

Morning lunches, crowded classes ending here

By STEVE RAPHAEL

Vida Mikalonis has this problem.

She's in an algebra class, and even though it's overcrowded she doesn't want to drop it.

"If I drop that class I'll have to eat lunch third hour and I'm not hungry third hour," she said angrily.

Third hour at Northville High School happens to run from 9:55 a.m. to 10:50 a.m., still breakfast time for a lot of people.

Vida's problem probably will be resolved favorably as will those of 400 other high school students who are finding themselves switched, transferred and moved around this week as the high school administration begins to alleviate the overcrowded classrooms which have aroused much anger among students and parents in recent weeks.

Assistant principal Barbara Campbell has spent a lot of late nights and one weekend adding classes which will ease the crowded classes while letting other students take classes which they initially couldn't take.

"We've added two and one half additional teachers," principal Michael Tarpinian explained.

Although that figure may seem biologically impossible it's mathematically correct. The school system has hired four part-time teachers to teach English, math, science and social studies.

"We're able to add an additional 13 sections now in those four areas. One teacher will have four sections, the others will have three,"

Tarpinian said.

The new teachers are Douglas Dent, a social studies teacher who teaches in the Northville district; Nicholas Dunwoodie, a math teacher; Pat Milliken, an English teacher; and James Urban, a science teacher.

"With Urban you might say it's our urban renewal," joked Tarpinian, who probably was able to laugh for the first time since operation switch went into effect.

The switch began Monday and the students hate it, according to Mrs. Campbell, herself a veteran of these kinds of changes while an administrator in the Detroit Public School system.

"This is all I've done for the past week, and I guess it'll take me a total of two weeks by the time we've gotten this all straightened out."

Mrs. Campbell, who literally flopped in her chair when the interview began, was the fall guy in the drama. She had to tell the students about the changes.

"All I did was go in the class

Open for business!

A telephone rings...the uniformed desk sergeant answers..."Northville State Police Post."

The move from the now extinct Plymouth State Police Post on Mill Street to the ultimate in up-to-date facilities on Seven Mile Road was handled efficiently and smoothly considering the masses of materials and furnishings that were transferred.

Although the Second District headquarters operation, currently located in Detroit, is not expected to take occupancy until October, a complete radio and lien network is in total operation at the new facility.

It is apparent that the building is brand new. Telephone men, electricians and heating and cooling men roam the halls, installing, checking, repairing, or looking.

Delivery trucks appear throughout the day bringing more and more new

Unfair labor charges filed against board of education

Unfair labor practice charges were filed this week by teachers against the Northville Board of Education.

The action was triggered, according to the teachers' chief negotiator, Rick Cross, primarily because of what teachers claim was an untrue statement by the board's bargaining team relative to proposals given teachers.

Specifically, teachers insist that the board "intentionally tried to damage teachers' contract position in the eyes of the public by announcing an untrue statement at last week's board meeting," said Cross.

Northville Education Association Naomi Poe reasserted Cross' charge at this week's board meeting, pointing out that contrary to board announcement a week earlier that the first year of the three year board offer carried with it long term disability provision was untrue.

She noted sarcastically that the board's team had since making its announcement put truth to the statement by finally making the offer.

According to Cross, the board's chief negotiator placed the proposal on the table Wednesday — a proposal, Cross said, that was "back-dated" to make it appear the offer had been presented earlier.

"When we insisted that the correct date be placed on the proposal, he said we were being childish."

The board Monday did not respond to the comments made by Mrs. Poe at the conclusion of the board meeting, but it adjourned to an executive session to discuss the status of contract talks.

Another round of bargaining was to have been held Tuesday afternoon.

Once again a large delegation of teachers attended this week's board meeting.

During her comments at the board meeting, Mrs. Poe outlined four areas where teachers have significant disagreement with the board over contract settlement. These include:

1. Teachers' contention that the special education program proposal of the board is educationally unsound and does not, contrary to board contention, fulfill Michigan Department of Education guidelines.

2. Long-term disability "is a must" benefit in the eyes of teachers, but the board's proposal would not make the benefit effective until six months after a teacher's disability absence.

3. Class sizes must be

Board answers ...

A statement of the board of education was issued at noon Tuesday seeking to clarify the board's position on long-term disability insurance.

In it Director of Personnel Burton Knighton explained that while some form of long-term disability insurance had been offered teachers, it was given to the teachers' association through a state mediator.

"Although it did not constitute an official proposal as such, the association's team was made fully aware of the content of the board's long-term disability insurance proposal," he said.

Last week Wednesday, according to Dr. Knighton, negotiators for the board "officially presented" the content of long-term disability package to teachers. However, he added, "not much progress was made at this negotiating session other than the clarification of long-term disability issue and the board's table offer on same."

The board statement also took issue with comments made by Mrs. Naomi Poe at the conclusion of Monday's board meeting. It reasserted

School deficit cut to $45,000

An independent audit of the Northville School District's financial position discloses that much of the district's $154,000 deficit has been erased.

In a presentation to the board of education Monday, Plante & Moran accountants said that all but $45,391 of the original deficit existing as of July 1, 1975 had been paid back by the end of June of this year.

Originally the board had hoped to clean up this deficit in a single year, but because of cutbacks in school aid during the last year the district sought and received state permission to spread the deficit repayment over a two-year period.

According to Superintendent Raymond Spear, the district has until June 30, 1977 to make up the remaining deficit.

"I am well pleased," said the district's financial administrator, Thomas Goulding, referring to the audit findings and particularly repayment of the deficit. Had the district not suffered a $120,000 cutback in state aid last year, "we would have totally eliminated the deficit," he said.

General report of auditors, in wake of their study, is that the district's financial situation has significantly improved over the previous audit.

Weavers demonstrate hand skills

An exhibit and sale of handwoven articles will be held by the Northville Handweavers Guild in the Yerkes house in the Mill Race Village this Thursday.

The event is planned in conjunction with the Northville Home Tour from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The guild, which now has 30 members, has specialists in such areas as Navajo rugs, Sherpa coats and evening skirts. Techniques vary from very fine traditional pattern weavings, similar to work done in the 1800's, to very contemporary pillows and soft sculpture pieces.

Thursday's display is to include weavings done on four-harness floor looms, tapestry looms and by off-loom techniques.

The weavers point out that in today's homes, whether classic or contemporary, weavings can play an important part in decorating. A fine woven wall-hanging can add more warmth and charm to a room, they say, than a painting of the same size.

Handwoven pillows add rich texture and design while a linen runner gives elegance to a wood table, they add.

The local guild recently contributed $100 to the Northville Historical Society and is working with the society to help restore the Folino Gothic cottage as a craft cottage in the village.

Anyone interested in the art of handweaving who would like to become a member is invited to contact membership chairman Gloria Teeter, 349-7509.

Food, fun—and wine

The Italian dinner she is preparing as a fund-raiser for Carl Pursell, GOP candidate for congress in the Second District, will be complete with wine, Mary Ware tells him as she pours a sample. Hosted by John J. Carlo at Northville Downs Clubhouse on October 16, the dinner dance will be $25 a couple. See In Our Town.

News Around Northville

They were Gayle Fountain, Florence Panattoni, Mary Najarian, Jere Akin, Sheryl Mallette and Eunice Martin.

Following a buffet luncheon Miss Ruth Turunen, assistant superintendent of East Detroit Public Schools, delivered an address, "You've Come a Long Way, Lady." Chairpersons for the morning sessions were members of the society's state resource personnel.

Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, Detroit Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter, will meet at 8 p.m., October 13, at the Plymouth home of Mrs. Earl T. Gibson.

A recipe exchange and silent auction are planned. Any Alpha Omicron Pi living

It will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. October 16 in the Mini-Mall at the corner of Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail.

Members have grown all plants which will be on sale and have collected pine cones and dried materials. Mrs. Kraynek is in charge of a special stationery sale for the club, which was established in 1973 and has both Plymouth and Northville members.

Something good's cooking for Pursell

By JEANDAY

BECAUSE she doesn't believe in giving "a dab of food" even if an event is a fund-raiser, Mary Ware has consented to prepare a true Italian dinner complete with wine for Senator Carl Pursell October 16 in the Northville Downs Clubhouse.

John J. Carlo, executive manager of the downs, is hosting the public dinner at 8 p.m. with dancing to follow.

Supporters of Pursell, GOP candidate for congress in the Second District, are invited to form groups and may reserve tables as they buy the $25 a couple tickets.

Mary Ware, her husband, Donald, and a host of cooperating relatives previously have donated their talents to serve Italian dinners as benefits for Northville Historical Society. Therefore, when the Wares flew back from a month in California last weekend, Carlo and Mrs. Margaret Zayti, downs' recording secretary, found it natural to seek her talent for the lasagna dinner.

The Wares had been in San Diego visiting son and daughter-in-law, D. J. and Carol Ware, and their two grandchildren. Accompanying them was Ware's aunt, Mrs. Rachel Hinman, a former Northville resident now living in Fairhope, Alabama, and Mrs. Andonessa Falucci of New Baltimore, grandmother of John Genitti.

Mary Ware adds that her political involvement on her return was almost foreseen as they "shook Gerald Ford's hand while visiting Yellowstone." The President's appearance there coincided with their visit to see Old Faithful.

The reasonable price, Mrs. Zayti points out, should make it possible for the event to be a fun evening for the community as well as a fund-raiser.

Planners are hoping to sell 500 tickets. They're available now at the State Farm Insurance office of Paul Folino, one of the originators of the idea; John's EMB Market; Les Bowden Insurance; Northville Downs and The Northville Record office.

For table reservations or more information call the downs at 349-1000.

HOMEcoming weekend for Northville High is Friday and Saturday, October 15-16, with the Friday night game against the Harrison Hawks having more excitement than usual as sportscasters are calling the Hawks and Mustangs "probably the two best teams in the league." The game could be for the league championship.

The traditional homecoming dance will be the Saturday night at the high school with the theme, "It's a Small World."

TOWN HALL, which opens at 11 a.m. Thursday, October 14, with Alan Jay Lerner at the Plymouth Hilton Inn, expects a near-capacity ticket sale this season.

The Academy Award film maker whose name is forever linked with "My Fair Lady" will be introduced by a well-known local theatrical "name," TH Chairman Mrs. Arthur Palarchio announces that Joseph Nederlander of the Nederlander Theatrical Corporation which includes the Fisher Theater and Pine Knob will introduce Lerner.

"He already knew Lerner was coming," she confides, "as Lerner had called him to arrange for a pianist for the program."

Mrs. Palarchio may be called at 349-5066 for information about the season tickets which are $12. Celebrity luncheon tickets at $5.25 each also are available.

THIS THURSDAY'S home tour, which begins at 10 a.m. and runs until 6 p.m., is expected to bring record crowds to view the five homes (two Victorian, two contemporary and a new colonial) on the tour sponsored by Northville Historical Society and Northville Presbyterian Women's Association.

The Mill Race Village will be open with tickets at $3 on sale there as well as box lunches (until all 100 are gone.) Lunch also will be served at St. Paul's Lutheran Church from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

While both sponsors of the tour are completing last-minute arrangements, both also are already in the midst of preparations for other upcoming events.

FIFTH ANNUAL Tivoli Fair sponsored by the historical society will be held November 19 and 20 at Northville Square. Mrs. Gordon R. Merritt, chairman, announces that it will be a return to the Danish theme of the original fair. Mrs. James Beaudoin is co-chairman.

"This is an artisan fair," Mrs. Merritt stresses, "with all items hand crafted — the maker will be there to meet visitors." A total of 62 already are signed up but some exhibitor space still is available. Mrs. Merritt can be contacted at 349-5759.

A $1 admission will be charged for the event with Friday hours 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Date for the annual Northville Historical Society ball also has been set. It will be February 26, 1977, at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

A HARVEST FESTIVAL originated in the depression days of the 1930's to help the Northville Presbyterian Church is being revived as a bicentennial project of the women's association. It's next Thursday, October 7, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the church.

"The first one was held on the estate of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Grennan," recalls Pearl Stephens, long-time women's association worker. During the war years, she continues, it was discontinued. Proceeds from the 1976 event will go to the building fund of the church.

Mrs. Stephens points out that the festival is a project of all groups in the church with a hot luncheon being served by the Mariners Club. Baked goods, candy, canned goods, crafts, quilts and a new cookbook will be on sale.

QUESTER Virginia Hayward as area representative of the state antiques organization hosted a recent meeting of top officers of Baseline, Silver Springs, Novi VI and Quakertown local chapters to brief them on upcoming events, including the state meeting in Mount Pleasant October 13.

Mrs. Paul Beard, state treasurer and a Northville resident, is taking reservations for the luncheon and program on rare books.

Today Michigan State Past Presidents of Questers are guests of Baseline chapter for luncheon and a tour in the Mill Race Village. Since both the state and national Quester organizations have contributed toward furnishing houses in the restoration village off Griswold, there is a growing interest on the part of members throughout the area.

Getting close

Sculptor John Chaffee welds part of the skin to the giant two-piece steel sculpture which, when finished will be placed at the new Novi High School southwest of the commons building. Though the project has been going on for almost a year, Chaffee says he expects to finish it by Christmas or early spring. The eight-foot high, two-ton sculpture, which resembles two cupped hands, will be transported to its final location by Ray Warren and Sons Contractors, which is donating equipment for that purpose. In addition, the Waldinger Corporation of Novi has donated its help in roll forming the skin of the structure. The Michigan Council of the Arts also donated $1,000 to help pay costs. CETA funds were originally used to fund the project.

Glantz threatens lawsuit over Thirteen Mile paving

Detroit attorney Gabriel Glantz has threatened a lawsuit against the City of Novi in an attempt to stop the paving of 13 Mile Road and a special assessment of $10 a front foot against homeowners.

The remarks by Glantz were made to The Novi News prior to Monday night's special council meeting at which public hearings were held on six stretches of road within the city scheduled for paving in 1977 under a road program approved by voters last year.

Glantz, who owns the flea market at the old amusement park property, called the $10 a front foot figure for his 850 feet of frontage on 13 Mile "preposterous."

"It's our impression this paving is intended for the use of the trailer park," said Glantz referring to Chateau Estates, a portion of Novi Township which lies on 13 Mile Road.

Glantz said that if the council continues to move on paving 13 Mile Road, "I think I'd start a lawsuit. I don't see how it's of sufficient benefit."

During the council meeting, Glantz also raised similar arguments against the paving. He questioned City Manager Edward Kriewall extensively concerning maintenance of the road and whether the money saved was worth the loss of special assessment to homeowners.

Kriewall maintained that many of the streets under consideration for paving were determined "by usage and existing maintenance costs. Thirteen Mile was identified from a maintenance standpoint. Chateau Estates has put a very heavy burden on 13 Mile."

Glantz maintained that paving 13 Mile from Novi Road to Haggerty would mean the paving "would end almost in a corn pasture." Kriewall, however, pointed out that plans are for 13 Mile Road to be paved eventually to Haggerty, but that it had been held up because the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation had agreed to contribute to the cost because of an eventual exit onto that road from M-275.

Kriewall also noted that because Chateau Estates is in Novi Township, the city is asking the township to provide funding to pay an equal cost for the portion of road that lies in front of the trailer court. He added that he expects the city probably would not pave that portion of road if the township fails to pay its share.

"Have you taken into account that we may someday be a part of the city through annexation," questioned Chateau Estates resident Harry Osborn. "I don't feel you're giving the people in Chateau Estates a fair shake."

Council approved passage unanimously of resolution three which requests preparation, of final plans, specifications, assessment district.

Following, as brought forward by city engineers Johnson and Anderson, is the cost estimate for each portion of road:

Meadowbrook Road from 10 Mile to 11 Mile, $401,086; Meadowbrook Road from 11 Mile to 12 Mile, $304,525; Beck Road from 10 Mile to 11 Mile, $341,071; Beck Road from 11 Mile to Grand River, $215,109; Taft Road from Nine Mile to 10 Mile, $3,367,66; 13 Mile Road from Novi Road to Meadowbrook, $361,318; 13 Mile Road, township share $33,498. Homeowners are expected to pay $10 a front foot.

Close to 100 residents were present both to present arguments supporting and against proposed pavings.

Some residents were critical of a statement by Kriewall that many of the roads being paved were under consideration for paving because of the need to open up north-south routes so that Novi residents will not have to utilize Novi Road to reach the Dayton Hudson Twelve Oaks Mall after it opens in 1977. The roads will also allow residents to bypass Novi Road when traveling either north or south within the city.

"Our total road program includes many roads that have nothing to do with Dayton Hudson," replied Councilman James Shaw to the criticism. "The program is to get all mile roads with a solid surface on them."

"This is being done for the community at large," added

Mayor Pro Tem Martha Hoyer. "The only way this (road) committee could see growth was to pave the roads."

Many specific criticisms of the program were leveled. One resident questioned why a residential user with one car would have to pay the same special assessment figure as an industrial user down the street using many big trucks.

Councilman Robert Schmid and other council members indicated that perhaps the city should consider a different special assessment rate for industrial users.

Joyce Cherf, speaking about Beck Road from 10 Mile to 11 Mile objected to that portion being paved. "We're being triple taxed. We're paying the full millage, we're being taxed on the frontage and then we're going to have our assessment raised. Where do you see us being benefited aside from dust control?"

Jim Erwin, speaking of the paving of Beck Road from 11 Mile to Grand River contended that "the children are going to be less safe if it's paved." Erwin added that despite signs against through traffic, with Beck Road an exit from I-96, Beck Road south of Grand River will be

Novi Council follows suit in funding area fire study

The City of Novi Monday joined a growing number of communities approving funding for a regional fire study to encompass a four-township area.

According to Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall, Walled Lake, Bloomfield Township, Commerce Township, Wolverine Lake Village and Farmington, have approved paying their share of the cost of a $14,560 study which, it is expected, will be done by the Public Administration Service of Chicago.

Novi will be paying $1,468. The money is being taken from the federal revenue sharing fund.

According to Kriewall, if any of the communities involved should decide not to contribute, a reevaluation of costs would be necessary. However, he said that based upon the communities which have already agreed to contribute, "It indicates great support to look into the concept."

Kriewall added that the study would not cause the city to hold up any of its plans concerning additional fire department stations.

"We're not planning on delaying anything," said Kriewall. "It's our intent to pursue acquisition of property."

As well as approving the expenditure, council also named Councilman Robert Schmid as the liaison and Patricia Karevich as the alternate.

"I have great hopes this will work out," commented Councilman James Shaw. He suggested that the city should consider other areas of cooperation with other communities such as parks.

The regional fire department concept began several months ago with Farmington Hills as the municipality pushing the concept. Farmington Hills was concerned that Novi was planning on building a fire station in the southeast portion of the city when it has a fire station on Grand River in the industrial park, only a short distance from that portion of Novi.

Subsequent meetings of fire chiefs and managers followed until communities within what where the original townships of Commerce, Farmington, West Bloomfield and Novi were involved.

The Public Administration Service, at the request of the group, came up with a $14,560 estimate for a study to determine the feasibility of any form of regional fire concept.

Specifically the study will 1) review the present systems, 2) evaluate the present system and define needs, 3) identify and compare cooperative or consolidated arrangement alternatives and select the most desirable arrangement, and 4) prepare a detailed plan of implementation.

Kriewall has supported spending the funds for the study.

"It will be well spent," he said earlier. "It involves an awful lot of research. You're dealing with many communities and they all operate differently. To piece it all together will be quite a task."

The possibility of regional Emergency Medical Service (EMS), also exists and is being studied.

Breakdown of costs for the study alone is as follows: Commerce Township (including Wolverine): $1,998; Farmington, $1,135; Farmington Hills, $5,362; Novi, $1,468; Walled Lake, $391; West Bloomfield, $3,655; and Wixom, $547.

Costs were determined based half upon total population and half upon assessed valuation.

As of yesterday afternoon, Wixom had not taken action on its share although a council meeting was scheduled for last night. Reportedly all communities must make a decision by mid-October.

Helmer submits resignation

Board seeks applicants

Wednesday, October 6 has been set as the deadline for persons interested in being interviewed for the purpose of filling the Novi School Board vacancy created by the resignation of James Helmer.

Interviews will begin tonight (Wednesday) at 7:15 p.m. in the board offices as board members will interview applicants individually.

The board is also planning on interviewing nominees before an October 7, 9 p.m. special school board meeting to be held to appoint the new board member.

Selection of a new board member became necessary after Helmer announced his upcoming resignation at a study session September 2. He cited poor health and business considerations in his decision to leave the board.

"Physically it's getting to be more than I can handle," he said at the time. "I don't feel it's fair to the board or the community to be under this stress."

The resignation was effective as of last Thursday's board meeting. At that session, the board passed a resolution stating, "it is truly felt that his (Helmer's) guidance and involvement in the school curriculum has enriched the lives of children and youth in the community."

It also said that "his efforts to examine the sports and the athletic programs have led to better understanding and future goals."

Helmer was originally elected to a four-year term on the board which began in July, 1974. The 38-year-old Helmer was treasurer for the 1975-76 school year. He lives in Village Oaks and is employed by Western Electric.

The board is required to appoint a successor within 20 days. In the past, the board has at different times interviewed new candidates for vacant seats and at other times taken the next highest vote, getter in the previous election. That would have been Terrance Jolly. It could also hold an election.

However, the board Thursday decided that it would interview all persons who submit their name for consideration.

"They should come forward themselves," urged trustee Robert Wilkins who maintained that if a person is interested, that person's name should be submitted personally and not by a group of people.

Before deciding on the method of choosing a successor, Board President Sharon Pelchat questioned all board members and all spoke in favor of interviewing candidates.

"Interviewing is the method I'd feel most comfortable with," said John Milam.

Mrs. Pelchat also clarified an action she had taken earlier without permission of the board.

"I as board president called the next highest votegetter and asked Mr. Jolly if he would be available and he said he would," expalined Mrs. Pelchat. She indicated that she called him not with the intention of offering the vacancy but instead to ask for the purpose of information if Jolly would be available.

Anyone interested in being interviewed is asked to call Carol Boyer, board secretary, at 349-5128 by the October 6 cutoff date.

Library opening up in air

As of press deadlines Tuesday, no decision had been made as to the opening date for the new Novi Public Library.

While library officials indicate they are hopeful the library will open by Monday, October 4, a certificate of occupancy must still be issued by the Novi Building Department. Dicron Traftallan, Library Board trustee commented, "We're going to open the next day after they give us the certificate of occupancy."

Originally the library board had planned on opening the new structure at 10 Mile and Taft Roads Monday, September 27. However, "construction delays" caused officials to postpone the opening date.

Key Communicators concept approved

Approval of the "key communicators" concept was one of the few items dealt with during last Thursday's Novi School Board meeting.

Though there was little discussion about the key communicators concept, board voted unanimously in favor of making it a pilot program to be reviewed at the end of the school year.

Briefly, "key communicators" is a concept of singling out about 20 respected residents in the community "to tell the school story and to inform people so that misinformation regarding the schools will be avoided."

The key communicators will act in a "rumor control" capacity and not only will pass information from the schools to other residents, it will also pass information and concern from residents to the school administration.

"This group, when organized, could be called together to get ideas and reactions before formal announcements on various facets of the schools took place," stated the board report. "One of the ongoing advantages to this concept is the ability to get the thinking of the community rather quickly by asking the key communicators their opinions regarding almost any educational issue."

Added superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz, "It's another way of reaching out. It's a simple case of

State begins

Despite some poor conditions, work began last week on ground preparation for the renovation of the Novi Road-I-96 interchange. First step in the renovation will be construction of a temporary bridge to divert Novi Road traffic while a new permanent seven-lane structure is constructed. Work on the multi-million dollar project is expected to be completed late next year. This picture was taken south of I-96 and west of Novi Road.

Northville PTA News

Volunteer mothers check elementary attendance

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a new compilation of Northville PTA news by volunteer Joan Mandell, 349-6563, which will appear on the last Wednesday of the month.

More than 50 volunteer mothers are participating in an attendance check program at Winchester school this fall.

Begun as a pilot program to help insure children's safety last year by the PTA, the attendance committee of mothers has grown from 30 to 50 members.

Parents are asked to call the school between 8 and 8:45 a.m. to notify of any child's absence. A volunteer mother on the attendance committee comes to the school about 9:05 a.m. By this time the school secretary, Ruth Wilson, should have received most of the absence calls.

Shortly after 9 a.m. teacher absence reports are brought to the office. The volunteer then checks the calls with the list, adding any continuing absences already reported.

A call is placed to the home. If there is no answer, the volunteer then checks the father's business number and then neighbors.

Since there are many children who go home for lunch at Winchester, Mrs. Willene McDuffie, who heads the attendance committee, reports, the school secretary also checks on any child who does not return after the lunch hour.

Silver Springs School reports a similar attendance check program run by volunteer mothers, saying it is one of the "most worthwhile committees" at the school. It has been of service to parents of both children who walk as well as to those who ride the bus.

AMERMAN SCHOOL

Wednesday, October 13, will be a fun-filled evening for Amerman School families. They will have the opportunity to have dinner, outfit their families for winter and do some early Christmas shopping.

The first event of the evening will be a pancake dinner which will be held from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the school in the morning on October 7, 8, 11 and 12. They will also be sold at the door. The cost per family is $7 or $1.50 per adult and $1 per student.

Parents are then invited to attend a "bring and buy" sale. Used but good winter outerwear and sporting goods will be offered at a substantial savings. This is a "never been tried before in Northville" fund raising event that will benefit the school and the purchasers.

Following the sale, parents may purchase new books at the annual book fair in the library. The books have been chosen with respect to the various age groups and are an excellent Christmas gift bargain.

Chairpersons are Marcia McConville, book fair; Roseene Richcreek, pancake supper; Joan Swanson, "bring and buy" sale; committee members and PTA board members are working to make this evening a successful PTA venture.

COOKE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Journalism students under the direction of Mrs. Carol Pasco, are publishing their first of 10 editions of the "Cooke Chronicle," a newspaper written by the students and containing profiles of Cooke teachers and students, jokes and games, want ads, news of school activities, and other items of interest to both students and parents.

Willene McDuffie makes an attendance check

Subscriptions were recently sold for 75 cents. Individual copies may also be purchased. The newspaper is being printed at the high school by the printing classes.

Mrs. Agnes Peace, Cooke Middle School secretary, received help each day from eight students. These aides spend one hour a day in the school office running errands, delivering forgotten student lunches, printing the weekly school calendar and answering the phone whenever Mrs. Peace is absent from the office. The students chosen for office aides this year are: Mark Harris, Marci DeRupa, Steve King, Kathy Norman, Beth Ross, Kent Downey, Amy Stuart and Linda Schneider.

Mrs. Jean Presten from the Wayne County Department of Health was at Cooke Middle School Sept. 24, 27 and 28th to do vision screening. Through this program each year, 7th & 9th graders are checked for vision problems. Recommendations for further testing are suggested to parents when a child is found to have a vision problem.

Cooke Middle School has a newly elected PTA President, Mrs. Joseph Traudt.

SILVER SPRINGS SCHOOL

Silver, Springs "76-77" school year is off and running.

In September, Principal Nancy Fieldman and the teachers held an open house to meet the parents of their students, and for the children to show their classrooms to Mom and Dad. The PTA hosted a potluck dinner before the open house in the school gym. Each learning center had either the main dishes, salads or desserts. Everyone enjoyed the food (even acquired some new recipes), met some new faces and shared a laugh with old friends. The children, especially, enjoyed having dinner with their parents and their teacher.

The next Silver Springs event is the annual pancake and sausage breakfast now in the planning stages for Saturday morning, October 9 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

SILVER SPRINGS STUDENT REPORT

On the first of August Mr. Balutowicz received an unusual package, a beehive. Mr. Balutowicz has a center on the bees for the class. The beehive is in a box. A tube goes through the wall to the outside of the building. The class can watch them carry nectar and pollen into the hive

Hopefully it will last a long time. Our class is studying bees because we are curious about them. There are three kinds of bees; the queen, the drone and the workers. The queen lays 2,000 to 3,000 eggs a day. The workers are all female. The drones are the only males.

It is something wonderful to watch and I am sure you would think so yourself. The bees just got settled and began to work a few weeks ago. The 5th and the 6th graders like working with the bees, it is much fun.

MORAINES SCHOOL

Moraine's PTA is busy taking orders for sweatshirts and tote bags during the remainder of the month of September. The sweatshirts will be dark blue with gold letters spelling Moraine on the front of them. The adult shirts will cost $4.50, the children's shirts will cost $4, and the tote bags will cost $2 each.

With chilly fall days now here, the sweatshirts should be the perfect thing for outdoor play, sellers say.

Frost beater

Helping Frank Palmer and Stanley Pell of Beverly Manor Convalescent Center at 24500 Meadowbrook Road in Novi gather flowers before the frost last weekend was Kay Wrublewski, chairman of the Village Creek Garden Club project at the center. Almost the entire club membership, she reports, assisted residents in planting and maintaining a vegetable and flower garden. Lots of blooms as well as a lively interest in horticulture resulted.

Benedict Arnold's trek still rigorous adventure

"We've lost two canoes and a man."

Sound like a report from an early-day expeditionary force?

Not so, but almost, as Northville Historical Society members and friends will hear at 8 p.m. October 28 as Douglas W. Marshall recounts his adventures as part of a University of Michigan team that retraced the wilderness trek of Benedict Arnold. Arnold nearly 200 years ago was dispatched by General Washington with 1,000 American soldiers to cross 250 miles of scarcely known wilderness from Cambridge to Quebec. The ill-fated mission took 46 days.

Marshall, curator of maps for the William L. Clements Library at the University of Michigan, as part of the 1973 team took 19 days.

In his talk, "On the Trail of Benedict Arnold," in the Mill Race library Marshall will tell of obstacles encountered that nature had also placed before the original force, plus numerous man-made ones.

Tickets for the illustrated lecture are $1.50 and are limited to 100.

The special presentation is being made through cooperation of the University of Michigan Extension Service with Northville Historical Society members having first opportunity to buy tickets.

After October 11 remaining tickets will be available to guests and friends. Checks should be sent to Jacqueline C. Daniel, 417 West Dunlap, Northville.

Marshall has been in his present position with the Clements Library since January, 1970, coming to the university from San Francisco where he was director of college relations for Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Novi bond bids too high despite favorable rating

Despite a higher than anticipated rating from Moody's and Standard & Poor's, bids received for financing water bonding and road bonding projects were rejected by Novi City Council Monday as out of line with the current bond market.

According to Financial Consultant Robert Bendzinski of Bendzinski & Company, "The municipal bond market has tightened up between Friday and Monday. It's an external matter nationally because you have an oversupply situation. I'm a firm believer these are terrible bids."

Being sold were $2 million in water bonds as approved by voters, which will pay for a water main to be extended along Novi Road from 14 Mile Road to the I-96 expressway. Eventually it will extend to service the new high school. In addition a $1.6 million bond proposal for the 1977 portion of the road program (see related story) was up for bids.

Only two bids were received on each project, much lower than expected in number. Those bids were each backed by a number of buying organizations indicating that intent was to spread out any possible losses.

The bond issues are to be rebid and Novi Finance Director Fred Todd indicated that as long as bids are received within 4-6 weeks, no delay in either of the projects will result since the city has enough front monies available.

The high interest rates required in the bids came unexpectedly. The city had just received news last week that Moody's and Standard and Poor's, two bond rating services, had given Novi a higher than expected rating based upon submission of specifications of the two bond issues.

"We were anticipating at least a BB rating," said Todd. "We were informed that we received a BBB-plus, two grades higher than expected."

There are eight steps of ratings for either Moody's or Standard & Poor's. For the latter, ratings are AAA, AA, A-plus, A, BBB-plus, BBB, BB and B. Corresponding ratings come from Moody's. The higher the rating, the better. With a higher bond rating, a municipality is usually able to sell its bonds easier at a lower interest rate and to national banking interests instead of local markets.

Previously Novi was not rated, but realizing that Novi could benefit from the rating, Todd recommended taking that step. Bendzinski and Company was paid about $7,500 to prepare the specifications and information packet on the bond issues on which both rating services based their findings.

According to Todd, because of the rating, Novi should expect to ultimately save $80,000 in interest on the road program bonds alone because while the road program was predicated on seven percent bonds, the city could pay as low as 5.75 to six percent.

Todd said Novi is at the point where it will be "able to plan (bond issues) instead of issuing in hysteria."

Personnel okay given by board

A number of personnel recommendations were approved by the Novi School Board at its last regular session.

Salary adjustments were approved for five teachers. They were: Deborah Golding, MA, from $14,087 to $15,332; Margaret Hadcock, BA plus 15, $10,566 to $11,081; Bridget Patrick, BA plus 15, $14,202 to $14,832; Lynn Serenson, BA plus 15, $10,823 to $11,396; Rita Traynor, MA, $12,713 to $13,400.

Board approved Anne Rock as a half-time social worker for $5,188. She is replacing Steven Foley who resigned for another position.

Nine noon aides at a rate of $2.67 an hour were approved for employment. At Orchard Hills will be Sandra Borsvold, Nancy Garner, Joyce Edwards and Sandra Mogridge. At Village Oaks will be Jeanne Franks, Deanna Carnes and Mable Schultz. Noon aides at Novi Woods will be Patricia Korte and Rokelle Brostoff.

Board also accepted the resignation of Edith Olinger who worked in the high school cafeteria.

The board also approved extra curricular assignments for the 1976-77 school year.

GOOD TIME WINE
by Jim Roth

Asti Spumante is often compared with Champagne, but it is a very different wine, similar to Champagne only to appearance. Asti Spumante is made from a grape known as "Moscat di Cannelli" — which also produces Italian Vermouth. These grapes are grown in the town of Asti, south of Turin. Its most memorable quality, one unattainable in Champagne, is a honey-like sweetness, combined with effervescence. Asti Spumante is not as subtle as Champagne, and therefore, a little bit goes farther. Be sure to serve it ice cold, and whenever you wish throughout the meal.

Be sure to visit with us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477 when planning functions of any kind. We'll be happy to help you select the wines for everything from a small dinner party to a wedding for a hundred or more guests. You can save 10 percent on your wine by buying by the case whether mixed assortment or all of one kind. Hours: 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Mon. thru Sat., Noon-6 p.m., Sun.

WINE WISDOM:
Asti Spumante stands up to the heartiest foods, and is especially tasty with fruit for dessert.

Police Blotter

Road construction causes 'fender benders'

In Wixom

A rash of "fender benders" at Pontiac Trail and Beck Road are thought by Wixom Police to be caused as a result of the road construction on Wixom Road and the detour created by that construction. Within a two week period six accidents occurred at the corner resulting in at least seven injuries with at least one person suffering severe injuries.

A three-car collision at the intersection resulted in four people being transported to Botsford Hospital after suffering injuries. Drivers of two of the cars involved were unable to make statements following the accident.

The driver of the third car heading west on Pontiac Trail told police the driver of the first car, identified as Elaine Conroy of Oak Park ran the stop sign at Beck and attempted to make a left turn into oncoming traffic.

The Conroy car was struck by a vehicle driven by Vivian Cramer of Alpena. The Cramer car was traveling west on Pontiac Trail. Cramer's car then slammed into a car heading east on Pontiac who was attempting to make a left turn onto Beck.

Russell Culppepper of Ann Arbor also sustained injuries in an accident occurring at the intersection at 7:30 a.m. Thursday. Culppepper, traveling east on Pontiac Trail slammed on his brakes to avoid a car that stopped suddenly to make the left turn onto Beck.

The Culppepper car went out of control, crossed the road onto the shoulder and rolled over into the field. Culppepper was taken to Botsford Hospital by ambulance for treatment of his injuries.

A Union Lake man and his female companion were stopped by Wixom Police after they were seen leaving the rear of the Wixom Co-op at 1:20 a.m. one night last week. After stopping the car, the police officer saw several small shrubs on the back seat of the car similar to those stored on the west side of the Co-op building.

The couple later reportedly admitted to taking the shrubs. An inventory search of the car found several items stored in the trunk that were subsequently held for proof of ownership.

The couple was released on a $100 bond each.

A motorcycle parked and chained on the back porch of an apartment unit in the Maple North complex was reported stolen sometime between midnight and 8 a.m. September 21. The owner told police the uninsured cycle carried a value of $1100.

Forcible entry to an apartment at the Indian Lodge netted thieves with a color TV set valued at $415. The incident occurred between 7:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. September 21.

An AM-FM stereo valued at $100 was reported stolen from an apartment at the Village complex. In the forcible entry incident that occurred during mid-afternoon September 18, the owner told police he wasn't sure why anyone would want the set.

The turntable was inoperable, there was no turn arm on the record changer and the unit was six years old.

At least $100 worth of malicious damage was done to a swimming pool behind a residence on Nightengale last week.

The owner told police a metal rod had been thrown into the pool ripping into the pool liner. Other items stored on the deck were also thrown into the pool.

The Wixom Fire Department responded to two fire calls last week. One was a furnace fire at a residence in the 48900 area of 12 Mile Road. The fire occurred shortly after 7 p.m. September 20.

A second fire on September 22 occurred in the service room area in the rear of one of the buildings in the Village Apartment complex.

The fire was thought to have been caused by workers sweating pipes on the outside of the room causing an electric wire in a box above the pipe to overheat and start on fire.

The fire started in the outside wall with all damage contained to the service room.

The car belonging to a 53-year-old Union Lake man reported missing by his wife Friday, was found Saturday in some bushes north of Loon Lake Road, east of the Edison easement property.

Paul Hiller, who was reportedly despondent became the target of a manhunt by members of the Wixom Fire Department, Police Department, area residents and two helicopters from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Hiller's body was located at 5 p.m. Saturday, about 50 yards north of where his car was parked, the victim of an apparent suicide.

According to the Oakland County Medical Examiner's Office Monday, Hiller's death was attributed to suffocation as a result of hanging.

In Novi

Exam is set for Wednesday, October 1, for Michael See, 20, of 41785 Onaway, Novi and Daniel Kayko, 23, of 21220 Glenhaven, also of Novi for armed robbery in connection with the holdup at the 7-Eleven Store in Novi October 21.

See allegedly entered the store wearing a mask and carrying a rifle, according to Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner. Kayko allegedly helped See disguise himself with clothing belonging to the Kayko family, and drove the getaway vehicle, said Faulkner.

The hold-up man gained over $200 at the store. A van carrying See and Kayko as well as a third individual was stopped nearby by Novi police and the money recovered. No charges have yet been lodged against the third individual who is from Brighton.

Two saddles, a fleece pad and bridle valued at $600 were stolen September 22 from the Haverhill stables, 40965 14 Mile Road.

Reportedly a truck was driven into an enclosed riding area where the items were taken.

An examination for Kenneth Maxwell, a Novi businessman charged in the arson of Duke's Bar, has been postponed to an undetermined date. The postponement Tuesday marks the second in the case.

A $200 10-speed Schwinn bike was stolen from where it was parked in front of Brown Drugs on 10 Mile Thursday, September 23.

A car spewing gravel as it turned around broke four windows at Country Building Supply on Grand River Thursday. Damage was estimated at $200.

A $400 motorcycle was removed from a carport area at Westgate VI September 20.

A $5000 1976 Pontiac was stolen September 19 from the 45600 area of Timberlane Thursday.

Two CB radios valued at $400 were stolen from a car parked in the 31000 area of Woodstone last Thursday. A vent window was broken to gain entry.

Donald Collins, 35, of Farmington was taken to Botsford Hospital with an incapacitating injury after he lost control of his car while going south on East Lake Drive. According to reports, Collins struck some posts on the west side of the road, hit a fence and then came to a rest against a tree.

Collins was cited for speed too fast for condition.

Robert Fougere of 30771 Tamarack in Wixom was taken to Botsford Hospital September 26 with an incapacitating injury. According to reports, Fougere's car struck a vehicle driven by Robert Henderson, 38, of Livonia. Henderson reportedly went through a blinking red light at 12 Mile and Haggerty without stopping and was struck by Fougere's car, which had a blinking yellow light.

Henderson was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

In Northville

Black's Hardware became the victim of larceny by trick in a set of circumstances similar to those suffered by shopkeepers in the Northville Plaza.

Earlier in the month a young man entered Black's, later asking the sales clerk for some paper to write down some prices.

A blank store receipt was given to the man with the receipt number removed by the clerk.

Just before closing the same day, a young lady approached the cashier and asked for a refund on three plumbing articles worth approximately $15. The receipt offered was missing the receipt number.

In Township

Forced entry to a car in the parking area on Jamestown Circle late Saturday night netted thieves an AM-FM 8-track stereo. A $100 value was placed on the missing unit by the owner.

Malicious damage amounting to $100 was reported done to a car parked on Crystal Lake shortly after midnight Sunday.

The owner of the car and a friend told Township Police they saw a young man jump out of a red car and begin kicking in the doors of the car.

In rural areas

Population spells trouble

People in rural communities have been accustomed to thinking about problems that come with population decline.

Now they need to think about problems that can come with population growth, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

The new population trend in this country is one of growth in rural areas. For the first time this century, except for the Depression years, the population of non-metropolitan counties is growing faster than the metropolitan population. More rural residents are choosing to stay in their home area instead of moving to the cities, many rural migrants of the past are returning home, and more city natives are moving to rural areas.

According to the USDA, most rural communities want to get in on the new population growth. Growth is a sign of a community's economic vitality and is frequently a source of community pride. The growth can result in increased employment opportunities, upgraded skill levels among local workers, and improved local incomes. It can provide support for new public and private services and facilities long desired within the community.

But USDA officials caution that rapid population growth can also strain communities to the point where local governments have a hard time providing essential services. It can exert extreme pressure on land resources. And it can cause social problems stemming from a rapid influx of newcomers to a small community.

David Brown, a sociologist with USDA's Economic Research Service (ERS), says communities experiencing growth and development need to be more aware of the effect of population growth on the community. They need to realize that an increase in population size is not the only population change that must be accommodated. Just as important is change in the composition of the population.

For example, population growth can change the age composition of a community. The result will be increased demand for certain kinds of services. In towns growing through an influx of people in their retirement years, demand for health care services can be expected to rise.

ERS researchers studying rural law enforcement problems predict that growing rural communities will face increased costs for law enforcement. Bill Sinclair, an ERS economist, says that rising rural crime rates are not the only reason. There also has been a general rise in people's expectations for quality police service. Sinclair also notes that a number of rural areas are served by older officers who work long hours for little pay. Where one of these officers retires, two officers may have to be hired at twice the pay.

Although they didn't qualify as winners or honorable mentions, several businesses that entered the Oldest Businesses in Michigan Contest are notable in their own right.

Many of these businesses are probably the oldest of their kind in the state; one business in Howell claims to be the oldest of its kind in the country.

All these firms will receive centennial business certificates from the Historical Society of Michigan.

MATT DAVIS of Northville finishes the scale model which he designed during the architectural design exploration of the 4th annual Summer Youth Program held on the Michigan Technological University campus. Over 1,300 junior and senior high school students from 22 states, Canada and the Virgin Islands participated in the 55 technical, outdoor and artistic explorations. The program's emphasis is on laboratory and field work in areas not usually taught in high schools. Matt will be a junior at Northville High School this fall. He resides at 719 West Main Street. He spent his time at MTU learning the elements of planning, design, drawing sketches and using the sketches for building a scale model.

School to upgrade maintenance

Northville school administrators were given the green light this week to implement recommendations of a professional consulting firm for upgrading the district's maintenance program.

By unanimous action of the school board (one member was absent), it was decided to direct the district's own administrators to implement the recommendations rather than hire the consulting firm to carry out its own recommendations.

Board members contend district administrators are capable of the task and the board is confident greater savings can be realized by in-house implementation.

Recommendations of the Exertia Systems Division of the MOP corporation were disclosed last week along with a detailed critical study of the district's existing maintenance program.

The recommendations called for reorganization of maintenance management, and for far-reaching changes in custodial, interior and exterior maintenance procedures.

Job of heading up the implementation falls to Michael Janchick, the district's new administrative assistant for operations. He has been directed to analyze recommendations and develop procedures and timetable for phasing-in MOP's suggestions that are deemed essential.

Cost of MOP's study was $3,000. It had proposed supervising implementation at an additional cost of $35,000. MOP guaranteed the district would recoup this $35,000 through savings realized by implemented recommendations.

However, in analyzing MOP's proposal, Board Vice-President reported Monday that the savings may not be realized immediately under MOP's proposal. It could take a number of years before all of the savings were realized, he emphasized.

By having the district's own staff implement the recommendations, the district not only would save the $35,000 but also realize some or all of the benefit savings envisioned by MOP, Hobart concluded

During board discussion of the matter, Trustee Christopher Johnson by a question suggested that reorganization of the management structure definitely should be a part of the work of Janchick.

Treasurer Dr. Robert Mandell reminded the board that in past years relatively little of the district's operational monies had been invested in maintenance and that it cannot expect to substantially improve the maintenance program overnight without committing additional monies to the program.

The district's financial director, Thomas Goulding, agreed, pointing out that "we've let operation slide over the years, so to get it up to an acceptable grade level may require some major expenditures." It may require a re-examination of priorities in the upcoming budget, he suggested.

Trustee P. Roger Nieuwkoop, however, took the position that "dollars spent" doesn't necessarily indicate efficiency or quality. He expressed hope that with implementation a better job can be done with available monies.

Library activities told

The two-hour film, "Brian's Song" will be shown Saturday, October 2 in the Community Room of the Northville Square shopping mall. Showtime is 2 p.m.

The program, another library service to the community, is part of the regular monthly Saturday Film Festivals. There is no admission charge.

This month's film is based on the true story of Brian Piccolo, a pro-football player and his friendship with Gale Sayers, a black teammate.

Presented by the Wixom Public Library with assistance from the Friends of the Library, the educational and entertaining "America" film series is currently being shown at the library each Wednesday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Narrated by Alistair Cooke, the series each week explores a different segment of a growing nation. Free of charge, Wixom residents young and old can view history in an entertaining fashion.

This week's episode, "Inventing A Nation", provides an hour-long look at a growing nation from the Independence Hall debates which set the precedence for modern-day politics, to the westward surge of Daniel Boone.

getting more and more trucks and gravel trains heading south while bypassing Novi Road.

"With paving it will be Beck dragstrip instead of Beck River," objected another resident who was opposed to the current 40 mile per hour speed limit. "It will change the character of the road."

Council also debated the method of determining road surface. Though the road program was sold to the public based upon three inches of asphalt surface, the city council appeared interested in examining deep strength asphalt or concrete as an alternative in certain areas where industrial truck traffic may be a problem. Taft Road from 10 Mile to Grand River, the first paving under the road program, is an eight-inch asphalt surface with the difference in cost between the three-inch and eight-inch surfaces being made up from the one mill road fund. The same would apply to any future deviations from the road program as presented.

Council directed City Engineer Harry Mosher of Johnson and Anderson to come back with cost figures to indicate the difference in engineering costs to request bids for three-inch asphalt, eight-inch deep strength asphalt, and eight-inch concrete. It appears the council may want to go strictly with asphalt based upon council conversation and higher cost of concrete. However, some council members indicated that they want all three road surfaces bid in order to make the best possible judgment on road surface in relation to price.

Council member Romaine Roethel also asked that some form of agreement be reached with the school district concerning school contributions for paving of Taft Road from 10 to 11 Mile. She indicated that for the city to know what to expect in payment from the school district on Taft Road from 10 Mile to Nine Mile (where the new high school is located), the city must know what the school district is paying per foot on the other stretch of road.

The school district has gone on record that it will pay the same per front foot figure as homeowners along the same stretch, despite the fact homeowners are also paying road millage monies. That figure remains up in the air as homeowners have begun a lawsuit against the city fighting the assessment.

Findings by the court were held up until the attorney for the homeowners could take a traffic count on the road after school began in the fall. Presumably that count will be after the paving of the road is completed. The paving is expected to be completed within a month.

NEWS BRIEFS

REVISION this week of the school district's transportation policy means that busing of Westridge Downs subdivision is to cease. The board had waived policy recommendations in the Westridge case because of construction activities that made walking of children in this area of Novi, just north of the Northville city limits, hazardous. The board has concluded that construction is no longer a problem and hence, in fairness to other close in areas where busing is not provided, it should be abandoned in Westridge.

NORTHVILLE school building principals have unionized. In the making for several months, union status for these administrators was officially recognized by the school board last week. PUBLIC HEARING on a rezoning proposal to permit erection of an eight-unit apartment development at the southeast corner of East and Baseline streets is scheduled Tuesday before the Northville Township Planning Commission. The 8 p.m. meeting is to be held in the city hall.

School hires architect

Hiring of an architectural firm to develop plans for improvement of Main Street Elementary School and to analyze future use for the Annex building and the parking area west of Main Street was approved by the Northville Board of Education this week.

Hired was the architectural firm of Ralls-Hamill-Becker-Carne, Inc. — architect for the district in past projects.

According to Board Vice-President John Hobart, the contract with the firm is a "standard one" that provides for an hourly fee for feasibility studies and analysis and a percentage fee of up to 10.4 percent of the cost of any remodeling that could result at Main Street.

Remodeling estimate prior to study and planning suggests, he indicated, a cost of from $20,000 to $40,000.

Although the board has not officially voted to open Main Street school next year, it made clear earlier that this is its current intention based on recommendations of a citizens' advisory committee.

Recommendations have suggested that the enrollment of Main Street had been substantially scaled down from earlier levels, before the school was closed, to serve walkers in the neighborhood of the school.

It also has been suggested that the central administrative offices of the school district be moved to this building, sharing quarters with school children. In the event this move should occur it has been recommended that the present administrative building be returned to a community-recreation use for which it was originally constructed.

In its contract with the board, the architect is to evaluate the life expectancy of the annex building, evaluate the Main Street building use and options regarding the division of use; make a site study of the property west of Main Street; evaluate locations and options for a multi-use area; and evaluate required improvements, such as windows, plaster problems, lighting, mechanical, at Main Street. It is also to develop preliminary plans for remodeling at Main Street.

opening up better communication. It's as strong and effective as those people who work at it and we work at it."

The key communicators are to be chosen from various areas around the city and are to be people who come into contact with a large number of residents.

Principals and staff members will be designating individuals for key communicators positions.

Several bids for items at the new high school were approved by the board.

A bid of $43,900 for gymnasium bleachers to seat 1300-1500 persons was approved. The bid came from Laich Equipment Company.

Approval was given to a bid of $48,569 from Michigan School Service for auditorium seating. The bid of Michigan School Service for 1100 physical education lockers was also okayed. That bid was $45,255.

Superior School Equipment's bid of $8,395 for home economics cabinets was approved as was McFadden Corporations bid of $27,898 for arts and crafts cabinets.

Though fourth Friday figures are not available as yet, the board received a report indicating that as of Friday, September 17 enrollment was at 2,878, up from 2,771 last year. The report shows that K-5 district enrollment has increased by 62, while secondary students are increased by 43.

The Novi School District will be holding its annual Torch Drive October 4-15. In 1975, the district contributed $3,066, $1,007 more than in 1974. In 1975, 71.6 percent of all hourly employees contributed an average gift of $7.35 while 80.6 percent of all salaried employees contributed an average gift of $21.70.

Speaking for The Record

City of Novi should use library space

In order to construct a building large enough to grow into and at the same time save money, Novi's Library Board constructed and is opening shortly a municipal library much larger than it currently needs. The structure includes a 9,000-square-foot second phase shell which remains unfinished and will not be used by the library board for an estimated 10 years.

At the same time, city operations remain in cramped office space scattered throughout the community. Top city officials have suggested moving all city offices to the library building except for the police department, fire department and DPW garage.

We wholeheartedly support this concept whether or not a $250,000 public works grant is approved by the federal government to complete the interior work in the second phase.

Since the library board has offered to lease the building rent free for 10 years for the $250,000 cost of finishing the structure, the city by moving would have room to expand while at the same time being able to sell or rent its existing office buildings.

With consolidation of offices, the city could save thousands of dollars annually while, in turn, finishing off the library so that taxpayers will not have to bear that cost (at a much inflated price) down the road.

It is estimated that elimination of an expensive telephone intercom system could save $10,000 a year. Heating and lighting costs for one structure would be lower. Two copying machines currently under lease could be eliminated. Personnel, particularly clerical, could be better utilized.

Even if the public works grant is denied, a $250,000 bond issue would cost as little as a seventh of a mill annually, a small price to pay for what is received.

It is both logical and economically prudent for the city to use the available library space to satisfy city office space needs and centralize operations.

Time will also be provided to plan properly for the day the city will develop its own complete facility when growth dictates that the library requires full use of the building.

Consolidation of city offices into the new library makes good sense. We urge the council to proceed.

Dream comes true

That more than 1,000 visitors are expected at Northville's Mill Race Historical Village during this Thursday's home tour is a tribute to the work and planning of a dedicated group of residents who foresaw the possibilities of preserving and using vintage buildings of the community.

Long before Bicentennial restorations became popular, historical society members were planning the Mill Race Village and park on land given the city by Ford Motor Company.

With a mill stream edged by towering trees this land would be prime property anywhere, but in the city within walking distance of downtown stores, it is a jewel setting.

Thanks to hours of volunteer labor by skillful hands of retirees and historical society members who labored nights and weekends, the old buildings have been restored and function as community meeting places.

Not as tangible as the five buildings now moved to the village, but every bit as important to the community, is the feeling of unity that has emerged as groups that never before had worked together joined to preserve and promote the Mill Race.

"We needed that"

There's a popular television commercial for an after-shave lotion with a punch line "Thanks, I needed that!"

Whenever change takes place, apprehension is bound to occur. So naturally, the announcement last week of the sale of our newspapers caused waves and some nostalgia.

This, despite our firm conviction that our newspapers will continue to operate independently with strong emphasis on local control and community news and service.

But then came the announcement that The Record-News had been chosen by its peers as the finest weekly newspaper in the state. And our sister newspapers — The Brighton Argus and South Lyon Herald — helped pile up the largest number of awards for any group of newspapers in Michigan by winning second and third place honors for general excellence in their respective categories.

Somehow, the old batteries are recharged. With our confidence restored, we can take on the future.

"Thanks. We needed that!"

Political debates?

DALE TOMPKINS

GOOD . . .

Political debates, taken in the context for which they are basically intended — a form of political communications — can be highly successful as determining factors in how people vote.

Thus, debates are similar to television, radio, newspapers, magazines and campaign literature in that they are one more way to reach the voter.

Like their media counterparts, they can underscore a candidate's virtues and expose his vulnerabilities and weaknesses.

The debate format itself enhances the participant. He must be thoroughly educated in his opponent's views and anticipate opposing statements, answers and rebuttals. This takes extensive research before the confrontation.

At their best, debates are a series of short, concise discussions which are relevant, logically deduced and skillfully prepared.

Like other political media, debates are mastered by many who are characteristically persuasive and personable.

Suellen Haas
Novi

BAD . . .

I don't believe it's going to be a debate; it's going to be a performance.

The preparations being made for them borders on the ridiculous and are an insult to our intelligence. By allowing the candidates to lay down all the rules and regulations for the debates, the networks, instead of doing a public service, are doing a public disservice.

When I learn that a presidential candidate has had to hire someone to tell him what to wear, what to say, how to turn his head, in other words, how to be president, I'd very much doubt his ability to govern, initiate policy, or cope with a crisis.

Perhaps they have in mind, if they should lose the presidency, they'd be all ready for a Mr. America Contest. Burt Reynolds and Paul Newman should start to worry.

The debates were the candidates' idea and they should be so confident of their own stand on the issues that they wouldn't have to approve the journalists, or the questions they might ask.

A-plant column blasted

To the Editor:

I am appalled that the Record would print Jack Hoffman's poorly-researched, purely emotional reaction to atomic energy plants in his column entitled, "Giant Fermi-2 safer than mower." (September 8 issue). Mr. Hoffman obviously needs to know some basic facts about nuclear energy:

1— Making the point that uranium supplies used in the nuclear process stretch much further than coal supplies would, Mr. Hoffman states: "The atomic fuel in Fermi-2 will consist of 16.4 tons of uranium pellets, a little over one ton of this fuel will be consumed annually." In his quest for economy, Mr. Hoffman ignores the well-known fact that radiation particles released by these uranium pellets can harm not only an exposed organism,

Who won the first Presidential debate?

Before you answer the question, consider some candid comments given me Monday by students in the Novi High School government class of Del Munson:

- Television viewers, especially young adults, were ill-prepared to digest terminology tossed out by the candidates.

- Questions asked by the panel of news people were too complex.

- The format did not permit, unfortunately, sufficient informal head to head confrontation between the candidates themselves.

- The debate was too formal.

- Because the candidates were aware the first subject matter would be on domestic issues they were able to bone up, memorize facts and figures in fact, which made for a very stilted, artificially intelligent response.

- Both candidates and the press went into debate as if they were addressing no one but "government freaks."

- Both candidates spoke "over the heads" of most of their audience.

- Neither candidate won, neither lost, but the public came out the big loser.

The fact that students did not nor could not pick a winner was not surprising. Few of us could. But quite frankly their near unanimous appraisal that the candidates spoke over the heads of their television audience is a sobering thought.

It triggered the larger question during class discussion, "Why are so many people turned off by politics?"

Consensus of students in this Novi class, which may or may not be typical of high school government classes across the state, is that young people are given too little preparation at the high school level to understand government and politics.

State law requires, I'm told, only a half-semester of government and few public high schools offer more than this minimum requirement. A half-semester gives students hardly enough time to even skim over the basics.

What these students were saying, true or false, is that just as many adults are in the same boat.

Let me give a couple of examples suggested by these government students. During last week's debate, the TV audience was tossed names and terms such as the Federal Reserve Board, government by stalemate, and a whole lot of statistics.

While some of us think we understand these things, the students seriously doubted that many of their peers understood them Thursday. As a matter of fact their questioning of parents leads them to believe that many adults are equally puzzled by them.

Thus, if the public was not turned on by the Great

Debate it wasn't necessarily because the candidates did poorly but because they, like other elements of society—including the press, fail to communicate on the level of the 'general public'. "They need to remember," the students were saying, "that relatively few of the millions of people in this country—most of whom will do the voting come November—are not 'government freaks'."

What happened last week, therefore, is that the two candidates, in hopes of "sounding good", spoke to 'government freaks' and not to the ordinary John Doe, these students concluded.

"Okay, so what do you propose?" I asked them.

They had a wide variety of suggestions. Concerning the larger issue, they recommended more high school government classes. The press should also carry more explanatory articles about terms, agencies, and functions of government that pop up in the news.

Of their many suggestions concerning the remaking of the debate format, one stands out: Dump the panelist of news people and substitute the housewife around the corner, a factory worker, receptionist and perhaps a high schooler about to cast his first vote.

"Maybe with some basic, understandable questions we'll get some basic, understandable answers," they observed.

News from Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
Michigan State Representative - Northville

If you are planning to vote on November 2, but you're not registered—time is running out. Monday, October 4, is the last date you can register to be eligible to vote. The only requirements are that you will be 18 years old by November 2, a United States Citizen, and have been a resident of the community for 30 days.

In addition to a slate of candidates ranging from President of the United States down to County Commissioner and (in Northville Township) township trustees, you will be asked to decide the fate of four statewide ballot issues. I plan to send a newsletter to every home in the district during October which will explain the four issues in detail.

Our Northville-Nowi area League of Women Voters has been providing voter registration services in local supermarkets. For those who are new to the community and missed the League tables, registration can be made at the City or Township Hall. But, remember, Monday October 4, is the deadline.

Last week the House of Representatives, by a surprisingly heavy margin, sent a bill to the Senate that would ban the use of spray cans in which a fluorocarbon (freon) propellant is used. I voted for the bill.

The bill, if passed by the Senate and signed by the Governor, would be effective January 1, 1978 and would ban the use of fluorocarbons in thousands of household products. However, many spray cans are propelled by other substances which are considered safe and their sale and use would not be banned.

Supporters of the bill argued that the ban is necessary because of scientific studies which have shown that the release of fluorocarbons into the atmosphere is causing the breakdown of the ozone layer. The ozone layer is very thin, but it protects the earth from radiation. Scientists say that a reduction of the ozone layer allows more radiation to come through thus causing increased chances of skin cancer.

Opponents of the bill argued that the scientific evidence is not yet conclusive, and that such a law by one state would not have much of an effect on the world's upper atmosphere. So far, only two states, New York and Oregon, have enacted bans of fluorocarbon propellants.

To the Editor:

An area of Novi surrounded by Old Grand River, Haggerty Road and Ten Mile is again up for rezoning as a compromise by our planning board to settle a law suit instituted by Royal Development Company on 43.92 acres of land.

It is proposed that a buffer zone next to the Old Orchard Subdivision be rezoned to RM-2 which is high density multiple family district. Also, two commercial districts B-3, general business district on Old Grand River and Haggerty Roads and B-1, local business district on Haggerty and Ten Mile Roads.

Royal Development Company which had an option on this land dropped their option. There is much speculation on why they dropped the option. One of those which seems most logical is that they are not the first company to get commercial development as far as a general business district in Novi.

Our first main business or B-3 is going in at Meadowbrook and Ten Mile and is going to be completed this fall. Realizing this, Royal Development or Town Center could see that their markets were fading.

Also, the K-Mart Center at Old Grand River and Halstead Roads now in business and the potential development of three shopping centers at Eight Mile and Haggerty Roads as soon as M-275 is completed, we also have another B-3 planned center around the Erwin Farms district to be developed when the Dayton Hudson Regional Shopping Center is partly completed.

Do you know that Novi would have some form of commercial zoned land on each main thoroughfare from Haggerty Road to Wixom Road on Ten Mile Road? As far as I am concerned, this is a ludicrous zoning for this area and to top this all off, if the owner's representative does not get what he calls a compromise, he plans to sue the City of Novi for one million dollars.

To me, this is an intimidation of the City Fathers and a sellout to all the local home owners associations in southeast Novi.

We in Novi must follow our master plan as far as zonings are concerned of this nature and do it now. If we are to give in we will have more and more law suits of this nature. In this case, a compromise is when all parties agree to an action. I personally am a firm believer in compromise and I do feel that the land owner should have his property upgraded. But to give in to every developer who wants a commercial rezoning is completely opposite to our current master plan.

We should in Novi develop our commercial zoned land before we try and zone more and more commercial land. Otherwise, we are going to end up with a situation like they have in Southfield and Westland.

In order to help an over-worked planning board as far as our master plan goes, I propose that a zoning committee of three or more people be set up to work directly under the planning board or in connection with the planning board to point out acceptable new zonings. Many people have proposed a zoning board to help out which the chairman of the planning board said is illegal. Why can't we set up a zoning committee then?

Probably the most important thing on the zoning of this property is that the residents of this part of Novi just don't want any more commercial development in this district.

Council decision

Defer payments for Novi taps

Industrial, office and commercial facilities needing more than five sanitary sewer taps in Novi will be able to defer payment thanks to a resolution passed by the city council last week.

Specifically, council approved allowing those businesses to divide evenly over a five-year period the cost of the taps, plus a 7.5 percent annual interest.

Such a deferred payment was recommended by the Industrial and Commercial Development Committee and Finance Director Fred Todd also recommended passage. He noted that "it presents an additional business incentive for companies trying to locate in Novi, and does not jeopardize the financial condition of the sewer fund." City Manager Edward Kriewall noted that some companies find it difficult if they have a tap charge for 10 taps at over $2,000 each to pay it immediately.

At the suggestion of council, when the deferred sewer payback is worked out between the purchasing business and the city attorney, if necessary a clause can be added to the effect that if the company fails to meet its yearly payment obligation, water could be turned off and not turned back on until the total payment for all taps is forthcoming.

The ordinance revision was unanimously approved by council.

'Bill Sliger made blinger'

To Bill Sliger:

Ok, Bill, you've made a few mistakes through your years of publishing the Record, but this week you made a blinger.

Selling the Sliger papers was big news. It should have been on the front page. Instead you stuck it back in the B-1 Want Ad section. Whose crazy idea was that?

The Northville Record means a lot to a lot of people. It is an old friend and welcome visitor. We like it just the way it is...a reflection of a nice small town. It's a read-it-cover-to-cover weekly. Change is sometimes good, sometimes bad. This is bad, Bill, because we don't want to see your paper change; the flavor is terrific; a perfect blend. But here we are again faced with that word Progress. Or something.

So we hope that everything Philip Power said holds true...with emphasis on "holds." We hope everything about the Record, and everyone working for the Record, and the philosophy that is the Record will always be the Record. If it doesn't Northville won't ever be the same.

Thank you,

Blasts notice of sub' meeting

To the Editor:

Perhaps the Willowbrook Subdivision Association officers in Novi should remember their association members a little better the next time they call a meeting to elect officers.

Such a meeting (the first subdivision meeting since February, was held last Wednesday but I, and my neighbors, received no notice of that meeting until that very day via a mimeographed letter left in the mailbox. The letter was not only the first notice of the meeting that night, it also requested that members interested in having their names placed in nomination contact an association officer prior to the meeting. Certainly by the time people get home from work and have only two or three hours notice before a meeting, it does not allow many people to take the steps requested, even if they are able to attend the meeting.

Ironically the notice urged a large turnout.

I have to wonder if the officers really meant it.

Urges soccer for high school

To the Editor:

Soccer has arrived! The Northville School District should launch the initiative to bring about an interscholastic soccer league for the high school for the spring of 1977. It seems to me that there are several adjacent school districts that may quickly react with substantial interest to such a proposal.

Soccer provides the perfect opportunity to get girls involved in major team sports. The interest in soccer is growing fantastically. The growth is being stimulated by physical benefits to players and by the fact that it's a low cost sport. Varsity boys and varsity girls' soccer teams will be here soon. Why shouldn't Northville express leadership?

And who is to say that an earthquake, plane crash or some other unforeseeable catastrophe will not occur to release the radiation that Mr. Hoffman feels is safely contained in the "box-like fortress" which impresses him so?

The question of atomic energy is too crucial to allow a person who is impressed unduly by novelty and who is unwilling to think any further than the incredible size of the power plant's chimneys to have the final word. The Giant Fermi-2 is most certainly more dangerous than a mower. I urge the Record to challenge Mr. Hoffman to further thought.

Werner recovering up north in Farwell

"Pass along my sincere thanks in The Record", Jack Werner said in a letter to the newspaper this week.

The vice president in charge of the Northville office of Manufacturers National Bank is still recuperating from lung surgery and is on leave of absence.

Well known in the community and among downtown businessmen, Werner succeeded A. R. Clarke upon the latter's retirement from his post as Northville's "banker". Werner was stricken a year ago and his recovery has been slow. He and his wife, Evelyn, have sold their home in Northville and Werner explains they have moved "to our place up north", which is at Five Lakes in Farwell.

He said he has had a "problem with communicating" but is most appreciative of the many cards and letters he has received from Northville friends.

Statement issued Tuesday

Board refutes teacher charges

board contention that the special education proposal "is indeed one that is educationally sound."

Relative to the teachers' insistence that some kind of class size ratios be built into the contract, the statement suggests that the board is as concerned about class sizes as teachers, that it has taken steps to reduce large class sizes, but it points out that contractual restrictions would be costly and "hinder the board's flexibility in staffing and programming."

Finally, the statement refutes a circular delivered "door to door" that calls the special education program a "third school system" in Northville.

Here, in more detail, is what the board had to say about these points:

SPECIAL EDUCATION

"The board's proposal for the 230 day I.S.E. Program is indeed one that is educationally sound. The board's program has received the endorsement of the top officials in the area of special education in the County of Wayne and the State of Michigan."

"The endorsement is of the program and the shortened summer day for the instructional approach for severely mentally impaired youngsters. To quote Dr. James Greiner, assistant superintendent of special education, Wayne County Intermediate School District: 'It appears most reasonable to me that your school day be extended during the regular 185-day school year and shortened during the additional 45 days in order to meet instructional needs and legal requirements....'

'I would be most supportive of this creative attempt to meet the instructional needs of a group of handicapped individuals.'

"Mr. Fred Chappel and Dr. Bert Donaldson, instructional specialists with the state department of education, add the following:

"We have reviewed your suggestions regarding the contracted school year for programming those identified handicapped individuals who are required to have 230 days and 1,150 clock hours of instruction. The proposed contract is in complete compliance with the rules and guidelines of P.A. 198....

"The proposed school calendar also provides for continuous staffing. This, along with the assurance of curricular continuity throughout the 230-day program, makes this proposal a creative approach in meeting the needs of handicapped children."

"The association indicated that the I.S.E. program was fully reimbursed. This is true. The monies to fund this program come directly from the State of Michigan and the County of Wayne, with no direct cost to the Northville Public Schools."

"However, the funds do come from those set aside by the State Legislature for Mandatory Special Education, under P.A. 198. Excessive expenditures in the Institutional Special Education program would reduce the monies available for special education students mainstreamed into the regular K-12 program."

"In other words, overspending in one phase of Mandatory Special Education reduces monies available in other phases. Thus, the board feels that it must be as fiscally responsible in managing I.S.E. program monies as it is in managing K-12 program monies."

Class Sizes

"The association states that class size limitations must be established. Aside from the fact that research indicates that lower class size does not necessarily result in improved learning in the classroom, the board has made every effort possible under present budget limitations to keep class size to a reasonable level."

"This board's concern was evidenced last Monday night, September 20th, when the board moved to add the equivalent of three full-time teachers to the staffs of our secondary schools for the purpose of adding classes and reducing excessive class size in the major instructional areas."

"In addition, the public must be made aware of the fact that class size reduction is a very costly thing to achieve, obviously, it involves the addition of staff members and salaries for same. To establish lower class size limits would not only be costly, but it would seriously hinder the board's flexibility in staffing and programming."

"However, the board will continue to make every effort to keep class size at an acceptable number as indicated by the financial conditions of the district, the building facilities available and the best interest of the district."

Circular

In a circular distributed "door to door", the association stated that the I.S.E. program is a "third school system" in Northville. This is not true.

"The I.S.E. program is a separate program for institutional children, which is administered by the Northville Public Schools. It is separately staffed with its own professional teachers and administrators, the cost of which is not under written by the citizens of Northville. This program in no way reduces the educational benefits and rights of Northville's school children."

Classroom pinch eased

rooms and explain what had to be done. The students hated it."

But the Northville administrator tried to make it as easy as possible for the students.

For the English and math classes, she moved the old teachers to new classes while bringing in the new teacher to the old classes.

"This way all the students had to deal with were new teachers, not new classes," Mrs. Campbell explained.

In one case, a math teacher moved to a new class, but because he is extremely popular with the students, the seniors in the class were allowed to transfer with the teacher.

"We figured this would be the last chance the students will have to be taught by the man," Mrs. Campbell said.

In most cases, students with more flexible changes, that is those able to switch a study hall or lunch hour were asked to make the switch.

"Without that experience in the Detroit system, I wouldn't have been able to do the job this time," said Mrs. Campbell, who probably wasn't the most popular person at Northville High School this week.

"Everyone's down on Campbell," said junior Paula Horst, herself a victim of the overcrowding.

"It's not her fault, she had to do it."

Miss Horst found herself in a government class with 34 students.

"We were sitting three to a desk. Students are rowdier and everyone's goofing around too much when it's crowded," said the varsity tennis player who plans to major in journalism in college.

Howard Hancock was in an inorganic chemistry class with 33 other students.

"It's really crowded. The room's only set to hold 28 students. We have to sit six at a table instead of four. Not everyone was able to do the experiments."

"You get less personal attention and there's not enough equipment to go around," said the senior who hopes to major in business in college.

American history teacher Fred A. Holdsworth is glad the class sizes are coming down.

"I don't know how many students in a class are ideal, but you can't do as good a job if the classroom is crowded." Holdsworth was teaching five sections of history, each with 36 students.

"It's definitely a better teaching situation with fewer students."

Open for business!

equipment and furnishings to the unique structure. Boxes and packing materials are stacked in the two-story lobby waiting their ultimate removal.

Even though there have been delays in the delivery of some needed shelves, filing units and furniture, it's business as usual for the post headed by Lieutenant William Tomczyk.

Some 35 uniformed troopers are currently at work with 12 familiar blue and gold patrol units on the road daily in the surrounding area.

The crime lab, a maze of flasks, chemicals and equipment started accepting work the day they moved in. Admittedly officers say they are not totally organized but keep right at the job of sorting, arranging and filing.

Lieutenant William Tomczyk, post commander, said he was delighted with the building, expressing confidence that the total operation will be running at top efficiency within a month or two.

"There are always 'bugs' in a new building and we keep finding them. Once they are all handled and everything is in its place, we'll feel better," he commented.

Some of those bugs lie in the heating and cooling system. One-half of the building is warm, the other almost icy cold. Thermostats for the climate-controlled building are being checked and adjusted to work properly.

Another bug was found at the gas pumps. Tomczyk said 10,000 gallons of gasoline is in the tanks below the ground but can't be pumped out into the patrol units. The responsibility of just who was to hook the two together is not quite clear, he said.

A forgotten floor drain in the crime lab almost makes an emergency shower unit useless, a sink and running water were installed with the drain pipe ending in midair, and a nozzle marked air can shoot a stream of water clear across the room if opened.

Considering the size and complexity of the structure, Tomczyk pointed out the problems are really no greater than those suffered on moving into a new home. "The point is to get them straightened out."

Even with the inconveniences, Tomczyk and his men are happy in their new quarters. Topping the list is the room they now have as compared to the old post and the facilities available at arm's reach.

Trooper David Sass, smiling from behind his desk, summed up the entire operation.... "Isn't it just great!"

limited, teachers insist, particularly now in view of problems that have occurred this semester at the high school.

4. Board suggested restrictions on teachers' rights are unacceptable.

Particularly upsetting, said Mrs. Poe, is that the board goes about its business as if the labor problem were unimportant when in fact the situation is rapidly reaching the "point of no return."

Sliger newspapers top state contest

The Northville Record-Novi News has been selected as the best community weekly newspaper in Michigan.

It marks the sixth time since 1958 that The Record has been acclaimed winner of the "general excellence" award, annually given to the weekly newspaper for overall appearance and content.

Sliger Home Newspapers (The Record-News, Brighton Argus and South Lyon Herald) walked off with more awards in the 1976 statewide contest than any other group of community weekly newspapers.

In its category (second largest in the state), The Brighton Argus finished second in general excellence; The South Lyon Herald was acclaimed the third best weekly in its circulation class.

For The Record the general excellence award for 1976 has special significance. The Record competed against the largest weekly newspapers in the state under a new "metropolitan" category that includes the highest circulation class.

Overall Sliger Home Newspapers won 17 individual awards in judging done by a selected panel of newspaper people from the state of Oregon.

The Northville Record-Novi News under the management of Jack Hoffman, assistant-to-the-publisher, won second place for "feature story of the year", first place for editorial pages, second place for advertising idea of the year, and first place for use of pictures.

The Brighton Argus and the staff of Managing Editor Roland Peterson won third place for original column (by Dennis Keenon), first place for editorial pages, second place for sports coverage, first place for news reporting, first place for use of pictures, third place for advertising idea of the year and second place for general excellence.

Managing Editor Phil Jerome and his South Lyon Herald staff took second place honors for editorial pages, third for feature story of the year, second for news reporting, first place for use of pictures, first for advertising idea, and third for overall general excellence.

The Argus was nosed out in close competition for general excellence by The Tuscola County Advertiser.

In Class D competition (largest circulation metropolitan category) The Dearborn Guide, Taylor Tribune and Lakeland Tribune finished behind The Record for general excellence.

Behind the Tuscola County weekly newspaper and The Argus in Class C competition for general excellence, the Allegan County News & Gazette was awarded third place while honorable mention awards were accorded the East Lansing

Towne Courier and Livingston County Press.

In Class B for general excellence The Herald finished third to The Charlevoix Courier and Hastings Banner.

Some 300 entries from 40 statewide weekly newspapers were judged in the competition.

Considered in the judging is overall make-up of the publications, quality of writing and pictures, community service, advertising and quality of printing.

Hoffman noted that such awards are "gratifying to the efforts of our many staffers and shop people."

Advertising managers of The Record-News, Argus and Herald are Michael Preville, Donald Golem and Pat Cook, respectively.

Composition of Sliger newspapers at the Northville plant is under the direction of Charles Gross and Ernest Brown.

It's entertainment!

Modeling for males is touchy occupation

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Entertainment modeling is a little like walking a tight rope.

It's teasing your male audience... keeping them off balance while maintaining your own sure-footing.

Even now, in the privacy of their Northville Township home, it is difficult for these two lovelies to come down from the high wire.

They hedge their answers.

Image is all-important, so in words and appearance they try painting themselves as sexy, successful business sophisticates.

But the forgotten child's shoe and socks in the corner of the room unmasks them.

Shelly Newmyer and Lisa Manheimer are sexy, of course, but they are also divorced, intelligent mothers scrambling to make ends meet in one of the most competitive fields in the marketplace.

"Oh, golly, yes, it's tough," Shelly finally sighs, admitting for both of them that behind the glamor is a whole lot of exhausting unpleasanties.

Pretty faces and shapely bodies are essential, but it is their business acumen that sets them apart from the thousands of other young women in the metropolitan area who walk the tight rope.

They now operate their own agency, employing 13 pretty women who, like themselves, work a circuit of restaurants modeling clothing for patrons, mostly male businessmen, generally during luncheon hours but also occasionally in the evenings.

You'll see them as hostesses at the grand opening celebrations for the new businesses in town. And the country club in which your husband is a member may employ them to look pretty and serve drinks when the tournament ends and the awards banquet begins.

They do not pop out of birthday cakes, they do not dance on the bar, and they aren't topless performers.

And yet they are hired as entertainers first, models second.

Entertaining means making restaurant customers smile, relax and enjoy an atmosphere of congeniality and pleasanties. And they suggest to patrons, "without the hard-sell, that their wives or girl friends could look just as pretty in gowns or pantsuits we are modeling."

Personality counts heavily.

Nobody enjoys a snippy sourpuss, least of all the restaurant who wants their patrons to be pleased, to return again, notes Shelly.

"When we go from table to table, we've got to quickly determine if customers want to look at our clothing or prefer to be alone. If they are there on business... and we can usually detect that... we may stop to welcome them but quickly move on."

The most ticklish situations, both girls admit, occur when husband and wife or girlfriend are seated together. "Often times, she doesn't appreciate her man admiring another woman, so we've got to be awfully careful not to offend them. If women are alone, of course, they like to inspect what we're wearing."

And then there's the guy who wants to feel more than the material of the gown.

"Oh, boy, that's really a tough situation. And it happens quite a bit. Although we'd probably like to slap their face, all we can do is smile and quickly back away and move on. It's later, back in the dressing room when we get together that we blow our steam."

Least liked of all their jobs are the golf outings. "Generally, by the time the guys get in off the course, they've had quite a bit to drink and they think anything in a skirt is part of the menu."

"We've got to remember, though, that we've been hired to look sexy, to at least outwardly enjoy conversation with the guests. So you try hard to be pleasant, to mix, and yet to keep out of trouble."

Two personal codes of Shelly and Lisa and their agency, Lee Shels, include — never accept a drink from a guest, and never date a guest.

"I've never violated this code," insists Shelly. Lisa, however, admits that once she dated a guest, "who happened to be an old friend."

All of the girls employed by Lee Shels work part-time. "As a matter of fact," points out Shelly, "most models throughout the Detroit area work only part-time. Very few girls can find full time work. There are far more models than there are jobs."

One of the girls with Lee Shels, however, can soon expect full time employment. She is Kimberlee Foley, who recently won the Miss World-USA competition and will compete for the world title.

Models generally fall into two basic categories, explains Shelly. They are either college girls or housewives.

Frequently, also, they are divorcees. Shelly and Lisa doubt, however, that modeling is a causal factor in these divorces. "I'd guess that most girls get into modeling after their divorces, not before."

"Naturally, though, I suppose some jealousy might develop between husband and wife if she models. But I don't think it's so much that men don't like their wives to be looked at, but rather that they don't like the independence she may develop by working."

Shelly, who lives with her 12-year-old son and 8-year-old daughter, in Northville's Highland Lakes subdivision, has been modeling since before she was married. Graduate of a modeling school, she worked for a period in advertising and later as a photographic model.

Lisa, who lives in Oak Park, hails from Israel. She also is a modeling school graduate and has had similar work experience. She has a 10-year-old son and a 7-year-old daughter.

Operating their agency from their homes, work occupies much of their time. But they date and find spare time for other activities.

Lisa teaches Hebrew at a private school in West Bloomfield, and Shelly sews clothing for her children and is taking courses at Schoolcraft College.

The fact that most of their modeling work occurs during the day means they have time in the evening to spend with their children. When occasionally they

He was joined in the service — attended by a capacity-plus audience — by St. Paul's pastor, the Reverend Charles F. Boerger, and the assistant pastor, the Reverend Ralph G. Schmidt. They served as liturgists.

After the sanctuary service at 3 p.m. the acolytes Francoise Rowe and Jamie Baugous, banner bearer Wade Segrest and crucifer, Mark Zielke.

At the door of the new school addition, located southeast of the church building at Elm and High streets, Fred Sarnes, chairman of the building program, accepted the key from the architect and unlocked the door to the new building in a symbolic ceremony on the addition porch.

A drizzling rain had halted during the procession. Inside the multi-purpose gymnasium of the new building, the congregation gathered to hear a few words of prayer by Pastor Boerger and presentations by the children's band and the adult choir.

Jack Yops of Yops and Wilkie, AIA, Wyandotte architects, and his partner, John Wilkie, were introduced. Earlier, representatives of West Side Construction Company of Allen Park, contractor, were present.

Immediately following the program in the gymnasium a buffet dinner was served by the Women's League.

Installations still uncompleted, such as a special flooring in the gymnasium, it has been used since the opening of the new school year earlier this month.

A snag in hook-up of gas has delayed completion of the addition's heating plant and the addition kitchen.

"Fortunately, it hasn't been too cold so we've managed to conduct classes without much difficulty," an assistant principal explained Sunday.

In addition to the large gymnasium, the new building includes three classrooms on the upper level, two on the lower level. It also includes a youth room, four offices, a large clerical work area, and the kitchen adjacent to the gymnasium.

Offices of the ministers have been moved from the church to this new building.

St. Paul's day school, serving elementary grades, now has eight classrooms, eight teachers.

Cost of the new addition has been pegged at $600,000.

Other participants in the service included St. Paul's children's choir, organist Mrs. Christine Lehl, acolytes Francoise Rowe and Jamie Baugous, banner bearer Wade Segrest and crucifer, Mark Zielke.

Instrumentalists were Vicki Purcell, Mary Jo Marburger, Lisa Youngquist, Michael Youngquist, Michael Ashley, Sharon Thompson, Kevin Busch and Norman Pratt.

The dedication service included the processional hymn of praise, "Our Father's God in Years Long Gone," verses, the Psalmody, the anthem "With the Voice of Singing" by the adult choir, the sermon hymn "Arise, O Church of God, Arise," and a concluding anthem, "Awake, Arise, Go Forth and Rejoice," by the children's chorus followed by the processional.

That processional to the addition, led by the clergy, was followed in order by the school staff, the architects and building committee, the choirs, honored guests and the congregation.

Inside the multi-purpose room the assembled congregation and guests sang "Now Thank We All Our God" and heard presentations by the band and the adult choir. The latter was "A Parting Blessing."

Educational boost

Five new classrooms, offices and a large multi-purpose room are included in the addition dedicated Sunday in Northville at St. Paul's Lutheran day school. Three of the classrooms are located on an upper level, two others and a youth room on the lower level. The spacious, airy classrooms overlook a picturesque stream south of the school. Here, in one of them, is Mrs. Carolyn Srmack, a first grade teacher.

Classes start next week

Presbyterians announce courses

The Session of the First Presbyterian Church in Brighton recently announced a package of eight adult education courses and one tentative retreat for married couples for the 1976-77 year.

Two of the nine planned events are scheduled to begin this fall during the week of October 3.

One of the fall term courses, called American denominations, will be taught by the Reverend Alan Bethea, assistant pastor at the church.

Over six weeks, he'll lead an investigation of the doctrine and development of major denominations in the United States and probe the beliefs of smaller sect groups and quasi-Christian denominations.

The second course, Old Testament I, is the first of a three-semester course in which students will trace the message of the Old Testament as it applies to contemporary life. Church Pastor William Brown will teach the course. Old Testament I will meet for seven weeks. Enrollment in the second and third courses, to be offered in the winter and spring, is not required.

Other winter and spring courses announced include classes on comparative world religions, the problem of world hunger, transactional analysis and Gestalt for the Christian family, and three or four sexuality and sex education courses for various age groups.

The weekend retreat for married couples is tentatively planned to include a meeting, meals, and overnight lodging at Meadowbrook.

Registration for the two fall courses is now open. Interested persons should call the church office at 227-7411 or stop by the church at 224 East Grand River.

Women retreat

Women in Action of Brighton is holding their seventh, semi-annual retreat tomorrow (Thursday) from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at The Pine Hills Camp, 8540 Hamburg Road.

The theme of the day is renewal. Elizabeth MacDonald, a Bible teacher from Detroit, will be the featured speaker. Her topic will be renewed inwardly.

Other speakers and topics include Patsy Clairmont on the renewed tongue, Dr. Gerald Berbaum on the renewed body, Mary Fran Euler on the renewed family, and Bill Brown on the renewed community.

Music will be provided by Shirley Minnie of Fowlerville. Cost is $4 at the door, which includes a beverage but no lunch. Child care will be provided during the day at the Brighton Wesleyan Church for $1.50 per child or $2 per family.

Church Capsules

St. Paul's Lutheran church in Hamburg has planned a rummage sale for Friday and Saturday, October 15 and 16.

Persons with items to donate should bring them to the church at 7701 East M-36 on October 14.

The Reverend Richard Anderson, pastor at St. George's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Brighton, is conducting a Bible study session tomorrow (Thursday) at 1 p.m. at the church. Interested men and women are invited to attend.

An Awana youth program for youngsters in third through eighth grades is beginning to meet in October at the First Baptist Church of Wixom.

Sessions will be held weekly on Wednesdays, from 6:45 to 8:30 p.m.

For more information, call the church office at 624-3823 or Walt Miller at 229-5317.

The Sociables, a fellowship group for adults of St. Joseph Catholic Church of South Lyon, will make a weekend trip to Toronto the weekend of October 15-17. Price for the outing is $75 which includes round trip fare, hotel accommodations at the New Chelsea Inn, dinner at Eddie's Warehouse and a theatre ticket. If 35 persons sign up for the weekend, transportation will be by chartered bus from South Lyon. For a smaller group, train transportation will be provided from Windsor.

Friends In Service Helping (FISH), an ecumenical group that ministers to needy families in the Brighton area, is in need itself.

FISH's pantry, located in the Office of the First Presbyterian Church on East Grand River, has been depleted and persons in need of temporary help are being turned away.

Persons who can donate non-perishable foods should drop items off at the church.

Home honored

South Lyon's newest parsonage will be dedicated next Sunday (October 10).

Dr. Milton Bank will conduct the afternoon ceremonies at the United Methodist parsonage which is located next to the church facilities on South Lafayette Street. The brick home which encompasses approximately 1700 square feet was built during the summer at a cost of $44,000 by Cheek and Boyd Contractors.

Dr. Bank and his wife, Bernice, moved into their new home on August 14.

The dedication will precede an open house which is scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday. All Methodist ministers of the Ann Arbor District and their wives have been invited to join the congregation at this important event.

Prior to the dedication, the congregation family will hold their first Sunday salad luncheon beginning at 1 p.m. Each family will bring a salad or rolls and beverages will be provided. A donation offering will be taken with all proceeds going for additional items for the parsonage.

The luncheon is planned as a monthly event with donations from November through May gatherings going into the parking lot paving fund.

The new parsonage, complete with a two-car attached garage, includes a large living room, a family room, kitchen with dining nook, three bedrooms, a bath and a half, a utility room, and a full basement.

Sodding of the lawn and planting of shrubs was accomplished by a volunteer committee of men from the congregation on September 18.

Said Robinson, "We are extremely proud today because the filling of 10 million prescriptions represents a tremendous amount of public confidence and support."

THE GOODYEAR AUTO SERVICE CENTER at 301 South Lafayette, South Lyon reopened last week under new ownership. Long-time residents Michael Mills and Gene Coombs are the new owners having purchased the business from the Herbert Bondys who had operated it for some years with their son, Norm.

Mills and Coombs, former owners of the Gulf Gas Station in South Lyon have done extensive redecorating, inside and out as well as blacktopping the area in front of the building. A carpeted waiting room offers a comfortable place for customers. In addition to selling and repairing tires, Mills and Coombs will install shocks, do tune-ups, grease and oil changes, battery charging, exhaust systems, and a variety of other services.

"We'll do everything a gas station does except pump gas. We don't plan to do heavy repair jobs like pulling engines. There are other businesses here to handle those jobs," Mills said.

DOROTHY HERRIGAN, a Northville resident, and her daughter, Melody, have opened a Mirror and Glass shop at Seven Mile and Farmington roads.

The shop, which has been opened since July 1, features a complete line of decorator mirrors, full wall mirrors and mirrored bi-fold doors.

With the prices of homes rising more than 70 percent since 1970 what better way to "fool the eye" than the elusion of more space with the use of mirrors.

The business of glass and mirrors has been dominated as a "Man's Business," with most mirror shops replacing storm windows and car windshields.

"The shop is unique, with attractive and comfortable surroundings. Customers can sit and enjoy looking through many catalogs and books of mirror and furnishing ideas," points out Mrs. Herrigan.

Detroit surveying firm

State's oldest business

A Detroit surveying firm founded in 1828 is the oldest business in the state, according to the results of the Oldest Business in Michigan contest sponsored by the Historical Society of Michigan.

The firm, George Jerome & Company, has been in the same family since it was chartered 148 years ago, nine years before Michigan became a state. George G. Jerome, the current president, is the fifth consecutive son to succeed his father in the business. The company's founder was Edwin Jerome, a pioneer land surveyor who laid out many of the streets and hollow-log water lines of early Detroit.

More than 190 Michigan businesses entered the contest, according to Frank C. Wilhelme, executive director of the Historical Society of Michigan. The society will present centennial business certificates to all businesses at least 100 years old that submitted entries, Wilhelme said.

Other contest winners include the Sumnerville Tavern near Niles and Mann's Feed Mill in Manchester.

Founded in 1835, the Sumnerville Tavern is the oldest business in Michigan still operating in its original building. It was built by Peabody Cook on the stage coach route between Niles and Kalamazoo, now Route M-51.

In the early days, all the guests used one washroom and a single towel. Legend has it that when a guest from the East requested a clean towel, Peabody Cook's reply was, "Stranger, there's been 50 men wiped on this towel this morning and you're the first to complain." Charles and Mary Richer now operate the tavern under more modern conditions.

Mann's Feed Mill in Manchester, dating back to 1832, is the oldest business in the state still on its original site. Located on the Raisin River, the mill was built by John Gilbert, founder of the village of Manchester. During its long history, the mill was destroyed by fire twice — in 1853 and 1924 — and the dam was washed out in 1875 and 1908. Current owners of the mill are Ron and Judy Mann.

As the oldest business in Michigan, George Jerome & Company will receive a framed pen and ink drawing of its first place of business. The three top winners will all receive framed certificates and honorary corporate memberships in the Historical Society of Michigan.

The awards will be presented at the Historical Society of Michigan's 102nd Annual Meeting at Greenfield Village in Dearborn November 3-6.

Honorable mentions in the contest go to seven Michigan businesses founded before 1840.

—The Detroit Free Press (1831), the oldest newspaper in the state.

—The Mennel Milling Company in Dowagiac (1833), still on its original site.

—Bauer Manor in Tipton (1834), a former stage-coach stop still operating as an inn.

—Poole's Northend Market in Algonac (1836), the oldest grocery store in Michigan.

—The Atlas Feed and Grain Company in Clinton (1836), still in its original building.

—The Kalamazoo Gazette (1837), the second oldest newspaper in Michigan.

—Arms Brothers in Milford (1837), one of the oldest men's clothing stores in the United States.

In honor of the Bicentennial era, the Historical Society of Michigan conducted the contest to encourage Michigan communities to become more aware of their business and industrial history.

"We hope that this contest will also increase the interest in preserving important commercial and industrial buildings throughout the state," said Frank Wilhelme, executive director of the society. "These structures serve as significant visual links with our past."

A list of all businesses that entered the contest and their founding dates will be sent to the State Library, the State Archives, and the State Historic Preservation Officer. This information will be used by researchers studying Michigan's early commercial and industrial history.

A nonprofit organization, the Historical Society of Michigan promotes the preservation of state and local history throughout Michigan. It is supported by more than 5,000 individual and corporate members.

A ETHNIC MOTHER'S LETTER TO HER SON.
Dear Son:
Just a few lines to let you know I'm still alive. I'm writing this letter slowly because I know you can't read fast. You know the house when you come home.

There was a washing machine in the new house when we moved in but it isn't working too good. Last week I put 13 shirts in it, pulled the chain, and I haven't seen the shirts since.

Your sister Mary had a baby this morning. I haven't found out whether it's a boy or a girl, so I don't know whether you are an Aunt or Uncle.

Your Uncle down last week in a vat of whiskey in the Dublin Brewery. Some of his mates dived into save him, but he fought them off bravely. We cremated his body and it took them 3 days to put out the fire.

Your father didn't have much to drink at Christmas. I put bottle of Castor Oil in his beer and it kept him going until New Year's day. Will write again next week. Your loving Mother

The mouth-watering duo of cider and doughnuts can provide an extra tang for Michiganians taking a color trip this fall, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Nothing is more delectable on a fall day when leaves are changing hues than the sweet, tingling taste of freshly-pressed cider accompanied by a hot doughnut," stated Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

Visiting a cider mill and watching the machinery work can be unique and fun-filled entertainment for the whole family.

"Children in particular will delight in seeing the unfermented apple juice being extracted by means of a press and then sample the finished product," Ratke pointed out.

To help motorists plan fall trips which include stops at cider mills, Auto Club has prepared the accompanying map and list of 67 southern Michigan operations.

While fall is the peak time for cider mill operations, many facilities remain open through the winter with some extending seasons into spring until stored apple supplies are exhausted.

"Since many mills operate irregular hours, persons wishing to see pressing operations should telephone ahead before leaving home," Ratke advised.

Visiting a cider mill can be a day long activity since some of the mills feature such things as horse-drawn wagon rides, flea markets, gift shops and restaurants.

Some mills have orchards where the apples may be picked while others permit customers to bring their own apples for pressing. The best time for picking apples is from early September through October.

Cider mills are most popular on weekends. Travelers can avoid lines by visiting mills on weekdays.

The cost of cider this fall should range from $1.35 to $2.50 per gallon with doughnuts between $1.10 and $1.70 a dozen.

Bittersweet

A glorious day at August's close
Just as a chilling wind arose
To cool the summer, all but spent,
With fall and winter imminent.

Wonder where the daytime's gone?
Seems longer now, from dark 'til dawn.
It's not much more than yesterday
That spring began, then went away.

The lake reflects a deeper blue,
And wooded greens and shadows, too
As always, come this time of year
At season's turn, when change is near.

Now come autumn's gala days
In festive harvest celebration,
Ever gowned in bright arrays
For our breathless admiration.

Winter will be with us soon,
Its frigid beauty then to reign;
But we'll be waiting for the moon
That brings us sun and spring again.

Charles E. Hutton

UP rivers flow through scenic country

The Upper Peninsula's Ontonagon and Sturgeon rivers flow through some of the most spectacularly rugged canoeing country east of the Mississippi River, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Each river has enough white water to worry the most experienced rapids-shooter while other parts of the streams through Copper Country wilderness just a few miles from civilization are easily canoed by families.

The Ontonagon is the more popular of the two streams for those wishing long trips with mostly wilderness terrain. The main stream of the Ontonagon from the merging point with the South Branch travels 18 miles north to Ontonagon and empties into Lake Superior.

Canoeists who wish to add 100 miles to the trip can select either one of two branch routes.

Trips started on the Middle Branch at Watersmeet travel about 20 miles downstream and connect with Bluff and Sucker creeks and then the South Branch which connects with the main stream.

From Watersmeet, the Middle Branch parallels County Road 208 and Forest Road 169 to Mex-i-mine Falls and Burned Dam, 12 miles west of Watersmeet. The trip's first portage and the river's only public campground is at Burned Dam. From here downstream, paddlers camp on undeveloped state- or power company-owned land little changed from when Chippewa Indian canoes glided along that stretch.

Below Burned Dam and prior to joining the South Branch, portages are necessary at Little Falls and Bond Falls dam. There is a day-use park at the dam.

If continuing on after this two-day trip from Watersmeet to Bond Falls, portage the dam and head west in a channel below it. The channel connects with Bluff and Sucker creeks, which flow into the South Branch.

That branch is easily canoed, with two rapids north of M-28 in Ewen with only minor obstacles. Then it's a short trip to Victoria Reservoir and dam and a three-quarter-mile final portage.

Near the dam and a mile north of the river is Victoria, a ghost town dating back to the 1880's copper mining era. As a Bicentennial project, Victoria's homes are being restored.

It's a 28-mile trip from Victoria Dam to Ontonagon, a pleasant one- to two-day float providing families or novices a wilderness trip. Chances are the only company on the river will be beaver, otter or an occasional shy black bear or bald eagle.

Canoeists on this last leg pass under Victoria Road Bridge. A historical marker there notes that a ton of pure copper was found nearby on the riverbank in the 1800's. The Ontonagon Boulder is in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

In the 1890's, lumber was replacing mining along the river and Ontonagon had four large mills. An 1896 fire wiped out the town and mills, but canoeists still can see a huge pulp mill operating along the riverbank.

The only canoe livery on the Ontonagon is Sylvania Outfitters at Watersmeet. Forty canoes are available for $8 per day each. Rates are higher if provision and equipment are needed.

Plan on six days of hard work if taking the East Branch from Kenton to Ontonagon. The first white water is Sparrow Rapids, three miles north of Kenton, also site of a campground.

Below there the river is nearly problem-free until a point just below Mass City. Between Mass City and the US-45 bridge, even an expert is challenged by a 16-mile stretch of rapids. Below US-45, the river is placid past its merger with the Middle Branch and then north to Ontonagon.

The 60-mile-long Sturgeon River is canoeable from US-41 to Portage Lake. This river offers a two-day float for families and novices from the M-38 bridge west of Baraga to Chassell on Portage Lake and a two-day experts-only trip from US-41 to M-38

From M-38 downstream the Sturgeon flows smoothly through alternating farm and forest scenery, with camping allowed on state land or private property with the owner's permission.

The upper river is for the most skilled only. Study river maps carefully before attempting this "suicide run." Start below Canyon Falls, a half-mile west of US-41. An old logging road near the highway bridge leads to the access point.

Plan on traveling a mile per hour at best on the 12-mile stretch from the put-in point to County Road 231 bridge near Walton as there are many rapids which necessitate portaging. Just below the bridge is Tibbets Falls which must be portaged before reaching the river's only campsite north of Sidnaw.

Six miles downstream, portage again around Sturgeon Gorge and Falls and six miles later at Prickett Lake Dam. It's an easy five-mile float from the dam to M-38, where the two-day trip ideal for families begins.

Art Museum

Waxed, ashen faces cold and blank
staring with unmoving eyes.
The art museum told me secrets of people from the past that had lived life also.
Walls surrounding added a hush and an overpowering sense of silence that offered no comfort to my curiosity.
Life's depths had hit me again with mood . . .
as I wandered through this chosen site . . .

seeking out something through art, that I wondered about within myself.
Art is a creative reaction to living, I found . . .
painting,
sculpturing,
writing . . .
all communication of life . . .
to meet the eye
and express in beauty, depth, or silence . . .
And life awaited me when I finished passing through still searching for what took me there in the first place . . .
possibly the answer to art—
no one really knows.

Patricia Kotlarczyk

Maybe Someday

Maybe someday I'll write a poem about the reasons why...
 why I walked so many miles just to be alone.
 Why I cried all those silly tears.
 Why I drank with the drinking crowd.
 Why my heart was so restless, many nights through.
 Why love became a sort of fear, after all the trials and errors.
 Why I laughed at the wrong times.
 Why I found peace in many days of solitude.
 Why my favorite spot was a playground... filled with laughing children.
 And really why I never sought out any of the answers, for they were already there.

Patricia Kotlarezyk

Twice Told

(On July 4, 1976)

Belled tongues
 Told and told
 The world, in sounded
 Reply across the States,
 Water or land—
 Unleashed
 To the world
 Speaking metal tongues,
 Calling, answering, Agreeing.

F. A. Hasenau

Secret Stars

The mystical stars are ever nearby,
 In blossoms of earth or the infinite sky;
 No matter where you happen to be,
 There are stars for you and all to see.

By carefully looking at flowers or weeds,
 You will find in their hearts or hiding in reeds
 A five-pointed star, and sometimes more
 In the basic design of petals or core.

In silent radiance they seem to express
 A living reflection or heaven's caress.
 The star is a symbol, since life began
 In wondrous assurance, God's promise to man.

Charles E. Hutton

Twilight Thoughts

As twilight comes we sit alone outside
 Upon the steps of this small home. Please play
 A tune on your guitar. The song will glide
 With evening's breeze and gently blow away
 The troubles of the day. Each note ascends
 Into the nearby trees and lulls the birds
 To sleep. So play a melody that blends
 The happiness our hearts have known. Mere words Are oft incapable of telling how
 We feel. This summer eve just reminisce
 About the goodness of the day. And now,
 Dear one, all trivialities dismiss
 Strum on: Play tenderly and softly please,
 For loving melodies make hearts at ease.

Barbara

oh, where are you my barbara blue
 you're gone as fast as you came in view
 i climb a high mountain and still i love you what will you do
 my barbara blue

i'm not broken hearted don't label me that pain only reminds us of where we are at i never could own you i never would try but love as you near me and as you go by into the world awake in a dream horizons aren't always where they seem you'll struggle in space like we all must do before life has done the turns of the screw

oh, please so free my barbara be you never need turn around for me the love i see for eternity
 the shore, the sea
 my barbara be

Thomas Mitchell

Day's End

I've done the best
 I could today,
 And I've nothing more
 To do or say.
 So, I'll close my eyes
 And drift to sleep
 And pray the Lord
 My soul to keep.

Anthony Solmen

'Owed' to Leopard

A Leopard is an animal
 That never cooks in pots,
 I cornered one the other day
 And asked him for a spot.

He eats his food in Nature's way
 And right upon the scene,
 But I escaped — I didn't stay
 And headed for the green.

I think that after this escape
 I'll get my "spots" from banks,
 I know that they are safer
 And I'll send the Leopard thanks.

Grace S. Miller

Mysterious Night

Mysterious Night!
 Pressing upon the bounds
 Of dying day
 Edging itself with force
 To push the light away
 Mysterious Night!

Mysterious Night!
 Harbinger of quiet and
 The sounds of love
 Hiding among your shadows
 And the dark above
 Your subtle light!

Mysterious Night!
 What holds your quickening spell
 Where lovers meet
 Or casts the diamonds in Your blackness, so discreet?
 Mysterious Night!

Oh Dark Delight!
 The secrets that you keep
 Would fill a book
 With tales of true romance
 Or Love's Sweet Look
 Mysterious Night!

Lisa makes up for another modeling job

Modeling

take a night assignment it means hiring a baby sitter. "Keeping in shape is important for any model," states Shelly, who notes that she works out regularly with an exercising machine in her home and plays tennis. Lisa keeps trim by regularly attending a health center. Both are health food advocates, carefully watching their diets.

"Lots of juice, salads and fish" are main ingredients in their daily menus.

Also important, of course, is the clothing of models. While they maintain a fine basic wardrobe, most of the clothing they model on the job is furnished by Alberts and Alcove. They receive no fees from these dress shops, nor must they pay for them.

"Usually, Lisa and I meet on Monday and review the jobs our girls have coming up for the week. Then we go to the stores and pick out something appropriate. Usually, a girl will have a couple different changes for a single job. She may have a gown or maybe a bathing suit (we wear them beneath coats).

"The price tags are always on the clothing and the customer may buy what we are wearing or we'll take orders for them.

"Ours isn't high-fashion modeling, so we're wearing something very nice but not too expensive."

While they continue to model along with the girls they employ in their agency, they're spending more and more of their time these days as businesswomen.

"Naturally, we're always looking for more business. But right now we're trying to branch out into other kinds of modeling, photography... advertising, that sort of thing. We're also thinking about starting our own modeling school. So if you know any pretty girls who'd like to learn the business, have them call."

Here's some tips to protect plants

By KATHY COPLEY

Winter protection for a garden is meant to do any and all of four things: protect plants from loss of moisture due to drying wind; protect from excessive heat, which makes leaves and stems begin to grow before the plant can supply adequate moisture from the still-frozen soil; prevent the alternate thawing and freezing which heaves plants out of the soil and tears delicate feeder roots; and protect from the weight of ice and snow.

The first protection from wind comes with planting — putting susceptible plants like azalea and rhododendron in spots where they are protected. Winter protection should include special screening. Put 4 stakes, as tall as the plant, on 4 sides of the plant, 6-10" out from the branch tips.

Staple burlap around the stakes, leaving 6" open at the bottom for air circulation. Shove a few oak leaves in the bottom. They won't pack down like maple leaves and they won't cut off air movement.

New evergreens can use this same treatment since they have a lot of plant surface through which to lose moisture.

Plantings on the south and southwest side of the house are especially susceptible to sun scald. This is a condition in which the bark of thin-barked trees is thoroughly warmed by the afternoon sun bouncing off a wall, making the plant think spring is on the way. Just after sunset there is a dramatic drop in temperature, causing injury to the inner cell layers as well as the bark.

Prevent sun scald by wrapping the trunk loosely with special tree-wrap paper or with strips of burlap cut 4" wide. This spiral wrapping acts as an insulator from both the high daytime temperatures and the low night ones.

Ernest Lusk of Napier Road, Northville captured first place in the Morgan Breeders Futurity Class for Morgan weanling fillies at the Michigan State Fairgrounds September 17-18. The beautiful five-month-old dark chestnut filly called "Broken Sign Wild Song", a triple cross granddaughter of Upwey Ben Don did an exceptional job of showing herself. The filly was sired by "Willows Don Juan" out of Pineharun Songbird.

Another Lusk horse, a nine-year-old gelding, placed second in the Alumni Pleasure Driving and Alumni English Pleasure. He was ridden by the Lusk's daughter, Stacey.

Testimony to a fun-filled summer, worn-out sneakers must now give way to new shoes for school!

Few children are eager to return to the confinement of new shoes in a school room... and few parents look forward to the expenses the new school year brings.

But there is an out for parents! That can help meet back-to-school expenses by exchanging for cash the valuable, but unused items which are now being stored in out-of-the-way places. All parents have to do is place a low cost, cash-getting Classified Ad in this newspaper.

And for the youngsters, there'll be recess time to break in the new shoes!

Ground forest fires leave more permanent scars

By WARREN M. HOYT

LANSING—Blackened spikes poking skyward from a dry-brown hillside . . . Once a lush green forest stood here.

Such is the devastation of a forest fire, and anyone who's seen those results may feel a chill of apprehension when the fire season strikes.

Fire weather in Michigan usually occurs during spring and fall, and involves drought, heat and wind, according to a forest fire control specialist with the Department of Natural Resources.

LACK OF RAINFALL produced fire conditions in Michigan during the past summer, however, and one week in mid-August, the DNR reported there were some 75 ground fires.

Ground fires are "not as spectacular" as are fast-moving surface fires, notes DNR expert, Greg Lusk. But they burn deeply, and do greater permanent damage to the forest. In fact, they may leave nothing but bare rocks with a skin of mineral soil, he says.

HOW DO GROUND fires get out of control? Once started, Lusk says, they're very persistent, and can travel underground in dead roots, especially in large partially decayed lateral roots extending from snags.

There's another problem too. If the fires are started by careless people, they're likely to be near the road — and relatively accessible to firefighters.

But if they're started by lightning — as was the one last month in the Seney National Wildlife Refuge — the firefighters must carry all their equipment and supplies to the fire on their backs.

Be careful next time you're in or near forest land.

BETTER HEALTH care for Michigan Indians could result if more Indian youngsters are pointed toward careers in medical care, says a doctor who is involved with the problem.

Dr. Roy Gerard, chairman of Michigan State University's Department of Family Practice, says the "Native American is light years behind Chicanos and Blacks in obtaining the health services available in today's society." That's partly because they have a basic distrust of white society, and they want to take care of themselves, he says.

TELL INDIAN CHILDREN about health services and careers and point them to community colleges and other ways of getting into health fields, Dr. Gerard urges.

"When we can begin to interest Indian children in nursing, health and medical careers, we will be on the road to adequate health care for our Native American population."

Dr. Gerard is helping teach state-funded community health representatives who in turn seek out Indians to help them learn about health services.

WILL CARLETON'S birthday is right around the corner.

Will whose what?

Michigan's poet laureate's birthday — celebrated with little fanfare in the state's schools every October 21, despite state law calling teachers to observe the day.

The law requires reading of Carleton's poetry or "such other proper and fitting observance of such Carleton Day as they (teachers) may desire."

No penalties await teachers who fail to mark the occasion, however.

A FORMER NEWSPAPERMAN, Carleton worked in Chicago, was editor and part owner of the Hillsdale Standard and later editor of the Detroit Tribune. He also founded a magazine called "EveryWhere."

But, according to the Department of Education, he's "remembered for the homespun poems that he crafted over the decades."

Here's an example:

"Over the hill to the poorhouse I'm trudgin' my weary way—

"I, a woman of seventy, and only a trifle gray— . . ."

And there's more . . .

TRY A LOCAL trivia stumper at your next tea or cocktail party:

What's the "average" Michigan teacher like? The Department of Education came up with this description: female, 38 years of age, holder of a bachelor's degree, and veteran of 10 years on the job.

One more tidbit: Michigan public schools employed 101,539 teachers last year.

LANSING—Great, isn't it, that new law allowing motorists to turn right on red after stopping. Great for folks in a hurry.

But what about those unfortunate enough to be in the right lane planning to go straight ahead? It's nerve-shattering to say the least to have some impatient car jockey honking like crazy behind you.

A reminder to all drivers: the Department of State Highways and Transportation says there is no obligation for a driver to turn right after stopping at a red light. (Left either, for that matter, depending on which way the streets go.)

It is a courtesy, however, to stay out of turning lanes if you plan to go straight ahead. This will keep traffic flowing as the new law intended.

ONE MORE POINT about the red-turning law. Seems blind people, long accustomed to walking across intersections after hearing vehicles stop for a red light, now have trouble figuring out when to cross because of cars turning on red.

Michigan's State Police Director George Halverson issues this warning to drivers. They must let pedestrians cross the street BEFORE making a turn on a red light.

"Motorists should be especially cautious when they see a blind person about to make a crossing," he says. "They must stop when approaching a person carrying a white cane or accompanied by a leader dog."

HUNTERS: Don't just shoulder that gun and head out into the woods to do your thing. Take your sharpest wits with you.

Last year, according to a safety expert with the Department of Natural Resources, 234 hunters were hurt in hunting accidents in Michigan. (Some 1.2 million persons took part in hunting activities.)

And, says recreational safety supervisor Frank Opolka, "nearly 50 percent of the hunting accidents last year happened when the shooter and victim were less than 10 yards apart."

SHOTGUNS WERE involved in almost two-thirds of the accidents, Opolka recounts, and the most frequent cause of hunting accidents in 1975 was poor judgment on the part of the shooter.

Opolka lists five essential safety precautions:

—Be certain of your target.

—Be equally certain no one is in your line of fire.

—Know where your hunting partners are at all times.

—When unloading your gun, check twice before you consider it unloaded.

—Don't drink alcohol while you're hunting.

WATCHING A GUY in red bathing trunks stack sandbag after sandbag against the slowly eroding shoreline outside his Lake Michigan cottage — you wonder. Will it do any good?

More than 70 summer homes and cottages have been lost to Great Lakes' erosion in the past seven years alone. And reports are that another 800 currently are 10-15 feet from edges of eroding bluffs and lakeshore areas.

At least a foot of land is washed into the lakes each year along part of the state's lakes coastline.

WHY CAN'T MAN control the ebbing away of the land beneath him?

High lake levels — making erosion control efforts difficult — are one factor. And cost is another. Officials say it could cost up to $200 a foot to build steel piling seawall.

But Michigan may continue shrinking if some efforts aren't made successfully. It's reported that north of Port Huron, a half mile of land has been washed away by Lake Huron since 1837.

YOU WANT to study zoology at a Michigan college, so you'll have to go to one of the bigger institutions, right? Not so, says the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Michigan.

The Association just published a 74-page booklet detailing what's available in the state's 33 independent institutions — ranging from accounting to zoology.

There's information on each college and university, as well as a curriculum chart showing more than 100 degree programs offered by the institutions — ranging from accounting to zoology.

Copies of the publication may be obtained for $1 each from AICUM, P.O. Box 10186, Lansing, MI 48901.

KNOW A DIVER'S flag when you see it? For boaters, that's a must. State law requires boaters to stay at least 100 feet away from the flags on Michigan waters.

Those stay-at-a-distance flags have a red background with white diagonal stripe and usually are attached to inner tube-type flotation devices. They're required equipment for underwater explorers in Michigan.

ONE OF MICHIGAN'S more recent speedboat-diver accidents happened within splashing distance of the diver's red-and-white buoyed signal flag.

Here's tips to protect plants

Mulch is the key to preventing heaving. A plant's feeder roots are the most delicate. When the ground freezes it sort of rises up a little, like an ice cube takes more space in the tray than the water did. When it thaws, it may settle a little, tearing roots. If this happens several times in a winter, the plant will obviously suffer.

Prevent this with a mulch of loose material 4-6" deep around prized plants. They all could use it, but it really isn't practical to mulch every plant to this depth. Roses are especially appreciative of a mulch. Using a rose collar, or a collar you make yourself out of builders' felt, and filling it with peat moss, vermiculite, compost, or loose soil is a good idea.

The idea of a mulch is to keep the ground an even temperature, so don't apply it until the ground is well frozen. There would be an exception to this, however, if you were trying to keep the soil warm around a newly-planted tree. In this case, mulch when the tree is planted to keep the soil warm enough to encourage the growth of new feeder roots.

Evergreens with branches pointing up — arborvitae, upright yews, and junipers — are susceptible to snow and ice damage even in a mild winter. Snow builds up on the branches, pulling them from the center of the plant toward the ground. At worst the branches will break off, at the least the plant will be unsightly later when its shape has been destroyed. A solution to this is to use cord or fabric tape and wrap the trees in a spiral fashion to hold all the branches together. This minimizes the surface on which snow can collect and it strengthens the entire plant.

If snow does build up, brush it off while it is still snow, before it melts a bit and freezes. Knocking a branch to break off ice can do as much harm as the ice because it bruises the branches, and may even kill some.

In an ice storm of the extent of last winter's, knocking off some of the ice would be less damaging than leaving it to build up and bring a tree down, but use common sense before attacking minor build-up. Instead, wait until the weather breaks a little and the ice will slide off with a gentle shake.

Miscellaneous winter protection includes planting bulbs in wire baskets to prevent rodent damage and wrapping chicken wire loosely around the bottom several feet of the trunk of new trees to discourage mice and deer.

Sluggish Mustangs revive to rip Trojans

Clarenceville was stronger than anticipated.

And there's plenty of reasons to believe that Walled Lake Western won't be a push-over Friday when the Mustangs go looking for their third straight victory and their first conference win.

Add 'em up: Northville scouts report Western "played 100-percent better" in its heart-breaking loss to Kettering in the final 10-seconds of the game last week compared with a weak showing in the season opener.

The, of course, you can be pretty sure Western hasn't forgotten its 7-6 loss at the hands of the Mustangs last season.

What's more, the Mustangs in posting a 41-14 triumph over fired-up Clarenceville last week suffered a couple more injuries that could spell trouble.

Dennis Singleton broke a thumb on the first play of the game at Clarenceville, and linebacker Kerry Steele, substituting for Mark Gross who had pneumonia, came up with a sprained ankle early in the contest. Steele is also Northville's first string offensive guard.

For the Western game, Singleton is the only doubtful starter. Shonta says Gross, Harding and Steele probably will see some action.

Northville's 27-point edge at Clarenceville wasn't easy to come by.

In fact, early in the game the Trojans shut off Northville's option and worked some unexpected inside plays that produced the first score against the Mustangs in four years.

With its workhorse tailback, Tim McCamant, carrying the ball most of the time, Clarenceville bounced back after an early Northville TD to claim an 8-7 lead late in the first quarter.

Mustang halfback Singleton (35) is stopped by Mark Desjarlais (44)

for no gain. . . . .

Mustangs were leading 13-8, and going into the fourth quarter Northville was out front, 27-8. Clarenceville scored again early in the fourth quarter before the Mustangs came up with its final two touchdowns.

It was Singleton, despite the injury, who pushed over for Northville's first score on a 46-yard gallop across the left side of the line on the eighth play of the game. Matt Davis kicked the extra point.

Singleton's injury, which he didn't report until later, accounted for disappointing miscues early in the game. Twice he fumbled on the option pitch-out before being benched.

Neither team looked good in the series leading up to Clarenceville's first score.

The Trojans recovered a Northville fumble, followed two plays later by a Northville interception, and then on the first play from scrimmage the Mustangs fumbled the ball away again at the Clarenceville 10.

It was Fullback David Dommer who pushed over from the one-foot line for the first Clarenceville TD. McCamant, a 170-pound junior, swept the right end for a two-yard, two-point conversion.

Northville picked up its second touchdown on one of only two pass completions in eight attempts in the game. Quarterback Doug Marzoni fired to Greg Harper for a 17-yard score. The two-point conversion fizzled.

After its poor to mediocre first half performance, the Mustangs came back a far more alert and aggressive squad in the third period.

Only three Clarenceville plays into the quarter, Kevin Corcoran picked off a Trojan pass and galloped 37 yards for the TD. Davis added the extra point. Later in the same quarter, the Mustangs capped a 78-yard drive when Rick Marrone pushed over the three for the TD. Again Davis kicked well.

As the quarter wound down, Clarenceville launched a drive from its 36, picking up three first downs enroute to an early fourth quarter score. McCamant pushed it over from the 3. An attempt at a two-point conversion failed.

Northville's final two touchdowns were scored by Greg Armstrong on a 60-yard run and by Marrone from one yard out. Davis added the extra points after each score.

Shonta was philosophical about his team's uninspired first half performance.

"We had a let down, like Michigan had on Saturday. We were coming off a nice win over Novi. Clarenceville was mentally ready to play and we weren't."

"The encouraging thing was that we came back strong in the second half."

On paper Northville's performance completely overshadowed host Clarenceville. The Mustangs picked up 11 first downs while piling up 339 yards rushing on 36 carries and committing three fumbles. In the air they picked up only 25 yards in completing two of eight passes, none of which were intercepted.

Clarenceville had nine first downs, rushed only 100 yards in 39 carries while committing no fumbles. The Trojans gained 20 yards in the air, completing five of 11 passes, three of which were intercepted.

It was another bad night in penalties for Northville, which was nipped for 120 yards compared with the 35 yards walked off against the hosts.

Armstrong posted Northville's best rushing honors, rolling off 172 yards in 14 carries. He switched from the quarterback position to a running back slot because of Singleton's injury. Singleton picked up 50 yards in two carries before he was listed.

Mark Morland played an outstanding game at defensive nose, picking up 10 tackles, 14 assists. Defensive tackle Chris Misset also had a good night, accounting for eight solo tackles and six assists.

In other games involving Western Six teams last weekend, Harrison continues to roll along as the Hawks blasted Birmingham Groves, 40-0. Defending league champ Livonia Churchill still has failed to score a touchdown this year as Westland John Glenn blanked the Chargers, 22-0.

Plymouth Canton won its first game for new coach Dave Schuele, nipping Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 14-8. Waterford Mott played its second straight overtime game, and lost, this one to Pontiac Northern, 8-0. Walled Lake Western fell to Waterford Kettering, 19-14.

Tankers topple Churchill, 56-27

Northville's swim team raced to a surprisingly easy 56-27 win over Livonia Churchill at the Mustangs' pool last Thursday evening.

the 100-yard backstroke by two-tenths of a second.

"She messed up on her turns," Ms. Brinkman explained, who added that some of Churchill's top swimmers were sick.

Mikalonis came back and grabbed the 100-yard butterfly and swam a leg on the winning 200-yard medley. Other members of that relay were Margie Boland, Lori Herguth and Janet Shaw. Shaw took second places in the 100-yard freestyle and 100-yard breaststroke.

First places were garnered by the 400-yard relay team of Cathy Foust, Kathy O'Brien, Kyle Roggenbuck and Diane Townsend.

Mustangs' only individual dual winner, grabbing top spot in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle.

The defending Western Six champs upped their record to 3-0 overall and 1-0 in league play.

Wildcats look like Wolverines in win

When University of Michigan assistant coach Chuck Stobart comes around the Novi High School football office to get information on outstanding high school gridirers in the area, Wildcat coach John Osborne says he asks Stobart more questions than Stobart asks him.

Stobart may be doing all the asking this week after Osborne's Wildcats played very much like the Wolverines in dumping Dexter, 27-6 at the Dreadnoughts' home field Friday night.

It was the first victory of the young season for Novi, and more importantly, it came at the expense of a fellow member of the Southeastern Conference.

Ten days ago Northville had humiliated mistake-plagued Novi, 41-6 and Osborne was worried. But after Friday's victory, the tall, blonde coach was quite happy.

"I was very pleased. We did a nice job, the kids played well. Our defense versus the run was outstanding and our pass defense improved as the game went on."

"I thought we executed real well on offense."

Indeed, three of the four Novi touchdowns climaxed long, grind 'em out drives, the kind that make Bo Schembechler drool.

Brazilian exchange student Steve Madeiros booted the extras point to give the Wildcats a lead of 7-0 which they never lost.

On the ensuing kickoff, Dexter halfback Darrell Varrelmann returned the ball all the way down to the Wildcats' 20-yard line.

Novi's defense stiffened. But on a fourth down Dreadnoughts' quarterback Mark Cunningham flipped an 18-yard touchdown pass to Mark Ianni to make the score 7-6. The extra point missed.

From then on, it was all Novi. The Wildcats added another six-pointer in the second quarter when Wroten climaxed a 52-yard march by running the final two yards for the score. The conversion attempt failed and Novi went into the dressing room at half time leading 13-6.

Senior center John Samples exhibited some heads-up play in the third quarter when he pounced on an Andy McComas fumble in the end zone for the Wildcats' third touchdown of the evening.

McComas' one-yard jaunt and Samples' recovery highlighted a 56-yard drive by Novi. The conversion attempt again missed, but the Wildcats led 19-6.

McComas picked up his first touchdown of the year and fourth of the game for the Wildcats when he went off tackle for a four-yard run. The senior halfback's tally ended a 50-yard drive by the Wildcats.

For the game, Novi had 380 yards in total offense, 337 rushing and 43 passing.

Wroten had 111 yards in 20 carries, McComas 100 yards in 21 carries and Raddant 94 yards in 11 carries. Wroten hit on five of six passes.

"We only fumbled twice and recovered both of those," said Osborne, who added that his team had only 45 yards in penalties and no passes intercepted.

The Wildcats have their work cut out for them this Friday when Chelsea comes to town.

Victors over last year's Class C state semi-finalist Portland, 14-6, last week, Chelsea has been tabbed by Osborne as one of the teams to beat in the SEC this year.

"They're big. They have a couple 230-pound linemen and a backfield that averages 190 pounds," notes Osborne. One of those big runners is Tony Robards who, Osborne says, "runs off very high knees."

Osborne reports that injury-wise his team is in good shape.

In other SEC games last weekend, Brighton continued to roll, ripping Milan 42-0. Saline had little trouble with South Lyon, 28-13.

Raddant's romp ignited Wildcats

Churchill, flu bug, get best of net team

Flu cost the Northville tennis team a victory last Thursday.

Coach Uta Filkin's two top singles players, Lori Hopping and Becky Albus were home in bed, causing the coach to do some juggling with her line-up.

The girls that did play were going through tissue faster than tennis balls.

Consequently, the Mustangs lost to Livonia Churchill 7-0 in a home meet they probably would have won if the girls had played. Northville is 0-1 in league play and 2-3 overall.

"Most of our singles matches were very close. Once you take away two of your players everyone else had to scoot up to take their place," expalined Mrs. Filkin.

With Hopping and Albus gone, number three player Paula Horst and number four player Maria Maglia moved up to number one and two respectively.

Two girls who play doubles only, Claudia Riegner and Lisa Friel were forced to play number three and four singles.

Paula lost her match rather easily, but she was busy blowing her nose and holding her nauseous stomach between points trying to play over the flu.

Maria went three sets before falling, and Claudia lost her contest in two tie breakers.

Lisa forgot about playing a tie breaker in her match and wound up losing the final set of the match 6-8.

"It's up to my four singles players to carry the team. I felt if we had been healthy we would have won the match,"

Mrs. Filkin said.

The Mustangs did get some good news when Karin Lotarski rejoined the team last week. She had been ruled out for the season with health problems but got the doctor's okay to play tennis.

Big upset eludes Northville harriers

Northville's cross country team blew a chance for a big upset last week when it lost by one point to defending Western Six champ, Livonia Churchill, 28-27 at Cass Benton.

Cass Benton and he should be at that time right now," Redmond explained.

"The encouraging thing is that Bob knows this and is working hard to improve his time."

"There were a couple of places where we made it tough on ourselves, where we didn't run up to our potential," moaned coach Ralph Redmond.

The seven-year coach was displeased with the performance of his top runner, Bob Gould.

Gould finished third in the race. Churchill's Vic Wietzha won the three mile race in a time of 15:54 and was closely followed by teammate Tobin Jones in 15:56.

Gould was clocked in 16:02.

"Bob's performance was really crushing. Last year he ran a 15:48 for his best time at seconds behind teammate Don Wilber.

Churchill has four runners back from last year's team which finished second in the state Class A cross country championship.

Northville beat the Chargers at the Schoolcraft Invitational 10 days ago, so the rubber game of the series will be in the league championship next month.

A week ago Tuesday, the Mustangs ran a great pack race in beating Plymouth Salem, 24-33.

Gould finished in second place, eight seconds behind Salem winner Scott Kleam, who was clocked in 16:08.

"We won it because Wilber, Bedford, Reed and Brian Turnbull ran together as a pack, blocking out the Salem runners," Redmond said. The boys finished fourth through seventh respectively.

Four ninth graders have joined the harriers. They are Tom Allen, Tom Doyle, Todd Vincent and Dan Whitaker.

Athletes of the Week

ANDY RADDANT

ELAINE MAKI

MARK MORLAND

Because his 58 yard touchdown gallop on the fourth play from scrimmage lit his team's fire, Andy Raddant has been chosen as the Wildcat of the week. The senior halfback gained a total of 94 yards in 11 carries in Novi's 27-6 win over Dexter, the Wildcats' first victory of the young season. In addition, Raddant handled the punting chores and played outstanding defensive end

She isn't tall or flashy, but Elaine Maki is the kind of player that any basketball coach could want. The 5'5" senior guard is a good ball handler and playmaker for the Novi Ladycats. Her coach calls her a super defensive player. In two games last week the co-captain of the Ladycats clipped in with 14 points in two victories and had 10 steals in the Willow Run victory

Mark Morland proved last Friday night why opposition coaches in the Western Six think so highly of him. The senior tri captain played an outstanding two-way game for the Mustangs in its 41-14 rout of Claremont. At nose guard Morland made 10 tackles and added 14 assists. At center, the 6'2", 190-pounder graded at 90 percent efficiency as a blocker

Football contest winner wrong 5 times last week

If you don't think there were many surprises on the gridiron last week, consider what happened to contestants in this newspaper's weekly football contest.

The number one winner had five wrong picks, and three other contestants shared winning money even though each had six mistakes.

Generally, winners have one or two mistakes but seldom if ever five or six.

Altogether, six contestants submitted entries with six mistakes, 20 had seven wrong picks, and 41 had eight mistakes. All remaining entries had nine or more wrong selections.

First place went to Scott Schaaf of 1027 Springfield Drive.

In second, with six mistakes and eight points off the tiebreaker, was Tom Gates of 9262 Six Mile Road.

Tied for third, each with six mistakes and 12 points off the tiebreaker, were Russell Parker of 43635 Cottisford and Kent Kratz of 44518 Chedworth.

Others with six mistakes but who finished out of the money because of poorer score guesses in the Minnesota-Detroit pro game were Rob Ade, 319 Sherrie Lane; Sharon McCaffery, 48000 West Eight Mile Road; and an entry that failed to carry the contestant's name or address. The big upset causing most of contestant's problems was, of course, Ohio State's 22-21 upset at the hands of Missouri. Similarly, Iowa's surprising 7-6 victory over Penn State also was missed by most.

And everyone missed the MSU-North Carolina game since it finished in a 31-31 tie.

Soccer result

Northville Arsenal of the boys' 16 and under soccer league defeated the Farmington Flyers 2-1 in a weekend game which saw virtually all games postponed due to rain.

Bogey Lake fells golfers

Surprise, surprise.

Northville's juggernaut golf team lost a match last week.

The unusual event happened at the appropriately named Bogey Lake Gold Course in Milford. The Mustangs lost to Lakeland, 198-202.

"It was a very aptly named course," said first-year gold team coach John Edwards wryly.

"This is no exaggeration but the grass on the greens came up halfway to the balls. We lost four balls on the fairway and that cost us four strokes right there.

"That course hasn't been kept up in three weeks," said an exasperated Edwards.

Senior Chip Chamberlin was the medalist for the Mustangs in the loss, shooting a 39.

The defeat hardly took the steam out of the defending Western Six champs as they rolled along against conference teams.

The Mustangs upped their league record to 4-0 with easy wins over Waterford Mott and Farmington Harrison.

Don Dales, a senior, was the medalist in the 193-207 win over the Hawks, carding a 36. Against Mott, the Mustangs shot a team total 188, an outstanding score for five players. Mott shot 210. Equally as impressive as the team score was Chamberlin's medalist score of 35.

In fact, all five players shot in the 30's in the Mott match played at Brae Burn Gold Club.

Northville's other victim last week was Livonia Clarenceville, 196-227. Junior Steve Pyett was medalist with a 36.

Mustang cagers

find going tough

It was a tough week for Northville's struggling basketball team.

The girls took it on the chin twice, losing to Livonia Churchill 51-17 last Thursday evening at home and earlier falling to perennial power Ypsilanti, 43-15 at Ypsilanti.

Coach Muriel Bedford cited lack of shooting and the inability to handle the press as reasons for the defeat.

"That Ypsilanti team was really quick. They played a zone defense with a full court press. We took 47 shots but they just wouldn't fall in." In its first Western Six game against Churchill, the Mustangs fell to a full court press and man-to-man defense.

"We began doing some things pretty good late in the game," the first year coach said. "Our shooting got better and we began getting some rebounds."

Ms. Bedford said everyone gave their best but had special praise for Kim Tromans, a 5' 10" junior who pulled down 14 caroms in the Churchill game.

Farewell summer- golf league ends

Northville Golf League's season ended Saturday with its 28th annual golf tournament at Salem Hills Golf Club followed that evening by a banquet at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

Dennis Armstrong, who teamed with Mike Zinn this year to win the league championship with a score of 131, played like a demon Saturday at the tournament.

Harriers near win

Novi's harriers made it close last week, but still came out on the short end of two cross country meets.

The young Wildcats lost to Dexter last Thursday at Dexter even though the squad's top two runners, sophomore Jeff Johnston and senior Mark McKenney, finished tied for first place in a time of 17:03.

The Dreadnoughts won the meet 25-32.

For McKenney, and all of his teammates other than high school record holder Johnston, it was his best time of the year.

"We still need improvement from the other kids but I think we're getting close to a win," said coach Norm Norgren. "Our kids' times are coming down beautifully."

Against Clarenceville at the Cass Benton course two days before the Dexter meet, the Wildcats came close but still have no cigar, losing 25-30.

Johnston and McKenney finished two-three in that meet, even though McKenney ran the final three-quarters of a mile without a shoe.

"He had a bad blister and the shoe was hurting him, so he just kicked it off," said Norgren, who was bubbling over with praise for his senior captain.

Sports roundup

Northville senior citizens in quest of fun need not look any further.

There's still time to sign up for the senior citizens bowling league, sponsored by the Northville Recreation Department.

Bowling takes place at noon on Mondays at a cost of $1.65 per session, which includes three games.

Men and women interested in this activity are urged to call 349-0203 immediately.

Wyandotte.

Rick Trudeau, Novi High School's baseball coach, led the tournament in hits with 12. A shortstop, he played flawless defense and was named to the all-tournament team.

Teammate Rick Pinto, a pitcher, was chosen as the most valuable player.

Parents seeking refunds from the Northville Parks and Recreation for last year's ski club, should contact the office at 215 W. Main either in person or by phone at 349-0203. Some children who paid $1.50 for the membership last year but who never went skiing are entitled to refunds.

The department will organize a ski club this year.

Ladycats rough up Dexter

Word around the Southeastern Conference this year was that Dexter was the team to beat in girls' basketball.

So last Thursday night at Dexter, Novi's Ladycats went out and destroyed the host team, 46-19.

It was the first conference game of the season for the Ladycats who had to share the SEC crown with Dexter last year.

"It was wonderful, just like a dream, my girls played like a college team," said the Ladycat's hyperenergetic coach, Chris Hayward.

The Ladycats blew the pretenders to the crown off the floor in the very first quarter, outscoring Dexter 15-0.

"Dexter played a zone against us in the first quarter so we just took advantage of it," Ms. Hayward said.

The coach took advantage of the height of 5' 11" junior Laura Birou and the outside shooting of senior co-captain Elaine Maki.

The 5' 5" play-making guard hit six points, all from the outside. Laura, recently returned from an ankle injury, scored six of her eight points in the quarter on offensive rebounds.

Ms. Hayward also got an emotional lift from her team. "My JVs were beaten badly in the first game and I really felt down. So the varsity girls told me they were going to make me feel better by winning," said Ms. Hayward, who was feeling much better Friday morning after the game.

Her spirits also were buoyed by the comment of a

Dexter parent after the game. "I heard him say our squad is unselfish. That's what I like to hear."

Indeed, the points were spread out evenly. DeDe McAllen had 13, Elaine 10, and Laura and Maryann Wizinisky eight each.

Betty Banks and Sue Beall played outstanding defense.

A week ago Tuesday, the Ladycats ripped Willow Run, 31-13. Novi ran out to a 20-4 half time lead in a physical and fast-moving game.

Maryann Wizinisky led the Ladycats in scoring with 10 points.

Unbeaten in four games, the Ladycats are averaging 41 points a game while giving up only 14.

College 'weekend' policy

Programs trimmed

Schoolcraft College has instituted a new administrative policy aimed at curtailing weekend activities during the fall semester just under way.

Economic restraints were cited by President C. Nelson Grote for prompting the policy which will have these immediate effects:

1. Sunday classes at the instructional center in Garden City have been canceled.
2. The Sunday Health Club has been canceled — this is a program which provided full use of the physical education building Sundays on a fee basis.
3. The library will be closed Saturdays and Sundays.
4. An administrative review is under way to determine further curtailment in other weekend events presently scheduled.

Dr. Grote said that scheduled activities for which the college has not entered into legal contracts nor made long-term commitments will either be canceled or rescheduled during the week wherever possible.

"We will review each activity on its own merit," he said, "and while we have not placed a total ban on additional activities, we do intend to reduce Saturday and Sunday activities significantly."

Dr. Grote acknowledged that many activities, through registration or membership fees, are self-supporting for direct costs. But the college now must consider potential savings from indirect costs — utilities — and by being able to operate with fewer employees throughout the year.

The president observed that the decision to curtail activities is counter to Schoolcraft's basic philosophy of making the college as accessible to as many people in the community as possible.

"It is obviously not an action we want to take," he said, "but it is consistent with current economic realities imposed by diminishing revenues."

The college has experienced a number of financial setbacks. Its millage request was defeated by district voters last June; its state appropriation is approximately $145,000 below budgeted expectations, and the enrollment is down over 300 students from last fall and even further below budgeted projections.

Dr. Grote said whenever possible the college will consolidate the scheduling of events around currently scheduled weekend activities which simply cannot be canceled.

"If we can accommodate groups in other parts of a building we must open anyway, we will do it," he said.

The president said there is quite a difference between operating one-time as opposed to ongoing events. "We cannot economize when committed to long-range, recurring events," he said. "We can't reduce the square footage of campus facilities we have to maintain," he added, "but we can achieve savings by curtailing its frequency of operation."

Dr. Grote said the new curtailment policy will not affect the major activity of the college. "We will continue to offer Saturday morning classes and will honor other weekend commitments as indicated."

"But essentially," the president continued, "we are on a five-day week activity schedule and a five and one-half day instructional schedule."

He concluded, "If economics don't improve, we may well become a five-day institution with few exceptions in 1977-78."

RON NISUN

Chiefs elect
Ron Nisun

In its annual election of officers last week in Dearborn, Chief Ronald Nisun of the Northville Township Police Department was elected president of the Wayne County Chiefs of Police Association.

Assuming duties as secretary-treasurer of the group is Chief Robert Ferber of Grosse Pointe Farms.

Nisun takes over leadership of the association which represents 42 communities, the State Police and Wayne County Sheriff's Department. Prime goal of the organization is to develop closer working relationships with other law enforcement departments.

Nisun, as president of the WCCPA, also takes a seat on the Criminal Justice Coordinating Council.

Big plays spark
Mustang JV's

Northville's junior varsity football team turned three big plays into its second win of the season last Thursday.

The Mustangs had to come from behind to beat Milford, 25-14 at Milford's field.

With Milford ahead 14-12 midway in the last quarter, Mustang — halfback Don Borthwick ran 62 yards on a dive play down to the opposition two-yard line.

It took the Mustangs three plays to finally tally the eventual winning touchdown as Borthwick ran the final yard to put Northville up in front 18-14. The extra-point try was missed.

Borthwick scored Northville's final touchdown when teammate Jeff Norton caused a Milford player to fumble at his own 37. Borthwick scooped up the loose ball and headed into the end zone. Brian Faustyn kicked the extra point.

Northville scored its first touchdown on a 47-yard run by Tim Ellis in the second quarter, and added another six points when Tody White fell on an Ellis fumble in the Milford end zone.

Northville had more total yardage than Milford, 295-243, but Milford ran more plays, 63 to 41.

Novi JV defense firm in 8-3 win

Novi's junior varsity football team's defense bended a lot but refused to break as the young Wildcats nipped Dexter 8-3 at home last Thursday evening.

It was the second straight victory for coach Brian Howard's squad.

Novi's defense, led by Rich Daidone, Dave Ford and John Williams, held Dexter on downs four times within their own 10-yard line.

"Dexter moved the ball well until it meant something, then we tightened up," Howard said.

Dexter scored the only points of the first half on a 27-yard field goal in the second quarter.

The only, and winning touchdown of the evening, came when Lavery capped a 55-yard touchdown drive with a one-yard sneak. Duane Pohlman added the two point conversion on a two-yard gallop.

The big play in the drive was a 29-yard pass from Lavery to Jeff Clark.

Council adopts grant resolution

Northville's city council unanimously adopted a resolution last week authorizing a federal grant application for the proposed city-township library building.

Specifically, the resolution stated:

Whereas, in April 1976, the City and Township of Northville jointly authorized the hiring of the architect by the Northville Library Board to develop plans for a new library building; and

Whereas, in August 1976, the City and Township both approved a specific library plan and architectural plan; and

Whereas, on September 8, 1976, the Northville Board approved the proposed library project as the Township's first priority under the public works employment act of 1976 grant program, and authorized the City of Northville to make application for said grant on behalf of the Township;

Now therefore be it resolved, that the Northville City Council hereby determines that the proposed public library is the first priority of the City for funding under the public works employment act of 1976; and

Resolved further, that the City Manager is hereby authorized to act as the project grant representative for purposes of applying for and administering a grant under the public works

We need your business.

Last year local businessmen in the tri-county area made a big investment: a sizeable contribution to the United Foundation Torch Drive. And their investment is bringing sizeable returns as the citizens of 113 communities in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties benefit from health and medical research programs, youth and recreational services, family counseling, aid to the handicapped and many other Torch Drive-supported services.

To these businessmen, we say, "Thanks . . . we appreciate your business."

And, we say, "Please . . . won't you help again?"

The Torch Drive needs your business to make our community a healthy place for everyone . . . and a better place for you to do business.

In a few days, a special Torch Drive volunteer will be calling on you. Remember, that single volunteer represents nearly 140 different Torch Drive agencies in our community.

Please give a helping hand. Make a big investment through a generous pledge to this year's Torch Drive. We need your business.

Old Novi Road building

Novi School uses affirmed

Novi School Board recently approved a list of recommended uses for the old Novi Elementary, being replaced by Novi Woods Elementary.

Though there was little discussion on the matter, the board appeared in agreement with the administrative recommendation which summarized board feeling based upon previous discussion.

Novi Elementary is connected to the community building and because they share a common heating plant, the board had to also make a determination concerning the community building, which is owned by the city.

Board unanimously approved the following uses: 1) continue to make the community building available to residents of Novi in the same manner as it has for several years; 2) house the Alternative Education Program from Novi High School in Novi Elementary; 3) allow senior citizen multi-purpose center to use two rooms; 4) provide storage and maintenance areas for the school district; 5) continue to receive and consider proposals for lease of the facility.

Included in the resolution was provision to lock the door between the elementary building and the community building to separate the facilities, construct a barrier between various wings of the building, and install a security system.

Board resolution noted that the administration intends to reduce consumption of energy for heating and lighting purposes as much as possible. In addition, used furniture and equipment is to be moved to one area of the building and sold at a garage sale type event in the last week of September or early October. The board intends eventually to purchase the community building from the city to allow sale of the entire parcel of property at the same time.

The board had wrestled with the question of leasing the structure but did not come up with a concrete decision, instead choosing to consider offers as they come in.

Commissioner Dumas gets Olivet center appointment

Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia) has been appointed to the Advisory Council of the Center for Teaching of State and Local Government for Olivet College.

According to Robert C. Fischer, director of the Center, it was made possible under grants from the Michigan Bicentennial Commission and the Alvin M.

Bentley Foundation of Owosso. Fischer said that the center would be developed during the coming months and it was important to "secure the most professional expertise and lay advice that is available in the State of Michigan" to serve as advisory board members.

Annual Decathlon's another big hit

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Big event this past weekend was Wixom's annual Decathlon sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department. But before getting into the big winners, one quick reminder.

Thursday night the Wixom Historical Society is planning a tour of Mill Race in Northville. The tour of the restored village will be led by John Burkmann beginning at 7 p.m.

Society members are asked to meet at Wixom City Hall at 6:30 p.m. to "car-pool it" to Northville and a good view of the "in's and out's" of restoring old buildings.

A good crowd of kids and parents were out Saturday for another running of the ever-popular Wixom Decathlon day. City Hall grounds were crowded with elementary kids vying for medals and ribbons in the various events.

Top winners in the track and field events, determined on a point system, for the upper elementary grades were Kelli Korthas and Chris Schafer. Both are sixth grade students at Wixom School.

First grader Kathie Haight and third grader Brent Kish were the top medalists for the lower three grades. All four names will be engraved on the 1976 Decathlon plaques displayed in City Hall.

All kids participate in the long jump (formerly known as the running broad jump), dashes, and the baseball throw. Upper elementary grades, including fourth, fifth and sixth graders also participate in the bike race, football kick for boys and jump and touch for girls.

Medals for the first three places and ribbons to fifth place were awarded in ceremonies immediately following the completion of the races. Although we'd like to mention all the names, only the top three winners in each event will be listed.

In the long jump event for first grade girls, Jennifer Wise took top honors followed in second by Kathie Haight with third going to Kelly Leahy. The boys were led by Shawn Eastland, with Brad Reynolds taking second and Dale Syer in third.

Second grade girls found Debbie Haight copping the top medal with Candy Bassett in second and Jodi Hopeck in third. Jamie Combs took the first for boys followed by Joey Victory and Erin McDermott. Tina Syer led the third grade girls in the same event with Maria Hughes coming in for a second, Lynn Bozynski placed third. Third grade boys at Loon Lake School grabbed all the medals led by Brent Kish, Brian Momborg and Richard Boulton.

Ginny Victory, Val McDermott and Jill Dingeldey stretched their legs to take the three medals for the fourth grade girls. On the male side, John Doria, David Ballmer and Mike Craig turned in the winning lengths.

First three places for fifth grade girls went to Carol Coller, Lisa Brown and Laurie Haight. Chris Combs led the boys followed by Karl Buttenmiller and Kyle Chura.

Lisa Doria placed first for sixth grade girls, with Kelli Korthas taking second and Carol Dingeldey taking third with their long jump efforts. Chris Schafer marked the beginning of a string of golds taking first with Robbie Ballmer close behind in second and Greg Bailey in third.

Dashes, another popular event, were geared to the age of the children participating with greater distances run by the older children.

Kathie Haight in her second gold event took top position with Karen Randall and Kelly Leahy capturing the other medal spots. Shawn Eastland again led the first grade boys with Matt Dodge and Dale Syer turning in medal performances.

Candy Bassett, Debbie Haight and Jodi Hopeck took one, two and three for the girls with Robbie Aubry, Jamie Combs and Ronnie Aubry taking the boys' medals for second graders.

Lynn Bozynski turned in the winning time for third grade females with Kristen Hoffmeyer and Tina Syer hot on her heels. Brent Kish turned in another medalist showing followed by Andre Jacques and Scott Hollister.

Fourth grade girls were led by Dawn Hulme, Kim Kusterer and Ginny Victory with David Ballmer heading the boys' field. John Doria and Mike Craig turned in second and third place times.

Lisa Brown, Kathy Ballmer and Laurie Haight topped the field in their fourth grade dash event. Chris Combs led the boys with Karl Buttenmiller and Kyle Chura taking the other positions in the boys' event.

Kelli Korthas paced the field for the sixth grade girls followed closely by Felicia Henry and Lisa Doria. Chris Schafer took top honors in the boys' field with Greg Bailey and Tim Evans also taking honors.

Turning in her third gold medal performance in the baseball throw for first grade girls was Kathie Haight with Kelly Leahy and Karen Randall also adding to their collection of medals. Kip Sircely outdistanced the field in the boys' event with Chuck O'Neill and Brad Reynolds taking the silver and bronze. Shamra Burke, Debbie Haight and Candy Bassett turned in the top second grade baseball throw performances. On the male side, Erin McDermott, Ronnie Aubry and Joey Victory turned in the winning pitches.

Third grade girls were led by Kristen Hoffmeyer with Tina Syer and Lynn Bozynski again copping the other two medals. Brent Kish took his third gold again followed by Brian Momborg and Richard Boulton.

Jill McGregor led the fourth grade girls with a toss of 75' 5" with Mike Craig the leader in the boys' section with 140' 7". Dawn Hulme turned in the second place toss with Val McDermott third for the girls. David Ballmer and Mark Henry chalked up second and third honors for the boys.

On top for fifth grade girls with a winning toss was Laurie Haight. Kathy Ballmer and Carol Coller copped the other two medals with their pitches of the little white sphere. The boys were led by Karl Buttenmiller with Tom Simoncic and Billy Robertson outdistancing the field with their throws.

Sandi Craigie, with a pitch of 85' 11" took the gold in the sixth grade girls, with Felicia Henry and Carol Dingeldey taking second and third. Mike O'Neill led the sixth grade boys with a whopping 145' 8" display with Todd Coulter showing his prowess by capturing second and Chris Schafer throwing for third.

In the "for boys only" football kick, fourth graders Mark Henry, David Ballmer and Mike Craig booted the winning punts.

Chris Schafer took another gold in his class followed by sixth grade schoolmates Greg Bailey and Shawn Parton.

The girls, meanwhile, were busy in the jump and touch. Turning in another winning performance was fourth grader Dawn Hulme. Kim Kusterer and Val McDermott captured second and third.

Laurie Haight turned in the winning leap for the fifth grade girls with Carol Coller and Kathy Ballmer adding the second and third to their growing collection of medals. Capturing her second gold for the day, Kelli Korthas outdistanced Karen Brown who placed second and Felicia

Henry who took third in the event.

Final event of the day was the bike race which found the kids racing the clock on a course behind the ball diamonds. Using the same bike to facilitate matters, Kim Kusterer led the fourth grade girls with Dawn Hulme and Jill Dingeldey turning in second and third winning times.

John Doria took another gold in that event with Mike Craig and David Ballmer again in second and third.

Lisa Brown, Kathy Ballmer and Carol Coller again topped the field for fifth grade girls on the bikes. The winning combination of Kyle Chura, Chris Combs and Billy Robertson led the boys' event.

Strike up the band!

It's Michael Rumbell in Northville

By JEAN DAY

"Small but good" is the way observers are describing the 1976-77 Northville High School Marching Band under the direction of Michael Rumbell.

The 64-member band has played at an opening home game and last weekend at the game at Clarenceville when its half time show featured Northville High senior Randy Casteel playing "Give It One" on the trumpet.

In previous years under the direction of Robert Williams, who now is middle school band instructor in the Northville schools, the marching band averaged about 110 members.

In a district reorganization that moved the ninth grade class back to the middle schools the band lost its usual influx of freshmen players, Rumbell points out to explain the smaller size.

"We had a very, very good practice at marching band camp the end of August," he says, "with band members getting right down to work on formations."

Rumbell started teaching in Northville six years ago. He recalls that he had music classes at sixth grade, middle school and high school levels from the beginning.

This year he is in charge of all traditional school year music at the high school. This includes four bands and choir.

"We'll have a show at the home game October 1," he promises, adding that the band has been working on music for October 2 when the Northville High Band will be participating at University of Michigan Band Day.

"We'll be part of a 13,000-piece marching band that will probably go into the Guinness Book of Records as the largest in history," Rumbell reveals.

The NHS band also is earmarking October 9, officially designated as Band Day in Northville. Marching band members will be on the streets selling decals that help support the summer marching band camp.

"Look for us," says Rumbell, "we hope to be wearing our new band jackets."

receive EMU diplomas

Twelve area students received degrees recently at Eastern Michigan University.

Those from Northville include:

Laura Ruth Alberts, 734 Spring Drive, BS; Diane Jeanne Horwath, 1016 Jeffrey Drive, BS; Carrie J. Intihar, 19757 Hayes Court, bachelor of fine arts; Clifford Daniel Lelek, 21465 Stanstead, bachelor of business administration; Barbara Jean Myers, 18606 Jamestown Circle, MA; Dwight D. Sieggreen, 1862 Innsbrook Drive, MA; Janet Denise Whitcomb, 18808 Jamestown Circle, BA; and Catherine Yee, 53963 Nine Mile, BS.

Those from Novi include: Russell David McGregor, 45285 Grand River, BS; Richard Jack Ruland, 24584 Old Orchard, BS; Sallie Patrice Wharton, Box 304, BS; and Karen Lynda Wilson, 42352 Park Ridge, MA.

At Novi High it's Craig Strain

By WAYNE LODER

Craig Strain is more than a band director. But the 35-year-old Strain will probably be remembered most at Novi High School for his effort in that direction. Actually Strain was hired after an intensive search for a district-wide music coordinator. But his job includes taking over the reins this year of the high school marching band, and later the symphony band.

According to Strain, he came to Novi because of "the challenge of developing the program to one of the top in the state."

Strain worked the previous seven years as band director at Bloomfield Andover High School and before that four years in the same position at McKenzie High School in Detroit. He has a master's degree in composition from Eastern Michigan University.

As well as working as band director at two high schools, Strain is also known around the area as the leader of the Brookside Jazz Ensemble, a 20-member group which he likens to Buddy Rich. The ensemble during its six years of existence has played with such big names as Nancy Wilson.

Though the band program at Novi High School has had some problems during the past few years, Strain sees real potential for a topnotch organization.

At the moment there are only 55 marching band students, but Strain points to the loss of only three seniors next year plus a 50-member eighth grade band this year as key points in building up the high school band program.

Eventually, Strain says he hopes to see at least a 150-member band but "recruitment is the big thing. The more the better." He notes that some schools have as many as 200 to 300 band members, although it is rare.

Unfortunately, keeping students in the band has been a hard problem. But Strain sees adding morale as a big plus in the battle. And one way to do that is to get the students enjoying themselves.

"I write all the arrangements for the marching band and we do contemporary pieces," points out

Novi Highlights

By JEANNE CLARKE
624-0173

Julia Rachel is the name of the new baby girl born September 20 to Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Breuhl (she is the former Darlene Smith) of Bloomington, Illinois. She weighed 6 pounds, 9½ ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith of Novi and Mr. and Mrs. John Breuhl of Normal, Illinois.

A "His and Her Shower" was given by Ray and Rosie Tague of R & R Acres on Beck Road for their nephew Michael Gallagher and his fiancée Kathy Oshburn, both of Ann Arbor. About 40 guests attended. Some were from Battle Creek, Birmingham and surrounding areas. They were served box lunches for a picnic on the lawn. JoAnn McGill, who will be married to Bill MacDermid in October, was guest of honor at a shower given by her sister-in-law-to-be, Lynn MacDermid Schulz of Jackson. The shower last Sunday was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William MacDermid of Stassen Street and about 25 relatives and guests were present. # NOVI BOARD OF EDUCATION

ANNUAL REPORT

The following report reviews the financial position of the Novi Community School District for the period ending June 30, 1976. This report is published to inform citizens regarding educational program, receipts and expenditures for the last school year.

The 1975-76 school year was another year of growth for the Novi Schools, but less than the six percent growth in 1974-75. As of the official count date in September, 1975, Novi had 2771 students enrolled in the district's three elementary schools, middle school and high school. Our student population grew by approximately four percent, which was one of the highest percentage-growth school districts in Oakland County.

Major construction projects authorized by the voters in June, 1973, continued to develop. The new Novi Woods Elementary School on Taft Road has been completed and will open in September, 1976. The new senior high school at Taft Road and Ten Mile is 55 percent completed with opening scheduled for September, 1977. Plans for the renovation of the present high school into a second middle school for the fall of 1978 are in progress. Additional school sites have been explored for possible future growth patterns.

The improvement of the instructional program was a major thrust during the 1975-76 school year. New courses were offered at the high school and there was a continuation and expansion of several pilot programs.

Novi continued the Right to Read state program with Anne Diebel as our Representative. An outdoor education program developed from a pilot program became part of the regular curriculum offered to all fifth grade students. There was considerable planning by Mr. Roy Williams, principal of Novi Elementary School, and his staff to prepare for the opening of the new Novi Woods Elementary School in September, 1976.

At the high school the radio station using the call letters WNOV became a reality. An alternative high school program began and was highly successful. A teacher center for the Advance Study of Teaching and Learning in Exciting Schools began in cooperation with the Plymouth School District. The purpose of this center was to provide in-service training for staff members.

At the June 14, 1976 school election, the community selected Mr. John R. Milam and Mr. Ray A. Murphy to serve four-year terms and Mrs. Ruth Waldenmayer to serve a three-year term. The past year the Board of Education had three member changes. Mr. Gilbert Henderson resigned when he was elected the honorable mayor of the City of Novi. Mr. Ray Warren and Mr. LaVerne DeWaard did not seek re-election. The vacancy caused by Mr. Henderson's resignation was filled by the appointment of Mr. Terrence Jolly, who served on the Board through June 30, 1976.

The organization meeting of the Board of Education held on July 12, 1975, established Mr. Gilbert Henderson as President, Mr. Ray Warren, Vice-President, Mr. LaVerne DeWaard, Secretary and Mr. James Helmer, Treasurer. Following the resignation of Mr. Gilbert Henderson, Mr. Ray Warren was elected President, and Mrs. Sharon Pelchat was elected Vice-President. The trustees of the Board of Education then became Mr. Joel Colliau, Mr. Robert Wilkins, and Mr. Terrence Jolly.

These seven well-informed, conscientious and concerned citizens served the community as its Board of Education. Differences did exist, but individually and collectively the members gave of themselves and united together in the interest of the children and youth.

Meetings during the 1975-76 school year were held on the first and third Thursdays of each month. This decision was reached after consideration of the local newspaper and the availability of individual board members. There were some exceptions when holidays conflicted. The second meeting of each month was held in an individual school on a rotating basis. This was an attempt to reach out into the community and make the Board of Education more accessible. It also provided for a first-hand tour of each building twice during the school year. The first meeting of each month was held at the Administrative Services Building as in the past.

Work sessions were held on a few alternating Thursdays and sometimes prior to regular meetings, but in all cases topics were explained and reasons delineated. This procedure was started by past-president Robert Wilkins an effort to keep citizens informed as the school board worked toward solutions to meet the demands of a growing school district.

During the past school year, the Board organized a Needs Assessment Committee and charged it with updating enrollment projects and building and site needs. In addition, the committee was asked to project financial requirements for programs and services in schools as they become ready for occupancy.

Another attempt to involve citizens in a meaningful way was the establishment of a Fine Arts Committee which examined the current programs and recommended that a district-wide music coordinator be employed for the September '76 school year to improve the program. An Art Planning Committee recommended the hiring of Mr. John Chaffee to create a sculpture for the new high school. Mr. Chaffee's salary was paid from Federal Funds and a grant from the Michigan Council of the Arts. It is felt that the visual art form will enhance the new high school site and offer the community aesthetic pleasure for years to come.

In the spring of 1976 the community again responded to the needs of the children by passing a nine-mill renewal and additional 3.5 mills. This needed millage will assure the children of the district a complete educational program and will provide for spiraling inflationary costs.

The official audit and resulting formal report of the 1975-76 budget shows the district was able to operate with expenditures of $57,192.11 over revenues. This causes a reduction of the General Fund equity from $202,443.16 to $145,251.05. Many factors contributed to the fiscal situation including the increased cost of teaching supplies, textbooks, utilities, not to mention the continued raise in the cost of gasoline for school buses. Along with inflationary increases, the Governor of the State of Michigan issued two Executive Orders reducing state aid for education in Novi in the amount of 2.3 percent or $76,158.00. However, the Board of Education issued reductions in expenditures by layoffs and elimination of certain field trips outside the district in January of 1976. These careful, planned reductions were made to reduce the size of the then projected deficit from well over $100,000.00 to $57,192.11.

Outside agencies many times are involved to assure the normal operation of the school district. The law firm of Giles & Knauer was employed for legal matters by the Board of Education. The audit of the district's financial records was conducted by Janz & Knight, Certified Public Accountants. The Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of School Studies provided relevant data and statistical comparisons needed in assessing current and future directions of the district. The law firm of Butzel, Long, Gust, Klein and Vanzile continued to represent Novi in the lawsuit of Bradley, et. al, vs Milliken, et. al. The University of Michigan Bureau of School Services again worked with the citizens to develop Needs Assessment No. II updating material and plans for the school district.

The energy situation had an impact on our school program in the cost of fuel and conservation of usage. Continuous effort and constant vigilance on everyone's part helped reduce total usage. Energy conservation is exemplified by the heating and cooling methods to be installed in the new high school.

The administration of the Board's policies and the district's program and activities were carried out under the management team approach by Gerald B. Kratz, Superintendent; William D. Barr, Assistant Superintendent; Mrs. Julia Crowther, Director of Special Education; Milan Obrenovich, Director of Community Education; Robert Young, Director of Vocational Education and Career Education; Helen Ditzhazy, Principal of Novi High School; Robert Youngberg, Principal, Novi Middle School; David Brown, Roy Williams and Ester McDonough, Elementary School Principals; Charles Nanas, Assistant High School Principal; Paul LePlae, Middle School Assistant Principal; Dick Garlick, Director of Maintenance and Operations; Michael Zemanski, Supervisor of Maintenance; and Doris Darling, Cafeteria Supervisor. The entire team worked in a unified approach to provide assistance to employees and students in carrying out the numerous services which collectively contributed to the educational process.

The Novi Community School District is in a transition period from a very small semi-rural school district to one which is suburban in nature. Program offerings are expanding as the demand increases. A new awareness by the citizens is evolving. Citizens care about their children and their education. With continued cooperation and support, a superior school district will continue to grow and develop.

NOVI COMMUNITY SCHOOLS ANNUAL REPORT AUDIT REPORT

We have examined the balance sheet of the various funds of NOVI COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT as of June 30, 1976 and 1975, and the related statements of revenues, expenditures, and changes in fund equity for the years then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing procedures and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

Our procedures in the examination of the financial information presented relative to Public Law 89-10 Title I (The Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965) - programs were designed to satisfy ourselves that the recorded expenditures were made in accordance with the regulations of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare relating to allowable expenditures under the Act.

In our opinion, the accompanying balance sheets and related statements of revenues, expenditures, and changes in fund equity present fairly the financial position of Novi Community School District at June 30, 1976 and 1975, and the results of its operations of the funds for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting practices generally followed by Michigan school districts applied on a consistent basis.

The accompanying supplemental schedules and related information presented are not necessary for a fair presentation of the financial statements, but are presented as additional analytical data. This information has been subjected to the tests and other auditing procedures applied on the examination of the financial statements mentioned above and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

hearing from you. If you would like to help in the many projects planned for the coming year for the new Novi Library.

Novi Jaycee Auxiliary

Special guests from Trenton and Garden City were present at the last General Membership meeting on Tuesday. Guests included the District Vice President Pat Pfennig. Plans were made for several members including Pam Balagna and Bonnie Hayosh to attend the International meeting in Windsor on October 2. Current projects include the Toy Raffle, tickets available from an auxiliary member, with drawing the first part of December. The Auxiliary will also be involved in the Wixom Oktoberfest scheduled for October 23 at the City Hall with a bake sale. Order forms for Christmas cards from the American Cancer Society will soon be available. Workers for the Torch Drive in the following areas are also needed: Meadowbrook Lakes, Orchard Hills, Country Place. Call Bonnie at 349-8612.

Novi High School Parents Advisory Council

Father Vaughan Quinn of Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center of Detroit will be the speaker at the next meeting of this group on October 13 at 8 p.m. in the High School library. Father Quinn will be talking about Alcoholism. The general meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and reports will be given regarding the studies on curriculum, and other items at the High School. These meetings are for both parents and students or anyone in the community.

Athletic Booster Club

The next meeting of this group will be on Wednesday,

October 6, at the high school. Final plans will be made for the "Millionaire's Party" to be held at Village Oaks clubhouse on Saturday, November 6. The group hopes to raise $1,000 to assist the athletic program in the high school. Anyone wishing more information or who would like to donate prizes, etc., toward this event can call 349-0228.

Novi Torch Drive

There is a lot of preparation being done by area chairmen, neighborhood leaders, etc. to get ready for this annual drive for funds for the United Foundation. Sharon Icenogge, area chairman, had a training meeting with the neighborhood leaders in the Willowbrook area. There is a need for additional workers in Old Dutch Farms. Eula Flockett and Evelyn Cotter are in charge of that area. There is also a need for a chairman and door bell ringers in the Walled Lake area. Dates for the drive are October 12-November 4. Anyone wishing to help or receive additional information can call Audrey Blackburn at 474-8504.

Novi Rebekah Lodge

The Lodge had its first meeting of the fall season on Thursday evening and additional plans were made for the Annual Roast Beef Dinner to be held at the Community Building on October 9. There will also be a bake sale and bazaar with items for Christmas gifts. Evelyn Cotter is in charge of tickets. Items for the food baskets that will be raffled off can be brought in at any time or on Friday, October 8 when the tables will be set up. Visitation was on September 27th at Berkley Lodge and District 6 on October 6 at Hamburg. The Independent Club will meet at the hall at noon October 4 to make final plans for the bazaar.

Strain heads Novi

Strain. For instance, the current top rock song "Don't Go Breaking My Heart" is scheduled for half time during the first home football game and Strain arranged the piece himself.

"In colleges they all have a staff of writers to do their arrangements," explains Strain. "That's how come they sound so good."

Strain estimates that over the past 12 years he has arranged 100 marching band numbers, an ability that could give Novi High School an edge over other bands since often times the pieces have not yet been put into print.

But building up a music program doesn't mean everything must be done at the beginning.

"Right now our goal is to do whatever we do perfectly," says Strain who concedes that means starting out "simple."

For instance, there probably won't be anything fancy at the first few football game half times. But by memorizing their music, something Strain requires, the students will be able to concentrate more on projecting their sound and on the half-time show itself.

While Strain will certainly be emphasizing the band aspect of the music department, he notes that the six music instructors within the school district are meeting on a regular basis to discuss the overall band and chorus program.

"We're taking a serious look to see where we are, where we want to go, and how to get there," sums up Strain.

More important pieces of furniture should not interfere with the set-up built in to a room. Balance large pieces of furniture in large areas, and small ones in a more cramped spaces. Every piece should be available for its particular function. Convenience plus beauty should be the rule of thumb for every part of your room decoration. A room that is beautiful should also be comfortable enough for everyday use.

Make your rooms beautiful with a fresh coat of paint or unusual wall-coverings. You'll find it all at GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-1110. We carry the famous FULLER-O'BRIEN PAINTS and over 100,000 wallpaper patterns to choose from. We will be happy to come to your home or office to color coordinate your wall-covering at no extra charge and we will help you select colors, patterns and finishes that complement your furniture, drapes and carpeting.

HANDY HINT:
