Valentines Forever

Valentine's Day isn't just for kids; nor is it only for young lovers. It fits any age just as well. Take Alice and Harvey Ritchie, for example.

Valentine's Day is a special time for them. They have pledged to be sweethearts forever, and come next Saturday they will have been married exactly 30 years.

It was in 1946, just after World War II, that The Record reported: "Alice Chrustawka and Harvey P. Ritchie were married in a quiet ceremony on Thursday, February fourteenth, in the Presbyterian church house. Dr. J. Leslie French officiated at the seven o'clock ceremony."

Today, on the eve of their 30th anniversary, Alice and Harvey are still Valentine's Day sweethearts. They are also grandparents, having one son and one grandchild. Alice is a long-time employee of the City of Northville, and Harvey, former owner of a laundry business here, works for The Record.

A POLICE DEPARTMENT request for additional funds and police car bids consideration are among the matters to come up tomorrow (Thursday) at the regular meeting of the Northville Township Board. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

A REQUEST from the Plymouth Calvary Baptist Church to temporarily use several classrooms here is being studied by Northville school officials.

SPECIAL EDUCATION classes for institutionalized retarded children are expected to begin next Monday. Initial instruction at Cooke Middle School, however, is expected to be limited and the program may not become fully functional there until later in the month.

A LEAVE of absence has been granted Mrs. Nancy Larson, and Mrs. Barbara Massoll, a pink-slipped teacher, has been reinstated to replace an instructor who has been assigned to Northville's alternative school program.

DEVELOPMENT of an easement agreement is underway between the Northville school system and owners of property on Taft Road immediately east of the school bus compound. A five unit apartment complex is planned on Taft, and the owners are seeking permission to tap into the school's sewer line and to run storm water across school property.

Site Eyed for U.S. Solar Center

A proposal to establish the nation's new solar energy research center in Northville Township was disclosed yesterday in Detroit.

Preliminary plans surfaced Tuesday morning when the Michigan Energy & Resource Research Association (MERRA), a state agency, identified two Wayne County owned parcels of land, including one in Northville, as being considered for the proposed multi-million dollar U.S. research laboratory.

The site under consideration here is that portion of the Wayne County Child Development Center located west of Sheldon Road between Five and Six Mile roads.

Wayne County owns approximately 500 acres of land stretching all the way to Beck Road on the west.

Lease negotiations between the county and Sacred Heart Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center continue, meanwhile, for that portion of the Child Development Center located on the east side of Sheldon Road where the township hall is also located.

The Child Development Center is no longer operating, and most of the property has been vacated, though it is still owned by the county.

MERRA, established by Governor William Milliken, to explore possible new sources of energy for the state, reportedly has given the Northville site top priority. The other site under consideration is located in the City of Romulus.

"We think it (Northville site) has excellent potential for a development such as this," the county's planning director, Francis Bennett, told The Record.

According to Bennett, MERRA is especially interested in attracting the research center to Michigan because of the employment potential as the spinoff energy benefits it represents to Michigan industry and to the state's economy.

Besides MERRA, at least one other Michigan agency — the University of Michigan — is known to be bidding for the center which is to be built somewhere in the United States within the next few years.

Proposals are being accepted by the federal government's Energy Research & Development Administration (ERDA), an arm of the former Atomic Energy Commission which is now engaged in search for new energy technology in the United States.

"There will be no other laboratory like it in the United States," said Bennett. "And we think Southeastern Michigan is a natural location for it. Northville is especially suited because of its proximity to two major expressways now under construction (I-96-I-275 and M-14)."

John Mogk, president of the non-profit MERRA, and Henry V. Bohm, the agency's proposal manager, told county officials that the new national solar energy center would, when totally developed, employ a force of 1,500 persons — half of whom would be scientific personnel.

The facility would require some 400,000 square feet of floor space. It would be located ideally upon 300 acres of land. Cost of the federal development, which because of the nation's energy shortages is receiving strong Executive and Congressional backing, is put at $20,000,000.

Basic purpose of the solar energy center, this newspaper learned, will be to study and develop solar energy systems that can be economically used by industry and the government.

"Obviously, ERDA will choose that site which is the most attractive — economically and strategically located," said Bennett.

"And from that standpoint we think Wayne County has a good chance. The fact that the property is owned by the county and could be made available at a nominal lease price (it probably would not be sold, although that, too, is a possibility) and that it is located in a large population center, close to expressways, airports, rails and educational and research institutions gives us (Wayne) a big plus."

Competition for the center will be stiff, predicted Bennett. A lot of other states would like to have it, he added.

Target cutoff for submission of proposals to ERDA is April 15, and the state is anxious to sew up a commitment early with the county. Mogk, incidentally, is the "walking candidate" who criss-crossed Detroit a few years ago in an unsuccessful bid for mayor.

Ninth Grade Pared from High School

Elimination of the overcrowding conditions at the high school has cost Northville its highly touted middle school concept for at least the next four years.

Following a review of findings from a short but intensive study of grade restructuring, the board of education Monday unanimously approved a comprehensive plan calling for the removal of the ninth grade from the high school and shifting it to the middle school level where it is to be grouped with grades seven and eight.

The sixth grade is to be shifted from the middle school to the elementary grade level.

The restructured grade system is to be implemented next fall, and school officials are predicting it will be continued at least through 1980 so as to avoid overcrowding at the high school through that period.

"It destroys our definition of the true middle school concept," admitted Superintendent Raymond Spear in recommending the grade restructuring as the most economical, least disruptive space problem solver.

Northville's 5-3-4 grade structure thus becomes a 6-3-3 structure. The district has operated the 5-3-4 structure since 1964. Prior to that date it was 6-2-4.

Implementation next fall means both of the district's middle schools must be used, and that means the special education program about to begin at Cooke Middle School cannot be continued there next year.

Current plans under the 5-3-4 structure call for local use of all of the district's schools except for Main Street Elementary and the Cooke Annex. What happens to Main Street and the Annex is to be the subject of a citizen's committee study to begin soon.

Three grade structures were examined by school officials in determining the best possible solution, explained the superintendent. These included the present 6-3-3, 5-3-4 and 5-2-2-3.

The latter would have meant that one of Northville's middle schools would house sixth and seventh grades and the other would house eighth and ninth grades. This arrangement, officials concluded, "is not considered to be educationally sound because of numbers, staffing and potential program offerings."

In looking at the existing structure, officials reviewed population projections and concluded that with the present grade structure "we are not only over capacity in grades 9 - 12 at this time, but will remain over capacity in the high school with a 9 - 12 program through 1980-81 at a minimum."

"This being the case, it is the position of the administration that the ninth grade must, for expediency purposes primarily, be removed from the high school, (thus destroying) the appropriateness of further consideration of the maintenance of a 5-3-4 program."

Continued the superintendent in formulating his recommendation, "Although there are some mixed feelings about our current grade structure, the administrative staff in general supports, for educational reasons primarily, a 5-3-4 organizational structure and regrets the necessity of a likely recommendation that the grade structure

New City-Township Fire Pact Nearing

A mutually satisfactory fire service agreement appears likely in the wake of Thursday's joint meeting of the Northville Township Board and the Northville City Council.

Also present for the meeting were representatives of the fire department and the Northville Recreation Department.

Officials of the two bodies met at the township hall to primarily discuss a proposed new fire service pact which, if approved, would become operable April 1.

In addition, officials discussed briefly the proposed new recreation department budget. Concerning this budget, about the only conclusions made was that the increase "is too big."

Biggest hangup over the fire service agreement draft concerned the section dealing with "equipment purchases." Township Trustee Richard Mitchell insisted that the wording be modified so as not to confuse "equipment" with vehicular purchases. Intent of the section, according to City Manager Steven Walters, is to permit budget purchases of fire department supplies without the necessity of individual approval of each.

Specifically, the section in question reads:

"Equipment purchases: the township agrees to reimburse the city for one-half (1/2) of the cost of all equipment purchased for the department. It is understood and agreed that purchase of equipment will be a normal part of the department's annual expenses; provided, that the city will furnish the township each year with a copy of the proposed fire budget at least thirty (30) days prior to the city's budget hearing, to afford the township an opportunity to comment on it; and provided further, that the city will consult with the township before purchasing any fire equipment in excess of the city's annual budget appropriation therefor."

The new contract, as does the present one, would mean that the township would be paying for fire service supplied by the city fire department.

Basically, it provides that "the city (will) respond with all due diligence, to any fire calls emanating from the township, to the Northville City Police Department, with equipment normally used in connection with such calls, and with such personnel as respond to the fire siren, and/or such other device as may be used to notify the fire department personnel of such fires."

Aside from the equipment purchases section, among other cost-sharing provisions are:

- Direct operating costs. The township will reimburse the city for all operating costs directly assignable to township fires and township fire equipment, including volunteer wages and fringe benefits for firemen while fighting township fires; supplies used in fighting township fires; and repair and maintenance of fire vehicles owned wholly by the township.
- Employers' lost man-hours. To partially compensate employers for permitting employees to leave work to fight fires it is agreed that both the city and township will reimburse these employers for the wage and fringe benefits costs of those employee manhours paid but lost as a result of fire calls.
- Equipment storage. The township agrees to reimburse the city for use of its facilities to house equipment owned by

Minister To Speak

A program on transactional analysis will be presented by the Highland Lakes Women's Club at 1 p.m. Thursday, February 19. The meeting will be held at the Highland Lake's Clubhouse.

Featured speaker for the afternoon program will be Pastor Frederick Prezioso, a teacher at Schoolcraft College. He is a graduate of Syracuse University and the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia. According to Prezioso, transactional analysis is a new way of working with and helping people.

All community women are cordially invited to attend the lecture which is offered at no charge.

'New Morning' Sets Open House

New Morning School, a cooperative elementary school for children ages 5-12, invites interested parents, children, and educators to attend its annual open house.

The open house will be held Sunday, February 15, 3-5 p.m. at 41390 Five Mile Road.

New Morning School is committed to the concepts of individualized learning.

Clarke to Fill Library Vacancy

A. Russell Clarke has been named to fill a one-year vacancy on the Northville Library Advisory Commission.

Officers for the year were elected last week by the commission at its February meeting.

Mrs. Charles Ayers succeeds Mrs. William Sliger as chairman with Jay D. Wendt serving as vice chairman. Mrs. Albert Wiegand is secretary. The commission, composed of city and township residents, plans several studies, including a search for a new, permanent location for the library.

A Man Pleaser

There will be plenty of good eating at the Northville Historical Society dinner dance, officers promise, pointing out that Chairman Jo Ann Kissel, (center), has come up with a "man pleasing dessert" for the occasion. Here Mrs. Kissel and Jo Ann Harris, wife of the Society president, get ready to sample pieces of the fruit pie topped with ice cream served up here by David LaGarce of the Plymouth Hilton Inn. See Jean Day's In Our Town for details.

Seventh Annual Production

For the seventh year Northville area children will have an opportunity to see live drama as the Northville and Plymouth branches of the American Association of University Women present "Cinderella."

It will be given February 28 at 10 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m. at Northville High School. Skits featuring a scene from the play will be presented to school children next Monday. Tickets will be sold February 17-19 in all elementary schools. Admission is 60 cents. To order tickets by phone call 348-9038.

Beginning February 20 tickets may be purchased at Del's Shoes in Northville.

Sherry Unger of Northville, cast as Prince Charming, has one of the leading roles in the production.

Other Northville residents responsible for the play's success are: Karen Olson, Northville ticket chairman; Lucia Danes, set and program design; Terry Secord, Northville production manager; Karen Strong, luncheon chairman; Mary Pearson, luncheon co-chairman and Shari Clason, usher chairman.

The cast and crew for "Cinderella" are under the direction of Laura Badendieck of Plymouth. Children from three local institutions will be special guests at the benefit performance February 19 at Plymouth Salem High School.

Almost 200 children from Our Lady of Providence, The Plymouth Center for Human Development and Hawthorn Center will attend.

Economics Today Subject of Talk

Economics today and in the future will be the subject of a meeting Wednesday, February 18, of the economic facts of life study committee of the Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Speaker for the 8 p.m. meeting will be Prantosh Nag, an economics instructor at Schoolcraft Community College.

Nag holds an undergraduate degree from Calcutta University and a master's degree from the University of Minnesota.

His talk, which will be held at one of the study committee members' homes, is titled "Understanding Economics Today with a View to the Future." AAUW members interested in attending the meeting should call Jane Rodgers, committee chairman, at 476-1708 for details on the meeting place.

The economics facts of life study committee is examining the problem of increasing demands on world resources with the ever decreasing food supplies.

The group is also attempting to combat "middle man costs" through a food distribution chain, Mrs. Rodgers added.

Jaycee Auxiliary Seeks Woman of the Year

By JEAN DAY

SOMEONE SPECIAL—that could be your Valentine this weekend, but it's also a woman Northville Jaycee Auxiliary is seeking to be its Woman of the Year.

"It's the quality of her involvements rather than quantity that we're looking for. We're really trying to stress this on the applications for somebody can be a 'paper member' and have a quantity of memberships," explains Sharon Lang, co-chairman of the search with Mary McLeod.

Applications have been sent to local organizations, but the auxiliary points out that individuals may nominate a friend, neighbor or teacher living in the Northville area. Application forms are available from Lesa Buckland, 349-0773, and must be submitted by March 5 with judging to be March 11.

Northville's fifth Woman of the Year and the Bicentennial year recipient will join Bea Carlson, Pearl Weber, Pat Wright and Annalee Mathes who previously have been honored.

Former Northville councilwoman Bea Carlson was the first and was cited for her civic activities and beautification leadership. Pearl Weber as band parent president instituted the practice of sending the marching band at Northville High to summer band camp. Both Pat Wright and Annalee Mathes are strong League of Women Voters workers, donating time to many school and civic activities.

Mrs. Lang urges anyone filling out nominations for the 1976 Woman of the Year to go into detail so that judges will know the depth of the involvements.

A tea will be held in the Woman of the Year's honor the first week in April at the new home of Jane Dugan in Northville Commons. She is working on the committee with Carol Swienkowski and Judy Sinkwitz.

The Plymouth Hilton management has pledged that there will be ample staff on hand for the event, Mrs. Kissel reports, as she hopes the entire community will consider helping the historical village this way.

By this week several groups were making table plans as neighbors and clubs reserved tickets. It really should be a Bicentennial Ball to remember.

PLYMOUTH'S HISTORICAL Society and the Museum Board will hold the formal opening of the Plymouth Historical Museum in the Dunning Memorial Building from 8 to 10 p.m. this Friday. Refreshments and festivities are planned for the happy event for which invitations were sent the end of January.

AS A MEMBER of the Nomad Flying Club Northville's Dr. R. G. Wetterstroem had the pleasure of leaving negative-15 degree temperatures in Detroit February 2 and four-and-a-half hours later finding himself enjoying a tropical 86-degree temperature in San Andres.

"A nice breeze," he mentions, provided air conditioning on the Caribbean island off the coast of Nicaragua 21,000 miles south of Detroit. The little island belonging to Colombia, Dr. Wetterstroem adds, is typical of the unusual location of many of the Nomad trips.

The trip also was a club milestone as it marked the first time that hot meals were served enroute on the Conair. Dr. Wetterstroem, a club member for five years, reports, "It's a delightful way to travel."

There are some positive side effects to being "grounded" at home with a virus. Mrs. John MacDonald, for instance, supplied the following excellent report on Monday's meeting of the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association held at the home of Mrs. Harry Hartshorne:

DR. GILBERT LEVEILLE, Michigan State University dean of food science and human nutrition, speaking on nutrition as it pertains to heart disease, told garden club members his talk might be considered "tips on how to save your husband's life."

Calling cardio-vascular disease the No. 1 cause of death, he listed 10 "risk" factors, including age, sex, heredity, obesity, smoking (tripling the chance), elevated blood pressure, elevated blood cholesterol, stress, hypertension and diabetes.

He advocated a preventive diet of "watching what you eat" but warned this doesn't mean using crash dieting. Maintaining normal weight through a good exercise program that opens new blood vessels and careful eating of the right foods were termed most important.

His suggestions for a preventive diet:

Reduce fat intake with lean cuts of meat trimmed of fat.

Eat eggs in moderation, no more than two or three a week.

Plan a moderate amount of fiber foods — cereal such as oatmeal and vegetables.

Reduce salt intake.

Use only a moderate amount of sugar.

Pointing out that fewer calories consumed in relation to the number burned causes weight loss, the speaker assured his audience that all this can be done without changing one's lifestyle.

Peruvian Delight

As members of host family look on, Dora Consuelo Espinoza Munoz prepares a Peruvian stew that local residents might like to sample. (See recipe). Looking on are Mrs. John Morgan, Christian, and John III.

Family Hosts South American

Food Is International Bridge

John and Christian Morgan, 11 and 13-year-old boys, respectively, of the John Morgans of 41211 Llewellyn, have had a "big sister" since January 10.

That's when Dora Consuelo Espinoza Munoz, 21, of Lima, Peru, arrived to be their house guest on a Lions International Youth Exchange.

She is one of five Peruvian visitors brought to the Detroit area in a program of the Northwest Lions Club in which John Morgan is a member.

The Morgan family is experienced in entertaining foreign guests as they hosted Japanese visitors on the same program two years ago.

They have found, Mrs. Morgan reports, that food is an international "bridge" to other cultures. Dora already has cooked a Peruvian meal for her hosts that was a big success.

"It was similar to a stew with chicken and the meat, and while it was like Mexican food, it wasn't so spicy," explains Mrs. Morgan, adding that it included raisins.

The Morgans in return have taken Dora to El Nibble Nook, an area Mexican restaurant, which their visitor appreciated.

Dora also has been helping Mrs. Morgan teach her eighth grade class at Livonia Ford Junior High School as well as a Spanish class of another teacher, Marge Sebastian.

Dora has visited John's fifth grade class at Orchard Hills School in Novi, and is taking a ceramics class with Mrs. Morgan. She spoke last Wednesday in English to the host Lions Club and will visit the Leader Dog School in Rochester.

Ann Arbor, the Top of the Pontchartrain and Greenfield Village also are on the Morgans' agenda for their guests. They're hoping to include everything before Dora leaves on the 22nd or 29th of this month.

Their Valentine for Dora this weekend is Toronto. That's a "must."

ESTOFADO DE POLLO
3 tablespoons oil
2 teaspoons salt
1 medium onion-diced
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon cumin
½ teaspoon paprika
1 clove garlic, minced
2 lbs. chicken
2 large carrots-diced
6 potatoes-sliced
4 tomatoes-peeled and cut up
1 cup fresh peas
½ cup raisins
1 pound rice-cooked

In a dutch oven combine oil, salt, onion, pepper, cumin, paprika and garlic. Cook for three minutes, stirring while cooking. Add the chicken and carrots and tomato. Stir while chicken is browning.

After the chicken is browned, add enough water to cover the chicken. Bring to a boil. Add the potatoes, peas, and raisins. Cover the pot and cook over medium heat until the chicken is done. Serve over hot rice.

This recipe serves four, reports the Peruvian visitor, who adds that other meats may be substituted.

Chocolate Sponge Roll

Here's Sweet Kitchen Valentine

"Be My Valentine" can be said with a frilly card, flowers or sweets.

Here's a glamorous cake roll with coconut-pecan filling that's a man-pleaser as it's the daughter of a very famous cake.

This German sweet chocolate sponge roll was inspired by German sweet chocolate cake. It is a buttery-rich mild chocolate.

SWEET CHOCOLATE SPONGE ROLL

1 pkg. (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate
¼ c. water
2 Tbsp. butter or margarine
¼ tsp. baking soda
¾ c. sifted cake flour
¾ tsp. double-acting baking powder
½ tsp. salt
5 eggs (at room temperature)
One-third c. granulated sugar
Confectioners sugar
Coconut-pecan filling
Combine chocolate, water and butter in saucepan; stir over low heat until mixture is well blended and smooth. Remove from heat and stir in soda. Cool. (Do not allow chocolate mixture to become too thick or set.)

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs in large bowl at high speed of electric mixer or with rotary beater, adding granulated sugar gradually and beating until mixture becomes fluffy, thick, and light colored.

Sift flour mixture over egg mixture and carefully fold in until blended. Then gradually fold in cooled chocolate mixture. Do not overmix. (Batter should be smooth and fluffy.)

Pour into 15x10-inch jelly roll pan, which has been greased on bottom and sides, then lined on bottom with wax paper and greased again.

Bake at 350 degrees for 18 to 20 minutes.

Turn cake out onto cloth, which has been sprinkled lightly with confectioners sugar. Quickly remove paper and trim off crisp edges of cake. Starting with short side, loosely roll up cake, rolling cloth up in cake. Place on rack with open edge down and cool about one hour.

When cool, unroll, spread with desired filling and roll up again, leaving end of cake underneath. Sprinkle with additional confectioners sugar.

If using Fluffy Coconut Filling, refrigerate until ready to serve.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Choose either the coconut-pecan or the fluffy coconut filling:

COCONUT-PECAN FILLING

1 c. evaporated milk
1 c. sugar
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
½ c. butter or margarine
1 tsp. vanilla
1 & one-third c. (about) flaked coconut

1 c. chopped pecans

Combine milk, sugar, egg yolks, butter and vanilla in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens, about 12 minutes. Remove from heat. Add coconut and pecans.

Cool until of spreading consistency, beating occasionally. Makes about 2½ cups or enough to fill a 15x10-inch cake roll.

FLUFFY COCONUT FILLING

½ c. COLD milk
½ tsp. vanilla
1 envelope whipped topping mix
¾ c. flaked coconut

Combine milk, vanilla and whipped topping mix in deep narrow-bottom bowl; add coconut and blend thoroughly. Whip with rotary beater or at high speed of electric mixer until filling peaks. Continue whipping until filling is light, fluffy, and fully whipped, about 2 minutes longer.

Tint with a few drops of pink food coloring, if desired. Makes about 1½ cups, or enough to fill a 15x10-inch cake roll.

PTA Council Salutes Founder's Day

Founder's Day, commemorating the organization of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers on February 17, 1897 in Washington, D.C. is being observed in Northville by the PTA Council.

Local PTA's, according to coordinating council president Sharon DeAlexandris, will be donating books of historical content to the elementary school and middle school libraries as part of the national state-wide observance.

The books will contain a special bookplate for each of the schools.

Actually, presentation of the books serves the dual purpose of pointing up Founder's Day and of recognizing the nation's Bicentennial observance.

Celebration of Founders' Day was conceived in 1910 by Mrs. David O. Mears, one of the original members of the first Congress of Mothers, and its observance has been a part of the parent-teacher program since that time.

The National PTA, according to Mrs. DeAlexandris, has been very active in the legislative arena supporting several pieces of legislation having PTA priorities Among these is the Child and Family Services Act (S626; HR2966), whose purpose is "to provide a variety of quality child and family services in order to assist parents who request such services, with priority to those pre-school children and families with the greatest need..."

Board Agonizes

The issue of how much additional millage should be requested of voters by the Novi School Board weighed heavily on the minds of school board members and Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz as the board met last week. The board finally decided to request renewal of 9½ mills plus an additional 3½ mills for two years. The decision came following a long debate by the board in the meeting which lasted past 12:30 a.m.

To Combat Deficit and Open High School

Novi Schools to Request 3½ Mills

Placing its faith in the people, Novi School Board Monday approved an April 12 millage request for 9½-mill renewal and 3½ additional mills for two years for general operating expense.

Need for additional millage became abundantly clear two weeks ago when the school administration revealed a proposed budget for the 1976-77 school year with a $200,000 built-in deficit. Even throwing in the unused, non-liquid fund equity of $140,000, the district still would have been in a deficit situation.

The proposed budget, excluding added millage, shows the district receiving $3,888,000 while disbursements will total $4,088,000. The disbursements will be approximately $375,000 more than the current estimated expenditure for the 1975-76 school year.

The difference is caused by added teacher salaries, as well as increased costs for utilities. The program would not be increased, but does include an additional teacher, bus driver, and the utilization of several teachers an extra hour each day.

Originally the school district recommended 2½ mills for 5 years to be placed on the ballot. However, that amount would not have been enough to operate the new high school and, thusly, the school board would have had to come back to the voters for approval of another millage in order to open the school in 1977.

With only the 2½ mills, the administration anticipated that the 1977-78 school year would end with a $183,000 deficit which would cause a fund equity of minus $50,000. Board member Robert

Wilkins noted that if the school district fails to approve any additional millage, despite the fact the legislature will allow deficit financing by school districts for the next two years, "the third year down the row, it will be the Grand Canyon."

Clouthing the issue is a portion of the State Aid Act which guarantees in the 1976-77 school year school districts 106 percent of the current school year's income from state aid and per pupil taxes. That measure is intended to negate losses from the new single business tax which removes inventories of all businesses from the tax rolls.

However, while the act gives school districts money on the one hand, it also is saying that any added millage locally will merely replace the state subsidy. Thus the school district could levy 1.8 mills, negating the state subsidy, and the deficit would not be decreased.

However, the approved 3½ mill additional millage request anticipates that the state is going to change the act so that school districts will not be penalized if they receive additional millage locally. The board was in vocal agreement that if the state act is not changed, it would not levy 2½ mills the first year in order to make only a small actual millage increase due to loss in state subsidy.

The school district may levy only 2½ mills the first year and then increase the amount to 3½ mills the second year when the operations money for the new high school is needed. Or, the administration indicated, it could levy 3½ mills the first year, invest the "second mill," and reduce the levy the second year.

Member James Helmer agreed it would be best to ask for a single larger millage now, rather than having to go back to the voters a second time within a year.

He added that "I would like to see us take some economy measures."

Board member Terrance Jolly indicated the district should not keep going back to the voters for millage and "committing suicide" by doing so. He also said that by not levying or asking for the needed millage, "the board would be letting down the Needs Assessment Committee II which indicated programs the district should undertake in the future."

"I'm going to try and

Dropping His Guard

Raymond Suarez, co-owner of the Fun Center Amusement Arcade on Novi Road, takes a moment from his activities to demonstrate why he feels no guard is necessary at the establishment. He and his partner are taking the city to court in an attempt to strike down portions of the ordinance requiring a licensed guard on duty at all times the arcade is open. The arcade has received a temporary restraining order stopping the city from enforcing that portion of the ordinance.

Arcade Fights Guard Law

Charging that a city ordinance is discriminatory and causing "irreparable damage," owners of the new Fun Center Arcade are seeking a permanent injunction to stop the city from requiring a guard on the premises during business hours.

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge James Thorburn last week issued a temporary restraining order to stop the city from enforcing the ordinance against the owners of the arcade, Sanford Sulkes and Raymond Suarez, both of Detroit. Formerly known as the Fun Factory under different ownership, the arcade is located in the Roman Plaza on Novi Road north of Grand River.

The suit is aimed at two points of the ordinance. One requires a guard on the premises during business hours. The ordinance also allows revocation of license if there is any gambling on the premise — defined as the winning of anything of value, including free games, as a result of the operation of a pinball machine.

Attorney Paul Nida, representing owners Sulkes and Suarez, pointed out that arcades are "the only type of business in Novi where a guard is required and it's expensive."

Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole explained that the ordinance is necessary because "arcades are a source of trouble unless they are made to live up completely the ordinance."

"Unless the ordinance sets forth regulations, can you imagine an arcade where they can drink, use narcotics, and hang around," asked the police chief.

The lawsuit contends there is discrimination, however, because the ordinance does not require guard service in "bars, restaurants, or other enterprises having coin operated amusement machines."

Nida contended that without the guard, "we don't feel there will be any problem. This is not an absentee ownership. The owners will be on the premises."

Communities Await Appeal As Bonding Comes to Halt

A recent Michigan State Court of Appeals ruling affecting the sale of municipal bonds has put Wixom's proposed renovation and addition to its city hall in a state of suspended animation.

But neither Novi nor Northville officials appear worried that the ruling will have an immediate effect close to home.

The ruling by the court of appeals was made in January concerning bonding procedures and, if upheld, will require a significant change in statutory provisions requiring notice to property owners.

A three-judge panel ruled unanimously that Public Act 342 was unconstitutional. Contested was a provision for publication of intent to bond in a newspaper of general circulation.

Merten Harder, a Swartz Creek property owner who lives in Bloomfield Hills, challenged the notice provision of Act 342, claiming that advertising in a newspaper of general circulation (The Swartz Creek News) was not sufficient notice. He claimed notice should have been by mail. In agreeing with Harder, the Appeals Court overturned the Genesee County Circuit Court ruling in favor of the city of Swartz Creek.

"Everybody in the bond community is concerned," said Richard Allen, deputy director of the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, the state body which approves bond application. The decision can affect other bonding acts.

"Quite a few bond issues will be held until there is some final resolution," Allen observed. The City of Swartz Creek has filed a petition for reconsideration by the Michigan Court of Appeals. The question could eventually go as far as the Michigan Supreme Court.

Edward Joseph, city attorney for Swartz Creek, said he has not yet received response from the courts on the motion to reconsider. According to Joseph, the entire action is a big question.

He explained that the court held a statute from Public Act 342 of 1939 unconstitutional but he wondered if the court had ever researched the amendment to that statute, which utilized different wording, made in 1974. The effect of the ruling is to hold up municipal bonding throughout the state. Locally, Wixom appears to be the most concerned about possible delays caused by the court suit.

Wixom City Attorney Harold Bulgarelli in response to council's attempt to get the sale of municipal bonds going for the proposed new city hall, advised against proceeding even with the first step, which would be to publish a notice of intent in a newspaper.

Even though the Swartz

Flooding to Depend on Rains

With temperatures soaring into the 40's to begin the week, Novi city officials admit they're keeping their fingers crossed that the apparent thaw is not joined by heavy rains later this week.

Officials say that the city is probably in a better position to cope with the thaw than it has been in past years, but heavy rains added to the thawing action could lead to flooding at points throughout the city.

City Manager Edward Kriewall said a number of factors are combining which make it doubtful much flooding will occur unless the rains fall.

"Primarily, Walled Lake itself has enough free board to accept runoff and this is a factor we didn't have a couple of years ago," said Kriewall, referring to past flooding problems experienced in the city.

Kriewall is, however, uncertain why the level of Walled Lake is lower than in past years. Drainage tubes which allow water to run into the Middle Rouge are open this year — but they have also been open in years when the city experienced flooding.

Another factor which may help the city escape flooding is that the ground did not freeze as much as usual, allowing better absorption of water.

"Probably we had so much snow it insulated the ground," explained Kriewall.

According to City Engineer Harry Mosher, the swampy area south of Walled Lake acts as a natural retention area and could be vital in keeping runoff from flooding land to the south.

However, both Mosher and Kriewall agreed there will be flooding as usual south of the Meadowbrook Dam. Residents in that area are used to seeing Nine Mile closed to traffic during each spring thaw as at least a foot of water usually closes over both Nine Mile and Ennishore.

Both city officials agreed, however, that no real problems are expected with Meadowbrook Dam itself.

Last year, before the spring thaw, the Novi city council agreed to split the cost of shoring up the dam with homeowners following a long battle in which Meadow-

Fire Members Set

A fire committee intended to make recommendations on use of a capital improvement millage for the fire department has been created by Novi Council and members selected.

The committee is to examine priorities and to make recommendations as to what the one mill approved by voters in November will be used for.

Named to the committee were Fire Chief Duane Bell, firemen Greg Wisner and Gordon Appleton and residents Brian Fannon, Brent Canup, Nat Adams and Audrey Murphy.

Spotlighting Fashions

New fashions will be the order of the day at the Newcomers Annual fashion show and luncheon to be held February 25 at the new Plymouth Hilton Inn. Fashions will be from Sylvia Nista's at 139 East Cady Street with commentary by Marji Kunz, Detroit Free

Poet to Read His Works Here

Schoolcraft College will present Poet Herbert Scott in two poetry performances on Thursday, February 12.

A professor at Western Michigan University, Poet Scott will give an informal discussion of poetry at 2 p.m. and will read from his own poems at 8 p.m. in the Forum Theater.

Professor Scott, who has read his poetry widely to college and university audiences in this country, has published two volumes of poetry: Disguises, published by the University of Pittsburgh Press and The Shoplifter's Handbook, published by Blue Mountain Press, both in 1974.

His poems have appeared in such journals as Harper's, Beloit Poetry Journal, Epoch, Poetry, Massachusetts Review and Poetry Northwest as well as in several anthologies.

Born in Oklahoma, Professor Scott's early work experiences provide the basis for some of his poems.

Nursing Benefits Told

Benefits of nursing to mother and baby will be discussed Thursday, February 19, at 8 p.m. at a meeting sponsored by La Leche League of Plymouth-Northville.

It will be held in the recreation lounge of Innsbrook Apartments, 18800 Innsbrook Drive, off Seven Mile Road (behind Northville Mall).

The meeting will begin a new series on breastfeeding by the league, a non profit organization dedicated to helping interested mothers learn the "womanly art of breastfeeding."

Held in a series of four monthly meetings, the sessions are led by qualified league leaders. Telephone counseling is available to all mothers at any time.

Each league group is equipped with a lending library containing books and pamphlets on childbirth, breastfeeding and related subjects.

Anyone interested in further information about the upcoming series may contact Mrs. Robert Frellick, 20219 Woodhill Drive, Northville.

Help!

Writers, Actors For Plays Needed

It's an uphill climb, admits Cheryl Gazlay of Northville, but the search of suitable Bicentennial melodramas is moving forward.

The goal is to generate six or seven locally written and produced plays as part of the community's Bicentennial observance.

Launched last summer, the project committee hopes to attract a sufficient number of plays and actors and actresses so that they can be presented to clubs and groups throughout much of the remainder of 1976.

So far four plays have been written, "but we'd really like to consider several others before deciding on the ones to produce," says Mrs. Gazlay. The plays to date deal with the building of the first Presbyterian church, the first lady to vote in Northville, the community's historic well, and an abstract presentation concerning the United States Constitution.

Amateur writers who may wish to try their hand are reminded that the plays should be about 20 to 30 minutes in length and have a maximum cast of five to six players.

Persons wishing additional information or who may wish to volunteer assistance in any capacity, especially as writers and actors, are urged to call Mrs. Gazlay at 349-5748.

'Not Rubberstamps' say No-Names — 'Not Anti-Board' say SPIDERs

School Study Groups Emphasize Independence

Two school study groups got down to serious business last week and each sought to prove their independence, but by opposite declarations.

The "no-name" group formed through the auspices of the board of education wants it known that they are not "rubber stamps" of the administration.

"We're not necessarily supportive of the board... we want to be convinced of the millage need... we must demonstrate our independence if we are to make our findings believable to the public", declared some members.

Meanwhile, the SPIDER group meeting at the same time in a different building was declaring that it was "not anti-school board or anti-Spear, but rather pro-education". SPIDER formed independently.

Both settled down to the matter of organization after a prolonged period of question asking and problem probing.

The "no-name" citizens elected Miles Tuttle and Arlen Westling as co-chairmen and Timothy Lemon, secretary.

The SPIDER, according to acting chairman James Lewis, has no officers but rather is being directed by a "core group" which he declined to identify because some of these SPIDER members also are members of the board's committee "and it wouldn't be to our advantage to say who they are."

The groups have less than one month to come up with recommendations for the board of education so that at its March 8th meeting the board can adopt ballot proposals for the April 3 millage election.

Most of the school district's voted millage, some 17 mills for operating purposes, has expired.

Altogether the school district levies 28.9 mills ($28.90 per thousand dollars of state equalized valuation of real property) for operating expenses. Of this total 8.9 mills comes from the county 15-mill levy and 20 mills have been voted in addition by the public for the local district. Another 7.22 mills is levied for debt retirement purposes, making Northville's total school tax levy 36.12.

To Combat Vandalism

Ban Late Park Parking

In another effort among a long series of moves to control park vandalism, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has banned parking of cars along all park drives during hours the parks are closed.

Presently, the county parks open at 5 a.m. and close at 10 p.m., except for Elizabeth Park in Trenton where a 9:30 p.m. closing hour is in effect.

The commissioners imposed the parking ban February 5 upon recommendation of its Public Safety and Judiciary Committee and at the request of the County Road Commission which administers the parks system.

Commissioner Edward K. Michalski (D-Detroit), chairman of the public safety and judiciary committee, said he hopes the ban will have "particular impact" along the 18 mile length of Edward Hines Drive where the Cass-Benton or "Beer Hill" section in Northville has become infamous for youth rowdism and drug use.

Other parks affected include Bell Creek and Lola Valley parks in Redford, Veterans Memorial Park in Hamtramck, Victory Park in Belleville, Holiday Park in Westland and the Lower Rouge Parkway which passes through Wayne, Inkster, Dearborn, and Westland.

In the past both the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee and the full Board have considered a variety of measures to solve the park problem. These have included more park employees, a Sheriff's park "sub-station", better lighting and a ban on all "no deposit, no return" containers.

Other proposals have included a ban on deposits of all rubbish, litter and garbage, with fines against leaving picnic refuse, and prohibition of alcohol, including beer.

Another plan that has been reviewed would establish a cash reward program with payment to citizens upon the arrest and conviction of vandals. Under this program, parents would be financially responsible for damages caused by children found guilty.

Last year the Board also endorsed a proposal by Commissioner John J. Korney (D-Detroit) that urges judges to consider sentencing convicted vandals to work terms in the parks.

In the proposal Korney estimates that vandalism and litter cost taxpayers up to $650,000 a year and occupy maintenance workers who otherwise could be improving park facilities, he said.

"We believe that to sentence offenders to work in the parks, repairing other people's destruction and pick up other people's litter, would have a deterrent effect and save the taxpayers some money," Korney declared.

Is Soup on Yet? Kids Make It

Mrs. Lynne Sherman's fourth and fifth graders at Silver Springs Elementary School spent last Friday making vegetable soup.

The idea was not to teach them how to cook but to promote self concept and help the students improve their individual personality characteristics.

Each student brought a different ingredient to add to the soup and all helped in the preparation of the pottage, which was called "Friendship Soup".

Ideally, the day of cooking showed the children positive ways to resolve conflict and instilled in them a sense of community cooperation. Hopefully this learning experience was not only fun for the youngsters but will be a lesson that will carry over to other school activities, said Mrs. Sherman.

Mrs. Paula Skwiatowicz, a nutritionist addressed the class on the importance of good nutrition in the morning.

SPIDERs Pose More Questions

Declaring itself "the voice of the unlistened to citizen", SPIDER (Society of People Interested in Demanding Educational Responsibility) presented six more questions to the board of education Monday night.

The new questions were boiled down from a list of some 147 discussed at the first formal session of the independent school study group last Thursday evening.

The SPIDER meeting was attended by 23 citizens including parents, teachers and one student.

Unlike its "sister" study group, organized under the auspices of the board of education, SPIDER declined to elect officers. Instead, the acting chairman, James Lewis, indicated that SPIDER had decided in private executive council session that it would be guided by a "core group".

Lewis also informed the board of education Monday night that the SPIDER's executive council had declined a liaison arrangement with the board's study committee and would prefer direct communication and liaison with the board itself.

SPIDER representatives had been invited to tonight's (Wednesday) meeting of the board's citizens' study committee to hear answers to questions posed that "overlap". In a statement Monday night Lewis noted that "we already are receiving fairly complete reports on what is covered at these meetings from several of our members who are part of your committee, too"

In its public meeting last week SPIDER members made the following statements: teachers and parents should attend board meetings and be vocal; a teachers' group should be formed to meet regularly with the board; SPIDERs should become "devil's advocates" to the board because an independent organization is necessary to "keep the board honest"; board members are "puppets of Ray Spear"; a major problem of school administrators is that they are not being allowed to administer; a related breakdown of what each tax mill buys is needed.

Cooke Middle School and the status of the special education program were also major concerns of the SPIDER discussion.

Group debate became most heated over the comparative costs of the traditional versus the extended year school systems.

Finally, the group emphasized that its purpose is to channel information between the board and the public, that it is not "anti-Spear or anti-board, but rather pro-education".

The group did not set an exact date for its second open meeting, but indicated it would be this week or next.

The six questions submitted to the board of education Monday night are:

1. How many students are in ESY and in TSY at each grade level (K, 1, 2, 3, etc.) and how much does it cost at each school level (elementary, middle and high school)?

2. Is it true that many students at the high school are having to drop out of the ESY program because of the lack of courses? If so, why?

3. Is ESY still funded and will it continue to be next year? If so, by whom and to what extent?

4. If ESY is working at the elementary and middle school levels, but not at the high school level, should ESY be mandated at the first two levels and TSY at the high school level?

5. Would there be a cost savings at the elementary level by instituting ESY exclusively at one or more schools and TSY exclusively at other buildings?

6. To settle the controversy over the supposed higher cost of ESY, can an opinion vote be taken at the April election for support of ESY only, TSY only or a combined program?

No-Names Slate Second Session

The early-going in the first meeting of the Northville board of education, appointed citizens' study committee may have been a little surprising to board-administration members.

About 30 citizens plus Superintendent Raymond Spear, Assistant Superintendent Florence Panattoni, Silver Springs' Principal Nancy Fieldman, Board members John Hobart and Sylvia Gucken attended the session in the board of education offices last Thursday evening.

After Chairman Hobart reviewed objectives and some 15 areas of responsibility outlined by the board for the citizens' committee, someone asked Hobart "who is going to convince this committee of the school's need for millage so we can convince the public?"

Hobart said he hoped "we're all singing out of the same note". But obviously at least some members of the group volunteered "to be convinced, but needing more information".

When one member of the group said "if we're not all convinced we need at least the 17 mills renewal, we shouldn't be here," even this position was greeted by some opposition. After nearly two hours of general discussion of issues, why the last two millage elections had failed, proposals for surveys, etc., it was decided that the group should divide itself into two subcommittees.

One would concern itself with issues, the second with finances. Miles Tuttle and Arlen Westling were elected co-chairmen and each presided over the subcommittees. Timothy Lemon was elected secretary.

The finance committee came up with 16 questions for the board and administration to answer, while the "issues" group found some 25 complaints it wants aired.

Maintenance, voter apathy, ESY versus TSY, selling school-owned land, the special education program, discipline and many other questions were given priority ratings by both subcommittees.

Tonight (Wednesday) the group will hold its second meeting at 7:30 in the board offices. It has asked for answers to most its questions and wants the meeting to open with a basic explanation of school financing, millage allocation and a "grocery list" itemization of the budget.

Eye Possible Flooding

brook residents argued the city was at fault for adding water runoff while the city argued the dam was on a private lake and owned by homeowners.

At the time of the repairs, which included measures to see that erosion did not take a further toll on the dam, the city indicated it could not guarantee the structural stability of the dam.

"The dam is probably as good as it ever was," said Mosher. "The dam is as sound as it was two years ago when we had severe flooding on Meadowbrook Lake."

Mosher pointed out that at least two-thirds of Novi drains into Meadowbrook Lake through the Ingersoll Creek and the Middle Rouge. However, without heavy rains added to thawing, Mosher said he expects the water will not crest the embankment around the dam. In the past it has crested the bank, actually circumventing the dam.

Kriewall noted that the engineers have examined the situation at the dam and "even if the dam let go, you'd probably only have an increase in the volume." He added that only one house, at the corner of Nine Mile and Ennshore could be in danger of flooding if unforeseen rains come.

While Mosher said he only foresees minor flooding if the warm temperatures remain and there is no rain, he warned that if the rains come, "It could get a lot worse."

Lawsuit Halts Bonding

Creek case could be decided within the 45 day waiting period, Bulgarelli said he felt the city's action of publishing could be ruled null and void.

Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall said the city is involved in several projects which will require bonding. He cited a sanitary sewer to the Twelve Oaks Mall, a water main extension from 14 Mile to 12 Mile which would serve the mall, a water main extension from the I-96 expressway south to 10 Mile Road and west to the new high school and library, and a sewer line to the new high school and library.

Kriewall noted that regarding the Dayton-Hudson projects, both sewer and water, Dayton-Hudson has agreed to pay for its taps ahead of construction. Both of those projects are to be completed by December of 1976.

The school district has also agreed to pay up front for its water and sewer taps. That project is also to be concluded by December.

According to Kriewall, added to the front monies from Dayton-Hudson and the Novi School district will be excess funds which the city currently has from other bonding projects which are in mid stream. Kriewall explained that the excess funds not currently needed to pay off bonds in those projects will be used initially to help with construction of the new projects and would be repaid when bonding monies finally become available for the projects.

Kriewall noted that the city may be able to bond sewer projects in spite of the lawsuit under Public Act 40. However, Kriewall said water projects could not be bonded under that act.

However, Kriewall said the city is currently preparing a resolution which would allow the combining of the currently separate sewer and water funds from current bonding projects, which would have the effect of allowing sewer monies to be used for water projects. Kriewall said such an intermingling of funds is legal, but pointed out the money will have to be repaid.

In addition, Kriewall said that "we're going to explore the possibility of selling our own general obligation bonds through we may have to go with a higher interest amount (than if the city went with county backing)."

Added Kriewall, "We may enter a contract with the county to bond and reserve the right to go on our own."

The city has already sent a resolution to Oakland County urging the board of commissioners to "stop playing their little political games and to return to serving their constituents". The city was referring to a fight over whether the Oakland County DPW or the drain commission should be allowed to acquire, construct and finance pending bonding projects. That problem may be academic until the Swartz Creek lawsuit is resolved.

Meanwhile, Northville Township Supervisor Betty Lennox said the Township has no projects in the works which will be affected by the lawsuit.

Northville City Manager Steven Walters agreed that the city of Northville is also not involved in any projects which are affected.

He called the lawsuit and subsequent problems "a tempest in a teapot".

Lois & Howard Green
That light creates atmosphere is a universally accepted rule of home decoration. Bright lights are fine for work areas such as the kitchen and the workshop. Study lamps should grace every desk. A bookshelf, the chair in which some member of the family chooses to read — clear light should be readily accessible for these areas, too. A room in which light glares, however, is rarely pleasant. Soft lights, shaded lamps, candle-light relax people, put them at ease, give each room an intimate air. Perhaps the rule of thumb should be: lights always accessible when necessary, but never to be used unnecessarily.

It's Worst Winter For Roof Leaks

They may be charming, but those freezing icicles hanging from your home may be signalling an imminent peril.

Aside from the fact that they are potential killers, icicles may be warnings that water leakage through the roof could be on the way.

That's the word from area repairmen, builders and insurance agents who report the worst roof problems ever encountered here because of the build-up of snow and ice at the edge of roofs near the gutters.

And as many new homes are affected as are older ones, they point out.

What's more, State Farm Insurance Agent Paul Folino of Northville fears the reported problems to date represent just the tip of the iceberg. "It's when the spring thaws come that the worse problems may occur," he says.

The problem is simply this:

Eaves troughs become clogged with snow and ice and slowly, with the freezing and melting of snow on the warm roof, the build-up of ice and snow pushes upward from the troughs. Now when the thawing and freezing occurs, water seeps up under the flaps of the shingles.

Actually, according to Othal Baggett of Northville, the damage to the shingles or roof is minimal when this occurs. It's what happens inside the house from water seepage that causes the real damage.

That damage can range from a small wet spot in overhead tiling or plaster to the collapse of whole ceilings and water damage to carpeting, drapes and furniture. Damage can run into thousands of dollars.

Serious damage to roofs actually occurs when homeowners in their anxiety to correct the problem try chopping the ice from their roofs.

What can the homeowners do to prevent the damage?

Edward Tucker of South Lyon, a roofer for 28 years, suggests periodical cleaning of snow from the roof's edge and especially from the eaves troughs. If ice already has started forming on the roof, it might be wise to chip a small line through the ice to the edge of the roof. However, if this is attempted, Tucker cautions that extreme care must be taken not to damage the shingles.

When the snow and ice begin to melt, the water will be able to run through this line or fully and down and off the roof. Without a place to escape, the water builds up under the single flaps, causing the leakage.

Complicating matters, adds Folino, is the fact that the leaks through the ceiling may be a good distance from the point where the water has seeped in through the roof. Often it will run many feet along a rafter or beam before dripping onto and through a ceiling, he points out.

Pat Gentle, a Hamburg roofer, says that when a break in the weather comes there are two measures that might be taken to solve the problem: (1) heat tape might be installed on roofs and in gutters, or (2) felt sheets can be installed or repaired to seal the roof against water seepage.

Heat tape is the least expensive alternative, says Gentle. If a contractor installs it, the cost probably will come in under $200. A homeowner might install it himself, however, thus saving labor cost and reducing the price even more.

Repair of a roof through the installation of felt in the vicinity of the roof overhang is likely to cost $250 to $300, depending, of course, on the roof area.

What the felt does, Gentle explains, is to provide a leak-proof material under the shingles, so that when water creeps under the shingles it does not penetrate through the wood and into the home interior.

It's the pitch of the roof that leads to the problem of water entering the home, through build-up of snow and ice on eaves troughs. The less the pitch, the more likely the problem, he says.

Gentle cautions that placing salt in the eaves troughs. The salt will cause oxidation of the eaves troughs and thus metal deterioration. In addition, the salt draining onto or into the ground could kill plants and shrubs, he adds.

Tucker agrees that a felt lap at the roof's edge may be helpful. He also suggests that the homeowner may want to consider having his shingles laid four inches to the wind instead of five inches. That means, he explains, there will be an extra inch of overlap to protect the roof from the weather.

"One thing's for sure," he emphasizes, "it's a bad situation. We had a bad year eight or nine years ago, but it wasn't anything like this."

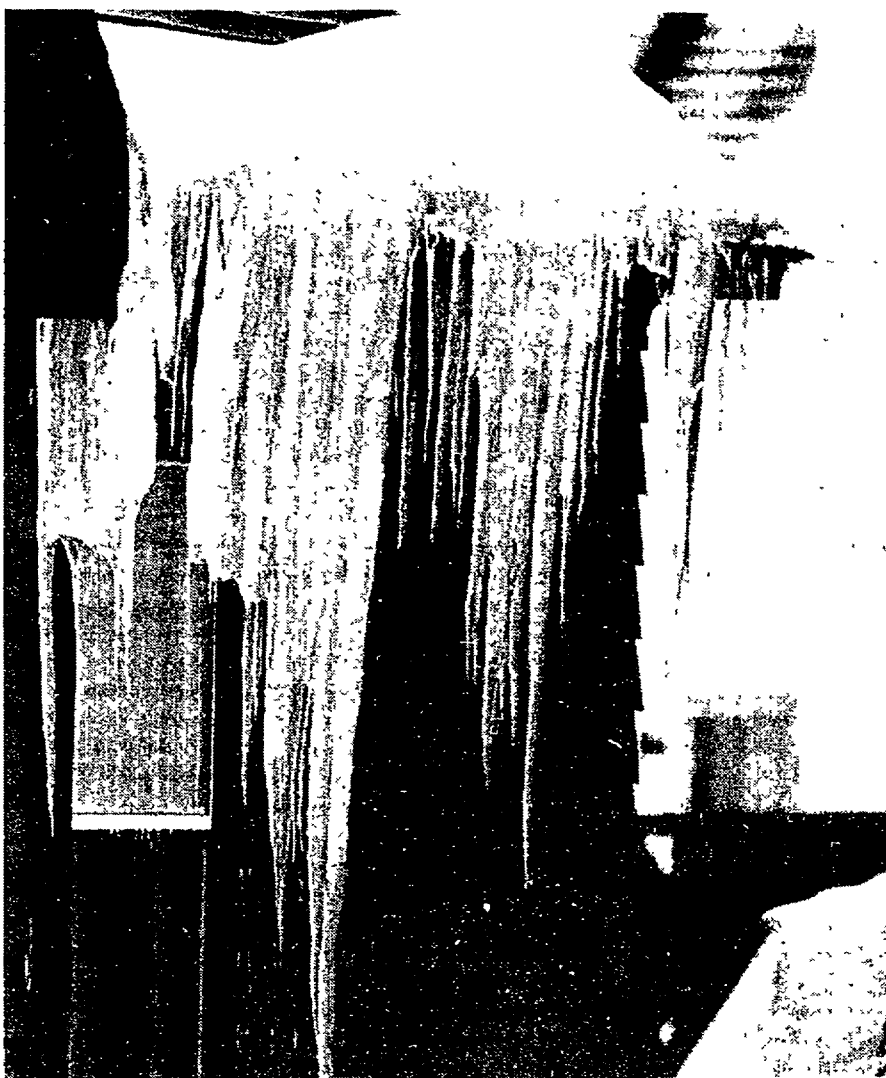

Homeowners who have the all-risk or number three form of insurance are protected against damage resulting from the ice problem, says Folino, who indicates that 70 to 80 percent of his customers are covered.

He points out that there are three basic forms of homeowners policies.

The first two forms of insurance, which Folino calls one and two, are the least expensive and the least protective. They are named peril policies, which means they spell out the damages they cover. The third form, which is the most comprehensive and the most expensive, spells out those damages it will not cover.

Give or take a dollar or two, following is the extra cost of the all-risk insurance for most insurance companies:

For a $25,000 house, $10 to $12 more; for a $35,000 house, $14 to $16 more; for a $50,000 house, $24 more; and for a $60,000 house, $30 more.

Icicles...Pretty but Dangerous and Damaging

ICICLE TRAGEDY—That icicles are dangerous is seen in this tombstone located in Northville's Cady Street Cemetery. On the grave of Mrs. George Rayson, the epitaph reads, "Met death from ice falling from the roof of a neighbor's home."

Public hearings concerning use of 1976-77 Community Development Grants from Wayne County and Oakland County are to be held next Tuesday in the Northville City Hall.

According to City Manager Steven Walters, the city is required to hold two public hearings — one for hearing citizens' comments on community development needs and the other for reporting the council's decisions.

Decision to hold the hearing Tuesday rather than Monday was prompted by the fact that Northville representatives will be attending a meeting in Livonia where the Detroit water rate increases will be discussed.

already started action to answer the lawsuit and expects to receive direction from the council on the matter Monday.

"I think there is a justifiable reason for guards at a pinball arcade," commented Fried.

Referring to the portion of the ordinance not allowing patrons to win games, the lawsuit contends "there is no rational distinction between the winning of free games on a pinball machine and the winning of an eleventh frame in a bowling game. The winning of an eleventh frame in a bowling game is not illegal."

While the city of Novi reportedly has never attempted to enforce the portion of the ordinance which would allow revocation of license if gambling — by the winning of games on a pinball machine — is pursued, the lawsuit is also attempting to get that portion of the ordinance stricken.

A further court hearing is scheduled for Wednesday, February 18 when the city must show cause why the temporary injunction should not be continued as a preliminary injunction until the end of the trial.

The Fun Center is currently operating without a guard, according to Nida.

'BOSS' Monitor Eyed by Novi

Novi may become one of the first school districts in the area to make use of an automatic monitoring and control system that could save the district thousands of dollars each year.

The board heard last Thursday night from Honeywell Corporation which packages and markets such a unit called BOSS—Building Operations Service System. In a report to the board, Honeywell representatives explained that the system is in use at universities throughout the country and amassing large savings for those institutions.

Honeywell is proposing that Novi utilize a lease-purchase agreement which would allow Novi, to have sensors installed throughout the four buildings on Taft Road and to buy use of a monitoring person to take care of the Novi installation, as well as units in other institutions.

The basic purpose of the system is to reduce energy consumption, improve manpower efficiency, protect costly mechanical systems, and maximize occupant comfort.

"Even with the cost of installation, we will reduce dollars," said Assistant Superintendent Dr. William Barr. "It does appear to us it is something we ought to be doing — especially in the new high school. The savings will pay for the system."

Novi Schools Requesting 3½ Mills for Operations improve programs until the voters say I can't afford it no matter how good the program is," agreed Wilkins.

Board member Joel Colliu pointed out that "three and one half mills will not make this district wealthy."

He added, however, "we're paying more and more for government. Are we getting more and more?"

While the original motion was to levy 3½ mills for five years, member LaVerne DeWaard argued against it, stating, "we do not know where we'll be in five years. You're asking for a powerful amount of money for five years."

DeWaard also questioned the money having been awarded teachers during the past few years for raises. "I believe we have not conducted ourselves in the attitudes we should have."

DeWaard moved for the millage question to be two years so that the district would know where it will be in relation to the state act. That amendment was approved 5-2 with Helmer and President Ray Warren opposed.

Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz cautioned before the vote on the main motion that the school district could make 2½ mills go for one year but "any school district that plays with the fund equity is playing with fire."

The motion for a millage question of 3½ mills for two years was approved 6-1 with DeWaard opposed.

"This board must address itself to priorities, which it has not done, and attitudes which we have not taken," said DeWaard of his vote.

Vice president Sharon Pelchat, who presided over the meeting, said afterwards that the community has backed the school board in the past and she expects little problem in getting the millage approved.

"This is another positive action this board has taken," commented Mrs. Pelchat.

Three stores will be the first to open at Seven Mile road shopping center in Northville township

A & P, Perry, T.G. & Y.

Northville Plaza Opening

The three major tenants of the new Northville Plaza shopping center will open their doors this week and next.

Located in Northville Township on Seven Mile road east of Northville road and directly in front of the Innsbrook apartments, Northville Plaza is a 115,000-square-foot shopping center which developers predict will contain 28 stores when complete.

First stores to open will be A & P supermarket, T.G.&Y. Family Center and Perry Drugs.

For A & P it marks a return to the community after an absence of nearly four years. A & P had a store in the city of Northville from 1917 until October, 1972 when it moved out of its last location at Main and Hutton streets.

The new A & P is a 30,000-square-foot facility, one of the company's most spacious models. Sunday will be the store's first day of business.

Manager of the Northville Plaza A & P is Gerald Jeske. T.G.&Y., an Oklahoma

City-based operation is a business newcomer to this area, although it operates some 925 stores in 30 states, including Michigan.

Like the A & P store, T.G.&Y. occupies 30,000 square feet.

T.G.&Y. began operations in 1936 with headquarters, general offices, and warehouse in Oklahoma City.

The firm had grown to 128 stores at the end of 1957 when purchased by Butler Brothers of Chicago, remaining an autonomous division and continuing under the management of T.G.&Y. officers.

The division climbed to 219 stores by 1960, the year Butler Brothers was purchased by City Products Corporation, with headquarters in Chicago and operating throughout the United States, including Hawaii and Alaska. City Products Corporation and its subsidiaries conduct a diversified business consisting principally of the sales of general merchandise through company-owned and franchised stores and home furnishings. T.G.&Y. continued to operate as an autonomous division under the management of the same group of officers.

Scott Stores, a subsidiary of City Products, merged with T.G.&Y. in 1969. Scott operated 110 stores in 18 states, with most of its outlets being clustered in the Great Lakes and Middle Western states. This merger brought all of City Products' company-owned variety stores into the T.G.&Y. Division.

The firm is scheduled for a 15 to 20 percent increase per year for the next five to seven years.

T.G.&Y. considers its stores to be of three classes: one is the expanded variety store, primarily convenience merchandise ranging to about 15,000 square feet and carrying limited junior department store lines; secondly, the family center unit ranging from 20,000 to 30,000 square feet; thirdly, the larger family center unit ranging from 40,000 to 80,000 square feet. Depending upon the size of these family center units, they go heavily into sporting goods, hardware, wearables, fabrics, automotive lines, and several other departments, considering the needs of the community.

Steve Carlson of Freeport, Illinois is the manager of the new Northville T.G.&Y. Previously, he was co-manager of the T.G.&Y. store in Charlotte, Michigan.

His co-manager is Greg Fetting, formerly associated with Grant's and recently from the T.G.&Y. store in Lapeer. Assistant managers are Paul Bottrell and Ray Linn. Until recently, Linn had been the manager of the Northville D & C Store.

Perry Drugs operates 39 stores in Michigan and has its headquarters in Pontiac. The store is 7,600-square-feet in size and offers a complete line of drug items as well as prescription service.

Perry plans to open its store this Thursday, the first of the Northville Plaza stores to open. Manager of the Northville store is Mike Weiner.

Township Center Eyes 28 Stores

The 115,000-square-foot Northville Plaza shopping center, the first such commercial center to be built in Northville Township, is about half-way along the road to its goal of full occupancy.

Steve Wohlman, representing Schostak Bros. which is the leasing agency for Northville Plaza, said this week that more than a dozen tenants have signed contracts.

The "big three" — A & P, Perry Drugs and T.G.&Y. — will take up more than half the available space, but Wohlman says that the center will probably contain 28 stores when complete.

No schedule has been announced for opening of other stores. Wohlman stated that these include a Greek food restaurant, a dry cleaning facility with a full-line plant on the premises, book shop, women's beauty salon, men's barber shop, import gift boutique, music store, gift and jewelry shop, ice cream parlor and record shop.

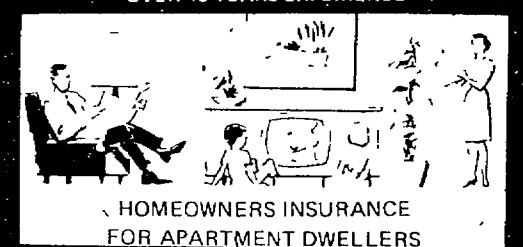

Wohlman noted that work will soon begin on store front designing for the center. Parking spaces for 800 cars is provided in front of the stores.

Schostak Bros., which has offices in Southfield, acted as leasing agents for Oakland, Summerset and Macomb Malls as well as many others. Wohlman invited interested merchants to direct inquiries to him at 559-2000.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The time of year has arrived again when the county bureau of taxation announces its "equalization ratios".

What this means to the average citizen is that a bureau at the county level has decided what your house, lot, retail or industrial building is worth.

And, of course, that also determines to a great extent the size of your tax bill.

So property assessments are important. And March is the month that board of review hearings are scheduled in each community. These sessions give the property owner an opportunity to question his assessment if he wishes.

Mark these dates down:

In Northville township—March 2, 3, 8 and 9;

In the city of Northville—March 9 and 23;

In the city of Novi—March 8 and 9;

In the city of Wixom—March 9, 10 and 24.

These are the days that board of review meetings will be held in area communities. Normally, the first meetings are devoted to considering complaints, while decisions are announced at the later sessions. So if you think your assessment is too high, attend one of the first meetings.

Remember this, board of review members are citizens of the community, like yourself, who have some expertise in the field of property valuations. They are there to hear and weigh your complaints and reach decisions based upon guidelines that apply equally to all properties within the community taxing district.

Usually, the local property assessor also is in attendance to answer questions. And sometimes the county may have representatives from their assessing department.

They will consider your complaint. And if they determine that your assessment is, indeed, too high in comparison with other local properties, they have the authority to make reductions.

Board of review members are not overpaid bureaucrats. Some may receive token compensation, but most are volunteering their services. The job is understandably sensitive, so go easy.

Now for this year's state equalized valuation (SEV) factors.

Most residents of Novi and Wixom can breathe a sigh of relief. The state equalization factor in both communities remains at 1.0. This means that local assessments have not been changed, that in the eyes of county authorities they are correct and do not require boosting by an equalization factor to bring them up to current levels.

There's always the chance that a property could have been reappraised, however, especially if substantial improvements or additions have been made. And new structures will be assessed for the first time. Normally in these instances, property owners receive notification of the revised or new assessment.

In the city and township of Northville, however, all properties have been hiked by an increased factor.

In the city of Northville (Wayne County portion) the factor for 1976 will be 1.13, compared to 1.11 last year.

In the Oakland County portion of the city the factor will be between 1.03 and 1.04, compared to 1.00 last year.

In Northville township the factor has been increased from 1.46 to 1.57.

Before discussing the financial impact of these increases, it should be noted that all taxes are levied against state equalized valuations (SEV). Specifically, that's supposed to represent one-half the market value of the property.

The SEV is the local assessment multiplied by the equalization factor. So if the factor is 1.00, the assessment and the SEV are the same.

But if the assessment is $15,000 and the factor is 1.57, the SEV is $23,550. This would mean that a house and lot assessed at $15,000 and equalized to $23,550 has a market value of $47,100. It also means that tax millage is levied against the SEV, or in this instance, $23,550.

One mill equals one dollar of tax levy per $1,000 of SEV. So in the example above, one mill would cost the taxpayer $23.55.

Now let's examine what the average homeowner in the city and township of Northville can expect to happen tax-wise this year as a result of the factor increases. This, of course, assumes no change in the current tax rates.

In the city of Northville, Oakland County, the built-in increase is between three and four per cent. In the Wayne County portion the hike is less, about two per cent.

In the township the increase is about 7½ per cent, or the difference between a factor of 1.46 and 1.57.

As an example, if a township house had an assessment last year of $20,000 its SEV would have been $29,200 and one mill of tax levy would have cost $29.20.

This year the same house will have an SEV of $31,400 and a one mill tax levy will cost $31.40.

Property owners may check their assessments by contacting officials at their city or township hall. This should be done prior to board of review hearings.

In Northville township many residents, particularly in the Northville Commons area, have been notified by mail where specific assessment increases have been made. These hikes are in addition to the factor increase, so if there are questions these should be taken to the review hearings.

In the city of Northville property owners may call Assessor Harold Penn at the city hall and make arrangements for an appointment to check assessment rolls prior to review hearings.

YES . . .

In addition to being an attractive, intelligent, often witty person, my spouse has one added asset going for her at the bridge table — I taught her everything she knows.

We first met over a bridge table at college more than 17 years ago. On that memorable night, playing as my partner, my future wife trumped my opening lead of the first hand.

I immediately dealt her my full attention, since my opening lead had been the ace from an ace-king-queen.

My mind whirled. The wordly seniors had said, "Start them young, train 'em as you want 'em." I now knew what they were talking about. Here was my chance!

The balance of the night was comparatively normal — after I altered my definition of normal. We discussed strategy a little. I had a hard time refuting the fact that her trump really had taken that first trick.

The following Saturday we had our first date and appropriately enough sat down to play bridge. My protegee came through. Her first comment — "Well, what's trump tonight?"

After shuffling through 14 years of married life, I honestly feel that only your spouse can add that extra zest to the bridge table.

Speaking for Myself Your Spouse As Card Partner?

NO . . .

Please! Spare me the ordeal! We both dearly love bridge. One of us is a good player — the other just plain competitive. When we sit across from each other at the bridge table, it's as if we never had any lines of communication open at all; two fighters facing each other from opposite corners of the ring. One is thinking "Just relax, we'll make it"; the other "Tear 'em up!!!"

I bid my 15 points as if it was 23 points (if it's good for two, it's probably good for four, right?)

He responds, but in a different suit (the fact that he bid at all must mean that he has a super opening hand, right?)

I support and raise him in his suit (because he never bids rashly, and my suit, after all, was only a small one).

We end up at four in a major ... Oh, why not go to six (think of all those points!)

Opening card is played. I lay down my 15 points. His smile starts to crack, and he gives me a disparaging look. I've got to go see his hand! I run around the table. My face starts to color. OH! the feelings of embarrassment, inadequacy. He has virtually nothing! I try to smile bravely thinking, well, all sorts of things such as "?!?(&—!!), etc.

He skillfully plays the rest of the cards, and despite the lack of them we are only DOWN FOUR.

Dumb, stupid card game!! Why did I sit down across from him anyway?!!

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Want to make a quick buck? Then bet your neighbor we had more snow last year than this.

Who would believe all the white stuff piled outside your house takes second place to the 1974-75 season? Probably neither you nor your neighbor.

But that's precisely what the United States Weather Bureau, headquartered in the blue domed building at the northeast edge of Metro Airport, informs me.

We've had 44 inches of snowfall this season. Last season we had 50 inches.

Most of us have forgotten that in December of 1974 we had a gigantic 20-inch snowstorm, one of the heaviest in recent history. That single storm, plus the fact that so much of this year's snowfall has remained with us much of the season, accounts for the popular belief that we have a record going in 1976.

That isn't to say this season won't be a record before winter finally blows itself out on March 20. We still have quite a few weeks of winter left.

In case you've wondered how the weather bureau measures snowfall, as have I, be advised that the weather folks use a standard yardstick. They've got an area out back of their building where they stab the yardstick into the snow to determine its depth.

Besides keeping tabs on the snow depth, they also keep a running account of temperatures. Their records confirm your suspicions: this has been one heck of a cold winter. In fact they tell me Southeastern Michigan is running about 217 degrees below normal for the season thus far.

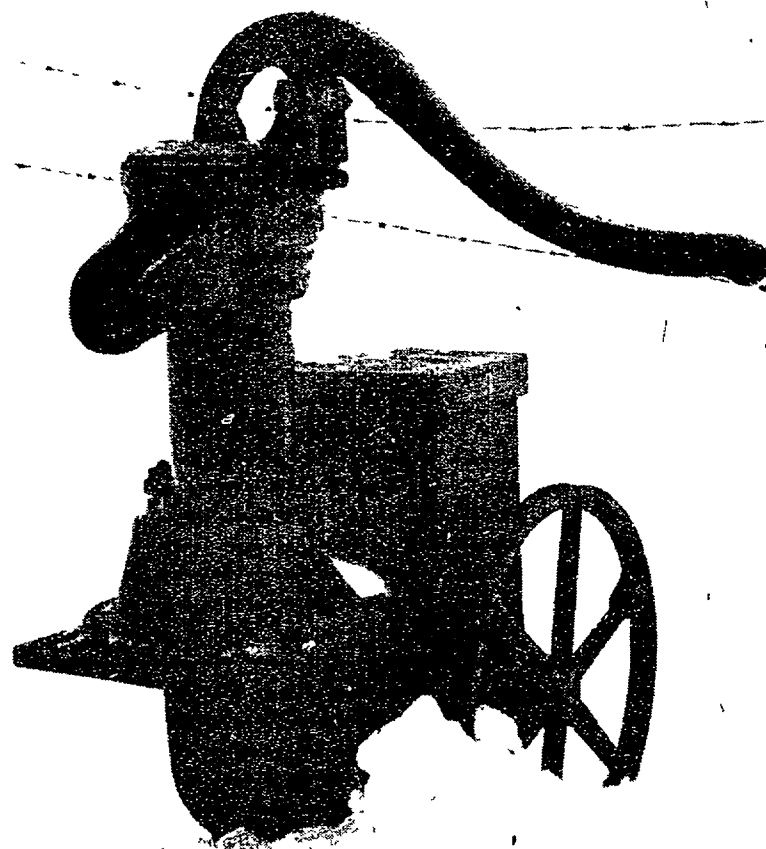

Where normally we could expect to have two or three days of below zero temperatures for the entire winter, we already have had 12 sub-zero days. Two were recorded in December, seven in January, three (through Friday) in February.

Our coldest day this season was 18 below on the 18th of January. That was the coldest January ever recorded in Michigan. It also was the third coldest ever on record in the state.

Coldest day recorded in Michigan occurred on December 24, 1872 when the temperature plunged to 24 below zero. Three years later the mercury again plunged, this time to 20 below on February 9, 1875.

All of the cold weather we've been having this season accounts a good deal for the popular belief that it's been a record year for snowfall as well, weather station spokesmen point out.

"Ever since the 14th of December when we had a temperature of 65 it's been so cold the snow hasn't had much chance to melt away. So we've got a lot of accumulated snow on the ground."

Citizens Help

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Novi Board of Education I would like to express publicly my appreciation to the citizens who spent many long hours studying the needs of the school district and arriving at meaningful priorities through which the school board can establish its goals.

The committee studied the population projections for the years 1980 and 1985, updated five and ten-year plans for meeting building and site needs and reviewed curriculum offerings and needs for the future.

The reports are very informative and a necessary tool to help in formulating long and short-range plans. I know the community joins with me and the school board in thanking the following people for giving of themselves to help our school district examine the present and plan for the future:

James Assemany, Richard Bingham, Brent Canup, Larry Chunovich, Kathy Crawford,

Bernice Frederick, Russell Gardner, Don Grevengood, Eileen Grossman;

Nancy Heinonen, Steven Hitchcock, Sandra Isham, Terry Jolly, Leon Kalinovic, Larry McFarland, Betty McKenney, Kevin O'Brien, Susan O'Donnell;

Sue Patee, Ann Prime, Angeline Szeles, Rita Traynor, Karl Ziegler, Floris Leipzig, Gretchen Pugsley, Catherine Kakaley.

Sincerely,
Gerald B. Kratz, Ed. D.

School Board Pares Ninth Grade from High School

must be changed."

In looking at the 6-3-3 structure, Assistant Superintendent Florence Panattoni noted that "the district can move in one of two directions. The 7-8-9 levels can be organized into a traditional junior high school with a highly departmentalized program similar to the high school along with more typical high school activities, or the district can exert its efforts toward maintaining the middle school concept in a 7-8-9 structure."

Northville principals and central office administrators, she told the board, "strongly prefer implementing the middle school concept in preference to the typical junior high if it is the decision of the board to adopt the K-6 organizational structure."

Throughout the presentation, Miss Panattoni stressed that while potential problems do exist with the 6-3-3 structure these problems can very likely be overcome with plenty of planning and positive attitudes.

Presentations were made by High School Principal Michael Tarpinian on the effects of 6-3-3 at his level, by Middle School Principal David Longridge on effects at the middle school level, and by Administrative Assistant Thomas Goulding on budget effects.

In attempting to identify the advantages of the 6-3-3 organizational structure, administrators came up with the following:

1. It meets earlier concerns expressed by some parents to keep sixth graders in the elementary environment.
2. It mandates the operation of all buildings (except Main Street) and as such will require appropriate budgeting ahead of other priorities, thus satisfying parents.
3. The maintenance of operation for public school students, Cooke and Silver Springs, and the distribution of enrollment as suggested will make space available in more buildings for the spreading of special education students as generally suggested and accepted by the community.
4. Easing of pressures which exist in both the high school and middle school due to overcrowding

5. Establishes an expanded implementation of the neighborhood school concept at the elementary level which should facilitate some cost savings.
6. More efficient utilization of operating elementary buildings.

Some of the disadvantages include:

1. Necessary adjustments which accompany change.
2. Staffing problems.
3. Student displeasure by sixth and ninth grade level as regards not moving to the next building level as their predecessors have.

City-Township Pact Near

the township in the amount of $400 per month.

Concerning the latter, township officials are hopeful that the township will be able to utilize the fire hall located near to the township hall for storage of fire equipment, such as the large, tanker wagon now being housed in the city's DPW garage.

● Indirect operating costs. The township agrees to reimburse the city for all operating costs which are not otherwise provided elsewhere in the agreement. Among such costs are the part-time salaries paid to the fire chief and other department officers for administration; for cost of dispatching, record-keeping and bookkeeping; training wages and other training expenses; costs of mutual-aid responses; and radio equipment maintenance.

The agreement also provides that the city must furnish the township with a complete inventory of existing equipment, indicating what is owned jointly and/or separately by the city and township. The city must advise the township of each addition and deletion to this inventory tally.

The agreement may be terminated by written notice by either party supplied at least six months prior to the date of termination.

Furthermore, it provides that should the agreement be terminated the other party will have first choice of buying out the full interest of the notifying party in the jointly owned equipment.

Concerning this agreement and the proposed new recreation department budget, which calls for an outlay of $173,718 ($77,700.55 greater than the $96,017.50 current, 1975-76 budget), Mayor A. M. Allen told board members the council would begin immediate preliminary review of the proposals so that the city can give the township an indication of how the city views them.

He pointed out that normally city budget studies would not begin for several weeks, since the city's fiscal year occurs later than does the township's, but efforts to at least formulate philosophical points of view relative to the proposals will be made early. Township budget studies have already begun.

Chances are a committee of city and township officials to review the budgets (recreation, library, and fire department) and make recommendations to the city council and the township board will be established.

Here's Effects of Grade Shifting

Northville's decision to abandon its present grade structure next fall is certain to have a major effect upon the educational program.

Nevertheless, given the overcrowding situation that now exists at the high school most if not all administrators agree that the move to the 6-3-3 grade structure is justified. In studying the 6-3-3 organization and the effects that would result at the various grade levels, administrators came up with the following:

Sixth Grade Changes

1. Elimination of home economics and shop.
2. Elimination of a reading lab, which is available at the middle school.
3. Less sophisticated science program because of the lack of facilities at the elementary school level.
4. Elimination of "total sixth grade" activities such as athletic activities, plays, musicals, and band concerts.
5. Limited teacher talents, especially for exploratory arts.
6. Possible elimination of units in art, music and physical education unless some program can be worked out.

Staffing effects will be significant, though officials are confident they can be resolved. Planning, they emphasize, is essential.

The staff will have to be prepared for such things as elementary school philosophy and procedures, parent conferences, open house, clerical tasks, testing program, parent aides, etc. And it will be important to match staff for each building, they point out, so talents of teachers can be utilized without overlapping.

Suggestions made for the sixth grade include:

1. Retain the humanities and math-science blocks as they are and using the same middle school concepts.
2. Retain the exploratory arts with each teacher providing four ten-week units and students assigned to each of the units.
3. Assign one band person to the elementary buildings to work with fifth and sixth graders enrolling in the program.
4. Provide music, art and physical education, possibly twice weekly.
5. Some or all of the buildings may wish to institute the Individual Guided Education (IGE) program.
6. Provide necessary in-service training, especially if IGE is adopted and ten-week units in exploratory arts are instituted.
7. Establish reading labs in elementary schools.
8. Shift the camping program to the elementary school.
9. Make provisions for sixth grade library needs.

Christina Petit
Northville, Michigan

"A general effect," administrators concluded, "could and most likely would be that the sixth grade programs will vary from building to building because of the variety in teacher talents, building structure, etc. Where one building might run exploratory arts in drama, speech, logic, leadership, because these are the teacher talents available, another building would provide a totally different set of exploratory programs. Parents must be alerted to this before it happens."

Ninth Grade Effects

1. Present ninth grade course in English could be offered including honors English if desirable.
2. Present math courses with the possible exception of vocational math could be offered. Limited numbers of ninth graders enrolling in vocational math could effect inclusion of this course.
3. In the science area, BSCS (biology) and ESCP (earth science) would be available. Specialized semester courses in such subjects as geology and astronomy may or may not be available dependent on numbers.
4. Changing to a third level of ISCS, which is presently used in the eighth grade at the first and second level, should be reviewed as possible improvement over the present program. However, if adopted, this would entail additional cost.
5. In the social studies area, an improvement would be anticipated by changing from a one semester course in "Patterns of Living" to a full year in U.S. history or world history or another area. The high school social studies staff and administration are presently planning for a shift whether or not the ninth grade is moved.

5. Offerings in foreign languages will create problems. Using the present enrollment in foreign languages, Spanish, French and German could be offered if the numbers enrolling were in the right building to allow reasonable class sizes and if staffing problems can be resolved. Russian could not be offered.

6. The vocational area could be the most negatively effected. For example, graphics could not be offered; power mechanics could be offered only on a very limited basis, especially at Cooke; drafting would also be limited by the facilities available; the limited numbers of freshmen in home economics courses would make it impossible to offer programs in both junior high buildings; and business courses in accounting, shorthand and a typing course set up for students having had typing at the middle school level would be curtailed.

If staffing can be resolved and if more sophisticated equipment can be provided, the latter problem could be resolved, however.

7. The physical education program could not include swimming instruction unless additional busing at the right time is provided.

Concerning ninth grade staffing, administrators noted:

1. Because one and possibly more foreign language teachers will have to travel to two buildings in addition to carrying a high school schedule, time will need to be built in for that as an additional cost to the district.

It is possible, however, that one language could be offered at one middle school and another language at the second middle school, thus minimizing travel.

2. The shift could result in placement of one band person at each building, with resulting limitations on the high school program.

3. Support staff will have to be evaluated in terms of numbers of students.

4. Mileage costs for traveling staff needs to be added to budget items.

5. Scheduling in order to coordinate utilization of staff in three buildings will create problems.

Extra Curricular Problems

1. Eliminating or shifting to the junior high and ninth grade program in girls' and boys' athletic activities such as basketball, track, football, cross country, tennis, golf, etc.
2. Eliminating ninth grade from wrestling.
3. Elimination of freshman participation in plays, forensics, and debate.
4. Probably the great problem would occur if ninth grade year-round school were kept at the high school because students couldn't participate in the junior high program and would have limited opportunities on junior varsity teams.
5. "Cost" of programs if implemented at two middle schools needs to be considered in the budget.

Additional Problems

1. Determining credits that will be accepted from the middle school by the high school.

2. Determining credits necessary for graduation.

3. Determining grade point average based on the 10-12 structure.

4. Implementing computer scheduling at both the middle schools if the teachers' programs are to be dovetailed.

According to administrators, an advantage that could occur if the high school funds now allocated to the high school for these activities were transferred to the middle school would be that a strong intramural program in keeping with the middle school concept could be implemented.

In fact, the total change to a 6-3-3 structure could result in a better educational program, they added, if adequate funds were provided for in-service education, program development and materials necessary for implementation.

One very likely problem that could occur at the high school would involve the year round school program. Unless there were sufficient numbers of volunteers to participate it would not be offered or it would be offered but with very limited course offerings, administrators noted.

Most interest in the year round school at the high school has been at the ninth grade level, thus with its shift to the middle school the potential number of students available for YRS next year appears very limited, officials admitted.

No Room for Mediocrity In Teaching Profession

To the Editor:

I attended the Board of Education meeting on January 27, 1976 and had to respond to remarks made at that meeting by Mrs. Poe, a teacher and N.E.A. representative.

After several parents had voiced their concerns about the competency of some Northville teachers, Mrs. Poe stated, "we were all human beings and of course there were some problems." In defending one teacher, who is having "difficulties," she reported that this teacher is now receiving help.

This teacher has taught several years, receives a high salary, receives all of her contractual benefits and is "receiving help" at our children's educational expense and the taxpayer is subsidizing the incompetency. Why wasn't this teacher helped during her student teaching assignments, or during her probationary period? Why isn't this type of teacher weeded out of the system before given tenure status? Why must the children suffer? Why should their educational program be sacrificed?

Mrs. Poe's other comment about why our children have to take remedial classes in college was totally absurd to me. She stated that even in 1939 students were taking remedial classes. Does Mrs. Poe equate education today with education in 1939?

In 1939, they did not have individualized programs, open classrooms, reading labs, specialized teachers, movement education, remedial reading teachers, workbooks, mimeograph machines, limited class size, media learning techniques, L.D. rooms, E.I. rooms, media centers, media center teachers, Chapter III, Title I, NDEA, ESEA, ESY, TSY, PTA, NEA, mods, pods, and please excuse me if I have forgotten something.

Certainly, with all this and children with an average I.Q. of 110, we can turn out a much better product. If there is one place in society that we as taxpayers should not tolerate mediocrity, it's our school system and the education of our children.

Appreciates Vote Support

To the Editor:

I wish to express my most sincere thanks to the many faithful friends, especially in the Novi area, who showed their confidence in me by their vote in the Primary Election.

May I say that I shall continue to serve you to the very best of my ability in the field of education on the Novi and Oakland County School Boards. There, I feel, I am truly doing the greatest service to all by insuring a sound education for our youth, through the careful channeling of funds according to priorities that best meet the needs of the students.

Smith's to Blame

To the Editor:

Wayne County Commissioners, (our part-time county representatives who have recently raised their salaries to $14,000) have done the Northville and Plymouth areas a great disservice. Warned since 1971 of an impending "prison crisis" at the Wayne County jail they have only now begun to seek alternatives. The alternative selected is to place dangerous felons at DeHoCo located on Five Mile Road in Northville Township, only a stone's throw away from our communities. The DeHoCo structures designed for minimal risk prisoners has a poor record on escapes and now we hear that after three of four days of planning and a few more fences they are ready to house Detroit's worst elements.

Who is to blame? Plymouth and Northville Township residents near Five Mile can blame their County Commissioner Royce Smith the Democrat from Belleville who has not been able to exert enough influence to keep this situation from our area. How long will the County use this area? Will it become the site of the new jail?

Even if the argument is used that a new jail has to go somewhere proper planning two or three years ago would have dictated that a jail for dangerous criminals be placed in an area where security and population concerns would be minimized. Plymouth and Northville Township voters should recall this situation when elections arrive this summer and fall.

Board Forming New Committees

Upon the recommendation of the school superintendent, the Northville Board of Education has decided to establish two additional citizen committees — these to study curriculum evaluation and improvement, and facility utilization and improvement.

Naming of committee members and a formal charge to them probably will occur at the next school board meeting. Meanwhile, citizens wishing to participate on either committee are urged to contact a board member or the superintendent's office.

Referring to the recently established committee (see story elsewhere) to study millage needs of the school district, Spear observed "two other issues are pushing and shoving for the same spotlight that notes the millage questions."

These, he continued, include "the matter of facility utilization and upkeep as it relates to facility equality within the district plus the economic issue of open or closed schools, and the second, program content and implementation, particularly in relationship to the pending

North Central evaluation of our high school program, grade structure change and a financial squeeze impact on program offerings."

The facilities committee, he suggested, should function more on a short range basis with an eye toward formulating a recommendation to the board of education in early April. This committee, he said, "should focus on a review of population projections, facility needs over the next five years, desired up-grading of older buildings, utilization of the Main Street complex of buildings and major building maintenance needs.

250 Prisoners on Way to DeHoCo As Officials Beef-up Security

Emergency preparations for temporary housing of jail prisoners at two suburban Wayne County locations were under way this week while two key county officials expressed assurances to area residents regarding security arrangements.

The County Board of Commissioners, faced with a court-set deadline for reducing the jail population from some 850 to 720 inmates, approved the plans at a February 5 meeting.

The Board voted to house some 250 prisoners in three barracks at the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) in Plymouth Township for 90 days and to prepare a vacant building at Wayne County General Hospital for use after the 90-day period.

Five County Commissioners from the area surrounding the hospital, which is located in Westland, voted against use of the building on the hospital grounds. They said area residents are strongly opposed to having a jail facility in that location.

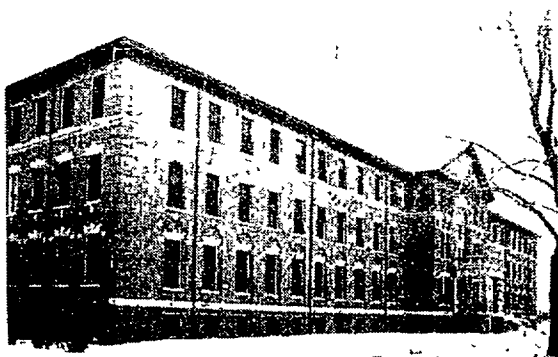

Board Vice Chairman John Barr of Dearborn Heights, who voted against use of the hospital building, said area residents were concerned about security and the effect on property values.

Also voting against use of the hospital building were Commissioners Thomas Presnell of Westland, Royce E. Smith of Belleville, and George Hart and John Lesinski, both of Dearborn.

Meanwhile, County Sheriff William Lucas, who is responsible for guarding jail inmates, and the county's top building expert, expressed confidence in their ability to prevent escapes.

The board of commissioners authorized up to $550,000 to cover the cost of housing approximately 250 prisoners in three barracks at DeHoCo. The portion of this prison to be used is located on the south side of Five Mile Road. The women's division of DeHoCo is located on the north side of Five Mile in Northville Township.

Some $50,000 is to be used to erect a 12-foot-high security fence around the barracks, plus security and other renovations inside the barracks. The balance of the money will be used for guards and other staff.

THREE STORY BUILDING 'M'—part of the Wayne County General Hospital complex at Merriman and Michigan Ave. in Westland, is due to be renovated at an estimated cost of $1.5 million to temporarily house 250 inmates to meet a court order to reduce the County Jail population to 720.

Lucas said the first prisoners would be moved into the DeHoCo barracks by the week of February 16.

Another 1.5 million was earmarked for renovation of a three-story brick structure, known as Building "M", on the ground of the County hospital, located at Michigan Ave., and Merriman in Westland.

Building "M" housed psychiatric patients from its opening in 1929 until 1974 when the State moved the patients into state mental hospitals.

County Auditor Richard T. Kelly estimated it would take about 18 weeks to ready Building "M" to house the 250 prisoners.

Sheriff Lucas described the chances of any prisoner escaping from the building as "extremely remote." He stated:

"We are going to assign our very best, most highly-trained and experienced command officers and men out there. The inmates will have no access to doors or windows."

"In addition, there is the headquarters of the Sheriff's patrol a few hundred yards away, with patrol cars in the area constantly. We have had only one actual escape from the present jail in history and that was a result of overcrowding."

"In the extremely remote possibility that a prisoner did get out, he would not hang around the area where he would stick out like a sore thumb in his jail uniform. He would concentrate on getting out of the area."

County Building Superintendent M. H. (Bill) Ashley said security provisions would have to be approved by the State Department of Corrections. He explained that the prisoners would be housed in 20-man wards enclosed by heavy steel security screening which would prevent access to windows. He said there will be a five-foot-wide walkway for guards between the steel screening and the outer walls of the building.

"These people probably will receive more surveillance than those at the County Jail. There will be better vision from the guard stations than there is at the jail," Ashley said.

The board of commissioners actions culminated a hectic week of meetings between county, state and Detroit city officials.

The crisis developed when a panel of three circuit judges held the sheriff in contempt of court for continuing to accept prisoners beyond a 720 limit for the present jail set by the judicial panel.

The panel gave the sheriff until midnight last Wednesday (February 3) to conform to the 720 limit. Lucas announced he would obey the order.

Presiding Circuit Court Judge James N. Canham played a key role in the emergency arrangements for holding prisoners, about 50 of which are brought to the jail weekly by police from throughout the county.

Pending the readying of the DeHoCo barracks, Canham ordered that defendants be held in local police lockups pending court examination. He later amended his order increasing the time interval that defendants were to be held in local lockups until brought downtown for trial.

The Wayne County Association of Chiefs of Police went to court in an effort to have Canham's order reversed, contending they do not have the facilities for holding prisoners that long.

Dumas Cites Efforts To Solve Jail Problems

Editor's Note: Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas of Livonia, who represents Northville, made the following comments relative to the jail to the ways and means committee.

Unforeseen circumstances against which county could not provide:

1. Severe economic recession, unemployment which has resulted in an increase in the number of crimes committed in nearly all categories.

2. Efforts of the community mental health programs which have released into the community many persons formerly held in permanent mental health institutions (most of whom, I must add, are harmless).

3. Impact of the mental health code which has created a serious revolving door process permitting many who were committed to institutions as criminally insane to be released into the community where some again have committed crimes and have been sent back to jail.

4. Overcrowding of the state forensic unit has prevented the transfer of many of these persons to state facilities for determination of their ability to stand trial.

To say that the Board of Commissioners has done nothing about the increased overcrowding is false and totally unfair.

Four years ago the Board of Commissioners acknowledged the need for a new jail after being ordered by the court to reduce the jail population, correct sanitary conditions, and replace the old two man cells with one man cells. We have spent over $6 million on jail improvements and additional monies to provide more humane conditions and programs for prisoners.

In 1970 the Board of Commissioners placed on the ballot a proposal for millage for a new jail and a new youth detention facility for juvenile offenders. The people of Wayne County turned down that proposal. The incidence of crime has increased and many of those juveniles are now adult criminals.

Two years ago the Board of Commissioners held hearings throughout Wayne County on a proposal to provide additional monies for all criminal justice uses and a new jail.

1. Failing a millage vote the Board of Commissioners went both to the State Legislature and the Congress for assistance in obtaining funding for a new jail. We persuaded the Legislature to amend the municipal bonding statute to permit the county to float bonds for a jail without a vote of the people.

2. Three years ago we voted by Board resolution to purchase from the City of Detroit land across from the jail site of the old Traffic Court and instructed our Corp. Counsel and the Board of Auditors to commence negotiations.

3. We also in 1972 authorized the obtaining architectural drawings for two jail sites. One in downtown Detroit and the other south of Wayne County General Hospital and Michigan Avenue.

4. In event that the plans were approved by the Department of Corrections.

5. We approved the schematics for the Detroit jail site and allocated 1.3 million for the Board of Auditors to proceed with the construction plans.

6. For the interior we allocated $250,000 for the temporary housing of overflow prisoners on the 9th floor of the 1st precinct station across from the jail.

7. In the meantime, the firm of Grossman had asked us to review a proposal for the J.L. Hudson Madison warehouse. We reviewed their proposal and sent it to the State Department of Corrections. Both the Corrections Department and the Board of Commissioners rejected their proposal as inadequate.

8. In 1974 Grossman came in with a new proposal and were allowed by 3 judge panel to intervene in the court case. (I ask you why not allow also the owners of the Heritage Hotel, the Pick and Shelby, Joshua Moore — anyone with an old warehouse to unload?).

9. Currently the Chairman of the Board has been meeting with Congress and the Advisors to assure that monies in the Public Works Bill may be used to start construction of a new jail which no one in the Board of Commissioners denies a need for.

Ski Instructor Jim Holcomb gives Diane Kraneczek tip of basic 'walking' step

Introduction of cross country skiing at Kensington Metro Park has given the golf course a new image

'We Can't Keep up with the Crowds'

Kensington Golf Course Pinch Hits for Snow Buffs

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Golfing and skiing go hand in glove at Kensington Metro Park where introduction of a new winter activity has astonished officials.

"It's amazing the way this has taken off," said Brian Kelly as he waved a hand at the skiers on Kensington's golf course.

"Cross country skiing started here last year, and this year, even after increasing the number of skis, we can't keep up with the crowds."

Kelly is manager of the Ski Terrain — the converted golfing concession stand that in winter serves as the headquarters for the cross country skiing operation.

Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority has contracted with Raupp, a camp-fitters and sports goods company, to furnish the ski equipment that is rented to the public at Kensington.

This rental program, which began last year at Kensington, now also includes Stoney Creek Metro Park.

Although Raupp furnishes the skis and an instructor, Kensington retains the management function.

By introducing cross country skiing at Kensington, the metro park system is getting double service from its golf course and concession stand building. According to Kelly it means that the golfing facilities are being used 10 months of the year — or more.

"People came to ski here before," he explained, "but then we didn't have marked ski trails and, of course, they came with their own equipment."

Since the introduction of the rental program last year, patronage has tripled and there are signs now that it will have to be substantially increased next year to keep up with the demand.

More than 100 pairs of skis and related equipment are available at Kensington, where on weekends most or all of it is rented by 9 a.m. "We have people waiting an hour before we open," Kelly said. "If it is a real nice day, few of the skiers are back in before noon."

Demand on weekdays is not as great, but nevertheless activity is brisk.

An average of 240 skiers use the facilities on Saturday and Sunday . . . and that's not counting large numbers that bring their own equipment.

Cross country skiing, especially at Kensington, is a family sport, said Kelly. However, average age of those taking advantage of the facilities is between 25 and 30.

"We still are not getting as many older people as we would like to see, but their numbers are increasing. Too many think it is a difficult sport to learn. Quite the contrary, people can have fun the very first day they come out. We had a couple of retired teachers come out yesterday, and I'll bet they were close to 70 years old. They had a ball, and were out most of the day."

Hours are 9 a.m. to dusk Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to dusk on Saturday and Sunday.

Rental cost is $3.50 for a half-day or $6.50 for a full day. An hour of instruction costs $3. The instructor is present at 4 p.m. on Wednesday and at 1 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Kensington Metro Park's golfing concession stand is a busy place in both summer and winter

The rental fee pays for a pair of skis, boots, and a ski pole. The skis are wood with a plastic under-surface which requires no waxing.

Kensington offers three marked trails on the golf course and three marked trails elsewhere in the park. The golf course trails range in length from .57 miles to 1.28 miles. The other trails range from 2 miles to 4.45 miles.

Many of those skiers who rented equipment at Kensington last year are back again this year, but bringing their own equipment. "That's what happens generally when someone really likes the sport — or any sport for that matter. They want to have their own equipment," said Kelly.

"Here they rent the skis with plastic runners. They don't have to fuss with wax. But usually when the skier gets his own equipment he goes to the wax runner. It's more versatile in changing snow conditions and it glides more easily."

According to the Raupp instructors, "All Nordic skiing is based on striding. If you know how to walk, then you already know something about skiing technique. You are only extending walking to skiing and using the glide of the skis to help."

Cross country skis are narrower than the conventional skis, and only the toe of the boot is clamped to the ski. The heel is loose so that the simulated walk can be accomplished.

South Lyon Woman Revives Dying Art

It's a dying art — that of ecclesiastical embroidery. You wouldn't know it though when viewing the beautiful and artistic work done by Jean Bristol, wife of the Reverend Michael Bristol of Holy Cross Lutheran Church in South Lyon.

Pastor Bristol is the possessor of five stoles worn with his ministerial robes all of which bear two attractive and colorful religious symbols painstakingly embroidered by his wife.

"I've been doing this kind of thing for 10 years," admits Mrs. Bristol. "I started when I took a course at Concordia Seminary in Springfield, Illinois where my husband was preparing to become a minister. After that I taught embroidery for two years."

Mrs. Bristol is again in the teaching process as she prepares some Holy Cross parishioners for the intricate and time consuming task of making paraments (altar and pulpit cloths) for the new church being constructed by Holy Cross.

Pastor Bristol's stoles, one for each color of the liturgical year, reflect his wife's liking for vivid colors. The symbols on his white Christmas and Easter stoles are done in bright oranges and yellows accented with gold and a touch of black. The pattern, chosen by the Pastor and copied by his wife, features a sunburst background centered by a cross, crown and the IHS abbreviation for Christ.

In order to reproduce the symbol, Mrs. Bristol traced it first on thin paper and then, by the use of dressmaker's carbon, copied it on the rich silk brocade of the stole itself. Then began the labor of love, filling in the outline with her choice of fine stitches. She estimates that it took 40 hours of actual work to complete each symbol—one on each end of the stole — plus the additional cross which she embroiders at the back of the neck of each stole.

Pure silk embroidery floss, fine pure silk spool thread and gold fail wound on silk floss are the materials used in ecclesiastical embroidery. Jean uses a linen backing stretched in an 18 by 21 inch frame to hold her material taut while working on the intricate stitches. The stole or other material is then fastened to the linen.

Jean recommends a very strong light for working. She says bright sunlight is fine but if working at night, a person should use a high intensity lamp or a 150 watt bulb.

"Everyone who does this has to set her own pace. You can't just start in and do two hours of work. You have to get your eyes used to it. Some people take years to work on one symbol."

"When I teach people it is on an individual basis. They may only come to me every six weeks or so — whenever they run into a problem or want to start a new symbol. We plan the colors before we start work," she explains.

She adds that the main stitches used are "laid, rope, couching and long and short." Satin stitch and French knots are interspersed with these depending on the pattern.

Ecclesiastical embroidery is not a dying art to Mrs. Jean Bristol of South Lyon.

Cindy Neibaur Works for Church

Mission Work Takes Her to Kentucky

Cindy Neibaur, a member of St. Patrick's Church on Whitmore Lake Road, doesn't quite fit the image of today's nonchalant teenager. Attractive and intelligent, she is not asking what the world can do for her but rather what she can do for the world.

Next week, a longtime dream of helping people will come true as she departs to spend a year at Holy Redeemer Mission in Vanceburg, Kentucky. As a lay volunteer, Cindy will teach Bible classes and work in the office of the mission.

Eighteen-year-old Cindy, a graduate of Huron High School in Ann Arbor, will receive her commission from the parish community of St. Patrick's during the liturgy this Sunday. Her mission cross, the symbol of her service, will be presented by Renee Stevenson, a member of St. Patrick's who served in Holy Redeemer as a lay volunteer in 1974-75.

Cindy, like Renee, will be supported by St. Patrick's during her stay in the mission field. The local church will provide the $100 stipend which is required of volunteers at Holy Redeemer. The mission returns $35 per month to the volunteers to take care of their personal expenses.

"I've wanted to do something like this for a long time — maybe as a vocation eventually. There's not a lot of time in life to do the things you want to do so I feel I better take advantage of the opportunity now," confides the mature young lady.

"I went to the Mission with Renee at Christmas time and I was terribly struck by the poverty. Vanceburg is in the Appalachians and many of the people have lived in poverty for generations.

"I feel that one way to help them is to try to reach the children. Try to make them see that it is important to stay in school and learn to do something."

"As many as 10 people live in a house not much larger than our living room. A lot of the houses appear to have cardboard walls and are heated by wood stoves. They burn so much wood there that the air looks polluted all the time."

Cindy adds that fire is quite a hazard in the Kentucky town which in size is about the same as Whitmore Lake. Father Pat O'Donnel, head of the mission, is even now in the process of helping two families rebuild their homes lost in fires.

In addition to Father

O'Donnel, Holy Redeemer Mission has a staff which Discovering causes for fights and disagreements in marriage using the concepts of Transactional Analysis will be one of the subjects covered in a marriage enrichment class to be taught by the Reverend Fred Prezioso.

The class will meet for five weeks beginning Monday, February 23, from 7:45 to 10 p.m. at Epiphany Lutheran Church, 41390 Five Mile Road, where the Reverend Prezioso is the pastor.

He has had extensive training and experience in counseling and working with groups and has taught a marriage preparation course at Schoolcraft College.

Concepts of TA will be used during the five weeks, the pastor explains, to increase awareness, communication and sharing between marriage partners.

The basic TA theory will be related to couples and will cover "strokes" and "egograms" which show how people relate to one another in a critical, nurturing or a fun-loving way.

The class will study typical transactions that occur between husband and wife and show how they can structure time to be together and apart.

"We'll look at marriage to see how husbands and wives come on as persecutors, rescuers or as victims," the minister explains.

He adds that the "psychological games" husbands and wives play also will be covered as well as ways a "person's life script affects the way he or she relates in a marriage."

Cost for the class is $20 a couple. It is open to anyone in the community. Registrations are being taken at the church, 453-1191 or 453-8807.

Michigan Child Evangelism Fellowship (CEF) of Livingston County organized its first committee on January 19. Committee members are Bob Cotes (chairperson), Joyce Lyons (secretary), Harry Martin (promotion chairperson), and Jenny King (prayer band chairperson).

Four CEF training classes are being held in Brighton, Howell, Fowlerville, and Pinckney. For further information on the classes, persons should call 677-6081 or write to CEF, Box O, Fowlerville 48836.

Guests from area churches will be present when the Chilson Hills Baptist Church of Brighton observes its first anniversary this Sunday, February 15, at a 9:30 a.m. worship service in the Boy Scout Building on the mill pond.

Music will be provided by members of guest churches. The Reverend David Horton of Jackson, central area director for American Baptist Churches in Michigan, and Pastor Merle R. Meeden will deliver messages.

After the worship service, which will run until 11 a.m., a dinner will be served for church members, guests and friends. For more information about the dinner, persons should call Mrs. Green at 878-3086 or Pastor Meeden at 546-1495.

The church plans to construct a new church building this year on a 10-acre site in the Chilson Road area. A building committee, consisting of John Birdsong, Rick Kontz, Wayne Brown, Jim Keymer, Stan Green and Les Upton (chairperson), is guiding the church in its building effort.

The age of supersonic travel has engulfed us despite some rather far-fetched ecological protests that, in the most part, are somewhat lacking in factual basis.

Much concern has been shown about the ozone strata which is encountered above oxygen bearing layers that enclose the earth. Actually, research has shown that a two hour snowstorm creates more havoc than do two Concordes landing and taking off. The ozone layers are torn, rent asunder, and disturbed every minute of every hour and in the process they are restructured and reconstituted and continually restored.

I cannot believe protests based on excessive noise. Decibels of sound created by landing of a Concorde are very little greater than those made by the approach and landing of a 747 jet plane.

Flying in a Concorde must be exhilarating and spell-binding. Imagine flying faster than a rifle bullet and twice as high as Mt. Everest—in air so smooth all sense of motion is dispelled.

Schedule calls for London to New York in three and one-half hours, to Singapore in 10 hours, and to Australia in 13 hours.

Since the fare is about 20 per cent premium over first-class costs, your trip must be big-business or big-government oriented to warrant choosing this type of travel or perhaps you're a newly rich oil baron of the Middle East.

Two lines operate the Concorde schedules: British Airways (formerly B.O.A.C.) out of London and Air France out of Paris. From my personal experience, I would choose British Airways every time. Its record of operation and its high standards of personnel, service and food make it a "must".

A final note: When one is a fervent apostle of any cause, he usually becomes so engrossed with his own project he cannot see beyond the perimeter of his own crusade. Perhaps that is the problem with some anti-supersonic experts today. Perhaps it is my problem also when I welcome supersonic travel into today's world of adventure.

Congratulations British Airways. I don't think you'll break even financially for 10 years but it must be a very prideful accomplishment!

includes three nuns and some 14 volunteers raging in age from 18 to 25. The A-frame church is the center of the religious activities while a small factory building houses the dining room for the staff and provides work space for the carpentry shop.

The carpentry shop is one of the community projects developed by Holy Redeemer Mission to enable the people of the area in eastern Kentucky to support themselves through native skills. The shop employs 10 people and produces wooden and metal crosses, wooden doves to be hung on chains, beds, dressers and altars.

These are sold at various fairs throughout the country.

The girl volunteers at the Mission live in a ranch style house while the young men occupy a mobile home. They gain their support in a variety of ways—from parishes such as St. Patrick's, from the Knights of Columbus chapters and from other organizations.

Cindy, who has been teaching two catechism classes at her parish church as a lay student, will be in charge of Bible classes for kindergarten and first graders in Vanceburg as well as seventh graders. She estimates that while the area is predominately a Baptist and Methodist section, some 75-80 percent of the people look to the Mission for help.

How do Cindy's parents, the Donald Neibaurs of Northfield Church Road, feel about their daughter's plans? "It's a once in a lifetime opportunity. Obviously, we're very proud that she wants to do this. It's an education you don't find in books. Cindy has always been this type of girl—always for the underdog," says her pleased mother.

'Eastward Ho' Echoes Across Land

By ELMER E. WHITE

LANSING—"Eastward ho" is the bicentennial cry, a covered wagon is the transportation and a state legislator is Michigan Trail Boss.

Democratic Representative Paul Porter of Quincy recently accepted appointment as Trail Boss for Michigan's vehicle in the Bicentennial Wagon Train.

Our state wagon, supervised by the Michigan Horse Council, is slated to leave Lansing May 5 to meet a national train coming from Elkhart, Indiana. That train is one of five major wagon trains that will wind their way to Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, arriving on July 3 to participate in the nation's 280th birthday celebration.

THE WAGON TRAIN project, endorsed by the Michigan Bicentennial Commission and the American Revolutionary Bicentennial Commission, will involve moving hundreds and perhaps thousands of people, wagons and horses.

Another move that has the backing of Michigan's national birthday celebration commission is that of a house—tagged "the most historical building in Macomb County."

The commission awarded a $2,500 matching grant for the moving and renovation of the Crocker House in Mount Clemens.

BUILT IN the late 1850's by Joshua Dickinson, the first mayor of Mount Clemens, the house had been acquired by the Department of State Highways and Transportation because of needed improvements in a highway in that city.

To preserve the structure, the department donated it to the Macomb County Historical Society, which plans to move and re-do the building as a museum. The house was moved once in 1908.

The latest move will come after the Society collects enough funds—an estimated $100,000 to $200,000—to cover its efforts.

PICTURE A PUBLIC school classroom: Total silence. Some young people staring out the window. Others with eyes tightly closed. Still others silently reading their homework assignments before their day begins.

Such might be the scene if Republican Representative James Smith of Grand Blanc has his way.

Smith wants to make silent meditation a part of the public school system in Michigan—thus permitting those who so desire to pray in silence without conflicting with the U.S. Supreme Court ruling against prayer in public schools.

PATTERNED AFTER a law adopted in Connecticut last year, Smith's proposal specifies no religious activity at all. It also clearly states that meditation is voluntary—not required.

"I think it's too bad that some kind of silence for thought isn't provided for those who want it," says Smith. "I think it's important for our young people. Most of them need to have some kind of quiet thought before entering any activity."

The Michigan House and Senate open each of their sessions with an invocation by a member of the clergy or a legislator.

TOWARD THE END of this decade, Michigan's hiring policies may undergo quite a change.

State Personnel Director Richard A. Ross has named a special committee to look into ways to revise current methods of filling Michigan civil service jobs.

The committee study, expected to take about two years, will consider:

—establishment of a career counseling service.

—adoption of a skills data bank which will enable persons to apply for employment rather than apply for examinations for jobs.

—development of a certification process calling for constant updating and purging of employment lists.

Who Qualifies

For Exemption?

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on 1975 income tax preparation.

Although taxpayers realize they may claim a $750 exemption for each dependent, not everyone is sure who qualifies as a dependent.

How about a 20-year-old away at college. Or the elderly parent who does not live with you but whom you help support? Or the family member who died last year?

The right answers to such questions are more important than ever, thanks to the 1975 Tax Reduction Act. This year, each of your dependents is worth not only the deduction but an extra credit of $30—that is $30 you can subtract from your tax bill, or claim as a refund if your taxes were fully covered by withholding. To begin at the beginning, your first dependent is yourself, and that is true even if you are also the dependent of another taxpayer, as in the case of a young person with a part-time job whose parents provide more than half his support.

On a joint return there are at least two dependents, husband and wife. And if either of them is over 65 or technically "blind", there are extra exemptions for each of those conditions (although they do not qualify for the $30 tax credit).

The over-65 and blindness exemptions can be taken only by the persons affected; if such individuals are the dependents of another taxpayer, that taxpayer does not get the added break.

Your child under 19 is a dependent if you provide half his support. This continues to be true after he passes 19 if he is a full time student.

Generally, there are five tests that determine whether a person is your dependent. To qualify, he must meet all five:

- You provide more than half his support

- He makes less than $750 gross income
- He lives with you for the entire year or is a close relative
- He is a citizen or resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico or Panama
- He does not file a joint return with another taxpayer except for the purpose of claiming a refund of taxes withheld

What about a child born late in the year? The baby born during the year is a dependent. The same is true of a dependent who dies; generally, if the person qualified as a dependent during any part of the year, the taxpayer gets the full exemption. This is not true, though, in the case of a man whose wife dies and he remarries before the end of the year; he can claim only the new wife. Also, a man who is divorced or legally separated as of the end of the year loses the exemption for the divorced or estranged wife.

In the case of elderly parents supported jointly by two or more of their children, none of whom provides more than half the support, the exemptions can be taken by one of the young people who contributed at least 10 percent if the others sign a statement that they are not claiming the exemption this year.

The exemption for the child of a divorced couple generally goes to the parent having custody for the greater part of the year. However, the other parent qualifies if he contributed at least $600 toward the child's support and the divorce decree specifies that he gets the exemption or if he contributed at least $1,200 and the other parent cannot establish that she provided more.

It may be an oversimplification, but the vegetables required in ethnic, gourmet recipes are often different from the common American ones.

In part this difference is in flavor. California melons have to make it to Michigan and still look good, even if flavor or nutrition have to be sacrificed in favor of keeping qualities. Not so with vegetables grown in much of the rest of the world.

Another difference is that food preferences vary. Gourmet cookbooks abound with hard (or impossible) to find vegetables which are common in European or Oriental shops. Some of these can be grown in your backyard, giving your gourmet treats authenticity and freshness they have been missing.

Flageolets, much used in cassoulets, are a type of bean which grows like dwarf bush beans, though their production is less. Generally they are shelled like green peas and cooked in their immature state. A recipe might suggest that, in the absence of flageolets, substitute any dry white bean, but why not have the real thing if you can?

Snow peas are common in Oriental recipes, giving them color, crispness, and a faintly sweet, green taste. In the frozen food case they are in the neighborhood of 60 cents a package—if they are in the neighborhood at all, but they are as easy to grow as regular peas.

A recipe might say you could substitute french cut green beans, but it won't be the same, any more than using mashed potatoes in place of rice in rice pilaf because they are both white starches.

Shallots are another easy-to-grow, hard-to-find gourmet item. The $2.00 per pound they usually cost is enough to scare anyone into substituting green onions. Shallots have a milder, more subtle flavor and aroma which can be essential to a delicate sauce. Grow them rather than do without.

Right now the seeds for these somewhat unusual backyard garden items may be hard to find in local seed outlets or most American catalogs. If this is the case, write for catalogs from companies listed below. Not all will be in English, but translation just adds to the adventure.

Religious Effects

Jean has done a lamb completely in French knots with a single strand of fine silk and a very fine needle.

Jean's first work was on a "sample board" which all embroidery students must complete in the seminary course. It includes two Greek crosses, the triquetra symbol, the Chi Rho symbol, the grapes representing the wine and the wheat representing the bread of communion as well as the Christmas rose. All are beautifully done attesting to Jean's talent with the needle even in her beginning efforts.

"Everybody finds out a lot about ripping when they are learning. They're not perfect," she says laughingly

Love and God

Out of God there came love
For a woman and a man—
One soul to another—
One hand to one hand.

Because of our Maker
Two lovers can share
All the magic of Nature—
All the wonder put there.

He gives us a dream.
He sets a high goal:
To love till we part—
To make our lives full.

We need His great beauty—
His help from above—
To keep our lives sacred—
To abide in His love.

Jeanne Rhoads

Mr. Chips

A Woodcarver by trade loved what he made, warm wooden cats and boats.

The cats seemed to purr and shiver their fur.
The boats of course
did float.

As he carved he saved
the chips that he made, full pockets bulged
from his coat.

At the end of the day to home on the way, he dropped chips
as he walked along.

From each home as he passed, the children cast their eyes on the chips as they fell.

One and all rushed out with a happy shout, they called to him
as he strolled by . . .

Mr. Chips . . . they said,
He would nod his head.
Gently letting more
Chips fall around.

Winter

Long shadows on the snow.
Bare trees and cold winds that blow.
Frozen water on the pond.
People and animals shackled together by the winter bond.

That bright and glary light that shines all around.
The snow heaped and shoveled into one gigantic mound.

The lonesome bird that sits in the naked tree and sings.

That special kind of stillness that only winter brings.
Nancy Whisman

Routine

I get up every day to the same disarray
Pop cans, gum labels, nail polish so gay
Papers, books, wet towels on the floor
Boots, scarves, mittens galore

Crumbs on the table, grease on the stove
The sink full of dishes, an open bread loaf
The refrigerator bursting out at the seams
With leftovers, in dishes, a half cup of beans?

Wilted salad, part of a pork chop
A bottle of soda with no top
An orange half peeled
A zip-lock bag, not sealed

The bathroom is a disaster
The shampoo is going faster
The faucet dripping in the shower
The hair dryer turned on for an hour

Worn out panty hose on the hamper
The fireplace with an open damper
The paper wrinkled and pulled apart
Now they are yelling cause the car won't start

In and out of the house they go
Doesn't enter their minds to shovel some snow
The jumper cables are coming to life
Will this routine go on all my life?

A Friend

A friend is someone who will share,
No arguing or hate.
A person who just understands.
To heartaches, they relate.

A friend will listen quietly,
Advise — only when asked.
A compliment, encouragement,
A truthfulness, no mask.

No amount of wealth or fame
Can split true friends apart.
All that glitters is not gold,
It's love from a friend's heart.

A friend will never watch a clock,
They have the time to waste.
They realize the touch involved,
The clasp on which life's based.

For hand in hand and arm in arm
Will banish evil moans.
No person is an island.
No person walks alone.

Last September, when the House Ways and Means Committee was on the verge of approving tax measures potentially damaging to the horse industry, the American Horse Council urged its members to make their objections known to the committee and to their congressmen.

The Ways and Means Committee finally voted to

LAL sections of tax reform legislation. An amendment to omit livestock from the LAL, introduced by Representative William A. Steiger (R-

the support of the American Horse Council.

SANRAY CORPORATION of Detroit has opened the Novi Fun Center Arcade in the Roman Plaza Shopping Center, located in Novi off Novi Road, just north of Grand River.

More than 20 games, including the latest equipment in lines of pinball, foos ball, pool and TV games. Have been installed in the arcade.

Sanray is owned by Sanford Sulkes and Raymond Suarez. Sulkes and Suarez are resident managers of the business here and will be on the premises during the hours the arcade is open.

The arcade will be open Monday through Friday, from 4 p.m. to midnight, and on Saturday and Sunday from noon to midnight.

Suarez has worked for a Detroit based amusement and vending company for the past 15 years. Sulkes is a former junior high school teacher, who now is truant officer for the Detroit public school system. He has also owned a small vending company for the past five years.

A NEW MINI-SIZED Ford Motor Company concept car is so versatile it can be converted into four different vehicles — from a two-seat sports coupe to a four-seat station wagon.

The Prima — the result of a collaboration between Ford's Design Center in Dearborn, and Ford Ghia Operations in Turin, Italy — was shown publicly for the first time last month in California and will be on display at the Society of Automotive Engineers' Automotive Engineering Congress and Exposition in Detroit's Cobo Hall February 23-27.

In its basic form, the Prima is a two-seat pickup truck. By adding three different removable tops, the MORE CUSTOMERS than usual will receive estimated gas and electric bills this month, James P. Thomas, division manager of Consumers Power Company's West Wayne division said this week.

"I don't have to remind anyone how much snow we have had and how deep it has piled up," Thomas said. "One result of this unusual amount of snow is that our meter readers find it harder to complete their routes."

"There are about 350 meter readers employed by Consumers Power Company state-wide, and in our division, we have 17 readers," Thomas said.

The accumulation of snow and the fact that it has not melted as much as normal adds to other meter reader problems, such as unfriendly pets, the occupant of the residence not being home, and locked gates or fences in the case of some homes.

"Our policy is to read every meter every month," Thomas said. "But when it is impossible to read the meter, the company estimates the bill based on an 18-month history of the customer's usage and weather data based on 18 months of actual daily temperatures."

These records show the company the customer's pattern of use, and a modern computer system calculates a billing estimate with a high degree of accuracy.

"For customers who receive estimated bills this month, EE or GE will be printed at the bottom of the Service Code column. It should be noted that this estimate will be adjusted after the next actual meter reading, so that the customer will not pay for more — or less — energy than actually used," Thomas said.

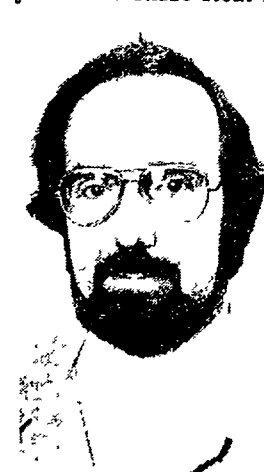

JACK RENWICK of the Renwick, Grimes, and Adams Insurance Agency in South Lyon is among 68 students from 21 states who attended the 15th Annual Florida School for Agency Management sponsored by the National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents (NAMIA).

The school was held at the University of Miami at Coral Gables in the first week of February.

The curriculum of the week-long school is geared especially for the professional agency manager and owner. It is directed by Kenneth W. Herrick, professor of insurance at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Texas.

Experts in industry matters and the agency management field served on the faculty.

THOMAS SECHLER

505 North Center Street in Northville.

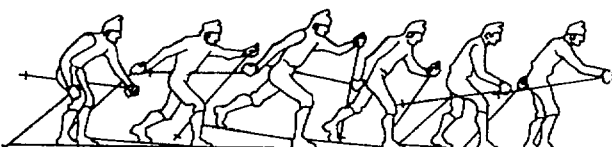

Sechler takes with him into the real estate business a wide background in commercial building and residential contracting. He was involved in these lines of work for years in this area, having come to Northville as the mason contractor for the Northville city hall. He operated out of Farmington at the time.

A major local accomplishment was his transformation of the old bus barn-office of the Northville Coach Line into the Tack Room Restaurant. Sechler, his wife and their family operated the restaurant for two years before selling it to the C.H. Muir Company last fall.

Sechler has been a resident of Northville for the past 14 years. He resides with his wife, Judith, and five of their seven children at 18153 Edenderry.

Plate Sale Spurs Tax

Fuel tax revenues continued a slow decline but popularity of Michigan's new license plates pushed up weight tax collections in the fourth quarter of 1975, the State Highway Commission reported this past week.

Revenue from gasoline, diesel fuel and liquid petroleum gas taxes in the October - through - December period, totaled $99,846,986, a drop of $149,762, or two-tenths of one percent, from the same three months of 1974.

License plate fees, based on vehicle weight, brought in $33,927,577, an increase of $8,085,140, or 31.3 percent, over the fourth quarter of 1974.

State officials attributed the increase mainly to the early rush by car owners to buy Michigan's 1976 red-white-and-blue license plates, which commemorate the nation's Bicentennial Year.

Gross receipts in the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, including $2,973,815 in miscellaneous revenue, totaled $136,323,697, up 6.4 percent from the fourth quarter of 1974.

Following is a comparison of the fourth quarter distributions to area cities:

Brighton, $12,909 in 1975; up from $12,253 in 1974; Farmington, $35,087, up from $33,396; Farmington Hills, $234,116, up from $221,166; Milford, $18,874, up from $17,973; City of Northville, $20,317, up from $18,761; Novi, $42,193, up from $40,157; City of Plymouth, $39,468, up from $37,455; Walled Lake, $14,291, up from $13,606; and Wixom, $12,196, up from $11,395.

Leg Work

- Find a good flat track
- Start walking without poles
- Try to slide on the skis between each step.
- Stride lightly and naturally, with the arms swinging back and forth.
- Bend a little in the ankle, knee and hip and kick off when your foot is under you, maximum weight.
- After balance is mastered, try to glide on one ski at a time. The weight is transferred from one ski to the other.

Arm Work

- In the diagonal stride, opposite arm and leg work together. Use the right pole when you kick with your left foot.
- Plant the pole in front of you with the basket closer to you than the grip is.
- Pull on the pole with a small bend in your elbow at the same time as the top part of your body is leaning slightly forward. Be sure not to clutch the grip.
- Continue to pull until the pole is extended as far back as possible.
- After continuing the pull, the arm should swing forward and the pole be planted.

Uphill

The diagonal stride on the uphill is basically the same as on the flat. The glide gets shorter as the hill gets steeper.

- Find a place where the track is flat with a gradual uphill grade.
- Use diagonal stride on the flat.
- As the hill steepens, it will be harder to glide the skis.
- The steps should be shortened; use the arms and legs harder.
- Try to get the skis under you. If you kick too late, you will slip.

Herring Bone

If the hill is too steep for diagonal stride, you will have to use the "herring bone"

- The skis are set in a V-shape (opening at the tip).
- The poles are planted behind the body.
- Do as in diagonal stride, opposite arm and leg.

TIP ON SELECTING QUALITY EQUIPMENT

Leather ski boots "breathe" built up moist air while plastic boots do not. Plastic boots are reasonably good, but not as good as an equivalent natural leather boot. The main advantage to plastic boots is that they are cheaper.

Taste Barrier Broken.

Struggle to get taste into low tar smoking ends suddenly with new 'Enriched Flavor' discovery for 9 mg. tar MERIT.

For years, dependency on tar for taste has created a taste barrier for low tar cigarettes.

A limit on how good a low tar smoke could taste.

Now that barrier has been broken.

Broken by a remarkable cigarette called MERIT. MERIT packs a radically-new 'Enriched Flavor' discovery developed after years of research by Philip Morris.

'Enriched Flavor' is so good at packing extra flavor into tobacco that MERIT actually delivers as much—or more—taste than cigarettes having more tar.

Yet MERIT delivers only 9 mg. tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today. Lower, in fact, than 98% of all cigarettes sold.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Tobacco—Not Special Filters—Ends "Low Tar, Good Taste" Search

Special "low tar, good taste" filters are what most other cigarette makers came up with to try to get flavor into low tar smoking.

And are still coming up with.

But the answer, the real answer, comes from the other end of smoking. The tobacco end.

By "cracking" tobacco smoke down into its various ingredients, researchers at Philip Morris discovered there are certain basic ingredients more important to taste than others.

Ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

By selecting these high quality flavor producers that are also low tar contributing, 'Enriched Flavor' was carefully developed, perfected and packed into the tobacco used to make MERIT.

The taste-test results were startling.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarette brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, all tested at home*.

The results were conclusive:

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

Lauber Resigns As Swim Coach

Thanks for the Memories

Northville's swimming Coach Ben Lauber looks over Northville last week's time sheets. "We were very fortunate, we will miss Ben but at least we had the pleasure of him for nine years," said Bob Kucher, former athletic director at Northville High School.

Northville swimming coach Ben Lauber is resigning his position at the high school with the conclusion of the current school year.

His resignation has been accepted with regret by Superintendent Raymond Spear.

The popular coach's letter of resignation was read to the board of education Monday night.

Lauber, who has never had a losing record and who took Northville to a state championship in 1973, told The Record that his reasons for resigning are personal.

"Organized swimming has been so much a part of my life that it was the toughest decision I ever made," explained Lauber.

"I had planned this to be my last year but only after considerable time and thought did I reach this decision."

As of yet, a replacement for Lauber has not been found, but in his resignation letter he did suggest the name of a person who he felt is qualified and would be enthusiastic towards the position. He did not elaborate.

Lauber will retain his position of physical education teacher at Northville High School.

Lauber praised the administration, parents and students for their support and interest.

"Of all the places I have taught and coached, Northville is the nicest community, and we all have to be proud of the youngsters in our community," Lauber noted.

"Ben is an excellent coach and a fine individual who I had the pleasure of working with for eight years as athletic director at Northville," said Bob Kucher, presently a teacher at Meads Mill Elementary School.

"His record speaks for itself. He took a program with nothing and made it into one of the best in the state," Kucher added.

Kucher pointed out that one of the reasons Lauber's program has been so successful is that all the boys who wanted to swim were given a chance.

Lauber graduated from Bowling Green State University in 1961 and obtained his first taste of coaching as director at the Y.M.C.A. in Canton, Ohio.

Before coming to Northville nine years ago, Lauber coached at Colonel Crawford High School in North Robinson, Ohio for five years, and Mount Clemens High

In 1972, Lauber led the Mustangs to runner-up spot in the state class "B" tournament before winning the state championship the following year.

The Northville coach has won two league championships and a third is within his grasp with this year's squad.

Held in high esteem by other coaches throughout the state, Lauber made it clear that he was not disengaging himself from organized swimming in Northville, just stepping down as coach.

—THE NORTHVILLE RECORD—NOVI NEWS—

Novi Coach Furious with Officials

Novi wrestlers had everything going just the way they wanted it last week until it came time for the league meet.

Novi had an easy time disposing of South Lyon 38-11 Tuesday and an even easier time whipping Catholic Central's "B" team 46-12 on Thursday.

Going into the Southeastern Conference league meet Coach Russ Gardner was very happy. His 11th-rated-in-the-state squad was healthy; he was happy with the seeding and optimistic that Novi would take the Conference wrestling crown.

Then the unexpected disaster struck.

"The officiating was the worst I have ever seen in a tournament," Gardner explained as the reason for his team's disappointing third place finish.

"They were just terrible. The officials didn't know the rules and they were inconsistent in their calls," Gardner claimed.

They cost us three matches that would have won the championship for us," Gardner stated.

"It wasn't just me. All the coaches were upset and several of them went after the refs at times," continued Gardner.

Dennis Maier finished fourth in the 101 weight grouping.

"Dennis should have finished second but he was pinned on an illegal headlock," the coach said.

Scott Spielman, 115 pounder, placed third just as Gardner had expected.

Kevin Mills did not place as he lost a match 2-1 to an opponent he had pinned twice during the year.

Tony McCarty also took a third as he lost a 3-2 decision which was marred by two periods of stalling that the officials didn't call.

Bob Sasena and Doug Maier lived up to their expectations as they captured the only first place finishes for the Wildcats.

Joe Stevens, 141 pounds, was a bright spot for Novi as he surprised everyone with fourth-place honors.

Heavyweight Jim Auten managed an impressive pin over an opponent, who had beaten him earlier in the year, to capture third.

Saline was the winner with 122½ points, followed by Chelsea with 92½, Novi gained third, scoring 91½, Milan with 90½ points gained fourth edging out South Lyon, Brighton and Lincoln.

With the third place finish in the tourney and the season league record, Novi placed second in the Southeastern Conference.

Against South Lyon the Wildcats lost only three matches. Dennis Maier and Mark Mills came away with pins for their victories while Lewis, Spielman, Kevin Mills, Tony McCarty, Sasena and Doug Maier won on points.

The same crew of the Mills brothers, Maier brothers, Lewis, and Sasena disposed of their Catholic Central opponents.

Tom Bosco and heavyweight Jim Auten won via pins and Andy Anton won by a forfeit.

Novi has a dual meet left with Northville before preparing for the districts on Saturday.

Novi is in one of the toughest district in the state. Fourth rated Madison, sixth ranked Pinckney, number seven Saline and a tough Avondale squad are expected to make the going rough.

Gardner thinks Sasena and Doug Maier will have a good shot at getting through the districts and Dennis Maier, Spielman, McCarty, Auten and the Mills brothers could make it to the regionals with some good breaks.

Close Meet Expected Tomorrow; League Streak Placed on the Line

The Northville swimmers have kept their perfect league record intact as they prepare for a tough meet with Harrison tomorrow.

Last Thursday, Plymouth Canton came to Mustang country and was smashed 56-27, as the Northville Seniors were honored.

Resigning Coach Ben Lauber had special praise for the Cahill brothers who both broke freshmen swimming records. Tom Cahill erased the 200 yard freestyle record with a time of 201.8 while brother Tim trimmed the record for the 200 yard individual medley.

Diver Joe Devereaux now holds both the team and pool records as he shattered the old pool record with 274.20 total points.

Mark McDaniel, Scott Knapp, Bruce Hackman and

Bob Simone all boasted their best performances of the year in the Canton victory.

Over the weekend several tankers journeyed to the Detroit News Invitational Swim Meet.

Diver Devereaux had the best showing in the 24 team meet placing sixth. Teammate Knapp placed a respectable 13th.

Sullivan placed eighth in the 100 yard breast stroke clocking in at 1:04.57.

Randy Roggenbuck wasn't so lucky as a 22nd placing was the best he could manage for the 100 yard butterfly.

The Northville 200 yard medley relay and the 400 yard freestyle relay placed 10th and 19th respectively.

Northville must now travel to Harrison for what should prove to be an extremely close meet.

Lauber sees the meet as going right down to the last event as a well-deeped Harrison team will be trying to avenge its only dual league meet loss.

Coach Pleased Despite Losses

Despite a pair of losses last week by Novi's JV basketball team, Brain Howard is very pleased with the improvement his team has made in the last month.

"Each game we have been playing better than the game before and now, we are at full strength," Howard said.

Walled Lake Western outscored the Wildcats 38-11 in the first half last Tuesday and continued on for an easy 62-43 victory.

Turnovers, poor rebounding and a lack of defense marred Novi's play.

Chris Georgio led the Wildcats with 11 points and Kevin Pyant added 10 points and 10 rebounds.

Against Saline the first half was even more disastrous as Novi trailed 34-12, shooting a miserable six percent from the field.

They looked like a different team in the second half as Novi outscored their rivals 21-12 in the third quarter, and cut the lead to five in the fourth quarter.

However, when the final buzzer sounded the Wildcats were on the short end of the 58-49 score.

Giorgio hit the nets for 13 points and Phil McCarty tallied nine.

Howard had special praise for Tom Morris who played his finest game of the year scoring 11 and hauling in 12 caroms.

After last week's performances it is little wonder Howard said, "I wish we could start every game at the second half."

Novi stands at 4-10 and 3-7 in the league JV circuit.

Race Date Set For the 22nd

Divine Child Routs Mustangs; Bounce Back Against Canton

The Tuesday night jinx continued to persist as Northville was humbled by Dearborn Divine Child, 72-43.

Adding a touch of insult to the 23-point defeat was the fact that Divine Child's center, Jim Wing, was immediately removed (after jumping the opening tip) for disciplinary reasons and did not return to the lineup.

The game was tied at the first quarter's end but Divine Child led 31-25 at halftime after Chris Armada failed to convert a one-and-one situation after time ran out.

The Falcons, a state ranked powerhouse in class B, came out shooting in the second half. Divine Child scored the first seven points before the Mustangs could manage a free throw and then D. C. ran off two more buckets.

But the end of the third quarter the Falcons had it all but wrapped up as they led 57-32 and were still hot from the floor.

"In what was Divine Child's best shooting night of the year, the Falcons sank 32 field goals while Northville could manage only 13 from the floor.

Mark Lisowski led Northville with 16 points. Chris Armada netted 11 points and brother Tony hit for nine points.

Steve Savini led the victors with 22 points.

Plymouth Canton still has not seen what a healthy Northville team looks like. Earlier in the year Canton defeated the Mustangs 68-59 as Lisowski and reserve guard Mike Graham did not see action.

Last Friday the Mustangs managed to down Canton with four starters suffering with intestinal flu, 63-50.

Tony Armada, Jay Slagle and Lisowski all missed at least part of the practice before the game and the "bug" hit Bill Piccolo in the first quarter of the game.

"We were forced to slow things down and didn't fast break much," Koepke explained.

Northville outscored Canton 13-11 in the first stanza and started the second half leading 31-27.

Balanced scoring, good rebounding by Tony Armada and Jay Slagle and 11 free throws in the fourth quarter paved the way to the victory.

"We were afraid we would run out of gas in the fourth quarter, but we stalled well and Tony and Cris Armada made some clutch free throws," said Koepke.

Tony Armada, despite the flu, netted 23 points, while brother Cris pumped in 13.

Slagle, Lisowski, and Piccolo all playing over their illness tallied for eight, seven and six, respectively.

Doug Harding hit for 16 and John Horwath netted 12 points in the defeat.

"Our defense had no enthusiasm," Coach Harrison said after the 61-53 defeat at the hands of Canton on Friday.

The Mustangs got off to a quick 10 point lead in the first quarter but Canton outscored Northville 17-9 in the second period.

Northville took a 28-26 lead into the locker room at the half.

Poor free throw shooting and a lack-luster defense in the second half allowed Canton to pull away with an eight point victory.

Harding was the big gun for the Mustangs scoring 20 points and hauling down 13 rebounds. Horwath scored 15 before he fouled out.

The Mustangs shot only 7 of 25 at the charity stripe.

Win Streak Snapped; Novi Loses to Saline

Novi's varsity five won its fourth in a row, with a 59-49 victory over Walled Lake Western.

According to Coach Ron Flutur the four triumphs marked the longest winning streak in recent memory.

The Wildcats got off to a quick 19-8 first quarter lead and Flutur began substituting early. Western closed the margin to 27-23 by the half.

"We put in three subs in the second quarter and we lost the momentum so we put the starters back in," Flutur explained.

Scott Parsons, with 19 points, and Bill Giorgio's 18 enabled Flutur to bring the reserves back in as the lead was stretched to 18 with three minutes left.

Dave Pisha carried the bulk of the rebounding with 21 and Bob Bannatz hauled down 10 rebounds.

The Wildcats' winning streak came to a quick halt Friday as they traveled to Saline and were defeated, 89-72.

"We scored well but just played bad defense," the Wildcat mentor stated.

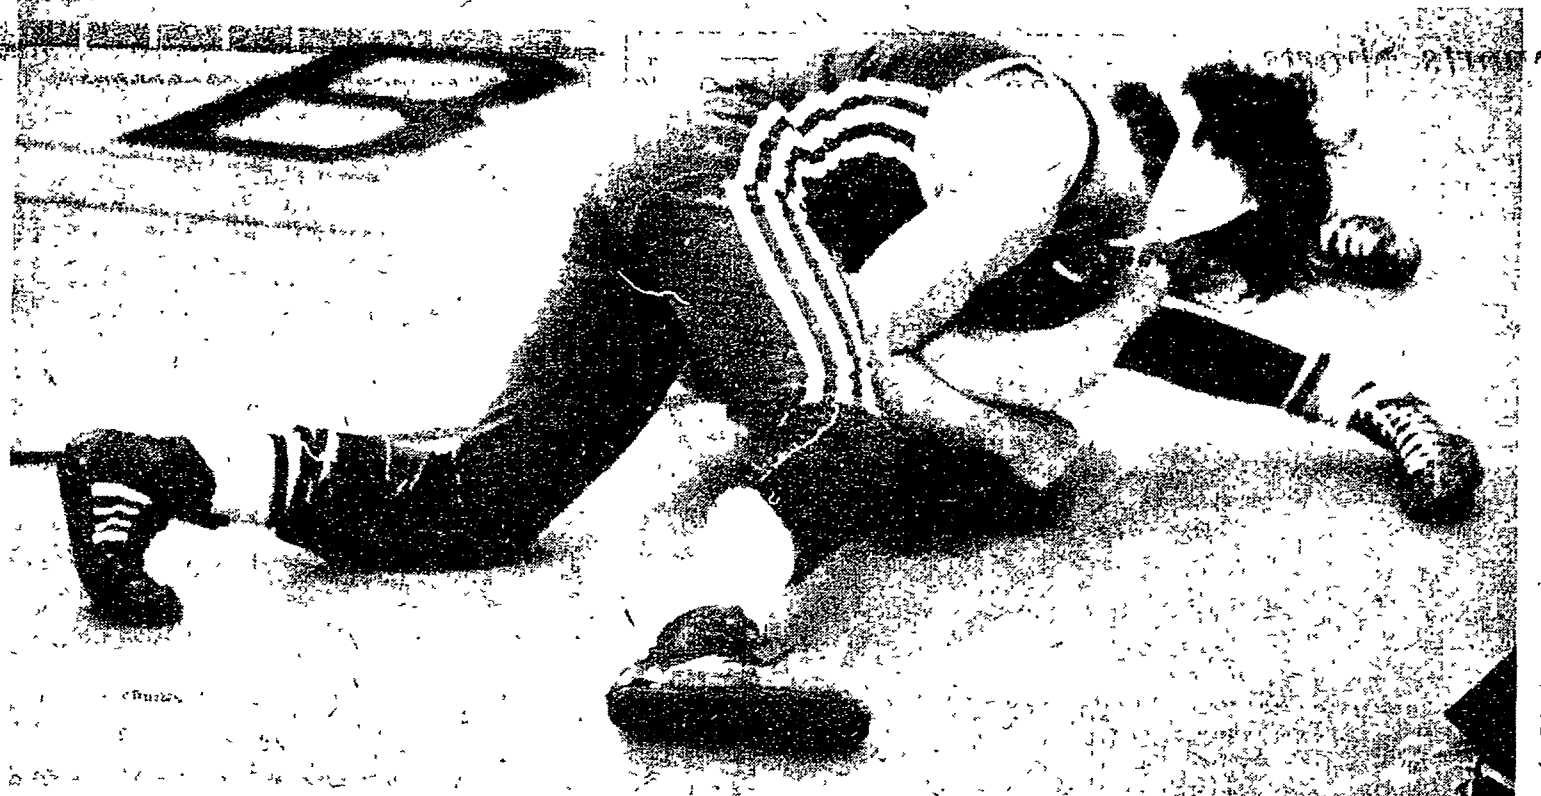

Novi trailed by only two at the end of the first quarter but Saline stretched it to 37-29 at the half.

Novi gave up a lot of fast-break layups as Saline outscored the Wildcats 25-14 in the third quarter to up the lead to 62-48 going into the final period.

"Everybody on Saline can shoot and they all shot well," said Flutur.

Giorgio hit the mark for 26 and Parsons chipped in with 23 points. Dave Pisha led the rebounders with eight.

Novi now stand at 4-6 in league action and 7-7 overall. The Wildcats hope to win their four remaining contests to overtake Dexter for fourth place. Currently, they are tied with Brighton for fifth.

Tournament Action

Novi's Bob Sasena shows his form in last week's South-eastern Conference league tournament at Brighton. Novi placed a disappointing third in the competition but managed to finish second in the league based on dual meet standings.

Our Lady of Victory Wins 18th

Despite the stalling tactics of Wayne St. Mary's, Our Lady of Victory's seventh and eighth grade basketballers posted their 18th win in 19 outings as they outclassed the visitors, 25-14 last Friday.

The Victors had an 8-4 first period lead and stretched it to 17-10 at the half despite the losers holding the ball for much of the first half.

The local quintet scored at the start of the third stanza and then watched their opponents hold the ball for more than 10 minutes.

Mike Wagner paced the high flying blue and white with 14 points. Pat Dewan had five and Jeff Kozlars, Todd Nadeau and Terry Sheehan two each.

St. Mary's fifth and sixth

Bob Isom with six points, Terry Nadeau, five, Pat Foley, three, led the Northville school in scoring.

The OLV girls played their Wayne counterparts even, until all but three minutes remained as they fell to a late surge, 20-12.

Leslie Nadeau played a strong all around game and netted eight points.

Mustangs Unlucky

Northville fell victim to injuries and unlucky seeding in placing fourth in the Western Six league meet last Friday at Walled Lake Western.

Freshman Lance Irey wrestled as well as he has all year in the 98-pound bracket but was unable to muster a victory.

First year wrestler Darren McVeigh managed a fourth place finish. Luck was not with McVeigh as he drew last year's winner in the 106-pound category for his first round opponent.

Keith Krutzberg was being counted on by Coach Gary Emerson to place at least third but illness kept him from performing.

Mike Havalala drew the number one seed and was

Dave Bentley made it to the finals but early trouble sealed his doom. Trailing 6-1, Bentley came on strong to tie his opponent 11-11, but lost on a takedown with two seconds left to finish second.

Dan Platt also finished second as he lost in the finals 5-0 in the 129-pound category.

Ed Talbot had a takedown just after the buzzer and lost 4-3 in the finals. Brent Ashby was unable to place in the toughest weight class of 141.

Dennis Singleton suffered a knee injury in his first match and was unable to finish the remaining matches.

Mike Giorgoff won his first match, but lost his second, both on points to gain second place.

Marty Johnson drew the first seed and lost but regained his composure and captured fourth place.

Spike Foes

The Exhibition Volleyball team at Northville ran its winning streak to four matches this week with its victory over Ypsilanti by a score of 15-2 and 15-4. Consistent serves won the game as each player contributed by serving three or four points.

Both Margo Baranowski and Kim Kratz were cited by the coach for their excellent spikes.

While the Exhibition team was basking in its victory, the Varsity had to swallow a defeat by the Braves, 12-15 and 6-15.

"It wasn't as if Ypsilanti outclassed us, it was due to too many errors that lost the game for us," Coach Jane Stubenvoll explained.

The volleyballers ended their season yesterday against Churchill.

Recover Novi Construction Equipment

In Novi

An apparent theft ring specializing in stolen construction equipment has been broken, but local detectives are remaining mum on exactly where the action is taking place.

According to Novi Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner, five pieces of equipment stolen recently from Novi have been recovered in connection with the ring. A surveillance unit from a "surrounding" police department reportedly watched as some construction equipment was stolen and then followed the subjects to a location where some equipment stolen from Novi, as well as other areas, was being hidden. Recovered, according to Faulkner, were a dump truck, flatbed trailer and a back hoe valued at $45,500 which had been reported stolen last December 26 from the Robert Harris Construction Company of Novi.

Recovered previously, but apparently related to the ring, were two pieces of equipment reported stolen January 2 from Everett Implement of Grand River in Novi. Taken in that theft were a low boy trailer and a stake truck valued at $4,700.

Two arrests have reportedly been made, but Faulkner refused to elaborate on where they were made except to say it was in the tri-county area of Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties. The investigation is continuing.

A breaking and entering suspect was arrested February 5 by Novi police but released to Northville State Hospital after the owners of Lacy Tool, 40375 Grand River refused to press charges.

According to police, an employee of that company coming to work discovered a window broken out and the subject in the building. The subject walked out after saying "good morning."

Police took the subject into custody as he stood on the northwest corner of Grand River and Novi Road, wearing a coat allegedly taken from the company.

A low boy trailer valued at $250 was reported stolen from Firebaugh and Reynolds Roofing, 45240 Grand River last week.

The trailer was entered into the LEIN.

Albert Roberts, 28, of 2255 Evergreen in Wixom and Colleen Roberts of the same address were both treated at St. Mary Hospital following an automobile accident February 4 in which Roberts received a ticket for going too fast for conditions causing him to go through a stop sign.

According to police, the Roberts car slid through a stop sign at Beck Road striking a vehicle eastbound on 10 Mile Road driven by Robert Zybach of Taylor. Taylor suffered broken ribs and a concussion and was treated at St. Mary Hospital also.

Roberts received miscellaneous bruises while Mrs. Roberts received a broken collarbone.

A citizens band radio valued at $90 was stolen February 5 from an automobile parked in the 45000 area of Byrne. The car was locked and $100 damage was reported to the dashboard.

A $103 Lafayette citizens band radio was stolen January 30-31 from a car parked in the 1000 area of East Lake Drive. There was $200 to $300 damage done to the car.

A citizens band radio valued at $375 was taken January 29-30 from a car parked in the 30000 area of Winding Trail. A vent window was broken to gain entry.

A Lafayette citizens band radio valued at over $100 was taken January 28-29 from a pickup truck parked in the 40000 area of Harrison.

In Northville

Northville City Police reported the man arrested and charged in the robbery of Hamlet's Food Mart on November 19 was found guilty in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Michael Simons of Plymouth Township was sentenced to three-and-one half to 15 years in prison for the crime.

A man who held a $10 winning ticket in the trifecta at Northville Downs was robbed of his winnings shortly after leaving the track.

Billie Alpin of Ann Arbor reported the incident to Northville Police at midnight, February 3. Alpin stated he collected his winnings and had just entered the parking lot when someone grabbed him around the throat from behind. The person stated "if you move, I'll kill you" while taking the money from his pants pockets.

Alpin was knocked to the ground but spotted two men running from the scene westbound on Seven Mile Road. Alpin lost $530 in the robbery.

Northville Police questioned a 20-year-old Westland man who tried to place a bet at Northville Downs with an altered $1 bill. According to police reports, the man purchased a $5 show ticket paying for it with what appeared to be a $10 bill. He was given his change when the ticket seller realized the money had been altered.

The Downs employee who sold the ticket jumped over the counter and took the man to the police officer stationed at the Downs. The man stated he did not realize the money was altered or where he had gotten it. Police released the man after questioning.

An auxiliary officer assisting in directing traffic at Seven Mile and Sheldon roads was struck down by a vehicle turning against the direction of the officer in charge. The incident occurred at midnight February 8.

Officer John Pinion was standing the middle of the roads directing traffic when a vehicle turned without heading his directions. Officer Parker Irey, standing in the northbound lane of Sheldon was struck by the car as it proceeded through the intersection at a high rate of speed. Irey sustained only minor injuries in the mishap.

In Township

Four warning barricades with orange flashing lights owned by Northville Township were removed from a water and sewer work site some time between 7:30 p.m.

February 3 and 8 a.m. February 4. The warning barricades had been set up by the work crews in the westbound lane of Five Mile close to the intersection of Haggerty Road. Value of the barricades was set at $60.

At the same time, approximately $100 worth of wooden snow fencing surrounding the large hole in the road created by the water and sewer work was destroyed. The wooden slats of the fencing were smashed and thrown down in the hole. Police have no suspects in the incident.

A Citizen's Band radio valued at $129 was stolen from a reportedly locked vehicle parked in a driveway in the 16000 block of Winchester Road. The incident occurred between midnight and 7 a.m. February 4. Also taken was a tan metal strong box containing personal papers and five United States Savings Bonds valued at $125.

A Panasonic FM stereo radio valued at $200 was reported stolen from a house in the 18000 area of Jamestown Circle. According to reports, the incident occurred between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Thursday.

In Wixom

Wixom Police played a major role in the apprehension of two men suspected of committing an armed robbery in Livonia February 2. Wixom entered the picture when specific police departments were notified to be on the lookout for a vehicle with two men believed to be heading west on the I-96 expressway.

Officer Timothy O'Shesky received the call and took up a position at the expressway and Beck Road. At approximately 9:30 p.m. he spotted the car. After a period of jockeying driving lanes, O'Shesky was able to force the car to the shoulder, bringing it to a halt and holding the occupants at gunpoint.

Arriving at the scene almost simultaneously with O'Shesky's stopping of the car were officers from the Livonia Police Department with backup supplied by the Novi Police Department. The two suspects were placed under arrest and transported back to Livonia.

The robbery took place at 9:21 p.m. at the Chatham Supermarket located at Five Mile and Merriman roads. Witnesses in the store at the time of the holdups said the two men wore nylon stocking face masks and that the cash register and store safe were their marks. An alert witness outside the store supplied police with a description of the car, license number and the men involved. The car was licensed to Thomas Savage, 18, of Howell who led police to suspect a getaway on the expressway. Police reported that Savage and a 16-year-old juvenile, also of Howell, used a sawed-off shotgun and a sawed-off rifle in the hold-up.

Upon arresting Savage and his accomplice, police recovered the stolen money and certain other evidence linking them to the crime.

Savage was booked, arraigned in 16th District Court in Livonia with cash bond set at $50,000. He is currently in custody pending examination scheduled for February 10. The other suspect is being held in the Wayne County Juvenile Home.

A broken steering shaft on a garbage truck was the apparent cause of an accident on Grand River at Helder Boulevard Wednesday afternoon.

According to Wixom Police reports, Ronald Hubert of Howell, the driver of the truck, was heading west on Grand River travelling at approximately 40 miles an hour when the shaft broke. Terry Hubert of Brighton, brother of the injured man and a passenger in the truck stated the steering went out, they skidded out of control and hit the snow along side the road. He was not injured in the crash.

The garbage truck, owned by the City of Farmington, rolled over on its side after hitting the snow bank resulting in the driver being pinned under the steering wheel and dashboard. Hubert was transferred by ambulance to Botsford Hospital. Hospital authorities said the full extent of Hubert's injuries were still not known as of Friday.

During a general patrol of the Ford Motor Company employee parking lot Officer Alan Blasfield found two incidents of larceny to automobiles before their owners realized the thefts. Both incidents occurred at approximately 4 a.m. Thursday while the owners of the vehicles were working.

Taken from a Ford van were 13 record tapes and a Craftsman tool box valued at $325. A tape case and 48 tapes valued at $250 were taken from the other vehicle, also a Ford van. Entry to both vans was made by breaking out a vent window on the driver's side.

A 1974 Chaparral snowmobile valued at $700 and a snowmobile trailer valued at $300 were reported missing from a parking lot at the Village Apartments. The theft occurred some time between 8 p.m. February 3 and 10 a.m. February 4.

An Arctic Cat snowmobile was reported stolen somewhere between 9 p.m. and 10 p.m. on February 3 while the owner was taking a break in his evening ride.

According to police reports, the snowmobile was parked in the parking lot on the north side of the Red Oaks Bar on North Wixom Road. The owner was reportedly inside the bar when the theft occurred.

'I'll be schoolhouse red in time for celebrations'

By JEANDAY

Sure, I'm dilapidated and a shell of my former self. You might be too, if you'd been abandoned and misused for almost 10 years.

With my roof gone and my walls sagging you might think I haven't much future as I sit in the snow at the Mill Race Village.

But wait 'til the first spring thaw. That's when I'll be on my way to my second century of teaching boys and girls their three R's. That's a promise from Northville Mothers' Club and Northville Historical Society.

I almost couldn't believe it myself when those people from Northville Historical Society led by John Burkman came around one day in 1974 as I sagged on my original site on Currie Road south of Eight Mile.

It had been about eight years since my last class filled out in May, 1966, and I was retired as parents voted to join the South Lyon school district.

I really felt dejected. Kids had been learning their lessons from teachers who occupied a desk on a platform in the front of the room for 93 years. At first there was a box stove in the middle of the room — and a pile of wood beside the fence on the south side of my property.

Over many protests, I was modernized just a few years before my closing with a furnace. There also was a rear addition for toilets, and it no longer was necessary to haul water from the farm a half-mile down the road

Kerosene lamps furnished light in the early days.

In those days parents in Washtenaw and Oakland counties who sent their children here (hence my name) found a male teacher was needed in winter to take care of "older boys" who attended then but not in spring term when they worked on the farms.

The historical society members saw that a quarter of my roof was gone and that the grass fire also burned part of my wood floor.

I didn't let myself get too excited about the possibility of coming out of retirement because I had heard talk that I was to become a family's summer home when I reverted back to private ownership after the 1966 closing. This was under terms of the original land grant from the Waterman and Deake families.

I had been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. George Rigby who then lived in King's Mill. But they moved to Cleveland before I could be recycled into a vacation home.

But — and this is when I began to hope for my future — they offered me to the Northville Historical Society. C. L. Hofess who had moved other buildings to the Mill Race agreed to donate the moving.

Even though society volunteers removed the rear addition and the cloak room at the front in 1974, I again began to despair as I continued to sit. I was "a wide-open prey" for a fire and couldn't help remembering that when I was built back in 1873 I was replacing the first school on the site that had been destroyed by flames.

Then I attracted the attention of Northville Mothers' Club who adopted me as a bicentennial educational project.

"Our Northville school children can attend the school with their teachers and reconstruct a class day as it was 100 years ago," visualized President Pearl Weber. Bonnie Rinehart, now club president, agreed, pointing out that school classes could use my facility just as is done in Greenfield Village.

Superintendent of Northville schools Raymond Spear stated I could be a valuable "learning tool."

Then, last November 12, I made the trip to the Mill Race. Hofess and his crew guided me into town and along Northville Road into the Mill Race.

Northville Mothers' Club had given $1,000 as a start. In order to move me through town at minimum cost the remainder of the roof had to come off. That cost $268.

Historical society president James Harris found there was a $151 charge to Detroit Edison, $500 to Michigan Bell (for wire raising) and $150 for moving permits. That totaled $1,069.

And I'm not even on a permanent foundation yet. In fact, I'm getting sensitive about people commenting on the way I'm an "eyesore" thrust out in my present resting space.

My permanent foundation will be dug just as soon as the ground thaws and will be to the left of the old library building (looking from Griswold.)

And when I'm sitting straight on the new foundation, I'll get a new roof. Then renovation that ultimately will include a bell tower to house an old Bell Foundry bell will begin.

It's assured because of my Mothers' Club guardian angels. Ten days ago, on February 2, when Harris gave them estimated costs of $3,500 for the foundation and roof, they said, "Let's put it in their (historical society's) bank now" — and in a minute's time voted $3,500 plus $65 to fully cover moving costs.

With help like that you have to believe that spring will come and I'll be painted schoolhouse red in time for the Bicentennial celebrations at the Mill Race.

Courtroom Shift

If it's tough for people to come to the court, then take the court to the people. And that's exactly what Probate Judge Ernest C. Boehm did last week, in temporarily shifting his courtroom from the Detroit City-County Building to the Plymouth Center for Human Development in Northville Township for a series of guardianship hearings. Judge Boehm is flanked (above) by an aide, Paul Williams, and John Garrett, a lawyer with the Michigan Association for Retarded Citizens.

Training for new volunteers for Our House Crisis Center will begin in February. Anyone interested may call Bill Henry or Ruth Rice at 455-4900.

Judge: 'Have Robes, Will Travel'

The auditorium of the Plymouth Center for Human Development became a temporary courtroom Friday.

That's because Probate Court Judge Ernest C. Boehm decided to take the court to the people when it comes to guardianship hearings.

Judge Boehm convened court at the Plymouth Center, located in Northville Township, at 2 p.m. to hear guardianship applications for 25 non-ambulatory, mentally retarded, adult residents of the Center.

Plymouth Center spokesmen point out that the probate judge's offer is particularly significant since the residents involved would otherwise require transportation to and from the regular Detroit court in ambulances.

considerable expense and staff time for the Center."

Regarding guardianship hearings, Judge Boehm explained that "if a guardian for an adult is necessary for any purpose, it should be first ascertained whether the person requiring a guardian is mentally retarded. If he is, a petition for guardian may be filed only under Chapter 6 of the mental health code. If he is not, a petition for guardian may be filed under Chapter 3 of the probate code."

The judge said the temporary Plymouth Center court will be called into session in the future when the need arises.

Under Section 602 of the mental health code, it is explained that guardianship for mentally retarded persons is to be used "only as is necessary to promote and protect the well-being of the individual."

It is "designed to encourage the development of maximum self-reliance and independence in the individual."

Take Heart, Snow's Insulator

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Can you even vaguely imagine what your home fuel bill will be like next month? I have come to cringing at the sound of the whirr of the furnace fan... it can only mean dollars, not cents. After the really cold blast of last week the next bill ought to be a corker!

Bob Trombley had a rather interesting observation to make regarding the piles of snow and ultra-cold temps. Take heart people, says Bob, it's a good thing we had all the snow. It actually acted as an insulator for sewer pipes and all those whatnot underground things as well as protecting shrubs, bushes and trees. So it may well have been cold but the snow, often looked upon as a thing of adversity, could have been the best thing that happened... it's a lot easier to contend with that than frozen water pipes or broken sewer lines.

Little woodland creatures, usually in hibernation this time of year, I'm told, must have been frozen out of their burrows by the cold and for some strange reason decided to look upon the outside world. Such a woodland creature was not viewed upon with much glee by a couple of residents in Hickory Hill as the cute little "wood pussy" invaded their garages.

First notice of the skunk came from its odor followed by a horrendous barrage of barks and snarls from the family animals in the Terwilliger garage. Glenda said she knew from the smell that a skunk was in the area but had no idea it was cornered in her garage. The critter turned its defenses on "Rags" who wasn't about ready to give up, "Farina" who seemed to know better and the family cat who must have viewed the whole thing from a safe perch. Baking soda baths took care of "Rags".

Apparently Glenda knew that neighbor Pat Parris would have her garage door open so a call there alerted her to the problem. However Pat apparently didn't shut the door tightly enough and the little fellow popped in her garage. For some reason, senior skunk did not like the Parris garage and was on his way back to the better perch at Terwilliger's when he spotted Glenda on her way to Parris'. "The little critter actually came towards me and I wasn't about ready to wait around to see why." According to Glenda, the skunk was ambling around on three feet and she didn't wait around to find out what was wrong with the fourth.

About this time the Junior High School bus left its load of kids at the corner with the skunk deciding to investigate them. Glenda said it was a pretty hilarious sight. "You've never seen kids scatter so fast in all directions once they spotted the skunk."

A call to the Wixom Police Department for a solution to the problem brought a suggestion of calling the Humane Society which suggested a call to the Wildlife Department. Final word... "don't feed it and it will go away."

Latest word... the skunk is no longer at Terwilliger's. It may have moved to greener pastures onto Orland where it is said by area youngsters that it lodged itself in the Parvu doghouse. Just exactly why 12-year-old Justin Parvu would investigate the doghouse is a good question but the kids say Justin got it from the skunk... I can only guess their noses told them so. Sara and Bob Emmens of Fox Hollow Court will be saying good bye to the snow and cold weather of Michigan and savor their transfer to the sunny warm climes of southern California within the next few weeks.

To wish them well, more than 50 friends and neighbors gathered at the Schumann home recently for a going away party. Co-hosts were Rae and John Moberg. The Emmens will take with them some remembrances of their time in Wixom to grace their new home. They were presented with a chafing dish and entry-hall mirror by the group.

Taking a cue from their parents, the teenagers of the subdivision had a going away party of their own for the Emmens' kids at the Cavanaugh home. It too was a rousing success.

Novi Transfers Funds

To Savings Account

The telephone transfer of funds from a checking account to a savings account or vice-versa with the same fund by certain city officials has been approved by Novi Council.

Reasons for the move was to allow immediate moving of funds to savings accounts in an effort to get interest, while at the same time allowing immediate transfer if necessary to checking accounts.

Officials who will be able to effect the telephone transfers are the finance director, treasurer, deputy treasurer, mayor or mayor protem.

Up until recently, cities were not allowed by law to put funds into savings accounts. The passage of the resolution is intended to notify banks of Novi's intention to transfer money from a fund to the same name fund in either the checking or savings account.

Other resolutions regarding investment and banking are to be brought back to council following review by the city attorney.
