

Schoolcraft College's Executive Chief Robert Breithaupt

College Culinary Arts Chefs Cook Up Excellent Entree

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

No educational department commands more widespread respect at Schoolcraft College than the "classrooms" behind the cafeteria line.

In fact the culinary arts program at the college is considered one of the top three in the United States, and this distinction is producing long waiting lists of young candidates to get into the school.

There are 250 youngsters currently on the waiting list to get into the school, and the average wait is two years.

The man chiefly responsible for the school's phenomenal success is Executive Chef Robert Breithaupt, one of the most highly respected chefs in the nation. He is director of culinary arts and food service at Schoolcraft.

Sharing major roles in the outstanding department are Richard Benson and James VanVuren, who recently were certified to hold the title of "executive chef" by the American Culinary Federation. There are only seven executive chefs in Michigan, 124 in the nation.

Breithaupt and VanVuren have been at Schoolcraft since 1966. Benson joined the staff a year later.

Another respected member of the staff who has not yet applied for executive chef certification is Leonard Stec.

The number of students in the program has not grown dramatically since the college opened, but only because of limited facilities. The college opened with 18 freshmen in culinary arts and it has grown to about 60 at the freshman and sophomore levels.

Competition to get into the school is keen, said Breithaupt, with time of application representing the major factor for entry. Those who apply earliest have the greatest chance of acceptance, he said.

Many students are applying long before they are out of high school, he explained. "Some are high school sophomores, and I expect they'll start applying earlier. To make sure my grandson will be able to get into the program, I'm thinking of sending in his application when he graduates from kindergarten," laughs the college chef.

Incidentally, Breithaupt's son is a graduate of Schoolcraft's culinary arts school and is now manager of food services for the Sears store in the new Briarwood Mall.

And with his son's entry into the field, a family tradition is carried on. That tradition goes back several generations when a Breithaupt started it all by becoming a sausage maker in Germany. Breithaupt's father is a retired chef.

Only two other schools command the esteem of the local college program. They are the Culinary Institute of America in New York and the City College of San Francisco.

Because it is a highly respected school, Schoolcraft's culinary arts students have a choice of about eight different jobs upon graduation. They will go into industry in apprentice-like positions (enroute to becoming chefs), earning from $4 to $6 an hour to start.

A good executive chef earns between $22,000 and $28,000 a year.

"Obviously, it is a very good field," said Breithaupt, "and it's a wide open field because there are so very few good chefs — not only in this area but around the country."

"A statistical report three years ago indicated there would be at least 25,000 new jobs opening every year for at least the next 10 years. And this doesn't include the positions of those people who will retire or die and have to be replaced. They are brand new jobs."

"When a student graduates from our program we try very hard to place him in a position where there is an excellent chef. It will take that student perhaps three or four years to come up to the level of a top notch, perhaps a sous chef, perhaps a line chef. I would say that a student leaving here shouldn't have his eyes set on a top job for six to eight years because it is going to take that long to learn everything necessary to hold down the top job."

"You can't become a good chef, for example, until after you've learned to be a good cook."

The majority (24 out of 30) students in the program are males — because of choice, not because of department policy. Generally speaking women who enter the field, through Schoolcraft's program, are looking for jobs as food managers. "They can expect to become chefs just as much as our male students. But realistically, I think most of them are thinking more about going into their own businesses or into management positions. They really don't seem to view it for its professionalism."

There is only one recognized "top notch" female chef in the metropolitan Detroit area, he said.

Perhaps females take a dim view of

Merchants Announce Christmas Hours

Northville's retail merchants decided at their regular monthly meeting last week to start staying open nightly until Christmas on Friday, November 29.

It was noted that some stores may skip Saturday night, November 30, but a regular open-till-nine schedule will be observed by most stores nightly until Christmas.

The last three Sundays before Christmas — December 8-15-22 — will find most retailers in Northville open from noon until 5 p.m.

Service of Thanks Set Tonight

A community Thanksgiving service for all those in Northville and Novi who wish to give thanks together for their blessings on Thanksgiving Eve will be held at 8 tonight in the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

The event, which in the last few years has been held in Northville High School, is being sponsored by the Presbyterian, Northville United Methodist and Holy Cross Episcopal churches.

The Reverend Leslie F. Harding of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church in Novi will give half of the two-part sermon, entitled "There We Were". The Reverend Guenther Branstner of the United Methodist Church will speak on "Here We Are".

The two ministers are in charge of the order of service.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasur of the host church is in charge of usher arrangements and the Presbyterian choir will provide music.

The annual Thanksgiving service of the First Baptist Church in Northville will be held on Thanksgiving morning at 10 in the church auditorium.

The service will be observed with the singing of Thanksgiving hymns, the choir will sing and there will be music by other of the church's music groups. The pastor, the Reverend Cedric

Whitcomb, will bring a Thanksgiving message.

The highlight of the service, which has now become a traditional custom, is the time of public testimonies of thanks by the members of the congregation. This is done by way of the "roving mike".

"The Thanksgiving service has become the outstanding service of the church during the church year," Mr. Whitcomb said.

The church is located at the corner of Randolph and North Wing streets and the Northville area community is invited to attend.

A Thanksgiving Eve service with communion will be held tonight (Wednesday) at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville.

The service begins at 7:30 p.m. and the Reverend Ralph Schmidt, assistant pastor,

Circuit Court: 'Election Petition Deadline Stands'

The deadline for filing petitions for an election on the question of annexation in either the city or township of Northville remains at December 2, Judge Thomas L. Brown of the Ingham County Circuit Court ruled this week.

In response to a request for clarification of the court's order temporarily restraining the Michigan Boundary Commission in regard to its ruling that on December 31 the township should become annexed to the city, Judge Brown ruled that it was not the court's intent to restrain the Boundary Commission from accepting and reviewing petitions for an election.

Two weeks ago a lawsuit was filed in Judge Brown's court by six township residents. Judge Brown issued a restraining order temporarily halting the proposed annexation.

Monday morning at the request of legal representatives of the State Attorney General's office, Judge Brown ruled that his restraining order did not apply to action taken by either city or township residents wishing to file petitions for an election on the question.

As set forth by statute, a period of 30 days must be reserved for the gathering and filing of petitions before annexation can become a fact.

On October 31 the five-member Boundary Commission voted unanimously in favor of annexation of the township to the city. It ruled that the annexation should take place on December 31 and it set the 30-day period for election petitions from November 1 through December 2 at 5 p.m.

Signatures of 25 per cent of the registered voters in either the city or township are required to call for an election, which may be held in either or both the city and township.

In the city 25 per cent of the voter registration equals 815 signatures; in the township it is 1,295.

Frank Pippas, attorney for the State Attorney General's office, and Attorney Emery Jacques of Northville, representing the plaintiffs, appeared before Judge Brown Monday morning on the question of the petition dates.

Jacques argued that the court's restraining order should halt all activities relative to the annexation, at least until the hearing on the matter scheduled for January 3.

It was noted, however, that the order was not intended to restrict the right of the people to circulate and file petitions.

That's Pilgrim Mike Ruschak sampling popcorn from Indian Princess Margaret Murphy.

Today, the 50 kindergartners will again don Pilgrim and Indian costumes they've made and celebrate Thanksgiving, sampling applesauce and Indian corn bread they've made and a roast turkey. The students are in Virginia Kricitzs' and Marilyn Kaestner's classes.

Of Township Woman

Charge Man in Shooting

A 25-year-old Pontiac man has been charged with the attempted murder and armed robbery of a Northville township woman.

Arrested on charges of attempted murder and armed robbery was Joe Wallace Smith. Charges stem from the October 14 robbery and shooting of Mrs. Barbara Senton, 26, in her Ridge Road home.

Smith stood mute when arraigned before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis on Monday. Bond is set at $200,000 and he is being held in Wayne County Jail. Examination will be held Thursday, December 5, in the Northville court.

Township Police Chief Ronald Nisun said Smith is reportedly one of two men who were surprised by Mrs. Senton when she returned from shopping with her two children.

He said police are still working to identify the second man involved.

Nisun said information received and "a break in the case from an informant led to Smith's arrest."

Working jointly on the case were township Patrolman Kenneth Hardesty and Michigan State Police Detective Sergeant James Collins. "It was excellent police work by both," Nisun said.

In Our Town

'Tis the Season For Helping Others

By JEAN DAY

THIS YEAR, perhaps more than any other recent one, Thanksgiving and Christmas food baskets for the needy are being prepared in quantity by FISH and other local organizations.

The collection from the Thanksgiving Eve community church service at 8 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) at First Presbyterian Church of Northville will be donated to FISH for this purpose.

With Thanksgiving comes news, too, of Christmas projects and festivities.

KING'S DAUGHTERS Mizpah Circle will hold its annual Christmas tea at 2 p.m. Tuesday, December 3, at the home of Mrs. Earl Howser, 41885 Eight Mile Road.

Members are to bring unwrapped gifts for boys or girls for their annual project of helping with Christmas celebrations at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

NEWCOMERS CLUB will hold its Christmas party in two homes simultaneously from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Saturday, December 14. Opening their homes for the fete will be Mr. and Mrs. James Turnock and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Saltmarsh. Reservations now are being taken by Mrs. William A. St. James, 349-3952, party chairman. They are $4 a couple with the deadline set for December 7.

Each couple attending, Mrs. Howard Fithian, president, says is being asked to bring a wrapped white elephant gift and two dozen hors d'oeuvres.

She adds that the progressive dinner held by the club drew 62 couples, the largest social event the group has had, except for its dinner-dance.

A Christmas visit to Greenfield Village is planned as a ladies' day activity of Newcomers for Wednesday, December 11. Those attending will meet at 9 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Glen Hague to form car pools.

The group will have lunch at historic Clinton Inn in the village in which homes will be decorated traditionally for the holiday. Admission to the village is $2.50.

Reservations should be made with Mrs. Robert DeHoff, 455-9113, or Mrs. Thomas Spade, 349-7819. They plan to have the cars return here by 3 p.m.

A costume Mardi Gras party is being planned for January, Mrs. Fithian announces. It is to be held in Northville Square and is under chairmanship of Mrs. John Berry.

FRESH GREEN wreaths, pine cone wreaths, straw wreaths — all will be available in a variety of sizes at the Greens Mart to be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, December 5, at Northville First Presbyterian Church.

Sponsored by the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, the mart traditionally is known as a source of holiday decorations. Proceeds are used to fund the branch scholarships.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. James vanBuren members have been sewing and creating dried arrangements in workshop sessions since early May.

Pine cone wreaths will be sold in three sizes and are priced from $12 to $20; decorated straw wreaths will start at $8; fresh green wreaths will be priced according to size, starting at $5.

Fresh green centerpiece arrangements for mantels or tables will be fashioned with fruit, nut and ribbon decorations and will be a "bargain", Greens Mart workers say.

Pine cone trees, pictures on pine woods, fresh roping and live plants will be sold at the mart booths.

A special attraction will be the calico creations, which have been made under the direction of Mrs. Warner Krause, branch president. Items include Christmas tree skirts, stockings, covered boxes, animals in original designs and potholders — all in calico.

Inspiration for another craft, stained glass window hangings, came from Mrs. Paul Hughes, a branch member now living in Paris where her husband was transferred.

Bread dough baskets, ornaments and figures will be another new craft on display.

Such collector items as cookie cutters from Holland and hand-carved wooden pieces from Mexico will be among the gift items available.

Members are baking fresh breads for the baked goods booth.

During the mart a choice of fresh breads with hot cider and coffee will be sold at the refreshment booth under chairmanship of Mrs. Daniel Swayne.

Advance orders for fresh wreaths and roping still are being taken by Mrs. William Switzer, 349-0628, with orders to be picked up at the mart. There is no admission charge for the event.

A COOKIE EXCHANGE is planned by Silver Springs Chapter of the Questers antiques study group. It, and a silent auction to which members donate an antique, will be held by members at noon December 18 at the home of Mrs. Timothy Eils.

Last Wednesday Silver Springs members met at the home of Mrs. Michael Gobush with the hostess presenting a study paper on "Steins". She showed examples to illustrate her talk.

Ceremonies Unite Couples

Vows Read in Chapel

Wed in OLV Rites

Martha-Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village, Dearborn, was illuminated with 82 candles for the marriage of Debra Nunnery and David Eberhart at 6 p.m. November 9.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nunnery of Plymouth, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eberhart of 116 South Rogers, Northville.

The Reverend Dale Miller of Plymouth First United Methodist Church officiated at the service.

The bride's gown of soft white polyester peau was fashioned with a high-rise waist and princess-line skirt extending into a train. Delicate Venise lace was used for the sheer high collar and yoke, wide sleeve-ruffles and on the hemline.

Pink and yellow roses, pink carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath formed the bride's colonial bouquet.

Mrs. Ed Wall of Plymouth was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Cathy Nunnery of Plymouth and Carol Eberhart of Northville. They wore hot pink gowns with flowing over-cape and carried all-white bouquets of roses, carnations and daisies tied with streamers.

Jonathan Eberhart was best man for his brother. Ushers were Jim Shaw of Hartland and Walt Nunnery of Plymouth.

A sit-down dinner with dancing followed at Lovett Hall in Greenfield Village for about 200 guests. The bride's parents also received guests in their home afterward for cocktails.

The bride, a Plymouth High School 1971 graduate, is a legal secretary with Draugelis, Ashton and Scully law firm in Plymouth.

The bridegroom, a Northville High School 1966 graduate, is employed as a cement contractor.

When Julianne Rita Morelli and James Dean Endres exchanged rings and vows November 9, it was a marriage of two young people with very similar interests, life styles and goals.

While their mothers have been lifetime friends since the bride and groom shared the same nursery after they were born a few hours apart almost 23 years ago, it was only a few years ago that they discovered their mutual love of nature and similar education.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morelli, 21715 Rathlone Drive, Conemara Hills subdivision, has her BS degree from Madonna College and is employed as biologist at Great Lakes Environmental Research Laboratory, Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Endres of Taylor, Michigan, has his BS degree from Michigan State University and has just completed his internship as biologist in wildlife management.

After the 3 p.m. ceremony at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church with the Reverend Father Frank Polli of Detroit, a cousin of the bridegroom, officiating, the newlyweds left on a camping trip to the Smoky Mountains.

At the service Thomas Nistor, the best man, read scripture selections.

The bride's A-line gown of satin was styled with lace overlay, on the bodice with portrait neckline and full, gathered sleeves of matching lace. Her lace mantilla was fingertip length.

She carried a nosegay of white, russet and gold mums with baby's breath tied with satin streamers.

Nancy Morelli was maid of honor for her sister in a deep yellow polyester gown with a brown, gold and orange flower print bodice. She carried a bouquet of harmonizing mums and daisies.

Connie Oliver, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid wore a matching ensemble.

Richard Morelli, the bride's brother, ushered.

Light refreshments were served at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. Karen and Susan Kennedy served as hostesses. An evening reception with ethnic food and music followed for 250 guests at Roma Hall in Livonia.

Out of-state guests included friends and relatives of both families from Illinois, Ohio, Virginia, Canada. The bride's aunt attended from Limerick, Ireland.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Hillside Inn for the bridal party, immediate families and Father Polli.

The newlyweds now are making their home in Taylor.

Wed 50 Years Today

Mrs. Hopping Makes Cake

When Helen Irene Boutwell became the bride of Louis Hopping 50 years ago today, her mother made her wedding cake.

For her golden wedding celebration last Saturday in King's Mill clubhouse, Mrs. Hopping made her own cake.

The Hoppings, who live at 18165 Jamestown Circle, have been Northville residents for seven years.

They have become active participants in the community with Mrs. Hopping now serving on the Northville Woman's Club board of directors. She also is a member of the Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, DAR, and of the Mayflower Society in Plymouth. She still is active in the Detroit Review Club in which she is a long-time member.

Her husband, a past international president of Civitan, was organizer of the Northville chapter. He is a Shriner and has kept his membership in the Silver Spring, Maryland, Blue Lodge.

"It was just a little wedding," Mrs. Hopping remembers, explaining that she and her husband chose Thanksgiving Day, 1924, for their marriage as he was going to law school at George Washington University in Washington, D. C., and was at the same time working for Universal Service, a Hearst firm connected with the Washington Herald.

She had finished two years of college and was a young department head at Woodward and Lothrop Department Store. Both could only take off on the holiday.

They were married in Silver Spring Methodist Church by the Masonic lodge chaplain. Helen Hopping also remembers that she made her wedding dress and matching hat of brown satin.

After her husband finished law school, she adds, he then worked for Clarence McLeod who represented the 13th District (Detroit) in Washington. This resulted in their coming to Detroit where he then practiced.

Saturday they had dinner with their immediate family at Botsford Inn before the reception at the clubhouse for close friends.

Their daughter, Mrs. Chalmers (Irene) Emigh, came from San Jose, California, for the celebration. The Hoppings also have two sons, William, a Northville resident, and George, of Rochester, Michigan, who attended with their wives.

The William Hoppings' three children, Louise, Lorraine and William, and the George Hoppings' three, Todd, Andrew and Amy, were on hand as were Elaine and David MacDonald of Livonia, who are children of the Hoppings' daughter, Jean MacDonald, who died.

Another out-of-town guest was Mrs. Hopping's brother, William Boutwell of New York City.

Cadette Scouts Aid Holiday Projects

Northville Cadette Girl Scouts will come to their meeting from 7:30 to 9 p.m. next Monday, December 2, with a can of food each for the FISH emergency help organization, which will distribute baskets at the holidays.

A special hair-styling demonstration will be presented by the Golden Comb of Northville Square.

The Cadettes have completed work on Christmas stockings and felt wall hangings which they will present as gifts to Eastlawn Convalescence, Incorporated, December 21.

Mrs. Connie Thompson was project chairman assisted by other mothers, Mrs. Bonnie Rinehart, Mrs. Joan Webb and Mrs. Barbara Willoughby.

Girl Scout calendars, still priced at 50 cents, are being sold in the Northville area. Scenes depict scouting activities.

Anyone not contacted may call Cadette mothers, Mrs. Nancy Langfield, 349-0119, or Mrs. Sandy Westphal, 459-1057.

CUT-RATE WOOD—John McEachern and Jim Bain were among the people to take advantage last week of a special discount being offered on wood being cut by the Lions Club at the new high school site in Novi. Residents will have a chance again this week-end to take home the wood for $10 a cord, but must provide their own equipment to cut it from already felled trees. The trees had to be cleared from the property in anticipation of site work which is going on at the site. The Lions Club received $200 from sale of the wood last week. All funds raised will go to the Novi Public Library to purchase equipment for use by blind people.

Library Equipment

Lions Chop to Aid Blind

Novi's Lions club raised approximately $200 as the result of allowing residents last week to cut firewood on the site of what will someday be the city's new high school.

Residents have a second opportunity to take advantage of the $10 per cord price this week-end. Residents must bring their own equipment to cut wood from trees already felled at the site, located at Ten Mile and Taft roads.

Funds raised from the sale of the firewood is going to the Novi Lion's club, which is donating the funds to the Novi Public Library for purchase of equipment to be used by blind people.

The Lions Club, a relatively new organization in Novi — being only two years old, is a member of the Novi Community Organization and has its main purpose in providing facilities for blind people.

The Novi branch last year gave $1,000 to the Rochester Leader Dog School and provides eye exam and glasses for residents who cannot afford them.

The local club also supports the Welcome Home, a home for the aged blind in Grand Rapids, as well as the Penicton Center, a school for blind children in Wayne County.

Educationally, the club attempts to teach people about the white cane. By state law, a motorist must stop when he spots a person with a white cane and red tip crossing the street.

Sale of miniature white canes during white cane Week in April is a major fund raising project of the club although its main project is selling candy canes at Christmas time.

AARP Forming New Chapter

A new chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons is being formed and is seeking interested senior citizens in the Novi-Northville area.

The group is meeting on the third Friday of the month in the Farmington library on 12 Mile Road. Third meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. December 20 with refreshments and a program planned.

For additional information call Miss Roselyn Frederick of Novi, 477-9118. The AARP is open to anyone 55 years old or older.

Eye Unemployment Plan

Eying layoffs and a state requirement to come under the state Employment Security Act effective January 1, Novi council last week approved entering the program on a reimbursement basis.

By a vote of 6-1, the council voted for a plan, retroactive to October 1, calling for the city to pay the state contributions only for money paid out by the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) as unemployment benefits to employees laid off.

This would be a maximum of 26 weeks at $106 per week for each employee laid off, plus 50 per cent of the benefits paid during an additional maximum 13 weeks extended benefit period.

The plan was the only one available to the city to enter this year, and the city had to approve the system this year so that employees could accrue the necessary 14 weeks of work time under the system before planned layoffs early next year.

The city would have to make its first reimbursement payment to the state after the end of the first quarter of the year — April 1 — if any layoffs occur this calendar year.

Novi $40,000 Deficit

7 Layoffs Ordered In Council Cutback

Seven city employees will be laid off January 10 as the result of council action last Wednesday.

The council voted 4-3 to accept and implement a report from City Manager Ed Kriewall which called for the laying off of those employees. However, the council specified that if the city manager can devise a method to avoid the layoffs, it is to be used.

Based upon the report, two policemen, two inspectors, one police dispatcher, one clerk-typist and one utilityman from the department of public works will be laid off. The layoffs are needed to make up an expected $40,000 deficit which would be accrued by the end of the fiscal year.

The report was originally given to the council at the previous Monday night council meeting, but was not released to the press until Wednesday.

"The end result is that to balance this fiscal year without playing musical money, we should consider the following cutbacks based on the deficit figure supplied in the attached report," said a cover letter to the city manager's report.

Besides the seven city employees scheduled to be laid off, the report notes there had already been three positions which had remained unfilled. The positions included an appraiser, a clerk-typist in the building department, and a clerk-typist in the clerk's office.

Despite the cutbacks in employees, the report says that the city can still look for a deficit of $70,375 in fiscal year 1975-76. Without the employee cutbacks, the city would have $100,000 deficit next year.

"We should not over-react and cut back to the point of projecting a balanced budget for next year, but we should be fully aware that unless added revenue is on line, we will in fact have to cut again at the time the next budget is adopted," says the report.

The report projects that the city will have actual cash flow income during 1974-75 fiscal year of $1,345,303 while expenditures will be $1,381,023, causing a cash flow deficit of $35,720.

The report notes that the city has saved $30,700 by non-replacement of employees, and another $10,000 on the pension plan. However increases beyond the budgeted amount are expected to be approximately $12,000, yielding a total savings of $28,825.

Estimated income for the 1975-76 fiscal year is expected to be $1,329,700 while expenditures will total $1,400,000, causing a $70,375 deficit.

Throughout the council meeting, council members repeatedly questioned the city manager concerning the budget deficit, the state of the city, and whether layoffs were really necessary.

Kriewall said that employee cutbacks is the only answer.

"We reviewed the budget with the department heads," the city manager told the council. "We just cannot find any other areas of the budget where we can make cuts."

Kriewall warned that if employees are not dropped now, "we may have to cut twice as deep next year. We'd be compounding our problem."

"No large corporation would operate as close to the board as we are trying to do — and in the future this will put us in jeopardy."

"This pyramiding," agreed

Calls Cuts Vengeful

A letter from the vice-chairman of the citizen's finance committee to Mayor Robert Daley says that "any layoffs... can only be interpreted as a vindictive and vengeful reaction to voter rejection of the millage increase proposal, and an unnecessary reduction of budgeted service levels."

The letter, from Don Young, states there is "a lack of understanding of the current year general fund budget and the various expense provisions included therein." Young argues that funds borrowed from the water fund were to serve as a substitute for funds due the city, but late in arrival, and that repayment of the loan with the late funds is consequently not an expense that can be charged against the current budget.

Young contends that a contingency provision in the present budget of $128,655 to cover the 1973-74 fiscal year deficit was only used to the extent of $29,260.12 because of lower than expected budget deficit, leaving $99,394 unspent.

The letter also notes that the city is receiving $33,424 more in carry-over of federal revenue sharing funds than was anticipated in the 1974-75 budget.

"The grand total of the available $99,494.88, the federal revenue-sharing increased carry-over of $33,424, and other savings from unfilled personnel vacancies should make personnel cuts unnecessary during this fiscal year," states Young.

Replying to Young's letter, City Manager Ed Kriewall, said that City Controller Frances Loynes has compensated and taken into consideration that the deficit was only $29,000, and that the extra $99,494.88 is not being used as a budget expense.

He also notes, as did Mrs. Loynes at last Wednesday's council meeting, that all federal revenue sharing funds carried over are earmarked.

Tap Indiana Man For Wixom Post

Vern VanOsdale, a 29-year-old native of Union City, Indiana has been named to the post of assistant to the mayor in Wixom by Mayor

Val Vangieson.

VanOsdale, a graduate of the University of Indiana with a Masters Degree in public administration was scheduled to begin work this past Monday.

Fire Chief Hospitalized

Novi fire chief Duane Bell was listed in guarded condition, but stable and resting comfortably Monday following a heart attack Saturday.

Bell, 47, was still in the coronary care unit Monday and was expected to leave the unit 3-5 days after entering. He is expected to remain in the hospital 2-3 weeks.

The city received 90 applications and ten were interviewed before VanOsdale was chosen. VanOsdale's background included four years in the military after graduating from college.

Vangieson noted that few of the applicants, including VanOsdale, had actual experience in city government.

VanOsdale is replacing William Travis who left the city after three years as assistant to the mayor to enter private business.

School Site Bid Goes to Novi Firm

As expected, the low bid of the Jack B. Anglin Company has won the Novi firm the contract for preparing the site for the proposed new elementary school to be located south of the present middle school.

By a 6-0 vote Thursday, the board awarded the contract to Anglin based on its low bid of $63,000. Bids had ranged upwards to $107,644 as submitted by Bosco & Volpe Construction Company, another Novi firm.

Two weeks ago Anglin also was awarded the site preparation contract for the new high school at the corner of 10 Mile and Taft roads.

The latter contract, also based on a low bid, was confirmed last week when the school board's attorney and construction manager found bidding irregularity insignificant and not legally persuasive to warrant disqualification of Anglin.

One of the bidders on the high school project, J. Arthur Contracting of Birmingham, had challenged Anglin's bid because it had not bid all of the alternates as required by the bid sheet.

The board, upon the advice of its attorney, ignored this oversight since alternate bids were not accepted. Had Anglin's base bid been rejected, officials estimate mass grading would have cost the district an additional $60,000 or more.

Board members also voted to award the contract for steel for the new elementary school to Washtenaw Structural Steel Company.

The Ypsilanti firm's bid was low by any combination of bidders at $104,040.

The elementary school architect, Harmon Tibedeau Wedge Associates, and the school district's construction manager, Jack Ritter of Miller-Davis, recommended the low bid for steel and the low bid for mass grading be accepted.

In related business Thursday, the board spent considerable time in reviewing the preliminary plans of the proposed new elementary school.

By Novi School Board

Toronto Trip Canceled

By a split vote, a proposed field trip to Toronto by sixth graders of Novi Middle School was killed by the board of education Thursday.

Board action followed by just two weeks a decision to permit Middle School eighth graders to take part in an educational field trip to Washington, D. C.

The vote on the latest trip, which would have provided tour of the Science Center and admission to Toronto's Dominion Center, was defeated 4-2, with Trustees Norman Miller and Laverne DeWard casting votes in favor of the trip.

Trustee Sharon Pelchat and Secretary Ray Warren, who had voted for the trip to Washington, D. C., explained their positions in part this way:

Mrs. Pelchat, who contended sixth graders are too young for a two-day group trip, said, "We seem to be straying further and further away, going lower and lower in age."

Warren, who questioned the trip's necessity to achieve educational enrichment, saw reason to believe that still another out of state trip may set a precedent from which the board would find it difficult to retreat.

Board Vice-President Gilbert Henderson, on the other hand, took the position that board set precedent two weeks ago and in past years in sanctioning senior trips.

His two motions to amend — one to limit the trip to non-school days as is required of seniors and the other to prohibit students from selling products to the public as a means of financing the trip — were defeated.

His latter amendment was prompted by a belief that taxpayers are already dummed enough without being asked to support another school program through candy sales and the like.

When teachers argued that the trip to Toronto could not be likened to a senior trip, that the trip would have great educational value, and that no child would be denied the trip because of a shortage of money, Board President Robert Wilkins suggested wide-ranging trips are fast getting out of hand.

The board is raising some serious questions about the propriety of such long-distance trips, asserted Wilkins, "and I don't think the faculty is grasping the seriousness of the problem before us."

Board members who opposed the Toronto trip emphasized, however, that their position should not be interpreted as opposition to field trips in general.

Two parents who spoke at the meeting expressed opposite viewpoints. One said she resented the board interfering with a trip of her child which she approved, and the other contended sixth graders are too young and she wondered why trips to such places as the Ford Rouge factory are not considered.

City Withholds Pay 'Til Light's Installed

In an effort to get the county moving on a traffic light scheduled to be erected at the corner of Novi Road and Nine Mile Road, Novi city council last week resolved not to pay the county for already completed work on the intersection until the light is put up.

The county initially told the city it would not put up a traffic light until road improvements, including construction of a passing lane, were completed. The city had to pay 50 per cent of the Novi Road improvements and 100 per cent of an extension of the pavement onto Nine Mile. Total cost of improvements was $50,000 and were completed several weeks ago. The city also must pay 50 per cent of the $4,500 traffic light. The county will pick up the remaining cost.

Several accidents had occurred at the site, prompting the city to seek installation of the traffic light.

Awarded Grant

Novi School District has been awarded a $14,306 grant under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

The board of education last week formally approved participation in the CETA program, which means it will hire an additional unemployed person. Earlier the district was notified of an $8,551 grant and subsequently hired a custodian.

Basic purpose of the program, according to Superintendent Gerald Kratz, is to find an under-employed or unemployed person and then train and employ that person.

School Trustees Vote For Reimbursement

Reimbursement method of financing unemployment compensation was chosen this past week by the Novi Board of Education.

The board took its action in view of the new law, which becomes effective January 1, making school districts and community colleges subject to the Michigan Employment Security Act.

Two methods of financing the compensation were open to the board — reimbursement or the contribution method.

Under the former, a school district must reimburse the Employment Security Commission for benefits paid chargeable to it during a calendar year. The latter option requires the school district to pay contributions on its taxable wages.

Decision opting for the reimbursement method was by a 6-0 vote.

Win Proctor Retires

'She's One in A Million'

By SALLY BURKE

When Northville High School was getting ready to open, Winifred Proctor applied for a clerical job.

"I didn't get the job at the high school but I did get a call in August of that year from Dick Kay asking if I'd be his secretary at Amerman," Win remembers.

And now, 15 years "and two great bosses" later, Win's retiring at the end of December.

Serving as executive secretary to Superintendent Raymond Spear since his appointment to the post, Mrs. Proctor has worked for Spear for the past 12 and one-half years. For the first three years, she was Kay's secretary at Amerman and then Spear's secretary when he was principal at Amerman.

Win was trained as a secretary and worked "for about a year after I was married." Her husband died at 30, leaving her with two sons, aged two and six.

Busy raising the boys and working at home, she applied for the school post as the youngest was about to graduate from Northville High.

Both of her sons graduated from General Motors Institute and received masters degrees from University of Michigan. Dennis, the oldest, is now regional sales manager for Detroit Diesel-Allison Division of General Motors. Edward is Material Handling Accounts Manager for Ford Industrial Engine Operations.

She adds that she is grateful to "Northville Woman's Club which awarded scholarships to both boys."

"Both married secretaries just in time so their wives could type their masters theses," Win jokes.

Admitting that she doesn't take shorthand anymore, she says she's developed her own system of abbreviations and "trained my memory to fill in the blanks." She's been taking school board minutes since Spear's appointment as superintendent.

She maintains that "trying to meet the boss's needs is one of the most important things a secretary must do." Win is one reason why the office runs as smoothly as it does. "He often says 'Write a letter to so and so. You know what to say.'"

Spear notes that it "isn't going to be the same around here when Win retires."

"From the superintendent's office up the hall to the switchboard, we must now learn to do things for ourselves which have been done by a gracious and devoted secretary."

Win Proctor delivers the day's workload to Superintendent Raymond Spear

"We have all learned to depend more on Win than was fair to her," Spear adds. "Although from time to time there have been the basic differences between boss and secretary, the loss will be great," the superintendent says, commenting that "she's one in a million."

Win says she'll miss "the many charming and heartwarming experiences I've had with students, teachers and administrators at Amerman and in the central office."

"This has been my home away from home. I've spent more hours here than at home," she adds.

"She's done great things for me," her boss says. "And I am sorry about all the extra hours she has given to Northville Public Schools by working at home just to get the job done."

But that's Win, people who know her will say. "It's just part of my job. He's trying to meet the needs of the school district and I must do what needs to be done to help him," she comments.

One of her most valued remembrances comes from her days at Amerman when "one kindergarten thought it was Mrs. Proctor who was singing the Star Spangled Banner over the PA system every Monday morning!"

Win's plans for the future "are not definite. I'll spend more time with my two grandchildren and probably still attend school board meetings."

"It's hard to break old habits."

'Kick the Habit' at Clinic Monday

Dr. Arthur Weaver, a Northville resident who is associate professor of surgery at Wayne State University, will conduct another of the "Five Day Plan" to stop smoking clinics for which he is well known in the metropolitan Detroit area.

He has helped more than 30,000 people kick the cigarette habit. "I would rather help people stop smoking than let them run the risk of needing professional help for a tobacco related disease," says Dr. Weaver. "For any smoker, this is the single most important step he can take to preserve his health."

The clinic begins 7:30 p.m. Monday evening, December 2 at the Plymouth-Canton High School auditorium, 8415

Canton Center Road, just south of Joy Rd.

The "Five Day Plan" is a public service feature developed and presented by the Seventh-Day Adventist church and will be presented in cooperation with the Plymouth-Canton High School.

Each evening's program is designed to help participants manage the physical and psychological addiction for any form of the tobacco habit. Individuals who attend all five nights have an excellent chance of success according to the doctor. No charge will be made for the clinic.

College Music Groups Plan December Concerts

December will provide a number of opportunities to hear the Jazz Ensemble, Orchestra and Choirs of Schoolcraft College in performances at Clarenceville, on the college campus and in Plymouth.

The Jazz Ensemble will present a half-hour "warmup" concert on Monday, December 2, at Clarenceville High. Directed by Richard T. Saunders, the 22-piece group goes on at 7:30 p.m., just ahead of Woody Herman and his Thundering Herd.

The group also performed prior to the Maynard Ferguson concert Monday, November 25, and is usually invited to "join in" for a number or two by the big band.

Director Saunders will lead the Schoolcraft College Orchestra in a special concert on Friday, December 6. It is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center and admission is free.

The 45-piece orchestra will be joined by featured guest performers who were students at the college's summer music school earlier this year. Among the announced program are Aaron Copland's "Rodeo", and Mussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition".

On December 15, the Schoolcraft Choirs will present "A Christmas Celebration" at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Plymouth. Both the Symphonic Choir, which includes community members, and the Schoolcraft Choral will perform under the direction of Bradley Bloom.

Haydn's "Lord Nelson Mass" and Williams' "Nativity Play Called The First Noel" will be performed by the Symphonic Choir. The Choral will present Bernstein's "French Chorus From The Lark" and Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" with harp.

Admission to the 4 p.m. concert is free. The church is located at 1160 Penniman Avenue in Plymouth.

Seminars Aid Students

Schoolcraft College counselors presented two programs at the Michigan Personnel and Guidance Association in Lansing the end of October.

A presentation of the Human Potential Seminar was made by Sandra Florek, Jean Pike, John Witten, Robert Burnside and John Webber. Over 1,500 students have progressed through the seminars since they were first offered five years ago at the college.

According to John Webber, director of counseling services, the seminars produce positive individual discovery and assist participants in self actualization.

The second program presented was the Systematic Career Counseling Process developed by Schoolcraft counselors Gale Lawson, William Heise, Ronald Rogowski, Louis Rupp and John Webber.

"The process is designed to help people make more realistic career decisions," Webber explained. "If people are to make good career decisions, they must first learn a great deal about themselves, their interests, aptitudes, abilities, skills, talents, work priorities and life style priorities. The Process is offered both in groups of eight to ten persons, or with counselor and individual students."

The Systematic Career Counseling Process will receive national recognition at the American Personnel and Guidance Association convention in New York City next March

Wixom Eyes Pact to Avoid County Solid Waste Plan

A four point resolution of intent which would allow Lyon Township, Wixom and South Lyon to opt out of Oakland County's Master Plan for solid waste removal has been passed by both the township and the city.

Wixom was slated to consider the resolution at their regular council session last night.

Novi Board Opposes Liquor in New Hall

Proposal for development of a community meeting place that might permit use of liquor drew unofficial opposition from the Novi Board of Education this past week.

The informal consensus opinion of the board was handed down after a representative of the Novi Community Association, a consortium made up of Rotary, Jaycees, Moose and Lions, club members, explored with the board the possibility of placing such a building on the city-school complex site at 10 Mile and Taft roads.

The service association, created to handle the licensed bingo project in Novi, proposes to construct the building on the site, making it available to the public in much the same manner as the existing community building is on Novi Road made available.

Although the board gave some indication it might support the concept, provided it was legally possible under the school's purchase agreement with the Fuerst sisters, members emphasized they would oppose a building if it were to permit use of alcohol on the premises.

A spokesman for the association admitted upon questioning that a liquor license might be sought to accommodate private wedding parties, etc., which would lease the building and thus provide revenues for development and maintenance of the building.

Board members cited the close proximity to the new high school as their reasons for objecting to a building in which alcohol might be used. They suggested the association consider a development arrangement that would guarantee the school board that no liquor permit would ever be sought.

The proposal has yet to be introduced to the city council, but City Attorney David Fried, attending the school board meeting, suggested the association study questions and suggestions raised by the school board before going to the council.

Included in the four step plan are the following:

1. A feasibility study to be conducted by the three municipalities to determine if it is practical to establish an independent solid waste facility and what such an operation would cost. The study would also investigate possible landfill sites. Estimated cost of the study is $3,100 and would be shared equally by the three communities.

2. The local governments agree to establish an independent solid waste authority.

3. A solid waste disposal plan which would serve all three communities will be developed jointly.

4. The three municipalities join together in rejecting the Oakland County solid waste removal plan and request that each community be excluded from the plan.

Lew Coy, Oakland County Commissioner who was present at the council meeting Monday, informed his audience that the County's Board of Public Works had, earlier that day, voted to postpone consideration of the county plan until after January 1.

Calling it a "small victory", Coy, nevertheless cautioned board members to be lulled into a false sense of security.

"The Board of Public Works voted 4-2 today to delay consideration of the plan until after January 1," said the county officials. "However, we're time bound and I would caution you to move ahead and have a plan ready."

Coy cited two passages in House Substitute Bill 946 which would give counties the right to secure landfill sites and operate solid waste facilities despite prohibitive local zoning ordinances and opposition.

Council members were urged to contact their state representatives concerning this challenge to home rule and City Manager Bill Lange was subsequently authorized to contact state legislators concerning the City's opposition to granting the county the right of eminent domain.

"This piece of legislation, I feel, is quite frightening and has the effect of giving the county the right of eminent domain to acquire refuse sites," commented Coy.

Lyon Township Trustee Ronald Zollars, who was also present at the meeting Monday, stated he had been worried that the plan would be approved earlier that day.

"I was glad to hear about the delay," said Zollars. "I thought it was all but fait accompli. I just hope that the three communities are not lulled by the deferral.

"The hope I have is that instead of a negative approach we will take a positive one. An authority is not a difficult step to achieve for three or four communities and is probably the most workable arrangement."

The Lyon Township official added that the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson was prepared to proceed with the feasibility study as soon as the three communities approve of the resolution.

Lyon Township had approved the plan in a special meeting Wednesday.

At that time Zollars had noted that the resolution of intent did not put the three communities on an irrevocable path.

"The resolution tells the county what we intend to do," said Zollars. "If we all send something to the county it will mean more."

Zollars stated that the resolution may be enough to establish Lyon Township's opposition to the county landfill plan despite adoption of the county plan by the Board of Public Works.

Supervisor William K. Smith agreed, claiming that it would be "improper" to request that the county reject the entire plan.

Smith added that he was "disappointed" in R.J. Alexander, Oakland County's Director of Public Works, who was charged with the responsibility of drawing up a county-wide plan.

"I don't know why Alexander would publish a plan he kept saying wouldn't happen," said the township supervisor. "It was so unreasonable I thought it would never come to pass. This county plan is the most vague I have ever seen."

Smith pointed out that the township had a number of alternative methods of disposing solid waste in the area.

A letter from Daniel Holloway, an area landfill developer, was read by Clerk Mary Canfield.

Holloway stated in the letter that it would be possible to contract with his firm for solid waste removal, thereby fulfilling the State's requirement for a local plan.

Smith also claimed that newly-elected Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy, appeared to lean toward recycling as the best disposal method and could veto the landfill plan submitted by the DPW.

"Murphy has made a public commitment and is leaning toward another disposal method," said the supervisor. "The problem is that it would cost more initially to have this type of disposal but it would be worth it in the long run."

Postpones Landfill Action

Consideration of the Oakland County Master Plan for solid waste removal has been postponed until after January 1 when the newly elected county executive as well as other new county officials will take office.

The decision was reached by the County's Board of Public Works Monday morning when members voted 4-2 (one absent) to postpone consideration of the plan until 1975.

That delay, however, has brought little comfort to Lyon Township Supervisor William K. Smith who charged that local officials were not informed of the scheduled session Monday.

According to Smith, Lyon Township officials were not informed of the meeting Monday despite promises made by the County that they would be notified should anything concerning the solid waste plan appear on the agenda.

Lyon Township was recently cited in the Oakland County Master Plan as the site of a large solid waste facility which would be operational through 1995 and would carry up to two-thirds of Oakland County's waste.

According to Oakland County's Department of Public Works Director, R.J. Alexander, however, there was no actual discussion of the plan at the meeting.

"There was no discussion of the Master Plan at the meeting," affirmed Alexander. "The only thing on the agenda was to set the date for consideration of the plan."

"This was discussed but no date was set and it was decided 4-2 to postpone considering the plan until after January 1. When it comes up again and is put on the agenda the local municipalities will be advised."

Alexander stated that he had no idea how the plan would be received by the new board in January but added that consideration of the County proposal was already months behind the deadline set by the State.

"As you know the State required that some type of plan be submitted by July 1, 1974, and we are already behind the deadline," said the DPW chief. "This is not good."

The county official denied reports that the county was considering a specific site for a landfill operation in Lyon Township.

One site which was recently suggested in a Lyon Township meeting is an area bounded by I-96, Pontiac Trail, Wixom and Old Plank Roads.

However, maintained Alexander, the county has made no effort to negotiate for property at this time.

"When the reports came out in the newspapers that a landfill was being proposed for the Lyon Township area we had a lot of people with land calling the County office and approaching us about various parcels," said Alexander. "However, we have had absolutely no negotiations for property."

Smith complained, though, that even County Commissioner Lew Coy was not informed whether anything would be on the agenda.

Coy, explained Smith, had been extremely concerned that the plan would be pushed through and approved by the Board of Public Works before the end of the year when the newly-elected officials would take office.

New Fire Districts Govern Building

Novi Council last week approved the institution of fire districts for the city.

The city had to adopt the fire district after recently adopting the State Construction Code.

The fire districts, based upon the city's zoning map, is intended to allow for restrictions to be placed in the construction of buildings in the city.

Fire District one comprises areas housing commercial, business, civic center, industrial and manufacturing districts, while fire district two comprises areas housing multiple dwelling districts and professional office districts.

A third district includes all areas not designated in fire districts one or two.

Sewage Treatment Topic of Meeting

Improved sewage management for portions of Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties will be the subject of a public meeting Thursday, December 5 in Romulus.

Northville - Novi - Wixom area residents are invited to the meeting to be held at the Hilton Inn, 31400 Wick Road, near Metropolitan Airport, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Wayne and Washtenaw county departments of public works, the meeting is to provide citizens with information concerning engineer studies of alternative plans for sewage treatment.

Areas affected by the studies include the lower Huron Valley and western portions of Wayne County (including Northville); the Ann Arbor Ypsilanti areas of Washtenaw County; and the southwest section of Oakland County (including Novi and Wixom).

That studies are being developed under a grant from the United States Environmental Protection Agency and the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

Public comment and suggestions on the alternative plans will be invited at the meeting, DPW officials said.

Schedule Banquet

Novi Athletic boosters club will hold its fall sports banquet in the Commons at the high school at 7:30 p.m., Monday, December 9.

Honored will be all athletes participating in football, cross country, girls' basketball and fall golf.

The dinner is potluck and parents of all athletes will be contacted.

A winter sports banquet is planned for March 24 while the spring sports banquet will be May 19. Both will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Novi Council Orders 7 Layoffs in Cutback

agreed Councilman George Athas. "I'm not necessarily recommending this, but instead of laying off seven on January 10, we might have to lay off only five today."

Athas stated that cuts will definitely hurt the ability of the DPW, police and building departments.

Noting that the city is falling behind in its inspections on buildings, Athas said, "We may have to abandon the enforcement of some of the ordinary ordinances."

Fresnell reiterated his previous statements that despite the fact building revenue is not as high as expected, the building department revenue has been subsidizing other areas of the city, and is not at fault in the city's present condition.

"This leaves the city open for damages when building fund revenue is used for other things," stated Fresnell. He noted some areas where payments were coming out of the building department revenue when they should have been coming from the general fund.

During the course of the discussion, several suggestions emerged concerning where the estimated $40,000 deficit could be made up.

Councilman Philip Goodman suggested that an allowed one per cent tax collection fee, which was turned down by the council in June, could be collected.

He also suggested that a voluntary across the board pay cut of $10 per person through July would raise $20,000, plus another $15,000 could be saved by not filling the administrative assistant's position.

"If you don't appoint an administrative assistant, you have effectively cut your manager," said Athas. "You have just elected a president of a $3,000,000 corporation without a vice-president."

"One man can only juggle so many balls at a time," stated Athas.

"One case of pneumonia and this city is out of operation," added Mayor Robert Daley.

Mabel Ash Is Elected

At the organizational meeting of Novi's charter commission, officers were elected and meeting dates set.

Named as chairman of the charter commission was former city clerk Mabel Ash. Vice-chairman was Mack Porter while Winnifred Dobek became secretary.

First meeting of the commission will be December 5, the lone meeting in that month. Beginning in January, the commission will meet the first and third Thursdays of each month.

Meetings will be held in room three of the high school.

Schott Gets Chief's Job

Corporal Mike Schott will be leaving the Wixom police department November 27 to begin a new job in Dowagiac as chief of police.

Schott, an officer on the Wixom force for five years, said that he will be taking over as chief of the 19 man Dowagiac force. The city has a population of approximately 8,000-9,000 people and is located 13 miles east of Niles in southwestern Michigan.

"I'm leaving probably one of the best police departments in southwestern Oakland County," Schott commented. "I've learned a great deal, not only from my fellow employees, but also from the chief."

Councilman Denis Berry noted that councilmen had been given various jobs to help out the city manager.

"Some employees in the building department could function in that position," added Kriewall. "That would not burden the budget."

Athas questioned the 55,000 mile limit on police cars for service, as required under union contract. Three police cars may soon have to be retired because of the limit.

"Maybe to keep people working, they'd be willing to rough it with the cars," said Athas.

Kriewall later told the Novi News that he has talked with union representatives of the police department who said they would vote yesterday (Tuesday) on the car proposal.

He said that indications are that employees would not be willing to go along with a voluntary pay cut.

Referring to suggestions of voluntary pay cuts and asking the policemen's union to allow cars to be used beyond 55,000 miles, Berry said, "It's been my policy you don't scare the hell out of someone and then ask them for something, and that's what we're doing."

Councilman Romaine Roethel, questioned the purchase of a computer for use by the city.

"I'm certain we need it desperately," she said. "Without it, we're going to end up without reports again. But I've thought about not buying it to keep employees hired. It's a moral issue to me."

The computer purchase is expected to cost the city approximately $16,000.

To the suggestion, Controller Frances Loyes said, "I'm doing the best I can and will continue to do the best I can."

"The end result is that the controller will work weekends to subsidize another employee," said the mayor.

"We should think seriously before we substitute our judgment for the manager," added Daley. "Accountability at the end of the year will lie with the council."

On the motion to accept the implement the manager's report, Athas, Goodman, Roethel, and Daley voted in favor, while Berry, Campbell, and Fresnell were opposed.

32ND DEGREE—Nearly 300 Master Masons from southeastern Michigan, including two from this area, received Scottish Rite's 32nd Degree at conclusion of a two-weekend reunion recently at the Masonic Temple. The class was named in honor of the late Ralph Dawson, a 33rd Degree Mason. The local recipients are Charles H. Williams (left) of 19549 Dartmouth and Darrell W. Ashley of 23843 Lynwood.

A large delegation attended the statewide meeting October 28 at the Raleigh House. Also in October the chapter, as its annual fall outing, toured local antique shops and lunched together at the Mayflower.

SCENES OF yesterday produced by Currier and Ives were the topic of the Base Line Chapter of Questers meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frank Whitmyer. Mrs. Clayton Timmons of Farmington presented a study paper on the subject and brought with her some of her original prints to exhibit.

Look for heavier paper, hand coloring that may have gone over the printed lines and know original sizes, she advised, in seeking old prints.

RECORD AMOUNTS have been raised this fall at area benefits. Mrs. James B. Harris indicated this week that the Northville Historical Society expects to clear $3,000 from the two-day Tivoli Fair held Friday and Saturday in Northville First Presbyterian Church.

"We were surprised and pleased," she said as she estimated that 1,160 attended, not including children and society members who were admitted free. The fair, she added, was the biggest single fund-raising event held by the society to date.

In addition to admissions and booth rentals to organizations and craftsmen the sum was raised from items sold at the society's own booth, the Country Store. There baked and canned goods, aprons and other needlework and flower and tomato plants donated by Jan Reef from his greenhouse were sold.

Northville Historical Society, announced this month that Mr. and Mrs. Reef have become its first patrons, having donated $1,000 to the society.

Mrs. Harvey Smith, membership chairman, said the society is seeking supporters with individual memberships available at $5, or $8 a couple. Contributing memberships are $25, sustaining, $100, and patrons, $1,000.

The Holly Mart-Harvest Festival held by Northville First United Methodist Church the beginning of November also yielded $3,000, a record for the event, sponsors stated.

Equally successful was the two-day fair held by St. John's Episcopal church last weekend with a reported $2,500 raised.

Culinary Arts

This Entree's Great

culinary arts as a profession because of the traditional kitchen or domestic roles assigned to them by society in past years, he suggested.

What draws students to the Schoolcraft program?

"In the beginning, when it was new, I would say it was that they had had some background in cooking, either in the home or in high school. Incidentally, we have some very fine high school programs in our college district. Livonia has two excellent programs."

"As the program grew older, 'word of mouth' seemed to become the thing that attracted them to us. Many make application because they have heard of the program, because they know students who have graduated, and because some of our graduates are in positions now where they are recommending our students for part-time jobs while they are attending school."

When jobs are made available in businesses where the student is working under highly respected chefs, students are given college credit towards certification in culinary arts by the college, explained Breithaupt. John Vanderwoude, executive chef at the Drawbridge Restaurant here, has had two Schoolcraft students working for him.

Culinary arts students are required to have 60 credit hours to receive their associate degree in applied science. Thirty-five of these credits are acquired in the culinary arts department, with the remainder being academic courses such as English, science, mathematics, psychology, human relations.

A student is in the kitchen "classroom" 20 hours a week, four hours a day, five days a week. One hour of the four is a lecture theory class, and the other three is in the kitchen getting his "lab time."

In the kitchen he prepares food for the cafeteria, which serves the college student body and staff, and for the extra curricular activities.

Students are divided into three groups.

One group is assigned to the pastry chef, another group to the quantity foods production (cafeteria line) chef, and the other group to the advanced foods chef. After five weeks, students are rotated to another group and five weeks later to still another group. By the time the semester ends each student will have had five weeks under each chef. The same rotation occurs in the second, third and fourth semesters.

"As the semesters progress, culinary arts instruction becomes more intricate, more specialized. Sophomores entering the winter semester, for example, will be getting into decorative work — decorating hams and salmon, preparing canapes, hors d'oeuvres, all different kinds of specialties," explained Breithaupt.

Students also have the option of spending either their third or fourth semesters working under chefs in the field, as is the case at the Drawbridge. For their work out in the field they are paid. For the work they perform in the kitchen at Schoolcraft — which is part of their study — they are not paid.

Looking down the road at what he would like to see happen to the culinary arts program, Breithaupt said expansion of the facility is a must just to cope with the already capacity enrollment.

College master plans call for such an expansion now, he explained, but those plans have been placed on the back burner to await availability of financing.

Tied to physical expansion, which necessarily means larger, more sophisticated kitchen facilities, is the expansion of the curriculum itself. Breithaupt would like to simulate better the real-life situations that occur in industry.

"If we could simulate what goes on in industry, more so than we are capable of doing now, our students would be even better prepared for those jobs out in the field."

And, after all, preparing students to go from a two-year college program into a wide open job market is what culinary arts is all about at Schoolcraft, he added.

A phone call from Pella, Iowa last week brought back memories of the late fifties and early sixties, glory days for Northville high school football.

The caller was Larry Angove, now Director of College Relations for Central College of Pella. Larry graduated from Northville High School in 1964. He asked me not to recall his playing days, but he was a rugged linebacker.

Anyway, Larry called to report that Ron Schipper's Central team had just completed a 9-0 season and was one of four college football teams in the nation selected to compete in the NCAA division three football playoffs.

Central plays the University of Evansville at the Indiana school's stadium on November 30. Meanwhile, Slippery Rock (honest) College of Pennsylvania plays Ithaca College of New York at Ithaca and the winners meet in the Amos Alonzo Stagg bowl game in Phenix City, Alabama on December 7.

It was the mention of Coach Schipper that whetted the memory.

He coached Northville football from 1955 through 1959 and compiled a record of 39 wins, five losses and one tie. After a brief stint at Jackson high school, Schipper moved to Pella and college coaching. His 14-year record at Central is 99-25-3, which ranks him third among the nation's football coaches in terms of winning percentages. Defensively over the past 10 years his teams have allowed fewer points than any other college team in the country.

Schipper was a fireball on the sidelines in his days at Northville. His teams were well disciplined and the atmosphere was filled with enthusiasm.

Somehow, I can't think of a Schipper team without remembering Reverend John Taxis, equally enthusiastic as he manned the yard-markers for all home games, shouted encouragement to the Mustangs and made it obvious that despite his striped-shirt referee's uniform he was no impartial participant.

John was Pastor at the First Presbyterian church at the time and is presently at the Sunset Presbyterian church in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.

Schipper's teams won four straight league conference championships for Northville.

'59 STAFF—Van Ingen, Schipper, Redmond; standing, Shonta, Jones and Wilkinson.

Outstanding player on his '59 squad was Bill Juday, who made everybody's all-state team at guard. His little brother, Steve, played quarterback on the same team. Bill later became a standout center for Vanderbilt, while Steve won All-America honors at MSU.

The coaching staff included Dutch Van Ingen, now principal of Main street elementary and like Schipper a former Hope College quarterback; Ralph Redmond, English teacher and track coach at the high school; Chuck Shonta, the old pro defensive back who just turned in a fine 7-2 season as the Mustang mentor; and the late Joe Wilkinson. Al Jones, golf coach and social studies teacher, was athletic director and had previously coached winning Mustang football teams.

YES . . .

A nationally known testing service recently indicated that for the first time in 10 years standardized test scores of entering college students did not decline. This past year scores for entering freshmen in 1974 were no lower than the scores of freshmen a year ago indicating, perhaps, that the downward trend has temporarily ceased.

This evidence is hardly sufficient to allow one to proclaim that students are brighter today than in the past. It must be kept in mind, however, that test scores only measure a narrow range of ability which some people term the ability to take tests.

While it is important for colleges and universities to have test scores it is largely in areas that are not measured by tests that one can say students are brighter today than they were in the past.

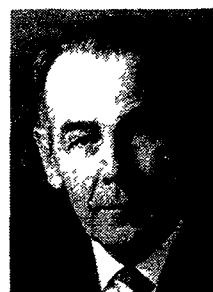

In a real sense, students are more mature today than they were 10 years ago. They are exposed to a variety of problems such as drug and alcoholism abuse at an earlier age. Through this exposure, they are forced to make mature decisions about how they will act. There has always been and always will be a good deal of experimentation with different life styles in college, allowing opportunity for students to test out various alternatives in a controlled environment.

We see much less conformity today than we have in the past in the testing out of various life styles and this may be one sign that students are thinking for themselves in ways they have not in the past.

It is clear that the response of students today is "Yes, we do have a future and we are committed to understanding what that future may bring and to contributing to it." There are always those that sink into an easy cynicism and privatistic gratification of personal desires, but there are numerous examples of students seeking to make a real

NO . . .

Despite appearances, today's students are not smarter than those of the past few years — or those since the beginning of mankind. Earliest civilizations were just as intelligent as we are today. For example, the most profound thoughts came from Confucius, Christ, Mohammed, while in science it was Copernicus and Ptolemy. There has been no change in intelligence, but rather a building onto and an enlargement of concepts and of understanding. Students now have a base to work from. You can't start from scratch and come up with the wheel.

Today's students seem to be more intelligent because of that bigger base which they have to add to and build onto. In the past there weren't nurseries or kindergarten — or Sesame Street. Today's students are almost reading by the first grade. And today's student doesn't have to take time out to do several hours of chores each day.

There's double the knowledge of 10 years ago, allowing a faster accumulation of fact. With the sub-division of labor and with specialists accumulating knowledge faster in each field to feed to others, it appears falsely in the final analysis that students in those fields are more intelligent.

Praises Drawbridge

To the Editor:
May we congratulate new Drawbridge manager, Sam Hadous, and welcome him to our community?

On our return to the Drawbridge a year after a most unpleasant evening there, we were delighted to find many tables removed from the formerly crowded dining area, service cheerful and efficient, an excellent pianist in the main dining room, and the general atmosphere tremendously improved.

We are encouraged to feel that, with the changes made by its new management, the Drawbridge will after all be a successful venture, and are happy to have given it a second chance.

Yours very truly,
Stephanie B. Ruiter

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Even Mark Twain's celebrated imagination would be hard-pressed to construct a more perfect scenario than the real-life beauty pulled off in Green Oak Township the other day.

It's got Democrats and our sister publications fuming.

Frankly, though, I can't help enjoying the audacity of it all. Maybe that's because I always find myself cheering for the Muhammad Ali's... the 'bad guy' superstars.

Let me set the stage for this comic tragedy.

It's post-election time, and a general township meeting is about to take place in the Green Oak Township Hall. Three lame-duck Republicans are about to take part in their last meeting. Their departure will mean Democrats, who swept most seats in Livingston County, will have a 5-2 majority on the township board.

Township Supervisor Edward Janicki, an appointed Republican turned Democrat, is understandably elated. The Republican lame-ducks are less than cheerful, but they wear an odd wolf-that-ate-the-lamb look. They are Clerk Mona Wenzel, Treasurer Isabel Vitale, and conservative Trustee Louis Driver. All are being replaced by Democrats.

The lone Republican who is to remain on the board, Robert Whitehead, is absent, reportedly in California.

Now, curtain's going up.

Cigar chomping Trustee Driver starts things off by moving the agenda be amended to add "other" under resignations. No one objects.

Under "resignations" are letters of resignations from three township employees. The last notice is a one-sentence telegram of resignation from Whitehead. It doesn't surprise anyone because Whitehead has been missing meetings and it is rumored that he is moving from the community anyway.

Certainly Democrats don't care. They like the idea of getting rid of another Republican, which eventually will mean they will have a bigger majority.

The employees' resignations and that of Whitehead are promptly accepted.

Now it is Driver's turn to speak under "other" he has added to the agenda. Putting his papers in a folder and removing his glasses, the trustee, smiling, hands his own surprise resignation to Mrs. Wenzel. He looks like a poker player.

Janicki figures the trustee's action is simply a spoilsport's way of protesting the new Democratic board makeup, so he does not object. And the other three board members, Wenzel, Vitale and Republican Trustee Beverly Johnson are expressionless, voting on Driver's resignation as they would vote on the most routine township matters.

Cigar in hand, Driver moves to a seat in the audience near the board table.

He has no sooner taken his seat when Wenzel, with immediate support from Vitale, moves to appoint Driver to serve the two years of Whitehead's unexpired term.

As Vitale supports the motion, Janicki groans aloud,

Fried Chicken

Chef's Wife Cooks 'Simply'

Who is the boss of the kitchen in a bona fide chef's home? No one is boss, insists Robert Breithaupt, director of culinary arts and food services at Schoolcraft College. It's a shared, much enjoyed experience, but cooking of the Sunday meal by the father of five has become pretty much a tradition in the Breithaupt family.

And what's cooking? "We like all good foods," the chef hedged. "It's hard for me to pick out a favorite."

"Obviously, though, because of my heritage, I enjoy German foods — all kinds. And if I must I guess I'd have to say I like to make sauerbraten."

In a chef's home, what kind of food does the spouse prepare to please the kitchen professor?

"Something very simple," laughs Mrs. Breithaupt, who defers to her husband's professional skills.

"I guess fried chicken, using an old Southern recipe, is my favorite," she adds. "It's easily prepared, and I think he enjoys it along with the rest of the family."

"Oh, but there isn't much to it," she says when asked for her favorite way to prepare the chicken.

"I mix up a batter of milk and egg — about one egg and two cups of milk. And then dip the chicken into it and then into some seasoned flour. I season the flour with salt and pepper and a little garlic. How much? Oh, (using an expression of her husband) 'just enough to make it taste good.'"

Mrs. Breithaupt semi-deep fries the chicken and then puts it in the oven for an hour.

The wife of the chef agrees that cooking in the Breithaupt home is a shared experience.

For tomorrow's Thanksgiving dinner everyone will share the cooking. It's a pleasant time for every member of the family, she says.

What's for Thanksgiving dinner?

"It will be traditional. We'll have turkey, of course. Giblet or chestnut dressing. And I may make Southern cornbread dressing — I like it, my husband doesn't. We'll have squash and brussel sprouts."

Potatoes and gravy, a relish dish and "pumpkin pie made by our youngest daughter. She and her father are inseparable in the kitchen."

"She sits on the kitchen counter and watches me — just like my son use to do years ago. (His son is a graduate of his college culinary arts program.) I think someday she may become a chef, too," beams the proud father.

Court Rules Petition Deadline Stands

It was also pointed out that the suit resulting in the temporary restraining order was filed by residents of the township and that both city and township residents have the right to file petitions.

Judge Brown's action restraining the Boundary Commission's order for annexation on December 31 was taken on November 8.

The lawsuit charges that the Boundary Commission is not legally constituted, a claim filed in several other suits in the state testing the constitutionality of the Boundary Commission statute.

It also contends that the necessary period of two years between annexation actions was not observed in Northville and that the Boundary Commission's reasons for annexing the township are not supported by competent evidence.

Petitions for annexation were first filed on March 7, 1972. In September, 1972 the Boundary Commission ruled that the annexation was feasible and desirable. Election petitions were filed in both the city and township and subsequently in May, 1973 the township voted down annexation.

On March 7, 1974 petitions bearing more than 1,000 signatures were again filed with the Boundary Commission seeking annexation of the city to the township. Another public hearing was conducted in Northville by the Boundary Commission in September. That led to the October 31 ruling, which provided for the November 1 to December 2 period for election petitions, the December 31 date for annexation to take place if election petitions were not filed, and finally the filing of the lawsuit by the six township residents and the restraining order delaying annexation at least until a show cause hearing on January 3.

In the matter of the two-year waiting period for filing of petitions, the state claims that the plaintiffs are confusing regulations governing consolidation action with annexation. Under consolidation, where elections are a part of the procedure for consolidating a city and township government into one, the waiting period for filing new petitions after a consolidation effort has failed is two years after the election. In annexation procedures, the state contends, the waiting period between petition actions is two years from the filing date.

Insofar as the legality of the Boundary Commission to act on annexation cases, the Attorney General contends that if there was a flaw in the legislation establishing the Boundary Commission, as currently being contended in cases involving Midland, Brighton and Novi, it would not apply to the Northville annexation. The Attorney General points out that articles adopted by the legislature designed to correct the alleged errors took place in 1972 prior to the Northville annexation action thereby setting it apart from the pending lawsuits.

It remains for Judge Brown in the Ingham County Circuit Court to rule in the January 3 show cause hearing whether or not the plaintiff's claims are valid and warrant a later hearing or possible delay of the annexation action until a higher court decision is reached on the Boundary Commission's status in the state of Michigan.

YURI KROTKOV

College Sets Talk By Russian Writer

A Russian writer who defected from the USSR when he was a member of a Soviet delegation in London in 1963 will appear in two performances at Schoolcraft College on Wednesday, December 4. Yuri Krotkov will be presented at 2 and 8 p.m. in Schoolcraft's Liberal Arts Theater. Sponsored by the Cultural and Public Affairs Committee, admission is free and the public is welcome.

Krotkov was born in Russia in 1917. His father was an artist and his mother was a dramatic actress. After he completed his secondary education he went to Moscow and joined the Literary Institute there.

During World War II he was a correspondent for Tass, the Soviet News Agency.

In 1949 Krotkov wrote a play titled John, Soldier of Peace, which was staged for several years in Moscow and other Soviet cities. After the success of his play, he started working for the movie industry in Russia, and four feature motion pictures were produced from his scripts.

His defection, after a long and successful career as a dramatist and screen-writer in the Soviet Union, came about, he says, because he wanted to be honest as a writer.

Smith, a parolee from Jackson State Prison, also faces two charges of carrying a concealed weapon brought by state police and Pontiac Police. He has also been charged with armed robbery by Detroit Police.

Although all of the cases are separate, Nisun said information received by the township aided in the arrest of Smith for the Detroit robbery.

Both township charges carry life sentences.

Mrs. Senton, who was shot in the neck and in front of the ear, is at home recovering. Her two sons were not injured. Stolen from the home was a television set and approximately $50 in cash.

suddenly realizing why Driver and Whitehead's resignations came as they did.

The stunned audience buzzes as Janicki snaps, "I really question the appropriateness of this motion. If the people had wanted Louis on the board they would have elected him. As far as I can see this is a roundabout way of keeping someone on the board who has been voted off."

But Wenzel reminds the Republican-turned-Democrat that he was appointed supervisor last year because he was the highest vote-getter in the '72 supervisor's race. And it is pointed out that although he lost the election in November, Driver was the "next highest" vote getter.

Discussion ends and the vote is taken. Johnson and Lameducks Vitale and Wenzel vote "yes", Janicki and Regan vote "no".

Vitale suggests Driver be sworn into office immediately, and Janicki instructs Wenzel to swear him in "if you are prepared". Oath at hand, she makes the appointment official.

Driver, now beaming, takes his seat at the table, removes the papers from his file and is ready for business again.

Vitale then moves, supported by Wenzel, that Driver be reinstated as the township board's representative on the planning commission and the zoning board. There is no discussion and the motion passes in a "what's the use" atmosphere.

Wearing a trace of a grin and still smoking the cigar he puffed as a township board member, as a private citizen, and now again as a board member, Louie is back in the driver's seat... if he was ever out.

At NBD, you get a lot more than 7 1/4% interest.

Let's be honest... just about every bank in Detroit will give you 7 1/4% interest on savings certificates of $1000 or more left on deposit for 4 years. And so will National Bank of Detroit.

But NBD can give you something extra no other bank in Michigan can give you — the security of dealing with Michigan's biggest bank, with assets of more than $8,000,000,000.

And you don't have to have a thousand dollars, or leave your money on deposit for 4 years, to have your savings protected by NBD. The same $8 billion in assets, and long-time reputation for financial soundness, stand behind every NBD savings plan... even if you open a regular EveryDay Interest account with only a few dollars.

Why not get the safety and security of Michigan's biggest bank, by starting a savings program at the NBD office near you?

Township Budget's Topic Tuesday

Supervisor Lawrence Wright has called for a special meeting of the Northville township board of trustees next Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the township hall to discuss two items of business:

- 1 — The recommendations for solving the township's budgetary problems as submitted by the board's ad hoc budget-finance committee,
- 2 — To consider the township's official role in legal action being taken against the Michigan Boundary Commission's recent decision favoring annexation of the township to the city.

Wright appointed Trustees John MacDonald, Richard Mitchell, James Nowka and Charles Rosenberg and Treasurer Joseph Straub to examine the current budget, and its lagging revenues and propose a course of action for the township.

Chairman MacDonald reported that the committee has held one session and plans to wrap-up its assignment tonight (Wednesday) by adopting recommendations to propose to the full board.

"We identified the deficit and have explored means of bringing the township budget back into the black", Trustee MacDonald stated.

He indicated that the township is currently "more than $50,000" in the red at approximately the half-way mark of its annual budget. Supervisor Wright has stated that he expects cutbacks will be necessary because anticipated revenues have dipped sharply while some departmental expenses continue to rise.

"It's time to bite the bullet", the supervisor stated shortly after naming the five-member committee and vowing to adopt its recommendations.

The second item of business will be to determine what position, if any, the township board should take in relationship to the legal action by six township residents against the ruling by the Michigan State Boundary Commission favoring annexation of the township to the city.

Last week the city council voted to let its support of the Boundary Commission's findings be known. The Boundary Commission is being defended by the State Attorney General's office.

Citizens' Group Reviews Child Center Proposals

The nine-member citizens' committee is hearing presentations today from six groups seeking to use Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon Road, north of Five Mile Road, in Northville township.

The meeting was slated to get underway at 9:30 this morning at the City-County Building in Detroit.

Presentations include Plymouth Montessori School, Schoolcraft College-Wayne State University, Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, Wayne County Department of Health, Wayne County Planning Commission and Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

To date, approximately 16 proposals have been submitted in writing to the committee with "two or three more to come," Northville Township Supervisor Lawrence Wright, committee member, said this week.

At the committee's meeting last week, presentations were given by Northville Recreation Commission, Jefferson-Chalmers and Project Redirection of Detroit, Canton-Northville-Plymouth Family YMCA and Northville Public Schools.

Making the presentation for the recreation commission were Northville City Councilman and Commission Member Paul Folino, City Manager Steven Walters and Commission Chairman Don Thomson. Representing the school district's proposal was Superintendent Raymond Spear.

Wright commented that it will "take another one or two meetings yet to see all the proposals. We must then evaluate them and make our recommendation to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners."

He anticipated that a decision on use of the vacant center could come by the end of December or that it could take longer than that.

At the present, Northville township is the only agency making use of the center at which it leases one building for offices.

Learn About PTSO At Parent Conferences

During parent-teacher conferences next Wednesday afternoon, December 4, at Northville High, representatives of the school's Parent-Teacher-Student Organization (PTSO) will be available to explain the new organization.

Conferences with teachers and counselors will be held between 3 and 6 p.m. next Wednesday and no appointments are necessary.

Parents who are not familiar with PTSO are invited to speak with representatives who also will have information on membership.

A firm date for future PTSO meetings was established when the executive board met this week. Beginning in January, all general membership meetings of the group will be held the second Wednesday of each month. The schedule will continue through June.

A potluck supper and square dance for all high school students and their parents, teachers and administrators will be held Thursday, December 12. Details are being worked out by Mrs. William (Bea) Fuertgas, chairman of the evening's activities.

The Weather fords, a six-member singing gospel group, will appear this Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, at 7:30 p.m. at the Brighton Wesleyan Church. The Reverend M. G. Chapman said the public is invited to hear this inspirational concert.

White Chapel Foundry — the foundry that cast the Liberty Bell a couple centuries ago — also cast the 45 bells that today play an important role in the musical presentations at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

"They've become a lovely tradition with our church," said William Williams, following the Sunday morning service in which the young Bell Ringers demonstrated an art that goes back many centuries.

Bell ringing set to music began in Northville about 15 years ago, but it got its start many centuries ago in Europe where "artists" yanked on ropes to "play" the bells in the towers of churches, explained the man who has been the church choir director for 30 years and its director of Bell Ringers for nearly half that time.

Playing of church bells was and still is called "chain ringing". It remains popular in England.

"Eventually, the art of playing bells included the hand-held kind we are using today," he said, adding that bell ringing really begins with the artistry of making the bells. "Casting bells is an art in itself."

The first set of 18 English hand bells was donated to the church by Charles and Viola Walker following their trip to Europe and a visit to White Chapel. Following Mr. Walker's death, Mrs. Walker — now a patient in a convalescent home — donated the second set in memory of her husband.

The Northville church was the second in the Detroit metropolitan area to introduce bell ringing at church services. Today, however, many churches in Michigan enjoy bell ringing.

"It's not peculiar to Presbyterian churches," emphasized Williams. "Churches of all denominations use them. I will say, though, they are usually found in the wealthier churches because they are very costly. That's why we are very fortunate in having received our bells as a gift."

To replace the Northville bells would cost several thousand dollars.

The bells are made of a brass alloy, and the clapper also is made of brass but coated with leather to protect the fragile bells and to enhance the sound.

There is no duplication in the 45 bells, explained Williams. A half tone separates each, and together they represent three complete octaves.

Besides the main bell sound that results from the clapper striking the metal you have two overtones that are built into the bell by its shape. The shape of the bell is such that the large diameter of the bell is the main note... that's the first note everyone hears. The overtones come from the smaller diameters of the bell. These you hear after the first main note... but only if you listen carefully. As the first note is heard, this sound dissipates and the overtones begin to be heard. Some people cannot hear these harmonics with the main bell sound."

While the grinding and polishing that occurs after the bells are cast is important to the sound, Williams suspects that the metal alloy is equally important to sound.

His suspicion was triggered by a tragic experience. Once, while performing at the high school, students placed the bells on a coat rack. Two of them fell to the floor breaking into many pieces.

Williams gathered up the pieces and took them to a shop. While he held them in place a workman welded them together. Remarkably, when the excess weld was ground away and the bells were polished they seemed to have the same lovely sound as they had before they were broken.

Directing the bell ringers is a more difficult task than directing a choir, according to Williams.

That's because there frequently seems to be a near complete turnover of bell ringers — most of whom are of junior high age, he explained. Thus, each year initial practices are difficult until new youngsters get used to the instruments.

"If a youngster stays with us for two or three years it is very unusual. I'd guess 60 percent of them change every year. When they reach high school age there seems to be more and more demand on their time and they are forced to drop out."

Williams estimates he has directed 300 different bell ringers over the years.

Initially the director required the bell ringers to memorize the music. But that proved too difficult so he permitted them to follow along with a special kind of music that uses symbols rather than notes.

"Each individual holds two bells and therefore is responsible for placing two notes at the right times and places. The system I use does not require them to read music. Each knows the notes represented by the bells he holds and so he rings them whenever the symbol for his bells appears on the music."

"In other words the ringer reads the words of the hymn — our work is made up mostly of humms — and when the symbol for his bell appears next to word syllables he rings it. It's really very simple, and there is less chance for error than when memorization is required."

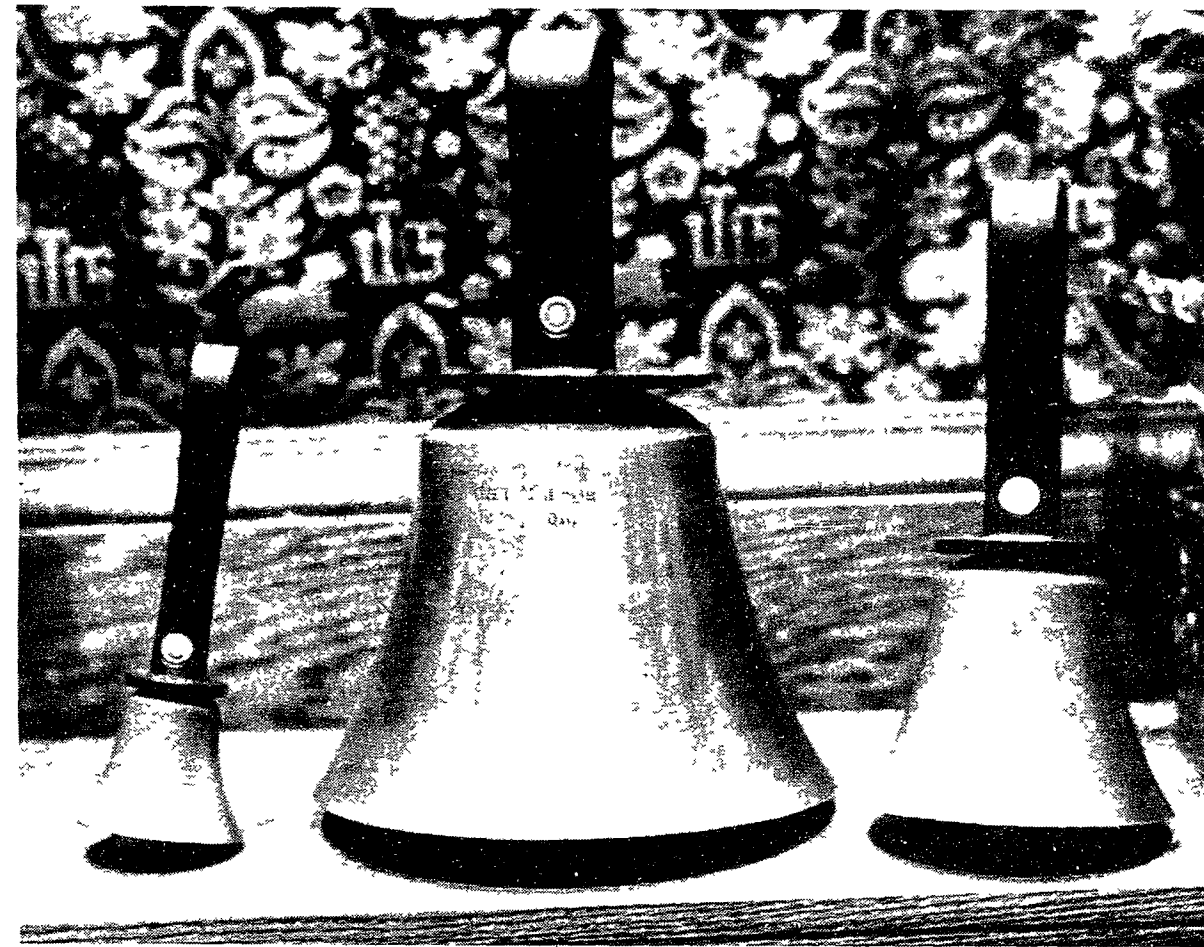

Some youngsters learn faster and are more skillful with the bells, said Williams. Because of this difference in ability, some bell ringing groups are better than others. "In some years our groups may know 20 or more different numbers; other years groups may do well to know three or four numbers well."

Dexterity and strength also play roles in bell ringing. Some bells weigh two or three pounds, thus holding them for some youngsters is no easy task, he said.

Practicing (each Sunday night) and performances raise a good many blisters, he added.

DIRECTOR'S TIP—Director William Williams gives one of his young bell ringers, Paul Jones, a tip.

CAST IN ENGLAND—The hand bells used in Northville were cast in England by the same firm that cast the Liberty Bell two centuries ago. Donated to the church, the bells in the Northville collection are worth several thousands of dollars.

EDITOR'S NOTE: It has long been the policy of Sliger Home Newspapers to reject for publication all poetry primarily because staffers felt unqualified to decide which poetry is deserving. But because poetry continues to come across our desk, we have re-evaluated the policy and have decided to establish this Poet's Corner where poetry, which meets the same test of good taste as required of letters to the editor, will be published. Poems must be originals, and the name, age, address and telephone numbers of the authors must accompany the poem. Only poetry of authors living in the circulation of this newspaper will be accepted. Poems of realtives or friends living elsewhere will not be used. Poems must contain no more than 50 lines, and they must be submitted by Thursday of the week previous to publication. Poet's Corner may appear irregularly, depending upon response

Snow

This carpet of crystals each one unique that covers and clings and crunches beneath is snow
The birds can't land
upon this fluff,
Then legs too short to pierce the stuff
called snow
But I, wearing paddles of wicker for shoes
Am able to duckwalk around. Tell the news
There's snow
The grass is white
with winter's age,
And in the streets
gasoline stains grey the snow
Come on, get up and out of those beds!
Go run and fetch
your vacationing sleds.
There's snow!

Horse's Mouth

This column is open to news of all breeds of horses and ponies. Send your questions, comments and horse show news to Sally Saddle, care of The South Lyon Herald.

Dear Sally,
I would like to know if a horse is healthier in a stall or in the pasture. I have read that many times a horse is healthier and happier if he is kept in the pasture.
If this is true, why are so many horses kept in stalls?
N.G.
Northville

Dear N.G.,
I think horses are often healthier and more content if they are kept in a pasture with access to a shelter. The horse is an athlete and should be allowed to exercise. A tight barn with poor ventilation is not a healthy place to keep a horse. However, horses are kept in stalls for certain reasons.
1. Pasture may not be available where the horse is stabled.
2. Show horses get sunburned coats if left out in

Utility Customers Get 'Bill of Rights'

LANSING — A "bill of rights" for utility customers — aimed at improving standards of electrical and gas service to residential consumers — will take effect soon.

One of Governor William Milliken's consumer protection priorities, the recently approved rules are touted as "the most comprehensive and progressive series of regulations governing the relationship between customers and utilities ever adopted by any regulatory agency."

The new rules represent the first revision of consumer standards in about 30 years.

THE RULES INCLUDE

- give a customer 21 days to pay a bill;
- eliminate all late payment charges and discounts;
- and extend utility service to a customer without a deposit until the customer proves to be a bad credit risk.

In addition, utilities are required to set up hearings procedures so a customer may fight a decision to cut off service BEFORE any termination.

Utilities also must publish and distribute pamphlets fully detailing the customer's rights and responsibilities.

THE MICHIGAN Public Service Commission notes, however, that the rules do not relieve the customer of responsibility to pay all legitimate charges for any utility service.

In fact, customers must pay the amount of any bill not in dispute before any hearing on a disputed sum. That safeguard, the commission says, will protect the normal cash flow of the utility.

The rules also do not allow nonpaying customers to continue to receive service for extended periods without payment.

WORDS TO THE wise from Michigan's Agriculture Department could mean happier holidays. The words concern food poisoning.

Officials inspect food processing plants for sanitary practices and wholesomeness of products, but "we cannot go into private homes where the family cook may be careless about handling food and lax about keeping things clean," says Director B. Dale Ball.

"And it is in private homes that most of the millions of food poisoning cases occur."

SALMONELLA BACTERIA,

cause of one of the most widespread and troublesome infections carried by food, appear in uncooked and undercooked foods. They also crop up in prepared foods that aren't refrigerated properly and in foods handled by people with dirty hands.

"Strict sanitation is the key to prevention," says Ron Leach, chief of the department's food inspection division.

LEACH MAKES these suggestions, good not just during the holidays, of course:

— Scrub cutting boards and utensils thoroughly with hot soapy water after each use.

— Never put cooked meat or poultry on a board that's just been used for cutting raw meat.

— Wash hands before handling food.

— Don't allow food to stand for long periods at "lukewarm" temperatures; keep it hot, at least 140 degrees F., or keep it cold, 40 degrees F. or lower.

"ON THE ROAD" campaign treks by candidates seem to be a fairly common thing these days. But a new state senator, Republican Richard Allen of the 30th District, claims to be an originator of such things.

"You really get to know a lot about the district," says Allen, who featured a district hike in his first successful try for a House seat six years ago.

"The condition of the local roads, types of soils, varieties of crops and livestock, rural poverty, expansion of suburban development, erosion and other environmental problems and other important aspects of the district become much more obvious than on auto trips."

Allen's latest campaign trip involved what was described as a 500-mile, 10-day hiking-biking foray through his district.

WITH MICHIGAN'S unemployment rate high, and the spectre of auto industry layoffs becoming reality in some areas, Governor William Milliken says jobs are an immediate priority.

"The sales picture is soft, therefore the employment picture is uncertain," the governor said shortly after this re-election this month.

Milliken has been meeting with top auto industry officials as well as United Auto Workers Union chieftains to discuss means of helping the industry.

Watch Plants Bloom Again

'Stretch Holiday Pleasure'

By KATHY COPLEY

Flowering holiday plants are too pretty to only enjoy for a couple of weeks at Christmas. Prolonging their bloom, or even bringing them into bloom again, is a challenge you don't need a green thumb to accept.

Most plants need a location which is bright but not in direct sun, cool, and free of drafts. Air circulation around the plants is important for all roots, so loosen the decorative foil and punch a hole in the bottom so water won't stand at root level.

Jerusalem Cherries like temperatures in the 50's and 60's, bright light, and barely moist soil. To hold them over from one year to the next, set the plant in the garden in May and prune it to 10". Or, cut it back heavily after the fruit drops, shake the soil loose, and repot it. They grow easily from seed, and should bloom at Christmas from seed planted in early spring.

Gloxinia require the same special care as African Violets, to whom they are related. They like temperatures near 70 degrees for long bloom, and humidity near 60 per cent. Fill a shallow dish with small pebbles and then fill it with water just to the top of the pebbles. Set the flower pot on this bed of pebbles to increase humidity. Pea gravel or aquarium stones are decorative as well as functional.

An east window is good for Gloxinia because, though they are sensitive to strong sun, weak early morning or late afternoon sun is good for them. They require even moisture with an occasional drying out. Pour warm tap water on the soil, not on the leaves. Water on the velvety leaves will spot them, and cold water will reduce bloom.

When the blooms have died, let the soil dry out gradually. When the leaves have died and the soil is completely dry, cut the leaves off and store the bulb in a cool, dark place until new growth starts — about 6-10 weeks. Repot the plant in 10 weeks even if new growth hasn't appeared. The bulbs lose viability if out of soil for much longer. If no new shoots appear in 2-3 weeks, toss the whole thing out.

Hybrid Gloxinias usually don't go dormant, so check the base for new growth as soon as the blooms have died. If there is any, keep watering as usual. With luck, you will have blooms again in six months. Feed every two weeks.

To force bloom again on a Christmas Cactus, reduce watering in October gradually until the soil is quite dry. Leave the plant in this state for 6-8 weeks. Keep it in a cool, sunny window with no light at night. Like Poinsettia and mums, this cactus only sets buds in periods of short days and long nights.

When buds appear, give the cactus more sun, water, and mild fertilizer. After this blooming is complete, reduce water for the next 5-6 weeks. They will flower best if pot-bound. Cuttings taken when the plant is not in active growth will root quickly in moist sand. At least twice a year, allow the plant to become rather dry and dormant.

Kalanchoe, the Panda Plant, needs bright light, 60-70 degrees, and low humidity. Let this tender succulent dry out a bit between waterings. Capsicum, Ornamental Peppers, need 55-60 degree temperatures and full sun. The red ornamental fruits will drop if the plant is too warm. Newly planted Amaryllis need 60-70 degrees with soil kept barely moist. When growth starts, put the plant in stronger sun and increase water. Fertilize only after flowering starts. Cut each flower as it fades.

To force a second Azalea bloom, put the plant, pot and all, into the ground outside in May. In the fall, when temperatures are likely to go below 40 degrees, bring the pot into a sunny room with 45 degree temperatures for 6-8 weeks. After eight weeks, move the pot to a warmer room. The plant will then set buds and bloom within 30-60 days, if at all.

These plants require a good deal of moisture while in bloom and may need to be watered heavily every day. Give them bright light, cool temperatures, and a daily misting.

Cyclamen should be constantly moist, but don't get the crown wet or it may rot. When the flowers fade, gradually withhold water until the foliage dies. Then, keep the plant, pot and all, nearly dry and on its side outside in a shaded place. In September, repot.

A cool spot with morning or afternoon sun is good for Chrysanthemums. When the blooms fade, cut the stems to two inches. Set the pot in a frost-free but cool room, keeping it barely moist. Set the plant in the ground outside in the spring and bring it in again in September.

Poinsettias need a warm, draft-free area with 3-4 hours of sunlight a day. They need to be moist all the time, with 30 per cent humidity. Water them every other day until the leaves begin to fall. (Leaves go before the colorful red bracts which masquerade as flowers.) When the leaves are gone, reduce watering so the plant is nearly dry. Put in a 55 degree window and water it once a month. When it is warm outside, put the plant in a bright, sheltered area and cut the stems to 4-6".

In September, bring the plant inside and water it well. Give it 14 hours of darkness per day in a cool room. At this point it may get rather leggy so, when each branch has 8 leaves, cut it back to leave only 4 leaves. For Christmas bloom, do this cutting back prior to September 15.

Trying to hold over all your flowering plants would be a bother, but carrying over one or two is a good winter gardening challenge.

Make Trip Safe!

Although Michigan motorists will drive about 50 percent fewer miles this upcoming Thanksgiving weekend than on major summer holiday weekends, their chances of fatal accident involvement are as great as during a summer holiday period, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"During the last five Thanksgiving weekends, a total of 141 traffic deaths were recorded," said James G. Moffat, Auto Club general manager. "This compares to 124 deaths on Memorial Day weekends, 151 over Fourth of July holidays and 138 during Labor Day periods for the same five years."

Moffat noted that Thanksgiving is an especially hazardous holiday because most motorists stay close to home, making short trips to see family and friends with a maximum opportunity to over-indulge in alcohol.

Agency to Investigate

Got Consumer Beef?

The Wayne County Consumer Protection Agency will send investigators to some dozen out-county city and township halls, beginning this week to take complaints from local residents.

Locally, visits at the Northville Township hall are slated the second Wednesday of each month.

The service is offered as a convenience to consumers who cannot come to the agency's central Detroit office at 356 East Congress or who prefer not to file their complaint by mail or phone.

NATIONAL BANK OF DETROIT'S Project Help (Help Enforce Loss Prevention) Mobile Unit will be at NBD's new branch bank on Seven Mile Road, one quarter mile east of Northville Road on December 2 to 6. RAMADA DEVELOPMENT Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ramada Inns, Inc., specializing in design and construction projects, and Baloh-Atkinson Development Company of Northville, signed contracts to build a 130-room Rodeway Inn in Farmington Hills, Michigan, a Detroit suburb.

Although Ramada Development has built office buildings and a shopping center involving non-Ramada tenants, this is the first time it is building a hotel that will not operate as a Ramada Inn. The cost of the project will be in excess of one million dollars. Baloh-Atkinson will be the owners of the hotel.

According to Ward Atkinson, a partner of Baloh-Atkinson, "The hotel-design-construction expertise offered by Ramada Development was a major factor in our choosing them as our contractor and design firm. We are pleased to have been able to secure this high standard for our Rodeway Inn."

According to Engineering News-Record, an authoritative trade journal in the construction industry, Ramada Development Company is the 40th largest design-build company in the United States.

In her first year of competition, she and Omar competed in 12 of the possible 14 state shows and piled up a total of 97 points representing four firsts, five seconds, and three third place awards.

A good book has been published recently that any animal lover will certainly not want to miss.

"All Creatures Great and Small" was written by James Herriot and published by St. Martin's Press. Containing 442 pages, the book sells for $7.95 and is also available in paperback.

The main character is a young veterinarian, author James Herriot, whose patients include everything from a badly foundered piebald pony to various cows, dogs and cats.

The owners of the animals are a particularly memorable group. Many of them are portrayed as hard working, never complaining farmers in a district of England.

Dr. Herriot, himself, has a wonderful sense of humor that varies from the sharply sarcastic to the simple and uproarious. There is something to laugh about after almost every incident described in the book.

Be sure not to miss this one!

Mustangs Eye 'Splashing' Success in League

Northville, Harrison Teams Seen as Only Contenders

To Mustang swimming coach Ben Lauber, exceptional teams are nothing new—and Lauber expects that this year's team will be no exception.

Since the start of swimming at Northville, Lauber coached teams which have accumulated a 65-5 record including, in four years of league competition, one state championship and one conference title—not to mention three second place finishes.

This year promises to be another good year at the pool. "It's going to be comparable to last year's team," Lauber told the Novi News. "It will be a big job filling the shoes of the boys we lost last year."

Gone is Don Cook, holder of records in the 200 and 500 yard freestyle events. Gone is Tom Cook, record holder in the diving competition. And the team will be missing Kevin Kelly, Mark Haynie, and Bob Wright, all considered excellent swimmers.

But the team has 15 returning lettermen.

Seniors on the team this year are Mike Chaffin, Art Greenlee, Jeff Guider, Brian Kramer, Steve Luckett, Mark Owens, and Mike Swayze.

But coach Lauber hesitates to pick any as stand-outs on the team, because of their overall excellence.

"Most are versatile enough to go in three different events," says the coach. "This helps an awful lot in the depth of the team to have a senior group like that."

But the depth of the Mustang team extends even further, according to Lauber.

"For the most part, we have some nice junior swimmers," says the coach. "Some will take the top spots in some events. Pete Talbot is our best butterfly. Ed Erdos, is our best sprint man while Dean Ali is our best distance man."

Looking down into the freshman and sophomore ranks, sophomore Jim Cahill may be getting a starting position in some of the distance events. Classmate Randy Roggenbuck may be in the same position in the butterfly.

"Right now it looks like four freshman boys may be working their way into varsity meets," foresees the coach. "Matt Sullivan holds the junior high record in the breaststroke, while Steve Laffler in the butterfly, Carl Haynie in the backstroke, and Bruce Hackmann in the distance events may see action."

And the team is fortunate, says Lauber, to have two new boys who transferred in from other schools. Coming from Warren Woods is junior Saulius Mikalonis who swims the backstroke, and senior Brian Kramer, whose specialty is the breaststroke.

"Both will help us out an awful lot," says Lauber.

The coach foresees that the team's strongest event will be diving.

"We lost our best diver, but we still have three top divers coming back." They are Joe Devereaux, Mark Owens, and Scott Knapp.

As far as the league this year, Lauber sees another battle with Farmington Harrison for the conference title. Northville's two losses last year were to Harrison, and the Mustang boys will be ready to avenge those defeats.

"The league shapes up to be about the same as last season, but what will help us is the increased depth we have this year. Harrison has real fine front men, but we have the depth."

While Lauber doesn't see much competition from any of the other league teams, he expects that in non-league competition the Mustangs will have good battles from Plymouth Salem, Dearborn Riverside, and Livonia Stevenson.

As far as hopes for another state championship, "If we were still class B, we would have hopes of taking it, but being A, it's a little different," says Lauber. "As the size of the school grows, we'll have a better chance in class A. Some of the schools are just too big to handle right now."

Mustangs open up the season December 3 at Livonia Bentley. Meet time is 7 p.m.

VanWagners Earn Honors

Tom and Jim VanWagner, Michigan Tech's football brother act, both earned all-conference recognition at the Northern Intercollegiate Conference meetings in Minneapolis November 15.

Jim, the record-setting sophomore tailback was picked in the offensive backfield and missed by one vote of becoming the conference MVP. Tom, a junior guard, was picked for the offensive line.

Head coach Jim Kapp was named the conference Coach of the Year as the Huskies won the league title with a perfect 6-0 mark.

Novi SEC Darkhorse??

Mat Men Expect Tough Season

There's plenty of genuine optimism brewing as the Wildcats head into Tuesday's non-league wrestling opener at Willow Run after tuning up in Saturday's Bishop Borgess Tourney.

"It's going to be tough — no doubt about that — but if they've lost any of their better wrestlers we're going to beat 'em," predicted Coach Russ Gardner who insists Novi must be considered a darkhorse in the Southeastern Conference this year.

Last year Willow Run squeezed out a victory in the last match.

Novi won't open its conference race until December 12 when it hosts Saline. Sandwiched between Tuesday's opener and the contest with the Hornets, Novi will face Churchill on December 5 and Catholic Central.

"It's a tough schedule, a very tough schedule, but it's tough on purpose. We want to battle the tough teams. We weeded out the weaker ones because we figure it will keep us sharp and when you win it counts a little more."

"When the season ends our record may not be a lot better than last year but we'll have been in some tougher competition."

"As for our chances in the conference — well, I'm confident we have an outside chance for the title."

Among the teams added to Novi's schedule this year are Northville, Highland Park, and Milford.

Wrestling is five years old at Novi, and three of those years have been under Gardner. Best performance of Novi in those five years was produced in Gardner's first year at the helm when the Wildcats finished with a .500 mark including two tournament victories. Last year Novi finished fifth in the league and was 7-8 overall. Significantly, however, the Wildcats placed third or better in every one of its tournaments last season.

"I'm counting on three tournament victories this year," said Gardner.

What makes Gardner confident in the face of so much power?

He's got 43 wrestlers out this season (16 of them freshmen), about 10 more than in previous seasons; many of his regulars are back; the Wildcats performed amazingly well in a five-state summer tournament; and the players themselves are exuding more confidence than in past years.

Not all of the 43 wrestlers will be performing at the varsity level, of course. Many will be dropped down to the junior varsity level but Gardner, who at the moment is coaching both teams, points out that the challenging process (JV challenging a varsity member for a varsity berth) will undoubtedly result in some JV "graduations" as the season progresses.

Players already slotted for the JV squad, notes the coach, "really look good. They're learning the moves far faster than any JV team I've had."

Last summer's five-state tourney that did so much to bolster local players' confidence produced some surprising results. More than 800 wrestlers competed, some 80 in each weight class, and yet a handful of Novi wrestlers placed eighth or better.

Toughest of the non-league teams Novi will face this season, says the coach, will be Livonia Churchill — a team "that killed us last year, something like 49 to 9."

Favored to win the SE conference title is Chelsea.

"Chelsea looks like the powerhouse again," said

Gardner, "and Saline and Dexter are always tough so it's going to be an uphill battle. But we'll be taking a real shot at it."

Probable starters going into Tuesday's competition at Willow Run include:

Mark McKinney, fourth in the league as a freshman last year, will start at 98.

A "new" wrestler, perhaps a freshman, is likely at 105, and as of late last week the coach had not yet made any decisions.

At 112 will be Scott Spielman, who in his first year of wrestling as a sophomore last season impressed Gardner.

Dwight Pugsley, a senior and second-year wrestler, probably will garner the 119 slot.

League Champion Bob Sasena, a junior, undoubtedly will start at 126, and Kevin Sheppard, a sophomore, will be at 132.

Senior and second-year wrestler Al Jones will start at 138, and at 145 "we'll have somebody new but I'm not sure yet who it will be."

At 155 will be Doug Maier, a junior; at 165 will be senior Mike Mulligan, who was fourth in the league last year; and at 185 will be Paul Bosco.

Last year's heavyweight wrestler, Gil Spiers, who was fourth in the league, has given up high school sports, said Gardner, so very likely Tom Auten will be replacing him.

Looking at the lineup, Gardner figures it this way: "Our strength is spread out over a number of weight classes. At 98 we should be real tough; at 105 or 112, wherever Scott Spielman goes, we'll be pretty strong; 126 and 132 will be tough; and at 155, 165 and 185 we should be pretty good. Frankly, I don't think there will be too many players beating my kids this year."

Schedules

Lessons

Swimming lessons for fifth through eighth graders are scheduled to begin Saturday, December 7, at Northville High School's pool.

Karen Turner, swimming program coordinator for the school district, said fifth grade lessons will be given from 3 to 4 p.m., while sixth, seventh and eighth grade lessons are scheduled from 4 to 5 p.m.

Both sessions will be held for 10 Saturdays and are open free of charge to any fifth through eighth grade student enrolled in the Northville district. A variety of lessons will be offered.

Students have been given registration forms and are to register through their classroom teacher if they are fifth graders and through their physical education teacher if they are in sixth, seventh or eighth grade.

Parents may call Miss Turner at the high school, 349-3400, extension 273, between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. if they have any questions.

"According to the abilities and needs of the students who enroll, instruction areas may be Red Cross beginner, intermediate swimmer, advanced swimmer, junior life saving, or basic springboard diving, synchronized swimming, water polo, water basketball and skin diving," she explained.

Grapplers Claim 7 Medals In Borgess Tournament

Bob Sasena, Novi's league champion wrestler last year in the 126 weight class, gave the Wildcats a big pre-season boost Saturday by hauling down a first-place medal in the Bishop Borgess Tournament.

What's more Sasena was voted the "most valuable wrestler" in the tourney by the 12 coaches of the teams represented.

Novi Coach Russ Gardner was understandably elated and proud of Sasena's performance as well as the performances of his other players.

"We just didn't figure we could do so well. We were competing against a lot of 'A' and double 'A' schools and yet our guys came away with seven medals," he said.

Besides Sasena's outstanding effort, the other local medal winners included: 93 — Mark Boyce, third; 98 — Mark McKinney, third; 112 — Scott Spielman, third; 138 — Al Jones, fifth; 155 — Doug Maier, fourth; and 185 — Paul Bosco, fourth.

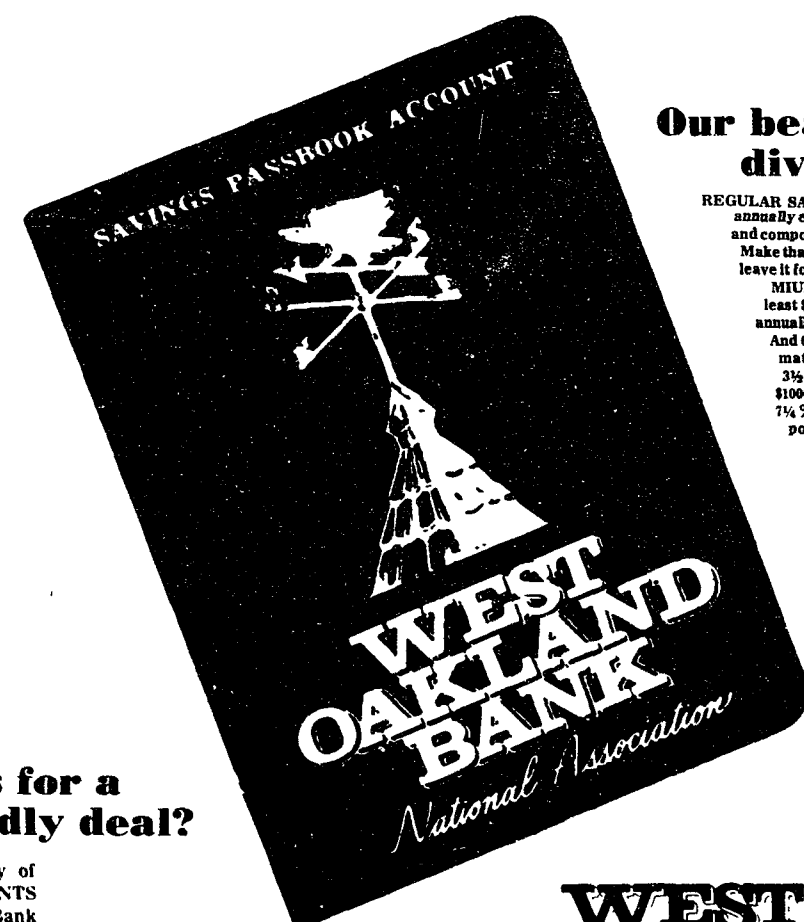

In picking Sasena for the tournament honor, coaches considered performances of all 156 wrestlers participating.

Their decision, very likely, was influenced by Sasena's 15-9 victory over Terry Jones of Highland Park in the final match. On his way to that victory, Sasena had pinned his first and second opponents in the first periods, and he defeated his third opponent on points.

Schools entered in the tourney included: Fordson, Edsel Ford, Riverview, Highland Park, Linden, Dearborn, Airport, Wyandotte, Monroe, Detroit Northwestern, Bishop Borgess, and Novi.

Kids Swing Indoors In Program

Approximately 100 Northville students have had the opportunity of learning tennis — despite the near winter weather outside.

Those students are taking advantage of a program for beginning tennis instruction being offered by the Southdowns Tennis Club of Farmington in conjunction with the Northville Parks and Recreation department.

The basic tennis clinic costs students $2.50 per two hour class, and there are three classes per session. During the classes students, under direction of the club "pro" and his advanced students, learn forehand, backhand and serve.

The classes include students ranging in age from 7-14 and they are divided into different age groups. While the first session only has one more Saturday class to go, students can enroll for the second session which will have classes December 7, 14, and 21.

To enroll a child in the class, telephone 477-2300

WINTER TENNIS—In spite of the cold weather outside, Northville students have had the opportunity to learn the basics of tennis at the inside courts at Southdowns, thanks to the club and the Northville

College Offers Dinner Theater

"The American Woman", a timely and penetrating portrayal of woman through the past 100 years, will be presented by Ms. Linn Mason at Schoolcraft College in the Upper Waterman Center, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, Tuesday, December 3.

Tickets are $2.50 each and include dinner, prepared by Schoolcraft's famed Culinary Arts Department, under the supervision of Robert Briehaupt.

The menu is: spaghetti with meat sauce, salad, garlic bread, beverage and dessert. The buffet dinner will be served between 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Ms. Mason is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Linn Mason, a cum laude graduate in drama from the University of Minnesota, gathered experience at England's Old Vic, Drury Lane and Stratford Theatres. She has appeared on Broadway, off-Broadway and in summer stock. Her presentation, dealing with how woman has changed, achieved her ambitions, charmed and schemed in her dealings with men, takes her from one characterization to another.

Advance reservations are required. Tickets are available in the Student Activities Office, located in the Lower Level of the Waterman Campus Center. Phone 591-6400, Extension 252 for information.

Novi Councilmen Give OK For Surveillance Grant

Pursuit of a surveillance grant for undercover work in Novi was approved Monday by the council with the provision it be reviewed before the project date of July 1, 1975.

The grant would provide for a sergeant, four patrol officers, a clerk typist, and equipment for the officers, including five automobiles.

Total cost of the crew would be $183,991. Of that, federal revenue sharing would provide $165,529 while the state would provide approximately $9,200, as would the city of Novi. The city's share would come out of the 1975-76 budget.

But according to City Manager Ed Kriewall, the city has no funds available for the city's portion.

Council indicated favoring pursuit of the grant, but told Detective Gordon Nelson that realistically, no funds can be expected to surface which would allow the city to continue with the project.

Councilman Romaine Roethel said at the previous meeting, from which the matter was held over, "I have a hangup about bringing in five people who residents would not be aware of. I feel we owe it to the people to have obvious policemen."

"I think someone would be less apt to break into my house if they see a patrol car than if they see some guy in a car who they don't know is a policeman."

Mayor Robert Daley added, "If this was an appropriation at this point, I'd have to vote against it."

Detective Nelson pointed out that the city may suffer possible revocation of some grants from the federal government if the city lays off police officers. The council approved action last week which calls for the lay-off of one dispatcher and two police officers January 10.

Police Chief Lee BeGole indicated the grant would give the city much of the manpower which he would be requesting under next year's budget.

Mrs. Roethel indicated earlier that the funds could become available if the council approves going out for another millage hike and residents vote in favor of the increase.

Wixom Considers Hiring Dog Catcher

A decision on entering into a stray dog contract with a kennel was expected to be made at Wixom's council meeting last night.

At the previous council meeting, the council reviewed a plan by Char Mur Kennel of Novi to allow for picking up of stray dogs and boarding them until they are turned over to the Oakland County kennel.

The contract would call for the kennel to pick up upon call stray dogs at a rate of $15 per dog, and to patrol Wixom's streets two hours a week at a cost of $10 per hour. It also calls for a "standard fee cost" for boarding.

Councilman Robert Dingeldey stated objection to the patrol, he indicated the city would have no proof the patrols actually had taken place.

PARSON to PERSON

Cedric Whitcomb, Pastor

My missionary friend, Jay Walsh from Bangladesh was with us in our church recently and we enjoyed his visit and all he had to say about the country where he serves. We especially appreciated the report of God's blessing upon his ministry. This country has been torn by one disaster after another and now again is in the news light of the world food crisis.

Jay mentioned how trying it is to be a missionary there right now and how his heart went out to his fellow missionaries who are there on the field right now. Missionaries have food only because they have the money with which to buy it. Food prices are extremely high and as missionaries they must go without other things in order to properly feed their families on what is available.

The heartbreak comes in when they realize that the nationals to whom they minister have neither money or food and are starving to death right outside their door. You suddenly lose your appetite when you realize this and you're powerless to make much of a contribution to the problem.

When we realize that such situations exist all over the world, we can be thankful that there is food to buy in spite of the outrageous prices that are being demanded. I trust that at this Thanksgiving time, your heart is grateful for the Lord's blessing upon your life this past year. Perhaps at this time, more than ever before, we ought to be thankful for the daily provision of food.

Novi Board Backs Bike Trail Study

Bicyclists were given a morale boost this past week as the Novi Board of Education adopted a resolution endorsing bike trails.

More specifically, the resolution commends the Novi Youth Assistance Bicycle Committee for its contributions in planning future development of such trails which "will make this a better and safer community for children, youth and adults."

"Novi Community School District wholeheartedly endorse (s) the concept of bicycle trails and extend (s) its best wishes for success in achieving development of such trails," reads the resolution which was framed and presented to a representative of the bicycle committee.

Police Blotter: Youth Killed in Novi Crash

In Novi

Novi recorded its fourth fatality of the year last Thursday when a car went out of control on South Lake Drive, striking a telephone pole and tree, killing the driver.

Dead from injuries sustained in the crash was James Arthur Olson, 18, of Farmington Hills. Released from the hospital with minor cuts and bruises were Aarny Slagle and Dennis Delp, both 18 from Farmington.

Olson died at 5:22 a.m. the following day.

According to traffic officer Tom Hesse, the Olson car was eastbound on South Lake Drive at approximately 11:20 p.m. and the car went out of control after crossing a creek. The car continued on, striking and severing a telephone pole on the south side of the road with its right rear quarter-panel and spun around, hitting a tree with the left front quarter panel.

Olson apparently never regained consciousness despite efforts from officers at the scene. All three youths were conveyed to Botsford Hospital in Farmington where Olson died from injuries the following day.

A Novi girl and a Pontiac girl were injured when their vehicle went out of control as it traveled southbound on Novi Road from East Lake Drive. The accident occurred at noon, Sunday.

According to police reports, taken to Pontiac General Hospital were Judith Ann Osborn, 17, of 28060 Dixon in Novi and driver of the car, Susan Caverly, 17, of Pontiac. The Caverly car reportedly rounded the curve too fast for conditions, leaving the road and striking a cement pillar.

A Vega parked on the shoulder of I-96 November 9 after it broke down turned up missing the following day when the owner returned to pick it up.

The automobile, valued at $3,000, was parked on I-96 between Haggerty and Novi roads and was reportedly locked.

A euphonium valued at $500 was stolen from a room in the Novi Middle School November 11-12.

According to reports, an evening practice had been cancelled, but the room was left unlocked for several hours.

The tires and wheels were missing from a 1972 Ford pick-up truck found November 10 on a construction road leading from Meadowbrook Road to the rear of Meadowbrook Glens. The truck had been stolen from Taylor.

A shed, located in the 40,000 block of Jefferson was burglarized November 9 of $72 worth of goods.

Taken were golf clubs and ladies' clothes.

A chainsaw, valued at $175 was taken from a residence in the 28,000 block of Haggerty November 17.

According to reports, owners of the house returned home at 12:45 p.m. and found a vehicle parked behind the house. A man was inside the back door and ran to his car, jumping in and leaving.

He was described as 19-25 years old, with dark brown collar length hair with a medium complexion. He was wearing a dark brown jacket and dark pants.

A vacuum gauge, table, and tach dwell valued at $265 were taken from the trunk of a car parked at Novi Towing on Grand River.

Owner of the car said he had gone into the building and was loading items into the trunk. The theft occurred November 19 at approximately 8:45 a.m.

Three men were arrested early Tuesday morning after a surveillance crew spotted them stealing some lumber and calling in Novi police.

According to Lieutenant Detective William Faulkner, the crew was watching the Ten Mile and Meadowbrook Road area and spotted a truck with Colorado license plates cruising the area.

The men were arrested after the surveillance crew followed the truck and found the men loading into the truck assorted pieces of lumber from a site at Ten Mile and Hampton Hills.

Kidnapper Chains, Shackles Victim

A Garden City man was kidnapped at gunpoint in the parking lot of the Novi Inn Friday morning, and his ordeal ended 17 hours later after being bound in several lengths of chain and having his head completely covered by masking tape.

Kidnapped was Kenneth Kuczynski, 34, of Garden City. Sought in the kidnapping was John Miller, 30, of Walled Lake.

The kidnapping began at approximately one a.m. Friday morning when Miller allegedly accosted Kuczynski at gunpoint in the Novi Inn parking lot, took him into a van truck where Miller allegedly clubbed his victim and put "ready-made" shackles on him.

Kuczynski was then driven to 2286 Mentone in Wolverine where he was taken into a garage and had more chains and several padlocks and combination locks attached to him. A cement block was also attached to Kuczynski's chained legs and his head was completely covered with masking tape, according to detective Starnes.

He was allegedly beaten about the head by Miller. Miller then allegedly placed Kuczynski inside a completely insulated, padded Corvette and was chained into the car.

A car was then driven in front of the garage door so it could not be opened, and all windows had styrofoam over them so no one could see in. All entrances were locked, Starnes said.

After 17 hours in the car, Kuczynski managed to free one hand and freed himself from the vehicle. After succeeding in removing the masking tape from his face, Kuczynski fell headfirst through a garage door, cutting himself on the broken glass.

According to Starnes, Kuczynski then hobbled a block or so and neighbors called Wolverine Lake police who freed him from the shackles and took him to a doctor to receive stitches for the cuts.

Novi police retained jurisdiction over the case because of where the kidnapping crime occurred. Starnes refused to speculate on the cause for the kidnapping, but said Kuczynski knew Miller.

Miller's attorney called afterward and said Miller would surrender to authorities yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon.

It's Our Policy

By Dick Bingham

If you rent a dwelling to others, it becomes a business property (whether single- or multiple-family), and is no longer qualified for a homeowner's policy. Similar coverage is available, though.

Furniture and furnishings that you leave in the house may be insured under the same policy.

If the property is damaged, rental income is usually reimbursed if the tenant must vacate the house.

Condominiums, becoming more popular, create a special insurance problem: the individual unit owner will insure his unit, of course, as he would a home.

In addition, unit owners together need to insure that property they hold in common, those areas used by all of them.

Sound confusing? Needsn't be. We've studied up on the latest wrinkles in insurance - so you don't have to. When you talk insurance, talk with the experts at

What are the odds that 2 football teams meeting 2 straight games would see those 2 games end with the same team winning by the same score and with the same man scoring the same number of winning points in both games? ... Dis you know this once happened to Army and Navy... Navy beat Army in 1910 and again in 1911... The score of each game was Navy 3, Army 0... And in each of those games, the scoring was done by the same man in the same way as Jack Dalton of Navy won each game by kicking a field goal for the only points in the games... Who would ever predict that 2 straight games could be so similar.

In the history of big-time pro football, there's been only one player who led the league in rushing every year he played... Know who it was? ... None other than... Supreme Court Justice "Whizzer" White... White played his first year in the National Football League in 1938 and led the league in rushing... He left football in 1939 but came back for one more season in 1940, and again led the league in rushing! ... That was his last season, so he quit with a perfect record.

What was the toughest schedule any football team ever played? ... How about this... In 1899, Sewanee played 5 games in 5 different cities in 6 days against Texas, Texas A&M, Tulane, LSU and Mississippi... And the amazing thing is, Sewanee won each of those games!

Rain Doesn't Dampen Walk

"Fantastic!" was the way several businesses reported Sunday afternoon's annual Christmas Walk in downtown Northville.

Despite drizzle much of the afternoon that kept outside strolling and window shopping to a minimum, the "biggest crowd ever" turned to preview what's new for Christmas. They ducked in and out of stores hurriedly to keep out of the rain, but inside they lingered to buy gifts and enjoy refreshments ranging from punch and coffee with cookies to champagne.

The Northville Square shopping Center also reported "big crowds" much of the afternoon, and elsewhere up and down Main and Center streets a steady stream of customers visited the two dozen or more stores that were open for the special occasion.

Wixom Newsbeat: Aid Girls' Program

By NANCY DINGELDEY

A come-as-is luncheon hosted by Lois Green of Beck Road last Friday brought together a group of women who afterward were told of the teen mother program being carried out through the Community Education Department of the school district.

Girls in the program range from 14 years up and have dropped out of school to have babies. They now are attempting to attend classes to earn diplomas through the program.

Nurseries, staffed by volunteer help, have been arranged to care for the little tykes while their mothers attend classes. A great need exists for other such programs to help these mothers learn some of the things they will not be taught in basic classes — one of which is sewing.

From the women at the luncheon, four sewing machines were donated to start the program on its way. A call was out for patterns, material, buttons and zippers.

Other plans were discussed on ways and means to further the development of what was felt to be a very worthwhile project. As a result, a portion of the proceeds from the Holiday Boutique this year will be given to assist these efforts.

If you feel you could help in any area of the teen-age mother project, call either Sylvia Vangieson or Lois Green for information.

To bring guests together at the rather unusual luncheon, Mrs. Green's invitations were for the most part hand-delivered at various times of the day and caught the recipients off guard.

The invitation stated the person had to come as she was dressed at the time of receiving it. Two gals were in the bathtub, one busily doing up her hair. Some were in nightgowns and robes, still others in "scrub" clothes from doing their daily chores. Guests brought salad, vegetable or dessert potluck, with ham, turkey and fresh rolls provided to complete the meal.

To say the least, it was a motley, good-natured group of women that assembled at the luncheon.

One bazaar in Wixom is yet to come. This goodie is scheduled for December 7 at the Leisure Co-op Apartment Club House. Christmas items, bake shop, plant shop, craft items, jewelry and white elephants will be offered for sale between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. There will be free coffee and a drawing for a door prize. All are invited.

A sure sign of the upcoming Christmas season... the annual open house last Sunday at Flowers by John. As in prior years, John unveiled a gala display of new decorating creations for the coming holiday season. It's like walking in a wonderland — enjoy it from now until Christmas.

There were enough Christmas gift-giving ideas floating around town this past weekend to suit anyone's appetite. The Holiday Boutique drew a steady crowd throughout the day. Final tally of proceeds has not been made but should be available by next week.

Workers for the boutique had a bit of a jolt when it was discovered that a wedding reception was being held at the VFW Friday evening.

It was then that plans had been made for the massive job of setting up tables for booths and assigning spots. But thanks to the efforts of Joan Rich of Teanack Circle and Bev Walters of Hopkins Drive, a telephone search found several able gals and huddies who were willing to crawl out of bed and lend their muscles at 7 a.m. Saturday morning.

Thanks to their help, all the chairs were stowed away and tables placed ready for people at 8:30 a.m. For those and another crew that stayed to clean up, it was a mighty long day.

Mayor Val Vangieson was on hand Saturday afternoon to draw the winning ticket for the Wixom Extension Group's beautiful hand-made quilt.

Arriving in town Saturday afternoon from Bloomington, Indiana, was Wixom's new assistant to the Mayor, Bernard VanOsdale. Val and Sylvia brought him to the Boutique, it being a good opportunity to introduce him to many people in town.

A good number of Wixomites turned out on a rather dismal Sunday afternoon to attend the Finn Camp bazaar. Again the people found a delightful array of gifts and goodies to choose from to further the completion of gifts lists.

And since this is a very special week, best wishes to everyone for a festive and happy Thanksgiving. For those traveling, may your journey be a very safe one.
