Special Ed to Use Cooke, Silver Springs

383 Mentally Retarded in Program

Measured implementation of a comprehensive special education program, including the use of Cooke Middle School and partial use of Silver Springs Elementary School, is to get underway with the start of the second semester late this month.

The program structure drew support Monday of the Northville Board of Education, which earlier had committed the district to undertake the education for mentally retarded children housed at two institutions in Northville Township - the Plymouth Center for Human Development and the Northville Residential Training Center.

Upwards of 383 children are to be bused to three Northville Schools to receive their education.

Of these, up to 19 are to be at Silver Springs, 336 students at Cooke, and 28 students at Moraine Elementary School.

Northville's contract to provide special education, as mandated by state law, runs through the remainder of the school year. The board must decide next spring if it wishes to continue the program here.

According to Superintendent Raymond Spear, plans call for a measured implementation whereby the program may be started only as requirements for staff and supervisory requirements have been fully met and only after regular students, staff and residents of the attendance area have been fully advised about the program and the mentally retarded children involved in it.

In other words, even though the target date for launching the program is January 27, it is possible that not all of the program will begin immediately. Some may be phased in gradually.

Opening of Silver Springs to accommodate the possibily 19 children means that the school also will be possibily and the possibility of the standard for normal children in the attendance and of the school also will be possible to the school and the school also will be possible to the school and the scho operated for normal children in the attendance area of the school. These children presently are attending Winchester Elementary School.

Most of the concerns expressed at Monday's board meeting came from homeowners living in the immediate vicinity of Cooke. They voiced concern about the safety of their own pre-school age children as well as the safety of the mentally retarded children who might wander onto their property.

Fencing, which had been requested in the past by residents to protect their property from trespassing by "normal" middle school students, was again requested. Unfenced yards abut the east and north sides of the school property.

Although special education teachers attempted to allay fears that the special education children may wander off the property or that the children are in some way dangerous, residents of the area remained concerned. They were advised that the fencing proposal will be taken under advisement.

Programming for special education was outlined by Clark Kelly, coordinator of special services. It calls for the following:

Moraine Elementary

Student profile: 28 students are to be housed in this school. Intellectually they are classified as educable (50-70 IQ) and normal (70+ IQ). Most are wheelchair bound. There are three blind students and one deaf student in the group.

Housing: three rooms should be provided them in the East Centrum at Moraine. Certain modifications

For Parking Structure

City Eyes Financing

Preliminary efforts have begun to implement parts of a three-phase downtown parking study commissioned by the Northville City Council.

The 37-page illustrated study, as prepared by Northville Planning Consultant Ronald Nino over the past year, now has been formally presented to both the council and the city planning commission.

Nino gave a brief synopsis of the study upon its presentation to planners last week. It was presented to the council earlier.

Following its receipt of the document, council requested and received from Northville Downs a letter of intent that it is prepared to enter into a leasing agreement with the city for any parking facility that might be erected at the southeast corner of

Center and Cady streets. Meanwhile, the council is considering a proposal to hire a financial consultant to advise the city on financing of such a parking

The three-phase parking study and recommendations, if approved for implementation, suggest a long-term project stretching well into the 1980's, according to

The three phases include, in order of their suggested implementations:

Phase 1-development of a 1,500 space parking facility and approximately 30,000 square feet of rentable floor area, 15,000 of which should be devoted to a relocated library, at the Cady-Center corner.

Phase 2-improvements and revisions to the parking lying north of Cady Street through to the East Dunlap Street area. Basically, this second phase is concerned with the removal of street and municipal parking spaces, development of pedestrian ways, landscaping and additional CBD store construction.

Phase 3-development of a second multipurpose parking structure on the north side of Main Street across from Northville Square.

Thrust of study recommendations has been to reduce ground level parking in the CBD, to expand upward for future parking need, and to utilize existing surface parking area for aesthetics, pedestrian convenience, and for commercial development to fill in downtown land sites.

Phase 1 alone, if fully implemented,

Circulation Soars At Library

Giant strides in book circulation here are being credited in major part to the move of the Northville Public Library to larger and more comfortable quarters.

Citing the just released 1975 circulation figures, Librarian Elizabeth Levin noted that while increases were recorded during nearly every month of the year the most significant increases occurred in the last five months.

It was in June that the library was moved from its former location in the city hall building to the basement level of Northville Square Shopping Center.

For the year of 1975, a total of 74,054 books were circulated as compared to 64,371 during the previous year and 61,228 in 1973.

The circulation increase of 1975 over 1974 was 15.04 percent.

But in five months following the move, the monthly increases were perhaps the highest in the library's history:

In July, circulation was up 27.48 percent from 6,325 in 1974 to 8,063; in August, 44.5 percent from 5,431 to 7,829; in September, 45.91 percent from 4,857 to 7,087; in October, 34.63 percent from 5,723 to 7,705; and in November, 23.36 percent from 5.108 to 6.301: and in December, 6.05 percent from 3,537 to

Even the smaller December increase was significant because this holiday month traditionally sees a major drop-off of library

Last January the circulation increased 3.57 percent from 6,109 to 6,327; in February, 7.16 percent from 5,220 to 5,594; in March, 8.97 percent from 5,787 to 6,306; and in April, 14.24 percent from 5,540 to 6,329

In May and June, during the months of preparing for and then making the move, the library experienced decreases in circulation. It was down 11.66 percent in May, from 5,817 to 5,139; and 26.32 percent in June, from 4,917

However, rearrangement of classroom and teacher assignments is planned to help alleviate current problems related to overcrowding.

Decision to keep all 1,050 students in the building was disclosed Monday by the building administrators in their report to the Northville Board of Education.

Alternative measures that had been considered but abandoned as being too educationally disruptive were split sessions, transfer of some of the sixth graders to an elementary school, and total year-round school within the building.

Board Slates 7:30 Meetings

Another step in trying to bridge the credibility gap between itself and the public was taken by the Northville Board of Education this week.

Agendas for the board meeting are to be prepared a week in advance, with copies supplied the newspaper for publication prior to the meeting.

To facilitate earlier agendas, giving both citizens and board meetings additional time to prepare for meetings, those citizens wishing to have a formal place on the agenda must make their requests to the superintendent by the second Friday prior to the NORTHVILLE JAYCEES are offering a prize of $17.76 for the winning slogan to be used as the theme for the Bicentennial parade on July 4. The contest is open to anyone in the community with entries to be sent to Harvey Tull, parade chairman, at 43721 Galway Drive, Northville, by March 1.

FORMATION of a citizens advisory committee to take up the matter of school millage and related matters is planned to take place at the January 26 meeting of the board of education. Citizens who wish to participate are being urged to submit their names, addresses and areas of interest to the board office by noon on January 22.

APRIL 3 has been set as the date of a millage renewal election in the Northville School District. Seventeen mills for operation have expired, and these and possibly additional mills may be decided at the election. No specific amounts of millage nor the specific questions to be placed on the ballot have yet been decided, however.

Mothers Ready For Annual March

By JEAN DAY

"ASK A BUSY woman, and you get a terrific job done!"

Northville Postmaster John Steimel cited this philosophy as he announced this year's chairman, Phyllis Kennedy, for the Mothers' March in the annual March of Dimes campaign.

Steimel picked what has to be one of the busiest women in the community when he asked Mrs. Patrick A. Kennedy of Nine Mile Road to head the Mothers' March which will be held from January 22 through January 28.

This is Mrs. Kennedy's first year as March chairman, but she has been an active worker for four years and last year served as co-chairman. Phyllis Kennedy recalls that she became involved in the annual march against birth defects when her sister, Sue Potts, served as chairman in 1971

Mrs. Kennedy is the mother of two small children, Allyson, 21/2, and Ryan, 13 months old. In addition she's caring for her father who is recuperating after being hospitalized.

She's also a nurse and works midnights in the intensive care unit at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

"I'm walking around like a live zombie," Mrs. Kennedy admitted last week, adding cheerfully, "but we'll make it." She already has her 1976 captains lined up and has plans to deliver their kits the end of this week.

Her 11 captains are Nicole Anderson, Betsy Baldwin, Ann Borrusch, Nancy Beaupre, Roxanne Casterline, Evelyn Harper, Lisa King, Sue Kirsch, Gail Norback, Madelyn Stelmach and Mary Williams.

This year, Steimel adds, the March of Dimes canisters again will be placed in local stores and businesses.

"WE'RE GIVING back to the community," reports Mary Esther Fountain for the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association as she announces the gift of $500 to the Northville Historical Society for landscaping at the Mill Race Historical Village.

The sum represents part of the proceeds, she explains, from the successful Greens Mart held by the branch. The check was presented at the club's meeting Monday by Mrs. Warner Krause, president, to Mrs. John Burkman, a member of the historical

Mrs. Krause mentioned that this is the second $500 gift from the branch to the Mill Race restoration, making the total gift $1,000.

The branch also donated $350 to the George Berryman fund. This amount was raised through the sale of a limited edition of hand-screened Christmas cards made by members.

NEWCOMERS' CLUB is planning a "Fifties Dance Party" to be held from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, February 21, at Our Lady of Victory church hall.

Mrs. Peter Keffer, couples' social chairman, announces that the event will feature disc jockey Dave Schaefer, formerly with WCAR. He is to host the evening's activities and will play hit records from the 1950's.

Members are asked to dress as they did in those years and be ready to dance. Prizes will be awarded. Reservations may be made with Mrs. George McLeod. 349-3092, party chairman, by February 14. Alumni couples are invited to this Newcomer President Norma Peltz mentions that the club regrets the conflict with the Northville Historical Society's annual community dance scheduled the same night at the Plymouth Hilton Inn, but adds that Newcomers tried and wasn't able to change its date.

(Actually, such conflicts are rare in the community and sometimes can't be avoided as groups plan concurrently. Any organization, however, may list upcoming dates with The Record and may call to see if there is an event ~planned for a certain date.) 4

Newcomers also is taking advance reservations beginning this "Thursday and "continuing until January 31 for a daytime trip to the Detroit Institute of Arts on March 31.

A salad luncheon will be served Newcomers in the North Court and a tour of the institute's fine collection of American Art 1750-1950 will follow.

As part of the Bicentennial celebration the tour will explore American political and social history through paintings, sculpture and decorative art. Reservations at $6 are limited to 50 women and are being taken by Mrs. Leslie Unger, 348-9857. A bus will leave Northville Square at 11 a.m. and return at 3 p.m. Alumnae also are welcome.

Beginning February 1 Mrs. Richard Webster, Newcomer membership chairman, will be accepting half-year memberships. Couples who have lived in Northville area two years or less and are interested in joining the active organization should call her at 348-2346. Dues of $3 are effective through September 1. Couples joining after February 1 are entitled to three and a half years' membership.

THE DAY AFTER Christmas the Elden Bierys of 116 High Street took off on an anniversary trip to Hawaii. They were married on Christmas Day 39

They toured the outer islands and came back with a tan. Before leaving, Mrs. Biery worked on the Red Cross blood bank held two days before Christmas in Northville Square. She is one of the Red Cross' most faithful volunteer workers.

Jean Lorraine Beurkens wore her mother's wedding gown as she spoke her marriage vows with Donald Robert Alli in an Arabic-English service at 6:30 p.m. December 20.

The ceremony took place in the Albanian Islamic Center in Harper Woods. It was decorated with ferns and white and yellow mums. Mr. Imam Ismail officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beurkens of 500 Maplewood in Northville while her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alli of 19848 Pierson in Northville.

The bride's satin gown had been worn by her mother for her marriage in Grand Rapids in 1946. It was fashioned with beaded chiffon yoke and long, buttoned sleeves that ended in points over the wrists. It extended into a full train.

As she was given in marriage by her father, the bride added another touch of sentiment by wearing a string of pearls her father had brought from Japan to her grandmother.

She carried a dried, permanent bouquet of white mums, yellow rosebuds and baby's breath.

Cindy Zima of Northville was maid of honor in a forest green gown with matching chiffon-embroidered cape. Sheila Corcoran and Mrs. Kenneth Kevorkian, sister of bridegroom, were bridesmaids in burnt orange gowns fashioned like that of the honor maid. All carried

Did Republicans 'Pull' Support from DeWaard?

By WAYNE LODER

Charging that the Republicans double crossed him after hand picking him to run for the vacant 24th District county commissioner's seat, Republican LaVerne DeWaard from Novi Monday said that the Republicans "just got caught" when Dennis Murphy from Novi filed for the seat.

"If they want to deny they said I was their man, then they're a pack of liars," said DeWaard during an interview with this newspaper.

The charge from DeWaard came in response to statements from Arthur Elliot, chairman of the Oakland County Republican Party, denying that he ever indicated the Republicans would support only DeWaard in the primary. According to Elliot, his job as chairman of the Oakland County Republican Party is "to see to it we have candidates" and in doing that job he did contact DeWaard.

"I visited with leaders in the 24th district and one of them asked me to call him (DeWaard)," said Elliot. "I told him (DeWaard) I did want to see qualified people were running. I was fully aware there might be many candidates or none. I asked him to give it some thought.

"I told him he was the type of candidate the Republicans would be delighted to support and have in the field. He was aware at the time that the party did not support candidates in primaries.'

Elliot said he told DeWaard the Republicans were glad to have him running but "we couldn't give him any more support than any other candidate.

Part of the problem apparently surrounded the fact that the rumor had spread that Murphy, who was the Republican choice to replace Lew Coy when the board of commissioners voted for a replacement, would not run. Because of that, Elliot said he contacted DeWaard because he had to see that a qualified candidate would run.

SECOND

"I would never have initiated the contact unless it was in the atmosphere this came — if someone asked. It's impossible to say if I would have called DeWaard (if he had known Murphy was running)," said Elliot.

Elliot added that he had contacted no other possible Republican candidates after receiving the word from DeWaard that he would run.

"I don't think it's the party's responsibility to find candidates in the plural," explained Elliot.

DeWaard, meanwhile, said that his decision to run came after an initial contact with Republican State Representative Richard Fessler and a follow-up phone call from Elliot.

DeWaard said at that meeting, Fessler "asked me if I was interested in the commissioner's seat for Lew DeWaard said he questioned Fessler about Murphy and that Fessler said he was committed to Murphy but did not know if Murphy would run.

Teamsters Vote to Ratify Contract

Town Meeting Called Success

The first of a series of a series of quarterly town hall meetings was a success, agreed Novi officials Monday after 60-70 residents met at the Novi Community Hall to throw questions, concerns, and suggestions at the council and city officials.

"It's a start," said Councilman Philip Goodman who suggested the idea of holding the town hall meetings. "I learned a lot of things tonight I didn't know."

"I thought it went very well," agreed presiding Mayor Pro-Tem Martha Hoyer. "I think the citizens really enjoyed having the close contact without the strict formality

Besides the council, also present to field questions were all of the department heads of the city.

"Some good suggestions were made - the needs assessment committee and that we print in the newspaper action items," said Mrs.

Purpose of the assessment committee is to examine closely where the city should be going. According to Mrs. Hoyer, a resolution is currently being prepared to establish just such a

Wixom Apartments Eye Crime Problem

Within the next few weeks, tenants of the Indian Lodge Apartments on Pontiac Trail in Wixom will become more aware of the crime rate in their particular area of the city and how to help prevent

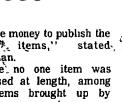

Working with the Wixom Police Department in gaining statistics and knowledge of the types of crimes suffered by those apartment dwellers, R. Michael VanZandt has vowed to personally visit each one and distribute materials on crime prevention made available by the local law officials.

In an 11 month period, police records show the 120 unit Lodge apartments have suffered three percent of reported major crimes in the city. During the same reporting period, the 700 unit Village Apartment complex directly across Pontiac Trail from the Lodge racked up a total of 16 percent.

VanZandt, a resident in the Lodge group said another goal of his canvas was to urge the people living in the units to get to know their neighbors and have a little concern for others. "If I knew the guy renewed funding for the second and third phases, which will cover remainder of Novi.

Cairns explained to the audience that the first phase of the master plan study will include two areas: an impact study on the land near the shopping center and a "residential areas plan" for all of Novi

"The reasoning behind a residential areas plan is to try and preserve land of a size for a subdivision that could support an elementary school," said Cairns.

The impact study will take into account present fixed uses of land in the area of the shopping center and will delve into traffic generation of the shopping center, plans for roads in the area, plus ancillary uses of peripheral and nearby property.

Cairns told The Novi News he will also try to provide the planning board an idea of the tax money which would be generated under various land use alternatives.

Board OK's Non-discrimination Policy

In order to keep from losing federal funds amounting to $60,000, Novi School Board last Thursday approved a non-discriminatory policy as required by the federal government.

It was necessary that the Novi Community School District adopt a policy to fully comply with Title IX amendments of 1972 under guidelines adopted by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and approved by the President and the United States Congress.

Title IX of the educational amendments states, "No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participatin in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any educational program or activity receiving federal financial assistance ... with certain exceptions.

The new non-discriminatory policy, approved unanimously by the board, says that the school district will seek to take whatever rules and policy steps necessary to eliminate discrimination on the basis of sex in all education programs, curricular and extracurricular activities, and employment practices which come under the regulations of Title IX. No assistance, such as administrative or staff cooperation, faculty sponsorship, use of school facilities on school time, shall be provided to any non-school organization or individual

"I'd have to qualify that (figure) with the explanation that the people struggled nine months, they are tired of fighting and they realized that either they accept that proposal or there would be no other alternative but to go out on strike," said Keller. He added that "The Teamsters were right on the edge. A minor slip on either side would have resulted in a grossly underpaid and to ask them to go without what little pay they've been getting might be a little too much. I think the city came close enough to where many of the Teamsters would not have made that sacrifice," said

"They realized that under the circumstances, they did the best they could without going out on strike. Had we gone out on strike, it would have been a long, hard battle finàncially psychologically. The Teamsters include members of the building department, DPW, and all clericals from other than the police department and the city manager's office.

The contract must now be voted upon by the council. That vote is expected next Monday. Council met in closed executive session before Monday's council meeting, but according to Mayor Pro Tem Martha Hover, was unable to finish reviewing the contract. She noted that some minor clerical errors needed to be corrected and the city attorney was also to review the contract.

Kriewall also commented that he believes the new contract puts city employees on an equal pay basis with similar employees in neighboring cities. According to Keller, the Teamsters are most happy with the new dental Under that plan, the city pays the cost of the insurance plan and when work is done, the employee pays, in most instances, 25 percent of the cost and the insurance

'Television News Alone Not Enough'

"If you think that by watching newscasts you know what's going on, you're wrong."

That candid warning was given Northville Woman's Club members and their guests last Friday by Shelby Newhouse, WWJ-AM, FM and TV staff announcer.

A WWJ staff member for 25 years, Newhouse pointed out that television news has become a major - and for some the only — source of information.

"Quite frankly, this scares me because by the very nature of its development television news has so may built-in obstacles.

"It is imperative to go to other sources as well," he urged, saying that it is vital to newspapers and periodicals as well to gain a perspective on news today.

Newhouse, who produces educational films, illustrated his point with a film produced locally and designed to show young people different and disturbing ways of handling-breaking news.

The film, "TV News—
Measure of the Medium," pointed up the fact that some events are staged for the camera as protesters waited until the cameras were focused on them to begin their

Newhouse called attention to the fact that people "are more impressed with what they see than by what they hear.'

Even though an announcer is explaining an action, the viewer will remember what the eye saw. It was pointed out that total objectivity is not very possible but should be a

The film also explained that there can be distortion of the news by omission. It viewed a disturbance in the county jail and showed how two channels covered with one not giving inmates' views or jail conditions but focusing on officials visiting the jail.

"People need a better understanding of the problems with which we live," Newhouse continued, calling television "a powerful community tool." He said, however, he does not feel there will be improvements so long as stations are concerned with ratings and tied to commerci il dollars.

Where the camera is pointed, what it takes, how the film is edited and where it is placed in the newscast all affect the story, he said.

As an example of influence by position, he suggested that showing a garbage collectors' strike next to pictures of the mayor's daughter's lavish wedding would be slanting, but placed apart would not be.

Such expressions as that of a raised eyebrow when commenting on news, Newhouse mentioned, are "less than professional" on the part of a newscaster and also can have impact on that

Most newscasters, in Newhouse's opinion, are not well prepared for their work. He said their education varies from doctorates in economics to high school graduates, like himself, who work themselves

In a lighter vein Newhouse opened his talk at Northville Presbyterian Church fellowship hall by recalling the years prior to about 1950 and the advent of tape

If your home is blessed with beautiful wood floors, shiny and waxed to perfection, and boasting either an intricate parquet pattern or just the traditional hardwood oak or pine flooring, you might want to highlight rather than cover up so lovely an asset. Many people just leave them uncovered as a matter of pride; but the use of carpeting and glowing wood is an excellent combination. Try an area rug before your couch, or two larger rugs to emphasize the division in the living-dining sections. A small rug before the fireplace between the fireside chairs makes for cozy conversation. Bedrooms benefit from some small rugs used in pairs on each side of the bed. The placement of area rugs can be both versatile and

The 22-year-old daughter of Mrs. William Masson of 977 Novi Street learned her folk dancing skills while a student at Alma College. As a sophomore she auditioned for the college's prestigious Highland Fling group of dancers and performed with them throughout the state.

An April, 1975, graduate of Alma with an English major and French minor, Miss Masson has been substituting in Northville, Plymouth and Redford Union schools while seeking a permanent post.

She will be teaching the eight-week beginning Scottish dancing classes four days a week, Monday through Thursday, in the Y program at different schools in Plymouth.

All classes are open to Northville residents, according to Janet Luce, program director.

She regrets that class space is limited in Northville so that the only class to be offered locally is the Yoga one now being taught Thursdays in the lower level of Northville First Presbyterian Church.

Classes are scheduled in Plymouth schools and in the Plymouth Credit Union building and include such choices as creative movement for preschoolers, women's slim and trim fitness classes and aerobic dancing.

There's also beginning conversational French, quilling, dried flower arranging, greenhouse classes, beginning photography, guitar, creative dance, soft sculpture, creative stitchery, beginning art and nature, beginning drawing, craft variety, water color painting.

Other classes are tapestry weaving, traditional and nontraditional quilting. A selfawareness class is scheduled for Tuesdays.

Racketball and paddleball, boys after-school gym, basketball skills, men's gym night, youth ballet and karate also are offered.

Anyone interested may call the Y at 453-2904 for a schedule of classes, times offered and fees.

Membership in the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA is $7 for an individual, $12 for a family.

Meads Mill Kids to Stay

Here is what is planned at Meads Mill at the start of the second semester:

1. Current use of space in the school is to be reorganized, particularly in the open classrooms section of the building. This reorganization will facilitate better coordination of subject matter in each of the pods. In other words, subjects of like nature will be grouped together.

2. Reallocation of space will permit use of perhaps half of the library for library

3. Reassignment of staff will emphasize placement of teachers in the areas of their major interests and qualification.

4. The teaching schedule will be arranged so as to free teachers for supervising roles before school starts, at lunch time, and following the end of classes.

The latter step, according to officials, should play a major role in eliminating one of the most serious problems at the school - student misconduct during free hours.

A teacher may arrive before school starts, supervise school grounds, and leave earlier in the day. Another may arrive late in the morning and stay later to supervise children after school, etc.

In outlining plans for the second semester, Principal Michael Janchick emphasized that in no way is this secondsemester change meant to be a panacea or a permanent solution to the overcrowding situation. On the contrary, students at Meads Mill, he asserted, still are being shortchanged.

Meads Mill not only houses students within the attendance area of the school but also those students who normally would be attending Cooke Middle School, closed, because of millage failures last year.

Janchick strongly urged that planning begin now to decide what is to be done at the middle school next year.

Concerning the steps that are to be implemented next semester, it was explained that these measures were not begun at the start of the school year because the school program there was not planned until the last minute, further complicated by the fact that Meads Mill was a new, untested open classrooms facility.

"I selected this particular novel because the setting conjures up Northville as it was about 60 years ago. It is a classic study of small town life in America," commented Anne Vargo, the moderator of the discussion group.

Rotarians Celebrate 50 Years by Repairing Spring

As the Northville Rotary Club prepares to celebrate its 50th anniversary Friday, it seems appropriate that at this time the club should be pumping new life into one of its oldest and fondest

Preparations are being made for refurbishing of the well for Northville's historic spring, according to Rotarian Jan Reef, who explained that the flow of water has been less than satisfactory recently and Rotarians are anxious to restore it.

Rotary has been a "foster parent" for the spring almost from the beginning of the club, which was established in 1926. Throughout the years the club has landscaped and otherwise enhanced the site, promoting the spring to such an extent that today it is a symbol for the community.

Reportedly first discovered back in the 1870's with the construction of the railroad line that passes just east of the site, the spring became the club's pet project in 1932 when Rotarians built the frame structure over the simulated well.

The frame housing was rebuilt in 1959 and the landscaping was improved. A stone monument, gift of Rotarian A. M. Allen, was erected nearby.

In 1963 the flow of water from the spring slowed to revive the flow of water. As a temporary measure the city hooked its municipal water line into the well, which meant that water from Detroit flowed from the spring spout.

Even though a sign was erected to remind people that the water flowing from the well was no longer well water but rather Detroit water, many people refused to believe it. Some continued to drive 30 miles from Detroit to Northville to get the same crystal clear well water that they had grown to love. They insisted the Detroit water here was the same sweet water they had been getting for years.

Finally, Rotarians could stand it no longer: they were determined to make real well water flow from the spring. They called in a well digger and had a well sunk just south of the spring itself. The club also had an automatic pump installed just beneath surface of the ground.

Once again cold, sweet water from Northville's own water table began flowing, night and day. Recently, however, the flow has begun to slow.

According to Reef, the club will have the well digger, whose rig is on the site now, pull the well point and clean it. The club also will have a new pump

Thus, a project that Rotary has sponsored for more than 40 years will get new life soon just as members celebrate the club's 50th birthday.

"It's our birthday present to the community," a spokesman said.

A dinner-dance program will mark the club's anniversary Friday night at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Club President Wes Henrikson will preside at the program and call upon Roy Lancaster of Windsor, incoming governor of District 640, for the toast to the President. There now are six Canadian clubs in the Russell Amerman is to give a brief history of the club. He points out that while British-American relations were strained 200 years ago there is a close spirit of cooperation within Rotary International today as both the country and the club celebrate milestones—the U.S. its 200th birthday and Northville Rotary its 50th.

Henry Montague of Birmingham, district governor, is to represent Rotary International at the dinner program. Other presentations will be made by Michigan Senator Carl Pursell and Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasure will give the invocation and benediction. A. Russell Clarke, chairman of dinner arrangements, reports that prime of beef will be the dinner feature.

A special feature will be the table decorations of greenhouse plants grown and donated by Jan Reef. They are to be auctioned off at the conclusion of the

Cancer Society Seeks Drivers

Northville branch of the American Cancer Society reports an urgent need for volunteers to drive cancer patients to and from hospitals for therapy treatments that are essential to their wellbeing.

Mrs. Barbara Llewellyn, branch service chairman, explains that volunteers can specify the amount of driving they would like to do, and can choose a certain day or days they would be willing to drive.

The average time involved for a patient to receive treatment is usually 30 minutes. Total time, she estimates, in transporting should be approximately two

"Recovery from cáncer can be a very difficult period," she points out, noting that the American Cancer Society will provide a brief orientation for those who would like to help such patients.

Cairns, as well as chairman Roethel, said that citizen input is important.

"We get an indication of their thinking," explained Cairns. "Some of it is vested interests, but we take that into account. It gives them an opportunity to express their desires and concerns and to see the reasoning why certain approaches are taken - why we went one way or another." Residents interested in getting on a mailing list to receive notices on meetings and any interim reports given out by the planning board, can do so by calling Deputy Clerk LaDene Baird or by attending the next meeting and filling out a card.

Roethel said that most citizen input at the first meeting surrounded "how it (the master plan) would affect their land value."

He added that many people were concerned about whether the new master plan would include any rezoning.

"We don't contemplate rezoning on our own initiative - not for 10 or 15 years," said Roethel, who noted that a master plan can often be used as a reason to support denial of new rezonings

Roethel said he is uncertain at this point whether the first master plan phase would be adopted by council for inclusion into the old master plan or if the council should wait until all phases are completed for adoption. The present master plan was adopted in 1967 with a 1970 revision of the Walled Lake area. Cairns said the decision whether to adopt the first phase upon initial completion depends on how fast development encroaches. Roethel said that public hearings on the first phase of the master plan will be held upon completion in May. Vilican-Leman, under the federal grant, must have its final report on the study ready by June 1 or the city will not receive the grant funds.

The Store that "fits" in Plymouth

Meet Faith, Joey and Richard

EDITOR'S NOTE: Presented here are three short profiles of the kinds of mentally retarded children housed at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, located in Northville Township. Nearly 385 children from the Plymouth Center and from the Northville Residential Training Center are to be bused to three Northville schools to receive education beginning next semester. Not all 385 of them would fit the three categories of mental and physical retardation represented here. Degrees of handicap vary with each child. Nevertheless these three characterize a major part of the mentally retarded population here. The fifth in this series of articles about the special education program, to be presented next week, will deal with the kinds of instruction planned for the children.

Mentally he is even younger, having the approximate mental ability of the average one-year-old. He is blind and like some of the other youngsters, Joey was the victim of a child beater - his mother. Joey grew up in the center of Detroit without the benefit of a father. He never grew up with the stimulation experienced by normal youngsters. Being blind, the stimulation of seeing things around him could not whet his curiosity. His mother rarely had time to spend with him and she hardly ever spoke to him or showed affection

It is only now, with the help of an occupational therapist and a loving foster grandparent that Joey has said his first word - mommy. He was taken from his original home in September. He will bear for life the scars of a scalding on his leg allegedly inflicted by his mother with hot water.

Of five levels of recognized retardation, Joey is currently at the second from the worst level. He is in the "severe range of retardation" level. However, rapid progression is being reported due to the added stimulus of his new environment and the trained therapist. There is hope that Joey will progress up the scale and eventually be one of the "trainable" retarded. Now he cannot dress himself but is able to feed himself.

As a slim-but-shapely teenager in a printknit pantsuit you really wouldn't have noticed her shopping with a group.

She would seem much like other young people interested in new clothing. She might, if anything, be a little more shy, more hesitant to speak out for service.

Nineteen-year-old Faith, however, is not quite an average teen. She is a resident of Molloy Hall at the Plymouth Center for Human Development in Northville Township.

Jess Brown, the building's program director, and David Crockett, the social worker, point out that Faith is termed a trainable young adult.

She is the most functional, most mobile type of resident at the center. She's also one of the most responsive and a favorite with the

January

Last week, when a reporter was sent to meet her as a "typical" resident of Molloy Hall, the young black girl was under the hair dryer but good-naturedly came to Brown's office with the curlers in.

She nodded when asked if she knew she might be taking a bus and coming to school in Faith is able to read and volunteered. "I would like to do something in math '

Most of all, Faith says, she would like to go on the outside and see how it is to live in a home. Her social worker reports she is on a waiting list to live in an adult group home in Detroit with 16 other young women

Faith, who sees her family on holidays and birthdays and pays a visit home about every three months, knows she will not be living in her own Detroit family.

Because of adjustment and emotional problems at home and in school when she was 12 years old, the family requested institutionalizing through probate court. The family includes her mother, stepfather and three other children

She was sent to Coldwater because there were long waiting lists for Wayne County area beds. Then, in January, 1973, she was moved to the Plymouth center as it was nearer home.

At the center Faith lives with three other young girls, chosen by the staff as most similar in intelligence and attitude. Their pink-walled room boasts bright red spreads on the single beds, two dressers and matching curtains. It's a spacious 20 by 20 feet.

Being black, Faith uses little make-up, but in other rooms along the hall the bottles of nail polish, cologne and creams line dresser tops and dolls or stuffed animals are on the Faith's only apparent detraction appeared as she smiled. She has no upper front teeth. With one dentist for 825 residents, the social worker is quick to point out, there is little opportunity to get dentures.

Faith's smile came when she told how she wants to "go ride bicycles and play in the park" when she's on her own.

Membership

Increased

Northville township trustees raised membership of the Northville Township Zoning Board of Appeals from three to five members by unanimous 5-0 vote Thursday night.

This item had been tabled at the board's previous meeting in December and two public hearings have been held on the subject

"Reason why we consider doing this is with just three people on the board, if one or two are absent it makes it a pretty big decision for the one or two people there,' Supervisor Mrs Betty Lennox explained. "We felt with five members it would be more of a fair decision.'

Raising the zoning board's membership to five also has been approved by the Wayne Planning County Commission.

Appointments to the zoning board will be made at the township board's next meeting in February.

Michigan's new Single Business Tax (SBT) makes its debut this year. And despite assurances that SBT will "spread the business tax burden more fairly, simplify tax provide accounting and inducements to encourage industrial expansion in the state", there's a great deal of uneasiness among businessmen and legislators as they await its impact.

SBT applies to any person, partnership corporation or conducting business in Michigan. It is based upon the theory that business should pay a tax for the privilege of doing business, whether it makes a profit or not. Many tax experts compare it to the old business activities tax.

Profits, wages, payroll taxes, cost of fringe benefits, depreciation and interest expense are added together to come up with the tax base for SBT.

The rate applied against this base is 2.35 per cent.

There are exemptions. These include interest, dividends or royalties received by a company, apparently designed to encourage research activity. Expansion. investment is also rewarded by allowing deductions equal to the original cost of any new equipment or buildings acquired during the taxable year.

Very small businesses could benefit from SBT. If the tax base (profits, wages, payroll taxes, fringes, etc.) does not add up to $34,000, there's no tax liability.

Obviously, labor intense businesses providing broad fringe benefits will be stung by SBT. Small and medium size business with high labor costs and low inventories, the profession and service industries, food markets, construction and agriculture can look for heftier tax

Utilities, large manufacturers and chemical companies will benefit from the tax shift.

The professionals — doctors, lawyers, accountants — may have been a tax target of SBT. It's unlikely their breed will attract public sympathy; it's more likely that the public will pay for whatever "catching up" the state might think it is accomplishing in the professions.

While SBT is heralded as a "simplified" tax, its demand for details has already prompted some observers to label it as "the accountants' retirement act of 1976". Presumably, new business from SBT will offset the added tax on accountants.

The seven or eight tax levies that have been replaced by SBT include the state corporate income tax, local personal property tax on inventory, corporate franchise tax, intangibles tax and special taxes on financial institutions and insurance companies.

In revenues the SBT is expected to raise some $800 million, an annual increase of about $180 million. Local units of government and school districts will have to be reimbursed by the state for losses incurred by the repeal of the intangibles and personal property taxes.

The impact of SBT will soon be known by most businessmen. If they have accountants preparing their tax returns, they can probably receive a "ball park" comparison between the 1975 tax return and what it would have been if SBT applied last year.

Even " without "this" clue," the state's cash-flow picture is so bad that it has insisted on estimated payments of SBT which could mean that up to one half of the current year's tax must be paid by June 30.

And because profits as well as expenses play such an important role in figuring the SBT tax base, imagine a small retailer projecting his estimate on June 30.

He may be losing money at midyear. He may also know that Christmas business will turn the profit corner for him.

So with cash-flow problems of his own, he faces penalties if he doesn't pre-pay half his state taxes by June 30 to help the state out of its cash-flow problems.

Obviously, it isn't fair to criticize a tax before it's even levied. But the businessman didn't get a chance to vote on this hike and he's uneasy that maybe some interests had better lobbyists than others.

Meanwhile, the average businessman can only wait for SBT to fall and hope it is not a guillotine.

IRENE BACSANYI

BOON ...

In times of family crisis or after some very upsetting event you have a situation where sleep is needed and you must have something that will do the trick.

Years ago the term "sleeping pill" referred primarily to barbiturates, those effective but dangerous drugs which sedate for varying lengths of time. They were used with great respect to their effectiveness, and generally addiction or abuse was not the problem it is today.

Advancing scientific research has led to the development of drugs which cause drowsiness and-or induce sleep. Certain antihistamines fall into this category and are prescribed expressly for this purpose.

Tranquilizers, which enjoy such popularity today and often are taken at bedtime, have become the modern-day "sleeping pill" to many people.

Following the idea of using the least amount of the safest item to procure the desired result, this popularity may be justified.

However, some physicians are prescribing old-time sleeping pills in very limited quantities for patients both institutionalized and at home.

Discontinuance of legitimate manufacture of these items would not cause them to disappear from the drugabuse scene.

The physician who sees in his patient a genuine need for this type of medication should be able to prescribe as he wishes through the entire range of effective products.

It's Just Like 100 Years Ago

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

So you think the climate of the Bicentennial is overdone, too commercial, would make our forefathers roll over in their graves, or, as a youngster of mine would say, is "gross"?

Then consider how the good folks of Northville, the state and the nation acted 100 years ago upon the Centennial of the United States.

- A long front page story appeared in The Record of April 22, 1876 titled, "Love Tales of the Revolution."
- A knife was being manufactured by the Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania Cutlery Company for the Centennial. It was nine feet long and upon it was painted a picture of William Penn.
- Centennial joke making the rounds: What constitutes the genuine frontier costume? Answer: the outskirts of civilization.
- •U.S. citizens heading for the nation's founding cities of the East were encouraged to ride there aboard the Canada Southern Centennial special.

- A Detroit store sprang up calling itself the Centennial Boston One Price Clothing House. It featured "a terrible slaughter of summer clothing."
- The Peabody House in Philadelphia was welcoming Centennial visitors and bragging, "No bar has ever been kept in the Henry House nor will any be kept at the Peabody.'
- G. F. Foster & Son of Chicago were offering Centennial tents and advising Americans, "Everybody is going to camp out."
- An advertisement in Northville advised, "You can't go to the Centennial or anywhere else without first visiting the Alhambre Dollar Store to select toilet articles...'
- A collection of paintings being exhibited in Philadelphia was severely criticized for being a 'chamber of horrors." Typical was the picture of "Herodias' Daughter and the Head of John the
- A Record reader chastized soldiers for hiring an "outside" band to perform at their reunion here. The action was an insult to the local band, the letter writer
- Just published to commemorate the Centennial was a sheet of music called "Musick of ye Olden Time."
- Stories were being leaked out of Washington about an angry wife of an ex-cabinet officer who was threatening to tell wives of other Cabinet officers as well as Mrs. Grant about the conduct of their husbands. Cries for complete disclosure were everywhere.
- Finally, while the Centennial nation was saluting the tenets of our democracy, liberty and freedom, The Record was recording July 4, 1876 events here along with an account of the ill-fated attack on an Indian village at Little Big Horn River by Monroe, Michigan's famous general, George Armstrong Custer.

CRUTCH...

We are a nation of drug users. People take pills to wake them up, pep them up, calm them down, change their moods, and move their bowels.

They take pills to settle their stomachs, control weight, control the birth-rate, prevent sunburn and even pills to keep mosquitoes away.

Physicians report that anxiety, nervousness, and insomnia are among the most frequent complaints from their patients.

More than 50 tons of caffeine are consumed daily in the United States. This central nervous system stimulant combines with the mind altering qualities of alcohol and the autonomic nervous system effects of nicotine to leave people with frazzled nerves. With little excercise to produce physical fatigue and large evening meals with associated indigestion, it is little wonder that sleeping pills seem the best solution at bedtime.

As larger and larger doses are frequently required to obtain the desired effect, habituation is easily established.

A restful night's sleep is readily available to anyone who will follow these suggestions:

- 1. Eat a light evening meal
- 2. Avoid all drugs affecting the nervous system
- 3. Actively exercise daily
- 4. Trust in Divine power for the solutions to personal problems, beyond one's own control.

Thanks to the first Instant Lottery Game, the Michigan Lottery set a new record in ticket sales for million, a $20 million increase over 1974.

Revenue for the year reached a high of $162

The instant game boosted fourth quarter revenue for 1975 to nearly $68 million, nearly $30 million better than the previous high for one quarter which was the summer of 1974, when the first new $1 game was introduced.

The combined totals for revenue since the lottery was started in November of 1972 come to $453,190,407. Of the total, about 10 percent has gone toward administrative costs such as sales agent commissions, bank fees, operation of the Lottery Bureau, ticket printing and advertising.

About $204 million has been given away in prizes to ticket purchasers. The profit to the state has been about the same, $204 million.

The money raised by the lottery goes into the state general fund, which is the state's principal checking account from which all bills are paid. The breakdown is about 43 percent for education, 32 percent for social services, 10 percent for health and medical, and 15 percent for other governmental services.

Since the first instant lottery game was such a success, the State Lottery Bureau began another one January 13. It will be similar to the first game.

Some 55 million $1 tickets are expected to be sold within 10 to 12 weeks.

The prize pot will be sweetened with $5.000 towards the purchase of a 1976 car for 110 lucky ticket buyers. Cash prizes of $2, $5, $50, $100, $1,000 and $10,000 will continue, as well as a chance at the $1 million jackpot for 55 finalist winners.

The first instant game sold 53 million tickets in six weeks during October and November.

A third instant game is planned for April.

Did GOP Drop DeWaard?

A week later Elliot called DeWaard and in a subsequent meeting between DeWaard and Elliot, "he asked me if I'd be a candidate."

"He says, 'as far as we're concerned, you're our candidate'," recalled DeWaard.

DeWaard said he was told by Fred Houghton, then Republican Chairman of the Board of Commissioners.

that if DeWaard filed, no other Republican would file. DeWaard said that after the filing deadline passed and Murphy had filed, "I called Houghton and I said I guess your information isn't too good."

Houghton said that he did tell DeWaard there might not be competition in the primary.

"I may have suggested Murphy would not file if other candidates did," said Houghton. He added that the statement was made on the basis of what he had been told by some people in the Novi area and that he had not talked with Murphy.
"Summed up Houghton; "I think Laverne must have misunderstood Art. I think all Art told LaVerne was we wouldn't seek anyone else.'

After Murphy filed, "Art Elliot then had no other position to take than to deny I being their candidate," said DeWaard. "They're taking the position they won't support any candidate because they got DeWaard insisted that he told Elliot that "if you got five guys lined up at the door, I'm not going to fight them. He said as long as you're our candidate, if someone came to me I'd try to discourage them and tell them we already got our candidate.

DeWaard said he believes that some behind the scenes politicking may have persuaded the Republicans not to back him in the primary.

"Fessler has told me he was endorsing and supporting Murphy. If Fessler used pressure on the Oakland County Republican committee, that remains to be seen. Hugh Dohaney, county treasurer, and L. Brooks Patterson, the attorney - they're all buddies with Fessler."

Elliot said he had talked in private with Fessler concerning the race, but would not divulge what was said without Fessler's okay.

Fessler denied that he had used any behind the scenes pressure to throw Republican support away from DeWaard. He said he took no action towards supporting Murphy because of the party stand not to support any candidate.

Fessler also said that he actually cautioned Elliot "not to mislead Vern when you talk to him. Make certain he hears what you're telling him and not what he wants to hear."

Meanwhile, Murphy said it was his understanding all along that the Republicans would support no candidate in the primary.

"I'm not receiving any party support," said Murphy. "I'd like to see that seat remain Republican. I've had some people locally and on a county and state level happy to see me run." "Even though the Republican party is not supporting anyone, I feel I'm best qualified. I've been an active Republican on a local and county level. I feel I can serve the needs of the people."

Julia Crowther, who is a director of special education in the district, was named to be the local Title IX Coordinator.

A grievance procedure was also set up. According to schools superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz, if the board did not act, nothing would have happened unless a resident complaint came in. However, the school district could stand to lose $60,000 in federal aid if it failed to adopt the policy and the government determined discrimination was taking place.

Dr. Kratz noted that the new policy also applies to scholarships handed out and said he will have to contact the families sponsoring the Radke scholarship which goes annually to a girl and to the Erwin scholarship which annually goes to a boy.

would take several years to complete. But preparation for it could begin yet this year if council decides to implement it.

Although no formal council position on the matter has been advanced, several members appear to support the idea of shared parking facility with the Downs as a means of satisfying parking requirements of both the city and the race track and, perhaps equally important, as a means of helping to pay for the parking structure.

Furthermore, some councilmen have expressed informal support of the proposal for development of a commercial structure in conjunction with the multi-level deck as a

However, there appears to be a reluctance on the part of some councilmen to accept Nino's recommendation for a new library on this site. Location of a banking institution or a supermarket on the site has been considered. To some officials the former is the better choice because with banking hours there would be less chance of conflict for parking between the bank and the race track.

Consultant Nino has advised officials here that a "people attractor" is important to the success of the central business district, particularly in view of the regional shopping centers that exist or are planned in this structure (at Cady and Center) offers a unique opportunity to build a multi-purpose use building containing both parking and institutional and-or commercial activity...'

The parking study suggests that Main Street, between Wing and Hutton streets, be made into a mall where only emergency and public transportation vehicles would have access. Center Street would, however, continue to be a through street at Main. The municipal parking lot adjacent to the drug store (across from the bank) would be landscaped. Parking no longer would be permitted there. The study also suggests landscaped areas immediately behind stores (on the north and south sides of Main Street). Parking on Mary Alexander Court would be discontinued. Timing for the three-phase development, as suggested by the study, would have Phase 1 and the parking-commercial structure at Cady and Center operable by 1980. At this point, creation of the mall, utilization of the now existing parking deck for a commercial use, and elimination of street parking on Main and on Mary Alexander Court could begin. Main Street stores would be oriented in two directions, with attractive entrances and signs on front and rear.

By 1990 when additional commercial business will have filled in now vacant spaces (i.e., bowling alley parking lot at Main and Center, at northeast Center and Cady, at northwest Main and Hutton, etc.) and otherwise intensified the CBD character (i.e., removal of Little Joe's Bar and the Winner's Circle Bar and construction of a new commercial building), additional parking will be required. And it would be supplied in the parking deck in the existing municipal parking deck on Main, opposite Northville Square. The latter parking structure would, like the one at Center and Cady, have a multiple function. Another "people attractor", for example, could be located here. The study suggests that the structure would require the space now occupied by Union 76 service station.

Planners

Air Concern

A number of concerns of the Northville (city) Planning Commission were raised at its meeting last week.

One of these involves the council's recent rezoning of property (from residential to professional office) on Center Street, north of Chatham supermarket.

Planners have learned that in addition to rezoning the property facing on Center the council also rezoned adjacent property facing on Walnut near Center. They are asking if the Walnut rezoning was intentionally inadvertently. If the latter is the case, planners will initiate action to return it to a residential classification.

The commission also expressed displeasure over the fact that regular vehicular traffic is being permitted between the Chatham parking lot and the adjacent new real estate parking lot. Planners noted that when the request for the latter lot was made the applicant assured the commission there would be no interior vehicular traffic between the two lots.

Finally, the commission formally requested investigation into the reason (1) why the large orange Union 76 sign at Rogers and Fairbrook has not been removed as promised at the time reconstruction of the station was granted.

Winning in Olympics Opened New Doors'

BY JOHN BOZZO

In one picture the Olympic speed skater bends to tie his skates in preparation for a race.

Two medals, one gold and the other silver, occupy a prominent position in the living room of the R. Terrence McDermott home in Bloomfield Hills.

They are parts of the rich treasury of memories of his skating career.

Although no longer a competitive skater, McDermott is still active in speed skating circles. He is on the board of directors of the United States International Skating Association (USISA) and a member of the sports Advisory Committee for the United States Olympic Committee.

His regular job is in Novi with Mutual Die Casting Company. Mutual manufactures zink parts, mainly nameplates, and other

'Desire is probably the biggest controlling factor of success'

decorative items used on automobiles.

Primary customers McDermott handles are the Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick, and Fisher Body divisions of General Motors.

He married a former high school classmate, Virginia. They have four children, Joyce 11, Lynn 9, Mike 8, and Patty 7.

Although all the children are skaters, none of them are speed skaters.

Between the three areas of endeavor McDermott leads a very active life. He just finished a stint as referee of the Olympic speed skating trials in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Afterwards he helped pick the Olympic speed skating team.

Returning home he dived into a series of meetings with customers, which also involved trips to Lansing and Chicago.

Planning has begun for another trip in February, this one to Innsbruck, Austria for the 1976 Olympic games. McDermott will make the trip along with other members of the USISA and their familes.

The Olympians are already in Europe preparing for participating in the games.

McDermott reports that the speed skating contingent will represent the United States very well. Two women and two or three men have the potential of winning medals.

"At that level of competition everyone has great ability," McDermott said. "There's a narrow line between winning and losing. Desire is probably the biggest controlling factor of success."

Speed skaters have been very successful for the United States in the past few Olympic games. They won four medals in 1972, including two gold, one silver, and one bronze. In 1968 they won four silvers and a bronze.

One of the silver medals in 1968 was at the 1968 games in West Germany won by McDermott in the 500 meter race. It was his last of three Olympic appearances.

"I had laid off skating for three years prior to the 1968 Olympics," he said. "I was never able to get down to the weight I should have been. I found it difficult to reach a peak, although I still had the desire to win.

"I think I skated one of the best races I ever skated even though I finished second," McDermott added. "It was probably just as rewarding to me as my gold medal in 1964."

rewarding to me as my gold medal in 1964."

News stories after the silver medal performance told of the poor ice conditions McDermott had to skate on.

"In 1968 I had a very poor drawing," he recalled. "In fact, I was the last skater to skate. Continually through the day the ice got progressively worse. Had I had a better seeding my time would have been better "

Also, in 1968 McDermott received one of the great honors of his life when he served as the bearer of the American flag during the Olympic ceremonies.

Those events were the culmination of a skating career which began when McDermott was seven years old in Essexville, Michigan.

He became interested in the sport through a friend of his sister, who was the coach of the Bay City Skating Club. McDermott joined the club and skated with them until 1960. The friend later became a brother in law

From 1949 through 1958 he was the Michigan champion. In 1962 he was the North American winner, and in 1957, 1958, 1961, and 1962 McDermott earned National titles.

1962 McDermott earned National titles. Baseball and football also occupied his time during high school.

"Making the Olympics never really entered my mind until 1959 when I skated in the Olympic trials," he remembered. "Mainly because Michigan hadn't had a man on the speed skating team since 1932. It didn't really strike me that I had a chance to make the Olympics until I won the Michigan trials."

A young, bright-eyed 19-year-old, McDermott traveled to Squaw Valley, California for the 1960 games. The flair and pageantry of the Olympics were quite a spectacle for the young man.

"I was very enthused and excited," he recalls. "It was my first chance to skate in international competition. Participating against so many people of equal ability was something I was not used to."

McDermott finished seventh that year, one second away from the first place time. "After the 1960 games I was inspired," McDermott related. "I knew positively I would be trying for the 1964 games, mainly because of my age. I was one of the youngest skaters in speed skating.

"I knew I hadn't reached my full maturity or full ability in speed skating," he added. "So I worked very hard for four years"

He was going to school at the Sault St. Marie branch of Michigan Tech studying business administration and running track when he wasn't skating.

Soon he realized that he couldn't go to school and do the things he wanted to in skating. So McDermott gave up his education and dropped out of school.

About the same time he got married. Needing a source of income which would also provide him with time for skating workouts, he became a barber.

"It was never a chore for me to train," McDermott said. "Mainly because I was a sprinter and it didn't demand many hours of training. A sprinter can only do so much work. I could probably get a workout done in an hour, unlike a distance skater who needs to Finally, in 1964 at Innsbruck, Austria, the hard work paid off. McDermott sped through the 500 meter race in 40.1 seconds, winning a gold medal and setting an Olympic record. It was the only gold medal won by the United States at the winter games that year.

"Winning in the Olympics opened new doors for me, especially in the area of sales," McDermott said. "I started selling with a friend who was a manufacturer's representative. I worked with him for awhile and then started selling on my own, which is with Mutual Die Casting."

He also has done a television commercial for Goodyear, skating on an ice rink next to a car fitted with a new snow and ice tire developed by the company.

McDermott said he has enjoyed the people, training, and travel involved with skating. He also received a great deal of satisfaction from performing well.

As a member of the committees, McDermott stays in touch with speed skating. In fact, the purpose of the USISA is to run the sport and increase involvement in skating.

Interest now is as high, or higher than it has ever been in the program. Biggest stumbling block in participation is the availability of indoor facilities for racing.

A new facility soon will be available in Lake Placid, New York, where the 1980 Olympics are scheduled. The closest rink to Michigan is in Milwaukee.

A result of this shortage of year-round training facilities is that most of participants in Olympics are from areas near the rinks.

In recent years the sport itself has

"Techniques of skating change like in every sport, and always for the better," McDermott said. "Techniques are better, athletes are trained better, and times are better, which is true in every sport where racing is involved."

Skates and uniforms have also changed, and even the ice is better. McDermott said that people are considering flooding the rinks with de-ionized water, which has no impurities, and thus a faster surface.

Throughout the world more artificial tracks are being built, and they are placed in beautiful spots where skaters may perform under better conditions than they previously enjoyed.

McDermott's advice to any athlete who wants to do well in a sport is to be willing to pay the price of conditioning, and conditioning can only be achieved through dedication and hard work.

"If you're going to work at any sport, no matter what your performance level may be, you'll always be satisfied knowing that at least you've tried your best."

4 Basic Tools

Here's How

To Slice

Your Tax

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of articles on 1975 income tax preparation.

How can you decrease your income, tax payment this year?

The same way you can, and should, do it every year: Make full use of the four basic tools for reducing the income subject to taxes, for lowering the rate at which the tax is levied, and in some cases for having part of the tax forgiven. The four are: adjustments, deductions, exemptions and tax oredite.

exemptions, and tax credits.
Adjustments, such as sick pay and moving expenses, are attractive because they reduce gross income, leaving "adjusted gross income," a much smaller target for the tax collector to aim at.

Deductions (for taxes and interst paid, contributions, medical costs, etc.) are nice, too: they, and the exemptions we get for ourselves and our dependents, reduce adjusted gross income still further — to "taxable income."

But tax credits (on low incomes, new home purchases, retirement income, political contributions, etc.) are best of all, because they can be deducted, dollar for dollar, from the taxes owed

In subsequent articles, each of these four basic tax-reducing devices will be reviewed in some detail, to help readers avoid paying a penny more in taxes than is required.

In the meantime, what new tax-saving opportunities are available this year? The big changes over the 1974 tax picture are:

• If you use the standard deduction instead of itemizing, you can now deduct 16 percent of adjusted gross income, with a maximum of $2,300 for single persons, and $2,600 for couples filing joint returns or surviving spouses. For a married person filing a separate return the maximum is $1,300.

• There is also a new minimum standard deduction of $1,600 for singles, $1,900 for married couples, but you do

Old newspapers may not seem a very likely source of funds, but for the past halfdozen years they have provided an estimated half of the income for the Parent-Teacher (PTL) of St. Paul's Lutheran Church school in Northville.

Right now, newspapers are bringing a premium of $18 a ton and the school's weekly newspaper collection is "very profitable" with 18 tons being gathered every five or six weeks.

As Kenneth Lehl, school principal, relates these figures, he points out, however, that a year ago old newsprint was bringing just $2 a ton.

No matter what the going price, he adds, the church school paper drive continues week-in-week-out.

The collection is under a league committee's direction. Mrs. Donna Bragenzer of South Lyon, a school parent,

Each Monday night from 6 to 8 p.m. a parent volunteer is at the van stationed on Seven Mile Road in Northville by Good Time Party Store of Northville Road to take papers brought there by parents, friends and anyone who wishes to donate to a good

About half of the money for the school's two buses was contributed through the drive, Lehl newspaper mentions.

The school now has a fiveyear-old mini-bus seating 12to-15 students and a 36passenger bus 1973 vintage which it was able to purchase last year.

He lists also carpeting for a classroom, athletic equipment and a "Music Man" jungle gym that cost $500 as items bought in part with the paper collection funds.

Right now the collection is bringing in about $350 every five or six weeks, the time it takes to fill the van. The income, the church points out, is not steady, however, as the same haul brought in only about $36 a year ago.

Both parents and students contribute effort in the ongoing project, which continued even during the holidays. With publicity within the church school league and the weekly line in the Northville Record community calenda donations keep arriving at th van every Monday night.

The PTL just hopes continues as there will many furnishing needs to fi as St. Paul's is in the midst a building program.

South Lyon Church Sets Film Saturday

"The Burning Hell", a motion picture paraphrasing the story of Lazarus and the Rich Man from the Book of Luke, will be shown January 17 at 7 p.m. at the South Lyon Assembly of God Church, 62345 Eight Mile Road. The public is invited to attend.

Starring Christian performers, hosted by Evangelist Estus Pirkle, the picture is probably the first movie in history to attempt documenting the miseries and torments of a literal burning hell, according to Pastor Ronald Sweet. Hollywood know-how is credited for much of the realism in the film made by the Nashville based Ormond Organization.

According to Pastor Sweet, Ron Ormond who spearheads the company spent most of his life in the Hollywood studios as both producer and director before he and his family were saved and moved to Tennessee

A special "hell set" had to be constructed for the filr Prior to the construction this and other sets. Evangeli Pirkle and 70 cast membe journeyed to the Middle Ea to appear in special sscenes Mount Sinai, Caesarea ai Emmanus.

"One of the great thing about this film," Evangeli Pirkle stated, "was how effected so many lives. Peop were saved even while th picture was being made."

The movie include outstanding "special effects and unbelievable realism" such spectacular scenes Korah-Mose confrontation from Numbe 16 and Lazarus being escort to Heaven by the Angel Other scenes are Lazari sitting in the bosom of Abraham, The Lake of Fire, the Bottomless Pit and other Bible-inspired sequences.

The cast of hundreds includes guest appearances by internationally known preachers, Doctors R.G. Lee. Jack Hyles and Bob Gray.

Salem Sunday School Kids Pay 'Visit' to Valley Forge

Frostbite, hunger and great hardship confronted George Washington's small band of patriots who endured the winter at Valley Forge during America's War for Independence.

A modern day "Valley Forge" endurance record will be set by members of the Salem Bible Church for the winter of 1976 but the hardships of 200 years ago won't be in evidence. Those attending the Salem Sunday School's Valley Forge picnic this February will be well dressed and well fed.

In fact to be eligible to attend, children and adults alike will earn their issue of clothing by fighting the good fight of faith. Perfect attendance during January and February will provide each Sunday School member with clothing certificates for a hat, scarf, coat, belt, britches, socks and boots.

The all important eighth item to complete the cold weather ensembles is a pair of mittens which can be earned only by (1) bringing someone new to Sunday School, (2) bringing someone who has not attended since September, (3) by attending three evening services. All eight items are required in order to be a part of the "Salem Army" at the Valley Forge Winter

The picnic is slated for February 28 at Kensington Metropolitan Park with winter activities providing the fun. The Army will be well nourished on a diet of weiners, roasted over an open fire, hot chocolate, chips and sloppy Joes.

Pastor Ivan Speight said that average attendance at their Sunday School is approximately 150 persons. "Our Sunday School cannot give up its efforts during the cold winter months of January and February, 1976. We must hold on and fight the good fight of faith. Our Valley Forge Campaign strategy is to have everyone attending Sunday School receive 'clothing.' We hope to increase our attendance permanently, of course."

Those present on January 11 received a "hat" certificate. The clothing issue this week will be a scarf; the 25th, a coat; February 1, a belt; the 8th, britches; the 15th, socks and the 22nd, boots.

Items of clothing missed due to absence on a given Sunday may be made up by bringing additional visitors to Sunday School.

Rustic Highway Privies on Way Out

By ELMER E. WHITE

LANSING-The "privy" patches along Michigan highways look ever more modern as the state moves ahead with a rest stop renewal program.

Back in 1969, the state Highway Commission ordered a changeover from the 36 "rustic" rest stop facilities to modern equipment. Four years later. after a dozen of the rustics were switched, the commission called for a speed-up.

Today, three of the remaining 24 facilities have been dropped from the list (because of relocation of the entire rest stop, etc.). Nine others have been modernized — seven during 1975.

NO RUSTICS by '78 is the rallying cry.

Jack Burton, supervisor of roadside development for the Department of State Highways and Transportation, says the remaining 12 half-moon type facilities will be under contract for modernization by the end of 1976 or shortly thereafter.

What does all this cost?

The latest modernization, in Ottawa County, cost nearly $72,000 for the building alone. Added expenses were incurred because of the need for new driveways, sidewalks, lighting and a sewage system. ,

What price comfort?

THIRTEEN PERSONS died in hunting accidents during 1975, and there were 24 reported gun-related accidents during Michigan's recent firearm deer season.

Too many, of course, especially when you consider that carelessness and lack of judgment by some continue to cause over one-half of all reported firearm accidents.

But Dr. David Jenkins, head of the Department of Natural Resources Wildlife Division, says the accident rate per 100,000 deer hunters has been steadily decreasing for over 30 years.

"ACCIDENTS NUMBERING between 60 and 80 a a year were common 20 years ago when roughly 400,000 deer hunters were afield," Jenkins notes. And, he says, "the worst season on record was back in 1952 when nearly half as many hunters as we had in 1975 (700,000) were involved in nearly three times as many accidents as we had this Jenkins says deer hunters can be proud of reversing those negative totals.

"Most hunters act responsibly in the field, and they have made deer hunting one of the safer pastimes when compared to insurance company accident figures for other sports," he

WHAT ABOUT the deer?

The DNR reports some 87,100 were taken during the 1975 firearm season, according to preliminary figures.

Those figures, culled from traffic counts taken along major north and southbound highways during the twoweek season in late November, will be updated and finalized through a postcard survey of licensed deer

NUMBERS, LETTERS and border stripes on your license plates already are shiny - after many legislative hassles about reflectorizing.

Now the fight appears to begin anew, as a special legislative committee gears up to study whether Michigan's license plates should be fully reflectorized.

An earlier study reportedly found no significant advantage to adding the material to reflect light. And Secretary of State Richard H. Austin opposes reflectorizing further.

Here's Income Tax Savers

not have to compute it because it is built into the tax

• The level of gross income below which you do not have to file a tax return has been raised to $2,350 for singles, $3,400 for joint filers, $2,650 for a surviving spouse and $750 if married and filing separately.

• Because of efforts last summer to stimulate the lagging economy, taxpayers, regardless of their tax bill, can subtract $30 from what they owe, plus another

$30 for each dependent.

• Qualified low-income taxpayers, with adjusted gross income under $8,000, are eligible for a credit of 10 percent of earned income, up tó a máximum credit of $400 on $4,000 of 'earned' income. They lose the credit at the same 10 percent rate as their income rises above $4,000 so the credit is lost when incomes reaches $8,000. If the credit exceeds taxes owed, the excess is paid to the taxpayer like a refund. To qualify, you must have maintained a household in this country with at least one dependent child. • If, in order to hold a job, you had to pay for the care of a dependent who is under 15 or disabled or your spouse, you may be able to claim up to $4,800 a year of such expenses, if your combined incomes did not exceed $18,000

The Lark

Oh lark above the fields, you glide along A pathway in the blue on flights of joy. You love to fly and fill the air with song, And those below can listen and enjoy. But I stand now on clumpy, fertile ground; Warm earth beneath bare feet feels good to me. My path upon the soil is so earthbound, Because I farm to grow the crops you see. Each day I gaze aloft and see you fly And hear your tune when perched upon a tree. Your life with melody so makes me sigh! My soul soars high above with you; it's free;

Oh lark, I sense soft winds - serenity.

Ruth Burlas

Sometimes

Somethimes the frailest ones in life Are imcomparably strong, Sometimes the smallest one of all Stands tallest in the throng.

Sometimes the meekest of mankind Are bravest to the end, Sometimes an ordinary one Is the very finest friend.

Sometimes the days don't go quite right When problems do arise, Sometimes we cannot seem to find Someone who can advise.

Familiar sources we then find Are most helpful to our needs; The frail, the small, the meek, withal Then prove themselves in deeds.

Charles E. Hutton

The Twelfth Day of Christmas

Two weeks after Christmas, and all through the town The street decorations are still coming down. The papier-mache, bedraggled and torn Is hanging in tatters, looking very forlorn.

The tired red bells are forgotten and weary, The faded trees lie abandoned and dreary . . . The dolls and the toys and presents galore Are all scattered 'round the house, down on the floor.

Talk of St. Nick is no longer heard And of reindeer prancing you hear not a word. The old Christmas carols are now laid to rest, 'dreams of white Christmas

The yuletide cards are now filed for a year, And charge account statements are plenty and already here.

The twelfth day of Christmas is, as you must know The end of the season and New Year's bright glow. Those "week-end vacations" are now past and gone . . About all that is left is a sigh and a yawn.

Charles E. Hutton

Rainy Day

Mother Nature is crying today I guess she feels blue, cause her SUN'S gone away He sure has been gone for quite awhile Until he comes back, Mother Nature won't smile

The clouds have put on so much weight It's hard for the sky to keep things straight Miss Rainbow is anxiously waiting For her Mr. SUN, cause they've been dating

The Earth is waiting to be fed But Mother Nature is confined to her bed, I wonder why her Sun don't appear To erase all her worries, and fear

Her Moonbeams keep dancing to lite up her sky They can't understand, what makes her cry Her stars will twinkle, and put her grief on the run For a happy Reunion, with her Sun

Years of seconds pass slowly Washing over the rock shore sea Moonlight passing into the night as the calm waters born the sun

the stars sparkle, their child won The new dawn wishing to be Reaching for the light of purpose Battling the odds of progress and the signs that grow in the path She hopes for pioneers of together to circle wagons against the weather

So her sun arms can search out a pass

But red light warns against the green Piling quietly the stone wall With heights reaching minute planes forever growing smaller it seems Her sunlight entering, tilting it to fall With kindly forceful time, and "NO"

South Lyon Methodists are expecting to have a hilarious evening of fun and good eating when the United Methodist Men sponsor their annual family Box Social this Saturday, January 17, at 7 p.m. All ladies and girls 13 and over are asked to pack a decorated box containing all the goodies for a complete supper for two. Those with children under 13, are asked to prepare enough food for a couple plus the children. Men and boys of the church will bid on the boxes and the highest bidder will eat with the gal who packed the box he purchases. Those who attended the social last year report that it is strictly forbidden to indicate in any manner who packed which box in advance of the bidding.

The Church of God of Prophecy, 12760 West 10 Mile Road, South Lyon will host "The Cross Bearers Quartet" on January 16, 17 and 18. Services begin at 7:30 nightly. The quartet from Taylor is a nationally known singing group.

Beulah King has again been elected president of the Altar Society of St. Joseph Catholic Chuch at South Lyon. She will be assisted by Millie Fallert, vice-president; Elizabeth Nicastri, secretary; and Irene Phillips, treasurer. Mrs. Nicastri served as secretary last year while Pat Haas and Barbara MacLean, last year's vice-president and treasurer respectively, declined to run this year.

completely. Or put it in soil with the top third exposed since it must have sunlight to germinate. Or, use the pear-shaped Florida variety rather than the egg-shaped California variety for better sprouting.

The real key seems to be luck. Many pits, sad to say, are sterile and won't sprout no matter how much you pamper them. If nothing happens in 2-3 months, pitch the pit and make a second batch of guacamole.

For a pineapple plant, cut the top from a ripe pineapple, including about an inch of the flesh. Set it in a bowl of water up to the base of the leaves. Or set it in a shallow pot with soil to the base of the leaves.

Some hints are in order. Let the pineapple dry for 2-3 days until a "scab" forms on the cut side. It seems to help rooting the same way it helps geraniums (but let them dry only 5 hours). You might try slicing off all but 1 square inch of yellow flesh. (The checker at a local grocery store swears this helps.)

Much of the food the pineapple will require will come through the leaves so frequent misting is a must.

While avocados almost never produce fruit indoors or out, you just might get a pineapple. (The fruit, by the way, is actually hundreds of fertilized flowers which have fused together.)

A plump carrot will usually sprout if you cut off the top 1" and bury it, cut side down, in moist soil. For a little fun, pick a short, fat carrot and cut 1" from the pointy end. With whatever suitable instrument you can scrounge, scrape out the inside flesh so you have a sort of finger-shaped tunnel.

Tie string around the entrance to this tunnel so you can hang the carrot upside down, filled with water. Keep it full of water for 2 weeks and the carrot should begin to grow a curly green beard.

Once sprouted this way or in a saucer of water, you can pot the carrot for a frilly and attractive contrast to more sturdy broadleaf plants. They won't live as long as a yam, but reinforcements are easy to come by.

Eating oranges, lemons, limes, and grapefruit not only wards off colds, it gives you more seeds to try. Cover the seeds with 1/4" of regular potting soil and keep it moist. Commercial citrus trees are generally grafted, but given time and luck you could end up with a real tree.

Other pits and seeds are worth trying. You get to enjoy the food and plant the pit of: mangoes, gooseberries, pomegranates, papaya, lichis, and dates.

The key to experimentation is a loose, rich, moist soil, patience, and luck. Good eating to you.

'CUDDLY THINGS'—As cuddly as the doll and stuffed animal they hold are Stacy Crissey and Michael Mathes of Northville, both 4, who plan to enter the "Cuddly Thing" contest at Northville Square at 11 a.m. this Saturday. Children from eight months to four years old may bring the inanimate objects they cuddle-teddy bears, blankets, dollsto the lower level of the shopping center and may win a toy and a Bicentennial silver dollar. Entries will be judged in six categories, brightest color, largest, smallest, most ragtag, most unusual and most faded.

PHILLIP GOLDSMITH, RPh., of Novi, has received the Sentry Drug Store Honor Club award for 1975. He was chosen for his development of programs and procedures to increase the efficiency of pharmacy operations.

This is the second consecutive year that Goldsmith has been singled out for recognition. In 1974 he was selected Manager of the Year of the 12-store Sentry chain, which is headquartered in Romulus.

HOW TO BE SEEN IN A BIG CLASS

One, way of course, is to literally run over the judge however, this is not recommended. Most judges dislike the rider who cuts across the center too obviously, to be seen; most will declare themselves in favor of showing on the rail.

Except for the very experienced riders, cutting or circling for position may often wind up with your horse in a worse position than if you had elected to stay on the rail.

Novices may try to cut by heading for what they think is there and find that the horses on the rail got there first. Cutting across to a spot in front of the judge runs the added risk of a possible error right before the judge's eyes - as in the canter when a horse may switch leads when turned in or out of a group.

The best advice for the novice is to follow the rail, most horses work best there. and when passing, anticipate ahead of time so you can ease out of line and pass without any abrupt turning.

If your horse has a good, brisk walk, you may want to ride him 5 to 10 feet in from the rail so the judge will be sure to see his fine gait. If, however, your horse has a tendency to be excited then stay on the rail and possibly even hope to be covered if he jigs a few steps. The same with the other gaits, if your horse is faster than the majority, he must pass, so stay on the inside.

Probably the best way to be seen is to have the most immaculately groomed and tacked entry in the ring. Little things do count — the horse with a beautifully clean mane and tail may be given a plus by many judges; a well-fitted saddle and bridle suitable to the class may draw a plus. A dirty or ill-fitting bridle, with too tight a curb chain or too long a curb shank may cause the judge to score a minus, consciously or not.

At all times the rider or driver must appear to be at ease enjoying himself. The gaits must look smooth under saddle, and must be performed pleasantly with light reins.

Neat appropriate dress for rider is very important. The properly attired person looks at ease and confident in the ring.

SOME CONCLUSIONS

- 1. Have your mount in the best possible condition immaculately groomed and properly tacked for the class.
- 2. Have yourself dressed appropriately for the class and the tack being used.
- 3. Decide what is the biggest asset your horse has, and take advantage of it. Try to place him so as to be seen by the judge clearly when he is doing his best gaits or gait.
- 4. As an entrant, try to make your horse appear effortless to ride or drive. Enjoy yourself.

5. Be a good sport. an empty spot, only to arrive \ Congratulate the winner, and if you are the winner, receive the award graciously, with a smile for the crowd and a pat for your horse.

Sasena Earns Top Honors at Schoolcraft

championship in leading Novi to a 12th place finish at the Schoolcraft College Invitational Wrestling Tournament, an event which coaches and wrestlers called the toughest around.

Sasena won five matches during the Friday and Saturday event which included 33 teams and over 350 wrestlers, mostly from Class A high schools.

Two of his four vict rues on the way to the title bout were by superior decision.

In the championship match Sasena was pitted against a grappler from Wayne Memorial, the 1975 Class A statė championship wrestling

Sasena posted an early lead by taking down his opponent, but the match was tied going into the final period after he allowed the Wayne wrestler two escapes.

In the third period Sasena earned an escape and promptly scored a takedown on the Wayne wrestler to gain a three point edge. He remained in control until there were only seven seconds left when the opponent escaped.

Final score of the match was 5-3 in favor of Sasena.

"He wrestled probably one of the smartest matches he has ever wrestled," Coach Russ Gardner said.

"He's been waiting to win this tournament for four years," the coach added.

In the two days of wrestling at the tournament Sasena won five matches, earned eight takedowns, and raised his season to a 20-1 mark

Wayne Memorial repeated as the team champion with 1731/2 points. Mt. Clemens was second with 128½, Ypsilanti had 124, John Glenn was fourth with 118, and Bay City Western finished fifth with 111½.

Novi had 54 team points for 12th position. South Lyon followed in the 13th spot with 521/2 team points. "This tournament produces more state champions than any other tournament, and more place winners," Gardner said

In 1975, the first, third, seventh, and ninth ranked Class A wrestling teams participated Schoolcraft event.

Sasena was the only place winner from Novi. Doug Maier, a Novi hopeful, at the 187 weight class, won his first two matches at the tournament before losing in his third bout on what Coach Gardner described a 'fluke' move by his opponent.

Going into the consolation round Maier posted a superior decision and then lost by pin to a North Farmington wrestler who picked him up in the air and pasted his shoulders to the mat.

At 128, Tony McCarty won twice before being pinned and dropping into the consolation round where he won his first match and lost by pin to finish 11th in his weight division.

"For a small Class B school competing against large Class A schools, I'm pleased with the 12th place finish," Gardner said.

The coach also mentioned Kevin Mills who posted two victories and two defeats at Schoolcraft while wrestling in the 121 pound weight class

Earlier in the week the Wildcats suffered their first dual meet loss of the season when they fell to Saline by a 34-30 score, Thursday. The Wildcats now have a 6-1 dual meet record.

"Now we've got to beat Milan to make the conference

a three-way tie going into the league tournament," Gardner said. "I think we can beat both those teams in the tournament."

Then Gardner added cautiously that South Lyon also has a good tournament team, and of course Dexter and Chelsea cannot be counted out when talking about the Southeastern Conference mat crown.

Swimmers Top Harrison

Northville swimmers preserved an unbeaten league record Thursday with their first home dual meet victory over Farmington Harrison in four years, 46-37.

A standing room only crowd cheered the Mustangs as they grabbed first place honors in six of the 11 events.

Coach Ben Lauber recalled that the meet had a dynamic atmosphere with all the spectators and his team swam like a dream come true.

"Going into the meet I thought Harrison had an edge on us," Lauber said, "primarily because they have good front line swimmers and we have depth. Since in our pool each team can swim only two instead of three swimmers, Harrison has the advantage.'

However, the meet results failed to substantiate this pregame impression.

The medley relay team of Carl Haynie, Matt Sullivan, Randy Roggenbuck, and Saulius Mikalonis started the meet off with a victory while clocking a time .1 of a second off the team record.

Dean Alli swam his best time in the individual medley, Mark Yanoschik won the 50 yard freestyle. Scott Knapp won the diving, beating teammate Joe Deveraux for the first time this season.

in

Haynie posted his best performance backstroke as did Wright in the breaststroke.

Roggenbuck returned in the butterfly to set a team record and Pete Talbot swam his best time to finish second in the same event.

Sullivan won the breaststroke event with a time which qualifies him for the state meet, and was his personal best.

"I was pleased with everyone's performance," Lauber said. "It's hard to point out individual people because they all put it together. That's something you dream about the team doing...all of them swimming well in one night. "I talked to Harrison Coach

Holdridge expressed that he, too, was very proud performances of most of his boys," Lauber added.

Coupled with a 101-71 victory over Clarenceville on Tuesday, the Harrison victory gives the Mustangs a 6-1 dual meet record. Northville won easily over

Boosters Honor Jones

Following the Northville-Livonia Churchill basketball game on Friday, January 23, the Northville Athletic Booster's Club will honor Al Jones with a reception at Our Lady of Victory Social Hall.

Jones will retire at the end of this semester after spending 30 years as a high school coach.

Pizza and refreshments will be served. All friends and former players of Jones are encouraged to attend. Tickets are three dollars per person and may be purchased at the high school office or from members of the booster's club.

During all his years of coaching Jones never had a team suffer a losing

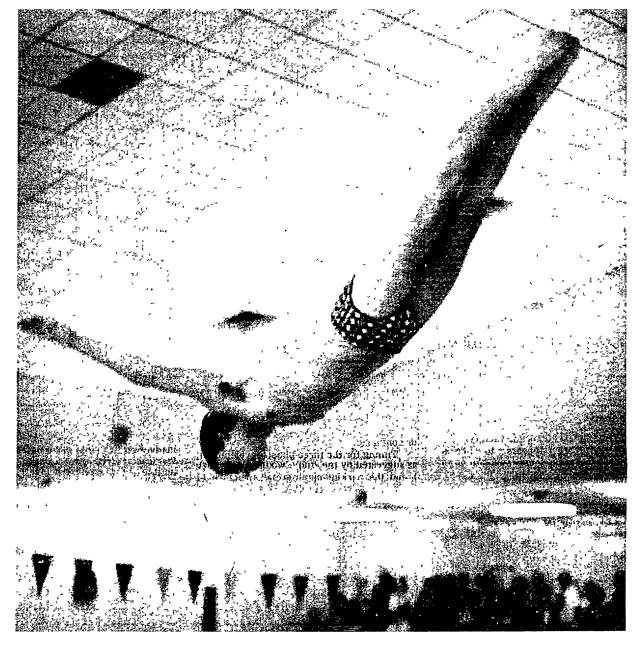

He came to Northville in 1948. He has coached football, baseball, golf, and served as athletic director.

His top seasons as a coach included three football championships, including a team which was undefeated and rated fourth in the state. He also piloted teams to six golf league championships, five golf regional titles, and four baseball league titles. During the 1949-50 season Jones helped organize the Wayne-Oakland League.

Jones was also a fine participant in sports. After his graduation from Michigan State University in 1943, he signed a professional baseball contract with the Boston Red Sox.

However, his baseball career was interrupted by World War II. During the war, as a member of the Army Air Force, he flew 32 combat missions over Europe.

DIVER-Joe SETTING Devereaux has splashed into the water in such a great fashion that he already smashed two records in the young swim season. The latest mark was a pool record during a dual meet at Clarenceville, a week ago Tuesday, when he scored 237.85 points. Earlier in the year he rewrote the Northville team mark.

Mustangs Finish Fifth at Brighton Platte, Singleton Grab Mat Titles

Dan Platte and Dennis Singleton earned individual titles as Northville finished fifth at the Brighton Invitational Wrestling Tournament, Saturday.

Five other Mustangs won medals in the tournament by placing in the top four of their respective weight classes.

Lance Irey finished fourth at the 100 pound weight class, Dave Bentley was fourth at 121, Mike Georgoff placed fourth in the 157 classification, Chris Friel was the fourth place heavyweight, and Brent Ashby earned a third place medal in the 140 pound weight class.

Pinckney won the team trophy with 1141/2 points. Haslett finished second with 113, Walled Lake Central 851/2, Holly 661/2, Northville 651/2, Hartland 53, Fowerville 46, and Brighton 22.

"It was a pretty good tournament for us," Gary Emerson said. "I was especially pleased to see Irey and Friel do well. They're coming along a lot better for us now."

Platte won an exciting 6-4 decision in the title bout of his 128 pound weight class. After the tournament his record stands at 14-2. Coach Gardner said one of Platte's goals is to get that record up to 30 wins Another exciting championship match was won by Singleton at the 147 pound division He was battling his opponent to a 5-5 tie late in the bout. With 15 seconds showing on the clock, Singleton secured a takedown and won the first place medal.

Ashby returns to the Northville lineup after an extended absence due to illness. He lost his first round match, but came back to win his next three bouts for the third place award.

Last Tuesday Northville scored the first wrestling dual meet win of the season by taking Plymouth Canton 33-

The Mustangs were down 21-0 after the first four matches, before they rallied to win seven straight.

Jack Stabenau, Rick Bentley, Ed Talbot, Singleton, Bob Zabinski, Georgoff, and Norm Pratt each posted victories for Northville in that string of seven.

Bentley, Talbot, and Zabinski won their matches by pin.

In a dual meet played Tuesday, Northville was defeated 35-21 by South Lyon. Platte, Rick Bentley, Singleton, and Pratt each notched victories. Pratt and Singleton pinned their opponents.

The Mustangs now sport a 1-6 dual meet record overall and are 1-1 against Western Six Conference opponents.

"We've got some good wrestlers," Coach Emerson said. "Our problem is they're all bunched up at the same weight classes. If we could move them around to different weight classes we'd have a real good team."

Coach Emerson notes improvement in his wrestlers as the season passes the halfway mark. Many of the wrestlers have set goals for themselves, including about five who are attempting to win 20 matches this season.

Following Platte, who is the winningest Mustang, is Singleton with a 13-3 record. Georgoff is 11-5 on the season and Talbot has a 10-5 mark.

Singleton has come on strong in recent matches. A football player during the fall, he joined the wrestling team after practices had begun and lost his first few matches. He has notched a fine record lately and will get a chance in an away dual meet against Clarenceville Tuesday to meet one of the grapplers who defeated him in the early going.

Thursday the Mustangs will host Farmington Harrison. Emerson describes Harrison as a team similar to Northville in its strong and weak points.

Northville will finish a busy week of wrestling Saturday when the grapplers compete at the South Lyon Invitational Wrestling Tournament.

Reinforced Mustangs Post Two Victories

"Undefeated in 1976," is the new saying around Northville varsity basketball circles.

So far the Mustangs have lived up to the billing by knocking out their first two foes of the new year.

Northville bested Farmington in an exciting 66-64 contest Tuesday at Farmington, and swamped Walled Lake Western 65-48 in a home game Friday.

With the game tied at 64 points apiece and only two seconds left to play against Farmington, Cris Armada stepped to the free throw line. He missed the shot, but teammate Jay Slagle snatched the rebound and dumped the ball into the hoop for two points and the victory.

"We still made a lot of mistakes and had 19 turnovers," Coach Walt Koepke said. "But at times we played the best basketball we have all season.

"We had some defensive lapses in the second half," he added. "But we also got some fast breaks in the third quarter which were some of our best fast breaks of the season.'

The Mustangs were excitied about opening the new year with a victory, especially with the victory coming in an away

"I was pleased with our first half," the coach added. "We ran our offense well, our pressing defense was effective, and our fast break was effective. If we stay as consistent as we were in the first half we should do better.'

League Foes Beat Novi

Novi dropped two varsity basketball games last week, falling to Lincoln by a 64-57 score Tuesday, and to Milan by a 55-49 mark Friday.

Bill Giorgio and Scott Parsons reached double figures in the scoring columns of both the games and Dave Pisha, a freshman, made his debut in a varsity uniform.

Giorgio connected for 21 points against Lincoln and Parsons added 19. Pisha, recently brought up from the junior varsity squad, netted six points and made his presence known on the backboards where he grabbed 16 caroms.

"He did what I expected from him," Flutur said. "He's got to play a new game now before he can score 25 points and get 25 rebounds without breaking a sweat. The game's a lot faster and rougher on the varsity. He's learning, and he helps the team a lot."

While a jayvee, Pisha was seemingly unchallenged as he scored 25 points per game and grabbed an equal number of rebounds.

"If he keeps working he'll. be a good one," Flutur commented.

Against Lincoln Andy McComas had four points, Bob Bannatz scored three, and Ken Snew and Biff McAllister each netted two points.

Flutur noted that his Wildcats cut down their number of turnovers to 23 against Lincoln. They were turning the ball over near the 30 mark every game.

"We're starting to work better against pressure," he Trailing Milan by 10 points at halftime, the Wildcats came within two points before falling to their fifth defeat in seven games.

"Milan was the most aggressive game we have played," the coach said. "Both teams played well in that game. The Lincoln game we could have won if we were more aggressive. I think we're starting to put things together. If we do a couple more things right we'll be on

Turnovers were again lower with the Wildcats making only

"There were a lot of offensive fouls," Flutur said. "That tells you something about the defense being played. When you get a lot of charging fouls you know somebody's playing defense."

Giorgio netted 19 points to again lead the Wildcats, and also contributed four assists. Parsons had 16, McComas scored eight, Bannatz had four, and Pisha had two Bannatz rebounders with eight, Pisha grabbed seven caroms, and Parsons had six rebounds.

Although there were some charging fouls, the total number of fouls in the game was low. As a result Novi shot only six free throws and Milan had only nine attempts from the charity line. Flutur said that was another example of the good defense being played.

Novi's season record is now 2-5, the Wildcats are 1-5 in Southeastern Conference

Mustangs Defeat Huron

Springing off their first victory of the season, last Thursday over Ann Arbor Huron, the Northville Girls' Volleyball team won the league opener with 16-14, 15-9 decisions over Walled Lake Western, Monday at Walled

"Our net play was good," Coach Jane Stubenvoll said. "A few players were able to dig the ball out of the net for the third hit.

had a couple of excellent spikes to their credit.

Kathy Belkowski, Kim Adams, and Brown were also credited with fine returns over the hands of the Walled Lake blockers.

While these individuals had some fine plays, everyone on the team played well under the pressure," the coach said. Walled Lake put a fright into the Northville team when they tied the score of the first game 14-14 as time ran out. Coach Stubenvoll said her team worked like crazy to get the two points necessary to

The Northville exhibition squad lost both games of their match-up against Walled Lake by 6-15 and 9-15 scores.

Consistent serving and overall hard work and determination resulted in the first victory of the season for the Northville girls' volleyball team, last Thursday in the home opener.

Both the varsity and exhibition teams victories over the visiting Ann Arbor Huron squad.

The varsity won by 15-8 and 15-13 scores after the exhibition squad scored a 16-14 and 15-6 victory.

"Huron was a fine serving team but our defense was top notch, in that we could control our bumps to get the ball to our setters," Coach Jane Stubenvoll said. "The setters did a splendid job in getting the ball to our hitters.

The varsity was behind at one point during the game and was forced to play catch-up ball. They steadily chipped away at the Huron lead for the victory.

strong performance by Margo Baranowski gave the exhibition squad comfortable lead in the second game of that match. Northville is now 1-1 in volleyball action.

"Everyone did a great job," Coach Stubenvoll said. "I was trying to think of individuals on the varsity, but it was hard because of the total team effort

"A victory was the greatest thing that could happen to them right now," she added. "It shows them they can be winners and gives them the opportunity to know the feeling of winning."

Ladycats Lose Thurston Opener

Volleyball season at Novi High School began with a victory for the junior varsity girls and a loss for the girls' varsity team, against Thurston last Friday.

"The junior varsity played terrific games," Coach Michaeleen Jaworowicz said. "The varsity played well, even though they lost. We'll win next time."

Varsity girls lost two straight games to the Thurston squad by 4-15 and 11-15 scores. Jenny Brown, Elaine Maki, Betty Banks and Patty Cameron each scored one point in the first game.

In the second game Maki scored five, Julie Henderson had four, while Banks and Cameron each scored once.

It took three games for the junior varsity match to be decided. Novi's jayvee unit lost the first game 7-10, but came back to post 15-2 and 15-12 victories in the final two games.

Friday Ends DSA Picks

Deadline for nominations for the Distinguished Service Award (DSA) given annually by the Novi Jaycees is Friday, January 16.

Judging will be conducted January 21. The DSA is held during National Jaycee Week (January 18-24) and is designed to both encourage and honor humanitarian efforts and the personal qualities of idealism, initiative and involvement. In this vein, the award is given to the Novi resident judged to have performed the greatest service to his community.

Any resident over 18 years of age is eligible for nomination. This is the fourth DSA presentation. Previous winners were J. Fred Buck, Don and Laureen Burch, and Dick Faulkner.

This year's recipient will be announced at a special recognition breakfast to be held at the Holiday Inn of Farmington. The public is cordially invited to attend the breakfast which begins at 9 a.m. Saturday, January 24. Cost per person is $3.50. For reservations, call Candy Creedon, 349-5251, or Pam Balagna, 349-7705

$12,000 in Tires Taken

In Wixom

Wixom Police theorize a well prepared and organized group was responsible for a theft Sunday of over $12,000 in semi-trailer tractor tires and other equipment. The company was preparing for its first day of business in Wixom on Monday.

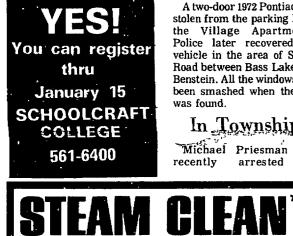

Tel-Way Truck Sales, dealing in semi-trucks, \sleeper-cab tractors, trailers and vans and relocating its business facilities from Southfield to West Twelve Mile near Wixom Road fell victim to the theft late Sunday night. Thieves randomly removed 14 Goodyear custom semi-truck tires already mounted on four semi-rigs which were parked at the company in readiness for opening day. Cross-arms of Edison poles. were used as jacks and had been precisely cut to fit under the axles of the rigs. Since the lugs of the tires had been spot welded by the company to help prevent tire thefts, police know that torches and power tools were used in their removal. The tires and rims, each weighing between 250 and 300 pounds each and valued totally at $6,000 were hauled off to a waiting vehicle.

Included in the heist was a GMC step van and 300 one gallon containers of antifreeze valued by the company at $6,507.

The owner, an apparent sports enthusiast, returned to find his skis, bindings, boots, poles, gloves and a pair of motorcycle racing shoulder pads missing. Thieves also removed the spare tire and rim, a sleeping bag, flashlight, a pair of pliers, plastic coated chains with padlocks, the windshield scraper and red shag carpeting. Total value of the loss was set at $481.

Five reported thefts scattered between the Village and Lodge Apartments on Pontiac Trail took place during the last week of 1975.

In three separate incidents at the Lodge, Wixom Police investigated one larceny and two breakings and enterings. Taken from the basement storage area was a key making machine and three boxes of blank keys valued at $180. Entry was gained by unscrewing the latch from the

A Kodak 110 camera, one sterling silver ring and one ring set with turquoise with a total value of $135 were taken when thieves made their entry to the apartment through the front door.

A large diamond ring surrounded by 16 smaller diamonds was reported to Wixom Police as being stolen. The owner, who apparently had a great number of guests during the holidays, later found the ring missing from a jewelry box kept in her apartment.

A two-door 1972 Pontiac was stolen from the parking lot of the Village Apartments. Police later recovered the vehicle in the area of Sleeth Road between Bass Lake and Benstein. All the windows had been smashed when the car was found.

The incident occurred when Priesman struck a vehicle driven by Cheryl Guinan of Livonia from behind as she was driving north on Haggerty Road near the intersection of Five Mile Road. After striking the vehicle, Priesman then sped past the Guinan car, spun his car around and headed directly into the Guinan car again. Guinan, in the meantime, had pulled her car to the side of the road. Priesman smashed into the left front portion of the car, spun his car around again when Guinan and her passenger, Sally Powers of Garden City left the car and began running for a wooded area near the road. Boulton described his assailant as a white male in his early twenties, weighing approximately 170 pounds and about 5'10". At the time of the robbery, the suspect was wearing a brown threequarter coat, dark pants, brown hunting boots and wearing a ski mask.

A 14-year-old Free Press newspaper boy was robbed of $28 recently while he was making collections on Rouge Street near Novi Street.

According to police reports, the boy was robbed by three male juveniles who were later apprehended and questioned by Northville city police.

Restitution of the stolen money was made by the three youths and it was decided by the accosted youngster and his parents not to prosecute.

According to police reports, a man returning to his vehicle after the ninth race at Northville Downs was struck on the head from behind by an unknown assailant.

Harold McKinney of Westland stated he had won a race and had $300 with him at the time of the robbery in the south end of the Northville Square parking lot on January 7. McKinney was transported to Botsford Hospital for examination.

Leather harness and other racing equipment was reported stolen from the St. Lawrence Barn Area No. 3 at Northville Downs.

The missing equipment, valued at $450, apparently was stolen between 8 a.m. January 4 and 6 p.m. January Armed with a sawed off shotgun, three men entered the Holiday Inn, 38123 West 10 Mile at Grand River near Novi and walked out with $3,000 in cash.

According to Ronald Holko, Director of Public Safety for the Farmington Hills Police Department, three men wearing stockings over their heads walked into the Holiday Inn and forced two desk cierks to man had the shotgun but no other weapons were spotted.

Both clerks were tied up with tape and hit on the head with a pair of pliars in an apparent attempt to keep the men from following as the robbers escaped.

A short while later, one of the clerks escaped from his bonds and called police. According to Holko, the police have no idea how the robbers arrived or left and are continuing their investigation.

The two desk clerks received superficial wounds and went on their own for treatment at Botsford

Northville Zoning Law Would Stop Farm Sales

A proposal which would redefine farms under the present zoning ordinance to prohibit the sale of agricultural products on a farm site was tabled Thursday by the Northville Township Board.

In moving to table, Trustee Richard Mitchell expressed disapproval of the provision of the new definition of farms which would prohibit a farmer from opening a stand on his property and selling products he has grown.

When Mitchell asked Trustee James Nowka if this was a correct reading of the intent of the proposed definition, Nowka replied "No." Nowka stated that under the proposed definition a farmer could sell produce on his land.

Trustee John Then MacDonald pointed out the last sentence of the proposed definition which reads. 'Under no circumstances shall a farm include in whole or part any sales on the premises of agricultural

The proposed definition earlier was approved by the planning commission. Trustee Nowka said the proposal is designed to make the ordinance easilv understood and to conform present with zoning requirements by eliminating retail sales from the farm definition.

It also was sent to the Wayne County Planning Commission which issued a rejection of the proposed change.

Planning Commission Director Francis P. Bennett wrote in a letter to the township.

"It was the consensus of the commission that the definition was too limiting," Bennett continued. "While it could be reasonable to rule out sales of products in a fullfledged commercial establishment in which no onsite production was involved, the proposed wording would prevent many needed and desired agricultural activities from taking place, such as the raising of fruits and vegetables on the farm for sale on the farm." The proposed definition describes a farm as a platted or unplatted parcel of contiguous land of not less than five acres, in an area of single ownership or single operation on which bona fide farming is carried on directly, by the owner, his manager, or tenant farmer, by his own labor or with the assistance of members of the household or hired employees.

Township Eyes $30,000 Library Hike

Members of Northville's Library Commission proposed a 1976 budget to the Northville township board Thursday suggesting an increase of $30,000 over last year for the township.

Accounting for the increase is a new item the budget called library facility development, which the commission plans to use in finding a new location for the library.

Township board members expressed displeasure over the $25,000 set aside for facility development with no specific plans for the money. They indicated, however, that they would consider the commission recommendations when they enter 1976 budget hearings in March.

Trustee Charles Rosenberg said the library commission would be wiser indicating a specific purpose for money requested.

Included in the proposed library budget is a similar $25,000 library facility development item which the city will be asked to contribute.

In the proposed budget, Northville township's share of support climbs to over the 50 percent mark for the first time to 51.33 percent. Support requested from the city of Northville is 48.67 percent.

Percentage support is determined by a study of library use by residents according to circulation records. Use of the library by township residents has increased.

Other increases in the library budget are for higher costs of utility items and an increased contribution to the county library system. Northville township is asked to contribute $21,608 to the county library system in 1976 as opposed to a $17,540 contribution in 1975.

Total proposed budget for the library including both township and city contributions, is $125,800.

Estimated cost of the township for rent of the library facility is $7,000

Library commission members expressed concern that rent for the library, which is located in Northville Square Mall, will increase drastically in the next couple years.

Consequently, they are asking for the facility development fund monies to help them find a new location.

Marjorie Sliger, chairman of the library commission, said the commission has been dissuaded from seeking new locations because there has been no money available for them to proceed.

Township trustees and library commissioners discussed various options to fund acquisition of a new building or land. Among them were seeking a designated millage for the library through the local governments or by declaring the library as a separate library district and going for a millage on its own.

Township trustees indicated they have some funds which can be used toward setting up a new location for a library.

"If you have funds available then we know we can search for a site," commissioner Jane Wiegand said. "Is it the direction of the board to look for a specific site of land or

Trustee Rosenberg indicated that township board members would be interested in having the library located in the township.

Then Trustee John MacDonald suggested a site of land which was donated to the township by Thompson-Brown in the area of Six Mile and Bradner Roads for a library

Our Lease Has Expired. . .

Mrs. Sliger said the commission is hesitant to move the library out of the city because it would be too far for senior citizens and high school students to reach by walking.

MacDonald then offered the idea of two libraries, one located in the township and the other located in the city.

"Both communities would cooperate better if there were facilities in the township and the city," MacDonald said. "Rather than the whole building in the city with us paying 51-percent of the contribution. It would be more palatable politically."

Two library facilities would mean increased costs in duplication of books and personnel, it was noted.

Estimated cost to the township in 1976 for a community service librarian is $5,645 in wages and $1,130 in fringe benefits.

Telephone service is estimated at $255 in 1976 for the township. Township share for miscellaneous repairs in 1976 is $510 and township portion of capital outlay would also be $510 under the proposed budget.

MacDonald instructed commission members to go away with the feeling that the township would provide a "reasonable" amount of money to explore a couple possible sites for the library and to try to develop a specific plan before budget hearings begin.

BY A 5-1 VOTE the Northville School board has reaffirmed its policy for use of school facilities. That policy says school equipment, grounds and buildings may be used by community groups on Sunday if it is in the interest of the district and does not interfere with religious education efforts. Furthermore, it states "gymnasium, locker, shower rooms, etc. will not be available for recreational purposes on Sunday". Voting against the measure was Dr. Robert Mandell, who argued that because of scheduling basketball practice should be permitted on Sundays.

New Novi Group Forms

Impetus for development of locally talented people and organizations was seen this week with the formation of the Novi Foundation for the Performing

"It's an exciting, new concept that in the next few years should have a very positive affect on talent in our community." asserted Foundation President Cynthia A. Hoops.

"Our initial goal," she said of the Foundation's kickoff, "will be to solicit funds with which to send a high school band member to the Interlochen Arts Academy for eight weeks. Hopefully, this scholarship to Interlochen or the National Music Camp will be a continuing thing."

Mrs. Hoops predicted it will have a stimulating affect on Novi band members, helping to cultivate individual music skills and to develop greater pride in group performance.

The Foundation, which has been in the planning stage for some time, was organized primarily for the benefit of the residents of Novi to promote the performing arts, including skills, talents and general levels of appreciation and understanding in the areas of music, ballet and theater, among others.

The music scholarship, costing $1200, is the Foundation's first-year goal.

"We decided on this single scholarship to give the new Foundation a goal it can attain in 1976. This way we can avoid the discouragement that might result with being overly optimistic," Mrs. Hoops explained. "Later, we will expand our efforts to assist other performing arts.'

Eventually, the Foundation expects to also sponsor public performances in the performing arts and to become involved with the purchase of musical instruments, music, props, costumes, scenery, tickets, programs, scripts and other assets and rental facilities to be used in the performing arts. It also will involve itself with sponsorship of lessons and training.

The Foundation was organized as a non-profit charitable corporation in Michigan by concerned Novi residents on October 30. It is licensed under the Michigan Charitable Organizations and Solicitations Act, and just last week it was assigned its license Trustees of the Foundation include Dorothy Flattery, head librarian for the Novi Public Library; Donald J. Grevengood, president of Security Bank of Novi; Frederick K. Hoops, managing partner of the law firm of Hoops & Huff; Ronald F. Salow. instrumental music instructor in the Farmington Public Schools; Guy Smith, Jr., administrator of corporate income taxes at Federal-Mogul; and Mrs.

Mrs. Hoops is president of the Foundation, her husband, Frederick, is chairman of the Foundation board, Mrs. Flattery is secretary of the Foundation, and Smith is treasurer.

Solicitation teams are being established now, and once city permission has been secured representatives will begin a house-to-house canvass of neighborhoods in the community. Intentions are to solicit $10 memberships. However, smaller and larger sums will be accepted.

Anyone contributing $10 or more may be elected members of the Foundation.

Contributions may be accepted now by any of the trustees in the name of the Novi Foundation for the Performing Arts or they may be mailed directly to the Foundation's offices at 22978 Brook Forest Road, Novi, Michigan 48050.

Persons wishing additional information about the Foundation may call Mrs. Hoops at 349-0036.

Elementary

Decision Due In 6 Weeks

A recommendation could come within six weeks by the Novi Schools administration as to what youngsters should attend the new Novi Elementary on Taft Road now under construction. That word came from Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz who told the Novi News that no decision has yet been made as to what youngsters should attend the new school "Dr. (William) Barr (assistant superintendent) and three elementary principals are going over where the kids live," said Dr. Kratz. "They will recommend within six weeks attendance boundary.'

It's likely that students currently being bused to school would be prime targets for the new elementary and Dr. Kratz said that based on a Needs Assessment Committee recommendation that Novi Elementary be closed in this coming school year, students who go to that school may end up at the new elementary.

However, there's no definite decision yet. Meadowbrook Glens parents were among parents from Old Orchard and Applegate Condominiums who attended a meeting last Wednesday at which Roy Williams, principal of Novi Elementary explained the concepts regarding the new elementary school.

Some Meadowbrook Glens parents were upset due to an oversight in which the Novi Post Office failed to deliver notices of the meeting to that subdivision during the holiday rush. When notified of that fact, the post office rushed out a new postal carrier who promptely delivered the notices to the wrong subdivision, Meadowbrook Lake.

Messages were then sent home with children.

There are still plans for two more presentations on the new elementary. One will be for the VOICE group which comprises parents from Village Oaks. The other will be for Orchard Hills parents.
