Board to end 'renewable' contract

The Northville school board took steps Monday night to eliminate a controversial "automatic renewal" clause in its superintendent's contract.

The board also indicated that it would maintain Superintendent Raymond Spear's salary at $36,765 for next year although the district will pick up the tab for an additional $1250 to pay for the premium on a $100,000 life insurance policy.

The board discussed the superintendent's contract at its study session Monday and is expected to take formal action at next Monday's regular board meeting.

The decision to phase out the "automatic renewal" clause apparently means that the board will have to inform Spear that his contract will not be getting a three-year renewal this year.

Under a policy started several years ago, the superintendent was awarded a three-year contract that automatically renewed itself annually for three years unless the board informed the superintendent otherwise before April 1.

Spear agreed to waive the April 1 deadline this year as the board wrestled with growing public criticism over the automatic renewal practice. Petitions bearing the signatures of 1160 opposing the policy were presented to the board last month.

Spear's current contract runs through the 1978-79 school year. According to the route chosen Monday night, sometime before then the board will have to decide on the contract it wants to offer.

Several members said they still favored a multi-year agreement as long as the automatic renewal was left out.

"We should have more than a one-year contract if future boards are going to attract people to the district," said trustee Martin Rinehart.

Vice President Roger Nieuwoop stressed that the contract change was aimed at the mechanics of the agreement rather than the performance of the superintendent.

'Bud' Hartner gets Ely Award

Herman "Bud" Hartner, fire chief and superintendent of Northville's department of public works was awarded the coveted Claude N. Ely Memorial Award this week.

The award was presented to Hartner Monday at the Michigan Week luncheon hosted by the Northville Rotary Club.

According to School Superintendent Raymond Spear, a Rotarian who presented the award, Hartner was the unanimous choice of the Claude N. Ely Foundation board of directors.

It was given to Hartner, explained Spear, in appreciation of his many years of dedicated service to the community. He noted that Hartner has served 31 years with the city DPW and 14 years with the fire department.

"No one could be more deserving of the honor," Spear said.

The award includes a certificate of appreciation together with a $100 check — a token of the community's respect for the recipient.

Hartner, who is recuperating from a heart attack lives at 416 South Main Street with his wife, Marguerite. He has two children, David, a resident of Lansing who has six children, and Gail, who is married to Gerald Levan and lives in Northville on Rogers Street with their two children.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hartner, Sr., still reside in Northville.

The award is made in memory of the late Claude N. Ely, last president of the village and the first mayor of the city.

Coincidentally, it was Mr. Ely who selected Hartner for employment 31 years ago. Mrs. Ely

Man of Year

Nick Simkins chosen

CHARLES SIMKINS

Despite a serious medical problem that has threatened to take his life since high school, Northville's Young Man of the Year "refused to give up when the going was toughest and he continues with that same determination today."

Charles N. (Nick) Simkins, 28, was named man of the year last week Wednesday at a Northville Jaycee banquet at the Park Haus Restaurant.

"When most might give up, Nick keeps on going — giving everything he's got in his profession, his personal life and his service to others," a Jaycee spokesman said of Simkins. "And through it all, his outlook on life is constantly positive."

Simkins has had ulcerative colitis for much of his life.

Nevertheless, in high school he distinguished himself as an outstanding athlete, garnering an all-city catcher title in Detroit as well as several academic honors. Among the latter was the Thomas Alva Edison Award for excellence in science.

Following graduation he entered Wayne State University where he earned his bachelor of arts degree in 1972. Two years later he was awarded a

As next Monday's public hearing on the controversial prison proposal moves closer, Northville opponents of the prison may be picking up some support from the Wayne County Planning Commission.

The hearing before the county board of commissioner's public works committee is slated to get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Meanwhile, the county planning commissioners were scheduled to meet today to take up a recommendation of its professional staff opposing the sale of the Wayne County Child Development Center property for a prison.

The state has offered to purchase all of the center property and buildings (723 acres) on both sides of Sheldon Road, between Five and Six Mile roads, for $9,000,000.

Governor William Milliken has proposed using the existing buildings on the east side of Sheldon for a temporary state prison facility, while using vacant property on the opposite side of the road for the site of a proposed new prison.

According to a county spokesman, planning advisers to the county planning commission strongly oppose the sale of the property for a prison. As a matter of fact, they oppose the sale for any use.

Staffers argue that sale of the property to generate immediate revenues is short-sighted and that the property is too valuable to sacrifice for immediate financial gains.

Going into today's meeting, county planning commissioners were expected to accept their professional staff's recommendation and take official action opposing the sale.

According to a county planner, the township's zoning for the property remains intact if a sale is not consummated. However, he suggested that the state might be able to get around the zoning if a sale takes place.

This argument that the state need not abide by local zoning, however, has been disputed by other officials.

Presently, the east side of Sheldon has been zoned for residential development, while the west side is zoned for research and development. Local officials contend that neither zoning classification would permit prison facilities.

Concerning Monday's hearing, city and township officials and the Western Wayne County Residents Association are beating the drums for people to attend the hearing — whether they speak or not.

A capacity crowd is expected.

The county's official announcement of the hearing says that its purpose is "to allow residents, representatives of business and public officials of communities surrounding the Wayne County Child Development Center the opportunity to express their views in relation to the proposal received from the Michigan

GIVE LIFE by giving blood to the annual Northville community blood bank, asks Janice Dyke, new Northville chairman, as she announces the blood bank to be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Saturday at First Presbyterian Church. Appointments may be made by calling Mrs. Dyke at 349-9939.

TREES, especially young ones planted this past year, face an uncertain future, warned John Miller of Green Ridge Nursery this week in urging citizens to water their trees immediately. Noting that many trees growing in the medians between streets and sidewalks desperately need water, Miller said watering could help trees "that were already suffering from winter freezing. It's imperative that they be watered now or we'll have a lot of dead trees soon."

CANDIDATES NIGHT for the eight people running for three posts on the Northville Board of Education will be at 8 p.m. in the Northville High cafeteria. Sponsoring PTSO also will hold its annual election meeting at the program.

Budget hearing postponed

City of Northville's proposed budget will boost the city's tax rate to its third highest level in 20 years.

If the proposed 12.9 mill levy stands following next week's budget hearing, the new rate will be just under the 13 mills levied in 1968 — but it will be considerably less than the all-time high of 19.5 mills, which occurred in 1957 — two years after the incorporation of the city.

The maximum levy permitted is 20 mills.

Next week's budget hearing has been postponed from Monday to Tuesday because of the hearing on the prison slated on Monday.

Tuesday's budget hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the city hall council chambers.

Last year's tax rate was 10.8.

The 2.1 mill increase represents a 25-percent increase over last year's rate, according to the city manager. This increase includes both a six-percent hike in the SEV factor and a 19-percent increase in the millage rate.

The 1977 state equalized valuation of the city is pegged at $49,700,000.

Based on this estimated SEV, a mill will yield $48,350 in taxes. Last year, with the SEV at $46,918,890, a mill generated $45,750 in taxes.

The estimated 1977 SEV includes $29,436,830 in the Wayne County portion of the city and Set to end renewable contract

"My feeling on this situation is not based on performance," said Nieuwkoop, who acts as the board's negotiator with Spear. "My thinking is that we need flexibility which we haven't had with the renewal clause."

He said the board has come out "loud and clear" on Spear's performance.

The board recently completed its annual evaluation of the superintendent, a task it undertakes before setting salaries and offering contracts.

Spear's salary for this school year wasn't set until January and then it was approved by a 4-3 vote. Dissenting voters disapproved of the renewal clause and two new board members, Chris Johnson and Majorie Sliger, didn't like approving a contract when they didn't take part in the evaluation.

The $36,765 that Spear receives this year is the top step on his salary schedule and represented about a 3½ percent increase. However, the board also picked up his whole life insurance premium which amounted to about another 3½ percent.

Since the contract was approved so late in the fiscal year, the board only paid half of the $2500 maximum price. This year, the district will pay an entire year's premium which will mean about an additional $1250.

Nieuwkoop said he considered that payment the equivalent of a 3.2 percent raise.

With budget cuts staring them in the face, board members decided no additional raise was necessary.

"For any given job, there is a maximum amount that any business or government thinks that it's worth," said Rinehart. That figure would have to be adjusted for inflation, he said.

Nieuwkoop added that determining a maximum salary for a position can only work if the same attitude is taken when considering lower-paying jobs.

"I don't want people to leave thinking that the superintendent's salary — or that of any other administrator — is never going to increase," he said.

Some of the 60 to 70 in the audience complained vocally when it was explained that the entire superintendent's package — salaries and benefits — came to nearly $47,000.

Nieuwkoop said it is not unusual for wage earners in this part of the state to be getting fringe benefits equalling 30 to 35 percent of their base salary.

"I supposed people would be shocked to see what teachers with a Masters make," he said. UAW workers who have $12,000 to $13,000 salaries have fringes that boost their packages to $20,000, he added.

Novi Legion sells poppies

Members of the recently activated American Legion Novi Post Number 19 will take to the streets and shopping plazas May 19-21 in observance of Poppy days, the annual fund-raising activity of Legionnaires throughout the State of Michigan.

"Donations received for the poppies are strictly designated for veterans affairs and rehabilitation work by both The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary, which includes aid to needy veterans and their families," emphasized Post Commander Ray Tobias.

The red crepe paper memorial poppies were hand-made by disabled veterans in the Michigan Veterans hospitals. The workers receive pay for each poppy made, the materials being furnished free by the Michigan Department of The American Legion.

Members of the Foundation board are: Mayor A. M. Allen, Spear, School Board President John Hobart, Russell Clarke and John Canterbury.

Another highlight of the annual Rotary Michigan Week luncheon was the awarding of certificates to businesses, industries, churches and public facilities for outstanding maintenance and care of buildings and landscapes.

The awards are presented by the Northville Beautification Commission following a twice-a-year inspection of all properties in the city.

Based on a point system, highest honors this year went to the Water Wheel Car Wash, located at the intersection of Cady and Main, which garnered 72 points out of a possible 72. The owners, the Belanger family, also were awarded a certificate for the appearance of their adjacent factory, Belanger, Inc. the Beautification awards was the certificate given Cutler Realty, 10355 Rayson — the only four-time winner of the award in the community.

Other recipients of the award, many of which are repeat winners are:

Northville Downs, Good Time Party Store, Northville Professional Center, Long's Plumbing and Fancy Bath Boutique, Friendly Ice

Cream, Marquis Boutique, Del's Shoes, Freydl's men's and women's wear; IV Seasons Flowers and Gifts, Casterline Funeral Home, The Northville Record, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Our Lady of Victory Church, First Presbyterian Church, and the Northville Post Office.

Rotarian Paul Vernon, who is chairman of the Beautification Commission and who also as mayor pro-tem of the city was the official host of visiting dignitaries from the Village of Franklin, presented the Beautification awards and served as moderator of the Michigan Week luncheon.

It's mountain ash - crabtree trade

It was a case of two communities with 150 year-histories appreciating each other as Northville and Franklin Village representatives gathered for dinner Monday on Mayor Exchange Day of Michigan Week.

Virginia Rodgers, president pro tem of Franklin and Northville mayor for the day, reported that she was "totally delighted" to be able to proclaim Northville's sesquicentennial year, an event her community has just celebrated.

She mentioned being very impressed with the Mill Race Village and the volunteer effort at the 11 acre site.

The Franklin delegates took a bit of Northville home in the form of a flowering crabapple tree, which Mrs. Rodgers said would be planted at the historic Broughton House there. The visitors brought their community tree, the mountain ash, as a gift for Northville.

Toastmaster Steven Walters in welcoming Mrs. Rodgers and other Franklin guests noted that a "D" had been inserted in the Rogers Street signs in Northville for the day in her honor.

Mrs. Norma Vernon presented a ceramic replica of the Northville well to Mrs. Rodgers as Mrs. Ann Brueck, Michigan Week chairman, noted that it was Mrs. Vernon's own creation.

A copy of Jack Hoffman's book, "Northville — the First 100 Years," also was given for the Franklin library. Franklin's history, now being prepared, was promised for Northville.

A. M. Allen, who with Mrs. Allen had spent the day in Franklin, presented Mrs. Rodgers with a check for $1.37, which he said, was his day's pay. She accepted, replying that "it's 37 cents more than I get."

Freshmen get chance to tour high school

Northville's 400 ninth graders and their parents will be getting a first-hand look this week at the high school where they will attend classes next year.

High school counselors have organized orientation programs for ninth graders on Tuesday and Wednesday which will include a tour of the building and a presentation about course offerings and extra-curricular activities.

Meads Mill students will go to the high school on Tuesday and Cooke students will go on Wednesday. Wednesday night, at 7:30 in the high school auditorium, there will be an orientation session for both parents and students.

At that time, the graduation requirements, rules and regulations will be explained.

A special invitation has been extended to those juniors and seniors who will be entering the high school for the first time next year.

Novi okays rezoning

A proposed rezoning for a generator sales and service center was approved by Novi Council last Wednesday.

The 2.6 acre parcel, located on 12 Mile just west of Novi Road, was rezoned from R-1-F Small Farms Agricultural Residential District to B-3 General Business District.

Planner Charles Cairns of Vilican-Leman had recommended in favor of the rezoning, as did the planning board. "We have concluded that the petitioner's request is in harmony with the overall intent of the Master Plan for the area," said Cairn's recommendation.

Petitioner Roland Gerhart told the council that the business will provide sales and service on generators such as auxiliary generators for fire stations or schools and explained that the location would provide the company a good chance to sell from the showroom.

"Our service trucks can also get anywhere in the city in a short time," added Gerhart.

Following the recommendation of the planning board, council voted 7-0 to rezone the parcel.

The policy of this newspaper requires that letters be signed, although it is not necessary that the name be published if the writer wishes it to be withheld. Also a point of clarification to "Sharon": the article about apathy in the high school was not an opinion of this newspaper or its editor. The news story was a report of an official evaluation study made by the North Central Association Evaluation team, which recently visited Northville high school and conducted its study.

President Jimmy's asked to dedicate Novi High

Interested in seeing President Jimmy Carter?

If Novi school officials are successful, Jimmy may just be in Novi August 28 to help dedicate Novi's new high school.

As anyone can see by taking a look at the new structure at the corner of Taft and 10 Mile, the campus is probably one of the most advanced high school facilities in the state. And school officials are looking for someone special to dedicate the facility.

The letter from Principal Dr. Helen Ditzhazy to President Carter emphasizes the importance of the moment.

It starts out "We want you; we need you to dedicate our new Novi High School on Sunday, August 28, 1977 at 1:30 p.m. in the afternoon.

"Would you consider spending all or part of your day or days to bring joy to a vital, rapidly growing, exciting community whose people would truly be grateful and appreciative of such an honor?"

According to Dr. Ditzhazy, she really does not remember who first suggested President Carter as a possible dedication speaker.

"Just about a sudden we all talking about him," she said. "It sounded like a really good idea. Somehow the kind of talk going on with President Carter is the kind of talk going on here."

She points to the idea of saving energy which President Carter has preached — and which is a reality in the new high school as well as a home which the building-trades students will be constructing next year.

And, Dr. Ditzhazy emphasizes, "He said he wanted to come to the people."

What are the chances of President Carter accepting?

Dr. Ditzhazy admits that she just plain does not know. But she is doing everything she can to politely twist his arm into coming. For instance there is the Commons Building which may just end up being called something like the "Jimmy Carter Commons" or the "Jimmy Carter Building" — that is, if he's the speaker.

And there are plenty of options open to the President. The reason is that the dedication is going to be a week-end affair which will take up a full three days. The first two days will be divided up into an "athletic" day and a "fine arts" day. The third day will be reserved for the dedication ceremonies.

According to Dr. Ditzhazy, the President and his family have been invited to stay, three, two or one of the celebration days. They would be staying at the principal's home. But if the stay is briefer than that, and the president comes Sunday morning, he may just find himself teaching Sunday School at Ward United Presbyterian where Dr. Ditzhazy attends. She points out that several times in the past the president has done that on visits in various cities.

But even if the President is only able to attend the ceremony itself, Dr. Ditzhazy won't feel too bad.

Second and third choices for dedication speakers if the President is unable to attend, are former President Gerald Ford and Michigan Governor William Milliken.

Dr. Ditzhazy notes that details of the dedication week-end celebration have not been worked out and says that a committee which will concentrate on both fine arts and athletics will come up with recommendations in June.

One definite event will be an ecumenical service at 6 a.m. Sunday which will include participation of all local denominations as well as importing a Jewish Rabbi to round out the various religious beliefs.

There will also be a pancake breakfast put on by the Rotary Club.

Dr. Ditzhazy admits there will be lots of other events set but until President Carter responds (possibly by the requested May 25 date) it will be hard to know exactly how far to go.

"We'd sure plan a lot more but we want to know if he's interested in coming."

Valedictorians Akira Tokuhiro and Chris Fritz flank salutatorian Mary Lane

Salutatorian also honored

Two valedictorians top 1977 Novi graduates

Novi High School will have co-valedictorians walking up the aisle at graduation, June 7.

The school announced to The Novi News last week that named as valedictorians of the 1977 graduating class are Christine Fritz and Akira Tokuhiro, both perfect 4.0 students. Earning the salutatorian position was Mary Elizabeth Lane with a 3.97 average.

Chris, as she is known throughout the school, is the daughter of Donald and Rose Fritz, 25423 Mill-Stream Lane in Novi. She has two older brothers and one older sister.

Working on a college prep course, Chris says that she has enjoyed her days at Novi High School but "I think it could have been more challenging. I'd like to see Novi offer more honor or accelerated courses. I'm not wracking my brains out and I like to push push push."

Chris has been involved in her share of extracurricular activities even as she has worked toward her perfect grade point average.

In sports she has played JV softball and volleyball, as well as varsity volleyball. She also played the school mascot "Willie the Wildcat" at football games and other events. She has been in student government two years and was vice president last year and president this year.

In addition, she is senior class vice president and has been a member of the National Honor society two years. She is a member of the debate team. Competing in forensics, she was the district winner in storytelling. Chris was on the French Club four years and took the Voice of Democracy first place at the high school one year. She was a student advisor involved in helping plan the new high school.

Chris held down the female lead role in the play "If a Man Answers" last year and was also involved in "The Crucible" presentation this year.

This year she won the Soroptomists Youth Citizenship Award. She received a scholarship from the Detroit Panhellenic Association and won the "Leader of Tomorrow" award from Betty Crocker. Chris won a Michigan Competitive Scholarship and won a semi-finalist standing with the Oakland Community Trust award.

Chris will be going to Kalamazoo College this fall where she will be a political science major. She plans eventually to go on to law school at one of the major colleges and hopes to become an attorney or go into politics on the federal level. Her ambition includes becoming a United States Representative or maybe even president. "Why not?" she asks.

Akira Tokuhiro is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tadashi Tokuhiro of 25865 Sierra. He has one sister.

Known as a studious person, Akira came to Novi from the Detroit Public Schools over five years ago.

Akira proceeded on a college prep program and during his senior year has taken several advanced studies courses.

"I think I've got the most I can out of it," says Akira. "I see disadvantages because the school is so small we can't offer some advanced college preparatory courses."

Committee suggests middle school plan

"If you look at this in its totality, this is one of the finest plans I've seen," said Novi Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz as he reviewed recommendations of the Citizens Advisory Committee on the second middle school.

Faced with a decision how to best utilize two middle school buildings beginning in the 1978-79 school year, the committee came up with a three-point recommendation which was reviewed at last week's school board session.

The recommendation said:

- The Middle School should include a house of seventh and eighth grade students in the present middle school building, and a house of fifth and sixth grade students in the second middle school.

- Supervision of the total middle school program should be the responsibility of one principal with one assistant principal in each house.

- The current middle school and fifth grade curriculum and programs should be maintained for each grade level with flexible program options permissible upon administrative, staff and community recommendations.

The committee was formed because of the need to determine grade structure at the two schools which will be available because of the opening of the new high school this fall. Plans call for renovating the current high school during the next school year to a second middle school.

The committee, in coming up with its recommendations found that three particular factors had to be taken into consideration.

(1) Fifth graders need a gradual transition from the elementary self-contained classroom to the full middle school concept.

(2) Due to the unpredictable population projections for Novi at the present time, moving the fifth grade into the middle school program would avoid the need and expense for elementary building construction in the near future.

(3) By containing the fifth-sixth grade program in one building and the seventh-eighth grade in a separate building we will avoid the need to purchase duplicate Industrial Arts and Homemaking equipment making more money available for the purchase of sufficient materials such as library books, audio-visual equipment, musical instruments, maps, globes, etc., required by the fifth-sixth grade program.

Saturday tricycle race caps Michigan Week

Adult tricycle races featuring some city and school district officials as contestants followed by a superstar contest and community picnic will round-up Michigan Week activities in Novi this coming Saturday.

Though activities are planned throughout the week, emphasis is being placed by Michigan Week Committee members on the final-day activities.

On Saturday, the excitement starts off at 10 a.m. with adult tricycle races at the high school. Those are scheduled to last until 1 p.m. At that time a Superstar Contest for youths will be featured until 4 p.m. The community picnic, which is also at the high school area, will be from 4-6 p.m. and will feature entertainment by the Michigan Fifth Regimental Band. A kite-flying contest begins at 6 p.m. From 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. there will be a plant sale going on at the Novi-10 Shopping Center on 10 Mile Road.

While visiting dignitaries from Pontiac were shown around Novi and feasted on Novi hospitality Monday, there's still plenty of activities left throughout the week.

That's just right

"Let's try this one," is what Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall seems to be saying as he helps Pontiac Mayor Wallace Holland and his wife Exavier with construction helmets as they toured the now almost completed Hudson's store in the Twelve Oaks Mall. The occasion was Monday's Mayor's Exchange Day and while local officials were giving Pontiac officials a tour of the city, Novi officials including Mayor Gilbert Henderson were visiting such sites as the Silverdome in Pontiac. For a rundown of Michigan Week activities still planned in Novi, see story page 3-A.

School plan

Dr. Kratz said that under the plan as presented by the committee, "It would appear we'll have facilities to take care of the next five years. We won't have to build with this recommendation."

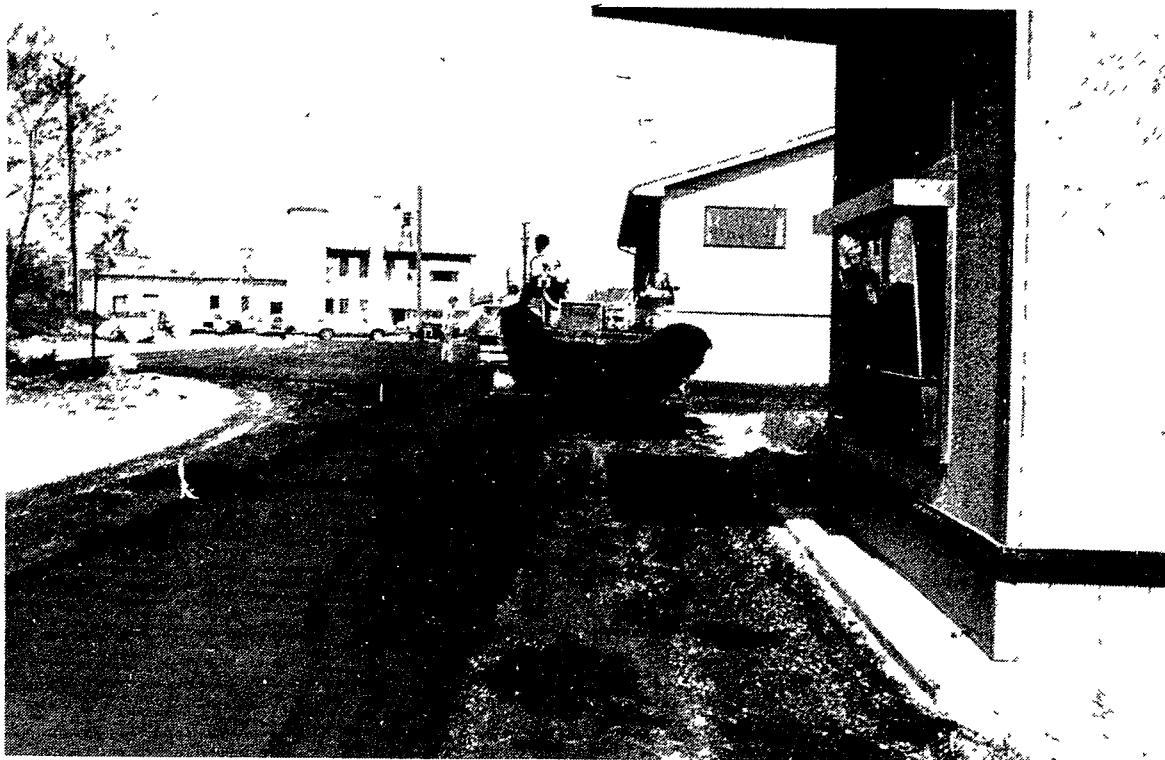

Currently the elementary schools are approaching or at capacity and the plan would allow the fifth graders from those schools to attend the middle school, thus freeing up classroom space.

Trustee Joel Colliu pointed out that a previous school needs and assessment committee had found that continuity between staff and children could not be made in two years.

"We tried to keep it a continuous program so the only change would be in the building," said Cindy Hoops, a member of the middle school advisory committee.

"This is a school campus," added Dr. Kratz. "It's two buildings but one school."

The committee also recommended that the board of education appoint a curriculum committee of administration, staff and community members to plan for a smooth shift of staff and students to the second middle school. It also recommended that the board evaluate the housing assignments after the 1979-80 school year to assure that they continue to meet the needs of the school district in regard to population growth.

End of complaints

After almost three years of complaints about the rocky driveway surrounding Novi City Hall, pavers from Atlas Asphalt Engineers of Salem put those problems to rest last week. For a bid price of $14,478, the driveway around the city offices was asphalted, as well as Sixth Gate from the city hall west to Novi Road.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
—by Jim Roth—

Do you know the vintage of the champagnes you buy? Don't be upset if you never thought of champagne and vintage. Most of the time, no vintage year is marked for champagne. Each brand has a slightly different taste, but most of the major brands are good from year to year. Regular champagnes are blended before they are bottled, with champagnes from previous years' crops. So with each bottle of non-vintage champagne, you are getting a little bit of history. Only an exceptionally good year will be marked. Vintage champagne is not mixed with any other year's wine. Of course, these wines are more expensive. So, with a vintage champagne, know what the year means. On non-vintage champagnes, stick with the young ones for best and freshest taste.

You'll find some of the best wines and champagnes available from us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. Our large selection of champagnes includes Asti Spumanti and we have beer, wine and champagne cold ready for immediate use. There is also a large selection of inexpensive, but good half gallon and gallon table wines. Open: 9 a.m.-10 p.m. Mon. thru Sat., Noon-6 p.m., Sun.

Fifty Brownies and their leaders from the Amerman cluster in Northville participated in a field day last Saturday at Maybury State Park. A flag ceremony, lunch and games were highlights of the day.

During his stay at Novi High School, Akira has been acting president of the Industrial Arts Club for two years, played JV tennis, and worked 12 weeks in a high school honor science program at Michigan State University last year.

As far as future plans, Akira is going to Purdue University where he has received grants totaling $1500 and will be in the school of engineering although he says "I'm more into physics — theoretical engineering physics."

After he completes his schooling at Purdue, Akira plans on going into graduate work at MIT or Cal Tech and eventually hopes to become a professor in engineering at a college on the east coast.

Rounding out the top three graduates is salutatorian Mary Lane, of 5926 Fonda Lake in Brighton. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald J. Lane.

Mary has been a member of the National Honor Society since her junior year and is secretary of that organization this year. She has been a member of student government for one year and has been in the Spanish Club for two years.

"All the teachers are really good," says Mary of Novi High School. "Even if you don't like the subjects they teach, you can always go talk to them anyway."

She admits that she would have liked to attend the new Novi High School currently under construction.

"It looks like it's going to be really nice, especially with all the new programs they'll be able to offer."

She says that one of the current problems is that "some of the teachers aren't interested in their subjects because they aren't teaching what they like to teach."

Mary is going on to Easter Michigan University where she will be majoring in home economics. Although her plans are not firm up after that, Mary says she is interested in becoming a professional seamstress or going into clothing construction.

Honors Convocation, at which all outstanding seniors will be recognized, will be held at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, May 26 at the high school gym.

Baccalaureate will be held Sunday, June 5 at 3 p.m. in the gym. Meanwhile, graduation is 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 7 at the football field.

high school government students was held last night (Tuesday). Today an International Potluck at Novi Woods will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a social hour. The International Potluck, which will feature foreign dishes and costume, is by invitation only.

On Thursday, a "Creative Dramatics" workshop for preschoolers is set for 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the city library. At 7 p.m. at the same location Tom Dale will hold a program through slides on "Michigan".

Friday is hospitality day and will give residents an excellent opportunity to view their city government as the fire station, DPW, police facilities, building department and city offices will be open to any interested persons from 4-7 p.m.

Citywide sidewalk sales are planned by local merchants while plants will be sold from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Novi-10 Shopping Center. Persons who put on good driving habits may be among the persons chosen to receive good driving certificates. Topping off the Friday hospitality day activities will be a hospitality booth at the old Novi Elementary on Grand River which is being hosted by the Lakes Area Senior Citizens.

OLV plans June paper drive

Don't throw away those old papers — yet.

Our Lady of Victory School in Northville will hold a paper drive from May 31 through June 5.

On the last two days of the drive, Saturday, June 4 from 10 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. or Sunday, June 5 from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., papers that are securely tied may be brought to a van which will be in the school parking lot at Orchard Drive and Main Street.

Bicycle licensing set

The Michigan State Police and the Northville City Police will hold an operation identification-bicycle licensing program this Saturday in the main parking lot of Northville Downs.

Running for six hours, police will be on hand from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. to engrave any portable equipment, including bicycles, brought to the area. Bicycle safety checks will be offered by the American Legion Post 147 Women's Auxiliary.

City police will handle the licensing of all bicycles, while the Northville Kiwanis and CB Clubs will assist with engraving of equipment. It is suggested that children bringing their bicycles to the area without their parents be sure to bring the driver's license numbers with them.

As a part of an overall crime prevention program, all area citizens are urged to take advantage of this Michigan Week offering nominees for the award. Below Jack W. Hoffman, editor of The Record, receives the Distinguished Service Award. Guest speakers for the occasion were Sheriff William Lucas and University of Detroit basketball coach Dick Vitale (top right).

Jaycee wins third in state competition

William Zapke, president-elect of the Northville Jaycees, walked off with third place in the state SPOKE competition at the state convention of Jaycees in Lansing over the weekend.

He was judged on the basis of interviews by three judges, a written test and a resume.

SPOKE represents a Jaycee's service, participation, orientation, knowledge and enthusiasm.

To gain the prestigious award, he had to compete against thousands of Michigan Jaycees at district, regional and state levels.

The SPOKE award is given only to first-year Jaycees.

And according to Jaycee President James Totzkay, Zapke has done more for the local club in a single year than many do throughout their Jaycee careers.

He has served as a director, has been chairman and a member of a number of local Jaycee presidents, and currently he is chairman of the Jaycees' annual Walk for Mankind, which will be held this year on June 4.

Zapke will be installed as president of the Northville club on June 11.

Two other Jaycees were honored at the state convention. Totzkay and Ronald Bodnar received presidential citations for signing up six or more members in a single year.

juris doctor of law degree at WSU. He is a former Channel 4 "Good Guy," and he presently has a law practice in Northville.

Member of the Northville Jaycees, he is active in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, and does volunteer work for ileostomy patients.

He also is a member of the Michigan Bar Association, American Trial Lawyers Association, the Institute of Continuing Education and the Moose.

Simkins lives with his wife, Linda, at 511 Base Line.

His selection last week was not revealed until late in the program "to lend a little more excitement to the occasion," explained Jaycee Chairman John Stilson, who moderated the program.

Other nominees, who along with Simkins, were honored by Jaycees were:

Stuart Baker, a community relations staffer at Schoolcraft College; Wilson C. Grier, supervisor of Northville Township; Christopher C. Johnson, secretary of the Northville School Board; and W. Jeff Stabenau, an actively involved student at Schoolcraft College.

Jack W. Hoffman, editor of The Record and author of the recently published history, Northville — The First Hundred Years, was presented the Distinguished Service Award for service to the community.

Guest speakers included Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas and the University of Detroit basketball coach (and now athletic director) Dick Vitale.

Sheriff Lucas kept his remarks brief "to allow more time for the coach," and Vitale didn't miss the opportunity.

Never one for loss of words, Vitale demonstrated the colorful, non-stop style of commentary that drew almost as much attention this past year as did the Titans' outstanding basketball performance. His rapid-fire talk, which focused on the meaning of "pride" and included a series of humorous and poignant stories about his coaching career, left the audience gasping for breath.

Assisting Stilson, who himself was singled out for "determination in the face of adversity" (he was seriously injured in an automobile accident this past year), in honoring the Young Man of the Year nominees was Northville's Junior Miss, Lea Ann McElroy. She also provided a piano selection.

Judges for the Young Man of the Year Award were Robert Bacigalupi, Les Bowden, David Heinzman, and Michael Tarphian.

Others who spoke briefly at the banquet were Jaycee President James Totzkay and the Jaycee president-elect, William Zapke.

The Reverend Gerard A. Hadad of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church gave the invocation, and Jaycee Howard Kern led the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mustanger, staff capture five Schoolcraft awards

Northville High School's student newspaper, The Mustanger, and its staffers grabbed five awards in the third annual High School Journalism Contest sponsored by Schoolcraft College.

The award presentations were made Friday during a luncheon program in the college's Waterman Campus Center.

Top local honors went to Mike Murray and Bob Sweeney, who teamed up to produce in-depth articles and editorial comment on the Regenesi controversy. For their effort they were awarded first place in the analysis, interpretative or investigative reporting category.

Winning second place for opinion writing in The Mustanger was Karyn Egeland, who was applauded for her article titled, "Does NHS Curriculum Lack Pride?"

The Mustanger also won second place in the topography division, based on a single front page.

Taking third place in the review category was Tim Lee, who wrote three articles for judging.

In the grand prize category for Best Newspaper, the Mustanger was awarded an honorable mention.

First place winners of each division and their judges were:

Best Newspaper, The Spotlight of Stevenson High School, judged by Steve Barnaby, Farmington editor of the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers.

Typography, The Spotlight of Stevenson High School, judged by Jack Hoffman, editor of The Northville Record.

News writing, Alison Hirschel of Southfield Lathrup Senior High School, judged by John O'Brien, retired managing editor of The Detroit News.

Feature Writing, Julie Fituch of Garden City East High School, judged by Gordon Morris, Detroit News special features writer.

Feature Writing-Personality Sketches, Anne Catherine Sharp, of Stevenson High School, judged by Hoffman of The Record.

Opinion Writing, Lisa Carleton of Southfield High School, judged by Tim Richard of the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers.

Analysis, Interpretative or Investigative Reporting, Mike Murry and Bob Sweeney of Northville High School, judged by Ed Wendover, editor and publisher of the Plymouth Community Crier.

Sports Column, Steve Gabrian of Stevenson High School, judged by Joe Falls of The Detroit Free Press.

Sports, Caroline Sokalski of Our Lady of Mercy High School, judged by Falls of the Free Press.

Review, Dave MacGregor of Bentley High School, judged by Gary Williams, promotion writing supervisor of The Detroit News.

Advertising, The Northern Star of North Farmington High School, judged by Alice F. Sioff, Detroit News merchandising supervisor.

Here are comments of judges of those winners from Northville:

Best Newspaper—This paper has many of the qualities of the first three places as far as layout, clean print, local news, strong editorials. Writing could be improved. Paragraphs are too long which tends to turn off readers. Great layout of Volume XIII, No. 2, on "Dream for Greene...A Reality", on students art award. Could make the newspaper more interesting by getting out and interviewing students to get their reactions on issues other than just the official sources. News Brief standing feature is good in promoting readership.

Topography—Horizontal makeup pleasing. Teaser pixs and head in boxed flag interesting. Although pixs are unbalanced, heads give needed weight to left side of page. White space would have improved this page; kicker and heads are too squeezed. Editor's note really hurts makeup of page because (1) it is too squeezed, and (2) it is boxed

Boxing of story is to attract attention and to lend balance to page. The same can be said for pictures. Putting both together as separate entities defeats purpose of both. In this particular case, it would have been better to carry bottom picture at the left hand side of page.

Opinion Writing—"Does NHS Curriculum Lack Pride?"—While the writing is uneven, the thoughts are not. The writer studied curriculums in neighboring schools and made a series of modest, concrete proposals for improvements. The sophomoreic temptation to make a blanket indictment was resisted.

Miss Egeland's work was just one of several fairly good entries coming out of Northville. All had a consistent line — lack of student pride, lack of maintenance, lack of imagination by school officials. I think this paper is really onto something; there's more going on than just kids bitching; I hope the school board starts reading it.

Analysis, Interpretative or Investigative Reporting—Good coverage of story with impact for student paper's readers. All angles covered: (1) The Official Viewpoint; (2) The Opposing side; (3) Students' Reactions; (4) Editorial Comments; and (5) Follow Through — "What the teacher is doing now."

In charge of the awards program and contest was Douglas Johnson, advisor to The Campus Globe.

The high school journalism contest is an annual event sponsored by Schoolcraft College, Student Activities office, and coordinated by Johnson.

Teacher decision due on calendar

Northville teachers meet today and, if all goes as planned, they will be deciding whether or not they wish to change the school calendar for next year.

The school board has already voted in favor of a "modified" calendar that would be a compromise between the traditional and year-round schedules now used jointly in the district.

But teachers, who are in the first year of three-year contract, have the right to reject any calendar changes.

Yesterday (Tuesday), a committee of three teachers and Northville Education Association President Barbara LeBoeuf met with Superintendent Raymond Spear to hammer out details on three "modified" options that will be presented to the teaching staff today.

One of the options is roughly the same one discussed by the board when it approved the "modified" concept.

School would start on August 27 and end on June 20. There would be a one-week vacation in October and two-week breaks in December and March.

The second option would start school on August 27 and end on June 16. There would be four-day weekends in October and February, a week and a day vacation in March and another four-day weekend in May.

The last option offered by Spear was for 1978-79. It's similar to the second option except that school would start a week earlier in August and the March vacation would be extended to two weeks.

Spear said there is nothing hard and fast about his proposals. He said he purposely made them flexible — school opening could be made later in exchange for four-day breaks, for example — so that teachers would have room to devise an acceptable plan.

A major advantage of the modified plans, he said, would be the energy saved by lengthening the Christmas vacation to two weeks and by implementing March vacations.

"We're figuring $10,000 to $20,000 savings for those two two-week winter breaks," he said.

The school board voted for the modified schedule because of the inefficiency of trying to run two different calendars in the same district.

Year-round school, which is popular in the elementary grades, falls off sharply in the junior high level and only 104 of nearly 1200 high school students go to school year-round.

Public attitude surveys, however, show that as many people would strongly object to completely dropping the year-round school as the traditional calendar of nine months in school and a three-month summer vacation.

As a compromise, the board chose the modified route.

Winners Mike Murray and Bob Sweeney

NSH honor society inducts 118

In the midst of criticism that extracurricular activities are on the wane at Northville High School, the National Honor Society has a paradoxical problem.

There may be too many members in this elite club of scholars who are also leaders and good citizens.

Tonight (Wednesday), more than 118 achievers will be inducted into the society during a hoped-for solemn ceremony in the high school auditorium.

This will bring the membership roles bulging over the 200 mark, and even though more than half of the new inductees are seniors who will be graduating next month, sponsor Ron Meteyer thinks the club is getting too large.

Last year, when the membership reached 240 after spring inductions, Meteyer checked the national guidelines and decided some changes were in order.

Noting that the percent of Northville students qualifying for the society was about twice the level suggested by the national organization, Meteyer recommended that the grade requirements be stiffened.

Beginning next year, the minimum cumulative for a senior will be raised from 3.0 to 3.4 on a 4.0 scale. The junior requirement will jump from 3.4 to 3.6 and the sophomore 3.8 minimum will remain unchanged. (A 3.8 average is equivalent of four A's and a B.)

"The National Honor Society National Handbook academic requirements are outlined as being not less than B, 85 percent or its equivalent," says Meteyer, a science teacher. Eighty-five percent of 4.0 equals 3.4.

Numbers have been a problem for the Honors Society before, but it was too few, not too many. When Meteyer became sponsor in 1971, there were 12 year-long members and only 40 after spring induction.

Now, he says, it's one of the most active clubs in the school with a goal of taking on a project — fund raisers, Christmas baskets, parties at the Northville State Hospital — a month.

In the fall, much of the time is spent building a Homecoming float, an activity that Meteyer has used to generate interest in the club.

"We've had the prize-winning float for the last two years," boasts Meteyer. "It would be three straight years, but we were late for the judging once."

That year, Meteyer played the nice guy by pulling his slow-moving float — a huge Mustang with fiery eyes — off the road to let traffic past. He missed the judging deadline by "two or three minutes" for his courtesy.

Membership in the Honors Society is not assured by meeting the grade-point requirements. Three other areas also must be considered.

Two qualifications, citizenship and leadership, are determined by teachers and administrators. Meteyer asks the staff to rate each potential member in both categories and then indicate, with a plus or minus, if the student should be inducted.

Two negative reports for a sophomore, three for a junior or four for a senior blocks the membership. It doesn't happen often and Meteyer says "most take it very seriously."

The fourth category is service. Each member must have participated in at least two school or community activities.

Those who qualify under all four categories are then invited to join the society. Formal invitations were mailed to each inductee who had to reply — also by mail — to be inducted tonight.

The society's four officers — President Lisa Bilinsky, Vice President John Brown, Secretary Lea Ann McElroy and Treasurer Kathy Herbel — will be conducting a candlelight ceremony. WJR's Ted Strasser will be the guest speaker.

It's designed to be formal, but Meteyer recalls the year that an undercover narcotics agent — who reportedly had a contract on his life — was the guest speaker. A prankster pulled the fire alarm which caused more than a bit of consternation for the officer.

"I didn't see them," says Meteyer, "but later, he told me that he had brought along a couple of armed guards who were in the audience."

Here is a list of tonight's inductees:

Thursday's Poppy Day

With this Thursday, May 19, designated in Northville as annual Poppy Day, the Northville American Legion cites the award-winning essay by Elizabeth Ann Hartley, last year's Miss Poppy for the post, for "The Poppy Story."

Poppies made by veterans in government hospitals and in special convalescent workshops, she points out, are worn in memory of men and women who lost their lives in our nation's wars. The poppy came to be the memorial flower, she explains, because the only touch of life and beauty American troops saw in France and

Abortion talk topic

Dr. Carl Middleton of St. Mary's College in Orchard Lake will be guest speaker on abortion at a speaker-forum of the Northville Knights of Columbus at 8 p.m. this Thursday in Our Lady of Victory Church social hall. The public is invited.

Flanders from 1914 to 1918 often was the wild poppy "that bloomed amid the rubble of war."

They bloomed around barbed wire fences and covered graves of American fighting men and came to symbolize the high ideals for which these veterans gave their lives.

All profits, it is pointed out, from Thursday's street sale go to aid disabled veterans and their families.

"Give with a generous heart on poppy day," Miss Hartley asks.

$1,000 BOOST—That's a $1,000 check Township Supervisor Wilson Grier is handing over to Louise and Jim Cutler. The contribution to the "stop the prison" campaign was made by Robert Haas. The Cutlers and John Dugan and Sandra Walts have been named as coordinators of the drive to raise $30,000 to oppose the state's prison plan for Northville. A campaign barometer sign has been erected on Northville road near Seven Mile to record the contributions.

Name finance leaders for anti-prison drive

Two city and two township residents have been named to head up the campaign to raise some $30,000 for support of the program of opposition to a state prison at the Wayne County Child Development Center.

Jim and Louise Cutler, owners and operators of Cutler Realty in the city, have been joined by John Dugan and Sandra Walts, both township residents, as coordinators of the fund-raising effort.

The campaign was given a boost with a $1,000 contribution from Robert Haas, a long-time Northville resident and former owner of Farm Crest Farms where Northville Commons subdivision is now located.

Eunice Switzer, who serves as secretary for the Western Wayne County Citizens Association — the group that has been fighting the governor's prison proposal — reported this week that contributions now total slightly more than $5,000.

Mrs. Cutler reported Tuesday that plans for organization of the fund drive would be formulated this week. Meanwhile, a prison fund "thermometer" has been erected at the intersection of Seven Mile at Northville Road for visual accounting of the campaign results.

Earlier, City Councilman Paul Vernon had been urged to head-up the campaign. He said this week that he has offered his assistance but that council and personal business would not permit assuming the chairmanship role.

Clerk gets 'appeals' post

Northville Township Clerk Clarice Sass was appointed to the township board of appeals by Supervisor Wilson Grier at last Thursday's board meeting. She replaces Trustee Michael Wilson on the appeals board. He resigned because of work conflict, Grier said.

Grier also announced that Clerk Sass has been appointed to the executive board of the Wayne County Clerks Association and the ad hoc committee on educa-

Cost $21,683 over grant

Award township hall bids

Approval of bids totaling $722,783 for the new Northville Township building on Six Mile was given by the board last Thursday with a $21,683 difference from the $701,100 available in the EDA grant to come from contingency funds in the budget.

It took two votes to pass the proposal as presented by Supervisor Wilson Grier and recommended by the architect, Gene Ralls, as the board discussed deleting some feature to bring the total under the grant amount.

Board members pressed Treasurer Richard M. Henningsen for his opinion on whether the township budget would be able to pay the additional money. He pointed out that the township was faced with a lawsuit and that library and voting machine outlays were pending and first voted to abstain, as did James Nowka.

Michael Wilson voted no. Henningsen pointed out that the figures had been received an hour and a half before the meeting and that did not give sufficient time for him to make budget determinations. Grier said he had only received the recommendations from the architect late Monday.

After a recess and discussion in which it appeared the added funds would not be needed until the end of the budget year, Henningsen removed his abstention and the vote was retaken with all voting yes except Nowka who abstained.

Nowka explained that he felt they were working with already committed funds and that features, such as bathroom tiles, could be installed at a later time and, if deleted, would keep the project within the grant amount.

From the total EDA grant of $761,000 site improvement at $13,800 already had been spent and the architect fee of $46,100 also was earmarked, leaving $701,100.

Grier said he expected the 14,000 square foot building should be available for use and 100 percent completed by April 1, 1978.

In approving the bids, second low bidder for general contracting, Hillier Construction, received the approval with a base bid of $462,200 after the original low bidder, Waterford Construction Company, at $459,000, stated it had made an error and would not be able to comply.

Second low also was approved for electrical contract with Smith Brothers approved with a bid of $82,183 using two deductions from the original. Sam Russell, original low bidder, was not used as, Grier said, he had not included cost of bringing electrical connections across Six Mile.

Low bid of Long Plumbing Company, a local business, was accepted at $178,400. The board expressed satisfaction at getting the low bid from the firm. Jim Long, a member of the audience, said he anticipated that there could be other cost savings during construction.

In originally voting against the request to take the additional money from township funds, Wilson suggested deletions of the first six alternates, for tiling and carpeting, and of the public address system, comparing the purchase to buying a house "that you can afford."

Mark Lysinger, in supporting Clerk Clarice Sass' motion for approval, said he felt the board was "hassling over a few dollars now for things it would want later."

Trustee John Swienkowski was absent.

Gravel pits will need fencing

A fencing ordinance, under consideration for months as a way to stop trespassing at Northville Township's lakes and gravel pits, was passed by the board of trustees last Thursday.

It was drawn up by township attorney Donald Morgan after District Judge Dunbar Davis had notified the board that he would refuse to hear trespassing cases brought before him by township police if the township did not have such an ordinance.

Morgan pointed out that the police each summer have ticketed hundreds of people at the township trouble spots. These were pinpointed as Griswold Street lake, Seven Mile pit and Swan Harbor lake in Highland Lakes.

The ordinance will require a chain link fence not less than six feet high or more than ten feet with

A little knowledge and a lot of common sense can solve your furniture arranging problems. Start with a floor plan and reduce measurements from feet to inches. Keep to the same scale in marking windows and doors and in drawing the base of furniture. Cut out cardboard models you can move and shift. Carry a tape measure when you shop, and don't forget height and depth of every piece you consider. Place coffee tables at least a foot away from sofas and loveseats and plan lamp tables the height of arms for good reading light. A general floor plan will save you back-breaking labor - and keep scale in balance.

New position

Nirider to head chamber

Essie Nirider of 985 Grace Street, a 52 year resident of Northville, was hired as executive director of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce by the board of directors at its May 12 meeting.

Nirider comes to the chamber with an abundance of business experience. He was the owner and manager of the Northville Hardware which was located on Center Street for 15 years. For the past 10 years, he has been a real estate associate with Carl Johnson Realty on Main Street.

He was president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce in 1966 and he was president of the Merchants Association for two years.

Former president of the Exchange Club of Northville, he is an active member of the Northville Methodist Church and was lay leader and chairman of the board of the church body. Nirider is married and lives with his wife at the Grace Street address. They have three adult children.

"The Chamber Board is very pleased to have secured such a well qualified man as our first executive Director," said Chamber President Ann L. Roy.

"Essie believes in the progressive future of the Northville Community — his past dedication to the chamber, his enthusiasm and his business experience are all qualities that the Board took into consideration when they made their selection."

The executive director's office will be in the Recreation Department at 215 W. Cady Street and the phone number is 349-7640.

'Technical wizardry' in 'Fiddler' production

If you were a rich man, you would still have trouble buying a more entertaining evening than Northville students are providing at the high school with their production of "Fiddler on the Roof".

The show played before good crowds when it opened last weekend and advance ticket sales were already high for the closing performances this Friday and Saturday.

Last Thursday, 500 of the high school auditorium's 560 seats had been sold for Saturday's closing night.

People who attended last weekend's shows are praising the work of the 150 students involved, 42 on stage and the rest backstage or in the pit band.

Director Kurt Kinde said practices have been going on for 2½ months.

"We worked from 3 to 9:30 every weekday and on four weekends," he said. "The set work was from 3 to 6 and rehearsals from 6:30 to 9:30."

"The last two weeks we've been going to 11 or 11:30."

Kinde and band director Mike Rumbell are not shy on promotion. Before the play opened, the cast put on 15-minute scenes before 1000 elementary students and did a preview for a similar number of high school pupils.

The promotion, the large number of students involved and the fact that "Fiddler" is a popular play helped to boost the gate, but Kinde is still upset that only musicals and light plays are drawing well.

In the fall, he directed what he thought was an outstanding performance of "Royal Gambit". Only 26 people a night showed up to watch.

"That's because people enjoy laughing over thinking," he said.

Those who see "Fiddler" will be watching "technically the most difficult play we've ever done," said Kinde.

Using quarter-inch aircraft cable and counterweights that weigh up to 600 pounds, Kinde said, "We're trying to technically improve a weak theatre."

He calls the techniques used in lowering set props "sheer technical wizardry."

While a school like Birmingham Seaholm has 12 staff people working on a play, Kinde and Rumbell shoulder all the work at Northville.

"My wife volunteered to help or I would never have made it," said Kinde.

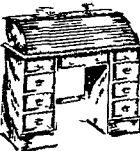

He notes with pride that his plays are self-supporting "We've got some of the lowest priced, most technical and least subsidized plays in the area," he said. Tickets for "Fiddler" cost $3 for adults and $2.50 for students.

Some of the leading roles are Tevye, played by Perer Daniels; Golde, Debby Meida; Tzeitel, Jan Kalota; Hodel, Paige Lysinger; Chava, Chris Stephens; Motel, Kurt Kastner; Lazar Wolf, Frank Bustamante; Perchick, Richard Bookwalter; Mordcha, Marty Redilla; Rabbi, Dave Nyquist.

School board searches for dollars Saturday

The Northville board of education begins its budget-making process Saturday morning with a study session that starts at 9 a.m. in the conference room of the administration building.

School board members will be dealing with a budget that administrators say won't be able to finance present services without an increase in taxes.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said the district needs an additional $265,000 to offer the same program next year that was presented this year.

To raise that much money would require a tax hike of 1.75 mills (or about $4 for a house that's worth $50,000).

Northville now levies 32.8 mills to operate the schools and just over seven mills for debt retirement to pay off building programs.

That brings the total school millage to about 40 mills ($9.99) which is the equivalent of a $1,000 tax on a home worth $50,000.

If there is no tax increase, an administrative report indicates that the teaching staff would have to be pared from 205 to about 190. There would also be drastic cuts in capital outlay and purchase of supplies and materials.

A tax increase of about two mills or less would generally fund the status quo although there would still be cuts in areas such as capital outlay, the report said.

To hire enough staff to allow high school students to take six classes rather than five would require a tax increase of nearly three mills, according to administrators.

If there is a tax increase, the administrative recommendation is to use some of the money to hire a new assistant principal for the junior high schools.

Spear said last week that he hoped the district could hold a millage election by late summer or early fall. Several people, both in and out of the school, have doubted the chances of a successful election.

Saturday's meeting is open to the public.

Fence ordinance approved barbed wiring. A penal ordinance, it will become effective June 17, 31 days after publication.

Police Chief Ronald Nisun had supported the judge's request for the ordinance and has stated he thinks it can be enforced.

In considering the ordinance strength was given the argument for fencing to prevent swimming in the lakes as problems at the Thomson gravel pits have been eliminated after they were fenced.

Concerned that "the cure might be more expensive than the disease" if the township should be sued over the ordinance, Trustee Mark Lysinger asked Morgan if he felt the township might be.

Morgan said it is impossible to say as "anybody can be sued," but pointed out that required fencing should decrease property owners' insurance.

Police Chief Nisun and the township planning commission both reviewed the proposed ordinance.

The township had received a letter from Dennis and Barbara Gramer asking for the ordinance and citing problems at the quarry on Beck road by their home.

"All we did last summer was fight with these people (summer swimmers) asking them to leave. It really gets discouraging to live like this," they wrote, mentioning that Don Thomson felt he had cut his trespassing problem 95 percent by fencing.

Speaking for The Record

Street washing's a riot of laughs

One of the most exciting — and certainly the funniest — activities to occur in Northville each year during Michigan Week is enjoyed by relatively few people.

That's because the firemen's street washing takes place before most people are out of bed. And that's too bad because this annual Saturday morning comedy is worth every cent of its free admission.

The suggestion has been made that the street washing should be scheduled for later in the day when more people could enjoy it. But there are several good reasons why that might not be wise — mainly because few spectators would escape a dousing.

Invariably, it begins innocently. Firemen and trucks moving west to east along Main Street, streams of icy water dancing along the pavement and sidewalks. By the time the procession reaches Center Street, the aims of firemen's hoses begin straying. A fireman gets wet, then another, and another until everyone's lost in the mist and spray of fire hoses gone wild.

Smart policemen, blocking traffic, do their work from inside locked cars. The Record's photographer has learned from past experience that it is wise to shoot pictures with a telephoto lens.

No one in the open is safe. What's more, few care. Water fighting is a magnet, drawing spectators closer and closer until...

Main "civilian" target of straying hoses this year was City Manager Steven Walters who, wisely, came dressed for his Saturday morning bath. Councilmen Paul Vernon, Paul Folino and Stanley Johnston were also drenched as were several spectators who joined in the fun.

"It proves," said a laughing bystander, "that men are really only boys with whiskers."

Congratulations!

Northville High School and the community can take pride in the fact that its student newspaper and staffers won five awards in the just concluded third annual high school journalism contest.

Competing against 17 other high schools in western Wayne and Oakland counties, Northville won a first, two seconds, a third and an honorable mention.

The Mustangar impressed judges and others who viewed the contest entries with its pleasing layout, its writing and general interest. Most impressive was The Mustangar's investigative reporting and hard-hitting editorials.

Noting that several of the editorials carried a similar theme — lack of student pride, lack of maintenance, lack of imagination by school officials — one judge concluded: "I think this paper is really onto something; there's more going on than just kids bitching. I hope the school board starts reading it."

We hope board members HAVE been reading it. If not, they're missing a student viewpoint that must be considered if the problems at the high school are to be resolved.

Meanwhile, we're delighted to salute this fine student newspaper and its staff. Congratulations.

JEWEL LUCKETT

YES . . .

Yes. Why not? At a time when we are very aware of sex discrimination it seems unreasonable to exclude half of our population from the responsibilities and the opportunities represented by a service commitment to our country.

A one-year commitment to public service after graduation from high school, by our young men and women who are physically fit, through a military or a social service program such as Vista could have many positive aspects. There could be opportunities for growth and maturation, for broadening job experiences before making long term educational, career and vocational decisions, and the opportunity for vocational training.

For those of you who think only in terms of a military draft and see women shouldering a gun in an infantry unit in times of war, let's consider that for every combat soldier there are many others serving in supporting roles outside of a combat zone. Women can fill these roles as well as men. What about women as aircraft or truck mechanics, truck drivers, air control tower operators, computer operators, computer programmers, x-ray technicians, radio operators, teletype operators? I could go on. Many of the job fields women are successfully entering in civilian life are available in the military and these jobs can be filled by women who have the aptitudes and abilities for them.

What about public service programs in parks, forest areas, hospitals, urban and rural service groups, environmental monitoring?

If we do have a draft, let women and men both assume the responsibility of serving. Women are capable and they can do it.

Speaking for Myself

Draft women?

JAY WARD

NO . . .

Two reasons why women would be drafted are, if ERA passes, men who were drafted could demand that women also be, and, a threat to our nation so severe (probably invasion) that both sexes were drafted into military service.

In either case, women would probably have to face a combat situation, and I believe they are not equipped physically or emotionally to make a significant contribution. Even the women of Israel who were drafted never were ordered into combat. Women have about 40 percent less physical strength than men, and cannot move heavy war machinery on an equal basis. They also are emotionally less suited to the stress of military life that calls for close living conditions, longer working hours and military discipline. A psychiatric survey of Navy women completed between 1965-70 showed a ratio of four women for every man were hospitalized for psychiatric reasons, an actual statistic of one out of every eight enlisted women.

Can you imagine the discomfort of cramming women into a combat ship where people are "fitted in" to live among the machinery and the hardship of a vessel not designed for creature comfort or protection from exposure? The recent highly publicized experimental integration of a Navy ship found almost all the women were pregnant by the end of the tour at sea.

We shudder to think of the danger of her fate if a woman combat soldier were captured alive.

Finally, a draft for women would be almost impossible to implement. If marriage were cause for deferment, than any woman who did not wish to serve would probably marry. If pregnancy could qualify women for deferment, we might see the biggest "baby boom" since the post World War II era.

'Get rid of Spear to restore harmony'

To the Editor:

The easiest way to cover up one's incompetence — the simplest cop-out of a bad situation — the dirtiest tactic for an official to get pressure off himself is to blame someone else and in the case of our superintendent of schools, Mr. Raymond Spear, fire the high school principal. And if we as citizens of this community and parents of school age children allow this to happen then I feel that I live in a community of gutless hypocrites.

Three years ago our community was introduced to "the finest and best qualified of all candidates, our new principal, Mr. Michael Tarpinian"... so stated Raymond Spear as he introduced Tarpinian at a "meet the principal night" at the high school. The superintendent's words of praise and the accolades bestowed on Tarpinian that night and at the athletic banquet soon followed were flowery, beautiful and "justified" because of the new principal's background and accomplishments in the largest school district of Michigan — Detroit.

In Detroit, Michael Tarpinian proved himself. A principal of Finney School with 3200 students and a staff of 200. At Cody High School — 4,000 students and a staff of 250 where discipline and morale of students and teachers were high. And there was harmony because in all the schools that Tarpinian worked prior to Northville, he had the best curriculum, supplies, textbooks, teachers — and a superintendent respected by the entire school community.

But here in Northville, this same man, Tarpinian, an educator since 1952 and a proven principal since 1970, stands to have his career destroyed by a man who is credited for, in the study of area educators, the North Central Association Evaluation... "There is definite unrest between the community and both the school board and the superintendent of schools, Raymond Spear"... "parents feel the superintendent manipulates situations and people to coincide with his own ideas and desires."

These aren't my words — they're documented in a 55-page report and it's about our school district headed by Raymond Spear.

Many of the teachers in our district do not respect Spear, many citizens of our community do not respect Spear, and a great number of high school students do not like Raymond Spear. And in my opinion, the man to be fired is not Tarpinian but Raymond Spear.

When I read letters in this newspaper from retired teachers who despise Spear's past actions and tactics, where over 1100 citizens in less than 24 hours sign petitions not to renew Spear's contract for three years (the petitions were aimed at automatic renewal aspect of the contract — Ed), when I hear disgruntled teachers and students speak harshly of Spear, then I think it's time for all of us to take account of this new situation and demand a change — not the principal of the high school but at the top.

We used to have one of the best school districts and systems in the state... past tense. Many of us moved into this community because of the education offered our children, but under Raymond Spear's guidance we've become a district of low morale, unrest, general mistrust, lack of communication, high apathy and a school district with a lack of leadership. And proof of these words are in the North Central Report.

I feel the time for action is now. Under Spear, first it was Fred Holdsworth and now it's Michael Tarpinian and I for one want to do something about it!

I'll pay the cost for the printing of a special ballot — "Should Mr. Raymond Spear, superintendent of schools be fired? Yes or no!"

You'll see the largest turnout of voters ever in this community and the truth will be known. We that are the taxpayers... we that pay have the right to demand the best and the best ain't Raymond Spear.

N. Nick Serkaian

P.S. And a personal note to you, Raymond Spear. Why don't you resign? Richard M. Nixon did and I'll personally pardon you. You'll also be doing me a favor by saving me the expense of a special ballot. And in the name of "harmony", that's the name of that tune!!

* * *

To the Editor:
After the North Central Evaluation Report appeared in The Record last week, Mr. Spear has no choice but to resign, even if the board doesn't see fit to ask him.

Signed,
J.A.M.

'Dissident' parents find faults at Silver Springs

To the Editor:

Today, we received the newsletter from Silver Springs School. Once again, we parents were "chastised" for not attending a meeting held at the school on the evening of May 3, featuring Nancy Soper.

In the past, we attended all meetings held at the school, but we no longer do, because if one happens to disagree with or question the "Fieldman Philosophy", one is labeled a dissident or troublemaker or of having a negative attitude.

In the past, we have had the audacity to question the "Fieldman Philosophy". Such questions as, why can't our children be taught handwriting in a more formal manner; that is, sitting at a desk, using correct posture, correct manipulation of the pencil, etc. Our "Fieldman" answer was, "Well, even as adults, we don't always have the ideal writing conditions. Sometimes we write standing up or sitting down or leaning against a wall."

What nonsense! What has that to do with teaching a child correct penmanship habits? We also asked if our children could be taught reading from a school-approved textbook, instead of choosing their own reading material. We were told that the children choose books that were of interest to them. This is fine if carefully supervised. (We happened to look at a book our child had purchased at Silver Springs School. We were curious as to what grade level she had chosen, as this was to be her reading book. Well, we were shocked! To our amazement and in our opinion the book was pornographic. Certainly no material for an elementary child. If we took passages from the book, we are sure the editor would not print them. Perhaps your child had read this book?)

When we brought this book to the attention of Mrs. Fieldman and Mrs. Soper, at a meeting of "dissident" parents, they were not in the least concerned. All parents attending that meeting were appalled but not our administrators. We were sent a letter from the school a few weeks later, explaining to us that this was an excellent book.

To go on, we asked if our children could please be placed in a one-grade level class, instead of a 3-4-5 grade-level split. We were informed that grade-level splits are the best arrangement for children. Apparently, the Amerman teachers disagree. In a letter to the editor of this paper, the Amerman teachers stated, "the modified schedule will provide an opportunity for more classrooms with one-grade level which will enable teachers to better meet the individual needs of students." If grade-level splits are good for Silver Springs' children, why aren't they good for Amerman children? Why the two differing philosophies for children who live but a few miles apart.

Mr. Whitaker asks why children are leaving Northville for private schools? We do not think a kindergarten-first-second grade split is good for our five-year-old and we will not enroll him at Silver Springs, unless changes are made. (I would be interested to find out just how many children have left the Silver Springs School.)

Perhaps the parents didn't attend the May 3 meeting at Silver Springs School, because they have heard enough of the "Fieldman-Soper rhetoric" and didn't wish to "share" it again. How about a speaker with a different philosophy than yours, Mrs. Fieldman?

Spring" — the budget "study session". This is always closely followed by a "hearing" (which is really literally just that: the Council listens politely to the questions of a handful of diehard taxpayers, smiles a lot and answers pleasantly, and then proceeds to pass the increased budget which is really already carved in stone at that time). This action is then followed a few months later by an increase in my mortgage payment.

"Big" government in a small political entity? You bet! SEV more than covers the inflation rate but that is never enough. You know the usual budget strategy so typical of many organizations: ask for something more than you really want and that provides "negotiating" room for the nit-pickers and prevents those charged with reviewing the budget from looking like complete pussycats. Ask for three mills additional, reduce it by one mil, feel like a cost conscious hero. HURRAY! Why not hold the line? Maybe the Washington and Lansing professional politicians can't play the game straight, but can't we show some personal courage in little ole' Northville?

Every year the script reads the same: raise taxes above and beyond the rate of inflation. This is management and control? Our city boundaries have remained the same for years, our population is practically static. Where is the justification?

The good old boys on the Council threaten a cut in services as the alternative. If a cut in services means not offering anymore courses in ASTROLOGY (as the last Recreation Department brochure did), then PLEASE, Mr. Walters, cut away — I'll be glad to sharpen your ax!

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

'Bank loan' ready for horse show

"Animal people have to be a little crazy, I guess," laughs this non-stop tiny bundle of energy.

The morning sun's still hovering beneath the treetops, her husband's left for work, her children are off to school, she's already spent better than an hour feeding and caring for 10 hungry dogs, she's exercised her daughter's horse, she's driven a couple miles away to another barn and now, believe it or not, she's powdering and diapering a giant stallion.

And in a couple more hours this Lyon Township mother will be dashing off to her six-day-a-week job in Northville before hurrying home to drive one of her children into Ann Arbor for ballet lessons.

She exhausts and amazes her guest.

For Ursala Stackhouse the day's not long enough because she thrives on work, on keeping busy.

She may or may not be typical of "animal people" but as she prepares for the third annual Kiwanis-ASHAM Horse Show coming up at Northville Downs at the end of this month, she's certain of this: "Showing horses is no easy chore; it's grueling and expensive, and it takes people with some drive. I'll bet most of the others who will be in the show have that drive. If they didn't they'd be home watching television."

Ursala's different than some, however. She raises and shows both dogs and horses. That's besides raising a family on their little 10 Mile Road farm.

"My family thinks I'm crazy."

Her husband, a Ford Motor Company engineer, doesn't like animals; a daughter who Mom says is "a much better rider than I" is rapidly losing interest; and the two other teenagers have other interests.

Although she's been around horses much of her life, it wasn't until her daughter, Stacy, began riding for show that Ursala "figured if I'm going to take Stacy to shows and wait around I might as well be riding, too, before I get too old to experience it."

Just as one of her show collies led to another, one horse led to another until Ursala "fell in love" with Society's Hy-Fashion, a chestnut American Saddlebred.

"His conformation, his disposition ... everything about him was perfect. I had to have him," she explains much as would another person upon spotting a beauty in an automobile showroom.

But as much as a big car?

"I didn't have that kind of money — and my husband isn't about to spend a nickel on a horse. So I said, 'I'll finance him through the bank.'"

"They told me it couldn't be done. Well, I did it! The bank gave me a loan."

All of which means Ursala couldn't quit work even if she wanted. She breaks "about even" on her collies, but paying for, caring for and showing her three-gaited Hy-Fashion costs an arm and a leg.

Figure it up: 35 to 40 bucks a month for feed, 20 to 30 bucks for shoes (bi-monthly for showing purposes), money for saddles, for bridles, for special bits, for blankets that a horse can chew up in a few minutes, for shoe chains and weights, for throat latch, for tailset, for vets, and even for diapers.

"It goes on and on, but you know, it's worth every cent.

"I come in here to ride him and he doesn't get mad because I'm a few minutes late. He doesn't even talk back. It's the same with the dogs. They're always happy to see me. No matter how bad the day's been, they're dancing around and wagging their tails and barking. "Oh, it's so great to see you."

And then, of course, there's the shows.

The shows make the adrenalin run.

It's no different than that of a veteran baseball player walking into the stadium for the start of a new season. The crowd, the excitement, the anticipation are goose-bumping season after season, says Ursala.

This Lyon Township mother already has had more than her share of thrills.

But, like others, she's building up to another as the Northville show approaches (May 27-30). She and her champion Hy-Fashion will be aiming for the top.

"It helps make all of this worth it," she says as she returns her handsome "bank loan" to the stable before hurrying off to earn his keep.

Monday's hearing is scheduled to be adjourned to a second hearing to take place at the City-County Building in Detroit beginning at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, May 25.

Buses for the Wednesday meeting will be provided Northville citizens by the Western Wayne County Residents Association. They'll leave from the Northville Square shopping center parking lot at 12:30 p.m.

Public works committee members are expected to come up with their recommendations, following the two hearings, and the full board of commissioners is slated to vote on the matter by next week Friday.

The Friday date is significant because the state requested a decision on its offer by then.

On Thursday, May 26 the public works committee is scheduled to meet to consider recommendations of the county's legal counsel, the county bureau of taxation and the county auditors on the prison proposal.

Meanwhile, no decision on appropriating money for the governor's proposal relative to Northville has been made as yet by the state legislature.

State Senator R. Robert Geake of Northville views the state proposal as a waste of tax dollars since with lesser investment the existing Detroit House of Corrections facilities in Northville could be improved for temporary housing of prisoners.

(The women's division of DeHoCo is being abandoned this summer with the opening of a new prison for women at Ypsilanti).

Geake also pointed out that county prison facilities at the Wayne County General Hospital "are half empty" and that if used by the state, it could accommodate in excess of 200 prisoners.

What's more, the senator noted that Northville State Hospital has 204 empty beds and that all other state mental institutions — except Ypsilanti — have unused space.

Geake said that since many prisoners need psychiatric care, mental institutions could be used temporarily for housing these people while the state builds new prison facilities in Michigan.

Supportive of a bond issue for the construction of new Michigan penal institutions, the Northville senator suggests that good alternative housing can be found for prisoners on a temporary basis while new prisons are being built.

DeHoCo property, suggested Geake, would be an appropriate location for development of a new facility.

The former Child Development Center, which has been vacant for the past several years, includes some 50 buildings.

It reportedly costs the county about $165,000 a year to maintain the empty facilities.

County Board of Commissioners chairman, John Barr, sees the sale of the property as a means of coping with an anticipated $12 million county budget deficit.

Barr has emphasized, however, that although he considers the prospective sale a fiscal advantage for the county, he will not hesitate to resist the project if given more valid reasons for opposition.

He said he is aware that the surrounding community fears a decline in property value if the proposed sale is approved, and that residents are concerned about public safety.

Barr said he expects more of this kind of resistance, but that he foresees no legal basis to deny the sale. "People will always be opposed to prisons regardless of where they are located," he declared.

"We must force ourselves to keep an open mind on this consideration," Barr remarked. "The potential cash involved could be a salvation to Wayne County this year, just as well as the maintenance burden on the property adds to what could be our devastation."

Barr added, "I have not thus far seen any reason why a detention facility there (in Northville) would cause any negative impact in surrounding areas, and until I do, I intend to vote in favor of the proposed sale."

He said he had been assured by state corrections officials that their "study after study" shows that property values do not necessarily or usually decline in areas surrounding state prisons.

Barr said also that "the same green belt that surrounds the facility will remain there, and that this same property that is now considered so beautiful will not change in outward appearance."

As far as passers-by are concerned, everything visible will stay unchanged, he contended.

Neither would a prison as proposed cause a loss of tax revenue, Barr pointed out. He noted that the old Child Center existed as government owned, tax exempt property for 50 years before it was discontinued for modern means of treatment for the types of children it housed.

"Frankly, at this point I am elated over the prospect that this sale could help us financially as much as it might," Barr declared.

"We could pay most of our anticipated debts with the $9 million, and I think we could bring the rest under control."

Members of the public works committee, which will conduct Monday's hearing here, are: Chairman Edgar L. Harris of Taylor; Vice-chairman Chester Wozniak of Hamtramck; Alex Pilch, Dearborn; Royce E. Smith, Belleville; and Conrad L. Mallett and Loretta Young of Detroit.

(and ask others to do so, as well) to make a sizable contribution to the Western Wayne County Residents Association if and when the State Prison issue should come to a court fight, as seems entirely likely.

I, like perhaps many others, have hesitated to send in my hard-earned dollars until I was certain that an expensive court battle was the last resort. While the issue is not yet "set in concrete", it seems that the politicians will again tell us that only they know what is best and our concerns "be damned." If that be the case, I want the Residents Association to know that the battle should be fought to the end and that we will "put our money where our mouths are."

L. Frederick Wiggins

$20,144,240 in the Oakland County section.

Last year the SEV in Wayne County was $28,697,220 and $18,221,670 in Oakland County.

City officials estimate that the 12.9-mill levy would produce $655,600 in taxes for the 1977-78 budget. (The city's fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30.)

In addition to projected property taxes of $655,600, the city anticipates receiving these general fund revenues:

$186,000 in state-shared revenues; $20,000, licenses, fees and permits; $82,500, fines and forfeits; $76,500, sales and services; $50,400, federal grants; $26,940 in other revenues; and $438,340 in inter-fund reimbursements.

Proposed departmental expenditures in the new budget figures are:

Administration, $243,900, up from $234,750; public safety, $583,790, up from $530,789; public works, $354,200, up from $319,700; recreation and library, $93,200, up from $80,400; and insurance, fringe benefits and other expenditures, $261,190, up from $222,900.

With contract negotiations still to take place with employee groups, council members have stated that the budget provides for a six-percent increase in salaries and fringe benefits together.

If wage demands exceed this level, they emphasize that the city will have no other recourse but to eliminate personnel.

Here's a look at all of the rates for the past 20 years:

Wildcat streak ends, but new one starts

Novi's first three singles, Greg Goff, Barry Ouellette and Tim Kelly, put away their opponents leaving Novi just one win shy of taking the meet.

Although they came close, the Wildcats couldn't pick up that needed win in the last four matches.

The first doubles team of John Withers and Barry Skown lost their match in three sets and number four singles John DeBrule lost a tough match, 4-6, 4-6.

Earlier last week, Novi had made it six in a row after a pair of season-opening defeats by whipping Clarenceville 7-0 for the second time this year.

And no sooner had Novi lost to Central, then the Wildcats started another winning streak by dumping Brighton, 6-1, for the second time this season.

A narrow loss to Walled Lake Central was the only mar on an otherwise perfect week for the Novi tennis team.

The Wildcats, who had reeled off six straight wins before the Central defeat, bounced back to whip Brighton and up their season record to 7-3.

"It was a very good match," said Novi Coach Dave Haywood. It could have been even better with one more win.

Goff and Ouellette, who have each held the number one singles spot this year, both stretched their winning streaks. Goff is 7-0 and Ouellette, with eight straight wins, is 8-2.

Kelly also has seven wins and only one defeat. Skown and Withers hold a 7-3 record.

Of Novi's three losses this year, two were to Class A teams and the third was to Class C state powerhouse Detroit Country Day.

Speaking of powerhouses, Novi gets the dubious distinction of playing in one of the state's toughest Class B regionals Friday and Saturday at Cranbrook.

Host Cranbrook and Detroit Austin, two of the best three Class B teams in the state, will be the squads to beat.

Others competing are Clawson, Detroit DeLaSalle, University of Detroit High, Bishop Gallagher, Clarenceville, Madison, L'Anse Creuse, Anchor Bay, Oak Park and Troy.

Wildcats still winless after 13

This is getting ridiculous.

The Novi baseball team, which hoped to shoot for the SEC title if the pitching came through, is still looking for the combination that will trigger its first win of the season.

Last week, Novi made it 13 losses in a row, dropping games without favor both to good teams and to poor teams.

The four losses included two setbacks to league foes Saline and Chelsea and non-league defeats at the hands of Hartland and rival Northville.

At Chelsea, Novi played probably its best game of the year, but when it was all over, there was no sunshine. Or, rather, there was too much sunshine.

Rightfield was the sunfield and three catchable flies dropped in when the ball was lost in the blinding glare. Two of those gifts resulted in three of Chelsea's runs and proved to be the difference in the 4-3 ballgame.

Novi, custamary behind in the first inning, switched the tables with a two-run rally its first time up.

After Greg Porter walked and Rick Pretty singled, Dave Beall brought them both home with a two-run triple. Beall was later thrown out at the plate when an attempted suicide squeeze bunt failed.

Chelsea tied the game with a sun-aided run in the first and another run in the second.

Novi regained the lead in the fifth, but the Wildcats could have had more than the one run they got.

With Randy Wroten at third and Porter at first after both had singled, coach Rick Trudeau called for a double steal.

Wroten, however, strayed too far from third and was picked off when the catcher gunned him down rather than throwing to second. Porter then scored on Pretty's second hit of the day.

The lead didn't last long as Chelsea scored twice in its half of the fifth with the sun helping out.

Pitcher Rick Faulkner pitched well, but took the loss. All of Novi's hits were collected by the first four men in the batting order — two apiece for Wroten, Beall and Pretty and one for Porter. Two men were left stranded when two Wildcats struck out.

In all, nine of a possible 12 Wildcats struck out in the first four innings.

Almost no one did any hitting against Hartland, a team with a 2-9 record that Trudeau expected to beat. The Eagles scored three runs in the third with the help of three walks and won 4-3.

Novi got only four hits, all coming in the second inning when the Wildcats only scored one run.

Beall tripled but was thrown out at home by the third baseman. Three more hits produced a run, but the other Dennis Tuck started but could not find the plate and walked the first three men. Faulkner came in to relieve, but he walked in a run and then gave up a bases-clearing triple.

A single by the sixth straight man to reach base gave Saline a 5-0 first-inning lead. The final score was 10-2.

Ladycats win first games

It was almost a perfect week for the Novi softball team. But, unlike hand grenades and horseshoes, close isn't quite good enough.

The Ladycats were two outs away from completely reversing earlier form and winning all three games last week when the roof fell in against Saline.

Novi was leading 16-4 with one out in the bottom of the fifth. If they could have retired the side, the 10-run mercy rule would have gone into effect and Novi — the loser of its first nine — would have a three-game winning streak.

Instead, an error and three walks forced in one run, a home run cleared the bases, and Saline had an eight-run rally by the time the inning was over.

Two innings later, Saline rallied for the winning runs in an 18-17 ballgame.

Prior to the Saline game, Novi had overcome the walks that have plagued the Ladycats all year.

Tuesday, Novi won its first game of the year, outscoring Chelsea 21-12 in a league game.

Pitcher Annie Robinson and Shelly Braugh each had three hits as Novi hit fielding overshadowed nine walks.

Thursday, Dexter received 11 walks but Robinson limited the Dreadnaughts to four hits as Novi, hitting .444 this time, won again 6-4.

Rikki Mulligan, who missed some games last week because of a knee injury, is the team's leading hitter with a .432 average. Beall, who had five hits last week, is hitting .411.

Heather Barr, with only three errors in 60 chances, is the leading fielder on the team. Braugh, who also had five hits last week, continues to do a fine job as a catcher. She's thrown out six base-stealers at second and picked off three off first base.

Third baseman Tracy Sobkow continues to be a freshman sensation, hitting .315 and leading the team with 21 stolen bases.

account for a total of four runs.

Northville jumped out with three first-inning runs, but Union had a 4-4 tie going into the fifth when the hosts scored three runs to take command.

Doug Marzome, with two hits and an RBI, and Borthwick and Thomas, also with an RBI, were Northville's hitting leaders.

Wizgard took the loss.

Northville 7 Union 1

Northville bounced back to earn a split as Heckerl turned in one of his finest pitching performances of the year, scattering five hits and striking out nine.

Union didn't get its run until the fifth when Northville already had its seven runs.

A two-run triple by Armstrong, an RBI-single by Hamp and a run-scoring double by Thomas were highlights of a five-run first inning.

Marzome closed out Northville's scoring in the third with a two-run triple that helped, complete a four-for-eight day. In the second game, Marzome, Armstrong and Thomas each had two hits.

DENNIS SINGLETON

SUE BEALL

Athletes of the Week

Dennis Singleton had just the right type of week to warm up for the regionals. The Northville hurdler anchored two winning relay teams — including one that set a meet record — at the Cardinal relays in Jackson. Earlier, he had times of 14.5 and 14.6 in the high hurdles, far better than his year's best of 15 flat and good enough to be among the state's best times.

Novi's Sue Beall helped the Ladycats get on the winning track. Her five hits helped Novi's softball team take its first two games of the year. A member of the champion girls' basketball team, Beall also had a good fielding week

Mustangs beat Novi

A couple of long balls in the first inning answered quickly the question of who would have the bragging rights as far as baseball is concerned for the next year in the Novi-Northville area.

Northville used two homers and three walks to take a 5-0 first-inning lead and went on to a 9-3 victory.

First innings have been tough on Novi all year and Thursday's game was no exception.

Don Dales and Doug Marzome each drew walks and Greg Armstrong hit a homer to bring home three quick runs. Don Borthwick then walked and Dan Thomas slammed a home run to complete the rally.

Prownrut (left) and Naripun Sarnsathisiri perform a Thai Hill Dance during the Fifth International Festival at Village Oaks last Friday. Though Naripun is only in the second grade, she joined with her sister and fourth graders from the classes of Shirley Snyder and Sara Sass in dressing in ethnic garb, dancing and playing musical instruments. The fourth graders put on two shows, one during the day and a second at night where they also invited their families to join them in the Dirlada, a Greek Line Dance. The program was preceded by an ethnic buffet dinner of exotic foreign dishes. The youngsters also showed their parents displays and other research work they had worked on as a part of International Week being celebrated by the City of Novi.

ELROY V. ELLISON

40-year educator retires

Elroy V. Ellison of Northville, presently assistant superintendent of the North Dearborn Heights school district, is retiring June 30 with 40 years of service in education.

Most of his career was spent with the Northville Public Schools where he started as a shop teacher and moved to the position of administrative assistant.

He left Northville schools to become assistant superintendent of Crestwood School District, then going to the North Dearborn District.

That district is planning a retirement dinner in his honor at 6:15 p.m. May 26 in the Riverside High School cafeteria. Friends interested in attending are asked to make reservations prior to May 23 by sending their checks for $6 a person, payable to Evelyn Ochenas, his secretary, at 25900 West Warren, Dearborn Heights, 48127.

In announcing the retirement, Superintendent George A. Leonard notes that Ellison has been active in the Association of School Business Officials as well as the American Association of School Administrators.

Ellison and his wife, Araminta, live at 552 Dunlap. They have been Northville residents since 1937 and plan to stay in the community.

Their daughter, Melinda Butler, is on hand from her home at Fort Stewart, Georgia, for the dinner and a visit.

Her twin sister, Sherry, will be graduating from Adrian College May 22 and leaves for Europe May 23 with the Adrian Singers. She presented a flute recital at the college this month with two voice majors.

The Ellisons also have another daughter, Lynn LaFond of South Lyon.

Silver Springs brigade

School needs helpers

An appeal is being made for volunteers for a Bucket Brigade program at Silver Springs Elementary by Principal Nancy Fieldman.

Parents from the school and senior citizens from throughout the community are being sought to work for two half-hour periods a week with children at the school who are having learning difficulties.

"It is a very worthwhile program started two years ago and the results are super, but we have more children in need than we have volunteers," Mrs. Fieldman says in appealing for help.

"Our school in particular," she states, "has trouble reaching people to help as there are many working and single parents in Highland Lakes and King's Mill."

Mrs. Faye Stone is the teacher in charge of the program which gives individual attention to children who are falling behind. Her helper is a retired school teacher, Helen Single, a Highland Lakes resident who has no children at the school. She was cited this month by the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary for this volunteering.

A manual and learning materials such as games and fun projects are used by volunteers to help with reading, writing, math and spelling for students in kindergarten, first and second grades.

Mrs. Fieldman says she is confident that by reaching children as soon as they start to fall behind the volunteers can help the school to eliminate the frustrations they may experience.

Anyone interested may call Mrs. Fieldman at the school at 348-9071

'Due process' sought for realigned principal

Northville school principals are trying to obtain a school board hearing for Michael Tarpinian who was told earlier this month that he would not be returning next year as high school principal.

Tarpinian, high school principal since 1974, did not receive "due process", according to a press release issued Monday by the Northville Association of School Administrators which formed this year and represents building principals in collective bargaining.

But Superintendent Raymond Spear said he was within his rights to "assign or reassign" an administrator.

"It is not a contractual issue that he (Tarpinian) has the right to due process and a hearing on a superintendent's assignment," said Spear.

Spear announced last week that the district would seek a new high school principal who could instill "harmony" at the high school. Tarpinian, who is completing the first year of a two-year contract, would be offered a teaching position.

Spear said Tarpinian's only recourse was to review the decision with him.

Spear said he had met with Tarpinian about the reassignment.

In their press release, the administrators said they were "opposed to anyone being 'realigned' without following proper procedures of 'due process'."

"It is our understanding that Mr. Tarpinian did not receive 'due process', a fundamental right of every individual in a democracy."

Monday evening, at a board study session, Amerman principal William Craft asserted the administrators' position that Tarpinian "does have the right to call for a public hearing."

Craft, who has been chosen as the spokesman for the administrators, did not think a "60-day notice" was "ample time" for a seven-year principal to find a new job. Tarpinian was a principal in the Detroit school system from 1970-1973 before coming to Northville.

All of the building administrators, who are still trying to negotiate their first contract with the school district, were at Monday's meeting as a show of solidarity.

Spear said he didn't think there would be a hearing.

Police Blotter

Two deaths recorded

In Novi . . .

The death of the 22-year-old manager of the Total Station at 10 Mile and Novi Road is currently under investigation by Novi Police.

According to police reports, Alan Mihelich, 22, of South Lyon was found lying on the floor of the bay area of the station when employees arrived for work at 8 a.m. May 11.

Mihelich was transported to Botsford Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

A car in the bay of the station was found by police to have its ignition switch on though the motor was not running. There was also a strong odor of exhaust fumes. An autopsy is to be run to determine cause of death. Police have not determined if the death was accidental or suicide, according to Detective Lieutenant Richard Faulkner.

Carbide valued at $100,000 to $200,000 was stolen May 9-10 by burglars who knocked a hole in the wall at Wit-o-Matic Corporation, 22605 Heslip and then apparently loaded the carbide on a truck.

The carbide was taken from several different places in the shop. Besides the carbide, several checks were taken as well as $30-$40 in cash and a $750 Rolex camera.

Furniture valued at $1,500 was stolen from two model homes on Meeting Hall Lane in Stonehenge Condominiums May 9.

Taken were a dining room table and four chairs, a dry sink, two living room couches, white wicker chair, Whirlpool refrigerator, two chairs, two end tables and a china cabinet.

A felonious assault with an automobile was reported to Novi Police May 11.

According to reports, a guard at the Twelve Oaks Mall told officers that an employee of Hudson's, who he recognized, wanted to drive through some barricades. The guard had instructions not to let anyone through because of paving going on.

The employee parked and went into the building. He returned later and told the guard he was authorized by another employee to go through. The guard again refused at which point the employee knocked aside the barricades and went back to his car.

The guard reported that he placed the barricades back into place and stood in front of them. The subject then allegedly drove through, striking and injuring the guard. A witness verified the guard's story. The employee told police that the guard jumped in front of the barricades as he was driving through.

Two girls, age 14 and 16 delivering papers on Fleddermouse May 10 reported that they were followed by a man who suddenly ran at them from behind. Both were successful in escaping. Only description of the man given police was that he was wearing a dark jacket and light pants.

A 19 inch Sanyo color television was stolen May 13 from an apartment at 31170 Woodstone.

A breaking and entering in the 1400 area of East Lake Drive May 10 netted burglars a love seat valued at $700 and a lawn mower.

A 1972 Ford pick-up stolen from Garden City on March 11 was found at a residence on Bashian Drive. Police reported that it had been parked there for two months.

May 14, Thomas Apple, 19 of 1589 Wren in Wixom received nonincapacitating injuries as did passenger Ellen Roach, 19 of Walled Lake during an automobile accident. According to report, the car was eastbound on 14 Mile Road west of Haggerty when it veered off the road and struck a tree. Both of the occupants were taken to Henry Ford Hospital.

In Wixom . . .

A vehicle accident in the Wixom City Park Saturday afternoon claimed the life of Thomas Savino of Milford.

Savino died of his injuries at Henry Ford Ambulatory Center less than one hour after the accident.

Wixom Police responded to the park at 6 p.m. acting in their capacity as deputy sheriffs until the arrival of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. The park lies outside city limits and is in the county jurisdiction. Further investigation will be handled by the county accident bureau.

The second occupant in the crushed pickup truck, John Rochowiak, 23, of Wixom escaped the accident without injury. Rochowiak told police he and Savino spent the afternoon playing golf. On leaving, the pair drove the truck down a trail leading from the course to the city park.

According to Rochowiak they were coming out of the first curve heading towards the V.F.W. when the truck skidded out of control. It left the road and rolled over, pinning Savino under the truck.

Rochowiak was detained by Wixom Police, turned over to Oakland County and later released pending further investigation. If Rochowiak is found to be the driver of the vehicle he could face charges of negligent homicide.

A CB radio and tools valued at $500 were taken from a van although the owner told police he did not know when or where the theft occurred.

Police found evidence of forced entry to the vehicle.

Two railroad telephones valued at $150 were taken from the Maple Road C & O Railroad crossing early last week. The phones, mounted on poles, were secured with padlocks and chains.

Police said the phones were neatly removed with no disturbance to any other property in the area.

Wixom Police were called to a building site on Chantclair Circle to investigate the theft of building materials amounting to more than $800. The builder said 90 large sheets of plywood and other building supplies were removed from the sites.

A home and adjoining garage on Pontiac Trail were forcibly entered sometime between May 9 and 11 with the burglars leaving behind the tools thought to have been used in the incident.

Although it is not yet ascertained what was removed from the house, police found the thieves had helped themselves to many parts from a car parked in the garage.

In Northville . . .

Window-smashing episodes continued in Northville with city police called to both the high school and an apartment complex last week on those complaints.

Between 8 and 9 p.m. May 9, a window was smashed at the high school by someone apparently throwing rocks.

During the same time period, a rock was thrown through a window in the laundry room area at Fairbrook Apartments. Property damage in the two incidents amounted to $150.

Items from two cars were stolen while the cars were parked in the front parking areas at Warren Products Thursday. The complete taillight assembly was taken from one car while the fog lamps, bumper bracket and hubcaps were taken from the second car.

A self-propelled lawn mower was reported stolen from a garage on East Street sometime last week. The owner placed a value of $100 on the machine.

A 10-speed girls' bike was taken from a garage on Dorisa Court Thursday night. The owner told police the bike was placed in the garage at 8 p.m. and was found missing at 8:15 p.m. Value of the bike was $140.

A former Northville resident, Patricia Walker, was arrested by Northville City Police and charged with forging signatures to stolen payroll checks. At her arraignment Thursday she pled not-guilty and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court.

The charge carries a maximum jail sentence of 14 years. No trial date has been set in the case.

Michael Mocer, 18, of Laraugh Drive and passenger Karen Karvel of Fermaugh both escaped serious injury in a single-car accident on Seven Mile east of Edward Hines Drive Saturday evening.

Mocer told police he was driving too fast and could not complete the turn from Hines to Seven Mile. The car struck the traffic island tearing up 51 feet of turf before skidding to the side of the road. The car rolled over and down an embankment.

A single-side band 69-channel CB valued at $369 was stolen from a car parked by the side of the road on Linden near Dunlap. The owner told police he locked the car when he left it at 7:30 p.m. May 10. When he returned at 10 p.m., the equipment was missing.

In Township . . .

A 13-year-old girl was brought to the Michigan State Police Post after being thrown from and then stepped on by the horse she had been riding.

An ambulance was summoned for the youngster who was found in shock and suffering from the effects of a blow to her head. She was taken to William Beaumont Hospital for treatment.

According to a friend riding with the girl at a farm on Seven Mile Road, the horse bolted as they were riding downhill, throwing the girl to the ground in front of the horse's hooves.

Two inmates made good an escape from the Women's Section of the Detroit House of Correction but the escape was short-lived.

The women were discovered missing Saturday at 6 a.m. but were apprehended and returned to the facility two short hours later by officers from the Novi Police Department.

A female patient considered dangerous was found missing from the grounds of Northville State Hospital at 3 p.m. Friday. The woman has not yet returned to the facility and is currently being sought by authorities.

Northville Township Police recovered a 1976 Ford pickup truck last week which had been stolen from the Ypsilanti area only hours earlier. The truck was found in the Waterford Pond area propped up on blocks.

All four tires and wheels had been removed from the vehicle. Police also found the cab of the truck had been rifled with some type of radio missing from the dashboard.

Earlier the same day, police investigated the theft of a 1973 Ford pickup truck parked at a residence on Jamestown Circle.

The owner told police he parked and locked the truck at 11 p.m. May 9 and found it missing at 8:30 the next morning. The $3000 truck has not yet been located.

Novi Council session

Planning budget aired

Planning is important for any community and Novi City Council took a close look at that aspect as members reviewed the budget last week.

The planning board had asked for $55,000 from the 1977-78 budget but the city manager had recommended only $28,000.

That included only $11,000 to handle approximately $32,000 worth of studies including a commercial base study, sign ordinance update, industrial areas plan, parks and recreation plan, municipal office needs study, fire station location plan, thoroughfare plan, population projection and miscellaneous revisions of the master plan. The $11,000 is anticipated to come from the 701 planning grant.

Councilmember Romaine Roethel was most vocal in her criticism of the continual cutting of planning funds.

"Four years have gone by and we're still sitting here with people coming in with singular requests for rezoning and for four years we have piecemealed this planning stuff. I'm getting tired of it quite frankly. I don't think we can continue to sit at every budget session each year and put off the inevitable."

She suggested further that a moratorium on rezonings should be instituted until the master plan is completed.

"I cannot agree with a zoning moratorium," responded Councilmember Martha Hoyer, a former planning board member. "You do have a master plan and I can't see just stopping it. We're a growing community and I don't think I can tell a man requesting a rezoning 'don't come back to me for eight months'."

"It could be begging financial disaster," agreed Councilman James Shaw.

Council determined that the city would only have to come up with $13,000 to pay for its share of the cost of the plans if the planning grant of $11,000 is received and the parks and recreation plan goes to the voters later.

Council decided that it would delete from the 1977-78 budget the parks and recreation plan, the municipal office needs study, the fire station location plan and population projection.

Council approved putting in $13,300 of city funds so it would not be dependent upon the $11,000 planning grant, should that grant not be approved. If it is approved, some funds can be carried over to the next fiscal year. If it is not approved, the council will have to come up with more funds next year.

According to Charles Cairns, of City Planners Vilcan Leman, it will take about a year and one-half to finish off all of the studies.

While covering many areas of the budget, the council also reviewed the police department budget which totals $832,000, the biggest single chunk of the $247 million proposed budget. That does not include the surveillance bureau cost of $124,000 or the court service officer cost of $40,000, both of which are covered in large part by grants.

The police department proposal suggested by the city manager calls for two officers immediately and another in January. It also asks for a dispatcher and a police clerk.

According to Police Chief Lee BeGole, one of the officers would be replacing a man who would be almost permanently assigned to the Twelve Oaks Mall. He explained that the department is going to have to put in a strong initial showing at the mall and then continue to have a detail available to help out at the shopping center. While that detail will only start out with one man, BeGole said that eventually it will have to be increased to four.

BeGole said that without such a detail, "It's only about 15 minutes for them to continue out here from Northland to do a mugging where there is no detail."

No changes were made in the police department budget by council, although council indicated it may make cuts in many areas of the budget when it reviews departments a second time.

So far the council has reviewed the following areas: Mayor and council, charter commission, manager, assessor, legal, clerk, board of review, finance, city hall, independent audit, general administration, planning board, police department, surveillance bureau, court service officer, consulting engineer, CETA, contingencies, and debt administration.

Another budget hearing is set for 7:30 p.m. May 19 at the school district administration building

Ennumerator Colleen Van Syckle receives census data from Carol Mastrangel and daughters Hope (left) and Bernie as she takes information for the May Novi School District Census. Lions club to finance 'Y' van

The Plymouth Lions Club received a roaring round of applause Monday night from board members of the Canton-Northville-Plymouth YMCA.

At a special meeting of the Y board Lions Dave Cook and John Roose revealed that the Plymouth service club was prepared to buy a much-needed new van for the local YMCA. Total cost is estimated at $5,500.

The board has been conducting a campaign for funds to purchase the van that is used for the Y's senior citizen escort service and for various Y-sponsored programs including day camp activities.

With the surprise offer from the Plymouth Lions, the Y board now plans to continue its original fund campaign and use the money to either repair the existing van or to purchase a station wagon. Y Program Director Janet Luce noted that demand for Y services throughout the Canton, Plymouth, Northville areas is sufficient to require a back-up vehicle.

The CNP-YMCA has been providing a personalized escort service for senior citizens within the community area since January. It is partially funded by federal monies and assists senior citizens in doing shopping, running errands, going to the hospital or doctors' offices. Thus far some 170 senior citizens have taken advantage of the service. Most are from the Plymouth area. Ther service requires about four hours per day, reports Mrs. Luce.

She notes that any senior citizen residing in the Canton, Northville, Plymouth area requiring such assistance should call 453-2968.

For the Plymouth Lions Club the donation does not mark a departure from its previous involvement in community activities. Bob Erdelyi, who has been a member of the Plymouth Lions for the past 27 years, points out that the Lions have been widely known for their support of such programs as leader dogs for the blind, Welcome Home for the Blind in Grand Rapids and the Michigan Eye Bank.

"Actually, we spend up to 85 percent of our budget for support of other local community activities," Erdelyi explained. He noted that the Lions had contributed $1,500 for purchase of the Salvation Army bus in Plymouth. In addition to the White Cane sales, the Plymouth Lions raise money through sponsorship of a fish fry at the Fall Festival and an auction. Last month the club raised some $4500 at its auction. "We want the community to know we're involved in many local charitable activities as well as our well-known contributions in the sight field. That's why we decided to buy the truck for the YMCA... and we hope young men in the community will want to become involved in this kind of activity and join the Lions," said Erdelyi, obviously plugging the 55-member service organization. And, he added, the local Lions meet on the first and third Thursday evenings at the Mayflower Hotel.

Lions Luce and Roose said the club would also pick up the tab for lettering the van... "providing we can include a small mention of the fact it was contributed by the Plymouth Lions."

Y Board President Dwight Mathews quickly accepted the terms and on behalf of board members expressed appreciation for the contribution.

Delivery of the new van is expected in September.

Garden growing at historical Tiffin house here

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Come fall, with the cooperation of good ole Mother Nature, there will be an abundance of pumpkins, squash, cantaloupe and sunflowers waiting for harvest at the Tiffin House.

Ole Mother is going to have to come through with the rain and sunny skies — but kids are supplying the manpower to turn the dirt and plant the seeds in the garden area tended for years by the Tiffin brothers.

Sixth grade teacher Julie Taylor said the old house just didn't look right without the garden and approached Wixom Historical Society member Jackie Coulter with the idea of the kids planting a garden.

Jackie, a mother-aide at the school said the concept was terrific since the Society is so involved in restoring the buildings. The kids were so enthusiastic with the idea that flowers were added to the list of things to plant.

The idea then grew to include the two sixth grade classes at Wixom Elementary with the children giving up afternoon recesses to work at the house. Ms. Taylor said the digging and planting was squeezed in between study sessions and good weather.

"The kids were looking for something to do and with good weather coming so early they wanted to get outside. They enjoyed the afternoon outings and some children say they'll return during the summer to pull weeds and tend the plants."

The work at the Tiffin House coincides with the school's annual observance of Michigan Week. Each year since the Tiffin property was acquired, the sixth grade students tour the old house and continue across the street into the cemetery. Both spots are used to help the children learn more about their community...and its roots.

Both Ms. Taylor and Justine Hickman said they hoped the garden planting would become a revolving project each year adding that next fall the new sixth grade students would harvest the vegetables. Just what will be done with the products of so many willing hands is yet to be decided.

While on the subject of the old house, work bees began at the historical site this week and will continue each Tuesday for the entire summer.

Regardless of the weather, the bees will go on from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. with workers bringing their own tools and a brown-bag lunch. As has been said before, there's lots of work that needs to be done and helpful hands are welcome as well as appreciated.

June 3 and 4 are the dates for the rummage-white elephant yard sale scheduled at the house. Any donations for the sale should be made to either Margaret Ladd or Helen Tillman.

The Wixom Treasure Hunt due to begin this Saturday night still has a few openings for those who may want to join. A call to Bonnie Haight at 624-5135 will make that reservation.

And for those who are really addicted to hunting there's another right around the corner. The Burrough's Hunt planned by Jeanne Andrews and Joan Hollister is slated for June 11.

Cost for the Burrough's Hunt is $14 with a cash bar provided. Reservations will be accepted up to June 7 for the hunt which begins at 7:15 p.m. from Loon Lake School.

"Junk" necessary for the brain teasing event includes plenty of change, the new Pontiac telephone book, a world almanac (any year), the usual Detroit and North Suburb AAA map, pencils, a flashlight and dictionary.

Cash prizes will be awarded to winning cars. Jeanne says there's really no limit to the number of couples going on the hunt but that reservations should be made within the next week. For more information call Jeanne at 624-3721 or Joan at 624-2058.

MOTHER'S HELPERS—The Tiffin brothers would be proud and probably happy to know that young hands have taken over where old ones left off. With help from Mother Nature, a garden will again bloom in the soil once tilled by the old brothers but the chores will be taken over by youngsters from Wixom Elementary School. With the blessings of the Wixom Historical Society, two sixth grade classes have spent afternoon recesses at the house digging the garden and planting the seeds. Hopefully pumpkins, cantaloupes, squash and sunflowers will fill the garden along with colorful flowers in the yard. Manning the shovels at a work session are Kirk Robinson and Brian Green while Tim Evans contemplates the seed package. The garden planting, because of student enthusiasm, may become a yearly project at the school.

All except one teacher reinstated in Novi

All except one of the seven teachers pinkslipped in March by the Novi School Board will be coming back next year as the result of board action last Thursday.

The board approved the reinstatement of Susan Besneatte, Kathi Cohen, Cynthia Howson, Frank Rayburn, Michael Trumbull, and Kate Wilson. The board did not approve the return of business teacher Pamela McFarlane.

All of the teachers were given pink slips because it was unknown exactly how many teachers would return from leave. All of the teachers pinkslipped were probationary teachers and under contract could be bumped by returning tenure teachers. The pink slips were necessary because any teacher not being returned must be notified 90 days before the end of the school year.

Board also approved the request of high school English teacher Suzanne Monaghan for maternity leave.

Center to hold open house

Living Lord Children's World Day Care Center, held in Living Lord Lutheran Church at 40700 West 10 Mile, Novi, is having open house from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. this Thursday for parents to learn more about the program.

Ruth Slade, director, will answer questions. Registrations will be accepted for the summer and fall programs.

Michigan Week

Donald Weeks started it all in 1950's

By ROLLY PETERSON

In the early 1950's, Michigan was in an economic slump. Something was needed to spark a recovery and to overcome what was perceived as a growing bad reputation due to economic woes.

Out of that climate came the only celebration of its kind in the United States. The name of that unique celebration — Michigan Week.

This week the 24th annual Michigan Week celebration is being observed. The most popular activity is Mayor Exchange Day. But other events during the week-long observance also are celebrated in many communities.

"The original objective was to get Michigan back on its feet," said Linda Steffensen of the Greater Michigan Foundation, the non-profit organization in Lansing which supervises Michigan Week.

"A bootstrap operation was needed," she said.

The man who conceived of the Michigan Week idea — but never took credit for it — was the late Donald Weeks, Mrs. Steffensen said. He was the same man who is credited with founding the Cherry Festival, held annually in Traverse City, the town in which Weeks was born.

In the early 1950's, when Weeks conceived of the Michigan Week idea, he was acting director of the Michigan Department of Economic Development under G. Mennen Williams' administration.

Arlene Briggs, a Brighton resident and currently an employee at the W. J. Maxey Boys Training School in Whitmore Lake, remember well the birth of Michigan Week. She was working in the Department of Economic Development, the department which Weeks headed.

Weeks was very persistent, generated a lot of enthusiasm and importantly, had many contacts, Mrs. Briggs said.

"He did all the leg work," she said. "He never worked 8 to 5. Michigan Week was 24 hours a day. It was his life."

Weeks called on state business leaders for help in launching the celebration. And he got the support of such men as Dan Gerber, owner of Gerber baby foods in Fremont, and Walker Cisler, president of Detroit Edison Company.

"There was a lot of support," Mrs. Briggs recalls.

Weeks continued spearheading the celebration from within the Economic Development Department as the yearly observance grew in popularity. Then, in 1961, the Greater Michigan foundation was established, and Weeks and Mrs. Briggs became the Foundations' first staffers. Weeks was the Foundation's executive director and Mrs. Briggs was the secretary-office manager.

Although big business furnished its share of foundation board members and supporters, Mrs. Briggs said that Weeks included "everyone" on the board and in the activities of Michigan Week.

Another man whom Mrs. Briggs credits with much of the success of Michigan Week is Dale Sellers, who was executive vice-president of the Bank of the Commonwealth. He was the president of the foundation for a number of years, she said, and was "an outstanding person."

"It took a lot of leg work to get it going," Mrs. Briggs said. "After a few years, it seemed to generate itself."

Of the 531 incorporated towns in Michigan today, 300 participate in Mayor Exchange, reports Mrs. Steffensen.

The week-long celebration began last Friday and normally continues through Saturday in Michigan communities.

Sturgis, in St. Joseph County, is the "Kick-off City", as proclaimed by the foundation. That community holds a big German beer party, a queen's pageant and a two-hour parade with 400 to 500 participants. The governor's luncheon at noon on Saturday (last) officially kicks off Michigan Week.

Alma has been recognized by the foundation as the closing city. There, the Alma Highland Festival and games are held. Even the governor gets into the act. He wears a kilt in the parade.

Both of those communities received their official designations by formally requesting it from the foundation.

And this year, for the second year in a row, a town has been designated as the official "City of Hospitality". That city is Marshall, where, for the first time, the volunteer leadership awards will be presented by the Greater Michigan Foundation. In years past, the 10 awards were presented at a joint session of the Michigan Legislature.

Mrs. Steffensen estimated that about 15,000 volunteers work on Michigan Week annually. "Tons" of press releases from celebrating communities are received at the Foundation every year.

Michigan Week isn't confined only to Michigan communities.

Mrs. Steffensen, secretary to Executive Director William Bressler, said that Searcy, a community in Arkansas called recently and plans on promoting Michigan Week. Disney World devotes a day to Michigan, and other communities in Florida also observe Michigan Week.

Other states have tried to duplicate Michigan's effort. Pennsylvania tried a Pennsylvania Week, but it fizzled, largely due to political scrapping. Politics have not played a part in the Michigan celebration, Mrs. Steffensen said.

Mrs. Briggs attests to the fact that Michigan Week can get into your blood. She hasn't worked full-time for the foundation since 1969, yet she continues to keep the books for the Greater Michigan Foundation. She does the work in her home.

The foundation's budget isn't great, only $75,000, with most of that money coming from private business. The state legislature only provides $20,000 for a promotion that does much for Michigan, its tourist industry and for every aspect of private and state operation through a better image.

Arlene Briggs of Brighton remembers well those early formative days of Michigan Week

"Keep that great GM feeling with genuine GM parts"

Wednesday, May 18, 1977—THE NORTHVILLE RECORD—NOVI NEWS—SOUTH LYON HERALD—BRIGHTON ARGUS—9-C

Eugene R. Karrer of Northville, a vice president of Ford Motor Company, has been appointed general manager of the Electrical and Electronics Division of Ford Diversified Products Operations.

The Electrical and Electronics Division, headquartered in Rawsonville, has plants in Rawsonville and Ypsilanti, and Sandusky, Ohio, and supervises Ford Aerospace & Communications Corporation plants in Lansdale, Pa., Don Mills, Ontario, Canada, and Sao Paulo, Brazil. The plants produce automotive electrical and electronic components including radios, alternators, starters, voltage regulators, speed-control systems and windshield wiper motors, as well as other automotive parts such as carburetors, shock absorbers, instruments and emission control hardware.

Prior to his present appointment, Karrer was general manager of Ford's Climate Control Division. He joined the company in 1953 as a product engineering designer and held executive engineering positions with the Ford and Lincoln-Mercury Divisions.

In 1967, he was appointed chief engineer — design at the company's Dearborn Design Center.

He was transferred to the former Philco-Ford Corporation in 1969 and was vice president and general manager of the Refrigeration Products Division from 1970 until he was appointed group director of Ford's Latin American Group in June, 1972. He was elected a Ford Motor Company vice president in November, 1972.

Karrer became executive vice president — Consumer Products Operations of the former Aeronutronic Ford Corporation in April, 1974, general manager of the Climate Control Division in October, 1975, and moved to his present position in April, 1977.

Born September 17, 1925, in Detroit, he was graduated from General Motors Institute with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

He was awarded a Sloan Fellowship to Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which he received a master's degree in industrial management.

Karrer is a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers and is a past president of the American Society of Body Engineers. He is married, has four children and lives in Shadbrook subdivision.

Towing is provided and as is transportation home for customers in Novi and Northville.

Owners are Joseph and Elizabeth Widak, owners of the I-96 Shell gas station at Novi Road and I-96 since 1970. That gasoline station will be making way for interchange improvements.

Hours of the new business will be 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday.

BOUTIQUE TRIMS, INC., at South Lyon, nation-wide distributors of craft supplies, announces the appointments of Ms. June Norton as their sales representative for the state of Michigan.

Ms. Norton, a New Hudson resident, has been with the firm for the last two years and has served in various capacities and is well-known in the craft world.

In conjunction with this announcement, Boutique Trims is also revealing that effective Saturday, May 28, their retail outlet located at 21200 Pontiac Trail will be closed. The closing is a direct result of their expansion recently into a full-line distributorship of craft supplies. The Pontiac Trail building will be the headquarters for this distributorship.

Management of the craft supply business expresses their pleasure at having been able to serve hobbyists in the local area as well as their large mail order trade. Many of the products originally carried at Boutique Trims will be available in craft and hobby shops in the area.

Michigan Mirror

Griffin retirement campaigners

By WARREN M. HOYT

Michigan's senior U.S. Senator, Robert Griffin, shocked most Michigan Republicans last week with an announcement that he wouldn't seek reelection next year. But the news also sparked aspirations in perhaps dozens of GOP officials who never expected that office to be up for grabs so soon.

Within hours after Griffin's announcement hit the airwaves, political speculators had suggested former President Gerald Ford, former Lieutenant Governor James Brickley, various congressmen and state lawmakers and even Governor William Milliken as possible replacements for Griffin.

Ford is thought to be disinterested and Milliken aides say the governor has never aspired to Washington, but Brickley acknowledged that he's willing to be courted.

The Michigan Republican Party, crippled by Ford's loss last November, needs to hang onto that U.S. Senate seat if it is to retain a voice in that body. Some say Griffin's retirement, after he achieved 22 years of Senate seniority, will weaken Michigan's position in Washington.

Others, however, say Griffin did not use his seniority and influence as he should have. They say his retirement will open the way to younger, brighter politicians who would be more aggressive in pursuing Michigan's interests.

For the second time in less than a year, the chief executive of Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield has gotten a raise. His new salary is $110,000.

The Blues' board of directors approved the pay raise for John McCabe, who was making $95,000, to recognize new duties he's had to assume, board spokesmen said.

Customers of the state's largest health insurer, meanwhile, face a rate hike as large as 14.8 percent for some classifications. Altogether, the Blues want to collect $125 million more a year from their more than five million customers in Michigan.

Blues board members who opposed the pay raise said it gave the Blues a bad image. But proponents said big money is needed to attract and keep good management types.

In spring, 1975, massive flooding ruined crops and forced hundreds of people from their homes.

That fall, more heavy rains drenched crops. Early the following spring, ice storms darkened and chilled thousands of homes, downed trees and dampened spirits.

Altogether, since spring 1975, Michigan counties have suffered $70.8 million in property damage from natural disasters. Various counties have been declared disaster areas a total of 66 times, the Michigan State Police say.

In the last two years, three major Presidential Disaster Declarations have been made in Michigan due to the flooding, rains and ice storms. In addition, blizzards and tornadoes left more damage.

No one is quite sure, however, which of Michigan's 83 counties escaped unharmed over the last two years. State Police spokesmen will only say that the southern half of Michigan's Lower Peninsula generally gets hit the worst RAYMOND A. BOOMS, a lawyer with offices at 101 Dunlap in the Detroit Federal Savings and Loan building in Northville, was one of 65 new lawyers admitted to the State Bar of Michigan in ceremonies May 10 in Oakland County Court.

A 1968 graduate of Northville High School, he received his BA degree from University of Michigan in 1972 and his law degree from University of Detroit in December, 1976. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Booms of 18338 Laraugh in Northville. He, his wife and nine-month-old son live in Farmington Hills.

Booms has entered law partnership in Northville with Dwight Teachworth, a native of Durand and a 1975 graduate of Detroit College of Law. They plan a general law practice in the Northville community.

SERVING UP a combination Greek and American style at the Grecian Palace, located in Northville Plaza shopping center on Seven Mile Road is the owner and manager, Alex Yfantidis. A native of Greece, moving to the United States in 1970, he developed his special Grecian dishes while living and training in Greece.

ALTHOUGH the restaurant opened some time ago, the long-awaited serving of beer and wine with its wide-ranging dinner selections became a reality Friday with a brief noon ceremony at Papa Geppeto's Italian restaurant in Northville Plaza shopping center located on Seven Mile Road. The restaurant was only recently awarded its license.

the news in Michigan several years ago when a mammoth piece of granite he cut from a Vermont quarry was placed on the lawn of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Although Hiezer and some others called it sculpture, many Detroiters were agast. The rock was eventually removed and later blown up and pieces distributed as souvenirs.

STATE OFFICIALS interviewing more than 2,000 people for a long-term study of PBB's health effects have identified what they call a serious syndrome among 15-20 farm families.

At least one member of each family claims that he or she no longer has the energy, the strength or the stamina to perform once-routine chores or do the farmer's traditional job.

CALLED IN to examine the families and see if PBB is responsible for their complaints is Dr. Clark Heath of the federal Center for Disease Control. Heath is co-directing the long-term study with state officials. And although he is the director of the CDC's cancer and birth defects division, state officials say his week-long visit in Michigan has nothing to do with those things.

He'll be checking out farm residents who say they're physically unable to do their jobs. Along with him will go a sanitarian who will check such things as the family's water supply and any pesticides the farm might be using.

Officials are careful to say that they're not sure PBB has anything to do with the families' complaints. All the families, however, have had significant exposures to the fire retardant chemical.

Give your garden a blaze of color

Zinnias are the most popular flower grown from seeds sown in the garden — partly because they grow so easily and quickly.

However, gardeners who need only a few plants often prefer the convenience of starting seedlings.

Plants of wee little and medium sized zinnias are widely available because they will bloom in flats, pony packs and cell packs.

But you'll rarely find plants for sale of large flowered zinnias. These grow tall before blooming and, when transplanted at bloom stage, often do not adjust well to garden conditions.

The smart economy gardener will save seeds of tall zinnia from year to year.

Gathering the seeds of choice plants, following fall frost, is one of the easiest of garden chores.

Just snip off the entire wilted flower pods and store them inside in a warm dry area. Then sometime during spare winter hours you can pluck away the petals and then pull out the seeds. Store the seeds in a dry area until spring.

Seeds from a small garden of zinnias will be more than sufficient to plant again the following year... and chances are you'll have plenty to give away to those who admired your garden.

One Northville gardener sows "last year's" zinnia seeds in a small patch of garden following the "last" spring frost, waits for plants to reach five or six inches in height and then transplants them to the desired locations.

By mid-summer they're flowering again in gorgeous array. Zinnias look best if grouped together.

Tall zinnias are excellent for background use and cutting. They grow to heights of 24 to 30 inches at maturity, even taller in light shade. The plants are sturdy — and base branching requiring no staking except in very windy areas.

Excellent separate colors and mixtures of seeds can be purchased inexpensively for planting large beds. Among the best of the mixes is "State Fair", a large flowered variety and "Cut-and-Come-Again" with medium-sized blossoms for cutting.

The hybrids such as "Zenith" and "Fruit Bowl" offer shaggy "cactus" type blossoms in clear, sharp colors — some of enormous size. Non-hybrid zinnias are inexpensive and good to excellent in performance. However, the hybrids have an edge in vigor and uniformity. Hybrid vigor helps zinnias to resist mildew longer and to endure dry weather better.

Hybrid uniformity shows when all plants grow to the same height, flower at the same time, and look alike in blooms size and form.

Middle sized zinnias are compact and often are used in rows as low flowering edges or as divider plants to separate low edging and tall background flowers.

The squat, large flowered "Peter Pan" hybrids grow to a height of only 10 to 14 inches. The "Buttons" hybrids, maturing at a 12- to 15-inch height have small beehive shaped blossoms. Somewhat taller are the "Ruffles" hybrids, with demitasse-size blossoms and "Burpeeana Giants", a large flowered type.

Fast-blooming midget varieties of zinnias grow to height of only four to eight inches.

Introduced a few years ago, these small-flowered, ultra-dwarf zinnias are surprisingly durable and long lasting.

Separate colors and a wide-spectrum color mixture are available in the "Thumbelina" series. All grow quickly and easily from seeds sown in warm soil in the garden.

Midget zinnias are ideal for edging beds of summer blooming flowers. The tiny plants and flowers display best if you mulch with a dark colored material such as pulverized bark or forest compost. The mulch also prevents mud from splashing on the plants and disfiguring leaves and flowers.

Needs light to flower

The crown of thorns plant (Euphorbia splendens prostrata), is a cousin of the poinsettia, but it's hard to look at the two of them and see any family resemblance.

Crown of thorns is a spiny shrub with small, dull green leaves and salmon pink flowers. Like the poinsettia, this plant survives in low light, but it needs full sun to flower. It is a durable plant that grows to a height of two to three feet and branches freely. It has no major insect pests.

Choose crabs carefully

"You've been driving through Northville, admiring the town's official tree — the beautiful spring flowering cultivar — and now you want one for your own yard. If that's what you're thinking, the best advice is — shop carefully, choosing an ornamental crabapple with disease resistance and good looks.

A lot of dreams have died of disease. Fortunately, however, "several crabapple cultivars currently available in Michigan are resistant or tolerant to apple scab," points out Frank Laemmle, Michigan State University Extension plant pathologist.

"Resistant cultivars do not become infected with scab. Tolerant ones get the disease and their leaves become spotted, but they suffer little or no leaf loss because of it." Scab-resistant or tolerant cultivars offer a wide choice in growth habit, flower color and fruit color, Laemmle notes.

Among scab-resistant crabs are: —Malus baccata 'Gracilis', a slow growing tree with an upright habit, dense foliage, rose pink buds opening to white flowers and dark red fruits.

—Malus baccata 'Jacki', a broad, upright tree with fragrant white flowers and red fruits. —Malus 'Beverly', a vigorous, upright three with single pink flowers and bright red fruits.

—Malus ioensis 'Prairie Rose', a vigorous round tree with double pink flowers. —Malus 'Tschonoski', a vigorous, broad, upright tree with glossy foliage that turns bronzed in the fall.

—Malus 'Ames White', with white flowers and yellow fruits that last well into the winter.

—Malus 'Simpson 4-17', a slender, vase-shaped tree with dark green foliage, dark red flowers and small maroon fruits.

—Malus 'Professor Sprenger', with pink buds opening to single white flowers and fruits in various shades of orange.

—Malus baccata 'Columnaris', a narrow-headed, columnar tree with white flowers and red or yellow fruits. Branches are distinctly vertical.

—Malus 'David', with pink buds opening to white flowers and scarlet fruits.

—Malus floribunda, with pink to red buds that open to single white flowers and yellow or red fruits.

—Malus 'Golden Hornet', with an upright, arching habit, white flowers and yellow fruits.

—Malus sieboldi, var. zumi 'Calocarpa', with deep red buds opening to white or pink flowers and small red fruits that persist into winter.

—Malus 'Red Jade', with drooping branches, white flowers, scarlet fruits and tan stems.

—Malus sargentii, a dwarf type with dark green, three-lobed leaves, pink buds opening to white flowers, and small, dark red fruits.

—Malus 'Sovereign', a 20-25-foot tall tree with a single leader habit; a good street tree.

—Malus 'Callaway', with pink buds opening to white flowers, and red fruits about three-fourths inch in diameter.

—Malus 'Candied Apple', with pendulous branches, heavy, textured, dark green foliage tinged with red, pink flowers and persistent, bright cherry red fruits.

Poster art:

High schoolers create, collect placards

By JEAN DAY

Posters — they're the collectibles of today's high school students, much as tasseled dance programs were of their parents.

Silk screened placards made by Northville High young people to advertise school plays and proms fast become artistic decorations in bedrooms, especially those of girls. "Everybody's got them — they don't stay up a day at school," explains one senior who admits collecting the poster art.

Right now posters with a black screen silhouette of Tevye's horse and cart are on view in local stores to advertise the high school musical, "Fiddler on the Roof," being presented at 8 p.m. this Friday and Saturday in the high school auditorium.

For her winning design Kathy Belkowski, an art major and Northville High senior, was delighted to receive four tickets to the performance.

Another current poster advertises the 1977 Northville senior prom with its "Time in a Bottle" theme. As the poster states, it includes dinner and dancing at the Raleigh House May 27.

The design is by Patty Schneider. Both Kathy and Patty are students in Northville High art teacher Alice Kipfer's classes. They and Nathan Green, a sophomore at the high school this week were named winners in the Michigan Youth Arts Festival of the Michigan Art Education Association.

All entered watercolors, which first won in a preliminary competition in March and went to state competition in Lansing where they were among 18 selected to be displayed at the Michigan Youth Art Festival May 21. They then will be part of a traveling exhibit of Michigan student art all next year.

The girls' poster art designs were photographically screened and run off in the school's graphic arts department.

Instructor Richard Deskovitz reports that another senior, Lisa Ward, has been a regular volunteer in making the "positive" from which the posters are produced. He explains that the department has equipment that photographically creates the silk screen stencil from which up to 2,000 copies can be made.

Students, he adds, also make designs for T-shirts and album covers. Quality of any of these jobs, he stresses, depends on the students themselves.

Some, such as Lisa, have used their knowledge extensively. She has done posters, play tickets, programs and other silk screening for many school organizations.

But it's the posters that the high school connoisseurs save, collect and display.

Who knows — perhaps they'll some day be as valued as those French advertising posters by now-famous artists that "aware" art lovers collected years ago?

At any rate, they're already mementoes of happy high school events

League heads installed

At the local level, budget, programs and election of new officers have been concern of the League of Women Voters while at state level last weekend it was fund-raising for ERA.

At the eighth annual meeting of the Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi league April 27 in the Novi Public Library, Annalee Mathes turned the presidency over to Neva Carter of Canton, who begins a two-year term.

Other new officers of the local league, which now has more than 120 members, are Kari Miller and Nancy White, both of Plymouth, first and second vice presidents, respectively; Elizabeth Morelli of Northville, secretary; and Johanne Fechter of Plymouth, treasurer.

Directors for two-year terms are Billie Whitely of Canton, Lesa Buckland of Northville and Sue Young of Novi. One-year terms are filled by Jane Rodgers of Novi, Julia Hubbuch and Sandy Walts, both Northville, and Jane Watts of Plymouth.

The Michigan LWV last Saturday agreed to a fund-raising goal of $40,000 to support the Equal Rights Amendment ratification, the six local members attending report.

They were Carolann Ayers, Barbara Gougeon, Mrs. Mathes, all Northville, Mrs. Carter and Linda Lynch, Canton, and Mrs. Miller, Plymouth.

The near-unanimous agreement came on the second day of the biennial state convention May 13-15 in Grand Rapids. There were 290 delegates in attendance representing 44 leagues throughout the state.

The local league reports it already has begun a fund-raising drive to help meet the state goal. The money raised in Michigan will be used to support the national effort to accumulate one million dollars to help finance ERA ratification.

A potluck luncheon is planned at 11:30 a.m. next Wednesday, May 25, at the West Main Street home of the past president, Mrs. Mathes, to discuss events of the state convention and how they influence programs for the coming year. Members are asked to bring a salad to serve four and their own place settings.

Nancy Wilson is wed to New Hudson man

MR. AND MRS. PERFETTO

Nancy Ilene Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson of 19730 Smock, became the bride of Donald Perfetto in an April 22 ceremony at First United Methodist Church of Northville. The Reverend Guenther Branstner officiated.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Perfetto of New Hudson.

The bride wore a white polyester satin gown fashioned with high neckline with sheer lace medallion inset and extending into a chapel train. Lace edged her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet in white with yellow roses.

Jan Whitmyer was honor attendant and Carol Zeuner bridesmaid in apple green print gowns of polyester and cotton. They carried rose bouquets.

Glen Muldoon was best man.

Groomsman was the bridegroom's brother, John Perfetto. Ushers were the bride's brother, James Wilson, and James Patterson.

A reception followed at the Park Haus in Northville with the Contraband group playing.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Northville High School. Her bridegroom is a graduate of South Lyon High School. They are making their home in Wixom.

Boening - White rites

Special rings unite couple

Karen Louise Boening and Kenneth Lee White, who met at the Village Apartments in Wixom, exchanged vows and special rings in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony April 30 at Faith Lutheran Church in Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Boening of Frankenmuth are parents of the bride, a cosmetologist at David's Coiffures in Novi. Her father designed the rings they exchanged in the ceremony performed by the Reverend Roger H. Schleef. A large floral arrangement with candelabras at each end decorated the altar.

Jim Parsons of Canton sang "The Wedding Song." Trumpet was played by John Seitz of Livonia.

The bride wore an ivory sugarcane fabric gown fashioned on A-lines with chapel train. Alencon lace decorated the collar and yoke of the Empire waist bodice which featured wide, lace-trimmed angel sleeves. A seed-pearl trimmed camelot headpiece held her long veil of illusion, edged with lace flowerettes, as was the gown's hem.

White roses, stephanotis and silk lily of the valley formed the cascading bridal bouquet.

Linda Boening was her sister's honor maid. Bridesmaids were Marcia Boening and Mrs. Cathy Nafe. All wore powder blue knit gowns with square necklines and shirred bodices trimmed with ivory lace and, carried narrow cascades of miniature carnations, bachelor buttons and blue statice.

Charles Kaye was best man. Ushers were Michael Doesnoyer and Jack Boening.

A wedding trip to Paradise Island followed the reception at Botsford Inn.

The bridegroom is a manufacturer's representative for Chuck Charron and associates. The couple will live in Livonia.

Branch donates Terrace fountain

By JEAN DAY

Donation of a decorative fountain to be placed at the Allen Terrace senior citizen building was voted at the annual meeting of the Northville Branch of the National Farm and Garden Association May 9 held at the Edenderry home of June Lafferty. President Barbara O'Brien explains that the fountain is to be a water spray in summer and an ice formation in winter.

Honored at the meeting were six past presidents attending — Mrs. Manly Hoysradt, Mrs. Paul Schulz, Mrs. George Alexander, Mrs. William Switzler, Mrs. Gene Cushing and Mrs. Warner Krause. Other honorees were Mrs. Orson Atchinson and Mrs. Francis Jennings, life members. Mrs. Schulz and Mrs. Hoysradt also are life members.

William Lenz, a teacher at Winchester Elementary and the recipient of a branch scholarship to Higgins Lake Conservation Camp, showed slides and activities at the glacier-formed lake, describing reforestation after a fire and animal life there. Evelyn Johnson was chairman of the day, assisted by Arlene Andersen, Rosemary Palarchio, Mrs. Switzler and Julie Woodard.

You can be a docent

Docents who guide visitors through the restored buildings at Mill Race Historical Village off Griswold from 1 to 4 p.m. every Saturday and Sunday have been doing extra duty keeping the village open last Wednesday on National Preservation Day and all day today as school children visit during Michigan Week.

Docents now are easily identifiable in their black skirts and Victorian capelets. The shoulder capes were sewn by Valerie Smith, Barbara Willoughby and Karen Polous of the costume committee from authentic patterns. There is to be one more training session for new docents May 22. Anyone interested in becoming a docent may call Shirley Davis, 348-1289.

She 'went west'

While the west isn't considered prime interest area for antiquers, Virginia Hayward, a member of Silver Springs Chapter, Questers antiques society, discovered fascinating Indian and Old West lore at the national Questers convention she attended at Scottsdale, Arizona, earlier this month. Hopi Indians danced for the conventioners and they visited Rawhide, a reconstruction village of the Old West.

The convention also was a reunion with Linda Starr, a charter member of Silver Springs Questers, who now lives in Paradise Valley near Phoenix and Scottsdale. The family moved there from Thornapple Lane about three years ago when her husband, Dale, was transferred to Phoenix. Mrs. Starr now works in the Camelback Inn gift shop, Mrs. Hayward says, and meets many famous people. One of her neighbors in Paradise Valley is Erma Bombeck.

St. Paul's sets date

It's a little less than six months until the November 4 date set for the biyearly bazaar of St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Association, but members have finalized plans for the event to be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church. They will be using the new facilities, including the gymnasium.

This year the bazaar is under the direction of a chair committee of Suzanne Taulbee, Angie Baetz, Ettie Hirth, Nancy Parrish and Marilyn Taylor. They are planning a light lunch and booths of baked goods, calico wares, stitchery, handmade toys, ceramics and Christmas gifts. New will be a treasures booth, which Annie Nichols reports, will contain only "very nice things that really are someone's treasures."

New groups are going strong

Two new women's organizations are off to successful starts this month. Twenty-two women attended the May 3 meeting of Sealarks, being organized through the First Presbyterian Church for all women (single, divorced or widowed) alone in the community. Dorothea Shafer, who has been heading the new group, reports that monthly meetings are planned and that it is hoped next to have a potluck gathering.

More than $200 was raised at the auction held May 2 by the Life Member group of Northville Mothers' Club composed of women who had been in Mothers' Club for 10 years or more. The fund, President Ruth Mary Atchison announces, will be used to provide a scholarship next year to a graduating senior. The group hopes to build a treasury to make it an annual award. Next meeting of the group, which plans to meet four times a year, will be September 26.

Northville resident's backstage in comedy

As "A Gentleman and a Scoundrel," being given by Plymouth Theatre Guild continues its four-night run at Plymouth Middle School this weekend, a Northville resident of King's Mill, Patricia Bray, will be in an all-important backstage part, that of stage production manager.

The comedy opened last weekend and continues at 8:30 p.m. this Friday and Saturday.

The story centers around Fred Dickson, an underdog-type who needs money and companionship but gets neither from his ultra-liberated boss, Jenny Corell. One day he experiments with new clothing and a new personality. Jenny sees him and thinks he is a different person — and the dual role of unappreciated Fred and dynamic Rick is born.

The comedy is only the latest guild effort to which Mrs. Bray gives her time. She took an active part in drama productions when she attended Stevenson High School in Livonia and has continued her interest in live theater.

She is on the guild board of directors and has appeared in "All My Sons," and "Barefoot in the Park." She was assistant director for "Portrait in Black" and "Pursuit of Happiness" and director for "Under the Yum Yum Tree."

The last weekend in February and the first in March Mrs. Bray was involved in the guild's production of "We Have Always Lived in the Castle" as its director. Another King's Mill resident, Robyn McLean was in the cast.

Mrs. Bray, a Northville resident for five years, who also enjoys sewing, singing and reading, also participated in the guild's entry in the state community theatre competition held in Midland March 25-27.

She was in the cast of the one-act play, "Hello Out There," the story of a drifter who lands in jail in a small Texas town and gets so stir-crazy that he almost gives up hope.

It doesn't seem to matter to Pat Bray whether she's starring in a play like "Hello Out There" or whether she's directing or, as now, serving as stage production manager, it's all part of the theatre.

Tickets for "A Gentleman and a Scoundrel" will be on sale at the door at $3 for adults and $2 for children and senior citizens. The audience is seated at tables, cabaret-style, and refreshments will be available after the first act.

EATIN'S GOOD—Students in Merce Stanley's home economics II class at Meads Mill Junior High give their approval to the Michigan Bean Soup they cooked with navy beans, a state product, in observance of Michigan Week. Below, Patti Wright dishes up a steaming bowl of the hearty soup.

It's bean soup week for Mead's Mill cooks

By JEAN DAY

It's probably true that Michigan bean soup no longer is being served in Washington, D.C., but it was well received in Merce Stanley's home economics-second semester foods class last Friday.

In observance of Michigan Week, her 19 students, including eight boys, began soaking dry navy beans, one of the state's best known food products, last Wednesday.

They used the traditional long-simmering recipe with meaty ham bone and onion, but added a Michigan carrot "for color."

This, the teacher declares, was a student's idea. It did add to the appearance of the steaming bowls of thick soup served with buttered crusty bread at 9:30 a.m. Friday morning. The tasting was early as that's the time the class convenes.

To prepare the soup the class divided into teams of four. Mark Davis, Tim Dooley, Sean Atton and Bob Thomson shared their portion with this reporter. It was hearty and good.

To carry out the Michigan Week theme, Michigan road maps were used as placemats at the long table where the class ate together. The centerpiece was a cardboard cutout of the state.

Ms. Stanley remarked that she was pleased the bean soup recipe was well received as the class already had done much with the traditional Michigan apples and this was a little different. The boys who shared their soup said they'd even be willing to try it at home.

For a class that has stirred up a won ton soup (not too popular), lasagna, pizza and even crepes, the project wasn't a difficult one. Tacos are on the menu next week.

Ms. Stanley is sharing the recipe for the Michigan soup, which serves six. Maybe you would like to try this economical dish during our state week:

MICHIGAN BEAN SOUP

Wash 1 pound dry navy beans. Add 2 quarts cold water; soak overnight. (Or, simmer 2 minutes; remove from heat; cover and let stand 1 hour.) Don't drain.

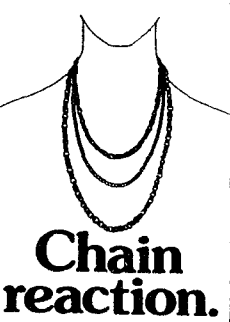

Add 1 meaty ham bone, 1/2 tsp. salt, 6 whole black peppercorns, 1 bay leaf. Cover; simmer 3 to 3 1/2 hours, adding 1 medium onion, sliced and 1 carrot, shredded, the last half hour.

Remove ham bone. Mash beans slightly, using potato masher. Cut ham off bone; add ham to soup. Season to taste.

Makes six servings.

Budget ax worries schools' maintenance chief

This is a story about the crummy condition of the high school — the leaks in the roof, the cobwebs on the beams, the trash in the hallways, the dirt on the walls, the litter on the grounds.

You've heard it all before and most likely have taken the opportunity to lambast the people responsible. If you want to read more of the same, stop right now and dig up old copies of The Record.

For those of you who are still reading, there is another side to the story. This is it.

The business of schools is education. Mike Janchick, a former Meads Mill principal who is the district's first director of operations, realizes that.

"But if you don't have a place to educate them (students), what are you going to do?" he asks.

For many years, Northville Public Schools was riding high. Enrollment (and, thus state aid) was rising, schools were being built and the finances were in such good shape that the board of education frequently didn't levy the full amount of voted millage.

In two school years alone — 1973-74 and 1974-75 — the school board in effect returned a total of 1.75 mills to district residents. Had that amount been levied, an additional $214,000 would have been generated in local revenue.

Today, that amount of money would update the heating systems in the four oldest school buildings, paint the walls in the high school and start the financing of new ceilings and floors in the dusky high school halls.

Instead, the money isn't there and — now that enrollment is at least temporarily declining — it's likely that maintenance and operations spending will again be threatened with spending axes.

"I get real nervous when I hear that we've got to slash $400,000 off the budget," says Janchick.

He's got reason. The maintenance and operational budgets, in relation to other school districts, has been a poor sister.

Last year, Northville ranked 26th among 36 Wayne County schools in the proportion of its budget allocated for plant operation and 24th in maintenance.

Regarding neighboring districts, Plymouth set aside a 22.5 percent larger share of its pie than Northville for plant operation and four percent more for maintenance. Livonia's plant operation budget had an 11.7 percent bigger share of the entire budget than Northville and the maintenance portion was 36 percent more.

Looking at local budget figures shows that Northville allocated a smaller share of its total expenditures for maintenance this year than it did two years ago when there were fewer buildings to maintain.

What does this mean? According to Janchick and maintenance supervisor Ralph Robinson, a minimum of $60,000 is needed for upgrading the heating systems at the high school, Cooke Junior High School and Amerman and Moraine elementaries.

The board is committed to replacing the Moraine system, but the other money does not appear to be forthcoming.

"Other districts are going up in expenditures and we're going down," says Janchick. People may not get as excited about furnaces as they do for dirty halls, but wait until the heating system fails when its 10 degrees out, he says.

Now about those halls. Janchick says people expect a clean high school and says "they are entitled to that." The solution isn't costly, either. Rather, it's a question of organization, supervision and proper job descriptions. Since the year started, the custodial staff has been trimmed from 50 to 44, a 12 percent reduction, in a move for streamlined efficiency.

"On an overall basis, I think we're doing a better maintenance job than we did a year ago," says Janchick. "I think things are starting to click right along." Janchick does not deny that there were custodial problems at the high school, but again there is another side of the coin.

When custodians were on strike earlier this year, Janchick made a point to clean out a girls restroom at the high school at the close of every working day. Without fail, the restroom was a cluttered garbage pit when he would return the next day.

"I agree with the North Central report that compliments our students," says Janchick. "We've probably got a smaller amount of vandalism than most schools, but it only takes a small minority."

Stronger supervision could help, but he doesn't like the idea of administrators spending half their time monitoring rest rooms.

"I probably wouldn't last as a high school principal more than half a day," he says. "The first thing I would do is lock the faculty bathroom." Then, he explains, teachers could supply the added supervision.

Teachers, of course, seldom miss an opportunity to make jokes about the high school maintenance. Often, their complaints are justified.

But there's also the scene that took place earlier this year in the high school cafeteria when teachers gave their reports on different aspects of the North Central self-evaluation.

The "building and grounds" report supplied the comic relief as the committee head landed some well-placed barbs about the school's condition.

Among those laughing the hardest were two teachers who nonchalantly flicked ashes and cigarette butts onto the cafeteria floor.

Bowling alley zoning denied

Rezoning of a 17-acre parcel of property on the west side of Novi Road just north of 12 Mile for a bowling alley and other future purposes was denied 4-2 by council last Wednesday.

The rezoning proposal was brought by William T. Williams who said he intended to establish a 40-48 land alley, and later a movie theater or restaurant and a law office. Construction was anticipated to begin in two years.

Williams was proposing a rezoning from R-1-F small farms agricultural residential districts to B-2 community business district.

Williams told the council that if the rezoning was granted, he intended to come back for a liquor license. "Otherwise we would have to go into the marketplace," he said.

Councilman Robert Schmid told Williams that "The possibilities of getting a liquor license are remote since we just gave one to a bowling alley." He was referring to Novi Lanes which is under construction on Novi Road south of Nine Mile.

Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Vilcan-Leman had recommended against the rezoning because it would be contrary to the development plan around the shopping center and would weaken the planning board's intent of trying to discourage strip commercial zoning along major thoroughfares in Novi.

The planning board also had recommended against the rezoning for those reasons.

LESLIE DILTS

Dilts receives scholarship

Leslie Anne Dilts, 14, a ninth grade student at Meads Mill Junior High, has received a special scholarship to Detroit Country Day School.

A busy and involved teenager, she plays both clarinet and piano, taking piano lessons from Juliana Kan. She is on the Meads Mill track team and also plays basketball and volleyball. She has her own horse which she rides, trains and shows.

She says she enjoys working with animals and presently has a new horse which she is planning to train.

Until lack of time prevented it, she was modeling and taking dancing lessons, her mother, Mrs. Linda Dilts of Jamestown Circle, reports.

Her Detroit Country Day scholarship was based on both personal interviews and tests. Of 166 taking the tests, she was one of 21 finalists from whom seven were chosen for scholarships.

Orchard Hills Baptists to hear Christian Jew

Al Brickner, of the nationally-known Jews for Jesus organization, will be the special guest speaker at Orchard Hills Baptist Church on May 22, at 7 p.m.

Jews for Jesus, under the leadership of Moishe Rosen, is the fastest growing organization of its kind. Since its incorporation in 1973, it has established branch offices in four major U.S. cities, in addition to its headquarters in San Rafael, California. From an original group of eight, the Jews for Jesus staff has expanded to include over 70 full-time field workers.

Their message, according to Rosen, is that "Jewishness and Christ go hand-in-hand. When people tell us that Judaism and Christianity are mutually exclusive, I encourage them to take a better look at history. Jesus was Jewish. His earliest followers were Jewish. We want other Jewish people to know that belief in the Messiahship of Jesus is a viable option." Jews for Jesus have taken this message to key cities across the country and overseas.

AL BRICKNER

Al Brickner and his wife, Lois, were both raised in Jewish homes, and feel a strong commitment to their religious and cultural heritage. At the same time, they are believers in Jesus, concerned with sharing the Gospel message with their own people, Pastor Thomas Martin said.

Brickner, 45, is a graduate of Gordon College and Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary in Massachusetts. In 1969, he received his master's degree in psychology of religion and pastoral care from Boston University. He has been a believer in Jesus for more than 25 years.

Before joining the staff of Jews for Jesus in 1976, he served as the general director of Israel's Remnant, Inc., a Michigan-based Jewish evangelistic out-reach. Israel's Remnant was founded by Lois Brickner's father, Fred Kendal. Al Brickner also edited Ha'Or, a paper devoted to reaching Jewish people with the message of the Messiah. Brickner is an accomplished lecturer and speaker, having spent many years in ministerial capacities.

Despite the fact that most of the staff of Jews for Jesus are considerably younger than the Brickners, Al and Lois feel young at heart, and are excited about working with the organization. "As a friend and co-laborer with Moishe Rosen for over ten years, I have watched with interest and enthusiasm as Jews for Jesus developed," says Brickner. "Now that Lois and I are involved first hand, we can appreciate the growth and development from a different perspective."

The Brickner's daughter, Martha Ruth, has been on the staff of Jews for Jesus for two years, and has traveled as a member of the New Jerusalem Players, one of their mobile evangelistic teams. The Brickners also have a son, David, who studies at Boston University and volunteers his time at the Boston branch of Jews for Jesus.

The public is invited to attend. There is no charge for the retreat.

Knowing God!

If you are looking for real Love, Joy and Peace within you that nothing can upset, then come to a living, personal relation with God. This can only be done by receiving God's Son, Jesus Christ, as your Saviour.

Musical to mark Academy birthday

Plymouth Christian Academy, housed in Northville's Main Street Elementary School, will mark its first year of operation with a musical at Calvary Baptist Church, 43065 Joy Road, Canton.

The musical, performed by kindergarten through sixth grade students at the academy, will be given at 6 p.m. on Sunday, June 5.

Focusing on the parables that Jesus told while He was here on earth some 2,000 years ago, the musical includes works that are happy as well as pensive and sad. All are full of adventure, some are quiet and thought provoking, while others make obvious points that would otherwise be difficult to understand.

Each of the parables teach an important lesson.

To fully complement this production of The Story Telling Man by Ken Medema, orchestration will be provided throughout the musical.

Northville area residents are invited to attend.

Northville High graphic arts instructor Richard Deskovitz, left, instructs Ray Allen in silk screen process while Dave Prim watches. Master stencils for play and prom posters, as well as for programs and tickets, are made and run off in the department.

Bride-elect Betty Jo Terry, who will exchange vows with William Welsh of Dearborn in a June 25 ceremony, is being honored at several showers.

Sally Sliger was hostess May 7 for a round-the-clock shower with guests, most of whom were school friends, bringing gifts appropriate to the hour assigned.

Others planning miscellaneous showers are Mrs. Earl Croll of Livonia, a cousin of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. Richard Ambler and Mrs. Janet Reynolds. The latter two will be co-hostesses.

Lawrie Seiler Parker has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seiler of Northville for two weeks. A 1971 graduate of Novi High School and a 1974 graduate of University of Michigan, she has been working at the Buena Vista News in Buena Vista, Virginia, a small town in southwest Virginia for the past three years.

She was named managing editor of the newspaper in June, 1976. She and her parents are returning to Virginia later this month for her husband Jeff's graduation from the Washington and Lee University Law School in Lexington, Virginia.

Jean Ann Weston became president of Northville Mothers' Club, succeeding Phia Johnson, at the club's annual picnic Monday at the Thornapple Lane home of Ida Wheatley.

Other officers for the coming year are Sue Wright, vice president; Luanne McCurdy, treasurer; Constance Conder, recording secretary; and Shirley Horwath, corresponding secretary.

Northville Business and Professional Women's Club will install its new officers for the coming year at 6:30 p.m. Monday at a dinner meeting at the Park Haus.

Marlene Danol, a past president, will be the installing officer with other past presidents assisting.

Louise Cutler will be installed as president. Other officers will be Ruth Houston, vice president; Jean Stenfeldt, secretary; and Laura Hartlup, treasurer.

For dinner reservations members should call Virginia Plunkett, chairman, at 349-0435 or 349-1900.

Many things will be "two of a kind" at the exchange-sale of the Plymouth-Northville Mothers of Twins Club being held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 21, at 12940 Drury Lane in Plymouth.

Anyone interested in the sale or the club may call its president, Karen Schnorrenberg, 522-2889.

A program on drying and arranging flowers will be given by the Statice Shop in Plymouth for the meeting of Highland Lakes Women's Club at 1 p.m. this Thursday in the clubhouse.

Kay Russell is in charge of the program, which is for members only.

Annual silent auction of the Base Line Chapter of Quilters antiques society will be held at the final meeting of the year at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Beck Road home of Dorothy Greer.

President Rosemary Smith will turn over her office to Mrs. Greer at the annual election.

He's Mother's Day present

He weighed seven pounds, three ounces at birth and is the couple's first child.

Mrs. Richardson is a 1975 graduate of South Lyon High School and her husband is a 1973 Northville High graduate.

Grandparents are the Robert Richardsons of Northville and the Richard Clark Sacketts of Salem. Great-grandparents are the F. H. Martins of Detroit and Mrs. Willa Richardson of El Paso, Texas.

"Two-Party Budget Service may help you save money on your phone bill."

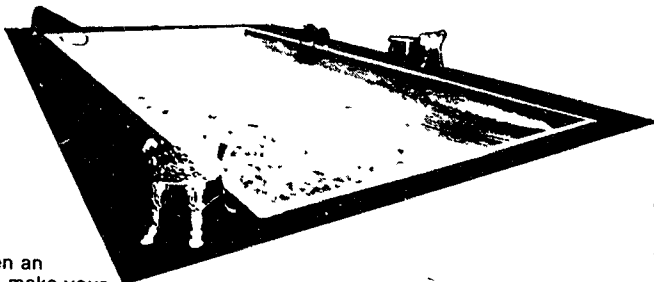

Two-Party Budget Service is especially designed for people with fixed incomes, such as retirees. For a monthly charge of only $3.39, plus tax, this service lets you make 45 local calls a month and talk as long as you like. Extra local calls you make are 50¢ each. This is our least expensive service (a lot cheaper than two-party flat rate service).

If you think Two-Party Budget Service might be what you need, just call your Michigan Bell Business Office and talk to a service representative about it.

Eastern Michigan University • Ypsilanti, Michigan 48197

* NOTE: The following is only a partial list of course offerings.
See the Spring-Summer Class Schedule book for a complete list of courses.

We know you will enjoy your academic adventure at Eastern this summer. Our main campus is located in Ypsilanti on approximately 275 beautifully landscaped acres near the Huron River. The adjoining west campus houses intercollegiate and intramural athletic facilities. Eastern's campus boasts an air-conditioned, seven-story classroom building, a science complex with the very latest equipment and an educational resources center with more than 480,000 books, documents and microforms. The campus is unified by a mall with picnic tables and park benches, a pleasant place for a break.

Much of Ypsilanti's cultural-social life centers on Eastern's campus and the inexhaustible resources of Michigan's major metropolitan areas are a short drive away. Lakes, rivers, woods and most of Michigan's best summer places are nearby. Detroit's popular ethnic festivals and the famous Ann Arbor Art Fair are a sampling of some summer happenings.

ADMISSIONS

Eastern welcomes high school graduates, college and university students, armed forces personnel and mature adults who are beginning or continuing their education. High school students are welcome to get a head start and take courses for college credit. Applicants will be considered in terms of their probability of success at Eastern. Please call our toll free number [1-800-552-0369] for admission information or stop by the Admissions Office, 214 Pierce Hall (Hours: 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays; open until 7 p.m. the week before Summer session) Campus tours are available through Campus Interact, located in Starkweather Hall. Academic Advising is also available for students planning a comprehensive program of study at Eastern.

REGISTRATION

Students with a permit to register and a student number may register for classes at Briggs Hall (Hours: 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. The Registration Office will also be open until 6:30 p.m. on June 22, 23, 27, 28, and 29. Call (313) 487-2300 for more information.

TUITION AND FEES

Tuition is $22 per credit hour for undergraduate courses and $33 per credit hour for graduate courses. A $15, non-refundable registration fee is collected when the student registers. Summer session fees are due and payable on or before the first day of classes (June 27). Students registering for the Summer session after June 9 must pay total assessment at the time of registration.

COURSE LOAD

The recommended maximum full-time load is one academic credit hour per week of enrollment. This means a full-time load is eight academic hours for a seven and one-half week session or six academic hours if all classes are in the six week summer session.

HOUSING

A wide variety of on-campus housing is available for Eastern students. Conveniently located apartments for single students and families are also available at a reasonable cost.

DINING

McKenny Union is open all summer and students can get a quick snack or a full meal there. The dining room features a salad bar, deli sandwiches and a wide selection of luncheon or dinner specials. Students may also eat in Dining Commons III. Guest meal tickets are available at the door.

PARKING

Eastern has many well-lighted lots near the classroom buildings. Parking permits may be purchased for $5 at the University Safety Department. Evening students may park non-registered cars in designated lots for 50c. A free campus shuttle bus service is provided by the University.
