

Sale success stirs a worry

With record number booths and hundreds of shoppers expected for Saturday's annual downtown sidewalk sales, the manager of Northville's extravaganza has begun to worry again.

And it's the tremendous success of the sale that has Charles Lapham worried.

"I just don't know how to chalk wet concrete," he said. "If anyone can offer a solution it would take a great weight off my shoulders."

With sponsors of 125 booths scheduled to converge on Northville early Saturday, Lapham shutters when he thinks what might happen if an early morning rain should wash away chalk marks indicating where each booth is to be located.

"If it rained during the night and the concrete dried as soon as the sun was up, we could still mark the spaces. If the concrete is still wet, I just don't know how we can mark them.

"With so many people sponsoring booths can you imagine what would happen if they come downtown and can't find the spots where they are to set up? It frightens me.

"If you've got any suggestions I could sure use them. After all, we've had seven straight years of sunshine. Sooner or later the law of averages is bound to catch up."

Nevertheless, Lapham admits it's great to have this worry. It wouldn't be there if the sidewalk sales were not so successful.

Last year so many shoppers coming into town to take advantage of the bargains there just weren't enough parking spaces.

This year Lapham made arrangement with Northville Downs to use its parking lot on South Center Street. "It's only a block from the center of town," said Lapham, "and shoppers can save themselves a lot of headache by parking there and walking the short distance."

As in the past, the city has permitted the closing of Main Street from Hytton to Wing and Center Street from Dunlap to Mary Alexander Court for the day.

The sale will begin at 9 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

"This year's sale should really be something," said Lapham. "We've screened out garage sale type booths and permitted only those booth sponsors with good, bargain merchandise."

Food of every description will be sold, from sauteed mushrooms to kielbasa.

Special features this year will include a barber chair where a barber will offer bargain cuts, and a wide variety of arts and crafts.

Shop Plaza two days

It's a two-day summer clear-away sale at Northville Plaza Mall on Seven Mile with merchants setting up racks and tables in front of their stores from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. both Friday and Saturday.

"There are lots of bargains," they report, "so come early for the best buys."

Whether the temperature soars or it rains won't matter as shoppers will be able to browse in the enclosed mall for bargains.

All stores will be participating and include: Watermelon Seed, TG & Y, Book Stop, Arnoldi Music, The Corral Teen Shop, Tri-State Furniture, Grecian Palace, Laurel Hill Gift Shop, Hair Affair, Own-a-Pet, Michel's Jewelry and George's Coiffures. One-Hour Martinizing Cleaners also will have a special offer during the sale.

By-pass proposal revived

A recent lumberyard blaze may have lit fire under the north-south road that's been on the city's planning shelf for years.

Northville council last week directed the city manager to speed up completion of an engineering study so that the matter can be revived possibly at the next council meeting.

The sudden new interest in the on-again, off-again project was triggered by the recent fire that destroyed an old storage building on the Northville Lumber Company property on Base Line.

More than a year ago the owner of the lumberyard, Stewart Oldford, voiced great interest in the proposed new north-south route and to demonstrate that interest he offered to dedicate part of his lumber company property for the road right-of-way between Base Line and Eight Mile Road.

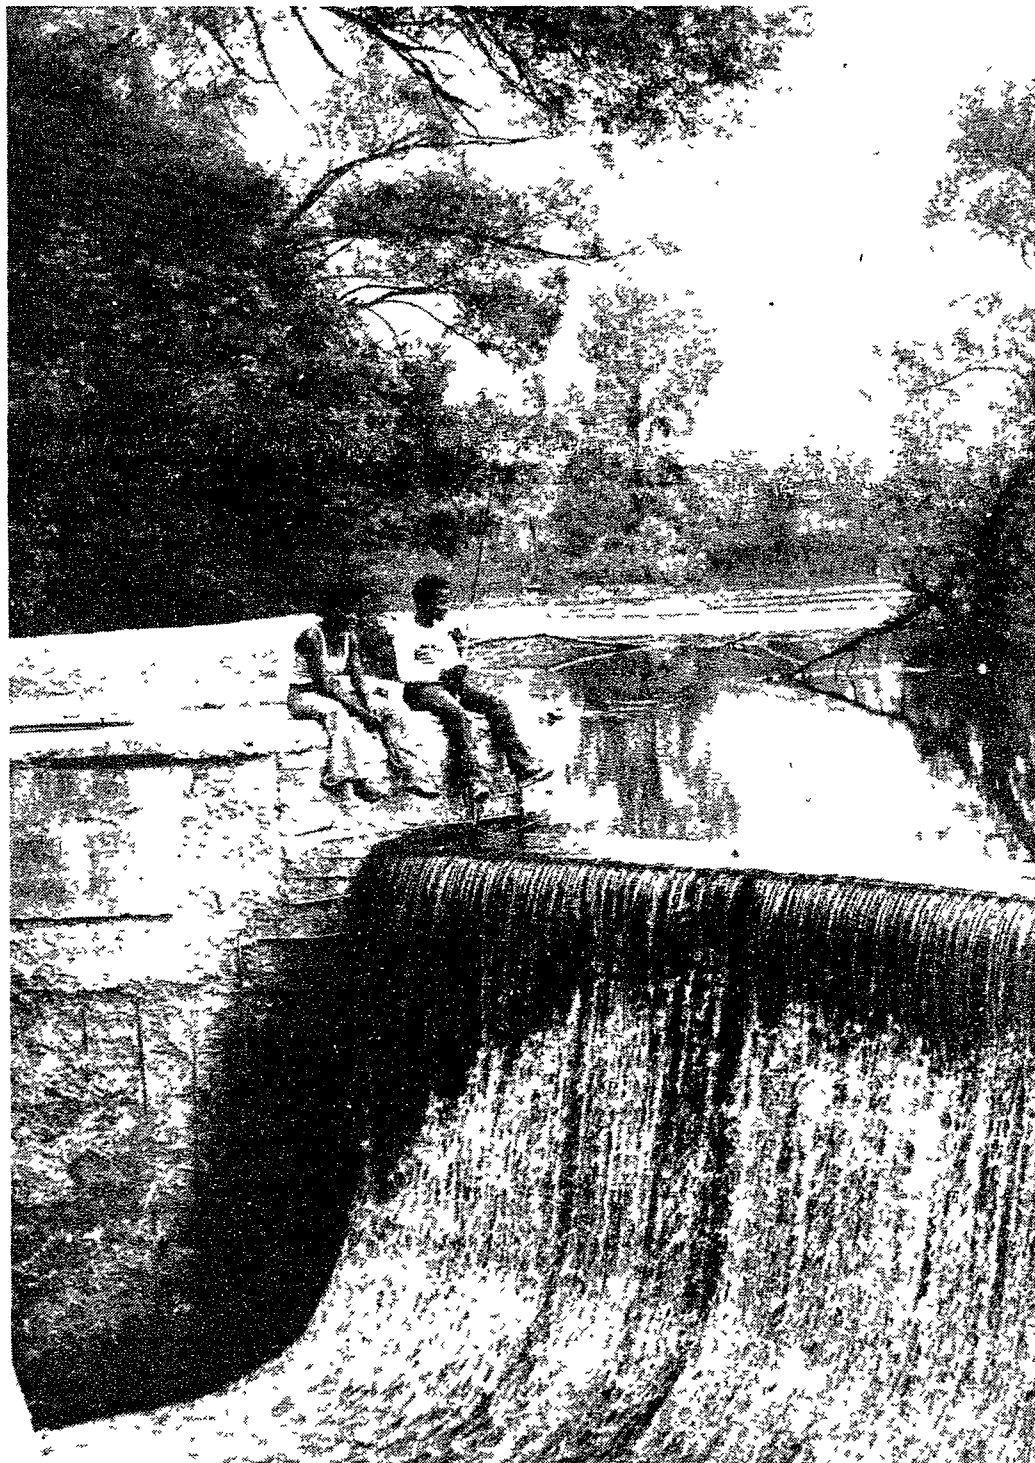

Now, in the wake of the fire that destroyed a building just west of the railroad tracks, Oldford has told council members he'd like a decision on whether or not such a route is to become a reality. If it is planned he will relocate the burned-out building elsewhere on his property. If not, he will rebuild on the same spot.

Reconstruction on the same spot probably would mean withdrawal of Oldford's offer.

Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilman Paul Folino said last week that Oldford must know soon what the city intends. He cannot be kept waiting because "he wants to rebuild as soon as possible," they said.

Although the engineering study and recommendations by Mosher Associates has not yet been completed, council members are confident that it will show that a route along the west side of the C&O Railroad, from Eight Mile Road directly south to tie in with Griswold Street is the ideal location.

Summer solitude

"What would man do if he were compelled to live always in the sultry heat of society, and could never better himself in cool solitude?"

Although he posed his poetic question many years ago, Hawthorne could have contemplated this young couple as they took refuge on the cool banks of one of Northville's secluded ponds last week for a few hours of fishing and thought.

School tax hike goes to voters here Saturday

Northville Public Schools will be holding its own "Sidewalk Sale" Saturday when a low-key campaign ends and a proposal for a five-year, 2.8-mill tax hike is offered to district voters.

While shoppers are searching for bargains from downtown merchants, school board members will man a booth where they will try to justify the second request for a tax increase in slightly more than a year.

Despite the crowds expected for Northville's Sidewalk Sale, Superintendent Raymond Spear predicts a low voter turnout of no more than 1500.

That would be fewer than the 2000 who voted in June's school board election when only 20 percent of all registered voters made their way to the polls and far fewer than the record 4000 voters who approved a 3.9 mill hike in April of 1976.

The 2.8 mills is the equivalent of a $70 property tax increase for the owner of a $50,000 house. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in five locations. (See map elsewhere.)

The extra millage would add $446,000 to the school district's coffers, an amount school officials say is required to keep pace with rising costs and implement programs requested by the community.

With the present tax rate, the school district expects more than $200,000 beyond last year's revenues. But costs have been rising at an average of $700,000 a year for the last five years.

Here's what the $446,000 would buy:

- 14 teachers. Northville's current staff of 205 will increase to 209 if the millage passes or drop to 195 if it fails. The additional teachers would allow better student-teacher ratios, six-hour days in the high school, an expanded junior high school curriculum, a beginning band program in the elementary grades and improved reading and library services. Cost is $192,000.

- Books. Parents and teachers have complained that there are not enough textbooks in the district. Some $57,000 would be spent to alleviate that shortage.

- Better looking buildings. Maintenance and capital outlay have been heavily criticized throughout the community. But unless the millage passes, there will be no money allocated for capital improvements. If it passes, $88,000 will be slotted in. In addition, $18,500 will be

NEWS BRIEFS

HEAT didn't discourage a turnout to last week's band concert featuring the Novi High School Band and its jazz band in Northville's city hall park, says Chamber of Commerce President Ann Roy, who reminded area residents that tonight's 7:30 p.m. concert will feature the 50-member Livonia Community Band under the direction of Terry Fraser, a Northville High School graduate.

ATTORNEYS for a five-year-old boy who was hit by a car while walking to Amerman Elementary School last February have informed the Northville school board that they expect to collect from the school's insurance policy or else they will go to court.

BIG MOUTH—No one has ever accused the mild-mannered, soft spoken Northville city manager of talking too much. But Tuesday at Rotary even Steve Walters admits that silence would have been golden for him. Substituting for the day as the sergeant-at-arms, whose duty it is to fine fellow Rotarians for various infractions, Walters fined State Police Commander Bill Tomczyk 25 cents for selling him a bad raffle ticket. "How do you know it was bad, we haven't had the drawing yet," Walters was asked. Walters said his tickets were always bad and that if he ever won a pot he'd give his half to Rotary. Who won the $39 pot? You guessed it. And all the money went to Rotary.

Annexation tied to water solution

Property owner reaction to a proposal for permanent correction of water pressure problems in the township's Bloomcrest subdivision is expected to come up at the next council meeting of the Northville City Council.

Although the proposal had been delivered to Bloomcrest residents earlier, no response was offered at last week's meetings.

Meanwhile, however, one of the residents living near the temporary above-ground water line complained to council about its appearance and urged its quick removal.

"How much longer must I put up with that condition?" asked James Richardson, who lives at the corner of Fonner and Clement. He complained that the line is unsightly, that barriers and flashers are being vandalized, and that the line itself is leaking.

The line, he said, crosses his lawn area extending into the street right-of-way and makes for an unpleasant appearance.

Council promised him the line will be removed in the near future — "certainly before colder weather arrives."

The line was installed by a special 30-day permit of the county- and state health departments to determine if it would correct the water pressure problems for township residents living in Bloomcrest. The permit has been extended during negotiations for permanent solution.

According to Bloomcrest residents and city DPW officials, the experimental line has worked "very satisfactorily." Even though residents removed booster pumps on their property, pressures are greater than ever. Now, however, Bloomcrest must decide how best economically to obtain the same results with a permanent water line installation.

The city has stated that unless a permanent new line is installed it will discontinue furnishing water to Bloomcrest on October 1.

Bloomcrest admittedly is looking "for the best deal" it can get — either from the township or from the city.

City council is offering Bloomcrest two basic alternatives:

- Institute annexation of the subdivision to the city.
- Design and construct the necessary water improvement as a subdivision,

Zoning denial rekindles New Town flames

A parcel of property which was once the center of the MDCDA (Metropolitan Detroit City Development Authority) controversy in the late 1960's was again the focal point of controversy last week.

While a group of approximately 20 residents from adjoining areas watched with apparent approval, the Novi Planning Commission voted unanimously to recommend denial of a request from the Beztak Company for the rezoning of a 137-acre parcel on the northeast corner of Nine Mile and Beck Roads.

The recommendation for denial of the rezoning will now be forwarded to the city council which makes the final decision on the request.

The property in question was a proposed location for a "New Town" development by the MDCDA after the Detroit riots in 1967. Plans to develop the parcel with low income housing were subsequently dropped in 1970 in the wake of heated opposition by area residents.

The property has been owned by Manufacturer's National Bank of Detroit for the past five years. The Beztak Company has a purchase agreement on the property, but has not yet obtained the deed.

Specifically, the Beztak Company asked the planning commission for a zoning change from its present R-3 to an R-4 zoning for two parcels containing approximately 137 acres on the northeast corner of Nine Mile and Taft Roads.

Both designations are for single family residential, but R-3 requires minimum lot sizes of 12,000 square feet and minimum lot widths of 90 feet, while the minimum lot sizes and lot widths under the R-4 zoning designation are 10,000 square feet and 80 feet.

In addition, R-3 permits a maximum of 2.9 dwelling units per acre, while the R-4 residential district zoning sought by Beztak permits a maximum dwelling unit density of 3.3 units per acre.

Beztak also has a purchase agreement on a 120 acre parcel on the northwest corner of Nine Mile and Taft Roads.

In presenting his rezoning request to the planning commission, Robert Alpern of Alpern Associates, the Beztak architect, stated that the rezoning was being sought to enable the developers to develop the property at a profit and retain the physical amenities on the site.

"We're still planning to build single family residences, but we'd like to be able to exercise the RUD option," stated Alpern.

The RUD option permits reduction of lot sizes provided that the property shaved off the individual lots is retained on the overall site in open spaces. Under the R-3 RUD, minimum lot sizes can be reduced to 80 feet, while the R-4 RUD permits minimum lot sizes to be reduced to 75 feet.

Dwelling units per acre remains unchanged under the RUD option.

"We're permitted 2.9 dwelling units per acre under the present R-3 zoning, but because of the topography of the land we can't come close to the 2.9 dwelling units density and we can't use the RUD option," said Alpern.

He stated that if the R-4 request were granted, the developers would be able to utilize the RUD option to preserve the natural amenities and achieve 2.8

dwelling units per acre.

"We're permitted 2.9 lots per acre under R-3 and 3.3 under R-4, but we're only planning to get 2.8 dwelling units per acre if our request is granted and that's lower than the density permitted under R-3 or R-4," Alpern stated.

"The R-4 RUD would permit us to have 400 lots, but we're only planning to build 338 lots. We want to be able to retain the natural features of the property."

Alpern also told the planners that the property cannot be developed profitably under the existing R-3 zoning. "If we don't get the R-4 we're requesting, we may have to exercise the cluster housing option available under R-3 in order to obtain the desired density."

"We don't wish to put cluster housing in with the single families, but it might be necessary to obtain the desired density if we don't get the R-4 designation we are requesting."

The Beztak request was supported by city planning consultant Charles Cairns of Vilcan-Leman. Cairns said that the request was "valid" and represents a "logical transition in residential density in the area."

Cairns noted that the city's general development plan proposes a corridor of residential density of up to 3.3 dwelling units per acre between Novi and Taft Roads on the east and west and the city limits and 11 Mile Road on the south and north.

Cairns also noted that the city's Preliminary Residential Areas Plan, which sets dwelling unit density levels within designated neighborhood units, also proposes a maximum residential density level of 3.3 dwelling units per acre.

Novi citizens from adjoining property adamantly opposed the rezoning request, however.

William Duey of Nine Mile Road stated that he was very opposed to the rezoning. "I was against it when it went from R-2 to R-3 and I'm opposed to it now," he stated.

"Once the R-4 is granted, the council has no means for denying it if they (Beztak) change their minds about the nature of the development between now and site plan," he said.

"I just can't buy the logic that by increasing the density it will make the creek any bigger. There's R-2 and R-3 around it, I don't see why we should downgrade the zoning on that property."

Former city councilman Donald Young also opposed the rezoning.

"Perhaps we should check what our master plan has done to that area," he said. "The master plan has enabled us to reject trailer parks and MDCDA. By maintaining our zoning, we have created a consistency of development in that area."

"If we permit a lesser designation," he continued, "we're rejecting the integrity of our master plan. Every time we downgrade a piece of property, we're hurting the people of Novi. Downgrading the zoning depreciates the property values of surrounding homes and developments."

John Beck, president of the Con nemara Hills Homeowners Association, also asked that the rezoning be denied. "I'd rather risk the density of R-3 than R-4," he said. "I don't understand why you need R-4 when your plans say you won't even equal the density of R-3. If we keep downgrading the map year after year, where do we end up — Canton Township?"

The members of the planning commission also opposed the rezoning request.

Robert Bretz, planning commission chairman, said that the request had to be studied in terms of existing and future zoning.

"My opinion is that if we downgrade the zoning on this property, we're buying more intense zoning for that whole section of Novi. I don't want a high density town and I don't feel the need has been proven."

Donald Gleason made the motion to recommend denial of the rezoning to the city council. After the motion was supported by Peter Romanow, the commission voted unanimously (7-0) to recommend denial.

Novi shopping center

Twelve Oaks opens Tuesday

The opening Tuesday of the Twelve Oaks Mall regional shopping center could mark the beginning of a new era of commercial enterprise in Novi.

Approximately 60 tenant stores plus the J. L. Hudson anchor store will officially open at the mall at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Several thousand shoppers are expected to be present for the 9 a.m. ribbon cutting ceremony which will include musical selections by the Novi High School summer band. Exact details of the opening ceremonies have not been finalized.

Eventually the Twelve Oaks Mall, located at I-96 and Novi Road, will include 182 tenant stores along with the four anchor stores, J. L. Hudson's, Sears, J.C. Penney's and Lord & Taylor. Sears is expected to open October 1, Lord & Taylor March 1 and J.C. Penney's May 1. Originally Sears had hoped to open with J.L. Hudson's but delays pushed back the opening date.

When the shopping center is complete, there will 1.4 million square feet of floor space. About 100 of the shopping center's 300 acres of property will be occupied by stores. Residential development is planned for some of the remaining property.

The opening Tuesday follows Monday night's benefit performance of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. The 7 p.m. event, called "This Classic Night," will feature a fantasy ride in music along the six stops of the Grand River tollgate road which led travellers to Novi many years ago. Former Detroit Symphony Orchestra Director Sixten Ehrling will direct the orchestra.

No exact figures have been released on how many of the smaller tenant stores will open Tuesday but the figure should approach 50. Several dozen more are under construction but may not make the grand opening date.

When completed, the 182 stores will line the two levels of the mall and the five courts. There will be a variety of specialty shops, restaurants and a cinema complex which will seat more than 1,650 in its five theaters. Interior spaces are organized around the large central court featuring a freestanding glass elevator, hanging sculpture and specimen trees large enough to be seen from both levels.

Architect John N. Grissim of the Farmington Hills landscape architectural firm of Eichstedt, Grissim, Young and Associates says that "These plants are so important that they have their own subsurface drainage system, a water system that waters the roots as well as sprinkler heads over the trees to wash the leaves."

The central court acts as a hub from which the malls radiate into spacious department store courts. Each court features an original sculpture as part of an art program for the center formulated by Dayton Hudson Properties, the mall proprietors.

Someday the mall is expected to add a fifth major department store along with additional tenant spaces.

The mall is being developed by Novi Associates, a partnership of Dayton Hudson Properties, the Homart Development Company, and the Taubman Company, Inc.

According to Joseph Spino, shopping center manager, as the opening date approaches, "Every day is crucial. We need this extra week. There's still areas to be done like landscaping and the tenant stores. We're not worried about the grand opening being on target but we must stay on top of it every day."

Many of the stores as well as the mall itself are beginning to put in overtime as they make final preparations for the August 2 opening, said Spino.

"I think everybody in Novi is excited about Twelve Oaks coming out here," he commented. "I think it's just a wonderful thing to be happening to this area because you're out far enough to have a large complex like this serve the people yet you're in a beautiful environment."

Spino said that when the center is completed, sales volume will probably be as high as Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn or Lakeside in Sterling Heights. Eventually, he anticipates the sales volume will exceed those shopping centers because "This is a growing area."

Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall appeared enthused about the approaching grand opening, calling it a "community effort" that got the shopping center into Novi.

"This mall has been envisioned as far back as 10 years ago when Dayton Hudson announced the purchase of land in Novi. August 2 culminates 10 years of planning."

Kriewall recalled back to the days when Dayton Hudson considered establishing a shopping center in West Bloomfield and Farmington, only to find denials of rezoning requests in both communities.

"The residents in those communities did not want a shopping center of existing commercial development. In the case of West Bloomfield, another concern was over the extension of Northwestern Highway. Farmington's big concern was its effect on downtown. In Novi's instance we had no downtown to be concerned about and it was right beside an expressway, I-96."

Kriewall said that the city has already experienced change as a result of the Twelve Oaks Mall.

"Residential demand for housing has skyrocketed in the last 6-8 months. It's due in part to I-275 and the shopping center."

Kriewall added that after the peripheral property around the shopping center is developed, the commercial development within the city will be limited because those businesses would have to compete with shopping center stores.

"This is a positive aspect," he maintained. "We expect the need for less strip and corner commercial."

Kriewall said that surrounding communities are "bound to lose some business" but the shopping center would not be a great detriment to them. "The centers they have are still viable for convenience shopping."

Kriewall added that with the opening of the Twelve Oaks Mall, "That will be our downtown and that's it."

59 stores open doors

Along with Hudson's, a total of 59 smaller tenant stores are anticipating that they will open August 2 in Novi's new Twelve Oaks Mall.

Released Tuesday morning by the leasing department of Dayton Hudson, the list includes 59 varied stores. In addition, leases have been signed on another 31 stores, although they are not anticipating an August 2 opening.

According to Elizabeth Jarvis, Project Leasing Manager, "There will probably be another 12-13 tenants opening shortly after the grand opening."

Ms. Jarvis called the August 2 activities a "strong opening."

"To open this many stores with one department store is quite a feat," she maintained. "It's a tribute to the area. People feel there's the opportunity here."

According to Ms. Jarvis, stores will continue to open after the August 2 opening date. A large number are expected to open October 1 in conjunction with the Sears store.

Ms. Jarvis said that within a year after the final department store is opened, the shopping center anticipates having 95-98 percent occupancy and is aiming at 100 percent.

"We only build what we believe we can lease," she explained. "We try to build a center we can sell almost completely within a year after all the department stores are open."

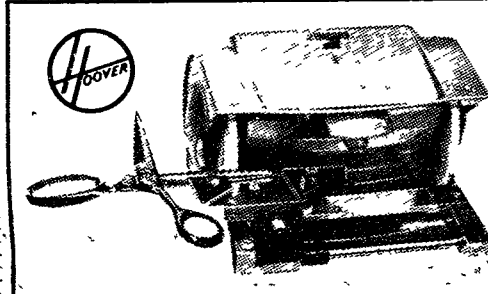

J.C. Penney is expected to be the last of the four majors to open. Anticipated opening date is May 1. Lord & Taylor is expected to open March 1.

Following is a list of stores hoping to open August 2 along with Hudson's:

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

by Jim Roth

A moselle wine, from the Moselle Valley in Germany, is one of the best wines you can serve with lunch or a very light meal since in itself it is very light and one of the very lowest in alcoholic content wines. Believe it or not, this light wine is grown on steep slopes of slate. During the winter, this slate has to be cut up into little pieces so that the grapes have room to grow. But the slate is not just an inconvenience. It stores up heat on hot summer days, it keeps the moisture in the soil, and it disintegrates into fertilizer. So, if you get a Riesling grape combined with a slate covered vineyard, you are bound to get a good wine.

Good wines come from many areas of the world... and we at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477 do our best to stock the finest for your selection. We also stock beer from all over the world and have keg beer in both 1/4 and 1/2 barrels for your next party. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. - 10 p.m., Sat. Noon-6 p.m.

Day camp for dozens of Northville youngsters is an adventure that changes themes every week.

This week, for example, is Animal Week during which children will study animals and cap their activities with a visit to the Detroit Zoo.

Day camp, sponsored by the Northville Recreation Department, is held daily from 9 a.m. to noon every day at the Scout Recreation Building and at Winchester and Silver Springs elementary schools.

Last week's theme at the Scout Recreation Building focused on Indians, and children spent their time making Indian trinkets, shakers, drums, and a teepee, finally dressing up in Indian costumes for a powwow. They concluded the fun with refreshments served up by instructors Trinky Platte and Linda Leet.

Medical village proposed in Novi

Plans to construct a major professional medical office building in Novi were announced last week by Mort Friedman, president of the Mort Friedman Construction Company.

Plans for the Holly Hill Professional Village were revealed last Wednesday when Friedman appeared before the Novi Planning Commission for preliminary site plan approval.

The proposed medical complex will be located on approximately 4.3 acres of land at the southeast corner of Ten Mile and Nilan Street.

Friedman reported that the facility will encompass some 50,000 square feet of office space in four buildings. Two-thirds of the available office space will be leased to medical and dental concerns, while the remaining one-third will be general office space, according to preliminary plans.

Friedman stated that he hopes to begin construction this fall and anticipates a spring occupancy date.

"We're putting this thing together very quickly," Friedman told The News. "We only took the option on the property two months ago so we haven't had time yet to sign any leases."

"There seems to be a tremendous need for a medical-dental facility of this nature in Novi. I've received numerous calls from doctors and dentists who are interested in locating in our medical center."

Before plans for the proposed medical office building can proceed, Friedman must first appear before the Novi Zoning Board of Appeals for a waiver of certain ordinance requirements.

City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Vilcan-Leman cited two instances in which the proposed site plan for the medical facility was not in compliance with the zoning ordinance when Friedman appeared before the planning commission for preliminary site plan approval last week.

The more important of the concerns regarded landscaping requirements.

According to the ordinance, 10 percent of the parking area must be landscaped. The ordinance also prescribes that the landscaping on projected right-of-ways and a required 10-foot greenbelt between the right-of-way and parking areas may not be included in the computations of existing landscaping.

According to Cairns, the proposed site plan only contained 5.4 percent landscaping after the landscaping on the right-of-way and green belt had been subtracted.

Friedman objected to the 10 percent landscaping requirement, however, stating that he felt it was excessive.

Reverses earlier stand

Lewis joins millage supporters

Stating that he did not want to "shoot down the millage," new Northville school board trustee James Lewis reversed an earlier stand Monday night and endorsed Saturday's request for a 2.8-mill tax hike.

Lewis, however, withheld his support for a motion approving the millage until an amendment was added that calls for a complete review of budget "priorities directed for quality education."

Later, Lewis explained that the amendment means getting away from the idea that more dollars automatically means better education.

He cited the comments of recent Northville graduates who said they received excellent grades without having to work or study hard.

Whatever his reasons, Lewis' endorsement was well received by those who believe that the millage had no chance of passing without complete board support.

(For details about the millage election, see story on page one.)

During his campaign for the June 13 school board election, Lewis said he would not be able to support the millage request.

One of the main reasons, he said at the time, was because the community had lost faith in the administration. He also said during the campaign that he would approve the dismissal of Superintendent Raymond Spear.

He repeated many of those sentiments Monday night while reading a prepared statement which cited "lack of leadership" and "quality education" as the reasons for his "painful" decision not to endorse the millage.

He said he had never voted against a millage request in his life.

Immediately, several board members took Lewis to task.

"We cannot go back and relive the school year 1977-78," said Secretary Chris Johnson. "It is the duty and responsibility of this board to clearly label the options. The politics of this particular situation aren't going to help those kids."

"I'm convinced of the need. There is no sense repairing the high school roof if we're not going to follow it up each year with maintenance so it won't leak again."

Margorie Sliger said it was wrong to promote the millage election as a test of the superintendent's popularity in the community.

"There is a time and a place for an evaluation of our administration. This will be in March," she said. "I think we should not confuse one need with a job that the board has to do."

Vice-President Douglas Whitaker conceded that the decision to go for a millage was reached before Lewis reached the board, but he added, "I regret that you could not at least support the decision that was reached by the board before you."

Then Spear said he could recall several times when Lewis, as a member of the board audience, had expressed the need for six hours in the high school which won't be available, unless the millage passes.

"If you would please reconsider in the name of the children of the Northville Public Schools," said Spear.

Lewis, who will have two children in the high school next year, appeared to resent that last remark. "My own kids are on the line," he reminded Spear.

Then, after Whitaker moved that the board support the millage, Lewis said he would vote "yes" if his amendment were included.

"Otherwise, I'll abstain," he said. "But I do not want to be one person who is going to be accused of trying to shoot down the millage."

The amendment and the motion passed 6-0 with Charles Peltz, who was also elected in June, absent.

Popular principal is asked to stay

The parents of children in Meads Mill Junior High School have a message for departing Principal Ronald Horwath.

"We want you back, Ron," they said. Horwath's popularity was evident Monday night when petitions bearing the names of 308 people were presented to the board of education.

The petitions urged Horwath to reconsider his decision to return to the classroom and asked that the board reverse any actions that would prevent Horwath from remaining principal.

Horwath requested reassignment to the classroom earlier this summer in the midst of a controversy over the reassignment of high school principal Michael Tarpinian to the classroom.

Horwath could not be reached Tuesday morning for comment. Superintendent Raymond Spear told the board that he was trying to arrange a meeting with Horwath to see if he would reconsider.

Meanwhile, Spear said he hoped to have a new high school principal by the middle of August.

Six of 56 candidates have been selected to be interviewed by a screening committee of two teachers, a high school parent, Director of Instruction Nancy Soper and Spear.

Spear will then make a selection from the committee's three choices.

Immediately after that choice, he said he hoped to fill the middle school vacancy.

Twenty-three have already applied for that job and more applications may be forthcoming before Monday's deadline.

Hudson's is first of 4 big stores

Though four major tenants are locating in the Twelve Oaks Mall, only Hudson's will be opening August 2 when the mall officially begins operation. The other major tenants, Sears, J.C. Penney and Lord & Taylor are in various stages of construction.

Hudson's is the largest of the four stores with three levels and a total square footage of almost a quarter million square feet. Located at the west end of the shopping center and facing Novi Road, the store is the 14th J.C. Hudson store in Michigan and Northeastern Ohio.

Hudson's in the Twelve Oaks Mall has three outside entrances and two mall entrances. From the mall entrance on the store's first level, customers will enter the menswear level. The Pro Spot, featuring sportswear and equipment for athletically active people is also on that level.

Throughout the store there are departments for every age person plus furnishings for the home. Hudson's also features "The Greenery" Restaurant which seats 200. Services available at Hudson's Twelve Oaks include Hudson's Bridal Registry, ticket service, optical department, repair center and photo studio. Hours will be 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

The second major tenant to open in the Twelve Oaks Mall will be Sears which has an opening date of October 1. Located in the north sector of the shopping center, the Sears store is a two level structure comprising 200,000 square feet of space. Contemporary in design, the Twelve Oaks Sears will feature more than 50 separate merchandising departments and an attached automotive service center capable of servicing 21 cars at one time. It will also feature a number of specialty shops.

"All statistics—population, retail sales, effective buying income and economics potential—pointed to the need for Sears to expand its facilities to serve this growing trading area," said Sherwood T. Culp, General Manager of Sears Operation in the Detroit Metropolitan area.

Robert P. Lane, an experienced Sears retailing executive has been named manager of the new Sears. He managed the downtown store in Indianapolis for the past two years before coming to Twelve Oaks.

"All that Sears has learned in its 81 years of meeting the needs of the American consumer will be reflected in our Novi store serving the growing Northwest area," commented Lane.

Opening in March, 1978 will be the Twelve Oaks Lord & Taylor. Occupying two shopping levels and 123,000 square feet, The Lord and Taylor will be the smallest of the major tenant stores. It is located in the east sector of the center.

It will feature complete lines of men's wear, women's wear, children's wear and home fashions. It will also have restaurant facilities and a beauty salon.

Joseph E. Brooks, chairman and executive officer for Lord & Taylor, says the move into this market was prompted because "metropolitan Detroit is an exciting and vital community—a changing market—one of new optimism of growth, of quality people. We are anxious to become a part of the greater Detroit area."

Along with the Twelve Oaks store, Lord & Taylor will be simultaneously opening stores at Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn and another at Lakeside in Sterling Heights.

Expected to be the last of the four major tenants to open is Penney's, in the south portion of the mall. Opening date will be in the spring, possibly in May.

Penney's is a two-level store and will include 155,593 square feet. It will include a truck dock, penthouse structure for air conditioning equipment and an attached 12 bay auto center offering Penney's own brand tires, batteries, accessories and complete auto services.

As a full line department store, the Twelve Oaks Penney's will carry a complete selection of J.C. Penney private brand hard lines including appliances, along with an assortment of soft goods. A full selection of the latest fashion apparel from such center as New York, Dallas, Miami and Los Angeles will be another feature. The new store will be the seventh full-line department store opened by J.C. Penney in the Detroit area since 1975.

In total, the four major tenants will total 718,000 of the 1.4 million square feet encompassed by the total mall stores.

Eventually a fifth major tenant is expected to be added.

Named to list

Boston's Berklee College of Music has named Herman A. Wedemeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wedemeyer Sr., 45189 West 9 Mile, to the dean's list for the spring semester of the 76-77 school year.

To be eligible for this honor, a student must maintain an academic average of B plus (3.3 out of a possible 4.0) while carrying a full program of studies.

Wedemeyer is majoring in composition.

His curriculum includes courses in solo and orchestral performance, improvisation and arranging, as well as courses in the humanities. Upon graduation from Berklee, he will be qualified as a teacher, arranger-composer and instrumentalist.

Police Blotter

Distracted by fire, boy is theft victim

A young Northville man stopped to watch a fire Saturday night and he ended up getting burned.

He wasn't hurt, but when he returned to his pick-up truck, he discovered that someone had lifted his $100 leather jacket and two 8-track tapes.

Sometime between 11:30 p.m. and midnight, someone entered his truck and stole away with his jacket and tapes. No arrests have been made.

Last Monday, several people suffered minor injuries in a three-car collision on Eight Mile Road.

The Northville City Police report indicates that Michelle Anusbigian, 18, 47100 Grasmere, had stopped her car to make a left onto Lanthorn.

The driver of the second car, Michael Coutts, 18, 43534 Cottisford, told police he applied his brakes before striking the first car and swerved into the westbound lane.

That caused his car to also collide with a westbound car being driven by Paul Babij, 60, of Brighton.

Coutts and his three passengers suffered cuts and bruises while Babij complained of back pains. The injured were taken to St. Mary Hospital where they were treated and released.

Someone made off with the wheel covers of two cars parked outside a Forest Drive residence, according to the Northville Township Police.

Both car owners say they discovered the thefts when they went to their cars Wednesday morning. The thefts apparently took place after 9:30 p.m. the previous night.

Taken were a set of silver wire wheel covers valued at $200 and a set of chrome wire wheel covers valued at $124.

In the township

Maybe it had something to do with the warm weather, but escapes were especially high last week at the Northville State Hospital.

All told, 18 escaped between Monday, July 18 and Sunday, July 24.

The most popular days were Friday and Saturday. A group of six escaped Friday and of six more escapes Saturday, five were in a group. Some of those in the group that escaped Saturday had also been involved in Friday's escapes but had been returned.

Almost all those reported missing had been returned by Monday.

A Northville Township man told state police that his mother had tried to drug him by slipping valium into his tomato juice.

The man said his mother was on the "kookie" side, according to police, and had recently returned home after an absence of several days.

It was at this time that she put the valium—which she was taking under doctor's prescription—in his juice, he said.

The man claimed he got dizzy after drinking the tomato juice. The crime lab is now analyzing the drink.

Two women may be charged with smuggling marijuana to a friend in DeHoCo, according to state police.

Last Tuesday, a DeHoCo employee became suspicious when she saw a visitor holding hands with an inmate. A subsequent search found a substance believed to be marijuana on the prisoner, according to police.

After questioning, DeHoCo personnel found more suspected marijuana in the inmate's cottage, said police. Warrants are being sought against both the visitors and the inmate.

One car was stolen and another one nearly was, according to township police.

A young township woman said her Gran Torino was missing from its parking space on Aqueduct at 8 a.m. on Thursday. She told police it must have been stolen after midnight.

The same morning, another girl found the door opened on her car parked near her Savoy Court residence. She discovered that someone had removed the ignition. Police are investigating.

A boat owner discovered Saturday that someone had stolen a $200 motor from the craft he was storing in the Highland Lakes area off Griswold.

The thief apparently cut through a chain that had secured the motor to the stern of the boat.

There was good news, too. Township police found a stolen car resting along side Five Mile Road near Northville Road. Washtenaw County officials were notified so the owner could be located.

Stationery request is turned down

It was a paper victory, of sorts. Or a defeat, depending on your perspective.

Newly-elected Northville school board member James Lewis thought that using official school stationery might expedite his information requests from other school districts, legislators, government agencies and the like.

Plus, he said, the secretaries at his Birmingham office could then prepare his correspondence rather than wasting the time of school central office personnel.

But when he asked for school stationery bearing the letterhead of Northville Public Schools, he was stymied. There was no policy that allowed school board members to write letters as a school representative.

There still isn't.

School board members discussed Lewis' request last week and, to a person, they didn't think it was a good idea.

Basically, each feared that a letter on school stationery might carry the implication that an individual board member was acting as the district's spokesperson.

President John Hobart noted that, unlike legislators, school board members do not have official status except when meetings are in session and the board is making decisions as a whole.

Secretary Chris Johnson said that during his first year on the board he used his own stationery and identified himself as a school board member in his signature.

Schoolcraft offers class on evidence

Schoolcraft College will offer a course for law enforcement officers covering crime scene physical evidence on August 6 and 13.

The class will meet on both Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Northville State Police Post.

According to instructor James Hauncher of the State Police Scientific Laboratory, the two-day course is designed to acquaint law enforcement officers with modern methods of recognition, evaluation, collection and preservation of physical evidence at the crime scene.

In addition, a brief discussion of the analytical methods used by the crime laboratory will be presented. Practical "hands-on" experience in the collection of various types of evidence will be provided. The class will also tour the State Police Scientific Laboratory.

Hauncher is a laboratory scientist in the criminalistics section at the scientific laboratory.

The police post is located on Seven Mile, between Haggerty and Northville roads, in Northville.

At camp

Ted Adams of Northville is attending the third session at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, a summer school of the arts located just north of Muskegon.

He is majoring in band at the camp, which was founded in 1966.

College campaign

Greenleaf top spender

Some Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees candidates spent nearly as much on their campaigns as the Citizens for Schoolcraft College spent on the millage campaign which failed.

An examination of statements filed with the Wayne County Election Commission revealed Harry Greenleaf spent $1,711 and Rosina Raymonds spent $1,528 on their successful bids while the Schoolcraft College Committee said it spent $1,747 on the millage drive.

The Citizens for Schoolcraft College reported it had collected a total of $2,514, though, with only $826 being collected after June 1.

According to election commission files most of the committee's expenses were incurred through printing costs and direct mailing campaigns. The committee said it spent $738 for printing and $583 for a mail campaign. It also paid Schoolcraft College $325 for services rendered.

Of the trustees candidates filing financial statements, Greenleaf, a Livonia resident, led the way both in cash collected and money spent. As the third top vote-getter he earned a place on the eight-man board of trustees. Only Mrs. Raymond, who tallied 5,578 votes, and Leonard Wozniak, with 4,540, topped Greenleaf's 4,417 total.

Four candidates, Wozniak, Laura Toy, Karl Sjorgren, and Michael Ciccella, have not filed financial reports, even though the filing deadline was July 13.

Wayne County officials said their names would be turned over to the Secretary of State's office. However, they said that office would probably not take action until the end of the year.

Greenleaf, who spent an average of 39 cents per vote, reported that of the $1,734 he collected through the course of the campaign, more than $1,000 was realized from a fund-raiser held May 13 at the Woodcrest Villa Apartments and Athletic Club.

He also reported that he contributed $200 to his campaign and received $50 contributions from Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara, the "Livonia G.O.P. Women" and Robert R. Bishop, of Livonia. His election committee, Citizens for Greenleaf, reported layout and printing costs, $840, were its biggest expense.

Mrs. Raymond, who was re-elected to another six-year term, said she collected $1,575 and spent $1,528. She spent an average of 27 cents per vote. The Committee to Re-elect Rosina Raymond listed Jerry Raymond, Mrs. Raymond's husband, as its most generous contributor with $730.

According to the financial statements, Mrs. Raymond contributed $500 and Eldon R. Raymond, manager of Ann Arbor Finance, donated $250.

The committee cited newspaper display advertising as its biggest expense. It reported it spent $780 in that area.

Jack Bologna, the Plymouth resident who finished only 99 votes behind Greenleaf, reported expenditures totaling $496, an average of 12 cents per vote. Newspaper advertising accounted for 75 percent of his expenses.

The Committee to Elect Jack Bologna reported it had collected $429 through the course of the campaign. It also said the balance of its funds after the election, about $33, was donated to Growth Works, Inc., a non-profit youth services group.

The committee listed John Thomas, of Plymouth, as its top contributor with $100. James Jabara, Julie Thomann and Ralph Lorenz, all Plymouth residents, donated $50, according to the financial reports.

City revives road proposal

Continued from Page 1-A indicated such a route. The main obstacle, however, appears to be one of cost. County road officials have shown little interest in the project, nor have they indicated any willingness to contribute financially toward such a project if it is undertaken by the city.

The engineering study now under way is expected to estimate costs. Actually, part of this north-south route has already been completed. The extension of Griswold Street south to Beal Street was made by the city with this route in mind.

Concerning the proposed right-of-way through the lumberyard property, some council members believe that at least this portion of the road could be built while financial means are sought for its continuation south.

Besides construction costs, the roadway south of Base Line would require acquisition of private property and that isn't likely to come cheap.

Ideally, when the entire length of the road has been completed, it will mean motorists will be able to travel from Novi Road south to Griswold and to South Main Street, council members have stated.

Council sees South Main (Northville Road) as a north thoroughfare. The county, on the other hand, sees Center Street (Sheldon Road) as the main thoroughfare because it would provide direct access to the new M-14 freeway now under construction in Plymouth. No access ramp to this freeway is planned on Northville Road.

Council and city planners so strongly objected to Center Street becoming a major thoroughfare, which eventually would mean widening this street through the downtown area and possibly wiping out downtown store buildings, that it pushed for and won jurisdiction over Center Street.

By gaining jurisdiction, the city can control traffic. Council members have discouraged through traffic along this street, and they have suggested the new north-south route would be more ideally suited for such traffic.

For jail, court

Pushes out-county site

Wayne County Commissioner Richard E. Manning (D-Redford-Livonia) has cited what he called "compelling pertinent history and certain essential facts" in support of his renewed proposal to build an out-county complex that includes jail and court facilities.

Manning's proposal was approved by the board of commissioners, July 7, as an amendment when the board was considering three sites in downtown Detroit. The amendment asks for a site on county-owned land in either Romulus or Westland.

Since then, however, Commissioners Arthur M. Carter and Rose Mary C. Robinson, both from Detroit, have filed for reconsideration and the issue is before the board at its next meeting, July 28.

In his argument today for the out-county facility that would also include register of deeds, friend of the court, county clerk and county treasurer services, Manning contends that:

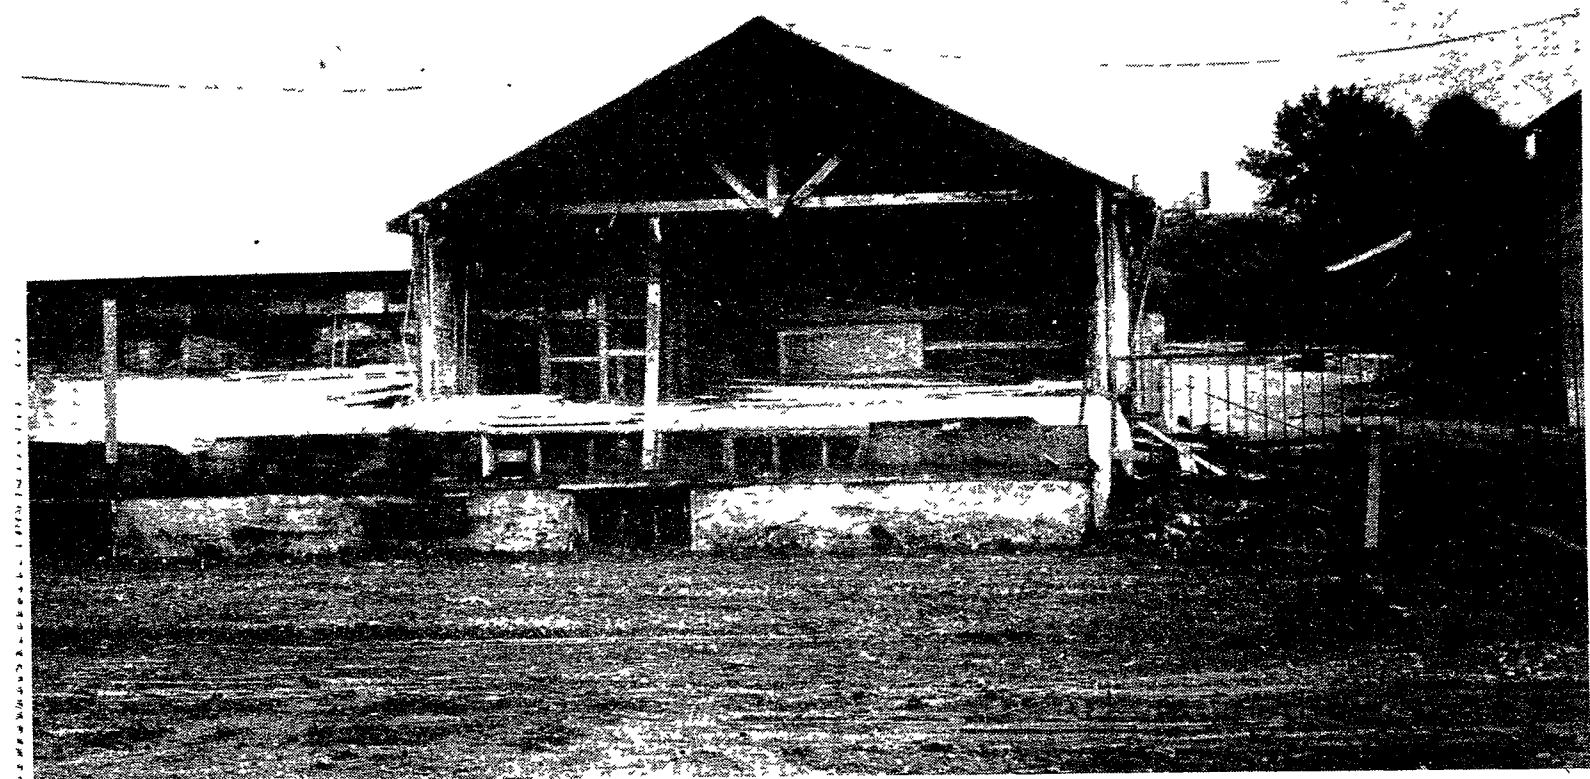

—The center of population in the area is shifting from downtown Detroit to a point west of Detroit;

—About 1.3 million county residents now live outside Detroit, about the same number as within the city;

—Substantial savings in suburban police budgets can be made by

GIFT CONSIDERED—An old offer to donate property for a new north-south road right-of-way has been revived by the Northville City Council in the wake of the fire that recently destroyed an old storage building of Northville Lumber Company. The offer made by Stewart Oldford, company owner, suggests a right-of-way through the lumberyard property, parallel to the C&O Railroad. If accepted by council, this section of the road would pass through what remains of the storage building (top) at Base Line and extend north to Eight mile Road.

6 complete orientation at WMU

Summer orientation has been completed by the second half of Northville students who will be freshman at Western Michigan University this fall.

They are: Stephen Devereaux, Richard Rose, Jr., Claudia Riegner, Kathleen Huston, David Settles, and Sheri Pink.

The new students will return for the first day of fall semester classes on Monday, August 29.

Annexation tied to plan for township water line

maintain it in the future, and continue to receive water from the city.

Annexation, according to council, "would allow the city to design and build the water line improvements, and finance them by special assessment bonds."

Because it is part of the township, the city has no jurisdiction nor can it special assess township areas.

If the area became part of the city, benefiting water customers would pay back the cost of the water line installation over a 10 or 15 year period at a six-percent interest. "In addition, vacant lots, and possibly developed lots not now on the public water system, could share in the benefits of the system and the cost of it, either now or when they connect to it later," the council proposal explained.

"In addition to a simplified financing procedure, the Bloomcrest area residents would receive the benefit of other city services such as refuse collection, police and fire service and locally controlled road maintenance.

"Because of the savings from refuse collection charges, single water rates (township customers of city water are now charged double rates), and income tax credits, the net cost of the city millage increase would be much less than it might appear. In many cases, it would actually cost less in actual dollars to pay city taxes and single water rates rather than township taxes and double water rates, aside from the substantial increase in services received. This results from the fact that city tax payments, earn substantial state income tax credit, while water bill payments do not.

"Even for those township residents in the Bloomcrest area not now receiving city water, the net cost of city taxes after the direct credits are deducted is much less than the millage rate implies."

Currently, the millage rate of the township is 2.5, the city 12.9.

Short of annexation, the city is telling Bloomcrest that it, as a subdivision, must finance the installation and maintenance of the line itself if it expects to continue buying water from the city.

Either the subdivision or the township would be the owners of the line and totally responsible for it.

The city has said, however, that it will help arrange the engineering of the new line — at township residents' expense.

To prove its willingness to get the job done and thus get around the October 1 deadline, Bloomcrest customers must contribute $5,000 to an escrow account to be handled as a trust by the city, council has said. The city would, if township residents desired, maintain accounting and administrative records on the process.

"Regardless of the manner in which the money was handled, the engineering study would be subject to city's approval prior to proceeding with construction by the township residents," the proposal stated.

If after engineering and once a specific cost estimate is known, Bloomcrest would then have to decide if it should proceed with the line's installation. If it decided to proceed, Bloomcrest would "have to contribute the full cost of the construction, and contract with a qualified contractor to construct the improvement. The customers could finance their contributions individually or through various banks, or perhaps collectively through the subdivision association."

The city has been reluctant to estimate the cost of the project prior to engineering. However, it has cited, as an example, that if the present temporary line were simply made permanent with no other improvements the cost probably would approximate $22,000.

The city contends that in addition to making this line permanent, Bloomcrest must expect that fire hydrant service might have to be improved and that the water tower pumping capacity would have to be increased. Furthermore, the adequacy of the existing four-inch line as a water distribution line would have to be considered by the engineer.

"Therefore, strictly as an example to project cost per customer, if a total cost of $75,000 were assumed to cover all the necessary improvements, the 31 customers would each have to contribute $2,500; this would include the initial contribution of $162 from each customer for the engineering study," the city's proposal said.

Part of this cost, according to the city, could be recovered by the subdivision if it required new township customers to pay into a subdivision water fund upon tapping into the system.

A new wrinkle in the on-going water problem may have been raised this past week when it was suggested by Mayor A.M. Allen that he assumes Bloomcrest customers must pay for the installation of the present temporary line.

The mayor said it has been his understanding "all along" that "when we put in that line for them we'd eventually get back our money."

Other council members, however, were not so certain. "With all the problems we've had with those people thus far, it might be better to just chalk it up as a lost investment," they concluded.

Millage hike up to voters

added to the maintenance budget and $20,000 will be spent to hire two new custodians.

(Some of the projects that school officials say they will undertake with this money includes painting classrooms at Amerman, Moraine, Cooke and the high school, upgrading science equipment at the high school and junior highs, and replacing furniture in the older school buildings.)

—An assistant principal for the junior high schools. School officials say this is a vitally needed position but they are wary of public reaction to the hiring of a $20,000 administrator. Campaign literature mailed out by the school board last week neglected to mention that this position will be added if the millage passes.

—Expanded extra-curricular activities, especially in sports and especially for girls. A dozen coaches would be hired for seventh, eighth and ninth grade girls' basketball and volleyball teams at both junior high schools. Some $11,500 has been set aside for salaries and another $19,000 to buy equipment for extra-curricular activities.

—$20,000 to cover fringe benefits for new employees.

Northville now levies 32.8 mills for operation and 7.19 for debt retirement.

The quiet, almost non-existent campaign that has preceded Saturday's election is in sharp contrast with the concerted citizens effort that was instrumental in passing a 3.9-mill request in 1976 after two earlier issues had failed.

That millage victory was hailed as a beginning to the end of turmoil that had rocked the district during school closings and a $150,000 deficit.

But the strife has continued this year in the form of controversies about the poor condition of the high school, the treatment of an alternative education class and its teacher, the decision to cancel year-round school, a strike by custodians and bus drivers, and the reassignment of high school Principal Michael Tarpinian.

School officials are apparently banking on the strategy that a quiet campaign can convince voters that the district's financial needs are real and should not be tied into personal complaints.

"I hope the concerns in general won't be held against the educational needs of children," said Spear, himself under fire since two men who recommended his dismissal were elected to the school board in June.

"I sincerely hope that the citizens of the community will look at the educational needs of children when casting their vote.

"I fully realize the concerns but I think these things can be worked out.

"But what the students lose in 1977-78 (if the millage fails), the likelihood is that these things will never be made up. Once it's gone, it's gone."

Study session set for board

The Northville board of education has called a study session for 7:30 p.m. Monday, August 1, at the central administrative offices, 303 West Main Street.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss the instrument that will be used for evaluating the superintendent.

The meeting is open to the public.

Haze Wilson, Community Relations Manager, Livonia, offers you this telephone tip:

"If you have a question about your phone service, your Michigan Bell Service Representative has the answer."

Ever have a question about your phone service...a question you never asked because you didn't know who to ask? Well, the answer is simple and easy to get. Just call your Michigan Bell Service Representative. You'll find his or her telephone number right on the front of your phone bill.

We call them Service Representatives because that's exactly what they do...represent Michigan Bell by serving you in any way they can. Service Representatives are thoroughly trained and qualified to answer just about any question you may have about your phone service from Michigan Bell. After all, service is why we're here.

School board changes

It just isn't the same

If a Northville resident returned home this week after a 14-month journey, he could not be blamed if he had trouble recognizing the board of education.

After all, only two current members were sitting on the seven-person board as recently as May of 1976.

Since then, two elections and a pair of resignations have drastically changed the board's make-up which is now dominated by relative newcomers.

In fact, Marjorie Sliger and Chris Johnson — both elected for the first time in June of 1976 — now have more board experience than three of the other five board members.

Only President John Hobart, who has served since 1973, and Treasurer Karen Wilkinson, elected in 1974, can boast much more than a year's time on the board.

The changeover began in the June 1976 election when Mrs. Sliger and Johnson took the place of incumbents Orlo Robinson and Martin Rinehart, neither of whom were candidates.

The transformation continued when both Sylvia Gucken and Robert Mandell were forced to resign because they were moving out of the district.

Rinehart came out of "retirement" to fill one interim vacancy and Douglas Whitaker was named to the other.

Last June, Whitaker was elected on his own right and, with neither Rinehart or Vice-President Roger Nieuwkoop choosing to run, two more new faces joined the board. They were Charles Peltz and James Lewis.

Although five members have climbed aboard the school board's ship in little more than a year, it is incorrect to assume that they are green "rookies."

All have had close association with the school system. Mrs. Sliger was a Northville teacher before her election and Johnson, the youngest board member, is a 1973 Northville High School graduate.

Whitaker was appointed to the board after serving as president of the high school PTSO. Lewis has been a regular attendee of school board meetings and headed a citizen group called SPIDER which was concerned with school problems.

Before his election, Peltz served on the Citizen Advisory Committee where he chaired the survey committee and he also chaired the high school curriculum committee.

School year elections are generally for staggered, four-year terms — two seats become vacant each year — but, because of the resignations, Whitaker, and Lewis ran for shorter terms.

Here's the way the board terms now stand:

Lewis and Mrs. Wilkinson will both be up for re-election next summer.

In 1979, it will be Hobart and Whitaker who will have to face the voters.

In 1980, Mrs. Sliger and Johnson will be completing their terms. The following year, if there are no resignations, only Peltz will be up for re-election.

Host family is sought for exchange student

Search for host families of a 16-year-old Philippine boy has been launched by the Northville Rotary Club.

The club is sponsoring William Reyes as part of Rotary Youth Exchange. He is expected to arrive here at the end of August.

According to Rotarian Charles Mann, the family must provide free room and board for the boy while he attends Northville High School. The family, therefore, must live within the Northville school district.

"During the year that the boy will spend in Northville," explained Mann, "we are hopeful he will have an opportunity to live with three different families so that he can obtain a more rounded impression of American life."

Families interested in hosting the boy are asked to call Mann at 349-5400.

Last year the Rotary Club sponsored an exchange youth from Mexico. By sponsoring an exchange student, the club agrees to make arrangement for his housing and board, and it provides the student with spending money.

For conservation officer

No such thing as an average day

By RICH PERLBERG

There is no such thing as an average work day for Mike Hanson.

As a conservation officer, he might be tracking down a poacher or inspecting the safety equipment on a boat. He might be cracking down on litterers or he might be protecting walleyes from unsportsmanlike net-dippers.

He's just as likely to give advice on how to get rid of a pesky raccoon as he is to check the licenses of 1000 hunters on opening day of deer season.

And he might arrest a drunk driver.

"People don't realize that we are in law enforcement," he said from his Eight Mile Road home which borders Maybury State Park on the west.

"We are not biologists and we are not hunting and fishing all day."

In fact, he would have more time for outdoor recreation if it didn't take so much time protecting Michigan's abundant natural resources from those who would destroy them.

"We are all on salary, but every officer puts in many hours of overtime a week," he said. "It's extremely hard on your personal life. You never know when you are going to get home "And when you do, the only way you can be sure that you won't get a call is to get out of town."

But he's not complaining. He said it's a good job "for someone who realizes what it is." There's no routine to get trapped in and there are many challenges.

"You feel like you are accomplishing something," he added. "You find out a lot about yourself in a hurry."

Since the Department of Natural Resources can only afford to budget for 200 conservation officers, strong qualifications are vital to landing one of the jobs.

Hanson, for instance, got a degree in forestry and wildlife at the University of Michigan and expects to complete his masters soon.

Then, before he can go out into the field on his own, a conservation officer must complete a course at an accredited police academy. That's because they are gun-toting law officers who enforce all of Michigan's statutes.

"We run file checks for everyone we ticket," he said. "There were two felony hits this spring and many warrants and misdemeanors. We can stop someone going down the road if we suspect them of drunk driving or speeding.

"We can enforce any law but we don't go out of the way to do traffic because we don't have the time."

Hanson always enforces littering ordinances, though, and that habit got him in a jam last month.

He was jumped by two men he was attempting to ticket in the Highland Lakes area and, after a long struggle, he was overpowered and held at gunpoint by his own snub-nosed revolver.

It's the third confrontation the tall Hanson has encountered in slightly more than two years and the first time he came in second.

Hanson, who usually does 70 push-ups in the morning, twice had to aid comrades. In one instance, a man started fighting rather than give up his .41 caliber magnum that he was using to shoot salmon.

"I don't know if there have been any more of these encounters recently, but I know that we're more aware of them," says Hanson.

"Because there are not enough conservation officers, we almost invariably have to work by ourselves."

There are only four officers in all of Wayne County, but that is twice the number in the Traverse City area — Hanson's home town — where there are 30 lakes, the Grand Traverse Bay, Lake Michigan and large forest tracts.

Thus, those who wish to break the conservation laws have numbers on their side. There are 3500 deer hunters for every conservation officer, for instance.

Fortunately, Hanson has found that most people are happy to comply with the regulations. There are, of course, exceptions.

Net dippers — who may keep carp, suckers and smelt but who are supposed to throw back fish like walleyes and pike — will break the law "95 percent of the time," he said.

To make matters worse, they are also guilty of throwing thousands of empty beer cans around the landscape and, once properly soused, they are guilty of destroying property, fighting and generally being nuisances.

Through heavy undercover work, conservation officers have reduced much of the offenses in Wayne County but it is at the price of neglecting other duties.

They work, for instance, with federal Food and Drug officials to monitor the fish and meat sold in the state.

They are also likely to get called when some joker starts shooting pheasants off a backyard bird feed in Livonia or when poachers kill deer on Napier Road.

They enforce snowmobile laws which is both dangerous and difficult. Machines are not supposed to ride on any roads in Wayne County, but the law is often broken.

"The snowmobilers say there is no place for them to go in Wayne County and I sympathize with them," said Hanson. "But you can't see the back of a snow-covered car when you are on a snowmobile going 40 miles an hour or faster and you outrun your headlights."

What else do they do? They check to see the hunting and fishing license outlets are properly run; monitor trash hauling firms and landfill operations; serve subpoenas issued by the attorney general to firms polluting the land, air or water; check with taxidermists to see that they are not stuffing animals killed out of season.

They also make sure that residents don't try to make pets out of wild animals — such as raccoons, ducks and squirrels — which is illegal as well as dangerous.

Domesticated raccoons, for instance, become mean and have to be destroyed because they will bite humans. They can also spread disease since veterinarians — for fear of losing their license — may not vaccinate them.

Keeping an eye on small game hunters is a big job around Northville because there are many grassy fields where pheasants and rabbits can breed.

They also check to see if hunters have permission to hunt on private property, but they can't kick off those that don't.

"We aren't bouncers," explained Hanson. "We can tell them that they should have permission, but the landowner must sign the complaint."

Conservation officers are also responsible for enforcing state park rules, but Hanson says there are relatively few problems at Maybury State Park.

That's partly due to a good fence — snowmobilers, for instance, have cut holes in fences to enter other parks — and to the people who use the parks who often pick up after others.

In their "spare time," they keep their equipment up to date.

It's a busy life, but Hanson isn't ready to trade it.

MARJORIE GARRISON

Mrs. Marjorie Garrison, 57, 26 Brookside Place, Northville, died July 12, at St. Mary in Livonia after a long illness.

Mrs. Garrison was born April 4, 1920, in Elmer, Missouri, the daughter of William and Mary (Davis) Perkins. She came to South Lyon in 1957 from Missouri, and was a member of the South Lyon Church of Christ and the V.F.W. Auxiliary.

Mrs. Garrison married William Garrison on July 14, 1961. She is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Robert (Jean) Nickel of Iowa and a son, James Sales of Iowa; and three brothers, William Perkins and Delbert Perkins of Iowa and Robert Perkins of Colorado.

Funeral services for Mrs. Garrison were July 15 at the South Lyon Church of Christ, with the Reverend Ray Pippin officiating. Interment was in South Lyon cemetery.

He was born April 25, 1906, in Detroit and married the former Valeria Marquis, who survives.

He was the father of Mrs. Thomas (Margaret) Dinsler, Robert Fulton, Mrs. Ronald (Patricia) Mancini, Mrs. John (Valeria) Weber, Alice and Patsy. He leaves 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, and the late Stephen Woznick.

IONE GRIMES

Ione Grimes, 59, died July 19 at her home in Pasadena, Texas, after an illness of two years. A housewife, she had been a Northville resident for 31 years before moving south.

Services were held at 11 a.m. last Thursday at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated, with Pastor Ivan Speight and the Reverend John Davis officiating. Interment was in Parkview Memorial Cemetery in Livonia.

Mrs. Grimes was a member of Salem Bible Church where the Reverend Speight is pastor.

She was born January 12, 1918, in Vicksburg, Mississippi, to Claude Lee and Emera Alta (Spell) Young. She married Horace H. Grimes who preceded her in death in September, 1974.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. J. F. (Erma) Srite of Pasadena and Mrs. Lillian Watkins of Brandon, Mississippi.

THOMAS RILEY

Services for Thomas E. Riley, 71, of Northville Township were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home with Father Edward Ritter officiating. Interment was in Holy Sepulchre.

Mr. Riley, a retired salesman at F. D. Stella Products, died July 23 at Wayne County General Hospital.

Young Republicans eye 2nd District group

The Second Congressional District's Young Republicans met July 13 to organize the first districtwide Youth Organization.

Among those attending the meeting were Ann Arbor Councilman, Wendell Allen (acting as an advisor), long-time Ann Arbor Republican Jerry Lutz (as an advisor), Mark Straton, student intern for Congressman Carl Pursell and the Second Congressional District's youth chairman, Roger Donaldson, president of the Wayne County Republicans and Wayne II youth chairman;

Rae Lyn Wesley, president of the Monroe County Young Republicans; Val Jaskiewicz, former candidate for Ann Arbor Council; Tim Taritas, former candidate for third vice chairman of the Youth Mackinaw Conference; lawyer Douglas Buchanan and Claude A. Rowe, III, student intern for the City of Ann Arbor.

At the meeting, a tentative districtwide organizational structure was established including an eight-member steering committee. The committee will be chaired by Straton and thus far has the following composition: Monroe County representatives, youth chairman Bob Monroe and Rae Lyn Wesley; Roger Donaldson of Wayne County and Val Jaskiewicz, Doug Buchanan and Barb Jones from Washtenaw County.

The group of 15 core

*They please twice—
First the gardener who touches soil
Then the beholder who views results*

A garden can be an oasis in a city parking lot, faithfully tended by the community Beautification Commission. It can be estate-size or as small as a few feet between sidewalk and house given over to marigolds and daisies instead of grass.

Gardens don't have to be earth-bound. You can find them in old cast iron pots, on roof tops or in flower boxes.

These, photographed throughout Northville, are only a few examples of the hundreds of lovingly cultivated gardens that please the eye and soul around almost every corner.

Speaking for The Record

Schools need voters' YES

Last November a large number of citizens turned out for a flu clinic at Northville High School. For a substantial number it was the first time they saw the condition of a building that had been spotlighted for some time. For others it was a visit that reinforced earlier impressions.

The general reaction was one of shock.

Some were understandably angered. Why, they demanded, had their school officials allowed the building to deteriorate so terribly?

Granted, they saw the building in its worst condition when vandalized windows were boarded up, accentuating an appalling display of disgraceful destruction.

Those windows have since been repaired, and a conscientious effort has been made to improve the building's general housekeeping.

But the simple fact is that the deterioration is likely to continue until added monies are provided for repair, maintenance, and day-to-day cleaning of this and other buildings in the school district.

But, given the district's present income, each additional dollar added to the maintenance budget must necessarily be pared from the educational budget. And, just as many are upset about the condition of the buildings, many others are angered because their children are not receiving the educational opportunities they demand and deserve.

The pie slices just so many ways.

That is the dilemma facing the Northville School Board. Under fire from all sides to satisfy public demands, it can provide an inadequate helping of everything that satisfies no one; it can provide thicker slices of some and thinner slices of others; or it can ask voters for a bigger pie.

None of these alternatives is very pleasing. For the taxpayers the latter is, perhaps, the least appealing.

But just as we are sure that some will say, "The Record always comes out on the side of tax increases," this newspaper is convinced next Saturday's 2.8-mill increase proposal had to be put to the voters by the board. To do less and pretend the problem will mysteriously disappear would have been a disservice.

Furthermore, in our opinion the millage increase, however distasteful it may seem, is needed and deserves support.

The alternatives spelled out here editorially last week are even more distasteful. Our children already are being shortchanged; a tax revolt Saturday will only compound the injury. And no amount of screaming and stomping at future school board meetings will resolve the resulting crisis.

The Record believes the current school board has leveled with the people. It has completely disclosed the budget — a step we believe should have been taken long before a new state law forced the board's hand; it has spelled out exactly how it intends to use additional monies if provided by taxpayers; and it has outlined precisely what will happen if the money is not provided.

Thus, when we the taxpayers go to the polls we know the consequences of our actions.

receiving only token payments for their efforts.

At the same time, however, the elected positions are vitally important, and those who serve in these positions demonstrate a real interest in the welfare of our community.

Terms expiring in November include those of Mayor A. Malcolm Allen and Councilmen Paul Folino and W. Wallace Nichols.

In addition, Councilman Paul Vernon has stated that he will resign from his position to run for the office of mayor—a position from which Allen will retire. Vernon's planned resignation will permit that seat to be filled by election rather than by council appointment.

Nominating petitions must be signed by not less than 50 nor more than 75 registered electors. They cannot be filed before September 1 nor later than October 3.

Under the law, a single individual may circulate petitions for two different seats, but must withdraw one of them within three days after the filing deadline or both will be declared invalid.

ARVE BAKKEN

YES . . .

As more and more people become acquainted with Laetrile or Vitamin B-17, the reactions of the anti-Laetrile crowd become more hysterical.

After all, since orthodox therapy after Metastasis is a total failure, the whole point of cancer therapy must be a "freedom of choice in other therapies without government intervention".

Sixteen hundred people contract cancer each day. Eleven hundred people die each day of cancer. One out of every four of us will contract cancer in our lifetime and the rate is increasing each year.

Laetrile is a harmless substance when taken in normal quantities. Chemotherapy and radiation are harmful to the body.

If you eat such things as lima beans, millet, gooseberries, blackberries, certain cranberries, buckwheat, apples with the seeds you are ingesting vitamin B-17. Vitamin B-17 is not a drug.

And in this area, a few courageous bio-chemists and medical doctors are making an assault upon cancer with far better results and less pain than orthodox therapy.

They have done this without the help of any grants from the government or the American Cancer Society.

Again freedom of choice is the key right. Twenty seven nations in the world have recognized this basic human right and have legalized Laetrile.

Speaking for Myself

Laetrile worthwhile?

MARY VAN VLEET

NO . . .

Laetrile is today's example of cancer quackery — a multi-million dollar scheme for a few at the expense of many. Laetrile is of no value in either the prevention and-or cure of cancer.

Proponents have produced absolutely no valid scientific proof on which to base their contention that Laetrile is, in any way, effective against cancer. All they can offer are testimonials which are far from the hard scientific evidence needed to show any beneficial effects of Laetrile.

Studies by the National Cancer Institute as well as the Sloan-Kettering Institute have failed to reveal the slightest shred of scientific evidence that Laetrile has any beneficial effect against cancer.

Further, Laetrile can be dangerous. When taken orally, it decomposes in the intestinal tract into a cyanide which can be fatal for infants or weakened elderly adults.

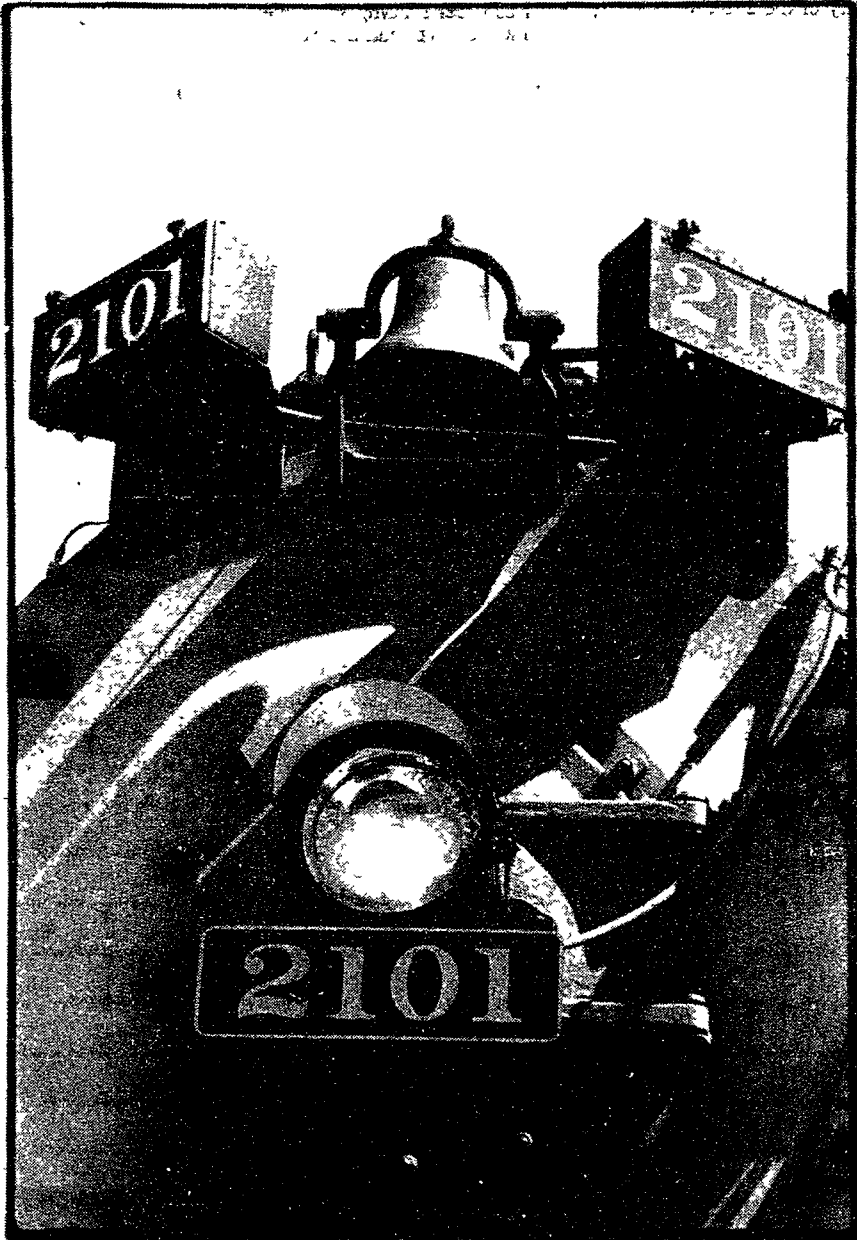

Laetrile gives people a false sense of security so they ignore methods of early detection and proven methods of treatment. In treating cancer, time is essential. The earlier cancer is detected and treated, the greater the chances for recovery.

Besides being useless and toxic, Laetrile is indeed harmful for it may rob a patient of that most precious asset of all in cancer treatment — time.

HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

The old train was coasting through Grand Rapids when it screeched to a halt, jerking its passengers to attention as Walt Weible announced, "Well, folks, it looks like we'll have a late unscheduled steam stop."

C&O's Chessie Service Special ran out of steam only a couple miles from its destination at the Wyoming Yards and just when everyone was commenting that the old engine was going to get us there ahead of schedule.

"It's Murphy's law: if you're involved, something's bound to happen," scowled my wife.

She needn't have said it. I knew it the instant the ticket agent said the preferred northern-bound trip to the Clio area was sold out but that he had tickets galore for the one-way trip to Grand Rapids.

There was something ominous about that "one way" proclamation. But we bought the tickets anyway.

It wasn't until later that night while dreaming of the upcoming nostalgic trip aboard the old train that I bolted upright with the sudden realization of just why I was so apprehensive.

I kept it to myself. No sense scaring the dickens out of my companion, I thought.

We boarded the train in Detroit, picking car No. 4 for our sojourn.

No. 4's a handsome old bugger, a 54-seater built in 1927 by Bethlehem Shipbuilders for the Reading Railroad.

Like the exterior of all the cars pulled by the 2101, its interior is a "Chessie yellow" — a hideously disguised orange. But its orange seats are upholstered and nicely arranged to allow for plenty of leg room.

We chose a separate little opened compartment where six detached seats could be moved into any position.

A railroad buff shared the compartment. We knew he was a nut on railroads when he peered at us through goggles. He wore bib overalls, a red bandanna, and railroad cap, and he carried cameras and tape recorders.

"Welcome to No. 4," he said, launching into boring technical jargon. He moved, thank goodness, when the open window slammed shut on his arm, pinching off something about the T-1 class engine having four pilot wheels.

Frankly, I'd forgotten just how open an open car is.

The last time I rode in one we wore gas masks. It was a troop train, moving soldiers through a mountainous region where the trail huffed and puffed through several mountain tunnels. As usual, I was on KP and the kitchen car was open on both sides. The gas masks made breathing easier but they did little to

Time to consider council candidacy

There's still plenty of time, but persons wishing to seek office as council members or mayor may obtain nominating petitions now from the Northville city clerk.

The Record encourages nominations, and we're looking for some strong, meaningful campaigning by those who are prepared to give of their time and talents required of these public positions.

Public office often-times is a thankless job, and certainly in our community it is — as we think it should be — a payless job, with council members and the mayor

Millage hike proposal sparks support, opposition

They're for it

To the Editor:

The conventional wisdom has it that the school millage will fail on July 30th because of negative votes cast as a message to the school board that citizens of the district are dissatisfied.

There are always valid reasons to oppose an increase in the level of taxation for whatever purpose it is presented, but sending a message to the school board isn't one of them. The board already has the message loud and clear.

Chances are the district has never had a fresher, less-conditioned school board than the one in office now. Only two of seven members have served longer than a year. This situation alone will bring fresh viewpoints and new expectations to the school district. There will not be an overnight turnaround, or advances without mistakes, but there will be changes.

Some of the components of change will cost more money than anticipated local and state revenues will provide. This is why the board is asking for an additional 2.8 mills for the 1977-78 school year.

Through districtwide mailing and other publicity the board is trying to explain why the extra millage is needed and how it will be used. Please consider carefully your ability to support this millage request and base your decision on July 30th not on whether the board needs a message but on whether it has made its case.

Sincerely,
Douglas A. Whitaker

To the Editor:

One year and a month ago I began what has amounted to a career as a member of the Northville Board of Education. I have made an honest attempt to become more informed about our schools. I have listened, read, observed, visited our schools, attended seminars on finance and law, become acquainted with county and state school board organizations and their work and followed the legislative proposals in Lansing and Washington D.C.

More importantly and to the point of this letter, I have become aware of the controls placed on spending in this district and I am aware of the bills that have been submitted. I can say from first hand knowledge that money is spent for educational purposes or maintenance of buildings. I have differed with fellow board members on some priorities and a few choices.

Knowing how money is spent and listening to the educational expectations of members of the community enables me to say that the proposed millage increase will not meet all educational needs, and notice I said needs, but among others it will help in three very important areas about which I feel strongly. At the high school the choice of six hours of courses as opposed to the present five hours improves educational opportunity and helps alleviate some discipline problems. Lowering teacher-pupil ratio will enable every teacher to provide a better educational atmosphere. We must put beginning band back in the sixth grade if we wish to provide sound music programs in our junior and senior high.

Do I like the facts? Of course, I don't! But our money is being well-spent at the present time. Inflation is eating away at the education it provides now. The simple truth is if I want a good education for the young people of Northville I must add to monies already provided. As much as I would rather spend on golf, that new suit or go out to dinner once in awhile and eat less tuna and hamburger, I'm going to vote for the millage increase and squeeze the purse strings just that much tighter because my priorities say first things first.

I believe education is the very tap root of our democracy. I hope you believe this, too. Because if you do, you'll vote with me.

Marjorie Sliger
Trustee
Northville Board of Education

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to explain my position in the July 30, 1977 millage election. When I was elected to the board of education last year, one promise I made was to look at each issue and evaluate them on their own merit. It is my very firm opinion that the Northville Public Schools needs an additional 2.8 mills for the coming school year.

A dollar may be spent only one time. It can buy books, teachers, soap, wax, custodians, heat, buses, repairs, or one of hundreds of other things needed to run a good, sound educational program. But when there are not enough dollars, cuts must be made. If citizens were to study the line item budget for 1977-78 (available at the board office), they would see our most important areas of need.

Capital outlay is one of these. Here we have problems that need attention. Paint and cleaning supplies cost money. So do repairs and maintenance. The work on the high school roof will be wasted if we can't afford to do the work necessary to maintain it.

The size of the teaching staff is critical. This is very important. An increase in the teaching staff would allow the board to rehire the 10 teachers cut from the staff. Ten teachers could be hired to offer elementary instrumental music, six hours of class at the high school, a junior high curriculum worthy of Northville Public Schools and extra help for elementary reading.

I believe that the board must ask for the money to run a good and solid program for 1977-78. I have talked about and questioned the timing of this election. However, I realize that timing is a political choice. The safe political position will not help Northville school children in 1977-78. And we will never have a chance to bring back that year for any student.

I believe that this board should let you know how this puts the district in the future. As stated at the June 27 board meeting, this will allow us to offer a solid program for 1977-78. This is due to the board's use of 1973 bond issue funds. We will need more and we tell you that now for the 1978-79 school year.

The public asks us for improvements. But most of those cost money. We will not be able to (make them) without it.

Let's worry about the children of this school district first. The money needed to run schools will be needed regardless of the present membership of the board or who is on the administrative staff. That is the reality of the situation.

Christopher J. Johnson
Northville School Board

To the Editor:

What are we going to decide on July 30th? Together we will have an opportunity to raise our tax levy, but at the same time to raise the educational level in Northville School District.

My one vote is clearly in favor of the millage. Why? For the past year, as treasurer of the school board, one of my duties has been to oversee expenditures. This experience has convinced me that the monies we currently have are being expended wisely.

Do we need more? I think we need to provide six hours of instruction at the high school. I strongly feel that the middle school program should be strengthened and expanded. I want instrumental music in the elementary school. The need definitely is there for facility improvements, especially at the high school. These things all may be bought — with money though, not just vocal support.

For these programs to be realized, I will cast my vote in favor of the increased millage.

Will you help share the burden of educating our leaders of tomorrow?

Sincerely,
Karen Wilkinson

They oppose it

To the Editor:

I read your paper faithfully and with respect to you and all the journalism awards you've won throughout the years, of late you publish stories and editorialize in such a way that I feel you feel we, the public, are a bunch of Yo-Yos.

No one has wrapped this writer around his finger and jerked him up and down like you attempted to do. And I for one, am upset.

As a parent of a child still enrolled in the public school system, I'm concerned about what's happening to the educational excellence we once took pride in and enjoyed. It's gone — and you know it — but no investigative stories or editorials.

A high school principal is reassigned, and from you I learn that the new board concurs with the superintendent to bring "harmony" back to the high school. You haven't told me what "harmony" means — was it sopranos or altos who goofed up or was it a tenor who had too much staccato in his voice. I bet it was a basso who had too much fortissimo!

And why is Ron Horwath, another principal, resigning from this position and asking to go back to a teaching job? Shouldn't we, the community, expect you to dig and probe this news story and tell us why? — Like you should. That's what you say you do in your headline caption on the front page — but maybe in your opinion this isn't news.

And in your last editorial regarding the proposed millage increase ... you state that some citizens will vote "no" because of an "individual" .... Now, this is my favorite subject.

I think I'm 100-percent correct when I say you imply that certain "individual" to be Mr. Raymond Spear. Right? I won't wait for your answer — I know I'm right, but I want to go on the record in The Record now and say ... I have nothing against Raymond Spear as a man. I understand he's a good husband and father. He's clean, neat, tidy, a good dresser, a charmer, and reads dictionaries for a pastime.

But the reasons he wants the millage are the same that Tarpinian asked for to better run the high school. But did you ever consider sending a reporter to question Mike Tarpinian before he got fired? (I'm sorry ... I mean reassigned.)

I have supported the board of education in the past and wrote to you with my endorsement of a millage increase.

But on Saturday I'm going to vote "no" — not because of an individual but because I'm not going to let anyone make my child's education a Yo-Yo game.

She's not big enough to cut the string ... and I'm too big to be "rockin' in the cradle."

N. Nick Serkaian

To the Editor:

What did it cost the Northville School Dist. to mail the propaganda flyer the good citizens received in the mail this week?

They state the 2.8 mill increase on a home valued at $40,000 would only be $56. Do they mention how many $56 they have taken away from the electorate over the past 6 or 7 years — no they just want you to feel "that's only a little over $4 per month" and not to remember how much they have taken from us over the years.

I think it's about time the voters of the Northville School District stood up to be counted in the great big fat NO column for these capricious demands by our so-called leaders, and not give in to their every demand for more and more money. Let these leaders??? get along with what they have, let them cut down on the costs, let them get rid of the overload of teachers, if this is really necessary, let them do without junior band and music education in the elementary schools, let the parents purchase the books, just as my parents purchased my books some years ago. If you need additional instructional supplies and materials let the parents pay for them. Why put the burden on the citizens who never use the school, nor have any children in the system. Come now, if you get more money will it really go to improve and upgrade school buildings, grounds, etc., I doubt it very much.

No dear voters, you are being taken down the financial primrose path by these dubious leaders of our system. I for one do not believe them and feel they should at least give the old college try to saving money and live within their means.

Do not forget you approved a 3.9 millage increase last year. What is stopping these leaders from coming at you a year from now for more money, with the same old outcry. We cannot live within our budget, please dear stupid electorate help us and vote, yes once again, on another millage increase, and we promise we will not ask for another millage increase until 1978.

R.E.K.

To the Editor:

Having just received the latest propaganda sheet from Northville Public Schools I feel that someone should shed a little light on the total millage picture. The figures used are for operating millage only and do not reflect the proper picture. That is called "strategy".

The following is a comprehensive list of TOTAL school millages levied in 76-77 by surrounding districts according to Wayne County Bureau of Taxation. The N.P.S. list leads one to think that we are the lowest or nearly the lowest on the millage ladder. Not so. Judge for yourself.

TOTALS

Grosse Ile - 41.80; Wayne-Westland - 44.65; Livonia - 41.67; Grosse Pointe - 38.72; North Dearborn Heights - 41.15; Dearborn - 32.40; Dearborn Heights - 35.65; Redford Union - 39.65; South Redford - 32.33; Plymouth - 39.95; Trenton - 37.95; Northville - 39.99; Crestwood - 34.25; Garden City - 36.50; Inkster - 37.78; Cherry Hill - 35.65 and Novi - 39.50.

Name withheld by request

To the Editor:

Three years ago and again last year we approved school millage increases to fund extracurricular activities, sports programs and other motherhood items that most parents feel necessary to a well rounded educational program. This year we are being asked to pay for these things again with another millage increase. How many times must we pay for the same programs?

Somehow we get skinned every year as the funds for the extracurricular and sports programs are taken to pay for salary increases and additional administrative personnel. There is a way that we can avoid the annual con game.

First, we defeat the 2.8 mill increase next Saturday. Then we petition for several millage increases, each adequate to cover maintenance, sports and extracurricular activities, and books and supplies, but with each millage earmarked and restricted so that it must be used exclusively for the purpose specified and nothing else. In this way we will never again find ourselves having to increase our taxes to keep programs that we have already voted money to pay for. Future millage increases will be exposed for the real purpose, that is to pay for increased salaries and additional administrative personnel.

Lets defeat the millage increase request Saturday and then pass some amounts with restrictions so that they will be used only for the approved purpose. We will then have some control of how our school tax money is spent.

Donald C. Young Jr.

Want Novi news

To the Editor:

This family wishes to protest your recent changeover of exclusive news coverage of Northville alone, and combining Novi and Walled Lake. We feel it is not fair to the hundreds of families living in Westridge Downs, North Hills, Connemara, and Brookland Farms subs.

These people all live in the City of Novi (excluding the Novi Township section of Brookland Farms — they still pay taxes to the Novi Library), but they are in the Northville School District (and pay taxes for the schools) and have a Northville mailing address. We suffer from an identity crisis! We need and have a right to know the news from both cities.

Sometimes we feel like we live in "no man's land". An example is the Parks and Rec programs. The majority (if not all) the residents of these subs participate in the excellent Northville programs. The reason being that our own children associate almost exclusively with Northville children because of attending school with them and we get all the info through the schools. But we are discriminated against by paying the highest fees. Novi has a fine program also, but we never receive information regarding it.

Many of us belong to and participate in activities in both communities. Now we will not be seeing news about Novi's events. We also want to read and know about Novi's sports activities. This also will hurt Northville's activities as Novi won't know about and be able to participate in them.

The front page of the Novi-Walled Lake paper a week ago had a half page feature story about 12 Oaks Shopping Center. Those of us who live between 8½ and 9½ Mile roads are just as interested in 12 Oaks as those north of 9½ Mile. Quickly glancing through the first section of the paper there were lots of articles of interest to "joint citizens." Again this week there was no Novi News in the first section. Yes, this week's section D told us about the 12 Oaks opening, but didn't give the facts that last week's article did.

Please be fair to these hundreds of families and give us the news of both Northville and Novi. We're proud to be associated with both communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon B. Parker
Brookland Farms

P.S. We even missed the Novi Police Blotter.

"Shop locally!"

To the Editor:

I address myself to the "Purchasing Power" of our city Northville ... on your very next — purchasing, buying, shopping, marketing (whatever you call it) trip, would you consider "TRY NORTHVILLE FIRST" — we tend to put the blame on our merchants ... How much of it should start with us ... if we all made our first try in our own shops — many times we would not have to go elsewhere ... time saving, money saving and in most cases the merchandise is in better condition ... perhaps the selection is not as great but if we show our interest in our own shops — our merchants could increase their selection ... which will come first ... let us all "TRY NORTHVILLE FIRST" and maybe we will come close to the answer ....

How can funeral service follow a set formula?

We don't believe it can.

After all, people are individuals ... and all families have their own ways of thinking.

This is why every service we direct takes shape according to the family's individual thoughts and preferences.

prevent the soot from blanketing the food we prepared.

By the time 2101 ran out of steam at Grand Rapids the orange seats were upholstered in black and my wife was complaining that the cinders had even settled in her bra.

Somebody had goofed. The engine had run out of water and the boiler was dangerously close to blowing its stack. They hooked hoses to the nearest fire hydrant to fill 'er up, and within 45 minutes we were on our way again.

We'd gone but a few hundred yards when the train suddenly halted again. This time somebody had forgotten to release the hand brakes in the rear cars.

When this embarrassment was erased, we chugged the remaining two or three miles to the station.

For me it had been a white knuckle trip. Seventy years ago, almost to the very day (on July 20, 1907), another steam engine pulling an excursion string of cars took this same trip. As it snaked its way through the pass near the boundary of Northville and Salem Townships that passenger train collided with a freight train.

Thirty-three were killed, many more injured.

members decided it was time Young Republicans were given a larger voice in party policy. They agreed upon several goals: "to establish a Publicity Committee to issue newsletters, press releases and articulate real Republican beliefs in a manner appealing to young persons; to sponsor a fund raiser; and to initiate an intern program for high school students in the district."

The Second Congressional District includes the eastern portion of Washtenaw County, including the cities of Ann Arbor, Saline and Milan, Monroe County and the cities of Plymouth, Northville and Livonia in Wayne County.

Liz Kalota stars in dinner theater treat

of good food, entertainment at Henry Ford Museum*

By JEAN DAY

In true theatrical tradition, every actor or actress has a store of tales of opening night catastrophes.

Elizabeth Kalota, who began her acting career in Northville High School plays, is no exception.

The young actress, now a senior at Eastern Michigan University, began her second season with the Greenfield Village Players this month as the feminine lead, Audrey Trowbridge, in "Three Men on a Horse" at the Henry Ford Museum Theater.

On opening night, July 8, the cast was well into the second act and was playing to a responsive audience when the curtain abruptly came down on Elizabeth, portraying the distraught wife whose husband had left.

In the face of an immediate area tornado threat, the audience was asked to leave the museum theater for shelter in the center of the museum. Audience and cast then mingled, sipping lemonade in the central corridors while it stormed outside.

By the time the all-clear was given almost an hour later, it was too late for the show to continue. The audience was given "tornado checks" to return.

"Everybody seemed very calm," Liz Kalota recalls, but adds that she began to wonder about the new season as the very next day she had a flat tire.

Since then, however, she reports, audiences have been "very responsive." Her parents, the Leo Kalotas of 4102 Cottisford Court in Novi, have been to see the comedy by George Abbott and John Cecil Holm that was a big success when first performed in 1935.

As Audrey Trowbridge, Miss Kalota is the first person onstage as the tale of Erwin Trowbridge's troubles begins to unfold. He is a lovable though slightly wishy-washy type who makes his living by writing poems for a greeting card company.

His greatest talent, however, surfaces in his spare time. He picks winners for the race track for fun, is never wrong but does not bet himself. Henpecked by his wife and pushed around by his brother-in-law, Erwin, played by Sam Jungermann, finally flees suburbia and falls into the hands of a "soft-hearted and soft-headed" trio of gamblers.

The light-hearted and amusing summer entertainment offers Elizabeth Kalota the chance to produce buckets of stage tears as she wrings her hands and her handkerchief.

This happens twice each weekend, at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday evenings through September 3.

In addition, the petite, five-foot-two actress is at Greenfield Village every day in time to begin the first of five daily variety shows in the village town hall at noon.

Village visitors are offered 19th century style entertainment as the cast dances and sings songs of the Jolson and Cohan era.

"She's wringing wet when she finishes," her mother reported last week as Liz and the others performed in the town hall during the heat wave. It isn't air conditioned, and the costumes of the 1890's are heavy.

But this show does go on hourly for village visitors. Before it and "Three Men on a Horse" began, Liz was involved in rehearsals for three weeks.

The routine isn't new as last year she and the other village players did five-a-day routines at town hall based on the 1920's. At the museum theater she had the ingenue lead of Georgina in "Our American Cousin," a 19th century farce.

Ask the 1973 Northville High honor graduate if the routine doesn't get tiresome by the end of summer, and she denies it sounding like a real professional.

"Not really, for once you get the routine down pat, the actors play it differently to keep it alive — it's wonderful experience."

Mrs. Kalota says she thinks her daughter was in every show at Northville High while she was a student there. Her favorite was Liesl in "Sound of Music" in 1973.

One of seven children, she was followed onstage at Northville High by younger sister, Jan, who was in "Fiddler on the Roof" this past spring. None of the others, however, plan an acting career. Jan will be studying dentistry at Ferris State College this fall.

Elizabeth expects to graduate from Eastern in December. She has been vice president of her sorority, Alpha Psi Omega. She isn't certain what she'll do when she gets her degree in theatre arts with a minor in literature with specialization in children's literature.

She's considering graduate work.

At EMU she's been president of the EMU Players and has toured in such plays as "Dames at Sea" and "A Flea in her Ear." Before working with the Greenfield Village Players she did children's theater, giving shows at the Dearborn library.

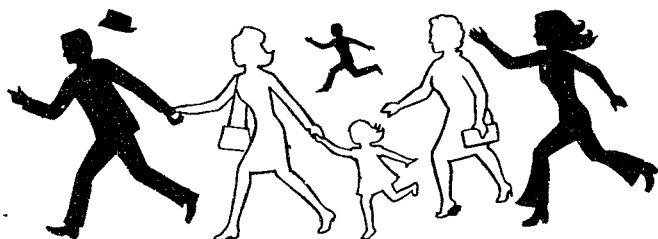

Audiences seeing the young Northville actress this summer in "Three Men on a Horse" at the Henry Ford Museum Theater receive an added bit of entertainment as the cast performs songs of the 1930's between each of the six scenes.

Such songs once were a traditional part of the American theater, the museum staff reports, and, in keeping with this tradition, the cast serenades

Northville residents roam British Isles, Greece

By JEAN DAY

Northville residents are jetting back and forth across the Atlantic on vacations and sentimental journeys, as well as for international conferences and studies.

Dorothy Gay of Neptune Court left last Tuesday for Britain where she is attending the International Altrusa Conference that began Sunday in Brighton, England. She is the new president of the Altrusa Club of Detroit.

DOROTHY GAY

Mrs. Gay, a Wayne State University graduate, has retired as inspector of the women's division of the Detroit Police Department. She and her husband now live in Highland Lakes. Before leaving, she reported that the international conference usually draws between two and three thousand Altrusa members. Altrusa is a classified service organization of professional business women. Their purpose is to raise funds for community projects with this year's theme being "Literacy — in all phases."

Another Northville member of Altrusa is Werna Roberts, new social chairman and a neighbor of Mrs. Gay's in Highland Lakes. The weekend of July 16 she attended a club retreat in Harbor Beach at the home of Helen Ludington.

Mrs. Gay flew to England a few days early to spend time in London before the conference. Before returning, she plans to go north to Edinburgh, Scotland.

It's a bonny trip for Phia Johnson

The July trip of Phia Johnson of Novi Road to Scotland was a sentimental one. She joined her mother, Mrs. Agnes Jardine, who already was at Broxburn near Edinburgh for the summer. This was Mrs. Jardine's birthplace and she has visited there often. It was Mrs. Johnson's first trip to Scotland since she was two years old, however, and it was made so that she might "see Scotland through my mother's eyes."

The two rented a car and drove north to Inverness. They also visited Edinburgh where Mrs. Johnson made a quick return trip to walk the historic Royal Mile down to Grassmarket before returning home. Mrs. Jardine will be in Scotland until mid-August. Even the plane's engine trouble that developed after the plane took off from Prestwick and necessitated turning back and landing in London didn't dim Mrs. Johnson's enjoyment of the vacation. (And fire engines were on the alert at the London field as the plane returned.)

Swallows visit British schools

For John and Gay Swallow of South Rogers Street, their July trip to Britain was a combination of sightseeing and study. With a group of 19 from Oakland University they flew to England to study British schools in Nottingham, York and Wakefield areas. Mrs. Swallow was interested in the individualized education program in Britain as she teaches at Miller Elementary in Plymouth, which has a program modeled upon this system. Her husband, who is in special education, was interested in the British treatment of emotional problems.

"It was a really super experience," says Mrs. Swallow, explaining that they landed in London and returned from there and had an opportunity to sightsee even though it was terribly crowded because of the queen's jubilee. "But it was all there," she adds, "with double-decker buses, black taxis and castles — just like a fairy tale."

Neil Nichols met the duke

Not everyone who visits Britain gets to chat with a duke, but Neil Nichols did when he and his wife, Annie, with their children, Eric, 18, Neil, 21, and Lynn, 19, and Mrs. Nichols' mother, Mrs. Margaret Allan, toured this spring.

While the rest of the family lingered, admiring outstanding antiques in the 32 public rooms on view at Blair Castle near Perth, Scotland, he went downstairs for a cup of coffee. The castle's owner, the Duke of Atholl came in wearing his kilt, and the two talked of deer, peacock and other animals on the estate.

During their three-week visit 11 days were spent in Edinburgh where Mrs. Nichols spent some time tracing family background. They also visited Duart Castle on the Island of Mull, area of the MacLean clan of which Mrs. Allan's family was part.

The most unusual souvenir at the Nichols home on Caldwell is the four-foot, green-and-white tartan stuffed replica of the Loch Ness monster, made by handicapped children in Britain, and presented to Lynn by a cousin of her mother's.

They toured Greece in heat wave

After flying into Athens, Mrs. William Sliger and daughter Sally began their visit to Greece with a cruise on the Aegean Sea. Afterward they spent several days in the Greek capital before renting a car and driving north to visit the ancient city of Delphi in central Greece and continuing northwest to Corfu.

They arrived during a heat wave with temperatures soaring over 100 degrees. It was said to be the hottest summer in seven years, Mrs. Sliger recalls, mentioning that they bought towels to sit on in the rented cars that lacked air conditioning. Language wasn't a problem, she adds, as many Greek Americans also were touring and were most helpful.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL ROARK

MRS. LEIF ENGLS

Sherry Zayti becomes bride of Indiana man

Sherry Jeanne Zayti wore a gown of candlelight lace and chiffon as she became the bride of Daniel Louis Roark of Indiana in a 6 p.m. ceremony July 16 at First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

She is the daughter of Margaret Zayti and Julius Zayti of Northville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Roark of Brownsburg, Indiana. The Reverend Richard Henderson, associate minister of the church, and Father John Quinn of Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Farmington officiated at the double-ring service in which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Her gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice and alencon lace overlay. The long, full, sheer sleeves ended in deep, fitted cuffs. Her mantilla veil was held with a lace headpiece and was adorned with matching lace embroidered with pearls. She carried a white Victorian bouquet with orchids and stephanotis.

Matron of honor Julia (Brown) Davis wore a sky blue Gatsby-style chiffon-over-taffeta gown fashioned with a high, fold-over neckline and half-cape. Triple tiers of chiffon formed the skirt.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kay Wright, Libby Roark, sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Sally Roark, his sister-in-law, and Joan Thomas. They wore gowns matching the honor attendant's in shades of yellow, peach, mint and pink respectively. All carried multi-color Victorian bouquets of spring flowers.

Christine Zayti was flower girl.

Martin Roark was best man for his brother. Ushers were Ken Wright, his brother-in-law, Jim and Mike Zayti, brothers of the bride, and Kevin Parsons.

A champagne toast preceded the dinner reception at Northville Downs for 300 guests, including 75 from Indiana and others from out-of-town.

The newlyweds combined their wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains with a visit to see an ill friend in Western New York State.

They will be making their home in Zionsville, Indiana, where the bridegroom is an account executive with Cort Furniture Rental. The bride is sales manager for Electro Products.

Library party Friday concludes summer reading club program

Members of the Northville Public Library's Summer Reading Club will be entertained by the magical feats of "The Great Wintini" at a party this Friday.

The program, which will take place in the library from 10 to 11 a.m., will conclude this summer's reading program.

Certificates will be awarded to all those children who have read 10 or more books.

The library will hold certificates for anyone who cannot attend the party, and members may pick them up at their convenience.

Lisa Wright wed in village chapel

Lisa Eddy Wright, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold L. Wright, Jr., of 19850 Westhill in Northville, exchanged vows and rings with Leif Franklin Engles in a 10 a.m. ceremony July 16 at Martha-Mary Chapel in Dearborn.

The chapel on the green in Greenfield Village was decorated with Williamsburg bouquets and illuminated with candles in the window sconces and crystal chandelier.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Engles, Jr., of Midland.

The Reverend Richard Henderson, associate minister of First Presbyterian Church of Northville, officiated at the service.

Lisa wore a gown of English net over silk organza and taffeta with alencon lace trim forming tiny cap sleeves and edging the neckline of the square yoke. Matching lace and net trimmed her wide-brim picture hat.

Her Williamsburg bridal bouquet contained white carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath with peach roses.

Susan E. Hedges of East Lansing was maid of honor in a long, peach Qiana gown with scoop neckline and butterfly cap sleeves.

Stephanie Bach, Nancy Nirider, now of Washington, D.C., and the bridegroom's sisters, Deanna and Denise Engles, were bridesmaids in gowns matching that of the honor maid. All carried Williamsburg bouquets in peach shades and wore small floral hair arrangements.

James Moore of California was best man. Ushers were James Bishop, Thomas Sevens, both of Midland, and the bride's brothers, David and Peter Wright.

Among the 120 guests from Louisiana, Florida, Oklahoma, Colorado, California, Massachusetts, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Canada and Northern Michigan were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Bess Dorman of Northville, and her grandfather, Harold L. Wright, Sr., of Ferndale.

A luncheon reception followed at Dearborn Inn.

The couple met at Albion College where both received their BA degrees. Lisa has completed her internship at William Beaumont Hospital School of Medical Technology. Her husband, who received his BA in chemistry, will be attending Wayne State University graduate school in chemistry and also will be a teaching assistant there.

After a wedding trip to Northern Michigan they will make their home in Royal Oak.

Your choice of flooring is one of the most personal you can make. There are marvelous hard surface and resilient floorings around in new shapes, designs and colors. They come in stone, marble, metal, cork, poured materials, wood, acrylic, tile and many others. The ceramic mosaics and quarry tiles appear in gorgeous glazes and cost less than most people think. Wood and acrylic/wood flooring is becoming more popular. New technology has brought us "prefab" parquet to use in random width planking, strips and herringbone effects. Look carefully at what is underfoot for endless design possibilities.

The museum also offers a combination package including dinner in the museum's Heritage Hall Restaurant. It's available by reservation, to individuals, families and groups at $9.75 a person. Reservations may be made by calling 271-1620, extension 417.

Tickets for the play only are $3 for reserved seats, which may be purchased at the door or in advance.

The combination of a buffet dinner starring roast beef in the museum's Heritage Hall Restaurant and the light-hearted comedy, "Three Men on a Horse", is a summer winner for anyone attending.

Drinks are available in the restaurant where attentive waitresses make sure diners are finished with ice cream and coffee in plenty of time to find their reserved seats for the 8:30 p.m. curtain.

And any Northville residents who have wagered at Northville Downs will find themselves wishing they could find an Erwin Trowbridge, an unerring picker of horses, as the plot provides delightful summer entertainment.

You're invited to Twelve Oaks opening

Here at home "This Classic Night," the gala opening of Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi next Monday evening, promises to bring out a large contingent of interested residents.

Aurelia Powledge of Northville, a member of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will be a head hostess for the evening which will be a benefit for the symphony. It is not necessary to purchase tickets in advance for the preview benefit, she announced Monday, as they will be sold at the door at $10 a person.

The evening will begin at 7 p.m. with music from five orchestra ensembles playing in the mall's various courts. Each performance will be accompanied by a showing of fall fashions from Hudson's. Those attending will be greeted with a champagne cocktail and hors d'oeuvres. Cash bars also will be open.

Then the entire orchestra will assemble for an hour-long concert under the baton of Sixten Ehrling, the symphony's former director.

"It certainly is an occasion for long dresses," says Mrs. Powledge, but she adds that she doesn't want anyone to stay away because she feels she must wear a long one. She's sure there will be skirts and pants, too, very much in evidence.

While gold invitations bearing a replica of an early stagecoach were sent to area officials and V.I.P.'s (all of whom are asked for the $10 donation each), it is not necessary to receive one to attend. The entire community is invited.

Plan Caesarean delivery class for couples

Couples who know they will be having a Caesarean birth can receive help from the Lamaze Childbirth Education Association. A Caesarean delivery class to prepare couples who are expecting this type of birth will meet for three weeks, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. starting August 3 at The Church of the Savior.

Cost for the class is $11 a couple. For further information or to register call Evon Rienecke, 427-1040.

Engaged

Announcement is made of the engagement of Allison Alleen Amerman of Westland, formerly of Northville, to Gregory J. Budlong of Novi.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Barbara Amerman of Farmington Hills and of David Amerman of Westland. Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. Josephine Budlong of 41880 Quince in Novi.

Miss Amerman attended Northville High School and then Ontonagon Area High School in Ontonagon, Michigan, graduating in 1976. She is employed by the Northville Schools.

Her fiancé is a 1971 graduate of Novi High School and is employed with B. F. Chamberlain, Realtor, in Plymouth.

They have set an October 14 wedding date.

Willard Wilsons mark silver anniversary

A surprise party given by their three daughters and their husbands marked the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wilson of 10385 West Seven Mile a week ago Saturday.

The Wilsons first met when Mrs. Wilson, then Lucy Clair, came with her parents from Detroit to the Wilson farm to buy fowl for the Christmas holidays. Some years later the Reverend Cora Pennellrein introduced them while both were attending church at the Salem Bible Church.

He was born in Whitmore Lake and farmed with his father until his marriage. He now is employed with Ford Motor Company.

The Wilsons were married August 10, 1952, in the First Methodist Church of Plymouth.

The anniversary celebration was held early as their daughter, Lucy Jane, and her husband, Stephen Burt, were visiting from Groton, Connecticut, with the Wilson's only grandchild, Jennifer Lynn.

Their other daughters are Mrs. Chris (Elaine Ann) Anderson of South Lyon and Deborah Lee Wilson of Northville.

The 25th anniversary celebration was held on the Saturday evening at South Lyon Woods Clubhouse for relatives, friends and old neighbors.

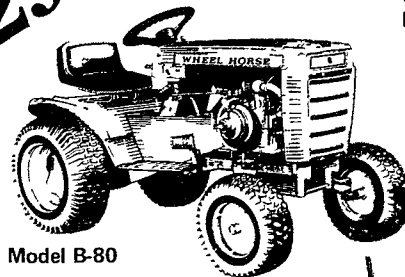

The Wilsons are members of First Baptist Church of Northville. Mrs. Wilson is a member of Eastern Star of Farmington. She enjoys sewing, quilting and other handcrafts while her husband's hobby is refinishing and caning furniture. Both have enjoyed traveling throughout the United States.

As the couple celebrated the silver milestone, Mr. Wilson recalled that, while on their honeymoon in Washington, D.C., they circled the Lincoln Memorial 13 times while looking for the road to their motel.

Fete Mrs. Frances Duggan

A suprise birthday party honored Mrs. Frances Duggan last week upon her 88th birthday.

The birthday party was staged at Beverly Manor Convalescent Center where Mrs. Duggan has been a resident since July 6. Prior to her residence there she lived with her sons, Thomas and William Duggan of 20415 Lexington Commons Boulevard.

A widow, Mrs. Duggan's husband, Thomas J., died in 1959. He was a blacksmith and later an auto repairer.

Born July 21 in Detroit, Mrs. Duggan lived in the Motor City for most of her life before moving to her sons' Northville home in 1973.

The birthday party was arranged by Mrs. Dan Boland and other Lexington Commons neighbors of the Duggans.

Fruit punch, ice cream and cake was served.

Attending, besides her former Lexington Commons neighbors and her two sons, were other friends, two Our Lady of Victory Church nuns, and a niece, Mrs. Dorothy Withers of Novi.

A special treat for the birthday honoree was a congratulatory letter from President Jimmy Carter

Babies born to former residents

From Lansing comes news of the arrival of Rebecca Anne Parker, who was born July 9 at Edward Sparrow Hospital in that city to Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Parker of Lansing.

Mrs. Parker was Rosemary ("Chick") Van Fossen, a former Northville resident and 1969 graduate of Northville High School.

Rebecca has a sister, Molly Rachel, 16 months old, at home.

Grandparents are Mrs. Rosemary Van Fossen of Springfield, Missouri, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker of Lansing.

Andrew Stephen Juday, born July 12, is the first child of Mr. and Mrs. James Juday of Winsted, Connecticut. His mother is the former Gail Gillaspay.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gillaspay of Harrison, Michigan. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Richard Juday of Plymouth, formerly of Northville. Mrs. Charles Chew of Geneva, Indiana, is the great-grandmother.

The baby's mother, Gail Juday, is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gary Deal, long-time Northville residents.

Society to sell Northville plate

Mall dresses up to meet the public

As the Twelve Oaks Mall prepares to open in Novi Tuesday, last minute preparations continue. No exact figure on the number of tenant stores opening August 2 has been released, but estimates are that as many as 50 could be ready by the grand opening date.

Most of the work on the mall area has been completed although workmen are still involved in finishing up the court areas and adding such items as carpeting, plants and trees. The interior plantings include large palm trees, philodendron, seasonal flowers, and hundreds of tropical plants.

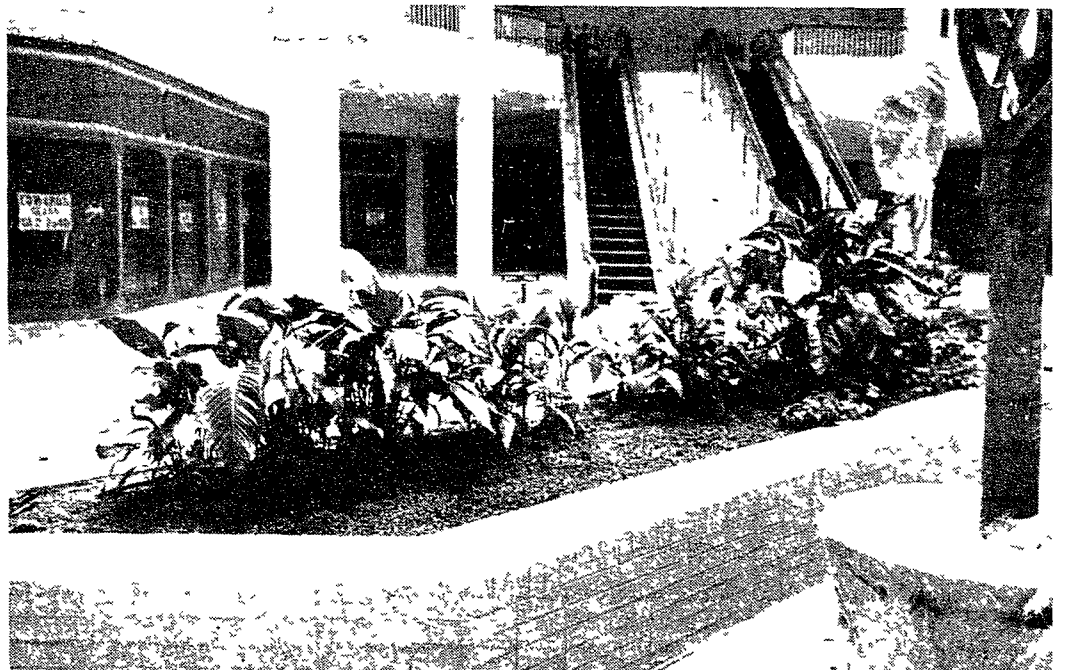

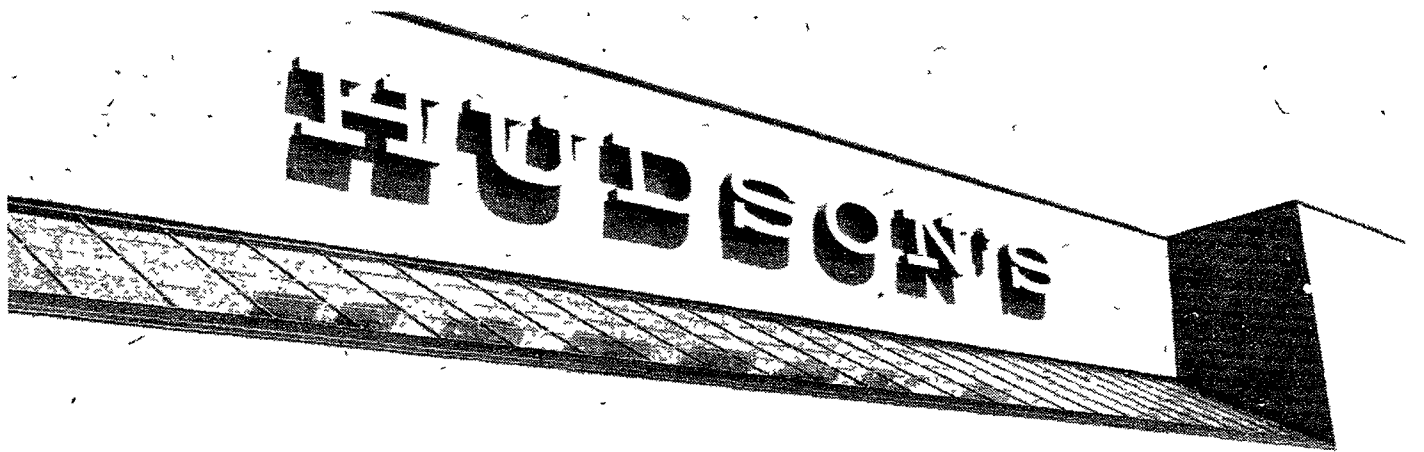

The huge shopping center also features unique interior sculptures gleaned from sculptors across the country. A glass enclosed elevator is another interesting feature of the center.

The Twelve Oaks Mall has five courts as a central court acts as a hub from which the malls radiate into large department store courts.

Stocking of the J.L. Hudson store is about all that remains to be done at the large anchor store which will open Tuesday. Other anchor stores are Sears, Lord & Taylor and Penneys.

Sears will open in October while Lord & Taylor and Penneys are slated to open in the spring of 1978.

Mizpah Circle to sell treats Saturday

HOMEMADE—Yvonne Rollings, left, displays her jam donation to Mizpah Circle, King's Daughters, booth at Northville's sidewalk sale this Saturday while Marge Bolton, circle president, holds her "no knead" sweet rolls. Both women are sharing their recipes with Record readers. Proceeds from the annual booth sale aid King's Daughters home and Mott Hospital.

"Look for our table Saturday at the sidewalk sale," entreats Marge Bolton, president of Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters.

Those who have bought baked goods, jams and jellies at the annual booth don't have to be reminded. And, in this year's heat, who wants to bake when you can buy homemade butter pecan rolls, date or almond coffee cakes, nut bread and other treats?

Circle members, however, have been rising early to bake in the morning. The breads then are popped into freezers for Saturday.

"I always end up baking between six and ten cakes," says President Bolton, "for friends stop by and want to buy what I've made, which is fine because we need the money, but then I make more to have a supply at the booth."

The specialty of Vice President Yvonne Rollings is jams. Last week she was making her own freezer raspberry jam, which, unfortunately, doesn't keep well at sidewalk sales. However, she already had made strawberry-rhubarb and spiced grape varieties.

"It's not the type you spread on toast in the morning," she explains of the spiced grape, "but it's wonderful with meats."

These jams are made with Certo, Sure-Jell or whatever pectin is preferred.

Both women are willing to share their recipes. Mrs. Bolton notes that her yeast coffee cakes are "no knead" variety. The dough can be kept in the refrigerator for a week and the baked end-products may be frozen until needed.

Other circle members baking, canning or making jellies for the sale may call Mrs. Rollings at 349-1215 to have items picked up if they are unable to get them to the booth.

"This is an organization close to the hearts of its members," Mrs. Bolton explains, "but some are getting older and have difficulty getting out."

Money raised by the circle is used for King's Daughters, work at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor and at the King's Daughters home in Redford.

"We take gifts at Christmas and make layettes for new babies at the hospital," Mrs. Bolton says. At

Benefits of League to aid ERA

The League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi is joining the fight to pass the Equal Rights Amendment by scheduling several fund-raising events:

A garage sale will be held at Neva Carter's home, 42257 Ashbury Drive, Canton, off Lilley, south of Warren Road, Friday, August 5, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday, August 6, from 9 a.m. until noon.

A plant party, an art sale and two additional garage sales will have time and places announced at a later date.

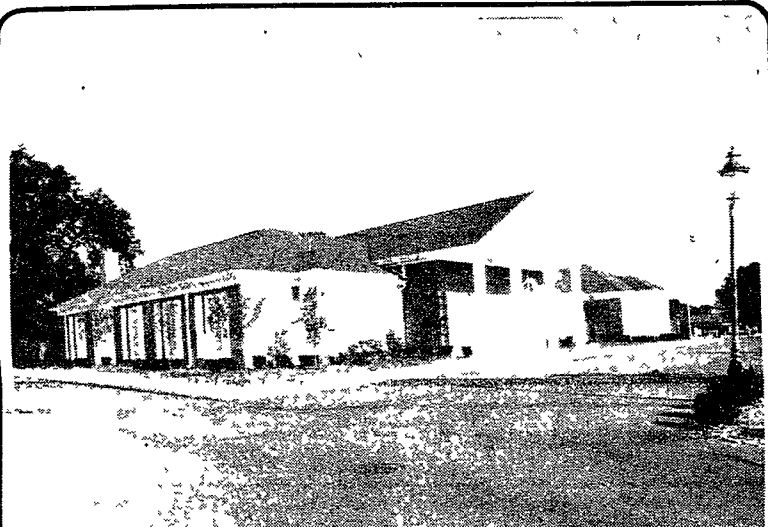

The local league will launch its fun raising efforts to help the LWV of the U.S. raise over one million dollars for ERA campaigns in key unratified states.

The LWV of the U.S. has already received $825,000 in league pledges from around the country for this national ERA effort. The LWV of Michigan has pledged $40,000 for ERA.

"We're betting on the future of the ERA, and we intend to be winners," Neva Carter, president of the Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi League said as the league launched its drive.

In making the announcement, Ms. Carter

See me for State Farm health insurance.

Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.

To the more than 1,000 Detroit-area businesses and foundations whose contributions made the 1977 United Foundation Capital Fund Division Campaign a success, we say . . .

thanks a million... $23.6 million to be exact!

Because more than 1,000 Detroit metropolitan area companies and foundations pledged $23.6 million to the United Foundation Capital Fund Division Campaign, a lot of good will come to a lot of people in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

You see, the Capital Fund Division—in a special once-every-six-years campaign—derives its entire financial support from these generous businesses and foundations. Their contributions to the 1977 Campaign will provide the necessary funding for new buildings, renovation and equipment for 54 voluntary agencies and nonprofit hospitals in the tri-county area. Their pledges will touch us all:

Sixteen metropolitan Detroit hospitals can renovate existing buildings, construct new facilities and purchase much-needed medical equipment.

The Boys' Club of Metropolitan Detroit can repair and improve six of their branches.

The Girl Scouts can construct new troop shelters at Camp Holly and Camp Hawthorne Hollow.

The League for the Handicapped can build the Macomb County Rehabilitation Center and purchase new equipment.

Boys' Republic in Farmington can keep up with maintenance costs.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation will be able to build a new environmental carcinogenesis center for research.

And 32 other service agencies and organizations in the tri-county area can continue to make our communities better places to live.

On behalf of everyone in the metropolitan community, I'd like to express our deepest appreciation to each Detroit-area organization that helped make the 1977 campaign a huge success. Thanks a million . . . $23.6 million to be exact!

Thanksgiving, fruit plates go to local shut-ins, sometimes these are circle members.

For years, King's Daughters has been known as the organization providing Christmas baskets for the needy of the area. Though not the primary focus of the local Mizpah Circle, the King's Daughters organization also contributes to work with the American Indians and has a summer camp.

The circle holds potluck meetings and has just changed its by-laws to meet eight times a year at the First Methodist Church or homes of members. They're afternoon meetings on the first Tuesday of September, October, November, December, March, April, May and June. Potlucks are at 12:30 p.m. and business sessions at 1:30 p.m.

Any women who have moved to the community, and who might not have young children at home, would be welcomed by the circle, says Marge Bolton. She thinks there must be newcomers who would enjoy its special fellowship and purpose.

Anyone interested is invited to stop at the sidewalk sale booth, talk to members working there, and leave her name.

NO KNEAD, DATE-FILLED SWEET ROLLS

½ C. milk, scalded
2 Tbsp. shortening (or oleo)
½ C. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 egg, beaten
1 pkg. dry yeast
¼ C. warm water
2½ C. flour

Combine milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast softened in water, add egg. Gradually stir in flour to form soft dough; beat vigorously. Do not expect stiff dough. Turn out on floured surface. Let rise 10 minutes.

Roll out to rectangle and spread with following filling:

½ C. ground (or cut fine) dates
½ C. boiling water
¼ C. sugar
1 Tbsp. flour

Add dates to boiling water. Stir in one Tbsp. of mixture to the sugar and flour. Then add to hot mixture and cook 5 minutes. Cool!

Spread filling on dough and roll as for jelly roll. Shape in coil and cut every 1 or 2 inches. Then cut pieces to fan out. Let rise about 1 hour. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

Frost with confectioners sugar frosting if desired. Makes two round coffee cakes.

BUTTER PECAN ROLLS

1 pkg. dry yeast
¼ C. warm water
1 C. milk, scalded

¼ C. shortening or oleo
¼ C. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 egg, beaten
¾ to 3½ C. flour

Soften yeast in warm water. Combine milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup of flour. Beat well. Add yeast and egg, gradually add remaining flour, beating well, to form a soft dough. Brush top lightly with soft shortening, cover and let rise till double, about 1½ to 2 hours. Punch down and turn out in floured surface. Divide dough in half. Roll each piece into rectangle. Spread with filling.

FILLING

Combine ½ C. sugar with 2 tsp. cinnamon. Brush each rectangle with melted oleo. Sprinkle half of sugar-cinnamon mixture on rectangle and roll as for jelly roll. Cut each roll into 12 pieces.

TOPPING

In two round pie or cake tins, melt 2 Tbsp. oleo, 3 Tbsp. brown sugar and 1 Tbsp. light Karo syrup. Stir until well blended and sprinkle broken pecans into pans. Place 12 pieces, cut side down in each pan.

Cover and let rise until double, about 45 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. Cool about 2 minutes in pans. Then invert on rack to remove from pans and cool. Makes 24 rolls, 12 to each 9-inch pan.

Marge Bolton

SPICED GRAPE JELLY

3 C. grape juice (prepared as for grape jelly)+
1 C. vinegar
2 tsp. each ground cloves, cinnamon
1 tsp. ground allspice
7½ C. sugar
½ bottle Certo

Put juice, vinegar, sugar and spices in a large kettle. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add Certo. Bring to a full boil. Boil hard half a minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim. Pour into glasses and cover with hot paraffin.

+Use either grape juice or split skins from fully ripe concord grapes. Add 1 C. water to pulp and simmer, covered, 5 minutes. Remove seeds by sieving.

Novi library party set

The Novi Friends of the Library will honor all participants enrolled in the library summer reading program with a party and film August 1 at 1 p.m. at the library.

The children taking part in both the summer reading program and the read-to-me portion designed for kindergarten and pre-school youngsters will be treated to refreshments and a film. A parent is asked to accompany the pre-school child said that "we are determined to ensure passage of this amendment before time runs out in 1979, and we are proud to commit our efforts to help our sister states in ratifying this vital amendment since every American stands to gain a great deal from the ratification of ERA.

Each child will be presented with a certificate of achievement during the party. Not a contest, the program was designed to encourage children to improve their reading skills and take advantage of the many library facilities.

"We feel we have a responsibility to help achieve the ERA victory. Since any well-run legislative campaign needs funding, we are committed to ensuring that not only will we have the woman power needed for a national ERA victory, but we will have the cash necessary to carry out our campaign. "The bulk of the money will be used to operate ERA campaign offices in the key states."

Ms Carter added that "if citizens are interested in helping us achieve this important goal, they can make a contribution to the effort by sending their dollars to Ruth Volger, 42850 Lombardy, Canton, 48107."

FATHER SAYS MY FIRST FEDERAL SIX-YEAR
7½% CERTIFICATE SAVINGS ACCOUNT AND I WILL MATURE AT ABOUT THE SAME TIME

Our high-interest certificate savings accounts help you earn extra money by waiting.

Pretend it's six years from now.

You go to your desk drawer and look at the six-year certificate savings account you opened back in 1977. Remember the $1,000 you took to First Federal Savings of Detroit? Well, now it's $1,584.00. And all you had to do to get that additional $584.00 was wait.

Of course, if you'd rather pretend it's four years from now, or two and a half, or even just one, we can show you plans that still will turn your money into more than you might have thought possible.

And remember, too, that you can have certificate savings accounts in addition to your regular savings account (which earns 5¼% per year daily interest, paid and compounded quarterly). In fact, that's how many people get the money to open a certificate savings account. They save for it.

What's more, at First Federal, certificate savings accounts can entitle you to a number of special services, many not available anywhere else. We think you should know about these things because we know that money is important for you.

So don't wait to find out.

We know what money is for.

Type of Account	Minimum Amount	Annual Rate	Effective Annual Rate	How and When Paid
One-Year Certificate*	$1,000	6½%	6.66%	Paid and compounded quarterly
2½-Year Certificate*	$1,000	6¾%	6.92%	Paid and compounded quarterly
4-Year Certificate*	$1,000	7½%	7.71%	Paid and compounded quarterly
6-Year Certificate*	$1,000	7¾%	7.98%	Paid and compounded quarterly.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate savings accounts

Phoenix Lake area

Gift painting stirs memories

He remembers when they built the tracks for the "yellow potato bug" and he remembers when the trolley car passed his home for the first time more than three-quarters of a century ago.

Those and other recollections were triggered recently when Northville's 86 year old Charles Widmaier was presented a giant painting of the old streetcar passing between Northville and Plymouth.

"I couldn't have been much more than five or six years old at the time," said Widmaier as he soaked up a rare breeze across his porch at 119 Randolph.

"That painting sure brings back the memories."

The oil painting was presented to him by his son, Richard, a Livonia police officer who had it painted by Roy Meadows from an old postcard as a birthday gift.

Meadows is a classified salesman for the Observer & Eccentric newspapers.

Widmaier said someone sent him the card back in 1911 while he was living in Colorado. He had saved the card, showing the trolley car at the bridge near what today is Phoenix Lake, and his son recently borrowed it without telling him why.

Widmaier was born and raised in a house near the bridge, just inside the Plymouth border from Northville. The house, although changed a good deal, still stands there along Northville Road.

The house was then situated on a small five-acre farm. "We had a cow, a horse and chickens but mostly our place had apple trees. It was a good place to grow up."

The old iron bridge in the painting was a replacement for an earlier one that Widmaier also remembers. "I used to climb up there in that iron framework, and I'd fish in the pond that was there. It was a small pond, nothing like the lake that is there now.

"Phoenix Lake didn't come until many years later when Henry Ford built the dam for his plant," he said. That factory today is the county's sign plant.

"I don't remember a lot about the first streetcar. But it was a day of excitement, I can tell you that. I remember them laying down the streetcar tracks and putting up those overhead electric wires for it."

It may have been a couple years later, he said, when as a boy he received his first ride in the trolley. "I didn't start school until I was about seven — kids started school later in those days."

"They gave a reduced price for kids who rode the streetcar to school (in Plymouth) if you bought them in advance. You could get six or a dozen tickets for three cents apiece."

"Once, I remember my mother didn't have enough tickets so she gave me three pennies for the trip home from school. I gave them to the conductor, and he stopped the trolley a couple miles from home and told me to get off. That's as far as three cents would get me, he said. I had to walk the rest of the way home. It really scared me, and I've never forgotten that time."

Widmaier quit school after the eighth grade, and about the time he was 17 he went west to take a ranching job in Colorado. Meanwhile, his parents moved from the Northville Road house to a 40-acre farm on Five Mile Road near Beck. When he returned from Colorado he worked awhile on the farm, eventually taking a job in Detroit.

He was married in 1920 — "about the time old Henry (Ford) built his plant there where the old (Phoenix) mill stood. I remember the morning that mill burned down. My brother-in-law hauled in the rocks for Ford's mill."

Although he never personally met important to early Northville-Plymouth residents. For Widmaier the gift represents a delightful trip down memory lane.

from the BOOKSHELF

New books added to the Northville Public Library collections this past month should prove enjoyable summer reading. They include:

ADULT FICTION

"Oliver's Story," Erich W. Segal; sequel to "Love Story," in which two years after Jenny's death Oliver meets a woman who takes his mind off her.

"Falconer," John Cheever; Farragut is a most unusual prisoner, a well-bred college professor, a drug addict convicted of murdering his brother.

"The Star Trek Reader," James Blish; 21 stories adapted from the television series.

"Return to Thebes," Allen Drury; in this sequel to "A God Against Gods" Akhenaten is murdered and Tutankhamon becomes Pharaoh.

ADULT NON-FICTION

"No More Here and There," Ann Carney; on adopting the older child.

"Joseph Smith, the First Mormon," Donna Hill; definitive story of a complex and charismatic man and the people who knew him.

"How to Save Taxes Through Estate Planning," Robert J. Pinto; authoritative guide to help protect your family's financial security.

"CB Bible," Porter Bibb; complete guide to citizens band two-way radio.

"The Children's Rights Movement," Beatrice Gross; overcoming the oppression of young people.

"The Tony Winners," Stanley Richards; a collection of 10 exceptional plays, winners of the Tony Award for most distinguished play of the year.

Woodall's Campground Directory, 1977; sites in U.S. and Canada.

JUVENILE FICTION

"The 290," Scott O'Dell; a shipyard apprentice finds high adventure aboard the S.S. Alabama, a Confederate ship that sails the Atlantic destroying the Union vessels.

RUSTPROOFING. EITHER YOU HAVE IT OR YOU DON'T

Car makers don't build the rustproof car and no car dealer can deliver the real rustproofing you get with the exclusive Ziebart process.

Don't be misled by some sweeping references to "anti-corrosion methods" used in building some 1977 cars. Real rustproofing must be done after the car is built. And it must cover every critical area inside and under the car. That's the proven Ziebart method. There are no shortcuts. That's why your Ziebart Dealer uses nine different patented spray tools to reach rust-prone areas. That's why he uses a rustproofing sealant that actually penetrates welded seams where rust can start. Your Ziebart Dealer can deliver a rustproofed 1977 car because that's his business—and he knows it. Call him.

him, Widmaier saw Ford several times. Once, long before Ford built the plant, Widmaier visited a nearby cider mill with his father. "They were fixing the motor for the cider place, and this man was down in the hole with it. I remember asking my father, 'Who was that man down there?', and he told me, 'Oh, he was that Ford fellow.'"

"That was before Ford built his car and made his first million...back when he made a living fixing engines wherever he could find a job."

Widmaier became a carpenter and one of his first jobs was helping to construct the old Maybury TB sanatorium buildings.

Did he ever meet William Maybury? "Did I? I'll say I did. He was a real worker. I remember him having his driver drop him off and he spent one whole day just watching us to see that we did the work proper."

Widmaier became a carpenter at the Wayne County Training School (now the vacant child development center) and helped build and repair some of the later buildings. "I was there when Dr. (Robert) Haskell became the (first) superintendent."

He retired from the child development center in 1951, continuing to work as a carpenter "on odd jobs around" until recent years. "I guess you could say I'm officially retired now."

Although he has lived at his Randolph Street address for the past 44 years, Widmaier still considers himself a "Plymouthite" because of his early association with that community. "I knew more oldtimers from there than here, but nowadays I hardly know any of them. Most are gone."

Mr. and Mrs. Widmaier raised six children, and today they have 15 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Now when his children and grandchildren stop in for a visit, he can point with pride to the place where he grew up: "There, just beyond the bridge in the painting is my place. See that iron bridge, I used to climb in it. See that streetcar, I..."

Future township hall

With much of the concrete work already completed, workmen were expected to begin construction of the exterior superstructure of the new Northville township hall complex on Six Mile Road opposite Northville Commons subdivision. "I'd say we're right about on target," construction spokesman said Thursday, "despite some slow-ups because of the unbearable heat in the last few weeks." He predicted the building would be completed by January or February. The project is being financed by a federal grant awarded to the township. In addition to township hall offices, the building will include a fire hall and police department facilities. With its completion, the township will vacate the township hall presently located on the Wayne County Child Development Center property.

About our servicemen

Specialist Four Michael A. Katzbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Katzbeck, 906 Novi Street, recently reenlisted in the Army for four years while serving as a radio operator with the 52nd Air Defense Artillery at Ft. Bliss, Texas.

Specialist Katzbeck entered the Army in November 1974.

He is a 1972 graduate of Northville High school. His wife, Sun Kong, lives in El Paso, Texas.

Cadet Robert T. Sechler, whose wife, Yuko, lives in Tempe, Arizona, is receiving practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps advanced camp at Ft. Lewis, Washington.

The five-week ROTC advanced camp provides an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate leadership capabilities in a field training environment.

Most cadets are fulfilling their advanced camp requirement during the summer between their junior and senior years in college. However, there will be a number of graduating seniors who will receive Army commissions at the completion of camp.

Cadet Sechler is a student at Arizona State University, Tempe. He is a 1971 graduate of Northville High School.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude T. Sechler, live at 18153 Edenderry, Northville.

He studies space flight

Civil Air Patrol (CAP) Cadet Paul Adams may never ride a rocket to the moon or be involved in the space program, but after this week (July 17-23), he will understand such things a lot better.

Cadet Adams, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert and Marion of Northville, Michigan, along with some 65 other teenage CAP cadets, has been undergoing an intensive five-day Space Flight

It was here that much of the equipment used in America's space effort was developed.

During the week, the cadets got a firsthand look at the variety of items which constitute space hardware, and got an idea of the myriad of technicalities involved in putting an object into space. Recreational activities took up the evenings. During the week, the cadets stayed at the Army's Redstone Arsenal.

The course is one of a number of specialized activities offered cadet members of CAP, the volunteer, civilian auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force. Selection for any one of them is considered an honor.

Overseers of 'barrier free' law don't like 'saber-toothed' image

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"My biggest problem is inspecting drawings," said Thomas Munn, who has been totally blind since birth.

"I pretty much have to rely on what other board members and staffers tell me appears on the drawings.

Munn is one of four handicapped persons serving on the Barrier Free Design Board charged with overseeing Michigan's controversial barrier free act signed into law in 1974.

The nine-member board, now reduced to seven with recent resignations, is filled by appointment by the governor with advice and consent of the senate.

By law four of its members must be physically handicapped — one a wheelchair user, one a severely mobility limited person, one with a hearing impairment and one visually impaired.

Twenty-seven year old Munn, who works the afternoon shift for Oldsmobile in his hometown of Lansing, is the board's visually impaired member.

The remaining five members must include a person from the construction industry, a building inspector, an architect, a professional engineer and one person from the general public.

The board's major functions are:

- Receive, review and process requests for exceptions to the barrier free design specifications.

- Require appropriate equivalent alternatives when exceptions are granted.

- Receive, process and review complaints of noncompliance.

- Make recommendations for barrier free design rules.

Basic purpose of the barrier free law is to provide easy access to public buildings and places by physically handicapped.

On the surface it seems like a totally commendable law ... and that's how most legislators saw it when they hammered it together in the face of strong lobbying by handicapped people and their champions.

But there are wrinkles that anger builders, municipalities, business and industry, and historical agencies across the state.

Complaints have triggered a move by some legislators to modify the law, and a number of constitutionality lawsuits could be in the making.

"The biggest problem we are encountering," explained Munn, "seems to be those cases involving old buildings. I'm sympathetic to many of these cases, but there are some members of the board who can't see it that way.

"New buildings are another matter. I think most of us feel that barrier free can be designed into the buildings from the start, and so I guess we aren't persuaded so easily when someone appeals the rules for a new building."

The rules Munn referred to are stringent, specifying such things as off-street parking spaces for handicapped; height of drinking fountains, electrical switches and fire alarms; width of doorways and checkout lanes; requiring elevators in two-level buildings and elevator buttons in braille; wheelchair ramps to buildings, curb cuts at all intersections; special toilets and toilet stalls and wash basins; etc.

The law applies to all new buildings used by the public and to all old public-used buildings whose uses have changed entirely or in major part.

An old house converted to a store, for example, must comply with the barrier free rules such as widening doorways, installing special restroom facilities, wheelchair ramps, and an elevator to second floor if the second floor is opened to the public, etc.

Local building inspectors are charged with enforcing the law.

And when someone wants a variance from a barrier free rules, he must appeal to the Barrier Free Design Board. The board hears these appeals, usually once each month.

"There were so many appeals at first, we just couldn't keep up," said Munn. "An appeal might not be heard for several months. That backlog's been eliminated now."

Major reason for elimination of the backlogged cases, he explained, is because the board decided that the many nearly identical appeals could be handled administratively before they get to the board.

For example, "We got a lot of appeals from Baptist churches who wanted exemptions from barrier free design in the baptismal area of the churches. We granted several of them, so when the same kind of cases kept coming in we decided to give our administrative officer the right to approve or disapprove them.

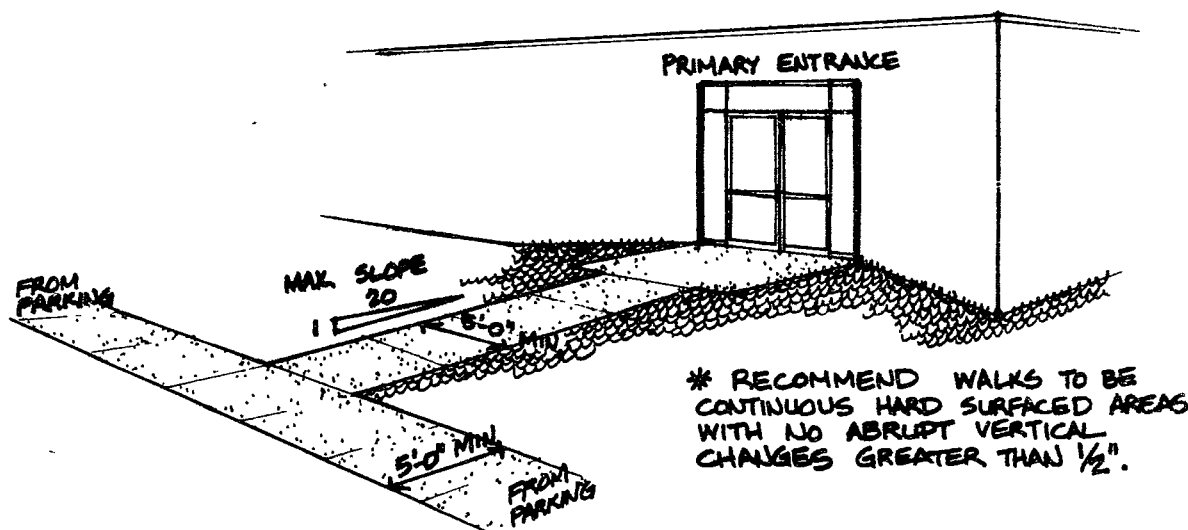

"That happens with a lot of cases now. If we've set a precedent in previous cases and a new one comes in with exactly the same conditions it may be approved or disapproved administratively based on the precedent cases."

Here, then, is the procedure:

1. A building inspector orders a builder or a building owner to comply. The builder objects and files an appeal through the state's department of labor.

2. The appeal includes detailed drawings of the planned new building or pictures if it is an old building.

3. The board's hearing officer may approve or disapprove it. If it's disapproved, the board votes to either uphold or disapprove that action.

4. An administrative officer may examine the appeal and find that it is quite similar to a previous case in which a decision has already been rendered, and he may approve or disapprove it based on that decision.

5. The appeal may come directly to the board, and generally on the day it is heard the board makes a decision. That decision may grant the variance, it may deny the variance, or it may order a modification.

Most of the flak received by the board concerns historical buildings and, generally, it comes "from people who are totally ignorant of the law or who have ingrained prejudices against handicapped people," said Eric Gentile, another of the board's handicapped members.

Gentile is one of the board's most vocal members. He was one of those persons who had a hand in writing the law.

"What burns me up," he said, "is that they come in here absolutely refusing to consider alternatives. They'll install air conditioner units that stick out of windows, they'll put in central heating — none of which has any resemblance to history.

"But ask them to install a ramp to the building so a handicapped person may visit it and they'll scream that we're destroying the architecture or the building's historical significance.

"The fact of the matter is that the architectural appearance of a building can be enhanced with barrier free. A ramp needn't be offensive architecturally. It can be designed and built to fit the existing architecture."

Especially grating to Gentile are those building owners who come in using the historical argument when their real motive is profit.

Other board members concur, and therefore the board generally places historical buildings into two classifications: those which are being preserved to provide the public with a look at the way it used to be, and those old buildings being used for profit.

The latter are not likely to receive as much sympathy as the former.

Nevertheless, Gentile, an employee of Michigan State University, emphasized that contrary to what many believe, the majority of cases coming before the board are granted some kind of variance. "The record is there for anyone to see: 82-percent of the time some variance is granted."

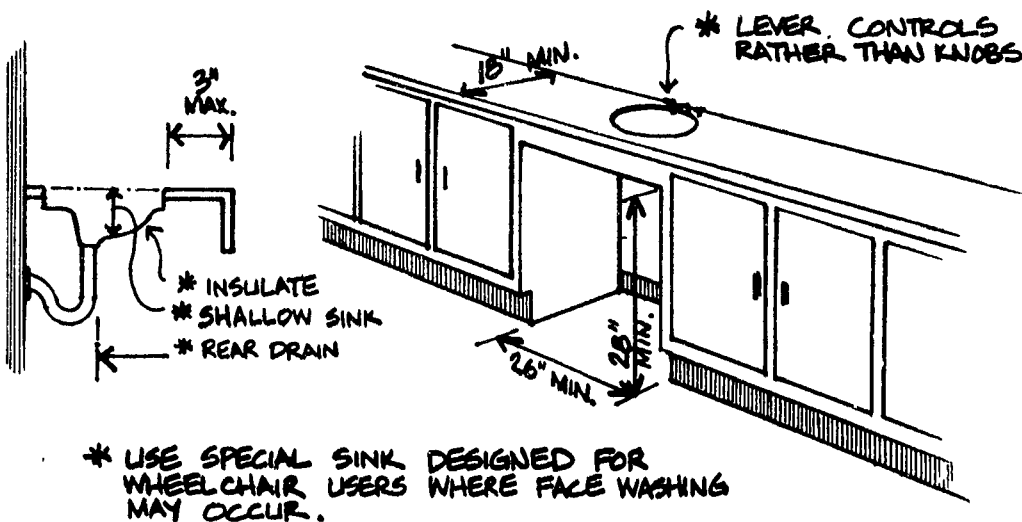

"Furthermore, oftentimes to the consternation of the chairman we sit there and suggest ways how the plans can be modified to cut down expense and yet comply with the intent of the law. Yet we're painted as a foaming-at-the-mouth, saber-toothed tiger. That couldn't be further from the truth."

If those in the legislature succeed in

CARL A. ANDERSON of Northville has been appointed Sales Manager for the Mill Equipment Group of Holcroft, a division of Thermo Electron Corp., Livonia.

Holcroft's Mill Equipment Group was recently formed as part of the company's expanded design and construction capabilities for producing furnaces primarily for the steel industry. The newly formed group will also offer furnaces for non-ferrous processing including aluminum, copper and brass.

Anderson's experience includes 21 years in the design, construction and operation of steel mill type furnaces and other industrial heat processing systems. Prior to his current appointment, he held management, engineering and marketing positions with Rust Furnace Co., Salem Furnace Co. and Pullman Swindell.

Anderson holds a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from Carnegie-Mellon University and a master of science degree in mechanical engineering from University of California Los Angeles. He is a member of American Institute of Steel Engineers and the American Institute of Metallurgical Engineering. His most recently published article was "Walking Beam Furnaces for New Hot Strip Mill" in the November 1976 issue of Metal Bulletin Monthly.

Founded in 1916, Holcroft has been a leading manufacturer of industrial heat processing furnaces for over 60 years. The company's most recent major furnace installation was a 140 ton per hour walking beam steel slab reheating furnace designed and built for Oregon Steel Mills in Portland, Oregon.

This installation received nationwide attention earlier this year for its design and performance, in particular, the extremely short startup time. After the conventional one-month dry out and checking period, the furnace was put on line in one week.

THE BUMMER, Michigan's Consumer Product of the Year, is manufactured in New Hudson by the Hilltop Manufacturing Company, metal fabricators for the automotive and transportation industry.

A totally new concept in bicycle seating, the Bummer with its hammock-like construction, does away with straddling the traditional bicycle or exerciser seat.

A Birmingham agency, Baker, Abbs and Klepinger, has been named to handle advertising and public relations for the Bummer.

GARY C. HOLVICK and associates Thomas D. McIntyre and John C. Heredia of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company were cited July 25 for outstanding life insurance sales among the company's more than 3,400 agents nationally during the 1976-77 agents' honor year which ended May 31.

They are associated with NML's Steven T. Mellinger, Jr. general agency, Flint.

Holvick achieved membership in the Marathon Club for insuring 100 or more people during the year.

McIntyre and Heredia received awards given for sales by newer agents.

Presentations will be made at the 97th annual meeting of the Association of Agents of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company at the firm's Milwaukee home office July 25-27.

SIDEWALK SALES in Brighton will be held August 4, 5, and 6, according to the Brighton Retail Merchants Association. "Be looking for the guys in the straw hats," suggests retail chairman Jim Darnell. "It will tell you that merchant is a participating merchant with plenty of sale items."

The sale will have a farmers' flair to it, as the merchants attempt to promote Brighton's Farmer Market, which is held every Saturday morning at the Cedar Street parking lot.

JULY 25-31 HAS been proclaimed National Farm Safety Week, according to Denise Biegert, South Lyon Farm Bureau Insurance Group agent.

"We consider this to be an important week for farmers in Oakland and Livingston counties," Biegert said. "Because of Farm Bureau Insurance Group's close ties with Michigan agriculture, we are promoting Farm Safety Week in cooperation with the Michigan Rural Safety Council."

The theme of this year's Farm Safety Week is "Safety is a Good Investment", as designed by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Accidents in 1976 claimed the lives of 5,400 farm residents in the United States and caused about 500,000 disabling injuries, according to preliminary estimates of the National Safety Council.

About 1,900 deaths and 180,000 disabling injuries were classified as farm work accidents.

All this adds up to a loss of $3 billion annually and results in untold human suffering and grief.

"Improved safety is of little value unless farmers make safety a part of their everyday work and living," Biegert said.

A study of farm accidents in Michigan, conducted by the Agricultural Engineering Department at Michigan State University, revealed that heavy farm equipment is involved in nearly one-fourth of all farm accidents in the state.

Some safety investments, such as keeping small children away from dangerous farm equipment, cost nothing. Some, such as slow moving vehicle emblems, might cost a few dollars. Other safety investments, like rollover protection on tractors, cost a little more.

WOODMEN ACCIDENT and Life Company, Lincoln, Nebraska has announced that Daley Hill of Northville recently successfully completed an advanced course in life and health insurance at the Company's Home Office in Lincoln, Nebraska. This course included a comprehensive study of business life and group health insurance including Keogh Plans, Tax Sheltered Annuities and Corporate Pensions.

Hill is district manager for Woodmen Accident and Life Company in this area.

BRIGHTON DISTRICT agent Gary C. Holvick and associates Thomas D. McIntyre and John C. Heredia, of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. was cited July 25 for outstanding life insurance sales among the company's more than 3,400 agents nationally during the 1976-77 agents' honor year which ended May 31.

They are associated with NML's Steve T. Mellinger, Jr. general agency, Flint.

Holvick achieved membership in the Marathon Club for insuring 100 or more people during the agents' year.

McIntyre and Heredia received awards given for sales by newer agents.

Honor presentations will be made at the 97th annual meeting of the Association of Agents of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. at the firm's Milwaukee home office on July 25 to 27.

Northwestern Mutual is the nation's eighth largest life insurance company, with assets of over $8.6 billion.

changing the barrier free law, insisted Gentile, Michigan will be the worse for it.

"Look, it's a brand new law and we're a brand new board. There's bound to be some problems at first. But I think we've done a pretty good job representing the handicapped as well as the general public. Right now we're working on rewriting some of the rules that should help everyone."

Munn said he probably isn't as great an advocate of barrier free as some members — "probably because blind don't have the problems that people in wheelchairs have. Our biggest problems are curb cuts and elevator buttons.

"I think if people would consider how difficult it is to get around in a wheelchair they might be a little more appreciative of this law.

"The law's here to stay; once people get used to it I don't think you'll hear so much stink about it."

Phlox: it's pain or pleasure

mite spoil
this beauty

Few flowers grown in the Detroit metropolitan area can be more satisfying or exasperating than the perennial phlox.

A drive through the Northville- Novi-Walled Lake area will reveal precisely why.

Phlox when healthy is a beautiful explosion of color, lasting from early July until frost.

But when phlox is unhealthy, it is a pitiful sight, a deep discouragement to the gardener who sees the same plant growing well in the next-door neighbor's flower garden.

In this area the gardener's biggest headache is red spider mite infestations or mildew that turns the foliage to whitish appearance as if someone had spilled milk on the leaves. Eventually, the foliage turns brown and the leaves drop off leaving flowers on naked stems.

Rich, moist, but well-drained soil and dusting with sulfur or spraying with Karathane will help. Gardeners must remember, too, that phlox should be watered by soaking the soil, not by sprinkling the leaves.

Mulching the surface of the soil to keep the reflected heat from burning the lower foliage also may help.

Phlox is offered in several colors. Among them are:

Purple, salmon pink, orange-red, red, and white.

To keep seeds from dropping to the ground to reproduce less colorful flowers that may eventually return to their ancestral purplish color, it is best to pinch off flowers as soon as they begin to fade.

Weed out seedlings and do not permit plants to go to seed.

Phlox should be replanted about every three years.

Plants should be lifted and divided in the fall, and gardeners should carefully choose new divisions from the outer edge of the root stump, discarding the old center.

As one can readily see in this area, phlox thrives in full sunlight, but it will grow in partial shade where a minimum of three to four hours of full Michigan sunshine are available.

Weed control

The trick of growing vegetables

Every vegetable gardener should be as picky about his weed control method as he is about the type of plants he puts in his garden, according to A. R. Putnam, horticulturist at Michigan State University.

Basically, the home vegetable grower has two choices: cultural or chemical weed control.

The nonchemical or cultural methods are generally the least expensive and most practical for small gardens. Mulching keeps weed seeds from germinating and smothers existing small weeds. The larger weeds should be removed by hand before mulching.

Mulching also helps keep in soil moisture and adds to the appearance of the garden.

Putnam points out that mulching needs to be done only once per growing season, directly after plants have been set out or after vegetable seedlings are about four inches high.

The most common mulches are plant materials or organic mulches such as grass clippings, leaves, compost, straw or sphagnum peat moss. Other materials suitable for use in vegetable gardens include sawdust, shredded bark, mushroom compost, peanut hulls, and crushed or whole corn cobs.

When mulching with sawdust, corn cobs, straw or shredded bark, the gardener should apply a little extra nitrogen fertilizer to prevent nitrogen deficiency. Newspapers can be used, but should be placed several layers thick and anchored securely.

Aluminum foil, fiberglass mats (such as used for building insulation) and black plastic are inorganic mulches. These materials are not derived from plants. The most popular inorganic mulch is black plastic. In the spring, the plastic is spread over the ground and the young plants or seeds are set in the ground through slits in the plastic.

Soil can be used to hold down the edges.

Putnam usually advises against using chemical weed control in the home vegetable garden. These substances were designed to kill plants and are only safe around certain plants.

Grows in shade

Some grasses grow better in shade than do others.

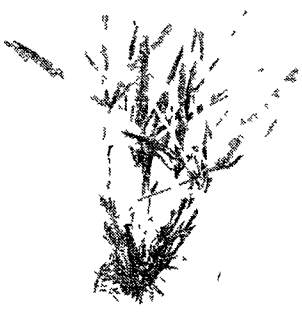

The fine-leaf fescues are especially esteemed. They often colonize beautifully in the shade of trees where nothing else seems content. Fescues don't need a lot of fertility, either.

Kentucky bluegrasses and perennial ryegrasses generally are not quite so tolerant of shade as are the fescues, although certain cultivars do quite well.

Mildew disease can be a serious detriment to bluegrass in the shade; cultivars tolerant of the disease such as Glade and Nugget have an advantage.

Shade plantings are helped by higher than normal mowing, so that as much food-making green leaf as is possible is retained by the grass.

Grow a fern

Green thumb challenge

Want to give your green thumb a real test? Then try growing one of the maidenhair ferns.

Because these ferns do best in high humidity and moist soil, Michigan State University horticulturists recommend drowning them in

Plant maidenhair ferns in an organic soil made of equal parts commercial potting soil and shredded peat moss. Keep the soil moist at all times.

Warm temperatures — 80-85 degrees F during the day and a minimum of 62-65 degrees at night — are the ideal. At cooler temperatures, the ferns require less water. High humidity is necessary at any temperature to prevent curling and browning of the ruffled leaflets.

Partial shade or the unbroken light from a north window is sufficient for good growth. Maidenhair ferns should never be exposed to direct sunlight, or to high temperatures, and dry soil. Too much sun or high temperature can cause outer fronds to turn brown and die.

Insect infestations on maidenhair ferns can be troublesome. Aphids, white flies, scale and mealybugs may be difficult to control because malathion, a common ingredient for treating these pests causes chemical burn to ferns.

If you're successful in growing the maidenhair fern and want to propagate it, do so by dividing it and planting the divisions.

They'll see

park flowers

"Summer Flowers" will be the feature attraction of a program to be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford on Sunday, July 31 at 9:00 a.m.

Join Park Naturalist Dave Moilanen as he stalks through fields and along the water's edge searching for the colorful flowers of summer. The program includes the basic ecology of these flowers and identification techniques. The 2-hour "free" program is for individuals and families only. Advance registration is required. For registration information contact the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark — Phone 685-1561 (Milford). Vehicle entry permits are required (Daily-$1).

Keep 'em thin and aid crops

It may seem wasteful to thin garden crops and flowers, but it pays off in the end.

Thinning allows the remaining plants room to develop properly, Michigan State University horticulturists explain. Thin when plants are small and the soil is moist to avoid injuring the plants that are left.

Rocky grower

One of the easiest and most-lasting of the plants ideal for rock gardens are hen and chickens — from the cacti-succulent family. They'll root in the tiniest of places, soon multiplying until large areas are covered. They generally come in gray, green and rose colors.

The Light Touch

by ANN L. ROY

During the early days of one of the U.S.A.'s past president's reign, a group of disgruntled aides was leaving the president's office. "You know," said one, "Sometimes I wish he was the Pope instead of President."

"Why?" asked another aide. "Because," came the reply, "Then we'd only have to kiss his ring."

"I hear you went to the ball game last Sunday instead of going to church."

"That's a lie and I've got the fish to prove it!"

Tim: Just remember what it says in the Bible: "Don't worry, here comes the Quilt!" Tom: You idiot! That's "Fear not" — the Comforter Cometh!"

A Motherless World

They were an artificial people...
In assembly line form,
Life was mass-produced,
So that all humans were mere products.

Each child the same,
Born of a machine,
A machine inhuman and unmaternal,
Creating identical, unloving creatures...

...He was just another one,
A child produced like all the others,
Lacking character and emotion,
And the ability to dream.

A child without roots,
Without an individual identity,
He was motherless;

Created into human form.

He belonged to no one,
Unattached in life,
With no true identity,
Just another faceless being.

How dreary a life,
To be like the next one,
No variety, no difference,
Everyone a carbon copy.

Motherless he was created,
Motherless he was raised,
Motherless he lived,
In this artificial world.

Without a mother he lacked...
Her love showing compassion,
Her guiding hand to live by,
And the feeling of belonging.

He knew not the feelings,
Of love, friendship, sadness,
and fear,
Deprived of love,
Unable to love,
He knew not how to express emotion;
Dead emotionally,
Uncreative mentally,
Rotting spiritually.

It was a world of toy-soldiers,
Acting human in pretense,
For they were not born of a mother,
A mother so essential to life,
so loving,
so great,

...like my mother...

Daybreak

I sat by the lake to say a prayer,
It is so calm and peaceful there
At the break of dawn, as nature wakes
To the call of a loon ere sunlight breaks.

The air was cool from a night's repose
Before the stirring of the bay,
With thought suspended, ere it rose
To greet the rising sun's first ray.

This in essence is life in truth —
To meditate midst nature's way,
And find therein a calm to soothe
The waters of another day.

West Michigan tour trail

Bikers can watch ships

Ship watching, sun-bathing, dunes scaling and visiting top tourism attractions are activities highlighted along a 126-mile bicycle route through West Michigan, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The circle tour rolls along a beautiful stretch of Lake Michigan, past miles of outstanding agricultural and dairy farms and through industrialized areas of Muskegon, Holland and Grand Rapids. The route is along all paved roads and provides interesting contrasts. The countryside varies from mostly flat or gently rolling to steep hills, and winding roads and passes through large cities as well as rural areas.

Parts of the cycling trip are along marked bicycle routes, and more than two-thirds of the trip follows lightly traveled roads.

Persons looking for hotels, inns and motels or restaurants en route will be able to choose from a large number which range from modest to luxurious. Campgrounds and picnic areas are plentiful, too.

The 33-mile stretch from Holland to Grand Haven is the most scenic. Cyclists travel along Lake Michigan and its towering sand dunes and pass stately summer and year-round homes.

Two of Michigan's most popular state park campgrounds, Holland and Grand Haven, are located along that stretch. A third state park, Hoffmaster, is situated near Muskegon. All three are on Lake Michigan and have beautiful, sandy beaches. Draws Campground along US-31 is available for cyclists in the Holland area preferring a private park.

Those who begin pedaling from Holland leave behind one of the state's most picturesque cities.

Popular Holland attractions are the Wooden Shoe Factory and Dutch Village on US-31. The city's Windmill Island contains a 200-year-old windmill imported from the Netherlands called De Zwaan.

The island also has splendid gardens, wooden shoe carving exhibits, a miniature Dutch village, farm scenes and Dutch artifacts.

Freighters from around the world can be seen in the Lake Macatawa channel near Holland State Park. Lake Macatawa slices the city into two sections and is good for sailboat watching.

Cyclists traveling along Lake Shore Drive from Holland to Grand Haven will find several rest areas along the way, including Tunnel Park, north of Holland, and Kirk Park, south of Grand Haven. Some of West Michigan's most beautiful homes are located in that stretch.

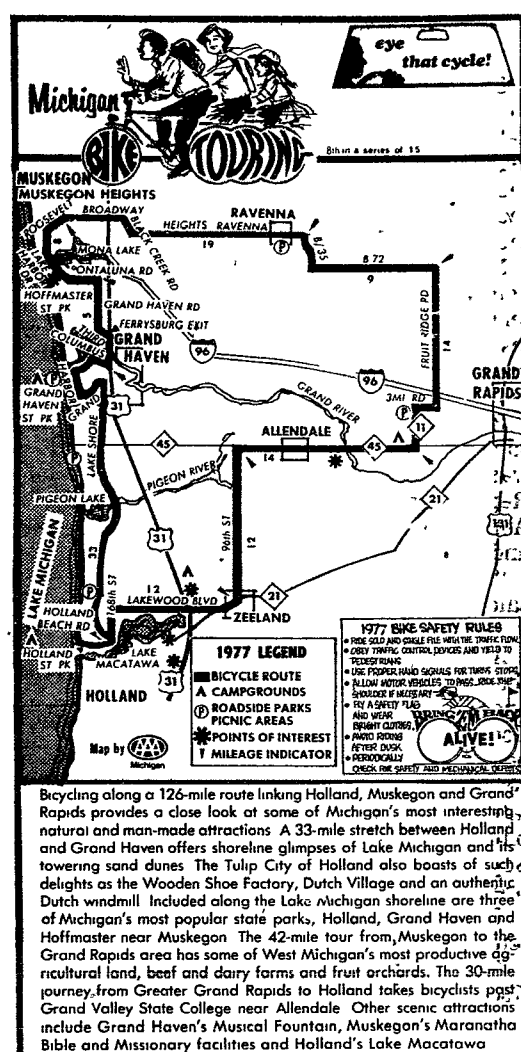

Grand Haven has several city parks, including one on the Grand River, and a chance to view the community's famed Musical Fountain, which features nightly concerts in light, water and sound through Labor Day.

Grand Haven also is the home of the U.S. Coast Guard Festival, which this year runs July 30 to August 7. The Coast Guard vessel Raritan is based there.

Bikers must negotiate several congested city streets, including US-31 BR, and cross the drawbridge over the Grand River before reaching lightly traveled Old Grand Haven Road.

Once crossing the bridge, bicyclists must take the Ferrysburg exit and turn left on Third Street before winding into Old Grand Haven Road and setting a northerly course for the eight miles to the Greater Muskegon area.

Travelers pass through mostly residential areas along Pontaluna Road, Lake Harbor Drive and Monica Lake before touring the industrialized and commercialized areas of Greater Muskegon. Maranatha Bible and missionary facilities are located on the route.

The facility offers lodging and weekly religious conferences with reservations.

The 42-mile route from the Muskegon area to Greater Grand Rapids provides an interesting look at huge dairy and beef farms around Ravenna and cherry and apple orchards in eastern Ottawa and western Kent counties. Large farms also are located in that area.

One of the state's newer institutions of higher learning, Grand Valley State College, is along the M-45 portion of the route near Allendale. A park and campgrounds is also located on M-45, but campers must obtain a permit from the Grand Rapids Parks Department to use the facility.

Legislative debate carries a real painful wallop

By Warren M. Hoyt

Legislation to soften penalties for marijuana possession has been debated for hours in the state legislature. But it was, ironically, the defeat of such a bill that led to the first legislative violence over the emotional topic.

Minutes after the state House voted down a measure to end jail terms for possession of an ounce or less of pot, a woman lawmaker walloped the sponsor of the bill twice on the head.

Rosetta Ferguson, D-Detroit, says she didn't realize what she was doing, except that sponsor Representative Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, had called her a liar, and she didn't like that.

"I saw red, white and blue," she said afterwards.

Although Bullard was unhurt by the sudden attack, it stunned him and his colleagues on the House floor. Moments before the incident he was ready to call on the House to reconsider its vote, but he was later persuaded to hold back on the bill until the House returns in September from its summer break.

That will be time enough for tempers to cool, House leaders say.

Although violence on legislative floors is rare, it is not unknown.

Several years ago, one lawmaker's jaw was broken in a tiff and another was klunked with an ashtray.

And although such incidents are usually criticized as childish and barbaric, they're understandable if you consider how the law-making process works. Dozens of men and women work very closely together for hours each day, often waging furious verbal battles over what they consider a matter of principle, or morals, or patriotism, or the public interest, or whatever.

Inevitably, one lawmaker is bound to take a step too many, say one sentence too much, and another is ticked off — occasionally to the point of venting that fury with a curse, or a swing.

In the Bullard-Ferguson case, it apparently was a misunderstanding. Mrs. Ferguson said something during debate which Bullard understood to be a lie. That's because Mrs. Ferguson hadn't made herself as clear as she might have been, although she didn't realize her mistake until later.

The Bullard marijuana bill — which looked for a time like it would bring a victory out of the House — will likely draw the same emotional testimonies when it comes up again in the fall. But maybe next time, reminded by the events of the past, lawmakers will keep their feelings at rein.

It took them until literally the eleventh hour, but lawmakers were able to stymie a promised state income tax reduction that could have save $18 a year for a family of four with a $15,000 income.

The vote was close, with those who favored the reduction accusing its opponents of breaking their promise to the people. Finally, just 77 minutes before the reduction was to occur, the Senate had to use the vote of one member called from a bar and another who left a showing of "Star Wars." And even then, there was not a vote to spare.

The promise to roll the tax back from 4.6 percent to 4.4 percent was made in 1975 when it was boosted to 4.6 percent from 3.9 percent. That increase was needed to replace revenue lost when Michiganders voted to end the sales tax on food and drugs.

But tax hikes being generally unpopular politically, supporters of the 1975 increase agreed to include a promised reduction to win the votes of a few reluctant lawmakers.

But this year, that promise no longer held the gleam it did in 1975. Instead, a reduction in the tax promised a drop of about $90 million in state revenues next fiscal year.

So like a worker would fight a cut in salary, the legislative leadership and Governor William Milliken began battling to block the promised rollback. Ultimately, it took some promises to lawmakers from the leadership and Milliken's people to win the votes they needed.

But the move was successful, the promise was broken, and the state won't have to scrimp on spending next year. Those who favored the reduction continue to grumble, however, that the state's pockets are so full these days that it could have afforded a few alms to the people.

Bleary-eyed from lack of sleep and lack of progress, Michigan legislators went home for the summer at about 9 p.m. July 8 — leaving unresolved a bitter controversy over whether the state police should expand their city freeway patrols beyond Detroit to other metropolises.

After days of futilely trying to reach a compromise on the question, the state Senate adjourned in exasperation. And since the House could do nothing by itself, it too adjourned.

The abrupt adjournment followed about a week of work that sent some $3.5 million in budget bills to the governor's desk. The appropriations will fund education and government operations in the fiscal year starting October 1.

But lawmakers were stymied on efforts to work out the state police budget. Everyone seemed to agree that state police patrols should remain on Detroit freeways. But Governor William Milliken wanted to send similar patrols to freeways in Flint, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Lansing and Detroit suburbs. The AFL-CIO, a union with strong sway in the legislature, said money should go to sheriff departments instead, so deputies could do the patrolling.

Efforts to mix the two ideas failed, either because lawmakers rejected them or Milliken indicated he would veto them.

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"Here are some tips on using your air conditioner wisely when temperatures soar."

The Midwest is experiencing one of the hottest summers in recent memory and many people are turning on their air conditioners to keep comfortable. As an energy supplier, Detroit Edison is an active and concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation. But the success of this crusade requires a working relationship between those who supply energy and those who use it. Using your air conditioner wisely is one of the ways you can help. You'll save on operating costs, too.

You can dial up and hold your costs down.

Don't overcool your home. That's a wasteful use of energy. And expensive. For the most comfort and the most efficiency, set your thermostat no lower than about 10 degrees below the outside temperature. If it's 85 degrees outside, then set your thermostat at about 75 degrees. Otherwise your air conditioner has to work extra hard and your costs go up and up. In a typical house, you can save about 5 percent in operating costs for every degree you move the thermostat up. So, if your house is going to be empty for a few hours, move your thermostat up 5 more degrees and pocket the savings.

Staying comfortable this summer can be a breeze.

When the sun beats down, the heat in your attic builds up and it can be like living under an oven. An attic exhaust fan will get the hot air out and let the cooler night air in, and take the strain off your air conditioner. Good attic insulation works wonders at keeping your home cooler in summer and it will pay off again by saving on heating costs next winter. And don't forget light-colored shingles reflect heat. Whatever you do to keep heat out of your house saves money in air conditioning. Window fans work, too.

Shades of the past.

Before you had air conditioning, there were things you did to keep comfortable, like pulling down the window shades and closing the draperies on the sunny side of the house. That's smart. Because a bare window lets in as much as 35 times more heat than an insulated wall.

So do the same now and you can reduce your air-conditioning costs by as much as 12 percent. Shade your windows from the outside with ventilated awnings or trees and save even more—up to 22 percent of your air-conditioning operating costs.

Maintain your cool.

If you want your air conditioner to take good care of you, keep it clean. This means changing or washing the air filters often. Also, vacuum the inside coils and keep outside coils free of debris. Clean registers and return ducts regularly on central air-conditioning systems, and keep the cooling drain open for free condensate flow. And don't block air flow with furniture or draperies. Your owner's manual lists other maintenance tips. Follow them and keep cool all summer.

Buying a new air conditioner? Maybe the most important numbers aren't on the price tag.

First of all, it's important that you get the right size unit (BTU's). Your salesman can help on this if you tell him the length and width of the area you want to cool. Another number that's important is the EER number. This stands for Energy Efficiency Rating.

VOLTS	CYCLE	PHASE
115	60	1
COOLING BTU/HR	AMPS	WATTS
BTUs		WATTS

You can figure this out yourself. Just divide the BTU number by the number of watts. For example, a unit that delivers 6400 BTU's with 800 watts has an EER rating of 8. (800 goes into 6400 8 times.) The recommended EER number for any air conditioner is 8 or more. You may pay a little more, but you'll save on energy costs in the long run.

Detroit Edison has a folder, "How to stretch your air-conditioning operating dollar." Pick one up at any customer office and start saving, or write to: Customer Relations, Detroit Edison 2000 Second, Detroit, Michigan 48226 Conserve for all it's worth. The power is in your hands.

No challenges

Colonels are king in Thomson tournament

The Colonels were cooking at Northville's Thomson Field last weekend.

Union Lake's Kentucky Fried Chicken, otherwise known as the Colonels, turned on all the broilers and roared their way to the fifth annual Thomson Tournament championship, breezing past five opponents in the process. In the title game they unleashed a 38-hit attack on their way to a 33-4 romp over Michael's-Ashley of Madison Heights.

Not that the championship was anything new to the Union Lake club. In 1975 and '76, when they were still known as Rainbow Sports, the Colonels ran away with the third and fourth annual Thomson tourneys.

This year they exploded for 79 runs while allowing only 20 as they waltzed through the 15-team field without ever encountering a serious challenge.

In their opener Friday against Melio's of Oak Park the Colonels jumped off to a 7-0 lead in the third inning on the strength of home runs by Mike Turk and Doug Gaines, and from there coasted to an 11-4 triumph. That advanced them to the second round against Madison Heights Bishop Foley's Dad's Club, a 6-4 winner over Kerk's Auto in its first round contest.

Once again it was a seven-run outburst, this time in the second inning, that launched the Colonels to victory. Ray Koenig led off the inning with a home run and, like dominoes in a line, six of the next seven batters cracked hits to keep the rally moving.

Kentucky Fried Chicken added seven more runs in the last five innings while limiting Bishop Foley's to a single tally in the fourth for a 14-1 triumph.

Plymouth's Don Massey Cadillac provided a little more competition in the third round as they built up a brief 6-2 lead in the first two-and-a-half innings, but fell 13-9.

The Colonels came up with another big third inning as they scored six runs on six straight hits, including home runs by Matt Partridge and Koenig, to take an 8-6 lead.

Then, with the Colonels holding a slim 9-8 edge in the sixth, Partridge and Marv Gross slammed back-to-back homers to spark a four-run rally and put Don Massey to rest for good.

The Union Lake club had its lowest scoring output of the tournament in the semi-finals as they knocked off Michael's-Ashley 8-2. Their first three runs came on four straight hits and a sacrifice fly in the third inning. Holding a meager 3-2 lead in the sixth, the Colonels closed out their scoring with a five-run surge sparked by Gross's two-run triple.

That set up a rematch between the two clubs in the finals, after Michael's-Ashley had knocked off Livingston Businessmen in the losers' bracket.

The rematch proved to be a mismatch, though, as Kentucky Fried Chicken raced off to a 26-3 lead in the first five innings and coasted to a 33-4 rout. Partridge, Gross and Koenig belted two home runs apiece while Turk, Bud Williams and Ed Knight each had five hits to pace the attack, highlighted by a 10-run fifth-inning explosion.

Ed Whittaker, the Colonels' pitcher in all five victories, was voted the tournament's Most Valuable Player while manager Max Burt was tabbed Most Valuable Manager.

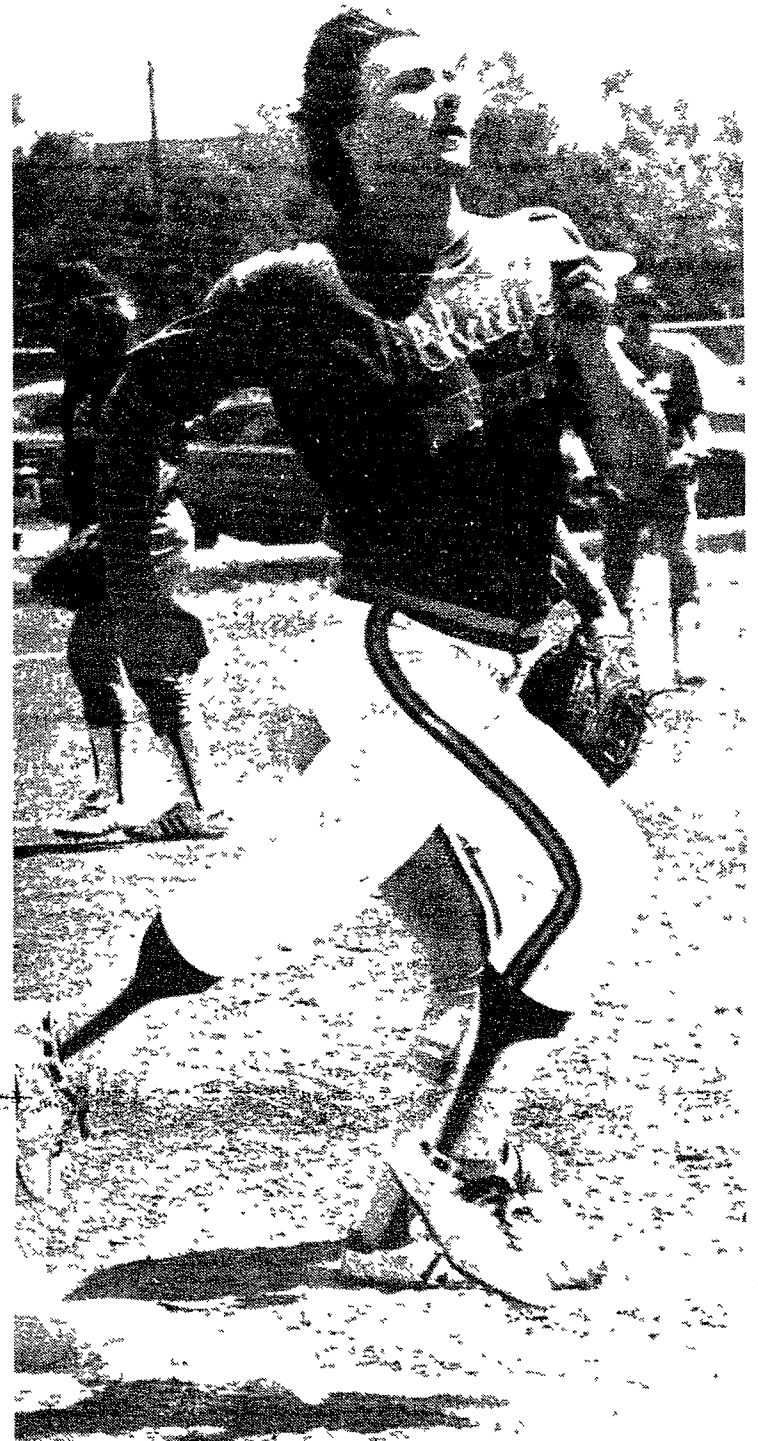

Northville's Village Blues, meanwhile, suffered a seven hitting slump after rolling over Canton Township's Little Caesar's 20-6 in the first round, and the city's only representative dropped out of the tourney after just three games.

The Blues scored six runs, five of them with two outs, in the first inning for an early 6-0 lead. Two innings later Little Caesar's had closed the gap to 9-6, though.

In the fourth the Blues came alive again and scored six more times on eight hits to push their lead to nine, then finished up with five more tallies, three of them on Jerrx Dettler's homerun in the sixth.

After that it was all down hill for the Northville contingent. In their second-round contest against Michael's-Ashley the Blues collected only one run and eight hits and went down to a 9-1 defeat. John Boland cracked the Blues' only extra-base hit, a fourth-inning double that knocked in their only run.

As if that wasn't bad enough Northville dropped a 12-4 decision to Farmington's Suburban Sport Center in the losers' bracket, picking up only seven hits in the process. Gary Winemaster carried the Blues' only big stick in that one, knocking in three runs with a home run and a double.

Gary Winemaster of Village Blues is thrown out at first

Underdogs romp in upsets

Somewhat last week's Women's Softball League results just didn't seem right.

Super Bowl and Wishing Well Manor were supposed to have an easy time of it in their contests with Northville Record and Dave's Trim Shop, but instead the two underdogs rolled to surprisingly easy victories.

Super Bowl, holding down second place with a 5-2 record, lost a chance to gain ground on league-leading

Record jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first on Carol LaFramboise's triple, Kathy Rogowski's double and a pair of singles by Sheila McIntosh and JoAnne Colligan. Super Bowl bounced back for four runs in their half of the first, though, on RBI singles by Christina Redmond, Vicki Merriman and Cindy Booth and a sacrifice fly by Mary Poole.

Not to be outdone, Record went ahead 7-4 in the second when Rogowski smashed a bases-loaded triple to highlight a four-run surge.

After Super Bowl closed the gap to two with a run in the third, Record scored five more times in the fourth, then put the game out of reach with a six-run outburst in the fifth sparked by Rogowski's two-run triple and McIntosh's two-run homerun.

The loss left Super Bowl two full games behind Casterline and just a game ahead of third-place Record.

Dave's Trim Shop, meanwhile, overcame a 3-0 deficit with 10 runs in the second inning of its game against Wishing Well Manor and went on to post a 16-6 victory, its first of the season.

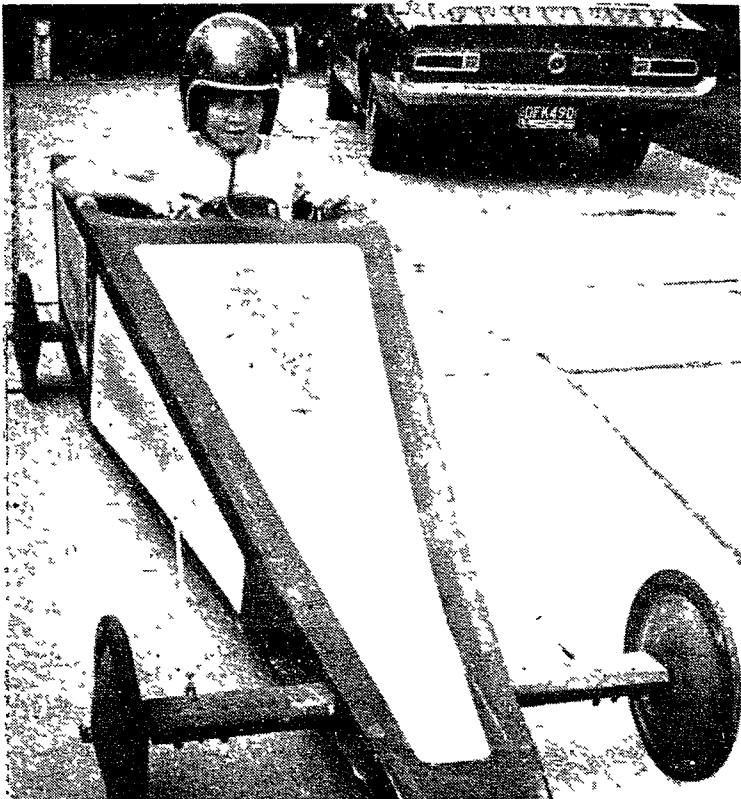

Dave's managed only six hits, all singles, in the second-inning rally, but were helped along by three walks and a pair of errors. The winners struck for four more runs in the third, two on a bases-loaded single by Ruth Ann Booms, and added two in the fourth while Wishing Well had single tallies in the second, third and fourth innings.

Linda Justice went 4-for-4 to lead Dave's hitting attack while Cher Cook had a fourth-inning triple for the game's only extra-base hit. Wishing Well's record sunk to 2-5 after the loss, leaving them just one game out of last place.

Astros win league title

The Astros closed out their Junior Baseball season last week with a 14-2 record and ran away with the E League championship.

Under first-year coach Chuck May the Astros finished five games ahead of the second-place Reds thus qualifying for the E league district tournament in Northville next month.

Jamie North shows off car before last year's derby

It's derby time again

An event that has become part of Northville's annual summer tradition is almost here again. It's known as Soapbox Derby Day, and it's coming August 6 if all goes well.

In recent years the derby has been drawing about a dozen participants each summer, and if past experience is any indication there should be quite a bit of excitement, and maybe even a few oddities, at this year's event.

The first Soapbox Derby ever held in Northville took place on Maplewood Hill in August of 1970. A total of seven youngsters competed, with Fred Meyer taking home the first-place trophy after edging out Tague Harding in the day's final heat.

A year later, with a field of nine competing, Meyer again took the checkered flag, only this time his competition in the finals was a bit more familiar — his brother Tim finished in second place.

Three years later another family "dynasty" of sorts began when Brian Seever guided his cart to a razor-thin victory over Danny Yoder in a derby that attracted 17 participants. What made the win especially intriguing was that Seever, who had finished in a dead heat with Yoder in an earlier run, was a 13-year-old contestant driving car number 13. Apparently he wasn't very superstitious.

Two other drivers competing in the event probably should have been, though. During the course of trial heats one car catapulted over a curb and flipped upside down while another lost control and bowled over a race official near the finish line.

The following year male chauvinism received a slap in the face when Brian's sister Sue became the first girl to ever win the derby. Once again Yoder got the raw end of the deal as he finished second in a nip-and-tuck race in the finals.

Two of the 12 racers, though, never really got off the ground — well, down the hill actually. Apparently both cars in one of the heats had too much friction to coast all the way down to Maplewood Hill's finish line, so the heat had to be run all over again.

Last year Danny Yoder finally rid himself of the past two years' frustration and won the derby outright. One competitor who didn't quite shed his frustrations, though, was Jamie North.

In the past two derbies North had finished in fourth place, so last year he worked like crazy fixing up his car and vowed to finish much better. He only placed third, with Yoder and runner-up Dave Lennox barely edging him out.

This year's event, the eighth annual, is once again sponsored by the Northville Jaycees. For further information and/or registration procedures contact Jaycee chairman Pete Winter at 349-5588.

Moon shots: they often clear the fence

When Jeff Moon of the Village Blues' softball team steps up to the plate, there's a very good chance he'll be trotting across it from the third base side moments later.

Moon is the undisputed batting leader of the undisputed softball leader in Northville Men's Slo-Pitch this season.

One look at his hitting statistics verifies that.

In his first 100 trips to the plate this summer the big left-hander has hammered 38 homeruns and knocked in 82 runs. His league-leading batting average stands at .740, and his slugging percentage is an incredible 2.140.

Still, Moon was never considered much of a hitter before getting out of high school five years ago. The 22-year-old slugger was a star pitcher for Northville High in his earlier days, leading the Mustangs to the Class B state semi-finals in his senior year.

That same summer he was a starter for Redford Adray, a sandlot club that went all the way to the national championships in Johnstown, Pa., and finished as the runners-up. In fact, during the course of tournament action leading to the championships Moon picked up a record that, for all he knows, still stands.

"I think I still hold the record for the most innings pitched without giving up a run," he says, recalling that the record is "somewhere around 17 and two thirds."

But his hitting in baseball was always somewhat suspect.

"I never could hit a hard ball," he says. "I used to sit on the bench most of the time for Adray, because back then they had designated hitters."

Even when he first started playing softball, which he says "a couple friends" talked him into doing, he claims to have had to "struggle to hit."

Apparently those days are long gone, though. In addition to slugging for the Village Blues, Moon plays for two other top-notch clubs in the area, the Ann Arbor Travelers and the Walled Lake Kentucky Fried Chicken Colonels, who finished sixth in last year's Class B World Championships in Oklahoma. In past summers he's played for Choo Choo Train and Winner's Circle, two defunct clubs that were once powerhouses in Northville Men's Softball.

This year, though, is by far the best he's had in softball.

Why such an improvement? "I'm picking the right pitches this year," he says, explaining that good hitting in softball is as much a matter of concentration and timing as it is pure strength.

"I try to hit the ball as hard as I can every time I step up to the plate, but I also concentrate on timing the pitch right. You have to wait for your pitch in softball, you have to make him (the pitcher) throw the pitch you want."

That, Moon says, is one big difference between softball and baseball. "In hard ball, you have to hit what the pitcher wants. In softball the pitcher has to throw what you want."

Another difference, he adds, is that in softball the batter supplies the power behind a hit, while in baseball a pitcher has much more to do with it.

"There's really just an offensive team in softball," he says, although he notes that a good softball club does need hard-nosed defense as well.

Does he like softball better than baseball?

Oh, yeah, definitely. Softball is a quick, aggressive game. It's good competition. It lets you concentrate.

"Besides, it gives me something to do. I'm gone (to softball games) every weekend."

And so, no doubt, are a good number of the hits he clobbers at those games.

Jeff Moon packs plenty of wallop into his swing

Rally nips Ardon

Red Dogs finally end cold streak

Northville's Co-Ed League cellar dwellers, the Red Dogs, finally broke out of their cold streak and posted a stirring come-from-behind 12-11 victory over Ardon Business Forms last week.

After losing games by scores like 43-1 and 22-4 in recent games, the Red Dogs were apparently determined to make amends. Ardon jumped off to an early 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but the Dogs fought back to tie it up in their half of the first.

In next four innings Ardon built up a 9-4 cushion, but things finally started looking up for the Red Dogs in the bottom of the fifth. Sparked by Rafaela Robledo's double and singles by Jim Jacobs, Jeff Parko, Fran Ciampa and Jamie Flora, the winners scored six times to take a 10-9 lead.

Ardon regained the lead in the top of the seventh when Mike Olson and May Smith scored on John Stock's triple, but the Red Dogs weren't through yet.

With Jamie and Jen Flora on base and one out, Robledo belted her second, double of the day to force home the winning run.

In other Co-Ed games Sunday Goat Farm and Little Joe's Bar each won, again to remain tied for first place. Goat Farm romped to a 15-2 triumph over Realtron while Little Joe's edged A.J. Segal and Sons 10-7.

She qualifies

Wanda Telep, a resident of South Lyon, has qualified her horse for the 1977 World Championship Quarter Horse Show in Oklahoma City this fall. The horse, Nells Rags Andy, will be one of about 1200 quarter horses competing in the show, which runs November 17-20.

Mrs. Telep, who qualified for the world championships by earning 39 points on the American Quarter Horse Association show circuit this season, will enter Nells Rags Andy in the Senior Western Pleasure competition, one of 47 different events to be held.

Sixty local residents are presently competing in qualifying rounds to fill the eight open positions in the tournament's main draw. The final rounds take place tonight (Wednesday) between 6 and 9 p.m.

The tournament itself begins Friday afternoon at 4:30 and continues until 9 p.m., then resumes on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The semifinals get under way at 10:30 a.m. and noon Sunday, with the finals slated for 4:00 that afternoon.

There is no admission charge to the event, which features players like Jeff Etterbeek (no. 1 seed), the University of Michigan's top player; John Peckskamp (no. 2 seed) of Cincinnati, one of the Midwest's top professionals; Maurice Hunter (no. 3 seed) of Detroit, who plays for California's University of Pepperdine; and Graham Snook (no. 4 seed), considered Michigan's top professional.

Guardian Angels win women's tourney

Guardian Angels aren't always looking out for other people. In the case of the Women's Invitational Softball Tournament at Novi High School last weekend it was every team for itself as Walled Lake's Guardian Angels, sponsored by Novi's Guardian Industries, romped through an impressive field of four area teams to capture the first-place trophy.

It all started innocently enough, with Novi City Clerk Gerrie Stipp tossing out the first ball before the Guardian Angels took on Novi's Lorraine Tool and Die in Saturday morning's opener. From there on in, though, the Angels were all business as they mechanically disposed of L.T.D. 9-5 and advanced to the semi-finals of the double-elimination tourney.

Guardian scored twice in the first inning, then twice more in the third on Karen Miller's two-run homer, while L.T.D. pushed one across in the second on four walks and an error.

The Angels got one more in the fifth, then exploded for four in the sixth to take a commanding 9-1 advantage. Cathy Wurn tripled, Mary Anne Bolinger doubled and Marty Martin and Mickey Schodowski added singles to spark the sixth-inning outburst.

Down but not out, L.T.D. staged a two-out comeback in the seventh that netted four runs, three of them on Jennifer Sibole's home run and another on Rosie Fraczyk's base hit, but the rally fell short when Kathy Ward flew out to end the game.

Northville's Casterline, meanwhile, came back from an early five-run deficit and went on to nip Milford Auto Body 13-12 in the other tourney opener.

Trailing 5-0 in the bottom of the second, "Cast Your Line" scored four times on singles by Nancy Morelli, Debbie Davis and Patty Brown plus a pair of walks and an error to cut the gap to one. In the third they duplicated their second-inning outburst, this time on singles by Denise MacDermaid, Renee Letarte and Colleen Brewer plus a walk and an error, to go ahead 8-5.

Casterline still had a one-run lead, 9-8, in the fifth when Morelli belted a two-run homer and sparked a three-run surge that made it 12-8. What proved to be the winning run scored in the bottom of the sixth on back-to-back singles by Sue Martin, MacDermaid and Dorothy Martin. Milford made it close with four runs on two homers in the seventh, but couldn't quite catch the winners.

In the semis it looked for awhile like Casterline might be the team to beat, but in the end it was the Guardian Angels prevailing, 12-8.

After four innings the Northville club had a 7-4 lead, with two runs coming in on Sally Potter's fourth-inning homer and the rest on fielding errors in the second and third innings. All four Guardian runs had scored on five singles in the second and third innings.

The tide began to change in the fifth, though, when the Angels chased two runs across, one on Miller's run-scoring triple and another on Ann Sacco's sacrifice fly. Casterline responded with a tally in the top of the sixth.

Then came the flood.

Guardian sent 11 players to the plate in the bottom of the sixth, scoring six times on four hits, three errors and a walk to stash the game away and advance to the finals.

L.T.D., meanwhile, rose out of the losers' bracket by skunking Milford 5-0, then knocking off Casterline 12-8. In the latter contest L.T.D.'s Shelly MacDermaid sparked the winners with a home run, single and two RBI's while Casterline's Denise MacDermaid led the losers' attack with two home runs, a single and five RBI's.

The L.T.D.-Guardian Angel rematch proved to be a thriller as the Novi team squandered an early four-run lead, fell behind by two, then rallied to edge the Angels 12-11 and force another championship game.

Fraczyk's two-out home run in the bottom of the first made it 3-1, but Guardian came right back for two more scores in the second on three walks and a pair of singles.

Guardian started out on the right foot, with Jackie Bennett belting a home run to lead off the game. The Angels added two more tallies in their first turn at bat to take a 3-0 lead.

Behind 5-1, L.T.D. erupted for eight runs in their half of the second on only three hits to take a 9-5 lead. Unimpressed, the Angels bounced back and regained the lead, 11-9, two innings later.

Just to keep things close, L.T.D.'s Pat Kaercher chased one run across in the bottom of the fourth on a two-out double to make it 11-10.

That's the way things stood when the Novi club stepped up in the sixth. After Sibole led off with a walk Fraczyk clobbered her second home run of the day, and L.T.D.'s defense made it stick for a tight one-run triumph.

That set up a sudden-death showdown between the two clubs Saturday evening, but the Guardian Angels had things pretty well in hand all the way in the finale as they chalked up a 9-4 victory.

After battling L.T.D. to a 2-2 standoff in the first three innings, Guardian scored all the runs they needed in the fourth with a four-run surge highlighted by Barb Carl's two-run double.

L.T.D. fought back to within two in the fifth inning when Sibole pumped a two-run homer to make it 6-4. The Angels put the icing on in the sixth, though, with a three-run explosion sparked by Schodowski's two-run homer, then retired L.T.D. in order in the seventh to wrap up the championship.

The Guardian Angels presently hold down second place in their division of the Walled Lake Women's League with a 11-3 record, while Casterline (6-0) and L.T.D. (10-0) are the respective leaders of the Northville and Novi Women's Leagues.

Jim Storm stuns CDS; Casterline, State Farm still battling for 1st

Jim Storm Insurance pulled off its second major upset of the month while State Farm Insurance and Casterline-Carl's continued their dogfight for first place in crucial Men's Softball League clashes last week.

Jim Storm, which just three weeks ago picked up its first victory of the year when it upset Zayti-Northeast, toppled C.D.S. from second place in the American Division with a dramatic 7-6 victory.

After creeping out to a 4-3 lead in the first inning thanks to back-to-back RBI doubles by Chester Romatovsky and Greg Leech plus run-scoring singles by Harry Reed and Tom Ambbs, Jim Storm quieted down and fell behind 6-5 as they came to bat in the bottom of the sixth.

Back-to-back triples by Ted Monfette and Ambbs leading off the sixth, though, tied the game up. Dave Ford followed with a base hit that scored Ambbs, and suddenly Jim Storm had the lead back. They then squashed a last-inning C.D.S. threat and came away with the victory.

In the National Division Casterline-Carl's slid into a virtual tie for first place with State Farm Insurance with two more victories last week. The wins left Casterline with a 13-2 record, while State Farm has a 12-1 mark.

In the first game Bob Hubbert and Gary Wilhelm belted early home runs to stake their club to an 8-1 lead, and the winners held on for an 8-4 triumph over Little Caesar's.

One day later Casterline broke open a tight 5-4 ball game with six runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings and merced Morland-Dave's Trim 17-7 Richard Norton led the Casterline charge with two triples, two singles and five RBI's while Dan Fisher pitched in with three hits and four RBI's.

State Farm jumped out to a 9-3 lead in the first two innings of its game against V.F.W. last Thursday, then hung on for a 10-6 victory. Richard Roman's two-out, two-run single sparked a five-run State Farm splurge in the first, while Tom Gores highlighted a four-run rally with his two-run single in the second. Bob Skiba smashed a fourth-inning home run to close out State Farm's scoring.

Mike Mott led the V.F.W. attack with three singles, a triple and two RBI's in four trips to the plate. The losers scored three of their runs in the first inning, one more in the third, and two in the fifth.

Cap 'n' Cork, meanwhile, silently remained in contention with a 9-8 victory over O.L.V. With just two weeks left in the regular season Cap 'n' Cork is one game behind the National Division leaders.

State Farm's Tom Gores starts slide into third

Cardinals earn berth

F League's Cardinals qualified for a berth in Junior Baseball's F League district tournament next month with a stunning 11-10 victory over the Giants in a post-season league championship game last week.

Trailing 10-3 in the bottom of the sixth the Cards exploded for seven runs, with the tying run coming home on Dave

Spear-NEA get together to avoid ESY legal snag

A high-level powwow between the Northville school administration and its teachers union was scheduled for late yesterday afternoon in an attempt to head off threatened legal action to force the reinstatement of year-round school.

The school board was told informally Monday night that attorneys for the Northville Education Association were ready to seek a court injunction that would, in effect, force the district to begin year-round school next Monday as stipulated in the teacher's contract.

Last May, the board voted to eliminate the voluntary year-round school and place all 4200 Northville students on the traditional calendar of nine months in school and a three-month summer vacation.

The NEA, which argued that the year-round calendar was part of its three-year agreement and could not be eliminated without mutual consent, filed a grievance.

Two weeks ago, the NEA requested the board seek "expedited arbitration" so that the grievance could be settled before the scheduled August 1 starting date for the extended school year (ESY).

Since the teachers' position would be weakened if the impasse stretched past August 1, an NEA spokesman said legal action would be taken if arbitration was not expedient.

Last night, after learning of the possible injunction, the board met in a closed executive session and agreed to seek expedited arbitration.

Spear was told of the pending legal action Monday night by NEA President Barbara LeBoeuf and received a telegram by telephone Tuesday morning to the same effect.

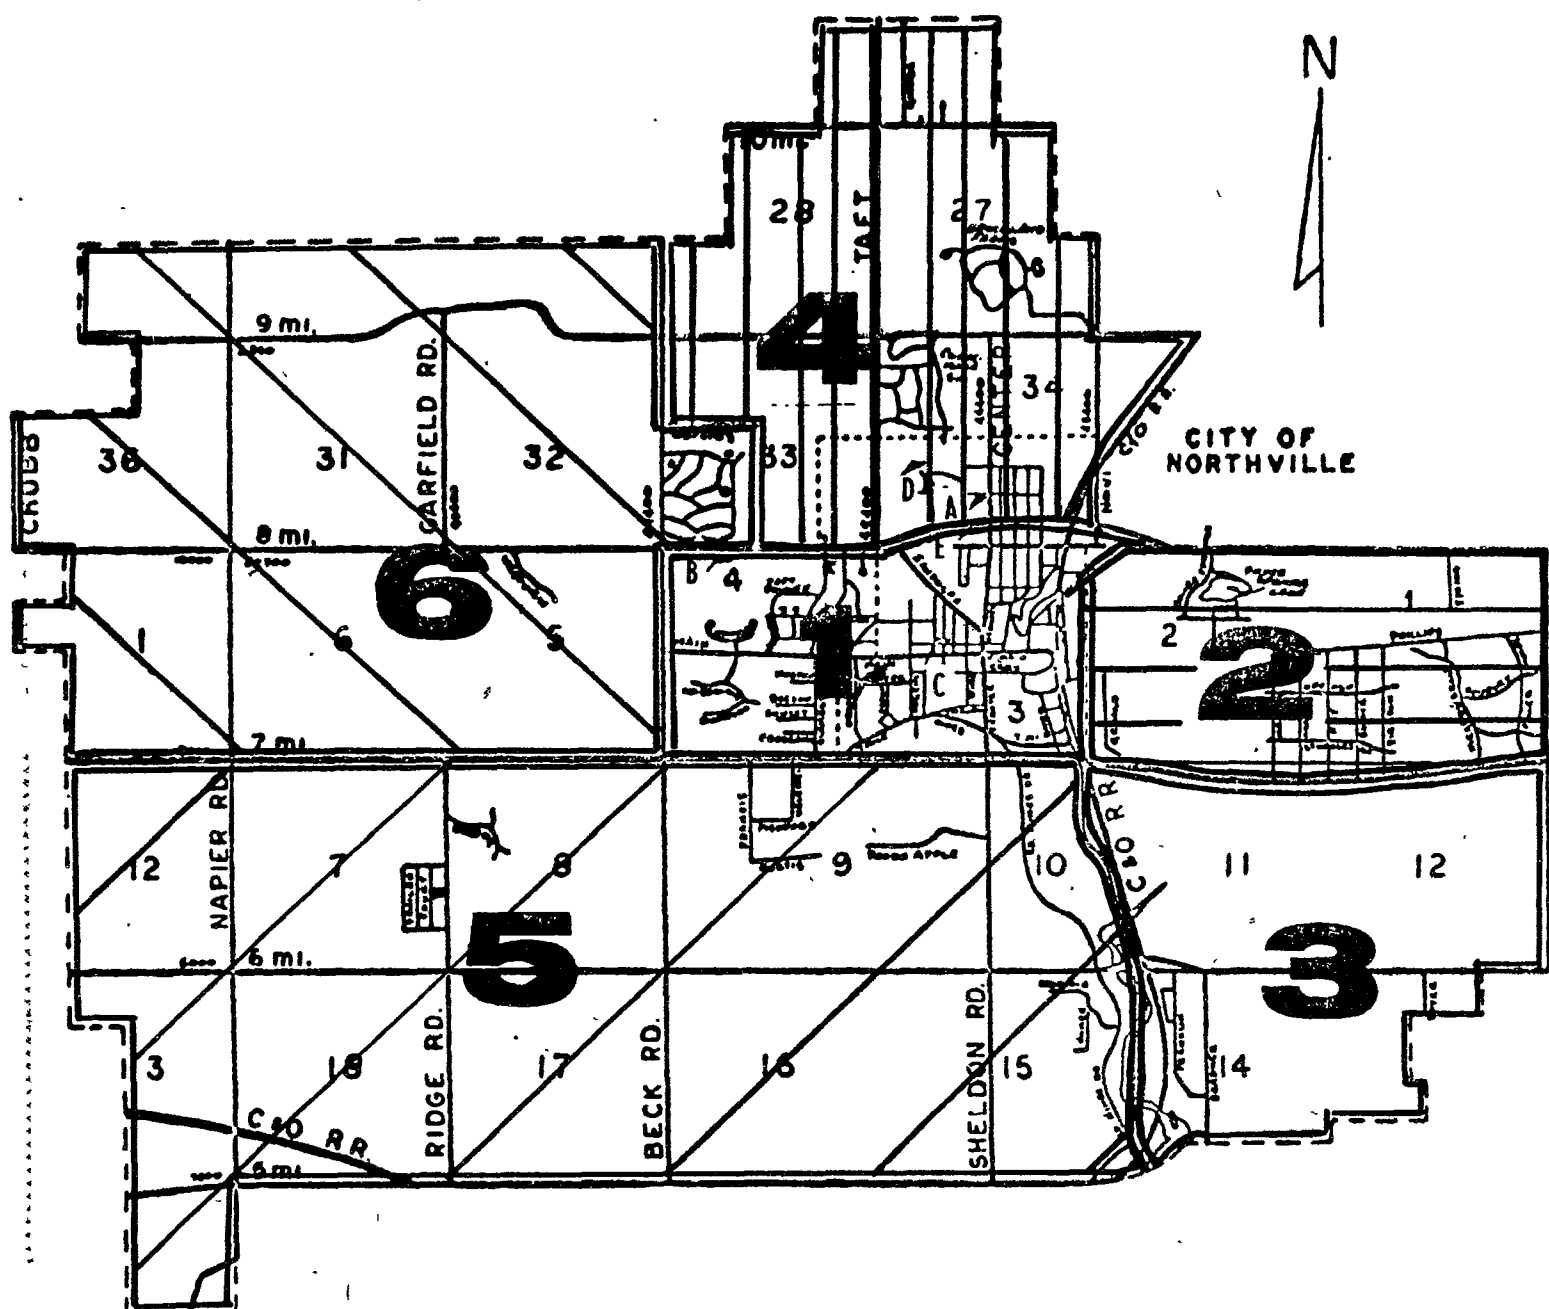

Spear and Ms. LeBoeuf were to meet yesterday at 4 p.m. to see if the matter could be solved without litigation.

The board voted to drop ESY because it felt it was inefficient to operate two calendars simultaneously.

Year-round school had been popular in the elementary grades where about half of the students were on ESY, but tailed off in junior high school where there was 25 percent participation and did poorly in the high school where only 100 of more than 1100 students were on ESY.

A compromise — or "modified" plan was proposed but died when the board and teachers could not agree on a new calendar.

The board then placed all students on the traditional calendar. The NEA, on the second year of a three-year pact, says the ESY calendar must be honored unless the contract is reopened for negotiation.

Here's voting precincts

The above map illustrates the six voting precincts for Saturday's millage election called by the Northville school district. Precincts 1 and 5 vote at the board of education offices at 303 West Main Street. Precinct 2 votes at Silver Springs Elementary School, 19801 Silver Springs Court in Highland Lakes. Precinct 3 votes at Winchester Elementary School, 16141 Winchester. Precinct 4 votes at Amerman Elementary School, 847 North Center Street. Precinct 6 votes at Moraine Elementary School, 46811 West Eight Mile Road. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Northville man studied electronic weapons system

Navy Fire Control Technician Third Class David H. Ritchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Denmore of 9316 Six Mile, graduated from Advanced Fire Control Technician School.

During the 14-week course at the Naval Center, Great Lakes, Ill., students received detailed instruction on the electronic weapons systems installed aboard current U.S. warships. They studied the operating principles and procedures for the shipboard radars and computers used to direct and control the firing of guns, missiles and torpedoes.

A 1974 graduate of Northville High School, he joined the Navy in February, 1976.

High school criticized by '76 grads in survey

The Northville class seniors of 1976 recently got a chance to tell school officials what they thought about their alma mater now that they have entered the world of college and jobs.

The remarks were part of a statewide vocational education survey sent to all 1976 graduates. About half of Northville's senior class returned the surveys and many took advantage of a section that asked for criticism or suggestions.

Some students were bitter because they felt they were unprepared to deal with the outside world. Some feel betrayed because they weren't ready for the rigors of college. Some have fond memories of their high school days.

And many are ambivalent. They praise some courses, criticize others and suggest several possible improvements.

But the most dominant theme was that high schools don't demand enough from students. The high school would better serve the student, they said, with more homework and more discipline.

"The rules are there, but they aren't enforced," said one student. Another said people in school were "too lenient. It was pretty easy to get away without doing much work."

One student said he "never studied but came out with a 3.9 average."

A good two-thirds or more of Northville graduates go on to college and many reflected the overwhelming sense of bewilderment known to many freshmen.

"I discovered just after being in college for a short time that I learned virtually nothing in high school," complained one student. "I have found myself totally unprepared and stupid concerning some subjects while other students had learned it all before in high school."

It is doubtful that even the school's most severe critics would contend that Northville teaches absolutely nothing while every other school teaches everything.

The fact that many Northville students attend college may contribute to the relatively low number that said their high school education was adequate, according to school officials.

Only 40 percent of Northville's seniors thought their education was good to excellent compared with 60 percent statewide.

But nearly twice as many Northville students went on to college where students are likely to become more critical.

One of their biggest complaints was that the high school life did not prepare them for college.

"I feel Northville High School is too easy," said a student who found himself unable to study in college. "I was used to talking my way into good grades."

Another agreed that it was "much too easy to play around and still receive a diploma."

"NHS could have taught me, simply, how to study," was a representative comment from several who said the school failed to teach them good study and note taking techniques.

Others said they didn't expect the voluminous reading assignments they encountered in college.

"I hope some day the public schools will place emphasis on this and allow Close street?

A public hearing on the abandonment of Church Street, south of Cady Street, will be held Monday before the city council. If approved, Northville Downs parking — now provided on both sides of this section of the street — would extend from Griswold west, across the Church Street right-of-way to a point approximately half way to Center Street. The hearing will get underway at 8 p.m. in the city hall council chambers.

High school criticized

seniors to graduate with an eighth grade reading level," said one.

Many turned their wrath on a teaching staff that, they claimed, was generally jaded.

"Most teachers gave me the impression that they really didn't care enough about the students to personally get involved," said one.

"Students who have trouble in relatively easy classes are passed by lazy teachers who don't want to bother with them," charged another.

"Right now I don't need any assistance," was one dramatic response. "It's too late."

Yet, all the supposed inadequacies at the high school didn't prevent the students from getting into a wide variety of colleges. And the alleged deficiencies didn't prevent most of the students from clearly expressing their views. (Although it must be noted that several were unaware of the correct use of the words "to" and "too".)

Some also showed an independent streak. One did not check the boxes indicating sex and race and made a special note to indicate that the omissions were deliberate.

Another waxed philosophically that a high school's function is to teach students "how to socialize by trial and error; it's the first step into a society that has lost touch with living with the earth."

There were inconsistencies. Some heavily criticized a department that was well praised by others.

And, speaking of praise, there was some of that, too, even though complaints generally outnumber compliments in surveys of this sort.

Several mentioned favorite classes or teachers who gave them that extra motivation.

A few were already realizing that the best teachers they had were the ones who "pushed" them and didn't buckle under when students challenged their authority.

Pet pest sparks warning by vet

If you haven't been grooming your dog during these past hot days, you haven't been making your pet as comfortable as possible and, more seriously, your pet may have maggots. "We're seeing a lot of dogs with them," warns Dr. Carol Geake, Northville veterinarian, who is urging dog owners to keep them groomed especially well during hot, humid days.

Outdoor dogs with matted coats, she says, are prime targets for the wormlike larva of the fly.

The veterinarian is worried as she has seen some severe cases in the past few days in which one dog literally was being eaten alive by maggots.

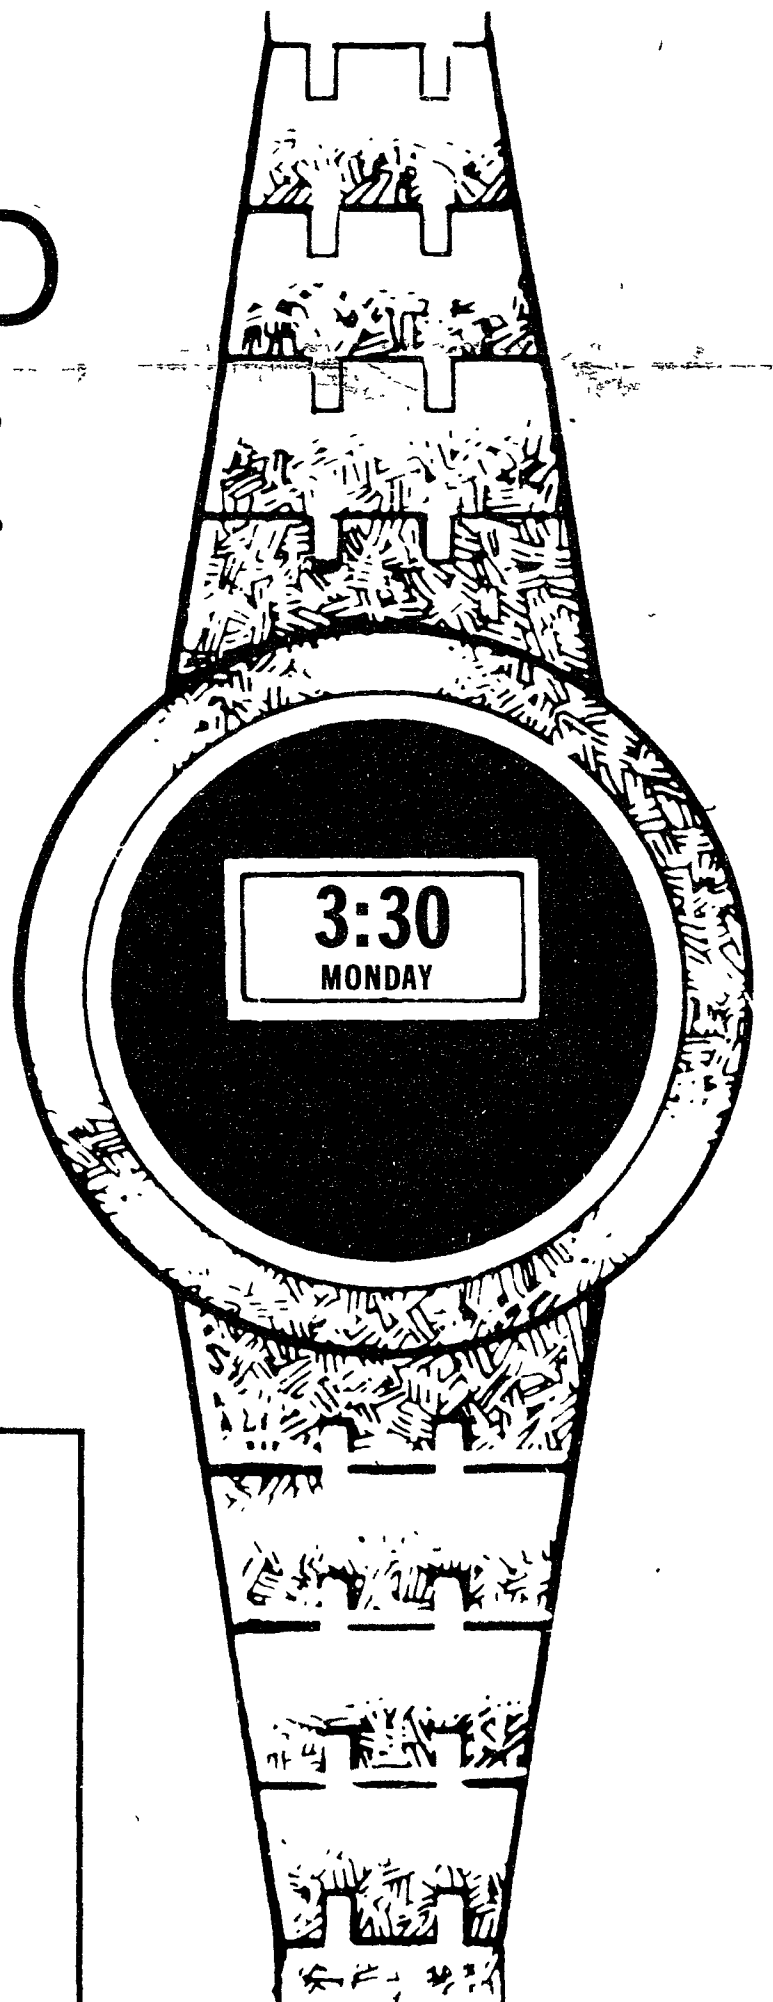

There's also a different type of larva, she adds, that infects kittens. Anyone who is keeping a litter of kittens outside in this weather is advised to protect them from the flies.
