

Record $7 million school budget adopted by board

Next year's needs come under study

Northville's board of education passed a record $7 million budget Monday night at Moraine Elementary School, ending months of study and a last-minute $80,000 trimming.

The $7 million is $260,000 higher than last year's spending level of $6.77 million, but board members said the four percent increase doesn't even keep up with inflation.

Now that this year's budget is approved, the board will turn almost immediately to next year's fiscal picture.

The month of November has been set aside for a special study of the 1978-79 monetary needs.

The board is almost certain to ask for a millage increase next spring and the November study is designed to determine the gap between needs and available revenue under the present tax structure.

Last July, Northville voters decisively turned down a request for 2.8 mills for five years.

At that time, the board said the money was needed for six-hour days at the high school, elementary school instructional music, improved junior high school curriculum, desirable student-teacher ratios, adequate capital outlay, maintenance expenditures, and more textbooks.

Since the millage was defeated by a 5-2 ratio, the cutbacks listed by the board have all materialized with one exception.

About 30 percent of high school students have been able to take six classes a day, according to school officials.

Administrators, however, said that such a figure could not be guaranteed in the future without a larger teaching staff.

District wide, the staff was reduced by about 10 positions.

Instrumental music is not offered in elementary schools. Most affected by this situation are sixth graders who were allowed to take band when the sixth grade was located in the middle schools.

A cost-study of elementary band is under way (see story elsewhere).

There was no money budgeted for capital outlay, a fact that no one on the board or in the administration is pleased with.

Major repairs and purchases have been made this year with left-over money from a 1973 bond issue, but that well will run dry by next fall.

The maintenance budget is also underfunded, according to school officials.

The budget passed Monday night, however, does not paint a bleak picture for the 1977-78 school year.

The board has stressed that it wanted to keep teaching cutbacks at a minimum.

To that end, the board spent much of October slicing $80,000 from what it considered to be a tight budget without a single teacher lay off. The reduction was needed because student enrollment — which is the basis for state school aid payments — came in 50 lower than projected.

In fact, despite teacher layoffs resulting from the millage defeat, the quality of class-

What's charter township?

Should Northville Township become a "charter township?"

That question has never formally surfaced here, but past and present township officials have discussed it informally. It is an option, legally open to Northville, that currently is on the back-burner.

Since April of this year, state law has permitted townships of 5,000 or more to become charter townships without the necessity of an election on the question unless a referendum petition is filed.

As required by law, township officials this past spring published a notice informing township residents of their right to petition for a referendum on the question.

Actually, the township has four options open to it now that the notice has been published:

- It can adopt, by a majority vote of the board, a resolution opposed to incorporation as a charter township.

- It can adopt, by a majority vote of the board, a resolution of intent to approve incorporation as a charter township and not less than 60 days thereafter adopt a resolution to become a charter township provided a referendum petition has not been filed in the interim period.

- It can adopt, by a majority vote of the board, a resolution to place the electorate the question of incorporation as a charter township at the next regular or special election called for the purpose.

- The board may, if it chooses, do nothing concerning chartering.

To date the board has taken no action.

This inaction could mean that it has no desire to become a charter township; but it could also mean that it is holding in reserve its right to become a charter township.

Whether or not Northville officials exercise that option remains to be seen. But there are growing reasons to suspect that the subject may be given priority consideration in the near future.

What is a "charter" township?

According to John H. Bauckham, attorney for the Michigan Townships Association, there are two major differences between it and the regular township. The biggest, most apparent difference, however, is that the charter township may levy up to five mills of taxes without a vote of residents.

Regular townships, such as Northville, may increase taxes only by a vote of the people as was done last year when voters here approved a 1.5-mill increase for police protection.

The other major difference, according to Bauckham, is that the laws and statutes of charter townships are more detailed and consolidated.

The prefix "charter" implies but certainly does not mean that the township has its own basic laws and regulations especially drawn up and patterned to fit its needs and desires.

Quite the contrary. "The charter of a township, unlike a home rule city charter, cannot be amended, supplemented or altered by the township," Bauckham said. "It is fixed by state statute, which is in actuality the charter of the township."

Once incorporation becomes a reality, state law requires that the charter township remain as such for at

'We won't allow library to move'

Citizen of The Year

A. Malcolm Allen, who soon will step down as mayor of Northville after a quarter century of public service in the community, was the recipient of several honors at the Northville Chamber of Commerce annual dinner at Meadowbrook Country Club Thursday evening. Central among those honors was the Citizen of The Year award presented to the mayor by last year's recipient, Jan Reef (left). For the other awards presented to the mayor, turn to Page 7A.

Council offers an alternative to township

Going into last night's meeting there appeared to be little chance that the Northville City Council would agree to relocation of the Northville Public Library to the township.

Meeting in special session last week Tuesday night to consider the township's library proposal, council members unanimously agreed that such a move would be detrimental to the city and that under no circumstances were they prepared to budge from this position.

Instead, the council authorized City Manager Steven Walters to draw up a counter proposal that calls for expansion of the city hall building to provide quarters for the library.

The counter proposal was delivered to township board members prior to last night's joint meeting of the board and the council in the city hall.

"I think it is time to stand up and be counted," declared Mayor A. M. Allen last week. "I think it is clear that the (township) board intends to separate the library like they did the fire department. If that's what they want, fine, but I for one will never vote to move the library."

His position was vigorously supported by other council members, including ex-councilman and mayor pro-tem Paul Vernon.

Also attending last week's special council session were council candidates and two members of the library commission, Chairwoman Mrs. Carolann Ayers and Jay Wendt.

In its statement to the township board, the council expressed a hope that "the township will consider amending its (community development block grant of $137,000) application to provide for another use for its building, or another use for the funds, and give consideration to the city's alternate proposal."

Township board members had requested last night's special meeting to discuss their proposal to build a new

City candidates speak tomorrow

Two mayoral and six council candidates will square off tomorrow night (Thursday) in a public forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

The candidates night program will be held in the school board meeting room on Main Street (next to the city hall) at 8 p.m.

According to Billie Whitely, the League's voter service chairman, the forum will get underway with a five minute general presentation by each of the candidates.

The candidates are:
For Mayor — Paul Folino and Paul Vernon; for two four-year council seats — Louise Cutler, J. Burton DeRusha, Dewey Gardner, John Stilson and Eugene Wagner; for one two-year council seat, Wallace Nichols, unopposed.

After the presentations by the candidates, the forum will be recessed for five minutes to give citizens an opportunity to write their questions.

Each candidate will receive three minutes in which to answer a question put to him or her; additional comments by other candidates to the same question will be permitted, but not to exceed one minute each.

At the conclusion of the forum, candidates will each receive two minutes to sum up their positions.

Moderator for the program will be Cathy Prince.

Timekeeper will be Jackie Westbay, and the screening committee of League members will be Connie Rose, Carl Miller and Mrs. Whitely.

FAST START—Jackson's action at Northville Downs got off to a flying start Monday night with gains in both attendance and mutuel handle. Some 3,334 fans turned out for the opening of the harness racing season and bet $396,908. That's an increase of 10 percent in attendance and 15 percent in mutuel handle over last year's opener. Jackson's 59-night meet continues through December 31 when Northville Downs takes over for an 84-night stand.

Turn back one hour

The big switch is approaching. That's right, folks, at 2 a.m. this Sunday, October 30th, Michigan residents will be moving their clocks back one hour.

What this means is Michigan will be on Eastern Standard Time from October to April, and that each and every one of you will be getting an hour of extra sleep Sunday.

A spokesman for the State Elections Division, which oversees the law, says there is a simple way of remembering whether the hour hand goes forward or back.

Just remember, "Fall back in the fall, spring ahead in the spring."

- Novi fire chief resigns
- Pinball arcades under fire
- Salem eyes hall refurbishing
- Tax hike 'handwriting on wall'

NOVI — Fire Chief Duane Bell has resigned his post here after 21 years with the force. He cited "personal reasons" for his decision, noting, however, it had become "difficult to keep the harmonious atmosphere that is required" to run the department. Bell, who became chief four years ago, is the grandson of the late Charles Trickey, who helped found the Novi Fire Department in 1928.

NOVI — The city hasn't given up its fight to prevent the erection of billboard signs along I-96. It's carrying its fight to the Michigan State Supreme Court after the appeals court ruled the city's billboard ban illegal. Novi argues that since its ordinance bans only off-premises billboards, precedent-setting court action elsewhere does not apply locally.

WOLVERINE LAKE — The village council here has voted to continue its fight against a State Boundary Commission decision that would combine the village with Commerce Township to form a new city. On October 11 the State Court of Appeals upheld an Oakland County Circuit Court ruling that supported the state commission's 1973 decision to deny Wolverine Lake's petition to incorporate all property in the village as a city and amend Commerce's petition for incorporation by adding the village to the new city. Wolverine plans to carry its fight to the Michigan Supreme Court.

WALLED LAKE — First term councilman Allan R. Holdridge is resigning to accept a position with the Honeywell Corporation in Arizona. With that resignation, only members of the council who will serve on the next council (following the November election) are Heather Hill and James L. Scott.

WALLED LAKE — Enrollment of this school district is down 100, but the superintendent predicts the number of students will increase by more than 1,000 over the next five years. In the wake of that prediction, the board voted to establish a 48-member citizens' committee to study future school needs. The student population now stands at 11,500, but the superintendent figures it will hit 12,723 by 1982.

NOVI — Expressing a concern that pinball arcades lead to the demise of other businesses in shopping centers, Councilman Robert Schmid joined four other council members in rejecting a license petition for a pinball arcade in the Ten Plaza shopping center on 10 Mile Road. Nearly all of the businesses in the center opposed the arcade.

SOUTH LYON — South Lyon police and city representatives reached agreement on a proposed police contract October 17. Unofficial sources say the contract included no pay raise but does have a cost of living provision and a new retirement program. Police and city bargaining officials would not release any information on the contract, which will be presented to the city's police officers for ratification October 28.

SALEM — Architectural designing for refurbishing the township hall and cost estimates for a new fire hall have been ordered by unanimous action of the township board. Three years ago voters here approved a two-mill tax hike for three years that would provide $150,000 for expansion of the fire department. Some $52,000 of that fund is already earmarked for purchase of a new fire truck.

NEW HUDSON — Fred C. Burt, co-founder and president of the former Vagabond Coach Manufacturing Company, died October 16. Burt had manufacturing facilities here, in Brighton, Alabama and Arizona. He was founder of the New Hudson Fire Department and served for many years on the now defunct New Hudson School Board.

BRIGHTON — Jack Wheaton Saturday resigned from the Brighton Township Board. He's moving to Oklahoma.

BRIGHTON — Administrators here were ordered to "come up with a balanced budget" when the school board was surprised to find that the final budget for 1977-78 indicates a deficit balance of $314,970. Meanwhile, the "handwriting on the wall" suggests a millage increase will be requested next April to cover the costs of opening the new Maltby Middle School and the new swimming pool, which are under construction and scheduled to open in September of next year. And very likely voters at the same time will also be asked to renew 7.25 operating mills which are expiring next year.

Spirit runs high at Homecoming

Last week was a good one for Northville High School.

Homecoming celebrations swept through the halls of the hilltop school, capped off with a raucous pep assembly Friday afternoon that many said was the most spirited in some time.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors took turns trying to shout each other down. That competition, like the total point contest for the week, was captured by the jubilant juniors.

Then the classes joined together when assistant football coach Chuck Apap said it was high time to focus on that night's Homecoming foe, Plymouth Canton.

"Hang it up, Canton, hang it up," screamed a standing, hollering student body in unison.

(Canton did "hang it up," but only after playing Northville to a standstill for four quarters of scoreless ball. The Mustangs' overtime victory is detailed on Page 1-B.)

When the uproar died down, it was time for last year's king and queen, Tim Condor and Jan Kalota, to crown this year's royalty, John Coram and Carrie Barron.

They were joined in the Homecoming court by juniors Brett Blanchard and Sherryl Wissman and by sophomores Robert Ade and Kelly Ossenmacher.

All in all, it was a fine week which may be just what the doctor ordered for the high school which was beleaguered last year with a leaky roof, dingy-

Homecoming boosts morale at high school

Queen Carrie Barron and King John Coram share limelight at Northville Homecoming looking halls and poor student morale. "Comparing it to last year, we have come a very long way," said Student Congress President Bob Krinsky. He said Friday's pep assembly was the "rowdiest" ever.

An unidentified junior, who said he and his friends never really got into the school spirit scene last year, agreed that the attitude of the class has changed.

Indeed, The juniors all but ran away with the total point competition for the various Homecoming Week contests.

Senior Class President Eva Erdos, who ran for office on a platform of changing past practices of apathy and cliques, said one tradition had already been altered.

"The seniors usually win, but we didn't this year," she laughed.

Sophomore Kelly Jamieson said she and her classmates "didn't know what to expect" at the high school after hearing and reading many negative things.

"We found out it wasn't as bad as we thought," she said. "We do have a lot more say than we did in the middle school."

Students seemed particularly pleased that the school board allowed them to have a hand in choosing the new cafeteria furniture. The cafeteria, by the way, has been renamed "The Munch Room."

New Principal George Aune told the board Monday night that he has been "pleased with morale" since arriving in August.

He was also pleased that the shock absorbers and tires on his Volkswagen were no worse for wear after donating his car for a "Herbie Pile-in" contest as part of the Walt Disney theme for Homecoming.

The sophomores won both heats of that contest, cramming 20 students in the bug the first time and following that effort up with a championship 21 effort.

The Guinness Book of World Records doesn't have a category for people "in" a VW, but it does list the most "in and on" thecar. The mark is 111 and it's held by a secondary school in Hamilton, Ontario.

Undaunted, the juniors came back to win the tug of war, although seniors complained that some of their wiry strength was still crammed in the Volkswagen.

The seniors did win a rematch. The real winners, however, are the students who seem to be taking Dr. Aune's "Project Pride" to heart.

"Project Pride" teaches that peer pressure is the most effective way to keep the school looking good.

Director of operations Michael Janchick, who fought an uphill battle last year trying to clear trash from the hallways and bathrooms, said students have made a "tremendous, concerted effort" this year to keep the school clean.

"There is not half as much trash as there was last year," he said.

Supreme Court backs commission on annexations

A stunning unanimous decision by the Michigan Supreme Court Monday virtually assures annexation to the City of Brighton of 413 acres of valuable Brighton Township land, ending years of seemingly interminable legal battles.

The 34 page opinion, overturning lower court rulings for the township which threw into question the existence of the State of Michigan Boundary Commission, holds that legislation investing the commission with the power to annex is constitutional, as the city had contended. It therefore supports the Commission's earlier decision in favor of Brighton annexation.

Signed by all seven justices, the Supreme Court judgment directs that the orders of the commission in Brighton Township and Midland Township "shall be affected as of the

They put stock in their studies

Northville's school board wouldn't have any money problems if it would just turn over $100,000 or so to Gary Emerson's business classes.

The dough would immediately be invested in the stock market where it would quickly earn a bullish 200 to 300 percent return.

Before the profits cooled, they would be plowed into real estate — apartments, shopping centers, subdivisions and maybe even a church or two.

Then, before Uncle Sam could grab off too big a share, student income tax specialists would shove chunks of money through tax loopholes big enough to drive an oil depletion allowance through.

Keeping all the books straight would be a battery of accountants, trained in one of four classes taught by Emerson.

Then, once the school's financial matters were on an even keel, it would be time to take an unneeded chunk of cash and go for the big kill. Dabble in commodities, maybe, or corner the market on rare walking sticks.

Certainly, this is a modest proposal. But it's not all that outlandish. After all, Emerson's students have been or will be doing these feats as part of their daily classroom activity.

Emerson, in addition to teaching accounting from the beginning to advanced independent study levels, holds forth over one of the most unusual and interesting classes at Northville High School.

There are four courses, actually, each a 10-week seminar into the world of high finance. Topics covered are stocks, real estate, income tax and unusual investments.

The subject matter is intriguing and quite new to most students. But it is also practical. Material covered in Emerson's class provides a solid foundation for future job seeking.

"You talk about vocational education, this is it," he said.

The real estate class, for instance, offers half the classroom training required by the state to obtain a salesman's license.

Yet, the course is valuable to students not seeking a profession in that field.

"Most people have never heard of the terms 'grantor' and 'grantee' until the first time they buy a house," said Emerson. "And then, they don't want to pay a lawyer $50 an hour to explain the terms."

Ditto for the stocks and income tax segments of the course and the accounting classes. Students can either take a step toward entering those professions or get a basis in these areas that they can use all their lives.

"Once you learn accounting, you never forget," said Emerson.

Emerson uses a pair of games for the stocks and real estate courses.

In one, students are given $10,000 in credit and allowed to buy and sell from 10 well-known and diversified stocks — Guardian Industries of Novi, General Motors and MacDonald restaurants for example.

Emerson and the students each keep records of how they are doing based on daily stock reports. To keep the game realistic, sales commissions are computed into the cost of transactions.

Many students have done quite well, on paper according to Emerson. One, after graduating from high school, ventured into the real thing and paid for part of his college tuition.

In the real estate game, one square mile is parcelled into 10-acre lots. Students, who have $100,000 credits, bid furiously for property.

With the remaining money, they must put in roads, sidewalks and then decide to develop shopping centers, homes, apartments or churches.

Afterward, Emerson buys the property back. There is no borrowing, though, so students must sometimes sell some land for a cheap price in order to finance other projects.

While these games allow for simulated real-life experience, the 250 jogged Saturday

It really is fun to run

They came in all shapes, forms and sizes.

Some were lithe and full of vim. Others had seen the empty side of a plate of potatoes a few times too often.

There were some grandparents. And there was a young toddler who rode on her father's back.

Some ran, some walked and some compromised.

Some were experienced joggers and others were getting their first taste in what has been called the world's best exercise.

They all had one thing in common. They seemed to have a good time.

"They" are the 250 men, women, boys and girls who participated in the first Family Fun Run Saturday morning at Highland Lakes.

Silver Springs teachers, who organized the event, had hoped for twice that many but were pleased with the turnout considering the early morning showers and threatening skies.

"There were many people who told us they were going to show up and didn't because of the weather," said Chris Modrack.

Those that made the 9:30 to 11 a.m. starting times plopped down a quarter for the privilege of taking one or two jaunts around a one-mile loop.

After they completed their run or walk, participants received National Jogging Day certificates attesting to their feats.

Nobody expected a single jogging effort to whip the non-exerciser into shape. But organizers are hoping that the Fun Run will show people that jogging can be a fun way to get into good health and, perhaps, extend one's life.

The Fun Run got its boost last August when Troy heart specialist Dr. Joseph Arends spoke at Silver Springs Elementary School about the sad shape that 90 percent of Americans are in.

He said the flabby state of affairs can be remedied through educational programs which teach that lifelong physical conditioning can be as natural as brushing your teeth twice a day.

Silver Springs offers a Movement Education course along those lines and all of the school's students are now in running programs.

Many are running one or two miles a day, several times a week, which gives them a leg up on their parents.

Still, there were many fathers and mothers gamely jogging alongside their offspring when the Fun Run began.

At the finish line were such nutritional goodies as peanuts, apples and cider along with some food for thought in the form of reprints of articles by and about Dr. Arends.

Although the Fun Run was staged for Highland Lake residents, some others — including Township Supervisor Wilson Grier and the school's curriculum coordinator Michael Burley — circled the loop.

The encouraging turnout and the enthusiastic response makes it almost a certainty that there will be a repeat performance next year.

class is also getting background from various readings, Emerson's lectures and guest speakers.

"This is a new experience for a lot of them because the subject matter is new," said Emerson. "Most of their classes are a rehash of something they've had before."

"Now, they are finding they have to take notes and pay attention."

Emerson is looking forward to the last of the 10-week segments which will deal with unusual investments.

The course will actually be a string of one-week sessions with students choosing an area of specialty and reporting on it to the class.

One week they may be looking into rare plates, the next week might be spent on commodities and then antiques might take center stage.

Emerson already has a tentative list of topics but if a student comes up with an acceptable alternative, he'll be happy to adjust his schedule.

"The trick is to figure out what will be valuable tomorrow and buy it today when it doesn't cost much," he said.

room education has not been reduced from last year's level.

Since there were no drastic, visible cut-backs — such as split sessions, five classes for all high school students, or no sports — the board is hoping for a positive school year to promote the chances of a millage try.

Three mills (a $90 tax for the owner of a $60,000 home) expire this year and the board will certainly ask for their renewal.

There will, no doubt, also be a request for additional mills at that time. The board must now decide the size of the request and whether it should be tied in with the renewal or stand on its own.

The millage election will likely come in the spring because school officials are often reluctant to join a tax try with the annual school board election in June.

Monday's adoption was the fourth straight week that the budget has headed the agenda of a regular meeting or study session. Last Monday, the board held its public hearing on the budget.

In addition to the $7 million for K-12 spending, the board also adopted a $5.7 million budget for the Institutional Special Education Program. (ISEP).

The program, which is funded by the state but administered by the Northville schools, provides legislatively mandated education for handicapped persons between the ages of 0 and 26 located in institutions within school boundaries.

Charge is dismissed

Negligent homicide charges against a 19-year-old Livonia girl were dismissed Monday when it couldn't be proven that she was driving the car that collided with an ambulance last August, killing a young Plymouth girl.

The preliminary examination against the ambulance driver, who was also charged with negligent homicide, was adjourned Monday until a key witness is healthy enough to testify.

Chris Rundio, 19, died instantly when the car in which she was riding and an ambulance on an emergency run crashed at the intersection of Five Mile and Haggerty roads.

Township police reports listed Miss Rundio as the only other occupant in a car driven by Maureen English of Plymouth.

The car, which was northbound on Haggerty, is owned by the English family. Sources said Miss English had left her house in Livonia to pick up the Rundio girl.

Two weeks ago, in an unusual move which drew criticism from spokespeople for both defendants, the county prosecutor's office charged both drivers with negligent homicide.

During Monday's preliminary examination, the attorney for Miss English, Beverly Clark, successfully moved for the dismissal of charges on the grounds that police could not prove her client drove the car.

Miss English was seriously injured in the accident and was taken immediately to the hospital. Township police were unable to question her.

Miss English did not testify Monday. Negligent homicide charges were filed against the ambulance driver, Toney Bennett, 26, Northville, because

Chamber honors mayor

A framed seal of the State of Michigan was presented to Northville's Citizen of the Year, A. M. Allen, Thursday night, by his close friend, Congressman Carl Pursell of Plymouth. The mayor also was presented certificates of honor by Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas and by State Senator R. Robert Geake. Speaker for the occasion was Andy Bertoni (left). Introducing guests at the annual dinner meeting of the Northville Chamber of Commerce was Chamber President Ann L. Roy, who also chaired the election of the directors — Eugene Wagner and Robert Sellen. Other participants included Essie Nirider, executive director; Edie Cole, Secretary; Dewey Gardner, treasurer; and Marge Cinader, past president. Nirider and Mrs. Cinader were recipients of a surprise greetings, and Mrs. Roy was presented a gift as an expression of thanks by the Chamber for her service as president during the past year.

3 enter guilty pleas

Three young Detroit men accused of setting fire to a county-owned building in Northville Township last May pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in circuit court last Thursday.

The plea, which came as a three-day jury trial was winding to a close, came in exchange for the dropping of an arson charge.

Both crimes are felonies and each carries a 10-year sentence. Sentencing for the trio was set for December 6 before Benjamin Burdick, the judge who accepted the plea.

A fourth defendant, who aided police with their investigation, was allowed to plead guilty to destruction of property, a misdemeanor.

A log cabin building on Wayne County Child Development property west of Sheldon Road was destroyed by an early morning fire on May 25.

The structure, used by area Boy Scouts, was valued at $52,000 and another $5200 worth of contents was lost.

The three who pleaded guilty to breaking and entering are Lee C. Hunn, 23, Ricky D. Wallace, 18, and Larry D. Runion, 18, all of Detroit's east side.

Jay Flowers, 17, also of Detroit, pleaded guilty to destruction of property.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

by Jim Roth

In most wine regions of the world, the grape harvest takes place at the same time, in late September or early October. The exceptions are in wine growing regions of the southern hemisphere, Chile, Australia, and South Africa, when the vintage takes place in March. Then the process is the same all over the world. The grapes are pressed and left to ferment into wine. The fermentation process usually stops itself at 14% alcohol. By law, 14% is the legal upper limit for table wines, but most wines we drink actually contain 11 to 13% alcohol.

In addition to wines, we at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477 handle beers and liquors. We have a very large selection of liquor in popular sizes like pints, fifths, full quarts, half gallons and gallons. We also have hot sandwiches, submarines, ham & cheese and there is plenty of parking. Hours: 9 a.m. - 10 p.m., Mon.-Sat., Noon-6 p.m. Sun.

Sheriff services graded

John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has announced that a survey of local officials indicated only limited support for seven law enforcement programs that are threatened by the county's budget crisis.

However, Barr proposed that the board of commissioners give "very careful consideration" to funding one program, the Prosecutor's Repeat Offenders Bureau (PROB), and attempt to rally public support for state funding for others among the seven.

Barr released the results of a questionnaire which he had sent to the chief executives of the 44 local communities within Wayne County. His survey asked mayors and township supervisors to rate the value of seven programs which the County Board of Auditors has recommended be reduced or eliminated.

Only 21 completed surveys were returned. The programs are PROB, the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force, and five Sheriff's programs — helicopter patrols, Metropolitan Narcotics Squad, township patrols, community relations section and special services bureau.

The major programs among the seven were initiated in recent years with federal grant funds which have since expired. In all, they represent 92 personnel and a total cost of $2,863,180 in the face of a county budget deficit of $13.3 million.

Barr said the units are among optional programs that the Auditors recommended be cut in order to concentrate available funds on legally-mandated services. He noted that nearly one-third of the recommended $366 million budget for next year is earmarked for public safety and criminal justice system programs.

Barr declared: "This survey indicates the Auditors were right in maintaining that these programs can be reduced or eliminated without devastating law enforcement in Wayne County. Even when given this opportunity to support these programs, only one-half of the communities responded."

"There clearly is no clamor among local elected officials and chiefs of police for continuation of these services."

Barr submitted the survey results to his fellow Commissioners who, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee, were in the process of considering the Auditor's recommendations.

He said he wanted the board to "have this information in making the difficult choices which must be made in order to balance the county budget and avoid imminent bankruptcy."

Completed surveys were returned from 17 cities, three townships and one village, representing a total of about 900,000 residents, or 30 percent of the county population of 2.6 million. There was no response from Northville Township.

What is a charter township?

least four years after its establishment. It then may revert to regular township status by the same procedure used in becoming a charter township.

With chartering, the existing township officials remain in office until the next township election. At this election, seven members must be elected to the township charter board in the same manner as the election of a seven-man board in a regular township.

The law provides that trustees may be paid on a per diem or per meeting basis as determined by the board. The supervisor, clerk and treasurer, however, must be paid on a salary basis.

Charter township boards must meet at least once each month and at special meetings requested by the supervisor or any two members of the board. Notice of such special meetings must be made in accordance with requirements of Michigan's Open Meetings Act.

Charter township law requires the full proceedings or a synopsis of the meetings must be published in a local newspaper following each meeting.

The law provides that the board may appoint a township superintendent—a position similar to that of a city or village manager. The salary of the superintendent, who must become a resident of the township within 90 days after his appointment, is fixed by the board.

A charter township may have a police and fire department in the same manner as provided for regular townships. Officers are appointed by either the supervisor or the superintendent with approval by the board.

Although the electorate in a regular township must authorize the purchase, sale or long-term lease property, under a charter township the township board is authorized to proceed without obtaining preliminary authority from the inhabitants, according to Bauckham.

Charter townships are limited in their borrowing ability to a total outstanding indebtedness of not more than 10-percent of its assessed valuation with certain exceptions. This limitation does not apply to regular townships.

All ordinances of the regular township remain in effect after chartering.

Under a charter township, each official must prepare a budget for his department and deliver it to the supervisor or superintendent by August 1. Prior to November 1, a public hearing must be conducted on the proposed budget of the township.

Tax limitation is set at five mills. However, the electorate can increase this millage to 10 mills by a vote of the electors for a period of 20 years. The 5, or 10-mill, authority includes the 1 mill county allocated millage.

Unlike that of Northville Township, the fiscal year of a charter township is from January 1 to December 31. The fiscal year here presently is April through March.

Generally, the greater taxing power of the charter township has been the most persuasive reason for those townships that have incorporated. It may very well be the catalyst for chartering of Northville Township as well.

John Flodin, Clerk of Canton Township since 1956, said growing demand for public services and the need for additional monies to provide those services was the key reason for incorporation of Canton as a charter township in 1961.

"Like other communities in Southeastern Michigan we (Canton) were rapidly going from a rural to an urban environment. When that happens demands for more services go up, and it requires more money to provide those services."

"While charter townships may levy up to five mills, there is no requirement that they levy the full amount. When we began we didn't by any means levy the entire mills immediately. It was a slow process, with the millage gradually increasing over the years until now we are levying the full five mills."

The charter status "has worked beautifully here," said Flodin. Flodin suspects most of the Wayne County townships, including Northville, are experiencing the same kind of changing environment that demands greater service.

One reason why townships with this service demand are reluctant to charter is that "generally, people are apprehensive because they fear the full five mills will be levied immediately," Flodin said. "That need not be the case. And, of course, voters still have the opportunity every two years to voice their displeasure with the tax rate by voting officials out of office."

In Canton's case, incorporation occurred by a vote of the people — before the law was changed to permit township boards to vote in incorporation.

Presently, Northville Township levies 2.5 mills — 1 mill of county allocated millage and 1.5 mills earmarked for the police department by voters (1458-914) last year. Two other tax increase proposals — for library and for recreation — were defeated by voters last year.

Although the recent six-month review of the township budget suggests Northville will survive the year with its current revenues and although Supervisor Wilson Grier, told citizens two weeks ago that as long as he is supervisor he has no intention of calling for a tax increase, the service demands of which Flodin spoke could quickly change minds.

Recent establishment of the township fire department, construction and eventual equipping and operation of the new township hall complex, and now the possible establishment of a township-only library are most certainly going to place a heavier financial burden on the township.

Expenditures will soon exceed income.

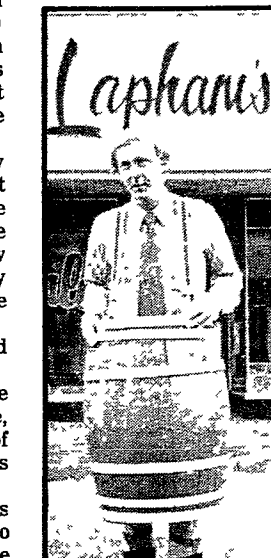

Beyond these financial influences, another factor that could persuade the Northville board to vote in charter status is annexation.

Presently, state law gives charter townships no protection against annexations. However, four bills, all introduced by State Representative Thomas Brown in April, are being considered in the legislature that would prohibit "piece-meal" annexations of charter townships by villages or cities. They are House Bills 4526, 4527, 4528 and 4529.

Should these bills become law, they are expected to encourage many townships, especially those who have experienced annexations of threats of annexations, to incorporate as charter townships.

Northville Township has twice turned down annexation of the total township by the City of Northville. And currently, a petition for annexation of 10 township lots to the city is before the Michigan Boundary Commission.

School TB tests will end

State Representative Richard D. Fessler, (R-Union Lake), has announced that effective Friday, school employees will no longer have to be examined annually for tuberculosis.

The regulation previously requiring this has been revised to now require an examination every three years. Under the new revision a M.D.P.H. form (K-708) is required. These are being printed and will be distributed in six to eight weeks.

Fessler offered a Concurrent Resolution No. 381 on September 19, requesting the State Department of Public Health to promulgate new rules pursuant to Act 290 of the Public Acts of 1966.

School employees who were examined this year will not need another examination for three years.

However, they will need to have one of the new forms filled out based on this year's examination. Any examination prior to this year will not be considered valid for the purposes of this new regulation.

Wages, fringes and utilities driving school costs up

Salaries, fringe benefits and utility bills form a "big three" that have been steadily pushing up the cost of education in the Northville school system.

And not only has the school district's budget increased by 84 percent in the last five years, but the local taxpayer has had to shoulder an increasingly larger share of that financial burden.

This trend is well illustrated by comparing the $7 million budget passed Monday night by the school board with the $4.6 million budget of four years ago.

The $2.5 million increase in school spending has occurred even though the number of teachers and enrollment are both slightly lower than in 1973-74.

Since then, however, the money spent on each Northville student has increased by 54 percent, from $1081 to $1668.

The biggest, single monetary increase is in teacher's salaries.

Even though there are two fewer teachers this year than four years ago, there is $1 million more being spent on salaries — $3.6 million compared with $2.5 million.

During that time, the average pay for a Northville teacher has risen from $12,800 to about $17,600.

But inflation has been spiraling at a similar rate. In 1973-74, teacher's salaries represented 55 percent of all expenditures. This year, the salaries represent slightly more than 50 percent.

Both figures are well below comparable data from the early 1960's when teacher salaries accounted for more than 60 percent of the budget even though the average wage was under $7,000 until 1964 (when the beginner's wage jumped from $4800 to $5100).

While increasing teacher's pay is not taking up any greater share of the budget than in the past, another aspect of the collective bargaining rights won in the mid-60's is.

That, of course, is fringe benefits.

"The costs that have hit us the hardest would be our utilities, health insurance and employee retirement," said Thomas Goulding Northville's administrative assistant for finance.

By state law, school districts must contribute the entire five percent of an employee's retirement fund.

This is the first time the law has been in effect for an entire year and it is a quarter-of-a-million dollar burden on Northville's budget.

About $160,000 of that is for teachers.

Health insurance is also skyrocketing. Northville paid $162,000 in 1973-74. This year, the cost is about $380,000.

In total, employee benefits will cost the school district nearly $650,000 this year.

One of the more frustrating expendi-itures is utilities — bills that must be paid, even at the cost of educational programs.

Gas and electricity cost Northville less than $140,000 in 1973-74. This year's estimated cost is about half-a-million dollars even though total enrollment is 46 fewer than four years ago.

"We've got three more buildings (Winchester and Silver Springs elementaries and Meads Mill Junior High)," explained Goulding.

Administrative costs are also higher now than they were four years ago. Not only are average salaries on the increase, but the number of administrators is increasing, too.

Principals, for instance, were needed as new buildings opened. Even so, arguments have been presented to the board for the need of additional assistant principals at both the senior and junior high schools.

1965-66	$254,317	2529	496	104	758,000	7293
1969-70	2,513,942	3120	806	139	1,363,000	9810

The central office staff is also larger. A curriculum coordinator — a position recommended by a citizen's committee — has been added.

The post of director of operations came into existence after a neglected maintenance program put the district into a financial and public relations hole.

While per pupil expenditures have doubled in the last eight years and nearly quadrupled since 1960, the cost of education has fallen more and more upon the local taxpayer.

This year, for example, Northville's share of the state school aid payment is about $900,000. In 1973-74, even though the total budget was $2.5 million less, the state aid payment was more than a

Clowning pays off

Northville Kiwanis Club members donned clown outfits in conducting their sale of pumpkins through several community subdivisions Saturday. The "pumpkin" outfits were made by Mrs. Ray Casterline and Mrs. Russell Kelly, wives of Kiwanians. Project Chairman John Genitti reports "the clowning around" helped make the benefit sale a big success. More than $320 was raised, of all of which is to be donated by the club to the Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor. The pumpkins were given to the club by farmers who participated in the Northville farmers' market. Among those Kiwanians selling Saturday were (l to r) John Steimel, Russell Kelly, David White, and Robert Schron.

$1 million.

Even though Northville has acquired some state and federal grant money, these figures mean that the increased cost of running the school for the last four years have come almost exclusively from the local taxpayer's pocket.

The impact wouldn't be felt so greatly if growth kept up with costs. But it hasn't, and that's what is hurting Northville the most, said Goulding.

School property taxes are based on the state equalized value (SEV) of a person's home. The higher the SEV per pupil in a district, the lower the state aid.

In Northville's case, the SEV is steadily climbing while enrollment — at least temporarily — has peaked and started to drop.

"If you've got an SEV that's going up, that's fine as long as your enrollment is keeping pace," said Goulding.

"Even if our enrollment had stayed the same (as last year), 'we would have been treated so much nicer,' said Goulding.

Salvation Army tells its plans

While Salvation Army Christmas kettles haven't appeared on street corners yet this year, mail appeals will be going out soon asking area residents to "share with others" through the Plymouth Corps.

The Salvation Army in Plymouth began its season of giving with a prison toy lift last Saturday, Lieutenant William Harfoot, commanding officer, reports.

Approximately 1,000 toys will stock the Plymouth Corps toy selection shop at Huron Valley Women's Prison where mothers will select a toy for their child and write a Christmas card to accompany the gift. The toys also will be given to children of inmates at Milan Federal Prison.

They will be delivered by parcel post and will in no way indicate that they were purchased by the Salvation Army, says Lieutenant Harfoot.

Mail appeal work days are scheduled from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. November 7 and 14.

Thanksgiving concerts are scheduled November 19 by the Royal Oak Corps, November 23, Dearborn Heights with the divisional band to participate in Hudson's parade on Thanksgiving Day. A Plymouth community dinner is set for 4 p.m. on Thanksgiving. A Flint Corps concert will be November 26.

A prison toy wrapping session is planned for 8:45 a.m. November 28 with League of Mercy gift preparation at the corps to be the evening of November 29.

A visit to Northville State Hospital is scheduled for 9 a.m. December 6.

Township cracks down on speed

Don't get paranoid if you think someone is watching you.

Somebody is.

But if you pay heed to traffic speed laws, you have nothing to worry about.

Otherwise, the Northville Township Police Department is going to get you.

"We don't like to give tickets," said Chief Ronald Nisun. "But if you're speeding, you are going to get one."

Nisun hammered that point home last week when he announced the creation of what, for want of a better name, will be called a traffic safety bureau.

The bureau is one man — Dennis Roscoe — a five-year veteran of the force who will now be concentrating on speeding, other traffic violations, accident investigations and car safety for youngsters.

Using radar, Roscoe's primary function while on road patrol will be to curtail speeders and watch for other traffic violations — such as passing a school bus while it loads or unloads.

Except when there are emergencies, other patrol cars will respond to complaints.

So far, the speeders have been easy targets. In one three-day stretch last week, Roscoe issued 25 tickets.

"We're not setting up any speed traps, though," stressed Nisun. Instead, Roscoe is trying to enforce current speed levels, especially around schools.

Two worrisome stretches are Bradner Road, which borders Meads Mills Junior High School and is used as a non-stop thruway between Five Mile and Six Mile Road, and Silver Springs Road, where a similar situation will exist by Silver Springs Elementary School when the road is completed from Eight Mile to Seven Mile Road.

Both roads are scheduled to have 25 mile-per-hour speed limits and the township police department means to enforce them.

Nisun said, that, when it is paved, Haggerty Road to the east may serve as the main north-south artery and Bradner and Silver Springs roads will be used mostly by people who live in those neighborhoods.

At the present, though, Nisun said the local residents must support police efforts if lower speeds are to be maintained for the safety of school children.

"We can't just give tickets to outsiders," he said. That means residents in Highland Lakes, Northville Commons and Northville Colony will be facing fines if their feet get heavy on the accelerator.

The township currently has a stationary radar but it is experimenting with models that Roscoe can use to time vehicles in both directions.

In the future, Roscoe will be called upon to head the investigation into all traffic accidents in the township.

Another part of his job is the Officer Bill program, a lesson for youngsters that will be in Silver Springs and Winchester Elementary schools.

Armed with handcuffs, coloring books, honorary police badges and other props, Roscoe will be talking with kindergarten through third grade students about rules they should remember when walking to and from school.

Speaking for The Record

Local effort leads to prison switch

The citizens committee opposed to a prison on the Wayne County Child Development Center property was understandably elated last week when Governor William Milliken dumped the Child Development Center plan and instead threw his support behind legislation that would make the Detroit House of Corrections the site of a state prison.

Milliken's decision, to a great degree, is a reflection of the committee's vigorous fight against the Child Development Center prison plan. In making his surprise announcement, the governor referred to concerns of local citizens and, obviously, those vocal concerns helped influence his change of mind.

We congratulate the committee for its apparent victory.

But since the governor's change of position could be reversed again before the prison matter is finally resolved, we are pleased that the committee does not plan to lower its guard. On the contrary, the committee has promised to continue to make its voice heard while actively seeking a good, alternative use for the Child Development Center.

As for Governor Milliken's support now of the DeHoCo prison plan, we are pleased that he uses many of the same arguments made here editorially on May 4 to show that logically and economically DeHoCo is the better location for a prison.

In that editorial we said, "It seems the height of folly to us that on the one hand the state proposes to spend upwards of $10 million on the Child Development Center as a temporary prison while on the other it plans to abandon an existing penal institution (DeHoCo) less than two miles away..."

"If raping the Child Development Center while closing another nearby existing penal facility isn't illogical, certainly the plan to build a permanent new prison on land adjacent to but not on existing prison property fits the description. It is neither logical nor necessary..."

Last week Governor Milliken admitted the DeHoCo location would be less costly and more functional for both temporary and permanent penal institutions than would the Child Development Center.

"I think it (DeHoCo) provides a superior alternative to the Child Development Center," the governor said.

"It represents an alternative which allows us to be responsive to the concerns of area residents while meeting our responsibility to provide adequate correctional facilities."

Thank you, Governor, and Amen!

Big responsibility

The zoning board of appeals has a singular and heavy responsibility. It must determine whether exceptions to municipal ordinances should be granted.

The gravity of this responsibility cannot be over emphasized, for the zoning board of appeals in any community, through its actions, can make a mockery of ordinances adopted for the welfare of the entire community. That may not be the intent of any zoning appeals board, but if members do not take the hard road, then mockery can be the result.

Zoning boards of appeals are unique in that they are quasi-judicial bodies. Once a decision has been reached, the only appeal from that decision is to the courts. Unlike the planning commission, for instance, the appeals board does not recommend to the township board or city or village council; its actions are the final word in the local municipality.

The zoning board of appeals' domain is variances. Board members are to determine whether variances (exceptions) should be granted. The usual measuring stick for determining whether relief from ordinance restrictions should be granted is hardship — and this is where the difficulty begins.

What is a hardship?

It is a hardship when a petitioner seeks construction of a six-foot fence in his front yard, because he has dogs and he doesn't want them to leap over the fence and run free in the neighborhood?

Is it a hardship when a petitioner requests a sideyard variance so that he can construct a building of greater size, or because he wishes to situate his proposed home on the land to take best advantage of topography?

Is it a hardship when a petitioner asks for a greater sign size than is permitted in the ordinance? He wants the larger sign because he says customers would be able to more easily see his business as they motor along, thus reducing the risk of accidents.

Hardship may be variously defined. It is an elusive concept. But we firmly believe the petitioner must prove a true hardship, not just show an inconvenience or contrived hardship.

YES . . .

During my thirty-three year tenure as a postal employee, we purchasers of those 13 cent stamps do not fully realize what a bargain the postage stamp is. With all of the postage increases (433 percent since 1945) we often forget that our wages and benefits have risen 800 percent since the days of the 3 cent stamp in the Franklin Roosevelt era.

Did you know that 96 percent of the letters we mail within 500 miles of our homes are delivered the very next day? The cancellation date confirms this. Or that we no longer pay an extra air mail charge for letters being mailed further than 300 miles as they are being air lifted already?

Sure mail is lost, missorted, and damaged. We seem to find it happening more but in reality the percentage is the same. Our post offices are handling more mail; the volume of mail that passes through Northville has increased 500 percent, nationwide 200 percent.

The postage stamp is still the bargain it was before if not a better one. We may not remember this the next time a letter is lost or delayed nor will we remember it when we open tomorrow's handful of mail.

SCOTT BROWN

NO . . .

Postal rates have risen from three cents per ounce to 13 cents per ounce in the last few years, while the service received has declined at the same astonishing rate. This would indicate poor organization at the management level.

The only practical solution to this perplexing problem would be to have a postal service in private enterprise, an organization competing to better the program and its services.

This would create a competitive spirit within the personnel ranks. In other words the idea would be to do one's job and do it well, or someone else will.

The free enterprise system would require the corporation to show a profit or else be self-supporting.

This would eliminate the payroll and overhead expense now paid from the government budget. And it could lower our tax bite, taking thousands of employees off the government payroll.

Impractical, you say? How can any of us know until it is tried? Twenty years ago we couldn't walk on the moon.

20 years without success as archer

The Russians and I have something in common.

They're celebrating the 20th anniversary of success and I'm celebrating 20 years of failure.

It was in October of 1958 that the Soviet Union successfully launched the world's first satellite — a 184-pound gem named Sputnik.

Recollections of that occasion will forever be stamped in my mind because I have this habit of associating great events with something I was doing at the time.

That's why, for example, the end of World War II is so vivid in my memory. That was the day I caught six frogs and two toads in the pond around the corner from our home in Flint.

On the day the Korean War ended, I distinctly remember telling the mess sergeant to stuff it when he ordered me to stand KP duty for the third consecutive day. The day after the war ended, I remember beginning the fourth day's cleaning the grease trap.

The day of the Sputnik was the first I ever made deer laugh by walking into the woods with a bow and arrow. They've been laughing annually every year since.

While the Russians have been going to bigger and better space glories, topped only by the U.S. space accomplishments since that beep was heard around the world in 1958, I've been going steadily downhill as a bow hunter.

The late Jerry Hartman, principal of Novi High School, was apparently on target when, after watching another of my arrow streak over the back of a whitetail, observed, "Hoffman, the Vatican will set up a Sputnik before you get a deer."

Will planners rezone Novi into a Canton?

To the Editor:
My husband and I attended a meeting pertaining to the property located on the southwest corner of 9 Mile and Taft Roads to rezone from R-2 (half acre 120' frontage) to R-3 (90' frontage decreased to 80' on a RUD option). The rezoning measure, although opposed by neighboring residents, passed the planning board stage.

I feel this is a total disservice to the taxpaying citizens bordering this property and also to the City of Novi itself.

When we bought our home in Connemara Hills, we studied the surrounding zonings which assured us of a well planned area development. Now our "representatives" have ignored our pleas and have made Connemara Hills an island totally surrounded by R3 and R4 zoning. I suppose I should be elated that this measure is probably going to make our area unique with its half acre lots, and therefore more valuable.

However, I am thinking of the City of Novias as a whole. There are plenty of R-3 and R-4 areas available for building now, let's not allow the whole city to become this size zoning. We need to preserve what R2 is left, let alone R-1, giving our community a well rounded diversity.

I believe the board voted for the rezoning (they never gave us their reasons) because the developer and builder, Mr. Pulte of Pulte Homes stated there is not a market for large lots and that it is not profitable as it was 18-20 years ago when Connemara and Northville Estates were planned. I totally disagree.

Granted, there are people favoring smaller lots, and there is property zoned accordingly available, but there are a lot of people who want open space. This same evening a new subdivision near Meadowbrook was approved with 1/2 acre lots and homes valued around $100,000.00 Surely, this man feels Novi can support a better grade of homes and I am sure he will be making a nice profit.

Let's not undersell the present or future residents of Novi.

Also, by passing this rezoning measure I feel the planning board is setting a precedent giving all developers who want rezoning to smaller lots an open door. If this is the case, maybe Novi should revise their zoning eliminating R-1 and R-2 totally (if it's not feasible to build on R-2 then R-1 would be inconceivable) and start with R-3 as the highest zoning.

A 343 home subdivision has tentative approval on the northeast corner of Taft and Nine Mile. Our community is expanding and nothing can prevent it. But by rezoning we continue to increase density which means more houses, cars, traffic, water, sewage and roads. Who is going to pay for the roads that are certainly going to need paving??? One of the city planners even suggested a red light would be needed at the corner of Nine Mile and Taft!!!!

And it won't stop here. Our city planners are already discussing rezoning all the property from Taft Road all the way down to Beck from R-2 to R-3, including those already occupied. When does this cycle of rezoning stop -- when Novi looks like Canton Township????

We can still stop this further downgrading of the City of Novi at the City Council meeting on Monday, November 21st, at 8:00 p.m. at Novi School Administration Building, 25575 Taft Road, Novi. Please, if you don't want Pulte Homes developing their "expandable" home on 80' frontage lots, attend this meeting and voice your opinion as a taxpayer of this community.

The Gopher

This original poem was given its first (and perhaps last) public reading by its author, True-Blue Wolverine Fan, City Manager Steve Walters, at Rotary on Tuesday.

Oh, the wind echoes through the memorial halls
Like the dirge that is heard in the referee's calls,
When the punts and the kicks and the passes and plays.
Make your fav'rite team look like they've seen better days.

Now the gopher is slow and near-sighted and round,
A burrowing rodent who lives underground.
He eats on the roots that he finds as he digs,
And for banquets he dines-on occasion-on twigs.

Some animal lovers claim gophers help soil
By mixing in water and air as they toil.
But no matter how much you may say about that --
A burrowing rodent is a dirty rat!

And the dirtiest gophers that I could take note 'a'
Reside in their burrows in cold Minnesota,
In a school just for rodents call Old Gopher U --
Though I don't go for them and I'm sure you don't, too.

For what could be slower than their half-blind race,
And what could look dumber than a gopher's face.
So what could have happened-what does it all mean-
That a gopher got the best of a fierce wolverine?

Oh, the wind echoes through the memorial halls,
Like the dirge that was heard in the referee's calls,
When the punts and the kicks and the plays and the passes
Made the fierce Wolverines look like stupid jackasses.

Elementary band cost is at least $50,000

It would cost about $50,000 to $75,000 to start an elementary band program in Northville schools next year, administrators told the school board Monday night.

Exact cost estimates will be available next month when a cost and feasibility is completed, an official added.

"It always costs us more to put it (a program) back in, then it would to maintain it," Director of Instruction Nancy Soper told the board Monday. Mrs. Soper said a committee is studying the best way to offer instrumental music for fourth through sixth grades, fifth and sixth grades or sixth grade only.

Sixth graders used to get band when they were in middle school but lost out when they were shifted to the elementary schools last year.

Band boosters have vigorously supported the idea of at least sixth-grade band, but the chances for implementation this year went down the drain when a July millage issue was defeated.

The last time fifth graders could take band was in the early 1970's when sixth graders were still in the middle school. Band has not been offered to fourth graders in the past.

Until recently, the main cost of a band program has been the salary of the instructor, according to Superintendent Raymond Spear.

"Since the Supreme Court ruling on free education, we have an obligation -- at the minimum level -- of providing all of the instruments," he said.

That means the school must supply some instruments that can be used by students whose parents won't or can't buy or rent them. Mouthpieces, however, must be purchased by the student or his family.

The "ideal program" at an elementary school might be five practice hours a week, said Mrs. Soper, but such an arrangement is impossible.

That's because a voluntary class such as band could not be worked into the daily schedule of an elementary student who must also take art, band and regular classes.

Bennett, who drives for the Novi Ambulance Company, had just left St. Mary Hospital in Livonia where he had dropped off a patient and was west-bound on Five Mile Road to answer an emergency call when the accident occurred.

Witnesses said he had his emergency siren and warning lights on, but there are conflicting reports about who had the green light.

State police said Heidi Irving, 22, 46038 Pickford Ct. was westbound, southwest of Smock Road when her car veered straight across an eastbound lane, off the road and struck two trees.

There were no tire marks or other evidence that the brakes had been applied, police said. The accident occurred shortly after midnight on Tuesday morning, October 18.

earliest practicable date: those cases are remanded to the Circuit Court of the sole purpose of implementing the Commission's orders in accordance with the statute."

The ruling also affects a similar boundary dispute in Midland Township and a gerrymandering question in a Novi Township annexation case involving the Brookland Farms area. In that case, the Novi Township petition was "remanded to the Commission for further proceedings consistent with this opinion."

Supreme Court Justice Blair Moody added a comment to the opinion, stating that while he concurred in the majority result, he could not agree with all of the reasoning in the majority opinion. Those sections concerned the amendment of a statute by implication, judicial review involving an administrative procedures act and other technical matters.

Monday's announcement marks the culmination of a classic conflict between town and country, the adversaries represented in court by the Michigan Municipal League on one side and the Michigan Township Association on the other. It is a disastrous blow to the MTA and its attorney John Bauckham, whose case through the state may collapse as a result.

Council offers library alternative to township library building with CD monies on the site of the new township hall-public safety complex on Six Mile Road east of Bradner Road.

The council's counter-proposal suggests construction of an addition to the rear of the city hall, with expansion of the ground-floor area previously occupied by the library.

"The addition would provide a total of 6,175 square feet of useable floor space (not including utility space) for the library on one floor level. The cost of this addition is estimated to be $128,600, and could be completed for occupancy by May 31, 1978," the council statement said.

Financing of construction, council members said, could be "accomplished through the city's building authority to be repaid through a long-term bond issue, with a possible contribution of city capital improvement (race track monies) to reduce the size of the bond issue."

Relative to the township's library proposal, council members noted with concern that township officials apparently have from the outset figured either to establish a separate library or a neighborhood library.

The council noted that the township's application for federal funds suggested one of these two alternatives.

"In any event, it appears that a township-city agreement existing prior to construction of the new (township) building, which agreement would provide for a joint library service to be housed in the new building exclusively, would be in violation of the federal regulations," the council stated.

"In this context, the city is concerned about the township's intent to continue joint library services, and our ability to even consider joint library service with the CD grant funding involved."

Council labeled as unacceptable both the move of all library facilities to the township and establishment of a branch library in the township.

The latter, they argued, would either mean a substantial increase of costs for both the city and township or a substantial deterioration of service.

"If all services and operating hours were maintained at both libraries, a substantial increase would result in operating costs and duplicating of books and equipment," council members stated.

"If one of the two locations offered less services than are now offered at the present library, a confusion of service would result for residents, and the tendency would be to not use the partial service location to avoid the confusion. If both locations offered less service to offset operating cost increases, this would be an additional disadvantage."

Council members said that if two libraries are to be operated, it "might be as practical for the city and township to each operate their own libraries and each offer the service level which their respective residents desire. The city cannot justify spending money to operate two locations, when one is sufficient."

The council noted that location of the library in the central business district has been recommended by the Wayne County Federated Library System, citizens groups and the local library commission.

"The library's usage is actually supported by the availability of other activities around it, and it is convenient to all residents in general in the community since they frequently have other business to conduct in the same downtown area," council members said.

"The township's proposed building will cost $190,930 for 6,000 square feet, which is $53,000 over the township's available grant funds. It is not clear how the township proposes to finance this overage, but finance costs would likely approach the present rent cost when combined with operating costs over the next several years at least. It does not appear to the city that the township's proposal is as great a cost-saving plan as the township has indicated."

Operation of a city-only library will most certainly cost more money than the present jointly operated library unless services are substantially curtailed, council members concluded last week.

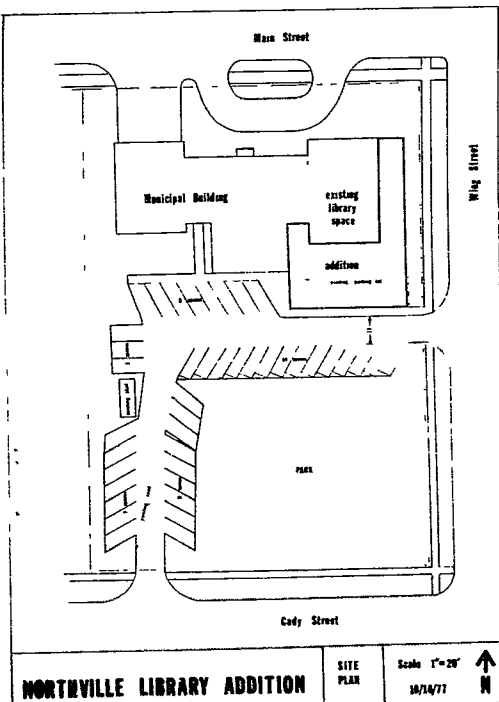

Not only would operating costs increase, but the city also would be faced with the cost of rebuilding its book stock.

Canton forces Mustangs into overtime

"It happens every weekend all over the country..."

"I think the whole team had an off day..."

"They were psyched up and we were down after a big game last weekend. They had nothing to lose and everything to gain..."

"Like Bob Ufer (University of Michigan football announcer) says, football's a game of emotions."

Bo Schembechler after Michigan's upset loss to Minnesota last weekend?

Not quite. But Northville coach Chuck Shonta's comments after his team's narrow victory over Plymouth Canton Friday night certainly had an ominous ring of premonition in light of the Wolverines' 16-0 defeat less than 18 hours later.

Had one or two more breaks fallen in the Plymouth school's favor, in fact, chances are the Mustangs would have met a similar fate.

As it turned out Northville snuck off with a 6-0 homecoming triumph over a winless Canton squad last week, thus wrapping up second place in the Western Six. Halfback John Millen's two-yard touchdown plunge in overtime saw to that.

By the looks of the Mustang players as they walked away from the stadium, though, it was hardly an inspiring victory.

"We'll take it," a subdued Shonta remarked afterwards, "but I didn't think we deserved to win. We were really fortunate."

An omen of things to come occurred on Northville's first series of downs. After returning the opening kickoff to their own 35, the Mustangs moved minus two yards in their next three plays from scrimmage and were forced to punt.

It was the first of seven punts they were to have that evening.

From there on in the two schools fought tooth-and-nail right down to the end of regulation play, with Northville crossing midfield just three times and never getting closer than the Canton 18.

The visitors, on the other hand, had three golden opportunities to score inside the Mustang 20, but lost out twice on field goal misses and once when they ran out of downs on the two-yard line. Northville's farthest penetration came midway through the second quarter. With split end John Horwath nabbing two passes for 36 yards and halfback Dave Duguid scampering 17 yards on a pair of carries through the line, the Mustangs drove from their own 20 to the Canton 18.

An offensive interference penalty and a quarterback sack killed that threat, though, giving Canton the ball at its own 12-yard line following a punt.

From there the Chiefs drove all the way down to the Northville 10, helped by a 15-yard defensive holding penalty and a pair of pass receptions by Darryl Ramshuier. Following a 15-yard Canton penalty Mike Nyhus tried a 40-yard field goal with just 24 seconds left in the half, but it fell short and wide to the right.

The Chiefs started the second half right where they left off in the first, returning the opening kickoff from their own goal line to the 30, then marching downfield to the Mustang 18 on 10 running plays.

The drive, which ate up five-and-a-half minutes, finally stalled on an incomplete third-down pass, setting up a 35-yard field goal attempt. This time Nyhus's kick sailed straight and true, but bounced off the crossbars. Still 0-0.

Northville drove back to the Canton 29 with the help of a roughing-the-kicker penalty and a personal foul, but quarterback Doug Marzonie failed to click on three pass attempts. Place-kicker Matt Davis, who already holds a school record with a 43-yard field goal earlier this month, just missed on a 46-yard try.

Then, with 5:27 left in the game, Canton started a drive from its own 34 that almost spelled disaster for the Mustangs. Quarterback Rusty Mandel zigzagged 36 yards on the first play from scrimmage to the Northville 30, and from there the Chiefs drove all the way to the three-yard line before encountering a fourth-down-and-one situation.

With two minutes left Canton elected to go for a touchdown rather than trying to kick a field goal, but the Mustang defense held firm and sent the game into overtime.

"Yeah, it surprised me that they didn't try for the field goal," Shonta commented. "That could've been the ball game right there."

Instead the two schools fought it out in overtime, the first one for Northville in three years. In high school overtime both teams are given a chance to score in four plays from 10 yards out, with the first school taking a lead at the end of an overtime being declared the winner.

The Mustangs won the toss of the coin and elected to defend the north goal. The strategy worked. Canton failed to move, and a 28-yard field goal attempt was short.

Two plays after the Northville offense took control it was all over, with Duguid romping eight yards off tackle on first down and Millen plunging over on second.

Shonta was unable to explain the sudden shift in momentum in overtime, but there's little doubt he felt relieved.

"I think they (the Mustangs) finally realized that, hey, this is do or die, and went out and did what they were supposed to."

"Why weren't we doing that the whole game?" I don't know. But like I said, it's something that happens every week."

All in all the Mustangs had a less than impressive day on both offense and defense, although there were a few individual bright spots.

Marzonie completed only seven of 21 pass attempts, but hit Horwath on five of them for 56 yards.

Duguid led the Northville ground assault with 54 yards on 11 carries, while Marzonie added 30.

Defensively the Mustangs were sparked by nose man Mark Van Ingen, who was in on 22 tackles (including 12 solos), and John Marzonie, who had 10 first downs and eight assists. Wright had an interception at midfield early in the fourth quarter to snuff a mild Canton threat.

Pieces fall together, golfers win

Somebody up there must like Northville golfers.

Thanks to an unexpected turn of events — plus a bit of very timely good shooting — the Mustangs are once again king of the Western Six.

The local linksmen walked off with Northville High's seventh straight conference championship last week, but not before sweating out a dramatically close finish to the Western Six race in their last week of action.

Entering their final two dual meets of the season the Mustangs were in the thick of a four-school race for the conference title. Sporting a 6-2 record they were tied for first place with Waterford Mott, who'd earlier defeated Northville at the latter's home course, and were just ahead of Livonia Churchill and Farmington Harrison, who both had 5-3 marks.

With matches against Mott and Harrison scheduled that final week, the Mustangs' chances of finishing the dual meet season on top of the pack seemed slim at best. The conference championship, however, is determined by a school's finish in both the regular season and in a season-ending conference meet, which is where the Mustangs hoped to win it all.

Instead they pulled a surprise victory over Mott at the Corsairs' home course, then slipped past Harrison to lock up half the title.

Thanks to a bit of poor shooting by Mott's second and fourth men (who both stroked 47's) Northville swept past its first obstacle, 205-213, to take over sole possession of first place.

"I thought it was really going to be tough," coach Joe Blake said later. "It was at their course, and the weather was bad, it was very cold."

Dennis Zinkon won medalist honors with a nine-hole score of 38 and was followed by Bob Stevens (39), Steve Pyett and Scott Denhof (42), and John Pawlowski (44).

Two days later Blake's crew wrapped up the dual portion of the championship with a 194-199 home victory over Harrison while Mott was suffering an upset loss to Walled Lake Western.

"The big thing (in the Harrison triumph) was the shooting of Zinkon and Pyett," Blake observed, noting that both had one of their best performances of the season. Zinkon once again walked off with medalist honors, copping a par-35 over Brae-Burn Golf Club's back nine, while Pyett followed with a one-over 36. Rounding out the winning effort were Stevens (40), Mike Seltz (41), and Denhof and Pawlowski (42).

That left the Mustangs with a one-game margin over Churchill, which won its last two meets, but it wasn't until the final putt went down at the conference meet that Northville sewed things up.

J.V. team rolls

Scott Millard and Dan Trohe powered an awesome rushing attack and Tim Marshall anchored yet another strong defensive performance as the Mustangs rolled to a 30-6 victory over Farmington Harrison in junior varsity football action last Thursday.

The victory kept Steve McDonald's forces unbeaten at 4-0 in Western Six play and gave them a shot at Northville's first conference title in three years tomorrow night.

"We had an excellent night both offensively and defensively," McDonald, the Mustangs' first-year head coach, said of his team's victory. "Everybody played well."

Offensively they were led by Millard and Trohe, who between them piled up 225 of Northville's 286 yards on the ground. Rob Burnham, back from an injury, picked up 35 yards in eight carries.

Millard scored on touchdown runs of three and six yards in the first half while Trohe, who doubles as a defensive back, returned an interception 10 yards for another TD in the third quarter.

The Mustangs' other scores came in the second half on a 10-yard pass play from Russ Gans to Paul Cooper and a 34-yard field goal by Gans.

Defensively the winners were sparked by Marshall, who had nine first hits and 10 assists. Other defensive standouts included Norm Tulikka, who was in on 13 tackles, Mark Harper (11 tackles), Steve Fenby (10 tackles), Bob Boshoven (nine tackles) and Dale Fisher (two interceptions).

The J.V. squad, which now sports a 6-1 overall record and has outscored its seven opponents 134-36, travels to Plymouth Canton tomorrow night for its season finale. A victory there would sew up the Mustangs' first J.V. championship since 1974.

Swimmers lose Salem meet, bounce Western Team effort was a key element in both Northville girls' swimming meets last week.

The Mustangs, who have depended on a young, inexperienced corps of underclassmen for their depth throughout most of the first half of the season, lacked support in a 96-75 loss at Plymouth Salem last Tuesday but bounced back with plenty of it in a 53-30 triumph over Walled Lake Western two days later.

As usual the Northville tankers swam off with most of the meet's first place (seven of a possible 11) against Salem, but a lack of strong second and third-place finishers cost them the team victory.

Sue Cahill broke two more of her own school records but was beaten for the first time this season when Salem's Marion Stanwood edged her out in the 200-yard free style. Stanwood, considered one of the state's top free style swimmers, won the 200 in 1:57.5.

She was followed by Cahill, who broke the two-minute barrier for the first time this fall with a 1:59.5 clocking, and Janet Shaw, who finished third in 2:14.9.

Six events later, however, Cahill bounced back to upset Stanwood in the 500-yard free style, setting her second school record of the meet in the process. Her 5:16.2 clocking was more than four seconds ahead of the Salem girl.

Both Vida Mikalonis and Kyle Roggenbuck, meanwhile, were double individual winners. Mikalonis came within two seconds of breaking her own butterfly record with a 1:02.6 clocking in that event against Salem. She also won the backstroke, with a time of 1:06.5.

Roggenbuck had her strongest showing of the year in winning the 50-yard free style, coming within .6 seconds of her own school record (set last year) with a 25.5 clocking. She later added the 100 free style to her list of victories.

Janet Shaw was the Mustangs other individual winner, copping the breaststroke in 1:15.6, which matched her own school record set just one week earlier.

Northville had yet another winner in the 200-yard medley relay, an event the Mustangs have yet to lose in, when Mikalonis, Shaw, Roggenbuck and Diane Townsend combined for a 2:04.2 clocking, four seconds better than Salem.

After that, though, the points came few and far between for coach Ben Lauber's girls. They only nabbed three second-place finishes in the meet and three thirds, and that's where Salem snatched the victory.

Two days later, though, the girls got together to win a whopping 10 events and place 1-2 in three of them to coast past defending conference champ Walled Lake Western, 53-30.

Leslie Farquhar (200 and 500 free style), Shaw (100 free style and breaststroke) and Cahill (butterfly and backstroke) were the meet's only double individual winners, while Roggenbuck (individual medley), Mikalonis (50 free style) and Andrea Conder (diving) earned single victories.

Mikalonis, Shaw, Cahill and Roggenbuck edged a strong Western effort in the 200-yard medley relay with a 1:59.7 clocking, less than half a second off the school record.

Probably the most exciting race of the day occurred in the 200 free style, where Farquhar battled from behind to edge Krystn Van Renterghem by .1 second, for a 1-2 finish. Van Renterghem's time of 2:17.3 was her best effort of the season.

The Mustangs also place 1-2 in the 500 free style (Farquhar and Kristy Ifversen) and in the backstroke (Cahill and Laurie Sellen).

Best effort wins conference meet

Those never-say-die netters put it all together last week.

Playing their best tennis of the season, Northville's girls sent all four singles players and two doubles teams to the finals for the Western Six meet last Tuesday and came out champions for the first time since 1973.

The first-place finish in the conference meet, held at Schoolcraft College, gave the Mustangs an overall second-place standing in the Western Six, immediately behind Farmington Harrison.

"They played as well as they possibly could have," an elated coach Uta Filkin said later. "Every girl did her part."

The upset of the day, and the match that turned things in Northville's favor, occurred in number four singles, where sophomore Eve Engelmeyer stormed past Rhonda Verona of Harrison in a convincing three-setter, 6-2, 6-7, 6-1. In their only other match earlier this month Verona had handily knocked off Engelmeyer, 6-2, 6-0.

That was the only match the Mustangs won in all Northville-Harrison singles finals, but it was enough to give them a 15-14 edge over the Hawks in match points.

Northville's mighty second doubles team of Bev Kohl and Lynn Herald, who went undefeated through 13 dual meets during the regular season, walked off with the winners' only other first-place finish with a 6-2, 6-3 triumph over Livonia Churchill's girls in the finals.

Singles players who reached the finals before losing included first singles Lorri Hopping, who took an early lead in the first set before dropping a 4-6, 1-6 decision to Harrison's Janice Lakasiewicz, rated one of the top high school players in the state; Marie Maglia, who lost 0-6, 2-6 to another state-ranked Harrison player, Nancy Green, in second singles; and Paula Horst, who dropped a 3-6, 2-6 decision to Harrison's Emily Burke in third singles.

The Mustangs' young third doubles pair, Tracy Ade and Sue Kaestner, fought their way into the finals as well before losing 3-6, 2-6 to a team from Churchill.

Only Lisa Friel and Sue Pegrum failed to hit the finals, dropping a 2-6, 2-6 battle to Waterford Mott's powerful duo of Jackie Johnson and Kim Reynolds in the semis.

"This was the first time in a couple years that Harrison wasn't overpowering in the league," Filkin observed, noting that the Hawks had easily won the last conference titles.

This year the Farmington club had to stave off Northville twice in the dual season by scores of 4-3 to sew up the title, of which two-thirds is determined by a team's performance in dual action.

Despite the flight winners from the Western Six meet an All-League squad was chosen by the coaches to honor girls who'd performed well all season long. The team consisted of the top 10 players from first and second singles and doubles and included four Northville girls.

Mustangs named to the All-League squad were Hopping, Maglia, Kohl and Herald.

In addition to the regular conference meet a junior varsity meet was held, with Northville, handily winning both the singles and doubles competition.

In singles play Lisa Aaron breezed past Churchill's top girl in the finals, 8-5, while Sue Gejoff and Kim Tromans sailed through their finals in doubles play against a Churchill duo, 8-3.

B-ball girls rally, fall short

For a moment or two last Thursday night Northville seemed on the verge of escaping with its second girls' basketball victory of the season.

Foul trouble and an offensive breakdown dashed those hopes, though, and sent the varsity hoopers down to a frustrating 45-37 defeat at the hands of Walled Lake Western.

"Everything we do is a struggle," coached Omar Harrison said later, and from what happened Thursday it's easy to see why he feels that way.

The Mustangs never gave up after falling to early 10-3 and 15-7 deficits to the Warriors, whom Northville beat earlier this season for its only victory in 11 attempts.

At halftime it was 19-13, and early in the third quarter 21-15. An alert steal and driving lay-up by Lori Young knotted things up, though, at 21-21.

Later in the quarter Western went back ahead by six, but a short jumper by Diane Perpich capped another

Colts back in groove

Northville's varsity Colts football squad got back on the winning track last Sunday with a 19-0 victory over the Garden City Tigers. The win, the varsity's sixth in seven outings this season, came on the heels of a 12-6 loss to Westland last week.

After returning the opening kickoff 28 yards to the Tiger 47-yard line, Todd Parsons broke over tackle and raced 35 yards to the visitors' two. Fullback Dave Lennox punched it over from there, and Tim McClorey's pass to Todd Gross for the extra point made it 7-0.

Late in the first quarter Tim McLaughlin and Steve Zacher blocked a Tiger punt to give the Colts possession on their opponents' 30-yard line. Six plays later Brian Jordan ran the final five yards to up the margin to 13-0.

The Colts scored their last touchdown on the final play of the half on a 10-yard pass completion from Chris Caudell to McLaughlin.

Coach Lee Holland cleared his bench in the second half and the reserves held on defensively to give Northville its sixth shutout of the season.

The Colts outtrushed the Tigers 162-52 and connected on three of six aerials for 22 yards. All ten Garden City pass attempts were batted down.

Parsons with 48 yards and Rich Sinda and Andy Dimitroff with 35 yards apiece paced the Colt running attack. Dimitroff led the defense with 10 tackles and got help from McLaughlin, who had six tackles and a fumble recovery. Lennox added a pass interception.

Hard-nosed defense and a long second-half scoring drive led Northville's junior varsity Colts to a 9-0 victory over Garden City Sunday.

The Colts' first two points came on a safety in the first half when Shawn Tipton sacked Garden City's quarterback in his own end zone.

Strong defensive play by Jeff Evens and Brian Jennings plus an interception by Chris Wagner kept the Tigers in check until Northville began its only touchdown drive of the afternoon midway through the third quarter.

Bob Pegrum capped the 11-play, 74-yard drive on a six-yard scoring burst with 4:12 remaining. The extra-point pass from Rod Wendel to Ron Greer was good.

The j.v. Colts have now won three straight games and are 5-2 overall.

Athletes of the week

JIM BEDFORD

A look at Northville's cross country times this fall reveal an interesting fact about Jim Bedford: he just keeps on improving. A consistent finisher among the Mustangs' top five runners, the junior distance ace had his best showings of the season in last week's meets. On Tuesday he ran Northville's rugged Hines Park course in 16:22, by far his best time thus far, finishing second for his team and fifth overall to help the Mustangs to a surprise victory over Brighton. And on Thursday he placed third overall, just a split second behind teammate John Monagle, in helping Northville to an impressive 15-48 win over Farmington Harrison.

LORRI HOPPING

In one of the tennis team's brightest seasons in years Lorri Hopping was a true leader. Despite competing against some of the top players in the state in first singles action this season the senior netter compiled an impressive record in dual meet competition, winning 80 percent of her matches, and was one of only three Mustang representatives in the past few years to advance as far as the regional semifinals. She did that two weeks ago, then followed with a strong performance in the Western Six meet last Tuesday. Competing against a Farmington girl who's ranked among the top 10 high schoolers in the state, Hopping jumped to an early lead before falling in the finals of the number one singles flight, 4-6, 1-6.

Soccer cup

Northville's 10-and-under boys' soccer teams will play their semifinal games of the single-elimination Northville Cup Soccer Tournament tonight at Ford Field.

The first of two scheduled games will start at 6 p.m.

Meads Mill's ninth-grade football squad dropped its third game in five decisions with a 30-6 loss to Pinckney last Wednesday.

Flanker Matt Rowe scored the losers' lone touchdown on a seven-yard counter play late in the third quarter.

THE PACK — All year long Northville's high cross country hopes have depended on the success of the team's famed "pack." Here four members of the squad show its potency in the last quarter mile of a race against Farmington Harrison last week. Harry Couyoumjian (far left, in back), Don Wilber, John Monagle and Jim Bedford nailed down second through fifth place in the meet to insure another Mustang victory.

Mustang harriers start peaking

The timing couldn't have been better.

In their final week of regular season competition Northville's highly-ranked cross country team put together two of their strongest performances of the year, rolling past Brighton and Redford Thurston last Tuesday and then beating Farmington Harrison on Thursday.

The victories capped a 12-1 dual meet season for the Mustangs (their only loss was to Dearborn Edsel Ford earlier this month) and came just in time to prepare them for yesterday afternoon's Western Six meet at Cass Benton Park.

"We're peaking right about the time we most need to," coach Ralph Redmond noted after watching his runners storm past Harrison. "I'd say our peak should probably last about two or three weeks."

And, for those who aren't aware, that's just about how much time it'll take the Mustangs to get through the regionals and, if all continues to go well, the state finals as well.

Prospects have never looked brighter for Northville, ranked among the top 10 Class A cross country squads in the state. Following yesterday's conference meet, which the Mustangs were expected to win handily, Redmond's crew will head for Howell on Saturday.

There they'll compete against one of the strongest regional fields in the state, a field which includes Jackson, Howell and Brighton, all rated among the state's top 20. Only the top three schools from that meet will qualify for the state finals the following weekend.

But the Mustangs have already knocked off Brighton, a state finalist last year and rated among the top five this year. They did it in convincing fashion last Tuesday, handing the Bulldogs a 22-36 defeat, their first of the season, in what was supposed to be a close race.

The victory, which Redmond called "our finest of the season," was one of two the Mustangs nabbed in a dual meet at Cass Benton. They also beat Redford Thurston, 25-36.

"It was just an outstanding effort," Northville's veteran coach commented of his team's performance, "probably the finest dual meet we've run in several seasons."

The only thing the Mustangs didn't do, in fact, was take first place in individual placement. Junior Brian Turnbull was beaten for only the second time in dual meet competition this season when he lost a comfortable lead in the last mile of the race.

Thurston runners took the top two positions, with Brian Hess winning in a time of 15:53 and Curt Reynolds following in 15:54.

Next came Turnbull in 16:05, followed by Kevin Hurley of Brighton (16:10), Jim Bedford of Northville (16:22), Doug Moore of Brighton (16:26), "and then look out for the pack." The pack, a term applied to a group of harriers from one school who run together, this time consisted of Don Wilber (16:28), John Coram (16:35) and John Monagle (16:38), who monopolized the seventh through ninth positions for the Mustangs. Rounding out the Northville effort were Harry Couyoumjian (11th in 16:45) and Ken Greene (15th in 17:10).

"Those times were just fantastic," Redmond said, noting that most of his runners set personal bests over the rugged three-mile Hines Park terrain that serves as Northville's home course.

But more importantly, he felt a victory over Brighton was the confidence booster his squad needed to propel them into the big meets this week.

"We needed that late-season momentum," he observed. "I can't say enough about that Brighton; they have a fine pack. Certainly they're the best team we've gone against in a dual meet this season." And that, he added, was what made the victory so satisfying.

Two days later the Mustangs closed out their best dual meet season ever under Redmond with a 15-48 victory over conference foe Farmington Harrison

"I thought it was a surprisingly easy win," Redmond remarked, noting that Northville took the first five positions in the race.

Turnbull returned to his winning form with a first-place finish in 15:59, his best Hines Park clocking of the season. And right behind him came four other Mustangs, with Monagle placing second in 16:38, Bedford third in 16:38, Wilber fourth in 16:41 and Couyoumjian fifth in 16:43.

Local entrants sweep

Three Northville residents swept the prizes in this newspaper's football contest last week.

Winning first place with three mistakes and 35 points off the tie-breaker was Charles B. Eubanks of 18239 Jamestown Circle. Taking second was Bobby Bell of 537 Grace Street, who also missed three games but who was 51 points off the mark.

Eubanks and Bell were the only contestants with three mistakes. The others had four or more wrong.

Brian Odom of 797 Springfield Drive came up with four wrong picks but claimed third-place money by virtue of his closer guess of the Notre Dame-California outcome.

Other contestants who had four mistakes but who finished out of the money because their guessed scores of the tie-breaker were not as close were: David Booth, Tim Bennett, Renee Rosselle, Bruce Martin, Paul Caroselli, and Jay Pease, Jr., all of Northville, and E. W. Brown of Plymouth.

Contestants with five mistakes were: Robe Ade, Ron Pote, Kelly Bell, Robert Foster, Gery Cross, Finn O'Leary, C. W. Johnston, Bob Crisan, Dave Hooten, Donald Chamberlain, Scott Anderson, and Steve Stuart of Northville, and John Koss of Canton.

If you think Minnesota surprised Michigan Saturday, consider how the Gophers treated football contestants. Not one of the more than 100 entries figured Minnesota would beat Michigan for the Little Brown Jug.

Michigan's stunning 16-0 defeat at the hands of Minnesota was an upset on the gridiron as well as on contest forms.

Contestants also had trouble with Michigan State's 9-7 triumph over Wisconsin, Southern California's 49-19 licking at the hands of Notre Dame, and Eastern Michigan's 29-14 loss to Kent State.

Few contestants figured Nebraska to beat Colorado (33-15).

Golfers win 7th title

men finished a distant second to Harrison and edged out Mott and Churchill by a single stroke, giving them a combined point total of 11 to Churchill's 9½ (points are awarded on a 6-5-4-3-2-1 basis according to a team's placement in dual play and in the league meet).

Harrison won the tournament with a 406 total, 13 strokes ahead of the Mustangs and 14 ahead of Mott and Churchill. Had Northville finished two strokes worse, had they lost to Harrison in the final dual meet, or had Mott avoided its two upset defeats, the crown would have gone elsewhere.

Thanks to a fairly well-balanced team effort, though, the Mustangs prolonged a dynasty that's stretched back to 1971. Pyett shot a 79 at the conference meet and was followed in order by Denhof (83), Stevens (84), Zinkon (85) and Pawlowski (88).

"I think overall we probably didn't have as much talent as Northville teams in the past, so it made the conference championship kind of special," Blake commented later. "I'm really proud and pleased at what these guys have done this year."

Topping off the season, during which time Northville compiled a 12-5 overall record, was the word that Zinkon and Pyett had been named to the six-man All-Conference squad. During the regular season Zinkon, a senior, had a 38.5 nine-hole average while Pyett, who made All-Conference as a junior last year, shot for a 39.0 average.

Northville's only other post-season action occurred a week ago Friday, when the Mustangs placed sixth out of eight schools in the regionals at Ann Arbor's University of Michigan course. Blake's crew had a four-man, 18-hole score of 344, 22 strokes behind winner Battle Creek Lakeview.

Pyett shot an 84, Zinkon an 85, Denhof an 86 and Stevens an 89 for the Mustangs, who had won two consecutive regional titles before this season.

FATHER SAYS MY FIRST FEDERAL SIX-YEAR 7 1/2% CERTIFICATE SAVINGS ACCOUNT AND I WILL MATURE AT ABOUT THE SAME TIME

Our high-interest certificate savings accounts help you earn extra money by waiting.

Pretend it's six years from now.

You go to your desk drawer and look at the six-year certificate savings account you opened back in 1977. Remember the $1,000 you took to First Federal Savings of Detroit? Well, now it's $1,584.00. And all you had to do to get that additional $584.00 was wait.

Of course, if you'd rather pretend it's four years from now, or two and a half, or even just one, we can show you plans that still will turn your money into more than you might have thought possible.

And remember, too, that you can have certificate savings accounts in addition to your regular savings account (which earns 5 1/4% per year daily interest, paid and compounded quarterly). In fact, that's how many people get the money to open a certificate savings account. They save for it.

What's more, at First Federal, certificate savings accounts can entitle you to a number of special services, many not available anywhere else. We think you should know about these things because we know that money is important for you.

So don't wait to find out.

We know what money is for.

Type of Account	Minimum Amount	Annual Rate	Effective Annual Rate	How and When Paid

Registration for the preschool story hour at the Northville Public Library will begin next Monday.

The story hour will be held on six consecutive Tuesdays at the library, from November 8 through December 13.

Parents may choose either the 10 or 11 a.m. session. Each lasts about 30 minutes.

All children from three- and a-half to five years old are eligible for this free program.

Parents may register their children at the library or by calling 349-3020.

How to choose senior housing?

A Schoolcraft College Senior Forum on "Housing and Independence" will conclude with two programs in November.

The Forums are scheduled at the Livonia Senior Center and begin at 10 a.m.

On November 2, Frances Yoakam, manager of Tonquish Creek Manor in Plymouth, will present "Living in Retirement Housing." She will discuss apartments which are built especially for older persons.

The final session on November 9 will cover choosing a retirement home with health care facilities and choosing a nursing home.

The Forums are an informal series designed especially for retirees and pre-retirees and are open to all interested persons without charge.

Further information may be obtained by calling community services at 591-6400, extension 218. The Livonia Senior Center is located at 15218 Farmington Road in Livonia.

Need concert transportation?

Tickets for bus transportation to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Coffee Concerts at Ford Auditorium are still available for Series II ONLY from Northville Square.

Cost of the tickets for the five-concert series is $12.50 per person. Additional information may be obtained by calling 962-9800, extension 251.

In addition to tickets to Series II, which begins on October 14 special transportation to the Beethoven Festival to be held on November 11, is also available from Northville Square.

Reserve promotions

Five patrolmen in the Northville Township Police reserves have been promoted to either corporal or sergeant, Chief Ronald Nisun announced last week. From left are Corporal Kenneth Larson, Corporal Ronald Fourrier, Sergeant Glen Schuman and Sergeant Frank Radwick. Not pictured is Sergeant Fred Petersen.

Decal winner

Sharon Salisbury, a junior at Northville High School and band student, happily displays the 1977-78 Northville Marching Band decal which is her winning design. It depicts various band instruments and tells its message on a drum. Band members in uniform will parade downtown Saturday and then will be selling the new decal. The band parents' organization stresses that only members in their black and orange uniforms will be valid salesmen.

College instructor to retire to old grist mill

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

Lots of people retire. But not a whole lot of them "retire to a mill."

Leonard Chester smiles, pushes back his chair and savors his own comment. It rolls off his tongue, sweet as a buckwheat pancake, and he likes the taste.

He's lived with the thought of this unusual retirement day and night since taking a bold and admittedly impulsive step six Christmases ago.

The Schoolcraft College instructor went out that Christmas week in 1970 and bought himself a mill... an honest to goodness grist mill. And now, after two careers, he's preparing to retire to a third — nursing Millbrook Mill in central Michigan.

"I'll live there in the old house and spend life with my hobbies," said Chester, who counts among those hobbies the restoration and operation of Millbrook. "Nothing commercial, mind you, just grinding a little flour to show visitors how the oldtimers did it."

Chester will move to his mill at the end of this school year after 12 years at Schoolcraft as a manufacturing instructor.

Before joining Schoolcraft he had worked for 26 years in the tool and die trade. But at the age of 39, he decided to go to college. Thus, the day his daughter graduated from high school he picked up his college diploma. And along the way he also earned a master's degree.

But back to the mill. Chester's been an old engine buff most of his life. One day a fellow club member in the Saginaw Valley Steam Club mentioned he'd heard about an old mill for sale 19 miles out of Mt. Pleasant.

He visited the place — the little village of Millbrook — and found decaying old buildings — the mill, blacksmith shop, and a farmhouse.

Milling equipment had been removed, destroyed or broken; the water wheel was missing, the dam and millpond were gone. Weeds and brush had grown up around the buildings. What's more, the mill building "sort of leaned" into the weather, just a shadow of the once proud structure erected in 1908 — on the site of an earlier mill built in 1868 and on the site of a still earlier shingle mill.

In short, Millbrook Mills was a sorry sight.

But, impulsively, Chester bought it. "It wasn't a very smart thing to do," he admitted. "What I bought was a lot of work."

Yet, Chester didn't suffer any "post-purchase blues."

The mill occupied most of spare time — summers and weekends — in the back-breaking task of restoring Millbrook to life. Today, it's a handsome, working reminder of Michigan's early history, and Chester's understandably proud of it.

"You can't imagine what it takes to restore a mill," he said, explaining that he knew next to nothing about milling at the time. While battling the brush and making repairs, he launched an intensive study of mills. He visited most of the active old mills in the East, carefully examining equipment and milling procedures.

In Michigan, he visited the few remaining mills, including those at Parshalville, Argentine, Hodunk and Podunk.

And along the way he purchased old parts and old equipment to replace those missing from his mill. Even so, he had to make many of the parts himself.

Fanning mills, polishing mills, separators, belt elevators, milling stones, water wheel and a whole lot of other equipment and parts had to be purchased or built — not to mention rebuilding the dam and the millpond, cleaning the mill race and the tail race, and literally straightening up the leaning building.

He designed and fabricated the giant steel waterwheel at Schoolcraft.

He bought three pairs of millstones out of the South, cementing the mill's original stones into the masonry fence next to his house at Millbrook.

He poured 94 gallons of paint ("the wheat germ just soaked right through it"), his savings and his college salary into the mill. He figures it's cost him $40,000 — including the purchase price.

Last year he reached a milestone in his fascinating hobby.

"It was July Fourth, of course. What better time to celebrate the occasion," said Chester. His ex-wife at his side, Chester cheered as the wheel began to turn for the first time since Millbrook ceased operation in 1941.

"I can't tell you how exciting the moment was for me. It was a dream come true."

What do the people of Millbrook think about his hobby?

"Oh, they're friendly enough. They come over now and then to watch and visit, but they're really not too excited about it. Most of them are over 70. Most of them (there are about 85 of them in all) were around when the mill was really humming, so the mill's old hat to them."

Lobby bill reshaped

By WARREN M. HOYT

Senate Committee has reworked the lobbyist regulation bill removing exclusions previously allowed under the original draft.

Members of the Municipalities and Elections Committee declared the best possible lobbyist regulation measure would require registration and reporting by any person having contact with the Legislature or other public officials.

Exemptions were viewed by members simply as loopholes.

Major groups now included in the bill are employees of public and private colleges and universities, employees of local units of government and school boards, employees of state executive departments and employees of the judicial branch of government.

Language was also removed which would have provided specific exemptions to persons representing churches and religious organizations and members of political party committees.

Registration and quarterly expenditure reporting remain as the primary purposes of the legislation to bring before the public eye lobbyists, their clients, how money is being spent and upon whom in influencing or attempting to influence matters before the Legislature or other public bodies.

The bill will now go to the Senate Judiciary Committee as it carries strict penalty clauses.

State police cruisers will remain on highways around Detroit and other Michigan cities as finishing touches

Instructor will retire to Millbrook

That's not the case for others, however. Tourists from nearly every state in the Union already have visited it; school children have toured it; and now and then one of Chester's friends from Schoolcraft pops in to take a look around.

Come next summer when he takes to operating the mill in earnest there's no telling what might happen, he said.

Waterwheel mills were a rarity even back when the state boasted 511 registered mills. "Today, there's only about 11 mills left, but I think the one at Argentine is the only other one besides mine using stones."

The old way of milling "doesn't come close to today's operations," he said. "Today they're grinding grain in five minutes that would have taken six months to grind with a pair of stones in mills like mine."

Despite the demand, even today, for stone ground flour, Chester insists he's "not going into this retirement to make money. I'll just show people around the place, conduct guided tours for classes of school children, and tinker around with engines and grandfather clocks (he's built a hobby workshop on the grounds)."

Chester will mill a little ordinary flour for demonstrations, but mostly he's got his mind and taste set on some buckwheat.

"Millbrook used to be quite famous for its buckwheat self-rising pancake flour. I've gotten the old Millbrook formula now and I'm anxious to grind up buckwheat and make a batch of those 'cakes.'"

Leonard Chester is the proud owner of a rejuvenated grist mill

Legislators reshape bill

were put on the budget for the Department of State Police for fiscal 1977-78.

It took more than three months, but a compromise was finally reached to put state police patrols on highways around major cities while providing funds for county sheriff departments for secondary road patrol

A final challenge over inclusion of inspection teams for double bottom tankers did not materialize in the Senate and the compromise was approved without as much as a hint of debate on the bill appropriating $96.8 million

A 50-cent per capita grant to county sheriff departments was added in the final conference committee rewrite compared to a flat appropriation of $1 million for Wayne County sheriffs

The $4.5 million local grant races a probable veto by Governor Milliken with legislative leaders labeling any veto on the grant a "legitimate difference of opinion" with no attempt to override mounted should a veto occur.

Following final approval of the budget, Milliken reaffirmed his opposition to the grant saying it does nothing to meet needs of individual counties and the budget allowance carries no attempt to provide efficient expenditure or demonstrate what impact the grants would have on public safety or public protection.

After months of negotiations and several rejected compromise versions, the state police budget will substantially end up as originally recommended by Milliken with cruisers evident on Wayne County highways as well as around other cities upon request

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"Playing it safe with energy-efficient outdoor night lighting is a bright thing to do."

Pick up a free folder on security lighting at any Detroit Edison customer office. Or, for more information, write: Customer Relations, Detroit Edison, 2000 Second, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Conserve for all it's worth. The power is in your hands.

Detroit Edison

It's smart to turn lights off when they don't serve a purpose. But it's a wise use of energy to keep lights on when they provide safety and protection

It's called security lighting

Now your home, neighborhood group, apartment or condominium can have the safety and protection of security lighting. And your lights can be automatically controlled to turn on only when it's dark so there's no waste of energy or dollars

Exterior security lighting also helps smart businessmen and owners of industrial buildings cut down losses from nighttime vandalism and break-ins. With the new high-efficiency light sources now available, operating costs are a lot less than you might think

Here are some tips to make your existing night lighting more effective and energy-efficient: take advantage of all nearby illumination, such as street lighting, and integrate it into your system, keep landscaping trim to create more light areas, remove outdoor storage containers that cast shadows, choose light exterior colors for your home or building to reflect light

The important thing is to have well-planned, properly-installed security lighting with automatic controls or timers to turn off lights when they aren't needed. You'll save energy and money

Electric post lanterns, low-level floodlights and high-mounted dual floodlights provide good illumination for front and back lawns and driveways. For larger areas, you can choose efficient, long-lasting, high-intensity lights

Detroit Edison will help you plan security lighting for your home or business that's energy-efficient and provides the most safety and protection for the least cost. Just call or stop in at any Detroit Edison customer office

As a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation, Detroit Edison is working hard to do its part. But it requires a working partnership between those who supply energy and those who use it. So, if you're planning on installing security lighting, make sure your system is energy-efficient. It's one of the ways you can help.

Pumpkin picking's a Halloween treat

Except for next Monday, on Halloween, a pumpkin is an orange-yellow fruit suitable for eating in pies and breads.

But for Allhallows Eve it becomes a glowing jack-o'-lantern with cut-out openings resembling human eyes and maybe a carrot nose.

Whether yours boasts a smiling, round glowing face or a menacing, devil-like one depends largely on the choice of the pumpkin.

Youngsters with dads and moms who may help with the carving, therefore, have been pumpkin-picking at the mounds of pumpkins at roadside stands. Others have tried a new idea — pick-your-own right off the vine in the pumpkin patch.

During the past week Brownies, Cubs and other scouts as well as kindergarten classes and family groups have been inspecting vines at such "patches" as that at the Meyer farm on Eight Mile.

"Some look for really misshapen ones," reports Peggy Meyer, who assists with the family enterprise. "Children like to choose their own," she observes. Since the farm specializes in strawberries, the family was especially delighted to find a strawberry-shaped version.

Whether your candlelit jack-o'-lantern glows with a wicked leer or a benevolent grin all depends on the pumpkin chosen for hollowing out.

Have fun!

In Our Town

'Northville - First 100 Years' now in paperback

By JEAN DAY

"Northville — the First 100 Years," the early history of our community written by Jack W. Hoffman, editor and assistant to the publisher of The Northville Record, is going into a second printing. It will be available in time for Christmas giving in both hard cover and paperback.

The 314-page book, first published in November, 1976, with 1,000 copies is completely sold out. Idea for the book came from Silver Springs Questers about three years ago. It was conceived as a Bicentennial project and included many photographs. Much material came from back issues of the 108-year old Northville Record and from interviews. More readable than the usual community history because it is divided into essays on events and people, the book is completely indexed.

From the beginning, it was a completely volunteer effort on Jack Hoffman's part. He received no remuneration except the great satisfaction a writer derives from being able to compile an emerging community's history. For the second edition also all profits will be donated to Northville Historical Society. Price of the hard cover book remains the same, $13. The soft-bound edition will be $9. There are 500 of each on order.

The book has been reviewed by the Michigan Historical Commission.

About November 15 the second editions will be available in the EtCetera Shop, Sunflower Shop, Black's Hardware, Plymouth Book World, and both the Northville Record office and printing plant. Many who have found bits of family history included in the well-researched book also have found the author willing to autograph it at The Record office.

Favorite cookbook's in fifth printing

Fifth shipment of the Northville Mothers' Club cookbook, "Favorite Recipes from Our Best Cooks," is expected daily, reports Diane Schrader. Previous printings totaling 1400 copies are completely sold out. Three hundred more were to be shipped October 17 and will be on sale for $3.50 at Schrader's Furniture.

"We've had so many calls and have mail orders from Detroit and western Michigan from women who have seen it," Mrs. Schrader mentions. Containing recipes of local cooks, the book has been popular for new ideas and as gifts.

The club's next-to-new sale Saturday under chairmanship of Bonnie Carter netted $300 for club projects.

Next benefit event will be the annual Christmas cocktail parties December 4 in members' homes. This year for the first time the life member party will be given by the newly organized Mothers' Club Life Members at the home of Glad Evans. Co-hostesses will be Margie Davis and Carol Forrer. Proceeds will be earmarked for scholarship.

Reading - for and about women

Good reading also was the indirect topic of Northville Woman's Club speaker, Dr. Margaret Allen, University of Michigan literature professor, last Friday. She presented a pleasant picture of women emerging in various roles in history.

She suggested starting with the "spiritual" woman, such as Mary, mother of Jesus, and continuing with the lovely, remote Emelye in Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" of about 1400. Next there was the lovable Rosalind of Shakespeare and the sophisticated but wise woman in "The Way of the World" in the 1700's.

In this book, said Dr. Allen, "the mirror is held up to society to say there must be a way to have worldly wisdom and use it for right purposes."

The speaker cited Elizabeth Bennett of Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice" as a perceptive young lady of the 1800's. For the image of a present-day involved woman she suggested "Realms of Gold," by Margaret Drabble, a Britisher.

Last Saturday the sun chased the rain well before the 1:30 p.m. wedding of Martha Elizabeth Gazlay and Dr. Michael Kenneth Conley in the Mill Race Historical Village.

The couple, who grew up in Northville, chose the old library in the Mill Race (which originally was a church) for the double-ring service they wrote themselves. Then they and the 110 guests walked to the Victorian Yerkes House for a champagne luncheon reception.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pershing Gazlay of 221 South Rogers. Her father has been one of the most active workers for the restored village.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Conley of 302 Orchard and of Kenneth Conley of Farmington Hills.

Orville T. Tungate of Plymouth, assistant Wayne county clerk, officiated. Harpiscord music was supplied by Roger Phillips, music director at Presbyterian Village.

Martha wore her mother's wedding gown, a traditional gown of ivory satin with hooped skirt and chapel train.

Her veil of French silk illusion was held in place by flowers matching her bouquet of orchids, ivy and stephanotis. Beverly Wistert was the bride's only attendant. In keeping with the village atmosphere she wore a burgundy taffeta gown with ruffled hemline and plaid shawl. She carried matching pink and deep red strawflowers and baby's breath and wore a cluster in her hair.

Mark Gazlay was best man with Christopher Gazlay and Paul C. Lundstedt of Danville, California, ushering.

Guests who were seated at small tables on both floors of the Yerkes House included out-of-towners from New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Arizona.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Jay S. PeHitt, came from Benzonia, Michigan. The bridegroom's sister, Dr. Susan B. Conley, was here from St. Louis, Missouri, and the bride's sister, Julie Lundstedt, her husband and two daughters came from Danville, California.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Northville High while her husband is a 1968 graduate. She was graduated from College of Wooster in 1975 and has been substitute teaching in Indianapolis.

Dr. Conley is a 1976 graduate of University of Michigan Medical School and in his first year of residency in obstetrics and gynecology at Indiana University medical center in Indianapolis.

The couple now is on a wedding trip to Montreal.

Gail Darnell speaks vows in chapel ceremony

Gail Ann Darnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester J. Darnell of Northville became the bride of Dennis Wayne Brown in a double-ring ceremony September 30 at St. Paul of the Cross Monastery Chapel in Detroit.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnett Brown of Fayetteville, North Carolina.

A dinner reception with dancing to the Johnny Sadrack orchestra was held immediately following the ceremony at The Chambertin in Dearborn.

The bride wore a Priscilla of Boston gown of ivory satin with lace adorning the high-neckline bodice and long sleeves. Her matching ivory lace and illusion mantilla was full-length.

Beverly Darnell was matron of honor for her sister-in-law. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Teri McLamb; a cousin of the bride, Lendy Mohare-moff; and another, cousin, Linda Lietz. All wore rose satin gowns made by the bride's mother.

Best man was David Wyner of South-boro, Massachusetts. Ushering were Bob Darnell, cousin of the bride; Mark McLamb, of Fayetteville, North Carolina, brother-in-law of the bride-groom, and Dan Darnell, brother of the bride.

Jason Darnell was ring bearer for his aunt.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Her husband is a graduate of University of North Carolina.

Both are employed by the State of Massachusetts. He is superintendent of Bay State Correction Center while his wife is an assistant administrator for the Department of Corrections.

After a wedding trip to Montreal, the newlyweds are making their home in Newton, Massachusetts, near Boston.

Northville PTA News

Teacher gives art from Poland

EDITOR'S NOTE: This Northville PTA column is compiled by volunteer-parent Marge Ercoli. It appears on the last Wednesday of the month during the school year.

MORaine

Phil Demski, a third grade teacher at Moraine, visited Poland last summer and has been sharing his experiences and acquisitions with Moraine students. He brought back examples of Polish art and donated the new works to the school's art project. Mothers Carol Richardson and Janet Campbell originated the art appreciation program for Moraine. Donna Pacheco is current chairman.

The PTA mothers are giving a series of lectures on art to all classes, grades 1 through 6, using prints for visual emphasis.

Approximately 175 parents enjoyed cider and donuts and meeting the staff at an open house September 29.

October marks the beginning of two yearly projects at Moraine. The PTA is serving hot dogs on each Wednesday, except the last one of the month when sloppy joes will be offered. Cost is 30 cents a single serving or 50 cents for a double.

The call-in program which utilizes a volunteer mother to check any unexplained absences has begun. Mothers come to the school to check and call homes.

The PTA also is in the process of establishing a Helping Hands program in the Moraine area. School picture day was October 5 with a room mother tea held October 12.

AMERMAN

There will be two separate assemblies this week at Amerman, one each for the lower and upper elementary children on playground safety. Rules, positively stated will be stressed for physical safety also emphasizing language and polite behavior. The children will be invited to participate in a poster contest with entries relating to the playground rules mentioned.

The school newsletter, the Amagram, will feature a new column in the future honoring a particular "very important person." Each month a teacher, parent or child who has made a notable contribution will be honored this way.

Girl Scout Troop No. 367 will be busily planting tulip, crocus and daffodil bulbs this week. The bulbs have been donated by the PTA.

Amerman hosted its second annual pancake supper in the lavishly decorated gymnasium October 12. The supper was a great success, with 692 dinners served.

There was also a very large poster hanging for the children to color with crayons after their dinner. Ronald Van Horn, PTA teacher vice-president, had

WINCHESTER

Pat Yargus and Liz Grow, craft sale chairmen, are busy these days working with their many helpers preparing craft items for sale during the evening of the pancake supper, November 10 from 5 to 8 p.m. An interesting array of items will be available in various price ranges for the young and the older shopper.

Also available the same evening will be books from the Book Fair. Co-chairmen Mary Ann Guertin and Karen Hill feel there are many interesting titles that are sure to please any child.

More than 100 mothers volunteered to assist in the PTA Mother Helper lunchroom program beginning October 17. Mina Bhavsan, Ann Henningsen, Doris Cross and Barbara Peters organized and set up a schedule providing four mothers a day to assist the two employed lunchroom workers. Two workshops were held to familiarize each mother with the general procedure, regulations and duties of the aides.

Winchester school's evening PTA meeting was held October 20 with moms and dads asked to wear comfortable clothing to allow participation in activities that their children learn in the special classes. The "Back-To-School" evening was provided by the art, music and phys-ed departments.

Nearly 400 parents attended Winchester's Open House September 29. The large gathering thoroughly enjoyed a novel introduction to the teachers and staff of Winchester school. Milton Jacobi, principal, used slides to present the faculty, staff, and this year's wide-eyed kindergarten class.

SILVER SPRINGS

Strange sights were seen around the halls of Silver Springs during the week of 17-21st of October. One teacher or a pogo stick, another on stilts — zoom goes one on a skate board, even a couple on stretchers! What was happening at S.S.? The teachers were drawing attention to the First annual Silver Springs Fun Run October 22.

It all started last summer when the teachers heart Dr. Joseph Arends, a heart disease specialist, give an in-service talk session at school. He explained how health and fitness with exercise make an important combination. The teachers were really fired up, and thus, the idea of the Fun Run came to be.

An invitation went out to all students, parents and local residents to join in a day of fitness for all. Walk-run or do a combination stride, but do the two mile course around the streets of Highland Lakes for your own health. The children were really prepared. They have been logging miles for the past month in their movement education class, in preparation for the big day.

Annual open house-pot luck suppers were a big success again this year.

The PTA and school wish, to thank Mrs. Nancy Terwin our chairperson and hostess, for making all four nights so successful. We want to thank also, those board administrators who attended each evening.

A trophy and a cash prize went to the fifth-sixth grade class of Ray Balutowicz for winning the PTA membership contest. Janice Henderson's third-fourth grade class came in second, and Chris Modrack's K-first-second grade took third place.

Our Christmas bazaar chairperson, Mary Alice Lazar, reports the bazaar should be even bigger this year. Craft vendors are already making reservations for table space and moms are busy working on the Santa shop and the PTA Country Store. The date of the bazaar is December 8.

Everyone is invited tomorrow night to the S.S. pancake supper. It will be from 6 to 8 p.m. in the school gym. Along with the supper will be a new feature, a bring-and-buy sale table.

Home Decorating with Howard & Lois Green

If you have an old steamer trunk in the attic, or find one while sleuthing around the flea markets, drag it out in the open. It makes an ideal bar or storage place for your favorite hobby and doubles as a good looking piece of furniture. Find one that sits on end about 4x2x2 with brass fittings. If it opens down the middle, you've got the genuine thing. Swing the two halves apart; one half will have a chest of drawers - the other, a closet with a top that flips back. Paint it white enamel with a colored trim to match the inside fabric. Depending on the inside fittings and your imagination, you can adapt your trunk to a useful and attractive place in your home.

We have many ideas to brighten up your home, here at GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110. New Northville librarian on the job

'A library should be nice, homey place'

Visitors to the Northville Public Library on the lower level of Northville Square this past week have been welcomed by a smiling Pat Thomas, who began her duties as head librarian here October 17.

She's replacing Elizabeth Levin who left because she's expecting a child.

Mrs. Thomas comes to Northville from Dearborn Heights library where she has been librarian for two years. She points out that she's familiar with the Northville area as she was assistant librarian in the Plymouth library for two and a half years previously.

Her appointment was approved by the Northville Library Commission earlier in the month. Mrs. Thomas also has been meeting members of the Friends of Northville Library and says her transfer by the Wayne County Federated Library already is "exciting."

She feels there's community input in the library and, looking around last week, was delighted to see an exhibition of photography by local residents.

Arranged by aide Anne Vargo, the exhibit features work of Keith Mannisto, Sherrill Cannon and David Albright.

"A library should be a nice, homey place," Mrs. Thomas believes, noting that exhibits like the current one and reading corners help make one so.

Mrs. Thomas obtained her BA degree from Wayne State University and her master's in library science from University of Michigan in 1972. She lives in Ann Arbor where her husband is employed with South East Michigan Technology Assistance Program (SEMTAP).

Transfers such as hers by the Wayne County Federated Library, she feels, are good for both the librarian and the libraries involved.

She's aware that the library situation in Northville, with one library serving and being supported by both the township and city, currently has changes being discussed. The township is planning a library building on property by the township hall under construction on Six Mile.

Mrs. Thomas stresses that she is "here to manage the library" and hopes to stay out of the city-township discussion.

Decisions about the library are community ones, she notes, hoping only that they will be in the best interest of readers.

She would like to see more books in the library than the 26,000 presently listed.

"This is a sophisticated, well-educated community of readers who are interested in best sellers, craft and antique books," Mrs. Thomas says she's already aware, expressing the hope that more books can be acquired.

"A library has to be more than just a place where books are," she continues, telling how her first visitors Monday were asking for the Sunday edition of the New York Times and the Wall Street Journal.

She requested time to hurry across to the post office to get the mail and the wanted newspapers, which have regular readers.

Other services offered by the library, she points out, include a 10-cent copying service.

"We can order books from anywhere in the system," Mrs. Thomas explains, "but sometimes it takes two weeks to a month to get them, especially if it happens to be a popular book."

With the Northville library aides, Jane Hannert, Kathleen Sprenger and Miss Vargo, Mrs. Thomas will continue the same hours of noon to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, noon to 5 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Good service, she emphasizes, is the primary aim of a library and she's already confident the seasoned aides "can find anything."

The number of volumes in the Northville library is about the same as the Dearborn Heights collection of 28,000, Mrs. Thomas detailed, when asked to compare the two libraries.

"But the Dearborn Heights collection was of newer books and that makes a difference as books most people are interested in are less than five years old."

She would like to see newer books here.

As she spoke she held a "fun reading" book that she offered as an example. It was the "Book of Lists," an almanac-like collection of trivia.

If you'd like to know the most common problems asked of Ann Landers, that's the book to consult.

Pat Thomas gives a visitor to the library the feeling that she has lots of similar helpful suggestions that she wants to offer with a warm smile and greeting.

'Make Halloween a safe time' - police

Monday night will not be an evening for the Nervous Nellies.

What with such new creations as Darth Vader and Spiderman haunting the streets, even the traditional scary creatures such as goblins, ghosts and witches will have to watch their steps.

And well they should, say local police authorities. And the same goes for the Cinderellas, fairy princesses and other gentler Halloween characters.

"Every year we hear of children, anxious and carefree on Halloween night, injured either by traffic accidents or by foreign objects that were placed within Halloween treats," says Patrolman Gerald Ryan, youth officer for the Northville City Police Department.

He reminds parents that their children are not immune from similar dangers and urges them to follow a number of simple tips.

Basically, it comes down to common sense. Don't go so overboard on an ingenious costume that you hamper your child's vision and movement, for instance.

Limit trick-or-treating to familiar neighborhoods and between 6 and 8 p.m.

And, although confirmed instances have been rare in this area, inspect your child's candy before allowing him or her to enjoy the feast.

For those who are worried about pins, razor blades and the like, a metal detector will be available at the Northville Township Police Department from noon until 6 p.m. on Tuesday, the day after Halloween.

It has been donated by William Gaul, a volunteer fireman who lives in Highland Lakes.

Township Police Chief Ronald Nisun says he has no reason to suspect any foul play this year, but officials note that there is nothing wrong with an ounce of prevention.

Some Halloween donors are so concerned about reported incidents with Halloween food that they have switched to non-edible handouts—such as inexpensive gift certificates.

Here are some Halloween safety tips:

—Wear brightly colored costumes that are readily seen by motorists.

—Wear costumes that do not block vision.

—Children should be escorted by adults.

—All traffic laws should be obeyed and children should be reminded to look both ways before crossing streets.

—Limit trick or treating to homes of friends and neighbors.

—Record suspicious circumstances.

—Inspect children's treats.

—If anything seems wrong, the police should be called immediately.

Dialing down?

I practice what I preach.

The people at Consumers Power have been telling you about how to save money by dialing down. Well, don't get the idea that we don't take our own good advice. We do. I know that for sure because I'm a maintenance man in one of Consumers Power's buildings. And part of my job every day is making sure the Consumers Power thermostats are dialed down. I keep them down during the day, and turn them back even more before we leave for home, and over weekends and holidays.

Dialing down saves us energy and money, and when we save, you save. But the way to save the most money is to dial down in your own home. I do — for the same reason that you should. I pay the same price for my energy as you do.

4-H exhibit

Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith learns about county-sponsored 4-H activities in Western Wayne County from Janice Hamlin of Northville (left) and Peggy McMullen (center) of Plymouth. Peggy is president of a dog-training club that serves Plymouth, Livonia, Northville and Canton Township. The young women participated in a downtown Detroit 4-H exhibit at the City-County Building and toured the building with Commissioner Smith.

City planners eye parking requirements

Four of the five items brought before the Northville City planners at their October 18 meeting involved parking. Request of the Open Door Christian Church for site plan and change of use approval, which had been on a previous agenda, was considered again as Dan Beedler and Earl Carpenter, representing the church, explained that approval was sought as the church is making an offer to purchase the former Drawbridge restaurant.

Located at Center and Dunlap, the restaurant is the old Methodist church. It had been sold for use as a restaurant when the new Methodist Church was built on Eight Mile.

By split vote the commission told the Open Door representatives that use change would be approved providing parking requirements of 55 spaces could be met. John Genitti and Charles Freydl voted against approving the church request.

Concern had been expressed that bumper-to-bumper parking in the front could be a problem, with Chairman Burton DeRusha suggesting that, should the purchase go through, the church keep the present 18 front spaces that now have free access and seek a variance from the zoning board of appeals for the 14 it would be short. The facility now has 23 rear spaces.

A public hearing was set for November 15 on request of the Northville Post 4012, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to rezone lots 124 and 125 behind its building on South Main from R2-residential to General Commercial Development (GCD) to permit additional parking at the building.

Initially, the request was made informally for the commission to consider rezoning the general Bealtown area to commercial from residential.

DeRusha and James Cutler warned that such zoning would make it almost impossible for a home owner to sell his home as it would be difficult to obtain a new mortgage with the proposed classification. Master plan use for the area is designated as racetrack related.

The commission approved the site plan of Keim Realty as presented by James Bress with approach to be installed on Center on a temporary basis with permanent installation to be done at the time of the planned Randolph drain installation with widening of Center.

Requirement was made that funds be placed in escrow for this or a commitment obtained in writing from Wayne County. Approval permits relocation of parking for the firm. In the vote Cutler abstained and Donald Fee and C. Thomas Wheaton voted against approval.

It passed with DeRusha, Lesa Buckland, Genitti and Fredyl voting yes.

Wheaton had expressed concern in voting for a plan for permanent parking for a development not yet revealed. Bress said he will seek a tenant for the building renovation planned but at this time does not have one. He told the commission that the city will receive the right of way needed for the widening of Center.

Unanimous approval was given to the site plan for Ware's Square as modified to show all parking spaces. The action included sign approval. Approval was sought by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ware who told the commission that they have obtained a verbal okay from Arbor Drug Company for access from its parking lot to the area.

Mrs. Ware stated they have two tenants now for the cluster of shops, including a needlework shop and an antique shop.

Added to the agenda was an appeal from Richard Gunlach who previously had appeared before the commission seeking a way to develop about six acres at Dubuar and West Rogers, which, he stated, he has an option on.

Gunlach has been seeking a variance for a "pinch" area at the top of Rogers where there is insufficient width for a street extension.

DeRusha suggested he seek the variance in writing with the city attorney to be consulted to see to what extent it might be permitted. Gunlach said property owners on the other side of Dubuar had been approached and were "not interested in selling" any footage for the right of way at any price.

Retiring Presbyterian music director, Bill Williams, and his wife, Claire

William G. Williams

Music director calls it quits

For 52 years William G. Williams has been directing choirs. He has been music director at First Presbyterian Church of Northville for 34 years.

As he retires, he points out that his long career began very early. By the time he was 12 years old he was directing a 60-voice children's choir in Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Music has been a second career for him and one which he has shared with his wife, Claire. For 13 years Mrs. Williams was the Presbyterian church organist, playing at both services for many years before being joined by Jeanne Lantry, as associate organist.

A dinner reception is being planned to honor Mr. and Mrs. Williams at the church November 6. It will be preceded with a punch and hors d'oeuvres reception at 4:30 p.m. A catered dinner will be at 5:30 p.m. in the church fellowship hall.

Chairman Ruth Hendricksen is planning a memory guest book for the couple. The dinner is by reservation only, she stresses, with church members and friends asked to call the church office, 349-0911, by October 30. Former church members, neighbors, business associates and friends are invited to attend.

Williams, who retired from his work at Davis Tool Company four years ago with 41 years of service, recently has been working with his brother at his Sunoco station. He plans to continue until the end of the year.

Then the couple anticipates winter visits to Florida and California to see family.

Williams says that his early start in music that includes the bell-ringer choir as well as the chancel choir at the church began because of "parental direction."

His father was a composer of religious music and director of a German Lutheran Church choir as well as of the community chorus. His mother was a singer.

The family moved to Detroit when Williams was 16.

For many years Williams was associate director of the Christian Endeavor Choir in Detroit. It is an interdenominational choir composed of singers from churches throughout the Detroit area.

In this choir Williams met his wife, the former Claire Chenoweth. They recall that the choir was the center for many romantic matches with about 30 marriages resulting.

For 10 years Williams was a member of the King Cyrus Male Choir at the Detroit Masonic Temple. He also sang with a Welch Male Quartet and on radio.

His first experience in radio, Williams recalls, was in Flat Rock with the Michigan Memorial Cemetery-sponsored program of religious music on WJR on Sunday mornings. Margaret Vernor, he remembers, played the organ.

Then for five years Williams was on the Little Church of the Air on WWJ directed by Nellie Ebersole, who was well-known in music circles. Ollie Fersch was at the organ at the time.

Williams first came to Northville at the invitation of his employer to "help out" the Presbyterian choir.

He and his wife commuted to Northville for rehearsals and services for seven years before moving here in 1950. "The first Sunday Bill directed the choir is one we'll always remember," says Claire Williams, "for it was the February Sunday in 1943 that our daughter Janice was born."

Janice, now Mrs. Richard King, and her family, including three-year-old Jimmy, will be here from Saginaw for the dinner honoring her parents.

Her brother, Tucker, his wife and son, Steven, 3, had planned to come from their home in Los Altos, California for Thanksgiving. Mrs. Williams isn't certain if they will be able to come earlier.

Their third child, daughter Donna, Mrs. Richard Houghton, lives in Miami, Florida. She has three children, Michael, 10, Lori, 7, and Mark, 4.

It's the desire to see more of their children and five grandchildren that helped make the active couple decide to retire.

Dr. Wilcox stars on TV

Dr. Timothy Wilcox of Northville was one of a TV panel of three veterinary doctors answering viewer's questions on animal pet care as the "All About Animals" TV program begins its second year on the air next week.

The program, produced by Channel 56 in cooperation with the Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medical Association also included veterinary panelists, Dr. Robert I. Wilson of Sarnia and Dr. Richard W. Huff of Southfield.

"How to choose the right puppy" was a special topic of interest on the show

"FAR GREATER RICHES"
"... Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: ..." (Acts 3:6)

Without question the apostles were deficient in earthly goods. Often times this is true with the Lord's people today. Let us be mindful that it is not so much what we possess in material things that matters. But what we possess in spiritual graces and power that really counts. And the most important possession of all is the knowledge of Jesus Christ living in your heart.

Television plays role in seminary workshop

Television played an important role in a recent workshop at St. John's Provincial Seminary as 18 Detroit-area priests gathered to study means of improving their style and presence in celebrating the Eucharist.

The four-day workshop is part of a pilot program at the seminary and utilized the school's video-taping equipment to allow the participants to actually see themselves in action in the liturgy.

In addition to the actual practice and evaluation sessions, the workshop included theoretical and instructional presentations by a liturgy team that included Frs. Ken Untener (St. John's rector), James Chalcin, (St. John's professor of liturgy), and Jack Fabian and Don Hanchon (priests from the Archdiocese who studied liturgy at Notre Dame) and Sr. Janie Fulgenzi, psychologist and part-time faculty member at St. John's.

Participants in the workshop included Bishop Walter J. Schoenherr and Frs. Walter Bracken, Gerard Brennan, John Canavan, Richard Dorr, Jose Furman, Robert Haener, Bart Ferraro, Herman Kucyk, Glen Lewandowski, OSC, James Machak, John O'Neill, John Rakoczy, Adolph Redwick, Joseph Site, Ray Skoney, Syl Taube and Alex Wytrowski.

The workshop was held September 25-29 at St. John's, which is a four-year theologate training men for service as diocesan priests in Michigan and preparing men and women to serve in various ministries throughout the state.

The seminary is located at Sheldon and Five Mile roads.

Ski lodges see big year ahead

Southeast Michigan was the snow capital of Michigan last winter. The region's ski operators are hoping it will happen again. "We've gone all-out to make sure that we are ready," said Gene Hill, partner in Mt. Brighton, and promotion director for the resort. "But even if Mother Nature does not cooperate the way she did last season, we are still ready." Last year, Mt. Brighton was the first ski area to open in the entire state. Other area operators agree. Joe Kosik, speaking for Alpine Valley, and Grant Hanks, for Mt. Holly, say that they have been working hard to insure that their areas are in tip-top shape well ahead of the snowy season. Mt. Brighton has added a new ski shop, double chairlift on the back slope, a new 1400 foot run and 500 additional rental skis, increasing rental equipment to 2,000.

Meet your Northville City Council candidates

For Mayor

2-Year Term

PAUL FOLINO

Aft. 48 resident 48 years married wife Maria daughters Teresa Paula age 11 and 10 years old. Northville is a beautiful town. I have been a resident of Northville for 16 years. I am a member of the Northville High School Life. I am a member of the Training Council (member of Commerce, member of Education, member of Recreation Commission Our Lady of Victory Church Knights of Columbus (Grand Knight) Parents Council EMU.

1 Yes I plan to seek the help of a major university research department to obtain unbiased opinions regarding the competitive pricing of commodities and cost per square foot of floor space within our city to be compared with out of city businesses.

This information should be of great assistance to the Downtown Business Development Committee of which I voted in favor of the form and which led to adoption by ordinance of the City Council. The Northville City Economic Development Corporation.

2 I am a resident who conducted a survey not including these items. It is important that we work with the PRITVTF. We have to get a large People's vector tower to occupy the center floor floor. It possible I will continue to work for this goal.

3 It has been suggested by the committee, to pursue the availability of the Winners Circle and Northville Lanes for future development if needed.

2 It appears that the township is arranging the splitting of services as they already have with the Fire Department.

I would attempt if I have done in the past to maintain our joint city township relationship and library services. This joint relationship would be beneficial to both city and township not only in the cost savings but also enable us to maintain the superior programs and services we now enjoy.

3 Yes Continue with appointed committees and commissions have open meetings where citizens feel comfortable to participate in which will stimulate interest in the community.

Try to encourage citizens to attend and participate in Council Library.

Make it possible for citizens to be able to stop in City Hall and voice their opinions problems or even a few kind words in a friendly and welcome atmosphere.

Plan to have office hours each week so that this may be accomplished.

PAUL VERNON

Married wife 18 years daughter Carmen World War II. 10 years with American Motors 8 years National Account Manager for Testproducers Division Allen Group (industry) 10 years National Account Manager for Division of Downtown Business Development Committee Northville Historical District Committee Northville Beautification Commission president of Northville Rotary Club and Northville Civic Association (past vice-chairman of Northville ZBA).

1 At the June 28 1977 City Council meeting I introduced a resolution to establish a Downtown Business Development and Expansion Committee that was unanimously adopted by Council. I was appointed by the Mayor to serve on the committee. Stanley Johnston and three downtown businessmen were also appointed. At the first meeting those businessmen were present and two important actions have already been undertaken.

A survey of the Northville community including both residents and downtown merchants is being conducted by a professional market survey firm to provide the community with an understanding of the needs before making recommendations for improvement.

The committee recommended City Council establish a City of Northville Economic Development Corporation under a Public Act that gives authority to the Mayor to acquire and develop property for business development projects and assist development in the downtown area. Council unanimously adopted the proposal and established the EDC by ordinance. The Board of Directors will consist of nine members representing various areas of the business community. A nine member Citizens Advisory Council is required by ordinance. Both citizens and businessmen will be represented on that Advisory Council. This will ensure that all business activities and development activities are determined by a working group consisting of a relatively small committee.

Joint services cost less and provide greater benefits for all participants. Northville residents of the township realize the costs of the services will be shared by all citizens and the same will be true for the township.

It is our goal to provide services to the township of Northville and to the township of Northville.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are biographical data and answers to questions written by Northville mayor and council candidates compiled by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi. Candidates were asked to limit their biographies to 50 words. Their answers to three questions to a combined total of 300 words. Where replies exceeded these numbers, the League edited them to meet the maximum permitted.

The questions asked of the candidates were:
1 Do you have any plans to revitalize Northville Square and keep a viable Central Business District?
2 What do you see as the future of the remaining joint city township services especially library and recreation department?
3 Do you favor greater participation by citizens in government? If so how?

3 Yes All Council meetings take place with attendance and serve on the EDC Board of Directors or Citizens Advisory Council.

LOUISE CUTLER

Born New Providence Iowa education William Penn College 4th leader library assistant Ohio Safety Council co-chairman. Stop the Prison (don't drive deacon Presbyterian Church president BPA secretary District BPA volunteer Northville probation officer 11 years real estate 6 years board of directors Multi List and Realtor Board (2 years treasurer).

1 Northville Square is privately owned and mortgaged by an out of state bank. Most mall merchants have prearranged to pay the rental fee for store space was higher than in sales and traffic potential could merit and tenants may not have realized the potential of the square. I feel the approved sign to be erected on South Center Street will direct potential customers into the square.

I hope to work toward a utilization of the building in the best interest to the city and township. The primary success should be desirable to the city but not to the point of shouldering the financial responsibilities of the venture.

2 I plan to extend a cooperative attitude to the township and keep an open mind on all issues. I am a member of the public and school libraries I am aware of the needs and costs to a community for an adequate well equipped resource facility.

3 I plan to work with the township to act in harmony wherever possible with the realization that savings for taxpayers are of primary consideration regardless of whether taxpayer lives or pays his taxes. City township boundaries should be considered in the future. I am a member of the township and school libraries I am aware of the needs and costs to a community for an adequate well equipped resource facility.

3 I favor greater citizen participation in government. It is only by being involved that we can help those around us and also make our lives more meaningful and fruitful. How can we be more involved? Offer our talents. Our beautification of our city is one classic example. Reinforce your connections by joining one of our civic or service groups.

The ideal city is where everyone participates and shares in the progress of the community.

J BURTON DEKUSH

Resident of Northville since 1966 occupation Sales and Service Manager for Barcol Overdoors Detroit married 26 years to Bobbie DeKush 3 children Planning Commission 7 years chairman 4 years tax review board 9 years chairman 7 years member of First Baptist Church of Northville.

1 One of the most important factors in the success of businesses is accessibility. One of the largest areas of the city is the downtown area. I would like to see a direct route from the west of Highland Lakes to Gerald and Walker streets developed. This would require the cooperation of the City the Township and the developer perhaps but this route should be explored.

The City Council recently appointed a special Economic Development Corporation to seek ways to strengthen the downtown area. I hope they will consider this suggestion. The citizens of Northville also have a responsibility. It is this we should consider as the deterioration of Northville in our own self interest.

We hope that people from surrounding communities will be attracted to Northville. This will require the cooperation of the City the Township and the developer perhaps but this route should be explored.

2 It is my goal to see that the library and Recreation department maintain the quality of the service. I am a member of the library and Recreation department. I am a member of the library and Recreation department. I am a member of the library and Recreation department.

services. It should be a cause of concern to both the Township and City segments of our community.

3 Yes No government is any better than the citizens that comprise it. During my seven years of service on the Planning Commission and nine years on the Tax Review Board I have found that citizens are only concerned with the function of government when they feel threatened by a proposed action. Therefore I humbly propose that a different MESSAGE DIRECT THREAT be published monthly.

DEWEY GARDNER

Born and raised in the City of Northville Eastern Michigan University and University of Alaska. President and manager of Four Seasons Flowers Inc. treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce secretary of the Downtown Business Development and Expansion ad hoc committee on the Northville Historical District Commission.

1 Yes I do I have been a businessman in downtown Northville for the past fifteen years and naturally I am concerned in keeping a healthy Central Business District. This past spring a few businessmen including myself were concerned enough for the future of our business community that we asked the City Council to appoint a committee for the development and expansion of the business district.

The City Council, realizing the value of our request, appointed a committee called the Downtown Business Development and Expansion ad hoc Committee. I was appointed to this committee. Our first objectives was to seek means of revitalizing the Northville Square. We do have all the answers but as we have plans to develop the square we are confident the Northville Square will be a promising site for business. But wherever plans to develop the square we are confident the Northville Square will be a promising site for business. But wherever plans to develop the square we are confident the Northville Square will be a promising site for business.

2 If past action is any indication I do not see any future for joint city township services. The library and recreation departments I definitely support joint services as long as they are adequate and equitable to both city and township. It appears to me that the township elected officials prefer having their own services and identity.

3 I do favor greater participation by citizens in government. I believe the city councilmen and mayor are elected by citizens to be their voice in government. However the citizens' voice must be heard. This can be done by attending regular council meetings and by personally contacting council members. I am a member of the township elected officials prefer having their own services and identity.

JOHN MICHAEL STILSON

Married three daughters age 34 Ford Management Engineer seven years with Ford University of Michigan master of science engineering graduate Chrysler Institute of Engineering continuing education in M. engineering management vice president Northville Jaycees Walk for Mankind director July 4th parade chairman of the streets developed. This would require the cooperation of the City the Township and the developer perhaps but this route should be explored.

1 No As a Councilman I cannot and would not use public tax funds and time to get involved with solving the Northville Square economic problem. I believe in a free enterprise economy with government intervention only as a last resort to protect the public interest. At this point I do not see the square as the deterioration of a viable CBD. I think the Chamber of Commerce Economic Development Corporation and private business should act responsibly to encourage investors to develop the square into a draw business a health clinic or an office complex as appealing alternatives.

2 The Township voted to develop as a self sufficient community. Separate library and recreational services will mean that our city and its taxpayers will adjust to a free enterprise economy and a constitutional situation. The main consideration is to avert any millage increase in conducting operation of a city library and recreational service. I think there are good alternatives for a City located library e.g. relocation to City Hall upon completion of the Allen Turbine.

The City contributes about 48 percent of the joint recreational department funding. Again in my opinion alternatives exist for adequate recreational services.

3 Yes The primary obstacle is the lack of public confidence in their elected officials and the government process. Citizens sometimes view public officials as selfish. Openness in communication and letting the people know I value their opinion are part of my personal credibility and character. I am a member of the City Council. I am a member of the City Council. I am a member of the City Council.

1 As President Northville Square Merchants Association I became acutely aware of things needed to revitalize this facility.

Encourage Local Ownership. Perhaps allow tenants to purchase and own the square footage of area they operate and pay percentage of common area cost. Result - Condominium mall owned by local business people.

Convert Main Street part of Northville Square to 20-40 storefronts with openings onto street like rest of business on Main.

Attempt to remove 14 front of the Winner a Circle Bar so it no longer protrudes onto Main No 1 and No 2 streets in downtown Northville extending from Wing to Hutton both visually and physically.

1 A Hiring of full time Chamber Manager.
2 First International Ethnic Festival.
3 Radio advertising for Downtown Northville.
4 Aggressive program to fill up the Square with tenants.
5 Lower minimum rents against a percentage of gross sales to encourage possible tenants.
6 Seek major tenant for one level.
7 In the interest of Downtown Northville our company who it is a business with paid director.
8 Take politics out of recreation.
9 Put recreation under school district which encompasses City Township and earmark millage for funding.
10 Form non profit private corporation with paid director.
11 Increase the already excellent volunteer coaching program.
12 Work together as a community to provide the best one or two library facilities that our taxes will allow. Possibly a fund-raiser with proceeds for books.

W WALLACE NICHOLS

High School Jackson, Michigan. City College World War II veteran. CBI Theater resident Northville with wife Katherine, since 1960 daughter, Elizabeth. Has served city since 1960 - member of Zoning Board of Appeals 1965 years Planning Commission 54 years and City Councilman 10 years.

1 From a practical standpoint, no single councilman can revitalize the Square or the CBD. Such progress is actually the province of the merchant community. The council as a whole and a progressive program through areas within its control - parking traffic patterns and ordinances. Hopefully the new Council in concert with the newly created Economic Development Corporation, can provide the impetus for vigorous growth in Northville's downtown. My role in this effort will be to work with health care providers and hospital administrators to reach a compromise on the most efficient and effective way to eliminate our already substantial surplus of beds in Michigan hospitals.

Geake who is a member of the State Department of Health Services and Retirement pointed out that it is projected by the State Department of Management and Budget that by 1982 there will be approximately 7,000 excess hospital beds in our state. A total of more than 40,000.

We need to take action to eliminate these excess beds for two important reasons he explained. First it is costly to staff and maintain these beds. Second, empty for a substantial period of time and accordingly become an excess of beds has been shown to be associated with excess utilization of hospital facilities and high health care costs.

The bill which we will be studying contains a specific plan for identifying overbeds areas in the state and for eliminating the surplus within 10 years but not excessive health facilities are available to the citizens of our state.

It is in the interests of all the citizens of our state that every possible effort be made to contain health care costs. Geake said I am pleased to have been asked to participate in this study. An hopeful that we will be able to cope up with a final version of the bill which is acceptable to the Legislature, health care professionals and our state residents.

Great is also participating in project involving the study of medical and health care cost containment. The study is expected to be completed and presented to the legislature late in spring.

City voices 'disposal' interest

A resolution expressing the city's interest in possible development of a solid waste disposal facility located in Oakland County communities has been adopted by the Northville City Council.

Although only part of the city is included in the Oakland County city officials have been involved in the entire disposal city could benefit from a will as it has always been for progress and growth.

2 Two massive efforts have been made to bring together the two governmental units of the Northville Community and most of us worked hard as individuals to bring it about. The movements are regrettably defeated. Now there is an element in the township that seems bent on complete separation of all joint city township services. We must assure that those so dedicated have a democratic right of self-determination, and I do not intend to argue against it. As I have recently I will work for as efficient as possible a separation of remaining services as possible as quickly as feasible. The quicker this wearisome question of separation is accomplished the quicker Council can address itself to local problems that need attention. The matter specifically of recreation facilities that this program is expected to feel the pain of the separation of the township and the city. I will explore avenues in this direction.

3 While I favor citizen participation in government, frankly, I do not have simple or good answer to the problem. Certainly we cannot create any new boards or commissions. Such action would result in bureaucracy and have enough of that elsewhere without infecting Northville with it. Appropriate terms of tenure might be shortened so that those dedicated have a democratic right of self-determination, and I do not intend to argue against it. As I have recently I will work for as efficient as possible a separation of remaining services as possible as quickly as feasible. 1 From a practical standpoint, no single councilman can revitalize the Square or the CBD. Such progress is actually the province of the merchant community. The council as a whole and a progressive program through areas within its control - parking traffic patterns and ordinances. Hopefully the new Council in concert with the newly created Economic Development Corporation, can provide the impetus for vigorous growth in Northville's downtown. My role in this effort will be to work with health care providers and hospital administrators to reach a compromise on the most efficient and effective way to eliminate our already substantial surplus of beds in Michigan hospitals.

Geake who is a member of the State Department of Health Services and Retirement pointed out that it is projected by the State Department of Management and Budget that by 1982 there will be approximately 7,000 excess hospital beds in our state. A total of more than 40,000.

We need to take action to eliminate these excess beds for two important reasons he explained. First it is costly to staff and maintain these beds. Second, empty for a substantial period of time and accordingly become an excess of beds has been shown to be associated with excess utilization of hospital facilities and high health care costs.

The bill which we will be studying contains a specific plan for identifying overbeds areas in the state and for eliminating the surplus within 10 years but not excessive health facilities are available to the citizens of our state.

It is in the interests of all the citizens of our state that every possible effort be made to contain health care costs. Geake said I am pleased to have been asked to participate in this study. An hopeful that we will be able to cope up with a final version of the bill which is acceptable to the Legislature, health care professionals and our state residents.

Great is also participating in project involving the study of medical and health care cost containment. The study is expected to be completed and presented to the legislature late in spring.

Connemara residents protest Novi Pulte rezoning

A request for the rezoning of a 97.4 acre parcel on the west side of Taft Road between Eight and Nine Mile Road sparked a sizable turnout of citizens and a debate on the relationship of lot size to residential property values at the Novi Planning Board meeting last week.

Approximately 40 residents from three subdivisions, including Connemara Hills, showed up at the meeting to register their objections to the request of William J. Pulte of Pulte Homes for the rezoning of his 97.4 acre parcel from R-2 to R-3.

An R-2 zoning, under the Novi Zoning Ordinance, requires minimum lot size of half-acre lots and prescribes a density factor of 1.6 dwelling units to the acre.

The city's R-3 zoning designation requires a minimum lot size of 12,000 square feet and a minimum lot width of 90 feet. The R-3 designation prescribes a maximum density factor of 2.9 dwelling units to the acre.

After a lengthy discussion, the planning board voted 5-2 to recommend approval of the rezoning request to the city council.

Chairman Robert Bretz joined Donald Gleason, Edward Dobek, Roger Everett, and James McLennan in recommending approval of the rezoning. Dissenting ballots were cast by Gary Roberts and Donald Smith.

Bretz expressed misgivings about his decision, however.

"I feel I have a very personal interest in this particular section and I don't want to see the R-2 change. I had initially intended to abstain, but I'm afraid that I have to vote yes," he said in casting his ballot.

In requesting the change to an R-3 zoning, Pulte noted that the property is surrounded by the equivalent of R-3 zoning districts with two exceptions: undeveloped R-2 property to the west and north and Connemara Hills, a subdivision of half-acre lots immediately across the street from his parcel on the east side of Taft Road.

Pulte told the planners that his company has been in the development and building business for 28 years and has the reputation of being developers of good communities.

His company, he continued, builds three types of homes — Cadillacs, Oldsmobiles, and Chevrolets. If his request for an R-3 zoning is approved, Pulte said he would commit to building his Cadillac-model home on the 97-acre parcel.

Specifically, Pulte said he would not build a house of less than 2,000 square feet.

Pulte told the residents that large homes are a more important factor in maintaining residential values than is large lot size. Under an R-2 designation, he could legally construct homes of less than 1,000 square feet. He noted that there are six homes within Connemara Hills of 1,200 square feet.

"You have to look at the overall package," he told residents. "I will commit to building houses of at least 2,000 square feet. The size of the house will do more to maintain or upgrade residential values than the size of the lot. I will guarantee that the larger home on the smaller lot will do more to preserve residential property values."

Pulte also said he would commit to have 95 percent side-entrance garages in the development, another criteria in enhancing property values, he maintained.

The developer said further that he would provide a green belt along Taft Road to help retain its rural, wooded atmosphere.

In reviewing the rezoning request, City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Vilcan-Leman noted that the city's master land use plan proposes an overall dwelling unit density for the area ranging from 2.7 to 3.3 dwellings to the acre. The Preliminary Residential Areas Plan proposes a dwelling unit density of 2.9 units per acre.

The R-3 zoning sought by Pulte permits approximately 2.7 to 2.9 units to the acre and is thus in general conformance with both the master land use plan and the preliminary residential areas plan.

Cairns noted further that with the exception of Connemara Hills with its 1.5 dwelling units per acre, the existing and proposed residential dwelling densities in the area appeared to closely relate to each other.

As a result, the planning consultant concluded that:

—the applicant's request is in concert with the overall dwelling unit densities proposed in both the master plan and residential areas plan.

—the residential district classification sought by the applicant would generate an overall dwelling unit density comparable to existing dwelling unit densities in the surrounding areas as well as the residential densities of existing zoning in much of the area in the vicinity of the subject parcel.

Cairns warned the planners, however, that the rezoning of the Pulte property would:

—Isolate the existing R-2 district (Connemara Hills) from any other R-2 residential district, creating an island of lower single family homes in an area of higher density residential development.

—Not in its present configuration represent a logical extension of a like zoning district since no such zoning district in Novi adjoins the applicant's land although similar zoning does exist to the south in Northville.

—Most likely set the dwelling unit density level for the balance of the section from Taft west to Beck Road.

Citizens from surrounding subdivisions — North Hills Estates and Lexington Commons as well as Connemara Hills — expressed objections to the proposed rezoning.

John Becker, president of the Connemara Hills Homeowners Association, told the planners that he viewed the proposed R-3 zoning as another step in the process of downgrading property values.

"Canton is a disgrace," he stated. "A tremendous number of people are looking for nice-sized homes on nice-sized lots and they're hard to find anymore."

"The profit to the developer comes in the number of homes, not the dollar value of the homes," Becker continued. "We're totally against degrading the zoning map. We're trying to fight back the waters. Once the dam breaks on these zoning designations, who knows what will happen."

"We'd like to see it remain R-2 and see what happens."

Pulte said it was not feasible to develop subdivisions like Connemara Hills any longer. "When Connemara Hills was developed there were no requirements for enclosed concrete storm drains, paved streets, concrete curbs and gutters, and retention ponds."

"Those costs can put large homes on large lots totally out of reach," he continued. "The only way they can be put back within reach is by reducing either the size of the lot or the size of the house. You'll get better protection of your property values with a larger house on a slightly smaller lot."

In response to another question, Pulte said that Novi must have a residential density level between 2.5 to 3.0 to support its commercial and industrial tax base.

Although he would be permitted a density level of 2.9 units to the acre under the R-3 zoning, Pulte said he proposed a density level of 2.5 units to the acre for his development. The reduction, he reported, was due to his voluntary inclusion of open spaces.

Two area residents supported the rezoning.

Dean Lenhesier, current owner of the Pulte property, said that he had moved from Connemara Hills to Northville because he wanted a large house but did not enjoy mowing a large lot.

Frank Braun, developer of North Hills Estates and a resident of that subdivision, said the sales of homes in his development was proof that people wanted nice homes on smaller lots.

RUSTPROOFING. EITHER YOU HAVE IT OR YOU DON'T

Car makers don't build the rustproof car and no car dealer can deliver the real rustproofing you get with the exclusive Ziebart process.

Don't be misled by some sweeping references to "anti-corrosion" methods used in building some 1977 cars. Real rustproofing must be done after the car is built. And it must cover every critical area inside and under the car. That's the proven Ziebart method. There are no shortcuts. That's why your Ziebart Dealer uses nine different patented spray tools to reach rust-prone areas. That's why he uses a rustproofing sealant that actually penetrates welded seams where rust can start. Your Ziebart Dealer can deliver a rustproofed 1977 car because that's his business—and he knows it. Call him

CLARICE SASS, Clerk

Development of a 142-acre parcel of land on the northeast corner of Nine Mile and Taft Roads with 343 single family residences has been proposed by the Beztak Company.

The property was once a portion of an overall 5,000 acre site acquired by the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority (MDCDA) for the proposed development of a "New Town" of low income housing after the Detroit riots in 1967.

The "New Town" proposal met with intense opposition from area officials and citizens when it was officially introduced in 1969. MDCDA ultimately experienced severe financial difficulties and its land holdings in the Nine Mile-Taft Road area eventually went into receivership with the Manufacturer's National Bank.

Representatives of the Beztak Company appeared before the Novi Planning Board last week to request consideration of its application for utilization of the RUD Subdivision Open Space Option for the 142-acre parcel on the northeast corner of Nine Mile and Taft Road.

In essence, the RUD Option permits a developer to reduce lot sizes below minimum requirements for the particular zoning district in exchange for additional open (park) space. Since the amount of property shaved from each individual parcel is put into open space, the density of the overall parcel remains unchanged.

The intent of the RUD Option is to promote the following objectives:

—Provide a more desirable living environment by preserving the natural character of open fields, stands of trees, brooks, hills, and similar natural assets.

—Encourage developers to use a more creative approach in development of residential areas.

—Encourage a more efficient, aesthetic and desirable use of open area while recognizing a reduction in development costs and allowing the developer to bypass natural obstacles on the site.

—And encourage the provision of open space within reasonable distance to all lot development of the subdivision and to further encourage the development of recreational facilities.

The Beztak Company sought to have its 142-acre parcel rezoned from its existing R-3 (minimum lot size of 12,000 square feet and minimum lot width of 90 feet) to R-4 (minimum lot size of 10,000 square feet and minimum lot width of 80 feet) last July.

If Beztak is able to secure approval of its request for the RUD Option, it would be permitted to reduce minimum lot sizes 20 percent from 12,000 square feet to 9,600 square feet. Minimum lot widths could be reduced 10 feet under the RUD Option from 90 to 80 feet.

Beztak Representative Walter Kutchins told the planning board last week that typical lot size in the proposed development of 343 single family homes would be 80 by 120 feet, or, 9,600 square feet. Density must remain at 2.9 dwelling units per acre.

In response to a question from a citizen, Kutchins estimated the cost of the homes in the $75,000-and-up range.

He noted, however, that cost predictions are only tentative at this point in the developmental process.

Kutchins also told the planning board that a total of 21.34 acres of open space are proposed in the site plan. "That puts us 13 acres above the amount of open space we are required to provide in the ordinance," stated the Beztak representative.

City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Vilcan-Leman advised the planning board that it could not act on the request for an RUD Option because all the required elements of the RUD application had not yet been provided by the developers.

"To date only the developmental plan portion of the application has been received," stated Cairns. "The application report must also be submitted before approval of the RUD Option can be granted by the planning board."

Cairns went on to say, however, that there was little question in his mind that the applicant's property is conducive to development under the RUD Option.

Commenting on the developmental plan portion of the application, the planning consultant said that he considered it excellent. "You have utilized the open space areas as they should be," he said. "I like the open space in the middle of the development and I like the way the interior street system relates to it for easy access."

Northville Public Schools Annual Report 1977-78

Superintendent's Annual Report

This report is published in keeping with the Michigan School Code, Administrative Rule R 340.351, for the purpose of informing citizens of the School District of the Northville Public Schools regarding the district's operation during the 1976-77 school year.

This report is designed to generally inform the citizenry in regards to such things as receipts and expenditures, facility considerations, staffing, student enrollment and other information pertinent to the school district during the period of July 1, 1976 through June 30, 1977. Some comparisons between the immediate past school year, the succeeding year, and the current school year are also included.

The official audit of the district's books at the close of the 1976-77 school year showed a financial balance of $12,770 which reflects two very significant things to our district. First, it nullifies a $45,931 deficit fund balance carried over from the 1975-76 school year; and, secondly, it reflects a budget year in which our operating expenditures were slightly below revenues.

The General Fund expenditures of the district during the 1976-77 school year were up some $928,097 over the 1975-76 expenditures of $5,846,241, while the 1976-77 revenues of $6,832,499 represented an increase of $877,503 over the preceding year. Increases in expenditures occurred in all major line items of the budget with salaries of all employees representing the major portion of additional funds expended. Insurances, fringe benefits and utilities were also up significantly. The 1976-77 budget also provided for five additional teachers and two additional administrators over 1975-76.

The district's 1976-77 revenue, audited at $6,832,499, was reflective of local support through the application of 32.8 mills against a district S.E.V. of $147,168,353 which generated $4,827,123; $621,953 over the 1975-76 school year. The S.E.V. increase accounted for 7.7 percent of the increased revenue, while voter support of a 3.9 mill increase at the April 1977 election accounted for $573,958 or 92.3 percent of the increase. State Membership Aid accounted for $1,157,471 in revenue, but was $66,795 less than 1975-76. The remaining balance of revenues for 1976-77 were generated through Federal, State and other local sources.

It is significant to note that as we reflect on the 1976-77 budget year and the ten years preceding it, we find that the average increase in revenue has been approximately $500,000; during the past five years the district has been funded at an average increase of $700,000 additional dollars. It is with concern that I report that the 1977-78 school year budget is extremely tight and reflects revenues and expenditures of only $270,000 over 1976-77 and required staff reductions and other cutbacks considered undesirable to the efficient and effective operation of the District's education program.

In addition to these financial considerations, the Board of Education also governed the expenditure of $4,391,013 attributed to the district's ISE Program. The revenues and expenditures of this program are equal in that the program is funded under Section 53 of the State Aid Act which guarantees 100 percent funding. The program focuses on the education of 774 special education students who reside at the Plymouth Center for Human Development and the Northville Residential Center and have needs ranging from severely mentally impaired to trainable.

The bulk of this budget is consumed in the category of employee salary and fringe benefits of $3,506,373 and basic operational costs of $884,640. Employees numbered 339 including a Director and 7 administrators, 73 teachers, 153 instructional aides, and 105 additional support service staff.

The program was housed in four school buildings, one each located in Northville, Livonia, Crestwood and North Dearborn Heights. Classes were also conducted in available space on the grounds of the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

The 1976-77 school year represented the first full year with the operation of the ISE Program and is recorded as a most successful year. Many accomplishments and improvements have been evidenced by students, staff and parents, while at the same time much interest in the district's efforts in the area of educating the severely mentally handicapped has been aroused.

During the 1976-77 school year the Board of Education met formally on the second and fourth Monday of each month (with but few exceptions) and informally many times for the purpose of conducting special call meetings, work sessions, and/or subcommittee meetings.

The twelve month period of the past school year found the Board devoting its time and attention to many important issues; but with prime focus on such matters as the assessment of operating two school calendars (ESY & TSY), negotiations with four employee bargaining units, implementation of the grade structure change from 5-3-4 to 6-3-3, assessment of educational program offerings and the upgrading of the Main Street Elementary School. Also noteworthy of the Board's efforts during 1976-77, was the activities and action required with the first full year of operating all three of the new schools constructed during the period of 1973 to 1975 in anticipation of future growth. Growth which has been considerably slow in coming, but which appears just around the corner now with the presence of three housing projects under way, which will likely create an enrollment increase of 750 to 1,000 students by the early 1980's.

The administration of the Board's policies was carried out by fifteen K-12 Administrators and eight ISEP Administrators under the direction of the Superintendent of Schools. In addition to the Superintendent, the Central Office Administrative Staff was composed of three Directors (Instruction, Personnel and Special Education) two Administrative Assistants (Finance & Operations) and four Coordinators (Curriculum, K-12 Special Education and two ISEP). New positions among these included that of Administrative Assistant for operations and K-12 Curriculum Coordinator. Although only two of these ten positions were new, six of the ten persons filling them were new to the assignment. This staff in its entirety moved forward together into the 1977-78 school year.

Although 1976-77 represents another generally productive school year for students, both academically and in all areas of interscholastic competition, it was marred with dissatisfactions carried over from the previous year stemming from the 1974-75 deficit, poor maintenance of some facilities, a tight budget, curriculum concerns, removal of the 9th grade from the high school, understaffing some areas and periods of low morale. These conditions led to careful planning for 1977-78 and considerable enthusiasm seems to be evident in all areas thus far into the present school year.

The community and schools are continuing to grow (although enrollment numbers are now down for the second year in a row) and with growth comes change. Change too often leads to conflict, but conflict leads to evaluation and assessment; and, in turn, to improvements. The goals and objectives of the district are established to meet this end. Some of the prime goals set for 1977-78 include instructional program improvements, facility and grounds upgrading, and improved morale.

Working together as a community and school district; citizens, parents, students, staff and Board of Education, cannot help but lead to providing better and more effective ways of improving our program and our community for the best of all, but especially our children.

There exists in our nation, state and community today a demand for better education at a more efficient cost. Whether this challenge can be met in our district is dependent on the willingness of all to pitch in and work together. The support and cooperation of all members of the "Community of Northville" continues to be appreciated. May I take this opportunity to say thank you for 1976-77 and, in advance, for 1977-78.

Signed:
Raymond E. Spear

A panel discussion entitled "Supplemental Income Opportunities" will be offered on November 10. Moderated by Latika Mangrulkar, a Women's Resource Center volunteer, the panel will include Virginia Burns, Office Personnel Pool; JoAnne Lane, Tupperware Dealer; Katherine Manley, Better Business Bureau, and a representative from the Michigan Employment Security Commission. They will discuss productive at-home, part-time or temporary jobs which can provide extra money.

Concluding the discussion series on November 17, facilitator William Fried, a certified public accountant with R. J. Dickshot and Co., will present "Tax Loopholes and What They Mean." The general information session will not deal with individual situations, but will discuss the impact of recent tax legislation changes and more beneficial methods of reporting legitimate income and expenses.

Women to get business tips

Many women today are successful in small business, the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs points out.

For women interested in how these women have planned, organized, financed and kept records on their enterprises and how to begin in business a workshop is to be held November 12 in Flint.

Marlene Danol of the Northville club invites any woman who wishes to know more about the day-long, two-section workshop to call her at 349-5282 after 6 p.m.

The workshop is offered in cooperation with Mott Community College Office of Women's Programs and the Small Business Administration. It will run from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the college center ballroom.

One session is geared to the woman who is just starting a business or with an infant business and the other is planned to help those already embarked in business, but who need assistance in areas of regulations, records, advertising and finances.

Cost of $15 includes lunch.

Students join Phi Theta Kappa

Thirteen Schoolcraft College students joined the Phi Theta Kappa academic honor society at its fall initiation ceremony on October 4.

This fall's initiates include, Joanne Allison, Michelle Coppola, Amelia Davis, Connis Ferris, Peggy Golonka, Curt Price, Curt Thompson and Stephanie Trujillo, all from Livonia.

Also, Barbara Ritchie and Denise Wilkens from Northville, Ronald Lukowski from Plymouth, Martha Rabus from Canton and Cindy Johnson from Westland.

According to Phi Theta Kappa president Bob DiLaura, the national honor society for community and junior college students was conceived in 1918 and works to promote leadership, scholastic achievement and active involvement in college activities.

Membership in the society is the highest award given to a community or junior college student. Initiates must be full-time students each year they are enrolled and must maintain a 3.0 or better grade point average each semester.

The society is sponsored by Schoolcraft counselor Jean Pike. Other officers include vice president Phil Heeg, secretary Holly Klein and treasurer John Treanor.

The group will present a film series this fall featuring "Young Frankenstein" on October 7 and "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother" on November 4.
