

Glenn Long, Wife Tied up in Home, Robbed

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Long, owners of a downtown plumbing store and bath boutique, were terrorized and robbed of an undetermined amount of cash in their home here Tuesday evening.

Although badly shaken by the harrowing experience, neither Long nor his wife were injured.

Three bandits wearing ski masks burst through the rear door of their brick home at the northeast corner of Base Line and Horton Street about 7:30 p.m.

The couple was tied with rope and lamp cord and their heads covered with newspaper and a blanket and then left in the living room as the trio made a room by room search of the house.

The men reportedly were in the house for more than an hour.

The house was ransacked, with drawers emptied and clothing and food tossed to the floor.

According to Northville Police Sergeant Bruce Deacon and Patrolman Howard Reeves, the Longs were caught by surprise and hardly saw the men before they were bound and blind-folded.

The bandits, who threatened the Longs if they refused to cooperate, were "in their twenties, and obviously they were professionals," said Deacon. "They knew what they were doing. I don't think they just happened to be in the neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Long were immediately blind-folded so they weren't able to see much."

Three names were overheard during the discussions between the men. These were George, Joe and Clyde.

One man wore glasses beneath his mask.

The Longs were in the living room of their home when they heard a noise in the rear yard. Long walked to the kitchen and had not yet got to the back door when the men burst inside and grabbed the couple.

One bandit served as a lookout and watched the Longs, police said, while the other two searched the house.

Besides the money, an old shotgun was stolen. Investigation of any additional stolen merchandise is continuing.

After the bandits left the premises, Mrs. Long worked herself free and quickly called for help on the business phone. The private telephone line had been cut.

The call was received by police at 9:05 p.m.

By the time police arrived shortly thereafter, Mrs. Long was still trying to free her husband who had been tied with the rope.

Police were at the scene until after 1 a.m., lifting prints and making casts of "some good footprints behind the house," said Deacon. "We'll be going back (to the Longs' home) tomorrow and wrap up our investigation. We've still got a lot of work to do."

Although the Longs did not actually see a gun, gestures and threats by the bandits suggested that the men were armed, police said.

No vehicle was seen.

The robbery was the first of its kind in the city in recent memory.

It is similar, said Deacon, to a robbery that occurred recently in Livonia.

Police also were reminded of a case recently near Pontiac in which an auto dealer was shot and killed at his home by men in ski masks.

RESPONDING to an inquiry by the Lexington Commons Homeowners Association, the board of education has indicated its intentions of using Cooke Middle School for the public school program next fall — provided voters approve an expiring 17-mill levy. Only a modest integrated special education program, if any, will be instituted in that school next year. Presently, the entire school is being used for special education.

A NEW extended school year calendar has been announced for the next school year. It calls for 180 days of school, beginning August 10, plus two days of curriculum study.

A REGISTRATION drive for voters of the Northville School District will be launched Monday by the League of Women Voters. Deadline for registering for the April election is March 4. Any resident of the Northville district living in the city and township of Northville and in Novi may register at the following times and places: Northville High School cafeteria, 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on March 1; 1 to 3 p.m. at Moraine on March 1; 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Amerman on March 2; and from 1 to 3 p.m. on March 2 at Silver Springs Elementary.

Township Pares New Budget

Personnel, Service Cuts Seen

With two budget sessions already under its belt, the Northville Township Board will continue the nitty-gritty of chopping its proposed 1976-77 outlay down to a palatable size next Sunday afternoon. (A special meeting of the board, originally scheduled for tomorrow night to take up matters that were tabled at the last regular meeting, has been cancelled).

Board members appear adamant in developing a balanced budget even though in doing so some jobs may be cut, programs trimmed, and some supplies left in the store.

The initial working budget figures, which suggested idealistic expenditures that would provide much if not all of the departmental needs, were pegged at $680,888. Estimated income for the upcoming fiscal year is put at only $468,532.

For this current fiscal year the township budget income was fixed at $443,925, expenditure at $437,771. However, actual 10 month expenditures through January already were at $413,072, while income was at $284,865.79.

In going over the initial figures last Sunday, the board took under advisement suggested cuts by Treasurer Charles Rosenberg. By the time he was finished, the proposed expenditures had been chopped to $467,500. Not all of his suggestions are likely to stand, however. Other board members are expected to make their own recommendations.

Biggest outlay in the proposed budget is for the police department. The initial, idealistic figure was put at $212,421, up from $120,356 in the current budget (which through 10 months is already at $129,484.79). By the time Rosenberg was finished with his cutting, the total was down to $119,000. Should that figure stand it would very likely mean elimination of patrols and institution of an emergency-only service.

A total of $25,984 was sliced out of the proposed $60,791 recreation budget (up from the $43,190 this budget year).

The library lost nearly $9,000 of the suggested $38,065 outlay in the treasurer's budget operation.

And, in fact, nearly every department was cut in Rosen-

NHS Girds for Self-Evaluation

Preliminary planning has begun for a massive self-evaluation of curriculum and facility needs and goals at Northville High School in the face of an upcoming seven-year analysis by North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Billed as a massive project involving many hours of cooperative work by teachers, students and parents, the re-evaluation is standard procedure for high schools intent on retaining the prestigious accreditation by North Central.

high schools annually, but every seven years it takes an in-depth look at those schools carrying its accreditation to ensure that the high standards of the association are being maintained.

Teams of teachers, students and parents will be formed to begin the self-evaluation — a process that, according to Assistant Principal Barbara Campbell, will be costly in terms of both time and money.

A recommendation will be presented soon to the board of education for a budget to cover the analysis period, she said at Monday night's board meeting.

She reminded board members that a self-evaluation such as is contemplated will carry with it recommended goals for the district. And those goals will require a commitment on the part of the board and community. In other words, establishing of goals without a commitment to implement them would be meaningless, she suggested.

"This is an enormously important project," she said. Having been a member of North Central's evaluation team in the past, Mrs. Campbell said she is "always concerned that evaluation does not leave when the (investigative team) leaves. The district must make a commitment," she repeated.

Several meetings of staff members already have been held, Mrs. Campbell said. Mary Freydl has been named chairman of a philosophy and objectives committee, while Eddy McLoud, assistant principal, is heading up the community and school committee. Sharon Snodgrass is chairman of the steering committee.

The fact that Northville will next fall adopt a new grade-structure, with elimination of the ninth grade in the high school, will make the North Central project especially difficult, it was noted.

Earlier in the meeting, Principal Michael Tarpinian disclosed that Northville has been issued three violations by North Central in its annual

Curriculum Study Eyed

Objectives of two new citizens advisory committees being formed by the Northville Board of Education have been announced.

The committees, adjuncts of the earlier established Citizens Advisory Committee-1976, include a curriculum committee and a facilities committee.

Citizens wishing to serve on either are urged to call the board of education offices, 349-3400 this week.

Major objective of the curriculum committee will be:

- To review and evaluate the educational program of the Northville schools, grades kindergarten through the 12th, for the intended purpose of assuring that adequate and appropriate educational opportunities are being made available to all students in keeping with the district's adopted philosophy of education.

Major objective of the facilities committee will be:

- To evaluate the total facility needs of the district in consideration of a possible mini-bond issue being

Women's Role Beta Chi Topic

"Emerging Woman" was the theme of the meeting of Beta Chi chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma honorary society for women educators Monday at Village Oaks Elementary School in Novi.

A panel discussion, "Women Historically, Women Today and Women in the Future," was presented.

Speakers were Florence Pangborn, Novi High School teacher; Jamie Roseman, a University of Michigan graduate student; and Carol Rosey, a Novi High senior.

The new chapter of Novi, South Lyon and Walled Lake women educators was formed last May.

Patricia A. Schrader, 19-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ronald LaValley, 1946 Inlet Court, Northville, has been chosen Post Soldier of the Month at the Missile and Munitions Center and Army School in Huntsville, Alabama.

She is a Nike missile test equipment student and was named for the honor by a board of command sergeants major at the base.

The honoree is a native of Seattle, Washington, where she was graduated from Nathan Hale High School in 1974 and then attended University of Washington as a pre-med major.

She entered the Army last August and completed basic training in soldiering and electronics at Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

She arrived at the Redstone base last November for 38 weeks of technical training on the Nike missile system.

She was selected February Soldier of the Month on the basis of her appearance and knowledge of military subjects, current events and world affairs.

She received a $25 check from the missile school commandant, a $25 savings bond from the missile command, a letter of appreciation from the commanding general and a three-day pass.

In announcing her selection, the base notes that she joined the army "for fun and adventure" and previously had not had much to do with electronics but now feels she has "found her field."

After graduation from technical training she expects to be stationed either at Fort Bliss, Texas, or in Germany.

High Fashion

Denise MacLean, Lynne Convis, Joan Mandell, Alice Walker and Carroll Pappas try on their stylish fashions which will be modeled this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Winchester Elementary School multi-purpose room. The proceeds from the Spring Flair, Fashions by Claire are for George Berryman, a Northville music teacher on sick leave suffering from kidney failure. Berryman is on dialysis and currently on a waiting list for a kidney transplant. There will be door prizes and refreshments. A donation of $2.50 for adults and one dollar for teen-age girls is requested. Tickets are available at the schools.

Live Theatre for Young

AAUW 'Cinderella' Set

A fairy godmother, a cage of mice and a pumpkin will be onstage in Northville High School auditorium this Saturday as the Plymouth and Northville branches of the American Association of University Women present "Cinderella."

Tickets still are available at Del's Shoes for performances at 10 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m. They are 60 cents.

This is the 16th year the Plymouth branch has written and produced live drama for area children and the seventh the production has been brought to Northville.

Northville residents contributing to this year's production are Sherry Unger, Prince Charming; Karen Olson, Northville ticket chairman; Lucia Danes, set and program design; Terry Secord, Northville production manager; Karen Strong, luncheon chairman; Mary Pearson, luncheon co-chairman; and Shari Clason, usher chairman.

Sponsors report that this "Cinderella" is designed to appeal to the three-to-nine year old child in an effort to introduce him to the world of fantasy and make-believe for an hour.

Following each performance children will have an opportunity to meet the characters from the play.

Involving and entertaining the children is what the production is all about, the AAUW points out. This year children will be asked to close their eyes, "wish hard," and help the forgetful fairy godmother make Cinderella's ugly rags become a beautiful ball gown.

"Cinderella" first was produced for area children in 1965. Other classics produced by the branch include "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "Sleeping Beauty," "Peter Pan," "Wizard of Oz," "Alice in Wonderland" and, the very first play, "Snow White and Rose Red."

Scouts Plan Style Show

A girls' fashion show featuring new styles for the six-to-fourteen age group is one of several fund-raising events planned by Northville Cadette Girl Scout Troop 407.

The troop is planning a trip to Toronto the weekend of April 9. The scouts report they "are trying very hard to earn half of the money needed" which such events as bake sales and the style show.

Girls in the elementary through middle school ages and their mothers are invited to attend the show at 4 p.m. Thursday, March 11, in the old library building in Mill Race Village.

Cookies and punch are included in the 50-cent admission charge.

In Our Town

They're Celebrating 1, 40, 76 Years

By JEAN DAY

SPECIAL celebrations marked February birthdays of three active residents of Our Town.

Vivacious Martha Veselenak celebrated a milestone at the Northville Historical Society's Bicentennial Ball at the Plymouth Hilton Inn last Saturday night.

As Martha and her husband, John, were finishing dinner, the staff brought out a three-tier cake decorated with black icing roses. It was the creation of the Veselenaks' Orchard Drive neighbor, Joan Ifversen, who had made advance arrangements for the presentation.

"I've had so many friends that have enjoyed my 40th birthday," Mrs. Veselenak observed, "that I don't really mind your writing about it." There was more hilarity than mourning as everyone at table 58 celebrated the birthday of the active teacher and mother.

The Veselenaks were part of a group gathering first at a cocktail party hosted by the Bernard Bachs and Robert Taylors at the home of the former.

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY" and the year 1976 were inscribed on the cake baked in honor of Mrs. Leo Hollis, Sr., of 355 First Street, by her daughter-in-law, Estelle Hollis. The family celebrated the senior Mrs. Hollis' 76th birthday Sunday.

"Everything's easy to remember when your birthday and the year coincide," remarks Mrs. Hollis, who was born Georgia Shoebridge February 20, 1900, on a 300-acre farm in Clyde, Michigan, near Milford. The family moved to a farm on Six Mile Road near Napier, and Mrs. Hollis attended a one-room school on the mile road and then went to Plymouth High School. She married in 1921 at age 21.

The newlyweds first lived on Center Street and then moved to First. Widowed since 1955, Mrs. Hollis is the mother of Leo, Jr., of Northville, and Ralph of Plymouth. She has two granddaughters and a great-granddaughter. Granddaughter Cheryl, a student at Harper Hospital School of Nursing, came home for Sunday's celebration at her parents' home on Thayer Boulevard.

"She's blessed with good health and loves to walk," reports the honoree's family fondly.

FIRST BIRTHDAY of Kelly Casterline, a young lady who's been moving about on her own two feet for about four months, was celebrated Sunday by her parents, the Ray J. Casterlines II, and sister, Courtney. Also among those on hand were grandparents, the Fred Casterlines and Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Atchison.

A FLORIDA PARTY February 17 at Sweden House in Bradenton marked the seventh annual Northville-Florida reunion of Northville residents now living or vacationing in Florida.

Mrs. Howard Atwood, whose husband was reunion chairman, reports that 127 attended the get-together with

It's Annual 'Thinking Day'

Girl Scouts Salute Bicentennial

Girl Scouts from 12 Northville Brownie, Junior and Cadette troops celebrated the Bicentennial in skits and song at a Bicentennial Thinking Day at 4 p.m. last Saturday in Northville High School.

Girls in Brownie Troop 644 with leaders Judy Dougherty and Lillian Nelson dressed in Indian costumes and presented an animated song, "Kee-Chee."

Brownie Troop 209 joined with Junior Troop 573 to plan a skit in which each girl told about a famous American and his contributions to the country. Joyce Stowell and Penny Nuechterlein are Brownie leaders with Karen Dunnabeck and Janet Campbell heading the Junior sister troop.

Brownie Troop 214 under leaders Judy Kohl and Diane Doherty spelled out "Happy Birthday" with each girl holding a letter and telling something about our country.

Brownie Troop 621 led by Yvonne Isaacson and Brownie Troop 643 led by Diane Roslinski and Sharon Hansen presented cut-out shapes of the states in the order they joined the union. To the tune of the "Brownie Smile Song" they sang a song about Michigan.

Various flags that have represented the union were displayed by Brownie Troop 236 under Claudia Berry and Sharon Francis and its sister troop, Junior Troop 331 led by Gail Gross and Joan Sellen.

The American flag along with the Brownie and Junior troop flags were presented. The scouts gave the pledge of allegiance and sang, "It's a Grand Old Flag."

Colored flags flown by our country from the first to the most recent were shown by Junior Troop 360 under Jean Conley and Stacey Morgano. The troop depicted the reasons they were made and what each stood for in history.

Brownie Troop 220 under leaders Rosene Richcreek and Cindy LaChance changed history in a skit showing Betsy Ross being commissioned by George Washington to make the first flag. When she fell asleep, the Brownies designed and finished it.

Junior Troop 336 led by Betty Hoffman and Eleanor Martin spelled out "Bicentennial," interspersing it with interesting facts about America, and then sang "God Bless America."

Cadette Troop 407 focused on the last state to join the union as three girls did a Hawaiian dance and gave a poem. Its advisors are Sandy Westphal, Dorothy Martin and Elaine Harris.

Novi resident Dianne Haas is among full time students to be named to the first semester Dean's List at Madonna College, Livonia, according to Sister Mary Francilene, Dean.

Ms. Haas is a freshman majoring in nursing.

BETSY'S FLAG—Stephanie Chesney as George Washington and Kim Richcreek as Betsy Ross display the flag that Brownies in Northville Troop 220 created in a Girl Scout Bicentennial Thinking Day program last Saturday afternoon. About 200 local Girl Scouts representing 12 troops participated in the festivities at Northville High School.

This cheese bread's quick and tasty

Bake Quick-Breads

Homemade bread is becoming more and more popular as shortcuts and frozen bread dough in supermarkets make it possible to serve hot bread without hours of work.

Here's a recipe for short-order cheese bread that relies on buttermilk biscuit mix for its base. It's baked in a 1½-quart baking dish and is a finely textured bread.

CHEESE BREAD

3 ¾ C. packages buttermilk biscuit mix
1 ¼ C. shredded natural sharp cheddar cheese
1 egg beaten
1 ¼ C. milk
½ tsp. dry mustard

Sesame, poppy or caraway seeds

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Grease generously Corning ware-type glass 1½-quart baking dish (should be three inches deep).

In large mixing bowl, mix all ingredients just to blend. Beat vigorously for one minute. Pour into prepared pan. Sprinkle top with sesame, poppy or caraway seeds. Bake for 55-60 minutes. Cool slightly before slicing. Makes one loaf.

Braided, "snail" and other fancy breads are easy to create with new frozen bread dough.

BRAIDED BREAD

To make a braided bread

loaf thaw a one-pound loaf of bread dough, well wrapped, in the refrigerator overnight.

In the morning let the dough warm to room temperature. Cut lengthwise into three equal pieces, rolling each piece into a long tapered cylinder.

Lightly grease a cookie sheet and place three strips of dough parallel on it; braid strips together and pinch ends to seal. Brush loaf lightly with salad oil and let rise until double in size.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Brush loaf with egg wash (one egg lightly beaten with two Tbsp. water) and sprinkle top with sesame or poppy seeds.

Bake about 30 minutes or until bread is golden brown and sounds hollow when tapped on top and bottom. Cool on wire rack.

SNAIL ROLLS

Follow thawing directions for Braided Bread. Break off small lumps of dough and roll into pencil-shape cylinders. Form each into a half knot and place on lightly greased cookie sheet. Brush lightly with oil and let rise until doubled. Bake in preheated 375 degree oven for 20 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on rack.

COMBINATION BREAD

An unusual combination bread can be made by thawing one loaf each of white and honey wheat bread dough and warming to room temperature. Cut each loaf lengthwise into four equal strips.

Lightly grease two 8½ by 4½ by 2½ inch pans. In each, place side by side a strip of wheat dough, a strip of white and another wheat. The final strip of white goes on top.

Brush with oil and let rise until doubled. Bake at 375 degrees in preheated oven for about 30 minutes. Remove from pans and cool on racks.

'Share the Wealth' Battle Brewing

Council Eyes Roads, Figures Millage Strategy

Indicating a united front, the entire Novi council met Monday in an unofficial meeting open to the public to determine the best method of campaign possible to help get a road millage approved.

To be on the March 23 ballot along with the vacant 24th District County Commissioner spot will be a road bonding proposal intended to allow paving of main roads within the city including the controversial Taft Road.

Specifically the proposal calls for a $48 million bond issue and for residents along the 18.78 miles of main roads to participate to the tune of $10 a front foot.

Average cost to homeowners if the millage is approved would be 1.7 mills with the debt service being paid off over approximately 20 years. The millage reportedly would range from 91 mills in the first year to a high of 2.04 mills and a subsequent drop after that down to a low of .53 mills in the 15th and final year of bond payments.

However, some variables such as the proposed "share the wealth" plan (see story this page) could change the tax dollars brought into the city and thus change the expected millage rate to pay off the bonds. The total bond issue will be 4.8 million dollars.

Council members at the Monday informal meeting indicated they expect a light turn-out, possibly less than 10 percent of the 7,000 registered voters. The turn-out is expected to be much lower than an identical proposal which fell to a slim 30 vote defeat in the November election, 1,308 to 1,278.

Council members emphasized that no public funds will be used for the campaign by the committee which is now called "Roads for Novi".

Commented Mayor Gilbert Henderson following the meeting, "The past city council studied our road needs thoroughly and recommended a bonding program for bringing our roads up to date."

"In last November's city election, many of our citizens indicated their support for the paving program. The present city council believes we need to improve our roads now and will allow the voters the opportunity to support lower car repair bills, less mud and fewer holes."

"I believe our taxpayers recognize the need for better roads. A yes vote on March 23 will provide the paving of heavily traveled dirt roads."

If the question is approved, the priority list of roads to be paved under the program is:

Taft Road from 10 Mile to Grand River; Meadowbrook Road from Eight Mile to Nine Mile and Nine Mile from Enniskillen to Haggerty; West

A "Share the Wealth" plan proposed by Governor William G. Milliken may be capable of pulling Detroit up by its bootstraps—at least on a temporary basis—but it could spell financial disaster for Novi and many other communities across a seven county area.

The plan, introduced in the Michigan House last week has the effect of taking millions of tax dollars from industrially and commercially growing communities and throwing that money to communities which do not have substantial industrial and commercial growth.

Based upon a study by the Michigan Department of Management and Budget, had the bill been in effect in 1974, various taxing bodies in Novi that year would have lost $333,276. Taxing bodies also would have lost $112,643 in Wixom, $37,619 in Northville Township, and $2,740 in Novi Township. The City of Northville would have been the only body locally to gain revenue as it would have gained $2,724.

The bulk of the money raised from industrially and commercially growing communities would go to the Detroit area. Of $13,774,000 which would have been raised in 1974, the City of Detroit would have gained $7,838,000, Oakland County would have lost $3,175,000 while Wayne County (including Detroit) would have gained $7,415,000.

According to State Representative in the 24th District Richard Fessler, the bill specifically proposes taking half of all additional tax revenue derived from new industrial and commercial growth, throwing it into a big pot and dividing it up on a per capita basis in communities which have not had substantial industrial or commercial tax growth.

In Novi, the bulk of the $333,000 loss of taxes in Novi would have come from the pockets of the Novi School District—probably well over $100,000. Though there is no breakdown by the state on what each individual taxing body would have lost, Novi City Assessor John Merrifield estimated that the city government of Novi would have lost $45,000 in revenue.

Several other school districts which cover portions of Novi also figure into the $333,000 tax loss. The county would also lose funds.

While the figures for 1974 were hypothetical, if the bill is approved for 1977, taxing bodies in Novi probably would lose in excess of $400,000 in taxes because of taxes coming from the Dayton-Hudson shopping center which city and school officials expected to help bail out their problems. Of that amount, Merrifield figured the city government would lose $60,000. The school district could lose in excess of an expected $200,000. Novi school administration officials were not available for comment.

Fessler indicated he is completely opposed to the bill and that the communities opposed had better make their opposition known because the plan could very definitely win approval.

"The danger is in thinking it couldn't," said Fessler. "You have 32 or 34 representatives from Detroit and you need 56 to pass a bill." Fessler pointed out that many of the outstate representatives might favor passage of the bill in order to subsidize Detroit from the "Share the Wealth" monies rather than from the state treasury.

Fessler said that he fears a coalition of Detroit representatives joining with outstate representatives.

"The representatives up north are tired of putting up money to bail out Detroit," added Fessler. "The City of Detroit is looked upon as a drain on the rest of the state."

"The ludicrousness of the plan shows when you consider Bloomfield Hills would be getting money," said Fessler. "I don't see why Novi should have to give it out to Bloomfield Hills."

Merrifield commented that as far as Novi is concerned, "with the loss of revenue, there probably would be more millage runs in the future."

He added that the expected loss to the City of Novi government of $60,000 in 1977 would be "the difference between keeping up with cost and not keeping up."

Merrifield summed up that the plan is "one more way the state is trying to shirk its duties."

"I think Detroit doing a little management work down there could save three times what they'll gain from this bill."

Wixom, as a growing community, could also be hit hard although Assistant to the Mayor Bernard VanOsedale pointed out that the $112,000 loss in 1974 was "hypothetical."

"If we didn't get any new industry, we wouldn't lose anything," said VanOsedale. "It is a disincentive to a developing community to actually go out and seek new industrial development. Why should we seek it out and then give the money to communities that are dying?"

VanOsedale said he does fear the bill may pass in an effort by outstate representatives to contain Detroit's problems to the metropolitan area without having to dig into the state treasury.

VanOsedale pointed out that if industry continues coming into the city, the city has to provide many services and utilities and the additional tax money usually goes for this purpose. Without that tax money, VanOsedale indicated some left tightening might be necessary.

Northville City Manager Steven Walters said that despite the fact the City of Northville might gain a little, "my personal feeling is it stinks".

To Attract Industry

New Group in Works

The Novi Council is expected to approve a new group to study the city's industrial development needs.

The group, which will be made up of representatives from the city, county, and state, will be charged with the task of studying the city's industrial development needs and recommending ways to attract industry.

City Attorney David Fried pointed out there might be a conflict if the same committee was asked to encourage industry to come into the city and also advise the council on acts encouraging development when those acts encouraging development might do just that, but not necessarily be for the betterment of the community.

Council member Martha Hoyer contended that the same committee should advise the council on acts encouraging development. The committee, as set down by the resolution, was to have as members: One member from the chamber of commerce; one member of the financial community; city manager; assistant city manager; finance director; building official; and one attorney from the community.

Council members disagreed on the make-up, however, citing the fact that a council member should be on the committee, rather than both the city manager and assistant city manager. The council subsequently decided to eliminate the assistant manager in place of a council member.

Council also decided that the expertise of having an attorney on the committee might not help toward the particular goals of the committee and the council recommended that someone from the community with planning experience be added instead.

Bike Path Request Comes Too Late

A request for Novi Council to put on the ballot a second bike path question had to be turned down because the request was submitted too late.

In a letter to the council, John Balagna, chairman of the Novi Parks and Recreation Commission asked the council to put the question on the March 23 ballot along with a road millage question.

"In November, 1975, the voters turned down the bike path proposal, not because they did not want them, but because of the economic times and too many millage issues on the ballot," said Balagna's letter.

"The Novi Parks and Recreation Commission still feels that the people of Novi are in need of, and want, bike trails. Our roads are still at the development stages and this is an excellent opportunity to consider the bike trails issue again, not as

Signals Finally Coming

For Meadowbrook-10 Mile

The long-awaited signalization of the 10 Mile and Meadowbrook Road intersection finally appears on the way.

Novi Council last week approved an agreement with the Oakland County Road Commission for signalization of the intersection.

The agreement stipulates that the city will pick up the construction costs of improvements required to the intersection while the county will pay for the traffic signal, maintenance and traffic engineering.

The city is expected to pay $19,000 while the Road Commission will contribute $12,000. Improvements to the intersection itself include a left turn lane on Meadowbrook Road, as well as necessary grading, drainage, bituminous widening and concrete curbing.

The city has long been after a signal for the intersection, noting that increased traffic on both Meadowbrook and 10 Mile roads has caused a potential safety problem.

No estimate has been made on exactly when the project will begin although the Road Commission, in the agreement, noted that the project is hoped to be completed "as expeditiously as possible," preferably in 1976.

'Ready for Reading'

The new Novi Library is scheduled for completion within two months, at which time the first phase of the building will be open for use. The library board is currently seeking a tenant to fill the second phase which has been constructed thanks to lower than expected costs for the first phase. For a complete update on the new library and what will happen to the old library building, see page C-1.

New Law Is Topic

Geake Talks at U-I

State Representative R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) will give a major address at the University of Illinois' conference on Mandatory Continuing Education for Professionals February 26 and 27 in Chicago.

Geake, who is vice-chairman of the House Committee on Public Health, will report on the legislature's experience in the development of Michigan's new law requiring physicians to attend courses each year. The intent of the law is to keep physicians abreast of new findings and practices in their field, now a requirement in order to keep their licenses.

The two-day conference will deal with present and proposed requirements for continuing education for professionals in many fields, including physicians, dentists, engineers, attorneys, and teachers. Speakers and participants from throughout the country will participate. Geake was the only legislator selected for the program.

Among the 30 specialists leading the conference, two Michigan residents will appear in addition to Representative Geake. Robert K. Richards and Floyd C. Pennington of the University of Michigan office of Intramural Education will lead workshop groups.

Representative Geake holds B.S., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in education and psychology from the University of Michigan and is a former administrator at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, a unit of the Michigan department of Mental Health.

He was a leader in the development of legislation dealing with Michigan's medical malpractice insurance crisis last year.

Representative Geake's expenses for the trip will be borne by the University of Illinois.

Celebrating in Our Town

the youngest member being Andrew Genitti. The baby and his mother, Mrs. John Genitti, Jr., were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ware at their winter home at Stuart, Florida. The Atwoods are residents of Tropic Isles Mobile Home Park in Palmetto.

"It was a day of much visiting and renewing of acquaintances," writes Mrs. Atwood, adding that the Reverend Leslie Williams, former pastor of Northville Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

It was in February, 1970, that Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Meaker, who now live in Noblesville, Indiana, arranged the first reunion attended by 37. It became an annual event with William Hensch, Eddie Barnes and Roy Stone following as chairmen.

A former Northville resident, Mrs. Willard (Genevieve) Ely, who moved with her husband to Dania, Florida, to open that community's first antique shop in 1946, recently was praised in the Miami Herald. The Elys, who specialized in old lamps, encouraged other antique businesses, helping Dania on U.S. highway 1 to become known as the "antique capital of the south." The newspaper cites the town as a "40-store cornucopia" of antiques.

ANTIQUERS just back from a winter vacation in Florida are Mrs. George Miller and Mrs. John Miller. With their husbands, they had been at Sanibel Island.

They returned in time for the February meeting of Base Line Quilters' society last Thursday. Also present at the luncheon at the Captain's Table was Mrs. Bruce Roy, who had just returned with her husband from New Orleans.

At the meeting held in the Mill Race library Mrs. George Carmack, a new chapter member who lives in the Charles Walker home on Cambridge Drive, presented a paper on French Limoges china which related how an American, David Haviland, was in large part responsible for its great success.

Plans were made for a field trip this week to view the presidential china exhibit at the Detroit Historical Museum and visit historic Moross House in Detroit. Mrs. Harvey Smith is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. John Burkman, chapter president, reported that announcement had just been made that the 1980 national convention of the Quilters will be held at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency. Members made plans to attend the Bicentennial convention this May in Philadelphia.

TWO WOMEN'S organizations announce changes in meeting dates and/or places:

Northville Woman's Club, which traditionally meets on the first and third Fridays of the month from October through March, will meet next on Saturday, March 6, at 1:30 p.m. in Northville Presbyterian Church for a mother-daughter tea.

Mrs. George Weiss, president, explains that once a year the day is changed to Saturday so that daughters can accompany their mothers. Nancy Heckler, the club's Girls State delegate, is to be an honor guest. Gladys Weiss asks members concerned about making the required number of club meetings to note the change in day.

Northville Mothers' Club has changed its meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday, March 1, to the home of Mrs. Roger Pyett at 18449 Donegal Court. Mrs. Martin Rinehart, club president, states also that the second meeting scheduled for March has been delayed to March 29 with the location changed to the home of Mrs. Samuel McSeveny.

Hostesses for next Monday's meeting will be Mrs. Richard Lyon, Mrs. Edward Hodge and Mrs. Walter Carter.

Quilting History

Gale Bartula's fourth graders at Amerman Elementary School with the help of Kay Dickinson proudly display their nearly finished Bicentennial quilt. The quilt will be placed on exhibit in the school when it is completed.

Fourth Graders 'Live in Past'

Fourth graders in the Northville School District have an intent grasp on Bicentennial activities here.

If one walks into Mrs. Judy Higbee's fourth grade class at Moraine, one gets the feeling he is in the 1700 era.

Students are working together trying to relive that colonial existence. In order to really recreate the feeling of that period, they dressed in Revolutionary mode and made wooden horn books on which to write their daily work.

The desks displayed quill pens and in the corner of the room students could be seen drying wool on a string.

The trades of rug hooking, quilting, candle making, wool spinning and butter churning were all on the daily lesson plan.

Even the boys took an interest in the culinary arts as delicious pretzels, corn muffins, bread, butter, coriander crisps, ice cream and peanut brittle were all made and eaten by the children.

The lights were turned out in the classroom, not for conserving energy, but to learn the feeling of working by lantern.

Many children brought in antiques from home to share with their classmates.

Mrs. Gale Bartula's fourth graders at Amerman started work on their Bicentennial quilt last week.

The quilt consists of "10-x" red and white squares with blue Bicentennial symbols on each square.

Each child participated in finding the symbols and cutting the patterns. Now, with the help of Mrs. Kay Dickinson, the students are in the final stages of quilting.

Hopefully, when the quilt is totally finished, it will be displayed in Mrs. Bartula's room 16 or in the main lobby at Amerman.

All in all, these activities have created a fun way of learning about their ancestors which the children will not soon forget.

Dr. Ditzhazy Dr. Grote Heads Contest At National Sponsored by Optimists Conference

Dr. Helen R.R. Ditzhazy, principal of Novi High School during the recent convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals in Washington, D.C., explored with colleagues from all over the country possible solutions and alternatives concerning issues facing education and the schools in 1976.

Dr. Ditzhazy was one of more than 10,000 school administrators participating in a myriad of sessions focusing on such topics as the national decline in student performance on standardized tests, suspension and expulsion practices, crime in the schools, and educational reform. One entire morning during the convention was set aside for delegates to visit their congressmen to discuss these critical issues.

Major speakers at the 60th annual convention included Senator Hubert Humphrey (D-Minnesota), United States President Gerald Ford, Former Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Federal Communications Commissioner Richard E. Wiley, D.C. School Superintendent Vincent Reed, and Boston University President John R. Silber.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals, organized in 1916, serves 35,000 school administrators through several monthly publications, seminars and conferences, research and information clearinghouses, and legal assistance.

Public speaking contests sponsored by Optimist Clubs across the state this year are being headed by C. Nelson Grote, Schoolcraft College president, who chairs the Michigan District's Oratorical Committee.

Open to boys and girls 15 years and younger as of last December 31, competition is held at local, regional and district levels.

The speaking competition is a traditional activity of Optimist International. It has involved thousands of youth throughout the country. District winners, one boy and one girl, earn $500 scholarships to the colleges of their choice.

Dr. Grote is a life member of Optimist and has been active in the club since 1963. He is a director of the Livonia Optimist and is a past Lt. Governor of another district.

A spaghetti dinner for contestants and their families, judges, school officials and Optimist Club members will be held in conjunction with finals competition at Schoolcraft the evening of March 8.

Livonia Optimist oratorical committee members will be contacting high school speech drama teachers to provide full details of the contest. Students wishing to enter should consult these teachers or they may contact Dave Ducharme, Livonia Optimist vice-president, at 522-4097.

Y Offers

Plant Class

A four-week class on house plants is being added to the mini-class offerings of the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA. Mrs. Janet Luce, program director, announces this week.

The four sessions will be held Thursday mornings from 9:30 to 11 a.m. beginning March 4.

It is to be taught by Sharon Rucinski with a charge of $8 for members and $12 for non-members. For information or to register call the YMCA office at 453-2904.

Woman-of-Year Contest

Approaches Deadline

Deadline to make a nomination for the 1976 Northville Jaycee Auxiliary Woman of the Year Award is March 5.

Nominations for the annual honor may be submitted by organizations or individuals with application forms available from Mrs. Lesa Buckland, 349-0773.

Chairman Sharon Lang expects that at least as many nominations will be received as last year when 13 women were suggested for the honor.

She stresses that the quality of a woman's involvement is important as the auxiliary is seeking an outstanding woman who will be honored at a tea the first week in April. First honoree was Beatrice Carlson, followed by Pearl Weber, Pat Wright and Annalee Mathes.

Money Printed

The first paper money issued by the United States government was printed in March, 1862, but it was many years before currency as we know it appeared in America. In 1866, for example, a woman's picture turned up on the dollar bill. This one-time honor went to Martha Washington.

Principal Heads

Alpha Nu Panel

A panel discussion on "The Individual Child" will highlight the pollock dinner meeting of Alpha Nu chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma at 6 p.m. Monday.

The meeting will be held at Silver Springs School in Highland Lakes subdivision.

Principal Nancy Fieldman and two staff members, Mrs. Fay Stone and Miss Chris Modrick comprise the panel.

Members are asked to bring a passing dish and their place setting.

New TOPS Group Forms

First meeting and exercise session of a new TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) group for Northville-Novi area women is slated for 12:30 p.m. today, Wednesday, at the Northville Scout-Recreation Building, 215 West Cady Street.

It is being organized by a group of five women, most of whom previously have been in other TOPS clubs. The new group will be in addition to the night chapter which meets at 7:30 p.m. every Monday in the scout-recreation building.

Another TOPS group which formerly met in King's Mill Clubhouse has been disbanded.

Any woman interested in losing pounds is invited to join the new group on Wednesdays. Additional information may be obtained about it by calling 349-2486 or 349-9359.

Winter Parties Swing

Possibly the greatest number of Northville residents in history were on their feet dancing last Saturday night as music played at four area parties concurrently.

Largest gathering was the Bicentennial Ball of Northville Historical Society with more than 600 gathering at the Plymouth Hilton Inn for dinner and dancing.

The fourth annual benefit for the Mill Race Historical Village has become a true community event that party-goers reported was "fun for a great cause."

Northville Newcomers Club drew 50 couples to the social hall of Our Lady of Victory Church where Dave Shafer, Station WOMC disc jockey, presided over the stereo.

"Dream Weaver," the Northville High winter formal that was an all-school party last Saturday to replace the traditional Junior Prom, was held at the Mayflower Meeting House where 60 couples were on their feet dancing both fast and slow numbers.

More than 240 area Republicans attended a Lincoln Birthday celebration dinner dance last Saturday at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Sponsored by the Wayne II Congressional District Republicans, the event was planned by a committee that included Dave Bucklin of Northville.

Officers from Northville, who were introduced at the dinner program, include Hester Courter, secretary, and Robert Krueger, research chairperson. Patrick J. Duggan served as master of ceremonies.

The Bentley School choir under the direction of Dr. Jerry Smith entertained at the program following dinner. Dancing followed.

County Requests Millage

The Oakland County Parks & Recreation Commission has recommended that a one-quarter millage renewal be placed on the ballot for the May 18th Presidential Primary Election.

The action is subject to approval by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

The proposal calls for renewal of a one-quarter millage, or 25 cents per $1,000 equalized valuation property tax, which expires December 31, 1976. In the last vote in 1970, the millage was approved by Oakland County voters by a 2-1 margin.

"We felt it was in the best interest of the Oakland County Parks & Recreation Commission that the citizens of the county determine our future through a vote on the millage renewal," said E. Frank Richardson, chairman of the Parks & Recreation Commission. "For this reason, we recommended the millage renewal be placed on the May 18th ballot because we feel there will be a minimal number of proposals on that ballot. For lack of clutter, voters will be able to make a better choice in contrast to the expected number of proposals to be placed on the August primary ballot."

"This action is contrary to recent discussions with Dan Murphy (Oakland County Executive)," Richardson added. "However, in talking to Dan about it, he indicated that if we decided to go to the people, he would support our actions."

"Despite a soft economy, we are confident that the citizens of Oakland County will want us to continue our pattern of growth and development by renewing this five-year millage," said Lewis E. Wint, vice-chairman of the Parks & Recreation Commission.

"Hopefully, they will vote on the Commission's record of progress. Since 1966, we have grown into a 2,300 acre, six park green belt," Wint said. "We have developed these park sites within their natural environment, yet our facilities complement state and local recreational sites, and meet the many outdoor recreational needs of our citizens. For example, at Groveland-Oaks Park we offer 600 camp sites for overnight campers. Our golf course facility at White Lake-Oaks is filled to capacity, so we expanded Springfield-Oaks to an 18-hole facility this year. And this year, we'll introduce a wave-action pool at Waterford-Oaks Park — only the second such facility in the United States, and open Independence-Oaks, a nature-type park."

Wint pointed out that the funds from the millage have played an integral role in the Oakland County Parks & Recreation Commission's progress and growth. "There is no doubt in my mind that if we depended on general funds in the past, we would not be where we are today," Wint added.

"Seventy-nine per cent of the millage funds ($9,562,587) have been used for land acquisition and capital and building improvement," Richardson commented. "Our land purchases and development programs also have been subsidized through matching funds from the federal and state government."

Plumber's Nightmare

"Apparently the owner had stored his plumbing supplies inside, anticipating opening business here soon, and then took off for Florida," explained Fire Chief Bud Hartner who, Tuesday morning, was trying to track down the unidentified owner of a township building that was completely destroyed by fire Monday. Recently sold to the Suburban Plumbing & Heating Company, the building is located on Gerald Avenue, across from the DPW yard.

Cause of the fire is unknown at this time, but according to Hartner the building was filled with inflammable materials. An explosion blew out the rear of the building and by the time firemen arrived minutes later the building was engulfed in flames. Jet black smoke billowed high in the early evening sky, attracting spectators to the fire from as far away as five miles.

Voters to Have Choices

'Lake Millage Election April 6

Wixom and Novi voters living in the Walled Lake School District will be asked again for approval of a millage renewal and increase, but this time voters will have a choice.

November 12, voters in that district defeated 2,101 to 1,371 a combined question asking for a combined 10 mill renewal and three additional mills for operating. Tuesday, April 6, voters will be asked again to approve the 10 mill renewal and, as separate questions, 5.5 mills or four mills.

According to Dr. Donald Sheldon, superintendent of schools, approval of the renewal and 5.5 mill increase will allow the district in the 1976-77 school year to continue its present program without having to make cuts.

Approval of the renewal and four mills would allow the district to continue its program, but with cuts totaling $500,000 as the extra four mills will raise $1.3 million while 5.5 mills would raise an additional $1,850,000. Reason for the additional millage above and beyond that requested previously was a drop in state aid, according to Sheldon.

"Initially there was a $77,000 loss," said Sheldon. "The loss of $225,000 additional has compounded the problem."

Though reluctant to discuss it, Sheldon indicated the school district is in the same bind at this moment as Novi and other school districts throughout the state. Because of the loss of state equalized value (SEV) due to the single business tax which takes business inventories off the tax roll, the Walled Lake School District must contend with a portion of the State Aid Act which guarantees the district 106 percent of the previous year's income and per pupil taxes.

That would not be so bad except as the law stands now, any addition in local school taxes up to a certain point based on a formula, will not have the effect of adding revenue because the state, in turn, will withdraw its subsidy of the district. Sheldon said that at this point, he does not know how much money could be taken away by the state before the additional local taxes would have an effect in added revenue.

Many school districts are banking on the fact that the state legislature will approve a resolution not penalizing local districts for levying additional taxes. Sheldon said that if this happens and the school district has additional funds coming in beyond what is needed, he is certain the school board will not levy the unnecessary funds.

Adding to the problem of lost state aid, according to Sheldon, is the fact that over the last few years, the district has had to cut approximately $600,000 from its budget for supplies due to inflation and higher prices.

According to Sheldon, the previous question failed because either the extent of the school district's problems were not presented so residents understood or the economy played a large role.

While Sheldon said he was reluctant to do any crystal balling, he did say the voters "will be more receptive to a split ballot rather than one question."

Sheldon added that the board intends to come up within the next few weeks with a list of cuts which would have to be made should the additional millages fail.

"There would be some classroom teachers who would go, as well as support teachers," said Sheldon. "I can't see any area that would not be cut."

Admitted Sheldon, "If this (question) should fail and the board decides we should come back, we will have another opportunity or two, or even three. It depends on how many elections you would want."

Alcohol Awareness Meetings Planned

Another series of alcohol awareness programs, co-sponsored by the 35th District Court and the Northville Jaycees, will get underway soon in Plymouth.

The programs will be presented in the Plymouth City Hall, second floor.

Programs include: Session 1—Tuesday, March 2, 8 p.m.; Dr. Frank Hollingsworth, Ph.D., executive director of the Friendship House in Bay City, who will speak on Pharmacology Alcohol — Effect on Body — Physical. Session 2 — Tuesday, March 9, 8 p.m.; Dr. Hollingsworth, speaking on Progression of Alcoholism — Disease Concept.

Session 3 — Tuesday, March 16, 8 p.m.; a two-member A.A. panel and a two-member Alanon panel will discuss how alcohol has affected their lives and how A.A. or Alanon has helped them.

Session 4—Tuesday, March 23, 8 p.m.; a film, titled "The Other Guy," will be presented.

The alcohol awareness series is open to the public. "Anyone curious about alcohol and its effects on the human mind and body is welcomed to attend," a Jaycee spokesman said. "Questions will be answered concerning available treatment facilities in this area."

The crazy quilt is a nostalgic addition to home decoration, useful for its warmth as much as for its beauty, useful, too, as a catch-all for the economic saving of left-over scraps of material. If you are lucky enough to possess such a quilt, and if it is in fairly good condition, you can satisfy a yen for yesteryear by displaying it — not in the bedroom, but in the living room! Draped on a sofa or so as not to obscure an antique chair the quilt will give that just-left, casual impression which serves to make other days more real. And even, in our warm houses the quilt may be used as a cozy, comforting wrap on long winter nights, while reading or watching television.

Whether you prefer early American, modern or contemporary styles in your wall coverings, you can be sure of finding what you want at GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110. Why guess about wallpaper, when our knowledgeable recommendations cost nothing extra, but can save you time, money and disappointment. We can also help you to select just the right colors and shades of FULLER-O'BRIEN paints to mix and match with wall coverings.

NEARLY 250 WAYNE COUNTY prisoners started moving into three newly renovated barracks at DeHoCo on Five Mile Road last week to help relieve crowded conditions at the Wayne County Jail. More permanent cells are being readied in "M" building at Wayne County Hospital. Costs for the improvements were $65,300.

County Approves Expenditures

DeHoCo Cost up $212,000 As Prisoners Find New Home

The price tag for complying with a court-imposed ceiling on the number of Wayne County jail inmates has risen by $212,086.

The Wayne County Commissioners February 19 added that amount to the $2,050,000 they had appropriated two weeks previously for temporary housing of excess jail inmates. The increase was approved by a vote of 15-6, with three abstentions. Fourteen votes were needed for approval.

The board of commissioners approved $146,086 as requested by Sheriff William Lucas for additional staff, consisting of 13 deputies and 12 civilians, for a 90-day period.

The board also added $65,300 to the $50,000 allotted two weeks earlier for fencing and other security measures at three Detroit House of Corrections (DeHoCo) barracks where excess jail prisoners are to be housed for 90 days. The county board of auditors reported that the security measures would cost the additional amount.

The sheriff said the additional employees are needed at DeHoCo, while a vacant county hospital building is being renovated for longer-range temporary prisoner quarters. He said the additional employees will also be needed at the hospital building when it is occupied.

Two weeks earlier, the Board of Commissioners appropriated $500,000 for staffing of the DeHoCo barracks and $1.5 million for renovation of the vacant psychiatric building, Building M, on the grounds of Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

Full-year costs are expected to reach about $6 million.

The scramble for temporary housing for excess jail prisoners began after a panel of three Wayne circuit judges set a 720-prisoner limit for the County Jail in downtown Detroit and ruled Lucas in contempt of court for accepting prisoners beyond that limit. The judicial panel gave Lucas until midnight February 3 to obey its order.

The judicial panel turned down requests by attorneys for the board of commissioners and the sheriff for a delay of its order.

A number of commissioners, including Board Chairman Roscoe L. Bobo, have expressed strong dismay over being forced to spend on temporary facilities millions of dollars which could be used toward expansion of permanent jail facilities.

Commissioner Edward K. Michalski (D-Detroit), chairman of the board's public safety and judiciary committee, warned at the February 19 meeting that additional personnel will be needed for Building "M".

"The sheriff is the only one who knows what he needs for staffing these facilities," Michalski declared.

Commissioner John Lesinski (D-Dearborn), chairman of the public works committee, declared: "The sheriff will have a total of 91 guards out there and this is wrong. I think the manpower figures are too high."

Commissioner Mary E. Dumas, who represents Northville, opposed the increased staffing.

"The inmate population is way down, only one barracks is occupied and there is no indication that the others will ever be occupied. I refuse to continue to spend millions of the taxpayers' money on temporary facilities."

The commissioners were meeting, there were 646 inmates in the downtown jail, plus 47 prisoners in the DeHoCo barracks.

Commissioner George Hart (D-Dearborn) also opposed spending for temporary facilities and declared: "The three-judge panel has a special responsibility to concern themselves with the criminal justice system in Wayne County."

Last September, the board of commissioners submitted schematic drawings for a new 400-inmate detention facility to the three-judge panel.

Also under study by the board of commissioners is an investment group's second revised proposal that the county acquire a vacant downtown warehouse which would be converted to a jail. Promoters of the warehouse proposal were allowed to intervene in the court case before the three-judge panel. They asked the court to order the board to accept their proposal as the best deal for the taxpayers. No decision has been handed down.

Inmate Move Termed Mistake

Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville) calls the decision to house jail inmates at Wayne County General Hospital in Westland and DEHOCO in Northville Township a serious mistake.

Speaking out against the action, which was prompted by a panel of three Wayne circuit judges, Smith stated, "The three-judge panel has given no consideration to the financial state of the county. I am totally against deficit spending, as is every other Wayne County Commissioner. There's no telling how much the final tab will be," he warned. "Cost estimates of renovating 'M' Building keep going up."

Total costs are currently estimated at more than $6 million. This is to cover the renovation of "M" Building at Wayne County General Hospital and for security precautions required for three barracks at Detroit House of Corrections (DEHOCO).

Acting under pressure from the three-judge panel, the Board of Commissioners recently agreed to house prisoners for 90 days at DEHOCO, an emergency measure, and to renovate "M" Building at Wayne County General, a job that is expected to take five months to complete. "M" Building is intended to suffice as a major jail annex until a new jail facility can be built, a project which would take a minimum of three years to complete.

Roscoe L. Bobo (D-Ecorse), chairman of the Board of Commissioners, recently said that the financial demands of temporary jail facilities have forced the Commissioners to resort to deficit spending which "is likely to result in sharp cutbacks in public services later this year."

"Just doing a little quick arithmetic would tell me that spending $6 million to keep 250 inmates for one year would run in the neighborhood of $24,000 per prisoner, per year. That's a lot of money to lay on the Wayne County taxpayers," Smith emphasized. "We would be far better off spending that kind of money for a permanent jail."

"I further understand there is a serious question of whether the accreditation of the hospital could be put in jeopardy by the existence of a jail facility in the same complex," Smith added.

To Purchase Obligations

Allow Fund Transfer

Resolutions to add the finance director as a check signer and to allow transfer of funds for purchase of United States Government obligations were approved by Novi Council last week.

Resolutions were approved to add Finance Director Fred Todd to withdraw or add funds to city fund accounts at National Bank of Detroit, West Oakland Bank, and Security Bank of Novi.

A resolution was also approved to allow the finance director or treasurer to invest idle city funds through purchase of direct United States Government obligations. Another resolution was passed allowing the finance director and city treasurer to authorize telephone transfer of federal funds (a method of immediate transfer of funds between banks) from banks doing business with the city of Novi for the express purpose of purchasing United States Government Securities.

Another resolution was passed allowing the finance director and treasurer to enter into repurchase agreements of government obligations. In those instances, the city would purchase obligations for a specified number of days with "idle" funds "under" an agreement in which the federal government would pay back the funds plus interest.

According to Todd, the resolutions were intended to allow purchase of obligations that, at times, could produce up to 12 percent interest compared to the five percent which the city could receive with a savings account.

All of the resolutions were approved unanimously by council.

Burn Victims from Novi

Listed in Fair Condition

Three Novi youths burned during a fire at a vacant home on Queen's Pointe were all listed Tuesday in fair condition at University Hospital Burn Center in Ann Arbor.

The teenagers are identified as David Boehmer, Jeffrey Boehmer of 24765 Apple Crest and Keith Gach of 24836 Apple Crest.

David was originally listed in serious condition. All of the youths reportedly suffered burns on their faces, arms and chests when a match one lit fell in some floor covering a new cement stair in the garage of the vacant home, touching off the fire. The youths escaped by crawling out under a back door. The hospital would not release further details of the condition of the boys.

Bond Funds to Be Used

School Projects Okayed

Monies from the 1972 school bond fund in Northville will be used to pay for a number of maintenance and improvement projects in the district.

Upon the recommendation of the facilities subcommittee chaired by Trustee John Hobart, the board of education Monday authorized the payment from the '72 fund of the following:

1. An alarm system for the bus compound, at an estimated cost of $2,600.
2. Repair of the high school roof, estimated cost of $1,500.
3. Refurbishing of the high school boilers (work has been completed), cost of $10,000.

4. Miscellaneous electrical jobs at the high school to meet state codes at a cost of $2,500.

Further down the priority list, but still being considered, said Hobart, are:

Ventilation of the graphics lab in the high school, refurbishing of the high school corridors ceiling, a monitoring system at key spots in the high school, correction of heating problems at Moraine Elementary, sidewalk repair in front of Main Street Elementary, emergency lighting, and miscellaneous tiling and upholstery jobs.

The '72 fund, prior to authorizing expenditures for the four jobs listed above, contained $98,000. It can be spent only for those projects legitimately covered by the wording in the bond issue approved by voters in 1972.

According to Hobart, one of the projects that could be covered with monies remaining in the 1972 fund would be refurbishing of Main Street Elementary School. This project, however, awaits the findings and recommendations of the citizens advisory committee being formed now, he added.

Five Drivers Ed Classes To Be Offered in Summer

Cooper Favors Drop Of Regulatory Units

RETAINING WALL—Construction is currently under way on a retaining wall at the new Dayton-Hudson Twelve Oaks Mall at 12 Mile and Novi roads in Novi. The retention wall, which is currently about half completed, is intended to retain dirt on the high level parking lots on two sides of the center. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the shopping center have been tentatively set for Tuesday, March 16.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is an article written by Michael Roddy as a journalism class requirement at Michigan State University.

One defender which local government and small businesses have in the legislature is Senator Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, who serves Novi, Wixom and the Oakland County section of Northville.

In a half-hour interview sandwiched between lunch following a Senate-House consumer protection conference committee meeting and the 2 p.m. legislative session, Senator Cooper spoke quietly and intently on a few state and local government concerns.

Senator Cooper said unpopular decisions are going to have to be made soon, such as eliminating some of the regulatory agencies, which, he feels, are more effective at the local level.

Money should be given to the local government, he believes.

"We could give some of the prosecutors some more money, let the local prosecutors enforce some consumer protection, instead of having overlapping layers of government that really don't do anything anyhow."

The senator said, "State and federal governments keep imposing more and more requirements, programs, mandates for them (cities) in how to run their governments, but we don't provide them funds to do it with. We're constantly forcing new endeavors on their back and not giving them enough money so they're in trouble for money."

"I have a bill now which would tax hotels and motels but I'm getting strong opposition from the tourist industry. It would allow some cities to fund a source of revenue from itinerant people rather than take it out of property taxes."

In the area of funding for state services Senator Cooper seeks the income tax as being ideal. "The income tax is the fairest way," he said.

"We passed a single business tax which was a theory of the governor's and unfortunately my party embraced it, which I voted against. It proceeds under the ridiculous premise that you tax business income irrespective of whether it's profitable or not. So you can have the horrid situation of a business that loses money and has to pay on its payroll."

"That was a cop-out to big business on the theory that we're going to get new jobs. I think that is an illusory theory. The figures it was based on were incorrect."

"I have no satisfaction at all in saying 'I told you so' " the senator added, "because I'm sorry. I hope the bill does do what it's supposed to do. But I'm afraid it's not going to."

The senator said suburban school systems are being "killed" by enactment of the single business tax and other legislation.

Another area that Senator Cooper feels needs re-evaluating is the role of state regulation of business. He believes the state should take a limited role.

"In some areas it is very necessary for us to take strong, positive steps," he said. "In some areas it is foolhardy for us to make certain provisions so tight that what we do essentially is cripple small business people."

"Big business can accept a lot of state regulation, small businesses can't afford it. So there has to be some sort of middle ground whereby we can regulate without driving all the small guys out of business."

The senator sees the forcing out of business of small enterprises as one result of extensive state regulation.

"The only ones who survive are the big operators. I don't think we intend to do that, but it is actually a syndrome that is being realized."

"Some of the people who advocate strict regulation really don't understand the complexity of it," he added.

In regard to other issues Senator Cooper said that crime is increasing faster in suburban communities than in the inner cities.

"There are some crime bills that I've sponsored, which will put more police officers on the beat in crime areas," he said.

"Another one would provide more lighting for high crime areas, both of which are proven, not theoretical, deterrents to crime."

"Many of the bills that are being pushed which are popular are theoretical deterrents, which the tests of time have proven inconclusive."

In response to a question referring to recent editorials criticizing his amendment to an open meeting bill, Senator Cooper said:

"They (The Free Press) didn't report it, but the amendment I amended said that only formal meetings had to be subject to public scrutiny. Informal meetings were permissible. Now that, as far as I was concerned, was too broad."

"My amendment said that only informal meetings are not necessary for notice."

Under the terms of the original amendment, Cooper said, the ambiguous wording would subject every gathering of a majority of a five-man committee to the public access provision.

"If Senator Fitzgerald, myself, and Bob Davis decided to sit in an office we would be guilty of a crime (Senator Davis is the Senate Minority Leader.) In any area informal discussions by people about their business shouldn't be proscribed," he continued.

In reply to a question concerning environmental problems, the senator cited his co-sponsorship of a resolution maintaining 1975 auto emission standards until 1980 as being illustrative of concern for the effects of environmental legislation. While recognizing the dangers of industrial pollution of lakes and expansion of business into natural areas, it is not a simple matter of curbing and controlling big business, he said.

"People who need jobs," he said, "sometimes think it's an abstraction to talk about saving parts of the wilderness when they don't have food to feed their families. It's just too easy to say 'Hey, we're not going to allow them to do this.'"

"These are the problems that make government so complex. You have to take a long, hard look at what you're doing."

Serves on Many Committees

Geake Has Respect of House

Editor's Note: The following article was written by Jeannine T. Levesque as a requirement of her Michigan State University journalism class.

"When Bob gets up to speak at the mike, people on both sides of the aisle really listen," Rep. Colleen House Engler, R-Bay City.

That's the kind of reputation R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, has built for himself in the House of Representatives in Lansing.

Currently in his second term, Geake was elected to the House from the 35th District (Northville and Livonia) in 1972. His election changed a previously Democratic district into a Republican one.

But Geake had done more than just get elected. He takes his job as a legislator seriously. He commutes the 65 miles from his home on Eight Mile Road to the Capitol each legislative day for committee meetings as well as actual sessions. Every Monday he works in his district "office," his home, before attending the night session in Lansing. In 1975 he was one of only two representatives present at all 1,368 record roll calls.

So far in this session Geake has introduced 11 bills, most of which are still pending. One of them, however, has become law.

This was House Bill 4798, which strengthened the power of the Medical Practice Board to investigate and act upon charges of unprofessional conduct against any physician in the state. The bill was passed as part of the state's legislative package on medical malpractice. It was approved by Gov. Milliken on July 9, 1975.

Geake served on the education, elections and mental health committees of the House. In addition he is Republican vice-chairman of the public health committee.

This last committee voted in favor of House Bill 4340, a bill which would ban the retail sale of aerosol products that contain freon as a propellant.

Some experts testified before the committee that freon aids in the erosion of the ozone layer of the atmosphere. This is a layer of pure oxygen 10 miles above the earth which protects animal and plant life from high dosages of ultraviolet radiation. But other experts said there was scanty evidence of such destruction.

Geake was one of eight committee members who voted to send the bill to the full House with a favorable report.

"I decided to support the bill," he said, "in the belief that we should take the more conservative approach until research scientists can determine the exact extent of damage, if any, to the atmosphere."

All testimony has been held on the bill. Floor debate began February 9. It will take a tough fight to get it passed, Geake said.

Right now Geake is also concerned about the cost to local communities of conducting the presidential preference primary on May 18. A funding bill is pending before the elections committee, which would reimburse the communities for these costs, which are expected to reach some $3 million statewide.

"I hope it will be acted on soon," Geake said, "because the local communities are anxious to know when they can expect to be reimbursed."

He did not have available an estimate of the amount Northville and Livonia are expected to spend on the election.

As a representative Geake has other duties besides that of acting on legislation.

"Representing your people, your district, when they need help with government, that's important to me as a member of the legislature," Geake said. "When any of your constituents are wronged, abused, misled or ignored by government, then a good representative goes to bat for them."

"I've had the opportunity to help so many individual people with their individual problems," he said. "I find this to be the most satisfying part of the job."

"It's making government work for people."

News From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Representative

If you have trouble keeping the names and districts of various legislators straight, you're in good company. Last Friday the chief of the Lansing Bureau for one of Detroit's daily newspapers published a major article purporting to acquaint readers with Western Wayne County House Members and their voting records on key bills.

While the map accompanying the article showed each of our districts and district numbers correctly, the writer apparently did not follow his own map. The listing omitted myself as well as House Speaker Pro Tem Matthew McNeely completely and confused moderate, white, Rep. Richard A. Young of Dearborn Heights with liberal, black, Joseph F. Young of Detroit. The listing also erroneously included Rep. Raymond Kehres (with name misspelled) of Monroe, whose district does not include any part of Wayne County.

Northville city and township officials are among others from throughout the state who are plenty worried about managing the coming presidential primary election. Many of my colleagues in the legislature believe that when voters go to the polls May 18 to cast their votes in the presidential primary, it will be the last time they do so in Michigan.

There is gathering support for elimination of the presidential primary in Michigan. Legislation calling for elimination of this year's primary has been introduced, but at this time it seems to have a slim chance of passage.

I'm guessing that after this year's primary, we're going to see support for repeal of the primary gather steam and May 18 will be the last chance registered voters will have to cast a presidential primary vote in Michigan.

There are two reasons for this thinking. One is that the process is very expensive and this year it looks as though much of that cost may fall on the local units of government because of the state's critical financial situation. The second reason is that many seem to think that the primary as it is now in Michigan is really only a popularity poll and not that meaningful in terms of actually nominating presidential contenders who are still chosen at national party conventions.

I'd be interested in hearing your thoughts on the future of the presidential primary in Michigan.

Barry Grady, 17, of Northville High School, was recently named a finalist in the Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan Best Sales Contest to be held March 9 at the Raleigh House in Southfield.

Chosen from among the several thousand high school students involved in the JA Program throughout the metropolitan Detroit area, Grady will compete with four other area young people in giving sales presentations.

The winner will receive an all-expense paid trip to the National Junior Achievers Conference at Indiana University in August and go on to further competition in the Regional JA Best Sales Contest held in Lansing on April 10.

Grady is a member of the ESP '76 JA Company sponsored by Western Electric at the Plymouth JA Center, located at 585 West Ann Arbor Trail. He has sold over $300 worth of wall plaques manufactured by his company. Total sales for ESP '76 is $650.00.

'Share the Wealth' May Hurt Suburbs

"It is contrary to the social values and motivations which they should try to maintain in the state," added Walters. "I think it's counterproductive in the long run for the suburbs."

He pointed out the possibility of annexation and pointed out that Northville Township would lose a lot of tax revenue because of its development.

While Northville Township Supervisor Betty Lennox was not available Tuesday for comment, Township clerk Clarice Sass said the township has received resolutions from other cities to consider on the issue. She said that the township will consider the matter at its March 11 meeting.

Fessler asked that all communities in his district pass a resolution either supporting or rejecting the proposed legislation. Novi has already approved a resolution opposing the plan.

Other counties besides Oakland to be included in the "Share the Wealth" plan are Washtenaw, Wayne, St. Clair, Macomb, Livingston and Monroe.

Township Site Suggested

See Research Lab Spinoffs

"In terms of attractiveness, it is hard to imagine other sites in the United States that would be any better located than the property here in Northville."

As he described Wayne County efforts to attract the nation's first solar research institute, county planner Frank Bennett found a receptive audience in the Northville Township Board.

Members appeared satisfied that the research center could be a very beneficial development for the township, and they seemed particularly interested in Bennett's speculative thoughts about possible spinoff benefits to the township.

The federal government is looking for a site where it can develop, the proposed, new multi-million dollar U.S. research laboratory. It will begin accepting formal proposals from throughout the United States soon.

Purpose of the center, which would employ some 1,500 persons, about 700 of whom would be scientists from throughout the world, would be to investigate economically feasible ways to harness the sun's energies to supplement the nation's access to fossil fuels.

The coordinating agency for proposals from Michigan is the Governor's Michigan Energy & Resource Research Association (MERRA). The federal agency, which has yet to issue specifications for the site it seeks, is the Energy Research & Development Administration (ERDA), the research arm of the former Atomic Energy Commission which has been enlarged to search for new energy technology in the United States.

According to Bennett, Wayne County, possibly other units of government in Michigan, the University of Michigan and very likely the major automotive giants of the state probably will join the growing list of bidders from around the United States who want the federal plum located in their states and in their communities.

Some of the proposals, such as those expected from the auto companies, may be made directly to ERDA without going through MERRA and therefore, explained Bennett, the exact number of proposals coming from Michigan is not yet known.

Earlier, Bennett revealed that the county is suggesting that a large parcel of land on the Wayne County Child Development Center, west of Sheldon Road between Five Mile and Six Mile roads, be considered as a site for the solar center.

Two other sites in the county also are being considered — one at the edge of Westland and another nearby in Romulus, he told township officials.

U-M reportedly is planning to suggest sites on its North Campus and at Willow Run. Another site supposedly is being suggested at Adrian.

Feelers in Washington suggest that the specifications of the government will require a site of from 200 to 300 acres of clear land, having good proximity to land and air transportation, being near scientific communities (such as U-M, Wayne State and MSU), and having a good potential work force.

Obviously, the government will be looking "for the best deal" it can make in securing such a site, Bennett said. Although a completely free site is an unlikely possibility, at least in Michigan, Wayne County is considering the possibility of a long term lease — perhaps 99 years at $1 per year — as a way of sweetening its suggested sites.

Present thinking, he said, is to not place a priority on the three Wayne sites but rather submit all of them and let the government make its own choice. Similarly, MERRA may wish to submit as many potentially good site proposals as possible to give Michigan a better crack at the solar center, he indicated.

Michigan has applied for federal installations in the past, said Bennett, but although it "has come very close, on the laser beam facility, for example, we seem to have been 'bridesmaids but never the bride.' This time we think we have an excellent chance."

The solar research center proposal was first announced six months ago, according to Bennett, and $250,000 was appropriated by Congress to put together the most effective proposal.

The government's timetable seems to suggest, he said, that within the next month ERDA will issue specifications for the site. Thereafter, state, municipalities and private industry will have 60 to 90 days to submit their proposals to the government. The government then probably will spend the next six months studying the proposals and narrowing them down, then spend another six months making its decision.

In terms of being totally unencumbered, the Northville site appears on the surface to be the county's best bet.

The 200 to 235 acre site in Westland, just south of the hospital and the railroad, and the 335 acre site south of VanBorn Road in Romulus, have been designated for uses in long-range county plans. For example, the two sites are nearly contiguous and could be combined for an out-county governmental, educational, criminal justice center, Bennett said. Although these plans have not been formalized, they are on long-range drawing boards. On the other hand, there are no plans, at this time, for the Northville site, he said.

The Northville land has been leased to a farmer for agricultural purposes and the lease agreement, he said, suggests it could be ended almost immediately by either party.

Although the federal government cannot be taxed for its properties, just as the township cannot tax Wayne County for the Child Development property, the federal government's practice, explained Bennett, is to provide subsidy in lieu of taxes.

Road improvements, fire service improvements, utility installations could be provided by the government if it chose to do so, he suggested.

Although sanitary sewer to the site is probably inadequate to handle the proposed solar center, all kinds of outside pressure from the state on down to the county probably would be exerted to ensure adequate utilities for the Northville site should it be chosen by the government, Bennett speculated.

The annual budget of the solar center has been pegged at $50 million.

Aside from generating jobs for perhaps 800 non-scientific personnel from this area, from clerical to management levels, the center would generate spinoff industries "that could be very significant and extremely beneficial to our (Wayne County) diversification efforts," said Bennett.

"I want to emphasize," he said, "that we are not talking about a factory with a center such as this. It is not a polluting industry. It will be on a level with the kinds of research facilities located east of Ann Arbor, such as the EPA center and Parke Davis."

The fact that this will be a solar research center does not mean that lots of sunlight will be necessary, according to Bennett. If this were the case, the government would limit its specifications to those areas in the Southern United States. The facility here would be primarily for collection, development and analysis of data. Field laboratories probably would be set up elsewhere in the United States for practical experimentation.

16 Teachers Hired For Special Ed

Sixteen more teachers have been hired for the special education program for institutionalized children in Northville.

Their addition to the staff boosts the total special ed faculty enrollment to 85.

Carolyn M. Alex, Sharon E. Band, Diane Lynn Bourdas, Mary Elizabeth Field, Barbara Gaskill, Carol C. Kaminski, Margaret Anne Moore, Anna Moss, Amy Jo Nemeth, Susan Pocalujka, Jennifer Roberts, Sharon T. Smith, Cheryl Denise Thompson, Cynthia Kay Warren, Jolene Wiedman and Linda A. Young.

The board of education also by unanimous action has retained Dr. Dena Gruman as supervisor in the special education program.

Solar Test Planned

The first large-scale test of solar energy in housing is being launched by the federal government with $1 million in grants for installation of solar units in 143 new and existing dwelling units.

An announcement by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development said grants would go to 55 private builders, public agencies and universities selected from 250 applicants. A second cycle of grants, planned for this summer or fall, will permit newer systems to be included in the test.

Under varying climatic conditions, 102 single-family and 40 multi-family units, including three student residences, will be equipped with commercially-available solar units. Some will provide for home heating, only some for hot water only, and others for a combination of the two. A limited number will demonstrate both solar heating and cooling.

"This large scale test could have strong impact for area homeowners concerned with rising heating and cooling costs," states Michael D. Samonek,

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Six members of the Northville Kiwanis club attended the Plymouth Colonial Kiwanis club meeting last Thursday noon as part of a special mission.

Their objective was to retrieve Northville's gavel — stolen by the pirates from Plymouth. Actually, Plymouth Kiwanians hold a paternalistic feeling for the Northville club having sponsored its formation.

Still, the Plymouthites are a mischievous lot. They've never forgotten, for example, that I advised them it would be foolhardy to attempt to organize a Kiwanis club in Northville. Not enough local interest, I stated. Now I have a standing invitation to a crow dinner.

Anyway, last Thursday noon Jack Hoffman and Mel Miner along with four others from Northville attended the Kiwanis meeting.

Hoffman and Miner decided it wasn't enough just to come back with the Northville gavel. They wanted something belonging to the Plymouth club.

So after the meeting was adjourned and the lower-level meeting rooms of the Mayflower hotel were vacant and darkened, Hoffman told Miner to "keep the motor running" while The Record's Clark Kent tiptoed back into the pitch-black room to steal the Kiwanis banner off the wall.

Groping and stumbling his way to the head of the room, Hoffman found the spot on the wall where the banner had hung. But it had been removed. At that moment he heard footsteps entering the room and someone else was stumbling about in the dark. The second intruder tripped over the piano and Hoffman heard the sound of piano keys ringing out as the unknown visitor caught his balance on the keyboard.

"Is that you, Mel?" Hoffman whispered.

"No, it's the bellboy," came the response.

Obviously caught in suspicious circumstances, Hoffman decided to take the offense. "What are you doing?" he demanded. "Turn on the lights."

The befuddled bellboy did and Hoffman explained he was looking "for his club's banner."

With that weak explanation the bellboy left and Hoffman found a closet with a bell and banner. He took both and marched upstairs, through the lobby and right past the bellboy.

"I found them," Hoffman stated, nodding to his old friend.

Back at Northville the two discovered that the bell did not belong to Kiwanis and the banner was the property of the Tuesday night Kiwanis club, not the Thursday noon group.

Not easily discouraged, the two returned to Plymouth, marched back into the hotel, through the lobby and past their friend, the bellboy.

"Got the wrong ones," Hoffman announced, and they walked back downstairs.

They found the proper banner and . . . you guessed it . . . marched back upstairs through the lobby and past their friend, the bellboy, who by this time was on a first-name basis with Hoffman.

"See you later," smiled Hoffman.

Anyway, the Plymouth Kiwanians can keep that crow on ice. And if they want their banner back, they can come over to the Old Mill next Monday at 6:30 p.m.

And bring along Hoffman's friend, the bellboy.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Friend Jan Reef called to ask me to check into the frequency of certain days occurring on February 29 — the Leap Year bonanza coming up soon.

"I can't ever recall February 29 coming on a Sunday. Is this a first?" he asked.

Obviously, Jan doesn't know that I can't remember the day of my own birthday, let alone such things as the frequency of February 29th on Sundays. Fortunately, however, the local library has come to my aid.

From the library I learned that February 29th has indeed fallen on Sunday in the past. But in telling me, for example, that the last time it happened was in 1948, the books left me another puzzle.

It appeared from the first observation of the pattern of recurring dates that February 29th occurs on Sunday every 28 years. But therein lies an oddity. The 29th occurred on Sunday in 1920, then for some odd reason skips back to 1880 before occurring again. It reverts to its 28-year pattern in 1852 and in 1824.

Similarly, this irregular 28-year pattern holds true with the other days of the week also. For example, February 29th will fall on Monday in 1988. Twenty-eight years earlier, Monday turned up in 1960, in 1932, and in 1904. Then, for some odd reason, it occurred in 1892, before reverting back to its 28-year pattern in 1864, 1836 and 1808.

Same thing for Tuesday. February 29 fell on Tuesday in 1972, in 1944 and in 1916. The 28-year cycle was skipped for awhile before beginning anew in 1876, in 1848 and in 1820.

Don't ask me why. I don't know. But perhaps an expert in the reading audience knows why the 28-year cycle doesn't hold true and will be kind enough to share the information with us.

Concerning February 29th I did learn what most of us already understood, namely that 1976 is a bisextile year and therefore requires an extra day, which by the Gregorian calendar occurs on February 29th in accord with the earth's orbital period of 365.242 days.

This intercalary adjustment is made every four years except century years which are not exactly divisible by 400. The Leap Year adjustment was first made under Julius Caesar in 46 B.C. The next Leap Year will occur in 1980.

Traditionally, of course, women may propose marriage to men during Leap Year. But with Slave Days in high schools now being challenged by the liberationists, there's little doubt that such Leap Year proposals are in for rough sledding.

My Choice For President

BAYH . . .

Senator Birch Bayh — Junior Senator from Indiana, Democrat, lawyer is my choice. Elected to the Indiana House of Representatives at the age of 26, Senator Bayh was the youngest Speaker of the House in Indiana's history. Elected to the U.S. Senate in 1962, he won his senate seat in face of overwhelming odds. In 1968 he defeated challenger "William Ruckelshaus".

Senator Birch Bayh, more than any other candidate, is addressing issues consistently, forcefully and thoughtfully.

Foreign and Defense Policy . . . Senator Bayh was an early opponent of the Vietnam War, and vigorously opposed the invading of Cambodia and Laos. Senator Bayh has consistently worked as a member of the Appropriations Committee to see that funds are provided to Israel to defend itself.

Tax Reform . . . Senator Bayh recognized the flaws in our tax structure that leaves loopholes for giant corporations.

Equal Rights for Women . . . no other member of Congress can equal Senator Bayh's active and effective support for women's rights legislations.

Freedom for Choice . . . Senator Bayh will oppose any efforts to overturn the Supreme Court's decision on abortion, defending an individual's right of choice!

I have met Senator Bayh and being a "very" personable man and an indefatigable campaigner, Senator Bayh has strong labor ties. He has a rapport with black leaders, which is important to me because I could never support a bigot!

Senator Bayh commands enthusiasm! I believe Senator Bayh could unite one America.

WALLACE . . .

Governor George Wallace has the respect and admiration of a large and growing number of people, despite the efforts of hostile TV networks. I believe this is due to the growing awareness of the general public as to the ownership and control of TV networks.

His 1968 and 1972 campaign speeches in which he charged the voters didn't really have much choice because there wasn't a thin dime's worth of difference between Democrats and Republicans reflected the views of many concerned voters.

The Alabama Governor brings issues into the campaign that other candidates would like to ignore.

He forces them to take stands on such issues as court-ordered busing to achieve racial balance, while many of the promoters of this plan send their own children to private schools, so they will not be involved.

Another area of concern which candidate Wallace shares with many voters is unelected department heads, who have been appointed to virtually lifetime jobs and now control most of our foreign and domestic policies.

In the area of taxes, a candidate who believes that the super rich and foundations should pay their fair share instead of little or nothing appeals to factory workers and many small businessmen.

His charge that the crime wave in this country is due to the fact that our courts are coddling criminals and turning them out on the streets again makes a lot of sense to a good number of people who believe we need some judge-controlled laws instead of gun controls.

It is my belief that George Wallace as a Democratic candidate for president will do very well in the Michigan Primary.

Readers Speak

Record Editorial under Fire by Spider Organization

To the Editor:
We were both delighted and disappointed that you chose to speak for Jack Hoffman in responding to our letter addressed to him on February 16th. Apparently you felt that the journalistic integrity of The Record was being questioned, which was not our real intent. We simply wanted answers to questions posed by SPIDER and we thank you for obtaining some of these.

The Record has kept its word. To date it has printed every question And, to date, our School Board box score shows: Questions: 15. Answers: ZERO. The Northville School Board has not answered one single question in writing, not one. This is why we finally wrote to you — to get written — not verbal — answers to our questions, in print, in The Record, so that the public might know specifically what their tax dollars represent should they decide to vote yes at the April 3rd election.

Please refer again to our first and second questions as submitted on January 31st to John Hobart of the Board:

1. What programs are you going to give us if only the basic 17-mill renewal is passed? (Please specify number of schools open, number of teachers employed, average pupil-teacher ratio, costs necessary in curriculum and in extra-curricular activities).

2. If you plan to ask for additional millage on April 3rd, what will each additional mill buy us?

We have said before — and we repeat for The Record — we are not after Mr. Spear's hide nor those of the School Board members. We are after responsibility being placed where it belongs — with the people who should be assuming it. The Board must assume its responsibility for setting policy and deciding exactly how much money it will take to run the system in the months ahead. How can we, as voters, make intelligent decisions re: ANY school millage election without specific information from the board?

In connection with the North Poll survey, we do publicly apologize for interfering, in an impromptu statement made at the board meeting of February 9th, that the poll foresaw public turnout of the 17-mill renewal issue. We were given that information, via phone, from what was considered to be an extremely reliable source. The poll results show exactly the opposite, and we believe the men who conducted the survey did the best job they could in interpreting the information with which they were provided.

Briefly, responding to the points that you covered in your editorial of February 18th, we would like to offer the following rebuttal:

1. We still feel that you and The Record are wrong if you really believe that current Board meetings are not restrictive but will not belabor the issue further at this time.

2. We regret, since it was not intended, any undertone of "character assassination" in the questions we posed concerning Superintendent Spear, his contract, his salary and fringe benefits. These were among 147 specific questions asked us, which we will be very happy to show you, and all of the questions we have gathered. We greatly appreciate the answers you did obtain and print for the public — they're the only answers we've gotten from anybody so far.

3. We are disappointed in The Record's turnout of our Hot Line proposal. Perhaps the board of ed. offices are the place for such a Hot Line or perhaps a Hot Line you would initiate in column form, similar to an Action Line or Contact 10, could be an even better solution.

4. As for accusing SPIDER of being opposed to the special ed program, we strongly resent this implication. SPIDER supports the special ed concept, but we are concerned about the way the board and administration are moving almost blindly to implement this program for the very reasons you cite, and we also question the long-range effects its present piece meal implementation will have on both special ed and regular students in the district.

5. As for SPIDER itself, there simply is no intentional secrecy about our activities. At this time, SPIDER might best be described as a grass roots movement, formed by a group of independent residents, to collect and direct citizens' questions to the Board of Education for dissemination, through your pages, to the public. We are not a decision making group.

We have held two fully publicized and fully open meetings at which reporters from your paper were present. We plan to hold more as soon as we can get some meaningful answers from the board, allowing us to schedule an open discussion of key issues pertaining to education. To reveal the names of additional members, beyond those you already know, at this time seems as pointless to us as our asking you to reveal every private news source you use to obtain often confidential information might appear to you. So let's get on with the serious business, in the most positive and direct manner possible, of remedying the increasing ills of our school system.

To paraphrase your final editorial comment, we're not quite sure why you and we should be at odds, since the object of improved education in our schools should be a cause that a paper of your excellence and general good reputation would willingly espouse.

Sincerely,

Jim Lewis,
Acting Chairman

To the Editor:

May we have an opportunity to take issue with your editorial last week? To us it seemed that column, particularly the "Come Out Whoever You Are" headline, served only to add to the divisiveness already raging throughout the Northville school district.

The majority of voters have twice in the past few months refused to vote for additional millage. Some questions in voters' minds must be answered quickly, concisely, truthfully and comprehensively by school board members, not the superintendent nor the newspaper editor.

March 8 is coming up fast and the renewal ballot has to be written by then for our April 3 election. Someone has to clear the air and pull this district together so that 17 mill renewal will pass. Will you?

Questions

Average

To the Editor:

On December 31, 1975, you published an article which reported salary data for teachers in the Northville Public Schools for 1974-75 and 1975-76. Subsequently, in a published letter, a reader pointed out that this data reveals an average salary increase from $13,548 in 1974-75 to $15,865 in 1975-76, an increase of 17.1 per cent.

On February 16, 1976, the Detroit News published data on average teacher salary and cost of education per student for school districts in a three county area. The Detroit News reported, for the 1974-75 period, that the average teacher salary in the Northville Public Schools was $15,861. This data was compiled by the Department of Education, State of Michigan, for the 1974-75 period from information supplied by the school districts.

Thus, the school taxpayers in Northville have two values from which to choose when they want the average teacher salary for 1974-75. They may use either $13,548 or $15,861. After all, with the reported 218.5 teachers in 1974-75, the discrepancy in total is only $505,390.

Yours truly,
Bruce W. Butske

The objectives of SPIDER (that name slays us!) is not to antagonize the board, Ray Spear, or you. It is merely to act as a funnel through which people may channel their questions and air rumors so they can be compiled into some kind of order and presented to the board. It was our understanding that The Record would act as intermediary.

It was never SPIDER's objective to "study current school problems and recommend solutions prior to the adoption of ballot language."

What is the point of Jim Lewis' letter saying "SPIDER is not anti-Spear or anti-board" when your editorial comment says, in effect, "Yeah, that's what they SAY but I don't think that's what they REALLY mean." Is honesty so rare as to be unrecognizable?

SPIDER has made an exhaustive and conscientious effort to channel hundreds of questions and rumors into the board's hopper ... no expense to the taxpayer. All that remains is for the questions and their answers to appear in print. Some of those questions, by their inflamatory nature, seem to be a threat. Direct answers would dismiss the threat. No answers, or answers via a third party, only serve to underscore the questions one more time. Remember, these questions do not come from a "core" group. They are coming from all over the district.

The late hours following board meetings do not provide sufficient time to ask questions, dumb or otherwise. Quite understandably, some answers may need research. We would think board members would jump up and down with glee to have the endless, repetitive questions presented in an orderly, written form, thus allowing them adequate time for thoughtful replies. Also, since they are our elected officials, there should be absolutely no hesitancy on their part to affix their names to the replies ... providing they are secure in the knowledge that those answers are correct as far as they have been able to ascertain. (If they CANNOT speak for themselves, that's a whole new ballgame.) If some answers precipitate additional questions, those too should be answered with all haste.

Your reference to "secret meetings," "un-named core members," and "let's you and him fight" were unjustified, especially when SPIDER speaks for all those people who, for reasons known only to themselves, fear reprisal or ridicule if those questions are asked individually.

You mentioned your hope for "frank and open discussions." That's what SPIDER wants. But where? People can't chase off to meetings every night, but we think they have a right to ask questions and to read and peruse the answers. We also think The Record has a responsibility to act in that capacity, to act as liaison between the board spokesman and the voters, to demand and print the answers verbatim as you have done so many times in the past.

It is not important for you to print the names of all of the people who have asked questions, via SPIDER. It is not even important for you to print the names of those who have tried to help consolidate the questions, via SPIDER. (We sort of wondered why anyone would want such a list anyway.) It is a floating, shifting group at best. Mr. Lewis accepted the responsibility of acting as spokesman. There are no officers. There have been two general meetings at the high school and nobody was masked. There are no matching sweat-shirts. Nobody is "out to get anyone." There is no reason for anyone to feel threatened.

Is there? Granted, you "obtained your answers with one call to the superintendent." What if everyone telephoned his office every time another question popped into his head or another rumor floated by? Mr. Spear has been most gracious and thorough and cooperative in answering questions when we have called on a few occasions. At $35,500 a year however, we would prefer to have him superintend the schools not the telephone — unless it is our calls, of course. Such a free-wheeling arrangement at this particular time is totally unrealistic.

A fair number of people think all our problems would go away if Mr. Spear would. We don't. In the first place, the district still wouldn't have any money. In the second place, we think Mr. Spear ought to work for us ... the school district. (If he would delegate half the things he concerns himself with, perhaps he would only be blamed half the time.)

Your editorial stirred up another question at our house. Most of the presidents of our major corporations can be "asked to resign immediately" (i.e. Lockheed recently) and it only took about six months to get the president of the United States to step down.

Our school superintendents, this one and all future ones, will receive two whole years' notice if they are dismissed. What a deal! If they should accept another position elsewhere, would they be required to give our board two whole years' notice? If not, it's a crazy, lopsided contract and ought to be straightened out right now.

Your editorial rather reminded us of stories of ancient kings and chiefs who used to have the bearers of bad news killed.

To repeat, we don't think anyone should feel threatened.

Should they?

Appreciatively,
Helen and Al Geisler

To the Editor:

On the surface it seemed as though the "SPIDER" group was indeed a group formed to assist the community in our efforts to "sort out" the facts relating to the complex public school situation. But when I read material like the "SPIDER" article in the February 18, 1976 letter to the editor, I became increasingly sceptical of the "total good" this committee may be able to accomplish. I don't mean to knock the well intentioned actions of concerned citizens, but all too easily, well intentioned actions can be misled and misdirected by the incessant demands of a participating few who seek to guide the group along their own self-interests.

While the group as a whole has certainly raised a number of good questions, I detect a strong underlying motivation by some to use the group as a guise for promoting the lynching of the superintendent. The letter was too preoccupied with negative concerns for a dedicated public school official. Like all of us, he's not without his faults nor certainly above criticism, but he's not been handed a crystal ball so far as I know. Let's not be so quick to presume that the dismissal of the superintendent will work wonders. Most of us know it won't.

The emotional are quick to cry about mismanagement, but I for one with five children in this school system, have seen precious little "hard-core" evidence in all the facts uncovered so far that give any credibility to that premise. We're all blessed with the beautiful 20-20 hindsight but it would seem to me that given the same problems in their past respective time frames, our collective decisions just might have virtually paralleled those made by the board and the superintendent.

As for the SPIDER "rap" concerning the time given by the administration for the special ed program implementation, I would only remind the group's wis-participants to overlook special participant concerns and commend the board and the administration for comprehending the beautiful long range social enrichment opportunity that has been presented to our children. Their experiences with the less-privileged will have a lasting positive effect on their attitudes toward helping each other along in a difficult and complex world.

And finally, it would seem to me that the Record's position through all of this is to report the news and not make it. The editor certainly uses his corner to good avail but the SPIDER group should not presume that editorial positions on his part will result in major policy decisions by the board of education. The newspaper is a vital tool in this project but certainly not the voice of or for the total community.

Now go do your own work

SPIDER and request the Record to print your findings — not find them for you. The Record will continue doing an excellent job of finding their own facts. Like the man said of SPIDER — "Now come out ... Whoever you are".

Student Signals HS Fire Danger

To the Editor:

As a concerned student of Northville High School, I would like to bring to the attention of the community and the school system an incident that happened on February 22, 1976. I was hired to operate the movie projector for the P.T.A. that afternoon when the light switch in the back of the auditorium shorted out causing a small electrical fire. Luckily the students who ranged in ages of kindergarten through 5th grade had already left the auditorium.

I proceeded to the back of the stage where I knew there was a CO2 fire extinguisher. I took it back to the smoldering switch box to make sure the fire was completely out but to my dismay the extinguisher didn't work. I then went to the boiler room where there were three CO2 extinguishers. I tried all of them and found only one that worked. I took the good one back to the auditorium where I used it on the smoldering switch box.

About a year ago a switch next to the switch that shorted out was broken and was never replaced. Both switches are inter-connected to the same thing. Also the fire extinguisher in the back of the auditorium was last charged in July, 1974. It specifically says on the tag to charge them once a year.

I thought that these items would be of interest to the community since this is a public building and students attend school here every day. Another thing that is seldom seen is an official fire drill where all students and teachers must evacuate the building. The only type of fire drill we have is caused by students (false alarms). When there is one of these false alarms most of the teachers take it for granted that it is a false alarm and everyone remains in the classroom. There is never an announcement over the PA stating if it is false or real. Another thing we never have are tornado drills. Being on the top of the hill it is very likely that a tornado could wipe the school out. I would assume that many students don't even know what the tornado warning signal sounds like.

In the interest of all, something should be done.

A concerned student,

The meeting will get underway with a crafts session at 10 a.m., followed by a sack lunch at noon, then a sing-along, business meeting and the program.

Corresponding Secretary Fred Bradley of Salem reports that following the regular meeting, the chapter tax aide team will be available in counseling senior citizens regarding their federal and state income tax returns at no charge.

Visitors to these meetings of A.A.R.P., held at the Plymouth Presbyterian Church, are welcome. Dues are $2 per person per year. Interested persons may contact Bradley at 437-2993.

Volunteer fire fighter Don Quisenberry spoke on fire prevention and safety at the February 20 meeting of Chapter 2088, American Association of Retired Persons, in the Farmington Hills Library.

Novi area persons over 55 years old are invited to visit at the meeting.

The chapter is planning a bus trip to Lansing to meet with legislators and tour the capitol building February 25.

SPIDER

Adds Five Questions

Five more questions have been submitted to the Northville Board of Education by the SPIDER citizens study organization.

Acting Chairman James Lewis, in a letter to Trustee John Hobart, this week took the board to task for failure to answer in writing any of the questions asked by SPIDER to date.

The latest questions submitted are:

1. When are they going to repair the holes in the roof at the high school, mostly near the math and science departments? (There are waste-baskets all over the place to catch the water.)
2. Why aren't our schools maintained better? They all look terrible both inside and out. We are paying people to do this. Why aren't they doing it? (This includes those schools unused as well as in use, and the school board building, as well.)
3. Who supervises the high school cafeteria? Why is it such a mess?
4. Who checks maintenance crews to determine whether or not a thorough cleaning job has been done?
5. What is the budget allocation for total maintenance at all our schools?

OPENED—With the traditional ribbon cutting ceremony last week Wednesday morning, a crowd of eager customers waited to get in, T.G. & Y. Family Center department store opened for business. Snipping the ribbon are Township Supervisor Betty Lennox and Mayor A. M. Allen. At the mayor's left is the store manager, Steve Carlson. Others on hand for the occasion (from the left) Clarice Sass, township clerk; Richard Lyon, representing the Northville Chamber of Commerce; Greg Fetting, co-manager; Nyles Fisher, district supervisor; and William Darrow, T.G. & Y. real estate expert. The 30,000 square foot store is located in Northville Plaza shopping center on Seven Mile Road, near the new state police post now under construction. The store features everything from plants, to hardware, sporting goods, wearables, fabrics, and automotive supplies.

School Buys Six Buses

Purchase of six school bus chassis at a cost of $46,811.52 has been authorized by the Northville Board of Education.

The board voted unanimously Monday to purchase the chassis from the lowest of two bidders, John Mach Ford. Four of the buses are replacements, two additional.

According to school officials, should the switch in grade structure coupled with utilization of most school buildings next year reduce the district's dependence on busing, purchase of the two additional buses will be waived.

Novi Water Taps To Cost Most Ever

A water main coming down Novi Road from 14 Mile and cutting west on 10 Mile to serve the new high school will probably have a higher tap-in fee than any water line in Novi.

Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall advised the council last week that the current $200 tap-in fee is inadequate for the anticipated water main project and the city will have to investigate alternatives of either raising the tap fee, adding additional millage, or raising water bill payments.

Kriewall said that to break even, the city will have to charge at least $500 a tap-in and hope 500 taps are purchased each year. He added that an alternative is to charge $1,000 a tap but, "If you drive the tap fee too high,

Schoolcraft Sets Cellist Recital

Schoolcraft College will present Celist Debra Payroian in a recital at 8 p.m. on Friday, March 5 in the Waterman Campus Center. Earlier in the day Ms. Payroian will conduct a workshop for teachers and students who should make advance arrangements with Richard Saunders, fine arts director, at 591-6400, extension 342. The workshop is scheduled at 1 p.m.

Ms. Payroian is a native Livonian and started her training in the Livonia Public Schools at age 10. She attended Stevenson High School and trained at Michigan's famed National Music Camp at Interlochen. She later studied with Oliver Edel on a scholarship at the University of Michigan School of Music.

Currently the principal cellist with the Toledo Symphony Orchestra, Ms. Payroian has been with the Symphony four seasons. She has been soloist several times with the Toledo Symphony, Detroit area orchestras, the National Music Camp and has attended the Aspen Music Festival as a member of the Festival Orchestra. She has been a recitalist in Detroit and Southfield, the Toledo Museum of Arts and for the Pro Musica Series in New York.

Tickets for the performance are $2 for the general public and $1 for Schoolcraft students and those attending the free workshop. They are available at the College Bookstore and at the door.

Novi Council Approves Appointees Township Opposes Mail Registration

Novi Council has approved new appointments to both the Board of Review and the Board of Appeals.

Named to the Board of Review for a three year term was Joseph O'Donnell. He is replacing Leo Buffa.

Named to the Board of Appeals, also for three year terms, were Gerald Bauer and Edward Baldwin. They are replacing Paul Bosco and Donald Fuller.

All of the appointments were made by secret ballot during last week's council meeting. The selections were made from among five people who applied for the Board of Review position and eight people who sought the Board of Appeals posts.

Council also reappointed Dieron Tafralian to the Library Board.

A resolution will be sent to Washington opposing House Bill 1686 which would allow voters to register for federal elections by mail.

The Northville Township Board of Trustees voted unanimously last Thursday to adopt the resolution.

Negative aspects of the mass mailing of postcard registration forms to citizens not registered in federal elections as pointed out by the National Association of County Recorders (NACR) include:

The possibility of imposing substantial cost on local governments; creating voter confusion through dual registration systems; interfering with the operation of state and local election machinery; and creating another layer of federal bureaucracy.

NACR is hopeful that local officials will voice their displeasure over the bill with their congressmen in order to defeat the legislation.

The township board took its action upon the recommendation of township clerk, Clarice Sass.

Doug to Graduate

Douglas Sartoris of Northville is among 119 students who are candidates for graduation at Grand Valley State College at the end of the winter term, 1976, on March 17.

Pares New Budget

berg's first crack at trying to bring the budget into balance. He even suggested that the township "write off" the money borrowed by the operational fund from the public improvement fund. The latter suggestion seemed to draw support from a majority of board members. Rosenberg's cuts would leave no room for raises.

All of this first-round juggling of figures in trying to make income match expenditure appears to suggest that the board probably will come up with an austerity budget, leaving to the people the decision whether or not they would be willing to vote a tax increase to reinstate and-or beef up some township services.

submitted to the public at the annual election in June, 1976. Concerning the later, officials have noted that the district could float a bond issue, up to $1 million if needed, without increasing the bonded debt tax levy.

Requested areas of responsibilities of the facilities committee are designated:

- Review population projections and availability of facilities as they relate to meeting the immediate future needs of the district.
- Inspect all existing buildings to determine appropriate upgrading, renovating and/or major maintenance needs.
- Give consideration to most appropriate utilization of the district's three buildings located on Main Street (Main Street Elementary, middle school annex, and the board-central office building).
- Establish a priority list of facility improvements needing attention, including categorizing items into groups such as:

- A. Immediate attention, include in a mini-bond issue.
- B. Should be done as soon as possible, include in mini-bond issue.
- C. Attend to as soon as possible within the general fund budget.

Requested area of responsibilities for the curriculum committee include:

- General assignment as to the appropriateness of programs at all grade levels. This is to cover curricular and extracurricular offerings, available services to students, methodology, and facility utilization for the education program.
- Determine, as a result of assessment, the long range needs of the district in terms of the specific areas listed above.
- Identify most effective processes by which long range goals may be implemented.
- Establish recommendations for board consideration in regards to proposed changes, including procedures for implementation.

High School Girds For Self-Evaluation

evaluation of the high school. (The annual evaluation is based on an examination of reports submitted to North Central by the high school, not an on-site review as will occur during the seven-year evaluation.)

Last year the district was issued nine violations.

Of the nine, only one is a repeat—and that involves the library where, according to standards of North Central, an inadequate supply of books is housed.

The district presently has about 9,000 volumes in the high school library. North Central standards suggest that a high school of Northville's size should have 10,220 books.

According to Tarpinian, Northville's shortage of books is greater than even North Central has indicated because many of the books, perhaps as high as 25-percent, are outdated and no longer being used.

The other violations in North Central's recent report include:

- Inadequate seating in the library (one seat short of standard).
- Inadequate number of hours of classroom work. Northville is 13 minutes short of the six hour standard of North Central.

• Three teachers are not qualified to teach in the area of their assignments.

One of these, according to Tarpinian, has been transferred; one is one-hour short of being qualified; and one has not been properly certified. The principal said that with the proposed reorganization of the high school grade structure next fall, this violation hopefully will be eliminated.

Although the high school strives to meet all of the North Central standards, the school "on the whole didn't do too badly" in the annual report, the principal concluded.

Financial Crunch Could Kill Postal Service

By PHIL JEROME

Not unlike New York City, the United States Postal Service (USPS) is in serious financial difficulty.

Those troubles are not a recent development. They have been in the making a good many years.

In federal fiscal year 1973, the postal system generated a deficit of $13 million. In fiscal year 1974, the deficit had swollen to $438 million. In fiscal year 1975, which ended last summer, the deficit was $825 million.

And Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has projected an estimated deficit of $1.5 billion for the present fiscal year.

The mounting problems of the United States Postal Service have been brought home to all Americans in the past two months with the introduction of the 13 cent stamp and other increased rates.

But the advent of the 13 cent stamp is just one of the measures being considered by postal authorities to attempt to bring their budget under control.

Also under consideration are the following measures:

—Elimination of smaller post offices throughout the country. Surveys are being taken in various communities, determining the number of people being served by the local postal station and weighing it against the cost of continuing the operation. Salem is one of the communities which may have its post office discontinued.

—A change from the present six-day delivery to five-day delivery. In other words, mail would be delivered Monday through Friday, and Saturday deliveries would be eliminated. This would enable the USPS to reduce personnel and thus reduce costs.

—Authorization of federal appropriations to the USPS to assure adequate postal financing until long-range problems can be resolved.

What has been responsible for the postal service's soaring red figures?

By far the largest component of Postal Service costs is the cost of labor, which presently represents over 85 percent of the operating budget.

The basic wage of postal workers nationwide is presently $13,400 a year. On a national basis, the average police salary is $11,800, firemen make $11,200, and teachers make $11,600. Consider also that assistant professors of four-year colleges earn a national average of $12,600.

What's more, wages can be expected to continue to increase. With the pay hikes granted in this year's postal-wage settlement, the average pay of postal workers will probably rise to around $16,500 by 1978, an additional increase of more than 23 percent above present levels. That alone will cost the Postal Service an additional $2 billion in wages alone.

Postmaster Bailar points out that the United States is not alone in its wage crisis. "The postal systems of every major industrialized nation are facing problems similar to, and many worse than, our own," he told the Senate Committee on Post Office and Civil Service in a speech on January 27.

"In the United Kingdom letter postage rates have climbed from the equivalent of nine cents less than two years ago to 17 cents now with a 21 cent rate expected later this year.

"Customers in every industrialized nation except Switzerland and Canada pay much more to send a letter than people in the United States. In short, all the Western mail systems are facing rising costs."

The rate increases are one of the measures used by postal authorities to increase revenue. But even though that action would seem to be a step in the right direction, it has brought another problem to light.

As postal rates have gone up, mail volume has gone down.

Mail volume decreased last year for the first time in years.

Bailar notes that individuals and business mailers alike are increasingly less inclined to carry the growing costs of the traditional postal system. "Our customers are curtailing their use of the mail, or turning to alternate, less expensive means of communication," he reports. "As rates go higher, public resistance grows firmer, and volume drops even more."

"Unless increased public funding enables us in the near term to slacken the pace of rate increases, we may be caught in a vicious cycle of rate increases to compensate for volume decreases brought on by rate increases."

'75 State Income Tax up 4.37 Percent

Editor's Note: This is the sixth in a series of articles on 1975 income tax preparation.

How do recent changes in the Michigan income tax laws affect you? The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offers the following comments on filing your 1975 Michigan income tax return.

You may obtain copies of tax forms and instructions through local offices of the Michigan Department of Treasury, post offices, banks and tax return preparers if you have not already received tax forms in the mail.

You should file a return for 1975 on or before April 15, 1976 if your Federal adjusted gross income is greater than the total amount that you are allowed for Michigan personal and dependency exemptions or if you are eligible for a refund. You may not have to file a Federal return but still may be required to file a Michigan return.

For calendar 1975, the effective tax rate increased to 4.37 percent. The amount for each exemption remains at $1,500. The homestead property tax credit is available again in this year to all homeowners and renters with special credit computations available to senior citizens and widows of senior citizens, servicemen, veterans, blind persons, paraplegics, quadriplegics, and totally and permanently disabled persons. If your credit exceeds your tax liability you may receive a refund up to a maximum of $500.

The following forms are available for claiming this credit:

Senior citizens and widows of senior citizens, MI-1040CR-1; serviceman, veteran, widow of serviceman or veteran, or blind person, MI-1040CR-2; and paraplegic or quadriplegic, totally and permanently disabled, MI-1040CR-3.

Some claimants may qualify for credit under more than one category. They should compare and choose the one that works to their best advantage.

The credit for homeowners and renters (general claims) equals 60 per cent of the amount by which their property taxes exceed 3.5 per cent of their household (i.e., spendable) income. Renters will base their claim on 17 per cent of rent paid which will be considered as taxes. Persons living in a mobile home will use the rent paid for their lot. The Michigan Department of Treasury has added additional staff to assist you if you have any difficulty completing your claim.

Businesses filing a personal property tax return may claim a credit based on 39 per cent of the personal property taxes paid on inventories.

You also may claim a credit for contributions to public libraries in Michigan, and Michigan colleges and universities. The maximum credit for these contributions is $200 on a joint return.

If any of the following items were included in your Federal adjusted gross income, be sure to claim a deduction for them on line 43; retirement or pension benefits from a Michigan public retirement system, retirement or pension benefits from other sources up to a maximum of $10,000, refunds of state or city income taxes, and proceeds and prizes won in the Michigan Lottery or State regulated bingo games. In addition, contributions of up to $50 to political parties or candidates may be deducted on your Michigan return.

If any of your Federal schedules show a loss (i.e., business, farm, rental, capital) or if you have adjustments to income on Line 14 of your Federal form 1040 then you must include a copy of these schedules with your Michigan return when you file it.

There are special rules for capital gains on properties acquired before October 1, 1967; non-residents; income derived from another state; persons moving into or out of the state; extensions of the due date of the return and amended returns. You should seek professional assistance in these areas.

Before mailing your returns be sure that both you and your spouse have signed the return; shown your address; attached Copy 2 of your W-2; checked for mathematical errors and indicated if any overpayment is to be refunded or applied to next year's estimated tax payments.

In conclusion, The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants also reminds you that if any changes are made to your Federal return during the year because of an audit or an amended return, be sure that you notify the Michigan Department of Treasury. If additional taxes are due, you may be liable for a negligence penalty if you fail to notify the State within 60 days of any such changes.

This writer has received over 30 inquiries about ocean freighter travel. While this type of trip has never held any fascination for me, I presume I should be responsive to these readers. In these days of super-sonic travel, it is difficult to portray joys of leisurely meandering, across various oceans bound for ports whose choice of locations is governed by destinations of whatever cargo is in the ship's hold down below.

However, there must be elitists groups who get their kicks out of this kind of la-de-da.

First, forget all about shipping aboard a Great Lakes freighter unless the captain is your brother-in-law or at least your second cousin. It really demands high-grade connections. Most Great Lakes cargo lines won't take time to answer your inquiries.

Chances of travel on sea-going freighters are much better if — a very large if — you apply months or years ahead of time and strengthen confirmation of your reservation with a healthy deposit of at least 50 percent (non-refundable, non-cancellable).

Largest passenger-freight combinations are to be found on Orient-Overseas Lines. They can accommodate up to 300 paying passengers in first class conditions. Short cruises are about 20 days duration, calling on ports in Mexico and Central America.

The longer cruises consume 62 days and have stops at Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Korea.

There is excellent food and services for passengers such as dancing, games and entertainment. Fares average about $33 a day, because cargos down below share operating expenses with you as "human freight." This is really hybrid freighter travel — first, because it's deluxe and secondly, because it involves many passengers. Inquire at your travel agent if you're interested.

Here are some true freighter trips where the limit of interloping guests averages about 12 people.

Seattle to Yokohama, Nagoya, and Kobe, Japan and return. Fare $899 per person; length 25 days (four in Japan). Age limit: 79 years. Capacity: 12.

Los Angeles to Honolulu, Hong Kong, Keelung, Yokohama, Pusan and return. Fare $2,045; length 62 days. Age: no limit. Capacity: 12.

New York, Canal Zone, Los Angeles, Manila, Bangkok, Singapore and return via Japan. Fare-110 days $3,084; 100 days $2,938. Age limit: 79 years.

'Prune Houseplants, Too'

Pruning to modify plant growth is usually thought of as an outdoor landscape chore. Horticulturists at Michigan State University point out that houseplants sometimes need pruning, too. "You prune houseplants for the same reasons that you prune plants in the landscape," says Jesse Saylor, MSU horticulturist. "To maintain or improve plant health or appearance, control growth, encourage yield or create a special form."

Pruning can remove dead, diseased or injured parts of houseplants, he suggests, or to make a leggy plant grow more densely. You can also prune a plant, like a jade plant for instance, to accentuate its natural bushy or tree-like form. Or you may cut back a plant simply to reduce its size.

Pruning is an important part of the creation of bonsai, Saylor notes.

Local Pastors Take Church to Inmates

It's not Sunday. The "sanctuary" hardly fits the traditional description, and the parishioners aren't dressed specially for the occasion.

But each week, church happens in the Livingston County Jail — thanks to three local ministers who each serve four months of the year as chaplains.

"Our goal isn't to bring down the walls of the jail with religion," says the Reverend Ben Bohnsack, pastor at Hardy United Methodist Church, just west of Hartland. "It's to make the presence of the church felt there."

The idea of bringing church to jail is a relatively new one in Howell.

About three years ago, explains First Baptist Church of Howell Pastor Don Williams, he and other members of the Howell Ministerial Association felt there was a need for "community representation" at the jail. At that time, he said, Gideon members brought Bibles to inmates regularly. Other than that, prisoners had no contact with concerned local people.

"Over the years, all that's changed," Williams said. "Now there are school programs there, and there's the re-entry program. And Livingston County Mental Health workers visit there.

"What we do is more subtle now — but it still has to do with helping morale there."

Over the years, the ministers' approach in their work at the jail also has changed.

Originally, members of the HMA rotated for one-month terms as chaplains.

Now, three pastors — Bohnsack, Williams, and the Reverend Oscar Kraft of Grace Lutheran Church — serve four-month terms.

"I think it was felt that if we were really going to build relationships with the people, we had to be there on a more consistent basis," Bohnsack explained.

As he views it, Bohnsack says, his job isn't to push the church on prisoners. Rather, it's to be there, to help when he can, to meet the inmates' needs as they arise.

On alternate Tuesdays, jail employees circulate a list for inmates to sign who would like to attend a service that evening.

Ten inmates are allowed to attend one service. The pastor holds as many services as necessary to accommodate those who sign up.

Certainly, Bohnsack says, some inmates sign up for the service "because it's an opportunity to get out of their cells." But that, he adds, "is not an insincere motivation."

The service is a time of fellowship. The group sings songs most familiar to them, and they pray about things that concern them. Bohnsack talks and leads the prisoners in discussion.

Many inmates are "unchurched," Bohnsack explains. For some, meeting the jail chaplain is their first contact with the church.

"Sometimes, it's a matter of helping them learn how to pray."

In some respects, ministering at the jail resembles his regular church ministry, Bohnsack explains.

"For many of them (inmates), as with church members, their closest contact with Christianity was in childhood — when they were told basic stories and concepts by their parents or when they, as parents, taught their children. For many, the concepts never grow much beyond childhood."

Inmates often express anxiety about immediate problems that face them, their trials or sentences. Sometimes, other worries bring them to church.

"It might be, 'My wife's father just died, and she has to face that alone at home,'" Bohnsack said.

Other Tuesday afternoons, the pastor said he strolls the catwalks of the cells, talking with inmates who want to talk to him.

He says he doesn't invite himself into the inmates' activities. He doesn't interrupt card games or conversations to make his presence known. Often, his chats with prisoners are "just friendly visits," he says. Sometimes, prisoners have more serious, personal matters on their minds.

"The point is that any personal interest shown in an institutional setting like that is important because it can help raise their self-esteem. 'Raising the prisoners' expectations of themselves," he says, "is, in large part, the task to be done by workers at the jail."

As for involvement, Bohnsack says: "I believe people can change, and I think this is where Christians are supposed to be."

Professors to Speak

Northville Classes Geared to Easter

"Phase Two," an adult enrichment series at First Presbyterian Church of Northville, is planned as a "dynamic approach to Easter," the church announces.

Five speakers and a musical program will be featured during the six-week Lenten series beginning March 7 at the church.

Each program will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the church fellowship hall on successive Sunday nights. Reservations are not needed and there is no charge for the programs. Baby-sitting will be provided.

"Eastern and Western Religions," on March 7, will be presented by Dr. Milton Coveny, professor of history at Wayne State University and author of "The Ancient Near Eastern Tradition." He received his Ph.D. from University of Michigan. His special interests lie in the history of ideas, history of religions and the current scene.

"Growing Together with God," on March 14, will be the topic presented by Dr. Glenn Chaffee, director of the Metropolitan Guidance Center in Farmington Hills and specialist in marital and family counseling. His Ph.D. was granted from Michigan State University in counseling psychology. He also has a graduate degree in religion.

Alma Singers will present a Lenten Musicale March 21. A select group of 18 vocalists from the Alma College a cappella choir will sing both traditional and contemporary music of the season under the direction of Dr. Ernest Sullivan, professor and head of the college music department.

"Death by Chance or by Choice" will be explored by Dr. Margaret Maxey March 28 as she points out that "the right to die with dignity is becoming an increasingly controversial subject in our times of highly developed technology." Christians, she feels, have an invitation to assume responsibility by creative reflection, courage and faith.

Dr. Maxey is assistant professor of bioethics, department of religious studies, at the University of Detroit. She received her doctor of theology degree from Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

"Reconciliation and Lent" will be Father Stanley Kukulski's topic April 4 as the church points out that "the Lenten season and Easter is a time of the year that ties all Christian faiths together."

Father Kukulski is the Catholic chaplain at Northville State Hospital and also teaches at one of his alma maters, Orchard Lake School of Theology.

He has studied in New York and Michigan and holds graduate degrees in theology, sociology and psychology.

Final program will be "The Significance of Easter" by Dr. David Noel Freedman on April 11. A recognized biblical scholar, author and teacher, the speaker currently is director of the Program on Studies in Religion at University of Michigan.

A native of New York, Dr. Freedman holds degrees in history and theology and received his Ph.D. in Semitic Languages and Literature from Johns Hopkins University.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasure, church pastor, announcing the program, invites everyone interested to attend. Each program is to last an hour and a half.

The Lenten series follows a winter Phase I series at the church.

dividends on preferred stock, the company earned $1.12 per share in 1975, compared to $1.31 in 1974.

Davidson blamed the 12 month's earnings decline on, "a sluggish first half, when conditions were depressed in our two principal glass markets — automotive and construction."

The Guardian chief executive pointed out that the "pick-up" during the final six months of 1975 was largely due to outstanding performance of the company's glass manufacturing operations and its Guardian Photo Division, both of which set sales and production records during the year.

R.L. POLK & COMPANY of Taylor has recently completed delivery of a complete up-to-date 1975 Plymouth and Northville city directory. The public has been delivered to its local subscribers. The directory contains four major departments along with an introduction and statistical and general review of the communities.

First the classified section contains a complete list of the names and addresses of business and professional concerns arranged in alphabetical order under their appropriate classified headings.

The Alphabetical section of the directory, in addition to showing the name, marital status, occupation and address of each resident of the Plymouth and Northville areas, shows telephone numbers supplied by residents. Husband and wife are counted as one name, and eighteen is still the minimum age limit of individuals listed.

The third section is the directory of householders, including a street and avenue guide. This section lists the numbered streets in numerical order followed by the named streets in alphabetical order. The residents on every street are listed along with the telephone number at each address. New neighbors are identified by a star appearing between street number and name of occupant.

The numerical telephone directory is the last major section of the book. Telephones are listed in numerical order with the individual or business who has the number listed alongside.

EXPANSION AND EXTENSIVE REMODELING has been done at David's Head Start Salon which opened at 129 West Lake Street in South Lyon six months ago.

Purpose of the expansion and remodeling, explained David Sicary, owner of the salon, "is to enable us to better serve our clientele."

An attractive blue-green color scheme is carried throughout the shop. Six island stations allow the operators to more efficiently serve their patrons and lend a light and open appearance to the shop.

An all-new drying room with large windows has been added and features a stained glass chandelier made by Bart Isaacs of Studio III.

Sicary has just returned from New York where he was the guest of the Maurice Tyde and Leslie Blanchard Salons to observe new ideas in hairstyling to complement the new fashions in women's wear.

The Salon does men's hairstyling in a semi-private area and carries a full line of hairstyling accessories, blow dryers, curling irons, and blow dry brushes — all necessary to obtain the best results with blow dry styles.

BOB MORAN, a mechanic at the Little Oasis Standard Service Station in Brighton, has been certified as competent in three areas — engine tune-up, front end and brakes — by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey.

Moran, who successfully completed written tests in the three areas, has received a certificate from the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence for his accomplishments.

He joins the ranks of 83,000 mechanics who have passed tests since the institute began its program three years ago.

The institute, according to John Andrews of Little Oasis, is a non-profit corporation dedicated to encouragement and promotion of high standards of performance in automotive service.

"The institute's tests are difficult but fair," Andrews explained. "The test questions are changed each time the tests are administered, so that no person taking the tests can have advance knowledge of their contents."

For the final quarter of 1975, earnings were a record $1,994,000, a gain of almost 18 percent over net income of $1,695,000 for the fourth quarter a year ago. After allowance for dividends on preferred stock, earnings per share were a record 32 cents, compared to 27 cents in 1974.

Sales for the fourth quarter of 1975 were a record $29,035,000, up 17 percent from sales of $24,787,000 a year ago.

William M. Davidson, president, said record sales and profits in the fourth quarter, combined with the company's second best third quarter, "gave Guardian the best second half in its history."

For the entire 1975 fiscal year, sales climbed to a record $106,682,000, six percent ahead of 1974 sales of $100,574,000. But earnings declined 14 percent, to $7,051,000 from $8,195,000 in 1974. After allowance for

Act Attacked

The British Stamp Act became law on March 22, 1765 and the American colonists resisted it right from the start. Sons of Liberty groups were formed to reject British goods, the fiery Patrick Henry attacked the Act verbally and nine colonies at the Stamp Act Congress in October, 1765 adopted a Declaration of Rights opposing taxation without representation. A year later, on March 18, 1766, Parliament repealed the Stamp Act.

SAULT STE. MARIE - June 18, 1855

The steamship Illinois became the first ship to pass through the new Sault Canal and Locks connecting Lakes Huron and Superior.

The Canal, connecting the two Great Lakes is a mile and a seventh long. Its two Locks are 350 feet in length, 70 feet wide and 12 feet deep.

The project was completed in less than two years under extremely adverse weather conditions.

John Burt, superintendent of the new Canal, said the opening of the Canal and Locks will, "allow cheaper, faster and more efficient transportation of the copper and iron ore that are so vital to the economy of Michigan and the nation."

Charles T. Harvey, 25, supervised the building of the Canal. He said that the project was particularly difficult because of the weather. "Much work was done in winter, with temperatures going down to 35 degrees below zero," he added.

Former Governor, now Senator, Lewis Cass said that the new Canal and Locks will open new mineral fields in the Upper Peninsula.

"The prodigious resources of copper and iron are only beginning to be known, but they are already assuming a national importance," Cass said.

"This Canal opens commercial vistas of the greatest value to our growing nation," he added.

It Works

Hey, Robbie Clarke, you have a point.
Some poems aren't worth the finger joint.

But don't you think they serve a goal?
They fill the hours with food for soul.

They help a person understand,
Their inner feelings, their fellow man.

Some hit the place within our head,
That helps to melt the heavy lead;

And makes us think, perhaps there's more
To search within; to stop the war.

Who on this earth is any worse?
To find yourself, try writing verse!

Arlene Rex Ford

Our Home Town

It is never quite the same
No matter where you go,
As the place where you were born,
And quickly get to know.

The aura of your town,
and all the people in it,
Which has an extra glow
That always is within it.

The old, familiar scenes
Remain the same to you;
Like they were so long ago,
They remain forever true.

I seldom see a friend
I used to know, back then,
But with those I know there, now,
I feel a special ken.

They share the town I hold
In a kindred kind of way,
As the place that e'er will be
My yesterday, and today.

ANN ROY

Ann Roy, 41, of Northville, named Public Relations Council of the Year 1973 by the Wayne-Detroit Board of Realtors.

A member of the Northville Association and the Wayne-Detroit Board, she has served on a number of committees and has been active in many community organizations. An active member of the Northville Chapter of Women's Council, she has actively participated in many MAR seminars and programs. Mrs. Roy was directly involved as the chairman of the National Women's Council luncheon. In 1973 she was appointed to the National Women's Council Public Relations Committee. This is just one of many committees she has served on; others include ethics and membership. She has appeared as a speaker on a number of panels in local Women's council chapters within this region. years and she has actively participated in many MAR seminars and programs.

In one of her many efforts for the Michigan Association of Realtors, she represented WYOCBIT as a liaison at legislative assemblies in Lansing and organized a number of realtors to attend public hearings and voice their concern over real estate legislation.

Her efforts have not been confined to activities in Michigan. During the 1962 NAREB national convention in Detroit and, concurrently, as the first president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Chapter of Women's which was presented to the entire association at a luncheon meeting.

Although she is extremely active in many aspects of real estate (1976 director on the Detroit Board of Realtors; 1975 president of the Detroit Chapter of Women's Council; and numerous Detroit board committees and chairmanships), Mrs. Roy has still found time to devote to her community.

She currently is serving as secretary of the Northville Chamber of Commerce, is a member of the Northville Woman's Club, the Baseline Questers, and the Northville Historical Society.

Expert Advises Gardeners To Order Seeds Now

Last year's garden may be just a snow-covered memory, but this year's garden needs your attention now.

"Get your garden plans on paper and your seeds and plant stock ordered early," advises J. Lee Taylor, Extension horticulturist at Michigan State University. "You can't hurry spring by planning for it, but browsing through the seed catalogs is a pleasant way to spend a winter day. And getting your order in early will guarantee that you'll be ready to get to work by the time the weather moderates."

If you had a garden last year, use your records as a jumping-off place for this year's plans, he suggests. Did you plant too much broccoli and not enough sweet corn? Did you try growing kale only to find your family wouldn't eat it? Were some varieties outstanding and others utter flops? Were the crops that require intensive insect control programs really worth the effort? Did the pumpkins take over the whole garden by August? The answers to questions like these will help guide your choices this year, Taylor says.

If you're a first-time gardener who's starting from scratch, begin by listing the vegetables your family likes. "If you know your family won't touch squash, there's not much sense in wasting garden space on it," he suggests.

Use a table of standard yields to figure out how many rows of what length to plant. Take into consideration how much of each crop your family can eat fresh and how much you will want to can, freeze, pickle or store.

"Be sure you take into consideration the time, skills and equipment necessary to preserve your produce," he advises. "Canning, especially, tends to be time-consuming."

How large a garden you should plant depends on how much time and effort you want to put into it, what you want to grow and how much space you have available.

"Beginning gardeners often tend to bite off more than they can chew when they lay out their gardens," Taylor observes. "It is much better to succeed with a small first garden than to get overwhelmed and discouraged by an over-large one."

Some vegetables require more space than others, he points out. Corn, squash, melon, pumpkins and other vining crops require a lot of growing room; whereas radishes, leaf lettuce, herbs, onions, tomatoes and many other crops may be grown in pots on a patio, in little clearings in a flower bed, along a fence or wall, in borders along a walk or driveway, or in a conventional garden plot. Many varieties of squash are available in bush form.

Plan the garden carefully, Taylor advises, making use of successive plantings to make optimum use of the space you have to work with. Schedule several plantings of quick maturing crops like leaf lettuce, so you aren't swamped with more than you can use.

When you get to the point of choosing specific varieties, consult the latest revision of the Extension recommended varieties bulletin, Taylor advises. This publication, available from your county Cooperative Extension Service office, lists dozens of vegetables that have been tested in Michigan. Many of them offer at least a moderate degree of resistance to common vegetable diseases.

Most recommended varieties are available only through seed catalogs, Taylor points out. Be sure to get your catalogs as soon as possible. They offer a lot of information about vegetables and gardening that just can't be included on a seed packet, he notes.

If you're growing vegetables for food rather than for fun, avoid miniature varieties, he says. They take just as much work as the full-size varieties but yield only about 1/4 of the produce.

Cigarette Market Bombshell.

New 'Enriched Flavor' discovery for 9 mg. tar MERIT achieves taste of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

"Low tar, good taste."

Others have made the claim.

Philip Morris just made the cigarette.

MERIT. Only 9 mg. tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet MERIT delivers astonishing flavor. Flavor verified by smokers all across the country.

If you're looking to become a low tar smoker, or don't particularly enjoy the taste of the low tar brand you smoke now—you'll be interested.

New 'Enriched Flavor' Discovery

By isolating certain "key" flavor ingredients of tobacco in cigarette smoke, ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar, researchers at Philip Morris have developed a way to pack extra flavor into tobacco without the usual increase in tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.'

It's extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't fade out, can't do anything but come through.

We packed 'Enriched Flavor' into MERIT. And began a series of extensive taste tests. The results were amazing.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarette brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, all tested at home*.

The results were conclusive:

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette.

MERIT. Unprecedented flavor at 9 mg. tar. From Philip Morris.

New Novi Library 10 Times Larger

By WAYNE LODER

"We're putting into operation a library that is 10 times the size of our present library," said Building Coordinator Dicron Taffralian this week as he revealed that the new Novi library is scheduled for completion within two months and with the opening shortly after that.

The new library, to be located at 10 Mile and Taft roads, will have 13,000 square feet in use when it opens. That makes it more than twice as large as the 6,000 square feet in Northville's Public Library.

The present Novi library has only 1,300 square feet of floor space.

The opening marks for the city the end of the initial stage of a project that was full of surprises.

"I think the people are still recovering from disbelief this could be built without any additional money," stated Taffralian. "And I still stick by that."

Considering the structure to date has cost $800,000 and will cost close to a million before the final work of phase II is completed, most residents would agree that is surprising. Much of the money, $300,000, came from what the library board has been able to save of 1/2 mill which voters allowed it to levy for general operations.

"The 1/2 mill was designed to operate — not build — a library," said Taffralian. The library board legally could have used up to one full mill which the people approved for operations, but Taffralian pointed out it's harder to stop than start using that money.

The second surprise came when a slump in the library, allowing the board to go ahead with Phase II of the building — adding another 9,000 square feet to the 13,000 square feet of the first phase. The library board may have saved more than $200,000 by building the shell of the second phase.

As it stands now, the second phase structure will probably be boarded off from the first phase because it does not, as yet, have the benefit of heat, air conditioning, electricity, carpeting, fire sprinklers, or even a ceiling.

Ideally, the library board is seeking a tenant interested in leasing the 9,000 foot second phase structure for up to 10 years. The hang-up, however, is that the library board wants only a non-profit organization that ideally would be able to come up with enough front money on the lease to allow construction of the interior items necessary. That cost could total well up from $100,000, according to Taffralian.

THE NOVI NEWS

Wednesday, February 25, 1976

The Novi School Board has already turned down such a proposal because of the front money needed. The city probably would be in the same boat.

The library board may be able to work out some sort of compromise where it could jointly help pay for the needed items. The point, according to Taffralian, is that if the work is done now, not only will the total building be ready to use as a library, the cost would be less than half of what it would be in 10 years, when the second phase is scheduled to open.

Without a tenant, Taffralian said, "We'll just close up that area and use it as storage. We still haven't lost anything by building it ahead of time."

The library board could bond for the amount, except that by law it is limited to a certain amount of its income. That limit is used up and the library board won't be able to bond more until some of the current bonds are paid off or the valuation of the city goes up significantly enough to add revenue.

Besides the bond and what was saved by the board, the library was helped along thanks to a state grant of federal funds totaling $179,000. More could be available for the remaining work, Taffralian indicated.

But, insisted Taffralian, nothing is impossible and the library board may well come up with the tenant it's hoping for. He noted that the library board never thought it would be able to sell bonds on the open market for five percent, yet it did that thanks to just such a bid from Security Bank of Novi.

"The news is that we're getting close," summed up Taffralian. "We're going to have a library before too long."

Bank, Library...Now What?

When the new Novi Public Library opens, the old 1,300 square foot structure serving that purpose for the last 17 years will be vacant.

Because the city has the deed to the property, which is located on Novi Road a block south of Grand River, the library building will revert back to the city which will be faced with finding a new use for it.

Assistant Manager John Merrifield said that the city is currently investigating two different avenues. One is for the finance director and controllers office to take over the facility. Merrifield noted that currently there is a lot of running up and down stairs in the interim office building because the finance director is located on the first floor while the controllers office is in the basement.

The police department also has informally requested use of the building. According to Police Chief Lee BeGole, the department is interested in relocating the Community Service Department and the Traffic Bureau in the old library. Currently, those two departments are located in a trailer behind the police department building. BeGole noted that area could be used for additional parking.

The old library building itself is a holdover from the days when it was used by National Bank of Detroit as a temporary structure at the location that is now the Grand River Branch. The building was constructed in May of 1956 and deeded over to the Township of Novi in 1957 for the express purpose of being used as a library. It was moved then to its present location, then township property.

In 1960, the new library opened and in 1964 an addition more than doubled the library space. Today, the library circulates more than 3,000 books a month. Overall it holds 14,000 books.

Dorothy Flattery, the Novi Librarian for 13 years, noted that more than 40 cartons, about 2,000 books, are being stored for the library at the Wayne County Library Federation and will be put into use when the new library opens.

Mrs. Flattery appeared thrilled at the idea of the new library and estimates that circulation will "soar" when the new library opens.

"We're very cramped," said Mrs. Flattery from her desk. "There must be 10 people in here right now walking around each other."

Mrs. Flattery also noted that with the additional space of the new library, there will be room for different types of programs, such as films for kids, story hours, and craft programs.

"We're going to have facilities to interest many people besides those here for the books," said Mrs. Flattery.

At least two proposals are under consideration for future use of the current library building

Work on phase I of the new Novi Public Library is expected to be complete within two months

Explain Request

EDITORS NOTE: Following are the first of a series of questions and answers prepared by the Novi School District Administration regarding a 9.5 mill renewal for five years and 3.5 mill increase for two years requested to begin in the 1978-79 school year. The election will be held April 12.

- What are the issues to be voted on?
- There are two issues. They read as follows:
- I. Operating Millage Renewal Proposition
To renew previously voted millage increases which have expired, shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Novi Community School District, County of Oakland, Michigan, be increased by nine and one-half (9.5) mills of the assessed valuation, as finally equalized, of all property in the School District for a period of five (5) years, the years 1976 to 1980, inclusive, for the purpose of providing funds for operating expenses?
- II. Additional Operating Millage Proposition
Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Novi Community School District, County of Oakland, Michigan, be increased by three and one-half (3.5) mills of the assessed valuation, as finally equalized, of all property in the School District for a period of two (2) years, the years 1976 to 1977 inclusive, for the purpose of providing funds for operating expenses?

How will the tax rate be affected?

The renewal requires no increase, as it merely continues the operational tax, which was in effect through 1975, for five years more. The second proposal will increase the total tax rate by 3.5 mills, as the millage levied for operation will then be 31.03. The present tax rate for schools is 28.53 mills for operation, plus 7.85 mills for debt retirement, making a total of 36.38 mills. The 3.5 mill increase will increase the total tax rate for schools to 39.88 mills.

How would these proposals benefit a family without children or a family whose children are grown and out of schools?

Property values are related directly to schools. One reason property values have decreased in other communities is because of school problems. People seem to wish to buy homes in a community which has good schools. In a similar manner, they seek a good strong school program over a period of years. These proposals will continue the present program, and thus protect property values.

Registration Set

Orchard Hills kindergarten registration for the school year 1976-77 will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school's multi-purpose room. Registration is for all children living in the Orchard Hills attendance area including Meadow Brook Glens. Children must have reached their fifth birthday by December 1, 1976. Parents are asked to bring the child's birth certificate or other evidence of date of birth. After the registration, the parents will be introduced to the teachers and school procedures.

An Historic Debate

Northville Historical Society members and guests will see a dramatic performance of the play, "1776," at their meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, February 26, in the Mill Race Village. Rehearsing a colonial debate that preceded the signing of the Declaration of Independence are, from left, Scott Orr, Carolyn Bohn and Brian Turnbull. The play first was given last year as a project of John Whalen's English class at Cooke Middle School. By request, it is being repeated by the youngsters.

Flags Presentation Planned

Wixom Newsbeat

By Nancy Dingeldey

What a glorious feeling to see the sun and enjoy the unseasonably mild temperatures. Almost makes a body want to get out and grub in the dirt and think of growing little things. On the other hand I hate to watch the weathercasts for fear I might wake the next morning to blizzard conditions.

Should our winter be over, which seems tremendously doubtful, we could find ourselves looking at a very early spring, which brings another thought to mind. The snow disappeared rapidly and without being deluged by torrents of rain, we could find ourselves in a heck of a mess with too dry conditions. It might prove to be a dreadful growing year.

Weather conditions have also been such that it might tempt our fruit trees into early budding. Should that happen followed by severe cold we could find ourselves caught with a shortage of fruit come the summer. Take a look at some of the regular trees in your yard...our maple is beginning to sprout leaves! And the most dreadful thought of all...a cold summer!

The Wixom Senior Citizens will again be meeting this Thursday in their new quarters at the Wixom Community Building. For years now we have referred to the structure as the Lutz Building and it's about time we begin thinking of it in its new light.

Actually, it shouldn't be too hard to do. The building was erected in 1929 and the stone on the front identifies it as the community building. The mothers of many of our present residents baked goodies, had dances and dinners and plays to raise the money to build the community hall back in the mid-twenties.

During its span of time, the building has changed hands, become a sort of factory and now since its latest internal face-lifting, come back to the community. It is a welcome addition although its versatility as a structure to house really large events is questionable. When it was built years ago, Wixom was a much smaller town and the building could accommodate those people quite well.

But for the Senior Citizens, the Wixom Community Building seems to be an ideal place for these people to meet.

In the meantime, the seniors are in need of a piano. There is a very musical group known as the "grandma's and the grandpa's" and the one thing that really makes the group "go" is a piano. There are a multitude of reasons for wanting and needing a piano and the seniors are hoping that someone in Wixom has one that they would like to donate to them as well as being used by other community groups. Moving the piano should pose no great problem. So, the call is out. If you presently have a piano that is currently looking for a new home, contact Lillian Spencer at 624-2655. You could make a lot of people very, very happy.

Busy day Saturday...the presentation to the city of the national flags and standards for the two Fire Stations. The ceremonies will be held at Fire Station No. 1 on North Wixom Road and will begin at 2 p.m.

Saturday night...the Northridge annual dinner dance and the dinner-theatre at the Finnish Club Room.

Zoning Law

Changes Okayed

Amendments to two zoning ordinances were approved by Novi Council last week.

One ordinance change allows construction of buildings on 40 foot lots. The new zoning ordinance had required that lot sizes for building be no less than 60 feet. However, that created a problem in some areas of the city where lots had previously been platted at 40 feet.

While the ordinance change allows 40 foot lots, if a person owns more than one 40 foot lot, adjacent to each other, a house cannot be built on each of the 40 foot lots and must meet the 60 foot requirement.

The second ordinance amendment takes away from the council and gives to the planning board the right to review site plans for multiple developments.

Planning Board Chairman John Roethel explained that the council rather than the planning board had been reviewing the multiple developments possibly because of a "confidence problem" which the old council had in the Planning Board. That came about because of a decision made in certain instance regarding whether fire trucks would have trouble getting into and out of a certain area of a proposed site plan.

"There were some voices on the old council who carried this through," said Roethel. He added that he now feels the planning board has more expertise and has learned from its experiences. Roethel also questioned if council had time to review the plans.

Councilman Robert Schmid, only person to oppose the change, noted that "It's not unusual in a community of this size for the council to make final decisions on all site plans."

He added, "We're talking big developments that happen seldom and have a big impact. It (council review) would be one last stopgap."

City Attorney David Fried said that under the previous ordinance, before passage of the new ordinance, council had not had the right to review site plans for multiple developments, but on council prerogative, did it anyway.

Council approved the amendment 6-1.

Dust Control Proposal Tabled

A new proposed agreement between the county and Northville Township to provide dust control on township roads has been tabled pending completion of budget studies.

The proposal calls for use of either liquid calcium chloride or asphaltic oil.

Dying Elegance

'D---, Scarlet, They've Moved Tara to Novi'

It could have been written into the script of "Gone with The Wind."

Or it could easily take a place of prominence on the banks of New Orleans' Lake Pontchartrain, or stand in grandeur along the James River in Virginia.

Instead, the tarnished, vacant but still elegant mansion is dying in Novi. And its current owner is trying desperately to save the house by suggesting that someone might want to turn it into a high class restaurant.

Its huge size, its location in an industrial area, and the taxes have all but destroyed its usefulness as a single family residence. Only the rich could afford to live there, and no rich person would choose a location so close to factories.

Built in 1930 and 1931, the house stands on the north side of Nine Mile Road, just east of Novi Road, on what is the historic Thornton farm that dates back to the early 1800's.

Its first owner and its creator was Charles E. Rogers. In more recent years, its occupants have included the Crusoe and Sinicola families. Now owned by the Arkin Distributing Company, whose headquarters are located next door, the proposal that the house be saved by converting it into a restaurant recently received a boost from the Novi City Council.

Rogers, who died in 1942, made his fortune in the condensing business. It was he and his father who are credited with inventing condensed milk. One of their factories was located on Base Line and is used today by Warren Products.

Several stories have been circulated about why Charles Rogers had such a big beautiful mansion built for himself, but most are purely conjecture.

Even Rogers' son, an octogenarian, is unsure.

"Who knows," he shrugged his shoulders, smiling when interviewed at his Detroit home last year. "My father just wanted a nice house, I believe, and he spared no expense."

E. M. Bogart, formerly of Northville and now a resident of Plymouth, recalled that Charles Rogers married the daughter of "Roe" Thornton, Harriet, and they had four sons and no daughters.

"I remember asking Charlie how much it (the big mansion) cost and he said, 'Too much'," Bogart told The Record.

Rogers' son remembers only a few details relative to the construction of the house. For example, he said the steel beam holding up the flooring beneath the house was the longest ever produced at the time.

The panelling on the library walls, he said, was made by a desk manufacturing company. "Father was a friend of the owner, and he provided the finest desk tops he could, walnut I believe, and they were made into panelling.

Of the massive staircase in the center of the house, Rogers' son recalled:

"He didn't have any daughters, and that bothered him a little. Then when a granddaughter came along he was thrilled. He dreamed of the day when she would be married in his house and come down the staircase on his arm like they do in the movies.

"But it never happened. She ran off and got married. It was a crushing blow."

Although the house itself is not historic, it sits on the site where three other buildings have been located over the past 150 years. The first, of course, was a log house; the second was an inn that originally stood at the northwest corner of Nine Mile and Novi Road and which later became the carriage house; and the third was the Thornton homestead that still stands today directly behind the Arkin factory.

The latter house was moved shortly before Rogers' mansion was constructed.

The Way It Used to Be

A LOCAL HISTORICAL SERIES PUBLISHED IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE NATION'S BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

"Upon a rise of ground stands this fine white colonial house of hospitable dimensions," wrote the then editor of The Record, Richard T. Baldwin, as construction of the house neared completion.

"Through the spacious grounds a curving driveway leads to the dignified front entrance where stately white pillars (they're aluminum) support the porch...

"Withal its spaciousness it is a real home, designed with care for use. With four grown sons and fourteen active grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers declare that it will all be used whereas for just themselves a modest bungalow would have amply sufficed.

"Through the typical colonial entrance, with its leaded glass door and side windows, we pass into a vestibule on the left of which is a coat closet and on the right a powder room where milady may pause for a finishing touch before entering the wide reception hall, lighted by appropriate pewter chandeliers with crystal prisms.

"At the right of the reception hall is the large living room with walls of decorative molded plaster. Its center of family interest will be the Italian marble fireplace. At the rear of the living room a doorway leads into Mr. Rogers' sanctum, the library, with its two-toned walnut panelling. Opening from this is the sunny tile-floored solarium. At the base of its windows extends a ledge of vari-toned tile provided with drainage for the placing of plants. Here it will be summer the year round.

"To the left of the reception hall lies the dining room, ample enough in its dimensions for all the Rogers grandchildren to assemble on festive occasions. A pass pantry equipped with drain boards leads into the kitchen, the pride of the housekeeper's heart. Suggesting clean coolness, this room is finished in green tile to the ceiling.

Here also a wide sink with ample drain boards on each side occupies one side of the room where wide windows look out over rolling hills. How pleasant to wash dishes here! With electric refrigerator, range and fan ventilator the kitchen is to be complete in every detail for convenience. Cupboards and closets for every conceivable purpose attest to the housewife's farsightedness.

"The basement opens to other wonders. A long recreation room 20 x 42 feet occupies one side entered by a huge split-rock fireplace where an enormous back log will burn while the Rogers' grandchildren pop corn and spill it at will on the smooth terraza floor.

"With a touch of genuine sentiment Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have placed in this fireplace the cornerstone used in the smoke house on which is crudely carved the date 1877. The mantel piece of this fireplace is a rough-hewn old Rockelm beam taken from the sill of the old barn. Undesecrated by plane or brush, the Rogers have chosen to leave it, a fitting reminder of the sturdy pioneers who hewed it thus.

"The light laundry room is equipped with every device for this part of the housework even to drying room where heat is blown from the filtered hot air system throughout the house. Copper tanks are another new feature as are the copper pipes used in the entire water system.

Vacant, slowly dying but still elegant this grand old house is located on one of Novi's pioneering farms

Owner had this staircase built for his granddaughter's wedding but she ran off and got married

Mustangs' Western Six Title Hopes Smashed

Any dreams of a Western Six championship were shattered Friday as the Northville cagers suffered through a second quarter nightmare that led to an 80-53 defeat by Waterford Mott.

Bill Piccolo spotted his shoe lace untied in the first minute of play and did not want a time out charged, so Northville used a four-man offense while waiting for Piccolo to tie first one lace and then the other.

While Piccolo may not have been ready to play in the first quarter, the entire team apparently was not ready in the second period. The Mustangs went from the last minute of the first stanza until 28 seconds remained in the half before Cris Armada finally sank their lone field goal in over eight minutes of play.

Northville hit on only one of eleven field goal attempts during the second quarter drought. Seven free throws did keep them from being blanked during the field goal famine.

Northville went into the locker room trailing 39-22 and could not successfully cut into Mott's margin in the second half.

Northville had lost to Mott earlier in the year by three points at the Waterford gym in what Koepke referred to as "one of our better games of the year."

"We played a poor game and they shot extremely well," Koepke commented after the recent Mott disaster. Northville outscored Mott by one in the third quarter but still trailed 53-37 before the Waterford team pulled away to the 27 point victory.

Mark Lisowski played a solid game netting 14 points while Jay Slagle continued his string of steady performances with 10 points.

Tony Armada collected nine points as Cris Armada and Bill Piccolo both tallied eight in the defeat.

Adding injury to the insult, reserve guard, Mike Grah'm, was carried from the court in the third period with torn cartilage in his knee. It is doubtful that Grah'm will be able to play this week as knee surgery appears likely.

Lisowski led the Mustang scoring-machine with 23 points and Cris Armada netted 15.

Kevin Threlloff's 24 points for Milford were offset as the Mustangs connected on 28 field goals.

OLV Cagers

End Season

Await Tourney

Our Lady of Victory ended its most successful regular season in the school's history by racing to three victories over Inkster St Norbert's Monday night.

The seventh and eighth graders won their tenth straight and 20 out of 21 outings as they smashed the Inkster squad 63-32.

Todd Nadeau cashed in with 21 points to lead the victors as ten Cougars hit the nets. Nadeau was assisted by Mike Wagner with 10, Jim Harding nine, Pat McLaughlin six and Pat Dewan five points.

The Metro Division CYO champs now await the start of the six county championship play-offs.

The fifth and sixth graders boosted their season mark to 8-3 as they blitzed St. Norberts 34-12. Pat Foley led the winners with 15 points.

Bob Isom netted eight and Tim McClorey four points.

The young Cougars ended the season in second place in the CYO League and will play in the St. Suzanne tournament on March 1.

The OLV girls won their second game of the year 33-16 as they led from the start. It was the first time they had ever won two games in one season and the 33 points set a school scoring record.

Nine of the girls entered the scoring column. The girls were paced by Mora Whitmer with seven and Lori McDonald with six points.

Help from Friends

Guard Mike Grah'm gets helped off the court in the third period of last Friday's 80-53 loss to Mott. Grah'm has torn cartilage in his left knee and will probably have to undergo surgery after the season.

Maier and Mills Advance to State

Kevin Mills and Doug Maier of Novi put on a good showing Saturday to qualify for the State Championship Wrestling Meet

"Kevin wrestled exceptionally well, the best he has all year," Coach Russ Gardner observed.

Despite a first round loss, Mills came on strong to beat Dennis Bundy of Flint Powers, 13-10 and squeaked by Norm Lampe of Dexter 4-3.

Maier won his first match before losing to Mike Degain, the two year state champ from Madison. Then Maier edged Mike O'Hara of Duran 3-0 in overtime to qualify. Clark Bailo defeated Maier 2-1 in his last match.

Tony McCarty at 126 pounds missed by one match from qualifying. McCarty beat Tom Acord of Duran 3-1 before dropping his next two matches.

Bob Sasena separated his shoulder in practice Thursday but still managed to wrestle in the regionals but could only salvage one victory before being eliminated with two losses.

"I thought he was the best wrestler there and would have won if it were not for his shoulder," stated Gardner.

"Bob just could not move to his right," Gardner explained

Sasena did gain an 8-1 victory before losing to last year's champ, Paul Hibbs 8-6. With the shoulder giving him trouble, Sasena lost in the consolation match 6-3.

Heavyweight Jim Auten dropped both of his matches on points in the double elimination

Referee Blows Police Whistle

After listening to some rather pointed suggestions by Koepke, the "ref" warned, "All done Coach? The next one will cost you." — and it did.

Koepke picked up a technical in the early going of the second quarter. Two other technicals (one by each referee) were called against Mustang players on minor infractions so technical that most of the spectators are still unaware of why they were called.

During many of the years basketball referee Frank Holowicki served on the Detroit Police Force, he was a ventriloquist who took his "dummy" to various elementary schools teaching safety.

Holowicki sometimes blew a police whistle when his dummy gave the wrong answer to a traffic lesson and the elementary students laughed in enjoyment.

Northville Coach Walt Koepke is no "dummy", neither did he enjoy the former policeman's whistle as it signalled technical fouls in Friday's loss to Mott.

Milan Wins

Suspensions Hurt Novi Varsity and JV's Lose

Playing without seven front line personnel, Novi was bombed out of its own gym 65-39 by Milan Friday.

Three starters and four experienced subs were suspended during the week for disciplinary reasons as Coach Ron Flutur was forced to bring up two JV players to manage a seven-man squad.

The Wildcats got off to a 10-6 lead before going to a slow down offense. A barrage of turnovers and Novi's cold shooting enabled Milan to pull away to a 32-16 half time lead. "The guys that were shooting were not used to shooting," Flutur explained for the cold 11 of 37 from the floor performance.

"We had people playing out of position. Our center was at guard and our guards were not used to handling the ball," Flutur stated as the reason for the turnover-prone play.

"Those who did play were fired up to play," Flutur commented.

Bob Bannatz was the big gun for Novi, scoring more than half of the Wildcats' points. He had 23.

John Pisha did his usual fine job of rebounding, pulling down 11 errant shots.

Friday Novi will be back at full strength as the one-game suspension will be lifted from the seven cagers.

Whether the Wildcats win or lose the final home contest against South Lyon, Novi will post the best winning record in the school's history.

The Novi JV team suffered the same plight as the varsity as suspensions led to defeat 65-45 at the hands of Milan.

Four regulars were not in action as two were playing with the varsity and two JV cagers were sitting out a one-game suspension.

Milan had things going their way in the first half as it stretched a 25-9 first quarter lead to a 44-18 edge at the intermission.

"We got blown out in the first half but didn't give up. We played a good second half," Coach Brian Howard said.

Despite outscoring Milan 17-14 and 10-7 in the final two quarters, Novi still lost by 20 points.

Bob Blackmer played an excellent game scoring 14 points and collecting 13 rebounds. Blackmer earned eight of his points at the free throw line in 11 attempts.

Brad McQuiston connected for 11 points and Phil McCarty tallied for nine.

The jayvee squad takes a 5-11 overall record and a 4-9 league record into the season's finale, to mark the best season in six years

Up in the Sky

Bob Bannatz and John Pisha of Novi wait in position to pull down a rebound in last Friday's game against Milan. Novi lost 65-39 despite the 23 point performance of Bannatz.

Northville Hockey Association Will Not Fold Despite Rumors

Despite rumor that the Northville Hockey Association might go under, Candy Creedon, a league official, assured The Record that it will continue next year.

"We are negotiating to buy ice at nearby arenas and there will be changes made in the board of directors and the bylaws to make the association stronger,"

Creedon stated. A letter will be going out to parents regarding the new format for the 1976-77 season.

The Reef Manufacturing

Bantam Travel squad split two games in the past week's action. Reef lost to Southfield in a league affair by a 4-2 score with Mike Shingler and Steve Penny accounting for the goals.

In a non-league game, Reef defeated the Suburban Flyers by a 6-3 count with Shingler and Penny cashing in two goals each and Roger and Richard Pattison accounting for a goal apiece.

The Haggerty Lumber Bantam "A" squad also split two games in the last week's play.

Haggerty ran into a resurgent Inkster squad and came up on the short end of an 8-2 score with Vince Osborn collecting both goals on assists by Tommie Allen and Dale Hudson.

Sunday the Lumbermen, even though playing without four of their outstanding players out with the flu, surprised the league leading Star Cutters by a 4-2 score.

Without question, this was Haggerty's best game of the year. Allen netted two goals on assists from Jeff Wilson and Steve Jenner. Hudson scored an unassisted goal and Osborn scored from Andy Bechtol and Hudson.

Bill Cafolla turned in an outstanding performance in the nets and the overall team played excellent defense.

Northville's Hamlet Food Mart dropped one 3-2 to Harlow Tire before edging Redford 3-1 and trouncing the Hawks 8-0.

Jim Orlowski, Keith Sanders, Scott Swienkowski and Mike Simonic all scored at least two goals in the three games.

John Vettrano, Mike Demeter and Kevin McHugh provided the clicking passes. Perkins Pee Wee Engines' tied Westland 1-1 in their only game of the week. Jack MacIntosh scored the only goal, assisted by Brett Thompson.

The Belanger Bantams lost a thriller to first place Star Cutter 3-2 as the winning goal was scored with just 25 seconds to play.

Say Uncle

Tony McCarty of Novi seems to have the upper hand against Trace Duval of Fenton (bottom). However, Duval turned things around and won 2-0.

Injury and Promotion Hurt JV's

John Horwath's promotion to varsity brought out the best in Pete Wright, as his 24 point production led the way to a 72-52 Northville victory over visiting Milford last Tuesday.

"Our enthusiasm generated the defense," Coach Omar Harrison said after the 20 point victory.

"Scott McMillan played one of his better games of the year, scoring 18 to help pick up the scoring slack," Coach Harrison observed.

Wright was 10 of 13 from the field and McMillan was 9 of 13 as the Mustangs hit a blistering 29 of 49.

The game did have a sad note for Northville, as big man Doug Harding left the game in the second quarter with strained ligaments of his arch, but not before he earned eight points. It is doubtful that Harding will see any more action this year.

McMillan let loose a 35 foot shot at the buzzer that rolled off the rim as the junior varsity squad failed in their comeback effort 51-50 to Milan last Friday.

"I have no complaints; it was a great effort in a losing cause," said Coach Harrison. "We played the best we could and Brian Prom and Dave Duguid did good jobs coming off the bench," Harrison praised.

The Mustangs connected on 21 of 35 field goal attempts but 13 first quarter turnovers were just too much to overcome.

McMillan ended up with 15 points while Mark Hooth and Wright hit the twines for nine apiece.

Cook Qualifies

Tom Cook, a 1974 graduate of Northville High School and the number one diver on the state championship swim team, is now a diver on Harvard's undefeated swim team and has qualified for the National NCAA meet.

In Harvard's victory over the University of Pennsylvania last week, Cook captured a first place in the one meter dive with a total of 443 points for 11 dives to qualify.

Eugene and Joann Cook of 118 Ely Drive plan to travel to Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island at the end of March to see their son compete in the national meet.

Emerson Optimistic

Coach Gary Emerson and the Northville wrestlers ended the season with a dismal 2-11 record.

Despite the lack of success this year, Emerson is hopeful in looking to the squad's future.

"I have no reason not to be optimistic for next year. I have returning men in every slot," Emerson noted.

This year the Mustangs had only five returning lettermen and only three seniors. The 28 man squad included 10 freshmen.

Bob Powell, Jeff Lindemier, Lance Irey, Brian Postma, Brian Fawston and Matt Baker are all freshmen who the coach is confident can help carry the load next year.

Brent Ashby, Keith Kreutzberg, and Rick Bentley will be lost next year due to graduation, but Emerson expects juniors Dan Platt, Ed Talbot, Bob Zabinski; Dennis Singelton, Norm Pratt, Mike Georgoff, Marty Johnson and Earl Bingley will be able to handle the chores.

Singelton, who was victorious 20 times this year, and Jack Stabenau are anticipated by Emerson to be big winners.

A weight-lifting program and the forming of a Northville AAU wrestling club will provide added strength and experience that should make the Mustang wrestlers a force with which to be reckoned.

A glance at the Northville Downs' driver standings gives an indication of one thing that has changed during the last decade of harness racing; the drivers are getting younger all the time.

Ten years ago, it was rare to find a leading driver under the age of 30. Most of the top drivers had been around a long time. It was not uncommon to see drivers in their fifties and sixties still among the leaders at the local tracks.

At Northville's current meet, however, the five leading drivers are all in their twenties, with 27-year-old John Konesky III on top with a .429 average. Trailing close behind Konesky, who is seeking his second straight driving title at Northville Downs, are Terry Tomlin, Tom Harmer, Ron Wrenn and Keith Crawford.

Wrenn, of Richmond, is the youngest of the top five at 23, while Crawford is the oldest of the group at 29.

Racing is in Wrenn's blood for good reasons. His grandfather, Gid Litt, raced in Stratford, Ontario in the late twenties while his father, Howard Wrenn, and a brother are also active in track activities.

Ron Wrenn drove his first race eight years ago at Caro, Michigan. He plans to stay active as long as he can continue to make a living.

The biggest thrill of Wrenn's career was in 1974-75 when he was the top dash winner with the most heats won in the Michigan County Fair circuit.

The driving championship is far from over, however, since the meet is only seven weeks old, and since racing will continue nightly at Northville Downs until April 10.

Meanwhile, all these "youngsters" will be trying their hardest as they vie for the top spot, a goal that every harness racing driver aspires to from the first moment he ever climbs into the sulky.

Ron Wrenn, the youngest driver at Northville Downs

Frazer Third

Eight-year-old Joyce Fraser of Northville placed third in freestyle skating competition at Fraser.

Joyce has been taking lessons for less than a year from Mary Moriset.

Prospective wrestlers of the future will have a chance to learn more about the sport as the Northville AAU wrestling club is now being formed.

Boys aged 12-18 are eligible to join the club which will be meeting every Tuesday from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the high school wrestling room.

Coach Gary Emerson has one tournament planned per month, with the first slated for March 20 at Westland's John Glenn.

Cost for AAU membership is $4.50. It includes insurance. AAU applications and waiver sheets may be picked up from Emerson at the high school.

Boys should bring tennis shoes, towel, lock and long pants with them to the Tuesday night practices, the coach said.

For more information contact Emerson between 10:00-11:30 a.m. at the high school, 349-3400.

Doug and Dennis Maier clown around before the start of practice

Brothers Add Zip

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following feature story is the second in a series highlighting brother combinations active in Northville and Novi Sports. Today it is the Wildcat's wrestling brothers.

By KEVIN BRAZELL

Novi coach, Russ Gardner boasts five sets of brothers participating in wrestling. Doug Maier did Gardner a favor when he got his 15-year-old brother interested in wrestling and convinced him to come out for the team. Although only a tenth grader, Dennis, with the help of his older brother's pointers, placed fourth in the conference and captured a third at the Alpena Tournament.

"The quick tempered brothers are both the same types of individuals just different in size," stated Gardner.

Dennis Maier weighs in at less than one hundred pounds while Doug tips the scales at 188 pounds.

Coach Gardner claims the 15-year-old, Dennis, already is good and going to get better. "He's really worked hard to get his success," said Gardner.

Doug, 17, showed potential on the football field as well as on the wrestling mats. The elder Maier earned all-area, all-conference and all-county two years in a row as a linebacker and fullback. Northwestern University has shown an interest in his football ability and might be Doug's choice to pursue a law career.

"Doug is a very aggressive person. He'll do anything legal to win," Gardner stated.

The Maier brothers have three sisters, Lauri, 18, Joanne, 9, and Jennifer, 5 years old.

Mark and Kevin Mills are also key cogs in the Novi Wrestling machine.

The boys claim that they wrestle a lot at home with their parents' support.

Mark was a starting defensive back on the Novi football team and will participate in track come spring.

Mark, 18, plans to attend Eastern Michigan University where he will try out for the wrestling team after he graduates this year.

Kevin was a halfback on the jayvee team but made the varsity wrestling team as a tenth grader. Kevin will be playing spring hockey.

The two brothers had a five dollar bet this season as to who would have the better record. Mark's record of 27-11 easily beats Kevin's 17-11 mark. Kevin, 15, claims things would have been different if he had not missed three weeks of action with cut fingers from a table-saw accident.

"They are both real good kids. They both work hard and do everything you ask of them," said Gardner.

"Mark never gets mad," Gardner continued. "But Kevin has quite a temper and gets mad when he doesn't do well."

There is another Mills brother active in wrestling. Ted, 5, started this year in the Novi Wrestling Club.

Bob and Don Lewis are not allowed to wrestle in the house because they have wrecked enough furniture.

Younger brother Don made the decision on his own to go into wrestling and was not necessarily following in his brothers' footsteps.

Bob, 15, and in the tenth grade, was a halfback on the jayvee team and ninth grader. Don was his "backup". Now Bob is on the varsity wrestling team while Don, 14, is on the jayvee squad.

"You would never think they would be aggressive but

Mike, 20, Carrol, 18, and John, 8, make up the rest of the Lewis family.

Joe Stevens and brother Jim share the same goal; to go to college and wrestle.

Despite this common goal and a shared interest in cycling, their wrestling styles are completely different.

"Joe gets mad and uses strength but Jim just out-finesses people," Gardner compared.

While it was Joe, 16, a junior, who talked Jim into wrestling, they both help each other to become better wrestlers.

Jim, 15, a sophomore slipped a disc while wrestling and has been out of action since.

"You would never think Scott and Todd Spielman were brothers; they are complete opposites," observed Gardner.

"Scott is quiet and thinks everything out. Todd is outspoken, clown around, and will take on anybody at anytime," remarked Gardner.

The two used to wrestle in the house, until a thrown horse shoe that broke a door put an end to their escapades.

Northville Girls Post 2 Victories

The Northville Girls' Volleyball teams each kept themselves in the winning column by defeating league member Plymouth Canton.

The exhibition team won two games by the identical score of 15-12, while the varsity had scores of 15-11 and 15-7.

It was an especially sweet win for the varsity since earlier in the season Canton beat the Mustangs.

The big hitter for the exhibition team was Kim Kratz who had a couple of excellent spikes. Debbie Maguire, Kim Adams and Patty Brown were all effective at the net for the varsity.

Despite the victory, Coach Jane Stubenvoll had some constructive criticism.

"A few times during the game we would stop communicating with each other and then errors would occur. We also still need work on serve reception," the coach commented.

Coach Stubenvoll did give special commendation to senior Pat Suddendorf for her outstanding defensive work.

Northville girls romped to an easy win over the Harrison Hawks Friday with scores of 15-8 and 15-10. This was their second victory over the Hawks this season.

"The team started out slowly but started gaining momentum by key hits, consistent serving and excellent passes," Coach Jane Stubenvoll commented.

Karen Stevens and Kim Adams had their best serving performances of the year, contributing eight and seven points respectively.

The exhibition team had a much harder time with Harrison as they lost 14-16 and 8-15.

Northville is holding its third Annual Volleyball Invitational on Saturday at 10:00 a.m.

Six teams will be competing for first and second place honors. The teams include Plymouth Canton, Warren Cousino, Livonia Franklin, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Thurston and Northville.

An admission charge of one dollar for adults, 50 cents for students and a quarter for those 12 and under will be asked at the door.

All interested sports enthusiasts are urged to see some very exciting volleyball competition.

Kevin and Mark Mills get set to wrestle

Sports Shorts

The Northville swimmers have not been on vacation but it certainly has not been a busy period for them.

Following an impressive 30 point victory over Farmington Harrison two weeks ago the Mustang tankers have been practicing for their final dual meet of the season tomorrow against Livonia Churchill.

A victory against Churchill will bring Northville record to an impressive 16-1 mark for the season and raise Coach Lauber's Northville career dual meet record to an amazing 96-8.

The Novi Women's Slo-Pitch Softball League will be holding an organizational meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Novi High School Library.

Managers of last year's teams and prospective new managers should attend the meeting.

The Parks and Recreation Commission will attend as budget, player fees, fields and scheduling will be discussed.

Registration for baseball and softball will be held on Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and again on March 6 and March 13 at the Scout Building, 215 West Cady.

Leagues and entry fees follow:

Baseball. T-Ball, (6-7), $10.50; H-League, (8-9), $13.00; G-League, (10-11), $15.50; F-League, (12-13), $15.50; and E-League, (14-15), $15.50.

Softball: Primary, (9-11), $10.50; Intermediate, (12-13), $13.00; and Senior, (14-15), $13.00.

Non-residents of Northville within the Northville school district will be charged an additional 50 cents to each of the above rates.

Non-residents outside the Northville school district will be charged an additional $2 to the rates.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Neither the state nor the county has been able to explain thus far why they used incorrect teacher enrollment figures in computing average teacher salaries in Northville and in some other school districts. The state used a figure of 192 teachers, the county 206 in computing average salaries of $15,860 and $14,782, respectively for 1974-75. The actual teacher census was 218, producing an average of $13,969. This year, with a census of 199 teachers, the average salary is $15,880. None of the salary averages figured by the local district, the county or the state included fringe benefit costs. Total outlay for teachers here, minus fringe benefits, was $3,045,268 in 1974-75 and $3,160,203 in the current year.

Police Blotter

'Taillight' Nabs Stolen Mail Suspect

In Township

A broken taillight on an automobile led to the arrest of a Detroit woman wanted by United States Postal Authorities. A trooper from the Plymouth Post of the Michigan State Police stopped the car for the defective light and while doing so did a routine check on the driver. During the check it was learned the woman was wanted by the postal authorities for possession of stolen mail.

The incident took place at Five Mile and Beck Road at 1 p.m. Sunday. The woman was arrested and turned over to authorities for prosecution.

A rash of "walk-aways" from Northville State Hospital investigated by Michigan State Police seemed to have been brought on by the unseasonably warm weather. Six incidents were reported by hospital security in a period of three days.

A male inmate considered dangerous left the hospital grounds at approximately 4:15 p.m. on February 18. He is still being sought by police.

A woman patient who was reported missing at 3:30 p.m. February 19 was picked up by the Toledo, Ohio Police Department and later returned to Northville.

A trooper patrolling eastbound Seven Mile Road observed a man walking wearing pants described as six sizes too large and no coat. As he stopped to investigate, a patrol unit from Northville State Hospital security arrived. It was determined the man was an escapee and was returned to the institution.

Three escapes were reported on February 20. Sometime after 3 p.m. a woman inmate was reported missing and is still being sought. At 2:30 p.m. police were notified a teenage inmate was thought to have walked away from the school on the grounds. Plymouth Police located the boy and returned him on February 22.

Still being sought is the third person, a male inmate considered dangerous who left the confines of the hospital at approximately 1:45 p.m.

The head matron of the woman's division at DeHoCo was the victim of an assault and battery by an inmate recently. The fracas occurred after the inmate was told her privileges were being restricted because of her erratic behavior. The inmate then struck the matron on the chin with her fist followed by more blows and kicks. When State Police tried to interview the woman she would not allow them in her room and had barricaded the door with various pieces of furniture.

Teacher

Not Absent

Says School

A report in last week's Novi police blotter indicating that a 14-year-old Novi High School youth was attacked by another youth while the teacher was absent from the room was incorrect, according to Novi High School officials. In that incident the arm of one of the youths was broken in two places.

According to Charles Nanas, assistant principal, the incident occurred in the wrestling room off from the main gym where the class was being held. Both youths had previously been warned by the teacher not to be in the weight room, Nanas said, and the teacher was unaware the youths had returned to the room.

Nanas also questioned whether the attack was actually more than a wrestling hold which was put on the victim, as conflicting reports have been received.

walked away from the grounds of the Center for Human Development at Five Mile and Sheldon Road on February 17. The woman, who was serving time for attempted larceny, kidnapping and a prior escape from prison is still being sought.

At approximately 8:45 a.m. February 21 two women escaped from DeHoCo and are still being sought by authorities. Police are also looking for another woman inmate who left her quarters at approximately 9:30 p.m. She was serving an extended term in prison due to a prior escape.

A Northville Township man was arrested and charged with felonious assault following an incident which occurred on Napier Road at 11:30 p.m. February 16.

Northville Fire Department and a unit from the Township Police Department were responding to a fire call in the 9100 area of Napier Road. Police were contacted that a man was shooting a gun at the firemen trying to locate an access to a field where the fire appeared to be.

Using a pickup truck, the three firemen including Captain Joseph Bishop pulled into a driveway of a residence on Napier Road and proceeded to drive along the west edge of the property. As they turned around and headed back to the road they saw a man standing in the driveway. When they got closer the man fired one shot in the air. Although the firemen did not identify themselves on entering the property they stated the red emergency flasher in the truck was operating.

After the man fired the shot, the firemen stopped the truck and identified themselves although they said the man pointed the gun at them. Firemen asked the man to put the gun down and contacted the police unit in the area.

The man said he did not realize there was a fire in the vicinity and thought the firemen were trespassers. Northville Township Police arrested the man and a warrant recommendation for felonious assault was forwarded against the subject to the Wayne County prosecutor's office for approval.

Final disposition was made in a case against Gary Steigler of Oak Park. Steigler was arrested by township police on May 31, 1975 and charged with receiving and concealing stolen property.

He was found guilty and sentenced on February 18 to 90 days in DeHoCo, three years probation and $1,700 in fines and court costs.

Taken from a garage in the 24000 area of Glenda February 14 were a volt and ohm meter, freon gas, torch, gauges, socket sets and a tool box. Total value was $753.

A Chaparral snowmobile valued at $500 was taken February 9 from the parking area in front of Waterview apartments.

Peter Fuga, 17, of Novi charged in a burglary at the Kentucky Fried Chicken on 10 Mile Road appeared in 52nd District Court last week and waived his exam. The case has been forwarded to Oakland County Circuit Court for a March 8 appearance before Judge Farrell Roberts.

A 45-year-old Novi man, despondent over money problems, reportedly took his life Friday with a deer rifle.

According to Novi Detectives, the body of Bernard Marchetti of 43842 12½ Mile Road was found following a short search at 2:30 a.m. Saturday.

The body was found behind his home. Police and fire department members began searching at 1 a.m. Saturday after the victim's wife reported him missing, along with the rifle.

In Wixom

Wixom Police are continuing their investigation into a breaking and entering of the Wixom Auto Parts Store in which thieves helped themselves to approximately $467 in small tools.

In the incident, which occurred sometime between 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. Thursday, police theorize the burglars were searching for money since the store was well ransacked. The tools that were taken were contained in small cases hanging on the walls for display purposes.

Damage estimated at $400 was done by unknown persons to the tires of a car parked in the Ford Motor Company employees parking lot. A sharp instrument was used to slash the tires sometime between 8 p.m. February 13 and 4:30 a.m. February 14.

In another tire slashing incident, a resident from the Village Apartments reported a front and rear tire on his vehicle had been cut with a sharp instrument. The car was parked in the parking lot at the apartment complex. The incident occurred between 10 p.m. February 12 and 9:30 a.m. February 13. Four black spoked hubcaps were stolen from a car parked on Thornwood Drive in the Village Apartment complex. The hubcaps were valued at $120 and are believed to have been removed sometime between midnight and 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Wixom Police arrested a Detroit man for reckless driving and eluding police in a chase on the I-96 expressway which finally ended on Milford Road and Pontiac Trail.

At approximately 1 a.m. Friday, Officer Alan Blashfield was working radar traffic on the expressway west of the South Wixom Road overpass. In his report he stated that he observed a vehicle traveling at a high rate of speed in the fast lane and as it passed the patrol vehicle it was clocked at 98 miles per hour on the radar.

The ensuing chase found the suspect car weaving in and out of traffic and reaching speeds of approximately 110 miles per hour. After exiting at Milford Road the driver slowed down to between 40 and 50. After some beer cans were thrown from the window of the speeding car the police were able to bring the vehicle to a halt.

Upon investigation, the driver of the car appeared to be intoxicated and said he wanted to throw the beer out of the window so that his friend would not "get busted" for having an open can of beer in the car.

Ordinance. No site plan shall be approved until same has been reviewed by the appropriate administrative departments or consultants, and their recommendations have been received and considered.

Site plans submitted to the Planning Board for review under the provisions of this Ordinance shall be considered preliminary site plans and approval of said site plans shall be tentative approval. Tentative approval shall give direction to the developer so that he may proceed with engineering drawings. Engineering drawings shall represent the final site plan and shall be reviewed by the appropriate administrative departments or consultants to assure compliance with the preliminary site plan and the various codes and ordinances of the City. If the final site plan conforms to the approved preliminary site plan and the various codes and ordinances of the City, the final site plan shall be submitted to the Planning Board for final approval. Upon final site plan approval by the Planning Board, permits for development can be issued. If, in the opinion of the appropriate administrative departments or consultants, the final site plan is substantially changed from the preliminary site plan, they shall make note of said changes and forward these to the Planning Board.

3. Information to be included on the site plan shall be in accord with the requirements of the City's application forms for site plan review. Such forms shall be made available by the City Building Department.

4. In the process of reviewing the site plan, the Planning Board shall consider:

a. The location and design of driveways providing vehicular ingress to and egress from the site, in relation to streets giving access to the site, and in relation to pedestrian traffic.

b. The traffic circulation features within the site and location of automobile parking areas; and may make such requirements with respect to any matters as will assure:

(1) Safety and convenience of both vehicular and pedestrian traffic both within the site and in relation to access streets.

(2) Satisfactory and harmonious relationships between the development on the site and the existing and prospective development of contiguous land and adjacent neighborhoods.

c. The Planning Board may further require landscaping, fences, and walls in pursuance of these objectives and same shall be provided and maintained as a condition of the establishment and the continued maintenance of any use to which they are appurtenant.

d. In those instances wherein the Planning Board finds that an excessive number of ingress and/or egress points may occur with relation to major or secondary thoroughfares, thereby diminishing the carrying capacity of the thoroughfare, the Planning Board may recommend marginal access drives. For a narrow frontage, which will require a single outlet, the Planning Board may recommend that money be placed in escrow with the Municipality so as to provide for a marginal service drive equal in length to the frontage of the property involved. Occupancy permits shall not be issued until the improvement is physically provided, or monies have been deposited with the Clerk.

e. Fees for Site Plan Review and Engineering Services in connection therewith shall be collected by the Building Inspector in advance of the Site Plan Review. The amount of such fees shall be established by Resolution of the City Council and shall cover all costs in connection therewith.

f. Site plan approvals shall be effective for a period of one (1) year from date of final approval by the Planning Board. Validation of a site plan after the effective date of expiration will require resubmittal to the Planning Board. There shall be no revisions to a site plan without prior approval of the Planning Board. Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance after Site Plan approval and prior to the issuance of a building permit, where applicable, shall invalidate the site plan approval.

Part V. Effective Date. The provisions of this Ordinance shall become effective ten (10) days after its adoption and shall be posted and published. The notice to be published shall set forth the date of enactment and effective date of such Ordinance and a brief statement of the subject matter, and shall further state that a complete copy of the Ordinance is available for public use and inspection at the office of the City Clerk.

MADE, PASSED AND ADOPTED BY THE NOVI CITY COUNCIL THIS 17th DAY OF February, 1976.

Volunteers Make Prison Life More Pleasant

Lifeliners Seek Women to Visit Female Prisoners

Life for female inmates at the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) is made more pleasant every week with visits from volunteers known as Lifeliners.

Sponsored by the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women, the group is seeking women in the Northville-Novi area interested in helping.

"It is not necessary to be a member of AAUW to participate in this program which the Northville branch also supports," according to Karel Whitaker, Northville branch president.

The program was to be announced at Northville AAUW's fireside chat meetings in February with volunteers invited to sign up. The Lifeliners began work at DeHoCo four years ago and were given their name by resident lifers there.

A study of prison reform and related topics led to the AAUW prison visits and an interest in women and their needs, sponsors recall.

The original program has been expanded to include Project STEP-Up for women serving terms in excess of seven years. Groups in both the Livonia and Plymouth branches take refreshments to the prison each week and sponsor a Christmas Fantasy for inmates' children.

Presently there are nine volunteers working with 15 of the 17 lifers at DeHoCo and eight working with 20-25 women in the STEP-UP program.

"Our goal is to have a one-to-one ratio between volunteers and 'residents' as the women refer to themselves," said Launa Wakenhut of the Plymouth branch and chairman of the group.

"As interest in Lifeliners and STEP-UP has spread among the inmates it has been increasingly difficult to find enough volunteers to maintain the desired balance."

"We are currently seeking women interested in the program," Mrs. Wakenhut said.

"Prospective volunteers must attend a series of four training sessions. Upon completion and acceptance into the program they are expected to spend two evenings a month—Tuesdays for Lifeliners and Thursdays for STEP-UP—as their part of the commitment.

Training sessions for potential Lifeliners and STEP-UP volunteers are scheduled for four Wednesdays beginning February 18 and running through March 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Pilgrim United Church of Christ, 36075 Seven Mile Road in Livonia.

A fifth session, a tour of DeHoCo, will be scheduled later.

The four sessions will include an overview of the program, information on what the women are like, empathy training, and a rap session including role playing to learn how to handle situations that might arise.

While volunteers do not need to be members of AAUW, there is an age requirement. No one under 25 will be accepted for the training sessions.

"Ideally," Mrs. Ruckhaber said, "the potential volunteers should be good listeners, mature and self assured individuals who are open minded and able to accept the inmates as they are."

For more information about the training sessions or the program call Mrs. Alan Wakenhut of Plymouth, Mrs. Charles Ruckhaber of Livonia, or Karel Whitaker of Northville, 349-5714.

Tell Your Wife We've Been Thinking About Her.

Of all you cherish, what's most important to you? Your wife - of course! Just think of all she does for you and your family. She's irreplaceable and if she should die, dollars can't take her place. But an adequate life insurance policy could help to get some of her many jobs done and to keep your household going. Ask your State Farm agent for details.
