Ford's Idea Gives City New Symbol

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Ford's "better idea" in Northville is a sweetheart contract that has got to be the most unusual agreement ever hammered out by labor and management.

Believe it or not, the contract at the Ford Valve Plant specifies that the company must provide grain that employees feed to the ducks inhabiting the grounds in and around the plant.

"It's the best thing Ford or this union ever did," smiles Ed Smith of Salem, a Ford security guard who with two other employees shares the chore of feeding the ducks — many of which are the wild variety that elsewhere will soon make the hunters' hearts dance for joy.

The ducks, which normally may number about 200, have become more symbolic of Northville than the nearby Northville Spring, say Smith and others. Dozens of spectators watch them every weekend, according to Smith, "and even during the week we have people coming out to see them."

Oldtimers say Ford had been feeding the ducks for years, but only in recent years has UAW Local 896 insisted that this practice be put into writing.

So now when those big trucks are sent to Northville from Dearborn with steel and supplies for the manufacture of valves, there's a good chance that several bags of corn also will be aboard.

"I don't really know how much we feed them in a week's time," says Ed, "but during the peak period in the winter I'll bet they go through 200 pounds easily."

"There have been times I'd guess when you might see maybe as many as 80 to 80 bags of corn (50 pounds per bag) piled up here for the ducks."

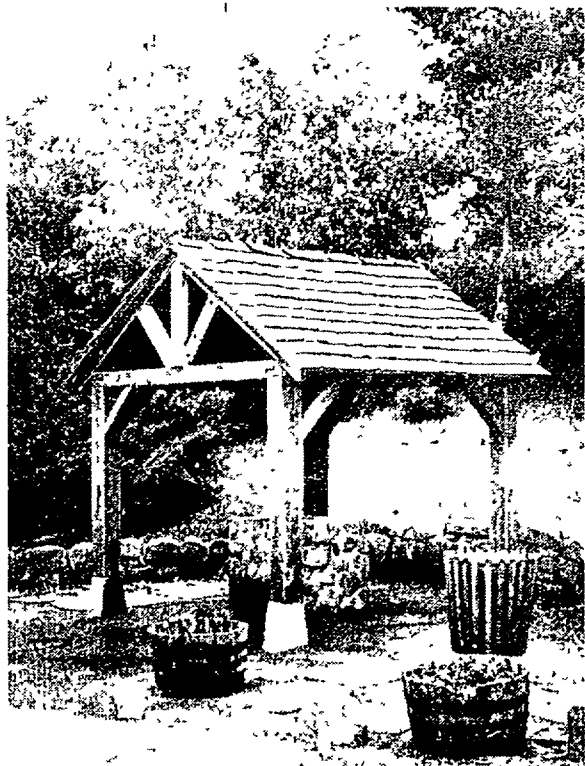

During the summer months "we don't feed them as much. We want them (ducks) to keep the lawn and pond as clean as possible. Then, too, in the warm months we have lots of kids and their families coming out to feed them bread. So they're not quite as hungry as they will be getting soon."

Smith and his fellow feeders — Eugene Bryski, powerhouse man, and Howard Slate, groundskeeper — often feel like pied pipers when they walk into the yard.

"They know us by sight," he laughs. "I don't even have to have any corn in my hand and they'll come scrambling up whenever I walk out there. They're wonderful. That's why we protect them. This has become a regular sanctuary."

"Most people are pretty good about not hurting the ducks. But sometimes some jerk will cause

Still in Running for Child Development Center

College Idea Wins Delay

'Politics Blocking Lease'

"Political boondoggling is afoot and Schoolcraft College is getting stepped on."

That's the private opinion of many local officials even though publicly most are being less blunt in their assessment of the Child Development Center affair.

Not so Schoolcraft College Trustee Archibald Vallier or Northville City Manager Steven Walters:

Fumes Vallier, "It stinks. It's a ripoff, and the people of Northwest Wayne County are the victims of shenanigans from the state level, on down to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, to Madonna College."

Asserts Walters, "It's my impression that the county and the state have made up their minds that the alcohol rehabilitation group should get the Child Development Center and to that end they are doing what they can to make the college proposal fall flat on its face."

The city's major concern in all this, explains Walters, is that under the consortium's proposal Northville was to share some of the facilities for recreational purposes. Under Sacred Heart's proposal recreational provisions for Northville appear doomed. Similar concerns are being voiced by some township officials.

Chutist Killed In First Jump

His first attempt at skydiving ended in death for a 37 year old Westland man early Sunday evening at Salem Airport, 9715 Six Mile Road.

Robert James Cotter was killed instantly when his parachute failed to open causing him to plunge 2,800 feet into a plowed field west of the airport.

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department reported that Cotter was with two more experienced companions when the tragedy occurred.

Both of his companions made the jump successfully, reported a spokesman for the

6 May Seek City Election

Going into today's filing deadline, it appeared two persons would battle for mayor while possibly four others would seek two Northville city council seats in the November 4 election.

As of Tuesday, however, only the petitions of Incumbent Councilman Paul Vernon and Thomas Bongiovanni, candidate for mayor, had been filed with the city clerk.

Incumbent Mayor A.M. Allen was expected to file late Tuesday or early today in his bid for an unprecedented ninth term. He was unopposed two years ago.

The other candidate for mayor, Bongiovanni, is employed at the Wolverine Harness Raceway.

Petitions also have been taken out for Incumbent Councilman David Biery, Stanley Johnston, and Eugene

Wagner. Wagner indicated Tuesday, however, that he had not yet decided whether or not to run.

Deadline for filing petitions is 5 p.m. today. Signatures of at least 50 and not more than 75 registered voters are required for nomination.

Only the seats of Mayor Allen and Councilmen Biery and Vernon are up in the Schoolcraft-Wayne State University proposal to use the vacated Child Development Center here as an auxiliary campus is still alive — but just barely.

The public works committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners last Thursday voted to delay rejection of the proposal, giving the college consortium 30 days in which to "come up with a satisfactory lease or get off the pot."

Earlier the committee had rejected the consortium's proposed lease for use of the sprawling Child Development Center upon the advice of the county corporation counsel, David R. Kaplan.

The Child Development Center, located on both sides of Sheldon Road just north of Five Mile Road, was phased out of operation last year after having served for more than 45 years as a training school for mentally and emotionally disturbed children.

Only a few of its buildings are being used today — one of them by the township as a township hall and police department.

Going into Thursday's committee meeting in the county building in Detroit, Chairman John Lesinski had intended to hear only about a proposal from the Sacred Heart Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center of Detroit but he was persuaded by Commissioner Mary Dumas of Livonia to hear a plea for the consortium proposal by Schoolcraft College board of trustees president, Paul Kadish.

The subsequent delay of rejection also was engineered by Mrs. Dumas, herself a former member of the college board.

Also present at the committee meeting were several Northville Township officials and Northville City Manager Steven Walters. Township officials included Supervisor Betty Lennox, Treasurer Charles Rosenberg, Trustee James Nowka, and Police Chief Ronald Nisun.

Rosenberg also spoke briefly, explaining that the township is concerned that whatever is located on the Child Development premises it should not create another problem for the township such as is now resulting from escapes from Northville State

FIRST IN NORTHVILLE—The first kerosene lamp used in Northville by the Reverend and Mrs. Cochran about 1858 is being donated to Northville Historical Society by Jack Blackburn and his sister, Mrs. George (Barbara) Keskey of Farmington. The lamp had been in Blackburn's keeping since the death of his mother, Mrs. C. L. Blackburn, and was given to the society as the Blackburns moved permanently to Florida this week. The senior Mrs. Blackburn's mother, Mrs. Barton Wheeler, was given the lamp by Sarah Ann Cochran, daughter of the Cochranes, who left a note explaining the excitement the "new and powerful illuminant" created.

Frost to Open Town Hall

David Frost, British and American television star, will lead off Northville Town Hall's 15th season at 11 a.m. next Thursday, October 9, with a large crowd anticipated for the new season at the Plymouth Hilton Inn on Northville Road. By last month ticket sales already had far passed last year's record and were expected to top 650, according to Mrs. Arthur Palarchio, Town Hall chairman.

She attributes the increase to a four-star season with Dr. Richard Straith, outstanding plastic surgeon, Dr. Sonya Friedman, psychiatrist and author, and Will Rogers, Jr., following Frost.

Price for the four lectures remains at $12. Checks and

Crowns Await Senior High Girls

By JEAN DAY

"EMPHASIZE IT'S NOT a beauty contest but a judgment of scholastic ability and a girl's individual personality."

That's the request made by Chris Campbell of the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary as she announces the annual Junior Miss Competition to be held November 15.

Applications for the competition, which is open to all senior high school girls of the community, will be available beginning next Monday in the Northville High School office.

David Reduzzin is chairman of the contest for the Northville Jaycees who are sponsoring it for the 10th year. Mrs. Campbell heads the project for the auxiliary. She adds that the local Jaycees have a rather amazing score in the competition — "We've always had our winner go on to state finals."

Last year's Northville Junior Miss was blonde Paula Dyke.

Even at the local level there's incentive for entering the event as the winner can receive a continuing tuition scholarship to Eastern Michigan University.

It may be International Women's Year with emphasis on Equal Rights and National Organization of Women but apparently there's still room for being feminine.

HOMECOMING queen and court elections are slated for next week at Northville High School with traditional festivities to be held Friday night at halftime as Northville's varsity plays Plymouth Canton.

Traditionally the queen, a senior, is crowned then and her court of representatives from each class is presented. Floats from each class highlight the parade around the field.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend the annual pancake supper given by the Presbyterian Men's Club from 5 to 7 p.m. before the game Friday at the church.

The homecoming dance will be held next Saturday at the high school.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the birth of John and Toni Genitti's first child was "window wide" last Friday as John's aunt, Mrs. Donald Ware, decorated the front of their store, John's Market, on Main Street, with a banner reading, "It's a Boy!"

She also made the baby blue and white paper bonnets that hung in the window.

The junior Genittis, who live at 219 Hutton, have named their son Andrew Joseph. He was born Friday at Hutzel Hospital in Detroit with a birth weight of eight pounds, twelve ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Genitti, Sr., of Northville, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Vermiglio of Detroit. Mrs. Genitti is the former Antonia Vermiglio.

Great-grandparents are Mrs. Emidio Genitti of Northville, Mrs. Richard Fallucci of New Baltimore and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ventimilia of Detroit.

MARY WARE'S SECOND annual Italian dinner this Saturday night in the Mill Race Village old library is a sellout with 100 expected. In addition to the lasagna main course Mrs. Ware is planning a salad with five kinds of lettuce and garnishes.

She expects to raise $1,000 to add to the $400 realized from a fall luncheon-party at the Mill Race to bring the two-year donation from herself and her husband, Donald, to $2,500. This sum is for restoration work of the Northville Historical Society at the Mill Race... and represents the efforts of all her family.

"TAKE TWO FINGERS, place them below the middle of your knee — and that's where your skirt length should be this fall."

That was the advice given women attending the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary's September fashion show at Meadowbrook Country Club given by Harvi's Suburban Casuals.

The width of an index finger plus the middle finger below mid-knee, the store commentator declared, is the one which will look right and new with the classic type clothes shown.

Women attending the show also viewed floor-sweeping fashions and bathing suits of years ago as Northville Historical Society costumes were interspersed with current fashions. The show was a benefit for the historical society.

"Boots are coming back," the women were told, and advised to "get them as close to the hem of your skirt as you can."

A lower-heel shoe to wear with pants also was predicted.

Clothes in camel and grey colors were highlighted with one outfit combining grey slacks with a camel hair jacket. Grey also was teamed with maroon. Rust was another new color shown.

Brushed denim remains on the fashion scene, Jaycettes and their guests were told, and is becoming a classic. It was given as an example of something that began as a fad and continued to become a standard. A denim suit with lined jacket was modeled.

Cited as strong trends were: Straighter pants, Capes, sometimes reversible, Turtle-necks, The Chinese look, Ascot ties on blouses and shirts, Leather suits, And smaller handbags.

As knits were shown, the women were advised to "jump a size" when buying a knit dress or suit to be sure "it doesn't touch you—for a knit should hang loose." These were billed as fashions for the thin.

VINTAGE FASHIONS owned by the historical society or by Valerie Smith, who coordinated this portion of the show, brought as many appreciative "oh's" as did the new styles. Marjorie and Carolyn Bohn modeled them with Valerie.

Of 1880 era was a black, beaded cape worn with a black costume, pink blouse and ostrich hat.

Another historic black costume indicated that even before the turn of the century women knew how to emphasize a small waist by bringing velvet bands to a V in the center of the jacket. Two 1890 bathing suits seemed like daytime costumes while a turn-of-the-century tennis dress had a high-collared white blouse.

THIRTY-SIX DIFFERENT new styles were modeled at the Fall Fashion Festival held in September at First United Church of Northville.

The luncheon-show began the new year for the church women. Fashions were modeled by 12 women of the church and were by Be'Lynn Coiffeurs and Fashions of Farmington Hills.

Casual dresses, pant suits and evening dresses were featured.

Tables were decorated with yellow, scalloped cloths and, centered with, varnished loaves of bread, ribbon-tied with a sheaf of wheat. They later were given as prizes.

Other prizes were a pine cone basket

Allergy Authority to Speak Here

How artificial food colorings and flavorings relate to the hyperactive child will be the topic in a special presentation by Dr. Benjamin F. Feingold at 7:30 p.m. October 2 at Schoolcraft College.

Dr. Feingold, chief-emeritus of allergy at the Kaiser-Permanente Medical Center in San Francisco, has gained national attention for his findings and has testified before Congress on his treatment.

The Livonia-Redford Chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD) is co-hosting the talk with Schoolcraft Community College office of student affairs. It will be given without charge on the upper level of the Waterman Center.

The medical researcher testified to Congress that hyperactivity among children "has reached epidemic proportions" and said he felt artificial food colors and flavors are contributing.

He said his treatment of several hundred hyperactive children who disrupt their families and school classrooms has demonstrated that about 50 percent can be helped if synthetic additives are removed from their diets.

Dr. Feingold is the author of publications in the field of allergy and basic immunology. His book, "Why Your Child Is Hyperactive," was published this year by Random House.

A pediatrician, Dr.

Feingold has made a study of hyperactive children and has devised a diet for them that is free of synthetic food colorings and flavorings.

He notes that the current number of additives in foods is as high as 3,800. He has been critical of the Food and Drug Administration's "brick wall" skepticism about his findings. He will discuss these and other issues in his talk which will be followed by a question and answer period.

Couple Marks 50 Years

A party at the VFW Hall in Northville September 21 marked the observance of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Williams of 59400 Nine Mile Road, South Lyon.

The celebration, hosted by the couple's three children, their spouses and 12 grandchildren, was attended by approximately 100 guests. Special guest was Mrs. Williams' 85-year old mother, Mrs. Dora Lanning of Northville.

Although Hazel Lanning of Northville and George Williams of Arkansas met at a dance in Northville, they were somewhat hesitant Sunday to lead off the dancing at their party. "It's been years since we were out on the floor, but we managed," they commented.

During the first years of marriage, the couple resided in Northville, moving to their present home nearly 40 years ago. Although retired from Van Camp Chevrolet in Brighton, Mr. Williams still keeps busy berry farming and gardening. And Mrs. Williams, laughingly says she keeps busy "keeping him busy". She also likes to sew and crochet and is a member of the Methodist Church in Northville.

"We're happier now than we've ever been," Mrs. Williams adds with obvious sincerity.

Reflecting on 50 years of marriage, white-haired Mr. Williams says, "We thank the Lord for the privilege of raising three wonderful children."

In addition to their pride in their children and grandchildren, the Williamses happily count five great-grandchildren in their family group.

The three-tiered anniversary cake which centered the buffet table at the party was created by their granddaughter, Mrs. Peggy (Williams) Sieting. It featured a large wedding bell and was decorated in gold.

Following the celebration, the couple drove to their cabin at Sunrise Lake near Cadillac for a few days rest.

The Williams' nine-year old grandson, Shawn Williams, sang a special number for his grandparents — "Tie A Yellow Ribbon 'Round the Old Oak Tree".

Therapy Graduates Plan Alum Meeting

All occupational therapy assistant (OTA) graduates from Schoolcraft College are invited to attend the next alumni meeting at 7 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center on October 15.

The group will hear Ms. Helen Millen, R.N., a nursing consultant with the Kenny-Michigan Foundation, speak on "Body Mechanics and Safe Transfer Techniques."

Organized in 1973, the growing and contributing alumni group has drafted bylaws and holds quarterly meetings. According to Judy Taverna, who serves as publicity coordinator, the alumni participate in a number of activities while striving for various goals.

Some of these activities include utilizing outside resource speakers to help provide continuing education in their field, orienting the community to the OTA profession and the program at the college, developing a resource group to assist current students and fund-raising for scholarships and donations to the college.

This past summer the alumni donated a wheelchair to the OTA department at the college for instructional purposes. It was acquired through the Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation which provides rehabilitation programs for the disabled, loans equipment to the disabled and disseminates information to the public regarding disabled persons.

Current officers of the alumni group include chairman Karen Pritchard of Bloomfield Hills, vice chairman Barb Paulger and secretary-treasurer Kris White, both of Plymouth. The group has 18 active members from 86 OTA graduates.

Further information regarding the OTA alumni group may be obtained by calling Ms. Taverna at 722-6250.

Take Brides in Out-of-State Rites

Peace-Myers Ceremony

James Thomas Peace, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Peace, Sr., of 1004 Springfield Court, Northville, took Jodi Lynn Myers as his bride in an 11 a.m. ceremony in New Hyde Park (New York) Baptist Church.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Myers of Franklin Square, New York.

Pastor J.J. Jackson officiated at the August 23 ceremony.

Given in marriage by her maternal grandfather, Arthur Klem, the bride wore a gown of embroidered chiffon over satin which she had made. It was fashioned with a v-neckline and long, full sleeves gathered into bands at the wrists.

She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of pink rosebuds and miniature white carnations.

Leigh Allen was maid of honor, and the bride's sister, Beverly, and cousin, Deborah Smires, were bridesmaids. They made their gowns of flocked chiffon over taffeta. The honor maid was in blue and the bridesmaids were in yellow. They carried daisy mums and miniature carnations.

William Regenes was best man. Ushers were Joseph Pyeron, David Salzman and Thomas Myers.

A buffet luncheon followed for the wedding guests, who attended from Michigan as well as the East.

After a wedding trip to Williamsburg and Virginia Beach, Virginia, the newlyweds are making their home in Elmont, New York.

The bride is a student at St. John's University. Her husband is a graduate of the Merchant Marine Academy in New York and now is employed with Combustion Engines, Incorporated.

Murany-Fontana Vows

In a ceremony in Arizona, George Chester Murany claimed Kathleen Vera Fontana as his bride.

They exchanged vows and rings in a 4:30 p.m. ceremony September 6 at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Tucson. Mr. Darrell Kupalian officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Fontana of Green Valley, Arizona.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Murany of 46842 Grasmere Road, Northville. They attended the ceremony and hosted a rehearsal dinner earlier in Tucson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white polyester gown with lace bib inset at the neckline and lace sleeves. Styled with an A-line skirt, it was made by her mother. Her illusion veil was fingertip length.

She carried a nosegay of white roses with blue and white daisies.

Matron of honor Patricia Walters and bridesmaids Peggy Brownell and Molly Murany, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, wore long dresses of blue flowered polyester and carried arrangements of blue and white daisies.

Michael Murany was best man for his brother. Ushers were Doy DeWoody and Randy Gardner. They wore jackets matching the attendants' dresses.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Chester Adams, of Green Valley, played the piano for the service.

A reception followed at Silver Lake Estates Recreation Center. The 150 guests included friends and relatives from Michigan, California and Illinois as well as from Tucson.

The couple chose a wedding trip to the White Mountains as both enjoy outdoor living.

The new Mrs. Murany is a graduate of Woodstock High School in Illinois. Her husband, a Northville High graduate, presently is employed with a construction firm in Tucson where they will be living in a mobile home.

Name 'Democracy' Topic

"What Our Bicentennial Means to Me" is a topic for the annual Voice of Democracy scholarship competition open to area 10th, 11th and 12th grade students.

"Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the Veterans of Foreign Wars scholarship program," said Merle Hoag, commander of VFW Post 4012, in announcing the competition.

The work is to be a three-to-five minute broadcast script expressing student views on tape.

Some of the fringe benefits of entering, according to Hoag, are increased self-confidence and poise, experience in communicating with others and valuable training in self-expression.

State winners, he announced, receive a five-day tour of Washington, D.C. Five national winners receive a total of $22,500 in scholarships.

In the 14 years the VFW has sponsored the contest more than 3,000,000 high school students have participated.

"One of the greatest benefits to young people taking part is that by thinking, writing and speaking on their understanding of the Bicentennial heritage, they gain a better appreciation of their obligation to maintain our freedom heritage," Hoag said.

Local chairman for the Northville Voice of Democracy program is Jim Thomas. The post has given up to $500 in prizes to local participants.

Interested students may contact Thomas at 349-5433.

15 File for 4 Council Posts in Novi

Campbell, Henderson Vie for Mayor

A last minute flourish of activity at the Novi City Clerk's office ended with 15 candidates for four council seats while Louie Campbell will face off with Gil Henderson November 4th for mayor.

Only council incumbent whose term is up and is not seeking re-election is Edwin Presnell.

Ten of the people seeking election filed either last Wednesday or Thursday, the final two days for filing.

Three four-year council seats are up for grabs in the election. Those seats have been held by Denis Berry, Martha Hoyer and Presnell. Mrs. Hoyer won her seat in a special election in July to fill the vacant position previously held by George Athas.

Besides Berry and Mrs. Hoyer, other persons filing for the three council seats are: Meyer Brennan, 24617 Old Orchard; William R. O'Brien, 41131 South McMahon Circle; Kenneth Maxwell, 41431 Glyme; Dennis L. Murphy, 41711 Borchart Drive; Robert D. Schmid, 28105 Summit Drive; James A. Shaw, 23960 Lynwood; William Spencer, Jr., 1231 East Lake Drive; Melvin Stephens, 132 DeGross; Joseph G. Toth, 22734 Chestnut Tree Way.

Filing for the two year council seat previously held by Louie Campbell who resigned to run for mayor were four persons. They are: Richard Bureau, 23624 Willowbrook; A. Russell Button, 44109 Grand River; Jack W. Carter, 40960 Ten Mile Road; Patricia A. Karevich, 25904 Clark Street.

Of the persons filing for the four council seats, four were unsuccessful candidates in the July election won by Martha Hoyer. They were O'Brien, Maxwell, Toth and Button.

Running for mayor are Louie Campbell and Gilbert Henderson. Mayor Robert Daley announced several months ago that he would not seek re-election.

Campbell was appointed by the council to his position on that body on July 13, 1970. He replaced William Duey who had resigned unsuccessfully for mayor. Campbell had been unsuccessful in a previous attempt to reach the council.

Henderson is currently the President of the Novi School Board where he is a seven year veteran of that body.

Campbell resigned his council position effective last Thursday to run for mayor.

Presnell told this newspaper his decision not to run was based on three different factors and that he had mixed emotions about leaving the council.

"I have been working toward becoming a city and for the city since 1965 and I figure 10 years is enough to give," he said. "I have my first grandson now and I would like to spend some time with him. And any spare time that I have I'd like to devote working for my church and the Lord."

Presnell commented that he would leave the direction of the council and the city up to the members elected and his only advice "is that they represent all of Novi and not any segment."

Presnell added that his health had not played a factor in his decision not to run. He suffered a mild heart attack late last year and later offered to resign if other council members felt his health was holding him back from adequately performing his job.

Persons in Novi who have not registered to vote will be able to do so until Monday, October 6, October 1-3 the city clerk's office will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. On Saturday, October 4, the clerk's office will be open for registrations from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

In addition, the clerk's office will be open Monday, October 6 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

CANDIDATE MEETING—Most of the 17 candidates for council and mayor in Novi in November were present at a Monday night meeting to hear an informational presentation from the city administration.

The meeting was intended to inform candidates of the operation of the city and to answer any questions about the city government.

Propose Widening Plans

Relocation of the entrance to 11 Mile Road 1000 feet east along Grand River is one of the features of a proposed Oakland County Road Commission plan for the widening of Novi Road between the I-96 interchange and Grand River.

The widening plans were presented by the Oakland County Road Commission to Federal Highway Department representatives during a meeting last week in Lansing. The city is trying to receive federal funding through a safety grant.

Besides the relocation of the entrance to 11 Mile Road, the Oakland County plans call for the widening of Novi Road to five lanes from the highway department improvements south to Flint Street, which is approximately 1000 feet south of Grand River.

In addition, the plan calls for acceleration and deceleration lanes on Grand River both east and west of Novi Road so that Grand River will actually be six lanes wide at that point.

If the Federal Highway Department agrees to provide the safety grant, cost of the widening would be funded on a 90-10 basis with the federal government paying 90 percent and the city and county dividing the remaining 10 percent of the cost. Though Novi Road is a county road, Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall said that the city would be willing to split the 10 percent remainder of the cost with the county. Cost of the project with 1976 construction is an estimated $296,000.

Originally, Oakland County and the City of Novi had been told the funding would be on a 70-30 basis but later received the word that if funds are provided, they will be on the 90-10 breakdown.

Kriewall, who attended the meeting, commented that the Oakland County plan is "certainly better than we have now." He added that "we'd like to see the lanes widened. They're proposing 10 foot lanes on Novi Road and we'd like to see them widened."

Under federal restrictions, right-of-way property cannot be purchased with safety grant funds. However, Kriewall commented, "They (highway department personnel) indicated our chances (of picking up the grant) are good but they want more definitive plans with some lane widening."

New plans with the lane widening should come eventually from the Oakland County Road Commission but Kriewall pointed out that the city, as well as Oakland County, will have to pick up the added burden of the right-of-way cost.

May Affect New Bar

Fried Rules on Site Plans

Despite a ruling by Novi City Attorney David Fried, Planning Board Chairman John Roethel has indicated that a controversial bar under construction on Novi Road may still be able to open its doors for business.

The bar in question is on property owned by Robert Langan a quarter mile south of the C&O railroad tracks on the west side of Novi Road.

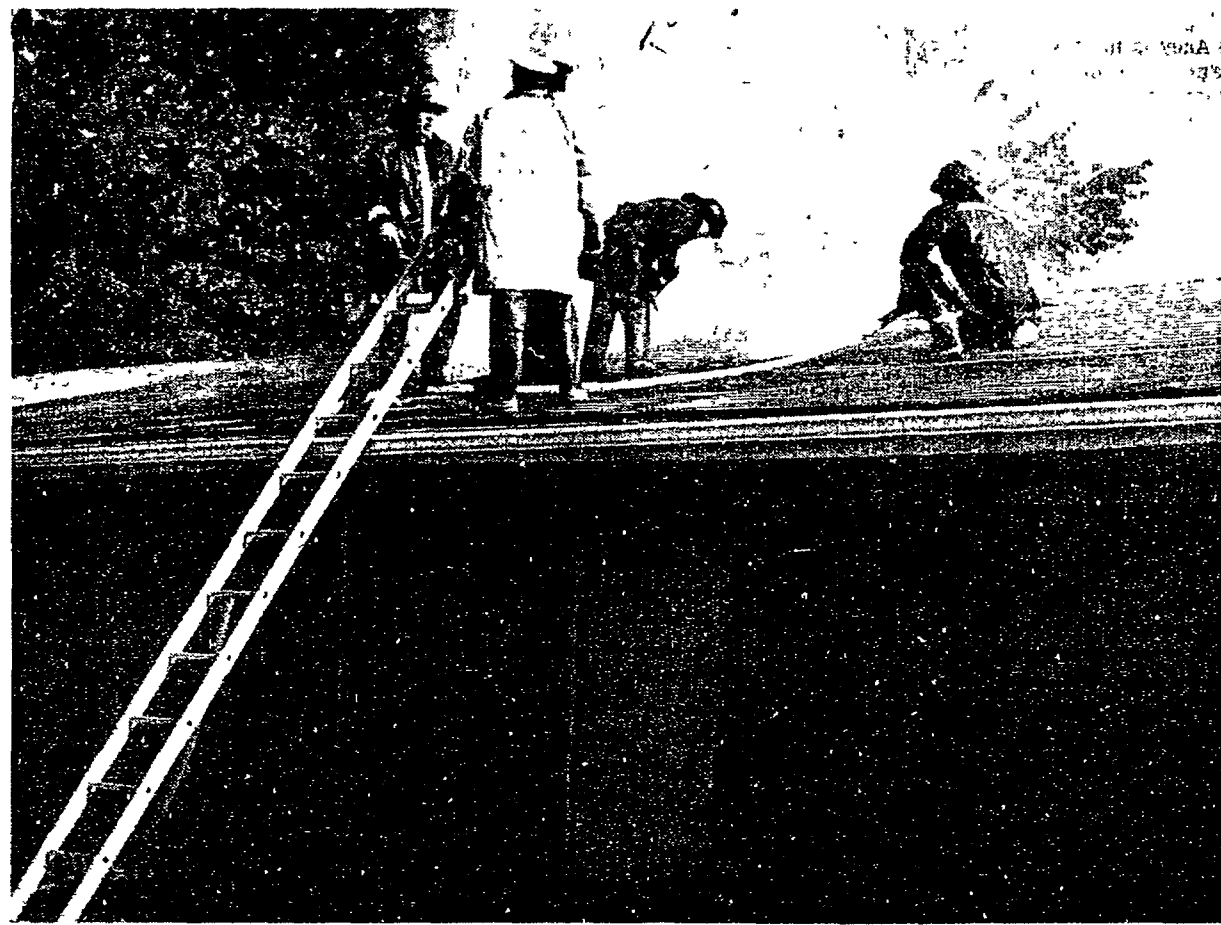

While the site plan calls for construction of both a bowling alley and bar, only the bar is under construction. Planning Board members were distraught over the phase construction and indicated that originally the complex was represented to them as a bowling alley and lounge with the emphasis on the bowling alley.

Representatives of the developer explained at the time that a lack of financing made it impossible to complete the bowling alley at this time and that as soon as financing became available, the bowling alley would be added.

According to planning board members, when the developer realized he could not finish the total site plan, he should have come back to the board for site plan review. Instead, he received a building permit from the building department and constructed only the bar.

Another development at Meadowbrook and 10 Mile Road calls for construction of CONTAIN NOVI BLAZE—Novi firemen, including Fire Chief Duane Bell (on roof with light coat) battle a blaze which broke out at 10 a.m. Tuesday morning in a garage at 24350 LeBost. The home is owned by Fred Buck, a member of the first Novi charter commission and a former member of the planning board.

Because a fire department demonstration had been going on at Orchard Hills School nearby, Bell and a tanker arrived on the scene within minutes and appeared to contain the blaze to the garage area. There was no immediate cause determined for the blaze and no dollar damage figure available.

In Wixom

Council Eyes Farm Zone

Wixom council failed last week to reach agreement on establishment of an agricultural zoning classification in the city zoning ordinance and tabled the question for further research.

While the majority of the full council appeared to be in favor of adding the zoning classification, Councilman Jim Lahde suggested that "this whole thing has been tailored to one or two individuals" while councilman Fred Morehead charged that "we're creating a legal loophole".

The council is currently considering adoption of the AG zoning classification at the request of Lloyd Croft, a local farmer who owns 140 acres of residential and industrially zoned property within the city, including industrially zoned property near the Ford plant.

Croft commented after the meeting that it is premature to say he will attempt to have his property rezoned to AG if the classification is adopted. "It all depends on what kind of a district they have if I'll try to rezone," he said. "It's not a definite thing for me."

The planning commission recommended against adoption of an AG classification.

"The city asked the individual to allow it to be zoned industrial and the individual was assured by the city that if it was rezoned, he would not suffer any additional taxes," said Councilman Gunnar Mettala of Croft's property. "Because of state tax laws, he is suffering."

Mettala added that "the industrial valuation is so high, it's rough for someone farming it to make a go of it."

Mayor Val Vangieson appeared in favor of the zoning classification. "I always felt an agricultural district should be thrown in. If you're thinking of annexing property to the west, we'll run into more problems."

Vangieson admitted that the main argument usually used against an AG district is that it is "fair game" for people who want to have something from a higher classification put in.

Councilman Robert Dingeldey added that "I think we would lose the flavor of the community if we did not have an agricultural area."

Council member Lillian Spencer commented, "It's very difficult for a farmer to make ends meet. It's a shame

Wixom Officer Sought as Chief

An opinion poll with 386 signatures was presented to Wixom Council last week asking that Sergeant Larry Beamish or someone from the Wixom Police Department be named as police chief.

The opinion poll primarily carried names of 386 people in Birch Park, Leisure Co-op Homes and Maple North, according to the city clerk. Several people at the council meeting suggested that the mayor should take the wishes of the community into consideration when he makes the final decision.

The opinion poll comes on the tail end of a lengthy process to determine the police chief. The procedure has already narrowed down from the original 170 applicants to five still in consideration. Beamish was not among the final five, Vangieson told this newspaper.

According to Vangieson, 22 persons took the original written test and 11 of those, including Beamish, were given verbal testing before an oral board made up of top flight professional law enforcement people.

Those 11 were narrowed down by the oral board to five people. Those five have since been interviewed by the mayor, who will make the final choice.

"I'm thinking of what the citizens want, but others have told me it's still my decision," said Vangieson. "It's a very tough situation. Really I can understand their point. You feel he has more vested interest in the city."

Vangieson acknowledged that he will attempt to contact some of the people on the oral board to determine what objections they had to

School Enrollment Increases in Novi

The fourth Friday count on which state aid is figured shows the Novi School District with 2,775 K-12 students plus eight full time adult students, up considerably from last year's figure of 2,702.

The school district had anticipated only 2,751 students in the proposed budget, which will be discussed at a public hearing Thursday at 7 p.m. The 2,751 figure was based on first week attendance this year.

The school district now expects to receive $3,715,706 in total revenue, $13,000 more than the $3,702,000 estimate in the preliminary proposed budget.

The extra revenue will enable the school district to lower its anticipated deficit for the upcoming school year from $49,169 to $38,374 as expenditures are expected to equal $3,744,081 and receipts $3,715,706.

Main increase in the number of students is in the high school where the number increases 42 from 784 to 826.

The school district receives approximately $46 per student plus categorical aid. Total state aid this year is now anticipated to be $304,501 to the Novi School District.

DEDICATED TO SCOUTING—Mrs. Yvonne Isaacson unpacks a Girl Scout uniform she hopes will fit a member of the troops she's starting at Our Lady of Providence School while her children help. Chad, 2, is in her lap while Ylona, 4, peeks over her shoulder. Yvette, 7, who's a member of the troop Mrs. Isaacson already leads at Our Lady of Victory School, gives a helping hand. Her brother, Cal, 6, is at the right.

For Our Lady of Providence

She's Seeking Special Scout Help

Because a young Northville mother of four has concerns for other children, a Girl Scout program is forming for Our Lady of Providence School.

Mrs. Yvonne Isaacson already is a Brownie leader at Our Lady of Victory School in Northville where her older daughter, Yvette, 8, is enrolled. She's also the mother of Ylona, 4, and sons, Chad, 2, and Cal, 6.

"I enjoyed the little girls in my Brownie Troop so much," she explains, "that when I heard Our Lady of Providence would like to involve the girls there, in scouting, I thought, 'why not?'"

Mrs. Isaacson visited the school for retarded girls at 16115 North Beck Road and came home and thought about it. Her husband, Cal, she recalls, said that if the visit was so disturbing, she should forget the project.

"But I thought about how lucky I am that God gave me four healthy children and about those girls who can't take care of themselves, and I felt their lives could be enriched by scouting."

With the help of Sister Judy at the home the girls have been divided into three troops of about 12 girls each. There's to be a Brownie troop of 7-to-9 year olds, a Junior group of 9-to-11 year olds and a Cadet troop for older girls.

Mrs. Isaacson is willing to take one of the three troops, in addition to continuing as leader of one of Our Lady of Victory's two Brownie Troops, but she now needs two more women who feel as she does.

She knows she can't count on mothers of the girls at the home because some come from long distances and others are wards of the state.

It won't take a lot of help, she enthuses, as she asks for volunteer mothers who will take on the other troops or help otherwise. She'd like assistants she could count on even once a month.

"The girls may look 15 years old and act like 7," she says, but the staff assures us that they aren't a problem."

The girls themselves, she adds, are so proud to think they're going to belong to the Girl Scouts.

"Do we get to wear those green dresses?" was one of the first questions the girls asked excitedly, she reports.

Here again Mrs. Isaacson is depending on the community to help. Any unused Girl Scout uniforms will be most welcome, especially those in larger sizes. Mrs. Isaacson anticipates that volunteers who can't take part in the scout project at the home can help by altering the uniforms to fit.

Volunteers to be leaders, sewers and other assistants or those with uniforms to donate should call her at 349-3192.

Mrs. Isaacson is hoping to be organized enough to have a Halloween party as the first meeting the end of October.

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council also feels the scouting program would be a "great thing" for Our Lady of Providence youngsters and is hoping to help find the needed "new and special" leaders who will be crucial to the success of the program.

"It's exciting to have young women like Mrs. Isaacson working in scouting for they prove there's just plain fun in being a leader," says Mrs. Barbara Debrodt, Huron Valley public relations director.

"While helping with such projects as badge work, they give companionship and enrichment to young Girl Scouts," she points out.

Yvonne Isaacson remembered the fun she had as a Girl Scout and decided to volunteer as a Brownie leader at Our Lady of Victory School last year.

It wasn't that she had extra time, for, she says, "I work 24 hours a day at home. I just decided to do this kind of thing rather than something else — like a job. Besides, I do assemble springs at home two hours every day."

The family has lived at 46150 Neeson in Northville Township for seven years but is planning a move this winter to a new home to be built on land the Isaacsons have bought on Beck Road. Mrs.

Isaacson points out that there will be enough property to have horses. She's anticipating being able to bring her scout troops out for country fun.

Mrs. Isaacson is one of the very few Girl Scout leaders who volunteered for the job rather than being coaxed into it.

"I was talking with Roxanne Casterline," she remembers, "who had a troop and enjoyed it very much. She suggested I call Nancy Bohn (Northville troop coordinator) to volunteer."

Mrs. Isaacson in addition to her present Brownie Troop already has taken responsibility for the Northville Girl Scout float for the 1976 Fourth of July parade.

She envisions such community projects as the type that girls from Our Lady of Providence will be able to help with, perhaps riding on the float in the parade.

"Last year my Brownies collected a whole station wagon full of four-inch stones needed for the foundations of restored buildings," she remembers.

"Until we took the stones to the Mill Race and talked about the girls being able some day to tell their grandchildren they helped in preserving history, it didn't mean too much," she recalls, noting that the girls then "were so excited they couldn't wait to get home to tell about it."

She's hoping to repeat this kind of community project for the Girls Scouts at Our Lady of Providence. Co-leaders shouldn't have difficulties finding things to do with troops there for Mrs. Isaacson also wants to plan a hayride. She's already talked to leaders of existing troops about help with treats for the meetings.

"I feel these girls (at Our Lady of Providence) could enrich the lives of other scouts and teach them to accept handicaps as part of life," Mrs. Isaacson says softly but firmly, for she acknowledges that not all leaders will feel comfortable with the involvement.

She feels it's a much-needed involvement, however, and an experience she and the girls who help won't forget.

The Huron Valley Council and Mrs. Bohn are hoping for special volunteers to help her...perhaps a nurse or teacher retired or not now working.

Mrs. Isaacson has faith that such help will be forthcoming. She's also sure that there's an organization who will help buy the troop flags that will be needed.

And there are 37 future Girl Scouts at Our Lady of Providence who are hoping she's right.

A TRACTOR RACE with Brookland Farms residents chugging forth on tractors and riding lawn mowers according to horsepower highlighted an all-subdivision party Sunday.

The event was hosted by Novi

The organizers even found a tractor-topped trophy inscribed with names of previous winners of the competition. In this International Women's Year it seemed appropriate that the winner was a girl, Danell Bergstrom, who is 15. Another girl, Sheri Brown, served as scorekeeper. Fifteen tractors were entered in the race.

Entertainment Series Opens with Dancers

PERFORM THURSDAY—The Ishangi family of dancers will perform Thursday at Meads Mill Middle School at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. for middle school students. The program is the first brought to Northville Schools through the Junior Entertainment Series.

Authentic African dance will be presented to Meads Mill Middle School students in two shows Thursday when the Ishangi Family appears at the school.

Through music and dance, the Ishangi Family relates the history and customs of Africa, capturing the mystery and excitement of Africa and dispelling, through their commentary, invalid myths and attitudes surrounding the world's most diversified continent.

Performances are scheduled for 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. at the school. The program is from the Detroit Theatre Show on the Road of the Detroit Institute of Arts and is made possible in part by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, a state agency.

The Ishangi Family is the first program of the 1975-76 Junior Entertainment Series which is under the chairmanship of Shirley Davis.

The Ishangi Dancers are a family of six who blend spell-binding narrative with household and "secret society" dances into an hour-long performance.

For the past 10 years, The Ishangi Family has toured the Caribbean, United States, Africa and Europe.

The name "Ishangi" means "gatekeeper" and is used at all times by the troupe in honor of their ancestors who excelled in the various African sciences. Their cultural roots are basically West African.

The philosophy of the Ishangi Family is summarized by Ishangi Razak, head of the family and lead dancer, who notes: "One cannot love his neighbor unless he is aware of his neighbor. We hope through the understanding of each other's cultures that peace and global harmony will come to mankind."

Cancer Victim Establishes Fund

A dying young man's generosity has led to the establishment of a new student loan fund at Schoolcraft College.

The fund will bear its donor's name, Rick King III, who died of cancer in August at the age of 28. He was a 1969 graduate of Schoolcraft in business administration.

The $2,000 Rick bequeathed for the fund was accepted by the board of trustees at its monthly meeting on September 24. It will provide $100 tuition loans for up to 20 students initially, and then for as many as the balance permits.

After leaving Schoolcraft Rick served with the Air Force, including two years in Vietnam where he first discovered the illness which was to claim his life. Following service he earned his bachelor's degree at Eastern Michigan University in psychology.

Rick also kept in touch with Robert Burnside, his counselor at Schoolcraft and with whom he developed a close personal friendship over the years. He discussed his plan to leave money to a loan fund during June when he asked Burnside to visit him at the V.A. Hospital in Ann Arbor. Arrangements were then completed between the two in July, barely a month before Rick died.

Bob Burnside has fond memories of Rick King. He recalled that he was a Farmington High graduate but lived with his grandparents at 15780

Haggerty, Plymouth, during his studies at Schoolcraft.

"Rick was active with the Circle K service club on campus," Mr. Burnside said, "and I remember he was active in serious as well as some not so serious matters like the non-stop teeter-totter record they claimed at the time."

Burnside added that the College meant a lot to Rick. "He enjoyed the academic challenge and never forgot the College or the influences it had on his life."

Rick is survived by his parents, Leonard and Marian King of 29865 Hemlock, Farmington, and a younger brother and sister.

In 10 years he has progressed from being a virtually unknown television producer to host of his own television interview shows.

He has interviewed Richard Burton, Elizabeth Taylor, Maria Callas, Sophia Loren, Stokely Carmichael, Ed Muskie and Spiro Agnew.

For Culinary Arts Expansion

College Receives Funds

Schoolcraft College has been granted state funds to complete plans and start construction on its culinary arts instructional program expansion.

An appropriation of $50,000 for these purposes was included in the junior and community college capital appropriations bill signed early in September by Governor William G. Milliken.

Provision for the Schoolcraft program was not included in the original house bill, but was introduced as an amendment by Senator Carl D. Pursell (R-14th). It weathered conference action which deleted all other major amendments. It also survived a possible line-item veto after Senator Pursell met privately with the Governor to urge his signing.

The college is now set to launch phase one of the $1.3 million expansion program during the current fiscal year. Completion is projected for August of 1977.

The expansion project will enable Schoolcraft to virtually double enrollment in its famed culinary arts program. Presently admitting up to 25 students yearly, when completed the program will accommodate nearly 50. It will also provide facilities for expanding other programs in adult education, advanced and management courses and classes like gourmet cooking for housewives.

President C. Nelson Grote said the fact that the original bill was successfully amended without line-item veto was a great credit to Senator Pursell. He was also complimentary of Senator William Faust (D-13th) for supporting the amendment and other area legislators who helped pass the appropriation.

While the state eventually will share in up to 50 percent of the cost of the project, or $558,000, Dr. Grote said the college may have to sell a small bond issue for monies to provide additional local funds to complete the project. The building was originally planned to be built in phases or stages. Phase one will actually construct the physical building of the expansion at the Waterman Campus Center.

Phase two, projected for completion in the fall of 1977, will then complete interiors, furnish and equip the instructional laboratory. Phase three will be added at some time in the future when a major addition to the Waterman Campus Center is built to house Student Affairs offices now located in temporary facilities.

PTA Sets TB Tests For Local Volunteers

Northville PTA Area Council is sponsoring a free TB testing clinic on Tuesday, October 7, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The testing will be done in the Board of Education Offices, 303 West Main Street.

All volunteers and workers in the Northville school system must have a TB test. Those include lunch room workers, hot dog sales volunteers, teacher aides and mothers helping in the library or other areas.

All skin testing will be done on Tuesday with those participating asked to return on Thursday, October 9, between 9:30 and 11 a.m. when the tests will be checked and health cards given out.

Any high school students who work as teachers aides and wish to have the TB test must have written permission from parents, PTA Council spokesmen added.

The PPD tuberculin test will be administered by Zo Chisnell, R.N., and Sue Zoldak, R.N. The PPDs, along with the health cards, have been obtained through the Wayne County Health Department and cards will be returned to them, recording all who have been tested.

State law required persons working with food or in the classroom to have the tests. The PTA also urges all others who are in contact with children to have the TB test, too.

For additional information, contact Mrs. Robert DeAlexandris, PTA Council president, at 349-2936, or Mrs. Ronald Housman, PTA Council health chairman, at 349-4265.

But Fear Board's Credibility

Main Street Parents To Support Millage

The Main street school parents group that persuaded the Northville board of education in February to keep the Main street elementary open reorganized last week.

Chief objective of the 30 or more parents this time is passage of the November 6 millage proposal.

Once that is accomplished, the group has set its sights on other goals, however. John Berry, a spokesman for the group, said these include: obtaining a statement from the board concerning its plans for Main street school; a public audit of the school district's books; possible recall action against one or more board members regardless of the outcome of the millage election.

But Berry stressed that the group's primary objective is to pass the millage. In this regard the group stated that: A — Northville needs an operational school system and the passing of the millage is absolutely necessary to get Northville schools operating; B — The credibility of the school board is the main obstacle to community support of a millage vote. Main street elementary, along with Cooke middle school and the new Silver Springs elementary, stand unused now after the defeat of the 2.6 millage request August 18.

Following its first meeting last Thursday evening the group prepared this week to announce its position at Monday's board of education meeting.

Berry noted that the superintendent of schools and members of the board of education had been invited to attend last Thursday's reorganizational meeting, but none appeared.

Among the other positions adopted by the group are the following:

—Main street school should be reopened in September, 1976, following significant improvements to the facility; —the group will invite persons with professional knowledge of construction and mechanical facilities to tour Main street school and outline estimated requirements to upgrade the school to a level comparable to others in the district; —after the millage election the group will work towards the improvement of the district's fiscal status, upgrading of the maintenance program, and hiring of a competent financial manager.

Berry said the group, which includes residents of school district voting precinct one, will announce its next meeting following Monday's board session. It invites other parents of the precinct to join in the campaign to pass the millage.

MOVE—The house standing immediately north of the Chatham supermarket was moved two blocks north on Center Street to a location opposite Northville high school property. The house is now owned by Robert Stone. It was moved from the Charles Lapham property, which is to be converted to a parking lot serving the new real estate office on the north and employees of Chatham.

27 Cubs Join Pack

Northville Cub Scout Pack 755 held its annual roundup September 18 and reports an excellent turnout of potential cubs and parents.

Last week the pack held its first group activity with 50 cubs, Webelos and parents enjoying a plunge in the Northville High School pool.

Twenty-seven new cubs are joining the present 20 cubs and Webelos for the new year.

They are Kelly Bell, Steve Berry, Chris Cole, Ted Cranias, David Dore, Gabi Elody, Mike Hahn, Richard Hahn, Chris Hauser, Jeff Jones, John McLeod, John Meadows, Roger Mills, Paul Miner, John Mynatt.

Anyone interested in joining or assisting the pack during the coming year may call 349-1065 for information.

Hospital Studies Escapade Problem

Although no decisions had been reached as of Tuesday morning, Northville State Hospital officials remained hopeful that a solution to cutting down the number of escapees from the hospital is just around the corner.

"We're considering a large number of things to do in hopes of arriving at an effective, practical solution," said Dr. Richard Budd, superintendent of the mental hospital in Northville Township.

Meanwhile, a number of experimental type steps have been or are about to be implemented.

Among these are operation of a "Buddy System" in which patients are given passes in pairs, in hopes one patient will watch the other, and thus deter walkaway from the hospital and restriction of passes.

According to Dr. Budd, who said he would attend the October 9 meeting of the township board to discuss the walkaway problem, several other steps are being considered but no decisions have been made on which if any will be implemented. These include several recommendations made last week by Steve Representative R. Robert Geake.

Under consideration, although Dr. Budd believes it would be financially prohibitive, is the recommendation that a fence be erected around the property.

Also under consideration: hiring of additional security personnel; installation of security screening in potential escape areas of the hospital; "Mission Impossible" type electronics gadgetry that would sound an alarm if patients enter restricted areas; and development of inside courtyards.

problems...but we're watching and when that happens we get the police over pretty quickly."

Many of the ducks, including the mallards, never leave. They've found permanent refuge here and not even Michigan's rugged winters persuade them to head south.

Some of them are not wild ducks at all, says Smith. "Those white ones you see out there are usually gifts. Somebody has gotten a duck for Easter or something and they bring them over to join the flock."

Several homeowners living nearby, especially those on the northern and eastern edges of the millpond, are frequently visited by the ducks — and sometimes by geese.

Together with Local 896 they've made Ford's "better idea" a haven for creatures who aren't alarmed at all that summer last week stepped aside for autumn.

Another Mushroom's Tops

If you thought the puffball mushroom reported last week was a whopper, consider the giant that Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Kalota found near their Brookland Farms home at 44102 Cottisford Court.

Weighing 10 pounds, it was 46 inches in circumference — 2½ inches larger than the mushroom reported last week by a couple of private garbage disposal operators working in Highland Lakes.

The spokesman stated that apparently several parts of the parachute became entangled causing the equipment to malfunction.

Although Cotter received emergency instruction through radio communication from the ground, the safety device on the parachute also failed to operate.

The spokesman stated that the deputies' report indicates that the safety device on the parachute had been activated but for some reason did not open the second parachute.

When operating properly, the emergency backup parachute will open when a skydiver is traveling more than 40 miles per hour below 1,000 feet.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

During the next five weeks in Northville voters will have difficulty keeping their elections straight without the proverbial scorecard.

The polling parade begins October 14 when township electors only vote on the question of annexation to the city.

Three weeks later on November 4 qualified city voters will elect a mayor and two city councilmen.

Two days later on November 6 both city and township residents of the Northville school district will go to the polls to consider again a request for more operating millage. August 18 a 2.6 mill proposal was defeated. Next Monday night the board of education will decide the amount of the latest request.

The question of annexation, which if approved would unite the city and township under the existing city government, was voted upon by both city and township residents in May, 1973. While it was heavily favored by city voters, it was defeated in the township, 1,504 to 1,358.

When the question was reintroduced and recommended following a second public hearing by the State Boundary Commission, petitions for an election were again circulated in the township. City voters did not petition for another election, however.

For that reason, only qualified township electors will vote October 14 on the annexation question.

For next week's edition of The Record leaders from both sides of the annexation issue have agreed to submit their pro and con positions for publication. We urge all township voters to study this important community consideration and remember to cast their ballots October 14.

The city election November 4 has stirred relatively little activity. At this writing only incumbent A. M. Allen has filed for the two-year mayor's post. With the deadline today, it's unlikely he'll face competition.

It appears that less than a half dozen candidates will seek the two four-year council terms.

All present council members, incidentally, have agreed to resign their elected positions in the event annexation of the township becomes a reality.

Under this arrangement former township residents of the new city could immediately become eligible for election to a new city council representative of the entire community.

Immediately on the heels of the city council election all school district voters will be asked for more money to operate the school system. As most residents know, the system is presently operating with three schools closed, curtailed extra-curricular activities and a reduction in teacher staff.

Meanwhile, in Novi the November 4 city election promises to provide its share of competition and controversy.

In addition to two candidates for mayor and 15 candidates for four council openings, there are four separate millage proposals for general operating funds, bike paths, fire protection and road improvements.

The race for mayor in Novi should be keen. It pits veteran Councilman Louie Campbell against Gilbert Henderson, who has been a member of the Novi school board for the past seven years.

Henderson presently serves as president of the Novi school board and his switch from school activities to city government has raised some eyebrows.

But it's no secret there's no love lost between Councilman Campbell and outgoing Mayor Robert Daley, who is supporting Henderson.

And the scramble for four seats by 15 candidates should also provide Novi with a lively pre-election campaign.

Novi desperately needs to bring constructive harmony to its council. It is faced with growing pains that have suffered through divisiveness on the council that must be narrowed by compromise accompanied by community support.

So Novi's November 4 election is highly important to the city's immediate future.

In Wixom the November 4 election sees Mayor Val Vangieson running unopposed and three incumbent councilmembers challenged by two candidates whose names will appear on the ballot and an announced write-in candidate.

YES . . .

"To Tell the Truth" — Yes. Any time from 8:45 a.m. into the family oriented hours, one can find some sort of program asking rather inane questions, but, rarely provocative ones. There are enough questions waiting for thoughtful answers, without the necessity for one to drop chores, neglect correspondence, make calls or participate in other activities, to find the answer to: What did a survey in a certain movie magazine indicate about this popular star? What would be the "Consequence" if one never knew the "Truth" in this "Match Game?" There are a number of topics which could easily fill the time and add some pleasant periods for watching. Why can't some of the good radio programs like "Kaleidoscope" be televised?

Any young mother hears hundreds of questions to which she must reply. These child quizzes begin with Why — Where — How — When — or a combination of all four. If she can provide some sort of satisfaction to these home-grown inquisitions (to say nothing of "The Sixty-Four Dollar Question" What did you do all day? which comes in the door at 6 p.m., along with the bread winner) she doesn't need any "Fun and Games" host to bring up anything more.

Since the network discontinued "Password" which seemed the most challenging and entertaining of the lot, perhaps some of the rest will follow and we can ask "You Don't Say?" Then our "Concentration" can be given to some real questions being asked.

NO . . .

Are there too many quiz shows on television?

No, I say.

Many of my friends and relatives find quiz shows a cheap form of entertainment. It's fun — and free — to watch the guests and to see stars not playing in their usual acting roles.

But more important, quiz shows are educational.

In a day of watching quiz shows, the viewer can learn all kinds of information he might otherwise have to pore over books to learn.

Convenience is another factor.

Unlike soap operas, quiz shows can be enjoyed anytime. You don't have to watch every day to keep up with the program.

Many elderly people watch television most of the day. Quiz shows allow them to learn and be entertained in their own living rooms.

And youngsters, who may be home sick from school, have a chance to learn outside the classroom.

Too many quiz shows?

No — more than many other television programs, they're both fun and educational.

Happy Landing?

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Although the co-sponsor of the newly enacted state campaign reform legislation insists it is a positive law, local officials are not jumping for joy.

In fact some officials are hopeful State Representative Richard Fessler is successful in getting the law changed.

One of the big hangups locally with the law is that it may discourage citizens from volunteering to serve on the various appointive boards and commissions in small communities.

The law now requires all members of such boards, whether they are paid or unpaid positions, to file financial statements with the county next spring.

In Northville, Novi and Wixom, for example, it means all members of boards of review, planning commissions, building authorities, etc. must file.

In addition to appointed members, others who must file financial statements include mayors, city council members, all township board members, city clerks, city managers, school board members, and school superintendents.

"It's hard enough to get people to serve on appointive, non-paying boards without putting another obstacle in the way," officials argue.

In larger communities where such board members might be serving in full time capacities and/or receiving more than token salaries, there may be good reason to require financial statements, they concede. But in the smaller community, where operation is largely dependent upon volunteer help, why should requirements be substantially the same?

The planning board member, for example, may receive little or no payment for his service. He often serves at the sacrifice of his own business and family, sometimes he is subjected to scathing criticism for making unpopular decisions, and now he's got one more reason to say "the heck with it."

State Senator Kerry Kammer, co-sponsor of the new law, disagrees:

"I can't think of a single good reason why someone would not want to comply," he told us. "He's being asked for the barest of information — less than is required of you if you applied for a job or went for a credit loan."

"I can't imagine why anyone would want to refuse — unless he had something to hide."

What does the new law require of the appointed official?

'Bike Paths in Novi Would Help Conserve Fuel'

To the Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to thank the 948 plus registered voters who signed the petitions that put the bike trail issue on the November 4th ballot. Those signers, represented 15 percent of the registered voters of the City of Novi who felt that the rest of the voters should have the opportunity to vote on this issue.

Novi will start to grow now that the Dayton-Hudson complex is a reality and we should move ahead with the times and place bike paths in our community as it will be a very used mode of transportation in the near future.

If our streets are now clogged with cars, just think of how they will be in two or three years. Have you ever ridden down Ten Mile Road or Novi Road with a bike rider trying to use the same roadway? More and more men, women and children will be on the roads riding bicycles with the advent of the further increases in gas prices. We must make a place for them to ride.

The cost to the homeowner will be less than one tankful of gas per year. How many tankfuls of gas do you use driving your children to the school for special events, sport practices, sport games, Little League season? Or during the summer for the girls softball practices and games? The list goes on and on.

The safety of the riders and the savings of gas are two very important reasons for voting YES on November 4th for Bike Paths.

Again, thank you petition signers and circulators for allowing all Novi voters to exercise their right to vote on this issue.

Sincerely,
Clara Porter, Chairman
Novi Bike Committee

Reviews have shown that older people are very dependable, capable, and willing workers.

Although income, educational level and social position of our members vary widely, the need for additional income is usually the primary reason for working.

In most all cases older persons prefer to work only part-time. Ways to meet this situation can be devised by special employment. In many cases the limited jobs would not be profitable to commer-

It is my opinion that many of our local concerns would prefer to hire residents of our community, because of local references, easy to contact for

Split Wixom Vote OKs Funds for Lakes Agency

After taking away funds allocated to Lakes Agency Council several months ago, Wixom Council last week voted to reinstitute funding 4-2.

A breakdown of funds shows that coming from the contingency fund will be $3,275 in the following amounts: Senior and Youth Employment Service, $1,500; Walled Lake Schools Crisis Foster Homes, $250; Walled Lake Schools Summer Recreation, $100; Lakes Area Youth Assistance, $1,000; and Lakes Agency Council, $425.

Councilman Melvin Green had been the lone dissenting vote when a funding attempt several months ago was defeated with four members present and only one vote was necessary to defeat funding. "It was my vote that defeated it, but since there were only four members present I wanted it reconsidered by the whole council," stated Green.

He added that he was "in complete accord with the rules and objectives of Lakes Agency Council," but "I don't feel funding it belongs in city government."

"There's no way they're accountable for the money spent," added Green. He also contended that the organizations are ones that taxpayers at their homes might not fund but, "by taking it out of the tax funds, we're forcing them to support it. I'm wondering if we're setting a dangerous precedent and opening a door we may not be able to close."

The final 5-2 vote had Council members Green and Fred Morehead opposed while Council members Gunnar Mettala, James Lahde, Lillian Spencer and Robert Dingelley supported the funding.

Council also approved application for federal rent subsidies for senior citizens living at Maple North Apartments in Wixom.

Maple North had to receive approval by the local body of government to be successful in its requests to receive the subsidies. According to a representative of Maple North, 28 units will receive the subsidy. Currently there are only nine units in use with senior citizens that would qualify for the subsidies.

Based upon a recommendation by the planning commission that the council consider purchase of parcels of land within the city to place senior citizen housing, council sent back a request to the planning commission that it come up with some recommendations.

Money from the Housing and Community Development Grant could be used to purchase the land for senior citizen housing although it could not be used to actually build the housing units.

Council also approved taking $20,000 from the contingency fund to cover the cost of appraisal fees by Roland Harkless, an appraiser who was called in to help the city in its fight with Ford Motor Company over disputed 1973 taxes.

"I think what we have to understand is that if we want to be successful, we'll need an appraisal," said City Attorney Harold Bulgarelli. Ford Motor Company is claiming that the city appraised the Wixom Assembly plant at higher than 50 percent of its true value, a level established by state law.

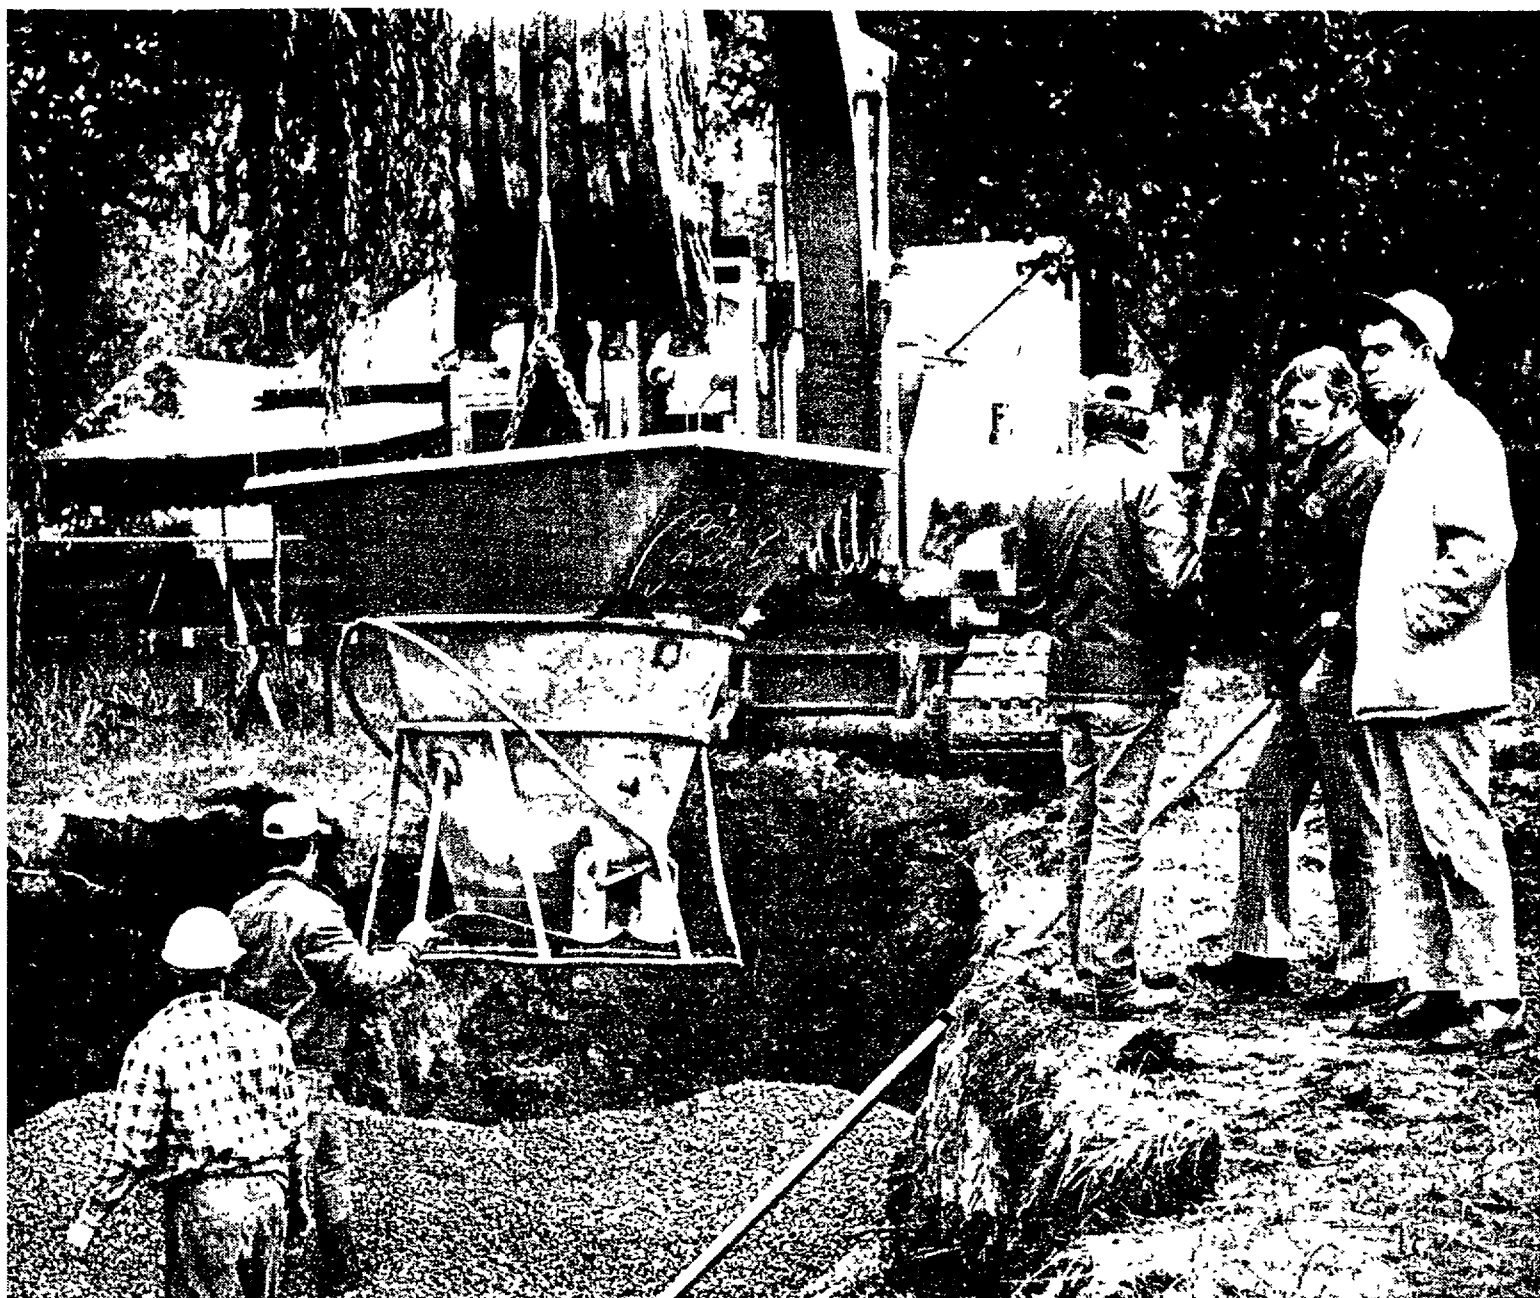

Bulgarelli revealed that a conference between attorneys for the city and Ford Motor Company last week was unproductive because there were no new figures before it.

Bulgarelli added that a preliminary study by Harkless indicated that Ford was not being assessed at greater than 50 per cent level. The attorney added that Ford may not let the appraiser of the city in and that the city, in any case, will have to request an extension from the state tax tribunal because the deadline for assessment results is 60 days after the meeting between attorneys.

Bulgarelli added that Ford Motor Company has also announced that it will be fighting the 1975 taxes before the state tax tribunal. He indicated that if the city could win the 1973 tax case, he expects the city will also win the 1975 case. If a reappraisal of the Ford property is necessary regarding the 1975 taxes, Bulgarelli indicated that Harkless would be willing to do it for an additional $1,000 because of added paperwork involved.

Appointed to the Parks and Recreation Committee were Alan Blasfield, 2460 Loon Lake and John Momborg, 2012 Teaneck Circle. They will be serving three year terms.

The new appointees will be replacing Tom Ridley, who moved out of the city, and Bill Wade who resigned because of the press of business

LOON LAKE DRAIN—Wixom DPW Superintendent Robert Trombley (in middle of group at right) and Oakland County Commissioner Lew Coy (right) were two of the people keeping an eye on the proceedings as workmen from the Albert Dettore Company work on the Loon Lake drain last week. A boring machine was brought in to put in the actual drain structure itself which was to extend 157 feet into the lake at a final depth of eight feet. Residents of the area were able to stop all road paving within the city for several years through a lawsuit which charged that a surface runoff drain did not extend far enough into the lake. The new drain is replacing the old structure.

From Lansing

By Robert Geake
State Representative

This week our local Northville-Nov League of Women Voters is holding a membership drive kick-off and so this would seem a particularly good time to take note of how this small but influential group relates to the legislative process.

The League never supports individual candidates, but it does study and take sides on issues. They keep track of each of the 2,000 odd bills introduced in Lansing as well as many more in Washington, D.C. and they work for those they find to be in the public interest while fighting those they feel are not desirable.

While I do not always agree with the League on issues, I find myself agreeing more often than not. And even when I do not, I always find the results of their research and reasoning informative.

This month the state League published a report to its member on those bills they believe to be most significant in this session of the legislature and how they have fared thus far in Lansing. Since the bills in which they have taken an interest are mostly of wide public interest too, I thought you might like to know my voting record regarding them.

The House has only taken up one bill which the League actively opposes. This is Senate Bill 1003 which would limit the citizens' right to file suits under the Environmental Protection Act. The bill was introduced for the benefit of an Upper Peninsula mining company and would weaken the E.P.A. I voted against it.

The following bills are those supported by the League which I also have supported with YES votes: HB 4214, Child Protection Act; HB 4392, Juvenile Justice Commission; HB 4049, to set the state's share of sewage treatment grants at 25 percent; HB 4225, to prevent accidental discharge of petroleum products into sewers; HB 4307 to provide consumer information on energy use of home appliances; HB 4029 to give women their choice of surname when getting a divorce; HB 4253 to establish county women's commissions; HB 5250 political reform; HB 4859 state takeover of county welfare programs; and SB 90 to lower the age of eligibility for absentee ballots from 62 to 60.

The bills where I voted against the League's recommendations were HB 4445 and HB 4857 — to increase welfare spending; and SB 16 to permit Secretary of State branch offices to register voters when they obtain or renew drivers' licenses.

Homecoming Plans Set

When football season starts, it's time to start thinking of bands, floats, parades and homecoming.

This year, the Novi High School homecoming festivities will be kicked off with the homecoming football game at 7:30 p.m. October 17 when the Wildcats host the Lincoln Railsplitters.

During halftime of the game, floats presented by each of the classes and clubs will parade around the field and the top float named Last year's queen, Mary...Dayn Withers, will be present to crown this year's queen as elected by the Novi High School student body.

The homecoming dance is scheduled for Saturday, October 18 from 8-11 p.m. in the high school commons. Tickets will be on sale one week prior to the dance for $4 a couple and $3 single. They can be purchased by students in the high school commons during all lunch hours. Alumni can purchase the tickets in room one. Theme of this year's dance is the "Land of Oz" and the band is Fantasia.

November election.

Councilmen whose terms will not expire until 1977 are Paul Fohno and Wallace Nichols. Both of these men and Mayor Allen were elected two years ago when 1,100 of the city's 3,050 registered voters turned out at the polls.

Of the two potential council challengers, only Wagner previously sought election to the council. He lost out in a seven-way battle for two council seats two years ago. Wagner is an owner of Arcade V in Northville Square.

Although he has not previously sought election to the council, Johnston is no newcomer to elective office. He served for several years as a member of the Northville Board of Education and was that board's president for a time. He is the owner of Northville Realty.

The incumbent candidates together with those councilmen not standing for election and members of the major other city boards have pledged to resign should annexation of the township to the city become a reality.

Their reasoning for this pledge is to give township residents an opportunity to vote for those persons they feel should govern the united community.

No election is scheduled in November in the township.

Candidate forums are scheduled in Northville and Novi by the League of Women Voters. The forum for Northville candidates is scheduled for 8 p.m. on October 22 in the city hall and for Novi candidates the forum is set at 7:30 p.m. on October 27 in Orchard Hills Elementary School.

QUESTIONED—Father Vaughn Quinn is questioned about his proposal to establish an alcoholic rehabilitation center here by Northville Township Supervisor Betty Lennox and Trustee James Nowka.

Hospital and from the Detroit House of Correction and from young people creating nuisances in the county's Cass Benton Park.

Taking the position that the consortium's plan for the Child Development Center could very well become a model for the entire nation, Kadish urged the committee "not to take hasty action" to reject the proposal without further attempt to negotiate a satisfactory lease.

Basically, the proposal of the consortium would provide classrooms for students of Wayne and Schoolcraft. Interrelated classes would permit easy transfer of credit, from college to university or university to college.

Also, the proposal would provide for use of some of the buildings and facilities by other organizations. For example, the recreation department of Northville would utilize some athletic facilities, an Office of Aging would be established, and programs for leadership in citizens' organizations, "skills in home repairs and property upkeep would be provided by the Jefferson-Chalmers group.

Main reason why Kaplan recommended rejection of the consortium proposal was because it proposes that relatively little of the premises be used for college purposes. County officials have indicated a preference for a lease covering the entire 600-acre plus facility (much of it open or forested land) so that the county can get out from under the cost of maintaining any part of the land and buildings.

Although the committee heard the pleas of Kadish and Rosenberg, it was John T. Dempsey, director of the Michigan Department of Social Services, who commanded most of the spotlight as he spoke in behalf of the Sacred Heart proposal. It was he who introduced Sacred Heart's director, Father Vaughn Quinn.

Dempsey made a strong pitch for the Sacred Heart proposal, while insisting that neither he nor his department co-sponsored the proposal with Father Quinn. "It is not the state's plan," Dempsey emphasized. "I am not here to get your support for something that we have proposed."

Father Quinn, he said, "brought it (proposal) to me in the latter part of July."

His most telling point was that millions of dollars in federal funds are available to Michigan for programs such as Sacred Heart, but if it isn't committed soon the money will have to be returned.

He stressed the urgency of the situation, pointing out that with such large chunks of federal monies hanging in balance it is imperative that the county decide soon whether or not to permit Sacred Heart to occupy the premises. "If this drifts along for six to nine months," he said, "we could lose the money."

He did not specify the amount of federal Title 20 money that would be channeled into the Sacred Heart operation, but he did suggest it was in the millions of dollars.

In openly pushing the Sacred Heart proposal over the consortium's proposal, Dempsey tried to defuse consortium support by noting that campuses are not free of problems — as witnessed by last week's major drug arrests on the University of Michigan campus of several non-students.

And in response to a suggestion by Commissioner township, urged fellow commissioners to consider the fact that Northville already has its share of institutions within its boundaries, and he urged fellow commissioners to permit township officials to have a voice in any decision reached by the county.

During a discussion of his recommendation that the consortium's proposal be 'Our doors are never locked, and we have never had any problems with police....' Father Quinn

Paul Taylor that ideal vacant quarters are immediately available at Wayne County General Hospital for a program such as that of Sacred Heart, Dempsey said the buildings are not as suited for Sacred Heart as are the cottage type buildings at the Child Development Center.

Concerning the expressed apprehension of Treasurer Rosenberg, Dempsey pointed out that the kinds of people who would be treated for alcoholism at the Child Development Center would not be "skid row" type individuals. "The majority of them are not this kind. A lot of them are middle class people...and teenagers...that this state and this county have not been providing for."

Father Quinn explained that Sacred Heart does not operate a closed, prison like program. Success of the program is not isolation, but inter-relationship between patients and the community and this same concept would exist in Northville, he said. "Our doors are never locked," he said referring to Sacred Heart's present location in Detroit, "and we have never had any problems with police. This proposal (establishment of Sacred Heart at the Child Development Center) would have a positive influence on the community."

It was explained that the Sacred Heart proposal would utilize the existing Detroit quarters for "detoxification" purposes and the Child Development Center quarters for education and re-education of patients to prepare them for re-entry into society.

Sacred Heart, it was pointed out, would utilize several Child Development buildings the first year, gradually increasing the number of buildings until the entire facility is being used.

According to Dempsey, leasing of the Child Development Center by Sacred Heart might create some problem if the federal government should require state ownership before committing Title 20 monies. County Commissioner Royce Smith, who represents a small portion of the cials since the township shares operation of the recreation department with the city.

More important perhaps is the fact that the township now leases a Child Development Center building for a township hall. Continued use of this building seemed likely in the consortium's proposal, they note, but at present there appears to be no such assurance in Sacred Heart's present plan, officials say.

However, Supervisor Betty Lennox is not altogether sure that use of the Child Development Center by the college and allied agencies would be any better than use by the alcoholic rehabilitation organization.

She shares a concern that the state may be pressuring the county to establish the alcoholic abuse center here, but she says she wants to study both proposals before making up her mind.

"In view of what happens on some college campuses, especially with the liberal views some professors have nowadays, I think we could have problems if this became a college, too," she says.

The supervisor reports she and other township board members will visit the present Detroit quarters of Sacred Heart today (Wednesday) to see for themselves the kind of program operated by the rehabilitation center.

"I'm not saying (Sacred Heart) isn't a worthwhile organization...that's not it at all," says Vallier. "What I'm saying is that the behind the scenes maneuvering is obviously a deliberate attempt to block the consortium."

"I've known it for months, and so have others, that Madonna didn't want another college in the backyard, and it has been doing everything it can—from pressuring the legislature and the board of commissioners — to stop us. So now when this proposal of Sacred Heart is put on the county agenda, a year after the deadline for proposals, it should be obvious to anyone what is happening. That's what I think stinks...the way they've played the game."

"That's why I introduced a motion to investigate Madonna's involvement. It was defeated, but another motion passed. It says the presidents of Schoolcraft and Wayne State University should tell the county board just what we think is happening. I can understand Madonna not wanting to lose any students, but to deliberately block a sister institution from better serving Northville and Wayne County...that's awful."

County Commissioner Mary Dumas of Livonia, who made a strong plea on behalf of the consortium at last week's public works committee meeting in Detroit, says she had been approached several months ago by a sister from Madonna (she could not remember her name) who asked if there was any way to block the consortium proposal.

There is absolutely no connection between Sacred Heart and Madonna College, insists Sacred Heart's director, Father Vaughn Quinn. Sacred Heart's closest tie is that it purchased its Detroit property from the Felician Sisters.

And according to Sister Mary Danatha, president of Madonna College of Livonia, the Felician Sisters are sponsors only of Madonna. "We are a private corporation and we don't have any property except what we have here in Livonia."

Although Sister Danatha concedes that she and at least one other sister have discussed their concerns about the proposed consortium with Dr. C. Nelson Grote, president of Schoolcraft, and with Mrs. Dumas, she says it is nonsense to believe that Madonna is plotting a scheme to block the consortium. Asked if she or any members of her staff may have spoken with other county or state officials relative to the consortium's proposal for the Child Development Center, she replies, "I'm not at liberty to discuss the subject further" without first consulting with the college board.

Reason for questioning the necessity of the consortium with Commissioner Dumas, explains Sister Danatha, is that in view of the fact that there is a shortage of money for higher education it seems more sensible to channel what money is available into an existing four year college, such as Madonna, rather than using it to create a new four-year college serving the same people.

Madonna, she asserts, is an excellent four-year college which is doing a fine job of accommodating students coming from neighboring community colleges such as Schoolcraft and Dearborn.

Just as she insists there is no truth to the charge that Madonna has waged a behind the scenes battle against the consortium, she adds that there is no truth in the rumor that Madonna is interested in acquiring the Child Development Center property for itself.

Similarly, the chairman of the county public works committee denies involvement in any alleged lobbying against the consortium. Although he admits it may appear that the committee acted hastily in considering Sacred Heart's proposal — nearly a year after the deadline for proposals and before formally rejecting the consortium proposal, he says his only interest has been to try to get an occupant into the Child Development Center so that the county's maintenance expenses can be eliminated.

Because the issue has become so controversial, Lesinski says he "may very likely turn the whole mess back to the blue ribbon committee to advise us on what to do."

Lesinski says the Sacred Heart proposal was first broached to him personally by parties representing that organization. It was not proposed to him by the state, he asserts, although he admits having subsequent conversation with John Dempsey, director of the State Department of Social Services, and with others about the proposal.

"We've got to have someone who will take the responsibility for the entire place," he insists. "Maybe if the consortium can't do it Sacred Heart can."

Concerning an expressed fear of Dempsey that Sacred Heart may not be able to receive state and federal monies unless it or the state actually owns the premises, the public works chairman says he is confident "some kind of arrangement can be worked out. "We might be able to arrange a token sale for a dollar. In other words, it's something that can be worked out. But I want to emphasize we haven't made up our minds. If the consortium can come up with a good lease they'll get it."

Lesinski, a former Congressman from Dearborn, confirms he is a friend of Dempsey but that this in no way has influenced his consideration of Sacred Heart. During last week's public hearing in the county building the two men joked publicly about being members of the same parish.

Lois Matheson, administrative assistant for the Social Services Department, emphasizes that although Father Quinn is its director Sacred Heart is in no way connected with any Catholic organization. And she and her boss, Dempsey, insist the Social Services Department is not sponsoring Sacred Heart's proposal.

Sacred Heart is a private, non-profit organization. Among members on its board of directors are Circuit Judge Roman Gribbs (former Detroit mayor), County Prosecutor William Cahalan, and Sheriff William Lucas.

Although Vallier is outspoken in his criticism, other Schoolcraft College officials are privately angry over the obstacles tossed into the way of the consortium but they are publicly reserved in their comments as they try to avoid a split in relations with Madonna.

Much of the private conversation concerns the new law which requires legislative approval of any consortium lease such as is proposed for the Child Development Center. Because they have only 30 days in which to work out a lease and because the law is so new that machinery has not yet been established to permit application for legislative approval, "there doesn't seem to be much hope," Schoolcraft officials fear.

A very important complicating factor must also be considered, notes Commissioner Dumas. The county is going to demand that Schoolcraft and Wayne State commit themselves financially to maintain the Child Development Center. "And from what I've been hearing about the financial problems Wayne State is having, I doubt if they have the necessary money to join with Schoolcraft in taking over the center property right now."

Concerning the law that college officials say makes immediate consummation of a lease impossible, reliable sources contend that it "very likely" was specifically engineered to block Schoolcraft-WSU consortium. Kingpin in this move, reportedly is State Senator Thomas Guastello, who fought to have the anti-consortium amendment placed in the appropriations bill a few weeks ago.

The section in question reads: "Community and junior colleges shall not enter into cooperative ventures with baccalaureate institutions which require the joint lease, purchase, or rental of space without specific legislative authorization."

(Guastello was unavailable for comment in Lansing or at his office in Mt. Clemens; nor did he return telephone calls.)

His motive for introducing the amendment, sources say, is that "he wants the next four-year college to be located in Macomb County, and he saw the consortium's proposal here as thwarting that plan. There is no doubt about it. Section 17 (amendment) is his, baby, his insurance that this consortium will not spoil his plan to make Macomb Community College a four-year school."

'Graceful As 3-Legged Chicken'

Our Gal Dottie's No 'Big Top' Performer

By DOROTHY SHIPLEY

I ran away and joined the circus last week—almost.

I should say I tried to run away and join the circus. The only problem with the whole deal is that they didn't have any openings for showgirls who dance like three-legged chickens or hoist themselves onto elephants with all the grace of a baby hippopotamus climbing a step ladder.

In any case, next year I'll know better and audition for something more in my line—like a snake charmer or the tattooed lady.

Joining Ringling Brothers is probably every bit as difficult these days as getting into Harvard or Yale. A 'B' average in looks, dance skills or athletic ability just won't get you in the front door girls.

In fact, the top 10 who eventually were singled out as the best of those who auditioned last Thursday will be weeded through again by circus executives before a lucky two or three will be asked to join "the greatest show on earth."

I don't begrudge those 10 their success in the least. Anyone who can move and dance like they did have my wholehearted admiration.

As anyone can tell you who was present at the audition last week, you have to do more than walk a straight line heel to toe to get into the show.

For more than an hour we were "put through the paces" by circus choreographer Bill Bradley. Bradley had us pivot, spin, twirl, kick and tap our toes in several different routines which he insisted upon terming "simple dance steps."

Huh.
The only consolation I had after alternately feeling ridiculous and dizzy was that I was truly consistent.

I didn't do one of the routines correctly once.

By the time he had gone through a Charleston routine for the fiftieth time for the benefit of his not so talented applicants, I was debating whether he was really patient or just taking sadistic pleasure in watching me trip over my own feet.

Anyway, even though I tried my best I was glad when they finally took pity on those who "didn't qualify" and separated the chosen ones from the rest of us.

Some of the other girls really had their hearts set on becoming showgirls and were bitterly disappointed when they failed to be drafted.

Just asking around a little I discovered that most of them were between 20 and 25 years of age. A lot of them were high school graduates and nearly all had taken a class or two in dancing. A few were professionals and had actually made a living from their talent.

Some of them were quite pretty, some average and a few were just simply plain.

To be chosen, is not to say a girl is necessarily the most beautiful or the best dancer or even the greatest in any one certain area.

In fact, Bradley, who has been a choreographer for the circus for nearly a decade and a professional dancer nearly all of his 50 some odd years, will tell you that often he will reject a better dancer for another girl.

"It's a lot of things, really," explained Bradley. "It isn't always the prettiest girls or the best dancers who are chosen although beauty and talent are a plus in their favor."

"Sometimes it's just a certain sparkle about a girl, a certain something and you know she'd be right for the job."

For those who have what it takes, a job with the circus means about $190 a week to start, and plenty of travel.

Three Detroit area girls who successfully auditioned for jobs in the circus the past year or two say that they love their new life and will stay with it if new contracts are offered to them.

Linda Stankiewicz, 21, who is one of the three says that her first year with the circus has been everything she hoped it would be and more.

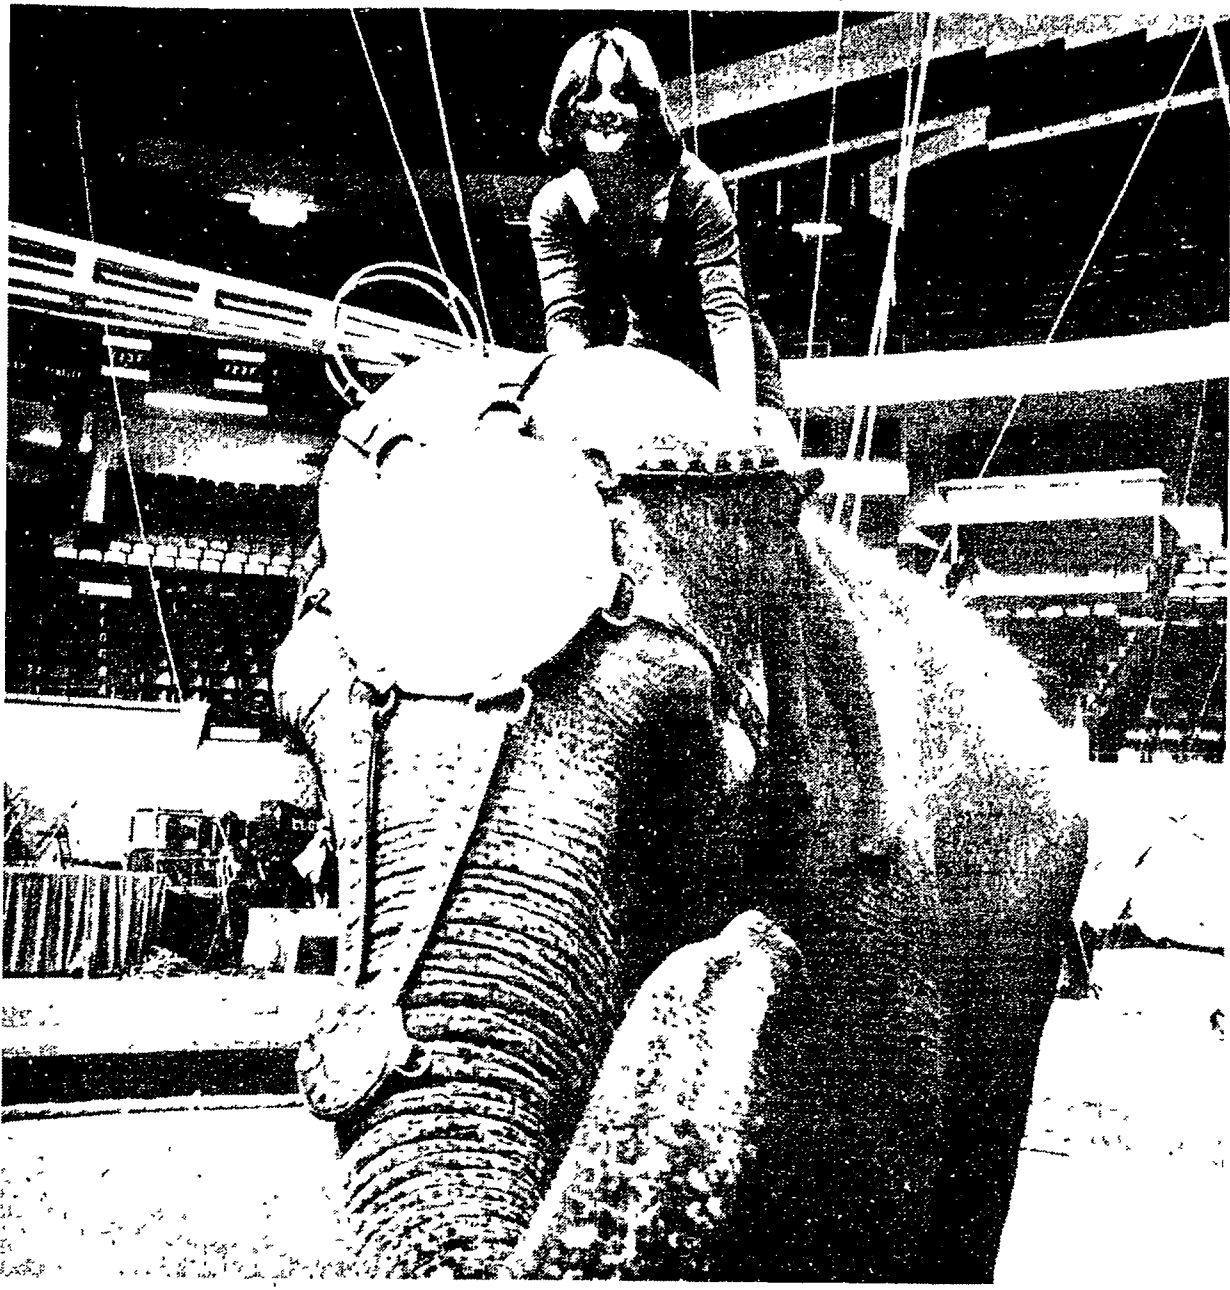

"Really the travel is the best part of it," said Linda. "I'm always ready to move on to the next city after a few days and see something new."

Those who made it into this year's top 10 applicants are anxious to have the same life Linda and her two comrades have chosen for themselves.

Jan Ricca, who is 25, slender and extremely attractive was Bradley's top choice from the audition.

She says that if she is asked she will pack her clothes and belongings and take them, along with her

South Lyon Congregation Starts Church Building

In a relatively short span of time, members of South Lyon's Cross of Christ Lutheran Church have completed a list of accomplishments which would normally take years.

Groundbreaking ceremonies Sunday at the site at 10 Mile and Griswold roads was the initial step in the construction of the first official church building for the tiny congregation which was established only two years ago. Building costs have been pegged at $140,000.

In that length of time, the mission church has grown from a handful of believers to a membership of 50 families, encompassing 130 persons. This small group has succeeded in just 24 months in purchasing the seven-acre site east of South Lyon, built a parsonage and called a full-time pastor. Next Sunday will mark the second anniversary of the first Cross of Christ service in Kiwanis Hall which serves as temporary quarters for the growing congregation. Pastor Michael Bristol gives full credit for this impressive list of accomplishments to God, the dedication of the congregation and the Michigan Lutheran District Board of Extensions. As a mission church, the Cross of Christ family derives financial and spiritual support from this board of the Missouri Synod.

The new 64,000 square-foot building encompasses a semi-circular sanctuary bordered by eight movable classrooms, a pastor's study, kitchen and restrooms. Cost of the facility includes a paved parking lot. A five-month completion time is anticipated.

The unusual design presents an overall rectangular effect with wings at the sides. Storage area will be provided under the wings. The sanctuary-multipurpose room will seat 240 persons and faces Griswold Road some 300 feet south of 10 Mile.

"The builder (Robert Wedler of Southfield) says the unique design, built into the side of the hill will give an appearance that it grew out of the ground or landed as a flying saucer," Pastor Bristol explains with a chuckle.

"The Mission Board and District Board in Ann Arbor went along with us on a 'design and build concept' which allowed us to select the builder first. Mr. Wedler, in turn, selected the architect, Harvey Ferrero, who teaches at Lawrence Institute in Southfield.

"We asked for a basic building in the $100,000 range. We were impressed with this building because it does have a very distinctive appearance and yet it gives us the space we need."

Participating in Sunday's groundbreaking ceremonies, in addition to Pastor Bristol, were Ernest Brown, chairman of the congregation, and the architect and builder.

Members of the building committee are Clarence Harder, Martin Peters, Marion Fletcher, Edward Ruhl and Florence Hader.

Pastor Bristol also gave considerable credit for the congregation's growth to Robert Bayer, former chairman of the congregation, who was highly instrumental in starting the church here as well as being a strong supporter of the building committee.

The first committee meetings on forming the Mission church were held at the Bayer home in New Hudson in 1973. On October 5, 1973 the 40-members began worship services at Kiwanis Hall with the Reverend Lawrence Kinne of St. Matthews Lutheran Church in Walled Lake serving as the Mission Pastor.

Pastor Bristol was called from Onaway to serve the church in July, 1974.

CHURCH UNDERWAY—Ground breaking Sunday signaled the beginning of construction of the $140,000 Cross of Christ Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod) building, parking lot and driveway in South Lyon. Robert Wedler of Southfield is erecting the modernistic building designed by Harvey Ferrera.

Methodists to Hold Revival Meetings

DAN ROXBURY

The Green Oak Free Methodist Church will be holding revival meetings beginning this Sunday, October 5, at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services.

Monday through Wednesday, October 6-8, revival meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the church, located at 10111 Fieldcrest, in Green Oak Township.

Meetings will be led by the Reverend Dan Roxbury, evangelist from Holland.

According to church Pastor Gary Cole, Mr. Roxbury's ministry has taken him to over 400 churches of several denominations in Michigan, Indiana and Canada.

Recently, Mr. Roxbury organized an evangelistic association, Reach Out for Christ, Incorporated.

Pastor Cole said the public is invited to attend all revival sessions next week.

HISTORIC OCCASION—Pastor E. Michael Bristol turns the first shovel of earth for the foundation of Cross of Christ Lutheran Church on the site at 10 Mile and Griswold roads this past Sunday. The church will be built north of the parsonage in which the pastor and his family have lived since late December, 1974. Also pictured above are (from their pastor's left reading to the right) Perry Gray, Ernest Brown, Martin Peters, dozen years of professional dancer experience, and join the show. No doubt about it.

Florence Hader, Robert Bayer, Marion Fletcher and Clarence Harder of the church's administrative and building committees.

It was great listening to those who were already in and those who hoped to be in soon. But I kept thinking of the phrase someone with sour grapes once coined:

"I wouldn't know about that, girls."

Oh well, they must have appreciated the comic relief my body lent to the proceedings because they allowed me the consolation of riding one of their top elephants, "Targa."

What should have been the experience of a lifetime, however, was marred again.

I discovered quickly that getting on an elephant isn't the same as mounting a pony. It's a matter of size.

By the time I had managed to hoist myself onto the animal I had elicited more snickers and outright horse laughs than heretofore from at least three dozen bystanders.

At least the circus people were nice. I noticed that when it comes to hiring personnel if they don't have anything nice to say they don't say anything at all. They just thank you for coming and invite you to try again next year.

Not so, our ace photographer and staff critic, Jim Galbraith who accompanied me.

His assessment?

"You are the clumsiest, most uncoordinated broad I have ever, in my life, laid eyes on."

Thanks, Jim.

Head showgirl and three year veteran, Jean Gorman, explains circus life.

It's Time for Cider

The taste-tempting combination of tangy cider and homemade doughnuts is an exhilarating way for Michiganders to get into the spirit of the fall season, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Motorists will find that combining a trip to a cider mill with a fall color tour provides a unique and fun-filled activity the whole family may enjoy," stated Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

"Cider seems to be enjoyed most when quaffed outdoors or while watching the huge mill wheel turn slowly," Ratke added.

"Youngsters in particular will enjoy seeing the unfermented apple juice being extracted by means of a press and then delight in drinking the sweet juice," he said.

The accompanying Auto Club map provides the location of 59 cider mills in southern Michigan where apple pressing operations may be observed and the finished product may be sampled.

Twenty-three of the mills are located in Southeast Michigan while 19 are in East Michigan and 17 are in West Michigan.

Cider mills vary in character from the most modern endeavor complete with hydraulic presses to the small family operation that uses gear-driven machinery.

Some mills have apple orchards where the ripe fruit may be picked while others permit customers to bring in their own apples and containers for pressing. The best time for picking apples is from early September through October.

"The taste of cider is somewhat uniform although different brands may vary according to the types of apples used," Ratke explained.

"Crowds are heaviest around cider mills on weekends when traffic jams often develop," he said. "The best way to avoid this traffic is to visit a mill during the week."

Visiting a cider mill can be a day-long activity since some of the mills feature such things as flea markets, horse-drawn wagon rides, gift shops, restaurants and picnic tables.

"Since pressing often is done on an irregular schedule, persons wishing to view such operations should make a telephone check before starting out," Ratke advised.

Placement Decision Important

Landscaping Is No Snap Chore

BY KATHY COPLEY

Many amateur landscapers invest in expensive trees and shrubs at this time of year, knowing that early to mid October is a prime time for planting them.

What many first-timers don't realize is that the placement of a tree is not a haphazard thing. It is a decision that is based on soil, site, exposure, mature size and shape, house style, etc. Outside of a landscaping class, you probably won't fully understand how these factors work, but here goes a crash lesson.

Some trees like or at least tolerate very damp soil, like willows; others require soil which has excellent drainage, like fruit trees. You figure out what kind of drainage you have and the nursery man will help you find suitable plants.

Poplars tolerate wind, as do autumn olive bushes; most of the fast growing trees are very brittle and susceptible to wind damage. Knowing the kind of sun and wind conditions a particular spot has will help you and the nursery person decide on the best plant.

Ranch style houses require a lower, more controlled design of trees and plants than a colonial requires. The scale of the trees and shrubs needs to be in keeping with the size and shape of the house. Once you have selected the plants for the general site, you have to know where to dig the hole. If your goal is afternoon shade in the summer, plant a spreading tree like a maple, oak, or sycamore 15' south and 20' west of the spot you want shaded.

If the mature height of the tree will be over 20', as it will be for locust and hawthorne, plant it no closer than 15' from the house. Shade trees need to be at least 10' from drives and patios.

Flowering trees, especially the smaller crabs and plums, can be planted closer. In fact, they are often used in foundation plantings as close as 8' from the house because pruning easily keeps them in scale.

Dwarf fruit trees generally require no more than 10' from one to the next. Sweetgum, silver maple, and linden need up to 65' between them to accommodate their mature branch span.

Large spruce or pine trees will dwarf nearly any house when they reach maturity so plant them 20' to the front and 20' to the side of the house.

Planning the front yard plantings is important because you want to keep the house as the focus of attention from planting time to maturity.

To do this, draw a line from the middle of the front door to the front corners of the property. To give the illusion of width, keep all the trees and shrubs behind these lines.

Another way to widen a lot's appearance is to avoid a row of trees or shrubs to divide your lawn from your neighbor's front lawn.

Keep foundation plantings behind these lines, too. A large tree or shrub immediately next to the doorway tends to dwarf it.

Evergreens are used so extensively in foundation plantings because they keep their needles (and sometimes leaves) throughout the seasons to give the planting year-round substance.

Next, draw lines from the middle of the door through the most prominent architectural feature on the left and right of the house. It may be the chimney on the right, dormer on the left, peak of the garage roof, etc.

The mature size of any plant should not exceed the level of the line. This, too, means that foundation plants near the door will remain in scale.

Remember Your Pets In Landscaping Home

Your home grounds should meet the needs of all members of your family—including the family dog!

"Even house dogs need to get outdoors," observes Joe Cox, Extension landscape architecture specialist at Michigan State University. "And other dogs may need to spend most or all their time outside the house, so a pet area can be important in the landscape."

It may be something as simple as a metal stake with a swivel at the top for attaching a chain or rope, Cox says, or as complex as a chain link fenced dog run with a cement floor for easy cleaning. What you choose depends on the needs of your pet and the resources you have to work with.

"Accessibility to the pet area is important," Cox points out. "You want the pet area to be easy to get to for cleaning, feeding and watering your dog. A storage place for grooming tools, food and dishes and a water source nearby can be handy."

Shelter for the animal is necessary, too. A dog that stays outside all the time needs protection against all kinds of weather. For the dog that stays outdoors for only short periods of time, a choice of sunny or shady spots may be all that's necessary.

Because it's generally unsafe—if not illegal—to let dogs run loose at will, some type of enclosure is often

Rise and Shine

It seems like every morning begins and ends the same—
It's time to get up my darling, "Dress warm it looks like rain."

I haven't heard a movement in her bedroom as of yet—
It's time to get up honey—hurry! or you'll be late—
I hear a mumbled answer, of which, I can't detect.
If you don't hurry and get up, you'll miss your bus at eight!

It's getting later each time I call
My nerves are getting bad—
If you don't get up out of bed—
You'll answer to your Dad!

There's movement somewhere down the hall—
I'll set her lunch and books by the door—
Maybe I'll give her one more call—
I should have yelled much louder before!

Into the bathroom, staggering around—
Brushing her teeth a familiar sound—
Running water is not at it's best—
I hope she hurries and gets dressed.

I'm in so much turmoil by this time—
Down on my knees—her shoe to find—
Somehow her hairbrush has a way
Of disappearing every day.

Ah! at last a hurried kiss
Which somehow, always seems to miss!
The school bus appears around the bend,
She has to stop to wait for a friend.

A wave goodbye and she disappears into the bus,
I'm almost in tears—
Why does this go on each day?
Because she knows her Mother will lead her way!

Patty Cake

It seems like only yesterday
I peeked into his crib,
With his soft little blanket,
And his little pink bib.

He's such a tiny little boy
But, he has brought us so much joy,
Just to watch him grow and learn
To hold, and cuddle him by turn.

He's sometimes very hard to hold,
When his diapers we try to fold
Of course he'll wiggle, squirm, and cry,
We know now he must be kept dry.

Each day is something new to us,
Babies always make a fuss.
When they're not fed on demand,
We're learning fast, who's in command.

The days go by,
My how they fly,
A month has come and gone
"Look see his hair, it's already growing long."

Before we know a tooth appears,
Now we have satisfied our fears,
There's nothing wrong with baby dear
It's just Mother Nature in full gear.

New World

If only you'll let your subconscious mind steer ,
I know you can make it a 'New World' here.
The beautiful wisdom that inside you is taught ,
Is that there is nothing that you can not .

C. W. Watkins

Universal Love

Give of yourself without concern
Give your Love without a return
Help to understand your brother
Expand, go forth, greet each other

Smiles kindle friendship
Try it, curl up your lip
A kind word, understanding, caring
Faith, trust, sharing

We are all one and the same
Just a reflection, with a different name
Try harmony, Hope, Together
All of us have a storm to weather

Inspire, care seek out the needy
Find forgiveness for the greedy
Identify the troubled in mind
Go Forth, give Love, There's still time.

Fran McCasey

Lingerings

The clouds turn to mist
And the mists turn to rain,
And the rain turns to fog
And to clouds again.

The summer, while gone
Still lingers on Into fall and late fall
Before it is done.

And we cling to the wisps
Of the lingering trails
In the lake and the sky overhead,
As if in defense
Against cold winter gales
When the warmth of the year has fled.

Year in, year out
It is ever the same—
We dread the ice and the snow,
But we live and grow old
In this land we call home...
Is there some other place we would go?

Charles E. Hutton

Swift Sun Storm

Thunder's grey roar;
Wild buttercups near bulldozer's
Giraffed cranes making
A shore to new adventures,
So thought the wild canary
As it flashed upward
To a nearby bush.

Still Sweeps

Long into night's blackness
In my room
I saw the Shooting Star
I had seen
Earlier on the beach;
Recalled in it's stead
A Boy Scout
Who, with our group stood still Eyes shining; lost
To where the gull's reach.

F. A. Hasenau

Rainy Day

Mother Nature is crying today
I guess she feels blue, cause her SUN'S gone away
He sure has been gone for quite awhile
Until he comes back, Mother Nature won't smile

The clouds have put on so much weight
It's hard for the sky to keep things straight
Miss Rainbow is anxiously waiting
For her Mr. SUN, cause they've been dating

The Earth is waiting to be fed
But Mother Nature is confined to her bed,
I wonder why her Sun don't appear
To erase all her worries, and fear

Her Moonbeams keep dancing to lite up her sky
They can't understand, what makes her cry
Her stars will twinkle, and put her grief on the run
For a happy Reunion, with her Sun

Fran McCasey

Blessed

I was blessed with eyes to see
The beautiful leaves upon my tree
I was born with hands to feel
All God's gifts that are so real

I was given ears, with which to hear
All His teachings far and near My legs He gave me to walk with
To carry along His greatest gift

Knowledge, I've had the chance to gain
Cause He also gave me a brain
He blessed me with a sense of passion
His gift of love is still in fashion

He gave me arms to hold and enfold
He blessed me with the truth He's told
He gave me faith in mankind
He blessed me with His love Devine

He taught me peace through a gentle dove
He showed me what it means to love
He taught me how to forgive
He blessed me with His will to live.

My wife returned from a three-week visit in Taiwan bursting with the happy news of a frenzied prosperity in that country. This is caused, she said, by an influx of great numbers of tourists from the U.S., Southeast Asia and Japan — the latter after an absence of one year because of a disagreement.

Taiwan combines business and pleasure very nicely.

Large manufacturing complexes are now working 24-hour shifts. One of the reasons for this increased activity is that the famous "Fruits of Taiwan" are now being dried and exported. These include bananas, oranges, papayas, mangos, longans, loquats and peaches.

Taiwan wine (Shaoshing) is rapidly gaining a large following in Hawaii and elsewhere. Also, Taiwan jasmine tea is now regarded as one of the most exotic teas available.

Don't waste your time trying out Taiwan cigarettes. They are named Happy Days, Sunrise, Great Hopes, etc. They retail at about 20 cents a package. They are very useful to anyone desiring to give up smoking forever.

Taipei is famous for butterflies mounted under glass in frames. There are about 380 species.

A beautiful island vacation spot there is Penghu Island about 34 miles off the West Coast of Taiwan. It is a unit of the Pescadores group. Here is the finest sea-food in the world where a good meal for two served with wine costs about five dollars. The customer selects the seafood alive from running water tanks — and the lobster is divine.

If you want to visit an ancient civilization that is still alive and excitingly active, choose Bhutan. Here is a small kingdom in the foothills of the Himalayas where the fascinating Tibetan culture still persists in the ancient traditions of earliest civilizations.

Here are lush valleys, crystal streams, and all around you the snowy fingers of the Himalayas probing an azure sky. The people are friendly and sincerely honest in their welcomes, with customs untouched by Western man. The government now opens the borders to only a few tourists each year.

For a vacation trip of a lifetime make your reservation for 1976 before this year ends. Ask your travel agent, Linblad Travel Inc. of New York is the only agent with a background knowledge of Bhutan.

THE PINTO PONY MPG, a new subcompact car model from Ford Motor with a sticker price of $2,895 will go on sale at Wilson Ford-Mercury of Brighton on October 3. The Pinto Pony has been estimated by EPA at 38 miles per gallon.

Ford dealer John Wilson said the new model is "our price and fuel-economy leader for 1976 and will hold its own against any shape or size of car, foreign or domestic. It is America's lowest-sticker-priced domestically produced automobile — and the back seat comes at no extra charge."

The Pinto Pony MPG is a four-passenger, two-door sedan with a four-cylinder, 2.3-liter overhead-cam engine of proven reliability, a four-speed manual transmission and a 3.00-to-1 rear-axle ration. It will be sold with a limited number of options.

"When official Environmental Protection Agency test results are announced," Wilson said, "we expect that the 49-state version of the Pinto Pony MPG will be rated at 38 mpg on the highway cycle and 25 mpg on the city cycle."

"This is a real value-for-money car with strong unit-body construction that puts more steel around its passengers than its newest competitor. It also has a wider track, a 92-horsepower engine, precise rack-and-pinion steering and a wider interior."

DAVE AND HOLLY KAHLE of 340 North First Street, Brighton, have been awarded the exclusive Gold Key by the Neo-Life Company of America, according to Clyde Juchau, company president. The Gold Key is awarded in recognition of outstanding sales volume.

The Kahles have developed a direct sales team of distributors who market the three Neo-Life product lines: organic food supplements, biodegradable cleaners and natural Gloda complexion care products.

Located in San Lorenzo, California, Neo-Life distributes its products nationwide through a network of independent businessmen and women who operate without territorial restrictions.

MICHIGAN'S restaurant industry and more than 350,000 people working in some 25,000 licensed food service establishments throughout the state have been honored by Governor William G. Milliken in an executive declaration in observance of Restaurant Month - October.

Herbert H. Schmid, chairman of the board of the Michigan Restaurant Association and proprietor of The Schmid Haus restaurant in Warren, headed the industry delegation present at the signing ceremonies. MRA represents 1500 member restaurants.

Governor Milliken praised the role of restaurant people in serving as "Goodwill ambassadors to the dining public", including 16 million people who visit Michigan yearly.

The industry is an important one to the state's economy, generating almost $2 billion in sales annually. It is the state's largest industry in terms of number of retail establishments and retail employees.

THE NAME "Clamdiggers" has been selected by Chuck Muer from among 160 names submitted by the public for his new restaurant in Farmington Township.

Muer told a reporter a month ago that he would buy dinner for anyone who could come up with a suitable name for the restaurant at 30555 Grand River, formerly Danny's Gin Mill. The subsequent news story brought a flood of letters suggesting names.

Winner of the contest and creator of "Clamdiggers" is George W. Britton, an account executive at Wilding Division of Bell & Howell Company on West Eight Mile Road in Southfield. He is a resident of Farmington Hills.

Britton and his wife will be guests for dinner in a Chuck Muer restaurant, and will be guests of honor at the opening party for Clamdiggers.

Muer said the restaurant, now closed, is undergoing extensive remodeling, and is scheduled to open on November 13. He recently opened a new restaurant in Northville called "Northville Charley's."

JOHN CARRELL GAUDET has been appointed Executive Chef of the new Plymouth Hilton Inn on Northville Road near Five Mile Road.

He will supervise food operations in The Park, a 120 seat breakfast and snack area, the Jolly Miller restaurant, seating 160, the adjacent night club, seating 140, and all banquet, function, and room service.

Chef for five years at the Oronoka Inn, Orono, Maine, Gaudet moved to Michigan in 1964 to become chef at the Bonnie Brook Country Club, where he served three years. He was also executive chef of the Westwood Inn for five years and of the Hilton Inn where Michigan shows her colors best, the Michigan Travel Commission has compiled an Autumn Color Tour Guide containing 24 suggested, mapped tour in both the upper and lower peninsulas.

A listing of 52 cider mills where you can stop for a refreshing glass of fresh pressed cider is also available. Both publications are free from the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, Lansing 48913.

The annual Fall Color Cruise on Lake Charlevoix affords a look at autumn from a delightfully different angle. The cruise, aboard the Beaver Islander out of Charlevoix, has become so popular that this year there will be two, one on October 4, another on October 12. Each cruise leaves Charlevoix at 1 p.m. returning to port at approximately 3:30 p.m. In addition to the color panorama along the shore, passengers enjoy snacks, refreshments and entertainment on board, all for $5. Reservations are limited to 200 per cruise and should be made in advance through the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

On shore, Gladwin will conduct their annual Guided Color Tour of Gladwin County October 12, complete with free coffee stops along the scenic routes. More details on this colorful day are obtainable from the Gladwin County Chamber of Commerce.

October in Michigan has much to offer in the way of recreational pursuits to enhance color tour outings, not the least of which are the variety of fall-type festivals. A rousing Octoberfest starts things off in the proper spirit October 1-5 at Big Rapids. Then comes the annual Festival of the Forks at Albion, October 3-4, highlighted by parades, international foods, a Festival Market Place populated by area craftsmen, bicycle and canoe races. Old time crafts, one-ring circus, historic displays, bread dough art, dancing and a car raffle are only a few of the events and activities planned for the Fall Festival at Clinton, October 3-5, that promise great fun for the whole family.

Among October's favorite festive happenings in Michigan are the Autumn Harvest Weekend at Greenfield Village, Dearborn, October 4-5. Farm demonstrations, country music, crafts and costumed hosts and hostesses recall how earlier generations celebrated the end of the harvest season. The same weekend, the same spirit prevails at the Fall Harvest and Crafts Festival at the Nature Center in Kalamazoo.

Horse-drawn wagon rides, steam engines, barnyard, farm store and ox roast are only a few of the things to be enjoyed.

Everyone knows that fall is for apples and the Apple Festival at Niles, October 9-12, is for everyone. Then there's the Red Flannel Festival, October 11, in Cedar Springs and the National Forest Festival, October 17-19, in Manistee.

Two good reasons for antiquers and "junkers" to junket forth come up October 3-5. One is the Antique Show and Sale at the Civic Center in Lansing and also the Antiques Fair Show and Sale in the County Center Building, Kalamazoo. Later in the month treasure hunters can browse yesterday's "goodies" at the Antiques Market in Ann Arbor, October 19, and the Antique Show and Sale, National Guard Armory, Jackson, October 24-26.

October also brings a hint of winter and snow-coated fun with the Snowmobile Show in the I.M.A. Auditorium, Flint, October 2-5 and the Winter Ski Show-Expo, Cobo Hall, Civic Center, Detroit, October 31-November 2.

Then there are those impromptu — or planned — outings that autumn in Michigan seem to inspire such as weiner roasts and picnics and leaf shuffling hikes along forest trails and lake shores. There's hunting and fishing and canoeing surrounded by spectacular color.

Your best guide for "leafing" through autumn and every season in Michigan is the new Michigan Calendar of Travel Events. Write for your free copy to the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, Lansing, 48913

Eye Workmen's Comp

LANSING—Michigan's oft-criticized workmen's compensation program, which carries a whopping $280 million-a-year price tag, may be in for some close scrutiny this fall.

Republicans in the Michigan House say they'll dig into reports of "generally massive abuse" in the system. And the Department of Labor, which administers the program, is launching an examination of the $80 million in medical and legal fees paid annually.

REVISION of the workmen's comp law, now 63 years old, should be top priority when lawmakers reconvene this fall, says Representative Dennis O. Cawthorne of Manistee, leader of the House GOP caucus.

"Michigan's workers, employers and consumers are all victims of a conspiracy on the part of many physicians, lawyers and union officials to prevent the system through unethical solicitation of cases and kickbacks, from settlements obtained and fraudulent claims and from generally massive abuse of the existing antiquated law," Cawthorne says.

He also speaks of "an epidemic of fraud and abuse" in the system.

FEES PAID to doctors and layers are subject for consideration by a special task force named by the Labor Department.

needed, Cox points out. A run or some other type of pen also gives the animal a chance to be free of a leash or chain.

Wire chain link fencing is usually a good choice for a dog pen, Cox says.

A permanent kennel should have a concrete floor for easy cleaning, the specialist says. Pea gravel on a sand base is another alternative; with sawdust, newspapers or other litter spread on the ground as the least desirable option. Daily cleaning is a must.

You can blend the dog pen into the landscape by planting a screen of evergreens or other ornamentals on the outside, Cox suggests.

Last Ditch Northville Effort Thwarted

One yard and one point meant the difference in a football struggle which dealt the Northville Varsity Football team its first loss of the season. A 7-6 decision from the hands of Livonia Churchill last Friday in Northville.

Livonia Coach Ken Kaestner, a Northville resident, said that he was in a "state of shock" as he hustled off the field accepting a flurry of congratulations, for upsetting the Northville team, from the well-wishers in the crowd of 1500.

Last year his Livonia Churchill team lost a 7-0 contest to Northville. The Mustangs threw a goal line stand at the Livonia team which prevented the Churchill quarterback from scoring after three quarterback sneaks into the middle of the Northville line.

This year Kaestner turned the tables on the Mustangs, throwing a goal line stand of his own against Northville, and stopping the point after touchdown attempt which would have won the game for the Mustangs.

It was a tough hard-nosed football game, and both teams had to fight the clock as well as their opponent to get on the scoreboard as Livonia scored with seconds left in the first half and Northville scored with seconds left in the fourth quarter.

One of the five Northville fumbles, four of which were recovered by Livonia players, set up the Churchill touchdown.

A Livonia player recovered that fumble on the Northville 48 yard line, and ten plays later Mike Streicher threw an eight yard pass to Matt Foster for the touchdown. Foster kicked the extra point after the score, but turned in an even more valuable play during the scoring drive.

Livonia seemed stopped at the Northville 21 yard line where it faced a third down with nine yards to go for the first down.

The fake kick had been in the Livonia offensive repertoire for three years but was only used once previously, and it was successful in an extra point situation.

"It's something, that we actually don't plan on using on field goal situations," Kaestner said of his fake kick play. "We always plan on having it in our arsenal for extra point plays."

Northville was dominating throughout the game offensively, but had problems with mistakes. The Mustangs

Foster lined up to kick a field goal, but instead faked the kick and threw a pass to end John Curran for a 13 yard gain and the first down.

Kaestner claims that Foster can kick a field goal the 35 yards he would have needed to score, but the coach never had any intention of letting Foster try.

fumbled five times, losing the football on four of those occasions.

There was also one intercepted pass and Northville was penalized seven times for 55 yards. Livonia received three penalties for ten yards.

"Going into the game we felt that the team which made the least mistakes offensively and defensively would come out the winner," Northville football coach Chuck Shonta said. "We made mistakes when it hurt the most. They took advantage of the breaks we gave them."

Despite grinding out a net total offense of 254 yards and holding Livonia to a net offense of 127 yards, Northville was unable to score until the last few seconds of the game.

Northville's Scott Travers fell on a Livonia fumble on the Churchill 32 yard line and this time the Mustangs were ready to take advantage of a Livonia mistake.

The three previous times Northville had the football its offensive drive was stopped within the 25 yard line, twice by fumble and once by interception.

As the Mustangs drove to paydirt they almost threw this scoring opportunity away as they fumbled on the 11 yard line. However, Livonia was called for one of its few penalties of the game and the potential fumble became a five yard gain for Northville. With 32 seconds showing on the clock quarterback Eric Lampella crossed the goal line on a quarterback sneak from the one yard line for the touchdown.

Northville lined up to try for the two point conversion and the win. An extra point kick would have tied the game. Lampella pitched the ball out to Bruce McGlory who raced around left end toward the end zone.

However, McGlory never reached the end zone. He was met at the one yard line by Foster, who turned in his fourth big play of the night for Livonia. Foster stuck his head in McGlory's stomach and wrapped his arms around the Northville player while he waited for help from his Livonia teammates to drive McGlory away from the end zone. Dennis Singleton, of Northville, was the leading ground gainer in the game with 98 yards in 18 attempts. Lampella had his best passing night to date as he connected on six of 12 throws for 92 yards.

Defensively Bill Piccolo led the charge with eight tackles for the Mustangs. Jeff Weber and Jim Eaker had four tackles apiece.

McGlory intercepted a Livonia pass and Travers and Tim Conder each recovered one Churchill fumble RUNNING QUARTERBACK — Northville High School quarterback Eric Lampella (15) runs for yardage here against Livonia Churchill. Lampella scored the lone Mustang touchdown as Northville fell to a 7-6 defeat against the Livonia team. Lampella also had his best passing night to date as he completed six of 12 passes for 92 yards. Also pictured above are Northville's Gary Winemaster (45) and Churchill's Bob Barker (45) and Pat Fabian (55).

First Quarter Field Goal Spells Doom for Wildcats

It probably seemed like a mere chip shot to the Novi varsity football team, but the 16 yard first quarter field goal was enough to give the Wildcats a 3-0 loss Friday night at Chelsea.

The Chelsea team drove downfield after receiving the opening kickoff and were stopped at the six yard line where Chelsea kicker Rex Miles booted the field goal. After the field goal the game turned into a defensive tussle between the two Southeastern Conference teams.

The loss leaves Novi with a 1-2 record overall and a 1-1 mark in conference play.

For Novi Coach John Osborne it was a very frustrating experience.

"It was really a tough one for us," Osborne said. "It was almost like a bad dream. Nothing we tried could go right."

The Wildcats lacked offensive consistency and were able to mount only one scoring threat, which stalled inside the Chelsea 20 yard line.

Injuries also hampered the Wildcat effort. Both of the Novi halfbacks, who also play defensive end and punt for the team, were forced to leave the game as a result of injuries.

Andy Raddant broke his hand in the second quarter. Andy McComas broke his thumb in the same quarter.

McComas, however, stayed in the game until a knee injury forced him to go to the sidelines in the second half of play. Before leaving the game he gained 58 yards rushing in 12 attempts to lead the Novi ground gainers.

Novi's offensive unit managed a net offensive total of only 106 yards against Chelsea. The Wildcats had 95 yards rushing and 21 yards passing.

Osborne said that there is no question Chelsea is a good football team.

"They controlled the game and were inside our ten yard line on four different occasions," Osborne said. "We had our backs to the wall the entire game."

"We bent on defense, but never broke," Osborne said.

Osborne said that the injuries made it especially

The 27th annual Northville Golf League Tournament was won by Paul Vandenberg with an 18 hole score of 77 at Godwin Glen last Saturday.

Vandenberg's score was the low gross for the tournament. The low net score was carded by Bill St. Lawrence who shot a 62.

Season champions for the team play were Charlie Huff and Bruce Deacon who earned 133 team points. The league has team play 24 nights throughout the summer and finishes the season with the individual tournament.

Finishing second in the team play was the duo of Vandenberg and Carl Stevens.

Huff grabbed honors for the most earned points with a total of 66. The most improved player was Clancey Ely who knocked 2.77 strokes off his average score, while Williams shot the low average number of strokes for the season with a 40.25 average.

After the tournament the league had a banquet at the American Legion Hall where the 1976 officers were elected. Denny Armstrong will be president, Charlie Bakkila was elected vice president, Ed Welch was elected secretary and treasurer for the 19th year, and Mike Zinn was elected as a member of the board.

Last year's board was: Huff, president; Armstrong, vice president; Welch, secretary and treasurer; and Bakkila, board member.

Mustang Jayvees Beat Lakeland

The Mustang jayvee football team scored a 28-14 victory over Milford Lakeland last Thursday in Northville.

Northville had four touchdowns in the game. The first score came early in the first quarter when Doug Marzonie connected on a ten yard scoring toss to John Horwath.

Defensive players Tim Ellis and Horwath combined their efforts to get the next Northville touchdown in the second period. Ellis tackled the Lakeland quarterback in the end zone, forcing a fumble which Horwath pounced on for a touchdown. Peter Wright ran for the extra points.

Ellis got his chance to score in the third quarter when he completed a ten yard run for a touchdown. Dan Davis scored the points after touchdown.

Northville coaches described the game as the best team effort to date. Paul LaVoie, Jeff Norton and Bob Powell were commended by junior varsity coaches for fine play during the game.

Gould Does It Again!

X-Country Ace Breaks Own Week-Old Record

Bob Gould broke his week-old Northville cross country record in one of the two Mustang victories last week and Northville Coach Ralph Redmond thinks he has found the fifth member he needs to complete a pack.

Gould's record-breaking effort came Tuesday during a triangular meet against Dearborn Riverside and Novi, hosted by the Mustangs at Cass Benton. He finished the race with a time of 16:10, five seconds faster than a record he set seven days earlier on the same course.

"One of the things Bob has got this year is that he has his confidence going for him and he can really put together a race," Coach Redmond said of Gould.

"He lacked some confidence as a sophomore," Redmond continued. "This year as a junior he has gained confidence, plus some additional strength."

Northville won that triangular meet with a low score of 25, followed by Dearborn Riverside's 36 points and Novi with 94 points.

A Dearborn sophomore, Greg Donakowski, finished second in the race with a time of 16:37.

Don Wilber, a Northville sophomore, finished in third place. A Dearborn runner finished fourth and following that the Mustangs blocked off the competition by placing in the sixth through tenth slots.

John Coram led the Northville pack in the sixth place, followed by Tad Taggart seventh, Phil Reed eighth, Dan Earehart ninth and James Bedford tenth.

Mark McKenny was the highest finisher for Novi as he came in 11th behind Bedford.

Gould was again triumphant Thursday in a Western Six dual meet at Plymouth Canton, and his Northville teammates finished in the top eight places as they put together a 15-45 win.

The winning time run by Gould was 16:26 over the wet course.

"Our kids ran a much stronger pack race than they had before," Redmond said. "All season I've been looking for a fifth man to complete that pack and that fifth man may be a freshman."

The freshman is James Bedford who finished in the seventh position against Plymouth.

Redmond explained that the Bedford name is not new to cross country. Paul Bedford, brother of James, was a cross country star for Northville High school in the early 1960's and is still an active runner.

Three sophomores placed in the second through fourth positions for Northville, they were: Wilber second, Reed third, and Coram fourth. Taggart, a junior, was fifth for Northville while senior Dave Behrens was sixth.

Redmond said that Taggart, Behrens and Earehart are battling with Bedford for that fifth position in the pack.

Boosters To Dance Saturday

Novi's Athletic Boosters Club is planning their Fall Kickoff Dance for 9 p.m. through one a.m. October 4 at the United Auto Workers in Wixom.

Admission is $15 per couple and the tickets include food, beer and door prizes.

For further information call Mrs. Kay Buck at 474-6293 or Mrs. Marion Yakel at 349-8856.

Junior Baseball Meeting Planned

There will be a general meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday, October 5, at the community room in Northville Square for all parents, coaches and individuals interested in the Junior Baseball program.

The meeting is to review the 1975 season and initiate plans for operation in 1976. The 1976 program will involve girls and boys between the ages of six and 15 in both hardball and softball.

Junior baseball was one of the subjects of discussion during the September 18 meeting of the Northville Recreation Commission.

The commission talked about taking over the concession stand next year. Also mentioned was the necessity of replacing one set of uniforms every year and the possibility of charging more money per child for participation in the program.

Wolverines Stump Contestants With Another Tie Game

For the second week in a row contestants are singing the Blues, having been done in by Michigan's 14-14 tie with Baylor Saturday afternoon in Ann Arbor.

The "worse than kissing your sister" deadlock was missed by every contestant in the weekly football contest sponsored by this newspaper.

Just as contestants failed to predict the Wolverines' 19-19 tie two weeks ago against Stanford, nobody figured this past week's game would end in a photo finish.

The top two winners submitted entries containing single mistakes—and of course it was the tie that kept them from perfect scores.

Grabbing first place was Bill Taylor of 31680 Lee Lane, Farmington, and taking second place was Bob Potter of 18107 Jamestown Circle. Although both had one mistake Bill had the edge by virtue of his closer guessed score of Missouri's 27-21 victory over Wisconsin.

Bill had Missouri winning 24-21, and Bob had the victors out front, 28-17.

Third place winner with two mistakes was Jim Bedford of 19450 Beck Road. He very nearly hit the score right on the mark, picking Missouri to win 27-20.

Five other persons missed only two games, but their scores were not as close. They were Grey May, 45765 Fermanagh Drive; Matt Fasang, 43694 Westridge Lane; Doug Crisan, 321 Putnam Hall at Eastern Michigan University; Dan Gougeon, 511 Reed Street; and Anne White of 41636 River Oaks, Plymouth.

Outside of the U-M-Baylor tie, the other game that caused contestants most trouble was Northville's 7-6 loss to Churchill. Surprisingly, large numbers of contestants picked Chelsea over Novi's perennial powerhouse.

A total of 25 contestants missed three games, 25 more missed four games, and 26 missed five.

Golfers Win Two

Northville's golf team beat Walled Lake Western by a 195-233 score in a home meet for the Mustangs played September 22. Kirk Mack was the m.d.alist with 36 and Greg Mack finished with a 39 for Northville.

Jim Dales led the Northville squad to a 201-107 victory, September 23 at Farmington Harrison. Dales shot a 37 and Greg Mack had a 38 for the Mustangs.

Last Friday Northville defeated Milford Lakeland by a 202-224 score in a home meet for Northville. Greg Mack was the low Northville scorer with 37 points.

"We're still the one's to beat in the league," Northville Coach Al Jones said.

The Northville team is undefeated in league competition.

Jones said that the health of Jim Dales, who has been ill recently, may determine the team's performance during the golfing events this week.

Mustang Rebound Against Canton

Swimmers Nipped by Ann Arbor Hurons

Ann Arbor Huron dealt Northville's girls' swim team its first dual meet loss of the swimming season by a 44-39 score, September 23 at Northville, in a neck-to-neck meet.

The outcome of the meet was in doubt until Huron won the final race of the night, the 400 yard freestyle relay, with a time of 4:09.7. The second place Northville relay team finished the race with a 4:28.6 time.

"Ann Arbor was good competition for Northville in that many girls swam their best times," Northville Girls' Swimming Coach Karen Turner said. "Ann Arbor had only 14 girls but they were very powerful."

Kyle Roggenbuck, a freshman, was a double winner for Northville and set two school records in the process.

Roggenbuck won the 200 yard freestyle event with a 2:12.9 time, breaking the previous record in that event, set by herself, of 2:14.3.

She also set a new school mark in the 500 yard freestyle event by winning the race with a 6:04.5 time. The previous record of 6:08.3 was set earlier this year by Vida Mikalonis.

Mikalonis did well against Huron herself, winning the 200 yard individual medley with a 2:29.5 time.

Mustang swimmers had two other first place finishes in the meet. Andy Conder won the diving competition with a score of 130.7 points and Kathy Biery placed first in the 50 yard freestyle with a 27.6 time.

The swimmers returned to their winning ways last Thursday by winning a home meet against Plymouth Canton 57-25.

Northville swimmers broke the 400 yard freestyle relay record, finishing first in that event with a 4:06 time. The record time, swam by the team of Tracey Piscopink, Biery, Mikalonis and Roggenbuck, qualifies the group for state tournament competition.

Swimming results against Ann Arbor were:

Athletes of the Week

Kyle Roggenbuck

Jim Dales

Norm Free

Elaine Maki

Kyle Roggenbuck, a freshman swimmer, is this week's Mustang of the week. She broke two school records in last Tuesday's meet against Ann Arbor Huron in the 200 yard freestyle and 500 yard freestyle events. Against Plymouth Canton last Thursday, Roggenbuck placed first in the 100 yard freestyle and was a member of the 400 yard freestyle relay team which placed first and broke a Northville school record.

Senior Jim Dales was chosen by Northville Golf Coach Al Jones for the Mustang of the Week honors. Jones describes Dales as the heart of the Northville golf team. Dales has been a consistent medalist and low scorer for the Northville team this season. Jones said that Dales, a senior, has a good chance to gain all Western Six honors for the fourth year in a row.

Norm Free, a 57, 140 pound defensive safety, is this week's Wildcat of the week. He intercepted two passes during Novi's 31 loss to Chelsea, one in the end zone and one on the three yard line. Novi Football Coach John Osborne gave Free the credit for touchdown saving tackles throughout the game.

Elaine Maki, a Novi High School Junior, was chosen by coach Kris Hayward as this season's first ladycat of the week. Maki led the Novi girls' basketball team with 16 points in its 46-19 victory over South Lyon September 23. Coach Hayward said that Maki's defensive play during last Thursday's game at Clarenceville was instrumental in the 35-31 Novi victory.

Schoolcraft Runners Finish Third

Schoolcraft College opened its 1975-76 cross country season with a third place finish in the quadrangular meet held at Lansing last Saturday.

A strong Mott cross country team took the meet with 30 points, followed by Lansing with 33, Schoolcraft with 76 and Henry Ford with 79 points.

Coach John Carroll was very pleased to beat Henry Ford, which had taken second in Schoolcraft's conference the last three years. "The team is off to a much better start than that of last year," Carroll said.

Gary Leads, who Carroll counts on to be the number one man throughout the year, led the Schoolcraft harriers with a third place finish. Gary crossed the five mile finish line with a time of 27:46, which is his best personal performance.

Schoolcraft's second finisher was Doug Shaffer who finished 14th out of the field of 27 runners with a time of 29:57, just behind a runner from Henry Ford. Schoolcraft's Al VanMeter came through with a 17th place finish again just behind a Henry Ford runner.

Phillips raced 49 yards for the other touchdown. Tim McGlaughlin scored the extra point after Phillips' touchdown.

Linemen Eric Schrader, Kevin Stewart, Keith Breckman and Mike Biery were commended for the fine play.

The junior varsity kept their undefeated record intact by defeating the Garden City Tigers 20-0.

Todd Parsons scored twice for the jayvees, once on a four yard run and the other time by intercepting a pass and racing 25 yards into the end zone. Steve Denhoff burst over from the one yard line for the final Northville touchdown.

Quarterback Mike Kellam passed to Brian Pratt for one extra point and Chris Caudell scored the other extra point on an end run.

William Walker, Bobby Isom, Pat Smith, John Pilch, and Pete DeBrule were commended by the junior varsity coaches for their play.

The varsity completed the sweep with an 18-14 victory over Garden City.

Jim Zacher and Pat Foley each scored one of the Northville touchdowns on runs of 35 and nine yards respectively.

Northville coaches commended Pat Buzditz for his fine play both offensively and defensively. Also mentioned were Mark Brinker, Mike Gross, and Scott Armstrong.

Northville Colts Win Three

The Northville Colts freshmen, junior varsity and varsity teams each scored a football victory over their Garden City opponents last Saturday at Northville.

The freshmen began the winning spree by getting their first victory of the season, a 25-13 decision. Their record is now 1-3.

Bart Leo scored three times for the Colt frosh, on runs of 25, 55, and 65 yards. Jim Phillips raced 49 yards for the other touchdown. Tim McGlaughlin scored the extra point after Phillips' touchdown.

Linemen Eric Schrader, Kevin Stewart, Keith Breckman and Mike Biery were commended for the fine play.

Paving Request Gets Little Sympathy Here

A letter from a Novi Township resident seeking a letter writing and phone calling campaign to Novi city officials requesting that 13 Mile Road be paved in front of the Chateau Estates Mobile Home Park in the township met little sympathy from the Novi city council last week.

The letter started out, "Are you tired of bumping down 13 Mile Road? Sick about the stone chips running your car finish? Broke from having to realign your front end? Disgusted over the dust?"

The unidentified letter writer, who directed the communication to all residents in the trailer park, went on to propose that every person in the trailer park should get registered to vote because, "with Chateau growing each day, we represent a large block of votes."

The letter went on to say that "I believe a combination letter writing and telephone campaign will at least call dramatic attention to the problem. Each person should write a letter about every three to four weeks and phone in a complaint every week or ten days. Do this over a period of several months and we at least should get 13 Mile Road moved up in the priority list."

The letter went on to ask residents to write monthly the office of the mayor of Novi and to phone weekly the city offices to complain.

The matter was brought up at last week's Novi city council meeting and councilman Louie Campbell asked that the city manager write a letter to the boundaries commission and ask them to send petitions to the township so that they could fill out in an effort to join the city. "Then we'll consider it," he said.

A road proposal question to be placed on the November ballot does not include among its priorities the paving of 13 Mile Road in front of the township. Township residents do not have to pay city taxes and thus are excluded from city improvement programs. Residents of the township cannot vote on city issues.

zoning classification," stated Lahde. "It's tailored to a very few people in the community. We don't really have a need for it at this time."

The question of the restrictions involved in an agricultural district was a hot item as some councilmen charged a proposed list of restrictions, as suggested by the city planners, was too strict while other council members called them too loose.

Pave Haggerty By November

A portion of Haggerty Road on the boundary between the cities of Novi and Farmington Hills is to be paved this fall under terms of a $146,666.20 contract that the Board of County Road Commissioners has awarded to B&V Construction, Inc., of Novi. Fred L. Harris, chairman of the county road board, said the project will include grading, drainage improvement and bituminous surfacing of the eight-tenths of a mile of Haggerty directly south of Nine Mile Road. Construction is scheduled to be completed by November 15, Harris said.

to push the farmer out of business."

One main question was whether Croft might not be eligible for some tax relief by utilizing public act 116 which allows tax breaks for persons who agree to farm a parcel of property for over 10 years.

While Morehead suggested this could be the answer, Vangieson said the act was very poor and further stated that if for some reason the person agreeing to farm the property is unable to do so for the specified length of time, he would have to pay all the taxes plus compound interest.

Morehead also argued that if the particular piece of property in question should be rezoned to AG, taxpayers throughout the city would have to make up the difference in taxes because the county specifies the valuation of the city, which, he said would not be reduced despite the lowered valuation on the farm property.

Councilman Melvin Green commented that the Oakland County figure should have no effect on the city's decision on zoning of a parcel of property. "I think we are actually trying to solve a personal problem by adopting a new question, he said that if the circumstances in that case fell under his ruling and if the building permit was issued when the structure was not in accord with the site plan, then Langan would have to go back to the Planning Board for site plan review and okay before opening.

However, Planning Board Chairman John Roethel said that, "I don't see where we're in a position to do anything about these projects. I don't see anything in the zoning ordinance that says there can be revocation of a (building) permit once it's been issued."

Roethel said, however, that there may be a possibility of stopping issuance of occupancy permits and the board will be discussing tonight (Wednesday) all facets of Fried's ruling and the possibility of stopping the issuance of occupancy permits.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in room seven of the Novi High School.

multiple housing, as well as an A&P store and a small shopping center. According to Board Chairman Roethel, the developer is constructing the shopping center but is not putting up the multiples as was shown in the site plan.

City Attorney Fried told the Novi News this week that he has ruled that, "Where building permits are issued not in accord with the planning board and the permits are improperly issued... they should get together with the Planning Board for its okay to construct part of."

Fried said his ruling was not made at the particular problem which emerged on Novi Road but said "I recommended this course because it came to my attention this was happening." While Fried indicated he had not examined the Langan bar-bowling alley

Charge Two with Wixom Break-In, Robbery Attempt

In Wixom

Two Detroit men have been taken into custody after allegedly breaking into one of the Village Apartments and threatening to kill a Wixom couple Wednesday, September 24.

Arrested and charged with breaking and entering and two counts of assault with intent to rob while armed were Alvin Sharp, 21, and Kenneth Leroy Mitchell, 18. According to police, the incident occurred in Village Apartments at 8 a.m. Police were summoned and told by a man and his wife that two men had forced their way into the apartment with what appeared to be a gun.

They then allegedly told the woman to lie on the floor. When she screamed, her husband came out of the bathroom and was also ordered to the floor. The subjects allegedly told the couple they were going to be killed. The husband refused to lie down and grabbed for the gun, which was taken away and the two subjects ran out. The husband continued chasing them to the parking lot where he obtained the license number to the car in which the subjects left.

Through the license plate, Detroit police later arrested one of the men in the car while the other was arrested by Wixom officers Vern Darlington and Roger DeClercq in cooperation with Detroit Police at the subject's home in Detroit.

Sharp and Mitchell were arraigned before 52nd District Court Judge Gene Schmelz and remanded to Oakland County Jail in lieu of $150,000 cash or surety bond.

A felonious assault in the parking lot of Ford Motor Company reportedly occurred September 17.

According to police, Cliff Terry, 24, of Livonia was leaving the plant at 4 a.m. and was found by a fellow employee lying in the parking lot at 5:10 a.m. He was sent to Botsford Hospital for what was thought to be a drug overdose.

There, it was found that he had lacerations on his head and face. When he became conscious, Terry said he had been beaten by four men who followed him from the plant. The beating reportedly had followed an altercation between Terry and union representatives. The matter is still under investigation.

Washers and dryers in Village Apartments buildings 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 10 were broken into sometime between September 8 and September 19 and $600 to $1,000 taken from the coin boxes.

In Novi

A total of $10,000 worth of tools and equipment were taken from the new Novi Elementary school construction site sometime between 10 p.m. September 27 and 7:45 a.m. September 29.

According to officers, four trailers were entered by breaking heavy padlocks on the doors. Taken were miscellaneous plumbing tools, electrical supplies, heating contractor tools and carpenter tools. In addition, electrical copper wiring valued at $6,000 was taken. The new elementary was also entered and 3-4 tool boxes entered.

Police theorize at least two people were involved and a large truck used. At least a ton of material was removed.

Novi police were successful in ending a high speed chase on westbound I-96 that started in Detroit.

According to officer John Zimmer, Novi police received a call at 3:02 a.m. Thursday, September 25 that an automobile was being pursued by Detroit Police along westbound I-96.

Zimmer, in a one man car, positioned his vehicle along the entrance to Westbound I-96 at Novi Road. Officers Jack Grubb and Gerald Pratt in another car positioned themselves near the exit from westbound I-96. The officers intended to box the car and force it onto the median, according to Zimmer.

As the car came along, Grubb's car, with its overhead lights on, started to take off. At that moment, the subject being pursued started to lose control and slowed down as he saw Zimmer's car, with its overheads on, which then came toward him on the expressway. Close behind were two Detroit police cars as the vehicle stopped.

According to Zimmer, a 16 year-old Detroit youth was driving the car, which had been stolen earlier from Detroit. The occupant appeared to be intoxicated or under the influence of narcotics and pills were found in the car. Detroit police took him into custody on a charge of larceny of an auto.

Zimmer stated that though the chase had passed through several cities, none were able to respond quickly enough to help apprehend the youth. The automobiles were traveling approximately 100 miles per hour during the chase.

A car filled with $1,500 in $20 bills was emptied of its contents at the residence attached to Grimes Fruit Market on Grand River east of Novi Road. A 16-year-old girl from Westland who is a runaway from home is being sought in the case. She is an ex-employee at the store.

A set of hubcaps valued at $80 were taken September 19 from a car parked at Novi High School. A witness provided officers with the license number of the car carrying the suspect, and officers contacted a 17 year-old Novi youth who admitted stealing the hubcaps.

He said that the hubcaps were taken because the owner of the other car had refused to return a 1974 yearbook. Owner of the other vehicle said that she had not refused to return the yearbook but simply could not locate it. The yearbook was dropped off at the Novi Police station September 23.

In Township

Service station windows were the target of two cases of vandalism during the past week in Northville township.

Approximately $700 damage was done to four windows at the Texaco station on Seven Mile at Beck roads late last Tuesday or early Wednesday. According to township police, rocks were found inside the station.

One window was broken about 7:30 p.m. Saturday when a BB pellet was shot through the window of the Boron station on Seven Mile and Northville Road. Damage was estimated at $200.

Three persons were hurt when the car in which they were riding went out of control, hitting an oncoming vehicle. The accident took place at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday on Five Mile Road at Marilynn.

Northville township police reports said a car driven by Stephen Wayne Miller, 19, of Livonia, was eastbound on Five Mile, went out of control and struck a westbound car driven by Herbert L. Campbell of Plymouth.

Miller and two other occupants of his car, William Robins and David Syrylo, both of Livonia, were taken to St. Mary Hospital with cuts and bruises. Campbell was not hurt.

Miller was ticketed by police for failing to have his vehicle under control. Township police apprehended a 38-year-old male escapee from Northville State Hospital. The man was found near the Six and Park Party Store about 3:30 p.m. last week Tuesday.

Michigan State Police are continuing their investigation into the assault of a matron and possession of marijuana.

According to state police reports, a 28-year-old inmate of the Women's Division of Detroit House of Correction was being searched September 21 following visiting hours when two envelopes containing suspected marijuana were found hidden in her wig.

Following the disclosure of the substance, the inmate reportedly struck a matron before being subdued.

In Northville

More than $250 damage was done to five locust trees owned by the City of Northville. The vandalism took place last Wednesday between midnight and 8:20 a.m.

According to police, tops were cut off of all five small trees. One of the trees was located on Griswold just north of Cady Street. The remaining four were on Griswold south of Cady.

A 16-year-old Northville juvenile faces charges of drunkenness, resisting arrest and destruction of property.

The incidents took place shortly before 1 a.m. Sunday. City police officers were called to the Arcade 5 on a report that three teens were being disorderly. When officers arrived, they spotted two of the youths and took them outside for questioning.

One of the youths began kicking officers and yelling obscenities when placed under arrest. Once lodged in a jail cell, the youth kicked a hole in the ceiling.

Investigation is continuing into a break-in at Richard's Children's Wear in Northville Square. The break-in took place between Monday and Tuesday and police say a large amount of cash is missing.

The store was entered by unknown persons who broke into the ceiling of the vacant business next door and crawled into Richard's, police say.

Northville High School football coach Chuck Shonta returned to his car following Friday night's football game to find all four tires had been slashed.

The damage took place between 5 and 10 p.m. while the car was parked in the rear lot at Northville High.

MICHAEL D. NOWAK

In Salem, Gravel Pit Assault

Dismiss Charges Against Man

One of two men charged with first degree sexual misconduct (rape) in connection with an incident which allegedly occurred at the Salem Gravel Pit on August 28 has been released and the charges against him dismissed.

Dismissal of the felony charges against Roger G. Bryant followed an all day examination before Judge Kenneth Bronson of the Fourteenth District Court in Ann Arbor, September 23.

According to Lieutenant Laird Harris of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, perjury concerning the use of drugs and an incorrect identification of one of the defendants led, in part, to the dismissal of charges against Bryant.

Charges of rape were lodged against Bryant and his brother Kenneth, 23, several weeks ago. Both men were accused of taking part in the rape of a 15-year-old South Lyon area girl.

The girl as well as four other companions from the South Lyon area told Sheriff's Deputies that they were attacked by a group of seven men at the gravel pit, four of whom allegedly took part in the rape.

During the examination last week, the victim admitted in her testimony that the group of area teenagers had been using barbiturates the evening of the alleged rape. She stated that she, as well as the other four juveniles, had failed to report this to either investigating officers or the prosecuting attorney for the case, Allan Freedman.

Two other witnesses also reportedly misidentified one of the defendants involved in the case when subjected to cross-examination. One of them—described as the 17-year-old boyfriend of the victim—testified that he had consumed drugs at the gravel pit but was nevertheless, able to make a positive identification of Roger Bryant as one of those involved in the alleged rape.

When the victim was asked to identify Kenneth Bryant during the course of the examination, however, she misidentified one of Bryant's brothers as the defendant.

Another South Lyon area teenager who was with the girl at the time of the attack testified during the examination as a defense witness, according to Lieutenant Harris.

Harris said the teenager had earlier identified the two Bryant brothers at the gravel pit. However, during his testimony last week he stated that he was now unsure of his identifications.

During a cross examination by Prosecutor Freedman, Lieutenant Harris stated that the youth admitted talking to Kenneth Bryant prior to the examination.

Harris also stated that the mother of the boy said that Kenneth Bryant had visited her son prior to the examination.

Although Roger Bryant had been incarcerated under a $20,000 bond, his brother Kenneth was released on personal bond following his arraignment September 9.

Although charges were dropped against Roger Bryant, his brother, stated Lieutenant Harris, continues to face a charge of rape.

In discussing the examination this week, Lieutenant Harris indicated he is extremely unhappy with the latest development in the case.

"There are a couple of things involved here," said Harris. "One of the things is that the witnesses all had different stories and couldn't agree on their facts or identifications."

"There was also a problem in the fact that the kids refused to tell the detectives working on the case what they were doing in the gravel pit in the first place so they weren't really prepared for the questions which were asked during the examination last week."

Lieutenant Harris said that at this point he is expecting that the charges against Kenneth Bryant will also be dropped.

"This is pure conjecture of course," cautioned the Washtenaw County Sheriff's official, "but I expect that the defense attorney will also initiate some type of action to get the charges dropped against Kenneth Bryant as well."

Defense attorney in the case is Robert Greenstein of Livonia.

Lieutenant Harris stated that during the course of the investigation the identity of a third person believed to have

Five Earn Decathlon Trophy

By NANCY DINGELDEY

After the dust had cleared, the events completed and the ribbons and medals awarded in Wixom's annual Decathlon for the younger set, five elementary school children were named the decathlon champs of the year with their names engraved on the standing trophy.

Displaying their prowess in six events for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades were fifth grader Kelli Korhas and fourth grader Karl Buttenmiller. Competing in three events for the first, second and third grade students and taking top honors for the girls was Candy Bassett, a first grader. Running neck and neck in all the lower elementary classifications were brothers Steven and Richard Boulton who tied for the top award.

As has been done for the past several years, we shall run through the events and the top three winners in each.

In the baseball throw, Candy Bassett captured the blue ribbon with Debbie Haight in second. For the boys, David Sutherland took first place followed by Steve Boulton and Robert Aubry. Second grade girls racking up the wins were Lynn Bozynski followed by Marla Hughes and Kim Cesaro. Tom Stombaugh, Richard Boulton and Scott Hollister gathered the ribbons for the second grade boys.

Third grade girls in the throw were led by Jill Dingeldey while Ruth Sutherland and Dawn Hulme marked the red and white. The boys, meanwhile, were led by Mike Craig with a 113' toss with David Ballmer placing second and Jay Westervelt taking third.

Brian Berger took home a blue ribbon and first place medal in the baseball throw for the fifth grade boys with Todd Schmitt and Dennis Aubry placing second and third. For the girls it was Carol Dingeldey, first, with Lisa Doria taking second and Kelli Korhas her only third place mark of the day.

The gold medal and first place honors for sixth grade girls went to Kim Evans, the silver to Debbie Aubry and the bronze to Sharon Green. For the boys it was the gold to Steven Bishop, the silver to David Major, and the bronze to Charles Watson.

The running broad jump, always an event which has its share of ungraceful spills is nonetheless a favorite with the kids. Candy Bassett took the blue for the first grade girls followed by Debbie Haight. On the male side, Steven Boulton did the best for the boys taking the blue while Robert Aubry was in there for second and David Hieber showing third.

Second grade girls were topped by Marla Hughes with Erin McCormick taking second and Kim Cesaro third. Richard Boulton, not to be outdone by brother Steve, took the blue for the boys with Scott Hollister the red and Mark Heiber the white. The Hieber boys had a little something going, too.

Tops for the third grade girls for the event was Dawn Hulme with Jennifer Schmitt and Jill Dingeldey taking second and third. John Doria racked up a blue among the third grade boys while Jeffrey Wise and David Ballmer were right in there for second and third places. Fourth place high scorers were Lisa Brown, Kathy Ballmer and Barbara White for the girls with Karl Buttenmiller, Kyle Chura and David Buie taking home the ribbons for the boys.

The threesome of Kelli Korhas, Carol Dingeldey and Lisa Doria marked the ribbons for the fifth grade girls. In the boys' field it was Robbie Ballmer followed by Dennis Aubry and Paul Loudenback.

In the sixth grade it was Pam Allred on top for the girls with Kim Evans taking home another ribbon and Debbie Aubry gaining third. Bill Craig wrapped it up for the boys with Charles Watson awarded the red and Dennis Wiedenbeck the white.

In the running events Debbie Haight captured top honors for the first place girls with Candy Bassett taking second. Steve Boulton was again on top for the boys with Joey Victory in there for second followed closely by Robert Aubry. Fleetest footed of the second grade girls were Lynn Bozynski in for a first, Michelle DesRosiers second and Kim Cesaro third. Again scoring, a first for the boys was Richard Boulton with Mark Hieber placing a good second and Tom Stombaugh in for third.

Third grade girls were led by Dawn Hulme with Kim Kusterer taking home her red ribbon for second and Ginny Victory scoring a third. Mike Craig won the blue for his efforts among the third grade boys with David Ballmer taking second and John Doria third. Lisa Brown scooted her way through the fourth grade girls to win first place with Barbara White capturing second and Dawn Warren third. Karl Buttenmiller again led the way for the boys with David Buie in for a second place and Kyle Chura taking third.

The team of Korhas, Doria and Dingeldey took first, second and third respectively for the fifth grade girls while the field was led by Paul Loudenback for the boys. Tony Dodge placed second and Dennis Aubry showing for third. Zipping right in, there for the sixth grade girls was Pam Allred followed by Debbie Aubry. Right on her heels and gaining third place was Sharon Green. The boys were led by Charles Watson with Bill Craig and Dennis Wiedenbeck coming in second and third.

White the younger kids rested, the events went on for the older elementary boys and girls. For the boys it was the football kick with Karl Buttenmiller, David Buie and Kyle Chura racking up the top three for fourth graders. Shawn Parton was the blue ribbon winner for the fifth grade boys with Brian Berger and Dennis Aubry taking second and third. Giving the pigskin a real boot won David Major a blue ribbon with classmates Bill Craig and Charles Watson closing it up for the sixth graders.

The girls had the jump and touch event with Barbara White winning top honors for the fourth grade girls while Laurie Haight and Dawn Warren took second and third. In the fifth grade it was Kelli Korhas adding another blue ribbon while Lisa Doria gained the red and Carol Dingeldey took the white. Patti Glenn took the blue for the sixth grade followed by Pam Allred and Sharon Green.

Finishing off the track and field events for another year was the bike race with seconds marking the difference between the first and third place scorers. Lisa Brown led the way again for the fourth grade girls with Bridgid McCormick coming in second and Laurie Stombaugh only one second later for third. For the boys, Kyle Chura scored a first with David Buie in for second and Karl Buttenmiller in third.

Kelli Korhas added her third blue ribbon by zipping around the track for first place time followed again by Carol Dingeldey and Lisa Doria. Kirk Robinson showed his strength by gaining first place in the fourth grade boys' division with Tony Dodge one-half second ahead of Tim Bozynski for second, with Tim gaining third.

Debbie Aubry added a blue to her collection of ribbons by taking first place for sixth grade girls followed one second later by Pam Allred taking the red and Kim Evans in third. Winding up the whole thing for the sixth grade boys was Charles Watson in first. Running the field for the second time to break a three way tie showed Steve Bishop gaining the red ribbon in the event and David Major in third.

That wraps it up for the Decathlon for another year. Parks and Recreation did a super good job of running the competitions and even Mother Nature smiled for a change.

Our sincere sympathies are extended to Gerry and Mary Pastula on the death of his father last week.

Water Board Denies

Novi 'Allegations'

A letter from the Detroit Metro Water Department denying allegations from the city of Novi "that suggest this department is intentionally withholding service to any of its customers for any reason," has been received by the city offices.

The letter was in answer to a resolution passed by the city of Novi holding the Detroit Water Department responsible for damages arising out of pressure failures.

The resolution was passed in early August by the council in an attempt to solve water pressure problems the city has been having in the Meadowbrook Glens and North Hills Estates areas. The resolution noted that overall reduced pressure rates might have "political implications." City Manager Ed Kriewall said that many communities have been fighting proposed rate increases and that the Detroit Water Board might be dropping the pressure to show that it could not keep the pressure up without the rate increase.

Beamish Vangieson indicated the board may have taken into account that Beamish has not had command experience.

Beamish has, however, been in charge of the police department since former police chief George VonBehren resigned last March to take the same position in Portage, Michigan.

"I would like to have someone from Wixom but I can't go blindly," stated Vangieson. "It's an important position and that's why I relied on these experts. All I'm after is to hope for the best man for the job."

The final decision should be made within about two weeks, Vangieson said at last week's council meeting.

water department admits that low pressures have been experienced in Novi. "Low pressures were caused by deficiencies in your own distribution system, poor synchronization of controls, operating pumps, and valves at our West Service Center and temporary loss of pumps at other stations. There are certain areas of Novi that are higher than others and temporary pressure drops affect these areas much more severely."

The letter also notes that the latest incidents of low pressure were recorded from July 28-August 1. "During that period the demand for water was the greatest that the department had ever experienced. We established two new daily records, a weekly record and tied a maximum hour record for water pumped. Every piece of equipment which was operable and could effectively deal with the demand for water was operated."

The letter said that increased transmission lines should help relieve the problem by 1977.

The city has charged that backflows caused by "negative pressure" in the lines can be a health problem in water is sucked back into the system from, for instance, a garden hose.

City Manager Ed Kriewall commented that Livonia Mayor Ed McNamara, who is on the Detroit Water Board, "has assured me the problems would be taken care of."

"Our problem wasn't so much a reduction in pressure as it was a complete failure of pressure," added the city manager who said that in his opinion, "We'll just have to wait and see (if the problem is corrected)."
