On $700 Grant Spins Yarn For the Arts

By JEAN DAY

Northville's Heather Fee is adept at weaving her shuttle through warp and weft yarns on her loom to create original handweavings.

Last fall the president of the Northville Handweavers Guild used pen and art work to weave her way through fibers of bureaucracy and gain a $700 mini-grant from the Michigan Council of the Arts which will be used in part to provide several community workshops at the Mill Race.

"We hope to involve elementary youngsters in fifth and sixth grades as well as the community's senior citizens," Mrs. Fee reports enthusiastically after receiving the check last week.

In the restored library building in Northville's Mill Race Historical Village Mrs. Fee anticipates being able to bring about a greater awareness of an ancient craft.

"Workshops are our lifeline," she explains as she tells how members of the guilds practicing their craft travel all over Michigan "to attend weaving workshops given by extremely good speakers."

"This money will help us bring this kind of speaker to Northville," she explains, pointing out that the council grant may be used only for purely educational projects, such as teaching workshops, and may not be utilized for building renovation.

Under terms of the grant the entire $700 must be spent by August 31 of this year; so the guild with grant in hand now is contacting professional weavers and planning for workshops and a variety of demonstrations.

From a nucleus of five members the Northville Handweavers Guild has grown to 19 members. While meeting in the Mill Race library, they have a dream of their own craft center in the little Gothic cottage being given by Paul Folino and scheduled to be moved to the Mill Race this year.

While the grant may not be used to move or refurbish the building, funds realized from the workshops and volunteer efforts of the guild members can go to this goal.

Heather Fee majored in textile arts in England and taught in Canada before marrying Donald Fee and becoming the mother of five-year-old Todd and four-year-old Jessica.

Lonesome when the family first moved to the 115-year-old home on Rayson Street, Mrs. Fee sought out other weavers. The result was the Northville guild with Mary Ann Zotto-Beltz, Ellen Wahi, Dorothy Jane Gaitskill and Gloria Teeter as fellow members.

guild president Mrs. Fee with her husband's help prepared "an elaborate presentation showing the Mill Race, the Gothic cottage and our plans to create a permanent weaving workshop there."

Last September she and Shirley Rail, secretary, were invited to an interview with council member Dale Hemmelgarn.

"I spent a whole week rehearsing my speech and assembling so many facts I could have talked

Middle School Concept on Way Out?

Northville's middle school concept may be headed for the scrap pile.

But not because either administrators or board members have become disillusioned with it. Quite the contrary, the concept has been frequently applauded.

If it occurs (no decision has yet been made), the middle school will owe its demise here to the overcrowded conditions in the high school, which are expected to become worse in the next school year.

Short of instituting split sessions, mandating year round school, or using Cooke Middle School as an auxiliary classroom for the high school, the most realistic approach to the problem appears to be restructuring the grade set-up.

This means removing the ninth grade from the high school and placing this grade in the middle school.

Such a move, according to Superintendent Raymond Spear, would eliminate the overcrowded situation at the high school through at least 1980.

Three resulting factors become apparent with removal of the ninth grade from the high school:

1. Both of Northville's middle schools — Cooke and Meads Mill — would have to be used by the district next year to accommodate the freshmen. Presently, only Meads Mill is being used for local students; Cooke was not opened last fall because of millage failures, and now is scheduled for opening but only to accommodate mentally retarded children from Northville institutions.

2. Use of both middle schools for Northville's own school children spells the end, locally, of a major part of the controversial special education program for mentally retarded children. It means Northville will have to look elsewhere for building space, and presently vacant classrooms in Livonia appear to be the most appropriate.

3. The old or traditional junior high school

Court Budget under Fire Again

In what is becoming an annual occurrence, the Northville City Council took a broad swipe at the proposed new district court budget.

Having questioned several proposed expenditure increases, the council concluded bitterly, "It doesn't make much difference what we say, he (District Court Judge Dunbar Davis) will do what he wants in the end anyway."

Nevertheless, the council appears ready to carry its criticism of the proposed $242,851 budget right to the judge's chambers if he heeds the proposal. Ironically, the budget proposal suggests that a smaller share of the total cost be borne by Northville — $72,855 instead of the last year's budgeted share of $78,314.

The decrease, according to City Manager Steven Walters means that Plymouth's court case load increased at a greater rate than did Northville. It doesn't mean, however, that Northville had fewer court cases this past year than during the previous year, he added.

'Frankly, last year's 14 percent increase for court employees was way out of line....'—Plymouth Township

This newest budget reflects the elimination of the district court in Plymouth Township. Now the judge will sit only in the cities of Northville and Plymouth. Plymouth Township, which previously had shared the cost (and the revenues) of the court system, because a courtroom was located in the township, decided last summer to opt out of the plan because "it had become too expensive."

"It was a losing proposition for us, particularly since we don't have our own police department," a spokesman for Plymouth Township told The Record. "Frankly, last year's 14 percent increase for court employees was way out of line, especially when we were giving our own people just 3 percent."

Last year, the $217,539 budget was shared by the three municipalities this way: $84,840 by the City of Plymouth; $78,314 by the City of Northville; and $54,385 by the Township of Plymouth. (Northville Township never has had a branch of the district court.)

This year, with the budget not including Plymouth Township, the proposed $242,851 budget will be shared this way: City of Plymouth, $169,996, and the City of Northville, $72,855.

In his cover letter to the council, Judge Davis noted that the budget is up by $25,312 and then he explained that $22,071 of this increase "is due to an 8 percent increase in wages, longevity and additional fringe benefits mandated by the contract between court and the employees union and additional payroll taxes. No increase in personnel is anticipated in the foreseeable future."

The remaining $3,241 of the increase, he said, is due primarily to the "greatly increased demand by defendants for court appointed attorneys."

Concerning the latter, Judge Davis said "the court is making every effort to minimize this expense by using in effect a public defender system in which I use only one attorney in all cases...by scheduling cases so he handles a number of cases each day he appears as such and paying him on a per diem basis. Also, I require, whenever possible, that the defendants make reimbursement for the expense of their court appointed attorney."

Based on preliminary figures for 1975, the Northville division of the court is expected to handle 30 percent of the court's 1976 caseload. The $72,855 Northville share is reflected in this 30 percent rate.

Expenditures by major categories indicate the following increases:

Salaries, wages and services, $130,433 up from $113,261; payroll fringes, $38,769 up from $33,870; and other expenses, $73,649 up from $70,408.

Areas of concern voiced by Northville councilmen included the increase in wages for the same number of court clerks, $96,890 up from $83,666; expenditure of $11,000 for a bookkeeper; postage expense of $3,553; telephone expense of $5,689; and professional fees of $5,000.

Concerning the postage and telephone expenditure, local officials noted that the entire city hall staff, including the police department, does not spend as much either for postage or telephones.

In speaking of the matter of the bookkeeper, officials contended that the court's bookkeeping work could be done more efficiently and at NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP voters are "in the pink." Pastel pink voter registration cards including polling places for future elections were mailed last week to some 5,500 voters. Township Clerk Clarice Sass said that the mailing was necessary as some precincts have been split. Now, she pointed out, all voting will take place in schools, except for King's Mill where residents will vote at the clubhouse.

YOUNG PEOPLE up to age 25, interested in joining an organization providing assistance for drug and alcoholic problems are urged to contact the Northville Probation Department, 349-4025. Chief Probation Officer Al Wistert says plans are underway to meet with such youngsters each week providing there is response. Probation offices are open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Recall Petitions Still Unfiled

Deadline for filing of recall petitions in Northville Township is fast approaching.

According to Mark Lysinger, chairman of the Northville Boosters Club which is spearheading the recall of two township board members, the deadline for filing petitions is next week.

No decision as to whether or not the petitions will be filed has been made as yet, said Lysinger, who indicated he will be scheduling a meeting very soon" presumably to decide the club's next course of action.

It has not yet been revealed if sufficient signatures for recall have been secured. Circulation of petitions began in November calling for the ouster of Supervisor Betty Lennox and Trustee John MacDonald, primarily because of their outspoken support of the annexation proposal that went down to defeat in October.

AAUW Sets Concurrent Meetings

Fireside chats will highlight the February 10 meeting of Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The fireside chats will be held at the homes of Mrs. John (Cathy) Crotteau, 46221 Bloomcrest Drive, and Mrs. Robert (Gloria) Foust, 1977 Meadowbrook Road. Both begin at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. David (Nanci) Olgren, AAUW program chairman, commented that while the fireside chats are new to the Northville Branch, several other branches in Michigan have held them before.

"With the weather so cold, people hesitate to go out to meetings," Mrs. Olgren said, "By holding the meetings at members' homes, we hope more members will attend."

Speaking at the Crotteau home will be Kathy Crossman, a member of Northville's AAUW. Her topic will be "How to Become a Part-time Vegetarian."

An instructor in nutrition at Schoolcraft Community College, Mrs. Crossman holds an MA degree in public health and nutrition from Case Western Reserve University.

Speaking at the Foust home will be Betty Andrews, assistant for community service at Schoolcraft. Her topic will be "Are We Muddling Through the Middle Years?"

She holds an MA degree from University of Michigan and is a specialist in aging.

Mrs. Olgren added that the film "Future Shock" has been rescheduled for the March AAUW meeting.

Artist Caroline Dunphy works on self-portrait

Calendar Art Forms Show

Even viewed in the cold sun of a winter day, Painter's Place studio at 142 North Center Street in downtown Northville, is an appealing spot.

A giant geranium expands near the ceiling-high window. Other greenery is suspended from the ceiling.

White walls of the narrow studio are hung with pastel floral watercolors and winsome pen and ink sketches — almost all matted and framed.

It looks like — and is — the studio of a very feminine artist.

Caroline Dunphy, a Northville resident of 42166 Farragut Court in Highland Lakes, opened the studio last September and has been painting and teaching classes there ever since.

A special showing of her original pen and ink drawings done for the Plymouth Bicentennial City Calendar mailed to all residents and businesses of that city opened Tuesday in the Old Village Gallery in Plymouth.

It will continue through February 13 daily from 12:30 until 6 p.m. with Friday hours extended until 8 p.m. (with the exception of Sunday and Monday when the gallery is closed.)

Mrs. Dunphy thinks she was asked to do the 10 sketches of Plymouth buildings and scenes for the Bicentennial calendar, which also is the city's annual report, because she had sketched so many homes in Plymouth while a partner in Gallery 12 in Plymouth.

No longer in existence, Gallery 12 was opened seven years ago in a narrow building on Penniman Street.

Since then Mrs. Dunphy has had a studio in the Eves Art Forum on Northville's Main Street and then in the rear of an insurance firm on Center Street.

"This one, though, is by far my most successful," she says, noting how much she enjoys her window view.

An art education major at Wayne State University, Caroline Dunphy had her first teaching experience at the Eves Forum.

"I found I thoroughly enjoy teaching," she says, "and I've found it has helped my painting. It sharpened it."

She has three classes for children at elementary, junior high and senior high levels. All are filled, even more than the artist would like, as some have 12 youngsters instead of the eight she considers optimum.

Mrs. Dunphy teaches an art class for gifted children at Winchester Elementary school.

She also teaches three adult art classes and right now is open on Mondays, normally her day off, to three sets of matting and framing classes for Northville newcomers.

She's usually in her studio other days from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

The Dunphy family moved to Northville from Livonia a little more than two years ago.

Mrs. Dunphy calls her husband, William, a Blue Cross management consultant, her "great supporter." This week he's been helping mat the pen and ink sketches for the Plymouth show.

Son Greg, 16, is a junior at Northville High School while daughter Maureen, 22, is graduated from Oakland University and now works at an advertising agency.

"My grandfather was an architect-artist and my dad was a draftsman. I also had two uncles who were artists," says Mrs. Dunphy, explaining her artistic bent.

She teaches her students watercolor, pen and ink and oil painting.

Since opening Painter's Place, she says, she has done a great deal of work in oil portraits, especially during the Christmas season just past.

In fact, she's been so busy she hasn't had a chance to complete the self-portrait that sits on an easel near the window.

She used two mirrors to capture the likeness of a slim figure in a blue smock.

"It creates the illusion that I'm here even when I'm not; I'd like to finish it soon," smiles the artist.

In Our Town

Style Show, Dances Will Banish Blues

MIDWINTER DOLDRUMS can be cured.

Start by buying a ticket to one of our town's upcoming events or making plans to attend your club's February meeting. Somehow the snow will get shoveled and you'll go.

Here's a list of some of this month's activities:

NEWCOMERS ANNUAL fashion show and luncheon will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. February 25 at the new Plymouth Hilton Inn.

"It's our just-to-be-nice Valentine to all women of the community," Cathy Coultrip, reservations chairman, announces as she explains the size of the new Hilton facility makes it possible to have unlimited reservations. It's $6 for the show and luncheon with check to accompany the reservation sent to her at 350 Sherrie Lane. Deadline is February 20.

New fashions will be from Sylvia Nista's at 139 East Cady Street with commentary by Marji Kunz, Detroit Free Press fashion writer who has been spotting fashion trends for the paper for 10 years.

A winner of the coveted University of Missouri-J.C. Penney Award for the nation's best fashion reporting, she is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Ferguson of Northville. Mrs. Ferguson reports that Marji had an early start in the fashion business as she became a teen model and department store fashion board member at 15.

She majored in art and fashion merchandising at Wayne State University where she was named the outstanding woman in her graduating class. Before marrying Detroit attorney Armand Kunz she worked on Glamour and Mademoiselle magazines in New York.

TAKE A "Sentimental Journey" this Saturday evening and come to the high school cafeteria to dance to music by the "Northville High Jazz" bands beginning at 8 p.m. It's a band parents project to help send the marching band to summer band camp. It's just $5 donation a couple.

TICKETS FOR Northville Historical Society's annual dinner dance to be given Saturday, February 21, at the new Plymouth Hilton Inn now are on sale at $12.50 each or $25 a couple. Members have them or they may be purchased at the Sunflower Shop in town.

"MEMORY LANERS," the official barbershop quartet at Greenfield Village, will provide entertainment at the annual men's night dinner of Northville Woman's Club at 7 p.m. this Friday in Northville Presbyterian Church.

Commentator Marji Kunz

The group is a member of the Wayne-Plymouth chapter of SPEBSQSA—The Society for Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. Mike Borgoin is the lead with George Meinschein, tenor, Gene Beatty, bass, and Marty Zurn, baritone. "Chuckles," group singing and familiar numbers are included in their program.

Members traditionally bring husbands and a potluck dish to this event for which reservations are being taken by Mrs. Kalin Johnson and her committee. About 200 are expected.

NUTRITION will be the topic at the February meeting of the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Dorothy Hartshorne at 1031 Grace Street.

Dr. Gilbert Leveille, dean of food science, and human nutrition at Michigan State University, will be the speaker.

Hostess chairman is Ruth Klein, assisted by Marion Pickl, Martha Grossman, Shirley Millard and Diane Ramsey.

MODERN DAY women will be compared to women of the Bible in the program of the Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club at 8 p.m. Monday at Sword of the Spirit Lutheran Church on Seven Mile Road.

The program will be followed by refreshments and a short business meeting, according to Mrs. Diane Ramsey of Northville, membership chairman of the club which is affiliated with the Michigan Federation of Woman's Clubs.

She invites any woman interested to call her at 453-2213.

OUR TOWN'S organizations are in the fortunate position of reversing a Detroit-area trend in club membership. Instead of a decline, most membership chairmen are reporting record or capacity rosters.

Northville branch of the WNFCA now is at capacity with 70 members and a waiting list, says Nancy vanBuren. Woman's Club treasurer Val Kastner counts a record 161 members this month with the club nearing its limit of 175. Mothers' Club with a 35 member limit since its founding in the 1930's long has operated with a waiting list and reports it has seven on it at present.

And the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council reports enrollment in Girl Scouting currently is highest in history here with a total of 17,844 girls being served last year, up 10 percent over a year ago.

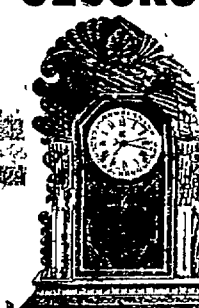

CHARLENE SLABEY, Northville musician and composer, will be spotlighted in a program of the Farmington Musicale at 12:30 p.m. today in the Farmington Community Library auditorium.

The musicale is observing Parade of American Music month by presenting original compositions by four members.

Mrs. Slabey, a well-known piano teacher with many local students, currently is working on a master's degree in theory and composition. A graduate in piano of the Detroit Institute of Musical Art (the music department of the University of Detroit), she is a member of Delta Omicron, national honorary music fraternity. She has served on the Schoolcraft College piano teachers advisory board.

In conjunction with June Rado, lyricist, she has written the musical plays, "Mackinac!" and "The Power of It All," the cantata, "A Star Out of Jacob," a new chamber opera, "Lydia," and several art songs.

Helen Maki displays 'recycled' medallion afghan she worked on for 25 years

Her Bicentennial Afghan Evokes Family Memories

"Like painting with a needle" is the way Mrs. Helen T. Maki of Northville describes her creation of a memory afghan just completed after 25 years of on-and-off work.

Begun in 1950 from a pattern in Woman's Day magazine, the afghan of embroidered medallions joined by crochet has become a most personal memory of events and family for its maker.

With today's emphasis on recycling it's also an example of a way to utilize old sweaters and other knitted materials as the colorful medallions are cut from old clothing of children and friends.

Pointing to a piece embroidered with the word, "Tyler," Mrs. Maki mentioned, "that's the name of my last school where I taught (art) in Livonia."

"Toni" embroidered with a black bone on another medallion is a reference to her dog.

Others chronicle births of grandchildren with their dates. There's also a piece for daughter, Gail (Mrs. Gary Norback of Northville), and another for son, Paul, now a lawyer in Hawaii.

Holidays through the years have added pieces with a snowman, wreath, Christmas tree, candle and this Christmas past, an angel.

A resident of Northville for seven years, Mrs. Maki, a widow, lives at 768 Grace where every room indicates that besides creative hands she has a green thumb. Plants flourish everywhere.

Mrs. Maki adds that her freezer is full of wild plants that are edible, such as strawberries and grapes.

These are summer interests, though, and the afghan was a winter one. As the Bicentennial approached, Mrs. Maki recalls, she became determined to finish the project and finally was able to crochet on the piece marking its completion in 1976.

It's near an embroidered flag and an eagle sewn for the Bicentennial.

"I got better as I went along," Mrs. Maki says, fingering more intricate designs toward the edge that were inspired by Mexican designs.

Some are whimsical, such as the tail-view elephant.

Many have special meaning, such as the cabin near Mio of a friend now deceased.

All like the initials of the maker and her late husband done in 1951, are reasons it's a personal memory for Helen Maki.

Providing "stretch" in the learning process is called "the one way in the world to give the maximum chance for success in learning" by Dr. Aza Brown, chairman of special education at Wayne State University.

Dr. Brown two weeks ago offered advice to parents in the Plymouth-Northville chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD).

"Stretch" in the child's learning process, he explained, is essential as the youngster who is forced to muster his own resources doesn't have time to be in trouble.

In addition, he said, the child measures his "status" by the amount of stretch he had to go through.

"A package of successes with the stretch experience," he told 42 parents and teachers attending the meeting in Plymouth Pioneer School, "can give the child with a learning disability an increased sense of self-worth."

MACLD parents and professionals define the learning disabled child as "a child of normal, potentially normal or above normal intelligence who does not perform well in school because of disorders in one or more of the basic processes involved in understanding or using spoken or written language."

Disorders may be in thinking, talking, listening, reading, writing, spelling or arithmetic.

Because this type of child may have behavior problems, which Dr. Brown pointed out could be caused by frustration, he was asked to speak to the group.

The Plymouth-Northville chapter was organized in 1974 and brings experts in the field to speak at monthly meetings which are open to all interested parents and teachers.

Dr. Brown, who directs the combined programs on learning disabilities at WSU, went on to recommend structured classroom situations for learning disabled children.

"We're now on a great wave of humanism," he declared, "but if I were going to design a program to prevent behavioral problems, I would have a structured classroom situation."

"If learning disabled children share anything in common, it's poor self-control," he continued, explaining that it then is wrong to put them in an open classroom where self-direction is emphasized.

"Tell the child what is expected — in a non-punitive way — so that he doesn't have to spend his time figuring out what is wanted."

Dr. Brown told parents that "capitalizing on a child's strengths is more viable than working on his weaknesses."

He said that strict tutoring is not too effective with learning disabled children and is "not getting successes."

He cited a follow-up done by Dr. Ralph Rabinovich, former director at Hawthorn Center, where children with reading disorders were watched for 20 years. As adults, according to Dr. Brown, "in no case was their ability more than 8 percent greater than when teaching was started."

As adults, however, the study showed that they "are doing pretty well" in medical fields, especially.

"We're not so sure that drilling all those years helped, but apparently the psychological work and attention did," Dr. Brown stated.

He cited a state study three years ago that found that all youngsters who dropped out of school "had one thing in common in addition to the fact that most were boys. They were two years behind in reading."

"If you have a frustration, you fight or run," he declared, pointing out that most drop-outs did both.

"To head off behavior problems, I would provide success experiences, along with a benign-type teacher," Dr. Brown continued.

He said much success depends upon the teacher. "I would be leary about those who 'love' little children," he elaborated, calling such teachers "saccharin."

If home and school teaching don't agree, he advised, it isn't that big a problem.

"You have to explain to your child that different people have different values for things."

He pointed out that communication also is important in cases where the emphasis is to take the stress out of a situation, saying that just stating so will begin to do so.

He advised parents to use their common sense.

"It's folly to let a kid have more license than anybody else because he has a learning disability. Insist on a positive attitude — grit your teeth and say, 'Behave as if you didn't have one'."

$50 Detectors Can Cut Fire Deaths, Say Officials

Inexpensive smoke detectors are available in stores throughout the area

By WAYNE LODER

If you're an average American, during your lifetime you'll be involved in three fires of sufficient magnitude to require assistance from a fire department.

Surprisingly, 40-50 percent of the 12,000 persons killed in the United States each year by fire would have been saved had their dwelling been equipped with a smoke detector.

Both Novi and Northville officials have vocally indicated the desirability of using a smoke detector in the home. In Novi, smoke detectors are required to be placed during construction of new homes in at least two locations. Condominiums and apartments also must have detectors. Northville also requires smoke detectors.

Yet despite the alarm requirements on new structures, fire officials admit that only a small percentage of homes in Novi or Northville have detectors and owners of older homes potentially could save lives by adding the small device.

In fact, the Northville Fire Department is so sure of the potential lifesaving ability of detectors that the department is selling detectors as a service to residents.

"They're a great thing in our book," says Northville Fire Chief Herman Hartner, Jr. "We highly recommend them. We're talking about seconds and minutes to get people out during a fire."

So far the Northville Department has sold about 40 of the detectors despite the fact they've only been on sale since December.

According to Reginald Damron, fire inspector for the City of Novi, best location for the first detector is on the ceiling outside the bedroom while placement of the second depends on the layout of the house. Some small homes may require only one detector to do the job.

Residents uncertain of where to place a detector in a home without them should contact the local fire department or the fire marshal.

"Most of your lethal fires occur at night," warns Damron. "The detector is a means of warning you so you can get out of the house."

Essentially, there are two types of detectors commonly used in homes — the smoke detector and the heat detector.

Officials generally warn against use solely of heat detectors.

"The heat detectors aren't built for home use," says Damron, who explains that before there is enough heat to set off a heat detector, smoke has already filled the house and would have set off a smoke detector much earlier.

Despite the fact studies have shown that in virtually all cases a smoke detector will sound off before a heat detector, many people still use only the heat detector. Usually by the time the heat detector goes off, the flames have built up so much, it is impossible to put out the fire. In addition, lethal gases may have been released from such things as burning plastics.

Smoke detectors, meanwhile, are intended to go off during the incipient or beginning stages of the fire when there may be some smoke but no fire.

Two types of smoke detectors are on the market. Perhaps most popular is the ionization type. In that case, a radioactive source material is used to ionize the air within the sensing chamber of the detector. The

Board to Debate Millage Request

Novi Schools Eye $200,000 Deficit

In the wake of a possible $200,000 deficit for the 1976-77 school year, Novi School Administration last week recommended the board ask for a 9 1/2 mill renewal plus an additional 2 1/2 mills for five years.

The recommendation came in a special budget session last Thursday which originally was planned to be a closed executive session but was opened to the public at the last minute when the press requested to sit in.

The proposed budget shows the administration estimating the school district will receive during the 1976-77 school year $3,888,800 while disbursements will total $4,088,000.

The school board is expected to make a final decision on the millage increase figure at the regular board meeting tomorrow (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in the administration building. In addition, the board will make a decision on the recommended election date of Monday, April 12.

The proposed budget calls for an increase of one high school teacher and the use of four teachers in the high school an extra period a day. It also calls for several employees who were laid off in an economy measure last December to be reinstituted and for certain other economy measures, to end such as a policy against outside district field trips.

The whole financial picture for the school district became clouded by the effects of two state laws — the single business tax which removes inventories of all businesses from the tax rolls and Section 143 of the State Aid Act which guarantees school districts 106 percent of the revenue from state aid and per-pupil taxes.

The fund equity at the end of the 1975-76 school year is expected to stand at $140,000. Most of that is, however, in non-cash assets. The problem is that the state requires the school district to submit a balanced budget so that even utilizing the on-paper fund equity figure of $140,000, the school district would still be $60,000 short.

"The kicker," said Assistant Superintendent Dr. William Barr, "is we need $199,000 to balance the budget and that's 1 1/2 mills. If we voted that increase, we'd still need $199,000 because the state aid act says any millage negates the effect of Act 143."

In effect, the school district would have had to ask for three or four mills to make the progress of 1 1/2 mills without the state act in effect. However, adding to the problem is the fact that the state may well change the law regarding Act 143 in two possible ways.

According to Dr. Barr, the state may say that any increased millages will not be held against the school district or the state could say simply that the various school districts would be reimbursed for losses of state equalized valuation (SEV) the same as cities and counties because of the single business tax.

However, while the budget at this time would show a $199,000 expenditure over revenue figure, without Section 143 in effect, the school district will need to make up $339,000 or approximately three mills. However, Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz said that the district could make ends meet with only 2 1/2 extra mills because the district is overestimating on expenditures and being conservative on revenue.

Much of the meeting surrounded the question of what measures the district would have to take should the voters turn down an increase. According to Dr. Kratz, there would be no additional teachers; some teachers such as reading specialists would be moved into the classroom with the net savings of eight teachers. In addition, all field trips would be restricted, spectator buses would be ended, all sports except on the varsity level would end, replacement of buses would be curtailed and as custodians left the employment of the school district, they would not be replaced.

"There's no question the quality of the program would go back two steps," said Dr. Kratz.

He pointed out, however, that most residents would receive a rebate from the state government under the Homestead Act of all school taxes paid over six percent of the person's income. The rebate would thus negate much of the millage increase.

Wixom Debates Tax Break

The normally relaxed atmosphere surrounding Wixom Council meetings was jarred Tuesday night becoming one marked with controversy, heated discussion and a charge of conflict of interest.

The controversy erupted over a resolution designating an industrial development area in the city for the Korex Company, which has manufactured soap powders in the city for the past seven years. Developed by the State of Michigan as a means of keeping industry within the state, such a designation allows for a tax break covering a period of 12 years.

Council heard from the city assessor Wynn Berry who cautioned the panel that approximately $17,000,000 would be lost in tax valuation next year due to a decrease in equalized valuation stemming from the state exemption of personal property tax on industry.

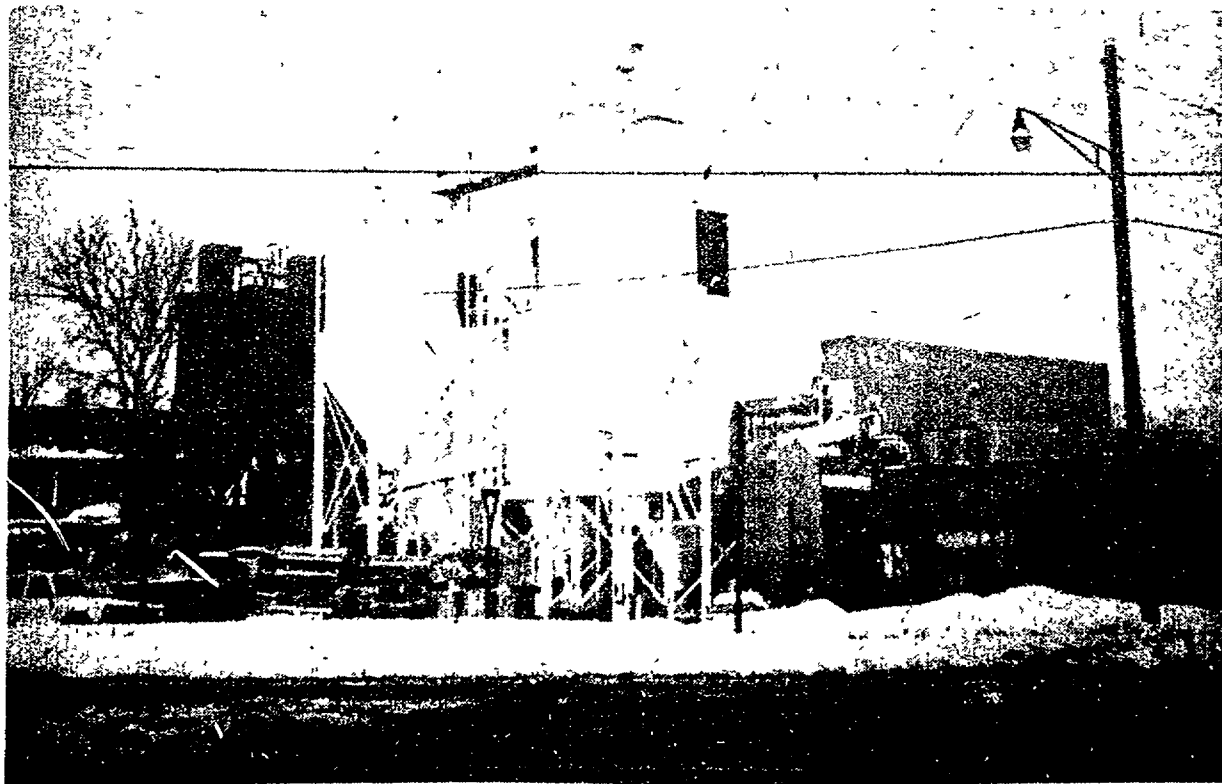

Charging that the city did not do enough research on the subject, Councilman James Lahde said no one had any idea of the long-term ramifications such a designation would have on the city. Lahde went on to say, "We are setting a dangerous precedent with policy based on a complete lack of total information." A motion by Lahde to table the subject died for lack of a second.

Dingeldey likened the industrial development designation to the proposed agricultural zoning for the city which has been tabled for months. "It too would give one person a tax break ... to treat one is to treat the other. If you vote yes on this question you must, in all fairness, vote yes on the agricultural proposition."

Mayor Val Vangieson saw the resolution as a very selective process with the city exercising control over any future requests. "It is a chance for a type of urban renewal and the opportunity to improve the area as it now exists." Councilman Gunnar Mettala pointed out that no matter what the tax break, Wixom would still

A Cleaning Solution?

The Korex Company (above) and Wixom City Council are at odds over the possible solution to what some council members call a "blight on the community." The company, which manufactures soap powders, has applied to the city for a tax break for their proposed new building. In the meantime, the council is questioning the future use of this building. Many favor tearing it down.

Approval of department heads and non-union employee pay hikes was given by Novi council Monday night.

Salary increases were: executive secretary, from $8,145 to $9,500; treasurer, from $12,750 to $14,000;

Assessment Committee II
Reports Final Findings

The abandonment of Novi Elementary for classroom use at the end of the 1975-76 school year was one of several recommendations made by the Novi Needs Assessment Committee II, which reported to the school board last Thursday.

But some board members requested a more consolidated report of the committee's findings than the reports handed out during the study by the committee. The committee performed its function with the help of the Bureau of School Services of the University of Michigan which had helped with the first needs assessment committee.

The Bureau of School Services, represented by Dr. Ray Kehoe, examined the situation in the Novi School District and gave its recommendations on various topics. The Assessment Committee and various Needs Assessment Committee subcommittees then gave their recommendations on the reports from the Bureau of School Services and the Needs Assessment Committee then gave its final recommendations.

• The Bureau recommended among other things that the following actions be taken:

• Novi Elementary be used until June, 1976 and sold, thereafter to provide money to construct a new elementary;

• Orchard Hills Elementary should have improved lighting in some areas, enlarge the library, add a small gymnasium;

• Village Oaks Elementary should have a small gym added;

• Novi High School should be second middle school in September, 1977. Could use experimental curriculum program.

Budget Amendments
Okayed by Council

Budget increases for the 1975-76 fiscal year totalling $262,764 were approved by Novi council Monday night. Because the budget must be balanced, revenues were also increased by $262,764. The revenue increase came primarily from grant adjustments of $162,205, an increase in building revenues of $74,450, and use of the prior year's surplus of $42,720.

If the figures in the budget amendments hold true, during the 1975-76 year the city will have spent $42,000 more than it will have received in income.

Some of the changes in expenditures and revenue

It's Fast and Easy

Mother's Date Pudding Brings Recipe Requests

Sorting through a recipe file can yield forgotten treats.

Mrs. John H. Begle almost discarded her mother's recipe for "Date Pudding" when she reviewed her collection recently, but decided to keep it as it does not require shortening.

"There's absolutely no shortening in it, but it is held together instead with three eggs," she points out.

When hostesses for the January meeting of the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association were seeking a recipe to make in quantity, she remembered the tasty date squares.

Many asked for the recipe, which, although called a pudding, is more like a cake square. Mary Begle adds that it's "easy to throw together — and fast."

2 Tbsp. flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 C. nuts (walnuts)
1 16-ounce pkg. dates cut in half

Northville Lassie In Alma Program

Jennifer G. McLaren, a sophomore at Alma College who dances with the Kiltie Lassies on campus, will participate in "Alma College in Concert" at Whiting Auditorium in Flint this Friday, February 6.

"Music and a Scottish heritage, two of the most colorful aspects of campus life at Alma College, will be the principal ingredients of an impressive program," the college announces.

The college's a cappella choir, kiltie band and dancing Kiltie Lassies for many years have provided programs in Michigan and on tour throughout the country.

Miss McLaren is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne S. McLaren of 42243 Nottingham Court in Northville. She is a 1974 graduate of Northville High School.

Accompanied by a piper, the Alma girls do typical Scottish dances, such as the Highland Fling, Sword Dance and Shean Trews.

They with the kiltie band have helped to develop the college's Scottish traditions. The approximately 150 Alma student musicians participating in the Flint program have helped to develop its reputation for musical excellence.

Alma's athletic teams became known as the Scots in the 1930's. Shortly thereafter the college band acquired uniforms featuring kilts. In the 1950's a group of coeds established the Kiltie Lassies to provide entertainment with their Scottish dances.

Names Contest Winners

Winners of the annual voices of democracy script writing contest sponsored by the Lawrence A. Sims V.F.W. Post 3952 of Wixom were announced recently. The theme used by contestants this year was "What Our Bicentennial Heritage Means To Me."

Three winners from area high schools will each receive $50 savings bonds in ceremonies to be held at Walled Lake Western High School on February 20. Guest speaker for the ceremonies will be Judge Gene Schnelz. The winners, as announced by the post, are Marilyn Kever of Walled Lake Central, Donna Todd of Walled Lake Western and Christine Fritz of Novi High School.

Miss Kever was the overall winner in the V.F.W. Oakland County judging and also took first place in the fifth district judging, competing against contestants of Oakland and Macomb County. She also competed for state-wide honors in Lansing January 19. Standings have not yet been released.

Kever's trip to Lansing marked the first time a Wixom post sponsored contestant was chosen to compete for state honors.

Novi Community Ed Gets Committee

An advisory committee to put the "community" into community education has been approved by the Novi School Board.

The community education consists basically of after school classes available to area residents. In the past, the burden of decision making on class offerings rested on Community Education director Milan Obrenovich.

The new committee, which was established as part of the philosophy accepted when the Community Education Program was begun in 1973, will now take over that responsibility.

"The purpose of the community council is to provide programs to fit the needs of groups or individuals in our school district and neighboring areas," commented Dr. Gerald Kratz, superintendent.

According to an administration report, the advisory council will function in the following areas: fact finding; planning; communication and coordination; identification and activation of new resources; and evaluation.

On the advisory council will be: two adults living in, and elected by, the geographic area served by the school in their attendance area; one teacher on the school's staff from each school in the district; two students currently enrolled from each school in the district; the community education director.

There is also allowance for addition of representatives from groups feeling they do not have representation. Representatives are expected to be chosen, within the next month.

Development Grant Hearing Set in Novi

With the City of Novi standing in line to receive $37,500 under the 1976 Housing and Community Development Program, the city has set an 8 p.m. Wednesday, February 11 public hearing at the school administration building.

The matter was brought to the attention of the council in a first public hearing Monday night and the council eyed possible uses for the funds, but held off on making any decisions.

Last year the city received

$112,400 to be used for loans and grants to bring homes up to code within the city, but that money has not yet been dispersed. Problems with the handing out of those funds were discussed in secret session immediately prior to Monday's council meeting.

Speaking of the 1976 grant funds, Assistant Manager John Merrifield, who has been in charge of the grant on the local level, said that he sees "several possibilities" for what the money can be used for. The funds, however, are limited for use in the north end of Novi, under provisions of the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Program.

Among items which are to be examined as to possible use of the money are: improvements to the north end city park; lake level control; extension of water mains; fixing streets; study of the extension of Decker Road; purchase of fire department equipment.

The city received the lower amount this year by going with the county in seeking funding. Last year the city went on its own and received the larger amount which was to be used solely for loans and grants. The funds to be received from the county for 1976 are virtually without strings attached as to use.

The Housing and Community Development Committee is to report next Wednesday its recommendation as to use of the funds.

Oxford Creams are chocolate and vanilla circles with filling.

Lemon cremes are shortbread with creamy citrus filling.

Orders for all six varieties, plus packages of English breakfast tea, will be taken by Northville Girl Scouts beginning Friday.

Order-taking at $1.25 a box will continue through February 15 as scouts in the Huron Valley Council seek to sell $437,500 worth of the cookies, crackers and tea.

Mrs. Raymond J. Collins of 21102 Stanstead Road, 1976 cookie sale chairman for all Northville troops, points out the troop retains 20 cents of each box price for its own projects with 53 cents going to the council and 52 cents being the cost of the box from the Burry Division of the Quaker Oats Company.

Some of the council profits are used for camping programs and scholarships. Last summer, it reports, 75 girls attended Camp Linden, the Huron Valley's summer camp in Livingston County on full or partial scholarship, funded by the cookie sale.

The profits also pay one-third of the cost of troop camping and one-half that of resident camping.

As the annual sale starts, Mrs. Collins mentions that there's extra incentive for local scouts to take orders as any troop averaging sales of 94 boxes a girl will receive a free weekend at camp. Sales of from 75 to 94 boxes each will give a weekend with 75 percent discount.

While this is Mrs. Collins' first year as Northville cookie sale chairman, she has served for the two past years as cookie chairman for daughter Marcia's Cadette troop 407.

Council to Elect Delegates

Northville Girl Scout leaders and troop committee members are invited to attend an area association meeting with their counterparts from Plymouth and Canton at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday, February 11.

It will be held in the Plymouth First United Methodist Church, 45201 North Territorial Road in Plymouth.

Election of delegates to the annual Huron Valley Girl

Scout Council meeting is the main item on the agenda, planners state, pointing out that the area association has a membership of about 60 troops.

At least 27 must be represented at the upcoming meeting for delegates to be selected.

Girl Scouts 14 years old and older may attend the meeting.

For more information Mrs. Ruth Dostie, 453-7544, may be contacted.

Lao Paintings in Display

Two paintings by Schoolcraft College art instructor Lincoln Lao were selected for display at the "American Painters in Paris Exhibition" through January 15.

On exhibit for one month, Lao's work was chosen by the Cultural Association for the Knowledge of the American Graphic Arts in France (ARGRAF) as representative of contemporary American art.

The exhibition is sponsored by the French Ministry and is considered to be a grand opening for the French-American celebration of the United States Bicentennial. Lao submitted paintings entitled "On Landscape Painting" and "Image of a Symbol." The exhibition provided him the unusual opportunity to display his work to a vast public, art galleries, dealers and buyers. Previously Lao has had one man shows at the University of Oregon Museum of Art and Erb Memorial Union Gallery, both in Eugene, Oregon, and at the Lansing Art Gallery. He has participated in group shows in Hong Kong, Taiwan, California, Oregon and Michigan.

Lao teaches Basic Design I and II, as well as Painting I and II at the college. Currently he is teaching his courses at the college's Northville Cooke Center located at 405 W. Main Street in Northville.

Suicide Attempt, Auto Accidents Highlight Activity

In Novi

A 16-year-old Novi youth under questioning at the Novi Police Department on a charge of Carrying a Concealed Weapon (CCW) slit his wrists while using a restroom at the police station but was unsuccessful in his apparent suicide attempt.

According to Detective Robert Starnes, the youth came in for a joint interview with his parents and police department after being picked up January 29 on the CCW charge, became upset and went to the restroom.

Officers became suspicious and kicked in the door to the restroom to find the youth had slit his wrists. He was given first-aid after being subdued and restraints were placed on him. He is presently being held at Pontiac Children's Village under $2,500 cash bond awaiting trial on the CCW charge.

James Carnahan, 36, of Union Lake, Jack Rathka, 31, of 46401 West Road in Novi and Ernest Klocke, 34, of the same address were arrested for simple larceny January 27 after they were discovered by police cutting down trees on City of Novi property on West Road.

The subjects reportedly said they thought it was legal to cut down trees on county or state property. All were released on $50 bond and will appear in court February 19 before 52nd District Court Judge Martin Boyle.

A home in the 42400 area of 12 Mile was apparently the victim of a burglary in which $1,857 earned from a candy sale was taken. Police are searching for a suspect.

A generator outside the Barton-Marlow construction trailer at the Twelve Oaks Mall construction site was stolen January 26. It was valued at $735.

Following an attempted breaking and entering of a home in the 1900 area of West Lake Road, police officers arrested John Spranger, 19, of 1931 West Lake Drive.

According to reports, a homeowner scared away a subject as he attempted to enter his home by way of a back door. Police followed footprints in the snow but lost the trail in the roadway. Officers then stopped at a nearby home after observing a light on in an automobile at the Spranger house. He was subsequently arrested and arraigned pending exam.

In Township

Jeffrey Murch of 16330 Old Bedford Court and passenger Christopher Missel of 16671 Old Bedford Court both sustained injuries in a two car accident and were transported by ambulance to St. Mary Hospital for treatment.

According to Michigan State Police reports, the accident occurred on Seven Mile and Haggerty roads at approximately 9:30 p.m. on January 28. The Murch vehicle was eastbound on Seven Mile Road and attempted to pass another eastbound car on the right side. Murch apparently ran into a rut by the side of the road and while trying to pull the car back onto the road, lost control, striking the other car. Murch crossed the road into other lanes of traffic and traveled about 400 feet before coming to a halt. The speed of the vehicle was estimated by police at between 55 and 65 miles per hour. Murch was ticketed for improper overtaking and passing.

A three car collision at the intersection of the Northville Road and Edward Hires Drive recently found Richard Skinner of Plymouth transported to St. Mary Hospital by ambulance suffering from injuries to his head. The occupants of the two other involved vehicles all escaped injury.

Melvin Stephenson, Jr. of Plymouth was stopped at the stop sign on southbound Northville Road when he observed the Skinner vehicle approaching him from the rear at a very high speed. Stephenson accelerated in an attempt to avoid being hit but was still struck from behind by Skinner. According to Michigan State Police reports, the impact and momentum carried Skinner into the northbound lane of Northville Road causing a head-on collision with a car driven by Fred Scheid of Pontiac.

Four vehicles parked at the Plymouth Home for Human Development on Sheldon Road were broken into while their owners were at work. Reports stated that somewhere between 3:30 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. on January 29, an unknown person broke into the vehicles which were all reportedly locked.

Taken from a car owned by Wanda Whitman of New Boston was a Ford AM-FM stereo eight track tape player valued at $150. A second car belonging to Lula Genuis of Detroit had a set of rear speakers ripped from the back deck. From the third car a Kodak Instamatic camera was removed. Donna Hrobosky of Wixom, owner of the fourth car reported an AM-FM stereo radio, four automatic gauges and a hydraulic jack valued at $140 taken from her car. Police investigation in the case is continuing.

least three occurring in the same number of days.

Reported stolen from a locked vehicle parked in front of a residence on the 41300 block of Windsor Court was an AM-FM radio and tape recorder valued at $200. Also taken in the same incident which occurred between noon on January 25 and 8:30 a.m. on January 26 were four silver colored hubcaps valued at $100.

A Courier citizens band radio valued at $219 was reported stolen from a locked vehicle parked in the 700 block of Silver Springs. The incident occurred sometime between 11 p.m. January 24 and 10 a.m. on January 26.

A spare tire, rim and tube was reportedly removed from a pick-up truck while it was parked in the 18500 area of Innsbrook. The articles were valued at $135 in the incident which occurred between 3 p.m. January 25 and 7:30 p.m. January 26.

The drivers and occupants of two cars received minor injuries with the driver of the third car involved in a three car collision taken by ambulance to St. Mary Hospital for treatment of her injuries.

Ruby Johnson of Detroit, the most seriously injured in the crash, attempted to stop at Haggerty Road while heading eastbound on Seven Mile Road. According to police, she lost control of her car due to icy conditions and slid into a vehicle driven by Edward Cooley of Plymouth who was stopped in the eastbound left turn lane. After striking the Cooley vehicle the Johnson vehicle spun into the path of a westbound car driven by Gerald O'Rourke of Plymouth. The Johnson car was then struck by O'Rourke and pushed into the northbound lane of Haggerty Road.

In Northville

Six-year-old Mark Lipscomb of Plymouth was injured when the sled he was riding apparently hit a tree on toboggan hill. According to Northville City police reports, the child's left arm appeared to be broken in the incident which occurred at approximately 4:30 on January 25. Mark was transported to St. Mary Hospital for treatment.

In Wixom

A breaking and entering at the Lodge Apartments between 6 p.m. on January 29 and 2:30 a.m. on January 30 netted thieves $6,093 in valuables with an estimated $100 damage done to the apartment.

Entry to the locked apartment was made by kicking in the door. According to Wixom Police, the entire apartment was ransacked with furniture overturned and drawers emptied in the rooms.

Among the items taken during the incident were stereo equipment, movie and slide projectors, tool chests and assorted tools, a portable TV, two typewriters and jewelry. Also taken were silver coins, a police monitor, digital clock radio and a large amount of cash.

Gresham Driving Aids located on South Wixom Road was broken into sometime between 4:30 p.m. January 27 and 6:30 a.m. January 28. According to police reports, entry was gained by kicking out the bottom panel of the overhead garage door.

While ransacking office desks, burglars took a 35 mm camera and a Timex watch with a silver and turquoise watch band were taken. A truck parked outside owned by Gresham was also broken into and a citizens band radio taken. Damage of $75 was reported to the vehicle. Total value of the loss was set at $660.

An employee of Auto Specialty Corporation on Beck Road was recently injured while at work and subsequently transported by ambulance to Ford Hospital on West Maple Road for treatment.

Wixom Police responded to the emergency call and found Blair Dwell of Howell suffering from a large cut on the forehead after being struck with the fork of a hi-lo vehicle used in the plant. He was conscious and being cared for by fellow workers when police arrived.

A 1972 red Ford pickup truck parked in the Ford employee parking lot was stolen sometime between 5:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on January 29 while the owner was working in the plant. Police are continuing their investigation of the incident.

Township Crime Drops

A slight decrease in overall crime was shown in the November 1975 activity report of the Northville Township police.

Officers were called to two incidents of unlawful entry during the month of November and three incidents of attempted forcible entry. Fortunately nothing was found missing from any of the buildings. No forcible burglaries were reported in November, down from three in October.

Township officers were able to close the report of an armed robbery at the Quik Pik Store, which happened in July. A suspect caught in another robbery has admitted to the July incident.

Township police handled reports of seven various larcenies, down considerably from 17 during October. Two more motor vehicles were stolen in November than in the prior month, bringing the yearly total to eight.

Officers handled reports of three assault and batteries, one being on a township officer while on duty. This is the second month that a township officer was assaulted while on duty, fortunately without injury.

Malicious destruction of property reports were half that of October, at seven. Public nuisances numbered three in November and miscellaneous local ordinance violations were up to 11 over only six in October. Officers took two complaints of malicious mischief during November and three more run-away juveniles were handled.

Alcohol related crimes were again stable. Township officers arrested four persons for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor and three persons for being drunk and disorderly in a public place in November.

Escapes apprehended by township officers from the various institutions numbered only two for the month, down from six in October. Six persons were arrested on various warrants during November, down by only one from October. The yearly total for 11 months of 1975 is 118 warrant arrests.

Foul weather, snow and icy roads are the major cause of an increase in traffic accidents in November. There were 127 property damage accidents, one property damage hit and run accidents and five personal injury accidents.

Two natural deaths were reported to the department and eight sick and injured people were cared for. Officers handled a complaint of a mental person and five family trouble runs were given to our officers.

Animal complaints were slightly down in November. There were three miscellaneous animal complaints, two animal bites, and 11 stray dogs were impounded throughout the township.

Township officers found one open building, responded to 10 open alarms which was up from only four in October, 12 suspicious circumstances were reported along with six suspicious vehicles and seven suspicious persons were checked.

Township police assisted surrounding police agencies 11 times, the fire department four times, the utility companies once, and 16 citizens were assisted in various ways.

Nineteen physical arrests were made this month. Officers issued 20 appearance tickets, 58 traffic tickets, and 10 parking tickets. All of the above categories are an increase over October.

During November the Northville Township Police handled a total of 206 complaints. This is a decrease from October, when officers handled 238 complaints.

Maintenance Causes

Police Budget Transfers

For the second time in two months the Northville Township Police Department has found it necessary to transfer items within its budget to cover the costs of unexpected automobile repairs.

Northville Township Trustees approved the transfer at a recent meeting.

The resolution called for transfer of $200 from the reserve fund into vehicle maintenance and $200 from office supply with $175 going to vehicle maintenance and $25 going into memberships and dues. It passed unanimously.

In making the resolution, Trustee Richard Mitchell, asked that someone take a look at the cost of repairs versus mileage to determine the best time to order new automobiles.

"It seems whenever we order cars we end up waiting and paying a lot of repairs," Mitchell commented.

Trustee Charles Rosenberg added that the new cars should have been here sooner. They were ordered over a month ago.

Novi Budget Amendments Okayed

were caused by changes in accounting procedures instituted by Finance Director Fred Todd in an effort to save the city money.

Main change in expenditures was under salaries and benefits where $204,000 in expenditures was added. This included $66,000 police department adjustment, $46,000 from Teamster contract; $18,000 for manager and department head pay raises; $37,000 for the addition of two building inspectors, one plumbing inspector, one electrical inspector, two ordinance enforcers and one secretary; change in accounting reflecting grant cost for police department and reduction of wages in mayor and council activities and controllers office, adding $35,000.

Other budget changes of $52,225 included an increase of $19,700 in general administrative budget for legal fees, printing, insurance, membership and dues, and Mayor's Exchange Day.

Other changes:

- reduction of mayor and council expenditures by $2,000 for office equipment;
- clerk's elections increase of $4,800 because of two additional elections;
- city manager budget reduction of $1,100 for gas and community promotion;
- controller budget reduction of $2,700 for lower cost of audit;
- city budget increase of $4,000 for utility costs;

• fire department increase of $10,000 for repairs to fire station roofs;

• planning board decrease of $1,500 for reduced appropriation to master plan;

• police department budget increase of $2,700 for office supplies, ambulance, insurance and building repairs

• building department budget increase of $17,300 including office equipment, new personnel and municipal service charge—expenditure necessary to offset income increase.

inspections are necessary. Building Department head Everett Bailey indicated the additions are necessary because of a relatively large number of inspections per person that the department has now.

Council also discussed with representatives of the Michigan Employment Security Commission the possible hiring of unemployed workers under one of two Work Incentive Program (WIN) provisions.

One provision would allow the hiring of a worker and the federal government would pay 50 percent of the cost of the wages. On the job training at the 50 percent level is allowed of 20 to 43 weeks.

The other program is strictly for public service employers and allows complete payment by the federal government of wages and benefits during a six month training period. At that point, the employer would have to pick up the entire cost of wages if the employee's work is satisfactory.

The budget amendments included funding for two ordinance enforcement officers and one secretary at 50 percent funding by the federal government.

Council indicated it wanted copies of regulations concerning the funding before it would actually approve the hiring of persons under the WIN programs.

Approval of the budget amendments was given 5-1 with council member Robert Schmid opposed and Romaine Roethel absent.

Needs Assessment Unit Reports

• Administrative building may be converted to academic classrooms with central classrooms using Novi Elementary space;

• Changeover in the district from present use of the K5-3-4 plan over to a K4-4-4 after September, 1977 due to anticipated growth.

The bureau also gave estimates of added schools which would be needed for 1980 and 1985 depending on grade organization. Under the K5-3-4 plan, one new elementary school would be needed by 1980 while no new secondary schools would be needed for the upper grades. Under the K4-4-4 plan, no new elementary sites would be needed for 1980. No new elementary or secondary schools would be needed in 1980 nor would new secondary schools be needed for 1985.

On the question of acquiring sites for use beyond 1980 and 1985, the bureau recommended purchase of vacant land east of Beck Road as "The Bureau foresees the potential need for six elementary school sites, one middle school site, and a site for the second senior high school."

The bureau recommended that the new high school site be near Beck Road and in the northern part of the district. The third middle school might also be in the same general area. Distribution of elementary schools would be determined by "zoning considerations". The bureau estimated total acreage needs for new school sites east of Beck Road at 175 acres.

The bureau also recommended purchase of 45 acres of land for three elementary school sites west of Beck Road.

The bureau also concluded that the growth level in the city will show a moderate increase beginning in 1977 or 1978 until about 1985. Total number of dwelling units over the next 10 years amounts to 1910 single family and 470 multiple family.

Following submission by the bureau of recommendations, the subcommittees and Needs Assessment Committee II discussed them and came up with recommendations of their own.

While agreeing with the bureau on some items, the Needs Assessment Committee did not agree on others.

For instance, as to the grade organization, the committee recommended against the K4-4-4 grouping for the immediate future.

The committee did agree on dropping use of Novi Elementary and selling it. At Orchard Hills, the committee recommended against enlarging the library while recommending in favor of a multi-purpose room facility.

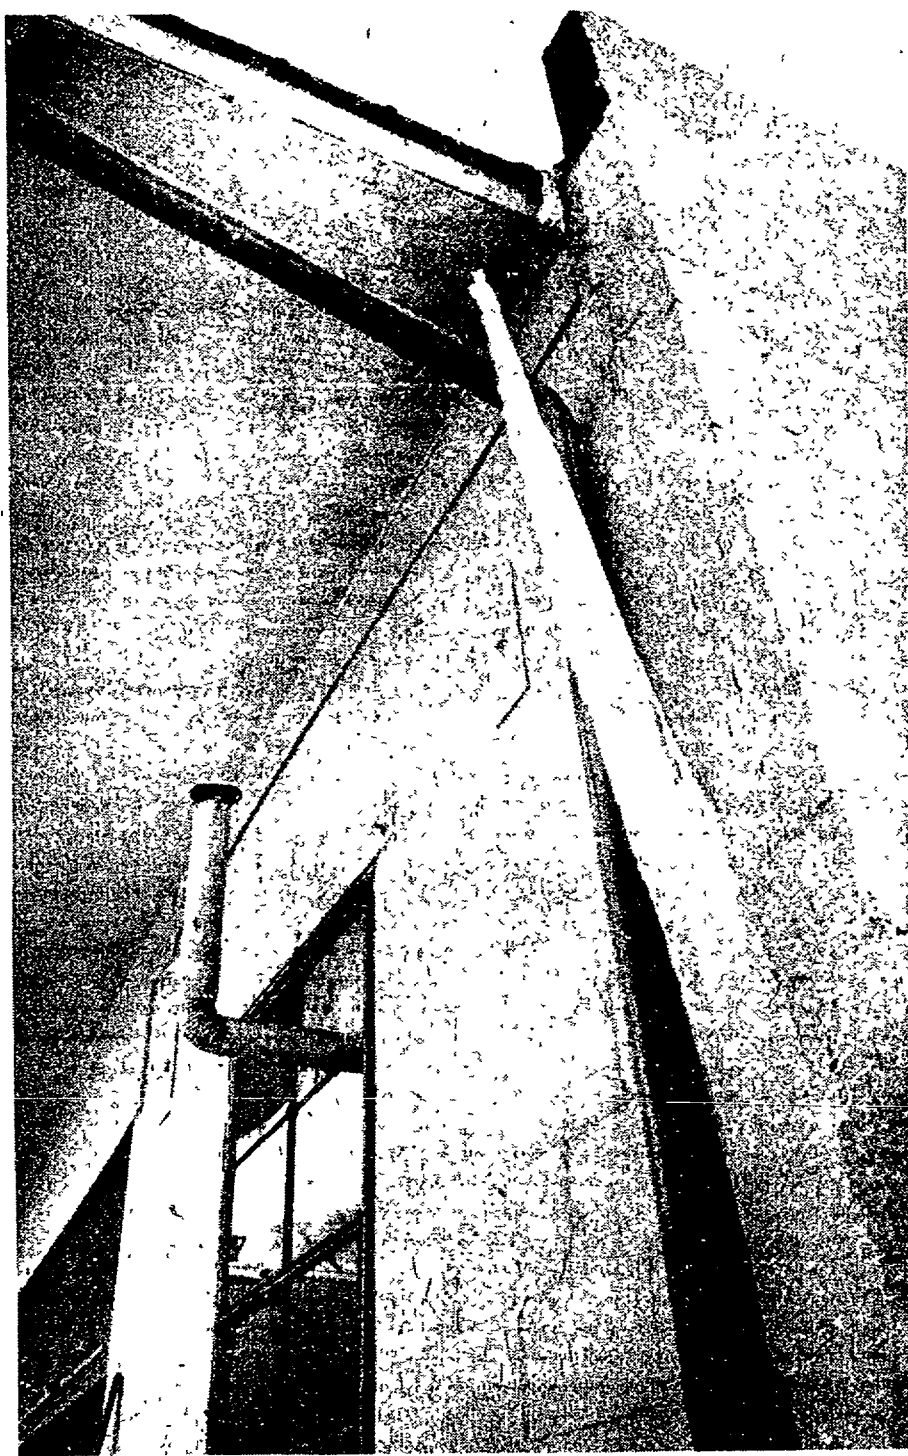

In addition, the Needs Assessment committee recommended expanding the existing curriculum council district wide. It also recommended the administration "investigate factors of accreditation for the elementary schools and the Middle School in order to determine whether it would be advantageous to the schools. If so determined, then proceed toward attaining accreditation from North Central Association."

The committee recommended counseling staffs be increased at the high school to a ratio of 1-300 from the present 1-400. The committee also recommended the addition of gym facilities for Orchard Hills and Village Oaks.

A regular schedule should be established for school censuses, said the committee report.

A final discussion between the committee and the Novi school board is to be made in the future at an as yet undetermined date. The district will be receiving a bound report with all the findings of both the Bureau of School Services and the Needs Assessment Committee II.

Pickled Icicle

"It's a mystery to us," said a spokesman of Warren Products, 637 Base Line, in trying to explain how an icicle happened to grow upside down on the rear wall of the factory. It apparently had a little too much to drink, lapping up water as it dripped off the roof to form a 10-foot high beauty from the ground up.

Novi Schools Inspect Shop Class Safety

After Farmington Death

The recent accidental death by apparent electrocution of a Farmington youth in a junior high shop class in that district has resulted in a closer inspection of the Novi School District's shop classes.

According to Assistant Novi Superintendent Dr. William Barr, "If out of tragedy can come good, schools throughout Michigan are looking at possibly dangerous situations."

Dr. Barr said that "as soon as I was aware of the situation, we instituted inspections using an electrician and one of our maintenance people. We are now in the process of correcting any deficiencies which might exist."

According to Dr. Barr, there were minor items found which needed correcting such as elimination of a certain type of extension cord.

But the big problem, according to Dr. Barr, is the kids who "take switch plates and covers off to find out what happens inside."

"We are in good shape," summed up Dr. Barr. "But we could be in bad shape if a kid does something he shouldn't."

Detectors Save Lives

ionization of the air results in a small electrical current flow. When smoke particles enter the chamber, the current flow is reduced and the alarm goes off.

The second is a photoelectric detector in which a light shines across a chamber and is caught by a trap on the far side. When smoke is present, the light is diffracted and a photocell located on the side of the chamber at right angles catches the scattered light and triggers an alarm.

Some ionization detectors are designed to work off batteries, thus negating the need for rewiring or electrical circuits. A detector should have a rating from Underwriters Laboratories or Factory Mutual.

Many detectors on the market, such as the General Electric Home Sentry or the Honeywell Early Warning Smoke Detector sell for as little as $50 with installation by the homeowner.

In a revealing study in the early 1960's of fires in Ontario, Canada which resulted in 342 fatalities, the National Research Council of Canada found that smoke detectors would have saved the lives of 41 percent of those persons killed.

In 1963, the Los Angeles Fire Department reported that of 4,151 dwelling fires occurring in that city during 1960, 75 percent began as slow smoldering fires of the type that could readily be discovered through the use of a smoke detector.

In one typical case which received nationwide publicity, a three-year-old boy living with his mother and uncle in Brookhaven, New York started a fire in his bedding and, apparently fearing punishment, hid in the bathroom.

Meanwhile his mother and her brother continued sleeping in different parts of the apartment until a smoke detector in the apartment above the unit of origin was activated. Other alarms in adjacent apartments also sounded. Both the woman and her brother escaped the apartment, thinking that the other had the child. The boy's body was found in the doorway to his mother's room near the bathroom. The smoke detector from the apartment was intact, but the battery was missing.

"The fire inspector who performed the initial investigation is convinced that if there had been a battery in the detector, it would have activated in time for everyone to have escaped from the apartment safely," summed up the article.

A veteran fireman in Detroit for 15 years before coming to Novi, Damron warns, "There's nothing worse than dragging a kid or an adult out of a fire—especially the kids. It tears you up. I've seen firemen break right down."

"I wish we could get each person in here individually and explain to them about detectors and fire safety in the home."

"We've been very fortunate in Novi," says Damron. "But all it's been is luck."

'Hockey for Burns' Set

A "Hockey for Burns" game between the Detroit Police and Fire Departments is being sponsored by the Novi

Jaycees and will be held at the Novi Ice Arena Friday, February 27 at 8 p.m.

All proceeds from the game will go to the Institute for Burn Medicine at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Tickets for the sports event can be purchased from any Novi Jaycee or at the door of the Novi Ice Arena for $1. An added attraction for the kids will be the appearance of the Detroit Fire Department clowns.

SPIDER, Northville Board Group Meet Thursday

Two school study committees — one a board sponsored citizens group and the other an independent-citizens group — will meet Thursday evening at the same time.

Meeting of the citizens committee representing the board will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the board room.

Meeting of the independent group calling itself SPIDER will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Objective of the citizens committee for the board is "to advise the board of education of decisions needed and positions to be taken regarding a successful campaign to pass required millage for operating the Northville Public Schools for the 1976-77 school year."

John Hobart is the board designee for getting the board citizens committee off the ground. It was he who last week outlined the charges to the board.

Thursday's meeting is expected to be organizational in nature.

In announcing Thursday's meeting of SPIDER, acting chairman James Lewis said "this meeting is being held to solicit specific concerns citizens may have about their neighborhood schools — elementary, middle and high school — as well as about the future of education in Northville."

"We are going to seek the formation of neighborhood groups (or SPIDER councils) by setting up individual tables, with a group leader for each school, plus a general table for questions about the board of education, the administration or overall school policies. Then we'll ask each group to function on its own after the meeting, as a council or cell of the master group, so that we can get continuing input."

Citizens are being requested to bring questions with them to the SPIDER meeting, said Lewis, and after sorting and tabulation to eliminate duplication the questions are to be submitted to the school board "in an orderly flow over the next few weeks."

The SPIDER meeting also will address itself to priorities the 17-mill renewal will buy, grade structure, public reaction to the proposed new principals' union, new ways to get through to the board with public concerns.

SPIDER has asked Hobart to appoint a liaison person to whom the committee may direct their questions. At the same time SPIDER submitted their first five questions:

1. What programs are you going to give us if only the basic 17-mill renewal is passed? (Please specify number of schools open, number of teachers employed, average pupil-teacher ratio, cuts necessary in curriculum and extra curricular activities.)

2. If you plan to ask for additional millage on April 3, what are your educational priorities related to each additional mill you may recommend?

3. Does the board plan to implement SPIDER's proposal of "grass roots" meetings bringing the people in individual school neighborhoods together with the board and administration?

4. What was the result of the recent evaluation of the superintendent and what are the terms of his contract and those of other school administrators? Also, when do these contracts come up for renewal and for what length of time?

5. Why do the principals and school administrators want a union or association? Whom will it include and how much more is it likely to cost the taxpayers? Further, any conflict of interests in areas such as (a) evaluation of teachers; (b) supervisory functions in the event of a teachers' walkout; etc.?

Efforts also are being made by SPIDER to establish a "Hot Line" phone service to answer questions during the upcoming millage election.

Korex Company Seeks Tax Break

gain more from the proposed complex than is now gained from the existing building.

Pursuing his argument that the city offered enough incentives to industry without furthering them with a tax break, Lahde questioned the method adopted by the city for running the meetings. Councilman Fred Morehead, during a momentary pause in conversation, called for the question which according to Roberts Rules of Order prevents any further discussion. When Lahde questioned the validity of the call and tried to continue, Vangieson stopped him saying the meeting would continue to be run according to parliamentary procedure.

Following the vote on the resolution, with Lahde and Dingledey casting negative votes, Dingledey called a point of order charging Councilman Gunnar Mettala with a conflict of interest because Mrs. Mettala is an employee of the Korex Company. City Attorney Harold Bulgarelli denied Dingledey's call since no contracts or purchases with Korex were made by the city and according to Mettala, his wife is not a stockholder.

The entire subject of an industrial development area created a stir among the council with Dingledey concurring with Lahde that it would pave the way for more developers to come to Wixom seeking the same arrangement. It was generally agreed, however, that to move Korex to a different location and "clean up the mess at the corner" would be to Wixom's benefit. Korex, for many years, has been on the receiving end of many disgruntled citizen complaints ranging from the unsightly exterior of the building to tying up of traffic both on Wixom Road and Pontiac Trail due to the lack of adequate docking and parking facilities at the company. According to Peter Paisley of the Korex Company, 15.5 acres of land has been purchased by the company one-quarter of a mile west of Wixom Road between the Chesapeake and Ohio and Grand Trunk Railroad tracks. The reported construction cost in the first phase of the planned building would amount to $1,200,000. Evaluation of the present business location at Wixom Road and Pontiac Trail was said to be $110,000.

With both Councilwoman Lillian Spencer and Dingledey publicly calling the Korex Company a "blight on the community" further discussion centered on just what Paisley considered doing with the building once it was vacated. General council wishes appeared to be that it should be torn down. Paisley appeared vague in just what was planned explaining that others would be involved in the decision.

With tempers relaxed, Dingledey again set the council on the ends of their chairs by using the term "blackmail" in addressing Paisley. Said Dingledey, "For want of a better term — can I suggest blackmail — I'd vote for your new building if you'd tear the old one down." Laughed Paisley, "No deal."

The resolution passed by the council is but the first step for Paisley in his goal for the tax break. Yet to come is a hearing with the tax assessor, the Walled Lake School District and Oakland County officials since they too will feel the financial impact of such a tax break. Their recommendations will be sent back to council for final approval.

Coy Gets Appeal Post

Lew Coy, who resigned from the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, has been reappointed to the Sanitary Code Appeal Board of Oakland County.

The reappointment of Republican maverick Coy to the board came despite the recent switch in power on the Board of Commissioners from Republican to Democrat.

A letter to the former commissioner from Edward O'Rourke, Director of Environmental Health Services says, "Congratulations on being reappointed to the Sanitary Code Appeal Board and plagiarizing a line from a popular TV show, 'Welcome Back Coy'."

Masters Golf Film Caps Jaycee Drive

A program to help boost membership in the Northville Jaycees will be held in the clubhouse of Brooklane Golf Course next Tuesday evening.

All Northville area men between the ages of 18 and 36 are invited to the meeting which will include an introduction to Jaycees and what they do around Northville.

In addition to the membership appeal the program will include film highlights of the 1975 Masters golf tournament at Augusta, Georgia. Ben Northrop, Brookland owner-manager, obtained the film which he promises will be interesting to golfer and non-golfer, alike.

Al Qualman, membership chairman for the Northville Jaycees, notes that the local membership "comes from all walks of life... we have doctors, lawyers, farmers, accountants, and auto designers."

He points out that projects sponsored by Jaycees include the July Fourth parade, chicken barbecue, fireworks display, Junior Miss competition, Toys for Tots, a horse show and currently the renovation of the fish hatchery building for local recreation use.

"Service to humanity best describes the goal of the Northville Jaycees," Qualman explains. "And we'd like as many young men from 18 to 36 years old as possible to join us and work for the betterment of the community."

Both Qualman and Northrop emphasized that the Jaycees are seeking to broaden their membership by attracting both newcomers and those who may have lived in the area for several years and would like to become involved in community improvement work, as well as enjoy the fellowship of Jaycees.

Brooklane is located at Six Mile and Sheldon roads. Further information about Jaycees and the February 10 program at 8 p.m. may be obtained by calling either Qualman (349-8437) or Northrop (349-5706).

Bermuda Triangle?

KATHY BYRUM

FACT . . .

At 2:10 p.m. on December 5, 1945, five U.S. Navy planes took off in clear weather from Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, flew east over coastal waters and disappeared. This caused what seems to be an unsolvable mystery. Also, on the night of December 22, 1967, a 23 foot cabin cruiser, "Witchcraft," set out from Miami. A few hours later the owner called the Coast Guard explaining that his boat needed assistance. Within ten minutes the Coast Guard was there—but no sign of the cruiser has ever been found. These and many other such instances have occurred over this supernatural graveyard, "The Bermuda Triangle."

These 100,000 square miles of beautiful, crystal blue waters and tiny coral islands ranging between Bermuda, Puerto Rico and a point west of Florida in the Gulf of Mexico, have changed into a watery Jekyll and Hyde world. Here 40 ships and 20 planes have been lost mysteriously in the last 100 years. Search efforts have not been able to find so much as floating wreckage or a telltale oil slick.

No human explanation can be found for these vessels and aircraft suddenly vanishing as if out of thin air. These incidents have been too prevalent to disregard as merely accidental. "The Bermuda Triangle" is much more than a romancing horror story, it is a fact!

Kathy Jones

FICTION . . .

We all like to read mysteries, science fiction, and tales of the supernatural, but we also should be able to separate fact from fiction. The notorious "Bermuda Triangle" has recently become a popular topic of speculation.

Actually, there are 12 zones in the world where rather large electro-magnetic disturbances occur. One happens to be in the center of the so-called Bermuda Triangle. Another called the "Devil's Sea" off the coast of Japan has an even greater history of plane and ship disasters.

These anomalies can cause compasses to spin, instruments on planes and ships to record inaccurate measurements, and even cause radios, motors, and generators to malfunction. These events alone could cause disorientation and in the case of a plane, it could easily crash if fuel gauges or altimeters are not functioning properly.

Also, the portion of the sea in the Bermuda Triangle is known for its swift, unpredictable ocean currents and waves, air turbulences, and drastic weather changes which could cause planes to crash or ships to sink. Many of the missing craft have never been located, probably due to the underwater currents, limestone caverns, or blue holes which draw the wreckage to unexplored depths of the sea.

To believe that extraterrestrial beings or evil forces are at work is ignorance typical of the Dark Ages.

The biggest problem facing the two study groups as they prepare to accumulate input for an April 3 millage election in the Northville school district would seem to be time.

Both the board-appointed citizens' committee and the independent SPIDERS plan to get down to serious business tomorrow night.

In no less than four weeks their recommendations must be finalized so that the board is prepared to reach decisions for wording of the ballot on March 8.

The board's charge to its committee contains more than a dozen areas for study. And SPIDER would seem to have selected an even broader field.

Let's hope they can separate the wheat from the chaff immediately so that the important information required by voters will be available. Failure to zero-in on pertinent details could result in confusion rather than enlightenment.

Good luck to both groups.

Newcomers to the area would not remember Elsie Price from the days when she was most active in Northville township politics.

She was a forceful, well-informed young woman who made many a local official, and newspaper editor, aware of her presence. She was deeply interested in her community and dedicated to lending her talents to encouraging its improvement.

As one now observes the stronger role women have assumed in public life, it might be said that Elsie Price was ahead of her time.

She was an extremely bright person. And her husband complemented her by quietly lending support and encouragement.

It would be a mistake not to recognize the contributions of the Prices to our community. Their tragic death in an automobile accident is a sad loss.

You're standing in front of the Oval Office in the White House and a secret service man opens the door. Rising from a desk at the far end of the room is the President of the United States. He walks towards you extending his hand.

Meanwhile, the deputy press secretary has properly introduced the Al Wistert family of Northville, Michigan to "Mr. President".

"How are you, Al? Good to see you".

"Hi, Jerry. It's good to see you, too. You're certainly looking fit", responds Wistert.

The 20-minute private meeting with the President was a surprise climax to the January 2 White House tour arranged for the Wistert family by John Hushen, deputy press secretary to the President and a cousin of Mrs. Wistert.

Al and Nancy Wistert and their daughters, Kris Neeser and Beverly, decided they would rather see the White House, a treat that only Beverly had previously experienced, than attend the Orange Bowl.

And they knew that Hushen would give them personalized service.

But they were surprised by the Oval Office visit.

First there was a press briefing and a chance to see the Washington press corps tear into Ron Nessen. Then a chat with Peter Lisagor of "Washington Week in Review". Like all the Wisterts, Lisagor is an alumnus of Michigan.

At lunch in the executive staff dining room Hushen received a telephone call. He told the Wisterts there wouldn't be time for dessert. They left immediately. And they stopped in front of the Oval Office.

Like President Ford, Wistert is a former U of M gridder. He was named All American tackle in 1948 and '49 on Michigan teams that won the Big Ten championship three years in a row. And in the 1948 Rose Bowl game the Wolverines swamped Southern California, 49-0.

You can't compare thrills ... like playing in the Rose Bowl and walking into the office of the President of the United States.

"We were in awe", says Al. Perhaps the best description of the feeling was made by daughter Kris when, as they were seated in the Oval Office, she turned to her sister and whispered, "can you believe this is happening?"

The President played football at Michigan in the early thirties with Al's brother, Whitey, also an All American tackle. And Al remembers that President Ford, a center, was named the team's most valuable player in 1934.

Al said the President looked "really fit and rested". He had just returned from his Vail trip.

"He was relaxed and casual. He smoked his pipe and we talked about our children. He made us feel comfortable", Al related.

After they left Hushen laughed and exclaimed, "Al, I think you're the first person to address 'Mr. President' as 'Jerry' in the Oval Office".

"I didn't mean any disrespect. It just seemed natural, more like myself to say 'Jerry'", Al explained.

Okay, Al. But knock off that line about "as I was saying to Jerry the other day".

'Need Solvers, Not Blamers'

To the Editor:

Let's hope that the two committees just formed to advise on Northville's schools will put an end to the amount of bickering and blaming that seems to have grown to be almost as damaging as the failure of the millage proposals. No board, administrator, or teacher can do their best work under the constant and, in my judgment, often intemperate and conflicting criticisms seen in recent weeks. Let's hope that members of both committees are men and women of broad understanding and vision with no axes to grind. And above all, let's hope they are problem solvers, not blamers. Some things the committees might consider:

—Citizen meetings that are orderly, smoke free, and advertised in such a way that all views will be represented.

—There is no one best curriculum, and that all parents don't agree with each other, nor all teachers, with each other on what's best for our children. There are honest differences among people. Perhaps parents and teachers of similar views can be matched up.

—Policies that enhance or impede teacher growth.

—The impact of modern life on our children.

—The impact of the recession on millage campaigns.

—Accountability from everyone, including parents, that leads to growth not stagnation.

—Northville schools' generally good record with several programs and teachers gaining wide recognition.

Sincerely yours,
G. Michael Abbott

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Lawmakers have emasculated the open meetings bill of Senator David A. Plawecki, thanks in part to the sabotaging by our own (Oakland County) Senator Daniel S. Cooper. But other bills have been readied for the firing line.

Open meetings bills seek to put a halt to so-called executive sessions or private meetings where public business is discussed in secret.

Speaking to a sympathetic audience of Michigan Press Association members Friday afternoon in Lansing, Representative David Hollister solicited support for his House Bill 5684 which has the tacit backing of the MPA.

Frankly, I would have preferred Plawecki's bill as originally written because it realistically provided for some exemptions which, in my opinion, were legitimate. More importantly, perhaps, it had a better chance of passage than does Hollister's bill.

Most newsmen present seemed to agree with Hollister that no bill is better than a bill so watered down with amendments that it does nothing. The latter being the case, newsmen would prefer to cite court findings and the interpretations of the attorney general in fighting secret meetings.

Unlike Plawecki's bill, HB 5684 makes no exceptions (i.e., private meetings for personnel matters, for labor negotiation strategy meetings, etc.).

Said Hollister: "We make no exceptions for legislative meetings, but do specifically exempt grand juries and jury deliberations. We are in the process of developing language which more adequately distinguishes between legislative and administrative-judicial governmental processes."

Generally speaking, Hollister believes that a meeting between the mayor and the policy chief, for example, is an executive function and therefore need not be open to the public.

In HB 5684, a group of officials becomes a meeting when more than half a quorum is present. At that point, the discussion must stop unless there has been prior notice and posting. Two members of a three member zoning committee could not meet and deliberate or take action on any public business without following provisions of the act.

"Open" meeting means:

• The meeting is held in a place which is available to the public.

• Prior notice of the meeting has been given.
• Minutes of the meeting are transcribed, retained, and available for public inspection.

Speaking to the argument that such certain exceptions to open meetings should be permitted, Hollister argued that such exceptions endanger the public's right to know. "Each exception soon becomes a giant loophole," he said.

"It is argued that closed meetings are essential when buying land because public knowledge of potential land purchase leads to speculation and consequently higher cost to the government unit. I would

News From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Representative

My colleagues in the Senate are deciding the fate of smokers. They are considering a four-bill package which would restrict smoking in food stores, hospitals, restaurants, and public meetings. The bills are HB 4158, HB 4294, HB 4453 (also introduced as SB 989), and SB 774 (also introduced as HB 4452).

We in the House approved all but the public meeting room bill earlier by comfortable margins. The public meeting room bill is facing its first big test since it was introduced by a senator and hasn't come before us yet.

The legislative package would require:

- 1) Food stores to post "no smoking" signs in all areas except limited places set aside for smoking by employees and customers,
- 2) Restaurants with a seating capacity of more than 50 persons to prohibit smoking in specific areas marked off by signs,
- 3) Hospitals to adopt policies that would protect patients against exposure to tobacco smoke, if they desire protection; to outlaw sale of tobacco products on their premises and to restrict smoking by patients, hospital staff and visitors to designated areas, and
- 4) Public bodies to designate space where smoking is allowed.

Violation of any regulations in the proposed laws would be a misdemeanor. Enforcement of the restaurant, hospital and grocery store bills would be aided by the fact that the state licenses these facilities.

Undoubtedly the most controversial one will be the bill restricting smoking in public meetings. I have heard several of my colleagues in the legislature grumbling already about the possible effect of such a law on their smoking in the House chamber. Could it be that these bills will bring an end to the politicians' traditional smoke filled rooms where "Open meetings" bills have failed?

Let me know your thoughts on these bills. Are we going too far in protecting the rights of the non-smoker? Or is it about time we took steps in this direction?

like to point out that although the meeting is closed to discuss the transaction, the real estate people know, the bankers know and so do many others."

Philosophically, Hollister's bill is pinned to the following points of view:

1. Public bodies exist solely to serve the people.
2. Actions of all public bodies should be taken openly and their deliberations should be conducted openly.
3. The people of this state do not yield their sovereignty to the public bodies which serve them.
4. The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for the people to know.

Police Lauded

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to Northville Township Police Chief Ron Nisun with a copy to The Record.

Dear Ron:
On Thursday, January 29th I had the opportunity to see our Police Department in action during an emergency situation.

Officer Kenneth Hardesty responded to a call of a possible heart attack. After a quick analysis of the situation he dispatched a call for assistance from Officer Michael Caley and an ambulance.

Officer Caley arrived almost immediately and they made the immediate decision to transport the patient to the hospital, as the ambulance had not arrived and time was of the essence.

After administering oxygen, Officer Caley cleared the way for Officer Hardesty to St. Mary's Hospital. At all times the officers worked calmly and efficiently, keeping the patient calm in a very frightening situation.

I would like to commend Officer Hardesty and Officer Caley for their professionalism, efficiency and excellent handling of this emergency.

I, indeed, think the people of Northville Township are very fortunate in having such well qualified, highly trained and conscientious officers.

It is all too seldom that recognition is given these very over-worked men who so faithfully serve and protect us.

Sincerely,
Clarice R. Sass

Why Ticket Samaritan?

To the Editor:

Saturday night my husband was snowmobiling with three young children. The snowmobile broke down so they started to walk home, leaving the snowmobile and sled. After walking a mile and a half, a Good Samaritan pulled over to pick them up. But would you believe the police gave him a ticket. He pulled over on the wrong side of the road. They called it "improper lane usage."

This was my eight-year-old son's first contact with the police. I am trying to teach him respect for the police but with this kind of action it is very difficult to accomplish.

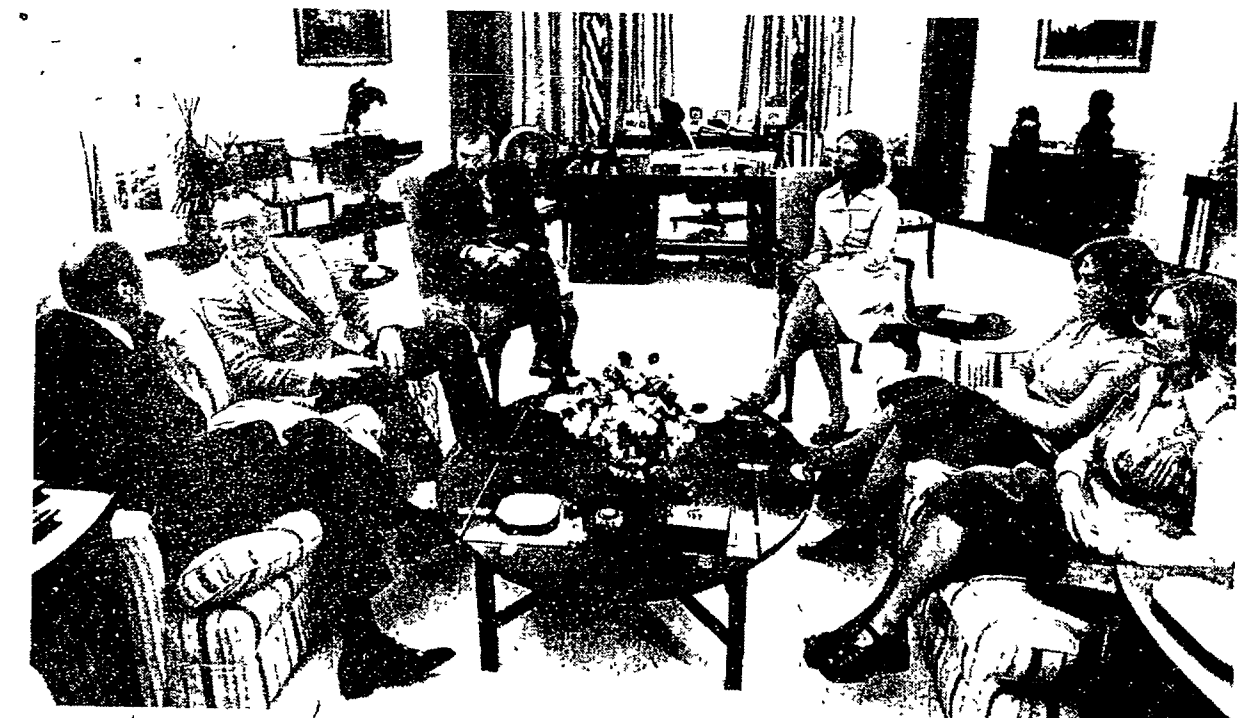

Andrea Graham

To the Editor:

My children went out "snowmobiling" Saturday evening with my neighbor. Unfortunately, they got stuck and the man set out on foot in bitter cold with two eight-year-olds and an older son. After walking 1½ miles a kind neighbor picked them up and, thinking of the eight-year-old's safety, he pulled up on the wrong side of the road so they wouldn't have to walk in front of oncoming traffic. He promptly received a ticket for improper lane usage. He was the lone person who offered help and should be commended — not condemned.

Lori Henderson

Restructuring Studied

Middle School Out?

structure probably would return to Northville, with grades seven, eight and nine being housed at Cooke and Meads Mill. The sixth grade would be returned to the elementary school level.

Complications become evident in this grade restructuring.

For example, if the switch is to be made, the decision must be made soon in order to adequately prepare for it. This means the board cannot wait for the outcome of the scheduled April 3 millage election. And this being the case, what happens to the restructuring if, say, renewal of 17 operational mills should go down to defeat?

Suppose a 17 mill renewal proposal is approved, but additional millage defeated. Will Northville be able to operate Cooke for junior high schools with only 17 mills when presently it cannot?

If Northville is to use Cooke next year for junior high schoolers, the board must tell the Wayne County Intermediate School District that it cannot renew the present contract. And it must make its intentions known in time to allow alternative solutions. If Northville says Cooke cannot be used next year by the mentally retarded, will Northville drop out of the special education program for institutionalized children entirely, or will it retain its superintending role and simply lease facilities elsewhere for the program it will operate?

These are questions that school board members must come to grips with should they opt for grade restructuring.

Although the recommendation of the superintendent and of the building administrators has not yet been formally made to the board, it is expected the recommendation will reluctantly suggest removal of the ninth grade from the high school and abandonment, at least temporarily, of the middle school concept. That recommendation, followed perhaps immediately by a board decision, could come as early as February 9.

One of the alternative suggestions that appears to have least support among administrators is that of placement of sixth and seventh graders in one middle school and eighth and ninth graders in another. This plan, they contend, is the least educationally sound alternative.

Another suggestion, introduced by a citizen at the board's last meeting, is being considered. It calls for turning Cooke into a high school annex, with high school students taking class in both buildings. It suggests a two-building high school campus effect, somewhat similar to the new facility now underway in Novi.

The two-building campus idea would not necessitate the removal of the ninth grade from the high school. However, it does not solve the current overcrowded middle school problem at Meads Mill.

Although no serious academic impairment is seen with the switch from the present 5-3-4 structure to the 6-3-3 (junior high) arrangement, freshmen located in the middle schools would not have as great a teacher selection as is the case now. However, facilities are on a par with or better than those in the high school. And in at least one area, that of reading labs, the middle schools are equipped whereas the high school is not.

Mandatory year-round school at the high school as a means of solving the space crunch is not being seriously considered, admits Spear, because officials fear it would meet with stiff public opposition.

Band instruction and camp experience could become a problem with the switch of sixth graders to the elementary level, administrators concede.

Board members have asked the administration to supply them with a list of advantages and disadvantages inherent in the alternative suggestions and to provide them with analysis of space-time-subject offering at the high school.

Governor's Chip

A chip off the old block, handsome William Milliken, Jr. was in Northville last week speaking to members of the Northville Rotary Club on his favorite non-political topic — Youth for Understanding. The Governor's son pointed out that the exchange program has grown tremendously over the years and today boasts 6,000 involved American and foreign students. Northville Rotary in years past has hosted foreign exchange students in a big "last fling" program before the students headed for home.

School Board Agenda

- Following are matters slated to be taken up at the February 9 meeting of the Northville Board of Education. Board meetings begin at 7:30 p.m.

 4. Easement Agreement —
 5. Formulation and adoption of the grade structure to be utilized for the 1976-77 school year. Major concepts to be considered include (K-5, 6-8, 9-12); (K-5, 6-7, 8-9, 10-12) and (K-6, 7-8, 10-12).

payment for homeowners in most middle income pay categories.

Board member Robert Wilkins commented that if the millage is not approved, the district's fund equity would be depleted at the end of the 1976-77 school year and the following year the district would be faced with an increasing deficit even greater because there would be no fund equity to throw into the battle.

Pointing to the necessity of cutting next year's expenditures by $200,000 if a millage is not approved, Wilkins stated, "There's no way you can cut $200,000 out of an $800,000 budget or this school district will stop literally."

The board also questioned the effect the Dayton-Hudson shopping center will have over the next couple of years on taxes collected for the school district. Dr. Barr replied that until the center opens, building permits will provide the school district enough money to negate the effects of inflation. However, there will not be enough money to help bail out the school district until two years from now.

The school district may also be faced with need in the future for an operating millage when the new high school opens. Dr. Barr commented that he does not yet know how much operating millage will be necessary but "I don't think it will cost a great deal."

The board also discussed the possibility of profit-making enterprises such as "Bingo for Profit" if the voters do not approve an increase.

Then they were told, "Sorry, there's no money left."

But when Heather Fee read a report stating the council had $75,000 and only four applications from Michigan groups, she called to ask what was happening. She now understands there was a reshuffling of the council. At any rate the guild shortly was notified that it was the recipient of the mini-grant.

At 8 p.m. on Tuesday, March 16, it will be used for the first presentation here. Jane Knight of Birmingham is to talk of "Fiber Sculpture." She will show slides and discuss methods of incorporating crochet, wrapped warps and macrame with weaving to accomplish a three-dimensional woven article.

Besides with the community, the Northville guild is sharing its wealth with two other area guilds invited to the meeting:

The Michigan Council of the Arts and Northville Handweavers are hoping such updating of an old craft may have the evangelical effect of bringing more practitioners into the guild.

Survival

Learning to Cope with Winter Means Combating Panic, Cold

By BARBARA JOHNSON

It's late on a cold, windy winter's night. Snow hides the underbrush in the woods where you're clipping along on your snowmobile.

You ram the machine over an unseen tree stump, shredding the rubber track.

A flash of panic. You aren't that familiar with the woods or the area, and you'd strayed from your course before the accident.

You work — at first calmly, then frantically — to patch the track. It's hopeless.

You've worked up a sweat and your mouth is dry from the cold air. Eating a handful of snow cools you off and quenches your thirst.

Better abandon the machine. Your hands and feet are numb, and you start walking, hoping you find your way to warmth soon.

So far, you've reacted the way most persons do in winter stress situations, say survival experts Clark Ball and Dick Taylor of Ann Arbor. The problem is that everything you've done — from working up a sweat, to cooling off with snow, to setting off on foot lost — has minimized your chances of surviving the experience.

As Michiganders, we live in below freezing temperatures four months of the year. Ironically, say Ball and Taylor, few winter outdoor enthusiasts — campers, hunters, ice fishermen, skiers — know much about coping with cold. If put to the test, they suggest, few outdoorsmen could keep themselves alive face to face with temperate Mother Nature.

Basically, say the experts, surviving any winter situation means fending off hypothermia, or freezing to death, by controlling four variables — one's own psychology, body warmth, and the availability of shelter and air.

A person's own psychology is the least tangible factor. But it's the most critical tool the survivor has, they say. A panic-stricken person, however well-equipped or knowledgeable, is least able to fend for himself. Right information and experience are the best teachers of cool and confidence.

Maintaining a near normal body temperature is the single most important physical task the winter survivor faces.

The body, they explain, naturally sends out warnings as its temperature drops. First, it shivers — the muscle contractions generate heat. Then goose bumps form, creating space for dead air to insulate the body.

If body temperature continues to drop, blood vessels near the skin surface constrict, reducing blood flow to extremities to conserve heat for essential body organs. As hypothermia advances, blood flow to the head slows down, and brain functions are impaired. If body temperature drops to 62 degrees, hypothermia is fatal.

Insulating the body, explain Ball and Taylor, means creating "dead air" between the cold and your body by the clothes you wear and your activities.

Wearing layers of light weight clothing, they say, is more effective in keeping the body warm than wearing one or two heavy garments. By layering, you can take off or add clothes, depending on the energy you exert.

Practices What He Preaches

There is little Clark Ball preaches to survival students that he hasn't practiced himself.

A museum curator by training, Ball's first winter survival adventure was in 1972, when he made a 350-mile journey alone on snow shoes from Mt. Katahdin, Maine, to the New Hampshire border. Later that year, he dared the elements on a solo hike along the Continental Divide, from Rocky Mountain National Park to the Mexican border — a 1,400 mile trek in 87 days.

Two winters ago, Ball had himself dropped from a plane on the Hudson Bay. In nine days, he battled sea winds and -40 degree temperatures hiking 90 miles back to civilization.

That same year, he teamed up with Dick Taylor, the twosome deciding to make occupations of their recreation know-how.

A former teacher, Taylor holds a master's degree in environmental education. He worked for the Michigan United Conservation Club before founding Round River Adventures in Ann Arbor two and one-half years ago.

Through Round River, the two are hired by small groups to lead outdoor retreats. They also hold contracts at the University of Michigan, Eastern Michigan, and public school systems around Detroit to teach environmental science and a variety of recreation activities.

Filing Income Tax

Search Records First

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles on 1975 income tax preparation by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Reconstructing evidence of all the deductible expenses incurred during the year can be the most time-consuming part of income tax preparation, but it's unavoidable — unless you use the standard deduction of 16 percent of adjusted gross income up to $2,300. And even if you decide to go with the standard deduction, you will probably have to add up all of your available deductions, anyway — to find out which method of filing is more profitable.

That is why it is wise, whether you use the long form return or the short, whether you prepare your own return or have it done for you, to make a thorough search of your records first.

When you do, here are the types of deductible expenses to look for:

- Medical and dental
- Taxes paid.
- Contributions.
- Interest paid.
- Casualty or theft losses.
- Child care and disabled dependent care.
- Alimony.
- Unreimbursed business expenses.

Deductible medical and dental expenses include more than doctor, dentist and hospital bills. They also take in prosthetic devices such as eyeglasses, dentures and hearing aids; special equipment such as wheelchairs; medical travel; special foods that may be required; and many other costs.

Put aside all receipts or canceled checks that may relate to health care and thus may be medical deductions, then refer to the tax instruction booklet or ask your tax preparer about them.

Drugs and medicines are deductible only to the extent that they exceed one percent of adjusted gross income. After subtracting the one percent, add drug and medicine costs to other medical bills, which then are subject to another exclusion

Pastor 'Buz' Leads Basement Church

The Brighton Chapel has been around more than four years now.

But, chances are you haven't noticed it unless you're among its 13 member families.

There's no church building. No steeple or chimneys drawing community attention to it.

Just a small sign in the backyard of a modest home at 525 Flint Road. It points the way to the basement of the home, where the church holds worship services on Sunday mornings and investigative discussions on weekday evenings.

The home belongs to pastor George Cliffe, or 'Buz' as he's called by Brighton Chapel members.

"Using 'Reverend,'" says Mr. Cliffe, "would make a distinction between members and myself. I want to identify with the people. As I see it, we're all in his together as a team."

The team concept is important to this interdenominational group of Christians. It has to do with how the church was started, how it operates, and its eventual goal.

An ordained minister, Mr. Cliffe came in early 1971 to the Brighton area with two laymen from a Baptist church in Holt. Their goal — "to reproduce Godly people."

Together, the threesome surveyed homes in the area with questionnaires and talked with persons about Christ. Soon, families were holding meetings in their own homes, or "investigative discussions on the Life of Christ."

In September, 1971, a few families met in Mr. Cliffe's basement for their first worship service.

As Mr. Cliffe sees it, the church is a "by-product" of individuals' faith, not an institution in itself.

"People, not property, are what we're concerned with," he explains. "We're interested in man, not in men, in character development, in individual's personal relationships with God."

As set forth in the chapel constitution, the church is governed by a "ministry team," or lay individuals who head six departments including family education, outreach, finance, and administration.

By 1981, explains Mr. Cliffe, the church hopes to be able to plant another church, using three couples who have demonstrated "Christ-like development and ministry skills."

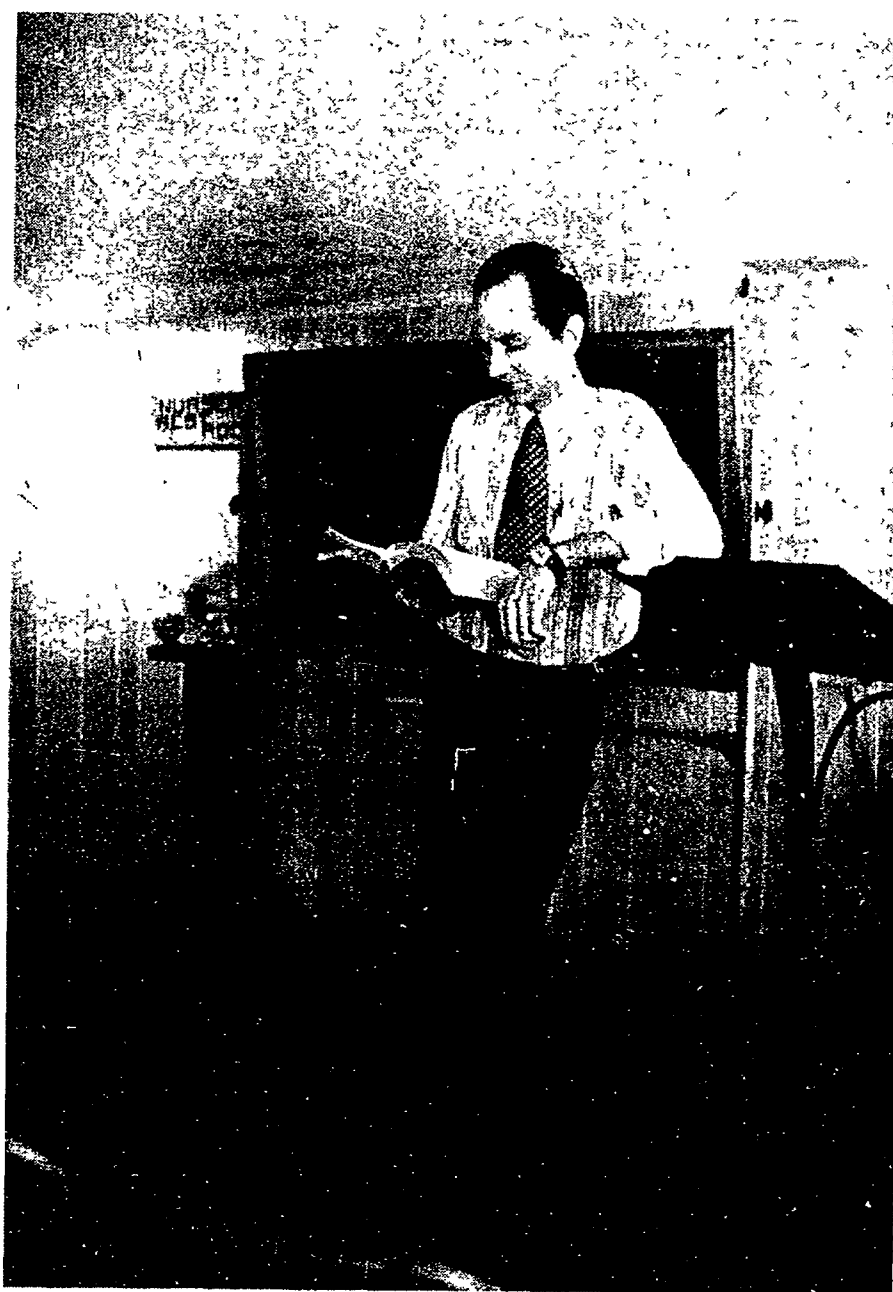

In the context of that goal, adding new members to the church roll is not important. What is important, he explains, is helping develop the character of its present members so that they are missionaries themselves, and able to reproduce Christians.

That's why, Mr. Cliffe points out, what he does "is a different ballgame from the average pastor."

"I don't see my role as standing before the people, interpreting scripture for them. It's to help train people to interpret scripture for themselves."

Meanwhile, basement quarters suit the church just fine.

"Constructing a building isn't out of the question," says Mr. Cliffe. "But I think we would try to move to a bigger basement (in a member's home) before we'd do that."

'Buz' Cliffe poses at pulpit in basement sanctuary

South Lyon Monsignor Appointed Acting Vicar

Monsignor Albert Matyn, pastor at St. Joseph's Church in South Lyon, was recently named acting vicar of the Farmington-Southfield Vicariate.

Matyn replaces Father Paschal O'Hagan who has been transferred to St. Matthew's Church in Detroit.

Matyn's duties as vicar will include acting as an administrator and intermediary between Cardinal John Dearden, Bishop of the Archdiocese of Detroit, and the various parishes, religious orders, as well as the laity which comprise the Vicariate.

He will be acting vicar only until the spring when the three-year post is up for election. The new vicar will then be chosen by the Vicariate Council consisting of clergy, representatives of religious orders, and laity.

Matyn has indicated that he will not run for the full term.

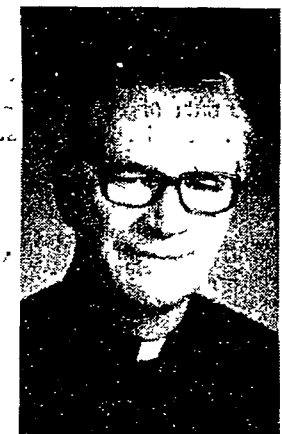

Ordained in 1936, Matyn joined the faculty of Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit in 1938. He later became dean of students at the seminary.

From 1963 to 1968, he was pastor at St. Lucy's in St. Clair Shores.

He then became pastor at St. Matthew's in Detroit from 1968 to 1973, when he assumed his South Lyon duties.

Parishes in the Farmington-Southfield Vicariate include in addition to St. Joseph's: Divine Providence, Holy Family (Novi), Mother of God, Our Lady of Sorrows, St. Alexander, St. Beatrice, St. Bede, St. Clare, St. Coleman, St. Fabian, St. Gerald, St. Ives, and St. Michael.

Mid-Winter Conference Scheduled

"Ageless Youth" is the topic of a free public lecture on Christian Science in Plymouth next Saturday afternoon.

A Christian Science lecturer from Seattle, Washington, David C. Driver, C.S.B., will speak at the Christian Science church, 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, on Saturday, February 7 at 3:30 p.m.

"When you know that youth and maturity are mental and spiritual qualities," Driver will say, "you will find you can't lose them to the past nor do you have to wait for them to appear in the future. You find them no longer confined to just limited periods of your life but belonging to you all the time."

Mrs. Pamela Stopper, Second Reader, will introduce Driver. Local arrangements for the lecture are being coordinated by A. Richard Krachenberg, lecture committee chairman.

Driver, a native of New Zealand, holds a degree in architecture from the University of Auckland.

Before entering the public practice of Christian Science in 1964, he worked as an architect and planning consultant for many years.

In 1970 he became a teacher of Christian Science. He is currently on an extensive speaking tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Warning: Snowmobile Not A Toy

By ELMER E. WHITE

LANSING—Bluish ice is the safety sign. Clear, honey-combed or dark spotted ice means danger.

That warning comes from the Department of Natural Resources, which offers safety tips for Michigan residents who brave the winds and low temperatures to take advantage of the state's winter recreation fun.

Snowmobiling, the department notes, can be particularly dangerous. Forty-four persons were killed and hundreds of others injured in some 1,600 snowmobile accidents reported to the Michigan state Police last winter.

"A SNOWMOBILE is not a toy and drivers must understand that they need a great deal of common sense to operate snowmobiles," says Frank Opolka, who's charged with administering the department's snowmobile safety program.

Drownings and accidents involving trees and parked cars claim more lives and broken bones to snowmobilers than anything else, he says. And much of that is unnecessary.

Opolka cites some statistics from last snowmobile season that he urges this year's winter fun enthusiasts to think about.

MOST ACCIDENTS (70 percent) take place on weekends. Last year, the majority occurred during February and March when temperatures ranged between 21 and 30 degrees and on packed rather than fresh snow.

A whopping 87 percent of snowmobile accidents did NOT involve mechanical malfunctions, and 91 percent of people involved in the accidents had no snowmobile safety training.

Some 35 percent of the injuries involved snowmobilers' legs, while another 18 percent hurt heads and necks.

MICHIGAN DRINKERS bought at a record pace during 1975, and the state's liquor control commission took in nearly $200 million.

The commission's annual financial report shows the sale to be:

—More than 16 million gallons of beverages with more than 16 percent alcohol.

—Slightly more than 13 million gallons of wine.

—Nearly 218 million gallons of beer.

FOR EVERY MAN, woman and child in the state, that figures out to 1.82 gallons of distilled spirits, 1.45 gallons of wine and 23.98 gallons of beer.

And, of course, not every man, woman and child drinks.

One estimate suggests that Michigan's "serious drinkers" spent an average of $900 each for hard liquor, wine and beer during the year.

WHERE BEST to learn about natural resources? In a natural setting, of course.

That's what Kalamazoo Soil Conservation district officials decided when they planned an environmental conservation education program that recently won honors from the National Association of Conservation Districts.

KALAMAZOO conservation district workers helped some 65 schools develop outdoor classroom sites where students had a firsthand chance to learn about natural resources.

The district also sponsored more than 10 workshops last year for teachers on how to use outdoor classrooms, and community meetings were held to inform parents of the purpose for outdoor classrooms.

THE SOUND of bells — wedding kind, instead of those summoning lawmakers to a roll call vote — may be ringing in the head of Representative Dennis O. Cawthorne, Michigan's House Republican Leader.

The 35-year-old Cawthorne plans to wed Cynthia Knoth of Shelby in late summer.

Miss Knoth, a 1971 graduate of Drake University, is a teacher at the Thomas Reed Elementary School in Shelby. She and Cawthorne met in mid-1974 at a cocktail party in Muskegon, near the lawmaker's hometown of Manistee.

Lamentations

I: Shakespeare's Lament

If all the world's indeed a stage, then tragedy is all the rage;
and if one man plays many parts,
his roles consist of broken hearts.

II: A Poet's Lament

The insanity of humanity is naught but its vanity.

III: A Patriot's Lament

O! say can you see;
the gun in my hand;
that so proudly I bear
... just in case.

Footprints

A plain of snow, resting on a field of ice—
Such is our lake after a winter's storm;
The unmarked surface does itself entice
A venturer to scuff, and so misform.

As like an unspoiled youth with careful mind,
Before he ventures forth into man's life,
And then goes on to walk with humankind,
To find the scars and stains of worldly strife,

May it be, that as he journeys on Across the plains and never-ending fields,
He will mark but not besmirch here and beyond,
The pattern that each step of life reveals.

Life's Great Hidden Treasure

Life has a great hidden treasure but we never do quite comprehend how to grasp onto the great power that each of us has there within.

We only live life on the surface never knowing how great it can be how the Master has knit us together or how He can help us to be free.

Like Legion we sit in the graveyard cutting ourselves on stones of pride, jealousies, guilt, envy, hatred and many other hang-ups besides.

Just as a light needs a connection so likewise do we, my friend
Only God can give that connection to release that power there within.

If you think you can find that connection from anywhere else but the Cross your life will be spent in delusion and end up a vast total loss.

I know this may sound kind of far-out take it for whatever it's worth
Each person holds hidden inside him the same power that created our vast UNIVERSE!

God's World

The fresh smell of rain—
The sweet scent of flowers—
The warmth of the sun—
These all can be ours.

The breeze's soft whisper—
A baby's low cry—
The chirping of crickets
As each day goes by.

A love song so tender—
A bright star-lit night.
To God we give thanks
For His wisdom and might.

DETROIT (NOVEMBER 23, 1760)

Fort Pontchartrain was surrendered to the British here today. French Captain Francois De Bellestre gave command of the post over to a British force led by Major Robert Rogers.

The Fort, located on the banks of the Detroit River will now be known as Fort Detroit.

The takeover ends 150 years of French rule in a large part of North America. Two months ago, the Governor of New France surrendered all French posts but New Orleans to the British. Today's takeover was a sequel to that surrender.

British Captain Donald Campbell will be the new commandant of Fort Detroit.

Asked about changes in the operations of the Fort, Campbell replied, "We anticipate no major changes. On our march here from Fort Pitt, we met with a number of Indians, with whom we smoked the peace pipe. We hope to maintain those peaceful relations."

However, the British captain indicated that he is under orders to exercise a firmer hand with the Indians. "No sales of rum, not so much gift giving. I rather think these measures will contribute to the good order of things," he said.

Campbell said that the British plan to make Fort Detroit (Pontchartrain) the center of the northwest fur trade.

"The French ran the fur trade as a government monopoly. We British permit the fur trade to be run on a free enterprise system," he said.

including mountain climbing, kayaking, cross country skiing, and scuba diving.

The survival and recreation training business hasn't exactly been booming, the young men admit. But they're optimistic that the demand for their services is increasing.

As machines do more of our physical work and allow us more leisure time, they say, there's a greater demand for "high personal energy" recreation activities. Elaborate, self-sufficient motor homes, they contend, are the luxury of one generation — the fuel they require won't be cheap for long.

Survival — Defusing Panic

Wool, more than other natural or synthetic fibers, is the best insulator, they say. Its tiny hollow cells hold dead air even when the garment is wet.

For footwear, Ball and Taylor recommend snowmobile boots. But since rubberized boots also may trap moisture, it's important to layer socks and allow air to circulate.

Hats are a must. "The old cliché, 'Wear a hat to warm your feet' is really true," says Ball.

He points out that, unless the head is protected, 40 to 75 percent of body heat, depending on air temperature, escapes from the top of the head.

Cold and wind alone shouldn't force the survivor to seek shelter.

"You can continue traveling if two of three conditions — cold, wind and wet — prevail," says Ball. "But if it's all three — cold, wet and windy — you're better off to find shelter."

Lacking a tent or camper, the outdoorsman can fairly easily carve a shelter from a snow drift, or build an adult version of a snow fort by packing snow and ice blocks, insulating the floor with a sheet of plastic or underbrush.

No matter how cold and regardless of the kind of shelter — igloo, tent or camper — there must be an air hole. Each year, they point out, hunters and other outdoorsmen suffocate in their own exhalation in temporary winter shelters.

Food shouldn't be a major concern of those temporarily stranded or winter weekend adventurers. Finding and actually consuming food and drink drain energy your body needs to keep warm.

Your body must work hard, they explain, to melt snow you might eat to quench your thirst. Alcohol, which temporarily warms the body, also ultimately drains body energy by cooling blood.

It's best, the survival experts say, to munch on a small quantity of candy or take along a couple of tins of sardines.

Occasionally, Taylor and Ball say, they teach survival students how to use traps and slaughter small animals.

Smart outdoorsmen travel a well-charted course, say Taylor and Ball. They know where they're going and markers along the way, and they've informed others where they're headed.

If lost, they recommend staying put and releasing flares or building fires to signal distress. Continuing to travel expends energy and is almost always futile. Invariably, they point out, animals, including humans, travel in a circle when lost.

Hike Planned

A Sunday morning guided nature hike for the general public along the nature trails at Kensington Metropark near Milford will be held on Sunday, February 8 and Sunday, February 22. The walks start at 9 a.m. and take about two hours.

Night Skies

At night when skies look like rich velvet, black
And soft, the stars extremely far away
Seem near. Like diamonds on a smooth dark plaque
I want to reach, to touch the gems and say
I found the treasure man for centuries
Has yearned. But this is just a dreamer's thought:
The stars remain impossible to seize,
And such an act of selfishness would not Allow mankind henceforth to look and love
Magnificence on quiet, peaceful nights,
And feel transposed into the realm above.
But science tells us these are dreamers' plights:
The distant stars race through black space so vast They're gone; we see mere lightwaves from the past.

Ruth Burlas

What's Your Hurry?

Patience is a virtue—
At least, it used to be,
But now we simply gad around
To see, or not to see.

We're always in a hurry
No matter where we go,
"Get with it here! Step on it there!"
Let's move it, now, you're slow!

We may be going down the road
To get a loaf of bread;
We rush to be the first in line
Just to get ahead!

Usually we dash away
To make a one hour meeting,
Then we're champing at the bit,
Our time is always fleeting.

From when we first see light of day
And we begin to blink,
Someone whispers in our ear
"It's later than you think!"

If we would try some leisure
In an easy sort of way,
Time might take it easy, too,
And bring back yesterday!

Charles E. Hutton

A Sonnet

Dear friend, please tell me, when did summer go?
Just yesterday in warmth of life we saw Earth's blossoms paint the land with hues that so Intrigued our hearts. We then ignored the law
Of time, as winds whipped o'er a frozen field
Of snow. How subtly came the change!
You too, dear friend, reveal that all must yield.
Your once dark hair, now streaked with white, seems strange.

Deep furrows on your brow tell me that time
Has hurt you, and I feel your pain. Your long,
Lean body's like a tree that's bent with ice.
Let kindness loosen icy grips so strong,
And love cure chills: your spirit yet has glow.
But friend, please tell me, when did summer go?

Ruth Burlas

Wind

Wind blow with all your might.
I can hear you day and night.
You can be very strong.

You blow the leaves
You think it's fun
When all the leaves run.

You think of them as rough, but there just isn't enough.
Wind you could fade away,
And come another day.

Norma Jean Goers

Call of The Sea

Far out upon deep waters angry waves
Express their rage with thrashing foam.
An ancient schooner fights: the ocean raves
In salty wrath to pull the craft from home.
Tall masts creak proudly on the sturdy ship;
The wind whips sails with such ferocity
It makes the bow crash crests of waves, then dip,
Again to rise in reciprocity.
This constant challenge from a cryptic sea
Has thus enticed man from his life on land:
He heeds the urge — or is it a decree —
To sail eternally, ship's wheel in hand.
Perhaps the call to sea comes from below,
Where it is said life formed so long ago.

Ruth Burlas

How Love Can Leave So Fast

When someone is close to you, it's love.
It leaves us all behind with the flying dove.
Seeing it go by,
That's love too.
It would make you cry right next to you.

Don't you want to be with me?
I know that love.
Just remembering that flying dove.

Norma Jean Goers

The Loud Stillness

Nobody knows how loud stillness can be until their children are grown.
Nobody knows how loud stillness can be
'til their children are no longer home.

until home becomes a tomb.
Nobody knows how loud stillness can be with just memories in every room.

Nobody knows how loud stillness can be
'til their children live far away
with no mail day after day.

Nobody knows how loud stillness can be
'til the telephone doesn't ring.
Nobody knows how loud stillness can be knowing they must do their own thing.

No, nobody knows how loud stillness can be until their children are grown but children find out how loud stillness can be when mother's no longer at home.

Winter

Branches strain against the steel sky.
Winds whip so wildly they make your eyes cry.
Cold pierces the body straight through its soul.
As winter again takes its toll.

Nancy Whisman

The One

The shimmering snow makes her garment, and the cold brisk wind kisses her arms...
icicles droop from her fingers, frozen, frozen... frozen she waits
Never living...
Never dying...
frozen, frozen... frozen she waits,
Always hoping...
Always dreaming...

She stands and stares and yearns, begging alms of stars whose hearts are frozen so very far away.

Richard P. Shemetulskis

Dear United States of America:

Pardon me if I'm not excited or even terribly thrilled,
About your party coming up, the Bicentennial it's billed.

Nothing personal you see, I hope you understand,
It's just the way you're being used by people in this land.

Seems that everywhere I look are the colors; red, white, and blue,

Or Uncle Sam prostituting, selling something new.
So all the flag waving and excitement I just can't seem to mimic,
Because I think the Bicentennial is just a big sales gimmick.

It makes me sad because I feel our people have lost their direction,
And maybe instead of cashing-in we need time for reflection.

How to Write a Lousy Poem or

Editor, You've Got to be Kidding!

Roses are red, violets are blue, twinkle, twinkle, I love you;
God is great, I'm such a sinner, this sort of poem is really a winner.

I've read so many on growing up,
I honestly feel like throwing up;
the flight of birds, the sands of time,
the moon-June-croon of pseudo-rhyme.

Cliches can work, if properly used, alas! somehow they're always abused;
saccharine-sweet is dandy for candy,
but poetry is art — not words that are handy:

This isn't a sermon on how it should be,
indeed, nothing more than a personal plea:
have respect for writing, or at least realize, that poetry is more than just exercise.

Publication is really rough,
but if your poem is cute enuff, you need not fear, things ain't that tough —
the local papers love that stuff.

Beauty Lives

The Designer has touched the right note.
There's an accent of red from Ken's old boat.

While soldier-blue swings stand at attention.
Merry-go-round would move at the mention.

Broken tree branches lie on white snow —
Sculptor unnoted, but holding a show.

The oak leaves hang on — their form duly noted,
And the sky stands back — the parent devoted.

A grey squirrel scampers; then another comes too,
And gives a fine sitting — a model for you.

There's action aplenty recorded in snow —
Where people were playing, and not long ago.

And now diamonds glitter from where they were strewn,
Cut by an expert — not rough-hewn.

A few moss-covered rocks peek out from their bed,
Seeming to say, "We thought beauty was dead."

Love to My Mother

O Lord, be kind to my mother, for in her family's eyes were no other.

O Lord, who could hate her, for no mortal is any greater.

She gave us love, softer than the wings of a dove.

She was hard at times, are not the stones of your earth just as hard?—
Don't they symbolize love?

O Lord, reach out for her hand, just as you did your mother's,
and I know you will love her.

AMEN & AMEN

APPOINTMENT of James A. Callahan as general supervisor of human resources management for Pontiac Motor Division has been announced by Thomas C. Dorais, Pontiac's director of personnel.

Callahan joined Pontiac in 1969 as a supervisor of labor relations. He became a general supervisor of labor relations in 1971, and was named general supervisor of salaried personnel in 1973. Prior to joining Pontiac, Callahan had worked nine years with General Motors' AC Spark Plug Division in Flint.

Callahan was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1958. He and his family reside in Northville.

AMERICAN AGGREGATES CORPORATION has announced higher earnings, and its directors, at their meeting on January 23, voted an extra dividend of ten cents per share of common stock.

Earnings in the third quarter ended December 31, 1975, were 53 cents per common share versus a loss of 17 cents per share in the same quarter a year ago. For the fiscal year to date net earnings of $2,896,000 are calculated to be $2.51 per share compared with $1.92 in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

Directors voted a 10 cents per share extra dividend in addition to the 25 cents regular dividend, both payable February 26, 1976, to holders of record February 4, 1976. This payment coupled with previous payments in this fiscal year, brings the indicated annual dividend in the current fiscal year to $1.10 versus $1 paid in the last two years.

W.I. Thieme, chairman, attributed higher earnings to favorable fall construction weather and the much improved performance of a subsidiary company engaged in hydraulic dredging.

American Aggregates is a major supplier of sand, gravel, stone and slag in Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan. Subsidiary companies are engaged in precast concrete, hydraulic dredging, and land development.

SPECIAL AGENT Douglas Mitchell, who lives in Novi and is associated with the James L. Rosenbaum insurance agency in Southfield, is among more than 50 Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company agents from Michigan and Ohio attending a special estate planning seminar of the company in Toledo February 5-6.

The seminar, the firm announces, is providing experienced agents with training in recent developments in personal and business insurance and tax planning.

SUBSCRIPTION and newsstand rates for all Sliger Home Newspapers will be increased March 15, 1976. The new home delivery rate for The Northville Record, Novi News, South Lyon Herald and Brighton Argus weekly newspapers will be $10 per year in Wayne, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties. Elsewhere in Michigan yearly subscriptions will be $12. Newsstand prices will be raised from 20 cents to 25 cents. Increased cost of materials, particularly newsprint, as well as postage hikes were cited as reasons for the rate boosts. Subscriptions placed before March 15 will be extended for a year at present rates.

FIVE DAYS a week it's barbecuing ribs and baking pizza for David Duey at Northville Charley's, but come Mondays he's magically transformed into DeeDee the Clown who tickles ribs and makes animals out of balloons for the kids.

Duey, 19, grew up in the Northville-Nowi area and has been a cook and waiter at the local Chuck Muer restaurant since it opened last fall at 41122 W. Seven Mile Road.

When manager Bill Kruse said he wanted to come up with something special for kids at the restaurant, Duey trotted out his clown identity and suggested making Monday into Clown day.

Now, Kruse has provided a separate menu for "little people" to go along with Duey's act, as well as an endless supply of free balloons and candy.

DeeDee the Clown and all the goodies are on from 5 to 10 p.m. every Sunday at Northville Charley's, beginning February 2.

"I've always wanted to work with children," said Duey, "so the clown thing came naturally."

He learned from "watching other clowns" and has never been to clown school. But Duey is already a pro, hiring out to parties and public events, and donating many performances to charity.

Every clown has a specialty. Duey's is making giraffes, elephants and other critters out of balloons, which he then gives to the kids.

Duey lives on Nine Mile Road in Novi.

DELSENA WELCH has been appointed Executive Housekeeper of the new five story, 195 room Plymouth Hilton Inn in Plymouth, Michigan.

A graduate in Institutional Housekeeping Management from the Hannah Harrison School in Washington, D.C., she most recently served as assistant executive housekeeper, at the Johnstone-Willis Hospital in Richmond, Virginia. Previously, she worked at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D.C. and the Key Bridge-Marriott Hotel in Roslyn, Virginia.

A native of Maine, she now lives in Northville.

LEONARD W. EDEN of Northville, director of Engineering and Maintenance for the Evening News Association's Broadcast Division, served as conference chairman for the Tenth Annual Winter Television Conference of the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers (SMPTE) at the Southfield Sheraton the weekend of January 23-24.

Eden currently is chairman of the Detroit Section of SMPTE. The conference was expected to attract more than six hundred members from across the country. Speakers from as far away as Japan participated.

Included among the speakers were James Kitchell, general manager of NBC News, and Thomas Batista, a CBS vice president.

The emphasis of the conference was on TV news gathering and the use of new digital TV video systems involving automated, computerized equipment.

JAMES A. MOORE

JAMES ALLEN MOORE of 527 Old Pond Road, South Lyon, has been named manager of the Northville D&C Store. His predecessor has left the organization.

Transferred here from Trenton, Moore had served as manager of the Trenton D&C store for a year. Prior to that he worked 4½ years for D&C in St. Louis, Michigan where he was born and raised.

MORE THAN 50 Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company agents from Michigan and Ohio, including Brighton's Ralph H. Kelly, will be attending a special estate planning seminar held by the company in Toledo, Ohio, February 5-6.

The seminar will provide experienced agents with training in recent developments in personal and business insurance and tax planning.

Kelly is a special agent associated with the James L. Rosenbaum general agency in Southfield.

of three percent of adjusted gross income. The only health expense not subject to the three percent exclusion is one half of medical insurance premiums, up to $150.

Deductions for taxes are limited to those paid to local, state and foreign governments, and include taxes on income, real estate, personal property, sales and gasoline. Even if you expect a refund of any of these taxes later, take the tax as a deduction in the year paid and include it in income when you get the refund.

Do not deduct taxes paid to the federal government, custom duties, motor vehicle or drivers' license fees or taxes on alcohol or tobacco. Also leave out assessments for local improvements and transfer taxes on the sale of your home; they are not deductible.

Contributions are deductible only if made to qualified organizations, of which Internal Revenue maintains a current list in all its offices. Almost all of the better known charitable, religious, educational and service organizations are on the list.

If you claim a deduction for a non-cash contribution worth more than $200, you must attach a statement to your return describing the item, telling how you acquired it, stating the fair market value and the terms under which you donated it, and giving certain other information.

When computing the deduction for interest you have paid, do not overlook the interest charged on credit card accounts and time payment plans, or the "points" paid when buying a house. Also include any penalty imposed for prepayment of a mortgage. Interest charged for an income tax deficiency is another deductible item.

Personal property casualty losses — from storms, fires, floods, etc. — and those caused by theft, are deductible only to the extent that they exceed insurance compensation plus $100 per loss.

The amount of loss can be figured either as the difference in value of the property before and after the event, or as the cost of restoring it to its previous condition. If the loss was caused by theft, be able to show that the item was not lost or misplaced by obtaining a theft report from the police department.

To qualify for the maximum deduction of up to $400 a month for child-care or dependent-care costs, you must have incurred those costs so that you could hold a full time job. Payments for the care of a child under 15 or an invalid dependent or spouse must have gone to someone other than a relative. If your income, plus that of your spouse, exceeded $18,000, part of the deduction is lost, and when joint income reaches $27,000, it is entirely lost. (If you are in the over-$18,000 category — or could be if you were to take a job — look into the new, more generous provisions of the law for 1976.) Use IRS form 2441. Alimony is a tax deduction to the payer and taxable income to the receiver. Child support is neither. If, after a divorce becomes final, the payer of alimony decides to be more generous, increases not ordered by the court are not deductible.

Major deductions for an employee's job-related expenses for travel, transportation, gifts and entertainments are taken as adjustments to income.

Watch Out for True Blues

BY KATHY COPLEY

Plants with blue blossoms don't match red or white in either numbers or variety, but there is still a wide range to choose from for a Bicentennial color scheme. Be skeptical, however, of roses labeled as the first "true blue rose," since they are likely to be more purple than anything.

These lists of flowers in America's red, white, and blue are not meant to suggest that there are no other flowers in these colors; they are meant to acquaint you with various plants with which you are not familiar, as well as remind you of some garden-stand-bys which are available in our nation's colors.

Report from Philip Morris

Tar/Taste Theory Exploded.

New 9 mg. tar MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor' proves taste no longer depends on amount of tar.

Until now, cigarette flavor pretty much depended on the amount of tar that went along with it.

Regardless of "low tar, good taste" claims, regardless of fancy filters and "space-age" filtering systems—you couldn't get high taste without high tar.

Nor low tar without low taste.

That was the theory.

Until now.

This is another report on MERIT from Philip Morris.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Low Tar, Good Taste: Filters Fall Short

At first, we tried designing special filters, too. Like others, our results were generally disappointing.

These results confirmed a belief that if there was any way to get flavor—real flavor—into a low tar cigarette, the answer had to lie somewhere in the tobacco itself.

So we focused on the business end of smoking. The tobacco end. And decided if we wanted to get more flavor through to you, we'd just have to start with more.

After a twelve year effort, our Richmond Research Center succeeded. They isolated the "key" flavor ingredients of tobacco as they exist in cigarette smoke.

By adding only those natural ingredients of extreme high quality as flavor contributors, yet low tar producing as well, they were able to pack MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor'—without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

'Enriched Flavor.' It's extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't drop out, can't do anything but come through for you.

Read the taste-test results for yourself.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, tested at home.*

The results were conclusive.

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

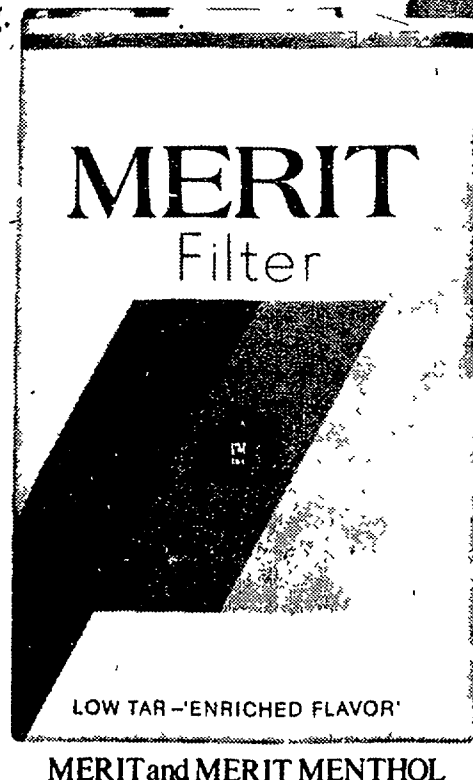

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today—only 9 mg. tar.

Northville Splits Pair; Beats Harrison 59-47

The Northville basketball team has Coach Walt Koepke totally baffled.

"We've played so well the last two Fridays and so poorly on Tuesday, I just can't figure it out," said Koepke.

The Mustangs have looked like two different teams lately. Tuesday they dropped a close one to a shorter Dearborn Heights Riverside but came back Friday to outplay a taller Farmington Harrison, 59-47.

In what Coach Walt Koepke termed the worst game of the year, Northville was edged by Dearborn Heights Riverside 62-60.

Both teams were slow to get untracked as bad passes and turnovers plagued the first quarter. Northville didn't score its second field goal until there was just 1:54 remaining in the quarter.

Starting the second quarter trailing 10-5 the Mustangs came out pressing, which resulted in a few quick turnovers.

A 10 point outburst by Cris Armada enabled Northville to take a 25-20 lead into the locker room.

Tony Armada drew his fifth personal and Bill Piccolo sat on the bench throughout the third quarter with four, yet Northville hung on to a four point lead going into the final stanza.

In the first 55 seconds of the fourth quarter, Riverside outscored the Mustangs 6-1 to pull ahead 41-40. It was a lead they would not relinquish.

Cris Armada put up an off-balance shot at the buzzer that would have sent the game into overtime but he missed the mark.

Coach Koepke referred to the game as "a pathetic game to lose."

"I was especially disappointed about playing so bad after we had played so well last Friday against Churchill," Koepke said.

Paul Wild of Riverside played the entire fourth quarter with four personals and managed to lead all scorers with 27 points.

Cris Armada led the Mustangs with 24 tallies while Mark Lisowski chipped in with 16.

Northville shot a somewhat respectable 21 of 53 from the field despite going 2 for 13 in the first quarter.

The story of the game was at the free throw line as Riverside was 13 for 19 in the final quarter while Northville was only 3 of 6 in a game marred by 52 personal fouls.

Friday Harrison came to town and the Mustangs greeted them with a tough pounding.

The Armada brothers, Chris and Tony, had things going right as they scored 26 and 15 respectively.

Northville got out in front early and then never trailed. The Mustangs had a 27-21 halftime lead and expanded it to a 10 point third quarter edge.

The Mustangs stayed in a tight man-to-man defense throughout the entire game.

The Mustangs shot 19 for 50 from the floor but had a hot shooting third quarter, making 8 of 13.

"Cris Armada played an aggressive and tremendous basketball game," complimented Koepke after the game.

The coach also had special praise for Tony Armada, who played well and Jay Slagle for doing a fine job on defense.

"We've made good progress and I'm proud that the boys have worked so hard," said Koepke.

Tony Armada and Slagle did a fine job in controlling the boards, he noted.

"We ran a patient controlled offense and we controlled the tempo of the ball game," Koepke said.

Mark Lisowski, playing both guard and forward tallied for eight points and Slagle added six. Mike Styles had 15 points for the losers.

Northville puts its 3-3 league record on the line Friday at Plymouth Canton.

Coach Koepke still is thinking about possible league championship as the Mustangs have remaining games with the league leaders. If not at least they will have a chance to play the role of the spoiler.

Let It Fly

Scott Parsons of Novi lets loose with a five foot jumper. Parsons scored 21 points in last Friday's Novi victory over Chelsea.

Parsons Scores 21

Wildcats Win by Ten

Balanced scoring, good defense and outstanding rebounding paved the way to a 69-59 Novi victory over Chelsea Friday.

The game was close, 41-38 Novi's favor, going into the fourth quarter but four Scott Parsons steals led to four quick buckets that broke the game wide open.

"Parsons played good defense throughout the whole game," Coach Ron Flutur exclaimed. "But those four steals broke the game open for us," said Flutur.

The Wildcats ended up with 28 points in the last quarter against the shorter Chelsea team.

Co-captain Parsons led the Novi scoring barrage with 21 points. Bill Giorgio was right behind with 20.

Coach Flutur had special praise for John Pisha who snatched 20 rebounds, 7 offensive and 13 defensive.

Dave Pisha also hit the boards well with 14 rebounds and Bennett cleared away 12.

"I thought we played real well and right now we have our hopes set on creating a few nightmares for the top couple of teams in the Southeastern conference," Flutur said.

The Wildcats shot a respectable 26 of 55 from the floor for 47 per cent, and canned 17 free throws out of 28 attempts.

Don Durocher, Biff McAllister and Barry Skown all got their names in the score book as Novi raised its record to an even 6-6 and 4-5 in the league circuit.

The Wildcat JV's weren't quite as lucky as the varsity cagers as Chelsea edged them 63-57.

Coach Brian Howard claimed the game was the best three quarters of basketball the team had played all year.

"Offensively we moved the ball very well; there were just a few turnovers in the fourth quarter that beat us," Howard explained.

The game was tied at half time but Novi was ahead 43-40 going into the final stanza before clutch Chelsea free throws sealed Novi's doom.

Chris Giorgio paced the balanced scoring with 19 points. Kevin Pyant contributed 12 in the losing cause while Brad McQuiston added 12 and Phil McCarty had 10 points.

Five-foot guard, McCarty was hot from the floor, hitting 5 of 6 from outside 20 feet.

Pyant and Bob Blackmer shared the rebounding lead with eight apiece.

Forward Mike Bizeau missed Friday's game and is doubtful for this week's contests due to stretched tendons in his hand. "We missed him. He usually has a steadying influence on our team," Coach Howard stated.

Jayvees Continue Improvement

Friday, in what Coach Omar Harrison termed "a team effort", the Mustangs downed Farmington Harrison 74-64.

John Horwath put on a brilliant display of shooting as he collected 24 points, hitting from 15 to 25 feet out.

"It was a good shooting ball game for us, and everybody played real well," Harrison said.

At the end of the half, the score was deadlocked 31-31. The turning point was the impressive third quarter as Northville took a 54-45 lead.

Pete Wright had 22 points for the winners and Jeff Norton chipped in with eight.

Doug Harding led in the

John Horwath slipped in 24 points while pacing the Northville junior varsity basketball team to a 56-45 victory over Dearborn Heights Riverside last Tuesday night.

The Mustangs galloped away, outscoring Riverside 24-13 in the third quarter, after a relatively close first half.

Pete Wright also hit for double figures with 16. Jeff Norton added 8 points.

Bayne Takes First

The Novi ninth graders captured one first place, three fifths and a six place in a 16 team tournament Saturday at Catholic Central.

R. J. Bayne collared the

Jeff Smith, Ed Beyleran and heavyweight Ed Vusick all placed fifth, while Todd Spielman gained a sixth.

Grapplers Await State Ranking

Coach Russ Gardner and his Novi wrestlers have every right to be happy as they are looking forward to Class B state rankings and Southeastern Conference honors.

Tenth rated in the state, Milan came to town last Thursday, but left on the short end of the 46-14 score.

"I think we will be rated after beating the 8th and 10th rated teams in the state," Coach Gardner said.

With the aid of three defaults and fine performances by Dennis Maier, Mark Mills and John Bosco, Novi had an easy time with Milan as they raised their record to 10-2 overall and 5-1 in league action.

Tenth grader Maier started the evening off with a 14-2 besting of Ron Hodges. Bob Lewis in the 107-pound class won by default as his opponent was overweight. Novi's Scott Spielman got by Tim Gould 7-2 in the 114 pound class.

Then Mark Frere, and Tony McCarty were both pinned for the only Novi losses.

Bob Sasena of Novi whipped Vic Cabellero in the 134 pound division as the Wildcats began to take complete charge for the rest of the evening.

Two of Milan's wrestlers were benched for disciplinary reasons which enabled Joe Stevens and Ken Kardell to pick up forfeit victories.

Mills and Doug Maier picked up victories in their weight classes and Bosco had the only Novi pin of the night. Heavyweight Jim Aulen had his season-long unbeaten string snapped as he wrestled to a 5-5 tie.

Spielman, Sasena, Mills and Doug Maier still boast undefeated records going into the important South Lyon match.

Coach Gardner had special praise for Mills who narrowly beat his previously undefeated opponent 6-5 in the 147 pound category.

The Wildcats will be tuning up for the league meet February 7.

100—Dennis Maier (N) beat Ron Hodges (M), 14-2; 107—Bob Lewis (N) won by default; 114—Scott Spielman (N) beat Tim Gould (M), 7-2; 121—Tim Wadely (M) pinned Mark Frere (N), 4-2 3rd per.

128—Mike Betis (M) pinned Tony McCarty (N), 3-51 2nd per.; 134—Bob Sasena (N) beat Vic Cabellero (M), 16-0; 140—Joe Stevens (N) won by forfeit; 147—Mark Mills (N) beat Phil Stark (M), 4-5.

157—John Bosco (N) pinned Kevin Kete (M); 167—Ken Kardell (N) won by forfeit; 185—Doug Maier (N) beat Jeff Meyers (M), 14-4; HVW—Jim Aulen (N) tied Tim Sand (M), 5-5.

Kardell Honored

Honorable mention to the All-Oakland County team is Mary's most recent accomplishment.

Previously she had been named to the first team of the All-Southeastern girls' basketball squad.

Athletes of the Week

Junior Louise Hopping has been named girl Mustang of the week for her outstanding play in the Waterford Mott volleyball victory. Louise is the quarterback of the team as she runs the offense and sets up the spikers. Obviously she did a good job as Northville won 15-8 and 15-4.

Scott Parsons has earned the honor of Wildcat of the week. Parsons hit for 21 points and had four key steals in the final quarter to lead Novi to a 69-59 Southeastern Conference victory over Chelsea last Friday. Coach Ron Flutur said he played both offense and defense excellently in the game.

Sophomore Matt Sullivan broke both the Northville team and pool record for the 100 yard breaststroke with a time of 1:03.3. The record performance aided Northville to a 64-18 win over Dearborn Heights Crestwood and has earned him Mustang of the week. Sullivan has already qualified for the state meet in March.

Mustang Netters Very Busy

The Northville Girls' volleyball teams had a busy time of it last week as both the Varsity and JV's saw action three times.

Last Wednesday both the JV's and the varsity knocked off Farmington Harrison. The exhibition team turned the trick 15-1 and 15-12 while the varsity won 15-0 and 15-12.

Patty Brown was the big hitter for the varsity and both Louise Hopping and Karen Stevens had some excellent saves to their credit.

Kathy Belkowski was especially effective with her serves. She had nine points to help blank the Hawks 15-0.

"It is very unusual to beat a team by such a score but Kathy had some ace serves that were impossible for them to return," coach Jane Stubenvall said.

The girls then managed a split in their matches with Redford Union on Friday. The exhibition team won 4-15, 15-7 and 15-10 but the varsity was not so lucky as the Panthers barely won by 12-15 and 12-15.

Cheryl DeHoff and Traci Kellam had some ace serves in the victory.

The varsity had its trouble returning Redford Union's serves.

"Some of the players had excellent spike returns but we still have to sharpen up in that department to be a well balanced ball team," Coach Stubenvall said.

Kim Adams had a fine serving performance as she contributed seven straight points in the second game, noted the coach.

"Patty Brown was the top hitter for the varsity with some super hits coming at crucial times throughout the match," Coach Stubenvall said.

OLV Boys Still Winning

Our Lady of Victory eagles did battle with Our Lady of Good Council, the two boys' teams won while the girls' dropped their contest.

The seventh and eighth grade team smashed their Plymouth opponents 43-28 behind the hot shooting of Mike Wagner and Todd Nadeau who sank 15 and 14 points respectively.

Pat McGaughlin, Terry Sheene and Pat Dewan also scored in the victory.

Terry Nadeau's nine points helped the fifth and sixth graders to a 28-19 triumph over OLC. Tim McClure scored seven points while Pat Foley, Bob Isom and Jim Lang tallied four times apiece.

Leslie Nadeau netted seven points but that was not enough as the OLV girls were bested 22-15.

Scott Cosgrove Pins Three

The Novi Wrestling Club had an impressive showing in tournament action Sunday. The Novi wrestlers captured six firsts, a second and a third place as eight of the 16 boys placed.

Forty-three placed, Ed O'Hara took a first in the under-eight division by pinning four opponents, all in the first period.

Scott Cosgrove pinned three of four opponents in the 55 pound category. Bill Blair also took a first in the eight and under circuit with four pins.

Scott Weaver captured a first in the nine and ten-year-old bracket while Andy Dimitroff placed second among the one hundred pounders.

Coach Jim Sasena was pleased with the performance.

The club is open to all boys between the ages of six and 12 and applications are still being accepted.

For more information on the club, call Tom Ford at 624-8716 or Jim Sasena at 349-8317.

Northville Swimmers Tops In Western Six Circuit

The Northville swimmers have been having an easy time of it lately and the defending Western Six champs continued the trend last week with a pair of victories.

Last Tuesday the Mustang tankers travelled to North Farmington and swam right past the host team 104-68.

"We were expecting a close meet that would go right down to the last event, but they suffered injuries and sickness to their key swimmers and that made it easier than we expected," Coach Ben Lauber said.

"We swam well but I think we let up a little when we saw that Farmington was having trouble," noted Lauber.

Northville's 200 yard relay team of Carl Haynie, Matt Sullivan, Randy Roggenbuck and Mark Yanoschik placed first with a time of 1:47.8.

Yanoschik took a pair of firsts in the 50 yard free style and also in the 100 yard.

Jim Cahill finished first in the 200 yard free style and a second for the 500 yard.

Other first place finishers were: Dean Alli in the 200 yard individual medley. Roggenbuck for the 100 yard fly, Haynie in the 100 yard backstroke and Sullivan for the 100 yard breast stroke. Farmington took only two firsts.

The diving team of Joe Devereaux and Scott Knapp finished one and two.

Thursday night Walled Lake Western was drawn by the Northville swimmers 62-21, as Northville finished one-two in seven events.

Realizing that Western was having a rebuilding year Lauber swam several of his younger boys and they responded well.

Matt Sullivan finished first in the 100 yard breast stroke with a time of 1:05.2 which was his best time of the year and 5 seconds off the team record.

Again the diving team of Devereaux and Knapp finished one-two.

The Mustang tankers are well on their way to defending their league championship although they'll have to battle it out with Farmington, Harrison.

The last home swim meet of the year is tomorrow at 7 p.m. against Plymouth Canton. The eight seniors on the squad will be honored.

"They were a good group of seniors and they deserve good support," Lauber said.

The Northville swimmers are 9-1 overall while still undefeated in league action with a 5-0 record.

Registration Slated For Spring Soccer

Northville spring soccer registration will be held at the Scout Building, 215 West Cady, on Saturday, February 7, from 9 to noon.

Registration fee will be eight dollars per boy, which includes shirt and insurance.

The soccer staff is working closely with the baseball program directors to avoid all possible scheduling conflicts.

This year the Northville teams are expanding to accommodate boys in the under-16 age group. To qualify for this category, the applicant must celebrate his 16th birthday after January 2, 1978.

Any girl between the ages of 8 and 12 who is interested in playing soccer should call the recreation department and leave her name and phone number. If sufficient interest is shown, teams will be formed to play other girls' teams in the area.

Canadian Trip Nets Hockey Tie

The Haggerty Lumber Bantam "A" squad traveled to Hamilton, Ontario last weekend and managed a tie out of two games.

Mike Ward scored twice and Carl Kohs and Vince Osborne netted one apiece in the 6-4 defeat.

Osborne and Dave Zabinski got the Haggertys on the board but two short-handed goals by Hamilton enabled the Canadian team to salvage a tie.

Vince Osborne's hat trick provided the momentum for an 8-5 come from behind victory last Tuesday over the Livonia Bruins.

The Lumberman also dropped one to league leader Star-Cutters 2-0 in last week's action. Their record now stands at 16-14-3.

The Belanger Bantam "A" Northville team split a pair of encounters with the Inkster Bantams in the Westland League schedule.

Bill Flood, Pete Cameron and Ty Gray notched goals in the 3-2 victory.

The Belanger Bantams also skated to a 4-1 tie. Flood, Sean Guckin, Mark Rogentik and Mike Coolman picked up the

Dave Boyce, Bob Darrow and Jack McIntosh put the light on for the Northville Perkins Engines' Pee Wees against the Farmington Open Pee Wees.

Darrow had the hat trick two nights in a row in leading the Engines' past Redford 4-3 and Superior Flames 3-1.

The Perkins Engines have raised their record to 13-10-2 and are riding a four game winning streak.

Jim Orlovski scored four times and Keith Sanders,

Scott Swienkowski, and Michael Demeter had two goals as Hamlet Food Mart of Northville rapped the Hawks 14-0.

Hamlet Food Mart split in their other two encounters.

Mustang Wrestlers Eye League Title

Northville wrestlers gained a 33-30 victory over Livonia Churchill Thursday as they prepare for this week's league meet.

Coach Gary Emerson feels his squad has a realistic chance to capture the league crown.

"League standings don't mean a thing; it all depends on how we do in the league meet," Emerson said.

"We are strong in the middle weight classes and if we can pick up some seconds and thirds it could decide the meet," explained Emerson.

In the Churchill match the coach was especially proud of Brian Postma and Marty Johnson as they won for the first time this season, both on pins.

Lance Irey, Rick Bentley and Mike Georgoff also managed pins over their Churchill opponents.

David Bentley in the 121 pound ranks bested Joe Galira 9-5 and Brent Ashby and Dennis Singleton narrowly won on points.

Saturday the grapplers travelled to Holly for a 13 team invitational and placed a disappointing 10th.

"We had bad luck in the draw as we ran into a lot of the first seeds and injuries hurt us," Emerson excused.

"I was very disappointed we didn't win our consolation matches because we really felt we could have finished third," said Emerson.

Singleton and Georgoff did manage third place honors.

Gymnasts' Road Trip Bumpy

A bi-monthly water and sewer billing proposal will go to public hearing on Monday, February 16.

The proposed switch from quarterly to bi-monthly billing requires amendment to the water and sewer rate ordinance — hence the hearing.

Council members suggested the bi-monthly billing to minimize recent cost increases. The new billing procedure is seen as a particular advantage to senior citizens who prefer a smaller bi-monthly bill to the larger quarterly bill.

The switch suggests a reduction of the service charge from $3.60 per quarter to $2.40 bi-monthly "to maintain the service charge at the same annual level," according to City Manager Steven Walters.

Effective date of the switch, if approved, would be April 15.

Testing Is Topic

"The Feasibility of Achievement Testing" for Novi High School students will be the topic next week of discussion at a meeting sponsored by the Novi High School Parent Advisory Council next week.

The meeting will be held in the high school library or commons Wednesday, February 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Richard Watson, Director of Program Evaluation for the Oakland Community Schools and Julia Crowther, director of special education and coordinator of testing for the Novi School District will be on a panel.

College Students Honored

Seven students from the Northville, Novi and Wixom area have been named to the academic honors list at Central Michigan University for the fall, 1975, semester.

In addition, one of them, Juliann M. Yalonen of 30917 Tamarack in Wixom, a senior, is being honored by CMU at Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, for achieving a straight A average for the semester.

Others named for having a cumulative grade average of B or better for their entire college career are:

From Northville, David R. Gloer, 804 Springfield Drive, a freshman; Maureen B. Hussey, 37931 Rhonwood, a senior; Lisa A. Willis, 18273 Jamestown Circle, a junior; From Novi, Leslie A. Pearce, 22905 Telford Drive, a senior;

From Wixom, Kevin J. Nissen, 3055 West Maple, a freshman.

Marianne Crain, a Northville student at Nazareth College, is among the college's 98 students being recognized for academic achievement during the 1975-76 fall semester by being placed on the dean's list.

Dean's listing is awarded to those students who have attained a grade point average of 3.5 or above on a 4. scale for the semester at the college, which is a four-year, co-educational college for the human service professions located in Kalamazoo.

Miss Crain is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Crain of 20667 Lexington Court.

Bradley W. Bateman of Westland is among the outstanding scholars on Alma College's term honors list for the first term of the 1975-76 academic year.

Bateman, a sophomore at Alma and a graduate of Howe (Indiana) Military School, is the son of Mrs. Ellen L. Hamblen of Westland and Francis D. Bateman, Sr. of Northville.

Jean Marie Currie of 21260 Haggerty Road, Northville, a sophomore in the school of arts and social sciences at Lake Superior State College has been named to the dean's list for the term just completed.

Last week, Debbie Bauer from the Novi Police Department explained her job as a dispatcher clerk. On January 29, guest speakers were City Manager Ed Kriewall and Fred Todd, the new finance director. STILL SMILING—Captain's Table Owner Paul Fregolle (right) has taken his lumps at the Drawbridge but he and his new manager, Phil Rongo, are looking for better days ahead at the Captain's Table. One of the reasons is the new specialty of the house, seafood served up in generous portions ... like the lobsters Fregolle is holding.

Captain's Table Eyes Comeback

Remember the Drawbridge?

Owner Paul E. Fregolle would prefer that the dining public would forget Northville's fanciest restaurant by its original name and become reacquainted with The Captain's Table.

Not quite into its fourth year, the converted First Methodist Church building is reeling from three years of losses, a host of complaints and frequent turnovers in management.

The straight-talking Fregolle is making no excuses. He blames himself for most of the problems. And the economy didn't help either.

He says poor management is responsible for the fact that The Drawbridge did $960,000 in business its first year and lost money. It stayed in the red through a second year volume of $770,000 and a third year that will total out at $600,000.

"How can you do nearly a million dollars in a year and lose money?" Fregolle asks himself that question as though he should have the answer. And in fact, he should.

The Southfield-based attorney is no newcomer to the restaurant business. In addition to a thriving law practice the 50-year-old Fregolle is an active stockholder-director of corporations operating restaurants, mobile home developments and a resort hotel.

His Starboard Tack restaurants are located in Farmington, East Lansing, Denver, Las Vegas, Grand Rapids and Saginaw. Mobile home parks accommodating from 160 to 300 units each are in Pontiac, Grand Blanc, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Fort Lauderdale, Denver and Las Vegas with another one slated for Nova Scotia.

And in West Acapulco, Mexico overlooking the bay, there's the 140-room Villa Los Arcos, another Fregolle investment.

As luck would have it, says Fregolle, the Drawbridge... that is, the Captain's Table... was the only business he entered alone without fellow stockholders.

The total development cost him some $800,000. He's got about $290,000 of his own cash into the venture and he's not about to let go. But he isn't hiding the fact that the going is tough.

He paid $125,000 for the church building. Remodeling costs, liquor license, equipment and stock accounted for the remainder. He's getting pressure from his mortgagor, who has started foreclosure proceedings. But Fregolle believes refinancing at more reasonable interest rates can be arranged. Then there's the liquor license payments to be maintained and a little matter of some $18,000 in parking assessment levied by the city.

Can the Captain's Table make it?

Fregolle is confident it can.

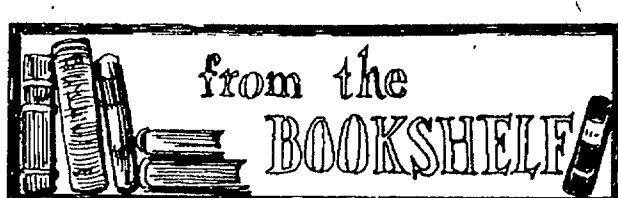

"We lost our credibility because of inept management as the Drawbridge," says Fregolle. "We had to change our name and give ourselves a new look to achieve acceptance again."

He started by hiring Phil Rongo of The Clam Shop on West Grand Boulevard. Rongo brought along Chico, a 72-year-old head chef. "If we can get people in who like seafood, we'll keep them," Fregolle declares.

One of the first steps taken by Rongo was to cut the overhead. Fregolle now figures the break-even point is a volume of $40,000 monthly.

Fregolle, Rongo and their crew are determined to place new emphasis on the customer by providing friendliness, fine food, and improved service at competitive prices.

Another addition has been entertainment for diners.

Petitioner to Appeal

Pasco Greenhouse Rejected

Plans for a greenhouse on an easterly section of property owned by James and Carol Pasco at 42680 Waterford Road were rejected by Northville Township Planning Commission last week.

But the petitioner indicated he would take them before the board of appeals, as he previously had been advised to do.

After voting to recommend that site plans for three temporary greenhouse structures be rejected as not conforming to ordinance requirements, commission member J. Craig Bowlby noted that "it takes a long time for an ice cream parlor to grow into a greenhouse."

This was in reference to the original request by Pasco about two years ago for a zoning change on a portion of the 6.6 acres of the farm at Six Mile and Waterford roads to permit an ice cream parlor.

Area residents objected at public hearing and the request was denied in April, 1975.

Site plans for the greenhouse structures were presented under existing farm use provisions.

Bernard Baldwin made the motion to recommend to the township trustees that they be rejected after George Vilican, planning consultant, who had reviewed the plans, pointed out that proper setbacks were not provided and that the proposed parking lot surfacing and dimensions were not in accordance with township specifications.

Dissenting vote was cast by Kenneth Sewell who pointed out he was voting, not on the request, but on the fact that the request was "improperly submitted before the commission."

"I know of nothing requiring the petitioner to show a plot plan for residential or farm use," he declared, stating that he felt any rejection should come from the building inspector. It was indicated that the commission was rejecting the request so that Pasco could take his plan to the board of appeals and that this method had been worked out earlier in consultation with the supervisor and township attorney.

Vilican warned the commission that he felt Pasco was "still talking a commercial venture and the board of appeals has a right to be concerned."

A public hearing was held by the commission September 30, 1975, to delegate nurseries and growth of plant material for resale from farm use category. At this November meeting the commission recommended the action to the board of trustees.

Pasco, however, already was conducting sales on the property and made his request under existing prior use.

Commission Chairman John Dugan asked fellow members to "recognize we have a 'very unusual situation' with the property which Pasco previously indicated he had purchased with the understanding he would be able to use for business purposes.

"Hopefully," Dugan said, "the situation will be resolved in 30 days" (by channeling it through the board of appeals.)

It was indicated by both Pasco and Vilican that there would be no problem in locating the greenhouses so they would meet set back requirements and that the parking area could be replanned.

It was the planner's suggestion that it be of gravel construction rather than paved to keep the rural look of the area.

Placement of the greenhouses behind an existing barn and garage structure, Pasco told the commission, was to make them less conspicuous to neighbors.

Tuition!

It's Going Up

At Schoolcraft

This Spring

Tuition increases of 18-percent across-the-board have been ordered by the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

The increases become effective with the start on the spring session on April 28.

The new rates, representing the first tuition hike since the fall of 1972, place resident tuition at $13 a credit hour (up from $11), out-of-district $26 (up from $22), and out-of-state $39 (up from $33).

Providing enrollment meets projected estimates, the new rates are expected to increase the current fiscal year operating revenue by $41,122, and next year's revenue by $399,694.

Winter semester tuition rates at Southeastern Michigan community colleges range from $11 to $13.75 in-district; $18 to $24 out-of-district; and $18 to $36 out-of-state.

The increases were consistent with those recommended by the Student Senate.

The Senate further recommended investigation of all departments and areas of the college to effect savings in money and time, asking district voters for a .5 mill increase in operating millage, and gaining board and administrative support in forming a student government coalition in Southeastern Michigan for lobbying and promoting the importance of community colleges.

Letter and resolution from Northville Driving Club in which they state that they intend to sell Lots 175b, 176 and 170 of Assessors Plat No. 2 for $16,500, to the City of Northville with the condition that the land is to be used for the construction of a parking structure within five years from date of transfer to the City.

Councilman Follino suggested publishing the new bus schedule in the Record.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: Charles Toussaint, 528 Horton, was present and asked Council what has been done to alleviate the problem of through traffic on Horton.

Councilman Vernon responded by telling of the 8 Mile and Center St widening project soon to be started and the study that is underway on a by-pass road to connect Griswold with Novi Rd.

Toussaint suggested that Horton be barricaded at one end. He added that the No Left Turn signs on 8 Mile are not helping during evening hours when traffic comes through.

Councilman Vernon noted that the residents he has talked with have said that the signs have reduced through traffic considerably. He called for a traffic counter to be installed north of the Kroger lot and south of Baseline on Horton, during the hours the traffic supposedly is the greatest (6 to 11 p.m.).

Councilman Johnston suggested that the hours could be extended on the No Left Turn signs.

Council to decide on what action to take after the results of the traffic count are in.

Mr. Toussaint mentioned that several houses and some businesses have not shovelled their walks, specifically The Captains Table, and asked why the ordinance on this is not being enforced.

Councilman Vernon replied that there was a problem but that a new method will be implemented and action taken to resolve this.

Councilman Follino added that the Community Service Officer has been issuing warnings and if this doesn't bring action a violation is issued.

Mr. Toussaint pointed out that some of the stores are out of the bed in front of the Captains Table and could result in damage or injury if a car should hit one.

This will be checked into.

FLAMMABLE LIQUIDS ORDINANCE: An ordinance to control the sale of flammable liquids by unauthorized persons and to require licensing of those who handle such liquids was introduced.

Councilman Vernon recommended that the ordinance be placed into approved containers. It was also decided not to require licensing of all those who handle such liquids in their work, but to concentrate on service stations. Action February 9th, and it will be reviewed again next meeting.

Food and beverage to regulate the sale of food at gas stations was discussed. Councilman Johnston called for publication and set public hearing for February 2nd on the amendment to the Food Establishment Ordinance, Chapter 3, Title 3.

Carried unanimously.

SUPER SEWER: No further information was available.

DETROIT WATER RATE HIKE: Letter from Livonia Mayor McNamara advising of a meeting February 9th to consider action on the water and sewer rates.

•Did You Know That The CNP-Y Program Began in 1962?

Actually, a formal charter was obtained in 1961 and the Y incorporated after a group of Plymouth citizens initiated the idea. The first community Y program was started in 1962 with the Y Indian Guides for fathers and sons and Hi-Y for high school youth. A fulltime director was hired in 1971 and more classes started. It became the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA in 1973. This year there are up to 16 different classes being offered daily in CNP-Y programs.

•What Is The CNP-Y Doing?

These programs include classes in creative movement for preschoolers, women's slim and trim fitness and aerobic dancing; yoga, Scottish folk dancing, conversational French, quilting, dried flower arranging, greenhouse classes, beginning photography, guitar, creative dance, soft sculpture, creative stitchery, beginning art and nature, beginning drawing, craft variety, water color painting; tapestry weaving, quilting, self-awareness, racketball, paddleball, basketball skills, men's gym night, youth ballet and karate.

In addition, the CNP-Y is conducting these community services: Hypertension Screening; SEMTA Van Service; The Indian Programs.

•Where Is The CNP-Y Going?

The Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA is presently limited to what it can offer because it is dependent upon schools, churches and other organizations such as the Plymouth Community Credit Union for space for classes. The CNP-Y would like a permanent site—perhaps just a large room or building to start. There is a need to provide a larger variety of classes in the future, including swimming and tennis. There is a need for a place where the whole family can go to take advantage of what the Y can offer. And there is, we believe, a need in the community to promote the goals of YMCA: to strengthen family relationships; enrich individual lives, provide physical fitness, offer opportunities for growth and Christian fellowship.

Won't You Help the CNP-Y Attain Its Goal?

You can by joining the CNP-Y and taking part in its programs. Or if you believe in the Christian concepts and enrichment goals of YMCA and just want to help financially—you can do that, too! All gifts are tax deductible.

Year of Dragon to Bring Peace?

BY NANCY DINGELDEY

With the ending of the month of January we can look forward, lucky people, to a good three months yet remaining with snow shovels, boots and watching the piles of snow mount by the roadside. Just think what it will be like when it all melts.

January 31 also brought to a close the Chinese "year of the rabbit"...and just in case you wish to add to a handy list of trivia...February 1 is the beginning of the "year of the dragon", 4674 according to the Chinese calendar. Chinese legend says the dragon breathes beneficence, not fire, and the year should be one of peace and prosperity. By the end of 1976 we'll see just how well Chinese legend is at predicting the future.

If the Bicentennial Committee keeps working the way it has been for the past several weeks, 1976 should be a good year for Wixom. Plans for the entire year are being formulated with the "big show" scheduled for July 4. With a considerable amount of enthusiasm and effort coming from all sections of the city, the "fourth" should be a day of fun and activity for everyone. Parks and Recreation is planning the dedication ceremonies of Wixom's new parkland, the site of festivities, to start the day in bang-up style. The Police and Fire Departments, Goodfellows, V.F.W., Scouts and all subdivisions within the city will take part in planning the "shindig" with the hopes that the people of Wixom will plan on spending the entire day...in much the same way that celebration was done in the past.

Of course, all the plans are not yet down to the nitty-gritty but there has been a tremendous exchange of ideas, leading to more ideas. More information on the Fourth as well as all other events taking place during the year will be forthcoming.

Wishing, I'm sure, for a tape recorder (with necessary earplug) playing the soft rustle of palm trees and the crashing of the surf are three recently returned Hawaiian tans. The six-some, leaving Wixom's dreary white for the dazzling colors of the islands were Helen and Dave Shwanky, Doris and Frank Muczinski, both of Hopkins Drive, and Mary and Jerry Pastula of Glengary Road.

And such fun they had sloshing in the surf, basking in the sun and, according to Mary, eating, eating, eating. The couples did not stay together constantly during their two weeks respite from the sub-zero climes. Rather they chose to go their own ways meeting in specified places for a day or two, discussing where they'd been and what they'd seen and then going off again in their own directions. They agreed it was the way to go.

Mary and Jerry had probably one of the most exciting moments during a tour of the famous and popular volcanos on Hawaii.

While inside the Moana Loa volcano with the steam rising "and all that good stuff", the "outside world" was having an earthquake measuring 5.5 on the seismograph. Jerry said they didn't know anything was happening and didn't feel a thing. It was not until they came out of the volcano and saw the needles on the charts going a little crazy that they asked what was going on.

As policemen and since they seemed to be so taken with the islands I asked Dave and Jerry if they hadn't applied to "Hawaii Five-O" for employment. Ahhh, it wasn't that they hadn't thought of it, even fleetingly, but the waiting lines are miles long...even for the guys paddling the outriggers.

For Lakes Area

Wixom Eyes Hospital Plans

In an apparent effort to investigate all avenues in securing hospital facilities for residents of the lakes area, officials of Wixom, Walpole, Milford, and Wolverine Lake Village met recently to discuss the possibilities and methods to meet those needs. Other supportive communities unable to attend the meeting were the townships of Commerce, Highland, White Lake and Milford.

The meeting came as a result of various municipalities in the area being contacted by the Huron Valley Hospital asking endorsement of a resolution marking them the choice to provide hospital services in the lakes area. Only actual hold-outs in making any type of statement were Wixom and Wolverine Lake Village. Wixom Mayor Val Vangieson said the "veil of secrecy" surrounding the Huron Valley Hospital operation made the Wixom council skeptical and they refused to make the endorsement.

According to sketchy information regarding the Huron Valley group, it apparently involves a home builder who wants to build the hospital and an unnamed financial backer. The builder, Stan Berger, admittedly knows nothing about hospitals or how to run them. Just who would provide the additional financial support or how funds would be raised to see the hospital through to completion was undisclosed by Berger.

The Huron Valley Hospital has been actively seeking the endorsement of the eight communities since it is a necessary first step, in applying and receiving the "certificate of need" awarded by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan. Once this certificate is awarded, the politically consolidated unit as drawn up by the health council is "locked up" meaning no other hospital group could make an equal proposal in the area.

After examining the situation, administrators from the local governments took the stand "that all interested parties should be heard" saying they did not want to rush head-long into what might possibly become a regrettable situation.

Feeling that expertise and valuable assistance from already established health care institutions was a step in the right direction, the local officials jointly agreed to contact any and all such institutions that might be interested in building a hospital in the lakes area. Each will have an individual night in which to discuss their methods and proposed services for the area.

In the meeting Thursday night hosted by Wolverine Village, Robert Peoples and James Lane representing Detroit Osteopathic Hospital discussed the feasibility of establishing a hospital in this area.

In a very open discussion one point was clearly obvious. Said Lane, "Health care is big business — beware the marketer in the health care field." He suggested very strongly that the group look in all directions very carefully before making a decision. He further stated "that the certificate of need shows only the desires of the community to actively support one particular hospital group. The Health Planning Council and the ultimate Department of Health have stringent rules applied to hospitals but are not too concerned as to which entity is chosen to build and run the facility."

The costs involved in building a hospital are no small thing, Lane cautioned. A conservative figure of $30,000 per bed is involved in erecting the hospital with $150 per day to operate. For the first 90 days of operation $1,000,000 in operating capital is an absolute necessity. Lane estimated that after receiving the certificate of need it would take 18 months to 2 years to open ambulatory facilities with inpatient facilities requiring three-and-one-half to four years to complete.
