood that is an open community of people living on the site, farming the land, using community facilities, establishing businesses, learning and teaching, as well as an apprentice program for unemployed and

For Tivoli Fair Booth

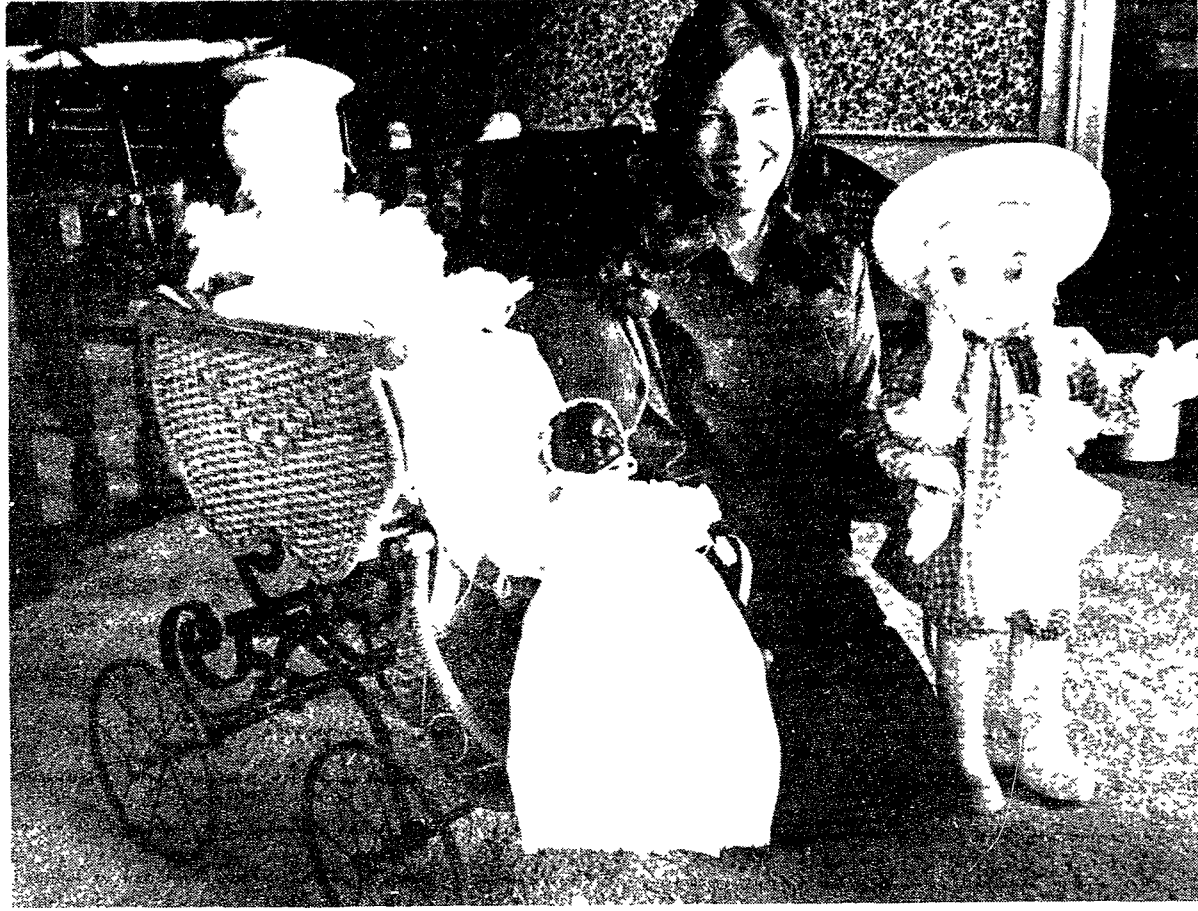

Dollmaker Sews in Gingham

"Which one's the doll?" That was the apt question posed by The Record photographer as he snapped dollmaker Shirley Smith with a quartet of the original handmade dolls she will be selling at the third annual Tivoli Fair sponsored by Northville Historical Society November 22-23 at Northville First Presbyterian Church. "I don't do familiar ones like Raggedy Ann," warned Mrs. Smith who does look young enough to play with dolls. She brought out "Silly Suzy", "Lolly-Pop" and "Emmy".

Mostly garbed in old-fashioned gingham checks that give Mrs. Smith's collection its name, "Gingham Gallery", the dolls are beautifully made. Many have hand-sewn faces, and all their clothes are completely finished and have snaps and buttons to permit little owners to dress and undress them. Mrs. Smith's largest rag doll, "Emmy", is almost the size of a two-year-old child. The pattern is adapted from one she inherited through her mother from her grandmother in Missouri. She's named for Mrs. Smith's mother.

"Emmy" usually wears matching check panties with her baby's size two dress. Mrs. Smith embroiders her wide eyes and snub nose, complete with freckles.

The "Silly Suzys" are bed dolls, popular with teenagers as well as little girls, Mrs. Smith mentioned. These will be priced at $7.50. "Lolly-

FAIR DOLLMAKER — Mrs. Shirley Smith displays some of the handmade dolls, including "Emmy" at the right from her grandmother's pattern, that she creates in her home at 649 Reed Court. She will be selling her Gingham Gallery collection at the Northville Historical Society's Tivoli Fair November 22-23 at Northville Presbyterian Church.

Pops", who take their name from the rouge circles on their cheeks, range in price from $14.50 to $18 — and take about 12 hours to make.

"You have to make them because you want to," the dollmaker observed, and pointed out that she could sew at home and keep an eye on her three-year-old son.

She and her husband, Vince, also have another son, 7, and a daughter, 6.

"I've been making dolls since before I was married, but I've only been making them to sell for a year and a half," Mrs. Smith explained.

Her collection includes a black baby, a schoolboy, a fisherman and a two-faced doll whose head has a sleepy face on one side and a wide-awake one on the other. This is $5.50.

The dollmaker explained her reasonable prices by saying she loved to make the dolls and had to have "marketable" prices to sell them.

A few of the dolls have china heads and hands which have to be ordered. Material for the white or gingham dresses and the eyelet trims are "bought by the bolt," as Mrs. Smith's business has been growing since she started displaying her dolls at the sidewalk sale and in a downtown shop.

Shirley Smith also makes gingham patchwork pillows. These and antique baby and doll furniture — bought with her profits — are backdrops for the doll collection.

Mrs. Smith also has been buying antique dolls to add to the collection she displays in a case in the dining room of her home at 649 Reed Court. This has been growing since the family moved here two years ago last July.

Until the historical society's Tivoli Fair is over, however, the dollmaker will not have time to seek out antiques — she'll be busy turning out enough "Silly Suzys" and "Lolly-Pops" to stock the Gingham Gallery booth.

The doll booth is one of 15 booths reserved at the Tivoli Fair by Northville residents and groups. There also will be booths of 44 out-of-town artisans and craftsmen.

Items to be sold range from handmade pewter candlesticks by John Groat of Plymouth to stoneware pottery and sterling jewelry

Other items to be sold include oil paintings, handwoven pillows, stuffed animals, silkscreen prints, shadow boxes, macrame wallhangings, dried arrangements, fern stands, puppets and cone wreaths.

Other local residents who will have booths of their creative works include:

Miss Elizabeth Etz, hand painted china.

Miss Nelda Hosler, doll house miniatures.

Mrs. George Kohs, pine cone arrangements and items from pine cones and natural materials.

Lewis Moon, wooden toys, trains, cars, rocking horses, doll houses, and Raggedy Ann and Andy.

Mrs. J. H. Campbell, wreaths, including a St. Francis wreath for the garden; painted sweater buttons, tennis racket covers.

Mary Beth Baxter and Mary Ann DeMattia, Christmas items and ornaments; tavern signs; lap desks.

Marie Bonamici, handmade sterling and gold-filled earrings; rings, necklaces and bracelets with antique and ethnic beads.

Robert Fritz, nature photography.

G. C. Macri, pewter items made by hand, including coasters, spoons, salt cellars.

Traditional Handcrafts, 571 Randolph, spinning and weaving demonstration; handwoven pillows, hangings, books on subject.

Business and Professional Women, knitting, etc.

Northville Handweavers' Guild, traditional and contemporary handwoven articles, pillows, stoles, placemats, wall hangings.

Lois Winters, Northville Presbyterian Church, demonstration of quilting; sale of lap robes, crib quilts, pinafores, knitted and crocheted items.

Northville Historical Society will have a country store stocked with long and short aprons, patchwork pillows and other handmades made by members in work bees during the past months.

Homemade jams, jellies and baked goods also will be stocked in this country store.

Admission fee to the fair will be 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for children who are not accompanied by adults; if accompanied, there will be no charge. Members of Northville Historical Society will be admitted without charge if they show their membership cards.

Everyone attending will receive a chance to win a handmade afghan being donated by Mrs. E. M. Starkweather.

The fair will open at 10 a.m. both Friday and Saturday, November 22-23, and will run until 9 p.m. the first day and until 5 p.m. the second.

Travelers Report On World Conditions

By JEAN DAY

FIRST-HAND TRAVEL information is available locally as Northville residents roam the world.

In addition to reporting that inflation is global, travelers are noting events and attractions as far away as Australia and Europe.

AN AUSTRALIAN art exhibit by the "Grandma Moses of the land down under" was one of the reasons for Mrs. Robert Shafer's trip to Australia in October.

The Australian artist Roma Higgins, now in her 60's, was having her first one-woman show in Melbourne. She is the cousin of Dorothea Shafer's traveling companion from Plymouth, and they were on hand for the exhibit opening.

After a stop in Hawaii enroute they spent the month in Melbourne and Perga, the artist's home 40 miles from Brisbane, and also visited New Zealand, which Mrs. Shafer compares with the terrain of Scotland and England.

A highlight was a trip to the Great Barrier Reef, which Mrs. Shafer recalls, is "like a brilliant garden under water." She adds that it was sprig in Australia with tulips in bloom.

TEN busy-every-minute days were just spent in Sydney and Melbourne, Australia, by the William Miron, who combined his Bendix business with pleasure.

A highlight was a visit to Sydney's new $17 million opera house where the Miron saw a performance of "Don Giovanni." Paid for with lottery earnings, the structure, Mrs. Miron reports, is designed "like full-blown ship sails." It wasn't open when the Miron were on their first trip to Australia last year; so they were anticipating seeing it completed.

They also visited a sanctuary to view Koala bears and kangaroos.

Ballarat, the Australian town where gold was first panned, also was on their itinerary. "It's really a country town," Mrs. Miron mentions as she recalls the trip.

Here in Michigan the Miron are busy with their own restoration project. They are researching and restoring authentically a one-room log cabin on property they own near Lexington.

"We've had the cottage for 44 years," she explains, "and the log cabin has always been there...it was going to fall on our heads if we didn't do something."

As closely as they can determine, the cabin was built-sometime before 1840. It is being restored as a one-room structure with a sleeping loft.

"The only concession to present-day living," Mrs. Miron notes, "is a corner taken for a bathroom." The Miron plan to use the cabin as a guest cottage. They will see the progress the two young men they hired to work on it have made when they go to Lexington for Thanksgiving.

WHILE INFLATION reports come back with travelers from all parts of the world, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Hines say that it's still possible to have "a glorious time" in Europe reasonably.

Taking advantage of librarian Mernie Hines' vacation time on the year-round school track, they visited Italy and spent a few days also in Paris and London.

"It was quite different from most tours," they explain, telling of flying to Milan and then taking the train to Florence where they found a "pensione" within walking distance of town (and three flights up) for about $10 a night.

They found similar lodging in such cities as Siena, Urbino and San Guilianno, a medieval Italian city that still retains 14 towers.

In addition to finding such arrangements economical, Phelps and Mernie Hines add they met very interesting fellow travelers, including a British rector from Oxford, a woman doctor from Liverpool and some students.

During their stop in London they saw Diana Rigg in the new stage production of "Pygmalion." They point out that London theater still is a bargain with seats available for as little as $3.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lineman decided to introduce their first grader, Stacy, and their fifth grader, Brady, to Europe when they found they would be visiting England, Switzerland, France, Sweden, Italy and Germany on business.

While the youngsters are missing classes at Moraine Elementary, they are gaining a different education visiting schools in Europe. "They decided they would go to school wherever we stopped," their mother explained before the family left last month. They are due back November 17.

A TASTE-AND-TEST sampling of Christmas breads is planned by the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association for its meeting at 12:30 p.m. Monday at First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. James vanBuren, Greens Mart chairman, has asked some members to bring samples of their holiday bread baking together with the recipes. Unusual varieties will include lemon, carrot, apricot, zucchini and cranberry breads.

These later will be baked in quantity for the Greens Mart to be held Thursday, December 5, at the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Leonard Klein is chairman of the bake sale at the mart. Since sale proceeds fund the branch scholarships, she is planning to have lots to sell.

Last Friday's Holly Mart bazaar at Northville United Methodist Church proved that home baked goods go fast. By the end of the first two hours of the event two tables with baked goods made by the churchwomen were empty. By noon only a couple of jars of jelly remained.)

Also at Monday's meeting of the garden branch Mrs. J. Clayton Lafferty will explain how to care for cactus plants. A guide for "Tender Loving Care for Indoor Plants" prepared by Mrs. John Begle will be distributed.

Mrs. C. James Martin is hostess. Chairman for the day with Mrs. James Northrup; Mrs. H.J. Frogner, Mrs. William Switzer and Mrs. Stuart Campbell assisting.

Makes Breakfast Special

Coffeecake Starts Day

Coffeecake can make any breakfast a special one. Here's a recipe that gets a quick start with biscuit mix. Try it for on a holiday morning — or for an early bridge session.

COCONUT-CHOCOLATE SWIRL COFFEECAKE
2-3 c. flaked coconut
1 Tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
1 Tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
2 squares semi-sweet chocolate
2 Tbsp. milk
2 c. biscuit mix
¾ c. milk
¼ c. sugar
1 egg
2 Tbsp. salad oil
Combine coconut, butter 1 Tbsp. sugar and cinnamon and set aside. Melt chocolate with 2 Tbsp. milk in sauce pan over low heat, stirring constantly. Cool. Meanwhile, combine biscuit mix, milk, sugar, egg and salad oil. Beat vigorously about 30 seconds.

Add half the dough to melted chocolate. Blend well. Alternately spoon chocolate mixture and remaining dough into greased 8-inch square pan. Cut through batter with spatula or knife in zigzag pattern to marble. Evenly sprinkle reserved coconut mixture over batter. Bake at 400 degrees for about 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool and cut into squares. Makes about 9 servings.

Another easy-serve snack for bridge gatherings is this nutty fruit ribbon sandwich.

NUTTY FRUIT SANDWICH
½ c. peanut butter
¼ c. cream cheese
¼ c. junior apricots or peaches
2 Tbsp. milk
¼ tsp. cinnamon
8 slices bread
softened butter or margarine

Combine first five ingredients, mixing lightly to blend. Spread bread with softened butter. Put filling on four slices and top with remaining bread. Stack and slice vertically, trimming bread slices of crusts. This filling is good for lunch box sandwiches also. It may be kept for several days, covered with wrap, in the refrigerator.

Now Florida Retirees

Woodworths Mark Year

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Woodworth, former Northville residents who were active in the community before retiring to the South, will mark their 50th wedding anniversary November 15 in Florida.

Northville friends and relatives are planning to send cards to help celebrate the milestone and invite others who wish to join them. The Woodworth address is 308 Inlet Way, Palm Beach Shores, Riviera Beach, Florida.

The Woodworths were married in the First Methodist Church of Northville by the Reverend William Richards. Mrs. Woodworth is the former Frances Nirider.

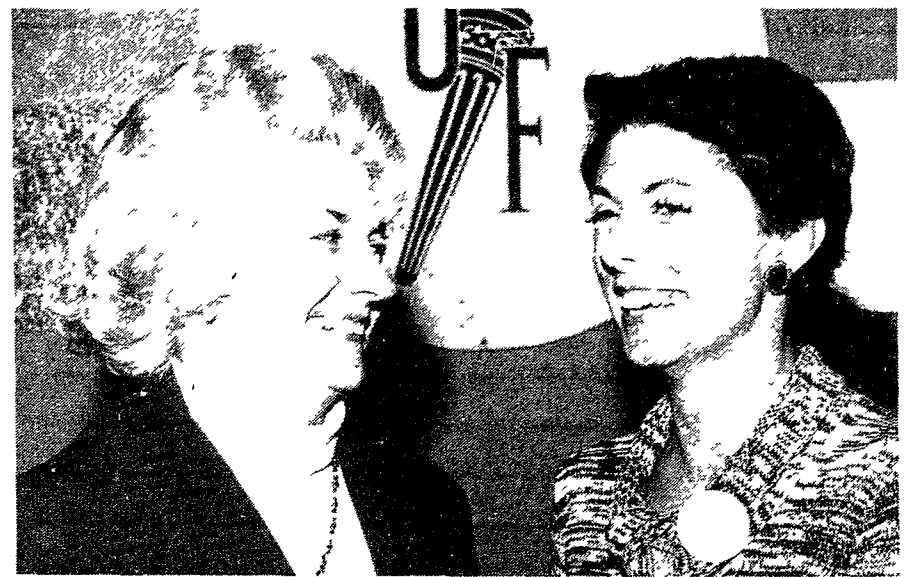

Her mother, Mrs. Fred Kidman, still is a Northville resident. His mother, Mrs. Frank Woodworth, now lives in Gaylord.

He served on the village commission here and was a member of the Optimist Club. He was manager of the D & C Store for many years and then was a supervisor for the firm. He also was a partner in a manufacturing firm with George Zerbel and the late Robert Shafer.

Mrs. Woodworth is a life member of Northville Woman's Club. She was active in the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and the Methodist Church.

His hobbies have been boating and fishing while Mrs. Woodworth has enjoyed handwork.

They will be celebrating the anniversary at home.

Society to Hear Historical Trivia

"Historical Trivia" taken from the files of The Northville Record and reaching back 104 years will be the subject of the November meeting of Northville Historical Society at 8 p.m. next Thursday, November 14, at the old library building in the mill Race Village.

The talk will be presented by Jack Hoffman, assistant to the publisher, the Sliger newspapers, and a past president of the Northville

Historical Society who long has had a personal interest in Northville's early history.

His presentation includes amusing incidents and projects of the community noted in early editions of the paper.

The meeting is open to anyone interested in Northville's history.

Theatre Guild Production Features Area Players

Three Northville residents are among those in featured roles in the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "U.T.B.U.", being given at 8 p.m. today, Friday and Saturday at the Plymouth Central Junior High School on Main Street.

"U.T.B.U." stands for "Unhealthy to be Unpleasant", the name of an organization which dedicates itself to ridding the world of people who are not as nice as they should be.

Annie Nichols of Northville is among the stage characters working for "U.T.B.U." while Jody Folino is cast as the eight-year-old child performer forced by her stage mother, Clementine Cyburt, to try out for the part of an altar boy in J. Francis' new production.

Neil Nichols, an Oliver award winner at Northville High School is cast as boy friend to J. Francis' niece Anastasia.

Tom Hinks and Effie Kuisel of Plymouth are in starring roles taken by Tony Randall and Thelma Ritter in the 1966 Broadway production

Tickets are available at the door at $2.50 for adults and $2 for students or may be obtained by calling Mrs. Nichols at 349-2315.

NOVEMBER 11, next Monday, is the traditional Veterans' Day and will be marked by area banks and the Northville and Novi libraries, which will be closed. City and township offices and post offices will be open. Novi city offices will be closed, however.

CHRISTMAS stamps in two designs now are on sale at Northville, Novi and Wixom post offices. The 10-cent denominations depict a winter Currier and Ives scene and a madonna painting. The pre-canceled, adhesive Christmas stamps are not being tested in this area, the postmasters report.

ANNUAL Veterans' Day pancake breakfast will be given by the Lloyd H. Green Post 147, American Legion, beginning at 6 a.m. Monday at the legion home, 100 West Dunlap Street. Postmaster John Steimel again will serve as chairman, for, he estimates, about the 12th year.

CONTRACT of Schoolcraft College President C. Nelson Grote has been extended to June 30, 1977 and his base salary was increased from $35,000 to $37,200.

A BUILDING CODE, which carried by a 2-1 vote two weeks ago (and hence did not pass because of charter requirement), was unanimously adopted (5-0) by the Northville City Council on Monday with the elimination of two subsections. The manager was directed to investigate the ramifications of amending the ordinance as it provides for fire walls between multiple units and for the governing body to decide disputed cases.

'THE FANTASTICKS' continues its four-night run through Saturday at Northville High School. Curtain rises at 8 each evening for the musical comedy and ticket information may be obtained by calling 349-3400 and asking for the high school office.

CLARENCE HARSCH has been appointed to the Northville Housing Commission by the city council to fill the vacancy resulting from the recent death of Dr. Wilbur Johnston.

NORTHVILLE city officials are checking with state officials to see if Northville can prohibit through truck traffic on Center Street without jeopardizing the city's gas tax rebates. Restricting heavy truck traffic by weight requirements, officials have concluded, would be too difficult to enforce so they are suggesting the "no through truck traffic" alternative to combat what they say is becoming a serious road damaging-traffic congestion problem.

PERMISSION has been granted the Girl Scouts by the Northville City Council to conduct their traditional Christmas caroling program in the city hall park, and the Junior Football Association has been given permission to sell Christmas trees from the park. The park is located at Wing and Cady streets, behind the city hall.

Millage Defeated, Cooper, Fessler, Schnelz, Coy Win

Commissioner

A lighter than expected turnout of voters soundly defeated a "declining millage" proposition in Novi Tuesday.

With a 64-percent turnout at the polls, Novi electors turned thumbs down on the strong mayor concept while giving the green light for creating a charter commission.

Meanwhile, in locally significant Oakland County races Republican Richard Fessler posted a victory over Novi's William Brinker to capture the 24th State Representative seat of retiring Clifford Smart. Incumbent Lew Coy defeated Democratic challenger William O'Brien of Novi to retain his 24th Oakland County commissioner post.

Gene Schnelz of Walled Lake posted a victory over Thomas Connolly to win a new district court seat, and Democratic State Senator Daniel Cooper defeated Lee Coppock.

The Novi millage proposition was defeated 1,975 to 1,479.

A breakdown of precincts on the most important of the local question showed decisive no vote totals in precincts one, two and four.

Totals were: Precinct one — 205 yes-380 no; Precinct two — 164-278; Precinct three — 223-277; Precinct four — 77-297; Precinct five — 211-203; Precinct six — 236-211; Precinct seven — 322-206; and absentee ballots — 41-123.

The proposal's defeat prompted this comment of Novi Mayor Robert Daley: "This can only be interpreted as a voter mandate that the city services be brought in line with a reduced budget. This will require the city council to immediately undertake its adjustments in the budget that the rejection of Proposal 1 mandates."

In other local questions, voters approved revising the Novi city charter 1,873 to 1,126. An advisory question asking if voters would like a change to a strong mayor form of government was narrowly rejected, 1,666 to 1,577.

All nine persons running for charter commission were elected with the following totals: Mabel Ash, 1445; Carol Smith 1,218; Barbara Shoemaker — 1,217; Winifred Dobek — 1,200; James J. Cooper — 1,170; Mack Porter — 1,164; A. Russell Button — 1,132; Homer Starr — 1,054; Thomas McConaghie — 1,132.

A total of 3,917 of Novi's 6,066 registered voters or 64 percent cast ballots. In Wixom 1,055 votes were cast or 69 percent of the 1,520 registered voters.

Voters appeared to feel free to cross party lines in both cities. Republican Incumbent Governor William Milliken garnered 3,093 votes to Democrat Sander Levin's 1,663.

Democrat Richard Austin piled up 3,114 votes to 1,485 for Republican challenger N. Lorraine Beebe for secretary of state, which Democrat Frank J. Kelley grabbed a large margin over GOP Myron H. Wahls, 3,025-1,492, in the race for attorney general.

Republican Incumbent for representative in Congress, 19th District William S. Broomfield locally defeated Democrat George F. Montgomery 2,674-1,705, and won elsewhere to retain his seat.

Senator Cooper won locally on the strength of the Wixom ballot. "The Novi" challenger Coppock grabbed a slim 1,624-1,599 lead. But Cooper took Wixom 465-545.

Brinker was a slim loser to Republican Fessler in the race for state representative 11,697 to 12,806. Brinker had 2,110 locally to Fessler's 2,282.

In the race for county executive, Democrat Eugene Kuthy conceded to Republican Daniel T. Murphy at 4:55 a.m. Wednesday, a late vote total was Murphy 130,845 and Kuthy 126,393.

Locally Murphy won with 2,285 to Kuthy's 1,838.

In the race for county commissioner, incumbent Republican Lew Coy of Wixom won overall 5,935 to challenger William O'Brien's 4,612. In Novi and Wixom, Coy won 2,306 to O'Brien's 1,994.

Wixom's City Attorney, Gene Schnelz posted a 19,000 to 16,000 victory over Tom Connolly in the race for 52nd District Court first division. In Wixom and Novi Schnelz was also the winner at 1,727 to 1,143.

Council Eyes New Policy On Sewer Taps in Novi

Novi city council is currently considering a resolution which would, in effect, allow the city to oversell tap capacity into the Wayne County sewer.

The council took no action Monday as the meeting was postponed until November 13 because of the upcoming Tuesday general election and the following Monday's Veteran's Day.

However, Acting City Manager Ed Kriewall told the Novi News the resolution would allow the city to sell sewer tap capacity to an evergrowing waiting list of potential users.

"We should start selling sewer capacity to get growth moving," said Kriewall. "Theoretically the sewer taps are sold out. Physically we're only using one-third of the total capacity."

He explained that the system has a total tap capacity of 5,200, which includes 2,200 taps available because of a holding tank on Nine Mile Road between Meadowbrook and Novi Roads which could be used to reach the real physical capacity of the system," said Kriewall.

At that time, the city could either ask Wayne County to provide more capacity into the system, or the city could build a treatment plant.

"Our engineers say we have three years to go before we would have to decide to build a treatment plant," added Kriewall. "It would only take us two years to build it after that."

"All this says is the city should go ahead and release physical capacity into the sewer."

The resolution would allow sewer taps issued in connection with building permits to be cancelled and money refunded if the building permit should become invalid because of suspension or abandonment of work.

The Novi tributary to the Wayne system, which includes basically the area south of the I-96 expressway, currently is contributing only one and one-third cubic feet of sewage per second while Wayne County permits the city to use up to four cubic feet per second.

Kriewall foresees no immediate problem if the increased tap capacity is sold.

"Theoretically, we're overselling, but at the rate of 500 additional taps per year, it will take us five years to release sewer during non-peak hours into the system.

"On paper we're oversold," he said. "People will buy sewer coupons so that when they sell the land, they can get a higher price—but those taps may not be used."

The problem is that previously Wayne County had given Novi the sewer taps upon request, but recently indicated it would give Novi no more real capacity until the city proves what it has is being used.

Charge Driver In Wixom Fatal

A warrant has been issued by Wixom police in the accident which took the life of a Walled Lake girl October 8.

Wixom police told the Novi News Tuesday that a warrant has been issued against George G. Van Hazebrouck, 31, of Milford for involuntary manslaughter.

Van Hazebrouck was driving a car which was traveling north on North Wixom Road and struck broadside a car with two occupants which had been turning onto Wixom Road from Maple Road. Maple Road is a stop street.

Killed in the crash was Lou Faye Johnson, 20, of 2051 South Commerce Road in Walled Lake. Also in the car was Claude Strong, 17, of 51325 Pontiac Trail in Wixom.

The accident has been the subject of a month long investigation by the Wixom police department—with assistance from the University of Michigan Highway Safety Research Institute and the state police.

No determination has yet been made on who was driving the Johnson-Strong car, Sergeant Larry Beamish said.

Wixom police would release no further information on the manslaughter charge for fear of jeopardizing the case, Beamish said.

Novi Considers MESC Plans

A decision must soon be made by Novi council as to which way the city will go in providing unemployment compensation for city employees.

The city must make a decision before the state Employment Security Act Number 104 becomes effective January 1, 1975. That act provides for compensation for those persons whose employment is terminated for reasons which do not bar unemployment compensation.

A letter from City Controller Francis Loyne to the council explained the three methods available for the city to comply with the act.

She recommended that the city go with an alternative to pay the state contributions only for money paid out by the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) as unemployment benefits to employees laid off.

This would be a maximum of 26 weeks at $106 per week for each employee laid off, plus 50 per cent of the benefits paid during an additional maximum 13 weeks extended benefit period.

"I feel this alternative, in the long run, will be the most advantageous and least costly to the City of Novi," the letter said.

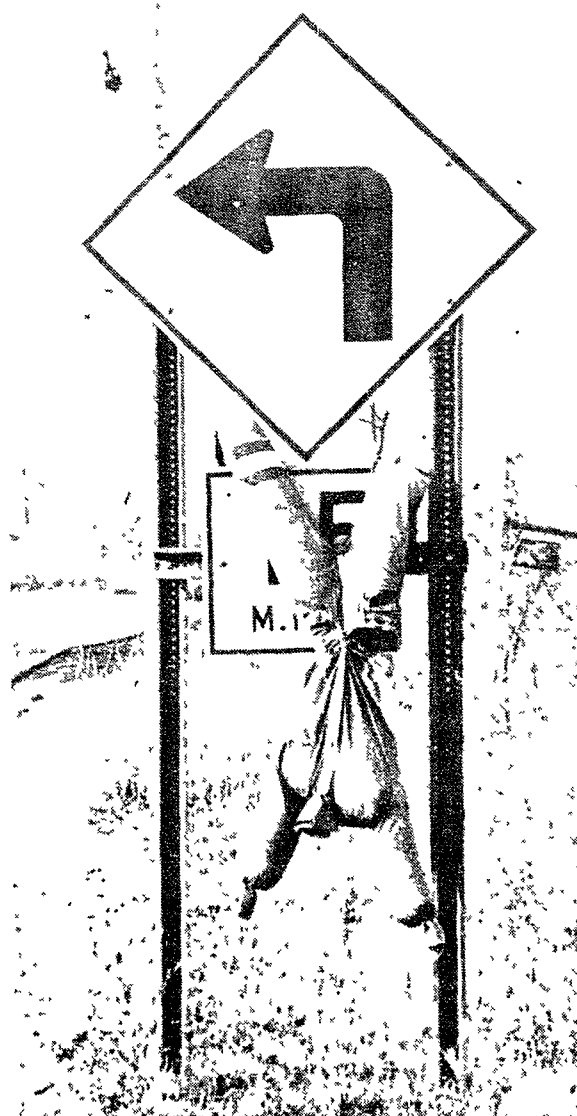

However, the city has two other alternatives. Least advantageous, according to Mrs. Loyne, is a plan in which the city would establish, by ordinance, its own unemployment compensation system.

Mrs. Loyne cited the high cost of attorney's fees to draw up the ordinance, as well as costs because of administrative fees and the publication of notices and public hearings for the ordinance.

"The city would have to make regular and sufficient contributions to a trust fund guaranteeing the money would be available in case of layoffs," explained Mrs. Loyne's letter. "In addition there would be administrative time and cost."

"Also, we would be required

Spotlight Jazz At Town Hall

William Albright, assistant professor of composition at University of Michigan, comes to Northville Town Hall at 11 a.m. next Thursday, November 14, widely known as an interpreter of classic ragtime and early jazz.

He will be appearing in the Madonna College auditorium, 36600 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, as the second of the four 1974-75 Town Hall programs.

The recipient of a Fulbright Fellowship in 1968, Albright has concertized widely in Europe, Canada and the United States, specializing in concerts of new music for organ and piano.

He has performed the jazz and ragtime of such early composers as Scott Joplin long before their works enjoyed the present revival of interest. His own work includes the rag, "Brass Knuckles", which appears on the Nonesuch album "Heliotrope Bouquet".

As a composer he has produced works for almost every medium, several of which involve electronic, visual and theatrical elements.

He also is associate director of the electronic music studio at University of Michigan.

A question-and-answer session will follow the celebrity luncheon at Farmington Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Richard Kelly, town hall chairman, announces that some tickets still are available for this season's town hall. Additional ticket information is available from Mrs. Donald DiComo, 349-7727.

Luncheon reservations should be made with Mrs. Richard Booms, 349-0170.

News Around Northville

Northville Spring Chapter of China Painters will meet at 10 a.m. today at the Plymouth Credit Union for a workshop session on painting of "corn" for a first firing.

Members are asked to bring a sack lunch and remain for a business meeting after.

A party for 90 residents of the Northville Residential Training Center was given Saturday by 25 members of the General Motors Girls Club. The club supplied refreshments and planned games.

A donation of a time-clock was made to the center by the club.

Relationships between condominium developers and co-owners will be the topic of the November meeting of the Western Oakland Area Branch of the United Condominium Owners of Michigan at 8 p.m. Monday at Country Place Condominium clubhouse on Eight Mile Road west of Meadowbrook.

Speaker will be Fred Davis of Pebblecreek Condominiums. Representatives and co-owners are invited to attend.

Raymond Spear, Northville superintendent of schools, will be guest speaker at a meeting of Northville Senior Citizens Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the city council chambers.

Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi will have a purse demonstration at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. November 14 at the home of Mrs. S. Robert Knight, Farmington. It will be presented by Jan Meyers, sales representative for Daren's Bags.

Any Alpha Omicron Pi interested in the chapter may call Mrs. Lee Wollgast, 40992 Ivywood, Plymouth.

Carole Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Terry, 43625 Nine Mile Road, Northville, was among the summer term graduates at Western Michigan University.

She received her degree in occupational therapy magna cum laude in ceremonies at the university August 23, and now is on the staff of St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

Miss Terry is a Northville High School graduate.

Twenty-nine Kalamazoo College students, including one from Northville, were cited for excellence in specific academic fields at the College's annual Honors Day Convocation held Friday, October 25, in Stetson Chapel.

The local student is John A. Regenhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Regenhart of 44428 Cottisford Road.

Featured speaker for the event was Dr. David A. Evans, associate professor of biology at the College. Evans, who joined the faculty in 1966, is a graduate of Carleton College and holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Wisconsin.

Announce Births

Mr. and Mrs. George Weiss of 925 Grace Street, Northville, became grandparents twice in October.

Their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Weiss, of Howell, became parents of their first child, Jeremy Ryan, October 25. He weighed eight pounds, three ounces at birth. Mrs. Weiss is the former Sandra Bennett.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bennett of Howell.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thomson of Richmond Center, Wisconsin, became parents of a second daughter, Suzanne Marie, October 12. Mrs. Thomson is the former Barbara Weiss.

The baby weighed seven pounds, three ounces at birth and joined her sister, Carrie Lynn, 3, at home.

Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Clara Thomson of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Yackley of Redford Township announce the birth of their first child, Mark Paul, September 30 at Botsford Hospital. He weighed seven pounds, four ounces at birth.

Mrs. Yackley is the former Debbie Auten of Novi.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Auten, Jr., of Novi and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Yackley of Farmington.

The baby also has three sets of great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Smith of Farmington, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Yackley of Farmington and Mr. and Mrs. Orlette Lynch of Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maine Line, 718 North Center Street, Northville, announce the birth of their daughter, Cristina Ann, October 4, at Sinai Hospital, Detroit. She weighed eight pounds five ounces at birth.

Cristina has an 11-month-old brother, Darrick Maine. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Maine Lie of Williamsburg, Michigan, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell P. Galloway of Detroit. Paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Meta Schroder of Northville. Maternal great-grandmothers are Mrs. Gotilda Stan of Detroit and Mrs. Mary Galloway of Naples, Florida.

FASHION PLANNERS — Mrs. Ann Mason, right, of Northville, one of the planners of a benefit fashion show to give scholarship aid to Wayne State University textile students, checks arrangements with, left, Mrs. Louise Hoge and Mrs. Mary Tomala. The show of Leiter fabrics and Vogue patterns will be given three times, 9:30 a.m. and 1 and 7:30 p.m. November 20 in Garden City.

Residents Will Model

Show To Benefit WSU

Mrs. Ann Mason and Mrs. Mary Armstrong of Northville will be models in "Fashion 'N' Fabric", a benefit fashion show to give scholarship aid to textile students at Wayne State University.

Mrs. Mason, a Leiter designer fabric representative, is one of the planners of the showing to be presented at 9:30 a.m., 1 and 7:30 p.m., November 20, at the K. of C. Hall, 30759 Ford Road in Garden City.

In addition to the style showings, she announces, there will be two special guests from New York, Jennifer Butler, fashion promotion stylist for Vogue Pattern Company, and Barbara Lolley, fashion consultant for Leiter's Fabrics.

Several Paris originals purchased by Vogue will be displayed and their construction discussed. Ms. Lolley will narrate the fashion show and give tips on pattern alterations.

After the show, Mrs. Mason says, there will be an opportunity for those attending to observe demonstrations on working with knits and the sometimes troublesome bound buttonhole. There will be a door prize drawing. Tickets are $3.

Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Mason, 349-5406.

Cancer Test Available

Appointments still are available for Thermography tests to help in early detection of breast cancer being sponsored by the Novi Welcome Wagon from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday, November 19, at the Novi United Methodist Church.

While 80 women have signed up for the tests administered by Thermascon, Incorporated, there still are appointments available at most times, sponsors say, as six can be taken every 15 minutes.

It is pointed out, however, that this test does not eliminate need for annual check-ups with a woman's own physician. The charge for the test is $20. Women wishing morning appointments are asked to call 477-3089; for afternoon ones, 349-9398.

For Township

Appoint Interim Clerk

Mrs. Margaret Tegge has been appointed interim clerk of Northville township.

The appointment, made last Thursday morning at a special meeting of the township board, is effective through noon on November 20 when newly elected officials are sworn in.

Mrs. Tegge fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Clerk Sally Cayley who has moved from the township. Mrs. Cayley said she will remain as a township employee until next week.

Mrs. Cayley, who is completing her first two-year term as township clerk, declined to seek re-election. She moved to Howell recently where she and her husband have purchased a home. Her resignation became effective at 12:01 a.m. last Thursday.

Mrs. Tegge is the township employee with the most service, having worked for the township for 18 years. She formerly served as deputy clerk before being appointed to the vacancy.

'Midsummer' Local Antique Dealers Opens Run Exhibit at Franklin Fair at College

The Schoolcraft College Theater Department's production of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream will have six performances beginning November 15.

It is scheduled for the Liberal Arts Theater on November 15, 16, 17 and 22, 23, 24. The Friday and Saturday performances are at 8 p.m. and Sunday performances are at 7.

This popular comedy has entertained audiences throughout the years with such involvements as: the wedding of Theseus (Duke of Athens) and Hippolyta (Queen of the Amazons); two pairs of young lovers, Lysander and Hermia and Demetrius and Helena, who join the royal couple in the marriage ceremonies; Oberon's (King of the Fairies) and the prankish Puck's weaving of spells and enchantments around the mortals, and the hilarious performance of "the most lamentable comedy, and most cruel death of Pyramus and Thisbe" by a group of Athenian craftsmen.

Tickets are on sale at the Campus Bookstore and will be available at the door for all performances. General admission is two dollars and student tickets are one dollar.

Four area antique dealers are among the 23 Michigan dealers showing their wares at Poor Richard's Antique Fair 3 being held today, Friday and Saturday at Franklin Community Church.

All proceeds from the fair, which includes a bake sale to which at least half the entire community donates, will be used for restoration of the Daniel Braughton House, last known as the Hunter's Whip restaurant.

It has been designated as Franklin's project to commemorate the bicentennial. Franklin Historical Society, fair sponsor, states it hopes the house, when restored, will be the village office and police headquarters.

Holiday crafts will highlight the Tuesday night meeting of the Friends of the Novi Library.

Open to the public without charge, the meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the Novi Public Library on Novi Road near Grand River.

Demonstrating making crafts will be Gail Nastwold. She will show work in copper enamel, stained glass, cloth flowers, paper tote and holiday decorations.

Novi residents are encouraged to attend the meeting.

In Congressional Record

Laud Historical Society

Laudatory remarks concerning the Northville Historical Society have been published in the United States Congressional Record.

The remarks were made by Congressman Marvin Esch on Thursday, October 3:

Mr. ESCH. MR. Speaker, at a time when a great deal of our national attention is directed toward our country's bicentennial, I wish to make note of one example of patriotic industry that can be found in the Second District of Michigan. The people of Northville, with much effort and enthusiasm, have begun work on a project to coincide with the Nation's Bicentennial called the Mill Race Historical Village. Under the auspices of the Northville Historical Society and its president, James B. Harris, the people of Northville have raised funds from various sources in order to preserve several architectural structures illustrative of the town as it was in the years 1840 through 1890. In some cases, it has meant acquiring authentic buildings still standing, moving them to a 7.5-acre site close to the present center of Northville, and restoring them. In other cases, consideration is still in progress on structures that will be appropriate. Finally, plans have been formulated to construct buildings that cannot be acquired by other means. In the end, Mill Race Village will consist of eight structures representative of Victorian-era Northville, including a library, general store, blacksmith shop, school, and several residences. All the buildings will be refurbished and stocked with accouterments which typify the era.

However, it is not the intention that these buildings merely stand as curiosities, however fascinating as such they might be. The society plans that these buildings be used, become not only a symbol of the past, but very much a part of the Northville of today. For instance, the school will be available to elementary school teachers for educational activities, and the old library building will serve as a community meeting house and museum.

It appears to me that in the Mill Race Village, the community of Northville and its historical society have captured the very best of the spirit of the Nation's Bicentennial: by utilizing a proud heritage, they are helping to create a better community for today. I am proud to have the privilege of representing the city of Northville, Mich., whose citizens are working to build a living memorial to our Nation's anniversary.

Voters Abolish 2-County City Under New Law

A landmark election held Tuesday in St. Clair and Macomb counties has special significance in Northville where the city is split between two counties.

Voters in St. Clair and Macomb approved a proposal which places the entire City of New Baltimore in Macomb. Until now New Baltimore, like Northville, has been part of two counties.

Tuesday's election, first of its kind ever held in Michigan, was made possible with the passage of a new law last June that permits cities lying in two counties to seek single county identity.

Last week the Michigan Boundary Commission, meeting to consider Northville's annexation petition, suggested Northville might wish to consider a similar single-county proposal.

According to State Senator Milton Zaagman of Grand Rapids, who along with Senator John Bowman of Roseville introduced the bill that was enacted into law June 20, Northville is one of eight Michigan cities (now seven with the change at New Baltimore) that lie in two counties.

Additionally, 10 villages in the state are located in two counties.

The cities are: Holland (Allegan and Ottawa counties); Brown City (Lapeer and Sanilac); Lansing (Ingham, Eaton and Clinton); Memphis (St. Clair and Macomb); Midland (Bay and Midland); Milan (Monroe and Washtenaw); New Baltimore (now part of one county); and Northville (Oakland and Wayne).

The villages are: Casnovia (Kent and Muskegon); Cement City (Lenawee and Jackson); Grosse Pointe Shores (Wayne and Macomb); Hesperia (Newaygo and Oceana); Fruitport (Muskegon and Ottawa); Hubbardston (Clinton and Ionia); Lennon (Shiawassee and Genesee); Mackinaw City (Cheboygan and Emmet); Otter Lake (Lapeer and Genesee); and Union City (Branch and Calhoun).

Called Public Act 160, this enabling legislation, according to Senator Bowman, was initially proposed to take care of the New Baltimore case but was written in such a way as to enable any two-county community to petition for an election on the question.

Northville, he said, was considered as one of those communities which might benefit from single county identity.

At the time he co-sponsored the legislation, Senator Bowman was representing New Baltimore. With redistricting, however, this city was scratched from his district.

"It was a long, hard struggle to resolve the problem," explained New Baltimore's clerk, Teresa Orzykowski. She said other legislation and methods of giving New Baltimore single-county status were considered and abandoned over the years.

"I remember talking with your clerk, Mrs. Milne (the late Martha Milne) about the problems you run into when you are part of two counties."

"Here one of the chief complaints has been the difference in millage in the two sections of the city. Another major problem has been county services. We are 30 miles from Port Huron, which is the county seat of St. Clair, and we are 10 miles from Mt. Clemens, which is the county seat of Macomb."

"Elections... completely different slates of candidates... are hard to administer, and for the people they are awfully confusing. Another problem is the court system... you go to one court if you live one place and to another if you live in the other."

Several years ago, according to Mrs. Orzykowski, an advisory vote in New Baltimore clearly indicated that the residents of the city preferred single-county status.

Mrs. Orzykowski emphasized that New Baltimore's petition for single county status "was not a negative question. The question considered was the same in both counties: shall the boundary line of Macomb County be adjusted to include the entire city of New Baltimore."

Approximately one-quarter of the 5,000 residents of New Baltimore live in the St. Clair County portion of the city.

By city council resolution, New Baltimore requested the two counties to place the proposal on their ballot and they (counties) "had to be responsive to our request. It didn't require approval of the county boards. It did, though, mean that voters of both counties had to approve the question," the clerk said.

According to spokesman for the Macomb County clerk's office, another two-county community in that area very likely will now petition for single county status. He referred to Memphis.

Sam Hadous, former Lofy (Plymouth) manager, takes over restaurant

Hadous Heads Drawbridge

Live entertainment is planned for Northville's Drawbridge Restaurant by Sam Hadous, who took over this week as manager.

Hadous, who headed Lofy's in Plymouth and then opened Detroit's Michigan Palace after Lofy's burned, said he expects to provide supper club entertainment at the Drawbridge right away.

Hopefully, he said, this could be by Christmas.

"The main thing is to give people what they want," Hadous added. He indicated that he "hopes to do something pleasant" with the Great Hall, the area where lunch now is served in the restaurant, with the entertainment to be in this room.

While Leopold K. Schaeli, who has been managing the Drawbridge, still was on hand Tuesday Hadous said he would be leaving.

No other staff changes are planned, he said. John Vanderwouwe, the Dutch executive chef, is staying on, Hadous stated. In response to a question about the restaurant's continental menu, he said that his plans were "to add to the picture of what is already here," rather than take away anything.

Hadous said he intends to move to the area — "I feel I'm home" — as he likes it. He and his family have been living in New York since the Michigan Palace closed. Hadous said he has not been working since the closing.

Hadous, who is Lebanese, stated he has been in the restaurant business most of his life and spent more than three years at the Michigan Palace and Lofy's where he brought in such "name" entertainers as singer Edie Adams.

Paul Fregolle, Southfield attorney who was principal owner of the Drawbridge when it opened in April, 1973, was out of town Tuesday and not available for comment on ownership plans.

Hadous said Fregolle still is owner but that he does expect to have an investment in the operation in the future. Fregolle has been president of the Starboard Tack chain of restaurants and is a mobile park developer.

The Drawbridge, located at the southwest corner of Dunlap and Center streets, formerly was the Northville Methodist Church. When the denomination's new church was built on Eight Mile Road, the building was de-sanctified and sold.

Originally built in 1885, the structure was of English architecture. The restaurant preserved the hand-carved interior woodwork and stained glass windows as a castle or fortress atmosphere was created.

Hadous talked for the first time with staff members Tuesday; they officially learned of the change then but had been aware of rumors previously. Hadous also greeted friends, some of whom were surprised to find him there.

Surveying the medieval decor, he said he found it pleasing and has no plans to change it or the Drawbridge name.

Approves Annexation

registered township voters were secured in less than two weeks—considerably more than necessary to place the question on the ballot in both the city and township.

Only a handful of persons attended the public meeting last week. They included two Record reporters, Joseph Fiorilli of the Township Boosters Club, Township Trustee John MacDonald and his law associate, Harry Lapham, City Manager Steven Walters and Northville Police Captain Louis Westfall.

In opening the meeting, Chairman D.R. Calhoun pointed out that in his opinion nothing had happened since the last time the commission acted on annexation to persuade him to change his mind.

"My feeling is that there hasn't been any change in circumstance to allow us to change our (positive) position," said Calhoun, who noted that the only new member of the commission who did not vote when annexation was last considered was Alton Shirley. Shirley said he viewed the annexation petition favorably since, like Commissioner Bill Moshier, he liked the idea of total annexation.

Commissioner Irving Rozian said new testimony given at the latest public hearing tends to support annexation.

For example, he pointed out that residents in the vicinity of Tanger Elementary School (Plymouth School District) two years ago did not "fully realize the implications of annexation. Some believed wrongly that annexation would mean disconnection from the Plymouth School District or they would be removed from the Plymouth postal system."

Furthermore, some of the residents in the Tanger area opposed the annexation proposal because they saw an opportunity of becoming part of Plymouth, which at that time was involved in a consolidation movement.

Consolidation, however, subsequently was defeated.

Rozian also pointed out that Northville Township two years ago appeared to be sufficiently solvent — financially — to be considering establishment and/or expansion of its own facilities and services. Since then a budget squeeze has forced the township to shelve these proposals indefinitely.

Court Action Is Recommended

Decision was to be made late this week by the Northville Boosters Club on what steps it will take to contest last week's action of the Michigan Boundary Commission.

Mark Lysinger, a spokesman for the club which opposes annexation, told The Record late Tuesday that the club's lawyer, Emery Jacques, has recommended court action in lieu of immediately petitioning for a referendum.

Specifically, Jacques has recommended that the club file a petition for review and obtain a stay of proceedings, Lysinger said. The attorney's advice is to be considered by the entire club prior to any decision, he added.

Tips on Real Estate
by Bruce Roy

Rarely does one buy a house for the heating system it contains. After all, who sees it except you? Even though it may not be on display, every hour it runs costs you money, especially today when all fuels have become excessively expensive. If the unit is over ten years old and burns oil, make sure it has a modern oil gun with the new design head. If it burns gas, make sure the burner is properly sized. If it is a hot air system, the blower must have sufficient capacity to reach all rooms, and be sure the filter is clean. Have the thermostat recalibrated. Above all, be sure that all windows are tight and that insulation is complete.

Community Would Benefit by Accepting Dec. 31 Annexation

Northville Faces Historic Decision

Last week the five-member Michigan Boundary Commission met in open hearing and decided unanimously that the petition to annex Northville township to the city should be granted.

Petitions bearing the signatures of more than 1,000 city and township residents were submitted last March to set the legal machinery into motion necessary to bring the city and township together under a single government.

This is the second-time-around for Northville on the question of annexation. It has been the subject of four independent, well-publicized studies.

The first such study was jointly financed by the city and township. A large committee of local citizens was involved under the guidance of a professional consultant.

Later studies were undertaken by the League of Women Voters, the Citizens Research Council and the University of Michigan's Institute of Public Policy Studies.

In short, barring recent newcomers, there shouldn't be any excuse for residents of either the city or township of Northville not being well informed on annexation.

Countless meetings, public forums and articles have been provided for both pro and con positions on the question.

Conditions were not the same in 1972. A strong educational campaign was necessary and the question needed to be brought to a vote of the public.

I strongly supported the petitioning by citizens as provided by law to call for an election and I signed such a petition.

At the outset of the campaign, prior to the May, 1972 election the odds against annexation were extremely high, particularly in the township where taxpayers were being asked to vote themselves a modest tax increase.

But in the weeks leading up to the election a strong educational campaign sparked by the efforts of a broad citizens' committee sharply reduced the odds to the point that the outcome was truly a "toss-up".

Some 1,200 city voters supported annexation by nearly 4 to 1. In the township nearly 3,000 votes were cast and annexation lost by a scant 146 votes.

In retrospect it's a remarkable tribute to the community of Northville that such a complex and status-quo-upsetting issue could come so close to acceptance upon its initial introduction.

While the annexation campaign may have opened some wounds, it opened far more minds to local issues and got more people involved in their community than any other

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

single question in the history of Northville.

I have long favored the removal of the artificial governmental boundaries that divide the city and township. I honestly believe the opportunities for Northville to develop a community totally unique to the metropolitan area are exceptional.

The basic facilities exist in the city: central shopping; an old-fashioned "downtown" that Livonia-like cities lack; a city hall, jail, fire station, DPW garage and police and public works departments.

In addition, contained in the city is a bonus source of revenue from pari-mutuel betting at Northville Downs that lays like whipped cream on the cake.

For the most part the promise (and responsibility) of growth exists in the township. Chiefly, this growth will be residential in nature accompanied by some commercial and less industrial.

People need services, the kind that basically exist in the city and may be expanded more economically than duplicated.

Reasonably, it follows that these two Siamese twins should recognize that when one sneezes the other catches a cold.

The potential that annexation offers on December 31 through the unification of the city and township challenges the imagination.

The opportunity to unite totally as one may not present itself again. Splinter annexation would destroy the plan's formula for success.

Therefore, I urge city and township residents alike to soberly weigh the present circumstances in the light of the history of this community—past and present. For your action now will determine the pattern of development in Northville for decades to come.

Some 1,000 local citizens have followed the legal avenues provided by the state to bring unincorporated townships and neighboring cities with common interests together.

It is no "land-grabbing" action. It is the method set forth by law and it has been duly considered by a body of unbiased men with both city and township backgrounds appointed to rule on the feasibility and desirability of such proposals.

And the latest independent study confirms the workability of unification and projects a tax rate of 5.1 mills to provide the same level of services now existing in the city to the total unified community.

That's a 3.1 mill hike in the township, where voters were recently asked for three additional mills just to expand the public safety department. This did not include capital expenditures, public works, garbage pick-up, etc., which provides some measure of the economies unification affords.

With these facts in mind, and in contrast to the circumstances two years ago, I would hope that citizens of the city and township of Northville would accept annexation on December 31 and get on with the business of working together for the future.

First, I think it is imperative that the existing city council tenders its resignation so that an election involving all citizens of the total community may be conducted as soon as legally possible.

This new council, representative of all the people, could then make the important decisions necessary to determine the composition of the new government.

Northville would have stronger leadership and would be able to make more efficient use of its governmental services. And the new council would have the authority to determine in public hearing the tax level in response to citizen demands.

In my opinion city government is far more responsive, available and sensitive to the public than hand-tied township government.

And those who oppose annexation on the basis of fear tactics ("high taxes", "big city government") do so either out of ignorance or in a deliberate attempt to scare the taxpayer.

A new city council in Northville would probably include more ex-township citizens than city simply on the basis of total votes. But in any event, the city manager is responsible to carry out the wishes of the council members, who are the representatives of the people. By law their meetings, budget hearings, ordinance actions and zoning determinations are held in public.

Therefore, I would urge all citizens who have studied the question of annexation and favor its adoption NOT to sign a petition for an election. This refusal to sign is your vote "FOR" annexation.

Citizens who oppose annexation, or who do not believe that they can make up their mind one way or another before the December 2 deadline for election petitions, should sign election petitions.

I will not sign an election petition because I favor unification for our community as soon as possible.

I oppose the continued efforts to expand the township police department and to waste tax dollars by creating a duplication of what exists in the city merely to satisfy the ambitions of anti-city forces.

For those who have taken the time to study the question and favor annexation, another election represents a waste of tax dollars. And the delay and uncertainty between December and an election that must be at least 60 days away leaves both city and township governments in limbo insofar as future planning is concerned.

I hope this time, which in my opinion will be the last time the total township area will seek to have itself annexed to the city, will be the time Northville pulls itself together and takes advantage of the golden opportunity unique alone to this fine community.

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"Thanks for coming...you've made our job a whole lot more difficult."

It may not have sounded much like a comment of appreciation, but that's exactly the way Jack Burkman intended it as he spoke with Charles Hutton late Sunday afternoon.

Jack and other members of the Northville Historical Society toured the old Hunter House, and Charles Hutton was their guest as they walked through the rooms whose walls have been stripped of plaster to expose the wood lath beneath. The house stands next to the refurbished old library building in the Mill Race Historical Village.

Purpose of Sunday's meeting was to ascertain the original interior layout of the house. The old man from Walled Lake was there because he had lived in the house 70 years ago — the guest of his grandparents, Lewis W. and Sarah (Perrin) Hutton, after whom Hutton Street is named. Not content with simply refurbishing the Hunter House, the Society wants to restore it to its earliest appearance.

And as they walked through the house and listened to Mr. Hutton's recollections, it became increasingly evident that restoration might require some significant interior changes.

When he lived in the house, it already was over a half-century old, having been built by Steven Hunter in 1852. By the time Lewis Hutton moved into the house, his family of two sons and two daughters had grown.

The children were William H. (father of Charles), Clarence, Mrs. James (Flora) Smith, and Mrs. P. King (Lucy) Ambler.

Lewis, who for 10 years owned the Northville Mills that once stood on the Mill Race Historical Village site, had moved into the Hunter house after his family dwindled down to his wife and himself. He raised his family in the frame house at 332 Main Street — a house he built and lived in for 24 years. It later was used as the Yarnall Gold Cure Institute — a facility for the treatment of alcoholism.

Incidentally, Lewis Hutton was famous locally for the manufacture of buggies, cutters, wagons and sleighs. His wagon and blacksmith shop stood at the northeast corner of Hutton and Main streets, utilizing the old stone buildings (including a school) that stood there. One of the shop buildings was a converted house.

A youngster still attending grade school, Charles Hutton lived with his grandparents and his Aunt Lucy in the Hunter House for about three years. His aunt cared for his grandparents then. When his parents moved to Pontiac young Charles put up such a squawk that his parents permitted him to stay on with his grandparents.

The Hutton brothers — William and Clarence — of Main and Center in the 1880's, and for a time Charles' father was associated with T. G. Richardson in the three-story building where Freydl's women's wear store is located today. He also served as the Northville postmaster for several years and later was employed in the register of deeds office in Detroit.

Flora Smith operated the boarding house across the street from the Gold Cure Institute in the building that later served as the Red Cross and American Legion headquarters.

As he toured the house, Charles recalled that the bedroom on the right did not contain a walled closet as it does today, and he noted that the bedroom on the left no longer contains an entranceway to another bedroom. The entranceway has been converted to a closet, and the rear bedroom has been remade into a pantry.

The doorway from this rear bedroom to the bathroom has been closed up and today it contains cupboards.

Today's kitchen, he recalled, was yesterday's formal dining room.

And the kitchen Charles remembered from 70 years ago has entirely disappeared. At the turn of the century, he said, the kitchen was located in an attached rear room. Here is where the wood-burning range was located, and it was here that members of the family ate most of their meals.

A woodshed was attached to the kitchen, he said.

Charles could not remember if the house contained a basement 70 years ago. But he was positive that the stairway to the two second-floor bedrooms was not located off the living room as it is today. Instead this stairway, he said, was located where the stairs to the basement are situated off today's kitchen.

Several doorways also appeared to have been changed, he said.

The upstairs layout appeared to be unchanged, commented Charles.

But Society members pointed out that construction clearly indicates the roof lines and the size of the two front upstairs windows were changed — perhaps before the Huttons lived there. And very likely the upstairs rooms were not finished off until years after the house was built.

As the old man stood in one of the upstairs bedrooms and reminisced about the giant feather bed that stood there, he spoke of the cold wintry nights in these bedrooms heated only by the exposed stove pipe from below.

"I can picture it now, but when I look out those front windows it seems strange not seeing Main Street," he said. Before it was moved to make way for the extension of Griswold Street, the house stood on the south side of Main Street. And back when Charles lived in the house Main Street wasn't paved. "It wasn't even graveled...just dirt and mud," he said.

"Yes, I've slept here...a long time ago," he sighed.

"We'll invite you back to sleep here another night when we've finished," said Jack, surer than ever that lots of hard work lies ahead.

About that hard work: Project leader Fran Gazlay reminds area residents who may find a couple of free hours on a Saturday "to come on out and join the party." Anyone who can swing a hammer — expert or novice — is invited.

Won't Sign Petition

To the Editor:

We have learned that the State Boundary Commission has decided that the Township of Northville be annexed to the City of Northville.

This is a decision that we favor. The annexation can take place as early as December 31, 1974.

The only way that decision can be delayed is if there are enough signatures to have an election called to decide this issue.

Normally, most people would say, "Let's have a vote". In this case, we will not sign a petition to have an election for the following major reasons:

1. There would be an expense for this unnecessary election. Unnecessary because we could be a city on December 31, 1974.

2. Calling for an election would mean a lot of hard work for all those who want annexation. Also additional expenses, i.e. mailings, literature, etc.

3. If we become a city soon, we can get started on improvement of the recreation department, senior citizen's needs, library and many other community improvements that have been stalemated.

This letter is not written to tell you what to do if someone brings a petition calling for an election on annexation to your home, but primarily to call to your attention the fact that you have the option of not signing and have the annexation take place without the expenses and work involved in having an election.

Remember that by not signing a petition, you are in effect casting a vote supporting annexation.

We, for one, will not sign the petition. We hope you will consider the same.

Speaking for Myself

? Eliminate Hearings Before Planners?

ANONYMOUS

YES . . .

Should the Planning Commission be a political body? Everything in its make-up suggests otherwise. The Planning Commission is an appointive body with only advisory power. Its purpose is to plan for the future and to recommend rezoning actions to the legislative body, either the City Council or the Township Board.

By holding public hearings at the Planning Commission level the element of politics is injected into Planning Commission deliberations, an element that many times is inimical to pure planning.

Anyone who has attended a public hearing before a township Planning Commission is well aware of the raucous nature of these hearings. Irrationality, vested interests and politics are served primarily.

If rezoning is at stake, the people rarely confine their comments to bona fide rezoning issues. Instead, they oppose the proposed rezoning because they don't want that development next to them, or they question the ability of the development company to deliver as planned.

Input from the people is a political process. As a result, public hearings should be held before the legislative body, which is the recognized political body.

As one local Planning Commission member put it, elected officials are the political animals. Local planners, on the other hand, are committed to the best planning and this objective can only be reached by removing public hearings before planners.

Anonymous
(In the interest of good planning)

NO . . .

The elimination of the statutory requirement to hold a public hearing on a zoning matter would in more instances than not be unproductive in terms of achieving a land use policy reflective of the community's future land use plan.

A basic assumption that must inevitably flow from the above premise is one which suggests that the planning commission is truly representative of the entire community; and just as importantly that the governing body is not unduly influenced and concerned in matters of zoning and its growth syndrome relationships. One of the problems with planning and land use related concerns is that the community is generally apathetic to this area of community interest.

The public hearing process serves to sensitize a wider group of citizens to related community planning concerns. This is reflected where citizens involvement is effective in the adoption of planned and subsequent land-use policies that are more representative of what the total community wants.

By and large planning commissions are not representative of the total community value system. And the likelihood in more cases than not of special interest representation versus general citizen representation having a pronounced advantage is most likely.

Additionally, citizen representation on a zoning matter, for instance, can and does influence the governing body which has the final decision on matters requiring legislative action. This influence, I suggest, is necessary in order to balance special interests which in my opinion generally enjoy a balance of power.

Deadline Extended

Proposals for other public uses of the closed Wayne County Child Development Center will be received until next Thursday, November 14, according to the citizens' committee reviewing uses of the property.

"We extended the cut-off date beyond the Center's closing date to accommodate possible interested parties that may not have previously been aware of the opportunity to submit a proposal," said Francis P. Bennett, director of the Wayne County Planning Commission.

Bennett is also chairman of the review committee created by the Board of Commissioners through its Public Works Committee to evaluate the proposals. The Center, which closed

October 18, is located in Northville township on Sheldon near Five Mile Road.

Although the facility is tax exempt and has not been assessed, it is estimated the buildings would cost nearly $12 million to replace. The land is considered worth more than $2.5 million.

Proposals can be submitted in the form of a "Letter of Intent" and should describe the program in as much detail as possible. Proposals to both lease or buy will be considered and should be addressed to the Public Works Committee, Wayne County Board of Commissioners, 726 City-County Bldg., Detroit, 48226.

— Northville Public Schools which has asked to purchase 120 acres of the vacant land for use as future school sites;

— City of Northville on behalf of the recreation commission for use of the recreational area west of Sheldon and the building housing the gym and swimming pool on the east side of the road;

Department which is proposing to relocate its metro squad and chemistry lab on the grounds;

— Wayne County Health Department which asks to use the area for public health services, services for mentally handicapped and the aged;

— Cooperative Extension Service proposes to operate an Extension Family Life Center and conference center in Northwestern Wayne County; and

— Northville-Plymouth-

Canton YMCA which is asking to use facilities at the center for its programs.

Wayne County Planning Commission has recommended the property east of Sheldon Road be kept in county ownership with uses emphasizing self-sustaining arrangements with the users.

The commission also recommends that the area west of Sheldon Road be divided into two parcels, one for recreation and one for recreational and educational purposes.

Scores Removal of Voter Signs

To the Editor:
I'm writing this letter today because I don't want the outcome of the elections to affect what many may call my strong feelings on the subject. I was elected the Democratic precinct delegate for Precinct No. 3, City of Northville. (That part of the city in Oakland County.) Part of my responsibility as I saw it was to help promote candidates of the party of my choice. I've done that by talking to people, distributing literature and the subject of my concern, putting up signs for Democratic candidates.

I took the time to find out what city ordinances applied to yard and pole signs. I then placed 11 signs, in behalf of Mr. Brinker, during the second week of October, none of which were on private property without permission and while some were on poles, was careful not to obstruct the view of drivers. By the fourth week of October five had been torn down. On November 2 I replaced those torn down and placed many more along with signs for other candidates, not only in Northville but also Novi. Sunday evening I found that every one of the signs for my candidate for Governor and others plus about half the signs for Brinker had been literally smashed off the poles. This was not a Halloween stunt. It's just too ironic that the opposition candidates signs replaced some of the ones I'd put up.

Don't smirk and call me naive and say that's politics or just part of the game. I believe we all have the right to be heard, whether we're for the incumbent administration or against it. Having campaign signs torn down may be small potatoes but God help us if the people responsible are in an advice giving capacity if that candidate should win.

Sees Need For Light

To the Editor:
As a citizen of this community I am concerned about the lack of adequate light on the outside lower level of Northville Square — namely the area around Arcade V.

I do not feel that a public gathering place for children and teens should be left dark while the lights on the upper level are left on the "protect" the display windows. Our children's welfare is more valuable than glass.

I think that more light would give the business a better public image and public confidence.

I would encourage the parties involved, be it Northville Square or Arcade V, to light up.

'What Do You Tell 3-Year Old?'

To the Editor:
The week of Halloween is an exciting one for children — costumes, pumpkins and anticipating the big night. Why does the week also have to be one of stealing, destruction of another's property, littering and general annoying of others?

What do your children tell you they are doing when in essence they are out disturbing others? Did you teach them right from wrong? What do I tell a three year old when she asks what happened to her pumpkin? It was outside no longer than two hours when it was smashed on the neighbor's drive. To us it is an annoying incident but to young children it is smashing some of their excitement. To the neighbor it is definitely disturbing. Parents — do you know where your children are — do you know what they are doing??

Franklin Road area between Six and Seven Mile Road.

In local area races, Republican Incumbent Carl Pursell posted a stunning victory over Michael K. O'Shea for the 14th State Senate seat. Republican Robert Geake defeated William Joyner to retain his 35th District Representative post and Republican Mary Dumas successfully defeated challenger Barbara Johnson for her 19th Wayne County Commissioner seat.

Pursell's win has been hailed as the biggest legislative victory in the state as he captured 33,407 votes to O'Shea's 18,081. Despite Democrats' big majority (25-

13) in the Senate now, Pursell bucked the Democratic tide and captured the 14th District swing seat.

Among township candidates, Treasurer Straub gained the largest number of votes with 1,973. His opponent, Robert Pope, tallied 1,060.

Wright won easily over his opponent Robert Oleson, 1,937 to 1,072, while Mrs. Lennox totaled 1,868 votes to Janet VanVoorhis' 1,165.

In the trustee race, Nowka received 1,816; Rosenberg, 1,794; Sutherland, 1,219; and Marengere, 1,200. Republican constables elected were E. F. Peterson, 1,825; Roger Eising, 1,812. Democrats Raymond Golen totaled 1,078 while Guy Coykendall gained 950.

Township officials said Tuesday night that Coykendall has moved to the Upper Peninsula and that his name should not have appeared on the ballot.

Both city and township voters followed the lead of electors state-wide in approving the veteran's bonus, repealing the sales tax on food and prescription drugs and defeating Proposal A, limiting the use of motor fuel tax funds. While local electors voted for the mass transit bonds, the bond proposal was defeated state-wide.

In Highland Lakes, the last voter cast his ballot at 9 p.m. while the last elector left the booth in the Commons-Colony area at 9:30 p.m. Township election officials finished tallying the 224 absentee ballots after 3:30 a.m., Clerk Margaret Tegge said.

In Oakland County races, Incumbent Lew Coy defeated Democratic challenger William O'Brien to retain his 24th County Commissioner post. Republican Richard Fessler out-tallied William Brinker to capture 24th State Representative seat of retiring Clifford Smart.

DEVIL'S NIGHT VANDALISM—It used to look like the Mackinac Bridge, but by the time vandals got through with it on Devil's Night, the resemblance had ended. The bridge, to an island in the middle of a lake, was just part of the damage done to the Mackover Residence on Chedworth Court in Novi Township. Statues were damaged, a wooden swing set was destroyed and a trailer was pushed into the water. A meeting with the involved youths and their parents had good results, Jack Mackover, owner of the residence reported.

Rear Randolph Lot

Zoning Change Approved

Following only one citizen protest, the Northville City Council unanimously approved a zoning change for the rear half of the property at 124 Randolph.

Council action changes the zoning from a residential classification to a general commercial district designation, and thus permits the property to be used for auxiliary parking for the proposed Friendly Ice Cream store planned on the Center Street property formerly housing the Ritchie brothers laundry.

The lone citizen objection was raised by Richard Bohn, 220 North Wing Street, who saw the change as a detrimental, precedent-setting action.

Specifically, he pointed out that property adjacent to the proposed ice cream store is already zoned commercial and used residentially. He suggested this property be used commercially before infringing on residentially zoned property

Council members took the position that the rear of the lot in question was considered for commercial designation when the master plan was developed and hence is not a "new idea" in conflict with city plans.

Electronic Snoopers Play Detective, Help Catch Burglars in the Process

By WAYNE LODER

It's a common enough occurrence. John Smith and his wife are on vacation and two burglars, spurred on by that knowledge, use cover of darkness to drive their 1968 pick-up truck behind the remotely isolated residence.

The actions are the same — they've done their task unerringly a half dozen times without the slightest hint of trouble. It'll probably be several days before the Smiths return home and discover the burglary. And by that time all the goods will have been fenced and no evidence will remain.

Jimmying the window, the two men, skilled at their trade, slide inside the house and open the back door, readying it for the large color television — a prime mover on the black market.

But things are different this time. Before the expensive end tables and antique rifles can be stuffed into the truck, a police cruiser pulls up and officers race inside, capturing the criminals before they even have a chance to escape from the house.

Why was this time different from all those others?

An electronic silent alarm was unknowingly set off by the burglars as they forced open the back window, breaking a closed circuit and setting off an alarm at a central control station. Within 45 seconds, operators at the control station had contacted the local police by telephone, telling them of the alarm at the Smith residence.

Every year, thousands of businesses and residences are burglarized in the United States and some $550 million worth of stolen goods placed on the black market. Families have come home from weekend outings to find their homes completely emptied of all contents.

But an opposing trend also has emerged as a high percentage of new homes come completely equipped with their own burglar alarm. And a growing number of businesses — down to the local dry cleaner — have installed the devices.

Alarm systems come in all price ranges. There are small do it yourself kits that sell in stores for $29.95. Or there are elaborate professional systems designed to protect the home or business from just about anything — at a cost of up to $1,000 or more.

According to the experts — professionals who make their living installing alarm systems — almost anything can be detected.

There are two basic categories of alarm equipment. While many alarm systems protect the home or business from theft, others are intended to warn occupants in event of fire.

Several different types of alarm systems are in use to capture the unwary — or wary — burglar.

Doug Pattison, administrative manager of one of the largest alarm companies in Oakland County, says company philosophy calls for burglar alarms at residences to sound-off locally on the premise as well as the central receiving point.

"Our primary consideration is people. We worry about property second," he says. "If you take off for the weekend, we give a switch so you can shut off the bells, etc. so that the police can capture the burglars in the act."

"We want those burglars to know if someone is home and can take action against them," he says.

A "minimum price" alarm system (one costing about $300), Pattison says, is one which is connected to two doors and is strictly a local alarm which does not ring elsewhere.

"You have to rely on the neighbors to do something if someone's tampering with the house," he says. Pattison explains that the alarm works on the principle of a closed circuit "just like a light switch". When the circuit is broken, the alarm system sounds.

The minimum price system also includes an alarm "carpet".

"The carpet goes under the rug in a well traveled area, usually in the hallway to a bedroom," Pattison says. "Most people who break in will eventually go to the bedroom because that's usually where the valuables are kept."

"It's absolutely concealed and it's almost impossible to detect," he adds. "Sometimes our servicemen have to rip up more rug than they should because they can't find them."

Pattison notes that a family with a dog allowed the run of the house at night could not use a mat because it registers movement of anything with a weight of more than five pounds.

While variations can give good protection to a home, at all windows and doors, as well as inside by use of the mat, if all else fails, a "panic button" can be located near the bed.

"We install them when we have clients who feel there may be a problem with someone attacking a person, such as elderly women, who are not physically strong," says Pattison.

"When there's a B & E, we want bells, but when the panic device is used, the person is in imminent danger and the alarm should be silent. Probably he's not mentally right anyway. If he's there to do bodily harm and hears the alarm go off, he may do it more quickly."

The panic button can be tied into either the police station, or the central control board of the company which installs it. It also is used in medical cases where a person might not have time or be able to get in touch with anyone in time.

Remote control panic buttons can allow the user to be up to 100 feet away and still activate the alarm.

"In December, 1973 an Inkster woman who had a panic device installed suffered a severe stroke and police responded to the panic button call. Had she not had help, she would have died for sure," says Pattison. The woman has required medical attention since that time because of the stroke.

Small businesses, however, are the targets in half the cases of burglary, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Burglaries, both of homes and businesses, go unsolved 80 percent of the time because of lack of evidence and witnesses.

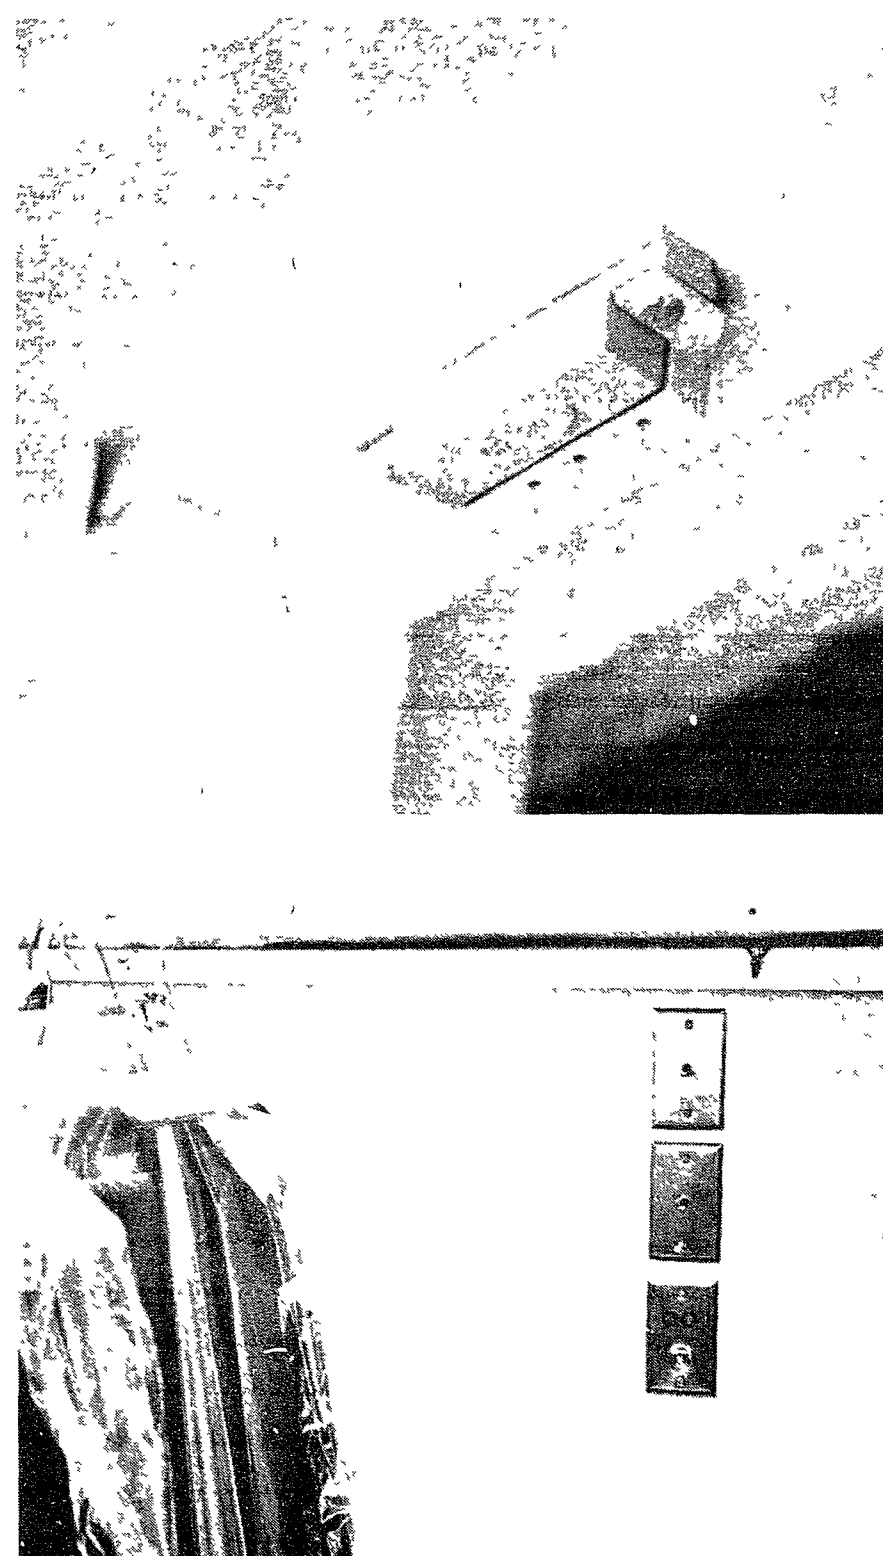

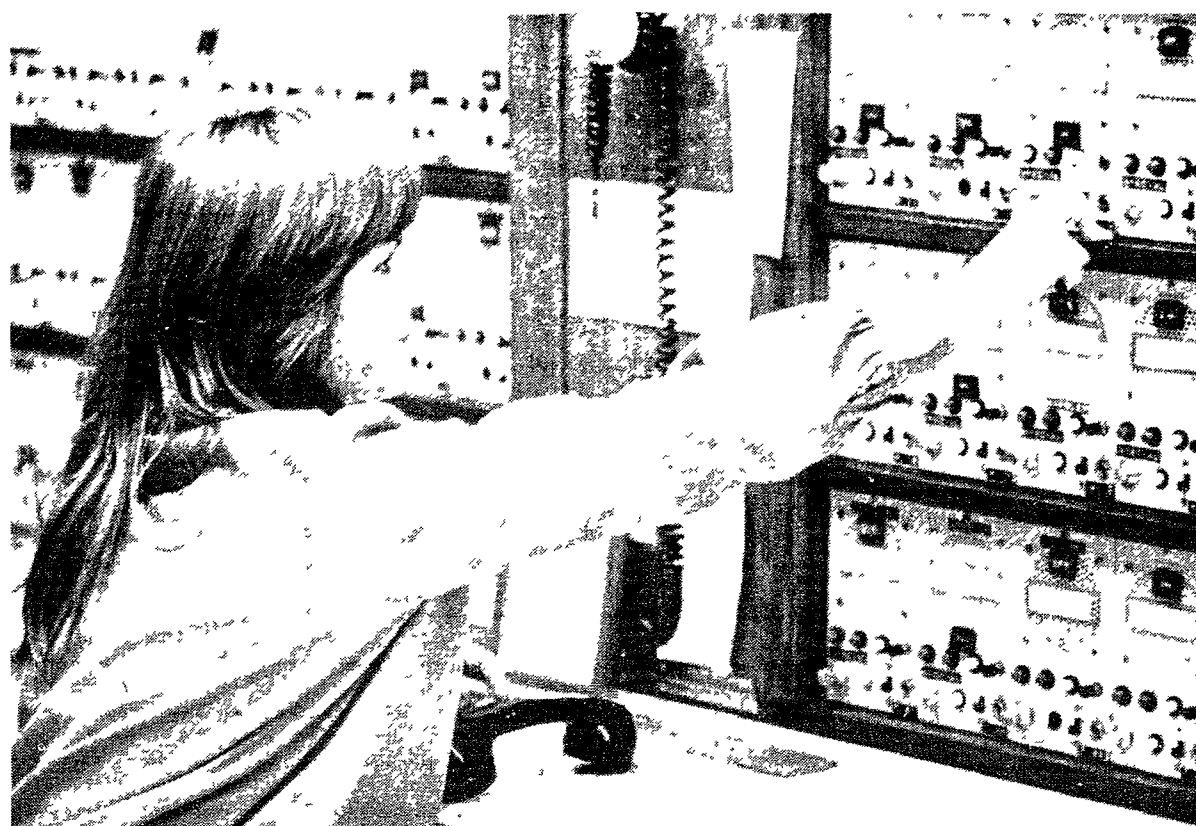

More elaborate systems than those normally found in homes are used in businesses.

Photoelectric cells which cast a beam to a receiver up to several hundred feet away are used in many large installations. If the beam is interrupted, an alarm is set off. Some are cleverly camouflaged as — believe it or not — everyday wall sockets.

Another extremely effective method of burglar-proofing involves use of a motion detector.

"A motion detector sends out a frequency signal above the hearing range," explains Pattison. "It floods an area with sound waves."

The First Baptist Church of Novi has once again finalized plans for the Annual Harvest Supper to be held in the church's basement 45301 Eleven Mile Road on November 13th at 6:30 p.m.

A larger attendance is expected this year because of the church's growth in the past year and because of the program that will follow immediately after the supper.

The program will feature chalk artist John Randall and the Family Gospel Singers.

Although this is called the Annual Harvest Supper it is a family evangelistic outreach night and guests are urged to bring the whole family. The nursery will be open for those families with tiny ones. You do not have to be a member of the church to attend but you must have a reservation for the supper. To make your reservation call the church 349-3477 or 349-3647 or 349-0546 before November 9th.

A public reception will be held for the Reverend Father Allen Theis on Saturday, November 9 at the Hartland High School Commons located on M-59 just west of U.S. 23. The Holy Mass, concelebrated by Father Theis and Father Roger Smith, will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed by a reception with snacks and beverages. The occasion will be a farewell to Father Smith, who has returned to St. Patrick Church in Brighton after serving St. John's Mission as acting pastor. Father Theis, who will be the first resident pastor of St. John's, comes to Hartland from Kalamazoo where he served last year as an instructor of Religious Studies at Nazareth College. Since his ordination in 1963, Father Theis has pastored churches in Flint, Jackson, and Niles.

The Hartland United Methodist Church is holding its annual Harvest Dinner and Bazaar on Saturday, November 9 in the church dining room. Servings are at 5, 6, and 7 p.m., and donations are adults, $3, students aged 13 through 17, $2, children, 5 through 12, $1, and pre-schoolers are free. Tickets are available by calling M. J. Masters at 632-7114 or at the door. Handcrafted items, including Christmas decorations, will be on sale at the bazaar, and a silent bid auction will be held for a handmade quilt made by the Ruth Circle of the United Methodist Women.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (the Mormon church) will hold a ground-breaking ceremony Saturday, November 9, at 2 p.m. for construction of a new church building. The site is one block west of the Howell Recreation Center on Grand River in Howell. The first phase of the building will include a chapel to seat 200, a multi-purpose room, ten classrooms, a kitchen, and four acres to be developed as recreation area. Howell Mayor Robert Parker, the Howell City Council, and State Representative Thomas Sharpe are among the guests invited for the ground-breaking ceremony.

Liturgists Wear Them, Conservatives Don't

Vestments — Church Symbols

Ministers would probably be among the first to caution us not to judge a person by what he wears. Yet, the vestments a minister wears, the garments he wears while conducting services, tell us much about his theology and his personality. He chooses them for their meaning.

Even pastors who choose not to wear vestments at all tell us something about the way they view their role and the church.

Pastor Robert Warren of the First Baptist Church of Wixom says that he, as a conservative fundamentalist, does not wear any vestments at all.

In general, he explained, pastors of liturgical churches, churches such as Lutheran, Catholic and Episcopalian churches whose worship services follow a consistent order week to week, wear vestments and pastors of non-liturgical churches, such as Baptist, wear street clothes. He explained that the fundamentalist decision not to wear vestments is tied to the Reformation.

"Vestments," he said, "are really a Roman Church tradition originating with the Pope."

"At the time of the Reformation, the Protestants — and this is where the name comes from — protested the Roman church. Some Protestants felt not wearing vestments separated them more from the Roman tradition, while other Protestants retained vestments as they retained the order of worship."

"For us, the Bible is our only guide. And wearing vestments is a church, not Biblical, tradition. The Old Testament says Jewish high priests wore robes into the cathedrals on certain religious occasions, but that was something added to the clergy by the church. There has been much added to religion by laity and the clergy, and vestments are one of them."

"Also, we don't want to give the impression we, the clergy, are up there on a pedestal, different from the lay people."

The Reverend Larry Carver who ministers a liturgical church, St. Paul's Episcopal of Brighton, says he wears vestments "to add color and meaning to the service and to create a tie between the minister and the congregation."

All church vestments, Mr. Carver said, originally had a utilitarian purpose, though "we have attached all kinds of symbolic meaning to them over the years."

The most basic vestments in liturgical churches worn to perform daily duties and services, he said, are the cassock, surplice, and stole.

The basic cassock is a full-length, simple black robe originally worn by the clergy to keep warm in unheated cathedrals and universities in Europe, Mr. Carver said.

The surplice, a knee-length, usually white full-sleeved garment, is worn over the cassock. The white fullness of the surplice, Mr. Carver said, "probably symbolizes the absolute purity of Christ."

The stole or tippet is a long narrow piece of material draped over the surplice. The stole, he said, is the minister's symbol of ordination, indicating his yoke of service to the church, and only ordained ministers may wear it. Often, he said, the seal of the seminary the minister attended is embroidered on the stole.

"It's a little like getting an M.S.U. sweatshirt if you went to M.S.U.," he said.

The color of the stole changes with the season, Mr. Carver said, and a church calendar notes which stoles should be worn at which times. Usually, the minister wears a purple stole during Advent and Lent, white during Christmas, Easter and the epiphany, green for Trinity, black on Good Friday, and red for Pentecost, saints days, and other religious festivals.

Over these basic garments, the minister may wear other robes and capes for Eucharistic services.

The alb, for example, is traditionally a white garment much like the cassock which is worn over the cassock. It is worn to symbolize the white robe in which Christ was wrapped at His death, he said.

The alb is tied at the waist with a girdle, a cord or rope so-called, Mr. Carver speculated, because of the Biblical phrase "gird up your loins."

The amice, a strip of material which resembles the stole, is then draped over the alb, crossed over the chest, and secured through the girdle.

"All these garments are worn to surround the minister with reminders of saving, to help him recall Christ's death."

The chasuble is then worn over any of these garments or over the cassock alone. It is worn, he explained, to symbolize the concept of Christ as King, the Saviour of Men, and is traditionally made of damask in regal colors.

The minister may also choose to wear a hood or carry a mandible. Wearing hoods, he said, is more an academic tradition than an ecclesiastical one. Hoods are usually made in the colors of the seminary the minister attended, and their fullness depends on the degree earned.

The mandible is a two-foot long strip of material which rests over the minister's arm. Mr. Carver said it may symbolize the fact Christ washed feet and the notion of Christ serving the world, or it may have been used by early priests to clean the chalice after communion.

Though there is much established tradition surrounding the wearing of vestments in liturgical churches, ministers may choose whatever garments they wish to wear. Mr. Carver's wardrobe of vestments includes traditional church vestments of silk and damask and unconventional vestments, made mostly by friends and parishioners, of denim, burlap, and flashy Peter Max materials.

One stole has the words "Liberation Peaceful" sewed on it. Mr. Carver explained he was given that stole to wear for a women's liberation service at another parish.

"That was very relevant then for that service. I don't wear it often now because it's not relevant to what we're doing. Vestments are like clothes in general — you wear what's appropriate, to relate to people where they are right now."

His Peter Max chasuble, he explained, is a "now" fabric. "This was a gift to me by parishioners in Mt. Clemens. When I wear it, I remember those people, and it reminds people in this church that I carry traditions with me too — messages from other Christians to them."

Mr. Carver says he feels most comfortable in his denim cassock, "his working man's cassock," a gift of another former parishioner.

Another chasuble Mr. Carver wears is white cotton, hand-painted by a Sunday school class for him. When he wears it, he says, "children in the church really see themselves as a part of the church and the service."

The Reverend Dave Kruger of Lord of Life Lutheran Church in Brighton said he is "probably unusual in the Lutheran Church because he wears only the stole to indicate that he is an ordained minister."

He said vestments were worn originally to cover the minister's clothing so that he would appear a more objective representative of God.

"But I disagree with the philosophy that you should remove the person and personality of the worship leader. I think it's important the congregation know who that person is, and how he works, and let him be that person."

Mr. Kruger said he does not agree that clergy should not wear vestments only because the Bible does not say he should.

"If you don't wear them only because it's not in the New Testament, then you have to cast aside all kinds of things — like cars, much of the food we eat, and appliances."

"With vestments, as with other things, I believe if it's meaningful, do it. If it's not, dispense with it."

Engineer Turns Minister, Starts Brighton Church

Ten years ago, it would have seemed unlikely that John Hirsch, then an engineering student at the University of Texas at Austin, would come to Brighton to start a Lutheran Church.

But the would-be engineer is now the Reverend John Hirsch, and the would-be church is now a recognized church, Shepherd of the Lakes, of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, with a membership of over 100 families.

A native of Channel View, Texas, a small town near Houston, Mr. Hirsch dropped out of the University of Texas after three years to join the Prince of Peace program, an organization he likens to VISTA which specializes in inner-city work.

Through that program, he was assigned to Detroit to work as a boys' counselor in a downtown Lutheran church.

It was during that year of service, Mr. Hirsch said he "realized there was a way to help people other than through the traditional mental and psychiatric institutions, and the church provided such a viable alternative."

He returned to the University of Texas, earned a bachelor's degree in psychology, and entered Concordia Lutheran Seminary in Springfield, Illinois.

Having spent summers and terms of seminary working in mental institutions, Mr. Hirsch said he felt unprepared for his calling to start the Lutheran church in Brighton upon his ordination.

"I just didn't anticipate starting a mission. With training in counseling, I didn't think I had the talents and understanding to do it."

Electric Snoopers Catch Burglars

"It's like a pitcher of water. When you drop a penny into it, it makes ripples and then the detector reads the ripples."

The detector will be set-off by anyone moving around inside the building.

A sound detector, by contrast, will be set off either by someone in the building or by someone making noise as he tries to break in.

In one case burglars, attempting to break in at a discount tire store piled up a wall of used tires around them behind the building in order to muffle the sound of the sledge hammer hitting the brick wall. Before they could break through, the police had arrived after the sound of the sledge hammer hitting the wall set off the sound monitor at the central control station.

When the motion detector is activated, it is usually connected either to a telephone automatic dialer, or directly to either a police station or the central audiotron control board.

The automatic dialer is used in several applications, besides with the motion detector, and can be used to send out up to two different emergency messages — such as a burglary or fire message. Each message can then be telephoned to three numbers, such as the police, the alarm company and a relative.

The problem often run into is that a telephone call to the police using the automatic dialer system can receive a busy signal or can be put automatically on hold. While it can sense a busy signal and will keep calling until it gets through, the dialer system cannot sense when it has been put on hold and will give its message anyway.

In addition, the tape repeats the message three times and is "locked" into the number called, and even if the telephone is hung up, the number is not disconnected. Many police departments discourage the use of telephone devices for that reason. They suggest, instead, that a central alarm station be called first and the station then, in turn, contact the police department so there is actual person-to-person contact rather than tape to person.

Some of the old type radar systems, which worked similarly to today's motion detectors, ran into problems.

"If they were applied wrong, changes in environment could cause the alarm to trip," explains Pattison. "Heavily humid days would cause an amplification of the radar field and someone walking by a building could trip it."

Another device used today to protect buildings, usually as a temporary measure until a full alarm system is installed, is a "nausea device."

It emits a high frequency tone which is unbearable to human ears and causes pain. It is usually turned on as a person leaves the building.

But alarm devices go beyond those designed to stop thefts and are intended to protect the home or business from fire.

"If I had only one thing to worry about, it'd be fire," says the president of a Dearborn based alarm company. "Most people are killed by toxic gases before the fire or smoke even reaches them."

According to Allan Crawford, president of an Oakland County alarm company, four types of heat and fire detectors are in use. All have a local alarm. They are: heat detectors; smoke detectors; ionization detectors; and environmental detectors.

While heat and smoke detectors are fairly self explanatory, the ionization detector picks up reciprocal gases produced before the actual fire would be started, Crawford said.

For instance, wire coatings smoldering inside a wall produce gases which would set off the ionization detector. These detectors, which are installed in either home or business, are oftentimes hooked up to the fire department, as well as to the home local alarm.

Environmental detectors, however, are much broader in their application than ionization detectors. They detect any gas that is harmful to humans. But because of their broad Greater Detroit's first hypermarket opens in Canton Township at the corner of Ford Road and Canton Center Road Tuesday, November 19, announced Fred Meijer, president of Meijer, Inc.

Meanwhile, site preparation continues for another Meijer Thrifty Acres hypermarket to be located in Northville Township at the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty roads. No date for start of construction has been announced.

The giant store in Canton Center is the newest in a 13-city chain of 25 stores stretching across Michigan. The new building covers just under 250,000 square feet, including a 50,000 foot supermarket section.

Bill Hildreth, who recently moved to Northville Township's Northville Commons off Six Mile Road, is manager of the new facility.

An 11-year veteran of the Meijer organization, he is responsible for operation of the store that employs 600 persons.

This Meijer Thrifty Acres features a complete supermarket with grocery, meat, produce, dairy, and bakery departments. It also contains a completely furnished clothing department, a household department that includes paneling, bathroom units, insulation, furniture, and carpeting.

In addition it has a sporting good section containing boats, tents, and camping supplies. It has auto and recreational vehicle supplies department.

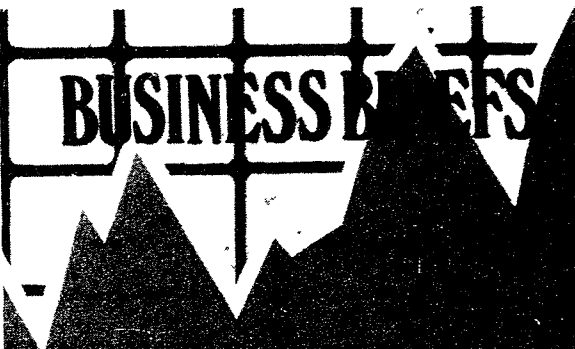

It offers toys, appliances, jewelry, photo supplies, stereo players, televisions; stationery, school supplies; pet and garden supplies; cosmetics, card shop, paperbacks and magazines.

Meijer Thrifty Acres also contains a pharmacy, staffed by full-time registered pharmacists, and it features several service departments including shoe repair, barber shop, beauty shop, self-serve gas station, snack bar and donut shop, laundry and dry cleaning, and an ice cream shop.

Altogether it contains 34 departments, 59 checkout lanes.

Parking is provided for 1,300 cars.

The store is designed with the handicapped in mind. Single level construction and ramps to all entrances make the entire store accessible to the handicapped. Drinking fountains and telephones are lowered and specially constructed restrooms have extra wide doors and special facilities to accommodate wheelchairs.

ANDREW POLINSKY, manufacturing manager, GSE, Incorporated, Farmington Hills, a resident of Novi, completed the Unit I course Friday in Wittenberg University's Management Development Program.

The series of five-day on-campus courses are designed to strengthen the management competency and provide new insights into the management functions of supervisory personnel in industry.

The courses concentrate in four areas — behavioral studies and motivation, communications and leadership, management functions and methods, and economics and personnel relations.

During the past 23 years more than 800 different companies representing a wide variety of industrial, commercial and medical concerns have released over 15,000 supervisors from their normal responsibilities and sponsored their participation in the management program.

SOUTH LYON'S GAMBLE Store is looking for old merchandise.

As a part of Gamble's 50th anniversary year celebration of the opening of its first retail store, the company is announcing the formation of a "search for yesterday" corporate museum to house memorabilia recalling the company's early history and growth.

The forerunner of the present day Gamble store was called the Gamble Auto Supply Company, the first of which opened on March 11, 1925, in St. Cloud, Minnesota.

Robert Steiner, South Lyon's Gamble dealer, is encouraging all area residents to check their attics and basements for old Gamble merchandise, catalogs, advertising pieces, etc. Particularly wanted, of course, are items bearing the Gamble name or its private brand names such as Coronado, Varcon, Crest, Tiger, Hiawatha, Artisan, Expert, Homeguard, and Farmcrest. Most of these trade names are no longer in use.

Persons locating or discovering old Gamble products are requested to bring them to their local Gamble store. The dealer will take a polaroid picture of the item and submit it with the customer's asking price to the museum curator at the company's home office in Minneapolis.

A CLASS on Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation will be conducted Wednesday, November 13 from 7 to 9 p.m. by Farmington Hills Ambulance Company at Beverly Manor Convalescent Center, 2450 Meadowbrook Road, Novi.

Open to the public under the auspices of the Michigan Heart Association, the two-hour class will feature two instructors, Lincoln Monte, CPR, and James Gray, emergency medical technician.

Persons wishing to attend are urged to call 477-2000 to request registration.

NORTHVILLE HOUSE OF STYLES, a new hair and face care shop, has opened at 135 Cady Street. The Northville building was formerly occupied by the Hair Sanctuary.

Owner is Diane Dingman. The new shop features RedKen products and Vivane Woodard cosmetics.

Babson Report

Cost of Avoiding Strike May be Worth Price

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — Last month some 400,000 steelworkers received a one-shot bonus of $150 as a reward for not resorting to the strike weapon during negotiations early in the year.

While the payments cost the steel manufacturing firms close to $60 million, the industry appears to feel that the price paid was worth the insurance against a spring walkout.

A bitter lesson was learned in 1971 when the strike threat was so intense as the bargaining deadline neared that customers swamped companies with orders. As a hedge, many customers even signed agreements with Japanese and European firms pledging acceptance of long term shipments provided they got the steel they wanted in hectic 1971.

THE RESULT of the overbuying — and double or triple order placement — was nearly catastrophic. There was no work stoppage, and customers stuck with top-heavy inventories stopped ordering steel indefinitely in an effort to reduce their stocks.

The industry had to let go approximately 100,000 employees, many of them for a number of months.

Even with the slowdowns, the hedge buying is said to have cost the industry $80 million, not counting the sales lost to overseas steel makers by way of the long-term contracts signed in time of stress.

SO DISTURBING were the results of the 1971 strike cloud — even though it did not turn into a strike — that both the union and the industry moved to avoid a repeat performance during this year's bargaining.

Concerted efforts resulted in an Experimental Negotiation Atreement (ENA) in essence guaranteeing against steel mill shutdowns, in return for which assurance all workers under the union pact August 1, 1974 would get the $150 bonus. Since the present agreement went into effect May 1, the steel companies cite an advance in wages alone of 63 cents an hour, part of it stemming from living-cost increases.

The ENA, officially approved by the membership of the union, has already been extended into the 1977 bargaining period, to give a continuing guarantee against a strike at that time.

Also included are early bargaining well before the expiration date, a minimum pay boost, arbitration in case of differences over contract terms, and extension of the living-cost escalator clause protection.

IT SHOULD be noted that the intrinsic concept of local rights has, at least in some measure, been preserved under the ENA. While walkouts on national issues are barred according to the agreement, the possibility of a strike over local issues in individual plant negotiations is not curtailed.

In other words, the confusion and indecision felt by customers in the face of a possible industrywide strike is removed, but final say on local matters still resides with the union local.

While there have been different reactions to the ENA as designed and placed in operation by the United Steelworkers Union and the industry, many observers on both sides are favorably impressed. Hedge buying at a time when a walkout appears likely can

Engineer-Minister Forms New Church

Hirsch says he loves the work and his congregation.

"I've never thought of myself as an evangelist, and I've never aimed to convert anyone. Most of our members found out about the church through word of mouth, or they transferred from another church."

The goal of Shepherd of the Lakes, as Mr. Hirsch views it, is "to help people care for one another, to help and strengthen family units."

The church, now meeting in Birkenstock school, plans to break ground this spring on property it owns on Hyne and Hacker roads for construction of a church building.

Mr. Hirsch will be officially installed as the church's first full-time pastor Sunday, November 24, at Birkenstock school.

Babson Advises Avoiding Strikes

throw the economy seriously out of whack, particularly when a key industry is involved.

A WIDESPREAD strike itself can also have a devastating impact on the nation's business structure. Responsible union authorities and company executives have long seen shutdowns as costly and destructive methods of settling disputes. The ENA may well be a blueprint for bargaining procedures in other fields over the years ahead.

To see the success of the ENA in the massive steel industry last spring is to hope that greater management-union collaboration will be forthcoming soon in all labor-heavy industries, then perhaps spread down through the manufacturing complex. Nobody wants the right to strike weakened; nor does anybody enjoy watching the vast waste of time, money, and energy that inevitably accompanies a major stoppage.

Burglars Foiled By Electronics detection, which would include detection of the alcohol in perfume, they are rarely hooked up to more than a local alarm.

Numerous companies make the various types of alarm detectors both to protect against burglaries and fires. But industry spokesmen emphasize that service is important and should be a definite consideration in where the alarm system is purchased. Ninety-two percent of new alarm companies go out of business in the first two years.

Although alarm systems have rarely been considered in a humorous vein, Pattison reports that his company has had its share of unusual calls.

One time, his company received a 3 a.m. alarm from a repair business. After calling local authorities, the alarm company received a report back that a man had been apprehended in the building.

His car had crashed into a ditch and the closest telephone was in the repair shop. "He just explained, 'I was cold and hungry and wanted to go home,'" recalls Pattison.

"Another lady trips the alarm whenever she is lonely. She does it to get the police to talk to her," says Pattison. "Now we have the calls routed to us and we talk to her. The police are happy about that."

BUSINESS BRIEFS

AN INCREASE in income of 33 per cent for the nine month period ended September 30, 1974, was reported today by Richard H. Headlee, president and chief executive officer of Hamilton International Corporation and its principal subsidiary, Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company of America.

Net income for the nine month period was $2,467,600, or $.31 per share on 7,470,100 shares outstanding, compared to $1,849,900 or $.24 per share on 7,260,100 shares outstanding reported for the same period last year.

Revenues for the nine months totaled $28,963,800, as compared with revenues of $22,858,500 for the corresponding period in 1973. Of the increase, investment income accounted for $1,846,000; group life $473,000; and group accident and health represented $2,922,000 of the total.

For the third quarter ended September 30, 1974, net income amounted to $792,100, or $.10 per share on $10,351,400 in revenues. For the same period last year, net income amounted to $534,200, or $.07 per share on revenues of $7,357,500.

RONALD H. NIECE of South Lyon has been named to the National Advisory Council of the National Federation of Independent Business. Niece is head of Modern Lighters, Inc., located at 12676 West 10 Mile Road in South Lyon.

Appointment of Niece is part of the program inaugurated by Wilson Johnson, president of the Federation, to expand the Advisory Council from its present membership of more than 2,000 to a more comprehensive "grass roots" base of the national organization, currently comprising a membership of 403,000 independent business people in all 50 states.

Although in keeping with the growth of the organization, Johnson has tripled the Washington legislative staff of the Federation, he is a firm believer in the principle that "all business is local" and plans to get an enlarged viewpoint of small and independent business problems at the local level.

Niece is typical of the calibre of business community leaders who serve on the Advisory Council. His firm has been established in this area since 1957 and he employs 10 people. He is chief of the Green Oak Township Volunteer Fire Department and is presently the president of the Salem chapter of the Michigan Wolverines Citizen Band Radio Club.

GUARDIAN INDUSTRIES Corp. reported record sales but declining earnings for both the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 1974, although William M. Davidson, president, said net income was still the second highest in the company's history for either period.

For the third quarter, earnings were $1,980,000, down more than 32 percent from record net income of $2,930,000 in the same period a year ago. After allowance for dividends on preferred stock, per share earnings for the third quarter were 32 cents, compared to 51 cents the year before, when no preferred stock was outstanding.

Sales for the quarter were $27,399,000, highest for any three months in the company's history, and 16 percent ahead of previous record sales of $23,615,000 in the same quarter of 1973.

Tourism Going Strong in 1974

LANSING, despite some early predictions to the contrary, it's been a good year for Michigan's "Water Wonderland" tourism efforts. And there's no sign of a turnaround — even with swirling snowstorms nearly upon us.

State tourist groups expect a strong fall season, and "if present trends continue, a good winter," report Gov. William Milliken.

"A large percentage of the resorts in West Michigan reported that their business was up — as much as 30 percent over last summer," he says.

A slow start, blamed at least in part on gasoline shortages, marred tourist activity in the Upper Peninsula and southeast Michigan, but that also has changed.

TOURIST AREA folks now are preparing for an onslaught of Michigan and out-of-state travelers who'll be taking advantage of the cold weather to ski, toboggan, snowmobile and just wander through snowy forests.

The West Michigan Tourist Association, for instance, now offers an inviting publication called "Carefree Days," which provides information about 35 ski and toboggan centers, more than 150 snowmobile trails and places to stay and eat in their area.

WILL THIS OPTIMISM about Michigan's third largest industry last? Seems so, if what Commerce Director Richard Helmbrecht said recently holds true. Helmbrecht told the Upper Peninsula Travel and Recreation Association to prepare for a 1980 tourist travel growth rate at least double that of 1972.

He cited a recreation study conducted by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

"Among other things, the study indicates that there will be a growth in tourist visits of between 45 percent and 72 percent to the 45 northern Michigan counties — including all of the Upper Peninsula — and the northernmost portions of Wisconsin and Minnesota," Helmbrecht said.

"And the forecast is for travel to be closer to the higher figure."

IT'S OPEN — the first bicycle path ever constructed by Michigan's Department of State Highways and Transportation.

The five-mile path, said to be the first of many the Department plans throughout the state, runs from Hillsdale to Jonesville, providing an eight-foot-wide paved surface for non-motorized traffic.

If rush hour traffic's got you down, how about this? A special highway lane set aside for those who travel by bus or in car pools?

That's the aim of a bill recently signed into law.

"This legislation recognizes the growing need for balanced transportation and the efficient movement of traffic throughout Michigan while we seek ways to conserve energy," says Gov. William Milliken.

PLANS ARE TO LAUNCH a pilot project with the special lane program, on the Jeffries Freeway (I-96) in Detroit, and to set aside the center lane of Gratiot Avenue in Detroit for rush hour bus and car pool services.

Milliken promises that "other reserve lane projects can be expected in other parts of the state in the near future."

Following similar projects in Washington D.C. and New York, the system would reserve the special lanes for buses and cars with three or more passengers.

THERE'S SOME NEWS too for handicapped vehicle owners.

If a person's disability seriously affects his ability to walk, he can get a special license plate granting special parking privileges. The plates, which will cost the same as regular license plates, will be issued beginning with the 1975 licensing year. Those seeking the new type of license plate must apply by December 31.

PARKING PRIVILEGES that go along with the plate include free parking in metered areas.

That's not much different from what's currently allowed with special handicapped parking stickers. But a Department of State spokesman says the plates might help avert parking tickets.

"Some folks writing tickets don't look at the windshield — where the stickers are — to see the handicapped designation," he says. "They do look at license plates, so this might help."

IT'S NOT CLEAR whether more people are speeding, or whether more are being caught. What's certain is the arrest data.

State Police report that in the first eight months of this year, some 117,192 speeding arrests were made in Michigan. That's 20,150 more than during the same period last year.

In April, the first full month of a mandatory 55-mile limit, more than 8,000 arrests were made, nearly twice as many as in April 1973.

FEATURE CITED—The top award for feature writing in a nation-wide contest for suburban newspapers in all circulation categories was won by John Beckett of the Sliger Home Newspapers' Brighton Argus staff. The feature, which involved Northville's "Beer Hill" in Cass Benton Park, appeared in The Northville Record-Novis News in September, 1973. Beckett gathered his material by visiting the favorite summer-time hang-out for numerous youngsters and taking part in the activities on "Beer Hill". He was able to make several drug buys, which were turned over to Michigan State Police for analysis. The report showed the drugs to be dangerous. Beckett's story revealed both in words and photographs that many of the Beer Hill youths, boys and girls, were in their early teens. The award was presented by Suburban Newspapers of America, an association of weekly and daily newspapers serving suburban areas throughout the country.

Heavy Traffic Predicted As Deer Season Opens

Motorists traveling to northern Michigan retreats the day before the November 15 statewide firearm deer season opener will find themselves part of the heaviest midweek traffic flow since the July Fourth holiday, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Heavy traffic, with some stop-and-go conditions between 5 and 11 p.m., is expected on all major arteries leading into northern Michigan on Thursday (November 14) as the bulk of the 600,000 hunters head north to set up camps and prepare blinds.

"The biggest problem is expected on northbound I-75 between Bridgeport and Bay City, where construction delays have left seven freeway overpass areas with only two lanes open," states Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

"Motorists will have only limited benefit from the added third freeway lane through Saginaw and Bay counties," Ratke points out. "Problems with the delivery of the large steel beams needed for overpass construction has delayed finishing a third lane in these areas until next spring."

In addition, a six-mile portion of I-75 between the extremities of the I-675 Freeway, which services

Saginaw, also remains two lanes. This stretch will not be widened until a new high-level I-75 bridge is built across the Saginaw River to replace the existing drawbridge.

"Southeast Michigan hunters wishing to avoid this area should use I-94 or I-96 and connect with US-27 as an alternate route," Ratke points out. "Completion of a seven-mile stretch of US-127 now enables motorists to bypass Lansing and connect with US-27."

Mackinac Bridge officials expect approximately 22,000 hunter-vehicles to cross the span in both directions before the season ends, which is about the same as last year.

Horse's Mouth

and pleasure horses, cattle and exotic animals.

With the feed costs going up the following are a few suggestions reprinted from the "November Horseman" on cutting feed costs.

People don't feed their horses by weight. They use the volume method — a coffee can of this a can full of that. This can really cost you money.

Take a family that had three horses and the feed used cost $9 per hundred pounds. For several months the feed came in large pellets and the horses were fed out of a scoop that held three pounds of feed.

They were fed by weight so the total feed was slightly over eight scoops or 25 pounds of feed a day.

Then the feed manufacturer started making feed in smaller pellets, which added to the weight per volume.

Novi Victory Clinches Third Straight Crown

Receiver Mike Collins dropped this pass in what looked like a sure TD

Champions again...for the third time in a row!

That's enough to crow about in anyone's statistical scrapbook and the Novi Wildcats are naturally elated as they prepare to host Airport in a non-league season closing game Friday night.

Novi played through its own mistakes last week to edge Milan, 16-7, and thus posted its third straight undisputed championship of the Southeastern Conference.

Only one conference team beat the Green Machine this season and, ironically, it was one of the least powerful of the league teams. That team, Ypsilanti Lincoln, finished the season with a 2-5 mark, while the Wildcats finished 6-1.

Three teams finished in a tie behind the Wildcats — Chelsea, Saline and South Lyon. The three had five wins and two losses.

Of the three championships this one was the most difficult to come by.

In the previous two years, the Wildcats were undefeated; they beat all of their opponents handily. This year Novi lost its non-league opener to Northville, 7-0, and then suffered the 14-13 loss at the hands of Lincoln.

The 1972 champs piled up

402 points and gave up only 57 points in defeating nine teams. The following year, Novi defeated eight teams — this time garnering 270 points while giving up 53.

Through eight games this season (Novi plays a ninth and final game tomorrow against Airport), Coach John Osborne's title holders rolled up 170 points and gave up 83.

Of the three teams that finished just behind the Wildcats this year, Saline proved to be the most difficult. The Hornets barely lost, 12-9. Novi defeated Chelsea, 28-14 and it downed arch-rival South Lyon 26-12.

After having lost to Lincoln in a major upset two weeks ago, Novi had to defeat Milan or share the title with the three runnersup. It had clinched at least a share of the SE crown three weeks ago with the 28-8 triumph over Brighton.

The Big Reds were obviously "up" for the game — probably inspired by Ypsilanti's upset the previous week.

A first quarter fumble — one of three by the Wildcats — produced the first score. Neutz' hands right into the arms of Milan's fastest back,

Bob Stevens kicked the extra point and the Big Reds were outfront, 7-0.

Milan was working on another day as the second quarter got underway when the Wildcats recovered the opposing team's fumble.

On the first play, Novi Quarterback Pat McAllen dropped back to pass, twice eluded would-be tacklers, and then rifled a shot to Randy Wroten who raced into the end zone for the TD. The pass play covered 67 yards.

Halfback Bill Barr, whose ankle sprain has healed, kicked the extra point.

Later in the second stanza Novi again threatened, but a Threatening at Milan's 20, Novi had just a yard to go for a first down when the ball squirted out of Fullback Dan fumble in the end zone produced the touchdown that got Milan out of trouble.

Novi drove deep into Milan territory early in the third period, running out of steam finally at the 16. The Wildcats bounced right back, though, pushing to the Milan 28 where Wroten picked up what appeared to be another touchdown. The "tally" was erased by an illegal procedure play.

On its next crack at the ball, Novi picked up a first down on a pass play, and then McAllen showed his versatility by racing 24 yards for the TD. Again Barr produced the point after touchdown.

Another Novi touchdown was scratched in the final period — this one a 27-yard jaunt by McAllen that was nullified by a holding penalty.

The Wildcats capped their scoring seconds later when on second down at the Milan 3, the Big Red's quarterback, Al Tallas, was sacked in the end zone for the three-point safety.

40-0 Romp

Mustangs Scalp 'Skins

Mustang senior Doug Crisan carried the ball 28 times for a new school yardage record of 203 yards as Northville had a proverbial "field day" beating Milford 40-0 Friday.

It was parents day, when all the fathers of Northville's seniors are honored, but not only the senior fathers were proud—as every player made it into the game.

Northville's defense pushed back Milford time and time again holding the Redskins to minus 11 yards in the first quarter and only six yards in the second period.

It wasn't until the third quarter, as the second stringers started coming into the gridiron match, that Milford did any moving—either on the ground or in the air.

The Mustangs, meanwhile, were unleashing a scoring attack on the winless Redskins that had to leave them wondering why they had bothered to make the long trip.

Halfback Crisan was continually given the ball and ripped through the large holes opened by the Mustang offensive line. The coaches realized before the first period was over that Crisan might just have a shot at the school rushing record of 150 yards.

"I want to know how many yards Doug has," assistant coach Chuck Apap yelled out to his head stats keeper. "Doug's going for a school record."

In that first period Crisan carried the ball 10 times and caught another pass to roll up 63 yards. The team itself had caught fire and in that first period took a punt at its own 43 yardline and started driving.

Crisan grabbed a Lampela pass at the 24 yard line and with a crew of Northville blockers in front drove down to the three yardline.

Three plays later Larry Pink took the ball and scampered 2½ yards on the right side for the first Mustang touchdown.

Kicker Keith Trumbull put over the extra point and then added fuel to the fire as he booted the ball out of the endzone on the kick-off—the fourth time this season he had accomplished that feat.

Four plays later Redskin punter Rick Norton fumbled a high pass from center at the 15 and the ball squibbled around on the field until Mustang captain Jerry Fulcher pounced on it in the endzone to net the second six pointer for the red-hot Northville eleven. Trumbull once again bulls-eyed the extra point but was hurt when a too anxious 'skins player toppled him after the kick.

Senior Dean Mitchell came in to kick-off and after an off-sides penalty against the Mustangs, Milford took the second kick and ran to the Northville 47 yard line. But everything was going for the Mustangs and an "illegal use of hands" call shoved the ball back to the 18 yard line, the point of infraction.

Northville received the punt four plays later and an 18 yard pass to Crisan added to a roughing the passer penalty helped Northville get to the Milford 22 yard line. Two runs by Crisan pushed the Mustangs down to the four yard line and after an illegal procedure call, Lampela hit senior end Bill White with a nine yarder just inside the marker for the third Mustang score of the night.

Trumbull, despite his earlier injury, came in and kicked the extra point.

One play after the kick-off, Jerry Fulcher leaped high into the air to bring down a pass, interception at the Milford 45 and then run the ball back to the Milford 12 yard line. Crisan received the ball on the next play and, running to his right, just touched the endzone mark before being bumped out of bounds to up the Mustang lead.

Trumbull's kick made the score 28-0. At that point the referee threw out of the game Milford's Jim Allie for roughing the kicker and coach Bruce Gilbert was given a 15 yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct. Trumbull was injured again and this time stayed out of the game.

The half ended with Crisan entering the lockerroom with 121 yards rushing.

The second half proved to be a continuation of the first half and Bill White only one minute into the period recovered a Milford fumble which started another scoring drive.

Crisan ran over players on consecutive plays and with 8:21 remaining took the ball on a 30 yard scamper into the endzone, only to see it called back on a clipping penalty.

But that wasn't enough to stop the Mustangs and a 10 yard pass to Crisan was followed by a 25 yard perfect pass to White which hung another six points on the everrising score sheet. A pass from Lampela to Gary Winemaster was no good on the conversion try.

It didn't take Crisan long to reach the 150 mark after the Mustang coaches decided it was time. He dodged his way 38 yards on a run shortly thereafter, and then grabbed the ball on a hand-off at the 34 yardline and jaunted into the endzone to break the old yardage record with 180 yards and to add another TD.

A pass from McGlory to Dean Mitchell was no good on the conversion try and the Mustang scoring for the night ended at 40 points. But, in the closing minutes, the Mustangs gave Crisan his opportunity to go after the 200 yard mark and he made it on an eight yard run with 1:10 remaining.

The victory was complete.

WAITS FOR REBOUND—Novi girls' basketball captain Pat Robinson waits for a rebound during the October 29 win, 34-22, over previously unbeaten Brighton. The win pushed Novi into second place in the Southeastern Conference with a 4-2 record.

Boxing Commissioner

To Speak November 14

Michigan's Boxing Commissioner, Charles P. Davey, will be the guest speaker at the weekly Novi Rotary Club luncheon 12 noon Thursday, November 14 at the Farmington Holiday Inn, 10 Mile Road at Grand River. Davey will talk about the "Future of Boxing".

As a former four-time NCAA championship fighter at Michigan State University in the late 1940's and a rugged welterweight fighter in the early 50's, Davey is knowledgeable on the subject.

He compiled a record of only four defeats in 49 professional fights and defeated such boxers as Rocky Graziano, Ike Williams, Chico Vejar and Carmine Basilio during the infancy of television boxing.

Davey has held the Michigan Boxing Commissioner's post since 1965 and currently is an agent in the life insurance business.

Northville Swimmers

Find Stevenson Tough

Even the best lose sometime, and Northville's girl swimmers found that to be true when they were sunk last Thursday by Livonia Stevenson, one of the top rated teams in the state.

The loss, first for the Mustangs, ended in a final score of 63-20, but despite the difference in the score, Northville coach Karen Turner appeared pleased with her swimmers.

"Even though our competition was difficult, the team had outstanding times again," she said. "Many individual records were set, as well as Vida Mikalonis who broke her own team record in the 100 butterfly with a new mark of 1:06.3."

The league meet is scheduled for next week and Miss Turner notes that a win there will give the team the league championship after five seasons of being second in the league.

The league meet is scheduled for Wednesday at 4 p.m. and Thursday (finals) at 7 p.m. at Farmington Harrison.

Results from the Livonia Stevenson meet were:

JV Eleven Ends Perfect

Mustangs Are Champs

It was an unusual year for the Mustang JV football squad.

Anytime you can beat Novi 50-0 in the first game, Livonia Churchill 14-12 in the last, and record six straight wins in between, that has to be considered unusual.

The Mustangs won the undisputed league championship last Thursday with a cliff-hanging win over Churchill. Northville had to win or settle for a three way tie with Waterford Mott and Churchill. As it was, Northville finished 3-0, Mott 2-1 and Churchill 1-2.

The Mustangs didn't take long to start out the action Thursday. A 95 yard first quarter march was climaxed by a two yard Earl Bingley dive. A running conversion attempt was no good.

Northville then recovered a fumble with five minutes remaining and ended a 30 yard drive with a quarterback sneak touchdown by Greg Armstrong. Mustangs added two points on the conversion pass from Armstrong to Kevin Corcoran.

With a minute and a half remaining in the first half, a fake punt was turned into a pass from Corcoran to Armstrong and went 40 yards to the goal line, but the touchdown was called back because of an illegal motion penalty.

Churchill got into the ballgame with 3:50 remaining in the third period on a nine yard inside reverse play but the conversion attempt was stopped.

With four minutes remaining in the game, the Churchill quarterback went off right tackle on a five yard option play to add a second Churchill TD. The attempt to tie up the game on a conversion run was no good as the Churchill player was stopped by Kerry Steele and a host of Mustang tacklers.

Northville's Rick Marrone came up with an interception at the 10 yard line with 2:14 remaining and ran it to the 25 yardline before being stopped. With 1:19 remaining, Marrone fumbled and Churchill reeled off eight plays in the last minute in a desperate attempt to reach the Mustang goal line. But the attempt fell 10 yards short.

Mustang coach Darrell Schumacher appeared pleased with the win and said that the JV's will help to give the varsity extra depth next year.

"We'll be sending up a host of linebackers and several running backs," said Schumacher. "Several people will be stepping right in and will continue to improve when they move up to the varsity."

He noted that 15-16 sophomores will be going up. "Greg Armstrong will be fighting it out for quarterback, too," Schumacher pointed out. He will have Eric Lampela and Bruce McGlory as competition for that position. Kevin Corcoran will also be stepping into kicker Keith Trumbull's shoes, Schumacher predicted, noting that he is an "excellent kicker".

Assistant coach Cy Nichols gave much of the credit for the win over Churchill to Norm Pratt and Kevin Kratz, who opened up the hole for Greg Armstrong's quarterback sneak touchdown which sewed up the game.

He also said that linebackers Tim Conder and Kevin Corcoran were stand-outs on defense, as well as Chris Missell.

Nichols also gave credit to freshmen Dave Boor and Jeff Weber who started all year at tackle and by the last game were the only players going on both defensive and offensive teams.

REPLAY

with Chuck Shonta

Northville's 40-0 romp over Milford was something different than fans have seen previously this year, Mustang coach Chuck Shonta was quick to point out afterward.

"There was quite a bit of scoring. That's something different than we've seen this year," said Shonta. "Our boys played to their total capability."

Crisan's 200 yard night was not something foreseen at the beginning of the game, but Shonta said he didn't mind helping Crisan along.

"He wanted that 200 yards," said Shonta. "He set a number of offensive goals at the beginning of the season and he wanted to do it. We could see by the start of the second half that he had an excellent shot at it."

"I think he looked as good as he has all season. Actually, he's been carrying the ball just as many times in other games, but the competition wasn't as good this game."

The key play, Shonta said, was the attempted punt by Milford in which the hike went over the punter's head, with Jerry Fulcher recovering.

"Eric Lampela looked good," added Shonta. "He did a nice job of getting out assignments. Bill White also had an exceptional offensive game."

"The whole line did a nice job. We got everybody in. Most of the second half the regulars were on the bench and the ones who were still playing were in there because there weren't any replacements."

"For the first time this year we got a lot of boys hurt. Bill White got a bruised hip when he scored his second touchdown, Wally Armstrong stretched the ligaments in his ankle, Pink bruised his hand, and Trumbull suffered a neck injury."

Shonta was also disturbed about a deliberate attempt by one of Milford's players to injure Keith Trumbull as he was punting.

"The refs kicked the boy out of the game after he ran into Trumbull the second time. It was a deliberate deal. That boy's been thrown out of four other games previously."

While Shonta foresees that Pink and Trumbull will be ready to play Saturday against South Lyon, he expects that White and Armstrong will be out. With the junior varsity season over, Shonta is recruiting several players including quarterback Greg Armstrong, and linebackers Tim Conder and Kevin Corcoran to fill in the final ball game.

"South Lyon has a good team and they have a 6-2 record, the same as we do," said Shonta. "With a good quarterback and good receivers, like they have, it should be a good game."

Jim Paces Tech

Sophomore tailback Jim VanWagner from Novi had another record-setting day for Michigan Tech as the Huskies crushed visiting Southwest Minnesota October 26. The 6-2, 190 pounder carried 30 times for a conference and school record 286 yards and six touchdowns. He scored on runs of 31, 14, 1, 15, 4 and 48 yards as the Huskies rolled up 670 yards in total offense, 511 on the ground.

The 286 yards upped his league total to 1,125 yards, making him the first ever to crack the 1,000-yard mark in league play. He also needs just 95 more yards to break the Michigan Tech single season rushing record of 1,403 set in 1971.

In all, the Huskies set 18 school and conference team and individual marks in their eighth straight win this season. They also wrapped up their fourth Northern Intercollegiate Conference title in the last six years.

Both VanWagner and his brother Tom, team captain and starting offensive guard, were awarded Blue Chips for their performances by the coaching staff.

Fasang's Detroit Score

Wins Football Contest

For the second straight week an extremely close guess of the Detroit game produced the top winner of the Record Football Contest.

Taking first place was Jayne Fasang, a student at the University of Michigan. The winner had three mistakes, but picked Detroit to win by a score of 20-14. That's just one point off the actual, 19-14, score.

Second and third place winners also missed three games, but taking second by virtue of his closer score of the Detroit game was Don Riffenberg of 15841 Portis Road. He guessed Detroit to win by a score of 26-14, while the third place winner, Joe Kritch of 860 Spring Drive, guessed Detroit to win 24-21.

Most often missed of the 16 games in last week's contest were:

Michigan State's win over Wisconsin, 28-21; Northwestern's 21-13 triumph over Minnesota; Duke's 9-0 shutout over Georgia Tech; and Notre Dame's 14-6 victory over Navy.

Four contestants submitted entries with four mistakes. They were Harold Hincey, C. W. Johnston, Greg Bach, and Robert Middleton.

Twenty-six contestants missed five games, and the remainder had six or more wrong.

Announce

Soccer Result

Northville's Penny Arcade Soccer League, organized by the recreation department, has announced final results for the season.

Green team, coached by Ray Smith and Dan Swayne, wrapped up the league championship with a 9-0-1 record. Blue was second at 3-6-1 while yellow finished last with two wins and eight losses.

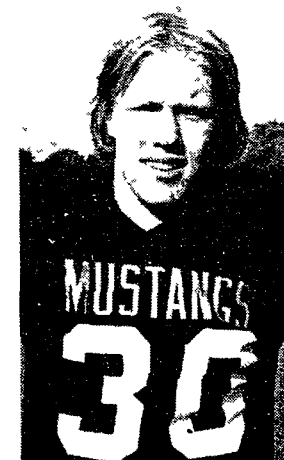

The leading scorer in the league was John Davis with 19 goals in nine games.

An all-star team was also chosen. Members are: Mike Muzzin, Kevin Swayne, Kevin Schugar, John Davis, Russ Ganz, Mark Swayne, Ray Coram, Clark Kreutzberg, Ted Smith, Scott Robbins, Tom Davis, Bob LaPlant, and David McElroy.

Plans are being formulated for the Northville All-Stars to play the Farmington team.

Mustang of the Week

It's always tough to choose a Mustang of the Week and this week it was harder than most as no Mustang had what could be described as a poor game. There were several stand-outs both on offense and defense in the 40-0 trouncing of Milford. But the award this week goes to senior Bill White who put in a solid performance both offensively and defensively. White contributed heavily to the cause as he scored two touchdowns, both by way of passes. One was a nine yarder and another for 25 yards. Defensively he recovered a crucial Milford fumble which started one of the Mustang scoring drives.

Open Swim Times Set

Open swimming times for persons using the Northville High School Pool went into effect, Saturday, and will continue through May 29.

According to Karen Turner, swimming program coordinator, the pool will be open for use by swimmers of all ages.

Mondays, the pool is open from 8 to 9:30 p.m.;

Wednesdays 8 to 9:30 p.m.;

and Saturdays, 1 to 3 p.m.

The pool will not be open during school vacations, any home basketball games and swimming meets, Miss Turner said.

Cost for use of the pool is 65 cents for students and $1 for adults. All girls must wear bathing caps and everyone must bring his own suit and towel. Boys may not wear cutoffs as bathing suits.

Children under eight years of age must be accompanied by an adult and all swimmers are asked to use the side door when entering and leaving the building. The door is located between the music and physical education departments, just off the west side parking lot at the high school.

For further information, contact Miss Turner between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. at 349-3400, extension 273.

McGuire Coordinator

For New Horizons

Appointment of James McGuire as contract coordinator-western region is announced by New Horizons of Oakland County, a United Foundation-supported vocational rehabilitation facility.

"Mr. McGuire's appointment reflects increasing emphasis on procurement of industrial contracts for New Horizons," said Executive Director Glen D. Smith. "McGuire will be responsible for industrial contacts west of Woodward Avenue in the Detroit metropolitan area, with Gary Nichols assigned a similar responsibility for the area east of Woodward."

Both McGuire and Nichols will report to William H. Collins, industrial coordinator, Smith said.

New Horizons has a work force of 235 at shops in Pontiac, Madison Heights and Farmington Hills, according to Smith. He said New Horizons has a ten-year track

Students to Get Preview During Career Week Here

Northville Public Schools is marking Career Week with several career oriented programs in all of its schools next week.

Speakers have been invited to the schools to make presentations to students about their careers, including information on working conditions, training and qualifications, salary and fringe benefits and availability of jobs.

Film strips, films and cassettes will also be used to give students needed information about job opportunities, commented

Fred Holdsworth, coordinator of career and vocational education.

At Northville High, each department will have presentation on careers next week. Among the occupations being previewed are psychiatry, police work, social work, law, politics, Federal Bureau of Investigation, judicial, news reporting, court reporting, travel service, urban planning and diplomatic service.

Other speakers will discuss the Peace Corps, customs inspection, environmentalism, diplomatic service, airlines and foreign language interpretation.

Programs at Cooke Middle School, Cooke Annex and the elementary school will also emphasize career opportunities through special career awareness programs.

Novi Sets Art Auction

Novi Jaycee Auxiliary will feature an art auction November 15 at the Village Oaks Clubhouse, 22730 Heatherbrae Way.

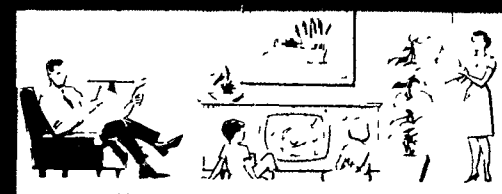

A champagne preview begins at 7:30 p.m. with the auction beginning at 8:30 p.m. Fred Grossman is the exhibitor and works by Hibel, Mercier, and Dali will be displayed.

Donation is $1 and tickets will be sold at the door. Proceeds will be used for community projects. Purchases may be charged and a door prize will be given. For further information, call 478-1516 or 349-6134.

PARSON to PERSON

Cedric Whitcomb, Pastor

The twenty-third Psalm is probably one of the most familiar passages of scripture in the entire Bible. It seems to find its way into so many funeral occasions and has been a source of comfort to millions of people in a variety of circumstances.

Immediately after World War II the allied armies gathered up many hungry and homeless children and placed them in large refugee camps, to be fed and cared for. But many of these war-scarred children had much deeper needs. As a result of the months of tragic conflict, many of them could not sleep well at night. They were restless and afraid.

Finally a doctor hit upon a solution to this problem. After the children were put to bed, they each received a slice of bread to hold. If they wanted more to eat, more was provided, but this particular slice was just held. The slice of bread produced marvelous results. The children went soundly to sleep, confident, they would have something more to eat—tomorrow!

This is the kind of confidence David speaks of when he says, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." The sheep know that the shepherd has made provision for the grazing tomorrow. Because the shepherd has cared for today, we know He'll care for tomorrow.

Do you know the Lord Jesus Christ as your own personal shepherd? You can!

Police Blotter: Investigate Accidents, Break-Ins

In Township

Three persons were injured in two separate one-car rollover accidents in Northville township over the weekend.

The first took place at 12:15 a.m. Saturday on Haggerty Road, one-half mile south of Six Mile Road. Taken to St. Mary Hospital with head injuries was Jill Dorton of Farmington.

Township police said she was a passenger in a car driven by Brendan Gerard Dillon of Livonia. He was not injured.

Dillon said he was southbound on Haggerty when he lost control of the car, went up the lawn at Dun Rovin Golf Course and the car overturned, landing on the passenger side. Witnesses righted the vehicle and took the girl to the hospital, police said.

The second accident took place at 3:15 a.m. Sunday on Seven Mile 100 feet east of Edenderry Drive.

Police said a car driven by Michael Luther Jordan of Inkster went out of control and rolled over twice, landing right side up on the front lawn of 45850 Seven Mile Road.

Two passengers in the car, Pamela S. MacGregor of 17373 Ridge and Dennis R. Newman of 46655 West Seven Mile Road, sustained minor

No tickets were issued in either of the accidents, police said.

Two break-ins were reported to township police Sunday morning.

A circular saw, tool box and tools, valued at $120, were taken from the garage of a home on Six Mile Road near Hines Drive after unknown persons forced open a window to gain entry.

Meadowbrook Country Club Pro Shop was broken into late Saturday or early Sunday after the door was smashed to gain entry. Investigation is continuing in both cases.

Five thefts, occurring within the past week, were reported to township police.

A fire sign, deacon's bench and milk can were stolen from the front porch of a home on Old Bedford between last week Wednesday and Thursday.

Two bicycles were reported missing. An orange 10-speed 26-inch Schwinn was stolen from the Quik Pik store on Five Mile Road about 4 p.m. last Wednesday. A German made 24-inch purple bike, valued at $100, was taken from the garage of a home on Winchester between October 26 and 27.

A revolving barber pole, valued at $250, was taken from the outside wall of Lake Pointe Barber Shop over the weekend. Also removed from the door of the store was lettering and spray paint damaged the rear of the building.

A tape deck was stolen from a car parked on Sunnydale last week. The tape deck was taken from the locked car between 8 and 9 p.m. last Wednesday.

Front window of a home on Ridge Court was damaged sometime Thursday evening by what police believe was a BB gun. A one-inch hole was put in the 12 foot by three foot window, reports said.

Five mailboxes were damaged between October 27 and 29. Three mailboxes were knocked down on Sutters Lane while one was torn from its post on Thornapple. A can of oil stain damaged a mailbox and mail on Elk Road.

In Northville

Two buildings on Main Street were broken into during the past week with police detectives continuing to investigate both incidents.

A total of 22 cases of beer and one case of wine, valued at $114.65, were stolen from Joe's Little Bar at 157 East Main Street between 9:45 p.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday.

According to reports, the screen door was forced open and the inside door kicked in to gain access to the storeroom.

The First Presbyterian Church at 200 East Main Street was entered sometime between 10 p.m. Thursday and 9 a.m. Friday after a window was broken.

Police said offices were rifled but nothing has been discovered missing.

A two-year-old Northville youth was treated for cuts and bruises he received Monday afternoon when the car in which he was riding was involved in an accident on Northville Road just south of Seven Mile.

City police were called by Northville township police to handle the accident which took place shortly before 2 p.m. because no township cars were available.

Treated at St. Mary hospital was Christopher D. Piskor. He was a passenger in a car driven by his mother, Sharon L. Piskor of 18675 Jamestown Circle.

Police reports said Mrs. Piskor was coming out of the gas station near the corner when she was struck by a northbound car driven by Daniel J. Moore of 18769 Innsbrook Drive. No tickets were issued.

A 1973 Thunderbird stolen Saturday night from South Main Street near the VFW

Hall was recovered by Detroit Police the following day.

The car, owned by a Brighton man, was found in an alley in the 14th Precinct by Detroit Auto Squad shortly before 1:30 p.m. Sunday. The ignition had been punched, police said.

Two cars were broken into in parking lots Saturday between 8 and 11 p.m.

A 1974 model parked at Northville Downs was entered and a travel bag, maps, books and gloves taken. The car was locked at the time of the theft.

An eight-track tape player and 11 tapes were stolen from a 1972 model vehicle parked in Northville Square lot. Police said a screwdriver was found on the passenger's side.

Five incidents of vandalism to cars were reported over the weekend. Wiper blade arms were broken off or damaged on vehicles parked on Carrington and Sherrie Lane between 9 and 11 p.m. Saturday, while a mirror was damaged Sunday night on a vehicle parked on South Rogers Street.

A Flint man reported to police that $320 was stolen Friday night at Northville Downs after his pocket was picked.

He told police a man put his hand on his shoulder, talked to him and left, after which he discovered his wallet missing.

An outside showcase at the P and A Theater on East Main Street was broken and a poster advertising "Gone With the Wind" taken.

The theft took place between midnight Saturday and noon Sunday.

City police were forced to destroy a Siamese cat Sunday night which residents reported had been attacked by two dogs.

The cat, found on Springfield with two broken front legs and internal injuries, had been attacked by two medium size dogs, one of them brown, neighbors told police. The incident took place about 10 p.m.

Two break-ins are under investigation by city police this week.

Two tool boxes and tools, valued at $500, were stolen from a car parked in the 500 block of Novi Street late last week Monday or early Tuesday. Police reports said the car was locked at the time of the theft.

Theft of a trailer from Huff Welding on Novi Road was reported last week Tuesday. Police said the trailer, valued at $1,500, had been stolen sometime in September.

D & C STORES, Inc.
Downtown Northville
Open Daily 9 to 6
Friday 9 to 9

More than $100 damage was done to a 1973 model car parked on Novi Street near Hill Street late last Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Unknown persons broke the windshield of the car and punched a hole in the front fender. Police theorize the hole was made with a crow bar type tool.

A wallet stolen from a locker at Northville High School before 7:45 a.m. Wednesday was found later the same morning. The wallet was recovered on the grounds near the school, reports said.

A television set and stereo were stolen from an apartment on Novi Road sometime October 22. The case is still under investigation, detectives said.

In Novi

Three juveniles have been arrested and charged in an attempted breaking and entering in the 47200 block of Nine Mile Road October 26.

Police received a report of a B & E in progress at 3 p.m. and later found that a resident at the home had exited out a back door when the youths approached the home and started trying to get in. She contacted neighbors.

Roadblocks netted the arrests. Two of the youths are age 16 while the third is 14. They are all from Farmington Hills and their hearings are scheduled for Oakland County Juvenile Court.

A 36 year-old Walled Lake woman was arrested Halloween night for felonious assault after she allegedly tried to run down with her car several persons who had allegedly hit her earlier in the night with eggs.

According to Detective Lieutenant William Faulkner, Mary E. Parker, was charged in the incident, which occurred at South Lake Drive and Eubank in Novi.

Faulkner said approximately 50-75 teenagers, adults, and parents of the teenagers had gathered at that point earlier and hit her with eggs as she drove through. She was also allegedly pushed to the ground when she left the car.

She then left, and came back a little later with several people. An altercation ensued between some of those present, Faulkner reported and the woman then allegedly tried to run over a group of the people.

At the same location, Novi detectives that night arrested a 16 year-old Wixom juvenile for malicious destruction of property to an automobile.

Hearing will be held in Oakland County Juvenile Court.

Approximately $300 was taken from Little Caesars on Ten Mile Road October 22 after burglars entered through a roof after hours.

The burglars left with a cash register which was later recovered at the rear of the building. It had been damaged. They left by breaking a window.

Novi police October 25 arrested a man lying on the front yard of Jackson Landscaping, 42350 for carrying a loaded handgun.

Arrested was James Mench, 28, of Farmington Hills.

According to officer Charlie Brown, the arrest was made at 2:05 p.m. Mench had been riding a motorcycle when he parked it on the shoulder of Grand River and laid down on the lawn.

He claimed that he was carrying the gun because his life had been threatened. It was unregistered.

Mench was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and arraigned. He was released on $1,000 personal bond pending preliminary examination.

In Wixom

Wixom police are searching for a man dressed in a makeshift police uniform and driving a car with a red flasher who November 1 pulled over a woman driver and then exposed himself.

The man allegedly ran into the woman's car and then used a red flashing light on his vehicle to get her to stop. He showed her a badge and then used a flashlight to expose himself. The incident occurred at night.

The woman stated that the same man had followed her the previous night and tried to get her to pull off the road, but that she had not reported it.

She said the subject was driving a light colored car, possibly a Pinto station wagon, with a rack on top and a red flashing light. He was wearing a makeshift police uniform which had no department patch.

The subject was described as a white male with light blond brush cut hair. He was 6 feet 1 inch tall, 185 pounds with a mark around the corner of his mouth.

On Devil's Night

Calls Keep Squads Busy

That collective sign of relief heard Thursday may well have come from the City Police Department at the end of Halloween.

Although a few incidents of vandalism were reported the day after Devil's Night, Thursday proved to be a comparatively quiet day. That is, compared to last Wednesday when police handled 27 Halloween related calls between 7:15 and 11:15 p.m.

Five broken window complaints, all occurring around 10 p.m., have been linked to two youths apprehended by police. The two have admitted the damage and will make restitution, police said.

Another youth, caught egging a house in Village Green, cleaned up the results of his prank while officers were at the scene.

Although calls from citizens started backing up about 10 p.m., city police were able to keep up with the steady activity throughout the rest of the evening.

The first Halloween related call came in at 7:15 p.m. with a juvenile disturbance reported at Thayer and Eaton.

7:32 — juveniles throwing eggs on East Chigwidden.
7:36 — subject riding in trunk of car on Allen Drive.
7:47 — residents squirting people with garden hose on West Main Street across from middle school annex.

7:47 — juvenile disturbance at Rogers and Thayer.

7:51 — rocks being thrown from overpass at Moraine Elementary.

7:54 — youths pulling down stop sign at Baseline and Grace.

8 — car windows being soaped at Fairbrook Apartments.

8:05 — traffic stop Novi Street and Allen Drive.

8:08 — suspicious car in Rural Hill Cemetery.

8:22 — egging on Orchard Drive.

8:47 — juvenile disturbance Randolph and High.

9:07 — egging cars on Grace south of Baseline.

9:27 — juveniles throwing things at house on Grace.

9:41 — prowler on roof of P&A Theater.

9:48 — suspicious car on Park Place.

10:05 — rock thrown through window on Carrington.

10:13 — rock thrown through window on Ely Drive South.

10:13 — suspicious persons around cars on Lake Street.

10:24 — window reported broken on Welch Street.

10:24 — tree limb down on Wing at Wing Court.

10:24 — juveniles congregating on hill behind Burger Chef.

10:54 — egging on Carpenter Street.

11 — juvenile trouble on Carpenter Street.

11:18 — suspicious car on Lexington Court.

A fifth window, on Maplewood, was reported broken the following day.

Handling the calls that evening were four city police cars plus a foot patrol in the downtown area. And in between the Halloween calls, police continued their routine patrol and made two traffic arrests.

On Halloween, police received one report of a golf ball being thrown through a window on South Wing Street.

"For the first time, Northville township had a beat patrol," Township Police Chief Ronald Nisun commented last week.

The occasion? Devil's Night. Two township reserve officers patrolled Northville Commons, Northville Colony, Highland Lakes and Edenderry during various times on Devil's Night.

Nisun said the activity this year in the township "was higher than usual because of the nice weather."

Five cars were patrolling the township, he added, and there were no reports of serious damage.

"Rock throwing, soaping and egging were extremely heavy," he said. No arrests were made but several groups of subjects were ordered from subdivisions. One van with seven youths from Rochester was found in Edenderry, the chief said.

Damage in the township included letting air out of car tires, knocking down mailboxes, throwing burning objects at cars and turning on a fire hydrant.

Police said the activity slowed down markedly at 10:30 p.m. and ended at midnight.

Youths of all ages were involved in pranks that night Nisun said, adding that he caught one "seven or eight year old with a tomato."

And one of the police cars did get soaped "while we were talking to a group of kids, warning them about soaping windows."

Northville City Council Minutes

October 21, 1974

In the absence of Mayor Allen, Mayor Pro Tem Vernon called the meeting to order at 8:04 p.m.

ROLL CALL: Present: Folino, Nichols, Vernon, Allen (out due to oral surgery), Bery.

CLAUDE N. ELY AWARD: The presentation of the Claude N. Ely Award was postponed until the next meeting.

MINUTES OF PREVIOUS MEETING: Minutes of the October 7 meeting were reviewed on page 3, third paragraph, change to "...subject to the Township doing the same."

Minutes stand approved as corrected.

MINUTES OF BRDS & COMMISSIONS: Minutes of the Library Advisory Commission were reviewed and placed on file.

POLICE REPORT: The Police Report for September was reviewed and placed on file. Councilman Folino suggested Captain Westfall attend a Council work session to discuss the report. A meeting date will be set in the near future.

APPROVAL OF BILLS: Councilman Folino questioned check No. 1002. City Manager will report back with a letter.

Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman Folino to approve the bills as presented, with No. 1002 to be checked into by the City Building Authority No. 1.

Carried unanimously.

Carried unanimously.

COMMUNICATIONS: Letter from Eugene Wagner, President of the Northville Square Merchants Association, requesting the closing of Main St. between Wing and Center on Thursday, October 31, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. for a tractor drawn hayride. The ride will start in front of the Square and proceed through the north parking lot back onto Main.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols to approve the hayride subject to notification of the Police and Fire Departments.

Carried unanimously.

Letter from Liquor Control Commission requesting Council action upon the application from the Drawbridge for a new Entertainment Permit for the Drawbridge.

Carried unanimously.

Letter from Mr. and Mrs. Butske, 930 N. Center, urging the adoption of a strong anti-motorcycle racing ordinance. A letter will be sent to the Butskes thanking them for writing and to tell them Council is working on an ordinance.

Letter from the Director of Licensing Division acknowledging the resolution Council adopted requesting legislation to amend Public Act 38 of 1953, giving legislative bodies of all municipalities the right to approve or disapprove SDD and SDD licenses. This will be presented to the Liquor Commission for consideration.

Letter from C.J. Armstrong asking permission for the Junior Athletic Association to sell their Christmas trees on the corner of Cady and Wing in the City park.

Eugene Wagner, President of the Square Merchants Association, commented that the merchants are in favor of the trees being sold at the Wing and Cady location, as it would benefit both the Square stores and the Junior Athletic Association.

Council questioned the number of trees to be sold and the certificate of insurance needed. This will be on the next agenda when more information will be available.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: None.

PUBLIC HEARING ON ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT RE PARKING REQUIREMENTS: Mayor Pro Tem Vernon opened the Public Hearing on the amendment to the Zoning Ordinance regarding parking requirements.

Councilman Nichols stated he felt the recommendations from the Plan Commission should be accepted.

Dr. LaRue, dentist in the professional center, read a letter from Dr. Sinkovits, a dentist in the same office, which stated that the parking is inadequate present and more space should be provided for PBO rather than less.

Councilman Vernon replied that a different formula has been worked out that would probably add more spaces.

Jim Long, 409 Fairbrook Ct., asked what the definition is for useable floor space.

Councilman Vernon replied that gross floor space will be used to calculate parking requirements, rather than useable.

There being no further comments, the public hearing on the Zoning Ordinance amendment for parking requirements was closed.

Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman Folino to adopt the amendment as proposed with the incorporation of changes as suggested by the Plan Commission.

Carried unanimously.

PUBLIC HEARING ON BUILDING CODE: Mayor Pro Tem Vernon opened the public hearing on the Building Code.

Councilman Nichols questioned Section 127.2, as he felt the Zoning Board of Appeal members are laymen and perhaps wouldn't be knowledgeable enough to be the Building Code Board of Appeals. He also questioned Section 874.10, stating he wanted masonry walls between each unit.

Councilman Folino agreed on the masonry walls but added he thought the ordinance should be passed tonight and this section amended later.

Councilman Nichols asked about the use of sheet asbestos for a fire wall.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt the Building Code as presented.

Yeas: Folino, Vernon, Nays: Nichols.

Motion failed for lack of required three affirmative votes.

Councilman Nichols asked that this be on the next agenda and for the City Engineer and Building Inspector to be present.

PUBLIC HEARING ON ELECTRICAL CODE: Mayor Pro Tem Vernon opened the public hearing on the Electrical Code.

There being no comments, the public hearing on the Electrical Code was closed.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt the Electrical Code as presented.

Carried unanimously.

NORTHVILLE SQUARE SIGN: The Northville Square, represented by Gene Westfall, submitted a sketch of a sign they want put up on city property on the south side of the Square. This would advertise the Square as a shopping center and also announce community events, as well as point to the parking lot. After Council approval this will go to Historical and Planning.

Council expressed concern that the approval of the sign might establish a precedent for other public lots.

Mr. Wagner pointed out that the Square stores have a unique problem in that there is no way of advertising the shops from the outside since they are in a mall, while the other stores in town have fronts on which to advertise.

Jac LeGoff, owner of the Book Mark, stressed that the stores need some sort of identification and asked for Council's support.

Motion by Councilman Folino to approve the concept of the sign as presented on the south parking lot and any restrictions to be left to the Historic District and Planning Commissions.

Motion withdrawn by Councilman Folino to reward Councilman Nichols support by Councilman Nichols to allow a sign on the south parking lot subject to the usual building department requirements.

Carried unanimously.

NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK: Mrs. Dorothy Guido was present to request a proclamation for National Business Women's Week.

Mayor Pro Tem Vernon signed the proclamation declaring the week of Oct. 21 to Oct. 26 National Business Women's Week.

PETITION TO REZONE PART OF LOT 553, PLAT 6: Memo from City Manager reviewed concerning the rezoning of Lot 553, Plat 6, from R 1 B to GCD as requested by petition dated 8-28-74.

Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman Folino to publish with intent to adopt on November 4 the rezoning request for Lot 553, Plat 6.

Carried unanimously.

CENTER ST. RESOLUTION: Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman Folino to adopt the resolution including Center St. in the City's street system for gas and weight limit distribution.

Carried unanimously.

A traffic control order will be prepared to post weight limit signs on Center.

EMPLOYEE RECOGNITION DINNER: C.A. Smith from the Rotary Club extended an invitation to all elected and appointed officials and all city employees to attend a dinner on Tuesday, November 12, at 6:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church.

Councilman Vernon noted that the City used to have an annual dinner a few years ago but they were discontinued due to lack of organizational help. This year the Rotary Club has offered to organize the dinner.

Council gave unanimous approval for the dinner.

RANDOLPH DRAIN: Resolution was presented for a policy position on the Randolph Drain.

Councilman Folino felt another paragraph should be added concerning noise causing great delays in the project.

Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman Folino to adopt the resolution on the Randolph Drain policy, with a copy to be sent to the Drain Board and the City of Novi.

Carried unanimously.

COPY MACHINE: Memo from City Manager received recommending the City terminate its copy machine lease with Xerox and enter into a lease with a purchase option with 3M Company for the model VQC II Copier.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols to approve the leasing of the 3M VQC II Copier.

Carried unanimously.

OFF-STREET PARKING STUDY: Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols authorizing the Mayor and Clerk to sign the Off-Street Parking Study Agreement between Ronald Nino and the City of Northville.

Carried unanimously.

RECREATION MEMBERS: Letter received from Northville Twp stating they will appoint one new member to the Recreation Commission at their next meeting.

The City will appoint their new member at the November 4th meeting.

RESOLUTION FOR 1975 RACING DATES: Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt the resolution to join in legal action against the State Racing Commission's 1975 racing schedule.

Carried unanimously.

LIST OF MATTERS REFERRED: Disposition of vacant property where the Green Apts were is to be researched by City Manager.

A report was requested on Senior Citizens Housing for the next meeting.

The Amusement Machine Ordinance, the race track age limit, and use of vehicles on private vacant land are to be reported on by the City Attorney at the next meeting.

City Park dedications will be on the next agenda.

hearing on the Electrical Code was closed.

Motion withdrawn by Councilman Folino to reward Councilman Nichols support by Councilman Nichols to allow a sign on the south parking lot subject to the usual building department requirements.

Carried unanimously.

the Plan Commission's recommendations on Soil Erosion and Landscape Ordinances.

MISCELLANEOUS: Councilman Nichols noted that the entrance on Allen Drive is full of chuckholes and recommended this be filled in before winter.

Councilman Vernon mentioned that Mrs. Vernon and Bea Carlson are accepting an award from Keep Michigan Beautiful for the Beautification Commission's work during the past year. Leopold Schell from the Drawbridge will be accepting an award tomorrow.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 11:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Patricia Rajda

New books available in the public library this week include:

IN NOVI ADULT READING

"Something Happened," Joseph Heller; This is Heller's first novel since "Catch 22," as different in mood from "Catch" as possible, but just as devastating in its perceptions of the American scene today. Concerned with business, marital and family responsibilities as was Heller's first novel.

"Storm's End," Rebecca James; Storm's End is the name of the big gloomy mansion in upstate New York that Constance Britton goes to when she comes out of the hospital after an attack of amnesia. She must now reconstruct her life with the help of her husband and secretary; except there are parts of her past which no one will talk about. What had she done or what had been done to her to make them so afraid?

"Jessamy Court," Anne Maybury; Rachel Fleming is called to the hospital to try to help her school friend, Stephanie Clair, who is suffering from a paralyzing emotional experience. The attending physician feels that the recent death of the girl's mother, a great ballerina, is not enough to account for the complete psychological withdrawal. Rachel decides to assume her friend's identity and visit her mother's villa to search for some explanation for the strange events which led to the woman's death.

"Buckeye," Robert Vane: A study of Coach Woody Hayes and the Ohio State football team.

"The Comedy World of Stan Laurel," John McCabe: This book takes an informal look at one of the all-time masters of comedy, Stan Laurel. From his many talks with Laurel himself and interviews with people "in the business," the author gives a sympathetic portrait of the man whose whimpering cry continues to give joy to audiences wherever his films are shown.

"In Search of Ancient Gods," Erich VonDaniken; In his new book, VonDaniken offers the virtual total of the photos he has made around the world over many years. These, he argues, sum up in visual terms his evidence supporting his belief that prehistorically extraterrestrial visitors possessing a technology surpassing our own landed on our planet, remained perhaps for 20 years and departed. Book contains 376 photos, 57 in color, showing an eerie pattern.

Cans littering parking lot are slated to join the heap Alvin Daniel overlooks

On Sunday Morning

Litter's Big Headache

"It's like a large garbage dump," is the way Ted Mapes, a assistant superintendent of the city's DPW, describes one of the municipal parking lots on Sunday morning.

Littering in parking lots has become a major problem in the city where a workman spends two hours daily "just picking up all the trash people leave behind," he reports.

Biggest headaches are the six-packs and bags of empty beer and wine bottles piled here and there in the parking lot. Often, the bottles are broken and scattered.

Most of the littering occurs in the parking lot on the south side of the Northville Square, although littering occurs in all the parking lots—including on both levels of the parking deck, says Mapes, who had workmen pile a week of collected trash in front of the DPW office to dramatize the size of the problem.

Considers MESC Plans

Continued from Novi, One to initiate an appeal system which could end up being not only costly, but a very large headache. The appeal system could be a board of one or more persons. An unfavorable decision by the appeal board may be further appealed in court.

"This could be an expense of $7,371 plus, a year, whether we had layoffs or not. We do not need unnecessary expense. Therefore, this alternative is not recommended for the City of Novi either," said Mrs. Loynes. She also noted that the 2.7 per cent rate would be used only for three years until an adjustment would be made based on an "experience factor".

OBITUARIES

ANDRIES KELLER

Funeral services were held Monday morning for Andries G. Keller of Westland who died October 31 in St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor, at the age of 44. He had been ill for the past nine months.

A lifelong resident of the area, he was born July 14, 1930, in Salem, the son of George A. and Evelyn Trosst Keller.

Mr. Keller was a tool and die maker for Dunsteel Company of Plymouth and was a member of Northville Flying Robots model airplane club.

Surviving are his widow, Shirley Bilek Keller, his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Ling of Northville, two daughters, Michelle of Lakewood, Florida, Karen of Westland, and three sons, Michael Keller of Plymouth, Todd Keller of Lakewood, and Steve Copeland of Westland.

He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Andrea Pingley of Las Vegas, Mrs. Jacquelyn Austin of Atlanta, Georgia, and three brothers, John Ling of Plymouth, Daniel Ling and Thomas Ling both of Westland.

Services were held at the Casterline Funeral Home with cremation at Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

ROY D. BENTLEY

Funeral services were held October 7 for Roy Dickson Bentley of Tampa, Florida, who died October 3 at the age of 48.

Mr. Bentley was the stepson of the late Frederick D. Moshier, former resident of Northville.

Born October 15, 1925, in Bay City, he was a veteran of World War II, having served with the US Navy.

He is survived by his widow, Margaret, of Tampa, two daughters, Marta of Tampa, Mrs. Larry Gilmore of St. Petersburg, Virginia, and a son, Mark M. Bentley of West Palm Beach.

Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Leila Moshier, a sister, Mrs. Alice Wilson, a nephew, Daniel, and a niece, Kathleen, Wilson, all of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Funeral services were held at the B. Marion Reed Chapel in Tampa where the Reverend Frank N. Cooper of St. John's Episcopal Church officiated. Burial was in Sunset Memory Gardens, Tampa, with arrangements made by B. Marion Reed Funeral Home.

Iceemen Post Wins Over Livonia, Wayne

In Northville Hockey action, Bantam "A" Travel team won a pair while the Squirts were dumped twice.

Against Livonia, Bantam "A", sponsored by Northville Botanical Products, won 3-2. Kevin Mills, Tom Vaughn and Neil Bradley tallied the goals, while assists were given to Kevin Mills, Dan McMann and Charlie Cassidy.

The Bantam "A" team had an easier time against Wayne, winning 6-0.

Charlie Cassidy and Tim Alexander each racked up two goals while Tim Marshall and Kevin Mills added the remainder.

Two assists were given to Neil Bradley and Jeff Laverty while Tom Vaughn, Jerry Sherwood, Tim Alexander, Roger Pattison and Scott MacLennan tallied one apiece.

Against Southfield, Northville Squirt's Scott Schall opened the scoring with a minute and a half gone. He was assisted by Ken Winemaster and Jeff Hasting.

Southfield tied the game with 23 seconds remaining in the first period, then added two more in the second and a final tally in the third.

Against Garden City, the Squirts just could not get untracked and were bumped 5-0.

Of all the National Football League teams, which one do you think has finished in first place the most different years? ... The answer may surprise you... The answer is the New York Giants... They've finished in first place 15 different seasons.

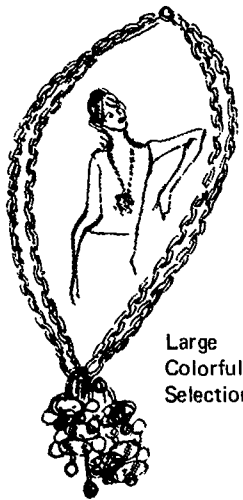

And, of all the NFL teams today, which ones have NEVER finished in first place in their divisions at the end of any season? ... There are only three teams that have never finished first — Atlanta, New Orleans and Denver.

The Heisman Trophy, given to the boy voted the best college football player each year, is almost always given to a senior — but four times in history a junior has won it... Can you guess which juniors have won the Heisman? ... They were Doc Blanchard of Army in 1945, Doak Walker of SMU in 1948, Vic Janowicz of Ohio State in 1950 and Roger Staubach of Navy in 1963... And, incidentally, two sophomores have come close to winning the Heisman... Angelo Bertelli of Notre Dame was second in 1941 and Glenn Davis of Army finished second in 1944.

I bet you didn't know... that oil changes, tune-ups and many other services were available at the Uniroyal Dunlap Tire store...

By NANCY DINGELDEY
The Northridge treasure hunt staged this past weekend had to rate as a real doozey and a brain ratter to boot. To say that the Victory's and the Hollister's outdid themselves is the understatement of the year...I wonder just how many sleepless nights they had dreaming up the whole event. There were scarecrows out in fields that weren't "dummies", clues hidden inside candles, an absolutely hideous take-off on the kids word game of hangman, and probably the first "peep-show" in the history of Wixom set-up right in the Mayor's backyard.

Prizes were awarded to all the cars participating when the group met at the Wolverine Lounge on Glengary Road. First prize honors, $50 and the hosts of another treasure hunt next spring are Jeanne and Dennis Andrews and Jackie and Mickey McDonald. Coming in second and rewarded with $25 were Liz and Rich Peck and Rita and Dan Regal. Third place of $15 divided six ways went to the team of Bonnie and Denny Haight, Pam and Tony Dodge and Shona and Dan Baker. It appears that the Northridgers really know how to read the clues. The booby prize went to Ramona and Ross McDonald and Glenda and Gerry Terwilliger...they got two books on "what to do on a treasure hunt" perhaps the library ought to buy a few of them for their shelves. The "peep show" at Vangieson's was the piece d'resistance. And it looks as though John had the last word in the "gentle" needle game that has gone on between the two couples since the first Northridge hunt over a year ago. At any rate, it was a fun evening even if some people get a little hyper. It's getting so there's hardly a dull moment in Wixom these days. Starting back with the library open house a week ago, there was a steady stream of visitors throughout the afternoon to view the new quarters. Kids weren't the only ones who enjoyed the puppet show presentation of the "Elephant's Child" staged by the Friends of the Library. Fred Walters of Northridge folded his frame into the puppet theatre and did a terrific job as the voice of the puppets. New books are being added monthly and the selection of best seller books for adults in both hard and soft cover should please Wixom's library patrons.

Beginning today (Thursday) and continuing through tomorrow, the V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliary is sponsoring a rummage sale at the Post on Loon Lake Road. Hours are from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. with all proceeds of the sale going to charity. A last reminder to circle November 14 on your calendar as an evening of entertainment. That's next Thursday night when the Friends of the Library sponsor Joe Clark, the nationally known hillbilly cameraman at 8 p.m. at City Hall. Sure to be a program to be enjoyed by both husband and wife, all are welcome at absolutely no charge. Arthur Cronin has been appointed as a general member of the National Foreign Relations Council of the American Legion during its National Executive Committee meeting held in October. Art's appointment to the committee runs until the close of the 1975 Fall meeting. His function basically is to further the interest in the principles of the foreign relations program as advocated by the Legion. The appointment is also a recognition of the years of service which Art has given to the Legion and calls for a continuation of his efforts. An even bigger and better annual Holiday Boutique is planned for Saturday, November 23 with many new artists exhibiting. The Finnish Women's Auxiliary is planning to serve a light ethnic luncheon throughout the day...the Wixom Extension Club will have the drawing during the afternoon for their beautifully done hand-made quilt, plus a host of other interesting goin's-on. Plan to attend...hours for the day are set for 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ACCEPTS AWARD — Bea Carlson (right) accepts an award presented last week to the Northville Beautification Commission for working "faithfully to preserve and enhance the beauty of their quaint and historic 'little town in the hills'." In presenting the award, Mrs. William A. Sullivan, president of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, noted that the commission acts as a liaison between other groups in the community "to encourage participation in continuous environmental improvement, beautification and clean-up activities." Also receiving an award during the annual meeting in Lansing of Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc. was the Drawbridge Restaurant of Northville for preservation of a historical building.

'Learning Limits' Topic

"Limits on Learning" will be discussed by Dr. James Sonnega, Plymouth child psychologist, at the November meeting of the Plymouth-Northville Chapter, MACLD, at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 20, in Plymouth Pioneer Middle School cafeteria.

Dr. Sonnega, the chapter states, has had 20 years' experience in working with children with different handicaps and their resulting problems. He received all his degrees from University of Michigan where he also has taught.

He has been affiliated with Lafayette Clinic and Hawthorn Center. Parents, teachers and MACLD members are invited.
