

Township Millage Proposal Has A Chance, But...

The proposal to increase township taxes by 1.3 mills is a little bit like treading water. "It's enough to keep us afloat and alive but it sure won't get us very far," those close to township government agree.

"It's obviously a temporary, stop-gap increase," note officials who quickly add "but it's an increase we believe citizens will support. With no increase at all we would drown."

Officials concede that the millage proposal—

Does not provide for any major increase in recreational services and/or construction.

Does not provide monies for movement of the library into badly needed larger quarters.

Does not provide for establishment of a completely functional police department or creation of a much talked about public safety department.

Does not provide monies for any cooperative usage of the Child Development Center facilities as proposed by the Wayne State University - Schoolcraft College partnership.

These are major projects, each requiring significant investment of township money. But they have been shelved pending resolution of the overriding annexation question. Forces are in motion, however, that could make the township come to grips with some of these projects sooner than expected.

One such project surfaced recently even as the township board was proposing the 1.3 mill proposition. It concerns the library.

Pinched for space in the face of a steady increase in patronage, most of which is coming from a township growing faster than the city, the city-township library commission has proposed that the library possibly be relocated temporarily in much larger quarters in the lower level of Northville Square shopping center.

Township officials found rental costs in this proposal staggering and informally rejected it out of hand, suggesting the library commission come up with some kind of alternative proposal.

Rental cost is pegged at $52,000 for 9500 square feet of space of $5.50 per square foot. The township's share would be 50-percent.

Overall, the budget under such an arrangement would be something like this: $50,000 for personnel, $52,000 for rent, $10,000 for operating, $7,000 for furnishing, and $5,000 for partitions, etc. Of this total $124,000 cost, the township would share 50-percent, the city the remainder. Taking into account the township's present contribution, the net township increase is pegged at $36,000.

Having received the proposal the day the millage levy was to be set—Supervisor Lawrence Wright bristled, "I don't see how we could do anything about it at this zero hour." Later he added, the library commission "doesn't show much interest" in the proposal to establish the library at the Child Development Center. The latter library proposal, he contended, would provide a better equipped library for less cost.

Library spokesmen take issue with Wright's remark concerning "zero hour" actions, pointing out that both city and township officials have known for more than a year that the library is facing a space crisis.

As for the Northville Square rental fee, Library Commissioner Jay Wendt pointed out that commission members are prepared to show the township board that the cost is "very reasonable" in light of other square-footage costs for similar space elsewhere.

More importantly, relocation temporarily in the Northville Square will provide the library with the additional space needed immediately while plans are formulated by city and township officials for more permanent quarters. He said the proposed space in the Square is three times that of the present quarters.

"Not only does the library need larger quarters, but the city would like to use the space we're presently occupying in the city hall," said Wendt. "Even if a decision is made soon to build a new library, it probably would be several years before we could move in. We need larger quarters now."

Presently, a city-township school blue ribbon committee of citizens and officials is studying the question of facilities for the library, for the recreation department, and for the school system. Preliminary conclusions of a TAX DEADLINE for paying real and personal township taxes has been extended through February 28 without penalty. Township trustees approved the traditional extension Thursday. Previous deadline had been last Friday.

CITY MANAGER Steven Walters will meet with board members of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Thursday to discuss the city proposal to establish a "Silent Observer" program here. Basically, the program would provide cash rewards for those furnishing tips to either the city or township police departments—tips that lead to conviction in felony crimes ranging from murder and armed robbery to shoplifting.

RECREATION DIRECTOR'S post in Northville has attracted 53 applicants with a total of 10 slated to be interviewed during the next two weeks. Don Thomson, spokesman for the recreation commission, said the group expects to name the full-time director within three weeks.

VOTER REGISTRATION for township residents closes at 8 p.m. Monday, February 24, for those electors wishing to cast ballots in the March 25 millage election. On Friday, February 21, and Monday, township offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. for voter registration.

APPLICATION for a dance permit by the Drawbridge Restaurant has been tabled pending appearance before the council of the principal owner explaining recent violations of dancing without appropriate permission of the State Liquor Control Commission.

MORE THAN 30 merchants will participate in the "Buy George Midnight Madness" sale beginning at 9 p.m. and extending until midnight Friday. Many of the stores, both in Northville Square and in the central business district, will feature outstanding savings in the sale event marking Washington's birthday. "Buy George", not a bad idea!

North-South Route Plan Revived

Aerial Photos Ordered

An old proposal for a new north-south route through the City of Northville has been revived.

Upon the recommendation of the city manager, the council this week authorized aerial mapping of the city—a step seen as an integral part of a feasibility study which may soon get the council's green light.

That study, together with preliminary engineering plans, probably will be undertaken by Mosher Associates, Inc., if the remainder of the city manager's recommendation is accepted.

Total cost of the project is pegged at $20,000.

This cost, according to L. W. Mosher includes $14,500 maximum for the engineering study, $3,000 for aerial photography, and $2,500 for test borings.

Concerning the photography, the council has authorized that this step proceed whether or not the remainder of the recommendation is accepted. It will provide photographs of not only the Griswold Street area (where the new route is proposed) but of the entire city since the city's existing aerial photographs are now outdated. Inclusion of the entire city will cost approximately $200 more plus the cost of prints, according to the manager.

The idea of providing a new north-south route through the city is not a new one by any means. It's been the subject of a number of studies periodically over the past decade.

Most prominent of those studies was chaired by George Clark several years ago. Among the proposals that have been considered are a new road paralleling the east side of the railroad tracks, from Seven Mile Road to Novi Road; a new road paralleling the east side of the railroad, from Northville Road to Novi Road; and extension of Griswold Street north across the millpond, adjacent to the railroad, to Novi Road.

Cost of building these roads has been the prohibitive factors in the past.

At least one property owner, Stewart Oldford of Northville Lumber Company, has offered to donate the necessary right-of-way through his property for this road.

Because it has taken a strong position that a new north-south route is needed to maintain minimum traffic on Center Street and avoid the necessity of making it a major future thoroughfare through the city, the planning commissioners more than a year ago voted to forfeit their small salary with the suggestion to the city that it be used to help finance a study.

Also, the Wayne County Road Commission has pledged its support of the study, suggested it may make available needed data and road expertise in lieu of outright financial support.

City Manager Steven Walters recommended hiring of Mosher Associates to do the work because—they have the experience and technical capabilities to do the job.

—their price is reasonable. —they have a history of involvement in this area and are sensitive to the community.

The firm is presently the engineer for Northville Township.

"A second proposal from Commonwealth Associates of Jackson was considered in detail," said Walters, "because they also have had extensive experience in this type of project. The identical services for a price of $20,000,

May Opening Seen for Park

Latest target date for opening of Maybury State Park, the brand-new 960-acre metropolitan facility in Northville Township, is May 1.

That was the word Friday from James Hane, the man in charge of planning for Michigan state parks. It appears that the flare approaches to the park entrance on Eight Mile Road will be completed to permit the opening, he predicted.

The necessary permits from the Oakland County Road Commission were not secured in time last fall to permit blacktopping, he said.

Hane said the park will open with limited facilities. These, he said, will include:

—A living farm where visitors may see farm animals and farm buildings and equipment.

—Temporary bike trails and, perhaps, trails for horseback riding.

—Foot trails, and picnic areas.

—Possible organizational overnight camping.

Provision for horseback riding is a relatively new addition to on-going planning for this park which is intended primarily to serve the Detroit metropolitan area, Hane said. It grew out of requests by horsemen at public hearing held in Detroit several months ago.

Attending that hearing was State Representative R. Robert Geake of Northville, a horseman who lives just a short distance from the park. Geake and other area horsemen will host state park planners soon in a horseback planning session, said Hane. Officials will be riding the park area to determine the best location for bridle paths.

Major initial funds allocated for the park have been used primarily for fencing around the entire park area, which lies between Seven and Eight Mile roads west of Beck, for construction

Millage Lifetime Cut to Five Years

When Northville township voters go to the polls March 25 in a special millage election, they'll be voting on approving an additional 1.3 mills for general operation for five years, 1975 through 1979.

That decision was made by township trustees last week. Originally, the proposal had been for a period of 10 years. However, Clerk Betty Lennox pointed out that "for millage extending beyond five years, only property owners may vote according to state law. "It would be difficult to divide voters into property owners and non-property owners," she added.

Officials estimate that the 1.3 mills will produce about $103,000 in additional tax monies.

Although wording of the millage proposition does not earmark the funds for any specific use, trustees have said in budget sessions that the money will be used to finance a $32,000 increase in the police department budget, $13,000 increase in recreation department allocation, $3,000 increase for the library and $16,000 in raises and benefits for employees.

Remaining funds are to be used to repay borrowed monies from the public improvement fund, to repay the endangered carryover account and to beef up the contingency fund.

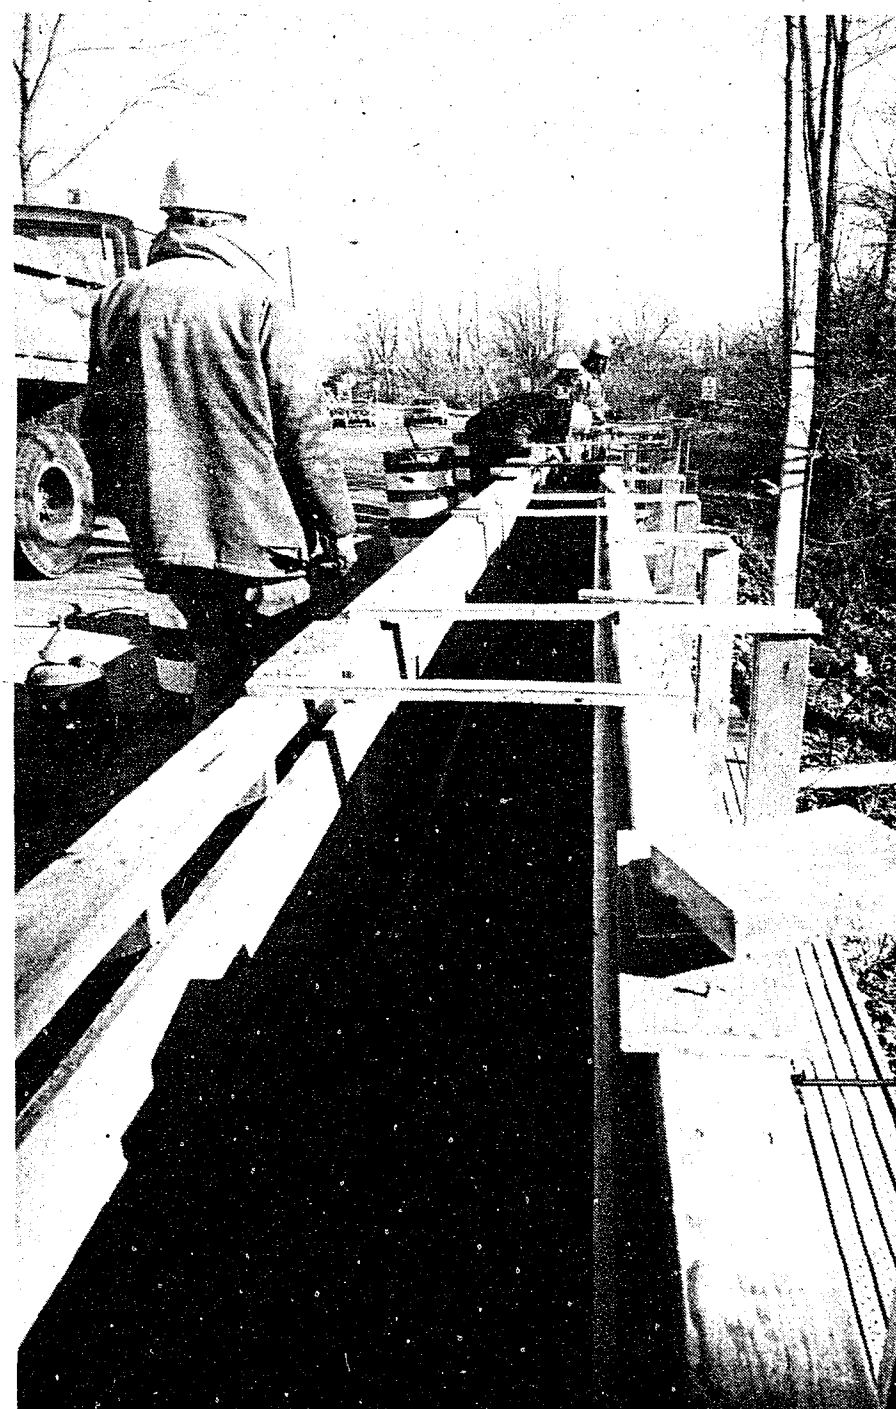

Decision to seek the additional millage was recommended in December to avoid drastic budget cuts. Proposed had been the elimination of the police department, as well as reductions in the clerical force. Numerous fiscal controls were also put into operation at the same time.

Trustee Charles Rosenberg, a member of the township's ad hoc committee that studied township finances, said that no decisions have been made on what will happen if the millage does not pass.

One township employee attending last Thursday's meeting said she understood raises would be eliminated.

College to Focus On 'Women Alone'

Schoolcraft College women's programs and services has added a course, entitled "Women Alone—Focus Widowhood," to the winter community services schedule.

The course, which begins March 3, is designed to help women cope with living alone again after the loss of a spouse.

Topics for discussion include understanding the normal grieving process, its length and therapeutic value for adults and children, coping with depression, finding a new identity as a single parent, raising children as a single parent and developing new skills.

Karen Morrison, a staff member and certified social worker with Family Service of Detroit and Wayne County, will teach the course.

She is a trained social worker and has done individual, marital and family counseling for eight years. Ms. Morrison is a senior caseworker in the Family Service's out-county district.

Collegian Collects Rare Indian Garb

By JEAN DAY

TWO AUTHENTIC American Indian costumes are prized possessions of Valerie Smith, daughter of the Harvey Smiths of Randolph Street.

Valerie, a student at the University of Michigan, shares her family's interest in American Indian culture and is a collector of "things old."

She will wear one of the costumes to give an informal talk at the second annual mother-daughter tea of Northville Woman's Club from 1:30 to 4 p.m. this Saturday at Northville First Presbyterian Church.

Valerie has enlisted the help of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Scott Smith (the former Kathy Boland), to wear her other vintage costume.

The costumes are from Sioux and Potawatomi tribes with the Sioux one dating from the last century and not now worn by the Sioux, an Indian people of the Dakotas.

The Potawatomi Indians, Valerie adds, were in Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana.

In addition to the talk on Indian lore the tea program will feature an account of what it's like to be a delegate to Michigan Girls' State by Suzie Evans.

Suzie, now a senior at Northville High School and the daughter of club member Mrs. H. O. Evans, was co-sponsored to Girls' State by Northville Woman's Club and Northville Business and Professional Women's Club last spring.

Mrs. George Weiss, club president, announces that the program, at which both mothers and daughters of members will be guests, will be given at 1:30 p.m. with tea to follow. Mrs. Z. T. Zbikowski is chairman of program arrangements.

A FAVORITE EATERY of the area in days past, "Black's White House," will be remembered by oldtimers around Northville.

It was located at the southwest corner of Center and Dunlap streets, now the parking lot for the Drawbridge.

Ruth and Bill Black, who owned the "White House," now own and operate Black's Gourmet Shoppe and Cooking School in Wheaton, Illinois. Ruth Black has written a cookbook entitled "Save the Gourmet Way."

This Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. they will demonstrate gourmet cooking on the second floor of Black's Hardware. Included in their presentation will be a demonstration of the Cuisinart Food Processor. Gourmets may watch, question and sample.

Ruth and Bill Black are the parents of Del and Bob Black. The former is the owner of Del's Shoes and the latter, of Black's Hardware.

SAVING ON MEAL costs is a prime concern of homemakers today. Area women also will get help here in a program, "Economy-Type Meals Fit for Company," to be presented at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, March 5, in the Northville Square upper concourse.

Detroit Edison home economist Pat Holden will use and demonstrate small appliances to cook the "Company's Coming" meal.

There will be no charge for the program, and Mrs. Shirley Jallad of the Square's Cheese and Wine Barn, who has been planning the special event, hopes women will plan to be on hand.

Presbyterian Pastor To Speak

Second speaker in the current series of Lenten dinner programs at Northville First Presbyterian Church next Tuesday, February 25, will be the Reverend L. Edward Davis.

The Reverend Davis came to Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church in Livonia last summer to fill a newly created post of minister of parish life.

For the past few years he served a non-Presbyterian urban parish located on the edge of Wayne State University in the heart of Cass Corridor, the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, Northville pastor, said in announcing the program.

He is to speak in the sanctuary following devotions and singing at 7:30 p.m. A potluck dinner 6:30 p.m. begins the evening.

He is a contributor to the just-released book, "The Urban Mission," published by Eerdmans.

Brewer-Reeves

From Tennessee comes news of the engagement of Brenda Jean Brewer to Dennis Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reeves of 747 Carpenter Street, Northville. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brewer of Hohenwald, Tennessee, who are announcing the engagement and approaching wedding.

Now a senior at Hohenwald High School, the bride-to-be will be graduated in May. Her fiancé is a 1973 graduate of Northville High School and now is attending Oakland Community College and working part-time at the Drawbridge Restaurant.

A July 25 wedding is planned.

Wilson-Blackford

Announcement of the engagement of Gwendolyn Marie Wilson to Christopher K. Blackford is made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Wilson, former Novi residents of Echo Valley now living in Plymouth.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Blackford of Graydon, New Hampshire, former residents of Plymouth.

An August 2 wedding date has been set.

DeCuyper-Hicks

Announcement is made in Allen Park, Michigan, of the engagement of Francie Diana DeCuyper of that city to Fred Robert Hicks, a former Northville resident who now is head wrestling coach and assistant football coach at Sandusky High School in Sandusky, Michigan.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Hicks of 810 Horton Street, Northville.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul O. DeCuyper of Allen Park.

The couple met at Western Michigan University from which both received their degrees in 1973.

The bride-elect, a 1969 Melvindale High School graduate, received her BA with a major in Spanish. She now is a Spanish instructor at Grosse Ile High School.

Her fiancé, a 1969 Northville High School graduate, received his BS degree, majoring in health, physical education and recreation. In addition to coaching, he is a physical educator at Sandusky High School.

A June 20, 1975, wedding is planned.

Commend Scouts For Cookie Price

Northville-area Girl Scouts will begin taking cookie, tea and cracker orders this Friday in the 1975 sale for which Mrs. Sandy Westphal of 41862 Sunnydale, Northville, is local chairman.

She is in charge of local efforts to meet the highest inter-city sales goal in the history of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Mrs. Ruth Weber of Ann Arbor, state general chairman announced.

The Girl Scouts are hoping to sell $50,336 worth in the Northville-Plymouth area.

Helping in this year's campaign is the fact that the council decided to "hold the price line" and keep the $1 a box price of last year in spite of a boost in the wholesale cost.

Two new items have been added to the offering of five flavors of cookies. Sesame Crisp crackers and English breakfast tea will be sold at $1 a box also.

The familiar lemon cremes, mints, Savannahs (peanut butter), Oxford cremes and Scot-Tea cookies are the other choices.

Another factor which should help make this year's sale a success, Mrs. Westphal and Mrs. Weber point out, is that there are 632 Girl Scouts in 30 Girl Scout troops in the Huron Valley Council compared to 489 in 24 troops a year ago.

Profits will go to fund troop community service and camping activities and for the operation of the Huron Valley Council.

The Girl Scouts will be taking orders for 17 days, beginning this Friday and continuing until March 9. Junior, Cadette and Senior troops will be participating. Deliveries will be made April 8 to April 22.

Because Northville Girl Scouts — and all scouts in the Huron Valley Council — will be selling cookies at a dollar a box beginning this Friday instead of raising the price to $1.25 as has been a national trend, they have received special recognition. They were commended last Friday by U. S. Congressman Marvin Esch for their contribution to President Gerald Ford's Whip Inflation Now (WIN) campaign.

He praised the council's initiative in setting a goal 25 percent higher for its sales instead of bowing to a price increase.

"While the chief topic of conversation in Washington and throughout the country has been the state of the economy, our local Girl Scouts have decided to do something besides just talk.

"I am proud to be able to commend them for their determination and drive to not only help themselves and their organization by selling cookies, but to do so in a manner that is an inspiration to us all," he stated.

The goal is 350,000 boxes this year.

Cadettes Slate Winter Events

Activities ranging from bowling and winter camping to hair styling and ear piercing have been scheduled for Northville Cadette Girl Scouts.

The Cadettes and their fathers will have a bowling party from 1 to 3 p.m. this Saturday at Northville Lanes.

At a special meeting at 7:30 Monday, February 24, at Cooke Middle School plans will be finalized for a camping outing in March in Ann Arbor. The meeting is required for girls planning to participate with any girl unable to attend asked to call Mrs. Carol Raycraft, 349-9128, a leader in advance.

Next regular meeting of the troop will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 3, at Cooke Middle School.

A hairstyling demonstration by the Golden Comb salon in Northville Square was given at the February meeting. A new method of ear piercing also was shown.

TEA AND COOKIES—As Northville Girl Scouts get ready to take cookie orders beginning this Friday, Mrs. Sandy Westphal, Northville cookie chairman, is served tea and a choice of five cookies or sesame crackers by, from left, Sara Nowka, Lori Westphal and Pam Mazwiek. Tea, crackers and cookies still will be only one dollar a box.

Friends Present Children's Plays

Live performances of three children's plays will be presented here at 7 p.m. next Thursday, February 27, under sponsorship of Friends of Northville Library.

Students from Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College will enact "Little Brute Family," "Frederick — the Story of a Field Mouse" and "What's the Matter with Corrupters?" in the city hall council chambers.

At the special program, open to all youngsters in the community without charge, prizes for the three best posters made by school students for library month will be presented.

The program, the friends point out, is geared to young children.

The collegiate actors, who present the plays as a volunteer community project, are students of Professor Wallace Smith, college speech and theater advisor.

The performances are being given as part of "Use Your Library" month.

Park Commission Proposal to be Heard Monday.

An attempt by Novi Parks and Recreation Commission to get the ball rolling on a millage proposal of an allocated mill to the Commission had little success last week as the council recommended the matter be held over for a special open meeting February 24 at the Middle School cafeteria.

The parks commission hopes to eventually receive an okay from the people for one-half mill for bicycle trails and another half mill for park development. The bicycle trail money would come in for five years and the park money three years based upon Commission hopes.

The commission went before Novi council last week as a first step in attempting to persuade the council to put on the ballot a charter amendment which would allow the commission to receive the money.

Pochter said he's hopeful of getting the mill even if the council goes to the voters with a three mill proposal which does not include the parks commission allocation.

While Pochter indicated that members of the commission would be willing to go out with petitions to get the matter on the ballot if council decided against it, Mayor Robert Daley warned that while members could go as private citizens to circulate petitions, the council would not tolerate the commission itself going against the council.

"I feel if they have a program in parks and recreation and are asking the council to consider it, we should give the citizens the opportunity to say yes or no to the program," said Councilman Louie Campbell. "I think we should take a good strong look at the program and let the people decide."

"What you propose may fit in with what we propose," added Councilman Philip Goodman.

Besides the parks commission proposal, the council will discuss with residents an allocated millage proposal suggested by City Manager Ed Kriewall.

That proposal calls for two mills for the police department and one mill for the fire department. The proposal was suggested as a means of backing federal revenue sharing out of the operating budget, replacing two grants worth $50,000 ending in the police department, and as a means of staying off lay-offs next year. It is also intended to be a start toward building up the fire department, perhaps one of the worst equipped in Oakland County.

The suggested allocated millage drew mixed response from council and came under fire as not addressing other less "flashy" areas where new income is just as crucial.

This Monday, Kriewall is to present five year projections on such items as the master drainage program, parks and recreation plans, and general administrative costs including additional buildings and office space necessary. He is also to prepare an in depth report listing the problems the city will be facing and costs involved.

Surveys Show Residents Want Bike Paths

80 Percent Willing to Fund System

A survey recently completed by the Novi Youth Assistance Bicycle Committee indicates that residents of Novi are overwhelmingly in favor of establishing a system of bike paths and would be willing to fund such a system, said Clara Porter, chairman of the committee.

The committee, through the Novi Parks and Recreation Commission has proposed that residents be asked for one-half mill to fund the bike path construction and to seek matching federal funds (see story this page).

The committee presented its request after receiving back surveys which indicate that residents want the paths, would fund them, and would use them.

Of 400 surveys circulated to all areas of Novi, there were 320 responses, a number correlating to the Nielson TV ratings.

"There wasn't one section where no one returned the survey," said Mrs. Porter. "We're going by the response and it shows that they are interested in having bike paths."

"We found from the surveys that people would use them for recreation and other activities, such as shopping, going to work, and to school. We were surprised how close non-recreation and recreational use were."

"We asked how far they ride and 52 percent said they went less than a mile. No one goes very far now except on sub-division streets."

Mrs. Porter said that many of the respondents cited unsafe conditions for not riding bicycles or for not allowing their children to ride bicycles to work or to school. Streets cited as being especially unsafe included Novi and Ten Mile Roads, two major roads that would hold bicycle traffic on its way to the Novi schools located on Taft Road.

"Eight out of ten responding felt they would be willing to finance a bike system in Novi," said Mrs. Porter. "They overwhelmingly indicated they would support financing it. They're willing to put out some kind of financing by some means."

Asked where bike trails should stand in a list of priorities in light of Novi's present economic plight, Mrs. Porter said, "I think we have to give the people a choice of what they want. The millage was already defeated although it was worded differently than the present proposal. But if you have two mills for police and one for fire, that doesn't leave any mills for recreation.

"I realize there are priorities and that we need roads and we need police protection, but there's not another group in Novi has investigated to see what the people want. No one else has done a study."

"I just feel Novi needs to have some money for use in recreation and 32 cents per person just isn't going to make it."

She noted that the Novi Jaycees and the Novi school board have gone on record in favor of the concept of bike paths.

Information received from the survey shows close to two cars per family with two licensed drivers per household. Ninety-eight percent of the respondents drive to work, school or other activities.

Forty percent indicated they are involved in car pool trips each week.

Fifty percent said that if bike paths were available, they would use them to ride to work, school, or other activities while 68 percent said it would be at least some relief not to have to chauffeur the family to activities.

Nine out of ten drivers answering the survey stated that bike riders present a dangerous hazard while 70 percent said that family members were discouraged from traveling to certain specified areas of the community because of traffic hazards, lack of appropriate surfaces, distance and because of other hazards.

Novi families average two and a half bikes per household. Teens average 1.9 bike trips per week, children under twelve 3.5 trips per week, mothers 1.4 trips per week, fathers 1 trip per week and other .67 bike trips per week.

Novi family members make approximately 2 1/2 non-recreational trips per week and 52 percent who go on non-recreational trips drive less than one mile, 28 percent less than two miles, 13 percent between two and five miles, and seven percent five miles or more.

Forty percent of licensed drivers indicated they would use the bike paths for non-recreational trips at least one a week. Ninety five percent said it was important for youth too young to drive to be able to travel freely about the community on their bikes.

Of sixty-five youth working, 49 use a car to get to work while 16 ride bikes. Fifty-four percent of all responding said that bike paths would greatly improve the ability of youth to travel to work, 36 percent said it would make a slight difference, while ten percent said it would make no difference.

Valuing chauffeuring time at $2 an hour, 56 percent of the respondents said they would save $10 or more per year. Ninety percent said that developers should include bike paths or sidewalks so that over the years there will eventually be connected paths throughout the community.

Eight out of ten felt there should be a referendum of local voters for a bond issue to finance the immediate construction of bicycle paths. The same number said they would be willing to commit $12 per year to support a bond issue which would complete and maintain the suggested bike path.

BICYCLE DANGER—Nancy Porter, 13 year-old daughter of Clara Porter, chairman of the Novi Youth Assistance Bicycle Committee, shows the danger along Ten Mile Road that bicycle enthusiasts now must face.

The committee is hopeful of council okay to put on the ballot a millage proposal allocating one-half mill for establishment of a 30 mile bike trail system.

For Weather and Traffic

Novi Police Join Two Alert Systems

Participation in two different forms of alert systems by Novi Police may help Novi residents and travelers make it to their destination as the winter wears on.

One system is a weather alert system while the other is for alerting motorists of traffic problems.

The weather alert system utilizes a radio receiver which is to be left near the police dispatcher. Transmitted information originates at the WXYZ-TV tower in Southfield and comes from information gathered at Detroit Metropolitan Airport by the Weather Service Forecast office.

"When they activate a tone alert signal, our operator turns it on to catch the warning," explains Police Chief Lee BeGole.

Weather warnings provided by way of the tone alert include many different types of adverse weather, but BeGole says his department will be mainly interested in tornado watches or warnings for heavy snow, blizzard, ice storm or freezing rain, high wind, or flash floods.

"If we get a heavy snow warning, we will notify the department heads concerned and call people back to make certain there's someone to work," said BeGole.

The police chief noted that while the city was fairly well prepared for the earlier near-record 19 inch snowfall, the alert system would prepare the city for any sudden weather changes such as that. He added that if the city is notified, for instance, of an upcoming ice storm, it can have the DPW crews prepared for salting down the roads.

City Manager Ed Kriewall has already give the police department permission to purchase the $25-$30 receiver necessary for the system, and BeGole says he expects to have it in shortly.

The second warning system is intended to provide up to the minute traffic information to residents through use of a special radio hook-up system.

Said a letter from another police department explaining the system, "Detroit Police Department has developed a system of dissemination of information to the public. This information might be traffic conditions in a certain area or travel advice where fire or other hazards necessitate re-routing of traffic."

The warning system involved tapping a message telephoned to the Detroit Police Department which is then transmitted automatically to eight radio stations.

"They could use my voice on the air or put their own words on," BeGole said, explaining use of the information by the radio stations.

"We're getting quite interested in it because of the opening of the Walter Reuther expressway (in Farmington Hills)," added BeGole, "because this interchange is opening piece by piece and this is the first part of it open, and I can see some problems."

Wixom Council Balks At Recommendation

A Wixom Parks and Recreation Commission recommendation "opposing any improvement or use of the Detroit Edison right-of-way for a bike path" drew fire from the council last Tuesday. The recommendation said that bike paths would be too dangerous and hazardous due to the number of road and railroad crossings; constitutes a nuisance to neighborhood homes along the right-of-way; and that maintenance upkeep, and patrolling of the right-of-way would be prohibitive in cost.

Mayor Val Vangieson said that he was disappointed in the parks and recreation recommendation because they had never indicated over the past year that it was either for or against bike paths, and then suddenly was 100 percent against them.

"This is quite a bit of acreage just sitting there doing nothing and we should make good use of it," added Councilman Robert Dingeldey. "I'm surprised they came back with a negative attitude in these three areas. I'm very disappointed with the parks and recreation committee." Councilman Melvin Green

Novi LEIN Machine Thwarts Criminals

Ask a criminal what the most feared law enforcement weapon is and there's a strong possibility he may say the LEIN.

The LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network) has been responsible for the incarceration of many criminals who were unfortunate enough to be stopped for such a minor matter as a broken taillight. In fact, the LEIN, during its three years of use by Novi police has probably been responsible for taking literally hundreds of criminals and traffic offenders off the streets.

Take, for instance, the case of John Smith, 23, of Northville who was issued a ticket October 24 for a traffic violation. After Smith failed to appear in court, Judge Martin Boyle issued a bench warrant for his arrest and the information was entered in the LEIN.

February 15 of 1975, Smith was picked up by Northville police who stopped him for a common traffic stop and upon having the LEIN checked found that he was wanted by Novi police for expired operators license, as well as Detroit and Michigan State Police, Jackson post.

After being arraigned Monday morning after spending the week-end in Oakland County Jail, Smith pled guilty to the Novi charge and received a suspended sentence. In lieu of the two nights he had spent in jail. He was then turned over by Novi police to Detroit police for a traffic violation there.

Without the LEIN, Northville police could not have known that Novi police

Use of the machine, which can give momentary information on criminal or traffic records of any person, leads annually to the capture of hundreds of criminals and traffic offenders in Novi.

NEW PREXY—Mrs. Connie Mallett of 22819 Cranbrook, Novi, poses with her daughter, three-year-old Dawn, one of the reasons Mrs. Mallett joined the Northville-Novu Parents-Without-Partners organization. She is its new president. The club meets at Northville First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Mallett, 349-9346, may be contacted about membership.

Parent Group Sets February Events

At the last meeting of Northville-Novu Parents Without Partners, plans were made for a party to be held Saturday, February 22. For reservations contact 437-6816. The next meeting will be Friday, February 28, when the speaker will be Boyd Candlish who will show slides and discuss planting and planning gardens. A family activity is being planned for March to attend the Ice Capades. The group is open to any single parent in the Novi-Northville area.

News Around Northville

Northville's Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear will be attending the American Association of School Administrator's convention in Dallas, Texas, later this week.

Spear will serve as program evaluator for a discussion group on a year-round school program operating in Phoenix. The convention will be held Friday through Monday.

A one-day used paperback sale held last Tuesday at Northville High School netted $29. Mrs. Harold Wright and Mrs. John Brown, who headed the project for Northville Mothers' Club, reported Monday.

Proceeds were earmarked for the high school library at the Mothers' Club meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Roger Pyett.

Tickets for the club's annual dinner dance to be held March 22 at Meadowbrook Country Club were distributed to members to sell. They are $25 a couple. Anyone wishing to reserve tickets may call Mrs. David Longridge or Mrs. John Veselenak.

Sewing and handicrafts will share the agenda with a program on driving emergencies at the meeting of the Plymouth-Northville Chapter No. 1311, American Association of Retired Persons, beginning at 10 a.m. Wednesday, February 26, at Plymouth Presbyterian Church.

Following sewing and handicrafts will be a sack lunch at noon with a sing-along and a short business session. AARP members are reminded to bring along coffee cups.

John Trolley, safety consultant of AAA, will speak on "Emergencies in the Making." Visitors are welcome.

Two special sets of large posters, 12 depicting the story of the underground railroad and 12 giving biographies of famous blacks who made their homes in Michigan, are to be on display in the Northville Square Community Room from February 24 through March 1.

The posters have been produced by Consumers Power Company and are being displayed by the Square merchants. Mrs. Shirley Jallad, secretary of the Northville Square Merchants Association, says there should be special interest locally in the underground railroad series as the Northville-Salem areas were stops.

Annual baby-sitting clinic sponsored by the Northville Jayettes met for the first in a series of five weekly sessions Tuesday at Cooke Middle School.

More than 40 girls and boys in sixth, seventh and eighth grades have signed up to take the series, Mrs. Gwen Magnan, chairman, reports. Four more sessions at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays will be held with students who attend all meetings and take a final test being awarded certificates.

REHEARSING FOR 'ALICE'—Mrs. Edna Fleming of Northville reads her part of Margaret, older sister of "Alice in Wonderland," to Mrs. Penny Neuchterlein, Northville telephone order chairman, and to

Mrs. Diane Amos, Alice, for the production to be given by the Plymouth-Northville AAUW in three performances March 8 at Northville High School. Tickets will be sold in Northville schools next week.

AAUW to Present Schoolcraft Has Late Registration

Northville-area youngsters again will have the opportunity to enjoy live drama when the Plymouth-Northville branch of the American Association of University Women presents three performances of "Alice in Wonderland" Saturday, March 8, at Northville High School.

Curtain times will be 10 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m. Tickets at 60 cents will be available in Northville schools next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, February 25-27. After February 27 they may be purchased at Del's Shoe Store.

Mrs. Ronald Neuchterlein, 21612 Rathlone, is taking telephone ticket orders.

"Alice in Wonderland" is the 15th annual children's play to be given by the AAUW branch.

Taking the part of Margaret, Alice's older sister, in the production is Edna Fleming of Northville.

Mary Uhl is the play's director with Carol Bechy serving as business manager.

Have you been notified that the community services class you wanted to take this winter at Schoolcraft College has been filled? Well, walk-in registrations being taken February 19 and 20 on campus could provide a second chance to get into the class.

That's the word from Director Ron Griffith who said that withdrawals from mail-in registrations will enable the college to accept students in a number of popular classes earlier thought to be filled.

"And, there are many openings in our other classes not previously filled," he said, "so the selection is still good."

Walk-in registration may be completed from noon until 7:30 p.m. both days at the registrar's office. The payment of tuition and fees is required at the time of registration.

Classes begin the week of February 24 and vary in length from eight to 16 weeks. Resident tuition is $11 per credit hour. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road.

Free Tests Set At Cancer Clinic

A free Pap Test clinic open to all area women will be held Monday, March 17, through Friday, March 21, at the Plymouth Veterans Building at 173 North Main Street, Plymouth.

Appointments are necessary and may be made by calling the Plymouth office of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, 453-3010 or 453-1432, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. week days beginning next Monday, February 24.

The clinic is an annual one, co-sponsored by the Plymouth Registered Nurses Association and the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The clinic will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the tests.

All women are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to have a Pap Test. Mrs. Ainsley Lebowitz, Northville Michigan Cancer Foundation chairman, points out that this is an annual opportunity to take the quick, painless test only a short distance from home.

"The Pap Test is a very reliable test for cervical cancer, one of the most prevalent cancers in women," the Michigan Cancer Foundation states, adding, "Such cancer is curable if it is detected early enough."

The test, a painless collection of cells from the cervix, takes about five minutes. The cells are examined by microscope for any abnormalities in color, size or shape. The test can be administered any time except during a woman's menstrual period and for four days thereafter.

Tests are given only by trained professionals. If it is negative, the woman is informed. If some abnormality is shown, both she and her physician are notified. Girls under 18 must have parental consent to take the test.

Irregular bleeding or unusual vaginal discharge are among the first visible signs of cervical cancer. The Pap Test indicates signs of the cancer long before these signs are apparent.

Band Aids Snage Fund

Six Northville High graduates, all members of the rock group Stone Free, will be donating their fee for playing at Northville High's Valentine's Day dance last Friday night to the Joe Snage Jr. Fund.

According to Brad Hall, one of the group's members, "We all liked Joe and decided to donate what we would have earned for performing that night to the fund for his family."

The owner of Joe's Pantry on Eight Mile near Randolph Street was shot to death in January during an apparent hold-up of his party store.

Members of the band include 1972 graduates Don Alli and Jim Sanders and 1973 graduates Brad Hall, Bill Poe, Rob Williams and Scott Stephens.

Franklin Road Drain Gets County Approval

Approval was given Thursday to plans for the storm sewer which will serve Meads Mill Middle School. The approval, given by Wayne County Road Commission, followed completion of additions and corrections to the plans required by the commission.

According to Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear, bids for the project will be opened March 17 and awarded March 24. Estimated cost of the sewer is $92,000 and the project will take approximately 90 days for completion. The sewer will be constructed at the school district's expense.

"We're running a tight schedule," Spear added, explaining that it is impossible to open the school without the completed storm sewer.

County approval of the project was given after a number of conditions were met, including placing the storm sewer three feet off the centerline of the road right-of-way. Other items included placement location of sewer stubs and manholes, details of soil borings and various data to be listed on the plan before the commission would give its approval.

In addition, the county has said it will initiate an agreement between the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners and Northville township for maintenance of the storm sewer.

Township Millage Proposal Has A Chance

blue ribbon subcommittee suggest that construction of a new library in a cultural center complex adjacent to the board of education offices is favored.

This study suggests further that the board of education building be restored to a recreational facility and that the board of education offices occupy a portion of Main Street Elementary School or share part of the new cultural center complex.

Wendt admitted that the commission is not entirely supportive of the proposal to move the library to the Child Development Center at Sheldon Road and Five Mile. The commission, he said, "is split right now on this."

Distance from the city, making walking virtually impossible for most residents of the city and township, is cited as one of the objections.

Therein lies a potentially explosive rift in city-township relationship.

Growth of the library patronage, like that of the recreation department, has centered mostly in the township recently. And those township officials and citizens who believe the township should be a completely autonomous municipality see this population trend as their persuader.

Trustee Richard Mitchell signalled this position recently upon hearing of the Northville Square proposal. Noting a heavier township population ratio of 3 to 1, he hinted the township could have its own library if the present library cannot be persuaded to move into the township.

The same sort of argument has been used by township proponents as it pertains to the recreation department or even the fire department, both jointly operated services of the city and township.

Such a split, however, might very well be a major blow to the township, according to Recreation Department Director Robert Prom whose department also is pushing hard for new and better facilities.

It may sound good, but the idea of the township going it alone would be suicide, he insisted. The fact is, he said, "the city could operate very nicely alone but the township would be hard-pressed to provide even a minimal program."

The township, argued the director who will step down later this year when a full time recreation department administrator is hired, has got some important financial decisions to make and it must make them soon.

As proposed, the 1.3 mill issue would help pay for the $13,000 increase in the recreation department budget. But Township Clerk Betty Lennox admitted Thursday, the day after the millage proposal was formalized, that the recreation department is pressing for more than the $13,000 increase in the new budget now before the township board.

Prom is convinced that the earmarking of tax dollars is the only way to go if the township is to meet the growing recreational demands of its citizens. He would prefer, however, to see this happen under the wing of the school board.

That question — namely, should the school district take over the operation of the recreation department — is presently being studied by a committee of the school board. There are solid arguments on both sides of the question, with Prom favoring school control and the new recreation commission chairman, Dr. Robert Mandell favoring "at least for now" a cooperatively operated department.

Possible take over of the recreation department by the school system is a long-range type question. The more pressing issue, emphasized Dr. Mandell, is that the recreation department needs additional monies now.

If the township millage proposal that goes to the voters in March is turned down, recreational activities for township youngsters could be seriously impaired.

Without sufficient monies to pay for its share of the recreational department expenses, the township may find itself charging each member of a township family $50 or more to participate in the program. And at that kind of cost few, if any, township youngsters are going to be enjoying summer baseball, warned Dr. Mandell.

The estimated $90,000 recreational budget for 1975-

76 must be supported the most by the township since 58-percent of the participants come from the township, Prom pointed out.

Back when most participants were city residents (two-thirds five years ago), township officials insisted financing be based on a sliding scale tied to participation. "At the time it was a good bet for the township, but some of them forgot that the ratio would change some day. Former City Manager Frank Ollendorff saw it coming and agreed. Now the township probably wishes the two were splitting costs down the middle."

How to finance these demands and growing costs is the same big question the township must face over operation of the fire department, another jointly operated service, and the police department. But the related question some officials are asking themselves is:

"Can we wait until the annexation question is settled before coming to grips with these problems?"

'No Turn' Aimed at North Area

In an effort to deter through-traffic in residential neighborhoods in the northern sections of Northville, the city council Monday adopted several traffic control orders. No left turns, from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., were ordered for these locations:

Westbound Eight Mile Road at Novi, Horton, Carpenter and Grace Streets, and eastbound Eight Mile Road at Novi Street.

No right turns, from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., were ordered for southbound Novi Road at Allen Drive and for northbound Center Street at Base Line.

Additionally, the council reaffirmed these older traffic restrictions:

Main Street; and no U turns on Main Street between Wing and Griswold, on Center Street between Cady and Dunlap and on South Wing Street from 150-foot south from Cady Street.

Northville Asks 'Gifted' Program

Funding for a program in Northville to benefit gifted children is being sought by Northville Public Schools.

The funding request is for $38,000 which would include staff members, teacher aid and course materials. The program would include students in kindergarten through sixth grade.

Written by Amerman teachers Patricia Martin and Janice Henderson, the program was submitted to the state department of education last month.

"Project or no project, we will try to do something to meet the needs of our gifted students," Assistant Superintendent Florence Panattoni commented.

Superintendent Raymond Spear pointed out that if approved, the program would include both public and non-public school students working for two hour sessions at a center designed to meet their educational needs.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Have you ever really fouled-up a confrontation with your son or daughter, or friend, clerk or happenstance acquaintance?

And have you ever promised yourself you would handle similar situations differently next time, and then commit the same stupid error over again?

Whether you are a "I should have said" or not, there's an opportunity to brush up on your listening, use your experience and provide a little advice for a growing number of people who need help.

Many residents may not be aware of the 35th District Court Probation Department with offices in Northville and Plymouth.

But at least 173 persons who got themselves into some kind of trouble recently know about the Northville branch of the department. They're what the local office calls "active probation cases".

The 35th District Court probation department is under the direction of Kenneth Jacobs. The Northville office is located in the city hall and handles all cases for the city and township of Northville.

Al Wistert and Don McDonald are the chief probation officers and Jim Pratt is an assistant chief. Cindy Hatcher and Diana Stratton are staff assistants. All are part time, paid employees.

In addition there are 24 VPO's (Volunteer Probation Officers). All staffers and volunteers work with the probationers, but instead of a one-to-one relationship, some have up to eight individuals to assist.

While the VPO must meet at least once a month with his probationer by law, circumstances might dictate more frequent meetings.

A typical probationer is between the ages of 17 and 25, probably has either a drinking or drug problem, comes from a split home, is a school drop-out and has no job.

Northville's probation office needs twice as many VPO's than it now has. Plymouth could use even more.

There are no prerequisites for membership to the VPO club. You'll get a few tips at the monthly staff-VPO meetings. But mostly, you'll just learn to listen, try to help and perhaps establish obtainable goals for your probationer.

We all recognize that the laws, law enforcement agencies and jails are important ingredients to any society.

But what greater opportunity for accomplishment can there be than at the local-level probation department, where one person can help another at a time when a hand or a shove may make a lifetime of difference.

If you would like to volunteer as a probation officer, just call Cindy or Diana at 349-4025.

In Our Opinion

Citizens Should Attend Novi Forum on Millage

Novi's public hearing February 24 presents residents a golden opportunity to settle the controversial question of whether the city should go out for another millage — and if so, in what form.

The meeting, and attendance by residents, is important because it promises to shape the financial status of the city for the next several years.

City officials indicate the hearing will decide:

1—if the city should bring another millage proposal before the voters;

2—if so, what form it should take—earmarked or general operating;

3—if the decision is to go allocated, what areas should be included and what millage amount should be requested for each.

The city manager has recommended that a new millage proposal be put to the people as soon as possible and that it should include an allocated millage with two mills going to the police department and a single mill to the fire department. The recommendation was made as a "minimal" millage intended to keep employees working, continue present services, and to make up for the loss of two grants currently funding the police department which will be running out. In addition, it may add some police officers, the city manager said.

But the recommendation has stirred up a hornet's nest as some officials have shown open opposition to an allocated millage that provides help only for two departments when there are other less "flashy" areas that also are in need.

Yet some councilmen contend that any millage proposal of more than three mills cannot be passed because of current economic conditions. Nevertheless, the council appears hopeful of getting some indication of the voter's feelings on this matter — especially in light of a Parks and Recreation Commission request that a separate proposal also be put on the ballot.

This commission is proposing that one-half mill be provided as base funds and for grant matching purposes to create a proposed 30 mile span of bike paths in Novi during the next few years. The commission also wants a half mill for park development — including establishment of a parks department for hiring administration and maintenance people to make a real city park viable.

Some officials oppose the parks' proposal because they fear it will lead to the downfall of the total package by making the millage request too high.

The meeting also could be the key to answering the age old question of whether the city really needs increased funding beyond the present charter limit of 6½ mills. The city manager is preparing five-year projections on the master drainage program, general administration costs and other items and residents should have an excellent opportunity to compare those costs with anticipated income — both with and without the millage.

The mayor has directed that all questions be answered candidly thus providing residents the opportunity to have all their questions answered — and with the facts present to make an educated decision about the millage question.

The city administration deserves a chance to be heard; but citizens need this opportunity to get some of their questions answered. We urge residents to attend the meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Middle School cafeteria.

JOHN SALTZGABER

NO . . .

In 1965 the Michigan Legislature extended collective bargaining rights to a neglected section of its population — public employees — and in large part, the welfare of those citizens has been substantially improved as a result of that action.

A great deal of attention has been focused on teacher strikes as per the severe problems in Crestwood earlier in Garden City, and still earlier in Detroit. Obviously the strike is not an end to itself but rather a means to reaching the negotiated contract. In order to provide more equity between the parties — the employee and the employer — the prohibition should be removed on the right to strike for public employees.

Strikes or the withholding of services should be a last resort as a means to focus attention on the bargaining crisis. All parties — school boards, teachers and the legislature must take a serious look at the alternative means of settling teacher contracts.

Compulsory binding arbitration cannot be allowed to become the terminal step in the bargaining process for public employees since it turns negotiations over to an impartial third party, who in most cases will not even be affiliated with the community or its schools.

Is it not far better to have equity at the bargaining table, ownership to the contract by both parties, and emotion tempered by reason? I think so, thus I do not favor compulsory binding arbitration.

Speaking for Myself

Bind Teachers To Arbitration?

ELROY V. ELLISON

YES . . .

Binding arbitration in the public sector for settlement of public school strikes could be acceptable with the following stipulations:

1. Develop a "pool" of arbitrators with expertise in both the private and public sectors. The arbitrator to be chosen from this pool by mutual consent of the involved parties. Lacking mutual consent, each side chose a representative to work with a third person chosen by mutual agreement by these two representatives. This committee to select the arbitrator from the "pool".

2. Arbitrator's decision must take into account the School District's ability to pay; cannot require the assessment of additional operational millage.

3. The opening day of school shall not be a negotiable item but shall automatically fall on the first Tuesday following Labor Day.

4. Arbitrator shall not extend the school year beyond the normal closing date in order to achieve 180 days of classroom instruction.

5. The decision to strike which would determine binding arbitration must be made by the entire bargaining unit having the right to vote on the issue.

6. During the strike a wage deduction equal to 1-180th of contracted pay shall be made against each employee in the bargaining unit.

7. The Board of Education shall receive a 1-180th deduction of State Aid for each day schools are closed.

These are my views on the subject after having spent many hours at the bargaining table.

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Two little caesars shared the podium last week as South Lyon's prize-winning symphony band performed in concert before a rapt audience of 800 persons at the high school there.

One was Frank Kochalko, the South Lyon director who is almost as tall as his students, and the other was Dr. William D. Revelli, the U-M band director emeritus who is almost as tall as Kochalko.

The two directors share something else in common besides their height: both gain the respect of their bands' members by insisting upon quality, and both wring great amounts of intensity from their music. Neither practices much democracy when it comes to rehearsal. Both are musical dictators, who are immersed in the music immediately upon climbing to the podium.

That two little men can command great respect is not so surprising given the honors they have brought to their respective bands and schools. But the fact that these two dictators can inspire love seems a bit incongruous. Yet, U-M alumni who were part of the glory days under Revelli will attest to the special fondness they had for the man.

"You first learned to fear him before you learned to love him," a U-M band alumnus told me recently.

Obviously, it was a different Revelli who twice rehearsed the South Lyon band before its concert performance. He was a mellow man than the director that alumni remembered. He exuded a mixture of seriousness and honey, and he smiled more than he scowled.

Nevertheless, measured amounts of intensity were there. By intonation of his voice, by his facial expressions, by his body movements, by his words of praise and criticism, Revelli demanded and received complete involvement with the music. He danced and he sang to drive home his interpretation of the music, and soon these students were feeling the music as well as hearing it. They, like him, were totally immersed in it. It was a new experience for some of them; several cried as they played.

It was then they knew why earlier their own director had answered a doubting student's question — "But what can he do in just two rehearsals?" — by saying simply, "You will know once you've experienced it."

Revelli rehearsed the band for two hours in the morning and again for much of the afternoon. He was generally pleased with the band's handling of the difficult pieces, surprised that the members responded so readily to his interpretations. He need not have been surprised, because the band had been pre-conditioned to "play Dr. Revelli's way." What's more, Kochalko, a great admirer of this former university band director and now a guest conductor around the world, had purposely placed most of his rehearsal emphasis on the music Revelli would direct.

And therein, it seems to me, is a hidden tribute to Kochalko and his band members.

Although none of the music Kochalko directed was

'There Is No Money Tree'

To the Editor:

Costs of government at all levels-city, county, state and federal-have increased so much that the citizen taxpayer is at a critical point. Taxpayers and voters should contact their elected officials and express their views on what is happening and how their money is spent.

The Novi Board of Education through their publication is dreaming pleasantly about their anticipated progress over the next ten years. I suggest they wake up to the rough facts of reality! Millage was approved in 1973-74 to secure a good base for much growth, i.e. land and a start on buildings. Novi community has been cooperative.

I suggest they STOP-THINK-LISTEN: times are bad (witness the plight of the City of Novi; people are unemployed; State taxes are going up and what lies ahead in cost to the public at the Federal level God alone knows.

Think what 1973-74 cost Novi taxpayers between school millage and the state equalization factor—a healthy 25 percent increase to each taxpayer and now Oakland County assessments may go up and Novi faces another 5 percent tax increase for the current year. Think about the economic slump and the trauma facing the taxpayer at this time. Think ahead to Dayton-Hudson due here in 1977 and save any spending spree until this addition to the Novi tax base is here and supporting the city in fact. Think big after 1977 and there will still be time to support their Ten Year Program.

Listen to Joe Public now. There is no money tree. The sooner people in authority at all levels realize this and get their feet back on the earth the better it will be for our city, county, state and Our Country. Unions forcing higher wage settlements with lower productivity followed by higher costs and/or prices are part of a vicious cycle that must stop.

Again, I urge the Novi Board of Education to STOP-THINK-LISTEN: The public is usually gungho on making things better for our children but now is not the time. Come back, if necessary after 1977 and live within a balanced budget until that date.

Sincerely yours,
Taxpayer and voter,
Sam Boger

FAIR OPENS TODAY—Northville schools' three-day science fair opens today (Wednesday) at Cooke Middle School on Taft Road with more than 400 projects on display. Sheryl Wissman explains her project on sound to Bill Lockwood, Jill Berquist and Diane Perpich. About 200 projects have been entered at the middle school and elementary levels with judging of middle school projects scheduled for tonight by a panel of 12 persons from Northville. Tomorrow (Thursday) the PTA Area Council will sponsor an open house for the public from noon until 8 p.m. in the Cooke gym. On Friday, elementary students in grades three through five will be viewing the projects on display. The sponsoring PTA Area Council urges all residents of the school district to "view the students' effort in the first Northville school science fair."

'Winning Is Not the Only Thing'

Pursell to Study Sports

"Winning is important in youth league sports. But it's not the only thing. It's not even the most important thing."

With those comments, State Senator Carl Pursell kicked off his planned study of organized amateur sports. Pursell said he's concerned that a "win at any cost" philosophy is beginning to dominate community athletics for kids, and worries that it may be undermining the value of those activities.

To determine the facts and direct any necessary legislative action, Pursell has suggested creation of a special bipartisan Senate-House committee. He wants authorization for three Senators and three Representatives to investigate the situation and offer concrete proposals by the end of next year. This, he said, would provide time for public hearings and examination of various sports in their seasons. He also indicated bipartisan backing for the proposed examination.

Pursell has coached a youth hockey team for a number of years, and is convinced that athletic activities are beneficial for young people. He emphasized that he is not trying to break up leagues, or place blame on any individuals or groups. But he does want a thoroughgoing, top-to-bottom review of youth sports to make sure it fulfills a positive, rather than destructive, influence on developing young lives. "Obviously, I wouldn't be asking for this investigation if I wasn't fairly sure a problem exists, which might be dealt with in some meaningful way by the Legislature," Pursell admitted.

"I have some personal attitudes and concerns going in, which I have tried to isolate and analyze, so I can consider the issues fairly in light of these attitudes. Briefly stated, they are:

—That there may be a very fundamental lack of effort throughout organized sports to encourage any objective other than winning.

—That extreme and potentially damaging physical demands may be improperly imposed on young participants, and that this may have physical implications.

—That the overall thrust of our youth sports programs is not to encourage participation, enjoyment and fitness; but to select out the specially talented few and eliminate from competition those interested primarily in exercise and having a good time.

—If this is true, the overall impact on the majority rejected by the system may be destructive, rather than beneficial.

—That encouragement and even glorification of violent action and physical intimidation is pervading some sports programs, with a concurrent decline in the teaching of skills and sportsmanship.

—That undue pressure and influence by adults may tend to undermine the essential values of athletic competition, instead of encouraging them.

—That we may need to carefully consider required training clinics for coaches in youth sports programs, since they have the most profound effect on the competitive attitudes and values of young athletes.

—That every effort should be made to provide meaningful participation for all kids, including girls, in a variety of sports.

—That we need to emphasize the fun and socialization aspects of sports for kids.

—That we should work for better communication between parents and league officials.

—That more extensive local control of leagues would be beneficial.

—That training for officials should be carefully examined.

—That we may need to establish basic objectives for these programs, and draw up and enforce rules to carry them out.

"My entire focus in this investigation is to preserve and expand athletic participation for all young people," Pursell emphasized. "I want to preserve the benefits, which I think are enormous, and seek to identify and redirect any shortcomings which may exist."

"I believe the officials of youth sports organizations will support this legislative inquiry, because I'm convinced they are as concerned as I am with making their programs meaningful and beneficial to the young people involved."

"There is a considerable body of research available, and more being developed all the time," Senator Pursell remarked. "I intend to invite expert testimony from people in this country, as well as Ontario, where a significant study of violence in youth and professional hockey has been conducted."

Some people involved in our amateur leagues seem unable to accept the fact that there is a distinct difference between professional athletics and amateur sports.

"One of the major points of the Canadian investigation centers on the example professional sports sets for coaches and players in our youth programs. There is evidence of rampant violence, most of which I consider unnecessary and preventable, in some areas of professional sport. I agree this has a serious and damaging impact on the programs we're concerned with, and we must discourage imitation of this type of behavior."

"The current case of aggravated assault with a dangerous weapon, filed against hockey player Dave Forbes is very significant. It may make an important contribution toward defining when an athlete crosses the line between hard competitive contact and vicious assault, and what the responsibilities of coaches, league officials and referees are in preventing violence by players and fans alike."

"I've also been in touch with the University of Windsor, which is starting to obtain some results from a potentially valuable study of the behavior of persons involved in youth sports programs. It's my hope that our committee will also work very closely with Michigan colleges and universities, and draw on their expertise in behavioral and other research fields."

"Larry Csonka, who has been highly successful in the sports 'star system', has, nonetheless, developed a remarkably clear perspective on the proper direction of youth sports," Pursell said.

"Csonka complains of 'the nonsense that is going on — I think it is ruining a lot of kids — Do we really need all the violence and false character-building and the emphasis on winning that is now going on. No, I don't think we do. Football should be fun for kids, they should be able to play for an hour or so a day and enjoy it.'"

Test Results Top Board Agenda

A report of Northville School District's results in the Michigan Assessment Testing program will highlight the school board's meeting Monday.

Held in the school board offices at 303 West Main Street, the meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Other items which will be discussed by the board include a review of the cooking program at Moraine Elementary School, a program for gifted children which currently is operating in the district and an update of the alternative high school.

News From Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Representative

The special House panel on collective bargaining for teachers has begun to formulate recommendations for the basic components of a revision to Public Act 379 — The Public Employee Relations Act. The recommendations include the following major points:

1. A specific timetable detailing when different steps in the negotiation process must take place.

2. A state wide school calendar guaranteeing no school on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays.

3. Appointment of a mediator from the Michigan Employment Relations Commission when a conflict develops. If he is unable to resolve the problem, he would be authorized to conduct a public hearing, at which time he declares an impasse, issues a report to the public about the positions of each side in the dispute, and declares whether or not both sides have bargained in "good faith."

4. When an impasse occurs, both sides agree to either a single arbitrator or an arbitration panel of three members.

5. The arbitrator meets with both sides and issues an award based on the last best offer on each issue. During the arbitration process, the school employees must remain working.

If the arbitrator's award is accepted by EITHER the teachers or the school board, the arbitrator's award becomes binding on the other party.

7. If the arbitrator's award is rejected by BOTH parties, a legal strike may take place. A secret vote of the teachers is required prior to teachers going on strike. If a strike occurs such that it prevents 180 days of student instruction, teachers lose 1-180 of their salaries and school boards lose 1-180 of their state aid.

8. If an illegal strike occurs, the bill provides for a penalty of up to $500 and-or three months in jail for each person convicted.

rehearsed the day of the concert, and even though in preceding days only secondary attention was given to practicing his own music, the band performed beautifully in concert for both men.

Revelli's visit to South Lyon was his first, even though he's lived in Ann Arbor for several decades. His wife accompanied him to the concert where her husband was feted by the band in a surprise birthday wish.

Although the famous conductor had never before been in South Lyon, the high school band's standing in the state was well known to Revelli and may have influenced his decision to appear there. He had been a judge of the band's performance in past state festivals and, interestingly, he will adjudicate its performance in national competition at St. Louis, Missouri this coming spring.

Appoint Five to Township Posts

Five persons were appointed to boards and other posts by Northville township trustees Thursday. All appointments were approved unanimously by the members present. Absent were Treasurer Joseph Straub and Trustee Richard Mitchell. Named to fill a vacancy on the water and sewer commission was Dr. John Swienkowski of Sutters Lane. He fills a post formerly held by William Bohan who was recently appointed to the planning commission.

Dr. Swienkowski will serve until July 5, 1977.

Mrs. Marcella J. Colling of Franklin Road was named to a two year term on the Northville Recreation Commission. Her appointment is to a new post created by expansion of the commission by action of the township board and Northville city council.

Eugene Guido of Westview was reappointed Civil Defense Coordinator for the township. Assisting Guido will be James Schrot of West Seven Mile Road.

In addition, Schrot was appointed to serve as a constable for the township so he may continue in his capacity as township court officer for the 35th District Court. Two other constables in the township were elected by voters in November.

Trustees also accepted a bid from Thomas Heslip who will serve as veterinarian for the township.

In other action, trustees voted to retain the accounting firm of Iceerman, Johnson and Hoffman as auditors for 1975.

Nature smiles upon spots like this. Gently rolling hills dappled with duck ponds and fragrant with natural woodlands and grasses. This, surely is the best of Brighton, and quite possibly one of the loveliest areas in Michigan.

A rural haven, light years removed from city drabness, yet an easy commute to most places of work, shopping and entertainment.

Meeting Set Next Week

Eye Oak Springs Plan

Oak Springs, the residential-commercial development planned on 310 acres at Six Mile and Sheldon roads, will be the topic of a special meeting of Northville township trustees.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, February 27, in Northville Township Hall.

Making the proposal is Equity Resources, Incorporated. The development firm is seeking to have the township board overturn a denial of a rezoning request handed down by the township planning commission in October.

Presently the 310 acre parcel, which is both north and south of Six Mile on the west side of Sheldon, is zoned R-2 (residential) and developers are seeking to have the property rezoned R-3, a higher density residential zoning.

If granted, the rezoning would permit construction of 1,240 townhouses, apartments and single family homes. Developers have indicated the proposal would generate a population of 3,480.

Included in the plan would be a convenience-type shopping center containing a super market, drug store, hair salon, laundromat and other businesses.

In establishing the date for the special meeting, township trustees asked the developers to include in their February 27 presentation why they maintain the property must be rezoned in order for the project to be feasible.

If present zoning was maintained, 832 units could be constructed which developers have said would not be economically feasible.

Rezoning for the development was denied by the planning commission in October. The commission, in making its decision, cited the following reasons for their action:

- the development was not in conformity with the township's recently adopted master plan for land use;
- it would substantially increase the density from that proposed in the master plan;
- the 25-acre shopping center would have a negative effect on downtown Northville; and
- the development would make a tremendous difference in the amount of traffic on Sheldon Road.

TRUCK-TRAIN CRASH—Truck driver Walter B. Davis of Detroit escaped injury when the rubbish filled trailer he was hauling was struck by a train about 10 a.m. last Wednesday on Napier Road just north of Five Mile. The train struck the rear of the trailer, dumping it into the ditch next to the railroad tracks and shearing it from the cab of Davis' truck. The cab of the truck remained upright and stopped about 50 feet north of the tracks. He told investigating Michigan State Police troopers he was northbound on Napier but did not see the signals. The slow-moving C&O five-car train, which was westbound at the time of the crash, sustained some damage to the front. Davis was ticketed for disregarding a signal at a railroad crossing.

Rosenberg said "we have not said they would be but certainly adjustments will have to be made. We have not made a decision yet."

In a related matter, trustees approved the proposed budget for the water and sewer department but delayed action on raises for water and sewer employees until salaries are acted upon for employees in other township departments.

Rosenberg commented that it would be unfair to grant large increases to one department while granting no increases to other employees "just because the water and sewer department is liquid. All the salaries should be acted upon at the same time."

The balanced water and sewer department budget shows revenues and expenditures for 1975-76 estimated at $369,475. Of that amount, salaries and fringe benefits total $47,437.

FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE—Fire completely gutted a house at 645 Fairbrook near Orchard Drive early Friday morning after it started in the basement near the furnace. No one was in the house, owned by Edmund A. Sperkowski, when the blaze was reported about 3:20 a.m. Heavy smoke was rolling from the building and residents of the St. Lawrence Barn Area off Center Street first notified the department of a possible barn fire. Fire crews said the blaze started in the basement, spreading through the living room floor to the second floor and roof, which later collapsed, before being contained. Construction of the house allowed the fire to smolder undetected between walls and in the closed off staircase for some time. Firemen poured water on the blaze for nearly two hours and the basement was filled with water to the floor joists before the fire was extinguished. Michigan State Police fire marshal's office is investigating the possibility of arson.

plus the same cost for aerial photography and test borings, which is normally paid directly by the client."

Work by Mosher Associates would include the following:

1. Collect and correlate available traffic counts and estimates from the Department of State Highways, Wayne County Road Commission, Oakland County Road Commission and City of Northville. Also collect from SEMCOG any useful data which may remain from the 1968 TALUS report.

2. Prepare regional maps showing existing existing traffic channels and origin and destination areas now contributing to Center Street traffic; and programmed major highway improvements and resultant modified origin and destination areas.

3. Estimate the volume and character of future north-south traffic which will pass through Northville, and review these estimates with the Traffic Engineering Division of the Department of State Highways.

4. Define the objectives of a by-pass road and list essential and desirable characteristics.

5. Provide assistance in specifying and ordering aerial photography and photogrammetric mapping, and provide requisite ground control surveys to fix scale for photogrammetry.

6. Identify, examine and evaluate all routes offering apparent potential.

7. In consultation with City representatives eliminate from consideration routes having obvious deficiencies and/or excessive obstacles, leaving probably two or three alternatives meriting in depth investigation.

8. For each of the selected tentative routes:

- a. Fix a preliminary location on paper only.

- b. Make a field reconnaissance of the location to assure that no important features are overlooked.

- c. Establish a preliminary road profile.

- d. Establish preliminary right of way requirements and estimate right of way costs, based on tax assessment rolls and with assistance of the city assessor or other available city sources.

- e. Identify and evaluate special obstacles such as streams, ponds or areas of unsuitable soil.

- f. Provide assistance in specifying and procuring soil test borings and analysis of soil samples, if needed, and interpret and evaluate data so obtained.

- g. Prepare a preliminary estimate of total cost (right of way acquisition, construction cost, engineering and contingencies).

- h. Write a summary indicating the advantages and disadvantages of the route from considerations of service effectiveness and physical and social problems.

9. Recommend a preferred route with supporting considerations and conclusions.

10. Review and refine studies of the approved route, short of actual construction surveys and design.

of the entrance drive area and a 200-acre parking lot, for renovation of farm buildings, and for construction of toilet facilities.

As funds are made available to the Department of Natural Resources for park development, other facilities will be provided at Maybury, he said. These include:

- A golf course.
- Three kinds of camping, including family camping which will include the rental of camping equipment, organizational camping, and day camping.

- Put-and-take fishing on two ponds on the property which are to be stocked with fish. Fishing equipment will be rented, and fishing skills will be taught.

- Development of more permanent bike trails.

- Construction of an indoor activity center, possibly to include a swimming pool and facilities for handicrafts and recreational activities.

- Development of an amphitheater, which could be made available on a rental basis to the public. It would provide seating for perhaps 200 persons.

- Development of a three to four-acre perceptual garden - where handicapped youngsters and adults could touch, smell and see plant life.

According to Hane, the park will be distinctive in that it will emphasize movement by foot. Visitors will be asked to park their vehicles and walk or bike (no motorcycles) to the activity areas. Some thought is being given to possibly providing a "people mover" vehicle, however. He described it as an electric, driven bus-like vehicle on wheels.

'Good fences make good neighbors'

Mending Wall

Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That sends the frozen-ground-swell under it
And spills the upper boulders in the sun,
And makes gaps even two can pass abreast.
The work of hunters in another thing:
I have come after them and made a repair
Where they have left not one stone on a stone,
But they would have the rabbit out of hiding,
To please the yelping dogs. The gaps I mean,
No one has seen them made or heard them made,
But at spring mending-time we find them there.
I let my neighbor know beyond the hill;
And on a day we meet to walk the line
And set the wall between us once again.
We keep the wall between us as we go.
To each the boulders that have fallen to each.
And some are loaves and some so nearly balls
We have to use a spell to make them balance:
"Stay where you are until our backs are turned!"
We wear our fingers rough with handling them.
Of just another kind of outdoor game,
One on a side. It comes to little more:
There where it is we do not need the wall:
He is all pine and I am apple orchard.
My apple trees will never get across
And eat the cones under his pines, I tell him.
He only says, "Good fences make good neighbors."
Spring is the mischief in me, and I wonder If I could put a notion in his head:
"Why do they make good neighbors? Isn't it Where there are cows. But here there are no cows.
Before I built a wall I'd ask to know
What I was walling in or walling out,
And to whom I was like to give offense.
Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That wants it down." I could say "Elves" to him,
But it's not elves exactly, and I'd rather
He said it for himself. I see him there,
Bringing a stone grasped firmly by the top
In each hand, like an old-stone savage armed.
He moves in darkness as it seems to me,
Not of woods only and the shade of trees.
He will not go beyond his father's saying,
And he likes having thought of it so well
He says again, "Good fences make good neighbors."

Students Attend Minority Seminar in Washington

"Minority Liberation" was the theme for the Youth Seminar February 1-8 in Washington, D.C. The seminar is sponsored by the Detroit Conference of United Methodist Churches.

South Lyon High School seniors Laurie Cash and Robert Beckel represented the New Hudson Methodist Church while senior Lynne Mitchell and junior Gay Hannah were the South Lyon church's delegates.

All agreed that the most impressive part of their visit to the nation's capital was a simple Communion service which the group shared on the final evening of their trip.

"Everyone sat in a circle. In the center was a loaf of bread broken into four parts and four goblets of wine. Each of us took turns breaking off a piece of bread, taking it and a goblet to a new friend we had made that week. We served that friend telling him or her what their friendship had meant to us. It was a continuous thing, lasting for over an hour," Laurie explained with the aid of the others.

"Most of us were crying before we finished," Gay added.

Arriving in Washington Saturday via Northwest Orient Airlines, the tour group directed by the Reverend Douglas Simpson of Detroit and the Reverend Karl Zeigler of Allen Park checked into the Skyline Inn. Sightseeing was scheduled for part of each day of the seminar in addition to talks by several liberation groups.

Among the topics discussed were religious liberation, women's lib, gay liberation, "the Black Experience", and native American liberation. The young people received a briefing by Senator Phillip Hart and heard Hispanic and Asian concerns explained by David Neito of the Methodist Youth National Staff.

Bob and Gay who attended the National Cathedral with their "rap group" on Sunday found the huge building "impressive but cold."

A predominately black "Church of Christ" was Laurie's choice for the Sunday service. "They were very expressive, warm and friendly. They said 'Amen' outloud all the way through the service," Laurie recalls. "But they urged us to come back."

Lynne found the "Church of the Savior" which she attended very quiet and reserved. "It seemed that all the responses were almost whispered in a monotone."

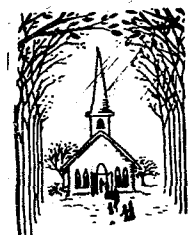

On the strictly fun side, the youths attended the Ford Theatre production of Ogden Nash's "Nash at Nine", visited the Smithsonian, enjoyed a "Georgetown Adventure" and visited many historical sites at the capitol.

This is the first year that the seminar has been a strictly Washington visit. In the past, groups have spent three days in New York and three at the nation's capitol. 1975 marks the 10th consecutive year in which representatives have attended from the South Lyon church and the fifth year for New Hudsonites.

Lynne is the daughter of the Kenneth Mitchells of Hagadorn Street. Gay's parents are the Kenneth Hannans of Five Mile Road. The Robert Beckels of New Hudson are Bob's parents and Laurie is the daughter of the John Cashes of Wixom.

New Baptist Church Comes to Brighton

A new church, the Chilson Hills Baptist Church, held its first Sunday service this week in the Community Room on Main Street in Brighton with the Reverend Merle R. Meeden of Howell as pastor.

The church, an affiliate of the American Baptist Churches of Michigan, is an outgrowth of a small group of Christians from the Brighton and Hamburg areas who have been meeting in homes for the last eight months.

Mr. Meeden said the congregation hopes eventually to construct a church building in the Brighton area along Chilson Road.

For the present, however, the church will meet in the Community Room with a worship service at 9:30 a.m. and church school at 10:40 a.m.

Mr. Meeden comes to the Chilson Hills Baptist Church from Howell, where he served for 18 years as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Howell.

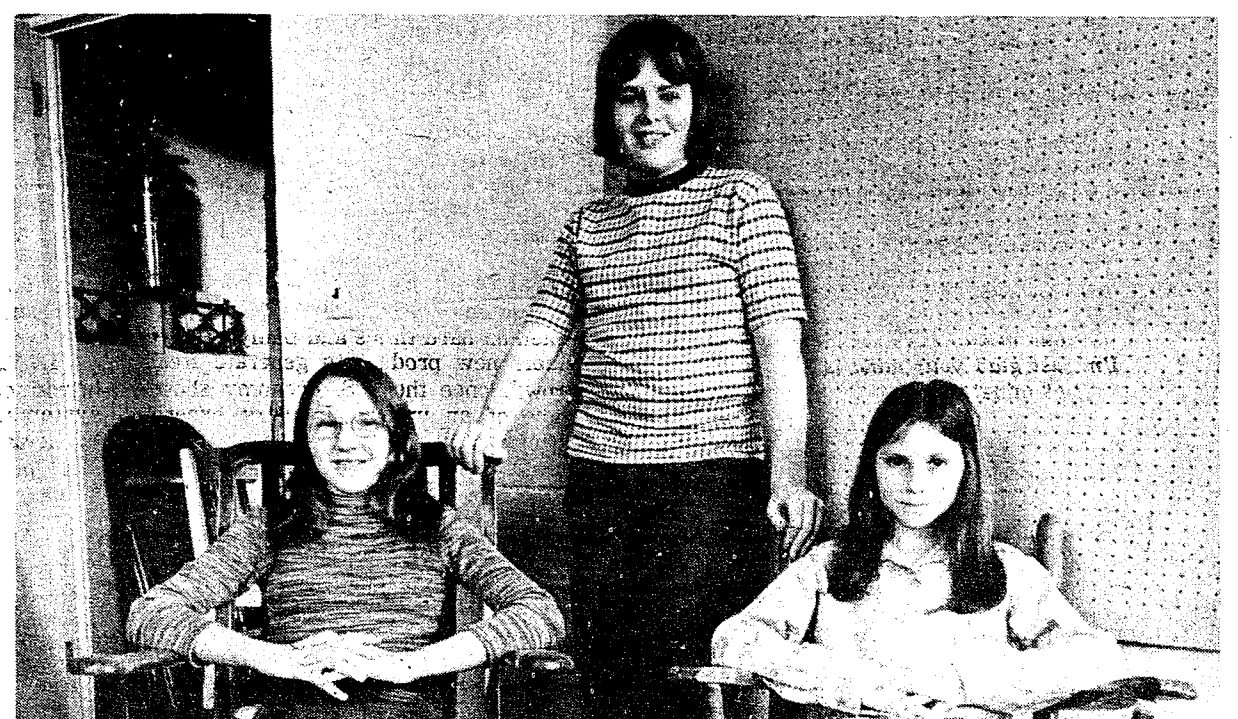

During those years, Mr. Meeden also served as pastor of the West Highland Baptist Church near Milford, and he organized a First Baptist Church in Saline.

Mr. Meeden said the new church is planning "an in-depth ministry for all age groups in the community."

Area residents are invited to attend Sunday services or call Mr. Meeden at 546-1495 for more information.

ROCKING TO CAMP—Myra Weeks (left), Darrell Pendergrass, and Traci Stump were three of the top youth from Orchard Hills Baptist Church in Novi who last week raised money in a rock-a-thon for a weekend trip to a Christian camp in Roscommon. Myra, Darrell, Traci and Connie Collins managed to keep their poise for 20 hours. Approximately $200 was raised as sponsors pledged five to fifty cents per hour to the 12 youths who participated.

Poets

Primitive poets are a dime a dozen;
My uncle's one and so's my cousin.
They write "free verse" that makes no sense,
No how, no where, no why, no whence.
The only one, you must agree
Who can dish it out—is really me.

Not Apparent

Can you judge their affluence by the dirt on their face?
Can you guess their success by virtue of their race?
Can you tell how they'll grow as they go on in life?
Will she find a husband?
Will he take a wife?
When standing at knee with your hand on their head, Can you see how they'll live without living in dread?
Will you loose the strings which attached them at birth?
Will you allow them to leave so's to travel the earth?
Be patient and kind with your daughter or son And allow them to walk before you teach them to run.

The following is a continuation of an article entitled "Foaling — Care of Mare and Newborn Foal" by O.G. Swannstrom, D.V.M., a specialist in equine veterinary medicine. The first part of the article appeared in last week's edition and dealt with the signs and symptoms of a mare which is about to foal as well as the necessary preparation for the event.

This weeks article continues with a more detailed description of the pre-birth process as well as the actual event of foaling.
Listed below are the usual signs of foaling; needless to say, each mare is an individual, and may not "read the book". Many foal without notice. Experienced foaling attendants have said that foaling time has arrived when the head and feet are seen at the vulvar orifice.

The difficulty of predicting the time to foaling necessitates watching mares nightly within 2 weeks — or longer — of their due date.
Few mares have dystocias, but when they occur, an emergency situation exists.
Most rectovaginal fistulas (tearing of the shelf between vagina and rectum) occur in unattended foaling.

About 2 weeks before Udder begins to fill with milk: "The mare "Makes bag".
About 24-48 hours before
"Waxing": Beads of honey-colored colostrum at ends of teats. Only about 50 percent of mares show "waxing".
About 12-24 hours before "Running Milk": Strings of colostrum, or streams from udder. Relaxation of muscles of pelvis: soft swelling of vulva.

About 2-4 hours before Mare may leave the broodmare band, stand and graze alone; pin ears and wheel at other mares. Nervous and crampy (colicky signs, squint urine, paw, etc.) Onset of Labor — a.
Walk around stall b. Break out in sweat c. Reflex emptying of bladder and rectum Labor Rupture of "water bag": 2-5 gallons of fluid; may come in spurts or in large quantities. May rest 10 to 20 minutes before laying down in true labor.
Contractions: essentially all will be lying down; only 3 or 4 contractions may be necessary to push foal out. If foaling is delayed 30 minutes after head and feet are presented, call your veterinarian. If the mare is having severe non-productive contractions, she needs assistance if: a. You can feel one or both forelegs in the vagina, but no head. b. You can feel the head, but neither of the forelegs. c. You can feel more than 2 feet. d. You cannot find any part of the foal in the vagina.
Placenta — mares usually expel the "afterbirth" within an hour. If not passed in 3 hours, there is a retained placenta, and your veterinarian should be called to start treatment. A plastic garbage liner bag may be placed around the placenta as it hands from the mare and tied with a string or piece of twine close to the vulva. This keeps the placenta moist and intact, therefore keeping it heavier and allowing gentle traction. After the placenta is passed, it should be spread out and examined carefully for missing pieces. A small bit of retained placenta may result in inflammation of the uterus with subsequent laminitis.
Don't rush the mare in foaling. You should do no more than apply a maximum of 50 pounds traction straight

Burglary Locks Potential Fire Hazard

LANSING—Locking burglars out may make you feel secure. But there's a chance that that security might cost you more than a television set or stereo.

The Michigan Fire Fighters Training Council has issued a warning about "double cylinder" locks and "key-operated dead bolts" — the kinds of locks that usually require a key to open from the inside as well as the outside.

These locks "prevent the rapid and uninterrupted escape from buildings in case of fire," says a resolution adopted by the Council earlier this year. The resolution urges anyone who advocates use of the locks to stop doing so.

THE PROBLEM, explains Council Executive Secretary Phillip K. Alber, comes with fire and the possibility that those inside a burning building won't be able to find — or have the strength to use — the key to get out.

Alber says the Council has linked use of a lock requiring a key from the inside to the deaths of four persons in an Avon Township fire last year.

Thus, he says, using such locks
"isn't worth the risk." Instead, Alber recommends a lock that would allow a person to open his door from the inside

"A RELATIVELY SIMPLE procedure," applying for that Vietnam Era Veterans Bonus authorized by voters last November.

That's the word from the Department of Military Affairs, which, in cooperation with the Secretary of State branch offices, is working to make bonus applications available to all those who qualify for the payments.

THE BRANCH OFFICES are pickup points for application packets, which include two forms for veterans to fill out.
One is the application form and the other a claim control card.

In addition to those forms, the veterans must supply a good reproduced copy of his Report of Discharge.

Before sending the package to Lansing (Vietnam Veteran Era Bonus
Section, P.O. Box 1500, Lansing, MI 48904), the veteran must have the application notarized.

TO BE ELIGIBLE, a veteran must have been a Michigan resident for at least six months before entering active military service, and have been on duty 190 days or more during the period from Jan. 1, 1961 to Sept. 1, 1973.

Combat veterans, those entitled to wear the Vietnam Service Medal or the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, may receive $600. Eligible noncombat veterans can get $15 monthly, up to maximum of $450.

CONTRARY TO WHAT you may have heard, you CANNOT pick up lottery winnings at Secretary of State branch offices.

Richard Austin notes that although some branches do work with the Lottery Bureau, they are not authorized to pay out any money.

"These offices are only authorized to accept, certify and forward to Lansing winning tickets for prizes less than $50," Austin says.

He explained that, somehow, the story about getting lottery cash from the branch offices had been circulating and was even carried by a radio station in southern Michigan. "This is not the case," he says.

DESPITE all the attempts to boost car sales in Michigan, there seems to be a return to public transportation — and a demand for better services — That Gov. William Milliken says is "greater than at any time since the late 1940's."

Thus, he's asking the legislature for more than $22 million in 1975-76 for Dial-A-Ride, Amtrak and other transportation projects. The money would come from the General Transportation Fund.

That money, the executive office says, would generate some $31 million in federal funds for new and expanded local bus, train, Dial-A-Ride and intercity bus services.

"THIS OPERATING assistance is the first step of a program whose eventual goal is to offer portal-to-portal public transportation throughout Michigan," the governor says.

In addition, Milliken is recommending up to $175 million in revenue bonding to meet "immediate public transportation capital needs."

Babson Report

Color Video Player May Aid Industry

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., at present there are more than 100 million TV sets in use, including both color and black and white. The Research Department of Babson's Reports believes that in a few years sales of color TVs will be unable to sustain the growth of the overall consumer electronics industry.

As is all too clear in the current economic downturn, the TV industry has fallen on hard times and badly needs a viable new product to generate fresh growth once the U.S. economy shows signs of an upturn. Industry experts believe almost unanimously that the consumer color video player will fill the bill.

A NUMBER of television and electronics manufacturers, as well as broadcasters, are interested in promoting the development and output of this new consumer product, especially the home video disc playback set. The various types of video tape recordersplayers apparently still have too many problems of cost, compatibility, standardization, and technical disparities to make the initial technical assault on the home video market.

But many of these units, especially the Japanese made, are making successful inroads in the industrial and commercial markets in spite of the

IN VIEW of the temporarily aborted introduction of home video tape systems, the remaining major participants are now focusing on video disc playback units for the home market, where the potential is impressive. It is our opinion that, over the near term at least, this type of video player will project its entertainment features through the conventional home television set.

Above all, success in the home and mass consumer market will depend on getting the price of the video playback system and the newly devised disc (the equivalent of a phonograph record) into the range of the consumer's pocketbook.

The target price most frequently mentioned is between $400 and $500 for the system. Single and multiple disc albums will be designed to sell for prices ranging from $2 to $10 depending on content, length, and subject.

THIS INDUSTRY, still in its infancy, has been the subject of many highly optimistic forecasts. Previous estimates have projected a U.S. market of at least $1 billion by 1980, with others citing a $3-billion figure. These earlier predictions, however, have been superseded by worldwide hardware sales forecasts of $35 billion by 1985.

It is too early to nail down any realistic estimates because of the uncertain timetable for standardization and the extent of disc software (records and programs) which will be made available. But it is quite universally assumed that the year of mass introduction is not too far away, and some knowledgeable industry spokesmen are even opting for late 1976 or soon thereafter.

THE COMPANIES out in front developing and about to produce and market video discs are Philips NV (Holland), MCA Inc., RCA, Zenith, Telefunken (Germany), CSF Thomson
(France), and Sony (Japan). In the U.S., RCA and Zenith have scored significant performances in the laboratory, but it now appears that MCA (an important factor in the film and television production field) and North American Philips (associated with Philips NV of Holland) with their joint video playback unit are well ahead of other competitors.

What's Soil Composition Mean?

By Kathy Copley

Generally, soil types are described as sandy, clay, or loam. The varying compositions reflect the soil's ability to provide nutrients plus the proper balance of air and moisture.

Clay soil is made up of such fine particles that good drainage is impossible. When the soil eventually does drain, the particles cement themselves together, forming a hard, crusty soil. The next rain merely runs off this crust, never penetrating it.

What clay soil needs to improve drainage and make nutrients more available is sand and some humusy material (like leaf mold, compost, manure, or peat moss) to give better texture.

Sandy soil drains too quickly since it has too little moisture-holding humus. Because of this lack of decayed vegetative material, it has little to offer in the way of nutrients; chemical fertilizers don't help much since they are quickly washed through the soil.

Loam has the right balance of clay particles and sand. When it has humus, too, it is ideal soil for gardening. Good soil of this type holds about as much air as water, soroots will neither dehydrate nor rot. It is loose in texture for good root penetration, and it contains a good balance of the chemicals necessary for good growth.

Most soil has enough of the magnesium, calcium, iron, and sulphur plants require. The trace elements of boron, zinc, copper, and molybdenum are also available in sufficient quantity in most soil.

Only three more elements play a major part in plant growth: nitrogen, phosphorous, and potassium. These are the most important elements in plant growth and, as such, are the most quickly depleted.

A "complete fertilizer" contains all three, with the percentage of each listed on the fertilizer package. A 5-10-5 fertilizer contains 5 percent nitrogen, 10 percent phosphoric acid, and 5 percent potash.

Soils are also labeled by acidity and alkalinity, measured in terms of pH. On the pH scale, 1-6.9 is acidic in decreasing amounts; 7.0 is neutral. Soil from 7.1-9 is alkaline in increasing amounts.

Most plants thrive in slightly acid soil, from 6.0-6.5. Azaleas, rhododendrons, and blueberries require a more acid soil. To increase acidity, after a soil test indicates the need, add aluminium sulfate. Peat moss adds acidity while it conditions the soil. To reduce acidity, work in dolomite limestone.

Because of the increasing cost of chemical fertilizers to add missing nutrients, it is a smart move to find out just what ones are missing. Garden supply stores and catalogs sell inexpensive tests for soil testing. State agricultural extension offices also do complete soil analyses.

For extensive gardens, they are well worth the effort or expense; you won't be spending more money for chemicals your soil doesn't need. Organic gardening offers many alternatives to chemical gardening, successfully arguing that adding natural organic materials to the soil improves its texture while it replaces naturally the chemicals necessary for plant growth.

In Loving Memory of our father Edgar D. Wilder. Father dear, no one could feel more love for anyone in this world than we do for you and if our love could have saved you, you never would have died. If we had one lifetime wish, one dream that could come true, we would pray to God with all our hearts for yesterday and you. Sadly missed Dad & Papa.

Planting Shade Annuals

By KATHY COPLEY

It can be a problem to bring color to shady spots under trees, in front of foundation plantings, or on the north and east sides of a house. A wide range of annuals and tender bulbs solve this problem, since they not only tolerate shade but require it.

The tiny bulb of Achimenes looks like a miniature pine cone. I have never been able to get them to sprout, so my "sour grapes" advice is to buy potted plants. The color range is quite broad, from white and pink through blue and purple, and yellow through gold and orange. Their somewhat trailing growth makes them good in hanging baskets, too.

Tuberous Begonias have rose and carnation-like flowers in all colors except blue and purple. Their 5" blossoms are spectacular in the garden or floating singly in a brandy snifter. Like all tender bulbs, they cannot be planted outside until all danger of frost is past, and they must be dug and brought inside after the first killing frost of the fall. For striking variegated foliage, use Caladium, a tender bulb, or Coleus. Caladium has no flowers, but the crimson, white, yellow, green, spotted, or striped leaves are very showy when three or more bulbs are planted together.

Coleus is an annual which does well in full sun or shade. Plants in the sun will be larger, with more vivid colors, but the leaves may burn. In the shade, the plants will be smaller; encourage bushiness by pinching back the growing tips. The Coleus color range is similar to that of Caladium, with each color bearing inconspicuous flowers on a shaggy spike late in the season.

For brighter color, Impatiens are super. The dwarf variety grows only 6-10" high; the standard may reach 24", with each blooming from June to frost. Though they are not fragrant and the flowers don't hold petals long enough to be good cut flowers, they are attractive close up and give a dense mound of color from a distance. Nurseries carry the single white and rose color varieties in abundance. For doubles or orange Impatiens, better start from seed.

Balsam blooms all summer in the same range of reds and whites as Impatiens. Their rose-shaped flowers line 2' stalks. Though they aren't picky about soil, they resent transplanting.

Single and double fibrous rooted Begonias make good garden and pot plants. They bloom all summer, chiefly in shades of pink and red, or white. Single varieties are available from most nurseries in flats. The doubles are more attractive, looking like miniature roses, but also are more expensive. They are tough to grow from seed, so root a cutting from a friend's plant.

For fragrance, Tuberose (tender bulbs), Mignonette, and Nicotiana are excellent. The standard size Nicotiana grows 18-30" tall and looks weedy from August on. Their heady fragrance is their only saving grace. The dwarf bedder varieties are more satisfactory but usually only available from seed. Both standard and dwarf bedder varieties have trumpet-like flowers in magenta, white, cream, and green.

Pansies tolerate shade, blooming later and on longer stems than their counterparts planted in the sun. Mostly in bi-colors (except true red or orange), they are fragrant and long-lasting as cut flowers in small bouquets.

Virginia Stocks bloom in spring and summer in all colors but yellow. These 6-12" plants self-sow readily, as does the biennial Sweet William.

For more detailed descriptions of these and other shade-loving plants, consult a reputable garden catalog.

Tells When to Fertilize

By KATHY COPLEY

Knowing when, or if, you need to fertilize is one of the keys to getting the best performance from all plants. Three factors determine whether fertilizer is necessary, and how much: the type and condition of the soil, the type and age of the plants, and the type of fertilizer.

Most casual gardeners don't bother with a soil analysis which indicates the presence of such trace elements as boron and copper, as well as the more essential nitrogen, potassium, and phosphorus.

Barring this analysis, you have to use general guides plus guesswork to decide how much and what fertilizer your soil needs.

Unless the situation indicates otherwise, use a 5-10-5 complete fertilizer, varying the amount according to the kind of plants involved and their age. In normal use:

Bulbs — 1-3 lbs. per 100 sq. feet
Houseplants — 1 teaspoon per pot (5" pot) per month or 1 oz. per gallon of water; use 1 cupful per plant per month
Vegetables — 3-5 lbs. per 100 sq. feet
Flowers — 3-5 lbs. per 100 sq. feet
Bush fruits — 4-8 oz. per plant
Fruit trees — 2-4 lbs. per inch of trunk diameter, breast high Deciduous trees — 2-4 lbs. per inch of trunk diameter, breast high Deciduous shrubs — 3-6 lbs. per 100 sq. feet
Evergreen shrubs — 3-6 lbs. per 100 sq. feet

In general, fertilizer pellets may be broadcast by hand or gadget. Shake them from leaves and flowers to prevent the fertilizer from burning them, and then water well.

For vegetables, apply the fertilizer in bands between the rows. Broadcasting fertilizer is okay for trees, but there is a better way. Like most better ways, though, it takes more energy.

Use a crowbar or a fancy root fertilizing tool to make holes in the soil around the base of the tree. To know where the holes should go, draw two imaginary circles, one on a radius of about 2' from the trunk and the other at the limits of the extended branches. Punch holes 8-10" deep, 2' apart, within the area between the two circles.

Put 1 1/2-6 ounces of fertilizer in each hole (depending on the size of the tree). Fill the rest of the hole with soil and water thoroughly.

Each of the three essential chemicals may be added in organic as well as chemical (inorganic) form. Nitrogen, for example may be from organic manure or inorganic sodium nitrate. The organic form releases the nitrogen more slowly, but it also conditions the soil while it fertilizes, making garden jobs like weeding go faster.

The effects of inorganic nitrogen should show in 2-3 days with lush green leaves.

Added phosphorous yields better root and tuber growth, increased flower and seed production. It forces otherwise vigorous plants to flower and set fruit, especially wisteria and lilacs. Superphosphate (containing 20 percent phosphorous) is an excellent quick source.

A phosphorous deficiency shows up as red or purple discolorations on leaves.

Potassium gives deep flower color, strong stems, and vigorous roots. Ordinary wood ashes contain an adequate amount for plant purposes. Because potassium is quickly leached from the soil, work the ashes in after the heavy spring rains have passed.

Potassium also helps protect the plant from bacterial diseases and fungi.

Don't apply ashes to acid-loving broad-leaved flowering evergreens like rhododendron. Heaths, heathers, and andromedas will also suffer. Junipers love lime from this source. Yews and euonymus can take it or leave it.

Lilacs, flowering quince, and cotoneasters like ashes, too. Among flowers, clematis, baby's breath, peonies, delphinium, and campanulas need extra lime.

Follow all fertilizer directions exactly. A dosage in excess of the recommended one may result in burns to the leaves, or death to the plant. It is much better to use half strength applications twice as often than risk plant or human injury with a single stronger application.

A Valentine Thought

Valentine's Day calls upon lovers whether near or far apart;
to let it be known now & again what is felt in each other's heart.

The admiration and the love
so often seen in eyes; Comes spoken aloud with tenderness
unmasked from the actors disguise.

Too often is love abused & forgotten and used in such a way, That we tend to lose all sense of real love, until next Valentine's Day.

Let's make this day hour after hour and show real love every day Then maybe our country will follow suit—and man will find the way.

There are some who think we're only after money, when we say, "Give till it helps"

Money is indeed important when you're called on to help millions upon millions of people every year.

But money isn't everything. 3,114,743 people helped us last year by donating blood, for instance.

And there are hundreds of other jobs to be done. Everything from rescuing older people from the sea of loneliness. To helping to feed and house families after a disaster.

Learn how you can give till it helps. Call your local American Red Cross chapter. Today wouldn't be a bit too soon.

R.L. POLK & CO. of Taylor, recently completed delivery of a complete up-to-date 1974 Plymouth and Northville City Directory. The publication has been delivered to its local subscribers. The directory contains four major departments along with an introduction and statistical and general review of the communities.

First the classified section contains a complete list of the names and addresses of business and professional concerns arranged in alphabetical order under their appropriate classified headings.

The alphabetical section of the directory, in addition to showing the name, marital status, occupation and address of each resident of the Plymouth and Northville areas, shows telephone numbers supplied by residents. Husband and wife are counted as one name, and eighteen is still the minimum age limit of individuals listed.

The third section is the directory of householders, including a street and avenue guide. This section lists the numbered streets in numerical order followed by the named streets in alphabetical order. The residents on every street are listed along with the telephone number at each address. New neighbors are identified by a star appearing between street number and name of occupant.

The numerical telephone directory is the last major section of the book. Telephones are listed in numerical order with the individual or business who has the number listed alongside.

The first and last names appearing in the alphabetical section of the directory are Carl J. Aardal and Edmund J. Zyromski.

Northville's Louise Cutler

She's Named Realtor of 1974

Louise Cutler, officer manager of James C. Cutler Realty in Northville, has been named REALTOR Associate of the year 1974 by the Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of REALTORS.

Beginning her second term on the board of directors, Mrs. Cutler is the 1975 treasurer of the WWOCB and the UNRA. She also holds the position as chairman of the finance, budget and building committee, and is an advisor to the education committee.

In 1974 she was chairman of the education committee which revamped the orientation classes, reducing them from four half-day sessions to one all-day school. During this term she also instituted the "How To" sessions as well as the "Broker Update" programs.

Major changes in the statistical reporters were made while she was chairman of the appraisal and statistical committee in 1973. Although not a member herself, she instituted the successful and highly regarded "Million Dollar Sales Club" during her term as chairman of the sales associates committee in 1972.

Board officials pointed out that Mrs. Cutler service goes beyond the board itself and extends into her community. They noted that she has taught 4-H classes, is a volunteer probation officer in Northville, belongs to the League of Women Voters, the

LOUISE CUTLER

Northville Woman's Club and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Besides driving a school bus for special education children, she personally initiated, organized and operated nine elementary school libraries before entering the real estate profession.

Since applying for membership in the UNRA and the WWOCB in 1966, Mrs. Cutler has completed many real estate courses and attended numerous educational seminars on local, state and national levels. Prior to this she also completed two years at William Penn College in Oskaloosa, Iowa.

"Those who have come in contact with Louise quickly realize her unbounded enthusiasm and a flair for creativity," judges who selected her to receive the distinguished award pointed out. "Realizing a change was due, she single-handedly redesigned and decorated the offices of James C. Cutler Realty, located at the corner of Center and Rayson streets, keeping in tune with the historical traditions of Northville."

"How to Measure A House" is the title of an article that Mrs. Cutler wrote and which now has become an integral part of the published text for the orientation class. She also recently addressed the Dearborn Chapter of Women's Council on this same subject.

Her name has now been submitted to the Michigan Association of REALTORS as a candidate for the state honor for "REALTOR Associate of the Year."

Mrs. Cutler will receive her certificate of honor at the third annual UNRA Awards Night scheduled Thursday, February 27.

At that dinner dance more than 100 recipients of the Million Dollar Sales Club also will be honored. In addition, presentations also will be given Robert Carey and William Bowman, who recently were installed into Omega Tau Rho, the National Honorary Fraternity of REALTORS.

The awards night program will be held at Vladimir's, 28125 Grand River, west of Eight Mile Road. A cocktail hour will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. Dancing will follow until midnight.

Reservations may be made before 5 p.m. February 25 by calling Connie Murrah at 478-1700.

Mustangs Win Title on High Note

Amid cheers of "we're number one", the Mustang five proved they were just that trampling Livonia Churchill 74-60 Friday to claim the undisputed Western Six championship.

There was plenty of celebrating as the Mustangs claimed their first undisputed championship in a major sport since entering the Western Six four years ago. And there's no question that the victory was enough to make the team the "Valentine" of the student body.

The fans, boisterous since the beginning of the contest had plenty to cheer about as Northville played probably its finest game of the year against a team that it had been able to beat only by one point earlier in the year.

Northville jumped off to a quick 10-2 lead going out in front 14-6 at the end of the first period. Behind red-hot shooting and an iron-clad defense, Northville continued opening up the lead behind balanced scoring going into the locker room ahead 36-18.

The Mustangs continued slamming the ball through the hoop and controlling the boards to up the lead to 56-32 by the end of the third period. A Tom Eis two pointer from underneath handed Northville its biggest lead of the game 58-32 with 7:41 remaining in the final period.

With a tough press, Churchill added some good shooting to come back from the 26 point deficit. Northville saw a 60-36 lead shrink to 60-42 but the Mustangs continued hitting and the closest Churchill could come was 74-60 at the buzzer after the reserves had been brought in.

Overall, Tom Eis and Doug Crisan led the offensive onslaught each pushing through 18 points. Scott Leu contributed 14 and Mike Campbell 12 to the cause.

Tom Eis led in the rebounding department with 15 while John Boland came up with seven.

"I felt very good about the game," said Coach Koepke. "It was about as well a played game as we've played all year. It is a good time of the year to start playing well with the tournament coming up."

"I thought we did well in all phases of the game," he added. "The defense was strong holding them to 18 points in the first half. Eis, Crisan, and Boland dominated the backboards and shot well hitting 80 percent from the floor and 60 percent from the freethrow line. When you put defense, shooting and rebounding together, that just about takes care of it — plus we only had 12 turnovers."

Koepke added that the first time against Churchill his team had been able to win by only one point and that he had not made any drastic changes to bring around the large margin of victory in the latest confrontation.

"Eis, Leu and Campbell had been slightly injured and they didn't play well at all the first time we won by one point. This time we just ran our usual man-to-man offense, but ran it better. Good outside shooting from Scott Leu helped."

"We thought we'd press them as their best guard, Bob Jamro had a broken thumb. I thought our defense was really good."

"In the fourth quarter, we looked at the score and let down on the backboards. They made it a little tighter in the fourth quarter, but for three and a half quarters, it was a really well played game."

"Everyone contributed something important," added Koepke. "Scott Leu played outstanding defense. The garbage man Mike Campbell seems to be in the right place at the right time — he seems to have a knack for getting himself open. Tom Eis had 12 rebounds and took care of the backboards. He had some good moves against their sophomore center."

"Doug Crisan accumulated 18 points. He has a good outside shot and when you combine that with a drive like he does, it's tough. Al Benedict came in with strong free throw shooting. He's not really our sixth man — he's our sixth starter. Al knows he's going to get in the ballgame when Boland gets his three fouls in the first quarter."

"John (Boland) really intimidates a lot of people with his physicalness. He's an important rebounder and I think he's doing better on shooting."

"His physicalness carried over in the lockerroom when he threw the coach into the shower," observed Koepke. "I was outmanned 15-1. When I saw what they were planning, I tried to bully my way through making a quick exit, but I didn't quite make it."

"I'm really glad we won the championship. No one deserves it more than this group of boys. They're completely dedicated. Their practices during the past weeks at the end of the season have been just as enthusiastic as during the first week of practice."

Earlier in the week, Northville had an easy time buckling Franklin 73-61.

The Mustangs manhandled Franklin jumping off to a 17-10 lead in the first quarter which was quickly expanded to 34-21 at the half. Northville outscored Franklin 18-12 in the third quarter before the free-for-all final period when Franklin outscored the Northville subs 28-21.

Overall, Mike Campbell paced the winner with 15 points followed closely by Tom Eis with 13. Both Scott Leu and Doug Crisan had ten while Al Benedict contributed eight and John Boland seven.

Though the Mustangs have already mustered the league trophy, there won't be any problem getting them up this Friday as they travel to Farmington Harrison to battle the only team that has managed to blemish the Mustang record. The Hawks won a 56-54 affair over the Mustangs earlier in the season.

"Every game is a new challenge," commented coach Koepke. "We lost one game we really shouldn't have lost and we don't want that to happen again. They'd feel very good about beating the champ twice and we don't want them to have those good feelings."

Northville is now 17-1 overall and 8-1 in the Western Six. Waterford Mott is in second spot with a 6-3 record while Farmington Harrison is third with a 5-4 record.

This season's effort has been the best for Northville since the 1961-62 season when the team fell to eventual state champ River Rouge in the semi-finals of the state tournament. That year Northville won the Wayne-Oakland league trophy with a perfect 14-0 mark. The team ended with an overall 20-1 mark.

CELEBRATION TIME—Northville's Scott Leu, hoisted to the shoulders of his teammates, receives the honor of cutting down the basketball net in celebration of Northville's undisputed league championship. The 74-60 win over the Churchill squad Friday handed Northville the trophy.

Tourney's Next

It's time for the local basketball teams to take their positions in anticipation of the state basketball tournament — the second season when everyone starts equal and anything could happen.

Locally, Northville with a 17-1 record will be participating in the Southfield district tournament while Novi will be traveling to South Lyon. There's little question that both teams will have to play up to full potential if they hope to get out of the district tournament intact.

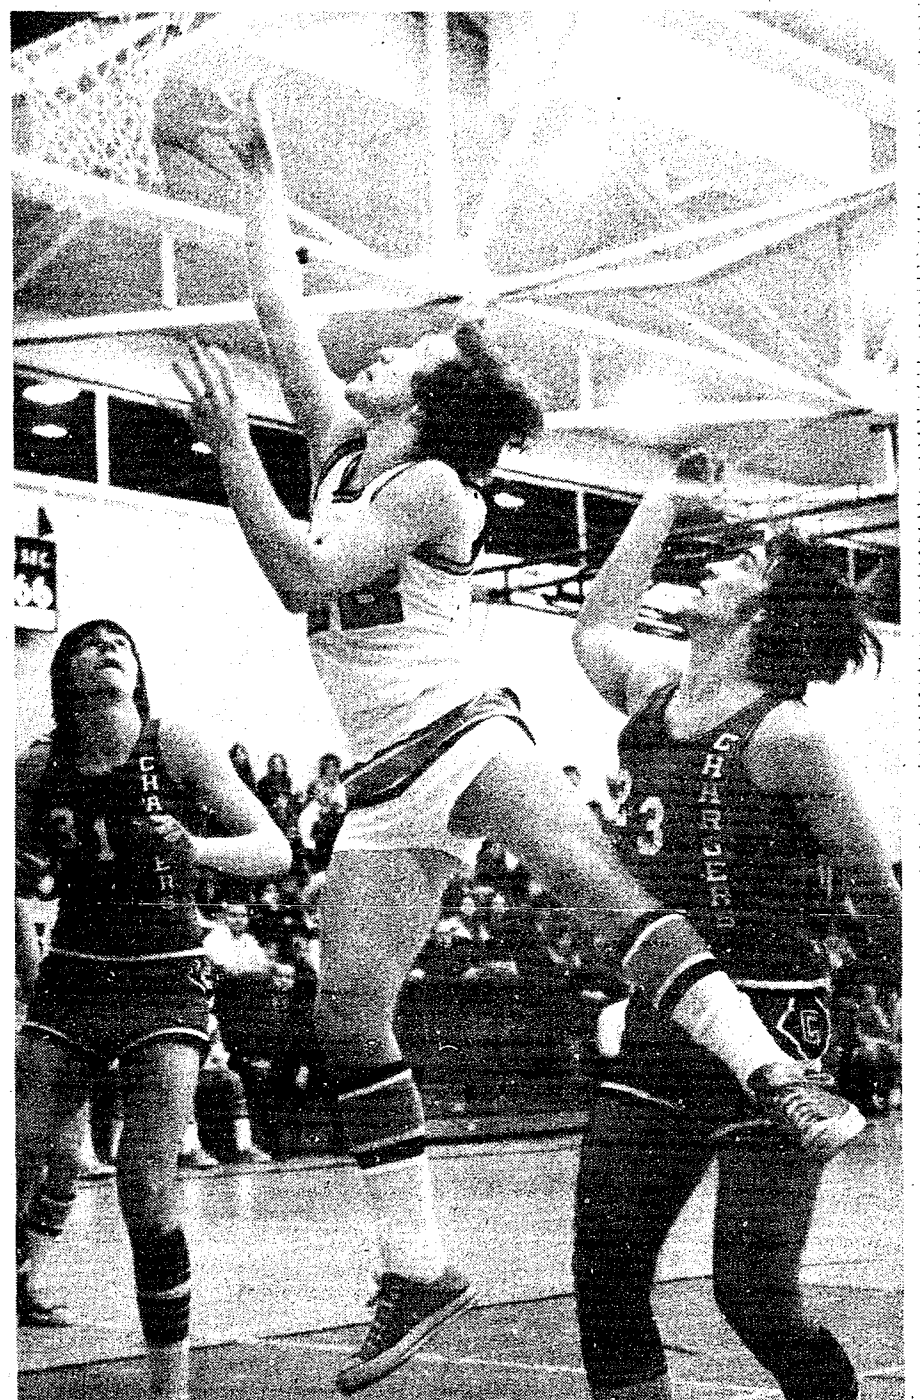

Northville travels to Southfield to play the host team Monday, February 24 at 7 p.m. Southfield may only have a 9-9 win loss record, but that was against tough competition and they'll be hungry for an upset.

The Mustangs can't look past Southfield, but the winner of the second round of the tourney in the Northville bracket will probably go on to win the district crown. Assuming Northville beats Southfield, the Mustangs will, February 26 at 7 p.m., face Plymouth Salem, ranked second in Metro West by the Detroit News with a 16-2 record.

Tickets cost $1.50 and are available only at the door.

Tickets go on sale at 5:30 p.m. Southfield High School is located at Ten Mile and Lahser Road.

Meanwhile, Novi drew a bye in the first round of the South Lyon tournament and will go on to face the winner of the Dexter-South Lyon contest Thursday, February 27 at 7 p.m. at South Lyon.

Mike Campbell scores two more points as Mustangs notch league championship

For Dual Meets

Novi Ends Best Season

Forget the league tournament, just remember that Novi with its lopsided win over a Class A school last week notched best dual-meet record in history.

That's the suggestion of Coach Russ Gardner, who would rather forget his team's showing in the SEC tourney at South Lyon. He'd much rather remember that the Wildcats easily defeated Plymouth Canton, 58-31.

With that victory, the Novi wrestlers finished the season with a 12-3 dual meet record. The best previous mark was 8-8.

The Wildcats finished fifth in the league with 14 points, just behind Milan with 16. Dexter and Chelsea tied for the championship with 24 points each, while Saline took second with 20 points, South Lyon third with 18. Lincoln and Brighton were tied in the cellar with four points each.

Actually, there was only a razor thin difference between Novi's 14 point finish and Saline's second place 20 points. A victory by Novi in the tournament Saturday would have boosted the Wildcats to second place.

League standings were based on a combination of the number of league winners and losses throughout the season and the teams' showing in Saturday's SEC tourney. For example, going into the tourney, Novi had eight points with its 4-3 league record. As a matter of fact four teams had eight points, Chelsea had 12 and Dexter 10.

Despite Chelsea's two point edge, Dexter managed to gain a piece of the championship by winning the tournament. Dexter led with 94 points, followed by Chelsea with 91, Saline with 68, South Lyon with 64, Milan 57½, Novi 52½, Brighton nine, and Lincoln five.

The Wildcats failed to win a first place medal. Nevertheless, Coach Gardner was not altogether disappointed. "We were facing some awfully tough competition. The mistakes hurt us, but I can't forget that the only losses the top five teams had all season were against each other. They won all their non-league competition against larger, Class A schools. We beat five Class A teams this season, and yet we lost three league matches."

Actually between Saline's 68 points and Novi's 52½ there was very little difference. A victory in any weight class would have boosted Novi to second, and a loss by Saline could have dropped the Hornets to fifth.

Biggest disappointment locally was defending champion Bob Sasena's loss to Jeff Barlow of Dexter. Second-place Sasena had defeated Barlow for the championship last year.

Girls Win Big

Last week was a great one for Novi's volleyball teams as the varsity and junior varsity teams posted three victories in four starts.

"Our varsity players finally put it together," an excited coach, Chris Hayward said. "They played excellent ball. The Jayvees started slow but came on strong."

The varsity squad downed Hartland on Tuesday in two matches, 15-9 and 15-2, and then dumped Ypsilanti Lincoln, 17-15 and 15-19.

On the other side of the ledger, the junior varsity six lost to Hartland, 15-8 and 15-8, but then won a tough one over Lincoln in three matches. The junior Wildcats lost the first round 15-1, then won 15-4 and 15-9 in the final two rounds. Jill Sibole scored 20 points in serving for the local jayvee club, while sophomore Lilli Jolgren was outstanding in serving up points for the varsity team.

Last week's victory over Lincoln gives Novi a 2-2 record for the season. In second place behind Brighton and Saline, which are tied for first with 3-1 marks, Novi leads Lincoln and Chelsea, which are tied at 1-3.

With the Southeastern Conference tournament coming up Thursday at Lincoln, the Wildcats still have an outside chance of winning the championship.

'Cats Eye Lions In Final Game

Novi has one last chance to recoup some of its standing in the Southeastern Conference this coming Friday.

Nursing the wounds of seven straight conference defeats, the Wildcats travel to South Lyon to close out the regular season. But even the Lions — a team Novi encountered this season — are expected to be tough.

Led by their transfer student, six-foot junior guard Kevin Baize, the Lions knocked off fourth place Dexter in a 47-46 thriller last week for their first SEC victory of the season.

A loss to South Lyon could drop the Wildcats into last place.

Discounting this Tuesday's scheduled game against Milan, the last two contests were disasters for Coach Ron Fluter's quintet. The Wildcats lost to Brighton, 61-44, last week Tuesday and then dropped an 86-78 contest to Lincoln here Friday.

In earlier games Novi had defeated both of these clubs, both times by just two points, however.

Except for a sizzling fourth quarter performance by the younger Novi players, the Wildcat's loss to Lincoln might have been a good deal worse. In that fourth stanza Novi scored 33 points — their best single quarter effort all season, perhaps the best ever.

Leading the way that quarter were Andy McComas, who fired three field goals and four free throws without a miss, and Scott Parsons who converted eight straight free throws. Seven different players scored in this quarter, including Bill Barr, who converted two of his charity shots to push his game total to 14 — Novi's best for the night.

Keith Parks of Lincoln was the hottest shooter all night. He scored 30 points, most of them in the first half of the game when Ypsi built its big lead.

Although the Wildcats lost by seven points — the visitors had led by 20 points with only three minutes to play. That's when McComas, Parsons and Bill Giorgio, who had five points in the quarter, put on their dazzling display and forced the Ypsilanti coach to return his starters to the game.

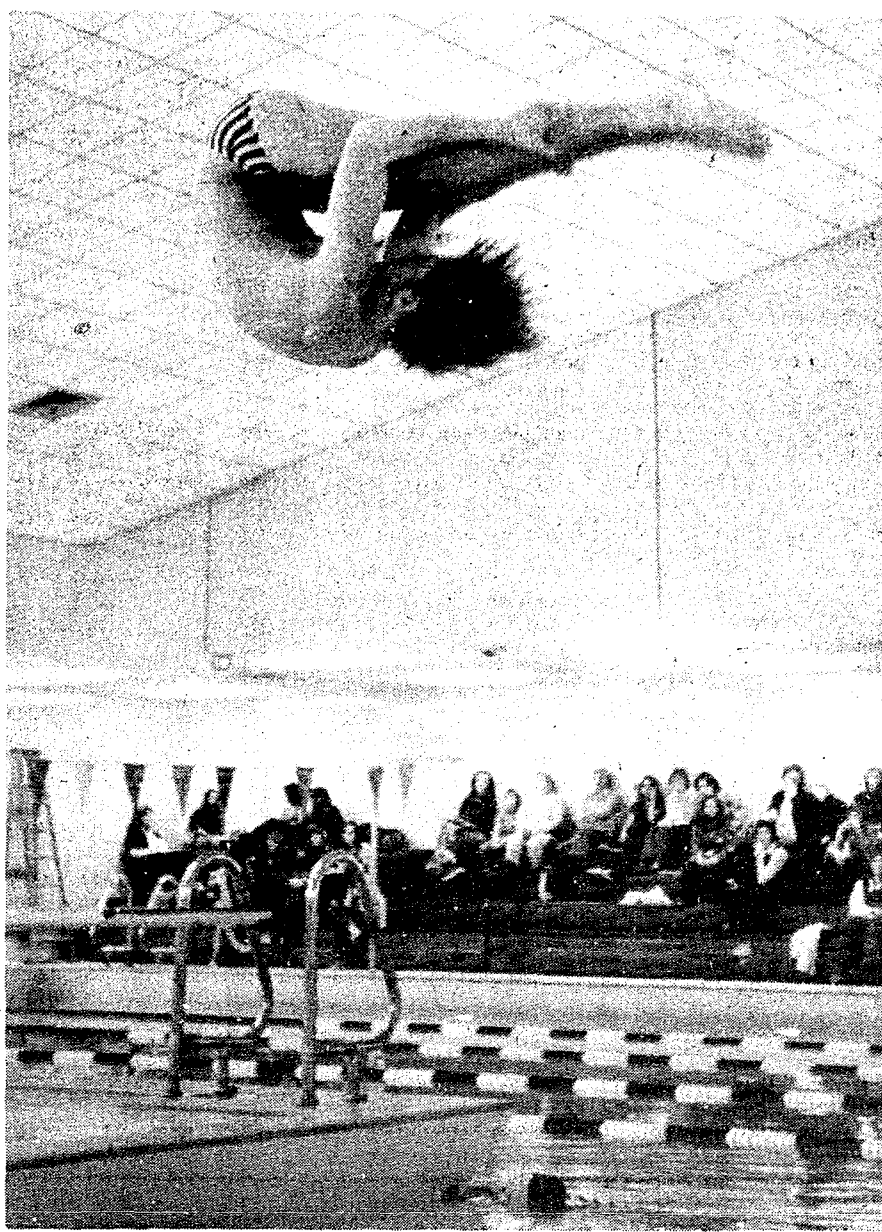

Novi scored 15 points in each of the first three quarters while Lincoln came up with 27 in the first, 18 in the second and 19 in the last.

Both teams were hot at the free throw line, Lincoln converting 26 of its 33 shots and Novi 26 of its 32 shots.

In last week Tuesday's game the two teams were pretty evenly matched through the first quarter of play. Going into the second stanza, the two teams were tied at 14. In that second quarter, however, the Bulldogs flipped in 17 points and Novi only 10. Brighton edged Novi again in the third quarter, this time 11 points to eight.

Brighton scored only two more field goals than Novi, but at the free throw line it was a far different story. While the Bulldogs were converting 19 of 26 shots, Novi was settling with six of 11.

Leading scorer in the game was Barr, who had 18, followed by Brighton's Scott Bandkau with 17. Giorgio and Pat McAllen each had 10 points for Novi.

FINISHES SECOND—Mustang Scott Knapp shows his best form in the Churchill meet last Thursday. Knapp finished second to Northville's Joe Devereaux in the competition.

Over-30 Triumphs

The Casterline over-30 hockey team toppled the Plymouth Pilgrims 4-3 in a close checking foul ridden contest last week.

Goals for Casterline were scored by Dick Wald who slammed in two, Dennis Salisbury and Tony Ruzzin, who both added single tallies. Wald also had one assist, Ruzzin two and Salisbury three.

Grapplers Claim Fifth

Brent Ashby took the 129 pound weight class competition to lead Northville to a fifth place finish in the Western Six League tourney despite numerous injuries which hobbled the Mustang Matmen.

The injuries had been coming hot and heavy to Northville and they took their tally at the league meet as Northville finished with 43 points, just one point behind Livonia Churchill. Walled Lake Western won the tourney.

Rick Marcicki, undefeated in league competition, last week suffered ligament damage to his knee and was unable to compete. Dan Platte, Northville's outstanding 114 pound wrestler last Wednesday suffered a leg injury which hobbled him so badly he could not compete effectively in his first match of the league tourney and forced him to sit in the stands during the remainder of the day.

Larry Pink, at 170 pounds, was still recovering from 96 stitches in his shoulder received in an accident at home. He was unable to compete in his final match and had to settle for fourth place instead of third. The other "walking wounded" was Wally Armstrong, whose ankles were taped to keep the swelling down from strained ligaments in both feet.

Northville also found itself competing with no wrestlers in the 188 pound or heavyweight class as it has

Among the uninjured Mustang wrestlers, Brent Ashby pleased the Northville spectators as he won the 129 pound weight class with a 2-1 decision over the first seeded man from Waterford Mott.

Jim Sacklath and Dave Bentley finished second in the 141 and 101 pound weight classes. Rick Bentley ended third at 108 pounds while Wally Armstrong finished third at 135 pounds.

In junior varsity level action Northville did well capturing a first place and several seconds.

Wildcat Jayvees Lose

Novi's junior varsity basketball team dropped still another game Friday — this time a 69-66 decision to Ypsilanti Lincoln.

Down by four points going into the final quarter, Coach Brian Howard's five overtook Lincoln mid-way through this stanza and then briefly led the visiting club, before dropping behind again and never regaining the tie or edge.

With 1:17 to go, Novi moved to within two points of Lincoln and had a shot by the junior Wildcats gone through the net it could have had a tie. At 44 seconds Lincoln increased its lead to four, then fell back to a two-point edge, 66-64, with 33 seconds to play.

Novi scored a two-pointer at the buzzer but by then it was too late.

The local junior varsity squad trailed through most of the game. It was behind 23-18 at the end of the first quarter, 38-36 at the intermission, and then 58-54 at the three-quarter mark.

Big gun for Novi was John Pisha, who netted 21 points and collected 28 rebounds. Craig Pelchat and Greg Porter were runner-up scorers with 11 points each. Pisha was also the top Novi scorer earlier in the week against Brighton. But his 17 points did little to stop the Bulldog tide, which ended 74-51. Ken Robinson and Greg Porter each had nine points.

Brighton, led by Dean Clark with 18 points, got off to a 20-12 lead, increased its margin to 39-28 at the half, and then scored 12 more points in the third quarter while holding Novi to just four. Novi had its best scoring attack in the final frame — 10 points to Brighton's 23.

Tankers Win

Scuttle Opponents

There are times when nothing goes wrong and that happened last week to the Mustang tankers as they swamped Livonia Stevenson 52.5 to 20.5 and scuttled Livonia Churchill 68-15.

Against Stevenson Brian Kramer was a double winner claiming both the 100 yard breaststroke and the individual medley. Joe Devereaux won the diving, Pete Talbot the 100 butterfly, and Ed Erds the 100 yard freestyle. Also triumphing was the medley relay team made up of Mike Swayze, Matt Sullivan, Jeff Guider and Mike Chaffin.

"We expected a little better meet from Stevenson than what we got," stated coach Ben Lauber. "We swam well but Stevenson's coach indicated they didn't swim as well as they could. They picked up nine of 11 last places."

Lauber noted that the depth of the team was a key factor in the victory.

Against Churchill, Northville had even fewer problems, winning 68-15.

Double winners were: Ed Erds in the 200 individual medley and 400 freestyle relay; Pete Talbot in the 500 yard freestyle and 400 freestyle relay; Dean Ali in the 200 yard freestyle and 400 free relay; Steve Luckett in the 50 yard freestyle and the 400 free relay; Saulius Mikalonis in the 100 yard backstroke and 200 yard medley relay; Mike Chaffin in the 100 yard freestyle and 200 medley relay.

Art Greenlee also won the 100 yard breaststroke and Joe Devereaux in the diving competition.

"This year Churchill is one of the weakest teams in the league if not the weakest," admitted Coach Lauber. "It's a building season for them this year."

"We took the opportunity to have boys who wanted to swim in different events do so."

Lauber said he was especially impressed by Ed Erds in the individual medley and Steve Luckett in the 50 yard freestyle. He also praised divers Joe Devereaux and Scott Knapp who are the leading divers in points in the league.

"Between the two, one always gets first place. We've only had one meet where they haven't taken first. They are consistent divers and seldom hit a bad dive."

Lauber said that both divers are potential state qualifiers this year.

Against Churchill, Lauber said that freshmen putting in good performances were Steve Laffler, Mark Yanoschik, Carl Haynie, Bruce Hackmann and Matt Sullivan.

"These fellows will make a big difference in the outcome of the league meet," stated Lauber. "They are providing good depth for us."

Wildcats

Win 27-24

A 27-24 victory over Plymouth Canton last week gave Novi's junior varsity grapplers a 13-1 dual meet record for the season.

As in the case of the varsity club's season, this JV mark is the best in Novi history. The junior varsity wrestlers had never before had even a .500 season.

The Novi squad will wrap up the season with a two-day tournament today and Thursday at Pontiac Northern.

This weekend the varsity wrestlers will compete in the state district tournament at Willow Run where some 20 teams will be battling for a crack at the regionals.

Drop

Volleyball

Contest

A let-down in the second game plus an overtime loss in the third game led to the downfall of the Northville volleyball team as Churchill edged out the Mustangs last week.

In the first game, Northville was victorious 15-11 as Mary Ann Tweedie served eight points and Patty Brown six for Northville.

The second game was a close affair but seven straight points by a Churchill server put the game out of reach as Churchill won 15-8. Northville fought hard in the third game and put the contest into overtime, only to lose 16-14. Louise Hopping served eight points and Becky Albus four for the loser.

"The girls thought they didn't have to work hard," said coach Karen Taylor. "They played Churchill's game."

She noted that Eve Williams had several good spikes during the first game.

Honor

Valentine

Laura Valentine, a senior guard for Novi's championship basketball team, has been named to the third team All-Oakland selections.

Novi is the only Class "B" team in the county to place anyone on the outstanding mythical squads. Earlier picked the most valuable player on the Wildcat squad, she was named to the all-conference SEC team following Novi's successful defense of its championship.

The latest honor to come her way was announced Friday at Southfield Lathrop.

Fans, Betting Up at Downs

Both attendance and betting are enjoying healthy gains at Northville Downs.

The local harness racing track has just about reached the half-way point in its 83-night meet.

Through last Saturday, the track's fortieth night, the average mutual handle was $338,781, up 10.7 percent over last year. Attendance for the first 40 nights averaged 3,490 fans, a gain of 11.6 percent.

Summer Baseball Registration Set

Registration for anyone interested in playing Northville summer baseball is set for the Scout Building Saturdays February 22, March 1 and March 8.

Fee is $15 per person or $25 per family and must be paid at the registration. Hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and checks should be made out to "Northville Junior Baseball — Northville Rec. Dept."

Following birthdates determine league participation: "H" League for 8 and 9 year-olds born 9-1-65 through 8-31-67; "G" League for 10 and 11 year-olds born 9-1-63 through 8-31-65; "F" League for 12 and 13 year-olds born 9-1-61 through 8-31-63; "E" League for 14 and 15 year-olds born 9-1-59 through 8-31-61.

All leagues will have coaches and umpires and will use pitchers and not pitching machines.

Those persons who played in the E and F leagues last year must also register at this time. Approximately 150 players are needed in the "F" league of ten teams and 90 players in each of the other leagues which have six teams per league. All teams will be filled on a first-come-first served basis. Each player will be guaranteed at least one time at bat and two innings in the field per game.

Any questions concerning the program can be directed to Ed Kricitz at 349-0203, Dick Brewer at 349-8312 or Mr. Mitchell at 459-0484.

Coaches are also needed and anyone interested may contact one of the above persons. The number of teams may be cut back if more coaches are not found.

Wildcat of the Week

Lilli Jolgren, the sophomore player who piloted Novi's varsity volleyball team to a pair of victories last week, has been named Wildcat of the Week.

"Despite illness earlier, she played excellent ball for us. She's a great asset on this team," said Coach Chris Hayward, who nominated her for the honor.

A starter, she scored 10 points in both ends of Thursday's triumph over Ypsilanti Lincoln, earning credit for the victory points.

Hamlet Title Hopes Smashed

In Northville Hockey Association action last week, Hamlet Food Mart pee wee team's hopes for a Michigan Amateur Hockey Association championship came to an end as it was defeated by Schneiders Sport Shop of Dearborn 3-2 and 2-0 in district tournament action at Garden City.

In the first game, Hamlet took a quick 2-0 lead on goals by Mike Shingler with assists coming from Jim Wilson on both tallies. But, Dearborn came back with three goals within a five minute span late in the game to win.

In the second contest, Hamlet outshot the Dearborn squad 48-15 but couldn't get the puck past the Dearborn goalie, and were eventually shutout for only the second time in 36 games 2-0.

Earlier in the week, Hamlet defeated Plymouth ACTS Computing 5-1 to remain undefeated in league play. Three Hamlet goals were scored by Mike Shingler while Rick Wisniewski and David Ward added single tallies. Assists were awarded to Gary Yoder, Jim Wilson, Steve Munsell, and Ward. The win gave Hamlet a league record of 13-0-2 and a season record of 27-7-2.

In Bantam House action Northville Belangers continues its hot play raking in a pair of victories. Against the Plymouth Raiders, two goals by Pete Cameron and one by Paul Weglarz helped Belangers win 3-1. Assist were by Steve Penny and Mark Regentik.

Against Northville Midwest, Belangers won 5-1. Goals by Belangers came from Mark Regentik, Pete Cameron, Mickey Wilson, Greg Thompson and Keith Day. Paul Weglarz assisted twice while Wilson, Thompson, Mike Cleland, Cameron and Rusty Van Marter accounted for other assists. Jeff Wilson scored the lone Midwest goal with an assist from Mike Muzzin.

Belangers raised its record with the victories to 11-1-4.

Midwest also fell to the Plymouth Huskies 3-1 as Plymouth added two goals in the final three minutes. The lone Midwest goal was by Joe Guacino with assists from Mike Muzzin and John Wheeler.

Midwest was more successful against Farmington, winning 7-2. Mitch Morrell scored two goals while Muzzin and Andy Orlando scored one apiece. Two assists were given to Jeff Wilson while one each went to Allen Smith, Bill Flood and Mitch Morrell. The games left Midwest with a 6-5-5 record.

Northville Botanical Products came up with two close victories, knocking off Westland 2-0 and Garden City 2-1.

Against Westland, Dennis Gargin and Mike Krainer scored the goals with assists from Jack Guleserian, Allen, Kramer and Matley.

Playing against Garden City, Guleserian and Chris Steele put in the goals and received assists from Van Bonn and Purcell. The wins raised Northville's record to 11-5-3.

Perkins Engines was fairly successful in weekend action taking a pair of contests from the Kitchener Kats although they had to settle for a tie with P.A.L. earlier in the week.

In the first game of the weekend tournament with Kitchener, the scoring was divided between six Northville players as they triumphed 6-1. Goals were scored by Jeff Hastings, Ken Winemaster, Scott Schaal, Bob Pegrum, Richard Milnichuk and Scott Pence.

Hastings, Milnichuk and Ken Winemaster were each awarded two assists while Pegrum, Schaal, and Steve Creedon were given single assists.

The second meeting between the two clubs was more decisive as Northville won 10-0 over Kitchener. Scott Schaal paced Northville with four goals while Doug Boyce backed him up with two goals. Milnichuk, Creedon, Jeff Hyden and Chris Beeter scored the remaining goals.

Hastings was given three assists, Bob Pegrum three, Boyce, Hastings, Meininger, Hyden, and Winemaster one each. Todd Bartling had his fifth shut out of the season.

Against P.A.L., Perkins had to come back from a one goal deficit but went ahead in the second period scoring a pair of goals by Scott Schaal with assists from Pegrum. P.A.L. tied up the score later in the second period. The final period was scoreless, but Northville had some anxious moments in the closing minutes of the game as Perkins picked up some penalties and had to play two men short.

Earl Keim Realty squirt team picked up a pair of wins over LCKA, 3-1 and 3-2.

Gymnasts Whip Glen

It wasn't much of a contest as the Mustang gymnasts beat by leaps and bounds a first year John Glen team 91-66.4 last week.

In fact, the girls could do no wrong as they took first, second, and third in every event.

Natalie Folino took a 7.4 to win the floor exercises though Marianne Neff finished close behind with a 7.3 while Sheila Fasang ended third with a 7.1. In the bars, Sue Benedict came through for the victory with a 6.85 while Lori Plumly was number one in the vaulting at 6.8.

A 6.4 in the beam was good enough for a first place for Sheila Fasang while Natalie Folino tumbled to a win with a 7.55.

The victory raises Northville's record to 3-2.

Mustang of the Week

NATALIE FOLINO

Honored as Mustang of the Week is Natalie Folino whose 7.55 score in the tumbling competition against John Glen last week was the highest score the Mustangs have ever received in that event and the second highest score ever in any event. She also took second spot on the beam.

"Her score contributed to the fact we got such a high score on this meet," said coach Lisa Baetz. "This is her first year and she's doing well in all the events in which she is competing."

Wildcat of the Week

BILL BARR

Senior Bill Barr has been named Wildcat of the Week — the second time this season.

Second leading Novi scorer for the season with 143 points for a game average of 9½ points, he has developed into an excellent rebounder. His improvement here has been steady, and today he leads the club with 173 rebounds — 91 on defense, 82 on offense.

Barr also has 18 steals to his credit. At the free throw line he has converted 29 of his 43 attempts for a 67.4 average.

In his last two games out he has led the Wildcats in scoring, picking up 14 against Lincoln Friday and 18 against Brighton last week Tuesday.

BRENT ASHBY

Brent Ashby became Mustang of the Week based upon his effort in the league wrestling meet last week in which he was the only Mustang to finish as a league champion. Ashby, a 129 pounder, had to beat the top seeded entry from Waterford Mott in the finals to win the top spot. Ashby has also done well throughout the season compiling a 14-7 record. Three of the losses came on overtime decisions based upon decision of the judges and referee.

DOCK REPAIR—The old boat dock on Walled Lake, a leftover of the long defunct Novi Amusement Park is about halfway repaired. The dock has been the long subject of a court battle by the city which contends it is a safety hazard. Though there has been no court settlement, owner Gabriel Glantz is probably hopeful that the judge will not order the structure to be torn out (See story Novi, Page 1).

Charter Commission Hears Strong Mayor

Novi's charter commission last Tuesday heard from school board member Vern DeWaard and Mayor Lambert of Kentwood who both spoke in favor of the strong mayor.

The question of whether the charter commission will try to change the charter to favor a strong mayor as opposed to a strong manager form as Novi presently has, is one of the major points which will be resolved.

Charter commission chairman Mabel Ash said "They (commission members) all thought Lambert's presentation was good—whether they thought it would work for Novi I didn't ask."

Mrs. Ash explained that Kentwood and Novi are similar with low millage, but that Kentwood utilizes millage only for the fire department, police department, treasurer's office and similar areas. They contract out engineering, planning and roadwork but money for such items comes not from millage but directly from assessments or by direct contracting with the people. Mrs. Ash pointed out that exclusion of these items would make Kentwood's millage seem deceptively low.

The charter commission has an opportunity next Tuesday to listen to persons speak in favor of the weak mayor form of government. Mrs. Ash said that Novi Mayor Robert Daley and Northville Mayor A. Malcolm Allen are expected to be present.

Mrs. Ash said that the commission has made no decision on any major changes in the charter and will go through the entire charter before going back and making revisions. Presently the commission is working on the fourth and fifth chapters.

Explained Mrs. Ash, "The charter is so interlaced, if you make a change in the front of the book, you may decide by the time you get to the back of the book that you were way off in making the change because another area of the charter has come along that takes care of it."

The next charter commission meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Novi School administration office.

Thwarts Criminals

or Detroit police or the state police wanted him.

Here's how the LEIN machine works. When, for instance, a traffic offender is stopped, police automatically call the dispatcher on the radio and have her type out the code on the department's LEIN machine asking for background information such as traffic tickets issued and outstanding traffic warrants against the driver.

The question is then relayed to a computer at the Criminal Justice Center in Lansing which answers back with all the requested information. While traffic information requests can be answered within a minute, criminal information requests sometimes takes four to five minutes.

Council Balks

said that the main reason for the parks recommendation was that the trails would be an irritation to nearby subdivisions "because you can't keep motorcycles out."

Councilman Gunnar Mettala suggested that even if no vehicles could use the land, "a hiking path alone is an asset."

Council directed a letter to the parks commission asking for a plan within 60 days for recreational use of the Edison right-of-way.

"If their response is no plan, that's a plan too," noted councilman James Lahde.

In addition to information on the name as fed to the computer, the LEIN also gives information on any persons with extremely close spellings of the name to eliminate the possibility that a slight change in name could stop the LEIN.

If Novi officers should find an article, such as a car, which they suspect is stolen, it's a simple matter to check the LEIN to determine if it has been stolen. Serial numbers are used for this purpose.

And suppose that Novi police find that a criminal is escaping by car from the city. By pressing the right button on the LEIN machine, police open a channel to all nearby police departments and broadcast an alert to watch for the car.

The LEIN has been particularly effective in helping bring criminals to justice who happen to run into the Novi Police Department, reports officer Gary Appleton.

"We assist other departments by making 35 arrests per month on open warrants which means bringing them to the station and bonding them out or turning them over to the respective department," he says. The LEIN machine is the basis for the information that leads to most of these arrests.

"You just can't get away from the LEIN," adds Appleton. "It's the long arm of the law."

Cedric Whitcomb, Pastor

February is President's month and we remember the birthdays of two of our great presidents—Lincoln and Washington.

It's said of George Washington that at fourteen years old he dreamed of sailing away to some distant land. Finally after years of waiting and the "pulling of strings" by his brother Lawrence he was conferred the Navy rank of Midshipman Washington. He received the well-wishes of his brother that someday he would be Admiral Washington.

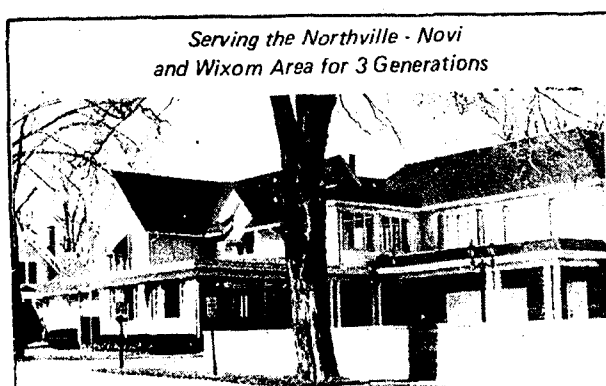

The day came for him to leave home and as he stood before his mother he asked, "What do you think of me, mother?" She didn't share his pleasure and through her tears sobbed, "I cannot let you go, George, you'll break my heart if you do."

A terrific struggle took place in his heart as to what he should do. His bag was already on the ship, Drake, he was in uniform and his commission in his hand. Finally he turned to his mother and said, "Do not cry any more, Mother, I will obey you. I will not go."

A famous writer has said that George Washington was never greater than he was at that moment. He lost nothing by his decision as he obeyed the Word of God that says, "Children obey your parents!" How much we need parents who will insist on parental authority and children and young people who will be taught to obey.

Police Blotter: Thief Turns Party into Expensive Night

In Township

It turned out to be a rather expensive Friday night for 10 of the guests attending a party at the Innsbrook Apartment Clubhouse.

Nine of the guests had their coats stolen and one woman reported her shoes were taken. Total value of the items stolen is $1,145.

Township police said the thefts took place between 11 p.m. Friday and 1:30 a.m. Saturday. Eight of the stolen coats are men's coats, all but one of them leather, and the ninth coat is a brown suede. Also stolen were a woman's leather coat and a pair of sling back shoes. Value of the coats ranged from $70 to $250, investigating officers said.

Also taken with the coats were a set of car keys and a driver's license contained in the pockets. Police are continuing their investigation into the theft.

Business machines, valued at nearly $1,600, and a generator were stolen from the Levitt and Sons Construction Office on Gerald Avenue.

According to reports, the theft took place between 6 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday after unknown persons unchained a gate leading into the office building area.

Missing are two calculators and an IBM electric typewriter along with the generator. No signs of forced entry were found at the scene, police said.

Drug Arrest Nets

$50,000 in PCP

"Drugs with a street value of more than $50,000 were confiscated Saturday night following the arrest of a 23-year-old Mount Clemens man by special agents from the Drug Enforcement Administration, a federal agency, and Northville City Police and Michigan State Police.

Arrested about 9 p.m. near Fairbrook and Wing streets was David Allan Furno. He has been charged with distribution of phencyclidine (PCP) and was arraigned yesterday (Tuesday) morning in U.S. Federal District Court.

Furno stood mute before Federal Magistrate Barbara Hackett, a plea of not guilty entered on his behalf and preliminary examination set for March 10. He was released on $5,000 personal bond.

Approximately $150 in coins along with a Polaroid camera were stolen following a break-in at The Tavern Bar on Northville Road, south of Seven Mile, Sunday morning.

Investigating officers said the bar had been ransacked and coin operated machines broken into. The incident took place between 2:30 and 10:30 a.m. and police believe two subjects may have been involved. Footprints were found in the snow leading from the scene.

The cigarette machine, juke box and cash box were forced open and approximately $50 in change taken from each, township police reports said.

Unknown persons entered a home in the 42800 area of Itham Court Friday night but left almost immediately.

According to police, the home was entered through a sliding door about 9:30 p.m. No damage was done to the door and nothing was reported missing. Owner of the home called police after hearing the door slide open.

In Northville

A 22-year-old Plymouth man is being held on charges of gross indecency and assault with intent to commit gross indecency with a female minor. Charges stem from an incident which took place Friday night.

Arraigned on the charges Saturday was Nicholas James Roy. He pled not guilty in Judge Dunbar Davis' 35th District Court and is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond pending pre-trial examination.

According to city police detectives, two juvenile girls were allegedly picked up by Roy in another city Friday night. One of the girls was dropped off in Northville and Roy reportedly drove off with the other, allegedly taking sexual liberties with her before dropping her off later in Northville.

Roy was arrested in Plymouth by city officers. More than $300 worth of items were stolen last Wednesday evening from a pick-up truck parked near the River Street shipping barn at Northville Downs.

Owner of the vehicle told police the driver's side window was broken and a brown coat, $215 in cash and various horse equipment stolen. The theft took place between 6:30 and 10:30 p.m.

Vandalism amounting to more than $100 was done to a vehicle parked in the lower level of the parking deck on Cady Street Saturday afternoon.

Owner of the 1972 Lincoln reported a radio antenna was bent and numerous scratches made in the rear quarter panel of the car. The incident occurred between 2 and 4 p.m.

In Novi

A couple returning home from a dinner dance at 1:30 a.m. February 16 discovered that their home had been broken into and missing was a $700 television and $20 in cash. Entry to the home on 12 Mile Road was gained by breaking a glass panel in a wooden exterior door. Novi Detectives made a crime scene investigation at 2:15 a.m.

Four burglaries of autos parked at Paragon Steel were reported Monday. Taken were two tape decks and a battery with a total value, including the broken out passenger windows used to gain entry, of $650.

The burglaries occurred between 7 a.m. and 12 noon. Police are investigating.

Novi police have arrested Jeffrey Chynoweth, 18, of Walled Lake in connection with the fraudulent use of a credit card.

According to police, he was working in a gas station and allegedly ran off two or three extra copies when given a credit card to pay for gas. He then allegedly ran off a $5 charge a few days later. Leading to the arrest was a Southfield policeman who noted the discrepancy on his receipts.

Chynoweth was arrested February 15 and lodged in Oakland County Jail awaiting arraignment. He was released on $1,000 personal bond by Judge Templin. Fraudulent use of a credit card is punishable as a felony.

Novi police February 14 arrested Mardie Burton, 23, of Detroit for larceny from a building after an informant told police that Burton would be leaving Paragon Steel with a drill owned by the plant.

Burton was released on $50 bond and warrant is pending on the larceny charge.

Approximately $375 damage was done to a tractor on Lanier Road in Novi by vandals.

The vandalism occurred February 8-10 and included destruction of lights, distributor, plugs and generator, according to reports.

High intensity lights valued at $80 were taken from an auto February 12-13 which was in a parking lot in Olde Orchard Condominiums. Mounting brackets were still on the bumper, but wires were cut and the lights missing.

Samuel Jedwab, 48 of West Bloomfield was taken to Providence Hospital by a friend February 9 at 2:30 p.m. after he was involved in a car accident.

According to reports, Jedwab was driving northbound on Meadowbrook in Novi and his car left the road and hit a tree with Jedwab receiving non-incapacitating injuries. The road was slippery at the time.

Donald McCordy, 20, of South Lyon was taken to Botsford Hospital February 15 with an incapacitating injury suffered in a Novi automobile accident.

He was westbound on Ten Mile Road west of Novi and swerved across the eastbound traffic lane, going down an embankment, through a wire fence, finally striking an apple tree with the right front of the car.

In Wixom

A fire at 1981 Charms Road at 3:10 a.m. February 14 caused heavy smoke damage throughout the house although there was little fire damage.

The fire was confined to the basement and no one was reported injured. The fire department extinguished the blaze. Suspected cause was a defective water heater.

A snowmobile suit, boots, gloves, mask and scarf valued at $180 were taken from a Village Apartment Suite February 12.

The owner stated the items were taken from a clothes closet. There was no sign of forced entry.

Wixom police report that several bad checks have been popping up in the Wixom area. They are written on closed accounts and on accounts with insufficient funds.

The case is currently under investigation and police report they have a suspect.

Approximately $300 cash was taken from a cookie jar at a home on Maple North February 8.

Parole Reform Urged

At the urging of the Lexington Commons homeowners association, the Northville City Council Monday night adopted a resolution urging stiffer parole restrictions.

The resolution, which is to be sent to adjacent communities urging their concurrence, was triggered by the recent arrest of a parolee charged with the slaying of a Northville store owner, Joseph Snage.

A delegation of the association appeared before council on behalf of the president, William Todd, suggesting that early release of potentially dangerous felons jeopardizes the safety and well-being of citizens here and elsewhere.

More specifically, the association attacked the "Good Time Laws" which provide for early release of convicts for good behavior while in prison. Championing the current campaign of Oakland County Prosecutor Brooks Patterson for parole reform, the association urged adoption of the resolution.

It was modified slightly by the council and then quickly adopted by a 4-0 vote. It reads:

"WHEREAS the citizens of Northville were recently shocked by a brutal murder of one of its citizens, and there is substantial evidence that the accused murderer is an ex-convict who was recently paroled from prison, after serving a short prison term for armed robbery, and

"WHEREAS local law enforcement officials have informed this council that a substantial number of violent crimes against persons are committed by individuals out on parole after serving relatively short prison terms for violent crimes.

"NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that this council go on record favoring

Murder Case Hearing Continues Thursday

Pre-trial examination of James J. Olin on charges of first degree murder has been adjourned until 1:30 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) in 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis' Northville courtroom.

Motion for adjournment was granted last week after attorneys for the prosecution and defense agreed it was in the best interests of the case to allow a prosecution witness time to confer with her attorney.

Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, who is handling prosecution of the case against Olin, referred to Pamela Minidis as "the prosecution's first and primary witness."

Last Thursday before Judge Davis, Miss Minidis asked for and was granted a court appointed attorney. Named as her attorney was Donald Severance of Northville.

Representing Olin is Robert Sterling. Olin is charged in the January 23 murder of Joseph Snage Jr. who was found shot to death in his party store on West Eight Mile Road at Randolph Street. The 22-year-old Detroit man, a parolee from Jackson State Prison, is being held in Oakland County Jail in lieu of $500,000 bond on the murder charge.

It's Our Policy

Do you have a big umbrella covering you? You'll feel better if you do!

An "umbrella" policy (more accurately, personal catastrophe liability coverage) gives broader coverage than an ordinary policy can. First offered by British insurance companies, it's become very popular here.

Umbrella policies were originally designed for the very rich, who might have oversized liability claims thrown at them. But court awards have been inching up, and even individuals earning $15,000 need this extra coverage.

Personal umbrella policies provide extra coverage over your regular insurance. That insurance, in turn, is the "deductible" figured in planning the umbrella, and the "basic" insurance has to be fairly extensive.

Most policies are written to limits of $1 million to $10 million with most set at a $5 million maximum.

Let us open an umbrella over you — it's like putting away money for a rainy day. See from the BOOKSHELF

New books available in the public library this week are:

IN NOVI ADULT FICTION
"Oil," Jonathan Black; A novel about an independent oil millionaire and his rise to riches. The oil background is very good. Book includes what some do to get oil, what some do to hold the power and the profit it brings.

"The General," Stephan Longstreet; Simon Bolivar Copperwood is the general. This novel takes him from his boyhood Montana to West Point and on through the wars of the 20th Century: World War I, China, World War II, Korea and Vietnam. It also chronicles his three marriages. Copperwood is a military man who behaves heroically in action, has a natural sense of command and yet deep within is opposed to war.

"In Their Wisdom," C. P. Snow; The author tells the story of an epic struggle, in and out of court, over a contested will. The narrative moves against the background of a time of crisis in England today. A self-made millionaire causes the dispute over the Massie will to escalate so that it reaches into the establishment life of the nation. The author takes the story from the courtroom to the House of Lords, to an elaborate dinner party and to a graphically described surgical operation.

"Minding the Store," Stanley Marcus; In his own lively fashion, the author unfolds the story of Nieman-Marcus, its legendary success and the education of the man behind it. Set against the background of the boom and bust years of Texas, "Minding the Store" recreates the personalities and decisions that have expanded a once modest "specialty shop" into one of the most fabulous retail operations in the world.

They Spend Week Outdoors

Sixth Graders Switch Classrooms

By NANCY DINGELDEY

"Having fun but learning, too," is an experience for every sixth grade youngster in the Walled Lake school district—at least for one week. And for those students at Wixom Elementary, last week was "their" week.

As a part of the sixth grade curriculum, classes are removed from the school proper and transported to the Outdoor Education Center on Sleeth Road in Commerce Township. During this one week period, the students devote their time to studies of nature and her ways.

Instead of mathematics and history, there are classes on biology, animal life, soil and water conservation. Rifle, art and astrology take precedence with a trip to the gravel pit a never-ending source of great

It is a living experience as dormitories house the youngsters and all meals are taken at the Center. They learn housekeeping and regarding the safety of others. Students pitch in and help develop foot trails, clear new sites and construct footbridges so that the next group of campers can enjoy even more of the Center. They learn that even sharing can be fun as well as work.

Regular classroom teachers accompany the students to camp with school principals obligated to spend two days at the area. They all teach nature-related studies. Along with Barbara Garbutt, the Center's director, the full time staff includes two teachers that spend the entire week with each camping session, two cooks and a caretaker.

For several weeks prior to the actual camping experience, teachers prepare their students with classroom studies on nature. They learn to use microscopes, make slides and identify the trees of Michigan. They also learn that the science room at the Center houses among other things, a cage of white mice and the director's friend, "Moa the Boa".

The Outdoor Education program has been in existence in the district since 1956 with Ethel Mugler, then principal of Wixom School, and William Doggett, the prime leaders in the plan. Both are still active in the Center.

The facilities at the Proud Lake Recreation area were used until the elementary schools outnumbered the nine weeks allotted to Walled Lake. The decision was made to purchase property and in 1972, the Center was built on 11 acres directly adjoining Proud Lake. It became one of two such Outdoor Centers owned and operated by a School District in the State. The other is located in Battle Creek.

A 100 year old bell from the Old Commerce School marks the entrance to the Center and is still used to call the students together.

Weather is never a deterrent to learning about nature. Asked why Wixom chose this time of year to attend camp, Principal Don Lamb answered at a pre-camp session held for parents, "It is, we believe, one of the most stable seasons of the year and it affords the students the opportunity to view nature at a time when most think it is non-existent."

"So true," claimed Ms. Garbutt. "We observe tracks, buds on trees, and pond life. It's amazing what is living in a pond this time of year." In addition to their studies, students have free time when they can go sledding or ice skating.

Evening hours at the Center find special speakers who come out to discuss wildlife and outdoor safety. The Wixom police put on such a program as well as a musical evening provided by Andy Vermiglio, the stringed instruments instructor of the district. And on one evening, the students enjoyed a trek into the deep woods for a "hoot in". A lecturer from Cranbrook delved into the ways and sounds of the various owls in the area before going into the woods.

Tapes of the owl calls are played "and if the kids are absolutely still, our real live friends will answer back. It's really fun and the kids love it," laughed Ms. Garbutt.

As the Center's director, Garbutt says she has the world's greatest job even if the hours are from 7 a.m. until 11 p.m. when campers are there.

Wixom Coed Finalist in Competition

A Wixom co-op student who attends Walled Lake Western, Mary Capoccia, was recently named one of seven finalists in a Personal Interview competition sponsored by Executive Secretaries, Inc. and Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Miss Capoccia is president of the Walled Lake Western Business and Office Education Club and is employed on a co-op basis by Laich Equipment Co., Inc. in Wixom.

The contest, which included participants from 125 schools, was arranged to recognize outstanding senior students and to encourage them to make a career in secretarial work. It consisted of five minute interviews with the four judges.

SPORT FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW THAT

Here's a baseball riddle you can have some fun with...How can a team get three triples and three singles in one inning, and still not score a run?...Answer: First two men triple and are out at the plate trying for an inside-the-park homer...Next man triples and stays at third...Next two men get infield singles with the runner holding third...Last man smacks a ground ball that hits runner going from first to second...Batter gets credit for a hit, but runner is out, making three triples, three singles, three outs...and no runs!

Did you know there used to be big league baseball teams with the nicknames of "Spiders", "Bees" and "Blue Jays"?...Do you know which teams had these names?...The "Spiders" was the early nickname for Cleveland's team...The "Bees" were known as the "Phillies" changed their name to "Blue Jays" at one time in the 1940's.

Do you have any idea what was the smallest city ever to have a big league baseball team?...Answer is Troy, N.Y....Troy was in the National League from 1879 to 1882.

I bet you didn't know...that oil changes, tune-ups and many other services were available at the Uniroyal Dunlap Tire store...

Tips on Real Estate

INFLATION AND YOU
The "U.S. League of Saving Associations" has completed a study that reveals the following: Our annual rate of inflation between September, 1973 and September, 1974 was 12.1 per cent as measured by the Consumer Price Index. Continuing at the same pace for the next 10 years, in 1984 it will take $3,137 to buy what one can buy today for $1. Using that figure, anyone who buys a house today for $40,000 should be able to resell it 10 years later for $125,000. The person renting an apartment today for $300 could expect to pay $940 per month in 1984. The person who owns a few rental properties would be able to retire on rental income with more security than he would on a regular pension because rental income will rise with inflation and the person who retires today on a pension of $1,000 per month would have a purchasing power of only $319 by 1984.

And a man who dies in 1984 leaving a house that he bought this year for $40,000 will be providing his family with much more security than one who leaves behind a $40,000 insurance policy because its purchasing power will have dwindled to $12,764 by 1984.
