OUTDOOR BAND concerts on the blacktop at the top of Northville High School hill began last Wednesday. The second, including music from the show, "Brigadoon," will be at 7:30 p.m. today (Wednesday). Band students, under the direction of Robert Williams, practice on Monday nights for the summer concerts. They're given weather permitting.

AN ORDINANCE requiring notification by mail all property owners within 300 feet of any proposed zoning change has been enacted by the Northville City Council. The ordinance was recommended by the planning commission.

A PUBLIC FORUM at which Second Congressional District candidates will speak is being sponsored by the League of Women Voters at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday, July 28, in the Schoolcraft College liberal arts theater. Last night the league hosted a meeting for Northville Township candidates at the township offices.

A RESOLUTION opposing proposed state legislation (HR-8053 and S-352), which would permit federal voter registration through the Post Office system, has been adopted by the Northville City Council. Council members contend such legislation would create a dual registration system — one for federal and another for local and state elections — that "will create utter chaos and encourage duplications and fraudulent registrations."

JOINT MEETING of the Northville Township Board and the Northville City Council is scheduled for tomorrow night (Thursday) at the township hall to hear review of plans for the proposed new library. The 8 p.m. meeting was incorrectly reported earlier to have taken place last week. Besides preliminary drawings for the library, the library commission report also will include a recommendation for the location of the new facility near the Northville school administrative office building located on West Main Street.

Federal Funding Approved

Wing Street Extension Near

The long-delayed extension of South Wing Street to Seven Mile Road appears a certainty yet this year in the wake of Northville's promised receipt of federal funding.

With approval of a federally funded community development block grant, Northville is to receive $79,000 — all of which is earmarked for three specific projects: extension of Wing Street, ornamental and security lighting for Mill Race Historical Village, and beautification of the South Main boulevard.

Actually, Northville's most recent block grant for the current fiscal year is $53,000. But council chose not to use its $26,000 block grant for the previous year, preferring to lump the two grants together.

It is anticipated that the city's share of block grants next year will approximate $75,000.

Of the three improvement projects planned, $66,000 of grant monies are earmarked for Wing Street, $10,000 for Mill Race, and the remainder for South Main.

According to City Manager Steven Walters, who reported the funding approval to council members Monday, construction of the Wing extension could possibly get underway in September.

Prior to actual receipt of the Wing Street monies, however, Northville must first obtain environmental review clearance for the project. The manager anticipates little difficulty in securing this approval, and plans to solicit bids for the project soon and to perhaps recommend start of construction prior to receipt of the monies.

The stream bordering Seven Mile is to be moved some 10 feet to accommodate the extension, but this stream movement together with the extension, since it lies in with the county's Seven Mile Road right-of-way, already has received the green light from the Wayne County Road Commission.

Extension of the street has been in the planning stage for several years, but for one reason or another has been delayed while the council turned its attention to other city projects.

The extension right-of-ways, which required the removal of part of the Beatrice Carlson home, are expected to be formalized soon.

The project calls for passing and deceleration lanes.

Interestingly, 50 years or more ago, a crude roadway already existed in the block-long area where the extension is planned. It led to a stockyard-butcher operation where meat for local shops was prepared.

The lighting for the Mill Race Historical Village calls for ornamental, old-fashion poles and lamps, with underground wiring, and security lighting for the buildings. This project also is expected to be completed this year.

Improvement of the South Main boulevard, however, probably will not occur until next spring. Plans here are indefinite, but in cooperation with the county, which has jurisdiction over the roadway, the boulevard islands will be curbed and complete landscaping will be provided. Some drainage work also is anticipated.

High Rise Zoning Boosts Solar Plan

Northville Township is virtually certain to be one of five sites offered by the State of Michigan to the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) as a home for the agency's solar research laboratory.

Approval by the township's planning commission July 27 is assured following a public hearing a week ago Tuesday to discuss the merits of a rezoning ordinance.

No one showed up to argue against the new ordinance that would allow a contractor to build a structure as high as he wished.

"I feel the planning commission will now approve the proposed change," said a confident-sounding John Dugan, chairman of the commission.

If approved July 27, the ordinance change would go to the Township's board of trustees for final approval

August 12. Dugan said he couldn't predict the outcome of the trustees vote, but added, "I think they'll vote in favor of it."

"We're pretty much an advisory board to the trustees, but we have a nice rapport with them. They haven't overruled us yet, but I'd have to speak for them," he cautioned.

Dugan said the trustees want the solar energy lab to come to the township.

The ordinance in the process of being amended is Section 13.1, Research and Development of the township's Zoning Ordinance.

"The footnote to the ordinance would allow a contractor to build a structure virtually as high as he wishes so long as he maintains a pretty landscape without disturbing his neighbor's property," explained George Villican, a planning consultant to the Planning Commission.

Currently, the section says a structure can only be built 30 feet or 2½ stories high.

ERDA was supposed to get the final sites from all of the states, including Michigan, by July 15. However, the township's delay won't hurt its chances, according to John Mogk, president of Michigan Energy and Resource Research Association (MERRA).

Walnut Rezoning OK'd

Rezoning of Walnut Street property from a professional office (PO) classification back to its original residential label has been approved by the Northville City Council.

The council's action Monday, following resumption of a public hearing, ends a controversy that had hounded the city for several months.

Owned by Harry Larkin, part of the property in question had been rezoned to PO when the corner parcel (former Hammond residence) was rezoned to PO to provide for a doctor's office.

It was assumed at the time that parking requirements would necessitate acquisition of additional property. However, this need did not materialize.

Complicating the situation was the fact that the legal description of the properties in question are confusing.

Larkin, who initially favored the PO zoning, later changed his position. Still later, however, when the planning commission by a split vote recommended rezoning his property back to

Collegians Seek Homes for Strays

By JEAN DAY

FINDING HOMES for stray animals has become a cause for two Northville Schoolcraft college students.

Sue Mahoney and Martha Gaitskill are active members of the Northville Animal Aide, a group started last fall to try to find homes for unwanted animals.

"So many people try to get rid of puppies and kittens that we'd like people to know about us and register their animals," the girls explain.

They say they have a list of people with litters of kittens and puppies available. The group asks owners to keep their animals while it tries to find homes for them. Anyone seeking a pet, of course, is especially welcome to call.

The organization also has a few members who will care temporarily for real strays who have been abandoned by their owners. The girls would like to find more such helpers. Especially good, they illustrate, are farm homes.

Recently the girls received a call seeking a home for a Shetland pony, but most of the animals they have listed are small house pets.

"We got a distress call from people who found a mother bird and four babies in their air conditioner," they add, but explain they're not set up for that kind of emergency.

To become better known the Northville Animal Aide plans to set up booths at the Northville sidewalk fair July 31 and at the Northville Fair at the Downs August 11-14. Eventually, it is hoped to include Novi and Plymouth in the organization to make it area-wide.

"When people know about us," hopes Miss Mahoney, "we'll have more support and can do more," she says. Northville Animal Aide is non-profit and is in process of incorporation with the State of Michigan.

"It's strictly donation," she explains when pet owners reward them for their home-finding. Support also is coming through membership dues in the organization. There presently are 24 members on its roll.

"Linda Adamec is Number One in charge of membership," the collegians report. She may be contacted at 349-8599. Membership fees are $5 for individuals, $7.50 a couple, $2 for students and $1 for senior citizens. They may be sent to P.O. Box 74, Northville, and donors will receive a card acknowledgement, Sue Mahoney promises.

Anyone who has a stray animal or who wishes a pet may call her at 349-1831. Your call will be especially appreciated if you are willing to register to take a pet — either temporarily or permanently.

NEWCOMERS Linda and Craig Parker are opening their home at 20290 Rippling Lane for a summer luau for the club Saturday, August 14. Theirs is one of the individual, new homes built in the Highland Lakes area.

Reservations are limited to 35 couples for the dinner and Mai-Tai punch being provided by the club. Casual Polynesian attire will be in order, advises Newcomer President Claudia Berry who points out that because this event is being held in a home early reservations are needed.

They should be made by August 1 with Barbara Mendola, 349-7271.

MARIE BONAMICI, Northville artist-craftsman and owner of the Sunflower Shop, will be in Ann Arbor this Thursday for "a one-day cram session" at the 24th annual art conference sponsored by the University of Michigan Extension Service and the U-M School of Art.

"It's always the same time as the Ann Arbor Art Fair, and I usually manage to go," explains Mrs. Bonamici, mentioning that it is by advance registration but open to interested area artists. This year demonstrations will include silk screening and print making.

All of Ann Arbor is great for visiting this week, she adds, as the galleries of the new art school on the North Campus feature a show of work of recent graduates. There are graphics and American works displayed at the U-M Museum of Art at State and South University.

The art fair, a juried event filling campus streets, opens today and runs through Saturday.

JANE FORRER, who is to become the bride of Scott Wilson this Saturday at First Presbyterian Church in Northville, was honored twice recently at miscellaneous bridal shower luncheons.

At noon this Saturday two of her mother's close friends, Mrs. Alvin Wistert and Mrs. H. O. Evans, are co-hosting a bridesmaids' luncheon at the Round Table in Plymouth. Included will be Jane's sister, Sue, who is to be honor maid, and bridesmaids Janet Wilson, sister of the bridegroom, Lani Chichester of Grand Rapids, Beverly Dyke of Mason, Michigan, and Mrs. Fred Holdsworth.

The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Gordon Forrer, her fiancé's mother, Mrs. M. E. Wilson, and grandmother, Mrs. S. M. Wilson, both of Granite City, Illinois, also will be guests as will Jane's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles Hanke of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Wistert also was co-hostess for a luncheon shower the end of June given with the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. Graydon Forrer of Grand Blanc, at the Wistert home.

Last Sunday Mrs. Holdsworth, the former Laura Guider for whom Jane was honor maid, and her mother, Mrs. Charles Guider, entertained at a bridal luncheon at the Guider home on West Main Street.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Hanke, Misses Chichester and Dyke, Sue Cole of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Richard Kay of Grosse Pointe.

LAURA HOLDSWORTH plans to leave the day after Jane Forrer's wedding for Baltimore where her husband has found an apartment for them. He called with the good news after pitching outstanding shut-out relief for the Orioles against the California Angels Saturday. His new berth with the Orioles has meant a move from Rochester, New York.

Mrs. Holdsworth says she "doesn't mind the moving a bit" as that's part of being a baseball pitcher's wife.

SCOTT EVANS, who had been on tour of Central and South America with Sports Ambassadors, a team of college varsity baseball players from throughout the United States who also act as missionaries for Overseas Crusades, Incorporated, returned a week earlier than expected. An ankle injury on the pitching mound terminated his play.

Now visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Evans of Woodhill Road, he will affiliate with the Detroit office of International Business Machines and the first of August is to begin an eight-month training program.

THE HARRY Hartshornes and son, Neal, 12, in spite of the warnings of excessive crowds, visited Philadelphia earlier this month. Even at the liberty bell, where crowds did gather to "touch", Mrs. Hartshorne reports, there were not as many tourists as expected.

They returned through the Menno-nite country near Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Hartshorne, who had made the trip last fall to Shipshewana in the Amish area of Indiana with Northville Questers, mentions that the Pennsylvania members of the sect wear similar bonnets and dresses but in color rather than the black seen in Indiana.

Tradition for Attendants

Brides, Bridegrooms Say 'Thank You' with Gifts

Brides and their bridegrooms, in addition to being recipients of white-bowed and wrapped gifts, also are givers of presents.

It has become an established tradition for a bride to "Thank" each member of her bridal party with a gift that will be a memento of her wedding.

The bridegroom, likewise, remembers his best man, groomsmen and ushers.

A survey of Northville-Novi area couples who were married during recent months reveals that this is a well-honored custom here with both brides and their husbands choosing imaginatively.

Not every couple can shop in Spain for gifts, but that is what Debbie Pickren and John M. Miller II did last spring. Both were on a student travel-study program from John Wesley College in Owasco.

Debbie found inlaid wooden boxes for attendants while John bought crosses with gold inlay on chains for the best man, ushers and groomsmen in their wedding June 19.

Back home, he also bought belt buckles for each. Debbie's twin sister, Darcie, was married a little more than three months earlier on March 13 to Mark Gordon Young.

She handknitted slippers for her attendants, while he bought wooden boxes that were imports from India for his ushers.

Among the most unusual — and timely — of the gifts bridegrooms gave their ushers were the Bicentennial uncirculated mint sets of coins given by Wayne Loder. He presented a proof set of the coins to his brother, who was best man.

His bride of June 19, Patricia Dryer, gave her attendants necklaces with a carved ivory rose and matching earrings, which they wore for the ceremony.

She presented her flower girl and junior bridesmaid with necklaces with crosses.

When Debra Frounfelter became the bride of Steven Sechler May 29 at First Presbyterian Church in Northville, her attendants all wore her gift of gold choker necklaces with hearts.

They were her sister, Nancy Anderson, who was matron of honor, and bridesmaids Shelly Anderson, Camille Lambert, Anne Foley and Sue Frounfelter, her sister-in-law from College Station, Texas. Her niece, Amie Anderson, was flower girl.

Steve's best man, Bill Degrow, and ushers, Nick Blaney, Ed Rice, Thomas Frounfelter and Mike Sechler, all received money clip-wallets. Ring bearer Johnny Rice was presented with a Bicentennial coin set.

Mrs. Donald Ali, who was Jean Beurkens before her marriage December 20, was visiting her parents this month from her home in Clearwater, Florida, to attend a friend's wedding.

She recalled that she gave her three attendants gold choker necklaces which they wore in her wedding. Since they carried everlasting bouquets of dried flowers, they also were able to keep them as remembrances.

Denise Sterner's attendants also carried dried arrangements. These were in wicker baskets for the girls to keep. Her bridegroom of June 12, Wesley Wegner, gave his attendants cash gifts as they were from out-of-town and had expenses here, Denise's mother explained.

Because she felt her attendants had varying tastes in jewelry, Carole Terry decided upon gifts of white evening bags for her assistants. She gave her little flower girl a cross necklace, at her May 22 marriage.

Her bridegroom, Paul Kobe, presented little pocket computers to his best man and groomsmen.

When Linda Robins became the bride of Robert Twine, Jr., on December 20, she chose silver necklaces for her five attendants and for her flower girl, who was her little sister, Beth.

Signet necklaces with the three initials of each bridesmaid and the honor maid were presented by Janisse Black when she became the bride of James Spagnuolo April 24.

He gave money clips to his best man and ushers.

JEWELRY GIFTS—As Jacqueline and Michele Wallace, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallace, Jr., of Novi, married about four months apart this year, their mother advised both to consider jewelry gifts as a special "thank you" to the attendants who were in the wedding parties. Michele gave the gold bracelet marked with initials and matching gold-and-pearl necklace while Jackie ordered the dainty rhinestone initial necklaces.

Novi Surveillance Team Aims at Heart of Crime

By WAYNE LODER

You wouldn't suspect they were cops. In fact, you probably wouldn't give them a second thought.

But their job is all important — to make Novi a safer place to live. And the four-man surveillance crew uses some rather unorthodox ways of accomplishing their mission.

Since the institution of the unit under a grant last year, the surveillance team has become perhaps the most controversial part of the entire Novi Police Department.

Because their work is secretive, the team members don't get the glory that their uniformed counterparts do. Yet they, too, are out on the streets for 40 to 60 hours each week helping to lower the crime rate.

"Recently I was fortunate enough to become the first non-policeman to be allowed to accompany the group — to learn firsthand what it's like to follow a suspected felon in hopes he may slip up.

On the particular night I accompanied the group, only three cars were in use with one man per car. The crew leader was on vacation.

All of the team members have a code name and Condor, my partner, explained that with the crew short a car, a surveillance of a moving vehicle would be much harder.

Two assignments were on tap for the night. First, we were to watch a man suspected of having been involved in an armed robbery in Novi. Second was a surveillance of the rest area on the I-96 expressway. The crew had been briefed on its targets earlier in the day by the man in charge of the unit, Sergeant Gordon Nelson.

We were lucky, the crew told me, as we spotted the suspect's car quickly and moved to a concealed surveillance point where we could watch the car.

While we waited, Condor explained to me that the team has a special surveillance unit frequency which only they and a Louisiana unit use. Though it would be almost impossible for anyone to monitor the frequency, which is kept top secret even by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), the team members use code learned during their six months of intensive training with the state police to throw off anyone listening.

"The odds of anyone associating it with Novi are small," commented Condor.

Because the unit was not funded at as high a level as hoped, there's not much specialized equipment. Aside from the cars, the group also has strong binoculars and some disguises that help if someone questions their presence.

"If someone comes up to you, you've got to give them a good story like you're an Edison foreman checking the lines," explained Condor.

"If you work a subdivision, the odds are someone's going to call the police and tell them you're going to rob their house," added my partner. "This puts a burden on the marked units because they have to come up with a good story to tell the person who complained. They can't very well say it's a surveillance."

The team isn't about to reveal all its secrets, but the surveillance cars themselves are specially designed and equipped to help in the surveillance of moving vehicles.

Political Realities Emerge In Super Sewer Resolution

While the Novi City Council still supports the total Super Sewer concept of alternate I, that body Monday night cited the need for expediency in passing a resolution that alternates IC and III be considered.

Alternate I, which the council had gone on record supporting previously, calls for construction of the complete Super Sewer system with treatment plant serving Washtenaw, Wayne, and Oakland Counties at the mouth of the Huron River, discharging into Lake Erie. The Water Resources Commission has ruled out Alternate I.

Alternate III, which Washtenaw County is seeking, calls for sewer plants in both Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti with the remainder of super sewer intact.

Alternate IC calls for the sewer plant in Ann Arbor to remain with the rest of super sewer intact. All three of the proposals in the Novi council motion call for the abandonment of the Walled Lake treatment plant in Novi. Council appears fearful of the consequences of huge amounts of treated effluent flowing from an enlarged Walled Lake treatment plant which services areas to the north, but less than half of Novi.

Novi Council members appeared fearful that, while believing Alternate I is best, a prolonged court battle by Wayne County to stop Washtenaw County and plans for sewage plants in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti would leave Novi in a position where it could not get either further capacity through super sewer or by construction of a sewage treatment plant in time to take care of the city's needs. "We're fearful that a delay of one, two or three years will stop the growth of this community," stated City Engineer Harry Mosher.

Oakland County DPW Director Donald Ringler, who was present at the meeting, agreed that a long court battle could result, thus hurting Novi.

The Novi resolution is slightly different from a resolution suggested by Oakland County which resolved that Alternate I plan most desirable, but that Plan IC "is an acceptable alternate."

Intent of that suggested resolution, according to Ringler, is to lend support to Wayne County, based upon wishes of Oakland County municipalities.

Ringler said that "Wayne County might prevail on the Water Commission to reverse its 'previous action' which would allow Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti to construct their own plants.

However, one of the main purposes motivating Novi's resolution was to get something going so that Novi will be able to solve future capacity problems.

A movement by council member Robert Schmid to get Alternate III removed from the original motion failed 3-3 before the council approved the final amendment and motion which stated that while Alternate I was the best plan, the city would support Alternates IC and III to keep various alternatives open.

The council members also indicated a fear that if legal action between Wayne and Washtenaw Counties takes place, federal funds for the building of super sewer could be lost as the court case drags on.

The resolution approved by the council stated "that any dilatory action or position taken by the Wayne County Road Commission that would jeopardize the acquisition of available Federal funds or impede the normal growth of the City of Novi will be viewed as fiscally damaging and will necessitate the City of Novi taking whatever action is necessary to insure that federal funds will be applied to increase the sanitary sewer capacity for the city of Novi."

The final portion of the resolution resolved "that the city administration and city attorney are hereby directed to take whatever action is necessary to insure that Federal funds due the city of Novi shall not be lost for reasons of delay rising out of the dispute between Wayne and Washtenaw Counties."

'Swimmers Itch'

Air Beachwalk Problems

Novi residents near Beachwalk are up in arms over the appearance of what they call "swimmers itch", plus other problems with the Novi development.

Beachwalk, which is located on East Lake Drive, has a drainage outlet into Walled Lake. While the Department of Natural Resources had approved the drain and measures taken by the developer, resident Lawrence Kern told the council Monday that "children are coming up with sores and the health department said they have no business swimming within 500 feet of the drain."

Several lots are located in that area and, according to Kern, the health department said residents there would have to swim at the Lakeshore Park Beach.

Kern added that "I could march in 10 children right now with sores on them."

Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall said that he had talked with a representative of the health department who claimed that the sores were actually impetigo spread by body contact. Members of the audience said that doctors examining some of the cases said the sores definitely were not impetigo.

Kriewall added that "I didn't buy it and told him I wanted samples of the water taken." The city manager estimated results would be in within a week with the findings. He did not indicate what action would be taken if a health hazard did exist although the city manager said it will require the Beachwalk developer, Bernard Glibberman, to clean up the outlet.

Other residents at the meeting were also complaining of the stench and placed much of the blame on the outlet area, noting that it was not kept clean.

In addition, Kern complained that a berm placed between Beachwalk and residents had not been seeded properly and that water from the project continued to flood what was left of the neighbors' back yards. The back yard of one home, that owned by the John Edwards family, had never received from the developer topsoil which was promised after most of it was washed away over a year ago.

Mayor Gilbert Henderson directed that the city administration itself look into bringing in the dirt promised.

Residents also complained that some of the grades from the project left dirt several feet high on the back of neighbors' property. While fences are scheduled to be placed, Henderson directed that City Engineer Harry Mosher hold back the developer from placing the fences until it could be determined where the dirt should stop.

Korex Violations Attacked in Wixom

The thorny issue of the Korex Company and obvious ordinance violations came to a head at the Tuesday night Wixom Council meeting resulting in a strongly worded motion addressed to the company.

The eight violations cited ranged from inadequate sanitary facilities to possible unsafe conditions leading to condemnation of the building itself.

City Attorney Harold Bulgarelli was instructed by council, in a three to one vote, to notify the company of its many ordinance violations and of the City's intent to prosecute should the company not comply with the demands.

It was during the last council meeting in June that Councilman James Lahde ordered both the building and police departments to submit a list of actual violations to council for action. That list was presented to council Tuesday night.

Peter Paisley, owner of the company, was not present at the meeting but charged

North End, Novi Officials Seek Park Revitalization

A spark of life.

That's what Novi officials and north end residents are hoping for as they make plans for renovation of the long lifeless Lakeshore City Park near Walled Lake.

Since the city took over, there have not been enough funds available to maintain the once lively park which used to be sought out by vacationers as a place to camp during the hot summer months. And the vandals have destroyed many of the last relics left from the old bustling park.

But a contingent of north Novi residents and city officials are sticking their necks out to try and rejuvenate the park.

Anyone passing by the park this week will notice that work is half completed on knocking down a prominent hill in the park — the new location for a baseball diamond which sponsors of the project hope will be a drawing card to the park. Warren and Sons Construction and B&V Construction are two local companies that have donated equipment for the project. And sponsors are looking for others.

But the baseball diamond is only the first step.

An activity center-bathhouse is on the way thanks to a $37,500 grant from the federal government. That structure could be in next year as officials see it as the key piece in revitalization of the park. A director of activity is anticipated.

According to LaVern Reinke, President of the North Novi Civic Association, within a few weeks, playground equipment including a buckaboo, swings, slides and climber will be installed by the Novi Jaycees. The equipment is coming from the Parks and Recreation Commission which had purchased it with federal revenue sharing funds.

In addition, Reinke said the civic association will be refurbishing picnic tables and putting in new grills. Plans include

with their initials were given by Mary Higgins to her three attendants when she became the bride of James Hoose, Jr.,
June 11.
He presented his best man and ushers with monogrammed glassbottomed pewter mugs.

Pewter also was chosen by Mary Barron, who gave her four attendants pewter cups with names inscribed, when she became the bride of William B. Andrews last fall.
Her bridal attendants also had the dried corsages tied with rust ribbons from the ceremony to keep.

Gifts are similar, apparently, throughout the country. As George Murany took Kathleen Fontana as his bride last fall in Tucson, Arizona, she bought earrings for her three attendants while he presented his with ties.

Both daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallace, Jr., of Novi were married this year and both chose jewelry gifts for members of their bridal parties.

Michele, who became the June bride of Stephen Pieknik, gave gold bracelets with three initials and gold choker necklaces with pearls to the bridesmaids. To her matron of honor she gave a ruby and pearl pendant.

Her bridegroom presented his attendants with unusual identification bracelets of silver and gold.

Her sister, Jacqueline Wallace, who married David Kirchenbauer of VanWert,
Ohio, in February at St.
John's Armenian Church, presented silver chain necklaces with rhinestone initials to her bridal party.

Both sisters chose necklaces with crosses as gifts for their flower girls.

Because jewelry gifts usually are worn at the wedding, the brides who gave them explain, they are popular keepsakes as they have this sentimental connection.

But whether it's jewelry, a pewter piece or some other gift, it is very much part of the wedding tradition.

Novi Inks Pact With Secretaries

An agreement with the Secretary Association of the Novi School District was ratified by the board last week.

Included in the agreement, according to the administration, were the following changes: board paid retirement of five percent; accumulated sick leave bank increased from 60 to 74 days; hospitalization—elimination of head of household clause.

In addition there were some changes in the level of job assignment classifications.

According to Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz, the contract does not include a pay raise but instead includes the five percent board paid retirement which could be considered a raise.

Except for secretaries at the top pay level, other secretaries would receive normal yearly incremental raise based upon years with the district (upon which levels are based).

The agreement was unanimously approved by the school board.

Drop Home Construction

Construction of a house by building trades program students at Novi High School took a step backward last week when the board decided to hold off construction for a year rather than lose reimbursement monies.

Less than a month before, the board had approved spending up to $35,000 for purchase of land and materials to be used for the new home.

However, Robert Young, Director of Vocational Education sent a letter to Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz informing him that because the home construction would be a change in the program, the district would stand to lose $225 per student from the U.S.

Office of Education — approximately $3,500 total.

Actually, the students did construct a home last year, but it was still considered an in-school program because the materials and land were provided by an outside party.

This year the school district had actually planned on purchasing property, allowing the students to build the home, with the home sold afterward.

"I find that this is considered as revising the program and we must make application this fall just as though it were a new program," said Young's letter. "This means we cannot implement the change until next year."

Young recommended the board continue the in-school program another year and take advantage of the time to plan for the construction of a home in the following year.

"It seems that if we have a program that's worthwhile and have committed $35,000, the sum of $3500 shouldn't change our outlook," said trustee Joel Colliau. "If it's worthwhile with the $3,500, why isn't it worth it without $3,500."

Commented trustee Ruth Waldenmayer, "I feel the children should be on the ground floor of choosing the property, learning building codes and from the ground floor up."

General consensus of the school board was to go with the in school program.

Residents tapped into the Walled Lake sewer system will be faced with a stiff cost jump on bills after September 1.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works has notified the city that the rate will increase from $12 per quarter to $20 per quarter per tap.

According to Oakland County DPW Superintendent Donald Ringer, inadequate tap sales has resulted in the Walled Lake sewer system and treatment plant operating at a loss. Where 4,350 taps were projected by 1976, only 2,345 actually were purchased. A total loss of $141,500 has been accumulated since the system went into use.

Since the Oakland County DPW will charge the city the additional $8 a quarter per tap, the city council approved passing the increase on to customers in the system.

"I want it clearly noted that Oakland County will charge us $20 per quarter effective September 1 and we have no choice," stated Mayor Pro Tem Martha Hoyer.

Finance Director Fred Todd added that the city will have to come up with 150 taps per year over the next five years to total 3000 in the system. This would wipe out the deficit. However, Todd said that if the city did not come up with the taps, it might be faced with another rate hike from Oakland County.

Park Revitalization

placing a flower box around the big Lakeshore Park sign. Two picnic areas within the park itself plus additional space near the beach are being eyed by the association.

Additional parking space is expected behind the activity center.

The North Novi Civic Association is going to build more playground equipment, added Reinke.

"Maybe we can make a few nature trails in back," said a hopeful Reinke.

City administrators have also shown an interest in helping the project, and City Manager Edward Kriewall says the city has been doing what it can including providing a lifeguard at the beach thanks to grants.

But, said Kriewall, it's not enough.

"I think we need to have people specifically in summertime maintenance," said Kriewall. "But even grants we would look into require matching funds and we really don't have funds to match."

Kriewall added that he supports a Parks and Recreation request of a few weeks ago which would have put a half mill question for three years on the ballot.

It would have provided some funds for helping out the Lakeshore Park, as well as other parks around the city. While the council voted against putting the question on the ballot, a group of private citizens are reportedly gathering petitions in hopes of getting the question on the May ballot.

John Balagna, Chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission, who is not gathering signatures but is aware of the drive, said that he expects enough signatures to be received by the residents to at least get the question on the ballot.

"It will give the people an opportunity to say yes or no," commented Balagna. He added that even if the question does get on the ballot and is approved by voters, it is unknown how much of that money would go to Lakeshore Park. The amount would depend largely on how much is accomplished at the park by other means.

At this point, added Balagna, the Parks and Rec Commission can only give "moral support and a few strong arms."

But both Reinke and Mayor Pro-Tem Martha Hoyer, a past president of the North Novi Civic Association, indicated their optimism even without additional funds.

Mrs. Hoyer said that she believes the park will help to solidify a good relationship between the north end and the rest of Novi "if we have a park that will draw and allow people to become familiar with this end of town."

"It's going to help the north end and all of Novi," seconded Reinke, who asked that anyone interested in helping call 624-7484.

"The park is being used by more and more people," added Reinke. "My feeling is, why go to Kensington? If we can get it fixed up, we've got a Kensington right there."

Chairmen Report

CAC-76 Sees Progress On Its Recommendations

Substantial progress towards implementing recommendations of the Citizens Advisory Committee 1976 (CAC-76) are being made by the board of education.

That's the general tone of a report issued this week by the co-chairmen of CAC-76, who noted that continuation of the advisory committee activities included periodic reporting of the progress of its recommendations.

"A few variances" from the recommendations, however, are apparent, the co-chairmen pointed out.

Specifically, for example, only $235,000 of the recommended allocation of $245,000 has been authorized for instruction equipment, said Co-Chairmen Miles Tuttle and Arlen Westling. This $235,000, they noted, includes $45,000 for the sixth and ninth grade instructional supplies due to program changes and improvements.

Nevertheless, "considerable work has been completed to date and, in general, the Northville Public School system is working to meet the recommendations," they said.

Concerning the planning status, they observed:

1. The re-emphasizing of building administrators involvement with central administration in operating budgets.

2. The hiring of an administrative assistant to handle operations.

3. The two-year teacher contracts will be addressed during the teacher negotiations.

4. The semi-annual collection of taxes is now being addressed by the CAC-76 financial subcommittee. (The Novi portion of the district has already launched a semi-annual collection).

The recommended quarterly reports have not yet been received, but publication is to be finalized before September, the co-chairmen pointed out. Format and content of these reports is to be decided upon by September.

Curriculum status, as outlined by the co-chairmen, point up that (1) approximately $65,000 total has been budgeted for upgrading reference materials such as textbooks and library books; and (2) a curriculum council has been re-established and is functioning with the curriculum coordinator to be hired by September 1, 1976.

As for the fundamental approach to education, they observed that (1) due to reduction in student concentrations in the high school and middle school, more attention to student behavior will be possible, and (2) a review of open classroom and curriculum is currently under study by citizens curriculum committees and their recommendations will be made to the board this year.

"A complete program of elementary music, art, and physical education will be offered with the equivalent total of two two-fifths teachers, is between the one teacher equivalent in 1975-76 and the three teacher equivalent in 1974-75. The middle school counseling will remain unchanged, they noted, with each of two counselors per school, teaching one class each. However, one full-time librarian per school has been allocated, they added.

"It is intended that this status report," Tuttle and Westling concluded, "serve as an indication of progress relative to the written commitments made to CAC-76 by the school board and superintendent. Facts and figures are sometimes mis- editorialized, but it is safe to say that more work has been completed than remains to be completed relative to the millage commitment."

Weekend Bonanza

Salem Plans Celebration

Arts and crafts, carnival, beef roast, young artists festival, pancake breakfast, antique airplanes, horse show.

All are just part of the giant Salem Bicentennial Celebration planned July 30, 31 and August 1 in Northville's neighboring township—Salem.

"This is a first for our community and we are working very hard to make it a very special event," said Mrs. Edward Stephens, chairperson for the celebration.

Although the celebration does not officially get underway until Friday, July 30, a special carnival discount day is planned one day earlier, committee members noted.

Among those activities planned throughout the three-day program are:

Arts and crafts booths, dunk tank, carnival, beef roast dinner entertainment and refreshment tent, young artists festival carrying the theme "America, The Beautiful," and square dancing from 8 to 11 p.m.

On Saturday and Sunday, a pancake breakfast will be served from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m., antique cars and tractors will be exhibited, pony rides provided and children's games with prizes, and music are planned.

Retired Trustees Cited

Resolutions honoring two recently retired Northville Board of Education members have been unanimously adopted by the board.

Receiving copies of the resolutions are Dr. Orlo J. Robinson and Martin L. Rinehart. The latter served on the board from 1971 through June 30 of this year, while Dr. Robinson served from 1967 to June 30 of this year.

The resolutions recognize these former members' faithful and diligent service to the citizens of Northville, and it points out that their "unselfish time and effort" will long be remembered and appreciated by citizens, students and staff and individual board members of the school district.

Surveillances Are Both Exciting, Dull

Plans are in the works for the group to get high powered cameras to provide evidence in court and body transmitters so that members can leave their cars without being away from a radio. The crew also will be receiving a special scope that will enable them to see perfectly in the dark.

While the surveillance unit has come under criticism for not spending all or even most of its time in Novi, Condor explained to me that all surveillances in some way involve a Novi crime.

In the first nine months of the grant, 43 warrants were issued as a result of surveillance activity in crimes such as breakings and enterings, auto theft, larceny, murder, arson, and sex crimes. Approximately $250,000 in stolen property was recovered.

As one example, 50 breakings and enterings in several communities including Novi were wrapped up as a result of arrests brought about by the surveillance unit in just one case. The arrests in that same case also solved a $100,000 arson fire in Commerce Township.

Nelson, told me later that the surveillance unit is directly responsible for lowering the increase in crime in many felony categories in Novi.

While the surveillance crew and I waited, Snake, one of the other members of the unit, told me that normally the crew has someone facing in all directions when it waits for a suspect to leave in his car.

"You've got to keep your eye out," he said. "If you miss it (the car), you know you're done."

After close to an hour of watching and waiting, our suspect finally started his car and entered one of Novi's main streets. My partner's car was the third unit out and so we listened to the radio as the other members of the team used code to keep us up on movement of the suspect.

As we followed, I learned that a car would stay the "eye" behind the suspect's car for only a few minutes before another car in the surveillance unit would take over that position.

Our surveillance covered only about 40 miles but seemed like it lasted several hours. The crew had to stay close enough not to lose the suspect, but far enough back not to be spotted. It sounds easy, but it isn't.

"Once you lose a guy, you're really lucky if you find him," said Condor.

There's lots of high speed driving, cutting in and out of traffic and even going through red lights to stay up with our man.

"If you don't do it, it's going to be a lousy surveillance because you're never going to be in the ballpark," explained Condor.

At least twice during our surveillance, the crew thought it had lost the car—once when the lead man found himself following a different, but same make car and a second time when the lead unit thought the target car might have turned in heavy traffic. Both times we were lucky—we found him.

We followed the suspect from spot to spot as he made stops. Surveillances have a twofold purpose. One is to catch the suspected felon in a criminal act. The second is to gather enough material and information to build a case in court on the original crime.

This time there was no crime. But with the added knowledge the crew gathered, a tighter case is being woven against the suspect.

A surveillance usually does not end until the suspect is home and the crew is satisfied he is in bed for the night.

However, the night I was out, the third time we thought we had lost our suspect, we had. Plans were for us to head back to the 1-96 rest area in Novi anyway and so we weren't too upset by the turn of events.

The rest area has been a major source of complaints in Novi. Homosexual activity is reportedly common. Stolen automobiles, rapes, felonious assaults, sales of drugs and armed robberies of travelers have taken place there, Nelson said.

Since the surveillance crew began working the rest area more than 20 arrests for homosexual activity have taken place as the direct result of the surveillance. Bandit, the third member of the team, told me that because of the constant surveillances in the rest area, "You don't get blatant acts anymore. They're more careful."

When our car reached the rest area, Condor and I waited in the vehicle while Snake and Bandit scouted the dark areas of the perimeter. It wasn't long before a call came from their walkie-talkies telling that they had arrested two men in the picnic area for alleged homosexual activity.

Both men were led back to the car handcuffed and the crew transported them to the station. Normally marked cars are called in to make the arrest so that surveillance team members are not "burned"—identified—but when a crime is taking place and there's no time to get a "black and white", the surveillance unit makes its own arrests.

While waiting for the paperwork to be completed, I decided to call it a night. But the surveillance crew went back out later to watch the rest area some more.

After surveillance assignments end for the night, team members then patrol the streets just like a marked car. But they have the added advantage of being unrecognizable as officers.

Summed up Condor of the whole operation and the contribution of the surveillance team, "Total manpower has got to be the greatest contribution."

Schoolcraft College

Reunion July 31

A reunion of students and staff associated with student activities at Schoolcraft College has been set for Saturday, July 31.

Invitations to the event have gone out from Mary Ellen Wiltse Skene, Student Senate president in 1971, and Mark McQuesten, a senator from 1969-71 who is now an elected member of the college's board of trustees. The reunion will be held at the Newman House, on Haggerty just south of the main campus. It begins at 2 p.m. It will be a family outing with those attending providing their own picnic lunches.

Invitations have been extended to all students and staff who have participated on the senate, newspaper, radio station, student activities or program boards at any time since the college opened in 1964.

Persons planning to attend can help the committee by calling Mrs. Skene at 453-1924, McQuesten at 459-0367 or Patrick Newman, counselor in charge of student activities at the college, at 591-6400.

For Fourth—Vernon

"Everyone... did a tremendous job," exclaimed Northville Mayor Pro Tem Paul Vernon, in praising the efforts of the city DPW, Jaycees, the Bicentennial Commission and local citizens in making the Fourth of July celebration here a success. Vernon's comments were echoed by other council members at Monday's council meeting.

It was a festive day, said Vernon, that was made all the more successful by the way citizens spruced up their properties to mark the occasion. "I'm proud," he said.

BEA CARLSON

Speaking for Myself

A Woman For Vice-President?

MIKE FARRELL

YES . . .

A woman in politics is nothing new. The Old Testament is full of accounts of women, good and bad, who played important roles in national life.

The first equal rights law was written in the time of Moses. Up to that time, if a father died leaving no son, his daughters did not inherit what he left. The five daughters of Zelophehad appealed to Moses and the congregation and said, "Why should the name of our father be done away from among his family because he hath no son?" After taking this matter to God, Moses wrote, "If a man die and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass to his daughters." (Numbers 27:8)

These women had filed one of the earliest lawsuits on record. Jurists still turn to it from time to time for opinions as it is still cited as an authority.

Through the centuries the greatest power on earth has constantly been developing, the thinking power of women. Today not only in our nation, but throughout the world, there are highly educated women in all fields, law, finance, education, health, the sciences, etc., and I believe the time has come to demolish prejudices and outmoded customs which act as a barrier to the full partnership of women in our great country.

Bea Carlson
Former Northville Councilwoman

NO . . .

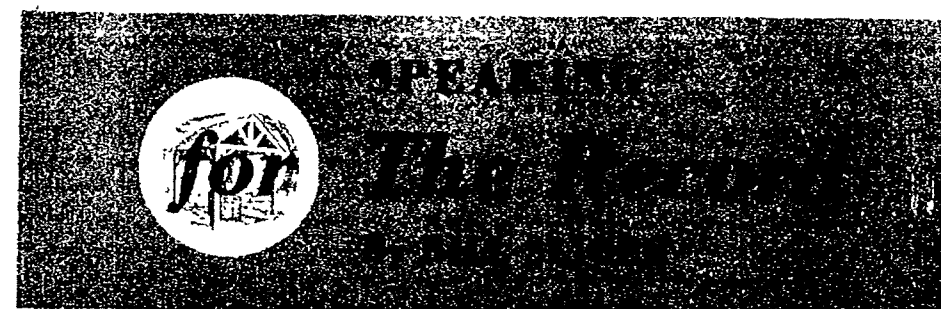

Of our past six presidents, three have been vice presidents who succeeded to the highest office upon the death or resignation of their predecessor. That underscores the necessity of choosing a vice president eminently qualified to become the chief executive.

Names like Mondale, Jackson and Muskie (for the Democrats) and Connally, Reagan and Percy (for the GOP) have been banded about for the vice nominations. Today, I don't find in either party women of equal experience, prominence or leadership ability. Perhaps, former U.S. Senator Margaret Chase Smith might have capably filled the job. And perhaps, Barbara Jordan will rise to the level of national prominence.

There is, I believe, one further aspect of this question. In the headlong rush to equal rights for women, we have forgotten some basic human principles. The role in which God created and placed woman was not one of inequality or inferiority, but one of complementing the role of man. God entrusted women with bearing children, making the home and being a loving mother. Men were to support their families, protect them and be the leader.

Leadership is basically a male responsibility. The Indira Gandhis, the Golda Meirs are few and far between.

Mike Farrell
Pastor, Northville

In less than two weeks an important primary election will be held to determine nominees for local, state and federal offices.

Noteworthy in this area is the Second Congressional District race in both the Democratic and Republican party primaries. The seat is being vacated by Marvin Esch, who is seeking the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

The Second District sprawls from Northville (Wayne county portion of city and township) through Livonia and Plymouth and then west and south to pick up Washtenaw and Monroe counties all the way to the Ohio border.

Two of the candidates have strong Northville ties and both would make capable representatives in Washington.

They are Republican State Senator Carl Pursell and Democrat Marvin Stempien, a former state legislator.

Pursell is an effective legislator who understands and practices the keen art of compromise. He works at his job to obtain the very most for his constituency. He is responsive and readily available.

Pursell has gained the respect of fellow legislators and is ranked as one of the outstanding members of the State Senate.

Both Pursell and Stempien are well known in Northville. Both had a hand in bringing the Michigan State Police complex to Northville township.

Briefly, when City Attorney Philip Ogilvie served as municipal judge in Northville, Stempien held the position of Northville city attorney. He's well acquainted with and in Northville.

In the Democratic and Republican primary races for Second Congressional District local voters should cast their ballots for Republican Pursell and Democrat Stempien.

In several of the other primary races nominees are unopposed leaving the run-off battles until the November election. This is true in the case of the Republican side of the 24th State Representative District where Incumbent Richard Fessler has no opposition.

This district covers the Oakland county portion of the city of Northville as well as Novi and Wixom.

Democratic candidates in the primary include William Brinker of Novi and George Montgomery and William Roberts, the young mayor of the city of Walled Lake.

We will comment on this important Democratic primary race in next week's edition.

Republican State Representative Robert Geake of Northville is unopposed as is his November Democratic opponent, Jerome Harris. Neither party has more than one candidate running for the county commission seats now held by Republican Mary Dumas in the Northville Wayne county area and Republican Dennis Murphy in the Oakland county area.

Northville township voters will have some local decisions to make, however.

Three millage issues face the voters: a 1.5 mill request for police and .5 mills each for library and recreation.

On the Republican ballot there's a host of candidates providing races for supervisor, two four-year trustee seats, clerk and treasurer. Four seek two constable positions.

Only one candidate, a Republican, filed for the lone two-year trustee seat on the township board. A single Democrat filed for a four-year trustee term.

These are important issues and races in Northville township. In this edition (Pages 2-D and 3-D) the responses of candidates to questions posed by the League of Women Voters are published.

The Record has also asked each board candidate two questions and the answers will appear along with their personal biographies next week.

While we're on the subject of politics and between the national conventions, I would wager that the Republican party will be hard pressed to match the keynote address given by Texas Congresswoman Barbara Jordan.

It was the most stirring, thought-provoking and elocutionarily-perfect speech I have ever heard given.

It was a political speech given at a political party's most partisan occasion, yet it was constructive rather than abrasive.

It reminded me of the best oratorical efforts of the late John F. Kennedy. And it left me convinced that Congresswoman Jordan can and will make a tremendous contribution to this nation's future.

First Harvest

To the Editor:

There is not much point in beating a dead issue further into the ground, but I feel that one short footnote should be added to the Northville Board of Education's decision to let the grade restructuring issue stand as is.

Many of us did not really believe the 6-3-3 grade formula would be changed at this late date, but I, for one, was disappointed that the Board and the administration did not, at the very least, intelligently debate or address themselves to the educational pros-and-cons of alternatives such as the 5-2-2-3 formula other than to say that it might involve added transportation costs. I still don't think our community really knows — if only for future reference — whether this plan is educationally sound or unsound, particularly by comparison with the formula that's been adopted. Worst of all, we don't know whether the Board or the Superintendent really know. If they do, they've done a good job of dodging the issue.

Furthermore, we're still left with the feeling our community was very neatly misled into believing that the 3-9 extra millage passed last Spring would help to hold the line — if not result in some improvement — in preserving a semblance of quality education here in Northville. Much like our new Director of

Slaps Grade Restructuring

To the Editor:

As parents of two Extended School Year students, we are unhappily surprised to hear that cutbacks in the ESY program are being considered.

Our children, now in the fifth and seventh grades, have been on the 45-15 schedule for three full school years, and we are pleased with the program. We have enjoyed several trips, free from crowds of tourists, during spring and fall vacations. While we might have enjoyed more summer vacation time, we have appreciated the fact that summer vacations have not been wearisome, as they definitely were on the traditional schedule. Most important, the children have gone back to school with great enthusiasm after each vacation period.

At this point, when more than half the elementary school students in the district are in ESY, it would seem to us to make more sense to strengthen the ESY program than to dilute it in any way. Since ours is no longer an agricultural society, there is no need for children to be out of school all summer. It makes more sense to utilize school facilities as fully as possible and to take advantage of the benefits of ESY for children and teachers demonstrated right here in Northville.

We can expect problems at the high school level to diminish as greater numbers of ESY children come up through the elementary and middle schools.

One of Northville's major attractions is its progressive school system, of which ESY is an important feature. We see no reason to limit this program at the present time, when it is gaining in acceptance and showing its great worth.

Yours sincerely,
Mr. & Mrs. William McKnight

A-Power Safe

To the Editor:

An article in a recent issue of your newspaper discussed the use of nuclear power for the production of electrical energy.

The article makes a point of noting that government insurance is necessary to cover risks involved. A headline states, "If nuclear power is so safe, why won't private companies take the risk and provide the added insurance?"

The implication, of course, is that nuclear power must not be safe.

Words are strange things. This is often so — not because of what the words express but because of what is not stated.

I would point out the government insures many things, including:

- Bank Accounts
- House Mortgages
- Crops
- Ship Mortgages
- Insurance
- Pension Funds

Because the government insures these things, are they not safe?

The government charges a premium for its nuclear power plant indemnity insurance. Since this insurance went into effect in 1957 the government has collected premiums, returned none, and paid out nothing, because there have been no losses to be borne by the government.

Insurance for nuclear power plants is also provided by private insurance companies. The safety record of the utilities has been so good that two-thirds of the premiums paid to the insurance companies have been refunded.

No licensed nuclear power plant in the U.S. has ever caused property damage or injury to the public or operating personnel as a result of radioactivity in more than 200 reactor-years of operation measured through 1975.

I hope we would agree that the Good Lord did not provide us a risk-free world. We have the risks of poisons, explosives, germs, radiation from space, gasoline, drugs and alcohol — and I suppose we should include printers' ink.

Very truly yours,
Leon H. Leutz

Library Millage

To the Editor:

The Northville Library Commission urges the support of the voters of Northville Township for Proposal B, .5 mill for the Northville Public Library on August 3, 1976. Our library is a means of public education which should be encouraged and fostered for good government and the happiness and enlightenment of its citizens. Our library is more than just a repository of books and periodicals. It is a cultural center of our community which offers its users' discussion groups, workshops, reading programs, story hours, film series, and special programs designed for the handicapped and senior citizens. Our library offers books, periodical and reference materials which aid in the development of an informed and aware society. Our library offers audio-visual equipment such as records, tapes, films and film strips which fulfill another aspect of the total library working in the community.

One index a library uses to measure its effectiveness is circulation, i.e. the number of books checked out. In one year, our circulation has increased by over 30 percent, from 64,513 in 1974-75, to 86,567 in 1975-76. 51 percent of these library users reside in Northville, Township. This is an indication the library is serving the community.

The library needs your financial support to continue as a viable force in Northville. Your yes vote assures a quality library for your community.

Carolann Ayers-Chairman,
Northville Library Commission

Library Helpful

To the Editor:

I am handicapped with MS (Multiple Sclerosis). I believe the people of Northville should be aware of the wonderful things the Northville Public Library does for me and other handicapped persons.

They come right to my home to cheer me up and bring books, records, tapes for the cassette that they loaned me and more recently a talking book machine on which I can play records furnished by them.

I believe we should go all out to increase the millage or whatever necessary so they can continue this wonderful service.

Sincerely,
Florence G. Appleby

Back Millage

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan organization whose purpose is to promote informed and active participation of citizens in government. Following study and consensus, the League takes action on selected governmental issues.

The League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novl supports adequate funding to maintain and/or improve the current level of operation (fiscal year 1976-77) of a) the recreation department, b) library, and c) police department of the community of Northville.

The League urges the voters of the Township of Northville to approve the millage request of 1.5 mills for police department, .5 mills for library, and .5 mills for recreation in three separate propositions on August 3, 1976.

Your vote counts. Vote in the primary election on August 3, 1976.

Annalee Mathes, President
LWV of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novl

Library Praise

To the Editor:

Your comprehensive article in the July 14th issue of the Northville Record performed a very valuable service for the residents of the Northville-Novl area to bring them up-to-date on the status of our community library, and its plans for the future.

The library performs many valuable services in the community, and the support of the people who live here is necessary for the continuation of these services.

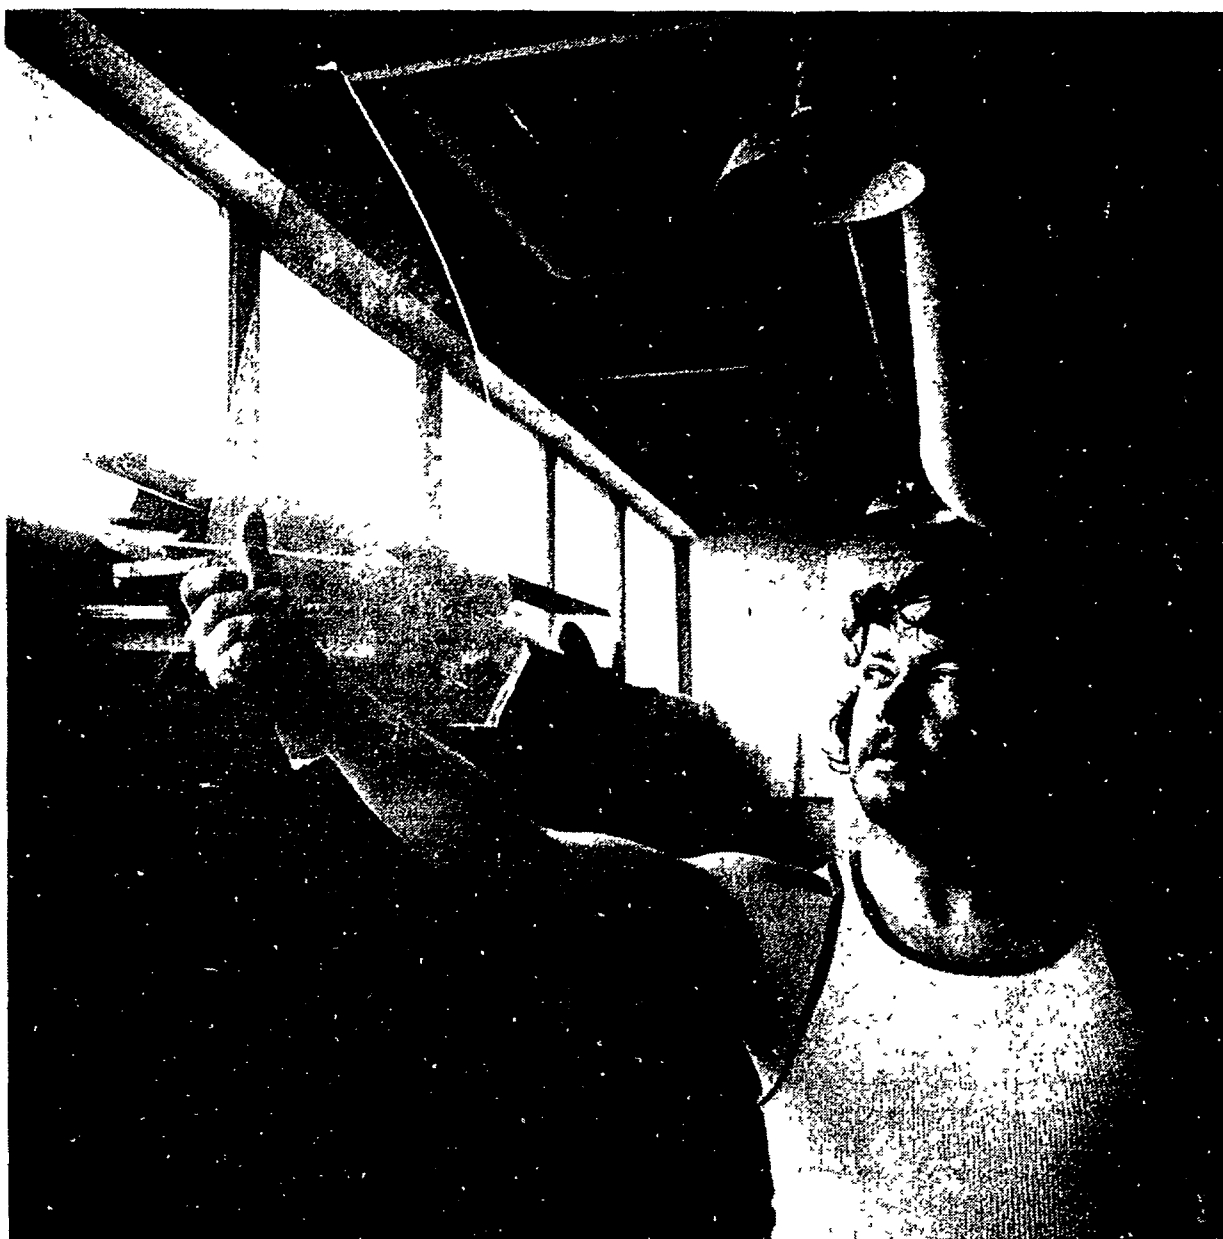

One phase, in particular, and one with which I, as a volunteer worker, am involved, deals with the community service operation, and what it is doing for the homebound, handicapped and the Senior Citizens. This project, and all other related library services merits the support of all taxpayers in the forthcoming election on August 3rd.

Sincerely,
Irving E. R. Benson

Letter Needs Signature

EDITOR'S NOTE: If the writer of a letter concerning the awarding of a contract by the Novi Board of Education will sign the letter submitted to this newspaper it will be published. Requirements of all letters are that they contain the handwritten signature, address and telephone number of the writer. At the request of the writer, however, names may be withheld from publication.

'School Vandalism'

Custodian Karl Russell from Orchard Hills Elementary shows a jagged piece of glass from a window which was broken recently by vandals. According to Assistant Superintendent Dr. William Barr, the district annually suffers $2,000 to $2,500 glass breakage from vandals. At Orchard Hills, nonbreakable panels are being used to replace designated windows when they are broken. The panels, which are insulated, cost about the same as glass, but pay for themselves with savings on heating costs. The new Novi Elementary and Novi High School were constructed with an eye toward minimal glass and resulting breakage. Alarm systems which are being installed at all schools are expected to help cut down the problem, said Dr. Barr.

Citizens Boost Recreation

At least a score of people will begin walking the streets of Northville Township next week in an attempt to convince voters to approve a half mill request to continue recreation programs.

Dave Mitchell, chairman of Citizens for Township Recreation (CRT) said the campaign to pass the millage will start next week.

"We don't want to peak too early," said the township resident who also serves as president of the Northville Junior League.

Mitchell said he has at least one person in each of the Township's eight precincts ready to pass out 3,000 broadsheets favoring the millage.

The millage vote will be on the August 3, Michigan primary ballot.

"Right now we have these eight people and by the time we start work next week we should have at least 25," Mitchell added.

He said he expects more people to volunteer to work on a less active scale.

The broadsheet lists the following points:

• Maintenance and improvement of the present program plus expanded program activities;

• Continuation of the joint township-city program with all of its advantages and economies;

• Lower fees for most activities; and

• Elimination of a 45 per cent forced budget cutback in 1976-77. The broadsheet also states that a half mill increase means a tax increase, of $10 per year on a home with a "fair market value" of $40,000.

OK's Personnel Recommendations

Several personnel recommendations were approved by the Novi School Board last week.

Hired were: Jerri Correll, performing arts at Middle School, $10,308; Frank Raburn, grade six at Middle School, $9,450; Michael Lee Jaworowicz, reading at Middle School, $5,898 (half time).

Deleted from the Title I summer program was Ellen Christopherson who resigned while Jacqueline Frere became the replacement.

Resignations were accepted from bus drivers Barbara Kerr, noon aide Sally Spalletta, and Paraprofessional Evelyn Bain.

Patricia Karevich was hired as an aide at the rate of $2.50 an hour while Barbara Frank was hired as a paraprofessional at $3 an hour.

The following salary adjustments were approved: Carol Boyer, secretary to superintendent from $11,676 to $12,260; Maurice DeLisle, mechanic, from $6.49 an hour to $6.81 an hour; Richard Garlick, director of maintenance and operation from $14,750 to $16,538 and board paid retirement; James Koster, Administrative Assistant, has his salary remaining at $18,175, but will receive board paid retirement, as will Rita Winowiecki who works on the payroll and is earning $4.98 an hour; Donna Stankewicz, secretary to the assistant principal, from $4.26 an hour to $4.49 an hour and board paid retirement; Michael Zemanski, maintenance Foreman, from $14,250 to $14,963 and board paid retirement.

Instruction, my wife and I too believed when we moved here two years ago that we were bringing our children into a quality system. Now we see this quality being stripped away piece by piece, shred by shred. But if we dare to ask questions or protest, we're labeled "irresponsible parents" or "special interest groups trying to make a lot of noise" by our Superintendent of Schools, charges that hardly are in keeping with the leadership role of a Superintendent.

Nevertheless, we still plan to hang in there, hoping against hope that one of these days the Superintendent and some of our Board members will wake up to what the community was really trying to tell them, both in the millage election and in the recent school board election.

News From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Representative

Governor Milliken recently signed into law two bills intended to deter crimes committed by prison inmates and escapees. One of the bills makes it a felony for a prisoner to assault a corrections officer using violence or a threat of violence and for a prisoner to escape or attempt to escape from a hospital or health care facility.

The other measure requires that sentences imposed for felony convictions committed by prison inmates or escapees may begin only at expiration of the current term. Under existing law, the sentencing judge has discretion to impose either a consecutive sentence or allow the new sentence to be served concurrently with the existing term.

I voted for both of these bills when they were in the House of Representatives.

Morale among guards and other custodial officials at our prisons has been running low because they feel stripped of much of their authority to deal with prisoners. They believe that the criminal justice system has been bending over backwards to protect the rights of the criminal and thereby endangering their safety.

The first bill is designed to help restore morale and protect the safety of prison officials. The second bill is designed to act as a deterrent for would-be escapees. Many of us in the legislature were amazed to learn that prison escapees were not getting additional sentences when they were caught. Now, this should no longer be a problem.

Boaters, beware. Enforcement of Michigan's watercraft pollution control law is effective again since federal certification of Michigan's program has been received.

The State Department of Natural Resources halted enforcement pending state request to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency that the Great Lakes water quality be held to a higher standard than national watercraft pollution control regulations.

Enforcement of the law will include inspection of the watercraft and issuance of a certification sticker for approved equipment or a citation for violation of the stringent Michigan regulations.

A 1970 state law makes it unlawful to discharge sewage overboard from any vessel in the Great Lakes and Michigan inland waters. The only sewage disposal facilities that may be legally installed on boats are holding tanks, including portable units, recirculating systems, and incinerators.

Although the EPA standards and the U.S. Coast Guard has promulgated regulations permitting the use of flow-through sewage treatment devices nationally, Michigan has been given the okay to enforce its own law against watercraft pollution.

With one-third of the state's population getting its water supply from the Great Lakes, it is important to keep the water supply as clean as possible. I'm told that a congregation of several large boats in one area can discharge the same amount of sewage as a small community. The federal regulation would certainly have been a step backwards for Michigan, a leader in fighting pollution.

Anyone wishing a free copy of the new boating pollution rules is welcome to call me at home or write to me at my office in the Capitol Building, Lansing, Mich. 48901.

residential, Larkin objected.

When the recommendation came before council, Larkin was not so concerned with rezoning to residential as he was "about a barrier" he desired between his property and the corner Hammond property.

Examination of the site plans for the corner parcel indicated a fence is planned and Larkin agreed to the residential zoning.

In discussing the matter

Monday, Councilman Stanley Johnston, who was not a member when the original rezoning took place, emphasized that the decision of the council in favor of residential zoning should stand and not be changed later.

Fellow members agreed, with each of the four members present (Mayor A. M. Allen was absent) expressing the opinion that Walnut should remain residential in character without encroachment by business or office development.

Solar Plan Gets Boost

As long as the Township is proceeding on a schedule it makes no difference," said Mogk, a Wayne State University law professor.

Mogk said MERRA's purpose is secure the best sites in Michigan that could support a solar research laboratory.

"Our job is to push all five sites in Washington," he said, "but having five sites in consideration just aids Michigan's chance of landing the facility."

Mogk said he hopes President Ford will do his home state a favor and make ERDA give the laboratory to Michigan.

NORTHVILLE School Board's regularly scheduled special meeting slated June 26 has been cancelled. Next meeting of the board will occur on August 9 at 7:30 p.m.

JUST A LITTLE more than a week remains before Northville stages its annual old-fashioned sidewalk street sale. Once again Main and Center streets will be closed to vehicular traffic to allow shoppers to stroll along the booths of bargains located at curbside as well as in the streets on Saturday, July 31. Time's running out to reserve booth space for Northville clubs and organizations, advises Charles Lapham. Interested persons should contact him immediately at 349-3677.

LUKE DURST and Charles Buttermore have been reappointed to the Northville City Board of Appeals. Appointments to vacancies on the board and on the planning commission are expected to be made by the city council at its next meeting.

Bargeboarding

Romantic Artistry Out of Past Adorns Homes in This Area

A prime example of the gingerbread era, this bargeboard incorporates scallops and stars as well as an open fan design on the Florence Deering Museum in Hartland. Even the shingles on this Victorian treasure were given attention with fish-scale rows interspersed among the straight.

"Romantic and wonderfully picturesque" is the way architectural historians describe American gothic revival design houses built in mid-nineteenth century. These were the days in which Victorian grandfathers were willing to spend extra money for fancy scrollwork and bay windows. Carpenter's lace gives a "wedding cake" appearance to this white house in the Mill Race Village. This roof-line detail (above) is termed bargeboard or vergeboard in foliated design that looks like vines or flowers. The hood molding over the front windows boasts trefoil detail and pendant brackets. The little balcony features corner finials and typical gothic balustrade cutwork.

Festoons of wooden lace decorate this South Lyon Victorian house in romantic gothic revival tradition. A simplified variation of the bargeboard is repeated in the pointed hood above the double window.

Floral cutwork enhances the decoration at the peak of this gable in which a pendant breaks the bargeboard arch. The detail is repeated at the corners of this East Lake home in South Lyon while the vertical boarding against the house features saw-tooth trim.

The fleur-de-lis motif is used in this antique gothic bargeboard over scroll-decorated narrow windows with pointed arches that Victorians called lancet windows. The house is located in South Lyon.

Visits Scotland, Ireland

Student Tours Isles as Missionary

The love of God and the desire to serve has led a South Lyon girl across the Atlantic Ocean for the second time in three years and, as before, she has returned from the experience with an even greater determination to work for the Lord.

Carolynn Sannes spent a rewarding three weeks in Edinburgh, Scotland and an even more exciting week in Belfast, North Ireland.

In Scotland, Carolynn, a student at the interdenominational Bob Jones University in Greenville, South Carolina, worked with the Gospel Projects Missionaries. This is the same team which initiated the mission work there just two years before and of which she was then also a part.

"I lived with one of the missionaries and we held children's meetings in the suburb of Penicuik," she relates. "We would have a Bible story, a missionary story and songs, then an object lesson or a game."

In charge of this latter part of the program, Carolynn again used the hand puppets which she made two years ago especially for her work in Scotland.

"I left them there for the missionaries to use this time. I just felt they should stay. They were made for Scotland and they just don't fit anywhere else," she added.

The puppets included a boy, a girl and a rabbit, augmented by an elongated puppet who represents the school teacher from America. "The kids will listen to her when they won't listen to the missionaries," Carolynn says with a wry smile.

In the troubled city of Belfast, the American missionary trainee enjoyed singing with a group of 22 other B.J.U. students at "The World Congress of Fundamentalists". The group presented concerts at Dr. Ian Paisley's Martyr's Memorial Free Presbyterian Church and four other churches.

We didn't see any actual violence but there were certainly lots of soldiers in evidence. Everyone was searched before they could go into the downtown area. They spot checked the cars and always wanted to see what was under the 'boot and the bonnet'.

"Of course, you can't blame them with all the bombs going off over there."

Carolynn, a member of the Calvary Baptist Church in New Hudson, is majoring in missions in the school of religion at B.J.U. Her fiancé, Barry Bowman, also a student at the university, plans to be a missionary in France after his graduation so Carol is also attempting to learn French. She will be a

Lecturer Claims Crime Can Be Reduced by TM

Crime in Northville would decrease if one percent of its population practiced Transcendental Meditation, says Dave Collins, who will present a lecture tonight at Innsbrook apartments clubhouse.

The lecture will get underway at 7:30 p.m. The clubhouse is located at 18769 Innsbrook Drive.

Collins bases his "one percent premise" on a recent sociological study in which crime rates were compared for 4 cities in the United States.

In 32 cities with relatively few people practicing the TM technique, as taught by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, there was an average increase of 7.8 percent in the crime rate in one year.

In contrast, in 12 cities which had reached one percent of their population practicing TM that year, crime rate decreased by an average of 8.8 percent — a relative decrease of 16.6 percent (Landrith & Borland), he pointed out.

In Traverse City, said Collins, the crime rate has risen consistently for the past 20 years. In 1975, since one percent of the Traverse City population learned the TM technique, the crime rate dropped 16 percent.

Similarly, in a prospective study of the greater Cleveland area, the crime rate, which had been rising 18 to 3 percent each year since 1972, it was found to decrease in several suburban cities when their percentage of TM program participants rose to one percent, Collins noted.

"This phenomenon of decreasing crime through one percent of a population practicing the TM technique is important enough solely in terms of the epidemic of crime in our country," observed Collins.

"However, since the rate of crime can be taken as a gauge of the overall quality of life of a population, we take the one percent phenomenon as verification for the effectiveness of the TM program in improving the life society in general."

TM includes a simple, natural technique that quickly establishes a physiological state of extremely deep rest. TM is practiced for 15-20 minutes twice daily, during which time the mind experiences increasing quietness and the body simultaneously relaxes, according to Collins.

Research indicates that the level of rest gained in some ways deeper even than sleep, he said. Both body and mind are thus prepared to return to activity with more freshness, clarity, creativity and awareness. Studies have indicated a wide range of benefits including improved health and better interpersonal relationships, increased learning ability, better job performance, and reduced anxiety and depression.

Dinner Set Sunday For Mackinac Trip

For almost a year now, members of the senior high youth group at Brighton's First Presbyterian Church have been raising funds for a mission trip to Mackinac Island.

With the departure date drawing near, the youngsters have planned another fundraiser.

On Sunday (July 25), the young people will host a spaghetti dinner from 5 to 8 p.m. at the church. Tickets (adults, $2.50; senior citizens, $2; children under 12, $1.25) must be purchased by tomorrow (Thursday) through the church office.

As planned, the young people will head north for one week on August 15.

During their stay at the Church of the Straits in Mackinac City, they'll help teach a vacation Bible school and do minor repair and restoration work on the pastor's manse and the church sanctuary.

In addition to work duties, the young people will travel Mackinac Island for a day, swim at the Tahquamenon Falls, and visit the Old Fort Michillimackinac.

Dinner Sunday night will include tossed salad, garlic bread, beverage, and dessert. Entertainment will be provided by members of the youth group.

Holy Family Exceeds Goal

A story last week on the Church of the Holy Family fund-raising drive incorrectly stated that $47,756 had been raised. The total should have read $147,756 — well in excess of their $125,000 goal. We regret the error.

Michigan is ideally suited for the new type mini-vacations that have become popular under the regime of the four-day week. City dwellers are leaving Thursday night and returning Sunday afternoon, having enjoyed three days of camping, or fishing at East Tawas, or canoeing on the Au Sable river, or munching Mackinac Island fudge, or golfing at Petoskey or just relaxing—all in Michigan on a lovely mini-vacation.

Last weekend we tried our hand at one of the nicest three-day luxury trips in the state. We visited Bay Valley Inn located on M-84 off U.S. 75 just below the Bay City exit—you can see it from the expressway.

We left on Friday. The drive up is about 1½ hours and follows U.S. 96 to U.S. 23 at Brighton, then north to join U.S. 75 at Flint, then northwest to the Inn.

Here you will find 150 luxury rooms, each with individual temperature controls. There is one of the most beautiful golf courses I have ever seen, circling around the grounds. There are indoor and outdoor tennis courts.

The swimming pool is half inside and half outside and is heated comfortably. There are women's and men's sauna rooms as well as a whirlpool bath of hot water.

One of the dining rooms has glass sides and roof and beautiful flowers and ferns around there. The main dining room seats 175 and is tastefully decorated in old provincial English-type decor.

The food is some of the best to be enjoyed anywhere in Michigan if not in all the Midwest. Prices are high-class average.

In the lobby is a 150-year-old nickelodeon by M. Rossi that is very interesting.

Try to meet Dirk Waltz, one of the co-owners. He is as fascinating as the inn he presides over.

The cost of the room for two is $35 per night which, considering all that is offered, is very moderate.

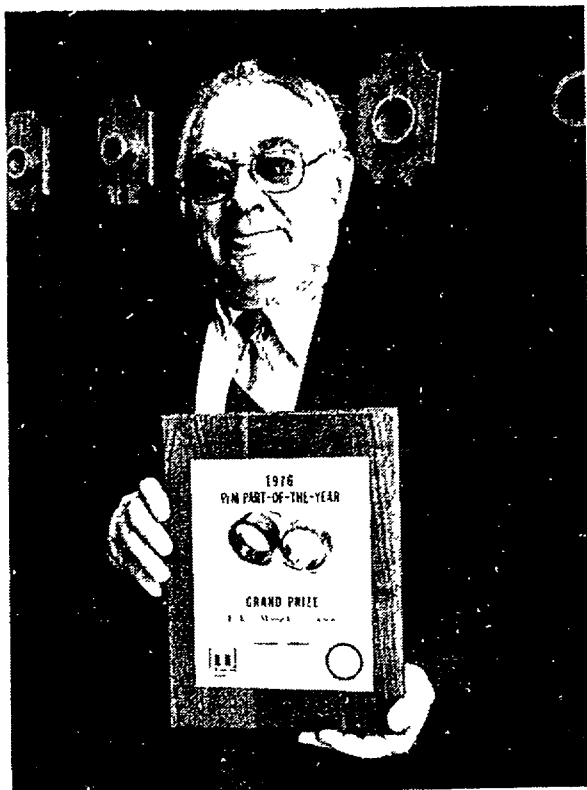

All in all, we spent the most relaxing and enjoyable weekend we've had the good luck to encounter in many years.

When touring around Spain be careful of the "shoe-shine" boys along the downtown streets. If not warned they are apt to jerk out and break your shoe laces to force the sale of new ones on you. It may even go as far as ripping off a heel to sell a replacement.

A Column About People, Places n' Things

M.C. "MIKE" SARNES, manager of the Federal-Mogul Powdered Metal Engineering Center in Northville, has received the grand award-ferrous category in the 1976 Powder Metallurgy Part of the Year Competition sponsored by the Metal Powder Industries Federation.

The award was presented at the International Powder Metallurgy Conference held in Chicago on June 29.

Federal-Mogul's Powdered Metal Engineering Center has been researching and developing the "hot forming" of powdered metal preforms at the Northville facility, located at 17000 Northville Road, for more than 10 years.

To date, more than 25 part numbers have been developed using the "hot form" technique.

"The hot form process allows us to increase the density of a conventional powdered metal component from its 85 percent density to 99.6 percent of the theoretical density, with physical properties equal to wrought steel," explained Sarnes.

The products developed by the Northville facility are in full production at two Federal-Mogul plants located in Gallipolis, Ohio and Hamilton, Alabama. Federal-Mogul is recognized as the world leader in the powdered metal forging process. Recently, personnel from Sweden, Germany and England have visited the Northville facility.

The "Part of the Year" is one of eight parts that have been developed at Northville for the Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors Corporation.

The automatic transmission part has a tensile strength of more than 200,000 psi, yield strength of 180,000 psi, and a Rockwell hardness of 58 to 62. It is used along with other "hot formed" parts produced by Federal Mogul in Hydra-Matic's new "200 Automatic" transmission which is used on General Motors cars equipped with engines up to and including 350 cubic inches.

Sarnes and his wife, Ruth, live at 20248 Woodhill Drive.

THOMAS F. GAFFNEY, controller and chief accounting officer for Guardian Industries Corporation has been named vice president-finance. He will continue as controller.

Gaffney, a certified public accountant, joined Guardian in June, 1975, as assistant to the president, and was appointed controller in April of this year.

He received a bachelor's degree in finance and accounting from Brown University and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Chicago School of Business, where he graduated with high honors.

Before joining Guardian, Gaffney had been director of administration, assistant to the president and controller for Masury-Columbia Company, Chicago, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Alberto-Culver Company. Prior to that he was a financial analyst with Duff, Anderson and Clark, Inc., a Chicago investment banking firm.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F.W. Gaffney of Rockford, Illinois.

Gaffney lives with his wife, Donna, on Rogers Street in Northville.

THOMAS GAFFNEY

HARLAN E. LOWRY has been named manager of the Friendly Fine Food and Ice Cream Shop located on North Center Street in Northville.

Born in Gouverneur, New York, Lowry attended Knox Memorial High School and Canton Agricultural and Technical College.

Lowry was first employed by Friendly in October of 1974 as a manager trainee, completing his training in Dearborn, Michigan.

He is married to the former Debra Putney and they reside on North Wayne Road in Westland.

The Friendly restaurant chain currently is expanding their shops throughout the Midwest. They presently operate 542 shops in 15 states, including seven in the state of Michigan.

RAYMOND BAHM

NEW STORE MANAGER at Boutique Trims, 21200 Pontiac Trail, South Lyon, is Raymond Bahm who recently attended the 11th National Decorative Arts Seminar held in Louisville, Kentucky. The six-day seminar was attended by many of the most respected craftsmen from around the country.

Bahm holds a bachelor of science degree from Detroit Business Institute and taught accounting there for 12 years. He is the former owner of Wyandotte Flower Shop and spent seven years as an antiques dealer-collector and traveled the country extensively showing his antiques.

Well versed in the craft world, he does many crafts for his own enjoyment as well as teaching many techniques. He is at Boutique Trims daily, Monday through Saturday, and the public is invited to come in and meet him. Special help on craft problems is also available.

The purpose of the Decorative Arts Seminar, sponsored by Connoisseur Studio, Inc., a manufacturer of fine decorative art and craft materials, was to provide education in the field of decoupage and tole and decorative painting.

Bahm learned basic techniques in decoupage and tole and decorative painting, making samples of such projects as a small shelf clock, a large plaque, a display board showing different finishes and a sun shadow glass window hanging. Other projects included a mini-canvas painting in a frame, a large plaque and box-lid frame painted with daisies and strawberries, respectively, and a basket purse accented with country carving and decorative painting.

THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION has appointed H. Bruce LaFrance, 24712 Highlands Drive, Novi, engineer of construction for the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

LaFrance, senior engineer for the Department's Detroit Metro District for the last two years, succeeds William A. Sawyer, who retired.

Warren F. Cox, 5400 East Dennis, Fowlerville, was named to succeed LaFrance as head of the Metro District, which includes Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair counties.

LaFrance, 52, a native of Port Huron, joined the department in 1948, one year after graduating from Michigan State University with a degree in civil engineering. A registered professional engineer, he has served in numerous bridge and highway construction projects all over Michigan.

As head of the department's Construction Division, LaFrance will supervise bridge, highway and transportation construction projects statewide.

senior when she returns to school this fall.

In the meantime, Carol plans to work and to enjoy the time from now until September with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Sannes of 229 Harvard Street.

What led her back to Scotland and Ireland this summer?

"Well, doors just opened up for me to go. I received financial help from eight or nine people. I just asked the Lord if he really wanted me to go and it began to seem obvious that He did.

"My folks really doubted that I would go but He gave me the courage to travel alone all the way there. I've been on six different flights in four weeks and some of them were really rough. I'm ready to stay on the ground for a while.

"I even took the train and the underground in London all alone and I had never traveled like that before. But I made it with God's help," she concludes with a smile.

2nd District Congress

Pierce...

Dr. Ed Pierce, Democratic candidate for Congress, hailed Friday the choice of Walter Mondale as Democratic vice-presidential candidate, and pledged his total support for the Democratic ticket of Jimmy Carter and Mondale.

"I am delighted with the choice of Mondale, because it further reassures me that the Democrats have a ticket which will take a compassionate as well as a sensible view toward solving our domestic problems," said Pierce, who seeks a Second District Seat.

"Mondale in the Senate has become expert on the American family structure and how it is affected by stresses such as poverty, single-parenthood, and the increasingly transitory nature of American society. The day care legislation which he proposed would have helped strengthen the family, had it not been vetoed by President Ford."

"Mondale will be very helpful in steering the federal government in directions which will help to strengthen rather than weaken the family structure, and I am happy to see a man on the ticket with such a strong interest in this pressing domestic need," Pierce continued.

Pierce also said that he was confident that Carter could become a strong president, who would help to unify the country.

"I believe that Jimmy Carter has made a strong commitment to putting the federal government to work for the benefit of those who need help in our society—the people who need jobs instead of welfare, sensible national health insurance rather than soaring Blue Cross rates," he declared.

"His main goal, reorganization of our government so that it will become more responsive to the needs of the American people, is sorely needed, as is the comprehensive tax reform he supports."

"Further, his naval experience will help make him a president who not only has a feeling for what kind of a military we need to keep us strong, but just as importantly, who can also stand up to the Pentagon when it makes exorbitant requests."

"I believe that if we elect a Carter-Mondale administration along with a progressive Congress, we can move quickly to meet our nation's problems," Pierce concluded. "I hope to be a part of that effort as a Congressman from this district."

Robek...

Although she is not running as a feminist, Mrs. Mary Robek, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Second Congressional District, believes there should be more women in Congress.

A pro-life candidate who pledges to support a constitutional amendment calling for the protection of the unborn child, she also pledges to work for full employment.

She contends that "the waste of human and capital resources is the central economic problem facing the nation."

Inflation, she asserts, can be controlled "by eliminating wasteful spending and outdated programs. The problem lies in food and energy price increase, the devaluation of the dollar, decrease in productivity, and price increases in concentrated industries."

"Tax reform can spread the burden of taxation more equitably among taxpayers. Tax reform can also be used to provide funds for capital improvements to our nation's industries so that more workers can be employed in the private sector. Loopholes which permit millionaires to escape paying taxes must be closed."

Concerning health care, she advocates health insurance for those not covered, but she suggests that "the proposed national health insurance plan is too drastic a step."

"Senator Eagleton has indicated that the proposed plan would cost $80 billion," she says, "and the entire tax revenue is $140 billion. Obviously it is not possible to move so quickly without increasing the tax burden three-fold or four-fold. A better plan would be to extend health insurance to those persons not presently covered, and to maintain the competition of the private sector."

Stempien...

With less than three weeks to go before the August 3 primary, Marvin R. Stempien, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Second District, has stepped up his campaign.

The hard work is paying off throughout the district, but especially in Ypsilanti Township, Ann Arbor and out-county Monroe, his coordinators report.

In a campaign newsletter, Stempien outlined the positions he has taken on various issues during the campaign:

- Urging a "go slow" policy on the increased use of nuclear power until health and safety questions are answered, and a position opposing the current Price-Anderson Act, limiting utility company liability for nuclear disaster to only $560 million in damages.

- Opposing President Ford's recent veto of $125 million for federally assisted child day care centers.

- Proposing a systematic overhaul of federal criminal laws including the reduction of automatic "good time" and

"special good time" provisions that allow the premature release of dangerous criminals into society, but opposing Senate Bill 1, because provisions limiting assistance of counsel and eliminating the single phone call permitted suspects placed under arrest are violations of due process of law guaranteed by the Constitution.

- Supporting an extension of general revenue sharing for three to five years, to assist the communities of the Second District in providing needed services on the local level.

- Supporting the concept of the Humphrey-Hawkins Full Employment Bill that will put this country back to work, but with amendments that place equal emphasis on inflation control, to protect the purchasing power of working people.

- Urging amendments to the Social Security laws which will end discriminatory treatment of all women, whether employed in the home or outside the home.

- Proposing measures to strengthen anti-trust laws and the anti-trust division of the Justice Department.

Trowbridge...

A Republican candidate is threatening to live up to the Congressional campaign in the Second District. Ron Trowbridge earlier challenged Carl Pursell, his opponent in the August 3 Republican primary, to a series of debates which will take place this month throughout the district.

Now he has promised to reveal a dramatic proposal to reorganize federal regulatory agencies. Within the next two weeks Trowbridge said he will explain the details of his plan in press releases to every newspaper, radio station, and television station in the Second Congressional District.

Federal regulatory agencies, according to Trowbridge, are a blight on the nation's economy. He said, "We hear so much about the waste and inconvenience caused by government red tape, that we hardly realize the real costs to consumers. If the bureaucrats would just print up forms for us to fill out, and then throw them away, it would be a positive service compared to what they're doing now."

"Now the agencies have been taken over by the industries which they are supposed to regulate. Naturally, the public suffers."

Because of reduced competition directly attributable to actions by the federal government, consumers pay higher prices for a smaller choice of goods. I cannot tolerate this disgrace as a citizen, and I sure won't tolerate it when I'm in Washington."

House 24th District

Brinker...

William D. Brinker of Novi, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the 24th State Representative District, issued a financial statement this past week.

The state showed a 1976 gross income of $19,439.91.

The statement showed a 1975 gross income of $19,439.91, of which $1,920.16 went for federal income taxes, $456.22 for state income taxes, and $823.83 for local property taxes.

Debts include $11,500 on a home mortgage, $6,000 on a home improvement loan, and $5,500 for an automobile loan. Assets listed include $2,200 on time certificate deposits, $25,000 estimated equity in his home, $3,000 Ford station wagon, and $6,000 Chevrolet Suburban.

Montgomery...

Democratic legislative candidate, George F. Montgomery has issued a voluntary disclosure of his personal finances and urged other candidates for the 24th district seat to do the same.

In letters to incumbent State Representative Richard D. Fessler (R-W. Bloomfield), Walled Lake Mayor William T. Roberts and 1974 Democratic nominee William D. Brinker, Montgomery suggested that the state's failure to enact a proper Political Reform statute need not deny 24th district voters access to such information.

Montgomery placed his net worth at $40,000 consisting principally of deposits he has made in retirement systems during his 12 years of teaching and 6 years of legislative service, a $9,000 equity in his home on Buffalo Drive in Commerce Township, home furnishings and personal property, cash value of life insurance policies, shares in an investment club and other savings.

Montgomery reported that he and his wife, Elizabeth, had adjusted gross income of $33,253 in 1975. This was derived from his regular salary as an O.C.C. faculty member.

It also included about $4,400 Montgomery earned as a financial consultant during the summer of 1975.

...THE BIGGEST SALE in the store's history is currently taking place at Coe's Men's Wear in South Lyon. The sale is scheduled to last through Saturday, July 24.

Every item in the store is on sale. Discounts range from a minimum of 20 percent up to 50 and 60 percent on some items. Coe's Men's Wear carries most leading brand names, including Dongeal, Farah, Jantzen, Van Heusen, Levi, Cricketeer, and Hanes and Jockey underwear.

Donald Coe, owner of the store, emphasized that it was an "inventory adjustment sale" and not a "going out of business" sale. The sale is being supervised by Pat Tibbits, a national sales supervisor for Brooker Sales out of Wichita, Kansas.

Purpose of the sale is to clear out existing stock and make room for fall arrivals.

Every customer who walks into the store will receive a mini-holiday gift certificate that can be used to purchase two nights for the price of one at 200 hotels across the country. Customers will also receive a Las Vegas Casino Gift Certificate good for $500 in chips, tokens, drinks, and meals in Las Vegas.

Coe's Men's Wear has been doing business in South Lyon for the past 13 years.

Tibbits stressed that potential customers will find many items on sale which are rarely found on sale, items such as underwear and blue jeans.

"Community organization, grass-roots leadership, institutional change, advocacy for the rights of the poor, and self-help are the major priorities of the CHD," Father Victor Clore, local CHD representative and associate director of the Archdiocesan Christian Service Department, said in announcing the grants last week.

The Campaign for Human Development is financed by an annual collection held the Sunday before Thanksgiving. One-fourth of what is collected in the Archdiocese is retained locally while the remainder is sent to the national fund.

Local fund grants are determined by an Allocations Committee of six persons, with recommendations from the Christian Service Department.

Bicentennial Gardens

By KATHY COPLEY

In the midst of our recent flag waving, it is easy to think that what is American is somehow bigger, brighter, and better than what anyone else has, just because it is ours. Most of our favorite flowers, those which have become standards in American gardens, aren't American at all.

Few people are unaware that the Tulip reached us from Turkey via Holland. And it isn't hard to trace the geographic ancestry of the Japanese Iris, African Violet, China Aster, or English Daisy.

Other flowers have a less obvious background. From South America come Cleome (Spider Flower), Morning Glory, Fuschia, Petunia, Verbena, Portulaca, Gloxinia, Nasturtium, Cosmos, and the florists' Begonia.

Mexico contributes Dahlia, Zinnia, Ageratum, the tropical Frangipani, Marigold, and the familiar Christmas Poinsettia.

Aside from African Violets, Africa's most significant floral contributions may be Geraniums and Impatiens.

Also credit Africa with Lobelia, Nemesis, Bird of Paradise, Freesia, Calla Lily, Gerbera Daisy and Gladiolus.

From the Mediterranean come Sweet Pea, Grape Hyacinth, Carnation, Candytuft, Sweet Alyssum, Hyacinth, and Snapdragon.

Two of the most familiar flowering plants originated in China, Forsythia and Chrysanthemum. Also of Chinese origin are Hydrangea, Daylily, Camellia, Peony, Hollyhock, Clematis, Butterfly bush, and Bleedingheart.

European settlers brought with them seeds of their favorites to make the new land a little more like home; Pansy, Rose, Wallflower, Stock, Foxglove, Forget-Me-Not, Primrose, Snowdrop, and spring Crocus became widely cultivated.

None of this is meant to imply that North American hillsides and plains weren't covered with an abundance of flowers. Michaelmas Daisies, Sunflowers, Phlox, Lupine, Columbine, California Poppies, Coreopsis, Black-Eyed Susans, and Rhododendron were here to greet the earliest settlers.

Playoff Thrillers End Northville Junior League Baseball Season on Exciting Note

Northville Junior League baseball came to an exciting end last Saturday with three playoff games at Thomson Field.

"H" LEAGUE—Jared Cole doubled home Greg Ryba with what proved to be the winning run as the Cubs clipped the Astros, 2-1 to capture the "H" League title.

The Cubs' victory ended a five-game march to the title that saw them nip the Mets, 13-12, in extra innings, down the Cardinals, 9-5, rip the Phillies, 10-2 and then edge out the Expos, 3-1 before last Saturday's title clincher.

In the championship game, the Cubs came to bat in the fourth inning trailing 1-0 when Tim Blanchard reached base. He scored on Ryba's double and Ryba, in turn, scurried home with the winning run when Cole hit his two-bagger.

Two weeks ago, the Cubs were surprised by the Braves, 9-6, in a game for the division championship.

"G" LEAGUE—The Mets rode the arm and bat of Dave Malinowski to a 2-0 victory over the Cubs and the "G" League Championship.

Malinowski hurled a no-hitter and socked a two-run home run for the Mets who had finished in second place, four and one-half games behind the Cubs in regular season play.

To get to the championship game, the Mets thumped the Astros, 17-6, stunned league champion Braves, 6-1, clubbed the Expos, 18-2, before the Saturday showdown with the Cubs.

Malinowski's round-tripper followed a double by Bobby Pegrum.

"G" League play has been unpredictable all year. The Braves, who didn't win a game in all of 1975, came back to beat the then unbeaten Cubs, 5-1, two weeks ago to win the division title.

crown thanks to the pitching of Roland Tarrow and hitting of Dave Austin.

The Reds and Colts are fighting for second place and a state tournament selection. They have one game left on the schedule.

Meads Mill Cheerleaders Capture Mounting Trophy at Oakland U

Anything boys can do girls can do equally well.

So proved 10 cute, 14-year-old girls from Meads Mill Middle School who won first place for mounting at the Junior Cheerleading Association championships held at Oakland University last week.

"We won a trophy for superior overall mounts," beamed freckle-faced, bubbly Jackie Sherman, one of the 10 girls on the squad.

Other squad members are: Sue Gorden, Lori Hackmann, Jeri Hill, Jane Kaestner, Alisa Krinsky, Lisa Lauber, Audrey Riegner, Becky Simmons, and Chris Spigarelli.

Jackie was especially proud of her squad's accomplishment because it equalled the feat of the Meads Mill boys' football team which went unbeaten last fall.

"The boys had a pretty good season. But we went to all of the games and gave the guys support, that's why they won," said Jackie laughing. Jackie and the other girls weren't laughing when a millage defeat last winter forced the school to drop the cheerleaders, just in time for basketball season.

And there's a chance the girls may not do any cheerleading this fall. Five of the girls are going to Cooke school, breaking up a winning team. But that's not the problem according to Mrs. Judith Gorden, who describes herself as an "informal supporter" of the team, and who has a daughter on the team. She said girls don't know if they'll be performing any place this fall.

"All the girls are going into the ninth grade. But we don't know yet if there'll be just seventh and eighth grade cheerleaders at Cooke and Meads Mill or cheerleading for all of the girls."

Raymond Spear, superintendent of schools in Northville, said there will be three cheerleading squads in the school system, "but no details have been worked out."

"We'll have a squad in the high school and a squad in both junior high schools." Spear couldn't say what grades would compose the junior high school squads

Mrs. Gorden said it would be a shame to end cheerleading for the girls.

"They've been practicing together since last summer and are really quite good." Jackie agreed, adding that the squad won the mount trophy because "we put lot of time into it."

The girls also won the Hoop'n Holler award for spirit at the three-day camp.

The girls paid their own way to the camp but were rewarded with some extracurricular attractions. "We got to see the Detroit Lions," said Lori Hackman smiling not so innocently. She wouldn't say who the girls saw.

Novi's Cecil Priest Wins Golf Tourney

To Cecil Priest it was just water off a duck's back.

But there are an awful lot of weekend hackers who'd give anything to win the Michigan Publinx Senior Division tournament, as the Novi man did Saturday.

Priest shot par on the 18-hole, 73-par course at the Romeo Golf Course. He tied with Dick Robertson of Clarkston for low gross honors but was awarded the championship by virtue of a seven-stroke handicap.

Ace for Postiff

Dick Postiff ached the third hole at the Brooklane Golf Course recently.

He used a seven iron on the par three, 125-yard hole.

"But nobody shot a lower score than me," Priest quickly added.

"This is my first major win but I've been playing golf so long that even the championship is like water off a duck's back to me."

The 59-year-old Priest has been challenging the links since age 10. He played golf at Redford High School but was overshadowed by teammates Sam and Chuck Koscis.

Priest said his biggest victory prior to Saturday's win was in 1935 when he won the state caddy championship.

He said he qualified for the State Amateur Golf Championship in Port Huron in 1961 and, with two other golfers, represented Michigan in the National Publinx Championships played in suburban Detroit, also in 1961.

The Publinx Golf Association of Michigan is comprised of weekend golfers who love the game, according to Priest who added that the group requires a membership fee.

Priest beat 55 other men in the 55-years-and-over division Saturday. He said he had 14 pars, two birdies, and two bogies.

A supervisor, for field auditing for Standard Oil Co., Priest said he plays golf anytime he can.

"I have to travel a lot because of my job so I carry my clubs with me at all times."

Priest's married daughter, Janice Paver, lives in Northville.

By STEVE RAPHAEL

It started out as fun, but to the opposition the success of Lorraine Tool & Die in the Novi Women's Softball League has been no laughing matter.

"It all started when a bunch of women who live in the Village Oaks subdivision wanted to form a team," recalls 21-year-old Jennifer Sibole, captain, shortstop and big RBI woman for LT & D.

"The first year our coach thought we'd just have a lot of fun playing. It really surprised us when we won."

And won, and won.

In three years, LT & D has compiled a 30-2 won-lost record, losing only for the second time to Rexall Drugs two weeks ago, 11-7. But the women have pride, and the following week they came back to skunk Rexall, 15-5.

Ms. Sibole, a single woman who works for a painting contractor in Livonia, says the women on her team range from age 16 to 40, are housewives or hold jobs outside the home.

"Most of the women are athletically inclined," adds Ms. Sibole, herself a softball star and bowler while a student at Novi High School.

Other players include some teenagers, like 16-year-old Ricci Mulligan, a first baseman hitting a robust .177. Rosy Fraczek is 17-years-old, but the left fielder is batting .632 and has eight triples.

Other stars include Betty Kemp, a grandmother-to-be who plays centerfield and third base and is hitting .613.

Judy Depollo and Clara Porter are housewives, mothers and star pitchers. Ms. Sibole wouldn't reveal how old they or Mrs. Kemp are.

Ms. Sibole, an attractive blonde with shoulder length hair, is leading the team in RBI's with 21. Captain of the powerhouse is Mary MacDermaid.

Regardless of age or background, all the women have one thing in common, "they're here to win," states Ms. Sibole.

It's that determination that the players hope will eventually lead them to greater glory on the diamond.

For LT & D's victories have come exclusively in Novi play and only lately have the women ventured outside the friendly confines of Novi — without too much success.

The team entered the qualifying tournament at Softball City in Detroit for the Class B world championship playoffs and finished seventh out of 12 teams. The first four teams qualify for the World, according to Ms. Sibole.

That lack of success hasn't doused the womens' spirits though, because they're entering a tournament in South Lyon this weekend and will return to rough and tough Softball City for another tournament next month.

Betty Kemp hit .636 in the tournament and was named to the all-star team, the first member of LT & D ever to be so honored.

But all isn't a complete loss. The women's snappy red, white and blue uniforms won the "Best Dressed Team" at the Softball City tourney.

"We have red tops with white sleeves, blue short pants with white stripes, white socks with red and blue circles at the top and a red, white and blue paneled cap with blue visor," explains Ms. Sibole, who is happy with the clothing award. She and Ms. MacDermaid helped select the uniforms.

But Ms. Sibole's interests in softball run beyond her team and clothing. She is director of all three women's and girl's softball leagues in Novi and is trying to encourage more women and girls to play the sport.

Bruce House shot his first hole-in-one after 30 years on the links Saturday morning at Brooklane Golf Course.

Holdsworth Stars In First Outing

Fred Holdsworth, making his first appearance in a Baltimore Orioles uniform Saturday night, turned in an outstanding performance against the California Angels.

The former Northville High School star pitched four and two-thirds innings of shutout relief, striking out two and walking none.

Holdsworth's effort was in vain as the Orioles fell to the Angels, 7-3. Ironically, the winning pitcher for the Angels was another former Detroit star, Frank Tanana, a 1971 graduate of Catholic Central High School. Rudy May was the losing pitcher for the Birds.

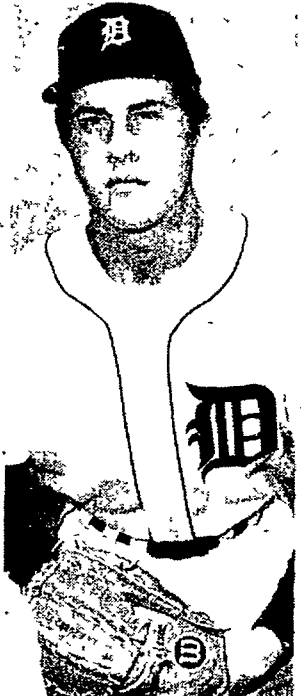

"Fred was very happy," said his wife, Laura, who talked to her 24-year-old husband by phone after the game Saturday night.

Mrs. Holdsworth, who sounded equally excited herself, said Fred told her that he was concerned at first when he started pitching because he hadn't thrown in two weeks.

"But he said he felt real strong once he started throwing."

Mrs. Holdsworth said Fred will be pitching relief for the Orioles.

"He doesn't know when he'll pitch next but it's always important to pitch well your

It was almost a week to remember for C.D.S.

The third place team in the American League took on front runner Village Blues, and when the game had ended, Village Blues was not in a singing mood. They were upset, 6-4, thanks to a five-run uprising by C.D.S. in the second inning. Ron Hubbard was the winning pitcher. Village Blues fell to second place.

But the next night C.D.S., apparently overconfident from their win, were in turn stunned by also-ran Zayti, 11-1. Dale Griffith had three hits for the winners who scored 10 runs in the first two innings.

The National League had an upset too. Second place Joe's Party Pantry, 10-4. Joe's struck early, getting five runs in the first inning.

Village Blues came back to rip Spagy's, 12-2 thanks to home runs by John Bolen who hit two, Gary Winemaster and Toby Roggenbuck. Bill McDonald hit a round-tripper for the losers.

Don Thomson's three hits sparked first place Old Timers to an 11-1 verdict over Presbyterian.

In other games, Old Timers got home runs from Tom Ridley and Jim Lake to knock off Exotic, 18-6. Bill Norton's inside-the-park home run wasn't enough as his Winner's Circle team fell to Presbyterian, 9-8.

Bill McDonald reached the fences for Spagy's as they upended Zayti, 11-10.

Joe's Party Pantry snipped the Eagles, 15-13. Moonkin-Mach had no trouble with Elys, 17-7, and Little Caesars just edged Jaycees, 13-12.

Township Merchants squeaked by Foundry Flask, 8-6. Winner's Circle scored a run in the fourth inning and held on to beat Zayti, 3-2. Lutheran edged Our Lady of Victory, 14-12, and Little Caesars bombed Eagles, 12-1.

Rizzo-Belanger had an easy time with Jaycees, 15-5, and Moonkin-Mach, 19-5, while Hamlet nosed out Exotic, 6-4.

Jr. League Season Ends with Thriller

Trailing the Phillies by eight runs, 17-9, in the last inning, the Super-chics came to bat for one last try.

They quickly loaded the bases, and then Theresa Kawel brought the fans to their feet with a grand slam home run, cutting the deficit to four, 17-13.

Laurie Tapp, Anita Sledz, Kay Wolf and Penny Reid got key hits while the base running of Mary Westervelt and Karen Sledz provided the Super-chics with three more runs.

But the Phillies defense got tough and held the Super-chics at bay to win the game, 17-16, and league championship.

Action Whips Fisher's, 16-5

Action virtually assured itself of first place and probably an unbeaten season in the American League East when it easily dumped its only major challenger, Fisher's Sporting Goods, 16-5 Friday night.

Fisher's, which actually spawned Action a year ago, was hoping to upend the front-runners and move within one game of first place.

But with only seven games left on the schedule, first place seems unlikely.

"We play them one more time," said a dejected Tim Fisher, team sponsor and star hitter for Fisher's, "but it would take a miracle for us or anyone to beat them."

Fisher could have used just some good steady fielding and hitting Friday night. His outfielders made eight errors and the team, which is supposed to have more power than Action, was out-hit 16-7.

Action's Jeff Martin swung the big bat in the game, belting two, two-run home runs. But it was a great defensive play that insured the win for the victors.

With two runners on base in the top of the sixth, two men out and Fisher's trailing 8-5, Fisher's star Terry Trumbule sent a drive deep into right center field.

But Action's right centerfielder Joe Donner dove for the ball and caught it against the fence, ending the threat.

In the bottom half of the sixth, Action exploded for eight runs to ice the game.

"We're definitely as good as Action," said a dejected Tim Fisher.

"We do really well in tournaments but when we play Action we just seem to choke."

In a sense, though, Fisher's should feel flattered, for they were beaten by many of their own players.

Last year most of the players were on Fisher's but, as is often the case, there was just too much talent.

"There were too many good players and not enough positions," said Action star Tom Shillito. "So the team split up into Action."

Fisher and Shillito agreed that there was some ill will on the team because not everyone was playing but this year with everyone playing the rivalry is keen, intense and fun.

When the two teams met earlier this year Action just nipped Fisher's 19-18. Ironically, it was the home run ball that spelled the difference for Action.

"Action is the younger team, (age 22-23) and have speed. But we're a bit older, (age 26-27) and have more power," said Fisher noting the irony of the game.

Fisher's, which finished fifth in the state in Class C play last year, lost one of its best players to an injury, and still another star is moving out-of-state at the end of the month.

But Fisher is hoping that the next and last crack at Action this year will be the winning one.

In other games last week, M & B walloped Quad Company, 23-4, and Jim Storm and Novi Inn tied at 12. Old Orchard easily handled N.N.C.A., 25-7, Portec out-hit Community Management, 13-8 and Jaycees tripped Novi Police, 22-9.

Goat Farm upended J. P. Realty, 13-9, Michigan Tractor ran roughshod over Jim Storm, 20-15, and Novi Inn smashed Kramer Jewelry, 30-7.

Action bombed Kramer Jewelry, 38-6, and then just nosed out M & B, 11-10. Fisher's jolted Michigan Tractor, 17-4 and walloped American Enclosure, 29-2.

Earlier, N.N.C.A. bludgeoned Willowbrook Merchants, 16-11.

Fisher's took third place in the Milford Invitational Slo-pitch Softball Tournament last weekend. The Class C Novi team finished behind two Class A teams.

Co-ed Softball League Attracts Friends, Lovers

Every Sunday afternoon this summer Thomson Field is the site of a different and quite possible one-of-its-kind softball league in the state.

It's the Northville Parks and Recreation Department's Co-ed Softball League comprised of no more than 20 people per team from the area. Each team must have an equal number of men and women.

"This league is the brain child of our department," says Charles Froberger, recreation director. "There might be other leagues like it in the state, but I'm not aware of them."

Actually, the co-ed league is more the brain child of Froberger's wife, Marjorie, who was looking for a program that she and her husband could participate in together. Thanks to Marjorie, Froberger started the program and it was just the kind of program he was looking for.

"I wanted something that could involve the entire family or couples on a weekend afternoon. A man and woman can enjoy baseball together and there's a big sand pile at Thomson where kids can play."

"It's a fun league," says Jim LaPlante of Griffin's Sporting Goods. "It's really a great, great afternoon. Parents bring their kids and let them play in the sand pile. Many times after games the couples will socialize together."

Maria Trapani, who also plays for Griffin's, never played softball before in her life, but she says joyously, "It's just a ball. I really like it, and I enjoy being with my husband, Nick."

"I think the league will grow next year. A lot of my friends have asked about joining."

The Frobergers hope they'll be one of those couples. As it turned out, Marjorie got pregnant, sending the pair to the sidelines before the first pitch.

That Froberger can't play without his wife is part of the league's uniqueness.

"Most of our rules are similar to standard slo-pitch rules," he explains, "but we do have new ones."

These rules include membership. People can only join as couples, husband-wife, boyfriend-girlfriend. Not only must the team be split evenly between male, female on the maximum 20-person roster, but the teams must be split evenly on the field as well.

And every player on the roster bats in a fixed rotation that must be male, female. There is an unlimited substitution rule. Players can't wear spikes and must be over 17-years-old to play in the 14-week league.

Also request a recommendation from the Planning Commission and the Board of Zoning Appeals on a replacement for the second meeting in July.

Communication from Len Kinsilla thanking the Council for their participation in the Walk for Mankind and for making the first checkpoint.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: Mr. David Filkin stated that Friday he and some of his neighbors received letters from the City Manager concerning Township residents receiving trash pickup improperly by the city. He further stated he thought he was entitled to the trash pickup because he owned a vacant lot which extends from the township into the city.

Mayor Allen commented that the city policy requires that a house must occupy the lot in order to receive trash pickup and suggested he annex to the city. He also said the trash pickup would cease.

RECONVENING OF PUBLIC HEARING TO REZONE LOTS 570B2 and 571a2b FROM PBO TO R1B: Mayor Allen reopened the Public Hearing. Mr. Larkin, one of the property owners, asked if the Council had come to a decision.

The City Attorney asked Mr. Larkin if he had heard from Mr. Lineman, the other property owner. The answer was no.

Mr. Larkin stated if it were rezoned back to Residential he would like a green belt between his and the Hammond property, which he later amended to some kind of barrier to keep parking on Hammond's property from spilling over onto his.

It was noted that if the property remained PBO and were sold as such it could open Walnut Street to PBO.

Councilman Follino suggested contacting the doctor, who owns the Hammond property, to ascertain what his intentions are concerning Mr. Larkin's and Mr. Lineman's property.

Councilman Vernon suggested adjourning the Hearing for 30 days until July 19. This was agreed upon also that the doctor would be contacted as to his plans.

Mr. Lapham asked for permission to close Center St. from Dunlap to Cady and Hutton to Wing on July 31 for the Sidewalk Sales.

Carried unanimously.

ARCHITECT'S SERVICES FOR ALLEN TERRACE: Mayor Allen asked the City Manager to briefly explain the Amendment to the Architect's Agreement and the letter from the Municipal Finance Commission.

The City Manager then explained that the agreement was unchanged except for complying with the MEC suggestion that the City hire the field inspector rather than the architect. The MEC approved the City's proposal to bid subcontractors with administration by the architect. Also, the cost of the Inspector would be subtracted from the Architectural service fees. There would be no additional cost to the City over the original cost proposed.

The City Manager stated the Architect received the contract and was satisfied.

Motion by Councilman Johnson supported by Councilman Follino to authorize the Mayor and the City Clerk to sign the Amendment to the Architectural Service Agreement as presented.

Carried unanimously.

CADY STREET HOUSE DEMOLITION: The City Manager suggested it would be advisable to authorize the City Attorney to serve notice to vacate the house at 136 E. Cady Street. It is in need of repair if renting continues, and will be demolished for the parking project.

Motion by Councilman Follino supported by Councilman Johnson to serve notice to vacate premises to the tenants at 136 E. Cady for future demolition.

Carried unanimously.

NORTHVILLE COMMUNITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE: A communication from the Northville Chamber of Commerce stating that the Community Fair will be held August 11 from the 10th to 11th p.m. They again asked for permission to have street banners in four locations: Griswold in front of the Mill Race, North Center at Baseline, S. Center near Northville Downs and S. Main north of Seven Mile Road.

They also stated they would have a demolition Derby on Friday, August 13 at 8 p.m. and would like a fire truck and 2 CO₂ extinguishers on the track from 7 p.m. until the Derby is over.

Motion by Councilman Follino supported by Councilman Johnson to approve the Chamber of Commerce request subject to supervision by the City Manager, Fire Dept. and Police Dept.

Carried unanimously.

TRAFFIC CONTROL ORDER NO. 763: Motion by Councilman Johnson support by Councilman Follino to adopt Traffic Control Order No. 763, "No Right Turn on Red" at the following intersections:

Northbound and southbound Center at Main Street

Eastbound and westbound Main at Center Street

Eastbound and westbound Dunlap at Center Street

This rescinds Traffic Order No. 762 which included Center at 8 Mile Road.

Carried unanimously.

MISCELLANEOUS: Mayor Allen suggested that the Police Dept. check on the illegal parking of vehicles on Rayson and Wing streets.

Mayor Allen also asked that the shrubbery at the Drawbridge be cleaned up. He suggested all towns people should cut the grass around their telephone poles, guy wires, and trees.

Mayor Allen stated that on July 29 the Wayne County Road Commission is having a meeting of concerned communities who favor Plan A of the intersection sewer. Mayor Allen and the City Attorney will attend to express Northville's opinion.

Mayor Allen suggested checking intersections for visibility due to shrubs growing in the line of vision.

Councilman Vernon stated he would like the policy of meeting with the Police Dept. reinstated.

It was also commented on that in the Northville Record the Police Blotter lists of crimes seem to be listed but not apprehensions. This will be reported on.

Councilman Nichols stated that he would like the Records Dept. to take care of the trash that is littering the property after ball games that are played at Amerman School.

Councilman Follino mentioned trailers being parked illegally also a truck with no license on it. The City Attorney said he would look at the City Ordinance and get back to Councilman Follino and do something before the next meeting.

There being no further business, Mayor Allen adjourned the meeting at 10:08 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Joan McAllister
City Clerk

planned on doing about the trash that was being littered on his property from Rural Hill Cemetery. Mr. Filkin's property abuts the Cemetery property. He also mentioned that late night parties were held there and asked about a gate.

Mr. Filkin also mentioned the residents from Edenderry cutting through the cemetery.

Mayor Allen asked if Mr. Filkin would be interested in a cyclone fence between his property and the cemetery. Mr. Filkin commented he might be.

Mayor Allen would get with Mr. Filkin, Pat Alkire, S. Wing St., commented on the vandalism, also the traffic at the Northville Square using her street as a racetrack. Mrs. Alkire also stated she thought a street light was missing. She commented this was the worst summer as far as noise and racing cars.

The City Manager will look into the situation.

WELCH ROAD CLOSING 4TH OF JULY: Motion by Councilman Follino supported by Councilman Nichols to close Welch Road from Reed Street to Horton St. from 4:00 to 7:00 July 4th for a Bicentennial Block Party with final approval of the City Manager and the Police Department.

Carried unanimously.

BUILDING OFFICIAL POSITION: Communication from the Northville Township Board concerning the selection of a new building official to replace Mr. Carl Lundquist who resigned. Mr. Frank L. Martin was selected.

LINDEN STREET RECLASSIFIED TO MAJOR STREET: A letter from the Department of State Highways and Transportation was read stating that because of the heavy traffic using Linden between Randolph and Main that effective July 1, 1976 this street would be reclassified from local to major street providing the "Stop" sign is removed from Linden and placed on Dunlap.

Councilman Follino mentioned that a year ago a parking ban limiting parking to one side of the street on Linden was looked into and he would like the Police Dept. to look into this again.

Councilman Johnson mentioned that parking on all 4 corners at the intersection make a hazardous condition. Councilman Nichols suggested parking should not be permitted by the intersections. Mayor Allen suggested parking on Dunlap be on one side only. This would be checked into.

MISCELLANEOUS: Mr. RIGHT TURN ON RED: Mayor Allen discussed this problem again; he stated that the turn signs were placed back too far especially at Center and Main. It was suggested that the signs be placed closer to the street as well.

SPEEDING: Councilman Nichols mentioned speeders on West Street between Dunlap and Randolph and asked for police patrols. He also mentioned that auxiliary patrols in subdivisions might cut down on the speeding and vandalism problem in these areas.

SURVEY: Councilman Follino asked about the street survey being conducted on the intersection of Griswold and Main.

The City Manager said the data has been gathered but not put together. This will be ready for the next meeting.

MEETING ON PROPOSED INTERCEPTOR: Mayor Allen and the City Attorney attended a meeting with other involved communities in Wayne and Oakland counties. The City Attorney explained that the Wayne Road Commission plan 1 or 1C overall complimented our system. The plan recommended by the W.R.C. would run lines down to a main interceptor plant near the River. Plan 1B (multiple sewage treatment plants) was chosen by the W.R.C. Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti chose to build their own treatment plants which would cost more in the long run. Construction of a sanitary system would cost approximately 80 percent of Federal assistance. There would be no waste with plan 1B.

There will be a hearing on July 22 where various alternatives will be presented. The City Attorney mentioned there is a possibility of a lawsuit if Ann Arbor or Ypsilanti go ahead and build a treatment plant. Novl and Walled Lake would have to build one also which we cannot go along with. The City Attorney suggested we adopt another resolution but this time without restrictions and leave the matter of sharing costs till later.

Mayor Allen asked about construction schedules for Plan A and was told that it was about 2 or 3 years away.

Bellevue is considering putting a treatment plant on a 100 acre park. Novl can't wait 2 to 3 years. They do not have any more capacity and are facing a building moratorium.

Mayor Allen and Betty Lennox, Township Supervisor, will meet with Novl and see if they can't work out a plan to borrow RFS to keep Novl from building a treatment plant.

The City Attorney will try to get a copy of the Novl Contract concerning the 4CFS limit to find out if Novl has in fact committed themselves to building a treatment plant.

Reminders should be sent out concerning the July meeting.

LIBRARY MEETING: A Library Building Plans meeting will be held at 8 p.m. on July 22 at the township hall.

The City Attorney was directed to consider our ordinance concerning x rated movie houses and distance limits, in light of the Detroit court case, for the next meeting in July.

Communication from Mrs. Charles Nichols, 113 High, asking for a "Resident Parking Only" sign in front of her house. This was denied.

There being no further business, Mayor Allen adjourned the meeting at 9:25 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Joan McAllister
City Clerk

The Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce has expressed compliments to all the southeastern Michigan organizations offering sites for a proposed federal Solar Energy Research Institute.

"We have been working closely with the Michigan Energy and Research Association in preparation of the proposal being submitted to Washington," said Dwight Havens, Greater Detroit Chamber president.

One of the proposed sites is located in Northville Township.

"Every major study of the economy of the State, the metropolitan area and the city has stated the need for diversification. The Solar Energy Research Institute could do for the State and southeastern Michigan what the Space Center is doing for Houston.

"The only question at hand seems to be where it should be located in Michigan. We are not recommending which of the five sites being submitted might be best, but we strongly object to the reaction and allegations being made about the City of Detroit site," Havens said.

The city recently offered $28 acres of Rouge River Park for the $20-million project.

Controversy accompanied the city's offer of the park land because of the reaction of a U.S. Department of Interior official. Detroit has asked for $4.8 million for a Detroit Riverfront park, and the regional director of the Bureau of the Outdoor Recreation has questioned the request for money by the city for one park while offering to give away land in another park.

"The federal government has every right to question a city decision," Havens said, "but to make such a statement without first requesting facts and giving the city a chance to be heard smacks of the bureaucratic insensitivity so often experienced when Detroit attempts to do something to help itself.

Police Blotter

Hitchhikers Rob Driver, Leave Him in Trunk

In Township

The 18-year-old son of James Garber, executive director of the Wayne County Criminal Justice Training School, was the victim of an armed robbery and kidnapping early Thursday morning.

Ralph Garber told Northville Township Police he picked up two hitchhikers in the Township and was driving northbound on Sheldon near Five Mile when the two pulled a knife.

Garber further stated the assailants robbed him of his wallet, took his clothing and forced him into the trunk of the car.

A police unit on patrol observed a car heading west on Six Mile Road turn into a driveway, stop momentarily, back out and speed east on Six Mile.

Police took up pursuit of the suspicious vehicle with the chase taking them to a field off Beck Road approximately one-half mile south of Five Mile Road.

The car was abandoned in the field with the two occupants fleeing on foot. The officer was in pursuit of the two men but heard shouts for help coming from the trunk of the car.

Finding the key in the trunk lock, the officer opened the trunk and found young Garber totally naked and bleeding from a wound on his leg.

Michigan State Police were called in on the case since the crime was believed to have originated in Plymouth Township. Even though it appears now that the case had its origin in Northville Township, the state will continue its jurisdiction.

A Garden City youth was transported by ambulance to Botsford Hospital for treatment of injuries he suffered while swinging on a rope at the Griswold Gravel pit.

A Township police officer saw the youth being carried by two friends and noticed he was bleeding and swollen. Richard Booterbaugh told police he struck a tree while swinging on the rope.

Township police apprehended four escaped women prisoners from the Women's Section of the Detroit House of Correction. Police were summoned to Seven Mile and Beck Road at 10:45 p.m. July 12 on a suspicious person call.

One escapee was picked up at that location with the other three apprehended approximately 1/4 mile east of Beck on Seven Mile.

A reel to reel tape recorder, tuner and amplifier were taken during the breaking and entering of a home on Silver Spring Drive. Police were first notified of the burglary on July 12 by a neighbor checking the home while the owner was on vacation.

The owner verified the theft of $460 in stereo equipment.

A 1970 Pontiac valued at $1200 was taken from the parking lot of the Meadowbrook Country Club July 13. The incident occurred sometime between 2 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. while the owner was working at the club.

Michigan State Police answered ten calls of escapes from the Northville State Hospital on Seven Mile last week. Two of those patients were returned to the facility by their parents.

One who failed to return from a day pass was returned three days later by the Detroit Crisis Center.

Of those still sought, one is considered definitely dangerous if provoked. The patient is on medication to keep him sedated. A spokesman for the hospital reported the medication would wear off in about a week.

It was further stated by the spokesman that it once took 15 men to hold the subject down when he was angry.

The patient had been given a pass to leave the facility Wednesday and failed to return.

Another escapee from the hospital July 12 is considered dangerous. That male patient was reported to have a fresh wound to his right hand.

A man on permanent order to the hospital and considered dangerous to himself left the grounds around 6 p.m. July 14.

Michigan State Police are still seeking a 15-year-old Northville patient who escaped while on an outing in Detroit. The subject was a voluntary patient and not considered dangerous.

The remaining three patients walked away from the grounds between Tuesday and Wednesday. The two male and one female patients are considered harmless.

Two women inmates of DeHoCo escaped from that facility Sunday afternoon. One prisoner was apprehended shortly after her escape by officers of DeHoCo.

The second woman, still at large, was serving a sentence for armed robbery and conspiracy to commit armed robbery.

In Wixom

A Wixom Police officer, in the process of serving a subpoena at a residence on Potter Road Tuesday, observed a planter box on the front porch with three healthy marihuana plants growing in it.

The officer spoke to a young child who was the only one home at the time, who said the plants belonged to his sister. According to the youngster, his sister was growing them to see what they looked like when they flowered.

The officer was further told that the mother was aware of the plants and said she was going to throw them out after they went to seed.

The officer confiscated the planter box containing the marihuana.

The same officer, answering a call in the Maple North complex a short time later, noticed a similar plant growing in abundance in a bedroom window of one of the apartments.

The officer knocked on the door and asked the occupant to come out to the front yard. The officer pointed out the plants growing in the window had a striking resemblance to those growing in the confiscated planter box.

The woman told the officer the plants were marihuana and that she had put the plants in that room because there was more sunlight. After some discussion, the women agreed to turn over the plants, minus their pots.

Later the same day, the woman's 14-year-old son appeared at the police station demanding his plants back. To clarify the law and the department refusal to turn over the plants, it was necessary to contact the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

According to the law, possession of a marihuana plant is known as possession of marihuana. The 28 plants remained in the property room.

Wixom police investigated three different reports of larceny of railroad ties between July 11 and July 12. The first call came from a resident on West Road at 11:45 p.m. July 11 saying he heard noises of ties being loaded in a pickup truck.

Fifty railroad ties valued at $586 were taken in that incident. Thirty additional ties valued at $351 were reported missing from the Beck Road crossing of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

A railroad spokesman said 15 ties were found stacked by the roadside at the West Maple Road crossing apparently waiting to be removed.

An AM-FM AC-DC radio and 12" Sony TV set were reportedly stolen from a locked van parked at the Village Apartments. Value of the equipment was set at $250 in the incident which occurred between 10:30 p.m. July 10 and 3 a.m. July 11.

Thieves were only able to make off with a workmen's pouch which contained a variety of tools after they broke into a van parked at the Indian Lodge complex. The larceny from the parked vehicle occurred between 11:30 p.m. July 10 and 7:30 a.m. July 11.

It is thought the thieves could have been after something more valuable since the vehicle had a large citizen band antenna mounted on it. The radio however, had been removed from the van and taken to the apartment for safekeeping.

A value of $1248 was placed on stereo equipment reported stolen from a home on Wixom Road. The breaking and entering to the home occurred June 24 but the incident was not reported to police until July 14.

Two Livonia youths received littering citations Thursday as they were "caught in the act" by a Wixom Police officer on routine patrol.

The officer saw the two boys pull their car to the side of Beck Road and observed the passenger lean out the window and knock over a garbage container. The vehicle was stopped with the two boys returned to the scene and made to pick-up the litter.

They were also issued a citation for their deed.

In Northville

A stake out of the Bellanger Manufacturing Company on East Cady Street July 11 by Northville City Police officers netted the department one would-be burglar.

Sergeant Allen Cox and Patrolman Norman Kubitsky arrested 18-year-old John Turpin as he allegedly broke into the building. The Northville youth was arraigned before Judge Dumbor Davis July 13 and held on $3,000 bond.

Examination was held on July 19 in 35th District Court with Turpin bound over to Circuit Court. He was released in his parents custody until trial on August 17.

Lawrence Albers, charged with the robbery of a hitchhiker in October, 1975 appeared before Judge Roman Gribbs in Detroit Circuit Court in June. A jury found him guilty of larceny from a person...a lesser offense.

Albers was sentenced to three years probation, $250 in court costs and attorney fees of $165.

Northville City Police investigated the larceny of an AM-FM stereo radio from a car parked in the new car lot at John Mach Ford Thursday. The car had been forcibly entered.

The radio was valued at $162 with total damage to the car reported to be $65.

In Novi

Novi detectives are seeking two youths who may be involved in the theft and subsequent torching of a car July 16 on West Road south of South Lake Drive.

According to police, two other youths were stopped by Walled Lake Police near the fire and, based upon descriptions provided by a witness, were later questioned by Novi Police. According to the youths, they were hitchhiking when they were picked up by two other juveniles. Those youths had allegedly stolen the car after they, too, were picked up hitchhiking and stole the car when the owner left to go to the bathroom.

The two youths questioned by police said they were not involved in the torching and had not seen the act done. Police are continuing their investigation.

Two 15-year-old youths, one from Novi and one from Walled Lake are being held in Oakland County Youth Home pending a court hearing on charges stemming from the theft July 12 of an automobile and $500 in golf equipment which was in the trunk of the car.

According to Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner, the youths were also being investigated regarding the theft earlier of a motorcycle and a breaking and entering. After the car was stolen from Olde Orchard, the youths failed to appear at the police station with their parents for questioning regarding the earlier crimes.

Sunday the car was recovered by Walker Police Department near Grand Rapids. Grand Rapids Police took the youngsters into custody later.

The youths had reportedly sold the golf clubs to another youth for $20, linking them to the auto theft.

According to Faulkner, the motorcycle stolen earlier was also recovered in possession of the youths.

Jackie, Layne, 17, John Ivey, 21 and Mark Hylton, 17, all of Detroit were arrested for larceny from a motor vehicle Saturday, July 17 by police.

They were arrested at Sandy's Mobile after an attendant called police. The men allegedly had taken cigarettes and canned goods from two Glenn Catering trucks parked there. All items were recovered.

Two juveniles also involved are to be petitioned into juvenile court.

At the Monday arraignment, Layne reportedly pled guilty while Ivey and Hylton pled not guilty. Their trial has been set for August 24 in 52nd District Court. All were released on personal recognizance.

A rotary hammer and two electric cords valued at $200 were stolen from the Novi High School construction site July 16. Damage to a gang box where the items were stored was estimated at $50.

A $169 Royce Citizen Band radio was stolen July 12 from a car parked at the Novi Party Store.

A $300 telescope and the boat in which it had been left were stolen from their mooring on East Lake Drive July 11. The boat was later found floating minus its oars. The telescope was later found by police.

Two K-Mart bicycles valued at $100 were stolen July 8-9 from in front of a home in the 1700 area of Paramount. They were later found behind a home on East Lake Drive. Youths there said they had found the bicycles in a field. The bicycles were returned by police to the owners.

Economy—Provide an incentive program through which private businesses would create jobs of a permanent nature.

Defense—I believe in a strong National Defense system.
Energy—I believe in the development of solar, wind, hydrogen and other sources of non oil origin.
Gun Ownership—I will defend our rights as law abiding citizens as to ownership of guns for protection of our families, properties and as sportspersons.

For Novi Buses

Communications System Weighed

Novi school board is currently investigating the idea of installing some form of two-way communication system between the special education vehicles which travel outside the district and the school district offices.

At its last meeting the school board discussed the pros and cons of installing any of the three alternatives: 1) mobile telephones; 2) Citizen Band radios; 3) Installation of a two-way system.

Assistant Superintendent Dr. William Barr recommended that the citizen band radio be immediately dropped from consideration because communication would not necessarily be direct with the school.

While main purpose would be to keep in communication with the special ed buses, the administration indicated it might be a good idea to have some form of communication with all buses in case they should break down.

If communication is only to be with the special ed vehicles, recommendation was to go with telephones which would cost $100 to $150 to install plus $70 to $90 a month per unit.

If communication is to be with all buses, the administration indicated it might be preferable to go with a two-way system licensed by the Federal Communication Commission which would cost $8,000 to $12,000 for 15-16 units and a base station.

The administration added that up to 70 percent of the cost could be reimbursed by the state if payment is spread out over several years.

Trustee Robert Wilkins moved and the board unanimously approved that the school district seek proposals from various companies for two-way radio systems.

Board members noted that strict security measures on the buses would have to be used if the district did decide to purchase the units.

later, "The city is harrasing me" and further suggested that many of the so-called violations had already been dealt with.

Although Paisley had not yet been contacted by Bulgarelli, he apparently was aware of the list of violations submitted to council. "They (the city) have the wherewithal to close me down and if that's what they want or think necessary, I can't stop them."

"I am willing to cooperate but I can't comment completely on any items until I understand what they are." Referring to one notable violation, Ordinance No. 52, "accumulation of litter and refuse", Paisley said the company "has made a herculean effort to clean the plant both inside and out."

Paisley conceded there was problem with the venting system which allowed particles of chemicals to be spewed over surrounding buildings but said it had been corrected.

According to Building Official William Tyler, Novi Fire Marshall Edward McBride was called in to make an inspection of the building. McBride reportedly found the pallets stacked outside the building to be a fire hazard and that the building could be closed down until they were removed.

Tyler said he didn't "think it was necessary" for McBride to check the inside of the building for fire violations since Tyler himself had already found a number of other violations within the structure.

Those problems have to do with the National Electrical Code. The building would "just about have to be completely re-wired to bring it to code," commented Tyler.

The Korex Company had apparently incurred the wrath of residents as well as the city council. Carole Walke of Hopkins Drive said she was heading a petition drive against Korex and demanded the city enforce its city ordinances.

Walke, during the first call to the public, said she found it "hard to understand how the ordinance is law but the violations are allowed to exist."

As Walke continually pressed the mayor and council during other portions of the agenda for answers to several questions, Mayor Val Vangieson dispensed with the meeting to a general public discussion.

It was the second time within six months the mayor found it necessary to stray from the regular agenda and open the meeting to the public on a Korex problem. The first deviation was at a mid-February meeting following the granting of an industrial designation to Korex.

Earlier in the evening, resident John Victory, in a statement to council, said the corner occupied by Korex "looks a lot better than it has in months" referring to a clean-up campaign by the company.

But during the general discussion Victory said he felt the city "would not be a place to live if the council allowed a company to slide and carry everything else with it. 'The problems sneak up on you like crabgrass,' he added."

"This problem has been a travesty on all of us and an insult as well. We have all suffered and been disgraced by the company." Victory went on to say, and the council agreed vocally that, "The company appears to be thumbing its nose at us. Council should now stand up for the rights of the people."

Walke, insistently looking for answers pressed harder. "It has been established that city ordinances are being violated. Have fines ever been issued... will the city enforce these ordinances?"

Somewhat provoked, she continued, "If we have to follow the law then so should Korex. If the city is not going to follow the law... then abolish the law."

To Walke's statement, "It's incredible that everyone allows them (Korex) to skirt the law," Tyler responded that since spring, Paisley has

Luring Enthusiasts

Bicycling just "for the joy of it" is luring everyone from youngsters to senior citizens onto two-wheelers.

So many have become interested in do-it-yourself transportation that bicycle paths are being constructed for their use.

One of the newest is the bicycle trail that presently terminates near the Northville Recreation Area along the east edge of the Edward Hines Drive in the Middle Rouge Parkway in Northville Township.

This trail eventually is to run the entire length of the parkway system with long-range plans including an extension to the Maybury State Park.

"They're definitely safer as well as more enjoyable," says Sergeant Reuben Johnson of the Michigan State Police Plymouth sub-post.

"I'm not aware of any problems whatsoever," he stated when asked about the Hines path, "and we would know if there were."

He cautions, however, that the same rules apply to cyclists on the paths as are used in general traffic.

For night use a bicycle should have a white light on the front that is visible for at least 500 feet. A good red reflector or red light on the back fender should be seen at least 300 feet.

The National Safety Council's bicycle safety program and the Bicycle Institute of America in their rules for safe biking advise night riders to wear light-colored clothing, suggesting white or yellow colors as being good for visibility.

In getting to or from bike paths, or generally riding at night, the safety experts warn that busy highways and streets are most dangerous as drivers can overlook bicyclists, even those with good lights and reflectors, with such distractions as other car lights, traffic lights and neon signs.

Bicycle riders must follow the same rules as car drivers, Sergeant Johnson states, including obeying traffic signal lights and making a full stop at stop signs.

Other safety council rules for bicycle riders include:

• Give pedestrians the right of way, even if they are in the wrong.

• Ride on the right with the traffic on the road.

• Ride single file, Indian fashion, so that fast moving cars can pass safely.

• Use proper hand signals to indicate what you intend to do and glance behind before making a turn.

• Have a horn or bell on the bicycle to signal other riders or pedestrians that you are approaching.

• Slow down at intersections and look both ways.

• Never hitch on any moving vehicle as cars and trucks travel too fast.

• Don't ride with more than one passenger per bike; never carry large packages that are hard to see around or that make the bike hard to handle.

• Limit stunt riding or racing to completely open areas with no other riders or traffic near.

• Slow down for all corners or bends that limit visibility ahead. Sound your bell to warn that you're coming.

• Take extra care on hills as a rock or other obstruction can somersault the rider who is going fast; allow more time to brake, too.

• Walk your bike any time that the traffic is extremely heavy. Even skilled riders do this, the safety experts point out.

Words and Sounds Are Music

By PATRICIA BERNARDO

Every Sunday morning Ted Strasser of Northville attracts a large and faithful following.

Strasser is not a preacher but a broadcaster — the creator of "Patterns In Music" on WJR.

Strasser performs other duties at the radio station, but it is his four-hour musical program on Sundays that draws the fan mail.

In this day of "top 40" play lists, which disc jockeys repeat over and over again, "Patterns In Music" is unique. Every record is selected by Strasser. Some are familiar "oldies" and some are songs the listener has probably never heard.

The musical selections, along with readings and Strasser's own personality, are woven into an ear-pleasing "pattern."

Themes for the program, says Strasser, "range from very serious, religious ones to utterly ridiculous nonsense."

Some patterns are naturals — hymns on Easter or love songs on Valentine's Day. Last Sunday, Strasser played songs of the sea for the yachtsmen in the Mackinac Island race.

"When I first started doing the show 13 years ago, I thought the barrel of ideas would run dry some day. But I have a folder of new ideas this thick," he says with his hands six inches apart, "and it never seems to get any smaller."

In April, Strasser constructed a light-hearted pattern to ease the pain of tax-paying. Starting with "I Got Plenty of Nothing," Strasser reminded listeners to take their deductions with "Thank Heaven for Little Girls." There was a warning from IRS, "It's a Sin to Tell a Lie," and a retort from the harried taxpayer, "May the Bird of Paradise Fly Up Your Nose." Strasser described the emotions of filling out the 1040 with "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered," and ended the pattern with "Everything I Have Is Yours."

Some of Strasser's patterns are so popular that listeners demand their repetition year after year. One of these is his "Autumn Leaves" pattern with a reading from the book "Bambi" in which the last two leaves on the tree have a final conversation before falling to the ground. Strasser says people begin writing in June or July wanting to know when that pattern will be on the air.

Strasser spends anywhere from five to 20 hours preparing his program. Once the theme is chosen, Strasser decides on his music. "Some titles naturally come to mind from the backlog in my brain," Strasser says.

Others come from the "Classified Directory of Songs," a book listing musical titles by subject. If Strasser's theme is animals, the directory will lead him to recordings such as "Dingbat, the Magic Cat."

Strasser looks up his final choices (40 to 60 songs for each four-hour show) in the WJR library, with its shelves of records from floor to ceiling. Then he writes his script, usually in the form of notes from which he "ad libs" during the broadcast.

Strasser says he is constantly working on his program. He carries a pad and pencil everywhere he goes to note sudden flashes of inspiration. Sometimes he awakens in the middle of the night to jot down a possible "Patterns" theme.

Even on vacation, Strasser has "Patterns In Music" on his mind. He has done several patterns on "Vacation Memories" taking listeners on tours of Florida, Arizona, California and Washington, D.C.

"These have proven to be very popular," Strasser says. "Listeners will write to say they took that exact trip and I brought back all their memories. Or they will be fired up to take the same trip."

Strasser has been with WJR 20 years. He began his career with a course at a radio announcer's school in Chicago followed by several years with small radio and T.V. stations in Illinois and Indiana.

His present job requires him to be up at 3 a.m. Saturday and Sunday mornings, the days that most people get to sleep in.

He is on the air Saturday from 5 to 7 a.m. with a program called "Town and Country" featuring agricultural and consumer news. From 7 until noon, he works in a tiny cubicle as a staff announcer, introducing newscasters and disc jockeys and reading commercials.

Sunday he does a program of hymns from 5 to 7 a.m. before "Patterns In Music" which runs from 8:10 until noon.

At 11:30 p.m. Sunday he returns to the station in the Fisher Building downtown to do "Flight" show which isn't over until Monday morning at 5 a.m.

Thursdays and Fridays Strasser works more regular hours, preparing his program, announcing, and recording public service and commercial spots for both WJR-AM and its FM affiliate.

TED STRASSER

Strasser says his schedule cuts into his social life and sometimes makes it difficult for him to sleep. "I go home Monday morning and collapse," he says. "And then I have trouble sleeping Monday night."

While his wife, Lois, is very active in the Northville United Methodist Church, Strasser rarely attends services because of his hours.

Strasser says he tries to play a variety of music to please a number of tastes, he personally enjoys "good choral arrangements."

In his spare time he narrates programs for the Max Dooly Singers, a choral group which does hymns and patriotic songs for area churches.

He is also currently working with the Allen Park Symphony Orchestra on a Christmas "Patterns In Music" concert to be performed December 12.

Strasser moved to Highland Lakes four years ago. He said that he and his wife were enticed by condominium living after their two oldest daughters married and moved out of their large house in Livonia.

The Strassers have one daughter still at home. Janet, 15, will be a junior at Northville High School this year.

Strasser says he has fallen in love with Northville. "It has a small town atmosphere that is lost in this country in general."

Hmmmm. A small town. With "Dear Hearts and Gentle People." "Right in Backyard." Must be a "pattern" in that.

Patterns in Cones

WJR's Ted Strasser and his daughter, Janet, 15, enjoy ice cream cones during a stroll through Northville. The Strassers live in Northville's Highland Lakes subdivision.

Township Candidates Answer League Questions

For Supervisor

WILSON GRIER

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

The Township has recently undergone very trying times. The possibility of Annexation to the City, which my opponent supports avidly, was denied by a two to one ballot. I am qualified, understand Township government, and will represent the citizens of Northville Township fairly.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

The citizens of Northville Township, unlike their counterparts in the City, will have the opportunity to decide at the polls how much their taxes will be and where the money will be spent. I will support the police, library, and recreation to the maximum extent authorized by the voting public.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

The priority for Northville Township is to create sound fiscal planning. The public must decide on the programs that they are willing to finance. The Elected Official must spend wisely and be thrifty. Government in general must learn to stretch its dollar value as well as the general public has.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

The question and space available are insufficient to be answered in the limited space of 50 words. I am available to discuss the issue in detail in the evenings at my home or by phone (348-9686). Failure to print this response in its entirety is a breach of my authorization.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

My response to this question is the same as expressed in Question 4.

BETTY LENNOX

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

My experience as Clerk and Supervisor provide background needed for sensitive yet firm leadership. Over past two years good working relations developed with Township consultants, County government members dealing with Township matters and officials of adjoining communities. The responsibilities and accomplishments of the Supervisor's office are an enjoyable challenge.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

a) Present level of Police service with limited growth, projected in budget, can be accomplished by 1.5 mills.
b) Library funds have been well managed in past. Use growing & need demonstrated. .5 mill should be passed.
c) Recreation use increasing by Township residents. Responsible commission will spend .5 mill wisely.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

1. Investigate needs for growth of fire protection. 2. Develop through attorney & courts better means of enforcing ordinances. 3. Continue pressure for more policing of Hines Park. 4. Finalize securing clear warranty deed to acreage north of Six Mile Road for the Township. 5. Continue search for sewer capacity for area north of Five Mile Road.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

Yes. A community should define its goals for future development. Our present Land Use Master Plan was written by experienced consultants, reviewed by Planning Commission and adopted in conjunction with zoning ordinance No. 47. This plan is well balanced and should be carried out as development occurs, and reviewed & revised periodically.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

No. Main advantage is ability to levy 5 mills without vote of people. Electorate required to vote favorably on adopting 'Charter', so in effect would have to vote on the 5 mills. Under 'Charter' a Township Superintendent can be appointed — but position of Township Manager is available for General Law Townships.

For Clerk

CLARICE SASS

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

Having served as Northville Township Clerk, for the past year, I am fully aware of the concerns of our residents. With this knowledge and background, I would like to continue to serve the community continuing my efforts towards sound Township Government.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

I am in favor of all 3 millage proposals as stated on the ballot. Passage of these proposals will not only improve the level of services necessary to fulfill the needs of our citizens but will insure no reduction in present services. But in the final analysis the decision on taxation belongs to the people of Northville Township.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

Want to see Township continue orderly growth pattern. Vitrally important that Township develop and maintain sound financial base. Must ensure safe environment in which citizens may live and work. Continued improvement in election system for convenience of Twp. residents. Continued monitoring of State Legislation to make sure Township interests considered.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Contained on this page are the answers by the candidates for the Northville Township Board to questions posed by the local chapter of the League of Women Voters. Candidates were asked to limit their answers to the questions to 50 words. In a number of cases, the answers were edited by the League to meet its limitation. Next week The Record will carry the candidates' answers to its questions together with biographical information and pictures of the candidates. A non-partisan organization, the League does not take positions on candidates. It does, however, take positions on ballot issues. See Letter to the Editor relative to the League's position on the millage issues.

The League also submitted questions to candidates for the Novi Township Board but received no responses.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

The present Land use Master Plan became effective in April of 1974 and should be undergoing a continual review to insure adequacy for a growing community.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

I would favor it only if this were the desire of the Township Residents. In speaking to hundreds of constituents, none have ever expressed an opinion that we consider Charter Government. Therefore, at this time I cannot support Northville Township becoming Chartered. I am amenable to will of people.

ROSEMARY ZILLICH

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

Being long time resident of Northville area am concerned about where we are, where we are going. Feel I am qualified to handle job of township clerk, represent the people in everyday issues, as well as planning for Township's future growth. We need to keep bridge between people and board.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

Recognize great need for police protection, but feel that 1.5 mill is not really enough to cover all extras as stated. Feel we should wait to see what service state police will provide. I am 100 percent for the library and for recreation. They speak for themselves.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

To carry out the every day duties of township clerk. To take care of the issues at hand. My priorities would be what the people feel are most important to them. To see that they are fully represented in any decision making.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

Yes the present plan is fine there is a balance of land use. The plan has been, re-evaluated since it was first put into effect, as it should be every 2 to 3 years. Because of population changes as well as priorities.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

No. Because it would take at least 5 mills and I just don't feel the people at this time would even consider it.

For Treasurer

CONSTANTINE CARSON

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

Desire to participate in local affairs. I enjoy the community and want to continue to keep it as a good place to raise my children. The best way I know how to do this is to be an active participant.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

Police — In complete accord — will support. Library — Increase is needed. Recreation — Not sure. Although I have coached in the system for four years, concerned that we may have grown too fast. The Director's statement that fewer children participated this year because the Township did not pay its "fair share" — really bothered me.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

Watch Mayberry property development, continue to cooperate with City, help voter confidence to grow, keep a balanced budget, not allow the community to be split over the annexation issue, review the Detroit Water costs problem, work on the Beer/Hill Problem.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

I am not familiar with the Master Plan. After I am completely familiar with Township problems as a Board Member, then, and only then, can I analyze the Plan properly.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

If this is an alternative to splitting the community over the annexation issue, then I am in favor.

RICHARD HENNINGSEN

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

My financial training and experience will benefit the township.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

a) Not at this time. I first want to see the impact of the new State Police facility on our township.
b & c) Yes to both. They provide many community and citizen benefits for minimal tax dollars.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

To see that our tax dollars are wisely budgeted and wisely spent.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

Yes. It is a flexible, workable plan.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

No. I do not believe it would benefit the township.

For Trustee (4-Year-Term)

MARGARET CRAMER

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

I want to improve township policies, programs and administration. I would fight for an independent township. I would propose positive solutions for many of the practical problems facing our residents.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

I think we need more police protection however before we pass more millage lets wait and see what the new census figures bring in, in the way of new revenue.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

Need to improve law enforcement. Should solve problems of Beer Hill. I believe Sheriff's Patrol should assist township police by cleaning up Hines Park problems. We need to get rid of drug pushers, rowdy vandals and violent gangs that roam in park. Leave Township as is. Preserve beauty of land.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

No. I favor local control over land use regulation. The state should not regulate in this area. Marshlands and agricultural lands should be allowed to remain as they are, without pushing for commercial development.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

A new state law does provide for the formation of charter townships. I favor the township organized as it is, but the charter township might be another alternative.

Arthur Munzinger Did Not Respond

WESLEY ROGALSKI

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

I want to get involved because I believe I have good ideas to help the community maintain its quality of living and being single I have the time and energy to give to the community.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

If the people are satisfied with their police and recreation departments and library, they should vote no. If they want expansion in these departments, they should vote yes. Personally, I am satisfied with the present operation of these departments and do not favor expansion.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

I don't want to see a shopping mall on every corner. My priority for Northville is to maintain its natural beauty and services. In decade, it's a constant battle for the status quo.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan?

The Land Use Master Plan has been adopted and is being implemented at the present time.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

A Charter Township has numerous positive aspects but

Novi Backs Denise For State Pageant

The Novi Lions Club has announced that it is sponsoring Denise Paquette of Novi in the statewide Miss Michigan Teenage Pageant. The Novi High School junior has been selected to compete in the pageant to be held in August.

Miss Paquette is captain of the girls' drill team and is featured twirler at Novi High. She has been a cheerleader for the past four years and was involved in the high school drama group for three years.

She is a section editor of the yearbook staff and plays on the girls' softball team. She also has found time to serve as a volunteer at the Plymouth State Home and Training School, working with mentally retarded children.

Club sponsors also cite their candidate's love of music, noting that she is first chair baritone in the band and has been involved with the band program for six years. She also sings in the high school choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Steinberger have returned from a once in a lifetime experience. Mr. Steinberger was a member of a bomber crew on a B-17 attached to the 398 bomb Squadron during World War II. Last week, the members of this crew and their wives met together in St. Louis, Missouri, the first time in 31 years. There were 20 in the group and all were present. Special dinners and times of sharing experiences, as well as sightseeing in the St. Louis area were high points.

Scott Allan Lee is the new baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Lee of McMahon Street. He was born June 21 at Providence hospital and weighed 7 pounds 8 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hosier of California, Mrs. Jean Perry of Texas and Charles Shirah of Georgia.

Reverend and Mrs. Terry Lytle of Drive In Ministries of Michigan and Florida were dinner guests at the Lawrence Smith home of Taft Road last Friday evening. Mrs. Elaine Belanger of Rose City and her five youngsters visited her sister Mrs. Pat Sulla of 13 Mile Road last week for several days.

Fran Kohl of Rushton has returned after 10 days in Mexico. While there she visited Vista Hermosa and also Cuernavaca Taxco in Mexico City.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Clarke of 13 Mile hosted a birthday party for Mr. Clarke's mother, Mrs. Betsey Clarke of Drayton Plains, and Mrs. Clarke's mother, Mrs. Marie Travis of Northville, last Sunday. About 25 family members were present for the dual occasion.

Novi Girl Scouts

Camp Arapho, the Girl Scout Day Camp located at Warren's Woods is continuing through the week. On Tuesday they had a Red, white and Blue Day with "Happy Birthday America" theme. Kids all wore something in those colors. Today, Wednesday, there was an all camp progressive dinner including spaghetti, salad and dessert. On the last day, Thursday, there will be no camp fires. Everyone will be having a bag lunch together. The girls will be wearing long dresses for the Bicentennial Day, and units will be performing skits for which awards will be presented.

North Novi Civic Association

At the meeting held on Tuesday, July 20 a report was given on the baseball diamond being worked on at the City Park on South Lake Drive. Wayne Merriman also reported on Gala Days. Plans were made for the picnic after Labor Day. Dues of $3 per year are payable at the present time. Only members with paid up dues will be able to vote in the election planned for September.

Blue Star Mothers

A very successful Bingo party was held for the Veterans in the main recreation area at the Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor. About 65 men participated. The ladies who attended were Mrs. Winnie Dobek, Helen Burnstrom, Marie Tripp and Lucy Needham. They served assorted sandwiches, coffee, and cake, and furnished all the prizes. Other future plans include a luncheon in September to obtain funds to continue this type of program for the Veterans.

Lakes Area Senior Citizen Program

This is the newly moved program to the Novi Middle School and is available to all Senior Citizens in the Novi area. The hot lunches continue at noon each day on Thursday. it also enables the township government to levy up to 5 mills without voter approval and for that reason I'm opposed to its formation at this time.

JOHN SWIENCKOWSKI

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

As a present Township trustee, I believe that Northville Township is at a critical stage of its development. I am concerned about the problems we face and wish to remain involved in the governmental processes affecting our community.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

a) Support—to prevent cutbacks in present level of services projected for the next budget year and favor the formation of civilian police commission to oversee budget matters. b) Support. c) Support.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

1. Fiscal responsibility to Township residents. 2. Improve fire protection. 3. Improve communications between Board and residents. 4. Establishment of civilian police commission to oversee police budget.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

Yes. A Master Plan is the ideal at the time implemented and ours is presently a good plan. Time and circumstances, however, both from internal and external pressures, can alter the needs of our community. Should that occur, review can be made if a sound basis for the same exists.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

No. It would require a majority of Township voters to effect such a change. There has been no indication that our community favors such a change at this time.

JOHN UNGER

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

I am genuinely interested in our community and its future as is evidenced by my membership on the Planning Commission and, formerly, Board of Appeals. I firmly believe I have qualifications to do a good job as both my education and work experience have been directed at "getting things done."

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

Our taxes are already increasing 18 percent. Therefore, I support the recreation and library millages but not the police millage because of lack of demonstrated need, new Northville State Police Post, township form of government which generally precludes best police protection value for the money and potential for other funds.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

A careful monitoring of our police situation along the lines of the Police Committee Report with action as required. A review of our fire protection needs and means of providing the necessary service. Better definition and enforcement of Township ordinances so that offenders are punished. Evaluation of the "Super Sewer."

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

Yes. It was prepared by a reputable firm and was reviewed by Township officials. My work against Equity Resources' rezoning request and as a member of the Planning Commission has convinced me that the plan was well conceived. It provides an excellent basic structure for the growth of the Township.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

No. The major impact would be to increase the maximum permissible millage without specific approval of the electorate from one to five mills. I cannot see any advantages to a Charter Township that would give voters cause to relinquish their control over local taxes to this extent

MICHAEL WILSON

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

Through involvement with Township government as Board member of Highland Lakes and serving on recent Citizens Millage Study Committee, I have found personal challenge wherein I can use professional skills plus common sense in assisting this Township in handling problems that face it in coming months and years.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreational millage?

a) As member Police Millage Study Subcommittee, recommended 1 mill. Issue needs more study and exposure and should be deferred. b) Education, culture definite priorities for community. Library Commission has proven they are providing fine service and have sound plans. In favor. c) Approve. Fine program benefits not only athletes but other groups.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

Immediate Priorities should be— a) In depth study, recommendation and planning on the police protection subject. b) Long range fire protection and rescue service plan.

c) Resolution of Sewer Capacity Problem. d) Pet Control. e) Attraction of Commercial Business to the Township in accordance with Future Land Use Master Plan. If we must continue to look toward millage from . . .

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

a) The plan provides for controlled growth. b) It provides a good mix of residential, business and recreational facilities. c) The ultimate population appears to be acceptable. Since the Plan is almost three years old, a review should be performed to test the assumptions. In general, I favor the plan.

5. 50 WORDS Would you favor the formation of a Charter Township? Explain.

If the main purpose of Charter Township would be to allow 5 mills without voter approval, I am against it. I do not know all of the ramifications of this form of government. It is indeed unfortunate that government format has become such a highly emotional subject. What is needed

For Trustee (2-Year-Term)

MARK LYSINGER

1. 50 WORDS Why are you a candidate?

Present board has not been responsive to the direction of the residents.

2. 50 WORDS What is your position on the a) 1.5 police, b) .5 library and c) .5 recreation millage?

Most important — voters are deciding whether to pay increased taxes. I favor police millage; am not sure about library & recreation. If elected, will follow direction of voters.

3. 50 WORDS What are your priorities for Northville Township in the next 12 months?

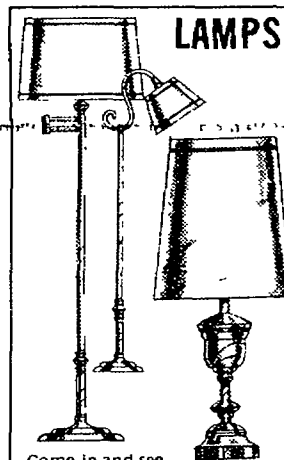

To place programs on a priority schedule based on the direction of the voters. To develop flexible expansion plans to allow for controlled township growth.

4. 50 WORDS Do you favor implementing the present Land Use Master Plan? Explain.

Eric Purcell strikes a Union Army post in front of the American Legion's cannon

Bicentennial Gettysburg

'Wounded Vet' Enjoys Battle

By STEVE RAPHAEL

Eric Purcell has been wounded in the right leg, fought hand-to-hand combat and marched seven miles in scorching heat carrying over 20 pounds of equipment, but he thinks war is lots of fun.

For the last two years, the 17-year-old Northville High School senior has taken part in re-enactments of Civil War battles on balmy summer weekends.

This past July 4th weekend he, and 3,000 other Civil War buffs from across the country, staged the Battle of Gettysburg at the actual battle site to commemorate America's Bicentennial.

The mock battle was staged by the North-South Skirmish Association (N-S.S.A.) to which Eric belongs. All 3,000 participants paid their own way to the rolling Pennsylvania countryside to participate in the mock, bloody battle that turned the tide of the Civil War.

"It was a lot of fun," says the mild-mannered weekend soldier who hopes to major in oceanography in college.

Some fun. "We fought for an hour and a half trying to simulate the real battlefield situation. I was injured in the right leg and carried off the field to a hospital," says Eric who was only make-believe injured.

"We only participate in a few re-enactments a year, but we shoot 20 times a year," Eric says.

But the Civil War has come to mean more than just firing guns to Eric and 21 other friends.

"In order to get invited to participate in these re-enactments we had to pick out an authentic Michigan unit that fought in the war, research its history, then submit an application to N-S.S.A.," he says.

Eric and friends selected the Second Michigan Unit, an outfit that was trained at Fort Wayne.

From the research into the group, Eric's interest in Civil War uniforms grew. Unable to sew a stitch, he set out to make his own uniform. The N-S.S.A. participants have to wear uniforms but where they get them is unimportant.

"I just copied patterns from books," relates Eric, dressed in his contrasting light blue shirt (with five wooden buttons) and brighter, light blue pants.

Eric also made a navy blue pea-coat-like coat and Civil War hat as part of the attempt to be realistic.

"But the whole re-enactment was really something to see," Eric continues. And millions did as they watched CBS' day-long Fourth of July television bonanza.

"There were 80 artillery pieces and over 100 cavalry. The men paraded in their blue or gray uniforms before the battle, and the women (including Eric's girl friend, whom he met through N-S.S.A.) were dressed in the large, full gowns that characterized the middle 19th Century.

Eric enthusiastically describes the weekend events

$17,000 Earmarked for 'Gifted' Program

Northville's educational program for academically gifted children will receive $17,000 for the coming school year if Governor William Milliken signs an appropriations bill now on his desk.

State Senator Carl Pursell, sponsor of the proposal, said he is "99 percent" sure the Governor will sign the bill this week.

The program for gifted elementary students has been run on a voluntary basis in Northville during the past four years. An earlier attempt to get state funding failed because the $200,000 allocated yearly by the Department of Education for such programs had been committed to other districts.

The Pursell Amendment is part of Senate Bill 1400 called the "Fifth Quarter Appropriations Bill" which allocates money for various state programs for the period July 1 through September 30. This fifth quarter is the "extended fiscal year" adopted earlier by the legislature.

Aides in Pursell's Lansing office say the amendment for the Northville schools was one of the senator's "pet projects." Pursell personally "bird-dogged" the measure through the legislature.

After passing the Senate, the State House removed the Pursell rider. Pursell was a member of the Conference Committee which met to work out a compromise between the House and Senate versions, and he had the amendment restored there.

Pursell said some of his colleagues were concerned because his amendment was a new spending measure, but he assured them that Northville's was an "exceedingly excellent program," which deserved state funding.

Pursell acted in response to a request from Florence Panattoni recently retired assistant to the superintendent and Marjorie Sliger, newly elected school board member.

The governor's budget and economic advisors have already reviewed the bill, and have recommended that the governor approve the Pursell Amendment.

Pursell said he believes that the state grant should be supplemented with local money. He expressed a willingness to make a presentation before the Northville Board of Education on behalf of the program.

Superintendent of Schools, Raymond E. Spear said that a budget for the program has not yet been developed. He said Pursell will be invited to address the board once the program is "locked in."

Spear said that while he could not provide figures, he expects the money to be used for transportation, supplies and materials, special coordinating services and some in-service training.

The program for the academically gifted children was begun when the extended school year with its open classroom was instituted.

"We felt we weren't able to challenge the really bright children," said Mrs. Marjorie Sliger, who was a teacher at Amerman at the time.

Mrs. Sliger and two other teachers began meeting at lunch to structure programs that the gifted children could carry out on their own.

The program is now run by a steering committee of principals, teachers, professional staff and interested parents.

To be included, a child must score 125 on a group I.Q. test or 130 on an individual test. He or she must also be performing two years above grade level in reading and math.

Teachers recommend students for fine arts programs in music, art or creative writing.

A parent may request that his child be tested.

Currently the program covers only grades one through five. With the grade restructure placing sixth graders in the elementary schools, Mrs. Sliger said the Board will have to decide whether or not to include those children.

The Pursell Amendment is a one-year grant. After that the senator said, he hopes Northville will be approved by the State Department of Education for an annual allocation.

'Wounded Vet' Enjoys Battle

which include living just as the soldiers lived. But he originally joined N.S.S.A. because of his interest in shooting Civil War era guns.

"I like all guns but I'm strictly into firing these guns," he says, referring to his eight-gun collection of Civil War antiques and replicas which include two cap and ball revolvers, a flintlock pistol and flintlock rifle. Eric values his collection at roughly $2,000.

The thin, blue-eyed youngster originally learned of the N.S.S.A. by attending the Muzzle Loaders Festival at Greenfield Village. There he met other people who shared his interest in firing guns and who, in turn, introduced him to the N.S.S.A.

The only flaw in an otherwise authentic uniform was Eric's bright red, elastic suspenders.

"Some Civil War societies insist upon complete authenticity, and I wouldn't be accepted into their groups with these suspenders," Eric believes. Why? "Suspenders in the 1860s were made of canvas or wool."

realism by the N.S.S.A. extends to the battlefield, too.

"Before we fight a battle, we're told what to do by officials," Eric says. "We all know the battle histories anyway so it's not too bad. Besides, we have generals standing around the battlefield directing us just as they did 113 years ago."

Eric says that in re-staging Pickett's charge, where 90 percent of Southern troops fell, the event directors got North and South participants together before the battle and gave out instructions as to who would "die".

Eric was told to suffer a leg wound.

Real injuries have been few and minor, according to Eric who says the soldiers only fire powder from their guns.

"Occasionally someone gets hurt from a powder burn but the directors only let the most experienced soldiers do the hand-to-hand fighting."

"Some of the really experienced participants are allowed to bring their bayonets into battle. But they have to be careful, sometimes people get carried away in these battles," Eric says.

Civitan Launches Drive for Members

Northville Civitan Club has launched a new member drive that will continue until early fall.

According to club spokesmen, membership is open to both men and women, retirees and persons living alone as well as married couples (when one spouse joins, the other automatically becomes an associate member).

Civitan, derived from the Greek word for "citizen", is a service club with international affiliation whose motto is "Builders of Good Citizenship." Its efforts also are directed toward working with the retarded as sponsoring of the Special Olympics in Michigan, which are competitive sports events for gifted children.

Meetings of the Northville club are held the first and third Thursday of each month at the Kings Mill clubhouse.

Additional information about the club may be obtained by calling either Lou Hopping, 349-2086, Art Munzinger, 349-0799, or Dorothy Knott, 349-4781.

"Or you may just drop in on any meeting," said Al Short, club president.
