Stone's furniture store destroyed

A raging fire totally consumed Stone's Unfinished Furniture Store and all its contents early Monday morning.

The inferno was reported shortly after midnight by a Griswold Street resident who saw the flames leaping skyward.

Cause of the blaze at the corner of Main and Hutton streets has not yet been determined but it is thought to have started in the rear of the building housing heating units.

Michigan State Police arson investigators were on the scene later Monday morning conducting a complete investigation in the still smoldering ruins.

Portions of the roof and north side of the building were already destroyed when the Northville Fire Department arrived on the scene. Three pumpers along with 20 men from the department battled the blaze throughout the night.

Fire Chief Herman (Bud) Hartner said the department responded within three minutes of the call but commented that the fire had already been "going for a considerable length of time" before its discovery.

Within minutes of their arrival, firemen watched as the front windows blew out sending flying glass into the street. Then the east wall of the large masonry building collapsed scattering debris across the parking lot.

Fireman Richard Holloway was slightly injured when he was struck on the leg by one of the falling concrete blocks. Holloway continued to help battle the stubborn blaze.

Completely stocked with unfinished furniture and equipment, the fire raged on throughout the night. Firemen were still on duty at noon pouring gallons of water on the smoldering mass. Efforts were hampered somewhat by large amounts of tar on the roof feeding small embers buried under the rubble. A crane was ordered to demolish the still standing but dangerous west wall before it crumpled onto Hutton Street.

According to Robert Boshoven of Northville, who together with Matt Twomey of Bloomfield Hills owned the business and building, it was a total loss of about $300,000. The building and property alone were valued at $200,000.

The building contained more than the usual amount of equipment and merchandise because Boshoven and Twomey said they "were buying two of everything" in preparation for the opening of a second store in Warren in early November. They still plan to open that store on schedule.

Boshoven said he hoped, "financing permitting," to rebuild the business here as soon as possible. "It's an ideal location and Northville is my home," he said. The building and contents were totally insured the owners said.

"Although all our records have gone up in smoke, furniture ordered by customers probably will be supplied out of the Warren Store. We only hope everyone has hung on to their deposit receipts," relations with the city and we shouldn't make mountains out of this kind of thing. We need them more than they need us."

Township hall plan nixed

Motion to expand and update plans for a township police-fire complex and to apply for a federal Public Works Grant to build it failed by a split 4-3 vote at last Thursday's meeting of the Northville Township board.

Treasurer Charles Rosenberg, before the vote, stated the feeling of those voting against the motion, saying, "We don't need and couldn't afford it if we had it."

Also voting against spending up to $2,500 to enlarge present plans for the complex and applying under the new grant program for funding were Supervisor Betty Lennox, and trustees John MacDonald and James Nowka.

Dr. John Swienkowski, who voted for the motion with Clerk Clarice Sass and trustee Richard Mitchell, said he didn't "feel in good conscience that we can kiss this opportunity (to get a township building, free) goodbye."

mediate need for the other building.

Mitchell, saying it was the board's responsibility to the people of the township, asked members to evaluate the present situation and consider spending the $2,500 figure given by Ralls Hamill Becker Carne, Incorporated, architects who did the original plans, to apply for funding for a building worth $700,000.

In response to a question from the audience Clerk Sass stated it was too late for the matter to be placed on the November 2 ballot for a vote of the residents and that she does not know whether application still can be made after the new board takes over November 20.

The same 4-3 voting coalition continued as the board considered purchase of pocket monitors for volunteer firemen.

allocating $1,900. A first motion that it be tabled until bids were taken was defeated, 4-3.

Rosenberg told the board that "this township must recognize we are in a sensitive stage with our

Township defers library funding

Leo T. Dinnan, director of the Wayne County Federated Library System, appeared at the meeting of the Northville Township Board of Trustees last Thursday to discuss upcoming costs.

He was invited to attend the October session after the township received a warning that, if any substantial changes in the level of services or support are to be made, they should be done about December 1.

This is the beginning of the new fiscal year for the system.

Notice was sent to the township, Dinnan said, as its situation following the recent millage vote was unclear and he, therefore, was seeking a statement of intent.

During the discussion Treasurer Charles Rosenberg explained that the township was being asked to make a commitment that was impossible for it to do at this time as its fiscal year ends next March.

It was pointed out that the board membership will change after the November 2 election, and the present board did not feel it could

Snag endangers teacher pact; hint slowdown

A hang-up in the proposed teacher contract, tentatively agreed to last week, threatens formalization of the settlement, it was learned this week.

What's more, teachers are so unhappy with the turn of events that Northville may soon be facing a "slow-down" in work performances by teachers as occurred in neighboring Plymouth, an NEA officer said.

Although both sides at the bargaining table have declined to discuss contract specifics, The Record has learned through a teacher that the issue concerns retirement pay provisions.

The proposed contract reportedly called for the district to pay half of the retirement insurance, beginning in February, and that teachers would assume the other half (2 1/2 percent) of the cost during the first year of a two-year contract.

However, after both sides had agreed to accept this shared cost, it was subsequently learned by the board's chief negotiator that shared cost is "illegal". Still later, according to Burton Knighton, director of personnel, it was learned that an "unwritten administrative policy" at the state level prohibits shared retirement costs. It reportedly states that the board must pay all or none of the retirement outlay.

Beginning next year, state law will require that school districts provide full retirement benefits.

Teachers charge that the board's attorney knew in advance that shared cost is not now possible.

"Deceived is the mildest term to describe their present feelings about the actions of Mr. (Thomas) Schwarze, the board's attorney," according to an NEA release issued Tuesday.

"The present reversal of the tentative agreement announced October 11 has resulted from the disclosure, by Mr. Schwarze to our chief negotiator, that the economic package will be illegal. Mr. Schwarze chose to make this disclosure after the (NEA) made it clear that it would be necessary to delay the ratification vote until after the ESY vacation was over.

"Legal consultants for the teachers have since indicated that it is inconceivable that Mr. Schwarze was not fully aware of the illegality of the economic proposal while it was being bargained."

The teacher's chief negotiator, Rick Cross, when contacted by this newspaper, admitted that part of the responsibility was his in not "catching" the mistake. Nevertheless, he contended that Schwarze, an attorney with wide background in teacher contracts, "had to know" shared cost for retirement is not permitted.

Cross, like Dr. Knighton, said it would be unfortunate to permit the shared-cost hangup to jeopardize the entire contract. Both voiced determination to try to resolve the problem through negotiation.

No date has been set, however, for the two bargaining teams to meet.

retirement pay hitch, teachers also are dissatisfied with "at least" 20 areas in the contract where, they contend, wording has been inserted or omitted by Schwarze that had not been verbally agreed to or discussed.

Meanwhile, it has been learned that the NEA executive board met Monday night to reject the contract. According to one NEA officer, the rejection was by unanimous vote. However,

Naomi Poe, president of the NEA told The Record that the vote "was not unanimous" and that it was not a rejection of the contract but rather "a decision not to take the proposal to the membership" until after economic differences have been ironed out.

Mrs. Poe also expressed hope that the problem can be resolved.

However, Barbara Le

NEWS BRIEFS

She's queen!

LATE ARRIVAL of parade floats for half time ceremonies was blamed for cancellation of the traditional field introduction of the Homecoming Queen and her court. High School Principal Michael Tarpinian said the Mustang team would have faced a 15-yard penalty if start of the second half had been held up for the ceremony. Northville was blanketed by Farmington Harrison, 34-0. See Homecoming pictures on page 7-A.

NORTHVILLE'S OFFICIAL annual report as required by state law appears on page 4-D of this edition. It includes reports of activities of the school district's past year along with a progress report by the superintendent.

Northville School Board's proposed new budget came under heavy fire here on Monday at the public hearing. See Page 9-C.

Mae Ely marks century birthday

"She's remarkable."
"She certainly doesn't look 100."
"She's a pleasure to be around."

These are the comments of friends and those who care for Mrs. Mae Ely, a long-time Northville resident who has made her home at Presbyterian Village on Six Mile Road for 10 years.

They were made in conjunction with Mrs. Ely's century birthday Monday, which was celebrated in the Pratt unit where she lives with a party complete with cake.

Mrs. Ely is the widow of Willard Ely, a Northville supervisor for 25 years and a Mason here.

Mae Ely was born Mae Gyde and grew up in South

Lyon, her son, James, who lives in Highland, reports. Her husband was a native of Ypsilanti, and they came to Northville after they were married.

Mrs. Ely also has a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Brady of Southampton, New York. She has six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

While living in Northville she was an active member of the Order of Eastern Star and of her Presbyterian church circle. Members of Mary circle visited her last week to extend congratulations on her 100th birthday.

Flowers and Halloween decorations were part of the festivities Monday. Her special birthday also was acknowledged with a card from President Gerald Ford.

In Our Town Here's bouquets for Kalota sisters

By JEANDAY

THE KALOTA SISTERS — Jan and Liz — are sharing the celebrity spotlight.

Seventeen-year-old Jan, a senior at Northville High School, was crowned homecoming queen in ceremonies last Friday. She was introduced at half time ceremonies during the football game and reigned at the dance at the high school Saturday night.

Her sister, Liz, 21, a senior at Eastern Michigan University, has been getting rave notices as she stars in the EMU Players offering "Of Thee I Sing."

The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Kalota of 44102 Cottisford Court in Brookland Farms. At home they're outnumbered by five brothers, Tim, Alex (just home from the Marines), Dave (an EMU sophomore), Joe, 13, and Mike, 9.

"They love those shows," says their mother, telling how all the older youngsters have been active in high school presentations.

Jan presently is student director for "Royal Gambit," the story of Henry VIII and his six wives, to be presented at the high school November 5-6, and 12-13. She's also a baton twirler with the marching band. She's thinking of attending Eastern next fall.

Liz, more formally Elizabeth, was cited as "standing out, professionally, above the rest" by Ypsilanti Press critic Bernard Decker as he reviewed "Of Thee I Sing" last week. It runs through Sunday at the Quirk Auditorium in Ypsilanti. (See picture, page 5-D.)

Liz is cast in the role of the girl presidential candidate John P. Wintergreen marries in the musical comedy. Decker says, "she not only has a marvelous stage presence and the perfect All-American-girl appearance but a voice like an angel that does justice to Gershwin songs like the title one and "Who Cares."

Liz will graduate in June with a major in theatre arts. Last summer she was featured in the town hall revue in Greenfield Village and in the museum presentation, "Our American Cousin."

Her mother thinks she was "in every play" they did during her high school years. The 1973 honor graduate especially loved the role of Liesl in "Sound of Music," her mother recalls.

JANET EILBER, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merner Eilber of 229 Hutton, is the lead dancer with Martha Graham's famed dance troupe.

Last Thursday night she danced with Michigan's most distinguished citizen, President Gerald Ford, after performing for him at the White House. She was invited to do so as Martha Graham received an award for her contribution to the arts. After presenting two interpretative dance solos, she was asked to dance by the president.

Miss Eilber is a graduate of Interlochen Arts Academy, where her father, Charles Eilber, was first a math teacher and then director. The Charles Eilbers now live in Madison, Wisconsin, where he is on the suburban Middleton High School administrative staff while working toward his Ph.D. at Wisconsin.

Miss Eilber then studied at Juilliard School in New York where she now lives. This week, however, she's in Spain where she has joined the rest of the Martha Graham troupe on tour.

Such far-flung tours aren't unusual. Last spring Janet and the troop performed in Coventry Garden in London before the Queen Mother.

The President, of course, knew he was dancing with another Michigander.

NEWCOMERS next ladies day event, reports President Claudia Berry, is a trip to Ford Auditorium November 12 for a Detroit Symphony Coffee Concert. A bus will be leaving Northville Square at 9 a.m., returning about 1 p.m. A "bonus" will be a free coffee hour and mini fashion show.

Reservations at $6 are being accepted until October 25 by Pam Urban, 349-6733.

Date for the annual Newcomers dinner dance has been set. It will be May 14 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

This year organizations have spaced their dinner dances well. Northville Mothers' Club has announced its dance will be April 2 at Meadowbrook while Northville Historical Society has reserved February 26 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

CHINA AND CRYSTAL, a subject of interest to most women, will have "its making and its differences" explained to Northville Woman's Club members by an expert at 1:30 p.m. this Friday at First Presbyterian Church.

Ernest A. Weiler, manager and acting buyer of the Cricket Box in Plymouth, will be the speaker. The store is Michigan's sixth largest for glassware and china and features the largest selection in tabletop patterns in the metropolitan Detroit area. It also is opening a second store in Fairlane Towne Center October 29.

"I HOPE we become a plus at the Mill Race," reported Sue Holstein modestly as she began to organize a docent corps for Northville's historical village off Griswold Street last summer.

The project might be termed an instant success as Mrs. Holstein, now assisted by Peg Beard, has had about 80 interested women sign up, enabling the Mill Race buildings — the old library, Hunter house and the Yerkes house — to be open to visitors from 1 to 4 p.m. each Saturday and Sunday.

There is no charge to tour the village. Visitors also may look inside the Wash Oak schoolhouse in the process of being restored and see the little Gothic cottage just moved to the site.

Because Mrs. Holstein and Mrs. Beard as well as the historical society are much concerned that information given to visitors about the buildings be accurate, they scheduled three training sessions, the third just completed Tuesday, for volunteers.

Anyone who signed to be a docent or any other women interested are invited to attend a final make-up session slated for 9:30 a.m. November 30 in the old library.

News Around Northville

Northville Business and Professional Women's Club will hear Joyce Mallory, immediate past president of the state BPW federation, at its dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Northville Park Haus.

She will speak on "What Is BPW — What Does It Do for Me or What Can I Do for It."

Women interested in becoming a member of the club are invited to attend and learn what BPW has to offer. Those planning to attend are asked to call Mrs. Laura Hartlep, 349-7498.

While autumn leaves are falling and it's almost a year until next summer's marching band camp, members of the Northville High School Marching Band are looking ahead.

Members still are available to rake leaves for area residents this Saturday with proceeds to go toward the camp. In event of rain they will rake October 30.

Residents wishing this help may call Mrs. Richard Clegg, 349-4389 or Mrs. Robert Norris, 349-3674.

Advance orders are being taken now for pumpkin bread which annually is baked by band members or their mothers and sold in a street sale the Sunday before Thanksgiving. Mrs. Mary Whiteside, 349-8472, and Mrs. Marcia Frid, 349-1959, are taking requests.

Decorating ideas for fall and Christmas will be demonstrated at a design clinic and workshop to be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Northville Square.

The staff of Four Seasons Flowers and Gifts of 149 East Main Street will conduct the workshop, which will be free to the public. It is to include dried flower arranging.

Recruit volunteers for annual UF drive

Northville's 1976 Torch Drive effort will involve more than 140 Northville volunteers by the final turn-in deadline, November 1, states Mrs. Jane S. Watts, Division Leader.

Four area leaders, Hazel Coon, Pat McGuire, Margaret Sievert and Judy Somershoe secured 23 neighborhood leaders who in turn secured approximately 115 "Door Belle" ringers.

These volunteers hope to gather over $4,000 in community contributions to help provide operating funds for nearly 140 health and community agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Two big pluses for the United Foundation are that it helps everybody directly or indirectly, Mrs. Watts points out, citing the figure that one out of every three people in the metropolitan area is helped by the services of one or more of the UF participating agencies.

Secondly, just a little over five cents of every dollar contributed is spent for the Torch Drive campaign and the year-round cost of operating the UF. This is due in large part the contribution of time and effort on the part of the volunteer, she adds.

More volunteers are needed to ensure full coverage of the Northville Community. Anyone with one or two spare hours, between now and November 1, please call Mrs. Watts, 453-0217, to offer time to the Northville Torch Drive.

"Most people serve something at the end of an evening of bridge, but it varies from a frozen food department cake to something homemade like a nutbread," observes Barbara Lesperance.

With her partner and neighbor, Sylvia Donkers, Mrs. Lesperance is a veteran of several years' play in Northville Mothers' Club marathons bridge tournament. She's also an excellent baker who doesn't mind the effort it takes to prepare a special treat like her Danish pastry recipe.

Rich and tasty, this served-hot treat would be as welcome at a family breakfast or neighborhood coffee.

The recipe, Mrs. Lesperance recalls, came from a women's magazine she read while living in California about eight years ago. It traveled with her when the family crossed the continent to Connecticut.

Mrs. Lesperance has been making the pastry as one of her "standards" since moving to her colonial home on Robinwood in Northville Colony four years ago.

"The first time I made it, it was an eight-to-five process," she recalls, mentioning that she since has simplified the procedure, which she is sharing.

The recipe will make from 36 to 50 pastries, depending upon how large a pastry is desired.

DANISH PASTRY

1 1/2 c. butter (3/4 lb.) slightly softened
 3/4 c. unsifted all-purpose flour
 1/2 c. warm water (105-115 degrees)
 2 pkg. active dry yeast
 1 egg
 3/4 c. cold milk
 One-third c. sugar
 1/2 tsp. salt

With wooden spoon, cream butter until smooth. Add 1/4 c. flour. Stir until well blended.

Place on a sheet of waxed paper on a damp surface and cover with a second sheet. Roll to 11 by 9-inch rectangle with rolling pin. Refrigerate 20-30 minutes.

Sprinkle yeast over warm water in large bowl, stirring until dissolved. Add milk, egg, sugar and salt. Mix until blended.

Beat in 3 c. flour with wooden spoon; continue to beat until smooth and elastic, about five minutes. Stir in remaining half-cup flour and beat two minutes longer. Dough will be soft.

Covered, refrigerate dough, 10 minutes.

Sprinkle pastry cloth with flour. Turn dough onto cloth. Sprinkle with flour. Roll out to 14-by-12-inch rectangle.

Peel top sheet of paper from chilled butter mix. Invert over dough a half-inch from end. (Butter will cover two-thirds of dough.) Starting with unbuttered side, fold dough in thirds, making three layers.

Starting from center, roll out to 14-by-12-inch rectangle.

Lay on cookie sheet. Cover and refrigerate 15 minutes. Repeat rolling and folding three more times.

FILLING: 2 cans prepared almond (Solo) filling, or nuts, or fruit filling.

Use half the dough; roll to 12-by-14 inches. Cut into four three-inch strips. Lay filling in center and fold edge to edge, sealing with fingers. With side of hand, divide the strip into four sections, pressing to seal.

Cut along this line. Make slits in sealed edge to fan out like a comb.

Place on a cookie sheet and cover. Keep in refrigerator up to three days.

To bake: Remove from refrigerator 10-20 minutes to bring to room temperature. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Bake five minutes at 400 degrees; then turn heat down to 350 degrees and bake 20 minutes or until golden brown.

Cover with icing if desired.

In cool weather Mrs. Lesperance serves another favorite recipe, cranberry tea. Even her four children, she mentions, enjoy it as a change from hot cocoa. She gleaned it from friends who served it in place of alcoholic beverages.

CRANBERRY TEA

Heat a quart of cranberry juice cocktail, or cranberry juice, at least 15 minutes with 10 whole cloves, a stick of lemon, two cinnamon sticks and a fourth cup of sugar.

Brew separately six cups of strong tea. Remove spices and combine, serving hot.

Broomfield backs business, Becker schools in race

Broomfield...

If big business needed a friend, it has one in William Broomfield, conservative Republican incumbent from the 19th District who has been in Congress since 1957.

Broomfield says flatly that the 1977 emission control deadline for the automotive industry is unrealistic and that as a result Congress should vote to extend that deadline to 1980.

"There's a need for more realistic goals the industry can meet," the 54-year-old Republican said. "What I object to are unattainable goals. Why close up business — the auto industry — with 750,000 unemployed?"

That unemployment figure is no figment of the imagination to Broomfield. It's a sure-fire thing, he believes, if Congress persists in the 1977 deadline.

He might even be willing to extend the emission control deadline beyond 1980.

"If it's necessary, yes," he said. "But I feel this extension will satisfy the requirements. The auto industry deserves great credit for the progress it has made."

Despite his stance on the emission control deadline, Broomfield says he's concerned about the environment, and points to his 'yes' votes on national land use planning and strip mining restoration to back up his claim.

Philosophically, the Birmingham Republican believes that helping business is the only way of providing a long-range solution to unemployment.

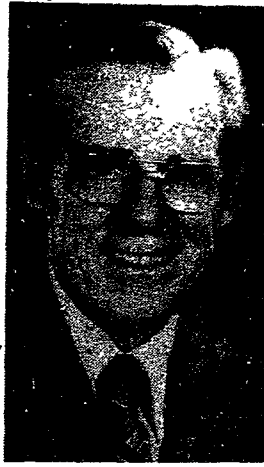

Government created jobs, he contends, are of short duration. He, for instance, voted for the federal Public Works Employment Act which will provide billions nationally for employment of the unemployed.

The long-range solution, he says, is creating a good climate so that there will be more capital formation for business expansion and creation of new jobs, jobs of a permanent nature.

This approach, Broomfield says, separates the Republicans from the Democrats.

"The Democrats feel basically that more government spending creates jobs," the ## Becker...

An emphasis on solving educational problems is what Dorothea Becker says she will be taking to Washington if elected to the United States Congress as 19th District representative in November.

Mrs. Becker, a first grade teacher in the Pontiac School District for the past five years, says that the federal government should provide a greater commitment to education via funding, especially in poorer communities with lower tax bases.

"Youngsters have a right to an equal education," says the 50-year-old candidate from Birmingham. Stating that she has visited first grade classes in various school districts throughout the country, Mrs. Becker says that additional funding is necessary, particularly to improve the primary grade offerings where the basics are learned.

Mrs. Becker cites full employment as the means to raise further tax dollars to help education and says she will work toward that goal.

On the issue of busing, Mrs. Becker says that she realizes the need for high quality education for all students but that there "should be other answers" than busing.

"If the federal government can dictate segregation and busing, they should provide the funds," contends Mrs. Becker.

Noting that the Pontiac School District and others have had to cut to the bone in the past few years because of poor funding and state aid cutbacks, Mrs. Becker also says that the federal government and the state government must work together in balance to solve funding problems.

On the crime problem, Mrs. Becker says firmly that "we must feel safe on the street." She sees the problem of overcrowding of prisons and jails as the reason many criminals are back out on the streets after committing crimes.

"People shouldn't be released from jail, just because they're overcrowded."

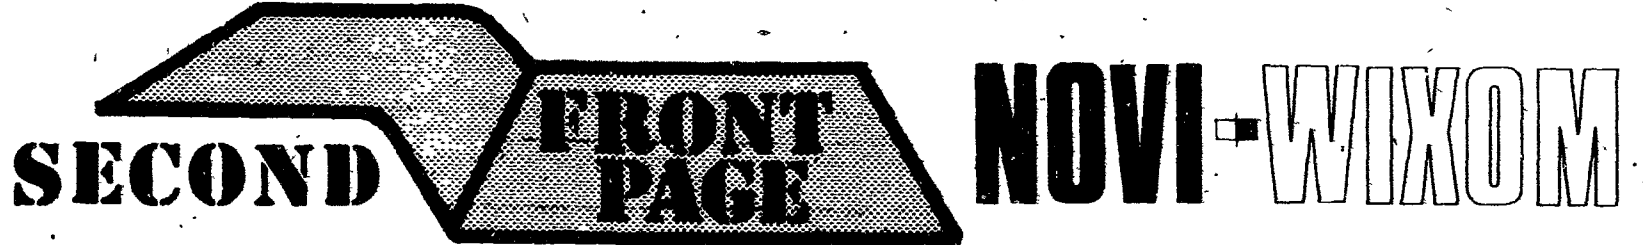

"We must have enough places to send people if convicted," she says. Rehabilitation as well as education and employment opportunities are also needed to a greater extent.

County blamed as 'downtown' wells dry up

Her highness

With a beaming smile Novi homecoming queen Jeanne Withers receives a bouquet of carnations and the crown from 1975-76 homecoming queen Mary Fisher during half time activities of Friday's homecoming game. The 18-year-old Miss Withers was selected by the student body for the honor in voting on Thursday. Other seniors in the running for

Sewer project calls for dewatering

A sewer line being installed to service the Twelve Oaks Mall is being blamed as the reason upwards of 20 businesses and homes in the Novi Road-Grand River area of Novi are without water.

Most have been without water for over a week and prospects are that the problem could last a month longer unless legal efforts by residents are successful in stopping the sewer line so that alternate methods of providing running water for those affected can be found.

Specifically, construction of a sewer line from the Novi interceptor behind Michigan Tractor on Novi Road (south of Grand River) north to the shopping center is being blamed for the sudden lack of water.

"In construction of a sewer, you must dewater ground to keep the water below the excavation so the walls don't cave in," explained Davis. "Usually it affects the water table only about 100 feet. This time it's a quarter mile. We didn't expect it."

According to Davis, the Oakland County DPW, which is having the line installed for the city, is lowering the water table only 10 feet.

"All the wells we dewatered will be 20 to 28 feet deep," said Davis. "At this time all we can do is deliver five-gallon containers. In other areas we've been able to connect people temporarily to city water but we can't do that here."

He added that the sewer work will take another 3-4 weeks to finish.

Currently about 80 gallons of water is being trucked into Novi daily to service homes and businesses without water, according to Davis. Approximately 60 of those gallons are going to D&Z Standard at the corner of Grand River and Novi Roads.

Leo Harrawood, an owner of D&Z Standard as well as another nearby factory said that both buildings are without water.

"I've talked to everyone I can talk to," he said. "I'm afraid there's going to be a big lawsuit if someone doesn't get off their fanny."

Harrawood said that the Standard Station has had a 110-foot well since 1955 and "never once had there been a bit of trouble."

Explaining that he had gone throughout the area talking with homeowners and area businessmen, Harrawood disputed the county's claim that only 11 businesses and homes were without water.

D&Z Standard almost found itself shutdown by Novi's building department last week before it started receiving the trucked in water.

"Where there are employees, there must be restroom facilities," explained Director of Building and Safety Earl Bailey. "How does a man wash his hands before he eats? It's a question of sanitation."

Bailey added that since the water is being trucked in, "We're not going to require them to shut down."

James Hamilton, an employee at D&Z Standard complained that water is creating a very big problem. "Water's a big thing here. We have to clean our bays and keep our stations presentable."

He added that the restrooms cannot be used.

Reportedly, other businesses without water include the Typewriter Shop, Harbin Funeral Home and Waggoner Printing. Several homes in Novi Heights subdivision and north of Grand River in the 11 Mile Road area also are without water.

Gerald Trotter, owner of Trotter's Barber Shop on Grand River complained that his home on 11 Mile has no water while his barbershop does — despite the fact his home has a shallower well than the barbershop.

"There are approximately 30 to 40 families without water," said Trotter. "The thing that bothers me is that they'll deliver 25 gallons but it takes three gallons just to flush a toilet. Even with just two of us it makes it tough."

Trotter, as well as Jack Hall of D&Z Standard and resident Florence Martin have retained Northville Attorney Charles Simkins to try and solve the problem through legal channels.

"We are sending out letters to the construction company and to the City of Novi to see how sensitive they are to our problem," said Martin. "If we can't do anything, we will contemplate filing a lawsuit."

Simkins said such a lawsuit would seek monetary damages while also seeking an injunction to stop the project until a suitable means of providing running water for the affected residents is found.

He added that if the project takes a month to complete, as estimated by Oakland County, "undoubtedly" the lawsuit will be filed.

"Some provision has to be made for these people. You can't take water away with a public project and expect the courts to approve of it," said Simkins.

He added that if a lawsuit is filed, he will contact other residents without water and seek to have them join the suit.

Meanwhile, City Manager Edward Kriewall said that "We realize this kind of thing sometimes occur when they dewater, but we are getting concerned about the duration."

"We sent a letter out to the affected areas and advised them who to call at Oakland County. We advised them to hook up to a neighbor. We told them not to engage a well contractor."

Kriewall added that interestingly, the city hall which has a 60-foot well has not been affected by the dewatering and suggested that other factors may be entering into the loss of water in the Grand River-Novi Road section.

The city manager said he was informed by City Engineer Harry Mosher that in similar cases that have gone to court, the contractor won because the judge found he had as much right to use water as anyone.

Novi budget adopted despite poor turnout

Following a public hearing with only one resident of the community in the audience, Novi School Board last Thursday approved a $4.26 million budget for the 1976-77 school year.

Only changes to the budget as originally proposed took into account higher state aid figures because of the fourth Friday court. Anticipated revenue is about $30,000 higher than the previous $52,000 expected from the state initially.

While total expenditures are expected to reach $4.26 million, revenues will total $4,381,000 increasing the estimated fund equity June 30, 1977 to $264,000.

The additional fund equity of $145,600 is caused mainly by the extra 3½ mills voted by residents last year. Intent is to use the fund equity next year when the new high school opens for operating expenses.

Board unanimously approved the budget after Trustee Ray Murphy commented "We're talking about a budget of over $4 million and we had one member of the community here for the public hearing. I'm kind of amazed."

Board eyes 'site' fund use

The November 11 Novi School Board session could last longer than normal.

That possibility certainly exists if a two-hour discussion last Thursday on the two building and site funds is any indication. The main determination to come out of the discussion was a decision to limit the November 11 agenda and go at it again.

Specifically the school board is wrestling with the questions of:

-how much money is left in the 1970 and 1974 building and site funds;

-what was promised to the voters and how much of it can be accomplished with what is left;

-what would be the best way to utilize the funds remaining if everything promised cannot be accomplished.

During the board meeting, members learned that the 1970 Building and Site Fund has a cash balance and anticipated receipt of $119,618 and that money is encumbered to the tune of $100,000 for future sites and $18,000 for library books. A total of $1,818 is unencumbered.

Left in the 1974 building and site fund is $1,174,544 with anticipated encumbrances of $245,000 including $140,000 for high school sanitary sewer taps, $46,000 water taps for high school, $31,600 for Taft Road paving in front of the new high school and $26,400.

There is a proposed encumbrance of $200,000 for additional school sites leaving $729,000 unencumbered.

The administration noted that the amount suggested for paving of Taft Road could be dropped because the school board is not required to join into special assessment districts.

In a financial analysis presented to the board, the total 1974 building and site fund totals $15,823,000. Total disbursements and encumbered funds of $14,648,395 include: Village Oaks addition, $209,000; high school remodeling, $537,000; new elementary, $1,563,823; new high school $11,550,643; site acquisition, $737,810; other $50,000.

This leaves an unencumbered balance of $1,174,544.

According to School Board Attorney Frederick Knauer, the 1974 referendum informed the public that the bond issue would provide monies to build a high school, two elementary, additions and renovations to schools, and the purchase of additional sites.

"We get involved in practicalities versus technicalities," said Knauer. "Technically you are obligated to do what you said.

Charter hearing set on ballot questions

The Novi Charter Commission has announced that a public hearing will be held Tuesday, October 26 at 8 p.m. at the Novi Administration Building on Taft Road to discuss advisory questions which were taken off the November ballot because of space problems.

Discussed will be the questions: Shall the new charter of the City of Novi provide for (a) election of the mayor at large? or (b) the selection of the mayor by the members of the city council from one of the members of the city council?

Shall the new charter of the City of Novi provide for (a) a seven-member city council being elected at large? or (b) a seven-member city council, three members being elected at large and four members nominated from four separate districts and then elected at large?

The charter commission is requesting that all interested residents attend the meeting to give opinions on the subject.

Lyricist at Town Hall

Alan Lerner shows there's place for romance

By JEANDAY

Alan Jay Lerner reminded a packed Northville Town Hall audience last Thursday that there's still romance in the world.

Listening to the famous lyricist at the opening of the 16th season at the Plymouth Hilton Inn was much like hearing phrases from his "My Fair Lady," "Gigi" and "Camelot."

The man who wrote romantic words to the music of Frederick Loewe for so many years drew applause when he sang his own songs.

He sounds a little like Rex Harrison (for whom he wrote the professor's role in "My Fair Lady") as he "talks" his way through a song.

He looks a little like Frank Sinatra in his slim days. He named Sinatra as his favorite popular male singer.

"I have never written a lyric in my life that was not for a character in a play," he points out, telling how he is drawn to the romantic theater and like "subjects larger than life, for if they were truly real there'd never be a third act."

He reveals that he's currently working on a new story that will be "joyous, amusing, dramatic with its location in southern Italy."

"There is a longing for good musicals," says the writer, citing the musical form as "the only real American invention in the theater—it is purely American. It is ours. It is what we are known for around the world."

"It will be a crime if American youth does not find, in the musical an avenue for the things we feel."

Lerner calls writers like himself "an endangered species."

"One of the malaises of the theater today," Lerner told his audience, "is that too few young people are cavalier about craftsmanship."

He feels there is too much concern about whether "young people will like it."

The theater, says Lerner, "is for people who like it of whatever age—who go to be transplanted and wanting to be seduced."

The songwriter also admits that he can't remember his own lyrics, recalling how Princess Margaret asked him to sing and he couldn't get beyond the first line, "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face."

For his appearance here he had before him the words to such songs as "Gigi," his personal favorite. It also is the favorite of Loewe, he adds.

Lerner capsules his theatrical success by saying it was determined by "a cigarette butt, a left hook and a wrong turn to the men's room."

Smoking a forbidden cigarette at Choate had him sent home to a father who decided against sending him to Europe to study for a diplomatic career.

He went instead to Harvard, seeing plays in Boston and writing. He also boxed until a left hook damaged the retinas of his eyes and kept him out of service.

He moved to New York where he became "a successful radio writer by day and an unsuccessful playwright by night."

The "wrong turn to the men's room" by Fritz Loewe, who had just lost his lyricist, was taken at the famous Algonquin Hotel where Lerner had taken up residence. The two then began a partnership that lasted until Loewe retired because of heart problems.

Detroit's Bernie Katz at the piano last Thursday did justice to the Loewe music, bringing applause as Lerner sang such songs as, "Why can't a woman be more like a man? Why can't a woman be like us?"

In this song from "My Fair Lady," Lerner explains he tried to capture the character of the language professor who was a misogynist.

Comedy, he told TownHall, is not as much trouble as a ballad to write. It took eight months, he cited, for the words, "Draw back the curtain, you'd be impressed—on a clear day, rise and look around you and you'll see who you are" for "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever."

This musical resulted from Lerner's interest in the occult, which he admits fascinates him.

Lerner says he was as surprised as anyone with the identification of "Camelot" with the Kennedy administration, recalling that it was "Mrs. Kennedy who said she kept remembering its lines in the days after November 22, 1963, and then they were headlined in New York papers."

In response to the question of which comes first, words or music, Lerner explains that it is an individual thing with each composer. With Loewe, the title and a "germ of an idea" came first with Lerner then putting lyrics to the music.

"You cannot write for an audience—you write for yourself and hope 'to God others will like it, too. It takes a lot of time and a lot of other people's money," Lerner continues.

He does write for specific actors, calling Rex Harrison

"a rare artist" and Kate Hepburn "the last of the sacred monsters and the last great star of the theater."

"Quite different was Maurice Chevalier. He was punctual and a craftsman."

It was Chevalier's comment to Lerner that growing old relieved him of all the problems of love that resulted in "I'm Glad I'm Not Young Anymore."

Asked at the celebrity luncheon following the lecture how he liked Barbra Streisand's renditions of his songs, Lerner termed her "an irritating artist—she has an extraordinary voice, but she sacrifices content for sound. I don't think good singers do this."

Of "Jesus Christ Superstar," he says, "I couldn't understand why the message of justice and peace had to be blasted into my head. When I got past this, I enjoyed it."

For himself, Lerner admits that, rather than getting hardened to the theater, "as time goes by I get more and more sensitive. When the applause comes, I begin to cry."

'Captain Kirk's' on college course

Captain James T. Kirk of the Starship Enterprise will be beaming onto the Schoolcraft College Campus October 29, at 8 p.m. for "Star Trek: An evening with William Shatner."

Shatner, who portrayed the commander of the star ship, will be doing a presentation on the phenomenal series, Star Trek.

The program will include film highlights of the program as well as the presentation by one of the series main characters.

Shatner has a long background in the performing field that began at an early age.

A native of Montreal, he began his acting at age 8 and

Troy Milligan named official

Appointment of Troy Milligan as Northville Township building official was confirmed unanimously at the October board meeting last Thursday.

Milligan, long-time electrical inspector for the township, had been serving as temporary building official since the resignation of Frank Martin for health reasons. Martin had been appointed in July to replace Carl Lundquist.

Lundquist had been the township building official from 1970 until his retirement.

later enrolled in the Children's Professional School in Montreal. On Saturday mornings, he did fairy tales and in the afternoon an adult drama series. By the time he enrolled in college in 1948, his voice was a very familiar sound on the Canadian airways.

A major turning point in Shatner's career occurred when he appeared in Stratford Festival's 1955 production of the Christopher Marlowe classic "Tamburlaine." Under the direction of Tyrone Guthrie, he portrayed the second male lead with Anthony Quayle. The play was so well received it was taken to Broadway where Shatner was brought critical and popular attention.

Shatner's versatility as an actor is illustrated most by his film roles. He has appeared in such films as "Judgement at Nuremberg," "The Explosive Generation," and "The Intruder," for which Shatner received the Best Actor Award at the International Peace Festival in 1965.

More recently the actor has broadened his career to include performances in "Pioneer Woman" with David Jansen and Joanna Pettit and "Pray for the Wildcats" with Andy Griffith. Shatner also guest starred in an episode of the hit series "Columbo" that was aired Oct. 10.

His hobbies include playing the guitar, singing, riding horseback, motorcycling, archery, water skiing as well as skin diving and photography. He also raises Doberman Pinschers.

His performance on the Schoolcraft College campus will begin at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. Schoolcraft students will be charged $1.50 in advance with guests at $3. All door sales will be $3. For more information, call 591-6400 Ext. 355.

Novi rest area included

State highway bids due

Bids are to be taken today in Lansing on three highway projects in this area.

Among these will be bids on construction of a modern rest area building, sidewalks and a water supply system on eastbound I-96 one-half mile east of Beck Road in Novi. Cost of this project — an upgrading of the existing rest area — is pegged at $125,000.

Other bids concern construction of 1.6 miles of M-14 freeway between a point 3,145 feet west of Beck Road, east to a point approximately one mile east of Beck Road, including grading, drainage structures, paving for cross-roads and service roads and construction of a bridge to carry Beck Road over the freeway.

Cost is estimated at approximately $3.3 million. Still another project involves paving 3.4 miles of I-96 between Newburgh Road and Warner Court in Livonia, including eight lanes of divided paving, and paving interchange ramps and freeway lighting at a cost of approximately $4.8 million.

The latter project is slated for completion by September of 1977; the rest area work is to be completed by August of 1977, and the M-14 project is scheduled for a November 1977 completion.

Homecoming 1976 features queens, floats, parades

Homecoming 1976 at Northville and Novi high schools last weekend meant floats and a Saturday night dance.

Marring festivities only slightly in Northville were a defeat to Harrison and a snafu at half time, making it necessary to eliminate the traditional walk across the field of the queen and her court.

Judges reviewed the floats of the classes and honor society, giving top place in Northville to the society's global float, left above, and second to the senior float, with an international theme. All were based upon the homecoming slogan, "It's a Small World."

Novi's Popeye

Novi freshmen had to overcome some stiff competition from their more experienced classmates, but did so to receive the honor of "best float" at Friday's homecoming game. A group of parents voted the freshman float, which depicts a Wildcat Pop-eye with a can of spinach, as the winner. The float had the theme "look out Brighton we ate our spinach" as its theme.

'Deadline's unrealistic'—Broomfield

Birmingham Republican said. "I feel we need strong business to pay taxes and create permanent jobs."

The Democrats, Broomfield maintains, are big spenders who have little regard for fiscal responsibility and have pushed the budget deficit to awesome figures. Currently, he says, the federal deficit is $700 billion dollars, which costs $40 billion annually in interest.

This year alone, he said, federal expenditures will exceed revenues by some $50 billion. And, if it had not been for President Gerald Ford's vetoes, the budget deficit this year would be an additional $16 billion, Broomfield noted.

"I think a balanced budget should be a goal," Broomfield said. "We cannot continue to spend more than is coming in."

Broomfield vehemently opposes the Humphrey-Hawkins bill and the national health care bill. As he put it, "You better believe I'm opposed to both."

The Humphrey-Hawkins bill, Broomfield explained, is designed to provide full employment and would cost an estimated $50 billion. The national health care bill would offer federally funded health care for everyone at an estimated cost of $150 billion.

Broomfield would like to see a health bill enacted, but one which would deal only with "catastrophic illness" and provide federal and state financial participation and state control of the program.

Defense spending, which exceeds $100 billion annually, should be maintained, Broomfield says.

"I'm going to support a strong national defense," said Broomfield, who is the ranking minority member on the House International Relations Committee. "I'm not going to take the meat axe to the defense budget."

He rejects the claim of Ronald Reagan, who lost the Republican presidential nomination to Gerald Ford, that the United States is second in defense preparedness to Russia.

"I think we're number one in the world defensively," Broomfield said. "It's important, if we hope to be successful in the SALT talks, we have to talk from a position of strength. I believe in negotiations with the Soviet Union for arms limitation."

Broomfield aligns himself with Ford, for years his colleague in Congress, on another issue of the presidential campaign — abortion.

"I have consistently supported the Hyde amendment which prevents the federal government from spending money in this area," he said. "I'm not opposed to all abortions. In certain circumstances, a person should be able to receive an abortion. But I'm opposed to the federal government being involved in the abortion business."

In this stance, Broomfield said he believes the abortion issue should be left to the separate states.

He points out, however, that he's not opposed to family planning.

One measure which Broomfield said he will work diligently for and one which should be a bi-partisan effort is the so-called Sunset bill. It would require re-examination of all federal government programs every five years to determine whether the programs should be continued, terminated or consolidated with other programs.

Commenting on the Presidential campaign, Broomfield concurred with several other observers who contend it is a campaign of non-issues.

"I don't hear much on the platform issues," Broomfield said. "The campaign seems to be devoid of major issues."

"I'm not sure Carter differs substantially with Ford on foreign policy. I think the difference is in domestic issues. But they have not been developed."

'Seniors' flu shots included

All senior citizens 60 years of age and over are being encouraged to participate in a free flu vaccine immunization clinic being held in Novi Tuesday, October 26.

Times for the clinic will be 12:30-2:30 p.m. at Novi Elementary School, 26350 Novi Road north of Grand River.

The immunization clinic is being put on by the Lakes Area Oakland-Livingston Human Service Agency Senior Citizens group in conjunction with the Oakland County Department of Health.

Based on the prospect that a "swine like" influenza virus will cause extensive disease this year, the Oakland County Department of Health is participating in the nationwide vaccination campaign to protect against the possibility.

Certain population groups have been identified as high-risk. Older persons, particularly those over 60 years, as well as persons of all ages who have chronic health problems such as diabetes, heart, lung or kidney disease should receive the shots although the Novi senior citizen clinic is for those 60 years or older only.

Reports concerning the death of three elderly people who died in a Pittsburg Clinic in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania only hours after taking the shots should not cause any alarm or panic according to Tri-County area health officials.

In addition to the senior citizen clinic in Novi, there will also be a clinic for all adults at Novi Woods Elementary on November 10 from 3-7 p.m. In addition, in Northville an immunization clinic for the general public is planned again on November 10 from 2-9 p.m. in the Northville High School Cafeteria.

In Walled Lake, a general public clinic is planned for Tuesday, November 16 from 3-7 p.m. at the Walled Lake Fire Hall, 1499 East Maple.

In Livonia, a clinic for high-risk persons will be held at Schoolcraft College both today (Wednesday) and Saturday, October 23 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The shots will be given in the phys. ed. building. The college is located at 18600 Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile.

The high-risk clinics use a form of bivalent serum that should not be used by the general public, only senior citizens and those with some

Speaking for The Record

Split services will cost taxpayer more

If statesmanship exists at the local level of politics in Northville, it must surface soon or taxpayers in the city and township will suffer for its absence.

A statesman, according to the dictionary, is a "political leader regarded as a disinterested promoter of the public good."

In the present atmosphere surrounding the question of shared services between the city and township it would be difficult to find agreement on what constitutes "public good". It would be impossible to reach accord on the selection of a "disinterested promoter".

It matters little why the community finds itself in such a predicament. It is important, however, to recognize that a breach exists, whether by design or circumstance.

On paper, partnerships (sharing of services) make good sense. Costs are reduced through joint use of facilities, administrators and personnel. Dual resources make possible the purchase of better equipment which may be given more efficient use.

But in reality, such partnerships can present difficulties.

Pact error remedied

We hope Northville teachers will not permit bitterness towards an opposing negotiator to cloud the issue of contract settlement.

Agreement was reached last week. Then a technicality arose presumably rendering the pact unenforceable in the eyes of state authorities. It is a trap that caught districts other than Northville.

Teacher spokesmen contend they were deliberately tricked and they point to other items in the signed agreement that they now find undesirable.

The board's spokesman says it was not a trick, but a mistake. And he proposes a compromise.

What's at stake is the board's willingness to pay one-half of the teacher retirement contribution until next September when, by law, the district must pay the whole shot.

Readers Speak

Setting Record straight

To the Editor:
The front September 29, 1976 issue carried a story about the new State Police Post being open for business. You made some observations about the new crime lab which must be corrected. As one of the people involved in this project, I will attempt to do that for you.

The following paragraph is taken from the article:

"A forgotten floor drain in the crime lab almost makes an emergency shower unit useless, a sink and running water were installed with the drain pipe ending in midair, and a nozzle marked air can shoot a stream of water clear across the room is opened." Firstly, the floor drain was not forgotten but was intentionally omitted since the use of the emergency shower was expected to be so infrequent as to make the mop-up of water resulting from its use a very small concern. The sink with the drain ending in midair is likewise connected with an emergency eye wash which hopefully will never have to be used. These are cost saving features built into the design instead of an oversight which might seem to indicate, to the layman, a lack of understanding of what the project is about.

Finally, a careful review of the crime lab tables will indicate many fixtures mounted the same as air valves but, in fact, carry hot water, cold water, distilled water, gas and vacuum as well as air. These many fixtures function as designed to the requirements of the State Police.

It might be appropriate for your reporter, when covering something as complex as a laboratory, to inquire of some knowledgeable individual such as the owner or the architect when circumstances appear "strange" to him or her. If you had listed the names of the companies involved in the project, such reporting could adversely impact on their reputation. More attention to details please.

Charles J. Lemont

There's a matter of priorities... of money... and of control.

Both partners may agree that fire protection deserves number one priority. But what comes next?

And if the partners can agree on priorities, can they decide how much money should be spent on each service? Do they have access to the same amounts of money?

And if, as is often the case in services shared between the city and township, all the controls seem to end up in the hands of one partner, resentment is certain to arise.

What should be important to all taxpayers in both the city and township, however, is that sharing of services can save money and provide a higher level of service.

It may be entirely proper for the elected officials of the city and township to bargain in the best interests of their respective constituencies. But it would be inexcusable if negotiations were severed and both city and township taxpayers were forced to pick up a larger tax tab for a lesser service.

Perish the thought that there exists non-statesmen who would welcome a split to build an empire.

Now word comes that a district cannot pay a portion, it must pay all or none.

As a compromise the board spokesman suggests the district will start paying 100 percent of the teacher retirement contribution at the midway point between now and September.

This would result in the same financial package that teacher negotiators accepted and signed last week.

There's no evidence that the board's negotiator deliberately inserted a provision that could not be ratified. Indeed, such an act would only serve to drag out an already testy bargaining session.

Let's face the fact that mistakes happen. And when they can be easily and fairly corrected, we ought not let emotion overcome reason.

STEVE ASSENMACHER

YES . . .

The President of the United States runs the Executive Branch of government by proxy.

It is impossible for the President to keep abreast of all the issues that face him every day. It is necessary for him to delegate some of his responsibility to others. The President does this by appointing individuals to serve as members of his cabinet. As members of his cabinet these individuals advise the president and act on his behalf.

The power that they have is second only to the president. They are in charge of departments that spend billions of dollars and often make decisions on their own that affect our daily lives. Yet they are unelected officials and answer only to the president.

Because of the tremendous power that cabinet members possess I believe the presidential candidates should announce prior to the election who they would have on their cabinet. This would assure that the candidates selected the best qualified people for their cabinet.

It would also force the presidential candidates to present a well planned program for their term in office if elected. But most important, it will assure greater responsiveness in the executive branch of government to the will of the people.

Stephen D. Assenmacher
Hartland

Speaking for Myself

Name cabinet before election?

FRED BAILEY

NO . . .

On November 2, the registered voters of the United States will vote for a president and a vice president.

Obviously all candidates will work toward their election on a coordinated platform. It can be assumed that a candidate has thought about possible cabinet appointments in advance of his election, but to announce his selection before election would do little to coordinate a platform.

The United States Constitution with its check and counter-checks has wisely given the Senate power to approve or disapprove the president's selections for the cabinet posts after his election, so that a previously announced list would be inappropriate and confusing.

While secret commitments might very well have been made to possible cabinet heads before election, it would be poor strategy to risk losing votes by naming people who, although qualified, may not meet the criteria of popular choice and thus lose votes instead of gaining them.

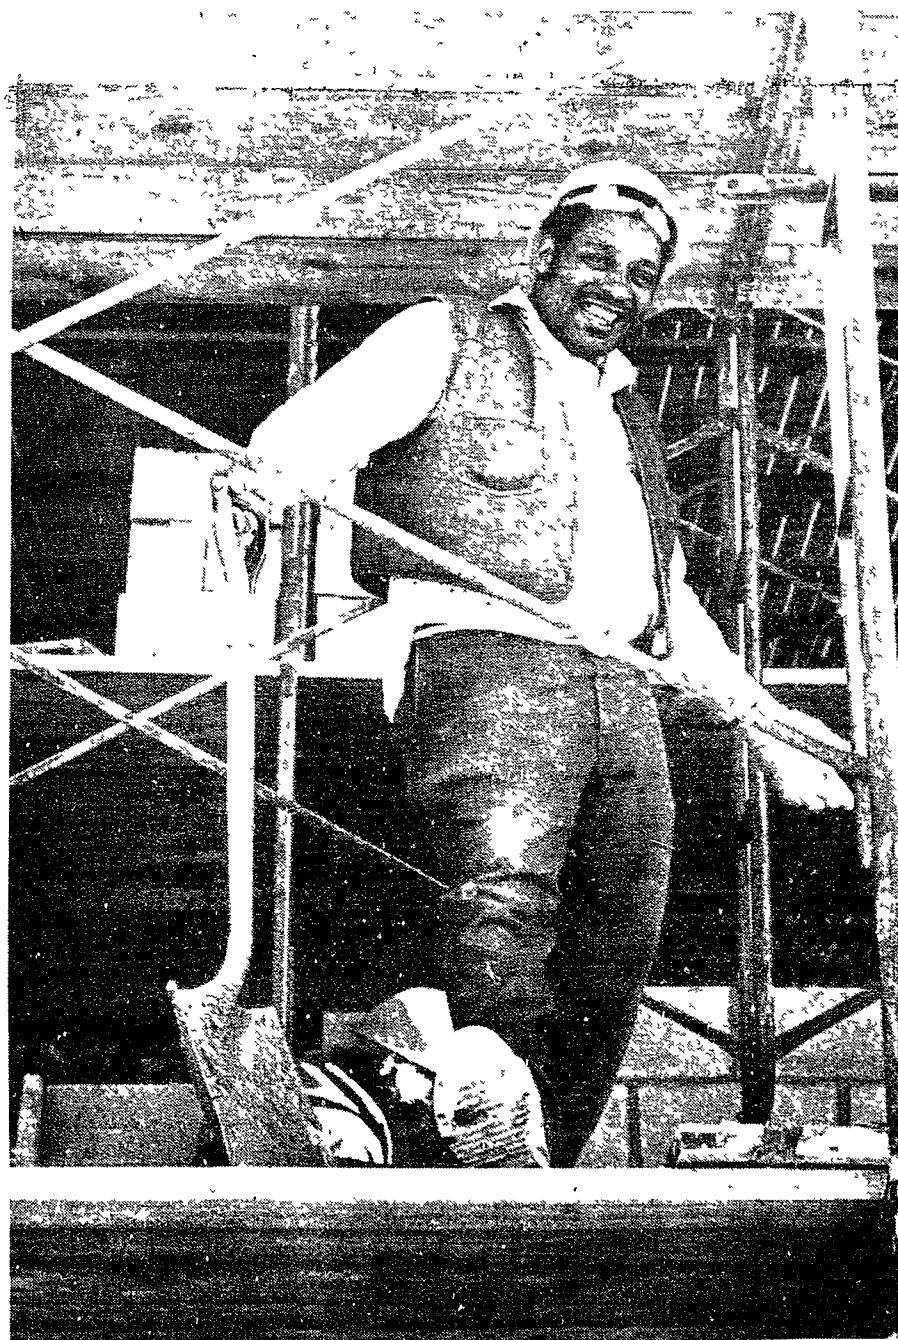

When we vote for the president and the vice president, our thinking should not be cluttered by the names of political appointees. We can be assured that they will be scrutinized very carefully later by our representatives who can delve into things we could not possibly be aware of in an election-type selection.

If we choose a president based upon an intelligent perusal of his platform, we do not have to choose the men to advise him but only make the choice for president our initial concern.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

At last it's happened: I've met someone who has participated in those much talked about television polls to determine what shows people are watching.

Until now it's been a suspicion of mine that these polls were imaginary methods of ridding the television airwaves of my favorites so network executives could spoon-feed us their preferences.

Not so, say Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vernon of Northville, who were "employed" by Nielsen Television Research to report what they watched on television during the week of September 30 through October 6.

"We had never met anyone who had been polled either," says Norma Vernon. "So when Paul (Northville's mayor pro tem) and I got the long-distance telephone call asking if we would participate it was a big surprise and a little thrilling. They had picked our names at random apparently out of a phone book."

Although the Vernons received their phone request from a midwestern state, materials subsequently received came from Nielsen's headquarters in Dunedin, Florida.

Incidentally, this material did not include a device to attach to the Vernons' television set as is the case in one poll service.

The material came to them with a cover letter signed by Art Neilson, Jr., president of NTR.

"Your household is one of many thousands across the United States invited to be a part of Nielsen TV ratings," the letter said. "When our telephone interviewer called long distance a few days ago, you (or a member of your household) agreed to help. We believe you will enjoy this survey week, knowing that your Viewing Diary will be a definite help to the TV industry. This may be one of your few chances to make your viewing preferences known."

The "Viewing Diary" is a small booklet, with pages for each of the days in the week in which the Vernons could write the names of the shows they watched, their times, and any comments they might like to make.

It came with two quarters — "a token of our appreciation."

A separate diary was sent to include watching information concerning a second TV set, a portable, in the Vernon home. But since they did not use the set during the week in question it was returned unanswered.

Two reminders also were sent — one to advise the Vernons of the starting date and the other to advise them that "your diary week is almost over. This is just a reminder to return your diary on Thursday... Please be sure the questions in the front and back of your diary have been answered... and that the name, age, and sex of each household member is entered on the inside of the front cover."

Young patrons

Library Board trustee Arvie Athas and board president Lawrence Meyerson hold their respective daughters Christi and Anne who Sunday became the honorary first persons to check a book out of the new Novi Library open at 10 Mile and Taft Roads. The youngsters were given the honor during dedication ceremonies of the library. The ceremony included a flag raising by Novi members of the Northville VFW post and ribbon cuttings for both the library and the community room which was dedicated in remembrance of the parents of the Fuerst sisters on whose family farm the library now stands. Attending the ceremony were local dignitaries including county treasurer C. Hugh Dohany and representative Richard Fessler who presented the library a state flag which had flown over the state capitol.

Nielsen promised the Vernons that "your name and diary information will be kept confidential" and that "no one will ever try to see you anything because of this survey."

NTR reportedly is the world's largest marketing research firm. It provides figures on television program audiences to over 600 users — including the television networks, hundreds of TV stations, and program sponsors.

Although the Vernons do not watch television often, Nielsen emphasized that their diary record was important "whether you watch TV many hours a week, a few, or not at all."

Among the comments this couple included in their diary was a note that they regretted that they had not been home to watch a favorite program — The Waltons.

"We were not able to see it the week of the diary, so we wanted to make sure they knew it is a program we normally watch and enjoy."

Bottle bill gets backing

To the Editor:

All branches of the Michigan State Division of the American Association of University Women support Proposal A, the "bottle bill", on the November second ballot.

The Northville branch wishes to reaffirm its position of support for this referendum which would prohibit the use of non-returnable bottles and cans for soft drinks and beer.

The broad problems of resource utilization and environmental protection are at issue here.

A positive vote for Proposal A on November second is a positive vote for a saving-of energy, an increase in employment, a reduction in solid waste and a more beautiful Michigan!

Novi HCD funds $84,000

While no explanation was given, Novi Council learned Monday that the city will receive $84,000 in Housing and Community Development (HCD) Grant monies for 1977. Previously the council had anticipated receiving only $36,300, the same amount it received in 1976 as based upon the 1970 census figures and a per capita amount.

The new figure was revealed Monday at an HCD public hearing which was much a replay of a public hearing held the previous week on use of the 1977 HCD monies. The question still remains unanswered if the city will be able to use any of the funds for projects below 12 Mile out of the target area. However, Assistant Manager John Merrifield said that he had learned the funds could be used in an area project which could expand outside the north end.

The HCD committee suggested that some of the 1977 funds could be used to add the frills to an activity center beachhouse which is to be built at Lakeshore Park in the north end with all of the 1976 funds. Donald Grevengood, chairman of the committee, said some of the 1977 monies could be used for lighting, parking and further facilities including different types of materials for the structure, as well as tile on the floor, kitchen facilities and fencing.

Council discussed briefly the possibility of a lake level control study which Larry Kern, a member of the Lakes Area Improvement Committee said would be a "worthwhile" project.

"If we don't do this, we won't have a lake much longer," he said. Council members indicated that eventually a drainage study as a whole will be necessary but Councilman Philip Goodman said that in previous public hearings residents had indicated they wanted the HCD funds used for something tangible. He added that even if the study is done, it will cost hundreds of thousands of dollars to implement the study.

Mayor Pro Tem Martha Hoyer argued, however, that "Walled Lake is the upper arm of the city's entire drainage system. A lake level study would have an ultimate benefit to the entire city." She added that South Lake Drive could not be paved while the problem exists of flooding over that road.

Becker pushes school aid

"The courts also have too high a workload negating the possibility of swift judgments," Mrs. Becker adds. Again she sees full employment as the means to further tax dollars to solve overcrowding of jails and lessening the workload on judges.

Though not fully in agreement with capital punishment, Mrs. Becker says, "I think in certain instances there are times it should be available such as in the Speck and Manson cases. I would not be averse to it."

However, she adds that it "should not be a tool like in the south 20 years ago" to take the lives of people at the whim of a judge. There must be definite guidelines, something the Supreme Court is currently working on, she asserts.

Mrs. Becker also favors reexamination of federal revenue sharing programs to determine if the money is being put to the best use. She indicates she would not favor elimination of federal revenue sharing, a fear which many communities have.

Mrs. Becker maintains that she would be a better representative than incumbent opponent William Broomfield who she contends is an "apologist for (president) Ford."

"He's done nothing to make the 19th District notable," charges Mrs. Becker. "It should produce something, be a leader and give input into congress."

"I think they (voters) should decide if they want an incumbent interested in the community. I think he (Broomfield) has a fine staff and they protect him. He doesn't come out to be seen and yet the people feel he's invincible."

Mrs. Becker maintains that Broomfield has been unsuccessful in returning enough tax dollars to the district as only 60 percent of the dollars paid to the federal government are poured back.

"I'm convinced about the rights he's denied children in school in Michigan," she also charges. "If you do nothing to assure the child has an adequate school district, then you're denying children their rights."

Mrs. Becker, who decided to become involved in government after the Watergate scandal and in an effort to "contribute something to the selection of candidates," contends that because she is a Democrat, she will be able to have more effect in Congress working within the majority party than Broomfield would have working with the Republican minority.

Boshoven said. Just how details will be handled; however, has not yet been determined.

The 60 x 126 foot building was constructed in 1946 by Roger Christensen of Novi who operated a Case Farm Implement dealership in it for three years. He had Motion to appropriate $1,900 as requested then passed, 4-3. City manager Steven Walters, who was in the audience said the city had voted on October 4 to appropriate its share.

The monitors proposed for purchase, he said, are small pocket-size receivers which are tone activated with a warning signal and supplement present home monitors by getting the immediate attention of firemen away from home.

At Nowka's request an expression of thanks to Ford Motor Company for its donation was to be sent.

purchased the then vacant property from the Ford Motor Company.

Christensen sold the implement dealership, which continued to occupy the building for two years until the business was dissolved. Christensen then had the building remodeled for the Kroger Company which occupied it for the next 10 years.

The building was again remodeled by Christensen and occupied by A&P for some 11 years before the building was finally sold to Gerald Stone.

Stone started the unfinished furniture business in June, 1970. He sold the business and building to Boshoven and Twomey but retained the warehouse building next door. Although Stone was no longer an owner, the business continued under his name.

Christensen recalled Monday that when he purchased the property from Ford, "the only thing that stood there then were two mounds where Ford grew perennial flowers."

Historically, the northeast corner is important because it was here during Northville's early history that one of the first school buildings stood—the Stone Schoolhouse—so-called because it was constructed of stones.

This building actually stood along Hutton Street at the rear of the furniture store site, overlooking what now is Ford Field.

Later, John Hirsch operated a blacksmith shop at the corner, erecting buildings and utilizing the old stone schoolhouse as part of his storage shed. The business was later sold to L. W. Hutton who lived on the opposite side of Main Street—once in the Greek Revival House since moved to the Mill Race Village on Griswold Street.

The blacksmith shop, later operated by Fred Wendt of Northville as an automobile repair garage, was razed in 1926 by Ford Motor and the foundation of the old schoolhouse removed.

Up in flames

Flames and smoke from Stone's Unfinished Furniture store could be seen for miles in the pre-dawn Monday blaze that completely destroyed the building and its contents.

Novi eyes school funds

But no one has been accurate in predicting inflation and costs. We cannot unilaterally change the minds of the voter. I addressed this question to the right person at the state board and you have to apply up there to use the money for a purpose other than what you applied for initially."

According to Knauer, the board by formal action must give the costs assigned to each portion of the project and inform the state of estimated cost of completion. Then the board must explain to the state why the costs are more than originally anticipated.

"We must give a statement on why the second elementary is not necessary and what that money would be used for," said Knauer.

Board feelings on what to do with the $700,000 remaining of the 1974 fund were mixed. At this moment, the board has not yet made a final decision on expenditures from that $700,000 for the athletic field at the new high school.

"I have the feeling that if we don't finish the high school, we'll go six or eight years without finishing it and that's more of a blight to the community than not finishing a second elementary school," stated board trustee Robert Wilkins.

He added that he would have no problem about going back to the voters for funds for the second elementary when it is needed.

Wilkins added that the district should not overbuild and noted that the next elementary building could be a core building which would utilize modular classrooms as wings.

Board also discussed briefly the purchase of future sites for new elementarys and Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz said that to round out buildings in the school district, needed will be three elementary sites of two if the old Novi Elementary should be used for classroom space. He added that a new building may not be necessary for 3-4 years.

Wilkins advised that some of the funds remaining after finishing the high school could be used for purchase of sites and possibly the purchase of "odds and ends" for the high school and elementary that could not be purchased out of the school operating budget.

high school would be the best use of the money remaining, especially since complete athletic field facilities exist less than a mile down the road at what is the current high school.

"Five hundred thousand dollars will buy a lot of books for the media center," commented Murphy.

"Even if we don't build a new elementary, we must make the best use of the dollars we can. If it comes down to it, it's no sin to just give $400,000 back to the people," he added.

Knauer advised that as soon as possible the board apply to the state board, if it should so decide to use the funds not to build another elementary. He explained that with more than anticipated being spent on the high school and elementary, the board should not be in a position of going to the state board after the fact and asking for permission to spend money on something when it has already been spent.

The administration is to come back to the November 11 regular school board meeting at the administration building with figures to back up the contention that a new elementary is not needed.

In addition the board is to discuss the completion of the high school and athletic field versus needs for a new elementary.

Hitch threatens teacher contract

Boeuf, was less confident that the situation could be resolved. He indicated teachers are fed up with Schwarze's double-dealing and she predicted a "slow-up" in work performance by teachers may begin soon.

According to Dr. Knighton, one of the ways the retirement pay problem could be resolved would be to delay its start until a point when the district could pick up the full 5 percent cost of retirement so that the actual amount of benefit realized by teachers would be the same as under the 2 1/2-2 1/2 percent shared proposal.

Cross, however, contended that this "solution" would mean teachers would receive delayed payment of part of their retroactive salary back to the start of this school year. "It's unfair; we should get all of the money due us immediately," he said.

Township defers library funding

make a commitment for the future board.

Dinnan was asked to return for the December meeting of the new board.

In his letter to the township Dinnan stated that until such time as the system is informed otherwise it will assume that existing relationships are to be maintained.

He said the practice of submitting budget plans to the city and township will be continued. The federated system, he pointed out, must recognize equities of all local communities and cannot compel one to assume costs chargeable to another.

If the township indicated an intention to reduce payments for services, it was stated, measures would be taken to place some limitation on borrowing and residents could be restricted from borrowing from other libraries in the system.

Dr. John Swienkowski questioned Mrs. Carolann Ayers, head of the Northville Library Commission, who was in the audience, if there would be an increase in expenses in the coming year.

She replied that much depends upon continuation of the lease agreement with Northville Square which terminates in June, 1977.

If the joint application for a federal Public Works Grant for a library building is approved, she said, a short time agreement would be sought.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

Cabernet Sauvignon is generally agreed among the experts to be the "aristocrat" of California grapes. Cabernet Sauvignon vines were first brought to California by early pioneers from Bordeaux, the great wine-producing region in France. The vines soon flourished in the warm climate and rich soil of Northern California. Today, there are over 5,000 acres of the grape grown in California. This Cabernet Sauvignon is medium bodied, dry, and exceptionally soft, with a distinctive fruity taste and fragrance.

You'll find a wide selection of wines from California as well as other areas when you come to us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. APPROVING—Molly Abraham tells Meadowbrook Country Club chef Heinz Liebe, center, and manager George Karydes that the club dressing is a good one. She usually doesn't visit kitchens, but the Detroit restaurant critic did so after her talk.

'BE ADVENTUROUS'—the critic urges 200 Northville Woman's Club members and guests at the Meadowbrook luncheon.

Molly Abraham

'Sampling only' helps keep restaurant critic slim

By JEAN DAY

Molly Abraham doesn't look or sound like a restaurant critic. She's too slim to have dined on restaurant meals for 10 years.

And she's positive rather than critical about the fare in restaurants in downtown Detroit and the suburbs.

"I only sample," she explains when asked how she manages to try out menus of at least two eateries each week.

Detroit is a surprisingly good restaurant town, she told members and guests of Northville Woman's Club at a luncheon meeting October 8 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

A tall blonde in blazer and plaid slacks, Ms. Abraham has written a weekly column on dining out in the Detroit area for 10 years for The Detroit News.

Last year she authored "Deatroit", a selective guide to restaurants in the Detroit area.

The guide is selective because the writer prefers to tell about places she likes and to omit those she doesn't.

"It's not always the expense account places that have good eating," she says, telling how she tries to vary the restaurants she visits. A recent favorite is a little vegetarian restaurant on the east side which she featured in her column.

She recommends that everyone make reservations if a restaurant takes them. Her own usually are made in friends' names.

"I don't have my picture on my column and I try to keep a low profile," she says as she feels the anonymity permits her to do her job better.

One of the few times she has been recognized, she told her Northville audience, was in Northville when she dined at the Drawbridge restaurant shortly after it opened in the former Northville Methodist Church.

"Suddenly they were ushered to a choice table, wines were delivered and waiters and management hovered near to be sure she was receiving every attention," recalled Mrs. McDonald in her introduction.

That's just what a working critic doesn't want. Ms. Abraham says it happened because the chef, Leo Schaeli, formerly had been at Jim's Garage in downtown Detroit and recognized her.

The Drawbridge became the Captain's Table and finally closed its doors in bankruptcy this year.

Asked why she thought this happened, Ms. Abraham feels "the restaurant lost sight of what it was trying to do — there is only one reason for a restaurant existing and that is good food."

"When a restaurant is opened to make money only, it doesn't work."

In outlining how she judges a restaurant the critic says, "It's food first."

Second, she continues, "I see if the service is nice, and third, I look at the atmosphere."

"Even though surroundings are not particularly important to me, I feel they are to most people going out in Detroit. Most women, especially, want to find some kind of pleasant atmosphere.

"Some of us," she adds, "accept food we think not so wonderful just because we feel it's nice somebody else cooked it."

Men who like to dine out, she has noticed, are more "interested in being recognized."

In her opinion, this is not wrong. She feels restaurant personnel should make diners feel welcome and important.

"One of the lovely things about going out to dinner is seeing people talking to each other. They find things to say to each other that they may not have said if just at home."

Ms. Abraham has one complaint about Detroit-area diners. She feels there's a strong tendency "to return to the same restaurants they went to in their junior prom days."

She urged her listeners to "branch out to ethnic restaurants."

She also feels suburbanites are too hesitant to come to downtown Detroit to eat. The best restaurants, by her rating, are downtown.

Besides the top-rated London Chop House, she includes all those in Greek Town, mentioning the New Hellas as "everybody's favorite."

She cited the Money Tree as an example of a good newer eating spot. "People worried when it opened for lunch without a hamburger on the menu, but diners sometimes are more adventurous than given credit for."

She advises diners to order the specialty of the house, pointing out that all things on a menu can't be equally good. She also recommends asking the waiter or waitress for suggestions.

In person, as in her book, Ms. Abraham appears direct, pleasant and low key.

She does have definite opinions, having had rewarding as well as disastrous experiences in her years as a restaurant critic. Her career in this field

From the Horse's Mouth

This column is open to news of all breeds of horses and ponies. Send your questions, comments and horse show news to: Sally Saddle, care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi., 48178.

John E. Lambard of W. J. Farms in South Lyon has qualified his American Quarter Horse, "Nells Rags Andy" for the 1976 World Championship Quarter Horse Show to be held in Oklahoma City November 18-22.

Lambard's Quarter Horse is among some 1,200 American Quarter horses expected to qualify for this prestigious show to be held at the Jim Norick State Fair Arena.

Nells Rags Andy will be entered in the senior western pleasure class seeking the world championship. There will be 45 events in which world champions will be chosen during 12 performances.

To qualify for this invitational show, horses must earn a pre-determined number of points by competing at A.Q.H.A. shows held in 1976. Winning a world championship, the "Oscar" of the quarter horse industry, is considered the highlight of the show season for American Quarter Horse owners. Total prize money will be in excess of $100,000.

South Lyon's four-man relay team made up of Dave Cox, Ila Nicholes, Kyle and Melanie Kenyon, raced to an exciting first place in their events. As a result of their points in the two meets, South Lyon now is in seventh place in M.I.H.A. league standings. The next meet will be held at Fowlerville on October 24. If South Lyon can hold their standing at this meet, they will go on to compete in the championship meet November 7 at "Horse World" on Bogie Lake Road.

Grace Pollock honored by Methodist women

For her "years and years of dedication" to young people of the Northville community Grace Pollock is the surprised recipient of the first service award of the United Methodist Women of the Northville church.

The special presentation was made at the 9:30 a.m. family service October 10.

Mrs. Elaine Usell, president of the women's group, presented a certificate and pin to the long-time teacher before a full congregation.

A $25 donation in her name also was made to United Methodist Women's mission work.

Miss Pollock retired last June after serving as a Northville kindergarten teacher for 33 years in the public schools. For 22 years she has taught Sunday school at the church.

At present she also is working with the church youth club.

Her past service, Mrs. Usell outlines, includes serving as Sunday school superintendent, president of the Wesleyan Service Guild, a member of the commission on missions and of the council on ministries as well as chairman of the evening fellowship and treasurer of her guild.

Outside the church, Miss Pollock was the first teacher of City of Northville recreation department classes. She has lectured to groups on preparing children for kindergarten and conducted a screening program for kindergarteners for many years.

She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma honorary teachers' society.

The Reverend Guenther Branstner, church minister, commented that it would be difficult to find any more worthy recipient.

This is the first, however, of what the churchwomen hope will be an annual award to people of the church, men or women, who are serving the church or community.

Mrs. Usell lists as areas to be considered community or global service, social involvement and "personhood" dedication.

Those considered for awards to be given from time to time, Mrs. Usell says, will not necessarily be members of the church.

The idea for rewarding persons giving such service originated last year, she adds, when Mrs. Barbara Bergum was president of the United Methodist Women of the Northville church.

Miss Pollock, who had taught for six years in Minnesota before coming to Northville schools 33 years ago, declares she "turned pink with surprise and delight" when the award was announced at the Sunday service.

"I really had no idea," she says, "for there are so many folks in the church who have done so much more than I."

Those presenting the award, however, feel they have chosen a "completely dedicated" teacher who has made going to church more rewarding for many youngsters.

IN BY CHRISTMAS—Pastor Michael Bristol (center) with Ed Ruhl and Martin Peters (l-r) observe with approval the progress now being made on the new Cross of Christ Lutheran Church on Griswold Road at South Lyon. A truckers' strike which delayed delivery of the trusses for the uniquely designed building contributed to the slow completion of the new facility. The church was originally scheduled for occupancy by early summer, Pastor Bristol said. "We'll be in by Christmas and we really like what we're seeing now (the building). Even though it's an unusual design, we feel it will be very functional," the pastor said optimistically Friday. The building is designed to seat more than 200 worshippers in addition to housing offices and Sunday School space. Storage will be conveniently located underneath the wings of the building.

HONORED—Barbara Bergum, left, watches as Elaine Usell places a distinguished service award pin from the United Methodist

Church Capsules

Piping hot, richly seasoned Italian-style spaghetti will be served on an "all-you-can-eat" basis this Saturday (October 23) at the South Lyon United Methodist Church. Tossed salad with a choice of homemade dressings, home baked bread and rolls, a variety of cakes and a choice of tea, coffee or milk will complete the menu. Dinner music will be provided by Ron Smith at the piano. Serving is from 5 to 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are available from members of the Adult Forum Class or they may be purchased at the door for $8 per family (parents and children under 18); $2.50 each for adults; $1.75 for children from 4 through 12 and free for tots three and under. Profits from the dinner will go into the general fund of the church.

Christian Women's Club is holding an autumn luncheon at noon, October 21, at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. "Thoughts of Autumn" will be presented by Billie Barrows, wife of Cliff Barrows, music director of the Billy Graham team. Special music will be by Myrtle Hall, soprano with the Billy Graham team.

The Child Evangelism Fellowship of Livingston County is holding a potluck supper next Thursday, October 28, at the Mason Road Baptist Church, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johns, CES missionaries to Australia, will give a presentation.

Persons should bring their own table service and, for those whose last names begin with letters A through I, a meat dish; J through R, a vegetable dish; and S-Z, a dessert dish. Child care will be provided.

Newcomers welcomed

Women Aglow, a worldwide organization of Full Gospel Women, is inviting women of the Northville, Novi, Plymouth community to attend meetings it has been holding since May on the first Monday of the month at the Plymouth-Hilton Inn Terrace Room.

For November only, however, Mrs. Irene Scott, president, announces the meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. on the second Monday, November 8.

Mrs. Scott adds that meetings also are going to be held on the third Saturday of the month, beginning November 20. She may be contacted at 349-6759 for information about the group.

Bobbie Moore, wife of the pastor of the Open Door Christian Church in Northville, will speak.

'Get tough' bill aimed at nursing homes

By WARREN M. HOTY

LANSING — Target: nursing home abuse.

Democratic Senator John Otterbacher of Grand Rapids wants to reform Michigan's nursing home system, and he's introduced legislation toward that goal. Terming his proposal "tough-minded," Otterbacher explains that it's aimed at bolstering the state's legal base for regulating nursing homes.

"The current system offers no incentive for nursing home operators to improve their facilities," he says. "Consequently, Michigan taxpayers are paying out $300 million a year for a system that guarantees neither high quality of care nor reasonable protections against fraud."

REQUIRING HOMES with 50 or more beds to have a full-time administrator and closing a legal loophole which currently allows homes with fewer than seven beds to operate without a valid license are just two provisions of Otterbacher's proposed new law.

In addition, it would:

—Upgrade professional staff requirements, calling for a registered nurse as director of nursing and at least one licensed nurse on duty at all times.

—Require 2.25 hours of nursing care per patient per day; a licensed mental health professional to serve patient needs; and all nursing homes to have a plan for immediate access to hospitals in emergencies.

—Prohibit financial kickbacks for such transactions as physician's referral of patients to nursing homes and a home's purchase of pharmaceuticals.

—Require a complete investigation process that allows for anonymous complaints by nursing home patients or their representatives.

OFF-STREET PARKING, horse-and-buggy style, marked the earliest of America's shopping centers, a tiny five-store section near the main shopping district of Baltimore, MD., in 1907.

Today, the shopping center is considered to be the social and cultural hub of any given community, according to Jack Ralph, president of a management-development company involved with shopping centers in the Carolinas.

SKEPTICAL? Think of your shopping center as a spot to drop in for a pair of shoes or a new set of dish towels — and that's it?

"If you don't believe it, take a look at a climate-controlled mall on a rainy day... or any day," Mr. Ralph said recently during a conference at Michigan State University.

"The shopping center is the 'village green' of colonial times, the 'market place' of earlier cultures."

And there's another plus, as far as Mr. Ralph is concerned. He says shopping centers have introduced thousands of folks to art through the mall shows that travel the country.

DON'T THINK of shopping centers as suburban entities only, though.

Another industry spokesman, John

R. Plunkett, foresees "a lot more work in urban downtown... a lot of rebuilding," but under one developer instead of multiple ownership.

Detroit's Renaissance Center, still under construction at this point, is an example of what Mr. Plunkett predicts for other urban areas in the future.

BEAN BLIGHT — an internal bean disease that hurts the quality and yield — can't be controlled by dusting or spraying. But it can be discovered.

To find out if their field bean seed has such blight, Michigan farmers can contact the state Department of Agriculture through December 15 and have five-pound samples tested for $5 each.

If germination tests are requested also, the charge is an additional $2.50 per sample.

The fee is a special seasonal one. It goes up to $15 each sample between December 16 and March 15, and tests are not available from March 16 through October 1 of next year.

Forms to accompany samples can be obtained from the Michigan Department of Agriculture, Laboratory Division, 1615 South Harrison Road, East Lansing, MI 48823.

About that new on-board baggage policy

Several people have called me concerning what apparently is a new policy adopted by the airlines on international flights.

This is the great zeal of ticket counter and baggage clerks to weigh carefully each and every piece of luggage — including carry-ons — that accompany the on-board passengers.

Travelers have complained particularly about the weighing of carry-on luggage. Reports of over-weight charges range from $30 to $108 on European flights. And since the vacationer has not made advance budgetary plans for this added expense it can dampen the spirit and limit the itinerary.

There are top-coats now designed and built for air passengers that have inside pockets extending to the bottom of each side of the garment. Now, far be it for me to advise cheating on baggage regulations but I do feel called upon to advise readers of the possible alterations that can be made on attire to save, possibly, needless expenditures and embarrassment.

As for the safety factor of heavy luggage, airline people tell me (confidentially) that airlines are beginning to treat luggage as a revenue producing factor and that safety has nothing to do with it.

A new series of guide books is being printed on pocket size cards. The cards come in a plastic size case, enabling you and me to take along only the cards needed for that day's travel. New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington are now available. The address is: BLS Publications, 540 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11217. You will have to write for the price. I think it's a good idea.

Russia is displaying interest in getting a share of the U.S. tourist business. The Black Sea Shipping Company is now offering M-V Odessa and M-S Kaza Khstan as cruise ships out of New Orleans for seven or 14-day cruises to Montego Bay, Grand Cayman and two Mexican ports.

On the 14-day trip fares range from $500 to $770. The brochure for this trip stresses the tradition of "no tipping", but my Russian experiences indicate they grab what's offered. The cruises must be successful because a phone inquiry indicates they are booked up through next April.

Homes tour scheduled in Hartland

Waldenwoods chapter of the Questers is sponsoring an annual home tour Thursday, October 28, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Five area homes will be open for viewing.

The tour will originate at the Florence B. Dearing Museum located on the corner of Crouse Road and Avon (Main) Street, Hartland.

Tickets are $2 and $1.50 for Senior Citizens, and may be obtained at the Museum.

The Kraus storybook house was originally built for use as a gas station and also sold tobacco and refreshments. The back part of the house was added at a later date.

Over the years the house has been rented as a residence and beauty parlor. When it was purchased it was badly in need of repair and the interior was partitioned into only two rooms. The goal achieved made a small, old house homey and well decorated on a limited budget.

A traditional colonial in a peaceful farm setting is the home of John and Janet Rex. As you enter, an unusual grandfather's clock sits in the front hall.

In the country kitchen a hand painted rocking chair sits in front of the fireplace which features a full brick wall. A large home that accommodates a growing family has fireplaces in the kitchen, living room, and bedroom, beamed ceilings and bay windows that overlook the farm, woods and pool.

The Light Touch by ANN L. ROY

Mrs. Jones (Meeting Politician at party) "I've heard a great deal about you."

Politician: "(Absently), 'Possibly, but you can't prove it.'"

Political Speaker - "I'm pleased to see such a dense crowd here tonight. Voice: 'Don't be too pleased, 'We ain't all dense.'"

The Congressman's Wife sat up in bed: "Jim" she said "there's a robber in the house."

"Impossible!" was her husband's sleepy reply, "In the Senate, yes, but in the House, Never."

"What do you think of our two candidates for President?"

"Well, I'm glad only one can be elected."

began in San Francisco, one of the country's top restaurant cities.

Now married to a fellow writer on The Detroit News and the mother of two sons, 11 and 3, Ms. Abraham has sampled everything from the fare at the golden arches to the beef Wellington at Benno's.

Her only complaint about the latter, an elegant, small restaurant on the edge of Indian Village, is "I don't like to plan six weeks in advance and that's how reservations are made."

Other Abraham observations:

- About waiters—
"I don't like the waiter who comes up to the table and says, 'I'm Freddy, and I'm going to be your waiter tonight'—I don't want to be friends with him; I just want him to bring the food."

- "On the other hand, I don't want a waiter who's so superior that he discusses the wine with me as if he were Les Gruber (London Chop House owner)."

- About salad bars—
"They're ever present, but when I go out I want somebody to make mine."

- About Canadian Restaurants—

"I like Windsor. I always feel they treat you a little more gently. I do like L'Auberge de la Bastille opened by the owner of Ye Olde Steak House, which I felt might be past its prime the last time I visited.

"The Milano in Windsor is good Italian but has garish decorating with purple padded booths.

"You don't go to Stratford to eat, but Jay Carr (theater critic) says The Church restaurant is the best thing there."

- About hotel restaurants—
"I generally avoid hotels. The exception might be the Hyatt Regency."

- About entertainment—
"I generally don't like restaurants with entertainment, but there's one exception, the Hungarian Village. I do love the gypsy violin music."

Ms. Abraham, of course, doesn't rate private clubs, like Meadowbrook, and she doesn't accept the meals she judges free. She stresses that The News always has paid the tab.

And if you think that being paid to eat out is a fun way to earn a living, so does Molly Abraham.

"It's quite a nice job with big rewards," says the writer who's known as the "happy critic" because she's sharing her own pleasure in dining out.

'Enriched Flavor'™ breakthrough brings unprecedented taste to low tar smoking.

By "cracking" cigarette smoke down into separate ingredients, researchers at Philip Morris discovered very special "key" flavor units that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor'.

The cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco is MERIT. At 9 mg., one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet, MERIT actually packs the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Tests Verify Taste

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against current leading low tar cigarettes ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested. The majority reported that even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, MERIT delivered as much — or more — taste.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette.

Joy in Novi! Wildcats muzzle Bulldogs

"We played some championship ball the other night."

Novi football coach John Osborne couldn't—and didn't—want to hide his joy after the underdog Wildcats upended high-scoring and previously unbeaten Brighton, 20-12 in the battle for first place in the Southeastern Conference Friday evening at Novi.

"The kids came of age and they made great plays," said Osborne, who now has set his sights on his fourth SEC title in 10 years.

The Wildcats came out smoking in the first quarter before a jam-packed homecoming crowd on a cold, windy evening.

They took the Bulldog kickoff on their own 27-yard line and marched right down the field to score, with senior tailback Andy McComas going the final five yards.

Brazilian exchange student Steve Madeiros booted the conversion and with 6:07 left in the first quarter Novi led 7-0. It was the first time Brighton had been behind all year.

But the Bulldogs, who entered the game with an incredible 165 points scored in their first four games, came right back to score three plays after receiving the Novi kickoff following the touchdown.

Bob Schmidt took a pitchout from quarterback Dean Clark and scooted 60 yards for the score. The Bulldogs went for the two-point conversion but failed on a pass attempt.

Novi came right back. Quarterback Randy Wroten climaxed a 75-yard touchdown drive with a 24-yard scamper with 3:03 left in the first quarter. Madeiros upped the Wildcat lead to 14-6 with his second conversion.

But the wild and woolly first quarter still wasn't over. The Bulldogs scored what proved to be their last touchdown of the evening when Steve Schlumm returned the ensuing kickoff back to the Wildcats 25-yard line.

With a minute left, Schmidt scored on a dive play to close the gap to 14-12. This time the Bulldogs tried to run for two points but failed.

The second quarter was scoreless and Novi took a 14-12 half time lead into the locker room.

Novi's pressure defense, which made life miserable for Brighton all night long, set up the final touchdown of the evening in the third quarter. Led by senior tackle Bob Bannatz, the defensive line rushed the Brighton punter, forcing him to get off a weak kick which wound up on the Bulldog 45-yard line.

As they had all night, the Wildcats picked up 10, 11 and 12 yards off the option and moved the ball to the Bulldog six-yard line.

There, Wroten went the final yards for the score with 6:47 left in the third quarter. Madeiros missed the point after but Novi led 20-12.

The Wildcats 20 points surpassed the 14 points given up the whole year by the Brighton defense.

The last 18 minutes of the game were anything but a close to the vest, defensive affair.

"It was back and forth after that touchdown," said a still excited Osborne.

"They had two scoring opportunities after our touchdown but we stopped them on a heads-up play."

Defensive tackle Jeff Garcia noticed that one of the Brighton players was playing without hip pads, an infraction. The negligence cost the Bulldogs a 15-yard penalty and stalled a potential scoring drive.

A second drive was thwarted when linebacker Joe Stevens tipped a Clark pass into teammate John McMurray's hands at the Novi five-yard line.

"We didn't stop them well, but we kept them out of the end zone. We made some big plays," Osborne said.

—THE NORTHVILLE RECORD—NOVI NEWS— 1-C

Bowden snuffs out Mustangs' title hopes

Mike Bowden was that good. And so was the Farmington Harrison defense.

The two forces, one immovable, the other irresistible, combined Friday on a cold, blustery evening to destroy Northville's hopes of a Western Six championship, 34-0.

Over 2,000 homecoming fans were on hand at Northville to see if the Mustangs could upend the state power and move into the driver's seat in the conference race.

"They were better than us. There was too much Bowden and their defense was tough," admitted a glum Mustangs' coach Chuck Shonta.

Indeed Bowden, who Shonta and other Northville coaches called the best back to come out of the Western Six, was outstanding.

Numerous times Northville's Tim Conder, Kevin Corcoran, Doug Harding and Mark Morland ganged-tackled the big bruiser for a small gain.

Then on third down, Bowden would make an incredible run to undo the Mustangs' good work.

Just such a bit of running led to the Hawks first score.

Following a Northville punt midway in the first quarter, Harrison took over on its own 33-yard line.

Bowden was given the ball by quarterback Jeff Thorne and was immediately met at the line of scrimmage by Northville for no gain.

On the next play Bowden, who must be part kamakaze, bulled his way into the center of the line again and apparently was stopped.

Suddenly, he bounced off four defenders and took off along the left sidelines.

Not the fastest runner in the world, he was hauled down by safety man Greg Armstrong at the Mustang 30-yard line.

But then, as it has all year, a Northville mistake aided the opposition.

Following Armstrong's tackle, Northville was called for a personal foul, advancing the ball to the Northville 15.

It took Harrison four plays to get the ball over the goal line and then only on a heads-up play for the Hawks, but a discouraging one for the hosts.

Thorne, whose option play was stopped all night by Northville, took off around right end and headed for the goal line.

There he was met by tri-captain Tim Conder who

Golfers peak; win league, regional, in state tourney

Northville's golf team peaked just in time this past week as the Mustangs captured the regional and league championships.

It marked the seventh straight year Northville has won the Western Six Crown and the second consecutive year it has won the regional.

Senior Don Dales paced the golfers in both meets, finishing second in the regional and capturing the individual league championship.

Northville went into Monday's league meet held at Kensington Golf Course in first place with a 9-1 record.

Led by Dales 77, Kirk Mack's 80, Scott Denhof's 82, Chip Chamberlin's 83, Wade Herguth's 91 and Marty Redilla's 94, the golfers topped Harrison by four strokes.

And the Mustangs played without injured Steve Pyett. At the regional held at Braeburn Golf Club on a gusty Friday, Chamberlin, Dales, Mack and Pyett all qualified for the state meet set for this Saturday at Binder Creek Golf Course in Battle Creek.

Although Dales finished second with an 83 to a Plymouth Salem player who shot an 80, he was awarded a medal for his play.

Chamberlin and Mack shot 83 while Pyett, who should be ready for the state meet, fired an 85. Salem finished second and Livonia Stevenson third in the 25 team regional. Those two teams also qualified for the state championship.

"I wasn't surprised by the results," said excited first year coach John Edwards. "We have to be consistent to win and we've been consistent all year."

Chamberlin, Dales, Mack and Pyett were named to the all-league team.

"All the kids are really tickled. We struggled a bit in the middle of the season but really peaked when we had to," said Edwards, who added that his team has as good a chance as any in the state meet.

The Mustangs dominance was even more evident when, after the league meet, the six coaches went out and shot a round of golf. Edwards won three dollars.

'Toughie' Brighton falls; Ladycats lead SEC alone

The Ladycats played their toughest game of the year a week ago Tuesday, beating game Southeastern Conference member Brighton, 43-35 in a home game.

The girl cage power was then rewarded for their efforts with sole possession of first place when Dexter knocked off co-leader South Lyon to break the first place tie.

The Ladycats' victory upped their record in SEC play to 4-0.

Novi led throughout the game against Brighton, outscoring the visitors 23-17 in the first half.

"It was the closest game we've had all year, but we were never behind," said coach Chris Hayward, pleased with her team's showing.

Maryann Wizinsky took advantage of the Ladycats' team play to score a game high 18 points. She also had 5 steals.

"The Brighton coach was screaming at her players to guard Annie Robinson and Laura Birow because they were tall," Ms. Hayward explained.

"That opened things up for Maryann."

Robinson came through with 10 points.

Last Thursday, the Ladycats won the respect of North Farmington after they pounded the Raiders, 36-17. It was strictly no contest as Novi raced to a 25-7 halftime lead at the host's school and then played stall ball in the final stanza to keep the score down.

What made the Novi victory doubly enjoyable was that it came at the expense of a Class A school.

"After the game the North Farmington coach came up to me and said our team should go a long way," said Ms. Hayward, who added that even some of Novi's male coaches are conceding that she has a mighty fine team on her hands.

Wizinsky and Robinson were high scorers in the game, firing in 11 points each. Wizinsky only played the first half.

Novi's overall record is 9-0. The Ladycat junior varsity fell to Brighton 36-28. Jane McAllen led the losers in scoring with 11 points. The baby Ladycats are 4-4 overall and 1-3 in the league play.

Bowden ends Northville hopes

hit the senior quarterback hard causing him to fumble. But Hawks halfback Chuch Roberts scooped up the loose ball and scampered into the end zone for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Brett Homover kicked the extra point to give Harrison a 7-0 lead with 2:29 left in the first quarter. "We had Bowden defended well and I think we hit him as hard as he's ever been hit," said Shonta, who added that after the game Thorne came up to the players and said the same thing.

But the Hawks defense was hitting and stopping. It didn't allow a Northville first down until early in the fourth quarter and then allowed only one more after that.

In fact, the Mustangs deepest penetration of the game into Hawks territory came in the very first quarter following a pass interception by Denny Rice. The Mustangs got as far as Harrison's 36-yard line before their drive stalled.

Harrison's next two touchdowns came thanks to gifts. Fred Blackmer recovered a Mustangs' fumble at the Mustangs' 25-yard line.

Bowden carried five straight times, the final one on a seven yard dash for the Hawks' second score and a 14-0 lead midway in the second quarter.

Mike Colomina intercepted a Northville pass and ran it back to Northville's 39-yard line. It took 10 plays for the Hawks to push the ball in but finally it was Bowden who ran three yards for the score. The extra point was good and Harrison held an insurmountable 21-0 half time lead.

Bowden added his third touchdown of the game with a 10-yard jaunt early in the fourth quarter. This time the point after attempt was wide.

The final score came with time running out in the game. Blackmer bulled his way over from the one-yard line.

Statistics offered further proof of Harrison's domination.

Individually, Bowden gained 183 yards in 33 carries, in addition to his outstanding blocking and faking. As a team, the Hawks rushed for 305 yards, passed for 50 and picked up 18 first downs.

Northville, as a team, could only muster 40 yards rushing and none passing.

But the big statistic showed that Northville only had the ball for three minutes and 18 seconds in the entire first half when Harrison put the game away.

The Mustangs' defense was on the field too much to be effective for the entire game.

"I think Harrison has an excellent chance of winding up in Pontiac for the state playoffs," acknowledged Shonta.

Tankers fall to rival

Everything went right for the Northville swimming team except the score, as the girls dropped their first league meet of the season, falling to Walled Lake Western, 91-80 at Western's pool last Thursday afternoon.

"We took a lot of firsts, the times were down and the girls really put things together, but we were just outdepthed," explained coach Debbie Brinkman. Western took numerous second and third places in the meet to clinch the victory.

Northville was swimming without one of its top swimmers, ailing Janet Shaw.

"We'll get back at them at the league meet, I promise," Ms. Brinkman vowed.

The Mustangs' record is now 6-3 overall and 3-1 in league competition.

Johnston sets record

Novi cross country star Jeff Johnston shattered his own school record last week.

The sophomore ran a 16:36 against Chelsea on the Cass Benton Course. Earlier in the year, Johnston set a school record of 17:08 also at Cass Benton.

Johnston's feat gave him first place but the Wildcats still fell to the Bulldogs, 22-39.

Johnston and senior star Mark McKenney had an off day Monday as the pair could finish no better than third and fourth respectively in a meet against Willow Run. Willow Run won the meet 23-33.

Although coach Norm Norgren's team is struggling this year, the individual improvement of his very young squad is giving him reason to smile.

Gary Anthony has improved his times immensely, as have Andy Anton and Todd Spielman.

In the All-Oakland County meet held recently at the Highland Lakes campus of Oakland Community College, Johnston took 45th out of 231 runners.

Novi competed against 32 other schools in the meet, 30 of them Class A.

Redmond ponders move

More to running than meets eye in cross country

Most people think there's very little to cross country racing.

A bunch of skinny, emaciated-looking guys run for three miles up hills, through thickets or in water for no discernible reason.

But there's a lot of strategy involved in the sport as anyone who watched U.S. marathon runner Frank Shorter explain his Olympic strategy this past summer knows.

"All the fun would be taken out of cross country if you couldn't think," insists Northville's star runner Bob Gould.

Indeed, from physical preparation, to course design, to individual skills to pack running, cross country racing is definitely a thinking man's sport.

"The biggest thing is the establishment of pack running," explains the Mustangs' seventh-year coach Ralph Redmond. "You want to mold together a pack unit and get boys running together to help slower boys."

Redmond says ideally a team's top runners should finish first, third, fifth, seventh and ninth in a race to insure victory.

Teaching pack running helps insure that slower harrriers will be able to place in one of those vital top nine spots.

"We encourage the pack because the stronger runner offers great competition for the slower one," Redmond says. "We try to have no more than a minute separate our first and fifth man."

Hopefully, a boy who's running a respectable 16-minute race for three miles aids the boy who's running a 16:30. The slower boy eventually will improve his time, thus pushing the faster boy to reduce his.

Pack running is suited for the Mustangs where there are a lot of good solid runners and one top runner, like senior co-captain Gould, one of the better runners in the state.

Currently, Northville's first and fifth man are running 67 seconds apart.

Garden City East, which boasts one of the top Class A teams in the state, has no single outstanding runner. It runs as a pack.

Other teams, like North Farmington, have an outstanding runner, like Dave Good. In a head-to-head confrontation recently, Good outspurred Gould to the finish line, but the Mustangs won the meet thanks to team depth — or the pack.

An individual's own abilities also help determine race strategy.

"Some runners, like Gould, can go out quickly, get a big lead and just destroy an opponent. Others, like Good, have strong finishing kicks," says Redmond, who takes an opponent's strength and weaknesses into consideration before every race.

His runners have to be aware that an opponent may try to set a fast pace early to force Northville out of its pack and into a sprint.

"You have to tell your boys to sit back in the bushes and run your race, Redmond says. It's advice well followed.

Junior harrier Don Wilber says he's oblivious to his opponents, he just runs his own race.

"I just try to get a pattern in my head. I tell myself I'm here now and in just a few seconds I'll be there, up a little farther."

Gould says he knows what he's doing every step of the way.

Wilber's discipline and Gould's mental awareness can be attributed to practice sessions, an extremely important aspect of strategy.

"Pace is very, very essential," emphasizes Redmond. "You want the race to be run over three miles and you want to avoid the 440-sprint at the end."

Redmond tries to increase pace over the course of a season in practice by making the boys run mile loops.

The course, too, is vitally important.

Northville's home course, Cass Benton, is hilly. Consequently, the Mustangs can run hills. Teams that run on flatter courses may be faster runners but are at disadvantage when they race the Mustangs.

For obvious psychological reasons, a good uphill runner is encouraged to sprint by an opponent as he runs up the hill.

On narrow courses, packs become doubly important. Boys running together can block out opponents.

"Our boys know about a narrow thicket at Cass Benton," says Redmond. They get to the thicket and get out of it quickly before other runners get there to avoid congestion.

"When those runners arrive, unaware of the thicket, they waste a lot of time fighting to go through it," says Redmond smiling.

The Mustangs put the pack strategy to good use last Thursday in a comfortable 24-37 win over Farmington-Harrison.

The Hawks' Mark Evans, who is undefeated in league competition, continued his mastery at Northville's expense as he took first place on the Oakland Community College course with a 15:48.

Gould finished second in 15:58 and Charlie Rogers of Harrison wound up third in 16:39.

But the next four finishers were all Mustangs and that clinched the victory. Don Wilber was fourth, Phil Reed fifth, Jim Bedford sixth and John Monagle sixth.

Northville is now 11-2 overall and 3-1 in league competition.

Kirk Mack wins grid contest

Kirk Mack of 618 Fairbrook came up with just two misses out of 15 games last week to win first place in The Northville Record-Nowi News football contest.

Actually, there were 16 games listed in the contest line-up but the contest editor goofed and listed a game that was not played — Texas versus Arkansas. This game, Number 15 on the entry, therefore was not counted by judges in determining the winners.

Second place went to Russell Parker of 43635 Cottisford, who had three mistakes as did eight other contestants. However, Russ guessed a closer score in the contest between Oklahoma and Kansas. He had Oklahoma winning 24-10. The score actually was 28-10.

In third place was Tom Hanson of 41864 Sutter Lane, who had three errors and just 10 points off the tie-breaker score.

Others who had three mistakes but who finished out of the money because of their guesses scores include Craig Wisbiski, Ann Marie Petroski, Patricia Hansen, Laura Trumbull and Michael Olgren.

Among the most missed games were the Northville whipping at the hands of Farmington Harrison, Iowa State's upset victory over Missouri, and Indiana's triumph over Iowa.

Cagers up, down

Northville's girls' basketball team hit its high and low points last week.

The team scored the most points of the year while losing to Waterford Mott, 63-31 in a home game played a week ago Tuesday.

"We finally played well offensively," noted coach Muriel Bedford. But Mott used a lot of inside play against the Mustang forwards and scored a ton of points from the inside sealing Northville's doom.

Kathy Belkowski fired in 12 points for Northville.

Two days later the roof fell in as a speedy Walled Lake Western team flattened the young cagers, 71-16 at Western.

"They ran us to death," explained Ms. Bedford who pointed out that some of the girls on Western comprise one of the finest girls' track teams in the area.

Netters tough at regional

Becky Albus led the Northville tennis team to a fine showing in the state regional played at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School last Friday and Saturday.

The senior, plus five other girls, advanced into second round play.

Albus made it to the quarterfinals before falling to a number one seed in a controversial match.

After dropping the first set, 2-6, Albus was leading Pioneer's Lorisa Cummings, 5-2 in the second set.

But some of Albus' long shots on the baseline were called out.

"They were definitely questionable calls," said Mustangs net coach Uta Filkin.

"The calls forced Becky to change from her normally aggressive play."

Consequently, Cummings

came back to take the set in a tie breaker, 7-6 stifling Albus' chance for a regional title for the second straight year.

"Becky was quite upset," she really wanted to win," said the sympathetic Mrs. Filkin.

Earlier, Albus had advanced to the quarterfinals by easily beating a Lakeland girl; 6-2, 6-0.

Meanwhile, number three singles player Paula Horst and the doubles pairs of Karin Lotarski and Claudia Riegner, and Cathy Herbel and Lisa Friel also advanced to second round action before falling to tough opponents.

Horst lost to a number one seed.

Although Mrs. Filkin didn't have final results from the regional, she felt, the eventual regional winner would be Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Huron Valley or Plymouth Salem.

"We were hanging in there pretty well though," said an elated Mrs. Filkin, whose squad was pitted against 12 of the top teams in the state.

Earlier in the week, the illness-plagued net squad got it together to crunch Mott in league play, 5-2.

Lori Hopping, Albus and Horst were easy singles winners, as was Margo Baranowski, playing number four singles for the ill Marie Maglia.

The doubles team of Riegner and Lotarski also won its match.

Northville's record is now 6-7 overall and 2-2 in league play.

The team has two final individual meets this week before the league meet at Canton next Tuesday.

"I think we have a real good shot at second place, and anything else depends on the draw," said Mrs. Filkin who tabbed Harrison as the team to beat.

Novi golfer hit with club

Novi's golf season ended on a sad note when junior Richard Ling was hospitalized after being struck on the head by a golf club.

The accident happened last week at Godwin Glen Golf Club in South Lyon where the Wildcats play their home meets. Novi was playing Willow Run when Ling walked by a golfer who was teeing off, and was struck over the left ear.

"He collapsed and then got up but we sent him to Boford Hospital," explained golf coach Tim Falls.

Falls said that Ling was taken out of the intensive care unit Monday and is now improving.

The team then went out and played one of its best matches of the season, falling to Willow Run by one stroke, 162-163.

The Wildcats finished near the bottom of the pack in the league meet held at Willow Run last week. Falls still isn't sure where because all of the results aren't in yet.

Saline and Dexter finished one-two in the meet.

Falls said he was a bit disappointed with the season, hoping that the team would do better than it did.

"But we're young and we'll see some improvement next year."

Don Dales led the charge as the Mustangs captured the regional and league championships this past week. The senior took second in the regionals with an 80 and won the individual league title with a 77. But first year coach John Edwards points out that Dales was the most consistent of three other consistent all league and regional stars, Chip Chamberlin, Kirk Mack and Steve Pyett.

As one of only two seniors on the team, Becky Albus is expected to lead by example Northville's tennis team. And lead she did at the appropriate time — the state regionals last week. Albus mustered through her opponents rather easily before falling in a close and controversial match in the quarterfinals to the number one seed from Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

Bob Bannatz made the key blocks on offense and the key tackles on defense Friday night to lead Novi past Brighton 20-12 in an SEC showdown. The 4'2", 200 pounder made the key block to spring Randy Wroten on the game-winning touchdown in the first quarter. As a defensive end, Bannatz had 12 first hits and five assists and led the rush which stifled Brighton's potent passing game.

For the second consecutive week, Maryann Wizinsky has been chosen as Novi's girl athlete of the week. Last week the 5'4" junior guard fired in 29 points in only six quarters of play as she helped lead the Ladycats past two opponents. Wizinsky, who plays the point in the Ladycat offense, scored 18 points against Brighton and added five steals. She scored 11 points against North Farmington.

Wildcat victory aids title chase

yards in total offense for the game, but Novi was no slouch when it had the ball either. Andy Raddant picked up 126 yards, McComas 93, Tom Morris 59 and Wroten 119 for a rushing total of 397 yards in 49 attempts. Wroten threw the ball twice, completing one for five yards.

"We kept our eye on the wrong guy (Wroten) too much," sighed a dejected John Seckinger. The head coach had previously viewed three films of Novi. He added "Novi changed everything on us."

Indeed, Osborne changed his defense in order to get a greater rush on Clark.

"Brighton probably had more pressure on its offense than its used to," said Osborne, who singled out the work of assistant coach Rick Trudeau.

Trudeau coaches the defensive secondary, a one-time weak link in Novi's defensive armor. But Trudeau's chargers picked off three passes Friday.

Osborne said that his defensive line played like some of his lines of his past championship teams.

Now only Milan, South Lyon and over confidence stand in the way of an SEC crown for Novi.

This Friday the Wildcats journey to Port Huron to play a non-league game against Port Huron Central. The Port Huron team is winless so far this year.

It was added to the schedule when Lincoln dropped football because of a millage defeat. The timing is perfect for Novi since its nursing some injuries.

The Wildcats, now 4-1 overall but 4-0 in league play have an outside shot for the state playoffs.

Last week they were rated fifth in the complex point ratings, but their win over Class A Brighton, coupled with the defeat of a team ahead of them, should vault the Wildcats up a couple of notches this week.

"We have an outside chance at the playoffs," said Osborne, whose team now has the inside track for a league championship.

Northville, Novi JV grid teams beaten

Mustangs

Livonia Churchill's junior varsity football team scored a touchdown early in the second and early in the fourth quarter to hand Northville's JV's their first loss of the season, 12-0. The game was played last Thursday evening at Northville.

Churchill outgained the Mustangs in the game, 266 to 143 yards.

Halfback Don Borthwick played an outstanding game on offense for the Mustangs, rushing for 94 yards. Defensive stalwarts were linebacker John Marzonia and defensive tackle Luigi Folino. Folino broke his ankle in the game, though, and is out for the season.

Two weeks ago the baby Mustangs blanked a tough, physical Walled Lake Western eleven, 16-0. John Marzonia and Don Davis scored touchdowns for Northville.

Coach Darrel Schumacher singled out Ray Coram, Brian Faustyn and Mark Harper as outstanding defensive players in the game.

Northville's record is 4-1 overall and 1-1 in league play.

Wildcats

Brighton's junior varsity football team put it to Novi's young gridders last Thursday evening at Brighton, 53-0.

"We got blown out," said a dejected Brian Howard, coach of the baby Wildcats. "They were big and good and we made a lot of mistakes." Novi's defense was suspect as Brighton consistently ate up the Wildcats' interior with 15 yard gains.

Colts win 3

It was Dad's Night and the Northville Colts gave their fathers reason to smile as all three teams edged the Romulus Flyers. The varsity won 24-13, the junior varsity won 19-6, and the freshmen won 13-0.

Halfback Duane Pohlman was the bright spot for Novi, as he totaled 153 yards in kick-off returns.

The injury riddled Wildcats have a week off to rest their wounds and regain their pride.

Playing without injured first string quarterback Jeff Laverty, Novi fell to Saline, 21-6 two weeks ago at home. Novi's only score came on a 60-yard dash by Pohlman.

Howard's squad is 2-3 overall and 1-3 in league play.

Soccer results

Here are the records for the Northville teams participating in the Western Suburban Soccer League.

Boys 10 and under: Arsenal, 6-0-0; Hotspurs, 3-3-0; Rovers, 2-1-1; United, 5-1-0; and Black Knights, 1-4-1.

YMCA seed project planned for seniors

A seed "in-service" project for needy senior citizens is the newest expansion project of the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA.

In announcing the program to help senior citizens living at home, Janet Luce, program director, points out that the Y "sees this as a seed project which eventually will serve more and more people. We expect to implement the project and have it available by January, 1977."

In September, she announces, the Y was awarded a $23,083 grant from Title III federal funding through the Wayne County Area Council on Aging to enable the Y to begin four general services for needy seniors.

They are (1.) an escort service for errands and appointments; (2.) labor assistance for minor home maintenance and repair, including lawn care and snow removal; (3.) personal assistance in letter writing and reading; and (4.) a telephone well-being service for senior citizens who live alone.

Mrs. Luce states that the planned services are a way "for the Y to involve itself with Plymouth community needs more than ever before since its inception in 1961."

Any persons willing to volunteer, particularly in personal assistance of letter writing and reading are invited to contact the Y office. Mrs. Luce asks interested seniors wanting services to wait for a future announcement.

Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA has openings in four classes beginning November 2.

They are racketball, picture framing, hair care and make-up clinic and sand painting for adult and youth.

To enroll or for more information about the offerings call the YMCA office at 453-2904.

Fire burns drive slated Saturday

Northville Jaycees will focus attention on victims of fire Saturday when they conduct their annual fundraiser for the National Institute of Burn Medicine (NIBM).

The fund drive will be staged in downtown Northville where the community's fire-fighting equipment will be on display from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

NIBM is an organization dedicated to saving lives of burn victims and reducing the degree of disability and disfigurement, explained Jaycee project chairman, Jim Massey.

"The NIBM's goal is to make the best possible care a reality for all burn victims, not just the one victim in 10 now lucky to receive therapy. Annually, 6,500 Americans die from burns of which one-third are children under the age of 16."

According to Massey, funds raised by Northville Jaycees and other Jaycee organizations throughout the nation, will help —

- train doctors and nurses for burn care.
- improve hospital facilities for burn care.
- expand its research and public educational efforts.
- establish a national center of excellence for burn patient care.

Northville Jaycees hope to raise "at least $1,500" for the center this year.

"In order to achieve this goal we are hoping Northville citizens will make a major commitment during our sidewalk campaign Saturday," said Massey.

Cooper opposes M-275 extension

State Senator Daniel S. Cooper (D-Oak Park) has announced his opposition to the M-275 highway extension through northern Oakland County.

The senate majority floor leader said, "Motorists would conceivably follow the new extension in lieu of traveling approximately 12 miles west to M-23 which joins I-75. In other words, the taxpayer would foot a bill of roughly $50 million to shorten travel time minutes." Cooper further stated that he felt more information on long-term effects should be compiled.

"Another concern I have is the lack of rapport between the federal government's Department of the Interior and the environmental Section of Michigan Department of State Highways," Cooper added. Apparently the lack of mutual understanding has manifested itself at several meetings, according to the Oak Park Senator's office.

"In summary, I believe we should move more slowly and responsibly before undertaking a project of this magnitude," he said.

"After studying the total ramifications of the proposed segment, I feel that the highway's benefits are far outweighed by the broad ecological impact," he said by approximately 15

It's dance time for local teens

A Halloween Disco-Teen Dance, featuring live music and a lighted-sound-sensor dance floor, will be held Saturday, October 30 in the Northville Square shopping center.

The dance will be held in Arcade 5's new "Spirit of '76 Room" adjacent to the arcade from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The room was recently renovated to present the finest in disco-teen music, said Booth.

Dress will be optional, but costumes are in order, he said, and prizes will be awarded to the most original, funniest, best couple, and the oddest costumes.

Minimum age is 16, and admission is $3 per person, $5 per couple.

Novi council oks new payback plan

Novi City Council recently approved an updated sewer payback agreement with the Novi School District.

The agreement, which will have to be acted upon by the Novi School District, concerns the Eleven Mile Sewer which was constructed several years ago with money advanced by the school board. Cost of the sewer, which was to service the present high school, was to be paid back to the school district via cost direct taps of people along the line.

Realizing later that this would yield little money, the school board sought a revision which would allow indirect taps to homes in subdivisions along the line to be included in the payback agreement. The agreement approved by the city council does include that provision.

However, council decided not to include a six percent annual escalation figure in the cost to homeowners for the sewer tap, which the school district had sought apparently as a means of fighting inflation.

Council members in approving the agreement, noted that they wanted the payback agreement completely separate from payment by the school district to the city for the paving of Taft Road.

Previously the school district had wanted to pay a share of the paving of Taft Road in front of its property via any monies gained from the sale of sewer taps along the line.

Police Blotter

Novi asks help to capture suspect in sexual assaults

In Novi

Novi Police are seeking help from residents in a series of criminal sexual conducts which have occurred in Novi over the past few months.

Being sought is a white male, 17-21 years, medium build, medium colored shoulder-length hair who has been seen driving a blueish-green compact car.

The man is being sought in the unsuccessful July 12 attack on a 20-year-old girl who was riding her bicycle when she was stopped by a subject who pushed her to the ground but let her up after she pleaded with him to let her go.

The same man is being sought in an indecent exposure on September 27 and a second indecent which occurred September 30.

The attempted rape September 28 of a 13-year-old girl riding her bicycle through a field also is being attributed to the same attacker.

All of the attacks were in the 10 Mile Road and Meadowbrook Road area. "This is a warning that young teen age girls should not ride alone and should ride with a friend. They should not be riding in a field or open area unless accompanied," said Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner.

The second arson in two months of the same building is suspected in the Sunday blaze which demolished what was left of a building owned by Leo Harwood on Grand River just east of Novi Road.

The fire, according to Corporal Ralph Fluhart was reported by officer Dennis Jolley on patrol at 12:04 p.m.

The fire department responded and had the blaze under control within an hour. Meanwhile Grand River was closed off for over an hour between Novi Road and Meadowbrook as the flames were whipped across the street by the wind.

According to Fluhart arson is suspected as the fire department has determined that "accelerants" were used. Suspects are under investigation.

A $220 police scanner as well as some clothes were stolen Wednesday, October 13 from Novi Ambulance on Novi Road. A 25-year-old employee who quit is suspected in the theft and is being sought.

Four $20 bills and two $10 bills were taken October 13 between 10 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. from a home in the 24000 area of Cranbrook. The home was entered by cutting a screen and sliding the window up. The money was taken from a desk drawer.

Two baggies of suspected heroin were taken October 13 by officers from a 16-year-old Novi youth stopped outside the Fun Factory. A clear plastic baggie containing two small envelopes with a brown powder were found in a coat pocket. The youth said he found the baggie in the parking lot.

In Northville

Emil Coda, 49, of 23890 Forest Park in Northville was taken to St. Mary Hospital with an incapacitating injury after his car was struck at 1:04 a.m. October 14 by a car driven by Gary Alaska, 21, of Livonia, Alaska, who reportedly went through a blinking red light at Haggerty and 10 Mile striking the Coda car, also received incapacitating injuries. Alaska was given a ticket for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Vandals did approximately $432 worth of damage to three structures at the Mill Race Historical Village. According to Northville City Police, rocks were used to shatter 10 windows in the old buildings.

In the incident, which occurred between 5 p.m. October 10 and 11 a.m. October 11, two windows in the old school house, five in the restored library and two at the Hunter House were found smashed.

In another rock throwing incident, a large plate glass window at the southwest end of the cafeteria at Northville High School was destroyed. A subject was seen running from the area to a small vehicle parked in the auto shop parking lot at 9:30 p.m. Saturday. The broken window was found moments later.

Damage in the incident was estimated to be $175.

In Township

Two black inmates of the female division of the Detroit House of Correction escaped from the facility at approximately 9:30 p.m. Thursday. Michigan State Police report one prisoner apprehended with the second still being sought.

The larceny of a shotgun from a residence in the 16000 area of Franklin was reported to the Northville Township Police October 13.

The owner said the 12-gauge shotgun was taken from his home sometime between 8 a.m. October 12 and 8 p.m. October 13.

A driver who failed to have his vehicle under control was cited by police after an accident on Ridge Road at 12:15 a.m. October 13.

James Morrison of Northville Township was taken to St. Mary Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered when his car went off the west side of Ridge Road, crashing through a mailbox and newspaper box.

According to reports, Morrison's car then flipped over, coming to a halt in the front yard of a home on Ridge Road. Police say Morrison had been drinking prior to the accident.

An apple thrown by an assailant hiding in the bushes near Moraine School was thought to be the cause of a cracked windshield on a car passing the area.

The driver of the car told police he saw an object coming from the bushes before it struck the windshield. Damage was estimated to be over $100 in the incident which occurred at 3:45 p.m. October 11.

In Wixom

In what was termed by Wixom Police as a "professional job," burglars made off with an estimated $750 in currency from the Standard Oil bulk distributorship on Wixom Road.

Police are continuing their investigation of the incident thought to have occurred sometime between 5:30 p.m. October 10 and 8 a.m. October 11.

Police found two clear pairs of footprints outside the building near where it is thought the burglars made their entry. One set belonged to a more youthful person wearing tennis shoes, the other apparently heavier wearing ripple-soled shoes.

The money, held in bank bags and envelopes, was taken from a desk in the front office of the building.

It was further thought by investigators that the burglars then took the cache to an area near the storage tanks and sorted out the money. All checks were left behind.

Three Wixom juveniles thought to be involved in several recent breaking and enterings in the city were reported missing from their homes by their parents.

Known as chronic run-aways, the boys left their homes in the early morning hours October 8. One youth reportedly took the family car without permission. He is an unlicensed driver.

Two of the boys were located later in Daytona Beach, Florida. One is currently being held by Florida authorities until his parents could reach the state by car.

The second youth was placed on a plane for the flight back to Detroit after a ticket was secured by his parents. At a stop in Charlotte, North Carolina, the youth managed to slip off the plane. His whereabouts are unknown.

The third boy, a 15-year-old, was also reported missing from his home. Although the timing coincides with the departure of the other pair, it is not yet known if he accompanied them to Florida.

A fourth youth apparently left his home at approximately 9 a.m. October 8 with his parents later reporting $40 and a 38 caliber revolver missing from the home.

The youth was subsequently apprehended in Toledo carrying the weapon. He was returned to Michigan.

Burglars 'did a real job'

Burglars so thoroughly ransacked a home on Orchard Street Thursday that only one pair of men's trousers remained in the closet. Like a gang of ants, every room in the house was totally worked over.

According to Detective Sergeant Allan Cox of the Northville Police Department, "they really did a job." Nothing was left untouched with the thieves even going so far as to taking the telephone.

Eight pair of drapes, curtains, almost every piece

40 officers in Wixom for seminar

At least 40 area law enforcement officers are expected to attend a week-long crime prevention seminar in Wixom beginning October 25.

Hosted by the Wixom Police Department, the Michigan State Police crime prevention program will cover twelve topic areas. Certified instructors of the Michigan State Police based in Lansing will teach the course with introductions to the program made by Lieutenant Frank Heckaman.

Efforts to bring the program to the local level were coordinated by Officer Richard Ziegler of Wixom. According to Ziegler, 100 percent of that city's police force will be fully trained in crime prevention techniques at the conclusion of the course.

Besides the host city, participating departments include Novi, Northville Township, South Lyon, Milford, Walled Lake, Wolverine Lake as well as the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and Camp Dearborn police.

of clothing including undergarments were taken. Pictures and decorative pieces were taken from the walls and whisked from the house.

Bedsprings, various household items, silverware, platters, and the kitchen toaster were taken. Luggage, a cassette player and radios, shoes, boots and the electric can opener disappeared during broad daylight without one person in the neighborhood noticing anything unusual.

The thieves raided the refrigerator and consumed what appeared to be substantial quantities of beer, wine and liquor.

Although a sum of cash, several pieces of jewelry and a variety of medicines were included in the long list of missing items, the arrival home at 3 p.m. by one of the residents stopped the thieves from getting the household furniture.

When the woman opened her garage door with an electronic device, she saw all her furniture stacked in the garage, apparently awaiting a truck. Police theorize the thieves were still in the house at the time of her arrival and made their getaway through the back door.

The woman, reportedly horrified by the events, fainted and injured her knee during the subsequent fall to the pavement. An ambulance transported her to Providence Hospital where she was treated for symptoms of shock and released.

Dear George:

For three months, I have tried to ignore your Wayne-County-style gutter politics. I have not responded to your lies and distortions because I felt our campaign should be run on the issues, and on my true record.

In a way, it was gratifying to me that you have had to sink to this kind of campaigning, since it implies that there is nothing else that could gain support for you, and nothing in my actual record that would cause people not to support me.

However, many of my supporters--those volunteers who are working in my campaign--have asked me to set the record straight. So I will respond just this once, and then I hope we can get on with discussing the real issues.

You say that I'm a "part-time legislator" because I haven't attended every meeting of House committees on which I serve.

YOU ARE NOT TELLING THE TRUTH.

By your standards, everyone in the House is a "part-time legislator." Many committees and sub-committees meet at the same times on the same days, so any member who is assigned to several such conflicting committees cannot possibly attend every meeting. In my case I serve on four main committees and five subcommittees. I TRY TO BE AT AS MANY MEETINGS AS I CAN, BUT I CAN'T BE IN TWO PLACES AT ONCE. You should be honest enough to admit you remember this from your days as a representative of inner-city Detroit. Moreover, on days when I was absent from the House altogether, it was due to the death of my father, the death of my mother, the birth of my son and other serious matters.

2. You say that my vote for the "dollar for dollar replacement" amendment to the school aid bill would have cost our school districts $340,000.

YOU ARE NOT TELLING THE TRUTH.

THIS AMENDMENT WOULD HAVE ACTUALLY MEANT AN INCREASE OF OVER $240,000 TO OUR SCHOOL DISTRICTS. Our school superintendents, the independent House Fiscal Agency, and the Governor's office will tell you the same thing. That's why 10 of our 11 Oakland County representatives voted for the amendment. Voting against this amendment, as you say you would have, would have demonstrated a severe lack of understanding school financing.

3. You say that I voted for the Single Business Tax.

YOU ARE NOT TELLING THE TRUTH.

I VOTED NO ON FINAL PASSAGE OF THE SINGLE BUSINESS TAX. If you will think back to the time when you represented inner-city Detroit in the State Legislature, you will remember that a vote on final passage is the vote that counts.

Should you choose to continue your gutter politics, I am confident that the public will be able to see your slurs and distortions for what they are, and that they will have no more effect on this race than they did when you used the same tactics when you ran against Congressman Broomfield in 1972 and 1974.

Fair weather's expected

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Every year the Wixom Country Fair is looked forward to by hundreds of residents and this year is no exception.

Action will swing into high gear early Friday morning when City Hall is transformed from a hub of government activity into an area chock full of flower arrangements, preserves, needlework and baked goods.

During those early hours, the Wixom Jaycee Auxiliary will be arranging tables and reading the lobby and council chambers for the Wixom Country Fair.

Then between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m., the gals will be on hand to accept what is hoped to be a record number of entries for display and judging. That portion of the Fair is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. The area will be closed to the public during judging but will reopen at 3 p.m. and remain open for public viewing until 5 p.m.

A full day of activities is scheduled for Saturday when the Fair reopens and the Jaycees present their Octoberfest.

Throughout the day, Wixomites will be able to browse through 20 open air booths featuring plants, jewelry, wire art and plaster ware as well as enjoy the goodies at a bake sale or fill ones tummy with yummys at the Jaycees food booth.

According to Kathy Nelson, coordinator of the event, the kids will have plenty to do with games, clowns and contests planned. And Wixom's new 4-H group will have pony and dog cart rides, and possibly a petting zoo to entertain the kids.

There'll be pickles on a stick, hot cider, chili dogs bubble gum blowing contests and even someone counting freckles in a freckle contest.

Hail shelter opening

Counterpoint, a runaway shelter for teens in Western Wayne County, was hailed by Mary Dumas, Wayne County commissioner from Livonia.

Attending the opening ceremonies, Mrs. Dumas said: "Counterpoint and similar facilities and projects throughout the state will provide needed assistance to those youngsters who ought not be incarcerated..."

Len Melnick, chairman of the Board of Directors of Counterpoint and Cynthia Vincent, the shelter director showed visitors through the new facility which is located at 715 Inkster Road, Inkster.

The center contains offices, a reception area and rooms for 10 youngsters. Counterpoint is open seven days a week and is staffed around the clock. It serves youngsters aged 12 to 17 from 32 communities West of Detroit, an area in which approximately 2,000 youngsters per year run away from home.

The Counterpoint runaway shelter is funded by a Federal grant with the county providing Federally-funded personnel assistance. The program also is assisted by the Michigan Department of Social Services.

The young people Counterpoint serves are people with problems. Often they are victims of child abuse, unrealistic expectations of parents and schools.

It is a temporary shelter which provides individual, group and family counselling for runaways and their families. It also provides medical and legal assistance to youth in need of those services.

No records or information regarding parents or young people are released without written permission, unless there is a court order.

The public is welcome to visit the Counterpoint shelter by calling its 24 hour number at 563-5005.

COMMUNICATIONS: Memorandum from Wayne County Road Commission concerning a meeting October 26, 1976 at 9:00 a.m. at the Wayne County Metro. Airport. This meeting will discuss the Step 1 Waste Treatment Grant.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: Rita Long, Allen Drive, concerning the fence she is proposing to build in her front yard.

Mayor Allen and Councilman Vernon looked at the front yard and mentioned other like fences in the area. It was suggested she contact the City Manager. Mrs. Long stated she would prefer doing this and thanked the Council.

TRAFFIC CONTROL AT EAST & ELM: A letter from St. Paul's Lutheran Church and School, Northville, MI, was read asking that a stop sign be located on East St. at the Northwest corner, a defined crosswalk across Elm St. south to north from the church walk to the playground, signs approaching the school on both East and Elm Street indicating "school zone".

Mayor Allen asked if placing the stop sign at that point be a problem with cars coming out of the parking lot. John Swallow, representing St. Paul's, explained the letter and the position of the signs. He also stated the crossing at the walk was supervised. Councilman Folino suggested moving the crosswalk and stop sign up to the corner. He felt this would be more functional.

Councilman Vernon suggested moving on to the next step.
Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Johnston to adopt Traffic Control Order No. 76-6, Sec. 2.36 of said Traffic Code, the following areas are hereby designated "No Parking Here or Corner":

East side of East Street for 100' south of Walnut, West side of East Street for 100' north and 100' south of Walnut extended.

Mayor Allen asked for any comments.

Councilman Vernon suggested no parking during school hours.

The City Attorney stated you could prohibit parking during the week but permit parking on Sunday.

Councilman Folino stated it was a bad situation at that corner, (Walnut and Elm).

Councilman Vernon commented on finding some way of controlling traffic without intruding on people living there.

More discussion followed.
The City Manager suggested he measure the road and have a center line paved on it. It would encourage the south-bound traffic to stay over.

Councilman Johnston suggested making a study and rescinded his support to the above motion.

Councilman Vernon rescinded his motion to adopt Traffic Order No. 76-6, Section 2.36 of said Traffic Code.

Councilman Folino to adopt Traffic Control Order No. 76-6, Section 2.36 of said Traffic Code as follows:

A crosswalk running north and south on Elm St. at the corner, A stop sign on the south side of Elm at the corner located just behind the crosswalk, A stop sign on the southeast corner of East Street and Elm. Two "School Zone" signs, one on Elm and one on East Street.

Carried unanimously.
TIVOLI FAIR HISTORICAL SOCIETY: Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Vernon to approve the request of the Northville Historical Society to hang two banners, one near the Northville Mall on Main Street and the other on Center Street near Chatham, for the Tivoli Fair to be held November 19th and 20th in the Square. Also that the banners be removed within 24 hours of the end of the fair subject to approval of the City Manager.

Carried unanimously.
SET CD GRANT HEARINGS FOR WAYNE & OAKLAND: The City Manager explained there were two stage hearings:

1. to hear citizen comments
2. to act on the comments received

Wayne County does not require hearings, however, it might as well hold both counties' hearings together to get input from the community.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Nichols to publish for Public Hearings on October 18 and November 1 on 1977 Community Development Grants.

Carried unanimously.
WATER RATES SCHEDULE: The City Manager explained that although the water rates were raised last December, that since the Detroit rate increase was made effective last April, the Water and Sewer System has not been generating enough revenues to cover expenses and the maintenance reserve.

Councilman Folino asked the City Manager to provide figures showing the expense and income picture before and after the rate increase.

Councilman Vernon stated the City has been very fair with the water users that once before the water rates were going to be published. The City Manager answered yes.

A discussion followed on the rates and the deficit being created and the fact that if there were breakdowns or major repairs the funds would not be available.

Councilman Vernon stated the City has been very fair with the water users that once before the water rates were reduced when a surplus was reached.

Councilman Nichols also asked to see figures.

Councilman Folino withdrew his support motion.

Councilman Johnston withdrew his motion to hold a public hearing on the Amendment to the Water Rates Ordinance.

Mayor Allen asked how many months it would take to catch up the deficit and asked for figures based on twelve and twenty four months.

The City Manager will get rates reflecting both.

PUBLIC HEARING RESOLUTION ON VACATING WEST ST: The City Manager stated the school board took the action that they should take.

The City Attorney stated Item No. 2 on the Resolution should be left out, and asked that the Public Hearing be adjourned until the next meeting. He would rather have No 2 as a separate agreement rather than included in the resolution.

Mayor Allen opened the Public Hearing and commented on deleting Item No 2 on the Proposal asked if there any other items.

The City Manager answered 24 items. The Public hearing was adjourned until October 18 to allow time to get the documents from the School District.

FIRE MONITORS: Mayor Allen read the letter from the City Manager concerning purchase of pocket fire monitors.

The City Manager has received the contribution from Ford Motor of $1,200. to purchase the monitors and he would pursue the project and would give notice to the Township and make a like request.

Councilman Nichols asked how many units would be purchased.

The City Manager answered 24 units. Mayor Allen asked for a motion.

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Folino to appropriate $1,200. for the proposed fire monitor equipment subject to like appropriation from the Township Board and then receive bids for the equipment.

Carried unanimously.
CITY TOWNSHIP JOINT SERVICE AGREEMENTS: The City Manager commented on his memo and on how to coordinate and discuss as a group the joint service agreements. He commented the Fire Service Agreement has a 6 month written notice to terminate while other contracts have 60 days or less.

Councilman Folino commented he was sure there were some inequities. They reiterate the termination is a further step in negotiations.

Councilman Vernon stated this should be made very clear that the City is not terminating the old contract and is desirous of entering into a new one.

Mayor Allen suggested this as a procedure we are to follow to help the Township formulate their budget.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Johnston to send a letter to the Township terminating the Fire Service Agreement and that the City is desirous of entering into a new joint service agreement with the Township.

Carried unanimously.
POLICE DEPARTMENT: The City Manager explained the memo to reorganize the Police Department and to advertise for a Police Chief.

Councilman Johnston commented he thought it was a good idea.

Motion by Councilman Folino supported by Councilman Vernon to advertise for Police Chief applicants.

Carried unanimously.
BIDS ON WING ST. EXTENSION: The City Manager asked that the bids be rejected. He stated the bids were rejected because we had to wait on information from HUD.

The City Manager asked that the bids be rejected. He stated the bids were rejected because we had to wait on information from HUD.

Councilman Vernon stated there were three major projects — 8 Mile and Center widening, Wing Street extension and curbing of S. Main. He asked if it would be practical to bid all three at the same time. Actually have four — two Center Street widenings. The curbing at S. Main seems the most certain Councilman Vernon also asked if this were not included in the budget.

The City Manager stated he would have more information at the CD hearing.

Mayor Allen asked if we will receive the $66,000 this year. The answer was yes.

Councilman Vernon asked if it has to be spent in the year received. The City Manager answered no.

Councilman Folino suggested going out for fill dirt bids for the Wing Street extension and getting the fill in now.

The City Attorney queried how much money are you talking about for the fill. The City Manager suggested 12 to 15 thousand dollars for the fill.

Mayor Allen commented it would still have to be compacted if it were done this fall. Then rebid in January for the remainder of the work.

Councilman Johnston stated he would like to hear what it costs the school to clear the driveway and what equipment problems they have.

The City Attorney stated the school cleared the driveway at night also the same man cleared it.

The City Manager stated he felt they should try the tickling for awhile.

Mayor Allen commented on street lights being on.

The City Manager stated the Detroit Edison Co is running three months behind.

Mayor Allen mentioned that parking and trailers need checking on N. Center Street.

There being no further business, Mayor Allen adjourned the meeting at 10:45 p.m.

Carried unanimously.
The City Manager mentioned a discussion he had with the DPW on the speed bumps to be put in on East Street. They did not want them installed because of the hill and what it would do to their equipment. The City Manager also mentioned the fact that the Police Department has issued some 30 speeding tickets and may have the problem under control.

Fessler chides slow crime bills' action

State Representative Richard Fessler (R-Union Lake) said it looks like the legislature is finally ready to get tough on crime.

"I've received word from the chairman of the Judiciary Committee that after the November 2 election, his committee will take up three anti-crime measures I've introduced.

"The bills were all introduced last year, but have been tied up in committee until now."
One of the bills, (H.B. 4290) would eliminate "good time," or the reduction of sentences, for persons convicted of a violent crime.

Another (H.B. 4292) would require that parolees who committed violent crimes be sentenced to serve a minimum sentence. The third measure would require that those convicted of a violent crime serve the minimum sentence imposed by the judge before being considered for parole.

"I feel very strongly about these bills," Fessler said. "Three people were murdered in my area last year by parolees. Something must be done to make the streets in this state safe once again.

"We have to stop bending over backward to protect the rights of the criminal because in doing so we're violating the rights of innocent people on the street. It's about time that we started thinking about their rights and their safety. "I'm happy to know that my strict crime measures are finally going to see some action, but I'm sorry it has taken this long for them to be considered."

Northville school budget proposal draws fire at hearing

Northville's proposed 1976-77 school budgets came under heavy fire during Monday's public meeting — most of the criticism coming from two citizens.

Fewer than 10 persons attended the hearing. The budget proposals, calling for an expenditure of $6,711,551 general fund outlay and a $4,715,334 outlay for the institutional special education program (ISEP) will come up for board action next Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Non-detailed budgets were presented to the public because of the majority board opinion that line-item budgets, which normally are presented, would open the board to possible charges of unfair labor practices.

Four major contracts with school employee groups have not been settled, and according to board members to devolve amounts of money allocated for salary and fringe benefits prior to settlement could result in labor problems. Tentative settlement has been reached with one of these groups — teachers, but a hitch has developed that reportedly jeopardizes formalization of the pact. (See related story on Page 1 of The Record.)

Major criticism leveled at the budget came from Joseph Fiorilli, who accused the board of "deception" in asserting that the last 3.9 millage request, approved by voters in April, was necessary; contended that the proposed budget could easily be pared without injury to sound education; suggested administrative cutbacks and larger classroom sizes to minimize instructional outlay are reasonable solutions; demanded that a detailed budget be presented to the public prior to adoption; and found fault with expenditures for school textbooks prior to adoption of the budget.

Larry VanderMolen, who shared Fiorilli's concerns, voiced most of his objections over the fact that the budget proposal did not include an accounting of expense and educational success or failure of the district's year-round school program.

Two citizens, Miles Tuttle and Mrs. Richard Barron, voiced concern that insufficient numbers of textbooks are being supplied at the middle school and that where "ditto" copies are being supplied in lieu of texts these copies are often illegible.

James Lewis quizzed board members about whether or not there is an overlapping of expenditures, such as for administrative outlays, between the traditional general fund budget and the ISEP budget.

Concerning the latter question, the board and Superintendent Raymond Spear emphasized that shared costs occur in few areas — among these being for legal services, for utilities and for the bus mechanic who services buses for both programs.

The administrative outlay in the ISEP budget, it was explained, does not include monies for administrator salaries in the regular program such as for the superintendent. General fund outlays for administrators provides for all of the salaries. However, if at the end of the ISEP year it is determined that the superintendent spent X-percent of his time on ISEP matters, that percentage cost of his time is reimbursed to the general fund but not applied directly as a portion of the superintendent's salary, it was noted.

Concerning the textbook issues, the board indicated that books and supply outlays have been increased by approximately $75,000, that most of the texts represented by this outlay were ordered and received prior to the start of the current school year.

That being the case, said Tuttle, he is even more concerned since it means that the middle school can expect little more improvement over what he considers at the present time to be less than a needed number of texts.

Relative to VanderMolen's criticism, it was pointed out that while no back-up data accompanied the budget relative to year-round costs, that information had been reported several weeks ago at a public meeting and that the board decided to review the year-round program again in January to assess the success or failure of the program especially as it relates to the high school where inequities in teacher-student ratios between the traditional and year-round programs are most distinct.

There has been not cost savings realized by the voluntary year-round program, the board admitted. It explained that real cost savings inherent with year-round programs do not occur until the program is fully implemented. And citizen opposition to a mandated year-round program makes full implementation next to impossible.

Specifically, it was estimated that comparison of costs between the two programs suggest that year-round school is costing about $10,000 more than the traditional program.

In his heated charges of deception, Fiorilli suggested that had the board leveled with the public over anticipated income, had it been more prudent in spending monies, and had it delayed repayment of monies to make up a deficit, it would not have had to ask voters to approve the 3.9 mill increase.

The board, he charged, knew that the district's income would be greater than it reported publicly and that therefore it had deceived the public so as to pressure a "yes" vote on the millage proposition. He said the citizens advisory committee was equally guilty of this deception.

Fiorilli refused to accept the board's explanation that the millage increase was indeed needed and that the existing facts relative to the school program support that contention.

In summation, based on citizen voiced concerns and board deliberation, Board President Sylvia Gucken said these major areas would be deliberated prior to the budget's adoption next week:

- Possible elimination of the special education coordinator post, which has not yet been filled, for this year.

- Consideration of ESY costs.
- Examine the textbook situation at the middle school level.

- Ascertain how ditto copies provided at the high school can be improved.

- Consider the contention that the board could have operated without the additional 3.9 mills.

Kelly Downs lone surprise in racing dates schedule

About the only surprise in the announcement of harness racing dates for 1977 in Michigan was the appearance of a fifth track — Kelly Downs of Davison.

The schedule for next year follows closely the 1976 pattern with Northville Downs starting the new year with 85 nights from January 1 through April 9.

That's two nights less than Northville had in its winter meet this year, but that's due to a break in the calendar which results in Jackson having two more nights (59) in its 1977 meet here from October 24 through December 31.

(The 1977 meet schedule should not be confused with the current year. Jackson opens a 57-night meet to close out the 1976 season at Northville Downs beginning next Monday and running through December 31.)

Kelly Downs, Inc., was issued a racing license in June, 1975 by the former racing commissioner, Leo Shirley.

At the request of the new licensee, Commissioner Fauri issued 23 nights from December 5, 1977 to December 31. The track remains to be constructed. If it is built and is running in December, 1977, Commissioner Fauri admitted he would consider extending the winter rates beyond December 31, 1977 into 1978.

The track's scheduled opening of December 5, 1977 coincides with the closing of DRC thoroughbred racing. But in December the Davison track would be competing with Jackson's meet at Northville Downs, and in January (1978) Northville Downs normally would be staging its own meet at Northville in competition with Kelly Downs.

While Northville Downs' officials still contend that the state would gain more profits from racing by conducting winter racing at Hazel Park or Livonia, winter dates remain at the Downs.

The 1977 schedule for harness racing is: Northville Downs — January 1 through April 9, 85 nights; Wolverine Harness Raceway — April 11 through July 16, 84 nights; Jackson — April 29 through June 11, 38 nights, and August 19 through October 22, 56 nights; Hazel Park — July 19 through October 22, 83 nights; Jackson at Northville, October 24 through December 31, 59 nights; Kelly Downs — December 5 through December 31, 23 nights.

Wixom council ok's, denies rezoning bids

In two public hearings on rezoning requests before the Wixom Council table Tuesday night, one came up a winner, the second a loser.

Council gave the nod to rezone a parcel of property on Beck Road between West Road and Pontiac Trail from RA-1 (single family residential) to M-1 (light industrial).

The request, made by Monkey Wrench Associates represented Tuesday night by George Fraumann, followed Planning Commission approval at their September meeting.

Fraumann explained to council the name of his firm did not denote the type of business. Rather, he said, it was so-called because of the configuration of the property.

The second rezoning request which was denied by council followed a similar path set by the Planning Commission. That body denied a request made by Douglas Jones, owner of the Wixom Bar on Pontiac Trail.

Jones told the Planning Commission he wanted to rezone a 3.66 parcel on Wixom Road between West Road and Pontiac Trail to construct a new bar.

Bus for seniors slated Monday

The monthly bus trip for Northville senior citizens by SEMPTA mini-bus to the Livonia Mall and other stores and offices in the vicinity is scheduled for Monday, October 25.

The bus will load in front of Northville City Hall between 9:30 and 10 a.m. and will return by 3 p.m. Any senior citizen wishing to use the service may call 349-1300.

A telephone check program is available to senior citizens in the City of Northville. Senior citizens may call in for assistance between 9 and 10 a.m. and at any time in case of an emergency. The telephone number is 348-9060.

Just call them Lionesses. That's the name recently given by Lions International to the many auxiliary women's groups which have formed throughout the United States. Novi's group has been in existence two years as an auxiliary but last Wednesday installed new officers after signing the new charter.

The ceremony was held at the Holiday Inn in Farmington in a joint meeting with the Novi Lions Club.

Officers of the club are: Treasurer Gerry Durocher; president, Jackie Lentz; vice president, Genny McSweeney; and secretary, Kathleen Campbell.

During the past two years, the ladies have had several fund raising projects including the annual craft show. This year the craft show will be held November 20 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Novi Community Building. This will include a sale of crafts, various Christmas gift items and a bake sale.

The ladies have also had garage sales.

Yearly contributions of money are sent to Leader Dog School and Penriton school for handicapped children. This month as a special project the Lionesses Club will be making 100 large bibs for the children. These bibs fit around the child's neck and under his plate.

The Lioness Club is also helping the Lions Club in purchasing a bus to transport invalids to and from clinics and for other uses and have plans to sing again this year at Christmastime in various nursing homes.

"Plain Talk" on Taxes

Nearly 200 years ago, Ben Franklin observed ". . . in this world nothing is certain but death and taxes." Today, these words continue to ring true. All of us would like to be free from taxes; but we realize that this is not possible. Organized society requires public facilities and public services—and these needs must be paid for with taxes. Anyone who promises public services without taxes is attempting to deceive the public.

On November 2nd, we must make a vital statewide decision on Ballot Proposition C — a proposed Amendment to the Michigan Constitution supposedly designed to limit state spending and taxing to 8.3 percent of total personal income. The concept of a constitutional limit has almost irresistible appeal, because it appears to promise tax relief and fiscal restraint to Michigan's frustrated taxpayers. Unfortunately, this promise is more mirage than miracle.

Proposal 'C' Is Irresponsible!

If Proposal C is adopted, it will only create a built-in "cop-out" for the State's failure to provide adequate aid to local units of government. Local communities would again face the difficult choice of either reducing essential services or voting additional property taxes to maintain services. Thus, Proposal C is not a tax limitation, it is another hidden tax-shift — which would most likely result in higher local property taxes!

Moreover, Proposal C is dangerous because voters might be deceived by this seemingly simple ballot proposition.

The backers of Proposal C obviously believe what voters don't know won't hurt them. I strongly disagree. I believe voters should know the likely consequences of this proposition before they cast their ballots on November 2nd.

They should also know that their incumbent legislator supports Proposal C, while I oppose it.

Property Taxes Are Unpredictable.

With millage levies at record levels, and with property assessments continuing to soar, property taxes are clearly excessive! How much will your property tax increase next year? This source of government revenue has supplied far more than its fair share in recent years. The Legislature must reverse this trend by providing more aid — not less — to local units of government, including school districts. Then, and only then, can property taxes be reduced. If more revenue is needed to provide essential services, it should be derived from taxation based upon the ability to pay. It should not be squeezed out of property taxpayers through jacking-up assessments or scheduling repetitious millage referendums.

Again, the incumbent's support of Proposal C demonstrates his real lack of concern with excessive property taxes.

Hasty Passage of Single Business Tax Was Inadvisable.

Last year, Governor Milliken proposed consolidation of 8 taxes paid by business into a new Single Business Tax. Because this proposal was packaged with the annual budget recommendations, and an anticipated $115 million "one-time windfall" used to help "balance" the 1975-76 budget, the Legislature was hustled into approving the Single Business Tax without adequate study.

The incumbent supported the Single Business Tax on its original passage through the House (Roll Call 637, House Journal 82, pp 2174-5, 7-2-75).

This year, many small business discovered that the new Single Business Tax was really "the Small Business Tax," as they were required to pay far more for the Single Business Tax than they had previously paid for all 8 taxes combined.

If I had been in the Legislature last year, I would have voted "NO" on the Single Business Tax. Taxing payrolls is hardly the way to create more jobs! When business is taxed, the taxes should be paid on net profit — not on gross revenue. If the Single Business Tax is not repealed, it must be amended to remove the inequities before it puts all small businesses out of business!

Fiscal Restraint Is Needed.

Thousands of Michigan citizens who signed petitions for Proposal C were obviously seeking a means of achieving fiscal restraint.

This is work for a full-time legislator. The job can never be done right by a part-time, lawyer/legislator.

The Governor and the Legislature must share this responsibility. Excessive spending by the state bureaucracy must be eliminated. Zero-based budgeting must be implemented.

I am a fiscal conservative. I do not believe in spending money we do not have. In my six years of previous legislative service (1965-1970), I never voted for an unbalanced budget. If I am returned to the Legislature in January, I will work to restore the state's fiscal credibility.

Handicapped services outlined for district students

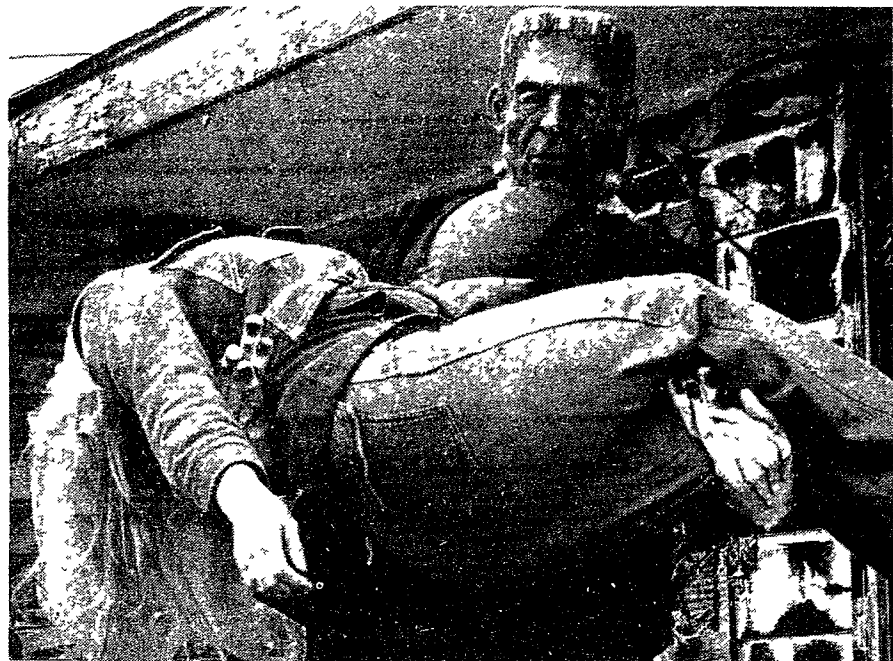

A host of evaluation services for students living within the Northville School District are available to parents, according to an announcement made recently by Leonard R. Rezmierski, director of Northville's special education program, and Jolene Wiedman, school psychologist.

manifest problems in the learning and-or emotional sphere. "These services are provided by a highly trained staff consisting of school psychologists, school social workers, teacher-consultants, and speech pathologists." They defined the roles of each of these this way:

and other aspects of the child's adjustment; Determine the child's difficulties from the standpoint of intelligence, personality, achievement and social problems; seek to identify causes for learning and-or behavioral problems; and identify exceptional children, including the gifted, the mentally handicapped, physically handicapped, socially maladjusted, educationally retarded, emotionally disturbed, and other categories for whom special services should be available. Social worker — Assist in the identification of problems and situations interfering with the child's ability to make successful adjustment to home, school and-or the community. Teacher consultant — To do a comprehensive evaluation of the student's academic ability and discover strengths and weaknesses of abilities and modes of learning patterns; and develop a program of services (when applicable) to the individual child to ameliorate school related problems. Speech pathologist — Evaluate speech patterns and language development and provide a program of services when needed. Parents seeking assistance need only call the school, 349-3490, to set up an appointment with any of these people.

so by parents. This service of LEC is of no cost to parents and can be obtained by writing Dr. Dyer, in care of the University of Michigan. Diagnostic Clinic, under Gary Navarre of Eastern Michigan University. This service is available to parents of children experiencing school related problems. It provides an individual assessment of intelligence and a complete and comprehensive assessment of academic abilities and learning modes. DC's evaluation process is offered in the months of July and August and takes approximately one to one and a half weeks of time commitment from parents and students. Once the evaluation is concluded, the parents and all personnel concerned evaluate the results of the session.

Frankly chilling

Judy Dostal of the Novi Jaycee Auxiliary finds herself getting carried away by a seven-foot Frankenstein being played by Charles Plante as the Novi Jaycees prepare for the opening of the haunted house tomorrow (Thursday). The haunted house runs through Saturday, October 30. Monday through Thursdays it will be open from 6:30-11 p.m., Fridays from 6:30 to midnight, Saturday from 3 p.m. to midnight and Sundays 3 to 11 p.m. Cost is $.75 per person Sunday through Thursday and $1 on Friday and Saturday for the haunted house located on Novi Road north of Nine Mile.

In addition to these services, others also are available to local residents. For example, additional diagnostic intervention and follow-up services for any handicapped child may be coordinated through the Western Wayne County Learning Center by calling the Westland based center at 525-4016.

Services offered by other agencies not affiliated with public schools, either local or intermediate include: Learning Evaluation Clinic, under Dr. Calvin O. Dyer of the University of Michigan. This service is available to parents with children and students of all ages. It provides an individual assessment of intellectual ability, patterns of strength in cognitive areas. 'Dove' is Chinchilla Rex winner

Family interest in rabbits produces national champ

This month she's the owner and breeder of the national Chinchilla Rex winner at the American Rabbit Breeders Association's national convention.

With daughter Maria, 14, and son Michael, 13, she attended the convention held October 4-7 in York, Pennsylvania.

Maria received a second place in the open division with her six-to-eight month old Broken Color French Lop Buck, and a fourth place in the youth division with her six-to-eight month old Siamese Satin Buck.

Michael was a first place winner in the youth division with his Champagne D'Argent Senior Doe.

The interest in rabbit breeding and showing, Mrs. Lupini explains, started three years ago when the family found a "half-dead doe" at the farm in Addison, Michigan, where the Robert Lupinis have Arabian horses.

"We took it to a friend in 4-H and found it was a Californian," Mrs. Lupini recalls, telling how, after it was nursed back to health, the rabbit was bred.

"We sold two babies and got a Champagne and a Rex," she continues.

The family also got involved in 4-H with Mrs. Lupini now serving as a co-leader in the local Double N Riders group. The Lupinis are members of the Auto City Rabbit Association.

They've named their home at 18432 Docksey "The Clover Patch" and have about 30 breeder and show rabbits.

The national champion Chinchilla Rex is a junior doe, named by the family "Dove."

A Junior Blue Rex doe was named best Junior Blue Rex of the show while a Senior Black Rex doe from The Clover Patch and three Champagne D'Argents placed in the top 10 of that breed.

In addition to breeding rabbits for show, Mrs. Lupini says, they are sold for food. She points out that rabbit meat is considered for diabetics and for heart patients.

Showing off their Champion "Dove" are Mrs. Barbara Lupini (standing) and Maria and Michael.

Yesterday's money is art

Northville Mayor A.M. Allen, left, and Albert T. Jurkiewicz, a second vice president of Manufacturers Bank and acting manager of the Northville branch, inspect a collection of 19th century bank notes and depression scrip from the 1930s on display here through October 22. Artisans whose specialty was hand-engraving on steel plates created vignettes "to express all the virtues a bank should possess — integrity, solvency, fidelity and a little bit of patriotism." The notes are worthy of preservation for their delicacy and charm, bank officials point out. The display is at the front of the bank at 129 East Main Street.

Study housing need

A survey to tabulate needs and desires of area senior citizens regarding housing is being taken by the Plymouth-Northville chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons.

It is intended to update one taken two years ago among members and friends.

The AARP points out that the new, five-part survey covers factors that have entered the senior citizen housing picture since the first was taken. It includes subsidies and high-rise versus low-rise apartment living.

Fred Bradley, AARP chapter corresponding secretary, explains that the data collected will be made available to local officials in Northville and Plymouth and to county and state officers.

Anyone wishing to participate in the multiple-choice survey may contact him at 8166 Five Mile Road, Northville, for copies. It is optional that the survey be signed.

Pointing out that some senior citizen projects are financed by federal or local governments, the first question asks the philosophy of the responder.

He is to check whether he believes there should be subsidized housing regardless of ability to pay or if it should

CONGRESS

Here's one very good reason to put a Doctor in Congress:

Ed Pierce.

Dr. Ed Pierce, Democrat running for United States Congress, is not a typical candidate. He's an M.D. — a family doctor — practicing in this district for 16 years. But then, he's not a typical M.D. either.

In 1968, Ed left his private medical practice, took a 50% pay cut, and opened up the low-cost Summit Medical Center, so that all people in his community would have someplace to go for medical care, regardless of their income.

Since then, Ed's been living on an average income, putting in long hours, working day-to-day with the average people of this area. Now, because our society has problems he can't solve as a doctor, Ed is running for Congress, to put his knowledge of the people to work for us in Washington.

Ed Pierce wants to help design an efficient, cost-controlled program of national health insurance. He wants to help get our people back to work.

The fact is, Ed Pierce is not a typical candidate. Most candidates spend their time telling how they are going to serve their constituents. Ed Pierce has already been serving them — for years.

She's in EMU production

Liz Kalota, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kalota of 44102 Cottisford in Northville, rehearses a scene from the Eastern Michigan University Players production of "Of Thee I Sing," which opens October 13 in Quirk Auditorium. In the musical spoof on politics, Liz plays Mary Turner, one of 52 cast members. The Gershwin musical, the most elaborate production EMU has staged in 20 years, follows the zany presidential campaign of John P. Wintergreen, who runs for office as the candidate who wanted to "Put Love in the White House." It will be presented Wednesday through Sunday, October 13-17 and October 20-24, at 8 p.m.

What's wrong, Rover?

Pet owners will soon be able to pick up the phone and call in a question concerning the health and care of their animal pets to a TV panel of veterinarians — and have the question answered, live on TV.

This new TV guideline to animal care begins on Tuesday, October 26, at 9:30 p.m., when the first live telecast of "All About Animals", a new public information TV series, is aired over WTWS, Channel 56, Detroit.

Produced by WTWS in cooperation with the Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medical Association (SEMVA), the live, half-hour show will be televised once a month.

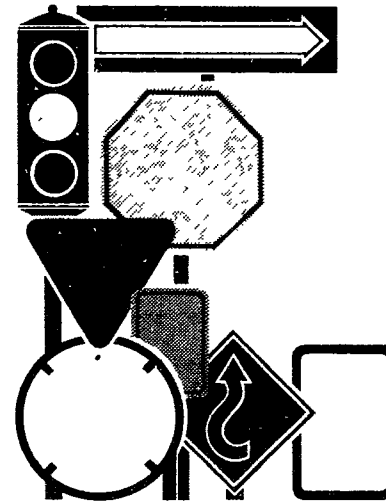

SEMVA brings the show to the public in order to offer advisory information to pet owners on matters of health, behavior and control of the animals they own.

For those living in a private home the survey asks if they like it and have no intention of moving, or, if they may have to move because of rising costs, health reasons, or changing neighborhoods.

If they plan to move, it seeks to discover whether it would be to an apartment (and what type), condominium or mobile home.

Another section checks attitudes of those now in condominiums or apartments.

The survey also seeks to know what future plans couples are making in event one spouse dies or becomes an invalid.

The survey, Bradley points out, is an opportunity for senior citizens themselves to say what they want.

Mrs. Jane Gaitskill of the Wayne County Council on Aging will speak on the many services offered by the county to senior citizens at the October meeting of the Plymouth-Northville chapter.

The meeting will be Wednesday, October 27, at the Plymouth Presbyterian Church following a sack lunch at noon and a short business meeting and sing-along.

Visitors, aged 55 and older whether retired or not, are welcome

Pierce, Pursell add backers

Both candidates for the Second Congressional seat vacated by Congressman Marvin Esch, now running for U.S. Senate, announced endorsements this week.

Democratic Candidate Dr. Ed Pierce revealed that he has received the endorsement of the Washtenaw County Local Building Trades.

Dr. Pierce stated that "I am most happy to add this endorsement to those I have already received from the United Auto Workers, Michigan Education Association and many other groups of working people."

Carl Pursell, the Republican opponent of Dr. Pierce, announced that one of Dr. Pierce's Democratic opponents in the August primary has announced his support of Pursell.

County Commissioner Delbert Hoffman of Monroe stated that "Pursell is the far superior candidate...I observed during my primary debates with all the candidates that Carl was better informed and would better serve the Monroe citizens."

A Democratic Monroe county commissioner, Hoffman said he would split his ticket and vote for Pursell.

Through the years, we've discovered what many businessmen no doubt already know...that the Yellow Pages is the best kind of advertising for anyone who cannot spend millions of dollars establishing themselves as a household name.—Harold L. Kurzmann, Harold Paper Company, Adams Rd., Auburn Heights.

Other Yellow Pages Advertisers are getting these results:

"85% of my custom pillow business is a direct result of my Yellow Pages advertising."

The Yellow Pages is fantastic. It's one thing to have a rare and respected craft, but you can't sit back and wait for the money to roll in. The Yellow Pages keeps the customers coming.—Herman Berlin, Pillow Talk, Coolidge Rd., Berkley.

"It has become almost an eight-hour-a-day job for one person to answer all the telephone calls we get. The Yellow Pages is the only medium which has worked for us consistently."

I could not put a salesman on the road for the relatively small amount I spend on two large display ads in both the Woodward North and East suburban Detroit directories. Almost all our business comes in over the telephone. We no longer use any other media.—James J. Saad, Quick Made Trophies, E. Nine Mile Rd., Warren.

"At least 50% of our business, and probably more, comes from our Yellow Pages ads. Quite frankly, we could not survive without them."
