

Big Water Rate Hike Proposed, But Seniors Spared

An average water and sewer rate increase of 34 percent is being proposed in a new schedule that goes to a public hearing before the Northville City Council on November 24.

The proposed increase in local customer's quarterly bills reflects cost increases of some $66,000 over the current outlay.

The rate increases, according to City Manager Steven Walters, mean that present revenues fall 17 percent short in meeting basic daily operating expenses of the system and, in addition, do not provide funds for the county sewage disposal rate increase (increased 50 percent on September 1 of this year by the Rouge Valley Sewage Disposal System) nor do they provide repair reserves.

The current outlay is $192,000 annually, and the new anticipated outlay is put at $258,000.

The present rate structure, Walters stated, "was based on the mixture of costs which existed at the time the rates were set in 1971."

If approved, the new rate schedule will provide an annual maintenance reserve of $19,000 that is not now provided.

Broken down, the 34 percent proposed increase, involves a 17.2 percent increase in basic water and sewer operations, a 7.8 percent increase in the county sewage disposal increase, a 9.9 percent increase for maintenance reserve.

Not included in these figures are monies for a possible increase in charges to Northville by Detroit. And, noted the manager, "the City of Detroit continues to press for major increases in the water rates to suburban customers."

Concerning the city's minimum bill policy, the manager noted that the water rate ordinance provides for a minimum bill of $5.50 and a minimum sewer bill of $2.80, resulting in a minimum quarterly bill of $8.30 for usage of 7,000 gallons or less by a residential customer.

Although it is not specified in the rate ordinance, it has been the city's practice for many years, said Walters, to bill a customer only $3 for any quarter on which he is out of town.

"In addition to the out-of-town situation, there are approximately 250 customers, mostly elderly people, who use less than 7,000 gallons per quarter, but who are billed the $8.30 minimum. A different rate structure could give these customers a substantial reduction while increasing other customers' bills only a small amount," he said.

The advantages of this rate approach, he explained, would include the following:

1. Approximately 250 customers, mostly elderly, who use less than 7,000 gallons per quarter would experience an actual rate reduction, or at least a smaller increase, in spite of the 34-percent general rate increase.
2. Customers who are out-of-town for a quarter would be

HIGH WINDS and downed power lines forced the closing of Northville High, Amerman and Moraine elementary schools Monday. Heat, lights and power were knocked out in all three school buildings on Eight Mile Road. High school classes were dismissed at 11:15 a.m. and the elementary schools closed at noon. The three and one-half hour power failure in the northern section of the city was the second that day. Before 6 a.m., a 20 minute blackout knocked out the pump system at the high school pool.

There's not much available for girls in these sizes either, she adds. Anyone with clothing to donate or who needs clothing may call the FISH-for-the-day number, 349-4350.

A MEETING of the intercounty drain board to discuss matters relative to the Randolph Drain improvement is scheduled at the Northville city hall on Wednesday, November 19 at 10:30 a.m. Among those items to be discussed will be the status of easement acquisitions.

Citizens, Board Analyze Defeat

Millage Fails But It's Closer

Northville school officials expounded for 80 days, after the August 18 millage defeat, about the need for more money in the school district but last Thursday voters again rejected the 2.6 mill increase for operational funds.

However, the margin of defeat was much slimmer this second time around. There were 1978 no votes cast last Thursday as opposed to 1867 yes votes, a 111 margin of defeat. Last August the 2.6 millage proposal fell by a margin of 462 when 1765 no votes were cast against 1303 on the yes side.

There were 825 more votes cast in the second election, which was held on a warm day when temperatures climbed into the 70's. Of the 9875 registered voters, 3893 cast ballots, a 39.4 percent turnout.

Voter sentiment changed in the second election, but not enough to sway the results to the yes side. The yes votes increased by 564 in the Thursday election and the no

Old Buildings in Jeopardy

City May Fight New Law

Having found sections of the state's new "barrier free" law "ridiculously restrictive and economically devastating," the Northville City Council is considering a court challenge.

"If it's a bad law, then maybe we should do something to try to get it changed rather than accept it without a fight or trying to dodge its requirements," officials contend.

At issue is the barrier free statute, Public Act 190, that was signed into law in July of 1974 to ensure that handicapped people have ready access to any public or commercial establishment.

The law went into effect last November;

it affects any facility constructed or altered since that date as well as any facility existing prior to that date but for which major alterations or a use change have been made.

Although officials here and elsewhere generally agree the law was well intentioned, they insist it "goes too far and does more harm than good."

Locally, the issue is coming to a head because of what a business establishment, The Bedspread Place, is required by state law to do to its newly remodeled building.

Among other things, the law insists that The Bedspread Place provide a five-foot wide entrance ramp, together with handrails, to the doorway. The ramp must be built at a specified slope so that persons in wheelchairs may enter the building unassisted.

Located at 341 East Main Street, the interior and exterior of the old house have been completely refurbished. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Wilseck, will reluctantly abide by the law "if we must" but they insist the installation of the ramp "will destroy the appearance of the building."

The house many years ago served as a boarding house for relatives of patients in the Gold Cure hospital (for alcoholics and drug addicts) across the street. It also in years past served as the American Legion post and as the Red Cross headquarters. In recent years it has been deteriorating.

The Northville Historical District Commission, which turned over the problem to the city council, agrees with the Wilsecks' position.

At its September 23 meeting the commission declined to accept or reject plans for the ramp and instead sent formal notification to the city council that it believes the ramp "would adversely affect the historical and architectural appearance of the building and therefore adversely affect the Northville Historic District" in which the building is located.

Furthermore, the commission recommended that the city attorney be asked to look into the matter and render an opinion. Meanwhile, it suggested the temporary occupancy permit now held by the Bedspread Place be extended.

The state law places the commission in the position of approving something the commission was created to guard against — namely aesthetic erosion of historically or architecturally important buildings, members contended. Thus, the historic district ordinance, itself expressly provided for in state law, and the barrier free statute appear to be in conflict.

Complicating the situation is that the city's enforcing officers, the city manager and the building inspector, are required by law to enforce state statutes over local statutes. They cannot therefore skip enforcement. Furthermore, City Manager Steven Walters has cautioned council that temporary permits cannot legally go on forever.

Council concurs that procrastination is not the answer; but it also knows that if it ends the temporary permit and forces

Crowding Stays Until January

There were as many reasons given for Thursday's school district millage defeat as there were citizens speaking at Monday night's Northville School Board meeting.

Although the only mention on the agenda of the millage election was a report of the 1978-1987 margin of defeat, board members and citizens alike offered their opinions on "why" and expressed concern over what will happen now.

Administrators emphasized that there are no plans to open Cooke Middle School to relieve overcrowding at Meads Mill and that any methods of relief would come at second semester.

Citizens suggested the board study such things as split sessions, moving some sixth graders back into elementary schools and mandatory year-round school. Administrators agreed the principals are eyeing those ideas along with others.

Blame for the millage failure was placed on the board's inaction in supporting the millage campaign through advertisements, disenchantment with teachers and administrators and citizen collection campaigns for extra-curricular activities.

Mrs. Naomi Poe, president of the Northville Education Association, read a letter to the board she sent to teachers this week. In it, she placed the blame for defeat on the board's inaction in campaigning for the millage and on many residents' dislike of the administration and Superintendent Raymond Spear.

One parent bristled that she was opposed to the high salaries of the teachers and she criticized the teachers for not joining in attempts by the board to cut high costs of utilities in the areas of telephone calls and electricity.

Board Vice-President Sylvia Gucken commented that the board had worked hard for passage of the millage in August "and spent many nights out in the community. Our board work suffered for it."

Trustee Martin Rinehart added that active board support of the August millage seemed more to hurt than help passage.

Hugh Lockhart, chairman of the former citizens task force, pointed out to the audience that "70 people or less turned out at the public forum we sponsored in September but 700 turned out at board meetings."

He commented that the community seemed more interested in regular board meetings than special meetings called to answer questions on the millage election.

He added that voters he talked with in Precinct One (central area of Northville) were disenchanted with the "board, administration and teachers they've lived with for 10 to 12 years."

Lockhart supported a survey questionnaire of voters on their reasons for failure and their priorities but "exactly how this is constructed is very important."

Mrs. John Hinman of Novi Street reminded the board and a like-minded residents of the school district that "accepting the donation for extra-curricular activities also defeated the millage. People found out it was much easier to hand over $20 for football than it was to vote 'yes' on the millage."

"We told you that all those people would vote against the millage along with those people who did not feel it was right to accept the money for a few special activities," she concluded.

In a related matter, Spear also told the board that attempts are being made to ease overcrowding at Winchester Elementary.

He said that previously, children from Winchester and Silver Springs (both being housed at Winchester) had been assigned to separate classrooms but that "if enrollment continues to grow as it is, we may assign students from one subdivision area to classrooms containing children from another area."

At Surprise Shower

Fete Carol Van Soest

A surprise baby shower for Mrs. Carol Van Soest was given by her morning kindergarten children, and their mothers at Winchester Elementary School on Friday, November 7.

Mrs. Van Soest who has taught in Northville for nine years is taking a maternity leave starting this week. She and her husband have adopted a four month old baby boy named Marc.

While the children were at gym, the mothers prepared the room for the surprise.

Upon her return with the class, Mrs. Van Soest found a cake, punch and presents on a table formerly occupied by the children's word books.

The cake was baked by Mrs. Karen Frisbie, one of the mothers, and was decorated in blue and white with blue booties and the words "Welcome Marc." The presents which were from the whole class included diaper pins, plastic pants, a terry stretch sleeper, an outfit and a sweater. Mrs. Van Soest also received a fuzzy baby ball and a stuffed kitten.

The children who gave the shower are Kelly Bahl, John Bennett, Leanne Cote, Jeff Cross, Nancy Dutkiewicz, Jennifer Flint, David Frayne, John Frisbie, Steven Guldberg, Harley Hammond, Michael Haral, Daniel Henningson, Mindi Huber, Lisa Irwin, and Kristi Kolar.

Others in the class are Krista Kuczkowski, Dante La Manna, Laura Lutz, Vicky McComb, Robin McDuffie, Stacey Murdock, Tracey Nawrot, Jenny Popham, Bradley Porter, Kathy Skilton, John Stewart, Maureen Williams, Carson Wu and Todd Yackie.

Travelers Meet At Metro Airport

By JEAN DAY

METROPOLITAN airport has been the taking-off spot for many Northville residents on fall vacations. For the Bruce Turnbolls it turned out to be the location for a quick reunion with their son Michael.

Bound for Southern Spain and Africa, the Turnbolls saw their son for 30 minutes between planes as he returned from a year of traveling extensively throughout Europe.

Michael, who had taken a year's leave of teaching, was joined last June on travels that included Greece, Belgium, Holland, Britain and Israel by his brother Robert. The latter had just completed a stint as assistant professor of library science at the University of Guam.

Bob now is visiting in Israel and working on an avocado and pecan farm, his mother reports, while traveling in the area.

Since returning from their October trip the family has been hosting visitors from Israel. Yotom is their son Michael's houseguest this week. Born in Austria, he now lives in Israel. A young nurse whose family lives in Sao Paulo, Brazil, was an earlier guest. After a visit with her parents she planned to return to Israel.

purse snatching in front of the Hong Kong Hilton.

The elderly woman victim and her husband were celebrating their 50th anniversary with the trip, a gift from their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Sait Ermete, who were with them and had lived in Northville while he worked at Northville State Hospital. They now are Dearborn residents. Justice is swift in the Orient, Mrs. Lenheiser adds, with the thief convicted and in jail by the next day.

ON THE SAME TRIP with the Lenheisers were Mrs. Arthur Forth and Mrs. D. S. Owen, both of Connemara subdivision. At the airport they discovered Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire and daughter Karen who were enroute to visit their son Tom and his family. He is a teacher at the University of Kowloon.

The Lenheisers' son Scott is in law school at Ohio Northern University while son Reese, a senior at the University of Virginia, has just taken his law boards and plans to enter a law school this fall.

LAS VEGAS WAS the spot chosen by the William Kellys and Boyd Armstrongs of Northville last weekend for a get-together with former area residents; the Stanley Stongs, who now live in Tokyo where he is on assignment with Ford Motor Company.

The sixsome spent four days in Nevada with the Stongs going on to Caracas and then Puerto Rico where they are to visit other former Northville residents, the Edwin Wards, who retired to Puerto Rico.

DUTCH AMBASSADOR Age R. Tannenoms Bakker was in Michigan this week from Washington, D.C., and, because of his visit, the Donald Ridderings of Six Mile Road were invited to attend the Economic Club of Detroit luncheon and reception Monday.

Last Friday Don and Ali Riddering were in Grand Rapids to help celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Dutch Immigrant Society in the United States.

Ali Riddering, who designed a Bicentennial tile, "The First Salute," depicting the first salute to the United States made by Dutch Fort Oranje, says the Delft tile has "opened many doors." The ambassador had been sent a tile earlier, but this was the Ridderings' first opportunity to meet him personally.

He had been a member of the permanent NATO delegation and had previously served in Mongolia, Turkey and the Soviet Union and is considered an expert on his topic Monday, "Political Perspective on Present Economic Problems."

Ali Riddering's blue tiles with red-touched flag flying on the brig Andrea Doria and marked with the years 1776-1976 are selling well, she reports, in the shop in her home.

'Facial Tucks' Give Mental Lift, Too

By JEAN DAY

"I'd been thinking of having it done for a long time, but it wasn't until we were going to have our big class reunion at Detroit Central High that I did," recalls Anne Lang as she talks about "facial tucks" she had taken.

Mrs. Lang, who has been very open with her friends about the facial surgery she had done in 1971, agreed to talk about it publicly last week in advance of the Northville Town Hall program November 13 featuring Dr. Richard E. Straith.

Dr. Straith is medical director of Straith Memorial Hospital in Southfield and has followed in his father's field, continuing to pioneer in plastic and aesthetic surgery.

Mrs. Lang is a past chairman of Northville Town Hall, now in its 15th season.

Although Mrs. Lang knows the Straith family, she had her surgery done by a former Detroit Central classmate.

Dr. Frederick Weissman removed fat tissue from around Mrs. Lang's eyes in an operation at Sinai Hospital.

"We were going down the lists of 1941 graduates," Mrs. Lang remembers, "and I asked what happened to Fred—he had been class vice president."

Upon learning that he was an MD specializing in plastic surgery, Mrs. Lang made an appointment and had the surgery before the reunion.

Her operation was basically eye surgery, both above and below the eye. The upper incision was a slit along the fold of the eyelid to remove a pocket of excess fat that often arrives with the forties. Another incision removed the "bags" below the eyes, with tucks also taken at the corners.

"He did a neat job—he'd had his own done and was all for it," Mrs. Lang relates enthusiastically, adding that "it wasn't painful at all."

Mrs. Lang concedes, however, that she has a low threshold of pain and didn't even have black eyes after the operation.

"I was bandaged completely over the face and all around the head just like a character in a World War II movie," Mrs. Lang says with humor as she looks back on the experience.

She admits she was somewhat worried that the surgery would be painful and had wondered what it would be like to have it done under a "local" type anesthesia.

"There was absolutely no pain with what was used," she remembers with relief as she tells of knowing they were cutting along the lid crease and then cutting the eye corners and pulling up the skin.

She was in the hospital only two nights. A friend took her there and brought her home.

"I came home wearing dark glasses and some of my friends were not even aware I'd had surgery," Anne Lang declares, mentioning that she had started wearing glasses which, she says, she really didn't need, to cover the heavy eyelids before the operation.

"You really do see better after this surgery," Mrs. Lang adds, but for her that was a side benefit.

"What it does for you is give you a different feeling about yourself," explains outgoing Anne Lang. Until recently Mrs. Lang was a saleswoman at Northville Realty. She plans to "help out" on a part-time basis when an employee who is expecting has her baby.

She is the widow of Robert Lang, who died earlier this year.

"There was no hassle with my family at all," she remembers; "Bob didn't mind at all—I think 'amused' is the word for the way he felt."

Having the operation with the four lids "done" cost about $571 in 1971, a charge Mrs. Lang feels was well worth it.

"It's good for about five years and I plan to do it again," states Mrs. Lang, whose eyes really didn't look as though they needed it yet to an observer.

This time, she explains, she also is going to look into having tucks taken along the hairline to raise the jawline, although, again, this operation didn't look needed for the fiftyish Northville resident.

"In talking about my operation," she notes, "I've had a number of women come to me expressing an interest in having similar surgery, or cosmetic surgery to raise the jaw line or shorten the nose."

Her physician, like other plastic surgeons, Mrs. Lang notes, also had done cosmetic surgery on the body. "They call it a body lift," she says, "as they tighten hips and thighs and reduce protruding abdomens or oversized breasts."

"There's no stigma to having it done any more," Anne Lang stresses, mentioning that the willingness of such well known women as Rose Kennedy and Phyllis Diller to talk about their face lifts has contributed to a general acceptance.

Mrs. Lang adds she also was inspired by an 85-year-old aunt in Florida who had a "lift."

In summing up her experience, Mrs. Lang cites the mental "lift" as well as the physical one when she talks about the benefits:

"You look in a mirror and see a little different you."

And what woman wouldn't like a little different, younger image?

Approximately 600 attended the dance which climaxed the first Eastern Michigan Regional Conference of Parents Without Partners hosted by the Northville-November 2 at the new Plymouth Hilton Inn.

The event also was the first conference held at the new inn on Northville Road.

Saturday afternoon workshops and the dinner program were attended by about 240, Mrs. Connie Mallett, chapter president reports, adding that the chapter is pleased with the success of the conference, which exceeded attendance expectations.

Smoking Topic

Patricia Arens, a representative of the American Lung Association, will speak to the Northwest Wayne County Chapter of the National Organization for Women at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile Road. She is to present two films as she discusses the health effects of smoking on smokers and non-smokers.

An informal report will be given at the chapter meeting at 8 p.m. this Friday at the American Legion. Final financial report will be given later, Mrs. Mallett states, but notes that the event was a financial success also for the chapter.

Local meetings, Mrs. Mallett explains, begin with a coffee session, with a business meeting following at 8:30 p.m. and a program at 9 p.m. An afterglow ends the evening. Stan Osolinski, a professional photographer, will present an audio-visual travel program Friday, complete with music, entitled "Challenge of the Rockies." It is billed as a "geographic sampler stretching from Colorado to Alaska."

The speaker has photographed many geographic regions of the United States and is known for his commentaries.

Guests are welcome. The Northville-November chapter is considered small and relatively young as it won't be two years old until January, Mrs. Mallett points out, adding that hosting the successful conference gave it good recognition.

Workshop topics on such subjects as legal aspects of single family life, leadership training and family activities, she states, are similar to programs at local chapter meetings. This Friday's is a lighter one because it follows the conference.

The bride's son and daughter, Mrs. Robert (Glenna) Scott, attended the couple.

The bride and Mrs. Scott carried basket floral arrangements while both mothers who attended from out of town had corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott hosted a reception following the ceremony. Out of town guests attended from Ohio.

After a wedding trip to the South, the couple will live in Westland.

Novi Council Ratifies Two Police Union Contracts

Contracts with both the Novi Police Officers Association (NPOA) and the Novi Dispatcher and Clerks Association (NDCA) were ratified by the new Novi Council Monday.

According to City Manager Ed Kriewall, provisions of the new contract with the NPOA include a five percent general improvement amount average with senior employees receiving a higher percentage and newer employees receiving less.

The contract also allows cost of living allowance with a $60 per quarter cap. A new dental plan was also approved.

According to Kriewall, negotiations began in April and the contract had been endorsed by the preceding council. The contract was retroactive to the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1.

The new contract ratified with the NDCA calls for a flat five percent improvement for all employees as well as the same cost of living allowance as the NPOA was given. Dental plan was also added.

Both contracts were ratified unanimously by the council. Asked by Councilman James Shaw if the city could afford the contract provisions, Kriewall replied that "We can afford these two contracts so far."

He explained that the big "if" will be the Teamsters contract. "When we get to that point, I may not be able to stand up here and say we can afford it," said Kriewall. Other factors, added the city manager, include continuation of the traffic grant, which brings in $18,000 a year and CETA monies used to pay employees.

"We are depending largely on federal funds which can be withdrawn at any time," said Kriewall. "We could see an end of CETA funding in June, 1976."

Another factor is permit activity which generates funds from the building department.

"With the Dayton-Hudson project on schedule and starting commitments within two months, we should be able to meet the needs for this fiscal year," said Kriewall. He noted that failure to replace many employees has also helped.

The contracts approved are two year contracts.

In a related matter, council approved a resolution urging that the federal revenue sharing be continued beyond the stated cutoff date of December 31, 1976.

"If that revenue is cut out, we're again in deep trouble," added the city manager.

Council member Romaine Roethel pointed out that the city is receiving $235,000 in federal revenue sharing and "that amounts to about two mills in our city." She urged that residents should also write their congressmen and senators in an effort to keep federal revenue sharing monies flowing.

Eight names have been placed in consideration to fill the vacancy on the Novi School Board created when Gilbert Henderson was elected mayor of Novi last week.

In Henderson's final meeting as board president, the following names were placed in consideration by board members to replace him: Russell Fertitta, Virginia Gillick, Nancy Heinonen, Terrance Jolly, Lawrence McFarland, Audrey Murphy, Lawrence Smith, and Melvin Stephens.

Elected by board members to replace Henderson as president of the board was Ray Warren, who had been vice-president and has served in the past as president. Named vice-president to replace Warren was Sharon Pelchat.

Henderson recommended in his letter of resignation that Warren be named president for the remainder of the year. Interviews are to be given this week to all persons whose names are in consideration for the board vacancy.

The final meeting for Henderson, who was elected 1,577 to 1,226 over Louie Campbell, was one of mini-sermons, speeches of thanks, and best wishes to Henderson.

Henderson told the board, "I'm grateful to you for helping Gil Henderson grow up faster than he would have sitting home two years watching TV."

Because of Henderson's work over the years in helping push the construction of new schools in the district, Warren presented him with a construction hat which Henderson found was slightly too small.

"It's adjustable I'm sure — the head and the hat," quipped board attorney Robert Knauer.

A resolution was passed unanimously by the board thanking Henderson for his work over the years and wishing him well in his new position. Henderson's resignation from the school board became effective at the end of last Thursday's meeting.

Hoyer Is Mayor Pro-tem

New Novi Mayor Gilbert Henderson has named last week's top council vote getter, Martha Hoyer, to be mayor pro tem.

In naming Mrs. Hoyer as the new mayor pro tem, replacing Romaine Roethel, Henderson stated, "I'm going to ask the lady who polled the most votes...to accept my appointment as mayor pro tem."

Mrs. Hoyer accepted the nomination.

The final half hour meeting for the old council, which approved minutes, passed out plaques and gave tribute to various people was, as Mayor Robert Daley pointed out, an "end to the era of the founding fathers."

"With Edwin Presnell and Denis Berry leaving, an end of an era is taking place," said Daley.

"The next two years present the biggest challenge Novi will ever see," said City Manager Ed Kriewall before introducing the new council members and mayor. "Many of the key decisions that will affect the destiny of Novi will be made by this council."

'Lake Unit

Receives Funds

Daley, in his final meeting, voiced thanks individually to each person and group around the community and involved in city government who had helped further the city. Speaking of the city boards and commissions on which the members serve free, Daley said, "I hope, Mayor Henderson, you'll be a little more successful than we were and come up with enough money for an appreciation dinner for these people."

The honeymoon meeting for the new council, which was moved to the high school commons from the administration building because of the large audience, was very definitely just that — a honeymoon meeting.

Of nine resolutions put before the council for approval, all nine were passed unanimously.

Novi Council Monday night approved expenditure of $100 to provide the Walled Lake Improvement Committee with money for stationery and stamps.

The expenditure was made to match a similar amount which the City of Walled Lake had approved.

The committee, which is made up of six members with three from each city, was created about three months ago with the intent to help maintain and improve the character of Walled Lake.

Council unanimously approved the expenditure although Councilman James Shaw noted that the amount is a "token fee" and he expressed hope that the council in the future could "expand activity" in that area.

Boundary Ruling To Be Appealed

A ruling by the Michigan Court of Appeals that the State Boundary Commission is unconstitutional is being appealed to the Michigan State Supreme Court.

The ruling, issued October 13 by the court of appeals in a Midland boundary case, could have a direct bearing on an annexation dispute between the City of Novi and Novi Township.

In the Midland case, the appeals court ruled the boundary commission unconstitutional because the Michigan legislature in enacting the Boundary Commission law and, in particular, the annexation provisions.

Assistant Attorney General Frank Pipp told this newspaper that the attorney general's office, which represents the boundary commission, is appealing the decision. "We have filed the papers and if the supreme court decides to hear the case, we'll have to file some more papers."

Pipp said it was impossible to tell if the state supreme court will hear the case. "They take some and don't take others."

Asked the chances of winning the case, Pipp replied, "The chances are 50-50. If we lost in the circuit court and then in the court of appeals, it stands to reason that we're not in the best of shape."

Ingham County Circuit Court had originally ruled the boundary unit illegal but Midland appealed the ruling to state appeals court.

The Novi case involved a judgement by the boundaries commission allowing all of the township except for Brookland Farms to be annexed. However, an appeal by Novi Township to Ingham County Circuit Court also brought the opinion that the boundary commission was unconstitutional.

Novi is now waiting for a hearing before the state court of appeals which City Attorney David Fried contends could end with a different verdict than the Midland case because a different panel of the court of appeals will probably hear the case and different issues are involved.

While no exact date has been set for that hearing, it should be held in December, according to a court official.

No Smoking

He Suggests Ban While Lighting Pipe

Wixom City Councilman Melvin Green calmly filled his corn cob pipe with tobacco while simultaneously proposing a motion that smoking be banned from Wixom City Council meetings.

The moment may have produced more irony and levity than was intended by the councilman.

"The reason I made the motion is that I was talking to an elderly person who said she couldn't attend the council meetings because there was so much smoke that when she got up to talk she choked," Green said.

Also required in the proposed motion, which received a second from Councilman Lillian Spencer, was the purchase and placement in the council chambers of "no smoking" signs, and a direction to the city clerk to remove ash trays from the council chambers prior to a meeting.

The proposal fell to defeat by a narrow 4-3 margin. Councilmen Robert Dingeldey, Fred Morehead, Gunnar Mettala and Mayor Val Vangieson voted no on the proposal. Yes votes were cast by councilmen Green, Spencer, and James Hahde.

After the proposal's defeat Green again lit up his pipe.

Wixom Purchases Huron-Clinton Land

Utilizing $115,700 of Community Development Grant monies, Wixom has purchased 46 acres of Huron Clinton land located in Commerce Township just north of the City of Wixom.

Purpose of purchasing the property is to use it for recreational facilities including possible baseball diamonds, tennis courts, picnic areas and walkways. The city had been leasing the land since March 1, 1974 for $1 for a three year lease but had done nothing with it although the intention had been to use it as passive recreation for bicycle paths.

Another 15 acres to the north is also being leased by the city and will probably be used in the future for passive uses such as picnic areas, according to Assistant to the Mayor Bernard VanOsedale.

Helping in the layout of the recreation facilities will be the Oakland County Department of Planning and Physical Development.

"We will give them input, what we want in there — what activities. They will assist us in laying out the park — where the best areas would be for various activities," stated VanOsedale.

Novi School District may be forced to lay off up to 11 employees in an effort to offset budget cuts by Governor William Milliken that could take $54,750 in state aid away from the Novi School District.

The school board last Thursday received a recommendation from the administration that the board cut the employees, as well as instructional materials, outside-district field trips, and reimbursed and emergency overtime.

Jobs recommended to be eliminated include: Elementary — reduce total hours by 50 percent or equivalent of five noon aids (savings $7,500); reduce two teacher's aids at Orchard Hills (savings $5,000); Middle School — reduction of two math lab para-professionals and one teacher's aid who helps in study hall and the art room (savings $6,000); high school — reduction of one teacher's aid (savings $2,000); central office: one secretary (savings $5,000). The administration would not release specific names.

Other proposed cuts include: Reimbursed and emergency overtime only (savings $5,000); eliminate outside district field trips not already approved (savings $2,500);

Under instructional materials, proposed reductions include: reduction of teaching supplies (savings $11,500); reduction of athletic supplies (savings $2,000); reduction of conferences (savings $4,500); reduction of contracted services (savings $6,500); capital outlay (savings $2,000).

While the administration listed savings as totaling $59,500 compared to the $54,761 needed, Superintendent Gerald Kratz said the additional savings listed could be whittled down as the administration comes up with an exact savings figure based upon unemployment compensation costs to be handed out.

The cuts were made from areas which were intended not to hurt the curriculum and the students, said Dr. Kratz.

While the governor had recommended cuts be made from reading teachers, "We feel reading is important and so we are recommending cuts in other areas," explained Dr. Kratz. "I don't think these cuts are hurting the kids directly."

Dr. Kratz said he also opposes the governor's attempt to cut general state aid and certain categorical aid and recommended the cuts be made out of all categorical aid for all school districts.

The governor is trying to trim the state budget of $150,000,000 of which $47,450,000 is to come from K-12 schools. A first proposal by the governor has been rejected by the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. The governor has 30 days to come up with further recommendations. The cuts to schools are expected to be at least the same dollar level, but utilizing a different formula.

While there was little discussion among board members Thursday concerning the cuts, new board president Ray Warren said afterward that, "I think there is no doubt there will be cutbacks. Money is not floating around like it was a year ago."

"Fifty-five thousand dollars percentagewise (compared to the budget) is a small amount. I don't think it's as serious as it first meets the eye."

Warren added that he expects the cuts to come through pretty much as recommended by the administration though he expects minor changes.

The board president contended that the school district is not in financial difficulty. "I feel we have good (administrative) people. Where it might be a possibility, it certainly isn't a probability."

Warren said he is uncertain if the school district will have to ask voters for further funding if state aid problems should continue in the future. He noted that the school district will continue to gain students, new businesses will continue to come into the city

Subdivision Plat Given Council OK

Approval was given Monday night by Novi Council to the preliminary plat for the Kaufman and Broad Jason Subdivision.

The approval had been held up three weeks before because of a question on whether the developer would be including it in the Village Oaks Kaufman and Broad RUD (Residential Unit Development).

The administration said Monday that the subdivision will not be included in the RUD.

The property where the subdivision will be located is future approval is given at various levels of county, state and local government, is just south of 10 Mile and west of Haggerty in the vicinity of Nolan Drive. The preliminary subdivision plat includes 24 lots covering 11.57 acres.

He had a role in "Carousel" last year. An honor student, he also participates in the student senate and in JETS organization.

This is the second and final weekend that the 19th century melodrama, "The Drunkard," is being given in the commons at the high school at 8400 South Cambridge in northwest Detroit. ## City Council Grants Permission for Sales

Traditional house-to-house Mothers' March canvassing for the March of Dimes has been approved by the Northville City Council for January 22-28.

The March of Dimes campaign is scheduled for the months of January and February.

The city council also approved—

—Erection of street banners proclaiming the upcoming Tivoli Fair of the Northville Historical Society.

—A band sale of pumpkin bread and candles on Sunday, November 23 and the sale of candles only on Saturdays during the month of December in downtown parking lots.

Among those items tabled for consideration later are: —Petition for transfer of a liquor license for Joe's Bar on East Main Street.

AARP Plans

Open House

An open house for members, guests and prospective members will be held by Chapter 2088, American Association of Retired Persons, which includes Novi, at the Farmington Community Library, 32737 12 Mile Road, at 1:30 p.m. Friday, November 21.

Frank Ryan, AARP assistant director of southeastern Michigan who was instrumental in starting the chapter, will be present when Mrs. Jessie Hall, also an AARP assistant director of southeastern Michigan and now in charge of all Oakland County chapters, presents the club charter and speaks on its challenge.

Mrs. Grace Gordon Hay will speak and show a film, "Our American Flag."

All citizens, 55 years and older, retired or not, are welcome, but those who are members of the national AARP are especially invited. Refreshments and a social time will follow the meeting.

—A proposal to purchase a new radar unit from the CMI company of Minturn, Colorado, pending investigation into the solvency of the firm.

—Appointments to fill vacancies on the planning commission and the recreation commission.

Concerning the liquor license, council moved to table the matter pending completion of a police report on the potential new owner. Also tabled were letters of complaint against the bar and its existing management. They are to be discussed when the police report is made.

The letters, sent to the council by Del's Shoes and by IV Seasons Flowers & Gifts, allege on-going malicious and offensive conduct by bar patrons and an apparent unwillingness of the present bar management to resolve the problems that adversely affect adjacent businesses. In another liquor license matter, the council has authorized City Manager Steven Walters and City Attorney Philip Ogilvie to develop restrictive regulations relative to the consumption of alcohol in the concourse area of the bowling establishment at Center and Cady streets.

The conditional restrictions were insisted upon by council before it would recommend a liquor license modification sought by the owner.

Presently, the license restricts consumption of alcohol to the lounge area in the building. The owner seeks a modification of this license to permit the consumption of alcohol in the concourse area.

The restriction insisted upon by council is that no liquor be consumed on the concourse during those hours when children normally might be bowling. Councilman Paul Vernon has suggested that a specific period of time be designated when no liquor can be served there.

Refreshments will be served and there is no charge for admission. Those interested in attending may register at the library or by calling 349-3020.

Also at this program, which will be the last one until January, the group will discuss future programs for senior citizens at the library.

Anyone who wishes to attend but lacks transportation should contact the library by Thursday, November 20, and arrangements for a ride to and from the library will be made.

Most of Budget's Spent

Nearly all of Northville School District's $5.9-million budget for the 1975-76 school year has been expended or encumbered.

That's the report from School Board Treasurer P. Roger Nieuwkoop and Administrative Assistant Thomas Goulding.

Only $284,327 remains and most of that amount is earmarked for custodial supplies and teaching materials not yet ordered or received but supplies which will be needed to operate the district through June 30, 1976.

Goulding added that 29 percent of the budget has already been spent, 65 percent is encumbered and roughly seven percent remains available.

In a related matter, Superintendent Raymond Spear told the board that attempts have been made to contact Michigan Bell about reducing the amount of money the district is spending on telephone costs.

"Currently we pay $5.90 per line per month between buildings," Spear said. "When I contacted Michigan Bell about reducing that charge, I was told plans are in the works for increasing the charges to $25 per mile per line per month between buildings."

"No matter which way we turn, they seem to be raising the rates," he commented.

one silver arrow for his Wolf Badge.

Danny Sobol and Donn Bousquet were awarded the Bear Badge with Bousquet receiving one gold and one silver arrow.

Two Webelos earned merit badges. Barrett Strong earned four merit badges, including those for aquanaut, athlete, naturalist and sportsman. Brant Cohn earned three badges for athlete, citizen and sportsman.

The November meeting of Pack 755 will be a hayride at the Ron Zollars farm on Napier Road.

Northville residents who have cub scout uniforms not now being used and who wish to donate them to Pack 755 are asked to call 349-1065.

The Pack also reminds residents that the Cub Scout candy sale will be starting soon and they are asking for local support.

Career Programs Underway at Meads

Guidance and career exploration programs are being taught and developed at all grade levels at Meads Mill Middle School this year.

While all courses share career concepts, they differ in the design of the individual teachers, Miss Florence Panattoni, assistant superintendent, noted.

Counselors David Adair and Jeffrey Radwanski have chosen to examine vocational interests of their students by using an interest survey.

The survey covers 10 basic areas of interest and includes outdoor, mechanical, computational, scientific, persuasive, artistic, literary, musical, social service and clerical.

After students identify their areas of interest, students identify specific career choices by using an occupational outlook handbook.

Students then research particular careers, finding out education requirements or what specialized training is needed. Intrinsic rewards, such as prestige and travel, are studied along with comparing these rewards to financial rewards.

"Discussions may then lead to budgets, expenses and realistic situations relating to making a certain amount of money and applying it to a particular life style," the men explain.

Through the use of audio-visual aids, students study topics of goals, values, the law, essence of dropping out, alcohol, smoking, shaping identity and personality.

As a result of the program, which is still in the pilot stage, teachers hope that middle school students will be able to identify career choices more intelligently as they prepare themselves for high school and the world of work.

OLV Receives Flag

Northville's Veterans of Foreign Wars post has presented an American flag to the seventh grade class of Our Lady of Victory Elementary School.

In making the presentation, veterans Merle Hoag, Dick O'Hare and Gordon Cole urged the youngsters to take good care of the new flag and, if necessary, defend it with their lives. Receiving the new flag were Lisa Grunheid and Steve Arquette.

The seventh grade class at Our Lady of Victory school is responsible for raising the flag outside of school before classes begin. The school's old flag was in disrepair.

Community Loses Benefactor

FLOYD KEHRL

Funeral services for Floyd A. Kehrl, 72, well known retired banker and lifelong area resident, were held at 11 a.m. last Friday in First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The Reverend Philip Rogers Magee officiated.

Entombment was in Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth.

Mr. Kehrl, who lived in Northville on Eight Mile Road, died November 4 at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor following surgery.

He was former president and one of the Founders of First National Bank in Plymouth. He became a vice president of National Bank of Detroit after a merger with the Plymouth bank.

A former trustee of Schoolcraft College, Mr. Kehrl also had been an anonymous benefactor to many educational, religious and civic projects.

He was a life member and 50-year recipient of the Plymouth Rock Masonic Lodge, F & AM. He had been on the board of Adistra Corporation in Plymouth.

He was a member of the Detroit Athletic Club and a life member of Meadowbrook Country Club.

He leaves his widow, Marian R. Kehrl; a brother, the Reverend Arnold H. Kehrl; and two stepchildren, Lucinda A. Johnston of Plymouth and Jeffrey R. Johnston of Northville.

Mr. Kehrl was born April 28, 1903, in Livonia to Adolph and Bertha Kehrl.

School Board Adopts 'Gift' Policy

Policy on accepting gifts, grants, bequests and donations has been approved by the Northville School Board. Casting the lone dissenting vote was Trustee Martin Rinehart who objected to the establishment of a policy.

The policy permits donations but notes they may be used for other than what the donor wishes.

Sparking writing of the policy was the donation from a group of citizens who wished extra-curricular activities be reinstated following the August defeat of the school millage.

That action drew mixed reaction from residents of the school district. Those opposed to the acceptance of donations said they felt people were buying what they wanted — sports. Residents of Highland Lakes at that time asked tongue-in-cheek if they could buy the opening of their school by collecting the necessary funds.

The policy adopted by the school board reads in part that "In recognition, however, of the fact that an individual or group of individuals may wish to make a contribution or donation to the district for the purposes of enhancing educational opportunities for our youth, it shall be the policy of the Northville Board of Education to accept any and all donations with the understanding that said donations shall be placed within the district's budget and shall be used as deemed by the board to be in the best interest of the school district.

"However, in no case shall a donation or contribution be used to support or facilitate any activity of the district in situations where the board has declared an inability to maintain a total educational program due to lack of funds.

"All donations accepted shall be with the understanding that they will be expended in areas of priority as determined by the board of education."

Northville Delays Joining Right to Read Program

Northville School Board has postponed joining the Michigan Right to Read program. The move was recommended by Assistant Superintendent Florence Panattoni and approved by the school board.

Miss Panattoni explained that she favored "looking at participation in the program another year. Workshops for the Right to Read coordinator would take 24 teaching days away from our students."

She added that the staff member who planned on coordinating the program was hoping the sessions would be held on Saturdays so no classroom instruction would be lost. However, the state decided to hold the programs during the week and 24 days of reading help would be lost to the students.

Jones Retires in January

Notice of retirement from Albert Jones, social studies teacher and coach at the high school, was accepted. Administrators were also directed to prepare a resolution honoring him for his services to Northville.

Jones, who has been teaching for the past 30 years, began working in Northville in 1948.

Thanks to the Heimlich Maneuver and Kathy Kopecki a choking victim was saved from probable death at the Old Mill Restaurant recently.

Dick Kopecki and his wife, Kathy, are the young owners of the Old Mill on Northville's Main Street. One day two weeks ago Dick noticed that a lady customer appeared to be ill, but could not talk.

He decided she was choking, so he slapped her on the back several times. Nothing happened. Kathy was nearby. She grabbed the victim around the waist and applied the Heimlich Maneuver and out popped the food particle.

Each year approximately 4,000 healthy people in the United States strangle because of food stuck in their throats. According to statistics food-choking is the sixth leading cause of accidental death.... greater than the number accidentally killed by firearms or in airplane accidents.

In the past year or so, Dr. Henry J. Heimlich has devised a first-aid procedure to save people from food asphyxiation.

Luckily, Kathy had read about the procedure. Dick was amazed. "I can't understand why she didn't tell me about it," he gently scolded his tiny wife while praising her quick action. And he recalled how his muscle-laden efforts at pounding on the victim's back failed and Kathy's quick, properly-applied 'squeeze worked immediately and successfully.

The Kopeckis believe that more people should know about the Heimlich Maneuver, and especially restaurant operators.

This week I obtained some material from Dr. Russell Atchison concerning the Heimlich Maneuver. I suggest readers clip and save the procedure. Results of a study following the first nine months after the maneuver was originally described reveal that 162 lives were saved by its use. The report shows that 121 potential victims were adults and 41 children, aged nine months to 15 years. In 27 instances the child was saved by a parent.

The study further noted that the food-choking occurred in the home in 67 instances and in restaurants or other public places 95 times. In six instances the victims were alone and were able to self-administer the maneuver.

Thus far, there have been no reports where the Heimlich Maneuver was not successful. Ribs have been broken due to improper performance, but the victims' lives were saved.

Dr. Heimlich emphasizes that the maneuver is not a "bear hug". And it is noted that a choking victim cannot talk, while this is not true in the case of a heart attack or some other affliction.

Victims of food-choking are encouraged to grasp their neck with thumb and index finger of one hand as a signal of their problem.

So as a tribute to Kathy Kopecki, and in the hope that if confronted with such an emergency all of us might be able to act with the same alertness, here's the:

HEIMLICH MANEUVER

Stand behind the victim and wrap your arms around the waist.

Grasp your fist with your other hand and place the thumb side of your fist against the victim's abdomen, slightly above the navel and below the rib cage.

Press your fist into the victim's abdomen with a quick upward thrust. Repeat several times if necessary.

When the victim is sitting, the rescuer stands behind the victim's chair and performs the maneuver in the same manner.

A variation of the maneuver can be performed when the victim has collapsed or the rescuer is unable to lift him.

Victim is lying on his back. Facing the victim, kneel astride his hips. With one of your hands on top of the other, place the heel of your bottom hand on the abdomen slightly above the navel and below the rib cage. Press into the victim's abdomen with a quick upward thrust. Repeat if necessary. Should the victim vomit, quickly place him on his side and wipe out his mouth to prevent aspiration.

Rebuts 'Facts' On Salaries For Teachers

To the Editor:

I am submitting this letter after the November 6 election so as not to confuse voters. I dislike being presented with so called "facts" at the 11th hour, when there is no opportunity for rebuttal or a personal determination of their validity. I hope the voters, in this post-election lull, would not accept my statements as fact or fiction. If any one item strikes you as interesting, check it out.

At the October 27 board meeting the treasurer reported the dollar increase to teachers in 75-76 was $156,000 or 6.9 percent. Not bad at all! Various members of the board cited the increase as "modest", "a tribute to the negotiating teams", and as "representative of the concern for education in Northville by both the Board and the teachers." But wait a minute! Last year we had 219 teachers, this year only 200. Therefore, the 75-76 contract awarded 200 teachers the salaries of 219 teachers plus $201,611 (he was wrong on the dollar figure, also). A teacher employed by the Northville School District last year, who remains with the district this year, will receive about a 5 percent increase for the one year's experience and about 9 percent as a result of the salary increases under the new contract.

You have heard on a number of occasions how Northville salaries "compare favorably" with surrounding communities. Let's take a look. Teacher salaries for statistical purposes are compared in four categories — bachelor's and master's minimum (no experience) and bachelor's and master's maximum (10 years experience). To save space in the Record and not boggle your mind with numbers for each category, let us consider the combined salaries and combined increases of four teachers, one from each category. The average combined salary from 26 Oakland County districts of these four teachers would be $54,832, after a combined increase this year of $2,299. The combined salaries and combined increases in Northville were $57,800 and $3,820, respectively. The same four teachers would cost $2,968 more in Northville and were granted $1,520 more in salary increases for 75-76. The board thought it unfair to compare with Oakland County districts rather than Wayne County districts where salaries are higher. I think Northville compares better with Farmington or Clarkston rather than Hamtramck or Highland Park.

Now, however, we can make a comparison within our own district. The Wayne County Intermediate School District hired 17 special education teachers to work within our district. From the information provided in The Record these same teachers would have cost $48,878 more if they had been hired by the Northville School District. A teacher with a masters and 10 years experience employed

Make Part III Of Godfather?

SALLY YORK

YES . . .

When The Godfather ended, I couldn't wait to see how Michael Corleone would do as the Don.

In Part II, I think Francis Ford Coppola answered the question with another very good movie.

The two movies were so different that they could each stand without the other.

Since we were kind of left hanging again in Godfather Part II, I would like to see what happens to the Corleones next.

Maybe we have had enough of the Corleone family, but it would be worth the price of admission to see if Coppola could do it a third time.

Loretta Powell
New Hudson Resident

NO . . .

I would not see Godfather, Part III — just as I did not see Godfather, Part II.

It's not that I didn't enjoy the original Godfather. I did. But the only purpose I see in sequels is that they make money off the name of the first popular movie.

Usually, sequels are not as well done. They have a mediocre plot, and their only reason for being done is the money they bring in.

I saw The Godfather. I enjoyed it, and I felt there was a message to be derived from it.

But how often can you deliver the same message and not get in a rut?

Why can't they make more good movies?

Then they wouldn't have to beat a good horse to death in the name of profit, and to cover for all the bad movies made.

Floyd Kehrl . . .

By BILL SLIGER

There probably never was a banker quite like Floyd Kehrl.

Certainly, there never will be another from his mold.

Although he died and was buried last week, stories about this Plymouth banker will prolong the memory of his life and deeds.

For 47 years, until 1967 Floyd Kehrl was a banker. There wasn't an area businessman who didn't know him. There wasn't a farmer in southern Michigan that hadn't heard of Kehrl.

He was both conventional and unconventional; conservative and freewheeling. If you wanted to borrow money from Floyd Kehrl, he would look closely at your balance sheet and penetrate your character.

He was a liberal lender if he believed in the person asking for the money.

Kehrl was a workhorse. His "banker's hours" usually began about 6:30 a.m. when he would read every stitch of mail. Floyd wanted to know what was going on... who was paying and who wasn't.

When his own First National Bank of Plymouth merged with National Bank of Detroit, Kehrl didn't conform quickly (if ever) to big city banking ways. He still checked all the mail and had far more latitude in granting loans than most branch V-P's.

One Kehrl customer tells of the time he wanted to buy a house as an investment. He went to Floyd for a mortgage. "Is the house worth the price?", asked Kehrl, and the customer replied that it was. "Can you make the payments?", he asked next. "Yes," was the reply. Kehrl gave him the money.

The owner of a major area industry recently told me of the time he needed $750,000 to buy half the stock of one of the company's chief officers. He went to Kehrl, who didn't bat an eye. "Sounds like a good deal," he responded, and took his customer downtown for approval.

Floyd may have been best known for clerking at farm auctions. At one time, when NBD provided the money for on-the-spot loans, Kehrl had seven men on the road clerking farm auctions throughout southern Michigan. He has loaned millions of dollars to thousands of farmers for dairy cattle and farm machinery.

And Kehrl was right there in all kinds of weather with handwarmer, pencil, pad and checkbook. He'd record every sale, the amount, name of the purchaser, and either collect the cash or lend the money and take a note.

Banking was not everything to Floyd. He played as hard as he worked, and he loved golf. After his retirement in 1967 he played golf nearly every day. He liked to play early, sometimes finishing 18 holes by 10 a.m.

And there was always a bet... maybe just 50 cents or a dollar... but winning was important.

Kehrl earned a great deal of money in his lifetime. But he shared it generously.

Last Friday the church in Plymouth was filled to capacity. And it seemed that so many of the businessmen who came to pay their final respects to Plymouth's premier banker considered Floyd Kehrl to be indestructible. All at once he was gone.

It's Just Not

My Cup of Tea

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

It could have happened only to me, so it shouldn't have come as a surprise when the waitress dumped the pot of steaming tea down my back Friday evening at the University of Michigan.

But try as hard as I could to appear nonchalant about it all, the river of hots cascading down the inside of the jacket and soaking even my Fruit of The Loom made sitting still a little difficult.

One hundred and fifty people in the room and she had to pick on me! Shades of the infantry. The company sergeant once shouted, "One of you guys is gonna lay on the barbed wire so the rest of us can get across." Guess who he volunteered.

The crash of tray and crumbling teapot and the shriek of the waitress attracted every eye in the place. And as they stared, a half-dozen people suddenly materialized out of nowhere to forcibly remove my jacket.

Except for some stubborn refusal on my part, they might have peeled off my shirt and pants right there in the middle of the Michigan Union banquet room.

I wanted to crawl under the table but there wasn't any room what with all the people down there mopping and picking up pieces of shattered crockery.

While one waitress sponged off my back to catcalls from uncouth journalists, another shoved a pad and pencil at me and asked me for my name and address.

"No, thanks," I said, "one pot's enough."

Rolly Peterson, our Brighton editor, went running off with my dripping coat, tossing behind a promise to get it dried out someplace as he headed probably to a bar, and the others at our table offered an array of smart aleck remarks.

Cleland Wyllie, secretary-treasurer of the University Press Club, hovered about offering all kinds of Maize and Blue apologies when he really meant to say, "Serves you right you old soak for not sending in your alumni donation."

All of this was bad enough but the capper was that my purpose in being at this affair was to accept an award for Bill Sliger who was unable to be present.

It reminds me now of the time a few years ago when I substituted for Bill in accepting honors at a national press conference in Iowa. For that occasion I had come dressed in clothing borrowed from a funeral home, my own clothing having been lost by the airline that delivered me there minus my baggage.

Anyway, as I sloshed to the speaker's table, Friday, wearing several shades of embarrassment, some kind soul shoved a plaque and a hand at me and said, "Congratulations Bill."

So there you have it. Columnist Marquis Childs will forever think he met Bill Sliger, the disheveled publisher from Northville. Serves him right. From now on Bill can accept his own awards. That kind of stuff just isn't my cup of tea.

By R. Robert Geake
State Representative

The Governor has listed as a top priority for the fall session the passage of Senate Bill 931 which would reorganize the Southeastern Michigan Transit Authority (SEMTA) by increasing the members of the Authority from 9 to 13 and requiring that 5 be appointed by S.E.M.C.O.G. (Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments), five by the Mayor of Detroit and three by the Governor, subject to the approval of the other members appointed.

The bill is highly controversial because many people believe that the Governor has agreed to support a plan to give the Mayor of Detroit excessive power over the board at the expense of the suburbs.

However, more significantly, the bill would provide the increased levy of a weight tax of 50 per cent of the tax we presently pay for automobile license plates to go for the development of mass transportation. The weight tax would only apply to Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb Counties. This would increase the license fees for most residents in those three counties by something over $10 per year and would produce nearly $27 million in revenues.

I cannot support the imposition of the additional license fee for residents of our area, especially when it appears that the major benefit and major control of the S.E.M.T.A. reorganized board will be vested with the City of Detroit.

Another priority bill which may see action this fall is House Bill 5405 — the "Open Meetings" bill.

A great deal of debate is likely to center around the very broad definition of "public meeting" and what type of action, particularly by local government units, should be allowed to be taken in private and what actually does constitute a public decision making process. For example, should school board members be permitted to gather privately in a member's home to discuss board business? Should a city council or planning session be permitted to hold "executive sessions" to agree on policies which are then adopted at official, public meetings where the public has had no opportunity to learn how the decisions were arrived at?

One controversial section of the bill would void public decisions which are made outside of the prescribed procedures in the bill. If you have any opinions regarding "open meetings" and the operations of governing bodies, please let me know soon.

Rebuts 'Facts'

by the Wayne County Intermediate School District will work about 40 days more for $4,777 less than a teacher with the same credentials employed by the Northville School District. It doesn't seem that this will promote a spirit of mutual respect and cooperation among teachers.

From all my investigation, the one fact I found most depressing was teacher absenteeism. Salaries are negotiated by teams, but absenteeism is an individual decision, a sort of barometer of the professionalism of a career person. I am sure there are teachers who didn't miss a day. Probably, the same ones volunteered their services for some extra project. On the whole, however, teachers were absent a total of 1,929 days last year. That is the same as 10 teachers not showing up for work the entire year. Not all days were with pay. The absolute cost of absenteeism to the taxpayer is $26 per day when a substitute is hired. The educational dollar loss could be $98 per day (average regular teacher salary plus $26 substitute pay—when the substitute only maintains order).

The teacher contract is just that and cannot be changed. Teacher attitude, morale, and productivity can change. I will personally commend my children's teachers when the children come home excited about what they are doing in school rather than complaining about what they cannot do because millage failed.

The Board of Education can improve their position by simply getting honest. I don't mean they have been dishonest in the legal sense, but reporting the teacher salary increases as 6.9 percent is beyond my definition of personal honesty. Incidents like this seed suspicion. Mr. Spear and board members have frequently answered questions about cost with "you have the figures, what other figures do you need." Such answers breed contempt. The board has rejected the assistance of the Task Force to provide them with researched information on subjects for prudent decision making. If the board continues to make decisions after an oral presentation by Mr. Spear and a glance at the informational packet prepared by him, they will continue to lose support from the community. If only in the near future, I would hear a board member in the discussion of a motion say "my impression after reviewing all the available information, including that provided by five citizens whom I personally requested to research the subject, vote . . ." Oh, that would be like opening the window and letting in a breath of fresh air.

Teacher Defends 'Now Poetry' Course

To the Editor:

The millage has failed and I am deeply saddened. I could not help but be other than chagrined when I saw a "Now Poetry" course taught at Northville High School by myself, used in an argument against passage of the millage. There seemed to be an implication that "Now Poetry" was not a worthwhile course and that it was an expensive course. To any such charge I must react with certain feelings.

He who would steal my money, steals trash; but he who steals my name, steals away my soul, my very reason for existence. I also felt that the good name of Northville High School was being stolen away and unjustly so. This was being done by innuendo rather than by use of facts.

With this in mind I would like to present a few facts. "Now Poetry" is a highly structured course which makes specific demands upon students. It was organized by the English Department to serve a set purpose. The full structure of the course and the method of presentation are a matter of record in the High School Department Course Outlines for English. Any parent may avail himself or herself to a study of it. Also, I will be happy to meet with any parent on this matter. An appointment can be made through the high school telephone system or by letter. In teaching the course I use inductive and deductive, oral and visual techniques. I use discussion and written papers and tests. I use argumentation and sequence of problems whose solutions are based on memory and understanding and creative imagination on the part of the students.

I am an experienced teacher. I have taught in differing educational situations. I taught in a rural school which had a senior class of 27 students, and I taught at the English Language Institute at the University of Michigan. I prefer to teach at the high school level because not all high school students will enter college, and I wish to work with such young people as well as those who will continue their formal education after high school. Many things make me feel that "Now Poetry" serves a purpose. When I taught the course at the Washtenaw County Jail, I had a young person say to me in front of his fellow inmates that if he had had such a course in high school he would not have dropped out. I have had a student come to see me after being at Wayne State University and tell me that she, having taken a course quite similar to "Now Poetry" at Wayne, found "Now Poetry" much more instructive.

But it is the quiet, unassuming students who have come into my class day after day and faced up to the demands put upon them to speak out in front of others their feelings on poetry and lyrics and art and who, in so doing, have gained a confidence that they have taken out of the classroom that have given me the feeling of purpose in "Now Poetry".

Many have come to me and said that "Now Poetry" helped them. Some have come back to say that I have changed their lives. Now, every time they hear a song or read a poem they are using the method learned in the course. In my opinion they are living their lives at a more significant level. This is one of the goals in education: to show young people how much more there is to any area that interests them — be it art, history, or sports.

A person who visits an art museum with expectations that have been acquired through a diligent study of essence and history of art will have an experience quite different from one who goes without. He will experience more than a series of pictures on the wall. Such is the case for a study of today's poetry as exhibited in poems and lyrics. The one who approaches a song or poem with such a background experiences more and thereby lives a fuller life. He or she has more knowledge of the world around him or her. My very reason for existence has been to be a part of such an undertaking.

As for the money cost of the course, it has been minimal because of the generosity of the students who have loaned and given us materials. The cost of textbooks has averaged out to about 37-cents per student. The largest cost has been for school-supplied pencils and paper for doing the written work.

Poetry, be it today's or of the past, is another expression of Being — an inward look at our feelings, our pain and joy. I have been proud to have taught this course to hundreds of students, who in "Now Poetry" were beautiful people.

Mr. Donahue
Northville High School

Urges Revisions

To the Editor:

Now that the latest "road program" has suffered another defeat and I am resigned to departing this life over the same dirt roads I traveled as a child, it might be interesting to consider another of Novi's problems in the light of the recent election. As a member of the present Charter Commission I still have hope of helping to solve the present problem of selecting the mayor. I believe there is a better way.

In the January 6, 1972 Novi News page 8-A I wrote, "Not lack of leadership but lack of unity and leadership that the majority will follow." In Novi's seven years as a city she has not developed a recognized leader and as the new councilmen begin their duties it might be wise for them to consider the fate of Mr. Crupi, Mr. Berry, Mr. Athas, Mr. Daley and Mr.

Campbell. Mr. Crupi served the community for many years. He was village president, city charter commissioner and Novi's first mayor. He and Mr. Ackley ran the village and the city on 6½ mills for many years, without any financial crisis, yet he was soundly defeated by Mr. Daley, who after about 1½ years in office declared the council to be "polarized, paralyzed and useless," and Mr. Athas resigned in frustration. Mr. Crupi hasn't been seen since.

There are many reasons for the lack of leadership, so let's stick to one as it is dealt with in the charter.

On page two of the July 25, 1968 Charter Commission minutes it reads, "Moved by member Button, seconded by member Brinker — that we have the same government we have in the village. Yeas 5, nays 2, absent 2. Moved by member Buck, seconded by member Button that the mayor be elected by and from the council to represent the city as mayor. Yeas 7, Nays 0, Absent, 2".

At the next meeting of August 8 and out of a clear sky, it was moved by member Harrison, seconded by member Brinker — That Mr. Bond (Atty.) be instructed to change it to elect a mayor every two years. Yeas 8, Nays 1, Abs. 0.

Member Button stated that he did not like the whole procedure. I firmly believe that under the type of government we have, the mayor should be elected by and from the council. I know it's not as much fun but consider what we are doing.

We have just completed a strong campaign in which Mr. Henderson has been victorious. The campaigners have said that Mr. Henderson "will fashion and mold Novi's future and destiny." Mr. Henderson has said "I will turn Novi around." Mr. Campbell has conducted an equally vigorous campaign and the result has been to split Novi down the middle. The other candidates have been largely ignored.

This brings us to Mr. Daley Mayor Daley was pushed forward for the same reasons that Mr. Henderson was. He had no previous experience in city government but he was well supplied with experienced councilmen.

He had Mr. Campbell who had already served one term, Mr. Berry and Mr. Presnell who had served on the city charter commission and were on the city council from its beginning. He had Mr. Athas who had served as city manager. Also the city was not divided as much as it is today. Yet, by his own admission, Mayor Daley was "totally ineffective."

When Mr. Henderson takes office he will find that the charter gives him no extra authority to do anything and the "ignored candidates" have four times the voting power that he does. He has no city government experience either. More than that, instead of four experienced members, he has four inexperienced members some of whom are strong Campbell supporters. On top of that he was elected by popular vote and most people will not realize that he has the responsibility and no authority. He will be criticized for decisions he has no control over. If Mr. Henderson is to be successful he will need all of the leadership he is reported to have as well as the support of the council and the public.

I think the method of electing the mayor in our charter is a rip-off but this is what we are proposing to do in the revised charter. It is unfair to the mayor, the candidates and the community.

I am writing this to make you aware of Mr. Henderson's problems and understand why he may not be able to do what he has promised. I believe the charter should be revised to elect the mayor by and from the council or the mayor should be given the authority to do what he has promised.

Scouts Need Help

To the Editor:

Most of the Girl Scout Troops in Northville have started and are moving along quite well, but there are a few exceptions. At present, there are NO Junior Troops (9, 10 and 11 year-old age group) in Our Lady of Victory School, because of lack of leadership.

It is difficult for these girls to understand why they cannot be in a troop when they see other friends and neighbors enjoying scouts. They are Junior Girl Scouts for such a short time, and it can only happen once in their lifetime.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council offers training for adults who wish to become leaders, there is a store of information on resources of things to do and places to go and all the other leaders get together once a month to share ideas and experiences.

Surely there must be someone in Northville who would like to work with this age group so that they too can enjoy scouting just as their friends are doing. If you have a few hours a week to give to Girl Scouting, it will be both rewarding to you and to the girls involved. Please call Nancy Bohn, 349-1269 for more information.

Cuts Hurt Sports

To the Editor:

The fall sport season ended last week at Northville High School, and once again our young athletes accomplished much that can be looked upon with pride. Both our girls' swimming team and our boys' golf team again captured Western-Six championships. I know Coach Jones, who is retiring, will forever have fond memories of this his last and best golf team. It's very exciting to think about what Bob Gould will be able to accomplish in his senior year after rather monotonously smashing record after record during his junior season. Even though they came very close to not playing football, our 8th grade team at Meads Mill was undefeated. Some of our teams did not have the kind of season they would like to have; however, the memories of the emotion and joy of competition are not easily forgotten.

For the remainder of the school year, many young people will not be able to compete in such sports as track, baseball, volleyball, basketball, and swimming. Some of these youngsters will find other activities with which to occupy their time, and I'm afraid that some of these activities will not arouse that feeling of pride which I alluded to earlier.

A high school athletic program needs much volunteer help if it is to be successful. I would like to thank those members of the Boosters Club who helped as ushers and chain and down box workers during our football season. An important member of our football team was Dr. Robert Mandell who donated his services as team physician. With all our injuries, he had to be the most overworked person in town. Thanks also to our marching band for their spirited half time performances. The pep club, under the leadership of Mary Andrews, took care of the concession stand and organized "Parents Night" at last Friday's football game which was the last game for our senior players and cheer leaders. As each player walked between two lines of his team mates, with his mother on one side and his father on the other, I thought I saw a few tears, tears that appeared after the final realization that this was the last game for the 'ville. Unless the financial problems of our school district are resolved, I'm afraid that there are many young people in our schools, who are not seniors, but who have also played their last game.

They Thank Voters

To the Editor:

We would like to thank those voters who voted for better education.

We would like to thank those people who continually support education. You often volunteer both your energy and talent to help in the classroom and at home.

During the recent millage campaign and election you tried your hardest to get a better education for all the children.

So thanks for your interest and help! The administration, office staff and faculty want to reassure you that we will continue to do our best for Northville's children. Despite all of our current problems at Silver Springs, we believe in doing our best for your children. We were disappointed at the outcome of the election, but we'll never give up because we feel, like many of you, that education is our most important priority.

Sincerely,
Everyone at Silver Springs School

Old Buildings in Jeopardy

City May Fight New Law

construction of the ramp other buildings in the city will be similarly affected.

"Nobody in his right mind will want to preserve any of the old buildings by fixing them up and turning them into business places," says Wilseck. "We certainly wouldn't have bought this place and spent thousands of dollars to restore it if we had known about all this 'barrier free' stuff we were getting into.

"As a matter of fact we had the inspectors come in and advise us before we purchased just what kinds of things we would have to do to pass inspection. None of them told us about 'barrier free' until after we bought. After we had the place and the inspector (Carl Lundquist) came back to tell us all the things we had to do my wife almost had a heart attack. Thank God for Steve Walter's assistance. He went to Lansing with my wife to appeal some of the ridiculous requirements. If he hadn't spoken up for us we would have had to put in an elevator, too."

Besides elevators, the barrier free law also requires—

—Special toilet cubicles and toilets that can accommodate physically handicapped.

—Where public telephones are installed at least one telephone must be installed to especially accommodate physically handicapped (such as height, hearing devices, etc.).

—Electrical switches must be at a special height.

—Emergency exits and elevators must be announced in braille.

—A specified number of reserved parking spaces in municipal lots must be provided for handicapped, signs must be erected at a specified height designating these spaces, and the spaces must be located nearest the entrance to the lot and nearest the sidewalk.

—A specified number of multiple family units must be provided to specifically accommodate the physically handicapped whether or not there is a market of handicapped who wish to rent or buy them.

If the city council decides to fight the law, Northville will become the first in the state.

Councilman Paul Vernon, who also is chairman of the Historic District Commission, suggests Northville wouldn't be alone, however, since many other communities in Michigan have run aground on the new law. Sections of the law are so ridiculous other communities are likely to join in seeking their repeal, he says.

In the case of the Bedspring Place, the proposed ramp would have to be of such an incline that it would either extend out into the driveway or out across the sidewalk and right into Main Street.

Vernon also reports a case in another community where special elevator modifications were required to accommodate the blind even though the only persons having access to the elevator were motorists.

Donald DiComo, architectural representative, notes still another case in this area of Michigan where ramps for physically handicapped were required into racquet ball courts.

Some officials contend that if the law is to be enforced equally, an elevator or ramps will be required in the barns on Maybury State Park's living farm and in many of the buildings in Northville's Mill Race Historical Village.

OATH OF OFFICE—District Judge Dunbar Davis administers the oath of office to three members of the Northville City Council Monday night—(l to r) newly elected Councilman Stanley Johnston, re-elected Councilman Paul Vernon, and Mayor A. M. Allen, re-elected to an unprecedented ninth term of office. Mayor Allen has served longer than any man in Northville history. Vernon was unanimously re-elected mayor pro-tem by fellow council members at Monday's meeting. Johnston replaces David Biery on the council.

Monday's A Big Day For Vernon

Monday was a busy election day for newly re-elected Councilman Paul R. Vernon. The Northville resident was elected to the board of directors of the Equipment and Tool Institute (ETI) during the national organization's annual meeting in Rancho Bernardo, California on Monday.

Vernon then flew home immediately to attend the swearing in ceremony at the city hall that same evening.

He took his oath of office for a second term on the council, along with re-elected Mayor A. M. Allen and newly elected Councilman Stanley Johnston.

Also that evening fellow council members re-elected him Northville's mayor pro-tem.

While on the American Motors corporate service staff, Vernon was liaison representative with ETI, which was organized in 1947 to protect and promote the best interests of the automotive tool and equipment industry.

Since joining Allen Testproducts as national account manager six years ago he has served on the Institute's marketing committee, its membership committee and its program committee.

Millage Fails But It's Closer

side also had an increase of 213.

"The voters have spoken," Superintendent of Northville Schools Raymond Spear said. "Now we're in a position where we can consider no outside source of revenue so we will try to do the best with the revenue."

"It's unfortunate but it's a fact of life," Spear added. "Millages are not being treated well anywhere and why should we be any different."

Spear was disappointed that the issue failed in precinct four, the portion of the school district in Oakland County, which is also the area of Cooke Middle School.

"I was hoping that those people would want their middle school open," Spear said.

Cooke Middle School along with Silver Springs and Main Street Elementary schools will remain closed, Spear said. Also, all cuts made in the Northville School District programs will stay in effect.

Voters in the Main Street area, precinct one, were overwhelming in their opposition to the millage, turning it down by a 639 to 344 vote.

Silver Springs Elementary School is located in precinct two, one of the two precincts where the millage passed. The millage was also approved in precinct three which includes the Winchester Elementary School. Winchester School is now crowded with the addition of the Silver Springs children to its enrollment.

There will be no further budget cuts as a result of the millage defeat, Spear said. After the first millage defeat, $380,000 was cut from the Northville School District budget. However, there will be cuts forthcoming as a result of an executive order cut in state aid to education. Spear estimated that the state aid reduction would amount to about $40,000.

Voting by precinct in last Thursday's election was:

Precinct one: 2,768

registered voters; 344 yes, 639 no; 16 votes spoiled; 47 absentee ballots, two not returned; a total of 999 votes cast; a 36 percent turnout.

Precinct two: 1434 registered voters; 484 yes, 243 no; 12 votes spoiled; 37 absentee ballots, two not returned; a total of 739 votes cast; a 51.5 percent turnout.

Precinct three: 1331 registered voters; 340 yes, 253 no; four votes spoiled; five absentee ballots; a total of 597 votes cast; a 44.8 percent turnout.

Precinct four: 1964 registered voters; 420 yes, 450 no; 12 votes spoiled; 17 absentee ballots, one not returned; a total of 882 votes cast; a 45 percent turnout.

Precinct five: 1765 registered voters; 211 yes, 248 no; four votes spoiled; 18 absentee ballots, three not returned; a total of 463 votes cast; a turnout of 26 percent.

Precinct six: 613 registered voters; 68 yes, 145 no; none spoiled; three absentee ballots; a total of 213 votes cast; a turnout of 34.7 percent.

But Seniors Spared

Propose Water Rate Hike

treated as normal customers, rather than receiving a special rate.

3. The cost to the system of service to such low usage customers justifies such a minimum-bill policy.

The new rate proposal also suggests a change in late payments. Presently, the rate provides a penalty of 10 percent of late payment after 15 days from the date of billing. Because of increasing mail delivery time, a 30-day payment cycle is being recommended.

Following are the present rates compared with the proposed ones:

For Water

• Quarterly service charge of $3.60 presently is billed to a customer using both water and sewer service but not for water alone; it is proposed to make a quarterly charge of $3.60 for water and $3.60 for sewer.

• First 7,000 gallons, the present rate is $5.50 minimum, whereas the new rate would be 56 cents.

• 8,000 to 20,000 gallons, present rate is 75-70 cents; the new rate would be $1.02.

• Over 20,000 gallons, the present rate is 45 cents; the new rate would be 62 cents.

For Sewer

• Quarterly service charge, presently none (see above), but the new rate would be $3.60.

• First 7,000 gallons, presently the minimum is $2.80, but there would be no charge under the new rate.

• First 20,000 gallons, the present rate is 24-cents and the new rate would be 40-cents.

• Over 20,000 gallons, the present rate is 24-cents and the new rate would be 30 cents.

The proposed new rates would produce the following cost distribution changes:

• Small residential and commercial users, the distribution would decrease from 8 percent to 4.4 percent.

• Medium residential customers, increase from 53.3 percent to 54.7 percent.

• Medium commercial, increase from 4.4 percent to 4.6 percent.

• Large commercial and industrial, increase from 34.2 percent to 36.3 percent.

Largest increase (38 percent) would be for those customers using 20,000 gallons of water. For them the quarterly rate would increase from $20.77 to $28.78.

Small touches make the big difference in decorating. A room grows dull if it has no subtleties to be discovered as you live in it. Accessories — that just right lamp, the little table and, of course, the pictures on the walls — bring life into the big furnishings in the room. So do "intimate" objects that reveal the personalities of the people who live among them. The little things that turn a room into a success aren't always tangible objects. The way the plants are arranged, the pictures hung, the braid trim used, etc. In the weeks to follow, we hope to make you aware of all the little subtleties that will enhance your home.

Welcome to GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110. Small touches do make the big difference at GREEN'S! We do expert picture framing with our own custom picture-framing workroom right on the premises. Just bring in your picture and we will make a custom frame for it of the type you select. That special picture can enhance your room. Remember, if it's time to paint your walls, GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER is the home of FULLER O'BRIEN PAINTS!

DECORATING TIP:

Large pictorial maps are an inexpensive decoration for your den or TV room. Use colored pin markers to point out places you've been, or want to see.

Amish Country—A Trip Back to An Earlier Time

BY JEAN DAY

It's little more than a three-hour trip to Shipshewana, seven miles south of the state line in Indiana, but this Amish area takes visitors back to a way of life reminiscent of an earlier century.

The community of about 490 people, however, merges the past and present every Wednesday when Amish farmers coming to shop are joined by hundreds of tourists at the Shipshewana market.

Last week as Amish families arrived in black wagons to attend the cattle auctions and buy fresh vegetables and fruits at outside stands, a group of 19 members of Northville's Baseline Questers drove south to attend the flea market there.

As members of the international antiques study organization, the women were hoping to find treasures among the flea market wares displayed in open stalls and on lines of tables extending into adjacent fields.

Some did. First purchase was made by Mrs. Stanley Sonk, who spotted a gracefully carved child's wooden skate among a jumble of books, bottles and dishes. She was attending the outdoor market as a guest of Mrs. Leonard Klein.

Mrs. Klein soon was lugging a large copper washtub to her car — a "find" for $15. She also found a large Indian basket in good condition for $3.50 as well as an abacus, which she thought she might give daughter Ellie (a teacher) for her classroom.

Mrs. Harvey Smith organized the outing and planned the route, including a stop at Win Schuler's in Marshall on the way home. She and daughter Valerie found an oak-framed mirror for $3.50.

For others, like Mrs. George Miller who drove down in a van with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Victor Miller, the fun was in seeing black-garbed Amish families as well as inspecting the tables of dolls, clothes, dishes and jewelry.

With Mrs. John Burkman, club president, members wandered beyond the frame-cattle arena where Amish farmers attended farm animal auctions all during the day.

Beside the building were hitched the horses with black buggies which had brought the Amish farmers and their families to the market early in the morning.

Here, too, were the stands of fresh vegetables, appealing citrus fruits and cheeses that both the Amish and flea market visitors buy. Bananas were displayed priced at seven pounds for a dollar and at 10 cents a pound at different stands.

The livestock auctions continue year-round, but the flea market lasts "as long as the weather holds."

The unseasonably balmy weather contributed toward making the outing "an unbelievable day" for the Questers as Mrs. Ross Northrup, Mrs. John Miller, Miss Betty LeMaster and Mrs. T.N. Kampf, Jr., agreed. Iris Kampf added a Spode plate to her collection.

Bundles of bittersweet joined apples, oranges, onions and cider in the car trunks along with the antiques.

Both Mrs. Robert Willoughby and Mrs. Edwin Langtry bought fairy lamps, with Mrs. Langtry aware her green version was a reproduction and Mrs. Willoughby hoping hers wasn't.

Novi Bazaar's This Week

A variety of hand crafts will be demonstrated at the bazaar planned by Holy Cross Episcopal Church, 10 Mile at Taft Road in Novi, for this Saturday.

Basket weaving, wire sculpturing, pottery making, needlepointing, and Tiffany-type art will be done by craftsmen while traditional bazaar items are sold from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Mary Petersen, bazaar chairman, has invited everyone interested in learning more about the crafts to attend. There is no admission charge.

In addition to gift and decorative items, the bazaar will have an attic treasures booth, a bake sale and plant table.

The basket weaving demonstration will be done by Mrs. Theresa Ohno of Plymouth, who also will bring examples of her work.

"The Merry Potter" of Walled Lake will be the guest potter.

Needlepoint and ribbon wreaths will be shown by Loretta Powell while "dough art" will be by Doris White. This is a "fun" craft, using bread dough to create holiday decorations.

Wire sculpture will be done by Geannine Lemieux. James Wofford will demonstrate the Tiffany art and terrariums.

China painting will be explained by Midge Hammel.

Also participating in the bazaar will be Nista's Fashions and Things of Northville.

On the bazaar committee are Arvie Athas, Connie Thompson, Molly Berkaw, Mary Smith, Mary Knauer, Dot Caine, Edith Kundrick, Sarah Everett, Charlene Merritt and Maxine Harden.

A handsome quilt worked by Mrs. Thompson will be awarded at the bazaar.

Since three Novi organizations are holding bazaars this Saturday, they have decided to suggest that bazaar-goers may like to attend all three and will give directions at each location.

Orchard Hills Boosters Club will be holding its bazaar at the school while Village Creek Garden Club's event will be at Novi Methodist Church.

Old Bell Gets New Home In Centennial Celebration

The birth of the nation may be the most widely celebrated anniversary in 1976, but Novi Methodist will also be doing some celebrating in commemoration of their centennial, March 22.

Now the United Methodist Church of Novi, the church will be celebrating the first service 100 years ago in the former Methodist building on Grand River west of Novi Road.

"As an activity of the centennial, we will be constructing a bell tower which hopefully will be ready for consecration at the centennial service," said Reverend Karl Zeigler, pastor at the church.

Ring in the old with the new will be the bell which rang for nearly a century in the old Methodist building.

The new belltower, which will house the old bell, will stand no taller than 20 feet, according to Reverend Zeigler, who said that preliminary sketches were received back from the architect last week though the church has approved no definite design. It probably will be a see through structure standing in front of the church.

"This ties the old building in with the new building," said Reverend Zeigler. The old red building still stands majestically on Grand River but is now in use as a nursery.

When the Novi Methodist and the Evangelical United Brethren (EUB) joined forces as the United Methodist Church of Novi in 1969, the EUB building at Novi Road and Meadowbrook was decided upon as the church building to be used in the future.

Coordinator for the centennial committee is Gilbert Henderson, who was elected mayor of Novi in the last election. The centennial committee is made up of 15 persons while two sub-committees will be helping in the festivities.

One of the sub-committees will be writing a history of both churches, the Novi Methodist and the Evangelical United Brethren.

Special guest speaker for the occasion will be United Methodist Bishop Dwight Loder

Argus, Herald Staffers Win Writing Awards

National awards for excellence in writing have been won by two staffers of Sliger Home Newspapers.

Dorothy Shipley of The South Lyon Herald and Barbara Johnson of The Brighton Argus received the awards for editorial and feature writing, respectively.

Dorothy's award was presented at the editorial conference of Suburban Newspapers of America in St. Louis, Missouri. It was a "Certificate of Excellence" for an editorial appearing in The Herald concerning secret sessions of the city council.

Dorothy is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has been a staff reporter for Sliger Home Newspapers for two years. She is a native of Northville.

Barbara won honorable mention recognition for a feature article resulting from a night spent in Livingston County jail. Arrangements were made to have The Argus reporter spend a night in jail without other women prisoners being aware she was a reporter.

The award was presented by the National Newspaper Association at its recent fall meeting in Las Vegas. Barbara has been on the editorial staff of The Argus

A brother and sister from South Lyon, received high honors last month in the Third Grand National Morgan Horse Show held October 16-19 in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Charles Sessink, 15, a sophomore at South Lyon High School, and his older sister Cynthia, 18, claimed several awards during the four day show.

Riding his stallion "Mar Jo's Co Star" young Sessink captured the Reserve Championship in the Grand National Amateur Western Pleasure Morgan division. The South Lyon Youth also qualified for the Championship in Morgan Western Pleasure (Open) and was among the top 10 riders in the Grand National Championship for Western Pleasure Morgans.

Miss Sessink, riding "Mar Jo's Ringo", captured the Reserve Championship in the Hunt Seat Equitation Medal Class. Both riders are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sessink of South Lyon.

Although winter is now fast approaching in Michigan many trail riding fans are already planning their adventures for next spring and summer.

Succulents Make Good Houseplants

By KATHY COPLEY

Succulents are identified as plants which store moisture inside fleshy leaves and stems and grow in situations from deserts to rain forests. They make good houseplants because they readily adapt themselves to neglect and the hot, dry atmosphere of the average house.

In general, they require lots of light, warm, dry air, little fertilizing, and infrequent but generous watering with drying out periods in between. They do best in soil which is gritty, so make a mixture heavy on sand. Add just a little humus or peat moss to retain moisture.

Several succulents are good for hanging baskets, so popular now. Aptenia, or ice plant, is used as a fast-growing ground cover in California, but is also good here as a basket plant. It has purple flowers 1/2" wide. Give this plant a sunny spot with average temperature; keep the soil on the moist side.

Though the flowers of the Orchid Cactus are more like water lilies, they have good foliage for a semi-shaded basket.

Wax Plant, or Hoya, is perhaps the most familiar of the hanging succulents. Hoya has attractive, glossy, thick leaves and fragrant white or pink star-like flowers which bloom continuously during spring and summer. During the bloom period, Hoya requires generous watering, but keep it on the dry side for the dormant winter period.

This relative of the common milkweed can also be trained on a trellis or large piece of bark. It is affected by scale and, mealy bugs, but Malathion controls them both.

Aloe is often described as the desert lily. Its individual wedge-shaped leaves grow up to 24" long. The leaves contain a gelatinous substance which the Indians learned long ago contains medicinal properties. Keep a plant by the stove so you can break off a leaf tip to rub on a minor burn.

It is the Aloe Vera which is widely used in moisturizing cosmetics and sun tan-burn preparations

1-3 Card Of Thanks

THE FAMILY of the late James L. McCarty wishes to publicly thank the many people who performed countless acts of kindness during his long illness. None of these acts, words or gestures will be forgotten, but due to human frailty and inattention, some may not receive personal notes. In the socially prescribed time. We are most anxious that you, who know what you did, know also that these are the things which sustained him during his latter days, and us, when the devastation of his passing clouded our lives. We thank God for having had him for far too short a time and for friends in whose memory he still lives.

Mrs. James L. McCarty and Family

For Paul

He lay crying on the ground
staring at a drying leaf.
A whimper was his mournful sound betraying his innocent grief.
I asked him, "What is wrong?"
he answered without a glance.
I told him to sing a happy song
so the drying leaf might dance.
He whispered an answer, "I don't know a song."
So I told him, "I'll help you compose one."
He shook his head. Again, "What is wrong?"
He said, "I can't tell anyone."
With prodding he surrendered his secret to me and the grief his young heart did bear.
He whispered, "I don't like the falling leaves"
(finger to the ground) "I don't like them there."
In the five year old heart a realization of life and oh, what a burden to bear.
I tried to explain that in death there is life and that he needn't show worry nor fear.
Pointing to the trees and their unencumbered branches,
I told him the leaves would return in a while.
And pointing out their spindly, bent stances explained they needed rest from life's trial.
He looked at me through misty eyes
as though he understood what I said.
And presently ceased his sobbing sighs,
"You mean, they're not really dead?"
"At last," I thought, "I have reached him.
I have eased his mourning heart."
So then I spoke once again to him,
"Yes, lives may stop but new ones start."

Thomas Zimmerman

By CLIFF HILL

I received a charming letter from Ruth V. Wolff of Novi. Let me share it with you:

"Your column is most enjoyable to all of us who love to travel.

"My most exciting and unforgettable trip was a 54-day adventure to the South Pacific in 1968, and the outstanding island was New Guinea. We left Port Moresby for Mt. Hagea on Friday, August 9 in an old DC-3 with canvas seats facing the aisle, wooden floors, rings on the side where paratroopers dove out during World War II. The flight took 2 1/2 hours over lush green highlands, in heavy rain.

"Our first glimpse of natives was in an open market. What a sight! Women squatted in front of their wares, nursing babies or carrying them in slings across their backs. Men walked around with tail feathers of green grasses and meager strings in front; rings and shells through noses and ears; and all the women naked from the waist up. While all of this was exciting, the next day was a real adventure!

"Our guide, an Australian, learned of a "sing-sing" in the Highlands. Since these events are very rare, the guide determined to locate one of them for us. We loaded into an old bus (17 of us) and bumped over dirt roads for 17 miles. Finally, our guide sought and obtained permission for us to attend the gala event which was being held for paying off debts and to celebrate a wedding.

"There were over 1,000 natives milling about, all of them in grotesque make-up, painted faces and smelling of pig fat that was smeared all over their bodies. These warriors were chanting and swaying.

"The bride's price was 25 pigs and large, flat shells brought out on long poles. The pigs were tied to stakes. The intense heat and odors were very bad. A mob fight broke out, and our guide hustled us out and down to the bus, which to our dismay was stuck in the mud. No problem — scores of natives appeared out of the bushes, spears in hand but grinning, and they pushed the bus and we were thankfully on our way.

"We learned that some of the natives had never seen a group of white people before. On the way back we passed a village where four men had been murdered the night before. It was too dangerous to visit, but several women appeared to stare at us. They were covered with mud — a sign of mourning — which they would leave on their bodies for three or four months. They also wipe the fluid from the corpses onto their bodies to absorb the spirit of the dead.

"It rained most of the way back to Mt. Hagea, but there were always friendly natives to help us on our way."

Thank you, Mrs. Wolff, for your kindness in writing to me. I hope you will write about several of your other trips — the one in 1969 to Marrakech for three weeks should prove interesting.

Airlines have a new regulation making it mandatory to have your name and address displayed prominently on the exterior of each piece of luggage.

My suggestion is to put your travel agent's address there instead. At least he should know your itinerary. Or use the address of your office or place of employment. Anything to prevent the agent of a gang of thieves from spreading the word that your home is ripe for robbery.

Tahquamenon

At the arch of a stately cathedral of trees,
Hushed in awesome silence, entranced
By this hallowed place of infinite peace,
Beamed with limbs in wondrous expanse;

Thus came a truly great moment of life
Of the kind that comes rarely, if ever to man,
And only then if apart from the strife
That festers the mind in this earthly span.

A moment transcendent, unbounded by time
Though transient, forever eternal it seemed,
Like a promise fulfilled of heaven sublime,
Surpassing illusion or visions undreamed.

It was there for the taking, and ever will be,
As we make the effort this earth to explore
For release of the spirit and a need to be free,
And we find true bliss and joy evermore.

Charles E. Hutton

Editor's Note: The following poem was written by Allan Young, a Brighton resident who was killed in a traffic accident Saturday, October 25. Mr. Young wrote the poem to his wife, the former Mary Jane Voorhis of Brighton, while serving in Vietnam. It was read at his funeral Tuesday, October 28.

Life to me is strange at times;
With many hard knocks and unsolved rhymes;
Prepare for this, get ready for that;
Trying to put it where it really is at;
So long be the waits, so brief the tries;
To figure out the too many whys;
To suffer through the hardest blow;
Striving to maintain that status quo;
Judged by some and judging a few
Pray the rat race approves of you
Obtain a head, and govern its use
Ignore the sneers, indifference, abuse
All too true, our world would be cold
If laughter were silent, ears were gold
Living in eyes, instead of in souls
'Tis hoping for fire, but getting the coals
To need for consolation from strange new faces
Is needing for less by the changing of places
Poor binds of faith will surely splice
By the receiving of once and forgetting of twice
Heaven perhaps is emotion we share
That someone to listen and maybe to care
I know such a person in this land
Forever to that end I give her my hand.

Allan Young

Sail Boats

I love sail boats a lot!
You sail when it's hot.
Just hearing seagulls in the air,
I really wouldn't even care.

Watching fishermen fish.
You lay on the sail boat and wish,
that you could sail alone,
If the sun still shown.

Go swimming and get all wet!
Sit on the sail boat and watch the sun set!
It's time to go
the end is so.

A Bee

I think that I shall never see
An insect lively as a bee;

A bee who calls a log his home
And at his will takes off to roam;

A bee who will in summer wear
The pleasant odor of your hair;

I think I'll never hear nor see
Quite such a sound as, "Darn that Bee!"

One such person is Judith

As fascinating as the sale were the Amish shoppers. All the women wore a head covering, tied at the neck, and called a "kapp" (or cap) and considered a part of their religious belief to wear. They are made only at home, a Quester told when she sought to buy one.

Men's wide-brim black hats of fur felt are sold in the town's Yoder Department Store and cost a hefty $19.50,
according to Sliger publications photographer
James Galbraith, who bought one.

The department store across the street from the market area is worth a look for any visitor, the Questers agreed, as its large yard goods section is filled with bolts of plain cloth and other departments stock
black stocking and shoes.

It is the largest store in the community where visitors at the market only needed to

Make Good
Houseplants

The apricot, yellow, and scarlet flowers of the Kalanchoe are especially popular at Christmas. They do best in a sunny, or semi-sunny window with cool to average house temperatures.
Let this plant dry out well between waterings, but don't go so far as to let the leaves begin to droop.

One of the most widely grown of the succulents is Crassula argentea, the Jade
Tree. Its thick, leathery leaves and contorted stems make it decorative in a modern sense. Its popularity is furthered because it thrives on neglect. Be patient, and it may even bloom every 10-15 years.

Pisha's Receptions Highlight Novi Victory

John Pisha had his Novi varsity football coaches wondering if he had magnets in his hands.

Pisha, a junior, who has only played tight end in the last three games, made three "circus" catches, two of which led to Wildcat touchdowns in Novi's 20-15 victory at Carleton Airport High School Friday.

Pisha's pass catching efforts left his Novi coaches talking in amazement. Although he only caught three passes during the game, all the receptions came on third and long yardage situations. Each of the receptions, all from passes thrown by Junior Quarterback Randy Wroten, were spectacular grabs made between Airport defenders. "The passes Wroten threw him were alley-oop type passes," Novi Coach John Osborne said. "Pisha was just too long and too tall for the Airport defenders."

Pisha's first reception of the game came early in the first quarter, after Airport had recovered a Novi fumble and scored the first touchdown of the game.

Facing a third and long yardage situation, Wroten went to Pisha with a pass. Pisha circled between three Airport defenders, reached high to catch the football, and when he was finally tackled the play had covered 58 yards and Novi had a first down at Airport's 12 yard line.

On the next play from scrimmage Wroten put the Wildcats on the board with their opening touchdown of the night on a 12 yard run. Senior Ben Galyon kicked the extra point to knot the score at seven points apiece.

Later in the game, on another third down situation, with nine yards to go for a first down, Wroten again threw to Pisha, who grabbed the ball away from the Airport defenders and was dragged down only after gaining 10 yards for a first down. This catch did not result in a touchdown, but did keep a Wildcat offensive drive moving longer.

Again, this time in the fourth quarter, facing a third down and being 10 yards away from a first down, Wroten threw the football. Pisha's sticky fingers grabbed the pigskin and his fleet feet enabled him to gain 30 yards on the play. Two plays later Senior Fullback Doug Maier scored Novi's final touchdown of the game and the season on a four yard run. Galyon missed the extra point kick.

Earlier, in the second quarter of play, Junior Halfback Andy McComas put Novi ahead with a nine yard scoring run. Galyon made good on the extra point kick. The outcome of the game was still up in the air during the final quarter, however, because Airport's players connected on a 60 yard scoring pass play and added the two point conversion after the touchdown.

In the events following Airport's touchdown, Novi was stopped offensively and the Carleton Airport squad took over and moved the football to Novi's 20 yard line. Then it was again a case of Pisha's fingers latching onto a football, this time after an Airport fumble. The recovery stopped Airport's final scoring threat.

Pisha's three pass receptions on offense for Novi were good for 98 yards. He was also no slouch in the tackle department, earning 12 tackle points with six first hits and six assists. Coach Osborne also commended Pisha for some "fine blocks on offense."

Wroten completed five of nine passes for a total of 114 yards. He was also the leading rusher with 77 yards in 15 attempts. McComas was second to Wroten in the rushing with 69 yards in 14 attempts. Senior Bryant Hammond gained 38 yards in seven attempts, and Maier had 30 yards in seven carries.

Novi's offense had a total of 48 rushing plays for 223 yards. The Wildcats reached a total net offensive figure of 337 yards.

"We played well overall," Osborne said. "We broke down a couple times offensively as far as identifying our blocking assignments. Defensively we did real well."

The win boosts Novi's season record to a 4-5 mark. The Wildcats were 3-4 against Southeastern Conference teams.

"It's too bad that we didn't pick up momentum until the end of the year," Osborne said. "The kids showed a lot of character and a great deal of improvement."

"We were 1-5 at one point," he noted. "I give the seniors a lot of credit for sticking in there and making something out of the season."

Novi played well on defense throughout the year. Pisha, Sasena, Hammond, and Junior Bob Banatz led the alert defensive play with each player getting a fumble recovery.

Bannatz was high on the tackle charts with 10 first hits and two assists.

Athletes of the Week

Tracey Piscopink

Tracey Piscopink, senior co-captain of Northville's Varsity Swimming team, has earned Mustang of the Week honors by virtue of her performance at the Western Six Swim Meet, where Northville finished on top of the team competition. Piscopink topped the competition in the 100 yard butterfly, placing first in that event with a 1:10.0 time. She was also a member of the 200 yard medley relay team which placed first by setting a new pool record of 2:00.4

Mark Morland

Mark Morland, a junior defensive nose guard and offensive guard, is the Mustang of the Week. Northville coaches credit him with leading the team in tackles with 16 tackle points, including 10 first hits and six assists, in last Friday's win over South Lyon. "Northville coaches said Morland was making tackles 'all over the field' for the Mustangs. He was also given credit for fine work on offense where he opened up running space for the Northville backs with his blocks."

Mary Kardel

Mary Kardel, senior co-captain of Novi's Varsity Basketball team, is this week's Wildcat of the Week. Normally a stronger rebounder than scorer, Kardel hit double figures in the scoring column in both of last week's games. She scored 14 points in a victory against Brighton and 11 points in another win over Chelsea. Those totals earned her honors as the high point scorer in both of the games.

John Pisha

John Pisha, Novi's junior defensive tackle and offensive tight end, earned Wildcat of the Week honors in Novi's victory over Carleton Airport Friday. Offensively Pisha caught three passes for a total of 98 yards. Two of the receptions were instrumental in Novi's touchdowns. Defensively Pisha also played an outstanding game, earning 12 tackle points for six first hits and six assists. He also blocked well from his tight end position.

Southeastern Conference Football Squad Selected

Novi's varsity football team is represented by two players on the All-Southeastern Conference football team, one on offense and one on defense.

Doug Maier, Novi's 5-10, 180 pound senior linebacker, is an All-Conference selection on the defensive squad. On offense Jeff Slattery, a 5-10, 150 pound senior end, gained an All-Conference designation.

All-Conference selections are made by a vote of the coaches. First place Chelsea dominates the team with ten players, four on defense and six on offense.

Novi Varsity Football Coach John Osborne said that he would have liked to place more of his players on the conference team, but the team's 3-4 league record leaves him with a poor bargaining position.

Four other Novi Wildcat players were selected to the second All-League team. John Pisha, a 6-4, 185 pound tackle and Andy McComas, a 5-10, 165 pound halfback, were selected on the second offensive team. McComas and Pisha also were voted to the second defensive unit.

McComas at end and Pisha again at the tackle slot. Both players are juniors.

Members of the Southeastern Conference first offensive team are: Saline end Dave VonBruda; Chelsea tackle Dennis Bauer; Chelsea tackle Don Sullivan, Lincoln guard Ron Wree; Milan guard Fred Peterson; Chelsea center Jim Marshall; Chelsea quarterback Randy Guenther; Chelsea, running back Howard Sawyer; Chelsea running back Tony Robards; and Lincoln running back Dean Amrhein.

The first defensive unit members are: Lincoln end Amrhein; Chelsea end Jim Boyer; Chelsea tackle Leon Brown; Chelsea tackle Rex Miles; Milan middle guard Fred Peterson; Lincoln linebacker Linard; Wesley; Chelsea defensive back Bauer; Milan defensive back, Al Tellig; Saline defensive back David Fosdick; and Brighton defensive back Bob Schmidt.

Feole Wins Contest

Obviously, it wasn't an easy week to pick football winners — some 90 persons missed five games or more.

In fact, it was so tough that not a single entry missed fewer than three games.

First place went to Ardyce Feole, 1947 Maxwell, who came up with three mistakes.

The second and third place winners missed four games, as did 24 other contestants, so the finish was based on the scores submitted for the Detroit-Cleveland contest.

Actually, Steve Stuart of 292 Sherrie Lane finished second, while three other contestants tied for third. The three are Brad Goyt, of 4118 McMahon, Greg Suckow of 917 Novi Street, and Glen Sola of Ypsilanti. Second place Stuart almost made a perfect guess of Detroit's win over Cleveland. He had the Lions winning by a score of 20-10, when in fact they won 21-10.

The three contestants who tied for third were three points off the correct score.

Most missed games this past week included:

North Carolina's 15-14 squeaker over Penn State, West Virginia's 17-14 triumph over Pittsburgh, Colorado's 17-7 win over Oklahoma State, and Iowa's 45-29 victory over Wisconsin.

The other contestants who missed four games but who finished out of the money were:

'Basketball Fever' Revived

Novi Moves into Second Place

The rumor is that "basketball fever" is alive and well at Novi High School. This rumor stems from a reliable source — Novi Basketball Coach Chris Hayward.

The cause for high spirits is the ascension of Novi's Girls' Basketball team to second place in the Southeastern Conference Basketball standings, behind the Lincoln and Dexter teams who are tied for first place.

Last week a false report that the Dexter team had an unbeaten record had dimmed Novi's hopes for a league title. Coach Hayward said then that she refused to give up and noted that her team won the league last year with two losses.

Her Novi cagers now stand with a 5-2 record against conference teams, but their position is somewhat different. Now both of the teams in front of Novi in the standings have one loss, and the Novi cagers have to play both Lincoln and Dexter before the end of the season. Both of Novi's losses this season have come in games against Dexter and Lincoln. Also, the Dexter and Lincoln teams have to play each other before the season ends.

What this all boils down to is that if Novi wins the rest of its league games the Wildcats will win the Southeastern Conference crown. Even if they lose a conference game along the way they still have a shot at the title.

"So that never-say-die attitude is paying off," Coach Hayward said.

Novi's varsity team put two more victories under their belts last week, raising the overall season record against all opponents to an 8-2 mark. Senior Co-Captain Mary Kardel led Novi scorers in both of last week's victories.

She scored in double figures in both games, notching 14 points in a Southeastern Conference game against Brighton and 11 points in another league match against Chelsea.

Novi's team won both games easily, defeating Brighton by a 47-26 score last Tuesday and beating Chelsea by a 43-28 mark last Thursday.

Coach Hayward said her team played "pressure basketball" in both victories, using a full court press for most of each game.

The full court press is an addition to Novi's basketball arsenal. Coach Hayward added the maneuver after Lincoln used it effectively in defeating Novi. Coach Hayward hopes to turn the tables on Lincoln in a game that was scheduled for Tuesday at Novi, by using a full court press against Lincoln. The press has been effective for Novi in its recent victories. Novi's other loss came against Dexter.

Seven other Novi players also scored in the victory over Brighton. Patty Cameron had ten points, Lari Neutz had a personal high of eight points, and Dede McAllen scored seven points. Janet Cook, Elaine Maki, Carol Poyhonen, and Patti Ward each had two points.

Against Chelsea there were also seven players who followed leading scorer Kardel McAllen each had eight, Cook and Maki each had seven, Cameron had four, Neutz scored three, Mary Fisher had two and Joan Collin had one point.

Coach Hayward commended Kardel for fine work in the Chelsea game when she played against taller opponents. Kardel, a senior co-captain of the Novi team, used her experience and game savvy, gained in four years of basketball competition, to better the taller opponents who were less experienced, Coach Hayward said.

HIGH SCORER—Lari Neutz, a Novi varsity basketball player, reached a personal high of eight points in a Wildcat victory over Brighton last week. She is shown here attempting a shot against Brighton. In another game against Chelsea last week, which Novi also won, Neutz scored three points.

Jayvee Cagers Remain Unbeaten

Mary Ann Wizinski led Novi's junior varsity basketball team in the scoring department during two victories last week, helping raise her team's record to a perfect 13-0 mark for the season.

The Wildcat junior varsity quintet needs only one more victory to be assured of no worse than a tie in the Southeastern Conference standings.

Wizinski netted 11 points in a lopsided 32-5 win over Brighton last Tuesday here. The Wildcats held Brighton scoreless in the first three periods of play. Brighton scored its first points of the game with 4:08 to play in the final quarter when it made good on a free throw.

Other Novi scorers included: Anne Robinson with eight, Ricci Mulligan with three, and Betty Banks, Laura Birou, Polly Sinclair, Sue Beal, and Sue Valentine each with two points.

Novi's junior varsity went on to win a closer contest by a 22-12 score last Thursday at Chelsea. Wizinski had nine points to lead the Novi scorers in that game.

Birou had seven, Beal and Heather Barr each had two, and Mulligan and Shelly Brough scored one point apiece for the Mustangs.

Novi Coach Chris Hayward calls the junior varsity cagers "an energetic group of kids" and she expresses pride in the fact that the team has held its opponents scoreless in 12 quarters this season.

The junior varsity team has been scoring at an average of 33 points per game, while holding its opponents to only 17 points per game.

Pond Scores 14

Despite Ann Pond's 14 point effort, Northville's junior varsity basketball team fell to a 38-19 defeat against Waterford Mott, last Thursday in Northville.

Liz Pixley and Donna Korte added two points apiece for Northville, while Cindy Berard scored one point.

Coach Muriel Bedford gave Pond and Korte credit for playing very good defensive games

Northville Cagers Almost Win

The old expression, "Close, but no cigar" applies to Northville's basketball loss to Waterford Mott, last Thursday in Northville.

The girls, who now have a 0-12 mark on the season, led Mott during three quarters of play in their closest bid for a victory this season. Holding a one point lead, the Mustangs were outscored 18-7 in the final quarter, losing the game by a 47-37 score.

VanWagner to Repeat As Rushing Champion

Michigan Tech's junior tailback Jim VanWagner, of Novi, finished the 1975 football season with another fine running game and appears certain of repeating as the NCAA Division II rushing champion.

VanWagner led the Huskies of Michigan Tech to a 21-9 victory over Ferris State, November 1, in the final game of the season. The victory gives the Huskies a 7-2 season record, while Ferris, with one game remaining, is 0-9.

Entering the game as the nation's leading ground gainer in NCAA Division II with a 145 yard average per game, VanWagner carried the ball 29 times for 166 yards and two touchdowns. That performance raised his season average to 147.9 yards rushing per game.

He is also first in scoring with a 12.1 points per game mark. VanWagner scored on runs of 35 and two yards against Ferris. He was also on the receiving end of one three-yard pass, and returned one kickoff 20 yards.

JV's Lose

Final Game

Novi's junior varsity football team ended its season on a losing note with a 12-8 loss to Carleton Airport Thursday at Novi.

The Wildcats scored the first time they had the football when Tom Yakel capped a long drive with a one yard run. Jeff Bunker added the points after touchdown on a running play.

The loss drops Novi's junior varsity football record to a 1-8 mark. The Wildcats were 1-6 against Southeastern Conference competition

Press Award Goes to Northville Record

The Northville Record was honored Friday evening at the 58th annual meeting of the University Press Club of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The Excellence in Journalism award for 1975 was presented to The Record by Raymond L. Gover, president of the University Press Club and editor of The Saginaw News.

Annually for the past 10 years the University Press Club has selected one daily and one weekly newspaper from the state which it considers outstanding. Entries are not sought or accepted. A committee of state newspaper people makes its selection from all publications throughout Michigan.

Chosen from the state's dailies for the Excellence in Journalism award for 1975 was the Ann Arbor News.

In his presentation remarks Editor Gover noted "The Record has a consistency of excellence that is most appealing. Especially impressive is its use of news briefs on page one, its organization with reader convenience in mind; its completeness in providing information which people in Northville ought to know; its writing standards which are high; consistently good use of photographs throughout the newspaper; excellent use of white space and odd measure columns for attractive makeup, and last, but certainly not least, signed editorials focusing on local issues.

"I really cannot conceive of living in Northville and not subscribing to The Record. It provides vital information about the community that cannot be obtained elsewhere," Gover concluded.

Accepting the award for The Record was Jack Hoffman, assistant to the publisher, Roland Peterson, managing editor of The Brighton Argus, attended the Press Club session with Hoffman. In 1972 The Argus, a sister publication of The Record, was recipient of the University Press Club Excellence in Journalism award. South Lyon Herald Managing Editor Phillip Jerome also attended.

In honoring the Ann Arbor News Gover pointed out the problems of editing a newspaper "for an audience which no doubt is the most diverse in Michigan — an audience that includes extremists from both right and left; an audience that includes middle America, the silent majority and Main-street. It means providing information for an audience that includes leaders in the field of science, medicine, law and the arts — many with worldwide reputations; it means editing a paper for presidential advisers and also for farmers, factory workers and the thousands of students on campus — many coming from different states and countries to make up a community within a community."

He cited News Editor Art Gallagher for meeting the challenge and for the newspaper's strong coverage in the fields of science, medicine, education and government.

Speakers at the two-day program included Thomas G. Gies, professor of finance at the University's graduate school of business, and Marquis Childs, Pulitzer prize winning Washington columnist.

Parents Ask Board For Students' Safety

A student whose hand was ripped by another student at Meads Mill Middle School in early October is still being withheld from attending school, as is his sister.

The parents of the youth, Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison, appeared before the Northville School Board Monday night, seeking assurances from the board that this would not happen again to their child "or to any of the other children in the school," Morrison said.

They said they will not return their children to school until such guarantees can be made.

Dr. Orlo Robinson, school board president, urged parents to return the children to the school. "The longer you wait, the harder it will be," he added.

Mrs. Morrison said that on Sunday, she received information that the youth who injured her son "has threatened to kill him when he returns to school. He threatened to rip his hand apart before he injured our son and he did that."

The Morrisons also said they felt the boy who injured their son should have been expelled from school rather than spend three days in the principal's office.

Dr. Robinson said the board will further investigate the situation and hopefully will come up with a decision at the December meeting.

He also urged the Morrisons to inform the county juvenile court authorities, the other boy's mother and the Morrison's attorney of the additional threats against the Morrison youth.

Northville Township Police have decided not to prosecute the boy who injured Morrison's son and Morrison said he is bringing charges against the youth himself.

Officers Arrest Two In Car Theft Cases

In Northville

A 17-year-old Detroit youth has been arraigned on a charge of auto theft and a 16-year-old Detroit youth faces similar charges in juvenile court following the theft of two cars from Northville Downs parking lot late Saturday night.

Arraigned on the charge Monday morning before 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis was Jesse Ray Floyd. His plea of "guilty" was not accepted by the judge and a plea of mute was entered by the court on his behalf. Examination was set for November 20 and Floyd is free on $3,000 personal bond.

City police said Floyd is charged with the theft of a 1975 Mercury Monarch. The car, owned by a Farmington man, was stopped by Northville city and township officers on Seven Mile Road, just west of Newburgh.

In a related incident, a 1975 Ford Torino Elite, allegedly stolen by the Detroit juvenile, was recovered in a field near Haggerty and Six Mile Road after a high speed chase in which a Northville city police car was damaged.

Police spotted the car east-bound on Seven Mile and gave chase. The chase went south-bound on Haggerty where police pulled alongside the stolen vehicle. The youth ignored police signals to pull over and police rammed the car at Five and Haggerty Road.

The police car then struck a utility pole and the stolen vehicle turned around and headed north on Haggerty where the juvenile lost control south of Six Mile and hit a tree.

The police officers escaped injury but the youth was taken to Wayne County General Hospital and checked for possible injuries.

Audio-visual equipment valued at $420 was reported stolen from Northville High School library area. The theft was discovered Friday.

Missing are a movie camera, tape recorder and two cables. The equipment was last seen in September.

A blue suitcase containing men's clothing was stolen from the northside of Allen Monuments on South Main Street sometime between November 2 and 3.

The suitcase and its contents are valued at $180, reports said.

Two destruction of property cases were reported to police over the weekend. Both took place late Saturday or early Sunday.

The windshield of a 1975 Blazer was stolen while the vehicle was parked behind the city police station. And new sod in the 400 block of Fairbrook was damaged when a motorcycle was driven across the lawn.

Sentencing has been set for November 19 for Terrance

William Erway of Lennon after he was found guilty of a charge of armed robbery.

Erway was found guilty of robbing Northville Lanes last April. He was tried before Wayne County Circuit Judge Ivan Burdick.

Last month, he was sentenced to 15 years for armed robbery of a bank in Farmington Hills. That robbery took place the same day as the bowling alley hold-up and Erway was arrested as he was boarding a plane at Metro Airport.

In Township

A South Lyon man was treated for cuts and bruises early Saturday morning after the car he was driving ran off Five Mile Road and struck a tree just west of Northville Forest Drive.

Injured was Edward Louis Oleksy. He was treated at St. Mary Hospital and released.

Witnesses told township police the Oleksy vehicle was westbound on Five Mile about 2:10 a.m. when it crossed the centerline, drove onto the shoulder, across a lawn and crashed into a tree. The impact with the tree caused the car to roll over on its side.

Oleksy told police he fell asleep at the wheel. No tickets were issued.

Auto parts and other items valued at nearly $400 were stolen from a car parked in the 18600 area of Innsbrook last week Tuesday night.

Missing from the vehicle are an am-fm stereo radio, 12 tapes and a pair of hockey skates. The theft was discovered in the early evening.

A 1970 Ford stolen from Kings Mill and recovered last week near Eight Mile and Telegraph had approximately $500 worth of equipment damaged and stolen.

Owner told township officers the ignition had been punched, the transmission was destroyed and the radio and two outside mirrors stolen.

A rock thrown through a window in the 19400 area of Althea Court caused more than $150 damage to the sliding door wall. The damage took place shortly after 7 p.m. last Tuesday.

Township police stopped a motorist Saturday night near Seven Mile and Maxwell for a loud muffler and ended up with more than they expected. The driver was found to be a 15-year-old juvenile from Detroit who had taken his parents' car without permission. Beer was also found in the vehicle, police reported.

In Wixom

Close to $300 in vandalism was discovered at Loon Lake Elementary November 3, according to Wixom police reports. Five windows were discovered broken by stones.

Two plate glass 3' x 5' windows were valued at $109 each.

A subject driving on old black Mercury is being sought in an attempted breaking and entering at Village Apartments November 5.

According to police reports, a resident heard a knock at the door during the night but decided not to answer. He went into the living room and saw a male looking in a window. The subject then forced open the window and put his foot inside the apartment.

At that point, the resident pulled back the curtain causing the subject to run from the premises and leave in the Mercury.

A 4' x 6' plate glass window valued at $400 was found broken by a rock November 6 at the Wixom General Store.

In Novi

A 21-year-old Detroit man was arrested for disorderly person November 4 after he allegedly left the scene of two personal injury accidents only to become involved in a third.

According to traffic officer Max Roder, arrested was Roberto Sirois. He was reportedly driving north on Novi Road when he struck the rear end of a Volkswagen, north of 12 Mile Road. When the Volkswagen pulled over, the other driver kept going. He was followed by the Volkswagen driven by John Loy, 45, of Detroit, and another witness vehicle.

Just north of 12 1/2 Mile Road, the subject vehicle several times struck the rear-end of a pick-up truck which ran off the east side of the road, rolling over on its side and back into the traffic lane.

While the witness vehicle stopped and picked up the driver of the pick-up truck, Rodney Myers, 40 of Milford, the subject vehicle continued north and at the point where Novi Road turns into East Lake Drive reportedly struck almost head-on a car in the opposing lane. That car was being driven by Arnold Dawson of Dearborn Heights.

Police arrived shortly and arrested Sirois. He was charged with reckless driving, and two counts of leaving the scene of a personal injury accident. Possible other charges are pending. He was lodged in Oakland County Jail, arraigned in 52nd District Court and released on bond.

Found in Sirois' car was suspected marijuana and other controlled substances. He had also been drinking.

Loy received a possible injury while Myers received a non-incapacitating injury to the hand and knee. Both reportedly refused to be taken to the hospital and later went on their own.

Dawson was taken to Botsford Hospital with non-incapacitating head injuries. Sirois was reportedly not injured.

Six hundred dollars worth of items were taken November 10 during a breaking and entering of the Northwest Industries, 39550 Grand River.

According to reports, a men's room window was broken out to gain entry.

Discovered missing was an Omeron calculator, Weatherby rifle, and a Herald Public address system.

A 1974 U-Haul 24 foot van was stolen November 6-7 from the 1-96 Sunoco. Value was listed as $8,500.

STOLEN WEDNESDAY—This 1971 Ford, stolen Wednesday from Redford Township, was pulled from Swan Harbour Lake in Highland Lakes the same afternoon by Northville Township Police and divers from Michigan State Police. The car, owned by a Farmington man, had the ignition punched and radio stolen. Tire tracks leading off the cliff tipped off police that a car had been dumped in the lake. At the scene, officers opened the trunk just to be sure no foul play was involved in the incident.

For Novi Employees

Amend Residency Law

In one of its final actions before the election, Novi Council October 3rd approved an ordinance amending the residency requirement for some city employees to allow them two years to move into Novi instead of the previous six months.

The ordinance, previously had required that all persons from a community with a residency requirement who were hired by the city of Novi had to move into the city within six months. Police Chief Lee BeGole commented, "I think that would be a very fair amendment. I find it's almost impossible to sell a house."

Because a formal ordinance for amendment had not been prepared previously by the city attorney, at the suggestion of city attorney David Fried, the council resolved that only a summary would be published to satisfy the 10 day publication requirement.

The ordinance applies only to employees who come from cities with residency requirements and not employees who come from cities with no residency requirement.

The ordinance was approved unanimously.

Board Denies Grievance

Denial of a grievance, a notice of retirement and hiring of a special education teacher, were among personnel matters acted upon by Northville School Board.

A grievance, filed by Local 547 which covers classified personnel in the district, was unanimously denied by the board.

Union members had charged that when the district hired personnel from the Plymouth School District to install playground equipment at Winchester Elementary they were undermining the union.

However, a hearing held by the school board's personnel subcommittee found that "no violation exists and the men hired were not used for the purpose of undermining the union," subcommittee chairman Sylvia Gucken said.

Chamber Elects

Lyon President

Richard Lyon was named president of the Northville Chamber of Commerce at the first meeting of the chamber's new board last Thursday.

Aaron Gellerman was chosen vice president with Ann Roy as secretary and Michael Previle as treasurer.

Lyon assumed the presidency from Mrs. Marge Cinader who will serve as chairman of the 1976 Northville Fair.

Next board meeting is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. December 3 at the office of Lee Holland.

Grant Landfill

On 11-Mile

Approval for a landfill license for Sugden, Incorporated which would include relocation of a portion of the Bassett Drain was approved by Novi Council November 3.

The permit was issued for 24 months and can be renewed upon approval of council. Proposal was to place earth fill on 17 acres of property west of the Sugden property on a parcel owned by S.O.S. Consolidated, Incorporated between 11 Mile Road and Interstate Highway 1-96.

The plan calls for relocation of part of the county Bassett Drain into an 83 foot wide easement along the easterly line of the S.O.S. property. While the fill will go into a natural storm water retention area, retention area adjacent to the relocated drain will be created.

Goodfellows, Historical Society Set Plans

BY NANCY DINGELDEY

For some months now I have been doing a sort of survey on TV commercials. Apparently the barrage of "rot" being sold on the tube is considered to be so bad that I am not the only one bringing up the topic.

There is something of value to be found in the subject however. Commercials are a good source of conversation.

Consider the possibility of being at a party, not knowing too many people and feeling as though the evening was dragging. Bring up the subject of commercials ... before long, everyone is involved voicing their own particular "grinder". And there surely is enough there to talk about for weeks.

I have my own set of "hatefulness" ... aspirin commercials drive me up a wall. As far as the feminine hygiene products are concerned I would so no more than to join hundreds of thousands of people all over the country who are screaming about them.

I hear that Ohio and California residents are being tested for public reaction on the advertising of certain male type products. Just what the tube needs!

Do you ever get the feeling that cigarette commercials weren't so bad after all? At least seeing a horse and rider barreling across the screen publicizing a brand of cigarettes wasn't as distasteful as the boudoir scene where mother hands daughter a little package and says she wants her to be fresh and sweet smelling on her first trip to Europe.

Thank goodness the kids' cartoon shows continue to plug the latest additions in the crunchy munchy market along with the newest toy craze...batteries not included. But when the kids advance to the blinky light, clanging bell game show stage, they are introduced to a brand new page of the advertising manual. There are catchy jingles that are super neat to sing while washing up for dinner... "my seamless isn't shapeless any more"...great coming from an eight year old.

Ranked second in order of TV miseries are the multitudes of ads dealing with one's stomach and other functional disorders. Chris Flattley, a member of Wixom's gourmet club who must have her TV on from dawn to dusk noted that the time chosen for the barrage of products dealing with the digestive tract, heartburn, skin problems and dandruff hit the air at dinner time.

And, did you ever notice that the later the hour the more expensive the car? Personally I like the ads carried on Sesame Street ... "and today's program was sponsored by the letter 'D'". That almost seems a lot more adult!

Jane and Ollie Wahamaki were back in town for a visit bringing with them some gorgeous, unseasonable weather. And it was great being able to bring them up to date on some of the things accomplished here since their move to California. Oggie and Eino Piilo hosted an open house for the Wahamakis, bringing together their old neighbors and friends for an evening of lively conversation. They are as active as ever and it appears that California is being mighty good to them.

It's just a matter of weeks until the annual Holiday Boutique sponsored by Wixom's Historical Society. The line-up of booths offering handmade crafts, as well as imported articles will be super with clever and unusual items perfect for holiday gift-giving. The show will be at the V.F.W. Hall on Loon Lake Road on November 22 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Booths are still available by calling either Helen Tillman at 624-5318 or Nancy Dingeldey at 624-3950. Ten percent of the profits of the show plus a 25 cent entrance donation will go to the historical society's restoration fund. To add to the excitement of the day, each booth will donate one item to the society which will be given away during the hours of the show.

To swell the coffers of the Wixom Goodfellows' Christmas fund, the jolly group will be offering a bushel of Christmas spirits. This, along with the Goodfellows annual newspaper campaign can assure every needy family in Wixom a merry Christmas. If you happen to know of a family whose holiday could be made a bit more enjoyable by receiving one of the Christmas baskets, contact City Hall. They will pass on the information. And contact a Goodfellow for more information on the bushel of spirits.

Northville, Novi Plan Career Night Here

Students from Novi and Northville High Schools will have the opportunity to become acquainted with a wide range of occupations at a "World of Work" night, next Tuesday at Northville High School.

Both school districts are working together to sponsor the event to start their respective students thinking about career goals and career paths.

Students and parents attending the program will

It's Zasu Pitts

Free old time movies will be shown in the Community Room of the Northville Square on Saturday, November 15. Featured this week will be a silent film starring Buster Keaton and Zasu Pitts, entitled "Silent Partner", as well as two Laurel and Hardy comedies, "Our Wife" and "One Good Turn".

The movies, sponsored by the Northville Public Library, begin at 2 p.m. and run for approximately one hour and 15 minutes.

Films Are Free

On Saturday, November 15, the Friends of the Library will be showing films for children in the Northville Public Library. The films, which run from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., are suitable for children aged 3 to 8 years old.

Four short films will be featured: "Magic Book", "Colonial Children", "The Shoemaker and the Elves", and "Johnny Appleseed".

Admission is free and parents need not remain with their children during the performance.

have the opportunity to view informal sessions presented by persons actively employed in 35 various occupations. The program begins at 7:30 p.m. and one person should be able to attend as many as four different twenty minute presentations.

"Our goal is to get the students to start looking at various types of occupations and then to find out more about them," Northville's Coordinator of Distributive Education Wayne Saunders said. "This way when they graduate they will have some goal in mind to work for and not just flounder around."

This is the first time that Northville and Novi will sponsor the event together. Saunders said that the combined effort will enable the districts to get more speakers for the program.

Topics to be covered by the speakers will include occupational opportunities, required skills, advanced training or higher education placement, and earning potential.

The program falls in line with school district efforts to provide career education as a result of a state law passed in 1974 which makes career education mandatory for school districts.

Saunders reported that the programs often involve films and information handouts as well as the talk.

"Many companies invite the kids to come down and tour through the company," Saunders added.

Among the occupations represented at the career night will be: Accounting, Air Transportation, Architecture, Armed Forces, Auto Mechanics, Banking, Cosmetology, Data Processing, Electronics, Engineering, Graphic Arts, Health Occupations, Highway Construction, Hotel-Motel Management, Interior Decorating, Law Enforcement, Legal Careers, and Veterinary Medicine.
