Strike vote possible today by disgruntled teachers

Angry teachers working without a contract and now stripped of their standard union financing procedure will meet today (Wednesday) to consider a possible strike vote.

The meeting of Northville teachers union was scheduled in the wake of Thursday's bargaining session that failed to produced headway towards settlement of a three-year contract and that, according to teachers, took a giant step backward. "After having decided to go back to work without a contract to insure the education of children, the board stabbed us in the back by threatening us with no retroactivity and issuing a set of conditions that are

School' resumes

Although the school board and the teachers union are deadlocked in a battle over a new contract, classes resumed as usual this week after last week's school opener. Threat of a strike still looms as teachers prepare to meet today prior to tomorrow's next bargaining session. In addition to the bargaining problem, the district is also faced with serious class size problems at the high school. But at Silver' Springs Elementary School, children are too busy to be concerned with such matters. Below Becky Grier enjoys a book as David Ramsey looks on, and above three youngsters, Scott Thomas, Tiffany Bowling and Judy Baltz study on the floor of their classroom.

intended to bring us to our knees," charged Richard Cross, an eighth grade teacher and chief bargaining agent for teachers.

Meanwhile, Burton Knighton, director of personnel, announced Monday that "agreement between the Northville Board of Education and the Northville Education Association appears to be no closer than it was a week ago.'

'He said the board team informed negotiators for teachers at the conclusion of last week's meeting of the following conditions of employment during the interim:

Teachers are to be paid the same salary as they received during the last school year, and will receive - no increments, no added extra credit pay, no change in degree status, and no deductions of association dues from teachers' contract.

Unaffected by the latter condition are other payroll deductions.

Concerning last Thursday's bargaining session, Dr. Knighton reported that "the majority of time was spent answering questions on the institutional special education program raised by the association.

Next bargaining session, Dr. Knighton said, is slated tomorrow at 4:30 p.m.

While Cross angrily denounced the "board's

Schwarze doesn't want a settlement," charged Cross. "The way he conducts himself at a meeting is unbelieveable; his only concern seems to be how he can better his image as a hard-hitting, don't give an inch lawyer.

"But what really bothers us is that the school board takes second-hand information about how the negotiations are going. They say they are informed,

Class sizes soar

High school 'crisis' rocks board

With the district just a week into the traditional school year, a "crisis" situation has surfaced at Northville High School that has board members and administrators scrambling for a solution.

Calling the classroom pupil-teacher ratios at the high school the worse he has seen in 14 years, perplexed Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear told board members Monday night that he has not yet been able to-put his finger on why, despite fewer numbers of students and an overall increase in teachers, so many classes are overloaded.

Not only are some classes bulging with 40 or more students, many students reportedly have not been able to obtain course studies for which they had preregistered. -5 ---Several parents attending Monday's meeting angrily denounced the situation at the high school and called for immediate corrective board action.

Although Spear voiced a need for 31/2 additional teachers at the high school, he stopped short of recommending the hiring of additional teachers pending closer examination of the budget to see if sufficient monies can be pried loose to pay for them. Pressed by Trustee Marjorie Sliger for a recommendation to hire, the superintendent said he could not do so without assurance that the district could afford the additions. Nevertheless, he admitted the need for additions is crucial.

Other than internal attempts at the administrative level to adjust class sizes, corrective board action has been delayed until the next meeting of the board on September 27.

Spear also cautioned the board that if corrective board action is to be effective yet this school semester, it must come soon — "if it isn't already too late."

-Irony of the high school situation is that the restructuring of grades instituted this fall was ordered in an attempt to relieve overcrowded conditions at the high school. So while there are fewer numbers of students in the high school building, class sizes have soared.

In algebra 2 classes, for example, two classes have 41 students, one 40, one 39 and another 37.

Class sizes in inorganic chemistry are smaller (31 to 32 students), but many students who intended to take the class could not because of space limitation. There's a waiting list of some 22 students for this course.

Another area in which demand far exceeds space is in auto mechanics, said Spear.

Problem areas also exist in American history and in English classes.

Spear emphasized, however, that no student was ied taking five classes, although he admitted that colleges, where students are given an opportunity to pick and choose the classes they want. "I wonder if some of the classes to which they were assigned may not have been their choices.

A number of possible causes for the situation were discussed by the superintendent. Chief among these was the switch of some 100 students from the yearround program to the traditional program.

Thus, while traditional classroom sizes have soared, the ESY class sizes have diminished.

Citizen Florence Hinman, echoing concerns of other parents, pointed out that while class sizes for ESY students are low, the class offerings are limited. Conversely, traditional class sizes are high, but their course offerings are substantially greater than for ESY students, she added.

She took the position that one good program is better than two poor ones.

Another parent resented the fact that some ESY students who switched this fall to the traditional program were given first choice of classes over " traditional students.

"If pre-registration means nothing," said a parent, "why waste time on it."

Mary Kelly, president of the high school PTA, said her contacts indicated a general frustration by parents.

The PTA president also questioned the wisdom of the "arena registration" system, similar to that of Gridiron '76 in this issue

SEPTEMBER meeting of Northville Township Board of Trustees, postponed a week from the regular second Thursday of the month, will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the township offices on Sheldon Road. Use of the fire station at the Wayne County Child Development Center and police department requests on hiring and promotions are on the agenda of new business.

THE NEW CORRECTED student handbook will be distributed today to Cooke Middle School students, Principal David Longridge has announced.

STATE SENATOR Carl Pursell's campaign for election to congress in the second district received a boost this week from President Gerald Ford. Pursell was invited to Washington to a White House briefing Tuesday and was scheduled to return to Ann Arbor with the President for his campaign kick-off speech tonight at the University of Michigan.

OK, GRID FANS, it's football contest time again and a chance to win a few bucks for picking the winners. The annual quiz costs nothing but a little time and a lot of talent. For example, can Woody's Ohio State Buckeyes hold off strong Penn State? And how about the passes of the Stanford Indians ... will they riddle U of M's suspect pass defense? And for openers Friday night there's the traditional high school rivalry between Northville and Novi. You'll find these and more challenges on page 2-E of this edition.

Township gives new library top priority

Top priority was assigned Northville's proposed community library building for federal funding at a special meeting of Northville Township Board of Trustees last Wednesday.

The action was approved by a 4-2 vote.

Two items were on the agenda:

First was wording for a November ballot request to voters to permit an exchange of property with Thompson-Brown Company in exchange for dropping a reverter clause. See related story on page 8 - A.

Second was to consider applying for a federal grant to build a police-fire department-administrative facility on property given the township by Thompson-Brown.

As discussion opened on applying for a federal public works grant, for which up to $500 was authorized August 26 to update an original study of the township for a complex, Treasurer Charles Rosenberg questioned what impact it would have on library plans.

The township was told that any local projects would be weighed against others submitted in Wayne County. Gary Stoliker of the staff of Vilican-Leman, township planning consultant, reported on rules and guidelines for Title L of the Public Works Program. Northville City Manager Steven Walters was in the audience with city councilmen Wallace Nichols, Paul Vernon, Paul Folino and Mayor A. M. Allen.

He reported that an update of the regulations had been provided the day before, September 7, at the annual convention of the Michigan Municipal League in Lansing. Both he and Township Clerk Clarice Sass, who said she had been in contact with officials in Lansing, felt that grant applications would be received this week.

Mrs. Sass stated it was her understanding that it was not necessary to assign priorities as the library was a joint venture and the township complex would be a separate application.

Both Stoliker and Walters stated their understanding that a single unit of government must make application but that the venture could be joint. At the conclusion of the more than three and a half hour meeting Treasurer Rosenberg, supported by James Nowka, made the motion to establish the library as top priority, pointing out that the city was asking for the board's commitment.

Approval was by a split vote with Rosenberg, Nowka, Supervisor Betty Lennox and Dr. John Swienckowski voting yes and Clerk Sass and Richard Mitchell voting against the motion.

Walters then pointed out that it would be helpful at that point if the township were willing to designate the city as the unit to make application for the grant in the event that it could not be made by the library commission.

News around Northville

Annual fall spread of Mizpah Circle, King's Daughters, will be held at 12:30 p.m., Tuesday, September 21, at the home of Mrs. Julia Howser, 41885 Eight Mile Road.

Members are to bring table service and a passing dish. Budget plans for the year will be made. Arrangements also will be finalized for members wishing to attend the state convention in Redford October 5.

Only two more Detroit ball games remain for Northville Senior Citizens' Club members to attend by charter bus, Mrs. Hazel Sharon, trip chairman, announces.

The bus will leave Kerr House at noon this Saturday to take members to the Tiger-Boston game and next Saturday, September 25, for the New York game.

There is no charge for the bus. Admission at the ball park is 50 cents.

Plans for the opening fall meeting of Northville Mothers' Club at 8 p.m. next Monday were made at a planning board luncheon last Thursday hostèd by Mrs. Kalin Johnson, new president. It will be at the home of Mrs. Douglas Day, 20359 Woodhill.

"Self Protection" will be the topic for the first meeting of Schoolcraft Women's Club

It will be held at 8 p.m. today, September 15, in the Nautical Room of the Waterman Center.

It is the first of three planned to utilize the expertise of different college departments, new officers who are making plans for the year announce.

The club is headed by Mrs. Karen Woodruff, president. It is open to all women working on campus and to wives of faculty members.

THE BOUQUETS carried by the four bridesmaids and flower girl attending Christine Cova at her wedding to Brian Tabor of Northville last Saturday were of the "everlasting" variety.

They were the creations of Mrs. George E. Miller of Bloomcrest Drive. She made them at the request of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George H. Miller of Napier Road, sister of the bridegroom.

Of variegated pastel colors, the round colonial arrangements carried by the bridesmaids down the aisle of Peace Lutheran Church were composed of roses and strawflowers grown by Emily Miller, and other purchased flowers.

A miniature nosegay with lace ruffle was made by Mrs. Miller for her granddaughter, Lisa, 5, to carry as flower girl. Her brother, George, 7, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Miller, a member of the Farm and Garden Association, has long enjoyed gardening and working with dried flowers, but this is the first time she had accepted such a challenging assignment. The resulting pretty bouquets tied with pale rose or ivory satin ribbons turned out to be outstanding keepsakes.

THE HORIZONS tea and flower show being given this Thursday as a benefit for its scholarship fund by the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, at the Edenderry home of Mrs. George Daraban is a "certain" success, the branch reports, as ticket sales necessary in advance - have been excellent.

Mrs. William Slattery, long-time branch member and editor of the national Farm and Garden Club magazine, will entertain honor guests at a luncheon beforehand at Meadowbrook Country Club.

They include Mrs. Roderick Barrett of Ann Arbor, Michigan State Division president; Mrs. Joseph A. Watson of Rochester; past-Michigan State Division president; Mrs. Richard B. Lapham of Findlay, Ohio, past national president; and Mrs. Earl Irons of Findlay, national extension chairman.

Branch president, Mrs. E. G. O'Brien, has invited 19 guests for lunch before the benefit..

An afterglow from 6:30 to'8 p.m. Thursday evening is planned for all branch members and their husbands. The men. Barbara O'Brien mentions. then will be able to view the 45 live arrangements "and see what we've been doing.'

It is being given by the executive board personally so that all proceeds will go directly to the scholarship fund.

Luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

A SURPRISE 30th anniversary party last Saturday honored Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ogilvie. He is Northville city attorney. About 40 friends and relatives attended the event at the home of the couple's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mankus, in Westland.

Co-planners were the Ogilvies' neighbor, Mrs. Keith Wright, and longtime friend, Mrs. Joseph Petrock.

Phil and Ethel Ogilvie were married September 7, 1946, in Detroit. In addition to their daughter, they have one son, Gary, who was on hand for the celebration. Other guests included Mrs. Ogilvie's sister and her husband, the G. Evart. 🗠

A LUNCHEON Tuesday honored Mrs. Jennie Cook on her 94th birthday. It was given at her home on South Center Street by neighbors and friends and included a special birthday cake.

"EVERYONE who enjoys good reading and lively discussion is welcome" report Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kastner of Northville, who are in charge of the area's only Great Books Discussion Group.

First fall meeting will be at 8:15 p.m. this Thursday at the Carl Sandburg Library in Livonia. Participants come from Northville, Novi, Livonia and Plymouth communities. The first reading will be Anton Chekhov's "A Dull Story.'

BASE LINE Questers begin the new season with a salad luncheon this Thursday at the Napier home of Miss Betty LeMaster. The chapter will be busy planning to host a state meeting of the Michigan Questers past presidents at the Mill Race Village September 29. Chapter members Mrs. Robert Greer and Mrs. Bruce Roy are chairmen of the event. It will be an old-fashioned box lunch with the container decorated with a Gibson-girl type original drawing by Valerie Smith, daughter of Base Line president, Mrs. Harvey Smith and a senior majoring in art at University of Michigan...

At Thursday's meeting plans will be made to -attend- the Quester fall state meet October 13 at Mt. Pleasant which will feature a talk on "Michigan's Rarest Books" by Dr. John Cumming of the Clark Historical Library at Eastern Michigan University.

Since many Questers are also members of Northville Historical Society (and the antiques organization works for the Mill Race preservation), conversation at last week's board meeting called by Mrs. Smith turned to the new docent program there.

Chapter member Mrs. Paul Beard is co-chairman with Mrs. Milton Holstein of the hostess program. They have been keeping the buildings at the Mill Race

When Cheryll Ann Hollis repeated her marriage vows with David Harvey Ritchie in a 2 p.m. ceremony September 4, it was the culmination of a friendship that began in grammar school.

They exchanged matching gold bands in the service they had written themselves at First Baptist Church of Northville before the Reverend Michael Farrell.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Hollis, Jr., of 654 Thayer Boulevard.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ruth A. Densmore of 9316 Six Mile Road and of the "Skip" late Richard C. Ritchie.

The ceremony included a symbolic single candle lighting. Karen DeRusha played the piano. Robert Wager, accompanying himself on the guitar, was soloist.

The altar was decorated with two candelabra tied with peach and green bows. Flowers were snowdrift mums, miniature carnations and peach roses.

Court upholds mobile zoning denial by city

A three-year-old lawsuit against the City of Novi seeking a rezoning for a trailer park on the southwest corner of Haggerty and 12 Mile Roads has been won by the city of Novi.

The lawsuit was brought by past village councilman Russell Button after the city council in July, 1973 denied a request to hold a public hearing on the rezoning request. Button had sought to have 23 acres rezoned from R-1 residential to R-3 mobile home.

The planning board had previously recommended against the rezoning because the mobile home park did not fit into the master plan for the area.

Circuit Court Judge Richard Kuhn ruled in the case against the plaintiff. Button, responding to the judge's decision said he was not surprised at the outcome. "I thought it was worth a try," said Button.

Noting that several parcels of property were involved in the rezoning attempt, Button said, "If I had been able to put (in MH (Mobile home zoning), I could have gotten those parcels together so someone could do something with them.

Button, who also owns Country Cousins Mobile Home Park at 26855 Haggerty Road, noted that the judges' ruling makes a virtual monopoly of new business for the owner of Old Dutch Farms, which is also in Novi. Button explained that Country Cousins is full and cannot accept further mobile homes.

Button was extremely criticais of Kuhn's statement that while the property as it is currently zoned is worth $90,000, under mobile home zoning it would be worth approximately $63,500, including the cost of sewers to the property.

Kuhn's ruling covered a number of points. It noted that the general area is residential in character and that most testimony presented indicated a mobile home park "would have an adverse effect on the Rose homestead (nearby) and the land between the existing trailer

She explained that the questions were on subjects that could affect the charter in many different areas. She added that the charter commission wanted direction now so that when it does complete its task, residents would not vote down the charter because the commission chose to go a different route than what the people wanted.

However, if there is a bedsheet ballot necessary anyway because of the large number of parties and candidates, the questions would be on the ballot. According to Mrs. Ash, the charter commission elected in November, 1974, started out by spending approximately 6-8 months learning about government itself and the role of the charter. It then began reviewing the charter from the beginning.

Among the decisions of the commission was to keep the city manager form of government. It is currently investigating the structure of city departments and is grappling, for instance, with the question of whether there should be a public 'safety department instead of separate police and fire departments, according to Mrs. Ash.

"Some of them (the mèmbers) are quite perturbed by the length of time it takes," said Mrs. Ash. "I don't think you can work any faster than we have

Judge rules in $1 million action

Contempt suit must go to appeals court

Ruling that it has no jurisdiction in the case, Circuit Court Judge Charles Thorburn last Wednesday dismissed "without prejudice" a $1 million contempt of court action against the city of Novi involving a 44acre parcel of property.

Because the City of Novi had appealed a previous ruling by Thorburn to rezone the property at 10 Mile, Grand River and Haggerty, Thorburn ruled the lawsuit must either be taken to the same appeals court or the plaintiff can ask for a rehearing and attempt to persuade Thorburn he does have jurisdiction.

Attorneys for the plaintiff say the lawsuit will be continued at the court of appeals.

The lawsuit is being brought by Charles Lapham on behalf of his father and aunt, Morris Lapham and Maureen Nacker, who jointly own the property. The suit charges that the City of Novi is in contempt of court for failing to rezone the property following Thorburn's original ruling.

City Attorney David Fried held that the city was allowed to appeal and that if the city had voluntarily complied with the court order to rezone, the city's right to appeal would have been removed.

Attorneys representing Lapham instead maintain the city should have asked for an order of relief from Thorburn which could, at Thorburn's discretion, have allowed the city to postpone compliance because of the appeal.

According to the plaintiffs, the zoning question goes back three years and involves the loss of Extracurricular field trips outside 150 miles from the Novi School District will have to receive approval 90 days in advance based upon a school board decision last Thursday. Board decided upon the 90day policy as a compromise between 60 days, which had been required in a 1973 policy, and a policy adopted last year requiring approval during the previous school year before the trip.

The board had been considering returning to the 60-day policy because of complaints from teachers that it is impossible to plan a trip a year in advance.

But Trustee Robert Wilkins assailed the return to the 60day policy because it did not allow enough time for fundraising for students whose parents are unable financially to support such a trip.

"We're hypocritical on our athletics and financing," maintained Wilkuns. "The scars of the nonparticipating people are so much more tragic than all the benefit for the people who do go.'

Wilkins maintained that while board members maintain that all school children will go on such trips even if their parents cannot afford it, "It just isn't so." However, Board President Sharon Pelchat responded, "I have a feeling you're being discriminatory in reverse for the people who want to go." Wilkins indicated favor for the 90-day waiting period which would allow fundraising. Board unanimously approved 5-0 the new field trip policy. That policy divides all field trips into: Academic field trips; interscholastic thousands of dollars in legal fees and taxes, plus the loss of a bona fide buyer at a price of $900,000. That original buyer. Royal Development Company which planned a shopping center called Town Center, later dropped its option and turned its court rights back to the owners.

Since that time the property has reportedly been on the market at a much lower price with no takers.

The whole legal entanglement started in December of 1974 when the Novi City Council voted 4-3 in favor of proposed zoning changes for the Town Center development. But because homeowners in neighboring Old Orchard petitioned against the rezoning, Fried ruled the petitions required a fourfifths council approval.

After Fried's ruling, Royal Development took action against the city in court claiming the petitions were invalid and that single family zoning was unconstitutional because it was not a valid use of the property. Judge Thorburn ruled the petitions were invalid and ordered the rezoning of the property from the former residential rezoning.

The city did not take action to rezone the property because it appealed the ruling.

In response to the latest ruling by Thorburn on the $1 million lawsuit, Fried indicated that the lawsuit had for all intents and purposes, been defeated.

However, Lapham responded that "this is very much alive. Definite damages have been done to the property."

Lapham noted that not only was substantial income lost as the result of the lost buyer, the owners also were forced to continue paying the $18,000 in yearly taxes

Representing the owners, Attorney John Callahan of the firm Hoops and Huff said that "we're going to the court of appeals."

Callahan explained that the appeals court does have jurisdiction and rather than attempt to persuade Thorburn to rule on the issue, the lawsuit will be taken to the higher court.

He noted, however, that he believes the court of appeals will direct Thorburn's trial court to conduct a study of the case and make a ruling, in behalf of the appeals court, on the contempt charge.

From a curving brick driveway to the cloister-like courtyard entry visitors approaching the home of Barbara and Peter Hankins can see they are at a one-of-akind house.

Owners of the four-year-old home north of Eight Mile Road have combined old and new in a way that reflects their easy lifestyle.

The "old" includes bricks used for the house. Mrs. Hankins reveals they were obtained when the historic 12th Street Baptist Church was torn down in Detroit about the time they were ready to build.

The dark wood blocks of the entry courtyard are from an old Standard Oil Company building. Mrs. Hanksins adds ruefully that they also create problem with the white interior carpeting. The double front door,

The courtyard design, she adds, evolved with their architect as she doesn't like attached garages and this provides a covered walkway instead.

Builder of the home was Northville's Frank Bauss whose own home in Edenderry also will be on the 10th annual Northville Home Tour along with the Hankins' home September 30.

The Hankins family moved to the area from Rosedale Park.

Because they are friends of the Bausses, they agreed to have their new residence on the tour to benefit Northville Historical Society and the women's association of First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Council member Romaine Roethel pointed out that the intent of RUD is to provide open space for the residents of the subdivision to use, not the public as a whole.

She called it "confiscatory" if the city took over the property, thus allowing the general public to use the land while it was the homeowners themselves who sacrificed part of their lots in return for the open space. Mrs. Roethel also pointed

Audit shows red ink, but Novi school chief happy

Novi School Though District's expenditures totaled $57,192 over revenue for the 1975-76 school year, officials appeared happy with the audit report received last

Prepared by Janz & Knight, certified public accountants, the report showed expenditures totaling $3,747,000 while revenue totaled $3,690,000.

"At one time we had a projected deficit of $100,000," noted Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz. He explained that the deficit was cut thanks to the layoff of employees last year.

Specifically, the district cut back the hours on several noon aides. However, it did layoff two paraprofessionals, four teacher's aides and one secretary. Those cuts were effective December 23 of 1975. The secretary was called back during the school year to fill a vacancy. All other laid off employes were called back for this school year.

In addition, at the same time, the district cut out outside district field trips and reduced instructional materials.

Dr. Kratz pointed out at Thursday's session that the district had been hit hard by $76,000 in state aid cuts which caused most of the problem. Trustee James Helmer praised the work of Assistant Superintendent Dr. William Barr for "money management and financial decisions that were opportune and timely.'

Because of the $57,000 deficit, the fund equity for the school district was decreased from $202,000 to $145,000. ⁴ Auditor Lewis Robbins reminded the board that "even though you have $145,000 equity, that doesn't mean you have it to spend tomorrow." The fund equity includes many items not readily convertible to cash. The $3.69 million dollars was only $25,000 less than anticipated in the original budget. The revenue would have been even lower than expected had not the Township Board decision

As last week's guidelines stated that "a general purpose unit of government" must make application, Walters stated, it did not seem likely that the commission itself could do so.

Rosenberg made the motion to do so, designating Supervisor Lennox to work with the city to finalize the application. The vote was 4-2 with the board vote the same on the first question.

It was stressed, however, that the township and city both would prefer to have the hbrary commission make the application if possible.

Earlier in the evening Mitchell asked for a special meeting later in the month to discuss applying for the federal grant for the township complex.

The motion failed with a tie vote. Mitchell, Swienckowski and Clerk Sass voted yes with Supervisor Lennox, Rosenberg and Nowka casting no votes.

Dr. Swienckowski pointed out that, according to what the consultant revealed regarding grant applications, it would be impossible for the township to apply for the building grant as it doesn't have clear title at present to the property at Six Mile Road the Thompson-Brown development.

He reviewed reasons for holding the special meeting August 26 (which he and Mitchell requested), pointing out that his concern had been keeping the property given by Thompson-Brown with a reverter clause requiring construction of a township building be started by April, 1977.

Considering applying for the federal grant, he said, was "strictly a means to an end that of keeping the property." He emphasized that there was urgency to have the meeting in order that the offer of Thompson-Brown to drop the reverter clause in exchange for return of 0.831 acre portion of the total parcel of 8.90 acres be placed on the November ballot.

The board had been told by Donald Morgan, its attorney, that giving away any property had to go to a vote of the people

In considering applying for the buildings under the Economic Development Administration _ (EDA) program the board was told by Stoliker that the program "is primarily designed to provide jobs for the preponderance of skilled construction workers who are presently unemployed and to provide stimulation to the construction and construction-related industries.'

Northville, the board was told, would benefit from Wayne County's high unemployment rate; in being considered for a grant.

Walters - pointed out, however, that five times as much money was being requested as is available for Wayne County and that the Northville area will "be lucky to get its fair share

Dr. Swienckowski admitted he since had had "certain reservations regarding the police complex" and pointed out that suggestion was made to revive the township plans as "they happened to fit into the option available in the time frame.¹ He added that if he had to give a priority to any project it would be to a sewer for Five Mile Road.

· Calling the library project a 'living, breathing entity,' Nowka expressed concern that the board would be "taking a rifle shot at a program that has a greater chance with mutual support."

Mitchell questioned city representatives regarding what will happen if the township can't pay its fair share for maintenance of a library building.

City representatives said that it was likely that hours and number of books circulated might have to be curtailed but emphasized that no commitment on what will be done could be made as dollar amount of township participation would be the factor. Supervisor Lennox pointed out that township finances would be improved in 1977 as new census figures would bring increased state monies. Clerk Sass commented that township employees salaries should be considered a priority" also.

Rosenberg commented that the board has a need to be onsible and pointed out that he did not feel a fire hall on Six Mile Road was going to improve fire service as almost all volunteer firemen live in the city.

He questioned why the fire tanker presently is at the fire station of the Wayne County Child Development Center assigned to the township for its use rather than "where volunteers can get at it?"

He added that the "police department doesn't need extra space on its current or projected force," saying he didn't feel it would be good relations to have the chief three miles away from the township hall.

"Just because there is opportunity to have a building for free doesn't mean that we should do it," he concluded.

Civic pride Scouters

Northville's Ford Field recreation area is sporting a fresh, clean look this week — thanks to a Boy Scout clean-up, paint-up project Saturday under the direction of Char Ramsey who spearheaded it as part of his Eagle Scout service project. The parks and recreation department arranged for trash bags and free paint for the boys, and Good Time Party store donated pop for the

Know good citizen? Chamber asks names

Nominations for a "Citizen of the Year" award are being accepted now by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

Persons or organizations who wish to nominate a person for the award, which is being launched this year by the chamber, must do so by an October 1 deadline.

Announcement of the winner is to be made October 8, with the award presentation ceremony scheduled to take place during the annual chamber dinner program on October 21.

Nominations should be sent to Ann L. Roy, chamber secretary, at 150 North Center Street, Northville, 48167.

Nominations should include the name, address, telephone number and occupation of the nominee. They should also include the candidate's length of residency in Northville city or township; offices held in civic, professional, church and other organizations; his or her participation in Northville city or township organizations; positive contributions made to the community; and education, family and hobby data.

Those making a nomination are asked to specify why they believe their candidate is worthy of the award, and then sign their names, telephone numbers and include the signature of the candidates with the nomination.

Mrs. Soper to speak to PTSO

Mrs. Nancy Soper, new director of instruction for the Northville school district, will be guest speaker along with Michael Tarpinian, high school principal, at the first fall general meeting of the Northville High PTSO. All parents, students, teachers and other interested individuals are invited to attend the meeting at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, September 22, at the high school.

Mrs. Soperi will answer questions on curriculum and course objectives as well as other concerns brought to the meeting. She also has been asked by the PTSO executive council to give her evaluation of the status of education in this district as compared with others.

Principal Tarpinian will present brief remarks about the 1976-77 school year, Mrs. Mary Kelly, PTSO president, states.

Both Mrs. Soper and Michael Burley, new curriculum coordinator, will answer questions from the audience.

Curriculum concerns of parents, students and teachers over the past two years are the basis for Mrs. Soper's talk, Mrs. Kelly explains.

The meeting was planned by the PTSO council headed by Mrs. Kelly. A Northville High senior, Carolyn Calmes, is head of the membership committee of the PTSO.

As the attendant at the Clark Gas Station on Main Street finished putting the days receipts into a floor safe at the station Sunday night, he looked up to find a man standing in the doorway holding what appeared to be a pipe.

According to Ron Witek, the tall Negro man had the pipe raised over his head and told him "all the money". The fast thinking Witek reached down and grabbed a wooden folding chair and threw it at the would-be robber, striking him in the chest and face.

The man fled out the door heading west and disappeared around the corner.

Witek described the darkcomplected, slimly-built male as being in his 20's, about six feet tall, with a short Afro haircut.

Novi town meeting: good relief valve

They call it a "Town Meeting".

It's really an opportunity for citizens to let off a little steam about what's bugging them in city government.

The Novi City Council held its second such session Tuesday night and about 60 citizens showed up.

They complained about road conditions; they wondered about having to buy flood insurance; they were concerned about speeders and law enforcement; they were curious about property assessments for the new Dayton-Hudson shopping center and wondered how and how much it would be assessed; they expressed concern about future recreation and park needs and asked what was being done; and they cited several dangerous intersections that should be given city attention.

The meeting never got out of hand. There were no shouting contests. Mayor Gilbert Henderson did an excellent job of giving everyone ample chance to be heard.

The city manager, department heads and council members took turns at responding to inquiries and complaints. While all the answers may not have satisfied the citizens. there were answers and they were forthright.

In most instances, solutions seemed to boil down to money. And it was evident even to the taxpayer who hoped for something better. But some of the little irritations can be corrected by attention, and the citizens were promised that by department heads in the presence of their elected council.

It's difficult to assess the value of such a forum. But we give Novi an "A" for effort.

The communication lines are wide open at the Town Meeting.

Fannie Foxe caper, the story should be told. There is a type of reporting that must be treated with disdain. The public should frown upon those women who write they had romantic or extremely personal relationship with presidents who are in their graves and can offer no rebuttal. The situation is different when the accused politician is alive and in a position to offer his version of any allegations of sexual misconduct.

Indubitably reporters should not buy stepladders to enable them to peer into boudoirs occupied by public officials and their playmates because heights could endanger the lives of the snoopers. Nor should reporters, stoop to using mechanical hearing devices to learn of illicit

Speaking for Myself

Publicize sex lives of public officials?

· NO . . .

Publishing the sex life of public officials draws attention away from the real important issues in America today. I don't believe it will really stop the immoral activities, it will at best only make them more careful.

Don't misunderstand me, I am not condoning these immoral acts, I deplore them. However, I don't feel publishing them will improve or change the situation for long.

Often an allegation is made regarding a certain person and an immoral act and when the news media picks it up and makes it public, sometimes an innocent man is tried in the newspapers and his reputation done irreparable damage.

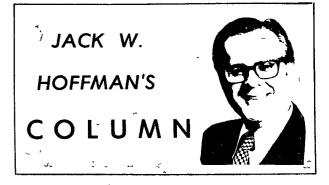

Yet there are matters that really need to be publicized that are not very often seen in the newspaper. One of these matters is the treatment of some of our elderly people in this country. If this was given the attention by the newspapers that the sex scandals have received I believe an aware public would demand that the elderly be given bettér care.

For those who do involve themselves in immoral acts they will get their just punishment from a just God on Judgement Day when all sinful matters, public or private, will be revealed and the guilty punished for them.

"We absolutely will not permit any electrical or chemical stimulants," insists Queen of the Coop Julie Thoman while beating drumsticks for Plymouth's first annual Fowl Festival.

"There'll be no ringers, no Chicken Littles in this event," she asserts. "Each contestant will be inspected by a vet to assure that none is drugged or equipped with extra long toe nails. With the prizes we're offering, we can't afford any chicken pluckers."

So there you have it: the great chicken-flying contest is for real. Sponsored by the retail merchants association of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, the big event is scheduled to take place at high noon Sunday, October 10 on Main Street in front of Kellogg Park.

The question may be academic, anyway. If a teenager is determined to drink booze, he can get a belly full.

We see absolutely no connection between one's ability and inclination to fight and his wisdom to reach a decision on drinking, or voting, for that matter.

He should be able to fight better at 18 than he can think. That's no rule either. Some of us never learn.

He's probably right. But it still seems like we're rushing things when we force another early behavioral decision on the shoulders of today's youngsters.

We take the time to teach our young people how to handle a car before we issue them a license to drive.

But at 18 we pass them the booze and porno flicks and then complain about their conduct.

They should know better. After all, they're adults.

Who's the author?

A few readers (one or two, at least) have questioned our new editorial page format.

They want to know who is writing the editorials.

Several weeks ago we decided to replace the signed-column that had for many years served as both a personal and an editorial column.

We hoped to broaden our horizons, bring in fresh ideas, scrutinize the field of activity throughout our circulation area by using the width of five sets of eyes instead of a narrow two.

We decided to provide two, three or four editorials written weekly by any one of four or five staffers. And the ideas for the editorials come from these people on the staff who are covering meetings and activities of the communities.

The editorials represent a concensus opinion of the staff.

When possible, they will be brief. At all times, we hope they will be constructive.

Sponsors are emphasizing good sportsmanship. Recalling recent championship tennis antics, the Queen of the Coop is striving for competitive decorum ... and maybe that's why she is inviting entries from this area.

The chicken-flying contest is the idea of Ralph Lorenz of the Mayflower Hotel, who accidentally ran across an internationally acclaimed contest sponsored last year by Bob Evans in Rio Grande, Ohio.

Plymouth's contest will be run much the same way. Chickens, mostly leghorns, will be supplied, but sponsors may enter their own birds - provided, of course, they are of the genus Gallus Domestica and are in the peak of health.

Sponsors who plunk down the $35 entry fee may pick their chickens prior to the contest. Some already have made their selections and have named their birds. The Queen of the Coop, for example, has named her entry the "Wayward Chick," while Hugh Jarvis picked "Charlie Chicken" for his entry.

Creon Smith, according to the Chicken Coop Queen, wasn't satisfied with his bird's color and he's ordered it sprayed black.

Each sponsor must have an aide, called the Chicken Catcher, who must be equipped with his own net. The latter's job will be to round up the flying chicken after its performance. The contest will be run in heats until the top chicken fliers are determined. Acrobatics or stunt flying "is nice but don't count.", Chickens will be placed atop 10-foot high chickenflying perches. From this point, the chickens must fly "on signal" by the starter. No electrical prodding will be permitted.

However, if after 30 seconds a chicken has not left the perch of its own volition, the situation is automatically called a ; 'chicken chicken' and the owner or trainer may gently nudge the bird with a suitable humane device, such as a bathroom plunger.

After the chicken's flight, judges will measure the distance from the base of the perch to where the chicken first touches the ground. Chicken skipping, chicken hunching and chicken fighting will not be permitted.

A big THANK YOU to all who voted yes to pass the school millage in the last election. Remember that yes was needed to make things better for our high school students. Let me tell you how important that yes vote was and what it is doing for my son and his friends.

Last spring students had to decide on their classes for this September. After this they received a paper that had been fed through a computer. This paper listed all the

The Michigan Court of Appeals has ordered that the proposed constitutional amendment allowing graduation of the Michigan income tax be placed on the November ballot. It will appear on the ballot as "Proposal D".

The Board of Canvassers had earlier rejected the signatures on petitions calling for the placement of the proposal on the ballot. The 1963 Michigan Constitution prohibits a graduated income tax and it takes a vote of all of the people in a regularly scheduled election to amend the constitution.

The petition drive was conducted by a group calling itself the Michigan Citizens Lobby.

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce and other business groups conducted a random sampling of the validity of those signatures and found a high "error" rate. While a number of the signatures did not appear to be those of the persons they named, the Chamber groups did not go so far as to charge outright fraud.

As an incentive to get voters to go for the graduated income tax, the proposal seeks to reduce the income tax rate during the first year of operation from its present 4.6 percent to 3.9 percent of the first $20,000 of taxable income. The Citizens Lobby proposal would require, of course, that money lost from this cut would be made up by taxing incomes of more than $20,000 at a higher rate.

This sounds good to people making less than $20,000 but it is important to understand that the tax reduction is for one year only and after one year the legislature can set the tax rate at any level it sees Twice before the people of the state have voted No on the graduated income tax. It is my hope that they will do so again this November because, to my mind, it is simply another gimmick to raise the total tax burden on the people.

Many people have written to me asking for copies of the Michigan constitution. If you would like a free copy of this interesting document, you are welcome to a in Nor lle or to my offic

Why is it when in the spring all the classes are selected by the students (and it takes special attention to change it) and by fall there isn't any room in these classes for the lower classmen!!! (And I don't mean a few students are left out. I mean many students are left out).- I don't understand what happens over the summer. And especially when your yes vote was supposed to open more classroom doors!!! As a freshman he couldn't get the classes he 🔌 needed (understandable, the millage wasn't passed) and now as a sophomore it's the same story (and the millage was passed). By the time he's a senior and has first choice he is going to be so short of credits he will need another year. Then Mr. Spear can put another feather in his hat. He can create Grade 13 especially for the students who were deprived on the needed English, Math, al hours, Biology and History. That's not much for seven hours. I do not object to band and art if they are fit into a schedule of academic classes. But I strongly object to a hour for lunch. And I'm infuriated that any student be shoved into a ceramics class because there is nowhere else to put him. (Wasn't that the reason for the millage increase?) Remember, he already has art and band and one hour for lunch and one unfilled hour. Yes, I will go to see his counselor determined that he be put into 'Math, Science, English, and History classes. But for some reason I have a defeated helpless feeling. But,

I am going to fight for the classes he is entitled to. I have talked to other sophmore students and have benefit? And if they don't, strip along Novi Road?

The established residents of the area, and all of us in Novi and Northville, must quickly consider the astonishing ramifications of this possibility. Quickly, because the Novi-Zoning Board has recommended the necessary 'spot" zoning change for that five-acre parcel to the Novi City Council.

The Hearing before Council will be held September 20th, 8 p.m., at the Novi High School, Novi Administration Offices. It is necessary to indicate to the council, by our presence, a resentment of this environmental intrusion, and its attendant problems.

The petitioner for the land and the facility has presented point-of-view one might а expect; one that points up dollar gains for Novi, by suggesting "positive" aspects of a fallacious nature, few of which, if any, hold water under scrutiny.

The insensitivity to the taxpaying area residents is what has been ignored by the zoning board but will hopefully be recognized by the Novi Council. The attendant problems of living adjacent to an indoor-outdoor food castle in a rural setting are these: odor, noise, and traffic pollution; a building of architectural design that is in no way compatible with the total area's environmental facade; the possiblity of a boarded-up, overgrown failure like the Drawbridge; an invasion of rats.

Other than the above emotional, uncomfortable, and inconvenient possibilities there is another, of equal importance. The Master Plan of Novi would be drastically violated to the possible extent of irreparable injury. This "spot" zoning could be the precedent by which future zoning would be decided. This kind of zoning negates all previous zoning and threatens e security of but I know for a fact that at least one board member does not know what is in the latest proposal. Why are they so afraid to attend a bargaining session themselves?

Teacher strike vote possible

Cross said Schwarze wants a confrontation, he invites it. "He demeans, cajoles, and challenges the teachers to strike.

"I can tell you this right here and now, we could have settled a long time ago if the board got rid of their costly 'attorney whose widely known method of operation is 'surface bargaining.' He tries to make it appear he is bargaining in good faith but in fact he's doing nothing but trying to humiliate teachers.'

Cross said the attorney twice threatened the teachers at last Thursday's meeting, "warning us that unless we settle quickly we'll never receive any retroactive pay for this period we're working without a contract. Since board members refuse to sit in on bargaining — not one has even come in to listen — we can only assume they are supporting Schwarze' bargaining posture.'

Cross' anger was echoed by Naomi Poe Monday night in a prepared statement read to the school board in a room crowded with teachers.

She charged Schwarze with taunting and harrassment, and warned the board that this posture only serves to strengthen the teachers resolve to strike if necessary. The responsibility of whether or not a strike occurs rest "on all seven of you," she told the board

Board Treasurer Karen Wilkinson countered by saying board members "are deeply" involved with the bargaining process and that she personally spends about five to six hours a week appraising herself of proposals. "We want to have a settlement," she emphasized, pointing out, however, that it must be recognized that while teachers have the right to bargain for enhancement of their contract, the board also has the right to seek a contract that is most advantageous to the school district. "I don't feel anybody is trying to harrass anyone," she said.

and teacher-pupil ratios and economics are still unsettled.

According to Cross, Schwarze is intentionally trying to reach an "impasse" on the special education issue so that the board can then arbitrarily establish its own work schedule for special education teachers yet this year.

"They see it as a way to saving money, with little or no concern about either the teachers or students involved," he said.

The board's latest proposal suggests a reduction in summer working hours for teachers and therefore a reduction in the special education program, according to Cross.

Teachers also are demanding average pupilteacher ratios, and they are fighting board proposals to remove teacher rights from the existing contract, Cross said.

On the economic differences, NEA has pegged the difference for the first year of a three-year contract at 2½ percent. Dr. Knighton puts it at "couple percentage points difference?" Neither, side has disclosed a dollar value of this difference.

Second and third year salary differences are dependent upon cost of living. Teachers want a cost of living clause, while the district's team finds the cost of living proposal unsatisfactory.

Uncertainty of the economy, which could conceivably push cost of living substantially above this past year's 5.1 percent cost of living increase elsewhere, could seriously jeopardize the district's ability to pay, said Dr. Knighton.

The no-cap ceiling on cost of living," said Dr. Knighton, "is something where we have a major difference."

students at the high school level are capable of picking their own classes.

Mrs. James Lewis reminded the board that citizens earlier this year were reprimanded by board members for publishing fact sheets predicting serious class size problems in the face of the grade restructuring. In light of what has happened, she said, citizens are even more concerned about the advisability of grade restructuring.

(Grade restructuring has moved the ninth grade to the middle school level, the sixth grade to the elementary level.)

Another parent said her special education child has a deep interest in auto mechanics, an area where his limited abilities excel, and yet because of the situation at the high school he is unable to enroll in the class. She pleaded that the child - any child's peculiar circumstances — be taken into consideration. Without such consideration, such a student's interest in school is likely to be lost, she suggested.

In charging the administration to study the problem and to report back with recommendations at the next meeting, Board President Sylvia Gucken emphasized, "We can't sit and wait on this matter."

However, Secretary Dr. Robert Mandell cautioned the board that it should not in an effort to correct the situation assume the roll of the administration. The curriculum, he said, is an administrative matter.

Nevertheless, he suggested the board may have to take a look at the necessity of some of the classes where enrollments are low, and he suggested some "tightening up" may be in order.

The overall problem is one of financing, said Dr. Mandell, and it must be understood by the public that it gets only what it pays for. Meanwhile, he added, the board's decision to continue year-round school for the remainder of this school year must run its course.

Mrs. Sliger, on the other hand, suggested that perhaps a review of the budget to establish some priorities in the face of the crisis is necessary so that additional teachers can be employed at the high

Although Trustee Roger Nieuwkoop agreed with Dr. Mandell that the board ought not to involve itself in administrative functions, he said, "We've got to be sensitive to the problems brought to us by the public."

Since "we've only given the administration 201 teachers to do the job when more are needed, the board has a decision to be made here," said Trustee Christopher Johnson.

Superintendent Spear said while a few problem areas exist at the middle school and elementary school levels, the more critical situation is at the high school. However, he pointed out that review of the middle school situation' has not yet been completed.

Preliminary indications suggest, he said, that in addition to the 31/2 more teachers needed at the high school, two or more other teachers may be needed at the other levels.

Since more than $400,000 was owed Metropolitan Savings Association by the Drawbridge Corporation, a total debt of $183,826.58 is still outstanding.

In conducting 'the court-ordered sale "sheriff's sale", Deputy County Clerk Spencer A. Cary explained that property taxes of $13,711.12 and a jeopardy tax of $3,429 is owed the city.

The city has padlocked the building, located at the southwest corner of Dunlap and Center, and has first crack at recovering the taxes before the facilities are reopened or subsequently resold.

Meanwhile, under the law, the Drawbridge Corporation has a right of redemption anytime during the next six month. "We can't legally obtain

School car purchase argued Northville's school

Johnson favored superintendent is going to get purchase, lease or mileage; Mrs. Sliger favored the lesser a new car — but not with the cost of awarding a car total allowance in lieu of purchase In a 4-3 vote by the board or lease; and Dr. Mandell favored leasing a car.

When Trustee Roger Nieuwkoop reported that the board subcommittee recommended purchase of a new car, Johnson observed that he for one had not made such a recommendation. Furthermore, he took the position that in light of the and economic problems facing the district, the board ought to consider delaying any change.

In comparison with the overall budget, the savings would be minimal, he admitted, but it would be a start and evidence that the board is attempting to hold the line on expenditures. He emphasized that his position "absolutely not" an expression of dissatisfaction with the superintendent.

Nieuwkoop amended his report to say that the "majority recommendation" of the subcommittee was to purchase a new car. But he also took Johnson to task for bringing up the matter of a fringe benefit at this time. It, he said, more properly should be discussed at the time the superintendent's contract is no, before the board.

A car is a fringe benefit provided for the superintendent for several years, it was noted. Johnson countered, however, by noting that this fringe benefit is not written

$4,109. into the contract. The superintendent was first provided a car in 1966. It was replaced in 1970 and again in 1973. Presently the vehicle reportedly has about 20,000 miles and is need of an estimated $1700 in repairs. Investigation showed that costing of leasing a car for 36 months would range from $3,060 to $5,200; that a car allowance (at 13 cents per mile) would approximate $2700 for three years; and that a new car, with trade-in, would cost from $3,228, to Purchase of a new vehicle would mean, emphasized Nieuwkoop, that the district would have equity in the car after three years whereas no equity would accrue either through leasing or a car allowance.

Crime squeezed out of public intoxication

New drunk law tells police to lay off

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

A drunk staggers down the street carrying a bottle of booze in a paper sack.

He touches none of the pedestrians who avoid his path. He is obviously stoned out of his mind.

Today, in most communities he can be arrested for being publicly intoxicated. But beginning next year this same drunk no longer can be arrested anywhere in Michigan.

It's all because of a controversial new law, aimed at decriminalizing intoxication, that has municipal and county police agencies so puzzled that they are unsure even when the law takes effect.

County and municipal agencies contacted last week were still under the impression that Act 339, passed by the legislature two years ago, was due to take effect January 1.

As originally enacted, it was indeed to have become effective on that date. But this past summer the legislature extended the effective date to October 1, 1977 "because they felt communities needed more lead time to prepare to deal with this intoxicated person," explained Charles Boyd of the state's substance abuse division of the Michigan Department of Health

"I can't understand why anyone wouldn't know about the change," said Boyd, who indicated that his office had sent out thousands of pieces of literature to agencies throughout the state informing them of the delay

Nevertheless, Boyd conceded that the law does indeed raise a lot of unanswered questions for police "and for us here in this office. Hopefully, between now and then (October, 1977) some of these questions will be cleared up."

The pertinent section of the law that is drawing most attention reads:

"A person who appears to be incapacitated may be taken by the law enforcement officer or an emergency service unit to the person's home, to an approved service program, or to an emergency medical service. In taking the person, a law enforcement officer or an emergency service unit may take reasonable steps to protect themselves. The taking of a person to the person's home, to an approved service program, or emergency medical service under this subsection is not an arrest. An entry or other record shall not be made to indicate that the person was arrested or charged with a crime.'

In other words, local statutes that presently provide for this person's arrest will be nullified by the state law. And the law specifically states that "a local unit of government may not interpret or apply any law of general application to circumvent (it)

Unaffected by the new law, however, are those arrests of intoxicated persons for related violations. For example, drunk driving is exempted, as is malicious damage that might be done by the intoxicated person.

Some of the questions being raised by local and county police agencies are these:

• If a police officer does not take the drunk to a hospital or to some approved detoxification center, what does he do with the person who may live in-another city, county or state?

• Who pays the cost of transporting the drunk to his home or to the hospital?

• Where are the approved intoxification centers?

The first two questions are unanswered. It is clear, however, that police officers will no longer be able to take the drunk to the local jail or "drunk tank" cells to sober up.

As for the last question - a central issue according to most -- presently in Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties there are no existing agencies

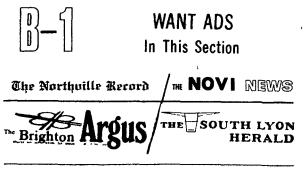

Similarly, Father Quinn indicates that when Sacred Heart begins operation of another unit in Northville Township, that unit will not include a public detoxification center. "We may, to help out Northville's police accept a few cases for transferral to our Detroit unit. But in no way will we be able to care for all of the cases that might occur there (in Northville).

'The only programs that I am aware of (in Wayne County) that could handle these kinds of cases are those at Harbor Light (in Detroit) and the Wayne County General Hospital (in Wayne) ... but those are only pilot programs that will last just a few months.

Similar reaction was voiced by a spokesman for the Brighton Hospital, another private facility for alcoholism.

Spokesmen for Botsford Hospital in Farmington, who acknowledged they had been notified of the law's delay, said "we're just waiting to see what happens. Quite frankly, as we read the law it doesn't leave us much choice but to accept any number of cases that might be brought to us. Yet, nobody's told us how we might finance this kind of increased emergency service.

According to an aide in the Livingston County Prosecutor's office, the law is triggering some "really tough problems. We've only got one hospital in the whole county and I'm sure they couldn't handle all of the cases in Livingston."

Wednesday, September 15, 1976

The state's substance abuse division is hopeful the legislature will fund a program of service centers throughout the state.

Farm fun

Maybury State Park's got its living farm in Northville, and now Kensington Metropark's got its children's farm near New Hudson. The latter is a small farm, typical of those in the area at the turn of the century. The family cow is still, milked by hand and the horse team earns its keep by plowing fields and hauling wagon loads of corn and other products. What's more, there are ponies to ride. The children's farm is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Unlike Maybury, however, there's an admission charge: $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children except for those under three who are admitted free.

Get bulbs ready now for spring

By KATHY COPLEY

Picking out springflowering bulbs is certainly a pleasant job, but it is surprising how many people don't know it is a job which must be done in the fall.

The life cycle of spring bulbs is such that they must be planted in the fall when the soil is cool and moist. These two factors trigger the development of roots. Six to eight weeks of 40 degree temperatures are necessary for this process to take place. Once the roots are well developed, the ground is likely to be frozen to the depth of the roots and the bulbs merely hold their own until the soil warms in the spring. This warming sparks the emergence of the leaves and flowers which have existed within the bulb in embryo form.

The eight week tulip season can be a glorious one if you plant some bulbs from each of the flowering groups - early, mid-season, and late. The types listed below are in order their bloom time so specimens selected from each group will give a continuous display:

Kaufmaniana and Fosteriana: Kaufmaniana are earliest to bloom and are of the water-lily type, great for rock gardens. The Emperors —' Red, Orange, White, and Yellow Empress are Fosteriana tulips.

equipped to deal with what some say will be a "flood of referrals that now are being handled with arrests and temporary lockups."

'It's another case where good intentions go awry because the law does not also provide the wherewithal to implement the law," says Father Vaughn Quinn, director of Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center for alcoholism.

He echoes the concerns of other alcoholism experts and county prosecutors throughout Southeastern Michigan.

While they agree the drunk needs help and that arrest "is not helpful other than getting him off the street," they are upset by the fact that Michigan legislators have not provided places to take the drunk for the help he needs. Not all agree:

"I think the state has really opened a Pandora's Box on this one. By decriminalizing public intoxication," asserts Oakland County Prosecutor Brooks Patterson, "they've taken an important tool from the hands of law enforcement agencies.

'Any number of examples could be cited where arrest for public intoxication was the only means at the disposal of police to apprehend an individual to protect himself or others around him.

"Furthermore, what you've done is try to make policemen into social workers. They've neither got the time nor the money to take these people to medical centers. So what you're going to see, I'm afraid, is that the drunk in the street will be left there, and the wife who calls that her angry, drunk husband is wandering around looking for a fight will be left to do his dirty "And even if police had the time and money to devote to this problem, where are they going to take them?

On the other hand, Livingston County Prosecutor, Tom Kizer, applauds decriminalization of public intoxication but expresses concern about the blanket referral procedure for all such cases.

'They (the legislature) seem to forget that often times the publicly intoxicated person is not an alcoholic and the kind of care they're advocating for him is beyond what is needed. I'm concerned because what they've created won't be effective."

Few if any area hospitals are geering up for these new cases

Sacred Heart operates a private "detox center" at its Detroit facility, but it is not prepared financially to cope with even a small percentage of the many thousands of intoxicated cases that occur in only Detroit annually.

Alcohol withdrawal's frightening

Drunks need help, not jail.

That's the opinion of most experts in the field, who see a real need for the state's decriminalization law.

Tossing a drunk into a jail cell can be a fatal move, according to Vaughn Quinn of Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center for alcoholism.

"I've seen too many guys die because someone did not recognize medical complications or failed to appreciate the critical nature of withdrawal from alcohol. It's not just a physical problem either. The related mental state of these people is equally important.

"Who knows how many suicides occur during these withdrawals?

"How many limbs have been lost because the police tossed people into drunk tanks while their legs were frozen?

"We're not talking about skid-row types; we're talking about your friends and relatives. Withdrawal from alcohol is crucial. It's a critical 72-hour period when a man or woman's life may depend upon the care he receives."

The state's new decriminalization law recognizes this critical period and specifically provides for the referral of drunks to an "approved service program," or detoxification center, for 72 hours.

A detoxification center is just what the term implies. It's the "drying out" place where, under careful supervision and around-the-clock attention, the patient and his withdrawal is monitored and in many cases medically treated.

Some hospitals artificially prolong the patient's stupor by administering alcohol-like substances to avoid sudden shock or other adverse reaction by the patient.

Alcoholic withdrawal, according to a spokesman for Brighton Hospital, is not something to take lightly. It's frightening, he said, and the death toll is staggering. "The fact of the matter is that withdrawal from alcohol claims more lives than does withdrawal from heroin."

Throughout their stay, Mr. Kirkby said he made an effort not to "get hooked into the imagery of foreigners," not to think in stereotypes.

He remembers preaching at one small parish outside Plymouth where the organist, an older man, and his wife, first seemed "traditional and sort of stuffy." He got to know the couple, though, and found them "exciting, delightful people."

Perhaps the most important thing they returned home with are new friends - three couples, Mr. Kirkby said.

A Meditation

Some wise men dwell on rationality; They say the mind can analyze a life And solve its problems, such as they may be. Yet other sages speak about the strife We often face. They feel within the heart We truly know the course that we should take: We're guided in a world that's torn apart— Confused and battered from the errs we make. The heart, well used, is like a bird that soars Aloft in clear, blue skies. It gains a view Of beauty unseen here below and stores The heights of wisdom in its soul. A new Day comes: The heart converges with the mind, And being then bursts from its mortal bind. Ruth Burlas which drop so quickly if not given some protection from wind and rain. Double Late or Peonyflowering: These also need protection but they make excellent cut flowers, lasting well in water. . The best bulbs are ones which are large and firm and on which the brown skin (the tunic) is fairly complete. Choose bulbs with the most noses, since these are the flower stalks.

Bulbs may be planted any time from late September until the soil is too frozen to dig. They need loose, welldrained soil that the roots can easily penetrate and that won't hold water, which causes the bulbs to rot.

No spring bulb needs much fertilizer for the first season, but adding a little slowreleasing bone meal now will fertilize the plants for up to two years. Use one tablespoon per small bulb, one cup for six large bulbs or 10 small ones, or five pounds for 100 square feet.

No other fertilizer is recommended at planting time. Be cautious about enriching tulip soil with composted manure; if it is the slightest bit green, or fresh, it will burn the bulb and deform the plant. Plant tulips so the nose is pointed up and is $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 times deeper than the height of the bulb. A bulb 2 inches tall should be planted so the tip of the nose is 5-6 inches below the surface of the soil. Plant a little deeper in sand, a little higher in clay. Within reason, the deeper the bulb is planted, the later it will bloom and the longer it will last. Growers usually recommend planting tulip bulbs 8-10 inches apart. This is fine for growing them in rows at the bulb farm, where they need plenty of room to multiply. At home, they look better in clumps or at least mixtures usually produce.

Meanwhile, this division, according to Boyd, is establishing five pilot programs in Michigan to serve as "test sites" to see what can be done to meet the intent of the law. Using $600,000 of alcoholic tax revenues, the division is setting up pilot programs at Harbor Light, Wayne County General, Kalamazoo, Gaylord and one in the Thumb area.

Most of these programs are due to start next month and end in February — long before the new law takes effect.

Obviously, these pilot programs will not experience the load of cases that will be generated once the law takes effect but the cases voluntarily referred to them by police agencies "should give us a pretty good idea of the kinds of problems to anticipate. During this period we'll be able to see what kinds of facilities, personnel, and training will be needed and it will let us know where the law might have to be amended," said Boyd.

He admitted that even if these five centers were continued after the initial program expires, they would not be nearly adequate to handle the potential annual case load in Michigan.

Dozens of others will be necessary.

And although Boyd's office has no firm handle on the cost of funding all of these needed additional centers, officials there have been tossing around figures roughly approximateing $4 million. And this amount of money would cover only those costs where existing hospitals or medical centers are cooperating. It does not include, for example, building and staffing costs in areas where there are no existing medical service centers.

The big remaining question, once the data is developed at the test sites, is, according to Boyd, "Is the legislature prepared to provide the needed funding" that will very likely increase annually thereafter?

Both ministers were active in the establishment of the local congregation.

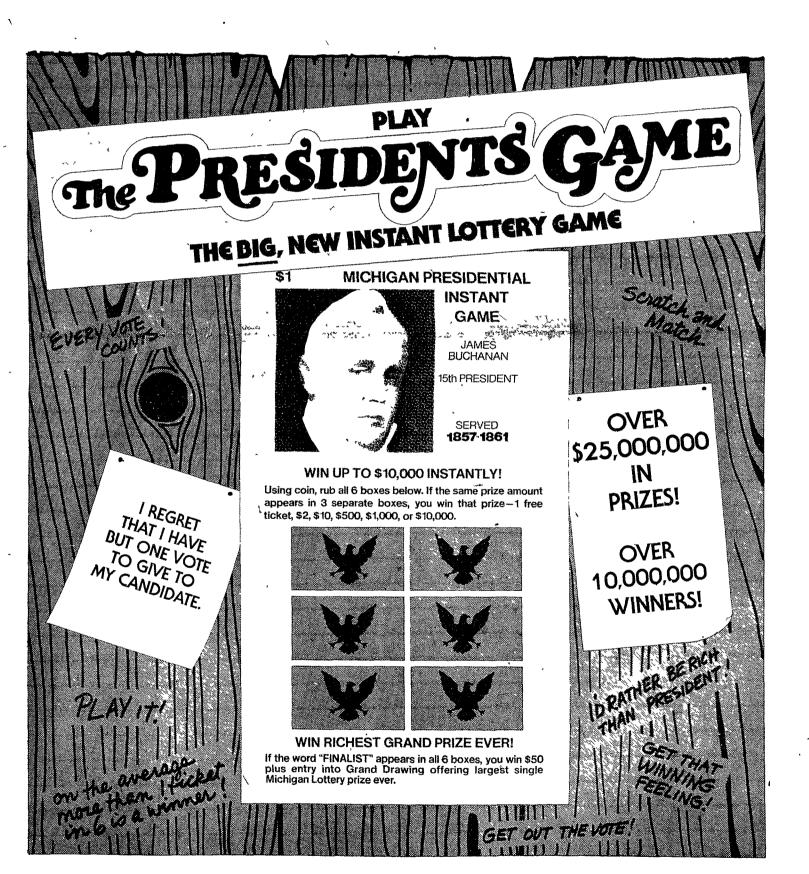

Music will be provided by the Newsmen Quartet from Markel, Indiana, and from the church choirs, the Master's Keys and the Kidette Choir.

Pastor of the Brighton Christian Church is Delmar L. Rodgers.

You could win up to $10,000 instantly! GRAND PRIZE guaranteed to be at least $1,250,000.

The winner in the Grand Prize Drawing will receive $1 for every vote cast in Michigan for the Presidential candidate who carries the State. In the last election, that would have been almost $2,000,000. (Election results to be certified by the Michigan Board of Canvassers.) The more votes, the bigger the top prize.

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD-NOVI NEWS-SOUTH LYON HERALD-BRIGHTON ARGUS

E. EVERETT PERKINS, executive vice president and chief executive officer of the State Savings Bank of South Lyon, attended the 32nd annual session of the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin-Madison from August 15-28.

Attendance at three annual two-week sessions on the Madison campus and the satisfactory completion of extension problems between the resident sessions is required for graduation.

The school is sponsored by the Central States Conference of Bankers Associations from 16 Midwestern states. About 1,450 bankers were enrolled this year from 41 states and Puerto Rico.

The faculty of over 140 instructors included bankers who are specialists in their respective fields, practicing attorneys, business executives, economists, and members of more than a dozen university and college faculties.

A RUSSELL CLARKE, of Northville, retired executive with Manufacturers Bank, has joined the real estate firm of Carl Johnson in Northville as a salesman.

The Johnson real estate firm is located in downtown Northville at 125 East Main Street.

ART KOBIERZYNSKI, formerly owner-operator of the old Thunderbird Inn and a Northville resident, is back in the restaurant business in Livonia. Along with Nick Canzano and Paul Nine, Kobierzynski has opened Nicky's on the Idyl Wyld Golf Course on Five Mile Road in Livonia. In addition to serving lunches and dinners, Nicky's also features private rooms for meetings, banquets, etc., and a catering service.

Colors await Michigan travelers

Spectacular views of Michigan's forests in vivid fall colors await travelers who hop on a boat or a train, paddle a canoe or peddle a bike, jump into the family jalopy or just hike along a woodland path, according to Automobile Club of Michigan. Of the many ways to see the vivid hues of Michigan's woods in autumn, one of the most interesting is from the deck of a boat cruising Lake Superior. Starting September 21 and continuing into October, the Pictured Rocks Cruises at Munising runs of blue water and sky. Cruises are subject to the weather.

mile trip

Combine a boat ride with a train trip on two U.P. fall the Tahquamenon Falls second largest waterfall east of the Mississippi River.

Starting at Soo Junction off M-28, the Toonerville Trolley - an authentic narrow-gauge railroad — takes passengers six miles through wilderness to Hunter's Mill, where they debark and board the Hiawatha Riverboat for a 21down the Tahquamenon River to just above the rapids. From there, it's a half-mile hike to view the upper falls. The whole trip_takes 61/2 hours and is offered once daily at 10:30 a.m. from now until October 6.

The Riverboat and Timber Train Ride, based at Slater's Landing 10 miles north of Hulbert off M-28, reverses the order of the trip to the falls and is a shorter jouney $-4\frac{1}{2}$ hours. Passengers first board the Diantha Hulbert for a 17-

Canoeists on Michigan's rivers and streams get closeup views of brilliant autumn leaves in untouched wilderness settings. There are dozens of canoe trails in the state and all offer views of Michigan's fall color spectacular that often can't be seen from a highway.

If paddling a canoe doesn't appeal to you, try pedaling a bike along wooded paths teeming with color. Among the many routes you can take is the first bicycle path ever constructed by the State Department of Highways and Transportation. Opened two years ago, the 1¹/₂-mile path runs along M-99 from the north city limits of Hillsdale to the south city limits of Jonesville. The paved path is eight feet wide and is situated mile trip on the river. Next is about 50 feet east of the a two-mile ride aboard the highway. Business

FRED D. VAN ATTA, CAE, of Strafford, Pennsylvania, and a native of Northville has been designated a certified association executive (CAE) by the American Society of Association Executives (ASAE).

Van Atta, chief financial officer, American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Philadelphia, was one of 72 association executives approved by ASAE's Certification Board and ratified by its Board of Directors at the society's annual convention in Atlanta recently.

Van Atta has been associated with ASTM since 1953 when he joined the staff of the then 7,000member Society as assistant secretary. Later responsibilities have been director of Administrative services, director of General Services and now chief financial officer. ASTM is the world's largest source of voluntary consensus standards for materials, products, systems, and services. It now has 26,000 members throughout the world.

Previously Van Atta was assistant secretary of the American Concrete Institute, Detroit, and the Associated General Contractor's of American, Inc., Charlotte, North Carolina.

THE FOUR-PLEX condominium - the design that contains four separate homes in a building that looks like a single $100,000 "mansion" - is not dead. In fact, it's thriving in the Stonehenge community, now being developed in Novi by Multi-Plex Home Corporation of Michigan.

Featuring two townhouses and two ranch plans, the building allows for greater flexibility in land planning and virtually hides all parking areas and garages from the main streets in the subdivision. And too, each home boasts storage space and living areas not equalled in similar communities.

Stonehenge is located in Novi off Haggerty Road, south of Ten Mile Road, just five minutes from the new Twelve-Oaks Mall (currently under construction) and right around the corner from the new I-275 freeway.

I have had recent inquiries about Isle Royale, the national park northwest of Copper Harbor. I have not been there for about 30 years, but I will try to recall some pertinent facts about the island.

It is about 50 miles long and 10 miles wide and as we approached it by boat, I recall that it is one of the most beautiful and picturesque sites in all of the United States.

The island is covered with dense growths of hardwood and pine trees, and in the summer, it is ablaze with wild flowers. The park is a wild life sanctuary and it abounds with moose, wolves, mink, beaver, red fox and birds.

There are no roads on the island as I recall, so your movements are limited to hiking or renting a small boat and hugging the shoreline around the island

If you want to make any inquiries, write to Isle Royale National Park, Houghton, Michigan 49931.

Don't plan on swimming because the average water temperature there, even in the summer, is 35 to 55 degrees. Also, look out for the leeches, which appear in large numbers during the summer season. Remember, if you do get into an infestation of leeches, you can apply table salt to the skin and that usually removes them before they do any damage.

Historically, the park has ancient copper mines of unknown origin, some even pre-dating the open pits of Great Britain. Legend has it that the Indians got all of their copper from these mines to use for utensils and weapons Different places to be on the look-out for are mining trails, Mount Franklin, Mount Ojibway, and Washington Creek.

Boat services can be had from Copper Harbor in Houghton, Michigan, as well as at Grand Portage, Minnesota. The round-trip ticket is $20 with advance reservations necessary.

You can not take your dog or any other pets along. If you have a weekend to spend in the natural beauties of Michigan give it a try.

Seniors are 'hungry'

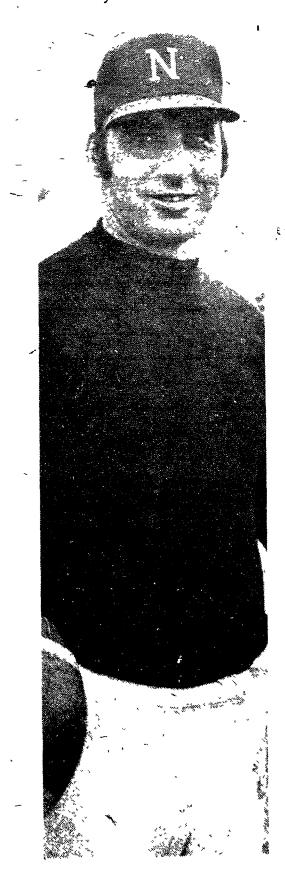

Mustangs eye 1st title

When they were sophomores two years ago, such players as Greg Armstrong, Tim Condor, Kevin Corcoran, Rick Marrone, Mark Morland and Dennis Singleton led the Northville Junior varsity football team to an unbeaten season.

Last year as juniors, the boys comprised part of a nucleus of gridders who were given a good shot at capturing the Western Six Conference crown.

But injuries and Livonia Churchill ended any hope the Mustangs might have entertained for their first conference title. The team wound up 2-3 in conference play and 6-3 overall. They did win their last three games.

So this year, sixth-year coach Chuck Shonta enters the football season with the obvious psychological benefits of last season's late rally, plus that same outstanding group of gridders.

Only now they are seniors, hungry seniors.

"I think we can take it all, we've got the material," says the 39-year-old Shonta who talks like all other football coaches talk — very cautiously.

In addition to the SIX abovementioned boys, Shonta and assistant eoaches Chuck Apap and Al Klukach welcomed 70 other players to fall drills including 20 additional seniors and 13 additional lettermen.

"We feel the strength of this year's team will be our offensive and defensive lines, and our offensive and defensive backs," says Shonta analyzing this year's squad. The best of the backs may be Singleton, a 6' 1" 180-pounder who is a tri-captain. "Dennis could be a Big Ten caliber player. He has good size and is quick. But his problem always has been durability." best of our ability," explains Shonta of his no-frills, run-oriented attack. "I also believe football has got to be fun." Hopefully, it won't be too much fun for the opposition who'll have to handle the big, strong Mustang offensive and defensive lines, a major strength of the team.

"This is the biggest team-we've ever had here," says offensive coach Apap. Morland, a tri-captain who plays at 190 pounds, will play center and nose team," says the former all-conference defensive back for the Boston Patriots of the old American Football League.

Chris Missel; (back row) Dave Chio, Rick

Marrone, Kevin Corcoran, Tim Conder, Mark

Gross, Greg Armstrong and Don Morelli.

Even so, he sees a four-team race with Farmington Harrison. Waterford Mott and defending champ Churchill providing the challenges.

"It'll be the closest league race we've ever had here," adds Shonta, noting that only Churhcill, Harrison and Mott have won league crowns — each twice — in the conference's six-year existence.

He acknowledges that there's some pressure to win, but he says the greatest pressure is on himself.

"Sure, it'll be personally disappointing if we don't win it this year," Shonta says.

Shonta is optimistic

If Singleton winds up in the trainer's room, Shonta always can turn to Marrone, a smaller but more compact back.

There are also a group of unknown under-class runners who have impressed the staff in the early fall drills.

Last year, Shonta's quarterback was Eric Lampella, a passer. Lampella got his sheepskin last June leaving the job to Armstrong and junior Doug Marzone, both good runners and ball handlers.

Both returnees fit nicely into Shonta's power I offense, a offense geared to run at and over people.

"Our philosophy is to do the best we can; to be aggressive and execute to the

Kevin Kratz, whose father is the superintendent of schools for Novi, will put his 5' 11" 215-pound frame at tackle, while junior Jeff Weber at 6' 2" and 210 pounds will play the other tackle.

Back-up help will come from Dave Boor and Al Korte.

Armstrong and Condor give Northville an extraordinary strong defensive backfield, while Weber, Kratz and Boor will also play the defensive line.

Kevin Corcoran, the fastest youngster on the team, will play split end, but he is highly regarded by the other coaches in the league as a linebacker.

Doug Harding, a 6' 4" 215-pound junior will man one defensive end post. His brother plays tight end for Michigan. The team will play a standard 5-2 defense, going occasionally to the angle defense which stresses quckness.

It is the lack of experience and depth at the defensive ends and linebackers that worries Shonta the most.

"But I'm definitely more optimistic because overall we have a veteran But it won't be a disaster.

The former Eastern Michigan University star has upgraded the Mustangs' fortunes in the past few years.

Shonta's first two years were dedicated towards restoring the program. Consequently he won 2, lost 13, and tied one.

In the past three years his record's jumped to 18-9.

What is more gratifying to Shonta is that 76 voungsters turned out for fall drills. Northville is a medium-sized class A school, compared to larger class A Churchill that drew 115 youngsters out for the physically punishing sport.

Shonta's biggest game definitely lies ahead of him. On Homecoming night, October 15, pre-season favorite Farmington Harrison invades the Mustang corral with their high-touted back Mike Bowden.

League coaches say that's the gameof-the-year in the Western Six.

"That game will definitely be a key game," Shonta agrees.

Wildcats

Is Novi due for title?

John Osborne went and did it. The 37-year-old football coach of the Novi Wildcats has built himself a grid powerhouse in his nine years at the helm of the Oakland County school that has been fielding football teams for nine years.

Osborne's small, quick teams have won three Southeastern Conference championships, produced little all-American Jim Van Wagner and put together a 21-game winning streak from 1971 to 1974. Osborne's overall 'record is 47-28.

But the Wildcats fell on hard times last year, going 4-5 overall play and 3-4 in league play and the natives are itching for another championship.

But three of last year's victories were at the end of the season and that streak, along with the return of 15 starters, makes an optimist out of Osborne.

"I definitely feel we have a chance to win the SEC. We have that three-game winning streak which is definitely a boost to the boys and I have that senior experience."

Virtually the whole offense is comprised of seniors.

in the backfield, which Osborne labels the strength of the team, are veteran senior runners Andy McComas, 6'1, 180 pounds and Andy Raddant, 6'0, 165 pounds.

Also returning is senior quarterback Randy Wroten, a good ball handler, whose passing has been getting better and better, according to Osborne.

Two juniors, 145-pound Tony McCarty, and 170-pound Tom Morris are two more names that light up Osborne's face. Eight seniors return to play the offensive line for Osborne.

The best are John Pisha, 6'4", 200 pounds and tackle Jon Buck, a 210pounder who, along with Pisha, McComas and Wroten will captain this year's Wildcat squad.

, Other outstanding linemen are 155pound center John Samples, Ken Kardel, who plays guard at 180 pounds, Bob Bannatz, a 200-pounder who Osborne calls the hardest worker on the squad, Joe Silvestri, a 180-pound guard, and wide receiver Rick Puretty.

Osborne and his two assistants, Rick Trudeau and Gene Gutierrez, have the pleasant task of trying to find room for the greatly improved Geof Garcia, a 170-pound lineman.

Having experienced people^{*} return is highly important to Osborne's option offense which is also known as the wishbone or veer.

"We've been running the wishbone or veer since 1971 because it suits our personnel," explains the former end for Alma College.

"It's more finesse than power. Our teams are small and quick. We can't run at or over people or blow 'em back so we out quick 'em."

Option football has many solid concepts behind it, like ballhandling, running — and survival.

When the quarterback, carrying the ball, and halfback sprint towards the sidelines to turn the corner they are pursued by the tackle.

It's here where finesse plays a role, as the quarterback tries to fake the tackle out of the play by either keeping the ball or pitching out to the trailing back.

"This way we try to confuse the other team and take away their aggressiveness," Osborne says.

Similarly, Osborne stresses quickness on defense by using the angle defense, a formation used most notably at the University of Michigan.

"It's suited for quickness," says Osborne of the angle defense. "We use a five-man front, but the players are moving into the offensive line at an angle."

With defensive players angling in at, rather than going straight on at, the offensive linemen, it makes it extrememly difficult for bigger, slower offensive players to block.

On defense, Osborne is relying heavily on his offensive players to excel on defense. He isn't worried-about his line and linebackers, but he is concerned about his defensive backfield.

"Graduation wiped out my backfield so that's our biggest weakness," he summarizes. But the coach teels that Rick Puretty will boost the defensive backfield.

The Wildcats' kicking game should be strong with 200-pound sophomore David Pisha set to do the punting.

Osborne's squad is ready to reclaim some old Wildcat glory. The head mentor says Saline and Chelsea will be his toughest foes, although Milan might cause some unexpected problems.

Regardless of who his main competition is, Osborne expects to have a good season, a winning one, especially if he can build some depth and avoid injuries.

"I believe football should be fun," says the friendly coach.

He knows it's a heck of a lot more fun when you win.

Osborne eyes past glory

Pirates

Bucs quick, stingy

Veteran back leads Pinckney

Tough and tight.

That sums up this year's Pinckney High School's varsity football squad.

The Pirates put it all together last year and, although they lost some tough members, many-more were waiting in the wings to take over the winning chores this season.

"Pinckney does not rebuild," Tom Wilson, Pirate coach, stressed. "That is baloney. We make sure that we will have a good team four years from now."

Pinckney demolished its Ingham County League and non-conference foes last season, racking up an 8-1 record and shutting out five teams.

All told, the Bucs, which have now won 30 out of 38 games, gave up only 53 points — an average of 5.9 a game.

That record earned them the Team of the Year award from Sliger Home Newspapers.

But Tom Wilson does not like to look back. He has 15 lettermen returning to the fold, 13 of them seniors. Four of those received all-conference honors.

"I am not saying that we have a great team," Wilson explained. "But we do expect to win."

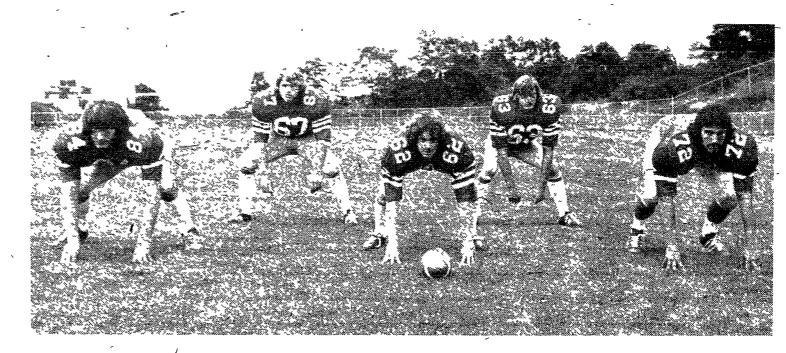

Only one team could beat the Bucs last year and that was Bath which went on to win the Ingham County championship.

Wilson feels that attitude, just like last year, will be the key to the Pirates' success.

"We have a good self-concept of ourselves and are close," he said of his "small" 28 member team. "Everyone on the squad is here because they want to play football. You have to be tight to make it through over 185 practices and not let arguments get in the way of winning.'

Members of the Pirate squad wear little gold plated razor blades on chains around their necks to remind them to "be sharp" both mentally and physically on the field and in the classroom.

Pinckney sticks to the basics offensively and defensively, according to Wilson PIRATE DEFENDERS—Opposing quarterbacks will likely see a lot of these Pinckney players, some of whom helped make up the stingy defense last year which only gave up an average of 5.9 points a game.

Leading candidates for starting positions on the heart of the 5-2 defense are (l. to r.) Mark Rinkel, Craig Parker, Bob Reck, Bart Lyon and Randy Nickerson.

Parker (6-0, 235), another all-leaguer, played tackle last year until Wilson and his defensive coach Stan Szoteck looked a bit closer at the game films.

"He was all over the field," Wilson exclaimed. "He is aggressive and quick."

Parker was in on 128 tackles last year.

Pinckney's defense was very, very stingy last year, refusing to give up a point until the fourth game of the schedule.

Wilson explained that this year's squad is "young" but will be anchored by the experience of Parker and senior tackles Randy Nickerson and Mark Rinkel, both all-Ingham County picks.

Nickerson (6-1, 220) was well known for what Wilson called offensive "college blocking." The 8-1 Pirates scored 282 points last year and 208 of them were scored by running behind

"We are a running team. Nothing fancy. We run a straight T formation and a 5-2 defense."

THE runner that made the offense cook last fall is returning to hopefully do it all over again.

Senior fullback Roger White (5-10, 160) is back to burn up the yardage on the gridiron.

White, picked as Player of the Year by Sliger Home Newspapers along with being tapped for all-league first team honors, rushed for an awesome 997 yards and scored 16 touchdowns last year, breaking the old school record of 14.

White will not have to go it alone though, as two "super quick" backs will be joining him, Greg Amburgey (5-10, 170), a tailback, and halfback Rex Winkelhaus (6-3, 185).

They will have a tough job ahead to replace backs Rick Winslow, Tom Stone and Dale Wilson, who have all graduated.

What White is to the offense, senior linebacker Craig Parker, is to the spice of defense. Wilson fools Randy.

He is slated to play guard this fall. Mark Rinkel (6-2, 220) will handle tackling chores and has been moved from the center position to tight end on the offensive line.

Other candidates battling it out for defensive jobs include juniors Winkelhaus and Dave Kruse (6-0, 170) for defensive ends. Bob Reck (5-10, 165) looks good at the noseman spot -middle guard.

Senior Bart Lyon is expected to join Parker as the other linebakcer. Wilson was impressed with Lyon's (5-11, 170) play during the 14-3 Brighton victory last year.

Craig Sovoda (5-9, 150) will also join the rough bunch that all have Japanese samurai swordsmen nicknames.

Nickerson was given the head title of "fearless one" by his teammates.

Andy Rickelmann (5-9, 190) is the defensive squad's Pirateman, according to Wilson.

With quarterback Bruce Pelto graduating last year, junior Bill Damm

Western Six Preview

Mustangs, Hawks vie for title

Western Six Conference football fans, mark down 8 p.m. Friday, October 15 on your calendars.

That's when Northville and Farmington Harrison collide at Northville High School in a battle that most likely will decide the conference championship.

At least that's the consensus of the league's coaches, including the two mentors who'll guide the pre-season favorites in a season which is shaping up as the year of the running back in the Western Six.

But the league's coaches also say that by the time the league race is over, defending champ Livonia Churchill will have a say in who wins the title.

Both Northville and Harrison boast a lot of returning lettermen, plus two outstanding running backs of Big Ten caliber.

"It's nice to knowyou have the talent but it always makes you nervous," says Harrison's 7-year coach John Herrington, acknowledging his peers' assessment of his 1976 squad.

The Hawks have nine of 11 offensive starters back from last year's team which finished second to Churchill.

One of those starters is halfback Mike Bowden, a 6' 1'', 197-pound senior who already has caught the eye of Big Ten and Big Eight coaches.

Bowden must replace all-state runner and place kicker Paul Rogind who now attends the University of Minnesota. Herrington says Bowden will.

Bowden's backfield mate will include slippery quarterback, Jeff Thorne, a tall, thin youngster who set all of Harrison's passing records last year. A good runner and ball handler, Thorne will spend a good deal of time handing off to Bowden in Herrington's power offense.

"We're not a passing team," Herrington says, "but when we do it'll be off play action."

Herrington lacks size but not experience in his offensive line. Returning starters there are guards Steve Zimmerman and Jerry Finlayson and center John Hileman.

Herrington must also rebuild his secondary, although all-league safety Bob Thompson returns to make his coach's job easier.

"We don't have much depth, but we should be alright," concedes Herrington who has coached two other Hawks teams to Western Six crowns.

Northville coach Chuck Shonta has a gloried football history, first as an allconference offensive and defensive end for Eastern Michigan University, and later as a defensive halfback for the Boston Patriots of the old American Football League.

But now the 39-year-old coach would like to coach his outstanding group ofseniors to the conference championship, a title that Northville has yet to win in the Western Six.

According to fellow coaches, he'll get that chance when Harrison comes to town to tangle with his Mustangs on Homecoming.

Shonta's group of 24 seniors went unbeaten as a junior varsity team two years ago, and last year was a preseason pick to win the conference. But early season injuries destroyed any chance Northville had.

This is the final year for the boys and they and Shonta are hungry.

Five of Shonta's best are Mark Morland, a 190-pound nose guard, linebackers Tim Condor and Kevin Corcoran, flanker Gregg Harper, and running back Dennis Singleton, a young man of outstanding potential.

"If Singleton stays healthy he should have a fine year and the team should have a fine year," says Shonta somewhat cautiously.

He doesn't hesitate, though, when he says his team has a good shot at the conference crown.

Ken Kaestner talks of tradition and pride when discussing the chances for this year's Livonia Churchill team.

He has to for the defending league champ lost 20 of their 22 starters, including fullback Matt Foster now at Michigan State.

But wait, Kaestner has 12 lettermen back and as he rattles off the names of outstanding players, one thinks the crafty Michigan State grad has a club lying in the weeds, waiting to ambush the unsuspecting.

His fellow coaches think so too. They say the Chargers are one of three teams to reckon with in 1976.

"We're not discouraged," says Kaestner who welcomed 115 boys out for fall drills. "We have lots of pride." And some good players.

Like captain Tim Curran, an 185pound linebacker, and fullback Mark DeWitt, who packs 212 pounds on his 5' 11" frame.

Kaestner even has some size in tackles Pat Fabian who tips the scales at 205 pounds, and Gary Czarnik who weighs in at 210 pounds.

Tom McArthur's Waterford Mott team just may surprise a few people too.

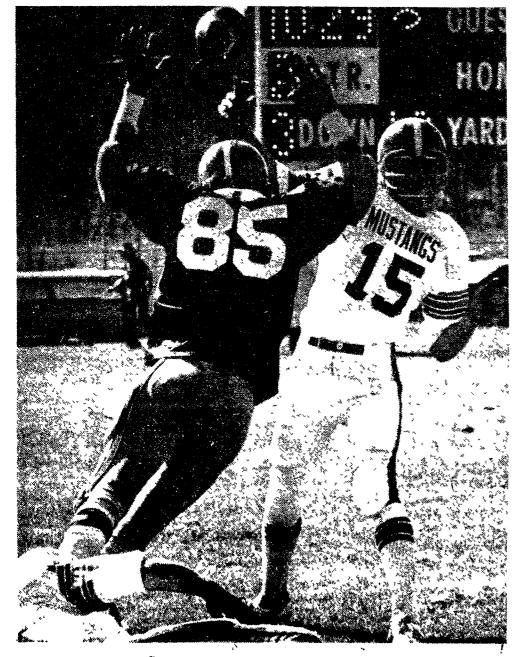

The Western Michigan graduate welcomed back 23 lettermen when drills began in late August from a team that went 6-3 overall and 3-2 in league play. He also lost 26 lettermen.

But one of those players back is speedy running back Mike Wallace, who is the co-holder of the conference 100-yard dash record and holder of the 220-yard dash record.

"Mike and our entire backfield represent the strength of our team," says McArthur who, along with Churchill and Harrison have won the Big, fast, talented

Jayvee grads boost Lions

Forget 1975.

-Forget that meager 1-8 record. Forget the last place finish in the Southeastern-Conference (SEC).

And, most of all, forget the fact that South Lyon's football team managed to put just 35 points up on the scoreboard all season long and suffered shutouts in five of their nine games.

Put the whole dismal 1975 season. completely out of mind because it's now 1976 and the outlook for the South Lyon football team is a whole lot brighter. Coach Bob Keezer, starting his twelfth year at the helm of the Lion grid fortunes, has 13 lettermen returning from last year's squad, including seven starters at what football coaches term "skill" positions.

But the major reason for optimism about the upcoming season is the presence of 24 big, strong, fast underelassmen from last year's junior varsity team which annihilated just about everyone in sight as they claimed the SEC junior varsity championship en route to a perfect 8-0 season.

And Keezer, a man noted for his measured temperament, is hard. pressed to conceal his optimism about the upcoming season.

"I think we're-going to be in the best shape we've been in for the past three to four years," notes the veteran South Lyon mentor. "We've finally got some size for a change and we're going to have a lot of speed coming out of the backfield.

"I think the wheel is beginning to turn back in our direction as far as athletes are concerned," continues the Lion coach. "We won't have to build our offense and our defense around one or two kids like we've had to in the past. In addition to the size and the speed, we're also going to have some depth this year. I think we're pretty solid two-deep at just about every position on the field."

Sound encouraging? You bet it does, particularly after last year's 1-8 season.

A sure sign that things are beginning to swing back in South Lyon's direction is Keezer's intention to throw the ball a running back positions, but the competition is due to an abundance of good running back candidates rather than a shortage of talent.

STURDY DEFENDERS - South Lyon's Bob-Keezer expects his Lion defense to be tough this year and here are eight major reasons why. Possible starters on the front line for the Lions will be (left to right) Mike Morrissey, Marv Burton, Eric Kehrer, and Dave

Virtually assured of the starting spot at fullback is Jeff Bridson, a rugged 5-11, 170-pound junior who was the leading rusher for the varsity last year after being called up from the jayvees early in the season.

Although not exceptionally big for a fullback, Bridson has exceptional balance and will give the Lions a proven inside threat. He gained close to 600 yards for the varsity as a sophomore and coaches believe he can up that total to 800 yards this season. Joining Bridson in the backfield will be a pair of juniors who performed on the jayvee team last year — Chris Green (5-10, 175) and Bob Lewis (6-0, 175).

Keezer is one of those coaches who believes in leaving sophomores on the from last year's team and a number of outstanding junior varsity graduates stepping up to fill in the gaps.

David Inman (6-1, 180) will return to his starting spot at center. Inman earned the starting job as a 150-pound junior, but has put on 30 pounds over the summer and promises to be even more effective this year.

Behind Inman are David Klein (5-10, 165) and Rick Spino, a 5-11, 170-pound junior who started for the jayvees last year.

One of the starting guard positions will go to Dave Wallace, a 5-11, 185-lot more this year. Ordinarily the type of coach who prefers a wide open offensive attack, Keezer stuck pretty close to the ground last year with a 75-25 ratio of running plays to passing plays.

This year, however, Keezer is convinced that he has the material to open things up again and is planning a more balanced attack with a 50-50 split of running and passing plays.

Perhaps ironically in light of Keezer's plans to put the ball in the air more frequently, quarterback is one of the less settled positions on the team.

The inside track currently belongs to Mike Radnothy, a 5-10, 160-pound junior who guided last year's junior varsity team to its undefeated record. Radnothy's strength is his ability as a ball handler, and the coaches cite his faking skills in particular.

Vying with Radnothy for the starting job are Jim Hensley, a senior who was the back-up quarterback on the varsity last year, and Jim Stephens, a senior letterman who will probably be switched to wide receiver to take advantage of his pass catching skills: There's also some pompetition at the why candidates are all sophomores and Green topped the vaunted 1,000 yard mark in rushing in eight games for the junior varsity last year. He has the type of outside speed which will prevent opposing defenses from stacking the middle against the inside slashes of Bridson. Coaches feel that Green has the ability to be a potential allconference performer.

Lewis was not far behind Green in the rushing department for the jayvees last year as he gained more than 800 yards. Another fast running back, Lewis has the speed to go outside and the power to break tackles on the inside.

Keezer also has a host of other running backs who should see a great deal of action this year. Proof of his intentions to utilize a number of backs in the Lion offense this year is the fact that the rest of the running back

FOOTBALL PREVIEW

Eagles join tough 'B' league

Hartland small, quick

For awhile it looked like there would not be a football season at Hartland High School at all this year.

A request for more operating millage failed and the school board said no to sports, even though the Hartland Athletic Boosters collected $25,000 to keep them going.

The board reversed its decision later much to the relief of Eagle coach Steve Schyck.

Schyck kept on practicing with his squad this summer, even though the otulook indeed was bleak for a few weeks Brighton High, the first foe on the Blue and Gold's schedule, even dropped Hartland, thinking football there was doomed and found another team to play.

Ironically, with the future of football in doubt, Schyck was working with the biggest squad in the history of the school — 34 compared to 26 last year.

Although the Hartland team is small in size, with only one player weighing over 200 pounds, the Eagles do have experience this year. Eight starters are returning and 15 seniors, 17 juniors and two sophomores are out to play ball.

It was a down year for Hartland last fall as the school's gridders could only manage a 3-6 record.

Some of those games were heartbreakers, especially a 27-28 loss to Brandon.

But the Eagles are hitting the big time now as they will enter a new Genesee County League of all Class B schools - compared to some of the C and D squads they dueled last season.

Flint Holy Rosary, Byron, Goodrich and New Lothrop will give way to the new challengers for Hartland -Durand, Linden, Flint Bentley, Birch Run along with old enemies Ortonville Brandon and Lake Fenton.

Flint Holy Rosary has-won the old Genesee Suburban Conference title for the last four years so Schyck will not miss the Wolverines.

"This will be a tough league, but I on the freshmen squad last year tore up over 1,000 yards.

Rick Soubliere (5-11, 170) was Hartland's hot sprinter in track last spring and Schyck hopes he will continue to fly like the wind on the gridiron.

Other running prospects include juniors Scott Anderson (5-9, 155) and Paul Graves (5-9, 174).

"Veer"-type Our offense accomodated one player last year --Stewart," Schyck pointed out. "This year I want to rotate five or six runners. I'd rather have four guys rushing for 500 or 600 yards each than one doing more.'

With the graduation of quarterback Dave Villemonte last year, the job of Eagle offensive playmaker is up for grabs to handle the squad's triple option attack.

Juniors John Richards (6-0, 165) and Ken Pilarski (5-7, 150) are the prime contenders for the job with Richards holding the edge, according to the Hartland coach.

"At six feet, John would be the tallest quarterback we ever had," Schyck explained. "His height should help us balance our offense to include more passing to our quick backs.'

But in order for that offense to work, vou need linemen to get the touchdowns scored and make up a stingy defense.

Hartland will be in good shape in both categories even though it did lose some top players.

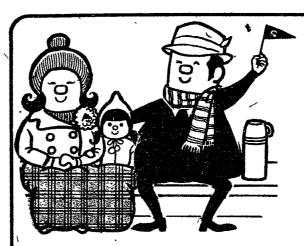

Allconference Eagles Matt Eggenberger, who anchored down the offensive line at center, and big linebacker Mike Cain have graduated. But six Eagles are returning to the fold on the defensive line. Tackle Tracy Dietrich, at 5-11, 215 pounds, will be the only Hartland player weighing in at more than, 200 pounds.

Joining Tracy at tackle are last year's starters Mike Banas (5-11, 180) and Cliff Carlstrom (5-9, 160), both seniors.

John Richards (12) hands off to Rick Soubliere and John Selby (33) think that it will be more balanced than you think," Schyck said. "Flint Bentley and Lake Fenton will be extremely tough but don't count us out."

This year's edition of the Blue and Gold is indeed small, with the offensive line averaging only 160 pounds and the defense wall 175.

But the Hartland coach, who is now in his fourth year at the helm, feels that quickness and experience will make up for it.

The Eagles do have one big hole to fill and that is all-conference running back Dave Stewart, who graduated.

Stewart needed 80 yards in the final game of the season last year to break the 1,000 yard mark, but churned up a whopping 162 to finish with 1,082 yards.

He received all-state honorable mention for his work.

"Dave Stewart was our offense" Schyck said last year.

But Schyck does not want to rely on one player again this year and is hoping to spread the running chores between four prospects.

John Selby, a 5-10, 182 pounder, is only a sophomore but during his term

Senior Ed Bugis (5-9, 170) is expected to handle two jobs, tight end and linebacker. Mark Randolph (5-8, 160) may see action as an offensive guard and safety.

Senior John Kuzala (5-8, 158) is a starter from last year that could be slotted in Eggenberger's center spot.

Kevin McClellan, a 5-7, 175 pound junior, is a quick runner that may join the other candidates for the backfield.

Hartland's big problem when sports was finally given the okay by the school board was to find someone to play in the opener.

Since Brighton bowed out the squad had to feverishly search for anyone who had an open date.

"The boys are really upset about not being able to play Brighton," Schyck said. "They beat us bad last year, 30-8, and we wanted revenge."

"We are more balanced in a new well balanced league," Schyck explained. He added that, although the competition will be tough, his team is prepared to do its best to stay in the thick of the battle

Trojans

New look for Trojans-B-I-G

Whitmore Lake lost some awfully important people from its 1975 football team.

No longer around is Floyd Dreffs, the husky quarterback and linebacker who guided the Trojan offense in both his junior and senior seasons, earned allconference recognition on defense, and led the team in scoring_last year.

Also gone is Steve Livingston, a big, fast running back who paced the Trojan running attack last year.

And a half-dozen other key members of the 1975 team which posted a 3-6 record are also no longer around.

But you won't find Phil Davidson, now entering his eighth year as head coach of the Trojan football team, moping around the locker room feeling sorry for himself.

While stating that he is trying not to be too optimistic, Davidson nevertheless is convinced that the 1976 edition of the Whitmore Lake football team can look forward to an improved season.

Reason for his tempered optimism can be summed up in one word — size.

A seemingly inherent problem at most Class D schools, size — or the lack of it — will not be a problem for the Trojans this year.

On hand are a number of big linemen who weigh in between the 185 and 240 range and will enable Davidson to field a front line that averages about 200 pounds.

"We definitely have more size than we've ever had before," admits the veteran coach of the Trojan gridders. "And we've got the speed in the backfield to take advantage of the holes we think the linemen will be opening up."

"There's one thing for sure," adds Davidson, thinking back to previous seasons at Whitmore Lake, "we're not going to have to stick 120-pound kids in at the offensive guard slots."

Offensively, Davidson plans to stick with the wishbone attack his teams have utilized for the past four years.

Key to the wishbone, however, is the quarterback and Davidson no longer has Dreffs around to direct the attack. Slated to take over at that all-important position is David Webber, a 5-9, 150pound junior who directed the junior varsity team to a 6-1 record last year. Webber is not a "super thrower," according to Davidson, but he has had two years experience with the wishbone and it's hard to argue with the 6-1 record posted by last year's jayvees. Webber's effectiveness should be enhanced by the presence of three veteran running backs. Handling fullback duties will be Doug Bater, a 5-9, 160-pound senior who started last year on the varsity. One of the team's co-captains this year, Bater is fast enough to be a fine quarter-miler on the track team in the spring. He's also an aggressive runner who thrives on rugged action. At the halfback positions, the Trojans will have 6-1, 170-pound junior Rick Weidman and 5-8, 140-pound senior Ron Reed. Weidman saw a great deal of duty as a running back last year in his sophomore season, and has the size and the speed to be one of the Trojan's top rushers this year.

defensive safety in 1975. Although he lacks Weidman's size, Reed is a determined runner who will make the running back position a strong spot.

It's the offensive line, however, where the Trojans should show the greatest improvement this year. Three starters return from the 1975 team and several sizeable newcomers fill in the gaps.

Center will be handled by Pat-Kelley, a 5-10, 185-pound junior who started onlast year's junior varsity squad.

Offensive guard position may be the single strongest spot on the team with Tom Ruby (5-9, 190) and Mark Richmond (6-2, 185) slated for starting jobs. Ruby earned a starting job last year as a freshman and should be a standout this season. Richmond, a senior, did not-play football last year, but has the size and the speed to be another fine offensive lineman.

Returning to a starting job at one of the tackle positions is Dave Ruttinger, a 6-0, 195-pound junior. Joining him will be Tim Protske, a 5-10, 240-pound sophomore who starred at defensive tackle for the jayvees as a freshman.

"Protske's size speaks for itself, and he's also got the quickness that could make him an outstanding football player," comments Davidson.

Kelley, Ruby, Richmond, Ruttinger, and Protske will give the Trojans a front five that averages 199 pounds, highly respectable for a Class D school.

What's more, Davidson has several other linemen who will provide valuable back-up services unless they manage to wrest away a starting position. Key back-up personnel are Robbie Manning, a 5-11, 160-pound junior; Mike Vesper, a 6-0, 230-pound senior; and Jim Novarra, a 5-9, 155pound junior.

Yet another possibility in the offensive line is Gary Riska (6-2, 175) who started at guard last year. Riska is currently recovering from a broken arm, but could be ready to return to action by the start of October.

The Trojans also have a pair of returning starters at the end positions. Mark Shehan (5-9, 155) started at tight end last year, while Jeff Smith (5-9, 140) was the starter at wide receiver. heckuva lot of points last year."

Another reason for the switch may be to take advantage of all those big linemen. Protske, the 240-pound sophomore, will anchor the line at middle guard. Richmond will go at one of the defensive tackles with Kelley and Novarra vying for the other spot.

Shehan saw a great deal of action as a defensive end last year. He will probably be joined by Manning at the other end.

The Trojans will also have a pair of fast, aggressive linebackers in Ruby and Ruttinger. Both started for the varsity last year.

Weidman and Bater look to be the best bets at cornerback, while Reed and Smith should get the starting nod at defensive safeties.

Reed was a first team all-conference selection at safety last year when he picked off six enemy aerials to lead the league in the interception department.

Lee Burris, a transfer student from Ann Arbor Pioneer, and Jeff Peterson are other defensive backfield candidates.

Overall, Davidson has a lot of reasons to be optimistic. The backs are slightly smaller than last year's crew, but have just as much speed. And the line is bigger, faster, and more experienced.

But Davidson has learned to bridle his optimism because of past experience.

"We have the same problem that most Class D schools have," comments the Trojan mentor. "Very little depth."

"We've only got 19 people on this team and that means that most of our players are going to have to go both ways. The luxury of being an offensive or defensive player is something our kids know nothing about. They have to be ready to go on both offense and defense, and it helps if they can play more than one position both offensively and defensively.

"The problem is that one or two injuries can kill you. It's happened to us before and it can happen again. Lose one or two key people and it turns your whole season around.

"I like to think we have the potential to be much improved this season," continues the Whitmore Lake coach. "But we're really in the same boat we were in last year as far as depth goes. At Class D schools you walk a very thin line between being successful and unsuccessful."

Reed, the team's other co-captain, is being switched to offense this year after earning all-conference recognition as a The Trojans will stick with the wishbone on offense, but defensively they are switching from the 4-4 to a 5-2. Reason for the change, admits Davidson, "is that we gave up a

Eyeing SEC title Brighton boasts experience

It's amazing what a coach and a team can do in one year.

Last year, the Brighton High School Fighting Bulldogs football squad brought respectability and pride to a program sorely needing a boost.

Now that area residents and players have had a taste of victory they expect more.

John Seckinger came to town last year after posting a 45-24-3 overall record in eight years at Grass Lake, a Class D high school near Jackson.

He and his coaches proceeded to mold a team that finished with a 4-5 record.

That record may not sound impressive until it is remembered that it had been over a decade since Brighton last fielded a winning football team.

In the two years before Seckinger came, the Bulldogs had won a grand total of only three games.

For his efforts, Seckinger was awarded Coach of the Year honors by Sliger Home Newspapers.

Seckinger, like last year, remains cautious about his predictions.

"I could say that we will go all the way," he explained. "But you have to be realistic. If you set your goal at 9-0 it will be tough if you make one mistake.

"People are starting to talk about Brighton in the right-tone," he went on. "We are not the laughing stock anymore."

The Orange and Black, although losing some excellent players in key positions, are loaded with depth and Brighton's coach is having a happy time deciding who will play what.

But he warned that "just because many of last year's players are coming back, that does not mean that they have it made.'

Seckinger feels that it is too early to decide who will play what until some scrimmages are played.

Defense was the heart of the Brighton team last fall and the Bulldogs will continue to use the 5-2 style.

The line and backfield will be a bit smaller than the already small defense of last year, and the Bulldog staff will have a tough bill to fill since many fine players have graduated.

Heading that list is Dave Donovan, primarily a tackle who also played four other positions. He earned all-state honors, is currently at Albion College on a scholarship and is expected to get a lot of play this year.

Also gone are Dan Philion, a hard hitter with good quickness and Mike Galla, Paul Alsmashy, Kevin Simone, Dennis Knechtges, Bill Hilbig and more.

But Brighton still has senior Bob Schmidt, a 5-9, 160-pounder who made the all-Southeastern Conference first team last fall.

Schmidt was one of the keys to the rugged Brighton offense last year.

An all-round athlete who is fighting for the quarterback position he played for half a season last year, Bob is a sure tackler and-a hard nosed player who made 17 solo tackles and 61 first hits while intercepting three passes.

Many athletes are up for other empty spots on the defense with seniors Howard Teasely (6-1, 168), Tom Bogos (5-11, 177), Mike Biddinger (5-8, 167), and Stan Miller (5-10, 161) all up for end positions.

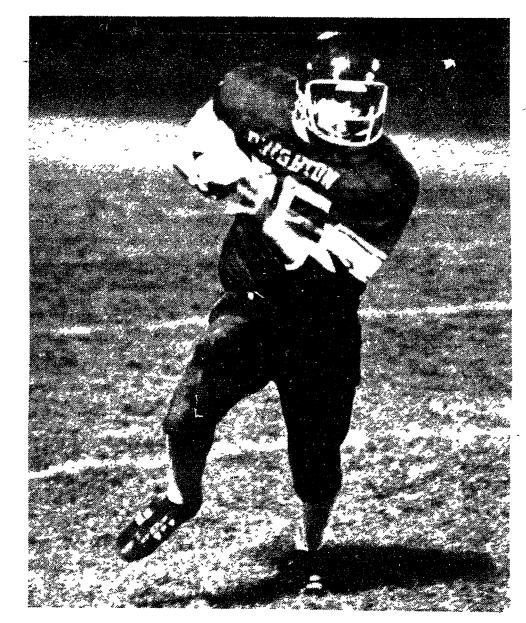

Mike Coll (5-9, 167), Chuck Anderson (5-10, 207), Larry Thurston (5-11, 168), Dave Stahl (6-0, 192) and Chris Sarver (6-0, 182) look good at tackle.

Mike O'Grady, a junior from Bishop Borgess, in a compact player (5-9, 175) who is working at the nose guard position.

Larry Schenkel could see action on both the offense and defense as a guard. He is from Dearborn Crestwood High. Another transfer student, this time from Detroit Catholic Central, is Tom McLeod (6-1, 180) who is working out in the guard spot.

Offense, or lack of it, was Brighton's big problem last year but many players are returning with a year of experience under their belts.

It is a four-man race for the quarterback position with Dean Clark, a tall, 6-2, 173-pound senior, holding the edge at the moment. Clark has both the size and strong arm to be a good thrower if everything clicks into place. Fighting him are Schmidt, senior Jeff Homad (5-7, 144) and Dan Collins, a junior up from the jayvee ranks.

Tom Babineau, Brighton's leading rusher last fall, will be returning

Charles and an Internet a rear of an or break the Bulldog offense and the team will be putting up an experienced. although not large, blockade.

Mike Halloran (5-11, 176) will be the key to that line in the guard position.

Halloran, who was picked for the all-SEC second team, received high praise from Coach Seckinger at the end of last season, "He's a great trap blocker with leverage. He was one of the keys to our running attack."

Joining the hard nosed guard will likely be seniors Frank Buckless (5-9, 171), Dave Staebler (5-10, 182), and Tim Bazley (5-10, 181).

Seniors fighting for the center spot along with other line positions are Bob

Coach John Seckinger

The pass was not too evident last year but Seckinger responds with his usual pro or I-formation with sometimes split backfield.

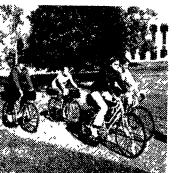

"We threw 10 to 12 passes a game," he said. "That is more than many years in my coaching career."

The Bulldogs have two of their best ball carriers returning, running back seniors Tom Babineau (5-8, 147) who racked up the most yardage, around 700, and Steve Schlumm (5-8, 147), who made sure he tore up a lot of yardage per carry.

Seckinger is also encouraged by Mike Schemer at slotback and split end. The 6-0, 158-pound senior has the speed and build to break through tough SEC defenses.

But it will be the line that will make Western Six Crown twice in the league's six year existence.

"Our weakness is our lack of depth and our youth," adds McArthur.

Other outstanding prospects for the Corsairs this year are Jim Essiambre, a linebacker and halfback who runs a 4.7 in the 40-yard dash.

Dan Casey at 6' 2", 210 pounds, Mark Cate, who weights 212 pounds, and Lawson, a 185-pound center lend experience and some size to the offensive and defensive lines.

Another guard is Dennis O'Neil, who weighs 180 pounds. O'Neil is the conference's high and low hurdles champion.

Football is a funny game

Last year's doormats can be this year's champion. 🔍

Darrell Mayne doesn't expect to go the Cinderella route with this year's Walled Lake Western team, but he says the future is definitely looking up.

"We're a new school and it takes time for kids to get enthusiastic about it," says the young coach noting the large turnout of 70 boys for this year's Warriors team.

Mayne has only 11 lettermen returning from last year's squad that failed to win a game, but he has a lot of young, talented kids who, if they develop quickly, will surprise a few people.

"No question, we have the talent, but the kids are primarily juniors. If they develop as we're sure they will, we'll pull a few upsets," says the young coach who sounds like he could sell a Bible to an atheist.

Three youngsters Mayne is counting on to carry his team until the juniors mature are Harry Machesky, a quick defensive end, Randy Brown, a 200pound tackle, and Mike McDaniel, a 205-pounder, who was an all-area linebacker last year.

Dave Schuele waited a long time to get a head job, coaching football at a -Class A school.

So even though the 41-year-old Livonia resident teaches at Highland Park and coaches the baseball team there, he grabbed the part-time position at Plymouth Canton after a millage defeat and over zealous parents led to the resignation of Canton's athletic coaches. Schuele inherits a team that went 3-6 overall and 1-4 in league play last year.

He will rely on 13 lettermen, led by captain John Young, a 5' 10" 205-pound center and linebacker who was an allleague selection last year.

"We'll run a multiple set offense with Mark Hutton doing a lot of the ball carrying," adds Schuele, who was a highly successful Class B and C football coach at Okemos and Sanford.

Quickness also will be a key for the Chiefs with linemen Rick Kollar and Mike Nuhus expected to open the holes for Hutton and junior running back Darryl Ramsheur.

"We have to work hard on quickness because we can't pump up our size," jokes Schuele. "But we're optimistic, and if our kids continue to display enthusiasm nothing is impossible."

Brighton veterans may aid title drive

Zurke (5-11, 182) and Joe Truhn (5-10, 182).

Seckinger is also looking closely at some of the players up from the junior varsity. They include Kevin Jones, Dale Tomlinson, Jim Bogan, Dave Bednarz, John Cox, Glenn Mitchell, Jim Schmidt, Mark Donovan, and John Shekell.

"We have the depth, but I want to take a little more time to work with it and figure who will play where," Seckinger explained. "I'm still looking but one thing — we have good men."

Seckinger does not guarantee that his squad will win every game but he does promise good all-out effort that makes for good football.

He feels that the SEC is up for grabs.

"This league is so balanced that if you look by a team you are going to get your nose stung," he pointed out. "Some teams have improved but I don't know what that really means.

"Does it mean that a team is going to get beat by 20 points instead of 30?"

Brighton was never blown off the field last year and lost a few heartbreakers.

Chelsea tood the SEC title with a perfect record but had to scramble to . overcome the Orange and Black squad.

"They are not as good as last year, but they will still be tough as nails."

Seckinger also sees Novi as a much improved team that will be a definite threat.

"The only team that I would have said was going to have a down year is Ypsilanti Lincoln which is not going to play anyway," he added.

Lincoln has cancelled sports due to millage failure.

"I don't think that you are going to see too many 30-0 scores in this league this year," he concluded.

Speaking of millage failures,

Brighton was to play its home opener at Hartland on Friday, September 17, but had to reschedule with another school when it looked like Hartland would cancel sports.

Woodhaven, a downriver school that Seckinger said he knew nothing about, will be the Bulldogs' first foe in a home contest.

After last season, Seckinger said, "If the juniors and seniors are willing to work hard, we'll try to continue to improve."

It looks like the football program is getting brighter in Brighton.

"Bill has that great mechanical ability needed to hand off to our superquick backs," Wilson said.

Along with White, Amburgey, Nickerson, Parker, Damm, other Bucs up for offensive jobs are Brian Dewey (6-0, 180) at center and Larry Raub (5-9, 190) at guard.

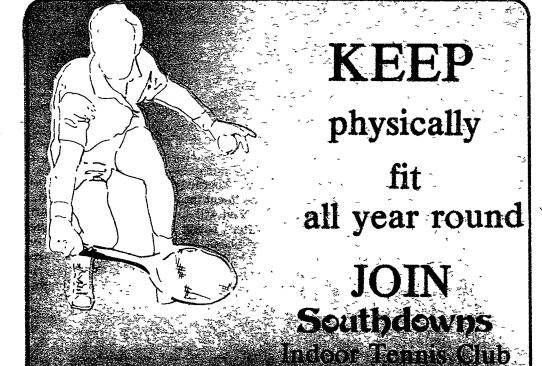

Dave Hutchison (6-3, 185), a junior, is fighting for the tackle spot but may get some competition from a transfer weighs 235 pounds.

Mark Krowleski, a 6-0, 165 pound junior, is working out at the strong safety position.

Now in his ninth season at Pinckney, Wilson looks for tough competition from Bath and neighboring Brighton. Bath was the only squad to dump the Pirates, 36-7. But the Bees were indeed tough as they posted a perfect 9-0 showing and nearly entered the Class C playoffs.

"This team is enthusiastic," Wilson refelected. "They can still look each other in the face after practicing four times a day because they want to work together."

Brighton's also favored

Coaches tab Chelsea, Novi

Southeastern Conference (SEC) coaches are a cagey lot.

Take a simple question like "Who are the favorites for the championship this year" and they start dodging an answer like a politician pressed for a position on amnesty.

Take Phil Bareis, for instance, the highly respected and successful Chelsea coach whose Bulldogs won the SEC championship last year with a 9-0 record: "Who's going to win the championship this year? I'll rattle off the names of all the schools in the league right now. Novi and Brighton could have the edge because they have more seniors coming back then anyone else; Saline has a new coach and great tradition; Dexter is going to be greatly improved; South Lyon has a strong nucleus returning plus all those kids off that undefeated junior varsity team; and Milan has Mike Love who could have a tremendous season and shatter everyone else. You've got to respect everybody or 'else they'll kill you for sure.'

Got that for an answer? the only teams that Bareis didn't mention were his own defending champions and Ypsilanti Lincoln which won't play this year because a millage defeat forced cancellation of their football program.

Now try the remarks of Brighton's John Seckinger on for size. Seckinger, you may recall, received the All-Area Coach of the Year award after lifting Brighton's long'dormant program to a level of respectability with a 4-5 record: "I feel anyone can win it," says the Brighton coach. "Everybody's going to be improved this year. Chelsea, Novi, Milan, Saline, and Brighton are right up in there and Dexter and South Lyon are greatly improved. Overall, it's going to be one heckuva good race. Anybody could win it."

Not surprisingly, Chelsea and Brighton are two of the teams that most of the other SEC coaches believe will be in the forefront of the race for the 1976 championship.

The other major contender promises to be Novi which won the title three Guenther, running back Howard Salyer, 195-pound offensive tackle and linebacker Dennis Bauer, 185-pound defensive end Jim Boyer, and a pair of 230-pound tackles - Rex Miles and Don Sullivan.

But it would be a mistake to feel sorry for the Bulldogs who will again be in contention for the SEC title this year. Bareis has just three offensive and two defensive starters returning, but there was a wealth of material on the bench last year plus a junior varsity team which posted a 7-2 record.

Spearheading the Chelsea offense will be 6-2, 195-pound fullback Tony Robards, a first-team All-SEC selection last year and one of the top running backs in the conference. The Bulldogs will also have a competent quarterback in 5-8, 150-pound senior Tony Houle.

Returning starters in the line include guard Dale Headrick and 6-3, 240-pound All-SEC defensive tackle Leon Brown. only a junior. Bareis also has a pair of véteran ends returning in Bruce Stubbs and Don Nadeau. Among the top newcomers in the line are 6-1, 230-pound sophomore Tom Bareis, nephew of the Bulldog coach.

Bareis says his prime concerns at present are depth and game experience. "A good ball club is a senior ball club and we lost a lot of our experienced seniors last year," says the Chelsea coach. "But we have a good nucleus returning and we definitely plan to show up at all our games."

After winning three straight SEC championships, 1975 was an off-year for John Osborne's Novi team as they fell to a 4-5 record. That was a predominately junior team, however, and Osborne believes that he again has the talent for another bid at the crown.

Novi will sport a new look this year. After riding to success with the wishbone, Osborne is switching to something he calls the "flying, triplepocket, combination" offense, which means the Wildcats will be running the veer.

Novi's strength will again be its backfield with senior quarterback Randy Wroten (6-0, 170) handing the ball off to 5-11, 180-pound senior Andy McComas, an All-SEC second team choice last year, and rapid Andy Raddant, a 6-0, 165-pound senior. Novi also plans to pass more this year with Wroten pitching to John Pisha, a 6-4, 200-pound senior who was second team All-SEC at both tight end and defensive tackle. Other big Novi linemen include Bob Bannatz (6-3, 200) and David Pisha, a 6-4, 200-pound sophomore. "We have seven offensive starters back, experienced linemen, and a great deal of speed in our backfield." says Osborne. "We think Wroten and Pisha can be a formidable passing combination which will really open things up for our backs." Seckinger's coaching talents, 25returning lettermen, and the fact that Brighton is the largest school in the conference are the reasons most SEC coaches believe the Bulldogs will also be a contender for the SEC title this year.

Philion and 200-pound All-Stater Dave Donovan, but the Bulldogs should indeed be tough this year.

One of the strengths will be the backfield where the entire starting unit returns, including running backs Steve Schlumm (5-8, 160) and Tom Babineau (5-8, 180) and quarterbacks Bob Schmidt (5-11, 180) and Dean Clark (6-2, 180). "They'll all be playing somewhere this year," says Seckinger, "I haven't decided just where yet." Another potential starter in the backfield is 6-0, 175-pound transfer student Larry Shenkl for Dearborn Crestwood.

Seckinger states that his team will be more offensive-minded this year due to the facts that most of the offensive team is returning and the defense suffered heavy graduation losses.

Among the returning starters on the line are guards Mike Halloran (5-11, 180) and Dave Stabler (5-10, 180), and Dave Stabler (5-10, 180), center Frank Buckless (5-9, 170), and tackle Chuck 'Anderson (5-10; 207). Two transfer students - guard Tom McLeod (6-1, 180) and middle guard Mike O'Grady (5-9, 180) — should also add line strength.

But don't overlook Brighton's defense, either. "We won't have the size on defense that we did last year, but we'll be much quicker and just as good," says Seckinger.

Saline will have a new look this year. Jack Crabtree, defensive coordinator for the past five years, takes over the head job from Merv Ward. And the Hornets are changing from the wishbone to the power I in the backfield.

Another change will be the size of the team. Traditionally one of the largest teams in the SEC, Crabtree states that Saline will now be one of the smaller teams.

"We'll have to depend on quickness this year," he says. "In the past we've always had a couple of 230 or 240 pound tackles, but this year our tackles will be 210 at the most."

Saline lost its size when tight end David VanBroda (235) and tackles Rick Tobias and Ed Redys (240 each) graduated in the spring. In spite of the losses, the Hornets will still have the best defensive player in the conference in Jim Haeussler, a 5-8, 190-pound fullback and linebacker who does the 40 straight years until Chelsea won it last year. Wildcat Coach John Osborne, unlike Bareis or Seckinger, has a different approach to picking the SEC champion.

"I picked us for second one year and that's where we finished," said Osborne. "Ever since, I've picked us for first and that's where I'm picking us to finish this year."

Osborne with his record of three SEC championships in the past four years could well be right. The final consensus of SEC coaches has Chelsea and Novi as the favorites with Seckinger's Brighton squad in there battling all the way.

After those three, however, it's anybody's guess with Saline, Milan, South Lyon, and Dexter all ranked as dark horse possibilities.

In spite of their favorite's rating, nobody expects Chelsea to be quite as tough as they were last year when they dominated the conference with a 7-0 record and put together a 9-0 record overall.

Coach John Dukes

'I'd have to say, if our juniors come of our league.'

Face Capital Circuit foes

Howell young, but eager

Take an outstanding halfback, mix in two fine fullbacks, blend in a little size and strength and then add a good helping of enthusiasm, and what do you _ have?

Hopefully, the nucleus of a successful high school football team.

But dilute the foregoing ingredients with a mixture of inexperience and a tough schedule, and what happens to the recipe?

That's exactly what Howell High School varsity football coach John Dukes is wondering these days.

For Dukes' Howell Highlander squad has all these ingredients, from the fine backfield to the inexperience. And that leaves the second-year Howell mentor wondering just which factors will win out during the autumn days to come.

"I'd have to say that, if our juniors come along all right, we'll have a chance of finishing in the upper division of our league," says Dukes, a 1968. Howell High graduate who was named a Little All-America during his collegiate days at Alma.

"But of the 52 boys out for football this year, 31 are juniors," Dukes goes on. "That means we'll have to use quite a few underclassmen, and that, always leaves you open to some mistakes.

"We have nine returning lettermen, but only four or five of them were starters last year: Our junior varsity team was pretty good, finishing about 5-4, and so I think some of our juniors learned quite a bit last year.

"But I guess it all boils down to seeing how fast we can learn, once the season gets started," Dukes says.

Luckily for Dukes and the Highlanders, some of the seniors returning from last year's 3-6 team have already learned their football lessons well.

Senior halfback Dave Hibner, for example.

Beginning his third season on the

The Highlander ball carriers won't be taking their handoffs from the same signal caller as last year, though. Last year's quarterback, Carl Pohl, is at Aquinas College this season, leaving Ron Samples and Shane Gerkin to fight for his job.

Gerkin, a six-foot, 160-pound junior, appears to have the inside track as quarterback so far, according to Dukes. But Samples, a six-foot, 190-pound senior converted from tight end, may see some action.

"Either way, "I don't think we're going to have as good a passer this year," Dukes revealed, "so we'll be primarily a running team this season."

Helping to open holes for that running attack should be senior tackle Dan-Elder (6' 1'', 180 lbs), who is another returning starter from last year's squad. Elder is likely to go both ways at tackle, according to Dukes, and his size may help anchor the Highlanders' defensive line.

Howell will operate from a pro-style "4-3" defense, an alignment which calls for good size and agility on the line along_with linebackers capable of ranging far and wide in pursuit of the ball.

"We had some problems with our defense last year, mainly because we didn't really have the size in the line that you need for a 4-3," Dukes says. "But our size is better this year. We have five boys over 200 pounds and I think that will help.

"Still, our defense improved as we, went along last year, and I'd say we won ourdast two games mainly because of that improvement," Dukes explains. "The trouble is, we only have one or two starters back on defense, even though we have improved our overall size."

Dukes figures the performance of the Howell defense — and of the offensive line — will be keys to the Highlander hopes this season.

"It's hard to tell much about areas such as these after only a week or two of practice," the young coach notes. "But the boys' enthusiasm has been real "I enjoy coaching here in Howell," the hometown mentor adds. "Phis is something I've always wanted to do and now that I have the chance, I hope to do well."

Dukes may get to see how his diverse batch of ingredients is going to mix together right at the season's outset. Howell-will kick off its 1976 slate by hosting perennially rugged Bath, last year's Ingham County League champions, September 17.

HAND-OFF TO HIBNER—Halfback Dave Hibner (center) is a sure bet to carry the ball frequently for the Howell Highlanders this season. Not such a sure thing is just who will be handing the ball off to the talented senior, however. At press time, both Shane Gerkin (left) and Ron Samples (right) were still battling it out for the starting quarterback

Green and Gold varsity, Hibner has rushed for some 1,800 yards and 18 touchdowns thus far in his career. A sturdy 5' 11'' and 180 pounds, he combines quickness and balance with good strength to anchor Howell's running attack.

"Dave is an outstanding halfback, and we'll be trying to get him the ball as much as possible this year," Dukes says. "He's good enough that we can count on him to score just about every game, so if we can block up front and play some defense, Dave will help carry our offense."

However, Hibner won't have to shoulder the whole load himself.

Sharing the running chores with Hibner in Howell's pro-style backfield will be fellow seniors Kevin Beck and Doug Beal, who are battling it out for the starting fullback slot.

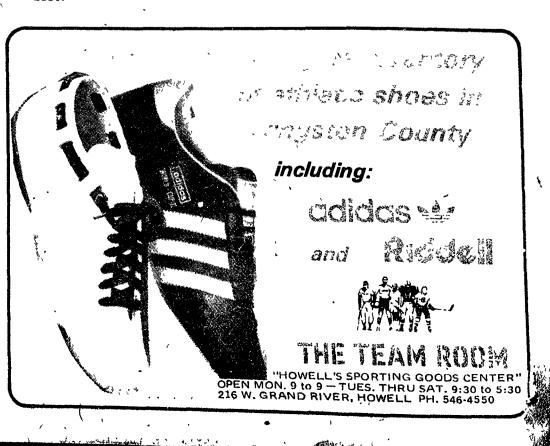

"Kevin is only 5' 3" and 145 pounds, but he's tough," his coach says. "Doug has pretty good size at 5' 11" and 185. They split the fullback job most of last year, and they'll probably both see some action there this s' -n, too." good so far, and they've been willing to work hard, and that's encouraging." Dukes says his team will have to work hard to be competitive in this year's Captial Circuit, which has been expanded this season with the addition of DeWitt and Charlotte.

"Okemos won the league last year, and they only graduated two players. Eaton Rapids lost several linemen, but they may be able to replace them, and Lansing Catholic Central is always tough," Dukes points out. It's such competition — plus the

It's such competition — plus the Highlanders' lack of varsity experience — which makes the team's winning prospects such an up-in-the-air topic this pre-season.

But Dukes is hopeful that all his ingredients will blend together once the season actually begins.

"We were competitive last year and although we only finished 3-6, we were in every game," Dukes says. "We'll have a lot of inexperienced people on defense this year and our offensive line could be a problem, but I'm hoping we can be competitive again. slot.

in 4.5 and bench presses 340 pounds. Haeussler is \bar{a} definite All-State candidate this year.

Offensively, Crabtree feels he has a pair of fine junior guards in David Clary (5-10, 180) and Ed Toth (5-9, 170). Tony Corona (6-1, 170) and Pat Steiner (6-0, 175) are set at the ends, while Steve Kendzicky (6-3, 195) will be one of the tackles.

Joining Haeussler in the offensive backfield will be Butch Munzel a 5-7, 160-pound speedster with good moves and Mike McQuire, a 6-4, 195-pound junior quarterback.

Defensively, Haeussler is a one-man wrecking crew from his nose guard position. He'll get plenty of help from returning starters Scott Guenther (5-9, 185) at linebacker and Brad Myers (6-1, 170) at halfback.

Milan's George Genyk thinks his "Big Reds" will be in the thick of the race for SEC honors in spite of a relatively small squad and just 10 returning lettermen.

Much of his optimism is based on the presence of three individuals: Mike Love, Jeff Genyk, and Bob Gruden.

Love could be the top back in the league. A 5-11, 180-pound speedster, he scored three touchdowns in Milan's first game last year and was then forced to the sidelines for most of the rest of the season with an injury. Genyk, son of the coach, started at quarterback as a sophomore last year and will be one of the top signal callers in the SEC this season. A good passer, the -6-1, 170-pound Genyk's favorite target will be Gruden, a 6-2, 165-pound tight end who was an All-SEC second team selection last year.

Joining them as offensive threats will be Keith Carpenter, a strong 5-10, 180pounder who has looked impressive in fall drills.

Top linemen include Phil Stark (5-10, 160), a two-year starter at guard and linebacker and Kevin Kelsey (6-0, 165) at center and guard.

"We're not going to overpower anyone with our size," says Genyk. "We'll rely on our quickness, strength, and conditioning."

South Lyon has seven returning starters from the team which finished 1-8 last year, but the Lions also have impressive size and speed coming up from an outstanding junior varsity team which finished with an 8-0 mark. Offensively, Coach Bob Keezer will have 5-10, 170-pound fullback Jeff Bridson who rushed for over 500 yards after being called up to the varsity midway through his sophomore season.

Joining the rugged Bridson in the backfield will be junior speedsters Chris Green and Bob Lewis who rushed for 1,000 and 800 yards respectively on the jayvee team last year.

In the line, the Lions will have center David Inman (6-1, 180), tackle Eric Kehrer (6-1, 220), and tight end Mike Koziara (6-0, 175) returning to starting jobs, and they should be helped considerably by some sizable junior varsity talent which includes Dave Wallace (5-11, 185) at guard, Ed Zacker (5-11, 200) and Ron Bennett (6-3, 230) at tackles, and Jeff Burt (6-2, 205) at end.

"We're bigger and faster than we've been at any time in the past several years," says Keezer. "We're very optimistic about this season."

Things are also looking up at Dexter where second-year coach Russ Lennemann is working hard to build some tradition into a program that has been down for some time.

Lennemann has a fine quarterback in 6-1, 185-pound Mark Cunningham and a strong running back in 5-10, 175-pound Darrel Barrelman.

Dexter also has some good returning linemen in center Daren Kelly (6-3, 195), guard Brian Wheeler (6-0, 185), tackle Randy McCullough (6-2, 230), and end Allen Ritt (5-10, 165).

"We were 1-8 last year which wasn't much fun," said Lennemann. "But we think we've got things turned around. The kids are optimistic and working hard. We want to win. We deserve to win."

pound junior and another starter from last year's junior varsity team. The coaches are particularly high on. Wallace's ability and have him pegged as a potential all-conference candidate. Although only a junior, he was elected one of the Lions' tri-captains this year.

The other guard position will be filled either by Gary Marken (5-10, 170) or Jim Atchison (6-0, 175). Marken is another tri-captain and started for the varsity as a linebacker last-year. Atchison is a big, strong youngster who was the starting fullback on the junior varsity last year. He has been moved to an offensive guard this year because of his speed and blocking ability.

The Lions have another starter returning to the offensive line at tackle where Eric Kehrer (6-1, 220) is back for another season. Kehrer was a two-way starter for the Lions last year and is another player the coaches have tabbed as an all-conference candidate.

The other tackle position will likely be filled by Ed Zacker, a 5-11, 200-pound junior up from the jayvees. A strong blocker, Zacker was a key to the potent junior varsity ground game last year.

Backing up Kehrer and Zacker will be another pair of big 200-pound linemen — Marvin Burton (6-1, 220) and Brad Ebersole (6-0, 200). Both are seniors and both earned varsity letters last year.

Another reason Keezer believes the Lions will be able to run wide this year is the presence of three talented tight ends. The starting job is likely to go to Jeff Burt, a 6-2, 205-pound junior who was a two-way starter at tackle for the jayvees last year. Burt is a good blocker who is also a threat as a receiver. "He very definitely fits into our plans to throw the ball 50 percent of the time this year," says Keezer. on the track team in the spring and is the Lions' deep threat this year.

Defensively, Keezer will retain the 4-4 which has become his trademark over the past 11 years. "Defense wasn't our problem last year," says the Lion coach. "We played good defense, we just couldn'£ get much going offensively." ^s

At the tackle positions, the Lions will go with returning starter Eric Kehrer (6-1, 220) and either Marv Burton (6-1, 220) or Ron Bennett (6-3, 230). Burton lettered on the varsity last year, while Bennett was a key member of the stalwart junior varsity defensive line.

Other possibilities are seniors Dan Curry (5-10, 200) and Carl Porter and sophomore Jim Rains (6-1, 225).

The Lions will also have a returning starter at defensive end in David Inman (6-1, 180). The other defensive end position is likely to be filled by Brad Ebersole (6-0, 200), although Jeff Bridson (5-11, 170), Jim Atchison (6-0, 175), and Mike Morrissey (5-11, 150) are also possibilities.

One of the major reasons for optimism about the defense is the presence of two returning starters at the linebacking positions — Mike Koziara and Gary Marken. Koziara is neither exceptionally big nor exceptionally fast, but he is an outstanding football player who has started at linebacker for the varsity for three straight years and earned All-Area honors last year. "Kozy is just an all-around fine athlete with a nose for the football," says one coach. "He who the coaches believe is another allconference candidate. "He's just a good football player who's smart and has a nose for the ball," comments a coach. And that's the team that Keezer believes will make the Lions a threat in the SEC this year.

"We've got veterans coming back at key positions and there's a great deal of talent coming up from last year's junior varsity team," states Keezer. "We're a lot bigger and we should have speed all the way through our offensive and defensive units.

"We're in as good shape as we've been in for the past three to four years."

the second s

The other tight end candidates are sophomore Tim Mindling (6-0, 170) and senior tri-captain Mike Koziara (6-0, 175). Mindling started at tight end and defensive end for the jayvees last year. He has good speed and rates high as a receiver. Koziara started at tight end on the varsity last year. With Burt and Mindling on hand, however, the coaches would like to be able to permit Koziara to concentrate on defense where he was an All-Area selection as a linebacker.

When the Lions use a wide receiver, Jim Stephens will probably get the starting nod. "For just plain catching the ball," says one coach, "it's Jimmy Stephens by far." Mindling will also be used at wide receiver, as will Dave Mullin (6-2, 165), a junior who hurdles doesn't make very many mistakes out there."

Marken also started at linebacker for the varsity last year and was one of the team's top tacklers.

Joining Koziara and Marken at the linebacking spots will be David Wallace (5-11, 185)' and Jeff Burt (6-2, 205). Koziara and Burt will probably be positioned at outside linebackers, with Marken and Wallace handling the inside duties. Koziara and Wallace are deemed potential all-conference selections by the Lion coaching staff.

Jimmy Stephens returns to a starting position at defensive halfback. He will probably be joined by Tony Lakvold (5-9, 145) who saw a great deal of action last year. Jeff Bowersox and Chris Green are also slated to see a great deal of action in the defensive secondary this season.

"It will depend on the situation," says Keezer. "We will probably juggle our personnel depending on whether it's a running or a passing situation."

Defensive safety will be handled by Randy Lewis (5-10, 150), a sophomore ¥

What's it all about?

Swine flu threat sparks nation-wide vaccinations

Yes, there is a swine flu. Yes, there is a risk in swine flu vaccine. No, the risk's not great.

Needle will be replaced by jet injector for flu shots

The NOVI NEWS

Skeptics question flu war motives

Why are some medical experts and observers skeptical about the nation's swine flu immunization program?

A variety of reasons emerge in answer to this

And no, the national battle against a potential swine flu pandemic is not a hoax.

What's more, even if you plan to stubbornly resist this costly effort to save your life many millions of others are expected to take advantage of what your tax dollars helped provide.

In Wayne County alone, an estimated 2½ million people probably will be vaccinated against swine flu well before the flu season hits Michigan in December. Already plans are under way by county health departments to conduct massive public inoculation clinics throughout Wayne and Oakland counties this fall.

Jet injector guns will be used to speed up and painlessly administer the vaccine.

Northville will host one of the clinics, Novi another.

Clinics are to be held here on Wednesday, November 10 — in the new Novi Woods Elementary School on Taft Road and in the Northville School Board meeting room on Main Street. The Novi clinic will be from 3 to 7 p.m., the Northville Clinic from 3 to 5 p.m.

Both health departments will make the vaccine available to private physicians, free of charge, for distribution to their high-risk and general patients.

Hospitals, long-term care centers, nursing and convalescent homes will also receive the free vaccine. In addition, health authorities are inviting industrial and business firms with medical facilities to help out by giving vaccinations to their employees. So swine flu vaccine is indeed on its way.

But meanwhile, the controversy about the potential nationwide threat and about the vaccine itself rages on.

In answering questions about swine flu, the vaccine and the controversy, Dr. R.M. Atchison of Northville refers to the cover story in the latest edition of Medical World News as the best analysis to date of this complex issue.

The author, Charles S. Marwick, sums up his comprehensive article by quoting the assistant secretary of state, Dr. Theodore Cooper, "Prevention is the only practical means to reduce death and illness from influenza, and this means immunization."

Wayne County's health department director is . even more positive: "I strongly recommend that everyone who could catch this potentially fatal illness get vaccinated," said Dr. Perry Stearns.

He emphasizes that it is particularly important for senior citizens and those classified as high-risk to get the flu protection.

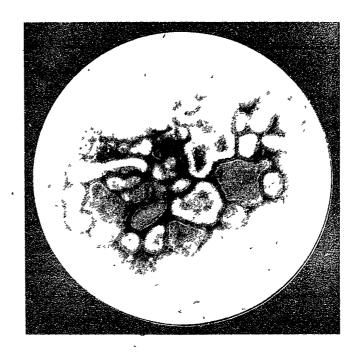

High-risk individuals are those suffering from heart disease, upper respiratory problems or other chronic illnesses.

People who are allergic to eggs or egg products should not be vaccinated, Dr. Stearns cautions.

Initially, children are not to be included in the immunization clinics here. That's because the experts cannot agree on the effectiveness of the vaccine for children, particularly those under five.

Therefore, the November clinics will be only for adults 18 years old and older.

The national public health advisory committee expects that recommendations regarding children will be made yet this month. And meanwhile, data now available from the first child studies are regarded as sufficient to recommend immunization schedules should swine flu make a sudden appearance, according to Marwick. "This possibility," he adds, "would apply particularly to high-risk children - those with asthma, diabetes, or renal disease, for example - in whom a higher incidence of side effects is acceptable when weighed against the risks of flu.' But what about the risks? What are they? Test results on vaccine produced by four manufacturers - Wyeth, Parke-Davis, Merck, and Merrell-National - showed that of all persons tested, including those younger than 25, some 10 to 16 percent of the vaccinees reported side effects of headache, nausea, malaise, or fever. According to figures cited in HEW's fact sheets prepared for the lay public on influenza immunization, the incidence of temperature over 100 degrees has been estimated at from one percent to five percent. The incidence of sore arms, swelling, redness, and pain has been put at 20 percent to 40 percent; systemic reactions, such as headache and general malaise, at about 20 percent. Relative to these risks, Marwick quotes Dr. Cooper as observing, "These reactions are not good reasons why we should not vaccinate the population against what we know is not a trivial disease. Just because there is a chance there will be several million adverse reactions should not be regarded as unusual. "Every kid who gets immunized in a well baby clinic gets such reactions, and yet no one would argue that this is improper treatment. To suggest otherwise is irresponsible."

program is an over reaction to an isolated outbreak of swine flu at Fort Dix, New Jersey late last January that may not recur.

Why, then, the alarm?

The New Jersey outbreak killed one soldier and infected some 500 others. Called A-New Jersey for short, the swine flu then vanished and nobody really knows what happened to it.

Most of the common flu suffered in the United States last winter was caused by a strain of influenza virus known as A-Victoria. It was first identified in 1975 in the Australian state of Victory — a variant of the A-Hong Kong strain that appeared in 1968.

Neither A-Victoria nor A-Hong Kong resembled the New Jersey killer.

The death of Army recruit David Lewis at Fort Dix sparked an intensive effort to identify the killer. The virus was compared with a battery of human and animal flu viruses kept by the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta. It matched the swine flu virus occurring in pigs in 1931, and "on the basis of serologic evidence, this virus has been postulated as the cause

The bug! 'I strongly recommend that everyone who could possibly catch this potentially fatal illness get vaccinated...' -Dr. Perry Stearns, county health director of the great influenza pandemic of 1918-1919," explains Marwick.

According to Dr. Edwin D. Kilbourne of the Mount Siani School of Medicine, who describes influenza "as the last great plague of man," history shows that when one flu virus dissipates, another emerges.

And since the decade of Hong Kong virus is nearing an end, another is likely on its way. "In this instance," according to Dr. Kilbourne, "the candidate looks as if it might be the swine flu virus isolated in New Jersey. We also know that virtually all of the world's population under 50 years of age lack immunity to the virus."

To ignore the potentiality of a nationwide outbreak when time permitted development and distribution of swine flu vaccine would have been unthinkable, many experts conclude.

After all, they point out, influenza of any kind is not a minor disease. They note that last winter 20,000 people died of influenza-associated illness; that in 1957-58 type A-Asian flu killed 70,000 Americans; and that in 1968-69 Hong Kong flu claimed an estimated 33,000 lives.

We would like to introduce you to a Brand New Concept in Car Washing. It's the BELANGER System!

question, but the underlying puzzler is the fact that the New Jersey outbreak was short-lived and that the swine flu dissappeared as quickly as it appeared.

It is not widely known, but the sudden attack last winter on the Fort Dix troops was not the first strike by swine flu in recent times.

Not long ago a 16-year-old boy who lived on a pig farm died after a bout with pneumonia and Hodgkin's disease. An autopsy by the Mayo Clinic and subsequent tests disclosed that a flu virus was present very similar to the swine virus which is said to have caused the 1918-19 flu pandemic.

"If the virus is as virulent as early scare reports said," asks Robert G. Marks, executive editor of Current Prescribing, a medical journal, "why wasn't everyone in the vicinity dropped in his tracks? And why were the parents of this boy — living in the same environment — spared by the dread virus? Maybe the answer is that it's not so lethal."

It is an indisputable fact, claims Marks, that the swine-type influenza "is around . . . but that doesn't prove it was this virus that caused the 1918-19 deaths."

So some skeptics question the severity of the latest swine flu threat.

Others, such as Dr. Ernest C. Herrmann, Jr., associate professor of microbiology at the University of Illinois, question the effectiveness of the vaccine to combat swine flu.

He takes the position that the newly developed swine flu vaccine to be dispensed here this fall may in fact be less effective than a drug that was already on the market.

If the swine flu threat is as great as the U.S. Public Service says it is, "why use a mediocre vaccine when there are data showing the virus is sensitive (to an existing drug)? Or has the promotion of swine influenza vaccine more to do with political science than with medical science?"

Dr. Herrmann's reference to "political science" is threaded into many of the current arguments against the national immunization program.

There are "sly rumors" about, reports Marks, that the influenza vaccination program has more to do with politics than with medicine. "For example," she notes, "there's the 'theory' that Americans never change presidents during a war; therefore, President Ford declared war on influenza promising a shot for every man, woman and child. There's also the mischievous line that the program was a means of

IIEW emphasizes that because the vaccine is prepared from killed virus no one can get swine flu from taking the vaccine.

Nevertheless, because insurance companies were reluctant to risk monies on possible lawsuits against the vaccine manufacturers, Congress enacted legislation providing that claims submitted after September 30 alleging injury from the immunization program will be-filed against the government.

Under this arrangement, however, manufacturers will still be liable, and physicians will not be relieved of malpractice responsibilities.

Doctors will be required to warn patients about risks and about benefits, of immunization.

Major problem in mounting this greatest immunization campaign in the country's history is that as of last week there was not a single case of swine flu reported anywhere in the United States. THIS NOTICE is given by order of the City Council of the City of Novi, Oakland County, Michigan.

Geraldine Stipp City Clerk

With that recent theme still ringing loud and clear, the Northville Chamber of Commerce will meet tomorrow to take up the recommendations that grew out of a special August meeting.

All members and prospective members are urged to attend tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting in the city hall. Last month some 45 business people met to discuss ways to enhance business and preserve the unique character of the downtown Northville district.

That special meeting was hosted by the chamber and a retail merchants subcommittee. And out of the informal discussion that followed a pep talk presentation by the subcommittee, led by Linne Sopp, came a number of specific proposed projects.

Behind all of the discussion was the growing concern of the Northville business community that the new major shopping center in Novi, under construction at 12 Mile Road, may adversely affect business here.

"It has been estimated that up to 30-percent of Northville's business could be lost to 12 Oaks (shopping center)," said Mrs. Sopp. "But it doesn't have to happen if we pull together.

'Northville's prices are as good as any shopping center's, and we've got something here that they haven't got . . '. and that's our small-town, friendly character. Charm isn't enough, though. We've got to work together to improve ourselves, to promote what we've got. Individually, you can't do it, but together we can be partners in the growth of business."

Specific projects under consideration are:

• Beautification of the downtown area.

• Re-establishment of daytime matinee movies for children

• Re-establishment of the once popular Santa Land exhibit that used to be annually exhibited in the American Legion hall.

• Sponsorship of Old World exhibits in stores. Still other suggestions discussed last month included guided tours of the area, perhaps utilizing an old-fashioned double-deck vehicle or horse-drawn carriage; prominently displayed maps in store showing location of all business places in the community; hiring of a full time or part-time chamber manager to coordinate promotions and activities; and increasing chamber membership with an emphasis on active participation. The "Old World" proposal is a spinoff of Detroit's popular Ethnic Festival, with individual stores picking an ethnic theme and incorporating it in periodic store displays.

Matinee movies at Northville's P&A Theatre would be held once or twice a week, subsidized by merchants if necessary, to give young parents time to shop while their children are being entertained.

Management of the theatre reportedly has been cool to the idea since it has been unable to generate much attendance at regular shows even though it has reduced prices and brought in top-rated movies.

Santa Land, which was abandoned several years ago because of a variety of reasons having to do with expense, space and lack of volunteer help, had attracted large numbers of spectators, it was noted. It involved a room decorated to resemble Santa's workshop, complete with a variety of models and fixtures.

To re-establish the exhibit, a number of new models would have to be purchased since only a few of the originals remain, it was reported.

Concerning beautification, several business people volunteered to pursue ideas and suggestions with the city council.

Among specific suggestions under consideration is one to utilize a few of the Main and Center Street parking spaces for trees and benches.

Also, they will seek city repair of deteriorating curbs and "patch-work" sidewalks, discuss ideas of how better to clean downtown streets on a regular basis, press the city to implement its plans for improvement of the boulevard median on South Main Street, and urge the city and township to pave the stretch of roadway from South Main, under the viaduct past the DPW yard, to Highland Lakes subdivision.

Trees and planters were suggested for the municipal parking lot off Dunlap Street behind Main Street stores.

While some business people voiced dissatisfaction with the cleanliness and appearance of downtown streets and sidewalks, blaming part of it on the city's "apparent disregard of the business district problems," others, however, reminded fellow merchants that they, too, must share the responsibility.

Instead of cleaning their own sidewalks and curbs. I've seen some of them kick cans into the street rather than bending down and picking them up," said Glenn Long. "It's the duty of each of us to do his part."

"What's the city doing for us?"' asked another businessman bitterly, pointing out that it makes many of its purchases outside the town. "Why don't they purchase in town?"

Another urged business people to avoid conflicts based on "what has happened in the past" and to move positively and cooperatively with the city in seeking improvement.

Concerning the recurring complaint among business people that the Northville Historical District Commission is anti-business, it was suggested that the guidelines of the commission be made available to businessmen so that they have specific ideas of what they can and cannot do in trying to improve the appearance of their buildings.

"A lot of our complaints and fears could be resolved if we just establish some regular lines of communication with the city council and the historical commission," Mrs. Sopp repeated several times.

And Councilman Paul Folino, himself a businessman, urged members of the chamber and

DEBT SERVICE CHARGE

In addition to the consumption charge as set forth above, each premises within the City shall pay a debt service charge, as follows:

a) All premises connected directly (or indirectly) to the sewer acquired and constructed in accordance with said contract shall pay a debt service charge of $521.00 (plus $26.00 annually beginning January 1, 1964), multiplied by the factor which that particular property and its intended use has in the classification and computation then used by the Oakland County Department of Public Works, or as otherwise provided by Ordinance or Resolution in relation to the quantity of sewage from "premises" as defined in this Ordinance. Said charge to be paid when application is made for permit to build, except as hereafter provided, or if existing building, when connection is sought to be made to said sewers

b) All new construction in subdivisions platted hereafter, or new construction in the nature of commercial or industrial or office development requiring five (5) or less tap factors as required in paragraph (a) above, shall pay all such debt service charge or charges in full, prior to the issuance of a building permit.

c) All new construction, except residential construction, in the nature of commercial, industrial or office development of more than five (5) tap factors as applied in paragraph (a) above shall pay all such debt service charge or charges in full prior to the issuance of a building permit; or the owner may elect to pay one-fifth of said debt service charge prior to the issuance of a building permit and the remaining four-fifths of said debt service charge in sixteen (16) equal quarterly installments plus interest at 7.5 percent per annum, and the unpaid balance shall be a lien on the property and enforced as hereinafter provided. d) Once a property has been connected to the System subsequent changes in the character of the use of said property (including partial or total destruction, removal or abandonment of any or all improvements thereon) shall not abate the obligation to continue the payments of the debt service charge assigned at the time of connection; and if, subsequent changes in the use of the property increase the amount of sewage emanating from the property, the City Council may increase the debt service charge assigned to said property and the debt service charge

The charges and rates for sewer services provided above which are under the provisions of Section 21, Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan 1933, as amended, made a lien on all premises served thereby, unless notice is given that a tenant is responsible, are hereby recognized to constitute such lien, and whenever any such charge against any piece of property shall be delinquent for six (6) months, the City of Novi official or officials in charge of the collection thereof shall certify annually, of May 1st of each year, to the Assessor of the Cuty, the fact of such delinquency, whereupon such charge shall be by him entered upon the next tax roll as a charge against such premises and shall be collected and the lien thereof enforced in the same manner as general City taxes against such premises are collected, and the lien thereof enforced; provided however, where notice is given that a tenant is responsible for such charges and services as provided by Section 21 of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, no further service shall be rendered such premises until a cash deposit of not less than Twenty ($20.00) Dollars shall have been made as security for payment of such charges and services.

In addition to other remedies provided, the City shall have the right to shut off and discontinue the supply of water to any premises for the nonpayment of sewer rates when due. If such charges are not paid within thirty (30) days after the due date thereof, then water service to such premises shall be discontinued. Water service so discontinued shall not be restored until all sums then due and owing shall be paid, plus a turn-on charge of Ten ($10.00) Dollars

PART II. Ordinance No. 74-28 00A, an Ordinance to Amend Section 4.01 of Ordinance No. 71-28, is hereby repealed in its entirety.

PART III. "We - and probably the rest of humanity - are relatively unmoved by the undramatic concept of preventive medicine for millions. It certainly lacks the panache of a desperate flight over a dangerous mountain pass on a foggy night to bring snake antivenom to a stricken child.

Novi, Northville seek grid titles via land

Wildcats hope to restore glory

The trouble with building an outstanding, winning football program is that you'd better win consistently.

No one knows that better than John Osborne, who's been Novi's only grid mentor in the nine years the school's been fielding a team.

Osborne's small, quick teams have won three Southeastern Conference championships, produced little all-American (college) Jim Van Wagner and put together a 21-game winning streak from 1971 to 1974.

But the Wildcats fell on hard times last year, going 3-6 overall and 3-4 in league play.

The natives are restless this year.

Osborne may have just the thing to cure itchy fans, a three-game winning streak from 1975, 15 returning starters and lots of optimism.

"I definitely feel we have a chance to win the SEC. Those three wins are a boost to the boys - and I have that senior experience."

That experience returns in the persons of senior runners Andy McComas and Andy Raddant and senior quarterback Randy Wroten. Junior returnees Tony McCarty and Tom Morris add

Winner to be king of road

It'll be Wildcats vs. Mustangs.

Southeastern Conference vs. Western Six. Class B vs. Class A.

Oakland County vs. Wayne County. Novi vs. Northville

The two Eight Mile Road rivals kick off the 1976 high school football season at 8 p.m. Friday at Northville High School in what promises to be a hard-hitting game between two teams which have good shots at winning their respective conference titles.

This is the sixth straight year the two teams have met.

Both teams are coming off three-game winning streaks from-disappointing 1975 seasons, and both teams boast veteran senior teams.

Northville has size and strength. Novi relies on speed and quickness.

Northville uses the I-formation offense, geared for powerful running attacks that prefer to go straight at the opposition.

Novi plays option football, preferring to run wide, away from bigger teams to neutralize their aggressivness.

Senior quarterback Greg Armstrong will open at quarterback for the Mustangs and will be complemented by running back Dennis Singleton.

Armstrong will have a veteran offensive line in front of him, one of the biggest Northville has ever fielded, according to assistant coach Chuck Apap.

The defense will run the standard five-two and be anchored by star nose guard Mark Morland, linebacker Kevin Corcoran and defensive halfbacks Tim Conder and Armstrong.

Novi's wide open attack will be spearheaded by quarterback Randy Wroten. A much improved passer from last year, Wroten's coach John Osborne is confident with the senior at the helm of his razzle-dazzle offense.

Experienced runners Tony McCarty, Andy McComas, Tom Morris and Andy Raddant join Wroten in the offensive backfield.

The defensive and offensive lines are anchored by Jon Buck and John Pisha, two 200-pound senior tackles.

Osborne uses the angle defense which emphasizes quickness.

Shonta says Novi's speed doesn't present too many problems, although he will use a different defense in the game.

Shonta says there's no advantage or disadvantage to playing Novi, a Class B school. "I don't think the class makes that much difference; their kids hit as hard as anyone else.' Osborne likes to play the Class A school.

"It's a feather in our cap if we beat them."

So far Osborne leads in feathers, 3-2. In the five years, Novi has won the first three games, 14-13 in 1971, 26-6 in 1972 and 27-18 in 1973.

But Shonta has turned Northville's football fortunes around and the last two years his Mustangs have been champions of the block, 7-0 in 1974 and 20-6 last year.

The two schools decided to continue their rivalry after first discussing the idea of dropping it.

Under complex rules, a high school team qualifies for the state tournament based on a point system. A Class A school gets fewer points if it beats a Class B school.

This situation hurts Northville but aids Novi. "We decided that the rivalry was too important," says Shonta, who feels his team can still score a lot of points with a victory over Novi. We pull for them the other eight games. The better they are, the more points we get," reasons Shonta.

spread to 35 seconds," Redmond said.

One of the Mustangs' top runners, John Coram, missed Saturday's meet because of an injury.

Senior Bob Gould led the harriers with a fifth place finish, while four other members of coach Ralph Redmond's team finished in the top 50.

The annual meet attracted 26 of the state's best Class A cross country teams, and 175 of Michigan's finest harriers.

"I thought the kids did a real nice job out there," said obviously pleased Redmond.

"They've been knocking on the door down there for the last couple of years and finally got a trophy. As far as I know, this is the first trophy Northville's ever won in cross country," said the seven-year cross country and track coach.

The Mustangs placed sixth at last year's meet.

Brighton captured the team award with 84 points. Host West Bloomfield finished second with 98 points and Northville was third with 127. Gary Parentrau of Swartz Creek was the individual winner with a time of 15:30. Gould was clocked in 15:57. Parentrau's team 'finished fifth with 158 points while perennial power Birmingham Brother Rice finished 20 points behind the Mustangs. Gould and junior Don Wilber made the meet's alltournament team which honors the top 25 finishers. Wilber, a junior, finished 11th and won special praise from his coach.

"We were looking for momentum in the race and Wilber gave it to us. He did a whale of a job," Redmond said.

Sophomore Jeff Johnston broke Novi High School's country cross record Saturday in a losing cause for the Wildcats.

The 10th grader finished 80 seconds ahead of teammate and senior co-captain Mark McKenney. But the one-two finish wasn't enough to beat Gabriel Richard, as Novi lost its opening meet, 25-30.

The meet was held on Cass Benton's three-mile course. "I was encouraged by the results, we ran some excellent times for us," said harrier coach Norm Norgren.

Johnston's effort topped Kirk Rosey's record of 17:33. After Johnston and McKenney, Norgren's greatest concern, a lack of depth, popped up to plague his Wildcats.

"We just ran out of bodies after those two," Norgren said. "The next nine finishers were all from Gabriel Richard.'

Four sophomores rounded out the Wildcats' scoring. Rahul Sanghui, running with an injury, finished 12th, while Paul Young, Todd Spielman and Mark Byberg finished 13 through 15 respectively.

"I think Jeff's performance indicates he's going to be a super caliber runner in the future," said Norgren, who's going recruiting within his own school this week to encourage ninth graders to come out for cross country. "I'm hunting for more middle line runners," he explained.

Northville's- Wally Armstrong deflected Tripp's conversion try and Northville went into the locker room at halftime leading 7-6.

Following Plymouth's two quick scores in the third quarter, the Mustangs came galloping back primarily because of two penalties against Plymouth.

Jim Zayti returned a kick off 31 yards to the Northville 41-vard line.

The drive stalled at their own 45 and Northville was forced to punt. But Plymouth was penalized on the punt forhaving too many men on the field.

The referees tacked on another 15 yards when Rocks' coach Tom Moshimer complained loudly about the call.

From the Plymouth 35, Lampella hit Jim Marcicki with a 23-yard pass, and then highlighted the drive with an 8-yard touchdown pass to Bob Bloomhoff with 2:21 left in the quarter.

Jeff Moon hit on the extra point to make the score 20-14. Northville got, one final break in the fourth quarter when Fred Mitchell, who played outstanding defense all night, recovered a Plymouth fumble at the Rocks' 27-yard line.

The Mustangs moved the ball to the one-yard line. There the Plymouth defense held for four downs, thwarting Northville's chance to knot the game.

Late in the game, Plymouth intercepted a pass at the Mustangs' 15-yard line. With 17 seconds left, Tom Hibler scored from the two. The point was missed but Plymouth won the game 26-14. Northville was penalized seven times for 70 yards, while Plymouth 'was nailed five times for 45 yards

Another reason for millage defeat

By STEVE RAPHAEL

When young James Keyton strode to the plate or rambled out to the pitcher's mound recently, the earth must have shook, opposing players must have trembled, and parents in the stands must have gasped.

For 13-year-old James Keyton is 6' 3" tall and weighs 234 pounds.

He is the pitcher-first baseman for the Lansing Junior League team which captured the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association (MRPA) state tournament held at Northville's Thomson Field the final Thursday in August.

And the East Germans think they have physical specimens!

The analogy, unfortunately, goes beyond physical comparisons.

For even though James Keyton, himself, could have led any team in the state to any title - including the Detroit Tigers - his team was, according to people at the tournament, hand picked.

The best players in the Lansing area reportedly were recruited to play as a team before the baseball season began.

Northville teams on the other hand are generally picked by a draft system. Rosters from past years are frozen with the remaining boys drafted.

Although what Lansing did was perfectly legal, it shows that some people will go to any length to win (indeed, the Lansing team played a 35-game schedule this summer. Most junior leagues play half that number of games), be they East Germans, who pick out their youngsters to compete in certain sports at age six, 13-year-olds who are molded to form an elite baseball team, or 7-year-old boys pushed to play tackle football.

One over-zealous parent, coaching a group of youngsters age 7 to 11 in Atlanta, praised one of his players for being "the best 7-year-old (football player) in the country.

It's enough to make you sick.

But all of this comes to mind in regards to the township voters' defeat last month of the half-mill property tax increase which would have supported a very comprehensive recreation program.

On the surface, the defeat looked like another typical taxpayers' revolt.

Not only did recreation feel the crush, but library millage fell, too. While the voters were saying no to brains and brawn, they were okaying an increase for police

Law and order is important to a lot of people these days, not just Detroiters.

It would be easy to dismiss the August primary vote as one more insensitive, me-first kind of vote.

But John Swienckowski, an incumbent on the Township Board, who won the primary nomination last month, wasn't so quick to jump on that bandwagon.

"Many parents may think that their children already have enough organized things to do," said the former football palyer and now orthopedic surgeon who claims athletes as patients.

Maybe Swienckowski is right. After all, no one bothered to pick the minds of the voters.

Maybe parents in Northville are sick of seeing the over-emphasis in sports. Maybe they don't like the idea of 6-year-old East Germans being pushed into sports.

Or 13-year-old giants being hand-picked to win championships in games that are supposed to be fun.

Maybe they don't want their seven-year-olds to be the best football players in the country, just the best kids.

Wixom eyes CBD revitalization

Weighs senior housing needs

An assessment of current housing conditions, needs for senior housing, central business district rehabilitation and possible programs to correct inherent problems were presented to a joint meeting of the Wixom Planning Commission and City Council Monday night. In a study undertaken by city planning consultants Villican and Leman, and funded through the Community Block Grant Program, housing conditions throughout the entire city were examined. The resulting field report and possible avenues for implementation were discussed.

Basis of the study was an exterior survey of homes by a team of consultants who also established the criteria in which to judge the areas and finally,a judgment of condition.

Presented by Patrick Brunett, who advised the survey was done by simply observing the exteriors of structures, a map of the city was colored in showing areas in need of rehabilition.

Brunett said that although there were some 100 homes in need of different levels of repair, no areas were found in the city that should be completely cleared. It was also pointed out that surrounding environment plus older, smaller homes mixed with new, up-to-date structures could feasibly drop an area into a lower criteria judgment.

The criteria used by the team was divided into five levels. Those areas including parts of Hickory Hill, all of Highgate, Northridge and Leisure Co-op received top' rating as being adequate in size, well maintained, stable and relatively new.

Level two homes were judged to be somewhat older, smaller, and not as well maintained but of good original construction. Included in that grouping were parts of Eirch Park and other scattered areas.

Falling into_group three showing minor deterioration with roof, paint and gutter problems were homes along Pontiac Trail, Wixom Road but most importantly, the Indian Lodge Apartments.

Level four homes showing moderate deterioration with , some missing roof and siding materials could be found along Beck Road as well as other pocket areas. No homes were reported found in what was suggested level five - those homes considered to be sub-standard and in need of total removal. Following the judgment criteria, Brunett said the types of treatment or response to the problems that could be put into effect by the, city included proper application, up-dating and enforcement of codes and "Homeowners ordinances. should be encouraged to keep properties up to standard," he commented.

The second treatment was determined to be rehabilitation — an on-going procedure carried out by the homeowner with federal funds used to finance the upgrading.

In that particular part of the program, the city would need to develop guidelines to determine those homes in need of assistance, determination of eligibility and how assistance should be provided," Brunett said.

"The next step is deciding where to start. The city will have to look at the areas in poorest condition and put most of their energy in those areas.' Assistant to the Mayor Bernard VanOsdale said the monies available for the rehabilitation program are limited but the project could not be put off much longer. According to VanOsdale, federal funds from the Community Block Grant Program are available with part of the first years' funding already used to purchase parkland. Remaining funds have been set aside for the acquisition of land for a senior citizen development.

Monies from the second year or current grant are to be used for the elimination of urban blight and the betterment of the central business district.

Charles Leman suggested the city "take a small step at a time to reach the ultimate goal in the rehabilitation and upgrading of the business district.'

"And the logical place to start is at the Korex Company corner. With that section cleared of a non-conforming business, it is possible to begin to beautify the area with a new structure and possibly even turn the stretch into a park-like setting. It was pointed out by Councilwoman Lillian Spencer that the city along with thoughts of rehabilitation should immediately place great emphasis on the creation of senior citizen housing Long the standard bearer for the seniors, Spencer emphasized the fact that the older people of the community are living in the homes found to be in poorer condition. "They could not afford to repay a rehabilitation loan or even do the work themselves to upgrade their property."

Currently in the process of acquiring a land site for such housing; VanOsdale assured Spencer as well as senior development advocate Johanna Ware that the city was beginning to move in that direction with monies now allocated for just such a project.

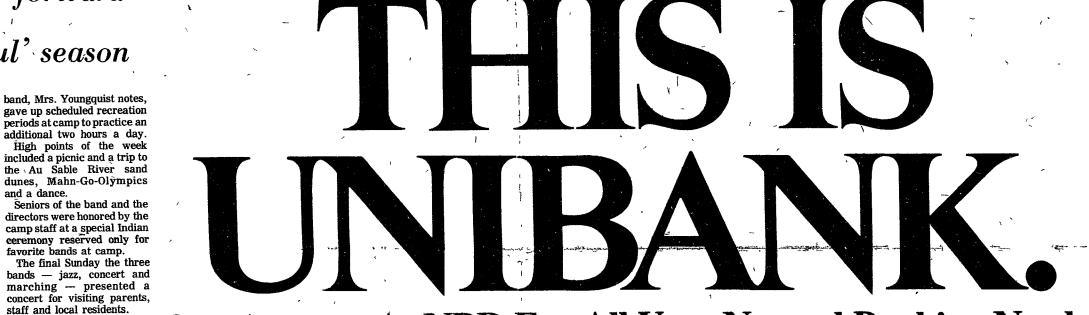

Ware, a member of the Planning Commission said, "We've been recommending this for 17 years - don't you think it's about time we started working instead of talking?"
