

Annexation Rejected, 2000 - 890

Annexation was defeated overwhelmingly here Tuesday as 51 percent of the 5,588 registered voters went to the polls in Northville Township.

The vote was 2,000 to 890 against the proposed annexation of the township to the City of Northville.

Tuesday's election marked the second time the controversial proposition was defeated here, but this time the margin of defeat was far greater than the 1504 to 1358 vote cast on May 7, 1973.

The Tally by Precinct

PRECINCT	YES.....NO
No. 1 (Taft Colony, Whipple Estates)	146.....295
No. 2 (Highland Lakes)	292.....439
No. 3 (Edenderry-Shadbrook Area)	125.....272
No. 4 (West of Sheldon, South of Six)	6.....23
No. 5 (Kings Mill)	100.....280
No. 6 (Phoenix Lake Area)	19.....70
No. 7 (Northville Commons-Colony)	202.....621
Total	890.....2000

Voters in the city did not vote in this election since only citizens of the township petitioned for a vote following a ruling in favor of annexation by the State Boundary Commission on October 31, 1974.

With the defeat of annexation here, a lawsuit now being waged in Ingham County Circuit Court by opponents of annexation appears meaningless since an election of this kind takes precedence over a ruling by the boundary commission. The lawsuit is against the boundary commission and its ruling.

Annexation was rejected in all seven of the township's precincts — all by wide margins. In 1973 three precincts favored annexation.

The mood at the election headquarters was one of jubilation as opponents of annexation cheered the unofficial returns as they were revealed about an hour after the polls closed.

Significantly, one of the precincts where annexation carried last time was Precinct 2 that includes Highland Lakes. In 1973 it carried 349 to 269; this time it was defeated 439 to 292.

Precinct 1 also switched dramatically. Annexation carried here in 1973 by a vote of 253 to 214; this time it was defeated 295 to 146.

Another precinct where voters switched position was in Precinct 4. In 1973 the proposition carried 22 to 15; this time it went down to defeat, 23 to 6.

Although the percent of vote was down somewhat this time from the 60-percent vote cast in 1973, more people cast ballots this time. There were 4696 registered in 1973.

A total of 245 absentee ballots were cast Tuesday.

A total of 2,890 voted in this election. Last time 2842 voted.

What Happens Now?

Immediate belt-tightening followed by either sharp cutbacks or an increase in taxes face Northville township now that voters have rejected annexation to the city for the second time.

These are the predictions of Supervisor Betty Lennox and Treasurer Charles Rosenberg of the Northville township board.

Both predict a millage election will be held early next year, probably in February. The amount of the request will depend upon the level of services desired by the people, say the officials.

Another unknown is the amount of federal monies that will flow into township coffers next year. CETA funds (federal monies to employ and train) now support four fulltime and three part-time township employees including a patrolman, three dispatchers and clerical help in the treasurer's, clerk's and building officials' offices, plus financial aid for the library and recreation programs.

In addition the township receives some $41,000 annually in federal revenue sharing monies, another unknown factor for next year.

The township knows it cannot maintain its present level of services without more help because at the end of this fiscal year it will face a deficit of $30,000. And it has been borrowing from the public improvement fund to meet current operating expense.

Supervisor Lennox says the township will owe the improvement fund $50,000 at the end of the current year. Originally, the fund stood at about $160,000. Some $50,000 has been used for legitimate public improvement projects, such as work on the township hall. This does not have to be repaid. The borrowed $50,000 must be returned to bring the earmarked fund up to $110,000.

So the property taxes that are collected from December until March will not be enough to meet debts and finance the current level of services for fiscal year 1976-77.

Presently, the township board is attempting to determine what its financial needs for next year will be. Meetings have been held to hear reports from the library and recreation commissions. Fire and police services will be considered next.

The board must also get information on what it can expect to receive from the federal government. Then it must decide how much millage will be required and take the request to the voters. "We'll have to hold an election for more millage by next February so we can plan our new budget," explains Supervisor Lennox.

Treasurer Rosenberg notes that police, recreation and library services will have to be cut if more millage is not provided. "We're already at barebones for fire protection. That can't be cut," he stated.

"What we really have to know is what the public wants. It will be pretty gloomy around here unless more millage is voted. There's nothing else to do but cut services severely," Supervisor Lennox added.

Meanwhile, Trustee John MacDonald, one of the leaders of the campaign for annexation, was uncertain about the future of city-township unification.

Responding prior to Tuesday's vote, results, MacDonald said that if annexation were defeated a third attempt would depend upon the closeness of the vote.

Legally, MacDonald said, petitions for annexation could be filed again next March, two years following petitions that were filed leading up to yesterday's election.

He said a partial annexation was a possibility if certain sections of the township that desired cityhood with Northville would support such petitions.

"It would have to be a reasonable 'squaring off' of an area. But that's not the best solution. Total annexation is," MacDonald stated.

He said he would not favor consolidation action. "There's no reason for it... it stalls all progress," he stated.

Consolidation follows a procedure similar to annexation but instead of the township joining the city under its present charter a whole new city is formed.

MacDonald questioned acceptance by the city of this procedure and noted that the long delay causes uncertainty during the two-year charter study period and hampers future planning by both the city and township.

Like annexation, petitions must be filed by city and township residents requesting the consolidation.

State Hospital Launches Patrol

A dawn to dusk patrolling system was inaugurated Friday at Northville State Hospital to combat the walkway problem.

Hospital Superintendent Dr. Richard Budd ordered two employees transferred to the safety department to facilitate immediate implementation of the patrolling of Seven Mile Road.

A patrol car is stationed along Seven Mile Road adjacent to the hospital and a security officer is equipped with a portable communication system, he said.

Meanwhile, the hospital safety department's schedule has been modified to accommodate the patrolling.

"There will be some holes in the system until we've plugged the vacancies created by the transfers, but as soon as we've hired two permanent additional employees that should be resolved," Dr. Budd said. "Obviously, if an emergency develops during this interim period the patrolling officer might have to help elsewhere.

The hospital's administrative officer, Joseph Gill, also is planning installation of a special alert telephone line, according to Dr. Budd. A private telephone number will be provided neighboring residents and when they dial the special number it will immediately alert the security staff that a walkway has been spotted in the neighborhood on the north side of Seven Mile Road.

The Seven Mile patrol is aimed at the walkway problem and it probably will do little to curb the escape problem, admitted Dr. Budd. "People who are trying to escape will sneak across fields, not walk out into the road," he said.

Nevertheless, steps are being taken to curb the escapee problem, too.

Gill has ordered screens for the potential escape routes at the hospital, said Dr. Budd. The key area here is in the youth adult section where one-third of all escapes occur. Security screening is planned for doors and windows.

Racing Returns Monday

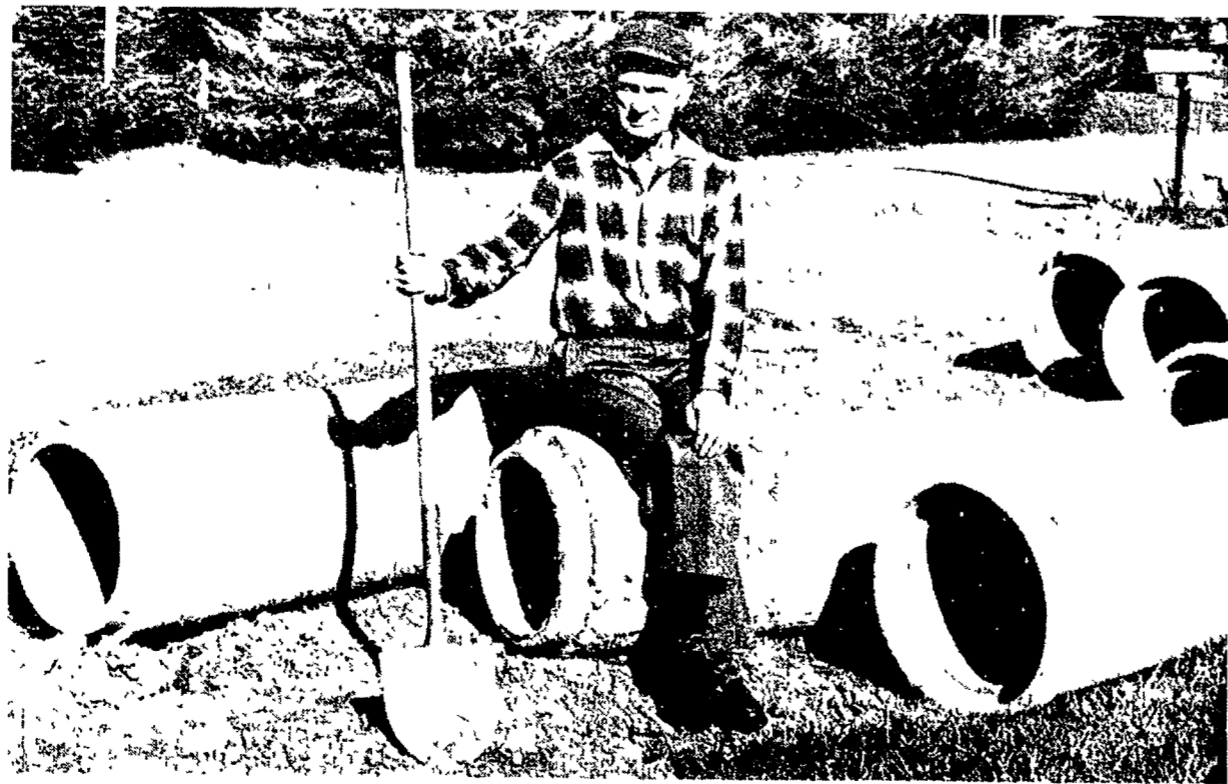

Six months of harness racing at Northville Downs begins Monday night when Jackson Trotting Association opens the 1975-76 season at the local track.

State Racing Commissioner F. F. Fauri announced the new season harness racing dates Tuesday awarding 87 nights to Northville Downs from Thursday, January 1 through Saturday, April 10.

All summer racing in the metropolitan area was again awarded to the two big tracks, Wolverine in Livonia and Hazel Park.

But an additional 38-night summer meet (May 14 through June 26) will be conducted this year at Jackson running in competition with the Wolverine meet.

Department of Public Work's Jim Daniel Is No Marlboro Cowboy

He Tames City's Iron Bronco

Jim Daniel isn't a Marlboro cowboy by any stretch of the imagination. He doesn't even wear Levi's.

But when he finishes a day's work aboard the city's iron bronco he's every bit as sore and tired as the guy with the handlebar mustache and the sunset face who punches cattle for magazine ads.

Jim punches dirt... and leaves. And he does it aboard a bucking, dust-producing critter called a street sweeper. Seen on the streets of Northville the 1965 sweeper appears to move along in a smooth, graceful waltz.

"Don't you believe it," laughs Jim. "This baby gives you a mean, bumpy ride and sometimes it's all you can do to keep your head off the ceiling of the cab."

He starts work at 5 a.m. He drives the sweeper three days a week until autumn when fallen leaves increase the street sweeper's job. During the winter the iron bronco hibernates.

When he isn't driving, he is busy at other DPW jobs.

"Biggest deal about driving the sweeper," says Jim, "is learning to steer it. It steers from the rear end so if you're not careful some surprising things can happen. Imagine how it would feel if the rear wheels of your car turned instead of the front ones..."

Besides the steering wheel and stick shift, the cab interior contains several other gadgets. There's a lever for the broom mounted beneath the sweeper and another lever for the gutter broom; there are instruments for turning on water, for controlling the water pressure, for emptying the dirt bin.

But there's no button for air conditioning. "It's like an oven in here on hot days."

There is no power steering. "It might look easy but let me tell you it's tough."

And the body's not airtight. "The dust seeps in so bad sometimes you can't see."

But don't misunderstand him. When Jim Daniel climbs out of his 1974 Cougar and climbs aboard the sweeper it's by choice; like the cowboy who loves the critter that mishandles him, Jim is enamored of the iron beast with whom he shares those quiet early morning hours when most of Northville sleeps.

MUSICAL OPENER—More than 150 members and guests of Northville Woman's Club enjoy luncheon at Meadowbrook Country Club before a musical program that opened the club's 83rd year October 3. This Friday the club will meet at 1:30 p.m. at the Mill Race Historical Village for a program on Northville and Michigan history.

News Around Northville

Honor guest at a reunion dinner with her nieces and nephews last Saturday was Mrs. Arthur Phillips, a resident of the Masonic Home in Alma. She has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rollings, at their Park Grove home in Northville.

They were hosts to 20 at the dinner with relatives attending from Michigan, Colorado, North Carolina and Ohio.

The speaker will be Mrs. Alvin G. Folger. The program will follow a sandwich luncheon.

Northwest Wayne County Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will hear about an Alliance for Displaced Homemakers program at its meeting at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 21, at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile Road, Livonia.

The alliance program helps older women who have been divorced or widowed to re-enter the job market.

This Friday is the deadline for senior high girls to register as candidates for the Northville Junior Miss Contest.

Northville Jaycee and Auxiliary sponsors urge interested high school girls to fill out application forms which are available at the Northville High School office. Date of the local contest is Saturday, November 15.

An historical program, "The Plan of Civilization", will be presented at the October meeting of Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Scott Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Evans of 20311 Woodhill Road, was in New York recently attending a national meeting of the Muscular Dystrophy organization.

Scott, a senior at Michigan State University where he is president of his class, was named to attend the meeting as a representative of the campus Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He has just been re-elected president of that organization.

MR. AND MRS. J. VERNON NEWTON

Newtons Wed Here Fifty Years Ago

Ever since their marriage on October 10, 1925, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vernon Newton of 325 First Street have made their home in Northville.

They will be marking their golden wedding anniversary at a 2 p.m. dinner this coming Sunday for family, relatives and friends at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. Before her marriage in St. Paul's Lutheran Parsonage in Northville, Mrs. Newton was Caroline Witt. She was born in Novi.

Her husband was born in Uniontown, Kentucky, and is retired from the Northville Valve Plant of Ford Motor Company with 45 years of service.

They are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. They have six children, Alice of Northville, Mrs. Kenneth (Ila) Ploch of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Ronald (Cecilia) Grobowski of Dearborn Heights, Cleon of Saline, Walter of St. Louis, Missouri, and Elvin of Fort Wayne, Indiana. There are 11 grandchildren.

New Campfire Program Has Leaders, Needs Girls

Instead of appealing for leaders, a newly organized Campfire Girls group in Northville is seeking members.

"We need some fourth graders to fill out the group of Adventurers," explains Mrs. William Rasmussen, who is assisting Mrs. Burt Smith, leader.

Mrs. Smith, who had been a Campfire Girl herself, and Mrs. Rasmussen have begun the unit as both have daughters. The Adventurers in Campfire Girls are girls in fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

The mothers are hoping to find more fourth graders from any of the Northville schools and will work their program to accommodate year-round students.

At present, most girls are from Amerman School as the group meets at Mrs. Smith's home at 300 Sherrie Lane. She may be called at 349-9326, or Mrs. Rasmussen at 349-5971.

In Our Town

Mill Race Library's The Place to Meet

By JEAN DAY

BICENTENNIAL NOSTALGIA may be part of the reason, but many people are discovering anew the charm of Northville's old library building in the Mill Race Historical Village off Griswold Street.

After much research and physical labor by members of the Northville Historical Society, the little building is in mint condition and gleaming with fresh paint. (It also boasts 20th century comforts of air conditioning and central heating.)

It's a very pleasant place in which to meet. This month six local groups, in addition to the historical society itself, are holding meetings in the library.

"This is what we hoped would happen," observes Mrs. James Harris, wife of the historical society president who has been making reservations for meetings there. She notes that about 100 people can be served at dinner or luncheon. Those using the facility just make a donation to the upcoming work of the society, she adds.

NORTHVILLE WOMAN'S Club members this Friday will gather at 1:30 p.m. in the Mill Race library for a program of nostalgia that ties in with the surroundings.

Dr. Robert Warner, director of the Michigan Historical Collection in Ann Arbor and professor of history and library science at University of Michigan, will discuss Northville and Ann Arbor early history in his talk, "Pages Out of the Past."

Since 1953 Dr. Warner has been an assistant in research at the university. He received his BA degree from Muskingum College in Concord, Ohio, his MA from U-M in 1953 and his PhD there in 1958. He was elected a fellow of the Society of American Archivists in 1968 and is a member of the Ann Arbor Historical Commission.

He will be introduced by Mrs. Richard Henderson. Mrs. James Cowie is in charge of the day's arrangements which will include a tour of the Mill Race restoration at the conclusion of the program. This will be conducted by John Burkman, chairman of the historical society and a prime mover in establishing the village, which now includes the partially restored double-wing Greek revival house and the large Victorian Yerkes home just moved to the village.

MOTHERS' CLUB of Northville will hear a report of progress at the Mill Race Village at its meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the library there. Ray Riddell of the Northville Historical Society will show slides detailing the restoration work to bring members up to date.

The club has a special interest in the village as it has voted to use funds raised this year for restoration of the Wash-Oak schoolhouse which has been donated to the village and is due to be moved to the site shortly.

When restored, it is to be used for local school classes to visit and see how children learned their lessons in the 19th century. Mothers' Club ever since its founding in the 1930's has worked for school and youth projects.

Mrs. Martin Rinehart, club president, is enthusiastic about the development of this learning situation and announces that proceeds from the annual Christmas cocktail parties to be held Saturday, December 6, will be earmarked for the Wash-Oak restoration.

The club will complete plans for its annual thrift sale at the business session Monday.

AN ART AUCTION that may be a first in the historic library building in the Mill Race Village is scheduled for 9 p.m. next Friday, October 24, by the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary. Those attending may view the art works from the Fred Grossman Gallery Art Center in Berkley at a champagne preview from 8 to 9 p.m.

Ticket sales are going well, reports Mrs. Hugh Sutherland, co-chairman, as she points out that included in the auction will be art that would be appropriate for professional offices as well as for homes. All tickets are being sold at Banbury Cross, 110 North Center, she says, but anyone interested in additional information may call her at 349-7027, or may contact Mrs. Joseph Sinkwitts, 348-1262.

Groups are using the occasion, Mrs. Sutherland explains, to get together for dinner either before or after the auction. The Sutherlands are hosting a party afterward at their home, as are Mr. and Mrs. Sinkwitts and the John Dugans.

Tuesday night the newly chartered Northville branch of the American Association of University Women was meeting in the Mill Race library to hear Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson. Last Wednesday Northville Newcomers held a plant party benefit there. Thursday the building will be lighted as Cub Scout Pack 755 holds a family gathering at 7:30 p.m.

At its October 23 meeting the historical society is to receive a check from the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary representing profits from its fall fashion show benefit in which the society cooperated by showing vintage costumes. "We're very pleased," says Jaycette Kay Westling, "to be able to help the restoration."

HIGHLAND LAKES Women's Club will focus on fashion at its meeting at 1 p.m. this Thursday in Highland House. Members will model clothes from Claire Kelly of Northville to wear from now into the holidays.

"There's definitely a return to dresses for daytime, and women really seem to be enjoying wearing them," Mrs. Kelly points out, while mentioning that long gowns still are most popular for after-dark.

Club chairman for Thursday's show is Mrs. Robert Russell. Member models will be Dorothy Felthouse, Elsie Roberts, Alice Hansen, Margaret Lambert, Phyllis Siegel, Fifi McCutchan and Mary Smith. Also assisting in modeling young, new fashions will be Susie Heintz of Highland Lakes Mothers' Club.

TED STRASSER, a Highland Lakes resident for the past three years, and his wife were honor guests at the opening of Northville Town Hall's 15th season last Thursday as Strasser introduced speaker David Frost.

New Town Hall chairman Mrs. Arthur Palarchio was delighted with the large audience. About 720 season tickets have been sold for the near-record season, more than double last year's.

Part of the reason is the move to the new Plymouth Hilton Inn, which opened last week for special events. Owner Deane Baker was on hand to help smooth arrangements for the lecture and luncheon following. The beige decor, use of wood and large chandeliers all received favorable comment from Town Hall goers.

"Everyone was absolutely fantastic trying to help us," enthuses Rosemary Palarchio, who is announcing a "plus" to be provided by the Plymouth Hilton at the November 13 lecture there by Dr. Richard Straith, plastic surgeon.

A weekend fling for two at the Plymouth Hilton will be given to a lucky luncheon ticket holder, compliments of the inn. When approval of the liquor license transfer didn't come through in Lansing on time for last week's town hall, TH and the Hilton cooperated to offer a complimentary wine cocktail at the luncheon.

Frost-y Comments on American Scene

720 Throng Town Hall

"The only premarital activity that doesn't happen today is cooking," quipped Britisher David Frost at Northville Town Hall last Thursday.

The television-entertainment producer made the comment as he responded to a question from the audience asking what he thought of First Lady Betty Ford's candor regarding her daughter.

"I find her critics most bewildering," Frost said (referring to statements crediting Mrs. Ford with saying she would not be surprised if her daughter had a love affair).

"She is only talking publicly regarding what is fact with young people today," he concluded, noting that he would like to see more such candor, which he called "constructive."

At the celebrity luncheon following his talk in the just-opened Plymouth Hilton Inn, Frost cited the great mobility of Americans as a major difference between the American and British ways of life.

"In America, anyone can be president—and is."

"The fascinating thing is that success and failure matter more in America than in England. The class system in England, while a bad thing in general in that it limits people's aspirations, has created a less neurotic society. With National Health Insurance we have a better safety net."

"On the other hand in America there's the sense that 'the sky's the limit' regarding what can be done."

Frost also observed that "in America people talk about their problems too much—in England there's more self-reliance."

Questioned whether he felt former President Nixon should be paid for the 20 tapings he has agreed to do with Frost (which will be aired after elections next year), Frost declared:

"Yes, I do. It seems we don't understand the work that goes into TV memoirs as we do a book. It's a different sort of nervous strain. Twenty taping sessions will mean a great deal of work on his part—and on mine."

Frost said he is "extremely excited" about the prospect of interviewing the former president, saying the interviews will be well documented with a research team beginning work the first of the year.

"This will be my main item of business for next year," he said, stressing that he will have "sole control of content."

Frost said he is hoping the program may shed more light on events during Nixon's term—and not just Watergate.

"I get the impression," he explained, "that he had a year out of the limelight and wants to make one effort to talk about the past—and then build a new life."

Asked to name interesting people to interview, Frost referred back to Nixon, saying he has to be "one of the most interesting people in the world to interview."

Others:

"Rose Kennedy — she proves you're as young as you think you feel."

"Joan Baez — she's willing to sacrifice for her beliefs."

"Prince Charles — he's incredibly unspoiled. Someone mentioned that they'd wanted to be an engine driver. When they were five and he said he had too...but that when he was six he realized he was 'sort of stuck'. He's going to enrich our lives a lot in the years to come in England."

Frost categorized an interview with Christian Barnard on heart transplants as "chilling" as he said the doctor evaded facts as his research had revealed he had not always gotten permission to do the surgery.

Frost's talk was sprinkled with names of famous and near-famous he has met and interviewed—from Australian prime ministers to movie stars.

Most inspiring, he said, was an interview with Robert Kennedy in 1968, which turned out to be the last personal interview he ever gave. Frost recalled that one of his questions later took on even more importance.

"I asked him how he would like to be remembered," Frost said.

Robert Kennedy's response was that "this is a world in which children suffer. I'd like to think I helped them, for, if we do not do this, then who will?"

Frost, who became an international celebrity after the success of his British show, "This Is the Week That Was", in the early 1960's, at 35 doesn't show signs of slowing his pace.

With the British accent that American audiences have come to know well, he observed, "People aren't afraid of flying, it's crashing they're afraid of."

Now in the process of making an 18th century musical version of the story of Cinderella as well as at least two other films, Frost spends much time in the air.

Last week he had flown in from England on Tuesday, coming from Washington, D.C., to Detroit. He left Northville Town Hall to go to Los Angeles and planned to return to England by the weekend.

Frost was introduced to a near-record Northville Town Hall audience of 720 by Ted Strasser, host of the WJR program, "Patterns in Music", and a Northville resident of Highland Lakes.

"This is a Frosty Life," Strasser said in his introduction, which interwove song titles with milestones of the speaker's life.

Commissioner Lew Coy Resigns County Post

Lew Coy

By WAYNE LODER

Oakland County Commissioner Lew Coy has announced to this newspaper that he will be resigning for "personal and family considerations" from the Board of Commissioners effective October 23.

"I do this with much trepidation, but feel I must have employment with more stability and closer to my home at this time," says a letter from Coy to the Board of Commissioners dated October 14.

A controversial Republican figure, the 56-year-old Coy has been 24th District Commissioner serving Novi, Wixom, Lyon Township, South Lyon, Walled Lake and part of Farmington Hills, since he took office on January 1, 1969.

In an interview with this newspaper, Coy announced that he is resigning to become the court officer in the 52nd District Court of Judge Martin Boyle.

He refused to elaborate on what other "personal and family considerations" had played a role in his decision although he commented, "I think time will bring them out."

Because of Coy's resignation, the Oakland County Board of Commissioners will have 30 days from his date of resignation to select a registered voter from the 24th district to fill in the remainder of his term, which ends December 31, 1976.

While Coy said he would not recommend a specific person as his replacement, he did recommend that the board receive direction from a contingent of residents in the district including Lyon Township supervisor Bill Smith, former Novi City Clerk Mabel Ash, and Elsa Harmes.

Coy has been known as a "maverick" in his political stands, many times the only Republican to oppose the wishes of the party caucus.

Coy takes special pride in his successful stand to save the Oakland County Hospital.

While Republican philosophy was that private business could do a job better and more reasonable than government, Coy held that the hospital was one exception.

While the Republicans wanted to see the hospital closed, Coy was the lone member of his party to favor keeping the hospital. Eventually the county hospital won out, but Coy remembers that "I was punished terribly." His chairmanship of the Board of Health was taken away by the Republicans. He was later renamed to the committee by Dick Wilcox, who was then chairman of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

Coy also came under party fire when he sought an amendment to change the county car policy so that county cars would be provided only for those persons driving 600 or more miles a month. Previously the county policy was vague and some cars were reportedly provided as political favors.

He also sought an investigation into the county building department because of poor construction of some buildings and poor planning of others.

"I was upset with the building department because it didn't put a drinking fountain or a bathroom in the addition to one of the buildings," Coy said at the time.

Coy is also well known for his activity in helping Wixom, South Lyon and Lyon Township in their effort for a solid waste program to encompass those cities so they would not have to go with an Oakland County system.

Among other current issues, Coy was instrumental in merging two of Oakland County's five medical laboratories which will reportedly save the county $107,000 a year. He also sought successfully the establishment of the Emergency Medical Planning Council.

He also fought successfully to have the county hospital take care of the medical

Judge Orders Dock Closed to Public

DNR Continues Marina Deliberation

DOCK ENJOINED—The controversial Walled Lake dock in Novi has been enjoined by Circuit Court Judge Robert Webster from either public or commercial use. This view of the dock was taken earlier this summer during the controversy over whether the dock was actually being operated as a marina.

A sign in front of the Walled Lake Dock says "closed for the season", but based upon a ruling last week by Circuit Court Judge Robert Webster, the dock may be closed for much longer than that.

Judge Webster last week ruled that Franchise Exposition and owner Gabriel Glantz be restrained from using the dock for commercial or public use.

"I felt the dock had not been built according to normal commercial specifications," Judge Webster told the Novi News after the hearing. "There was no assurance it was safe."

While a written order has not yet been completed for restraining use of the dock, Judge Webster said it should be coming shortly.

Judge Webster said he based his decision not only on a visual inspection of the dock, but also on court testimony which established that the dock was not built with the use of engineering plans.

Meanwhile, attorney Glantz told this newspaper that until the written order came down, it was premature to talk about what action he would take.

"It's moot for this year because the dock was closed last Sunday," stated Glantz. "No order has been entered."

Glantz added that he "may inquire" into what Judge Webster considers to be "good and substantial condition" and "exactly what he expects us to do."

"There will probably be an attempt made to structurally secure the dock and come back (to Judge Webster's court)," stated the attorney for Franchise Exposition.

Glantz concluded that "there are many things that can be done. We will do whatever is necessary. But to Novi City Attorney David Fried commented that he expects Glantz to appeal the case.

While Fried appeared happy with the ruling, he noted, "There is really no way we can have the dock removed."

"If it falls into decay, we could bring another action. We won't let it fall into the condition it was before," said Fried. "It will be the obligation of Franchise Exposition to see that it doesn't become a nuisance for those people who use the lake."

The decision by Judge Webster ends a long court battle between the city and Franchise Expositions. Initially the city was trying to get the old remaining pilings from the first dock removed because, according to the city and residents, the pilings represented both a navigational hazard and a hazard to the safety of youngsters playing in the area.

A ruling by Judge Webster allowed Franchise Exposition to repair the dock in a "safe" condition which included lights to illuminate the dock. The repair of the dock was made this summer, but at a Department of Natural

349-HELP

Novi Adds Emergency Number

349-HELP.

If you live in Novi, write that number down and keep it beside your telephone because that is the new emergency number for the Novi police and fire departments.

The new number, which will go into effect within a few days will help to alleviate the busy signal that often times plagues emergency users of the 349-2444 police number. Though four lines are connected into the present number, Police Chief Lee BeGole said that two lines are being added and will be connected to the 349-HELP number.

To be used exclusively for emergency incoming calls, the 349-HELP number came about largely as the result of a study by the Novi Jaycettes on the possibility of getting Novi an emergency number that people would remember.

While BeGole admitted the new number will not speed up response time, "It will save a lot of people time waiting for our number when there's a busy signal."

An attempt to get the widely used 911 number as a direct line to the Novi Police Department fell along the wayside due to the fact that each exchange (such as 349) can only have one 911 number.

With several exchanges in Novi, the 911 number would have eliminated the possibility of any other community with those exchanges using the 911

Wixom Police Chief Is Detroit Veteran

Wixom Mayor Val Vangieson was expected at last night's council meeting to name Phil Leonard, a 25 year veteran of the Detroit Police Department as Wixom's new police chief.

Leonard, 48, was an inspector in charge of the 12th precinct of the Detroit Police Department.

"He's had high recommendations and was the unanimous selection of the oral board," Vangieson told the Novi News. "He scored among the top in the written test."

Vangieson added that Leonard does appear to be the best man for the job.

"I think he seems to be a mild mannered low profile person who will get the job done," said the mayor.

At the 12th Precinct, Leonard was in charge of patrol-traffic, detectives, narcotics, morality, and the plainclothes unit.

Before that, he worked with youth in his job with the police department. Vangieson said he considers Leonard's previous experience with youth to be a real asset. "This is one of the problems we run into — getting cooperation

Wixom Spends $13,500 For Historic Tiffin Home

The city of Wixom has succeeded in purchasing the controversial historic Tiffin home and restoration of the house should begin shortly, according to Margaret Ladd, President of the Wixom Historical Society.

Price of the home was $13,500 with funds to come from federal revenue sharing, according to Mayor Val Vangieson. Notification of confirmation that the city had purchased the home came late last week from the Oakland County Probate Court of Judge Donald Adams.

Deeds are expected to be executed and the home put in the hands of the city by next week, according to Philip Ogilvie, attorney representing the estate.

When the Wixom Historical Society first approached the council earlier this year to consider purchasing the land, the cost was expected to be $12,000 but another bidder complicated the city's attempt to buy the home and the price went up to $13,500 for the city.

The Historical Society initially proposed to repay the cost of the building, asking the city merely to consider the money used for purchase of the building as a loan. That plan apparently fell along the wayside as the council picked up the fever to purchase the home.

"When we initially went to the council we asked the council to buy it and we would try to repay some of it some time," said Mrs. Ladd, President of the Historical Society. "We don't have that much money to worry about paying it back right now."

Mrs. Ladd added that the historical society, which now has about $200 in funds thanks to membership fees and the sale of stationery, plans to lease the building because she said she had been told by City Attorney Harold Bulgarelli that it was illegal for the city to purchase the property and then give it to the historical society.

"It doesn't make any difference if the city or historical society owned it," added Mrs. Ladd. "If we have a few extra thousand (dollars) lying around, sure we will give it to them."

As far as plans for the house, Mrs. Ladd said that the historical society, which was created basically to restore the house, has talked with people familiar with restoration of homes.

Daley Denies 'Politics' Involved in Sewer Battle

Novi Mayor Robert Daley last week denied to this newspaper charges from mayoral candidate Louie Campbell that politics were involved in Daley's fight against a 38 percent increase in the sewer rate for the Huron-Rouge system.

Campbell was a member of the Sewer, Water and Road Committee which recommended the increase. Campbell, who resigned from the council to run for mayor and thus could not participate in the council discussion on the sewer rate increase, was quoted by the Novi News as telling Daley after the meeting, "If you're going to have a fry Lou Campbell night, then I want to be there."

"I felt this thing did not involve Campbell at all," said

Daley of his fight against the increase. "His input is no greater than the other members of the committee." Daley added that his differences with Campbell are "no more than there would be between a Republican and a Democrat."

The sewer rate increase was approved in early September by the council after Oakland County had raised its rate five cents per 1,000 gallons to people within the system. The Council agreed to raise the rate 10 cents per thousand gallons from $26 to $36. The added increase was recommended by the committee "to be put aside for future emergency maintenance and repair costs."

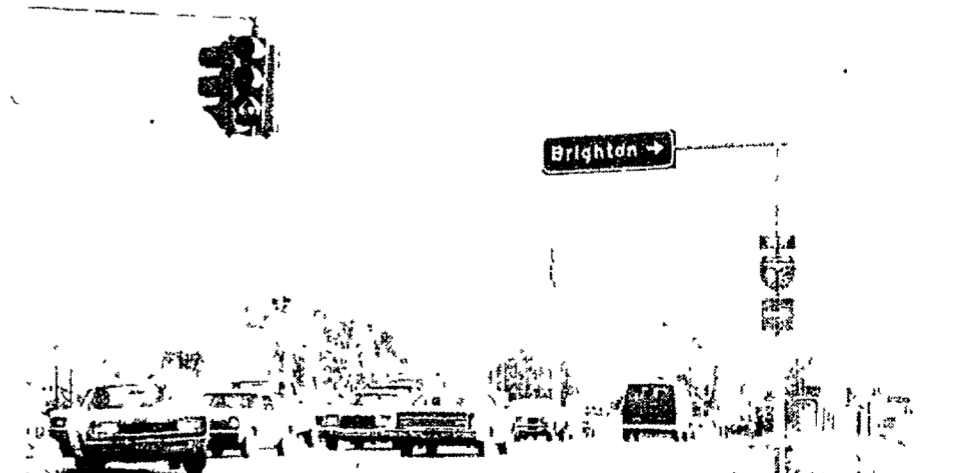

However Daley, lone person to vote against the new rate, contended that the city would gain so much emergency maintenance revenue that today's residents would end up subsidizing tomorrow's users.

While, according to City Controller Frances Loynes, the increase would bring in an extra $34,000 a year, City Manager Ed Kriewall indicated that only $12,000 of that would have gone into surplus emergency funds to be used in case of sewer breakdown.

Daley contended that the new sewer increase "should not have been adopted. It should have been held for a public meeting." He added that he wouldn't care how high the increase was "if it

Mamie and Paul Folino are chairmen of the Italian event and have planned a menu with genuine Italian spaghetti, salad, Italian bread and large cookies shaped like Parker House rolls. In addition, beer will be available.

As women of St. Margaret's Guild of the church agreed to bake the big Italian cookies this week, they shared the recipe:

Jaycees Aid Burn Unit

Northville Jaycees are again sponsoring a campaign to raise funds for the National Institute for Burn Medicine.

The campaign will start October 18 with canisters for donations being placed in several Northville stores.

Ben Northrop, chairman of the project, points out that last year the Jaycees raised more than $1,100 for the Center and they hope to increase it this year. Jaycees already have raised $500 for the Institute through their Walk for Mankind held in April.

The Institute's main goal is to help improve burn patient care and to prevent burn accidents.

Jaycees and Northville firemen will be manning a fire awareness booth in the downtown area on November 8. A fire truck and fire fighting equipment will be on display at that time.

Jaycees also will don fire hats and conduct a sidewalk campaign for donations.

For Novi Industry

Eye Exemption District

Establishment of an Industrial Facilities Tax Exemption district is currently being considered by Novi Council and a decision on the matter may be made at the next regular council meeting.

Purpose of the district would be to allow a halving of the assessment and taxes on either new buildings being used for industry or older buildings that are renovated for use by industry. The tax break allowed by the federal government is intended to bring in new industry through the tax break.

Only five percent of the state equalized valuation of a community is allowed to be included in the district. But council members indicated that the bill is a poor bill and will end up depriving communities of its tax base while failing to accomplish its purpose.

City Attorney David Fried explained that "If the surrounding communities adopt the ordinance, we will have to compete with them (by adopting the ordinance)."

"All you've done is taken 50 percent of business off the tax rolls," added Mayor Robert Daley.

The establishment of the district was brought to the council for consideration by attorney Harvey Zameck who explained that he has a client interested in taking advantage of the act if the city adopts the district.

The city assessor and city manager are to submit a report to the council for review.

For Breast Cancer Exams

Name Northville-Novu Day

Tuesday, November 4, has been designated as "Northville-Novu Day" at the Michigan Cancer Foundation's Breast Cancer Detection Center.

The first 30 women who call the Western Wayne Unit office for appointments will be able to take advantage of a free shuttle service between points in the Northville-Novu area and the center at 110 East Warren Avenue in Detroit.

The shuttle service is part of the center's extended effort to bring cancer screening and detection services to women in the Detroit metropolitan area. After their examinations, women will be returned to their pick-up points.

Women participating in the program will pay the standard $40 fee but can receive an appointment for November 4 and use the free shuttle service. They should plan to spend about four hours from pick-up to return, the center suggests.

The comprehensive breast cancer screening examination includes:

Xeromammography, x-rays of the breast taken at reduced radiation levels;

Thermography, heat sensitive photographs which record the heat patterns in breast tissue;

Breast Pap Smear, microscopic examination of breast fluid;

Thorough physical examination of the breasts;

Cervical Pap smear, which is optional;

Mrs. Shirley Tait, manager of the Michigan Cancer Detection center, initiated the special community days at the center to provide an opportunity for more women to take advantage of the examination.

She points out that breast cancer is the largest killer of women between the ages of 35 and 55, and encourages all women over 35 to have regular breast examinations.

In the Detroit metropolitan region, more than 600 women die of breast cancer yearly, and three times that number are diagnosed as having the disease.

Appointments for the Northville-Novu Day will be scheduled through the Western Wayne Unit office in Dearborn, 565-1440 or 565-0020. Pick-up points will be arranged when appointments are scheduled.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation is a Torch Drive-United Way agency serving the tri-county area.

A Northville resident, Mrs. Beverly Williams is a member of the center staff and may be reached at 349-7059, if women have additional questions.

ISHANGI FAMILY—Students at Meads Mill Middle School were treated to two performances recently by the Ishangi Family who presented dances and music of West Africa. The program was the first of several planned for Northville Schools through the PTA's Junior Entertainment Series.

The Ishangi Family is from the Detroit Youtheatre Show on the Road of the Detroit Institute of Arts and was made possible in part by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Parents of Injured Boy

Want More School Safety

A 12-year-old Northville boy, who required 10 stitches to close a rip in his hand caused by another student at Meads Mill Middle School, is still being withheld from classes by his parents who want assurance from the school that similar incidents will not occur.

Mrs. James Morrison of 50495 West Six Mile Road said that her sixth grade son James and her daughter, who also attends the school, were threatened with harm by the youth causing the injury and two companions if they told anyone what happened.

According to reports from Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, the school and township police, an eighth grade boy pulled Jim's fingers apart so forcefully that the skin split down to the palm. Mrs. Morrison said the rip was two-inches in length and her son will have to see a hand specialist for therapy.

The incident took place in the school cafeteria October 3 and her son and daughter have been kept home from school since then.

Mrs. Morrison said that her son has been tormented in the past by the three youths, as has her daughter been tormented. After the attack on Jim, she found out that the eight grader involved and her son ride the same bus to school.

The boy involved in inflicting the injury was suspended from classes for three days, being required to report to the principal's office for the three days.

Commented Principal Michael Janchick, "Spending three days in the principal's office is worse punishment than being allowed to sit home for three days watching TV."

But neither Janchick nor Northville Township Patrolman Philip Presnell believe the youth intended to harm the Morrison boy.

"The kid went too far and applied too much pressure but I don't think it was intentional," Janchick said. Officer Presnell said investigation is continuing into the incident and that no charges have been brought against the youth who is a juvenile.

The Morrison boy first thought the youths were playing a game with him, he reportedly told Janchick and police. But Mrs. Morrison said that "If this was to be some part of a game, why didn't the youth stop pulling when he saw blood?"

Parents of both boys, the boys and Principals Janchick and David Longridge met last Friday but Mrs. Morrison said nothing was resolved.

The Morrisons have turned the case over to an attorney to seek possible charges and hopefully to recoup doctor's and surgeon's fees.

Janchick said that with the crowded conditions at the school there is bound to be horseplay with kids bumping into each other but in his 10 years in Northville, he's never seen anything like what happened to the Morrison boy.

He explained that every school in the country would like to be able to guarantee the students' safety "from the moment they walk in the front door until they leave, but that's impossible."

Janchick said this is the first case he is aware of at Meads Mill in which one student purposely injured another. No other cases have been reported to his office.

Rejects Dual Collection

By unanimous action the Northville Township Board last week rejected a school request that half of the school taxes be collected in the winter, the other half in the summer.

Presently, township residents pay all of their school taxes in the winter along with township taxes.

The board concluded that the split tax would cost taxpayers more than it would save them. School officials want a split tax collection to avoid having to borrow money each year.

A similar request to the Northville City Council has been tabled. Officials there have expressed mixed reactions to the proposal.

Township Supervisor Betty Lennox estimates that the extra collection would cost the township $8,130.

"In effect, this would mean that the summer collection would cost the township taxpayers more money than if the taxes were billed and collected at the end of the year as they are now," she said.

between police and youth. I think this type of background will be very helpful."

Leonard is expected to begin work Monday and will be required to move into the city within six months to live.

The selection by the mayor came despite a recent opinion poll by residents in which more than 200 asked that Wixom Sergeant Larry Beamish or another Wixom officer be named to the position. More signatures were expected to be submitted at last night's meeting.

Leonard will be replacing George VonBehren who resigned last March to take over as police chief in Portage, Michigan.

successful," commented BeGole. "We hope to have the cooperation of civic groups to publicize it and make everyone know it."

BeGole commented that the 349-2444 number will stay in use for routine calls as will the fire department emergency number of 349-2222. But any emergency calls to either department can go through the 349-HELP number.

In addition, the detective bureau is receiving a number of its own and two lines to eliminate some of the overuse of the 349-2444 number. The new number for the detective bureau has not yet been decided.

Northville's Homecoming Salutes Our Bicentennial

Parade, Events Reflect 'Beginnings' Northville Resident Active In Depression Glass Society

Homecoming 1975 at Northville High School climaxed last weekend with a victory for the Mustangs on

A homecoming dance in the high school cafeteria Saturday night continued the Bicentennial salute by utilizing as the Northville Jazz Band's theme song "Beginnings" throughout the evening. It was attended by a large crowd of about 170 couples.

Although the Michigan Depression Glass Society is only three years old, it is an active group which now is sponsoring a show and sale this Saturday and Sunday at the Ypsilanti National Guard Armory.

A Northville resident, Mrs. Gerald Wilton of 21405 Summerside Lane, is a past officer of the society and among those helping promote the show.

The club, she explains, was organized three years ago to promote, collect, preserve and identify the "great colored glassware of the depression era."

Many local people, she says, collect Art Deco clocks, perfume bottles, lamps and ashtrays to complement collections of colored depression glass.

At the October 18-19 show, which opens at 11 a.m. each day and runs until 8 p.m. the first day and until 5 p.m. the second, both Art Deco and more than 200 patterns of glass will be on view. Admission donation is $1.

Mrs. Wilton explains that the term "Art Deco" comes from the 1925 Paris Exposition Internationale des Arts Decoratifs et Industriels Modernes from which all copies and imitations of ancient styles were excluded.

The new style shown was prismatic and geometric and used in flowers, fountains and sunbursts. Lighting fixtures received special attention in the style.

The public is invited to attend the show.

Mrs. Wilton also invites anyone in the community interested in depression glass to attend the meetings of the society the first Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Livonia Senior Citizens Activity Building, Five Mile and Farmington roads.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

One of the best ideas that has come out of Northville's bicentennial committee concerns the local July 4, 1976 celebration.

Appropriately, the 200th birthday of our nation's independence falls on Sunday. And because it is July Fourth, the Jaycees would prefer to stage their annual parade, barbecue, etc., on that exact date.

But what about the church service conflict?

Normally, the parade begins at 10 a.m. so that many of the float entrants have time to participate in the noon parade at neighboring Plymouth.

John Burkman's American Revolution Bicentennial Committee came up with a proposal which has been tossed into the lap of one of its members, the Reverend Lloyd Brasure of the First Presbyterian church.

It's a community church service to be conducted on the grounds of Mill Race Village.

Preferably, the committee would like to have members of congregations from all area churches — Northville and Novi — participate in a jointly-conducted bicentennial church service at 8 a.m., Sunday, July Fourth, 1976.

The church service would be followed by a day of festivities including the parade, barbecue, flea market and fire works.

Friends and neighbors getting together to worship, sing and celebrate on the nation's 200th birthday.

That's the idea. It may conflict with Novi bicentennial plans, so maybe it cannot include all area churches. But Lloyd's working on it and the committee's hoping it can be the biggest celebration in the community's history.

Another project that's being strongly supported by the bicentennial committee is the improvement of the Northville Road entrance into the city.

The chief mover behind this proposal is Councilman Paul Vernon. He's a member of the bicentennial committee and also chairman of the Beautification Commission.

Plans call for curbing of the center grass areas between the roadways and dressing up the appearance with landscaping. Several organizations have offered to contribute to the project, including the VFW, Chamber of Commerce and Allen Monuments.

Engineering has been completed and tentative council approval given. Next step for Councilman Vernon and City Manager Steven Walters is to secure Wayne County permission and cooperation, which could include financial support.

But it will be done, says Vernon, and next year the entrance to the city will sparkle.

"Instant Game", the state's new one dollar instant winner lottery ticket has become an instant success.

Jim Roth at Good Time Party Store tells a tale typical of most merchants handling the new lottery tickets.

The tickets were introduced Tuesday, October 7 and Good Time sold $500 worth in the first six hours. From 10 a.m. on the opening Tuesday until last Friday at 6 p.m. — less than four days — Good Time sold its complete two-week allotment of $1,500 worth.

What's more, the state's out of tickets, too. At least there were none available this Tuesday, normal day for purchasing more tickets by dealers.

Roth figures he could have sold at least $2,000 more. The "instant" game has practically killed the 50-cent ticket sales, Roth noted.

"With 'Instant Game' the one-dollar ticket buyer can win up to $10,000 if three of the six figures on the ticket are the same. Two and four dollar winners are paid off immediately. Winners of $50 and $100 must turn their winning tickets in locally at Kroger's and receive a check later.

If the Instant ticket bears the word "Finalist", you win $10,000 for sure and have a chance at a $1 million payoff.

Good Time's $1,500 worth of sales paid off $423.

I received a letter from Brighton City Manager Bruce Romer concerning an article I had written last week.

He noted that I had left out one significant quotation concerning freedom of the press:

"Freedom of the press is guaranteed only to those who own one."—A. J. Liebling.

That's all we need. Another smart city manager.

Speaking for Myself

Was Patty Brainwashed?

MARILYN HOGAN

YES . . .

Yes, in my opinion I feel Patty Hearst was a victim of circumstance. Evidently she was analyzed carefully prior to her capture by the Symbionese Liberation Army. Realizing her sensitivity and monetary values she was taken forcibly as a captive.

Only then was Patty Hearst indoctrinated thoroughly on the beliefs of the SLA. She was, in others, brainwashed as she was held underground. Much drilling and instructing on the principle of the SLA took place on the innocent person known as Patty Hearst.

As an animal knows, once in captivity you abide by the authority for survival of the fittest. Also, this is so of human beings when they are being held as prisoners; one learns to obey the boss!

Patty Hearst has a background which indicates strong ties with her family. Her first and her latest request has remained constant that "she wanted to come home." Giving further evidence that brainwash was occurring during her captivity when she renounced her parents.

Nancy Geiger
Salem Township

NO . . .

Patty Hearst should not be released from jail until a jury declares her a free woman.

In a tape recorded conversation with friend Patricia Tobin at San Mateo County Jail, Hearst said she was shocked over being captured and did not want to be released if she would be a "prisoner in my parents' home". She also said she wanted to issue a statement that would be a "revolutionary feminist perspective totally", but would not do so until she knew if she would be freed on bail.

Her attorneys' (they are legion) claim of "brainwashing" seems disputable when you review her history of rebellion against her parents and society. At age 21 we have an overindulged, determined young woman who, with her SLA comrades, has announced to the world their revolution against the system.

Patty Hearst had an underground life of her own for 19 months and we are asked to believe, not one opportunity existed to attempt escape. C'mon! It took the FBI and a tip from Stevin Soliah's father to reunite her with her parents.

She has no more right to special consideration than any other adult with a list of 22 heavy felony charges against her.

Rescued

This little fella, nicknamed Apple Core by Northville City Police, was assured of a warm winter home last week after being abandoned by his mother. The five-week-old squirrel was found on West Street last Tuesday afternoon. Kept alive by officers who fed the squirrel apples, Apple Core was turned over to the Nankin Mills Nature Center the next day for safe keeping. Spokesmen for the nature center said they have several other baby squirrels, all part of fall litters abandoned by their mothers, who'll live at the center until spring when they will be turned loose. Apple Core's rank of sergeant lasted only a day with most everyone agreeing the hat was too big for him.

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"After a massive study — probably financed by our tax dollars — a think tank of economists recently concluded that the cost of raising a child nowadays tops $70,000.

Big deal!

Any parent with half a brain, a houseful of kids, and a counter attached to the refrigerator door could have made the same kind of revelation a long time ago.

(It was the same think tank, I think, that even more recently found that no one can afford a new house who earns less than $23,000).

Frankly, I think the think tankers were conservative in their estimates. Everytime one of my kids builds himself a Dagwood sandwich, which occurs regularly every evening just after the supper dishes are dried and put away, it sets off an involuntary cash register somewhere between the cerebellum and medulla oblongata. And when he washes down that sandwich with an entire quart of milk my mouth pops open with the sound of an empty cash drawer.

The way I figure it, a kid tops the $50,000 mark by about the same time he hits puberty. From then on until he attains the age of independence he is like a runaway threshing machine, gobbling up everything in sight and spewing out charge slip chaff.

The co-conspirator of this ripoff tells me that her worth quadruples the cost of raising a standard child.

Because she's been kept out of the marketplace while raising six children, she will have lost $256,455 in potential revenue in her productive years (assuming she had become a secretary and worked for 18 years).

All of which means that six kids times $70,000 plus my wife's lost wages will reach a staggering total of nearly $700,000.

More than a half million smackers!

Is there any wonder that today's most popular household expression is, "Get out of the refrigerator!"

But take heart, dear parent. If you think we've got it bad, consider what the kid gobbling up those sandwiches and drinking all that milk may be facing when he becomes a parent.

Some economists are predicting that 25 years from now a $3 haircut will cost $120, a teenager's shoes will go from $28 to $167, and an $11 present-day filling for a child's tooth will cost $50.

Statement Irks Township Policemen

NOTE: The following letter was sent to Township Supervisor Betty Lennox and Dr. George Berquist and a copy to The Record.

We the undersigned officers of the Northville Township Police Officers Association do hereby resent and protest the following statement made by you in The Northville Record, page 8A dated October 8, 1975: "If we become a new city, we will have the following: immediate around-the-clock police protection by fully-trained policemen..."

We feel that this is a direct attack on all officers of this department and association. This statement is completely untrue and unwarranted.

All officers of this association have been to all training required by the State of Michigan. All officers have attended college; studying law enforcement related subjects. All officers have attended numerous seminars relating to various specific law enforcement subjects. Four of the five members of our association have even attended the Basic Fireman-ship Training given by the University of Michigan.

Our personnel files are open to all officials of Northville Township. These files detail all training, schooling and qualifications of each officer, yet the Supervisor of this Township obviously has failed to even consider these files before making untrue statements regarding them. Why?

Our association has chosen not to take a stand on the annexation issue, as we feel that a decision on the issue is entirely up to the residents of Northville Township. It is also our opinion that we work for and with the residents of this Township, thusly whatever they may decide, we willingly accept. We resent our credibility as professionals in our field being attacked by anyone for the purpose of a political gain. We further demand a public apology from you, unless you can prove the above statement in question to be true.

Respectfully submitted,

Urge Parental Support of Team

To the Editor:
Where are the parents of the Novi Middle School eighth grade football team?

Out of 30 football players, five families are represented as spectators at the games.

Somehow, we have lost 25 sets of parents. Please help us find them for the two remaining games!

True, most of our opponents have cheerleaders and spectator buses. A pep band and banners were even present at one game. At one game, we were charged admission and handed rosters upon entering the stands. The enthusiasm at that particular game was overwhelming!

Tuesday night, for the first time, we had cheerleaders present. We are only sorry it took three games to get them organized. However,

Battles Wayne County

Shelley Hasn't Given Up; He May Re-Dig Trench

Out of patience with county government, Norman Shelley sits forlornly on the concrete tile and surveys what might have been his victory over bureaucracy. "I'm not through yet. . . no sir, one way or another that drain's going in," asserts the 76-year-old township resident who last week saw his pride buried in the trench in front of his 46261 Pickford Road home.

Shelley says he may even redig the trench he dug across the road at Valencia only to have county workmen cover it up before he had installed the tile he had purchased for the storm drain.

Shelley began digging early last week after having tried "one more time" to get the county to install the drain to keep storm waters from flooding his property at the intersection. An existing 12-inch drain, he says, is constantly plugged causing water to back up during hard rains.

"I wouldn't have done it if the county (road commission) had come out and done the work like they should. I'd been trying for years to get them to do something. But all they did was give me the runaround. Finally, I guess, they got tired of my hounding them so they told Mrs. (Betty) Lennox, the township supervisor, that if I wanted the drain so badly I'd have to do the work myself."

Although county officials deny they gave him permission, Shelley immediately took matters into his own hands, literally. "It took me about a week to dig because people would stop by and talk. . . they couldn't believe I would dig up the road."

Shelley bought several sections of 15-inch tile, paying more than $100 for "seconds," intending to use a block and tackle to lower the heavy tile into position.

By now, however, officials with the Wayne County Road Commission got wind of what was happening and hurried to the scene.

"I was about three-quarters the way across when they came out. They told me I couldn't dig up a county road, that I'd have to stop unless I got a permit first."

When Shelley persisted the county offered to complete the project. But he refused. "All of a sudden they saw that it was their responsibility. Well, I started it and I wanted to finish the job."

If he wouldn't permit them to complete the job, the county officials told him, they'd have to fill in his ditch. And when Shelley still refused to accept the county's help "they just came over and filled it up."

In addition to filling in the trench, the county cleaned out the ditch in front of his home as well as the ditches on the opposite side of the road.

"Can you imagine. They told me the ditch cleaning had been scheduled all along. That's a joke. They were just shamed into doing something when an old man tried doing the work for them," says Shelley.

Although the ditches are clean and now probably will permit free flow of storm waters, Shelley believes they offer only a temporary solution. "Look over there," he says pointing to the northeast corner of the intersection. "The gravel and dirt will be washed back in there in no time and that drain will be plugged again. If they would extend the tile east maybe 20 feet, like I was going to do, they wouldn't have that problem."

As he looks over the now covered trench, waving occasionally to neighbors who cheered his confrontation with the county, Shelley says he may seek legal advice. "I don't want to create any problem for anybody. I just want action, no more broken promises. I won't let this die." Then, shovel in hand, he adds, "I might even dig it up again if necessary."

Urge Support

appreciate them performing for the remaining games and sincerely thank them.

It is our hope that there will be a spectator bus available for the one remaining away game. If we are lucky enough to achieve this, we feel sure the students will show their appreciation by their participation.

We have two coaches working long and hard with these boys trying to produce a good team to represent Novi Middle School. How do you think they feel devoting their time and energy, when parents can't or won't spare enough time to attend games? How do you think the team feels seeing one side of the stands well attended and their side of the stands with four or five spectators? This would be rather discouraging, don't you agree? Yet, they are out there playing their hearts out. So far the team has three losses and no wins (not counting yesterday's game.) It is our belief that the last three games could make this three and three if the team had the support and backing they certainly deserve.

We are proud of every boy on that team, win or lose! They are out there representing their school. How about some support from the parents and school? Remember, they are our boys!

Just in case it got lost in the shuffle, listed below is the remaining schedule for your convenience:

October 21 at Milan, 4 p.m. and November 4 here against Dexter at 4 p.m.

When you attend these games, please sit on the Novi side. Don't help the opponents make us look bad. We have done that by ourselves.

Incidentally, you don't have to be a parent to attend. See you at the games, hopefully.

I would like to publicly thank the Novi City Manager's office and the Building Department for their prompt response in having a small abandoned building removed from vacant property adjacent to our homes. This building had become a health and safety hazard for our children. Thank you Novi.

To the Editor:

Through Novi News we would like to express our thanks to Novi Police and Ambulance Service for their quick response when called September 8 to rush my husband and father to Botsford General. It is wonderful to know we live in an area to receive quick service. No more than called, and it seemed to be they were there.

Thank you all.

To the Editor:

It wasn't easy, fund raising never is, but we did it. We went over our goal.

And a great deal of the credit goes to you the Community for your continuous support in our Northville High School Marching Band programs.

Without your loyalty and thoughtfulness of Mayor Allen, The Northville Record and especially Jean Day it never would have been such a success.

Thank you in behalf of the Band Directors, Northville High School Marching Band Members and The Northville Band Parents Club.

Book Group Delays Meet

Next meeting of the Northville Public Library Book Discussion Group will take place Tuesday, November 11, at 8 p.m. in the library. The October meeting of the group has been canceled.

Topic for discussion will be "Democracy in America" by Alexis de Tocqueville, a Frenchman who traveled widely in America during the 1830's.

Copies of this work in paperback will be available through local bookstores by mid-October, Anne Vargo, community service librarian, said.

Those interested in attending the book discussion should register at the library in the lower level of Northville Square or by calling 349-3020.

'Friends' Plan Meeting, Sale

Friends of the Northville Library will hold their monthly meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) in the library located on the lower level of Northville Square.

Members and those interested in working with the group are invited to attend the meeting.

Friends also remind residents now doing their fall cleaning that books are being collected for the annual used book sale held each summer.

Books may be dropped off in the library or, if donors have large quantities of books to be given to the sale, arrangements may be made for pick up. Contact Mrs. Russell (Sue) Anger at 349-0068.

Free Movies Planned Here

Northville Public Library will again present free old time movies at 2 p.m. this Saturday, October 18. The movies will be shown in the Northville Square Community Room, located on the upper level.

Movies this week include two short Laurel and Hardy features, "Laughing Gravy" and "Going Bye Bye." The third film scheduled is "Garage," starring Buster Keaton.

Everyone is invited to view the films, Northville library spokesmen added.

Free Saturday morning films for children have been scheduled for Saturday, October 25, rather than October 18, Friends of the Northville Library announced this week.

The films, which will begin at 9:30 a.m. on October 25, will center around Halloween. Films will not be shown this week.

Schedule of the Halloween films to be shown will be announced next week.

Dr. Budd said he has ordered greater review of all pass cards. In addition to the traditional review of such grounds cards by staffers, Dr. Budd said he has ordered that they also be reviewed by a second echelon of supervisors.

Also, cards of patients violating their passes are to be revoked, and they then may be restored only by Dr. Budd himself.

Activity therapy also has been increased, he said, in an attempt to discourage patients walking away from the hospital out of boredom. This kind of therapy is now being provided in the evening and on Saturday.

Also, an activity center is being provided those patients with grounds privileges.

As explained to members of the Northville Township Board last Thursday, Dr. Fulvio Ferrari has been assigned to the hospital to explore means of bettering the treatment and care program for patients and thus, hopefully, remove those motives patients may have in deciding to wander away from the hospital, he said.

"All of this means we are approaching the walkaway and escapee problems with multi-facit solutions. If one doesn't work perhaps another will," Dr. Budd explained.

Dr. Budd, Ferrari and John Reynolds, regional mental health administrator, appeared before the township board to answer questions of board members who voiced displeasure with the lack of positive corrective steps taken by the hospital.

Concerning the state's compilation of policies and procedures regarding unauthorized leaves of absence from state institutions, board members argued that the document failed to speak to the local problem. At one point during the hearing, Township Treasurer Charles Rosenberg angrily suggested that perhaps the only means of getting some definitive action would be to seek a court injunction against the state cutting off admittance of any more patients to Northville State.

Dr. Ferrari suggested that citizens of the community work with the hospital in dealing with potential patient problems. However, Mrs. Robert Brandon, a mother who recently was terrorized by a patient who broke into her home, said she felt unqualified to cope with such patients. Having been so frightened by the patient, who had escaped on previous occasions, she said she does not want to speak with under any circumstances.

In response to other points of the board and the audience, Dr. Budd said fencing is being considered but he felt the expense would be prohibitive; he said electronic surveillance is being studied for possible use; and he noted that a "buddy system" is being tried whereby one patient is asked to keep tabs on the whereabouts of a fellow patient.

Dr. Budd pointed out that because Northville State Hospital is the largest mental institution in Michigan, it can be expected that its rate of walkaways and escapees will be greater than that experienced in other state facilities.

He suggested that better public busing service would help deter walkaways.

Under the law the hospital cannot restrict privileges any more for entire groups of people; each case must be decided separately, he pointed out.

Clerk Clarice Sass suggested the state consider housing some of the patients in vacant facilities at Wayne County General Hospital to minimize the patient load here and thus reduce the walkaway potential.

County Commissioner Mary Dumas suggested the hospital name a public relations person whose sole responsibility would be to respond to problems experienced by neighboring residents so that these residents can be assured that something will be done when a problem occurs.

It was Trustee John Swienkowski who pressed Reynolds to commit the state to a one-man patrol along Seven Mile Road. Such an investment, the trustee contended, is not unreasonable and it may be one of the most practical solutions that can be taken.

Reynolds promised immediate attention to the Seven Mile patrol suggestion, and it was the following day when its implementation was announced.

Judge Closes Novi Dock

Resources hearing later to gain public input into issuing a marina permit, residents charged that a 200 boat marina, as proposed, would damage the lake. They also contended the new dock was unsafe because it was constructed on a foundation of the old pilings from the first dock.

Residents and the city of Novi also charged that Glantz, at that time, was operating an illegal marina and should be taken to court by the DNR. However, the DNR held that, based upon a decision by Assistant Attorney General Jerome Maslowski, the dock was not being operated as an illegal marina unless it could actually be proved space was being rented on a commercial basis.

The dock was firebombed a couple nights after the meeting though no permanent damage was done.

Shortly afterward, the City of Novi took Franchise Expositions back to court, charging that the dock had not been repaired and reconstructed in a safe and substantial manner as ordered by the court. A regional engineer for the DNR testified that in his opinion the dock should be reconstructed from a properly engineered standpoint.

Judge Webster held off on making a final decision in the case until he was able to view the dock, which he did on a recent weekend. The injunction was his final decision.

Meanwhile, DNR consideration of the marina permit has dragged on. But the end may be reached within the next two weeks, according to Claude Schmitt of the DNR.

While Schmitt indicated that the court ruling may make the DNR finding concerning a marina permit a moot point, the department will still reach a decision because, "We've got to close the books."

"Any permit we issue would not overrule that court decision," added Schmitt. He noted that, "If we found he could use it as a marina, he could have more weight in appealing."

Schmitt said that as far as whether or not his office will approve the marina permit, "I can't give you anything definite. Until we have something agreeable in this office, I will refrain from giving my opinion."

Novi Sewer Battle Not Political—Daley

was based on sound business judgment."

The Mayor explained that "They (the Sewer, Water, and Road Committee members) should be able to respond to specific questions involved."

"They shouldn't push a panic button and pick a figure out of the air. Now it will take 4-5 months to get answers from the engineers" on how much repair costs may be, stated the Mayor.

"The most important thing is that we get this rate at the correct rate," added Daley. "When you shoot at the hip you may hit the target or an innocent bystander."

Daley indicated that one of his major objections was to a statement to him by council member Romaine Roethel, who is also on the Sewer, Water and Road Committee, that the surplus would be used not only for sewer emergencies, it would also be used as front money for installation of other sewer lines.

Daley said that if the money is going to be used for front money, then the public is being misled by statements that the funds will be used only for emergency repairs. "How come we've gotten to this point without seed money?" asked Daley. "I'm at a complete loss as to why we need this."

Daley also contended that if the money is to be used as front money for future sewer lines, then everyone within the city should have to pay in for the front money — not just people using the Huron-Rouge system.

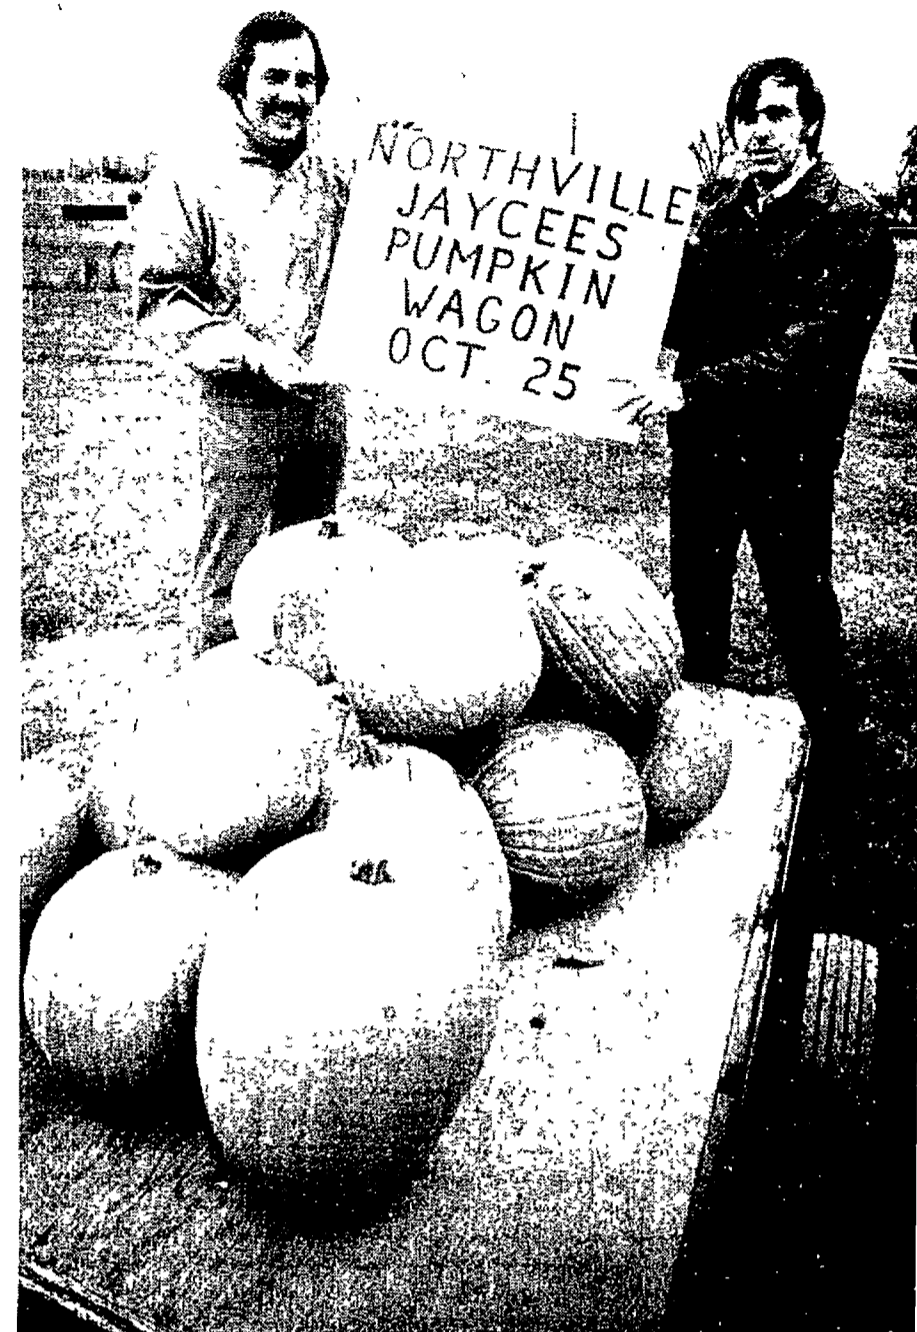

Mrs. Roethel told the Novi News that the committee has discussed using the sewer fund monies for front money and that if the money is used as front money, it will be repaid into the fund after the new sewer line is on a working basis. She added that all residents using sewers will pay into the fund from which front money will be taken because a similar increase in sewer rates is expected from Oakland County and the city for the Walled Lake arm. She noted that Oakland County hasn't designated an increase for that sewer line yet.

"Since four per cent of the increase is to be used to cover administration and normal maintenance, Daley asked, "Why are we not getting a reduction in the water system?" Previously administrative costs for the sewer system were paid out of the water fund.

Mrs. Roethel responded, "It's a very good point. I don't know if there's an answer or not."

While Daley indicated that his fight to reduce the sewer rate may be futile, he explained that the next time a similar situation comes up to the city council, it might be better prepared with the facts before making a decision.

Harness Racing Starts Monday

John Carlo said he was "satisfied" with the schedule, although last year the local track filed a suit against the state racing commission for awarding all summer dates to the Detroit metropolitan tracks.

But last year Northville enjoyed a 25 per cent gain, thanks to some good weather. And Carlo is predicting that in another year, when expressway work is completed thereby shortening the drive from Detroit to Northville, more parking will be needed to accommodate fans.

"I'm satisfied with our new schedule, which is up four nights over last year, but I still think the state should give winter racing tracks an extra one-half of one per cent for the added expense of winter racing," Carlo stated.

He pointed out that heat, light, track upkeep and snow removal expenses make winter operations more costly.

Total harness racing dates for the 1975-76 season are up from 364 last year to 405, mostly due to the added summer season in Jackson.

Jaycees Sell Pumpkins Saturday

Creative carvers will get an opportunity soon to design the ghosts or goblins of their own liking.

That's because Northville Jaycees will conduct a neighborhood pumpkin sale on Saturday, October 18 and 25, giving area carvers a chance to buy just the right kind of pumpkins for their artistic talents.

The pumpkin sale is taking the place of the Haunted House project that Jaycees have sponsored for the Halloween season in recent years, spokesmen explained.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to help finance community projects sponsored by Jaycees, such as the Fourth of July Festivities and the Junior Miss Pageant.

Jaycees will visit area neighborhoods from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on October 25, selling hundreds of pumpkins on a donation basis. In addition, pumpkins will be sold by Jaycees at the Brooklane Country Club at the southeast corner of Six Mile and Sheldon roads.

Jaycee Chairman Leo Kinsella, who said the pumpkins will make excellent Jack-O-Lanterns or pie filling, expressed a hope this project "will be a financial success so it can become a traditional event in Northville."

Novi Backs Bike Safety

A safety campaign to remind motorists that youngsters are riding bicycles to school and that special care has to be taken while driving is currently being sponsored both by the Novi traffic bureau and Security Bank of Novi.

The bank is currently providing posters for stores and bumper stickers for cars and bicycles telling motorists of the campaign.

The bumper stickers are available free either at the bank or at the Novi Police Department.

Red Wings' Iron Man Takes Reins of World Hockey Club

WANT ADS
In This Section

The Northville Record / THE NOVI NEWS

The Brighton Argus / THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wednesday, October 15, 1975

By JOHN BOZZO

He was known as the "Iron Man" of the Detroit Red Wings at a time when the Red Wings were the name in hockey.

He has been successful both as a player in the National Hockey League, and as a coach in the American Hockey League, the World Hockey Association, and in collegiate hockey.

He's John Wilson, a resident of Northville, who last May received his newest challenge when he was named head coach of the Cleveland Crusaders Hockey Club of the World Hockey Association.

Born in Kincardine, Ontario, Wilson started playing hockey with his friends wherever they could clear an area and make an ice rink.

When his family moved to Shawinigan Falls, Quebec, John and his brother, Larry, latched onto a Junior B hockey team. Larry is now coach of the American Hockey League Richmond Robins team.

Detroit scouts were impressed with John's play and he was promoted to the Windsor Spitfires, a Junior A team.

Amateur hockey and gaining entrance to a professional team were a lot different in 1949 when John was brought into the Detroit organization and assigned to the Omaha Knights of the now defunct United States League.

At that time the scouts traveled around watching amateurs, recruited a player, and the first scout to call into the home office got that player.

Now there's a player draft and the last place teams get first choice of the top players every year. Although there is still competition for the top talent, it usually is between different leagues rather than teams from the same league.

"Twenty-five years ago when I arrived in the area and played with the Wings I couldn't envision the program they have now for young kids," Wilson said.

His son, John Jr., who is a senior at Northville High School, is playing on a Junior B team. It is one of the many age-group hockey programs in the area.

"The caliber of hockey played now by the younger kids is almost on a par with the Canadians," Wilson said. "Parental participation is amazing. That is what they need. At that age there's not much coaching you can do, it's more or less exposure to the game."

A promising left winger, Wilson made his National Hockey League debut in 1950 when he was called up as a replacement for one game. He returned to the lineup during the playoffs that same year and played on the first of four Stanley Cup championship teams.

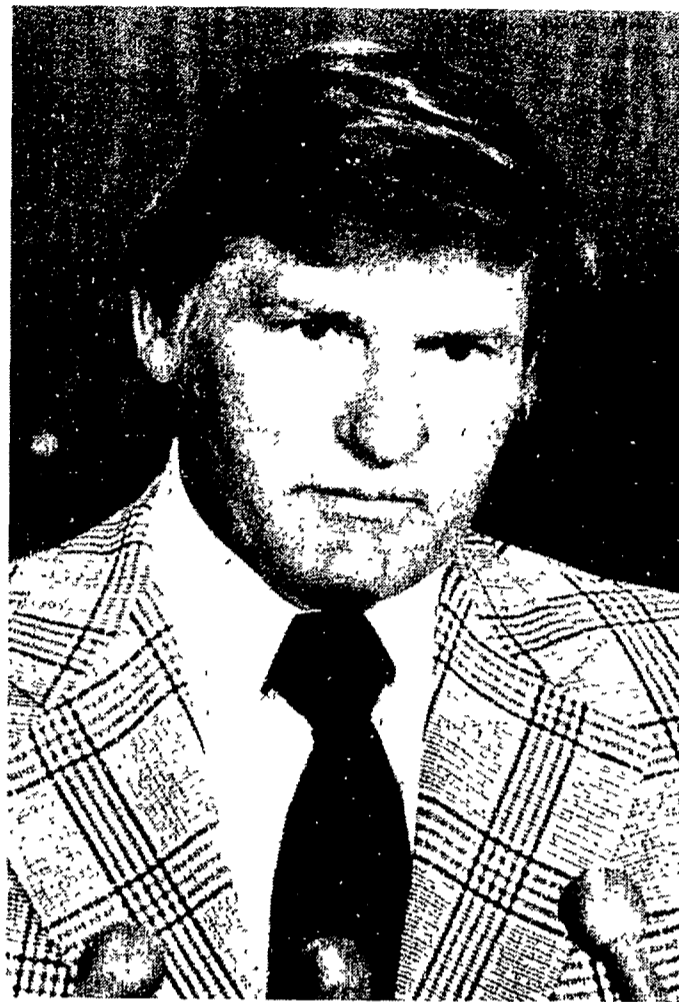

After a year-and-a-half with the Indianapolis Capitals of the American Hockey League, Wilson was brought up to the Red Wings in 1952. He played 28 regular season games that year, the last 20 of them consecutively.

Wilson followed that with 560 more — eight full 70-game seasons — to set a National Hockey League record of 580 consecutive regular-season games, earning him the title, "Iron Man."

As a player Wilson was considered one of the best wingers at taking or giving a pass. His strong suit was defense, and even today he talks with pride about his checking ability.

Despite the concentration on defense he scored 161 goals and had 171 assists in 683 National Hockey League games. He had a single-season personal high of 24 goals in the 1955-56 season.

Wilson's consecutive game string was stopped in 1960, when as a member of the Toronto Maple Leafs he was assigned to

As Player: 580 Consecutive Games

Rochester in the American Hockey League. One-and-a-half years later he retired as a player. His NHL record has since been broken.

As a coach, Wilson's career has developed in a manner similar to his playing career. He started with a Canadian senior team which he led to a division title and a tour of Europe. Next there was two years in the collegiate ranks as a coach at Princeton.

The American Hockey League became his third coaching ground and under his guidance the Springfield Kings came out of nowhere to win the Calder Cup, emblematic of the AHL championship.

Following that championship season Wilson accepted a position with another AHL club, the Tidewater Virginia Wings, a Detroit farm club. One month later he was summoned to Detroit to replace Doug Barkley as the Red Wings coach.

Coaching the Red Wings in 1971 was like walking into a hornets nest, Wilson said.

"I moved in there during a period of confusion and frustration. There were so many frustrating years that it would take a couple years for everything to tone down."

"Before I even wiped the perspiration from my brow from the excitement of being named coach of the Wings, six players came to me and wanted to be traded because of the losing seasons," Wilson added. "I had to come back with a great selling game, telling them that Detroit is the greatest city to play hockey in, and I still to this day think that Detroit is one of the best cities to play hockey in."

During his two years as coach of the Wings their record was 67 wins, 56 losses, and 22 ties. Wilson said he was just about to turn the corner with the team when he got the ax.

To this day Wilson claims he does not know the reason why he was fired. He points out that the Wings had broken all attendance records while he was coach and the players had developed a desire to play again.

Fans who see the finished product are unaware of the build-up to the game they attend, Wilson said. They are often unaware that the team is tired from travelling or that the star player has had the flu for a week.

Those fans pay the top dollar to attend professional hockey and Wilson wants to give them an exciting game to see. To achieve that flawless performance takes a lot of patience and each player has to be treated in a different manner, he pointed out.

"I know what I have to do as a coach," Wilson said. "The players are a tight group and the only other person admitted into that group is the coach. He's the one the players work for, the coach."

"I am opposed to people in the upper echelon trying to coach the team through me," Wilson added. "When that happens it's time to leave the team. The players can tell when that's going on because you change your style."

Wilson would not comment on whether any owners have tried to coach a team through him.

After leaving the Red Wings, Wilson moved on to coach of the Michigan Stags, a World Hockey Association team that was located in Detroit. Wilson said the franchise spelled disaster the moment it was launched.

There were problems with illness and injury among the players and their families. Early into the season financial problems began to surface and there was talk of disbanding the team.

Paychecks arrived late and sometimes checks were drawn on insufficient funds. The players agreed to play for half pay, and soon the same problems appeared again. Then the franchise operated on a day-to-day basis.

"I will acknowledge that the people in the upper echelon kept the team going and note that now the World Hockey Association is stable," Wilson said.

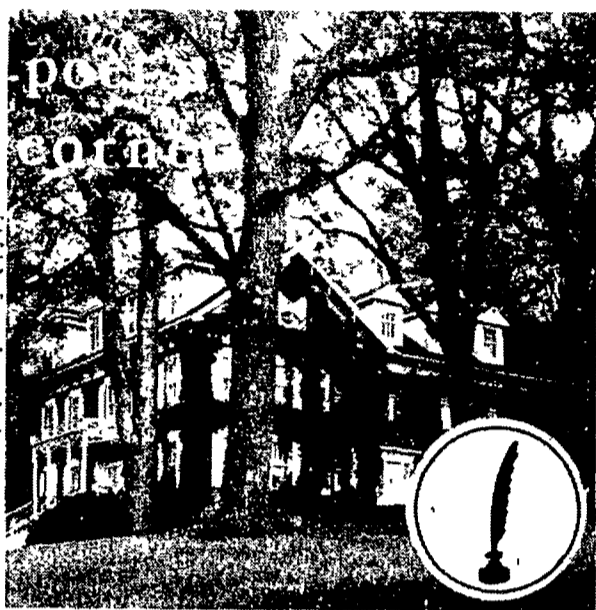

As he prepared to leave for Cleveland, Wilson was optimistic about the upcoming season. He described the new owner in Cleveland, James Moore, as one of the finest individuals he ever met, and the situation in Cleveland as a healthy one.

"I enjoy coaching as much as I did playing, and I really enjoyed playing," Wilson said. "I look forward to the daily challenge, whether it might be practice or a game."

About Northville, where he has been a resident for the past four years with his wife and two children, Wilson said he likes the area.

"Northville is small enough that you can walk around, see people you know, and stop in some of the shops and chat," he said. "We're actually in the country. Yet we're close enough to the city to go in and view the big league glamor."

Cleveland opens its season October 19 at Minnesota. Its first home game is October 27 against Toronto.

Autumn Mystery

We leave the things "we have to do",
Our desk, our kitchen, yard work, too,
And head for woods, country roads
To match nostalgic autumn moods.

A hilly trail entices us
With glowing trees and fiery bush;
The distant sky of azure blue—
It all seems dream-like, more than true!

Can this be vision, heaven-sent
To give us glimpses, relevant
To the hereafter in that blue,
For folk like me—and folk like you?

Charles E. Hutton

Summerset

Leave the blooded smell of Autumn to the roads of trees.
The rustling winds to the paths of crossed loves muddled.

Sense the malodorous fouling
in the darkled causeways,
The broadening lunar winds winds have been sent howling.

Misled by the equinox too early, the Indians dance happily around the haystacks of the hallowed. Broomsticks are unfurling.

In this season, pushing my birth,
I've felt the weathering winds.
Seen Thomas' triangles
in boxed compass contrails girth.

Reddened by the sun's dying news of stellar birth this eve,
The scarlet clouds are singing, inspired by the muse.

These Castles Are for The Birds

By SUZANNE MONAGHAN

People at Novi High School are making special plans for a living classroom.

Harvey Milford, a Howell resident, wanted the Novi school district to put up some purple martin bird houses.

Milford, a fragile-looking gentleman in his seventies, told Dr. Gerald B. Kratz, school superintendent, and Dr. Helen E. R. Ditzhazy, high school principal, about the purple martin.

Putting up martin castles appealed to Douglas A. Day, the advanced biology teacher and his students, about 20 10th, 11th and 12th graders. They expanded Milford's request to include Novi High School's living classroom.

The living classroom includes a purple martin house, two ponds and a newly landscaped courtyard.

The high school courtyard is between two glass-walled corridors near the building's main entrance. There are classroom and office windows looking out on it from the other two walls. But because there is only one exit from the courtyard no classes will actually meet inside the courtyard.

"A minimum of two exit doors are needed before students can use this area," said Dr. Ditzhazy. "With only one exit this area is potentially dangerous in case of fire."

One goal is to build and maintain three martin castles. The bird houses will be located in three different places: in front of the high school, by the administration building adjacent to the high school, and in the high school courtyard.

Two biology students, Leo Buckingham and Levin Anderson, both seniors this fall, decided to build the three martin castles themselves from original student designs.

When designing these bird houses two considerations were kept in mind: they must be attractive, encouraging the purple martins to nest in them; and the houses must be accessible for easy cleaning by students. Cleaning will keep swallows and sparrows from taking over.

One commercially available model is the aluminum-made Trio-Musselman martin house. It has fold-out doors, railings on porches, keyhole entrances with plastic plugs for winterizing and telescoping poles that vertically raise and lower the bird house from its recommended 8 to 15-foot perch.

The student design is a wood version of the Trio-Musselman model, incorporating many of its features.

Enthusiastic students spent all spring and summer landscaping the high school courtyard, the site of the living classroom, to help lure purple martins to the one bird house located here.

The two new ponds, also constructed by Day's students, will serve several useful purposes. The plant and animal life observed in the ponds will become an integral part of the advanced biology class work.

Stocked with fish and plants, the ponds will have life-supporting systems that take care of themselves.

"We can get the fish locally," said the supervising teacher, Day, "by catching them with a seine." A seine is a large net used to scoop fish out of shallow water.

"The stream running out of Meadowbrook Lake on Nine Mile Road has sunfish, suckers, minnows and even pickerel. Catfish and goldfish are also valuable," Day said.

The ponds will provide a breeding ground for some insects, the purple martin's only food. Though it is expected that the existing pond off Taft Road in front of the high school will be the primary source of food for the ravenous birds.

Students have worked hard on the living classroom. Lucine Taffarian, a June graduate, designed it to include a log walkway and the two ponds.

Andy Raddant, a junior, made contributions with his efforts and enthusiasm. He did much of the digging for the ponds and set the round logs in the ground for the walkway.

Two juniors, Brian Cornett and Chris Zylinski have also put in plenty of overtime and contributed ideas.

"We were disappointed not to get more work done sooner. Everyone was busy finishing class work and studying for exams in May and June. Then there was a delay in getting money and building materials," Day said.

"By the time we're finished, this project will cost approximately $300 with the materials for each bird house costing nearly $40," Day said.

Two community organizations pledged their support. The Novi Garden Club donated $75 for materials. The Novi Rotary also promised financial help for purchasing materials.

The Novi Public Library, 25870 Novi Road, has had a Trio-Musselman martin castle for about three years. It's a two-story version with six residences and telescoping poles.

"About three years ago Mr. Milford came to the library and presented us with the bird house. He also gave us two books on purple martins," said Mrs. Dorothy Flattery, librarian.

"He comes into the library two or three times every week to read and check on things. He scolds us because we haven't cleaned the martin castle. The sparrows have taken it over. We should chase them away but unfortunately we don't have time to care for a bird house," Mrs. Flattery said as she busily checked books.

"It has been quite a conversation piece, though. People come in and want to know all about it," she said.

Husband-Wife Ministers Found Brighton Church

Just 15 months ago, a husband-wife ministerial team, the Reverend Robert and Glenyce Doorn, arrived in Brighton hoping to organize a new inter-denominational Christian center.

Last week, Mr. and Mrs. Doorn led their first service in the new Brighton Christian Fellowship Center building, located on five acres the center owns at Old U.S. 23 and Hyne Roads.

Some 180 persons attended the service, 125 of them church members.

Mr. Doorn admits the speedy progress of the building program "surprises even him," and he attributes the center's success to the enthusiastic response of Brighton residents.

"I think a lot of people in this area were looking for this kind of inter-denominational church—people who had never had a strong church affiliation and some who had been raised in a faith and grown away from it.

"We believe in basic Christian doctrines, not the teachings of any one church," he explains

Because the center is not affiliated with or subsidized by a large, national denomination, it has been entirely self-supporting in its early stages.

Several months ago, the church acquired its five acre site and a steel building on the property used for storage.

It was purchased with $1,000 donations and loans from church members.

Mr. Doorn prepared the design to convert the steel building to a sanctuary and add an office and classroom wing.

His basic design was referred to a Brighton architect who did the technical work on the plans.

From there he said, the building became the project of the congregation.

"We were very fortunate to have all the licensed workers we needed right in the congregation—a licensed electrician, a licensed plumber as well as contractors and construction workers," he said.

Construction began on August 1. Except for finishing work inside, both the sanctuary and the addition were finished 60 days later.

"No one thought we could do it in 60 days," Mr. Doorn says now. "But people were working there almost every hour those two months—in the evenings, over weekends."

Some persons even took days off their regular jobs to work at the church.

For all the work, Mr. Doorn says, the congregation has a home. It's also a closer group for their sharing and working together, he says.

As former missionaries themselves, Mr. Doorn says, he and his "associate pastor," Mrs. Doorn, have stressed to their congregation the importance of sharing their faith with others.

As a result of their encouragement, seven Brighton families will leave for foreign nations this year to serve as lay missionaries for one-year periods.

They will be supported by church offerings. Materials, such as food for needy people and building materials for churches, will be provided in part through World Vision funds.

"No one is coerced in any way to do mission work, Mr. Doorn explains.

"Those who are going feel it's important to take a year out and give to others. It's sort of our little Peace Corps," he said.

Before construction of the new center, the church met in Miller elementary school.

The church holds three meetings on Sunday, at 10:15 a.m. (church school), at 11 a.m. (worship service), and 7 p.m. (worship service).

Nuts Share Autumn's Bounty

Beautiful fall color isn't the only one of nature's bounties to be enjoyed in October. There's also a wild harvest to be reaped: nuts!

According to J. Lee Taylor, Michigan State University Extension horticulture specialist, the southern half of the lower peninsula has several native nut trees that may be harvested in the fall. "The black walnut is probably the best known native nut tree," Taylor observes. "Its hard, rough textured, round nuts are encased in a tough, thick husk. A close relative of the black walnut, often called the white walnut, is the butternut. It looks like an elongated walnut and grows farther north than the black walnut or any other nut-bearing tree in Michigan."

The beechnut is small with sweet meat. The hard kernel is surrounded by a prickly husk. The tree can be recognized by its smooth, light gray bark and leaves that turn a brilliant yellow in the fall.

The shagbark hickory produces small to medium-sized nuts encased in hard, thick husks. The trees can be recognized by their shaggy bark.

"The large tree commonly known as the horse chestnut is not a true chestnut," Taylor points out. "It produces dark brown, slightly flattened nutlike fruits that are not edible. Horse chestnuts make good additions to Christmas wreaths and other decorative arrangements, but they should not be harvested for eating."

Black walnuts are ready for harvest as soon as you can dent the hull with your thumb, Taylor says. They should be hulled as soon after harvest as possible, because the stain in the hull will penetrate the nutmeats, discoloring them and giving them a strong flavor.

"One way to remove the hulls is to run over them with an automobile," Taylor notes. "You can also turn them in a small cement mixer with some pieces of broken concrete to help break up the hulls."

After hulling, wash the nuts with water and dry them on screens in layers not more than three nuts deep. Place them in a shaded, cool, dry place with good air circulation for about two weeks.

"Be sure you dry and store wild nuts where squirrels cannot get to them," the specialist advises, "or you may find your whole harvest has disappeared."

Hickory nuts should be gathered and hulled as soon as they fall from the tree.

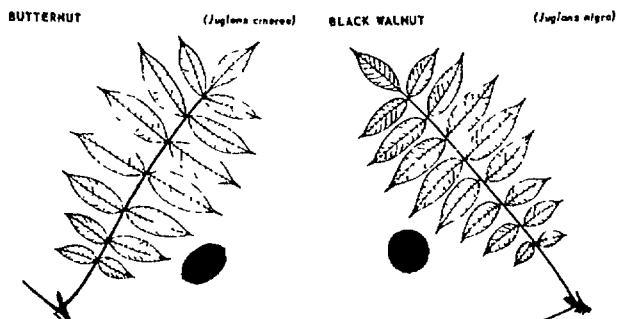

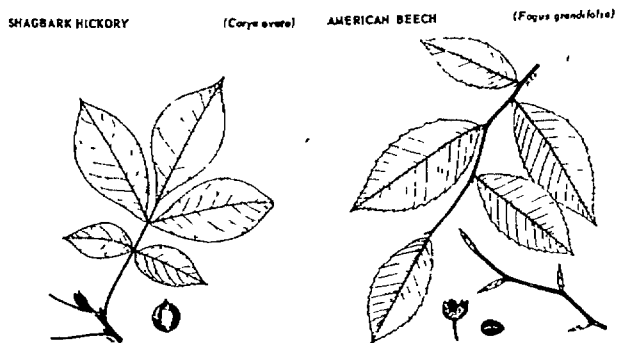

Place them on screens to dry, and crack a couple every few days to check for dryness. Store in a mesh bag in a cool, airy place when the kernels are crisp.

"Hickory nuts are oily," Taylor points out, "and they become rancid very easily if improperly stored."

Handle butternuts as you would walnuts and beechnuts as hickory nuts.

Black walnuts and butternuts are easier to crack if you soak them overnight in water first, Taylor adds. For these and for hickory nuts, a heavy duty cracker is almost a necessity.

Re-seeding May Be All That Ragged Lawn Needs

BY KATHY COPLEY

If your lawn is looking a bit seedy, lawn seed might be just the thing to bring it back to peak appearance. Fertilizer applied this month is another way to assure a thick, green lawn in spring.

In the fall, re-seeding an established lawn needn't be any big problem. While de-thatching and applying peat moss and sand with your fertilizer spreader are nice touches this time of year, you can spare yourself the energy.

If the whole lawn is getting a bit thin—and individual grass plants can't be expected to last forever—load your fertilizer spreader with grass seed and set the opening to apply one-half as much seed as is recommended for seeding a new lawn.

The grass seed bag and nurseryman are the best sources of this information since the number of seeds per pound and size of seeds varies from one type of seed to another.

Spot seeding will require about the same effort. Scrape up the soil a bit, especially if it is compacted from hard traffic. This scraping gives the seeds something to rest against so they won't be washed away with the first rain.

Sprinkle the seed generously and pat it down firmly to give good contact with the soil. A little dirt sprinkled on top will help, but don't put off this simple job just because you don't have a little fine soil handy.

In most cases, Nature can be depended on to faithfully water the new seed and developing plants. If not, a gentle sprinkling to keep the soil moist is a must.

Spring fertilizer stresses nitrogen to encourage growth of grass blades with deep green color. Fall fertilizing stresses potash and phosphorus for stronger, deeper roots and healthy crowns.

The more extensive the root system, the more nutrients are available for rapid growth. By initiating good root growth in the fall, each grass plant is ready for speedy growth in the spring to make a lawn look like we expect it to.

To expect quick greening and quick root development in the spring is asking a little too much of any plant.

Phosphorus encourages root and crown growth. Good-looking grass is dependent on healthy and numerous crowns.

Fall fertilizers should have a nitrogen-phosphorus-potash ratio of 1-1-1 or 1-2-2, stressing the second two nutrients.

A recent radio broadcast recommended a December fertilizing with Milorganite, a product of sewage sludge manufactured by the city of Milwaukee. Distributed over snow and everything, it breaks down slowly, feeding grass during every thaw and break in severe early spring weather.

This system works only because Milorganite is an organic fertilizer which breaks down slowly, releasing its nutrients gently. Using one of the popular chemical products this way would be a disaster.

The whole intent of fall lawn care is to prepare the grass plants for the rapid growth we expect in spring. Filling in bare spots and root feeding are the two best ways to do this.

Autos Not Only Attraction

Touring Detroit Is Quick and Worthwhile

Mention of Detroit brings automobiles to mind for most tourists, but the Motor City and its suburbs have more non-auto related attractions than any other section of the state according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"More than 30 top Detroit-area tourist attractions can be checked off quickly, without beginning to exhaust the possibilities," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

Starting in Detroit's downtown area, a first stop might be Belle Isle, scenic playground before the turn of the century and excellent for shipwatching.

Belle Isle's Dossin Great Lakes Museum is the place to go if interested in ships and marine history. The entire museum is devoted to Great Lakes maritime lore, but its pride is the carefully restored Gothic Room, once an ornate salon on the sidewheeler City of Detroit III which operated between Detroit, Buffalo and Cleveland. The museum is open Wednesday through Sunday.

The entire south shore of Belle Isle offers excellent shipwatching. A Children's Zoo, open from mid-May to early September, charges nominal admission. The island's Conservatory offers seasonal flower displays. The nearby Aquarium exhibits Michigan fish with a few ocean specimens in its glass-fronted wall tanks. Both the Conservatory and Aquarium are free and open daily the year round.

A few miles southwest along the Detroit River on Jefferson Avenue near Livernois is the Fort Wayne Military Museum. Built in the 1840s, it is the best preserved pre-Civil War fort in the Midwest. The fort is open Wednesday through Sunday.

Detroit's cultural center, north on Woodward and 10 minutes from downtown, consists of four museums, a library and a university.

The Detroit Institute of Arts is one of the world's great art museums and is the largest municipally owned museum in the United States. Galleries are arranged to follow development of cultural arts from ancient, medieval and Renaissance eras to modern times.

The Detroit Public Library, just across the street, also is an architectural showplace. Its Burton Historical Collection is an unexcelled Great Lakes research source and the automotive collection is the largest and most valuable in the United States.

Wayne State University is an outstanding example of what an urban campus should be, with new buildings always dramatic in design added each year.

Detroit Historical Museum, adjacent to the library, specializes in Detroit memorabilia. An outstanding exhibit features reconstructed Streets of Old Detroit, all lined with period stores. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The two other museums, the International Institute and the Children's Museum, are both near the Art Institute. The International Institute's annual Old World Market, featuring customs, music, costumes and food of some 30 foreign lands, will be held October 2-5.

The Children's Museum features American history scenes, a bird room, exhibits on foreign lands and ancient peoples, a craft room and a planetarium.

The Detroit Zoo, at Ten Mile Road and Woodward Avenue in suburban Royal Oak, is among the country's top five zoos. It was the first to free animals from cages.

The nationally famous Shrine of the Little Flower is at Twelve Mile and Woodward, Royal Oak. A distinctive feature is the bold 100-foot Crucifixion Tower, of granite and marble, square in form and girded by four enormous crosses. The octagonal church building proper, completed in 1933, is open to visitors.

Automobile plant tours are a longtime Detroit trademark. Companies always have curtailed tours during model changeover, but some this year also have felt the economic pinch and have reduced or eliminated tours for the present. It's advisable to check before starting out.

Ford Motor Co. offers two-hour tours through late August, starting from the Ford Guest Center on Village Road opposite the Henry Ford Museum entrance.

The sprawling, 335-acre General Motors Technical Center in Warren, 15 miles northeast of downtown Detroit, will continue its summer tour schedule through Labor Day.

Other auto plant tours are available at Cadillac Motor Car Co., Detroit; Detroit Diesel Allison Division; Fisher Body Division of GM, Pontiac; Fisher Body, Livonia, and General Motors Willow Run Assembly, Ypsilanti.

World-famous Greenfield Village in Dearborn, the vast outdoor museum of Americana founded by auto pioneer Henry Ford in 1929, is well along in a 10-year expansion plan costing $26 million. The Village itself contains more than 100 historic structures. Adjoining it is Henry Ford Museum, the Village's indoor counterpart.

Back in downtown Detroit, Old Mariners' Church on Jefferson Avenue, just east of Henry and Edsel Ford Auditorium, is the only survivor of 160 buildings razed to make way for the Civic Center. Built in 1849, the Episcopal church is open to visitors and guided tours can be booked in advance.

The Civic Center area is a $100-million, 78-acre development along the Detroit River. Cobo Hall, one of the world's largest exhibition buildings, contains display areas, assembly halls, a sports arena, dining facilities and rooftop parking.

The 10-story Veterans Memorial Building was the first structure in the development. The building is open to the public but there are no tours.

The Henry and Edsel Ford Auditorium, home of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, is one of the most modern buildings of its kind with a 3,000 seating capacity. The towering white marble and glass City-County Building on the opposite side of Jefferson Avenue houses the governmental offices of the City of Detroit and Wayne County.

Well worth a visit is the National Bank of Detroit's Money Museum, Woodward at Fort, established in 1960. The collection contains 15,000 specimens, from primitive monies to current coins and paper money of the world. The museum is free.

The Detroit riverfront is the setting for a series of popular ethnic festivals on Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday, from May past mid-September.

While on the Detroit riverfront, take a look from a distance at Renaissance Center, the huge $500-million waterfront development now under construction. The first phase of the huge project, to be finished by mid-1977, will include the Detroit Plaza Hotel, a glass-walled cylinder 70 stories high.

While Hudson's Downtown Detroit store is the second largest U.S. department store, the Detroit metropolitan area has at least six outstanding shopping centers. Northland Center in Southfield is the country's first and oldest. Others include Somerset Mall in Troy, Eastland in Harper Woods, Westland, Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield and Southland in Taylor.

For recreation, try Metropolitan Beach, a 550-acre fun-entertainment area near Mt. Clemens. Open the year-around, it is one of 10 Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks.

Another fun place popular since before the turn of the century is Bob-Lo Island in the Detroit River, reached by a scenic, 1½ hour boat ride from Detroit or 45 minutes from Wyandotte. Bob-Lo offers more than 40 rides and attractions.

The six Cranbrook Institutions and Meadow Brook Hall are cultural centers north of Detroit. Cranbrook consists of educational facilities and a church on 300 beautifully landscaped acres in Bloomfield Hills. Hours can be spent at the Academy of Art Galleries, Cranbrook House Gardens, Institute of Science Museum with its museum of natural history, planetarium and observatory. Adjoining the campus is the Gothic Christ Church Cranbrook, with 13th Century stained glass windows.

Meadow Brook Hall on the Oakland University campus at Rochester is considered one of America's great homes. It was built between 1925-29 at a cost of $4 million. The 100-room mansion was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, widow of auto pioneer John Dodge. Guided tours are offered Mondays through Saturdays during July and August, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and Sundays throughout the year, 1 to 4 p.m. There is a charge.

Those visiting the Detroit area and wanting to see it all should plan to spend a lifetime.

Tips Combat Winter For Wise Gardeners

'Old Man Winter is on his way, but your lawn and garden will be ready for him if you follow these timely suggestions from the experts at Michigan State University:

—Protect your roses against winter damage.

—Clean up all dead iris foliage and destroy badly damaged iris plants.

—Mulch strawberries and raspberries.

—Don't let green tomatoes die on the vine. Pick them at mature green stage and store in newspapers in the basement, ripening as you need them. Or hang the entire plant upside down in the basement. Fruit will continue to ripen for some time.

—Plant or transplant peonies and other spring flowering perennials.

—If apple scab was a problem this year, rake up and destroy fallen leaves and fruit, spray trees with Benlate.

—Clean refuse from the vegetable garden. Fertilize, add organic matter and plow. Burn all diseased materials.

—Dig vegetable crops and store in a cool, frost-free place. Parsnips, Jerusalem artichokes and carrots may be left in the ground and dug throughout the winter if you mulch them and mark their location.

—Pot bulbs for indoor forcing this month. Bury them outdoors or place them in a root cellar outdoors for several weeks before bringing them inside.

—Fertilize actively growing houseplants.

—Control insects that may have infested houseplants while they were outdoors.

—Gather weed seed pods, cattails and meadow grasses for dry flower arrangements.

—Gather wild nuts: black walnut, hickory, beech, butternut, etc.

—Prune deciduous shrubs that need it after the leaves have fallen and the plants are dormant.

—Protect young fruit trees and ornamentals from winter rodent damage with a cylinder of hardware cloth placed around the trunks.

Pineapple Grows Indoor Interest

The fun isn't over when the pineapple's eaten. Michigan State University horticulturists point out that the spiky pineapple top can be rooted to produce an attractive houseplant.

If you're really lucky, you may even get an edible fruit from it.

The pineapple (Ananas comosus) is a member of the bromeliad family. Like the others in this family, this native of tropical America has a rosette of dark green leaves.

To root the rosette, cut it off and scrape off as much of the pulpy pineapple as possible. Let it dry out for a few days and then plant the base of the rosette about one inch deep in moist potting soil.

The plant that grows from the rosette needs a well drained soil made of equal parts loam, sand, peat moss and leaf mold. The soil must be kept evenly moist. The MSU specialists also recommend providing high humidity, a minimum temperature of 60 degrees F, and sunny to semisunny conditions.

If you hope to produce a fruit on your pineapple plant, it must be repotted whenever it becomes rootbound. Even with the best of care, fruiting may not occur.

Elect or Appoint Judges?

LANSING—Should you the voter have a say in picking the men and women who'll sit on the benches of Michigan's highest courts?

Or should those decisions be made by officialdom: the governor and a special Judicial Qualifications Commission?

Governor William Milliken says the second idea — appointment rather than election of judges to the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals — is the better idea. And he plans to work for a change in the current election system when the legislature is back at work this fall.

"IN A RECENT Office of Criminal Justice Programs survey, our courts ranked relatively low in public confidence," Milliken said.

"Among the 14 criminal justice agencies tested, the Supreme Court and local courts ranked ninth and tenth in public confidence — and I think this public attitude is most unfortunate."

Milliken says he is concerned that "political visibility, rather than judicial qualifications, all too often has been the basis for public awareness of court candidates. The appointment process," he says, "could do much to counteract the adverse image indicated by this survey."

THE PROPOSED constitutional amendment that would authorize appointment of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals judges "would raise the quality of justice throughout the state by eliminating much of the political element inherent in direct election," the governor said.

That amendment, endorsed by the State Bar of Michigan, requires a two-thirds vote of the legislature and a vote of the people before it could be implemented.

HOT AND HEAVY campaigning won't begin for a while yet, but the race and guessing games already are underway for the upcoming contest to fill the U.S. Senate seat of Michigan's Phil Hart.

Hart, a Democrat, announced earlier this year that he'll retire from the Senate at the end of this, his third term in office.

Candidates are cropping up in all corners of the state. And political commentators are discussing the relative merits and demerits of various individuals.

ON THE DEMOCRATIC side, those most frequently mentioned as potential successors are: Attorney General Frank J. Kelley; Secretary of State Richard H. Austin; Congressman James G. O'Hara of Utica; and Flint Congressman Donald W. Riegle, Jr., who switched from the GOP side two years ago after strong disagreements with the Nixon Administration over conduct of the Vietnam War.

Republicans also find themselves with several would-be candidates. They include: Congressman Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor; former Congressman Robert Huber from Troy; University of Michigan Regent Deane Baker; and House Republican Leader Dennis O. Cawthorne of Manistee.

FARMERS who want their bean seed tested for bacterial blight — disease organisms that can affect the quality and yield of their harvest — can do so with the help of the Michigan Agriculture Department these days.

The MDA is again offering the tests, at the reduced rate of $5 per five-pound sample, through December 15. (If growers want germination tests too, they'll be asked to pay an extra $2.50.)

Between December 16 and March 15, MDA charges $15 per sample, and there are no samples accepted for testing from March 16 to October 1.

Anyone who wants to use the MDA testing service may get the proper forms to send along with the seed samples from the Department, county extension agents and most elevators in bean-growing areas.

ECONOMIC PROBLEMS, which meant a tight job market for Michigan this past year, may have put more people in the classroom.

That is the conclusion drawn by Wayne State University, which posted a new all-time high in student credit hours for the 1975-76 academic year.

WSU officials say 1,262,334 credit hours were taught during the year — topping the previous record year (1971-72) by well over 5,000 hours.

THE LINES at one Southeast Michigan area mill stretched nearly a city block — two and three abreast — one recent weekend.

It's cider time, and Michigan fans of the tangy drink are ready.

The Michigan Apple Committee, made up of many of the state's apple growers, predicts more than 17 million bushels of apples will be produced in the state this season.

STRANGE THINGS happen in Michigan state parks during the busy season.

A brief list compiled by the Department of Natural Resources points, for instance, at the "animal problems" at Muskegon State Park.

A ranger investigated reports that two boys had been seen leading a pony from the toilet building. He said he "found strong evidence that the animal had, in fact, been in the building."

AND THERE'S the case of a tent at the Brighton Recreation Area. Caught by the wind, the tent flipped over and rolled across the road — with the camper still inside.

One final incident: Three young men set up shop outside the entrance to a state park, offering park permits at half price. The permits had been stolen.

UNCLAIMED LOTTERY prize money — a healthy $2 million for fiscal 1974-75 — goes back to Michigan's general fund to help pay all the state's bills.

Representative Paul Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, thinks that's the wrong thing to do with those dollars.

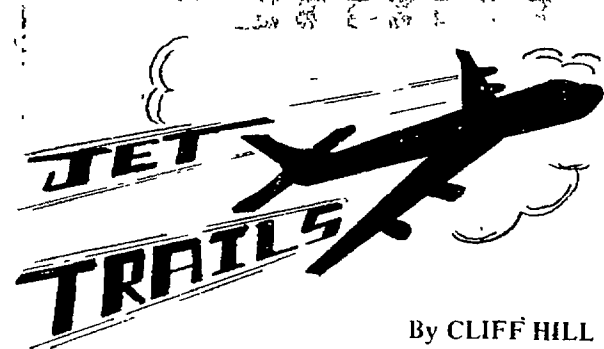

Unclaimed winnings, he says, should go back into the lottery bureau purse to boost the number or size of prizes. "The unclaimed money came from lottery players and it should go back to lottery players," Rosenbaum says.

MICHIGAN COULD use the money for other purposes, "especially at the present time," Rosenbaum admits.

But, he says, "if we channel that much money into prizes, it would make the lottery even more attractive, which in turn could generate even more lottery revenue."

BEER IS BIG among American drinkers.

Current figures show a per capita consumption of 21.1 gallons for every man, woman and child in the country — basically a six-pack a week for all those 18 and over during 1974.

In today's tumultuous world, I believe the tourist air line industry and travel agents are neglecting a major facet of public relations. It is this:

That no bureau is set up to forewarn the prospective tourist of dangerous conditions that may exist in a country or section of a continent where he or she desires to visit. For instance, it would be foolhardy to visit Portugal, certain sections of Ireland, certain sections of Africa where Angola is located and other parts of interior Africa, as well as Thailand and surrounding countries, because of the internal strife that is existing in these places. I might go so far as to include South Korea and, of course, any part of Viet Nam. Even Israel and the Mid-East is not too safe.

As it exists today, there is no forewarning system amongst any of the air lines or travel agents where accurate up to the minute advice can be given a would-be tourist concerning his safety.

There is too much anxiety on the part of the air lines and the travel agents to sell tickets and not enough concern for the safety of the passengers after arrival.

I believe some type of public relations program could be set up by I.A.T.A. which could give a brief resume of present conditions of most of the dangerous spots in the world, kept up to date at least weekly. Then the passenger has the opportunity of making informed decisions of where he wishes to travel. Travel agents and air lines should be aware that it is not too difficult to change the customer's idea of where to spend his vacation when the passenger's safety is concerned.

I should like to suggest to the ticket sellers that their first concern must be the safety of the passengers, and quit worshipping the almighty buck!

Edward V. McNally, vice president for student affairs at Schoolcraft College, has been named to coordinate the College's efforts to comply with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972.

Title IX is the regulation which prohibits discrimination because of sex against any person who works or studies at the college.

In assigning this responsibility to McNally, President C. Nelson Grote said he viewed it more as continuing rather than implementing programs of non-discrimination at the college. "Our long-standing official policy has prohibited discrimination on the basis of sex as well as race, creed, color or national origin," Dr. Grote added.

McNally is committed to full continued compliance within existing College policy and the provisions of Title IX. He said he will develop a grievance procedure providing for prompt and equitable resolution of student and employee complaints of alleged sex discrimination.

He also indicated that steps will be taken to include a statement of non-discrimination in all college publications and forms such as employment and admissions applications.

They Win An Exciting Homecoming Game

Mustang Grid Manuevers Successful

Everything seemed to go right for Northville on its homecoming night last Friday.

A second team quarterback started at halfback while filling in for an injured player, the passing game was the best it had been all season, a trick play worked, and defensively the team was tough and alert as the Mustangs put together a 27-20 victory over Plymouth Canton last Friday.

After a rash of injuries against Farmington Harrison a week earlier, Northville needed some assistance at the running back positions.

"Greg Armstrong was the logical person to put back there," Northville Football Coach Chuck Shonta said. "Greg is our backup quarterback. He is a good athlete and plays all the backfield positions."

Armstrong seemed right at home at the halfback position as he ran for two Northville touchdowns, 124 total yards rushing, and had a 53 yard touchdown run called back because of a penalty.

It was on Northville's fourth play from scrimmage when Armstrong caught a pitchout, raced around the right end, cut upfield and zipped 53 yards for the first Northville score with 8:09 left to play in the first quarter. Scott Travers booted the extra point.

Later in the same quarter Armstrong covered the same distance on a similar run, only to have the play called back because of a holding penalty against Northville. The Mustangs were penalized a total of eight times for 85 yards in the game. Plymouth received four penalties for 25 yards.

Plymouth Canton kept the game close by scoring with 5:02 to play in the second quarter when quarterback Tom Close passed five yards to Dave Pink. Canton missed the extra point kick.

The Mustangs came right back with another score, taking Plymouth's kickoff and marching 70 yards in ten plays, climaxed by a one yard touchdown run by quarterback Eric Lampella, with 49 seconds to play in the first half. Travers again kicked the extra point.

A big play in that touchdown drive was a 37 yard pass from Lampella to Gary Winemaster. Winemaster, who returned to the Northville lineup after an injury, was one of the favorite passing targets as he caught three for 59 yards. Lampella had his best passing night of the season, completing five of 12 throws for 140 yards.

Northville's running attack, led by Armstrong's performance, totaled 219 yards. Rick Marrone gained 49 yards and Bruce McGlory had 38 yards for Northville.

The Mustangs received the kickoff in the second half and on their first play they pulled a "sleeper" out of their bag of tricks and the result was a 60 yard touchdown play.

Northville's offensive team went on the field to begin the second half, but instead of going into the huddle they went directly to the line of scrimmage. Ten of the players were lined up in the middle of the field and Greg Harper stood just inside the field of play on the Northville side.

Apparently no one saw Harper as he lined up for the play or when he was sliding down the sidelines. When the Plymouth defender did notice Harper it was too late. Harper had gathered in a Lampella pass and was high stepping toward the end zone.

"We use that play one time every year and we do real well with it," Shonta said. "We talked about it at halftime and decided that if we got the ball past our 30 yard line we would use it."

Armstrong opened the game to a 27-6 margin when he ran for his second touchdown of the night, an 11 yard run off tackle with 6:47 to play in the third quarter. Travers kicked the extra point. After that score the Mustangs started substituting players giving more of their personnel a chance to play in the homecoming game.

"We felt we could hold them with the people we put in there," Shonta said. "I guess it was that old thing that you never let up on an opponent."

All of a sudden Plymouth scored, recovered an onside kick and scored again.

"We knew it was coming," Shonta said of the short kick. "We told them it was coming. They shouldn't have been surprised. The next thing we knew we were fighting for our lives."

Both of the Plymouth scores were on running plays of one yard. Close and Mike Ogden each had one of the Plymouth touchdowns. Plymouth's Scott Gray added the extra points on an end run bringing the Canton team within seven points.

Plymouth stopped a Northville drive on its own 13 yard line and had 2:29 to try to win the game.

Bill Piccolo, who was a thorn in Plymouth's side all night, thwarted the last Canton offensive drive by intercepting a pass. It was Piccolo's second interception. Piccolo also recovered one fumble and led the Mustang defense in tackles with eight. Al Korte also recovered a fumble for Northville. Winemaster, Tim Conder, Jim Eaker, Travers, Jeff Pink, and Chris Missel each had three tackles for the Mustangs. Plymouth gained 206 yards against the Northville defense.

The win raises Northville's record to 3-2 overall and 1-2 in the Western Six conference.

RETURNING RECEIVER—Northville Senior end Gary Winemaster eludes a Plymouth Canton tackler after receiving a pass in the football game last Friday night. Winemaster returned to the Northville lineup for the homecoming game against Canton after missing the first part of the season due to an injury. He was a favorite passing target during last Friday's game, catching three passes for a total of 59 yards.

Northville Golfers Grab League, Regional Titles

Northville's golf team, is wound in high gear and pointing toward the state golf championship in East Lansing this Saturday.

Last Monday, the team copped the Western Six Conference title with a 393 score at Kensington. Saturday the Mustangs led the competition at the regionals with a 325 score at Brae Burn Golf Course. Last week in dual meet competition the team raised its record to 9-0 in the conference and 18-2 overall.

The regional title is Northville's first since becoming a Class A school. It was the fifth regional title in the last ten years, and the eighth time in the past 12 years that the golfers have qualified for state competition.

Al Jones has coached the golf team during those 12 years. This Saturday at the state competition will mark the end of his coaching career. Jones plans to retire this January after 30½ years of coaching and teaching, 27½ of them at Northville.

He admits that it would be nice to go out with a state title. It would be even nicer to go out a winner at the Michigan State University course, the site of the state tournament, where Jones played his collegiate golf and won a varsity letter.

Don Dales was instrumental in boosting Northville's first state tournament when he carded a 76 at the regional. It was the third lowest score of the tournament. Jim Osburn of Ypsilanti had a 72 and John Lyons of Livonia Franklin shot a 75.

Jim Dales followed his brother Don with an 81, Greg Mack had an 82, and Chip Chamberlin had 86.

In the team competition at the regionals Ann Arbor Pioneer and Livonia Franklin tied for second with identical 328 scores. Both teams will enter the state competition.

The Mustangs walked away with their fifth straight Western Six Conference golf title, a title they have won every year since the league has been formed, when they carded a 393 score at Kensington Golf Course.

Mack was Northville's star in the league tournament with a 77 score. Jim and Don Dales, and Chip Chamberlin each shot a 78, and Greg Pyett and Kirk Mack each shot an 82.

Just to show that the Western Six is no easy golf league to win, two of the other league schools qualified in their respective regionals

Statistics Baffle Novi Grid Coach

Novi Football Coach gets a little perplexed when he figures out the Novi varsity football statistics and the results after last Friday's 14-6 loss to Brighton were no exception.

Novi has yet to allow an opponent to score a touchdown in the first half. Chelsea's first quarter field goal being the only points allowed in the first half. Conversely, the Wildcats have been held scoreless in the second half. The result is a 1-4 record for Novi and a 1-3 mark in the Southeastern Conference.

"I must be getting old half-timed by the other coaches," Osborne quipped. "We just start breaking down in the second half for some reason. I don't think it's conditioning because we're in pretty good condition."

"In the second half our offense turns over the ball in bad field position and the opponents score," added Osborne.

Osborne described Brighton as a tremendously improved football team and the loss to them as very disappointing. The Wildcats scored their first half touchdown the first time they got their hands on the football. Randy Wroten returned a first quarter punt 64 yards for a touchdown.

The Brighton squad took the lead in the fourth quarter by taking advantage of a fumble recovery on the Novi 25 yard line. Both Brighton scores were on short running plays.

One Brighton defensive player was especially effective against Novi. He was nose man Dan Philion. He caused a fumble and made numerous tackles in the Novi backfield.

"We just couldn't block him (Philion)," Osborne said. "It's unfortunate that one man can upset you as much as he did."

"Our blocking the entire game was nothing to write home about," Osborne added. "We'll have to pack this week to the beginning and go over the basics. Maybe we missed something."

Novi gained only 40 yards net rushing in the game against Brighton. The Wildcats were held to minus 18 yards in the second half.

In the passing department the Wildcats were more successful, gaining a total of 106 yards. John McMurray completed five of 11 passes for 60 yards and had three interceptions. Randy Wroten threw two for two during the night for 46 yards.

Osborne said that there will be some changes in the offensive lineup for this week's homecoming game against Lincoln.

"Our defense played strong throughout the game," Osborne said. He said that the defense forced Brighton to work for its touchdowns after the good field position given up by Novi offensive mistakes.

Osborne said that part of the Novi turnover problem is young players in the backfield. Younger players make mistakes, Osborne reasoned.

Doug Maier was the defensive leader for Novi as he had 14 tackles. John Pisha followed him with nine tackles.

Besides turning the ball over to Brighton in good field position for the opposing team, Novi also turned over the ball while driving for touchdowns. Once in the first half the team turned over the football on the 12 yard line, stopping a Novi touchdown drive which may have put the game away, Osborne said.

Sulkies Running Monday at Downs

metropolitan Detroit area. Jackson Trotting Association will complete 55 nights of racing at the Jackson Harness Raceway Saturday night and will race through December 31 at the newly redecorated Northville Downs.

"We anticipated an excellent meet, but we've done even better than we hoped. Our attendance is up 33 per cent and our mutual handle is up 18 per cent. It's been a record season all the way," reports President Nanette Slavin Rakieten.

A new pacing series, "Future Stars of America", for three and four year olds, will be scheduled in addition to the annual Jackson at Northville Pacing series and several large invitational races are planned.

With stables and drivers like Keith Crawford, Wally McMurray, Tom Harmer, Clayton Faurot and Jayne Weller and outstanding horses such as Bea and Charles Farber's Easy Irv and Nicholas Roth's Barney Farnier, General Manager James A. Young feels confident that the quality of racing will be better and more exciting than ever at the Jackson-at-Northville meet.

Two trifectas, a perfecta and the nightly daily double will provide betting options. Post time is 8:15.

Webster Out For Season

Doug Webster, a 6-2, 200 pound stalwart on the Northville varsity football line, watched the Mustang homecoming victory over Plymouth while standing on crutches at the sidelines.

He will be unable to play the rest of the season as a result of a knee injury sustained in a game against Farmington Harrison, October 4. He had an operation and some cartilage removed from his knee as a result of the injury.

Webster said that he had injured his knee before and was playing with his knee slightly injured during the first four games. He played both offensive and defensive tackle.

Mikalonis Sparks Northville Swimmers

lifting their record to a 7-1 mark. The spark came in the same event, the 100 yard butterfly, which she won in both meets.

Her performance helped Northville defeat Walled Lake Western by a 51-32 score in a home meet October 7, and to defeat Livonia Churchill 92-80, October 9 at Livonia.

Mikalonis swam a 1:04.7 in winning the butterfly event against Western and a 1:05.7 to win the event against Livonia.

Northville Swimming Coach Karen Turner said that Walled Lake is a much improved team and termed Livonia Churchill as a very strong league team.

Mikalonis also won the 500 yard freestyle event against Walled Lake with a time of 6:16.5.

Tracey Piscopink and Kyle Roggenbuck were both double winners in the Walled Lake meet. Piscopink won the 200 yard freestyle and 100 yard backstroke with times of 2:19.9 and 1:13.8 respectively.

Roggenbuck won the 200 yard individual medley with a 2:34 time and the 100 yard freestyle with a time of :59.4 seconds.

Roggenbuck was also a double winner against Livonia as she topped competition in both the 200 and 100 yard freestyle events.

Northville's swimmers placed fifth among the 11 teams entered in the Redford Union Relays, last Saturday. Stevenson won the event with 108 while Northville had 38 points.

Northville had two second places, one in the 400 yard medley relay and the other in the 200 yard butterfly relay.

Athletes of the Week

Doug Maier, a senior tri captain on the Novi varsity football team, is the Wildcat of the Week for the second time this season. He played a fine defensive game in Novi's loss to Brighton with 14 tackles and called all the defensive formations. Novi Football Coach John Osborne describes Maier as a wreckless player who hits awfully hard. Maier also does double duty as Novi's starting full back on offense.

Greg Armstrong is this week's Mustang of the Week. Last Friday he stepped into a starring role as halfback on Northville's varsity football team and ran for two touchdowns and a total of 124 yards to lead the Mustang offensive effort. His biggest role up to this point had been as backup quarterback. Armstrong's study of the offense paid off with a fine performance leading Northville to a homecoming night victory.

Netters Win League Meets

Northville tennis team won two league matches in competition last week.

The Mustangs skunked Waterford Mott in an away meet October 7, by a 7-0 score.

In the singles competition: Becky Albus defeated Jane Keeshing, 6-3, 6-3; Sarah Kuntst defeated Robin Grunsnick, 6-3, 6-2; Lori Hopping beat Laurie Brinson, 6-1, 6-1; and Karen Latarski defeated Sheri Dan, 6-3, 7-6.

In an October 8 meet at Plymouth Canton, Northville won by a 6-1 score, Northville Tennis Coach Uta Filkin said. The Mustangs lost only the first singles match when Albus fell to Jan Haarer by identical 3-6 scores.

In other singles matches: Kuntst defeated Mary Riffd, 6-0, 6-3; Hopping beat Teresa Washburn, 6-2, 6-1; and Debbie Salmetto beat Connie

Game Time, Site Changed

Athletic officials at Northville High School announced a change in the time and site of their varsity football game against Walled Lake Western High School.

The game will be played at 3:30 p.m. October 24 at the Walled Lake Western High School football field.

Previously the game was scheduled for 8 p.m. October 25 at Walled Lake Central High School's football field.

Not Bad for First Time

Novi High School Horse Club came in sixth in competition among 17 schools as it competed in its first meet last Sunday.

In the competition at Oak Ridge Stable were Ann MacKay with Hall's Star Fire in hunt seat and western showmanship with 50 riders;

Gayle Davidson with Whitmore Shadette, second place saddle seat showmanship and second place saddle seat equitation; Also, Sue Zarish with Gay Contessa, third in saddle seat equitation; and fourth in saddle seat showmanship; and Mollie O'Brien, sixth in saddle seat equitation.

Novi Splits Cage Thrillers

A thrilling win or a heartbreaking defeat. It all depends on which side of the score you're on.

Novi's varsity basketball got a view from both sides last week, winning a thrilling victory over Willow Run last Thursday at Novi and losing a heartbreaker in an away game at Lincoln, October 7.

Elaine Maki led Novi in the victory over Willow Run with nine points. Dede McAllen and Carol Poyhonen each had eight points for the Ladycats.

Willow Run missed a shot in the final seconds, Novi got the rebound and held on for a victory.

Against Lincoln it was just the opposite story. A Novi player was called with an offensive foul while driving for a shot with 18 seconds left to play. Lincoln took over and stalled until the buzzer ended the game.

Maki was also the leading Novi scorer in the Willow Run game with ten points. Mary team is now 101 in Southeastern Conference play and 5-2 overall.

Paul Scores Twice For Schoolcraft

Steve Paul, of 41882 Sutters Lane, Northville, scored back-to-back goals as he starred in the Schoolcraft College Soccer team's 5-1 victory over Lorain, October 3.

The victory enabled Schoolcraft to remain unbeaten after three regular season games.

Other Schoolcraft goals were scored by Craig Kreutzberg, Ennio Petrella, and Chuck Yonish.

"We just out-hustled them and got to the ball," Schoolcraft Coach Larry Christoff said.

Schoolcraft's soccer team

Mark Mazur and Andy Lambert each scored one goal for the Schoolcraft squad.

Macomb scored both its points on penalty shots.

Schoolcraft Soccer Coach Larry Christoff said that, Macomb is one of the teams that Schoolcraft has to beat in order to enter regional and national competition.

The first and second place teams from the Michigan Junior College Athletic Association league move on to regional tournaments.

Bennett Tops Football Contest

With Only Perfect Entry

There was no doubt who won last week's football contest.

Submitting a perfect entry, Tim Bennett of 41945 Banbury Road was the only one of all contestants without a single mistake. What's more he came fairly close to picking Michigan's 16-6 edge over Michigan State.

Eight contestants submitted entries containing only one mistake, but Billy Newman of 16638 Old Bedford Road and Keith Trumbull, a student at Eastern Michigan University, were named winners by virtue of their closer scores in the Michigan-MSU tie-breaker.

Newman, who won second place, very nearly hit the score on the target by picking Michigan to defeat Michigan State 17-7. Trumbull was 14 points off the mark to win third place.

Other who also had one mistake but who finished out of the money were Pat Lewis of 836 Yorktown Court, Steve Alfody, Jr. of 41734 Rayburn, Mark Holland of 18103 Pinebrook, Paul Baetz of 20132 Whipple, Scott Love of 23680 Meadowbrook, and Philip Tweedie of 43550 West Six Mile Road.

Fourteen contestants had two mistakes; 20 had three mistakes; 19 had four mistakes; 11 had five mistakes; and the remainder

Worst entry containing 10 mistakes came from a student at Eastern Michigan University.

Several entries were disqualified because more than one entry was submitted from a single family, because the address of the contestant was not included, or because the contestant failed to submit a score for the Michigan-MSU game.

Most missed games were Brighton's triumph over Novi and Northwestern's shutout of Indiana.

Northville Women Win Slo-Pitch Crown

Northville Record's women's slo-pitch softball team topped the competition in the Northville Recreation league this summer, the first year of organized women's softball the recreation department has sponsored.

Both the Northville Record and Casterline teams finished the regular season with identical 11-1 records, tied for first place above the three other teams in the league.

After the season a three game playoff was held between the two clubs. Northville Record won the first and last games of that competition to cop the league title.

The women on the Northville Record team all said they had a great time playing in the league and wanted to thank the sponsors, the recreation department, and recreation department employee Ed Kritz for starting the women's slo-pitch league.

"For a lot of the women it was the first organized competitive sport they had participated in," Chris Modrack, one of the Northville Record players, said.

Modrack and teammate Joanne Colligan said that they hope the women's softball league is started again next year and will try to have it more organized because they will start earlier.

Gould Does It Again! Trims Record Fourth Time

Bob Gould, junior cross country runner at Northville, lowered the Northville school record at Cass Benton for the fourth week in a row and led the Mustang cross country team to two dual meet victories last week.

Gould ran a 16:04 time against Redford Union, October 7 at Cass Benton, trimming the previous record, which he set a week earlier, by two seconds.

Northville Cross Country Coach Ralph Redmond said that Gould has worked hard and added that he expects Gould to lower the mark even further.

Sophomores Don Wilber, Phil Reed, and John Coram finished fourth, fifth, and sixth respectively for the Mustangs.

"What was encouraging was that we ran the best pack race that we have run yet this season," Redmond said. "We're not satisfied, but we're starting to get down to a respectable time."

Redmond said that his goal is to get his top four or five runners in the 16 minute range. The Northville pack also showed some signs of consistency with another fine race last Thursday in a 20-41 dual meet victory at Waterford Mott.

Gould ran away from the rest of the field as he finished first with a time of 16:02. Wilber was third, followed by Reed and Coram in fourth and fifth places. Dave Behrens Taggart, and Dan Earehart filled the seventh through ninth positions.

Redmond said that Wilber has been ailing and should run faster times in the coming weeks. He also commented that John Coram seems to be coming out of an early season slump and improving his time every week.

Northville Colts Beat Westland

The Northville Colts football teams won three victories in competition, against the Westland Rockets last Saturday.

The Colt frosh won by a 24-6 score. Bart Leu scored on runs of 15 and 22 yards. Jim Phillips tallied from four yards out and Mike Biery raced 30 yards for another touchdown. The freshmen are now 2-4 on the season.

The Junior varsity scored in every quarter en route to a 38-7 win. John Pilch began the scoring surge with a one yard touchdown run. Brian Jordan scored on runs of six and 40 yards. Steve Denhaft ran three yards for another score. Bruce Centofanti raced 14 yards up the middle for a touchdown. Quarterback Tim McClorey passed 16 yards to Scott Kerry, who made a diving catch for the final Northville touchdown. The jayvees remain unbeaten after six games.

The varsity ran its season record to 6-0-1 with a 7-0 victory. Jim Zachar scored on a four yard run and Mark Holland connected on a pass to Brent Gross for the extra point.

Confusing Course

Slows Schoolcraft

The confusing University of Michigan, Dearborn cross country course could have been the deciding factor in the 32-34 loss to the harriers from Dearborn.

Schoolcraft's number two runner, Doug Schaffer lost his way, midway between the third and fourth miles of the course. Doug has been a strong runner this year and was in good position before he stopped.

Gary Leads took the individual honors for Schoolcraft as he crossed the finish line with a 27:21 time. Al Van Meter and Pat Opsommer finished fifth and sixth respectively for Schoolcraft.

Schoolcraft finished in third place with 80 points at Bay City, September 30, in a meet which included five other teams. They were Grand Rapids, Highland Park, Henry Ford, Saginaw Valley and Schoolcraft.

VanWagner Sets Kickoff Record

Michigan Tech crushed visiting Bemidji State, 55-8, Saturday, October 4, in a Northern Intercollegiate Conference football game in Houghton. The victory raised Michigan Tech's season record to 4-1 and their league mark to 2-1 while Bemidji dropped to 1-3 and 1-2 respectively.

Junior tailback Jim VanWagner, of Novi, scored four touchdowns while rushing for 137 yards in 24 carries. Included in his scoring was a 92-yard kickoff return to open the second half. It is the longest recorded kickoff return in the school's history.

VanWagner is ranked fifth nationally in NCAA Division

II with a 140.3 per game rushing average. VanWagner also caught two passes for 24 yards against Bemidji.

JV Gridders Win

Northville players scored two touchdowns in the first quarter of the game. Horwath caught an 11-yard pass from Doug Marzonie for one score and John Marzonie intercepted a pass and ran 15 yards for the other touchdown. Davis kicked the extra point after both scores.

John Horwath tackled a Farmington Harrison player at the one inch line to preserve a 27-20 Northville junior varsity football victory, last Thursday in Northville.

The Mustangs got their winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter when Tim Ellis scored on a one yard run. Matt Davis kicked the extra point.

Recreation Volleyball Planned

The Northville Parks and Recreation Department and the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor a women's volleyball league for those 18 years of age and older.

Games will be held Tuesday and Wednesday nights, 6-10 p.m. at the Winchester Elementary school, with competition beginning November 25. A $36 team fee is required and four non-residents of the Plymouth or Northville area are allowed on the team.

A league draw and clinic will be held 7:30 p.m. November 18 at the Winchester Elementary School.

Registration begins October

20 and runs through November 14 at the Northville Parks and Recreation Department. Individuals may register and be assigned to a team by the department.

Mustang Eighth Grade Wins

Northville's eighth grade football team ran its unbeaten streak to three games with a 34-0 victory over Milford Muir Wednesday at Milford.

Two of the Northville touchdowns came on passes from Bob Crisan to Todd Nadeau — one traveled 45 yards and the other was a 30 yard touchdown play. Joe Hamp scored the other three Northville touchdowns — one on a 60 yard pass, one on a running play, and the other by faking a punt and running for the score.

The eighth grade has now scored 110 points and allowed only six points this season.

Northville's seventh grade team suffered its first loss this season, after two previous wins, by losing to Milford Highland 22-6, on Wednesday.

The lone Northville score came on a 60 yard touchdown pass from Scott Santons to Scott Robbins.

and eighth respectively for Novi.

Novi has a 1-6 cross country record this season. Novi Cross Country Coach Norm Norgren said the record could just as easily have been 4-2. He blamed mental and physical errors for some of the close losses.

Novi Meeting On Bridge Today

The Michigan State Highway Department will be holding a public hearing tonight (Wednesday) on proposed changes to the I-96, Novi Road interchange at 8 p.m. in the Community Hall Building at Novi Elementary School.

Highway Department representatives will hear opinions from the public on five alternate plans for renovation of the interchange which range from a no change proposal to complete renovation at a cost of $9.4 million.

Residents were invited last Wednesday to a pre-public hearing session to state their views on the interchange. The session was sparsely attended, according to a highway department representative.

Renovation to the interchange is necessary because of the advent of the Twelve Oaks Mall Dayton-Hudson Shopping Center.

"None of the alternates now include necessity for purchasing any of the Novi Elementary School property after negotiations fell through between the highway department and the school district.

A public meeting was held several months ago to explain the various alternatives proposed at that time.

While there has been little public opposition to the renovation of the intersection, three gas stations that would have to be purchased by the highway department and removed during the renovation have sent a letter to the highway department asking that the highway department consider delaying the project. Those stations are Lucy's Sunoco, Sandy's Mobil Service and Novi and I-96 Shell Service.

The letter questions why the Novi Road interchange is suddenly at the top of the priority list when other nearby projects that have been in the works are not yet completed. The letter mentions specifically I-96, I-275, I-96, the Van Dyke Mound Road Freeway and the Northwestern extension.

"This whole project does not seem to make any real good sense at this time. We maintain that a financial study will disclose that a delay will save the taxpayer a lot of money, the shopping center will be built and can be adequately served by alternate two, that ramps can be widened and extended within existing rights of way and we feel this whole project has had inadequate study and is a result of the shopping center development whose site was moved from Farmington Township to Novi when zoning could not be secured for a previous location at a freeway interchange," concluded the letter.

Permit Related Uses of Child Center

Modify Alcoholic Treatment Proposal

Proposal to establish an alcoholic rehabilitation center in Northville Township is being modified to permit allied use of the Wayne County Child Development Center.

According to Father Vaughn Quinn, director of the Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center, his proposal to lease Child Development Center property currently is being revised to provide for use of some of the Sheldon Road facilities by Northville.

Continued use of one of the buildings as a township hall would "definitely be permitted," Father Quinn told this newspaper. What's more, utilization of some facilities by the Northville Recreation Department would be provided if Sacred Heart is granted a lease of the property by Wayne County, he said.

Presently, the public works committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is giving first consideration to a consortium proposal of Schoolcraft College-Wayne State University to turn the center into an educational campus.

Dissatisfied with the consortium's initial proposal, the committee gave the consortium 30 more days to reach a compromise lease agreement with the county. Should such a compromise agreement fail to materialize, county officials have indicated they will support the alcoholic rehabilitation proposal.

Although the consortium originally was supported by a blue ribbon committee that included former Supervisor Lawrence Wright, several township officials appear to now support the alcoholic center plan while Northville city councilmen continue to back the college plan.

The property is located in the township on both sides of Sheldon Road, north of Five Mile Road.

Schoolcraft College officials have expressed dismay and anger over the fact that the county agreed to consider the Sacred Heart proposal — a year after the county's own fixed deadline for acceptance of proposals.

Suspicious of county motives, college proponents pointed out it was the county commissioners who originally endorsed the consortium plan. Furthermore, they noted that the county, during discussions of a lease with the consortium, insisted that the consortium make provision for use of the property by other agencies as well as by the college. This having been done, however, the consortium was then told its proposal was unacceptable, that it (the county) wanted a single agency to take over maintenance of the entire facility, they argued. Meanwhile, the county accepted for consideration the Sacred Heart proposal that did not provide for allied use of the facility by other agencies.

Despite the absence of such provisions, however, Father Quinn emphasized last week that the proposal is not in its final stage. He said sections of it are being modified to accommodate as many other agency uses as possible — among them those dealing with Northville.

Father Quinn also insisted the Sacred Heart proposal does not suggest a dual role — that of treatment of alcoholism and of drug addiction. Alcoholic rehabilitation is the center's primary purpose for existence today and that will be its purpose with the expansion of Sacred Heart to Northville, he asserted.

The initial proposal, which the director said is now being modified, is a 96-page document that details purpose, scope and objectives of Sacred Heart. It also proposes gradual expansion of the program in Northville until all or nearly all of the existing buildings are occupied or used.

Sacred Heart would continue to operate its present facility in downtown Detroit, shifting major rehabilitation to the Northville facility and maintaining the Detroit facility primarily for intake and detoxification. The latter covers the critical first stages of withdrawal from alcoholism.

The proposal also calls for eventual establishment of a small detoxification center in Northville, but for use by Northville which, like other Michigan communities, must under a new law becoming effective in 1977, transport drunks to a detoxification center rather than jailing them.

"In addition to persons with a primary dependency on alcohol, persons with other substance abuse problems and with character disorders equally responsive to the basic form of therapy offered by this program will also be treated in the expanded program," the document states.

Unlike the present Sacred Heart operation, the expanded program here is to provide rehabilitation for female as well as male alcoholics. It also could include a coed program for young adults.

Patients would be housed in the existing cottages, with each cottage containing 24 patients, a house manager and a counselor.

Recreational facilities, vocational training, and arts and crafts activities are planned. Also sheltered boarding facilities for aftercare are suggested.

Buildings identified for use during the first year of operation, according to the proposal, are the school (auditorium and shops), administrative and medical buildings, firehouse, 11 cottages (eight of them for men, one for women, and two for sheltered boarding), kitchen-bakery-cafeteria building, women's industrial building, maintenance building, large garages, green house, large and small houses, comfort station, and scout house.

In that first year, "all other buildings (are) to be kept in repair and readied for later stages of program development."

According to Father Quinn, the Sacred Heart plan envisions some 300 alcoholic patients at the Northville center. Presently, Sacred Heart's Detroit facility includes 144 patients and 48 staffers.

Sacred Heart's treatment-rehabilitation is encompassed in an intensive 17-week program. Although patients are ostensibly free to leave the premises if they choose, Father Quinn and his staff operate a very strict, militaristic program that insists on total abstinence and total adherence to rules and regulations. And these rules mean no one leaves the premises unless he is given special permission by his peers.

The door to the Detroit facility, therefore, is unlocked from inside but locked from the outside. In that sense Sacred Heart is an "open" program.

Northville, Father Quinn emphasized, need have no fear that Sacred Heart patients would create a nuisance within the community. They will be in the center except in rare controlled situations.

The Sacred Heart proposal suggests a first year operational budget here of $1,227,786. However, this figure does not include costs for maintaining the Northville facility. The lease cost and-or maintenance expense have yet to be negotiated with the county.

Will Tour Center On October 23

Representatives of various organizations in Northville are being invited to tour the Sacred Heart Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center in Detroit on October 23.

The center has proposed leasing the Child Development Center in the township to accommodate expansion of the rehabilitation program.

Scheduled to tour the downtown Detroit facility on October 22 are Township Trustees John MacDonald, James Nowka, and Richard Mitchell.

Mrs. Sass, Supervisor Betty Lennox, County Commissioner Mary Dumas and State Senator Carl Pursell already have toured the facility.

Presently, the county board of commissioners is considering a consortium plan of Schoolcraft College and Wayne State University for use of the Child Development Center. Northville City Council minutes, September 15, 1975. Mayor Allen called the meeting to order at 8:05 p.m. ROLL CALL: Present: Allen, Blery, Folino, Nichols, Vernon. MINUTES OF PREVIOUS MEETING: Minutes of the September 8 meeting were reviewed. Minutes stand approved as corrected.

MINUTES OF BRDS. AND COMMISSIONS: Minutes of the Library Commission of September 4 were reviewed. Discussion followed on the progress of the Steering Committee in regard to plans for a new library. City Manager reported that four members belong to the School Board and Township Board (2 each) and they do not wish to make any definite plans until the millage and annexation elections are held. Councilman Vernon replied that many items can be worked on that these two elections will not affect, such as site location, and he hoped that two years from now Council will not wish they had started sooner.

Councilman Vernon requested, in behalf of the Chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals, that the City Attorney review all appeals in the future to avoid any more conflicts. Councilman Blery suggested a discussion between the City Manager, Attorney and the Board and a review of the Zoning Ordinance would be a better way of solving this.

Councilman Vernon recommended holding a joint meeting with the Zoning Board. A special meeting was set for October 13. The Public Improvement Fund and Parking Deck repairs will also be on the agenda.

Councilman Nichols told of a complaint he received of speeding on S. Rogers between Main and 7 Mile. City Attorney will pass this along to the Police Dept. COMMUNICATIONS: FROM CITIZENS: None. PUBLIC HEARING ON ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT: Mayor Allen opened the Public Hearing on the Zoning Ordinance Amendment. City Attorney read the summary of the amendment as published in the newspaper.

Councilman Folino questioned if rooms that could be used as bedrooms, such as a den, shouldn't be included under multiple and row-town houses and have the minimum square footage required for "additional bedrooms." City Manager pointed out that this is covered in the Ordinance, Article 3.01. There being no further comments, the public hearing was closed.

CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY. CORNER LOT SIGHT CLEARANCE PROBLEMS: Status report was reviewed listing those properties with sight clearance problems that have been corrected, partially corrected or not corrected. Discussion followed concerning those lots that are landscaped high or on a hill, where the removal or trimming of bushes would not improve visibility.

Councilman Vernon suggested an ordinance amendment to allow the City Manager to determine whether a safety hazard exists. Councilman Folino added that such an amendment should include a stipulation that no new landscaping shall be done resulting in a high elevation at corners.

City Manager and Attorney to work out an amendment with letters sent to those who have not yet taken corrective measures, informing them of the ordinance.

If all efforts by the Historic District Commission to preserve an historic structure fail, or if it is determined that public ownership is most suitable, the City Council, if deemed to be in the public interest, may acquire such property using public funds, gifts for historical purposes, grants from the state or federal governments for acquisition of historic properties, or proceeds from revenue bonds issued for historical preservation purposes. Such acquisitions shall be based on the recommendation of the historic district commission. The Historic District Commission has responsibility for the maintenance of publicly owned historic structures using its own funds, if not specifically earmarked for other purposes, or those public funds committed for this use by the City Council. Section 8.01. Certificate of Approval or Rejection of Plans, Filing for Review; Effect of the Rejection and of failure to act on Application. The Commission shall file with the Building Department its certificate of approval or rejection of plans submitted to it for review. No work shall begin until the certificate is filed, but in the case of rejection the certificate is binding on the Building Department, and no permit shall be issued in such case. The failure of the Commission to act within sixty (60) days after the date of application filed with it, unless an extension is agreed upon mutually by the applicant and the Commission, shall be deemed to constitute approval. Section 9.01. Landmark Preservation. The Historic District Commission shall from time to time advise the City Council as to its recommendations regarding Historic Landmarks. The City Council shall hold a public hearing on the proposal, as follows: (1) Notice of Hearing. Notice of the time, place and purpose of such hearing shall be given at least one publication in a newspaper of general circulation not less than twenty (20) days prior to the date of hearing. Notice shall also be mailed not less than ten (10) days prior to the date of hearing to the owners of all property included in the proposed designation, using for this purpose the names and addresses of the last known owners as shown on the records of the Assessor. Failure to send notice by mail to any such property owner where the address of such owner is not a matter of public record shall not invalidate any proceedings in connection with the proposed designation. (2) Designation. The City Council may by Ordinance designate an individual structure or other features or it may designate a group of structures and features on a single lot or site having a special character or special historical, architectural or aesthetic interest of value as a landmark, and shall designate a landmark site for each landmark. (3) Maintenance of Roster. The Historic District Commission shall maintain a roster of landmarks and historic sites, which shall include a description of the characteristics of the landmark or historic site which justifies its designation, and a description of the particular features that should be preserved, and shall include the location and boundaries of the landmark or historic site. Section 10.01. Advice and Guidance to Property Owners. The Historic District Commission, upon request of any property owner, shall render advice and guidance with respect to any proposed work on a designated landmark site or any designated Historic District. In rendering such advice and guidance, the Historic District Commission will be guided by the purposes and standards in this Ordinance. Section 11.01. Other Duties. The Historic District Commission may: (1) Carry out, assist and collaborate in studies and programs designed to identify and evaluate structures, sites and areas worthy of preservation. (2) Consult with and consider the ideas and recommendation of civic groups, public agencies, and citizens interested in historic preservation. (3) Inspect and investigate structures, sites and areas which it has reason to believe worthy of preservation. (4) Disseminate information to the public concerning those structures, sites and areas deemed worthy of preservation, and may encourage and advise property owners in the protection, enhancement, perpetuation and use of landmarks, historic sites, and other officially recognized property of historic interest. (5) Consider methods other than those provided for in this Ordinance for encouraging and achieving historic preservation, and make appropriate recommendations to the City Commission and other bodies and agencies, both public and private. (6) Establish such policies, rules and regulations as it deems necessary to administer its duties as herein provided. (7) Maintain and use its own funds to acquire property, or gifts for historic purposes, grants from State or Federal Governments, and to administer such resources in accordance with the purposes herein provided. Section 12.01. Ordinary Maintenance and Repair; Construct, Alteration Repair, Moving or Demolition under existing Permit. Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent ordinary maintenance or repair of any structure within the historic district; nor to prevent construction, alteration, repair, moving or demolition of any structure under a permit issued by the Building Department prior to the passage of this Ordinance. Section 31.01. Appeals. Any persons jointly or severally aggrieved by a decision of the Historic District Commission have the same rights of appeal concerning the decision as is granted to an applicant aggrieved by a decision of the Zoning Board of Review. Section 14.01. Effective date. This Ordinance shall become effective ten days after posting and publication thereof in full in the manner prescribed by the City Charter. Charge Man in Accident

In Salem

A 22-year-old Romulus man has been arraigned on charges of negligent homicide stemming from an accident in Salem Township last week Monday in which two men died.

Michael Francis Syputa was arrested and arraigned Thursday on charges of negligent homicide with a motor vehicle. He stood mute when arraigned before Judge Kenneth Bronson in 14th District Court in Ann Arbor. He is free on personal recognizance bond awaiting preliminary examination.

Syputa was the driver of a truck on southbound Napier which struck a car westbound on Six Mile. Killed in the crash were Morris Givens of 8112 Frederick in Salem and LeRoy Beard of Detroit. Givens' son, Raymond, driver of the car, was injured in the accident.

In Township

Two persons escaped injury when their car was struck in a hit and run accident Saturday, October 4, in which three parked cars and a fence at Kings Mill were also damaged.

The vehicle which fled the scene was later found to be stolen from Detroit. It was recovered on Sunday by Southgate Police Department and had sustained extensive front end damage.

According to police, a car driven by Cheryl L. Morris of Plymouth was northbound on Hines Drive north of Cass Benton Drive about 10 a.m. when the stolen vehicle came from behind at a high rate of speed.

Mrs. Morris said the other vehicle was unable to pass because of oncoming traffic. While attempting to swerve around her on the shoulder, he car clipped the right rear, spinning her car around. The striking vehicle went eastbound through a cyclone fence, hitting a parked car and pushing it into two other cars.

The vehicle then fled the area, leaving behind a license plate through which township police established the car was stolen. Neither Mrs. Morris nor her passenger were hurt.

A car stolen from Northville Forest Apartments on Five Mile Road was stripped and later recovered by police before the owners even knew the car was missing.

The 1968 Ford was found near Plymouth Road and Levan by Livonia Police about 4:30 a.m. last week Monday.

A white Winnebago campertop, valued at $250, was stolen from Seven Mile Road just east of Northville Road between October 4 and 5. Reported missing Thursday, the top had been taken off the truck by the owner.

According to township police, the rear sliding door of the residence was forced open last week Tuesday. Mud tracks were left in the residence but nothing was found missing.

In Novi

One man was stabbed in the back and another man crushed between a car and a garage during a party Saturday night at 41200 12 Mile Road in Novi.

According to Detective John Johnson a fight began between two groups of three people. Dennis Baker, 29, of Novi was stabbed in the back. As Baker was attempting to drive from the scene, his vehicle struck three times a car in front of his, smashing it into the garage door and crushing Gary Barr, 16, of that address.

Baker left and went to Botsford while Barr was also taken to Botsford. Baker was treated and released while Barr was admitted for treatment of a broken right leg and injuries to his pelvic area. The case is still under investigation.

Novi Hardware, 41695 Grand River was broken into October 10 and 14 pocket knives valued at $98 plus $190 in cash were taken, as well as a pellet pistol.

A plate glass window was broken out to gain entry. American Enclosures, 40200 Grand River, was burglarized October 11 and $1,140 worth of merchandise taken. Five calculators and a Sony tape recorder were reported missing, as well as a tool box and tools.

A wall being worked on was used to gain entry.

A home in the 24000 area of Chippunk Trail reported that October 6 approximately $200 worth of women's clothing was removed. An investigation by officers Robert Rasmussen and Dennis Jelley produced three witnesses.

Arrested as a result of the investigation were Torie Torgersen, 17, of Novi and Deborah Smith, 18, of Ferndale. They were charged with breaking and entering, arraigned before 52nd District Court Judge Gene Schnelz and released on $3,000 personal bond each.

The clothing was recovered.

In Wixom

John Yalonen, 23, of 30917 Tamrack in Wixom was struck and injured as he walked October 6 on South Wixom Road just south of Pontiac Trail. The accident occurred at 6:25 a.m. and a Milford man was driving the car that struck Yalonen.

Yalonen was taken to Botsford Hospital with a non-incapacitating injury. No enforcement action was taken as the driver said the sun was in his eyes.

A leather dress valued at $70 and $57 in cash from a purse was taken October 7 from a home in Maple North.

In Northville

The boiler room at Freydl Cleaners and Men's Wear was damaged Monday afternoon after a truck rolled into the back portion of the building.

Truck driver for Way Baking Company said he parked the truck on Mary Alexander Court but did not set the brake. The accident occurred shortly before 2 p.m.

More than $200 damage was done to a pickup truck parked at the garage area of Northville High School sometime last week Tuesday or Wednesday.

According to reports, two rear tires on the vehicle were slashed and gravel was put in the gas tank.

The office of Northville High School's cafeteria was broken into sometime early last week Monday morning. A desk and locker were rummaged through and a small amount of cash along with keys were taken.

A green five-speed boy's Sears bicycle, valued at $100, was stolen from East Cady Street near Center Street Monday. The 26-inch bicycle has a black and white seat.

Board Won't Pay More Legal Fees

No more money is to be paid by Northville Township to finance legal action to prevent the county from cutting off the sheriff's road patrol service.

Northville had joined with other Wayne County townships to battle the county when commissioners threatened to end the road patrol service unless the townships paid extra for it. The township board voted unanimously last week not to participate financially any longer. Earlier the board had agreed to spend up to $1,000 as its share of the cost.

Latest billing showed that the township's share had reached $1,117.13 with indications it could go substantially higher.

"To pay any more," reasoned Township Treasurer Charles Rosenberg, "would be throwing good money after bad."

The townships had argued that they are entitled to the service under the law. Some commissioners, on the other hand, point out that cities pay the same taxes as do townships and yet they are not receiving road patrol service.

College Night's October 23

Novi High School and Northville High School will be acting as co-hosts for the third annual College Night to be held at Plymouth High School October 23 at 7:30 p.m.

All junior and senior students and their parents are invited to attend from both Novi and Northville schools. There will be representatives present from approximately 50 colleges and the armed forces' academies. A representative from the Financial Aids Department of the State of Michigan will also be in attendance.

At College Night, each school will give a brief informative session where most questions can be answered. The representatives will be discussing entrance requirements, curriculums offered, financial aids, campus life and other general questions. All representatives will be in different rooms and will be available for three or more presentations.

Colonel Halverson also announced that Specialist Robert G. Jenkins of the Plymouth lab has been assigned with a sergeant 10 rank to the Ionia post.

Webelos Become Boy Scouts

By NANCY DINGELDEY

What's new in our town this week... truthfully, not much. We must have done all our socializing last month. Maybe people are getting their home chores done before the first chill winds of winter.

But haven't the days of late been absolutely gorgeous... and the scenery around us has taken on some beautiful hues of Autumn. Guess you really can't blame anyone for staying close to home.

The Webelos of Troop 102 of Loon Lake School had a ceremony on Sunday for the boys who "moved up" to Boy Scouts. It was quite a shindig too. Held late in the afternoon in the park area of Highgate on the Lake, two large bonfires lit the occasion. Sponsors of the Troop, the Lawrence A. Sims Post of the V.F.W. presented the troop with the white flag emblazoned with the bicentennial logo. Dick Schaffer of the Post made the presentation. The Wixom Police Department is a co-sponsor of the troop and Patrolman Al Blashfield was the representative.

If you are looking for something a little different to do and find Sunday evenings free, you might like to try square dancing. Lessons are held each Sunday from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the V.F.W. in conjunction with the Aces and Eights Square Dance Club. You don't need to know a thing... these capable people will patiently take you through the steps. Cost for the evening is $2.50 a couple and a fun time is guaranteed.

One thing coming up is an event you really won't want to miss. It's a day planned for all Wixom families and one that we can be proud of... the open house, the very first we might add, of the Wixom Fire Department.

Station No. 2 on Pontiac Trail has been chosen for the occasion and will mark the first public showings of the new stations just being completed.

The Fire Department, and justifiably so, is pretty proud of their new quarters and the people of the city should feel a sort of pride in the accomplishment also. With the addition of the new stations the city's fire protection has increased and now we have the opportunity to see just what makes it tick.

The Open House will be held Sunday, October 19 between the hours of 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. A black and white portable T.V. set, a panasonic AM-FM radio and five battery operated radios will be given away at 5 p.m. to a Wixom resident. In order to win you must be there when they call your name.

Wixom Purchases Tiffin Home

"None of us have plans of having the house completed in a year," added Mrs. Ladd. "It will take a couple years. It will not be brought up to modern day code. The idea is to take the house back to its original state, like it was when it was built. It was like a poor man's house of the early 1900's."

Mrs. Ladd noted that volunteer help will be needed though she added that the group is seeking bicentennial monies available through the state. The group also will contact local businesses for donations, she said.

Mayor Vangieson commented that, "I'd say it's a community project with city participation" and that if the historical society asks, the city would be "happy" to give some help through the DPW or with CETA employees.

According to Mrs. Ladd, by July 4, the historical society hopes to have the building completed enough so it could be opened to the public. It would then be open to the public on weekends, holidays and special occasions, she said. The Historical Society will bear the cost of maintenance and upkeep, she added.

The city's attempt to purchase the home was interrupted from time to time by residents who appeared at council meetings who appealed to the city not to purchase the house, calling it an eyesore.

A parsonage to the original Baptist Church, the frame home was built more than 115 years ago on the southwest corner of Wixom and Maple roads.

Novi OKs Historic Commission

Establishment of a historical district is the main feature of an ordinance passed last week by Novi Council which creates a historic commission and a historic district study committee.

The city is currently seeking persons to serve on the committee and interested persons should submit a resume to the city clerk's office.

In the works for several months, the avowed purposes of the ordinance are to:

- Safeguard the heritage of the city by preserving districts which reflect elements of its cultural, social, economic, political or architectural history, and to preserve historic landmarks;
- Stabilize and improve property values in such districts;
- Foster civic beauty;
- Strengthen the local economy;

Advisory Group

Sets Meeting

The Novi Middle School Parent advisory council will meet October 20 from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the faculty lounge of the school.

This is a regularly scheduled meeting during which time parents and school administration have an opportunity to discuss programs and policies in operation at the Middle School, according to Dr. Robert Youngberg, Principal of the Middle School.

It is also a time when future suggested programs may be presented and discussed to determine feasibility for implementation. From time to time problems may be discussed that are of special concern on the part of either parents or administration to try to arrive at some resolution.

• Promote the use of historic landmarks and historic districts for the education, pleasure and welfare of residents in the city and state.

The Historic Study Commission, which may be composed of nine members, will conduct studies and research and make a report on the historical significance of the buildings, structures, features, sites, objects and surroundings in the city.

The committee will also recommend areas to be included in the historical district and will hold a public hearing afterward and continue on the process to create the district.

The ordinance states that prior to "making any construction, alteration, repair, moving or demolition affecting the exterior appearance of a structure" within the historic district or any designated historic landmark, the owner must apply for review and authorization by the committee to do the work.

Permission for repair of a historic building will be given if in the opinion of the commission the proposed changes will materially improve or correct the following conditions:

The structure constitutes a hazard to the safety of the public or the occupants;

The structure is a deterrent to a major improvement program which will be of substantial benefit to the community;

Retention of the structure would cause undue financial hardship to the owner;

Retention of the structure would not be in the interest of the majority of the community.

Appeals of decisions by the Historic District Commission can be made to the Zoning Board of Review.

PSAT Test's October 21
For Novi High Juniors

Novi High School juniors will be joining more than one million students across the country who will be taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMQT) October 21, according to Richard Elie, testing coordinator for Novi High School.

The test measures verbal and mathematical aptitude — two abilities important in doing college work. The test also is preliminary to students later taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and students competing for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

By using the 1975 edition of the College One Board's "College Handbook," students can also compare themselves with enrolled students at the 2,863 colleges and universities listed.
