Park Dedicated

Maybury Urban State Park, Michigan's newest facility, was formally dedicated Saturday afternoon in ceremonies near the park's living farm in Northville Township. On hand for the occasion was Lt. Governor James Damman (right), who waters a small tree planted for the occasion by the park manager, Robert Remer.

Located on 929 acres of land formerly occupied by the internationally acclaimed Maybury (TB) Sanatorium, the park is open daily as is its living farm near the Eight Mile Road entrance, west of Beck. Park hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., farm hours from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Separate Propositions

Township to Ask For 2.5 Mill Hike

Northville Township residents will be asked to vote additional millage totaling 2.5 mills for police, recreation and library operating needs at the August primary.

But the request will be broken into three separate items of 1.5 mills for police, .5 mill for recreation and .5 mill for library to be voted individually on the ballot.

Decision on the amount of the millage request and the separate listings on the ballot was made at a special meeting of township trustees last Tuesday, June 8. The vote was unanimous.

Action was taken by the trustees after they reviewed reports of citizen study committees and received the written report of the library committee headed by Mrs. Dora Rubenstein.

The report reaffirmed Mrs. Rubenstein's oral report at the special session the week before, concluding that "the library is well managed and that increases are needed by a growing community."

She stressed that "a good library is essential" to the community and that the present low rent in Northville Square is temporary so that long-range plans are needed. She assured the trustees that .5 mill could accomplish this.

As citizen reports presented June 1 were reviewed the report of the recreation study committee headed by James Terrasi came under heavy fire with trustees James Nowka, John MacDonald and treasurer Charles Rosenberg voicing doubts.

Saying that he felt the citizens committee needed "a precise understanding of how the joint community program (city-township) works," Nowka called upon Charles Froberger, recreation director, whom he had asked to attend as the "suggestion had been made that the department and director had been uncooperative."

Nowka was referring to the committee's charge that it had not been able to obtain information from Froberger.

Obviously upset with the charge, Froberger said he had talked with Clerk Clarice Sass on the telephone and had asked her to send on information. She in turn expressed irritation that Froberger had been asked to put in writing material to be sent on to Terrasi.

Froberger assured the board that .5 mill increase would make it possible to reduce charges to youngsters and to provide a full program.

Action to seek that amount was voted unanimously.

The trustees turned to the police department report presented the week before by Michael Wilson which recommended a 1. mill increase which, it stated, would maintain current strength "and provide for restricted growth."

The report had pointed out that police needs may change with the opening of a 35-man state police post in the township (on Seven Mile Road east of Northville Road) in the fall.

In the discussion the board concluded that 1.5 mills would maintain current strength while providing "for controlled growth."

The board also considered a 2. mill increase for police protection on a motion made by Richard Mitchell, who later withdrew the motion and supported the 1.5 millage after Trustee John Swienkowski cited a study report from Chief Ronald Nisun showing that some growth was provided for in the 1.5 levy.

"We're talking a 10 or 11 man force," Swienkowski said, "with an operating budget of about $211,500."

Nowka said he was satisfied that the 1.5 levy could bring a "significant improvement," and the motion passed unanimously.

The decision to list the three millage requests separately on the ballot for voters to check individually came after the board reviewed citizen comments at the meeting the previous week.

"People in this area are intelligent enough to vote on needs and the primary is going to draw a lot of people to the polls," observed Dr. Swienkowski, adding that he felt "people would appreciate the chance to vote the separate packages."

MacDonald, who originally had sought a single combined request, went along with the other trustees, commenting, "The people have indicated they want the opportunity to vote for their own priorities."

Vote then was unanimous. After discussing briefly the civil service for police and fire personnel prepared by attorney Donald Morgan at the board's request, the matter was placed on the July agenda to give members time for study.

"I see more good points than bad, and it does seem to work (by creating commissions for hiring, promotion and hearings) to take politics out of the (police) department," noted Mitchell, who had requested the study.

Board Fields Protests

Grade Restructuring to Stand

Although the board reportedly remains flexible to make modifications, last winter's decision to shift the grade levels beginning next fall apparently will stand.

Northville school board members indicated their support of the planned shift Monday in the face of public and teacher concerns.

After hearing reports from three building administrators and from Superintendent Raymond Spear, the board fielded a volley of public complaints led off by James Lewis, who said he represented a consensus of opinion from many parents and teachers.

The planned shift will move the ninth grade from the high school to two middle schools, and the sixth grade will move from the middle school to the elementary schools.

Board members ordered the switch last February to cope with overcrowded conditions at the high school. And based on the existing grade structure and a review of projected enrollments, board members concluded that "we are not only over capacity in grades 9-12 at this time, but will remain over capacity in the high school with a 9-12 program through 1980-81 at a minimum."

The switch effectively dissolves the middle school concept here, the superintendent has admitted.

The switch means Northville's 5-3-4 grade structure is to become a 6-3-3 structure. The district has operated the 5-3-4 structure since 1964. Prior to that date it was 6-2-4.

Three grade structures were examined by school officials in determining what they considered to be the best possible solution. These included the planned 6-3-3, a 5-3-4 structure and a 5-2-2-3 structure.

The latter would have meant that one of Northville's middle schools would house sixth and seventh grades and the other would house eighth and ninth grades.

Concerning the planned shift, Lewis said "some of us wonder whether this was not a weighted argument aimed at more equally distributing the number of students in our schools throughout the district without regard to the students' opportunity to obtain needed sequential subjects in many basic subjects at the time that, educationally, they most need them."

Lewis, speaking for himself and others, urged the board to reconsider its decision and to consider an alternate solution. He suggested that implementation of a possible 5-2-2-3 structure would preserve the middle school concept and also eliminate overcrowding at the high school.

"We especially feel that this reconsideration is necessary in view of your promise to the public of expanded — rather than reduced — course offerings in our middle and high schools, a promise that was made in your name at the time you asked all of us to help you pass the 3.9 extra millage, and a promise we now ask that you keep."

Similar references to this "promise" by others triggered a denial of officials that citizens were misled at the time of the millage proposal.

The promise, officials asserted, was to restore programs that had been cut from the curriculum. Approval of the 17-mill renewal proposition only would have left the district $600,000 short of restoration of these programs, Spear explained several times.

Approval of the 3.9 millage issue covered only this $600,000 shortage — and it did not provide for additional programs or teachers, he and other officials emphasized.

Concerning the 5-2-2-3 structure suggested by Lewis and by high school math teacher, Charles Apap, Trustee John Hobart pointed out that such a grade structure would necessitate extensive busing. It is far better, he reasoned, to avoid such busing and to use "bus money" for educational programs.

According to Lewis, "a great many parents and students" and "an overwhelming majority of teachers at the high school" believe proper planning "did not occur to make the implementation of the necessary changes work out as they were originally proposed. As a result, a great deal of public dismay has been generated."

Officials also took issue with this charge, arguing that planning for the switch did take place. And as for Apap's charge that he and other teachers were not consulted about the proposed change, the superintendent reminded him that several open meetings had been held on the matter, and that in-school sessions between building administrators and teachers had been provided.

One area where Apap voiced concern and where board members appear ready to consider possible change involves the year-round

Sliger, Johnson Win Seats

Marjorie Sliger and Christopher Johnson finished far ahead of the rest of the seven-candidate field for two school board seats in Monday's election.

Northville voters also favored a .53 millage increase for Schoolcraft College by a margin of 963 to 715, but the proposal lost in the college district 11,002 to 16,443.

Voting was light, with less than 17 percent of Northville's 10,142 registered voters going to the polls, compared with 19 percent in last June's school board election, and 39.4 percent in November's special millage election.

Mrs. Sliger was the top vote getter with a total of 883 votes, followed by Johnson with 729. The two newly elected trustees will take their seats at the first board meeting in July.

Vote totals for other candidates, in order of finish, are: James C. Lewis, 424;

Betty S. Hancock, 372; Timothy D. Lemon, 299; James Terrasi, Jr., 226; and Joseph H. Benstein, 141.

Johnson at 21, is the youngest member ever elected to the Northville School Board, and quite probably he is the youngest person to be elected to any public post here.

Mrs. Sliger's election brings the total of women on the seven-member board to three,

Joseph P. Corcoran

Weds at AF Base

England Air Force Base in Alexandria, Louisiana, was the scene of the wedding of Janet S. Alston and Joseph Patrick Corcoran. Both are members of the U.S. Air Force.

Airman First Class Corcoran is a 1972 Northville High School graduate and also an honor graduate of Oakland Community College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Corcoran of Northville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Gilbert Alston of Mena, Arkansas.

Major William Penton, Chaplain of England Air Force Base, performed the double ring ceremony the evening of May 8.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of taffeta and lace, created by her mother. A floral headpiece held her veil of illusion.

Mrs. Ronald D. Alston, sister-in-law of the bride, AIC Jeffery D. Olson, friend of the bridegroom, and the bride's father were the signing witnesses.

In addition to the bride's parents, guests from Mena included Fred M. Alston, Mrs. and Mrs. Ronald D. Alston and Shelly.

A reception followed the ceremony.

Patriotic Robin

This mother robin is hatching her Bicentennial brood in the nest she built in a cast iron eagle on the front of a Northville Township home. In the same spirit of independence that must have caused her to select the nesting spot she is defending her privacy against all who come to the front door, often darting at visitors. This week three baby robins also are poking their heads over the eagle.

Suszek's Mark 35 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Suszek of Ten Mile Road celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary at a special 5 p.m. mass at Our Lady of Victory Church on May 29. Father Gerard Hadad officiated.

The couple spoke their original vows May 24, 1941, in Posen, Michigan.

About 90 friends and relatives attended their anniversary reception at Roma Hall in Livonia. Among the guests were Mrs. Suszek's sisters, who had been her bridesmaids, Mrs. Joseph Talarecyk of Dearborn, and Mrs. Tony Yaros, of Pinconning, who attended with their husbands.

The couple's daughter, Linda Marie Suszek of Northville, and son, Thomas Suszek of Garden City, and his family also were present. Another son, James, and his family were not able to attend as he presently is stationed on Guam with the U.S. Air Force.

The orchestra performing at the Roma Hall reception was the Michigan Skyliners of Pinconning. Ron Yaros, the drummer, is the nephew of the honorees.

Sing-Along Plans Made By AARP

Highlighting the final spring meeting of the Plymouth-Northville Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons, will be a rehearsal of the "Heritage of Song" music to be used at the Plymouth Bicentennial Sing Along.

The meeting will be next Wednesday, June 23, following a sack luncheon at noon and business session and will be held at the Plymouth Presbyterian Church.

The sing along is to be held at 8 p.m. July 1 in Kellogg Park in Plymouth and is sponsored by the AARP chapter.

The entire community is invited, according to Fred Bradley, publicity chairman, but the senior citizens are "especially requested to gather close to the band stand to help swell the chorus."

Other senior groups, from Plymouth and other communities, may obtain copies of the song sheet by calling him at 437-2993.

Next Wednesday's meeting will be the final one until September

In Our Town Commencements Draw Vacationers

By JEAN DAY

TEMPERATURE and calendar both say it's summer. Official start is Monday, June 21. It's also vacation season.

Cyndi Wright has flown in from Hawaii to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wright of Fairway Drive III.

She has been living in Honolulu for 15 months working as a dental assistant and "loves it," her mother reports. She expects to be here a month before returning.

This week Cyndi has been visiting her long-time friend Mrs. Robert McLaren, the former Andy Davis, and her husband in Marquette.

Steve and Linda Evans, here last week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Evans of Woodhill Road, also headed north to Mackinac Island before returning to their home in Little Rock, Arkansas.

They had timed their vacation visit so they could attend the graduation of Steve's brother Scott last Saturday from Michigan State University.

Another Northville visitor who timed his arrival for a graduation is Harold Pyett. He has been visiting his son and daughter-in-law, the Roger Pyetts, and their sons of Donegal Court. He attended grandson Nicholas' graduation from Northville High School a week ago Tuesday evening.

He plans to return next week to his home at Bexhill on Sea in England.

LEAVING MONDAY for London and a tour of Europe will be Mrs. Stanley Sonk with daughter Julie and son Hugh. "It's an early graduation present for Hugh," she explains. He will complete his studies at Notre Dame next year.

Daughter Julie has just finished fourth grade and is looking forward to seeing a classmate when they fly from London to Frankfurt, Germany. The Frank Kroths and their son are visiting in Germany, Mrs. Sonk explains, and they have made plans to meet.

The Sonk threesome will drive to Paris and visit Switzerland also during the six-week stay before flying to Shannon. Eileen Sonk hopes to locate her parents' birthplaces on the sentimental stop in Ireland.

ALL SIX CARTER family members encountered more excitement than expected on their trip to the Canary Islands.

Bonnie and Walter Carter of Beck Road with their children, Cathy, Walter, Lance and Kile, had a "scary" experience as one engine failed on the flight from Detroit to New York. "Fire engines were waiting for our landing and the pilot had dumped his fuel," Cathy recounts. But the plane landed without accident and the flight continued.

The family stayed in one of the world's top-rated resorts (three swimming pools-salt, indoor and outdoor) in Puerta de la Cruz on the island of Tenerife. In spite of the flight incident, it was "fantastic," says Cathy.

Former Northville residents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas Handy, Sr., now living in Mercer Island, Washington, report they hope to visit Northville sometime this summer if they can work it in around the wedding of their son. His engagement is announced in this week's paper.

Lindi Handy, who was a member of the Northville Township Planning Commission until she moved, adds that she works part-time for the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and is taking classes to become a "para-legal."

HIGHLAND LAKES Women's Club ended its club year this month by participating in two special activities.

Twenty severely-retarded children from the Plymouth Center for Human Development were the club's guests at a supper June 3 on the clubhouse terrace.

Last Sunday, annual Harbor Day at Highland Lakes, the club operated a popcorn, coffee and pop booth at the celebration. "It was marvelous fun, and the event brings the Highland Lakes community close together," relates Dorothy Thomas.

CELEBRATION of the Bicentennial in Northville on Sunday, July 4, will begin with a religious service, much as the country's early founders would have approved.

A community service is set for 8 a.m. at the Mill Race Village. Music will be by an interdenominational choir for which voices are being sought this week. First rehearsal will be 4 p.m. this Sunday at First Presbyterian Church in Northville under the direction of Bill Williams.

Giving the sermon at the Bicentennial service will be the Reverend Lloyd Brasure.

Early services at individual churches of the community will follow the early one. Hopefully, they'll be over before the gigantic parade scheduled by the Northville Jaycees for 10 a.m.

VICTORIA SOMERS has proud grandparents living in Northville and Walled Lake to whom her graduation as valedictorian of her 487-member Indio High School (Indio-Palm Desert, California) class on June 4 means much.

Vicki is the granddaughter of Mrs. John White of Austin Drive in Walled Lake and of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Somers of Welch Street in Northville.

Her father, Major Richard Somers, was killed in 1971 at the end of the Vietnam War in which he served as an Air Force pilot. When he graduated from Northville High School in 1953, he was president of his class.

Vicki's mother, Eva White, was salutatorian of the 1953 class. Now a teacher, Mrs. White, Vicki and her two younger sisters-live in Palm Desert.

In addition to graduating with a perfect 4. average, Vicki, 18, has accumulated honors as outstanding girl athlete, as one of the school's top four writers and as expert in languages. She won an Optime Award for her achievements in Spanish, French and English, scoring in the top one percentile in the nation on the national Spanish examination.

She's a Bank of America achievement award winner, a diving and tennis champion and an accomplished dancer in classical ballet. She now plans to study with the San Diego Ballet Company and attend University of California at San Diego (Revelle College) to study medicine and languages.

Young Needlepointers Create Original Hanging

The needlepoint hanging in the principal's office at Silver Springs School is one of a kind, the work of second and third graders there.

It was presented to Principal Nancy Fieldman June 2 as a school dedication gift from classes taught by Janice Henderson and Barbara Holmes.

Each square in the patchwork design was worked by a different student. The needlepoint contains a picture representing every subject taught at the school.

Mothers of the students sewed the finished squares together.

Along with the needlepoint, Mrs. Fieldman received a plaque containing the names of all the students.

Another year-end event at Silver Springs was a surprise baby shower for teacher Nancy Larson, June 10. Her kindergarten, first and second grade students each brought her a small gift and clothes purchased with money from a class collection.

Mothers served punch, cookies and cake.

Taft Road Assessment Lawsuit Filed

'Phenomenal' Bid Okayed for Taft

What City Engineer Harry Mosher termed a "phenomenal bid" for the paving of Taft Road from 10 Mile to Grand River was approved by Novi Council Monday night.

The bid price which was approved by council figured out to $26 a front foot. The bid was from M&B Equipment Company of Novi for $371,284 which the council lowered by approximately $12,000 because of deletion of a bicycle path option.

Approved by council was the M&B bid for eight inch asphalt. M&B also gave the lowest bids received on eight inch concrete and three inch asphalt which respectively were $458,190 and $354,394. Both City Manager Edward Kriewall and the city engineer recommended the eight inch deep asphalt at a slightly higher price than the three inch asphalt.

Kriewall explained, "We will reap the savings in maintenance costs over five years."

In the debate over surface type, Mosher indicated that the deep strength asphalt has most of the wearing qualities of the concrete at a more attractive price.

Council member Romaine Roethel said that since the road program was sold to voters on the basis of using asphalt to get the most pavement for the money, "I'm not willing to jeopardize the rest of the program by going with concrete in this section."

At the same time, council decided to shave off a $12,000 option for an eight foot bike path connected and along the side of the road.

"I just feel it's a dangerous situation," said council member Patricia Karevich. "I'd rather see a four foot trail separated from the road."

Mosher, however, questioned whether a separate trail would hold up as cars drive from pavement to pavement at times. He said he would also have to investigate cost.

"If we start it with Taft Road, we're setting a precedent," added Councilman Martha Hoyer. Councilman Philip Goodman noted that the shoulder of the road could always have a bike path added in the future.

Mrs. Roethel also questioned who would provide upkeep of such a surface.

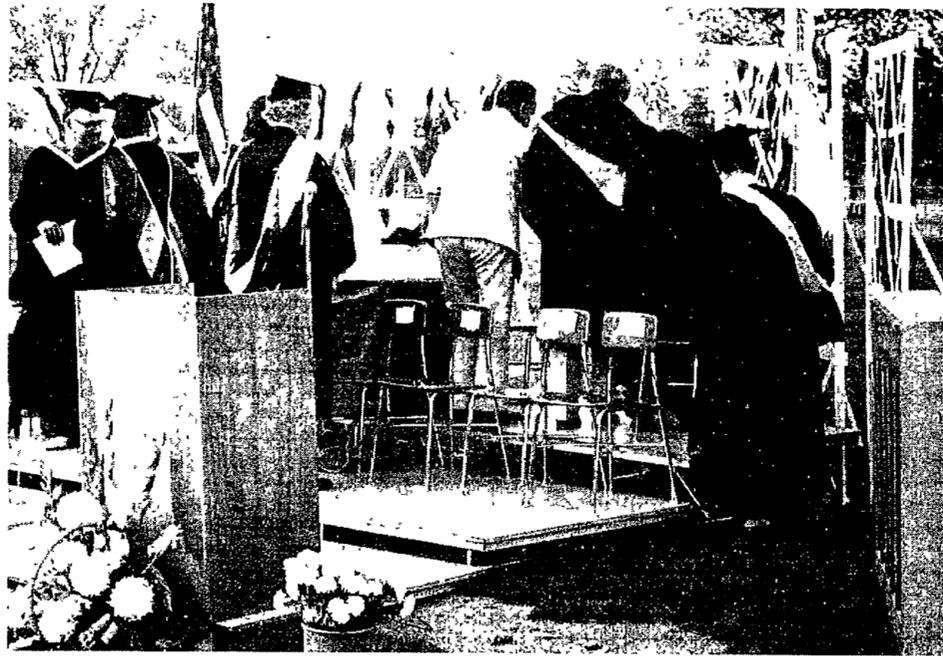

Council also discussed briefly the idea of sidewalks.

The motion to approve the M&B bid with $12,000 deleted for bike paths was carried 5-1 with Mayor Gilbert Henderson opposed. James Shaw was absent.

Paving is expected to begin later this summer and be completed before school opens, according to the administration.

According to Kriewall, an offer by the Novi School District for a loan of $58,000 will not be needed. Kriewall explained that the project bid came in much lower than the total project anticipated cost of $655,000. In addition, he added that city participation in the widening of Novi Road

'Commencement Exercise'

An unscheduled "exercise" interrupted the Novi High School commencement ceremonies last week when Board Member Joel Colliau's chair slipped off the back of the stage taking with it the latticework backdrop. School officials and guests scrambled to help Colliau as the ceremonies took a break. Colliau was unhurt.

Seeks Millage Vote

Park-Rec Request Denied

Despite the death Monday of a 17-year-old bicyclist on Novi's streets, the second in two months, Novi council Monday night voted down a parks and recreation request to put a millage question on the ballot which proponents said would have provided construction of some bike paths in Novi.

Parks and rec, which was unsuccessful previously in getting a question on the ballot, asked that a half mill for three year proposal be put on the August 3 primary ballot.

In making the request, parks and rec set the following priorities to be addressed by the millage, which would have brought in roughly $70,000 a year:

Two ball diamonds at Taft and 10 Mile; lights for Ballfields, resurfacing of the magic squares; new tennis courts at 10 Mile and Taft; installation and maintenance of bike trails on Taft Road; park and facility maintenance; increase of community activities and recreational programs for all citizens in Novi; further work at Lakeshore Park; hiring of full time parks and recreation director.

According to City Manager Edward Kriewall, the request would have allowed the city to withdraw its support from the general fund of the parks and recreation program beginning with the 1977-78 fiscal year, the first year for which taxes could have been collected. The city has allocated $17,000 to parks and recreation for 1976-77.

Parks and rec chairman John Balagna admitted that he doubted all of the priorities listed could be accomplished though council members indicated that most could. Kriewall recommended that the city council allow the matter to be on the ballot.

"The city of Novi has moved through many priorities as far as approval - fire department - road bonding - the water bond issue. It's common knowledge that parks and rec has been funded relatively low as far as city participation."

Kriewall noted problems with "rudimentary maintenance" of parks and that less CETA emergency employment funds will be available this year to help out with personnel, for parks and rec needs.

While Balagna said that "our main priorities are not bike trails - it is park facilities," bike paths were one of the main topics of discussion and Kriewall revealed that parks and rec has put together a program and is seeking a "demonstration" grant which would fund fully a system of bike paths throughout Novi. Kriewall noted the state has available $6 million for that purpose and only five projects have requested funds.

The same request for a ballot question by parks and rec was turned down for last November's ballot by the previous council because of a belief that too many questions on the ballot might doom all of them.

This time, council members gave other reasons.

"I'm having trouble in my own mind if people are ready for another half mill on top of what they've had in the past including city and school millages," said Councilman Robert Schmid.

Council member Martha Hoyer added, "I cannot vote yes because until the council does long range planning and sets priorities, I can't vote yes on any proposal that comes before us."

Mayor Gilbert Henderson agreed saying, "I'm going to vote no because I don't believe you need money, but

Truck Kills Novi Youth

A warrant charging a Detroit truck driver with negligent homicide is being sought in the truck-bicycle accident death of 17-year-old Peter Donald Meyer who had just finished his junior year at Novi High School.

Meyer was struck and killed as he rode his bicycle along the west side of Novi Road a short distance from his home. The accident occurred about a third of a mile south of 10 Mile. According to traffic officer Tom Hesse, investigation indicates the youth was riding on the gravel shoulder of the road when the truck, which was southbound, swerved onto the shoulder striking Meyer. The truck continued on 350 feet before tipping onto its side and spilling the full load of 16 foot long drywall.

Driving the truck was Calvin Butcher, 32, of Detroit, a truck driver for Bobryan Building Supplies of Southfield. The load was on its way to Kaufman and Broad work site in Village Oaks Subdivision.

Novi Ambulance arrived approximately three minutes after the accident, which occurred at 1:05 p.m., and cardiopulmonary resuscitation started. Meyer was pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford Hospital in Farmington.

Police blocked off Novi Road for close to four hours as the traffic bureau conducted an investigation of the accident and as clean-up operations took place. The flatbed truck involved was towed away and is being held for investigation by a team from the Highway Safety

Novi Voters Elect Milam, Murphy, Waldenmayer

With 15 percent of 5000 registered voters coming to the polls, Novi voters selected Raymond Murphy and John Milam to the vacant four year school board seats while Ruth Waldenmayer easily won the three year seat.

Murphy, of 22616 Heatherbrae tallied the most votes in the four year race with 341. Following closely behind was John Milam, a four year resident of the community, who came up with 314 votes. He lives at 23675 Stonehenge Incumbent Terrance Jolly was third in the voting with 277 votes. Brent Canup received 152, Russell Fertitta 142, Lawrence Smith 73 and Maurice Cherr 53.

Ruth Waldenmayer, running unopposed for the three year seat except for write-in competition, carried the most votes of any candidate with 507 votes. Richard Bureau tallied 31 votes and Thomas Swope 25.

Overall, 765 voters came to the polls. The winners will be sworn in at an organizational meeting Monday, July 12.

Walled Lake School District voters, including Wixom and northern Novi, approved a four mill increase for five years 2,804 to 2,322. The vote was the third attempt by the school district to receive a millage increase. Both others failed and the school board had been anticipating cutbacks had not the district been successful in gaining added millage.

In addition, both Walled Lake School Board incumbents, Robert Cooper and Warren Williams were reelected to four year terms. Cooper, of Orchard Lake, received 1,649 votes while Williams, of Union Lake, tallied 1,306. Patricia Jackman followed with 1,068, Allen Green, Jr. had 1,035, Jeanette Brand, 946, Kenneth Tucker 849 and Neil Kessler 738.

In the Oakland Community election, Barbara Jane Willing won the four year seat while Earl Anderson (incumbent) and Suzanne Reynolds took the six year terms.

Population Is Near 4500 As Wixom Census Ends

Although results of the recently completed special census in Wixom fell short of the original guesstimate of city officials, the census did show a marked increase in the number of residents since 1970.

The unofficial tally of 4463 was substantially lower than the 6000 plus expected by city officials. Original estimates were based, in most part, on a 3.3 per household factor.

Building permits issued over the past five years and the number of multiple dwelling units in the city were also a part of the original factor.

Area's Good Cooks Contribute to Three Recipe Books

By JEAN DAY

"I never throw away a cookbook!"

That observation by a local homemaker may be one reason for the growing popularity of cookbooks published by churches, clubs and charitable organizations. Recipes that have been savored at parties and potlucks form the basis for two Northville cookbooks now in the making. For collectors the cookbooks become sources of regional cooking while organizations gain funds for their causes.

Members of the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church of Northville currently are gathering recipes for their first cookbook in 40 years while Northville Mothers' Club members have just collected recipes from active and life members for the club's newest cookbook.

Both are expected to be available by late summer.

Another new cookbook, "Cooking With Hope," just issued by the Detroit Women's Division for Project Hope, contains recipes of two Northville members.

Mary Jane Sturwold contributed recipes for a "very easy and delicious" appetizer of marinated vegetables, an orange loaf cake and a make-ahead grasshopper pie.

Mrs. Sturwold, who is serving as treasurer of the group and has been its secretary, mentions that she is a long-time member of Project Hope, having joined long before she and her husband moved to Highland Lakes four years ago.

They opened their firm, "Sturwold Showcase" in Brighton three years ago.

Dona Northrup of Nine Mile Road has her recipe for a large strawberry mold included in the spiral cookbook priced at $3.50 plus 50 cents mailing. It may be ordered from the Women's Division, Project Hope, 920 Fisher Building, Detroit, 48202.

Another well-known contributor is Kay Savage Kennedy, former food editor of The Detroit Free Press, who points out that everything from simple "cheese penny" appetizers to microwave cooking is included. Proceeds aid medical and educational programs of the international people-to-people health foundation.

"Presbyterian Potluck" is the title of the collection of recipes of women of the Northville Presbyterian church. Mrs. Joseph Straub, chairman, has been seeking the recipes since January.

This week she and Mrs. Allen Grieger, association president, looked over the choice collection and began placing recipes in categories. Typing help has been promised by Mrs. Thomas Curl, Mrs. John Winters, Mrs. Dorothy Trombley and Mrs. H. O. Evans.

Proceeds of the book, which is tagged at $3, are earmarked for the church building fund. "It will contain all local recipes—at least 250, including one for elephant stew," Mrs. Grieger reports.

The cookbooks will be on sale at the fall home tour September 30 and at the Harvest Festival at the church October 7.

Mrs. Wilbur Johnston remembers the original cookbook, which had red binding and was titled "Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary Book."

"I came here 50 years ago on July 15," she recalls, "and the book was collected after that, probably 40 years ago, and I contributed my recipe for rhubarb-date pie. It's a custard pie."

The pie, she adds, still is being baked by her friends and the recipe may be included in the new cookbook.

The recipe book of Northville Mothers' Club is slated to be on sale in August by Mrs. N. C. Schrader and Mrs. Ned Lincoln, co-chairmen, who have been gathering recipes from both present and life members.

It is expected to contain more than 300 recipes. The chairmen presently are considering enlarging the original design.

"There are a lot of good cooks in Northville," commented life member Mrs. Stuart Campbell when asked about the casserole recipes she had contributed. They include a vegetable casserole, a sea food version and a mock chicken dish using beef, pork and veal.

"I brought the mock chicken to a club potluck," adds Wilma Campbell, known as "one of the best" in the kitchen.

She says that a cookbook was issued by the club in its very early years and feels the current edition may be the club's fourth. The last one, issued about 12 years ago, was called "Kitchen Diary Recipes published by Northville Mothers' Club." Mrs. Gordon Forrer still had her copy, which contains her recipe for blueberry cheese cake dessert. She has contributed dessert recipes to the new edition also.

Part of the enjoyment of browsing through these local cookbooks is that the donor of the recipe is listed so that friends who have sampled her fare can duplicate it.

Here's Sample Fare In New Cookbooks

Here are some tantalizing "samplers" of recipes by Northville cooks to be available in the new cookbooks.

This is Catherine Johnston's custard pie recipe that first appeared in the Presbyterian cookbook 40 years ago and which she promises to contribute to the new edition

RHUBARB DATE PIE

- ½ C. chopped dates

Combine ingredients and place in unbaked pie shell with lattice top. Bake at 400 degrees for 10-15 minutes then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake for a total of 45 minutes.

From the "Cooking With Hope" book comes Mary Jane Sturwold's marinated vegetable offering that sounds like a great summer nibbling.

- 1 pt. whole fresh mushrooms
- 1 green pepper, cut into bite-sizes
- 2 carrots sliced diagonally

Marinade:

- 1 C. salad dressing

Fall Voters May Face 'Bedsheet' Ballot

It's called a "bedsheet" ballot because of its unwieldy size. With 11 parties in the Michigan filing to run in the November election, voters may be faced with a paper bedsheet this fall.

"A lot of voters will be turned off by long, long lines," predicts Clarice Sass, Northville Township Clerk. In addition, costs of handling and counting the over-sized paper ballots would be "astronomical" she says.

To prevent the use of the bedsheet, Mrs. Sass and clerks from other Wayne County communities are challenging the Communist Party's petitions to appear on the ballot. The Board of Canvassers is expected to rule on the challenge Thursday.

Mrs. Sass says the Communists were selected for challenge, not for any ideological reasons, but simply because they filed the fewest signatures and were thus easiest to check.

Mrs. Sass was joined in the challenge by Michael W. Kerwin, Detroit deputy clerk; Orville L. Tungate, Wayne County deputy clerk; Rose Legg, Brownstown Township clerk and Mary Lou Carey, Huron Township Clerk.

Mrs. Sass said the group, although all elected officials, acted as private citizens and prepared the challenge on their own time, working evenings and weekends.

They had also planned to challenge the Libertarian Party, with the second fewest signatures, but had to withdraw the action because they didn't have time to go over the signatures before the June 8 deadline.

The ballot problem stems from the fact that a standard voting machine has room to list only nine parties. If more than nine qualify, paper ballots will be required.

Of 11 filers, Eugene McCarthy, an independent candidate for President, has already been disqualified by the Board of Canvassers because he does not have the backing of an organized political party.

Mrs. Sass and her associates hope that by eliminating the Communists, only nine parties will be certified and voting can take place on machines as usual.

However, McCarthy has filed suit in Federal Court against the Board of Canvassers and Mrs. Sass says, the Communist Party has written to the United States Attorney General protesting the challenge against them. The outcome of these legal actions may still create the need for a paper bedsheet.

The filing of petitions is only the first step in a two-step process for appearing on the November ballot. By law a party who received less than one percent of the vote cast for the successful candidate for Secretary of State in the last election, must present the petitions with signatures totaling this one percent figure. This year the requirement is for 17,674 names.

After signatures are verified by the Board of Canvassers, all parties will appear in a single column on the primary ballot in August and must receive three-tenths of one percent of the total vote cast then. A voter who casts his ballot to qualify a minor party such as the Communists, cannot also vote in the primary election of the Republicans or Democrats.

All other parties select their candidates at conventions, rather than through the primaries.

Based on previous primary election turnouts, about 4,000 to 6,000 qualifying votes will be required for each minor party in August. It is this requirement that leads Joseph Ellis, Livingston County clerk, to believe that there is little threat of the bedsheet ballot appearing in November. "I do not believe that all those minor parties will get that much of the vote," he says.

But Mrs. Sass disagrees, and believes it is important to block the Communists in the first stage of the process.

Norma Wallace, South Lyon clerk, supports Mrs. Sass in her challenge. She believes there is a good possibility that all minor parties could receive sufficient votes to qualify unless there is some move to stop them.

Mrs. Sass, the other clerks, and about 20 volunteers went through all the Communist party petitions, line by line, three times to document their challenge.

The first step was to list all signatures that were invalid, because they were printed rather than written.

The second check involved dividing the petitions by circulator to look for irregularities. Mrs. Sass said that some circulators would have to have been in 24 different communities on the same day to collect the signatures on their petitions.

The third time the petitions were inspected, it was to compare signatures against voter registration records.

Mrs. Sass checked signatures in Garden City, Westland, Redford and Ann Arbor.

She said that the Communists complained that those involved in the challenge had control of the records and that some manipulation could have been involved.

To this Mrs. Sass replied, "None of us checked signatures in our own community," she added, "Nobody in Northville Township was on any of the petitions."

When the group finished, they had found nearly 5,000 questionable signatures, among the 21,000 filed by the Communist party.

Mrs. Sass said she was alarmed by the irregularities she found. One petition contained the signatures of "Adolph Hitler," she said, and another was signed by "Ima Communist."

Parties automatically appearing in November will be Republicans, Democrats, Human Rights Party and American Independent Party.

Those seeking space on the ballot via petitions and qualifying votes are the Socialist Labor Party, Socialist Worker Party, Communist Labor Party, United States Labor Party, Libertarian Party, Communist Party and Eugene McCarthy, Independent.

Meadowbrook Road Rezoning Denied

A request for rezoning of 2.1 acres of land on the west side of Meadowbrook Road between Broquet Street and Nine Mile Road from R-1 single family residential to R-4 single family residential was denied by Novi Council last week.

The request, which was made by Bert L. Smokler Company, was intended to allow the property, which surrounds the street entering Country Place Condominiums, to be developed with eight lots where currently it could only have three lots placed on it. R-1 allows a minimum lot size of one acre while R-4 allows minimum lot size of 10,000 square feet.

The planning board had previously recommended against the rezoning because members believed it to be spot zoning since land on the north, south and the east was also zoned R-1, said Planning Board Chairman John Roethel. The planning consultant backed up the planning board's opinion.

A representative of the developer explained that as currently zoned, the property would have to be developed in odd sized lots with frontage in most cases of about 300 feet.

Republicans Slug It Out

It's Blues vs. Golds in Township Politics

By BILL SLIGER

If you don't have a scorecard, you may have problems identifying the players in a giant game of politicking now going on between Republicans in Northville township.

There are at least two teams involved in a game of political infighting that could end up in an every-man-for-himself free-for-all.

The final score won't be recorded until the August primary when nomination on the Republican ticket is tantamount to election in November.

Right now one of the teams has jumped out to an early lead by zapping an asleep-at-the-switch contingent with a sure-fire grab of one of the board seats.

R. M. Lysinger is running unopposed for a two-year trustee seat that was completely overlooked by all but two candidates. And one of those stepped aside, leaving a clear field for Lysinger.

To fully understand and appreciate what is taking place in the scramble for seats on the township board of trustees you have to examine the events of the immediate past.

For purposes of identification let's call the two Republican teams the "Blues" and the "Golds".

Broadly speaking, the Blues favored annexation of the township to the city; the Golds opposed it.

The Blues would describe most Golds as "anti-city" and the Golds would describe most Blues as "anti-township".

While the Blues lost two bids for annexation, they have consistently won election to the board. Currently, the only elected township board member who opposed annexation is Trustee Richard Mitchell.

But two years ago the Blues began losing some of their members on the board. In 1974 Treasurer Joseph Straub died. In 1975 Supervisor Lawrence Wright resigned.

Ironically, the Blues appointed two Golds to the board to fill the vacancies, one on purpose the other by mistake.

When Trustee Charles Rosenberg, a Blue, was appointed treasurer to fill-out Straub's term, the board named Dr. John Swienkowski as trustee replacing Rosenberg.

The Blues knew Swienkowski was a Gold. But he was a likeable chap. And he had even been a Blue once. What's more, they did not consider him to be an "anti-city" Gold. He would, they hoped, consider the value of joint city-township programs on merit, not anti-city prejudice.

The Blues calling the shots at the time of Swienkowski's appointment were Supervisor Lawrence Wright, Clerk Betty Lennox, Trustees Rosenberg, John MacDonald and James Nowka.

Trustee Mitchell was the lone Gold on the board. He was, of course, delighted at an appointment that would bring the board's Gold total to two.

A few months later Supervisor Wright was to resign for health reasons. Clerk Lennox was named supervisor and the search began for a new clerk.

The Blues were still in control of the board, 4-2. They decided upon Clarice Sass. No one really knew whether she was Blue or Gold, but she was appointed by a 5-1 vote.

Clerk Sass turned out to be a very vocal Gold. Ironically, the lone dissenting vote against her appointment was cast by the board's leading advocate of the Gold position, Trustee Mitchell.

Anyway, while the Golds have been represented on the board by Mitchell, Sass and Swienkowski, an off-the-board member of the Gold team has been L. M. Lysinger.

In 1974 he was an unsuccessful candidate for trustee as a member of a Gold slate that lost to a Blue slate in the Republican primary.

He had also been active in opposing annexation in the 1973 election, which narrowly lost at the polls. The second annexation vote lost overwhelmingly last year and following the election Lysinger took a leadership role in a proposed recall action against pro-annexationists Supervisor Lennox and Trustee MacDonald.

The drive failed to get off the ground and the petitions that Lysinger had announced were being circulated were never filed.

But Lysinger's recall plan was not opposed by the Golds on the board. Only one Gold, Swienkowski, hedged. He said he did not favor the recall action against Supervisor Lennox.

Meanwhile, the working relationship between Supervisor Lennox and Clerk Sass in township hall became increasingly strained. Blue and Gold did not mix.

Quietly the Blue and Gold teams began searching for August primary candidates.

The Blues fumbled the ball badly. They gathered a team of three candidates for the three trustee seats currently filled by MacDonald and Mitchell, who are not seeking re-election, and Swienkowski.

All the Blue candidates filed for the four-year terms. But what the Blue team forgot — or didn't know — was that one of the three trustee vacancies was for a two-year term. The seat had originally been won by Rosenberg. Swienkowski was appointed only until the next election.

Swienkowski admits that it looks like a case of collusion when only two Gold candidates know enough to file for both the two-year and four-year terms.

The law provides that in such instances a candidate can file for both seats and then decide four days later which to seek.

But Swienkowski says he remembered being told when he was appointed to the board that the term would extend only until the next election and then he, or someone, would have to run for election to fulfill the final two years. He didn't explain how he knew he could file for both seats.

Lysinger says he knew about filing two petitions "because I did my homework". Trustee Mitchell has a different version.

"I'm the one who found out about it," he told The Record this week. "I was the only one who knew and I found out quite by accident. I called Mark (Lysinger) on the Sunday before the Friday filing deadline and told him."

"Then I floated a two-year petition for Swienkowski myself," the trustee stated.

Mitchell, an old Gold, made no bones of the fact that he didn't bother to tell any of the Blues about the double filing procedure. He conceded that "to a degree" it was the responsibility of the clerk to inform all candidates of such election procedures.

"After two four-year terms on the board Mitchell is not seeking re-election. He said this week he was 'not built to be a politician'."

Clerk Sass said she did not learn of the double-filing procedure until receiving the petitions at deadline from Lysinger and Swienkowski. She said she "had to call downtown" to confirm the legality. If she had known sooner, she said she would have informed all candidates.

Mitchell criticized Trustee MacDonald for not knowing the law. "He's a lawyer. He should have known."

The plot thickens slightly when Lysinger and Swienkowski explain how each decided to run for a two-year and four-year term, respectively.

Swienkowski insists that he decided to run for the board only if he stood for election and won by a popular vote. He said Lysinger told him that he (Lysinger) would not run for the two-year term if Swienkowski did.

As an appointee to the board, Swienkowski contends that he does not want to serve again on the board without being elected. Faced with Lysinger's declaration that he would drop out of the two-year race, Swienkowski declined the sure spot on the board in favor of running against four other candidates for the two four-year terms.

Lysinger says he made his decision based upon Swienkowski's decision. "I support John. There's no value in us running against each other. I want to be on the board and I want him on the board, too."

In contrast, Swienkowski says he is not supporting Lysinger. He said he would work in behalf of a qualified write-in candidate to oppose Lysinger either in the August primary or the November election.

This is not the only indication of mixed emotions between Blues and Blues, Golds and Golds and Blues and Golds.

Blue Rosenberg has declared he will support Gold Swienkowski, for example.

"He's one of the guys from the other side who has no hatred for the city," explains Rosenberg.

"Annexation isn't feasible at this time. But there are many worthwhile programs we share with the city and I think Swienkowski can help us in these areas, like recreation, library, fire," Rosenberg stated.

He said he hoped a new board could move forward for the benefit of the community and heal some of the wounds of annexation.

So maybe the Blue and Gold color distinctions will fade in the future. Maybe.

Without showing their colors, here's the field of Republican candidates that will go to the primary polls in August:

Supervisor: — Betty Lennox and Wilson Grier; Clerk: — Clarice Sass and Rosemary Zillich; Treasurer: — Richard Henningson and Constantine Carson; Trustee: — (two seats for four years) Dr. John Swienkowski, Arthur G. Munzinger, Wesley Rogalski, John Unger, Michael Wilson; (two-year term) — R.M. Lysinger.

There are four Republican candidates for constable: James Schrot, Roger G. Eising, Ronald Fader and E.F. Petersen.

The lone Democrat on the township ticket is Margaret A. Cramer, a candidate for a four-year term as trustee.

Bicentennial-Year Northville Graduates Get Diplomas

Decked out in their mortarboards, the class of '76 salutes the flag

"Consider the diplomas you are about to receive as your Declaration of Independence from the Northville Public Schools and a legally required formal education." That was the commencement message to 340 Northville graduates last Tuesday from Superintendent of Schools, Raymond E. Spear.

Spear's address to the Bicentennial class related the drafting of the Declaration of Independence 200 years before to the students' independence at the end of their public school program. Following an invocation by the Reverend Ralph G. Schmidt, assistant pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville, three members of the class addressed their fellow students.

Sarah Kunst delivered the salutatory. An exchange student from Ecuador, Anna Marie Bilbao, gave her Foreign Farewell. Kathleen Brown, class valedictorian, warned her classmates not to let their actions be guided by "fear of failure."

Spear was the main commencement speaker, and he concluded his remarks on a note of pride, recognizing his daughter, Carol, who was one of the graduates.

Michael Tarpinian, principal, presented the class to the superintendent, and diplomas were granted.

Novi Building High Despite Drop

Did you know that the number of building permits issued in Southeast Michigan last year dropped to an all-time, 20-year low?

According to "Residential Construction in Southeast Michigan, 1975," a recently-released report by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), total building permits authorizing construction for new housing units in the region dropped 6,500 between 1947 and 1975.

The report also indicates that the drop was caused by the high prime interest rates and the overall state of the economy.

Novi, which dropped out of the top-10 new construction category after placing ninth in 1973 throughout the metropolitan area, still retains its leadership in the area covered by this newspaper. Novi recorded a net gain of 224 new homes in 1975, dwarfing Northville Township's second place showing of 98 new homes.

According to SEMCOG data, Novi had 231 new single-family units constructed, 15 multi-family units, and 22 homes razed during the year. Northville Township, on the other hand, showed 71 new single-family homes, 28 multi-unit homes, and one home demolished.

Wixom placed third last year in new construction, with 39 single-family units minus one demolition.

In the Oakland County section of the City of Northville, four new single-family homes were constructed, two multi-family units went up for a total of six. In the Wayne County section, three new single-family units went up and one home came down for a net gain of two.

Here is what happened in other neighboring communities:

City of Plymouth, a net loss of nine homes; Plymouth Township, a net gain of 58; Livonia, a net gain of 119; Salem Township, a net gain of 17; Walled Lake, a net gain of 27; Wolverine Lake, a net gain of 27; City of Farmington, net gain of 20; Farmington Hills, net gain of 443; Lyon Township, net gain of 37; South Lyon, net gain of 94; Commerce Township, net gain of 100; Brighton Township, net gain of 297; Green Oak Township, net gain of 60; City of Brighton, net gain of 15; Hamburg Township, net gain of 100; Hartland Township, net gain of 100; Pinckney, net gain of four; and Northfield Township, net gain of seven.

Taft Road Lawsuit Filed

bonds, which was passed last week, puts the deadline into July.

Said Haynes, "Their chances (to stop the paving) would be meager considering the road program was passed by a majority of voters."

The resolution of intent to sell bonds sets a maximum of $110,000 to be sold with the length of the special assessment bond to be 15 years.

While Haynes agreed the road does need paving, but because of its public use, Fried told The Novi News that "I'm going to invite him (Judge William Beer) to take a ride down that road and see if it (paving) will benefit the homeowners."

Fried added that he does not expect the lawsuit to hold up the paving, which is scheduled for this year. Fried explained that if the city is not allowed to levy the special assessment July taxes, he believes that the city has enough front monies to pay for the special assessment share.

City Finance Director Fred Todd agreed that he does not expect the city to hold up paving the road, even if an injunction should be issued and the July special assessment taxes go uncollected. A policy decision would have to be reached by council, he added.

Todd explained that the city could: 1) advance money from the one mill road fund; 2) advance added money from the road bonding program; or 3) not pave the road until the lawsuit is settled.

Todd said he favors borrowing the money from the road fund. While Todd said he is certain the city will win the suit, he added that if the city should lose, it could draw the $110,000 special assessment share instead from the road fund or from the road bonding program as a whole. He added that if the money was taken from the road fund, it could jeopardize the city adding its 20 percent share to some requested paving job in the future. If the money is taken from the road bonding program, it would require something being eliminated at the end.

In a related item, the City of Novi last week also named the Ohio Company as Municipal Bond Consultants to aid in the marketing of $1.7 million general obligation road bonds and $2 million general obligation water bonds.

Hiring of the company is intended to get Novi's bonds rated by Standard and Poor's and Moody's which will result in the city getting a better bond rate when bonds are sold. Approximate cost of hiring the Ohio Company is $8,000.

The general obligation road bonds, which would be sold in September, will cover priority roadway to be paved over the next 15 months, according to Todd. This includes, he said, Taft Road from 10 Mile to Grand River, Meadowbrook from 10 Mile to 12 Mile, Beck Road from 10 Mile to Grand River and Taft Road from 9 Mile to 10 Mile. Total length is 5.77 miles.

Total length of the overall road program, as approved by residents is 18.78 miles of roads.

The water bonds are to be sold for construction of the water main from 14 Mile to 12 Mile on Novi Road, oversizing costs on the main from 12 Mile to I-96 (to be paid for basically by Dayton-Hudson) and lines servicing Meadowbrook Manor.

Residents recently approved allowing the city to issue $3.6 million in water bonds for the Dayton Hudson water line, which would eventually extend south to service the new high school and library, as well as Meadowbrook Glens. Tap in fees from future growth are expected to pay off the bonds.

from 12 Mile to the expressway for the Dayton Hudson shopping center has been reduced by the county from $120,000 to $70,000.

The school board had offered the loan as front monies after the city indicated that school district monies totaling $58,000 (or $22 a front foot) would be necessary if the project was to be started and completed this year. The board did offer $10 a front foot payable in 10 annual installments toward the paving. The council has not yet accepted the school board offer.

The school board offer was contingent upon passage of an updated sewer payback agreement on the 11 Mile sewer servicing the current high school which would give the school district better returns from sewer taps which would pay back the school district for front monies paid at the time.

Kriewall said that the urgency to act on the sewer payback agreement was no longer necessary.

"It may be to our advantage not to modify it," stated Kriewall. "From a total dollar impact, we will have to have further study."

The paving is to be funded through assessment of $10 a front foot on homeowners and through the road program millage approved by voters. Currently homeowners are fighting in court to stop the assessment (See related story, Novi 1)

SMALL PIECE OF HISTORY—Tiny sugar maple trees were planted at the Northville City Hall and at the Mill Race Historical Village this past week as part of the Bicentennial observance in Northville. Grown from seeds taken last fall from 100-year-old maples that had been planted near Niles in 1886 to commemorate the nation's centennial, the seedlings were distributed by the Department of Natural Resources to almost 200 local Bicentennial organizations for planting and appreciation by future Michigan citizens during the years of America's third century. Bicentennial Commission Chairman John Burkman (left) presents the city hall tree here to City Manager Steven Walters.

Census Results Revealed

The 3.3 factor proved high however, when counting people residing in the multiple units. There the figure appears to be an average 1.5 per unit. The single residence factor did work out to be 3.3 with an overall city average of 2.8 people per unit.

In the headcount that took eight people 1 1/2 weeks to complete, the final figures may be below what was expected but certainly well above the 2010 which are currently considered official population numbers.

Both state aid and federal revenue monies are allocated to cities on the basis of population. In approving the special census proposition, Wixom council members realized the city was losing a sizeable amount of money due to those agencies using the 2010 figure.

By using the new census figures, Wixom could gain an additional $62,500 in state aid monies alone. Wixom currently receives $51,255 from state aid as compared to a possible $113,806.

Assistant to the mayor Bernard VanOsedale pointed out that the extra monies to be gained by the census might be a little slow in coming from the state.

Implementation of the state aid act raising the guaranteed per capita amount to $25.50 to those areas involved in a special census has been postponed by the governor due to state fiscal problems.

That program might not go into effect until sometime in 1977. But Wixom also stands to gain in federal funds which could feasibly become effective with those allocations after December 1976.

Final word on the acceptance of the figures by governmental agencies will come following an examination of the tally sheets by the United States census bureau.

Council Stops Request

because I don't believe in running a bunch of millage requests periodically."

He added that he could not support the request because the "city administration and police department are housed in a state of chaos. I'd much rather see a millage for the city administration which would also support parks and rec."

Council members Romaine Roethel and Philip Goodman argued for the question.

"By allowing this on the ballot, we're letting people in the city decide if they want it to go for better recreation facilities," said Mrs. Roethel.

Goodman said he supported putting the question on the ballot because it would be a lone question not paired with several others, as would have happened last November had the council allowed the question on the ballot at that time.

The vote was 4-2 against allowing the question on the ballot with Goodman and Mrs. Roethel supporting the request. James Shaw was absent.

Balagna said afterward that parks and recreation would not have the time to gather enough signatures to put the question on the ballot. Approximately 948 would be needed.

Pool Resources To Buy Poles

Members of the Wixom City council agreed recently to pool their monthly council salaries and purchase three flag poles as a Bicentennial gift to the city. As proposed, the flag poles will be grouped on the lawns in front of the City Hall.

Originally the council had planned to purchase only two poles, allowing the one already erected to remain in its place. But through the purchase investigation headed by Councilman Fred Morehead, council quickly decided to buy the three new poles.

Morehead's eagle eye went to the top of the current pole. And knowing a little something about plumbing he realized the finial adorning the top was nothing more than a toilet ball painted gold.

The old pole will be removed, repainted and hopefully refitted before it graces the new city park slated for dedication during Bicentennial festivities on July 4.

Novi Appointments To Committees Set

Novi City Council last week named appointments to both the Parks and Recreation Commission and the Industrial and Commercial Development Committee.

Appointed to the Parks and Recreation Commission by way of a secret ballot of council members was Hugh Crawford. He will replace Richard Bingham who resigned.

Also voted to serve as a resident of the community on the Industrial and Commercial Development Committee was Fred T. Madley.

Other members of the newly created committee include planning board member James Koster, Chamber of Commerce representative, Byron Schemp, financial community representative Donald Greengood and council representative Martha Hoyer.

Hit-Run Driver Damages Six Cars Before Capture

In Novi

A 16-year-old youth was taken into custody Sunday, June 13 after he allegedly was involved in a hit and run chain reaction accident which left six vehicles including his own damaged.

According to Detective Sergeant Gordon Nelson, the driver of the vehicle lost control in Waterview Apartments striking a parked vehicle which in turn struck another vehicle in a chain reaction collision involving five parked cars.

The vehicle involved then left but witnesses gave police a description and Walled Lake police located the car at the Walled Lake Arcade. Novi police impounded the vehicle and a 16-year-old Novi youth confessed that he was involved in the accident.

He was arrested for leaving the scene of a property, damage accident and will be petitioned into juvenile court on the felony charge.

Two men were arrested Sunday night as they allegedly attempted to take off with two generators from the Dayton Hudson construction site at 12 Mile and Novi Roads.

According to police reports, arrested were Gary Proctor, 26, of Highland and Thomas Piralala, 33, of Davisburg.

Officer Robert Gatt was on patrol when he spotted a pickup truck leaving the site. When stopped, Piralala said the men had found the generators by the road and were about to put them back where they belonged. Both reportedly confessed later to the crime.

Both men were lodged in Oakland County Jail charged with larceny over $100. They were arraigned Monday in 52nd District Court and released on $5,000 personal bond.

Two tow trucks valued at $6,000 were stolen June 8-9 from Novi Towing, 46406 Grand River.

A 3/4-inch chain had been cut to gain entry to where the trucks were being stored. The trucks had both been locked.

A Mercury motor was removed from a boat Sunday, June 13 from a home in the 400 area of South Lake Drive. The motor was valued at $1,800. There was $800 damage to the boat.

A purse was stolen Saturday, June 12, from the dining room table of a home in the 41500 Borchart. Two juveniles who returned the purse said they found it behind the Novi Plaza.

Missing was $120 in currency as well as some keys. Police are investigating.

A $120 10 speed bicycle was taken from in front of a residence in the area of 1600 West Lake Drive June 7.

Michigan State Police investigated the breaking and entering of a home on Jamestown Circle Wednesday in which thieves made off with $645 in valuables. The owners, unaware of the robbery, were asleep in another portion of the home.

A neighbor reportedly saw a black van in the parking area near the residence shortly after midnight. The robbery was discovered the next morning when the owners found the screen of the patio door slit and the front door standing open.

Stereo equipment, a color TV, a man's diamond ring and a calculator valued at $1955 were reportedly stolen from an apartment on Inet Court. The victim of the robbery told Michigan State Police he suspected his former roommate of taking the property.

The man further stated he and the roommate were having problems agreeing on apartment expenses with one claiming the other owed money. Apparently the roommate moved out of the apartment without notice, taking the items with him.

Several escapes from the Northville State Hospital were investigated during the past week by Michigan State Police. Those authorities are still seeking a court committed man considered dangerous who left the facility sometime June 8.

Police are also looking for two other men who left the hospital grounds. One, an inmate committed to the hospital from Jackson Prison and described as dangerous, escaped from the facility at mid-day June 10.

A woman inmate at DeHoCo had a third assault and battery charge lodged against her following an altercation in the facility June 11. The inmate, who was being processed following capture from an escape, assaulted a custodial officer several times by kicking.

Two female inmates of DeHoCo escaped the grounds sometime June 9. The two were discovered missing at 7:30 a.m. One of the inmates was serving a sentence for larceny of a building and numerous escapes from prison.

The other was serving 4 1/2 to 5 years for attempted armed robbery and prior prison escapes.

A home under construction on Ripling Lane was vandalized, apparently by juveniles sometime Sunday afternoon. Vandals confined their damage to the interior of the house by smearing glue on the walls in each room and breaking light bulbs broken in an upstairs area.

Footprints were evident on the front room walls as well as scratches to the entire length of a bannister.

Two dirt cycles stolen from a shed at the rear of a Gerald Avenue residence June 5 were recovered June 12 after police received a tip from an unknown citizen.

In Wixom

An Ypsilanti man employed as a foreman at the Automobile Specialty Corporation on Beck Road was arrested Tuesday and charged with two counts of uttering and publishing.

The arrest of Terry Davis followed an extensive investigation headed by Officer David Schwanky of the Wixom Police Department.

According to Schwanky, at least four payroll checks reported missing from the firm employing Davis were found to have been forged and cashed at a bar in Wixom.

Through witness description and handwriting samples, police were able to ascertain that Davis had cashed the checks over a period of several months. Davis was arranged June 9 before District Court Judge Gene Schnell with $2000 personal bond set on each count. Uttering and publishing carries a possible prison sentence of 14 years on each count.

A police car dispatched to direct traffic on the east bound entrance ramp to I-96 at Wixom Road was damaged last week when it was struck by a Detroit Edison pole truck.

Moments before, five gallons of roadway sealer fell from the back of a truck spilling the slippery liquid across the road. The patrolman was directing traffic to protect other motorists from sliding through the goo.

The Edison truck carrying several 90' poles turned right between the patrol unit and guard rail resulting in the tail end of one of the poles striking the side of the car. Damage was done to both side doors and fender of the unit.

Unsafe loading of the vehicle carrying the sealant was determined to be the direct cause of the accident.

A color TV set and Panasonic speakers valued at $600 were taken during a forcible entry to a home on North Wixom Road. The incident occurred between noon and 12:45 p.m. June 6.

A 10-speed bicycle parked in front of the Wixom General Store was reported stolen by a Wixom youngster last week. According to the boy, he parked the bike in front of the store and locked it before entering.

He told police there were several other boys he knew in front of the store who he said told him they were going to take the bike while he was in the store. The bike was gone when the youth came out of the store.

A witness told police he saw one of the boys take the bike and ride, north on Wixom Road. Later in the day, the youngster and his parents drove through the area looking for the bike.

They found the youth in question pulling the bike behind a motorcycle into a field on Potter Road. Repairs to the bicycle were estimated at $151.

An aluminum boat worth $290 was reportedly taken from a cabin located in the Finnish Summer Camp. Owners of the boat told police they had chained the 12' boat to the cabin for winter storage.

At some time between 11:30 p.m. June 8 and 4 a.m. June 9 unknown persons broke into a vehicle parked in the employee parking lot at the Ford Motor Company. Taken in the incident were 18 stereo tapes and a container holding $10 in coins.

Police were advised by the owner that a man told him he was going to break into the van and take the equipment because he had someone to buy it.

A van parked in a driveway on Lamella Street was broken into resulting in a loss of 13 cassette tapes. The owner of the van told police the van had been locked.

The incident occurred sometime between 9 p.m. June 8 and 6 a.m. June 9. At approximately 4 a.m. the owner said he heard noises outside the house but thought nothing of it.

Northville's board of education has decided unanimously to assume full management of the special education program next year after its half-year trial period.

This means that local administrators will continue to be in charge of all details of the program to provide classroom education for institutionalized youngsters.

The program to educate these students in local classrooms is laudable. And since its introduction it has had the full support of this newspaper.

Administration of the program is another matter, however. There's little doubt that Northville could have convinced the Intermediate School District to assume the responsibilities of hiring teachers, negotiating contracts, making purchases, etc., while allowing Northville to continue its classroom involvement with the youngsters at the same level.

But that would have removed local control of a $4 million program.

The board's decision to continue its management role is not disputed. That die has been cast.

But the "moral obligation" argument espoused by Board Vice President Sylvia O. Gucken should not go unchallenged.

It could be effectively argued that the youngsters involved in the program would receive more undivided attention if the system were not burdened by administrative details.

I share Mrs. Gucken's concern for the children. And I would hope that in her position on the board of education she would see to it that every one of the four million dollars passing through the local district finds its way to the benefit of the special education students.

Arrangements are now being completed to establish an investment management trust fund through Manufacturers National Bank to help subsidize rent payments for certain senior citizens residing in the City of Northville's Allen Terrace development.

The council is investigating the possibility of selling perhaps 2½ acres on the northern border of the 11-acre site for private residential use to obtain its first source of funds for the trust.

Later it will appeal to individuals, business and industry for tax-deductible gifts to the trust.

It is the hope that the trust will be sufficient to subsidize a portion of the rent payments of those applicants in the senior citizens' housing development who cannot afford the full rent.

Rental rates, as yet undetermined, will be established at a figure adequate to pay for building bonds and operating costs.

In addition to the trust fund donations the council also plans a local drive for contributions of furnishings of Allen Terrace.

The 100 one-bedroom unit facility is scheduled for ground breaking this fall. Construction time is estimated at from 10 to 12 months.

Allen Terrace, named for long-time Mayor A. M. Allen, and located on the hillside along the wooded High Street area, is an outstanding project for a small city.

Northville's council and its housing commission deserve to be commended for the progress it is making in this important community addition.

Speaking for Myself Kensington Theme Park?

SALLY A. YORK

GOOD . . .

The public's demand for more and varied kinds of recreation has increased rapidly in the last few years. The Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority has consistently attempted to keep pace with this demand, even though revenue decreased because of higher costs.

The 25 year lease of 100 acres in Kensington Park to a private firm for the development of a children's farm and antique village is an attempt to meet these needs in an inflated economy.

There has been talk for some time of an amusement type development along the Novi-Wixom I-696 corridor. Some of the proposals seem questionable and could result in developments destined to exploit the public economically and in the long run create lower land values. Local governments have the power to regulate such developments.

At present there is little evidence to show that the private or public sector has any desire to insure long-term quality growth. Throughout the corridor the landscape is riddled with 3rd rate developments approved by local governments in their scramble for the immediate tax dollar.

This fact is epitomized by the ugly, insensitive, monument to man's greed that overlooks Kensington Park from the south side of I-696.

The H.C.M.A. has shown broad vision in their planning and has established a well deserved reputation for quality development and management. As a naturalist I'm sorry to see the natural character of the park chipped away. I question the method of choosing the private firm as well as the wisdom of a village as part of the initial plan.

But given the restrictions of economics and the desire to please the public I believe H.C.M.A. has shown that it is a government agency that can guide and control a facility that will be an enjoyable and educational asset to the citizens of South Eastern Michigan.

James A. Lahde

BAD . . .

The theme park at Kensington Metropark may be a good idea, but I believe it should be run by the Park Authority, so that the revenue and the control stay with the Park Authority.

This property was purchased with tax monies and the taxpayers are entitled to see that the property is used to the best interest of their taxes.

Private enterprise will be realizing the profit and the Park Authority will be responsible for the patrolling, the litter and the damages, if any, done to the property.

I also feel that when a use such as this is proposed for tax supported property the people who are paying for it, the taxpayer, should have a say if they want this type of project or not.

I don't believe they should wake up one morning and find that it is there, and there is nothing they can do about it.

If you're thinking of taking up fishing, you'd better add up your stamina, patience and pocketbook first. Contrary to what you may have heard fishing is no piker's sport.

It requires the patience of Job, the finesse of Fidyeh, the muscles of Namath, and the bankroll to match.

I once knew an old millionaire fishing-plug manufacturer who bragged that he had invented the world's best tune-up for the angler. He hired an attractive secretary, then had a series of monkey bars installed along the ceiling from his office to hers.

Once daily he would psych himself up for the chase, then clamber hand over hand from office to office trying to catch her, never allowing his feet to touch the ground.

"She's more elusive than a walleye," he would tell his friends. "But someday I'll catch her. Meanwhile, I'm keeping in splendid shape."

Not all of us are so fortunate.

We carry our flab to lake or stream and expect to use soft muscles and minds to make the big catch in a thimble of time and to return home bragging about our prowess. Except on rare occasion of dumb luck, our best catches are colds and poison ivy.

I have fallen into the Huron River, become helplessly mired in the muck of Child's Lake, and hooked a suspender on a Two Hearted limb while retrieving a line and battling bees.

The Muskegon River has claimed my tackle box, Crooked Lake has swallowed up my best lightweight rod and reel, and Lake Opeongo bears have stolen my bait.

The strip mines of southeastern Ohio have wilted my patience, the Little Carp of northwestern Michigan has totally exhausted my strength, storm tossed waves of Lake St. Clair have sapped my adrenalin, and Lake Michigan...

Ah, yes, Lake Michigan. It's the water of setting suns and rising tempers. It's the ideal place to get boils on your posterior and blisters on your proboscis at the same time. More anglers have succumbed to heat prostration and boredom on Michigan than sailors who have slid to her bottom.

French-fried bait would be more filling than the lake trout most of us have pulled from her waters.

Yup, fishing is all of these.

But it's also couched in unending hope. And fortunately for us, the fisherman's ego can be sustained here in our backyard.

Give me a youngster, a boat and a crack at nearby Kent Lake and I'll show you an ecstasy that can turn the lowly crappie into a fighting tiger.

Late Attack on Lemon Unfair

To the Editor:

It is very unfortunate that Mary Kelly wrote her letter last week attacking Tim Lemon. It is also unfortunate that this newspaper chose to print the letter just prior to the election rather than after. It is obvious that Mrs. Kelly's letter was intended to influence the outcome of the election without allowing time for rebuttal. Her quotations and interpretations were, in my opinion, inaccurate and taken out of context.

For example, her objections to the statements made about "splinter groups" were not a reflection of what I heard. We have always had groups who disagree with board opinion—God bless them, we should always have them but I think they should try to be constructive in nature rather than destructive. This is what I heard Tim say.

Tim did not at any time say there were no problems at the high school. He did say that the Citizens Advisory Committee told the people that there would be 205 sections taught at the high school but there are going to be 213 this year. In fact I heard Tim say there were problems that had to be faced at all levels in our educational system. Everyone in our community knows there are problems especially board members and knowledgeable candidates such as Tim.

Contrary to what Mrs. Kelly stated, I believe the CAC was very instrumental in helping to pass the millage. They spent a great deal of their time and effort disseminating information that was obtained through independent study.

Mrs. Kelly's inference that Mr. Lemon was not knowledgeable about the educational conditions in our community was also inaccurate. As far as real information about facts and figures of what presently exists I would say he was one of the most knowledgeable because of his involvement in CAC. We all have opinions about what the school system should be and I think that many of the candidates reflected on their feelings about those opinions.

I must give Mrs. Kelly credit for being sure to see that her inaccurate and, I believe, vindictive statements were made just prior to the

Readers Speak: Girls State Week Standards High

To the Editor:
The Lloyd H. Green Unit No. 147 of the American Legion was very proud to see ten (10) local area girls leave Saturday June 12, 1976 for their annual Girls State Week held at Olivet College. Primarily an Auxiliary program, with the assistance of local interested organizations and businesses the number of girls sent has risen in the past years from three to ten.

In reference to a letter published last week in the Record, I think it should be made perfectly clear to all that there are rigid standards set forth by the American Legion Auxiliary Girls State Committee and these rules are placed in the hands of Northville and Novi High School Counselors to aid them in their selection of qualified girls. Sadly enough there are more girls qualified and desirous of attending the program than there are sponsors and there are bound to be disappointed girls. The final selection is left entirely to the discretion of the local sponsor. There is nothing done underhandedly and only qualified girls are chosen. Perhaps their own small way of writing remarks they were not sure of will indicate to some of these girls why they were not chosen to attend a program of this caliber. It might even stimulate more interest in the program and encourage new sponsors for next year, I hope so. Cheryl Pohlman Unit No 147 Girls State Chairman

Girls Explain

To the Editor:
We, Laurie Day, Cathy Foust, and Peggy Sitarski, are writing in regard to the letter on Girls State which was printed in the Record last week. Our names had been removed from that letter and should not have been printed. None of us had any part in the composition of the letter, and after having signed it, we realized that it did not express our exact feelings.

We hope no one thought we were knocking Girls State; we all feel it is a wonderful program. We also hope our sponsors know how much we appreciate their sending us, and hope no one thought otherwise.

However, we do feel that in order for full benefit to be derived from the Girls State program, more information on the applicants should be given to the sponsoring groups so that they may choose the best qualified girl as their representative.

Thank you again to our sponsors. We are proud to be the 1976 Girls State Representatives.

Sincerely yours,

EDITOR'S NOTE—The three signers of the above letter informed The Record in writing that they wished to have their names removed from the letter concerning Girls State that was published last week. The Record regrets that it erred in not deleting the signatures. We apologize to the young ladies.

Aid Lauded

To the Editor:
The Northville Jaycees, on May 22, 1976, held Project Concern's Walk For Mankind. We would not have been able to have a successful Walk if it wasn't for the cooperation of several individuals and community groups in Northville. We would especially like to thank two CB groups who provided constant radio communications on the day of the Walk, the Longhorns and Big N, Northville Downs and Multi-Feed Corporation for the use of their facilities, all of the organizations in Northville which manned checkpoints, the 6,477 individuals who sponsored the walkers, the 670 walkers of which 570 completed the 22 miles, the Northville Public Schools, A & W Rootbeer for refreshments served walkers, and finally the Northville Record, which provided excellent coverage of the Walk.

Without the cooperation of the above individuals and groups, and various other people in the Northville community, the Northville Jaycees would have been unable to have a successful Walk in 1976. Again, thank you.

'Fair Stand'

To the Editor:
This is being written before the results of the School Board election are known, even though—if you publish it—it will appear in print following the election.

I simply want you to know that, as a candidate for the Board, I am very appreciative of the non-endorsement stand your paper took editorially, which I felt was fair to all candidates under the circumstances, and of the extensive and accurate coverage you gave the League of Women Voters and American Association of University Women's jointly-sponsored candidates night in your last issue.

Regardless of the election results, I hope you will continue to give extensive coverage to school affairs in

Refutes Terrasi

To the Editor:
By the time you can read this the school board elections will be over. I am writing this in response to Mr. Terrasi's unfounded accusations.

Mr. Terrasi, why weren't your accusations stated on candidates night or printed in The Record early enough before the elections so they could be responded to, and Great Galaxies, where did you get your facts?

The people deserve better than back-stabbing accusations from their school board candidates.

I suggest if you want the facts turn back to the fact sheet. Although some points in it could be contested it is generally correct. I could not say as much for Mr. Terrasi's "facts!"

News From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Representative

For several years now bills have been introduced and debated in Lansing to provide some type of state compensation to victims of crime. I don't think anyone can dispute the need to do something for crime victims because all crime from a simple burglary to major crimes such as rape, assault, and murder are usually traumatic experiences which cause financial hardship to the victim as well.

A new crime compensation bill, Senate Bill 4, is being debated by the House right now and the arguments center around the method of compensation and who should get compensated rather than the concept of compensating crime victims.

The present bill provides that a victim of a crime can not collect if the perpetrator was a member of the victim's own family. This provision caused a furor on the House floor, with opponents charging that the bill thus "condoned child abuse and wife beating" and that "a woman's medical bills are just as much whether she is beaten by her husband or by a stranger." Those in favor of the provision said that some people would become "professional victims," claiming frequently that they were injured by their spouses. Likewise parents could claim that they were the victims of thefts from their children.

An amendment sponsored by Representatives Tom Anderson of Southgate and Bela Kennedy of Bangor, which passed the House 87 to 10, in my opinion improves the bill.

Representative Kennedy said he agrees that crime victims should be compensated but feels that compensation should come from the committer of the crime whenever possible.

The amendment allows a judge to require the person convicted of the crime to repay the state general fund the amount of compensation given to the victim. In other words, the victim would be compensated by the state and the criminal would have to repay the state. Under the Anderson-Kennedy amendment this requirement may be in lieu of any jail sentence but in conjunction with probation or a suspended sentence.

In any case the court would retain jurisdiction over the convicted criminal and if he or she failed to make proper payments to the state, an alternative sentence could be imposed.

I hope we can keep this amendment in the bill as it progresses through the legislature. It will reduce the cost of any crime victims' compensation program by the amount the state is able to recover from the crime committers. Of course, as we debate the bill, it is next to impossible to determine how much such a program would cost since it depends on how many crimes are committed in Michigan—and how many of the perpetrators are caught.

'Cuts Unfair'

To the Editor:
I believe that the meeting held on Thursday, June 10 between the High School Teachers, Parents and representatives of the Administration left almost everyone with the realization that the High School Program is indeed being cut to unsatisfactory levels. It seems a shame that more parents and Board members weren't there!

I feel as do many others that the School Board should not put ninth grade into the two Middle Schools because this is what is causing the cutbacks in the remaining classes at the High School and because the ninth graders will be shortchanged.

I also feel as do many others that the year round (ESY) school program at the High School should be dropped as soon as possible.

Based on what the teachers told us at this meeting we are headed for disaster and I believe them!

Please reconsider your position on these matters at your meeting on June 14 and put together a program for September which will not lead to such chaos and lack of basic course offerings and crowded classrooms.

Sincerely yours,
Nate Whiteside

My statements in this letter will not help Tim win an election but, I hope they will help to vindicate his ability and character. He demonstrated his willingness to work hard and spend time on behalf of this district. I am sure this is one thing that Mrs. Kelly failed to consider.

Since this is written prior to the outcome of the election, I personally want to thank you Tim for the time, effort and personal sacrifice that you expended in your efforts to help the school district pass a much needed millage whether you are elected or not.

Grade Restructuring to Stand

Continued from Record, 1 (ESY) program at the high school. Insufficient numbers of students involved in the program, he suggested, could dilute the overall curriculum offerings.

Furthermore, ESY at the middle school level, Apap and others suggested, could similarly work to the disadvantage of good economic and educational programming. Not only will ESY split the middle school staffing and program offerings, but the fact that two middle schools will be used means, he noted, that such programming will be split four ways: an ESY and standard (TSY) program in each of the two schools.

During the reports by building administrators, High School Principal Michael Tarpinian admitted that programming for next fall is less than ideal, but he stressed that it "is the best under the circumstances." Those circumstances, he pointed out, include limited allotment of teachers.

Each department, he said, could use more staff and more sections, "but our hands are tied."

The principal pointed out that maintaining across the board desirable pupil-teacher ratios is impossible because in certain classes, such as vocational subjects, the district must retain lower pupil-teacher ratios in order to qualify for funding. These lower ratios for vocational subjects, he explained, means other classes necessarily must have higher pupil-teacher ratios.

He said the high school is shooting for an over-all pupil-teacher ratio of 30 to 1 next fall, with a projected enrollment of 1216 students, 213 sections and 42½ equated teachers. In some cases the pupil-teacher ratio will exceed 30-1, others will be short of it.

At the middle school level, Principal David Longridge reported that of the 47 teachers allotted for two middle schools, 24 of them will be stationed at Cooke, 23 at Meads Mill. Projected enrollments are 550 and 502, respectively.

In the areas of math and English, ninth graders will receive "about the same" as they receive now in curriculum offerings at the high school, he said. The social studies area evokes some concerns, but the greatest problem, he said, appears to be in the area of science.

French and German are to be offered next fall in the middle school, but Spanish will be missing.

Despite public criticism, Longridge said he sees a "solid academic program" at the middle school level next fall, with predictions of some problems in the area of electives such as shop for ESY students.

Donahue urged the board to consider an additional English teacher at the high school.

During board discussion of the restructuring, Trustee Dr. Robert Mandell reminded those who voiced concern about implementation of the 3-3-6 structure that it has not yet been implemented and that therefore some of the criticism is unjustified. The public, he pointed out, has demanded accountability so far as tax dollars are concerned, and that the board has taken cost into consideration in planning for the switch.

Board Secretary Karen Wilkinson said she can empathize with teacher concerns at the high school, but on the other hand she as a board member must take into consideration an overall view of the total school system — elementary through high school.

Mrs. Wilkinson promised that expressed concerns in specific areas will be investigated in search for solutions.

Board Vice-President Sylvia Gucken reiterated Longridge's challenge, asserting "Let's get it together." She pointed to a recent "fact sheet" put out by some parents and teachers relative to the high school situation and argued that while the material may have been well-meaning it was, in some instances, totally without foundation.

Throughout board discussion, members and administrators emphasized that modifications and adjustments will be made in the program as they become economically and educationally advisable.

South Lyon. A Rosary was said at Phillips Funeral Home in South Lyon on Tuesday evening. The family has requested that memorial gifts be made to the South Lyon Ambulance Service.

WILLIAM G. SMITH, SR.

William G. Smith, Sr., 58, a Northville Township resident, died Monday at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey, Michigan, after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at Church of the Holy Cross in Novi with the Reverend Father Leslie Harding officiating. Cremation will be at Evergreen Crematory.

Mr. Smith, who came to the community four and a half years ago from Detroit, was co-owner of Rex Sales Company, Incorporated, of Walled Lake, a distributor of auto parts.

He was a veteran of the U.S. Navy Seabees of World War II and a member of Holy Cross church.

It is suggested that memorials may be sent to this church or to St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Crystal Falls, Michigan.

Mr. Smith was born January 10, 1918, in Detroit to Dudley and Mayme (Petrequin) Smith. He married Mary Crawford, who survives, on September 6, 1941.

Other survivors include his son, Father William G. Smith, Jr., of Crystal Falls; a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Linda) Abernathy of Westland; a sister, Mrs. Raymond (Jane) Ensinger of Farmington; a brother, Jack S. Smith of Detroit; and seven grandchildren.

Mr. Smith was the father-in-law of Mrs. Bette Smith and Robert Abernathy. A brother, Dudley, preceded him in death.

Arrangements are being made by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home in Northville.

French and German are to be offered next fall in the middle school, but Spanish will be missing.

Despite public criticism, Longridge said he sees a "solid academic program" at the middle school level next fall, with predictions of some problems in the area of electives such as shop for ESY students.

He praised on-going curriculum studies of the Northville system, but he "editorialized" by asserting that "the community has got to stop its fighting and start pulling together." He urged citizens, faculty and students to forget personalities, to stop their continual bickering, and to "have faith in the system."

Concerning Longridge's comment, Apap said that to stand aside and not voice concern when potentially harmful educational ills are noted would be unwise — hence his public complaints.

At the elementary school level, Principal Donald Van Ingen projected a total enrollment of 1,069 ESY students and 1,030 TSY students next fall. He noted that 85½ teachers have been allotted for four elementary schools — Amerman, Moraine, Silver Springs and Winchester.

Overall, he indicated an improvement in the elementary program. He said, however, that the number of librarians are to be reduced from three to two, with one of them returning to the classroom. Addition of library aides should offset this reduction, he added.

The program for sixth graders will vary slightly from school to school, Van Ingen said.

Among others who voiced concern about the planned grade restructuring was John Donahue, an English teacher, who said it will mean fewer opportunities for students in English. Some sophomores will be shortchanged, he warned, and some students will be forced to take English courses beneath their learning levels.

Northville Sophs Score High on Test

This year for the first time all 10th graders at Northville High School were given the National Education Development Tests.

Counselor RoseMarie Forsythe reports that the school is pleased with the results as 38 students tested in the top 10 percent nationally on the tests. More than 300 were tested.

The tests covered areas of English usage, mathematics usage, social studies reading, natural science reading and word usage.

The 38 students cited received certificates at the annual honors program at the high school June 2.

Bookwalter, Cher Bourne, Cindy Bull, Laura Butler, Andrea Cook, Kimberly DeRusha, Cynthia Echols, John Eltinge, Joyce Gensley, Michael Haval, Jeff Hill, Elaine Himman, Marc Hooth, Lorraine Hopping, Christopher Hoyle.

Others are Kurt Kastner, Diane Kleckner, Linda Korody, Kurt Kratz, Steve Laffler, Jim Lennox, Karin Lotarski, Karen Magdich, Julia McDaniel, Scott McMillin, Brian Odom.

Also, Steve Pyett, Kathleen Settles, Randy Sharp, Wendy Thomas, Robert Vallance, Krystn VanRenterghem, Amy Vargo, Steve Whitaker, Glen Wilson, William Winters and Judith Zimmerman.

Holly Is Offering Trip Back into 19th Century

By DENNIS KEENON

Climb aboard Dr. Henry Raskin's time machine and take a trip back to the 19th century when Holly, a small community in northwestern Oakland County bustled with activity.

The first stop will be Battle Alley. In the 1800's Holly became the first major railroad junction in Michigan, with more than 200 trains passing through the village each day.

Trains brought people, and soon a row of saloons popped up along what was then known as Martha Street. Brawls and free-for-alls among railroaders and teamsters became routine.

In 1880, one such brawl between local rowdies and a traveling circus troupe was so intense that townspeople renamed Martha Street, "Battle Alley."

Battle Alley's infamous reputation was further heightened in 1908 with a visit by Carry Nation, the temperance leader known as the "Kansas City Saloon Smasher," who gave a speech on the evils of demon rum at the opera house and then led more than 100 townspeople on a bottle bashing spree through the bars along the street.

That was Battle Alley then. Today, due to the efforts of Dr. Raskin, a veterinarian, buildings along Battle Alley, a narrow, one-block-long street, have been restored to reflect their 19th century character.

Dr. Raskin is chief spokesman for restoration. "Two and a half years ago, the downtown area had a hang-dog look about it," he said. "One building was boarded up and there was just no character to the area."

In 1973 Dr. Raskin purchased what is now the Battle Alley Arcade to use as a reception hall for weddings and parties. That venture, he admits, wasn't a roaring success.

"At the time, Battle Alley was inactive, stagnate, there was nothing happening along the street," Dr. Raskin said. "Then we got the idea to put a couple shops in and restore my building to the way it was in the 1800's."

What Dr. Raskin calls "restoration fever" spread to other businessmen along Battle Alley, and they, too, refurbished their buildings.

In fact, Dr. Raskin would like to see the "fever" infect the entire Holly downtown area, including businesses along Saginaw Street, the village's main thoroughfare.

"I'd like to see all businesses in the downtown area restored to their 19th century architectural charm," Dr. Raskin said. "Eliminate those stick-out signs from buildings. And I'd like to see no parking in the downtown area and the creation of a park here with grass and trees and benches for shoppers."

Dr. Raskin said that 20 new specialty shops have opened along Battle Alley as a result of his restoration efforts, all following the 19th century theme that he preaches.

Activity along Battle Alley centers around Dr. Raskin's own building, the Arcade, which in its checkered history has served as a bordello, a sweet shop, casket factory, glass company and home of the Liberty Theater.

Today the Arcade is the most unique building along Battle Alley. Large copper gas lamps from the approach to the London Bridge front the Arcade.

Walk inside the Arcade and you're in another world, a 19th century village re-created by Dr. Raskin, complete with a winding street of log-rounds through the heart of the building and authentic facades from the period that serve as fronts for the Arcade's various gift, craft and antique shops.

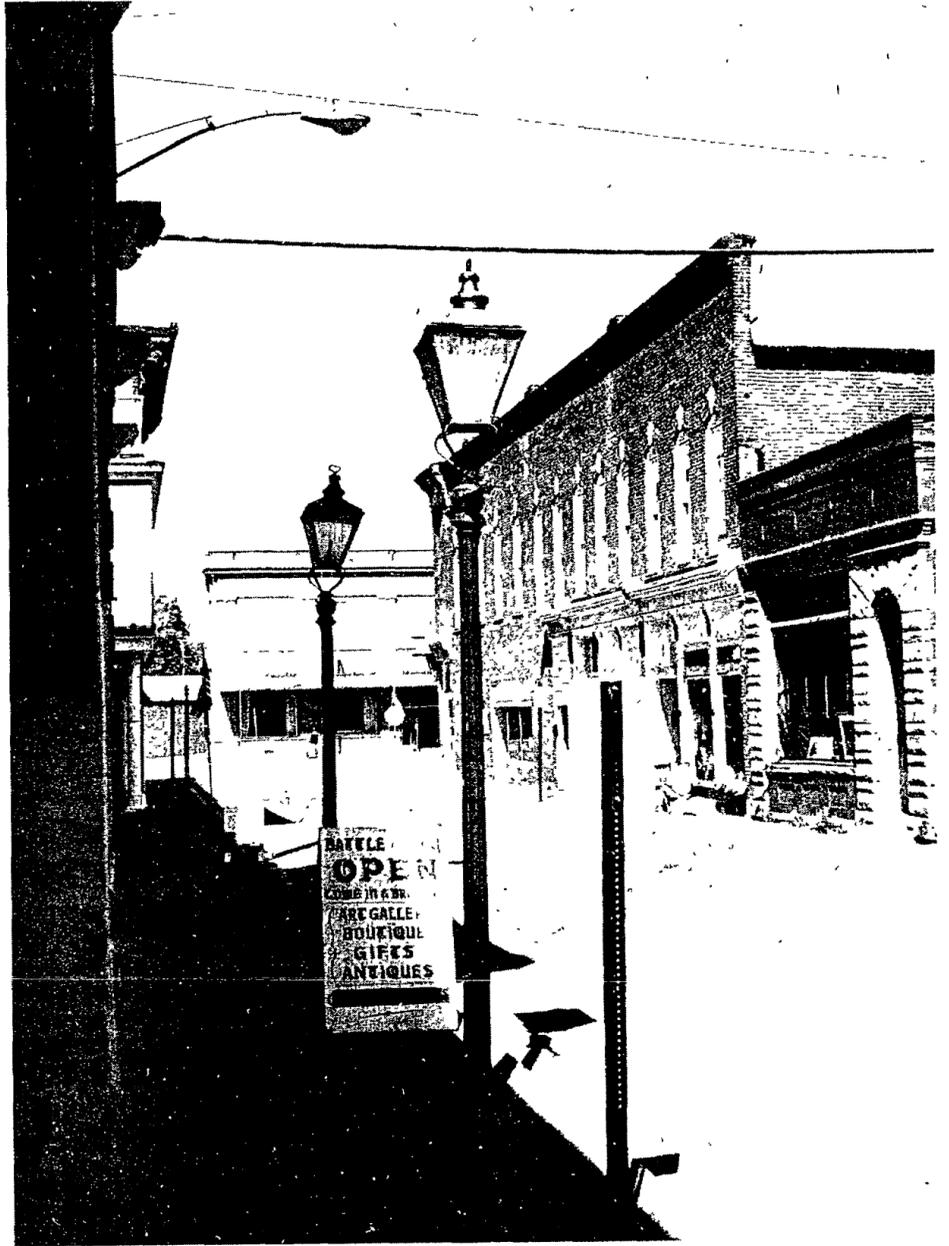

The "village" even has a town square with cafe tables where shoppers can sit and eat snacks from the Alley Deli, which doesn't, Dr. Raskin jokes, "serve 19th century sandwiches."

"We want to give the illusion that you're walking into the past," Dr. Raskin said. "We even have women who own some of the shops wearing long dresses from the period."

Dr. Raskin has gone to great lengths to provide authentic-looking storefronts.

One facade is made from the original house of Vera Husted, one of Holly's early settlers in 1834. The window shades from the old Lapeer County courthouse are used on another storefront, and the

Mr. Kirkby Bound for England

Methodist Pastors Swap Pulpits

July Fourth will be a special Bicentennial Sunday for Brighton's Pastor Kearney Kirkby — but not because of festivities at his home church or around the community.

On that day, Mr. Kirkby will deliver his first sermon at the Methodist church in Crownhill, near Plymouth, England, as part of a seven-week minister's exchange program.

At the pulpit at the local First United Methodist Church the same seven weeks will be the Reverend Eddie Fairbeard from the Crownhill church.

Mr. Kirkby is one of 66 ministers participating in the World Methodist Council's exchange program this year.

Methodist ministers from around the world will trade pulpits, parish responsibilities, and living quarters this summer.

This is the third exchange for Mr. Kirkby and his wife, Esther.

In 1966, they left their church at Wyandotte for Belfast, Northern Ireland. In 1970, they traded places from Saginaw with a Methodist minister from St. Helier, Isle of Jersey in the Channel Islands.

Crownhill's Mr. Fairbeard will arrive here with his wife, Anne, a teacher, and their two children, Michael, 12, and Katharine, 10. They will live in the Methodist parsonage at 324 East Grand River.

A native of Plymouth, Mr. Fairbeard was schooled at Richmond College in London. His major interests have been youth work and social science subjects. He has been active in scouting and is chairman of a selective secondary school near Plymouth.

He'll preach each Sunday through August 15 at 10 a.m., and on Wednesday evenings at 7:30.

Community groups interested in scheduling Mr. Fairbeard for programs should contact the church office at 229-8561 or church member Stuart Leach at 229-2432.

paid $2,000 to an antique dealer in Pennsylvania for old-time barbershop decor.

"I've picked up materials for the facades from all over the country and from the general area, including Holly, Davisburg, Flint and Fenton," Dr. Raskin said. "When Fenton tore up its downtown area for urban renewal, we got some authentic pieces then."

Not too long ago, Dr. Raskin acquired four stone gargoyles, weighing 200 pounds apiece, from a high school in Pontiac that was being torn down. The gargoyles now oversee Battle Alley, perched over the entrance of the Arcade.

"We're still in the stages of improving the village in the Arcade and refining storefronts," Dr. Raskin said.

His current project for Battle Alley involves the Bicentennial emblem and Liberty Bell.

"We're going to brick in the Bicentennial emblem in the street of Battle Alley," Dr. Raskin explained. "We're designing the emblem in accordance with Washington specifications and I've got two masons helping with the design. It will encompass a 20 by 60 foot area."

"Later we want to do the same thing with the Liberty Bell and eventually brick the entire street."

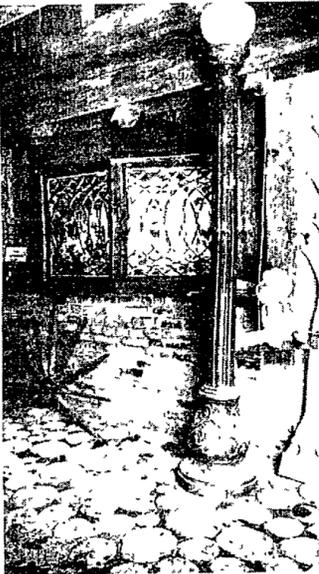

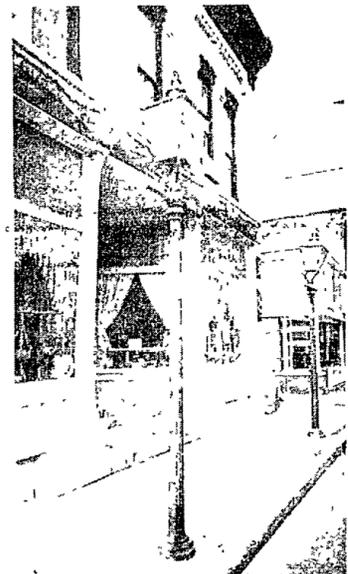

Dr. Raskin says he's satisfied with the progress that's been made with Battle Alley. It's received excellent media coverage, he said, and tourists are beginning to hear about it.

"We don't want to hurry the pace here, I want to slow it down," he explained. "We want to go back a step in time to a more pleasant, leisurely environment."

"There's nothing here that represents the modern. Our building represents yesterday. There aren't too many 19th century villages left. We're proving that they can be preserved."

Garden Insecticides

Before Killing Off Bugs Be Sure They Are Pests

By KATHY COPLEY

Seedlings are emerging, transplants are getting a firm foothold, and bugs are beginning to stalk the vegetable garden. Because of their ease of use and effectiveness, most gardeners rely on chemicals to control insect infestations.

An entire arsenal is not required for effective insect control. Nor is it necessary to endanger children, pets, or beneficial insects by the judicious use of insecticides.

A going-in assumption should be that it is unreasonable to eliminate all insects from a garden. Not only would this kill beneficial insects like bees, but it would eliminate a large portion of the diet of numerous species of birds. Keeping insects under control is not the same as eliminating them.

There are several good broad spectrum insecticides on the market which have low levels of toxicity. These levels are determined by studying their effectiveness against specific insects, their toxicity to fish, birds, common household pets, and humans; and their residual effect.

This last quality is especially important in insecticides used on food products. A product like malathion is immediately effective but, once it is taken into the plant through the roots, lasts only a matter of days. This means that, while it would be dangerous to eat beans freshly sprayed with malathion, in a week there are no remaining harmful effects on humans. Other insecticides which are generally considered highly toxic (lead arsenate, lindane, heptachlor) are dangerous to humans for quite a while after their use.

Most of the common garden pests can be controlled by any one of the following pesticides with low toxicity: carbaryl (Sevin), malathion, methoxychlor, pyrethrum (an organic insecticide), and tetradifon.

Many commercial dusts and sprays are formulated with several of the above insecticides so that they are certain of effectiveness against all bothersome bugs, but it is not wise for amateurs to try to mix these products. In some cases they may not be chemically compatible, with the mixing of two chemicals yielding a third chemical which is not effective or may even be dangerous.

When using insecticides, also read the label directions carefully. They should include information on the number of days which should elapse between spraying and harvesting. (For malathion, beans can be harvested the day after spraying, brussel sprouts should not be harvested for a week.)

The label should also say whether the product is safe for use near streams or ponds (Roteone is highly toxic to fish.)

While the directions generally give some leeway for safe use, the improper use of insecticides can be as best, harmful, and possibly even fatal.

TWO AREA youngsters have won prizes in the fourth annual U-Haul U-Color contest. They are Jonathan Quirk, 5, of 360 Fairbrook Court, Northville, who took a second prize backpack, and Greg Aufschlager, 7, of 20300 Spears Road, Pinckney, who won an honorable mention parchment certificate.

The contest, open to the children of U-Haul dealers and U-Haul Company employees, called for children to color a cartoon and write or draw their own ideas about do-it-yourself moving in America's history.

Jonathan's father is employed at Ever-Joy Rent All in Detroit, and Greg is the son of a U-Haul Company employee.

What is political pie? It is a lot of crust with applesauce and plums
"Why did they provide the Capitol with a rounda?"

"Well, I'm glad only one can be elected."

The Dreamer

The saying is that all good things Will come to those who wait. Do not, by impatience, deter The cautious Hands of Fate.

No wishing or no strong desire Can prod the Powers that Be, For all events in Life's mainstream Are wrapped in Destiny.

The Dreamer sees the world around In glasses colored rose Oblivious, he is, of all Except for dreams he cose.

"The Practical offend thee not, Oh Man of higher thought, Life's "little things" ne'er pass thee by When deeper means are sought."

Fate probes the minds of those who dream And wishes oft come true. Because Dreamers are Inventors Of the beautiful and new.

Dream on, my friend, someday you'll find The Stars have sealed your fate, For patience is rewarded In the hearts of those who wait.

Johanna M. Cafolla

Bit of Spring

Dandelion blossoms Lift your merry heads, In the fields and gardens, In the flower beds.

Little pats of yellow Polka dot the ground, What would spring be like If you were not around?

Isabelle Spooner

Hangar Flying

When the ceiling is low, And we can't see a mile, We'll head for the office And rap for a while. With a coffee or two And a few bags of chips, A bundle of stories Will pass by our lips. We'll learn from each other, And our knowledge will grow, As we rap in "bad weather" 'Bout the things that we know. And with sunshine tomorrow And blue sky all around We'll remember those stories As we lift off the ground.

Anthony Solmen

Awareness

How much beauty can Man consume? How much can he really see? How many times has his heart been stirred By flight of bird and bee?

How many shimmering drops are contained In the Ocean's busy wave?— Or stars in the sky Like diamonds high In the Heavens' expansive cave?

Does he see the night? Does he feel its flight When the morning sun does rise? And every day Know all the way The New Dawn is his prize?

Does he look around Or hear the sound Of a breeze rush through a tree? Or the muted cry Of a dove on high As it wings its way so free?

Will he feel the joy Between girl and boy As their smiles expound their love? Or be aware Of the bond they share That is granted from Above?

And the things of Earth. And a puppy's birth, The emergence of a chick, Are the beauties rare That are always there For a heart whose sense is quick.

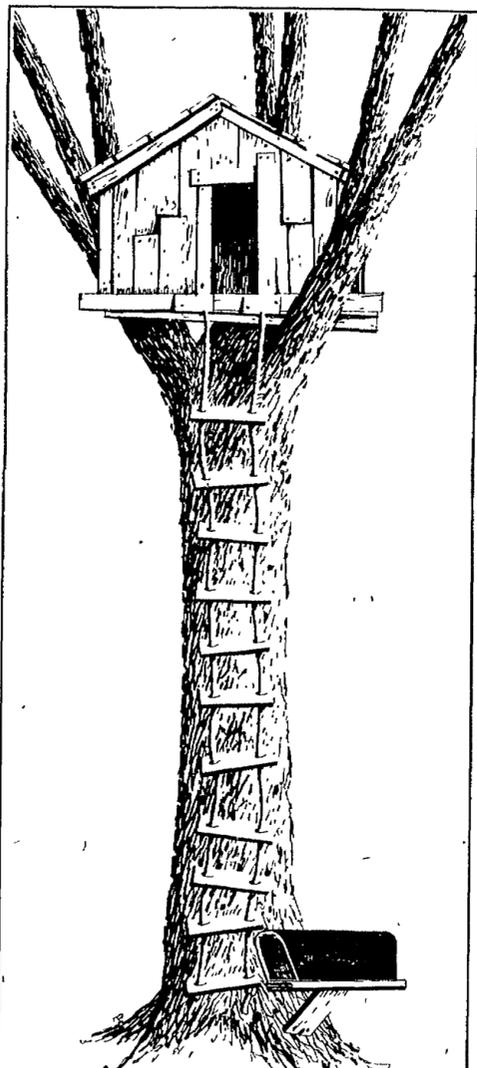

So, how much beauty can Man consume? How much can he really see? How many times has his heart been stirred By flight of bird and bee?

Johanna M. Cafolla

Charlotte's Legacy

The flowering trees she planted
Many years ago;
Magnolia, crabs and apple trees
And bushes all aglow.

With evergreens and spreading shrubs
(And their lilies of the valley),
Forsythia and columbine
And trumpet vine's array.

There are raspberries and lilacs, too,
And roses all around,
Then she fills the garden beds
Where many blooms abound.

Not only does she have her flowers
All along the way—
The good earth gives her bounty
Of its kingdom every day.

She delights in reaping vegetables
From lettuce to potatoes—
Cucumbers, beans and parsnips
And green corn and tomatoes.

In the wondrous world that Charlotte loves,
Her legacy will live,
And in her tender heart as well,
From which she'll ever give.

Worth Weeding

Orange-segment your mind
To cubicles of deeds;
Starter-plant your thoughts
Like new plant seeds;

Once you have cut out
The time-wasting weeds;
Only will you feel
You can meet all your needs.

A Special Gift

To be a friend to someone—
To lend a helping hand—
A shoulder, broad, to lean on—
To always understand.
To "be there" when a person
Is in a state of "need"
And ever all the little signs
Of loneliness to heed.

"Goodness" is a virtue
From deep within the heart.
A smile, though one is weary,
Is a blessing to impart.
A "word" will oftentimes suffice
To calm a troubled mind,
And a friend who's really someone nice
Is a gift of a "special kind."

The line-up
At the pump
Was a parade of colors
In the morning sun—
Each waiting
For fuel
And a pleasant day
Of flight and fun.

Down south—to the farm.
Man and machine
Together as one.

Personality-Plus Rivers

From the Chippewa To Tittabawassee

The Pine, Chippewa and Tittabawassee rivers are central Michigan waterways winding through rolling hills, flat farmlands, forests and major industrial centers, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Each river has its own personality, offering excellent fishing along more than 300 miles of water safe even for novices. These rivers offer less than day-long trips or up to week-long journeys for the adventurous.

Persons who wish to tour sections of the rivers by car also can do so, states Auto Club.

The 110-mile-long Pine River originates in Mecosta County and meanders through five counties before merging with the Chippewa River south of Midland. The Pine is shallow and weedy in summer.

Four to seven days are required to canoe it from Pine Lake to Midland. Those planning a trip on the western half must bring their own craft or rent one at Howard City. There are two canoe liveries at Midland.

Canoeists can launch their craft at Pine Lake or at Milbrook. Other launch sites are at Elm Hall and at the Midland Nature Center.

An interesting variety of one- or two-day trips may be made. For wild, wooded country, start a one-day trip at Pine Lake or Milbrook, ending at Elm Hall.

From Elm Hall, paddle one day along the Pine to Alma through woods and farmlands. Take out at Ely Street in Alma, just above the dam. In this Bicentennial Year, the entire downtown area of Alma has been designated as a historic site by state and national Bicentennial committees.

For a two-day canoe trip on the Pine, start at the dam in St. Louis and parallel Riverside Drive and Pine River Road into Midland. That scenic, 26-mile stretch is equally enjoyable for motorists.

A trip down the 75-mile Chippewa takes three to five days

The main stream of the Chippewa is canoeable from the Winchester Dam at the Martiny Lake Wildlife Flooding Area, where there are five launch points, to the launch point at Barryton and on to Midland, where the Chippewa merges with the Pine and the Tittabawassee.

A four- to five-hour trip can be made from Martiny Lake to Barryton. Day-long trips can be taken from Barryton to Lake Isabella, from Mt. Pleasant west to Lake Isabella, or from Mount Pleasant to Midland.

Mount Pleasant's Island Park, completely surrounded by the river, is the site of two Bicentennial events, Mount Pleasant's Bicentennial Pageant July 4 and the Isabella County Bicentennial Fair Aug. 22-28.

Like the Pine, the Chippewa River has plenty of open and wooded country, but no campgrounds are available west of Midland.

The north branch of the Chippewa River is navigable from the launch point at Evergreen Road in northeast Mecosta County to the main stream at Barryton.

The north branch has two dams to portage, the Winchester Dam at Martiny Lake and at Barryton, where the north and main branches merge. The main stream also has two dams, at Coldwater Lake and at Mount Pleasant.

The Tittabawassee River offers real variety, from the northwoods flavor of its northern extremities in Gladwin County, to the resort atmosphere of Secord, Wixom and Sanford lakes or the flat farmlands approaching Midland and that city's industrial array. Midland has a boat launch site at Emerson Park.

Canoe trips on the Tittabawassee range from a scenic 30-miles which takes one to two days to a 130-mile, four- to seven-day journey extending from the river's northern reaches at Secord Lake to the city of Midland and on to Saginaw, where the Tittabawassee merges with the Saginaw River.

The 30-mile trip is easy and scenic canoeing, starting at Secord Lake, with only short portages around Secord, Smallwood and McKimmey dams. There are several campgrounds along the way, including Secord Lake State Forest Campground and Wildwood State Forest Campground, both on the backwaters of the Tittabawassee.

For those canoeing the river's length, there are also dams at Edenville and the Dow Plant at Midland. M-47 parallels the river much of the way between Midland and Saginaw, offering motorists scenic vistas.

A different perspective of Central Michigan's terrain, which ranges from wild and scenic country to Midland's industrial complex, can be obtained by canoeing the Chippewa, Pine and Tittabawassee rivers. All three rivers can be navigated by novice canoeists since there are no rapids or falls and portages around scattered dams are easy. Less than day-long canoe trips can be taken and sections of the rivers also can be traced by car. To cover the 75-mile portion of the Chippewa shown above, plan three to five days by canoe or a few hours by car along M-20 from Mount Pleasant to west of Midland. Four to seven canoeing days are suggested for the 130-mile stretch of the Tittabawassee or trace a portion in an afternoon by driving M-47 between Midland and Saginaw. Those who cover the 110-mile stretch of the Pine shown need up to a week, while motorists need less than an hour to trace the portion along Pine River Road from St. Louis to Midland. Campgrounds and supplies are available along all three rivers which join at Midland. From Midland, the Tittabawassee River carries the merged waters to the Saginaw River.

A Column About People, Places 'n Things

Got a phone call from a traveler by name of Edwin Carpenter who lives near Brighton. Gist of his half-hour dissertation was the magnificent experience he enjoyed during a two weeks vacation in Sri Lanka.

Apparently he became interested in this island because I devoted an entire column to it last year. He stated the place is even better than I pictured. He told of the money rate of exchange for U.S. dollars that enabled him to cut costs by about 60 percent.

He spent several days in Yala and Wilpattu — two game preserves where he hunted with camera and nets. I asked him why the nets, and he explained that the most beautiful butterflies in all the world are found here and he doubled his collection during this visit.

Ed is 78 years old and he gets very excited telling of his plans to return to Sri Lanka two years from now. Somehow you've got to envy this chap — he's discovered the joy of strange places, different people, and joyous adventure.

Hi-Lites from notes on Africa!

Lonesome for a pizza on your African trip — when in Dakar, Senegal? Then try La Pizzeria or Le Vesavio. They're just like Little Caesars here at home.

In Mauritania, the fishermen have trained dolphins to help them round up their catch.

At the Niger Natona Museum you can actually walk among the more gentle African animals (antelope, giraffe, ostriches, etc). The zoo out on Woodward at Royal Oak ought to give this idea a try.

In Gabon, be sure to visit Lambarene where the mission of late Dr. Albert Schweitzer is located. It's not exactly inspiring, but the tender memories of his noble work hang like an inspiring banner over the little encampment.

In Gabon you can fish for seven-foot long barracudas. Don't fall overboard — these monsters follow the boats for a taste of you.

If you get the chance, spend a day or more crossing the endless sands of the Saharas, it will give you the chance to discover what all of us are searching for — our very selves.

ROBERT A. GREEN has been appointed advertising director for Rymal-Symes Realty Company, it was announced by Conrad B. Jakubowski, president of the rapidly growing firm headquartered in Novi.

In detailing the appointment, Jakubowski cited the need for a centralized administrator to handle the company's growing advertising and publicity needs stemming from a booming sales volume.

The new director will have responsibility for all Rymal-Symes newspaper advertising, both classified and display, as well as collateral materials in the sales and promotion field.

Green's 30-year background in advertising is heavily consumer oriented. An account executive and writer with two agencies, he has worked for many builders and developers of residential properties. One of these was Paul LeBost, well-known for his subdivisions in the Novi area.

Most recently, Green was vice president and account executive at an advertising agency. Those clients include Practical Home Builders and Practical Development Company. In this connection, Green had a major role in promoting Olde Orchard Condominiums and Novi Twenty-Six apartments, as well as other practical properties.

SECURITY BANCORP, Inc., parent company of Security Bank and Trust Company, reported that the sale of its 9 percent Convertible Subordinated Debentures, due 1990, was terminated on June 1, 1976 in accordance with the terms of that offering. As of the termination date, $4,500,000 of the Debentures were sold. The funds have been added to the Company's cash reserves to be used for future needs or programs.

D. SUE COE, noted business and civic leader has been elected president of the Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce. Ms. Coe is an accountant for Commerce Engineering and Pattern Company in Walled Lake.

Other officers include: Vice President, David Ladd, branch manager of Community National Bank in Wixom; and treasurer, Allan R. Holdridge, sr. analyst, corporate systems, Ex-Cell-O Corporation of Walled Lake.

Directors elected to the board were Robert J. Singer, attorney; Ralph Goddard, president of Goddard Agencies and Robert H. Carey, owner, The Carey Company, all located in Walled Lake.

Recently the Walled Lake Area Chamber of Commerce and the Wixom Chamber of Commerce merged to become a stronger organization as the result of a larger membership.

The area of the new chamber has been enlarged to include Commerce Township, Wolverine Lake and the greater Union Lake business district.

A seven-hour membership drive held at Duffy's in Union Lake, Monday June 14, is expected to increase membership by 100 new members. The affair is being underwritten by 11 area businessmen that felt the retail, industrial and professional communities in the area would respond to the opportunity to organize.

Minstrels to perform at Northville Square

COUNTRY ROAD MINSTRELS are coming to Northville Square Shopping Center at 133 West Main street in Downtown Northville at 2 p.m. this Saturday, June 19, to entertain youngsters. There is no admission charge for the fun-making show.

The minstrels are 12 people with varied talents who have been performing together for a year under the direction of Jim King. They explain that they have created a children's show that is entertaining and educational. It expresses their beliefs that there is educational potential in drama, music and art and that young people should be encouraged to participate.

"Youthful imaginations," they point out, "can be stimulated in positive, creative ways" for "life is a surprise and gift, not a technological achievement and that a celebration of life, creating an environment of play, fantasy and surprise is the best way to teach children what is vital, genuine and ultimate."

The minstrels, all from Livonia, include King, who writes and acts as well as directs; Mary King, musician, actress and vocalist; Tom King, musician, actor and comedian; Shell King, musician, vocalist; Bryan Greenburg, escape artist, comedian; Jim Quinlan, actor, stage manager; Bill Sadowski, musical director; Jane Sadowski, Tom Shilakes, Rick Vance and Ron Miller, vocalists.

To bring a spirit of joy to their audiences the minstrels paint their faces white and add friendly details.

How Arm & Hammer Baking Soda helps maintain your pool's ideal pH and helps keep your water crystal clear.

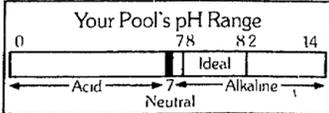

The 2 most important rules for easy pool care.

The most important rule to remember about pool care is to use a chlorinating product.

Recommended usage: Maintain a minimum chlorine level of 1.0 ppm Free Residual (Available) Chlorine

The second most important rule to remember is to maintain the proper pH. And here's where Baking Soda goes to work. Baking Soda is a natural acid neutralizer and buffering agent which helps maintain pool pH at an ideal range of 7.8 to 8.2. This helps keep eyes from burning. And Baking Soda even helps improve water clarity—keeping your pool water crystal clear.

Recommended usage: Add 1 lb. of Baking Soda per 10,000 gallons of water each week during active pool season. Add a chlorinating product as needed.

If pH reaches 8.2, you can discontinue weekly use of Baking Soda and use only as necessary to maintain a pH within 7.8 to 8.2. Do not use Acid. If cloudiness occurs, run filter (keeping it clean) until pool water clears.

How Baking Soda helps keep the water clear

Your pool water is filled with tiny particles too small for your filter to remove. Some of these particles make the water cloudy. Baking Soda causes the smallest particles to become attached to larger ones which are then easily filtered out of the water. The result is crystal clear water. If cloudiness occurs when you add Baking Soda, run the filter (keeping it clean), until pool water clears.

How Baking Soda helps keep eyes from burning

When eyes sting or burn and chlorine odors can be detected from the pool water, the problem is usually one of low pH. A low pH promotes the formation of irritating chlorine-nitrogen by-products. The best way to minimize the formation of these irritating by-products is to control the pH of your pool water.

"Arm & Hammer Baking Soda is a pool owner's best friend!"

By maintaining your pool's pH with Baking Soda, you automatically adjust the pH of your pool water into the ideal range of 7.8 to 8.2. As a result, eye irritation is kept to a minimum.

6 Rules for Pool Maintenance

1. Test water daily.
2. Daily chlorine measurements should be taken to assure proper germicidal activity. Free Residual (Available) Chlorine should be 1.0 ppm or above.
3. Maintain pH between 7.8 and 8.2. Once every week during active pool season use 1 lb. of Arm & Hammer Baking Soda for every 10,000 gallons of water.
4. Check filter regularly. Clean when necessary.
5. Check water hardness monthly, particularly in hard water areas. High water hardness may cause scaling. If total water hardness (as calcium carbonate) is above 300 ppm, do not use Baking Soda until pool has been drained and refilled.
6. If heater is used. Operate filter at least 15 minutes after heater is turned off.

Note: On occasion, particularly in a new pool or in pools being opened for the season, additional steps are required to bring the pool into balance more rapidly or to clear up problems such as algae growth or mineral accumulation. When these problems arise consult a pool expert in your area.

Test Kits

An accurate Test Kit is very important to avoid inaccurate readings which can cause problems in proper pool maintenance. Testing solutions should be replaced at least once every year.

How to estimate your pool's capacity

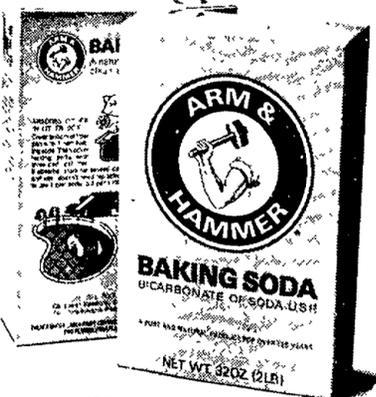

The average swimming pool contains approximately 20,000 gallons. However, an accurate record of the pool's water capacity in gallons is necessary since this measurement is often used to calculate amounts of chemicals for treating the pool water.

The following formulas can be used to approximate the total gallons of water a pool will hold.

Type Pool	Dimensions in feet	Gallon Capacity
Rectangular	Length x Width x Avg. Depth x 7.5 =
Circular	Diameter x Dia. x Avg. Depth x 4.7 =
Oval	Length x Width x Avg. Depth x 4.7 =

Novi Tennis Family Scores On, Off the Court

By STEVE RAPHAEL

In the game of tennis, love indicates a score, it means zero. In the game of life, love means everything. But a Novi family has found that the former can enhance the latter.

Bill Goff, his wife, Olga, three sons and a daughter are a family literally bound together by catgut. All play tennis, including the wives of the Goff's two oldest sons. And all family members agree that tennis has made them a very close family. "Tennis is the greatest thing that's happened to us, it's brought us even closer together," says Mrs. Goff.

"It gives us something in common, too," adds 23-year-old Steve Goff, a dark-haired, mustachioed part-time student in speech and theater at Wayne State University and, like his father, a full time tennis instructor at Southdowns Tennis Club in Farmington Hills.

Also, like his father, Steve was a late starter in tennis. "I played tennis on and off but I didn't start taking it seriously until I got into high school."

At Berkley High School, he played number one singles. Steve went on to Wayne State where he won a tennis scholarship, played number one singles and doubles for two years, was captain his senior year and captured the Ferris State Invitational Tournament. Last year he was the 10th-ranked player in southeastern Michigan by the Southeastern Michigan Tennis Association (SEMATA).

The tennis biography of Steve's younger brother, Mike, 22, reads similarly. He was once ranked 15th in the 18-and-under division by SEMATA. Mike, too, played number one singles at Berkley High School and starred at Lawrence Institute of Technology before serving as a summer pro at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. Now Mike teaches tennis part-time at Southdowns.

Having his two oldest sons follow in his footsteps is an admitted delight for 45-year-old Bill Goff who, like Steve, got into tennis in high school.

"I was 17 years old when I first started playing," he recalls. "I knew some of the guys on the Pershing (high school) team and I started playing tennis with them the summer prior to my senior year."

Apparently, Bill Goff was a fast learner. The following spring he went out for the team and made it. He was so good that year that he won a tennis scholarship to the University of Detroit.

There, Bill Goff played number one singles, advancing as far as the quarter-finals one year in the championships of Missouri Valley Conference, to which U. of D. then belonged.

The end of college marked the end of only the second chapter in the Goff tennis history.

Tennis in the mid 1950s was not a popular sport. Thus Bill Goff, who dreamed of being a full time tennis instructor, held a succession of jobs while teaching tennis part-time, at no pay, and playing — and winning — local tournaments.

Meanwhile, the Goff family was growing. Steve and Mike were followed by Karen, now 19 years old who, of course, plays tennis but not competitively.

"Olga took up tennis two years ago in self-defense, to be with the family," quips the elder Goff.

But the pride and joy of the Goff family, and a potentially outstanding tennis player, is 15-year-old Greg, a freshman and number one singles player at Novi High School. Bill Goff says his youngest son has the most ability.

"He's just an all-around natural athlete, and a good tennis player," adds Steve. "We've taught Greg the basic skills but he's developed his own game."

Part of that game includes tremendous top spin on

"It was quite a game, people were really excited," beamed Darin's dad, Dale Sherry, who happens to coach his son's team, Northville United, comprised of Northville youngsters 10-years-old and younger. Sherry said that Sunday's two hour and 45-minute marathon thriller was actually a continuation of a game that began Friday evening and lasted for two and one-half hours. Both games were played at a Farmington elementary school.

"We started Friday evening and played four, 15-minute quarters," said Sherry, whose team was playing the perennial powerful Farmington Flyers in a playoff game. The teams played to a one-one tie and then played two 10-minute overtimes that also ended tied. The teams then played two 10-minute sudden death overtimes without goals, and still the teams remained deadlocked at a goal apiece.

"It was hot Friday and the kids were exhausted so the Farmington coach and I decided to replay the game again Sunday afternoon," said Sherry. History repeated itself Sunday when the teams found themselves tied again after 60 minutes of play, at two goals apiece.

Another overtime was played and no winner emerged.

Then, the two coaches dug into the rule book, Sherry said, and decided to have the five best shooters from each team take one shot apiece from the penalty area. The most goals would win.

The teams tied again at three.

"Then we decided to take one player from each team, not from the original five, take a shot on goal," said Sherry, who was thrilled and elated when he picked his son for the job and then saw him kick home the winning goal.

Other members of the team are Dale Akins, Bill Bohan, Scott Barber, Jim Frisbee, Scott and Eric Gala, John and Mike Gouin, Doug Hartman, Chris Hauser, Doug May, Jim McKnight, Dirk Nowka, Danny Perpich, and Brian Worth.

Sherry said Northville has teams in five leagues in the Western Suburban Soccer League. In addition to the 10-and-under division, other divisions are 16-and-over, 16-and-under, 14-and-under, and 12-and-under. Sherry said over 1,000 youngsters are playing in the various divisions.

Dr. Dan Swayne of Northville is president of the league.

In other Western Suburban Soccer League news, the 14-and-under Northville Hotspurs team, coached by Pete Mosher and Ken Neal, went undefeated in its division and has already won two playoff games.

Meanwhile, the Northville Arsenal of the 16-and-under division, coached by Dr. Swayne finished the season in second place.

McGillis, who lives at 43541 Galway, made his perfect shot on the 125-yard, number three hole at the Brooklane Golf Course. He used a nine iron, and shot a 34 for nine holes.

Novi Man Perfect At Number 3 Hole

It took Tom McGillis 20 years, but the Novi man recorded his first hole-in-one last week Wednesday afternoon.

McGillis, who lives at 43541 Galway, made his perfect shot on the 125-yard, number three hole at the Brooklane Golf Course. He used a nine iron, and shot a 34 for nine holes.

Northville Girls Feted At GAL Sports Banquet

All 14 girls on Northville's up-and-coming gymnastics team were honored at the Girls Athletic League (GAL) banquet held at the high school June 3.

Coach Debbie David surprised everyone by announcing that all the girls on her squad won the Most Improved Player award.

"We started the season with little experience but really came on strong," explained Ms. Davis, who saw her team lose its first eight matches before finally winning the last match of the season. But Ms. Davis pointed out, the win-loss record was deceiving.

"We doubled our total team score from the first match of the season to the final match," she said. "We scored 83 points in our last match and if we can score 115 points in four matches next year, our whole team will qualify for the state championship."

With only one senior, Maryanne Neff, on this year's team, Ms. Davis has cause for optimism.

Other gymnasts honored were Sue Kinnaird, as Rookie of the Year. The ninth grader placed in every meet but one," Ms. Davis said.

The Most Valuable Gymnast award went to 11th grader Natalie Folino, who placed in every meet in at least two events, and who placed in four events in one meet. She was the team's leading point-scorer.

Other girls honored at the GAL banquet were Vida Mikalonis, the all-state and all-American swimmer,

Track Stars of the Future Showed Their Stuff at Jaycee Meet Saturday

Some promising youngsters and outstanding individual performances highlighted the 6th annual Northville Jaycees Junior Champ track meet last Saturday at Northville High School.

Nearly 200 youngsters from the surrounding area, ages 8 to 17, attended the three hour meet that included sprints and field events.

"We were quite pleased with the meet and with many of the performances," said meet director Ralph Redmond, who also serves as Northville High School track coach.

"This was a fun meet," added Redmond who probably is having some fun thinking about the performances of present and future Northville track stars.

One youngster who impressed Redmond is Bo Gould, a senior-to-be at the high school this fall. The ace distance man for the Mustangs turned in a 4:34.4 mile and then on the hot, muggy day ran a 2:05 in the half mile.

"We expect to have a crack cross-country team this fall, and Gould is one reason why," Redmond said.

Two other youngsters who caught the track coach's eye were sprinters Steve Wynn and Chris Dimitroff. Wynn won the 220 yard dash in the 11-12-year-old age bracket with a time of 29.4 and finished second to Dimitroff in the 100-yard dash. Dimitroff won in 11.9. He also finished first in the long jump leaping 15'8".

"These two kids look very promising. I talked to them at the meet and encouraged them to stick with track," added Redmond.

The girls were not outclassed by the boys. High school star Ruth Hubbard turned in a 57.6 in the 440-yard dash, while Northville freshman Ann MacKay ran a 19.3 in the low hurdles.

THE WINNER—11-year-old Chris Caudell is the winner here in the 60-yard dash, but it doesn't count. The race was solely an exhibition. However, second place finisher Ron Davis did win the event in the 8- to 10-year-old division.

Junior League No-Hitter

—Sports Shorts—

E League.

Paced by Dave Austin's no-hitter, the Dodgers roared to first place winning three straight games. In the victory over the Yankees, Austin struck out 12 batters, including the final 10. Austin knows the strike zone is a hitter, too. He is leading his team in batting with a .688 average. The Dodgers also beat the Astros 6-1, and Pirates 12-7 last week. In other games, the Pirates beat the Colts, 12-10, and then thumped the luckless Giants, 9-1. The Astros and Colts played to a 4-4 tie.

The Mets bounced back from their defeat by the Cards to win three games. They beat the Cubs 10-7, took a slugfest from the Pirates 14-11, and then outscored the Braves, 8-7.

In other games, the Dodgers beat the Yankees, 12-6. The Yankees then beat the Phillies 6-3, but fell to the Expos, 9-4. The Reds won twice, nipping the Cubs 10-9, and then pounding the Braves 14-7. The Braves upended the Expos 7-3, and the Phillies slaughtered the Cubs 23-4.

G League...

It was home run derby for "G" League players last week.

Brian Bidwell of the Reds, Scott Worden and Mike Haggerty of the Yankees, Mike Sylvester of the Indians, Danny Eisele of the Braves, Dave Copp of the Padres, Tom McGillis of the Giants, Bob Orlowski of the Cards, and three players on the Angels, Craig Beaudoin, Todd Kerry and Charlie Keller hit home runs.

In games last week, the Indians nosed out the Expos, 9-7, but lost to the Cubs in a thriller, 8-7. The Mets coasted twice, dumping the Phillies, 9-4, and then drubbing the Pirates, 11-3. The Yankees kept pace with the Mets in the Eastern Division by winning two, edging the Pirates, 6-5 and then beating the Phillies in a laugher, 12-2.

The Cubs rolled along unbeaten, clubbing the Cards, 20-5.

Ranger bats were as hot as the weather, drubbing the Reds, 11-8, and then the Giants, 14-9. The Braves won two games, first from the Giants, 11-6, and then from the Angels, 6-3. The Angels came back to top the Astros, 14-5.

The Padres won twice, 11-6 over the Giants and 9-6 over

H League...

In games last week, the Mets nipped the Expos, 9-8 and Padres, 6-5, and then bombed the Giants, 17-4. The Cubs' bats came alive winning three times, beating the Pirates, 15-6, Dodgers, 14-3, and Reds, 7-4.

The Phillies split a pair, edging the first place team in the East, the Braves, 5-4, but then were dumped by the Pirates, 16-8. The Expos beat the Astros, 4-3, the Cards polished off the Giants, 15-1, the Padres trimmed the Braves, 8-1, the Angels beat the Astros, 14-9, the Braves outlasted the Cards, 17-5, the Giants nipped the Pirates, 14-12, the Reds whipped the Padres, 8-5, and the Dodgers and Angels played to a 12-12 tie.

T-Ball Results

The Cardinals trimmed the Dodgers, 15-14, but then lost to the Braves, 26-18. The Giants squeaked by the Astros, 13-12. The Phillies outlasted the Reds, 35-34, and the Cubs outscored the Mets, 23-18. The Pirates beat the Reds, 22-13, and the Braves outslugged the Phillies, 23-20.

Northville then dumped Livonia Churchill's B-team, 12-1, thanks to the lusty hitting of Bob Kain who had three hits. Jim LaPlante was the winning pitcher.

The Livonia league is comprised of area high school varsity baseball teams. Kucher, the head baseball coach at Northville, and a former University of Michigan baseball star, says the summer league offers coaches a chance to prepare for next year's high school baseball season.

PONY LEAGUE

Novi Hardware exploded for 33 runs in two games last week but it wasn't enough to put them in first place. Novi Hardware first nosed out Novi Merchants 21-20 and then drubbed Pete's Sunoco 12-4. Meanwhile, J.S. Trudeau maintained its one game lead over Novi Merchants 11-8 as Steve Korte picked up two hits and scored three runs.

SENIOR LEAGUE

Mario Sinacola didn't win a game last week but it claimed two of the league's stars.

Chris Walker had a grand slam home run but it wasn't enough as his team fell to Guardian Industries 16-9. Mario Sinacola also found itself on the short end of a 11-7 score as it fell to Michigan Bank. But Brent Gross had a perfect day at the plate, getting three hits and four runs-batted-in.

Jeff Laverty proved that pitching is 75 percent of baseball by hurling a 2-hit shutout for Novi Patriots as his team downed William H. Kelly, 6-0. Michigan Bank beat Suburban Wall 10-2, but Suburban Wall rebounded to knock-off the Novi Patriots, 8-2.

MINOR LEAGUE

Novi Auto Parts remained in first place with two big victories last week. Auto Parts beat Cardona's Pizza 11-3 as Mike Dewon had two, 2-run home runs, and then drubbed Firebaugh & Reynolds 30-0. Meanwhile, Merchants still slipped by Spartan Concrete 3-2.

In other games, Mike Parquette had three hits as he led Firebaugh & Reynolds to a 14-12 win over Century 21. Fendt Transit won twice, nipping Spartan Concrete, 3-2, and Andy's Meat Hut, 3-2. Andy's Meat Hut came back to down Poured Brick Walls 14-2, while Spartan Concrete poured it on Cardona's Pizza 11-3.

MAJOR LEAGUE

Eric Lafferty of the Novi Firemen handcuffed Michigan Tractor on four hits as the last place Firemen won 2-1, dropping Michigan Tractor into a first place tie with Party Store.

Party Store, in turn, got a three-hit shutout from Pat Alexander, topping the Firemen, 3-0. Party Store then knocked-off first place leader Rexall of the Blue Division, 4-2, to move into a first place tie with Michigan Tractor.

Paul Skinner of Michigan Tractor salvaged the week for his team when he one-hit B&V to gain a 3-2 victory.

In the Blue Division Rexall, although losing to Party Store, outslugged General Filters, 15-12 and moved into first place ahead of Bain Brothers.

Bain Brothers split a pair of games last week, bombing hapless General Filters 20-8, then coming out on the short end of a 5-4 loss at the hands of B&V.

Big Coupon War Strips Grocery Shelves

By PATRICIA BERNARDO

Cathy Carey of Wixom set out for the Kroger store last week, for what she expected to be an ordinary grocery shopping trip. But soon after she stepped inside the supermarket she realized that something was definitely out of the ordinary.

"All the shelves were bare. Everything I needed was gone," she said.

It was not until Mrs. Carey encountered some friends strolling through the Kroger aisles with a loaded cart and fistfuls of coupons, that she discovered what was going on. She had unknowingly placed herself on the front lines of what has been dubbed the "coupon war."

Mrs. Carey, an employee of the City of Novi, has always been a coupon saver, but on this particular day, when her favorite store was redeeming coupons at three times their face value, she did not have a single one in her purse.

Still, she thought the "coupon war" was a great idea, and she planned a return trip to the front, properly armed to take advantage of the savings.

The "coupon war," for those who missed it, was an exercise in promotional one-upmanship among area chain stores. Farmer Jack started it all two weeks ago by offering to redeem coupons put out by food product manufacturers at one and one-half times the printed amount.

Other grocers — Chatham, Great Scott-Wrigley and A&P — were soon offering double discounts on the increasingly valuable slips of paper. Having the last word were Kroger and Meijers Thrifty Acres who advertised for customers to bring in their coupons for triple refunds.

Josephine Anderson of Northville was one homemaker who recognized the opportunity to save money on her grocery bill and she plotted a careful battle plan.

Mrs. Anderson has always saved coupons, although she said, "I don't always take advantage of them." For the supermarket promotion, however, she devoted a morning to sorting through her coupon collection, discarding all those on which the expiration date had passed.

She got together with some of her neighbors, trading off coupons she didn't want for those she did.

She decided what she would buy, and marked each coupon by underscoring the quantity and size of the product which had to be purchased.

Then she organized the coupons by product line — dairy products, prepared foods, coffee, paper products, cleaning supplies — to make her shopping easier.

When Mrs. Anderson emerged from Northville's Kroger Market, she had $22 worth of groceries, for which she had paid less than $14.

She had not purchased everything she had intended to buy, however, because other coupon bargain-hunters had swarmed through the store like locusts stripping the shelves as they went.

To complete her shopping, Mrs. Anderson traveled off to Meijer's Thrifty Acres in Canton Township, where she estimates she saved an additional $20.

"I used mostly the larger coupons," she said. "I have a lot of nickel ones that I didn't bother with. I figure I could save another $30 to $40 if I worked at it. I have some magazines I haven't even gone through yet."

The best bargains Mrs. Anderson found were those items which she got completely free. On those products — panty hose, toilet tissue and bars of soap — the coupon was worth more than a third of the price marked.

Another coupon shopper, Alice Rogers of Brighton, says she got a $2.69 jar of decaffeinated coffee without charge by presenting a 90-cent coupon to the cashier. Stores limited the amount of the refund to the price of the product, and thus Mrs. Rogers did not get the extra penny.

Mrs. Rogers made two trips to the Kroger in Brighton, carrying home groceries worth more than $43, at a cost of only $27.

"I was one of the small savers, but I figure I saved a third," said Mrs. Rogers. She said her daughter saved $97 during the duration of the "war" during which she made four grocery-buying trips to Kroger.

Both Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Rogers say they didn't buy anything they didn't really need, although Mrs. Anderson said she bought some new products that she might not have tried otherwise.

Mrs. Rogers bought only things she knew wouldn't spoil on her shelf. "I did buy coffee and tea ahead," she said, adding that she also stocked up on dog food, detergent and toilet paper.

Coupons for cookies and other products Mrs. Rogers doesn't use were given away to her daughters or to friends.

Mrs. Rogers still has 20 leftover coupons, stamped by the store, for merchandise which she wanted, but which was sold out. Even though the promotion officially ended Sunday, Kroger validated coupons for redemption at the triple rate until July 10, because it became obvious they couldn't keep certain items in stock.

COUPONS GALORE—Darlene Lane of Northville was one of many area shoppers out to stock her pantry during the triple savings coupon war.

Northville State Appeals

Hospital Accreditation Threatened

Renewal of accreditation for Northville State Hospital, a Michigan psychiatric treatment center, has been withheld pending action on the hospital's appeal to the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH).

John Zugich, hospital director, said the recommendation for non-accreditation resulted from a survey in January by a representative of the Accreditation Council, an affiliate of JCAH.

"The hospital's accreditation is in effect until our appeal, now being prepared, has been considered by the Joint Commission," said Zugich.

Non-compliance was cited in building design, maintenance, housekeeping, and pharmaceutical services. The report recommended that "these areas of concern receive prompt attention in order that accreditation may be maintained."

The facility was found to be in "substantial compliance" with standards in patient treatment, departmental administration, management, medical staff, dietetic services, patient education, vocational rehabilitation, emergency services, radiology, research, and pastoral services; with standards in patient quarters, medical records, mental health workers, nursing, psychological and social work services.

Donald C. Smith, M.D., director Department of Mental Health, said "we are asking JCAH for specific details of the survey so that action can be taken immediately to implement the commission's recommendations."

"Dr. Smith pointed out that several steps have been taken by Zugich to strengthen the organization of services since he was appointed director of the Northville facility in January.

The appeal process requires:

1. An interview with the Accreditation Council staff to exchange information and further clarify the findings.
2. Implementation of JCAH recommendations.
3. Another on-site survey by council staff.

Northville State Hospital serves a portion of the Wayne County-Detroit area.

According to Dr. Smith, Michigan's eight major state inpatient facilities for psychiatric patients are accredited by the Joint Commission. In addition to Northville State Hospital, the accredited hospitals include: Detroit Psychiatric Institute; Hawthorn Center, Northville; Kalamazoo State Hospital; Lafayette Clinic, Detroit;

Northville State Hospital; Traverse City State Hospital; Ypsilanti State Hospital; and Clinton Valley Center, Pontiac, currently in process of re-examination by JCAH.

Accreditation by the Joint Commission is normally a prerequisite for participation in financial reimbursement programs such as Medicaid, Medicare, and private third-party insurance programs.

Accreditation is also important for agencies such as Northville State Hospital which sponsor professional training programs.

Facilities (ACPF).

The council is composed of persons appointed by the following nationally-recognized organizations in the field of mental health: The American Academy of Child Psychiatry, American Association on Mental Deficiency, American Association of Psychiatric Services for Children, American Hospital Association, American Psychiatric Association, Association of Mental Health Administrators, National Association of Private Psychiatric Hospitals, National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors, and National Council of Community Mental Health Centers.

WIDE OPEN SPACES—The Kroger store in Northville had great gaps on its shelves where popular coupon items used to be.

Not all area shoppers, however, thought the "coupon war" was a good thing. One Northville senior citizen, who asked that her name not be used, complained about the long lines she encountered when she went into Kroger's to pick up a few badly needed items.

"I saw one woman in line and I know she had 100 coupons, and everyone had to wait while she sorted through them," this lady said.

"I don't think this thing (the "coupon war") is giving a break to the people who don't have coupons, and we all have to eat," she said.

Lanny Hathaway of Brighton is another shopper who was less than delighted with the coupon promotion. She called the Kroger in Brighton a "madhouse" and said that some people had to wait up to an hour and a half to get through the check-out.

In addition, Mrs. Hathaway had trouble finding a parking place in the Kroger lot, and once inside the store, she had to wait 10 minutes for an empty grocery cart.

A Kroger spokesman admits that response to the promotion, "was beyond our wildest dreams," and he said everyone was working overtime to handle the extra volume of sales the promotion produced.

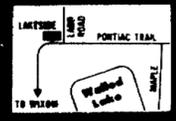

Independent grocers, such as Showerman's I.G.A. in South Lyon reported business as usual at their stores. Mike Showerman said his store did not offer extra coupon refunds, because he could not absorb the loss that the chains were taking. But he said that his customers were still coming in and "redeeming as many coupons as ever."

Even enthusiastic coupon shoppers wonder who will end up paying for the savings some people realized, not to mention overtime wages for cashiers and shelf stockers.

"I don't know how they're going to offset this," said Mrs. Rogers, although she expects to see higher prices. She said one canned lemonade mix which was selling for $1.69 when the "war" began was up to $1.89 at week's end.

The stores were all very tight-lipped about how much money was involved, but a Kroger spokesman said it was "a substantial cost."

Just the same, he said, prices will not go up. "We've got the competitive edge right now," the Kroger representative said. "A Detroit-area shopper goes where she gets the best value. After this investment I can't afford to be uncompetitive in my prices, and let her slip away."

Councilman Vernon suggested writing a note of thanks to Ann for an excellent job.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS Mr. Tony Ban wished to be heard on the Construction Management Plan. His name and was told it was on the agenda.

Mr. Sam Kunst, 568 Langfield, commented on dogs running loose and also asked when the signs would be put up on Novi Road and 8 Mile concerning No Right Turns. It was explained that Oakland County had to adopt the control order, which had been requested by the City.

PUBLIC HEARING ON CITY ORDINANCE SECTION 8-109, MALICIOUS DAMAGE, VANDALISM, INTOXICATING BEVERAGES, PARK OR OTHER PUBLIC PROPERTY. Mayor Allen opened the public hearing on adoption of an amendment to Section 8 109. The clerk read the notice as it was published in the paper.

There being no questions or comments, the public hearing was closed.

The City Attorney read one problem on triple damages in Subsections 3 and 4 uses the same language as in the state laws. He then read the wording from the State laws governing triple damages, but only in parks and recreation areas created and operated by the state. Subsections 3 and 4 were modified to reflect the wording in the state statute i.e., "any person convicted of an act of malicious damage or vandalism in parks or recreation areas owned and operated by the City shall reimburse the City for up to 3 times the amount of the damage" etc.

Motion by Councilman Vernon support by Councilman Nichols to approve Section 8 109, Chapter 1, Title 8 of the Ordinance as amended. Carried unanimously.

PUBLIC HEARING ON CITY ORDINANCE SECTION 4402 LICENSE REQUIRED. Mayor Allen opened the public hearing on City Ordinance 4402 License Required. The Clerk read the Notice as published in the paper.

Sam Kunst, 568 Langfield, mentioned there are too many dogs running loose in the area and this could be a potential danger to children. People are either unaware of the ordinance or don't care.

Mayor Allen stated there were a lot of stray dogs running off the park during the spring. The police will be going door to door surveying the dog population.

Pat Fay, a Township resident, asked if the ordinance required dogs to be tied up or enclosed. The answer was yes.

There being no more discussion, the hearing was closed.

Motion by Councilman Folino support by Councilman Johnston to adopt an ordinance to amend Section 4402 of Chapter 4, Title 4, "The Dog Ordinance".

Carried unanimously.

PUBLIC HEARING ON CITY ORDINANCE SECTION 8-109, DRUNK AND DISORDERLY PERSONS. Mayor Allen opened the public hearing on an amendment to the City Ordinance, Section 8 109, Drunk and Disorderly Persons. Clerk read the notice as published in the paper.

The City Attorney explained that the amendment is now in line with the state law.

Mayor Allen asked for any comments.

Motion by Councilman Vernon support by Councilman Folino to adopt an ordinance to amend Section 8 101 (9) of Chapter 1, Title 8, "Offenses" of the Code of Ordinances to revise the definitions of "drunk" and "disorderly".

Carried unanimously.

CURFEW. Motion by Councilman Vernon support by Councilman Nichols to add the curfew proposal to the agenda.

The City Attorney read the existing curfew law. Suggested changes were lowering the age limit from 18 to 17 and the curfew from 12:00 to 11:00.

Councilman Nichols asked the students in the audience for their thoughts and comments. There weren't any at this time.

Mr. Kunst asked if under the age of sixteen they cannot be out after 12:00 a.m. or before 6:00 a.m. except with a parent or guardian.

The City Attorney explained the existing ordinance required minors to have a specific parent-approved purpose for being out during the curfew. The purpose of the ordinance is not to curtail activities but to stop vandalism.

Mr. Art Adams, 960 Allen Dr., stated he didn't personally see any reason to change the ordinance as it is now, just enforce it.

Mayor Allen commented it gives the police officers authority to go up to people congregating.

Councilman Nichols commented on a letter written by Mrs. Joanne Cook, a teacher at Northville High and points brought out in a survey she took of her high school classes. It was suggested that a committee of students and council meet to discuss the curfew ordinance.

Mayor Allen advised he intended to appoint a committee at the end of the meeting.

PUBLIC HEARING ON REZONING OF LOTS 570b2 and 571a2b FROM PBO TO R1B. Mayor Allen opened the public hearing on rezoning of lots 570b2 and 571a2b.

The City Manager summarized the notice as published in the Record.

Mr. Harry Larkins, 113 Walnut, one of the property owners, explained what had taken place in preceding hearings. He also explained that the Chatham parking lot abutted his property and there was no green belt separating them because of the present zoning.

Mayor Allen asked if Mr. Larkins would rather have the property left zoned as is.

Mr. Larkins asked if he were satisfied to leave it alone as a nonconforming use.

It was mentioned that the property could have more value as PBO if both were zoned as such. Mr. Larkins property alone was too small to develop as PBO.

Councilman Nichols stated it was never the intent to open up Walnut Street to PBO.

Mr. Larkins felt he should have a green belt. It was answered no legal way as long as the property remains PBO.

Mr. Larkins then asked what would the cost be if he wanted to change back The Zoning Appeal fee is $200.

Mayor Allen asked Mr. Larkin if it would be agreeable to adjourn the hearing until the second meeting in June (21st) to give the Council and the Mayor more time to study the problem.

Mr. Larkin was agreeable.

Motion by Councilman Vernon support by Councilman Folino to adjourn the Public Hearing to rezone lots 570b2 and 571a2b from PBO to R1B until the June 21st meeting.

Carried unanimously.

BUDGET. Mayor Allen opened the public hearing on the 1976-77 Budget. The City Manager read the proposed 1976-77 budget and the proposed millage rate for the 1976 tax levy at 10.8 mills.

Mayor Allen asked for comments. Bob Strachan of 540 Horton commented the hefty salary increases were out of line. He asked how much higher is this from last year.

The City Manager said that unfortunately some figures in the Northville Record were in error.

Councilman Johnston asked for suggestions - perhaps cutting back on garbage pickup?

Councilman Vernon mentioned we would have to keep up with the cost of inflation. He further stated the budget had been cut and that many hours had been put in. He said the budget was a victim of increasing prices.

Councilman Folino gave the millage figures since 1970. He stated that the budget has increased from 10.2 in 1970 to 10.8 for 1976-77.

The City Manager's salary increase was discussed and he was complimented on doing a fine job.

Members of the audience commented that Northville was a good place to live and that the property values were rising, which is a healthy sign.

Mayor Allen closed the public hearing.

Motion by Councilman Nichols support by Councilman Vernon to adopt the 1976-77 Budget and published same in the Record.

Carried unanimously.

JAYCEES SOAP BOX DERBY. A communication from the Northville Jaycees was read asking for approval of one of two new sites to hold the 7th annual Soap Box Derby on June 27, Sunday, at 2:00 p.m.

The sites mentioned were North Station at Galway to the bottom of the hill or Hillridge between the two cross intersections.

Both of these sites are located in Novi and Northville.

Motion by Councilman Vernon support by Councilman Folino to approve subject to approval by the City Manager and Police Department and concurrence by the City of Novi.

Carried unanimously.

FLOODING EASEMENT. The Flooding Easement Agreement was read granting perpetual easement to the Randolph Drain District of City properties abutting the Randolph Street Drain.

Motion by Councilman Folino support by Councilman Johnston to authorize Mayor Allen and the City Clerk to sign the Flooding Easement Agreement. Carried unanimously.

Meeting was recessed at 10:35 p.m. Meeting reconvened at 10:40 p.m.

SENIOR CITIZEN HOUSING PROJECT. The City Manager explained that the Municipal Finance Commission is expected to implement the City's proposed construction procedure at next Tuesday's MFC meeting.

Mr. Tony Ban, Northville Construction Co., requested he be heard. He stated he did not enjoy making these complaints. He felt the decision was a matter of poor judgment on the Council's part in awarding Kamp O'Come the "construction Management" contract that it was in violation of public policy.

Mr. Ban stated he had been in construction management since 1967 handling projects totaling $120 million dollars. He realized the Council does not have to accept the low bidder but

Mr. Tony Ban, Northville Construction Co., requested he be heard. He stated he did not enjoy making these complaints. He felt the decision was a matter of poor judgment on the Council's part in awarding Kamp O'Come the "construction Management" contract that it was in violation of public policy.

Mr. Ban stated he had been in construction management since 1967 handling projects totaling $120 million dollars. He realized the Council does not have to accept the low bidder but

Carried unanimously.

Robinson, Rinehart Reflect

Board Retirees Agree: Tough to Satisfy People

It's a payless job — and often a thankless job as well. But looking back over more than five years of school board membership, Trustee Martin Rinehart believes the job provided him "a lot of enjoyment."

Rinehart and Board President Dr. Orlo Robinson will step down from their school board seats on June 30, after long periods of service. Neither man sought re-election this year.

"Eight years is enough," says Dr. Robinson, explaining his resignation. "I think new blood is important."

Rinehart is quitting so he will have more time for his family, the demands of his job, and work at his church.

Reflecting on board achievements during their terms of office, both men point to the year-round school program with special pride.

"It's an idea that's coming nationally. And it saves money for the district. I think we've proved that," Robinson says.

Robinson also believes the board has been responsible for a lot of other innovations such as the bid-before-bond procedure.

Rinehart feels the number one school board accomplishment in Northville was construction of new schools. He was involved in the building program first as a member of a citizen's sub-committee, and then later as a board trustee.

But the satisfactions do not come without a certain amount of frustration.

The two men agree that the greatest problem of any school board member is satisfying the people he represents.

Rinehart puts it this way. "The biggest problem is trying to answer all the various desires and whims of various groups. You try to satisfy the greatest number of people and still make decisions based on the facts you have before you. I guess you could say it's a communications problem."

According to Dr. Robinson, "Every citizen expects you to do his particular bidding. They have to realize every issue won't be handled to their satisfaction."

What lies ahead for their board colleagues and the newly elected trustees?

Rinehart sees a number of important issues looming in the short term.

"The board will have to deal with the new grade structure and there will be a lot of contracts to settle," he says. But the biggest problem for the Board as he sees it, will be "financial squeezes for the next two or three years at least."

Dr. Robinson expects continuing criticism of the special education program for institutionalized children.

And he says, "Some people would like to kill the year-round school."

In addition, Dr. Robinson sees trends developing which he believes will have a long-range impact on school boards — in Northville and elsewhere.

He sees a growing demand by pressure groups to join in policy decision-making at the board level. "I don't think any guy coming in off the street should make decisions we're responsible to make," he says.

Robinson is also wary of what he feels is growing state control of schools at the expense of local boards.

Finally he, too, sees a tight money situation which he attributes to high taxation by other governmental bodies. "People are taxed to the point where if you need more millage it's impossible to get," he says.

While new trustees will take their seats at the Board table, it is likely that both Rinehart and Dr. Robinson will still be at many board meetings as part of the audience.

"There are a lot of good people on the board. I'd like to give them my support," Robinson says.

Adds Rinehart, "I might catch one or two meetings especially if they look like they're going to be exciting."

Township Looking For Voting Machines

With two elections upcoming this year and 10 of Northville Township's voting machines not operating, township officials considered solutions at their regular June meeting last Thursday.

Clerk Clarice Sass reported upon the success of Computerized Election Systems being used, she said, by several area communities, including Dearborn Heights, Redford, Allen Park and Dearborn.

She also told the trustees that Dearborn has saved its voting machines and is willing to rent, but not to sell them, at this time Rental would be $50 a machine plus cartage. The computerized system, the clerk stated, would cost an estimated $10,500 for precinct counters plus such items as computer cards.

She was instructed to pursue rental of the Dearborn machines and also to investigate further the CES. The board felt the computer firm "must have a backlog of orders" so that delivery probably would be some time distant, and after the elections.

Mrs. Sass said she intended to go to Dearborn Monday to witness an election in process under the computer system.

It's Bach for Unger On Appeals Board

Bernard Bach, 20336 Woodhill Road, was appointed to fill the vacancy on the Northville Township Board of Appeals at the township board's June meeting last Thursday.

He fills the vacancy created by John Unger's resignation after he was appointed to the township planning commission.

In recommending Bach, Supervisor Betty Lennox pointed out that he will represent an area of the township not now having board representation.

Approval of the supervisor's appointment, however, was not unanimous as Trustee Richard Mitchell and Clerk Clarice Sass abstained.

In his application for the post, Bach, a registered sales engineer and University of Michigan graduate, stated he had been a township resident for about 10 years and an area resident even longer.

Lawrence Wright and Edward McNeely were re-appointed to another term on the township water and sewer commission. Supervisor Lennox reported they had agreed to serve another year. Their present terms expire July 6.

the highest in the history of the board. She joins Sylvia Gucken, board vice president and Karen Wilkinson, secretary.

The Schoolcraft College millage won only in Northville and Clarenceville school districts. It was voted down heavily in Garden City, Livonia and Plymouth.

Mrs. Sliger and Johnson will assume school board posts now held by Dr. Orlo Robinson and Martin Rinehart, both of whom are stepping down. They did not seek re-election.

A former teacher in the Northville school system, Mrs. Sliger is a member of the Northville library board and is its past president. She has been active, on a voluntary basis, in the school's gifted children program during the past year.

Johnson, a 1973 graduate of Northville High School, is presently a student at the University of Michigan where he is studying political science.

In campaigning for office, Johnson emphasized that having graduated from Northville High School recently he is especially familiar with the shortcomings and the positive aspects of the school program. He was critical of the ESY program at the high school, suggesting that it be dropped there, and he found fault with the board for rubber-stamping administrative recommendations.

In her campaign platform, Mrs. Sliger criticized what she termed has become a "one-man" operation, with the superintendent making all of the decisions and thereby undermining the morale and professional capabilities of teachers and other administrators. She pledged to attempt to plug a credibility gap between administrators and the public.

When the new board members officially take office in July, the board's first order of business will be to elect its officers. Outgoing board member Dr. Orlo Robinson presently is the board president, Mrs. Gucken the vice president, Mrs. Wilkinson the secretary, and P. Roger Nieuwkoop the treasurer.

Other board members are John Hobart and Dr. Robert Mandell

Marine Private Joseph M. Wilber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Wilber of 19639 Clement Road, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, California.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1975 graduate of Northville High School, he joined the Marine Corps in January 1976.

U. S. Air Force Second Lieutenant Lawrence Kugler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Kugler of 7727 Rusty Hinge Drive, New Port Richey, Fla., has been certified as a deputy missile combat crew commander at McConnell AFB, Kansas.

Lieutenant Kugler, a missile launch officer, was recommended for upgrading by the wing commander after meeting stringent training and evaluation requirements.

A 1971 graduate of Sheepshead Bay High School in Brooklyn, N.Y., the lieutenant received his B.A. degree in political science in 1975 from Michigan State University and was commissioned there through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

His wife, Susan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Jacques of 21551 Napier, Northville.

Airman Timothy B. Tillman, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Corbin Tillman of 3211 West Maple, Wixom, has graduated at Keesler AFB, Mississippi, from the U.S. Air Force technical training course for avionics communications specialists.

Airman Tillman, now trained to install and repair airborne communications equipment, is being assigned to Moody AFB, Ga., for duty with a unit of the Tactical Air Command. Completion of the course enables the airman to receive academic credits through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Tillman, a 1974 graduate of Walled Lake Western High School, attended Cedarville (Ohio) college.

Litter Bugs: -Look Out!

"Vigorous enforcement" of Northville Township Ordinance No. 29 covering littering was ordered by trustees at their meeting last Thursday.

After viewing pictures taken of littering on undeveloped land around Highland Lakes and hearing a report from Raymond Usell, Jr., the board instructed Police-Chief-Ronald Nislin, who was present, to enforce the ordinance.

The program that has been Usell said the Highland Lakes Association and co-owners of the area would appreciate any suggestions the board could give to eliminate the unsightly problem.

The trustees considered a two-part action and felt both those caught littering and property owners who should clean up the litter on their land could be dealt with under the provisions of the ordinance.

Nislin added that the enforcement would apply to any area of the township that has a littering problem.

Those chosen to represent Northville High School and their individual sponsors are: Tony Armada, Northville Jaycees; Tad Taggart, UAW-CIO, local 896; Steve Massel, Holcomb Clinic; Mike Murray, Casterline Funeral Home; Marty Redilla, Fraternal Order of Eagles 2504; Scott Spear, Northville Rotary Club; James Thomas, VFW Post 4012; David Waddell, Northville Masonic Lodge; and Bob Zabinski, Lloyd H. From Plymouth Canton High School is Matt Norris, sponsored by Elks Club of Plymouth, and from Plymouth Salem High is Mark Bosche, sponsored by Plymouth BPW.

Purpose of Boys' State is to emphasize the importance of government, stimulate a lasting interest in government, and enlarge the understanding of governmental processes.

According to Steinel, the American Legion Wolverine Boys' State is not a schoolroom activity. The basic learning method of Boys' State, he explained, is that of actual participation in political and governmental processes. It is structured so that participants may put into actual practice classroom theories of American government.

standard in the past will be used again this year with certain improvements and changes. Program elements recognizing the Bicentennial celebration have been incorporated this year.

The boy, as soon as he reaches the MSU campus, will be assigned to a city and to one of two political parties. The "Federalist" and "Nationalist" political parties in Boys' State are purely mythical. The boys will in no way be connected with the existing political parties in Michigan.

The 51st State, with mythical city and county subdivisions, will function for a period of seven days. The basic laws of Michigan and its Constitution form the basis for political activities.

The convention system will be used throughout Boys' State to nominate candidates for city, county and state offices.

Line-up for Primary Set

Incumbent Representative William S. Broomfield was the lone Republican to file candidacy for the 19th District Primary Election scheduled for August 3.

Running for the 24th District Oakland County Commissioner seat are incumbent Republican Dennis Murphy and Democrat Suellen Haas. Both were candidates for the office in March when Murphy won a slim 126 vote victory over Mrs. Haas.

While neither will face competition in the August 3 primary, they will clash in the November 2nd general election.

The 24th District includes Novi, Wixom, Novi Township, the Oakland County portion of Northville, Walled Lake, South Lyon, Lyon Township and part of Farmington Hills.

August Opening Slated For State Police Post

Although delayed in its beginning stages by fiscal problems and opposition to its location, construction on the new state police complex is running right on schedule. Completion of what is termed "a unique facility" is expected in late August with occupancy slated for September. Cost of the project including equipment is $2.5 million.

The complex is considered unique among all other facilities in that it will house three separate state police services. Included are the second district headquarters presently located in Detroit. Largest in the state, the second district encompasses a seven-county area.

Also operating from the building will be the Northville Post currently located in Plymouth and the most up-to-date scientific crime lab available for police detection work.

The modern structure, built with minimum maintenance and longevity in mind, is situated on a 10-acre site on Seven Mile Road. The site allows for any future expansion plans with provision for a possible heliport.

With a total area of 40,300 square feet, a ballistics range and target practice area will be located in the basement. An extensive communications system will be installed creating a police super network.

Plans for lower floor levels include space to meet requirements for area-wide emergency and disaster purposes.

Sleeping quarters for single officers now assigned to the Plymouth Post are included in the over-all plan. Those quarters are currently leased by the state from Northville State Hospital.

It is estimated the facility will work with a staff of some 100 personnel covering all phases of police work.

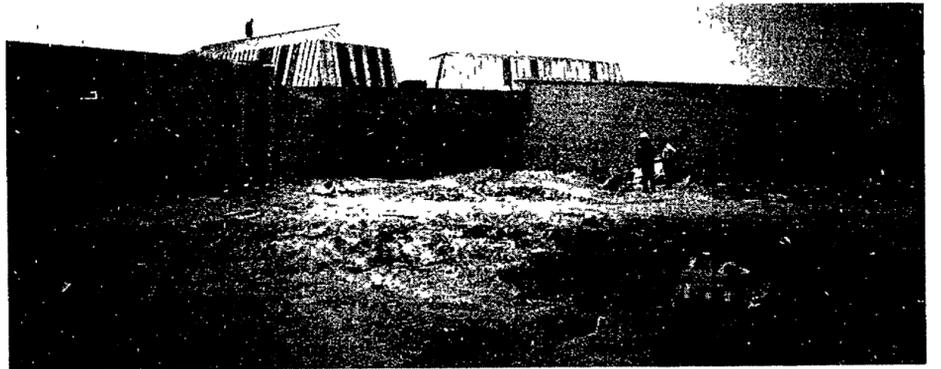

Novi Plat Approved By City Council

Novi Council has given final approval of the preliminary plat for Jason Subdivision to be located on the south side of Ten Mile Road between Haggerty Road and Cranbrook.

The subdivision is expected to contain 24 lots on about 11.6 acres of land. Developers of the subdivision, Kaufman and Broad, had reportedly agreed to change certain facets of the subdivision in order to meet requirements of the city subdivision control ordinance 45.

Next big step will be submission by the developer of the final plat which must receive both tentative and final approval by the council.

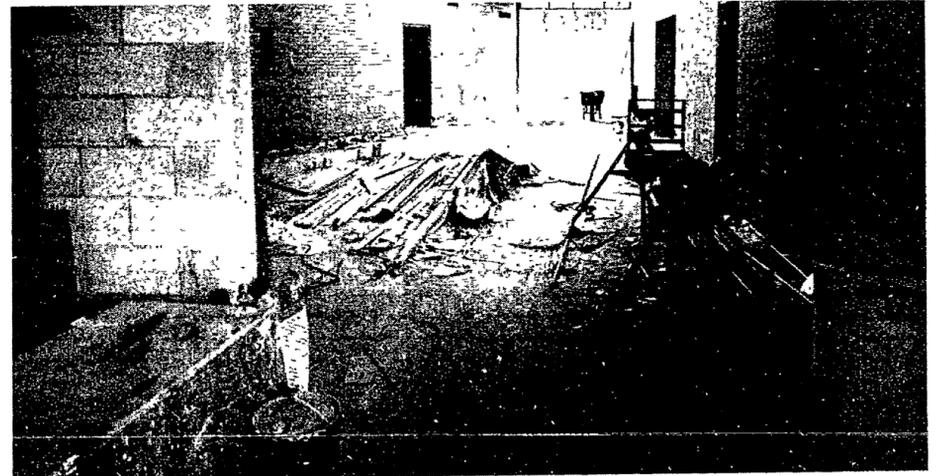

MODERN—Not only is the state police complex currently under construction on West Seven Mile Road in Northville Township modern in design, it is considered to be totally unique in its approach to housing three separate arms of the state police network. Located under one roof will be the second district headquarters, Northville post and an up-to-date scientific crime laboratory.

BIG AND NEW—Long awaited moving date is just around the corner as workmen continue to make headway in the massive state police construction project located in Northville Township.

STILL RAW—Although the super structure looms above and tools and debris lie ready for the next day's work, state police officials are confidentially looking forward to an early fall moving date. In those few months, this entry way to the sprawling state police complex will be bristling with activity.

MOVIN' ON—With construction right on schedule, the new state police complex on Seven Mile Road should be completed by late August with occupancy planned for September. Situated on a 10-acre parcel, the 40,300 square foot building is being built at a cost of $2.5 million.

50 Friends Salute the Whaleys

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Over 50 friends and coworkers of Priscilla and Gene Whaley gathered at the Community Building Friday night to wish them well in a venture that takes them into the mid-Upper Peninsula.

Excited and looking forward to moving to Rapid River and taking over as proprietors of a party store and bait and tackle shop, the couple expect to leave Wixom in the next couple of weeks.

Long the department of the Building Management, Priscilla told me she and Gene were really looking forward to the move. Rapid River is east of Escanaba and somewhat of Marquette.

Lots of good food cooked by some of the best chefs in Wixom kept the guests munching through the evening (and gaining unnecessary inches, too). The Whaleys were given a money gift to purchase a "special something" for their new home.

I'm told the area where the Whaleys will be settling is smack in the middle of "God's country" and of course, the welcome mat is out to any Wixomite that meanders into that neck of the woods. "At least stop by and say hello" is the word from Priscilla.

We hate to see them go and will miss their smiling faces around city hall. With them will go the best wishes of the city.

Has the coupon craze hit your home? I was an unknowing coupon hoarder until I hit the office and began switching and trading the hunks of paper. It was hysterical to see my students exclaiming over coupons, trading, and pointing out the expiration dates, some of which went as far back as 1973.

The "do you have that 50 cent goodie... you'll be able to get product X for nothing", or "my cat won't touch that stuff... do you have..." went on for quite a while until it was apparent that if we didn't quit horsing around, this paper would never get to press.

As it stands, the Dingeldey household is now adequately stocked with 25 bags of dog food... and yes, I did look a little weird hauling the stuff out of the store. I just can't imagine where I got all the dog food coupons... I would have been just as happy with coffee.

And toilet paper... it's a good thing I have adequate storage space. At this rate I should be good on paper products... and dog food for at least six months.

The check book didn't seem to suffer much... it was almost like the good ole days when a trip to the grocery store didn't cost an arm and a leg.

Last call for the Burroughs treasure hunt this Saturday night... which is in, unfortunately, direct competition with the yearly Finnish celebration of Juhannus. We'll come to that later.

The threesome of Victory, Dodge and Haight won the last Burroughs hunt and so had the distinct privilege of putting on this one. Of course the Dodges and Hights just got over putting on the Wixom hunt a couple of weeks ago. If treasure hunts are your bag, call Pam Dodge at 624-6520 or Bonnie Haight at 624-5135. They pass out all kinds of information. The hunt costs $14 a couple and check in time is 7 p.m. at the Burroughs Plant on Plymouth Road.

The ever-popular fun-loving evening offered by the Living Camp is planned and ready to go with the opening ceremonies scheduled for 8:30 p.m. The colorful Finnish Center dancers will be on hand followed by dancing to the strains of the "Sisu Orkestria".

Lots of good food and pastries will be available with the kokko scheduled to blaze at midnight. The kokko, for those of you who have never attended Juhannus, is a massive bonfire that is sure to light the heavens and is as old in tradition as the Finns are in age. Kokko master is the venerable Elmer Makela.

If the days have slipped by all too quickly for you and you happened to forget, the end of school means the beginning of the parks and recreation summer program for the kids. Arts and crafts groups meet at Wixom Elementary School each morning from 9 a.m. until noon, Monday through Friday. The program including crafts, games, field trips and a host of other activities will continue through July 23.

There's golf and tennis for kids in grades three through 12. Registration for golf lessons is at Hickory Hills Golf Course with lessons scheduled for Monday and Wednesday at 9 a.m.

City Hall is the site for tennis lessons conducted on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 9 a.m.

There is a small fee charged for some of the craft projects. However, all other programs are a city service. It's a great program for the kids!

Program director is Fritz Tallian, an industrial arts teacher at Walled Lake Junior High. Tallian will also teach the tennis and golf segments of the program.

LONGEST AND LIGHTEST—John Pirog (left) and Andy McComas were respective winners in Novi drawing class contests to construct the airplane that would glide the longest and the lightest vehicle to contain an egg without breaking it after being dropped to a cement sidewalk from 50 feet.

Novi Mechanical Drawing II students had a chance to check their engineering skills June 3 during the second annual egg drop while Drawing I students launched their own gliders.

The second year class was assigned the task of building a vehicle which would safely land an egg dropped 50 feet and landing on a concrete sidewalk.

Students worked up all the required drawings and then built their creations using only glue and paper.

The designs varied from spinning copter types to gliding crafts and fast dropping shock absorbing devices. After the creations were built, they were dropped from the gym roof to the sidewalk with only one messy failure. Andy McComas won the contest with the lightest vehicle that successfully dropped the egg.

Meanwhile, John Pirog designed the most successful balsa wood glider, an assignment for Drawing I classes. The planes were judged on longest flight endurance. Pirog's lasted 10.6 seconds while the shortest stayed aloft for only 1.5 seconds.

Township Center Planned

Sacred Heart Inks Pact

Officials of Wayne County and the Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center will sign a $3.8 million five-year lease this week that will allow a highly respected program for the treatment of alcoholics to begin operating this summer, admitting women and youth for the first time. An agreement to lease the now-idle Wayne County Child Development Center near Northville for use as the largest inpatient alcoholic rehabilitation center in Michigan was formally approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners at its May 20 meeting.

The agreement calls for the State Department of Social Services to pay $3,756,801 to lease the county-owned complex including 20 buildings on 100 acres of land, so that Sacred Heart officials may expand their alcoholic rehabilitation program, now headquartered in downtown Detroit.

Father Vaughn A. Quinn, director of the Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center, said he would bring in his mop and bucket crew to spruce up the facilities as soon as the lease was signed.

"No renovations are needed, so as fast as we can apply the elbow grease, we'll begin admitting patients," he added. "There may be some limit on the number of patients we can admit at first because of housekeeping chores and the fact that we have to wait 60 days for the installation of an extensive phone system.

"We probably won't be prepared to accept women and youngsters until September," he said.

Father Quinn said the addition of the Northville facility will enable him to double his patient load from 143 to 300. All patients will be screened at the present facility in Detroit before they are sent on to Northville for a minimum 17-week stay in what has been described as "the longest, toughest, most intense inpatient alcoholic treatment program in the nation." In addition, county taxpayers will save a quarter of a million dollars each year that would have been spent on maintaining the unused property.

Eye State Funds For Recreation

Northville Township trustees James Nowka and John Swienickowski were appointed as a two-man committee of the board to prepare an informal recommendation on what action, if any, to take in filing for Department of Natural Resources funding for recreation.

Since application must be made by July 1, the report was to be made immediately after further investigation and consultation with township planner George Vilican.

Recreation director Charles Froberger told the trustees that application for shared funding under the DNR land and water conservation act allows community credit for land.

It was suggested that the Six Mile Road land, which the township will own without restriction in a new agreement with Thompson-Brown Company, could be used. Froberger stated a ball diamond in that area was needed.

He stated that if application is not made this year, it can be prepared and made for next July.

Action was tabled on a letter from volunteer fireman Ronald Cousineau requesting that the township purchase a monitor which would alert him to fire calls. Estimated price was $300.

Treasurer Charles Rosenberg agreed to look into Wayne County Treasurers' Association proposal for reorganizing the SEMTA board to provide "a more equitable representation among member communities."

Northville Colony Estates was given approval to close streets for a July block party.

In State Race

William Brinker of Novi has announced his candidacy for the office of State Representative in the 24th District.

Brinker was narrowly defeated in the 1974 race for this office, but he is optimistic that he will be the Democratic Party's nominee for this post in August and will be successful in securing the seat in November.
