

Two Buildings Routed for Move to Mill Race Village

Two vintage buildings now are on skids and about to be moved to the Mill Race Historical Village on Griswold Street.

"The exact moving date depends on the weather," James B. Harris, Northville Historical Society president, explained as he detailed moving arrangements last weekend.

Joining the Yerkes house, the large Victorian home on Cady Street, in the Mill Race will be the Wash-Oak school, donated to the society last year.

In recent weeks the society has been concentrating its efforts on moving the Cady Street house. Its carriage house already is moved and in place at the Mill Race.

Impetus to speed arrangements on the Wash-Oak school moving and reconstruction came earlier this month when Northville Mothers' Club at its May 5 meeting voted to make helping with the restoration of the 102-year-old school its project for the Bicentennial year.

In announcing its decision to aid in the restoration of the one-room school, Northville Mothers' Club stated it feels the restoration will have long-lasting benefits to children of the community.

When restored, the historical society plans to work with the Northville school district to have children and their teachers hold classes in the school in the manner of 100 years ago.

Mrs. E. O. Weber, Mothers' Club president, stated last weekend that the club is ready to donate $1,000 as soon as the money is needed to build a foundation for the school at the Mill Race.

"I'm delighted to have this as our project, especially for the Bicentennial year," Mrs. Weber commented as she, Mrs. Martin Rinehart, incoming president, and Mrs. Kalin Johnson, new vice president, took an inspection tour with Harris.

The educational potential of the school also drew praise from Raymond Spear, Northville superintendent of schools, as he cited the school as a "potential extension of our own educational process," stating that he is excited about the plans for the school and has indicated to the historical society that the school district would like to be involved in the restoration.

Built in 1873, the Wash-Oak school closed its door on the last classes almost nine years ago as the district voted to become part of the South Lyon system. It is located in Salem Township and drew children from both Washtenaw and Oakland counties, hence its name.

With the closing of the school in 1966, it and the property reverted to private ownership under terms of the original grant from the Waterman and Deake families. This was not the original school on the property as it replaced a school that burned to the ground in 1870.

In 1966 it reverted to ownership of the Rodamsky family (through the Waterman grant) and W. C. Stooks (through the Deakes). The school and property were purchased by Mr. and Mrs. George Rigby, then Northville residents of King's Mill. When they moved to Cleveland as he assumed the

MAYORS EXCHANGE DAY—Despite a problem with a stubborn rope mechanism, VFW and American Legion representatives finally hoisted Old Glory and the community's Bicentennial flag as members of the Mayors Exchange Day party looked on at the left. Nearby on the Mill Race Historical Village site, the Northville High School Band, under the direction of Robert Williams, played the National Anthem

Monday morning. Among those present for the festivities were Chelsea's Village President and Mrs. Harold Pennington. Chelsea Councilman and Mrs. Thomas Dmoch; Northville Mayor Protem and Mrs. Paul Vernon, Northville Councilman and Mrs. Paul Polino, City Manager Steven Walters, and Michigan Week Chairman Mrs. Robert Brueck.

Parade Kicks Off Memorial Salute

"Let's Be Counted Again" will be the theme stressed during Northville's 107th consecutive Memorial Day parade on May 26.

The event, which is jointly sponsored by the city's Lloyd

H. Green American Legion Post 147 and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012, will be hosted by the American Legion this year.

"We want to revive interest in veterans' organizations," said Edward Oliver, adjutant to the parade committee.

Various groups will also participate. The Women's auxiliaries of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will march behind the fire salute

Northville High's band, led by director Robert Williams, will follow. The city and township police will also be represented. The mayor, city

Violations Bureau Eyed By Council

If Northville City Council has its way a violations bureau will be established here to deal more expeditiously with those who disobey ordinances.

Paper framework for the bureau has been prepared by City Manager Steven Walters and referred to the city attorney, Philip Ogilvie, for a legal review and interpretation.

Council members have strongly supported the concept, noting that under the present system prosecuting ordinance violators, such as those who refuse to clean their walks of snow, is more costly than the fine that may be handed down by the district judge.

More significantly, the court procedure seems too harsh a step to deal with some relatively minor violations, officials have stated. And yet,

'Sweeper Man' Wins Ely Award

Northville's "sweeper man," as neighborhood children affectionately call Horace Aenchbacher, has been presented the coveted Claude N Ely Memorial Fund Award.

The department of public works employee, who will retire July 4 after 19 years with the city, was presented the award during a Michigan Week program hosted by the Northville Rotary Club Monday noon.

Although he has worked in virtually every capacity for the DPW, Aenchbacher, 65, is best known as the operator of the department's street sweeping machine. He was accompanied to Monday's luncheon program by his boss, DPW Superintendent Bud Hartner.

Aenchbacher also is a volunteer fireman. Making the presentation was School Superintendent Raymond Spear, one of the members of the Claude N Ely foundation. The award was set up in memory of the late Mayor Ely to honor citizens of Northville who distinguish themselves in service to the community.

Others of the Ely Award foundation are Mayor A. M. Allen, John Canterbury and A. Russell Clarke.

Prior to joining the DPW, Aenchbacher had worked for several years at Maybury Sanatorium, in the auto industry, and as a foreman at the old foundry formerly located on Cady Street.

A resident of Northville since 1943, he and his wife live at 425 Yerkes Street. They have four children and six grandchildren. Following his retirement, the Aenchbachers will sell their home here and return to Georgia where he was born and raised.

Last year two Northville residents received the Ely award. They are Leslie Lee and Mrs. Harry Wagenschütz. The award carries with it a $100 stipend.

NEWS BRIEFS

NEGOTIATIONS between the Northville school district and Northville Education Association have received a two-week delay in the previously announced time schedule. Board President Martin Rinehart said that "We were set up to respond to the NEA package by May 8 but they placed demands for language changes in 61 areas. We will return with our package by May 22."

CANDIDATES for school board elections June 9 will be available to talk with interested citizens at an informal coffee at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 28, in the old library building in the Mill Race Village. Four candidates for two vacancies on the Northville board are John R. Berry, Ralph Hay, Dr. Robert Mandell and incumbent John Hobart. Schoolcraft College candidates for two vacancies are Ronald Codden, Harry Greenleaf, Robert Cadotte, Mark McQuesten, Richard J. Hayward and Jerome Harris, all of Livonia. The League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Nowi is sponsoring the coffee and hopes for a good turn-out.

3-Car Crash Ends Robbery Attempt

Five persons were injured, including a girl who remains hospitalized with burns over 40 percent of her body, when a South Lyon man wanted for questioning in an attempted armed robbery and pistol-whipping crashed his car into two cars.

The accident took place about 10 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of Hines Drive, Northville Road and Five Mile.

Arrested on charges of assault with intent to commit armed robbery was Frank John Kotyuk, 23, of South Lyon. He was arraigned on the charges Tuesday, stood mute and a plea of not guilty entered on his behalf. He is being held in lieu of $100,000 bond and examination is set for May 29.

The bizarre incident reportedly began at Beer Hill in Hines Park where Kotyuk picked up a hitchhiker.

Northville Township Patrolman Philip Presnell said he was responding to another call when he was flagged down at Six Mile and Hines Drive by a man who was bleeding from head wounds.

The man, later identified as William John Walker, 18, of Plymouth, told Officer Presnell another man had tried to rob him at gunpoint and pistol-whipped him before Walker was able to jump out of the convertible.

Walker pointed out the suspect's car to Presnell and as Presnell walked toward the car, later identified as Kotyuk's, Kotyuk sped off. Presnell gave pursuit south on Hines Drive with speeds of 70 to 80 mph reached.

At the intersection of Hines, Northville Road and Five Mile, Kotyuk's car first sideswiped the northbound car of Donna and Denise Farkas of Ridge Road. Both girls received minor injuries.

His car then reportedly crashed into the left rear of a southbound car driven by Brenda Nunez, 22, of Dearborn, which exploded on impact. Her car was stopped on Hines Drive when struck.

Presnell had to cut her seat belt off to remove her from the car and Kotyuk was apprehended as he tried to flee on foot.

Kotyuk, also taken to Botsford, refused medical treatment, police said.

According to township reports, the incident began at

News Around Northville

Mrs. Sue Anger is taking over as president of the Friends of Northville Library, replacing Mrs. Susan Zikmund.

Other new officers are Mrs. Karen Sutherland, secretary; Mrs. Carol Halverson, treasurer; Mrs. Rita Gordon, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Jackie Riddell and Mrs. Mary Carullo, program committee chairmen.

Dr. Phillip M. Rennick, chief of psychology and neuropsychology at Lafayette Clinic in Detroit, will be guest speaker at the final meeting of the 1974-75 year for the Plymouth-Northville chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

He is to speak at 7:30 p.m. today, May 21, at Plymouth Pioneer Middle School on "Nature of the Visual, Perceptual Deficit in Children with Learning Disabilities." Dr. Rennick has been with Lafayette Clinic eight years and specializes in neuropsychology. He formerly was associated with the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kansas.

Interested parents and teachers are welcome.

Novi-Northville chapter of Parents Without Partners, which now numbers more than 60 at its monthly meetings, will hear a talk on mental illness at its meeting at 8 p.m. this Friday at the American Legion building, 100 West Dunlap Street at Center, Northville.

Dr. D. S. Nair, a National Board Certified Psychologist in private practice in the area, will speak on "The Role in Psychiatry of the M.D. in the treatment of Mental Illness."

The chapter recently moved its meeting place to the American Legion building to accommodate larger attendance. Dancing and refreshments will follow the program.

Trustee Karen Wilkinson was named delegate to represent Northville School Board at the June 2 Wayne County Intermediate School District Board Election.

Serving as alternates will be Board President Martin Rinehart and Trustee Sylvia Gucken.

"Special Education Teachers — Their Role with Emotionally Disturbed Children in Public School" will be the topic to be discussed by three educators at the May meeting of the Hawthorn Chapter, Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children, at 8 p.m. today at Hawthorn Center.

Speakers will be Carl Bovee, principal of Cass Elementary in Livonia; Dennis Colligan, special education teacher at Northville Middle School; and Miss Rosemary Sheppard, Northville elementary teacher consultant.

Announce Sons' Births

Birth of their second son, Kenneth William, May 16 at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Russell N. Stroud of 22687 Heatherbrae, Novi.

The baby weighed six pounds, three and a half ounces and joins a brother, Russell N. Stroud II, at home. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Stroud of Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Commons of Grayling. The baby also has two great-grandmothers, Mrs. Chris Nielson of Flint, paternal great-grandmother, and Mrs. Ellen Rife of Birmingham, maternal great-grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. George Petrosky of Brighton announce the birth of their first son May 12 in McPherson Community Health Center in Howell.

The baby weighed seven pounds, four ounces and was named George Merwin for his maternal grandfather. Mrs. Petrosky is the former Vicki Merwin of Northville.

The baby is the first grandson of Paul Petrosky, paternal grandfather. He and the George Merwins are Northville residents.

New York Playwright Visits Mother-of-Six

By JEAN DAY

ENTERTAINING a celebrity isn't difficult if it's a childhood friend with whom you grew up. In fact, Iris (Mrs. Daniel) Antuna of 1131 Jeffrey Drive looks upon the periodic visits of New York playwright Mick Daugherty as a "tickle."

"It really tickled me to death," she commented as he visited last week, "to have him ask me — a 40-year-old mother of six kids — about rewriting the ending of 'Honey,' which he is doing for Hal Prince."

She explained that she and Melvin Daugherty (whom she still calls "Mel" rather than "Mick") grew up together in Dearborn and have kept in touch throughout the years when he returns to visit his mother there.

Daugherty wrote the original script for "Time Tunnel," she recalled and noted that he has written for Tony Curtis and Mickey Rooney and twice won the Golden Writing Award.

Both she and Daugherty wrote as young teen-agers, she remembered, and had poems printed in The Detroit News. Mrs. Antuna went on to become an x-ray technician while he received his B.A. degree from Wayne State University and his M.A. from University of California at Los Angeles.

The "Honey" revamping, Mrs. Antuna revealed, will give the play a comedy ending.

She also mentioned Daugherty's new play, "Don't Call Us," which, she said, deals with the drug culture, actors and rich girls on the fringe of it in a California canyon. "They're mechanical people," she observed.

"Mel finds it fascinating to contrast his life with our suburban one," Iris Antuna continued, adding that her children enjoy his visits every other year or so.

"It spells out to all my children that it's not all glamour, that there's misery and hard work and it's not the money-making life that it's thought to be. Even though he may have a Mercedes and big house and sailboat when things are going for him, they are only temporary."

"He says he's going to write about me and happenings with my six kids," she laughed after his visit last week.

He was leaving for New York and West Virginia and then was to go on to Ireland and Holland.

TANNED AND RESTED, Rena (Mrs. Charles) Smith is back from her third annual visit to Rancho LaPuerta in Tecate, Mexico, a health ranch. She was accompanied this trip by Barbara (Mrs. William) VanBuren. They flew to San Diego where they were picked up by a driver from the ranch, located in the mountains of Baja, California.

"It's a fun place," she remarks, "to get away for a couple of weeks." Mrs. Smith says she meets women from Chicago, Texas, the West Coast and even a few from the east.

After their return, Mrs. Smith received a call last weekend from daughter Lori, a freshmen at Michigan State University, telling her parents that her sorority, Kappa Delta, had just come in first in the Panhellenic Sing, a campus tradition. Singing with them was Scott Evans and other members of Sigma Chi.

Northville coed, Pam Palarchio, pledged Kappa Delta this term. Nancy Ambler is another Northville girl in the sorority.

TWO QUESTER groups are meeting this week. Silver Spring Questers have been invited to the new home of Mrs. Fred Schwarze, a former Northville resident who moved to the Chelsea area, today for lunch. The hostess will give a study paper on Centennial Farms. Last month flags were the program topic as the group entertained husbands at a potluck dinner April 16 at the home of Mrs. James Hayward.

Members of Base Line Questers will come to their meeting at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Beck Road home of Mrs. Robert Greer carrying donations of antiques for the annual silent auction to raise funds for the Mill Race restoration.

It will be the annual meeting with Dorothy Greer presenting a paper on Bennington ware.

SEVENTEEN members of the Northville Town Hall Committee moved their May meeting to Ann Arbor last week Tuesday to have lunch with Miss Ruth Knapp, a former Northville resident and committee member, and Mrs. C. C. Teasel, also a former Northville resident and faithful TH ticketholder.

Both now live at the Lutheran Retirement Center where the committee members lunched and had a short informal meeting. "It's elegant with breathtaking decorating," reports Mrs. Jack Doheny, past TH chairman. She mentions the center's crystal chandeliers and color-coordinated floors.

"THEY'RE MORE THAN gracious," commented Mrs. Kathleen Keegan, activities director of Beverly Manor Convalescent Center on Meadowbrook Road, telling about the welcome the center's residents receive on monthly outings to the Pepper Tree Restaurant on Novi Road.

Last Tuesday, she said, was about the fourth time the restaurant, had helped about 25 to 30 residents of the center, including some in wheelchairs, to have lunch there. They give residents a 10 percent discount, Mrs. Keegan noted, "even though it's really an inconvenience to have us...The waitresses are especially patient as diners order what they wish from the menu and pay individually."

The group goes early, though, about 11 a.m., and has help from off-duty nurses and volunteers.

Food Co-op Changes Date

Starting June 5, the Senior Citizens' Multi-Purpose Center Food Cooperative, in Walled Lake will operate every two weeks.

George Johns, a member of the board of directors, explained Monday that during June, July and August the food cooperative will be open only every other Thursday and won't be able to carry meat or cheese as there are no storage facilities.

Eggs, bread, vegetables and fruit will be sold, however, with meat and cheese again available in September.

D.R. Simpson Wed in North

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS RANDALL SIMPSON

Douglas Randall Simpson, a former Northville resident, claimed Kimberly Rae Rowe as his bride in a 7 p.m. ceremony May 3 in Aldersgate Methodist Church in Midland.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G.D. Simpson, were longtime residents of Northville and now make their home at 1123 Holyrood Street in Midland.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Betty Rowe of Midland. She also is the daughter of the late Ray Rowe.

The Reverend Zack Clayton officiated at the double-ring service. "Sunrise, Sunset" and "The Wedding Song" were sung by Kathy Behr and Phil Devet, who also accompanied on his guitar.

The bride's gown of white Quiana knit was fashioned simply with long sleeves and high neckline with lace accents. She wore a full-length veil of illusion and carried a nosegay of white roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Kriss Papendick wore a misty sea-spray aqua Quiana gown as matron of honor and carried a bouquet of three yellow roses and pale aqua baby's breath.

Mrs. John Blanck and Kathy Simpson, the bridegroom's sister and a graduate of Grace Hospital School of Nursing, were bridesmaids in gowns matching that of the matron of honor. Each carried three yellow roses.

Donald G. Sasse, Jr., was best man with Mark Murtha and Steve Kehrer ushering.

A reception followed in the Garden Room of the Midland Ramada Inn. Out-of-town guests attended from Northville and Detroit as well as from Charlevoix.

The bride received her B.A. degree from Grand Valley State College in Allendale. She is a Midland High School graduate and now is a travel agent for Lee Travel in Midland.

Her husband is a 1968 graduate of Northville High School and now is Midland Hospital electrician.

After a Northern Michigan wedding trip they are living in Midland.

ENTERTAINED AT 80—Listening to the Northville High School Choir at the 80th anniversary celebration of Mizpah Circle, King's Daughters, last Friday are, from left, Mrs. Harry B. White of Ann Arbor, K.D. state president; Miss Mildred Young, Mizpah president; Mrs. K. H. Babbitt, who gave the luncheon invocation; and Mrs. Clifford Rollings, Jr., program chairman of the day.

Mizpah Celebrates 80th Year

Formed just nine years after the King's Daughters organization itself came into being, Northville's Mizpah Circle, K. D., Friday celebrated its 80th anniversary at a luncheon for 80 members and guests at Northville Presbyterian Church.

The circle today has 80 members, coincidentally one for each year of its existence. It was organized with 10 members in 1895.

Those 10 women "who had faith to start" the service group dedicated to acts of help, kindness and love for the needy and aged were lauded by Mrs. Harry B. White, state president, of Ann Arbor, luncheon speaker. She was introduced by Mrs. Louise Cansfield, chairman for the day.

She also presented a citation from the International King's Daughters and Sons marking the milestone to Miss Mildred Young, Mizpah president.

A history of the circle was given by Mrs. Iris Litsenberger, a past president. Other past presidents who were at the luncheon were Mrs. Arlene Biery, Mrs. Lena Hammond, Mrs. Joan Dayton and Mrs. Cansfield. They were introduced by Miss Young who mentioned also Mrs. Carrie Taft. Mrs. Hazel Severance, Mrs. Nancy Walker and Mrs. Ada Bloom, past presidents unable to be on hand.

Three life members with more than 50 years of service were honored: Mrs. Ruth Starkweather, who has been a circle member 51 years and was present, Mrs. Anna Casterline and Mrs. Gertrude Yerkes.

Also honored were members with 30 or more years of service. They are Mrs. Emma Hamilton, Mrs. Bloom, Mrs. Averil Green, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Marie Congo, Mrs. Bina Litsenberger, Mrs. Emma Reed, Mrs. Cansfield, Mrs. Ruth Hoystradt, Mrs. Julia Mathison, Mrs. Amy Simons, Mrs. Doris Gates and Mrs. Iris Litsenberger (cited as a four-generation member of K.D. with a mother, daughter and grandchild all members).

Guests from other circles in the state were introduced. There now are 77 state chapters with 2,000 members.

Mrs. Marie Micle, chairman of K.D. projects at the Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor, was present as a special guest.

Mizpah Circle annually makes a monetary pledge to the hospital and gives toys and clothing. It also assists the K.D. home for the aged in Redford and Camp Missaukee at Lake City as well as supplying needy local families with Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets.

Mrs. Marge Bolton read a poem on "How It Feels To Be Eighty" and told members that "the future years can only be better and better."

A decorated birthday cake was served. It was the gift of Mrs. Mary Ware in memory of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ina Ware, a longtime K.D. worker.

The Northville High School Choir under the direction of Donald Renz presented a program of music.

Lawrence Tech Gives Degrees

Bachelor of Science degrees will be awarded for four area men who will be among 520 graduates of the Lawrence Institute of Technology at the 43rd annual commencement exercises Sunday, June 1, at 3 p.m. in Ford Auditorium, Detroit.

This is the largest graduating class in the history of the college.

James Pelachik, who is to receive a BS degree in industrial management, and his wife are residents of 18569 Jamestown Circle.

He is production manager of Adair Printing Company and also is employed by Real Estate One in Brighton.

Donald W. Gerber, who is a candidate for a BS degree in business administration, lives with his father, William Gerber, at 42043 Baintree Drive.

David W. O'Neill, also a candidate for a BS degree in business administration, lives at 23685 Stonehenge, Novi. A testing specialist with General Electric Company, he holds a BS degree in engineering physics from Michigan Technological University.

John L. McPherson, a candidate for a BS degree in electrical engineering, lives with his wife and family at 23920 East LeBost.

At the graduation, Dr. Perry E. Gresham, chairman of the board of trustees of Bethany College, West Virginia, will deliver the commencement address and receive an honorary doctor of business administration degree.

John L. Gaffney, president of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan, will receive an honorary doctor of humanities degree.

Elaine Wilson Bride Of C. D. Anderson

Elaine Ann Wilson became the bride of Christian Dale Anderson in a 2 p.m. ceremony Saturday, May 3, at South Lyon Assembly of God Church where both are active participants.

Pastor Daniel Kolenda officiated at the double-ring service.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wilson of 10385 West Seven Mile Road, Northville, was given in marriage by her father at the altar decorated with fireside baskets of white and yellow daisies and gladioli.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Anderson of Farmington Road, Livonia.

Carl Richards of Northville was organist. Jo-Ellen Ritenour, a former Northville resident now living in Flint, was soloist, singing, "We've Only Just Begun," for the couple.

The bride's floor-length gown of dotted swiss was edged with a ruffle. The bodice was fashioned with an Empire waistline and full, Gibson Girl sleeves. The mantilla veil of illusion was full-length.

She carried a colonial nosegay of yellow and white daisies with yellow sweetheart roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Stephen (Lucy) Burt, was matron of honor while another sister, Debbie Wilson, was bridesmaid.

They wore mint-green dotted swiss gowns with ruffled hemlines. The bodices were styled with lace bibs and full, Gibson Girl sleeves. They carried garden baskets of yellow and white daisies tied with yellow streamers.

Randy Anderson was best man for his brother, Mike Helfont ushered.

A reception for 125 guests followed at the South Lyon Woods clubhouse, with relatives and friends attending from Wisconsin, Connecticut and New York as well as from Michigan cities.

The couple now is living in Williamsburg Square Apartments in South Lyon after a wedding trip to Niagara Falls.

The bride, a 1971 Northville High School graduate, is employed as a teller at the State Savings Bank in South Lyon while her husband, a 1971 Stevenson High graduate, is employed by West Point Motor Supply Company in Farmington.

Amerman PTA to Host Appreciation Luncheon

Amerman PTA will host a salad luncheon for teachers on Wednesday, May 28. The luncheon is held in appreciation for the teachers' time and effort spent with the children at Amerman, PTA spokesmen said.

New officers elected by the PTA for the 1975-76 year include Ann Lauer, president; Diane Schrader, vice-president; Sandy House, recording secretary; Sue Rasmussen, corresponding secretary; and Joan Swanson, treasurer.

Also elected officers were Pat Laube, room mothers; Sue Anger, Cindy LaChance, social committee; Carol Sherry, junior entertainment series delegate; Barbara McLaughlin, library; and Marge Kucher, milk tickets.

Daley, Campbell Should Bury Hatchet

By BILL SLIGER
Record-News Publisher

Last week this newspaper reported details of a Novi council controversy involving Mayor Robert Daley and Councilman Louis Campbell.

In a nutshell the councilman hit the ceiling after the mayor called for a secret council session to question the possibility of conflict of interest on the part of Campbell.

The mayor produced official minutes of council meetings along with a list of contributors to Campbell's unsuccessful primary campaign for state representative to point out that the councilman had voted on issues involving citizens or businesses who had contributed to his campaign.

The Novi News can report reliably that the mayor alone was responsible for the inquiry.

We think his action was ill-advised, but it can be explained this way:

Mayor Daley is tormented and frustrated by the firm conviction that the city of Novi needs more tax dollars to provide basic and essential governmental services.

He is convinced that Councilman Campbell is the darling of the community's business interests, namely the chamber of commerce. He cannot understand the chamber's opposition to millage requests that he, the mayor, believes to be absolutely essential to the welfare of the community and local business and industry in the form of adequate police and fire services, as well as other important departmental agencies.

So the mayor examined Campbell's supporters. He concedes that most of the contributions were minor, not enough to suggest any conflict of interest. But in one or two instances, he suggests, the contributions were of some significance and so were the questions before the council involving these contributors.

He maintains that Campbell should have disqualified himself from voting on issues involving citizens or businesses previously having made larger contributions to his campaign, or from later soliciting contributions from sources that he had earlier supported by his votes at the council table.

In his vigor to reveal Campbell as a spokesman for business the mayor asked the city attorney to

The Novi News incorrectly stated last week that Rich Sullivan Company had made two contributions of $100 each to the Campbell campaign. Actually, the company made a third contribution of $345.90. It was properly recorded on Campbell's filed account but missed by the newspaper. In addition to seeking the splitting of a lot, the company also sought rezoning from M-3 to M-1, an upgrading in zoning, and won council approval.

privately investigate the possibility of conflict. The city attorney stated that any such request must come from the council. So Mayor Daley maintains he acted on advice of the city attorney and sought to keep the inquiry secret. He contends if the council had approved, the city attorney could have examined the instances and determined whether any impropriety existed without the matter becoming public.

Councilman Campbell stormed at the suggestion. And he demanded that the issue be made public and all allegations turned over to the state attorney general's office for examination.

So Novi, needing desperately to get itself

GOVERNMENT DAY—Novi officials showed more than a dozen students around the city during government day after the high school students chose classmates as counterparts to city officials. Looking over the Dayton-Hudson Shopping Center site are

Mayor Daley Announces He Will Not Run Again

Robert Daley—the man who was elected mayor of Novi in a landslide vote two years ago—admitted last week that he has “become totally ineffective on the council” and will not seek re-election in the November general election.

In an interview with The Novi News, Daley cited family considerations as well as polarization of the council for his decision not to seek re-election to a second term. Main reason for the decision is that “it takes a tremendous amount of time away from my family,” said Daley. “The question is if it’s justified. At this point, the answer is a definite no. I can’t say the benefit to the city has offset the loss to my family...”

He said his decision not to run was reached months ago and was not related to the current controversy with Councilman Louis Campbell. (See editorial on this page).

“Because it has been suggested that my action in the Campbell issue was taken for personal political reasons, I decided to make my future intentions regarding the mayor’s position known now,” Mayor Daley told The Novi News.

Though he had decided previously not to run, Daley stated that “the only thing that might have dissuaded me was if the latest millage had gone through.”

Daley charged that the present council “is polarized, paralyzed and useless.”

“The latest situation is the worst. This election is absolutely stupid,” said Daley, referring to an election which will be held later this year to fill a council vacancy. The election was required by Charter as a result of council inability to choose a successor within the 60-day limit which passed May 16.

The council has voted 29 times but has been unable to agree upon a replacement on the council for George Athas, who resigned in February. Martha Hoyer and Mabel Ash split the six council votes cast in most of the ballots. Daley said he has been unwilling vote for Mrs. Hoyer because he felt she was too closely aligned with Councilman Campbell.

Daley said he would have

Interchange Named Number 1 Priority

Renovation of the I-96 interchange at Novi Road has become the number one priority of the Michigan State Highway Department and a preliminary plan presented to the Novi School District would call for the purchase and removal of Novi Elementary if adopted.

Presented as an informational item at the Novi School Board meeting last Thursday, the matter was discussed previously with Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz and Assistant Superintendent Dr. William Barr by two route location engineers.

The plan calls for widening of the bridge to seven lanes and use of cloverleafs for entrances of northbound traffic onto westbound I-96 and southbound traffic onto eastbound I-96. In addition, 10 degree curves would be used for northbound drivers wishing to enter eastbound I-96 and southbound drivers going onto westbound I-96.

If the Highway Department should decide to go with the preliminary plan, right of way property required for the northbound approach to eastbound I-96 would require removal of the school and connected community building.

In addition, five gas stations and at least one home would have to be purchased by the state highway department for the project.

One governmental body cannot condemn the property of another governmental body which means that the school

Board Approves 3 Year Pact

Teachers Refuse To Ratify Contract

A potential three-year labor pact between Novi teachers and the board of education is tangled in disagreement this week.

Following unusually swift approval of a proposed new contract by the board of education Thursday, the Novi Education Association “voted overwhelmingly” against ratification that same evening.

Ratification would have meant major settlement weeks before the end of the current school year — something that rarely has occurred in the state since labor negotiations for teachers began more than a decade ago.

Despite the teachers’ rejection, NEA President Carol Smith remained optimistic that a settlement will be reached soon.

However, reconsideration of elements of the proposed new contract is not likely to be greeted with much enthusiasm by board members. In fact, there were indications at last week’s board meeting that some members may not be prepared to make any additional economic or non-economic concessions. In fact, one member — Laverne DeWard — felt the board already had gone too far in salary increases and he cast the lone dissenting vote.

Without making public disclosure of the reasons for the teachers’ rejection, Mrs. Smith said simply that the big hangup is over non-economic measures.

She said the teachers’ objections were to be “reduced to writing” and presented to the NEA’s negotiating team for reintroduction to the bargaining table. Teachers met Thursday at Village Oaks Elementary School, heard a review of the tentative pact led by the teachers’ chief negotiator, Norman Norgren, and then voted not to ratify about 11 p.m.

About the same time the board of education, following a brief executive session to review the proposal, voted 6-1 to approve the contract — one of few three-year teacher labor pacts ever reached in Michigan.

Most board members echoed the observation of President Robert Wilkins, who hailed the tentative contract as “fair and equitable.” He said it reflected “enlightened responsibility” of teachers.

Trustee Joel Colliau called it a “good contract for both sides.” He agreed with others who said teachers in Novi are now very well paid. Trustee James Helmer labeled it “a good contract for teachers,” adding that he could not agree

Wixom Council Eyes City Hall Sketches

Architects Winebrenner and Ebejer last week presented the Wixom council with complete drawings and renderings of the proposed $573,000 Wixom city hall addition and renovation.

The plans, which council indicated informally were quite satisfactory, show the addition being added to the rear of the present city hall with portable partitions in many areas to allow maximum flexibility of use for the structure.

According to architect Ron Winebrenner, the addition should be constructed initially with the renovation of the current building later to allow employees the additional space where they could work during the renovation.

Council so far has not given the go ahead on the structure. Next step would be preparation of the engineer’s plans or working drawings and the council could go out for bids as soon as 3-5 months down the road. However, council indicated fear of proceeding with the project before the new council is elected in November.

Bills for preliminary expenditures on the work have come out of revenue sharing.

“You do have an investment in this,” said Architect Winebrenner. “You must decide if you want to go with this design.”

In a sheet handed out to the council in the special study session last week, the architects named numerous problems that their particular plan will solve.

Among the problems dealt with in the present city hall structure are eliminating the potentially dangerous roofing situation and relieving the existing, unzoned, uncontrolled heating, ventilating and air conditioning of the building and to provide a return air system conducive to efficient fuel consumption.

The renovation of the present structure is intended to:

1. maximize the use of the existing building area and to create a more flexible space for future needs and changes;
2. departmentalize existing functions of the city hall and to create interchangeable spaces within this area for peak employment needs such as tax periods and election periods;
3. create more storage space;
4. create private conference space within this area which is flexible to house future or

Announce Parade Plans

Participants in Novi's Memorial Day Parade, sponsored by the Novi Jaycees and Auxiliary, will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the field across the street from the old cemetery near the railroad tracks on Novi Road.

Any person or group interested in being in the parade should call Candy Creighton at 349-5251.

CONCERT-IN-THE-SQUARE — Northville High School Band under the direction of Robert Williams presents a spring concert in Northville Square as part of National Music

Week celebration a week ago Tuesday. The school bands have been performing also during Michigan Week and will march in the Memorial Day parade Monday.

STREET DANCE—One of the most colorful events staged during Michigan Week occurred Saturday afternoon right out on Main Street. A square dance was staged there, in front of the Northville Square, as part of the opening day festivities. Earlier, a street washing by firemen, band parade and flag raising at city hall, display of a Crime Prevention Show on Wheels exhibit, distribution of Michigan Week material by Girl Scouts, and landscaping got the week off to a flying start.

ACTIVE BANDS—Northville's colorful bands had a busy long weekend Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Saturday morning they paraded (left) through downtown Northville to take part in the flag raising ceremony at the city hall, Sunday afternoon the junior high band played for the school dedication program, and then Monday morning the marching band paraded to the Mill Race Historical Village to provide the music for the Mayors Exchange Day festivities.

THE WINNERS—On hand Monday noon to receive awards for beautification of their business places was this host of Northville citizens. The occasion was the annual Michigan Week Mayor's Exchange luncheon hosted by the Rotary club. Awarded, too, was the Claude N. Ely Award for community service. Pictured (front row, l. to r.) are: Dennis Roux, Northville Professional Center; James Ella Witherspoon of the Northville Post Office; Charles Lapham of Lapham's; Mayor Protom Paul Vernon and Horace Aenchbacher, recipient of the Ely Award; Bishera Aown, manager of The Drawbridge; Russell Amerman for Amerman Elementary School; the Reverend Lloyd Brasure for the First Presbyterian church; (back row) Mr. and Mrs. Howard Green of Green's Paint & Wallpaper; Helene Martin of Detroit Federal Savings & Loan; Dewey Gardner, IV Seasons; Bill Asher of Asher's Union 76 Station; Manager Steve Walters for the city of Northville; John Croble for Michigan Bell; Dave O'Brien of Chatham Foods; and Art Radford for the Northville Square building.

Commission Honors 20 For Beautification Work

Twenty businesses and service facilities were awarded Northville Beautification Commission certificates Monday at the Northville Rotary Club's Michigan Week program.

Announcement of the winning firms and agencies was made by Rotarian Paul Vernon, councilman and chairman of the Beautification Commission.

The certificates commend the establishments for their efforts to improve and sustain the appearance of their buildings and thus "help keep Northville beautiful."

One of the winners, Cutler Realty of 103-105 Rayson, was a second year recipient in the business-landscaped division.

No winners were named this year in the industrial division.

Here are the other winners by category:

Business landscaped—Burger Chef, 401 North Center; Chatham Grocery, 425 North Center; Detroit Federal Savings & Loan, 200 North Center; Drawbridge Restaurant, 145 North Center; Michigan Bell Telephone, 1045 North Center; Dr. J. Mohtadi, 302 West Main; Northville Square, 133 West Main; The Owl and The Wheel, 372 West Main; Northville Professional Center, 418 North Center.

Business sidewalk front—IV Seasons Flowers and Gifts, 149 East Main; Green's Paint and Wallpaper, 107 North Center; Lapham's Men's Shop, 120 East Main; John Mach Ford Sale, Inc.; Schrader's Home Furnishings, 111 North Center.

Auto service—Asher 76 Service, 357 South Rogers.

Special category—Amerman Elementary School, 847 North Center; First Presbyterian Church, 200 East Main; United States Post Office, 200 South Main; and Northville City Hall, 215 West Main.

Auto service businesses were judged on the basis of cleanliness of the lot, window appearance, sanitation of restrooms, and attractiveness of landscaping.

Other businesses and agencies were judged on overall appearance, condition of paint, siding, trim, etc., attractiveness of windows (uncluttered), well designed entrances and exits, appropriateness and condition of business signs, attractiveness of landscaping, condition of pavements, drives, parking, and sanitation of property.

A commission committee inspecting businesses used a point system grading system in making the final selections, according to Chairman Vernon.

Representatives of most of the winning establishments were on hand at the Rotary luncheon program to accept their awards. The certificates were framed.

In Summer

The Southwest Oakland Vocational Education Center will host both vocational and academic classes this summer between June 23 and August 1.

The academic courses, which are offered by the Walled Lake School District, are Developmental Reading, Language Arts, Mathematics, and Social Studies (American History, World History and Government). All classes will be held between 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. unless the number of students makes two sections necessary. In that case, a second session will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Each two hour course will earn the student 1/2 credit. The fee per course is $25.

In addition, all 16 programs at SVOVEC will be offered if there is sufficient interest to fill the class. Classes will run from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Completion of the course will earn the student one credit. The program is free to any junior or senior student, and to graduates who are not yet 18 years old on June 23, 1975.

Students should enroll for both types of courses through their home school until June 12.

Summer Classes Focus on Interests

"Summer school programs will be exciting," promises Assistant Superintendent of Schools Florence Panattoni as Northville begins registration for two summer programs.

Moraine Elementary School will be the location of programs of first through fifth graders and Cooke Middle School will have classes for sixth through eighth graders. The programs begin Monday, June 23, and run through July 25.

Registration of students must be completed by Friday, June 30, and those interested should contact Miss Panattoni at 349-3400, extension 212.

Both the elementary and middle school programs will be completely individualized with emphasis on each student's needs or interests, the assistant superintendent pointed out.

"At the elementary level, additional help in reading and math will be the focus of attention. If your child's interest lies in exploring science in greater depth, composing stories or poetry, his interests will be met," she noted.

At the middle school level, the school district will offer a reading lab program, math, science, writing and an English program if there is enough interest.

Since the program must be self-supporting, the actual scheduling will depend on the number of students who enroll, Miss Panattoni added. Tuition fee per pupil for two hours of instruction for the five-week session is $30. Programs begin at 8:30 and end at 10:30 a.m. and transportation must be provided by parents.

Spontaneous Wash-Down

It was hard to tell who soaked up most of the water — firemen or downtown Main and Center streets early Saturday morning. It was the annual wash-down of the two streets by Northville firemen to launch Michigan

Week. As the pumpers and the firemen moved east on Main Street one squirt led to another until finally there wasn't a dry fireman in the bunch.

Stolen Ties Spell Trouble

C&O Railroad police are cracking down on railroad tie thefts.

According to Robert Radigan, C&O detective, people are selling stolen ties to homeowners for landscaping purposes.

"If homeowners are approached on a door-to-door basis to buy ties for $3 to $10 each, the ties are stolen," Radigan said and warned that people purchasing the ties face prosecution on charges of possession of stolen property.

The ties are being both stolen and sold in the Northville-Novi area.

He emphasizes that people should only buy ties from nurseries or lumber companies. Prices range from $17 to $20 each.

Radigan said the "railroad pays wholesale $10 or $12 per tie and we're losing many to people who are stealing them from the repair sites. We can identify the stolen ties," he added.

In addition to confiscating the railroad ties, C&O will prosecute and the buyers will also lose the money they paid for the ties.

Radigan asked that people who are approached to buy ties which they believe might be stolen contact the C&O Railroad police in Detroit at 842 5886.

Beautify Downtown Triangle

By NANCY DINGELDEY

I would like to point your eyes to that triangular piece of land that rests between the railroad tracks in what we lovingly call our downtown area. That piece of land is usually pretty cruddy looking... if not overgrown with weeds it's a shaggy mass of uncut field grass.

Not any more!

We can now look at something planted with tender loving care, pat Carolyn Morehead and Margaret Ladd on their heads and say "bless you" for trying to dress up the area.

As Michigan Week chairwoman, one of my main objectives was to do something clever with that downtown area... clever is a proper word in this case because we all know that our commercial area suffers from that severe malady called "yuk"! And I don't really think any person in the entire community could truthfully disagree.

With a little thought, a little energy, a little persistence, and, unfortunately, a little money, we could make some changes in the downtown section of Wixom to make it a bit more eye appealing.

Carolyn and Margaret took the time, were persistent and energetic and, admittedly, it took a little money, but... in place of the weeds and the scruddy looking grass there now stands a clean, thoughtfully planted area. The shrubs and flowers are hardy and will bloom, adding a bit of cheer to what has been a disgrace.

If, each year, instead of saying "we should have done", we did, then we'd be one step ahead of the year before. I'm talking hanging baskets, potted trees, flag holders, landscaped areas in certain sections of the area that would make going "downtown" a more pleasant experience.

There are arguments against doing such things, the main one being that Wixom Road will "someday" be widened. That's where the thought comes in... plan in such a way that everything could be removed and replanted... that's if shrubs were used. Hanging baskets can always be rehung.

Thanks be to the gals who took a step in the right direction. Hopefully, come next year the shrubs will still be intact and all that will be needed is a little weeding and perhaps a few new blooms.

The project didn't take long... Carolyn and Margaret got a few curious glances mixed in with "beep-beeps" as they stood out in the middle of the road in their blue jeans and shovels... but with that little bit of action, they've made a lot of people happy... and improved a grieving area.

It can be done!

Michigan Week is rolling right along with only a few more days left before the celebration comes to a halt. There has been tremendous community support of the daily events with a few more days yet to come.

Today (Thursday) please remember to take the time to stop by and wish Ila Henry well as she plans to retire at the end of this school year. The P.T.A. will be holding a tea in her honor at Wixom School from 3:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

"Trade-A-Meal" begins at noon at City Hall on Friday with Dora Burke and her cohorts from Birch Park in charge of the afternoon. Bake a favorite dish, attach the recipe if you'd like, take it to City Hall and draw for a trade in the same category. Take your exchange dish home after the program and treat your family to something different. A home economist from Detroit Edison will present a program on canning and freezing while the preschool youngsters can enjoy a movie and story hour program all their own at the Library. And you'll be home in plenty of time to see your kids jump off the bus.

Follow the sound of the fire sirens Saturday morning as they prepare for the ground breaking ceremonies at 11 a.m. Both fire halls, one located on Pontiac Trail, the other on North Wixom Road will have that spade of dirt turned, marking the beginning of construction on the first Wixom Fire Halls.

Coffee and donuts will be served to all, compliments of the Wixom Fire Department.

If proper equipment can be rounded up, Chief Bob Potter promises a water fight between his department and Wixom's police force. And if that wasn't enough, there'll be the battle of the rope in a tug-of-war between our Fire Department and the soggy bottoms of Milford. Wixom plans to reclaim the trophy this year!

And if that isn't enough to make a few muscles sore the Firemen, Kops and kids of Wixom will hit the baseball diamond for the annual baseball game. The Jaycees will be on hand serving hot dogs and pop with all proceeds going to the Police Community Activity Fund.

There's still a couple of days left to join in on the fun... please do and be a part of Michigan Week.

CRANBROOK WINNERS—Northville High students Ray Schwartz and Jennifer Chaffee are among 30 students through Michigan whose natural wildlife drawings were selected for exhibition at Cranbrook Institute of Science. Final judging of the entries will be made on May 30.

At Cranbrook

Northville High Artists Selected for State Exhibit

A Two Northville High art students are among 30 throughout Michigan whose works have been selected for a natural wildlife exhibit at Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Ray Schwartz, a senior, entered a pen-and-ink drawing of a puss moth, while Jennifer Chaffee, a junior, entered a pastel drawing of a spotted tree frog. His drawing was taken to Cranbrook early last week.

Both students were notified last week that their work had been chosen for the final judging. Their drawings will be on display from May 31 through September 21 at Cranbrook Institute and then will have the option to travel to selected museums in Michigan until May of 1976.

According to art instructor Mrs. Alice Kipper, the contest is open to all public and parochial schools throughout Michigan with each school permitted three entries.

Also entered from Northville was Paige Lysinger, a sophomore, who submitted a pen-and-ink drawing of a bald eagle.

Mrs. Kipper said this is the first time Northville High entered the contest and she commented that having "two of three entries selected is exceptionally fortunate for us."

Judging of the entries was done on the basis of slides with Jim Bonamici taking the slides of Northville's three works.

Mrs. Kipper said both Jennifer and Ray are "exceptionally skilled. Ray has had one of his pen and ink drawings sent to a contest in New York."

"Jennifer is not only creative artistically but creative in every field," Mrs. Kipper added. "She tries every art technique."

Ray plans to continue his education at the Center for Creative Arts, formerly the Society of Arts and Crafts, where he will study advertising design. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schwartz formerly of Northville and now of Livonia.

Jennifer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Chaffee of 46010 Nine Mile Road.

Purpose of the wildlife art contest is to foster a deeper appreciation of wildlife and its portrayal.

Novi Kites

Fly Saturday

Novi Jaycees will sponsor their annual kite flying contest on Saturday, May 24, from noon until 2 p.m.

The contest will be held on Grand River and Meadowbrook roads with prizes offered for the highest and fastest kites, among other awards given by the Jaycees.

Each child who enters will receive a free kite and string. Children under eight should be accompanied by an adult.

According to Jack Vetrano, chairman of the kite flying contest, in case of rain, the event will be held the following day.

ISLAND FLOWERS—Margaret Ladd (left) and Carolyn Morehead were hard at work last week in Wixom planting all sorts of flowers and shrubs in the island at the intersection of North Wixom and Pontiac Trail. One of the appeals during Michigan Week is for residents to help fix up downtown Wixom.

Jaycee Auxiliary Gets State Honor

Novi's Jaycee Auxiliary walked away with plenty of awards May 9-10 at the annual Michigan Jaycee and Auxiliary State Convention in Lansing. The awards were handed out to clubs for their efforts in their respective communities.

First place winner in her class, Novi's Joanne McNary received the "Outstanding President" award. She was one of five presidents in the state honored for their "leadership, enthusiasm and devotion to their community." The entire Novi membership was also honored for its "excellence in programming, membership participation and leadership training" by receiving the third place "Auxiliary of the Year" Award.

Individual projects which received recognition were "Haunted House Cooperation" which took first place for Jaycee Assistance, and the "Learning Tree" which won second place in Community Service.

The Haunted House effort consisted of assisting the Novi Jaycees in all facets of publicity, costumes, and finance. Joan Hemker chaired the committee of 27 women which spent more than 600 hours to make the project a success. Resultant monies earned by the Jaycees were used for their other community service projects. The "Learning Tree" is a puppet show warning against smoking, stealing, alcohol and drugs, and was shown to all Novi school children in grades K through 5. Co-chaired by Candy Creedon and Sharon Larson, the committee of 22 women spent more than 400 hours to complete the project.

Novi's Jaycee Auxiliary is one of almost 200 local auxiliaries in the state of Michigan with a total membership of more than 3,000 young women. The Novi group, which consists of 32 members, has run more than 100 internal and external activities and projects in the community, and to promote friendship among members, during the 1974-75 year. Besides community service, the group offers personal growth courses and a chance to develop the member as an individual.

Membership is open to women 18-35 and husbands do not have to be Jaycees. Anyone interested in learning more about the organization can call Joanne McNary at 349-1063 or Sharon Larson at 349-7225.

Of 10 Novi Teachers

May Renew Contracts

Ten first year teachers whose contracts were not renewed in Novi may be coming back after all.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz reported last week that based on the current status of teachers on leave, it now appears sufficient staff vacancies will exist to permit rehiring of at least nine of the 10 pink slipped teachers.

The school board, while recognizing the fine credentials of the 10 teachers, voted not to rehire them several weeks ago because of the uncertainty of intention of those teachers now on leave.

Under the five-year pregnancy leave program of the district, such teachers when they want to return have first crack at jobs over non-tenure teachers. Rather than risk the possibility of having 20 teachers for 10 positions the board took its temporary action not to renew the contracts of the 10 non-tenured teachers (one had just been hired).

Sufficient numbers of the teachers on leave have indicated they will not return to suggest that at least nine of the teachers will be rehired, Dr. Kratz said. The 10th will have a job if the board decides to implement an alternative high school program now under consideration.

The latter program, said the superintendent, would necessitate the hiring of one additional teacher. The program, similar to one now in operation in Northville, was developed by William Ayotte and High School Principal Helen Ditzhazy with assistance of 11 faculty members and eight students.

Latest among the teachers requesting an extension of their leaves of absence are Marlene Aitken, Marion Grant, Bridget Patrick, Janith Rolston, Sherry Shindler, Kathryn Tartar and Ruth Watson.

In addition to the foregoing, the board has granted a resignation from leave status to Laurel Collins and for termination from leave status to Ava Young.

The board also accepted the resignations of James Smith, custodian, Margie Tood, noon aide; and Joyce Lauren and Patty Smith, CETA employees

It also approved the employment of Sandra Mayberry as a replacement secretary at the middle school at an hourly rate of $3.45, and wage adjustment was approved for Ted Clay and Richard Wright to reflect their change from an OEO program to a CETA program

Board Awards Contracts For School Hardware

Contracts were to be awarded this week to successful bidders on hollow metal doors and frames and on hardware for the new Novi High School.

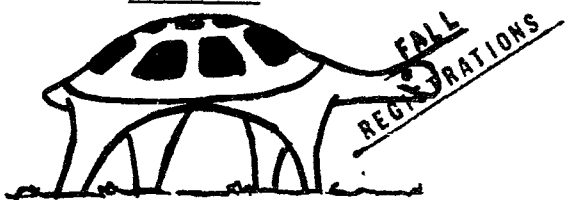

The board of education voted to give the contract for hollow metal doors and frames to the second lowest bidder, Pioneer of Detroit, at a cost of $37,000. The local firm's bid was $1,002 greater than that submitted by Metal Building Specialties of Kalamazoo.

And because of its reported superior rust proof products, Sterling Doorware of Lansing was to be awarded the hardware contract even though its base bid of $49,943 was $943 greater than that of Commercial Hardware Company.

Eight firms submitted bids on the hollow metal bids, six on the hardware.

For November Ballot

Eye Dual Tax Question

With the necessity of seeking a tax anticipation loan again appearing likely, the Novi Board of Education has asked the school superintendent to advise it as to how a dual-tax collection proposition can be placed on the city's November ballot.

If past experience repeats itself, the board will have to pay $25,000 or more in interest money on the loan. The loan is necessary, the board has explained, to pay school bills that come due prior to receipt of the school taxes next winter.

The board repeatedly has requested the city council to collect half of the school taxes in the winter, half in the summer to eliminate the necessity of borrowing money. Although some city councilmen have supported the request, it has never generated sufficient council support to become a reality.

Under the law the city serves as the school's tax collecting agency. It collects the school taxes in the winter, its own city taxes in the summer.

An advisory vote conducted here several years ago indicated citizens favored the dual school tax collection procedure. That vote, however, did not require the council to adopt the procedure.

The proposition now being suggested by Trustee James Helmer would force implementation if it were placed on the ballot and approved by voters.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Michigan Week opened in Northville with its customary emphasis on beautification, highlighted with the scrubbing down of Main street by the fire department.

I think it was about 1958, a year or two after moving to Northville, when I was chasing ads, writing stories and stuffing, addressing and delivering newspapers that Northville really got serious about beautifying itself.

John Canterbury, then a councilmember, was chairman of the first "Beautify Northville" campaign and his efforts won the community national recognition in the form of a first place award.

I had remembered from my days in Cadillac that on the first of May all the businessmen in town washed Main street.

So the street-cleaning idea was quickly adopted by Northville and the fire department had lots of help.

Armed with brooms and brushes were a host of local businessmen, city and school officials and just plain residents.

Inevitably, there were the water fights, just as accompanied Saturday's early morning scrub-down. Among some of those I remember taking part in the fun-project were Russ Clarke, the late and former Postmaster Leland Smith, Russ Amerman, Mayor Allen, Councilman Canterbury, Chuck Lapham, Chuck Freydl, Roy Stone, Essie Nirider and many, many others. As I recall Lila Collins was one of the few female street washers.

While this broad participation was missing Saturday, the spirit was still there. From the Record building we cheered at the sight of the fire-fighters holding our Chuck Gross and making him the target of all the hoses.

Others who eventually were as wet as the streets included Bob Korson, Mel Minor, Joe Bishop, Bud Hartner, Jim Allen, John Pinion, Don Sowa and Al Zielinski.

It was a spirited start for both Michigan Week and Beautification Month in Northville.

Later in the day the "pedestrian mall" idea fell short of expectations.

A couple of merchants, namely Del Black and Chuck Lapham, finally decided to have the barriers blocking Main street between Hutton and Center removed.

Their complaint was that not enough activity, accommodations or signs had been provided within the proposed mall area to attract the public.

About 11 a.m. the barriers were taken away and business boomed the rest of the day.

Black and Lapham, as well as other merchants, agree that the experimental mall project can probably work. But it will take better planning, more hoopla.

Some planters, a few benches, signs of welcome, more bargains in the stores, entertainment, popcorn, a clown or two and maybe some music would give the street the atmosphere it needs.

But the absence of any of these, coupled with the barriers and the clean, stark street gave the shoppers the wrong impression.

Next time, maybe. Anyway, Main street remained blocked off between Center and Wing and a square dance took place in front of Northville Square.

Michigan Week activities went smoothly through Monday when we exchanged mayors with Chelsea.

The day was capped off with a dinner for officials from both cities. They met at Schuler's in Ann Arbor and talked about their respective visits to each other's community during the day.

Chelsea's visiting dignitaries enjoyed their day in Northville, highlighted by the Rotary-hosted luncheon.

Mayor Allen was particularly impressed by the Chelsea home for the elderly and Chelsea's community hospital.

Congratulations to Anne Brueck for her fine job as Northville's Michigan Week chairman.

DENE WILKINSON

GOOD . . .

As a member of Lifespan, a pro-life group that is fighting abortion on demand, euthanasia and infanticide, I am in a position to realize the effect of legalized abortion. There are many thousands of childless couples wanting to adopt but there are few American babies for these couples. The adoption of Vietnamese children fills a need.

As humanitarians, we cannot turn our back on any of the Vietnam refugees. The United States Department of Immigration allows a tremendous number of people to come to this country each year, and these people have no chance at all unless they can be admitted.

We lost some 60,000 American men in Vietnam. By taking some of these orphans, we can never replace these men but neither can we turn our backs on these children — some of whom have American fathers. Indonesian life is no less valuable than American life.

I feel these people who have welcomed these innocent victims of war into their homes are on the side of the angels. Our country was originally populated by victims of oppression and religious persecution. All are part of the Family of Man and the gesture of the adopting families has given these children the right-to-life — a life that would be uncertain if they were to remain in Vietnam.

Mrs. Dene Wilkinson
Northville

Speaking for Myself

Admit Viets To the States?

BOB KOLBERG

BAD . . .

I would seriously question the motivation most of these refugees had which made them leave their homeland. Were they caught up in the atmosphere of the United States Government's attempts to remove its citizens before the communist takeover? Did the impending takeover pose a real threat to their safety, or did they react to the circumstances of chaos and panic which prevailed?

A chance to reflect upon their situation might cause many of these people to wish they were back in their own country. In this country they will find that being merely tolerated is somewhat different from being eagerly awaited and welcomed. Perhaps the U.S. Government should attempt to work out a solution whereby those who left in haste would have the opportunity to return without fear of retribution.

I do not feel that our government can continue to be "all things to all people" until they have totally discharged a moral, if not a legal obligation to our own citizens. When we can honestly say that there is no serious need in this country, then we can again play Big Brother to the world.

1935 Grad College Bound At Age 56

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

WILLIAM OWEN

When the high school class of '35 holds its 40th reunion on June 4, one of its lesser known members will be less than three months away from entering college.

And although he was a scrappy high school halfback at Northville, 56-year-old Bill Owen won't be carrying a football scholarship. This grandfather, who is about to end his second career to begin a third, is going to college on life's savings and a commitment to Jesus Christ.

"It will be sort of a working retirement," smiled Owen during a visit to his office to track down information about his high school class. "My wife and I are convinced Christ has a place for us, perhaps in missionary work, but we won't know what it is until after we've finished college."

The Owens are selling their home and small farm near Jackson and they will use their money to finance their education at Bob Jones University. "It's something we've dreamed of for a long time. I will be on a Bible curriculum, my wife in music."

They chose Bob Jones over a less expensive Canadian Bible college because it is located just a short distance from another college attended by one of their three daughters.

Bill Owen will retire "for the second time" in July as police program specialist in forensics and civil disorder for the Michigan Office of Criminal Justice.

A deeply religious cop, he ended his first career upon retiring several years ago from the Detroit Police Department. In 27 years with that force, he had risen through the ranks eventually being named inspector by the then commissioner and now Oakland County Sheriff Johannes Spreen.

Over those 27 years he walked the beat, engaged in gun battles, served with the vice squad, became an expert in crime lab technology, and eventually served as organizer of the present-day community relations and citizens complaint bureau.

He was talked into taking the criminal justice job for the state upon retirement from Detroit. He and his

To the Editor:

I would like to publicly thank all who gave at the Blood Drive held recently at Novi High School.

In particular, I would like to thank my brother, Rick Trudeau, and his fellow faculty members and students of Novi High School who so generously donated blood in behalf of my four year old son, Brendan, who will be undergoing open heart surgery on June 4. It's a great feeling to know there was such an overwhelming response to help us in our time of need.

Thank you again from the bottom of our hearts.

Mrs. Harrigan was born in Detroit to Julia Cronin and John Ashe Browne and was the widow of Thoms F. Harrigan. She had been an area resident for two years.

Father James B. Wright is officiating at today's service with interment to be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield. Rosary was held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Casterline Funeral Home.

News From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Representative

House Bill 4843 to increase unemployment compensation benefits has now passed both houses of the Legislature and been sent to Governor Milliken for either signing or veto. The Governor has announced his intention to veto the bill in its present form, as well he should.

The Governor, agreeing with the majority of House and Senate Republicans, said that the bill is too costly to employers as it how stands, and could easily make future job conditions worse in Michigan by making it more expensive for employers to hire new workers. Indeed, some small or marginal businesses might be forced to lay off present employees. He also said that the proposed benefit increase does not give the most help to those who need it the most, namely those with several dependents.

By not approving the bill, the Governor will be in a position to demand several amendments which would reduce abuses in the current unemployment compensation program. One proposed change would increase the waiting period for persons who voluntarily leave their jobs to 14 weeks from the present six weeks. Another would completely disqualify from benefits anyone who has been fired due to assault, theft, or sabotage. Currently, even these people can collect benefits after 12 weeks! My own view is that voluntary quits should also be completely disqualified from drawing unemployment compensation.

All of the Governor's proposed changes were rejected by the Senate, and not even considered in the House.

There is no ignoring the fact that hundreds of thousands of people are out of work in Michigan and there is no ignoring our duty to help them. But we must also consider the long-term effects of such assistance on all the people of Michigan.

Michigan is already the highest in the continental United States in amounts charged employers to fund the unemployment compensation program. Are programs which result in driving employers out of the state really in the best interest of the unemployed?

Two-thirds of both the House and the Senate are needed to override a veto. In the House this means that 37 votes in support of the Governor's position will sustain a veto. If a showdown vote occurs, I intend to stick by the Governor and cast one of those 37 needed votes.

wife moved to Jackson, and he has commuted to Lansing since.

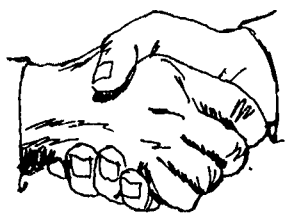

Unlike some persons, Bill Owen has never been ashamed of his religious convictions. Frequently, he is invited to speak on his experience in police work and he weaves it into his personal crusade for Christ. Carrying a Bible into jail cells after working hours or into Detroit's inner city where he spent so much time drew a critical eye of some superiors and very likely hampered his rise in the department, he admitted.

"I didn't preach on the job or anything like that, nor was I called the 'preacher cop'. Nevertheless, some superiors wondered about a policeman with my religious conviction, and I'm sure I missed some promotions because of it. But it was my own doing, and I have no regrets for the choice I made."

When Spreen was named commissioner, Owen was set to retire with 25 years service behind him. But Spreen persuaded him to stay as a lieutenant to implement some of his (Owen's) departmental reorganizational recommendations. Owen was promoted to inspector and remained long enough to see his recommendations become reality and then left to take the job with the state.

In July the youngest member of the 1935 class (he had just turned 16 when he graduated) who met his wife while singing with the Northville Methodist Church choir will "retire" once again. "We're both very excited about going back to school," he said. "It's like high school has just ended and we're beginning life over again — together and involved in something very precious to both of us, the Lord Jesus Christ."

untracked from controversy and pointed on a path of achievement, now finds its council embroiled in still another family argument.

Too often able public officials working for the same, ultimate desirable community goals find themselves at odds. Normally, priorities, philosophies or personal egos are responsible. But always, it is the community that loses.

In the opinion of this newspaper Mayor Daley singled out a target for his efforts that could have been better applied to more pressing council and community problems.

Likewise, we take a dim view of Campbell's position. The suggestion of conflict is enough to prompt a councilman to offer his abstention.

Campbell voted on some council issues involving citizens who had made contributions to his campaign for state office. In other instances, he accepted (or sought) contributions from citizens who had received favorable votes from him in previous council actions.

An elected official must strive to avoid even the hint of impropriety. And we do not think Campbell did this.

Both the mayor and the councilman have demonstrated poor judgment.

It should be dropped at that, along with the request for examination of the allegations by the state attorney general.

Forget it. Get on with the business of improving conditions in Novi, councilmembers.

The Novi News believes that Mayor Daley and Councilman Campbell should bury the hatchet. And between now and the next election they ought to prove their obvious abilities to get things done openly and progressively for the welfare of the community.

For starters, the Novi chamber of commerce might sponsor a dinner meeting at which Mayor Daley can outline the needs of Novi as he sees them. The mayor has nothing to gain now. He's a lame duck.

If Councilman Campbell or other councilmembers wish to respond, or offer alternative proposals, so be it.

But the chamber ought to be intently interested in the firsthand facts. The community in which they do business and their employees reside is important.

If its government is not providing adequate services, it should know why.

The city of Novi has untapped potential and unlimited opportunities. It can become healthy economically without tipping the balance necessary for a desirable residential atmosphere, if today's business and residential citizenry elect and support able members to their council.

In our opinion, the amount of millage Novi's council needs is not great. But it's most important and it should be provided without earmarking strings that bring about imbalance.

The council must establish priorities the public can examine and accept. Able citizens must step forward and run for council. And the public must then give evidence of its support by voting the millage needed to accomplish the program of priorities.

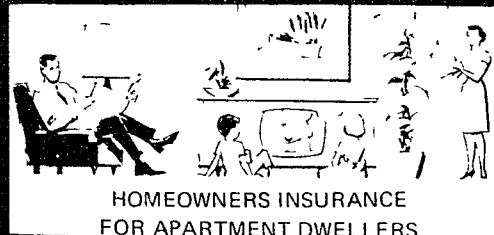

If Novi can pool its proven fighting spirit into a team effort headed in the same direction, there's no limit to what can be accomplished.

Kalin Johnson and Mrs. Martin Rinehart, Northville Mothers' Club officers. The club voted this month to help with the restoration of the building as its Bicentennial year project.

post of comptroller of that city, they donated the building to the Northville Historical Society for the Mill Race Village.

The historical society received a special price for the moving of $850 from C. L. Hofess of Livonia, the firm which moved the old library building and the Hunter house to the Mill Race. The price covered cost of moving utility lines.

A small front entry and a 12-foot addition on the back, both not original to the school, were removed by society volunteers to ready the building for the move.

"Jim Lapham was a major help," Harris said as he told of his bringing equipment to remove the rear area that later held bathroom facilities. When restored in the Mill Race, the school, he said, will have an outhouse, as it did originally.

He added that Fran Gazlay, a member and regular worker in the restoration projects, "has his eye on a Greek revival one with pilasters that he hopes to obtain."

The building was tied on skids late last summer in preparation for the move which will take it south on Beck Road to Seven Mile Road and along Seven Mile to Northville Road and back to Griswold and the Mill Race.

The building, Harris noted, is 27 feet wide and 29 feet high to the roof peak. Present plans call for removal of the roof to economize on utility line moving costs. It later will either be rebuilt or replaced, he said.

Since the roof was damaged in an area grass fire about three years ago, Harris said it probably would be new construction with cedar shingles. He estimated that cost at about $1,000.

John Burkman, chairman of the board of Northville Historical Society, researched original materials about the building and said that a history written by students in 1941 indicated that recitation benches lined three sides of the early school with the teacher's desk placed on a platform in front of a pot-bellied stove.

He hopes the school can be returned to this early-day appearance. It also will gain a typical bell tower as the society already has a bell from the Bell Foundry, once a Northville firm.

Harris indicated Saturday that, while the society had agreed some 10 months ago to let the mover bring the school to the Mill Race at his convenience, it was disappointed that the move had not been made yet. He said the owner had been away for the winter but now was being asked for a moving date.

Preliminary work in moving the Yerkes house was to begin Monday as the moving firm, James Porter of Westland, was to start cutting down the hill on which the house rests to be able to slide the large house down to Griswold.

"The worst part will be getting it off the hill," Harris explained. It will have to be taken down between Church and Griswold streets and swung around.

The exact date will depend on the weather. The Mill Race plan locates the house to the right of the Hunter House.

The Wash-Oak school will be located to the left of the restored old library building. When restored, the schoolhouse will be painted a typical red color. At present the paint remaining on it is white and peeling.

No date has been set for the move to the Mill Race of the little Gothic Victorian house at 430 North Center Street being donated by Paul Folino, which also is hoped to be part of the Bicentennial restoration.

The Northville Historical Society has a present membership of about 270 people with "everyone interested welcome," Harris adds.

During Michigan Week a canister collection is being conducted throughout the community to raise funds for the restoration and acquaint everyone with the society's projects.

Handwriting Talk Slated

Members of the Plymouth-Northville Chapter No. 1311, American Association of Retired Persons, will hear a program on handwriting analysis following their monthly lunch next Wednesday, May 28, at Plymouth Presbyterian Church.

Hobbies and crafts, primarily sewing projects, will be worked on during the morning, beginning at 10 a.m. The noon sack lunch will be followed by a sing-along, business meeting and program.

Mrs. Lucille McKinney, a student and teacher of handwriting "analysis" for more than 20 years who is considered an authority on the subject, will be guest speaker. Visitors are welcome.

they noted, if such violations go unchallenged the law becomes a mockery.

If the proposed system is found legal by the city attorney and implemented by the city council, it basically would operate the same manner in which a traffic ticket is presently handled.

Persons ticketed for an ordinance violation could pay the fine, thus admitting guilt, without going to court.

The proposed violations bureau, according to the wordage suggested by the manager, could not accept a penalty for a violation from any person who denies having committed the offense. Furthermore, "in no case shall the person who is in charge of the bureau determine, or attempt to determine, the truth or falsity of any fact or matter relating to such alleged violation."

In essence this statement means the violations bureau would not be serving as a court. It will not decide guilt or innocence.

Tickets of violation, according to the manager, would indicate the length of time in which the person must respond before the city ordinance violations bureau. "It shall also indicate the address of the bureau, the hours during which the bureau is open, the amount of the penalty scheduled for the offense for which the ticket was issued and advise that a warrant for the arrest of the person to whom the ticket was issued will be sought if such a person fails to respond within the time limit," the manager has proposed.

If the bureau becomes a reality, the council also would establish a schedule of offenses and fines. First violations in most instances, it has been suggested, might result in warning tickets. Second and third violations, however, would draw increasingly larger fines.

For example, a person cited for excessive noise might not receive a fine upon getting the first ticket, but the second time he might be fined $5 and the third time $10.

Other violations, however, such as unlawfully entering or being in a cemetery, very likely would result in a fine upon the first violation because of council's concern about vandalism in cemeteries. The fine itself might be more costly.

Offenses subject to tickets of violation and fines would include the following:

Unlawfully entering or being in a cemetery.
Excessive noise violation.

Noxious weeds violation
Depositing unwholesome substances.
Automobile trailer violation.
Burning leaves.
Garbage and rubbish violation.

Sign violation.
Garage sale violation.
Trailer violation.
Sidewalk snow and ice violation.
Littering violation.

Grand Jury Seeks Citizen Cooperation

Market Research Firm Taps Views on Aspirin to Politics

THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

When two out of three doctors recommend plain aspirin for pain relief and 15 percent of the registered voters still haven't made up their minds on the candidates by election eve, chances are the surveys taken to come to these conclusions were done by a market research firm.

Pardon me, Ma'am, but are those diapers really as dry as Brand X?

Kent Marketing Services in Lathrup Village is one of several research firms in the Detroit area. Owned and operated by Nancy Welch, the firm was begun by her mother 11 years ago. Nancy took over the business three years ago.

Kent, which Nancy says is the "largest of the medium size marketing firms in the area," has done surveys on everything from cars to diapers.

Two years ago her firm did the survey for barbecue Shake 'N Bake, a product which was recently introduced on grocers' shelves. Housewives were given one flavored product to try and a different flavor the next time. Flavors also alternated between houses. Families were then interviewed on their preferences.

"Interviewers themselves don't know who is paying to have the survey done," Miss Welch commented. "They know the category of the product but don't know the brand name and many people don't realize this when they're being questioned."

Several different methods are used for surveys and with Kent Marketing, companies usually have a survey questionnaire written when they approach the firm.

"There's a problem they want solved," Nancy explained, "a questionnaire is written and then they determine the number of interviews they want and the length of time we have to complete the survey."

Interviewers hired by her company are generally housewives working on a "when needed" basis. All must furnish their own transportation.

When a product survey begins, Nancy calls the interviewers together and they go over the survey questionnaire item by item, explaining and discussing each so any ambiguous questions may be cleared up.

Any changes in survey questionnaires must have the approval of the firm contracting for Kent's services, she emphasizes.

Who gets surveyed?

If it's a diaper survey, families with babies or those with children just out of diapers. If it's for a beverage, then the entire family may be questioned.

Explains Nancy, "You wouldn't ask a gourmet to judge a fast food restaurant." That's why qualifying questions are asked during a survey — job title, age, income if you are a consumer of the product or interested in the product or the idea.

"Many people just wait for the sales pitch at the end and there isn't any. The questions are merely to throw out surveys which don't qualify." Auto company employees can't be interviewed on cars and chances are that people in news and advertising won't ever be surveyed. People in small communities are also unlikely to be surveyed unless it's for a local firm.

Telephone surveys, the most common type, are done by random digit dialing or "starting on page 437 of the book, 23 name down in column two and dial until you get someone home," she comments. "Most of our work is over the telephone since it's the cheapest, quickest and bothers the fewest people."

Door-to-door surveys are used when a product must be placed in a home. And free samples "don't mean anything as far as people being more cooperative. It only raises the price of a product," she added.

Time of day the surveys are taken depends upon the product. Most surveys are done in the early evening or on weekends. However, with many people now out of work, many surveys requiring male opinions can be taken during the day.

"Seldom are surveys taken without evening calls so opinions can be split between working and non-working people."

Nancy notes that people now are more educated on market research surveys than in the past. "Five years ago, 15 percent of the people refused to talk to us. Now if they refuse, it's because they don't have the time."

Currently, Detroit is being surveyed more and more for products. "We're a good test market because Detroit is in the situation which the rest of the country will be in six months from now," she added.

On some surveys, Kent Marketing is just one of many firms throughout the country doing surveys for a specific product. In others, Detroit is the only area being surveyed. And some surveys are on-going, lasting several years or more, seeing if advertising methods change people's opinions.

Group sessions on products or ideas are another method of surveying. In a survey on organic gardening, 10 people were selected at random and brought to Kent Marketing offices. Qualifications were that no two people could know each other and all had to be gardeners.

Panels are used monthly to obtain reactions to advertising, with the ad shown and then discussed by the group. "There may or may not be someone behind the one-way mirror," Miss Welch explained. "Sometimes it is crawling with people from the ad agency and other times there's one or two people back there."

One of her most interesting projects, she recalls, was done in 1967 when the Dodge Charger was introduced.

"We couldn't do an automotive survey in Detroit so we took a model of the car to Toledo. It was fun since everything was so secretive and there were guards all over."

"One side was one style and the other side was totally different. We couldn't let in automotive employees, artists or photographers."

She's also done surveys for The Free Press on how many people would leave Detroit, law suits, product names, hospital equipment, political candidates, beverages, heavy equipment and others.

According to Nancy, "doctors are the hardest people to survey — they're impossible to see. Executives are the most fun to survey. The more important they are, the nicer they are," she added.

Pageant Coming Up

Mackinac: 15 Miles Of Colorful History

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of 15 newspaper features Automobile Club of Michigan is offering on a weekly basis this summer. The Mackinac area is the focal point of this "Tour Michigan First" feature — designed to encourage fuel conservation by highlighting summer tourist destinations within the Wolverine State.)

For sightseeing and variety that offers just about something for everyone, the Lower Peninsula's Straits of Mackinac area has a combination of attractions almost unmatched, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The Mackinac Bridge, Fort Michilimackinac and its marine complex, Mackinac Island, camping at one of Michigan's most pristine wilderness parks, boating, two colorful pageants, good food, fudge — all are within a stretch less than 15 miles wide.

A highlight over the Memorial Day weekend will be the Fort Michilimackinac Pageant at Mackinaw City, May 24-26.

The Mackinac Bridge, since 1957 the impressive link between Michigan's two peninsulas, is one of the world's top engineering achievements.

The five-mile-long structure, the world's longest suspension bridge between cable anchorages, can be seen for miles from either peninsula on a clear day, its main towers zooming 552 feet above the water.

No trip to northern Michigan would be complete without a visit to historic Mackinac Island, 45 minutes away by ferryboat from either Mackinaw City or St. Ignace.

High shoreline cliffs add to the natural beauty panorama of the island which offers the visitor hours of sightseeing, including old churches and several choices of resort hotels topped by the famous Grand Hotel, the world's largest summer resort hotel.

The biggest attraction, Fort Mackinac, an 18th century military stronghold, watches over the island, and hours can be spent visiting the 14 original buildings which include three blockhouses.

While the fort itself is the island's focal point, there is much history elsewhere. Old buildings include the Astor Warehouse, old Agency House of John Jacob Astor's American Fur Co., the Indian Dormitory, Benjamin Blacksmith Shop, Mission Church and the Biddle House, oldest residence on the island.

Just below the fort is beautiful Marquette Park, named for the Jesuit missionary who founded the St. Ignace mission in 1671 and helped bring Christianity to the Great Lakes region.

Mackinac Island's Lilac Festival, set this year for June 14-15, is one of Michigan's most colorful annual events.

At Mackinaw City, in the shadow of the Straits and at the tip of the Lower Peninsula, is restored Fort Michilimackinac, a French and British fortification which preceded Fort Mackinac.

The buildings of Fort Michilimackinac are surrounded by a high stockade, all on the original site as disclosed by field excavations which began in 1959 and are continuing.

The biggest event in the fort's history, its capture by Indians from the British, is commemorated each year with a pageant put on by local thespians. They reenact the 1763 incident during Chief Pontiac's conspiracy when Chippewa and Sauk Indians overcame the British garrison through a ruse.

The fort complex includes Maritime Park, with Old Mackinac Point Lighthouse a main attraction. The lighthouse, built in 1892 and discontinued when the Mackinac Bridge opened, has been turned into a maritime museum.

Twelve miles west of Mackinac City along the picturesque Straits of Mackinac is Wilderness State Park, one of the few Lower Peninsula parks which offers large areas virtually untouched by man.

Wilderness State Park has 6,925 acres, four campgrounds and a total of 210 campsites. The main campground is along the Straits where there are modern facilities, electricity, a disposal station for trailers, shade and ready access to the beach along the Straits.

Another campground is in a tract of stately pine, with good shade, some ground cover and ample privacy.

Godspell

Teacher Worries That Hit Play May Be Offensive

When audiences pack a high school auditorium two nights to see a play, then demand a third performance, then pack the house for the third performance — well, that's a smash hit.

And it's what happened in Brighton where the High School Thespians' production of "Godspell" met thundering applause and standing ovations the last two weekends.

For the cast, says drama teacher Diana Rose, the play was "the greatest event all year."

For her, it was "the most thrilling performance" in 17 years of teaching.

"It's all overwhelming," Mrs. Rose said last week — and surprising considering the worries she had and the precautions she took during three months preparing for the play.

"From the beginning, I was concerned about this matter of the school putting on a religious production. That's a pretty delicate issue," she said.

She was especially concerned that the way material is handled in the play would be offensive to some in the audience.

For example, the main character, Jesus, played by sophomore Tom Bogan, wears clown make-up, dresses in a Superman tee-shirt, and conveys Jesus's teachings with song and dance routines.

Biblical parables are presented comically, sometimes farcically, throughout the play. In story of the good Samaritan, for example, the Samaritan is a drunk. The story of the prodigal son is told through slapstick.

Another important character, the prostitute, played by junior Julie Bogan, sits at Jesus's last supper table.

To prevent including offensive scenes, Mrs. Rose said she and the cast sent out letters to 41 clergymen in Brighton and surrounding communities, including Howell, Whitmore Lake, Pinckney, and South Lyon, inviting them to a rehearsal May 1. After seeing the play, Mrs. Rose said she wanted the pastor's input on potentially objectionable scenes.

"Unfortunately," she reported, "only one minister showed up for the rehearsal."

Nonetheless, by the first performance May 9, Mrs. Rose said she felt she had enough approving opinions from school administrators and fellow teachers to proceed with the play as written.

In the matter of involving public school students in a religious performance, Mrs. Rose said she took pains during rehearsals "not to stress Biblical implications of the lines."

"We never once sat down as a cast and discussed the religious meaning of the play," she said. "But some kids would tell me that they had checked song lyrics in the Bible, for example."

"Basically, we left the matter of religious interpretation to individuals, and stressed the general love and understanding theme."

She added that "the cast couldn't be better-suited to convey the love message."

"When those kids cried in the last supper scene, saying goodbye to Jesus, they meant it. We didn't have a rehearsal in the two weeks before the play without tears streaming down faces."

Of the compliments she heard the week after the performance, Mrs. Rose said one ninth-grader said it best.

"After it was over, I didn't want to go home. I just wanted to stay, and grab everyone and hug them."

Brighton High's "Godspell" cast sang 'Day By Day' to a full house Sunday evening — a "command" performance for the youth

Pope Sends Blessings To South Lyon Couples

Seven centuries. Now, that's a long time to be married.

But all together, 19 couples who were honored in a special service at St. Joseph Catholic Church in South Lyon last Sunday, have been married 706 years, says Monsignor Albert Matyn.

Monsignor Matyn presided over the service in which papal blessings and anniversary plaques were handed individually to each couple before the congregation.

Monsignor Matyn explained that the practice began in the congregation last year and has received an extremely good response from the parish members.

"We start with couples who have been married 25 years, and go over five years until we reach the fiftieth anniversary. Then we take every year," explained Monsignor Matyn.

"We celebrate a Mass, and during the Mass each couple comes up and receives a papal scroll with a blessing and a plaque with a cross and two entwining rings symbolizing the marriage."

"There are prayers thanking God for all of the years the couple has had together and asking that they have many more. A reception follows the service in which we honor the couples."

The couples which were honored Sunday have been married anywhere from 25 to 59 years.

Those celebrating their Silver Anniversary (25th) include Mr. and Mrs. John Glagola, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Raney, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koerke, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Goers.

Final performance of "Lightshine," a contemporary musical, will be presented at Northville Presbyterian Church by youth of the church at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 22. Last Sunday they gave a performance in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to a capacity audience at Greentree Presbyterian Church.

Senior High Youth of the church are sponsoring a spaghetti dinner before the performance Thursday to raise funds for a summer work project. Tickets are $2.25 for adults, $1.75 for students and $1 for children 5-12 years old.

Six young people were confirmed at Epiphany Lutheran Church on Sunday, May 18, at a special festival communion service.

Lori Ann Erickson, John M. Stuef, Anita Louise Nickloff, Amy Lee Pearson, David Scott Boye and Amy Lu Wilken were received into the adult membership of the congregation, having successfully completed three years of instruction in the beliefs and practices of the Christian Church.

Special music marked the occasion, including a contemporary rendition of the Lord's Prayer by Eileen Miller and two solos by Bette Lynn Nowka.

The congregation is a mission of the Lutheran Church in America and the pastor is the Reverend Fred Prezioso.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARIES—Monsignor Albert Matyn officiated at a mass May 18 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in South Lyon which honored couples married 25 years or more. Pictured here with Monsignor Matyn are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marzolf who, along with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zella, topped the list in number of years married. Both couples are celebrating their 59th anniversaries.

Northville Church To Hear Missionary

Rosa M. Reineker, an Assemblies of God missionary to Germany, will be guest speaker at 2 p. m. Sunday, May 25, at the New Life Assembly of God meeting at First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

The Reverend Donald Hohmann, pastor, has been holding afternoon services weekly at the church. He invites the public to attend this special missions rally.

Miss Reineker first went to Germany in 1962 where she assumed responsibilities of the Sunday school department of the Assemblies of God there. She developed a weekly Sunday school paper for primary-age children and adult quarterlies that were printed in the German language.

She also taught in the Assemblies of God Bible school and in 1967 prepared a Bible correspondence course in German. Her work included supervising camps for children and adults, Sunday school conventions and teacher training courses.

During her past term in the field Miss Reineker was in charge of the International Correspondence Institute in Germany, a worldwide literature distribution program for Christian teaching and evangelism.

Lessons, the Reverend Hohmann explains, are sent from Germany to 32 different countries, reaching German-speaking people all over the world. More than 10,000 people have been reached with the gospel through this ministry.

Before moving to Germany, Miss Reineker was an Assemblies of God missionary to Ceylon where she served for more than 25 years. She conducted children's revivals, teacher training classes and taught in the Bible school as well as translating Sunday school literature into the Tamil language.

Proper planting of gladiolus bulbs now will help assure beautiful blooms later

Glads Offer Riot of Color From July to September

For a riot of color and charming, decorative flowers from July to September plant gladioli successively every two weeks from about mid-April to mid-June.

There is no other tip about cultivating easy-to-grow gladioli quite so important as succession plantings.

Introduced into Europe from South Africa little more than a century ago, this huge iridaceous genus, consisting of some 150 species, has become world leader among summerflowering bulbs. Skillful Dutch hybridization has and is continuing to make available to the amateur gardener at low cost an almost endless choice of new and beautiful varieties.

These varieties come in a virtually unlimited range of colors, including the most delicate pastels as well as strong, bright hues.

Of the three types of gladioli hybrids for Spring planting available there is no doubt whatsoever that the largeflowered group provides the widest choice of varieties and makes the biggest impact. But the gladioli fancier will also welcome the primulus hybrids, with flower spikes about two-thirds the size of the largeflowered varieties, and the small-flowered or "Butterfly" gladioli more recently introduced by the Dutch.

The successful cultivation of all types of summerflowering gladioli is the same. Almost any soil will do but to produce the best flower spikes the soil should be enriched with humus—peat, compost or leafmould and should have good drainage. Always prepare the ground well in advance, digging at least 8-10 inches deep and working in 3 ounces of a complete garden fertilizer per square yard. Remember that gladioli do not like freshly manured ground.

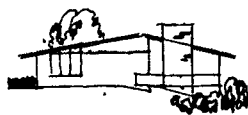

Choose sunny and sheltered positions where the wind will not play havoc with tall stems. Gladioli make most decorative plants in beds and borders but don't site them with tall plants in the herbaceous border or among shrubs. For cutting purposes a sunny part of the vegetable garden is ideal.

What's Doing In Your Garden?

By KATHY COPLEY

Here is a quick run-down on what is — or ought to be — happening in your lawn and garden now.

VEGETABLES: Anything you plan to plant can be in the ground now, including those plants which require warm soil, like melons, cucumbers, squash, and beans. Add lots of sand to the spot where you plant melons. The sand helps the soil warm up faster each day for better and faster growth. Melons require a longer season than we can depend on here, so help them make the most of each sunny day.

Tomatoes develop blossoms only after they have thirteen leaves, so I'm told, so don't get anxious.

ROSES: They will be blooming soon, an effort which requires more water and fertilizer than just growing does. As the blooms fade, cut them off to promote more.

When you cut flowers, leave at least 2 five-leaved leaves on the stem so the plant can go on converting sunlight into growth.

LAWN: Cut no more than one-third the length of the grass at a single mowing or you'll diminish its food producing ability, to say nothing of the ugly brown spots you'll reveal.

A lawn with various sized rings of dying or dead grass has fusarium blight, a contagious, soil-borne fungus. A variety of products and ministrations contain and control these fairy rings, as they are sometimes called. Consult a lawn specialist or nursery you trust and follow their advice. In some cases, fusarium is quite hard to control, so I don't want to get into recommending specific products.

The lawn's heaviest growth is in May, so you should have fertilized. A second treatment in June will help develop a good root system to get the grass through the summer. It will look better if you fertilize again in July and August, but the grass can get along without those two applications.

Water deeply once a week (rather than shallowly and frequently) to promote deep root growth. This will also help the grass get through the hot summer months in better shape.

ANNUALS: They can all be in by now. Don't forget to water them well and frequently at first, while the roots become accustomed to their new surroundings. Keep the faded flowers picked off to prevent seed production and prolong bloom time.

Here's Scoop On 'Droop'

One day your vegetable seedlings looked fine. The next day they were beginning to droop. Soon they were lying limp and shriveled on the soil. What happened?

The problem was probably "damping off," a fungus disease that frequently attacks seedlings — both indoors and outside. The best way to prevent it, according to plant pathologists at Michigan State University, is to use sterile soil, clean containers and disease-free seed.

For starting seeds indoors, buy sterile soil from your local garden supply center or sterilize garden soil yourself. You can steam soil in a pressure cooker or bake it in the oven for about the length of time needed to cook a medium potato. After sterilizing, add any necessary nutrients.

Buy seed from a reliable dealer, the MSU experts advise. Choose disease-tolerant or disease-resistant varieties whenever possible, and buy seed that has been treated with a fungicide.

Lottery Still Sells

LANSING—Michigan's economy may be choking these days, but folks are buying those 50 cent "dream tickets" — chances to win $1 million in the state lottery — at a pretty steady pace.

"If the economy were better, we might be doing better," ventures David Hanson, spokesman for the Lottery Bureau. "And we suspect the economy is having some impact on buying, but we're holding our own."

From July 1, 1974, through March 27, 1975, for instance, some 208 million 50 cent tickets went over the counter. That compares with about 204 million for the same time period the year before.

Another big snowstorm (let's hope not), heavy rains or holidays can throw off the weekly totals. "We can lose half a million sales in just one day of bad weather," Hanson notes. "But there certainly is nothing to panic about."

Seems not. The bureau hopes by June 30 to be ahead of the 274.5 million tickets sold in 1973-74.

That means a steady pace of some 5 million tickets a week until the end of the fiscal year.

ANYONE RENEWING or applying for a new driver's license after October 1, this year may register to vote at the same time under legislation recently finalized in Lansing.

The plan, touted as one that puts Michigan "a step ahead of the rest of the nation in encouraging greater citizen participation in the elective process," also will help clear "deadwood" from voter registration rolls.

"IN THE PAST, (clerks') rolls were swollen with the names of people who no longer resided in their areas," explains Senator Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn, a prime sponsor of the new law. This new procedure is aimed at changing all that.

Here's how it works:

Once a person has registered at a Secretary of State office, election clerks will be notified automatically of changes of address. They, in turn, will then remove the names of those who no longer live in their areas.

McCollough notes also that the law will "eliminate the need to spend thousands of dollars by special interest groups to hold registration drives."

TIME WAS when inmates at the Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson ran a show-place farm, complete with prize dairy herd.

But interest in learning agricultural skills appears to have waned.

"The advantages of this program are much less than they used to be," says Republican Senator Richard Allen of Ithaca. "Very few inmates seek agricultural skills anymore and it's becoming more expensive to produce the food (for prison kitchens) than it is to buy it."

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? Allen thinks it might be best for the state to turn over prison farmlands to educational institutions.

That solution, Allen suggests, would allow continuation of the prison program, through use of prison labor on some projects, and offer more valuable use of the land.

He's proposed a legislative study committee to look into the question and report back to lawmakers next year.

CONFUSION OVER Michigan's new watercraft registration law prompts Secretary of State Richard Austin to issue the following reminder for folks getting their craft ready for spring and summer boating.

That new law requires many formerly unregistered boats to be registered.

All motorboats, for instance, must now be registered, with pontoon boats and motorized canoes both charged a flat fee for three years, regardless of size, and other motorboats charged according to length.

EXEMPT FROM registration: non-powered boats under 12 feet; non-motorized canoes not used for rental or commercial purposes; boats 16 feet or under that are hand-powered and not used for rental or commercial purposes.

Other non-powered boats at least 12 feet long generally are not exempt, and that includes sailboats.

Austin notes also that there no longer is a special boat license plate required for the Great Lakes or connecting waters.

Don't Plant Flowering Rose Bushes

Plant dormant rose plants anytime during May, but don't plant actively growing or flowering potted roses until the threat of frost has passed, says William Carlson, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University.

"Buy rose plants from a reputable source," Carlson advises. "Order them from a mail order nursery or buy from a local garden center or nursery to be sure of a good selection and high quality plants."

Roses should be planted as soon as you get them home, if possible, so prepare the rose bed before you buy the plants. Pick a well drained spot that gets at least a half-day of sunshine every day, he suggests.

"If your soil grows good grass, shrubs and other plants; it'll grow good roses," Carlson declares.

Dig a hole about 15 inches across and 18 inches deep for each plant. Add organic matter to the soil you take out of the hole and mix well. Then use some of the soil to build a cone-shaped mound in the bottom of the hole. Set the plant on the peak of the cone so that the bud union — the swelling at the base of the stem — is about one inch below the surface of the surrounding ground; and spread the roots down the slope.

Fill in the hole carefully, working soil around all the roots and pressing it down firmly.

Mound the soil 8 to 10 inches high around the canes of bush and climbing roses and 3 to 4 inches high around the canes of miniature roses.

This Crop Is Tops

Welcome spring and Michigan's first vegetable crop of the season, tender, fresh asparagus.

As the days get warmer, the tiny green spears spring forth from the earth so rapidly you can almost see them grow. This tasty delicacy is a leading Michigan field crop, according to Marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, and a delight for vegetable lovers everywhere. Asparagus, like most vegetables, has good food value and is low in calories, only about 35 per cup when cooked.

A flavorful new way to serve it is with cheese butter. It also gives added protein. Beat together one-half cup of softened butter and 1/4 teaspoon black pepper until light and fluffy. Blend in one cup of shredded Cheddar cheese and a teaspoon of lemon juice. Recipe makes one cup.

While you're waiting for more garden-fresh Michigan vegetables to appear, you may want to use cheese butter to perk up those canned or frozen vegetables. Try it with cauliflower, broccoli and green beans. It adds a special touch to baked potatoes, too.

Another way to add extra character to vegetables is with herb-flavored butter. Whether you're growing chives in a window box, planting a garden or buying at a roadside stand, herbs are in. For a mild mixture, begin with 1/4 teaspoon of seasonings and 1/4 cup of melted butter. Let herbs stand in butter a while before pouring over the vegetables.

Maybe It's Poison Ivy

Got An Itch for Spring?

In some families, the sign that spring has finally arrived is not the first robin or crocus but the first time Johnny comes home with poison ivy.

Whether he brushed against it, or wrestled with the dog and picked it up from its coat, or walked through the smoke of burning poison ivy; chances are he's pretty uncomfortable.

"A lot of the accidental poisonings from poison ivy and poison sumac could be prevented if people would learn to recognize these plants and avoid them," says Jesse Saylor, Michigan State University horticulture specialist.

One small problem with this approach to preventive medicine is that poison ivy can occur as woody vines, trailing shrubs or erect woody shrubs. It may grow deep in moist, dark woods, in very dry soil on exposed hillsides or right in your own backyard. Leaf forms are variable too, though leaves almost always occur in groups of three. They never occur in pairs along the stem.

The presence of flowers or fruit makes identification somewhat easier, Saylor observes, because both flowers and fruit occur in clusters on slender stems that come out of the angles between the leaves and the woody twigs.

Poison sumac grows as a coarse woody shrub or small tree, never as a vine. It usually grows on the edge of swamps or bogs in wet, acid soil. Its leaves are arranged in three to six pairs along a central rib with a single leaf at the end of the rib.

Nonpoisonous sumacs always have the flowers and fruits clustered at the tips of the limbs, while poison sumac flowers and fruits are always found along the sides of the branches.

If you know you're susceptible to poisoning by these plants — and very few people are completely immune — avoiding them is your best protection. And to avoid them, you have to learn to identify them on sight.

"If nothing else, you can make a point of staying away from any plant that has clusters of three leaves," Saylor suggests. "You'll spend some time detouring around a lot of nonpoisonous plants, but you should be able to avoid most of the bad ones."

Staying out of the woods and away from picturesque, vine-draped fences isn't enough, Saylor warns: poison ivy often lurks unsuspected in the heart of town, masquerading as an ornamental vine.

The poisoning substance in poison ivy and poison oak is found in all parts of the plant, Saylor says. The skin must come in contact with this substance for poisoning to occur. Clothing or pets may brush against the plants and transfer the toxin to humans, and smoke from burning plants may carry it far from the plant itself.

Symptoms of poisoning may occur in a few hours or after several days, but MSU health specialists say effective measures to get rid of the toxin before poisoning occurs should be taken within a few minutes of contact, if possible.

Begin by washing, even if signs of inflammation have already started to show. Lather with a soap like Fels Naphtha to remove the oily toxin. A second lathering allowed to dry on the affected area is a very good first treatment.

After washing, treat inflamed skin with cold compresses, calamine lotion or some other poison ivy lotion or cream. Ice wrapped in a cloth is quick and easy to obtain.

If the poisoning victim is allergic to the toxin and home treatments do not relieve the itching and irritation, consult a physician.

Here's Shade Plant Tips

When considering what to plant in shady garden areas, home gardeners need to recognize that there are many kinds of shade: low shade, high shade, light shade, deep shade, dry shade, moist shade, morning shade and afternoon shade.

Some plants recommended for shade will grow only in one kind of shade, while others will tolerate a wide range of conditions.

Impatiens, begonias and coleus are by far the most successful flowering annuals for a wide range of shade conditions. About the only two difficult shade conditions for them are deep shade caused by a dense canopy of leaves, or dry shade. Nothing else in the flower kingdom can match these three plants for long-lasting color in shady areas, especially the improved varieties of all three now widely available from bedding plant outlets.

Hybridizing has greatly improved impatiens and wax begonias. Improved varieties cost a little more than the old standard varieties but the improved vigor, increased flower production and greater weather-tolerance makes the extra cost worthwhile.

Coleus has also been improved in recent years. Although the flower spikes are insignificant, the foliage comes in a brilliant range of colors, including pink, red, yellow, lime green and orange. Some are exotically streaked or blotched with several different colors in the leaves. Others are delightfully fringed with a contrasting color around the edge.

Just a few plants will make a bold display, since coleus will spread 18 inches or more apart when the lead shoot is pinched off to encourage branching from the base. They are not fussy about soil requirements and will give satisfactory display even in poor soil.

There is a wonderful choice among wax begonias, from multi-flowered and large-flowered to green-leaved and bronze-leaved varieties. Since the popularity of this group has increased enormously in recent years, bedding-plant outlets are sure to have a good color range already showing some color in packs so that gardeners can readily decide on the right selection for a shade garden.

Begonias thrive in soil to which plenty of peat moss has been added to give the roots the ventilation and cool, moisture-laden environment they need.

Shade-loving impatiens like a soil condition similar to begonias. A really spectacular sight is a bed or border of impatiens edged around the sides with wax begonias in a contrasting color. The color range for begonias includes red, pink, white, tangerine, orchid and bizarre bicolors.

Glads Exhibit Riot of Colors

Planting can begin any time after frost is out of the ground and it is dry enough to work the soil. Succession planting may continue, at intervals of two to four weeks, as late as mid-June for fine spikes in the Autumn.

Place the corms 5-6 inches deep and about 8 inches apart in groups or clusters of a dozen or more. If the soil is heavy place some sand underneath the corms to assist drainage, but on lighter soils this should not be necessary. Do be sure you do not plant too shallowly for this leads to much more staking and good spikes may be lost in heavy winds.

The corms quietly send up slim green leaves in the warm moist spring weather. Hoe carefully and frequently around the plants and keep them well-watered. When leaves are about 6 inches tall give your gladioli another application of fertilizer. As the flower buds start to open the taller varieties of gladioli will need staking and this should be done so as not to damage the corms.

Always leave at least three leaves when you cut gladioli so that the young corms for the following season obtain proper nourishment. To produce healthy corms gladioli like a spell of dry weather for about six weeks after they have finished flowering, by which time the foliage will have turned brown and they will be ready for lifting.

The large-flowered hybrids are the most inexpensive, adaptable and generally the most rewarding. The plants reach 3 1/2 feet in height and come in all colors of the rainbow and more. They are equally at home in the garden or in vases indoors.

What's Doing?

PERENNIALS: If you didn't divide and transplant them yet, don't wait until fall when the cooler weather will give the plants a break. As with annuals, keep the faded flowers picked. Plants like iris and shasta daisies will bloom only once, but achillea and anemone, among others, bloom all summer if you keep the dead flowers picked.

TREES and SHRUBS: Prune spring-flowering trees and shrubs now to promote better shape. Lilacs and forsythia bloom on last year's wood, so shape them after this year's blossoms fade so they will be in shape for next spring.

Fertilize trees which have been in your yard for more than a year. First-year trees get plenty of fertilizer at the nursery to last them through their crucial first year.

WEEDS: Maybe you don't have the money or the energy to get rid of dandelions, etc. But at least be generous to your neighbors by mowing the flowers off before they go to seed. One weedy lawn can cause a whole neighborhood unnecessary grief.

Doubleheader to Decide Fate of Novi Nine

OUT IN DOUBT—Randy Wroten slides into home with what would have been the tying run in the bottom half of the seventh. But the ump called Wroten, who earlier had doubled home a runner, out at the plate to trigger a string of Novi protests. The Wildcats lost the game, 4-3, after winning the opening game of the twin bill, 5-3.

Three Victories Help

Mustang Nine Moves into Second

There were plenty of smiles last week as the Northville nine jumped into second place in the Western six with three league victories. The Mustangs also dropped a non-league contest to Redford Union.

Opening up action last week against Waterford Mott, John Boland allowed only two hits on way to striking out 11 as Northville walloped Waterford Mott 7-2.

Mott jumped off to a quick 2-0 lead scoring single tallies in the second and third. Northville tied it up in the bottom of the fourth and went ahead 3-2 in the fifth. The sixth inning was the big blow as Northville bunched six hits to score five runs and put the game out of reach.

Brian Piccolo was the big gun during the game tallying two hits in three trips while being credited with two RBIs.

Boland came on again Wednesday and fired a one hitter to beat Livonia

Churchill 1-0. Neither team was able to score in that game until the bottom of the seventh when Northville shoved across a run by way of a walk with the bases loaded. Northville tallied five hits during the contest.

A make-up game with Waterford Mott ended with a 5-3 victory for Northville in the second clash of the week.

The Corsairs scored one run in the bottom of the first but Northville came back in the fourth with a walk and a pair of hits including an RBI single by Norm Boerger.

Northville tallied four times in the top of the seventh with four hits and two walks and Scott Leu's single drove in two of the runs.

With Northville leading 5-1, Mott utilized a pair of hits, a walk and an error to score two runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Norm Boerger recorded the victory to even his record at 1-1. He only allowed six hits. Dean Mitchell was the losing pitcher against Redford Union as that team scored one run in the bottom of the first.

Jim LaPlante drove in one run in the second inning and then scored himself on an error to put Northville ahead for a short time. But Redford Union shoved across three runs on three hits and an error in the fourth. The opposition added two runs in the fifth and another in the sixth.

The week's action leaves Northville 6-3 in league play. "We've been playing well," commented coach Chuck

Study Examinations

Physical examinations for students entering the sixth and ninth grades in Northville is being studied by the school board.

According to Assistant Superintendent Florence Panattoni, examinations are now required by state law only at the kindergarten level. The proposal for additional exams at the beginning of middle school and high school would be optional.

"Parents may elect not to have their children participate by filing a letter," she pointed out, noting that if exams were a mandatory policy established by the district the district might have to pay for doctors' fees.

Jaycees Set

June 21

For Derby

Sponsored by the Northville Jaycees, the sixth annual Soap Box Derby will be held in just a little more than three weeks.

Date of this year's derby is Saturday, June 21 and races will begin at 10 a.m. on the Maplewood Street Hill.

Two racers per heat will compete in the double elimination contest. Trophies will be awarded to the first, second, and third place finishers.

There are no entry fees for the derby, which is open to all community youngsters between the ages of eight and 13 years. Advance registration is not required.

The Jaycees have laid out the following rules for the competition.

1. Each racer must have four wheels set on two parallel axles.
2. Wheel diameter must not exceed 16 inches and the car must run only on gravity. No meters of any type are permitted.
3. The racer must have some sort of steering system.
4. The racer must have some sort of braking system.
5. The driver must wear a protective helmet of some sort.
6. Judges may disqualify a racer if it is in unsafe operating condition or violates the spirit of the above rules.

Advance registration may be sent to Matt Wolfe at 24675 Old Orchard in Novi. For further information, contact Wolfe at 477-0119.

It boils down to this: Novi has got to win at least one game out of tomorrow's doubleheader or relinquish its season-long grip on the Southeastern Conference lead.

Following its split with Brighton in Saturday's twinbill, the Wildcats are 9-1 as they head for Ypsilanti Lincoln Thursday to dual the second place Railsplitters (8-2).

Still within striking distance of the two leaders are the Bulldogs of Brighton, who entered this next to last week of league action in third place with a record of 7-3.

Should the Railsplitters take both ends of Thursday's doubleheader, Coach Rick Trudeau's nine would find itself sharing second place with the squad that dealt Novi its first league loss of the season last Saturday.

Brighton still has Saline and South Lyon to play, and Novi must host Milan on Tuesday.

Huddled with his players following Saturday's action, Trudeau cautioned the Wildcats not to concede even one of today's games. It will take a double victory, he told them, to take the title outright. "I don't know about you buy I don't like sharing the title with anyone. I want it all to myself," he declared.

"Whatever you do don't let today's loss get you down," he told his players. "You proved you could bounce back. Keep that in mind if the situation confronts you again in the future."

The coach, as did his players before him, had a few words for the call at the plate that erased a tying run at the plate late in Saturday's nightcap. And they weren't kind words.

The Wildcats had moved within one run of the visiting club in the top of the seventh,

4-3, on a walk and a double off the bat of Randy Wroten who dashed into third on the throw.

When Wroten attempted to streak home with the tying run on a fly out, Center fielder Dave Lawson fired a shot to the plate to cut him down in a cloud of dust. The call triggered a storm of protest by Novi players who insisted Wroten was safe.

In the first game, the Wildcats used a pair of homers to defeat the Bulldogs, 5-3.

Brighton erupted for all three of its runs in the top of the first inning on a pair of singles and a double off the bat of Pitcher Tony Hutton.

The Wildcats bounced back with two runs in their half of the inning, with Novi's Bill Barr smashing a four-bagger to deep left center with one man on. Wroten had led things off with a single to put him on base when Barr came to the plate.

In the second inning, Novi moved into a 4-3 lead on the two-run homer by Dave Piotrowicz, the lanky hurler's longest blast of his career.

Novi added its insurance run in the fifth on two singles, a walk, hit batter and a stolen base.

Piotrowicz picked up his sixth victory without a loss, giving up five hits and three walks while striking out nine Brighton batters. Hutton fanned seven and was nicked for four hits and two walks.

In that second game, Southpaw Pat McAllen pitched well but the Bulldogs worked him for several scratch hits that hurt badly.

He gave up a total of seven hits, two walks, and struck out only four.

All-sports star Dave Lew Allen picked up the victory for the Bulldogs, dishing up four hits and four walks while striking out eight Novi batters.

Brighton opened up its scoring attack in the bottom of the third, uncorking three hits that produced the game's first run. That one-run lead held up until the sixth inning when Novi pushed across a pair of runs on a single by Ron Buck, a hit batter, stolen base and a walk.

Novi's 2-1 edge was shortlived, however, because in its half of the sixth Brighton exploded for three runs on four hits—two doubles and an equal number of singles.

The score was 4-2 when Novi rallied in the seventh, pushing across one run before that controversial play at the plate erased all local hopes of victory.

Earlier last week, the Wildcats staged another futile rally against neighboring Walled Lake Western, which came up on the top side of a 3-2 score.

Down 3-0 going into the seventh, Novi's Ron Buck led it off with a walk, followed by another free pass to Eddie Brown. Mike Collins and Doug Maier followed with singles to produce two runs. A strike-out, however, ended the threat.

Scott Parsons was tagged with the loss. He gave up six hits, walked one and struck out five. Novi came up with five hits and an equal number of walks.

PARSON to PERSON

Cedric Whitcomb, Pastor

Dr. Schuyler English, a fine and well-known Bible teacher of a generation ago, relates the following story.

The man approached me in the lobby of a resort hotel. "You're Schuyler English, aren't you?" Although our paths had crossed frequently many years ago, we had never been more than casual acquaintances. After a few general comments, I asked him, "What are you doing now?"

"I'm retired. By the way," he added, "the reason I made myself known to you is because I used to hear my brother mention you from time to time. He was a minister before his death and owned some of your books. He got me to read a pamphlet you wrote, too!"

Assuming my old acquaintance shared the faith of his brother, I told him what a happy experience I always have in meeting a fellow believer. At that moment his wife joined us and he introduced her to me. Then he said, "My brother had all our family's religion. He used to keep after me to turn to Christ, as he put it. Who knows, maybe someday I will."

"It's getting pretty late," I told him. "Today is the day of salvation."

"You sound just like my brother!" Taking his wife's arm he led her away, saying with a smile, "We'll be seeing you."

Nine days later I read his name in the obituary column. You don't have forever to receive Christ.

Refuse to Ratify Contract

to any additional concessions. When Superintendent Gerald Kratz suggested the district next year would have to consider a millage hike no matter what salary increase is granted teachers, Secretary Ray Warren suggested an increased state equalized valuation could, if of sufficient size, make a millage increase unnecessary.

DeWaard's major objection was one used by board members here and elsewhere before — namely that built-in increases on the salary step schedule constitute salary increases. Instead of the superintendent's projected 12-percent increase over the three year lifetime of the contract, DeWaard said his calculations placed the increase over the three year period at about 28 percent. He said the current contract contained a 16.9 percent salary increase.

"We always talk of holding the line," he declared. "I hope some day a school district will step forward and really hold the line."

Superintendent Kratz replied that the courts have ruled that built-in contractual increments, which reflect seniority, cannot be interpreted as salary increases.

Quipped Warren, "Even though the courts have ruled, it's still new money" that taxpayers must provide.

Here's the major provisions of the contract proposal approved by the board but rejected by teachers:

First Year—1975-76
1. Salary schedule increased approximately three percent.
2. Extra curriculum schedule for girl coaches increased.

Second Year—1976-77
1. Salary schedule reflecting an upward cost of living adjustment of from a minimum of three percent to a maximum of five percent.

2. Driver education rate increased to $7.75 per hour.
3. Dental insurance premium increased from $7.50 to $8.50 maximum.

Third Year—1977-78
1. Salary schedule increased one percent.
2. Board of education paid retirement.

3. Driver education rate increased to $8 per hour.
4. Dental insurance premium increased to $9.50 maximum.

In addition to the foregoing, the proposed contract would have modified the grievance procedure, eliminated the five-year leave plan for pregnant teachers, and it would have provided for a 183-day school year — longer than any area school district.

Negotiators for the two sides had been meeting for several weeks when they entered a marathon 12½ hour session Monday night, finally reaching tentative agreement at 4:30 a.m.

Wixom Residents Protest Rezoning Novi's Five-Year Census Set to Start Next Week

Several dozen residents showed up at the Wixom Council meeting opposing a proposed zoning change to allow a truck terminal to be established at the corner of Napier and Grand River Roads.

The zoning proposal, which was set for a public hearing last Tuesday, requested that the northeast corner of Napier and Grand River Roads be rezoned from RA1 (single family residential) to M1 (light manufacturing).

Purpose is to set up a truck terminal to service huge semi's. The planning commission had previously denied the request. The petitioner, owner Stanley Hayes, requested that the matter be held over to a future meeting since his attorney could not be present.

Council moved to have the public hearing postponed to June 10 and for expenses of the change to be picked up by the petitioner.

But several dozen residents indicated they had come to the meeting to show their opposition to the zoning change and according to spokesman George Johns, "we're of the same opinion that the council should go along with the planning commission and stop this spot zoning."

Johns stated that Grand River should not go further than commercial zoning.

"We heard the pitch that it meant only 15 trucks a day, but you take 15 twice at the beginning and end of the day...We have an industrial park and I think the council would agree there's plenty of room there," said Johns.

Added another resident, "I think what we're doing is looking for another Novi. I think we're going to get the same thing if we go with spot planning."

Council also approved spending $2,705 as Wixom's portion of the cost of a communication system which would be used by Wixom's police department as well as other departments throughout the area.

Total cost of the system is to be $150,000 with the federal government paying 90 percent of the cost, state government five percent, and the local communities involved another five percent.

Currently a high band is used by the Wixom police department as well as most of the police departments throughout Oakland County. The new system would allow the participating police agencies to utilize two low frequency bands — one for emergency calls only and the other for more lengthy transmissions of a non-emergency nature.

Main transmitter is in Milford with repeater stations throughout the area allowing local departments to broadcast as far as Detroit.

Motion for the city to go with the new program was passed unanimously.

Tom Foley, director of the Walled Lake Alcohol and Drug Education program returned to the council to ask if the organization will be funded this coming year by Wixom.

"If you hadn't come to our rescue, we would have been out of business the last three months of last year," said Foley. Council indicated a decision would be made at a budget session on the matter.

Council concurred with Mayor Val Vangieson to allow the city hall during the summer to be open from 8:30 to 5 p.m. It had been open until 5:30 p.m. previously.

Council upon questioning, refused to release to the press the Michigan Municipal League wage schedule which it had recently received.

If a strange person knocks at the door sometime shortly after May 28, there's a good possibility that person is one of 17 enumerators with the task of contacting each household in Novi for a complete census of the city.

Originally the census was intended to provide the city with a count so it could throw open the doors for more liquor licenses to be issued, but according to Assistant Manager John Merrifield, who is heading the activity, the census may provide help on other fronts as well.

"It will give us a chance to have more liquor licenses, but it will give us more information to help in the years to come and that's more important to me," says Merrifield.

While residents are only required to answer the first question on the census which asks for names, ages and address, there are five other questions on the census which Merrifield says will provide very helpful information.

Specifically, the census also asks:

1. Is there more than one person employed full time in the household?
2. Does the head of the household work in Novi and if not, in what city?
3. Do you have more than one auto, truck, or similar utility vehicle in your household? If yes, how many?

4. Are there any domestic or exotic animals in this household?

5. Do you or the members of your family use the City of Novi park facility?

Merrifield notes, for instance, that the question concerning city of employment could help in the city's attempt to bring additional county dollars for improving Novi Road.

Merrifield adds that the first question, which asks the age of Novi's residents, will enable the city to have exact figures on how many are senior citizens or in any other age category.

"There are two bills pending in the House and the Senate to get a census every five years," adds Merrifield. "This would be a great benefit to a city like Novi. All of your state formulas for revenue sharing are based on the federal census." The 1970 census showed Novi at 9,668 while it's currently estimated at 17,000.

"If these bills should become law, there's a good chance we should not have to duplicate this since, we already have it."

The census, which will cost the city $2,500 to $3,000 is being conducted by the Secretary of State's office upon request by Novi Council.

A meeting of the enumerators with state officials to go over various points concerning the census is scheduled for May 28 and, according to Merrifield, the census should be completed within six days after that, based upon state estimates.

Merrifield adds that the first question, which asks the age of Novi's residents, will enable the city to have exact figures on how many are senior citizens or in any other age category.

'PAN' RECIPIENTS—Forensic team members Ellen Meyer (left) and Devon Glenn have been named winners of the Miss Pan Award, a forensic award named in honor of Assistant Superintendent and former Northville High forensic coach Florence Panattoni (center). The large trophy is kept on display at the school and contains names of the annual winners with the girls retaining the individual trophies. The Miss Pan Award, according to forensic coach Mary Freydl, was instituted last year and is given for outstanding ability in competition; for superior effort, dedication and creativity in preparation; and for cooperative attitude and adherence to rules of the Michigan High School Forensic Association and its code of conduct for competitors.

Police Blotter: Accident, Thefts, Assault Top Activity

In Northville

A motorcyclist escaped injury Sunday night after he was struck by a car on northbound Hines Drive, 300 feet south of Seven Mile.

The Northville cyclist told police he was northbound on Hines Drive when a red Chevrolet struck his bike in the rear, pushing him about 50 feet and imbedding the cycle in the car's grille.

The motorist got out of his car, looked at the damage and then returned to the vehicle and backed his car to the athletic field drive and fled. The cyclist gave chase but lost him on Northville Road.

Witnesses to the hit and run accident said the car had different front and rear license plate numbers. Investigation is continuing.

Approximately $300 damage was done to a new car on display in the lower level of Northville Square.

Reported Sunday afternoon, the damage included scratches and gouges from front to rear of the 1975 Chevrolet.

Breaking and entering of an auto was reported Tuesday morning after an am-fm stereo, speakers and tapes were stolen.

The car was broken into late Monday or early Tuesday while it was parked on Base Line near Center. Missing items are valued at $250.

A 26-inch green and silver Schwinn girl's bicycle was stolen Sunday from Hutton and Dunlap streets. The bicycle was taken about 3:15 p.m.

Nearly $200 in lawn furniture was stolen from a garage on Thayer near Orchard Drive.

The theft, reported last week, took place during the past three months while the owners were vacationing. Police said five wooden lawn chairs and a chaise lounge were taken.

The city water reservoir behind Northville High was broken into between Wednesday and Thursday. Damage and missing items totaled $100.

In Township

Township police spent more than three hours Sunday investigating a rape-abduction report, only to find out the whole incident had been made up.

The woman confessed to a nurse at St. Mary Hospital at 6 p.m. Sunday that none of her story was true. She was later found to have escaped from Northville State Hospital.

Officers answering a call at Six Mile and Winchester Drive Sunday found the woman lying on her back alongside the road in a semi-conscious condition. She told police she had been abducted in Ann Arbor about 10 a.m., beaten and raped.

Township officers recovered two other walkaways from the state hospital over the weekend. One was found about 4 p.m. Saturday on Seven Mile near Haggerty and the other was found at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in a field on Six Mile Road west of Haggerty.

An am-fm radio valued at $325 was stolen from a car parked in the 16200 area of Winchester Drive late Saturday or early Sunday.

Police said the driver's side door was forced to gain entry to the car.

A 16-year old Livonia youth was apprehended after he took a picnic table from Hines Drive near Phoenix Lake. The youth was stopped by Livonia Police and the table confiscated.

Breaking and entering a home on Six Mile Road between Napier and Ridge was reported to police last week.

Unknown persons forced open a side door to gain entry and took a stereo valued at $170. Also stolen were lawn furniture, rose bushes and house paints.

In Novi

A 37 year-old Novi man was arrested May 12 for resisting arrest and for assault and battery of police officers.

According to reports, Novi officers were investigating a larceny of some styrofoam

Holiday Weekend's Dangerous for Kids

Michigan State Police records show the Memorial Day weekend is of particularly great danger for children, according to Lieutenant William Tomczyk.

"Many people will be driving more than normal over the holiday weekend and they must be reminded to be on the lookout for children playing beside or on streets and highways," he said.

"This particular time of year, with its warm weather, first picnics and camping trips of the season, brings children out to play who may not be used to watching for traffic," the Lieutenant added.

The problem is especially serious when the higher volume of traffic on Memorial weekend is considered.

In order to avoid a tragic accident, Lieutenant Tomczyk warns drivers to be alert for the possibility of children dashing into the street in front of cars. Drivers should also keep a careful watch and slow down when they see children near the roadway and when cars are parked alongside the road.

Parks and recreation areas are also dangerous with children often playing in areas where children have no thoughts about oncoming traffic.

"Parents can also play a part in protecting children," Lieutenant Tomczyk added, "by warning children of the dangers involved in failing to look out for traffic."

"Our department hopes no child will be killed or injured over the holiday weekend," he concluded. "We can have an accident free holiday weekend if we all work together."

CITY OF NORTHVILLE CITY OF NOVI NOTICE OF HEARING RE APPORTIONMENTS OF COST RANDOLPH STREET DRAIN PROJECT WAYNE AND OAKLAND COUNTIES

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the cost of the pending Randolph Street Drain Project (estimated at $751,205) has been tentatively apportioned as follows, to wit:

State of Michigan (no highways involved)	00 00000 %
County of Wayne, on account of benefits to county highways	0 32774 %
County of Oakland, on account of benefits to county highways	2.07760 %
City of Novi, Oakland County, Michigan	35.40427 %
City of Northville, Wayne County, Michigan	62.19039 %
	100 00000 %

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that the Drainage Board for said Randolph Street Drain will meet at 3:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, on the 10th day of June, 1975, in the City Hall 215 West Main Street, in the City of Northville, Michigan, for the purpose of hearing any objections to the said apportionments.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that the plans, specifications and estimate of cost of said Randolph Street Drain and also, a description of the area to be served thereby are on file in the office of the Wayne County Drain Commissioner, 3400 Cadillac Tower, Detroit, Michigan. The said estimated cost is $751,205, but the apportionment percentages as finally established by the Drainage Board shall apply to the actual cost of said drain when finally completed.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that at said hearing any public corporation to be assessed, or any taxpayer thereof, will be entitled to be heard.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that after consideration of all objections to the apportionments the Drainage Board shall determine whether the apportionments fairly reflect the benefits to accrue to each public corporation and the extent to which each public corporation contributes to the conditions which make the drain necessary. If the Drainage Board determines that the apportionments are equitable it will enter a Final Order of Apportionment confirming the apportionments Section 536 of Act No. 40, Public Acts of Michigan, 1956, as amended, provides that the Final Order of Apportionment shall not be subject to attack in any court, except by proceedings in certiorari brought within 20 days after the order is filed in the office of the Wayne County Drain Commissioner, the Secretary of the Drainage Board for the Randolph Street Drain, and that if no such proceedings shall be brought within said 20 day period the legality of the assessments for the drain shall not thereafter be questioned in any suit at law or in equity, either on jurisdictional or nonjurisdictional grounds.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that if the Drainage Board enters the Final Order of Apportionment a special assessment roll assessing the estimated cost of the drain against the public corporations in accordance with the confirmed apportionments will be prepared and presented to the Drainage Board for approval. The Drainage Board then intends to issue evidences of indebtedness of the Randolph Street Drainage District in anticipation of the collection of installments of said assessments and the interest thereon. Each public corporation assessed is obligated to levy sufficient taxes to pay the assessment installments and interest as the same become due unless there has been set aside moneys sufficient therefor.

This notice is given to and for the benefit of the aforesaid public corporations and all taxpayers thereof by order of the Drainage Board of the Randolph Street Drain.

DEDICATION—Northville's three new schools were dedicated in a joint ceremony Sunday afternoon at Meads Mill Middle School attended by more than 300 people. Featured speaker was State Senator Carl Pursell with remarks made by principals of the three schools. Superintendent Raymond Spear (above), School Board President Martin Rinehart and the architects. Tours followed the program and included cutting a paper chain made and decorated by children for Silver Springs Elementary and releasing hundreds of balloons with attached return mail post cards at Winchester Elementary. The program also featured performances by the Cooke Middle School band and chorus.

Mayor Daley Won't Run Again

been willing to compromise on one of the other candidates, but "if the choice comes down to one candidate or an election, I hardly call that a compromise solution."

The mayor said that the second main instance of polarization of the council which figured into his decision not to seek re-election is the failure of the council to be able to compromise to the point where Taft Road can be paved.

The main problem there surrounds the dollar figure which the council had to set as an assessment on residents on the road.

Noting that Councilman Campbell had refused to compromise below $14 a front foot for residents because other roads in the city were paved with that $14 a front-foot figure, Daley stated "I'm not too sure $14 a front foot at Meadowbrook was a fair figure. Even if Taft is paved, it wouldn't affect the value of the homes significantly."

"My point is — let's get it paved. While we're sitting around arguing about it, we all end up the loser because of inflation."

As far as his role in the polarization of the council, Daley admitted, "I'm certainly not persuasive enough to get one group or the other to resolve their differences. But I'm not too sure that anyone could."

Also playing a role in the council split, said Daley, was the resignation of former Councilman Athas, who said he was resigning in frustration and in the hope that his resignation would help unify the council. According to Daley, it did just the opposite leaving the council even more divided. Daley said he expects several candidates to be in the running for his position and he has not yet decided who he will support.

"I have to see who's available and what their platform and programs would be. I hope there will be more cooperation between the council and the new mayor."

Daley was elected mayor in 1973 when he defeated incumbent Joseph Crupi by a 3 to 1 margin

Pet Licenses Expire

DOG LICENSES in Northville township expire Saturday, May 31, and officials estimate that nearly 400 people have not purchased the one-year licenses for their pets. Deputy Treasurer Kay Ratliff said the licenses will cost $2 through May 31 and $4 from June 1 on. Licenses may be obtained from the treasurer's office between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily.

Corrects Statement

A statement in last week's Novi News attributed to Novi's city manager is incorrect, according to manager Ed Kriewall.

That statement, in an article about the proposed budget, voiced concern by Kriewall that resignations had hurt various city departments not only because of numbers but because some strategic people had resigned leaving less essential employees to carry on.

Kriewall denied that he had used those terms or intended to mean that attrition by happenstance had hurt the city. The city has been hurt by the loss of the great number of employees, however, Kriewall said.

A lot of people are looking into ways to beat inflation these days.

And that's one of the reasons many people are looking into a new home these days.

Given the economic trend of recent years, almost any sound, well-located home is likely to increase in market value over the years.

As such, a home can often prove to be a sound hedge against inflation.

Many homes that sold for $25,000 ten years ago, for example, are selling for $40,000 to $50,000 today.

Tax break.

In addition to a possibly appreciating investment, you also get a tax break when you own a home.

Under present law, both your property taxes and mortgage interest payments are tax deductible.

And that's in addition to the new tax credit of up to $2,000 which may be available to you under the Tax Reduction Act of 1975.

Lower interest rates.

Interest rates on home mortgages have been declining recently.

Couple that with the advantage of buying in a buyer's market and you can see why more and more people are looking at new homes today.

Mortgage money is available.

We have more of it to loan right now, in fact, than any bank in town.

We also offer you the convenience of being able to apply for a mortgage loan at any NBD office, and close at an NBD office in your neighborhood in as little as two weeks after approval. Which are two more reasons more people come to us for their mortgage loan than any other bank in town.

If you're considering a new home, why not visit your nearby office of National Bank of Detroit.

We'll be happy to tell you how much your mortgage will cost, what your monthly payments are likely to be, and answer any other questions you might have.

Which is another reason we make more mortgage loans than any other bank in town.

Making banking better for you.

HIGHER MORTGAGE RATES ?

There is danger of higher mortgage interest rates. Anyone planning to buy a home soon, may find procrastination costly in terms of increased financing costs and higher sales prices because of inflation. Interestingly, higher interest was not inspired by the recent rise in FHA-VA rates (to 8½ from 8 per cent). When those agencies agreed on 8 per cent effective March 3 of this year, they knew they were going below the market. HUD's own research proves that the effective interest rate at that time was 8.99 per cent. However, they hoped this move would encourage lenders everywhere to follow their lead. It didn't work out that way. Not only did rates sneak above 8 per cent, they are under pressure to go higher.

Bankers interviewed recently predict that mortgage money will become more expensive and harder for prospective borrowers to qualify for. The loan officer of a large midwest bank has said, "We plan to be more selective in granting future loans, both short- and long-term. I think this will be a developing trend with lenders throughout the country as borrower demand increases."

BRUCE ROY REALTY, INC. 150 N. Center St., Northville 349-8700, has ample mortgage money available and will be happy to show you how home ownership can be within your reach. Call us today and talk with one of our friendly staff who will be happy to answer any questions you may have regarding real estate. Open 7 days a week.

Book Group Opens Here; Mark Twain's Next Topic

The Northville Library Book Discussion Group met for the first time Thursday in the Old Library Building at the Mill Race Historical Village.

Approximately 35 people attended the showing of the film "Future Shock." Afterwards there was a discussion of the many issues and questions the film raised, Anne Vargo, community service librarian reported.

On Friday afternoon, a group of 25 people attended the special senior citizens matinee of the same film and discussion followed.

At the evening presentation, there was a wide range of age groups present, from high schoolers through senior citizens.

"We all agreed on the value of expressing ideas and opinions in this way, especially since it has become more and more rare for people of varying age groups to get together and talk about the controversial issues of our times," commented the community service librarian.

The second session of the Book Discussion Group will focus on Mark Twain, in an attempt to explore our historical roots. Those who wish to participate should read (or re-read) "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," as well as one other work by or about this author.

Suggestions for a second book include "The Gilded Age," one of the earliest and most bitterly satirical of Twain's works; "Letters from the Earth," a philosophical work written later in his career and published posthumously; and "The Autobiography of Mark Twain," for insights into the background of the amazing Samuel Clemens.

The discussion group will begin with a short film, entitled "An Interview with Mark Twain," in which Hal Holbrook does his impersonation of the author.

The meeting will again take place in the Old Library Building one evening during the third week of June. Due to scheduling difficulties, a definite date has not been set as yet but persons may call the library for details in the near future. Admission is free, though donations are appreciated, Miss Vargo added.

FIRST PLACE WRITER—Sophomore Carolyn Calmes became Northville High School's first top prize winner in the National Scholastic Writing Contest. Carolyn, who earned one of three first places in the contest with her essay on "Aging in America," will receive a certificate and $100. Entries in all categories of the contest, open to tenth through twelfth graders in the United States and 11 foreign countries, totaled 17,000. Commented her teacher, Pat Dorrian, "Northville has had winners in the contest before but Carolyn is our only first place recipient."

Council Borrows From Water Fund

Novi Council will be going to the Water Fund to solve its cash flow problems for this fiscal year. The matter was brought to the attention of the council Monday by city Controller Frances Loyne who said that "payless paydays" would occur if the council did not take action. Mrs. Loyne requested that the council allow her to borrow up to $75,000 from the water fund, though she noted that expected need is only $40,000. Council voted 5-1 to allow Mrs. Loyne to borrow up to $50,000 at 6 percent interest from the waterfund to pay employees. She is to come back to the council if need is greater.

According to the controller, the city is expecting to receive state revenue sharing and delinquent tax, fund monies from the county which will total more than $75,000 after the fiscal year ends and the lack of these monies at this time requires borrowing from the water fund for 5-6 weeks until that money comes in. This is the second time that Novi Council has agreed to allow borrowing of money from the Water Fund. The city had borrowed $165,000 from the Water Fund in 1974 to meet cash flow problems and to take care of an approximate $29,000 deficit. The money was later paid back in increments.

district would have to agree to go along with the plan or the highway department would have to go with a secondary plan. "We are doing route location studies on this project," A. Ross Heath, a highway department engineer told this newspaper. "We're in the preliminary stages. We have come up with no definite solutions on how to handle the school."

According to Heath, the project has become the top priority of the state highway department as it wants the project completed before the Dayton-Hudson shopping center opens in mid 1977.

"It's going to be a traffic generator," he added. "We would like to let a contract for improving the structure (bridge) by the latter part of 1976. Whether we can make it, I don't know. We're on a tight timetable."

Heath added that there have been a multitude of preliminary plans for the bridge improvements but by the end of this summer a decision should be made as to which way the state will go.

While the plan requiring the school property is high on the list of consideration, a second plan also has been presented which would call for a greater than 10 degree grade which would leave the school standing as the first piece of property south of the bridge.

But according to Heath, "We like to have the interchange protected from commercial development."

Health noted that the highway department plans to coordinate its efforts closely with the county, city, and school district.

Noting that the Novi Elementary is a "serviceable school," Dr. Kratz said "What I'm recommending is that we plan on using it for two years unless the highway department wants it. We would sell it to them for what it would cost to replace it."

Estimated cost for replacing the structure is $1.5 million Kratz said last week.

Kratz noted that the school definitely will be used next year and that the question mark appears to be over its use in the 1976-77 school year. With a new elementary school currently under construction, students scheduled to use Novi Elementary in 1976-77 could, as a temporary measure, use the new elementary building until a new structure is built using the purchase money from the highway department.

Construction of a second elementary school could still be necessary even if the highway department decided not to purchase the school, Kratz said. He indicated that students scheduled for Novi Elementary as early as the 1977-78 school year could be moved to the second elementary school. In that case, Novi Elementary would continue to be used for "educational purposes," and possible in conjunction with the community education program, as well as for storage space.

intermediate additional office needs;

5. To enlarge the existing police department space to eliminate various critical space problems within this department including immediate accessibility to the public;

6. to create a police garage space for the winter inspection of police vehicles relative to maintenance and the storage of vehicles.

Meanwhile, the addition work is intended to create a library department; create flexible recreation department space; create a building and future additional planning section; to create additional record and equipment storage space for the building; and create a large meeting room.

The total building is designed to conserve energy by the elimination of large glass areas and with proper insulation construction, minimize maintenance requirements and to provide proper control and utilization of mechanical and electrical equipment within the total building.

Commenting on various points, Winebrenner noted that in his opinion, the recreation department will not be at the city hall after five years.

He also said that the present heating system will be completely abandoned and seven different and distinct zones relative to sun and wind will be set up which can be individually shut off. Air, either warm or cold can bypass individual zones to allow maximum utilization in occupied areas — such as during a meeting on a hot and humid day.

According to the architects, site costs relative to roadwork will be $32,000 for deceleration and acceleration lanes and due to inefficient parking problems on the site.

Winebrenner added that the prime considerations are to provide solid police, library, and recreation centers; plan for future considerations; and to take care of some untenable present situations. Councilman Gunnar Mettala noted that "I can see where the 52nd District Court will use it if we go with it." Council is expected soon to make a decision whether or not to go with the design as presented.
