

384 Northville seniors get diplomas here tomorrow

Graduates all

Graduating brothers, Chris and Dave Chio of 19224 Marilyn, who will receive their diplomas in Northville High School ceremonies at 7 p.m. Thursday, try their mortarboards on their mother, Bettajoyce, and brother, Kenneth. Mrs. Chio earned her BA degree in gerontology in May from Madonna College where she was a dean's list student. Kenneth was just graduated from Schoolcraft College.

Weather permitting, 384 Northville seniors are prepared to graduate Thursday evening with a certain amount of pomp and, more than likely, some interesting circumstances.

Commencement exercises for the class of 1977, the 108th contingent to pass through the portals of NHS, are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. at the football stadium.

If it rains — and Principal Michael Tarpinian has not allowed that to happen in his three years at Northville — the ceremonies will be moved inside the high school.

There is unlimited seating at the football field, but graduates are limited to four tickets apiece if commencement is moved inside.

Inside or outside, 384 seniors — including 19-January graduates — will form a class processional whose size is expected to decrease in coming years as enrollment drops.

Father Gerald Hadad of Our Lady of Victory will greet the seniors with an invocation, followed by Mary Wertheimer's salutatory address. Swedish exchange student Anders Bengtsson will give a foreign farewell and then Elizabeth Harrison will give her valedictory address.

Following remarks by Superintendent Raymond Spear, Tarpinian gets down to the business at hand by handing out diplomas to the eager graduates.

A record 157 students will be wearing honors pins and gold tassels for earning a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or better.

Following the benediction by Father Hadad, the class recessional will lead most of the seniors to the all-night party. This year, a "Showboat" theme has been planned for the seniors-only celebration.

About a third of the caps and gowns have already made an appearance. Baccalaureate Services Sunday morning drew 131 seniors, slightly more than a third of the class.

The turnout was encouraging to those who opposed a plan to drop the religious service because of dwindling participation.

School officials had said that only 25 percent of past senior classes had

Board election slated Monday

The sound of voting machines will replace the fury that has dominated the current school year when Northville school district residents go to the polls Monday to select three board members.

If past performances are any indication, about 2000 people will pull voting machine levers at one of five polling places throughout the district.

Absentee ballots are available at the central office building, 303 West Main, during normal business hours through Friday and from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Even though criticism of the school district has been vocal and frequent this year, school officials are hesitant to predict that voting levels will exceed the 17 to 19 percent figures of the past two years.

There are 11,149 registered voters in the district.

Those who do make it to the polls will be choosing among eight candidates in three separate races.

Richard Herbel and Charles Peltz, both residents of the Novi portion of Northville school district, are running for a four-year term. The seat is currently held by Roger Nieuwkoop who chose not to run for another term.

Douglas Whitaker, appointed to the board three months ago, and Phyllis Lemon are opponents in a race for the two years remaining

Election's June 28

Blatt, Kirksey to square off for house seat

NANCIE BLATT

A Livonia principal and a Schoolcraft College trustee will clash Tuesday, June 28 in the election to fill the vacant state house of representatives in the 35th District.

Republican Jack Kirksey, principal of Livonia's Grant School, won his party's banner in last week's primary, thus setting the stage for the run-off with Democrat Nancie Blatt, who was unopposed in the primary.

Ms. Blatt, also a Livonia resident, is a member of the Schoolcraft board.

The two will be battling for the seat formerly held by R. Robert Geake of Northville, who now is a state senator.

In an extremely light turnout in last week's primary, Kirksey district-wide defeated Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas and former Livonia mayor Harvey Moelke.

Unofficial returns had Kirksey polling 1,597 votes, followed by Moelke with 1,367, Dumas with 1,072 and Blatt with 427.

In Northville voters gave Dumas the edge:

Township — Dumas 239, Kirksey 215, Moelke 70, and Blatt 28.

City — Dumas 67, Kirksey 53, Moelke 21, and Blatt 28.

In Livonia, it was:

Kirksey 1,329, Moelke 1,276, Dumas 766, and Blatt 390.

A total of 552 people voted in Northville township, 150 in the City of Northville.

City officials estimated that the election cost approximately $2 per vote.

Had Mrs. Dumas won the election, it would have necessitated — another special election — this one to fill her county commission seat. She represents Northville and Livonia on the board of commissioners.

Water dispute erupts

What city officials felt was movement toward settlement of the controversial water line problem in Hillcrest subdivision boiled anew Monday night.

Upset over what it considers to be foot-dragging on the part of the Northville council, citizens of the township subdivision located at the western edge of the city made it plain in appearing before council that they expected the city to share at least a portion of the cost of any new lines.

One property owner suggested that residents of the subdivision should not have to pay for any of the costs.

Councilmen, on the other hand, insisted replacement of the lines in the township is entirely a responsibility of the affected township property owners and-or the township government.

"If we were to replace similar lines in the city, property owners would be assessed. We can't do something in the township that we don't even do in the city," councilmen reasoned.

But citizens replied that they have been paying double water rates to enable the city to maintain the lines. "It is unfair to us to force us to pay for something we've been paying over the years through our water bills."

Although the lines are located in the township, the city has been selling water to the subdivision.

NEWS BRIEFS

THIS SUNDAY at 2 p.m. Northville Rotarians and youngsters from the Residential Training Center will play a soft ball game at Thomson Field, Six Mile near Beck. The project is one that Rotarians are hopeful will be given community support through actual attendance at the game. Senior citizens are exempt from the one dollar admittance fee. Rotarians stress that a "cheering crowd is more important than money" to the welfare of the retarded youths.

THERE'S STILL a long way to go in the campaign for funds to meet the expenses of opposing a prison at the Wayne County Child Development site in Northville Township. Co-Chairman James Cutler said Monday that $14,611 has been collected so far. The goal is $36,000. Cutler said that volunteers are now working in all areas of the city and township. They have special "stop the prison" envelopes in which they are collecting checks for the anti-prison campaign that has been conducted by the Western residents Association. Deadline for the drive is July 8.

REGULAR JUNE meeting of the Northville Township Board of Trustees has been moved from this Thursday to 8 p.m. next Tuesday, June 14, because of a conflict with the Northville High School graduation ceremonies. Upmost on the agenda will be the tabled question of voting to start a separate township fire department and end the present pact with the City of Northville.

Tarpinian issue carried to public

Northville school administrators are taking their fight on behalf of high school Principal Michael Tarpinian to the public.

Amerman School Principal William Craft, president of the Northville Association of School Administrators, said the public forum — scheduled for next Monday at 6 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church — was not a "forum to attack Spear...we've not been able to get through to either the superintendent or the board...therefore this is the only way."

Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear called the action "unprofessional."

School Board President John Hobart said a written request for a private hearing before the board had been received from Tarpinian Monday night. He said the request would be placed on tonight's (Wednesday) special board meeting agenda and that it would be up to the board to decide if and when the hearing should be held.

Tarpinian was notified last month by Superintendent Spear that the high school principal faced reassignment to the classroom for the final year of his contract (1977-78).

The Northville union of school administrators responded on May 19th with a request to the superintendent for a hearing on the action. The request was denied by the superintendent.

Principal Craft said he was told this week that a request for a private hearing before the board of education would have to be made in writing to the board by Tarpinian. The request was submitted Monday night.

Craft said the administrators' union decided to hold the public forum next Monday night despite the prospect of a private hearing before the board "because it is necessary to inform people about problems at the high school...they're not all the result of administrators."

"This (the public forum) files in the face of the request for a private hearing," responded Spear.

The superintendent pointed out that the authority for reassignment of administrators rests with the superintendent and that no notice is required. "Only the board can hire or fire, but it's up to the discretion of the superintendent to assign or reassign administrators."

Separate fire department near

Barring a change of heart on the part of members of Northville Township Board of Trustees, official steps to form a township fire department separate from the City of Northville will be taken at the June meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

(The meeting has been postponed from this Thursday because of high school commencement.)

Motion to place the matter on the agenda for vote then was made at a special meeting May 31 after the township had received a fire study report from a four-man committee headed by Robert Toms.

The board had appointed Toms, Richard Mitchell, Frank Hatch and Donald Riffenberg to review current conditions and to make both short and long-term recommendations.

Spear noted that administrators are currently negotiating with the school district and he viewed the public forum as a "ploy to gain more than a one-year contract and to remove the reassignment authority from the superintendent."

In matters of reassignment of administrators no action is required by the board of education. All authority in such matters rests solely with the superintendent.

Spear said he would not regard the granting of a private hearing to Tarpinian as a "slap."

At its meeting this past Monday, city council members had read the report and concluded "there's little doubt they (township board) want to go their separate way." Council then directed the city manager to request a decision immediately after next Tuesday's meeting as to the disposition of the existing equipment.

If the decision is to establish a separate township fire department, the council must act immediately to formalize the purchase of a new fire truck for city-only service. The truck already has been ordered, but the purchase order carries a cancellation clause up to the end of this month.

The township report stated that the township now is at a critical point with its joint

Those blisters raised record $20,000 for mankind

What may have been the largest single day fund-raiser in Northville's history was hailed as a "tremendous outpouring of citizen involvement" this week.

Bubbling with excitement over last Saturday's Walk for Mankind, Jaycee Project Chairman William Zapke predicted the walk will have raised well over $20,000 for charity.

"We won't know until after all the pledges are totaled and analyzed," said Zapke, "but it's a safe assumption based on response of participants and sponsors that, very conservatively, that the walk will net well in excess of $20,000."

The walk drew nearly double the number of participants—nearly 1200—than did last year's Jaycee sponsored event.

Of these about 1,000 walked the entire 20-mile route of the walk through the city and township of Northville.

First across the finish line in two hours and six minutes after the 9 a.m. start were John Coram and Phill Reed. Jim Bedford, who paced them over much of the route, had to drop out because of a muscle spasm. First girl to finish was Julie Miron, who crossed the finish line at 12:10 p.m.

The walk began and ended at Northville Downs.

Traveling the longest distance to participate in the walk were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Meeker and their children of Imlay City.

The last two walkers finished at 5:45 p.m.

According to Zapke, walkers gobbled up 1,920 hot dogs and 3,000 drinks at the Jaycee sponsored lunch stand.

Along the way, participants were provided refreshments by sponsors of the check point stations. Among these were the Northville City Council, which provided 60 gallons of lemonade, and the Northville Kiwanis Club which gave out just under 50 gallons of soft drinks.

The walk produced no serious injuries — but a wide variety of blisters, aching muscles, and sunburns.

A traffic jam developed on Seven Mile Road when Shawn Cassidy of the "Hardy Boys" made an appearance. Traffic was backed up for miles.

Young, screaming walkers clamored for autographs but because they had no extra paper on which to get his signature they had him sign their Walk for Mankind cards.

"They cherished those cards so much they refused to have check point workers punch holes over the name and at the end of the walk declined to give up their cards. We needed the cards to verify miles walked so we ended up giving out duplicates so youngsters could save their autographs," said Zapke.

The walker who most excited Jaycees was Michael Laycock, who turned in 12 pages of sponsors who pledged a total of $545.

"It was the most pledges garnered by any participants and we were determined to carry him the full 20 miles to make sure he made it," laughed the chairman. "But that wasn't necessary. Mike went all the way on his own."

Sponsors pledge specific amounts of money for each mile walked by those persons they sponsored.

Sixty percent of money raised by the walk goes to Project Concern, which aids needy families in the United States and elsewhere in the world; 20 percent is earmarked for a local charity designated by the walker; and 20 percent goes to the Jaycees, which uses its money for local charity and civic projects service contract with the city for fire protection.

"Since the City of Northville will not expand either in area or significantly in population, it is unreasonable to assume that the city can be expected to invest in the expansion of fire service. Expansion is required for the township, and we would understand that the township will bear the cost."

The report went on to indicate that "serious shortcomings exist in the present department in areas of training, inspection and flexibility. An example of this was the recent rejection of the Northville Fire Department by the Western Wayne Mutual Fire Aid Association."

A suggested first-year budget of $30,500

Two Novi High School students have been named to receive scholarships.

including $6,375 of one-time purchases and an inventory of township-owned equipment were included with the report.

As part of the board's unanimous motion to consider the establishment of a department next week (James Nowka was absent for this portion of the meeting), the board at Trustee Michael Wilson's request asked for projections of a three-year fire department budget and for a "commitment of manpower and joint pacts of service with other communities."

Wilson, stating he didn't feel the report was "detailed," asked for the additional specific information after Trustee John Swienkowski moved to place the motion on the June agenda.

Swienkowski asked Toms if the $30,500 budget was a realistic one and was told it would be for a first year but that it does not allow for future maintenance and equipment. Toms estimated it could go up about 10 percent a year.

When Toms was named to head the fire study committee, it was indicated that he possessed qualifications to head a department as he is retired as a captain and instructor from the Detroit Fire Department and holds class A (highest) Michigan certification for fire instructor.

His resume is on file at the township office. It appeared likely that, should a separate fire department be established, he will be named to head it.

In recent months township trustees had been increasingly concerned over rising fire department bills from the joint pact. They delayed voting to pay the April bill of $3,467.18 until the May 31 meeting.

At the time a motion was made by Mark Lysinger and approved by the board instructing Supervisor Wilson Grier and Treasurer Richard Henningsen to go over the May billing before submitting it to the board for payment. The May bill is $2,761.36.

The fire report gave top priority to training of volunteers, and this was an area of greatest concern to board members who questioned Grier and Police Chief Ronald Nisun regarding availability of personnel.

Grier, pointing out that there is a severance agreement with the city, said he felt that basically in 90 days the township could be ready to go with its own department but conceded that "the real problem would be vacations in July and August."

It was stated that "90 percent of the township fires could be put out with four men or less" and that it could be expected that there would be mutual aid with Plymouth Township.

Nisun, questioned directly about how many of his officers would be fire volunteers, said he was sure a number would be volunteers but he couldn't say the reserves "would be firemen tomorrow." He pointed out that all officers in the police department have been trained at the University of Michigan as firefighters with each having 40 hours of study.

With a separate department, the township would use the fire station at the Wayne County Child Development Center with the new station at the township complex on Six Mile opposite Northville Commons to be finished as soon as possible. Grier said the architect indicated that it could be completed sooner than the planned April 1 occupancy date, possibly by the end of December.

Honors ceremony welcome relief

Thanks, Northville High School needed that.
Just when it seemed as though a wave of negativism would knock the school off its hilltop location, the annual honors banquet and convocation came to the rescue with a spirit-revising freshness.
Scores of students, mostly seniors, held center stage Wednesday night as they were recognized for their achievements over the last four years.
Included were 157 honor students, about 40 percent of the senior class, who maintained 3.0 ("B") grade point averages or better during their high school career. It was the largest number of honor students in the school's history.
Several other awards — based on academic prowess, individual skills and service to the school and community — were presented. Many carried financial rewards.
And there wasn't a leak in the house. Steady dripping from a leaky roof, a poorly maintained building, poor morale among teachers, an insufficient supply of textbooks, and sometimes open hostility between faculty and administration has painted a poor public relations picture for much of the year.
Dissatisfaction and dissent took a back seat Wednesday, however, as the honored students showed Northville High School at its best.
"Some of the (district's) biggest critics were there, smiling as proud as peacocks over their children's accomplishments," said one high school counselor.
And the more than 400 parents and students who enjoyed dinner in the high school's L-shaped cafeteria had to be "happy that the school board had reconsidered a decision to drop the meal."
Because the increasing participation made the dinner unwieldy and because of rising costs, it was decided earlier this year to hold only the convocation in the auditorium.
Parents, who argued that students who excel in academics get little enough recognition as it is, convinced the board that the dinner was a vital part of the evening.
Students are guests at the dinner but parents pay a fee.
The larger crowds have spurred talk that the event may eventually be moved to Schoolcraft College, but many hope it can remain at the high school to help promote a positive public image for the building.
Since enrollment is at least temporarily declining, it's likely that the high school facilities will be sufficient for the honors night for several years to come.
There's little doubt that the night is a big one at the school. Everyone, from teachers to counselors to students —

An activity center for Novi middle and high school age students is being put on by Novi Youth Assistance beginning June 27 at Orchard Hills Elementary.
The center, which will be open until August 4 will offer such nightly activities as basketball, baseball, informal games, television, tumbling, ping-pong, table games and rap sessions. In addition several excursions have been planned throughout the summer including an overnight campout, a bike hike and picnic, a day at Kensington, a Tiger baseball game and a trip to Bob-Lo Island.
The center, though sponsored by Novi Youth Assistance, is being made possible largely through a grant from United Community Services. Additional funding has come from the Novi Parks and Recreation, Novi Jaycees, and the Novi Welcome Wagon Club. Novi School District is providing facilities.
The center will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 6-10 p.m. Registration is not required. For more information, call 349-8398.

Down on the farm

Novi Woods Elementary fifth- and sixth-graders — about 200 of them — got a chance to find out about life "down on the farm" last week when they visited the Maybury State Park Living Farm in Northville. The excursion was scheduled in conjunction with the study of the westward expansion and pioneer life. Youngsters were able to watch horses plowing ground, enjoyed milking a cow and even got to hold some piglets. For a story on Maybury State park, see page E-1.

CETA grant boosts total

Ok $2.6 million budget

A $2.67 million budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year received approval Monday night by Novi City Council following a quiet budget hearing.

The budget received a last second boost last Friday when the city learned that it will receive approximately $152,000 for employment of 15 CETA emergency employment act employees under the special projects portion of CETA VI. In addition, while the city had been anticipating money for three additional CETA workers under CETA II and VI, it was notified that it will be receiving money for five.

The 15 new special project CETA employees will, according to Finance Director Fred Todd, be used in the DPW, Parks and Rec program, vehicle maintenance and possibly one may have a capacity as a grant coordinator. The five employees received under other portions of CETA will be used in parks and rec, the police department (clerk and dispatcher) and an account clerk in the finance department.

CETA funds this year will total $325,620 of the city's total revenues of $2,672,891 as the city will continue to use 10 CETA employees who were already with the city.

The tax rate under the new budget is 11 mills, up from 10.40 last year. This includes a raise in the special voted road program millage from .90 mill to 1.50 mill. Other millage includes: 6.50 for the general fund; 1 mill for the road fund; 1 mill for the library; and 1 mill special voted fire.

The city council requested that the administration publish in this issue of The Novi news pie charts indicating where general fund monies will go based upon the current budget, plus a chart showing where a Novi resident's tax dollars went during the 1976-77 fiscal year. Those charts are located on page 11-B.

The budget shows the police department getting the biggest chunk of all funds at 36 percent or $976,569. This includes several grants. CETA expenditures will total 12 percent, $325,620. Building department expenditures total 11 percent $301,885 while general city administration including legal fees totals 10 percent, $262,316 while the DPW will receive $184,211 or 7 percent. Both the fire department and finance department will receive five percent of the general fund monies at $133,000 each.

The city clerk's office receives four percent as does the category of manager, mayor, council, charter commission and planning board. The assessing department and board of review receive three percent. Contingencies and debt administration total $71,000 or three percent also. General fund expenditures of $2.672 million compares to estimated expenditures in the current fiscal year of $2.361 million.

Based upon this year's budget, revenues of 43 percent of the general fund budget or $1.152 million will come from general property tax. Half a million or 19 percent will come from state shared revenues while grants total 16 percent of $440,000. Licenses and permits will bring in 11 percent at $265,325. Other revenue includes: Municipal reimbursement, 4 percent, $101,575; federal revenue sharing, 3 percent, $89,716; charges for services, 2 percent, $53,900; interest and other, 2 percent, $57,000.

The budget will allow the city manager to add an administrative assistant as the current half time assistant manager John Merrifield will be going back into the assessing department fulltime. The budget also allows the hiring of two patrolmen in July and another in January.

Building department personnel will be cut back by seven in November unless revenues in that department increase more than anticipated.

During budget hearing discussions, the administration noted that the city is being affected by a huge increase in insurance costs. Blue Cross insurance was raised from $37,000 in 1976 to $79,000 in 1977 and is expected to be at $128,000 next year.

Besides unanimously adopting the budget, 6-0, council passed the Municipal complex questions on ballot

Two bonding questions regarding purchase and development of municipal complex property and completion of the second phase of the Novi Library will be on the November ballot.

In addition, voters will be asked to decide on a millage for the parks and recreation department, special assessment bonding approval for several roads to be paved, an advisory question on special assessments for paving mile roads, plus the proposed city charter.

Those questions were approved by council Monday night although the charter question was a formality.

The two municipal bonding questions, as well as the parks and rec millage question were brought to council as ballot proposals which could accomplish the recommendations of the City of Novi Needs and Priority Assessment Committee.

Tied together as council considered the overall package were questions which will ask:

- 1) approval to bond $2,375,000 to purchase 71 acres at 10 Mile and Taft Roads and to pay for constructing a new police administration building;
- 2) approval to bond for $335,000 to furnish the second phase of the Novi Library building so that the space can be used for city administrative offices up to 10 years and eventually library use;
- 3) a half mill for three years for the purpose of establishing and maintaining a parks and recreation program within the city.

Council had discussed the questions at the previous council meeting with much dissension voiced to putting the questions on the ballot. One member voicing dissension, Robert Schmid, was absent from Monday's council session.

Council member Romaine Roethel had indicated that she supported waiting on the questions until some feeling could be received on whether grants might be available and whether the city would be able to hire a fulltime grantsman to pursue grants. The fulltime grantsman ended up not being included in the budget although approval received Friday for CETA emergency employment funds to the tune of $150,000 will apparently help the city to hire a grantsman.

Councilmembers indicated that if the questions should be approved by voters, that would not stop the city from seeking grants. It was noted the city must own land before it can seek grants to develop it.

Lone person to vote against the three question package was Mayor Pro-Tem Martha Hoyer. Referring to the priority committee, Mrs. Hoyer said, "As much respect as I have, I can't see spending a third of a million dollars for another temporary facility. My hangup is finishing the library. If we acquire a grant afterward for building, we could have used that third of a million dollars elsewhere. I am tired of the city hall moving from one temporary facility to another."

Mrs. Hoyer added that she supported both of the other questions. All three questions had been tied together originally Monday night when James Shaw and Patricia Karevich indicated that all of the questions were on outgrowth of the priority assessment committee and should be considered as a package.

"I may take issue with any one of the questions," explained Shaw. "But they (the committee members) considered building a city hall outright and came back with this."

While the original motion was to put on the ballot the parks and rec question, council approved an amendment 5-1 with Mrs. Hoyer opposed to add the municipal land and library questions.

Earlier in the evening, council listened to former building department director Robert Shaw who explained how building authorities have been used in several surrounding communities to construct municipal facilities.

Incumbents seeking return in Monday school election

Three incumbents will be seeking reelection to the Novi School Board Monday as voters go to the polls.

Three seats, two four-year terms and a one-year term are up for grabs. Filing and seeking election to the two four-year seats are Sharon Pelchat, 41910 Aspen and Joan Daley, 22665 Shadow Pine.

Seeking the one year term is Robert Wilkins, 23803 Ripple Creek.

Mrs. Pelchat, current president of the board, is a five-year veteran while Wilkins has served eight years. Mrs. Daley was appointed last October to a vacant seat held previously by James Helmer.

Polling location will be the community building on Novi Road about a quarter mile north of Grand River.

Meanwhile, in the Walled Lake School District two persons are seeking election to a four-year seat vacated by Kenneth Erdody, a five-year veteran of the board.

Seeking the seat are Chester Gerbensky, 1935 Dawn Ridge and Kenneth Tucker, 335 Arvida, both in Walled Lake.

The northern portion of Novi which is in Precinct One will vote at Walled Lake Junior High, 615 North Pontiac Trail. Wixom residents in Precinct 4 will vote at Wixom residents in Precinct 4 will vote at Wixom Elementary, 301 North Wixom Road.

Polls in both school districts will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

President Jimmy declines invite;

Ford sought to dedicate school

Though Novi school administrators had their hopes set high, President Jimmy Carter won't be coming to Novi for the August dedication of the new Novi high school.

In response to an invitation from Principal Dr. Helen Ditzhazy, a letter was received last week from Fran Voorde, director of scheduling at the White House. It thanked Dr. Ditzhazy for the invitation but said "The President regrets he cannot be with you on this occasion."

Dr. Ditzhazy says that she will probably read the letter at the dedication ceremonies.

"We felt sort of letdown," she told The Novi News-

She placed part of the blame for the response on her own letter to Jimmy Carter which she described as informal. She had hoped that the President himself would get to read the invitation.

"The letter was not real formal and the response was very formal," she says. "Perhaps a White House Aide reading the letter (from the school) might not have had the same reaction as the President would have had. The President probably never saw the letter."

Despite the response, Dr. Ditzhazy says that doesn't mean the dedication

I-96 rest area closed for renovation

Travelers along I-96 are gradually becoming used to the fact that Novi's rest area, one of the busiest in the state, is temporarily out of service.

For the past few weeks the rest area located between Beck and Novi Roads on I-96 has been closed as a near complete renovation takes place.

And according to Jay Bastian, Assistant Supervisor of Roadside Development for the highway department, it will be a while before the rest area will be open again for use. To be exact, the expected completion date is November, although Bastian admits that is a rough guess.

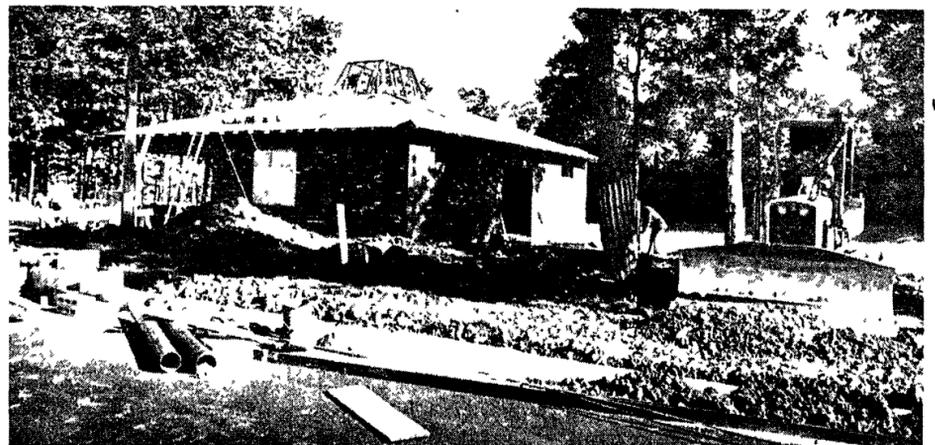

As it is, the renovation got started over half a year late as compared to originally anticipated dates. The work had been expected to start last year but "we have a little trouble keeping up with our projected letting dates," said Bastian.

The renovation consists of construction of a modern restroom facility able to serve 16 people at one time, resurfacing of the roadway and much of the parking lot, and better lighting and improved landscaping. Total cost of the project is estimated at $308,000.

The brick veneer building alone will cost $93,000. According to Bastian it will include a lobby with drinking water available as well as flushing toilets. The building is being constructed to comply with the state barrier free code so that the handicapped can use it. Legally the highway department does not have to comply, but Bastian says it always has.

"I was in a couple rest areas on I-75 in the fall, which is when older people seem to do a lot of traveling. It seemed half the people coming into the Higgins Lake rest area

2 girls again lead Northville class

For the second year in a row, two girls are leading the Northville High School senior class.

Elizabeth Harrison, who carried a 4.2161 through four years of high school, is the valedictorian and Mary Wertheimer, whose average was 4.1053 is the salutatorian.

A 4.0 average represents a perfect "straight A" average. The girls exceeded that level by getting A's in honor courses as freshmen, the last year that the school system awarded extra points for honor classes.

Eleven seniors in this year's class maintained grade point averages of 4.0 or higher.

Both girls took time off from their busy graduation schedule, which includes preparing speeches for Thursday's commencement exercises, to talk about their time at Northville High School.

Elizabeth, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison, had good words for the high school.

"I like it," she said. "I enjoyed myself. There are some really good classes. If you want you can get a good education."

Two of the classes she most enjoyed were advanced biology and humanities, a course that was taught by three teachers and covered the progress of art, music and literature.

She will be attending Michigan State University next fall and, although her major is undeclared, she has an eye on telecommunications.

Intrigued by broadcast and radio courses in high school, she favors radio over television and is not necessarily interested in becoming an electronic personality.

"What they really need is writers," she said.

She had an active extracurricular life at Northville including four years of cheerleading, Pep Club president, Student Council representative, secretary and vice-president of her class, feature editor of the Mustang and Homecoming representative.

Salutatorian Mary Wertheimer is also going to Michigan State where she will major in bio-chemistry. She is looking for a career with an emphasis on research because "I think I'd enjoy working alone rather than in a business."

Her parents, Robert and Eleanor Wertheimer, are beginning to take such honors in stride. Mary is the ninth of 10 children and two of her older sisters were also salutatorians.

Noting that a brother and a sister were pursuing medical careers, she said "the most interesting thing about me is my family." But she was being modest.

In addition to compiling her impressive academic record, Mary was a member of the Honors Society, a student representative on the P.T.S.O. and a winner in the Scholastic Writing Contest.

She also spent an interesting summer working as a "sanitation engineer" at the Northville Downs. Although she thought it was a good experience, she wouldn't recommend it.

She had good words for the science and English departments and the humanities course.

Last year, Kate Brown was valedictorian and Sarah Kunst was salutatorian.

Don't keep on truckin'

Complaints of residents of Northville Commons regarding paving trucks hauling cement to other locations from a Whisper Wood construction site should cease, Supervisor Wilson Grier told Northville Township board last week.

Trucks are being restricted to five-to-ten mile an hour speed limits and the gravel roads are being kept watered, he said. The operation was to be moved from Whisper Woods Tuesday with trucks to return to complete paving of the rear area of development at a later date.

Nobody is injured as truck clips bus

A garbage truck pulled around a truck stopped in the road and clipped a full Northville school bus last Wednesday morning.

There were about 50 children in the bus but no one was injured, according to authorities. The garbage truck knocked a mirror off the bus and damaged a window frame, according to school officials.

Northville Township

Police were not notified until later in the day when contacted by the drivers of each vehicle.

Their report indicates that the school bus was heading north on Napier Road north of Six Mile when the southbound garbage truck pulled into the northbound lane.

School officials say the busdriver drove off the road in an effort to avoid an accident.

IT'S A GONER — Neighbors figured this home "was a goner" as flames shot skyward from the entire front of the Northville Commons house. But Northville firemen quickly laid down a blanket of water that snuffed out much of the blaze within three minutes of their arrival last week. Although the superstructure was saved, the interior of the home was completely destroyed. The fire was not immediately detected by the family sleeping inside. By the time they fled the home it was engulfed in flames.

Fire rousts family from Northville home

Faulty wiring is believed by Northville Township Police to be the probable cause of a fire that swept through the Peter Khoury home on Old Bedford Friday morning.

The fire broke out in the library area of the spacious two-story home, quickly spreading to other rooms on the first floor. The Khoury's, asleep in a second-floor bedroom, awoke when they smelled smoke.

Two Khoury children had left for school before the blaze broke out while a third child remained at home. Although the children had been instructed to leave the house in case of fire, Khoury remained inside checking for the youngster while Mrs. Khoury fled through the front door.

The youngster was found outside, unharmed.

Khoury was driven back upstairs as flames continued to consume the first floor. His hair was singed by flames leaping behind him as he raced to the second floor. Forced to jump from an upper window to escape the building, Khoury was shaken but uninjured.

Flames were shooting from the front door as Northville firemen began pouring water on the blaze. A neighbor had turned in the initial alarm only moments before.

Although no damage estimate has yet been made, a fire department spokesman said there was extensive interior damage to the house. He said the "first floor" area "was" totally destroyed and all but two bedrooms on the second floor.

Intense heat created during the blaze caused several windows to blow out with severe smoke and water damage apparent throughout the building.

Air plan conflicts with SEMCOG

Northville Township Board of Trustees last Thursday authorized its planner, George Vilican, to work with SEMCOG (Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments) representatives on conflicts of interest between the township's master plan and SEMCOG's regional planning.

The motion followed a special joint meeting of trustees and the township planning commission with SEMCOG officials. It included provision for William Mosher, township engineer, to participate in areas of sewer and water discussion.

The meeting was sought by SEMCOG, Clerk Clarice Sass explained, after the township became alarmed with SEMCOG's regional land use study and notified SEMCOG of conflicts with its master plan.

SEMCOG staff member Gerald Rowe stressed that the SEMCOG planning is "ongoing with changes to be made."

Concern was expressed that SEMCOG planning was "tilted toward higher densities."

In reviewing SEMCOG maps, Vilican pointed to his concern with land designated as "activity centers," saying, "this is where we are playing with fire — an activity center doesn't rule out prisons."

In addition to Vilican, Mosher and Clerk Sass attending were Supervisor Wilson Grier, trustees James Nowka and Mark Lysinger and Treasurer Richard Henningsen.

Representing the planning commission were James Bohan, J. Craig Bowlby and Kenneth Sewell, Lysinger also serves on the commission as the trustees' representative.

Northville Township residents with water problems in the West Main Street area received a definite proposal from the board of trustees at their request May 31.

By unanimous vote, the board agreed to create a water district for Hillcrest Manor subdivision if residents request it and are willing to be assessed.

Supervisor Wilson Grier offered to have the township pay for transmission lines and meter pit with cost of the laterals to be divided equally among lot owners, with a $10 a foot charge for people on transmission lines. A 15-year payback period with interest was stated.

The proposal was sought by Harold Schmidt, representing property owners of the West Main, Bloomcrest, Woodhill area who have been plagued with low water pressure on city lines, now condemned. The board also voted unanimously to appropriate $200, requested of Western Wayne communities involved, to establish a municipal super sewer authority.

The board voted to purchase two portable radios for inter-communication between water and sewer department personnel at the cost of $1,268 each with funds coming from the department's account.

Municipal land on ballot

Building authorities are created by councils to construct buildings and then lease the facility to the city. They do not need approval by voters and can levy an ad valorem tax on the taxpayers. The only recourse taxpayers have is by petition which can put the tax levy to a vote of the people.

Councilmembers has indicated at previous council meetings that they did not favor the building authority route because it would take the approval for development of municipal property out of the hands of voters.

Councilman Shaw said Monday night that he wanted the questions on the ballot.

"I've been concerned they be put before the voters because they represent a citizens viewpoint which we asked for. This does not close the building authority avenue. Some or all of those bonds may never be sold. This does not supercede grants or the building authority."

Besides giving approval 5-1 to put all three questions on the ballot, council also indicated no problem with putting on the charter commission proposed charter.

Two questions regarding assessments for paving of mile roads will be on the ballot. One is an advisory question which asks if voters agree that persons living along mile roads should pay a share of the cost of paving those. The second question is a referendum question which asks permission to sell special assessment bonds totalling $650,000 for the paving of several city streets in the 1977 road program. That question was required after residents submitted petitions opposing the sale of those special assessment bonds.

President Carter declines invitation to dedication

ceremonies will be lessened in meaning. In fact, she says that after a meeting with the dedication committee recently, "I'm even more excited". Plans have not been finalized, but August 26 will be Fine Arts Day, August 27 will be Sports Day and August 28 will be the actual dedication day.

Meanwhile, according to Dr. Ditzhazy, Former president Gerald Ford and Governor William Milliken are next on the list for invitations as dedication speakers.

Plans had included possibly naming the Commons Building after the guest speaker but according to Board policy, it would have to be named after a person of national renown. If Milliken should be the speaker, that means that the media center could be named after him, but not the Commons.

Meanwhile, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week some 600 students who will be in the new high school next year are going through orientation to familiarize themselves with the structure.

Helping in that is a booklet which the student government under the sponsorship of Norm Norgren composed. It gives an explanation of such facilities as the gym, greenhouse, pool, commons, and the auditorium. It also has a complete map of room locations within the building and a list of new courses available as the result of facilities at the new high school: Broadcast I, Advanced Swimming, Lifesaving, Auto Mechanics I, and Graphic Arts I.

"I think it's particularly for the incoming freshmen," commented Dr. Ditzhazy on the book. "It's overwhelming to move from a middle school to a high school."

"Getting used to a new building is difficult enough but the ninth graders won't be able to ask the upper classmen where is 'such and such' because the upper classmen won't know."

Dr. Ditzhazy says that she is hopeful that students will gain a sense of responsibility and appreciation for the new high school as the result of the manner in which the building is introduced to them.

In her preface to the orientation booklet, Dr. Ditzhazy says:

"As one of the few students who is able today to enter a brand new high school and become a part of the student life there during upper grade years, you will help set the traditions and tone which will carry on through future years."

"As you examine the shield which was designed by Novi graduate Carol Pyhonen, and located in the front lobby, you'll notice the school stands for academic knowledge, fine arts, music, art and dramatics, the vocational skills, sports and physical education. Novi High School can be a school of excellence in all of these areas, through the efforts of its students. Even more, as one of the best designed senior high schools in the country, it can also be known for its courteous caring students who, recognizing its uniqueness, keep it looking like a fine piece of silver, polished and clean.

"Enter then, these halls. Let the majesty of the structure and the wisdom born of the knowledge of your good fortune of being in this place as a student, guide you to making Novi High School NUMBER ONE in Michigan for all those ideas heretofore reiterated."

were afflicted in some way," says Bastian. "It made us feel good they had so little trouble. The handicapped facilities were sure being used."

Additional lighting to the area will be of high pressure sodium which is more efficient and cheaper to operate and maintain than the lights previously used.

Crime at Novi's rest area is certainly a concern to the state highway department and Bastian admits that the better lighting may help out.

"Some people think lights deter crime and we feel it certainly helps," he says. "We even put a light down by the picnic area. But at the same time we don't want to go overboard and make it look like a carnival."

Additional resurfacing and paving already has been basically completed and that includes flattening the curve which goes into the rest area since some accidents have occurred there.

A well provides all water but the state has hooked up with city sewer. Often times when a rest area closes for modernization, portajohns will be provided, but travelers in Novi are advised by Bastian to "keep right on going." With more than a million travelers using the rest area each year, Bastian says it would have been an impossible task to accommodate them all and so it was decided to completely close down.

One of the companies walking away with a rest area contract was Detroit Concrete Products of Novi which was awarded the contract for grading, resurfacing and lights for $91,628. Abbott Peteson of Oxford received the $88,975 contract for sanitary sewers while D.A.C. Construction of Southfield was given the $128,175 contract for construction of the building, sidewalks and water supply.

First estimates for renovation of the rest area were $400,000 but those gradually dropped during the engineering process. And what Bastian calls an excellent price on the sewer work shaved the total price down to $308,000.

attended Baccalaureate. There was a concerted campaign to encourage seniors to attend this year and, despite poor weather, the effort paid off.

Those attending heard a welcome from class President Michael Murray and student readings from Melinda Rotta, David Penrod and Deborah Drewitz. Steven Manley provided an original piano interlude. All are seniors.

The Reverend Guenther Branstner of the First United Methodist Church gave the Baccalaureate Address. He said he knew three things about the students — they are loved by God, they are unique and each one has potential.

required resolution waiving its right to collect the one percent tax collection fee allowed by law.

Councilman Philip Goodman voted against the measure stating that a fee should be collected which represents the actual cost figure.

"I do believe the city should be allowed to be reimbursed," he said.

Many communities do collect the tax collection fee and a court battle is currently taking place challenging the constitutionality of that fee.

News Briefs

A NEW contract with City of Northville DPW and clerical employees has been ratified by both the union and the city. Action on the pact occurred Monday. Major provisions are for a 7.4 percent wage increase as of July 1, an extra week of vacation for employees after 20 years, and standby pay increased to $10 per day if no overtime is paid. Although the pay increase exceeded the 6 percent budget provision, councilmen hailed the settlement as equitable.

"JOIN UP"—That's the invitation from Northville Jaycees who are seeking entrants for the Fourth of July parade. Taking the theme, "Northville — 150 Years Old", the parade will mark Northville's sesquicentennial year. Equestrian and marching groups, floats, bands and specialty acts are being sought. Chairman John Stilson may be called at 349-3203 for parade reservation space.

Water issue erupts again

Rates charged for the water, city officials have stated, "do not approach" the cost of maintaining the lines, which were not installed by the city.

Council has formally notified the subdivision that water supply will be discontinued in October unless lines are installed that will produce adequate water pressures.

To determine a possible method of correcting the problem and to ensure adequate water pending resolution of the matter, the city has installed at its expense an above ground temporary water line along Clement.

The line has drawn a 30-day trial period from the county health department during which time pressure will be sampled by the city and the health department.

Homeowners have been critical of the council for the delay in making the line operational. But city officials stated that purchase of the proper pipe forced the delay. They said that it appears the line would be made operational by Tuesday of this week, noting that the 30-day permit by the county extends from the time water begins running through the temporary line.

Citizens were told

Monday that the council will discuss the findings of pressure readings at its June 20 meeting.

If the temporary line is found satisfactory, however, the matter of permanent installation of this or an alternate new line must still be resolved — namely, who pays for it.

One class per year

Novi okays pass/fail grading

A pass-fail grading policy designed to allow high school students to broaden their course of study has been approved by the Novi School Board.

The policy as approved by the school board allows students to take one pass-fail course per year but is restricted to one course per department over the student's high school career.

According to Novi High School Principal Dr. Helen Ditzhazy, the policy really has a two-fold purpose. When a student is having problems in a class, instead of dropping out, that student could switch over to a pass-fail grade.

"We'd have more leverage to get them to stay in," said Dr. Ditzhazy, "We feel students would gain more than if they dropped out in the middle of the year."

She also pointed out that many times a student will not take a course outside his main area of interest for fear of doing poorly and jeopardizing his grade point average.

Originally the administration had recommended that students taking five credits per year be able to take one course of their choice as pass-fail and if the student takes six credits in a year, two credits could be pass-fail.

But trustees questioned whether that might not be too many pass-fail classes. "When you're considering eight credits, that's an awful lot," said Trustee Ruth Waldenmayer.

Member Joel Colliau agreed saying "Two a term seems an awful lot of experimentation."

Trustees also questioned the fact that students might take all of their pass-fail courses in one subject area which might hurt them when they want to be accepted into college and major in a particular area.

That is why Mrs. Waldenmayer suggested that only one course per department be pass-fail during the student's high school career

The program was approved unanimously 6-0 with President Sharon Pelchat absent. It will be a pilot program with reports back to the board on what use is made of pass-fail grades and what the grades would have been without it.

Schoolcraft seeks tax increase

A Schoolcraft College tax increase proposal together with a slate of board of trustee candidates will be on the ballot Monday.

Voters of Northville, together with the electorate of the four other K-12 school districts that make up the college district, will decide an 0.8 tax hike proposal (80 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) and pick three board members from a slate of nine candidates.

The other K-12 districts are Plymouth-Canton, Livonia, Clarenceville and Garden City.

Only one incumbent trustee, Rosina Raymond of Livonia, is seeking re-election, which means at least two of the three six-year seats up for election will be filled by new members.

Trustees Leroy Bennett and Arch Vallier, both of Plymouth, are retiring. The eight other candidates in Monday's race are:

Jack Bologna of Plymouth, a management consultant; Michale M. Cicchella, executive director of the Livonia Family YMCA; George Gravello, a Livonia engineer; Harry G. Greenleaf of Livonia, an organizational planning specialist on Ford Motor's corporate staff;

Richard J. Hayward of Livonia, engineering and construction executive; Karl Sjogren, a Ford Motor cost analyst; Laura Toy of Livonia, program director for Western Wayne County YWCA; and Leonard E. Wozniak, account manager for Datapoint Corporation.

The tax proposal is the second in as many years to be put to the voters.

Last year while Northville voters were approving a proposed slightly lower millage hike (.53) voters elsewhere were turning it down. It was approved here by a vote of 963 to 715, but it was defeated district-wide by a vote of 11,002 to 16,443.

According to E. F. Petersen, manager of Schoolcraft's business services, about one-fourth of the new money that would be generated by the 0.8 mill hike will be used for operation the first year.

Without the tax hike, Petersen said, the college will have a little more than $10.3 million in total revenue. He has projected a $10.66 million budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year.

Program cuts or tuition increases, or a combination of both, will be needed to avoid a deficit of nearly $400,000 if the millage proposal fails, he said.

Public hearing on the new budget has been set by the board for 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 29.

Petersen has projected an enrollment increase (in credit hours) of 2.2 percent, inflation of six percent and utility increases of 20 percent. The latter two figures are being used nationally by economists, he said.

By using 0.18 mills of the new money, he said, Schoolcraft would have property tax revenue of nearly $3.75 million; without it, property taxes would yield $3.4 million.

Here's how the $346,000 in new revenue would be used:

- $100,000 to a special maintenance account, thus increasing this item to $250,000.

- $50,000 for special equipment account, bringing the new total to $150,000.

- $167,000 to "personal services" plus salaries and fringes, boosting the new total to $8.7 million. This account constitutes 85 percent of the total budget.

- $26,000 in non-personal services, raising this total to nearly $1.4 million.

- $3,000 to the contingency account, raising it to $154,000 or 1.5 percent of the total.

College President C. Nelson Grote has called the spending pattern "a conservative needs model."

New money generated by the proposed millage is primarily to be used to operate new and remodeled facilities to be financed by a $10 million bond issue. Sale of the bonds has yet to be made, however.

Since operation of these new facilities are to be phased in over the next five years, additional money not used for operation will be applied to the district's debt obligation until the monies are needed to operate the new facilities as they are opened, explained Petersen.

The planned new projects include a fine arts performing and instruction center, a new resource center, remodeling of the present library, a culinary arts addition, and an addition to Waterman Center.

The 0.8 mill increase would boost the total voted Schoolcraft millage to 2.57 mills from the present 1.77 level.

Debt retirement millage this past year was put at .36 mill. If the bonds for the new building program are sold, it is estimated that the debt millage will increase to .843 the first year.

The overall millage levy presently is 2.13 mills (operation and debt retirement), and the levy will increase to 3.413 with the additional 0.8 mill voted increase and the .483 addition represented by the $10 million bond issue.

By the end of five years the entire 0.8 mill increase will be used for operation, Petersen said.

ELECT CHARLES PELTZ

Northville Board of Education - 4 Year Term

Speaking for The Record

For school board it's Peltz, Whitaker and toss-up

Voters of the Northville Public Schools District will elect three of eight candidates to the seven-member board of education next Monday.

Four are running to fill a one-year vacancy on the board; two seek to complete the final two years of another vacancy; and two others are running for the full four-year term.

Only one of the candidates is an incumbent (Douglas Whitaker). And he was appointed two months ago to fill one of the vacancies. Neither Roger Nieuwkoop, who will complete his four-year term this month, nor Martin Rinehart, a veteran of previous board service who filled the other vacancy this year, is seeking re-election.

Record staffers have conducted personal interviews with each of the eight candidates. They have read their published statements and observed the performances of candidates at public meetings. Based upon this experience, the following candidates have been selected as the most qualified:

- For the four-year term — CHARLES PELTZ;
- For the two-year term — DOUGLAS WHITAKER;
- For the one-year term — a TOSS UP.

The selection of Peltz over Richard Herbel was one of the most difficult choices to make. Both possess high qualifications and have demonstrated keen interest in local school affairs over a period of time.

But we like the business background of Peltz and believe

Schoolcraft election

We like Raymond, Bologna, Greenleaf

Voters have an excellent array of candidates from which to select three members to the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

All are intelligent, knowledgeable and supportive of the educational process at Schoolcraft. And all are endorsing the college millage issue that will appear on Monday's ballot.

Unfortunately, none of the nine candidates are from Northville. And although board members are now all elected at-large to represent the interest of the entire college district, we believe equally qualified representation from our community would have given the board a broader perspective. For one reason or another, however, no one from Northville chose to run for this important office.

Because all nine candidates are obviously well qualified, we find it no easy task to single out three.

Nevertheless, our observation suggests that Incumbent Rosina Raymond of Livonia, Jack Bologna of Plymouth and Harry Greenleaf of Livonia have a sufficient edge in credentials to warrant our support.

We are particularly impressed with Bologna and Greenleaf. Bologna comes across as a common sense candidate whose professional background, both in and out of government, should be helpful to the board and the college. Greenleaf by his active involvement, both as a political and civic leader, has demonstrated a commitment to accomplish goals.

Although Mrs. Raymond has developed some critics over the years, we do not see that as a discouragement for her re-election. Few, if any public servants, can govern without generating some opposition. Even her critics would not deny the fact that she is a dedicated trustee. And in our opinion she is a valuable one.

The Record supports the re-election of Mrs. Raymond and the election of Bologna and Greenleaf.

YES for millage

The fact that all nine candidates for Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees support the college millage proposal is another indication that the suggested 0.8-mill increase has validity.

Having carefully studied the proposal, all nine have concluded that this millage increase is not aimed at providing "frills" but rather it represents much-needed money that will enable the college to sustain and improve its education function.

Their independent appraisal supports our position that this millage increase deserves voter support on Monday.

Over the years Schoolcraft has demonstrated the importance of providing educational programs beyond the high school level — not only for young high school graduates but also for adults seeking educational enrichment. And it has provided these programs while maintaining fiscal integrity.

We are confident that if granted additional monies Schoolcraft will continue to provide its high level of educational opportunities while prudently using our tax dollars.

We support the millage increase and we urge voters to do the same at the polls.

Editorials... a page for expressions ...yours and ours

that over the four-year period it can contribute more to solving the people problems facing the Northville district providing he is willing to contribute the necessary time. He says he is. Therefore, we'll vote for PELTZ.

Based upon his brief tenure on the board, we'd have to rate Whitaker the best candidate in the field.

Aside from his obvious qualifications and ability, he has shown a capacity for work and a sensitivity towards community attitudes.

We believe Whitaker's bid to complete the term he has started should be given voter support. For the two-year term our vote goes to WHITAKER.

Frankly, we are not comfortable with any choice among the four candidates for the one-year term. We intend this callous-like appraisal as a constructive criticism. And we caution the winner in this race to test preconceptions against conditions as they exist.

Because he was a candidate last year and he has been an outspoken leader of a group critical of both the school administration and board, we cannot pass over James Lewis without comment.

His penchant for oratory and literature are time-consuming and often confine themselves to finding faults rather than offering solutions. In our opinion he may be more effective as a non-boardmember. We cannot imagine Lewis rallying board support to move forward constructively towards desirable goals.

Both William Downs and Stephanie Ruitter failed to show us a depth of maturity and experience that would be most desirable for board membership.

We believe Downs may harbor some misconceptions born from rumor rather than researched fact.

And Ms. Ruitter waivers uncertainly when challenged for solutions.

Candidate Sharalene Thompson seems zeroed-in on a single subject.

Hopefully, the winner of the one-year race will examine the observations offered here to determine their validity.

By our toss of the coin, Lewis came up the winner.

Speaking for myself

Nude bathing on public beaches?

LOU COY

YES . . .

Emphatically Yes! In my opinion, it should be allowed in restaurants and roller rinks, also, however, one might have a difficult time getting a tan in these locations, so I'll limit my proposal to public beaches.

I believe that it would be best to have a "Birthday Suit Area" separate from the Bathing Suit area, perhaps by erecting a nice redwood fence to separate the two choices, so that those who would be offended by such a display would not have to be uh...exposed.. to it.

Photographic Sketches . . .

By JIM GALBRAITH

Dad's funning

However it is my belief that everyone would benefit from having such an area made available to them on public beaches.

Not only could one tan those areas that were previously doomed to spending a nice warm summer trapped in a prison of cloth with an occasional gritty deposit of sand and seaweed, but, through the increased sale of suntan lotion and Solarcaine, we would be boosting our country's economy, and helping our president realize his dream of a balanced budget by 1981.

And, we'd have a good time in the process. After all, we weren't born in corduroys and golf shirts, so why should we have to spend all our waking hours and warm summer days entrapped in various stuffy garments, when, with a very small investment and potentially fantastic returns, we could get a good tan and help our nation's financial situation in the bargain.

The pros of such a bathing area would far exceed the cons, if you want the uh...bare truth. Citizens for Epidermal Emancipation unite!

Petition your local beach for a "Buff Bullpen" today! Volunteer your services for fence building and sign painting for such an area. The naked truth is...deep down inside, that some of us would love to grin and bare it.

Tom Reese

NO . . .

Nude sunbathing! What'll they think of next? Not that nudity is new — but in public? On the beach? Shades of Scandinavia!

Personally, I think the less we show of ourselves the more interesting we are. I'm not too intrigued with the idea of having to walk blindly (literally) along the beach to avoid seeing things my mother always told me should be covered up.

Granted, with some of the swim wear today, little is left to the imagination, but shouldn't our imagination be stimulated a little? Also, we should be more concerned about our health. If one can catch cold wearing very little clothing, imagine what you could catch wearing none.

Also, one has to take into consideration the fact that too much exposure to the sun can cause skin cancer. Well, believe me, you can't get much more exposure.

And, finally, I guess in all honesty, I must admit I cannot support something that everyone can't do.

Let's face it, some of us definitely could not indulge in nude sunbathing on any beach that wasn't totally private without emptying the entire beach in the process. No, I'm not jealous.

Teachers, union under fire for district problems

To the Editor:

Recently the Northville School Board was presented with the General Fund Budget Forecast for 1977-78. Within the body of this report were some interesting figures that I would like to pass along to those Northville people who may not have had the opportunity to read the report. Keeping these figures in mind may affect our attitudes when contract negotiation time with the teachers' union comes around again.

During the 1976-77 school year we have had 205.3 teachers earning a total of $3,433,576.00. The average pay of our teachers this year was $16,724.67. The teachers work approximately 187 days a year, but are allowed ten days on which they may call in sick. I think it's safe to say that they work a total of 180 days a year. They must be at school for six periods, but must actually teach only five periods of 50-minute duration or a total of 4 hours, 10 minutes. Their workday, then, is 5 hours, but 50 minutes of their day is a free period when they can do whatever they want. Their average hourly rate is $18.58 per hour. Next year, if we retain the same 205.3 teachers, the average salary will be $18,124.69. The average hourly rate next year will be $20.13 per hour.

Most men work approximately 49 weeks or 245 days a year, eight hours a day. That's 1880 hours a year versus the 900 hours a year our teachers work. If you are making $34,930 a year, congratulations! You are earning at the same rate as our Northville teachers. If you get a raise and earn $37,844 next year, you'll be earning at the rate of our average teacher for next year. Of course, for working those extra 980 hours, being accountable for your work at all times, having no tenure to protect you from being fired, and various other benefits... you do get a paid three-week vacation.

I think that a great teacher cannot be overpaid. But let's not kid ourselves; we may have a few great teachers in our school system, we do have many good teachers, but most of our teachers are simply mediocre. We are not paying mediocre salaries to our teachers. It's time we began getting our money's worth. We should expect more than mediocrity in our classrooms. We should expect our teachers to be able to communicate with and gain the respect of their students. We should expect our teachers to be concerned about morale, extra-curricular activities and the overall spirit of our schools.

New contract negotiation time with the teachers' union will be here soon. We cannot give in to more strike demands next time. Some bones need to be thrown in the direction of the students, parents, and taxpayers of Northville. The pile of bones on the teachers' side of the fence is becoming inordinately high. It's time for us to stand behind whoever is on our school board and whoever is our superintendent. It's time to start taking back what we've foolishly given in the past. We let the teachers' union put us over the proverbial barrel.

Name withheld by request

To the Editor:
Well, here we go again. It's that time of year when Northville citizens rise up against their school superintendent, accuse him of all the faults of the system, and take issue with every detail and dollar of his contract. It's a great way to vent frustration, but as usual this furor is directed at the wrong target. There are many things wrong with our schools, but to use Ray Spear as the whipping boy is too simplistic and counterproductive. You have to go deeper to get to the source. Fire Spear, hire another superintendent, and you'll have all the same problems.

Wake up Northville! You're being led down the primrose path by the teachers' union. The Northville Education Association branch of the Michigan Education Association branch of the National Education Association. A massive organization that spends millions of dollars yearly to support candidates for national, state, and local elections, to influence legislation and administrative agency rules that favor teachers.

The union wants higher teacher salaries, greater benefits, limited work rules, elimination of evaluations, a stronger voice by teachers in school operations. They want to dispense with school boards and local property taxes. They want operation and funding of schools to come from Lansing and Washington, so that you and I won't be able to decide anything about the way our schools are run or how much we'll pay for their operation.

Too bad there weren't as many people taking such a vocal interest when our last teacher contract was signed as there are now that the superintendent's contract is up for renewal. Too bad those who complain about his salary haven't stopped to figure how much the average Northville teacher will make in 1978 on an actual hourly basis, and then compare with Ray Spear's hourly rate. They'd find them almost identical!

We have some fine teachers in the Northville system. Dedicated, hardworking, capable educators. And we have some we should have gotten rid of long ago. But the Union doesn't want us to recognize the good ones and weed out the bad. They want all teachers to be considered the same and paid the same, to be free from such onerous tasks as maintaining discipline, to be left alone in the classroom to do as they please without interference by principal, superintendent, school board, or — at least of all — parents.

If your child isn't learning anything in school, just remember that Ray Spear isn't teaching that class. It's being taught by a teacher who is protected by laws and contracts brought about by the Union.

It's the Union's avowed objective to "get" Ray Spear — and they'll be out to "get" any other strong superintendent we might hire to replace him. Only under present law they'll be able to appear at public hearings and, as members of the "public", have a strong voice in whoever is elected.

It's the Union's avowed objective to replace all of the present Board with people who are favorable to their positions. They even interview Board candidates to identify those people's positions and attempt to elicit promises. Then they throw their considerable weight behind the candidates who are favorable to Union objectives.

Talk about "appointing the fox to watch the henhouse", wait until we have a Superintendent and a Board all picked by the Union!

Think about this, Northville: Ray Spear has stood fast against this Union power. He's had 200 teachers bad-mouthing him all over this community. That's tough to combat. So when you pick up your rock to throw at Ray Spear, look around at your fellow rock-throwers. You'll find the Union is there leading the way. And if you don't happen to want the NEA-MEA-NEA running your schools, put down your rock and think a few kind thoughts about the only guy who's been fighting them in Northville. Without your support he's fighting a losing battle, and we're the real losers.

Support millage

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novu urges the voters on Monday, June 13, 1977 to vote YES on the request for .8 of one mill for Schoolcraft College.

This represents .80 cents per $1000 of state equalized valuation or slightly more than $1 a month cost to the typical homeowner in the Schoolcraft College District. Schoolcraft College has served residents of Northville, Plymouth-Canton, Clarenceville, Garden City, and Livonia since it was founded nearly 16 years ago. 90,000 adults have attended classes at the College to date. (This is one out of every three residents in the district.)

The College has had no increase in voted millage in 11 years, operating on a voted 1.77 levy since 1966. Now the College absolutely needs new millage if it is to keep tuition and costs at reasonable low levels, keep continuing to offer essential programs and services, keep maintaining the valuable campus in which taxpayers have made a major investment, and operate needed facilities expansion.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization whose purpose it is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government and to act on selected governmental issues.

Vote YES for Schoolcraft College on June 13.

Neva L. Carter, President
League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novu
459-0441

To the Editor:

I would like to add my support, along with other community leaders, to the Schoolcraft College's campaign to pass a small millage issue on June 13. Schoolcraft College has been serving the residents of our area very well over the last several years. To continue the high quality of this valuable campus, yet keep tuition and costs at a minimum, Schoolcraft finds it necessary to ask for a modest tax increase of eight-tenths of one mill.

Schoolcraft College has my endorsement in seeking this needed increase and I urge all of the citizens of our district to support this small request.

Sincerely,
R. Robert Geake
State Senator

Teachers praised

To the Editor:

Because there is much criticism today for disinterested, uncaring teachers, praise should be given freely to those who are truly involved and do outstanding jobs. Two fine examples are Mrs. Pamela Gove and Mr. Ron Van Horn of Amerman School.

Both are excellent classroom teachers; they control their students, keep them interested, and teach them thoroughly. Both take that 'extra' interest in their pupils as individuals. (Sometimes, it's that 'extra' attention that makes the difference between an eager student and a drop out!)

Mrs. Gove and Mr. Van Horn were in charge of the Safety Patrol at Amerman this year. Just supervising 160+ patrol boys and girls takes extra time. Again they run some a fine job, and helped things run smoothly. Not satisfied to do just what was required, they rewarded the safeties with an overnight outing at Kensington Park to show appreciation for a job well done.

As anyone knows who has camped with groups of youngsters, that was no small reward! Their contracts, certainly didn't call for an overnight — with baseball games, fishing, stories read by the fire, horseback riding, and even plunging clogged toilets. As usual, Mrs. Gove and Mr. Van Horn gave 'extra' because they are fine dedicated teachers who truly care for children.

Many thanks to them for all of their efforts, for that 'extra' that they give so freely, and for the hope they give to parents concerned about developing enthusiastic students!

A special thank you also to Mrs. Crawford, a caring secretary at Amerman who ministers to the needs of the children so well; she too gives 'extra'. She camped overnight with the safeties and took on the tremendous job of chief cook and dishwasher. Her interest and help are deeply appreciated.

Sincerely,
Maureen and Don Settles

Lauds principal

To the Editor,

For the past several months I have read the opinions of parents who have objected to the educational structure used at Silver Springs Elementary School. Nancy Fieldman's techniques have come under the gun. I hope the critics have enjoyed their day in print. Now let's hear from a very satisfied parent who finds Silver Springs School a healthy breath of fresh air.

Nancy Fieldman and staff do not deserve the broadsides of criticism. Let's give credit where it is due. The parents who have problems and complaints probably would have them wherever their children were educated.

I have spent some voluntary hours the past two years in Mary Rochon's K,1 and 2 class. As a result I have some first hand experience in witnessing Nancy Fieldman's methods and Mary Rochon's techniques with the kids, where it counts. Mary Rochon does an excellent job handling this split class. Frankly I just have never seen kids respond any better, nor show as much happiness in the classroom. Their eagerness to learn is what really impresses me the most. If the casual classroom helps to produce these conditions for learning, let's have more Silver Springs.

Sincerely,
Janet L. Brown

Raps newspaper

To the Editors:

Just what do the kids of Novi have to do before they get some recognition from the Novi News.

On May 20th and 21st, 1977, there was a Dance Marathon at Novi High School with proceeds going to Muscular Dystrophy. There were approximately 250 kids from Novi and Northville High Schools who participated and raised $17,824.

Did the Novi News write a story about it? No they did not. There was one picture with Novi kids and one with Northville kids. Why couldn't you have done a feature story?

I'll bet if a teenager had found a gas station you would have rubbed a place for that on the front page. You can't say there wasn't enough going on to make an interesting story.

You could have said Mrs. Sue Madigan and her committees spent at least 10 weeks co-ordinating the dance and Mrs. Madigan spent the full 24 hours plus clean up time the day of the dance. You could have mentioned the fact that Dr. Fetting plus local nurses, made themselves available for the full 24 hours. This was important because without them the dance could not have become reality.

You could have told of the generosity of local merchants who donated items to be auctioned off. You could have mentioned that there were eight bands, (most of them teenagers) who donated their time and talents, one of which was the newly formed Novi Jazz-Rock Ensemble. Last but not least you could have told of all the people who donated food, and their time as chaperones.

I am one Novi resident who would like these kids to know that I am very proud to be able to say "I know some of those kids who raised all that money for kids less fortunate than they"

Eileen Campbell

EDITOR'S NOTE: Complete information about preparations and plans for the Dance Marathon was included in an extensive article May 18 which was accompanied by a picture. A quarter-page follow-up picture reported results of the marathon.

Eight seek three seats

in the term of Robert Mandell who moved out of the school district.

Four people are running for the single year remaining in the term once held by former President Sylvia Gucken who moved to Pennsylvania with her family. Martin Rinehart, who had retired from the board after six years last June, was appointed to fill the vacancy but is not a candidate.

Those running are William Downs, James Lewis, Stephanie Ruiter and Sharalene Thompson.

Lewis was an unsuccessful candidate in last year's race and both he and Ms. Ruiter sought appointment to the two board vacancies filled earlier this year.

Polls open at 7 a.m. at five locations. Precincts 1 and 5 vote at the central administration office, precinct 2 votes at Silver Springs, precinct 3 votes at Winchester, precinct 4 votes at Amerman and precinct 6 votes at Moraine.

If there are no unforeseen happenings, such as a vigorous write-in campaign, school administrator Thomas Goulding said the results should be known shortly after the polls close at 8 p.m.

Whatever the results, the board will wear a far different profile than the one it carried a year ago. Of the seven people who sat on the board then, new members Chris Johnson and Marjorie Sliger have been elected and at least two brand-new members will be elected Monday. The only present board member in the race, Whitaker, has been on the board for barely three months.

Controversy has rocked the Northville School District for several years, dating back to the early 1970's when a voluntary year-round school program split part of the community.

Displeasure grew a few years ago when financial straits and suddenly-stilled enrollment growth forced the closing of school buildings just as three new schools were built.

Two millage issues were defeated before a 3.9 mill levy was approved in April of 1976. School officials now say a further tax increase is needed to avoid program cutbacks.

That hasn't set well with a populace that was riled this fall when they went to the high school for Swine Flu shots and discovered a messy and littered high school with a badly leaking roof.

Many also claim — although school officials steadfastly deny it — that millage promises were not kept.

Because of this, five major areas have evolved as issues in this year's race. They are:

—Confidence in the school's administration and board of education. Five board members have said they would not favor retaining Superintendent Raymond Spear although none is eager to buy up the remaining two years in his three-year contract (See related story for individual views).

—Quality of education. A lack of textbooks, reduced class offerings at all levels and an inconsistent curriculum have come under attack during the campaign.

—Finance. Most candidates agree that more money is needed to run the schools but only two support a millage election this summer. Others say confidence must be restored before a millage can be passed.

—Attitude. Morale is low throughout the district among students, teachers and administrators, say most candidates. The problems must be solved before education can improve, they add.

—High school. Most complaints, from a neglected maintenance program to a teaching staff that is apathetic or embittered, center on the high school. A North Central Evaluation report, while commenting that most departments offered good education, said "negativism" abounded.

School administrators won't argue that some or all of these problems exist, but they are not quite as quick to lay all of the blame on Spear's shoulders.

Principal issue goes public

But he cautioned that such a step could establish a dangerous precedent.

He said he has suggested that the personnel sub-committee of the board should examine the superintendent's file on Tarpinian and make a recommendation to the full board on whether or not to grant a private hearing.

Craft acknowledged that there are "severe problems" at the high school. But he said that the district administrators object to the shortage of notice given the principal and the manner in which it was handled. He said administrators want Tarpinian to be retained as principal for the remainder of his contract (one more year).

The head of the administrator's union admitted that no matter what the evidence might show at a private hearing before the board administrators would accept nothing less than fulfillment of Tarpinian's contract as a principal.

Craft said he had examined the information Spear compiled and does not agree that Tarpinian should have been reassigned.

The high school has been a hotbed of problems involving maintenance, teacher and student attitudes and administrative management.

Craft and his fellow administrators said there was no one who could straighten out the high school problems. They cited bypassing of the principal by staff, students and citizens...the crowded parking lot...condition of school...the five-hour class day with 20 percent of the students not in a classroom and no study halls...and the lack of a second assistant principal as the chief problem-makers for the principal.

Craft said he would lead off the discussion at Monday's forum. Other speakers will include: Martin Kalish, vice president of the National Association of School Administrators; Robert Hall, executive secretary of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals and a resident of Northville; and Tarpinian.

An advertisement inviting the public to Monday's forum was paid for by the administrators' association and appears in this edition of The Record, page 12-A.

Separate fire department near

Plans to end the joint department with the city drew fire from Joseph Fiorelli of the audience.

"Are you saying you are going to leave an experienced fire department and put the township in the hands of inexperienced volunteers who don't really know how to fight fires yet? Our safety is at stake. Right now we're living with professionalism with years of experience. Are you dissatisfied with present fire protection?" he questioned.

A point of contention, discussed before by the board, was brought up: Fiorelli was told that in the past as many as 22 firemen (who are paid per run) have responded to a car call.

Elmer McIntyre, a resident of Franklin Road, said he is dissatisfied with present service, pointing out that it "took the fire department 20 minutes to get to a grass fire across the road by my house."

Ronald Cousineau, who said he finds himself "on both sides of the fence" as a volunteer fireman and township resident, replied that he "hasn't been to a fire that took more than three minutes to respond to."

Questioned by the board regarding what training he had received as a volunteer, Cousineau said he had none "per se" with new firemen being told by others that "we will show you."

The board and the fire report both questioned the present system in areas of training and inspection.

Fiorelli declared the City of Northville's men from the department of public works are "the heart and core of the department with long years of experience."

"Therefore, to demean them because you want your own department isn't playing cricket. You're willing to trade off safety."

By Tuesday's meeting Grier was asked to have a list of township people who would be willing to become volunteer firefighters. He is asking any residents interested to call him.

He also is seeking names of township residents who have firefighting experience.

Northville's Western Six champion and state runner-up hurdler, Dennis Singleton

Happiness is second in Western 6 track

"It was a night of surprises, a night of happy surprises."

Coach Ralph Redmond was bubbling with enthusiasm after watching his Northville track squad compete in last Wednesday's Western Six league meet at Walled Lake Western.

And why not? Despite the cold, wind and drizzle, the Mustangs got outstanding performances from seniors Dennis Singleton, Jim Nowka and Bob Gould and piled up 54 points to finish second to perennial champ Livonia Churchill.

Waterford Mott and Farmington Harrison, who were expected to battle Northville down to the wire for the runner-up spot, finished far behind with 42 and 32 points respectively.

"Our kids came ready to run," beamed Redmond, whose squad only finished fifth in the league meet last year. "They were an electrifying group."

Particularly electrifying was Singleton, who broke both the school and conference records in winning the 120-yard high hurdles.

His 14.25 clocking topped the previous league record by .25 seconds, and it's a record Redmond feels won't be broken for quite a while. Singleton also ran legs on the third place 880 and fifth place 440 relay teams.

Then it was Gould who caught fire, winning the mile run in 4:33.6.

According to Redmond, Gould's surprise victory was a major factor in breaking open the meet for Northville.

"What makes it so amazing is that he ran the two mile before that," said Redmond, referring to Gould's disappointing third place finish in the event he ran away with last year. "To come back in the rain and wind and everything else was just an outstanding performance."

Combined with Brian Turnbull's third place, Gould's win pushed Northville from third to second place, seven points ahead of Mott.

Two events later the Mustangs sealed that spot when Nowka pulled a major upset in the 220.

According to Redmond, Mott's defending champ Mike Wallace was thought to be a shoo-in for that event. However, Nowka, who earlier set a league record in winning the 330-yard low hurdles, edged Wallace out for the victory with a 23.3 clocking. Earl Bingley took third, and suddenly Northville had no more contenders for the runner-up spot.

Despite the impressive individual performances, Redmond called Northville's showing "an overall, team, gutsy performance."

He noted strong efforts from such Mustangs as Brian Prom (long jump, 330 low hurdles, mile relay), Ray Coram (long jump, 440 relay), John Coram (two mile), Bob Sweeney (880 and mile relays, 440), Tim Ellis (discus, shot put, 440 relay), Bingley (100 dash, 220, 880 relay) and Turnbull (mile), as well as from several tracksters who didn't place.

In fact, Northville ran neck-and-neck with Churchill after the field events, with each team picking up 48 points on the track. The Mustangs placed in every running event except the 880, where John Monagle finished out of the money by only .2 seconds.

In field events, though, Redmond's forces collected only six of a possible 80 points, a failing the coach attributed to a lack of adequate facilities.

Noting Churchill's superior indoor field equipment, Redmond expressed concern that his field squad was inhibited more by a lack of proper equipment than by a lack of spirit. Churchill, by contrast, picked up 49½ points in field events.

Redmond, who will turn his track coaching duties over to assistant Ed Gabryes next spring, called this season "one of my greatest experiences, with a group of kids that were really ready to compete."

Singleton shines

Dennis Singleton capped an outstanding track season by taking a second-place in the 120-yard low hurdles at last weekend's state finals.

After winning his 17th and 18th races of the season in the preliminaries and semifinals, Singleton ran a 14.35 in the finals to finish behind only Brett Hanson of Wayne Memorial, who won in 14.2.

To Coach Ralph Redmond's knowledge, the senior's second place was the highest any Northville boy has ever finished in the state meet.

Jim Nowka, a 330-yard low hurdler who also ran for Northville in the states, finished 15th in his event. Ann Dayton finished 22nd in the girls 440 race.

Who's laughing now? Wildcats roar to district crown

Three weeks ago they were the laughingstock of the Southeastern Conference. Today they're not even hearing chuckles.

Novi's Wildcats, who finished this baseball season with a meager 5-16 regular season record, have turned into a group of very serious young ballplayers recently, and their opponents are discovering the consequences — painfully. Last weekend the Wildcats stunned two respectable teams to win a district championship, and this Saturday they're aiming even higher.

"I don't know how much farther we can go," Coach Rick Trudeau mused as he looked ahead to this weekend's regionals at Hartland. Like the "Miracle Mets" of 1969, though, he's pushing the motto "ya gotta believe!"

As recently as three weeks ago, Novi didn't even know what it was like to win. The team Trudeau once mentioned as a potential threat to this year's SEC crown lost its first 13 games, many of them heartbreakers.

In a crucial game with Brighton in mid-May, however, the Wildcats let loose with a 7-3 victory that deprived the Bulldogs of a crack at the league championship. Two games later, they knocked off Milford Lakeland, 5-3, and ever since the season has become increasingly brighter.

After closing out the regular season with a win over SEC foe South Lyon, Novi defeated Dearborn Robichaud last Wednesday in the pre-districts, 7-3. Jeff Laverty, who made his pitching debut in the victory over Brighton, went six innings for his second victory. Rick Faulkner finished up for him in the seventh. All-league outfielder Randy Wroten went 3-for-3 at the plate, knocking in two runs with a pair of homers.

In the first game of the districts at Novi Saturday, the Wildcats faced a Melvindale squad that sported a 17-9 record. Laverty, who's normally a second baseman, came through in the clutch again, though, as he pitched a three-hitter to lead Novi to a 7-1 triumph and hike his personal record to 3-0.

The Wildcats collected nine hits off Melvindale's star hurler, Robby Costa, including three in a big three-run second inning. Wroten's two-out, bases-loaded single accounted for two of the runs.

Then Greg Porter bunted a ball back to the pitcher. Costa fielded it cleanly and threw to the plate in an attempt to cut down Jeff Bunker coming home from third base. His catcher dropped the throw, though, and suddenly the Wildcats had a 3-0 lead.

Melvindale shaved the gap to two with a run-scoring double in the bottom of the second, but Novi came back to score once in the third on a bases-loaded walk to Steve Weber, once in the fourth on a Wroten home run, and twice in the fifth on Rick Pretty's run-scoring single and a throwing error to put the game out of reach.

In the district championship against Inkster Cherry Hill, a school with a 14-9 record that finished as runners-up in the Tri-River League, Wildcat pitching once again prevailed. Faulkner pitched a two-hitter in leading Novi to a 3-0 victory.

All three Novi runs came in the third inning, one on a single by Laverty that scored Porter from third and two on a bases-loaded single by freshman Bill Bishop. Bishop, who was brought up from the freshman squad for the districts, went 3-for-5 in the games against Melvindale and Cherry Hill.

Trudeau was ecstatic over the district wins. "I think they (Melvindale and Inkster) just thought they could walk in and go crazy on us," he said, noting Novi's relatively poor record.

"The whole atmosphere has changed around here now, though. The school's all excited."

The Wildcats play Fenton in Hartland at 12:30 Saturday in the opening round of the regionals. The winner then advances to the regional final against the Bishop Gallagher-Anchor Bay victor.

Clutch win gives title to netters

Winning under pressure was old hat this season to Northville's number three doubles team of Lance Carter and John Marzonie.

So it came as no surprise that the two sophomores came through in the clutch again Monday in helping the Mustangs win the second half of their second straight Western Six tennis title.

With Livonia Churchill and Northville tied at 13 points apiece in the league meet at Northville High School Monday, the Carter-Marzonie team and Churchill's number three doubles were facing each other in the final match of the day. Northville had already clinched its third conference title in four years by virtue of its first-place finish in dual meets combined with the certainty of finishing at least second in the league meet.

A matter of pride was at stake in winning this one, though. According to Coach Bob Simpkn, a second-place finish in the league meet would have been "anticlimactic" after the team's 17-0 dual meet record this season.

After edging the Livonia team 7-6 in the first set, Carter and Marzonie battled Churchill to 4-4 before falling behind 40-30 in the ninth game of the second set. Churchill, one serve away from a crucial game point, double faulted, however, and from there Carter and Marzonie went on to win the games, set (6-4), match and tournament (14-13).

Earlier this year the Carter-Marzonie team, who were undefeated in 17 dual meets this season, won in a similar fashion to give the Mustangs a 4-3 victory over Farmington Harrison in an important conference clash.

The only other Northville winner in

Single's ace Doug Castillo

2 named as All-stars

Talent was plentiful but victories weren't for this season's Northville baseball squad.
Five Mustangs were named to the Western Six All-Conference team last week despite a fourth-place (4-6) finish.

League champ Plymouth Canton, with seven players named, was the only other squad with more than three All-Stars.
Outfielder Nick Hamp, a unanimous selection last year, and catcher Greg Armstrong made the first team while pitcher Dave Heckerl, outfielder Don Dales and second baseman Doug Marzonie placed on the second team. All are seniors except Marzonie, a junior.
Armstrong led all hitters with a .363 batting average and three home runs while Hamp, who batted .318, led Northville in stolen bases with 10. Marzonie, a .304 hitter, scored 18 runs to lead that department while Dan Thomas, a junior designated hitter, led the team with 18 RBIs.
John Wizzgird maintained the lowest earned run average among the starting pitchers at 2.41 and Heckerl, with a 7-6 won-lost record, had the most pitching victories.
The Mustangs return five varsity lettermen to next year's squad, which will be captained by Marzonie.

Tennis title

the league meet was number one singles Doug Castillo, who defeated Steve Pasley of Plymouth Canton 6-2, 7-5 in a hard-hitting final that matched the two top singles players in the Western Six.
Number three singles Rudy Horst and number four singles Charlie Whiteside both lost to Farmington Harrison players in the finals, while number two singles Greg McFadden lost in the semis to a Churchill netter.
The number one doubles team of Steve Laffler-Steve Pyett and number two doubles Jeff Hodge-John Dyer both lost to Churchill teams in the finals to set up Carter and Marzonie for the show-down match.
Simpson will be losing three of his top four singles players to graduation this year, but both Castillo and the Carter-Marzonie team will be returning next season. And that's bad news for the rest of the Western Six.

Win twice in Midland

Number one singles man Doug Castillo and the number three doubles team of Lance Carter and John Marzonie collected Northville's only two points at the state tennis finals in Midland Saturday.
Castillo defeated Midland High's number one singles player 6-3 and 6-2 before bowing 2-6, 1-6 to the tournament's number two seed in the second round.
Carter and Marzonie beat Lincoln Park's doubles team 6-1 and 6-4 before losing 6-3, 2-6, 2-6 to Grosse Pointe's third-seeded team.

Wildcats named

Three Novi players were named to SEC All-Conference baseball teams last week.
In girls' softball pitcher Anne Robinson and outfielder Sue Beall made the second team. In boys' baseball outfielder Randy Wroten, who will attend the University of Michigan next year on a baseball scholarship, placed on the second team also.

Jaycee meet is Saturday

This Saturday is the Sixth Annual Jaycee Junior Champs Track Meet, at Northville High School, with track and field events being offered to anyone between the ages of eight and 18. The meet starts at 10 a.m., with registration at 9:30.

Sponsored by the local jaycees, the meet includes five different age groupings: pee wee (8-10), junior (11-12), prep (13-14), intermediate (15-16) and senior (17-18).

Medals will go to winners in the intermediate and senior divisions, while winners in the other three brackets will receive ribbons.
Competitors may wear either gym shoes or quarter-inch spikes. Youngsters from the entire Brighton-South Lyon-Walled Lake-Northville-Plymouth area are invited to participate.

Trip to California was really beautiful

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Nothing like having summer before spring... get out the snuggles, kids, it's downright cold!

So cold in fact, I can't even show off a beautiful tan obtained on Malibu Beach last week. It's all hidden under coats and sweaters.

Spent a gorgeous week in sunny LA although my first impression of the climate was one of shock. Skies Saturday morning were dull and a look from the hotel window made me blink twice... people were trotting around wearing winter coats!

Somewhere in the propaganda fed to me, I got the impression California was sunny and warm. Heavy winter coats did not enter that picture...especially since I had left super hot Detroit without so much as a sweater.

A trip outside convinced me that Californians were nuts... it was a balmy day, hinting of warmer things to come and once the sun came out, skies cleared up making a gorgeous day.

Apparently the golden west needs some 30 below zero days to convince themselves that 65 was indeed warm.

What followed the introduction to LA was a week of trying to cram all the sights into what proved not to be enough hours. It is now understandable why people boast so about the area. I even realized where the stanza "purple mountains majesty" in the song "America the Beautiful" came from.

Another shock came when I discovered that LA was not in the flats... the countryside can't even be considered hilly... those are genuine mountains. A little snow to keep the skiers happy and LA would be a total paradise. And those mountains at twilight take on a purple hue.

LA freeways are not worse than Detroit expressways as far as cars are concerned... but it sure does help to know where one is going. They may be somewhat confusing but that is offset by their beauty. All beautifully landscaped, they make Detroit's look yucky!

The city itself makes Detroit look sick too. Some weeks back another Wixom resident mentioned that during a trip through the south she noticed how clean the countryside and cities were. On returning to Michigan, she said the site of litter was appalling.

How right she was. There was very little litter to be seen in the roadsides in California.

For that matter, downtown LA is virtually litter-free and we certainly did not keep our trips strictly to Wilshire Boulevard. If there is anything Michigan really needs, it's one big clean-up campaign!

It was a fantastic journey and we were treated to the royal relative tours by sister, brother-in-law and their family. There was Disneyland, the tar pits, Solvang, a small Danish community near Santa Barbara, Busch Gardens and on and on. Certainly a week was just too short!

Getting back to Wixom, June 18 will be a big day. It's the day for the annual Juhannes celebration at the Finn Camp. It's also the day for free EKG and blood pressure tests at Fire Station 1 on Wixom Road.

For the first time, the Wixom Fire Department and Novi Ambulance service will offer the tests and free refreshments to anyone that stops by between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Easy enough and convenient... have the tests first and then head to the Finn Camp for a night of socializing.

An opening program followed by some traditional Finnish goodies, dancing, climaxed by the humongous bonfire at midnight, are all a part of the annual mid-summer celebration at the Finn Camp on Loon Lake Road. It's great fun!

And it's nice to know that six Wixom firemen and two wives completed a ten-week advanced first aid and CPR course. Included in the training was a session in the Western pool for water safety and the use of an old banged-up car for on-the-spot training for emergency procedures after accidents.

Ann Potter and Pat Spencer were the two gals that successfully completed the course and are not certified to assist the firemen in emergency situations.

Although all the firemen have not totally completed the first aid courses, many of them are now prepared to answer any emergency call. With the addition of Ann and Pat, we should be in good shape.

Novi board okays school purchases

The purchase of equipment for the new high school totaling $204,000 was approved by the Novi School Board at its last meeting.

The equipment purchase was as recommended by the school district administration which had met with teachers in paring down an earlier equipment request which would have totaled $288,644.

Following are the amounts of equipment to be purchased in several categories: Science $41,181; music, $41,515; art, $5,977; social studies, $2,000; home economics, $7,500; special education, $1,000; library, $10,000; audio visual, $18,741; language lab, $20,000; electronics, $12,000; radio, $25,000.

In addition to the $184,900 in instructional equipment, the board approved purchase of $7,825 worth of office equipment and $12,000 in custodial equipment.

According to Assistant Superintendent Dr. William Barr, the items budgeted for "can do the job".

"In answering for seven or eight departments they would probably agree 99 percent," he said.

Trustee Ray Murphy, who said he would address his comments to the music department items because he was familiar with that area, said that "there are certain items missing."

He maintained "We're going to have a lot of holes in the music department."

Dr. Barr responded that "What we try to do is equip it so it will meet most teachers' needs."

Referring to the building and site fund from where the equipment money will come, Trustee Robert Wilkins said "My concern was that the board will have to wrestle with what's left of that $600,000. At this point in time, I'll go on the basis that the administration and faculty have had a lot of arm wrestling."

"I'm not saying I agree 100 percent, but we should get this off the ground," said Murphy.

"It was our consensus the youngsters would have a good program with what you have before you," summed up Superintendent Dr. Gerald Kratz. "That's why they're (teachers) not here in droves."

Board approved going out for bids or soliciting quotations unanimously, 6-0.

Campaign workers

Three of the citizens assisting the Schoolcraft College millage campaign at a recent meeting of the steering committee are (from left), Jim Fountain of Plymouth; Ed Milligan, general chairman and Livonia resident, and Joseph Fiorilli of Northville. A community based effort is being conducted in each of the college's five member districts in an effort to secure passage of the June 13 millage request.

Pursell gives support to Schoolcraft millage

Groups and individuals throughout the college district, including Congressman Carl D. Pursell, have given public endorsement to the Schoolcraft millage being voted on June 13.

Support for the eight-tenths of one mill increase had been extended by the Livonia Education Association, the Garden City PTA Coordinating Council and the Northville Township Board of Trustees.

It has also been endorsed by the League of Women Voters of Livonia, Northville, Plymouth and Canton, by the executive board of the 15th Congressional District Republicans and the Political Action Committee of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce.

In his letter of support to Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote, Congressman Pursell observed the college "has provided quality higher education, close to home, and at reasonable tuition rates." He concludes that it "needs and deserves" the millage increase, noting that it will cost each taxpayer a small amount, but do a great deal for the college.

Congressman Pursell described Schoolcraft as "one of our most valuable community resources."

All nine candidates seeking election to the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees have endorsed the millage. It also has the backing of the Observer Newspapers, the Northville Record and the Campus Globe, Schoolcraft's student newspaper.

Other campus-related endorsements have been extended by the Sigma Beta Club and the Schoolcraft College Student Association.

About our servicemen

Navy Seaman Daniel J. Phelan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelan of 387 Welch, Northville, recently participated in the major NATO exercise "Dawn Patrol '77," in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is serving as a crew member aboard the replenishment oiler USS Kalamazoo, homeported in Mayport, Florida.

The two-week exercise was designed to test the ability of NATO forces to provide rapid reinforcement of southern Europe.

Twenty-four ships from the U.S. Sixth Fleet joined with naval units from Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom to form the naval component of "Dawn Patrol '77." Air and land forces were composed of units from the U.S., the Netherlands, Belgium, Italy, West Germany and the United Kingdom.

"Dawn Patrol '77" was directed by Italian Admiral Luigi Tomasuolo, commander-in-chief, Allied Forces, Southern Europe. The Sixth Fleet units were under the operational command of Vice Admiral Harry D. Train, II, in his NATO capacity as Commander, Naval Striking and Support Forces, Southern Europe.

The exercise provided training in tactical air operations, electronic warfare tactics, anti-surface operations and reconnaissance, and included a major amphibious landing on Sardinia.

A 1974 graduate of Northville High School, Phelan joined the Navy in November 1975.

Danny R. Pflugh, son of Milton Bray Pflugh of Northville, recently was promoted to Army Private First Class while serving with the 71st Maintenance Battalion in Furth, Germany.

Private Pflugh is a storage supplyman in the battalion's 240th Supply and Service Company. He entered the Army in June 1976.

Arrest made during lumber heist

In Wixom . . .

A 31 year old Union Lake man was arrested June 3 hiding in some bushes at Hidden Creek Subdivision after allegedly being involved in the theft of plywood and boards.

According to police reports, officers received a call of a suspicious pickup truck in the subdivision and upon arriving, found a pickup truck backed up between two homes under construction.

Inside of the pickup was a load of lumber. Officers then saw two men running from the site. With assistance from Milford and Walled Lake, officers found one subject lying in the bushes. He was arrested and transported to the Walled Lake Police Department.

Police obtained a warrant on Clyde Hallon, 31, of Union Lake who was arrested before Judge Gene Schmelz in 52nd District Court, Walled Lake, Saturday. Hallon was held at the Oakland County Jail on $2,500 personal bond while awaiting arraignment on other outstanding warrants from White Lake Township and Kensington Park.

Found on the pickup truck were 21 sheets of plywood valued at $168 along with other lumber.

Just five days before, 18 sheets of plywood had been stolen from Hidden Creek. In addition, $1400 worth of plywood had been stolen from the area during the past few weeks.

Between 4 and 8 a.m. May 27 a Lafayette base radio valued at $176 and a $30 socket wrench set and a $329 Craftsman vacuum cleaner were taken from a vehicle parked in the 31000 area of South Wixom Road. An ash tray with $20 to $25 in change was also taken.

At the same location, taken from a barn were a Toro lawn mower, a second lawn mower, a power edger, a tool box and assorted tools. Police are investigating both theft reports.

May 27 a 27 year old Wixom man was taken to Botsford Hospital after reportedly slashing his wrists. The man was allegedly intoxicated and had become depressed after arguing with his wife about her leaving him.

A 19 inch color portable TV, a Pioneer receiver and turntable, EPI speakers and a ring with a total value of $850 were taken from a home in the 30000 area of Beck Road May 31. A front screen was removed to gain entry. Several bottles of liquor and a green pillow were also taken.

In Novi . . .

A fight involving several youths apparently mushroomed into an automobile chase which ended with the arrest of one youth on charges of assault and battery and resisting arrest.

Arrested was Daniel Ledford, 17, of Plymouth. He was released on $1,000 personal bond by 52nd District Court Judge Gene Schmelz after standing mute to both charges.

According to police reports, officers arrested Ledford after receiving a call May 27 of a fight followed by a car hitting another car and then a chase. Officers using flashers stopped a car on Heathergreene with the driver screaming that the driver of the second car was trying to kill him.

The second car, driven by Ledford, pulled into a driveway where he attempted to turn around and flee despite attempts by officers to stop the vehicle. The car struck the grill of one patrol vehicle before an officer was able to slip the car out of gear to stop it. Ledford had to be bodily removed from the vehicle, according to reports.

According to the complainant, Ledford had allegedly been fighting with him and friends and had told the group he was going to get some friends and "kill them".

Ledford reportedly found the subjects at the Willowbrook Market on 10 Mile and allegedly slapped one and threatened them. At that point all of the subjects got out of the vehicle to stop the fight at which point Ledford reportedly ran back to his car yelling he'd kill them. Before the complainant could shut his car door, Ledford allegedly drove his vehicle into the driver's door of the other vehicle at which point the victim drove off without his passengers.

The chase followed and ended on Heathergreene south of 10 Mile. Statements from witnesses verified the information given by the complainant.

The charge of resisting arrest is a misdemeanor subject to a maximum of two years and/or $1,000 fine while assault and battery is a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of 90 days and/or $100 fine.

A breaking and entering reportedly occurred over the weekend at a home in the 40000 area of 11 Mile. Taken was a portable black and white television, assorted silver, projector, color television, rifle, shotgun, coins, compressor and chain saw with a total value of $2,650.

Equipment used by a computer repairman and valued at $800 was stolen from a vehicle parked in the 2000 area of West Lake Drive May 31-June 1.

Jerome Golochowicz, who was found guilty of the murder of a Novi man last year, pled guilty in Wayne County Circuit Court May 31 to the murder of an out-state man, Douglas Parowitz. While sentencing has not been pronounced, it is expected that it will be a concurrent with the natural life sentence Golochowicz is already serving in the Novi murder.

A sentence of four years in prison has been handed down by a federal magistrate to Kenneth Maxwell, a Novi insurance salesman who pled guilty to one count of defrauding a client by turning in a false change of policy. He was originally charged with 12 counts of mail fraud spanning 1972-76.

A 1977 pickup truck stolen from the state highway car pool area at US-23 and I-96 was found engulfed in flames on Meadowbrook Road north of Grand River May 31.

A seven-week-old toy poodle valued at $200 was stolen from Pets and Stuff, 43500 Grand River June 2.

According to police reports, the complainant told officers that a woman 40-45 years of age was in the store near the area where the poodle was kept. The woman, after a short time, started for the door and when an employee asked if she could help, the woman replied without turning around that she was "just looking at the little animals". A short while later the poodle was found missing.

Evalee Coburn, 47, of Walled Lake and Karel Whitaker, 42, of 1068 Grace in Northville were both taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia following an accident at 2:35 p.m. last Wednesday.

The accident occurred at Nine Mile and Novi roads.

According to officers, the Coburn vehicle was northbound on Novi Road and skidded into the southbound lane when it attempted to stop for another vehicle which had stopped for the amber light. At the same moment, the Whitaker vehicle which was southbound on Novi Road came through the intersection to the right of a vehicle that was turning and struck the Coburn vehicle nearly head-on.

Charges are pending against Mrs. Coburn.

In Township . . .

A 15-year-old Northville youngster told Northville Township Police he was the victim of a felonious assault during the evening of May 31. The boy told police he was riding his bike along the side of a building near the Cap and Cork Party Store on Five Mile when two older youths jumped from some nearby bushes.

The boy said one of the assailants stood in front of the bike with the second to one side. Demanding money from the boy, he was knocked to the ground and when the assailants could find none, they took his tennis shoes and fled.

Police are continuing their investigation of the case.

Failing to stop at a red traffic light was the cause of a two car collision at Six Mile and Northville Road on the afternoon of Memorial Day.

A car driven by Regina Polley of Plymouth entered the intersection against the traffic light striking a car driven by Doris Nicopolis of Northville. Mrs. Nicopolis received only minor injuries.

A passenger in the Polley car, Esther Shuttuck, suffered more severe injuries and was transported by ambulance to St. Mary Hospital for treatment.

Four young patients from the Northville State Hospital, ranging in age from 14 to 16 and all considered dangerous, were found missing from the facility Saturday night.

Of the four, two have been returned to the hospital. The other two male patients are still being sought by Michigan State Police.

A patient considered dangerous and committed on a 60-day court order left the grounds of Northville State Hospital after being given a privilege card at 9:30 Saturday morning.

The patient was located at a Detroit address after creating a disturbance. He was returned to the hospital by the Detroit Crisis Center.

Although Northville Township Police could not locate the bullet inside the building, it is believed a rifle shot was the cause for a broken window at the Reef Manufacturing Company on Seven Mile Road.

The incident was discovered Sunday afternoon.

Police also investigated a malicious destruction of property complaint at Pappa Gepetos Restaurant at the Northville Plaza Saturday. Two holes were found in a triple pane window valued at $250.

The holes were believed to have been made by stones propelled by a sling-shot.

A 10-speed men's bicycle was taken from in front of a home on Jamestown Court Saturday night. The bike was valued at $120.

In Northville . . .

Northville City Police are investigating a breaking and entering on Linden which was discovered by a neighbor checking the home early Saturday morning.

Owners of the home were out of town at the time of the incident which is believed to have occurred between 1 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. the next morning.

The home was found by police to have been totally ransacked although a complete list of missing valuables has not yet been compiled. A window air conditioning unit had been removed and was found on the floor of one of the rooms, apparently broken when it was dropped.

Approximately $800 in antique guns and coins were removed in an earlier breaking and entering at a home on East Chigwidden. Police were called to the residence on May 31 when owners, returning from out of town, found the home ransacked.

Entrance was thought to have been made through a garage door forced open by using the leg from a patio table. Burglars then entered the home itself after forcing a second door to the kitchen area, finally leaving the home through a sliding glass doorwall.

Four tires, on a car parked behind the Old Mill restaurant on East Main were found punctured with the assailant apparently using a knife. The owner valued the flattened tires at $120.

Councilmen shocked

'Northville exceeds capacity'

When is enough sewer not enough? Apparently, in Northville it's right now. City councilmen have been told that not only is the city's sewer capacity insufficient for its projected ultimate population of 9,000 it's already overtaxed with just 5,700 people.

City officials found the county's report "shocking," pointing out that at the time Northville bought capacity (3.6 cfs) in the sewer interceptor it was told the capacity would be sufficient to carry it through ultimate development.

Not so, said Duane Egeland, of Wayne County Department of Public Works when he appeared at Monday's council meeting.

He suggested the 3.6 cfs recommendation made to the city was not meant as sufficient capacity, but rather as a projection of possible future need.

Council members expressed concern that while it had purchased in excess of its needs at the time and other communities had ...purchased less, Northville now finds itself short and other communities in excess. They questioned the validity of the sewage use tests developed by the county.

Egeland explained that its formula was based on use of water, i.e., the more water used by a community it contributes to the sewer. Original projections were based on the premise that Northville residents would use 100 gallons per day per person. Now, however, that rate is running closer to 150 gallons, Egeland said.

Calculations by the county indicate that Northville is one of five communities that have exceeded their purchased capacity in the interceptor — even though its tables show Northville purchased 3.6 cfs for a population of 9,000.

Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, and Wayne are the other communities listed as above capacity. In a letter to the council, Egeland said: "The staff evaluation indicates that (1) six municipalities are at or above their purchased capacity, (2) eleven municipalities are under the purchased capacity, and (3) the system, as a whole, is at 77.2 of its design capacity...."

The irony of these findings is that while Northville has been worried that Novi may be using in excess of its capacity, thus endangering Northville's purchased use of the interceptor, it now finds itself in a shortage position while Novi is listed at below capacity.

However, Egeland admitted that when the 12 Oaks Shopping Center opens in Novi it could have a serious affect.

Similarly, when Northville Township's lease for additional capacity with Livonia runs out, the township could find itself having possibly cut-off sewer users of the township now serviced by this "borrowed" Livonia capacity, he suggested.

Because it doubts the validity of the county's findings, city officials are to meet with the county to secure an outline as to how it can make its own independent usage checks.

Calculating sewage use by water purchased, council members argued, may not be accurate because the city is serving a number of township customers. Water sold to the township cannot be counted against the city's sewer use, they reasoned.

"It's inconceivable," said Councilman Paul Vernon, "that Northville can be using that much capacity."

Most critical was Councilman Paul Folino, who agreed with Mayor A. M. Allen that the county probably had not deliberately misled Northville. "I don't think they are inflating their figures," he said.

Improve school system

Varied group has single objective

A variety of candidates are seeking the three Northville board of education seats that will be filled during Monday's annual school elections.

Four, ages 34 and 35, were born within a year of each other. The other four range in age from 40 to 50.

The candidates have lived in the district for as few as two years to as many as 25 years and have anywhere from one to seven children.

There are five men and three women (the present board has five men and two women). There are two teachers and an ex-teacher, two salesmen and a housewife who sells real estate, a librarian and an advertising executive.

Some have long been active in school business, some have actively sought a spot on the board before, some say education is their business and some freely admit that this is their first foray into the affairs of the Northville school district.

What they have in common is a professed interest in the education of Northville children.

Here is a sketch of each candidate, based on candidates' night appearances and answers to questions from The Record which appeared in full in last week's issue.

First, the four-year term race.

RICHARD HERBEL

A teacher in the Dearborn system, Herbel, 46, has lived in the district for eight years. He said he has witnessed a steady decline in curriculum and notes a lack of textbooks and a lack of homework. He's also concerned by what he sees as an exodus to private and parochial schools.

The Northville system would be more attractive, he says, if the following program were adopted — a traditional approach to education, more discipline, six-hour day in the high school, better communication and planning, effective career planning, improved maintenance and sequential classes in the high school.

He's against a millage election this year and thinks Raymond Spear should be replaced as superintendent, but he does not favor buying up the remaining two years in Spear's contract.

CHARLES PELTZ

The other half of the two-man race, Peltz, 35, is an account executive with Federal Mogul and has lived in the district for five years. An active member of a citizens advisory group, Peltz says Northville students should be compared with those in similar socio-economic backgrounds and not with the entire state.

Peltz sees the major problems of the district as a lack of trust in the administration, a lack of planning by the board, the host of problems at the high school and a lack of discipline.

A millage issue would not pass this year, he says, so the district should concentrate on doing what it can do well.

He's one candidate who would consider buying up Spear's contract. If the district truly believes a change would improve the district, the cost should not be a deterrent, he says.

PHYLLIS LEMON

Mrs. Lemon, a housewife who sells real estate, says the district — administrators, teachers, school board, parents and students — must pull together.

She says there are many teachers doing excellent jobs, but she is concerned with the union. She wants teachers to be accountable and the power behind education to be shifted back to parents. She notes that the amount the district pays toward teachers' salaries and fringes has doubled since 1971.

She places an emphasis on academic achievement and increased discipline. Mrs. Lemon, 43, says lack of money is a major problem, but she does not favor a millage issue at this time. Children should not be used as pawns during millage elections, she adds.

Mrs. Lemon says the problems in the district are deeper than one man. The community's spirit should be "Yes, we can."

DOUGLAS WHITAKER

The only board member among the candidates (he was appointed three months ago), Whitaker, 45, is one of two candidates who would support a millage increase.

The three biggest problems, he says, are a lack of trust in the administration and school board, the need to upgrade the high school and the need to control the rate in which the cost of instruction rises.

As deputy director of the Wayne-Oakland Public Library system, Whitaker said an aggressive administrator is preferable to a passive one, but says that also requires an aggressive board, which the public has a right to expect. Students, he said, also have a right to expect an opportunity to learn.

Considering the school's financial problems, Whitaker said he could not consider paying off an administrator's contract.

Here are the four candidates for the one-year term.

WILLIAM DOWNS

Downs, Midwest market manager for Comten, Inc., says he can bring a businesslike approach to the board.

He believes the dual calendar was the beginning of the controversy in the district and he thinks future decisions on the calendar should be put to a public vote. In addition, Downs, 34, says the board must represent the taxpayer and he sees a need for sequential curriculum in elementary grades.

A father of six, he sees discipline as a problem in the high school. He also sees a need to stem the tide of district residents who send their children to private schools.

Downs does not believe a millage

COMMUNICATIONS: City Manager read letter from Virginia Smith, 419 Yerkes, regarding VFW parking. A report will be made at the next regular meeting.

City Manager read letter from Peter Winter, project chairman for the Jaycee "Soap Box Derby". The Eighth Annual Soap Box Derby is tentatively set for Saturday, June 25th and will be held on N. Center between Ely and Galway.

Mayor recommended granting permission since it is a worthwhile project and there has been no problems in the past with traffic.

Motion by Councilman Vernon supported by Councilman Nichols to approve Eighth Annual Soap Box Derby scheduled for June 25 under the control of the City Manager and Police Department.

Carried unanimously.

Letter received from John Bennett, Chairman, House Roads and Bridges Committee informing Northville of a Public Hearing June 6, 10:00 A.M. at Schoolcraft College for 1976 progress report, 1-275 noise barriers, 1 275 bike path.

CITY BUDGET ON 1977-78 CITY BUDGET Mayor Allen opened public hearing on 1977-78 City Budget.

Scottie Strackan of 540 Horton felt that an increase of 2.1 mills was too heavy and asked why not a 1 mill increase.

Councilman Nichols asked what services he thought the City should cut.

Councilman Vernon stated there is no surplus in our current budget to carry over — due in part to the severe winter.

City Manager reviewed budget 14 mills would be needed to keep services at current level. The proposed 2.1 mills has reduced current services.

Mayor Allen attributes increase in part to high insurance costs.

Councilman Folino entered at 8:15 P.M.

Mr. Strackan questioned where City finds money to purchase property for parks and parking lots.

City Manager explained for example the purchase of Hutton and Main Street property was purchased for public parking, and the parking assessment system will result in downtown businesses paying for the lot.

Councilman Folino explained insurance policy increases are due in a large part to no-fault.

Mr. Adams of 960 Allen Drive questioned figures in budget and felt services should be cut to lower millage.

Councilman Nichols stated Township has not carried own cost for joint services in past which has been a burden to City residents.

Councilman Johnston stated that the Racetrack brings in equivalent of 12 mills, otherwise City taxes would be up to Charter limit or services would be drastically curtailed.

Mayor Allen stated Council takes into consideration the school millage when City millage is set.

Sam Kunst of 568 Langfield stated he wants taxes cut.

Councilman Vernon asked him to show where we can do this without adversely affecting services.

Councilman Johnston responded to Mr. Kunst's letter to the Editor of Northville Record.

Mr. Kunst questioned library budget increase of 33 percent.

City Manager responded that this was due to increased rent ($4,000) and funding community service librarian ($11,000) when CETA funding runs out in September.

At the proposed 129 mills the City services will be cut by at least 3 CETA employees unless federal funding is continued.

Mr. Strackan asked how many employees the City employed.

The City Manager itemized 46 full time employees.

election would be successful. The district, he says, cannot afford the $90,000 cost of buying up the remainder of the superintendent's contract.

JAMES LEWIS

An advertising executive, Lewis was an unsuccessful candidate for board election last year and appointment this year. A frequent critic of the board and administration, Lewis says that leadership, communication and caring about education are needed to bring the district back to the prime it enjoyed five or six years ago.

Lewis, 50, has used as an analogy a fictional Ray's Garage where supervisors send memos, mechanics bicker, business decreases and prices go up.

The only solution, he says, is to fire the manager. He would prefer that it be done amicably, but until it is, says millage attempts are doomed.

Lewis says the board should not make offers, such as the six-hour day at the high school, until it knows it can pay for them.

STEPHANIE RUITER

Mrs. Ruiter, a 25-year resident of Northville and a three-year spectator at school board meetings, says the board has been too anxious to please the whole world.

The district's attitude and finances are two of the leading problems, she believes.

She also offers a five-point plan for improving the high school — a parking lot attendant paid with student parking fees, a second assistant principal, a six-hour day, a concentrated maintenance program and a philosophy of expecting students to respect the building.

She is opposed to a millage request this year. She also says she has recently changed her mind about the superintendent and believes his diligence and good intentions are no longer enough. She is 35 and a former teacher.

SHARALENE THOMPSON

A musical consultant, Mrs. Thompson, 35, is concerned about the lack of continuity among elementary textbooks — particularly reading and science.

By switching publishers in reading, she says, it's possible for a child to completely skip a reading skill.

The quality of curriculum, the quality of the administration and a positive, honest communication system are her biggest concerns.

If the district can prove the need for funds, she says it should make a millage request to insure a first class education. She's in favor of reassigning the superintendent.

She said regional bargaining is not favored by most teachers and predicted that strikes will be a thing of the past if a bill providing for teacher licensing is approved.

Publish 6-8-77

The Northville board of education is expected to call for a July 30 millage election at a special meeting tonight (Wednesday) beginning at 7:30.

The amount of the additional millage request will probably not be decided until the board's regular meeting on June 27, according to Superintendent Raymond Spear.

By then, the board will have to decide if it wants enough money to maintain its present program or to try and gain the funds to reinstate features that have been eliminated in previous budget cuts.

Doing the former would mean about a 1½ mill increase or a $37 tax hike on a $50,000 home. Doing the latter would require a millage increase of about 3½ mills.

School officials say that the present millage rate — in addition to state, federal and county aid — will provide about $6.9 million next year. That's $200,000 more than this year's budget but about a quarter-million dollars less than the $7.2 million needed to maintain the program for next year.

Without a tax increase, several cut-backs — including 10 fulltime teaching positions — will have to be made, according to school officials.

Even with the tax boost to produce a $7.2 million budget, such items as a six-hour day at the high school, an expanded junior high school program and instructional music in elementary grades would be out of financial reach.

To fund these programs and to restore critical cuts in the capital outlay and maintenance budgets, school board members are taking a serious look at asking for three or four mills.

A 3.5 mill increase would produce about $560,000 in additional funds. It should also eliminate the need to ask for extra millage again next year.

At a budget session two weeks ago, Spear was instructed to determine the earliest date that a millage election could be held. Because of an election for state representative, the millage try can't be held until the end of July. The July 30 date was selected because it is a Saturday.

Many people, including several board members and board candidates, have expressed doubts that a millage issue of any size can pass this summer.

In April of 1976, the district passed a 3.9 mill issue which brought the operational millage to its present 32.8 level. Another 7.9 mills are levied for debt retirements making a total school tax of about 40 mills or $1000 on a $50,000 home.

Vote $750 for Fourth

Request of the Northville Jaycees for $750 from Northville Township to help with expenses for the Fourth of July celebration was approved at the May 31 meeting of Northville Township trustees.

The board acted after receiving an opinion from its attorney, Donald C. Morgan, that such monies may be expended from the general fund for proper observance of Independence Day. An amendment to state statutes in 1975, he stated, makes it possible to appropriate funds for celebration of Armistice, Independence and Memorial days.

The Light Touch

by ANN L. ROY

Here's a little known dramatic moment in the life of the great inventor, Thomas Edison. For months he had been laboring to build a workable incandescent bulb. He met failure after failure. Finally, late one night, success came. What a thrill he felt, as the bulb glowed.

Just then he heard his wife's voice: "Tom, it's 2 a.m. Turn out the lights and come to bed!"

Bessie: "What would you do if you found a million dollars?"

Essie: "Well, if it was a poor person that lost it, I'd give it back!"

Retiring OLV teacher's success formula:

'Get their attention—keep them happy'

After a dozen years of keeping fourth graders at Our Lady of Victory School "tuned-in" on her channel, Mildred Madigan is retiring.

There was a special Mass at 12:30 p.m. last Sunday at the church with the liturgy in her honor. Immediately afterward the school PTO hosted a reception with assistance of the Christian Education Commission members, and a gift was presented to Mrs. Madigan from the parish by Robert Hodson, parish council president.

Other special events also are planned for the teacher who, school secretary

Pat Kunst confides, will be "sorely missed."

Mrs. Madigan knows she's going to miss her nine and ten year old students, too, as she says "it's the children who really make your day."

There are 40 active youngsters in her present class, but they're not a problem, she declares, although this is her largest class ever. Her first class in 1965 numbered 30 students.

Mrs. Madigan's formula for a problem-free classroom is twofold: "Get their attention and keep them happy."

The former, she observes, is more difficult today as she thinks children are rather poor listeners and wonders if television doesn't have a responsibility for this.

"I say, 'tune in on my channel' as their attention span is short," she explains. In addition to teaching all fourth grade subjects in her bright yellow room at Our Lady of Victory, Mrs. Madigan also teaches third grade math. She enjoys it as she feels math is "challenging."

The classroom is decorated with cut-outs of spring flowers and a large display features Michigan as part of the recent Michigan Week observance.

Asked about any memorable classes during her 12 years of teaching at OLV, Mrs. Madigan says she thinks every teacher remembers the first class simply because it was her first, but she hastens to stress that "I actually don't have a favorite for I enjoyed all my classes and would hope none of my children would think I ever had favorites."

"They've all meant a great deal to me," she says seriously, recalling that some children from her first class already are married.

"I remember when one of my students, Claire Sauer, was waiting for the arrival of the baby in that family, and then later I had Mary Kay, that baby, in class. I've had quite a few Faustyns, too," she mentions.

Mrs. Madigan expects she still will be around children in retirement as her five children have given her 13 grandchildren and a 14th is anticipated.

Oldest son Michael is a pilot with TWA and lives with his wife and two children in Battle Creek.

Daughter Patricia (Mrs. George VanBonn) of Ypsilanti has just received her masters degree in specialized nursing from University of Michigan and has managed to do so while caring for six children.

Son William is in Jackson and has three children. Dennis and his wife live in California and are expecting their first child. Kerry and his family with two children live in Brighton.

All except the Californians were expected to join their mother at Sunday's reception.

Also on hand was her husband, William who retired five years ago from teaching history and coaching basketball at University of Detroit High School. It was his job that brought the Madigans to Michigan from Omaha, Nebraska.

After first living in Farmington, they bought their home at 4277 Eight Mile in 1940. Although they feel their acre and a third are a lot to keep up, the Madigans want to stay in Northville.

Mildred Madigan says they very much feel "like part of the community." They do plan to spend time at their cabin in Cedarville, 34 miles north of the bridge in the Upper Peninsula.

Mildred Madigan and her fourth graders enjoy recess toss at Our Lady of Victory

All aboard!

Northville High seniors Melinda Rotta, left, and Jeannie Burkhardt display one of the souvenir programs graduating seniors will receive this Thursday night at the seniors-only party which follows graduation ceremonies at the high school. In a 12-year-old tradition, the party is given by parents for their graduates. January and June graduates have received an announcement similar to the souvenir one in the mail which will admit them to "Showboat '77". Decorations committee workers have transformed the cafeteria into a Mississippi riverboat setting. Other committees are planning a complete buffet and entertainment, including swimming in the high school pool. Seniors must check in by 10:30 p.m. and may not return to the party if they leave.

They also expect to continue traveling. They recently enjoyed an Eastertime visit to Rome.

There always are a lot of things waiting to be done when you work, and Mrs. Madigan says she intends to get to them now. She's been working ever since her last child started school. She first taught in the Northville Cooperative Nursery and then for three years was director of the Detroit Cerebral Palsy Nursery when it was located in Farmington. When it was moved to Brush in Detroit, she felt it was too far to drive and came to Our Lady of Victory.

She then had two years of college and in 1964 returned to her studies, taking summer and night classes at Eastern Michigan University and getting her elementary education degree

Mrs. Madigan thinks she may do some sort of volunteer work with children after retirement. As children clustered around her on the OLV playground last week, it was obvious that both students and teacher meant much to each other.

Mrs. Madigan smilingly reveals there's one more thing she's going to do:

"I've never painted a thing in my life but I'm going to take up oil painting. I've always wanted to try it"

Shea Noelle Collins debuts

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins of 42524 Lake Success in Northville Township have named their baby daughter Shea Noelle. She was born May 21 in Providence Hospital weighing seven pounds, fifteen ounces.

She joins a 27-month-old brother, Gordie, at home. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fuerst of Detroit and Mrs. Viola Collins of Naples, Florida. Mrs. Emma Muehlmann of Detroit is the baby's great-grandmother.

In Our Town

Leukemia separates mother from baby

By JEAN DAY

Birth of their first child, Nicholas Dane, was a joyous occasion at first for Larry and Sandra Pittman of Wing Street in Northville. He was fine on delivery May 17 at Botsford Hospital, weighing seven pounds, 15 ounces. But his mother's blood tests were disturbing. It was found that she has leukemia.

Decision was made quickly for her to go to the M. D. Anderson Hospital at Texas Medical Center in Houston, a research facility with a reputation for treating leukemia. Accompanied by her husband, she expects to be there six to eight weeks.

Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hartshorne of Grace Court and is a Northville High School graduate. Her mother, who is caring for the baby, says she, as any new mother would be, is depressed at the thought of being separated from her little son. The family is hoping that friends and classmates will help cheer her with cards and notes while she's there.

Her husband is a Novi High School graduate and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pittman of Novi. The baby also has five great-grandparents, Mrs. Florence Hartshorne of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. James Lenten of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pittman of North Carolina.

Hoppings count 95 candles

Two cakes, one with 77 candles and the other with 18 highlighted a double birthday celebration for the Hopping family who gathered at the family farm on Ann Arbor Trail Memorial Day. The 77-candle cake honored Louis M. Hopping of 18498 Jamestown Circle while the other was for his granddaughter and namesake, Louise Hopping, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hopping of 921 Jeffrey Drive. She is among the graduating seniors at Northville High School this week.

The senior Hoppings are back from a Civitan-planned trip to the Scandinavian countries. In a group of 16 they visited the famed Tivoli Fair in Denmark only days after it opened for the season May 1 where, Mrs. Hopping reports, the flowers were remarkable. They took the train and train-ferry to Sweden and continued on to Norway.

Fair duties follow Morocco visit

The John Anderson family of 16543 Winchester Drive is back from a month-long trip to France and Italy with a side trip to Morocco. Nicole Anderson explains they go to France every two or three years to visit her parents. They left Carole, 11, John-Marc, 10, and Christopher, 7, with her parents in Toulon and vacationed in Morocco where they had met when Dr. Anderson was based there with the U.S. Navy.

Mrs. Anderson again is busy with arrangements for the Northville Historical Society-sponsored Tivoli Fair. Its opening day for the first time will coincide with the annual Northville Home Tour, co-sponsored by Northville Presbyterian Women's Association and the historical society. It is to be held at Northville Downs and will be opened officially by Marshall Fredericks, well-known sculptor who is Denmark's consue in Detroit. There promises to be a strong Scandinavian emphasis at the fair with food treats including Swedish meat balls.

They were at Jubilee opening

"There must have been hundreds and hundreds of gardeners working in London last week," reports Mrs. Herbert Weston as she describes "gorgeous flower beds planted overnight at Buckingham Palace" for the opening day of Britain's Jubilee Celebration Friday. Dr. and Mrs. Weston of 20374 Woodhill flew home that day after a vacation there which was a belated silver anniversary trip.

Munich was headquarters

Other spring travelers were Mrs. Elizabeth Forth of Northville and Mrs. Lucille Schiller of Farmington. They participated in the Michigan Catholic Culture Society trip to Europe, returning May 21. From Munich headquarters they made side trips to areas of Germany, Switzerland and Austria.

She's tops in sorority

Marianne Harper proudly is wearing a special ring of her sorority, Gamma Phi Beta, at Michigan State University these days. It signified that she has the highest grade point average in the sorority. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harper of 18415 Fermanagh Court, she was named to the dean's list last semester. She is a junior majoring in geriatrics.

BPW winner

Mrs. Vivian Blake, retiring president of the Northville Business and Professional Women's Club, displays the club's "Womanhood Award" trophy with this year's recipient, Northville High Senior Laurie Day. The 21-year-old award is presented annually to a graduating senior girl who also receives a plaque for outstanding school and community activities. With the award, presented at honors convocation last Wednesday went a check for $300.

Orient inspires club workshop

Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association is holding an oriental workshop at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Evelyn Johnson at 43560 Six Mile.

The workshop on Moribana-"Shin," a type of formal Japanese flower arranging, will be conducted by Ruth Whitmyer.

Since this also is a guest day, members and their guests are asked to bring one low container, one heavy pinholder (or two light ones), three straight branches (lengths to be twice the diameter of container), three straight stemmed flowers with foliage, pencil, ruler and clippers.

Chairman of the day is Jo Krause, assisted by Jamie Hove, Dorothy Calmes and Molly Manley.

Northville resident Mrs. C. C. Winter, right, is congratulated by Mrs. Sally Rankin, chairman of volunteers, Red Cross Southeastern Michigan Chapter, for her 37 years of volunteer service at a recognition ceremony during Red Cross Volunteer and Staff Recognition Week, May 9-15. Mrs. Winter joined Red Cross in 1940 as a production volunteer making layettes and surgical dressings as part of the war relief effort. She also worked as a hospital volunteer during the war. Industry, schools brace for switch

Conversion to metric system gaining foothold as inches, gallons become measures of past

By CARL DAVIES

Inch by inch the United States has been quietly converting from the Old English system of weights and measurements to the universal metric system.

Earlier this decade when the European Common Market nations set a 1979 deadline for the use of metrics for all Common Market trading, U.S. exporters launched an all out campaign for U.S. conversion.

In 1975, Canada completed its changeover and by December, 1975, President Ford signed the Metric Conversion Act establishing a 17-member Board of Metrics to engineer the transition.

No deadlines for conversion were set, and the metric board, a victim of the transition in national administrations, has yet to be reconstituted.

But all is not quiet on the metric front.

Led by the big three auto companies, especially General Motors, the metric conversion is well underway in Michigan and the Midwest.

General Motors and other multinationals — IBM, International Harvester, U.S. Steel, Lockheed, Northrop, and TRW — have geared up for the conversion with GM taking the lead.

"General Motors will virtually achieve complete conversion to metrics by the early 1980's," according to GM spokesman Joseph Karschner.

All new parts are being cast in metric dimensions, and by 1982 "anything measured by the inch will be considered a nuisance," Karschner said.

The 1973 GM Chevette was the first all-metric car.

Starting this year, the large bodied cars will be nearly completely metric, and by 1978 the intermediate GM cars will have been converted.

Since the early 1960's the Ford Motor Company has engineered its tractor parts both in the English and metric systems.

In 1963, Ford designed, but did not mass produce, an automobile using both systems, according to engineer S. E. Mallin.

Ford began importing an all-metric engine for the Pinto in 1970, and the 1973 Mustang II and Pinto offered the first all-metric engine, a 2.3-litre power plant made in Lima, Ohio.

"We are engineering all new products in the future in metrics," Mallin said.

"Some of the 1978 car and truck lines will be metric to some extent," he said.

"Nobody will ever be completely metric," Mallin added. "It's not economically desirable."

Following GM's lead, Chrysler will engineer "all new products and components in metrics," according to Ed Vosburg, manager of the engineering standards and data division.

"There is no definite timetable for complete conversion," Vosburg added, speculating that Chrysler would probably be "not more than three years" behind GM's 1982 deadline.

In 1978, Chrysler is slated to produce its first "largely metric" sub-compact with all metric engines, the Plymouth Horizon and the Dodge Omni.

With industry rapidly converting to metrics, Michigan government is not far behind.

The department of state highways and transportation has been experimenting with dual metric-English road signs as it awaits final metrification orders from the Federal Highway Administration, according to Adrian Sanchez, of the traffic and safety division.

Voluntarily, the department has erected signs on Route 27 north of Lansing measuring distances in kilometers.

Sanchez pointed out that the auto companies will be manufacturing speedometers with the dual measurement systems and that decals will be available for speedometers on the older models.

The food and beverage industry is well underway toward metric conversion.

Whiskey and wine bottles will be sold completely by the liter within two years, predicted Roger Rosendale, director of licensing and enforcement for the state Liquor Control Commission (LCC).

The LCC is pushing the brewers to sell their beer by the liter by December, 1978, when returnable bottles will be required by law.

But the brewers are balking, Rosendale said.

The U.S. Brewers Association had obtained a moratorium on metric conversion.

Rosendale said he will meet with brewers July 15 to determine a conversion timetable.

To keep pace with the metric conversion, Michigan schools are well on the way toward focusing on metric education.

According to Department of Education spokesman Wayne Scott, who serves as the department's metric coordinator, the state Board of Education went on record advocating the teaching of metrics as the dominant form of measurement by 1976.

That deadline has since passed, and Michigan schools have been "in general compliance" with the spirit of the resolution, Scott said.

Using a federal grant obtained last year, the education department has been sponsoring a series of metric workshops for teachers statewide.

Materials and expertise have been made available to teachers locally through the intermediate units.

In South Lyon, the schools adopted a supplemental metrics system in conjunction with the Oakland Schools three years ago, Curriculum Director Dr. Raymond Madigan explained.

At that time, the district budgets $3,000 from the NDEA Title 3 account to purchase equipment for teaching metrics.

"We're a math conscious society in Michigan, because of the automotive and supportive industries," Madigan explained. "We're not taking the cold turkey approach. We're just anticipating the need."

In addition to teacher in-service programs and workshops devoted to metric education, South Lyon has purchased two new series of math texts for the K-8 program which emphasize metrics, Madigan said.

Since the Michigan Assessment Tests will contain performance objectives in metrics — as a pilot program in 1977 and mandatorily thereafter — South Lyon and other area districts are paying increased attention to teaching the system.

Madigan predicts that in five years the metric system "will be as common as the English system is now."

The Brighton Schools "have been gradually building up to metrics," communications director Arnie Rubin said.

Rubin reported that numerous in-service programs have been held, including one sponsored by Eastern Michigan University.

Rubin said future textbooks purchased by the district will have greater concentrations of metric units.

In addition, Rubin said that the Community Education Department will offer a metric course for adults in the fall.

In the Novi schools, the elementary teachers are currently working on goals for metric education, according to Esther McDonough, principal of the Orchard Hills Elementary School.

"In two years we shall have goals for all grades," Ms. McDonough said.

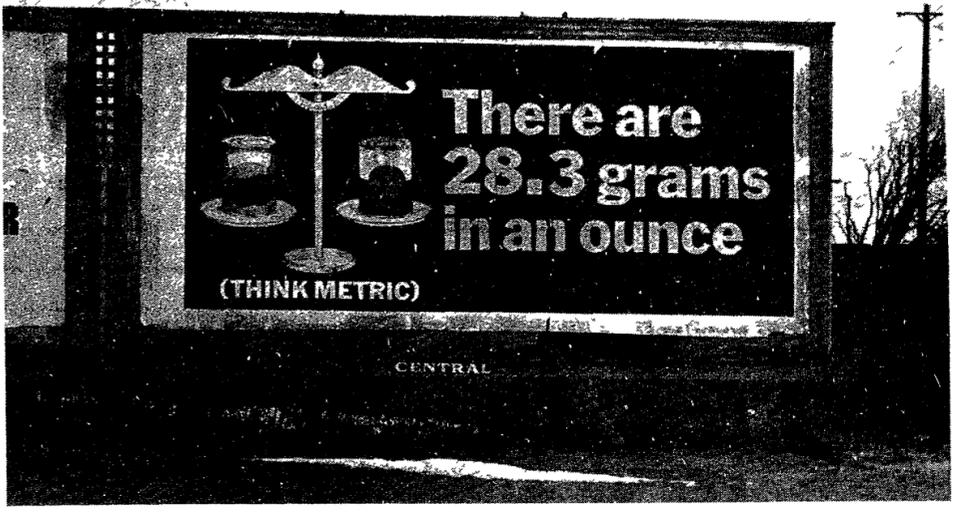

Novi Superintendent Gerald Kratz pointed out that Novi's new swimming pool will be marked in metric dimensions.

In the Northville Schools, efforts are being made to purchase new textbooks emphasizing metrics, Curriculum Coordinator Michael Burley said.

Burley added that supplemental materials for current texts are being purchased, as the Northville schools gear up for the metric requirements on the Michigan Assessment Tests.

While the U.S. government has yet to set a deadline for metric conversion, Michigan schools, government, and industry appear to have laid the ground work, so that we will not be caught unaware.

Farm viewing awaits bikers

Weathered barns and silos in the heart of Michigan's farmland plus views of leading industrial centers await bicyclists touring the Saginaw, Flint and Cass River valley, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The tour leads cyclists over gently rolling hills and flat farmland past an ever-changing panorama of bean and sugar beet fields, farm markets, secluded lakes and factory complexes.

The 114-mile trip through one of the world's richest agricultural areas passes through Flint, Caro, Bay City and Saginaw and can be broken into two loops. One is a 62-mile route taking in Flint, Vassar and Frankenmuth. An 86-mile northern loop passes through Caro, Bay City and Saginaw.

There are marked bicycle routes in Saginaw and Bay City, and two others in Saginaw and Genesee counties.

The southern circle tour takes cyclists through Flint, home of the Buick Motor Co., and the Genesee Recreation Area, fast becoming a top state tourist spot, notes Auto Club.

C. S. Mott Lake, a 650-acre man-made waterway named for a founder of General Motors and Flint's most generous benefactor, parallels the route along Branch Road.

A beach and picnic area and Historic Crossroads Village, a restored 1800s community with working artisans, are along the lake's west shore. The Huckleberry Railroad train also leaves from the village.

Rolling hills give way to flat farmland and Otisville. Its small 19th Century business district — built to serve farms which grew on cut-over woodlands — is still active, and a day-use park is nearby.

After 15 miles of tree-covered terrain along M-15, cyclists reach Vassar, where the area's lumbering days are recalled during the annual mid-July Heritage Festival. Bavarian-style homes along the Cass overlook Frankenmuth, originally a German mission settlement and now a top tourist center.

The northern loop follows the Cass River Valley north from Vassar and east to Caro, the Thumb area's largest city.

From Caro to Bay City, cyclists pass fields producing much of the world's beans and Michigan's sugar beets. Along M-138, the tiny farming village of Akron is the site of a small community day-use park.

The 11-mile-long Veterans Memorial Parkway stretches along the Saginaw River between Bay City and Saginaw.

Bicyclists should pace themselves according to ability. The League of American Wheelmen estimates the average cyclist can cover 35 to 50 miles a day with ease.

Put some gold in your garden

Whether they are used for cutting, edging, dividers or glittering gold bedding, marigolds offer gardeners a wide variety of pleasure.

They grow easily and keep on blossoming until they are killed off by the frost.

Dwarf French Marigolds

Dwarf French marigolds grow no higher than 9 to 12 inches at maturity and form compact globes of yellow, gold or orange color.

They come close to being the perfect flower for edgings because of their early blooming (45 to 50 days from seeds); constant, prolonged flowering, tidiness and self-healing properties if stepped on.

A band of dwarf marigolds around beds of taller spreading flowers will contain them neatly and unobtrusively.

These little marigolds originated in Mexico, Central and South America, but Europeans devoted centuries of and elaborately blotched and pencilled bicolors.

Compact African Marigolds

Compact, erect 12 to 24-inch plants with blossoms up to 3 1/2 inches in diameter.

These are the new divider marigolds hybridized from the traditional tall African varieties. Squatty, dense, dark green plants, they have heavy foliage and can be easily distinguished from the fine leaved French types.

(All marigolds originated in the New World; early explorers and tradesmen took them to Africa and Europe).

The new compact African hybrids bloom two to three weeks earlier than the tall, late cutting marigolds.

However, they don't commence blooming until after midsummer due to daylength sensitivity. For this reason, African marigolds are often not planted until midsummer across the South. Elsewhere, they are planted in late spring.

Colors range from light primrose yellow through pumpkin orange... no bicolors. Plants stand up to rainy, windy weather without breaking apart of blowing over.

Tall African Marigolds

Big plants, up to three feet in height... cutting marigolds billow out to nearly three feet wide.

That's a yard wide and a yard high! But you can harvest two or three dozen massive long stemmed blossoms from each plant, ample repayment for their space and time demands.

Cutting marigolds are often planted in groups of three, with plants spaced one foot apart. Enclose each group in wire rings around two feet high stakes to prevent plants from blowing over and breaking apart in wet, blustery weather.

The foliage will quickly hide the supports.

breeding efforts toward their improvement, thus the "French Marigold" name.

Gardeners can choose varieties with crested blossoms, tufted, button or single flowered types. Some have clear colors, many varieties are bicolors. On such small plants, blossom diameters are small — 1 to 1 1/2 inches.

Throughout this area dwarf marigolds will flower from early summer until killed by frost.

Seeds of marigolds are large, easy to plant, and sure-sprouting when planted in warm soil.

Large Flowered Marigolds

"Divider flowers" is a term coming into vogue for what were once called "bedding flowers."

Divider flowers are used to divide or separate low edging and tall background flowers in beds. Their medium height fits into a front-to-back stair-step progression.

Divider marigolds include certain robust French varieties that grow to a height of 12 to 16 inches at maturity and often half again as wide. The inherent vigor of these plants can support large blossoms, up to two-inches diameter.

Newer blossom types include fully double, large single daisy-like, and super crested blossoms of beehive shape.

Most of the new triploids produced by crossing French and African marigolds are in the divider size range and are framed for their ability to bloom when French marigolds sulk due to hot weather.

Some of the most striking color combinations in the marigold family appear in the divider types, including some near-red cinnabar shades

Don't bring home 'vacation plants'

Vacationing outside Michigan this year? Enjoy looking at the native plant life of other parts of the country — and leave it there.

Bringing plants back with you is not a good idea for several reasons, points out Joe Cox, Michigan State University Extension landscape architecture specialist.

First, plants from other regions may not survive in Michigan. Second, plants may harbor destructive insects or diseases.

Third, transporting plants across international borders and some state lines without having them inspected can be illegal.

"If you see a plant you'd like to have, find out what it is," Cox suggests. "When you come home, check with your local landscape nurseryman and see whether it will grow here and if you can get it commercially. This will greatly increase your chances of acquiring a healthy, problem-free plant that will grow here successfully."

Perennial investment gives garden backbone

By Kathy Copley

Annuals may provide instant color, but perennials are the real backbone of the garden. Year after year they become more impressive, both in size and beauty. As a result, they are an excellent investment.

Perennial plants are still available in local nurseries, though the selection may be limited. Available or not, you may already have planted all available space with annuals. But now is the right time to start thinking about the perennials you would like next year — which can be started from seed this year.

June — Columbine, Mixed, 1 1/2'-2'; Bellflower, White, blue, 6'-2'; Delphinium, Blue, white, 2'-5'; Dianthus, White, pink, red, 1'-1 1/2'; Phlox, Mixed, 2'-3'; Primrose, Mixed, 6'-12".

July — Coreopsis,

transplantable plants for next year.

By selecting a few plants which bloom during each of the growing months, you can have perennial flowers from early spring through the first snow.

April — Basket of Gold Alyssum, Yellow, 8"-10"; Arabis (Rock cross), White, 6"-10"; Vinca (Periwinkle), White, blue, 6".

May — Candytuft, White, 1'; Doronicum (Leopard's Bane), Yellow, 2'.

June — Columbine, Mixed, 1 1/2'-2'; Bellflower, White, blue, 6'-2'; Delphinium, Blue, white, 2'-5'; Dianthus, White, pink, red, 1'-1 1/2'; Phlox, Mixed, 2'-3'; Primrose, Mixed, 6'-12".

August — Butterfly Bush, Orange, 1 1/2'-3'. Many plants listed under the heading July continue blooming from July to frost, so August is not as bare as it might otherwise seem.

September — Chrysanthemum, Mixed, 1'-3'; Michelmas Daisy, Mixed, 2'-4'.

Yellow, 2'; Gloriosa Daisy, Yellow, Mahogany, 2'; Lythrum, Pink, purple, 4'; Achillea, Yellow, white, 3'; Anthemis, Yellow, 3'; Beebalm, Red, 3'; Scabiosa, Blue, purple, 1 1/2'.

Some plant families have both annual and perennial members. Salvia, primrose, and dianthus may be more familiar for the annual branch of the family, but be assured that there are perennial members.

Consult a garden-seed catalog for a more extensive listing of perennials from seed.

Flower Power

Flowers can always make my day
 When I receive a corsage or a nose gay
 I save them in my refrigerator
 I must keep them to wear later

Day after day they get pushed around
 But flowers never make a sound
 What shall I do with a dried up bouquet?
 I haven't the heart to throw it away

I'll wear it tomorrow
 But, forget to my sorrow,
 Maybe I'll wear it to church on Sunday
 But somehow it's still in my refrigerator on Monday

Why is it flowers are so hard to discard?
 After all I can save the card
 But, it tears at my heart
 When with my corsage I will have to part

Fran Mc Casey

The Frosted Earth

I saw a priceless Masterpiece, when I arose this morning
 Mother Nature worked all night, the leaves and trees adorning
 The sight I saw was rich in beauty
 I held my breath in Awe,
 I'm sure she's done more than her duty
 A Masterpiece, no artist could draw

The beautiful Frosted loveliness of every branch and tree
 The serenity of quiet and peace
 And a snow filled valley, so at ease
 This I viewed from my window, to think I saw it all for free
 Will Mother Nature's wonder's never cease?

Fran Mc Casey

And Round and Round We Go

Capital punishment?
 Thou shalt not kill?
 An eye for an eye?
 Vengeance fulfill?

Can you pull the trigger?
 Can you flip the switch?
 Can you give the signal?
 Without guilt or twitch?

The man isn't running.
 He's strapped to a chair.
 A caged, helpless person.
 Is it really fair?
 I think he should suffer
 And stay on this earth.
 Live out his confinement.
 Discover his worth.

For now he's a hero.
 The guilt has remained.
 Mistake, not corrected.
 The victims, no name.

Arlene Rex Ford

Shake My "Bootie"

I've been told I'm different.
 Thank my mom for that.
 Mustn't get too personal.
 Mustn't throw it back.

Some have said I shouldn't
 Put down human beings.
 For awhile, I shut my mouth,
 Trying different things.

Haven't been too happy,
 Living in my cage.
 What I see and what I hear,
 Puts me in a rage.

Who do people think they are?
 Calling names, abuse,
 Criticism, prejudice,
 Bullies rule the roost.

I'm allowed opinions.
 I have had enough.
 An example, I will set,
 Teaching better stuff.

Love is not a sexual thing.
 Love's not for a pair.
 Love is giving of oneself;
 Time — take time to care.

Get to know each other.
 Try to understand.
 We are all just human beings.
 Stop, and shake a hand.

Maybury Park is different kind of facility

From its beginning in 1972 when the state bought Detroit's abandoned tuberculosis sanitarium in Northville Township, it was meant to be a different kind of state park.

And Maybury State Urban Park is just that.

Most state parks are water oriented. Maybury is not. Most state parks seem set aside for rugged, able-bodied individuals who know nature. Again, Maybury is not.

"It will be a suburban state park, with special features for deprived inner city people, for handicapped, for the elderly and for all metropolitan area residents," said Oris Scherschlight, chief of the Department of Natural Resources division of parks when plans were unveiled in 1972.

Tony Klain, Maybury's recently-appointed new manager, replacing Robert Remer who has been transferred to Highland Recreation area, calls it a transition park. "It's not your traditional state park. It's not a metropolitan playground, and it's not all wilderness," he said.

"It's a totally different concept. It's a place for those who need some knowledge of the wilderness. Here we can introduce them to nature."

The concept is still intact, but many plans for the park have changed since 1972. Original plans called for construction of a 75-acre golf course, a 26-acre outdoor sports complex and an outdoor auditorium. A 40-day camp was considered top priority.

None of those facilities have been built, although plans for an experimental version of the day camp are in the works.

Assistant Park Manager, John Pettis, who has worked at Maybury since it was opened, said the golf course probably will not be built and other outdoor athletic facilities will be scaled down.

Not much has changed inside the 940-acre tract of land since the early 1920's when Detroit first opened the sanitarium complex. The land, bounded by Eight Mile, Seven Mile, Beck and Napier roads, is crisscrossed by a series of roads, paths and footways. Some remain from the sanitarium days; others have been built with the pedestrian and bicyclist in mind.

There are five miles of bike trails and several miles of paths for horseback riding.

Autos are not allowed in the interior of the park. And, according to Klain, who comes to Maybury from Muskegon State Park, most designated picnic areas can only be reached from the bike trails and footpaths.

"We do get some complaints about that, but the state wanted to keep to its original concept," Klain said. "There were plans to provide access by electric train, but the cost is so prohibitive," he added.

Pettis said, "We get a lot of requests to stop development right now. They say we've got a nice park just the way it is."

Development has given the park its most successful features, however.

The Living Farm, a refurbished hold-over from Maybury's days as a sanitarium, has become the park's most popular attraction.

"It's basically for people not familiar with farm life," Pettis said. It features farm life as it was before mechanization.

"We want to restore it, once development is complete, to a late-19th, early-20th century farm," Klain said.

The farm is managed by the same people who operate a similar attraction, Upland Farms near Oxford. Klain said the farm hosts a number of special attractions throughout the summer, including a farm crafts fair; a wool day, which gives visitors a chance to shear a sheep; and a threshing bee.

The farm opened Memorial Day, and the first special day will be a plowing and planting day on Sunday. "People will be able to see how fields were plowed and planted before tractors were used. And they may be given a chance to do some planting themselves," Klain said.

For the first time there's an admission charge. Adults pay $1 to visit the farm and children are charged 50 cents. Klain said the charge is necessary to help defray costs.

The farm is open daily from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Other attractions are planned. "Every day from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. the farm staff will be doing chores. I'm sure they are going to encourage some public participation. You can help feed the animals or maybe even milk a cow," said Klain.

The rest of the park offers a full variety of wildlife and wildflowers, Pettis said. "Many people don't know it, but we have deer back in the park. A couple of patrolmen told me they were sitting at the corner of Beck and Seven Mile and they said they counted six deer jumping our fences. Those fences are six feet tall.

The deer and the rest of the small game which roam the park are protected, however, because Maybury is closed to hunting. Nearly all of the reminders of the park's past as a tuberculosis sanitarium have been destroyed. The buildings are gone, and they've been replaced with meadows of grass.

Only streets, an occasional fire hydrant, garden shrubbery and flowers remain to remind oldtimers of Maybury's past.

Even Children's Row, small cottages where nursery rhyme characters were painted above the doors to brighten afflicted children's faces, has been razed.

Klain said detailed measurements and drawings were made of Children's Row before demolition. "If time and money permits, the state might restore Children's Row in some capacity," he said.

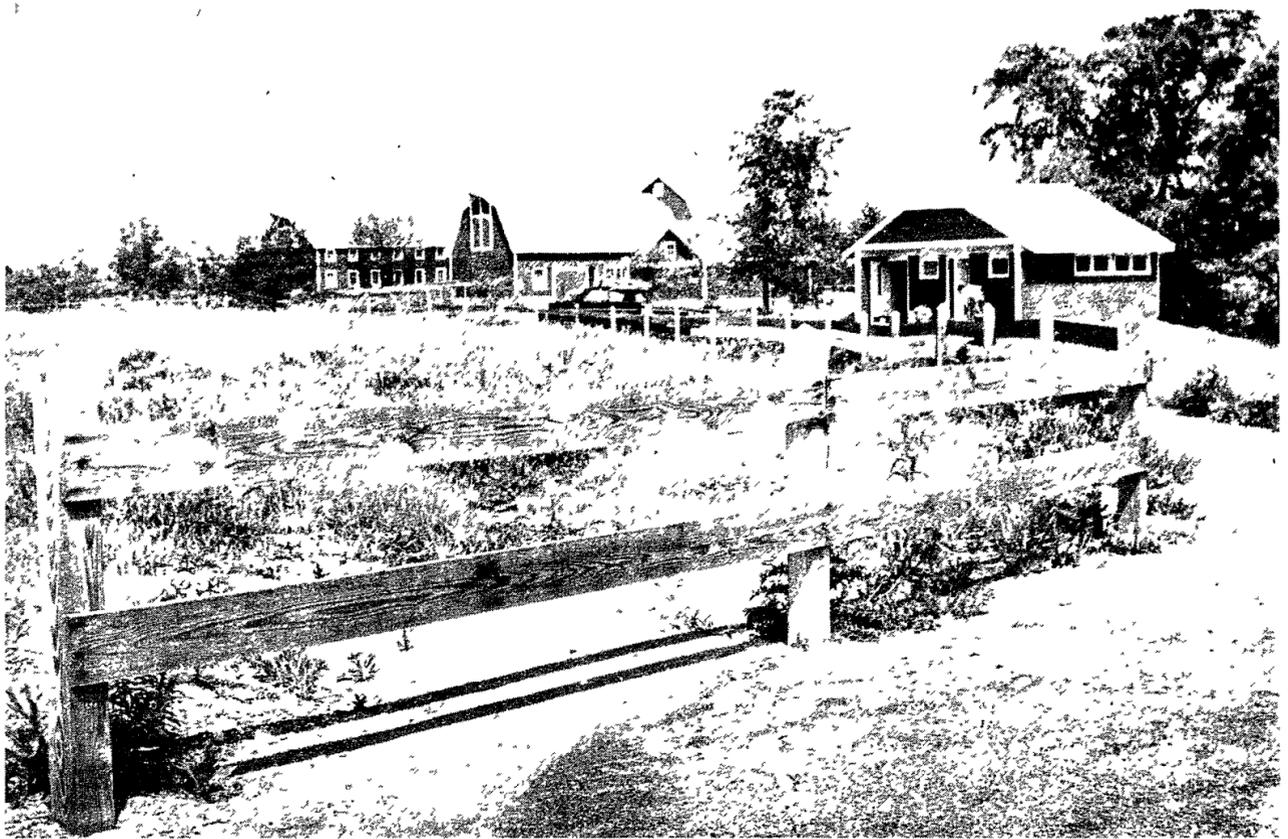

While Maybury's background and present concept set it apart from all other state parks, it is also different because it is not water oriented. The park has no lakes, natural or man made.

Klain said plans have been developed to build a 15 to 20-acre lake in the park.

"The real attraction of the park is that we are so close to Detroit. When you walk around this land, you forget that you are that close to Detroit," Klain said.

Even though the park is close to the city, it draws more than half of its annual visitors from the surrounding suburbs. Pettis said that in the beginning more than 90 percent of Maybury's visitors came from the surrounding areas.

"People just don't know we're out here. With more and more people finding out about us, I expect to see more people paying us a visit."

An admission is charged at park's Living Farm this year, but it remains the biggest attraction

Felician Sisters' nursery marks birthday

Five daughters of Patrick and Katie Mellish, who moved from Livonia to 16436 Old Bedford Road in Northville a couple of years ago, have made the name Mellish perhaps the most familiar name at the Felician Sisters' Marie Nursery School.

In a decade of games and stories and reading-readiness, the nursery has sent 1,425 children of Livonia, Farmington, Plymouth, Northville, Westland, Garden City, Redford and Canton townships and Detroit on the way to kindergarten.

Sister Mary Claudine, director, has found a way to touch the lives of all 1,425 and also to keep a bit of each of them with her.

She felt the proper way to celebrate the school's 10th anniversary was with a reunion party, held Sunday, June 5, in the Felician Motherhouse wing that has been the school's home for the last year.

The nun who has been with the school through all its years of service has worked in preschool education for 26 years. It was her wish that children return with parents for the reunion.

The Mellish daughters now attend Our Lady of Victory and Winchester schools in Northville. Ranging in age from 13 to six, Gretchen, Beth, Julie, Margie and Tricia looked forward to the reunion.

Sister Claudine also got in touch with Rose Dolan of Livonia, whose daughter, Helen, was the very first child to be enrolled when the nursery opened in 1967 at its old location at 36995 Five Mile. Helen now is an eighth-grader at St. Michael Catholic School in Livonia and was on hand with her family for the reunion.

The Maria Nursery School was established by the Felician sisters first as a facility of a general nursery range with day care as well as nursery programs.

"Then it was recommended that we get out of the day care business and turn our attention to running the nursery," Sister Claudine stated.

"We now have a program specifically planned for children who will be entering kindergarten the following year.

"It is more structured than most nursery school programs. We have the stories and arts and crafts and play, and all are aimed toward helping children learn.

"We don't push the children, but we do encourage them to learn ABCs and numbers and colors because these things help them be ready for school."

The nursery was located nine years in a former home, and then the operation was moved to the wing of the Motherhouse, which had been readied for a Montessori school and had extra space available.

Its program involves twice-a-week sessions, two hours each, for most of the children, and a single Wednesday session for some whose parents find that one session a week best suits their needs and schedules.

Full time teachers, along with Sister Mary Claudine, are Sister Monice Marie and Mrs. Darrell Kramp. In addition, the nursery has help from young people studying child care at Madonna College. These students are assigned to assist in groups of two or three per session.

At Concordia

Pastor Boerger speaks to grads

The Reverend Charles F. Boerger, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Northville, was the baccalaureate speaker for the graduating class of Concordia College. The service was held in the chapel of the Holy Trinity on Friday evening, May 27.

"It is quite appropriate," said President Pohl, "that Reverend Boerger be the speaker. His son, Norman, is the last of all their seven children to graduate from Concordia. What is really more important," continued the president, "is that all seven are either engaged in full time church work or planning to be. That has got to be a significant contribution to the church by one family!"

Charles, Jr. graduated from Concordia, Ann Arbor in 1967 and is now teaching at Lutheran High School West in Detroit; David graduated in 1968 and is teaching at Wyneken Memorial Lutheran School in Decatur, Indiana; Kenneth graduated in 1970 and is teaching at Bethany Lutheran School in Parma, Ohio; Paul graduated in 1972 and is interning for the pastoral ministry at Trinity Lutheran in Denver, Colorado; Lori graduated in 1974 and is teaching at St. John's Lutheran School in Rochester, Michigan; Patti graduated in 1975 and is awaiting a teaching assignment. Norman is a 1977 graduate and will transfer to Concordia, Seward in a teacher education program.

Reverend Boerger was born in Racine, Wisconsin. He attended Concordia College, Milwaukee and graduated from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis in 1947. He served the parish in Onaway-Cheboygan, Michigan from 1947 to 1965 and St. Paul's, Northville from 1965 to the present.

REUNION—Enjoying a 10th anniversary celebration of the Felician Sisters' Marie Nursery School are Gretchen, 13, Julie, 10, Tricia, 6, Beth, 12, Margie, 7, and Mrs. Patrick Mellish of Northville with its director, Sister Mary Claudine.

TV celebrity coming

Kitty Kay, a radio and television celebrity who has appeared throughout the United States, will be presented in concert June 29 at Christian Community Church.

The church is located at 41355 Six Mile Road in Northville Township.

The musical, featuring Kitty Kay, will take place at 7:30 p.m.

Kitty Kay, who appears regularly on the P.T.L. Television Network, offers a fresh new sound in contemporary music, according to Pastor Irving M. Mitchell. "The public is invited to attend as she shares of God's love through song. A free-will offering will be received."

The performer's ministry has been included at meetings of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship, Women Aglow, Methodist Hour, and Outreach.

She has also appeared on 700 Club Television, Bowdin-Sowder Crusades and Ford Philpod Crusades.

Rain's no damper

Providence girls feted

Rain drove their scheduled picnic inside, but the girls at Our Lady of Providence, located in Northville Township, were royally entertained nonetheless.

Our Lady of Providence is a Catholic school for mentally retarded girls.

The afternoon of fun was provided by the Christian Service, an outreach group of St. Kenneth Parish, Plymouth. It was coordinated by Sue LaSota.

Several teenage groups of Plymouth-Canton High School were present to entertain the girls and, according to a spokeswoman of St. Kenneth, "they did a marvelous job in putting smiles on the faces of the children who haven't enjoyed live entertainment since last December."

The entertaining teenagers included: Matt Batrova, Ann Hewett and Chris Davio of the Phoenix, a guitar group; Liz Gray, Amy Pearson, Lindy Hockenbury, Sue McCourt, Robin Thompson, and Jackie Renaud of the Chieftes, Plymouth-Canton's pom pom troupe;

Harry Rodman, Chris LaBeau, Tom Zeleznik, and Mike Dato of the Shanghai, a rock group that recently won the battle of bands competition in Plymouth. Soundmen for the Shanghai were Rob Armstrong and Andy Wells.

Not only did the teenagers provide the entertainment, they interacted with their audience throughout their programs.

Also performing was

St. Kenneth's clown, Kenny, whose real name is Denise MacLean.

Participants from the church, who provided refreshments and other assistance, included: Mrs. Gertrude McDonald, Mrs. Mary McErlane, Mrs. Pat Ditwiler, Mrs. Ann Witt, Mrs. Carolyn Zecman, Miss Jana Zamboras, Jack Harris and Donald MacDonald.

The fact that several of the girls had just returned from Central Michigan University where they won medals in the Special Olympics competition gave Sunday's program a special excitement.

St. Kenneth's Christian Service organization decided to sponsor this summer entertainment "because most of the functions provided by outside groups occur at Christmas time and we thought we'd like also to do something for them in the summer."

This consortium would be a great asset to our communities and in fact would create an educational center in Northwestern Wayne County. However, the economic consideration must be solved before we can proceed. The county or state government must ac-

1 "I support the 0.8 millage and my first order of priorities would be a concentrated emphasis on career education through evaluation of present courses as they relate to the students' future in the changing job market.

The establishment of internships and expansion of field studies in liberal arts programs and in two-year curriculum health services would be stressed—encouraging students to explore out-of-classroom experiences, i.e. working with senior citizens, the disadvantaged, or in handicapped programs, thereby enabling students to experience some of life's realities rather than to just read about them in textbooks.

2 "Yes, I believe that the concept of a Schoolcraft College-Wayne State consortium on Wayne County, Child Development property would be beneficial to both schools. The location and setting offer an ideal environment for bringing higher education to the people in the growing areas of Canton, Plymouth and Northville. Not only would it provide students with easy access, but with decentralized programming offering career, technical and community services to fill the needs of a variety of people, the com-

1 "Yes. However, it should be understood that the actual levying of the millage, if voted, is a responsibility of the board. My posture would be to levy only that portion of the voted millage required for sound operation of the college. The full impact of the 0.8 mills should not be required until construction of a Fine Arts building is an actuality. Additionally, as a trustee I would examine the current portion of the operating budget generated by student tuition versus in the mid-1960's, as one measure to gauge proposals for tuition rate increases.

"Three criteria would be very important to me in considering program priorities: the community need for the particular curriculum program, i.e. student interest, job opportunities available or required courses for transfer to a four-year degree program; the quality level of current and proposed courses; and cost implications. Current programs should be continuously reviewed against these criteria, and marginal programs should be either strengthened or dropped.

2 "In general, I support the concept of consortium arrangements as being mutually beneficial to the participants. Additionally, I have long believed that public educational services should be brought in as close proximity to the user as possible, consistent with sound financial planning. This is cept financial responsibility of this venture."

3 "I believe in mandatory course requirements toward receiving a degree from an institution of higher learning. The general public expects a return on their investment in our educational system. This return consists of graduates with basic skills—such as speech, English, math, etc. Also, many young people may change their career paths several times early in their working years. A broader educational base would enable these career transitions to become more easily obtainable."

munity college spirit could be maintained.

3 "As far as mandatory course requirements, each class and each curriculum would have to be studied. For example, persons planning to teach should have some gym experience since oft times they are called upon to discuss related topics such as health, exercise and sportsmanship—as well as to teach physical activity games requiring gym skills. Yet, I feel that the waiver of actual participation of persons over 26 should be offered an option, too. In evaluating the requirements for a course—such as speech—the administration and students should realize that people in all walks of life use speech and communications skills everyday. Skill in verbal expression is still the mark of an educated person. Therefore, a basic speech class for students is a necessity."

reinforced by the current need in all sectors for energy conservation. My position on this particular proposal is still open. My decision to approve or disapprove such an arrangement would be formed on examination of specific details of the proposal; the community need for the educational opportunities which might be engendered, the extent to which the interests of all affected parties are protected, including those of other educational institutions in the Schoolcraft district; and both the short- and long-term cost implications."

3 "I would support mandatory courses that are shown as required to achieve determined skill levels as preparation for employment opportunities in a given field or as required preparation for transfer to four-year degree programs. Although I strongly believe in the benefits an individual may accrue through both speech and physical education courses, I would not vote for making these mandatory requirements for graduation for all curriculum. I would assure that students are well counseled on the benefits of such courses."

What the League asked

Three persons will be elected to Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees Monday, June 13. Nine candidates are in the running. The League of Women Voters, Livonia and Plymouth-Northville chapters, prepared a questionnaire which was distributed to each candidate. They were asked for basic background information as well as for their stands on three issues. Their answers are reprinted here.

The candidates were asked: "Please tell your background and qualifications for this office. Include any information on your education, civic activities and any public office you have held."
 "1. Do you support the proposed 0.8 mill property tax increase? If not, why? How would you order your priorities in programming?"
 "2. Do you favor a Schoolcraft College-Wayne State consortium concept on Wayne County Child Development property? Please explain."
 "3. What are your views on mandatory course requirements such as, gym, speech, etc.?"

KARL M. SJOGREN, 23, of 20338 Brentwood, Livonia

KARL M. SJOGREN

"My background as a cost analyst for Ford with an MBA in finance would bring an added dimension to the board."

"As an active former student, I don't need to make assumptions about Schoolcraft. I've been there. Most important, I'm interested in the college and helping to shape its future."

1 "I support the millage for a number of reasons. First there is no other way to increase the capacity of programs such as culinary arts that have four to five year waiting lists. Second, Schoolcraft has outgrown the temporary facilities built when the college was formed; at the same time, repairs on permanent buildings are needed. Also, passage of the millage would assure that support services such as the library and placement center would be allowed to operate on a full-time basis. Finally, the millage would allow a Fine Arts center on the scale this area needs to be built and operated.

"Should the millage fail, I would not be predisposed to cutting back in any particular area of programming. Rather, support services and the frequency of course offerings would be restricted. Tuition would once again be raised and no infusion of new faculty would take place.

2 "I am open-minded about the (consortium) concept but cannot support it until certain issues are addressed.

"While it would be quite costly to renovate the situation in line with legal requirements, it would probably be more expensive to build from scratch.

"The problem, however, is that the 1 "I support the millage so that the college may continue its excellent program.

"Priorities in programming should be based on the need of the individual students to be self-sustaining and self-actualizing persons. The priorities would have to vary or be changed from time to time to keep pace with the changing needs of society and the individual."

2 "At this time I cannot say whether I am in favor of a Schoolcraft College-Wayne State consortium because there are many questions to be answered such as funding, state laws regarding consortiums, maintaining the integrity of Schoolcraft College, etc."

3 "On mandatory course requirements: In a transfer program where

"I have several years of administrative experience in budget development. I have had training in supervisory management, and I feel I can relate to both administrative and non-administrative personnel."

"I have worked with boards of management and committees all of my career and I feel I have a good understanding of how they can work effectively to the benefit of an organization."

1 "I am for the millage as it relates to the operational needs of new expansion."

2 "I favor the best use of space at the Wayne County Child Development Center. This would include a Schoolcraft-Wayne State consortium and other community agencies to develop a community life center. The cost of rehabilitating the center is extremely high and would require state and federal funds."

3 "We should require physical education in its broad definition. The general knowledge base of good nutrition, proper exercise, and normal body program is in need of additional facilities (e.g. two-year medical and culinary arts) would not necessarily be helped by a consortium with WSU."

"Also, if our transfer medical programs were taught at a new site we would be placing Madonna College's excellent four-year medical programs in jeopardy by competing for potential students."

3 "I believe that the college has a right and responsibility to require courses in its degree-awarding programs. The college currently does this with English, history and other courses because it wants to assure that its graduates exceed the standards required by the increasingly-specialized job market.

"The problem then is not with the concept of a requirement but with making speech and physical education required. Some understanding of history is just as important for success in life as oral communications skills and an understanding of our bodies certain courses are required for graduation from the four-year institution the courses should be required. In an associate degree program where such courses as gym seem to fit into the overall program, the student should be counseled to take the course. For the returning or older student, who is tailoring his or her course of study to their own individual or career needs, the above mentioned courses should be optional."

functions is essential to all ages and helps future parents develop healthy attitudes which contribute to healthy families. Other mandatory courses need to be reviewed on their merit and their contributions to a person's total development.

"I am against placing a student on the board-at-large because of the opportunity for them to vote and utilize the present political process."

"I would like to see a strong program of field placement initiated so that students can receive class credits for work experience."

1 "Yes, for several reasons. We're not permitted by law to operate at a deficit, and never have. However, if we're not to further curb programs and services we need part of the 0.8 mill for current needs. Rising costs and loss of revenue, because of the single business tax, and legislative cut-backs are presenting a very real budgetary problem.

"We need the millage if we are to bond for a Fine Arts center, long a dream of our Schoolcraft College District citizens, if we are to add the culinary arts addition, sorely needed because of great demand for this excellent program, the resource center and expansion of the applied science and Waterman buildings.

"Bonding for these projects is ready to go when the millage is passed. Should the millage fail, we will not try to bond because we wouldn't have operating and maintenance money.

"We must initiate and maintain applied science programs for the job market and as a community college, we must—and want to—serve the community's special needs and services."

2 "I did and still do, but now it is a moot question. The need is there. Northwestern Wayne County residents wishing to select from a full range of

"I have been associated with and held office in the National Organization of Roman Youth and the local chapter. I have worked with the Livonia YMCA in establishing an AAU swimming team."

1 "Yes, I support the millage, but not necessarily all millage programs. This should be approved, if only for one item—the building of the Fine Arts Theatre with a seating capacity of approximately 2,000 people. The need is here in the district for such a building since the performing arts are slowly leaving the Detroit community. The arts and sports are greatly supported by the suburbs; therefore, the suburbs should have such a facility for the communities to use, as well as for the performing arts.

"Western Wayne composed of Canton, Northville and the Livonia area are having such a tremendous growth that a building as proposed would eventually pay for itself through the revenue of various programs."

2 "I favor a Schoolcraft College-Wayne State consortium concept if it is beneficial to the students of Schoolcraft and the residents of the district. Schoolcraft serves this could enable the local residents to continue their education at a senior college with the convenience of staying within their community while attending a smaller college."

I am a director of Growth Works, Inc. a former member of the Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish Council and former secretary of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League."

1 "I support the 0.8 mill requested by Schoolcraft College. The college has not been a general seeker of funding through property taxation nor has it placed an undue burden on area householders and businesses.

"Schoolcraft's revenue is supplied 70 per cent by tuition fees and state appropriation. Only 30 per cent comes from real estate and business taxation. The millage request, translated into dollars, represents an investment in the future of our youth of $1 per family per month."

2 "I favor the Wayne-Schoolcraft Consortium on the Northville Child Development site both because it provides convenient educational programming close-to-home and because it is a far better use of the property than the governor's proposed jail site. I don't believe the governor can prove to my satisfaction that Jackson and Marquette's economic development has been enhanced by their state prisons. I believe they grew in spite of the prisons, not because of the prisons."

3 "Mandatory course requirements for matriculation have been a bone of contention since my own college days and, I am certain, long before that. Mandatory courses are based on the assumption that school boards and educators are the only authorities on learning. While they may be author-university programs must commute long distances, whereas with Wayne State offering the upper division and graduate courses, and Schoolcraft the first two years, we would have been well served."

"However, the Wayne County commissioners rejected the joint offer, and accepted the Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center's proposal. This failed and the door is still open to the degree that our board as authorized President Grote to have dialogue with (WSU) (President Gullen, but it is unlikely anything concrete will come out of it."

3 "All of Schoolcraft's degree requirements call for at least eight semester hours in the humanities and speech falls in this category. Speech helps the individual develop his or her self-concept and self-confidence and is primarily designed to make for effective functioning in a democratic society. The policy on physical education activity was changed from mandatory to 'optional but encouraged' because it was discriminatory."

3 "I think mandatory course requirements are a necessity, especially speech, physical education and technical writing, etc.

"The students do not really know what their needs are until they get out into the real job world. The industry today is lacking individuals who can verbally express their views and speech training is one subject that can accomplish this and technical writing is valuable also. As for gym, the college has one of the finest facilities in the state that is not being utilized by the students, while tennis clubs, racquet clubs, the YMCA and the private clubs are flourishing with their participation. A health education program would give college credit, a reason for exercising and would contribute to a healthy body and be less expensive."

ities, they are not omniscient. Unfortunately, the learner's personal needs and goals get secondary consideration when this assumption becomes an operational philosophy. So I would treat mandatory requirements for gym and speech at the college level with great care and caution, and demand that all the learners to be affected have an equal right of direct input on that issue."

"While I personally favor and highly recommend gym and speech courses for self-development, I see no persuasive evidence that making them mandatory rather than elective will produce a better learner. Forcing students to take music and art appreciation hasn't produced many Rembrandts or Bachs, at least not from the ranks of those compelled to do so."

"The drive for excellence—be it physical, intellectual or artistic—is a very personal thing. It is an inner-directed drive."

"If we are talking about minimum basic functional skill levels, I believe the situation is so different as to warrant mandatory courses. I wouldn't want to be treated by a physician who hadn't studied physiology."

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"See how homes winning Detroit Edison EEE Awards are built to save on energy costs from top to bottom."

Detroit Edison is a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation. The wise use of energy is a national goal, but it requires a working relationship between those who supply energy and those who use it. To demonstrate publicly the desire to take a leadership role in this crusade, Detroit Edison has established the Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to encourage the building of more energy-efficient homes.

EEE Award homes are designed with conservation in mind.

Detroit Edison presents the Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to builders whose homes meet maximum standards in insulation, lighting, wiring, appliances and are comfort-conditioned with an energy-efficient electric heat pump.

From attic to basement, EEE Award homes are designed to keep your heat inside during winter and your utility costs down. These same features also make EEE Award homes easier to cool in summer. The heat pump that keeps EEE Award homes comfortable all year round is an efficient way to heat, cool, filter and dehumidify electrically. At today's energy costs, an EEE Award home could save you more than $260 a year, compared to homes using oil, propane or electric resistance heating.

If you're planning on buying or building a new home, take a look at the Detroit Edison EEE Award homes. These homes will help you conserve energy and keep your operating costs at rock bottom.

Detroit Edison EEE Award homes must meet or surpass the following standards:

A. Energy-efficient heat-pump heating and cooling system which conforms to design and installation standards established by the electric utility industry.

B. Maximum insulation including R-17 material in exterior walls, R-44 in attic, and fully insulated basement walls with an R-13 value.

C. Windows with wood sash and insulating glass or single glass with full storm. Or aluminum sash with thermal break and insulating glass or single glass with full storm.

D. Exterior doors with foam core and magnetic seal.

E. Refrigerator and freezer must be energy-efficient if provided by builder.

F. Water heater is energy-saving type, located as close as practical to point of use. Hot water lines wrapped in insulation are recommended.

G. Interior lighting that conforms to the Illuminating Engineering Society standards for energy efficiency in residential lighting.

H. Exterior security lighting, if provided, has automatic dusk-to-dawn control.

I. If home has a fireplace, it must have a tight-fitting damper and glass screen, and if practical, an outside fresh-air supply.

J. Materials, equipment, design and construction of all electric devices and wiring must comply with all local and national codes.

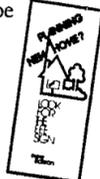

If you're interested in finding out more about energy-efficient living, call these builders. They'll be happy to give you more details about the benefits you enjoy in EEE Award homes.

Yes, you can make your present home more energy efficient.

Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan is designed to help you bring your present home up to today's energy-saving standards. Ask about it at your Detroit Edison Customer Office. Here are other things you can do to help conserve energy and also save money: Put up storm windows and doors; Check weatherstripping and caulking; Dial down in winter and dial up in summer; Lower furnace fan settings; Keep electric appliances in good repair. That way, we'll all be using energy more wisely.
