

Challenger seeks to unseat Wayne commissioner

Dumas. . .

Only one of two Republicans on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, Mary E. Dumas of Livonia is still pumping for reorganization of county government as she seeks re-election in the 19th District.

"I will continue to do what I can to give citizens of the county an opportunity to decide whether or not they would prefer a county executive form of government," she asserts, despite failure of the commission in the past to adopt her resolution that would place the matter on the ballot.

What's more, Mrs. Dumas says she will not be entirely satisfied until the "inherited" county posts, such as drain commissioner, register of deeds, etc., are filled on the basis of competence and not political feather-bedding.

"Over the long haul, I am convinced that elected county executive form of government ought to be less expensive and a good deal more productive than the present system. The savings would come from closer monitoring of departmental functions which, in my opinion, would result in higher departmental and programmatic-employee productivity.

"In addition, rather than having five commissioners, who unfortunately have been labor oriented, sitting at the negotiating table as 'management' spokesmen, the county executive would hire a professional negotiator—somebody who knows what the implications of contract clauses are — who could sit down at the table and truly bargain with the county employee union in the best interest of taxpayers.

ELIZABETH TAVAROZZI

Tavarozzi. . .

If the 19th District is to have political clout on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, it will have to elect a Democrat, according to Elizabeth D. Tavarozzi who believes she is the ideal person to fill that role.

Pointing out that the incumbent, Mary Dumas, is only one of two Republican members of the 27-member commission, Mrs. Tavarozzi contends the Livonia Republican has been unable to wield influence among the majority Democrats.

"I believe a Democratic representative from this area would be more effective," declares the challenger trying to unseat the incumbent.

"In conversations I've had with some of the Democratic members of the commission, it has been pointed out by them that it is not easy to work with (Mrs. Dumas). It's a lot easier to reach agreement and iron out differences working with people within your own party."

It is her Democratic banner, therefore, along with long experience in county government through having been an employee-supervisor in the office of the county register of deeds, that are chief assets Mrs. Tavarozzi is emphasizing as she campaigns for office.

A widower and mother of three children, Mrs. Tavarozzi says "32 years of county government experience gives me very good insight into the workings of county government. As an employee (now on leave) I

NEWS BRIEFS

NEXT SATURDAY is the official "trick or treat" evening for Halloween in both the city and township of Northville. Although Sunday is October 31 — the traditional date for Halloween — officials stress that goblins and ghosts should make their house-to-house calls for treats on only Saturday evening — from 5 to 7 p.m.

"DON'T FORGET, Saturday's our big annual dinner dance," reminds officials of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce. The program will begin with a reception at 7 p.m. at the Northville Park Haus restaurant on Northville Road, followed by dinner and dancing. Persons still wishing tickets should contact Mrs. Ann Roy at 349-8700.

TEENAGERS will be dancing to live music Saturday evening as they participate in the Halloween Disco-Teen Dance sponsored by the Northville Jaycees in the "Spirit of '76" room adjacent to Arcade 5. Costume awards are to be made during the dance which begins at 9 p.m. and concludes at 1 a.m. Minimum age is 16, admission $3.

$3,000 vandalism

Some $3,000 damage occurred at Northville High School over the weekend when vandals smashed windows and doors and painted obscenities and slogans on interior and exterior walls. According to school officials the vandalism apparently happened about 2 a.m. Sunday. Estimates suggest that removal of the paint will cost the district $800, while replacement of glass will exceed $2,000. Only $700 of the $800 damage by the spray paint is covered by insurance. Police are investigating the case, and school officials are conferring with administrators in Novi to determine if the malicious act was a "retaliatory" type measure by students for damage occurring in that district.

$11 million outlay

School budget approved

A $11,491,334 budget for the K-12 and the institutional special education program was approved without dissent by the Northville Board of Education Monday.

Budget approval came on the heels of last week's public hearing and a review this week of the concerns and complaints expressed by citizens concerning the record-high outlay.

As finally approved the budget reflects an additional $64,449 in income over the initial 1976-77 proposal presented to the public.

This additional income is used principally to beef up pupil support-utility services, although one board member suggested that it be set aside as contingency money in the event another state aid cut is ordered as such cuts have been ordered in previous years.

Upon approval of the budget, Board President Sylvia Gucken reminded the audience that a detailed, line-item budget is to be presented to the public once contract settlement with the district's employee groups have become a reality.

The board had taken the split-vote position that a detailed budget should be withheld pending settlement because to do otherwise might subject the board to a charge of unfair labor practices, i.e., setting salary and fringe benefit outlays before reaching negotiated new contracts. Despite its explanation, however, the board has come under fire from some citizens for not telling the public exactly how it intends to spend 1976-77 monies.

Of the overall $11,491,334 budget approved by the board, $6,776,000 of it is for the district's regular K-12 program, while the remaining $4,715,334 is for the institutional special education program.

Concerning the former, the board anticipates these revenues: Property tax income, $4,897,000; other local income, $155,000; intermediate district income,

Record turnout possible Tuesday

With practically no competition for the township seats, most local interest probably will focus on the Second Congressional District race Tuesday when an expected record number of voters go to the polls in the Presidential election.

Nevertheless, there'll be a host of other posts up for grabs and four state propositions to be considered by voters, ranging from the choice of President, to the Michigan Supreme Court, to county races.

Tuesday's polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

If registration is an indication of voter interest, a record number of voters will cast ballots by machines Tuesday.

Clerks of both the city and township report registrations have zoomed upwards — to over 6,000 in the township and to over 4,000 in the city.

City Clerk Joan McAllister said a new voter tabulations indicate 4,069 persons are eligible to vote in the city — 1,377 in Precinct 1; 746 in Precinct 2; 1,389 in Precinct 3; and 557 in Precinct 4.

In the township, Clerk Clarice Sass reported a total registration of 6,138 with 693 in Precinct 1; 1,285 in Precinct 2; 673 in Precinct 3; 114 in Precinct 4; 806 in Precinct 5; 1,092 in Precinct 6; 757 in Precinct 7; and 719 in Precinct 8.

For precinct descriptions and voting locations see story on Page 14-A.

In that Second District race, State Senator Carl Pursell, Republican, is battling Democrat Dr. Edward Pierce for the congressional seat currently held by Marvin Esch who is making a pitch for a post in the United States Senate.

Over in the Oakland County portion of the city, the 19th Congressional District race pits Incumbent Republican William Broomfield against Dorothea Becker. For a list of other Oakland County races which voters in the northern part of the city will help decide see story on Page 4-A.

At the state level, Incumbent Republican Representative R. Robert Geake of Northville is being challenged by a Livonia attorney, Democrat Jerome Harris.

And at the county level, Incumbent Republican County Commission Mary Dumas of the 19th District is being challenged by Elizabeth Tavarozzi. The 19th District includes all of the Wayne County section of the city and nearly all of the township. In a small southwestern portion of the township, lying within the 27 District, Democrat Royce Smith and Republican Owen Arrowsmith.

At the township level, most of the board candidates already virtually have been elected since they face no competition.

Candidates for supervisor, clerk, treasurer, one two-year trustee post, and for constables are unopposed.

The lone competition occurs in the race for two four-year trustee posts. There are three candidates for these two posts — Republicans Dr. John Swienkowski, an incumbent and Michael Wilson, and Democrat Margaret Cramer.

The lone supervisor candidate is Republican Wilson Grier. Incumbent Republican Clarice Sass is unopposed for clerk, Republican Richard Henningsen is unopposed for treasurer, R. H. Lysinger is unopposed for a two-year trustee post, and E. F. Peterson, Jr. and James Schrot, both Republicans, are unopposed for constable seats.

Thus, the township will have a majority "new face" after Tuesday's election. Supervisor Betty

Gucken will stay on school board

Northville School Board won't be having a new board member-president after all.

In a surprise announcement this week, Board President Sylvia Gucken said her family's planned move to Pennsylvania has been delayed, thus changing her earlier announced intention to resign from the board.

Mrs. Gucken said she and her husband had reassessed their plans and had concluded that their children should remain in Northville through the end of the school year in June.

That change in plans, she explained, means she will remain on the board until June when her post can be filled by election rather than by board appointment.

She expressed regret for any public concern her earlier announcement may have generated.

The Guckens planned moved to Pennsylvania is necessitated by the transfer of her husband in his work.

Eastern Star taps Betty Willing

Betty Willing, newly elected Worthy Matron of Orient Chapter No. 77, Order of Eastern Star, will be honored at a public installation of officers at 8 p.m. Friday, November 5, at the Northville Masonic Temple.

Other officers to be installed are Michael Willing, Worthy Patron; Beverly Ludwick, P.M., Associate Matron; Carl Maier, P.M., Associate Patron; Frances Famuliner, P.M., secretary; Martha Hawes, treasurer; Marion Dunais, P.M., Conductress; Earlene Christina, Associate Conductress.

Also, Lillian Cutright, chaplain; Kathryn Cobb, P.M., marshal; Lillian Borman, organist; Pat Getyina, Adah; Verna Sommers, P.M., Ruth; Gloria Bowen, Esther; Averil Penn, Martha; Enid Comito, Electa; Martin Sommers, P.P., warder; and James Penn, sentinel.

Auxiliary officers to be installed are Herman Wedemeyer, P.P., American flag bearer; Beverly Cook, Christian flag bearer; Violet Bradford, P.M., Eastern Star flag bearer; Virginia Dunsford, P.M., parliamentarian; Kerry Pattison, P.M., ritual and drill instructor; Betty Wedemeyer, P.M., American flag tribute and closing scriptures.

Ritual degree officers are Edna Francis, Mildred Pelt, P.M., Debbie O'Donnell, Mary McFeely, Marchelle Barker, Louise Cutler and Mamie Jensen.

Phyllis M. Martz, Worthy Grand Matron, Grand Chapter of Michigan, OES, is the installing officer.

Others on the installing staff are Virginia Zook, P.M., installing chaplain; Violet Bradford, P.M., installing marshal; Naomi Holstrom, Past Grand Organist, installing organist; and Susan Lukovich, Past Grand Worthy Advisor, Order of Rainbow for Girls in Michigan, installing soloist.

A guard of honor will be composed of the Sir Knights of Northville Commandery No. 39, Knights Templar.

Refreshments will be served at the officers' reception in the dining room immediately following the ceremony.

Art at auction

Planners of the second annual Northville Jaycettes' Art Auction to be held at the Mill Race library this Friday Marcia Booth, left, and Marion Wilcox admire the winter scene Mrs. Booth bought last year. Again this year the art will be from the Fred Grossman Art Center in Berkley. Tickets at $1.50 each include champagne and hors d'oeuvres from 8 p.m. until bidding begins at 9 p.m. Proceeds will be used for a tot lot at the fish hatchery site on Seven Mile.

Woman's Club learns

'Bubbles ok in crystal'

While the making of china and crystal traces back into history as early as the Phoenicians, members of Northville Woman's Club last Friday found there still is much to learn about its selection and care.

Variances, including heights and even bubbles, are acceptable in hand-blown glass such as Waterford, they were told by Margo Riza who appeared with David Smith of the Cricket Box in Plymouth.

In fact, they're considered signs of quality by the fine Irish factory. Individually applied etching patterns even may vary.

Smooth edges, clarity (clear without a green or blue cast) and luster should be the criteria for choice, club members were told.

Films from the Waterford factory in Ireland and the Lenox Company in this country were shown.

"Your Crowning Glory" will be the topic of the club's next program at 1:30 p.m. November 5 at First Presbyterian Church in Northville.

Nick Layow, owner of the "Fashion Cellar," will present the guest day program-demonstration.

"I'm going to show some of today's hair fashions, using a small group of models. There also will be a demonstration of blow-drying with a short talk on home hair care," he explains.

Tell October births

Thomas Cleveland Talbot arrived at 6:02 a.m. October 21 at Sinai Hospital. He is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Talbot of 23528 Londonderry in Novi. He weighed 10 pounds.

The baby joins brothers Ricky, 8, and Jeffrey, 5, at home.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilcox of Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Talbot of Rockford, Illinois. A great-grandmother, Mrs. Ralph Priebe, lives in Fort Worth, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Harsh of Birmingham announce the arrival of their first child, Deborah Ann, October 16 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

Their daughter weighed eight pounds, eight ounces.

Mrs. Harsh is the former Donna Tymensky.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Tymensky of Novi. Paternal ones are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harsh of Three Oaks, Michigan. Mrs. Mary Skeltis of Novi is the baby's great-grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Bloomquist of 291 Sherrie Lane are parents of a new son, Erik Steven, born October 6 at Providence Hospital. He weighed six pounds, seven ounces.

Erik joins a sister, Katie, 4, and brother, John, 2, at home.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Strodthoff of Two Rivers, Wisconsin, and Mrs. Irene Bloomquist of Milwaukee.

In Our Town

80 artisans sign for Tivoli Fair

By JEAN DAY

FIFTH ANNUAL Tivoli Fair sponsored by the Northville Historical Society November 19 and 20 at Northville Square will have on hand one of its founders, Barbara Scantlin.

Mrs. Scantlin, who has been living and working in Colonial Williamsburg, Virginia, is expected to be back in town by the beginning of November. As she has done in Williamsburg, she will be explaining herbs at the fair.

Mrs. Gordon R. Merritt, chairman, and her co-chairman, Mrs. James Beaudoin, announce that 80 artists and quality craftsmen will be exhibiting and demonstrating their skills.

In addition there will be a country store under chairmanship of Carol Lawrence, a bake sale headed by Martha Nield and an educational booth planned by Harriet Wheaton. Other local chairmen include Shirley DeHoff, decorations; Mae Mohr, prizes; and Jewell Luckett, hostesses.

Local artisans who will be participating in the fair and using their skills include Donna Martinez, Barbara Baluha, china painting; Nelda Hosler, doll house miniatures; Marie Bonamici, Joyce Clark Lewton, jewelry; Mary Ann Alspaugh, kilts; Louise Towalski, Pat Yargus, painting; Anne Cogo, Jane Kaake, Marcia Greiner, pottery; Northville Weavers' Guild, Gloria and John Teeter, weaving.

Varied crafts will be displayed and demonstrated by Cecily Hayward, Diane Ramsey, Marge Cinader and Mary Beth Baxter.

On both days the fair will open at 10 a.m. It will run until 9 p.m. Friday and until 5 p.m. Saturday. For the $1 admission charge those attending will have an opportunity to be the lucky winner of a handmade afghan donated by Mrs. Ruth Starkweather or a miniature Victorian candy shop donated by Miss Hosler.

THE BENMILLER INN at Goderich, Ontario, near Grand Bend historically was two functioning mills. They have been converted into comfortable guest rooms, dining and recreational areas to make an appealing weekend vacation get-away.

Because of the inn's beginnings as a grist and wool mill, the historical society decided to give a weekend there, complete with two breakfasts for two and meals Saturday, as a special grand prize at this year's fair.

Also awaiting lucky winners this year are two nights at the Plymouth Hilton Inn; dinners for two at the Trio, Gandy Dancer and Lord Fox; a 26-inch handmade doll by Thressa Gatton; a corn husk wreath by Mary Ware; herb wreath from the Northville branch, WNFGA; baseball autographed by the Tigers; a Piston's hat; ice skates and a brass rubbing by Helen Geisler.

All this is in addition to the fun of Christmas shopping for one-of-a-kind treasures at booths of metal sculpture, basketry, wood crafts, jewelry, macrame, dolls and toys, porcelains, weaving, patchwork, crewel, plants, candles, stained glass, pewter and more.

"IF THE BIRDS and squirrels could vote, Carter would win for sure!" That's the observation of Mrs. Marcella Douglas who feeds both regularly at her Rogers Street home.

She bases it on the tag enclosed in a bag of Spanish peanut splits she bought this fall from Velvet Food Products in Livonia. It stated that the peanuts were from the Carter Warehouse, Plains, Georgia.

NEWCOMERS CLUB members and interested alumnae are asked by President Claudia Berry to inspect crafts on display this week on the upper level of Northville Square across from the Book Mark. Any of the numbered items then may be made at a crafts night to be held at 7:30 p.m. December 6 in the Mill Race library.

Reservations may be made until November 15 to make ribbon wraps or corn husk wreaths, holiday baskets or broom door decorations. Quilling also will be taught by area craftsmen. The evening will cost $1 plus materials. Elaine Powell, 349-8226, is taking reservations.

SECOND PRINTING of the new Northville Mothers' Club cookbook, "Favorite Recipes from Our Best Cooks," has been received and Diane Schrader asks that those who ordered 70 copies during the home tour, as well as anyone else wishing them, pick up copies at Schraders Home Furnishings at 111 North Center.

When the first order of 500 copies sold out quickly, the club authorized the second printing of the spiral book of recipes from club members and friends. It is priced at $3.50 and also is available from members.

Mrs. Schrader reveals that the new batch, however, has covers featuring a different kitchen from the first. "If anything, it's prettier," she says, but stresses that the inside is identical to the first.

Proceeds from the cookbook sale, as well as other club projects for the second year, go to restoration of Wash Oak schoolhouse in the Mill Race Historical Village. At its first meeting this fall, however, the club also voted to donate service girl plaques for Winchester School.

TAKING OFF Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) has worked for Mary Lou Battley who was honored at "graduation" ceremonies at Monday night's meeting of the Northville TOPS in the scout-recreation building on Cady Street.

Leader Fran Bissa explains that she now is a member of KOPS (Keep off Pounds Sensibly) as Mrs. Battley reached her goal of losing 33 pounds. "She did it all this year and now is co-leader," adds Mrs. Bissa.

The celebration, by the way, was strictly a tea or coffee one. "We don't even permit one-calorie pops," says Mrs. Bissa. New members are welcome at the meetings which are held at 7:30 p.m. every Monday.

LOSING SIGNIFICANT amounts of weight is the aim of a new weight loss group, Overeaters Anonymous, which has been meeting at 12:30 p.m. every Friday in the scout-recreation building.

Leader Joyce Laskowski, who organized the group earlier this year for anyone who wished to lose 30, 50 or 100 pounds, reports there are as many as 10 meeting regularly now.

THE BICENTENNIAL quilt made by the Women's Association of Northville Presbyterian Church and given away during the home tour last month went to Mrs. Nora Curylo, the association reports.

In the future, all docents on duty at Northville Mill Race Village will have had training and a packet of verified information. They'll be able to point out that the village was started in 1972 to preserve our Victorian era — with examples of architectural styles dating from 1840 to 1900. Most of all, however, they'll be a welcoming group for the public Saturdays and Sundays.

Kathleen Mannila weds

Among the mementos that Kathleen Louise Mannila, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Mannila of 24321 Willowlane in Novi, will have of her September marriage to Kenneth W. Wheat is an everlasting bouquet. When the couple exchanged rings in an evening ceremony before the Reverend James Brenner at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, she carried a rust-and-white nosegay.

It was composed of satin and dried flowers and was made by Adrian Parsons of Novi, who also made the bridal attendants' autumn-hued basket arrangements.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheat of Farmington.

Guitar music during the service included "Wedding Song," "Twelfth of Never" and "Follow Me."

The bride's gown of organza was fashioned on traditional lines with lace applique at the sheer yoke and on the full, gathered sheer sleeves. Lace also edged the scalloped skirt extending into a chapel train. Her illusion veil was fingertip length.

David Wheat was his brother's best man. Ushers were David Carter, Bill Booth, Dave Pardo, Charles and David Mannila. They wore rust tuxedos.

The bridegroom's six-year-old twin cousins from Canada served as flower girl and ring bearer.

A reception at Behnan Hall in Southfield followed for 160 guests, including relatives from Canada and Chicago.

The couple, who met when both were in the wedding party of the bride's cousin, honeymooned in Hawaii.

The bride, a graduate of Oakland Community College, is a nurse at Botsford Hospital. Her husband is working at Ford Motor Company in design and is attending Henry Ford Community College where he is working toward his engineering degree.

They are making their home in Novi.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gotts inspect wedding picture 50 years later.

Golden celebration held on wedding date

Golden weddings run in the families of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gotts of 836 North Center Street.

Mrs. Gotts, who was Helen Lucille Waterman, and her husband reached the special milestone last Saturday and were honored at a dinner for relatives at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Waterman, had celebrated their 50th anniversary in 1944. His parents had their 50th anniversary in 1937.

His sister and her husband, the Earl Grays of Plymouth, who were their attendants, celebrated their 50th last year and were among the 30 guests present at the Gotts' party Saturday.

It was hosted by their only child, the Reverend Larry Gotts, pastor of St. Peter's Church and school in New York.

Dinner tables were decorated with arrangements of yellow mums with gold leaves and matching bows. Fresh yellow roses decorated the anniversary cake.

One of the gifts to the couple was a composite picture of special events during their years of marriage.

A retired builder and finish carpenter, Mr. Gotts and his wife are members of the Northville Methodist Church, church circles and Northville Senior Citizens.

He was born in Willis, Michigan, and his wife in Plymouth.

Their anniversary memories include their meeting when he moved next door to the Waterman family on Reservoir Road.

They were married October 23, 1926, in the Methodist manse in Northville by the Reverend William Richards.

In double-ring ceremony

Debra Guard says vows

A romance that began on the campus of Wayne State University resulted in the September wedding of Debra Sue Guard and Priyaranjan Prasad.

They exchanged vows and rings before the Reverend Guenther Branstner at First United Methodist Church in Northville.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guard of 20375 Woodhill Road, received her BS degree in nursing from WSU this year and currently is pursuing her MS there.

Her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sadashiva Prasad of India.

He received his Ph.D. in mechanical engineering sciences from WSU in 1973 and is employed in automotive research at Ford Motor Company.

For the 6:30 p.m. service the bride wore a traditionally styled gown of white organza with lace applique embroidered with seed pearls adorning the bodice and edging the full, bishop sleeves.

The skirt extended into a chapel train. A Camelot cap of lace held her waist-length veil of illusion that was lace-edged.

She carried a bouquet of red roses and carnations centered with two white orchids.

Donna Ann Guard was her sister's honor maid in a long, wine gown of Qiana with long-sleeved jacket and matching wide-brimmed hat.

In matching gowns were bridesmaids Mrs. Vimal (Elisabeth) Chowdhry and Roxella Minkley. All the bridal attendants carried bouquets of white and pink carnations.

The bride's brother, Mark, was ring bearer while the bridegroom's niece, Anjali Prasad, was flower girl.

James MacKinder was best man. Ushers were Vimal Chowdhry and Ashok Prasad.

During the service the bride's uncle, Truman Guard, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Becker played the piano and organ.

relatives from New York City, Houston, Texas; Green Bay, Wisconsin and California.

The newlyweds now are living in Taylor and are planning a delayed wedding trip at Christmastime to England and Western Europe. They will visit the bridegroom's sister in Manchester, England.

Local participants aid Goodwill

Two area antique dealers as well as Northville resident Mrs. Peter V. Hankins are participating in the Junior Goodwill Antiques Market and Sale.

It is being held again this year at Fairlane Manor in Dearborn November 11-13. A champagne preview by advance sale is slated for November 10.

Mrs. Hankins has been committee chairman for catalogue ads and contracts.

Among the show's 46 dealers from many parts of the United States and England are Mel Anderson's Northville Watch and Clock Shop, 132 West Dunlap, and Timothy and Pamela Hill's Antiques of 5600 10 Mile, South Lyon.

Show promoters point out that dealers are selected for their quality of merchandise as well as diversity. A bargain booth each year is Goodwill's own booth of antiques.

There also is a Goodwill country store and pantry shelf of jams and baked goods.

The ice cream parlor will serve lunch daily. A special "antiquers' supper" will be served in the north VIP room of the manor Thursday and Friday, November 11 and 12. Daily lectures on antiques are slated for 10:45 a.m. The show opens at 11:30 a.m. with admission $2. It runs to 9:30 p.m. except the final day, when it closes at 6 p.m.

Haas, Murphy rematch nears in 24th District race

Haas . . .

Though failing in March to defeat Dennis Murphy as county commissioner in the 24th District, Democrat Suellen Haas foresees a victory in November because of a much stronger campaign in Farmington Hills, the city that made the difference.

Hoping to gain recognition back to the 24th District, Mrs. Haas, a Novi resident, says that her opponent has done little during his seven months in office.

"He hasn't done anything except to try to get a resolution for reimbursement of the district for the special election (in which he was elected)," says Mrs. Haas. She points out that even that attempt was futile based upon precedent setting cases in Wayne County.

"I know people who have tried to contact him and could never get ahold of him," she charges. "If someone calls me, I will find the answer and get back in touch with them."

The Democratic candidate contends that she is better suited for the job than Murphy because she is a housewife and can devote fulltime to the position. While she has had no political experience previously, Mrs. Haas points out that she has budgeted a household for 18 years.

"I will work conscientiously for the people of the district. I will attend council meetings, homeowners' meetings and wherever I think I can help." She adds that she has located an office in her Novi home, a central location in the district, where constituents can always come to voice their problems.

Mrs. Haas emphasizes increased social services and awareness of what is available in her campaign.

"I would like to see the seniors have transportation in the form of cars, minibuses or whatever. I'd like to see some of the bigshots (in Oakland County Government) give up their cars and give them to the seniors in the 24th District where they don't have public transportation."

She adds that the Oakland County Health Department has numerous programs available to the district but residents remain uninformed as to what is available. Mrs. Haas says that she hopes to put out a newsletter

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following stories are based upon interviews by this staff of the two 24th District county commissioner candidates Democrat Suellen Haas and incumbent Republican Dennis Murphy.

SUELLEN HAAS

DENNIS L. MURPHY

Murphy . . .

Elected to the Oakland County Commission in a special election last March, Dennis Murphy lists his accomplishments in his seven months in office in terms of intangibles.

"As for specific accomplishments, it's difficult to say that I've done this or I've done that," says the Novi Republican.

He is again pitted against Novi Democrat Suellen Haas in his bid for reelection. Mrs. Haas is the same candidate he defeated in the special election last March to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Lew Coy.

"I attempted to get the county commission to pay local municipalities for the cost of the special election last March, but it was defeated 14-13 by the Democrats in a vote that followed straight party lines," he reports.

"I have also attempted to deal with individual problems of my constituents whenever they have been brought to my attention, and I think that I have provided the people in the 24th district with a well-informed and conscientious voting record on county issues in Pontiac."

It is his intangible accomplishments in his seven months in office which Murphy points to in his bid for reelection.

"The 24th district is difficult district to represent because of its distance from Pontiac," he maintains. "The people in this district don't really relate to county government, they feel that they have been overlooked by the county and as a result they don't get involved in county matters."

Murphy states that he is attempting to change that attitude.

"I think that I have improved rapport and communications between the county and the people in the district," he says.

"One of the first things I did after taking office was send a letter to each of the eight communities I represent and request that they appoint a liaison person who I can work with."

"I also like to think that I have been able to improve the image of the 24th district with the other commissioners in Pontiac because of my performance. Many of them tended to

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD - NOVI NEWS

Training, equipment, administration

Novi firemen air top concerns

In an effort to improve the Novi Fire Department, more than 20 firemen sat down Monday night in a round robin session with Novi City Council to discuss problems regarding training, equipment and administration.

The meeting, which was open to the public because it did not deal directly with personnel problems, had been requested by the Novi Firemen's Association and arranged during an executive session of the council last week.

Concentrating on various problem areas, Firemen's association president Paul Christian started out by stating that as far as training, "There's been virtually nothing. There's been training available but the fire department has stood still. Some of us may go to a fire and never have any training before that."

Christian, as well as other firemen, explained that there are many courses of varying intensity and content going on throughout the area but that usually the fire department is unaware of them until well after they begin.

In addition, many of the courses require that the fire department officially send personnel, negating the possibility of some members just showing up.

In addition, Christian said that the first and third Thursday meetings of the fire department rarely include training.

"We'd like to know as much as we can so, heaven forbid, if we get a call and there's a fire and Mrs. Smith's baby is trapped in the upstairs, we know what to do. There are searching and training techniques and we'd like to learn them before we bring discredit to the city."

Moving on to the problem of equipment, Christian said that "some of the equipment we have is deplorable. We have a couple of tankers, both leak bad, and one pumper doesn't work. The new 30,000 gallon truck we got, the gauges leak, the air brakes are bad, and, well, haven't received the brackets to hold the axes or the nozzles in. The jeep at station two can't start unless its hooked up to the charger and if you leave the cables hooked to the battery, it will drain it right down. The brakes are bad and the clutch is gone."

It was also noted that the new minipumper has a bad front end which skitters when going around a corner.

"There is really no preventive maintenance to the trucks," said Christian. "They've broken down Friday and waited until Monday to be fixed by the DPW. Then it comes back and it's not fixed. The majority of things that get done to the trucks the firemen do."

City Manager Edward Kriewall explained that many of the repairs are of a specialized nature and it is up to the fire chief to determine if the DPW can do the repair or if it must be sent out for repair.

Brought up by Assistant Chief Robert Skellenger was the problem of non-uniformity among the trucks purchased, causing further problems when repairs become necessary.

Christian noted that coats must be reissued even when they are burned enough to warrant their replacement, simply because there are no further coats available for issue.

Christian also complained that first aid supplies are almost non-existent.

"If one of us went to a fire and there was a serious injury such as falling off a ladder and breaking a leg, we don't have splints or wraps. We're trained in first aid but we need supplies."

Fire Chief Duane Bell explained later that the one mill capital improvement monies voted to the fire department cannot be used for maintenance of current trucks. Only monies budgeted from the general fund can be used for that purpose.

Discussion during the meeting also centered on the fact that Novi's fire department no longer goes on resuscitator runs.

Christian complained that "The policemen are running resuscitator runs while you have 40 firemen sitting at home who are trained to do the same thing."

"At one time Novi had a very good record on resuscitator runs," commented Lieutenant William Osborne. "We saved lives."

Christian maintained that the dispatcher should be dispatching both the police and firemen at the same time.

"Probably 75 percent of the time the ambulance will beat the fire department to the scene," responded Chief Bell. "If we go to the position where the fire department is called on all runs, this will run into a lot of money."

However, firemen noted that quite often an ambulance will have to be brought into Novi from a surrounding community, lengthening the crucial first few minutes when immediate aid is necessary — something the fire department personnel could be doing.

On the problem of administration, Christian said that "we have a serious problem. We have a lot of clashes because we have some people who aren't capable of handling the situation. At times you have 10 different people telling you what to do."

"We feel some of the administration is not trained to handle the situation."

Also discussed was the need to get rid of the "dead wood" on the fire department — those persons on the rolls who never respond to fires. Of the approximately 35 active firemen, including recruits, Christian estimated that only 50 percent are actually responding to calls.

Sergeant Ronald Race complained that he had shown up at fires during the day and was the only fireman from Novi who did, requiring him to call for help from surrounding communities.

"It's a scary feeling being all alone," said Race.

Only about a half dozen firemen are available to fight

Machine check

Novi City Clerk Geraldine Stipp makes a last check of one of Novi's 22 voting machines. Those machines will be in use at seven different precincts throughout the city during the November 2 presidential election. A heavy turn-out of over 60 percent is expected in both Novi and Wixom and Mrs. Stipp is urging early voting to prevent long lines.

Clerk urges early voting as high turnout expected

While a lighter turn-out nationally is expected for the November 2 presidential election, Novi and Wixom city clerks both foresee a turn-out of over 60 percent.

"I predict a good turnout," says Novi City Clerk Geraldine Stipp. "In 1972 we had 4,000 of 5000 registered voters come to the polls. I would say we'll have 65 percent this time. I think we'll do better than other parts of the state."

Wixom Clerk June Buck expects 65-70 percent locally. "We've got more absentee ballots already than ever," she notes.

Big jumps in the voter registration totals are evident. In Novi there are 8,923 registered voters, up 1,045 from the August primary, despite 300 cancellations in the rolls.

"We've had over 2,000 registered from the Secretary of States office in the last year," says Mrs. Stipp. Persons having their drivers licenses renewed are able to register to vote at that time. Wixom also has gained, going from 1983 voters in August up to 2364 for the presidential election. Mrs. Buck says that most of the new voters are from the Village Apartments on Pontiac Trail and most are registering at the Secretary of State's office when they change their address on their drivers license.

In fact, according to Mrs. Stipp, Novi will have to split five of its seven precincts next year. And already several are already over the 1400 limit. However, because of a February limit for splitting, Mrs. Stipp said that the limits were exceeded too late to add precincts.

Because of the large number of voters in each precinct, Mrs. Stipp adds "The word is vote early. If people don't vote early, there will be a lineup."

She adds that anyone in Novi who registered at the Secretary of States office who has not received a voters registration card through the mail should immediately contact the city clerk's office in Novi at 349-4300.

"There have been incidences of them being processed in the wrong city," she explained.

In Novi Township, a slate of unopposed Republican candidates will be on the

Novi Youth Assistance

Group tries to stop delinquency

"We're a program to help prevent delinquency in children and youth," says Clara Porter, chairman of Novi Youth Assistance, a group that has been in existence since the early 1960's.

Annually dealing with as many as 200 families a year to solve problems relating to juvenile delinquency, Novi Youth Assistance is a multi-faceted group that, according to Mrs. Porter, deals not only with delinquency as it happens but also in helping to prevent the problem.

There are actually two completely separate programs within Youth Assistance. One is prevention via summer camp, parent ed workshops and One-to-One Volunteer programs while the second is a paid caseworker who deals with immediate problems.

Caseworker for the last year has been Kathy Miller who works two days a week. Recently joining the group is caseworker Pat Hinz who works one day a week in Novi.

A general committee made up of nearly 30 citizens is comprised of members who head up committees. The general committee meets monthly and members report back on their committees. The general committee also determines money appropriations, report back on their appropriations.

Of the many programs sponsored by the group, one of the more obvious is summer camp. This year, according to Mrs. Porter, 39 youngsters with an average age of 10-13 years were provided an opportunity to go to several different Michigan camps.

Three men arrested in 1974 bank heist

Two years ago a pair of hold-up men wearing ski-masks and brandishing snub nose revolvers walked into the Eight Mile branch of the National Bank of Detroit in Novi. A few minutes later they walked out with $115,000 in cash, treasury bills and travelers checks, one of the largest bank robberies in Michigan history.

Working on a tip, the FBI last week arrested a Detroit man ending an "intensive fugitive investigation" into that bank robbery by the FBI and Novi police that included the arrest of a Novi man and two other individuals.

Taken into custody in an apartment building on Epworth Street in Detroit was Ronald Gerald Dent, 27. He was arrested at 11 a.m. Friday. His arrest follows the arrests of John Edward Oates, 27, of Detroit and Charles Patrick McFall, 31, of Novi. McFall has already been released on $25,000 cash or surety bond.

Police had previously withheld information concerning the earlier arrests of Oates and McFall on the bank robbery charge until Dent could be located and arrested.

According to Novi Detective Sergeant Gordon Nelson, who headed the Novi Police Department investigation, travelers checks being passed on Quebec City are the only negotiables from the robbery

Series offers Indian songs, minstrel music

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a new, monthly compilation of Northville PTA news by volunteer Joan Mandell, 349-6563. It appears on the last Wednesday of each month.

"Songs of Life ... Lives of Song," a living documentary of Indian prose and poetry, will be presented at Cooke and Meads Mill Middle schools November 18.

Currently on tour throughout northern Michigan, the production is a special pre-Thanksgiving offering of the Detroit Institute of Arts Youththeatre "Show on the Road" program.

It is being presented at the middle schools as part of a full complement of programs of the PTA Area Council's Junior Entertainment Series.

Series chairman Gretchen Blount reports also that Moraine and Amerman lower elementary students (K-3) will participate in a program performed by the Plymouth Symphony String Quartet November 9.

Quartet members will demonstrate their instruments, explaining their differences, and play songs geared to the children's interest.

The same program will be given to lower elementary students at Winchester and Silver Springs November 12.

The Country Road Minstrels will give upper elementary students an overview of slapstick and mime with a chance for youngsters in grades 4-6 to try out miming exercises under direction of the minstrels.

It will be given at Amerman and Moraine November 16 and at Silver Springs and Winchester November 19.

Anyone wishing to contribute toward funding of the Junior Entertainment Series may send a check to the fund, in care of Mrs. Blount, 21674 Bedford, Northville.

AMERMAN

At 10 a.m. on Friday, November 19, Amerman parents are invited to attend a program that may give them some answers to questions concerning their child's reading skills.

Mrs. Vivian Henderhan, the speaker, is the reading teacher and teacher consultant for Amerman and Silver Springs schools. Mrs. Henderhan will explain how she coordinates the language experience approach with the basal approach. She will have on display examples of materials that she uses in her day-to-day experiences. At the conclusion she will answer any questions.

Connie Hartmann, publicity

MORAINÉ

Voters will have tempting smells of coffee and baked goods greet them when they enter Moraine to cast their ballots on November 2. The Bake Sale will be held during the entire voting day by the PTA.

Moraine will also be holding a combination pancake supper and book sale November 15. Pancakes and sausages will be served from 5:30-7:30 p.m. After your family has enjoyed a hearty supper you will be able to browse through an interesting variety of books that will be on sale.

Sue Todd, publicity

SILVER SPRINGS

Silver Springs is to have Dr. Edward Bantell, president of the Michigan Society of Clinical Psychologists, speak November 18. Topic of discussion will be, "There is Joy in Raising a Child in Today's Society."

During the last few years, we have become more aware of the number of changes that are occurring in the American family. Some changes can occur within the family itself, but the main forces of the family disorganization arise from outside the family. Because the National PTA is committed to strengthening family and home life, we feel Dr. Bantell's program will be an excellent one to attend. The public is invited.

A coffee and bake sale will be held November 2 in school during voting hours.

Very important also is the Book Fair to be held during

WINCHESTER

Winchester School will be having its annual pancake supper, arts and crafts boutique, and book fair Thursday, November 11. Hours for the pancake supper are 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.75 for adults, $1 for children under 12, and $7 maximum per family. The tickets entitle the bearer to all the pancakes and sausage one can eat.

The arts and crafts boutique will be a good chance for people to get a head start on Christmas shopping. Hours are 5 to 8 p.m.

On November 2 voters will be able to munch on doughnuts, coffee cake and other goodies purchased from the bake sale for voters.

Two events take place November 16. The Winchester PTA will sponsor a Donation Day at the A&P; also at 10:30 a.m. meeting there will be a coffee for all parents.

Joyce Murdock, publicity

COOKE

Wednesday, November 10, is the date of the first annual Cooke-Meads Mill Middle schools' football extravaganza.

The Cooke seventh and eighth grades will play Meads Mill seventh and eighth grades at 4 p.m. at the high school football field. The ninth grades of both schools will then play at 7 p.m.

The PTA is planning a hot dog sale for the frenzied fans from 5-7 p.m. in the Cooke cafeteria. Hot dogs, pop, chips, candy and apples will be available for purchase. It is expected that a big crowd will be on hand to support their school teams.

Cooke School and its PTA are planning a newsletter to be sent periodically to parents throughout the school year. It will be informative and create avenues of information from Cooke to its community.

Newsletter chairman is Carol De Rupa. Anyone interested in working on the newsletter is encouraged to call Cooke School and volunteer.

The Junior Entertainment Series program at Cooke Middle School November 18 is by an American Indian Theatre group that is touring the U.S. and has been praised by Time magazine.

To partially defray expenses for this program as well as other J.E.S. programs in the Northville schools, doughnuts and coffee will be sold during parent-teacher conferences, November 16 and 17.

Want more information on testing, test scores and counseling in our middle schools? This question and others will be discussed and answered November 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Cooke Middle School cafeteria.

Cooke counselors and Principal David Longridge will be present.

A movie, "The I.Q. Myth," will be shown to emphasize testing, counseling and their importance in today's middle schools. Cooke PTA invites all interested parents to attend.

Science Fair chairman from Cooke School will be Jean Plumley. She will be working on the Science Fair committee headed this year by Sharon Lineman.

Anti-smoking information will be held in the cafeteria-gym.

Student Council officers for 1978-79, elected by the representatives are: Kelly Jamison, president; Alisa Krinsky, vice-president; Nancy Orr, treasurer; Chris Spigarelli, secretary.

The students at Meads Mill will conduct their own election the same day as the national election. Campaign speeches for the major candidates will be given over the school P.A. system before the voting.

Oakland County government

Haas to fight waste

that would inform the residents of the county services available.

The Democratic candidate says that she sees a lot of wasted money because of failure by Oakland County government to consolidate services. "There's a lot of work duplicated by various departments."

"I don't know why he (Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy) vetoed the DPW and drain commission merger," says Mrs. Haas. She also favors placing control of the road commission under either the county executive or the board of commissioners.

"These roads out here are not being taken care of," she explains. "The road commission should answer to someone. I don't think it's bad for them to run for office."

Mrs. Haas adds that if elected, she would work through her party caucus to introduce a bill which would create a department by department study to determine where the fat can be trimmed.

As an example of waste, Mrs. Haas points out that the county executive has a $40,000 a year lobbyist in Lansing while the board of commissioners has a $17,000 a year part time lobbyist.

"This guy seems to be lobbying against our lobbyist. It seems like a waste of money. I'd like to see only one lobbyist."

On the "Share the Wealth" plan which could flow millions of dollars annually from Oakland County to Detroit if passed through the state legislature, Mrs. Haas says that she is uninformed on the issue but would not object to the plan if the money was divided up fairly between the seven counties involved in the plan.

She says she does not know how the bill would affect Oakland County as it stands now.

Mrs. Haas says she is opposed to a landfill in her district and "I'll have to fight just as hard as the other commissioners who don't want it in their areas either."

Instead, she says she supports the idea of a recycling plant.

Mrs. Haas also attacks the Oakland County prosecutor's office.

"It hasn't done the job it's supposed to do," she says. "What have they done but picked on welfare people and X-rated movies. It has the county crime task force but that was political."

Despite her admitted lack of experience, Mrs. Haas insists that she will vote independently and can withstand the pressure to conform either from the other commissioners or her own Democratic party caucus.

"I don't think they can intimidate me. If I feel that strongly against something in party caucus, I will voice my opinion and will vote against it."

"I'm a Democrat but will vote my conscience based on what's best for my district."

Dog killed

Council gets complaint

Northville's city council promised to review a complaint concerning the death of a dog shot by a Northville police officer with a tranquilizer gun.

Allen C. Ingle, an attorney, appeared before the council at its October 18 meeting to challenge the city's right to use "a lethal drug that kills" animals. He was also critical of the police department's failure to immediately respond to inquiries as to the dog's whereabouts when the owner sought to find the animal. Later it was found the dog had been taken to a veterinarian.

While he admitted he did not have all the facts at hand, City Attorney Philip Ogilvie said he had been informed of the incident by a police officer. He said that police had responded to a call that the dog was running at large and had been unable to apprehend the dog without the use of the tranquilizer gun. He added that the dog was not wearing a license, so owner could not be contacted.

The owner, Ted Marzoni of 47005 Dunsany, accompanied Ingle at the council session. It was noted that the dog was licensed, but had run away without a collar.

City Manager Steven Walters explained that the drug used in the dart gun is not lethal, but one commonly used to apprehend dogs when they cannot be caught. He said it was the first death that had occurred in his three years as city manager and he suggested that an over-dose could have been used in judging the amount needed based upon the dog's size.

The council asked for a report on the matter for review at the November 1 meeting.

PWP plans

Toronto trip

A weekend in Toronto is upcoming for members and prospective members of the Novi-Northville chapter of Parents Without Partners.

Those participating will leave this Friday. Advance reservations may be made by calling 348-1892.

The chapter also announces that beginning with its second meeting in November the meeting place will be changed from the American Legion building in Northville to the Plymouth Hilton Inn on Five Mile Road.

Meetings are held at 8 p.m. on the second and fourth Fridays of each month.

Students to hold

'Election' Tuesday

The political campaign intensified not only nationally this week but at Northville High School as well as 50 students from the government classes of Barbara LeBoeuf began a class project on the election.

"The students have a three point plan," explained Ms. LeBoeuf. "This week they're putting up campaign posters around the school to make students aware of the candidates and issues."

"Next Tuesday, (election day), they'll supervise a mock election at the high school. Then, after the election, they'll analyze the ballots to learn of the students' awareness of candidates and issues," explained Ms. LeBoeuf.

This is just one of many campaign-oriented projects being carried out by Ms. LeBoeuf's 150 students.

As part of their research to understand how well Northville students understand and care about candidates, the 50 students are pushing the campaign of a man running for election to the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

"After the election, we're going to look at the ballots and see how many votes the candidate got to see how aware students are on minor races," Ms. LeBoeuf said.

The popular civics teacher said she expects 75 percent of Northville's student body to vote.

Youth Assistance attacks delinquency

Youngsters are given the opportunity to attend for either financial or social reasons. Many families cannot afford to send their youngsters to camp for the fun of such an experience. At other times "parents won't pay but the kids need to get away," says Mrs. Miller.

Besides summer camp, parent education workshops are held once or twice each year. Last year a workshop on "Divorce and Separation" was held.

"Some are one-day workshops or a six-week series," says Mrs. Porter. "They've been successful whichever way we've done."

The purpose of the workshops, which feature a professional in the field, "is to provide resources for parents to help strengthen the family unit," says Mrs. Porter.

Similar to the Big Brother Program is the One-to-One Volunteer program.

"We try to match a child in need of an adult image," explains Mrs. Porter. "Some of the children live with a single parent. Others are in a home where it's not their real mother and father. Many are having problems of truancy or social aspects."

The program calls for a volunteer "parent" to spend as little as four hours a week with a youngster. What is done in those four hours or more might not necessarily be "going out and showing them a good time."

"A lot of kids we're hoping to attract might just come over to your house and rake leaves or watch television," says Mrs. Porter.

The One-to-One Volunteer program which had been used quite extensively in the past suffered a slack period over the last year and "We just hope to start off with 5-6 adult volunteers and work our way up," says Mrs. Porter.

One of the more interesting aspects of Youth Assistance this year is a study currently under way on what impact the Dayton-Hudson Twelve Oaks Mall regional shopping center will have on youth.

"The city has impact studies going on roads, population, housing," explains Mrs. Porter. "We want to know what's going to happen to youth. Will there be jobs? Is this a place for kids to hang out? We know kids will go out there. That's going to be an attraction."

Meetings with Dayton Hudson officials will help in the gathering of information, both about what has happened at other shopping centers and what is expected when Twelve Oaks opens in 1977.

"We want to know not only the bad things but also the good things. It's strictly for information and what we do with it afterward we don't know."

All projects are the responsibility of a committee. One committee of Youth Assistance which has no particular project but instead is an ongoing committee related more to the work of the caseworker is the Case Study Committee.

"It's the only committee made up of professionals. There's a public health nurse, social workers from schools, detective, minister, psychologist from school, therapist from Family and Child Services in Walled Lake and two school counselors," states Mrs. Porter.

"They just kind of brainstorm problems with me," adds Mrs. Miller. However, all cases being handled by Mrs. Miller are completely confidential and not even the Case Study Committee, which may suggest answers to problems, knows the child or family involved.

According to Mrs. Miller, Youth Assistance caseworker program takes referrals from the police, court, schools, parents. "Sometimes kids just walk in," she says.

The biggest problem is difficulty at home followed by alcohol, school truancy, truancy from home, and larceny.

Sometimes a referral from a school may involve truancy.

"If a kid's skipping school and has missed 15-20 days, I will call the parents and invite them here to get their views," explains Mrs. Miller. "Parents are pretty open to coming in. It is volunteer and they don't have to come but we're trying to get a picture of what's causing the situation."

"Many times a whole lot more is going on at home in the form of relationship stresses. We try to offer support and meet with the family together or with the youngsters alone to develop trust. We try to offer suggestions to get the parents working creatively to solve the problem."

"We try to involve the whole family because they're the ones who can make the changes."

Mrs. Miller stresses that as a caseworker she is not part of the court system but instead is a voluntary option to juvenile court. A court would have to have a signed release from the parents to get any information about a child being helped by the program.

"We can help a lot of them if they get help at an early stage when the problems are developing," adds Mrs. Miller. She notes that she is able to provide short-time therapy and often times makes referrals both for youngsters and parents when more intensive therapy is needed.

Novi Youth Assistance is sponsored by the Oakland County Juvenile Court, the City of Novi, and the Novi School District.

The city provides office space, secretarial services, phones and office supplies. The office space is currently in the 12 Mile City offices, although with the expected closing of the building as Twelve Oaks develops, the group is "frantically" seeking further office space elsewhere.

The school district provides postage, mailing, council rooms to talk with students and meeting rooms for seminars.

The juvenile court pays salaries of caseworkers and provides supervision for the casework.

The group also gains funds via fund raising and through a fund raising committee. A horse show at Qual-L-Farms in Northville Township has been the biggest fund raiser.

Anyone interested in contacting Novi Youth Assistance should call 349-8398.

They'll pick 'best' books

While grown-ups busily ponder whom to vote for in the upcoming election the Northville Public Library is offering the children a chance to vote too—for their favorite book character and best book ever!

All children, from first through eighth grade may cast their ballot beginning Saturday October 30 at the library. Last day for balloting is Wednesday, November 10.

By simply signing the registration book at the library, the child will become a "registered voter" and receive a ballot. After studying that ballot carefully, the child may cast his vote in a variety of categories.

Categories include favorite detective, folklore character and adventurer, just to name a few. There is even space for a write-in candidate. Finally, space is provided for the titles of three books for the "best book ever."

The results of the election will be announced on Saturday, November 13 at a special program for National Children's Book Week. The film, "Free to Be — You and Me," will be featured that day at 9:30 a.m. in the library.

The books listed on the ballot are now available at the library for those who wish to read about the candidates. All elementary school children are urged to go to the library and vote!

Parks unit seeks fulltime director

The hiring of a fulltime Novi Parks and Recreation Director was recommended by the Novi Parks and Recreation Commission at a council meeting last week.

Noting that the school district is terminating the sharing of director Milan Obrenovich with the city, the parks and recreation commission recommended hiring a fulltime director "in order to meet the needs of this community."

Council recommended that Finance Director Fred Todd give a full report on where the $12,000 salary could come from, as well as additional associated costs.

In a letter to the council, the parks commission said that a fulltime director could: investigate possible financial grants; increase our recreation programs; closer control on park maintenance; and closer control on finances.

During the same council meeting, council decided against a recommendation that a student member of the Parks and Recreation Commission be dropped or continued on as a non-voting member.

Parks and Rec Chairman John Balagna indicated that the parks commission was concerned that lack of attendance by student representatives can cause quorum problems. However, City Attorney David Fried noted that the parks commission can internally through its bylaws change the number of members necessary for a quorum.

'Friends' set fair

The Novi Friends of the Library have scheduled a Book Fair November 4, 5 and 6 at the new Novi Library at Ten Mile and Taft Road.

Featuring a large variety of both hard and soft cover books, patrons will also find a delightful collection of calendars, children's activity sets, bookplates and posters on hand available for purchase.

Hours for the fair will be from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday with Friday sale hours scheduled from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday hours are from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Through the cooperation of the "Book Mark" book store in Northville, the Friends said they will be able to offer a variety of books suitable to any taste.

According to Stacey Chaudoin, vice president of the Friends and one of the committee members, Mark and Barry Hyman, owners of the book shop, have done a fantastic job in helping the Friends organize the sale.

Other committee members include Peggy Junker, president of the Friends, Jane Brown and Delores Carter.

Halloween Saturday

Novi residents are reminded that Halloween is being celebrated in Novi Saturday, October 30 instead of the usual October 31.

Novi, as well as Northville and Wixom city councils, have passed resolutions moving the date to Saturday. In Novi Township, Brookland Farms will celebrate Halloween on Saturday. Chateau Estates, meanwhile, will have private parties on Saturday and there will be trick-or-treating only for Chateau Estates youngsters Sunday.

Here's state propositions

Four state propositions will appear on Tuesday's ballot, two of which have been generating a good deal of controversy in Michigan.

They are:

Proposal A — proposal to prohibit the use of non-returnable bottles and cans for soft drinks and beer, and to require refundable cash deposits for containers of these beverages.

Proposal B — proposal to lower the qualifying age for persons seeking election to the state legislature from age 21 to age 18.

Proposal C — proposal to limit all state taxes and spending to 8.3 percent of the combined personal income of Michigan.

Proposal D — proposal to replace the present flat rate state income tax with a graduated state income tax for the calendar year of 1977, and thereafter rates and bases of state income taxes to be determined by the legislature.

Most controversial of these propositions is Proposal A, followed closely by Proposal C.

More specifically, if approved by voters the proposals would:

A — Prohibit the use of non-returnable bottles and cans for the sale of soft drinks and beer for off-premises consumption; set up a requirement for cash deposits and repayment of deposits for soft drink and beer containers; prohibit the use of metal soft drink and beer containers with detachable openers; and establish fines for violation of the law by dealers, distributors and manufacturers.

C — Limit all state taxes and spending to 8.3-percent of combined personal income of Michigan, except taxes for repayment of bonds (state taxes meaning all state revenue, excluding federal aid); provide for refund of excess revenue to individual taxpayers; permit 8.3-percent limitation to be exceeded only if Governor declares specific emergency approved by two-thirds vote of the legislature;

Prohibit state adopting or expanding local programs without full state funding; prohibit state from reducing existing level of aid to local governments, taken as a group; prohibit local governments from increasing existing taxes without voter approval; provide for implementation by the legislature.

B — Reduce the age requirement to be eligible for offices of state senator and state representative from 21 to 18; require that to be eligible for the office of state senator and state representative a person must be a registered elector of that legislative district; change the time a person must have these qualifications from the date of assuming office to the date of qualifying as a candidate.

D — Remove constitutional ban on graduated income tax; reduce to 3.9-percent maximum, the income tax rate on taxable personal income of an individual or individuals filing a joint return personal income, adjusted upwards by $1,500 for taxpayer and each dependent;

Raise tax rate of individual taxpayers on income over that amount to replace the loss of revenue caused by above tax reduction; establish constitutional minimum of $1,500 exemption for taxpayer and each dependent; and after January 1, 1978, permit the legislature to establish bases and rates of personal income taxes.

Board seeks member

Anyone interested in seeking appointment to the Novi Library Board is asked to contact Novi City Clerk Geraldine Stipp.

A vacancy was created when Helen McAskin announced her resignation effective November 1 as she will be moving from Novi to Northville.

The term of office will end March 1, 1977. Anyone interested in the position should call the city clerk at 349-4300.

Library gives key to city after dispute

Despite a conflict over who owned the building which housed the old public library on Novi Road, City Manager Edward Kriewall said that the city now has possession of the key.

The city had been in a short dispute with the library board over ownership of the structure. However, a meeting of the library board which attorney and Board Chairman Larry Meyerson viewed deed papers apparently persuaded the library board that the old building was indeed owned by the city.

Kriewall said he received the key back from the library board following grand opening ceremonies at the new library on 10 Mile Road Sunday, October 17.

According to Kriewall, plans now are for the Novi Traffic Bureau to move into the structure. "We should be occupying the building in two or three weeks," said Kriewall. The traffic bureau is currently housed in the 12 Mile office which is owned by Dayton-Hudson. That building and property currently is up for sale.

Kriewall said that moving the traffic bureau to the old library, which is located next door to the police station, will "improve the communication link between that bureau and the rest of the department."

School board splits

Opposition to 'C' dies

A Northville School Board resolution opposing Proposal C on Tuesday's ballot died for insufficient support this week.

Recommended strongly by Superintendent Raymond Spear, who warned that passage of the proposition could have serious adverse effect upon local instructional financing, the resolution was approved 3-2 — but died because passage required a majority vote of all seven members.

Two members, Dr. Robert Mandell and P. Roger Nieuwkoop were absent. Dr. Mandell earlier had indicated his support of the resolution.

Voting against the resolution were Board Vice-President John Hobart and Trustee Marjorie Sliger. Strongly supporting it were Board President Sylvia Gucken, Treasurer Karen Wilkinson and Christopher Johnson.

Spear said "best estimates" suggest that passage of the proposal could cost Northville about 1-million in revenues, and Wilkinson said that the proposal is so badly written that at least 11 loopholes have been found in it.

Hobart agreed that the proposal is poorly written, but he pointed out that just as many arguments in favor of it can be cited as there are against it. And Mrs. Sliger, noting that a lid on ever-increasing taxes must start somewhere, said that evidence in favor of the proposal makes her "willing to give it a try."

When the resolution died, Spear remarked, "I very sincerely regret this kind of action...I feel very badly about it." He predicted that if the proposal is passed in Tuesday's election the board very likely will someday regret its inaction on the resolution.

Tavarozzi cites her Democratic clout

am also a supervisor, so I feel I know the viewpoint both of the employee and of management...an asset my opponent does not share."

Her chief criticism of the incumbent is that she "seems to have tendency to abstain from voting on many questions and perhaps changing her vote after the roll call."

Asked for a specific example of votes where Mrs. Dumas has abstained, Mrs. Tavarozzi replies, "Just one comes to mind at the moment: last year on the replacement of one of the commissioners she changed her position. The vote was unanimous down the line. She abstained, then changed it to the Democratic position."

Looking at the major issues facing the commissioners, Mrs. Tavarozzi points to the budget as a key issue affecting many other matters before the board.

"The budget, of course, is a big item, and I think there are several ways it can be changed. One of the things affecting it is the county hospital. It's a very large part of the budget, and I feel that encouragement of private use of Wayne County General Hospital would help overcome the existing situation in which this facility is being operated at only half to three-quarter capacity."

"I do feel that with careful scrutiny of the budget there are other places where it can be reduced. For example, I'm sure there is a lot of equipment for which purchase could be delayed, and a lot of divisions that could be tightened."

Later in the interview, Mrs. Tavarozzi elaborates on the budget matter, pointing out that the overall size of the budget is not excessively large. She says that in view of the inflationary spiral, there is no conceivable way it "can be rolled back." Nevertheless, she insists that there are areas within the budget that can be trimmed so that additional resulting monies can be applied to other priority measures such as law enforcement.

Having not completely studied the county budget she is not prepared as yet to indicate those areas where cuts could be made without jeopardizing county operation.

Another problem closer to home is the situation in the Middle Rouge (Hines) Park, the Democratic candidate notes. "Statistics show that the crime rate has gone up in the Northville area as compared with the park area in Livonia where it has decreased."

"I feel we need more patrolling of Hines park. More specifically, we need more unmarked (police) cars and plain clothes officers so we can ferret out these criminals. If we don't step on the situation now we are going to be faced with another Belle Isle."

To finance this kind of beefed up police service, Mrs. Tavarozzi suggests that the "old principle of robbing Peter to pay Paul" may have to be activated. "I'm sure there are other services that can be tightened up."

Mrs. Tavarozzi shares Mrs. Dumas' contention that the county executive form of government is needed in Wayne, emphasizing that this executive should be elected and not appointed. "I am aware as are others that our current county structure is a little archaic. There are other structural changes that could and should be accomplished."

"Having one person responsible to the citizens rather than a whole board of commissioners is desirable. It would be comparable to a mayor of the city being responsible to the people...a far more effective arrangement."

She also sees "some merit" in her opponents call for elimination of some of the county elected posts, but she cautions that any movement towards this end must necessarily be first thoroughly studied and analyzed.

If elected to the county board, she promises to push for placement of the county executive on the ballot as has her opponent. Unlike her opponent, however, she contends that she could be more successful because she is a Democrat.

She reiterates throughout her responses to questions that she is convinced she "can be more effective" than Mrs. Dumas. She emphasizes, too, that she decided to run for office by her own decision and not at the Tavarozzi points out that she plans to devote full time to the job of being commissioner, if elected. She will resign from her present post as abstract supervisor, and she hastens to add that because she has a family to support she would not otherwise retire if she was not elected even though she is eligible to retire.

Having started as a typist 32 years ago with the county, under the civil service procedure, she points out that she worked her way up to become a supervisor in the lands records department. "During this time I have taken some courses, such as a real estate, business, law, and management training — the latter being offered through the county."

"I have been active in the Democratic Party, of course. I am on the Wayne Second District Board, have been active in my civic association, have been active through the years on various Irish clubs in the greater metropolitan area and have been a Girl Scout leader."

A resident of Livonia for 17 years, having moved there from Detroit, Mrs. Tavarozzi admits she knows little about the needs or concerns of Northville residents but that she is prepared to thoroughly acquaint herself with them if elected so that she can better serve this northwestern edge of the district. She has a 20-year-old daughter attending Michigan State University, a 19-year-old daughter attending Schoolcraft College, and a 15-year-old son at Franklin High School.

This is her first attempt at an elective office.

Looking at county government as a whole, she has no particular criticisms. However, she notes that from an employee point of view "things have improved" since a single union system was instituted. At the present time, she says, employee problems are more rapidly solved through the labor-management process.

A member of the union, Mrs. Tavarozzi says she has tried unsuccessfully to get her own position exempted from union status since hers is a management position.

Mrs. Tavarozzi comes down hard on the side of cities when it comes to the county providing patrol services in townships which do not pay extra for this service. She sticks to this position, knowing full well that some citizens of Northville-Township might resent it. Cities, she points out, pay the same county taxes and do not receive patrol services. "I think they (townships) must pay for these services, otherwise it's unfair to city taxpayers," she asserts.

Turning to the county road commission, Mrs. Tavarozzi is convinced that its present autonomous position in the county government structure is unhealthy and unresponsive. She believes this commission should be restructured so that it comes directly under the board of commissioners. Appointment of the road commission members by the county commissioners does not constitute control over road operations, she says.

Like her opponent, Mrs. Tavarozzi is calling for more out-county services.

"Of course, they have started pre-trial services, but that's not enough. The average citizen does not have enough awareness of county government and its functions. Most people don't until they have to go downtown (Detroit) to court to be a juror or perhaps have to go down to register a deed. A lot of people in the far suburbs would prefer not to go all the way downtown, and I feel we could utilize some of the present vacant buildings that the county owns and have small out-county services offices for these people."

"We still have vacant buildings at Wayne County General Hospital, and if they can remodel one for a temporary jail facility I'm sure others could be remodeled to provide out-county service offices. The buildings are old but they are structurally still sound."

Among the kinds of offices she refers to is an office of the county clerk, where assumed names might be filed, etc.

fires during daylight hours, estimated the firemen.

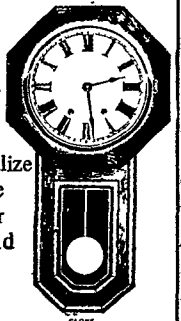

Chief Bell said that at this time the fire department has no applicants waiting to join the department and that the department definitely needs recruits. The department is budgeted for up to 50 firemen.

Mayor Gilbert Henderson said that the city manager and fire chief would get together to discuss the problems presented by the firemen in an effort to seek solutions.

"We do want to show the city the fire department is made of professionals and we want them to be as proud of us as any other department in the city," summed up Christian.

which have been recovered. Taken in that robbery was $45,497 in cash, travelers checks with a maximum value of $21,800, $19,225 in various treasury bills as well as two $10,000 treasury bills.

Nelson said that police gained a line on the three individuals allegedly involved in the robbery when Quebec City Authorities arrested six persons attempting to pass travelers checks which had been stolen in the Novi bank robbery. Recovered was $12,000 in stolen travelers checks.

While investigation indicated those persons were not directly involved with the robbery, three were charged by Canadian authorities with fraudulent use of travelers checks and four other various Canadian federal offenses. The other three individuals were turned over to FBI and American authorities.

Acting on information the Novi Police received from the FBI, an intensive investigation locally was conducted and detectives discovered that one of the suspects in the robbery itself, McFall, was from Novi.

Nelson credited continued surveillances by Novi police on McFall with the gathering of information on the two other Detroit subjects. The FBI then obtained a complaint and warrant charging that all three were involved in the robbery.

Oates was arrested in September by FBI agents in California three weeks after Novi Police arrested McFall on a warrant issued out of the United States District Attorney's office.

Nelson said that in order not to jeopardize the case, he would not reveal how each of the three suspects arrested had allegedly been involved in the actual hold-up.

While information is not available on the criminal records of Oates and Dent, Nelson said that McFall has a long record including a stint at Southern Prison in Michigan on an unknown charge. McFall also was arraigned and charged recently for illegal entry with intent to commit larceny at Jake's Gulf at Meadowbrook and 10 Mile in Novi. He is also being charged in Redford for attempted breaking and entering and carrying a concealed weapon. A Volkswagen driven by McFall turned out to be stolen.

In addition, McFall's apartment was also raided by police in the last month and $40,000 worth of narcotics and $15,000 of stolen goods recovered.

According to reports of the bank robbery at the time, two black males described as being in their early 20's walked from their car into the bank and as they entered, pulled ski masks over their faces.

One remained near the door while the other found the bank manager and told him to open the vault, which he did. After taking money and other negotiables from the vault, the subject stopped at the teller's cage and cleaned it out.

As the robbers left the building, one said "Don't

ARE TAX DOLLARS WASTED?

File No. CR7171: Defendant charged with malicious destruction of property. Five months later prosecutor realizes defendant is under age. Case dismissed.

File No. CR15855: Defendant charged with breaking and entering a house. Three witnesses appeared and were paid. Case dismissed.

File No. CR15804: Defendant charged with larceny. Facts show case is civil, not criminal. Case dismissed.

File No. CR10978: Defendant charged with larceny. Two witnesses paid to appear for two hearings. Prosecutor unable to proceed because evidence lost. Case dismissed.

File No. CR13752: Defendant charged with receiving and concealing stolen property. Prosecutor failed to establish probable cause to believe defendant committed crime. Case dismissed.

File No. CR13931: Defendant charged with breaking and entering. Prosecutor can't show criminal intent. Case dismissed.

File No. CR10976: Defendant charged with larceny. Prosecutor issues warrant over 17 months after incident. Prosecutor unable to proceed because witnesses no longer remember incident. Case dismissed.

Why are arrest warrants issued only to have cases dismissed? Now 1 in 4 felony charges is dismissed before trial, usually because it was brought improperly.

This waste, mismanagement and unprofessional conduct must stop.

Dumas pushes for county executive

"And even if we don't have a county executive, I believe we (the commission) should hire a professional negotiator to do this kind of work. It's ridiculous to assume that 'management's' side can be effectively represented by commissioners who are labor oriented, labor people themselves. We just do not have someone now with that kind of negotiating expertise; we can't have someone who represents management in negotiations."

Beyond her preference for a county executive or manager, Mrs. Dumas says she "would also eventually like to see a complete restructuring of county executive divisions with the elimination of an elected drain commissioner, who nobody knows; an elected register of deeds, who nobody knows; and the treasurer, who nobody knows."

"These are obsolete elected positions because, let's face it, they are no longer elected positions; they are inherited positions. There is not a single county administrator in these offices who did not originally receive his job by appointment. Although realistically this kind of change may not be easy to achieve, in the near future, I will continue to press for it. And at least the county executive would be one step closer to it."

"Most of the major counties in the nation have already gone to a county executive or county administrator form of government. We (Wayne) are one of the very few large counties that still operates under the board system."

Major opposition to the county executive has come from Detroit commissioners, according to Mrs. Dumas, who insist that a growing number of suburban commissioners are beginning to favor it. With a new census, which she feels certain will give western Wayne County the population edge, the Livonia commissioner believes the county executive will become a reality.

In campaigning for re-election, Mrs. Dumas is emphasizing her performance, her efforts to assist constituents in the Northville area, and her attendance record.

"I have the experience as a legislator and administrator, by having served four years on the county board of commissioners and having prior served on the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees, by having broad service in community affairs and organizations, and by having been active in civic projects."

"In addition, I think I have the knowledge of wide county issues and specific knowledge of the needs of Livonia, Northville and Northville Township within my district."

"I believe I have worked very hard in the past four years to serve those needs and to communicate and keep in constant touch with local officials. Furthermore, I believe I have brought some valuable services to my district and to the out-county area... funding for valuable local programs, assisting in the communications system of the police departments, obtaining offices and fire facilities for Northville in the Child Development Center, and I am currently working very hard with local and county officials to bring a very valuable solar energy research center to western Wayne County and more specifically to Northville."

Although she admits knowing little about the platform of her opponent, Mrs. Dumas says she is concerned about the fact that the Democratic candidate has close ties to a county department.

"As a retiring county employee I believe she would have difficulty in being objective when it comes to approving county contracts involving salaries, pension and fringe benefits of which she has a directed vested interest. It seems to me she would, as a commissioner, be faced if not by an actual conflict of interest by at least a mental conflict of interest," suggests Mrs. Dumas.

Mrs. Dumas says the "immediate priority" matter before the county board is the improvement of court processing "so that we can not only relieve the backlog of cases in our courts but also relieve the overcrowding in the jail which, even though we are building a new jail and providing temporary facilities in the 'N' Building at Eloise, we may still find ourselves constantly facing an overflow situation because of the increase in crime and because of the increasing backlog of court cases."

"Part of this problem has been caused by the mental health code, which hopefully is being revised by the state legislature."

One of the ways she and other commissioners have been working to face up to this problem, she explains, is by recently establishing pre-trial court facility and services at Eloise where everything but the trial itself can be conducted.

"We also just the other day directed a resolution to the State Supreme Court, asking it to step in and monitor recorders court where most of the abuses and most of the backlog of cases are occurring. It is where most of our criminal cases occur that fill our county jail. We hope to get the Supreme Court to step in, in an administering role, and tell recorders court judges 'get on the bench, get your dockets cleared.'"

Another serious problem facing the county, in her opinion, is that of juvenile delinquency -- "an area where I have been very deeply involved, both in creation of an office of youth services to serve the broad needs of youth and in the Michigan advisory committee on juvenile justice, the 'national county' subcommittee on juvenile justice, and the juvenile justice executive committee."

"It's a serious problem, one that we must tackle with a considerable amount of money and program activity in order to prevent an ever escalating young adult crime wave."

With these kinds of problems requiring additional financing to resolve, the Republican commissioner suggests that they will require a reassessment of other county programs and perhaps trimming them so that additional monies can be pried loose for use in the court and juvenile system.

"We'll just have to reorder our priorities."

"What's more I personally believe that in the long run we may have to say to the State of Michigan we will no longer accept the responsibility of permanent, long-range care of psychiatric patients. We are already seriously considering the closing of this unit at Eloise because we do not feel we should be responsible for that long term care. If we said to the state tomorrow we are no longer in the business of running this psychiatric hospital, it would have to provide for the care of these patients I'm reluctant to do it, but it is one of the services that is draining our county budget."

According to Mrs. Dumas, most of the programs advocated by her opponent are already "being worked on. They are things I'm already in the process of doing or already have accomplished, such as providing out-county pre-trial services, and bringing to the out-county area medical screening for senior citizens, nutrition centers for the aging and social and legal services for these people, and juvenile programs in connection with our public schools."

The issue of whether or not cities, through county taxes, should continue to 'subsidize' sheriff patrol services in townships will be settled by the court before the year is out, Mrs. Dumas predicts.

Whatever the outcome, however, Mrs. Dumas says she will continue to press for county-financing of policing the Middle Rouge Parkway (Hines Park).

"I will not relinquish my demand that we continue the park patrol," she asserts. "I believe since we operate this county park, for which the city and township of Northville have no jurisdiction, it remains the responsibility of the county to see that it is adequately policed. I will continue to fight for county law enforcement in the county park, as I will continue to fight for cooperation between all of the police agencies that border the park and the sheriff's department."

She recognizes an unfairness in the present system, which requires cities to finance all of their own services while providing townships with sheriff patrols with county patrols.

Nevertheless, "when Detroit commissioners point to this 'double-dipping' as being unfair," Mrs. Dumas says she reminds them "that a good deal of county services, such as courts, are provided in Detroit and not in the out-county area. It's not an altogether one-sided unfairness."

She's not in battle

Though Northville attorney Charles Simkins said that Florence Martin, a Novi resident, was involved in legal proceedings to solve water table problems in Novi, Mrs. Martin says that she is not a client of Simkins and is not involved in any such legal proceedings.

The reference to Mrs. Martin was made in an article concerning the drop of the water level in downtown Novi because of a sewer project which requires "dewatering" to keep the line from flooding during construction.

In addition, a quote in that article was incorrectly attributed to Mrs. Martin and should have been attributed to Simkins.

In latest developments, Adell Industries, Novi largest industrial firm started pumping some air last week in its well because of the dewatering but a spokesman said the well was throttled down and has not created any serious problems since that time.

Residents, as well as businesses without water can take some solace in the fact that the city of Novi is continuing to do everything in its power to alleviate the problem. One of the residents without water is Mayor Gilbert Henderson who lives in Novi Heights subdivision

Murphy to improve district image

overlook the 24th district, but I believe that I have made in-roads in improving their respect for our district."

"The other commissioners have learned that I take a rational approach to problems, and that I will vote my conscience instead of resorting to the political in-fighting that goes on too frequently in Pontiac. The net result is that the commission think more highly of the district out of respect for my performance. I tell it the way it is, and they seem to appreciate that."

Murphy's contention that he has established himself as an independent thinker above the party politics which mar the performance of the county commission is a key issue in his campaign against Mrs. Haas.

His opponent, he says, is a die-hard Democrat who might "represent special interest groups." I see her as a turn-key legislator," he says. "I don't think she's a free thinker. I think you would find that she would vote a straight party line."

Murphy also believes that he is much more qualified than his Democratic opponent.

"I think I have more qualifications to offer the people in the 24th district than Mrs. Haas does," he says. "I'm a banker by profession, and my field of expertise in the banking business is public funding and municipal financing. Sound, responsible fiscal policy is certainly a key concern of all residents, and I think my professional background enables me to provide better, more qualified, representation in Pontiac than my opponent could give."

Although he maintains that he has worked to establish better communications between the district and Pontiac, Murphy has been criticized by local officials, most notably Lyon Township Supervisor William K. Smith, for not improving communications.

Murphy strongly denies the criticism.

"When I asked the eight communities I represent to appoint a liaison person, I only received replies from four of them," he reported. "Lyon Township, South Lyon, Northville, and Wixom never replied to my request."

"Communications is a two-way street. Both parties have to get involved."

Murphy feels that the county commissioner has been overlooked by the people in the 24th district in the past. "They ignore their commissioner out of years of practical experience," he says. "If local officials want something done for them by the county, they go directly to the road commission, the drain commission, or the health department instead of using the proper channels and contacting me."

"I'm working hard to change that tendency I want people to contact me. I'm available and ready to help them. I'm only as far away as the telephone. When people call me, I'm only too happy to do whatever I can."

Related to his contention that communications is a two-way street is his concern with the apathy of 24th district residents.

"I think that a lot of government stinks right now," he states bluntly. "But no man can turn things 'around' all by himself. The people themselves must be willing to get involved and insist that changes be made."

"The people have to realize that it is important to learn the qualifications of the people who are running for office. They must get informed or they will have only themselves to blame for poor government. The price people pay for not getting involved is to be governed by people less competent than themselves," he continues.

"All too often elections are decided on the basis of a nice-sounding name, party affiliation, or the ethnic implications of a name on a ballot. People must make an effort to inform themselves about the people who are running for office."

"It's extremely important that we make sure that the best candidates are the ones who get elected."

Incredible? It happened as recently as August 31, 1976. Wasteful? The cost to county taxpayers for this incompetence is impossible to calculate — courts, police, court-appointed attorneys, witnesses, and on and on.

Wixom eyes federal grant for city hall renovation

Renovation of Wixom's city hall and the addition of new facilities could become a reality if the city's application for federal funds under the Capital Development and Investment Act of 1976 is approved.

Notified October 20 that applications would be accepted in the Chicago-based Office of Economic Development (OED) beginning October 26, Assistant to the Mayor Bernard VanOsedale said emphatically, "We will be there."

Voters in May rejected the idea of paying additional millage spread over a 20-year period for the estimated $750,000 remodeling job.

Word was received shortly after that rejection that federal funds might be forthcoming on projects such as those proposed in Wixom. The wait has been a long one although VanOsedale said the time was put to good use. Detailed architectural plans, background data and other necessary groundwork was compiled and held until application for the federally funded program was distributed.

Originally known as the Public Works Employment Act, Congress chose in mid-July to rename the bill the Capital Development and Investment Act of 1976.

Monies to fund the program were not appropriated by Congress until October 2. Of the two billion dollars available throughout the country, $157 million has been allocated to Michigan.

"We are prime candidates for the funds and I am very enthusiastic for our chances," said VanOsedale, "but my main concern lies in the fact there is such high competition for those funds."

Quoting Michigan Employment Security Commission figures, VanOsedale said the unemployment rate in Wixom during the months of June, July and August was charted at 17.6 percent.

"That figure puts us in good contention for the construction grant. But we have to remember there are more projects proposed throughout the state than dollars available."

According to VanOsedale's information, all the applications will be run through a computer with points given in each of a variety of categories. The points will then be tabulated with those cities reaching the highest number of points granted the necessary funds to complete their projects.

The Wixom project is now estimated to cost $758,000, an increase of $8,000 over the figure presented to voters last May.

"We intend to be one of the first in line with our application — it's really important for the city," VanOsedale pointed out the city has already had to expend $5,000 for repairs to the roof and there are other problems that need attention. The OED has 60 days to respond to the Wixom grant application. If that 60 day period elapses without response, the city can consider it has received automatic approval.

If that approval is received by the city, the construction program could begin in spring.

"You'd better believe we have our fingers crossed," said VanOsedale.

School budget approved

$50,000; state school aid income, $1,087,000; other state revenues, $463,500; and federal aid income, $123,500.

The outlay in this K-12 program is pegged at:

Basic instructional programs, $3,066,702; added instructional needs, $172,000; instruction-employee benefits, $442,479;

Support services — pupil $406,104; instructional staff, $294,408; general administration, $129,696; school administration, $381,980; business, $1,521,246; central, $51,298; other, $54,000; support services-employee benefits, $138,687; capital outlay, $42,000; outgoing transfers, $30,000;

Repayment of an outstanding $45,400 deficit.

The ISEP program budget, on the other hand, anticipates $916,412 in state school aid and $3,798,922 in other state revenues.

The ISEP expenditures include:

Instructional needs, $2,260,589; instruction-employee benefits, $169,040;

Support services — pupil, $639,061; general administration, $148,800; school administration, $166,500; business, $1,130,218; other, $15,000; support services-employee benefits, $13,128; Capital outlay, $55,000.

One of the budget considerations of the board concerned a suggestion by Trustee Majorie Sliger that the now vacant post of K-12 special education coordinator be eliminated to save money, and that others in the administrative office assume the functions of such a coordinator.

(Clark Kelly, who last year served as both the coordinator of this program and supervisor of ISEP program, has been assigned this year to only the ISEP program).

Superintendent Raymond Spear, Director of Instruction Nancy Soper and Kelly recommended strongly Monday that the post be filled with a qualified person, knowledgeable about special education in general and with the rules and regulations of the new special education law in particular.

Spear argued that to have a single person continue coordinating both the K-12 and the ISEP program would be educationally unsound with both programs suffering. Soper emphasized that she does not have the qualifications to assume the

RHODA MARTIN

News of the death of a former Northville resident, Rhoda Martin, has been received from Lake Havasu City, Arizona.

Mrs. Martin, who retired to Arizona about three years ago with her husband Richard, died unexpectedly late Saturday night there.

Funeral arrangements are being made at the Leitz Chapel and Funeral Home in Lake Havasu City.

The Martins had lived in Northville for more than 25 years before retiring in 1973 to Arizona. Her husband, who survives, had been owner with his brother, Frank, of Warren Products, Incorporated.

Mrs. Martin also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Rhoda Jane) Norton of Northville, and sons, Frank and Richard of the Chicago area.

She had been an active member of the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, often opening her home on Whipple Drive for meetings. She also had served on the board of the local branch.

EVELYN McCALL

Funeral services will be held here Friday for Mrs. Evelyn McCall, 51, who died October 22 in Phoenix, Arizona, after an illness of 10 months.

She and her husband, Charles, had moved to Phoenix in September. Mrs. McCall had been a Wixom resident practically all her life as her family moved to the area from Royal Oak when she was a child.

She was well-known as a ceramics teacher to many area residents.

She was born January 28, 1925, in Detroit to Mr. and Mrs. Christian Nissen.

In addition to her husband she leaves her parents, who now live in Michigan and Florida; sons Chris of Anaheim, California, James of Walled Lake, Joseph of Wixom, Charles of Commerce; a daughter, Mrs. Howard (Dorinda) Graft of Wixom; three brothers, two sister and six grandchildren. Services will be held at Richardson-Bird and Lynch Funeral Home in Walled Lake. Visitation will be after 6 p.m. Wednesday.

The family requests that those wishing to do so in lieu of flowers may make memorial contributions to the Leukemia Foundation.

MERIT JOAN COLEMAN

Funeral services were held at noon Tuesday for baby Merit Joan Coleman who died Sunday at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital.

She was born October 19 in Southfield to Gerald L. and Rosemarie (Padgett) Coleman of 26060 Lanny Road in Novi.

Msgr. Arthur Karey of Christ the King Catholic Church in Detroit and the Reverend Karl Zeigler of Novi Methodist Church officiated at the service at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated. Interment was in Oakland Hills, Novi.

In addition to her parents, survivors include a sister, Amy, at home and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Vivian Coleman of Novi.

The family suggests that memorial contributions be made to the Neo-Natal Unit of Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital.

JOSEPH DeLAUDER

Funeral services for Joseph Wayne DeLauder, 61, of Redford Township, were held Friday at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated.

Mr. DeLauder, who died

October 19 at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital in Detroit, had been superintendent of maintenance in the Redford School System for 36 years.

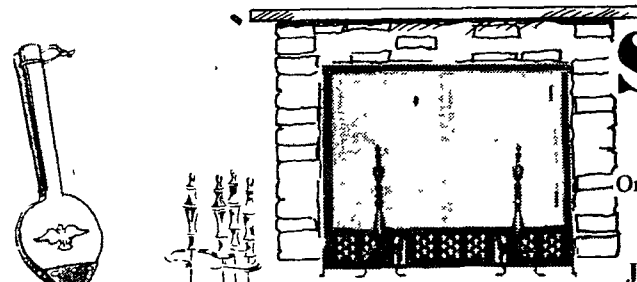

Pastor Dalton Myers of Covenant Community Church in Redford officiated at the 1 p.m. service. Interment was in Parkview Memorial Cemetery in Livonia.

A Redford resident since 1940, Mr. DeLauder was born April 2, 1915, in Oakland, Maryland, to James Horace and Lydia Estella (Browning) DeLauder. He married Mildred Ronk, who survives.

He also leaves two daughters, Mrs. JoAnne Ellis of Romeo, Mrs. Judith Brocklehurst of Livonia; a son, David of Livonia; five brothers, three sisters; and six grandchildren.

Four ballot proposals

By BILL SLIGER

PROPOSAL A—Apparently there's no other way to cut down the tossing around of empty beer and soft drink containers. Making them worth something is a sure-fire answer to the litter problem. They're an eyesore and a health danger. This proposal bans the throwaway containers and their detachable openers. VOTE YES.

PROPOSAL B—This one will probably pass, but not with my vote. It lowers the age for holding office as a state legislator from 21 to 18. This is consistent with the voting age. It is not consistent, however, with the law that says a registered voter must be 30 to run for governor of the state. It's unlikely many 18-year-olds will be elected to the legislature, and the argument that it should be the decision of the voters is the best one in support of this proposal. Sheer experience and maturity should be given some consideration in determining qualifications for an office of such responsibility, however. So on this question I'll VOTE NO.

PROPOSAL C—The spenders of our tax dollars are really fighting this one. And frankly, I'm normally opposed to restrictions that tie the hands of responsible legislators, particularly at the local level. This proposal would set a constitutional limit on state spending at 8.3 per cent of the total personal income of the state. Critics scream that this is the brainchild of the conservatives. But who would you expect to suggest a check on spending, the liberals? It's too bad that the Michigan taxpayer must resort

Speaking for The Record

Here's our election selections

For Broomfield

U. S. CONGRESS — 19th District

In his bid for re-election as congressman in the 19th District, William S. Broomfield packs far more qualifications and political clout than does his opponent, Dortha Becker, a teacher with little or no demonstrated leadership ability outside her own profession.

Though obviously intelligent and knowledgeable about the field of education, Mrs. Becker has failed to convince us and others that she is equipped to deal with the many other equally important areas of concern to the 19th District and the nation.

On the other hand, Broomfield is a veteran lawmaker whose scope of understanding transcends a variety of issues and whose demonstrated leadership abilities easily make him the wiser choice despite any differences we may have with some of his conservative positions.

For Pursell

U. S. CONGRESS — 2nd District

His proven legislative credentials, his close attention to local needs and problems, and his ability to work effectively with lawmakers of both political parties earns Carl D. Pursell our endorsement in his bid for United States Congress in the Second District.

No state legislator in recent history has done more to aid this community. At the county level and in more recent years as a state senator, Pursell has demonstrated conclusively that the party label is secondary to serving his constituents and the state as a whole. It is no surprise, therefore, that Pursell finds Republicans, Democrats and independents supporting his candidacy.

A political moderate, Pursell is a pragmatist who if given the opportunity will most assuredly carry to Washington the same passion for constructively serving all the citizens of the Second District as he has in the 14th State Senatorial District.

We urge the election of this proven leader, Carl D. Pursell.

For Geake

STATE REPRESENTATIVE — 35th District

Although we are not entirely satisfied with the track record of Incumbent Representative R. Robert Geake of Northville, he is heads and shoulders above his opponent, Jerome Harris, in intelligence and experience.

Geake has made mistakes, but he is a conscientious worker who is constantly alert to the concerns of his constituents. Although in our opinion he does his constituents a disservice by too often permitting party doctrine to influence his decision making, he nevertheless is not afraid to state his views publicly and candidly. Harris, on the other hand, fails badly in simply knowing what is going on in his own community. He is a political opportunist who speaks on both sides of an issue either to curry voter favor or to hide his own lack of understanding. He shows little enthusiasm for the post he seeks, has failed to let voters know who he is and what he stands for, and despite a strong legal background his understanding of the issues and his proposals to deal with them are sadly lacking.

For Fessler

STATE REPRESENTATIVE — 24th District

While we are not pleased with his absences and with a number of his voting positions, Richard Fessler is our choice over George Montgomery for state representative in the 24th District.

Montgomery, a former Detroit legislator, is an articulate, intelligent candidate, but we view him as a hard-line party advocate whose analysis of local issues are based more on party philosophy than perceptive reality.

In a sense, much the same can be said for Republican Fessler. Ironically, however, he finds himself the target of conservative resentment within his own party because of some of the votes he has cast at Lansing.

What persuades us to give Fessler our support is his past performance in maintaining an open line of communication with constituents in this southern edge of the district. But in giving him our support we remind him that duty to legislative matters must take precedence over his private legal practice.

For Murphy

OAKLAND COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Superior qualifications — the credentials to do the job — are the factors that persuade us to cast our vote for Dennis L. Murphy over Suellen Haas, both Novi residents.

Nevertheless, we do so with some misgivings because Murphy has failed to perform up to our expectations. He has failed to communicate adequately with the constituents in the 24th District, and on occasion we come away with the feeling he doesn't understand that communication is a very important element of the job.

Thus, in endorsing him, we are also putting him on notice that if he is returned to office we and others will be watching closely to see what improvement he makes.

For Dumas

WAYNE COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Easily one of the hardest working elected officials serving this area is Mary E. Dumas, who seeks re-election as Wayne County Commissioner in the 19th District.

By working hard, by her performance in office, and by pressing for solutions to problems and concerns facing the district in general and this community in particular, Mrs. Dumas has earned this newspaper's endorsement.

Citizens of Northville can be assured that if Mary Dumas is returned to office she will continue to represent them as well as she has in the past.

For Swienckowski and Wilson

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES

In the only two Northville Township Board races where competition exists, that for two four-year seats for trustee, our easy choices are Dr. John Swienckowski, incumbent, and Michael Wilson.

As readers are well aware, we have not always agreed with Dr. Swienckowski. But he is clearly better qualified than his Democratic opponent. By his performance as an appointed trustee he has earned the opportunity to serve as an elected member of the board.

Although he is a relative newcomer to township government, Wilson has demonstrated by his active participation in community affairs, by his knowledge and perceptive analysis of township problems and issues, and by his professional background that he is both able and willing to constructively serve the township. We believe he can and will become one of the township board's most productive members.

Here is where Northville votes

Voting for president will take place from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Tuesday at four Northville city precincts and eight township ones.

In the city precincts 1 and 2 are in Wayne County south of Base Line. Polling place is city hall, 215 West Main.

Precincts 3 and 4 are in Oakland County, north of Base Line. Voting is at Amerman School library, 847 North Center.

In the township precinct 1 is bounded on the north and west by the township line, on the east by the city limits and on the south by Seven Mile. Voting place is Moraine Elementary at 46811 Eight Mile.

Precinct 2 is Highland Lakes area, bordered by Eight and Seven Mile Roads, from the city limits east to Grandview Acres. Silver Springs Elementary, 19801 Silver Springs, is the polling place.

Precinct 3 is composed of voters living between Seven and Six Mile roads from the township line east to Northville Road, except for King's Mill residents. Voting is at Moraine Elementary.

Precinct 4 is bounded west and south by the township line, north by Six Mile and east by Edward Hines Drive. Polls are at Meads Mill Middle School, 16700 Franklin Road.

Precinct 5, composed of King's Mill residents, votes at the clubhouse.

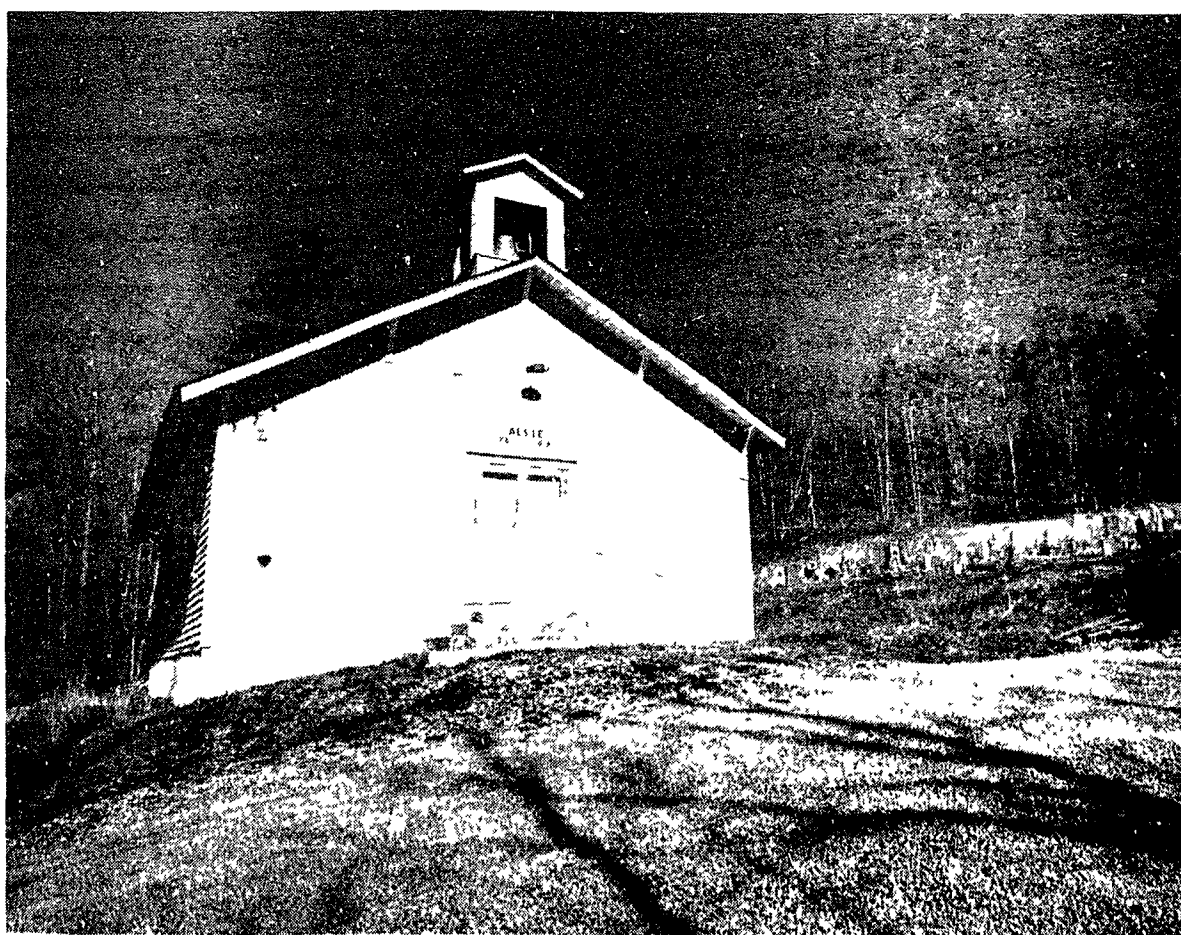

Precinct 6 includes Northville Commons and Northville Colony bounded by Six Mile on the north, Bradner road on the south. Voting is at Winchester Elementary, 16141 Winchester.

Precinct 7 is the southeast corner of the township extending north to Six Mile and west to Edward Hines Drive, excluding Northville Commons and Colony. Polling place is Meads Mill Middle School.

Precinct 8 includes Grandview Acres, Meadowbrook Estates and Innsbrook Apartments. It is bordered by the township line on the north and east, by Northville Road on the west and Six Mile on the south, excluding Highland Lakes. Voting is at Silver Springs School.

Speaking for Myself

Ban the can?

YES...

The reasons for voting "yes" on Proposal A — to ban throwaway beer and soft drink containers — are several, the most obvious of which is to reduce litter. The people of Michigan demonstrated in their support of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs' petition drive to put this issue on the ballot that they are thoroughly disgusted with the unsightly spectacle of myriads of bottles and cans strewn about the landscape of this fine state of ours. They want to do something about it. As taxpayers, they also have a vested interest in reducing the costs of roadside cleanup by reducing the volume of litter that is deposited along our highways.

Although ridding the countryside of some of the offensive litter that desecrates the land is a very apparent and welcome objective of the "bottle bill," it is not the most important reason for seeking to ban throwaways. The most important reason, in a word, is conservation.

By helping to stem the volume of containers that are produced for one-time use only, our society will conserve several of its precious resources. It will conserve some of the non-renewable minerals that go into the manufacture of one-way containers. It will conserve some of the energy consumed in the production of these containers. It will even conserve some of the land that is being diverted to the disposal of solid wastes.

Most important of all, however, a ban on non-returnable containers would be a first step away from a wasteful throwaway philosophy to a philosophy of careful shepherding of our non-renewable natural resources, a philosophy of awareness of our obligation to the generations to come, a philosophy of conservation.

Vote "yes" on Proposal A.

Kenneth S. Lowe
Editor
Michigan Out of Doors

NO...

There are several reasons why we shouldn't "ban the can" and why we should vote "no" on ballot Proposal A, which will abolish non-returnable bottles and cans and require deposits on them.

First, consumers will be paying mandatory deposits, probably 10 cents on every can and bottle. That will raise the price of soft drinks and beer by 60 cents per six-pack and 80 cents per eight-pack.

On top of this, the price of pop and beer will probably rise because it's going to cost the distributors more to handle the returnable bottles and cans. Sorting, washing, soaking and transporting the returnables will lead to higher prices.

People in the business say that there will be a loss of jobs in the soft drink and beer industry if Proposal A should pass.

Another reason not to "ban the can" is loss of convenience. Not only will you pay more, but you'll have to find a place to store your leftover bottles and cans. And once you get up enough energy to return your bottles, you may end up standing in a long line at the store to get your deposit back.

The final point to make concerns potentially dangerous sanitation conditions that will result from having to store and sort thousands of empty bottles and cans in the retailer's back room. I've seen bottles with cigarette ashes and urine in them. Cockroaches thrive in beer cases. It's unhealthy.

These reasons all add up to a "no" vote on Proposal A next Tuesday.

Urge 'No' on proposal 'C'

To the Editor:
Proposal C on the November 2nd ballot. At first glance this seems like a great idea but it is an extremely complex issue and when looked at with all its ramifications it will ultimately mean a shift in taxes from the state to the local level.

It is not a tax limitation as it would appear to be but is a hidden tax shift from one area to the other. This could have such consequences as tremendous decreases of state funds to the school systems with the resulting inevitable millage increases being sought on the local levels.

Likewise, the same situation could occur within our city and township governments. Think twice before voting on Proposal C.

Jan Purcell
Northville Branch

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters would like to call the attention of the voters to Proposal C on the ballot. While billed as a "tax limitation" amendment, Proposal C is actually a shift of taxes from our generally fair state taxation system to our rather burdensome local property tax. If Proposal C were to pass, citizens of Michigan would be forced with a choice between greatly reduced services (in education, mental health, state police protection, social services, etc.) or a shift to local property taxes to pay for these services. The hands of our elected legislators would be constitutionally tied in dealing with the emergencies that a recession brings.

We urge the citizens of the community to vote no on Proposal C.

Sincerely,

Seniors upset

To the Editor:

This year one of Northville High School's cherished traditions will be discontinued. In the past the last home football game halftime show has been organized and dedicated to the graduating seniors in the band.

The marching band is presently under the direction of a new band director who will not allow the "Senior Show" to take place. The 1976-77 marching band has 14 seniors, the largest group in four years.

We, the student congress of Northville High School, would like to express our deepest regret that the seniors will not be organizing the November 5th halftime show. We, the students, along with the seniors, the parents, the football team, and the community, will miss the "Senior Show."

Sincerely,
Northville High School Student Congress

Youths lauded

To the Editor:

This letter will express in a small way the love I have for the youth of the area and the pleasure they have given me during my few years at the Arcade 5 in Northville.

It has been such a pleasure to work the days with them. I'm sorry to say that I must leave the Arcade 5 but I just want each young person to know that I truly care for them, and I am certain that this area is blessed with good, friendly, happy young people who are maturing to upstanding adults.

It is with a happy heart that I say to each of them, God bless you... and enjoy!

Papa Joe

Urges 'yes'

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi, urges a yes vote on proposal A, November 2nd.

The LWV — Michigan and local Leagues have supported a ban on non-returnable bottles for several years. It is one step in the important concept of source reduction which reduces the total amount of solid waste. It is also a step to reduce energy consumption, environmentally damaging extraction of minerals, the amount of land needed for waste disposal, and disposal methods which damage air, water, and land.

We believe the experience in Oregon demonstrates that the switch to returnable beverage containers is an effective step toward these conservation measures.

The purpose of the League is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation in government and to act on selected governmental issues.

Council gets request for CBD trees

Trees and Victorian lamps in the business district may result from a proposal submitted by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce to the city council. The council received a proposal from representatives of the business community at the October 18 council session and Mayor A. M. Allen appointed Councilmen Paul Vernon and Stanley Johnston to represent the city in discussions with the Chamber.

In a letter from Chamber President Richard Lyon, a committee of retailers suggested the planting of trees and shrubs in planter boxes along Main and Center streets.

Their other proposals included directional signs to aid shoppers in locating businesses, especially on Mary Alexander court, Cady Street and Northville Square, Victorian street lamps and enclosure of the open stairway from Mary Alexander court to Cady street parking.

The letter noted that the downtown merchants plan a number of other promotions in behalf of the business district and pledged cooperation with the city council in seeking to improve the shopping area.

Members of the Chamber committee include Edie Cole, Dewey Gardner, Shirley Jallad and Linne Sopp.

In other business at the October 18 session the council approved purchase of one-way pocket radio receivers for the fire department. Some $1,200 was contributed by Ford Motor Company for the radios to offset the total cost of some $5,300, low bid by Motorola, Inc. By a 4-3 vote the township board had earlier approved sharing the cost with the city. The council approved the purchase unanimously.

The council set a public hearing on November 15 for a rezoning application by William Kraft. The request seeks rezoning from R-2 to R-3 of property at East street and Baseline to permit construction of eight multiple family condominium-type structures.

The planning commission has recommended the proposal to the council, although residents of the area expressed opposition at a planning commission hearing.

A November 1 public hearing was set by the council to consider priorities for special projects to be financed by community block grants from Wayne and Oakland counties. City Manager Steven Walters said he anticipated a minimum of $55,000 from Wayne county and $10,000 from Oakland county. Among the projects to be considered by the council are the extension of Wing street to Seven Mile, park development and beautification of the South Main street boulevard entrance to the city.

Lennox urges township yes

To the Editor:

I would like to urge Township voters to vote "Yes" on the Township proposition that will be on the General Election ballot November 2, 1976.

This question concerns

Haunted House open Sunday

Novi's haunted house will be open Sunday, October 31 from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The hours were added due to the success of the haunted house, according to a spokesman. The haunted house is located on Novi Road just north of Nine Mile.

property, 8.9 acres on the north side of Six Mile Road, that Thompson Brown deeded to the Township in April, 1972. This deed has a reverter clause that will pass the property to Thompson Brown in April of 1977.

To save the property for the Township we need a positive vote authorizing the Township Board to trade a parcel less than an acre in size for removal of the reverter clause.

This will give clear title to the remaining 8+ acres to the Township, thus making it a Township asset.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

by Jim Roth

When cheese and wine are served for dessert, fruit is a good addition, even if it is only a tiny cluster of grapes on an individual plate. Grapes, apples, and pears are three fruits that relate well to wine and cheese. Sometimes soft cheeses may be spread on slices of an apple or pear, as you would spread them on crackers. Bring cheeses to room temperature for serving, and open red wines an hour before pouring so they may breathe. Avoid smelly and aged, sharp cheeses with wine — this wine-cheese combination is one of the oldest and most pleasing in the history of man.

We may not be the oldest store in the area, but we've been around long enough to know what you like. For a complete selection of wines, beers and liquors see us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. For a delicious drink try a White Squirrel consisting of 1½ oz. of Amaretto and 1½ oz. of White Creme de Cacao mixed into 3 oz. of Vanilla French Custard (available at our "Custard Time" next door). Hours: 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Mon thru Sat, Noon-6 p.m. Sun.

WINE WISDOM:
French bread, sometimes served hot, is especially good at a wine tasting.

Here's election line-up

Lennox, a Republican, lost her bid for re-election in the August primary, and Treasurer Charles Rosenberg and trustees John MacDonald and Richard Mitchell close not to seek re-election.

Lone member of the board, whose seat is not up for election, is James Nowka. He and Clerk Sass are the only two current members who are certain to remain in office. Should Dr. Swienkowski win re-election he would be a third.

Grier, Henningsen, Lysinger, Wilson and Cramer have never before held an elective office.

Northville Township residents only will be asked to vote on a proposal to permit a return of property to Thompson-Brown Company in exchange for dropping a reverter clause now on the 8.90 acre parcel.

The site was given to the township in the company's Six Mile Road development between Bradner and Haggerty roads in 1972 with the stipulation that it would revert to the company unless a municipal building was under construction by April, 1977.

The company has offered to drop the reverter clause in exchange for the return of 0.831 acres of the parcel.

The township board of trustees in September voted unanimously to place the request on the ballot. A vote of the electorate is required to return land.

Following is a complete list of all candidates appearing on the ballot for which voters of the township and the Wayne County section of the city will cast ballots:

of Aragon; Paige Lysinger (front left) as Katherine Howard; Cindy Pease as Anne Boleyn; Debbie Mietla as Anna Cleaves; and Barbara Stewart as Kate Parr.

ballots here

Absentee ballots may be picked up in both the city and township offices until 2 p.m. Saturday, October 30.

Voters who already have picked up ballots may vote them in person in the office of either the city or township clerk until 2 p.m. Monday.

Absentee ballots received in the mail up to and including election day Tuesday will be counted, both clerks affirmed.

Absentee ballots, however, may not be brought to the office in person on election day, Northville City Clerk Joan McAllister points out, explaining that she expects that anyone who can bring in a ballot on election day can go to the polls.

Mrs. McAllister plans to have two absentee ballot county boards, under one supervisor, on election day — one for Wayne County and one for Oakland County.

In the township, Clerk Clarice Sass has announced that for the first time two absentee ballot county boards will be operated there, too.

Both will be counting at the Northville Township offices. She hopes that the institution of two boards will speed up the process of counting absentee ballots, which in the primary election proved a big task.

'Storybook' animals greet kids at Kensington

Not so many generations ago, most children knew something about farming and barnyard animals. They may have grown up in a rural area or at least they knew folks who worked the land for a living.

But that's not so anymore. In fact, a "real" lamb or a massive cow or a snorting pig may almost be a strange sight to urban or suburban youngsters.

Storybook animals and farm tales have come alive for many Detroit area youngsters recently at the Kensington Children's Farm near Milford.

Nearly 2,000 visitors a week have toured the "working farm" since it opened in late August — touching and observing the creatures, learning about old farming methods and machinery, taking wagon and pony rides.

Photographer Jim Galbraith was on hand last week as these school children explored barnyard sights and sounds.

Religion

Graham message stirring but . . .

The message of Jesus Christ as the one way to Salvation was delivered eloquently last week by world-renowned Evangelist Billy Graham at the new Pontiac Stadium, unfortunately, most of those attending were unable to hear it.

Many South Lyon area residents who made the trip with high expectations came away disappointed because even though the building was beautiful and the services professionally executed, the public address system was so poor that they missed a great deal of the message.

Pastor Robert Beddingfield of the First Baptist Church of South Lyon, "I think it's a great program but the sound was a problem. However, Billy Graham did a marvelous job and the people responded. There were many decisions made (for Christ)."

"We had a busload of people (38-40) attending every service. They learned that certain places, usually near the playing field, were better than others for hearing."

"Our men felt the program 'Signs of the Times' on Sunday was very good," he added. "The evangelistic classes held during the day are also very good."

"I attended because I have great respect for Billy Graham," stated Dr. Milton Bank of the South Lyon United Methodist Church. "He is very effective in proclaiming the message of Jesus Christ throughout the world."

"There were literally hundreds of persons who answered his call (to come down and stand together in front of the platform) to make public confessions of belief in Jesus Christ."

Dr. Bank added that he, personally, was disappointed that there was not more music in the program.

"The 5,000-voice choir was very impressive and there were three soloists who were very good but there was very little group participation in the program. We were invited to join the choir (numbers) at times but there was really no hymn singing on the part of the congregation."

"I feel that the poor PA system was the reason why there were only 25,000 in a stadium which holds 80,000 (Tuesday evening). Many seemed to be saying that they would not return because of the sound."

South Lyon Methodists who attended en masse on Saturday and again on Tuesday via bus, reported that there was a closeness in the group during the return ride to South Lyon which developed through hymn singing and prayer. Plans were made to attend more such programs in the future as a group.

Suits for charity

Male residents of Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center, a facility for treatment of alcoholism, will look better as well as feeling better soon — thanks to a donation this past week of 150 men's suits by Lapham's Men's Wear of Northville. The donation has become a tradition of Lapham's, which each year assembles, cleans and repairs used men's suits that have either been received as "trade-ins" or contributed by customers. All of the suits are valued at over $25 — many of them by many more dollars. This year, Lapham's donation went to Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church of Northville, which designated Sacred Heart as the charity to receive the suits. Looking on as Scott Lapham (left) and Don Muller of the store load up the suits for transporting to Sacred Heart is Sister Peter Damian of OLV.

Church Capsules

Roy J. Lanning, a Chicago resident and member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church of the First Church of Christian Scientist in Boston, will speak on the subject "peace is individual" at the First Church of Christ Scientist in Howell on Friday, October 29, at 8 p.m.

The church is located at 104 South Walnut Street in Howell. Child care will be provided during the lecture.

The First Baptist Church of Northville is holding a clothing drive for the Detroit City Rescue Mission.

Clothes should be left in the church cloak room next Wednesday and Thursday, October 27 and 28.

Young people of First Presbyterian Church in Northville will be collecting throughout the community for UNICEF Sunday, October 31 from 2 to 4 p.m.

"In His Steps", a 70-minute film, will be shown October 31 at 6:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of South Lyon. The Halloween night presentation is the story of a town that was changed by the visit and subsequent death of a tramp. "This is a stirring film for all ages," according to Pastor Robert Beddingfield.

The film story is drawn from a classic book written by Charles Sheldon.

A fellowship hour with cider and doughnuts served will follow the movie.

"The Burning Hell", a color movie showing hundreds of Biblical wonders filmed in the Holy Land, will be presented at the Salem Bible Church at 7 p.m. on October 31. The public is invited to view this film which depicts tormented souls lost forever in hell.

Columbarium service set

"A peaceful, chapel-type atmosphere" is the way the new columbarium at First Presbyterian Church of Northville is described.

Unusual in this part of the country, the columbarium is a sepulchral vault of recesses in the walls to receive ashes after cremation.

It is to be dedicated officially at the 11 a.m. service this Sunday.

It has been planned since 1970 and under construction in a room beneath the church chancel since the beginning of this year.

"It's no accident that it is located there," the Reverend Brasure pointed out as plans were implemented.

Provision for the room to hold urns for ashes was made when the new chancel was built in 1970. The concept was suggested by Mrs. Levi Eaton, then a church member, who had seen similar rooms in Episcopal churches in the east.

"It is a very sacred place, a dignified room with provision for prayer," the minister stated when the project was announced.

Memorial tributes to Dr. Wilbur Johnston, who died in 1974, and other gifts have been used to prepare and furnish the columbarium.

A committee about a year ago visited the Allen Park Presbyterian Church to view the columbarium there. It has been so successful that a second room had to be added.

Dr. Johnston's widow, Catherine Johnston, Muri Lamb, James Cowie and Charles Gross were among those who guided the project.

Recent gifts include a lamp and table from Mrs. K. H. Babbitt and a davenport given by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cummings in memory of their friend, Mary Donovan. The carpeting was a gift from Mrs. Johnston.

Churches plan for Halloween

Has Halloween trick or treating turned into a form of childish blackmail and is there a risk that youngsters may receive more tricks than treats in their goodie bags?

At least two South Lyon area churches are planning events to entertain the entire family on the annual night of vandalism and begging in an effort to discourage house-to-house begging.

A spook room, games, treats, costume parade and even dinner are included in the South Lyon United Methodist family party which begins at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday and continues until 8 p.m. A special party for the teenagers follows the family merry-making.

A full-length movie entitled, "In His Steps" will be shown as a family feature at the First Baptist Church on Marjorie Ann Street beginning at 6:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to be present.

"We've renamed Devil's Night to 'Jesus' Night'," says Roger Adams, minister of music at the Baptist Church.

"We're having an old-fashioned masquerade party on Saturday evening for the teenagers (seventh grade and up).

Luncheon's next week

The Hartland Christian Women's Club holding its annual boutique luncheon on Thursday (November 4) from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Walden Woods, one mile north of M-59 on Old U.S. 23.

Luncheon and nursery reservations should be made by Friday by calling Jo Cameron at 227-6644 or Ruth Leist at 887-4973.

Cost of the luncheon is $3.90. Nursery facilities are available at the Hartland United Methodist Church for $1 per family.

Guest speaker at the luncheon will be Miss Mary E. Clark, the British born National Chairman of Christian Women's Clubs and National Vice-Chairman of Christian Business and Professional Women's Councils.

JOHN B. "BEN" LUCE has been named vice president of manufacturing for Thermofil, Inc., a Brighton based engineering thermoplastics producer.

Ronald J. Woods, company president, said that Luce will have responsibility for manufacturing activities at all Thermofil plants.

Luce comes to Thermofil from General Electric Company's polycarbonate compounding plant at Mt. Vernon, Indiana, where he was general manager.

Luce holds nine "composition of matter" patents associated with thermoplastic materials.

In 1972, he was awarded the Fred Borch Memorial Management Award for Commercialization of a plastic composition. He is a member of the Society of Plastics Engineers.

Luce is a graduate of General Motors Institute of Technology with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. He earned his master's degree in business administration from Evansville University.

Thermofil has four manufacturing plants that produce engineering thermoplastics, with about 200 different product formulations. The company's products are primarily used in the automotive, appliance, business equipment and construction markets.

Thermofil's corporate headquarters, laboratories and a fourth manufacturing facility were established in Brighton early this year.

EILEEN FOLEY, of South Lyon, has joined the staff of Century 21-Northville as a realtor associate. She holds a B.S. degree from Marygrove College, Detroit, and has done graduate work at Michigan State University. She holds a Michigan Secondary Permanent teacher's certificate and has been previously employed as a teacher and recently as a substitute teacher. Mrs. Foley is actively involved with the Northville Junior Football Association. Her son Pat plays with the Colts varsity team and a daughter, Eileen, is a team cheerleader. Both Pat and Eileen attend Our Lady of Victory School.

TOM WEST has been selected to join the staff of Rymal Symes Novi office as a realtor associate.

West brings with him over four years of experience in residential real estate and he holds a broker's license from the State of Michigan.

He will be specializing in marketing residential property in the Novi community and will be active in Rymal Symes employee transfer program, "All Points Relocation Service", which assists transferred executives worldwide.

In announcing the appointment Ben Skelton, group vice president, indicated that "the addition of Mr. West to the Novi staff is indeed consistent with the guiding principle at Rymal Symes of deliberate growth through the selection of highly qualified professional associates."

ALEXANDER AND ROSE ANN WALKER, operators of the Dairy Queen store at 6450 East M-36 in Hamburg, were recently presented the Quality-Purity Award by American Dairy Queen Corporation, a subsidiary of International Dairy Queen, Inc.

The Quality-Purity Award signifies that the Walker's Dairy Queen store has achieved and maintained a superior rating in all quality and purity inspections conducted by representatives of American Dairy Queen Corporation.

To qualify for the award, the Walker's store was judged on an inspection covering more than 12 categories, including general appearance of the store, product appearance and preparation, sanitation procedures and customer service.

TO TRANSPORT Dracula's coffin from the City Airport to the March of Dimes Haunted House at 605 West Ten Mile Road, Pleasant Ridge, in proper style, Mrs. Elizabeth Copps, of the Copps Riding School in Northville, contributed a pair of horses to draw the antique hearse. Mrs. Copps, in the light hat with the reins in her hand, was interested in seeing the coffin placed carefully within the beautiful conveyance.

CHRISTIAN KRAUTER of South Lyon has presented a technical paper to a national meeting of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers at the Cincinnati Convention Center in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Topic of the paper was "EDM and TFM, The Ideal Marriage in a Production of Die Sinking Center." It was the first paper ever written on the new concept of Total Form Machining (TFM of three dimensional shapes using the new TFM process with Electrical Discharge Machining (EDM).

Krauter is national sales manager of Easco-Sparatron, Inc., in Ann Arbor. The theme of the three-day conference in Cincinnati was "The Production Uses of Non-Traditional Machining."

Krauter is a resident of South Lyon and lives on Philcrest Drive. He is the son of Herman and Katherine Krauter of Northville. He is a 1960 graduate of Northville High School and a 1965 graduate of Eastern Michigan University with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree. He is also an active member of Manufacturing Engineers and the Engineering Society of Detroit.

Present for the ceremony were (from left) Security Bank of Novi Arthur Boluch, Council member Romaine Roethel, Mayor pro tem Martha Hoyer, planning board chairman John Roethel, council member Patricia Karevich, assistant cashier and bank manager Robert Kliber, city clerk Geraldine Stipp, Mayor Gilbert Henderson, board member of bank William Tilmann, administrative vice president Security Bank and Trust Phillip Caruso, Security Bank of Novi President Donald Grevengood, Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall, Novi Treasurer Evelyn Natzel, Deputy treasurer of Oakland County Doug Williams and bank board of director Anthony Owen. Grand opening activities this week include giving away a barrel of money Saturday and other prizes. Security Bank of Novi is located at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook Roads.

Dark corners

By KATHY COPLEY

Every home has one of those dark corners where, seemingly, nothing will grow. There may be at least one something that will grow — Chinese Evergreen (Aglaonema).

They thrive in dim light conditions and last indefinitely with their stems submerged in a vase of water. This versatile plant will also do well in bright light.

Chinese Evergreens are often mistaken forffenbachias (Dumb Cane). They have large lance-shaped leaves, either dark green or mottled with silver or white. They are from the same family as the Jack-in-the-pulpit and Calla Lily; the leaf shape is similar.

A. simplex or A. modestum are the most common varieties of Aglaonema, either of which you will receive by asking for Chinese Evergreen. Both have leathery green leaves which grow to three inches. Both are good for growing in a jar of water or in a large corner area.

A long neglected plant will lose its lower leaves, leaving a thick, bare stem. Cut the top off and root it in water. Another way to propagate the Chinese Evergreen is to put three inch lengths of stem horizontally in moist sand and barely cover.

Pot-bound plants bloom with an insignificant calla-like flower, usually in late summer or early fall.

A large plant store may carry a variety of these tough plants. A. commutatum grows to two inches with deep green leaves six inches long, spotted with silver.

A. costatum is the low-growing aglaonema, eight inches high, with bright grey-green leaves spotted with white. A. picta is similar in appearance, with the variety tricolor having yellow spots.

A. roebelinii grows to three inches with vigorous blue-green leaves. A. treubii has lance-shaped blue-green leaves with silver markings.

The Chinese Evergreen is a tough plant which will tolerate dim light and will grow indefinitely in water, making it ideal for out of the way corners, book cases, unused fireplaces, small-windowed bathrooms — any place a plant can brighten.

Washington sisters, however, the names are acceptable titles for two government-created agencies that help control the peaks and valleys in the supply of home mortgage funds.

Both titles stem from the American liking for forming names, or acronyms, from the initials of government agencies or companies. Thus Fannie Mae refers to the Federal National Mortgage Association, FNMA, and Ginnie Mae to the Government National Mortgage Association, GNMA.

Fannie Mae, the older of the two, was born in 1938 as a child of the depression, to help meet the nation's housing needs.

The Light Touch

by ANN L. ROY

Citizen: "Is it too late to vote?"
Registrar: "What party?"

Willie: "Pa, what is a politician?"
Father: "Son, a politician is a human machine with a wagging tongue."
"Then, what's a statesman?"
"It is an ex-politician who has mastered the art of holding his tongue."

"Some of our congressmen drink more than they can stand."
"How do you know?"
"Why, I read the other day in the paper about one member who made a speech from the floor of the house."

Trees on The Horizon

The tree, alone, stands out, it's true,
Its "bare" and beauty brought to view—
Amassed in forest, forms a wall,
But has no form nor face at all.

Litterbug Roundup

Come, litterbugs,
What have you done?
You've cluttered the earth.
You've spoiled the fun.

This litterbug
Is a picnic fan,
But didn't put scraps
In the garbage can.

This litterbug
Rode near and far,
With no litter bag
Inside the car.

This litterbug
Went walking around
And small, paper bits
Were tossed on the ground.

Look litterbugs.
What a disgrace!
Help keep our land
A beautiful place!

Isabelle Spooner

Owed To A Leopard

A leopard is an animal
That never cooks in pots,
I cornered one the other day
And asked him for a spot.
He eats his food in nature's way
And right upon the scene,
But I escaped—I didn't stay—
And headed for the green.

I think that after this escape
I'll get my "spots" from banks,
I know that they are safer
And I'll send the leopard thanks.

Garage Sale

I posted a sign at the corner—
All traffic came to a halt.

They parked at the curb and on the grass,
And weighed the value of my old brass,
Tarnished and battered — little banter,
For they saw a glorious planter.

It's here we are learning to haggle—
Buy a bunch, a dozen, a gaggle.
Start at the bottom and work on up.
Pay what you want for any old cup.

We can't all be wheelers and dealers.
But oh, how we think we are stealers,
When we come away laden with pails,
Which we bought at Ye Olde Garage Sales.

Life's Circle

Small ones that needed,
Loved ones that possessed,
Now they have grown and...
Will soon leave the nest.

So...

Wide grows the circle of... these loved ones now grown,
Yet smaller the roll call of... others we've known.

Yet...

We would not change it,
Nor one iota delete
For we know God's plan calls for...
The full circle complete.

Ruth Brinkerhoff

An Ode Of Time

It seems impossible to me that so much time has flown
That as I look about I find all the children grown.
How did the days, weeks, months and years, how did they slip away could it be that I am dreaming and will wake to... yesterday?

No! For that is wishful thinking, what principles I lack!
Have I become so selfish... I would really turn time back!
Of course I'd love to see again those bright, sweet, smiling faces
And live again the laughter of other times and places

Yet they are indeed entitled, or so it seems to me, to all life has to offer and... to all they'll grow to be.
And so I wish them happiness and joy upon their way
May God smile down upon them and bless them every day
May their lives be filled with sunshine and their homes be filled with mirth
May God give them freely of the good things of His earth and when at last their lives are spent and they feel the need for peace
May God grant them paradise on... a very long term lease.

Childhood

What did you do when you were a boy
To pass the time away?
We had hoops to roll with T-shaped sticks;
A rope trapeze for doing tricks,
And the glee we had in wading "cricks"
Most any day but Sunday!

The Sabbath was a time for rest,
For Sunday School and "calling",
Like visiting relatives and the ill,
Or taking a walk up a wooded hill
To look for berries and find a thrill
Where a spring was gently falling.

As boys, we did the usual things
That any boy might do;
School and chores and childhood fun
Like flying kites way up to the sun
Or playing games 'til the day was done—
All blending as we grew.

Those stepping-stones in time, would fade
With turns along the way,
While childhood friendships we had made
And wondrous plans that we had laid,
As real in life as we could braid,
Would slowly drift away.

Since we've passed our cresting years,
We turn again to look
At paths to which our life adheres
With memories, like souvenirs
Of railroad trains and engineers,
As chapters in a book.

Although we would not now return
To years of youthful bliss,
Within our hearts we ever yearn
For simple ways in which to turn—
There to find and there to learn
A childhood genesis.

Charles E. Hutton

I Heard It One Day

I heard it one day;
it was within the wind . . .
the feeling, the sense, the wonderment, and the song ever so softly.
A summer breeze let me know that I could still feel, and through this I felt the joy to life.
It made me run wild through fields, faster and faster,
'til out of breath
I just stopped, viewed the clouds,
the sky,
the surrounding earth, and let the feeling come over me over and over again, refreshing my spirit nourishing my soul.

My People

All through my life . . .
I learned of people.
To love each and every one,
I learned to open my heart to love them, along with the hurt and pain.
And love brought me fulfillment.

I learned to live through each day with people . . .
experiencing each and every one.
And through experiencing them,
I felt loved, wanted, and again, fulfilled.

I learned to be myself with those I loved, and they, too, were able to be free and natural.
And there came the sense of fulfillment ever so growing.

I learned to believe in life through people . . .
for many of them had a faith that came to me through sharing,

and to live and love for other people, is a large, meaningful part of my life . . .
I feel I always will.

Time

It all goes by so quickly, the rise and fall of night.
Time passing in between,
between the lines.
Beginning... the beginning of the love I had within me... and the passing phases
where it seemed not to be there.
Where the night had come and had finished feelings from light, only to wonder about it tomorrow.

The Vampires' Retreat

The ghosts in my closet are coming to life
The bats in the attic are stirring
The witches downstairs are sharpening a knife
The rats in the cellar are scurrying

The pumpkins are ready and ripe
All of the Ghouls are on hand
The spirits are ready to fill the night
The Goblins are forming a Halloween band

The vampire has on a new costume
The moon has shut off her light
The witches' brew is giving off fumes
Getting ready for Halloween night

The skeletons are shaking and rattling their bones
The coffins are open and ready
The spooks are practicing their moans
The aroma from the witches' brew is heady

The neighborhood children are eagerly waiting
With bags, and broomsticks, and masks galore
The mothers and fathers are still debating
The safest route to take to each door

They'll fill all their bags with candy and treats
They scare all the people who open their doors
But when they come to the Vampire's retreat
Their hearts will leap, when they see what's in store.

'Once a slob, always a slob' — bottle ban opponent

By WARREN M. HOYT

LANSING—The bottle battle escalates as election day draws near.

Generating all the press releases and signs on pop bottles in your local grocery is Proposal A, which would ban non-returnable bottles and cans as well as containers with pulltabs.

Three other statewide ballot issues are subjects of campaign skirmishing. They include proposals to: Allow 18-year-olds to run for the legislature; limit state taxes and spending each year to 8.3 percent of the total personal income of all Michigan residents in the previous year; and provide for a graduated income tax.

BUT THE BOTTLE BAN seems to be the "biggie" in terms of visible efforts on one side or the other.

Foes — including a coalition of container makers, retailers and organized labor called the Committee Against Forced Deposits, say approval of the ban would cost jobs and inconvenience consumers. Pop, beer and wine buyers, foes say, will have to pay more for their liquid refreshment and go through the hassles of returning containers if they want that added cost returned. Foes also question whether the ban would help the environment.

"The slob is still a slob and a five or 10-cent deposit isn't going to deter him," one foe has suggested.

FEWER FOLKS are forking over the extra money it takes to sport personalized vehicle license plates. But they're showing just as much imagination as they did for the bicentennial plate year.

A Lake City minister and his wife have what the Department of State considers "the classic" plates: "REV" and "MRS REV".

Other couple combinations include: "HIS" and "HERS", "HIS CAR" and "HER CAR" and, for Mr. and Mrs. Brand, "BRAND X" and "BRAND Y".

A fellow named Nickel picks "5 CENTS" for his vehicle and a motorcyclist gets — what else? — "ZOOM".

SECRETARY OF STATE Richard H. Austin notes that personalized plate totals for 1977 show just over 13,000 in sales, 2,000 fewer than the total for 1976.

But, Austin says, the drop was expected.

"Last year when '76 plates were sold was our bicentennial and most of the 2,000 figure represents vehicle owners who wanted a bicentennial souvenir and obtained a personalized license plate on a one-time basis," he explains.

Those who've ordered personalized plates for 1977 can expect them to be delivered about Nov. 15, the date when automobile and motorcycle license plate tabs go on sale.

CANNED IMPORTS may present serious problems for Michigan's mushroom industry — no tiny matter when you consider that the state produced about 10 million pounds of mushrooms last year.

Calling the industry "small but unique," Governor William Milliken explained that South Korea and Taiwan have dramatically increased their exports to this country.

"Canned mushroom imports were 50 percent higher this July than a year ago, and growers in Michigan and other states faced the very real risk of not finding a market for their crops," the governor said.

President Ford has sent a special trade negotiator abroad to discuss possible voluntary mushroom shipment restraints with officials in South Korea and Taiwan.

LITERS OF MILK, kilograms of tomatoes and green beans . . . That's what Michigan consumers may find in their grocery carts in the not too distant future.

The state's Department of Agriculture notes that Michigan is slowly changing over to the metric system, as are all other states in the nation.

But those who may think metrics complicated might think again — about the metric measure they're already familiar with. Take, for instance, kilowatts of electricity, metrically measured skis (and shoes, in some cases) as well as camera lenses and other brought-from-abroad equipment.

METRICS ALSO can help accuracy in the international trade of agricultural products.

Marketing advisor Mansour Bejaoui points out that the most widely known measures — pounds and bushels — aren't as precise as metric measures. The bushel, he noted, is commonly agreed to be 2150.42 cubic inches in volume. But its weight ranges from 60 pounds for wheat to 56 pounds for corn and 32 pounds for oats.

Can we afford four more years without effective leadership?

There is a critical decision to be made on November 2nd. It goes far beyond the question of which Presidential candidate can govern with integrity and honesty. We must determine which candidate has the ability and strength to lead our country out of economic chaos, and the vision to see that all Americans—not just the powerful and influential—have a better future.

During the past two years, the middle class has paid far too dear a price for a President lacking that ability.

Since Gerald Ford took office, the unemployment rate has risen 50%, from 5.5% to 9.5 million people, to 7.9% or 7-1/2 million jobless Americans.

Today's inflation rate of 6% is higher than it was at any time between the Korean War and the inauguration of Richard Nixon.

The 1968 food dollar is now worth 57¢.

Mr. Ford's budget will account for the largest single deficit and more than 1/3 of the public debt incurred during our entire 200-year history.

Real GNP has actually declined during each of Gerald Ford's two years in office.

And who is most affected by these distressing statistics? Not the Washington establishment, or the economic elite courted by the Republicans. The burden falls on the person who can least afford it: the average American.

Jimmy Carter means to change all that. As President, he will make government responsive to your needs.

Tax Reform: "The average family in this country actually pays a higher proportion of their income in taxes than the average family that makes more than a million dollars a year. That's disgraceful. We need to move toward a truly progressive and simplified tax system, with reduced tax rates for the average American."

Economy: "We'll never have a balanced budget nor an end to the inflationary problems as long as we have 7-1/2 million people out of work. Employment needs to be the major thrust of the whole domestic policy of our government."

Efficiency in Government: "We now have in the federal government the most bloated, confused, wasteful bureaucracy ever created. There's no way to get an answer out of Washington and no way to understand what's going on there. We need to reorganize completely the executive branch of government, making it fair, efficient, effective, and responsive to our people's needs."

Housing: "No government that cared about our neighborhoods would stack the tax deck against them. A landlord can let a building run down and make a good living on tax breaks. But when a home owner spends a little hard-earned money fixing up his home, the assessor raises his taxes. And the FHA no longer cares about families getting started in their own homes. I intend to restore the FHA to the time when, for a down payment, a family could get a mortgage which the government would insure."

Health Care: "We need a nationwide health care delivery system which will make adequate health care a right for all people."

Jimmy Carter has the strength to take charge of our government. If you are tired of paying the high price of Republican ineffectiveness, you have only one choice on November 2nd, and that choice is for change.

Mustangs bounce back, scalp Chiefs

Northville showed a lot of character — and ability — as the gridirers bounced back from their disheartening loss at the hands of Farmington Harrison two weeks ago to thump Plymouth Canton, 38-0 on a dreary, rainy Saturday evening in Plymouth.

The win upped Northville's overall record to 5-1 and league record to 3-1. Victories in their remaining three games would ensure the Mustangs of a second place finish in the Western Six and best overall mark in 15 years.

"Over the course of an entire game, it was definitely our best performance of the year execution-wise," said Mustangs coach Chuck Shonta.

Shonta was concerned after the Harrison game that his players might be so far down that they would have trouble against the Chiefs, who have won only once now in six starts.

But the Mustangs were anything but down. They scored three of the four times they had the ball in the first half, and completely stymied Canton's offense in posting their first shutout of the season.

The Chiefs' only success of the evening was winning the coin toss. They took the opening kick-off but were forced to punt following five plays.

Northville took the ball on its own 24-yard line and marched the 76 yards for a touchdown in 13 plays. A roughing the kicker penalty aided the Mustangs drive.

Senior fullback Rick Marrone went the final five yards for the score and Matt Davis added the extra point for a 7-0 lead with 4:36 left in the first quarter.

Earlier in the drive Marrone had a beautiful, gummy 32-yard touchdown romp called back because of a clip. End Kevin Corcoran caught a 12-yard pass from quarterback Greg Armstrong to keep the drive going.

Northville got the ball back on its own 49-yard line late in the first quarter. Armstrong went to the air.

He hit junior end John Horwath, who made a great leaping catch, at the 35-yard line. Two plays later, Armstrong dropped back and threw the ball to Horwath breaking for the end zone.

The ball was underthrown, but Horwath, who had his defenders beaten, turned around, came back, caught the ball at the seven-yard line and went into the end zone as the quarter ended. Davis upped the Northville lead to 14-0. Armstrong tallied for Northville with 1:20 left in the half.

The senior tri-captain took the ball on the option, broke a tackle off the left side and scampered 51 yards for the score, and, following Davis' conversion, a 21-0 half-time lead.

The Mustangs ended the scoring with a 17-point blitz in four and one-half minutes early in the third quarter.

Northville took the second half kick-off at its own 43 and moved down to the 10-yard line. There Horwath made a beautiful catch along the sideline in the end zone for a score, but the referees ruled him out of bounds.

The drive stalled and Northville had to settle for a 27-yard field goal from Davis with three minutes gone in the third stanza.

Canton got the ball on the kick-off, and on a third down play quarterback Mark Perkins dropped the slippery pigskin at his own 17-yard line. Linebacker Corcoran picked up the loose ball and scampered untouched into the end zone with 7:38 left in the quarter. Davis again hit on the extra point.

Just six seconds later, Corcoran came right back. The senior belted a Canton runner at Northville's 35-yard line, forcing him to cough up the ball. Defensive end Doug Harding finally fell on the ball at his own 23.

On the first play following the recovery, flanker Greg Harper took the ball on a reverse play and dashed 23 yards for the final score of the evening. Davis added the extra point.

The reserves played the rest of the way, holding the Chiefs at bay offensively.

"It was nice that we could play everybody and still maintain the shutout," said Shonta.

Statistically, Northville picked up 14 first downs compared to the Chiefs' 11. The Mustangs rushed for 178 yards and passed for 72, while Canton could only muster 112 yards on the ground and none via the air.

Armstrong picked up 85 yards in six carries, while Horwath caught four passes for 67 yards.

Northville's final Western Six opponent, Mott, is 2-2 in league play but boasts a big offensive and defensive line. Last year Mott upset Northville, 7-0. The Mustangs would like to get at least a second place finish in the Western Six this year.

Harrison has to play continually improving Western, which features pin-point passer Tony Swiatek.

"Western's not a bad ball club, who knows what could happen," said Shonta wistfully.

Edwards first year as coach was a successful one

Golfers finest effort gets 8th

Northville's golf team shot its finest score ever in state tournament competition but could only manage an eighth place finish in the Michigan State Class A golf championships held at Binder Park Course in Battle Creek Saturday.

"I thought the kids did pretty well," said first year coach John Edwards. "They were both satisfied and frustrated with the results."

The Mustangs shot a four team, 18 round total of 334, only 12 strokes behind eventual champion Grandville. Last year the squad shot a 340 but finished third in the state.

Dave Koch of Birmingham Seaholm won individual medalist honors with a par 72 on a cold, rainy day.

For Northville, Chip Chamberlin led the way individually with an 80, followed by Don Dales' 83, Steve Pyett's 83 and Kirk Mack's 86.

"We were disappointed that we didn't win. We felt we were one of 10 teams which had a chance for the title," added Edwards.

Edwards said Binder Park wasn't an easy course.

Novi bounces foe; seeks title tie Friday

Novi has a shot at a berth in the state playoffs. See page 2-C.

Novi combined a little bit of lightning with a little bit of muscle to wallop winless Port Huron Central, 35-23 in a non-league game played at the Port Huron school Saturday afternoon.

The non-league game was quickly added early last month when Southeastern Conference member Ypsilanti Lincoln dropped football following a millage defeat.

Novi reenters SEC play this Friday when Milan comes to town at 7:30 p.m. A Wildcat victory would ensure a tie for the SEC title.

The victory was the fifth straight in six games this year for the Wildcats following an opening season opening loss to Northville.

Novi scored the second time it had the ball when quarterback Randy Wroten scampered four yards on a draw play to climax an 86-yard grind 'em out march down field. The Wildcats were aided by two 15-yard penalties against the host Cougars.

Soccer style place kicker Steve Madeiros, who was perfect all night, booted his first of five extra points to put the Wildcats in front 7-0 with 6:30 left in the first quarter.

Central came right back following the touchdown with a score of its own. On their first play from scrimmage following the kick off, the Cougars connected on a 60-yard pass to the Novi one-yard line. On the next play they scored with three minutes left in the quarter. The extra point was good and the quarter ended tied at seven.

But that was it for the Port Huron squad. Tom Morris, substituting for the injured Andy McComas at halfback, dashed four yards for a touchdown half way through the second quarter to give Novi the lead it never lost, 14-7.

Morris' jaunt ended a 45-yard march which began following a fumble recovery.

Madeiros again kicked the extra point.

A fumble recovery led to the Wildcats' third scored with just 50 seconds left in the half. Novi pounced on the errant ball at the Cougar eight-yard line.

Wroten immediately hit junior split end Bob Blackmer with an eight yard pass for the score. Madeiros again was perfect and Novi led 21-7 at half time.

Lightning struck twice for the Wildcats in the second half. Following a Cougar punt, Novi took the ball over on its own 45-yard line. Wroten dropped back to pass and hit tight end Dave Pisha.

The sophomore tight end cut against the grain and dashed in for a touchdown with eight minutes left in the third stanza. Madeiros kicked the extra point.

The Wildcats final score came following a fumble midway in the final quarter when Wroten, on the first play from scrimmage, darted 45 yards for the score. Madeiros game and its highest point game and it's highest point total of the season.

The Cougars scored solo touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters using the pass to, complement one long and one short drive. Both times the team converted two point conversions to boost its total to 23.

Big quarters aid Ladycats

Two high scoring quarters assured Novi's Ladycats of victory last week as the girls' cage squad continued to roll along unbeaten.

Once beaten — in Southeastern Conference Play — South Lyon visited the Novi gym last Thursday. The Lion cagers made a game of it for three quarters before falling 34-13 because of a 16 point fourth quarter by the Ladycats.

In fact, the score at halftime was only 10-8 in favor of Novi.

"Both teams came out fired-up and nervous and the turnovers were just insane," said Ladycats coach Chris Hayward. "We had more turnovers in the first half than we average in a game."

The Ladycats also blew two wide open layups early in the struggle.

But the hosts began to get their act together in the third quarter when they outscored the Lions, 8-3.

With the game still close midway in the fourth quarter, Lion's coach Sue Smith yanked her first string after one of her girls was called for elbowing.

"She didn't tell me why she did it," said Ms. Hayward.

With the first stringers gone, the Ladycats rolled up 16 points in the final quarter, compared to South Lyon's two.

Ms. Hayward said the contest was a rough affair, with the visitors throwing a lot of elbows around — and getting caught doing it.

Novi's defensive star Laura Birou held South Lyon's high scoring Nada Obrenovich to just one point. She had been averaging 18 points a game. Annie Robinson led Novi in scoring with nine points.

Two days earlier, Milan came to Novi and again it was a big quarter which was responsible for the Ladycats 39-23 win.

Novi had a narrow 9-6 lead after the first quarter but blew out the visitors in the second stanza with an 18-5 spurt. The two teams played even in the second half.

"This seems to be a trend, we put the game away with one big quarter," acknowledged Ms. Hayward, who can't explain why.

She said the Ladycats big quarters have been the second and fourth.

Birou played another outstanding defensive game, holding high scoring Yvonne Joplin of Milan to just three points.

"Laura did it all night, she just played tough," said Ms. Hayward of her 5'11" junior center-forward. She also fed the ball to center Annie Robinson, who led the team in scoring with 19 points, 15 in the first half.

"We have one goal," continued the fifth year coach, "no one person will ever beat the Ladycats."

The way it's going this season, it seems no one team will beat them either.

The Ladycats now have finished the first half of the SEC schedule unbeaten, but even the usually optimistic Ms. Hayward is a bit concerned.

"The toughest teams we've played, Brighton and South Lyon, we play on the road the second time around, so we've got to play our best."

Novi's record is now 11-0 overall and 6-0 in league.

The baby Ladycats upped their overall record to 6-4 and league record to 3-3 with a pair of high scoring wins last week.

Jane McAllen scored 15 points and Tracey Subkow 11 in a 42-25 win over South Lyon. The same two girls scored 18 and 11 points respectively in a 40-23 romp over Milan.

"We changed our offense and yelled and screamed a little to get the girls moving," Ms. Hayward explained.

Winning only half battle in gaining berth in complex state grid playoffs

As if John Osborne doesn't have enough on his mind these days, what with Milan, South Lyon and Airport to play. Now he has to worry about Detroit Austin, Divine Child and Inkster.

It's not that the Novi head football coach will have to play these latter three squads, it's the fact that he doesn't have to play them that is causing the anxiety.

You see quietly, virtually unnoticed, the Wildcats have moved up to number three spot in the Michigan State High School Athletic Association (MSHAA) Class B regional football playoffs.

Getting to the top spot means Novi has to knock off its final three opponents, Milan, South Lyon and Airport, while Austin, Divine Child and Inkster have to lose to such schools as Bishop Borgess, Detroit Catholic Central, Ecorse and so forth.

Osborne's first concern is winning the Southeastern Conference championship, a feat seemingly within reach. "Once that happens he can sit back and ponder — and cheer — for various schools who he's probably never even seen play.

"We've got an outside shot at the playoff berth," acknowledges the 37-year-old coach, who likes the playoff system.

Indeed, as of last week Austin led in the region with 83.2 points, Divine Child was second with 78.4, Novi third with 74.2 and Inkster fourth with 66.2.

Initiated three years ago by the MSHAA to satisfy everyone's thirst for a number 1 team in four classes, the system awards points to teams based on wins and ties.

For example, a team gets 80 points for knocking off a Class A school, 64 for beating a Class B school, 48 for Class C and 32 for Class D.

Points are awarded similarly for ties.

And there's a bonus system where a team gets eight points of one of its past victims wins, or four points if it ties. It gets a bit more involved. Total points are then divided by the number of games played.

For example, if Novi knocks off a Class A school it gets 80 points. If that Class A school wins the rest of its games, Novi will pick up a ton of points.

If Novi loses to a Class A school, as it did against Northville, it's not penalized. And if Northville goes on to knock off a lot of Class A schools, it will help Novi.

Teams which play tough schedules are rewarded by the point system.

Last year Livonia Franklin lost one game, but the caliber of its opposition was so great that it qualified and eventually won the Class A title.

Schools are divided into classes based upon student population. The theory has it that the more students upon which to draw means a better chance of getting more and bigger athletes.

It's a theory that everyone accepts and, with the unique exception of River Rouge High School in basketball, has held true to form throughout the years.

Except there's a Catch 22 in all of this, and Novi is the victim.

Although Austin and Divine

Child are small parochial schools, when it comes to sports it doesn't just rely on student population, but recruiting, to lure blue chip athletes.

"I think Divine Child had 11 of its players last year get college scholarships," said Osborne of the defending Class B state champs.

Indeed, those schools, through tradition and outstanding programs they say, attract good athletes. Also, many Detroit youngsters who prefer not to go to Detroit schools find their way to the parochial schools.

And many suburban parents just prefer to give their youngsters a private Catholic education.

So while Austin and Divine Child may be Class B population-wise, sports-wise they're Class A.

"Maybe we're the most pure Class B school ranked this year," joked Osborne. All Osborne and his Wildcats can do now is win on Friday night, sit back and read the newspapers Saturday morning to see who beats whom.

Athletes of the Week

LAURA BIROU

Basketball played properly is a team sport and the Ladycats Laura Birou is an outstanding team player. Last week the 5'11" junior guarded two high scoring opponents and virtually shut them out as the Ladycats remained unbeaten. Often double-teamed, Birou unselfishly passes the ball to open teammates, like Annie Robinson, who scored 28 points last week thanks largely to Birou.

TOM MORRIS

Novi football player Tom Morris became a star in Saturday's win over Port Huron Central. The 5' 10" 175-pound junior halfback came off the bench to replace an injured starter and rushed for 107 yards in 11 carries. Including one touchdown. Morris also was the Wildcats only bright light on pass defense, knocking down two passes and nearly picking off a third.

ANDY CONDER

Andy Conder isn't a swimmer, but she's a vital cog to the Northville swimming team. Conder is a diver. Last Thursday she made her presence felt with a record breaking feat which insured victory against Churchill. The junior scored 171.7 points, topping her own record of 168.3 set last year. If Conder can improve her score by five points she'll qualify for the Detroit News swim meet this weekend.

KEVIN CORCORAN

Grizzer Kevin Corcoran starred three ways on the football field for Northville in its defeat of Canton Saturday. The 6'0 190 pound senior linebacker had seven first hits and six assists, caused one fumble and ran another 17 yards for a touchdown. As a wide receiver, the speedy Corcoran caught one pass for five yards. And his booming punts kept Canton in poor field position all evening.

Colts beaten

The Colts varsity lost their first junior league football game of the season, falling to the Garden City Panthers, 12-0 Sunday. The Colt frosh lost to the young Panthers by an identical score.

The junior varsity, however, salvaged the day, ripping the Panther JV team, 20-0 thanks to three touchdowns by Todd Parsons.

Western wins

Illness plagues netters

The season ended as it began for Uta Filkin and her Northville tennis team, with illness causing unexpected defeat.

Mrs. Filkin's number three and four singles players, Paula Horst and Marie Maglia, were missing from the line-up and the resulting juggling of players led to a 4-3 defeat at the hands of Western at the Northville courts last Friday.

The loss dropped the Mustangs league record to 2-3 and overall mark to 6-8. The Western Six league championship being played at Canton today, concludes the season for the girls.

"It's hard to play if you never have a complete line-up," moaned Mrs. Filkin, who has faced that situation too many times this year.

With Horst and Maglia present Mrs. Filkin said she would have won the Western match.

Northville picked up its points in the top three singles contests.

Number one singles Lori Hopping won 6-0, 6-0, number two player Becky Albus won easily too, 6-1, 6-0.

Margo Baranowski, ordinarily a doubles player, was rushed into number three singles play and she responded with a hard fought 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 victory.

All the girls are expected to be ready for the league meet and Mrs. Filkin predicts no less than a second place finish in the Western Six if all play up to snuff — and if the seedings go right.

Four seniors are ending their high school careers for Northville at the league meet. They are: Becky Albus, Cathy Herbel, Sherrie Kaiponen and Claudia Riegner.

UTA FILKIN

Coach has baby

Uta Filkin struck a blow for women everywhere when she gave birth to a girl Monday, less than 24 hours before she was to coach the Northville girls' tennis team in the Western Six championships.

Ironically, just hours before she was rushed to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, she had joked on the phone with a reporter about fighting a neck and neck battle with the stork and her coaching responsibilities.

Mother and daughter, Nanda, are reported doing fine.

It is the third child born to Mr. and Mrs. David Filkin and the couple's second daughter.

Now the Filkins have enough people in the family to play a set of doubles with a linesman to call points.

Lennis Horst, an area tennis instructor and friend of Mrs. Filkin, coached the Northville girls at the league meet.

Tankers break 2 marks in victory

Paced by the record breaking performances of juniors Andy Conder and Vida Mikalonis, the Northville swimming team upended nemesis Livonia Churchill in swimming last Thursday, 90-82 at Churchill.

The defending Western Six champs had lost three straight matches, two outside of league competition, before Thursday afternoon's win.

"We had a lot of second and third place winners," said coach Debbie Brinkman, "and that gave us the win." Ms. Brinkman also had Conder and Mikalonis.

Conder broke her own diving record when she totaled 171.7 points. Her old record, set last year, was 168.3.

The Mustangs Barb Jones gave her team an unexpected lift when she finished second behind Conder.

All-American Vida Mikalonis shattered the 200-yard freestyle mark set by Kyle Roggenbuck last year.

Mikalonis swam a 2:06.8, bettering Roggenbuck's mark of 2:07.6. Mikalonis also captured the 100-yard butterfly.

Other winners for Northville were Roggenbuck in the 50 and 100-yard, freestyle, and the 200-yard medley relay team of Lori Herguth, Carol McLaughlin, Janet Shaw and Krysten VanKentergham.

The victory put a smile and confidence back in Ms. Brinkman's face.

"The league meet is really going to be something. Churchill, Western and Harrison are good and Canton's a coming team. And then there's us," said Ms. Brinkman in obvious understatement.

The Mustangs record is now 7-3 overall and 3-1 in league play.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

Enter Today! You May Be A Winner!

HERE ARE THE RULES

Take a plain piece of paper and number down the left hand side from 1 to 16. You will notice that each square below is also numbered from 1 to 16 and each contains a football game to be staged this coming weekend. To complete your entry you must do the following:

- (1) after each number on your paper write the name of the sponsor of the corresponding square
- (2) following the sponsor's name — write the name of the winning team.
- (3) in addition you must pick a score on the outcome of the game in square 16. This will be used in the case of a tie and then the contestant whose score is closest to the actual score will be declared the winner.

Be sure to write your name, address and phone number plainly on your piece of paper (your entry). In case of tie, prize money will be split.

NOTE: Only ONE entry per HOUSEHOLD family per week. Prize money paid only to name on entry. PLEASE do not enter several times using friends' names. Such entries will be disqualified if discovered.

Copies of the contest will be posted at the Northville Record office at 104 W Main each week.

Entries should be addressed "Football Contest" Northville Record, 104 W. Main, Northville and must be postmarked or brought to our office no later than 5 p.m. each Friday.

Employees of The Northville Record—Novi News or sponsoring merchants are not eligible.

Entry forms available without charge in our office. Winners announced in paper and posted in office.

What made it worse for his team, he said, was that the boys had to tee off on the back nine where the most difficult holes are.

"Psychologically it hurt us to some degree. On the first nine you can play over your mistakes, you can't do that on the back nine," said Edwards, who pointed out that Pyett shot a 48 on the back nine but fired a 37 on the front nine.

Consistency was the key word for the Mustangs success. The team shot a 333 in winning the regional and under adverse conditions Saturday came back with a 334.

Last week the Mustangs captured their seventh straight Western Six golf crown.

Coach John Osborne had mixed feelings about his team's showing. "We did get a lot of points but we weren't smooth. And our pass defense didn't play well."

"But it was a tough week to prepare after coming off the big win over Brighton. I don't think we took Central serious enough, but then I think that came from the coach," Osborne laughed.

Novi was hampered by injuries. Three first stringers, McComas, defensive halfback John McMurray and tight end John Pisha didn't play, while three more starters, tackle Jon Buck, defensive halfback Rick Pretty and runner Andy Raddant left the game with injuries.

All are expected back for the Milan game.

Last Friday, Milan upended Chelsea in SEC play, and that victory worries Osborne.

"Their coach (George Genyk) had never beaten two SEC teams since he took over in 1972. One of them was Chelsea and we're the other," said Osborne, trying to find a reason for concern.

Milan is a small but aggressive team which is led by star runner Mike Love, a 5'11" 180 pounder.

The Big Red combine passing and running quite well, according to Osborne.

But so does Novi. In Saturday's game, Wroten rushed for 110 yards in 15 carries and completed five of nine passes for 100 yards. Morris picked up 107 yards in 11 carries. For the game, the Wildcats picked up 253 yards on the ground in 37 attempts.

Tie in grid contest

Judges had to go to the tie-breaker in determining all three winners in last week's football contest.

Even so, two contestants tied and hence will share both first and second place money. They are G. E. Gross of 24888 Apple Crest Drive and Ardyce L. Feole of 19477 Maxwell. Both were 21 points off the actual score of Missouri's 34-24 victory.

Taking third place with 23 points off the mark was Don Engstrom of 19710 Dearborn Court, Highland Lakes.

All three of the winners had three wrong picks out of 16.

Two others also submitted entries with just three mistakes but their guessed scores of that Missouri-Nebraska game were not as close. Fin O'Leary was 24 points off the mark, Ron Watkins 27 points off.

Interestingly, only Engstrom correctly predicted Missouri's victory.

Fifteen persons submitted entries with four mistakes, 32 had five wrong picks, 29 had six mistakes and all the other entries contained seven or more wrong picks. And one of the latter picked only one of the 16 games.

Among the most missed games was Iowa's 22-12 victory over Minnesota, Oklahoma State's 31-24 triumph over Oklahoma, and Michigan State's 31-23 win over Illinois.

More sports on page 4-C

The intensity of football is still the same for these Novi youngsters

Philosophy distinct in this

Novi grid league for kids

Dennis Lampron stresses the philosophy.

"We're trying to get away from having winners because that means you have losers. Why should a youngster bear the burden of being a loser?"

The 32-year-old school teacher, along with Jim Fry, Father Lester Harding and John Shoup, coach 44 fourth and fifth grade grade boys and girls from Novi's three elementary schools in the city's parks and recreation department's flag football league.

Although the five-week program has a strong philosophical foundation, the four coaches aren't overlooking the fundamentals.

"We teach the kids all of the skills of football. Everyone gets to play every position, once, regardless of ability or size. And everyone gets to play," says Lampron, who is galled by the fact that even in little league football only the best kids wind up playing.

In its third year, the program emphasizes that youngsters play their best. No scores or statistics are kept.

And even though the kids know which team scored more points or played better, they apparently aren't concerned.

"The kids are enthusiastic and the program has grown every year," notes Lampron, a former paratrooper who donates his salary from the program to the United Foundation.

Lampron does believe in competition and discipline. It's just that the bearded kindergarten teacher at Novi Woods, who competes in kayak racing, feels that sports has now come to mean winning.

"We're just trying to introduce another facet of what sports is into the kids lives. Winning should be incidental," he says.

Richard Ling better

Richard Ling was reported in satisfactory condition in Botsford Hospital Monday afternoon.

A member of the Novi golf team, Ling was accidentally hit in the head by a golf club while waiting to tee off before a match two weeks ago at Godwin Glen Golf Club.

The youngster collapsed and then got up, but was taken to Botsford Hospital where he underwent surgery.

Cagers find some offense

Muriel Bedford looks for rays of hope any place she can find them.

So the first year coach of the Northville basketball team was quite pleased with her team's 48-18 loss at the hands of Livonia Churchill.

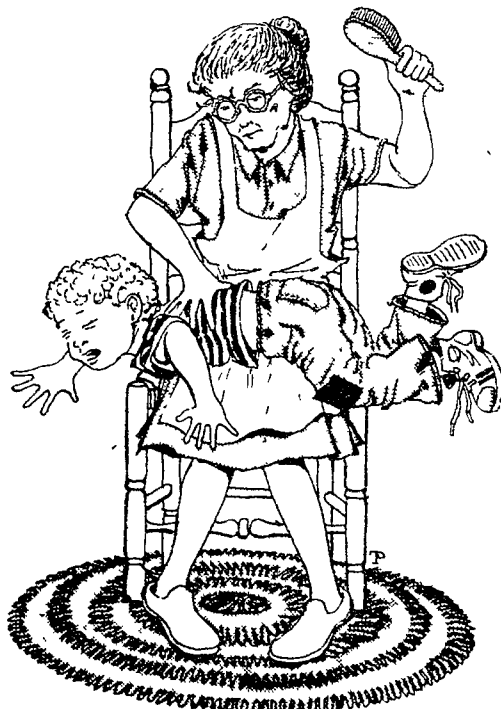

"We played better against Churchill the second time around. The whole team played well and we scored some points," she said.

Two days earlier, Lutheran West had clobbered the young squad, 43-5. Ms. Bedford worked her team hard on offense after that West debacle and the girls responded with a spirited showing.

Ms. Bedford singled out Liz Pixley as an outstanding defensive player and Kathy Belkowski for her all around play in the Churchill loss.

The Northville junior varsity isn't winning but the baby Mustangs have been leading at halftime before falling to the opposition. The JVs are paced by Susie Heinzman.

Harriers slam Mott

The Mustang cross country team tuned up for what promises to be an exciting and close regional meet this Saturday by winning a league meet and finishing fourth in an invitational last week.

The Dearborn Invitational was held Saturday at a winding, secretive course on the campus of the University of Michigan at Dearborn.

Senior Bob Gould, who's getting back into stride after a mid-season slump, paced the Mustangs with a ninth place finish and a 15:44 clocking. As a team, Northville finished fourth out of 16.

First place honors went to Farmington, followed by Wayne then Dearborn Fordson. Farmington won the meet based on the combined time of its top five finishers, an 80:12. Northville ran an 81:23.

"It was a strange course," commented harrier coach Ralph Redmond. "For a mile and a half it's all open, then for the next mile and one half it becomes blind. You lose the runners for six minutes."

Cass Benton's hilly course did in a supposedly strong Mott team last week. Northville slammed the squad (equivalent to a shutout) as the top five Mustang harriers beat out Mott's top runner. Again, Gould was the top finisher.

"They weren't used to the hills," Redmond said.

The victory boosted the Mustangs mark to 12-2 overall and 4-1 in league. The only league defeat came in a narrow loss to Churchill last month.

But Northville has a chance to avenge that defeat. The Western Six meet was held yesterday (Tuesday, October 26) at Cass Benton and Redmond saw the race as a two-team affair between Northville and defending champ Churchill.

(Results of the race weren't available at press time.)

This Saturday, some of the finest cross country teams in the state will meet in the Class A regional 10 a.m. at Cass Benton.

"We've got some great teams coming in," said Redmond, noting that along with highly ranked Churchill and Farmington, will be Garden City East, Livonia Stevenson, Wayne and the two Ann Arbor schools, Huron and Pioneer. The top three finishers go to the state meet in Grand Rapids November 6. "And us," added Redmond slyly.

Johnston shines

Novi's cross country team ended its individual meet season last Thursday much as it began, losing the meet but getting a strong individual performance from Jeff Johnston.

The sophomore ran his best time ever on a flat, fast track, but the Wildcats fell to Saline at Saline, 18-40.

Johnston was clocked in 16:34 on the brutally cold, windy day. Johnston's senior compatriot, Mark McKenney, had a cold and was greatly hampered in the meet.

But Pat Wiseman, a newcomer to Norm Norgren's squad, impressed his coach by knocking a minute off his time.

Novi will participate in the Southeastern Conference meet today, Wednesday, at Cass Benton Park at 3 p.m. and then head to Jackson Saturday for the Class B regional at Sharpe Park.

Mustang JV's nip Hawks in thriller

John Marzoni snuck the ball over from the one-yard line as time ran out and then passed to Toby White for the two point conversion as the Northville junior varsity nipped Farmington Harrison, 8-6 at Harrison last Thursday evening.

Marzoni's effort climaxed a hard-hitting defensive struggle which saw Harrison move the ball all night against the baby Mustangs only to be stopped by Northville's aggressive play or their own errors.

Twice, the Hawks moved the ball down to within the Northville 20-yard line and twice the Mustangs caused Harrison to fumble. Both times defensive end Jeff Norton recovered the ball.

Early in the fourth quarter the Hawks moved 37 yards in nine plays to score the first touchdown. The extra point was missed.

Midway in the final stanza the Hawks marched down to the Mustangs 12-yard line but were stopped on downs.

Northville took over and began the heroic march down field.

Norton and White caught two long passes in the drive which was aided by a pass interference penalty against the Hawks.

Marzoni's last second score climaxed the drive as the buzzer sounded.

Harrison, which rushed for 215 yards and passed for five additional yards, was paced by a runner termed a "baby Bowden" by Northville coach Darrel Schumacher. The young man picked up 162 yards in 33 carries. Mike Bowden is the bullish running back for the Hawks varsity.

Northville gained 112 yards on the ground and 31 by passing. Harrison won the first downs battle, 10 to 8.

Schumacher said the difference in the game, though, was penalties. The Hawks were penalized for 65 yards compared to Northville's 30.

The Mustangs are now 5-1 overall and 2-1 in league play.

DOUG MAIER

Doug Maier given grant

Douglas Maier, a football and wrestling star at Novi High School last year, recently won an academic scholarship from Adrian College.

Because of his football exploits for Wilcats' coach John Osborne last year, Maier received the Vince Lombardi award.

Currently Maier, a freshman, is playing offensive guard for the Adrian football team. He plans to wrestle too. Russ Gardner was his high school mat coach.

Maier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George and Jane Maier of 41831 Sycamore, Novi. He is a member of Holy Cross Church in Novi.

Nursery hosts fathers here

Northville Cooperative Nursery held its first fathers' night of the year October 21 at the scout-recreation building.

Fathers and youngsters helped each other to trace footprints and create original pumpkin pictures. After participating in a song time, everyone had brownies and cookies baked in the nursery school. Next fathers' night will be March 16, 1977.

Next general meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. November 1 at the scout-recreation building.

December 1

Arbor Drugs plans opening

December 1 is the target date for the opening of a Arbor Drugs store in the former Kroger building in Northville.

Complete interior and exterior remodeling of the building was to begin this week, said Gene Applebaum, president of the Arbor Drugs chain.

With the opening here Arbor Drugs will have 14 stores in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Carl Schmitt of Plymouth has been named manager of the store and Larry Borrusch of Northville is to be the assistant manager.

Arbor Drugs purchased the Kroger building from the Kroger Company, which closed its store here in August.

"Unless you see one of our other stores you can't imagine the variety of merchandise we will be carrying," said Applebaum. "We're a pharmacy first, of course, but we offer a complete line of just about everything else."

Applebaum said the firm's store at Middle Belt and Ann Arbor Trail best illustrates what the giant Northville store will be like.

Arbor Drugs, which offers discount merchandise, also operates stores in Walled Lake, Ann Arbor, Dearborn and Dearborn Heights.

The building now owned by Arbor Drugs is located off South Main Street, with access to Dunlap and Hutton streets. Constructed and opened in October of 1961, the building has 14,000 square feet of floor space, and its adjacent parking area can accommodate up to 125 cars.

Since the closing of Kroger, Northville is without a Kroger supermarket for the first time since the early 1940's. The area is served by two remaining supermarkets — Chatham in the city and A&P's new store on Seven Mile Road in the township.

Although Kroger has announced no definite plans, its spokesmen have hinted that another Kroger store may be opened eventually elsewhere in the community.

Ordinance stops front parking

An ordinance establishing standards for driveways and prohibiting parking in front yards of residential lots won approval of the Northville city council at its October 18 meeting.

One resident strongly opposed the measure, while three others spoke in favor of the ordinance. It was passed by the five member council unanimously.

Leon Bonner, Fairbrook, said he objected to the prohibition of parking in front yards because an individual's right to use his land was being taken away.

Mrs. Gunter Albrecht, Wing street, cited "eyesores" where cars are parked in front yards and said that neighboring property values are lowered as a result.

Mrs. Albrecht noted that some owners of houses rent them and do not care where renters park. She said the council has a responsibility to other property owners to see that such conditions cease and she urged the council to pass and enforce the ordinance. She was joined by her husband in support of the proposal.

Ray Klocke, Morgan Circle, said he was speaking for some 150 homeowners of Lexington Commons who support the proposed ordinance.

Bonner said he did not disagree with the theory, and acknowledged that in some instances front-yard parking was detrimental to neighboring residences. But he contended that the city's approach to the problem was wrong, that in his own case the parking of a car in the front yard did not cause an eyesore, and that the ordinance prohibited the use of gravel or crushed stone for driveways. He also said the ordinance did not provide for non-conforming continued use.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie explained that where hard-surfaced front-yard parking areas have been established as a lawful use, or where front-yard parking had been approved as part of a plot plan, they would be permitted to continue. He also pointed out that the ordinance applies to residential, not commercial, parking areas. attorney that non-conforming commercial use of front yards for race track parking would be permitted under the ordinance. He explained that the ordinance would be enforced under the parking violation bureau establishing a fine with enforcement by police.

Councilman Stanley Johnston strongly supported the ordinance and said that instead of working a hardship on Bonner he believed that sodding the area where he (Bonner) now parks would enhance his property value. "This is not a big hardship on you and it is good for the majority," Councilman Johnston concluded.

Councilman Paul Folino called for passage of the ordinance and it received unanimous support of Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilmen Johnston and Wallace Nichols. Councilman Paul Vernon was absent.

Teachers confer on contract hitch

A subcommittee of the Northville Education Association is meeting this week to develop directions for the teachers' negotiating team.

That's the word from Association President Naomi B. Poe, who said the directives are to be presented to the team on Monday.

Mrs. Poe said she expected negotiations to resume soon and she expressed hope that differences between district and teachers "can be resolved."

Meanwhile, "the only action that has been taken officially by the executive board (of the association) has been a motion that members will not engage in any voluntary overtime until agreement is reached," she said.

The executive board rejected the negotiating team's tentative agreement. It found, Mrs. Poe said,

"some aspects of the agreement, in addition to the illegality of the first year's financial settlement unacceptable."

Bid costs pegged at $2.1 million for senior citizens complex here

With their fingers crossed, members of the Northville Housing Commission remain optimistic that prudent trimming can keep the proposed rent for the senior citizens' apartment complex within the targeted range of $200 per month per unit.

Construction of the 101-unit complex, called Allen Terrace, is still expected to get under way yet this year on an 11-acre site just south of the high school on the property formerly housing the Eastlawn Convalescent Center.

Initial analysis of bids suggest that the cost of the project will approximate $2.1 million, according to the Northville Building Authority, which last week tentatively named winning bidders.

Actual awarding of contracts, however, are contingent upon bonding approval by the State of Michigan and satisfactory sale of bonds.

The Building Authority last week, Tuesday, signalled its intention to award contracts to some 40 trades, and then two days later opened new bids of five projects that earlier had been rejected because initial bids for these projects "were not in the best interest of the city." The newest bids are being reviewed now by the architect, and tomorrow the Building Authority probably will name the remaining contract winners.

Rebidding for the latter five projects, one of which included lumber and carpentry, reportedly produced "substantially better" figures — $150,000 or more under the first bids.

Although the approximate $2.1 million cost reflected by the bids is "on target" so far as early architectural estimates are concerned, the Building Authority, acting upon the recommendation of the Housing Commission, is expected to select some alternate work and product suggestions to shave the cost so that rental costs to senior citizens can be minimized.

Also affecting these rental costs is a major unknown — the interest rate the city obtains when finally bonds are sold to finance construction. A higher than anticipated interest rate could drive rental costs up and perhaps even scuttle the project.

According to City Manager Steven Walters, well over 300 applications have been received from people who desire to live in the apartment complex when it is completed next year.

There has been no analysis yet as to how many of the applications are from city residents — who are to receive first priority.

One hundred of the units will approximate the same size, each containing a single bedroom, living-dining room, kitchen, bath and closets, and individual balconies. The 101st unit will be larger, and it is here that the manager of Allen Terrace is to live.

The units are to be entirely self-contained, each being air-conditioned and having its own furnished refrigerator and stove. They will be equipped with television adaptors, and special security TV circuits will permit occupants to see from their rooms visitors who call on them at the central entrance.

All utilities are to be included with the rental cost.

Allen terrace is to include a variety of other conveniences, including a large activities room and kitchen, library facilities, mail room, laundry room, offices, elevator, public toilets, and a large reception patio near the central entrance.

Part of the apartment complex will be four stories in height. It has been designed so that configuration and mechanical provisions will facilitate additions at a later date.

Construction of this first phase of the development is being accomplished through a variety of the construction management concept, with the city itself taking the role of the general contractor. Thus, instead of soliciting bids for general contractors who would assemble costs from trades in presenting overall cost proposals, the city — through the council, the Housing Commission and the Building Authority working in concert — is dealing directly with trades or "subcontractors" as one means of keeping costs down.

Architect for the project is Kamp-DiComo, and the city's construction supervisor is Richard Burton.

The Housing Commission and the Building Authority are council-appointed bodies of citizens living in the community.

Enrollment dips

Enrollment in public schools in Wayne County has dropped by nearly 18,000, or 3.4 percent, according to figures gathered by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Dr. William Simmons, superintendent of the Wayne County Intermediate School District, said the latest count continued a trend of several years.

"This decrease was anticipated due to the declining birthrate in recent years," Dr. Simmons said. "Unfortunately, it contributes to the financial problems of many school districts which will suffer a drop in state aid because they have fewer pupils. The cost of education does not decrease in the same ratio."

The City of Detroit had the largest numerical loss — 11,183 or 4.4 percent of the 254,014 students enrolled in 1975-76.

NOTICE OF ENACTMENT

City of Northville

The City Council of the City of Northville, following a public hearing Monday, October 18, 1976 at City Hall, has adopted an ordinance to Establish Standards for Driveways, and to Prohibit Parking in Front Yards on Residential Lots except on Driveways, Title 5, Chapter 9 as follows:

AN ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH STANDARDS FOR DRIVEWAYS, AND TO PROHIBIT PARKING IN FRONT YARDS ON RESIDENTIAL LOTS EXCEPT ON DRIVEWAYS AS DEFINED HEREIN.

The City of Northville ordains:

That the parking or placing of motor vehicles, trailers and watercraft in front yards shall be prohibited or regulated in the manner set forth below:

Sec. 5-901. For the purpose of this ordinance certain terms and words are herewith defined:

(a) Driveway means that space on a lot not to exceed 12 ft. in width, except where such space forms the apron to the entrance of a garage, specifically designated and used for the movement of motor vehicles, trailers and watercraft between the lot and a public street.

Where the Zoning Ordinance of the City requires site plan approval, driveways shall be those areas designated for parking and vehicular movement on approved site plans.

(b) Front yard means that space on a lot extending the full width thereof and situated between the street line and the front line of the main building on the lot.

(c) Motor vehicle means any self-propelled vehicle, whether operable or not, and includes, but is not limited to, any automobile, bus, truck, pick-up truck, truck tractor, van, recreational vehicle, wrecker or road construction or maintenance equipment or machinery.

(d) Person means any individual, partnership, firm, association or corporation.

(e) Trailer means any contrivance w-o motive power designed for transporting property or persons and for being drawn by a motor vehicle.

(f) Watercraft means any contrivance used or designated for navigation and the transport of persons or property on water and includes but is not limited to any boat, raft, vessel, canoe, ship motor vessel, motorboat or rowboat.

Sec. 5-902 — In all residential districts designated as such in the Zoning Ordinance of the City and in the Zoning map which is a part thereof, it shall be unlawful for any person to park or place a motor vehicle, trailer or watercraft in a front yard. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to

(a) Motor vehicles parked in a driveway or while engaged in actual loading or unloading.

(b) Where prior to the effective date of this ordinance, parking areas were legally established by designating front yard parking on plot plans in connection with plans submitted for building permits.

(c) Where prior to the effective date of this ordinance, parking areas were established front yards as an accessory use to a lawful conforming use by the development of hard surface parking areas.

Sec. 5-903 — Minimum Construction Standards for driveways in Residentially Zoned Areas.

(a) All driveways constructed after the effective date of this ordinance shall be hard surfaced and constructed in accordance with specifications approved by the City Engineer.

(b) All existing gravel areas used for parking which conforms to Sec. 1 (a) above may continue to be used.

(c) All other parking areas shall be brought into conformance with the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 5-904 — Violations — All violations of this ordinance shall be handled pursuant to the provisions of the Parking Violations Bureau Ordinance (Chapter 4-Sec. 5.401 et seq of the Code of Ordinances of the City of Northville).

Sec. 5-905 — All other ordinances of the City of Northville, to the extent that they conflict with the provisions of this ordinance, are hereby repealed.

Sec. 5.906 — This ordinance shall become effective 10 days after enactment and following publication thereof.

Police Blotter: $30,000 worth of equipment stolen

In township

Thieves helped themselves to a 2½ ton stake truck, tools and heavy equipment in what was termed a $30,000 combined robbery-larceny at the LaFave Trucking Company on Beck Road sometime Sunday.

Northville Township Police said they believe the truck was used to cart all the equipment from the scene. Included in the list were several truck tires, engine parts and tape players which were removed from other trucks at the site.

Not only was the truck used as a hauler, it was also used to blast through the locked gate of the fence surrounding the parking area. Later the truck was involved in an accident in Hamburg Township with the driver reportedly fleeing on foot.

When recovered, the truck had been unloaded and completely stripped of anything of value including an air compressor in the cargo area.

Investigating officers reported they are currently working on several good leads in the case.

Police are also investigating an attempted arson to a garage on Franklin Street. Although the fire was never started, police did find several charred pieces of newspaper in both the garage and yard area.

A plastic garbage can was found in the garage stuffed full of wadded newspapers which had been soaked with gasoline. A five gallon can which the owner said was full of gas was found nearby empty nearby.

A young woman walking down Sheldon Road near Five Mile Road Friday afternoon and offered assistance by a police patrol unit was found to be an escapee from the Detroit House of Correction.

Police became suspicious of the young woman who told them she had no identification because she had just been robbed. Since she had just passed the police department and had not reported the robbery, officers contacted the women's section of DeHoCo.

At that time, prison authorities were not aware of any escape. The young woman was later identified as an inmate involved in a work training program in conjunction with the Plymouth State Home. She had slipped away from her work detail at the home just moments before she was stopped by the police.

The woman had been sentenced to the facility in June for three to five years for armed robbery.

An eight-week old Schnauzer pup was reported stolen from its cage at the Own-A-Pet Shop in the Northville Plaza last week. The pup was valued at $169.

The store clerk advised township police that two girls entered the store and were standing by the cages while she was taking care of other animals in the store.

The clerk saw the girls leave the shop and then noticed the puppy missing.

Two female prisoners at the Detroit House of Corrections serving short terms of 13 days and 30 days respectively, escaped from that facility.

They were discovered missing at 11 a.m. October 17 and are still being sought by the Michigan State Police.

Two visitors at the Northville State Hospital were thought to have helped a patient escape from that facility at approximately 9 p.m. October 17.

The male patient was reportedly wearing a robe and pajamas at the time of his escape. A male nurse at the hospital told the Michigan State Police the two visitors provided the patient with transportation after he had pushed his way out of the door.

Police from the 14th precinct in Detroit later reported the escaped patient had been located at his father's home and was returned.

A Northville State Hospital patient was reported missing October 18 after the man walked away from court in Detroit. Hospital authorities said the man could be dangerous if provoked.

The patient was located later at the Crisis Center and returned to the hospital.

A patient on authorized leave from the hospital failed to return at the end of his leave. On October 19, the hospital listed the man, who they said could be dangerous, as missing. He is still being sought by police.

A patient considered dangerous only to his family escaped from the hospital sometime Thursday. Officials at the hospital told police the patient had a grounds pass but failed to return.

St. Paul's school on Elm Street was vandalized sometime between 4 p.m. October 18 and 8 a.m. October 19. A window on the south side of the school was broken with the assailant using a small rock.

Damage was estimated to be $400.

The large front picture window of a home on River Street was also broken last week by a rock-throwing vandal. The owner told police he heard a loud crash and found the window broken.

Glenn Schrock of Plymouth had just returned last week from a trip to Denver, Colorado, bringing back with him 13 cases of Coors Beer.

Schrock parked his car in a city parking lot with the beer stacked on the back seat. When he returned, he found his brew had disappeared.

Police have no leads in the case.

A car parked in a driveway on Canterbury was broken into with a CB radio reportedly ripped from the dashboard. The owner told police the incident occurred between 5:40 p.m. October 19 and 5:40 p.m. October 20.

Besides taking the $150 unit, damage was done to the dashboard of the car.

Unknown assailants broke into the Scout Building on West Cady Street last week by breaking out two panes of glass. Although damage was kept to a minimum and it appeared that nothing was stolen, police are puzzled over the whereabouts of a missing hamster.

The little animal was kept at the building in an aquarium which was found lying on its side on the floor. It is not known if the animal was taken or if it escaped and is somewhere inside the building.

In Novi

A $2,000 1973 Ford Pinto was stolen from a driveway on Gornada last Wednesday but was recovered by Livonia Police the following day.

According to Novi Detectives, four subjects were in the car when it was stopped by Livonia police. A juvenile was driving the car and reportedly admitted to the theft. He will be filed on in juvenile court in Oakland County for theft of the auto and in juvenile court in Wayne County for possession of the stolen auto.

Four scales from the science room of Novi High School were the apparent objectives of two Novi juveniles and a 17-year-old who broke into Novi High School October 20.

According to Detective Robert Starnes, police were called when an alarm inside the high school was set off. Upon checking the high school, police could not immediately locate a point of entry.

While police were checking the high school and the nearby middle school, officer William Brown driving on Taft Road noticed a car exiting the driveway of the middle school with its lights off.

He stopped the car and discovered four scales, valued at several hundred dollars inside. The 16-year-old youngster had a preliminary hearing in juvenile court and was held on $25,000 cash or surety bond. A 15-year-old is also being petitioned. Charges were also being sought against the third subject, a 17-year-old. His name was not released pending arraignment.

A total of $200 in items including two jackets, clothes, calculator, flashlight and other items were taken October 17 from a car in the Novi Inn parking lot at Novi Road and Grand River.

Taken from the store were a Panasonic television, radio and wine with a total value of nearly $200.

Eight packages of bacon from the store were also found in a Beck Road mailbox.

Between September 8 and September 20 a rinse-and-vac floor cleaner was taken from a home in the 24000 area of North Rockledge. Also taken was a Skill hand drill, belt sander and circular saw. The thefts were just reported.

Three sheets of plywood stolen from a home under construction were found in a U-Haul trailer by Novi police after the vehicle pulling the trailer was stopped at Eight Mile and Novi Road.

According to reports, the lumber was taken from a home under construction at Cumberland and Center. Officer received anonymous tips leading to the stopping of the subject vehicle. Two 18-year-old East Lansing men were arrested.

In Wixom

Just how a $10,000 shipment of tape decks disappeared from a Chesapeake and Ohio freight car is a bit of a mystery to railroad police.

The theft was discovered when the train reached Wixom although just where the freight car was burglarized remains a puzzling question.

Railroad officials informed the Wixom Police that the freight car had been sealed prior to its departure from Nashville, Tennessee. On its arrival in Wixom, the door seal was found broken and the contents missing.

An elusive motorist led Wixom Police on a chase which covered almost five miles during the early morning hours October 16.

Even though Daniel Aldrich, 28, of Detroit, managed to crash through a road block set up by the Walled Lake Police, he was ultimately stopped and arrested.

Aldrich was booked on a multi-charge count including fleeing lawful arrest, assault with an automobile, malicious destruction of both a police vehicle and city property and reckless driving.

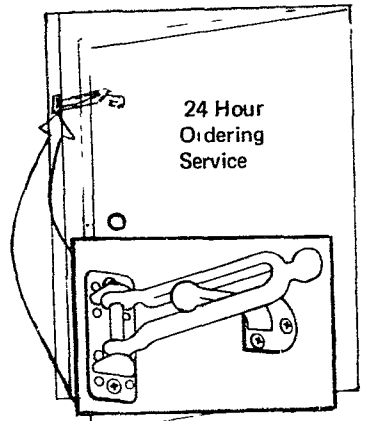

The chase began at the I-96 expressway ramp and Wixom Road. It ended after the round-about chase in the parking lot of the Waterview Farms Apartments on Pontiac Trail.

Two Wixom police vehicles were involved in the chase which went not only down roads but through drainage ditches and across unpaved terrain. Aldrich crashed his vehicle into the patrol units on two different occasions in an effort to elude capture. Aldrich was lodged in the Oakland County Jail following his arrest.

Your Republican State Senator wants a promotion.

Your present Republican State Senator wants to be your next Congressman.

But in September and October of this year, that same man failed to vote on 65 out of 65 roll call votes, as recorded in the Journal of the Senate of the State of Michigan.

It's hard to believe, but it's true — he missed every single vote.

During that time you — the citizens of Livonia, Plymouth, and Northville — had no representation in the votes that went on in Lansing. But your state senator was drawing full pay and expenses — paid by you, the taxpayers.

Dr. Ed Pierce, the Democratic candidate for Congress, was also out campaigning during September and October. But the taxpayers weren't paying him to do it. Nobody was.

Ed took an unpaid leave of absence from his medical center — back on June 1, in fact — because Ed doesn't think that someone should get paid for a job if he's not doing it.

And, unlike the voters of Livonia, Plymouth and Northville, Ed's patients aren't being neglected; other doctors are keeping the medical center he founded going strong.

So, on November 2nd, you decide who gets a promotion. The senator, who takes his pay but doesn't vote, or the family doctor, with a proven record of hard work and service.

Novi considers request

Arcade seeks law change

Novi City Council will soon be taking a long hard look at the city's pinball ordinance in an effort to determine if it may just be too stringent in its controls.

Appearing before the city council, Sanford Sulkess, an owner of the Novi Fun Center in Novi asked that several of the restrictions in Novi's ordinance be removed.

Specifically, he asked that:

- prizes be allowed to be given to winners of tournaments;
- youngsters under 16 be allowed to patronize the arcade; and

• that a guard no longer be required.

"The stereotype associated with arcades no longer exists," explained Sulkess. "There is nothing here detrimental to youngsters."

He explained that under the current ordinance no prizes can be given in tournaments.

"Tournaments for any sport offer prizes," said Sulkess. "We feel we're no different than any other game place. This is not gambling and we do not allow it."

Continuing on, Sulkess said that Walled Lake, Northville and Farmington Hills allow patronization by kids under 16.

"A security guard can do nothing but call police," complained Sulkess further. He added that one former security guard was 80-years-old.

Novi's ordinance requires a security guard whenever an arcade is open for business.

Council lauded Sulkess for the type of establishment he has been running.

"The problem is that even though you run a fine establishment, the next one may not," explained Councilman Philip Goodman of why the council must carefully weigh making any ordinance changes.

Mayor Pro Tem Martha Hoyer added that she wanted input from Police Chief Lee BeGole before making any decision.

November 1 was set as the date that the council would decide if it wants to put into action the machinery to change the pinball ordinance.

Hospital committee seeks postponement

A hospital committee made up of representatives of Novi, Wixom, Wolverine Lake and Walled Lake has recommended that no action be taken on the application for a Huron Valley hospital until further input can be presented.

The committee, which only recently was formed, said in a letter to the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan, "It is our position that there should be no approvals granted or implied to the Huron Valley application until our committee has had sufficient time and dialogue to be included in any hospital planning that affects our communities."

Each state was required under a 1974 act to designate health service areas throughout the state for the purpose of establishing hospitals to service those areas. Oakland, Wayne, St. Clair, Macomb, Livingston, Washtenaw and Monroe Counties have been designated as one of the health service areas.

Establishment of a hospital in the Huron Valley area is being sought there under the program.

At the first meeting of the Hospital committee, John McLellan was named chairman and Karl Ziegler Vice-chairman. Besides McLellan, president of Wolverine Lake Village and Ziegler who is from Novi, other members of the hospital committee are:

Gene Matkowski, Wolverine Lake; Edward Schuchardt, Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council; Pete Holman, Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council; Bonnie Beach, Wolverine Lake; Roger Everett, Novi; Philip Goodman, Novi; Thomas Luchi, Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan; Heather Hill, Walled Lake; Wayne Gleason, Wixom; Johanna V'are, Wixom; Bernard VanOsdale, Wixom; Edward Kriewall, Novi.

Next meeting of the committee is Thursday, November 12 at 8 p.m. at Novi Bicentennial Headquarters, 43325 12 Mile Road.

Lifesaver cited

Bennie Verge (right), an attendant Nurse at Plymouth Center for Human Development, has been awarded a certificate of commendation by Joseph Farrell, chief deputy director of the Michigan Department of Health, for his efforts in saving the life of a choking resident of the center earlier this month. The commendation reads in part, "Your administration of lifesaving techniques, your refusal to give up on efforts to dislodge food which was choking the resident, and your watchful attention at the resident's bedside following the incident are worthy of the special recognition..." The center is located off Sheldon at Five Mile in Northville Township.

Novi school enrollment up

increase of 140 compared with last year's official figure of 2,777.

In the elementary schools, enrollment increased from last year by 66 compared with increases of 35 in 1975 and 36 in 1974. Pupil-teacher ratios in the elementary schools vary from 28.4 at Village Oaks to 26.5 at Novi Woods.

"The reason for the variation is in the density of the residential community serviced by different schools, and changing land use patterns," according to the board report at the last school board meeting. "Smaller schools generally have a lower pupil-teacher ratio as it is more difficult to equalize class size precisely when the school has only one or two sections per grade."

At the middle school, the overall ratio is 23.5, up slightly from last year while the high school is 23.1 approximately the same as last year.

Novi's average in all schools is 24.7 while according to the administration, "a desirable pupil-teacher ratio in terms of economy and efficiency should be 25 pupils per teacher in the homeroom."

According to Superintendent Gerald Kratz, Ph.D., "We're about where we were in 1961" and the ratio is currently lower than the Northville School District.

He added that "in the high school we have some classes with 32 or 33 and in others 17. If you have a German class and 11 kids, what are you going to do, drop it?"

Democrats set meeting

Last minute details concerning the November 2 election is the subject of a special meeting of the Southwest Oakland County Democratic Club which has been called by Chairman Donald Lindemier.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday in the community room of Novi Woods Elementary on Taft Road in Novi. Anyone living in Novi, Northville, South Lyon, Wixom, Walled Lake, or adjoining townships who is interested in working for a candidate is asked to attend.

Lindemier also urged each citizen to vote. With the experts saying there will be a tight turn-out, "We'd like to prove them wrong," said Lindemier.

Lunchtime

Peanut butter and jelly still supreme

By STEVE RAPHAEL

Not much has changed over the years in the school cafeteria at lunch time.

The kids are still noisy, loud, sloppy, funny, cute and downright adorable.

However, a visit to Moraine Elementary School last week during lunch time revealed such startling information that peanut butter and jelly is still the most popular lunch time sandwich although lunch meats are a close second.

Other revelations indicated that lunch boxes aren't as popular as they once were, with the brown paper bag now the preferred package.

Those youngsters who still carry the lunch pails have numerous heroes on them, ranging from "The Fonz," to race cars, to Bicentennial themes, to the perennially popular Disney characters.

Moraine School has 573 students, ranging from kindergarten to sixth grade, and most carry their lunch to school.

The students have 20-25 minutes to wolf down their food and when they are finished it doesn't come a moment too soon for Helen Stevens.

Ms. Stevens tries to feign anger at the kids but she really loves the job, and the kids apparently respect and love her.

She notes that the kids eat their goodies and throw away their sandwiches.

In fact, in a highly random and unselective sample, The Record found that all the kids, 100 percent of them, prefer their Doritos, chips, popcorn and caramel candy to the peanut butter and jelly, corned beef sandwiches or anything else that their parents pack.

"No, we don't like sandwiches," yelled about 15 sixth graders in unison.

"We like chips the best," they yelled, and just as quickly one girl turned to another and scolded, "Get your hair out of my milk."

The kids gave a thunderous boo to lunchbox pails.

"Only fairies bring them to school," said an obviously sophisticated sixth grader.

What do the kids really want?

"We want French fries, we want Coney Islands that slide off the plate, we want McDonalds, Burger King, Burger Chef," they all yelled in unison.

Northville Colony plat

Gets preliminary OK

Preliminary plat plans for Northville Colony subdivision No. 3 were returned to the planning commission for further study by Northville Township Board of Trustees at its October 14 meeting.

Action was taken after the board heard concerns of residents of the area. A main objection was the proposed extension of Marilyn Street as a thoroughfare.

The commission was requested to meet with residents.

Approval was given the offer of Levitt Residential Communities, Incorporated, whereby Levitt will assume responsibility for repair of sanitary sewer damaged in construction. Inspection costs will be divided between the township and Levitt.

The township then is to accept the dedication of the sanitary sewer and water systems.

Approval of water mains and sewers for Smokler-Gordon was granted.

Notice that the City of Northville wishes to terminate the present fire agreement in six months and to develop a new basis on which to share in joint services was received by the board.

On recommendation of trustee James Nowka the motion was approved that the subject appear on the December agenda for the new board to be elected November 2 to consider.

Concerned that only one bid had been received for a new police car, the board tabled action until the next meeting and requested information on whether specifications were too strict.

Treasurer Charles Rosenberg requested that Manufacturers National Bank be named the institution for money now in certificates of deposit.

Action was approved by a split vote with Clerk Clarice Sass and Trustee Richard Mitchell voting no. The police car bid vote passed with the same split.

Mediator enters talks in Wixom

Although the Wixom Police Department and the City of Wixom agree significant progress has been made in their attempts to negotiate a new labor contract, a state mediator has been contacted in order to reach a final settlement.

The police contract, which expired in June, has been extended on a day-to-day basis during negotiations.

"We have already negotiated a fair share of the new contract with significant progress in the areas of contract language and administration," said Assistant to the Mayor Bernard VanOsedale.

"However, he added, "we have become bogged down in our efforts to reach an agreeable economic package."

VanOsedale said he felt the city has offered the department an extremely fair economic package, a feeling, he said, was shared by those councilmembers attending a closed executive session Thursday night.

Steven Rynecki, the Wisconsin-based labor relations lawyer retained by the city, was present at that meeting to discuss the contract talks thus far.

Apparently the police negotiating team does not agree with the city's stand on economics and has agreed to enter arbitration.

A mediator has been contacted by the two teams but as yet there has been no response to the request. VanOsedale said the delay could be due to what is thought to be a heavy case load.

Similar negotiations have been entered into between the Department of Public Works employees and the city. Those employees appear to be "waiting in the wings" until final agreement on the police contract is reached.

For You

Carl with Mark, Kathy, Philip and Elliott the wonderdog

"What our Congressman does here at home is just as important as what he does in Washington. I'm committed to be your local Congressman."

PURSELL'S PRIORITIES

- Carl supports strong national defense. Calls his opponent's plan for a 20 to 50% defense cut "National suicide".
- Carl supports absolute local control of schools, which he believes would be undermined by his opponent's proposal for regional financing
- Carl believes government should BALANCE ITS BUDGET. His opponent publicly proposes deficit budgets in "hard times" and tax increases when the economy recovers.
- Carl believes in "NO STRINGS" REVENUE SHARING for local governments and local schools, to bring a fair share of our tax dollars back into our communities and hold down local taxes.
- Carl believes we should work to improve the QUALITY OF LIFE for all, by improving our present society, not creating a radical new one. His opponent proposes "redistribution of income" while Carl seeks ways to allow people to keep more of their income

FOR 6 YEARS CARL PURSELL HAS SERVED AS OUR WIDELY RESPECTED STATE SENATOR. HERE ARE A FEW OF HIS ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

- New State Police Post and Crime Lab at Northville to protect our communities.
- Program to REVIVE Newburgh, Wilcox and Phoenix LAKES-including new docks and fish stocking.
- New VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL CENTER at Schoolcraft Community College.
- Outdoor recreation program, including S.E. Michigan's finest bicycle path.
- VOLUNTARY YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL operations, to promote efficiency and hold down taxes.
- RESOURCE RECOVERY LAW — to solve critical environmental problems and create jobs in a new recycling industry.
- 1976 "ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AWARD" in Michigan from Federal E.P.A. for Resource Recovery Law.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Race of 12 Mile Road celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary last week by having dinner with several members of their families. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Glance of Stassen Street have returned from spending several weeks up North. Mr. Glance went fishing in Canada while Mrs. Glance stayed with relatives in Saginaw.

When Mr. and Mrs. Ed Callan of Meadowbrook Road returned from attending the Fall Festival in Watertown, Wisconsin recently, they received the news of their son Harold's engagement to Jackie Weber, a teacher of music at Marantha Bible College.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Taylor of Meadowbrook Road have returned from a two week trip to California. While out there, they visited former 12 Mile residents, Carl and Ardena Leavenworth who are now living in Silvano, California. Christine Caswell of Owenton celebrated her 16th birthday last weekend, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Asa Caswell celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. F'gepart of Meadowbrook road hosted a birthday party for their grandson Jeremy who celebrated his seventh birthday with several of his school friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Sizeland have moved from South Lake Drive to Rose City, Michigan while Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brewer are now residents of South Lake Drive.

James Alan Wilenius is the name of the baby boy born to Mr. and Mrs. James Wilenius on October 14. He was 6 pounds 13 ounces and 22 1/2 inches long. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Wilenius of Clark Street. He joins a sister Dainna at home.

A birthday celebration at a family dinner at the home of the Ed Dobek was for their daughter Linda Witmen of Westland and daughter-in-law Nancy Dobek now of Brighton as both celebrated their birthdays recently.

Bob Caswell of Owenton has returned from salmon fishing in Benzonina County and was fortunate to get a 43 pound Chinook Salmon.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Killeen of Beck Road were former residents Mrs. Garland (Jean) Killeen and son Jeff, now of Bellaire, Michigan. They were guests of honor at a family dinner on Sunday prior to Jeff leaving for a tour of duty for 13 months overseas starting with his being stationed in Korea.

The Jaycee Auxiliary have received the forms to order Christmas cards from the following organizations: Michigan Cancer Foundation, American Cancer Society and Children's Leukemia Foundation. Anyone in the community wishing to order these cards, which can be imprinted, should call Cathy Crawford at 349-5079.

Novi Senior Citizens

The Novi Senior Citizens met at the Novi Community Building Tuesday, October 26 at 7 p.m. Following the business meeting a Halloween party was held. An announcement was made that the Cadette Girl Scout troop will be participating in some of the Senior Citizens activities this year. This troop is led by Annette Skellenger and Fran Kohl.

The next craft class will be at the Novi United Methodist Church, Wednesday, November 2 at 9 a.m. The group voted to start learning macrame. Anyone interested in more details should call Albina Kraft for a list of supplies. The next covered dish luncheon will be November 10 at noon at the Novi United Methodist Church, 41671 10 Mile Road. Mrs. Clare Perdew is still in St. Mary's Hospital while Mr. Gus Schenk and Mr. Ray Little are now home but cards would be appreciated.

Cub Scout Pack No. 54

The committee meeting was held at the home of Mary Ann Weber and plans were made for the next pack meeting on Wednesday, October 27 at 7:30 p.m. at Novi Woods School. Note the change from Tuesday to Wednesday.

Also discussed was fund raising with special thought to an A & P day when the new store opens up in Novi. There is a need for used Cub Scout uniforms. Anyone having any, please call Mrs. Mary Ann Weber at 349-5022.

The Pack had a good time on its outing last week when everyone went to the Franklin Cider Mill. One of the Girl Scout Troops from Novi Woods accompanied the Pack.

Rebekah Lodge

Five members attended the 92nd Annual Rebekah Assembly in Grand Rapids on October 17-20. The next regular lodge meeting will be October 28 when those attending Edgewood visitation on October 27 will give a report.

Plans will be made for the Rummage Sale and Bake Sale to be held at the Lodge Hall on November 5. Pricing will be on November 4. Chairman of the Rummage Sale is Nellie Rackov. The Past Noble Grands had a good turnout at their meeting on October 21 at the home of Thelma Cheeseman.

Novi Community Band

The band has now grown to approximately 35 members but there is still need for several percussion instruments, trumpets, cornets, a bassoon, alto and bass clarinet are needed. Plans are being made for several concerts throughout the year so if you do play one of the above instruments, you are urged to call Debbie Hofstee at 349-8088. A reminder that any organization wishing to book the band, which is normally no charge, should call the above number also.

Novi Jaycee

The Haunted House is continuing through this week on Novi Road between Nine Mile and 10 Mile from 6:30 p.m. - 11:00 p.m. except for Friday and Saturday when it will be open to midnight. These two days Sir Graves Ghastly will be appearing on Friday from 6:30 - 10:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 3 - 10:30 p.m. The next regular business meeting of the Jaycees will be November 2 at the Holiday Inn at 8 p.m.

North Novi Civic Association

At their meeting last week plans were completed for the Halloween Party to be held on Saturday, October 30, at the Novi Community Building from 7-9 p.m. for any child in the community through 12 years of age. The only admission is a bag of candy. Prizes will be given for costumes in various age groups and refreshments of hot dogs, donuts and pop will be served. Anyone wishing more information about the trash pickup in the North area for $3.50 plus big items the first week of the month can call LaVerne Reinke at 624-7484.

Novi Blue Star Mothers

Sixteen members attended the 34th anniversary luncheon at Jimmy's in South Lyon last Thursday. The group was organized in 1942 by Laney Henderson who was also present. The ladies were presented corsages by the present president, Winnie Dobek and a party was held following the luncheon. Several members are planning on attending the Veterans Day ceremonies at the Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor on November 11. This will be in place of the regular November meeting. Word has been received from member Mrs. Ruben Ward that her husband has broken his leg at their home in New Port Ritchie and members are asked to send cards.

Novi Youth Assistance

Plans are going ahead with President Clara Porter meeting with school and City personnel to discuss the upcoming meeting with Dayton Hudson officials regarding effects this project will have on the youth in the area. Mrs. Porter also met with officials from the Senior Youth Employment Service located at the Novi Elementary School this week to discuss employment opportunities for Novi young people. There is still a need for personnel to work on Youth Assistance programs in Novi. If you are interested call 349-6876.

Friends of the Library

Friends of the Library are now working hard on planning the Book Fair scheduled to begin November 1 at 1 p.m. and continue during regular library hours through Friday and Saturday. There will be a wide selection of books, calendars, activity sets, and gift giving ideas. Helping the members will be Mark and Barry Hyman of Bookmark in Northville and the soon to open store in Novi at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook.

The Friends hope to have something for everyone in the family and would hope you would consider doing your Christmas shopping with list in hand as there will be things for the hard to buy. Beside the new items, there will be a selection of used books. Why not take this opportunity to visit the new library and get a start on Christmas shopping or just something for yourself to snuggle up with on the long cold winter evenings ahead.

NESPO

The next meeting will be November 9 at the new North Woods School. This is open to all parents and officers are looking forward to meeting any new people in the area. The group will be discussing Sweatshirt sales and other projects for the very near future. Anyone wishing information on the organization should call the school or president Diane Canup at 348-1822.

Novi Highlights

Novi Jaycee Auxiliary

The Auxiliary had a successful plant party at their open meeting at the Bicentennial Building on October 26. Six members also staffed the Swine Flu Clinic that day at Novi elementary and others will be working on the one scheduled for November 10 at Novi Woods. A C.P.R. class is open to the public on November 9 at the Village Oaks Clubhouse. For reservations call Bobbie Breitberg at 349-5689. Other plans include on November 3, taking several dancing students from Miss Elaine's studio to both the Nursing Homes at Beverly Manor and Whitehall.

Novi Cub Scout Pack 240 Orchard Hills

On Saturday, October 16, the boys went on a Pumpkin Patch Pilgrimage. They all met at the Orchard Hills Parking Lot and then went to purchase their pumpkins for Halloween. The first pack meeting of the year was held on Tuesday, October 19 with the Flag Ceremonies being presented by the Webelos. There was an induction of new boys as Bob cats and the 10-year-old boys into Webelos. During the candlelight ceremony, the boys were surprised with a visit from "Akela". Following the ceremonies they had a mock election with the following candidates being campaigned for by the various dens: O. J. Simpson, Drew Pearson, Mark Fidrych and Willie Horton. Awards were presented for service, attendance, etc. Next Committee meeting will be November 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Living Lord Lutheran Church, place subject to change.

Novi Girl Scouts

The troops are getting underway with registrations due in between November 1 and 15. Some of the troops activities include a trip to Grimes for pumpkins by Brownie troop No. 842 from Village Oaks. On October 21 Junior Troop No. 1027 went to Parmenters Cider Mill. Also Brownie Troop No. 519 will be visiting the mill on November 4. The Cadette troop with 18 in attendance went to Kensington Park for a cookout at their regular meeting time. On October 23, they helped with the hayride for handicapped children at Copp's Riding Stable. Calendar Sales begin November 13. Anyone not contacted by a Scout may call 349-5713. All registered adults are asked to set aside the date of November 16 for the area meeting of Farmington Novi adults.

Parents without Partners

A family dinner was held on October 24 at the Clamdiggers in Farmington Hills. Several members will be leaving for Toronto on Friday, October 29. Everyone is reminded of the Halloween Party for adults in the Novi-Northville, Livonia, Plymouth Canton at the Plymouth American Legion. The Halloween party for the kids will be at the Legion also in Plymouth at 1 p.m. on October 31 and again, the other chapters will be there. Anyone wishing to obtain a copy of the newsletter, should send $3 to Parents without Partners, 214 N. Wing, Northville.

Supporting role

Foundation supports called steel H pilings are currently being put into the ground at the site of the temporary Novi Road—I-96 bridge being constructed just west of the current structure. The temporary bridge, which is expected to be in use two years, will cost about $450,000, approximately half of what the permanent seven lane bridge will cost. The permanent bridge is part of a new interchange arrangement costing over $9 million which will help accommodate traffic as the Twelve Oaks Mall at 12 Mile and Novi Roads in Novi opens in the fall of 1977.

8 cases reported

Hepatitis hits Northville State

A containment alert was ordered at Northville State Hospital last week following an outbreak of eight cases of hepatitis.

An inflammation of the liver, the disease usually is spread by improper bathroom hygiene. It is not an air-borne disease.

No new cases were reported over the weekend, and Hospital Director John Zugich reported Monday that following a review of the outbreak with Michigan officials it has been concluded that all the preventive measures possible have been instituted to guard against recurrence.

Zugich emphasized that the outbreak is not considered an epidemic.

All eight cases involving patients occurred in one unit of the hospital, he said, and that unit has been isolated pending satisfactory evidence that the danger of the spreading of the disease has been eliminated.

No cases involving employees were reported, although one person is known to be under observation.

Start At The Top And Vote Democratic

Your Congressman sends lots of letters at taxpayers expense.

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED WHAT ELSE HE DOES?

In 20 years in Congress the Incumbent (William Broomfield) hasn't provided leadership for even a single major piece of legislation.

The Incumbent Congressman for the 19th district has voted in favor of the consumer only 18% of the time according to the Consumers Council of America.

On major votes on "Accountability in Government", "Budget Issues", and "Energy Questions", he voted correctly on only one vote of the 17 selected by Common Cause as critical.

He voted to uphold the Ford Veto of the entire Education Budget for this year—but voted $28 million dollars to provide Military Education and Training for soldiers of the Oil-producing countries.

Representing People is a FULL-TIME responsibility

GEORGE F. MONTGOMERY
Rated "Preferred & Well Qualified"
by Oakland Citizens' League (Civic Searchlight), October 24, 1976

On Tuesday, November 2nd, you will select someone to represent you in Lansing for the next 2 years.

What do you expect of that person?

For a salary of $19,000 per year, plus $3,000 in expenses, do you expect your elected representative to devote full-time to the job?

George Montgomery

realizes that representing people is a full-time responsibility. He will set aside his teaching career at Oakland Community College, and will devote all of his energies to representing you.

Do you expect your legislator to take an active part in making law?

GEORGE MONTGOMERY knows that committee work is a vital part of the lawmaking process. He served 3 terms (1965-1970) on the Appropriations Committee of the Michigan House of Representatives. George was appointed to this very important committee as a freshman representative because of his exceptional qualifications. He retained his seat on Appropriations when the Republicans regained control of the House in 1967-68, because they respected the job he had done on the budget bills during his first term.

Do you expect your legislator to be available?

GEORGE MONTGOMERY never sent a constituent away without a courteous hearing during his six years of legislative service. He also took time to talk with many citizens from other districts when they visited the Capitol.

Do you expect your legislator to be effective?

The "seniority system" is a fact-of-life in legislative bodies. If you elect GEORGE MONTGOMERY as your next State Representative, you will be represented by a member of the Majority Party caucus with 4th term seniority. GEORGE MONTGOMERY is an experienced "legislative technician." He not only knows how to get things done — he has a proven record of legislative accomplishments. He was chosen by his colleagues to serve as their Majority Floor Leader in 1969 and 1970.

Do you expect your legislator to be concerned with your problems?

Like many of you, GEORGE MONTGOMERY is a PARENT. He and his wife, Liz, have 3 children attending the Walled Lake Public Schools. He is a HOMEOWNER (in Western Oakland County since 1971). He has been active in community affairs. George likes people. In a very real sense, your concerns are his concerns!

If you are a discerning voter who would like to expect a lot from your legislator, you are in luck. On Tuesday, November 2nd, you have a choice. There is a better man! GEORGE MONTGOMERY can restore the full-time and effective representation you need and deserve.

Murphy blasts HB 6010

Share the wealth concept ripped

Speaking before the Novi Chamber of Commerce last week, Oakland County Executive Daniel T. Murphy charged that "Detroit's governmental leaders and certain legislators have chosen to believe there is a pot of gold in Oakland County, and that it's there for the taking."

Murphy, campaigning for a return to the office he has held for the last two years, charged that the commonly termed "Share the Wealth" plan would call for Oakland County to ship Detroit $6-$10 million a year. The proposed legislation, House Bill 6010, would require a sharing of property taxes from new commercial and industrial taxes in a seven county area in Southeast Michigan.

"In Novi, the results of this bill would be absolutely disastrous," complained Murphy. "Under present law, the Twelve Oaks Shopping Center will yield $320,000 a year to your city in property taxes. But your police department will need between $300,000 and $400,000 a year to meet the demands of this new center, and that is the most conservative estimate."

He added that under the tax base sharing plan, instead of $320,000 of property tax revenue to the city from Twelve Oaks, Novi would only receive $96,000 with Detroit receiving much of the remainder.

"In other words, Detroit gets the gold mine — and you get the shaft," quipped Murphy. Murphy further charged that Detroit employees are overpaid, especially in comparison with employees who have the same job description in Oakland County. And that while Oakland County should help out, it should not do so until Detroit faces up to making some cuts and ending mismanagement problems.

Following the speech by Murphy, Chamber members indicated the hope that Novi government would let its voice be known in the battle against the "Share the Wealth" plan. City Manager Edward Kriewall responded that Novi had led the battle against the plan and had passed a resolution opposed to "Sharing the Wealth" that had become the model plan passed by many other communities throughout the affected areas.

As reported in The Novi News last spring in a series of articles concerning the bill and its effect on local municipalities, Assistant Novi

City Manager John Merrifield went on record that if passed, the "Share the Wealth" plan would bankrupt the City of Novi within three years.

State Representative Richard Fessler said at the time that he opposed the bill but that many outstate representatives might favor passage of the bill in order to subsidize Detroit from the "Share the Wealth" monies rather than from the state treasury. Fessler said that he feared a coalition of the more than 30 Detroit representatives with outstate representatives "tired of putting up money to bail out Detroit." Only 56 representatives would need to vote in favor of the bill to pass it from the House.

City Manager Kriewall told The Novi News last week that the Share the Wealth Bill is currently in the taxation committee of the House and he is hoping it will remain bottled up there.

However, he quickly added that even if it does get to the House floor, "support is dissipating quickly because the suburban communities have been fighting it strongly."

He added that the coalition of outstate and Detroit representatives had dissipated.

"Now the outstate communities are fighting it. They realized that if it works in Detroit, it could work in Flint, Saginaw and a lot of other communities."

Northville GOP Club hears negotiations talk from teachers union

At the October meeting of the Greater Northville Republican Club, Dwight Seigreen, Northville Township precinct delegate and a member of the Northville teachers' negotiating team, was introduced by R. Robert Geake, 19th District State Representative.

Seigreen in turn introduced Rick Cross, the teachers' chief negotiator. Cross said the new contract was a result of many compromises and he would recommend ratification.

In addition to Geake, who is running for reelection, Mrs. A. M. Allen, the club's vice president, introduced Richard Fessler, 24th District Oakland County which includes the portion of Northville north of Base Line; Dennis Murphy, 24th District Commissioner, Oakland County; Mary Dumas, Wayne County Commissioner, who are also running for reelection, and Wilson Grier who is candidate for Northville Township Supervisor.

Fessler questioned the benefits Northville and other communities in the area would receive from the proposed rapid transit plan.

He stated he believes extremely careful study and planning should be done to be sure that "the areas paying the bill reap justifiable benefits from their tax dollars."

Mrs. Dumas reviewed her accomplishments as a commissioner and assured the audience of her readiness

Matinee boasts

"PROPOSAL 'C' IS BAD PUBLIC POLICY"

GOVERNOR MILLIKEN VOTES NO ON C

"This proposal would turn back the clock. It increases the likelihood that the state will have to rescind the $225 million dollars it now grants in property tax relief each year. That means higher local taxes. It halts tax reform, since any further improvement in the state tax structure would take yet another constitutional amendment."

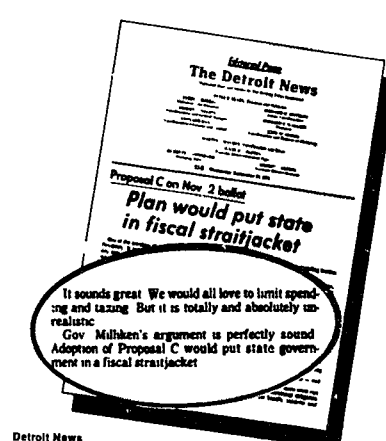

It would force budget cuts, and during recessions this is the very time when state services are needed most. Proposal C is bad public policy, and has no place in our state constitution."

William G. Milliken, Governor

Supporters of Proposal C promise "tax relief" and
"lower taxes"...

THEY DON'T TELL YOU

- ★ IT WILL LIMIT NUMBER OF PRISONERS IN STATE PRISONS — LEAVING YOUR LOCAL GOVERNMENT TO HANDLE THE OVERFLOW.
- ★ IT WILL END TAX RELIEF FOR SENIOR CITIZENS, VETERANS, AND THE HANDICAPPED.

Hunts produce cash prizes

While country fair entrants raked in their winning ribbons Friday, there were other Wixomites raking in the cash after the Saturday night treasure hunts.

The busy weekend in Wixom was a whirlwind for many who managed to squeeze in both events Saturday, dividing their time between the fair and Octoberfest at city hall and back-boonie roads of the hunt.

It was unfortunate that the two popular events conflicted with each other Saturday night. The out-of-doors Octoberfest dinner and dance was even further hampered by chill, misty weather.

Weather was not a deterrent however, for those entering the fair on Friday. Although the total number of items submitted for judging was less than anticipated, event coordinators Cindy Hatcher and Howard Goddard still viewed the affair as successful.

Judges Friday awarded ribbons in seven divisions with several gals gathering up blue ribbons in more than one event.

Eleanor Shieko took firsts in both the dish garden and wild flower and weed arrangements in the floriculture division. Marian Lehman followed suit with blues in cut fresh flowers and growing plants.

Taking a first and best of show rosette, however, for the entire department, was Linda Schemanske with a striking dried flower arrangement.

Potatoes took the blue ribbon and best of show in the root and garden crops division. The top award went to Ken Lehman. Nancy Bojack's entry of acorn squash gained her a blue ribbon in that class of the division.

A picture perfect chocolate almond layer cake won Yvonne Courtney both a first place and best of show rosette in the baking category. Marian Lehman gathered up two additional blues with her entries of a jelly roll and fry cakes.

Other baking awards went to Nancy Bojack for specialty breads and Sharon Krauthelm for hula drop cookies.

Sharon took another first in food preserving for her relish entry of catsup with Cindy Hatcher taking a first with her bread and butter pickled beets entered in the vegetable category. Best canned fruit was Barb Sircily's entry of pickled cherries.

And a jar of jelly entered by Marian Lehman was awarded both a blue ribbon and best of show in the entire food preserving department.

Stars and stripes fashioned into a child's shirt won Mugsy Fleming first place in the Sewing category using regular fabric. Jan Napora was awarded the blue in the adult class, regular fabric, with her entry of a man's sport coat.

A dress fashioned from knit material won Wanda Moorman a blue ribbon with Mugsy capturing her second blue in sewing and best of show with a three piece suit ensemble.

Extremely fine, painstaking work was evident in a piece of needlework submitted by Florence Kotlarek. She was awarded a blue ribbon and best of show in the needlecraft division.

Looking something like an ancient tapestry, Florence used silk and metallic threads in her framed, delicate appearing entry.

Mugsy Fleming's "post office" hooked rugs were awarded the blue in that class. Mugsy, a post office employee, fashioned the rugs after stamps.

A finely beaded necklace was judged the best in the miscellaneous class with the ribbon awarded to Thelma Schrontz.

Kids had a good time too, as they entered the fair with baking, pumpkins, flower arrangements and hobbies.

Gege Krauthelm may have termed her entry "a very funny looking squash" but the "funny thing" won her a blue ribbon. Dawn Bojack was awarded a first prize for her pumpkin. Brother Jimmy followed suit with a blue ribbon with a banana squash.

A plate of oatmeal cookies won Kristen Hoffmeyer a first place ribbon in the kid's baking division.

The first place ribbon and best of show rosette was awarded to Mike Dingeldey in the entire kid's class with his scale model entry of a 1930 gas station scene.

Meanwhile, after the "dust" had settled and all clue bags were accounted for, it was the team of Haight and Dodge that were victorious and again captured first place in the treasure hunt.

Awarded $125 for their efforts and the "glory" of putting on the next hunt in spring, there is no doubt the two couples are real super-sleuths.

A car with three couples from Farmington took third place honors and $50 in cash money. Liz and Rich Peck and their vanful came in fourth gathering up $40 for their efforts. The Coy's, Green's and Walsh's took fifth and $25.

Considering the fact there was one clue that baffled all but one car in a field of some 25 and a train blocking a railroad crossing, the hunt was its usual fun event.

Hunt directors Jeanne and Dennis Andrews, a couple from Farmington and Helen and Dave Schwanky suffered through a nightmarish problem just one short week before the hunt. The restaurant which had been booked for the "after-glo" canceled out.

Some pretty fast footwork was necessary to change all the final clues and set up a new destination point.

Good job people!

Sad news received from Arizona. Evelyn McCall, who had suffered so many, many months with leukemia, passed away in a hospital in Arizona Saturday evening.

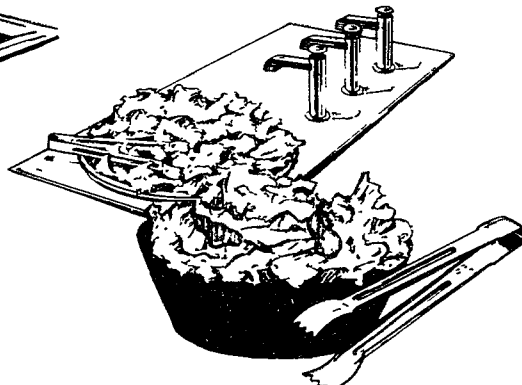

To her entire family, our deepest sympathies.

Northville Schools General Fund Revenues - 1976 and 1977

Northville Schools General Fund Expenditures - 1976 and 1977

Instruction eats 71% of revenues

Here's an analysis of Northville budget

Based on the new Northville school budget for 1976-77, the per-pupil expenditure is expected to climb by $190 — from $1,332 to $1,522.

Because it is a projected balanced budget, the per-pupil revenues are fixed at the same $1,522 amount.

Further analysis suggests that the amount of property taxes per pupil will climb from the 1975-76 figure of $941 to $1,110 in the new budget, and the state aid (including federal aid) per pupil figure is expected to climb from $353 to $379.

Despite the latter increase, however, the proportion of state aid is down in the total overall picture of general fund revenues. The new budget suggests that 24.3 percent of the revenues will be state aid, whereas the 1975-76 state aid percentage was 26.5 percent.

The proportion of revenues represented by property taxes is expected to increase from 70.6 percent (in 1975-76) to 73 percent in the new budget.

Because the number of students (based on the last D-Day count) dropped from last year and fell even shorter than earlier anticipated figures, Northville is expecting to receive about $60,000 less than it had hoped for. Last year's enrollment figure was fixed at 4,471. Pre-opening of school projections suggested this enrollment would increase to 4,500, but the D-Day count was only 4,410.

Analysis of student enrollment and State Equalized Valuation suggests that the per-pupil share of the SEV will be $33,858 — up from last

Board eyes meeting format change

Format modification of school board meetings to give citizens more input in board deliberations is being considered by the Northville Board of Education.

Consideration of the format change is part of an in-depth review of the board policy that was adopted in 1975 and revised on January 12, 1976.

Prime-mover among citizens calling for a format change is James Lewis, who twice in recent weeks has urged the board in its review of the meetings policy to consider permitting of citizen comment during the time board members are deliberating matters that come before it.

Lewis acknowledged that the board should have some means of regulating citizen comments and questioning so as not to prolong meetings, but he suggested that restrictions placed on citizen in-put during board deliberations could satisfy both the board's desire to expedite agenda matters and citizens' desire to comment.

The present format, Lewis stressed, discourages meaningful, positive citizen input and generates some of the negative citizen reaction to the board. Not all citizen comment, he told board members, is likely to be critical. Much of it, including criticism, could be constructive and aid the board in reaching its decisions.

Presently, citizen comments are permitted prior to deliberation on agenda items, and comments on any subject by citizens are welcomed at the conclusion of the meeting.

Speaking at the beginning of the meeting without really knowing how board members will react and what they will say gives the citizen a feeling of "speaking in a vacuum," said Lewis. If the citizen speaks at the conclusion of the meeting, it comes after the board has taken its actions and therefore gives the citizen a feeling of futility. "I recognize your limited time," said Lewis, "but it seems to me that in the interest of better public relations that some limited citizen comment should be permitted."

Among the various suggestions being considered by the board are these:

- Allow citizens to speak on "key" public interest matters.

- Allow citizens to speak on any issue if they so indicate the agenda items to which they want to speak at the beginning of the meeting.

- Allow citizens to speak on agenda items but place a time limit on their comments.

As the policy now stands, the board permits up to 30 minutes of citizen comments at the beginning of the meeting. It also provides, however, "that exception to this policy may be allowed from time to time when matters of grave concern are confronting the board and community, at which time the president of the board may rule to allow open discussion from the floor prior to calling for board final action."

The current policy also provides that "citizens wishing to address the board on a particular topic of interest or concern not already scheduled for agenda consideration shall so notify the superintendent of schools of their intent no later than noon on the second Friday preceding the board meetings."

In related discussion, Board Vice-President John Hobart suggested that perhaps the agenda could be divided into two parts — one dealing with action items and the other with informational items; Trustee Marjorie Sliger recommended that follow-up progress reports be presented by the board; and Secretary Dr. Robert Mandell suggested that a "welcome citizen" type piece of literature be passed out to citizens as they enter the meeting to explain procedures.

Several other policy or procedural matters also are being reviewed by the board.

Buys equipment for school kitchens

Kitchen equipment and supply purchases costing up to $21,779.80 have been authorized by the Northville Board of Education.

The equipment, financed completely by state and county monies for the Institutional Special Education Program, will be used in two schools outside the district that are used by the Northville-directed ISE program.

The two schools are Brainard and Taft.

Purchases were made on the basis of bids submitted by People's Store Fixtures, Harry Altman & Sons, and Canton China & Equipment.

For supplies a contract was approved with Canton China for its low bid of $14,224.80.

For equipment, Canton Equipment was awarded a contract based on its low bid of $3,320 for Brainard School, and People's Store was awarded a contract based on its low bid of $4,235 for Taft School.

The purchases were recommended by John Flaughner, ISEP administrative assistant-operations & finance.

Local students involved in JA program at Midland

Brad Hall and Timothy Sheehan, both of Northville, are acting as Junior Achievement company advisors in the Midland JA Applied Management Plan.

Both business majors at Northwood Institute, Hall and Sheehan are two of 14 Northwood students who are receiving college credit for applying management skills acquired through their studies to the benefit of the high school Junior Achievers who plan and operate their own small businesses.

Hall and Sheehan have undergone the JA advisor training program and are members of a company advisory team along with other advisors from the Midland business community. Northwood Institute is a private coeducational business and management oriented college offering the A.A. and B.B.A. degrees.

Here's how expenditures will eat of the revenue pie in the new budget compared with last year's expenditures:

Instruction (including pupil services, instructional staff, school administration, school services activities and inter-district transfers) will take 71 percent, compared with 69.9 percent last year; operation and maintenance will drop to 14.6 percent from 15.9 percent; fixed charges will increase from 4.9 percent to 5.6 percent; transportation will dip from 3.9 percent to 3.4 percent; other will drop from 3.9 percent to 3.6 percent; and administration and central staff dip slightly from 1.9 percent to 1.8 percent.

Novi school board nixes proposal C

Novi School Board has approved a resolution opposing proposal C on the November ballot which calls for limiting state spending via establishment of a ceiling.

The resolution notes that the "actual effect will be to force local property taxes higher to meet unmet needs" and "such action will subvert if not prevent the long called for overhaul of education financing, and the schools will have to seek higher and higher millage rates to keep even in an inflationary economy."

Proposal C calls for limiting state expenditures and receipts to 8.3 percent of the total personal income of the state for the previous fiscal year.

Debate by the school board centered no so much on whether the bill would cause the expected dependency on local taxes, but whether the board should be in the business of asking voters to vote no to the amendment.

Last paragraph of the proposed resolution resolved "That the Novi Board of Education urges the community to become aware of the counter-productivity of this amendment and encourage all to vote NO in November."

Board approved striking the last eight words of the paragraph.

Commented board president Sharon Pelchat, "The public is very apathetic and they don't know about the proposals. I think we should let them know how it will affect us."

Trustee Joel Colliu added "It's time to stand up and be counted. This is an issue that 'vital' affects education."

"I can't help but think this will hurt the school district in the long run," commented Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz on the state proposal.

Candidates face public

The two candidates for state representative in the 24th District, which includes Wixom, Novi and the Oakland County portion of Northville, will square off in a candidates' night program sponsored tonight by the Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce.

To be held at Walled Lake Junior High School beginning at 8 p.m., the program also will include the two candidates for Oakland County Sheriff — incumbent Johannes Spreen and Leo Hazen. The representative candidates are incumbent Richard Fessler and George Montgomery.

French styling is neither too precious nor too expensive for you to introduce into your home. Even the Louis XV styling becomes possible. All that is necessary is a few pieces of furniture chosen carefully to include some hand-brushed blue or white finishes, as well as the familiar wood tones. For a rug? Light-colored rugs are the in-carpet these days, and the reasons are all understandable — lightness and largeness added to a room are valuable assets. And today's no-nonsense carpets are much easier to keep clean.

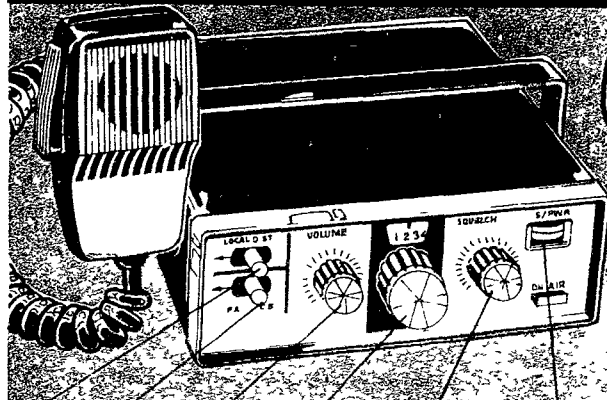

Your floors look clean, how about your ceilings and walls? If it's time for fall cleaning in your home, see us at GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N.
