Township seeks help to correct traffic hazard

Calling the Eight Mile-Griswold intersection "the most dangerous in the township," trustee James Nowka moved to seek help from Wayne County Road Commission last Thursday at the final scheduled meeting of the old Northville Township Board.

Two fatalities as a result of a three-car collision at the intersection October 31 spurred consideration of a traffic light, or at least a street light, for the intersection.

Trustee Richard Mitchell pointed to the Hines Drive, Northville Road, Phoenix Lake intersection as another dangerous one, stating that he understands that Wayne and Oakland county commissions have to agree on the Eight Mile solution.

Motion was approved to have the matter investigated.

In most other items coming before the board at Thursday's meeting the inclination was to table them for incoming board members' decision.

Only three of the seven members on the board continue in office after the last election. New board members are to take office November 20.

Carry-overs are Clerk Clarice Sass, who was appointed to the post and won election in November with the Flu clinic draws big crowd here

A total of 2,649 shots were "fired" before the serum ran out at the Northville Swine Flu clinic last Wednesday.

More than an hour before the scheduled closing at 9 p.m. the vaccine was used up. Team Captain Anne Lang estimated that well over 100 persons had to be sent home without getting their shots.

She praised the cooperation of the community as Red Cross and American Legion local volunteers worked throughout the day.

When workers' supply of registration forms was exhausted, she mentioned, a teacher and student at school ran off 500 on the school ditto machine.

People waited in lines that extended from the auditorium to the school cafeteria at the other end of the building.

Local nurses who volunteered their services included Mary Esther Fountain, Florence McDermott, Jessie McFadden and Mrs. Hugh Lockhart.

According to spokesmen with the Wayne County Health Department, the Northville turnout was one of the largest for the community's

More than 2,600 people turned out at the high school Wednesday to receive their swine flu shots. So many turned out that the vaccine was used up an hour before the clinic's scheduled closing. A painless gun was used to inoculate the adults, but you wouldn't know it by the expression on teacher Fred Holdworth's face below.

CAC gives buildings poor grade

Northville school structural and landscape maintenance has received poor marks in a comprehensive report issued by the Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC-76).

The report in many ways supports the findings recently made by a professional study organization hired by the school board to investigate the school district's maintenance program.

On the heels of the latter report, the school board directed its administrator in charge of school operations to develop recommendations to upgrade the maintenance program. And according to Spear, those recommendations are due at the next meeting of the board.

The CAC report was made to the board by John M. Sanders, chairman, who expressed the hope "that this report serves to aid the board in making decisions necessary to obtain and maintain appropriate plant facilities."

Here is what the CAC found in respect to school buildings in the district.

SWEARING IN ceremony for newly-elected Northville Township officials will be held at noon Saturday at the township offices. Newcomers to the board include Supervisor Wilson Grier, Treasurer Richard M. Henningsen and Trustees R. M. Lysinger and Michael Wilson. Holdovers to be sworn in are Clerk Clarice Sass and Trustee Dr. John Swienkowski. Trustee James Nowka is the seventh member. His term has two more years to run. Constables E. F. Petersen and James F. Schrot will also be sworn in.

CANVASS of the election returns in the Second Congressional District was expected to be concluded this week. Meanwhile, it appeared based on findings to date that Republican Carl Pursell will come out on top over his Democratic opponent, Dr. Edward Pierce.

FORMATION of a jobs placement bureau here for senior citizens is underway, it was announced this week. Meanwhile, some six jobs are immediately available to male and female senior citizens age 60 and over. Interested persons should contact Hans Lahr at the city hall, 349-1300.

'OLIVER' AND 'GEORGE' awards, traditional accolades of the Northville Drama Club, were shared Saturday night by students participating in "Royal Gambit." The "Oliver" for acting went to Peter Couse as Henry VIII and Paige Lysinger as Kathryn Howard, the monarch's fifth wife. The "George" for backstage participation was won by Lisa Ward, who headed the graphics committee and also starred as Katarina of Aragon, Henry's first wife, and to John Eltinge, co-head of sets.

Two township meetings were illegal

Five separate actions adopted by the Northville Township Board including the November 2 ballot proposal for a land transfer were made at illegally called special meetings in September.

The failure to follow proper procedure in calling a special meeting came to light as the result of an article published in the November edition of Michigan Township News, the official publication of the Michigan Townships Association.

Entitled "Law is Specific on Special Township Board Meetings" the article cites Michigan Compiled Laws

Annotated 41.72a including the following: "A special meeting of the township board shall be called by the township clerk upon a request, in writing, for the meeting, signed by not less than a majority of the township board members."

The latter portion of the above sentence is the catch insofar as the September 1 special meeting called by Northville Township is concerned.

The meeting was called as the result of a request in writing signed by two

In response to a question from Treasurer Charles Rosenberg at the September 1 special meeting regarding the legality of the hastily-called session Township Attorney Donald Morgan said it "appeared so".

At that September 1 meeting two matters were adopted by the six boardmembers present (Trustee James Nowka was absent).

One, the board voted unanimously to spend up to $500 to update plans for a police-fire administration building so that it might be possible to submit the plans for a federal grant to build the complex.

Two, it voted to hold a second special meeting on September 8.

Another motion was defeated by a split 3-3 vote. It would have approved filing the plans for the federal grant.

Action taken at the September 8 special meeting would also be regarded as illegal inasmuch as it was called at an improperly-called

THE RECORD was notified at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday that a special meeting of the Northville Township Board has been called for Saturday, immediately following the noon swearing in of new board members (see News Briefs). The meeting has been called, reports Clerk Clarice Sass, by Trustee John Swienkowski and herself. The procedure for the Saturday special session follows the same pattern termed illegal in the adjoining story. At the writing of the above story it was not known the township planned to call another special session. Agenda items for the proposed Saturday meeting include the federal grant application for the police-fire-administration complex and a report on drains and sewers in Highland Lakes subdivision.

Scott born

Announcement of the birth of their son, Scott Blake, is made by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gillahan of 867 Allen Drive.

The baby was born November 2 at St. Mary Hospital and weighed seven pounds, eight ounces.

He joins a brother, David, 5, at home.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Gillahan of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Every of Livonia. Mrs. Alpha Murray of Ypsilanti is the baby's great-grandmother.

members of Northville Woman's Club on "A Visit With Emerson and Thoreau" Friday.

The distinguished 91-year-old educator this fall began his 63rd year of teaching a course on Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry David Thoreau at his school.

He will be speaking on the program which begins at 1:30 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church in Northville. He is being introduced by Mrs. Ray J. Catherine II.

Mr. Shaw and his wife, Amy, an associate member of the club live at 52905 West Nine Mile Road near Chubb.

After graduation from Boston Latin School, Mr. Shaw went to Harvard University, graduating in 1909.

He came to Detroit in 1914 and began his school with four pupils in his Ferry Avenue home. After a stint in the Field Artillery in World War I he returned to teaching at the school by then located on Euclid Avenue.

By 1919 growth permitted renting of the Senator Palmer estate on Second Avenue at Six Mile. There were then 80 students and a faculty of six.

In 1925 the estate was sold. In 1926 a corporation was formed with good friends of the headmaster assisting. Property was bought at Seven Mile and Wyoming and the first class was graduated from there in 1927.

By 1956 further expansion brought the purchase of a 33-acre site at 13 Mile and Lahser roads.

With the school running smoothly in 1961, Mr. Shaw retired as headmaster but continued to teach his course on Emerson and Thoreau every fall since and to serve as a member of the board.

He was honored at a testimonial dinner last May with former students Semon Knudsen giving the testimonial and Bud Guest serving as master of ceremonies.

The Shaws' three sons all attended the school but their daughter went to school in Ann Arbor as, at the time, the school was not co-educational.

In Our Town

Annual Christmas Walk's this Sunday

By JEAN DAY

IT'S TIME to take the annual Christmas Walk in downtown Northville. This Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. a total of 24 stores will be open as local merchants continue a long-standing tradition of holding open house on the Sunday before Thanksgiving.

Many will be serving refreshments to shoppers who are invited to browse among new assortments of items for Christmas giving. Part of the enjoyment is walking by the shops after church to see elaborately decorated windows unveiled just in time for the walk.

Tuesday light posts in the downtown area were wound with green roping and topped with old-fashioned red lanterns. A huge wreath and greens now adorn Northville Square. With only 38 days remaining until Christmas the holiday spirit is very much alive in Our Town.

Stores to be open on the walk on Main and Center streets are Del's Shoes, Braders Department Store, Freydl's Men's and Ladies Wear, Long's Fancy Bath Boutique, The Bedspread Place, Schrader's Home Furnishings, The Little People Shoppe, Lapham's Men's Wear, Old Mill Restaurant, Green's Creative Home Center, Black's Hardware, Ely True Value Hardware, Noder's Jewelry, The Marquis, Jones Floral, Paper 'n Spice, IV Seasons' Flowers, Sunflower Shop, Connie's Corner Stitchery.

Others are Nista's Fashion-n-Things and Claire Kelly on Cady Street, Spinning Wheel Fabrics and Donna's Needlepoint in Mary Alexander Court and Northville Watch and Clock Shop on Dunlap.

SUNDAY WALKERS can assist the scholarship fund of the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, by buying wreaths and green roping at the organization's Greens Mart being held concurrently with the Christmas Walk at three locations.

Red or gold velvet bows will be placed on wreaths bought at Northville Square. Wreaths and white pine or balsam roping also will be sold at Northville Plaza Mall and at Miller's car lot on Main Street.

Wreaths up to 26 inches in diameter will be available (for $5.50). Branch president Barbara O'Brien adds that custom sizes may be ordered up to four feet in diameter — "They're a real buy at $15 with a triple bow and look great on chimneys or for special decorating," she enthuses.

BAND PARENTS of the Northville High bands will continue their tradition of selling home-baked pumpkin bread loaves in the parking lot next to Northville Pharmacy on Main Street during the Christmas Walk.

Another band-sponsored project, sale of luminarie kits, also will be continued. This tradition of the Southwest is gaining in popularity in the entire Detroit area. Five bags, candles and sand are in each kit, priced at $1, and are used to light doorways on Christmas Eve.

GEORGE BERRYMAN Donation Day at A & P (the Seven Mile Store in Northville Plaza Mall only) will be Wednesday, December 1, under sponsorship of Northville Band Parents. Five percent of all purchases marked on special cards that day will be given to the fund for the seriously ill former high school band teacher.

Cards will be sent home with band students and be distributed during the pumpkin bread sale of the band this Sunday.

Friends who wish to help by shopping that day may receive a card by calling Mrs. L. M. Lancaster, 349-1927.

"ADD A TOUR of the Mill Race Historical Village to your Christmas Walk this year."

Sue Holstein, co-chairman of the new Decent organization at the Mill Race, called with this suggestion this week. Her own ongoing enthusiasm for the Mill Race and the new guide project has been a positive force in bringing weekend visitors to the Mill Race located off Main Street on Griswold.

The Decents will be on hand, as usual, from 1 to 4 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday to answer visitors' questions and see that the library, Hunter and Yerkes houses are open.

The Mill Race also will be open specially from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Friday during the Northville Historical Society-sponsored Tivoli Fair.

The Tivoli Fair is being held from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in Northville Square.

SWAPPING, SELLING and buying or used sports equipment will go on in the lower level of Northville Square during both days of the Tivoli Fair in a project sponsored by Northville Business and Professional Women.

Anyone with items to sell is to bring them to the square this Thursday evening. A fee of 20 percent is charged for handling and will benefit the club's scholarship fund.

BABY SITTING will be available Friday and Saturday on the upper level of Northville Square next to the Wine and Cheese Barn during the hours of the Tivoli Fair.

Twenty-four Girl Scouts in Cadette Troop 407 are volunteering their services for the project with payment to be by donation.

"NORTHVILLE — The First 100 Years," the Quaker-sponsored history of our community written by Jack Hoffman, will be sold at the Tivoli Fair Friday and Saturday and copies will be available at the Mill Race. They also are on sale at The Northville Record.

Those who ordered books in the presale may pick up their copies during the week at Northville City Hall and on Saturday at Northville library in the square.

Last Sunday the author was honored at a reception in the Mill Race library. Representative R. Robert Geake presented a special tribute signed by Governor Milliken.

Among those assisting at the reception was Rita Turnbull. She and her husband, Bruce, have been back just a week from a 10-day trip to Yugoslavia. Sunday she was wearing a shawl her husband purchased for her in Chilipi, a tiny farming village there.

"It looks like a blouse and you put on the sleeves first," she explains.

"I'd like to urge people to visit Yugoslavia," she continues, mentioning how very polite and proud they found people in Dubrovnik, where their headquarters were at the Place Hotel.

Party's December 4

As a reminder that this weekend is the deadline for reservations for annual Christmas cocktail benefit parties held December 6 in nine homes, Mary Whiteside, from left, Dorothy McSevery and Angie Baetz get out a holiday punch bowl to try a new recipe. Mrs. Whiteside will be opening her home on Whipple Drive and will have both neighbors as co-hostesses. Proceeds from the evening's parties sponsored by Northville Mothers' Club are to continue restoration work on the Wash Oak school in the Mill Race.

'Joy of Children' PTA topic tonight

"There Is Joy in Raising a Child in Today's Society" is the discussion topic of a special Silver Springs PTA presentation at 7:30 p.m. this Thursday at the school in Highland Lakes subdivision.

Dr. Edward Bantell, president of the Michigan Society of Clinical Psychologists, will conduct the program to which the public is invited.

Dr. Bantell is a clinical and developmental psychologist and holds professorships in both psychology and education at Oakland University.

In announcing the program, the Silver Springs PTA points out that, like the national PTA organization, it is committed to strengthening home and family life and feels this can be done by "continually re-examining our society to understand better which changes are beneficial and which are not."

Some changes, it states, can occur within the family itself, but the main forces of family disorganization arise from outside — "from the circumstances in which the family finds itself and from the way of life that is imposed upon it by circumstances."

These will be discussed and include moves required of employees of some corporations, neighborhood changes through growth and expressways and unemployment and inflation.

City revenue lags behind

Personnel requests revealed

If the City of Novi is to add all the employees requested by department heads and revealed in a manpower study, the city will have to come up with an additional $6 million in revenue over what is expected by 1981.

The report, revealed at last week's Novi council meeting, shows that by 1981 to satisfy projected personnel needs and general operating expenses, $19,710,000 will be needed in revenue over the fiscal years 1976-77 to 1980-81. Meanwhile projected revenue will total only $12,813,000. However, that figure does not include $900,000 expected from state gas and weight tax. "Going into this we knew the resources available to the city don't look promising until 1980 when state revenue sharing will plug in with the population," said Finance Director Fred Todd.

In a letter to the council, Todd explained that the following problems exist, based upon the study:

- 1) The city is employing nine CETA employees for $129,000 a year which the city will have to pick up if funding is dropped;
- 2) Police grants both for the surveillance and traffic units totaling $134,000 (this year) will have to be assumed over the next few years;
- 3) Council at its last budget session indicated wishing to hire a city engineer and possibly a planner;

4) Police Department is seeking a traffic grant to add seven persons which will not hurt in the short run but will add additional burden later;

5) Council must decide on a long-term policy regarding a full time fire department;

6) The DPW has requested extensive expansion of services to meet increasing demands while Novi is not reimbursed at an adequate level to permit expansion unless state funds are increased;

7) Parks and Recreation is requesting additional manpower for which there are no adequate funds;

8) The general administration of the city requires an increase of personnel over the next five years.

According to Todd's letter, the basic alternatives are to 1) increase revenues to meet the demands of the departments; 2) decrease expenditures through careful assessment of ongoing programs and departments; 3) increase productivity thereby reducing future manpower requirements. However this needs additional up to date equipment to effect time savings.

Todd noted that the additional increased revenue could come from several different avenues: State Equalized Valuation increase; increased charter limitations by a vote of the people; request the state of Michigan to reimburse at the 1975 level; utilize federal grants to expand existing departments; administrative charges for capital project management should be considered for water, sewer, roads and all special assessments, tax collection fees, licenses and fees for all departments and other types of specific fees for services; institute city income tax.

"Overall, what is necessary at this time is for city council to determine their priorities for services and manpower and at that point we can determine the resources available for funding the desired services," said Todd's letter. "As stated previously, Novi cannot fund all of the requested manpower needs. We must determine the direction by having council make a policy decision so we can have long-term objectives in mind."

The report itself shows that while the present staffing level for the city is at 136 (including volunteer firemen), total requested staff by administrative personnel would total 289 by 1980.

Largest increases would be in the police and fire departments. The police department shows personnel needs increasing from 40 in 1976 (26 officers and 14 clerical) to 78 in 1980 (57 officers and 21 clerical).

The fire department request meanwhile calls for the increase of personnel from 36 presently to 92 in 1980. The request calls for addition of three full time firemen for the first time in 1977-78. All told, the proposal calls for 21 full time firemen by 1982, a training officer, deputy chief, eight emergency medical technicians, three dispatchers, seven volunteer officers. It also calls for an addition of 77 volunteers.

Police Chief Lee BeGole

commented on his request that intent of the additional personnel is to keep up with police standards which require two officers for each 1000 population in a community.

If police department requests, as well as requests from all other departments were instituted in their entirety, the police department budget would take up 48 percent of the total city budget, approximately $2.6 million of $5.4 million. Currently it comprises 39 percent.

Other departments throughout the city call for the following increases: Assessor from 3 currently to 6; building department 19 to 25; clerk from 5 to 7; department of public services 0 to 2; DPW from 15 to 28; finance department 7 to 11; manager's office 3 to 6; parks and recreation 4 to 7; water and sewer from 4 to 7.

Each department in its report explained the personnel which will be needed and why they are needed.

Fire Chief Duane Bell noted at the council meeting that it is unknown, if a regional fire department plan should be adopted, what the needed personnel in Novi would be.

Elevating experience

John Hoeller, vice president in charge of shopping center operations for Dayton Hudson in the eastern region takes a look at the escalator shafts in one portion of Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall, currently under construction. Attempts are currently being made to winterize the mall portion of the shopping center, as well as Hudson's, so that work can continue inside throughout the winter.

Action at Twelve Oaks frantic as winter nears

Despite the cold wintry winds which sweep across vast stretches of land on their way to the evergrowing Twelve Oaks Mall regional shopping center, workmen are continuing their battle to seal off Hudson's and the tenant mall so inside work can continue throughout the winter.

Plywood sheets already separate the shell of the mall from where both Penney's and Sears will eventually be located and heat is reportedly being provided throughout some areas.

In addition, site work is continuing at a frantic pace outside the mall, which is located on the southeast corner of 12 Mile and Novi Roads in Novi.

"We're racing against the weatherman," says John Hoeller, vice-president in charge of shopping center operations for Dayton Hudson in the eastern region. "That's why you see every double trailer in the county on the site."

Specifically, the trucks are bringing in sand as vast areas of peat are being replaced. "We excavated 60 feet till we hit solid soil and then began backfilling with sand," says Hoeller. A large portion of the 300 acre site was made up of peat which had to be removed to another portion of the property.

Winter, according to construction manager Claude Auger, will not have too much effect on the backfill operation until it ends. Then the thaw will make it impossible to get the large trucks onto the site.

But Hoeller points out that "when you get down to the fine grading, that (winter) could be a problem."

Eighty percent of the parking lot for the mall — all except for the easternmost portion — should be completed this year. "There's no reason to believe we won't make it," says Hoeller.

While the backfill operation has been both costly and time consuming, Hoeller says that "there is no perfect shopping center site."

"If it's flat and you get a 100 year rain, what do you do with six inches of water?"

A tour of the inside of the mall reveals little except plenty of rough concrete and exposed innards that do not even give an inkling of the majesty of the mall as portrayed by the pens of the architect.

The escalators, located in several places throughout the mall, are about the only recognizable feature as their riggings are already in place.

In addition, each of the four major stores — Sears, Penney's, Hudson's and Lord and Taylor — have a separate court area. Plans are for contemporary sculptures in five locations throughout the mall.

The three level Hudson's is the furthest along of any of the major shopping center stores. Sears has much of its superstructure metal work completed while neither Penney's nor Lord and Taylor have begun work.

Name Bretz planning
chairman

John Roethel, chairman of the Novi Planning Board for the last five years has stepped down from that position in order to devote more time to rewriting of ordinances.

Named as replacement for Roethel is Robert Bretz, who was vice chairman and was named chairman when none of the other planning board members requested the position. Bretz has been on the planning board for eight years and was chairman prior to Roethel's assumption of that position in 1972.

Bretz will remain chairman during the duration of Roethel's term which will end in July of 1977. Roethel, meanwhile, was appointed to the position of vice chairman. Roethel has been on the planning board since 1971.

Resignations, absences hurt Wixom planning unit

Once again the Wixom Planning Commission is shy two members — a not-uncommon predicament in City of Wixom.

In discussing the problem with the mayor, Planning Commission Chairman Gerald Hieber said, "It seems we have very few, if any people interested in serving the city. Apparently the problem lies with the apathetic citizens in our community."

Plagued by resignations, absenteeism, and illness, Hieber said the commission was without a quorum at its last meeting marking the third such occurrence this year. The latest failure was caused by the resignation of James Schemanske.

According to Hieber, two other members have resigned since March. Within that period Charles Nelson and Leslie Kent left the board. Nelson's spot was filled by the appointment of Sid Resner.

Schemanske's resignation was submitted at the Tuesday night council meeting. Although the resignation was accepted, Mayor Val Vangieson said he was disturbed that yet another seat had been vacated.

He stated in a letter to council that additional responsibilities at his place of work and increased duties as president of a homeowners association prompted the resignation.

Vangieson, holding a letter from Hieber said, "I have before me something of a plea — a plea for us to find some way to remedy a serious situation."

Hieber said in his letter to the mayor, that resignations coupled with frequent absenteeism have made it difficult to make decisions with only five of nine members present.

Some time ago Planning Commission members voted against any type of remuneration for attending meetings but Hieber said he felt it was time to review that aspect. "Payment for members could be an incentive for attendance at the meetings," he stated.

Two past commission members now sitting on the council agreed with the theory, saying they thought payment to those members could be a possible attendance stimulus.

Both James Lahde and Melvin Green voiced that opinion and urged council to explore the idea more thoroughly.

Green added however, that payment to the Planning Commission, no matter how small, could create a problem with all other city commission and board members.

Later, Vangieson pointed out that the city was looking not only for two planning commission members but a person to fill a vacancy on the building authority as well.

"I would like to see a stack of applications this high," the mayor said gesturing, "but how we convince citizens of the need for them to step forward and volunteer is another story."

Hieber said that anyone interested in serving the city in any appointed capacity should contact the city clerk. An application would then be filled out and the appointment made from those applicants. All remaining names would be held on file for future reference.

"I would like to see a balance of participation on the commissions," the mayor said, adding that currently there are no members representing either the central city or Hickory Hill area of the city.

"The demands are great from these people and there is little or no reward for those efforts. If any, their only satisfaction is knowing they are actually doing something for their city," Vangieson concluded.

First supermarket opens doors in Novi

Hundreds of shoppers, intent on being among the first to patronize Novi's first full-fledged supermarket, flooded into the new Novi A&P as store manager Patrick Crowe unlocked the doors at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

Despite the fact no special ceremony was held to mark the grand opening, cars owned by shoppers virtually swamped the parking lot areas adjacent to the store, located in the Novi-10 Shopping Center at Meadowbrook and 10 Mile. In the few minutes before the store opened, anxious employees watched the line-up behind the glass doors while patrons eyed what they could see of the first Novi supermarket.

Before the day was over, manager Crowe estimated more than 2,000 patrons had shopped the store.

He described the response as "fantastic." "It was everything we expected it to be," said Crowe. "Everybody seemed happy we're here and we're definitely glad we're here."

"Everybody just kept commenting that they were glad we were open and that it was so convenient having us here. We probably would have had a better response but we missed Village Oaks when we mailed our circulars. They should be arriving there today (Monday)."

Crowe added that he expects the number of shoppers to increase. "As we remain in Novi we'll do better all the time." As Novi builds, we hope we will build."

The grand opening celebration will continue throughout this week. Free coffee and donuts are being given away and one feature of interest is tangelo demonstrations being put on by the Florida Citrus Commission.

See architecture of past

Victorian architectural styles will be studied by the Northville Historical Society in an audio-slide lecture at a meeting at 8 p.m. this Thursday at the Mill Race library. Site security of such historic preservations as Williamsburg also will be outlined. Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, the society's November meeting has been advanced a week.

Robert Daniel will present the sound lecture from the American Association for State and Local History. The recorded voice is that of John J. G. Blumenson, an architectural historian in both the United States and Canada.

Blumenson, who has art history degrees from the University of Miami and George Washington University, has written a handbook of architectural history and is associated with both the National Trust for Historic Preservation in Washington and the Architectural Historical Society for National Heritage in Toronto. He has a special interest in octagonal-style homes.

Styles to be included in the presentation include Gothic revival, Victorian gothic, romanesque revival, renaissance, revival, Italian villa, Italianate, Second Empire, chateau, shingle, Queen Anne and "Stick Style."

Senior citizens feast

Baked ham will be the main dish for the Thanksgiving potluck dinner of Northville Senior Citizens' Club at 6 p.m. Tuesday at First Presbyterian Church in Northville.

Lena Hammond and Olga Hennings have volunteered to prepare the hams while others will bring passing dishes, all "delicious home cooking," the club promises. A program by the Novi Community Concert Band will follow the dinner.

Directed by Guy Smith, the band now is in its fifth concert season and is under sponsorship of the Novi Parks and Recreation Department.

Club members will be asked to show their dues cards when arriving.

At the club's October 26 potluck Pamela Stopper presented students of her dancing classes in many dancing styles, including tap and ballet. All in costume, the girls ranged in age from nine through 17. They were so well received, the club reports, that a future program is promised.

portion is located to the left while the superstructure for Sears is on the right. In the back, facing toward Novi Road is Hudson's. Penney's, which will be located south of the mall has not started construction, as well as Lord and Taylor, which will be located to the east of the mall.

Hoeller estimates that with rising construction costs and the recent addition of Lord and Taylor, total construction costs could range from $30-$40 million "give or take $10 million." The shopping center, which will have 13 million square feet compared to Northland's 16 million, will hold about 150 small shops in the mall portion. Of 300 acres on the site, 86 will be covered by the shopping center and parking lot. A portion of the remainder is expected to be sold off and developed residentially while periphery property along Novi Road and Twelve Mile will be developed commercially.

Hoeller says that a very careful screening process will be followed both for tenants in the mall and for businesses wishing to purchase periphery property owned by Dayton Hudson.

"We want to insure the right mix," says Hoeller.

Hoeller adds that "The addition of Lord and Taylor has changed the center dramatically. It adds a dimension to the center that Detroit hasn't seen yet. That has brought other tenants to us."

No definite commitment has been made public, but negotiations have reportedly been going on with Saks Fifth Avenue for a store at the shopping center.

The shopping center plans call for a possible fifth major store to be located to the east.

Speaking of Novi Road and the I-96 interchange, Hoeller says that "We're feeling increasingly confident about the way the roadwork is shaping up."

While the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation has said that the permanent Novi Road bridge over I-96 cannot be complete by August, 1977, the planned date for the opening of Twelve Oaks, Hoeller says he is confident that what will be available at that time will be enough to handle any problems caused by mall traffic.

"We're more excited as we get closer to opening," sums up Hoeller. "The excitement is building."

Novi Road—I-96

Bridge creates problems

Construction of a temporary $600,000 four-lane bridge over I-96 at Novi Road has been causing its share of headaches for people using the freeway.

Close to a month ago motorists found themselves with the eastbound Novi Road exit closed. The problem was compounded because the first sign notifying traffic that the exit was closed was at the rest area, which is past the previous exit. Consequently this has forced motorists to stay on I-96 to Grand River where they can exit in Farmington Hills near Halstead, approximately three miles beyond the Novi Road exit.

Lyle Lipp, assistant construction engineer for the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation admitted that the failure to post adequate signs has caused some complaints.

"I talked to the traffic people," said Lipp. "This is so temporary they thought it wouldn't be required."

Lipp pointed out that one complaint which has been received was from "one of the chiefs" of the highway department from Lansing who found the Novi exit closed on a trip into Novi and had to detour the three miles to the next exit.

Besides the sign problem on the freeway, some complaints have also been heard on the fact that no signs along Novi Road warn that the westbound entrance to I-96 is also closed.

When steel beams were placed into position for the temporary bridge late last month, the Novi Traffic Bureau was called upon to create "running roadblocks" along the expressway as the beams were unloaded and placed in position.

According to Corporal Frank Barabas of the Novi Traffic Bureau, "If you just put up a roadblock, they hit the brakes doing 70 and the guy behind him gets it."

For a 40-minute period, I-96 westbound was closed and traffic was funneled through the off ramp and back onto I-96 on the other side of the bridge.

Barabas noted that "we had a lot of irate citizens" as the traffic funneled off the freeway.

"Reports we had were it was backed up to Orchard Lake Road," said Barabas who said that the traffic jam spread as far as the eye could see from Novi Road.

But Barabas complained that "we got stuck in the middle."

He explained that the department was not notified of the timetable for closing I-96 until "the last moment."

"The day before they started doing it, they told us they wanted a car out there of the building appeared sound, the overall appearance of the exterior and interior indicated that some upgrading was long overdue. On the exterior, the facebrick was in need of cleaning.

Security should be improved by installing metal doors and frames and provision of adequate outdoor lighting.

The roof leaks. On the interior, cracks in walls created by settling must be repaired.

The gym floor should be replaced by a floor appropriate to the anticipated use of the building. Interior aesthetics should be improved on at least a face-lift basis. Also, site details such as sidewalks, planting areas, etc. are in need of attention.

Annex

The roof membrane is broken.

On the roof the membrane is broken, there is give in the wood structure, and the plaster fire barrier should be checked.

Most of the wooden doors and sills need to be replaced, and consideration should be given to security and energy savings during this process.

The gym area "is a national disaster."

Main Street Elementary

Found concern about the playground size; dirt and greenery in gutters; painting is needed on all exterior spaces; the breezeway roof leaks; tar from a roof repair exists on the bricks; glass block units are broken.

The roof is "beyond repair," especially over the kindergarten porch where the structure should be checked. All finishings need to be reset and sealed.

Exterior electrical lines are exposed; in the playground, the teeter-totter is broken and unsafe and other equipment is in an unacceptable condition.

Trash abound in the parking lot; plaster in the hallways needs repair; ceilings are in poor condition; and classrooms should be carpeted.

High School

The high school site is in "terrible condition (broken glass, etc.); cement plaster fascias need repair, especially at the pool end of the building; the aluminum fascia strips at the top of cement plaster should be resealed.

Interior painting is needed; better humidity control in the pool area is needed; the gym roof area is leaking.

Vandalism was obvious everywhere, as was trash resulting from disrespectful use of the premises. Particular areas of concern: The lockerroom was filthy; the area around the east door and porch had cigarette and candy trash and significant vandalism; wash rooms were highly vandalized; there was inadequate site lighting.

The driveway from Center Street is hazardous and maybe another entrance should be considered.

Amerman Elementary

Needs roofing repair, resealing of aluminum fascia joints, sidewalk repair, cleaning of face brick at various locations, replacement of some window sash units, classrooms could use carpeting, and the drain on the blacktop needs attention as water sits there for weeks after a good rain (Lake Amerman).

Moraine Elementary

The blacktop needs attention as does the heating system (thermostats don't work in most of the rooms), a larger gym and multi-purpose could be used since most of the students in this school are bussed, those classrooms not carpeted should be carpeted; cloakrooms are inadequate for children's clothing; there is a lack of storage space and maintenance repair space; outside lights need replacing.

Silver Springs Elementary

This new school was not toured by CAC members.

Winchester Elementary

The failure of the air conditioning this spring was of great concern. It seems obvious that the environmental controls should be serviced routinely by competent technicians. This is not a job for school handymen type personnel.

Cooke Middle School

A gym folding door is needed; lockerrooms, especially toilet facilities, need upgrading; there seemed to be a huge unused inventory of special ed equipment and furniture both here and at Main Street.

Meads Mill Middle School

This building was not toured by CAC members.

Concerning the school board's projected use of Main Street Elementary School next fall, the CAC, which earlier had recommended moving of the school board offices to the second floor of the Annex, in its most recent report took note of the board's preliminary planning to move these offices to a portion of Main Street.

"The CAC concurs with this decision and wishes to express its desire that such a move be a permanent one. We do not believe that the public, or good business judgment, would justify another temporary move."

It has been strongly recommended that Main Street also accommodate walk-in students from the neighborhood of the school and that the present board offices building be returned to a community recreational use.

Main Street School, the CAC, emphasized, should be thoroughly evaluated with respect to potential of the physical plant to support educational programs prior to any modification or upgrading efforts.

Most important among these considerations are:

1. The Main Street school population must be limited to approximately half of its designed capacity. The remaining floor space must not be permitted to give a "ghost-like" effect to the building.

2. New window assemblies, with smaller panes and insulated panels must be installed to reflect modern fuel prices.

3. The classrooms must present a bright, cheerful, business-like atmosphere to encourage learning. This will probably entail electrical, carpentry, some masonry and carpeting work.

4. All existing finishes (acoustical ceiling, etc.) considered hazardous by present fire codes should be removed and replaced by new materials conforming to present regulations.

5. The district may be forced into complying with rulings in the area of fire safety and barrier free design. "Even if we could proceed with modification to buildings in the Main Street complex without complying with these regulations, an effort should be made to assure the safety of all students and accessibility for handicapped persons."

"We expected that major work will have to be done in the Annex to provide board office space. If this plan is rejected, this work will probably be done as part of the Main Street school project."

"Perhaps during this project, a new gym multi-purpose room should be constructed and the Annex (now apparently a white elephant) be razed."

Concerning general maintenance of Northville schools and grounds, the CAC recommended a formal management program.

"We believe the most serious discrepancy in the area of maintenance is that the management of the process is performed on a 'seat of the pants' basis. The quality of maintenance is variable depending on the responsiveness and director of the local administration and staff."

"This can be remedied by implementation of formal management methods. Here we are not referring to exotic procedures, rather we suggest the basics of a formal organization..."

Examples of this formal management concept, cited by CAC, include:

• Job descriptions for each and every person in the chain of maintenance-perational, supervisory, managerial, and administration. The idea is to let everyone know what they are expected to do — then measure them against it.

• Policies and standards relative to what the board expects in the area of maintenance — what should the appearance, weatherproofing, sanitary, and other maintenance related measures be, what are their priorities.

• Procedures, methods, and forms which provide a standard way of communicating what needs doing and how and when to do it.

• A routine review of current facts to assure that policy is indeed being carried out through the organization. This should extend up to (but not be limited to) surprise inspections of each building by board members on at least an annual basis.

The CAC emphasized that these policies, procedures, etc. "need not be written by consultants; anyone capable of managing the process can write them."

CAC further recommended that the board of education establish a basic level of funding to preserve the basic structural condition and provide sanitary surroundings. "No cuts in maintenance below this level should be permitted under any condition," it emphasized.

Relative to vandalism and unsanitary condition of school buildings, CAC recommended the board launch a study of the charter given principals and teachers for the maintenance of discipline within the school setting.

"The wanton destruction of our school buildings must be stopped," it declared.

size in the county. Plymouth, for example, drew 2,300 for its flu shot clinic.

Throughout the county, the number of persons getting swine flu shots is running under what officials originally hoped for. Officials are now estimating that about one-third of the population eligible to receive flu shots in the out-county area will have received them when the program concludes.

"We have no plans to return to Northville," the Record was told. "Our suggestion is that those who may have missed getting their shots in your area take advantage of the 'last chance' clinic scheduled at the Westland Shopping Center Saturday between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m."

As was the case here, no one under the age of 18 years of age will be able to receive immunization at the Westland.

Planners, council meet

Planning Board and Novi City council members spent more than three hours in special study session Saturday morning to discuss joint problems including such items as the master plan and cluster option.

According to City Clerk Geraldine Stipp, the planning consultant, Charles Cairns is going to be submitting an estimate of cost for the balance of the master plan shortly. The city must come up with money to pay for the remainder of the study because the 701 Planning grant which had funded last year a study of the area around the shopping center was not renewed. The planning board has been budgeted some monies for that purpose, but not enough to finish the master plan.

If the council approves appropriating funds to finish the master plan, Cairns indicated the study could be ready for adoption next spring.

The planning board and city council set a November 29 meeting to review the first portion of the master plan study.

A committee made up of planning board members Gary Roberts and John Roethel is reviewing the sign ordinance and will be looking into requirements regarding window signs in stores, it was reported. They will also examine the regional center zoning district regarding signs.

The two governmental bodies also discussed the cluster option. Reportedly, the problem is that the cluster option as set down in the zoning ordinance does not accomplish what the planning board had intended. Some developers have requested utilization of the cluster option but instead of leaving additional open space throughout the development are requesting to leave the open space in only one area — for instance around a stand of trees.

City Manager Edward Kriewall suggested looking into the possibility of allowing 60 foot lots in certain areas, possibly in connection with the cluster option. Currently the zoning ordinance does not allow homes to be built on lots smaller than 80 feet of front footage.

The planning board indicated that it is working on the following items in addition to conducting its normal business:

Master plan revision regarding the Twelve Oaks Mall area; balance of master plan revision; prevention of pornography through ordinance; cluster option revision; frontage study on major thoroughfares; sign ordinance revision; review of the controversial Lapha property at 10 Mile, Haggerty and Grand River.

Poet Dan Minock to read his work

Schoolcraft College will present Poet Dan Minock at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, November 17.

Minock will conduct an informal lecture and discussion on poetry at 2 p.m. and read his poetry that evening. Both events are scheduled in Room 200 of the Liberal Arts Building and are open to the public without charge.

A native of Flint, Minock received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Detroit where he was also a teaching fellow. He was a National Defense Education Act Fellow at Ohio State University from 1968 to 1970 and he received his doctorate there in 1975.

In 1970 Professor Minock joined the English department at Wayne State University as an instructor. Last year he was appointed assistant professor of English.

Minock's poetry and prose have appeared in Poetry Northwest, The Hiram Poetry Review, the Wayne Literary Review and American Notes and Queries.

A display of creative and artistic projects of students in the Institution Special Education Program (ISEP) operated by the Northville School District will be up in Northville Square through Sunday.

Both pictures and molded forms are included in the mall display.

The art work was done by institutionalized students at Plymouth Center for Human Development and Northville Residential Training Center through the Northville school-administered program.

The students are part of a program developed through local districts in Wayne County to comply with the Mandatory Special Education Act that requires that an educational program be provided for all children and young adults under age 26 who are

These students reside in state institutions operated by the Department of Mental Health.

Northville School District began operating its program with the two area institutions in August, 1975.

Speaking for The Record

Superb journalist thinks he's athlete

If you ask Jack Hoffman whether he can play racquet ball, golf, tennis, football or baseball, or if he set records in track as a runner or long jumper, he will tell you he either is or was the very best.

But if you were to inquire as to his abilities as a journalist or of his knowledge of history in general and Northville in particular, you would be struck by his dumbness.

He is a contradiction.

On the one hand, he is a compulsive liar. As an athlete he would be rated on a scale of one to 10 at about 1½.

As a competent journalist and author, however, he breaks the scale. There is no one who has searched and researched the archives of local history more thoroughly than Hoffman.

He has consumed vacations in the quest of bits of information about Northville and its early settlers. He has been locked in a county library oblivious to time as he devoured Northville history. He has tramped cemeteries looking for names on tombstones of area pioneers.

There is not a newspaper in the morgue of 107-year-old Record files that Hoffman has not read. And since 1958 he has written the lion's share of these volumes.

Sunday this Northville community journalist was honored for the book he authored, "Northville — The First 100 Years".

And after State Representative Bob Geake read a long proclamation from Governor William Milliken, Senator Carl Pursell and Representative Geake commending Hoffman's work and presented him with two copies of the same, he responded typically.

"Thank you".

We at The Record say "thank you, Jack Hoffman, for giving our community and our newspaper a full measure of devoted, dedicated journalistic excellence".

As a parting bit of advice, we suggest you stick to the Underwood and leave the athletics to those of us possessing more physical coordination.

Constructive lesson

There's little question that the page one story in this edition concerning the legality of special meetings called by the Northville Township Board will spark controversy.

And you can bet there will be many who will question the intentions of the newspaper for revealing the faux pas.

But the inescapable fact is that a serious mistake was made and the consequences could be considerable.

If by hindsight this newspaper were to make a criticism, it would be one held for many years. In an urban society township government does not possess the professionalism to cope with increasing business demands placed upon it.

At this point, however, it may serve as a constructive lesson to a board that has a new majority.

Slipshod procedure can be costly. In the main the actions taken by the board in the illegal sessions were desirable. Now these actions stand in jeopardy, which is unfortunate.

What's one vote?

For those who refuse to vote because they contend their vote "doesn't count" the recent election in the Second Congressional District should serve as a contradiction.

The result is still not official. But until a canvass is completed State Senator Carl Pursell is the apparent winner over his Democratic opponent, Dr. Edward Pierce. It's possible that even after the official canvass there will be a recount.

Some 337 votes divide the two candidates out of a total of 190,449 ballots cast. That's a margin of .0017 per cent. Political science experts are calling it the closest congressional election in Michigan's history.

There are approximately 700 precincts in the Second Congressional District. If one more person in just one half of those precincts had voted for Dr. Pierce, the apparent outcome would have been reversed.

Look at it another way. If one voter in one out of four precincts had switched his vote, today's unofficial winner would be Dr. Pierce.

If you are one of those who stay away from the polls because you think a single vote doesn't mean anything, don't try telling it to Pierce or Pursell.

DAVID JEROME

YES . . .

The question itself borders on the sacreligious, oh ye of little faith.

Not only can Bo Schembechler win the "big one," he will win the "big one" this Saturday and he's just likely to win it "big."

Of course, the question carries a double meaning: it can be interpreted to mean Saturday's battle in Columbus or it can also be interpreted to have a broader meaning, having implications that the Wolverine's record in the final game of the season is not commensurate with their record during the rest of the year.

Let's address the broader issue first, although we are hesitant about giving credence to a false issue created by blood-thirsty sports writers who can find no other grounds on which to attack the superb record of Bo Schembechler.

Just how much can a coach do? Anyone who has witnessed Michigan's season-ending games in the past will admit that the Wolverines have consistently outrushed, out-hit, and out-played their opponents, everything but outscored them. The point is that a coach can only prepare his team and devise a workable game plan. A coach cannot carry the ball into the end zone from the one yard line or kick 30-yard field goals — not-so-difficult tasks which would have made a drastic difference in Michigan's record in their clashes with Ohio State (there's that word), Stanford, Oklahoma, or whoever else they've played in the final game of the season.

As for the specific issue in Columbus on Saturday, there should be no doubt. Michigan 22, Ohio State 0.

Go Rick. Go Rob. Go Harlan. Go Jim, Go Russel. Go Bo. Go Blue.

Speaking for Myself

Can Bo win The big one?

DONALD HANSEN

NO . . .

As the record clearly shows, Woody holds the upper hand in this rivalry over the past seven years. I see the eighth confrontation widening that margin.

While Bo had a good teacher (Woody) in the game of football he has not quite learned all that the master knows. Case in point is the game in Columbus two years ago when Michigan (see, Mich is a four-letter word) jumped out to a 10-0 lead in the first quarter and then promptly pulled their horns in and folded.

Also, check the roster and see where the better Michigan players have traditionally come from (Ohio?). And you know Woody is getting the best Buckeyes, leaving only seconds for Bo.

I'm sure Bo thought this was his year as he hoped to catch OSU in a rebuilding year on the rebound from the "Archie era." OSU has played a much tougher schedule, primarily due to the non-conference portion, and knowing that several key defensive personnel played during that period of time, I'm sure all can see that OSU played very respectfully.

While Bo publicly admitted the first seven games were against "nobodies", it was a "nobody" that probably cost Michigan a chance at a bowl game.

Then there is also the old albatross of the last game jinx around Bo's neck. He has yet to win the last game of any season during his seven years at Michigan. I don't see this one being any different as the OSU victory will no doubt leave Michigan out of a bowl game and Ohio State will be off running for the Roses again.

Scores NHS condition

To the Editor:

This letter is directed to Tracie A. Plumley in response to her letter of last week.

I read your heartfelt letter to the Editor in the November 10th issue concerning the condition of Northville High School. I applaud your outspoken response to the deplorable situation at our high school.

On November 10th, I stood in line at the high school with my seven-year-old daughter for an hour and a half to obtain a swine flu shot. In the process, I gained firsthand knowledge of the sad state of affairs besetting both students and parents alike.

As a taxpayer, citizen, and concerned parent, I personally found this unfortunate experience a source of much embarrassment. I cannot and the pitiful condition of the women's restroom.

The answer to the problem rests with the community-at-large. I truly hope that this open letter to you, Tracie, will help to remedy the appalling situation at Northville High School.

I care! You have my support and I hope many, many more parents and students will be concerned and try and correct this situation.

Sincerely yours,
Northville Citizen

JACK W.
HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

To save him possible embarrassment, I'll simply call him Jack because the same rain cloud that follows me about hovers close over his head.

It happened recently in a Northern Michigan bay during the salmon run — a real life drama played out in the waters of Lake Huron. In this case, it was Jack, not the salmon, who took center stage.

Anxious to show off his new sailboat and his ability to navigate, Jack took a friend for a cruise around the bay. His friend knew he was in for an adventure when Jack got his foot tangled in the mooring line and then tossed a life jacket into the water instead of the boat even before they had boarded.

A half hour later and still not satisfied that he had adequately demonstrated his seamanship, Jack decided to sail his boat into the big water despite heavy waves and heavier excuses of his friend.

"Don't worry," advised Jack. "You're safer here than on shore."

As the boat neared the mouth of the bay, Jack momentarily lost control of his craft and it headed arrow straight for the seawall.

"He did everything but beg that boat to stop," his friend remembered later. "Now that I think about it, I don't think the boat wanted to go out in the Huron any more than I did."

The boat crunched into the wall, putting a smile in her fiberglass the likes of which no hacker ever put on his golf ball. But that wasn't enough. Anxious to get out of the water, the boat climbed right up onto the wall.

Instantly, Jack leaped from boat to wall, frantically trying to push his foundering boat back into the water. It wouldn't budge. "Don't worry," said Jack, leaping back into the boat where his white knuckled friend prayed silently. "I'll just get this engine going and we'll back her off."

The engine wouldn't start. "He must have yanked on that rope a dozen times before tearing it right out of the engine. Next thing I knew of Jack was peeling off his clothes and plunging nude as jaybird into that cold water."

"Don't worry," shouted Jack, kicking up a storm of water. "I'll push her off sideways."

Either his brute force or a compassionate wave nudged the boat back into the water.

But no sooner had the boat said goodbye to the seawall, it had anchored itself on a sandbar. "Don't worry," said Jack. "I'll have her off in a jiffy — just crank up the keel."

News From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Representative

In view of all the disturbing reports coming from investigators regarding fraud and abuse in the Wayne County Welfare Department, I am happy to report that some parts of the program are doing very well for the taxpayers.

One again last fiscal year, Michigan led the nation in collecting child support payments from delinquent parents for families on ADC (Aid to Dependent Children).

According to figures released by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Michigan collected a total of $53.5 million from parents who have not been keeping up in their child support payments. The cost of finding the run-away parents and collecting the money came to $7.1 million, netting Michigan taxpayers a savings of $46.5 million.

Michigan Department of Social Services officials point out that Michigan was one of the first states to implement a child support enforcement program.

HEW estimates that about half of the absent parents of ADC children are financially able to provide child support, and their failure to do so costs more than $1 billion a year in welfare payments nationwide.

Nationally, the states reported more than $280 million in child support collections on behalf of ADC families during the 11 months ending June 11. HEW also shows that Michigan:

—collected 20 percent of all child support payments in the U.S. involving ADC families, and —accounted for 42 percent of the incentive payments of ADC families and 60 percent of the incentive payments to counties.

These incentive payments are a share of the child support collections returned to counties and to ADC families themselves in return for their help in locating the delinquent parents.

highest number of votes of any candidate for the board, trustee Nowka, not up for election, and Dr. John Swienkowski, who ran for the board after being appointed to it.

Supervisor Betty Lennox, who was defeated in the primary, at the conclusion of the meeting voiced appreciation of trustee Richard Mitchell's eight, trustee John MacDonald's four and treasurer Charles Rosenberg's two years of service.

"Taxpayers should appreciate the efforts they have spent," she said. Mitchell, MacDonald and Rosenberg did not run for reelection.

Moved to be placed as the first item of new business on the December agenda of the new board was the long-standing matter of allowances for police reserves.

"It is not a salary but an allowance situation," Mitchell told the board, enumerating that reserves had spent 822 hours and should be allotted $1,644. The allowances had been eliminated in the township financial crisis.

"When an individual takes time from his family and then has to take such things as cleaning costs for uniforms from the family budget, it's asking a bit too much," he said.

The clerk and new treasurer were instructed to look into the situation.

At the request of Ralph Frid, spokesman for Marilyn area residents, the preliminary plat approval for Northville Colony Subdivision No. 3 was tabled.

He reported "substantial and encouraging progress" as a result of a letter from the planning commission to the Wayne County Road Commission explaining that RECENT CRITICISM in the form of letters to the editor and comment from both students and citizens in general has been aimed at housekeeping conditions inside Northville High School. The grounds could use a little policing, too, as evidenced by these photographs taken this week. In the area above near the tennis courts and well-painted water tower beer cans, bottles and a dead skunk decorate the landscape. At right is a picture that does not do full justice to the litter scattered around both athletic fields. Photos unused include more beer cans and bottles on the grass at the flag pole entrance way to the high school. Specifically, that's at the main entrance where doors are still boarded followed the smashing of glass some four weeks ago.

"I don't know much about sailboats, but I think he unlocked the wrong keel pin," said Jack's friend later. "Anyway, instead of cranking up the keel, he cranked the cable with such force it chewed a hole in the floor."

The boat was taking on water when someone from shore spotted the danger.

"You sailors in trouble?" he shouted.

"Just a little," replied Jack, "but nothing to worry about."

Help came in the form of a large inboard craft, powerful enough to easily pull Jack's new but rapidly deteriorating boat.

He heaved the tow line to sailor Jack, who further demonstrated his seamanship by tying a beautiful knot. "All set," shouted Jack.

"When that inboard started churning there was no doubt it would get us off that sandbar. It lunged forward and peeled off the railing along one whole side of our boat, screws, bolts and all."

When the inboard came back, with the railing water-skiing behind it, the driver was convulsing, Jack's friend who couldn't swim was seriously considering diving in for safety, and Jack was muttering, "Don't worry, I can get that fixed by a friend for practically nothing."

Later, back at the dock, Jack offered to pay the inboard owner for the tow back to shore.

"Mister, you don't owe me a cent. I haven't seen a circus like this in 47 years."

special meeting.

At the September 8 meeting the board voted 4-2 (Trustee John MacDonald was absent) to assign top priority to the Northville Community Library building request for federal funds. It also voted 4-2 to designate the city as the single unit of government to make application for the grant. A motion to call another special meeting later in the month to discuss applying for a federal grant for construction of the township fire-police complex failed by a 3-3 vote.

Also at the September 8 special meeting the board voted unanimously to place a land transfer proposal on the November 3 ballot. The action taken that night asked voters "to convey the following described premises comprising 0.831 acres to such parties and for such consideration as the board of trustees may deem appropriate in order to obtain clear title to the remainder of the 8.90-acre parcel of land of which it is a part."

The proposal was approved by a wide margin at the November 2 election, 3,043 to 1,305.

Ironically, the September 1 special meeting was held under a cloud of uneasiness. The majority of the boardmembers did not wish to have the meeting called. In The Record's report of the session the story noted,

"Calling of the meeting and the proposal to seek federal funds did not meet with unanimous approval of all trustees, it was evident at the start of the meeting, as Treasurer Charles Rosenberg asked the attorney if the meeting were legal and was told it appeared so."

The story explained that the request for the special meeting was made in writing by Trustees Mitchell and Swienkowski "as both the supervisor and clerk were on vacation". It was known at the time that Supervisor Betty Lennox, Treasurer Rosenberg and Trustees MacDonald and Nowka were not in favor of holding the session.

The Record, too, bristled at the failure to be properly notified of the session. In its report of the special meeting the newspaper noted "although the decision to call the special meeting was made Tuesday, the press was not notified until 2:45 p.m. Thursday, the day of the meeting. Had the press received notice Tuesday an item could have appeared in the August 25 edition informing the public of the special session."

'Peanut Bowl' wasn't the first'

To the Editor:

In turning to page 2-C of your November 10, 1976 issue I read the following under the picture of the Northville Colts: "What sponsors hope will be the first annual Peanut Bowl will be played starting at 4 p.m. Saturday at Northville High School's football field." I must point out that this could not possibly be the first Annual Peanut Bowl for the Northville Colts, since that event was staged on November 16, 1968 at Cadillac, Michigan between the Northville Colts and the junior football teams for Cadillac during one of that season's coldest, snowiest, windiest evenings.

I am sure that all of the parents that travelled that distance to see their sons play will well remember the fine weather. However, our sons more than made up for it with their great playing of the game, plus the fact that the scores read as follows:

Freshman, Northville 46, Cadillac 0; Junior Varsity, Northville 27, Cadillac 0; and Varsity, Northville 21, Cadillac 7.

Cadillac even hosted a big parade for our event, in which we all participated. Just thought I would set the "Record" straight.

A "Parent of Champion"

To the Editor:

I report an error in your paper. On page 2-C of sports the Northville Colt Peanut Bowl it is not the first, but the second. And I play on freshmen team.

Sincerely,
Daniel F. Brinker-Age 10

Academy missed

To the Editor:

The Northville Record may have nearly missed a very important opportunity to have been of service to its readers, especially those having an interest in the Northville Main Street School. We refer to the complete absence of any reporting on the Plymouth Christian Academy, which has been housed on the second floor of the Main Street School building since August 1976 and opened its doors to students on September 7, 1976. The contrasting amount of coverage of other schools in Northville has been noteworthy.

Although the Plymouth Christian Academy will not occupy the Main Street School building after July 1977, since ground-breaking ceremonies were held Sunday for the construction of a new facility to house the P.C.A. at the Calvary Baptist Church, 43065 Joy Road, Plymouth, The Northville Record still has a chance remaining in which to inform its readers of this school.

An open house, to see the Plymouth Christian Academy in its present facilities and to meet its staff, will be held at the Main Street School from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday, November 21, to which students, parents of enrolled students, interested friends and the public at large are invited. Hopefully it is not too late for inclusion of this open house in your list of "upcoming events for the week."

For further information, call the Plymouth Christian Academy (348-2828), the P.C.A. Administrator Harry Guess (721-1247), the P.C.A. Superintendent and Pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church Reverend G. Douglas Rutledge (455-0022, 453-6749, or 453-5930), or Chairman of the P.C.A. Board of Regents, Jan Mangan (981-0101).

Sincerely yours,

Play was great!

To the Editor:

Last Saturday night, I was part of a small audience for the Northville High School performance of the play, "Royal Gambit".

I wish to congratulate the cast, the stage crew, and the director for an excellent performance. I wish to especially thank Mr. Kurt Kinde for his selection of this very thought-provoking and stimulating play.

It was a shame that not more people attended. Large crowds turn out for musicals and more light-hearted fare, but unfortunately, given something more intellectual, not many people are interested.

For me, it was a rediscovery of the value of live theatre, which is so much more involving and imaginative than movies or T.V.

I hope that in spite of the smaller crowds, Mr. Kinde will continue to pursue the quality and excellence of such productions.

Township plans pit fencing ordinance

An ordinance requiring fencing of Northville township gravel pits and lakes is on the way.

The township board last Thursday requested its attorney, Donald Morgan, to draft a fencing ordinance for the pits after receiving a letter from District Judge Dunbar Davis.

He called the problem of swimming and trespassing at the gravel pits and artificial lakes, particularly at Highland Lakes, a "burden to the township police, residents of the areas involved, the 35th District Court and the young people who frequent the areas."

He suggested fencing as the solution, pointing out that fencing of the Thomson Gravel pit had solved the problem there.

Citing the time and costs to the township and court in making arrests, he asked for a better method of coping with the problem. He warned that unless some better method of coping with the problem is devised he plans to review the legality of the present method "and may very well summarily dismiss all such cases."

PLANT A TREE — A Norway Maple planted by the Northville Kiwanis Club was placed last week in Joe Denton Park as part of the Northville Beautification Commission's "Plant a Tree in Northville" program. Present for the ceremony were: (from left) Wilson Funk of the Northville Beautification Commission, Barbara Yoder of the Northville Branch of the WNFGA, Kiwanian Mel Miner, Mrs. Paul Vernon of the Northville Beautification Commission, former councilman Sid Frid, past police chief Joe Denton for whom the park was named, his daughter Mrs. Carl Stephens, Kiwanian Ray Casterline, Kiwanian John Steimel, and Carl Stephens.

'Plant a Tree' project gets boost

Plant A Tree in Northville, a continuing project here by the Northville Beautification Commission, received a big boost last week with the planting of five trees on Veterans Day.

The trees were gifts to the community by five different organizations. They include:

Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, which provided a Norway Maple for the south municipal parking lot at the entrance to the business district.

Marquis Boutique, 133 East Main Street, which provided a Blue Spruce at Moraine Elementary School.

Northville Garden Branch, which provided a Sunburst Locust as a living memorial to Rhoda Martin in Joe Denton Park, located near Fairbrook and Eaton.

The Garden Club also provided a Sycamore for the Fish Hatchery Park, where it hopefully will one day become a large shade tree to protect tennis players between matches.

Northville Kiwanis Club, which provided a Norway Maple for Joe Denton Park.

On hand for the planting of the trees in Joe Denton Park was Northville's former police chief, an 88-year-old long-time resident of the community who lives at the southwest corner of Randolph and Linden streets.

Denton served as police chief for more than 15 years in the 1940's and 1950's after having supervised the Farm Crest properties in Northville Township for many years.

As chief, he was particularly popular among youngsters of the community, having launched and supervised a junior police corps that was active here for a number of years.

Other organizations or citizens in the community who would like to participate in the Plant A Tree program are asked to call the commission chairman, Paul Vernon, at 349-5741.

Ceremony opens I-275

Close to 50 officials from state, county and local governments flocked to the Eight Mile Road entrance to I-275 last Wednesday as ribbon cutting ceremonies took place for the opening of an 8.5 mile section of the freeway.

The new stretch of freeway, which carries the dual designation of I-96 and I-275, is now carrying traffic between I-96 in Novi and Schoolcraft Road in Livonia. South of that point to Ford road was opened previously to traffic last year.

Officials present included the mayors of Novi, Livonia and Farmington Hills, as well as Northville Township Supervisor Betty Lennox. Also present were Miss Farmington, Holly Ann Schmidt, and Miss Michigan Transportation, Gloria Crafton, who participated in the ribbon cutting ceremonies.

The Eight Mile entrance was chosen for the ceremonies because it lies where Livonia, Farmington Hills and Novi intersect. The three cities sponsored the affair in cooperation with the Livonia Chamber of Commerce and the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

When I-275, part of the nation's 42,500 mile Interstate Freeway system, is completed, it will provide a north-south route through populous southeastern Michigan. It begins at I-75 near Newport, north of Monroe and extends north for 38.5 miles to Novi, joining with I-96 at Schoolcraft Road. The 2.5 mile southern terminus of the freeway, connecting I-75 with US-24 south of Newport is open to traffic now, as well as the stretch between Ford Road and I-96. The remaining mileage is under construction and nearing completion.

Oakland County Road Commission Director John Grubba told the officials present at the ribbon cutting that "I hope it won't be long till we open 275 north of this point so we can take congestion off the county roads."

Besides the opening last week of the stretch of freeway, an eight foot wide paved bicycle path running parallel to the freeway was opened for 3.2 miles from south of Nine Mile Road north and west to Meadowbrook Road in Novi. Eventually the path will run along the entire length of the freeway.

Novi Mayor Gilbert Henderson commented after the ribbon cutting that the opening of the 8.5 mile section of the freeway is a boon for Novi residents.

"Any of us living in north Novi can get to west Wayne County without going through Northville or Plymouth," said Henderson. "The southeast corner of Novi residents can pick it up at 8 Mile to get to the Lodge and avoid the Halstead, Grand River, 10 Mile Road traffic."

"When this opens completely, I won't have to go 25 miles out of my way to get to Toledo."

Bowl of marbles holds clue to why voter sampling works

By ROLLY PETERSON

Voter sampling to predict an election outcome would seem to require selection of precincts in municipalities most representative of given areas.

Brighton Township, one of the more populous townships in Livingston County, would appear to be a bona fide choice for most representative municipality in Livingston County.

In Oakland County, logic, it would appear, would compel the selection of perhaps the City of Pontiac (population 86,600), the City of Southfield (83,200) or Waterford Township.

In Wayne County, the "logical" choice as that county's election barometer might be a precinct or precincts from the City of Detroit (population 1,383,300), or the City of Westland (100,000).

But accepted voter sampling techniques dictate — and have proven — otherwise.

Precinct No. 1 in little Tyrone Township is the Detroit Free Press sample precinct in Livingston County for state races. Located in the extreme northeast corner of Livingston County, Tyrone has a 1970 population of 3,437.

A precinct in Oakland Township (population 4,793) is the sample for Oakland County. And a precinct in Van Buren Township (13,162) is the indicator for Wayne County.

"Barometer precinct is a totally unreliable concept," said Bill Mitchell, city-county bureau chief for the Detroit Free Press and the man in charge of that newspaper's sampling.

Population of a municipality has nothing to do with reliable sampling. Neither does the voter batting average.

The key to reliable election result forecasting, Mitchell says, is a totally random selection of voter precincts.

The Free Press, Mitchell explained, samples 80 precincts throughout the state. Among them are Tyrone Township, Oakland Township and Van Buren Township.

Why 80 precincts from an approximate 6,400 in the state? Because, Mitchell said, the square root of 6,400 is 80.

From a numbered table then, precincts are chosen at random, beginning, say, by counting down to precinct number 150. Every 80th precinct might be selected thereafter until the list is exhausted.

Mitchell suggested several analogies to illustrate random validity. To determine the type of blood a person has, he said, it isn't necessary to analyze all the blood in the person's body. A vial would do. Likewise, he continued, to determine the number of different types of marbles in a bowl, it isn't necessary to classify and count all the marbles. A handful would suffice as a valid sample.

Random selection, Mitchell cautions, does not mean haphazard.

"On the contrary," he said. "But, random is the most reliable way. You can't rely on raw vote totals."

In the race between John Nichols and Coleman Young for mayor of Detroit two years ago, the raw returns had Nichols beating Young. But the Free Press was "in the street," as Mitchell put it, saying Young was beating Nichols. The sample precinct returns, of course, indicated Young was the probable victor.

The Free Press was forced to resort to sampling precincts because of the desire to hit the streets in the morning with news of the probable winner, if not an announcement of the winner. Normally, the Press goes to bed at 6 p.m., but election nights, the deadline is extended to 9 p.m., Mitchell said.

"In August (the primary), we could call Riegle the winner in the first edition," Mitchell said. "With no indicator precincts, we would have had no story."

The Carter-Udall race in the May Presidential Primary, if you recall, was a squeaker for Jimmy Carter. The Free Press sample indicators showed Carter winning by eight-tenths of one percent. The actual margin was three-tenths of one percent.

To help gather information from sample precincts, the Press hires groups, such as the League of Women Voters and Focus Hope, to phone results in as soon as they are available. Sometimes the results are not available at deadline time.

To help overcome this flaw, Mitchell said he might resort to predicting the likely outcome in these unreported precincts. The decision is based on knowledge of prior voting habits.

"I had a ballpark idea of how Tyrone would go," Mitchell said, recalling that the returns from that township missed the November general election deadline.

Sampling, no matter how carefully it's done, does not preclude a recurrence of the Dewey-Truman incident in 1948. In that presidential race, of course, the Chicago Tribune, in an historic faux pas, declared, in a bold, banner headline on the front page, that Republican Thomas Dewey was the winner.

"We try to prevent this," Mitchell said, "but there's always a chance for error. Ninety-five out of 100 times we'll be within the statistical margin for error."

The message clearly is to play it conservative in a close race and admit it's too close to call.

"The Detroit school millage vote was a good example of the limits of the system," Mitchell said. "It was too close to call. As it turned out, the indicators were close to what actually happened."

State to use less salt on highways this year

LANSING—There's going to be less de-icing salt used on Michigan's state highway system this winter.

That's the pledge — and word of caution — from the State Highway Commission, which is determined to reduce the amount of salt for reasons of cost and the environment.

"Salting has been an effective and relatively inexpensive method of removing light snow and ice from our highways," said John P.

Woodford, director of the Department of State Highways and Transportation. "However, with a 13 percent increase in the cost of salt this year, coupled with increasing environmental concerns, we must and will reduce our salting operations."

Woodford said new and improved snow removal equipment and procedures, developed by the Department

100 voices sing at Salem church

A special musical treat is in store for those who attend the 11 a.m. worship service this Sunday at the Salem Bible Church. The Adlai E. Stevenson High School Symphonic Choir of approximately 100 voices will participate in the service.

This choir is the only high school choral group in the United States ever to have been invited by the prestigious Jeunesse Musicale de France to participate in its International Festival in Vichy, France. While on tour in Europe, the choir gave additional concerts in the cathedrals of Chartres, Notre Dame, and Cologne, with invitations to return to all three.

In addition to their European trip, the Symphonic Choir three years ago went on tour to New York, and two years ago, became the first Michigan public high school choir to be asked to perform at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

The choral program climaxes a week-long Missionary Conference at the Salem Church. Jim Missildine, director of Elim House, a Christian information service in Detroit, has been the guest speaker. Services are at 7:30 p.m. today and Thursday.

"The Coming Invasion of Israel," a prophetic film, will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday evening. The public is invited to attend any or all of the services.

The Symphonic Choir which will sing glories to God Sunday, performed in concert at the Cadet Chapel, with the Cadet Chapel Choir, at the United States Military Academy at West Point on May 23 of this year. They were accompanied by organ music from the largest pipe organ in the world, more than 18,200 pipes, located at the Cadet Chapel.

Choir Director Lowell C. Everson, studied at Michigan State University where he was the assistant director of the Men's Glee Club. He received his masters degree and continued doctoral work at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

Reverend Richard Henderson at new church 'site'—Village Oaks school in Novi

It's new Presbyterian church

Novi dedication's Sunday

"We will be giving special thanks for this opportunity and for this church," explains the Reverend Richard Henderson as he announces that the first service of a new Presbyterian mission church in Novi will be November 21.

The Thanksgiving service, and subsequent services at 10 a.m. Sundays will be held in the gymnasium of Village Oaks School on Willowbrook Road.

The Reverend Henderson says he feels the beginning of the new church at Thanksgiving is "most appropriate."

To be called Faith Community United Presbyterian Church, the new mission project is going forward with part of its support coming from the First Presbyterian Church in Northville.

It is releasing the Reverend Henderson, its associate minister, half time to work at the new Novi church and will support it financially also.

A study of the Novi area regarding the need for a new church had been going on for a year and a half, the minister explains, and a door-to-door survey this fall was "very convincing" regarding the need for the Presbyterian project.

"We talked with 686 families and had 62 indicate some interest," he enumerates, explaining that the first service is scheduled with about 12 or 13 families expected who now belong to the Northville church.

He adds that those who have been Catholic, Lutheran and Baptist have indicated interest in the new project bringing together varied backgrounds to form "a community of faith."

The venture will begin with a steering committee of nine persons rather than with a formal session.

Personal enrichment club organizing in Northville

A new personal enrichment club, designed to help members cope with everyday problems and live happier, more effective Christian lives, is being organized in the area.

Personal Enrichment Clubs, Mrs. Wilbur Berryman of Northville explains, are a ministry of the Narramore Christian Foundation and are designed to improve relationships of members both in their family and with others.

First meeting is planned for this coming Thursday, November 18, with once or twice-monthly meetings to follow. A make-up session will be offered for those who miss the first meeting.

"If you sometimes wonder why you feel and act the way you do, this is for you," states Mrs. Berryman.

There still is time to register for the program. For details write Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Berryman, 943 Carrington, Northville, 48167, or telephone evenings, 349-1863.

Holy Spirit seminar set

The Reverend Philip Guyer will begin teaching a "Seminar on the Holy Spirit" Friday, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Salvation Army Fellowship Hall in Howell.

Classes, which are open to the public, will cover topics including the charismatic movement, prophecy, and contemporary social problems.

Sessions are expected to meet twice weekly for three to four weeks, according to Mr. Guyer.

Church Capsules

The Brighton Men's Christian Fellowship is holding a breakfast Saturday, November 20, beginning at 8 a.m. at Uncle John's Pancake House on Grand River Avenue in Brighton.

Ford Motor Company Executive Paul Lansing will be the guest speaker. Cost is $2.75, including tax and tip.

Dr. Milton Bank of the South Lyon United Methodist Church has titled his sermon for the November 24 Union Thanksgiving Service simply, "Thanksgiving." The text is drawn from First Chronicles 16:8-10, 23-24 and 31-34. The Union service, hosted this year by St. Joseph Catholic Church, is an annual ecumenical worship shared by South Lyon Presbyterians, Methodists and Catholics. It begins at 7:30 p.m. and is open to the public.

Richard Lenz, choir director at the First United Presbyterian Church, will conduct a combined choir from all three churches in a special Thanksgiving anthem.

Following the service, there will be a social hour in the parish hall with ladies of St. Joseph's providing the refreshments.

The Reverend James M. Bank, son of Dr. Milton Bank, will deliver the sermon at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services at the South Lyon United Methodist Church this Sunday, November 21. Mr. Bank is a chaplain in the United States Marine Corps and is leaving shortly for a three-year assignment in Okinawa.

The hard hitting film dealing with today's headlines from the Middle East, "The Coming Invasion of Israel," will be shown this Sunday at 7 p.m. at the Salem Bible Church. Using the Bible as its authority, (Daniel 11 and Ezekiel 38 — 39th chapters) it reviews and reveals God's plan for Israel as that nation faces grave crises in the months to come.

One of the phenomena which characterizes the modern world is the rapid rise of Russia to the place of one of the great nations of the world. What does the Bible say about this great power? How does this nation fit into God's plan? These and other questions are dealt with in this unusual film.

Indoor trees

Figs like bright light

By KATHY COPLEY

The Ficus family has several members which are much used as indoor trees. While rubber trees, fiddleleaf fig, and weeping fig begin as table size plants, they grow quickly to shrub and tree size. Others in the family are creeping vines.

Figs respond well to bright light from a west or south window, evenly moist soil (a little less water in winter), and an occasional leaf cleaning with clear, warm water on a soft cloth.

Ficus elastica decora is the rubber tree, whose special requirements are minimal. Like most of the ficus family, they need daytime temperatures of 70-75 degrees, and night temperatures of 60-65 degrees. Monthly fertilizing is adequate.

The rubber tree tolerates considerable coolness but no drastic changes in temperature. If the lower leaves droop and turn yellow, give it less water and more light.

New leaves begin as slender red cones and unfurl into the leathery, 6-12 inches long, deep green leaves characteristic of rubber trees.

The fiddleleaf fig (Ficus lyrata pandurata) has enormous leaves, as much as 18 inches long, shaped like wavy-edged fiddles. They require temperatures consistently between 65 and 75 degrees. They are not good plants for entryways because cool drafts cause them to drop their leaves.

Water this tree when the soil surface is slightly dry to the touch and fertilize every two months. They grow quite tall and are difficult to transplant, so begin with a generous pot.

The weeping fig (F. benjamina) grows to five feet, with small leaves and a graceful, drooping growth habit. They are lovely plants but very poor travelers, often losing a large number of leaves when taken from a greenhouse. Daily misting helps simulate greenhouse conditions.

Another way to handle moving a weeping fig is to buy it when greenhouse conditions and outdoor conditions are similar. The plant won't be nearly so shocked by being transported on a warm July day as it would be on a balmy day in mid-February.

Creeping figs (F. pumila or F. repens) have one-inch leaves and stems which attach themselves by means of tiny rootlets. They are decorative in themselves and are also an excellent ground cover in large pots, especially if the main plant has become leggy and bare at the base. Creeping figs are also good hanging plants.

Figs can be propagated by air layering, by rooting in water, or by rooting in moist, sterile soil. Air layering is the most successful and is not nearly as difficult as it sounds.

Make a diagonal cut in the stem, 3/4 of the way through, one inch from the top of the stem. The cut should be made from the bottom toward the top. Encircle the cut with a generous handful of moist sphagnum moss. Wrap plastic firmly around the moss and fasten it firmly above and below the cut. The idea is to form a sort of terrarium in which the new roots will develop. When roots permeate the moss, cut the section off entirely and re-pot it.

of State Highways and Transportation over the past several years, will permit use of less salt while maintaining safe winter-driving conditions.

"We continually heard that excessive use of salt can damage the roadside environment," Woodford said. "For this reason, and due to the rising cost of salt, and because the Department believes it can do an adequate clearing job with better equipment and procedures, we are reducing salting operations."

Woodford warned, however, that the motoring public must recognize that winter driving conditions may be hazardous at times. Whenever possible, motorists should postpone their trips until after storms are over, he said.

Woodford said highway maintenance forces will begin snow removal operations as soon and as fast as in previous years, and will continue to salt or sand hills, curves and intersections. General salt applications during storms, however, will be reduced, especially on highways with low traffic volumes.

This will be the fourth winter the Highway Commission's modified bare-pavement policy will be in effect. In an effort to reduce fuel consumption and to hold down fast-rising costs, the Commission in 1973 implemented a policy to reduce winter maintenance on the state's less-traveled highways.

Under this policy, all 9,400 miles of state highways will be kept plowed and passable at all times during snow storms. However, the pavement of highways having average daily traffic volumes of less than 3,500 vehicles will not be kept entirely bare if they become snow-covered in the late afternoon or night.

The policy provides for continuation of the 24-hour, bare-pavement policy on the 3,200 miles of state highways carrying average traffic volumes of more than 3,500 vehicles a day. This includes nearly all freeways and many other heavily traveled highways.

The Department of State Highways and Transportation maintains state highways in 21 of Michigan's 83 counties and contracts with county road commissions for maintenance of state highways in the other 62 counties.

The cost of snow and ice removal on state highways last year rose to a record high, with an expenditure of $17,161,486. This compares to an average of $13,478,538 for the last five years.

The big increase was attributed to rising costs, a severe winter and the most severe ice storm ever to hit the state. The Department has budgeted $16,180,308 for maintenance of state highways in the 1976-77 winter.

"The frequency and severity of winter storms are, of course, the determining factor on our costs," Woodford said.

Here's what to do with that buck

By CARL OLSON
Michigan Department of Agriculture

you get it home.

There's a faint movement in the brush across the clearing. You wait silently, motionless. An alert Michigan whitetail buck moves slowly out of hiding as you lift your rifle. There's a sharp jolt you're hardly aware of and the deer falls in its tracks. Now what?

Food Inspection staff of the Michigan Department of Agriculture has a number of suggestions to ensure your venison is wholesome when You wouldn't use a dirty knife at home so, before carefully gutting out the deer, make sure your hunting knife is clean. If there isn't much snow, don't drag the deer to your camp. Get some help and carry it back to camp and hang the deer, clean out the cavity and prop it open with a short stick to allow air to circulate.

If the weather is warm, take the deer to a reputable locker firm for butchering immediately. By warm, anything over 45 degrees will result in spoilage very rapidly. If it's 20 to 30 degrees, a week or so of hanging won't hurt.

Another thing these food people point out is that it may look "macho" to put the deer over the car's front fender on the way home, but because of the engine, it's much too hot. Place the animal either over the trunk or on the roof

After butchering, have the processor freeze the meat before you take it home. Most home freezers just aren't capable of freezing that much meat quickly enough.

Only through the largesse of friends do I have venison for a meal, but when I do, I love it.

A good old-fashioned way to cook a venison round steak or chop is to brown it well in a hot frying pan with a small amount of butter. Then add 1/2 stick of butter and about one tablespoon of oil. This keeps the butter from burning. Pour in three slices medium onions, stir occasionally until the onions begin to turn golden. Serve with the onions heaped over the top. Fantastic!

Bring the Far West a little closer. Just $1.27* for five minutes.

Speak Out Oh Heart

Speak out, oh Heart And set me free To be just what I want to be. Don't hide in dark Recesses deep And dream your dreams While just asleep!

The Four Seasons

This was to have been only an ode of spring, a time when crocus, tulips and daffodils bring... A sense of wonder of good things to be, yet a time when much work in the garden I see... So I put down my pen, with the shovel go out, I weed and I spade and wonder, deeply, about... The seasons God gives, to please us so much, the birds, trees, bees... thistles and such... The sun shines down, warm on my back, I feel in a garden, there's little to lack... A robin sails by, what a glorious sight, flowers awakening after winter's long night... Words I would write are... still in my pen as I pause for a moment to watch a sweet wren... Yet I feel all is well for tomorrow will bring, time to write poetry, read books and do, anything... For the warm, sweet summer is indeed not a time, to sit and read books or write lines that rhyme... Vacations are here, no one wants to rest, why waste one precious moment when the sun's shining best... And that feeling persists as time hurries so fast, and in no time at all, it seems summer has past... And I laugh at myself as the leaves start to fall, with fields turning brown and a haze over all... For the colors are wondrous now down in the glen and I feel not the slightest need for my pen... The flowers are falling asleep in their beds, the leaves tumble down in gold heaps o'er their heads... The warm days have gone with a sweet passing sigh, and summer has whispered her gentle good-bye... Soon the bright autumn colors will swiftly flow, into a world of... white... wintry snow... And the still sweet earth then at even-tide will ever keep faith with... God's time to abide... Our four seasons will then be complete as all things settle down into winter's... long, deep sleep.

Ruth Brinkerhoff

Tomorrow

Tomorrow... more than a word so single. A whole meaning or beginning... the time or day after today. A start again, on life. Time of renewal... to be — over again, yet so much different if need be. Fresh, alive, new; again. A time of wonderment, leaving past behind... and starting anew.

Patricia Kotlarczyk

Reflections

It came to pass... as my thoughts quivered on the brink of life and continuance, that if reality could hold the hopes that were so much in dream... then the reflections of continuance would seem that much more meaningful... and reality wouldn't have to be held in such a quivering state.

Patricia Kotlarczyk

Oh please, My Heart, I beg of thee Just be a real Part of me. Don't hide in dark Recesses deep And dream your dreams While just asleep!

McPHERSON STATE BANK and Brighton Township officials recently broke ground for the newest McPherson branch to be located at 8130 West Grand River behind the mobile office which will continue operation until the new structure is completed by mid-summer of 1977. Peggy Goff, assistant manager, and George Seger, assistant vice-president and manager of the Brighton branch; Sandy McPherson, president; Mac Smith, executive vice-president; Sam Dayo, architect; Ed McPherson, senior vice-president; Jack Wheaton, Brighton Township supervisor and Bob Kennedy, contractor.

ANN ROY was elected president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting of the board of directors following the annual Chamber dinner program.

Other newly elected officers are:

The next general meeting of the Chamber will be held Thursday, November 18, at the Northville City Hall council chambers beginning at 7:30 p.m.

WINNERS HAVE been announced in the Grand Opening give-away at Security Bank of Novi.

Winner of the money barrel was Rose Marie Fritz of Novi. She guessed $513 was in the barrel, which actually contained $513.87. David Junker took home a snowblower, Charles Anderson a television and Beverly Welti a microwave oven. All winners were from Novi.

Security Bank of Novi is located at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook Road.

NOVI AUTO PARTS, INC., located at 43131 Grand River in Novi has been named a dealer for powered lawn, garden and grounds maintenance equipment made by the Simplicity Manufacturing Company.

The store is a partnership of Donald and Harold Tuck and occupies facilities of 2750 square feet. Founded in 1925, Novi Auto Parts will, as a Simplicity dealer, handle sales and service for riding type and walk-behind equipment, including machines for lawnmowing, earth tilling, snow removal and the like.

MARK AND BARRY HYMAN are the owners and operators of the Book Mark which recently opened in the Novi-10 shopping center located at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook Road in Novi.

The owners, who are brothers, are also in the book fair business in the metropolitan Detroit area in a firm called Book Fair Consultants. A second book store owned by the Hyman is located in Detroit in the First National Bank Building.

The Book Mark carries a full line of hard cover and paperback books, as well as no charge special ordering for private persons and industry. The store handles Ambassador cards, gifts and candles. It also carries imported chess and backgammon sets, as well as decorations.

A NEW BUSINESS opened this week in Novi. It's called Bob's Speedometer & Window Wiper Service, a highly specialized service. Owners of the business are Bob Woolsey and his son, Bruce. The Novi location is their second. Bob opened his first service outlet in 1929 in Detroit. He'll continue at that location while Bruce runs the Novi operation. The unique service business repairs speedometers, tachometers, windshield wiper motors, cruise controls and wiring for autos, trucks and boats. HOME ENERGY
CONSULTANT

An Energy Christmas Gift

Ranges, refrigerator-freezers, washing machines and other major appliances do not fit in the Christmas stocking very well but Santa does get quite a few calls for those items. And Santa always delivers. This year he can deliver appliances with many energy-saving features. Those features offer an excellent opportunity to practice energy conservation and reduce energy costs.

Suppose it's a new range that Santa's going to bring down the chimney with him. If it's a gas range, consider one with electric spark ignition system. The total amount of gas used for the range can be reduced by 30 percent through elimination of the pilot light. Also, select one with burners that have temperature controls. They not only save energy, but also you don't have to worry about burning what you cook.

Another new energy-saving feature to look for is a range equipped with a forced-convection oven. With this type of oven, cooking time is cut by 25 percent, lower cooking temperatures are used, and no oven preheating is necessary.

Microwave ovens offer energy savings of up to 75 percent when compared with conventional oven cooking. They're quicker, they thaw frozen foods in minutes, and cooking can be done on serving dishes or even paper plates.

If it's a refrigerator-freezer that tops the Christmas list, make sure that Santa pulls the right one out of his sleigh. Tell him it has to be the right size. The bigger the unit, the more energy it uses. Eight cubic feet is about adequate for a family of two. Add a cubic foot for each additional member of the family and a couple more cubic feet if you do a lot of entertaining. Generally, the more automatic the defrost system, the more energy used. Consequently, a no-frost refrigerator will use more energy than one that is defrosted manually. The various models can be compared on energy consumption by asking your appliance dealer for a copy of the Directory of Certified Refrigerators and Freezers published by the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers (AHAM). Another energy-saving feature to look for is a power-saver switch that turns off the heater contained in the refrigerator to prevent it from sweating during humid weather.

If you and your spouse are going to give each other a dishwasher for Christmas, you'd be wise to select a model with a switch to turn off the heating element during the dry cycle. The biggest energy consumer when using a dishwasher is not the washer itself but the water heater. Check the total amount of hot water a dishwasher uses and compare it with other models. A dishwasher with a "short cycle" or "light wash" selection can save energy. These cycles use less hot water.

If it's laundry equipment that Rudolph and his friends are going to haul your way, manufacturers have incorporated features in washers and dryers making them more efficient and less energy-consuming. Hot water is again the biggest energy user when washing.

So look for those features that help reduce hot water requirements a washer with a suds-return feature lets you reuse hot water; a water-level selector lets you match the amount of water with the size and type of load; cold water rinses can be used for all loads, and the number of gallons of water, particularly hot water, used by each washer should be compared.

Overdrying of clothes not only wastes energy but also gives a harsh feel and shrinks some items. Consequently, look for a dryer with electronic sensors that sense moisture in clothes and automatically end the drying cycle when clothes are ready. Or you may choose a less expensive system that uses a thermostat to measure temperature rather than moisture and turns the dryer off at a preset temperature. If you select a gas dryer, you will save energy by picking one with an electric spark ignition system.

Don't let the energy situation change your plans to purchase a small electric appliance as a gift. These appliances account for only a small amount of your total home energy requirements. In some cases, they can even save energy. For example, cooking a one-dish meal in an electric frypan takes less energy than heating up the oven.

And, as you prepare for the holidays, remember that our energy resources are a precious gift for everyone. So use energy wisely.

What does a woman do if beaten by her husband?

By WARREN HOYT

LANSING—Trapped by fear and insecurity, a woman may hopelessly endure domestic violence.

"... there didn't seem to be anywhere to turn for help and no one, not even my own family, wanted to be involved," said one beaten wife.

And, reports an attorney connected with a county legal aid society, "In many areas of this state, the police establishment... has accepted a certain level of domestic violence as a fact of life."

The Michigan Women's Commission is working toward giving the victims of domestic violence more hope.

The commission recently conducted several public hearings throughout the state to determine the scope of the problem.

TESTIMONY, indicating the problem is pervasive, forms what the commission refers to as "a somber document of pain, fear, isolation and helplessness."

In each of its hearing cities, the commission heard testimony that:

—law enforcement officials do not offer much, if any, help to women who are assaulted.

—injunctive orders are not enforced to protect these women from additional beatings.

—prosecutors are reluctant or even refuse to issue warrants against men who assault women in their homes.

—the criminal justice system fails to prosecute or to punish those who commit this crime.

Commissioners plan to analyze the testimony and make recommendations for helping beaten wives.

MORE THAN 100 pounds of fish snagged illegally on the Au Sable River led to the arrest of six persons...

Two poachers were caught butchering deer...

Other "rotten apples" in Michigan's hunting and fishing population may find themselves facing prosecution also — thanks to conscientious sportsmen who are turning in law-breakers to the Department of Natural Resources.

Through a year-old "hot line" program, sportsmen and other conservation-minded citizens are helping law officers catch violators. The DNR reports well over 500 violation complaints this year from citizens who reported witnessing illegal activity in the field.

"SURE, THERE HAVE been a few misleading calls," says DNR spokesman Bruce Andrews. "There also have been a number of prosecutions. Without that initial tip, we might not have been so lucky."

During the fall and winter hunting seasons, the DNR staffs the "hot line" at its Lansing Mason Building office 16 hours a day. Andrews urges anyone who knows of game and fish law violations to call: 1-800-292-7800.

More money for local roads

Increased tax revenues, plus interest accumulated in the state's Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, produced more money for road purposes in the three-month period that ended September 30, the State Highway Commission reported today.

After deductions for grants and administrative costs, $111,572,496 is being distributed among the Department of State Highways and Transportation, the 83 county road commissions and the 531 incorporated cities and villages. The sum is 11.1 percent higher than the distribution for the July-September quarter of 1975.

About half of the increase resulted from higher motor fuel tax and weight tax (license plate fee) collections. The rest is 15 months' interest accumulated in the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, which is the depository for state motor fuel and weight taxes.

In previous years, the interest was distributed annually in the quarter ending with the fiscal year June 30. This year, because the Legislature extended the fiscal year to September 30, the interest is being paid three months later.

Because of a decline in interest rates, the $6,019,777 in interest earned for 15 months is 38.7 percent less than the $9,825,612 interest earned in the 12 months of the 1974-75 fiscal year.

Taxes on motor fuels — gasoline, diesel fuel and liquid petroleum — brought in $110,273,340 in the July-September quarter, an increase of $4,818,382, or 4.6 percent, over the same three months of 1975.

Revenues from weight taxes and miscellaneous sources such as vehicle title transfers totaled $9,204,793, up $1,405,405, or 18 percent. Revenues in the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund are distributed under a formula prescribed by law after deductions for various grants. The deductions include 1.25 percent of the gas tax to the State Waterways Fund ($1,303,165) and one-eighth of gas tax and liquefied petroleum tax to the General Transportation Fund for public transportation programs ($5,722,368). Additionally, the Secretary of State charged $6,484,874 for costs of administration.

Of the remainder, $48,636,932 will go to the Department of State Highways and Transportation, an increase of $3,986,933, or 8.9 percent; $40,120,611 to the county road commissions, an increase of $4,526,904, or 12.7 percent; and $22,814,953 to the municipalities, an increase of $2,612,919, or 12.9 percent.

Receipts for area communities include:

Brighton, $12,705, up from $10,789; Northville, $19,282, up from $16,980; Novi, $39,757, up from $35,263; Pinckney, $4,700, up from $4,159; South Lyon, $9,077, up from $8,007; Walled Lake, $13,467, up from $11,944; and Wixom, $11,508, up from $10,193.

THE ARMY CAN HELP YOUR SON OR DAUGHTER SAVE $8100 FOR COLLEGE OVER THE NEXT THREE YEARS.

INTRODUCING A NEW EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM.

Starting January 1, 1977, your son or daughter can accumulate up to $8100 for college or vocational-technical school during just 36 months in the Army.

Under this Educational Assistance Program, they can save from $50 to $75 each month, with their savings matched 2 for 1! And that adds up.

FOR EVERY DOLLAR THEY SAVE TOWARD COLLEGE, TWO WILL BE ADDED.

By participating in the new program, a young person gets three dollars back for every dollar saved toward college or vocational-technical school—the dollar saved plus the additional two dollars of matching funds.

If the maximum of $75 a month is saved ($2700 over 36 months), $5400 will be added for a total of $8100. If the minimum of $50 a month is saved ($1800 over 36 months), $3600 will be added for a total of $5400.

HOW DO THEY COLLECT?

Assuming your son or daughter has finished the 36-month enlistment in the Army and has deposited, for example, $75 to the educational fund each month, the $8100 accumulated under the program will be paid in monthly installments of $225 for each month of college or vocational-technical school completed.

If they decide not to continue schooling after the Army, they get back all the money saved. The matching funds will be paid only if used toward completing up to four years of college or vocational-technical school. The extra $5400 matching amount becomes a strong incentive for a young person to continue with school.

THEY CAN ALSO GO TO COLLEGE WHILE IN THE ARMY AND WE PAY UP TO 75% OF THE TUITION.

If your son or daughter enlists in today's Army, all kinds of educational opportunities are open for earning college or vocational-technical credits right on post with the Army paying up to 75% of the tuition. Under Project AHEAD, for example, a young person can enlist in the Army and enroll in college or vocational-technical school at the same time. Over 1400 colleges and universities around the country now participate in Project AHEAD. It's a great chance for a young person to get a jump on the future.

YOUR LOCAL ARMY REPRESENTATIVE IS THE PERSON TO TALK TO NEXT.

This new Educational Assistance Program, along with all of the other educational benefits the Army offers, will help your son or daughter serve their country better as soldiers now, citizens later. There's no better time to start getting that education than now. Your local Army Representative has full details on all the educational and other opportunities for young people in today's Army. Or, if you'd like us to send the information to you, just mail the coupon. Or call 800-431-1976 toll free. In NY, call 800-243-5614.

Novi bombs Airport, 35-6 to earn state playoff spot

Novi football players will be working overtime this week, but you won't hear a single complaint.

While most prep gridders have put their pads in storage, the Wildcats are one of 16 squads — four in each class — to qualify for the semi-finals of the state high school football championship.

Friday, Novi clinched its first playoff berth with a convincing 35-6 rout of pass-crazy Carleton Airport.

The win pits the Mustangs against unbeaten (8-0) Okemos in a semi-final game at Rochester High School at 1:30 Saturday afternoon.

If Novi wins, it will meet the winner of the East Grand Rapids-Mt. Pleasant game for the state championship on the following Saturday in Pontiac's Superdome.

"State officials informed us that we had made the playoffs on Sunday night," said coach John Osborne. "We pretty much knew we'd make it Friday night. It was like Ivory soap, we were 99 percent sure."

Only one team, Southgate Aquinas, had a chance to unseat the Mustangs and that slim hope vanished Sunday in a loss to Detroit Notre Dame.

For all practical purposes, the playoff berth was sewed up Friday night when the Mustangs scored three second-half touchdowns to pull away from Airport.

Airport, whose nickname is the Jets and whose chief weapon is the bomb, kept the first half close with a 57-yard strike from Tim Duffy to Ed Warner to set up Warner's three-yard touchdown run. That score cut into the 14 points posted by Novi on touchdown runs of 27 yards by quarterback Randy Wroten and halfback Andy Raddant. Duffy, as expected, came out throwing and completed 16 of 33 passes for 240 yards.

It was inevitable that the Mustangs would finally get to the tall passer. When they did, they intercepted two passes, sacked him several times and forced a fumble inside the 15 to set up a touchdown.

By then, the Mustang offensive line of tackles Jon Buck and Joe Silvestri, guards Bob Bannatz and Ken Kardel and center John Samples had won the battle for the line of scrimmage.

"I was very pleased with the line play," said Osborne. "If you can move the line of scrimmage two yards, your backs can make a couple of yards before they hit the line."

Blessed with fine blocking, the Novi backs generally made more than a couple yards.

Wroten ran for two touchdowns and gained 153 yards in 19 carries to bring his season total to 953 yards in 145 tries. Raddant's score came on one of 15 carries for 124 yards and Andy McComas picked up 64 yards in nine tries.

Halfback Tim Morris and back-up quarterback John McMurray each scored in the fourth quarter on short plunges. Steve Medeiros was perfect in his five placement attempts.

Now it's on to Rochester to meet an Okemos team that Osborne admits he doesn't know a "great deal" about. You can bet he'll know all he can by the end of the week.

Fleet Wildcat Andy McComas (24) breaks loose

Mustangs rip Lions

It's a good thing Mark Morland didn't get his wish Friday night.

Northville's outstanding defensive noseman has made life miserable for offensive linemen and would-be runners, but he has never scored a touchdown in his six years of grid action.

Mindful that the South Lyon contest Friday was the last of his career, Morland requested to play some fullback so he could hit paydirt. He was turned down.

Resourceful as well as big (6'3" and 195 pounds), the all-leaguer pounced on an errant pitch early in the first quarter and rambled 27 yards for a quick six points.

The score and an almost automatic extra point from kicker Matt Davis gave Northville a 14-0 lead which is all they needed to beat South Lyon, 38-12.

Once he discovered the real estate beyond the goal line, Morland wanted more. Late in the fourth quarter he picked up another loose ball and jaunted 23 yards for his second score of the night.

Morland's night is symbolic of the rough going for South Lyon who made three turnovers in the first five minutes, found itself trailing 14-0 with more than half the first quarter still to play, and lost a coach before the game.

The non-league game left the two clubs with opposite records — Northville is 7-2 and South Lyon is 2-7.

Mustang quarterback Greg

Harper had an uncharacteristically bad passing night (4 for 14), but he managed to open the scoring with a two-yard toss to Greg Armstrong.

Davis followed Morland's first touchdown with a 27-yard field goal, his third of the season, to give Northville a 17-0 half time advantage.

Touchdown runs of 23 and 13 yards by Dennis Singleton more than offset a

How to get to game

Those who wish to see Novi battle Okemos in a semi-final state high school football championship game Saturday should remember that the game begins at 1:30 at the Rochester High field on Livernois near University (Walton) St.

Taking I-96 from Novi, fans should go north on Telegraph Road until reaching the Square Lake Road exit where the route goes east to I-75.

Go north on I-75 for about a mile and then head east on M-59 to the Crooks Road exit. Turn left (north) on Crooks Road and follow it until it deadends at Avon.

Turn right (east) on Avon and take it to Livernois. Turn left on Livernois and the field will be on the left within a mile.

Since a sellout is expected, fans should buy the $2 tickets ahead of time at the high school office.

Barb Jones puts twist in her dive

A gallant swim bid fails

Friday afternoon was a time for reflection at the Northville High swimming pool.

For nearly 24 hours, coach Debbie Brinkman and her team had painfully relived every photo finish, mentally replayed every close race and vividly seen the final score of Thursday's showdown meet with Western Six rival Walled Lake Western.

Still, that final tally remained 42-41, giving Western the undisputed title in the dual meet standings. And now it's Friday and Ms. Brinkman is commenting on the inadequacies of tabulated figures.

"Forget the scoreboard," she ordered, "it didn't mean anything. The fact remains that we are the number one team because that was the best meet we ever swam.

"They (her girls) pushed themselves to the point of exhaustion. The school has every reason to be very proud because they accomplished something that most teams don't."

"They played as a team, not as individuals."

Those in the large crowd that watched the meet can attest to the Mustangs' effort. Several individual and pool bests were recorded and more than one girl nearly collapsed after her race.

The heroines are many. Janet Shaw won the 200-yard freestyle and then bettered her 100-yard breaststroke time by a second but still lost by a fraction.

Vida Mikalonis won the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard butterfly. Kyle Roggenbush set pool records in two events as she won the 50-yard and the 100-yard freestyle.

Those three teamed with Cathy O'Brien, who improved her 200 individual relay time during the meet, to win the 200-yard medley relay.

Andre Conder won the diving and Barb Jones also performed well. Lori Herguth cut an incredible nine seconds off her previous best time in the 500-yard freestyle.

Others turning in improved times were Cathy Faust, Kyrsten VanRenterghem, Diane Townsend and Cheri

Brown. A sick Diane DeChape still swam well in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Ms. Brinkman also had praise for relay performances from Carol McLaughlin, Sue Cikanik, Masako Kono, Lisa Willoby and Sue Harris.

Last Tuesday, Northville was swamped by powerful Livonia Stevenson, 113-59, although Conder, Mikalonis and Shaw managed firsts.

But the Mustangs' sights are set on the Livonia Churchill pool where Wednesday at 4 p.m. and Thursday at 7 p.m., the Western Six league meet will be held.

Vowed Ms. Brinkman, "We're going to show the other teams what a number one team consists of, because that's what we are."

Athletes of the Week

ANDY RADDANT

Andy Raddant is one of those rare players who can aid a team in several different areas. In last week's playoff clinching victory, the Novi senior gained 124 yards in 15 carries, scored a touchdown and played a strong game at defensive end. In addition, he handles all of the Wildcat punting chores.

LORI HERGUTH

Sophomore Lori Herguth is a perfect example of the extra effort that dominated Northville's heartbreaking 42-41 swim loss at the hands of Walled Lake Western. Herguth swam the 500 yard freestyle 16 seconds faster than she had two days earlier and nine seconds faster than she ever had before in her life.

DENNIS SINGLETON

Northville's Dennis Singleton doesn't fool around with wasted effort. The senior halfback needed only 10 carries to gain 138 yards (averaging nearly 14 yards a carry) in last Friday's 38-12 win over South Lyon. Singleton, who made honorable mention all league, helped the Mustangs to a 7-2 season.

LAURA BIRO

If such statistics were kept, Laurie Biro would probably lead the league in near miss baskets. Thursday night, the Novi junior put it all together, scoring 21 points and leading the Ladycats to a 48-31 win at Milan. The 5'10" center hit nine baskets from her low post position and added three free shots.

Mustang wrestlers count heavily on spoils system

(Editors note: This is the first in a series of stories previewing the winter boys and girls sports teams at Northville and Novi high schools.)

"I think the spoils should start rolling in."

Gary Emerson begins his third year as head wrestling coach at Northville with a nucleus of outstanding wrestlers who he thinks can challenge the perennial supremacy of Walled Lake Western.

Western, which takes wrestling very seriously, has won the Western Six crown the last seven years. The Mustangs finished third last year and have won only one league crown that Emerson can recall.

But it's not that the Warriors are any weaker this year, the 31-year-old Emerson thinks his Mustangs are stronger. He has five reasons for his beliefs.

Dave Bentley, Mike Georgoff, Dan Platte, Dennis Singleton and Ed Talbot, are all second place finishers in last year's conference championship, and all return for their final year of wrestling.

Bentley, Platte and Talbot will serve as tri-captains.

Bentley wrestles in the 119-pound class, Georgoff at 165 pounds, Platte 126 pounds, Singleton 155, and Talbot 138.

For the first time in memory the stockily-built Emerson, who wears a walrus-shaped moustache, has some depth in his weight classes.

"Numbers means a lot in wrestling," explains the University of Michigan graduate.

"The more kids you have competing for a spot at a weight class means the more competition they have."

Numbers hasn't been a luxury for Emerson until this year, but with 29 grapplers on hand, 21 of whom are lettermen, he expects to have some spirited practices.

Depth comes in the persons of two sophomores 98 pounders, Jeff Lindemer and David Lucas. Lance Irey, who lettered as a freshman last year in the 105 class returns.

Brian Faustyn, who was chosen the Mustangs outstanding first year wrestler last year, returns at 155 pounds.

in 112 pounds, and seniors Norm Pratt, 178 pounds, and Bob Zabinski, 165 pounds.

Junior Chris Friel weighs in at 240 pounds, while Dave Bartels, a transfer student from a hotbed of wrestling, Iowa, tips the scales at 230.

Northville opens the season 11 a.m. Saturday, November 27 with its own invitational tournament which includes Canton, Cherry Hill, Crestwood, Howell, Milford, Novi and South Lyon.

Most grid picks fizzle but Anderson does best

The season's winding down and so, too, it seems, is the ability of contestants to correctly guess the outcome of gridiron battles.

Best entry in last week's football contest had no fewer than four mistakes. Most entries had six or more wrong guesses.

What's more, second and third place money was shared by three entries with five mistakes.

Winning first place with four wrong picks out of 16 games was Mike Anderson of 1094 Grace Court.

Out of the 16 contestants submitting entries with five mistakes, three earned themselves a share of second and third place money because of their more accurate guesses of the Oklahoma-Missouri score.

All three were just three-points off the mark. They are: Sue Stilson of 500 Maplewood, Tony Hamp of 46132 Norton, and Jeff Allen of 18875 Edenderry.

Oklahoma knocked off Missouri, 27-20, in this tie-breaker. Sue, guessed Oklahoma would win by a 24-20 score. Mike also had Oklahoma on top 24-20, and Tony figured it would be Oklahoma 27-17.

Other contestants with five mistakes, who finished out of the money, were:

Bob Lampi, Robert Brown, Fred Robinson, Pam Gilbert,

Jay J. Pease, Jr., Wade Herguth, Bill Ferguson, Scott Schaal, Brian Pratt, Doug Castillo, Don Dales, Carol Campbell, and David Harper.

Thirty contestants had six mistakes, 19 had seven errors and the remainder made eight wrong guesses or more.

Most difficult games for contestants last week proved to be Northwestern's stunning 42-21 victory over Michigan State, Indiana's single point (15-14) win over Wisconsin, Kentucky's 28-9 triumph over Florida, and Navy's 34-28 victory over Georgia Tech.

Nearly everyone correctly figured Michigan would bounce back with another victory enroute to its annual showdown with Ohio State, most picked playoff-bound Novi to win, and a large majority gave Northville the edge.

Cage practice

Youngsters who have registered for the Northville Parks and Recreation basketball program should attend tryouts Saturday morning at Amerman Elementary.

The schedule is: 3rd and 4th graders, 9 a.m.; 5th and 6th graders, 10 a.m.; and 7th and 8th graders, 11 a.m.

Anyone with questions about the tryouts should phone the recreation department at 349-0203.

8 Wildcats on SEC team

As might be expected from conference champions, Novi's football team dominated the 1976 Southeast Conference All-League team.

Six Wildcats were named to the offensive team and three of those made top honors on the defensive squad. Novi also placed three on the second team defensive team.

Half of the all-star backfield was from Novi in the form of quarterback Randy Wroten (6'0", 170) and Andy McComas (6'1", 170).

Scrappy 155-pounder John Samples was first-string center.

Bannatz at end, Buck at tackle and McComas at linebacker were also named to the first team defensive unit. The second defensive team included Pisha at tackle, Andy Raddant at end and Rick Pretty at halfback.

Novi went undefeated through six games in capturing the Southeast Conference crown, clinching the title with a 20-12 win over Brighton.

Big Colts win in Peanut Bowl

Two touchdown runs by Pat Foley and short scoring plunges by Dave Green and Brian Pratt led the Colt Varsity to a 26-6 win over the Illinois Raiders in the feature contest of the Peanut Bowl held in Northville Saturday.

In preliminary contests, the Colt JV's lost their first game of the year, 13-0, to the Wheaton Wildcats and the Colt Freshmen lost 12-7 to the Bartlett Raiders in the game's last two minutes.

In the JV game, Brian Jordan's twisting runs weren't enough to overcome TD runs of 50 and 80 yards. Jeff Tomanek scored the lone frosh touchdown.

The suburban Illinois teams were all league champions. The players stayed overnight with the Northville players.

Volleyball call

Teams interested in joining the Women's Power Volleyball League must register at either the Northville or Plymouth Recreation Center by 5 p.m. on Friday.

A registration fee of $60 must be paid at that time for each team that enters the December-through-March league.

Four of the eight teams have already signed up and the rest will be awarded on a first come, first serve basis.

really satisfied with the season. 7-2 is nice, but I thought we could be 8-1."

Northville finished tied for second in the Western Six conference.

Despite the quick lead, the Mustangs didn't let up against the young, outmanned Lions. Shonta had an explanation. "We had 24 seniors and they didn't want to see it end," he said.

The Mustangs were more wide open this year, he said because "we can throw as well as we can run." Statistics in the game were relatively equal.

Northville schools clash

Scott Robins (32) of Meads Mill tries to elude tacklers Alex Zion (12) and Steve Norton of Cooke as the two Northville middle schools battled for the first time ever last week. This game, between 7th and 8th graders ended in a 6-6 tie. In the freshman game, Cooke blanked Meads Mill, 28-0. Joe Hamp paced Cooke with two touchdowns. Dan Troher and Bob Crisan each had one. Cooke, under coach Bob Simpson, had a 5-1-1 year. At Meads Mill, coach Dave Schoop's squad was 0-6.

Ladycats roll on unbeaten

It could have been an upsetting week for the Novi Ladycats, but despite a couple of scares, the Southeast Conference champions kept their undefeated record intact.

After narrowly surviving its flattest game of the year on Tuesday, Novi overcame an injury to leading scorer Annie Robinson on Thursday to finish the week in the same manner as the entire season — perfect.

"They do what they have to do to win," said coach Chris Hayward.

Thursday night, the Ladycats shrugged off a lethargic performance against non-league foe Farmington Harrison to whip Milan, 48-31.

Even though top scoring sophomore Annie Robinson hurt her knee in the first half, Novi was "in control most of the way," said Ms. Hayward. The injury to Robinson, who missed the season's first four games because of a broken finger, is not thought to be serious.

With Robinson sidelined on the enemy's court, the Ladycats may have been prime for an upset, but center Laurie Birou niftily took up the scoring slack.

"The team depends a lot on Annie, but Birou just went out and filled her shoes," said Ms. Hayward. "She wouldn't be denied."

The 5'10" junior, who also plays forward, turned in the best individual scoring effort of the season by pumping in 21 points against Milan.

She received offensive help from Elaine Maki who had 12 points and Maryann Wizinsky who had six. Novi built a 27-17 half time lead and stretched the margin to 17 by game's end.

"They played very well," Ms. Hayward said of her team. "They made limited mistakes and showed good hustle. I'm proud of them."

It was a different scene during Tuesday's lackluster showing against Harrison, won by Novi, 34-30.

The score was tied frequently including a 28-28 score after three quarters. The closeness was surprising since Novi had won easily in an earlier scrimmage.

The letdown was understandable, according to Ms. Hayward.

"We had just clinched the title, it was a non-league game and the girls were tired. We've been at this since August."

She doesn't expect a recurrence. Last night (Tuesday), Novi traveled to South Lyon in an attempt to complete an undefeated season, a feat never accomplished by an SEC team.

Mustangs lose twice but JVs win first

A little ray of sunshine broke through the steady diet of overcast skies for the Northville girls' basketball program.

The varsity lost twice last week keeping its winless streak alive, but the junior varsity broke into the winner's column for the first time by topping Walled Lake Western Thursday night.

The junior varsity jumped to a 19-4 lead and then held on for a 27-18 victory.

For the varsity, it was more of the same. They were trounced by Waterford Mott on Tuesday and then, after a strong first half, they bit the dust against Walled Lake Western.

The Mustangs battled Western to a 15-14 first half but then the roof fell in. The final score was 71-38.

"It was a good first half," said Coach Muriel Bedford. "I knew Western could score and I was ready for it."

Senior Debbi Korte and junior Chris Suddendorf each scored eight points for Northville. Kim Tromans, another junior, pulled down 11 rebounds.

The loss was the Mustangs' last Western Six game of the season.

Diplomats try faculty

Basketball with a flair will be on tap Thursday night when the Harlem Diplomats bring their traveling road show to the Northville High School gym.

The Diplomats, who combine talent and showmanship in the same way as the Harlem Globetrotters, will face the game but perhaps outmatched Faculty All-Stars in the 8 p.m. contest.

Tickets, if purchased ahead of time at all area schools, cost $1.50 for students and $1.75 for adults. If purchased at the door, tickets are 25 cents more.

Cagers open

Northville cagers get a quick jump on the basketball season when they play their first game at South Lyon on Tuesday.

Last year, a relatively inexperienced Mustang team posted a 10-11 record.

Novi athletic field to cost $1.4 million

An athletic field and complete related athletic facilities at the new Novi High School could cost $1.4 million instead of the anticipated $900,000, school board members learned last week.

The figure came as a surprise as last August, architects for the new high school had estimated the cost for a completely equipped athletic facility at under $900,000. That estimate was increased to $1,359,000 as actual details were worked out last week for the application for federal funds through the Public Works Act to pay for the facility.

"If that figure is accurate, we'd better keep our fingers crossed that we get the grant," commented trustee Ray Murphy.

Currently the 1974 Building and Site Fund, which will have to pay for the athletic facilities if the grant is not approved, only has about $700,000 of unencumbered funds. Even a bare bones facility utilizing movable bleachers from the old high school, could use up almost all of the remaining monies.

In addition, the school board is keeping in mind that a second elementary school was promised from the 1974 Building and Site Fund. Even with the complete $700,000, only a small elementary, possibly utilizing detachable modular buildings, could be built. Novi Woods Elementary cost $1.5 million.

Dr. Kratz said later that the $900,000 figure arrived at by architects Richard Prince and Associates was arrived at by utilizing a computer to firm up expected costs.

"Those were ballpark figures and this (the application for grant funds) breaks it down to man hours," he explained.

Board members indicated that they will continue to hold their faith that the public works grant will come through.

However, Trustee Robert Wilkins said that "If the project is approved, we may have stepped in a big can of worms because people will see that the athletic facilities (including the gymnasium) comprise a quarter of the cost of that building."

Trustee John Milam replied that he had felt the same concerns but "I give a lot of credit for people not accepting, but understanding that this money came along."

If the grant should not be approved for the athletic facility, not only will the board consider construction of the athletic field in light of the now higher expected costs, it probably will also look closer at the alternative of continuing to utilize the athletic field at the current high school, less than a mile from the new high school, which is scheduled to open for the 1977-78 school year. It appears certain that the new high school will utilize athletic field facilities at the old high school during the 1977-78 school year.

Novi fails to adopt student play policy

Rather than require coaches to play all athletes in all games, Novi School Board decided Thursday it is best left up to the coaches to determine how many students should play.

The board had been faced with the possibility of creating a policy when it received as an information item from the administration the results of an administrative management team meeting on the subject.

The administrative management team came up with the following suggested board policy:

"Consistent with our philosophy of developing the fullest potential of each student in the Novi Schools, coaches and sponsors of all interscholastic activities, including all sports, shall make every attempt to play all dressed players of all teams up to, but excluding the varsity level high school athletes."

"My feeling is that every kid on the team who is dressed, an attempt should be made for him to play," said Trustee Ray Murphy.

"I feel any individual out there 5-6 days a week practicing, he or she should be a part of the team when it competes. You win games by having the better players on the field but I can't believe it would drastically change the team's effort or outcome of the game," said Trustee Joel Colliau.

"I like a general policy leaving implementation to the coach. I oppose the majority of the team watching when they could be playing," he added.

"I know of potential athletes we lost who in the eighth grade were not big and fast and sat on the bench, but today as juniors they are big or fast, but they aren't playing because they got turned off in the eighth grade," said Colliau.

Discussion surrounded the possible adverse psychological effect on students of knowing they were playing only because of a board policy, especially if placed into a game in a pressure situation.

"It depends on the person and the place," responded athletic director and football coach John Osborne. He noted that oftentimes some of the athletes will not want to play during pressure points of the game but are glad to play at the end when the game has already been either won or lost.

Board members noted that most Novi coaches presently play the second string at the end when the score is wide enough not to make any difference.

Board attorney Frederick Knauer, speaking as a parent, said that "Board policy works as much as the coach wants it to work. This board might start an effort for a league rule so everyone must play."

He noted that a league rule requiring everyone to play could even up the differences which could be caused if it was instituted in only a single school.

Jazz ensemble set in Novi December 6

The Novi Foundation for the Performing Arts will present the Brookside Jazz Ensemble

Energy talk slated tonight

The Friends of the Northville Library will feature a speaker from the Consumers Power Company at their meeting tonight (November 17) at 8:15 p.m.

The program, which will be held in the library, will focus on ways to conserve energy. A brief business meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., preceding the program. Refreshments will be served.

Anyone who wishes to find out about the various projects of the organization is invited to come early for the meeting.

Monday, December 6 at 7:30 p.m. at Novi High School.

The appearance marks the first time Brookside Jazz Ensemble has played in the area.

Playing to packed houses throughout the State of Michigan, Brookside is recognized as one of the best jazz groups in the state.

Craig Strain, new music coordinator and band director for the Novi School District, is a performing member of this elite group.

Advanced tickets are $3 and may be purchased at Meadowbrook Drug and Security Bank of Novi. Tickets will be $3.50 at the door.

said Porter. "There are those who are on the bench the majority of the time because the person on the floor has shown he has a better grasp of the game. People only look at half of it. When a person on the bench goes in, someone must come out."

"I don't feel there's anyway we can legislate this," said Wilkins. "I don't agree totally with the way the system runs, but it's a bad place for us to legislate."

Summed up board president Sharon Pelchat, "We should have faith in our coaches. If they feel the kids can play, they should play."

Police Blotter

Armed robber takes $80 at 7-Eleven

In Novi

Novi's 7-Eleven store on Meadowbrook Road south of 10 Mile was held up by a man holding a gun and wearing a nylon stocking cap at 1:15 a.m. November 11.

According to reports, the man, described as 25 years old, 6 foot 2 inches and 185 pounds with a full mustache and wearing a green cap walked into the store and pointed what was believed to be a .25-caliber automatic pistol.

A second subject, also wearing a nylon stocking acted as a lookout. He was described as 25 years old and 6 foot 4 inches. An attendant handed over $80 in cash and watched as the two men escaped on foot in a southbound direction.

The entire area was searched by police but with no results.

The same store was held up September 21 by armed robbers who were later captured by police.

A purse with no money in it was taken November 6 from a car parked on Chapman at Endwell. Identification cards were taken in the theft, but no money was reported missing.

November 7-8 two tires and wheels valued at $100 were taken from a wrecked station wagon at J&D towing.

A $150 piccolo was lost or stolen by a Novi Middle School student who had borrowed it from Novi Middle School and took it home for the weekend. Police have placed the identification number in the violin machine.

A home in the 300 block of Eubank was broken into November 13 and $300 in jewelry taken. Entry was gained through a bedroom window. The bedroom where the jewelry was taken was ransacked.

Troopers cited

In award ceremonies recently held at the Northville Post of the Michigan State Police, four State Troopers received citations for outstanding police work from Captain Walter Anderson, Second District Commander while Post Commander William Tomczyk looks on.

Shown with their awards are Detective Sergeant James P. Collins and Troopers David Sass, James Besonen and Theodore Nelson. All received unit citations with Collins also receiving an honorable mention citation.

In Township

A fiberglass boat, its inboard engine and boat trailer being readied for winter storage was taken from its temporary parking area in front of a residence on Bryn Mawr last week.

The stolen items were valued at $600.

A portable tape recorder and a set of binoculars were taken from a car parked at the Innsbrook Apartment complex. It also appeared the ignition lock of the vehicle had been tampered with.

The owner placed a value of $324 on the equipment which was taken between 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. November 8.

Unknown subjects entered a home on Seven Mile Road during mid-day Saturday and proceeded to raise havoc once inside. The resident, on discovering the mess, cleaned the rooms first before notifying the police.

According to the owner, liquid plastics had been poured on the kitchen floor with articles of clothing added to the mess. A clock was taken from the living room and smashed on the floor.

Various pieces of glassware were also smashed in the kitchen area. A fabric on a chair in the living room was found slashed with a sharp object. Altogether $200 in damages was incurred.

Damage estimated at $250 was done by unknown persons to a vehicle parked in a drive on Seven Mile Road Saturday night.

In the incident, two tires were found slashed, the windshield wipers broken, and the finish marred by gouging with some type of instrument.

The rear mud flaps were also torn off with the trunk lock punched out in an apparent attempt to gain entry to that area.

A skylight at Federal-Mogul on Seven Mile Road was broken with a rock apparently thrown by a youngster. Damage was estimated at $400 in the incident which occurred at 5 p.m. November 8.

Two chrome wire wheel covers were removed from a new car parked in a parking area at Northville Forest. The wheel covers, valued at $100, were taken near midnight November 12.

A patient, transferred to the Northville State Hospital from the Detroit House of Correction for an examination, was discovered missing at 1 p.m. November 5 although his disappearance was not reported to the Michigan State Police until November 8.

The patient, considered possibly dangerous by hospital officials, was later located and returned to the hospital on November 10.

Two patients who escaped from the confines of Northville State Hospital on the same day but at different times, are still being sought by the Michigan State Police.

One subject, a Livonia man, is said to be possibly dangerous while the other man is thought to be dangerous only to himself.

In Northville

Northville City Police officers dispatched to a cashier's window at Northville Downs Wednesday night, were told by the cashier that $5700 in $100 bills was missing from his cash drawer.

The cashier said the money was in the drawer at 9:43 p.m. and was discovered missing at 10:03 p.m. just prior to the pay-off on one of the races. The cashier explained that the drawer was half-open although he had never left the area.

An equipment bag carrying advertising materials and a citizens band radio was reported stolen from a car parked in a parking lot near Northville Downs. Value of the items taken in Community building stirs ghosts

BY NANCY DINGELDEY

Bright Christmas decorations with music to match helped put shoppers "in the mood" at the Holiday Boutique Saturday. And the crowd of people passing through the front doors may have even stirred a few ghosts in the old building.

For the first time in the now five-year history of the Boutique, the event was held in the Community Building. Originally built in the late 20's, it's been a long-time since the building has been used for a community affair.

It used to be the focal point of Wixom doings way back when, but then, because of taxes, the building was sold. It has housed a factory and has also stood cold, dark and vacant.

Then, through the urgings of Parks and Recreation and the Library Board, the building was purchased from John Lutz. The old place, which had been the scene of many community dinners, box socials and musical evenings, stood half a chance of returning to its original purpose.

For many, the building is confusing. Some people call it the Lutz Building, others, the City Annex Building. Then there's the third group that refer to the red brick structure according to the stone nameplate on its front... the Wixom Community Building.

Of the older Wixom residents, the Boutique in the Community Building probably brought waves of nostalgia... there were many who remembered their mothers preparing for dances or dinners in the old place... back further still to those same mothers figuring out schemes to raise the funds to erect the place.

Granted, the building doesn't look the same. Gone is the stage with its painted curtain. The walls upstairs are now paneled and arranged differently, bathrooms have been added, there is different lighting.

But it must have been a grand feeling for those older citizens to hear the laughter and children's voices once again fill the air.

The Boutique was the first to use the building in its entirety. Only the upstairs portion was refurbished and has been used for several social affairs. The Wixom Senior Citizens hold their meetings in the building but again, use only the upper floor.

For the Boutique, both floors were used which meant a major cleaning job done by several members of the Historical Society. Windows were washed, old lighting fixtures removed from the ceiling and hauled out to the trash.

The outcome of the effort was a successful venture for the Society. Although sales were down somewhat from last year, their treasury was $430 larger at the end of the day.

The Boutique had many fine artists showing their wares. One outstanding fellow, Claus Heinmann, had some super pen and ink sketches. His pieces ranged from a laughably ferocious tiger to beautiful renditions of old houses.

And then there was Eleanor Shieko displaying her stoneware creations. Eleanor, fresh back from a four day jaunt to Toronto, had some fun remembrances of that trip to share.

Always full of exciting and funny tales following a trip, Eleanor said the main reason she and husband Carl went to Toronto was to see the "Gold of the Gods" exhibit at the Royal Ontario Museum.

Adding that she knew the travelling exhibit would never make it to Detroit, she said it was a most fascinating and gorgeous display of the golden glory of the Ancient Incas.

They also took in the Kensington Market and its Portuguese flavor.

Then it was on to a curious adventure in a Chinese bakery they happened to find... I didn't even know Chinese had bakeries.

And then there was lucky Hank Fitzgerald. He bought a ticket at the Boutique on the off-hand chance he might become the owner of a basket of bottled cheer offered by the Wixom Jayettes.

Church to join prayer meeting

Members of the Christian Community Church at 41355 Six Mile Road in Northville Township will participate in a "Revivaltime World Prayermeeting" at 7 p.m. this Sunday, November 21.

According to the Reverend Irving Mitchell, the annual world prayer meeting is the largest effort of its kind in the nation.

More than 100,000 persons in approximately 1,500 churches and prayer groups are expected to join in pre-Thanksgiving services.

The annual prayer effort is organized by "Revivaltime", the international radio broadcast of the Assemblies of God, heard each week on 650 stations around the world.

An estimated 50,000 requests have been received at "Revivaltime" offices in Springfield, Missouri.

These needs have been compiled into lists and duplicated for distribution to the participating prayer groups.

Each individual will be asked to pray for 15 to 20 specific needs. Requests concerning physical healing, financial problems, marital difficulties and spiritual needs are the most frequent.

Pastor Mitchell invites everyone to join his congregation in prayer at Christian Community Church at this special service.

A recent outbreak of hepatitis at Northville State Hospital has been curbed and no new cases have been reported in the past 10 days. "We and the state department of health are confident the problem has been arrested," said Northville State's director, John Zugich.

A total of 13 cases were treated, most of whom were isolated in a single unit at the mental hospital located in Northville Township. All were described as "mild cases".

"We're pretty much back to normal," he said, "and we're reallowing visiting and ground privileges and our admission and discharge procedures have been restored."

Meanwhile, rumors circulating that an outbreak of hepatitis had also occurred at Plymouth Center for Human Development have been labeled untrue by spokesmen of that institution for mentally retarded, also located in the township.

"We've got a single case quarantined for (diarrhea) but nothing involving hepatitis. An employee picked up hepatitis recently, but it had nothing to do with this place," Plymouth Center spokesmen said.

According to Zugich, the State Hospital cases were traced to a patient who had been released and then later readmitted.

Of the 13 cases at Northville State, only one has not yet completed the incubation period. Several patients have recovered and the others are nearing complete recovery.

During the "alert" signaled by the hospital in the wake of the first few cases, all patients and employees of the hospital were inoculated, Zugich said.

Hepatitis, an inflammation of the liver, is not transmitted through the air. Most frequently it occurs with persons using improper cleanliness while using restrooms.

Housing survey to top agenda

A survey of housing needs and wishes of senior citizens will be the topic of the Plymouth-Northville chapter meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday, November 24 at Plymouth Presbyterian Church.

New 1977 officers and directors will be elected at this meeting.

Fred W. Bradley, corresponding secretary, reports that by October the chapter had a membership of 333.

"It meets" on the fourth Wednesday of each month with visitors welcome. A sack lunch is set for noon with a sing-along, business meeting and program following.

At next week's meeting Terry Carroll, program coordinator of senior citizen activities for the City of Plymouth, will talk on housing needs for seniors.

The chapter presently is conducting a housing survey. Other senior groups are invited to participate by calling Bradley at 437-2993 for information and survey blanks.

Janice Profitt named treasurer in Wixom

With full council concurrence, Janice Profitt was appointed Wixom City Treasurer by Mayor Val Vangieson at the Tuesday night council meeting.

Named to succeed Mrs. Caroline Anderson, Miss Profitt has been the deputy city treasurer for the past four years. She will assume her new position November 29.

Mrs. Anderson, who submitted her resignation to the mayor several weeks ago, will be moving to the east coast at the end of the month.

Taking Miss Profitt's place as deputy treasurer is Gloria Berry. Prior to taking the position with Wixom, Mrs. Berry was deputy treasurer of Commerce Township for four years.

Buggers tap phones, chairs . . . you name it

IT'S ILLEGAL—Robert Farr, who spoke to Northville Town Hall last Thursday on computer fraud, demonstrates for Mrs. Francis Korte and Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, who introduced him, how easy it is to "bug" a telephone at the Plymouth Hilton Inn after his talk.

By JEAN DAY

Getting a "bug" is as simple as sending $14.95 to an ad in Playboy magazine.

That's what fraud expert Robert Farr told a packed Northville Town Hall audience last Thursday at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

It's equally easy, according to the former science journalist for Scripps-Howard, to "take a paper trip" to get new identities.

Stating that there are hundreds of thousands of people who have a second, or false, identity today, Farr said that for $7.04 each he obtained one true and two completely false identification cards at a photo office in Grand Central Station in New York.

Such identification cards can be obtained in downtown Detroit, he added.

With only this official-looking card with his picture on it, he said, he was able to cash a check in a supermarket.

With such identification, the speaker continued, it is possible to use the name, gleaned from old newspaper files, of someone who was born and died shortly thereafter, to get a copy of that person's birth certificate.

With the birth certificate, a passport, bank account or driver's license can be obtained.

All this is possible, he pointed out, because there is no cross check of birth and death records in the United States.

The big business today, however, is in electronic devices which have come into use within the past 10 years and have a volume of business in the two billion dollar category in the United States, yearly, Farr said.

"No place is safe from eavesdroppers' ears," he emphasized, "with technology going forward at a very rapid pace."

With the proper equipment it's possible for an eavesdropper on any direct-dial telephone anywhere to hear what is being said on that phone, or within 18 feet of it, without the receiver of that telephone being lifted, the speaker told his town hall audience.

Admitting that this is unethical if not illegal, as protecting laws have been slow in coming, the expert revealed he—as anyone could with the equipment—had "dialed Queen Elizabeth's boudoir in England."

In Detroit such devices are in use, he continued, during labor negotiations.

After revealing to two startled members of the audience that they had indeed been "bugged" with small devices attached to the bottom of their chairs, Farr said such cigarette-lighter size items could be hidden in a wastebasket or under Kleenex in its box.

The stirrer in the drink of his podium, he showed, was a "bug" with its antenna in the straw. This, he declared, could operate with a receiver as much as three miles distant.

"Don't spend money on alarm systems or locks—and that also goes for cheap fire alarm systems," he told his luncheon audience afterward.

"A cockroach or an ant can set off an alarm system," Farr declared. He showed his audience at $26 pick gun with which any 10-cylinder lock, he said, could be opened as fast as with its key.

"There isn't much protection anywhere for us these days," Farr continued. He has written four books on his specialty, including "The Electronic Criminals."

"The most important thing you can do to protect your home," he stressed, "is to make friends with your neighbors so that they will watch your house while you watch theirs."

He added that anyone who is to be away from home should do all possible to see that it still looks "lived in." "Cancel the papers and be sure someone cuts the lawn," he urged.

A telephone answering device sometimes helps, the expert felt, as would-be intruders often telephone first to see if anyone answers.

Farr demonstrated how a "bug" could be inserted in a telephone in seconds.

"If you hear noises on your telephone, you're not being bugged," he declared, "for you never hear one—one tiny screw is the only identification there is."

"Sometimes, your local police will investigate, if the telephone company confirms the bugging, but you don't have much protection against it."

Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, who introduced the speaker, affirmed that he would—and has—investigated such situations and would call upon technical help available through the state police.

Farr debunked the image of women as espionage agents, saying, "sex has been used on a very, very limited scale through the years."

"Maia Hari was a prostitute, a simple Dutch girl from north Holland who really didn't do a good job. She is famous because the French government in World War I decided to put her in front of the firing squad as an example.

"Espionage," he continued, "is much more profitable for women today, for who has more access to records and files and Xerox machines?"

He told of one young woman who delivered a critical chart to a man working for a competing company and received a Mercedes for her trouble.

"She now works as a temporary, taking whatever she can," Farr said, declaring he feels there is no solution to the problem of duplicating.

"If it can't be accomplished on a Xerox machine, a 3-M one will do it."

Farr's message was a frightening one:

"We're approaching a nightmare. Big Brother is well on his way, creating emotional and mental problems for us all."

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
by Jim Roth

Having a real big social function, and confused about which wine to serve? One of the best is an "extra dry"—which is really quite sweet—wine, such as Almaden Le Domaine, which is a very good wedding and reception champagne. If this does not suit, there are a number of others that can be substituted, give your price range. Your wine retailer is really a wine expert, and we will know which wines are successful for any large function that you may have.

You know you can depend on our wine experts at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477 to help you in the selection of wines for all your functions from small dinner parties to large receptions. Invited out for Thanksgiving Dinner? Why not bring a bottle as your hostess gift? Plenty of convenient parking. Open: Mon thru Sat 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Sun Noon-6 p.m. WINE WISDOM:

If the wedding lasts an hour, allow a minimum of a third of a bottle for each guest.

Good marks mean more pay

College grades administrators, too

Schoolcraft College administrators get report cards, too. And if they get good marks, they get paid more.

In the first year of a "performance appraisal system" (PAS), 27 middle level managers got these marks from top administrators:

Three were rated outstanding and will receive awards of $1,800 each; 16 were ranked excellent and will receive $1,500 each; three were ranked satisfactory-plus and will receive $900; and five were ranked satisfactory and will receive $750.

The middle level administrators are members of Schoolcraft College Association of Administrators and Professionals (SCAAP). These are members of the administration below deans, such as the director of college relations, the director of admissions and others.

The board of trustees must decide by the end of the year whether to continue the PAS, which cost $36,000 in the first year.

Trustees who received a preliminary report on November 10 from Vice President Kenneth Lindner had mixed reactions about PAS.

"There should be other methods rather than monetary awards," remarked Trustee Mark McQueen.

Board Vice Chairperson Rosina Raymond was more adamant: "The more I hear about it (evaluations) the less I like it. I can see the maverick getting slashed down money-wise. It is very bad for morale."

Dr. Gerald Cox agreed "Internally measuring performances by dollar amount should be confidential. If they want to share it, it's their business. I hope we never stifle the maverick administrator."

When board members said

some evaluations were inconsistent, Lindner replied, "Consistency only applies with procedures. Improving skills and two-way communication are expected. The system is to be based on trust. Confidence can be built; it has to make the system work."

The board heard a similar report on evaluations of top executive administrators not represented by SCAAPP, such as the president of the college.

Board member Leroy Bennett endorsed both plans: "It is simply an attempt to reward someone for doing more than the minimum."

Board member Nancie Blatt agreed. Despite disagreements, most board members felt a grading system is inevitable.

"Evaluations are here to stay," said Dr. Cox.

Board member Ron Cowden agreed: "The time has come; it had to happen." Cowden also remarked the system has been a success in Flint and in Detroit.

A carpet is a background space in a room. It should recede in appearance and stay on the floor. If it is bright in color, it will appear to advance — come toward you. A plain carpet, near the color of the walls, will make a room appear larger. Carpets are usually designed to blend well with many styles of furniture. Shading can be caused in plain carpet by foot pressure and the lay of the pile pointed from the light. Shading appears in the best carpeting.

Did you know that GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110, discounts their wallpapers? You can save from 10 percent to 25 percent on your wall coverings so why pay top dollar! Sweat, drive and discipline produce ballet grace

Linda Jerome is a blur of movement as Kelly Assenmacher watches

'Ballet is hard work,' points out Kelly

Ballet.

The word itself is said delicately, as if somehow the beauty of the dance must be reflected in the pronunciation of its name.

And yet there are other words — far less graceful words — that are just as much a part of the art of ballet; "sweat," "drive," and "discipline." Words that are more frequently heard in the context of athletics.

Two Salem girls — 17-year-old Linda Jerome and 14-year-old Kelly Assenmacher — are very much aware of the less glamorous side of ballet. Both have been taking ballet lessons for the past eight years and both harbor dreams of someday dancing with a professional company.

"Ballet is hard work," says Kelly succinctly.

"If you want to be good enough to be a professional and dance with with a company, you have to drive yourself. Most professionals practice eight to 10 hours per day every day of the week."

Linda agrees. "You must be disciplined. To dance with a professional company, you must practice every day. And you don't get any sympathy. You're expected to work hard, and the dance master is always forcing you to work harder."

The two girls take their dancing seriously.

Linda, a senior at Northville High School, began studying ballet when she was eight years old. She is presently studying at Miss Millie's School of Dance in Northville where she also gives lessons.

Much of her training, however, comes during the summers when she works with the Michigan Ballet Company. She has also taken seminars at Marygrove Company and with Dance-Detroit which frequently performs with the Detroit Symphony.

Kelly, a freshman at Northville's Meads Mill School, first started ballet lessons at the age of seven. Like Linda, she is quite serious about her studies and pursues them diligently in the summer.

For the past three summers she has attended the Tri-City Ballet seminars in Bay City where she has received instruction from Robert Davis, Patty Craves, and Sang Ho Yu, a Korean who specializes in Korean folk dance.

Davis danced with the Washington National Ballet and for many years was considered the top male ballet dancer in the United States. But it is Patty Craves who has had the most influence on the 14-year-old Salem girl.

"I guess you could say that she's my idol; I'd like to pattern my life and my career after her," says Kelly. "She attended York University in Canada,

MACLD hears therapist today

Counseling parents of learning disabled children will be discussed by Alice Carter, therapist at the Huron Valley Clinic in Ann Arbor, at the November 17 meeting of the Northville-Plymouth chapter of the Michigan Association of Children with Learning Disabilities.

When President Gerald Ford visited Livonia recently during his Michigan campaign, thousands of visitors crowded the shopping center to hear and get a glimpse of the president. Dozens of photographers were on hand, too, including The Record's photographer Sherill Cannon, who pointed her camera at the photogs to get this picture of a few of those focusing on Ford.

Potato oddities

A few weeks ago a reader discovered a tomato that had the shape of a duck, including head and bill. Now comes a couple examples of potato oddities grown in the garden of Jan Reef of Novi. "Has something happened to nature this season?" he asks, pointing out that many of the potatoes harvested early this month contained odd shapes.

danced professionally, and now teaches dance therapy.

"I'd like to do all the things that she has done — attend York University, dance professionally, and then teach dance to mentally retarded or handicapped people. I think it would be a very satisfying and rewarding career."

At this point, both girls approach the possibility of a professional career with some reservations. It's a tough life and financial awards are almost as low as the possibility of reaching the top of the profession.

"It's definitely not the glamorous life it might sound like," admits Linda who has been invited to audition with the Michigan Ballet Company.

"A professional dancer will be on her toes all day, six or seven days per week. Very few of the professional companies pay very well, and the non-professional companies charge you to perform with them. They figure that you are taking lessons with them."

In addition to the low pay, dancers also have considerable expenses.

"We talked to some professional dancers who told us that it costs them almost $200 per month for things like tights, leotards, and toe shoes. A professional who must practice all the time will wear out two pairs of toe shoes per week," adds Kelly.

"There's a lot of work and not much money," says Linda. "You really have to want to do it."

And yet both girls apparently want to pursue careers in dance. Linda has mirrors and a bar in the basement of her home, while Kelly practices in a barn behind her home.

"I think it's the opportunity to really accomplish something which makes you practice as hard as you have to," says Kelly. "You have to practice the same move over and over and over again until you get it absolutely perfect. But once you've accomplished it, you really feel as if you've done something."

Linda agrees. "If you have a talent you ought to try to develop it," she says. "You can take ballet lessons just for the exercise and it will do you a lot of good. It's good for the legs and it's good for body tone."

"But if you want to become a professional dancer and work with a company, it's a different matter. You have to drive yourself and drive yourself and then drive yourself some more."

"It's hard work. There's no sympathy."

Haven't yet received your Consumers Power refund check?

Just because you haven't received a refund check doesn't mean you're not eligible for one.

Most Consumers Power customers using gas and/or electric service in 1970 and 1971 are eligible for a refund covering part of what they paid during those years.

If you believe you are eligible and haven't received a refund, please fill out and mail us this application.

The top half of the application is for information during the 1970-1971 refund period. Print the name that was on the account during that period. Print the address where service was received. The lower half is for current mailing information. Print your name and present address. It will be necessary for you to submit an application for each address for which you received service. Because of the anticipated large number of applications, it is expected that it may take a number of weeks to process your application.

Informational booklets and additional applications are available at your Consumers Power office or by writing to Consumers Power Company, Drawer D, Jackson, Michigan 49204.

Novi fire marshal Expenditures up $1 million state finalist

Edward McBride, Novi Fire Marshal, has been named as a finalist in the Eighth Annual Distinguished Public Employees Awards Program held annually by the State of Michigan.

The announcement was made in a letter to McBride from Governor William G. Milliken who said "It is through the efforts of conscientious persons like yourself that state and local government in Michigan is able to establish and maintain a reputation for effective and efficient service."

Though McBride was not one of the six to win the contest, the governor commented that "It is an honor just to be nominated for this award. Perhaps in another year you may be among the six award winners."

McBride, as well as Police Chief Lee BeGole and building department principal clerk LaDene Baird were nominated by City Manager Edward Kriewall.

A letter from the governor to Mrs. Baird and BeGole said "I'm grateful to you for your dedication to effective and efficient governmental service and to those around you who made the effort to seek public recognition for your contribution."

"I think the selection of Ed McBride as a finalist was not that great a surprise because as far as employees, he has a fine record with the Detroit Fire Department and the City of Novi," said City Manager Kriewall. "He's been instrumental in making new development, both residential and commercial safer in the City of Novi. He has been instrumental in the removal of private and public hazards."

EDWARD MCBRIDE

Kriewall said that, based upon the criteria of the contest, he selected the outstanding employees within the city on the basis of those employees with pay salaries of $10,000 or less, $10,000 to $20,000, and over $20,000.

Of Mrs. Baird and BeGole, Kriewall said, "In both cases their service records and dedication has placed them in the standings of outstanding employees. Maybe in future years, consideration may be given them for receiving a state award."

A budget intended to hold-the-line against escalating costs, but still allowing for expenditure up to $1 million a day for the next fiscal year has been adopted by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

In their meeting November 4, the Board approved a budget totaling $365,882,935 for the 1976-77 fiscal year beginning December 1.

The amount approved is $1.1 million more than recommended by the board of auditors, yet is about $50 million less than the more than $400 million requested by various county departments and agencies.

Since last September, the commissioners, meeting as the ways and means committee, have debated and revised the department requests and auditors' recommendations.

The new budget absorbs a deficit of $8.2 million carried over from the current fiscal year. Most of the deficit is meant to be recovered next year through a $7.7 million mandatory savings requirement imposed by the board. Under the mandatory savings program, according to the Ways and Means budget report, a savings of about seven percent of the $100 million annual payroll will be achieved, and will prevent potential layoffs of employees.

The mandatory savings program requires a moratorium on hiring, and would enable the savings to accrue from attritions through employee retirements or changes to jobs outside the county.

Other savings are also expected because this year's budget does not include proposals for any new programs, and because quarterly reviews of department operations will be more closely scrutinized, said County Board Chairman John Barr.

"In all of the functions ahead of us, we expect more effectiveness in use of both personnel and equipment, and a better effort in general management practices," Barr stated.

Some popular units in the sheriff's department suffered cutbacks in order to save money, including the township road patrols, the helicopter patrol, the metropolitan narcotics squad and airport security patrol, and the community relations division. Each unit except the narcotics squad is funded through June 30 only, and the narcotics squad was reduced by 14 officers.

In their budget recommendation the auditors pointed out that both circuit court and the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that the County has authority to curtail or end road patrol services although the townships have appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The auditors recommended that the helicopter patrol be eliminated July 1 when a labor contract which forced reinstatement of the patrol a few weeks ago expires.

The helicopters were eliminated from this year's budget as a low priority item, but were restored by a labor arbitration ruling that the cut was precluded by contract with the sheriff's deputies' union.

Although the new budget is nearly $50 million less than asked for by county departments and agencies, it also represents an increase of around $33 million more than the amount appropriated for the current fiscal year which ends November 30.

Besides increases in costs of goods and services due to inflation, said the auditors in their report, the increased budget is due primarily to court-ordered expansion of jail facilities and improvements at juvenile court. The two projects will cost nearly $7 million, the Auditors said.

—Stuart A. Green, M. L. Green and Son, N. Gratiot, Mt. Clemens.

"We keep tabs on the phone inquiries we receive. Over 35% come directly from our Yellow Pages advertising."

Since we began, we have increased the size of our Yellow Pages display ad from a quarter-column to a quarter page. Because time and experience have proven to us the value of Yellow Pages advertising, we wouldn't be without it!"—Mrs. Shirley Gray, The Rivergate Terrace, Pennsylvania Rd., Riverview.

It's time to mail Christmas parcels

Early November snow flurries this week only confirmed the "mail early" announcement from Northville Postmaster John Steimel warning that Christmas is near.

This Thursday is the suggested deadline for mailing surface parcels to South and Central America and Europe. Surface greeting cards to those areas should be sent by November 18, air parcels by December 11 and air greeting cards by December 16.

It's already past suggested mailing dates for surface mail to arrive in time for Christmas to Africa, the Near and Far East. Air parcels should be sent by December 9 and air cards by December 14.

Canada and Mexico deadlines are December 2 for surface parcels, December 8 for surface greeting cards, December 15 for air parcels and December 20 for air greeting cards.

Surface parcels to Alaska and Hawaii should be mailed by November 30 and those to the other 48 states by December 10.

Letters to Alaska and Hawaii should be sent by December 16 and to the other 48 states by December 17.

Priority (first class parcels) mail may be sent to Alaska and Hawaii until December 20 and to the other 48 states until December 21 to arrive on time.

Overseas military mail deadlines are as follows:

Azores, Canada, Arctic (Greenland, Labrador and Newfoundland)—priority, December 9; letters, December 7; parcel airlift (PAL), December 1; surface and space available (SAM), November 25.

South and Central America, Europe (Belgium, Denmark, England, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal and Spain)—priority, December 11; letters, December 9; PAL, November 27; surface, November 11; and SAM, November 20.

Africa (excluding Ethiopia), Congo and Liberia—priority, December 9; letters, December 7; PAL, November 18; surface and SAM, November 11.

Near East (Ethiopia, Iran, Israel, Saudi Arabia, Turkey)—priority, December 2; letters, November 30.

Far East (Antarctica, Australia, Burma, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, New Zealand, Okinawa, Philippines, Taiwan and Thailand)—priority, December 2; letters, November 30; PAL, November 27; SAM, November 20.

College considers hiking class sizes

As a cost-saving device, Schoolcraft College trustees are pondering raising the minimum sizes on classes to 12 or even 15 students. Current minimum size is 10.

Some trustees have mixed emotions about the idea, which is due to be acted on before the end of the year.

"Everyone has the idea we're running 31 or 32 to a class," said trustee Leroy C. Bennett, who is strongly in favor of raising minimum sizes. "Small classes are not very cost-effective."

The community college offers 873 sections of courses this fall. President C. Nelson Grote said 38 of those sections had less than 12 students, but only six would have been canceled had a new rule been in effect.

"The remaining 32 would have been permitted to continue because of: (a) the necessity for students to complete programs and needing specific courses; (b) only section of a particular course; (c) course offered only one time a year and; (d) no seats available in other sections or the class was a sophomore course."

Dropping those six sections would have saved the college $7,300, and only part-time faculty members would have been affected.

If the class size minimum had been 15, Grote said, 94 sections would have been looked at and 32 actually canceled. The basic teaching loads of three regular faculty members in two departments would have been affected and layoffs may have resulted.

If class size minimum had been 15, the college would have saved $23,215.

"If you don't want to raise tuition," said Bennett, "you have to do some belt tightening."

Board Vice-Chairperson Rosina Raymond favored a minimum of 12 but not 15.

Trustee Mark McQuesten, the only former student on the Schoolcraft board, expressed fear that certain liberal arts courses, specifically ethics and some speech classes, would be lost. He urged the board to "proceed cautiously" before raising class sizes.

Asked by Board Treasurer Nancie Blatt what happens when a course size is consistently small, Fred Stefanski of Northville, dean of arts and sciences, said it would be offered only once a year.

Dr. Grote said the administration would make a specific recommendation at either the November 17 or December 15 board meetings so that any change could be implemented in the winter semester, which begins in January.
